LETTER OF RESIGNATION

WASHINGTON STATE SENATE
Senator Dean Sutherland
17th Legislative District

June 6, 1996

The Honorable Mike Lowry, Governor
Legislative Building
P.O. Box 40002
Olympia, WA 98504-0002
Dear Governor Lowry:

Resigning my position as state senator comes with real mixed emotions. It is easy because, for the reasons I mention in this letter, I sincerely believe it is in the best interests of the citizens of my district, yet it is difficult because public service is something I care deeply about and I have been committed to--full-time--for many years.

As an elected official I know you share the sense of honor and humility that comes from being selected by the citizens of our state to represent them in making decisions that affect their lives. You and I have both had long, meaningful careers in public office and have both announced we will not be seeking reelection to the offices we currently hold.

For years I have been a full-time legislator, tried to work as close to full-time as I could on non-legislative work; and try to be a husband, parent, and friend. You know the demands and balancing task I'm referring to.

Having made the decision not to seek reelection, I accepted full-time employment with Clark Public Utilities as their Environmental Manager and I have begun spending more time with my family and friends. I am surprised at my own feelings in response to this change of focus.

As I began spending more time on my personal and non-legislative professional life I realized just how much I had missed it and how much it needed my renewed and full focus. I also realized there simply isn't enough time, given my other activities, to give legislative service the kind of attention I think necessary. I have a deep, abiding respect for the legislative process and legislative service. I want the citizens for the 17th Legislative District to have the full attention of their senator, therefore I am submitting this letter of resignation.

I will relinquish my state senate position effective midnight, July 15, 1996. That will allow citizens interested in the appointment enough time to work with those that will be making it and be seriously considered for it. I also want to provide the local officials involved in making the appointment adequate time to prepare.

Normally I fulfill any task I am charged with; however, in this situation there are three concerns compelling me to resign now instead of waiting until the end of my term in January.

First, I realize that to fulfill the responsibilities of my new position with Clark Public Utilities, improving the water resources of the Salmon Creek Watershed and the natural resources in Clark County, I will need to work more than the typical forty hours a week.

Second, I sincerely want the public discussions related to local legislative campaigns, and those related to Clark Public Utilities and the election of its commissioners to be constructive, honest debates on real issues, ideas, and the differences between the candidates, and to be focused on what the candidates see as their opportunity to be of service to the public. The Utility's elected commissioners are providing innovative, progressive leadership during these challenging and changing times. The Utility's management and employees are doing an exceptionally fine job carrying out the directives of the commission. I do not want my dual position as state senator and full-time Utility employee to become an opportunity for such fine leadership and work to be impugned and dampened by frivolous, baseless, expensive, yet rhetorically sexy attacks by a few non-constructive critics of government. I have a deep dislike for negative campaigning, negative tactics, and non-constructive criticism. A feeling I know you share. I will feel good if my resignation will prevent some demeaning attacks on legislative candidates and the hard working employees of the Utility.

Last, I am really anxious to rekindle family and personal relationships, including time with my new granddaughter, Madeline Renee Sutherland--simply the most perfect granddaughter ever!

On a personal note, I have appreciated the opportunity to serve the people of our state with you. I trust I will have the opportunity to work with you as we begin writing new chapters in the books of our lives.

Sincerely,
SENATOR DEAN SUTHERLAND

Bob serves on the Kettle River Grange, Pacific Northwest Endurance Riders, Orient Community Church, Washington State Pilot's Association, Kettle Falls Chamber of Commerce and the Washington Cattlemen's Association.

REMARKS BY SENATOR McCASLIN

Senator McCaslin: "Thank you, Mr. President. I nominate Mike O'Connell for the position of Secretary of the Senate and wish to speak to that. Are we under the three minute rule, Mr. President?"

REPLY BY THE PRESIDENT

President Pritchard: "I hope so."

Senator McCaslin: "You hope so; I have to make the nomination. When I arrived here in 1981, there were three people that impressed me mightily and were of superior help to me. One was Governor Cherberg, God rest his soul. The other is Sid Snyder and we don't have to rest him right now, because he is still here as a Senator and he was extremely helpful. Since I have been here, of course, we have had Sid Snyder, Gordon Golob, and Marty Brown. I don't know if you noticed the gleam in Marty's eye, but he finally got a Supreme Court Justice where he told them where to go and how to do it. So, good for you, Marty. I am sure you enjoyed it Gerry.

"One of my friends I met immediately was Mike O'Connell. He is a terrific man, he is a true gentleman, he is a family man. The only point against him, of course, is that he is an attorney, but we can overlook that because of his other attributes and abilities. He has an institutional memory, I think second to none, because he actually has been here longer than me. I would warn you, though, don't play shuffleboard with him, because he is an absolute champion. You can play golf with him, because he is not that good, but he is still a lot of fun. You folks who don't know him, both Democrats and Republicans, I assure you can go to him and get a straight answer on the procedures of the Washington State Senate and what goes on here. I am very proud--really--sincerely--to nominate him for Secretary of the Senate."

REMARKS BY SENATOR SNYDER

Senator Snyder: "Thank you, Mr. President. It is with a great deal of pride that I rise to second the nomination of Mike O'Connell as Secretary of the Senate. As you know, I spent nineteen years as Secretary of the Senate and I just noticed that is my nineteenth district--some coincidence there-but anyhow, as long as the Democrats aren't selecting the Secretary of the Senate, I can't think of anybody that is going to fill the job better than Mike O'Connell. We don't have to worry about partisanship; we know that he will treat us on this side of the aisle as well as he treats you people on the other side of the aisle. I know that we are going to work well together and we look forward to having many good days. Thank you."

MOTION

On motion of Senator Johnson, the nominations for Secretary of the Senate were closed.

ROLL CALL

The Acting Secretary called the roll and Mike O'Connell was elected Secretary of the Senate: O'Connell, 48; Absent, 1.

ELECTION OF SERGEANT AT ARMS

The President declared nominations to be open for Sergeant at Arms of the Senate.

REMARKS BY SENATOR SELLAR

Senator Sellar: "Thank you, Mr. President. I would like to place the name of Denny Lewis in nomination for Sergeant at Arms of the Senate and I would like to speak to that please. It gives me great privilege today to do this. Denny Lewis has served a career with great distinction in the Washington State Patrol. During that time, he had many duties, including security for this building, including security for Governors Spellman and Gardner, which he provided a great service. For the last couple of years, he has worked with outgoing Sergeant Fisher, who did an excellent job. The two of them together provided a great deal of decorum in the Senate in keeping order, as well as providing a safe environment for all of us to do the work that we are sent here to do and that is the work of providing service to the people of the state of Washington. So, with that, it would give me great pleasure to nominate Denny Lewis for Sergeant at Arms."

REMARKS BY SENATOR OWEN

Senator Owen: "Thank you, Mr. President, and ladies and gentlemen of the Senate. It is a pleasure for me to second the nomination of Denny Lewis for our Sergeant at Arms. He has had a very, very distinguished career and in the time he has served us in the Senate, he has done it with professionalism and he has been very, very good to all members of the State Senate. I would look forward to working with Mr. Lewis in my new responsibilities and very vigorously second the nomination of Denny Lewis for Sergeant at Arms."

The committee of honor escorted Sergeant at Arms Denny Lewis to his seat on the rostrum and the committee was discharged.

APPOINTMENT OF SPECIAL COMMITTEE

The President appointed Senators Anderson and Franklin to escort the Honorable Gerry Alexander from the Senate Chamber.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Senator McCaslin: "I rise to a point of parliamentary inquiry. I am not an expert as you well know, Mr. President."

RELY BY THE PRESIDENT

President Pritchard: "Just state your point."

Senator McCaslin: "I know that you have a Supreme Justice there and all through this procedure you have asked the Sergeant at Arms to bring forth these Senators and we just swore him in. Now, it is interesting, because he was Sergeant At Arms to be, I guess, but I think in reviewing the procedure here, the next time we have a Sergeant at Arms, we have the present Sergeant at Arms bring those folks forward or the President--President Owen--would say. The potential or nominating Sergeant At Arms bring those folks forward. Just a point, Mr. President, and I just don't want you to leave this body without thinking of me."

President Pritchard: "It is just wonderful. Thank you."

MOTION

On motion of Senator Johnson, the following resolution was adopted:

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR VETO MESSAGE ON SUBSTITUTE SENATE BILL NO. 6078

March 30, 1996

To the Honorable President and Members,
The Senate of the State of Washington
Ladies and Gentlemen:

I am returning herewith, without my approval, Substitute Senate Bill No. 6078 entitled:
"AN ACT Relating to the public presentation of information regarding regional transit authority projects;"
Substitute Senate Bill No. 6078 requires that public presentations made about available revenues to support a regional transit authority project cannot include state or federal revenue assumptions unless the money has already been authorized. This restriction is counter to the current federal policy that the local option funding be secured before Congress authorizes federal revenues for regional transit projects.

Clark County Transit (C-TRAN) in Vancouver and other Washington multi-modal transportation systems should not be forced to make incomplete financial assumptions about financing as they develop their regional transportation system plans. Substitute Senate Bill No. 6078 would tie the hands of the regional transit authorities as they implement critical local and regional transit projects.

For these reasons, I am vetoing Substitute Senate Bill No. 6078 in its entirety.

Respectfully submitted,
MIKE LOWRY, Governor

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR
VETO MESSAGE ON SUBSTITUTE SENATE BILL NO. 6180

March 30, 1996

To the Honorable President and Members,
The Senate of the State of Washington
Ladies and Gentlemen:

I am returning herewith, without my approval, Substitute Senate Bill No. 6180 entitled:

"AN ACT Relating to superior court judges;"

Substitute Senate Bill No. 6180 extends a statutory deadline for King County to add unfilled positions for superior court judges originally authorized by legislation in 1992. Substitute House Bill No. 2446, which I have approved, contains a similar amendment and also adds judgeships in Spokane, Thurston, Chelan, and Douglas counties. Substitute Senate Bill No. 6180 would create confusion with the more comprehensive bill, Substitute House Bill No. 2446, already signed into law.

For this reason, I have vetoed Substitute Senate Bill No. 6180 in its entirety.

Respectfully submitted,
MIKE LOWRY, Governor

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR
VETO MESSAGE ON SENATE BILL NO. 6243

March 30, 1996

To the Honorable President and Members,
The Senate of the State of Washington
Ladies and Gentlemen:

I am returning herewith, without my approval, Senate Bill No. 6243 entitled:

"AN ACT Relating to health care services for offenders sentenced to death;"

Senate Bill No. 6243 prohibits the Department of Corrections from providing "life saving health care procedures" to an offender who is under a sentence of death. The prohibition applies regardless of the stage of the inmate's appeal. Organ transplants, bone marrow transplants, open-heart surgery, and chemotherapy are the stated examples of prohibited life saving procedures. The bill, on the other hand, does allow the department to provide certain "basic emergency life-saving procedures" such as the Heimlich maneuver and cardiopulmonary resuscitation.

This legislation defines a life saving health care procedure as any "medical or surgical treatment or intervention to sustain, restore, or replace a bodily function, where failure to perform the treatment or intervention may result in the offender's death." This broad definition applies to a wide spectrum of treatments and interventions. Simple, routine procedures such as blood transfusions, insulin shots, and antibiotics for strep throat fall under the definition because they "sustain, restore, or replace bodily functions" without which death may result. This measure's expansive and vague definition also includes treatment services to alleviate pain and suffering. For instance, prescribing antibiotics for cancer treatment would be prohibited because "chemotherapy" encompasses all treatments by chemical agents. If a death row inmate had bone cancer, painful death would result without chemotherapy. Requiring the department to withhold treatment under these circumstances would almost certainly be determined unconstitutional cruel punishment.

The status of the offender's appeal is irrelevant under this bill. The prohibition applies whether the inmate has just appealed to the first level of the state appeals court or whether the inmate is waiting for the final word from the US Supreme Court. We must remember that the criminal justice system is not infallible. On occasion, a person sentenced to death will serve some time on death row and then receive a new trial or a pardon as the result of a successful appeal or clemency petition. Since 1973 when the death penalty was reinstated, there have been 43 cases across the country where a death row inmate was pardoned, acquitted, or had charges dropped in subsequent actions. It would be inhumane in such cases to cut short a person's life by withholding needed life saving treatment based on the assumption that in every instance of a death sentence, the individual deserves to die.

Moreover, Senate Bill No. 6243 fails to establish clear guidelines for the department as to the procedures it can provide. The definitional examples highlight the problem. The examples of permissible "basic, emergency life-saving procedures" and the examples of prohibited "life-saving health care procedures" do not sufficiently distinguish one category from the other. Moreover, constitutionally required medical treatment may be improperly withheld by department health care providers because of the ambiguity. Vague definitions will likely lead to inmate litigation to determine which life saving procedures are constitutionally required.

Senate Bill No. 6243 provides that offenders are responsible for the costs of any health care they receive unless the medical service is required by law as determined to be binding on the state by a court of competent jurisdiction. Again, this invites litigation.

In sum, this legislation is most probably an unconstitutional violation of the prohibition against cruel and unusual punishment. Given the problematic definitions included, it would also be impossible for the department to implement.

For these reasons, I have vetoed Substitute Senate Bill No. 6243 in its entirety.

Respectfully submitted,

MIKE LOWRY, Governor

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR
VETO MESSAGE ON SUBSTITUTE SENATE BILL NO. 6262

March 30, 1996

To the Honorable President and Members,
The Senate of the State of Washington
Ladies and Gentlemen:

I am returning herewith, without my approval, Substitute Senate Bill No. 6262 entitled:
"AN ACT Relating to transport tags for game;"
Substitute Senate Bill No. 6262 provides the Fish and Wildlife Commission the authority to authorize the purchase of cougar transport tags subsequent to a harvest without hounds. Although the bill only provides the commission with the authority to take such action, the policy itself is not an appropriate game management tool. Allowing tags to be sold following the taking of a cougar sends an inappropriate message regarding the value of cougars as big game animals, threatens the integrity of cougar harvest data, and will cause enforcement problems for the Department of Fish and Wildlife.
While I understand concerns about increasing cougar, human, and livestock interactions, there are other cougar control options which should be examined prior to enacting this type of legislation. I would encourage the commission and the Department of Fish and Wildlife to work with the public and the legislature to explore all options for the management of cougars in the state.

For these reasons, I have vetoed Substitute Senate Bill No. 6262 in its entirety.

Respectfully submitted,
MIKE LOWRY, Governor

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR
VETO MESSAGE ON SUBSTITUTE SENATE BILL NO. 6263

March 7, 1996

To the Honorable President and Members,
The Senate of the State of Washington
Ladies and Gentlemen:

I am returning herewith, without my approval, Substitute Senate Bill No. 6263 entitled:
"AN ACT Relating to the normal and usual use of equine and oxen;"
In 1994 a broad spectrum of interest groups participated in the comprehensive overhaul of Washington State animal cruelty laws under Chapter 16.52 RCW. A standard that a person at a minimum knowingly, recklessly, or with criminal negligence inflict unnecessary pain or suffering upon an animal, fail to provide food and other necessities, or abandon the animal was agreed upon as a reasonable general threshold for culpability.
Exclusions for rodeos and fairs, due to the unique and special nature of those events, were provided in the 1994 law. Any new exclusions to this law should be carefully and narrowly tailored to address specific problems or areas of concern.
The exclusions from animal cruelty laws provided in Substitute Senate Bill No. 6263 for "the normal and usual use of equine and oxen for logging, riding, showing, vaulting, driving or drafting purposes" appear overly broad and could unnecessarily allow otherwise unacceptable acts of animal cruelty.

For these reasons, I have vetoed Substitute Senate Bill No. 6263 in its entirety.

Respectfully submitted,
MIKE LOWRY, Governor

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR
VETO MESSAGE ON ENGROSSED SUBSTITUTE SENATE BILL NO. 6285

March 30, 1996

To the Honorable President and Members,
The Senate of the State of Washington
Ladies and Gentlemen:

I am returning herewith, without my approval, Engrossed Substitute Senate Bill No. 6285 entitled:
"AN ACT Relating to disclosure of offenders' HIV test results to department of corrections and jail staff;"
Engrossed Substitute Senate Bill No. 6285 would require the Department of Corrections (DOC) and local jails to identify certain inmates who carry infectious disease and to describe health precautions appropriate with those persons without identifying the nature of their illness.
The plague of the HIV virus continues to be a serious concern to all of the citizens of Washington State. This issue is of particular concern to the men and women who serve our state and local communities as corrections officers and jail staff and who come into contact daily with inmates who may be carrying a variety of infectious diseases. I appreciate this concern and applaud the legislature's attempt to address it as well as to maintain confidentiality with respect to an inmate's HIV status. Despite this attempt, however, I do not believe Engrossed Substitute Senate Bill No. 6285 achieves its objective of providing appropriate protection to corrections officers and to jail staff.
The only proven protection against exposure to the HIV virus is the use of the universal precautions. These precautions should be used by corrections officers and jail staff at all times and with all inmates. Engrossed Substitute Senate Bill No. 6285 is fundamentally flawed in that it implies extra care should be taken with some inmates, rather than uniform caution with all inmates.

It would be a mistake to give our corrections officers and jail staff a false sense of security by identifying only some of the inmates who carry infectious diseases. Posting the names of inmates whose statutorily mandated HIV tests were positive will not protect corrections officers or jail staff from inmates whose voluntary tests were positive or from those who have not been tested.

We should not place our valued public servants in further jeopardy by tempting them to treat some inmates with less than universal precaution because they are unaware of the possible threat from others. Currently, in the event a situation does occur which results in substantial exposure to bodily fluids, both corrections officers and jail staff are able to obtain confidential test results or to mandate testing, if necessary, to protect their own health.

In an effort to address the legitimate health and safety concerns of corrections officers, I am directing DOC to increase its efforts to provide these officers with sufficient information and training to assist their understanding of the importance of using universal precautions at all times. I am also directing DOC, in consultation with the Department of Health (DOH), to modify its existing policy to eliminate the use of "protocols" issued in relation to particular inmates.

In addition, I encourage local public health officials, in consultation with DOH, to work with local governments to provide local jail staff with information and training regarding universal precautions and other appropriate methods of protecting their health and safety. Until there is a cure, the only way for these valued public servants to remain healthy and safe is to maintain universal precaution.

For these reasons, I have vetoed Engrossed Substitute Senate Bill No. 6285 in its entirety.

Respectfully submitted,

MIKE LOWRY, Governor

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR
VETO MESSAGE ON SENATE BILL NO. 6302

March 30, 1996

To the Honorable President and Members,
The Senate of the State of Washington
Ladies and Gentlemen:

I am returning herewith, without my approval, Senate Bill No. 6302 entitled:

"AN ACT Relating to appointment of a county legislative authority member of the forest practices board;"

Senate Bill No. 6302 limits the governor's appointments to the Forest Practices Board. Currently the governor is required to appoint an elected member of a county legislative authority to serve as one of eleven members of the Forest Practices Board. This legislation would add the additional constraint of limiting the governor's selection to an exclusive list of three candidates specifically provided by the Washington State Association of Counties.

A change in the method of appointing the county representative to the Forest Practices Board is not appropriate. Limiting the governor's selection to a list of three candidates provided by the Washington State Association of Counties is a clear infringement on gubernatorial appointment authority and is an unwarranted delegation of governmental authority to a private association.

For these reasons, I have vetoed Senate Bill No. 6302 in its entirety.

Respectfully submitted,
MIKE LOWRY, Governor

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR
VETO MESSAGE ON SENATE BILL NO. 6482

March 30, 1996

To the Honorable President and Members,
The Senate of the State of Washington
Ladies and Gentlemen:

I am returning herewith, without my approval, Senate Bill No. 6482 entitled:

"AN ACT Relating to veterans' benefits;"

Senate Bill No. 6482 amends statutes that give preference in public employment to veterans who have served during specific armed conflicts. This bill adds to the list of eligible conflicts those that have occurred since 1975 and adds categories of veterans to those who currently receive preferences. The provisions of Engrossed Substitute House Bill No. 2781, which I have already approved, and this legislation are nearly identical.

Senate Bill No. 6482 contains ambiguities and conflicting language regarding eligibility of veterans for different levels of preferences. These ambiguities would likely result in inconsistent interpretation of law and administrative difficulties for all levels of government responsible for carrying out these important programs. When government grants rights and benefits, it is critical that the law is clear and unambiguous.

For these reasons, I have vetoed Senate Bill No. 6482 in its entirety.

Respectfully submitted,
MIKE LOWRY, Governor

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR
VETO MESSAGE ON SUBSTITUTE SENATE BILL NO. 6532

March 30, 1996

To the Honorable President and Members,
The Senate of the State of Washington

Ladies and Gentlemen:

I am returning herewith, without my approval, Substitute Senate Bill No. 6532 entitled:

"AN ACT Relating to exceptions from vessel registration;"

Substitute Senate Bill No. 6532 provides a blanket exemption from Washington's vessel registration laws for a period of up to six months and does not require that a vessel be registered in any other jurisdiction.

My concerns with this are twofold. First, it could result in a violation of federal law and a loss of federal funds. Federal law requires a vessel operating in U.S. waters to have a valid registration from an issuing authority. In addition, I have been informed by law enforcement officials that the six month period would make registration enforcement efforts unworkable and would result in a loss of funds for boating safety and enforcement efforts.

For these reasons, I have vetoed Substitute Senate Bill No. 6532 in its entirety.

Respectfully submitted,
MIKE LOWRY, Governor

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR
VETO MESSAGE ON SUBSTITUTE SENATE BILL NO. 6542

March 30, 1996

To the Honorable President and Members,
The Senate of the State of Washington
Ladies and Gentlemen:

I am returning herewith, without my approval, Substitute Senate Bill No. 6542 entitled:

"AN ACT Relating to deterring the unwarranted or abusive use of the offender grievance process;"

Substitute Senate Bill No. 6542 directs the Department of Corrections (DOC) to apply to the United States Attorney General to make certain changes to the department's federally-certified Offender Grievance Program. The mandated changes include: (1) a $2.00 fee would be assessed for the third and any subsequent grievance that DOC determines was not filed in good faith; (2) fee assessments would be in addition to, rather than in lieu of, any other disciplinary actions taken by DOC in response to abuse of the grievance system; and (3) fees could be collected from offenders' institutional accounts or debts assessed against indigent offenders. DOC is further required to review the Offender Grievance Program Policy with the Department of Justice and to explore options for addressing abuse without compromising certification and the integrity of the grievance process.

The Offender Grievance Program represents to DOC a cost-effective way for offenders to constructively voice their complaints and grievances. This program supports resolution of potential problems prior to them becoming major issues and avoids costly lawsuits being filed. Of the more than 17,500 offenders who had access to the Offender Grievance Program and who were incarcerated by the Department of Corrections in 1995, fewer than 5,000 filed 13,700 formal grievances. Forty-six percent of those were resolved in the offender's favor. Only 20 infractions were issued for abuse of the program during 1995.

Offenders who file malicious or threatening grievances are infraacted and subject to disciplinary action. Depending on the circumstances, discipline can include a reprimand, warning, segregation, or the loss of earned early release time or general privileges. Offenders who file more than five grievances within one work week can be restricted to having only a limited number of complaints, formal grievances, or appeals in the system for 90 days from the finding of the abuse. The superintendents of prisons have the authority, and do exercise the right, to hold offenders accountable for these actions.

Further, the Offender Grievance Program reduces costly arbitration by providing administrative remedies to complaints that may otherwise be dealt with by the courts. Indeed, by virtue of program certification the courts can, and do, remand lawsuits back to the offender for exhaustion of DOC's grievance process. The Offender Grievance Program also serves as an early warning function alerting DOC to developing trends and to potential problems among the offender population or with staff.

The imposition of this fee requirement, on top of other penalties already in place, promises to discourage the use of the offender grievance system, thus, interfering with the ability of DOC to successfully monitor the environment of the offenders. Also, this action may result in more litigation. Today an offender can file a lawsuit in federal court without having to pay a fee. The imposition of this new assessment could result in a greater number of federal lawsuits challenging the constitutionality of such a fee.

1. Finally, I share the concern that this bill presents the potential for a chilling effect on offenders taking their grievances forward in an orderly and responsible way.

For these reasons, I have vetoed Substitute Senate Bill No. 6542 in its entirety.

Respectfully submitted,
MIKE LOWRY, Governor

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR
VETO MESSAGE ON SUBSTITUTE SENATE BILL NO. 6692

March 30, 1996

To the Honorable President and Members,
The Senate of the State of Washington
Ladies and Gentlemen:

I am returning herewith, without my approval, Substitute Senate Bill No. 6692 entitled:

"AN ACT Relating to the state weed board;"

Substitute Senate Bill No. 6692 directs the State Noxious Weed Control Board to work with various federal and tribal land management agencies to coordinate weed control. The bill declares that county weed boards and weed districts are authorized to enter federal lands to control noxious weeds and may not be held liable for those actions. The bill authorizes the county weed boards and weed districts to bill federal agencies for all the costs of the noxious weed control performed on federal land. It also directs each county prosecuting attorney's office to assist in any challenges to the authority of these entities or actions under this chapter and in the collection of all costs related to the noxious weed control performed on federal land.

Substitute Senate Bill No. 6692 contains language in section 1(3) that may create legal problems which would lead to administrative difficulties or may prevent the law from becoming operational. The intent of the bill, however, is admirable. The spread of noxious weeds causes economic and environmental damage on state and private lands. Improved coordination and more effective control of noxious weeds in Washington State are needed. To accomplish these goals, we must work with federal agencies to build a stronger partnership.

I strongly encourage the State Noxious Weed Control Board to work with all stakeholders as they prepare their recommendations for the 1997 Legislature. I am confident that these efforts will lead to improved effectiveness and to better coordination in the control of noxious weeds in Washington State.

For these reasons, I have vetoed Substitute Senate Bill No. 6692 in its entirety.

Respectfully submitted,
MIKE LOWRY, Governor

PARTIALLY VETOED BILLS

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR
PARTIAL VETO MESSAGE ON SECOND SUBSTITUTE SENATE BILL NO. 5053

March 30, 1996

To the Honorable President and Members,
The Senate of the State of Washington
Ladies and Gentlemen:

I am returning herewith, without my approval as to section 1, Second Substitute Senate Bill No. 5053 entitled:
"AN ACT Relating to real estate disclosure;"

Second Substitute Senate Bill No. 5053 clarifies and updates state residential real estate disclosure law. Under current law, sellers of real estate are required to make an extensive list of disclosures concerning their properties and to deliver the statements within five days of acceptance of a written purchase agreement. Following delivery of the disclosure statement, the purchaser has up to three business days to rescind the transaction.

Section 1 of Second Substitute Senate Bill No. 5053 would exempt new residential construction from these real estate disclosure requirements. This is unacceptable.

The residential real estate disclosure act is a basic consumer protection law. Although it may duplicate some of the protections provided by the state and local permitting process, it places little burden on the seller and facilitates open and honest review of a transaction that represents, for most citizens, the single largest purchase in their lifetime.

Section 2 of Second Substitute Senate Bill No. 5053 makes a number of clarifications to the law and eliminates the question about whether property is in a designated flood hazard zone. Given the catastrophic floods of this past winter, eliminating a question of this kind might appear foolhardy. However, the question is ambiguous and in practice has caused sellers great difficulty in attempting to offer a clear and accurate answer. Section 2 further provides that the questions included in statute are the minimum to be included on the state disclosure form. The Washington Association of Realtors has authority to add additional questions that are substantially similar to the statewide form or to specialized, regional forms. I have asked the Growth Management Division of the state Department of Community, Trade and Economic Development to work with the Washington Association of Realtors and other interested parties to develop a question on this issue that will include a reference to sellers about where to find this information. Re-working this question will allow sellers to disclose clear, accurate information on this topic without becoming bogged down in technical ambiguities.

For these reasons, I have vetoed section 1 of Second Substitute Senate Bill No. 5053.
With the exception of section 1, Second Substitute Senate Bill No. 5053 is approved.

Respectfully submitted,
MIKE LOWRY, Governor

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR
PARTIAL VETO MESSAGE ON SUBSTITUTE SENATE BILL NO. 6173

March 29, 1996

To the Honorable President and Members,
The Senate of the State of Washington
Ladies and Gentlemen:

I am returning herewith, without my approval as to section 6, Substitute Senate Bill No. 6173 entitled:
"AN ACT Relating to motor vehicle dealers;"

Substitute Senate Bill No. 6173 makes a number of changes affecting motor vehicle dealers.

Section 6 of Substitute Senate Bill No. 6173 allows a vehicle dealer, in certain circumstances, to charge expenses or fees to purchasers of used cars previously taken as a trade-in or of new cars in which financing is arranged by the dealer. These costs should not be passed on to the consumer separate from the agreed price of the car but rather should simply be treated as another cost of doing business that dealers must consider when determining a price.

For this reason, I have vetoed section 6 of Substitute Senate Bill No. 6173.
With the exception of section 6, Substitute Senate Bill No. 6173 is approved.

Respectfully submitted,
MIKE LOWRY, Governor

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR
PARTIAL VETO MESSAGE ON ENGROSSED SUBSTITUTE SENATE BILL NO. 6251

March 30, 1996

To the Honorable President and Members,
The Senate of the State of Washington
Ladies and Gentlemen:

I am returning herewith, without my approval as to sections 109(4); 109(5); 112(1) beginning with the word "Of" on line 12, and ending with "January 1, 1997." on line 26; 112(2); 112(4); 121(25); 132 (lines 19-20); 132(3); 206 (lines 34-35); 213 (lines 24-28); 217(15); 217(16); 218(1)(f); 218(2)(c); 301(11); 503; and 706, Engrossed Substitute Senate Bill No. 6251 entitled:

"AN ACT Relating to fiscal matters;"

My reason for vetoing these sections are as follows:

Section 109(4) and (5), page 10, Judgeship Proviso Reference (Administrator for the Courts)

Section 109(4) provides funding for an additional Superior Court judgeship in Thurston County effective July 1, 1996; and section 109(5) provides funding for two additional Superior Court judgeships in Chelan and Douglas Counties effective January 1, 1997. However, both sections lapse funding for these judgeships without enactment of Senate Bill No. 6151 and Senate Bill No. 6495. Although the legislature did not approve either of these two bills, it did approve substantially similar legislation (Substitute House Bill No. 2446) to increase the number of judges in Thurston, Chelan, and Douglas Counties. For this reason, I am vetoing the proviso language that ties the appropriation to the enactment of the two referenced senate bills, thereby making the funding available to the courts to carry out the intent of the legislature.

Section 112(1), beginning with the word "Of" on line 12 and ending with "January 1, 1997." on line 26 and Section 112(2), page 12, Management Improvement Project for the Children and Family Services Division of the Department of Social and Health Services (Office of the Governor)

Section 112(1) provides $1,100,000 of a $1,518,000 General Fund-State appropriation solely for allocation to the Public Policy Institute at The Evergreen State College to direct a management improvement project for the Division of Children and Family Services (DCFS). I wholeheartedly support this project and believe the legislature has taken an important step to assure that Washington State's system for delivery of child welfare services is a sound organization of which everyone can be proud. However, this subsection requires that the full $1.1 million designated for the project be expended on a structural and process examination of DCFS. While such an examination should be the project's primary focus, I believe this amount could be used more effectively if some of the funds are also directed toward an examination of other key issues affecting DCFS and toward making immediate and tangible improvements in children and family services.

Therefore, I am vetoing part of section 112(1) in order to broaden the project's scope and to ensure that the state receives immediate and lasting results from the money designated for this project.

Specifically, I will broaden the scope of the project to include an examination of substance abuse and its impact on families and DCFS' delivery of services. I believe we, as a state, must come to grips with this problem, and I believe it is an important consideration of any review of the role and management of DCFS. In addition, I will direct that a portion of the money designated for the project be used to implement some of the strategies that experts have already identified as essential to improve our child welfare system. The most notable of these improvements is the creation of a separate licensing function with the Department of Social and Health Services to assure the health and safety of children in the department's care.

As intended by the legislature, the examination of DCFS' structure and processes by an objective, impartial expert will remain the central focus of the project. As set forth in section 112(1), this examination will include the study and development of DCFS' strategic plan, mission, goals, and performance-based outcome measures. I fully share the legislature's desire to improve DCFS' performance, strengthen its accountability, and increase public confidence in its work. The comprehensive examination outlined here will help us achieve this mutual goal.

Section 112(2) creates an oversight group for the management improvement project. While I agree with the need for this group, the membership outlined in this subsection is unnecessarily restrictive. I believe the examination of the DCFS' structure and processes would benefit from the inclusion of others, including experts outside state government. Therefore, I am vetoing section 112(2). While I will welcome input from the oversight group members outlined in this subsection, I plan to convene a broader group, including children's services experts from both the public and private sector, to assist in defining the scope of the management examination. I am retaining the requirement in section 112(3) involving a legislative advisory committee in the project and look forward to working with these members. I also believe there should be close collaboration between the project oversight group and the Legislative Budget Committee which was recently directed by the legislature to conduct a performance audit of Child Protective Services.

Section 112(4), page 13, Office of the Family and Children's Ombudsman (Office of the Governor)

Section 112(4) provides $418,000 of the $1,518,000 General Fund-State appropriation designated for establishing a new Office of the Family and Children's Ombudsman in the Governor's Office. This subsection requires the staff of the Office of Constituent Relations at the Department of Social and Health Services to be transferred to the Ombudsman's Office. These staff members perform an important function in the department and should remain there. Therefore, I am vetoing section 112(4); however, I will ensure that the Office of the Family and Children's Ombudsman will be established as intended by Second Substitute House Bill No. 2856.

Section 121(25), page 29, Asian-Pacific Economic Conference (Department of Community, Trade, and Economic Development)

Section 121(25) requires that $180,000 from the General Fund-State appropriation be used by the Department of Community, Trade, and Economic Development (CTED) to supplement private funding for the Asian-Pacific Economic Conference (APEC). Because the legislature did not provide additional resources to support this expenditure, CTED would be forced to reduce funding for other valuable economic development programs to implement this budget language. While APEC's budget difficulties are very real, I cannot support a further erosion of CTED's economic development programs. Therefore, I am vetoing section 121(25).

Section 132, lines 19-20, and Section 132(3), page 38, K-20 Technology Improvements (Department of Information Services)

Section 132 appropriates $54.3 million for the K-20 technology plan contained in Engrossed Second Substitute Senate Bill No. 6705. I applaud the legislature for addressing this very important need. Unfortunately, $12 million of the $54.3 million is appropriated from the Data Processing Revolving Account, a dedicated internal service fund used by the Department of Information Services (DIS) and other agencies to provide services on a cost-recovery basis. There are two technical problems with the use of this fund for the intended purpose. First, DIS' portion of the cash balance in this account is obligated for purchasing equipment and software needed to provide services to the contributing agencies. These services are not related to the K-20 technology plan. Second, dedicated state and federal revenues are merged in this account and using those outside sources to help finance the K-20 technology plan would be inappropriate. The largest contributors to the balance include funds of the Department of Social and Health Services and dedicated funds from the Departments of Labor and Industries, Licensing, and Transportation. Diverting these specific funds to a project not related to their intended use would ultimately result in having to pay back the original fund source.

As stated in Engrossed Second Substitute Senate Bill No. 6705, there is an initial requirement to prepare a design and implementation plan for K-20 technology improvements. This plan will create a better cost estimate as well as lay out the timing of the project. Although the higher education system is ready to proceed, K-12 is not expected to reach that stage prior to the next legislative session. Furthermore, the appropriation from the Data Processing Revolving Account was to be expended only after the entire K-20 Technology Account appropriation had been obligated. Since these funds are not expected to be needed prior to the 1997 Legislative Session, I will be looking toward making the required investment at that time through proper funding sources.

I commend the legislature for recognizing and addressing this vitally important need for technology improvements in our education system, but I cannot allow the improper use of the Data Processing Revolving Account. Therefore, I am vetoing the $12 million appropriation, together with subsection (3) that relates to this appropriation.

Section 206, lines 34-35, page 52, Aging and Adult Services Fiscal Year 1996 Appropriation (Department of Social and Health Services)

The 1996 Legislative Session ended without passage of a supplemental capital budget. Without other action, the Department of Social and Health Services (DSHS) would have insufficient resources to replace the sewer system at the Maple Lane School or to move ahead with the reconstruction of Green Hill School, which is essential to continue to operate the institution and to meet growing demands for additional beds in the future. By vetoing the lines referenced above, the original higher appropriation level is restored, providing an additional $9,917,000 in General Fund-State expenditure authority for DSHS in Fiscal Year 1996. These operating funds will be transferred to the Juvenile Rehabilitation and Mental Health institutional budgets to replace capital expenditures, thereby freeing up $9.9 million in bond appropriations for capital projects. Of these funds, $7 million will be allocated for reconstruction of Green Hill School and the remainder will be used to replace the Maple Lane sewer system.

This proviso directs $100,000 General Fund-State to the Human Rights Commission to implement House Bill No. 2932, regarding discrimination dispute resolution. Since House Bill No. 2932 is not a necessary or appropriate prerequisite to providing alternative dispute resolution, I have vetoed it. I am also vetoing this proviso and directing the commission to use this $100,000 to reduce its current backlog of discrimination cases.

Section 217(15), pages 72-73, CHILD Profile (Department of Health)

Subsection 15 appropriates $210,000 General Fund-State solely for the purpose of stabilizing the existing CHILD Profile program in four counties and requires the development of a plan to expand the CHILD Profile immunization tracking system statewide by July 1, 1997. This is an extremely important effort, but I am concerned that the proviso appears to assume that the statewide planning effort can be implemented by July 1, 1997. Although the Department of Health is already engaged in determining statewide expansion of the program, implementation within this time frame is not feasible. Therefore, I am vetoing this subsection, but I am directing the Department of Health to expend the $210,000 on the CHILD Profile program, proceed with its planning effort, and complete a report on its outcomes by July 1, 1997.

Section 217(16), page 73, Domoic Acid (Department of Health)

The Department of Health's (DOH) supplemental request to support testing for the presence of domoic acid, a harmful neural toxin in razor clams, blue mussels, and crabs was not funded. This proviso would require DOH to expend $195,000 from existing general fund appropriations to conduct these tests. While domoic acid represents a public health threat to unsuspecting recreational harvesters of shellfish, the cost of these tests must be balanced against other important work being done by DOH. For this reason, I am vetoing this subsection and directing DOH to continue its testing program, to the degree possible, within existing resources.

Section 218(1)(f), page 75, Supervision of Sex Offenders (Department of Corrections)

Section 218(1)(f) provides $78,000 to implement Substitute Senate Bill No. 6274, regarding the supervision of sex offenders. Substitute Senate Bill No. 6274, however, does not require the appropriation, but Substitute House Bill No. 2545, which was also approved by the legislature, does. For that reason, I am vetoing section 218(1)(f) so that the Department of Corrections can fulfill legislative intent.

Section 218(2)(c), page 76, Life Skills Program (Department of Corrections)

Section 218(2)(c) requires that, within the amounts appropriated, the Department of Corrections (DOC) fund the Life Skills program at the Washington State Correctional Center for Women in Fiscal Year 1997 at a level equal to or greater than that funded in Fiscal Year 1995. This directive is inconsistent with the educational requirements of Chapter 19, Laws of 1995, 1st Special Session, which require that DOC give a higher priority to basic and vocational education than to the Life Skills program. For this reason, I am vetoing Section 218(2)(c).

Section 301(11), page 83, Water Quality Permit Fee Program (Department of Ecology)

Section 301(11) requires the Department of Ecology to hire a consultant to develop a fee schedule for the water quality permit fee program. Although the proviso earmarks $110,000 from the Water Quality Permit Fee Account for this study, the Department of Ecology's appropriation was not increased (and available revenue would not support an increased appropriation). Water quality efforts would need to be reduced to implement this proviso, which would result in fewer permit reviews.

In addition, a number of studies have already been conducted addressing the issues identified in the proviso. Among them are the 1994 Legislative Budget Committee study and the 1990-91 Efficiency Commission study. This new study would be redundant to those efforts. For these reasons, I am vetoing section 301(11).

Section 503, pages 110-114, Basic Education Salaries (Superintendent of Public Instruction)

Section 503 determines the level of state support for certificated salaries in basic education. The legislature added new language in 503(1)(b) to base 1996-97 school year allocated salaries on the experience and education (staff mix factor) of both basic education and special education certificated staff. By including special education staff in the calculation, the new language lowers the amount allocated to some school districts for basic education salaries in the 1996-97 school year. Because of state limits on school district salaries (the salary compliance law), some school districts would be required to pay lower salaries in 1996-97 than in 1995-96. Although I favor the concept of including special education staff in the salary allocation formula, I do not favor cutting any teacher's salary. For this reason, I am vetoing section 503. I will consider budget language and accompanying legislation for the 1997-99 Biennium to include special education and other staff in the salary allocation formula. I believe this can be accomplished without forcing salary cuts on certificated staff.

Section 706, pages 154-157, Health Insurance Benefits

Section 706 reduces the monthly contribution funding for health benefits for employees of state agencies and higher education institutions in Fiscal Year 1997 from $314.51 to $304.31 per month. This reduction would decrease the overall Public Employees Benefits Board funding by approximately $11 million (all funds), which would have the effect of drawing down the current reserve.

I am vetoing this section because this reserve should be available to address unanticipated expenditures in the current biennium or to defer some of the increased funding which will most likely be required in the 1997-99 Biennium. This action should help protect the current benefits levels in the future for state employees.

I would like to take this opportunity to acknowledge that the 1996 Legislature took responsible action in recognizing some of the funding shortfalls due to congressional budget reductions. It is critical for our state to continue summer youth programs, to maintain the emergency food distribution programs, and to keep a commitment to salmon production. I would also like to remind members of the legislature that we may yet have to address other federal budget problems later this year. Since we no longer have predictable federal funding, it may be necessary to address serious budget shortfalls this fall, possibly even necessitating a special legislative session.

For these reasons, I have vetoed sections 109(4); 109(5); 112(1) beginning with the word "Of" on line 12, and ending with "January 1, 1997." on line 26; 112(2); 112(4); 121(25); 132 (lines 19-20); 132(3); 206 (lines 34-35); 213 (lines 24-28); 217(15); 217(16); 218(1)(f); 218(2)(c); 301(11); 503; and 706 of Engrossed Substitute Senate Bill No. 6251.

With the exception of sections 109(4); 109(5); 112(1) beginning with the word "Of" on line 12, and ending with "January 1, 1997." on line 26; 112(2); 112(4); 121(25); 132 (lines 19-20); 132(3); 206 (lines 34-35); 213 (lines 24-28); 217(15); 217(16); 218(1)(f); 218(2)(c); 301(11); 503; and 706, Engrossed Substitute Senate Bill No. 6251 is approved.

Respectfully submitted,

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR
PARTIAL VETO MESSAGE ON SENATE BILL NO. 6253

March 28, 1996

To the Honorable President and Members,
The Senate of the State of Washington
Ladies and Gentlemen:

I am returning herewith, without my approval as to section 10, Senate Bill No. 6253 entitled:
"AN ACT Relating to the sentencing guidelines commission;"

Senate Bill No. 6253 updates the powers and duties and expands the membership of the Sentencing Guidelines Commission (Commission). This legislation recognizes the need to assess the current status of adult felony sentencing as well as the need to reform disposition standards for juvenile offenders. In order to provide needed representation and perspective on the Commission, membership is increased to add a victim of crime or victims' advocate, a county elected official, a city elected official, a juvenile court administrator, and the head of the state agency responsible for juvenile corrections (currently the assistant secretary for the Juvenile Rehabilitation Administration of the Department of Social and Health Services). The chair of the Clemency and Pardons Board is removed from membership.

Section 10 of Senate Bill No. 6253 repeals these changes and restores the Commission's current membership structure effective June 30, 1999. Because the Commission's responsibilities are not expected to change at that time, there is no reason for repealing these changes. The need for this representation and variety of perspectives will be at least as great in 1999 as it is now. Further, the repeal would not provide a significant savings to taxpayers since Commission members serve part-time and receive only reimbursement of actual costs and, in the case of citizen members, per diem for meetings.

For these reasons, I have vetoed section 10 of Senate Bill No. 6253.
With the exception of section 10, Senate Bill No. 6253 is approved.

Respectfully submitted,
MIKE LOWRY, Governor

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR
PARTIAL VETO MESSAGE ON SUBSTITUTE SENATE BILL NO. 6274

March 29, 1996

To the Honorable President and Members,
The Senate of the State of Washington
Ladies and Gentlemen:

I am returning herewith, without my approval as to sections 6, 7, 8, and 13, Substitute Senate Bill No. 6274 entitled:

"AN ACT Relating to supervision of sex offenders;"

Substitute Senate Bill No. 6274 enhances public protection against sex offenders by making a number of changes. It extends the supervision period following an offender's release from incarceration and facilitates the Department of Corrections' imposition of sanctions for violations of supervision conditions. It also tightens the registration requirements for sex offenders so that law enforcement can better track their movements from community to community. In general, this legislation fine-tunes the laws enacted as part of the Community Protection Act of 1990.

The Community Protection Act of 1990 established a comprehensive approach for dealing with sex offenders. It authorized public officials to notify communities about potentially dangerous sex offenders when they are released from incarceration after serving their sentence. It also created a new sentencing alternative that permits first-time sex offenders, who have committed a non-serious offense, to remain in the community for treatment purposes. This treatment sentencing option is used only when the court -- after considering the recommendations of treatment experts, prosecutors, and the victim -- determines that the adult or juvenile offender does not pose a risk to the community and is amenable to treatment. Moreover, the offender is supervised by a probation officer during the treatment period. Because successful treatment is the best protection against recidivism, this sentencing alternative serves the interests of the community as well as the individual offender.

Sections 6, 7, and 8 of Substitute Senate Bill No. 6274 extend the public notification requirement to offenders who have been sentenced under the treatment option. Section 13 provides for immediate implementation of these provisions and has no effect on the remainder of the bill.

I wholeheartedly agree that public notification is appropriate when an offender returning to the community poses a potential public safety risk. However, I do not support extending the public notification requirement to first-time, non-serious juvenile offenders who remain in the community for treatment. Public notification serves no purpose in these cases where the courts have made a risk assessment, based on expert evaluations, and have found these juveniles to pose no threat to community safety. In addition, community notification could well jeopardize the purpose of this sentencing alternative, that is, to provide effective community-based treatment in order to prevent future reoffense. Past public notifications of juvenile sex offenders upon their release from confinement have sometimes resulted in their being prevented from attending school. Other juveniles have been harassed and even assaulted. If it results in public stigmatization, community notification will significantly undermine our efforts to rehabilitate juvenile offenders under the treatment sentencing option. This risk should therefore be avoided. With respect to adult offenders who are sentenced under the community treatment option, law enforcement already issues public notifications on these offenders.

For these reasons, I have vetoed sections 6, 7, 8, and 13 of Substitute Senate Bill No. 6274.

With the exception of sections 6, 7, 8, and 13, Substitute Senate Bill No. 6274 is approved.

Respectfully submitted,
MIKE LOWRY, Governor

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR
PARTIAL VETO MESSAGE ON SUBSTITUTE SENATE BILL NO. 6514

March 28, 1996

To the Honorable President and Members,
The Senate of the State of Washington
Ladies and Gentlemen:

I am returning herewith, without my approval as to section 1, Substitute Senate Bill No. 6514 entitled:

"AN ACT Relating to preservation services;"

Substitute Senate Bill No. 6514 authorizes the use of paraprofessional workers to provide support services to families receiving preservation services from the Department of Social and Health Services (DSHS) or its contractors. This bill also allows DSHS and its contractors, when using paraprofessionals, to serve more families and to provide preservation services for a longer period of time.

Section 1 of this measure states that it is the intent of the legislature to target preservation services to families "most at risk". This language suggests that DSHS must prioritize the provision of preservation services to families who are at high risk of having their children removed from their home due to abuse or neglect. More specifically, this language may be read as suggesting that the department serve high risk families before serving families who are at lower risk of an out-of-home placement, but who nevertheless have placed their children in danger and who could benefit from services designed to prevent the situation from escalating into a crisis resulting in an out-of-home placement.

While I agree that scarce resources should be targeted whenever possible, section 1 seems to be unduly restrictive and contrary to the prevention-oriented focus of Engrossed Substitute Senate Bill No. 5885. That important legislation, which was enacted last year and for which the legislature has appropriated funding this year, contained a clear expression of the legislature's intent to provide "up-front services" to strengthen families and to prevent out-of-home placements. Last year's measure also expanded preservation services to include less intensive services for families who are at lower risk of an out-of-home placement.

The 1996 supplemental operating budget, Engrossed Substitute Senate Bill No. 6251, expressly provides funding both for the existing intensive preservation services for high risk families and for the new preservation services established last year for lower risk families. Section 1 appears to be inconsistent with this legislative direction.

For these reasons, I have vetoed section 1 of Substitute Senate Bill No. 6514.

With the exception of section 1, Substitute Senate Bill No. 6514 is approved.

Respectfully submitted,
MIKE LOWRY, Governor

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR
PARTIAL VETO MESSAGE ON SUBSTITUTE SENATE BILL NO. 6583

March 21, 1996

To the Honorable President and Members,
The Senate of the State of Washington
Ladies and Gentlemen:

I am returning herewith, without my approval as to section 4, Substitute Senate Bill No. 6583 entitled:

"AN ACT Relating to higher education;"

Substitute Senate Bill No. 6583 establishes definitions for full and part-time academic employees in the community and technical college system for the purpose of standardizing medical and retirement benefits and requires a task force to study, provide recommendations on, and implement best practices regarding academic employee benefits.

This legislation includes an emergency clause in section 4. Funding to implement the provisions of this bill is included in the supplemental budget and cannot be expended until fiscal year 1997. Since the bill without section 4 is otherwise effective 90 days following the close of the legislative session, which is before the start of fiscal year 1997, the emergency clause is without moment.

Moreover, the inclusion of an emergency clause prevents this bill from being subject to a referendum under Article II, section 1 (b) of the state Constitution and unnecessarily denies the people of this state their power, at their own option, to approve or reject this bill at the polls.

For these reasons, I have vetoed section 4 of Substitute Senate Bill No. 6583.
With the exception of section 4, Substitute Senate Bill No. 6583 is approved.

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR
PARTIAL VETO MESSAGE ON SUBSTITUTE SENATE BILL NO. 6637

March 30, 1996

To the Honorable President and Members,
The Senate of the State of Washington
Ladies and Gentlemen:

I am returning herewith, without my approval as to sections 3 and 5, Substitute Senate Bill No. 6637 entitled:
"AN ACT Relating to limitations on growth management hearings board discretion;"

Substitute Senate Bill No. 6637 clarifies the statutes dealing with the Growth Management Hearings Boards.

Sections 1 and 2 of this bill are simple clarifications of current law governing board actions and are not controversial. Section 4 provides for expedited judicial review of board actions in cases in which a board issues a determination of invalidity and such a determination is appealed. While the authority of the legislature to direct the courts to expedite review is not clear, it is reasonable to encourage prompt consideration by the courts of such board actions within their civil dockets given the significant impacts that may be involved in the invalidation of local land use ordinances.

Section 3 of this bill has two major elements, one changing provisions regarding invalidity, the other addressing how courts should review board decisions.

The legislature acted in 1995 to respond to uncertainty regarding the vesting status of projects in jurisdictions in which boards had found comprehensive plans or development regulations out of compliance with the Growth Management Act. Prior to 1995, there was concern that the result might be an effective moratorium on development. The legislature provided that projects vest under a local land use statute, even if it has been found out of compliance, unless and until a board issues a determination of invalidity. Such a determination must meet a higher standard than is needed to find noncompliance. For a board to issue a determination of invalidity, it must find that the continued validity of the plan or regulation would "substantially interfere with the fulfillment of the goals" of the act. After a determination of invalidity, new projects vest under whatever ordinance is eventually adopted in compliance with the act.

Since this change in 1995, there has been significant controversy regarding the use of this authority by the boards. Some have argued that boards have used the authority to respond to repeated refusal by a small minority of local governments to pass statutes that complied with the act. Others have argued that the use of this power has created temporary chaos rather than greater certainty and that the use of this power has altered the "bottom up" nature of growth planning. The legislature responded by revisiting the 1995 sections in this bill.

Substitute Senate Bill No. 6637 requires that when a board makes a determination of invalidity, it must specify the provisions to which the determination would apply and must wait ninety days before effectuating the order. Additional time must be granted to the local government if it is making "substantial progress" toward adopting a plan or regulations.

During this period, all projects vest to the local ordinance which has been found to substantially interfere with fulfillment of the goals of the act. After this period, the board may issue an order effectuating the determination of invalidity. When such an order is issued, it provides that divisions of land vest to new ordinances ultimately found in compliance by the boards. Other development continues to vest to the provisions which have been found invalid by the boards, until new ordinances have been enacted. The concept that projects should vest to provisions of law that substantially interfere with fulfillment of the goals of the act is not wise.

This was an honest attempt to develop a compromise in a difficult area of the law. I commend the legislature for its efforts, but as drafted, Substitute Senate Bill No. 6637 is not without significant flaws.

To permit vesting to a plan or regulation that has been found to substantially interfere with fulfillment of the goals of the act is an incentive for local governments to continue to remain out of compliance with legitimate board orders. Despite the local nature of growth planning, the act reflects statewide concerns. The boards are intended to ensure that local solutions remain within the requirements and goals of the act. If board determinations are ignored, the boards are nothing more than a time-consuming annoyance on the way to court. Meanwhile traffic congestion worsens, sprawl continues, air quality degrades, habitat is lost, the public's ability to pay for infrastructure is strained and frustration mounts.

The section also provides that in appeals of Growth Management Hearing Board decisions, the court is to conduct an independent review of the board's legal conclusions. It is unclear whether this merely clarifies the current court practice of independently reviewing the actions of quasi-judicial boards as to their legal conclusions or whether it directs the courts to grant no deference to the board's specialized expertise. At best, this lack of clarity makes the court's task in reviewing board decisions more difficult than would already be the case. At worst, these provisions render the decisions of the boards meaningless and prolong the resolution of underlying dispute.

I am aware of criticism of a few board actions, but in the vast majority of the appeals brought to the boards, they have been successful in achieving prompt resolution of the issues in dispute. The boards were established to resolve difficult land use planning disputes, including those between local governments, to reflect regional differences, to bring more expertise to these issues, and to resolve issues more quickly than court action would require.

I believe that this provision is a message by the legislature to the boards directing them to use discretion in their authority to invalidate local ordinances. I echo this message. There are some situations in which local actions are so far out of compliance with the requirements and goals of the act that severe action is appropriate. However, overuse of this authority will only serve to weaken both the authority of the boards and the act itself.

I am requesting that the Land Use Study Commission, established in 1995, make recommendations to the 1997 Legislature and to the governor proposing how to clarify and simplify the law in this area. Such recommendations should propose how to establish greater certainty in local growth planning and encourage local planning and actions to comply with the requirements and goals of the Growth Management Act.

Section 5 of Substitute Senate Bill No. 6637 recognizes the broad range of discretion that may be exercised by local governments under the Growth Management Act. In the act, the legislature specified a set of goals and a related series of procedural and substantive requirements towards achieving them. While requiring compliance, the legislature recognized the diversity of the state and the power inherent in local land use decision-making. Consistent with these requirements, local governments retain broad discretion.

However, local discretion must be exercised in a manner that is consistent with the requirements of the act. The boards have the difficult responsibility of interpreting the legislative meaning of the act in specific local disputes without substituting their judgment for that of local governments. This is among the most difficult challenges facing the boards and local governments. Section 5 of this bill states that the boards are not to prioritize, balance or rank the goals of the Growth Management Act. This provision appears to prevent the boards from evaluating whether local governments have been guided by the goals or whether, in meeting the requirements of the act, they have reflected the value content of the goals. Such a limitation would reduce the boards to a purely procedural role. If this provision were to become law, most local disputes would require court action for resolution. The boards can only function effectively if they have the authority, when resolving disputes, to ensure that local governments are complying with the requirements and not substantially interfering with fulfillment of the goals of the act.

This section also clarifies that in cases heard by Growth Management Hearings Boards, the burden of proof is on the petitioner. This principle was understood at the establishment of the boards. The boards have adopted rules which include this standard.

Section 5 of Substitute Senate Bill No. 6637 clarifies the standard of review to be used by the boards to judge cases. In matters of law, the bill directs the boards to find compliance unless they find that a state agency or local government erroneously interpreted the chapter. In issues of fact, compliance is to be found if the action of the state agency or local government is not supported by evidence that is substantial when reviewed in light of the whole record before the board.

In reviewing legal questions, the boards must determine whether local governments have been right or wrong in their legal interpretation of the provisions of the Growth Management Act as evidenced by their application of the act. The standard for reviewing questions of fact directs the boards to defer somewhat to local governments as long as they present enough evidence to allow a reasonable person to act. This is similar to the direction by the boards to local governments to "show your work", stating that local governments deserve deference if they establish a rational basis for making complex land use decisions.

I believe the boards should grant deference to local governments in how they plan for growth consistent with the requirements and goals of the act. Local comprehensive plans and development regulations require local governments to balance priorities and options for action in full consideration of local circumstances. While the act requires that local action take place within a state framework, the local land use process is not aimed at perfection but at allowing local communities to make choices about their future.

The legislature attempted to clarify the standard that boards must use to resolve disputes between local governments and affected parties. With one exception, I believe that they succeeded. However, the prohibition against board action regarding the goals of the act appears to prevent the boards from ensuring that the goals have their intended effect. I cannot approve this. After six years, implementation of the act is forcing us again to consider how to maintain local control within a framework of state goals and requirements. In many jurisdictions, plans have been adopted and many are fully involved in implementing their plans. In these jurisdictions, we can see the results of good planning. But in some jurisdictions, the distance between traditional development patterns and practices and the dramatic changes required by the act have divided communities and resulted in angry disputes between local governments and the boards.

People acting in good faith have come to very different conclusions about how best to manage growth. The state must revisit the issue of how to resolve these disputes. I am requesting that the Land Use Study Commission make recommendations to the legislature and to the governor regarding improvements to our dispute resolution structure.

For these reasons, I have vetoed sections 3 and 5 of Substitute Senate Bill No. 6637.

With the exception of sections 3 and 5, Substitute Senate Bill No. 6637 is approved.

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR
PARTIAL VETO MESSAGE ON SUBSTITUTE SENATE BILL NO. 6656

March 28, 1996

To the Honorable President and Members,
The Senate of the State of Washington
Ladies and Gentlemen:

I am returning herewith, without my approval as to section 4, Substitute Senate Bill No. 6656 entitled:

"AN ACT Relating to sales and use tax exemptions for manufacturing machinery and equipment;"

Substitute Senate Bill No. 6656 provides an exemption from the sales and use taxes for repair and replacement parts with a useful life of one year or more, as well as a sales and use tax exemption for labor and service charges for repairing, cleaning, altering, or improving machinery and equipment.

I agree with the finding of the legislature that this measure would improve the ability of Washington State to compete with other states in our region for manufacturing investment. This type of legislation helps bring more family wage jobs to the state as well as enhance and solidify the state's competitive position. I further agree with the legislature's finding that the health, safety, and welfare of the people of the state of Washington are heavily dependent upon the continued development and expansion of the state's manufacturing industries. In that light, I am vetoing section 4 of Substitute Senate Bill No. 6656. This section establishes an effective date for the bill of January 1, 1997.

The necessity and importance of this type of legislation dictates that it be put into effect as soon as possible so that the economic benefits of increased employment and family wage jobs for the people of the state of Washington can begin immediately rather than next year. In addition, allowing the bill to become law within the usual 90 days after adjournment of the legislature will provide an additional $11.2 million in sales and use tax relief to manufacturers in the state.

For this reason, I have vetoed section 4 of Substitute Senate Bill No. 6656.

With the exception of section 4, Substitute Senate Bill No. 6656 is approved.

Respectfully submitted,
MIKE LOWRY, Governor

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR
PARTIAL VETO MESSAGE ON ENGROSSED SUBSTITUTE SENATE BILL NO. 6680

March 30, 1996

To the Honorable President and Members,
The Senate of the State of Washington
Ladies and Gentlemen:

I am returning herewith, without my approval as to sections 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 11, 13, and 14, Engrossed Substitute Senate Bill No. 6680 entitled:

"AN ACT Relating to the performance assessment of state government;"

Engrossed Substitute Senate Bill No. 6680, for the most part, creates a new legislative committee and office to conduct performance reviews of state agencies and programs. These reviews would determine whether agencies and programs should be strengthened, abandoned, or redirected and would evaluate whether there is still a valid purpose for them. They would also look at program costs, priorities, performance improvements, and strategic plans. These kinds of inquiries are valid and usually provide useful direction to state agencies. They also identify where state government programs should be cut back because of changing circumstances or should be expanded to meet new needs. I support these efforts and believe they should be strengthened.

However, the powers and duties given to the new Legislative Committee on Performance Review and to its staff office are unfunded and seriously overlap current responsibilities of the Legislative Budget Committee and its successor agency, the Joint Legislative Audit and Review Committee. This committee was created by Engrossed Second Substitute House Bill No. 2222.

While I strongly support any coordinated, well-planned, and properly funded effort to evaluate state agency performance, I am concerned that two legislative agencies with overlapping directives in this area would not be beneficial. Indeed, they could result in conflicting demands and directives on executive branch agencies that would be difficult and costly to fulfill. I cannot approve those sections of the bill relating to the powers and duties of the Legislative Committee on Performance Review and the Legislative Office of Performance Review.

On the other hand, section 10 of Engrossed Substitute Senate Bill No. 6680 provides reasonable and timely direction to state agencies and the Office of Financial Management (OFM) in a number of critical areas. It directs agencies to define their missions, goals, and objectives; to establish performance measures; and to adopt processes for continuous self-assessment and improvement. Section 10 also directs OFM to institute performance-based budgeting and to assist agencies in developing performance measurement systems. The supplemental appropriations act provides OFM with additional resources to accomplish these goals. These are useful steps that should be taken, and they build on work already done by agencies, OFM, and the Washington Performance Partnership Council. Section 10 should, therefore, be approved.

Section 12 of Engrossed Substitute Senate Bill No. 6680 repeals the enabling act for the Washington Performance Partnership Council. That organization and its staff contributed significantly to developing a workable Washington State management model, defined the role of state executives in strategically managing change, and began the process of incorporating continuous process improvement and performance measurement into our management culture. Since their work is done and they are no longer funded, the repealers in section 12 are appropriate.

For these reasons, I have vetoed sections 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 11, 13, and 14 of Engrossed Substitute Senate Bill No. 6680.

With the exception of sections 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 11, 13, and 14, Engrossed Substitute Senate Bill No. 6680 is approved.

Respectfully submitted,
MIKE LOWRY, Governor

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR
PARTIAL VETO MESSAGE ON ENGROSSED SENATE BILL NO. 6702

March 30, 1996

To the Honorable President and Members,
The Senate of the State of Washington
Ladies and Gentlemen:

I am returning herewith, without my approval as to section 8, Engrossed Senate Bill No. 6702 entitled:

"AN ACT Relating to clarifying and streamlining procedures of the joint administrative rules review committee;"

The Joint Administrative Rules Review Committee (JARRC) plays an important role in providing a bipartisan forum for selective review of agency rules. This legislation clarifies a number of JARRC's procedures. I commend the members of the legislature for their continuing hard work.

However, section 8 of Engrossed Senate Bill No. 6702 includes language that I have vetoed from two other bills in prior legislative sessions. This section would give JARRC the ability, by a simple majority vote of committee members, to establish a rebuttable presumption in judicial proceedings that a rule does not comply with the legislature's intent. The burden of proof to establish that a rule was within legislative intent would be shifted to the state agency rather than placed on the individual bringing the challenge. This would mean that five legislators out of a total of 147 could determine legislative intent. These five individual legislators would have this ability regardless of their participation in the policy committees that developed the underlying legislation upon which the rule is based.

I have serious concerns about the constitutionality of this kind of authority. Article II, section 22 and Article III, section 12 of the state constitution require that legislative acts be passed by a majority of the members elected to each house of the legislature, with presentment to the governor for approval. This section violates these provisions. Moreover, section 8 of Engrossed Senate Bill No. 6702 violates the separation of powers doctrine in that it intrudes unduly into those constitutional powers reserved for the executive and judicial branches of government.

For these reasons, I have vetoed section 8 of Engrossed Senate Bill No. 6702.

With the exception of section 8, Engrossed Senate Bill No. 6702 is approved.

Respectfully submitted,
MIKE LOWRY, Governor

On motion of Senator Johnson, Senate Joint Resolution No. 8201 was referred to the Committee on Education.

MOTION

At 11:44 a.m., Senator Johnson moved that the Senate be at ease to retire to the House of Representatives for the purpose of a Joint Session.

REMARKS BY PRESIDENT PRITCHARD

President Pritchard: "We will gather, but before we do I have just a short--I would like to take a moment to thank Vic Yelle, Mary Wiley, Marty Brown--who is not here--Tony Cook, Mike O'Connell, Brad Hendrickson, and all the other people on the rostrum--that have been so good and so helpful to me. I think all of us are delighted for Marty--the appointment he got--and it will be good for the Governor and it will be good for the Senate and the legislative process. So, we want to congratulate Marty even though he is not here. While I am looking, there is Dick and Karen; this is a two camera day today. They are both up here, but I think all of you know that. I appreciate--I certainly do--the wonderful support that I have had as I wander along and thrash around and they keep me straight. They are such fine people; they make us all proud. I thank them all and we are going to applaud them right now. Now, we will all adjourn to the back. Senator Snyder."

REMARKS BY SENATOR SNYDER

Senator Snyder: "Well, Governor, I would like to take this opportunity to thank you for the eight years that you have been here. I have only been around six of them, but you had a long and distinguished career, starting in 1959 in the House of Representatives and then you were over here and then spent twelve years in Congress. You kept your word when you said that you wouldn't be there longer than twelve years. You probably could have still been back--"

REPLY BY PRESIDENT PRITCHARD

President Pritchard: "I would have been in all that mess back there if I had been."
Senator Snyder: "Well, you have done an outstanding job throughout your political career and we want to wish you the very best in the future."

REMARKS BY PRESIDENT PRITCHARD

President Pritchard: "Well, thank you. Now, let's all adjourn to the back of the room, so we can--oh, Senator Sellar."

REMARKS BY SENATOR SELLAR

Senator Sellar: "Well, Mr. President, it wouldn't be fair if we didn't pass on those remarks to you from this side of the aisle, too. It has been a real pleasure and privilege for all of us to serve in the same body as Joel Pritchard. Thank you very much."

REMARKS BY PRESIDENT PRITCHARD

President Pritchard: "That is very kind. We don't dare be late to this."

REMARKS BY SENATOR WOJAHN

Senator Wojahn: "I just want to add one thing. I want to thank you for your levity in creating an atmosphere of fun within these Chambers when it became very somber. Thank you very much."

REMARKS BY PRESIDENT PRITCHARD

President Pritchard: "Well, thank you very much. Now, if you--yes, Senator."

REMARKS BY SENATOR PRINCE

Senator Prince: "Governor Pritchard, beings that we came at the same time--I had to work for you then--but I did not expect to still be here when you left. It has been a joy and I want to add my personal thanks."

REMARKS BY PRESIDENT PRITCHARD

President Pritchard: "Oh, thank you. We don't dare be late to the House, because they are going to blame us for holding up their schedule. You know they have TV and everything over there, so any of these kinds of remarks, Senator Loveland, let's hold them up, because seriously we've got to get over there or we are going to be in trouble."

REMARKS BY SENATOR LOVELAND

Senator Loveland: "Mr. Governor, this is on a different subject, but I would also like to thank you. For the good of the order, Senator Pelz is standing in the wings and we would all like to wish him well. He was formally sworn in as a King County Councilperson. We are going to miss all his levity and I would like to acknowledge him."

REMARKS BY PRESIDENT PRITCHARD

President Pritchard: "That's right. We are delighted that he won that very difficult battle up there. It is not easy to win any kind of a battle in King County these days. All right, now we are going to--yes--Senator--"

REMARKS BY SENATOR HARGROVE

Senator Hargrove: "Mr. President, I would like to take one more opportunity to wear my collar open before the new Lieutenant Governor gets here."

REPLY BY PRESIDENT PRITCHARD

President Pritchard: "If you can get away with it over in the House, go to it."

Senator Hargrove: "I really have appreciated your consideration for all of our antics out here. It has been a great place to work. Thank you."

REMARKS BY PRESIDENT PRITCHARD

President Pritchard: "Thank you. Now, let's get to the back here, so that we get over there. We are five minutes late now."

At 11:48 a.m., the members of the Senate retired to the House of Representatives for the purpose of a Joint Session.

Speaker Ballard: "This Joint Session has more than one purpose. It has been called to hear the State of the State Address of the Governor. This occasion also provides the Legislature with the most appropriate opportunity to recognize the retiring state officials for their long and effective service to the state of Washington. The Joint Session also complies with the constitutional requirement of canvassing the vote for and against referendums and initiatives, and for the constitutional elective officers. Having discharged the constitutional requirements imposed upon the Speaker of the House, it is now my pleasure to call upon the President of the Senate to preside over the Joint Session."

REMARKS BY THE PRESIDENT

President Pritchard: "As the Speaker has announced, this occasion provides all of us with the opportunity to recognize old friends who are leaving office. Secretary Munro, will you do the honor of introducing our friends?"

INTRODUCTION OF RETIRING STATE TREASURER DANIEL GRIMM

Secretary Munro: "I would like to begin with our State Treasurer, Dan Grimm. Twenty four years ago he began his career in this building as a clerk for the Higher Education Committee for the House of Representatives. Three years later he was elected as a Representative from the Twenty-fifth Legislative District, serving Puyallup, North Tacoma, Bonney Lake and Sumner. Representative Grimm served with distinction in the House for twelve years.

"During that time, he had the privilege of chairing the House Higher Education Committee, the Democratic Caucus and the House Ways and Means Committee which he led for six years. Dan Grimm was elected State Treasurer in 1988 and reelected in 1992. There is no question that he is considered the father of our beautiful new State Historical Society Building in Tacoma. Dan, we thank you for your service and the leadership you have provided. Ladies and Gentlemen, State Treasurer Dan Grimm."

The President and Speaker presented retiring State Treasurer Dan Grimm with a photograph of the Legislative Building.

REMARKS BY STATE TREASURER DANIEL GRIMM

State Treasurer Grimm: "Thank you. Mr. Governor, Mr. Speaker, Mr. President, ladies and gentlemen. As I stand here, I am reminded of the day about twenty years ago when I sat for the first time in the back of this Chamber. I want to say to those of you who are new to this legislative body, that if you, during your time here, are as blessed as I have been with as many acts of personal kindnesses as I have received, and with as many friends as I have been able to make, then you will have been truly fortunate. I want to thank you for your dedication and your commitment to public service. I also, as a former legislator, want to take this opportunity to thank and to ask you to thank your predecessors who have made it possible to make the contributions that we have made.

"There are many. Tom Copeland who made it possible for us to have our own offices; Bob Shafer who made it possible for us to have our own secretarial assistants; Len Sawyer who made it possible for all of us to truly have independent and professional staff, so that you can exercise your constitutional obligations to be an independent branch of government equal among the three. To Bud Shinpoch--every time you look at budget documents, every time you look at numbers from LEAP, every time you look at the books of the bill reports, you can thank Bud Shinpoch. I hope in doing so, that I will convey to you a commitment and enduring obligation that you have to this institution and through it to the people of the state.

"As State Treasurer, I want to thank Governor Mike Lowry. No one has done more and adhered to higher standards of fiscal integrity, in the twenty some years that I have been here, than Governor Mike Lowry. If you as a Legislature sustain those standards in this session and in the years to come, you will have served well the people of this state. Finally, I want to say thank you to the one person who, since 1985, has been the constant source of support and love and inspiration. This person is my daughter, Whitney K. Grimm. Whitney K., I love you biggest much. Thank you."

INTRODUCTION OF RETIRING SUPERINTENDENT OF PUBLIC INSTRUCTION JUDITH BILLINGS

Secretary Munro: "Superintendent of Public Instruction Judith Billings, has served her state with the deep understanding of the value of our public schools. She has been a constant vocal outspoken advocate for kids across our state. Superintendent Billings realizes that in this rapidly changing world, public education plays a vital role as the great equalizer--the opportunity for children to advance beyond their parents station in life. She is constantly reminding all of us what the constitution says, 'It is our paramount duty to provide for ample education for all children.' Today we thank our Superintendent of Public Instruction, Judith Billings."

The President and Speaker presented retiring Superintendent of Public Instruction Billings with a photograph of the Legislative Building.

REMARKS BY SUPERINTENDENT OF PUBLIC INSTRUCTION JUDITH BILLINGS

Superintendent of Public Instruction Billings: "Thank you. It is as I always say, when one of my staff is retiring, a bitter sweet time, because we always cherish the times that we have had with the people with whom we work. At the same time, there is some anticipation of what is to come beyond where we are now in terms of new challenges. I certainly have in my professional life. There is nothing that equals the challenge and enjoyment of running for office and serving in office. Of course, I might add that nothing equals the frustration either. That goes along with the office. It has been a wonderful eight years, with the associations that have been made here at the state level, with the agency officials, with other elected statewide officials and with the Legislature.

“One of the things that I have been so delighted with in working with the Legislature in this state is that although we have not always agreed on issues, we have always been civil personally with one another. That is something that I think is extremely important to continue. I cannot leave without reminding you one more time, each year we give rewards to outstanding teachers and principals and school boards members in these Chambers and I always look at them and say, 'Wouldn't it be fun if you were the ones sitting here making the laws and appropriating the dollars that fund public education?' I can't leave without that one gentle reminder that it is the paramount duty of the state to make ample provisions for the education of all children residing within our borders regardless of gender, race, religion or ethnicity. I hope you take that charge seriously with you through this session and I wish you all the very best. Thank you.”

INTRODUCTION OF RETIRING LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR JOEL PRITCHARD

Secretary Munro: “Most of us in this room were not born or cannot remember World War II and when we do read or see documentaries of the war, they often focus on the European Theater. The last few months of the war were in the Pacific and were terrible. Tens of thousands of our young GIs were maimed or killed in action. Joel Pritchard of Queen Anne Hill was an infantryman in the American New Caledon division, the famed Amercals. They sloughed and fought their way north toward the long sought victory in the Pacific. Pritchard was a lucky one. He came home to Seattle and entered public service, representing the Thirty-sixth District--Queen Anne Hill and Magnolia.

“He came to the Capitol in 1958 and served until 1966 in the House of Representatives and from 1967 to 1971, in the Washington State Senate. He will long be remembered for his fight to win open housing for all citizens and for a womans' right to choose. In 1972, it was off to Congress where he served until 1984, representing the First Congressional District. His record on the Foreign Relations Committee bringing a closure to the war in Viet Nam and his service as a delegate to the United Nations General Assembly for the United States of America is still talked about today.

“He was elected our Lieutenant Governor in 1988, and has served with dignity and distinction, frankness and fairness. Ladies and gentlemen, fifty-four years of public service--Lieutenant Governor Joel Pritchard.”

The Speaker presented Lieutenant Governor Joel Pritchard with a photograph of the Legislative Building.

REMARKS BY LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR JOEL PRITCHARD

Lieutenant Governor Pritchard: “If I get started, we will really get off track. Ralph did get to me. I didn't think he could, but he did. Thank you. No one has enjoyed this capitol or the national capitol in service as much as I did. I enjoyed it. It is a great experience and a wonderful honor by the citizens in your communities to send you here. This business of democracy is a wonderful form of government, but it is not easy--it is not easy. It is always difficult and you are right in the middle of it where it is going to be so important what you do in the coming years. I intend to watch it with keen interest, and maybe write a few letters to you, but I am going to watch all of you and enjoy your efforts.

“I know that the future should be better. In fact for the first time in America's history, there are people who seriously doubt whether tomorrow is going to be as good as today. Through all our years, people have taken it for granted that tomorrow will be better. We have some serious challenges. You have them and I am going to watch your efforts with great interest because I know you are going to live up to the responsibilities that you have.

“I thank you for what you are doing and I thank you for the friendships so many of you have had with me, and the kindnesses you have shown me in the last eight years in Olympia. Thank you very much.”

INTRODUCTION OF RETIRING GOVERNOR MIKE LOWRY

Secretary Munro: “In some ways, the old high school at Endicott High School is like this building. On the top floor, there are pictures of each class year by year, decade by decade. There is no question that the class of 1957, and their most known graduate, Mike Lowry, is a point of pride for this rural country school. His story epitomizes the long held belief in Washington State that it doesn't really matter whether your parents are farmers on the Palouse or shipyard workers on the Sound. Each of us has a chance at the golden ring.

“One of his first jobs, after graduating from WSU, was as a committee clerk in the basement of this building, 'workin' for Durkin' as they used to say. He went on to serve as a King County Councilman and as Chair of the Council in 1979. He was elected President of the Washington Association of Counties and returned to this Capitol as their spokesman on many occasions. He became an outspoken member of Congress from the Seventh Congressional District--a blue collar lunch bucket area in South Seattle, Renton, White Center and Auburn, constantly speaking up for the poor, the unemployed, the less fortunate of our citizens.

“He was elected as our Governor in 1992, and in these tumultuous times of change, he has helped to steer our state into an era of prosperity. Through it all, his watch words have been 'Kids, Jobs and the Environment.' I think the thing I have appreciated most about Governor Lowry is that he has never forgotten the poor. Regardless of his own station in life, he has not spent his time scheming or dreaming of ways to improve his own lot, but has instead concentrated his efforts on assisting the lives of our less fortunate. Ladies and gentlemen, today we thank our Governor, Governor Mike Lowry.”

REMARKS BY SPEAKER BALLARD

Speaker Ballard: "Governor Lowry, it is my pleasure to say thank you for your commitment. The one observation I have made about you, and it is good for all of us to remember in this Chamber, particularly for our new members, that when Mike Lowry says something or Mike Lowry states a belief, you know exactly where he is. That is a quality that I think is paramount upon us as legislators--that we speak clearly to what we believe and for what we stand for, and when we say it, people can understand and believe it. It has been a pleasure serving with you. Thank you."

REMARKS BY PRESIDENT PRITCHARD

President Pritchard: "Thank you, Ralph. As always, you did a wonderful job. I would also like to introduce Mary Lowry and ask her to stand and be recognized.

"The purpose of the Joint Session is to receive a message from his excellency, Mike Lowry.

STATE OF THE STATE ADDRESS

Governor Lowry: "Thank you, Mr. President, Mr. Speaker, distinguished members of the Supreme Court, distinguished state elected officials, members of the Legislature, Consular Corps, and citizens of the great state of Washington.

"Before I begin, I want to thank you for the honor and privilege of serving as Governor. Also, I would like to express my gratitude to Mary and Diane for their support. I have always believed that one of life's most challenging and thankless roles is that of the families of people in public service. Mary and Diane have long served in that role with courage and grace, and I am grateful and proud.

"I congratulate Governor-elect Locke, who will be an excellent Governor, and each and every one of you in this Chamber, who I'm sure will endeavor to serve the state well.

"To the elected officials who served so well with me, thank you. And to this excellent new team of elected officials, I have high hopes and expectations. The voters chose you for your integrity and ability. Thank you for your willingness to serve.

"To my staff and cabinet, and all state employees and educators--you did a great job, and I thank you.

"Today, our state is in excellent shape. Our economy is strong, our business climate has improved significantly, our commitments to education and the environment are intact, and our quality of life has magazine editors consistently naming Washington cities among the most livable and the best places to do business.

"There are challenges ahead, yet we have good reason to be optimistic. We are on the right track. Over the past four years, the state's economy has improved dramatically. Independent, private studies continue to show our economy as one of the strongest in the nation. Tens of thousands more people have jobs. Many of our state's cornerstone industries, which have for years been the backbone of our economy, are choosing to stay here, to expand and grow in Washington, rather than move elsewhere. Other world-class companies are joining them, building an even stronger, more diversified economy and we have opened the doors of international trade to large and small businesses alike.

"Over the past four years, our state's unemployment rate has dropped from 8.4 percent to 5.8 percent--more than a thirty percent decrease. The state budget has gone from a record $1.7 billion shortfall to a healthy reserve. Every business day, more than one hundred people on public assistance enter the workforce. For the first time since the early 1980s, state government is growing at a rate well below the state's population and during the coming biennium, state general fund taxes are already lower than they were four years ago. Over the past four years, we have turned our economy around and we have greatly improved the state budget. I am proud of those accomplishments.

"But I wouldn't be speaking from my heart if I didn't tell you what I am most proud of is that we have accomplished those goals without turning our backs on the needs of children--or on those for whom a stronger economy doesn't always mean more food on the table, or those who don't yet have the skills to apply for one of the new jobs. We have improved our economy and our business climate without weakening our commitment to the environment. Today, fewer families have to choose between paying rent and seeing a doctor when their children get sick, because nearly 195,000 children in low-income working families now have health care coverage. And more than 143,000 adults who might otherwise have been shut out of the health care system altogether now receive benefits through the state's very successful Basic Health Plan.

"More children are going to class ready to learn, because thousands more kids are receiving free or low-cost breakfast in school. More young adults are able to attend college, and thousands of at-risk youth are learning valuable job skills through the Washington Service Corps. Thousands of low-income working parents are able to keep their jobs without worrying about whether they can afford child care, because during these four years, we have eliminated the statewide waiting list for subsidized child care. We have given businesses a reason to move here and to stay here, and we have taken steps to help more people benefit from our economy and our quality of life.

"Today, all of us in this Chamber, and those watching or listening elsewhere, can be very proud to live in a state where we share a commitment to improving what we can, preserving what we must, and never losing sight of the belief that Washington is a great place to live, to work, to raise a family, and to enjoy life. Today, the state of our state is clearly very good. The challenge, over the coming months and years, is to continue that prosperity without losing sight of the reasons why all of us live here, and to go forward without leaving behind those who have been denied the tools they need to keep up.

"In the face of tighter budget constraints and even deeper cuts coming from the federal government, that task will not be simple. Keeping our state on the right track will require continued vision and courage--especially by all of you in this Chamber. One thing is certain, however, there are a few guaranteed ways of not keeping our state on track for the future.

"We will not continue to prosper if we let go of our commitment to education. A business is only as good as its workforce. Unless we take steps to ensure that our educational system--both K-12 and higher education--can keep pace with a growing demand and meet the needs of tomorrow's employers, our economy and our quality of life will pay the price.

"We will not continue to prosper if we sacrifice our magnificent environment for short-term gain. Over the past four years, we have proven that a healthy environment is good for business. Time and again, officials of companies that locate here have told me how important it is for them to settle in a place where their employees will want to live. In the state of Washington, good environmental policy is good economic policy.

"We will not continue to prosper if our transportation system fails to keep pace with the state's growth. In fact, our growing transportation problem is one of the few obstacles that could reverse our economic prosperity. We will not continue to prosper if we weaken our commitment to good growth management. During the decade of the 1990s alone, our state's population is expected to grow by more than a million people --the fastest rate of growth since the war years of the 1940s. That growth will put tremendous pressure on our roads, our land, our watersheds, and our environment. The state's Growth Management Act is one of the best ways to ensure that we think about how and where we want to grow before it is too late--and before unplanned development destroys even more of the natural drainage systems that are so vital to flood control efforts.

"We will not continue to prosper if we fail to recognize that some parts of the state's population are growing faster than others, that our budget laws need the flexibility to adjust to those population demographics, to federal cutbacks that are much harder on individuals than perhaps earlier anticipated, to natural disasters and emergencies, and to remove disincentives for efficient management. I am, of course, referring to Initiative 601. It is important state policy, and I know the Legislature will honor its intent, but Initiative 601 was not carved in stone and brought down from the mountain. Across-the-board spending limits that do not account for growing needs will create across-the-board problems long into the future--problems that can be avoided with minor amendments that stay consistent with the voters' intent.

"Speaking of initiatives with unintended consequences, it is time we took another look at term limits. A mandatory six-year limit for legislators takes the power of our democracy out of the hands of voters and puts it into the hands of people who were never elected by anyone. That is not a democratic ideal.

"We will not continue to prosper if we turn our backs on our state's commitment to diversity. The strength of our state lies in the contributions of every single person who lives here. We must stay committed to equal opportunity, equal rights, and respect for diversity. To those who would bring hate and intolerance of any person, belief, lifestyle or circumstance into our state, I say 'hands off.'

"We will not continue to prosper if we forget about the needs of children in our pursuit of affluence. Today, nearly a quarter of the nation's children live in poverty. We're doing a little bit better in our state, but even our statistic of one-in-six is far too high. Building America's future on a foundation of one quarter of our kids growing up in poverty is just plain dangerous. We simply must, as a society, make our children a higher priority.

"We also must not duplicate, here at home, the breadth of cutbacks the federal government is making, by making even deeper cuts in critical state services. Adjusting to the upcoming federal cutbacks and new state responsibilities is one of our greatest challenges. The worst of all possible solutions is for the state to act oblivious to those changes, make even deeper cuts, pass responsibility onto others - and force people into the streets.

"Here in our state, the new federal welfare law, along with other cost-cutting measures approved by Congress, is expected to reduce federal dollars by $619 million over the next biennium. Those cutbacks will affect everything from food stamps and food banks to housing assistance and environmental protection programs. In our state, more than 200,000 low-income families will face cutbacks in food stamps and other food subsidy programs. That includes about 38,000 legal immigrants--many of them working parents with children--who will be dropped from the Food Stamp Program entirely. About 11,000 legal immigrants who are blind, elderly or disabled will lose eligibility for the federal Supplemental Security Income program, which provides about $470 a month to low-income people who can't work. Our state's legal immigrants are people who have always played by the rules.

"In addition, nearly 1,000 non-immigrant children with severe behavioral disorders will lose disability benefits they had received through the federal SSI program. Most are in foster homes. We have both the financial resources and the moral obligation to ensure that low-income children, families, and senior citizens affected by federal cutbacks are not left out in the cold.

"If we think that a few dollars a month in tax cuts for the average Washingtonian is more important than keeping food on the table for tens of thousands of low-income people in our state, we are a society in trouble. In my budget proposal, I have asked the Legislature to replace some of the deepest federal cuts with $220 million to help our neediest neighbors. That commitment might require a minor adjustment in Initiative 601, and that you forego some of your additional desired tax cuts.

"Most of the problems we count on government to deal with would be solved if everyone had a living-wage job. Today, especially, the fallout from families that are torn apart by poverty, or those who have simply lost hope, affects everyone. All of us must come to terms with a new reality--that helping people enter the workforce is in everyone's best interest, and punitive proposals that pass judgment on a person's inability to find a job have never put anyone to work.

"I have been fortunate. I grew up in a healthy environment, with two parents who loved my sisters and me, and loved each other. There were no drugs, there was no abuse, there was no violence. Most of the kids I went to school with came from the same background. In fact, most of the people in my generation grew up with those values and advantages. When we were old enough, nearly all of us got jobs and became productive members of society. That is what our parents had done and that is the path they helped create for us. The cards were never stacked against us, as they are for so many people today.

"Today, thousands of children grow up in an environment where there is physical violence, mental abuse, or neglect, an environment where--at best--only one parent plays a role in a child's life, where handguns are a tragic ticket to respect on the streets, where peer pressure is unlike anything any of us have ever known. When some of these kids become young adults, their troubled lives are in the hands of many who still believe that what worked when they were young--tighter boot straps, their parents' expectations, a little help from mom and dad--ought to be enough for anyone. They believe that telling someone to 'get a job' is enough to help them overcome a lack of job skills, a history of abuse, a lifetime of disadvantages. It's just not that simple. Like it or not, the world has changed. We all share the goal of getting able-bodied people into the workforce. In our state, we have programs in place that are doing exactly that in record numbers.

"Our success is proof that the vast majority of people on welfare want to work, and if they are given the right tools, they will not only join the workforce, they will stay in the workforce. Choosing to believe otherwise, to justify politically popular rhetoric, is self-defeating fantasy, and it simply will not work. And unless we continue to take steps that address today's reality rather than yesterday's expectations; unless we base our policy decisions on something more substantial and more compassionate than an attitude of, 'I did it, why can't they,' a huge number of people will fail in our society--and that will mean we will fail.

"We will fail, because most people who are driven into the workforce without job skills end up in minimum wage jobs--if they can find jobs at all--and minimum-wage jobs do not pay enough for single-parent families to make it on their own. A single parent with two small children who works full time, earning minimum wage, pays about seventy-two percent of his or her salary in child care expenses, and takes home about $74 a week. That adds up to $300 a month, out of which a working parent must pay the rent, put food on the table, pay utility bills and transportation costs--and just plain hope that no one gets sick. We will fail because forcing people into minimum-wage jobs or onto the street will do nothing to solve the many problems that have kept them from self sufficiency--the lack of job skills needed to earn a living wage, an inability to afford basic medical care, the need for quality, affordable child care. We will fail because a growing gap between those who have much and those who have little will continue to tear at the fabric of our society until the only thing that unites our communities is a sense of fear, anger, resentment, and hate. We are better than that.

"Those who call our state 'home' are some of the most generous and giving people in the world. We help each other when we can. During the holidays, we hear more stories of people who are having a rough time, and our instinct is to help make things right. During the recent winter storms, I heard dozens of examples of people looking out for each other; clearing tree branches out of neighbor's driveways, delivering groceries to people who couldn't leave their homes, pulling cars out of piles of snow. I heard about workers staying on the job past midnight to help drivers who needed tire chains, and I met utility crews who were working around the clock--day after day. There are countless other examples, but whether we give blankets to the homeless or help push cars out of snowbanks, when someone needs help, most of us are eager to lend a hand.

"Yet despite our generosity, the greatest problem facing America today is the growing number of people in our society who are truly in need. Whether they are workers who have been downsized out of a job, people who have never had the skills needed to keep up, or those whose circumstances have just taken a turn for the worse, thousands of people in our state wake up every single day facing challenges every bit as difficult as a winter storm. Their stories are compelling. Over the past year, I've met dozens of people in our state who have left public assistance and entered the workforce. Almost to a person, they have told me, sometimes with tears in their eyes, about how desperately they wanted to get off welfare, just to have a measure of self respect, and how grateful they were to finally be earning a living. I learned of a single mother who just wanted to earn enough money to afford to live in a house or apartment, so her children could go to school without having to lie about the place they call home.

"I met a man who had grown up on public assistance, who told me that as a child, the greatest wealth his family ever knew was the day the food stamps arrived. For him, as for so many others, the difference between continuing that cycle of desperation and becoming self-sufficient was the chance to learn, the tools to advance, the opportunity to succeed, and a job. I am certain the people of our state will step forward to help those who are in real trouble, if given the chance. Today, more than ever before, it is absolutely critical that we not turn back from the progress we have made, and that we commit ourselves to ensuring that all people have an opportunity to work and to share in our prosperity.

"We live in the wealthiest country on earth. We pay lower taxes than nearly any other industrialized nation. Only Turkey and Australia pay less. In Washington State, we are now enjoying one of the nation's strongest economies and greatest qualities of life. Over the past four years, we have made significant strides in making government more efficient. We can do more, certainly. No government, including ours, should ever be beyond reproach. Few exist that could not be improved upon.

"But we're kidding ourselves if we choose to believe that in today's world, government is not important to a good economy and a higher quality of life. In a democracy, government is not the enemy. It is what we, the people, choose to make of it. In our state, we have worked hard to create a balanced approach to government that recognizes the need for tax and regulatory policies that help businesses prosper without compromising our environment, our health and safety, or our children's future--a balanced approach that recognizes that today's prosperity carries with it a responsibility to invest in our future, support education and workforce training, build a transportation network that helps get people to work and products to market, and preserve our quality of life.

"A strong economy gives us both the capability and the responsibility to do more than widen the gap between those who have much and those who have little. It allows us the flexibility to decide what we value as a society, and the freedom to invest in policies and practices that help close that gap. We are, today, at a crossroads. One path divides us, denies the common good, and closes the door of prosperity to all but a few. The other path unites us, seeks the common good, and opens the door of opportunity to everyone. Our decision to follow the path of least resistance and political expediency, or the path of right decisions and political courage, will determine our future - and that of our children and grandchildren.

"Let it be our quest to seek the greater good, to choose justice over inequity, possibility over privilege, hope over despair. Let us take the road less traveled, if that is where fairness lies and let us end our days with promises kept--that we fought for hard-working people, that we were good stewards of the earth, that we stood against discrimination, that we gave all people a chance to work and to prosper--and most important, that we took care of the children. Thank you."

REMARKS BY LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR BRAD OWEN

President Owen: "Thank you, Mr. President. Over the last year, as I traveled from town to town, appeared before a dozen editorial boards and spoke to numerous organizations your name, Mr. President, regularly came up followed by comments like 'a man of integrity,' and 'he served with distinction,' and 'he's sure a darn nice guy.'

"All of us who have had the privilege of serving with you, Mr. President, of course know that all of these descriptions are very accurate and very deserving. Should any of us here leave office with anywhere near the same level of respect that you have acquired over your years of service, we can claim success in our careers.

"Mr. President--Joel--thank you for thirty-eight years of public service.

"Our single greatest privilege is to serve the people we live, work and socialize with. It is a great responsibility. I feel it most when I sit alone in the House or the Senate Chambers, leaning back in my chair and stare at the magnificence of these great chambers. I see not just the beauty and grandeur of the architecture, but the phenomenal history that has been written here. Sometimes, I step outside at night and look at the capitol building whose lights dramatically outline it against the dark blue sky, making it appear even more awesome than it already is. I do this and if you do this as I do, I believe it will help you realize the magnitude of the importance of the job that you have been given us the honor to come here and do for the citizens of our great state.

"With this great honor comes great expectations, which create great challenges for us all. I believe the greatest of these challenges for our nation, for our state, and our communities is to reverse the skyrocketing increase of drug and alcohol use and abuse by our kids. Please do not forget them.

"If I and my office can help you to meet these great challenges, please ask. I am here to work with you. To the citizens of our great state, thank you for this tremendous honor. I will do my best to uphold the dignity of the office.

"I would like to say how much I appreciate the tremendous support I have received--and for all of you that are in politics know how important it is to receive the support of your wife--and I would like to say 'thank you' to Linda for all the years that she has been there with me. Finally, to my mother, I would like to say 'thank you' for your tremendous support and for giving me the, 'Things are tough, but don't give up' work ethic that got me here today. Thank you."

Chief Justice Barbara Durham administered the oath of office to Gary Locke, Governor, and the President of the Senate presented him the Certificate of Office.

INTRODUCTION OF GOVERNOR GARY LOCKE

President Owen: "Ladies and gentlemen of the House and Senate, Honorable Elected Officials, distinguished guests, it is a great honor for my first official responsibility to be introducing our new Governor on this historic occasion. He has had a distinguished career as an assistant prosecuting attorney, Appropriation Chair in the House of Representatives, and King County Executive.

"You will find him to be a tough negotiator, yet a compassionate person with a vision for Washington State.

"Ladies and gentlemen, Governor Gary Locke."

INAUGURAL ADDRESS BY GOVERNOR GARY LOCKE

Governor Locke: "Mr. President, Mr. Speaker, Madam Chief Justice, distinguished Justices of the Supreme Court, statewide elected officials, members of the Washington State Legislature, other elected officials, members of the Consular Corps, fellow citizens, and friends of Washington State across America and around the world.

"I am deeply humbled by this honor of being this state's twenty-first Governor. And I am deeply grateful to all those who have made this day possible, and to all those who made our American tradition of freedom and democracy possible.

"I also want to express my gratitude to members of my family, and with your permission, I'd like to introduce them to you. First I'd like you to meet my father, Jimmy Locke, who fought in World War II and participated in the Normandy invasion. I'd like you to meet my mother, Julie, who raised five children, learned English to become a United States citizen at the same time that I was learning English in kindergarten, and who went back to community college when she was almost sixty years old, my mom Julie Locke. I'd like to introduce my brothers and sisters. First my older sister, Marian Monwai, and her family; and my sister, Jannie Chow, who traveled from Sacramento, and her family; my younger brother, Jeffrey Locke, and his family, and my kid sister, whose son I have always borrowed shamelessly for those pictures, Rita Yoshihara, and her husband, Joseph. I also would like to introduce you to Mona's mother and father, my mother and father-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Lee. In fact, we should just have all the relatives stand up. Will all the relatives stand up--who have come long and far? Those are just the aunts and uncles; the cousins are downstairs.

"Finally, it is my greatest pleasure to introduce to you a person who made tremendous sacrifices, who has really, according to many of you, changed my life completely, who has just been a great confidant, a great campaigner, a true partner, Washington's new First Lady, Mona Lee Locke."

"This truly is a wonderful day for the Locke family and it is great to see so many relatives return to Olympia for this celebration, because our family has its roots in Olympia. One of my ancestors--a distant cousin--actually was a merchant who immigrated to Olympia in 1874, and became a leader of the Chinese-American community just a few blocks from this state capitol. He acted as a bridge between the Chinese and white communities, and became friends with the other downtown merchants, and with the sheriff, William Billings.

"In 1886, an anti-immigrant, anti-Chinese mob threatened to burn down the Chinese settlement here, but what happened next is a story that every Washington resident ought to know. Sheriff Billings deputized scores of Olympia's merchants and civic leaders and those citizen deputies stood between the angry mob and the Chinese neighborhood. Faced by the sheriff and the leading citizens of Olympia, the mob gradually dispersed. Not a single shot was fired, nor a single Chinese house burned.

"For the Locke family, that incident helped establish a deep faith in the essential goodness of mainstream American values: The values that reject extremism and division, and embrace fairness and moral progress; the value of working together as a community; and the values of hard work, hope, and opportunity.

"Just a few years after that Olympia show of courage, my grandfather came to America to work as a 'house boy' for the Yeager family, who lived in a house that's still standing, less than a mile from here. His purpose was to get an education, and so the Yeager family agreed to teach him English in return for work. Like everyone else in our family, my grandfather studied and worked hard, and he eventually became the head chef at Virginia Mason Hospital in Seattle.

"So, while I may be standing less than a mile from where our family started its life in America, we've certainly come a long, long way--one hundred years to travel one mile. Our journey was possible because of the courage of Sheriff Billings and the heroes of Olympia history. And our journey was successful because the Locke family embraces three values: Get a good education; work hard; and take care of each other.

"Our family history is more the norm than the exception. There is Governor Rosellini, this state's first Italian-American Governor, whose parents migrated to America at the beginning of this century; there is Representative Paul Zellinsky, whose grandfather was a Russian sea captain; there is Senator Dan McDonald, whose ancestors were among the pioneer families of this state; and there is Senator Rosa Franklin, whose family rose from slavery in South Carolina to civic leadership in Tacoma.

"There are millions of families like mine, and millions of people like me; people whose ancestors dreamed the American Dream and worked hard to make it come true. Today, on Martin Luther King Jr.'s birthday, we are taking another step toward that dream. This is a historic day. I'm humbled and honored to be the first Asian-American Governor in the continental United States and I am humbled and honored to be the first person of color to be Governor of this great state of Washington. These honors are a testament to how great our state is and how far we have progressed.

"In the one hundred and eight years since Washington became a state, we have gone from riding horses to flying in jets; from sending telegrams to sending e-mail; and from cooking on wood stoves to cooking in microwave ovens. Can anyone even guess what the next hundred years will bring? We already know that people are developing computers that actually think, that telephones and television will merge, and that biotechnology will reveal the secrets of our genetic code that will cure many of today's diseases. Many of our children will produce goods and services that haven't even been invented yet.

"Our challenge then is to embrace change rather than to fear it. We have no time to waste. To keep the American Dream alive in a high-tech and unpredictable future, we have to raise our sights and our standards. We must raise our sights above the partisanship, the prejudice, and the arrogance that keep us from acknowledging our common humanity and our common future. We must raise our standards of academic achievement, of government productivity and customer service, of preserving our environment, and of protecting the well-being of Washington's working families.

"The principles that will guide me in this quest for higher standards and the principles that will guide my response to legislative proposals are clear and simple. My first principle is that education is the great equalizer that makes hope and opportunity possible. That's why I am passionately committed to developing a world-class system of education. In the last century, the drafters of our Constitution made education of our children the 'paramount duty' of the state, but learning is not just for kids anymore. For the next century, the paramount duty of this state will be to create an education system for lifelong learning--a system that every person regardless of age can plug into for basic skills, professional advancement or personal enrichment.

"My second principle is to promote civility, mutual respect and unity, and to oppose measures that divide, disrespect, or diminish our humanity. I want our state to build on the mainstream values of equal protection and equal opportunity, and to reject hate, violence and bigotry. I want our state to be known as a place where elected officials lead by example.

"My third principle is to judge every public policy by whether it helps or hurts Washington's working families. Everyone who works hard and lives responsibly ought to be rewarded with economic security, the opportunity to learn and to advance in their chosen field of work, and the peace of mind that comes from knowing that the essential services their families need like health care, insurance, and child care will be affordable and accessible. Every senior citizen who has spent a lifetime contributing to the freedom and prosperity we enjoy, deserves dignity and security.

"My fourth principle is to protect our environment, so that future generations can enjoy the same natural beauty and abundance we cherish today. These principles require self-discipline, and a commitment not to settle for quick fixes, band-aids, or political expediency. To help us live up to these principles, I intend to set clear, challenging goals, and to measure our progress toward achieving those goals. Everyone in state government will be held accountable for achieving results--not for convening meetings, creating commissions, or following reams of clumsy regulations.

"I want to liberate the creativity and expertise of state employees, and to make working for government as respectable as building airplanes, designing software, or inventing new medical technologies. I call on every state employee to search for new and better ways of doing our work, to strive toward a higher level of customer service to citizens, and to show greater respect for every hard-earned tax dollar that we collect.

"In fact, let's take a moment to thank both state and local government employees for the truly heroic work they've done during the storms of the past few weeks. They made visible something too many of us often don't see, that we truly can't live without basic government services, and that these services are provided by people--our dedicated public employees. In the storm and its aftermath, those public employees focused on helping citizens and solving problems and they achieved results.

"Now it's time to harness that same energy and sense of urgency to solve problems and achieve results in our education system. We have to do a better job of making our schools safe, and ensuring that students respect their teachers, and each other. Let's hold our schools and students accountable for learning, not just for following all the rules or sitting through the required number of classes. We will not break our promise to raise academic standards. Every third grader must read at the third grade level, and every high school graduate must master basic academic skills and knowledge. To meet these ambitious goals, our schools need a stable base of funding, including the ability to pass school levies with the same simple majority that it takes to pass bond measures to build other public facilities.

"But, money alone is not the answer. Greater accountability, coupled with more local control and more flexibility are also essential to school improvement. To meet the growing demand for education in our colleges and universities, my administration will present a proposal to increase enrollments, to improve quality, and to provide more management flexibility while insisting on greater productivity and accountability.

"To do all this, we will make education the first priority in every budget we write. That will not be easy. Developing a quality education system depends on the soundness of our fiscal and tax policies. That's why it's so important to write budgets that are sustainable beyond the current biennium and that's why we must maintain a prudent reserve, so we'll have funds to see us through a recession without cutting schools or vital services.

"This year, a balanced approach to budgeting will also include tax relief. In the last biennium, we gave almost a billion dollars in tax breaks to business. Isn't it time to help working families? That means property tax relief for middle-class homeowners. Of course, I also support rolling back the business and occupation tax to pre-1993 levels. We raised that tax in a time of fiscal emergency. That emergency has passed, and it's important that we keep faith with the business community by repealing the increase.

"We also have a host of other problems that urgently need our attention. We need to agree on a bipartisan, comprehensive plan to invest in our transportation system, on which all our jobs and our economic growth depend. Our farmers need good highways and rail systems to get their crops to market. Our commuters need transit and car pool lanes, so they can spend more time with their children and less time stuck in traffic. Our ports need a transportation system that supports the growth of our international trade, which generates so many of our new jobs.

"There is a great deal our state can and must do to increase our competitive position in the world economy. We have an opportunity to improve Washington's international trade climate. I'm committed to establishing strong personal relationships with overseas governments and business leaders to help Washington companies expand existing export markets and establish new ones.

"It's also time to break the stalemate and make some tough decisions about how to use and protect our water resources, which have been tangled in a web of conflicts and controversies year after year. It's time to fine-tune and also re-affirm our commitments to manage growth, to protect fish and wildlife, and to preserve the vitality of our farms and our forests.

"As a result of last year's federal welfare reform legislation, we have a once-in-a-lifetime chance to redesign our social safety net, so that it reflects our mainstream values of hard work, hope and opportunity. If we do this right, we can reduce poverty and protect children and that ought to be our purpose. So, I will propose a system that puts work first--a system designed to help people in need build on their strengths rather than be paralyzed by their problems.

"To make welfare reform succeed, we need to become partners with the business community to find jobs and to improve training programs, so that every entry-level job in Washington is the first step on a career ladder rather than a treadmill that keeps the poor stuck in place. And to make work the solution to poverty, we need to make sure that work pays more than being on public assistance. At the same time, we have a duty to ensure that the ill, elderly and disabled live with dignity, and that legal immigrants who have paid local, state and federal taxes are not denied equal treatment and equal protection.

"And finally, we have waited too long to fix our juvenile justice system--a system that lets kids get away with too much--that misses too many opportunities to turn kids around and that leaves too many of us vulnerable to violent and dangerous young criminals. To procrastinate on any one of these issues from education to water to juvenile justice is to court disaster. The clock is ticking. A new century is coming at us like a bullet train. And it's up to us to either rise to these challenges, or watch as that train rushes by.

"If we cultivate a habit of genuine partnership entered into with a commitment to solving problems and achieving results we can accomplish all of our goals. Students, parents and teachers can create the best schools in the world. Community leaders, local and state officials can build a transportation system that meets all our needs. Farmers, city-dwellers, tribal governments and developers can, if they work as real partners, untangle the web of water disputes and find ways to protect this very precious resource.

"We must all come together, work together, and stay together until we have accomplished our goals. Let's work as hard as our parents and grandparents did. Let's match their record of accomplishment, and their level of responsibility to the next generation.

"As most of you already know, Mona and I are expecting our first child in March, so in very rapid succession, I will be blessed with two titles--two titles that carry immense responsibility and immense honor--Governor and Dad. That's the thing my folks really want--forget this Governor business--Dad. As the advent of fatherhood gets closer, I am more and more conscious that everything I do as Governor and everything that we do together, we do for our children.

"Our child will be a child of the Twenty-first Century. He or she will come of age in a world that we can scarcely imagine, but it is his or her world that we must now work together to create. For our children and yours, I want to foster a new century of personal responsibility, of community, and of hope and optimism. Please help me carry on the Locke family tradition of focusing on those three crucial values: get a good education, work hard, and take care of each other.

"With your hand in partnership, and with an abiding belief in the essential goodness of the people of the great state of Washington, I want to devote the next four years to making the American Dream come true for children whose faces we have yet to see. Thank you very much and God bless you all."

REMARKS BY SPEAKER BALLARD

Speaker Ballard: "Thank you, Governor Locke--it is going to take a little while to get used to that--for those remarks and those challenges. Congratulations on your new position and God's speed as you begin to assume the responsibility in tackling the duties of your new job. Having begun our political careers together, when we first took the oath of office as State Representatives in 1983, we share a lot of history. I dare say that when we first set out fourteen years ago neither one of us dreamed that the other would be standing here today in our respective positions, yet here we are. I am very excited about the opportunity that we now have to embark on a new chapter in our personal relationship. While we have, on rare occasions, taken somewhat different approaches to the issues we have been working on, we share common hopes and desires. Our commitment to serve what we sincerely believe to be in the best interest of our constituents and to serve them to the best of our abilities was the same--just as it is for every member of this new Legislature, you and I now have the opportunity to work with.

"I know for an absolute fact that both of us have felt challenged as we carried out our respective duties and our responsibilities over the years, but the greatest challenge of all is ours today as we begin to work together in the roles we never expected to have together and that challenge is to generate a spirit of cooperation and goodwill that enables us to reach the objectives we have in common. Most of all, I look forward to your friendship as we move together."

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR
CONDITIONAL COMMUTATION ORDER

January 15, 1997

TO THE HONORABLE, THE SENATE
AND HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES OF THE STATE OF WASHINGTON
Ladies and Gentlemen:

In compliance with the provision of Section 11 of Article III of the Constitution of the state of Washington, the Governor hereby submits his report of each case of reprieve, commutation or pardon that he has granted since the adjournment of the 1996 Regular Session of the Fifty-Fourth Legislature, copy of which is attached.

Respectfully submitted,
KENT CAPUTO, Legal Counsel to the Governor

CONDITIONAL COMMUTATION ORDER FOR KERRI KIRKENDALL

TO ALL TO WHOM THESE PRESENTS SHALL COME, GREETINGS:

On March 15, 1996, 28 year old Kerri Kirkendall was sentenced by King County Superior Court to a term of two years seven months in prison after a plea of guilty to Vehicular Homicide. She is currently incarcerated at the Washington Corrections Center for Women, having a time start of May 2, 1996.

On the evening of May 2, 1995, Ms. Kirkendall had gone to a pub in the community of Ballard to perform an Irish dance. While there, she consumed alcoholic cider. She drove back toward her home on that clear night feeling very tired, but did not feel intoxicated to the point of impairment. In order to remain awake, she turned the radio on loud and opened the window vent. While driving, her car wandered to the right shoulder striking Mr. Eliapo Taoipu who was standing beside his car which had run out of fuel. Mr. Taoipu was thrown approximately 85 feet down the shoulder and his jeep damaged. Another driver who observed the accident pulled up next to Kirkendall and told her she had just struck another car. Ms. Kirkendall claimed to have fallen asleep, but put her jeep in reverse and returned to the scene of the accident and began administering cardio-pulmonary resuscitation on Mr. Taoiup, who was pronounced dead at the scene.

Kerri Kirkendall admitted to officers she had fallen asleep while driving and that she had three pints of alcoholic cider that evening and two bottles of alcoholic cider earlier in the afternoon. She had a blood ethanol level of 0.15 per 100 milliliters.

Mr. Taoipu's father, Mativa Taoipu, told the pre-sentence investigator the family is not interested in revenge or retribution for the loss of their son. He feels Ms. Kirkendall has learned her lesson of drinking and driving and does not feel a period of imprisonment would benefit anyone.

Ms. Kirkendall appears to demonstrate remorse for her behavior and takes full responsibility, stating she was willing to accept whatever sanction the court imposed. She said she would like to be required to give something back to the community.

Ms. Kirkendall's life pattern has been law abiding and responsible. She has been employed for eight years as a training administrator for the Boeing Company. She volunteered for the National Trust for Historic Preservation, the Seattle Architectural Foundation and Habitat for Humanity. She recently graduated with honors from Bellevue Community College with an Associate of Arts degree. Her plans were to attend a university in Rhode Island to study historic preservation. Her friends and co-workers describe her as a hard worker, a responsible and dependable person with good morals and values, someone who puts the needs of others ahead of her own. They note a weakness as working too hard and burning the candle at both ends.

Ms. Kirkendall is an offender who had a rare lapse of responsibility at an inopportune time. She has taken responsibility for her actions. She has had an alcohol evaluation which indicates she does not have an alcohol problem. She states she has quit drinking. She has a sleeping disorder which contributed to the accident. The condition is now controlled by medication.

At its June 7, 1996 meeting, the Clemency and Pardons Board reviewed and discussed her petition for clemency and recommended she be granted a conditional commutation. The Board was particularly impressed with Ms. Kirkendall's response to this tragedy by volunteering with DUI victims' families and survivors panels and speaking against drinking and driving.

This is an extraordinary case and justice is served by granting conditional clemency. Ms. Kirkendall appears to be a responsible, hard-working, dependable individual. Since her incarceration, she has worked full-time for Correctional Industries. Prior to incarceration, she was an active participant in positive community activities, such as Habitat for Humanity and the National Trust for Historic Preservation. Her alcohol evaluation indicates that she does not have an alcohol problem. She showed compassion and responsibility by returning to the accident scene and administering cardio-pulmonary resuscitation. She recognizes the seriousness of her offense, takes full, personal responsibility for Mr. Taoipu's death and accepts the punishment imposed by the court. Therefore, by this order, I hereby grant Kerri Kirkendall conditional clemency to an approved plan.

Ms. Kirkendall's conditional clemency is subject to the following conditions and may be revoked by the Governor for violation of any or all of these conditions:

1. Remain at the Washington Corrections Center for Women for 42 days from the date of the order, to be followed by sixty days on pre-release status at Helen B. Ratcliff House and sixty days on work release status, also at Helen B. Ratcliff House.
2. After being released from work release, reside at the home of her mother, Bonnie Kirkendall, or an approved residence.
3. Commit no offenses for the term of this commutation and abide by all of these conditions until the maximum expiration date of the sentence.
4. Commit no major infractions while at Washington Corrections Center for Women, pre-release or work release.
5. Obey all rules at the Washington Corrections Center for Women, pre-release and work release and complete any programming recommended by the counselor or community corrections officer.
6. Attend alcohol education classes as approved by the community corrections officer.
7. Complete four years of community service in the form of educating the public and the courts about alcohol abuse as ordered or approved by the community corrections officer.
8. Be employed and/or involved in an education program acceptable to the community corrections officer and obtain permission from the community corrections officer before changing residence, employment or educational programs.
9. Not use or possess drugs or alcohol without a prescription from a licensed physician and submit to testing for the use of alcohol/drugs as scheduled by the community corrections officer.
10. Possess no deadly weapons on her person and not own or possess a firearm.
11. Obey all laws.
12. Submit to the search of her person, resident, vehicle, and/or belongings when ordered to do so by the community corrections officer.
13. Obtain written permission from the community corrections officer before traveling outside of Washington State.
14. Pay supervision fees based upon ability to pay and at the direction of the community corrections officer.
15. Follow the directions of the community corrections officer in meeting any or all of the conditions imposed by the Department of Corrections to facilitate the carrying out of the conditions herein. These conditions include appearing, when directed, to meet with her community corrections officer, submitting monthly reports on how she is fulfilling the conditions and providing any information needed to assure compliance with the conditions.

Should a violation of any of the conditions herein occur, the following process will be followed:

1. The community corrections officer may detain Kerri Kirkendall in jail or prison and/or issue a warrant for her arrest upon a determination that there is probable cause to believe a violation of any of the conditions has occurred.
2. Violation of any of the above conditions shall result in sanctions conforming to the Division of Community Corrections Violations Sanctions Grid for community custody. PROVIDED that in the event Ms. Kirkendall uses any alcohol or in the event Ms. Kirkendall commits any offense classified as a felony or gross misdemeanor, this Conditional Commutation is revoked and the sentence imposed by the court reinstated without benefit of sentence reduction credit, whereupon Ms. Kirkendall shall be immediately returned to the Washington Corrections Center for Women or such other facility as the Secretary of Corrections deems appropriate.

The Department of Corrections shall provide a written report to the Clemency and Pardons Board regarding the violation of any condition of this Conditional Commutation.

The requirements of this conditional clemency shall remain in force until the expiration date of Ms. Kirkendall's entire 31 month sentence without benefit of earned early release credit. If she violates any of the conditions of this clemency, the Governor or the Governor's designee may sentence her to the remaining unserved portion of the prison term, approximately 25 months, which will be remaining upon her release, even though a revocation will extend her new release date beyond her original release date had she remained in prison for the whole term without being released on a conditional clemency. Any violation of this conditional clemency must occur prior to the expiration date of the original 31 month sentence for it to be a basis for revoking her conditional clemency.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Mike Lowry, Governor of the state of Washington, by virtue of the authority vested in me by the laws of the state of Washington, do hereby grant conditional clemency for Kerri Kirkendall, Department of Corrections inmate number 746374 and commute her sentence subject and pursuant to the conditions set forth herein.

(SEAL) IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the state of Washington to be affixed at Olympia on this 19th day of September, A.D., nineteen hundred and ninety-six.

MIKE LOWRY,

RALPH MUNRO
Secretary of State

REMARKS BY SENATOR FRANKLIN
IN OBSERVATION OF MARTIN LUTHER KING DAY

Senator Franklin: "Martin Luther King, Jr. had hoped to be a Baptist preacher in a southern city. Instead, by the age of thirty-nine, he had been awarded the Nobel Peace Prize and had led millions of people in a nonviolent movement that changed our nation forever.

"His eloquent, passionate advocacy of civil and human rights rooted in the techniques of Mahatma Gandhi, brought a new dimension of dignity to people's lives and a new hope for freedom and the community of man. He asked to be remembered as a 'drum major' for peace. Seven areas of his concerns were The Community of Man, Racism, Civil Rights, Justice and Freedom, Faith and Religion, Nonviolence and Peace.

"I will share with you, briefly, from each area. The message these words convey is as inspiring and fundamental to life today as it was in Dr. King's lifetime.

"He said:

"1) The Community of Man - An individual has not started living until he can rise above the narrow confines of his individualistic concerns to the broader concerns of humanity. We must accept finite disappointment, but we must never lose finite hope.

"2) Racism - A doctrine of black supremacy is as evil as a doctrine of white supremacy. There is little hope for us until we become tough minded enough to break loose from the shackles of prejudice, half truths, and downright ignorance.

"3) Civil Rights - I often wonder whether or not education is fulfilling its purpose. A great majority of the so-called education people do not think logically and scientifically. Even the press, the classroom, the platform and the pulpit in many instances do not give us objective and unbiased truths. Education must enable one to sift and weigh evidence, to discern the truth from false, the real from the unreal and the facts from fiction.

"4) Faith and Religion - When I speak of love, I am not speaking of some sentimental and weak response. I am speaking of that force which all of the great religions have seen as the unifying principle of life. Love is somehow the key that unlocks the door which leads to ultimate reality.

"5) Nonviolence - Compassion and nonviolence help us to see the enemy's point of view, to hear his questions, to know his assessment of ourselves. For from his view, we may indeed see the basic weakness of our own condition and if we are mature, we may learn and grow and profit from the wisdom of the brothers who are called the opposition.

"6) Peace - True peace is not merely the absence of tension, it is the presence of justice.

"7) Justice and Freedom - Freedom has always been an expensive thing. History is fit testimony to the fact that freedom is rarely gained without self denial.

"Thank you, Dr. King, for giving all of us a legacy of hope and 'Happy Birthday.'"

STATE OF THE JUDICIARY

Chief Justice Durham: "I feel very honored this morning to be speaking with you on the same day we honor the memory of Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. During his life, Dr. King spoke eloquently and often about justice. In his famous letter from a Birmingham jail, he wrote, 'Injustice anywhere. . . is a threat to justice everywhere.' Shortly before his tragic death, he suggested to some friends the wording for his own eulogy. He said, in part, 'Yes, if you want to say that I am a drum major, say that I was a drum major for justice.'

"The question before us this morning is, what are we doing to make the justice system better for all our citizens? I am pleased to report that from Bellingham to Vancouver, Aberdeen to Pullman, our courts and our judges have been working hard to make our justice system efficient. Thanks to your support in the Legislature, and the voter's approval of Senate Joint Resolution No. 8210 two years ago, we have brought stability to judicial leadership. For more than one hundred years, chief justices in our state automatically rotated as chief justice for a single, two-year term. Today, I stand before you as the first chief justice who has been elected by the court to serve a four-year term. My colleague, Justice Jim Dolliver, our court's most senior member and a former chief justice, has become the court's first Associate Chief Justice, or second in command. Stabilizing judicial leadership will enable us to operate more efficiently as we sharpen our judicial vision and create our first statewide, long-range plan.

"Three of our justices have been working hard to make the courts more accessible, not only to litigants, but also to citizens, voters, and others who need our help. Justice Charles Z. Smith has served for eight years as Chair of the Washington Minority and Justice Commission. The commission has conducted groundbreaking cultural diversity studies and educational programs to ensure that all people are treated fairly and equally.

"Justice Charles Johnson chairs the Supreme Court Rules Committee, which is working on ways to streamline court procedures to make courts more 'user friendly.' Justice Johnson's efforts include revising the rule-making process to provide for more public participation.

"Associate Chief Justice Jim Dolliver presides over our court interpreter committee. We are one of the very few state judicial systems that train and certify foreign language interpreters to work in courts with those who speak little or no English.

"Let's now examine some of our judiciary's exciting innovations, in the areas of television and technology. In the past, very few people visited our court to observe cases being argued--until recently. Now, friends and utter strangers stop us on the street and tell us what they thought about a case we heard two days ago--or even that morning. That's the power of television. Our hearings, we understand, were the first gavel-to-gavel, appellate court proceedings televised live, anywhere in the world. This innovative educational tool is a two-way street--TVW takes the court to the people and it brings people to the court.

"In addition to having a presence on television, we are also taking advantage of the technology of the Internet. The Washington Court Home Page has become a popular web site. You can now find current Supreme Court opinions on-line. We also plan to put on-line the court's past opinions in cooperation with Gonzaga Law School. Besides judicial opinions, our web pages offer a wealth of general and technical information about the courts.

"Another successful project that combined technology and cooperation, was recommended by the Walsh Commission. That was the Judicial Voter's Pamphlet. Last year the Court directed distribution of the first, statewide judicial voter pamphlet ever published in Washington. Under the leadership of a committee chaired by Justice Gerry Alexander and Justice Phil Talmadge, and the generous cooperation of our state's daily newspapers, we distributed nearly one and a quarter million pamphlets.

"Citizens received the pamphlets just before the September primary, the time when most judges are elected. Voters received thorough, helpful information about each judicial candidates' qualifications. By means of this public and private endeavor, we were able to print and deliver the pamphlets for only three-and-one-half-cents a copy. The response we received was overwhelmingly positive. Many voters asked us to produce the pamphlet regularly. We also posted voter information on the Internet. More than twelve hundred individuals accessed our Internet edition.

"Improving the information voters have about judicial candidates was only one of the recommendations of the Walsh Commission. At the core of that report is a recommendation that would change the way judges are selected in our state. I believe that judges--all judges--should be elected---that voters should have the right to cast a ballot about the competence of every judge. There are, of course, many ways to achieve that goal. During the next few years, I anticipate a healthy and vigorous debate on this subject.

"I would like to now turn to our criminal justice system. I am particularly proud of the leadership the judicial branch has demonstrated in dealing with the issue of domestic violence. Domestic violence is a crime that afflicts every community, and every racial, ethnic, and economic group. How large is the problem? In 1994, the courts in our state handled nearly 31,000 petitions for domestic violence and civil-harassment protection orders. That's about eighty-four cases a day, one every seventeen minutes. In the last legislative session alone, you considered thirty-four different measures, introduced to eliminate the problem of domestic violence. As judicial leaders, we firmly believe that domestic violence must be dealt with in a coordinated comprehensive way.

"Two years ago, Attorney General Christine Gregoire, Justice Richard Guy and I hosted the first domestic violence 'summit.' As a follow up, last month we called a second statewide summit. In that meeting, we continued to build relationships among organizations and to foster cooperation. We also heard encouraging reports from local leaders about their efforts to combat the problem. In the Tri-cities, for example, a summit was hosted by Craig Mattheson, a superior court judge in Benton-Franklin Counties who worked together with the Gender and Justice Commission. The Commission will use the Tri-cities' mini-summit as a model for other cooperative local events.

"Next July, we will complete a project that you initiated in 1995, authorizing us to create a statewide domestic violence tracking system. With this tracking system in place, chronic spouse abusers may still run, but they won't be able to hide their past. Arrest and conviction information will be instantly available to police, prosecutors, and judges across the state. We will know whether or not a civil protection order has been issued in any county in the state, no matter what type of proceeding.

"Violent crime is no longer confined to our streets. As you may recall, three women and an unborn child were shot and killed, two years ago, in the hallway outside a busy King County courtroom. I convened an emergency meeting of presiding judges to examine ways our courthouses could be made safer. Yakima County prosecutor, Jeff Sullivan, chaired an advisory group of county commissioners, lawyers, judges, law enforcement officers, and security experts. Together, they developed a set of safety guidelines. These guidelines form a 'blueprint for safety,' and are being adopted in many of our courts and courthouses. The personal well-being of the public is always a high priority.

"As every judge, county commissioner and each of you know, our state's jail and prison space is severely limited. Space is especially limited for juvenile detention. The professionals in juvenile court realize that they must act early, particularly with young, high-risk offenders. Our state's Early Intervention Program, which is in place in twelve juvenile courts, allows court officials to reach juvenile offenders early in their probation through the use of intensive monitoring.

"Our courts have worked hard to explore alternatives to incarceration. Today, throughout the state, courts are experimenting with aggressive electronic home-monitoring, weekend schooling, day-reporting-centers, and community-service work crews. Judges have long recognized the connection between crime, delinquency, and the state of health of our families. Judicial and legislative leaders are continuing to work together to help, reconcile troubled youth and their families. Last year, our courts handled more than 9,000 truancy petitions, compared to a statewide total the year before of just ninety-one. Superior court judges helped shape some of last session's most far-reaching juvenile measures. We will continue to work with you to deal with the challenges of our criminal justice system.

"Let's now turn to legislative and judicial cooperation. Because our functions sometimes overlap, we took another step last November, aimed at a more effective partnership with the Legislature. We sponsored a leadership workshop to discuss our mutual roles in establishing our state's laws. Important questions were explored. For example, 'What steps can the Legislature take to ensure that its intent is preserved when constitutional questions are raised?' and, 'How can we better assure that laws are interpreted the way the Legislature intended?' We will continue to explore these and other questions that affect both civil and criminal laws.

"Another challenge we all face is the way we manage our limited resources. Local courts have found new ways, and often new resources, to meet these budget challenges. A good example of how our judicial leaders are finding innovative ways to manage their limited resources is the 'courts helping courts' program. In order to stretch employee resources, staff members from one court visit another to lend help and expertise. And, to hold down expenses, host courts accommodate visitors in their own homes. Judges from the trial courts to the appellate courts are striving to maximize limited resources. The Supreme Court voted unanimously just last week to seek your support for a bill requiring appellate judges, upon leaving the bench, to complete their opinions within sixty days.

"Last month, Judge Faith Ireland, President of the Superior Court Judges' Association and Judge Robert McBeth, President of the District and Municipal Court Judges' Association, held four meetings across the state to discuss funding issues. Judges recognize the growing challenges you and county commissioners face in finding ways to keep pace with the rising costs of the criminal justice system. We pledge our cooperation in trying to find new and more efficient ways to allocate scarce dollars.

"Recently, we scrutinized our entire court budget. Under the leadership of Justices Phil Talmadge and Richard Guy, the Supreme Court initiated a zero-based budget process to take a hard look at where our departments could reduce expenses. We used this process to construct our budget proposal for the upcoming biennium. We have also just completed an internal management review, coordinated by Justice Alexander. Our goal was to improve our internal communications and day-to-day operations. We have now reviewed all of our operations and evaluated our core functions. We will ask you to consider legislation to update some of our operations.

“These and others efforts will allow us to hold the line on expenses while keeping the wheels of justice turning. Another example of cooperation, is the state’s improved lawyer discipline system. The bench and the bar have been working together to improve the process by which lawyers are disciplined, and to make the process more responsive to the needs of the public. Based on recommendations made by a joint task force of judges, lawyers, and the public at large, the Washington State Bar Association significantly reorganized its discipline process. The bar underwrites the discipline system at a cost of two-point-three million dollars a year. And lawyers pay for it--no public tax money is involved.

“To do this, the state bar association has increased bar association dues; doubled the staff who review complaints; and created consumer affairs positions to serve the public. The bar may now cooperate with criminal investigations and the public can get more information on past sanctions. Already, we see dramatic improvements in the way complaints are handled. For the first time in years, more cases were closed last year than were opened. Later this month the Court will publish, for comment, these and other recommendations for improving the lawyer discipline system.

“Five individuals in particular have contributed their vision and leadership to this project. I would like to recognize their contributions. They are current bar president Tom Chambers; former chief justice Jim Andersen; former bar president Paul Stritmatter; chair of the board of Governor’s discipline committee, Peter Ehrlichman; and the association’s chief disciplinary counsel, Barrie Althoff.

“Let me share with you two examples of how we are using technology to make our courts more efficient. To make valuable court information more readily available, Judicial Information System terminals can be found in the Office of Support Enforcement, Department of Licensing, and in county prosecutor’s offices. The State Patrol and some local law enforcement offices also have access to our data. Last month a performance audit was conducted on our JIS by the National Center for State Courts in Virginia. Representative Ballard, you will be pleased with the results of the audit. The report states that our JIS staffing levels are among the most efficient in the country. We operate more efficiently, and reliably, and at less cost-per-user than comparable systems in other states, similar systems in Washington State, and even systems in the private sector. Chaired by Justice Phil Talmadge, JIS now handles six-hundred, seventy-five thousand transactions a day. This number will soon reach the million mark.

“And now for something different. Judges are not often perceived as 'warm and fuzzy,' but a unique program which brings judges into the classrooms to explain our legal system has received high marks. This isn’t a new program. When I came to the court twelve years ago, I was concerned that judges were isolated from the public. Having been raised by a mother who was an educator for forty years, this idea was a natural. Co-chaired by Justice Richard Sanders and myself, a group of judges, educators, lawyers and members of the public have developed lesson plans for students from kindergarten through college about our legal system. Judges who volunteer their time are partnered with teachers around the state to visit classrooms. Since the program’s beginning, over one hundred and thirty judges have educated more than 1,300 students.

“Just last week, a committee of judges chose public education as the theme for our annual fall judicial conference. In early September, some three hundred judges will arrive in Yakima. At least one hundred of them will have the opportunity to visit local schools from Zilla to Sunnyside. We even hope to visit one of the most exciting educational facilities in our state, Heritage College. Set on the Yakima Indian Reservation not far from Toppenish, Heritage College is led by Dr. Kathleen Ross, a Roman Catholic nun. Fifty percent of undergraduates at Heritage College are either Native-American or Hispanic-American. Eighty-five percent are the first in their families to attend college.

“Heritage College was established through the mutual efforts of Dr. Ross, Yakima community leaders and the Yakima Indian Nation. It is an unusual and outstanding institution and certainly one that would have pleased Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. Dr. King closed his Birmingham letter saying, 'We are caught in an inescapable network of mutuality, tied in a single garment of destiny. Whatever affects one directly, affects us all indirectly.'

“Together let us continue to seek what is fair, what is right, and what is just for the citizens who have placed their trust in us. Thank you.”

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Heavey: "Senator West, given the recent decision by the Supreme Court concerning referendums and the emergency clause, this legislation creates an emergency clause which cuts off the right of the people to referendum, which under the Constitution can only be accomplished when it is for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health or safety or support of the state government and its existing public institutions and take effect immediately. Could you tell us what the emergency is?"

Senator West: "Thank you, Senator Heavey, it is now January 20. In less than thirty days, the county treasurers and assessors must mail and distribute the tax statements. A bill, normally, would take a thirty day period, before it would take effect. I would say that it is clearly in the interest of the public peace, because if this does not get out there promptly, there will be a tax increase. In addition for the orderly process of putting together those tax statements, it is necessary to get this bill out there as soon as possible."

Further debate ensued.

The President Pro Tempore declared the question before the Senate to be the roll call on the final passage of House Bill No. 1037.

Voting nay: Senators Bauer, Brown, Fairley, Franklin, Fraser, Goings, Hargrove, Haugen, Heavey, Jacobsen, Kohl, Loveland, McAuliffe, Sheldon, Snyder, Spanel, Thibaudeau and Wojahn - 18. Excused: Senators Prentice and Rasmussen - 2. HOUSE BILL NO. 1037, having received the constitutional majority, was declared passed. There being no objection, the title of the bill will stand as the title of the act.

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Anderson: "Thank you, Mr. President. I rise to a point of personal privilege. To Senator Benton and Senator Horn, you have been privileged today to make your maiden speeches on the floor of the Senate. Because all of the other Senators who are more senior have given you the courtesy of sitting through and listening intently to your maiden speech, you are now obligated to thank those senior Senators, because we did sit intently and listen to your maiden speeches. So, we will anticipate your thank you's within the next couple of days. If you need any guidance, any senior member will be able to help you."

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator McCaslin: "A point of personal privilege. She said what I was going to say. The only thing that I can add to that is McCaslin accepts cash."

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Snyder: "Senator McDonald, we have had a lot of talk about meaningful tax reform and can we have your assurance that the majority party is going to work with the minority and try to come up with the best possible solution we can for the people in the state of Washington on a bipartisan basis?"

Senator McDonald: "Absolutely, Senator Snyder. You know we worked last year and had tremendous support on both sides of the aisle on a number of issues dealing with property tax. This is going to be no different and I think this is going to be very successful, given the high level of interest and high interest in reducing far beyond on this. Yes, this isn't the last of this issue."

MOTION

A majority of the members present may further limit the number of times a member may speak on any question and may limit the length of time a member may speak but, unless a demand for the previous question has been sustained, a member shall not be denied the right to speak at least once on each question, nor shall a member be

Rule 31. Any senator may call for a division of a question, which shall be divided if it embraces subjects so distinct that one being taken away a substantive proposition shall remain for the decision of the senate; but a motion to strike out and insert shall not be divided.

Point of Order - Decision Appealable

Rule 32. Every decision of points of order by the president shall be subject to appeal by any senator, and discussion of a question of order shall be allowed. In all cases of appeal the question shall be: "Shall the decision of the chair stand as the judgment of the senate?"

Question of Privilege

Rule 33. Any senator may rise to a question of privilege and explain a personal matter by leave of the president, but shall not discuss any pending question in such explanations, nor shall any question of personal privilege permit any senator to introduce any person or persons in the galleries. 2. A permanent rule or order may be temporarily suspended for a special purpose by a vote of two-thirds of the members present unless otherwise specified herein. When the suspension of a rule is called, and after due notice from the president no objection is offered, the president may announce the rule suspended, and the senate may proceed accordingly. Such motion to reconsider shall be in order only under the order of motions of the day immediately following the day upon which such notice of reconsideration is given, and may be made by any member who voted with the prevailing side.

2. A motion to reconsider shall have precedence over every other motion, except a motion to adjourn; and when the senate adjourns while a motion to reconsider is pending or before passing the order of motions, the right to move a reconsideration shall continue to the next day of sitting. On and after the tenth day prior to adjournment sine die of any session, as determined pursuant to Article 2, Section 12, or concurrent resolution, or in the event that the measure is subject to a senate rule or resolution or a joint rule or concurrent resolution, which would preclude consideration on the next day of sitting a motion to reconsider shall only be in order on the same day upon which notice of reconsideration is given and may be made at any time that day. Rule 42. Committee chairs may create subcommittees of the standing committee and designate subcommittee chairs thereof to study subjects within the jurisdiction of the standing committee. The committee chair shall approve the use of committee staff and equipment assigned to the subcommittee. Subcommittee activities shall further be subject to facilities and operations committee approval to the same extent as are the actions of the standing committee from which they derive their authority.

Subpoena Power

Rule 43. Any of the above referenced committees, including subcommittees thereof, or any special committees created by the senate, may have the powers of subpoena, the power to administer oaths, and the power to issue commissions for the examination of witnesses in accordance with the provisions of chapter 44.16 RCW. The committee chair shall file with the committee on rules, prior to issuance of any process, a statement of purpose setting forth the name or names of those subject to process. The rules committee shall consider every proposed issuance of process at a meeting of the rules committee immediately following the filing of the statement with the committee. The process shall not be issued prior to consideration by the rules committee. The process shall be limited to the named individuals and the committee on rules may overrule the service on an individual so named.

Duties of Committees

Rule 44. The several committees shall fully consider measures referred to them.

The committees shall acquaint themselves with the interest of the state specially represented by the committee, and from time to time present such bills and reports as in their judgment will advance the interests and promote the welfare of the people of the state: PROVIDED, That no executive action on bills may be taken during an interim.

Committee Rules

Rule 45. 1. At least five days notice shall be given of all public hearings held by any committee other than the rules committee. Such notice shall contain the date, time and place of such hearing together with the title and number of each bill, or identification of the subject matter, to be considered at such hearing. By a majority vote of the committee members present at any committee meeting such notice may be dispensed with. The reason for such action shall be set forth in a written statement preserved in the records of the meeting.

2. No committee may hold a public hearing during a regular or extraordinary session on a proposal identified as a draft unless the draft has been made available to the public at least twenty-four hours prior to the hearing. This rule does not apply during the five days prior to any cutoff established by concurrent resolution nor does it apply to any measure exempted from the resolution.

3. During its consideration of or vote on any bill, resolution or memorial, the deliberations of any committee or subcommittee of the senate shall be open to the public. In case of any disturbance or disorderly conduct at any such deliberations, the chair shall order the sergeant at arms to suppress the same and may order the meeting closed to any person or persons creating such disturbance.

4. A majority of any committee shall constitute a quorum. Committees shall be considered to have a quorum present unless the question is raised. No committee shall transact official business absent a quorum except to conduct a hearing.

5. Bills reported to the senate from a standing committee must have a majority report, which shall be prepared upon a printed standing committee report form; shall carry one of the following recommendations, shall be adopted at a regularly or specially called meeting during a legislative session and shall be signed by a majority of the committee:

- a. Do pass.
- b. Do pass as amended.
- c. That a substitute bill be substituted therefor, and the substitute bill do pass.
- d. That the bill be referred to another committee.
- e. Without recommendation.

6. A majority report of a committee must carry the signatures of a majority of the members of the committee. In the event a committee has a quorum pursuant to subsection 3 of this rule, a majority of the members present may act on a measure, subject to obtaining the signatures of a majority of the members of the committee on the majority report.

7. Any measure which does not receive a majority vote of the members present may be reconsidered at that meeting and may again be considered upon motion of any committee member if one day's notice of said motion is provided to all committee members.

8. Members of the committee not concurring in the majority report may prepare a written minority report containing a different recommendation which shall be signed by those members of the committee subscribing thereto.

9. When a committee reports a substitute for an original bill with the recommendation that the substitute bill do pass, it shall be in order to read the substitute bill the first time and have the same ordered printed.

A motion for the substitution of the substitute bill for the original bill shall not be in order until the committee on rules places the original bill on the second reading calendar.

10. No vote in any committee shall be taken by secret ballot nor shall any committee have a policy of secrecy as to any vote on action taken in such committee.

11. All reports of standing committees must be on the secretary's desk one hour prior to convening of the session in order to be read at said session.

Recalling Bills from Committees

Rule 48. Any standing committee of the senate may be relieved of further consideration of any bill, regardless of prior action of the committee, by a majority vote of the senators elected. The senate may then make such orderly disposition of the bill as they may direct by a majority vote of the members of the senate.

Bills Referred to Rules Committee

Rule 49. All bills reported by a committee to the senate shall then be referred to the committee on rules for second reading without action on the report unless otherwise ordered by the senate. (See also Rules 63 and 64.)

Rules Committee

Rule 50. The lieutenant governor shall be a voting member and the chair of the committee on rules. The committee on rules shall have charge of the daily second and third reading calendar of the senate and shall direct the secretary of the senate the order in which the bills shall be considered by the senate and the committee on rules shall have the authority to directly refer any bill before them to any other standing committee. Such referral shall be reported out to the senate on the next day's business.

The senate may change the order of consideration of bills on the second or third reading calendar.

After the expiration of deadlines for bill introductions provided for by resolution, no bill shall be introduced, except as the legislature shall direct by a vote of two-thirds of all the members elected to each house, said vote to be taken by yeas and nays and entered upon the journal, or unless the same be at a special session. The time limitation for introduction of bills shall not apply to substitute bills reported by standing committees for bills pending before such committees and general appropriation and revenue bills. (See also Art. 2, Sec. 36, State Constitution.)

Amendatory Bills

Rule 57. Bills introduced in the senate intended to amend existing statutes shall have the words which are amendatory to such existing statutes underlined. Any matter to be deleted from the existing statutes shall be indicated by setting such matter forth in full, enclosed by double parentheses, and such deleted matter shall be lined out with hyphens. No bill shall be printed or acted upon until the provisions of this rule shall have been complied with.

Concurrent resolutions authorizing investigations and authorizing the expenditure or allocation of any money must be adopted by roll call and the yeas and nays recorded in the journal. Concurrent resolutions are subject to final passage on the day of the first reading without regard to Senate Rule 62.

Committee Bills

Rule 60. Committee bills introduced by a standing committee during a legislative session may be filed with the secretary of the senate and introduced, and the signature of each member of the committee shall be endorsed upon the cover of the original bill.

Committee bills shall be read the first time by title, ordered printed, and referred to the committee on rules for second reading.

Committee Reference

Rule 61. When a motion is made to refer a subject, and different committees are proposed, the question shall be taken in the following order:

FIRST: A standing committee.

SECOND: A select committee.

Reading of Bills

Rule 62. Every bill shall be read on three separate days unless the senate deems it expedient to suspend this rule. On and after the tenth day preceding adjournment sine die of any session, or three days prior to any cut-off date for consideration of bills, as determined pursuant to Article 2, Section 12 of the Constitution or concurrent resolution, this rule may be suspended by a majority vote. (See also Rule 59).

First Reading

Rule 63. The first reading of a bill shall be by title only, unless a majority of the members present demand a reading in full.

After the first reading, bills shall be referred to an appropriate committee pursuant to Rule 61.

Upon being reported back by committee, all bills shall be referred to the committee on rules for second reading, unless otherwise ordered by the senate. (See Rule 49.)

A bill shall be reported back by the committee chair upon written petition therefor signed by a majority of its members. The petition shall designate the recommendation as provided in Rule 45, Sub. 4.

No committee chair shall exercise a pocket veto of any bill.

Should there be a two-thirds majority report of the committee membership against the bill, a vote shall be immediately ordered for the indefinite postponement of the bill.

Second Reading/Amendments

Rule 64. Upon second reading, the bill shall be read section by section, in full, and be subject to amendment. Any member may, if sustained by three members, remove a bill from the consent calendar as constituted by the committee on rules. A bill removed from the consent calendar shall take its place as the last bill in the order of consideration of bills on the second reading calendar.

No amendment shall be considered by the senate until it shall have been sent to the secretary's desk in writing and read by the secretary.

All amendments adopted on the second reading shall then be securely fastened to the original bill.

All amendments rejected by the senate shall be spread upon the journal, and the journal shall show the disposition of all amendments.

When no further amendments shall be offered, the president shall declare the bill has passed its second reading, and shall be referred to the committee on rules for third reading.

Third Reading

Rule 65. Bills on third reading shall be read in full by sections, and no amendment shall be entertained.

When a bill shall pass, it shall be certified to by the secretary, together with the vote upon final passage, noting the day of its passage thereon.

The vote must be taken by yeas and nays, the names of the senators voting for and against the same to be entered upon the journal and the majority of the members elected to the senate must be recorded thereon as voting in its favor to secure its passage by the senate.

Scope and Object of Bill Not to be Changed

Rule 66. No amendment to any bill shall be allowed which shall change the scope and object of the bill. (See also Art. 2, Sec. 38, State Constitution.) Substitute bills shall be considered amendments for the purposes of this rule.

Matters Related to Disagreement Between the Senate and House

Rule 67. When there is a disagreement between the senate and house on a measure before the senate, the senate may act upon the measure with the following motions which have priority in the following order:

- To concur
- To non-concur
- To recede
- To insist
- To adhere

These motions are in order as to any single amendment or to a series of amendments. (See Reed's Rules 247 through 254.)

A senate bill, passed by the house with amendment or amendments which shall change the scope and object of the bill, upon being received in the senate, shall be referred to an appropriate committee and shall take the same course as for original bills, unless a motion to ask the house to recede, to insist or to adhere is made prior to the measure being referred to committee.

Bills Committed for Special Amendment

Rule 68. A bill may be committed with or without special instructions to amend at any time before taking the final vote.

Confirmation of Gubernatorial Appointees

Rule 69. When the names of appointees to state offices are transmitted to the Secretary of the Senate for senate confirmation, the communication from the governor shall be recorded and referred to the appropriate standing committee.

The standing committee, or subcommittee, pursuant to rule 42, shall require each appointee referred to the committee for consideration to complete the standard questionnaire to be used to ascertain the appointee's general background and qualifications. The committee may also require the appointee to complete a supplemental questionnaire related specifically to the qualifications for the position to which he has been appointed.

The standing committee, or subcommittees, pursuant to rule 42, shall hold a public hearing on the appointment. The appointee may be required to appear before the committee on request. When appearing, the appointee shall be required to testify under oath or affirmation. The chair of the committee or the presiding member shall administer the oath or affirmation in accordance with RCW 44.16. (See also Article 2, Sec. 6 of the State Constitution.)

Nothing in this rule shall be construed to prevent a standing committee, or subcommittee, pursuant to rule 42, upon a two-thirds vote of its members, from holding executive sessions when considering an appointment.

When the committee on rules presents the report of the standing committee before the senate, the question shall be the confirmation of the name proposed, and the roll shall then be called and the yeas and nays entered upon the journal. In the event a message is received from the governor requesting return of an appointment or appointments to the office of the governor prior to confirmation, the senate shall vote upon the governor's request and the appointment or appointments shall be returned to the governor if the request is approved by a majority of the elected. (Article 13 of the State Constitution.)

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Horn: "I rise for a point of personal privilege. Thank you very much, Mr. President, and members of the Senate. On Monday, I was honored to be able to address this August body with my first floor speech on the Senate floor. I was impressed with the attention that you gave me--the honor that you gave me--and I want to share with you a little token of my appreciation coming from my district--this small box of chocolates that you see on your desks here. These chocolates are hand-made and come from a shop on Mercer Island, owned and operated by Mr. Karl Krautheim. They are individually made and tailored to excite your palate. For those of you who are chocolate lovers, I am sure that you will appreciate that and for those of you who are not, we would like to get you in the chocolate-lover club.

"In 1985, when I was on the Mercer Island City Council, we were looking around trying to find businesses that would add to the quality of life for this island called Mercer, in the middle of Lake Washington. We were able to entice Mr. Krautheim from the twelfth district--their loss, our gain--who operated a restaurant and chocolate shop in Wenatchee to come to the island and concentrate on the chocolates. This emanated from a hobby of his wife when they lived in Hawaii and they got interested in the chocolate business. Since that time, his wife passed away last November, but he continues to operate the shop and he has added to the quality of life on Mercer Island and been so successful that he has opened up a second chocolate shop over in Bellevue, next to the Hyatt Regency Hotel. So, I hope that you will enjoy a token of my appreciation and that when you are in the Island of Mercer or in the city of Bellevue, stop by his shop and tickle your palate a second time. Thank you very much."

REPLY BY THE PRESIDENT

President Owen: "Thank you, Senator Horn. We appreciate you helping us begin the normal expansion process that takes place in the Legislature every year."

CHANGE IN STANDING COMMITTEE ASSIGNMENT

The President appointed Senator Kline to the Law and Justice Committee replacing Senator Jacobsen.

MOTION

At 11:51 a.m., on motion of Senator Johnson, the Senate adjourned until 12:00 noon, Thursday, January 23, 1997.

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR
VETO OF HOUSE BILL NO. 1037

January 22, 1997

To the Honorable Speaker and Members,
The House of Representatives of the State of Washington
Ladies and Gentlemen:

I am returning herewith, without my approval, House Bill No. 1037 entitled:
"AN ACT Relating to making the 4.7187% state property tax levy reduction permanent;"

House Bill No. 1037 converts the temporary 4.7 percent reduction in the state property levy which expired on December 31, 1996 to a permanent tax reduction. As I have explained in my conversations with legislative leadership and the news media, I am vetoing the bill because making the 4.7 percent property tax reduction permanent would preclude more substantial relief for homeowners. Of the $159 million in tax reduction provided by this measure through June 1999, only 58 percent benefits single family homeowners.

Moreover, in the last two years, the state has granted approximately one billion dollars of tax relief--virtually none of it to the hard-working families of Washington State. While I support additional tax relief for businesses by rolling back the remainder of the 1993 Business and Occupation Tax increase, I believe we should adjust the balance between tax relief for businesses and families.

Our state's ability to provide tax relief is not unlimited; we must set priorities. My priority for property tax relief is an approach that maximizes the benefits for middle-class homeowners and those of moderate means. Extending the 4.7 percent property tax indefinitely for both businesses and homeowners takes away dollars for more substantial tax relief for homeowners.

I remain committed to signing a one-year extension of the temporary reduction, and will send executive request legislation on that matter to you today under separate cover. While we continue to work on the form and scope of meaningful long-term tax relief for homeowners, I urge you to pass the one-year extension of the property tax relief measure quickly and without complicating provisions. County officials have informed my office that they still have time to revise 1997 tax statements. I hope that we can work together to ensure that the property tax relief secured through the hard work of both parties over the past two years is not lost.

Respectfully submitted,
GARY LOCKE, Governor

The Governor's Veto Message on House Bill No. 1037 was held on the desk.

Beginning on page 2, line 1, strike all of section 2 Renummer the remaining sections consecutively and correct any internal references accordingly. On page 2, after line 11, strike all of section 5 Debate ensued.

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Goings: "Thank you, Senator McDonald. You've talked a lot about the folks out there being the final arbiters of the decision and that this tax cut is just the beginning. I agree, too, that the people should have that decision. Can we have your word and the word of your caucus that if we truly want the people to decide, that you will allow Senate Bill No. 6118, the two hundred and five dollar middle-class tax cut, also to go to the people in the referendum and allow the people to make the real decision? Will you allow that to happen?"

Senator McDonald: "Well, you know, Senator Goings, I don't exactly have complete control over that. I'll tell you what--what comes out of the Ways and Means Committee and goes to this floor and what goes off this floor and goes down to the Governor--if the Governor does not choose to sign something that we can get out of the Legislature, then yes, we will probably have that go to the final arbiter which would be the people. So, I have no idea what the final outcome will be out of the Ways and Means Committee, but I want to see something happen.

"I will tell you this, I don't think there is any bad idea out here. I think the fact that what Senator West has offered is going to give eight thousand people--eight thousand dollars--to a person who has an average home in this state, is a lot better than the one that the Governor has proposed which would give them two thousand over the same twenty year period. I think that is better for them and what I want to see and what I will vote for out of the Ways and Means Committee is what does the best for those residential home owners. So, absolutely, Senator Goings, what comes out of the process and comes out of the committee--if it can't come out of the Governor's office--then I really think that I will join with you in making sure that it gets to the final arbiters, the people."

Senator Goings: "Thank you majority leader McDonald. I agree, you can't control all members of your caucus, but I am glad to have--and I don't want to misrepresent what you've said--but it sounds like we have your word that you will have the opportunity to allow that and you will support our issue of going forward and let the people decide in a referendum? You did not say that, then? All right, thank you, Mr. President."

Further debate ensued.

Senator Sheldon demanded a roll call and the demand was sustained.
The President declared the question before the Senate to be the roll call on the adoption of the amendments by Senators Loveland, Spanel and Snyder, beginning on page 2, line 1, and page 2, after line 11, to Engrossed House Bill No. 1417.

MOTION

At 2:00 p.m., on motion of Senator Johnson, the Senate was declared to be at ease.

The Senate was called to order at 3:00 p.m. by President Owen.

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Fairley: "Thank you, Mr. President. I rise to a point of personal privilege. While the Senate was at ease for caucus, the chair of Law and Justice, Senator Pam Roach, went over to the committee meeting and there falsely stated that the ranking minority member, Senator Darlene Fairley, a Democrat, was not willing to come over and listen to what they had to say. Now, I am hurt; I feel that Senator Roach has impugned my reputation as a Senator and has impugned my willingness to do the job. I would ask, and I hope, that Senator Roach finds a way to make this extremely unfair accusation right. Thank you."

REMARKS BY SENATOR ROACH

Senator Roach: "If I may rise to respond. I think that we can get a transcript of what was said. Senator Fairley was not there to hear what I said. All right, fine, we can get a transcript. What I said was the truth. I felt that I should tell the people that flew over from Spokane, the people who drove from Camas and the people in a carpool who drove down from Everett--to let them know that we were certainly willing to have the hearing, because the Democrats didn't want to--these folks over here. I am sorry that is what happened. You rose up and said, 'No, we don't want to do it; we want to caucus.' So, I said fine to that and walked over to let them know that we were not, in fact, going to be holding a hearing. Now, I am sorry if someone thinks that it is wrong for me to go over and tell those citizens of the state of Washington that we were having the Democrats in caucus and Republicans were, therefore, prohibited from having a hearing--because, in fact, that is what happened.

"I enjoy Senator Fairley's company. She sits next to me in the Law and Justice Committee and I have regarded the friendship that we have developed to this point as being a very warm one. I like her as an individual and I respect her as an individual and I apologize if I have hurt her feelings, but what I did do was try and explain to the public what the political circumstance of that occasion today was. Senator Goings was in the room. He came over and explained to the people, a little further, that the Democrats were in caucus on a very important issue of property taxes and we were, as two caucuses, debating which way would be the best. I think that was a fair presentation to the public. I think they deserve that. We just canceled, apparently, hearings all afternoon for people across this state. If there is anyone here that wants to tell me that they don't think that those people should have an explanation--besides just a staff member walking in and saying, 'The committee has been dismissed for the afternoon.' Give me a break folks. We are here as their servants."

POINT OF ORDER

Senator Heavey: "A point of order. Mr. President, isn't it the rule that no hearing can take place while the Senate is in session and isn't it the reason that we are in session is because of the majority party's request? I would just like a simple answer yes or no to the question, Mr. President."

REPLY BY THE PRESIDENT

President Owen: "I believe that the rule is that no committee hearings can take place while the Senate is in session."

MOTION

On motion of Senator Johnson, the Senate advanced to the sixth order of business.

On page 33, after line 7, insert the following: "Sec. 208. RCW 84.55.120 and 1995 c 251 s 1 are each amended to read as follows: A taxing district, other than the state, that collects regular levies shall hold a public hearing on revenue sources for the district's following year's current expense budget. The hearing must include consideration of possible increases in property tax revenues and shall be held prior to the time the taxing district levies the taxes or makes the request to have the taxes levied. The county legislative authority, or the taxing district's governing body if the district is a city, town, or other type of district, shall hold the hearing. For purposes of this section, "current expense budget" means that budget which is primarily funded by taxes and charges and reflects the provision of ongoing services. It does not mean the capital, enterprise, or special assessment budgets of cities, towns, counties, or special purpose districts. If the taxing district is otherwise required to hold a public hearing on its proposed regular tax levy, a single public hearing may be held on this matter. No increase in property tax revenue, other than that resulting from the addition of new construction and improvements to property and any increase in the value of state-assessed property, may be authorized by a taxing district except by adoption of a separate ordinance or resolution, pursuant to notice, specifically authorizing the increase in terms of both dollars and percentage. The ordinance or resolution may cover a period of up to two years, but the ordinance shall specifically state for each year the dollar increase and percentage change in the levy from the previous year." Debate ensued.

The President declared the question before the Senate to be the adoption of the amendment by Senators Heavey, Goings and West on page 33, after line 7, to Substitute Senate Bill No. 5212.

The motion by Senator Heavey carried and the amendment was adopted.

INTRODUCTION AND FIRST READING OF HOUSE BILL

HJM 4008 by Representatives Zellinsky, K. Schmidt, Huff, Johnson, Sheldon, Lantz, Clements, Dyer, L. Thomas, Robertson, Hatfield, Chandler, O'Brien, Cooper, Wolfe, D. Schmidt, Wensman, Veloria, Butler, Tokuda, Costa, Linville, Conway, Hankins, Doumit, Morris, Ogden, Cody, Kessler, Chopp and Dunn

Preserving the U.S.S. Missouri.

HOLD.

MOTION

On motion of Senator Johnson, House Joint Memorial No. 4008 was held on the desk.

MOTION

At 10:09 a.m., on motion of Senator Johnson, the Senate recessed until 10:30 a.m.

The Senate was called to order at 10:30 a.m. by President Owen.

There being no objection, the President declared the Senate to be at ease.

The Senate was called to order at 10:39 a.m. by President Owen.

THIRD READING

ENGROSSED SUBSTITUTE SENATE BILL NO. 5212, by Senators Swecker, Hale, Zarelli, Johnson, McDonald, McCaslin, Deccio, West, Schow, Horn, Strannigan, Hochstatter, Benton, Sellar, Anderson and Oke

Limiting property taxes.

The bill was read the third time.
Debate ensued.

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Goings: "Thank you, Majority Leader McDonald. Just a simple yes or no answer will suffice. Will you allow Senate Bill No. 5214 to have a hearing?"

Senator McDonald: "I will tell you this, that is not within my power. I am not the chairman of the Ways and Means Committee or any other committee that may be a part of it. But I will tell you this, I have been listening to the Governor and the Governor has said that if we sent something down of that magnitude, he would veto it. He says that his proposal would be something like a hundred dollars. You know, I look at the cumulative effect of that and I have to say, Senator Goings, that it looks to me like fifteen thousand dollars in the pocket of somebody over a thirty-year mortgage, is a heck of a lot better than about three thousand dollars.

"Maybe I am stuck on math, but fifteen thousand sounds a heck of a lot better to me than does three thousand dollars. I think that is what it comes down to. It is not two hundred and five dollars. You haven't been listening to your Governor; he would veto that. If we sent it down there--if we agreed to have that and bring it out of committee--which I don't have the power over, he wouldn't do that. So, it is a hundred dollars a year that you are talking to. Talk about a pittance! I think that fifteen thousand dollars in the pocket of the average home owner in this state is one heck of lot better than three thousand. I am sorry that I am hung up on math, but that is the way it pencils out to me. I hope that answers your question, Senator Goings."

Senator Goings: "Mr. President, will the majority leader yield to a further question? Senator, I appreciate your brief answer. I have a question and I hope you can help me with this. As the Majority Leader, if the Ways and Means Chairman was to ask your opinion, would you suggest that we have a hearing on Senate Bill No. 5214, with the possibility that if the Governor does veto that bill, there may be members of this side of the aisle that would join the majority in overriding that veto or attach a referendum clause to Senate Bill No. 5214?"

Senator McDonald: "I always encourage the Ways and Means Chairman to have hearings and lots of things and to listen to an awful lot of opinions. But, I will say this, that if the Legislature comes to a resolution, comes to a conclusion on the property tax, at some point, we are going to have to move on to the other issues such as welfare reform, juvenile justice, the B & O tax reductions, the whole issue of criminal justice and keeping the schools safe and making that a top priority. So, I think that we have to drive this debate to conclusion and then we have to put it behind us and get on to the remaining business. I hope that answers your question, Senator Goings."

Further debate ensued.

The President declared the question before the Senate to be the roll call on the final passage of Engrossed Substitute Senate Bill No. 5212.

ROLL CALL

The Secretary call the final passage of Engrossed Substitute Senate Bill No. 5212 and the bill passed the Senate by the following vote: Yeas, 28; Nays, 17; Absent, 0; Excused, 3.

Voting yea: Senators Anderson, Benton, Deccio, Finkbeiner, Hale, Heavey, Hochstatter, Horn, Johnson, Long, McCaslin, McDonald, Morton, Newhouse, Oke, Prince, Rasmussen, Roach, Rossi, Schow, Sellar, Stevens, Strannigan, Swecker, West, Winsley, Wood and Zarelli - 28. Their being no objection, the title of the bill will stand as the title of the act.

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Brown: "A point of personal privilege, Mr. President. I wanted to alert everybody to something that is on your desk. I wanted to thank you for allowing me to speak to you, last week, for the first time on the Senate floor and I dare say it won't be the last time. Buckeye Beans and Herbs is a company based in Spokane and in 1996 they won the Small Business Award for Washington State Small Business. You might also notice that they make many different specialty pastas. They have valentine heart shaped pastas for Valentine's Day--Evergreen State pastas. Some of you were lucky enough to get the red, white and blue stars and others of you were lucky enough to get the sport's ball pasta. You can get baseball, football, soccer, etc. I thought with the emphasis on building sport's stadiums that we have had this last year, you might appreciate the fact that those of us in eastern Washington, why we may not always be as thrilled about the stadium, we like the sports. So, thank you very much."

Debate ensued.

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Deccio: A point of personal privilege, Mr. President. I love all of this Italianism. One day we get salami; the next day we get pasta. Who is going to bring the sauce? Senator McAuliffe is ready to cook it up and we'll eat it right here on the floor. Thank you."

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Kohl: "I rise for a point of personal privilege, Mr. President. I would like to announce that the University of Washington Womens' Softball Team will be here at eleven o'clock. The purpose of which is to read in a resolution honoring them, as well as the National Women and Girls' In Sport's Day which is Thursday. Because we were not going to be on the floor Thursday, we were going to do it today, as these athletes were going to be here today for a hearing this afternoon. If anybody is around at eleven o'clock, I would appreciate it if you could be on the Senate floor, so that we can acknowledge the contributions of women in sports and the team from the University of Washington."

MOTION

At 10:10 a.m., on motion of Senator Johnson, the Senate adjourned until 12:00 noon, Tuesday, February 4, 1997.

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Heavey: "A point of personal privilege, Mr. President. I know that along with many of you that we have just suffered a great deal of pain inflicted upon us by the lady from the thirty-fifth district. Her screeching and scratching cacophony of a speech unduly inflicted a great deal of pain and suffering upon myself, personally, and I hope that maybe she could just give us a token to help repay us for this pain that we have been through on her first speech to this body. I am sure she will get better in the future. Thank you very much."

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Benton: "I rise to a point of personal privilege. A couple of weeks ago I was guilty of the same charges that the fine gentleman, Senator Heavey, has accused of our new member, and as a token of my appreciation to the body for listening to me on my first speech on the floor of this great chamber, I have placed on the desks a gift of appreciation to you.

"I would just like to share with you some information about that. Fourteen years ago, Joe and Debbie Listek arrived in the small town of Camas, Washington, which is in the center of the Seventeenth Legislative District. They lived on the Washougal River and Joe's love of fishing brought him to meet a man by the name of Glenn--a man who had fished those rivers for forty years. Over the years, they became very good fishing buddies, but Glenn would never reveal to Joe his secret, mysterious brine for smoking salmon--a secret that Glenn claimed came from the Klickitat Indian Tribe and that an old wise Klickitat Indian had taught him about smoking salmon and how to bring out the proper color and the proper flavor. But, he would never reveal this secret, until one day when Glenn decided to follow his dream and move to Alaska permanently. He called Joe aside and said, 'I am going to share with you all the secrets the Klickitat Indians taught me about smoking salmon, but you must promise not to reveal this secret of this special curing brine until you pass the torch to the next generation.'

"Joe made the commitment and Glenn then shared with him the secret. For the last four years, Joe and Debbie Listek and their new company, the Pacific Northwest Best Premium Smoked Seafood Company, have been using this secret brine to smoke salmon. Now, in the great Northwest, many of us claim to be salmon connoisseurs, but I can assure you that you have never had a smoked salmon like this before. Even those of you who do not like fish will like this. I promise!

"So, again, I thank you for listening to me. I thank you for allowing me to speak to you my first week in this chamber and I hope you will enjoy the gift. I hope that you will sometime, in the future, call Joe and Debbie Listek and tell them how much you enjoyed it, too. Thank you."

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Swecker: "Thank you, Mr. President. I rise for a point of personal privilege. Mr. President, I think with the length and the blatantly commercial nature of that last speech, we all need another token of his--and I would like another one of these."

SECOND READING

MOTION

Senator Oke moved that the following resolution be adopted:

SENATE RESOLUTION 1997-8611

By Senators Oke and Horn

WHEREAS, The defense of our grand republic and the freedoms we have derived therefrom were purchased by the sacrifices of our armed forces of our nation; and

WHEREAS, Our military forces are trained to preserve and defend the Constitution of the United States and the citizens and be capable of accomplishing their mission to be successful in combat defending our inalienable rights as Americans; and

WHEREAS, Since the undeclared end of the Cold War, our armed forces have been drained to a potentially dangerous level by downsizing in personnel strengths and commitments to missions other than war, thereby decreasing our military capability to be prepared to confront a potential enemy or foe and to repel and deter their objectives on simultaneous fronts in our realm of economic, political, or defense posturing interests of the United States; and

WHEREAS, The number of nondeployable combat trained personnel is increasing at an alarming rate, thereby further decreasing our operational readiness capability for wartime preparedness, coupled with the reduction of our National Guard and Reserve strengths, two major contributing factors to our readiness; and

WHEREAS, The Congress is constitutionally empowered to raise, maintain, and appropriate funds for armies, navies, and militias including the Washington Military and Reserves, and provide for the defense of this nation and its international scopes of interest;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, That the Senate is deeply concerned with the operational capabilities of our armed forces, their welfare, and the defense of this great nation, we recognize that the Congress must exercise to their fullest extent their constitutional mandate to retain, restore, and appropriate necessary funding to maintain a viable combat-ready Armed Forces, in a perpetual wartime posture and a secondary force capable of providing for operations other than war for humanitarian or peacekeeping missions around the globe; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That copies of this resolution be immediately transmitted by the Secretary of the Senate to the Allied Veterans Council of Kitsap County.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Senator Heavey: "A point of parliamentary inquiry. Mr. President, is it proper for a Senate Resolution to express political comment, express criticism of the current state of the military, to express what the military should be or shouldn't be? Isn't that more appropriate for a concurrent resolution?"

REPLY BY THE PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE

President Pro Tempore Newhouse: "The President thinks that the resolution is merely a statement of principle and thought and does not suggest any particular action and, therefore, would not be out of order. You may continue, Senator Oke."

Further debate ensued.

The President Pro Tempore declared the question before the Senate to be the adoption of Senate Resolution 1997-8611.

The motion by Senator Oke carried and the resolution was adopted.

MOTION

On motion of Senator Franklin, the following resolution was adopted:

SENATE RESOLUTION 1997-8612

By Senators Franklin, Heavey, Horn, Schow, Wood, Anderson, Hale, Newhouse, Winsley, Bauer, Kohl, Loveland, Patterson, Fraser, Sheldon, Snyder, Thibaudeau, Wojahn and Jacobsen

WHEREAS, Today we are honored to have in our presence Mr. Vernon J. Baker, the first and only living African American to receive America's highest military award, the Medal of Honor, for heroism under fire in the Second World War; and

WHEREAS, 1st Lieutenant Baker, on April 5th and 6th, 1945, leading his platoon of twenty-five soldiers, demonstrated tremendous courage and took it upon himself to remove several enemy threats that stood between his platoon and their objective; and

WHEREAS, He put his own life in extreme jeopardy for the sake of his platoon and their mission; and
WHEREAS, Lt. Baker received the Distinguished Service Cross, the Bronze Star, the Purple Heart, as well as the Cross of Valor from the nation of Italy, and the Cross of Valor from the nation of Poland; and

WHEREAS, Despite the fact that 1.7 million African Americans served in the armed forces during the Second World War, they did not receive a single one of the four hundred thirty-two Medals of Honor awarded; and

WHEREAS, Upon review of this glaring fact nearly fifty years later, the United States Army determined that seven recipients of the Distinguished Service Medal truly were deserving of the military's highest honor, but had been denied it at the time most probably due to racial prejudice; and

WHEREAS, Of the seven new recipients of the Medal of Honor, Vernon J. Baker is the only survivor, and thus the only member of this illustrious group able to be so honored in person; and

WHEREAS, His service to his country in the United States Army continued for twenty-eight years;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, That the members of the Washington State Senate do hereby honor and extend our most heartfelt congratulations and thanks to Mr. Vernon J. Baker of St. Maries, Idaho, for his outstanding service to his country, his courageous sacrifice on behalf of his comrades, and his important role in liberating Nazi-occupied Italy and in defending the cause of liberty both in Europe and at home; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That we do hereby urge all citizens of the state of Washington to join us in so honoring Mr. Vernon J. Baker; and that the Secretary of the Senate do hereby immediately transmit a copy of this resolution to Mr. Baker and his family.

The House has passed ENGROSSED SUBSTITUTE SENATE BILL NO. 5212 with the following amendment(s):
Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following: "PART I VALUE AVERAGING NEW SECTION. Sec. 101. A new section is added to chapter 84.04 RCW to read as follows: "Appraised value of property" means the aggregate true and fair value of the property as last determined by the county assessor according to the revaluation program approved under chapter 84.41 RCW, including revaluations based on statistical data between physical inspections. Sec. 102. RCW 84.04.030 and 1961 c 15 s 84.04.030 are each amended to read as follows: "Assessed value of property" shall be held and construed to mean the aggregate valuation of the property subject to taxation by any taxing district as determined under section 105 of this act, reduced by the value of any applicable exemptions under RCW 84.36.381 or other law, and placed on the last completed and balanced tax rolls of the county preceding the date of any tax levy. Sec. 103. RCW 84.40.020 and 1973 c 69 s 1 are each amended to read as follows: All real property in this state subject to taxation shall be listed and assessed every year, with reference to its appraised and assessed values on the first day of January of the year in which it is assessed. Such listing and all supporting documents and records shall be open to public inspection during the regular office hours of the assessor's office: PROVIDED, That confidential income data is exempted from public inspection pursuant to RCW 42.17.310. All personal property in this state subject to taxation shall be listed and assessed every year, with reference to its value and ownership on the first day of January of the year in which it is assessed: PROVIDED, That if the stock of goods, wares, merchandise or material, whether in a raw or finished state or in process of manufacture, owned or held by any taxpayer on January 1 of any year does not fairly represent the average stock carried by such taxpayer, such stock shall be listed and assessed upon the basis of the monthly average of stock owned or held by such taxpayer during the preceding calendar year or during such portion thereof as the taxpayer was engaged in business. Sec. 104. RCW 84.40.030 and 1994 c 124 s 20 are each amended to read as follows: All personal property shall be valued at one hundred percent of its true and fair value in money and assessed on the same basis unless specifically provided otherwise by law. All real property shall be appraised at one hundred percent of its true and fair value in money and assessed as provided in section 105 of this act unless specifically provided otherwise by law. Taxable leasehold estates shall be valued at such price as they would bring at a fair, voluntary sale for cash without any deductions for any indebtedness owed including rentals to be paid. The true and fair value of real property for taxation purposes (including property upon which there is a coal or other mine, or stone or other quarry) shall be based upon the following criteria: (1) Any sales of the property being appraised or similar properties with respect to sales made within the past five years. The appraisal shall be consistent with the comprehensive land use plan, development regulations under chapter 36.70A RCW, zoning, and any other governmental policies or practices in effect at the time of appraisal that affect the use of property, as well as physical and environmental influences. The appraisal shall also take into account: (a) In the use of sales by real estate contract as similar sales, the extent, if any, to which the stated selling price has been increased by reason of the down payment, interest rate, or other financing terms; and (b) the extent to which the sale of a similar property actually represents the general effective market demand for property of such type, in the geographical area in which such property is located. Sales involving deed releases or similar seller-developer financing arrangements shall not be used as sales of similar property. (2) In addition to sales as defined in subsection (1) of this section, consideration may be given to cost, cost less depreciation, reconstruction cost less depreciation, or capitalization of income that would be derived from prudent use of the property. In the case of property of a complex nature, or being used under terms of a franchise from a public agency, or operating as a public utility, or property not having a record of sale within five years and not having a significant number of sales of similar property in the general area, the provisions of this subsection (2) shall be the dominant factors in valuation. When provisions of this subsection (2) are relied upon for establishing values the property owner shall be advised upon request of the factors used in arriving at such value. (3) In valuing any tract or parcel of real property, the true and fair value of the land, exclusive of structures thereon shall be determined; also the true and fair value of structures thereon, but the appraised valuation shall not exceed the true and fair value of the total property as it exists. In valuing agricultural land, growing crops shall be excluded. NEW SECTION. Sec. 105. A new section is added to chapter 84.40 RCW to read as follows: (1) As used in this section: (a) "Previous assessed value" means the assessed value for the year immediately preceding the year for which a calculation is being made under this section. (b) "Current appraised value" means the appraised value for the year for which a calculation is being made under this section. (c) "Total value increase" means the current appraised value minus the previous assessed value. Total value increase can never be less than zero. (d) "Improvement increase" means the portion of the total value increase attributable to any physical improvements made to the property since the previous assessment, other than improvements exempt under RCW 84.36.400 for the year for which a calculation is being made under this section. Improvement increase can never be less than zero. (e) "Market increase" means the total value increase minus the improvement increase. Market increase can never be less than zero. (2) The assessed value of property is equal to the lesser of the current appraised value or a limited value determined under this section. The limited value is equal to the greater of: (a) The improvement increase plus one hundred fifteen percent of the previous assessed value; or (b) The sum of: (i) The previous assessed value; (ii) The improvement increase; and (iii) Twenty-five percent of the market increase. (3) Upon loss of preferential tax treatment for property that qualifies for preferential tax treatment under chapter 84.14, 84.26, 84.33, 84.34, or 84.36 RCW, the previous assessed value shall be the assessed value the property would have had without the preferential tax treatment. Sec. 106. RCW 84.40.040 and 1988 c 222 s 15 are each amended to read as follows: The assessor shall begin the preliminary work for each assessment not later than the first day of December of each year in all counties in the state. The assessor shall also complete the duties of listing and placing valuations on all property by May 31st of each year, except that the listing and valuation of construction and mobile homes under RCW ((36.21.040 through) 36.21.080 and 36.21.090 shall be completed by August 31st of each year, and in the following manner, to wit: The assessor shall actually determine as nearly as practicable the true and fair value of each tract or lot of land listed for taxation and of each improvement located thereon and shall enter as the appraised value one hundred percent of the true and fair value of such land and of the total true and fair value of such improvements, together with the total of such one hundred percent valuations, opposite each description of property on the assessment list and tax roll. The assessor shall determine the assessed value, under section 105 of this act, for each tract or lot of land listed for taxation, including improvements located thereon, and shall also enter this value opposite each description of property on the assessment list and tax roll. The assessor shall make an alphabetical list of the names of all persons in the county liable to assessment of personal property, and require each person to make a correct list and statement of such property according to the standard form prescribed by the department of revenue, which statement and list shall include, if required by the form, the year of acquisition and total original cost of personal property in each category of the prescribed form, and shall be signed and verified under penalty of perjury by the person listing the property: PROVIDED, That the assessor may list and value improvements on publicly owned land in the same manner as real property is listed and valued, including conformance with the revaluation program required under chapter 84.41 RCW. Such list and statement shall be filed on or before the last day of April. The assessor shall on or before the 1st day of January of each year mail a notice to all such persons at their last known address that such statement and list is required, such notice to be accompanied by the form on which the statement or list is to be made: PROVIDED, That the notice mailed by the assessor to each taxpayer each year shall, if practicable, include the statement and list of personal property of the taxpayer for the preceding year. Upon receipt of such statement and list the assessor shall thereupon determine the true and fair value of the property included in such statement and enter one hundred percent of the same on the assessment roll opposite the name of the party assessed; and in making such entry in the assessment list, the assessor shall give the name and post office address of the party listing the property, and if the party resides in a city the assessor shall give the street and number or other brief description of the party's residence or place of business. The assessor may, after giving written notice of the action to the person to be assessed, add to the assessment list any taxable property which should be included in such list. Sec. 107. RCW 84.40.045 and 1994 c 301 s 36 are each amended to read as follows: The assessor shall give notice of any change in the ((true and fair)) assessed value of real property for the tract or lot of land and any improvements thereon no later than thirty days after appraisal: PROVIDED, That no such notice shall be mailed during the period from January 15 to February 15 of each year: PROVIDED FURTHER, That no notice need be sent with respect to changes in valuation of forest land made pursuant to chapter 84.33 RCW. The notice shall contain a statement of both the prior and the new ((true and fair)) appraised and assessed values ((and the ratio of the assessed value to the true and fair value on which the assessment of the property is based)), stating separately land and improvement appraised values, and a brief statement of the procedure for appeal to the board of equalization and the time, date, and place of the meetings of the board. The notice shall be mailed by the assessor to the taxpayer. If any taxpayer, as shown by the tax rolls, holds solely a security interest in the real property which is the subject of the notice, pursuant to a mortgage, contract of sale, or deed of trust, such taxpayer shall, upon written request of the assessor, supply, within thirty days of receipt of such request, to the assessor the name and address of the person making payments pursuant to the mortgage, contract of sale, or deed of trust, and thereafter such person shall also receive a copy of the notice provided for in this section. Willful failure to comply with such request within the time limitation provided for herein shall make such taxpayer subject to a maximum civil penalty of five thousand dollars. The penalties provided for herein shall be recoverable in an action by the county prosecutor, and when recovered shall be deposited in the county current expense fund. The assessor shall make the request provided for by this section during the month of January. Sec. 108. RCW 84.41.041 and 1987 c 319 s 4 are each amended to read as follows: Each county assessor shall cause taxable real property to be physically inspected and valued at least once every six years in accordance with RCW 84.41.030, and in accordance with a plan filed with and approved by the department of revenue. Such revaluation plan shall provide that a reasonable portion of all taxable real property within a county shall be revalued and these newly-determined values placed on the assessment rolls each year. The department may approve a plan that provides that all property in the county be revalued every two years. If the revaluation plan provides for physical inspection at least once each four years, during the intervals between each physical inspection of real property, the appraised valuation of such property may be adjusted to its current true and fair value, such adjustments to be based upon appropriate statistical data. If the revaluation plan provides for physical inspection less frequently than once each four years, during the intervals between each physical inspection of real property, the appraised valuation of such property shall be adjusted to its current true and fair value, such adjustments to be made once each year and to be based upon appropriate statistical data. If the appraised valuation is changed, the assessed value shall be recalculated under section 105 of this act. The assessor may require property owners to submit pertinent data respecting taxable property in their control including data respecting any sale or purchase of said property within the past five years, the cost and characteristics of any improvement on the property and other facts necessary for appraisal of the property. Sec. 109. RCW 84.48.010 and 1988 c 222 s 20 are each amended to read as follows: Prior to July 15th, the county legislative authority shall form a board for the equalization of the assessment of the property of the county. The members of said board shall receive a per diem amount as set by the county legislative authority for each day of actual attendance of the meeting of the board of equalization to be paid out of the current expense fund of the county: PROVIDED, That when the county legislative authority constitute the board they shall only receive their compensation as members of the county legislative authority. The board of equalization shall meet in open session for this purpose annually on the 15th day of July and, having each taken an oath fairly and impartially to perform their duties as members of such board, they shall examine and compare the returns of the assessment of the property of the county and proceed to equalize the same, so that the appraised value of each tract or lot of real property and each article or class of personal property shall be entered on the assessment list at its true and fair value, according to the measure of value used by the county assessor in such assessment year, ((which is presumed to be correct pursuant to RCW 84.40.0301)) and so that the assessed value of each tract or lot of real property is entered on the assessment list at its correct amount, and subject to the following rules: First. They shall raise the appraised valuation of each tract or lot or item of real property which is returned below its true and fair value to such price or sum as to be the true and fair value thereof, and raise the assessed valuation of each tract or lot or item of real property which is returned below its correct amount to the correct amount after at least five days' notice shall have been given in writing to the owner or agent. Second. They shall reduce the appraised valuation of each tract or lot or item which is returned above its true and fair value to such price or sum as to be the true and fair value thereof and reduce the assessed valuation of each tract or lot or item of real property which is returned above its correct amount to the correct amount. Third. They shall raise the valuation of each class of personal property which is returned below its true and fair value to such price or sum as to be the true and fair value thereof, and they shall raise the aggregate value of the personal property of each individual whenever the aggregate value is less than the true valuation of the taxable personal property possessed by such individual, to such sum or amount as to be the true value thereof, after at least five days' notice shall have been given in writing to the owner or agent thereof. Fourth. They shall reduce the valuation of each class of personal property enumerated on the detail and assessment list of the current year, which is returned above its true and fair value, to such price or sum as to be the true and fair value thereof; and they shall reduce the aggregate valuation of the personal property of such individual who has been assessed at too large a sum to such sum or amount as was the true and fair value of the personal property. Fifth. The board may review all claims for either real or personal property tax exemption as determined by the county assessor, and shall consider any taxpayer appeals from the decision of the assessor thereon to determine (1) if the taxpayer is entitled to an exemption, and (2) if so, the amount thereof. The clerk of the board shall keep an accurate journal or record of the proceedings and orders of said board showing the facts and evidence upon which their action is based, and the said record shall be published the same as other proceedings of county legislative authority, and shall make a true record of the changes of the descriptions and ((assessed)) appraised values ordered by the county board of equalization. The assessor shall recalculate assessed values and correct the real and personal assessment rolls in accordance with the changes made by the said county board of equalization, and the assessor shall make duplicate abstracts of such corrected values, one copy of which shall be retained in the office, and one copy forwarded to the department of revenue on or before the eighteenth day of August next following the meeting of the county board of equalization. The county board of equalization shall meet on the 15th day of July and may continue in session and adjourn from time to time during a period not to exceed four weeks, but shall remain in session not less than three days: PROVIDED, That the county board of equalization with the approval of the county legislative authority may convene at any time when petitions filed exceed twenty-five, or ten percent of the number of appeals filed in the preceding year, whichever is greater. No taxes, except special taxes, shall be extended upon the tax rolls until the property valuations are equalized by the department of revenue for the purpose of raising the state revenue. County legislative authorities as such shall at no time have any authority to change the valuation of the property of any person or to release or commute in whole or in part the taxes due on the property of any person. Sec. 110. RCW 84.48.065 and 1996 c 296 s 1 are each amended to read as follows: (1) The county assessor or treasurer may cancel or correct assessments on the assessment or tax rolls which are erroneous due to manifest errors in description, double assessments, clerical errors in extending the rolls, clerical errors in calculating the assessed value under section 105 of this act, and such manifest errors in the listing of the property which do not involve a revaluation of property, except in the case that a taxpayer produces proof that an authorized land use authority has made a definitive change in the property's land use designation. In such a case, correction of the assessment or tax rolls may be made notwithstanding the fact that the action involves a revaluation of property. Manifest errors that do not involve a revaluation of property include the assessment of property exempted by law from taxation or the failure to deduct the exemption allowed by law to the head of a family. When the county assessor cancels or corrects an assessment, the assessor shall send a notice to the taxpayer in accordance with RCW 84.40.045, advising the taxpayer that the action has been taken and notifying the taxpayer of the right to appeal the cancellation or correction to the county board of equalization, in accordance with RCW 84.40.038. When the county assessor or treasurer cancels or corrects an assessment, a record of such action shall be prepared, setting forth therein the facts relating to the error. The record shall also set forth by legal description all property belonging exclusively to the state, any county, or any municipal corporation whose property is exempt from taxation, upon which there remains, according to the tax roll, any unpaid taxes. No manifest error cancellation or correction, including a cancellation or correction made due to a definitive change of land use designation, shall be made for any period more than three years preceding the year in which the error is discovered. (2)(a) In the case of a definitive change of land use designation, an assessor shall make corrections that involve a revaluation of property to the assessment roll when: (i) The assessor and taxpayer have signed an agreement as to the true and fair value of the taxpayer's property setting forth in the agreement the valuation information upon which the agreement is based; and (ii) The assessment roll has previously been certified in accordance with RCW 84.40.320. (b) In all other cases, an assessor shall make corrections that involve a revaluation of property to the assessment roll when: (i) The assessor and taxpayer have signed an agreement as to the true and fair value of the taxpayer's property setting forth in the agreement the valuation information upon which the agreement is based; and (ii) The following conditions are met: (A) The assessment roll has previously been certified in accordance with RCW 84.40.320; (B) The taxpayer has timely filed a petition with the county board of equalization pursuant to RCW 84.40.038 for the current assessment year; (C) The county board of equalization has not yet held a hearing on the merits of the taxpayer's petition. (3) The assessor shall issue a supplementary roll or rolls including such cancellations and corrections, and the assessment and levy shall have the same force and effect as if made in the first instance, and the county treasurer shall proceed to collect the taxes due on the rolls as modified. Sec. 111. RCW

84.48.075 and 1988 c 222 s 23 are each amended to read as follows: (1) The department of revenue shall annually, prior to the first Monday in September, determine and submit to each assessor a preliminary indicated ratio for each county: PROVIDED, That the department shall establish rules and regulations pertinent to the determination of the indicated ratio, the indicated real property ratio and the indicated personal property ratio: PROVIDED FURTHER, That these rules and regulations may provide that data, as is necessary for said determination, which is available from the county assessor of any county and which has been audited as to its validity by the department, shall be utilized by the department in determining the indicated ratio. (2) To such extent as is reasonable, the department may define use classes of property for the purposes of determination of the indicated ratio. Such use classes may be defined with respect to property use and may include agricultural, open space, timber and forest lands. (3) The department shall review each county's preliminary ratio with the assessor, a landowner, or an owner of an intercounty public utility or private car company of that county, if requested by the assessor, a landowner, or an owner of an intercounty public utility or private car company of that county, respectively, between the first and third Mondays of September. Prior to equalization of assessments pursuant to RCW 84.48.080 and after the third Monday of September, the department shall certify to each county assessor the real and personal property ratio for that county. (4) The department of revenue shall also examine procedures used by the assessor to assess real and personal property in the county, including calculations, use of prescribed value schedules, and efforts to locate all taxable property in the county. If any examination by the department discloses other than market value is being listed as appraised value on the county assessment rolls of the county by the assessor and, after due notification by the department, is not corrected, the department of revenue shall, in accordance with rules adopted by the department, adjust the ratio of that type of property, which adjustment shall be used for determining the county's indicated ratio. Sec. 112. RCW 84.48.080 and 1995 2nd sp.s. c 13 s 3 are each amended to read as follows: (1) Annually during the months of September and October, the department of revenue shall examine and compare the returns of the assessment of the property in the several counties of the state, and the assessment of the property of railroad and other companies assessed by the department, and proceed to equalize the same, so that each county in the state shall pay its due and just proportion of the taxes for state purposes for such assessment year, according to the ratio the assessed valuation of the property in each county bears to the correct total assessed valuation of all property in the state. First. The department shall classify all property, real and personal, and shall raise and lower the assessed valuation of any class of property in any county to a value that shall be equal, so far as possible, to the ((~~true and fair~~)) correct assessed value of such class as of January 1st of the current year, after determining the correct appraised value, and any adjustment applicable under section 105 of this act for the property, for the purpose of ascertaining the just amount of tax due from each county for state purposes. In equalizing personal property as of January 1st of the current year, the department shall use the assessment level of the preceding year. Such classification may be on the basis of types of property, geographical areas, or both. For purposes of this section, for each county that has not provided the department with an assessment return by December 1st, the department shall proceed, using facts and information and in a manner it deems appropriate, to estimate the value of each class of property in the county. Second. The department shall keep a full record of its proceedings and the same shall be published annually by the department. (2) The department shall levy the state taxes authorized by law. The amount levied in any one year for general state purposes shall not exceed the lawful dollar rate on the dollar of the assessed value of the property of the entire state(~~(, which assessed value shall be one hundred percent of the true and fair value of such property in money))~~ as equalized under this section). The department shall apportion the amount of tax for state purposes levied by the department, among the several counties, in proportion to the assessed valuation of the taxable property of the county for the year as equalized by the department: PROVIDED, That for purposes of this apportionment, the department shall recompute the previous year's levy and the apportionment thereof to correct for changes and errors in taxable values reported to the department after October 1 of the preceding year and shall adjust the apportioned amount of the current year's state levy for each county by the difference between the apportioned amounts established by the original and revised levy computations for the previous year. For purposes of this section, changes in taxable values mean a final adjustment made by a county board of equalization, the state board of tax appeals, or a court of competent jurisdiction and shall include additions of omitted property, other additions or deletions from the assessment or tax rolls, any assessment return provided by a county to the department subsequent to December 1st, or a change in the indicated ratio of a county. Errors in taxable values mean errors corrected by a final reviewing body. In addition to computing a levy under this subsection that is reduced under RCW 84.55.012, the department shall compute a hypothetical levy without regard to the reduction under RCW 84.55.012. This hypothetical levy shall also be apportioned among the several counties in proportion to the valuation of the taxable property of the county for the year, as equalized by the department, in the same manner as the actual levy and shall be used by the county assessors for the purpose of recomputing and establishing a consolidated levy under RCW 84.52.010. (3) The department shall have authority to adopt rules and regulations to enforce obedience to its orders in all matters in relation to the returns of county assessments, the equalization of values, and the apportionment of the state levy by the department. (4) After the completion of the duties prescribed in this section, the director of the department shall certify the record of the proceedings of the department under this section, the tax levies made for state purposes and the apportionment thereof among the counties, and the certification shall be available for public inspection. Sec. 113. RCW 84.12.270 and 1994 c 301 s 20 are each amended to read as follows: The department of revenue shall annually make an assessment of the operating property of all companies; and between the fifteenth day of March and the first day of July of each of said years shall prepare an assessment roll upon which it shall enter ((~~and assess~~)) the ((~~true and fair~~)) assessed value of all the operating property of each of such companies as of the first day of January of the year in which the assessment is made. For the purpose of determining the ((~~true and fair~~)) assessed value of such property the department of revenue may inspect the property belonging to said companies and may take into consideration any information or knowledge obtained by it from such examination and inspection of such property, or of the books, records and accounts of such companies, the statements filed as required by this chapter, the reports, statements or returns of such companies filed in the office of any board, office or commission of this state or any county thereof, the earnings and earning power of such companies, the franchises owned or used by such companies, the assessed valuation of any and all property of such companies, whether operating or nonoperating property, and whether situated within or outside the state, and any other facts, evidence or information that may be obtainable bearing upon the value of the operating property: PROVIDED, That in no event shall any statement or report required from any company by this chapter be conclusive upon the department of revenue in determining the amount, character and ((~~true and fair~~)) assessed value of the operating property of such company. Sec. 114. RCW 84.12.280 and 1987 c 153 s 2 are each amended to read as follows: (1) In making the assessment of the operating property of any railroad or logging railroad company and in the apportionment of the values and the taxation thereof, all land occupied and claimed exclusively as the right-of-way for railroads, with all the tracks and substructures and superstructures which support the same, together with all side tracks, second tracks, turn-outs, station houses, depots, round houses, machine shops, or other buildings belonging to the company, used in the operation thereof, without separating the same into land and improvements, shall be assessed as real property. And the rolling stock and other movable property belonging to any railroad or logging railroad company shall be considered as personal property and taxed as such: PROVIDED, That all of the operating property of street railway companies shall be assessed and taxed as personal property. (2) All of the operating property of airplane companies, telegraph companies, pipe line companies, water companies and toll bridge companies; the floating equipment of steamboat companies, and all of the operating property other than lands and buildings of electric light and power companies, telephone companies, gas companies and heating companies shall be assessed and taxed as personal property. (3) Notwithstanding subsections (1) and (2) of this section, the limit provided under section 105 of this act shall be applied in the assessment of property under this section to the same extent as that limit is generally applied to property not assessed under this chapter. Sec. 115. RCW 84.12.310 and 1994 c 301 s 21 are each amended to read as follows: For the purpose of determining the system value of the operating property of any such company, the department of revenue shall deduct from the ~~((true and fair))~~ assessed value of the total assets of such company, the ~~((actual-cash))~~ assessed value of all nonoperating property owned by such company. For such purpose the department of revenue may require of the assessors of the various counties within this state a detailed list of such company's properties assessed by them, together with the assessable or assessed value thereof: PROVIDED, That such assessed or assessable value shall be advisory only and not conclusive on the department of revenue as to the value thereof. Sec. 116. RCW 84.12.330 and 1994 c 301 s 22 are each amended to read as follows: Upon the assessment roll shall be placed after the name of each company a general description of the operating property of the company, which shall be considered sufficient if described in the language of ~~((subdivision (17) of))~~ RCW 84.12.200(13), as applied to ~~((said))~~ the company, following which shall be entered the ~~((true and fair))~~ assessed value of the operating property as determined by the department of revenue. No assessment shall be invalidated by reason of a mistake in the name of the company assessed, or the omission of the name of the owner or by the entry as owner of a name other than that of the true owner. When the department of revenue shall have prepared the assessment roll and entered thereon the ~~((true and fair))~~ assessed value of the operating property of the company, as herein required, it shall notify the company by mail of the valuation determined by it and entered upon ~~((said))~~ the roll. Sec. 117. RCW 84.12.350 and 1994 c 301 s 23 are each amended to read as follows: Upon determination by the department of revenue of the ~~((true and fair))~~ assessed value of the property appearing on such rolls it shall apportion such value to the respective counties entitled thereto, as hereinafter provided, and shall determine the equalized assessed valuation of such property in each such county and in the several taxing districts therein, by applying to such actual apportioned value the same ratio as the ratio of assessed to ~~((actual))~~ the correct assessed value of the general property in such county: PROVIDED, That, whenever the amount of the true and correct assessed value of the operating property of any company otherwise apportionable to any county or other taxing district shall be less than two hundred fifty dollars, such amount need not be apportioned to such county or taxing district but may be added to the amount apportioned to an adjacent county or taxing district. Sec. 118. RCW 84.12.360 and 1994 c 301 s 24 are each amended to read as follows: The ~~((true and fair))~~ value of the operating property assessed to a company, as fixed and determined by the department of revenue, shall be apportioned by the department of revenue to the respective counties and to the taxing districts thereof wherein such property is located in the following manner: (1) Property of all railroad companies other than street railroad companies, telegraph companies and pipe line companies—upon the basis of that proportion of the value of the total operating property within the state which the mileage of track, as classified by the department of revenue (in case of railroads), mileage of wire (in the case of telegraph companies), and mileage of pipe line (in the case of pipe line companies) within each county or taxing district bears to the total mileage thereof within the state, at the end of the calendar year last past. For the purpose of such apportionment the department may classify railroad track. (2) Property of street railroad companies, telephone companies, electric light and power companies, gas companies, water companies, heating companies and toll bridge companies—upon the basis of relative value of the operating property within each county and taxing district to the value of the total operating property within the state to be determined by such factors as the department of revenue shall deem proper. (3) Planes or other aircraft of airplane companies and watercraft of steamboat companies—upon the basis of such factor or factors of allocation, to be determined by the department of revenue, as will secure a substantially fair and equitable division between counties and other taxing districts. All other property of airplane companies and steamboat companies—upon the basis set forth in subsection (2) of this section. The basis of apportionment with reference to all public utility companies above prescribed shall not be deemed exclusive and the department of revenue in apportioning values of such companies may also take into consideration such other information, facts, circumstances, or allocation factors as will enable it to make a substantially just and correct valuation of the operating property of such companies within the state and within each county thereof. Sec. 119. RCW 84.16.040 and 1994 c 301 s 26 are each amended to read as follows: The department of revenue shall annually make an assessment of the operating property of each private car company; and between the first day of May and the first day of July of each of said years shall prepare an assessment roll upon which it shall enter ~~((and assess))~~ the ~~((true and fair))~~ assessed value of all the operating property of each of such companies as of the first day of January of the year in which the assessment is made. For the purpose of determining the ~~((true and fair))~~ assessed value of such property the department of revenue may take into consideration any information or knowledge obtained by it from an examination and inspection of such property, or of the books, records and accounts of such companies, the statements filed as required by this chapter, the reports, statements or returns of such companies filed in the office of any board, office or commission of this state or any county thereof, the earnings and earning power of such companies, the franchises owned or used by such companies, the assessed valuation of any and all property of such companies, whether operating property or nonoperating property, and whether situated within or without the state, and any other facts, evidences or information that may be obtainable bearing upon the value of the operating property: PROVIDED, That in no event shall any statement or report required from any company by this chapter be conclusive upon the department of revenue in determining the amount, character and ~~((true and fair))~~ assessed value of the operating property of such company. Sec. 120. RCW 84.16.050 and 1994 c 301 s 27 are each amended to read as follows: The department of revenue may, in determining the ~~((true and fair))~~ assessed value of the operating property to be placed on the assessment roll value the entire property as a unit. If the company owns, leases, operates or uses property partly within and partly without the state, the department of revenue may determine the value of the operating property within this state by the proportion that the value of such property bears to the value of the entire operating property of the company, both within and without this state. In determining the operating property which is located within this state the department of revenue may consider and base such determination on the proportion which the number of car miles of the various classes of cars made in this state bears to the total number of car miles made by the same cars within and without this state, or to the total number of car miles made by all cars of the various classes within and without this state. If the value of the operating property of the company cannot be fairly determined in such manner the department of revenue may use any other reasonable and fair method to determine the value of the operating property of the company within this state. Sec. 121. RCW 84.16.090 and 1994 c 301 s 28 are each amended to read as follows: Upon the assessment roll shall be placed after the name of each company a general description of the operating property of the company, which shall be considered sufficient if described in the language of ~~((subsection (3) of))~~ RCW 84.16.010(3) or otherwise, following which shall be entered the ~~((true and fair))~~ assessed value of the operating property as determined by the department of revenue. No assessment shall be invalid by a mistake in the name of the company assessed, by omission of the name of the owner or by the entry of a name other than that of the true owner. When the department of revenue shall have prepared the assessment roll and entered thereon the ~~((true and fair))~~ assessed value of the operating property of the company, as ~~((herein))~~ required, it shall notify the company by mail of the valuation determined by it and entered upon ~~((said))~~ the roll; and thereupon such assessed valuation shall become the ~~((true and fair))~~ assessed value of the operating property of the company, subject to revision or correction by the department of revenue as hereinafter provided; and shall be the valuation upon which, after equalization by the department of revenue as hereinafter provided, the taxes of such company shall be based and computed. Sec. 122. RCW 84.16.110 and 1994 c 301 s 29 are each amended to read as follows: Upon determination by the department of revenue of the ~~((fair))~~ correct assessed value of the property appearing on such rolls the department shall apportion such value to the respective counties entitled thereto as hereinafter provided, and shall determine the equalized or assessed valuation of such property in such counties by applying to such actual apportioned value the same ratio as the ratio of assessed to ~~((actual))~~ the correct assessed value of the general property of the respective counties: PROVIDED, That, whenever the amount of the true and correct assessed value of the operating property of any company otherwise apportionable to any county shall be less than two hundred fifty dollars, such amount need not be apportioned to such county but may be added to the amount apportioned to an adjacent county. Sec. 123. RCW 84.16.120 and 1994 c 301 s 30 are each amended to read as follows: The ~~((true and fair))~~ assessed value of the property of each company as fixed and determined by the department of revenue as herein provided shall be apportioned to the respective counties in the following manner: (1) If all the operating property of the company is situated entirely within a county and none of such property is located within, extends into, or through or is operated into or through any other county, the entire value thereof shall be apportioned to the county within which such property is ~~((situate [situated]))~~ situated, located, and operated. (2) If the operating property of any company is situated or located within, extends into or is operated into or through more than one county, the value thereof shall be apportioned to the respective counties into or through which its cars are operated in the proportion that the length of main line track of the respective railroads moving such cars in such counties bears to the total length of main line track of such respective railroads in this state. (3) If the property of any company is of such character that it will not be reasonable, feasible or fair to apportion the value as hereinabove provided, the value thereof shall be apportioned between the respective counties into or through which such property extends or is operated or in which the same is located in such manner as may be reasonable, feasible and fair. Sec. 124. RCW 84.36.041 and 1993 c 151 s 1 are each amended to read as follows: (1) All real and personal property used by a nonprofit home for the aging that is reasonably necessary for the purposes of the home is exempt from taxation if the benefit of the exemption inures to the home and: (a) At least fifty percent of the occupied dwelling units in the home are occupied by eligible residents; or (b) The home is subsidized under a federal department of housing and urban development program. The department of revenue shall provide by rule a definition of homes eligible for exemption under this subsection (b), consistent with the purposes of this section. (2) All real and personal property used by a nonprofit home for the aging that is reasonably necessary for the purposes of the home is exempt from taxation if the benefit of the exemption inures to the home and the construction, rehabilitation, acquisition, or refinancing of the home is financed under a program using bonds exempt from federal income tax if at least seventy-five percent of the total amount financed uses the tax exempt bonds and the financing program requires the home to reserve a percentage of all dwelling units so financed for low-income residents. The initial term of the exemption under this subsection shall equal the term of the tax exempt bond used in connection with the financing program, or the term of the requirement to reserve dwelling units for low-income residents, whichever is shorter. If the financing program involves less than the entire home, only those dwelling units included in the financing program are eligible for total exemption. The department of revenue shall provide by rule the requirements for monitoring compliance with the provisions of this subsection and the requirements for exemption including: (a) The number or percentage of dwelling units required to be occupied by low-income residents, and a definition of low income; (b) The type and character of the dwelling units, whether independent units or otherwise; and (c) Any particular requirements for continuing care retirement communities. (3) A home for the aging is eligible for a partial exemption on the real property and a total exemption for the home's personal property if the home does not meet the requirements of subsection (1) of this section because fewer than fifty percent of the occupied dwelling units are occupied by eligible residents, as follows: (a) A partial exemption shall be allowed for each dwelling unit in a home occupied by a resident requiring assistance with activities of daily living. (b) A partial exemption shall be allowed for each dwelling unit in a home occupied by an eligible resident. (c) A partial exemption shall be allowed for an area jointly used by a home for the aging and by a nonprofit organization, association, or corporation currently exempt from property taxation under one of the other provisions of this chapter. The shared area must be reasonably necessary for the purposes of the nonprofit organization, association, or corporation exempt from property taxation under one of the other provisions of this chapter, such as kitchen, dining, and laundry areas. (d) The amount of exemption shall be calculated by multiplying the assessed value of the property reasonably necessary for the purposes of the home, less the assessed value of any area exempt under (c) of this subsection, by a fraction. The numerator of the fraction is the number of dwelling units occupied by eligible residents and by residents requiring assistance with activities of daily living. The denominator of the fraction is the total number of occupied dwelling units as of January 1st of the year for which exemption is claimed. (4) To be exempt under this section, the property must be used exclusively for the purposes for which the exemption is granted, except as provided in RCW 84.36.805. (5) A home for the aging is exempt from taxation only if the organization operating the home is exempt from income tax under section 501(c) of the federal internal revenue code as existing on January 1, 1989, or such subsequent date as the director may provide by rule consistent with the purposes of this section.

(6) In order for the home to be eligible for exemption under subsections (1)(a) and (2)(b) of this section, each eligible resident of a home for the aging shall submit an income verification form to the county assessor by July 1st of the assessment year in which the application for exemption is made. The income verification form shall be prescribed and furnished by the department of revenue. An eligible resident who has filed a form for a previous year need not file a new form until there is a change in status affecting the person's eligibility. (7) In determining the ~~((true and fair))~~ assessed value of a home for the aging for purposes of the partial exemption provided by subsection (3) of this section, the assessor shall apply the computation method provided by RCW 84.34.060 and shall consider only the use to which such property is applied during the years for which such partial exemptions are available and shall not consider potential uses of such property. (8) A home for the aging that was exempt or partially exempt for taxes levied in 1993 for collection in 1994 is partially exempt for taxes levied in 1994 for collection in 1995, has an increase in taxable value for taxes levied in 1994 for collection in 1995 due to the change prescribed by chapter 151, Laws of 1993 with respect to the numerator of the fraction used to determine the amount of a partial exemption, and is not fully exempt under this section is entitled to partial exemptions as follows: (a) For taxes levied in 1994 for collection in 1995, the home shall pay taxes based upon the taxable value in 1993 plus one-third of the increase in the taxable value from 1993 to the nonexempt value calculated under subsection (3)(d) of this section for 1994. (b) For taxes levied in 1995 for collection in 1996, the home shall pay taxes based upon the taxable value for 1994 as calculated in (a) of this subsection plus one-half of the increase in the taxable value from 1994 to the nonexempt value calculated under subsection (3)(d) of this section for 1995. For taxes levied in 1996 for collection in 1997 and for taxes levied thereafter, this subsection (8) does not apply, and the home shall pay taxes without reference to this subsection (8). (c) For purposes of this subsection (8), "taxable value" means the value of the home upon which the tax rate is applied in order to determine the amount of taxes due. (9) As used in this section: (a) "Eligible resident" means a person who: (i) Occupied the dwelling unit as a principal place of residence as of January 1st of the year for which the exemption is claimed. Confinement of the person to a hospital or nursing home does not disqualify the claim of exemption if the dwelling unit is temporarily unoccupied or if the dwelling unit is occupied by a spouse, a person financially dependent on the claimant for support, or both; and (ii) Is sixty-one years of age or older on December 31st of the year in which the exemption claim is filed, or is, at the time of filing, retired from regular gainful employment by reason of physical disability. Any surviving spouse of a person who was receiving an exemption at the time of the person's death shall qualify if the surviving spouse is fifty-seven years of age or older and otherwise meets the requirements of this subsection; and (iii) Has a combined disposable income of no more than the greater of twenty-two thousand dollars or eighty percent of the median income adjusted for family size as most recently determined by the federal department of housing and urban development for the county in which the person resides. For the purposes of determining eligibility under this section, a "cotentant" means a person who resides with an eligible resident and who shares personal financial resources with the eligible resident. (b) "Combined disposable income" means the disposable income of the person submitting the income verification form, plus the disposable income of his or her spouse, and the disposable income of each cotenant occupying the dwelling unit for the preceding calendar year, less amounts paid by the person submitting the income verification form or his or her spouse or cotenant during the previous year for the treatment or care of either person received in the dwelling unit or in a nursing home. If the person submitting the income verification form was retired for two months or more of the preceding year, the combined disposable income of such person shall be calculated by multiplying the average monthly combined disposable income of such person during the months such person was retired by twelve. If the income of the person submitting the income verification form is reduced for two or more months of the preceding year by reason of the death of the person's spouse, the combined disposable income of such person shall be calculated by multiplying the average monthly combined disposable income of such person after the death of the spouse by twelve. (c) "Disposable income" means adjusted gross income as defined in the federal internal revenue code, as amended prior to January 1, 1989, or such subsequent date as the director may provide by rule consistent with the purpose of this section, plus all of the following items to the extent they are not included in or have been deducted from adjusted gross income: (i) Capital gains, other than nonrecognized gain on the sale of a principal residence under section 1034 of the federal internal revenue code, or gain excluded from income under section 121 of the federal internal revenue code to the extent it is reinvested in a new principal residence; (ii) Amounts deducted for loss; (iii) Amounts deducted for depreciation; (iv) Pension and annuity receipts; (v) Military pay and benefits other than attendant-care and medical-aid payments; (vi) Veterans benefits other than attendant-care and medical-aid payments; (vii) Federal social security act and railroad retirement benefits; (viii) Dividend receipts; and (ix) Interest received on state and municipal bonds. (d) "Resident requiring assistance with activities of daily living" means a person who requires significant assistance with the activities of daily living and who would be at risk of nursing home placement without this assistance. (e) "Home for the aging" means a residential housing facility that (i) provides a housing arrangement chosen voluntarily by the resident, the resident's guardian or conservator, or another responsible person; (ii) has only residents who are at least sixty-one years of age or who have needs for care generally compatible with persons who are at least sixty-one years of age; and (iii) provides varying levels of care and supervision, as agreed to at the time of admission or as determined necessary at subsequent times of reappraisal. (10) A for-profit home for the aging that converts to nonprofit status after June 11, 1992, and would otherwise be eligible for tax exemption under this section may not receive the tax exemption until five years have elapsed since the conversion. The exemption shall then be ratably granted over the next five years. Sec. 125. RCW 84.52.063 and 1973 1st ex. s. c 195 s 105 are each amended to read as follows: A rural library district may impose a regular property tax levy in an amount equal to that which would be produced by a levy of fifty cents per thousand dollars of assessed value multiplied by an equalized assessed valuation (~~(equal to one hundred percent of the true and fair value of the taxable property in the rural library district))~~, as determined by the department of revenue's indicated county ratio: PROVIDED, That when any county assessor shall find that the aggregate rate of levy on any property will exceed the limitation set forth in RCW 84.52.043 and ~~((RCW))~~ 84.52.050, as now or hereafter amended, before recomputing and establishing a consolidated levy in the manner set forth in RCW 84.52.010, the assessor shall first reduce the levy of any rural library district, by such amount as may be necessary, but the levy of any rural library district shall not be reduced to less than fifty cents per thousand dollars against the value of the taxable property, as determined by the county, prior to any further adjustments pursuant to RCW 84.52.010. For purposes of this section "regular property tax levy" shall mean a levy subject to the limitations provided for in Article VII, section 2 of the state Constitution and/or by statute. Sec. 126. RCW 84.70.010 and 1994 c 301 s 56 are each amended to read as follows: (1) If, on or before December 31 in any calendar year, any real or personal property placed upon the assessment roll of that year is destroyed in whole or in part, or is in an area that has been declared a disaster area by the governor and has been reduced in value by more than twenty percent as a result of a natural disaster, the ~~((true and fair))~~ assessed value of such property shall be reduced for that year by an amount determined as follows: (a) First take the ~~((true and fair))~~ assessed value of such taxable property before destruction or reduction in value and deduct therefrom the true and fair value of the remaining property after destruction or reduction in value. (b) Then divide any amount remaining by the number of days in the year and multiply the quotient by the number of days remaining in the calendar year after the date of the destruction or reduction in value of the property. (2) No reduction in the ~~((true and fair))~~ assessed value shall be made more than three years after the date of destruction or reduction in value. (3) The assessor shall make such reduction on his or her own motion; however, the taxpayer may make application for reduction on forms prepared by the department and provided by the assessor. The assessor shall notify the taxpayer of the amount of reduction. (4) If destroyed property is replaced prior to the valuation dates contained in RCW 36.21.080 and 36.21.090, the total taxable value for that year shall not exceed the value as of the appropriate valuation date in RCW 36.21.080 or 36.21.090, whichever is appropriate. (5) The taxpayer may appeal the amount of reduction to the county board of equalization within thirty days of notification or July 1st of the year of reduction, whichever is later. The board shall reconvene, if necessary, to hear the appeal. PART III 06 PERCENT LIMIT Sec. 201. RCW 84.55.005 and 1994 c 301 s 49 are each amended to read as follows: As used in this chapter ~~((, the term))~~: (1) "Inflation" means the percentage change in the implicit price deflator for personal consumption expenditures for the United States as published for the most recent twelve-month period by the bureau of economic analysis of the federal department of commerce in September of the year before the taxes are payable; (2) "Limit factor" means: (a) For taxing districts with a population of less than ten thousand in the calendar year prior to the assessment year, one hundred six percent; (b) For taxing districts for which a limit factor is authorized under section 204 of this act, the lesser of the limit factor authorized under that section or one hundred six percent; (c) For all other districts, the lesser of one hundred six percent or one hundred percent plus inflation; and (3) "Regular property taxes" has the meaning given it in RCW 84.04.140, and also includes amounts received in lieu of regular property taxes. Sec. 202. RCW 84.55.010 and 1979 ex.s. c 218 s 2 are each amended to read as follows: Except as provided in this chapter, the levy for a taxing district in any year shall be set so that the regular property taxes payable in the following year shall not exceed ~~((one hundred six percent of))~~ the limit factor multiplied by the amount of regular property taxes lawfully levied for such district in the highest of the three most recent years in which such taxes were levied for such district plus an additional dollar amount calculated by multiplying the increase in assessed value in that district resulting from new construction, improvements to property, and any increase in the assessed value of state-assessed property by the regular property tax levy rate of that district for the preceding year. Sec. 203. RCW 84.55.020 and 1971 ex.s. c 288 s 21 are each amended to read as follows: Notwithstanding the limitation set forth in RCW 84.55.010, the first levy for a taxing district created from consolidation of similar taxing districts shall be set so that the regular property taxes payable in the following year shall not exceed ~~((one hundred six percent of))~~ the limit factor multiplied by the sum of the amount of regular property taxes lawfully levied for each component taxing district in the highest of the three most recent years in which such taxes were levied for such district plus the additional dollar amount calculated by multiplying the increase in assessed value in each component district resulting from new construction and improvements to property by the regular property tax rate of each component district for the preceding year. NEW SECTION. Sec. 204. A new section is added to chapter 84.55 RCW to read as follows: Upon a finding of substantial need, the legislative authority of a taxing district other than the state may provide for the use of a limit factor under this chapter of one hundred six percent or less. In districts with legislative authorities of four members or less, two-thirds of the members must approve an ordinance or resolution under this section. In districts with more than four members, a majority plus one vote must approve an ordinance or resolution under this section. The new limit factor shall be effective for taxes collected in the following year only. Sec. 205. RCW 35.61.210 and 1990 c 234 s 3 are each amended to read as follows: The board of park commissioners may levy or cause to be levied a general tax on all the property located in said park district each year not to exceed fifty cents per thousand dollars of assessed value of the property in such park district. In addition, the board of park commissioners may levy or cause to be levied a general tax on all property located in said park district each year not to exceed twenty-five cents per thousand dollars of assessed valuation. Although park districts are authorized to impose two separate regular property tax levies, the levies shall be considered to be a single levy for purposes of the ~~((one hundred six percent))~~ limitation provided for in chapter 84.55 RCW. The board is hereby authorized to levy a general tax in excess of its regular property tax levy or levies when authorized so to do at a special election conducted in accordance with and subject to all the requirements of the Constitution and laws of the state now in force or hereafter enacted governing the limitation of tax levies. The board is hereby authorized to call a special election for the purpose of submitting to the qualified voters of the park district a proposition to levy a tax in excess of the seventy-five cents per thousand dollars of assessed value herein specifically authorized. The manner of submitting any such proposition, of certifying the same, and of giving or publishing notice thereof, shall be as provided by law for the submission of propositions by cities or towns. The board shall include in its general tax levy for each year a sufficient sum to pay the interest on all outstanding bonds and may include a sufficient amount to create a sinking fund for the redemption of all outstanding bonds. The levy shall be certified to the proper county officials for collection the same as other general taxes and when collected, the general tax shall be placed in a separate fund in the office of the county treasurer to be known as the "metropolitan park district fund" and paid out on warrants. Sec. 206. RCW 70.44.060 and 1990 c 234 s 2 are each amended to read as follows: All public hospital districts organized under the provisions of this chapter shall have power: (1) To make a survey of existing hospital and other health care facilities within and without such district. (2) To construct, condemn and purchase, purchase, acquire, lease, add to, maintain, operate, develop and regulate, sell and convey all lands, property, property rights, equipment, hospital and other health care facilities and systems for the maintenance of hospitals, buildings, structures, and any and all other facilities, and to exercise the right of eminent domain to effectuate the foregoing purposes or for the acquisition and damaging of the same or property of any kind appurtenant thereto, and such right of eminent domain shall be exercised and instituted pursuant to a resolution of the commission and conducted in the same manner and by the same procedure as in or may be provided by law for the exercise of the power of eminent domain by incorporated cities and towns of the state of Washington in the acquisition of property rights: PROVIDED, That no public hospital district shall have the right of eminent domain and the power of condemnation against any health care facility. (3) To lease existing hospital and other health care facilities and equipment and/or other property used in connection therewith, including ambulances, and to pay such rental therefor as the commissioners shall deem proper; to provide hospital and other health care services for residents of said district by facilities located outside the boundaries of said district, by contract or in any other manner said commissioners may deem expedient or necessary under the existing conditions; and said hospital district shall have the power to contract with other communities, corporations, or individuals for the services provided by said hospital district; and they may further receive in said hospitals and other health care facilities and furnish proper and adequate services to all persons not residents of said district at such reasonable and fair compensation as may be considered proper: PROVIDED, That it must at all times make adequate provision for the needs of the district and residents of said district shall have prior rights to the available hospital and other health care facilities of said district, at rates set by the district commissioners. (4) For the purpose aforesaid, it shall be lawful for any district so organized to take, condemn and purchase, lease, or acquire, any and all property, and property rights, including state and county lands, for any of the purposes aforesaid, and any and all other facilities necessary or convenient, and in connection with the construction, maintenance, and operation of any such hospitals and other health care facilities, subject, however, to the applicable limitations provided in subsection (2) of this section. (5) To contract indebtedness or borrow money for corporate purposes on the credit of the corporation or the revenues of the hospitals thereof, and the revenues of any other facilities or services that the district is or hereafter may be authorized by law to provide, and to issue and sell: (a) Revenue bonds, revenue warrants, or other revenue obligations therefor payable solely out of a special fund or funds into which the district may pledge such amount of the revenues of the hospitals thereof, and the revenues of any other facilities or services that the district is or hereafter may be authorized by law to provide, to pay the same as the commissioners of the district may determine, such revenue bonds, warrants, or other obligations to be issued and sold in the same manner and subject to the same provisions as provided for the issuance of revenue bonds, warrants, or other obligations by cities or towns under the Municipal Revenue Bond Act, chapter 35.41 RCW, as may hereafter be amended; (b) general obligation bonds therefor in the manner and form as provided in RCW 70.44.110 and 70.44.130, as may hereafter be amended; or (c) interest-bearing warrants to be drawn on a fund pending deposit in such fund of money sufficient to redeem such warrants and to be issued and paid in such manner and upon such terms and conditions as the board of commissioners may deem to be in the best interest of the district; and to assign or sell hospital accounts receivable, and accounts receivable for the use of other facilities or services that the district is or hereafter may be authorized by law to provide, for collection with or without recourse. General obligation bonds shall be issued and sold in accordance with chapter 39.46 RCW. Revenue bonds, revenue warrants, or other revenue obligations may be issued and sold in accordance with chapter 39.46 RCW. (6) To raise revenue by the levy of an annual tax on all taxable property within such public hospital district not to exceed fifty cents per thousand dollars of assessed value, and an additional annual tax on all taxable property within such public hospital district not to exceed twenty-five cents per thousand dollars of assessed value, or such further amount as has been or shall be authorized by a vote of the people. Although public hospital districts are authorized to impose two separate regular property tax levies, the levies shall be considered to be a single levy for purposes of the ((one hundred six percent)) limitation provided for in chapter 84.55 RCW. Public hospital districts are authorized to levy such a general tax in excess of their regular property taxes when authorized so to do at a special election conducted in accordance with and subject to all of the requirements of the Constitution and the laws of the state of Washington now in force or hereafter enacted governing the limitation of tax levies. The said board of district commissioners is authorized and empowered to call a special election for the purpose of submitting to the qualified voters of the hospital district a proposition or propositions to levy taxes in excess of its regular property taxes. The superintendent shall prepare a proposed budget of the contemplated financial transactions for the ensuing year and file the same in the records of the commission on or before the first Monday in September. Notice of the filing of said proposed budget and the date and place of hearing on the same shall be published for at least two consecutive weeks in a newspaper printed and of general circulation in said county. On the first Monday in October the commission shall hold a public hearing on said proposed budget at which any taxpayer may appear and be heard against the whole or any part of the proposed budget. Upon the conclusion of said hearing, the commission shall, by resolution, adopt the budget as finally determined and fix the final amount of expenditures for the ensuing year. Taxes levied by the commission shall be certified to and collected by the proper county officer of the county in which such public hospital district is located in the same manner as is or may be provided by law for the certification and collection of port district taxes. The commission is authorized, prior to the receipt of taxes raised by levy, to borrow money or issue warrants of the district in anticipation of the revenue to be derived by such district from the levy of taxes for the purpose of such district, and such warrants shall be redeemed from the first money available from such taxes when collected, and such warrants shall not exceed the anticipated revenues of one year, and shall bear interest at a rate or rates as authorized by the commission. (7) To enter into any contract with the United States government or any state, municipality, or other hospital district, or any department of those governing bodies, for carrying out any of the powers authorized by this chapter. (8) To sue and be sued in any court of competent jurisdiction: PROVIDED, That all suits against the public hospital district shall be brought in the county in which the public hospital district is located. (9) To pay actual necessary travel expenses and living expenses incurred while in travel status for (a) qualified physicians who are candidates for medical staff positions, and (b) other qualified persons who are candidates for superintendent or other managerial and technical positions, when the district finds that hospitals or other health care facilities owned and operated by it are not adequately staffed and determines that personal interviews with said candidates to be held in the district are necessary or desirable for the adequate staffing of said facilities. (10) To make contracts, employ superintendents, attorneys, and other technical or professional assistants and all other employees; to make contracts with private or public institutions for employee retirement programs; to print and publish information or literature; and to do all other things necessary to carry out the provisions of this chapter. Sec. 207. RCW 84.08.115 and 1991 c 218 s 2 are each amended to read as follows: (1) The department shall prepare a clear and succinct explanation of the property tax system, including but not limited to: (a) The standard of true and fair value as the basis of the property tax. (b) How the assessed value for particular parcels is determined. (c) The procedures and timing of the assessment process. (d) How district levy rates are determined, including the ((one hundred six percent)) limit under chapter 84.55 RCW. (e) How the composite tax rate is determined. (f) How the amount of tax is calculated. (g) How a taxpayer may appeal an assessment, and what issues are appropriate as a basis of appeal. (h) A summary of tax exemption and relief programs, along with the eligibility standards and application processes. (2) Each county assessor shall provide copies of the explanation to taxpayers on request, free of charge. Each revaluation notice shall include information regarding the availability of the explanation. NEW SECTION. Sec. 208. It is the intent of sections 201 through 207 of this act to lower the one hundred six percent limit while still allowing taxing districts to raise revenues in excess of the limit if approved by a majority of the voters as provided in RCW 84.55.050. Sec. 209. RCW 84.55.120 and 1995 c 251 s 1 are each amended to read as follows: A taxing district, other than the state, that collects regular levies shall hold a public hearing on revenue sources for the district's following year's current expense budget. The hearing must include consideration of possible increases in property tax revenues and shall be held prior to the time the taxing district levies the taxes or makes the request to have the taxes levied. The county legislative authority, or the taxing district's governing body if the district is a city, town, or other type of district, shall hold the hearing. For purposes of this section, "current expense budget" means that budget which is primarily funded by taxes and charges and reflects the provision of ongoing services. It does not mean the capital, enterprise, or special assessment budgets of cities, towns, counties, or special purpose districts. If the taxing district is otherwise required to hold a public hearing on its proposed regular tax levy, a single public hearing may be held on this matter. No increase in property tax revenue, other than that resulting from the addition of new construction and improvements to property and any increase in the value of state-assessed property, may be authorized by a taxing district, other than the state, except by adoption of a separate ordinance or resolution, pursuant to notice, specifically authorizing the increase in terms of both dollars and percentage. The ordinance or resolution may cover a period of up to two years, but the ordinance shall specifically state for each year the dollar increase and percentage change in the levy from the previous year. PART II MISCELLANEOUS NEW SECTION. Sec. 301. (1) Sections 101 through 126 of this act apply to taxes levied for collection in 1999 and thereafter. (2) Sections 201 through 207 of this act apply to taxes levied for collection in 1998 and thereafter. NEW SECTION. Sec. 302. If any provision of this act or its application to any person or circumstance is held invalid, the remainder of the act or the application of the provision to other persons or circumstances is not affected. NEW SECTION. Sec. 303. Part headings used in this act are not any part of the law." Correct the title accordingly., and the same are herewith transmitted.

THIRD READING

ENGROSSED SUBSTITUTE SENATE BILL NO. 5398, by Senate Committee on Law and Justice (originally sponsored by Senators Swecker, Zarelli, Oke and Schow)

Reaffirming and protecting the institution of marriage.

The bill was read the third time.

REMARKS BY SENATOR SWECKER

Senator Swecker: "Thank you, Mr. President. I rise in support of this bill. Senate Bill No. 5398 reaffirms Washington's historical commitment to the institution of marriage as a union between one man and one woman. Through this legislation, we hope to preserve marriage as it has been defined by dozens of generations of Americans since the beginning of our country. This bill also affirms the Federal Defense of Marriage Act by saying that matters pertaining to marriage will be determined by the people of the state of Washington, not by the people or courts of another state. The primary focus of marriage has been and should be the provision, protection and procreation of children in the context of a two parent family. Every time we deviate from this prescription for the family, we create devastating impacts on children, parents and society. Often these result in increases in crime, abuse and neglect and all at a massive public expense. We find ourselves subsidizing all the wrong behavior--single parent families, promiscuity, substance abuse and lack of personal responsibility.

"Anything that undermines the promotion of marriage, as it is defined in this bill, is an assault on children. Efforts to modify the definition of marriage are simply thinly disguised attempts to promote the recognition of this domestic partner legislation. This is a situation where any two people living together must be accorded the same benefits as a married couple. The cost of such programs would divert necessary resources from children and families.

"Some people say that marriage is about love. That may be one small part of it, but love comes and goes even in the healthiest relationships. Marriage is about much more than that. It is a commitment to provide a safe, nurturing environment for the next generation. Any interruption in the security provided by a traditional family results in the deterioration of the values which protect what is best in our society. I hope you will support this legislation."

REMARKS BY SENATOR THIBAUDEAU

Senator Thibaudeau: "Mr. President, rising to oppose this bill, and I have spent a lot of time trying to protect children, nonetheless this is a very emotional issue. However, it is also very unnecessary. Why aren't we spending more time on protecting children? One of the Senators, on this floor, has a very good bill which would do just that and protect and support families. Washington's courts have already repeatedly turned down the provision for people of the same gender to marry. It is illegal and when people apply for marriage licenses, they are turned down. Why are we spending the time to prohibit something that is already illegal?

"It is unfair to people who want to take on the right and responsibility--the obligations of marriage--are being excluded from this. That is not right; it is discriminatory. People just want to be treated like anybody else. Is that so very bad? Finally, the ban is unequal. The Washington State Supreme Court already protects the marriage between a man and a woman. So, this is unnecessary and it is discrimination. Those are the facts and what they tell us is that this particular piece of legislation is really pointless. It is discriminatory and it is unfair. Thank you, Mr. President."

REMARKS BY SENATOR ROACH

Senator Roach: "Thank you, Mr. President. You can imagine we had a very lively discussion on this Defense of Marriage Act that the federal government gave us and, therefore, giving the states the opportunity to themselves define marriage. The DOMA Act--the Defense of Marriage Act--in the federal government did two things. One, it defines for the purposes of federal government what marriage is and that was to be a man and a woman, one man and one woman. It also did give the ability for the state, themselves, to make these definitions. There was a preponderance of testimony in the hearing that, in fact, we do need to make that in statute for the state of Washington.

"I wanted to let all the members know that one of the things we had reiterated to us in our committee was that President Clinton signed this bill and that both Senators Murray and Gorton signed this bill. They voted for it and all members of our congressional delegation, with the exception of McDermott, supported this particular piece of legislation on the federal level. I believe that in keeping with the purpose of the act of the federal level and the desires of the people of the state of Washington that we should, in fact, vote 'yes' on Engrossed Substitute Senate Bill No. 5398--our definition for marriage for Washington State."

REMARKS BY SENATOR KLINE

Senator Kline: "Thank you, Mr. President. Why do we need this bill? Why now? I have heard the argument that we need this to codify a decision of the Court of Appeals in Singer v. Hara--twenty-three years ago--if this bill has an emergency clause. That was a decision of the Court of Appeals over two decades ago. That case was not appealed to the Supreme Court. However, a later case by the Supreme Court codified it.

"It is already the law of this state that marriage as an institution is confined to the relationship between a man and a woman. We don't need this to do it. So, why confirm the status quo? I submit to you that the purposes of this bill are twofold. First, to express a clearly discriminatory outlook and secondly, to make political hay. This is not a bill that has any other rational purpose. Now, we hear another reason, and we just did, that marriage is to promote the family unit as a way for rearing children. Well, that it is--and a very strong one--a way supported by much of our legislation on both sides of this aisle. Yet we see no bill before us to prevent marriage by an elderly couple who are no longer physically able to bear children; by couples, one or both of whom are medically unable for other reasons; or by couples who simply don't want children. The ability or the willingness to rear children and the desire for a marriage to do that are not the purpose of this bill. Many people are allowed to, and continue to be married for many, many years without bearing children.

"Rather, its real purpose, I believe, is to limit an institution of fundamental importance--importance that has been repeatedly called fundamental by our courts and our legislators, to a certain majority group of people. To say that this is not discriminatory, beggars belief. Its clear purpose is to send a discriminatory message. If we were here to find a stronger way--a way to buttress our family life as a manner of raising children--if children were really the focus of this--then we would be here expanding and enhancing the ability of all couples, not just to marry but to adopt children--those who are either physically unable or whose sexual orientation does not include children. But expanding adoption is not the purpose of this. That would not express this bill's clearly discriminatory intent. I urge a 'no' vote on 5398. Thank you."

REMARKS BY SENATOR KOHL

Senator Kohl: "Thank you, Mr. President. The title of this bill is An Act relating to reaffirming and protecting the institution of marriage. I stand today in support of marriage, but in opposition to this bill. I am a married woman in a traditional marriage. I am a mother of five children; I am a christian--an Episcopalian. I have a nice traditional family life, but I am also opposed to this bill, because it does nothing, nothing at all, in terms of my commitment to my marriage and the protection of my family.

"The real question to me is: In what way does this bill reaffirm my marriage or anyone's marriage in this state? The answer is clearly that it does not. In no way, does this bill support me or any married person in carrying out our marriage vows. In no way, does this bill help me or any married person to love and protect our spouse until death do we part. In no way, does this bill help me or other parents love and protect our families. What we should ask instead is this: Is marriage between a man and woman protected in Washington State? Yes! Is marriage between a man and a woman affirmed in Washington State? Yes! Is marriage between a man and a woman threatened in Washington State? No! Are people of the same sex allowed legally to marry in Washington State? No! Who has said that people of the same sex are prohibited from legally marrying? The Washington State Appellate Court and the Washington State Supreme Court. Do we need another law to prohibit what already is illegal? No!

"The title of this bill is erroneous. It should read An Act to make illegal the already illegal--an Act to exclude the already excluded. What I wonder is this: Could we not put the time and energy into deliberating on bills that do something, that are serious, and that will help people in Washington State, rather than spending all this time and getting all this attention for something that is not needed? What will come next--a bill to prohibit single parent families, a bill to prohibit marriages that do not result in children? I really worry about that and I ask for you to defeat this bill. Thank you."

REMARKS BY SENATOR HEAVEY

Senator Heavey: "Thank you, Mr. President, and my distinguished colleagues. I think that some of the people on this side of the aisle are probably a little bit too kind. The gentleman from the twentieth district talked about marriage as has been defined in America the last two hundred years. Well, we know that it has been defined in many, many different ways. We used to have polygamy. In some states, first cousins still marry, which is illegal in this state--just as same sex marriage is illegal in this state. It is illegal in this state and has been illegal for over twenty years for the same sex to be married.

"What Congress does, for those of you who, believe like me, believe in state's rights. The federal government has nothing to do with us. We define what is legal and what is illegal in this state, when it comes to marriage. They may be able to make a ruling on how Social Security benefits go, but that is as far as it goes. We determine what goes on in this state in terms of marriage. I simply haven't had anybody in my district call me up and say, 'I'm worried, Senator; I'm worried Mike, we have all our neighbors that are the same sex running down and getting in line to get married.'

"There is simply no problem out there. This bill is not about marriage; it is about picking on a minority group. We have no bill today that wants to bully the developmentally disabled who can't get married. We are not punctuating that. We have no bill that would slap first cousins who want to get married. We have no bill that would reiterate to minors that they can't get married without permission of the court, and we have no bill to remind ex-polygamists that it is no longer okay to get married a second time.

"The agenda is a scapegoat agenda. Let's blame our problems on a minority that has nothing to do with any of our problems. There is not one person out there on this floor and this gallery that is affected by this bill. It is a little like a person kicking their dog when they are angry, except that it is not a dog being kicked, it is people. It is real people that are being kicked and when you get kicked, it hurts. When anybody gets kicked wrongfully, all of us get kicked wrongfully. More importantly, it is not the angry person kicking the dog, it is government. It is a lot more different when a person kicks his dog than when government kicks a few people. Let's say 'no' to scapegoating; let's say 'no' to bullying--kicking on a minority.

"Every person in this chamber, and I know all of you, is a good kind and loving person. I sincerely believe that. Now, I ask you all to look inside and look at what you are doing--what you are doing--to whom and why. If you do, you might say, 'What is the problem--I haven't really noticed a problem out there.' If you ask what you are doing, you might come to the conclusion that we are kicking somebody when they are down. If you ask why, you might come up with, 'Well, for no good reason, it is already illegal.' Folks, it is wrong for government to spit in somebody's face, to bully, and it is wrong to bash the disenfranchised. It is simply out and out wrong. We have seen our own government do this in the past and we have seen other governments around the world do this in the past to different groups, to different minorities, and they have all been proven wrong in the long run. Say 'no' to this scapegoat problem; say 'no' to being a bully; say 'no' to this unnecessary nonsolution; say 'no' to government being a bully.

"The only response to a bully, in my experience, is not to cower, but to stand up and say 'no, you are not going to bully me.' Look into your hearts, do what we all know is the right thing. Be thoughtful, not impulsive; be kind, not mean; be forgiving, not vengeful. Think about voting 'no.'"

REMARKS BY SENATOR FRANKLIN

Senator Franklin: "Thank you, Mr. President. The shortest verse in the great book is 'Jesus Wept.' Ladies and gentlemen of the Senate, today, for me, will be remembered as one of pain, because two opposing forces will be locked in mortal combat over a civil institution called marriage involving those of the same sex. There will be no clear winners, only impaired relationships and increased antagonism. The law is on the books already, and I support it. Why are we doing this? To prove a point, to restate what is already on the books and working flawlessly for twenty-three years? Washington State does not, and I repeat does not, recognize same sex marriage.

"I have received and answered dozens of letters and hotline messages stating that I will support and obey the law already in place. Again, I ask why are we doing this? There is no crisis, no attempt to overturn Singer v. Hara, 1974 or Marchioro v. Chaney, 1978.

"I see no reason to do what we are doing when we have major issues to tackle, such as welfare reform, juvenile justice, health care, education, criminal justice, water resources and much, much more. Leave the moral issues to the church and keep government out of personal lives. Today's battle could have been fought another day and I am sure that these two opposing forces will meet again. This is truly a day of pain. This is divisive."

REMARKS BY SENATOR McAULIFFE

Senator McAuliffe: "Thank you, Mr. President. I stand to speak against this bill and may I quote my past seatmate, Senator Cal Anderson, who fought to treat all individuals with respect and dignity under the law. He said that we need to craft laws that protect people and bring them together, not divide them. That is our responsibility as leaders in this body. Today, I stand to tell you that there is an agenda here and it is a social and moral agenda and that it does not belong in this Legislature. This is not about same sex marriage. This is about many other laws and bills that I have seen come before my Senate Education Committee and that I have seen in the House Education Committee. Those laws and those bills are there to discriminate against people who are different. I will vote against this bill because it supports that social and moral agenda. It discriminates against people who are different than we are and it will divide us rather than bring us together. Thank you."

REMARKS BY SENATOR BROWN

Senator Brown: "Thank you, Mr. President. I don't believe that my vote on this issue will affect the outcome and I don't believe that our vote on this issue will affect the status quo in Washington State, with respect to the institution of marriage. In many ways, it would be easier to remain silent. However, I would like to speak about why I am going to vote 'no.' Basically, I believe that the separation of church and state means that marriage in our society has a dual role. It exists as a civil contract and in the religious belief in which I was raised--the Catholic belief--it exists as a sacrament conferred by the church. I don't believe that the laws of the state should interfere with that sacrament as it is conferred by the church and I don't believe that the rules of the church should interfere with the civil contract as it is administered by the state. So, there is that fundamental belief of that separation that causes me to view them separately.

"However, I think I am really voting 'no' because of a couple of families in Spokane. One, is a family of a young man who, as a teenager, believed--realized--felt--that he was gay and committed suicide. The family felt that they had not had the opportunity to tell him that they would love him anyway, despite the social stigma that exists. I think that this is for that family.

"It is also for a couple that I know that live in Spokane--two women who live together--one of whom is terminally ill. They have lived together for a very long time and when the one who is terminally ill dies, the pain that the other one will feel will be as real as the pain that any of us would feel should our spouse die. I think it is for them, as well, because I think it is primarily a message and the message that I want to send to them is that despite the stigma, despite the vilification, and despite the pain that you feel living as a minority in this society, in this particular way, that I do not want to add to that. I believe that voting 'yes' on this bill would. Therefore, I will be voting 'no.'"

On motion of Senator Roach, the rules were suspended, Substitute Senate Bill No. 5100 was advanced to third reading, the second reading considered the third and the bill was placed on final passage.

Debate ensued.

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Loveland: "My question is--I didn't serve on your committee and I certainly support the Red Cross--but the question that I had when I read the bill report was if--let me ask this scenario and see if this would be under this bill. If I transferred my assets into a nonprofit corporation and then was the President of that nonprofit corporation, could I receive the benefits and avoid the federal tax?"

Senator Johnson: "What this statute does is it permits stock in a professional service corporation, so medicine, law, accounting--that stock could be transferred not to a charity, but to a charitable remainder trust at which time it is sold by the trust, the assets then belong to that trust. There is nothing new in federal tax law about it; it is simply another asset. State law, heretofore, has prevented nonprofessionals from belonging to a professional corporation. You have to be a lawyer to have stock in such a corporation. This permits the transfer of that stock directly from that professional corporate stockholder to the charitable remainder trust and then sold. So, it is limited just to professional corporations and the charitable remainder trust."

Senator Loveland: "So, is the answer 'yes' or 'no' to the question that I just asked?"

Senator Johnson: "Restate the question, please."

Senator Loveland: "If I transfer my assets in stock into a nonprofit charitable organization, and I am the President of that nonprofit charitable organization, is the income I receive from those assets protected from paying federal income tax?"

Senator Johnson: "You are transferring--you are transferring not to a charity, but to a charitable remainder trust?"

Senator Loveland: "Right."

Senator Johnson: "You have an income tax deduction for the remainder interest of the asset transfer."

Senator Loveland: "Thank you."

Further debate ensued.

The President declared the question before the Senate to be the roll call on the final passage of Substitute Senate Bill No. 5100.

If the Legislature passes those measures, how much more money will we be able to give in tax relief and still have the reserve and still have enough money to spend at the 601 limit?"

Senator West: "Well, Senator Snyder, unless you qualify reserve, then it is a lot. We are tracking this; we are keeping track. We have discussions with the Governor about what that number is and we will have enough money to have a substantial reserve and to stay within 601 and fund K-12 and fund higher education."

Senator Snyder: "I appreciate the information, but are you going to share the information with everybody in the body or just the Governor's office? Also, how much is that reserve going to be? Are you going to provide us with those figures--how much the reserve is going to be. How many more tax breaks we can give--a lot of which I certainly support--they are all worthy--and still have enough money? I would appreciate it if you would share those figures with us."

(2) The credit is equal to the greater of the amount of qualified research and development expenditures of a person or eighty percent of amounts received by a person other than a public educational or research institution in compensation for the conduct of qualified research and development, multiplied by the rate (~~(of 0.545 percent)~~) provided in RCW 82.04.260(6) in the case of a nonprofit corporation or nonprofit association engaging within this state in research and development, and (~~(2.5 percent)~~) the rate provided in RCW 82.04.290(2) for every other person. (3) Any person entitled to the credit provided in subsection (2) of this section as a result of qualified research and development conducted under contract may assign all or any portion of the credit to the person contracting for the performance of the qualified research and development. (4) The credit, including any credit assigned to a person under subsection (3) of this section, shall be taken against taxes due for the same calendar year in which the qualified research and development expenditures are incurred. The credit, including any credit assigned to a person under subsection (3) of this section, for each calendar year shall not exceed the lesser of two million dollars or the amount of tax otherwise due under this chapter for the calendar year. (5) Any person taking the credit, including any credit assigned to a person under subsection (3) of this section, whose research and development spending during the calendar year in which the credit is claimed fails to exceed 0.92 percent of the person's taxable amount during the same calendar year shall be liable for payment of the additional taxes represented by the amount of credit taken together with interest, but not penalties. The department shall prepare reports on each assessment and deliver their reports by September 1, 1997, September 1, 2000, and September 1, 2003. The assessments shall measure the effect of the program on job creation, the number of jobs created for Washington residents, company growth, the introduction of new products, the diversification of the state's economy, growth in research and development investment, the movement of firms or the consolidation of firms' operations into the state, and such other factors as the department selects. #### PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Jacobsen: "A point of personal privilege, Mr. President. After you endured my first speech on the Senate floor a few weeks ago, I just wanted to thank all of you for the privilege of speaking to you. On your desks, you will find an oil triptych titled 'Shishole' by Seattle artist, Alfredo Arreguin. It is a poster depicting and illustrating a great scene--an honor for the state of Washington. He was the first artist that had a piece of work purchased by the Smithsonian and it is going to their new Hispanic collection. The other thing, I talked with Alfredo and if anybody would like to tour his studio at any time, I would be glad to arrange it. It is really a visual treat. Thank you for suffering through my first speech."

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator West: "Speaking of offense, the distinguished Senator from the fifth district, today, imposed his verbiage upon the body. Actually, it was a speech honoring great people--the young people that were here earlier--but I think we all had to suffer under his long-winded explanation of why they were here and he carried on forever. He, indeed, owes each and every member, including the distinguished President, a tribute for having to endure that painful experience."

MOTION

At 12:00 noon, on motion of Senator Johnson, the Senate recessed until 4:00 p.m.

The Senate was called to order at 4:00 p.m. by President Owen.
There being no objection, the President returned the Senate to the fourth order of business.

(2) The provisions of subsection (1) shall not apply to a limited liability company unless that limited liability company maintains for itself and its member or members a policy of liability insurance, bond or other evidence of financial responsibility designated by rule by the state insurance commissioner in the amount of at least one million dollars. ((2)) (3) A member or manager of a limited liability company is personally liable for his or her own torts."

POINT OF ORDER

Senator Roach: "Thank you, Mr. President, I would like to raise the issue of scope and object on this particular amendment. The amendment is outside the scope and object of the underlying bill. The bill's title and the scope of the bill addresses the dissolution of limited liability companies. It is a bill that modifies one section and one section only. The amendment goes into another section of the Limited Liability Company Act and addresses the payment of debts, obligations and liabilities. It, therefore, exceeds the scope and object of the underlying bill."

Further debate ensued.

MOTION

On motion of Senator Johnson, further consideration of Senate Bill No. 5109 was deferred.

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Rossi: "A point of personal privilege, Mr. President. On Monday, I gave my first floor speech and I am new at this and I know that I am not very good at giving fancy speeches and I inflicted a lot of pain. Senator West was one of the first--he jumped up and told me how much pain he had from this. The first gift I had was this little chocolate fish from Boehm's candy in Issaquah. Issaquah is known for salmon days and that is what this represents and I am sure that many of you will, hopefully, appreciate this and it will help ease some of the pain.

"But you know, as I was getting on the elevator, Senator Heavey came over and told me how much pain he was really in and I could see it on his face--how much I had inflicted on this poor Senator--and so I had to come up with another gift, I felt. I just couldn't give it to him, so I gave it to everybody. That is the bottle of wine from the Snoqualmie Winery. Hopefully, you will have it with a good meal and enjoy. If you are ever going through Snoqualmie, stop at the winery. It is a beautiful place; it has a beautiful view of the entire Snoqualmie Valley. I hope you will forgive me; Senator Heavey I hope you find it in your heart to forgive me. Thank you very much."

MOTION

At 12:02 p.m., on motion of Senator Johnson, the Senate adjourned until 12:00 noon, Thursday, February 20, 1997.

The county auditor may rotate (~~(At primaries,))~~ the names of candidates for federal, state, and county partisan offices, for the office of superintendent of public instruction, and for judicial offices. If the county auditor rotates those candidates' names, then they shall follow the following procedures:

The names of those candidates shall, for each office or position, be arranged initially in the order determined under RCW 29.30.025. Additional sets of ballots shall be prepared in which the positions of the names of all candidates for each office or position shall be changed as many times as there are candidates in the office or position in which there are the greatest number of names. As nearly as possible an equal number of ballots shall be prepared after each change. In making the changes of position between each set of ballots, the candidates for each such office in the first position under the office heading shall be moved to the last position under that office heading, and each other name shall be moved up to the position immediately above its previous position under that office heading. The effect of this rotation of the order of the names shall be that the name of each candidate for an office or position shall appear first, second, and so forth for that office or position on the ballots of a nearly equal number of registered voters in that jurisdiction. In a precinct using voting devices, the names of the candidates for each office shall appear in only one sequence in that precinct. ## MOTIONS

On motion of Senator Schow, Substitute Senate Bill No. 5265 was substituted for Senate Bill No. 5265 and the substitute bill was placed on second reading and read the second time.

On motion of Senator Schow, the following amendment was adopted:

On page 3, after line 6, insert the following: "(9) The approval process for new and amended compacts established in this section does not apply to amendments to existing compacts that are technical in nature only and do not include any changes in the following: Wagering limits, types of games operated, hours of operation for the gaming facility, number of facilities operated, or number of tables operated."

MOTION

Senator Prentice moved that the following amendment be adopted:

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following: "Sec. 1. RCW 9.46.360 and 1992 c 172 s 2 are each amended to read as follows: (1) The negotiation process for proposed or amended compacts with federally recognized Indian tribes for conducting class III gaming, as defined in the Indian Gaming Regulatory Act, 25 U.S.C. Sec. 2701 et seq., on federal Indian lands is governed by this section. (2) The ~~((gambling commission through the director or the director's))~~ senate or its designee shall negotiate compacts for class III gaming on behalf of the state with federally recognized Indian tribes in the state of Washington. (3) When a tentative agreement with an Indian tribe on a proposed or amended compact is reached, the ~~((director))~~ senate or its designee shall immediately transmit a copy of the proposed or amended compact to all voting and ex officio members of the gambling commission and to the ~~((standing committees designated pursuant to subsection (5) of this section))~~ majority and minority leaders of the senate. (4) ~~((Notwithstanding RCW 9.46.040, the four ex officio members of the gambling commission shall be deemed voting members of the gambling commission for the sole purpose of voting on proposed compacts submitted under this section. (5) Within thirty days after receiving a proposed compact from the director, one standing committee from each house of the legislature shall hold a public hearing on the proposed compact and forward its respective comments to the gambling commission. The president of the senate shall designate the senate standing committee that is to carry out the duties of this section, and the speaker of the house of representatives shall designate the house standing committee that is to carry out the duties of this section. The designated committees shall continue to perform under this section until the president of the senate or the speaker of the house of representatives, as the case may be, designates a different standing committee. (6))~~ The gambling commission ~~((may))~~ shall hold public hearings on the proposed or amended compact ~~((any time))~~ after receiving a copy of the compact from the ~~((director))~~ senate or its designee. Within forty-five days after receiving the proposed or amended compact from the ~~((director))~~ senate or its designee, the gambling commission, including the four ex officio members, shall ~~((vote on whether to return the proposed compact to the director with instructions for further negotiation or to forward the proposed compact to the governor for review and final execution))~~ forward its findings and recommendations to the senate. ~~((7) Notwithstanding provisions in this section to the contrary,))~~ (5) If the ~~((director))~~ senate or its designee forwards a proposed or amended compact to the ~~((gambling commission and the designated standing committees within ten days))~~ senate before the beginning of a regular session of the legislature, or during a regular or special session of the legislature, ~~((the thirty day time limit set forth in subsection (5) of this section and the forty five day limit set forth in subsection (6) of this section are each forty five days and sixty days, respectively))~~ the senate has until the adjournment of the regular session to approve the proposed or amended compact. If the senate fails to approve the proposed or amended compact before the adjournment of the regular session, the senate or its designee shall renegotiate the proposed or amended compact and resubmit the proposed or amended compact to the senate no later than the first day of the next regular session of the legislature. ((8) Funding for the negotiation process under this section must come from the gambling revolving fund. (9)) (6) In addition to the powers granted under this chapter, the commission, consistent with the terms of any compact, is authorized and empowered to enforce the provisions of any compact between a federally recognized Indian tribe and the state of Washington."

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Deccio: "Senator Prentice, exactly what is the difference between what your amendment does and what is in the bill? As I read it, the bill says that the Senate minority and majority leader would negotiate and I think your amendment says that the Senate designee would--that would be the Senate members of the Gambling Commission. Is that correct?"

Senator Prentice: "No, it would be the Senate committee, I would presume. It would be whomever the majority leader would designate. No, it would not be a member of the Gambling Commission. The idea was that the product has been so inferior and we certainly heard it lambasted in many committee meetings, then do it and remove the Gambling Commission. Why spend the time and the resources on something that isn't an accepted product?"

Further debate ensued.

The President declared the question before the Senate to be the adoption of the striking amendment by Senator Prentice.

The motion by Senator Prentice failed and the amendment was not adopted.

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Rasmussen: "Senator Horn, is it true that the Department of Ecology still is authorized to suspend the right to use the water? Can they stop, at any time, your right to withdraw from the lake?"

Senator Horn: "That is correct, Senator Rasmussen. We have put the same controls with DOE over the use of water and if the water in the lake got to a dangerously low level, they could suspend that operation during that period of time. On behalf of the people of our State, the Fifty-Fifth Legislative Session of the state of Washington conveys its respects to those deceased legislators who once sat in these hallowed chambers of the House and Senate, like we are doing today, answered roll calls on sometimes critical and perplexing bills, attended committee meetings, and above all else served to the best of their abilities in order to make our state a better and more enjoyable place to live. While their journey in this life is completed, their achievements, records and valued services have been recorded in the Journals of the Senate and House, and are now and forever more a permanent part of the history of the state of Washington.

"We express our sympathies to the bereaved families and their friends, and share with them on this memorable occasion the fond and happy memories of these legislators, who served well beyond their call of duty and responsibilities, and truly loved this great state of Washington. They have indeed left a legacy of dedicated service that will remain forever etched in our hearts, our memories and our legislative records.

"I wish to introduce Representative Val Ogden of the Forty-ninth District who will assist in our recognition of our departed members."

By Senators Haugen, Long and Kohl

WHEREAS, The number of Washington teens who have tried alcohol or cigarettes has risen above the national average; and

WHEREAS, There is growing concern that national advertising campaigns by alcohol and tobacco industries have undue influence on teen audiences; and

WHEREAS, Coupeville School Social Worker Mindy Pelton works with students at the middle-school and high-school level in the prevention of alcohol, tobacco, and other drug use; and

WHEREAS, A perceptive group of Coupeville students recognized the symbolism and message of a popular beer commercial and interpreted this ad as clearly targeting minors, and encouraging them to disregard the legal drinking age; and

WHEREAS, The students suggested several ways the commercial could be recast so it would not target minors;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, That the Washington State Senate honor the awareness and activism demonstrated by the Coupeville students and Mindy Pelton in their efforts to combat the influence of alcohol and tobacco advertising on minors; and

SECOND READING

SENATE BILL NO. 5079, by Senator Swecker

Providing an alternative means to comply with wastewater discharge permit requirements.

MOTIONS

On motion of Senator Morton, Substitute Senate Bill No. 5079 was substituted for Senate Bill No. 5079 and the substitute bill was placed on second reading and read the second time.

On motion of Senator Morton, the rules were suspended, Substitute Senate Bill No. 5079 was advanced to third reading, the second reading considered the third and the bill was placed on final passage.

Debate ensued.

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Fraser: "Senator Swecker, I would appreciate it if you could provide some clarification. The summary in our report here says, 'This new procedure would not apply to renewals of existing permits.' The language in the bill itself is sort of a term of art. It speaks to modification of an existing permit. So, my question is, is the intent of the bill to apply to renewals?"

Senator Swecker: "Senator Fraser, the intent of the bill is not to apply to renewals. It is only to apply to new applications for permits or permit applications where substantial changes are being proposed by the applicant."

Senator Fraser: "Thank you."

Further debate ensued.

The President declared the question before the Senate to be the roll call on the final passage of Substitute Senate Bill No. 5079.

RULING BY THE PRESIDENT

President Owen: "In ruling upon the point of order raised by Senator Heavey, the President finds that Senate Bill No. 5330 is a bill that would make an addition to the list of legal wagers on golfing events. The measure would permit the auctioning of players or teams in a golfing contest. The person placing the highest bid on the winning player or team would receive the proceeds from the auction.

"The President, therefore, finds that the measure does expand gambling and does require a sixty percent majority under Article II, section 24 of the State Constitution."

The President declared the question before the Senate to be the roll call on the final passage of Senate Bill No. 5330.

MOTION

Senator Deccio moved that the following amendment be adopted:

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following: NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. LEGISLATIVE INTENT AND FINDINGS. The legislature finds that the federal personal responsibility and work opportunity reconciliation act of 1996 presents both opportunities and challenges for the states as they develop methods of moving families in poverty from welfare to work. The legislature further finds that, although many of the goals of the federal act coincide with Washington state's vision for enabling families to achieve eventual economic self-sufficiency through private, unsubsidized employment, the treatment of legal immigrants under the federal act does not reflect Washington's commitment to those legal immigrants within Washington's borders who have played by the rules, and who live in our communities and participate in the American way of life, providing economic and cultural enrichment to Washington state's population. The legislature finds that at least one-third of public assistance recipients have experience in the work force and sufficient training to enable them to obtain unsubsidized employment. The legislature intends to put a priority on finding jobs, which may include on-the-job training, for this group of public assistance recipients. The legislature intends that state agencies involved in welfare reform shall reorganize to accomplish this priority. The legislature intends that state agencies solicit from businesses information about job opportunities and make the information available to public assistance recipients. The legislature intends that legal immigrants who obey the laws of Washington, and who were granted permission to immigrate by the federal government, should be treated as equitably as possible under the state's enactment and implementation of public assistance programs. The legislature finds that Washington state's goals in implementing the federal act include promoting the American values of work, education, and responsibility, including responsible childbearing and dedication by both parents to protecting, supporting, and bringing up children to become responsible, productive Americans. This has been the goal and the dream of generations of Americans, whether native born or naturalized citizens. The legislature finds that it is necessary, to enable people to leave welfare, to encourage a new alliance of state and local government, business, churches, nonprofit organizations, and individuals to dedicate themselves, within the letter and the spirit of the law, to helping families in poverty overcome barriers, obtain support, direction, and encouragement, and become contributors to the American way of life. The legislature finds that, in pursuance of these goals, it is also necessary to establish policy that recognizes our moral imperative to protect children when their parents or other adults in a child's life are unable or unwilling to do so, and to continue our commitment to the elderly, frail, and vulnerable for whom work is not an option. The legislature reaffirms its commitment to provide medical services to eligible legal immigrants under the children's health program established under RCW 74.04.405. The legislature affirms its commitment to provide the benefits of the maternity care access program under RCW 74.09.800 to documented and undocumented immigrants who qualify. The legislature finds that family structure and relationships are critical to the long-term success and economic self-sufficiency of recipients of temporary assistance for needy families and their children. The department and its employees shall communicate clearly to recipients of temporary assistance for needy families the importance of healthy and safe marriages and family relationships in word and action by (1) seeking to enhance existing healthy relationships, (2) facilitating referrals to family preservation and family reconciliation services, when appropriate, and (3) encouraging those recipients with irreconcilable family relationships to obtain counseling so that if they choose to enter a relationship in the future they can do so after making decisions that will be in the best interest of themselves and their children. NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. SHORT TITLE. This act may be known and cited as the Washington welfare-to-work temporary assistance for needy families act. I. GENERAL PROVISIONS

Sec. 101. RCW 74.08.025 and 1981 1st ex.s. c 6 s 9 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) Public assistance (~~shall~~) may be awarded to any applicant: ~~((1))~~ (a) Who is in need and otherwise meets the eligibility requirements of department assistance programs; and ~~((2))~~ (b) Who has not made a voluntary assignment of property or cash for the purpose of qualifying for an assistance grant; and ~~((3))~~ (c) Who is not an inmate of a public institution except as a patient in a medical institution or except as an inmate in a public institution who could qualify for federal aid assistance: PROVIDED, That the assistance paid by the department to recipients in nursing homes, or receiving nursing home care, may cover the cost of clothing and incidentals and general maintenance exclusive of medical care and health services. The department may pay a grant to cover the cost of clothing and personal incidentals in public or private medical institutions and institutions for tuberculosis. The department shall allow recipients in nursing homes to retain, in addition to the grant to cover the cost of clothing and incidentals, wages received for work as a part of a training or rehabilitative program designed to prepare the recipient for less restrictive placement to the extent permitted under Title XIX of the federal social security act. (2) Any person otherwise qualified for temporary assistance for needy families under this title who has resided in the state of Washington for fewer than twelve consecutive months immediately preceding application for assistance is limited to the benefit level in the state in which the person resided immediately before Washington, that was obtainable on the date of application in Washington state, if the benefit level of the prior state is lower than the level provided to similarly situated applicants in Washington state. The benefit level under this subsection shall be in effect for the first twelve months a recipient is on temporary assistance for needy families in Washington state. (3) Any person otherwise qualified for temporary assistance for needy families who is assessed through the state alcohol and substance abuse program as drug or alcohol-dependent and requiring treatment to become employable shall be required by the department to participate in a drug or alcohol treatment program as a condition of benefit receipt. Sec. 102. RCW 74.08.340 and 1959 c 26 s 74.08.340 are each amended to read as follows: All assistance granted under this title shall be deemed to be granted and to be held subject to the provisions of any amending or repealing act that may hereafter be enacted, and no recipient shall have any claim for compensation, or otherwise, by reason of his assistance being affected in any way by such amending or repealing act.

There is no legal entitlement to public assistance. NEW SECTION. Sec. 103. TIME LIMITS OF TEMPORARY ASSISTANCE FOR NEEDY FAMILIES BENEFITS. (1) An adult head of household in a temporary assistance for needy families assistance unit, who is in compliance with the responsibilities required of participants in temporary assistance for needy families programs may qualify for a maximum of sixty months of cash assistance, absent a determination of bona fide exemption to the sixty-month time limit. The sixty-month time limit commences, for those receiving temporary cash assistance, as of the effective date of this section, or the date of the acceptance of the Washington state plan by the federal government, whichever is sooner. (2) The legislature recognizes that under P.L. 104-193 the department may exempt no more than twenty percent of the temporary assistance for needy families caseload from the sixty-month time limit. The legislature further recognizes that not all adult recipients of temporary assistance for needy families can realistically be expected to attain self-sufficiency within this time limit. Because the sixty-month time limit will not be applicable to recipients until 2002, the legislature further believes it appropriate to engage in the study required in section 703 of this act before making decisions about caseload exemptions. NEW SECTION. Sec. 104. SANCTIONS FOR NONCOOPERATION. Cooperation with the requirements of the temporary assistance for needy families program in this state, including the continuous job search requirement, and participation in work activities under the Washington welfare-to-work program by a recipient who is a teen or adult head of an assistance unit is a condition of benefit receipt, unless exempt under this chapter. Failure to cooperate, absent good cause, may result in sanctions, which may include a reduction or elimination of part or all of the cash assistance grant for members of the assistance unit. The department shall adopt by rule standards for the imposition of such sanctions. The standards shall include provisions regarding who may impose sanctions and the circumstances in which they may be imposed. In addition to the procedures generally applicable to rule adoption under the administrative procedure act, the department shall provide the proposed standards to the senate health and long-term care committee and the house of representatives children and family services committee for review and comment. NEW SECTION. Sec. 105. CHILDREN RECEIVING SUPPLEMENTAL SECURITY INCOME. It is the intent of the legislature that all disabled children who received supplemental security income benefits before August 22, 1996, and who lost their supplemental security income benefits as a result of P.L. 104-193 have benefits paid to them through alternative programs. NEW SECTION. Sec. 106. DISABLED CHILD STATE ASSISTANCE PROGRAM. (1) Upon termination of eligibility from supplemental security income, the department shall place disabled children into the appropriate program, in the following manner: (a) If the child is residing in a foster or group home licensed through the children and family services administration, the child shall be placed in the foster care program; and (b) If the child does not fall into a category in (a) of this subsection, the child shall be placed into the disabled child state assistance program. (2) The disabled child state assistance program is created. The program shall be administered by the department. The program shall pay cash benefits equal to the monthly benefit provided in the general assistance-unemployable program for a period not to exceed one year. (3) Persons eligible for the disabled child state assistance program are those disabled children who received supplemental security income benefits before August 22, 1996, and who lost their supplemental security income eligibility as a result of P.L. 104-193. Children may not enter the disabled child state assistance program if they are residing in foster or group care. (4) Children in the disabled child state assistance program may not receive benefits for more than twelve months beginning with the month in which their supplemental security income eligibility is terminated. NEW SECTION. Sec. 107. STUDY OF DISABLED CHILDREN. (1) The department shall conduct a study of the circumstances of disabled children who lose their supplemental security income benefits as a result of P.L. 104-193, and their families including: (a) Medical diagnoses of disability; (b) Demographic characteristics; (c) Economic circumstances including support arrangements and living conditions; and (d) Cross-service by other public assistance and human services programs. (2) The department shall complete the study and report to the health care committees of the legislature no later than January 15, 1998. NEW SECTION. Sec. 108. ELECTRONIC BENEFIT TRANSFER. By October 2002, the department shall develop and implement an electronic benefit transfer system to be used for the delivery of public assistance benefits, including without limitation, food assistance. The department shall comply with P.L. 104-193, and shall cooperate with relevant federal agencies in the design and implementation of the electronic benefit transfer system. NEW SECTION. Sec. 109. The following acts or parts of acts are each repealed: (1) RCW 74.12.420 and 1994 c 299 s 9; and (2) RCW 74.12.425 and 1994 c 299 s 10. NEW SECTION. Sec. 110. (1) The department shall allow religious organizations to provide services to families receiving temporary assistance for needy families on the same basis as any other nongovernmental provider, without impairing the religious character of such organizations, and without diminishing the religious freedom of beneficiaries of assistance funded under chapter 74.12 RCW. (2) The department shall adopt rules implementing this section, and the applicable sections of P.L. 104-193 related to services provided by charitable, religious, or private organizations. NEW SECTION. Sec. 111. A new section is added to chapter 74.12 RCW to read as follows: The department shall (1) provide eligible Indian tribes ongoing, meaningful opportunities to participate in the development, oversight, and operation of the state temporary assistance for needy families program; (2) certify annually that it is providing equitable access to the state temporary assistance for needy families program to Indian people whose tribe is not administering a tribal temporary assistance for needy families program; (3) coordinate and cooperate with eligible Indian tribes that elect to operate a tribal temporary assistance for needy families program as provided for in P.L. 104-193; and (4) upon approval by the secretary of the federal department of health and human services of a tribal temporary assistance for needy families program, transfer a fair and equitable amount of the state maintenance of effort funds to the eligible Indian tribe. The legislature shall specify the amount of state maintenance of effort funds to be transferred in the biennial appropriations act. NEW SECTION. Sec. 112. A new section is added to chapter 74.12 RCW to read as follows: An eligible Indian tribe exercising its authority under P.L. 104-193 to operate a tribal temporary assistance for needy families program shall operate the program on a state fiscal year basis. If a tribe decides to cancel a tribal temporary assistance for needy families program, it shall notify the department no later than ninety days prior to the start of the state fiscal year.

II. IMMIGRANT PROTECTION Sec. 201. RCW 74.09.510 and 1991 sp.s. c 8 s 8 are each amended to read as follows: Medical assistance may be provided in accordance with eligibility requirements established by the department (~~of social and health services~~), as defined in the social security Title XIX state plan for mandatory categorically needy persons and: (1) Individuals who would be eligible for cash assistance except for their institutional status; (2) individuals who are under twenty-one years of age, who would be eligible for aid to families with dependent children, but do not qualify as dependent children and who are in (a) foster care, (b) subsidized adoption, (c) a nursing facility or an intermediate care facility for the mentally retarded, or (d) inpatient psychiatric facilities; (3) the aged, blind, and disabled who: (a) Receive only a state supplement, or (b) would not be eligible for cash assistance if they were not institutionalized; (4) individuals who ~~((would be eligible for but choose not to receive cash assistance))~~ meet the income and resource requirements of the cash assistance programs; (5) individuals who are enrolled in managed health care systems, who have otherwise lost eligibility for medical assistance, but who have not completed a current six-month enrollment in a managed health care system, and who are eligible for federal financial participation under Title XIX of the social security act; (6) children and pregnant women allowed by federal statute for whom funding is appropriated; and (7) other individuals eligible for medical services under RCW 74.09.035 and 74.09.700 for whom federal financial participation is available under Title XIX of the social security act. NEW SECTION. Sec. 202. IMMIGRANTS--ELIGIBILITY. It is the intent of the legislature that all legal immigrants who resided in the United States before August 21, 1996, retain eligibility for assistance programs the same as or similar to those from which they lost benefits as a result of P.L. 104-193. Accordingly, the state shall exercise its option under P.L. 104-193 to continue services to legal immigrants under temporary assistance for needy families, medicaid, and social services block grant programs. Legal immigrants who lose benefits under the supplemental security income program as a result of P.L. 104-193 are immediately eligible for benefits under the state's general assistance-unemployable program. The department shall redetermine income and resource eligibility at least annually, in accordance with existing state policy. It is the policy of the legislature to distinguish between legal immigrants living in the United States prior to August 22, 1996, and those who immigrated on or after the enactment of P.L. 104-193. The postenactment legal immigrants are subject to a five-year benefit exclusion for means-tested public assistance programs and are subject to the sponsor-deeming provisions of section 206 of this act, which shall be strictly construed in favor of benefit denial. NEW SECTION. Sec. 203. INCOME AVERAGING--BENEFIT DETERMINATION. In the case of applicants for temporary assistance for needy families whose principle source of earned income is seasonal employment, the department shall determine eligibility and benefit levels by retrospectively considering the applicant's earned income for the twelve-month period immediately preceding the application for assistance. The earned income shall be prorated on an annual basis, and the prorated amount used for eligibility and benefit determination in the prospective month. Assistance shall be denied until the applicant's prorated prior twelve months of income equals a monthly amount at or below the eligibility level. The intent of the legislature is to ensure that persons with seasonal earned income that, if prorated on an annual basis, would have exceeded the level qualifying them for assistance will be denied assistance until such time as they qualify on a prorated basis. Sec. 204. RCW 74.04.515 and 1991 c 126 s 4 are each amended to read as follows: In administering the food stamp program, there shall be no discrimination against any applicant or recipient by reason of age, sex, handicap, religious creed, political beliefs, race, color, ((€)) national origin, or alienage. NEW SECTION. Sec. 205. NATURALIZATION FACILITATION. The department shall make an affirmative effort to identify and proactively contact legal immigrants receiving public assistance to facilitate their applications for naturalization. The department shall inform immigrants regarding how citizenship may be attained. In order to facilitate the citizenship process, the department shall coordinate with existing resources in local government, schools, community colleges, and community organizations, and shall, within available funds, ensure that those immigrants who qualify to apply for naturalization are referred to or otherwise offered classes. The department shall assist eligible immigrants in obtaining appropriate test exemptions, and other exemptions in the naturalization process, to the extent permitted under federal law. The department shall report annually by December 15th to the legislature regarding the progress and barriers of the immigrant naturalization facilitation effort. It is the intent of the legislature that persons receiving naturalization assistance be facilitated in obtaining citizenship within two years of their eligibility to apply. NEW SECTION. Sec. 206. SPONSOR DEEMING.

(1) Except as provided in subsection (2) of this section, in determining the eligibility and the amount of benefits of an immigrant legally entering the United States on or after August 22, 1996, for temporary assistance for needy families, food stamps, medical assistance, or other welfare benefit for which assistance is based on need, as defined in P.L. 104-193 Sec. 412(c), the state or political subdivision that offers the benefit shall provide that the income and resources of the alien shall be deemed to include the following: (a) The income and resources of any individual who executed an affidavit of support under section 213A of the federal immigration and nationality act on behalf of the alien; and (b) The income and resources of the spouse, if any, of the individual. (2) Subsection (1) of this section does not apply with respect to the following state public benefits: (a) Assistance described in P.L. 104-193 Sec. 411(b)(1); (b) Short-term, noncash, in-kind emergency disaster relief; (c) Programs comparable to assistance or benefits under the federal national school lunch act; (d) Programs comparable to assistance or benefits under the federal child nutrition act of 1966; (e) Public health assistance for immunizations with respect to immunizable diseases and for testing and treatment of symptoms of communicable diseases whether or not the symptoms are caused by a communicable disease; (f) Payments for foster care and adoption assistance; (g) Programs, services, or assistance such as meals from a soup kitchen, crisis counseling and intervention, and short-term shelter, specified by the attorney general, after consultation with appropriate agencies and departments, that: (i) Deliver in-kind services at the community level, including through public or private nonprofit agencies; (ii) Do not condition the provision of assistance, the amount of assistance provided, or the cost of assistance provided on the individual recipient's income or resources; and (iii) Are necessary for the protection of life or safety. (3) Otherwise qualified legal immigrants arriving after the enactment of P.L. 104-193, and subject to the five-year federal means-tested benefit exclusion, shall, after the five-year exclusion, be eligible for medical assistance in cases where their sponsors have died. Sec. 207. RCW 74.09.800 and 1993 c 407 s 10 are each amended

Washington welfare-to-work program shall be focused on obtaining paid, unsubsidized employment. The focus of the Washington welfare-to-work program shall be work for all recipients. NEW SECTION. Sec. 302. DIVERSION ASSISTANCE. (2) Diversion assistance may include cash or vouchers in payment for the following needs: (a) Child care; (b) Housing assistance; (c) Transportation-related expenses; (d) Medical costs for the recipient's immediate family; (e) Employment-related expenses which are necessary to keep or obtain paid unsubsidized employment. An adult applicant may receive diversion assistance of any type no more than once per twelve-month period. If the recipient of diversion assistance is placed on the temporary assistance for needy families program within twelve months of receiving diversion assistance, the prorated dollar value of the assistance shall be treated as a loan from the state, and recovered by deduction from the recipient's cash grant. Sec. 303. RCW 74.08.331 and 1992 c 7 s 59 are each amended to read as follows: Any person who by means of a willfully false statement, or representation, or impersonation, or a willful failure to reveal any material fact, condition or circumstance affecting eligibility ~~((of{of}))~~ or need for assistance, including medical care, surplus commodities and food stamps, as required by law, or a willful failure to promptly notify the county office in writing as required by law or any change in status in respect to resources, or income, or need, or family composition, money contribution and other support, from whatever source derived, including unemployment insurance, or any other change in circumstances affecting the person's eligibility or need for assistance, or other fraudulent device, obtains, or attempts to obtain, or aids or abets any person to obtain any public assistance to which the person is not entitled or greater public assistance than that to which he or she is justly entitled shall be guilty of grand larceny and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by imprisonment in a state correctional facility for not more than fifteen years. (2) The department shall maximize receipt of federal funds and shall take necessary and appropriate action to preserve state funding at the maximum level. The department shall expend state funds designated in RCW 41.06.380 to the extent possible before expending federal funds designated in RCW 41.06.380. Federal funds designated in RCW 41.06.380 which remain unspent at the end of any state or federal fiscal year shall be brought forward to be spent in the next state or federal fiscal year. NEW SECTION. Sec. 305. TEMPORARY ASSISTANCE FOR NEEDY FAMILIES FUND SHIFT. (1) The legislature may transfer up to thirty percent of the block grant awarded under the temporary assistance for needy families program to the child care program authorized in section 402 of this act through the biennial appropriations act. Of this amount, up to thirty percent may be transferred to programs funded under the social services block grant, but only if the funds transferred directly serve children and families whose income is less than two hundred percent of the federal poverty level. (2) In the biennial appropriations act, the legislature may delegate the authority for the transfer authorized in subsection (1) of this section to the department. If a delegation is made, the department shall report on an annual basis to the fiscal committees of the legislature what transfers were made and how transferred funds were expended. The report shall be due no later than August 31st of each year. NEW SECTION. Sec. 306. A new section is added to chapter 28A.630 RCW to read as follows: SCHOOL-TO-WORK TRANSITIONS. (1) The legislature finds that noncollege-bound and at-risk youth are more likely than college-bound youth to become dependent on state assistance programs and that long-term employment and earning outcomes for noncollege-bound and at-risk youth can be significantly improved through school-to-work efforts, particularly through work-based learning. The legislature intends that every effort be made by school-to-work programs in the state to involve school drop-outs, noncollege-bound youth, and at-risk youth. (2) All school-to-work transition projects in the state, whether funded with state or federal funds, shall contain an outreach component directed toward school age youth not currently enrolled in school, noncollege-bound youth, and at-risk youth. At the time a school-to-work grant is made, the superintendent of public instruction shall withhold twenty percent of the grant award and release the funds upon a showing that the project has satisfactorily included drop-outs, noncollege-bound youth, and at-risk youth. (3) The office of the superintendent of public instruction shall provide technical assistance to school-to-work transition projects to help establish and operate outreach efforts under this section, and to include drop-outs, noncollege-bound youth, and at-risk youth in school-to-work efforts within available funds. Sec. 307. RCW 28A.630.876 and 1993 c 335 s 8 are each amended to read as follows: (1) The superintendent of public instruction shall report to the education committees of the legislature and committees of the legislature handling economic development and social welfare issues on the progress of the schools for the school-to-work transitions program by December 15 of each odd-numbered year. (2) Each school district selected to participate in the ~~((academic and vocational integration development))~~ school-to-work transitions program shall submit an annual report to the superintendent of public instruction on the progress of the project as a condition of receipt of continued funding. NEW SECTION. Sec. 308. A new section is added to chapter 43.30 RCW to read as follows: JOBS FOR THE ENVIRONMENT PROGRAMS. In any jobs for the environment program designed to train and employ displaced natural resource workers and operated by the department of natural resources, recipients of temporary assistance for needy families from natural resource areas who are engaged in work search activities are eligible for training and employment on the same basis as displaced natural resource workers within available funds. NEW SECTION. Sec. 309. A new section is added to chapter 50.62 RCW to read as follows: SELF-EMPLOYMENT ASSISTANCE. (1) The legislature finds that individuals who exhaust their unemployment insurance benefits may become dependent on state assistance programs. The federal government has authorized states that pass enabling legislation to provide self-employment assistance to those individuals profiled as likely to exhaust their unemployment insurance benefits. The legislature further finds that the establishment of a self-employment assistance program for individuals who are likely to exhaust their unemployment insurance benefits and have an interest in starting a business would create new businesses and job opportunities in Washington state. The legislature intends that every effort be made, within available funds, by the state to support self-employment by individuals who are profiled as likely to exhaust their unemployment insurance benefits. (2) An unemployed individual is eligible to participate in a self-employment assistance program if it has been determined that the individual: (a) Is otherwise eligible for regular unemployment benefits as defined in RCW 50.22.010(5); (b) Has been identified as likely to exhaust regular unemployment benefits under a profiling system established by the commissioner as defined in P.L. 103-152; (c) Is enrolled in a self-employment assistance program that is approved by the commissioner, and that includes entrepreneurial training, business counseling, and technical assistance; and (d) Is actively engaged on a full-time basis in activities relating to the establishment of a business and becoming self-employed. The self-employment assistance program administrators shall determine whether the claimant is engaged on a full-time basis. (3) Individuals participating in a self-employment assistance program approved by the commissioner are eligible to receive a self-employment allowance in lieu of regular benefits, payable in the same weekly benefit amount, at the same interval, on the same terms, and subject to the same conditions as regular unemployment benefits, except that: (a) The requirements of RCW 50.20.010(3) and 50.20.080 relating to availability for work, active search for work, and refusal to accept suitable work are not applicable to such individuals; (b) Income earned from self-employment shall not be considered remuneration and is not deductible from the weekly benefit amount by reason of the application of RCW 50.20.130; and (c) An individual who meets the requirements of this chapter is considered to be unemployed under RCW 50.04.310 and 50.20.010. (4) An individual who fails to participate in his or her approved self-employment assistance program or who fails to actively engage on a full-time basis in activities relating to establishing a business is disqualified from self-employment allowances for the week the failure occurs. An individual who is disqualified from self-employment allowances due to a failure under this subsection may be eligible for regular benefits for that week if the individual meets all eligibility requirements for regular benefits. (5) The commissioner shall take all steps necessary in carrying out this section to assure collaborative involvement of interested parties in program development and to ensure that the self-employment assistance programs and self-employment allowances meet all federal criteria for withdrawal from the unemployment fund. The commissioner may approve, as self-employment assistance programs, existing self-employment training programs available through community colleges, private industry councils, or other organizations and is not obligated by this section to expend any departmental funds for the operation of self-employment assistance programs, unless specific funding is provided to the department for that purpose through federal or state appropriations. No payments to individuals may be made under this section until such time as a plan for such payments is approved by the United States department of labor. (6) The commissioner may adopt rules as necessary to address the relationship of this section to eligibility for conventional unemployment insurance benefits, definitions, program eligibility, program review, and compliance with applicable federal laws and regulations. (7) If any part of this section is found to be in conflict with federal requirements that are a prescribed condition to the allocation of federal funds to the state or the eligibility of employers in this state for federal unemployment tax credits, the conflicting part of this section is hereby declared to be inoperative solely to the extent of the conflict, and such finding or determination shall not affect the operation of the remainder of this section. The rules under this section shall meet federal requirements that are a necessary condition to the receipt of federal funds by the state or the granting of federal unemployment tax credits to employers in this state. Sec. 310. RCW 50.16.030 and 1983 1st ex.s. c 7 s 1 are each amended to read as follows: (1) Moneys shall be requisitioned from this state's account in the unemployment trust fund solely for the payment of benefits, self-employment allowances, and repayment of loans from the federal government to guarantee solvency of the unemployment compensation fund in accordance with regulations prescribed by the commissioner, except that money credited to this state's account pursuant to section 903 of the social security act, as amended, shall be used exclusively as provided in RCW 50.16.030(5). The commissioner shall from time to time requisition from the unemployment trust fund such amounts, not exceeding the amounts standing to its account therein, as he deems necessary for the payment of benefits for a reasonable future period. Upon receipt thereof the treasurer shall deposit such moneys in the benefit account and shall issue his warrants for the payment of benefits solely from such benefits account. (2) Expenditures of such moneys in the benefit account and refunds from the clearing account shall not be subject to any provisions of law requiring specific appropriations or other formal release by state officers of money in their custody, and RCW 43.01.050, as amended, shall not apply. All warrants issued by the treasurer for the payment of benefits, self-employment allowances, and refunds shall bear the signature of the treasurer and the countersignature of the commissioner, or his duly authorized agent for that purpose. (3) Any balance of moneys requisitioned from the unemployment trust fund which remains unclaimed or unpaid in the benefit account after the expiration of the period for which sums were requisitioned shall either be deducted from estimates for, and may be utilized for the payment of, benefits and self-employment allowances during succeeding periods, or in the discretion of the commissioner, shall be redeposited with the secretary of the treasury of the United States of America to the credit of this state's account in the unemployment trust fund. (4) Money credited to the account of this state in the unemployment trust fund by the secretary of the treasury of the United States of America pursuant to section 903 of the social security act, as amended, may be requisitioned and used for the payment of expenses incurred for the administration of this title pursuant to a specific appropriation by the legislature, provided that the expenses are incurred and the money is requisitioned after the enactment of an appropriation law which: (a) specifies the purposes for which such money is appropriated and the amounts appropriated therefor, (b) limits the period within which such money may be obligated to a period ending not more than two years after the date of the enactment of the appropriation law, and (c) limits the amount which may be obligated during a twelve-month period beginning on July 1st and ending on the next June 30th to an amount which does not exceed the amount by which (i) the aggregate of the amounts credited to the account of this state pursuant to section 903 of the social security act, as amended, during the same twelve-month period and the thirty-four preceding twelve-month periods, exceeds (ii) the aggregate of the amounts obligated pursuant to RCW 50.16.030 (4), (5) and (6) and charged against the amounts credited to the account of this state during any of such thirty-five twelve-month periods. For the purposes of RCW 50.16.030 (4), (5) and (6), amounts obligated during any such twelve-month period shall be charged against equivalent amounts which were first credited and which are not already so charged; except that no amount obligated for administration during any such twelve-month period may be charged against any amount credited during such a twelve-month period earlier than the thirty-fourth twelve-month period preceding such period: PROVIDED, That any amount credited to this state's account under section 903 of the social security act, as amended, which has been appropriated for expenses of administration, whether or not withdrawn from the trust fund shall be excluded from the unemployment compensation fund balance for the purpose of experience rating credit determination. (5) Money credited to the account of this state pursuant to section 903 of the social security act, as amended, may not be withdrawn or used except for the payment of benefits and self-employment allowances and for the payment of expenses of administration and of public employment offices pursuant to RCW 50.16.030 (4), (5) and (6). (6) Money requisitioned as provided in RCW 50.16.030 (4), (5) and (6) for the payment of expenses of administration shall be deposited in the unemployment compensation fund, but until expended, shall remain a part of the unemployment compensation fund. The commissioner shall maintain a separate record of the deposit, obligation, expenditure and return of funds so deposited.

Any money so deposited which either will not be obligated within the period specified by the appropriation law or remains unobligated at the end of the period, and any money which has been obligated within the period but will not be expended, shall be returned promptly to the account of this state in the unemployment trust fund. NEW SECTION. Sec. 311.

EMPLOYMENT INCENTIVES. In addition to their monthly benefit payment, recipients of temporary assistance for needy families benefits may earn and keep one hundred twenty dollars and one-third of the remainder of their earnings during every month they are eligible to receive assistance under this chapter. This amount of earned income shall be disregarded in determining their eligibility and benefit amount. Sec. 312. RCW 74.04.005 and 1992 c 165 s 1 and 1992 c 136 s 1 are each reenacted and amended to read as follows: For the purposes of this title, unless the context indicates otherwise, the following definitions shall apply: (1) "Public assistance" or "assistance"—Public aid to persons in need thereof for any cause, including services, medical care, assistance grants, disbursing orders, work relief, general assistance and federal-aid assistance. (6)(a) "General assistance"—Aid to persons in need who: (i) Are not eligible to receive federal-aid assistance, other than food stamps and medical assistance; however, an individual who refuses or fails to cooperate in obtaining federal-aid assistance, without good cause, is not eligible for general assistance; (ii) Meet one of the following conditions: (A) Pregnant: PROVIDED, That need is based on the current income and resource requirements of the federal ((aid to families with dependent children)) temporary assistance for needy families program(~~—PROVIDED FURTHER, That during any period in which an aid for dependent children employable program is not in operation, only those pregnant women who are categorically eligible for medicaid are eligible for general assistance~~); or (B) Subject to chapter 165, Laws of 1992, incapacitated from gainful employment by reason of bodily or mental infirmity that will likely continue for a minimum of ninety days as determined by the department. (C) Persons who are unemployable due to alcohol or drug addiction are not eligible for general assistance. Persons receiving general assistance on July 26, 1987, or becoming eligible for such assistance thereafter, due to an alcohol or drug-related incapacity, shall be referred to appropriate assessment, treatment, shelter, or supplemental security income referral services as authorized under chapter 74.50 RCW. Referrals shall be made at the time of application or at the time of eligibility review. Alcoholic and drug addicted clients who are receiving general assistance on July 26, 1987, may remain on general assistance if they otherwise retain their eligibility until they are assessed for services under chapter 74.50 RCW. If the social security account number cannot be furnished because it has not been issued or is not known, an application for a number shall be made prior to authorization of assistance, and the social security number shall be provided to the department upon receipt. (b) Notwithstanding the provisions of subsection (6)(a)(i), (ii), and (c) of this section, general assistance shall be provided to the following recipients of federal-aid assistance: (i) Recipients of supplemental security income whose need, as defined in this section, is not met by such supplemental security income grant because of separation from a spouse; or (ii) To the extent authorized by the legislature in the biennial appropriations act, to recipients of ((aid to families with dependent children)) temporary assistance for needy families whose needs are not being met because of a temporary reduction in monthly income below the entitled benefit payment level caused by loss or reduction of wages or unemployment compensation benefits or some other unforeseen circumstances. The amount of general assistance authorized shall not exceed the difference between the entitled benefit payment level and the amount of income actually received. (c) General assistance shall be provided only to persons who are not members of assistance units receiving federal aid assistance, except as provided in subsection (6)(a)(ii)(A) and (b) of this section, and will accept available services which can reasonably be expected to enable the person to work or reduce the need for assistance unless there is good cause to refuse. Failure to accept such services shall result in termination until the person agrees to cooperate in accepting such services and subject to the following maximum periods of ineligibility after reapplication: (i) First failure: One week; (ii) Second failure within six months: One month; (iii) Third and subsequent failure within one year: Two months. (d) Persons found eligible for general assistance based on incapacity from gainful employment may, if otherwise eligible, receive general assistance pending application for federal supplemental security income benefits. Any general assistance that is subsequently duplicated by the person's receipt of supplemental security income for the same period shall be considered a debt due the state and shall by operation of law be subject to recovery through all available legal remedies. (e) The department shall adopt by rule medical criteria for general assistance eligibility to ensure that eligibility decisions are consistent with statutory requirements and are based on clear, objective medical information. (f) The process implementing the medical criteria shall involve consideration of opinions of the treating or consulting physicians or health care professionals regarding incapacity, and any eligibility decision which rejects uncontroverted medical opinion must set forth clear and convincing reasons for doing so. (g) Recipients of general assistance based upon a finding of incapacity from gainful employment who remain otherwise eligible shall not have their benefits terminated absent a clear showing of material improvement in their medical or mental condition or specific error in the prior determination that found the recipient eligible by reason of incapacitation. Recipients of general assistance based upon pregnancy who relinquish their child for adoption, remain otherwise eligible, and are not eligible to receive benefits under the federal ((aid to families with dependent children)) temporary assistance for needy families program shall not have their benefits terminated until the end of the month in which the period of six weeks following the birth of the recipient's child falls. Recipients of the federal ((aid to families with dependent children)) temporary assistance for needy families program who lose their eligibility solely because of the birth and relinquishment of the qualifying child may receive general assistance through the end of the month in which the period of six weeks following the birth of the child falls. (7) "Applicant"—Any person who has made a request, or on behalf of whom a request has been made, to any county or local office for assistance. (8) "Recipient"—Any person receiving assistance and in addition those dependents whose needs are included in the recipient's assistance. (9) "Standards of assistance"—The level of income required by an applicant or recipient to maintain a level of living specified by the department. (10) "Resource"— Any asset, tangible or intangible, owned by or available to the applicant at the time of application, which can be applied toward meeting the applicant's need, either directly or by conversion into money or its equivalent: PROVIDED, That an applicant may retain the following described resources and not be ineligible for public assistance because of such resources. (a) A home, which is defined as real property owned and used by an applicant or recipient as a place of residence, together with a reasonable amount of property surrounding and contiguous thereto, which is used by and useful to the applicant. Whenever a recipient shall cease to use such property for residential purposes, either for himself or his dependents, the property shall be considered as a resource which can be made available to meet need, and if the recipient or his dependents absent themselves from the home for a period of ninety consecutive days such absence, unless due to hospitalization or health reasons or a natural disaster, shall raise a rebuttable presumption of abandonment: PROVIDED, That if in the opinion of three physicians the recipient will be unable to return to the home during his lifetime, and the home is not occupied by a spouse or dependent children or disabled sons or daughters, such property shall be considered as a resource which can be made available to meet need. (b) Household furnishings and personal effects and other personal property having great sentimental value to the applicant or recipient, as limited by the department consistent with limitations on resources and exemptions for federal aid assistance. (c) A motor vehicle, other than a motor home, used and useful having an equity value not to exceed ~~((one))~~ five thousand ~~((five hundred))~~ dollars. (d) All other resources, including any excess of values exempted, not to exceed one thousand dollars or other limit as set by the department, to be consistent with limitations on resources and exemptions necessary for federal aid assistance. The department shall also allow recipients of temporary assistance for needy families to exempt savings accounts with combined balances of up to an additional three thousand dollars. (e) Applicants for or recipients of general assistance shall have their eligibility based on resource limitations consistent with the ~~((aid to families with dependent children))~~ temporary assistance for needy families program rules adopted by the department. (f) If an applicant for or recipient of public assistance possesses property and belongings in excess of the ceiling value, such value shall be used in determining the need of the applicant or recipient, except that: (i) The department may exempt resources or income when the income and resources are determined necessary to the applicant's or recipient's restoration to independence, to decrease the need for public assistance, or to aid in rehabilitating the applicant or recipient or a dependent of the applicant or recipient; and (ii) the department may provide grant assistance for a period not to exceed nine months from the date the agreement is signed pursuant to this section to persons who are otherwise ineligible because of excess real property owned by such persons when they are making a good faith effort to dispose of that property: PROVIDED, That: (A) The applicant or recipient signs an agreement to repay the lesser of the amount of aid received or the net proceeds of such sale; (B) If the owner of the excess property ceases to make good faith efforts to sell the property, the entire amount of assistance may become an overpayment and a debt due the state and may be recovered pursuant to RCW 43.20B.630; (C) Applicants and recipients are advised of their right to a fair hearing and afforded the opportunity to challenge a decision that good faith efforts to sell have ceased, prior to assessment of an overpayment under this section; and (D) At the time assistance is authorized, the department files a lien without a sum certain on the specific property. (11) "Income"—(a) All appreciable gains in real or personal property (cash or kind) or other assets, which are received by or become available for use and enjoyment by an applicant or recipient during the month of application or after applying for or receiving public assistance. The department may by rule and regulation exempt income received by an applicant for or recipient of public assistance which can be used by him to decrease his need for public assistance or to aid in rehabilitating him or his dependents, but such exemption shall not, unless otherwise provided in this title, exceed the exemptions of resources granted under this chapter to an applicant for public assistance. In determining the amount of assistance to which an applicant or recipient of ~~((aid to families with dependent children))~~ temporary assistance for needy families is entitled, the department is hereby authorized to disregard as a resource or income the earned income exemptions consistent with federal requirements. The department may permit the above exemption of earnings of a child to be retained by such child to cover the cost of special future identifiable needs even though the total exceeds the exemptions or resources granted to applicants and recipients of public assistance, but consistent with federal requirements. In formulating rules and regulations pursuant to this chapter, the department shall define income and resources and the availability thereof, consistent with federal requirements. All resources and income not specifically exempted, and any income or other economic benefit derived from the use of, or appreciation in value of, exempt resources, shall be considered in determining the need of an applicant or recipient of public assistance. (b) If, under applicable federal requirements, the state has the option of considering property in the form of lump sum compensatory awards or related settlements received by an applicant or recipient as income or as a resource, the department shall consider such property to be a resource. (12) "Need"—The difference between the applicant's or recipient's standards of assistance for himself and the dependent members of his family, as measured by the standards of the department, and value of all nonexempt resources and nonexempt income received by or available to the applicant or recipient and the dependent members of his family. (13) "Nonexempt recipient"—For the purposes of this title, nonexempt recipient shall mean all heads of household whose families are eligible for and receiving benefits under the Washington temporary assistance for needy families program, except those who have a child under three months of age and except those cases which are only children. The exemption for a child under three months of age applies to any family only once during their entire five-year allowed stay on assistance. (14) For purposes of determining eligibility for public assistance and participation levels in the cost of medical care, the department shall exempt restitution payments made to people of Japanese and Aleut ancestry pursuant to the Civil Liberties Act of 1988 and the Aleutian and Pribilof Island Restitution Act passed by congress, P.L. 100-383, including all income and resources derived therefrom. ~~((+4))~~ (15) In the construction of words and phrases used in this title, the singular number shall include the plural, the masculine gender shall include both the feminine and neuter genders and the present tense shall include the past and future tenses, unless the context thereof shall clearly indicate to the contrary. NEW SECTION. OUTCOME AND PERFORMANCE MEASURE

STUDY. (1) The joint legislative audit and review committee shall conduct an ongoing, contemporaneous evaluation of the effectiveness of the welfare-to-work programs described in chapter . . . , Laws of 1997 (this act), commencing on the effective date of this section, and including an evaluation of the effectiveness of the approved temporary assistance for needy families work activities, and any approved private, county, local, or state government welfare-to-work program. The evaluation shall assess the success of the programs in assisting clients to become employed, to maintain longevity in private employment, and to reduce reliance upon temporary assistance for needy families. The study shall include without limitation the following elements: (a) An assessment of employment outcomes, including hourly wage rates, hours worked, employment longevity, and total earnings for clients; (b) A comparison of temporary assistance for needy families dynamics, including grant amounts and program entries and exits for clients; (c) A cost-benefit analysis of the use of public and private contractors; (d) An audit of the performance-based contract for each private and public contractor for temporary assistance for needy families approved work activity; and (e) Data regarding the twenty-four-month public assistance recidivism rate for those who had obtained or been placed in private, unsubsidized employment. (2) Administrative data shall be provided by the department, the employment security department, the state board for community and technical colleges, local governments, and private contractors. The department shall require contractors to provide administrative and outcome data needed for this study as a condition of contract compliance. (3) Additional data may be collected directly from clients if unavailable from administrative records. (4) The joint legislative audit and review committee shall present an evaluation plan to the legislature. The plan shall be designed to maximize federal funding for evaluation of temporary assistance for needy families programs. (5) The joint legislative audit and review committee shall submit annual reports to the legislature, beginning in December 1997, with a final report due in December 2001. NEW SECTION. Sec. 706. EXEMPTION CHARACTERISTICS STUDY. (1) The legislature recognizes that not all adult recipients of temporary assistance for needy families can realistically be expected to attain self-sufficiency within the five-year lifetime benefit limit. Although the market for paid employment is the ultimate determiner of employability and no one should be prejudged as unemployable, the legislature finds that there will be some recipients with severe or multiple barriers to employment, for whom the five-year time limit is unrealistic. It is the intent of the legislature to study carefully the characteristics of adult recipients of temporary assistance for needy families in order to determine the profile of those recipients for whom a bona fide short or long-term exemption to time limits should apply, in light of the federal limitation on allowable exemptions. (2) The institute for public policy shall conduct a study, commencing on the effective date of this section, to determine the extent and the nature of disabilities and barriers to independence based upon personal characteristics existing in the adult temporary assistance for needy families caseload. The study shall address, without limitation, the following elements of assessment: (a) An assessment of the extent to which adult recipients may be affected by a learning disability that prevents high school or GED completion or impairs employability. For purposes of this study, "learning disabilities" includes conditions described as perceptual disabilities, brain injury, minimal brain dysfunction, dyslexia, dysgraphia, and developmental aphasia; (b) An assessment of the extent to which adult recipients are, or have recently been, victims of domestic violence; (c) An assessment of the physical disabilities, including chronic health conditions, evident in the population of adult recipients; (d) An assessment of the mental disabilities, including subnormal intelligence as measured by standard clinical tests, evident in the population of adult recipients; (e) An assessment of the extent to which adult recipients have been defendants in civil and criminal legal actions; (f) An assessment of the extent to which adult recipients exhibit interaction among multiple impairments; and (g) An assessment of the extent of alcohol and substance abuse experienced by adult recipients. (3) Administrative data shall be provided by the department, the department of health, the employment security department, the state board for community and technical colleges, local government providers, and private contractors. The department shall require contractors to provide administrative and outcome data needed for the study in this section as a condition of contract. Confidentiality of individual recipients' identities must be maintained. (4) Additional data may be collected directly from recipients, if unavailable from administrative records. (5) The institute for public policy shall submit periodic reports of its findings to the legislature, beginning in December 1997, with a final report due in December 2000. It is the intent of the legislature that the final report include a complete evaluation of the characteristics of adult recipients, including an objective estimate of the prevalence of serious disability that may prevent full employment, as well as recommendations regarding a method of establishing proof of individual disability that may qualify a recipient for a short or long-term exemption to time limits. NEW SECTION. Sec. 707. PATERNITY ESTABLISHMENT. In order to be eligible for temporary assistance for needy families, applicants shall, at the time of application for assistance, provide the names of both parents of their child or children, whether born or unborn, unless the applicant meets good cause criteria for refusing such identification. NEW SECTION. Sec. 708. RCW 74.04.770 and 1983 1st ex.s. c 41 s 38 & 1981 2nd ex.s. c 10 s 4 are each repealed. VIII. LICENSE SUSPENSION AND CHILD SUPPORT ENFORCEMENT. LICENSE SUSPENSION NEW SECTION. Sec. 801. It is the intent of the legislature to provide a strong incentive for persons owing child support to make timely payments, and to cooperate with the department of social and health services to establish an appropriate schedule for the payment of any arrears. To further ensure that child support obligations are met, sections 801 through 898 of this act establish a program by which certain licenses may be suspended or not renewed if a person is one hundred eighty days or more in arrears on child support payments. In the implementation and management of this program, it is the legislature's intent that the objective of the department of social and health services be to obtain payment in full of arrears, or where that is not possible, to enter into agreements with delinquent obligors to make timely support payments and make reasonable payments towards the arrears. The legislature intends that if the obligor refuses to cooperate in establishing a fair and reasonable payment schedule for arrears or refuses to make timely support payments, the department shall proceed with certification to a licensing entity or the department of licensing that the person is not in compliance with a child support order. NEW SECTION. Sec. 802. A new section is added to chapter 74.20A RCW to read as follows: (1) The department may serve upon a responsible parent a notice informing the responsible parent of the department's intent to submit the parent's name to the department of licensing and any appropriate licensing entity as a licensee who is not in compliance with a child support order. The department shall attach a copy of the responsible parent's child support order to the notice. Service of the notice must be by certified mail, return receipt requested. If service by certified mail is not successful, service shall be by personal service. (2) The notice of noncompliance must include the address and telephone number of the department's division of child support office that issues the notice and must inform the responsible parent that: (a) The parent may request an adjudicative proceeding to contest the issue of compliance. The only issues that may be considered at the adjudicative proceeding are whether the parent is required to pay child support under a child support order and whether the parent is in compliance with that order; (b) A request for an adjudicative proceeding shall be in writing and must be received by the department within twenty days of the date of service of the notice; (c) If the parent requests an adjudicative proceeding within twenty days of service, the department will stay action to certify the parent to the department of licensing and any licensing entity for noncompliance with a child support order pending entry of a written decision after the adjudicative proceeding; (d) If the parent does not request an adjudicative proceeding within twenty days of service and remains in noncompliance with a child support order, the department will certify the parent's name to the department of licensing and any appropriate licensing entity for noncompliance with a child support order; (e) The department will stay action to certify the parent to the department of licensing and any licensing entity for noncompliance if the parent agrees to make timely payments of current support and agrees to a reasonable payment schedule for payment of the arrears. It is the parent's responsibility to contact in person or by mail the department's division of child support office indicated on the notice within twenty days of service of the notice to arrange for a payment schedule. The department may stay certification for up to thirty days after contact from a parent to arrange for a payment schedule; (f) If the department certifies the responsible parent to the department of licensing and a licensing entity for noncompliance with a child support order, the licensing entity will suspend or not renew the parent's license and the department of licensing will suspend or not renew any driver's license that the parent holds until the parent provides the department of licensing and the licensing entity with a release from the department stating that the responsible parent is in compliance with the child support order; (g) Suspension of a license will affect insurability if the responsible parent's insurance policy excludes coverage for acts occurring after the suspension of a license; (h) If after receiving the notice of noncompliance with a child support order, the responsible parent files a motion to modify support with the court or requests the department to amend a support obligation established by an administrative decision, the department or the court may stay action to certify the parent to the department of licensing and any licensing entity for noncompliance with a child support order. The responsible parent has the obligation to notify the department that a modification proceeding is pending and provide a copy of the motion or request for modification; and (i) If the responsible parent subsequently becomes in compliance with the child support order, the department will promptly provide the parent with a release stating that the parent is in compliance with the order, and the parent may request that the licensing entity or the department of licensing reinstate the suspended license. (3) A responsible parent may request an adjudicative proceeding upon service of the notice described in subsection (1) of this section. The request for an adjudicative proceeding must be received by the department within twenty days of service. The request must be in writing and indicate the current mailing address and daytime phone number, if available, of the responsible parent. The proceedings under this subsection shall be conducted in accordance with the requirements of chapter 34.05 RCW. The issues that may be considered at the adjudicative proceeding are limited to whether: (a) The person named as the responsible parent is the responsible parent; (b) The responsible parent is required to pay child support under a child support order; and (c) The responsible parent is in compliance with the order. (4) The decision resulting from the adjudicative proceeding must be in writing and inform the responsible parent of his or her rights to review. The parent's copy of the decision may be sent by regular mail to the parent's most recent address of record. (5) If a responsible parent contacts the department's division of child support office indicated on the notice of noncompliance within twenty days of service of the notice and requests arrangement of a payment schedule, the department shall stay the certification of noncompliance during negotiation of the schedule for payment of arrears. In no event shall the stay continue for more than thirty days from the date of contact by the parent. The department shall make good faith efforts to establish a schedule for payment of arrears that is fair and reasonable, and that considers the financial situation of the responsible parent and the needs of all children who rely on the responsible parent for support. At the end of the thirty days, if no payment schedule has been agreed to in writing, the department shall proceed with certification of noncompliance. (6) If a responsible parent timely requests an adjudicative proceeding pursuant to subsection (4) of this section, the department may not certify the name of the parent to the department of licensing or a licensing entity for noncompliance with a child support order unless the adjudicative proceeding results in a finding that the responsible parent is not in compliance with the order. (7) The department may certify to the department of licensing and any appropriate licensing entity the name of a responsible parent who is not in compliance with a child support order if: (a) The responsible parent does not timely request an adjudicative proceeding upon service of a notice issued under subsection (1) of this section and is not in compliance with a child support order twenty-one days after service of the notice; (b) An adjudicative proceeding results in a decision that the responsible parent is not in compliance with a child support order; (c) The court enters a judgment on a petition for judicial review that finds the responsible parent is not in compliance with a child support order; (d) The department and the responsible parent have been unable to agree on a fair and reasonable schedule of payment of the arrears; or (e) The responsible parent fails to comply with a payment schedule established pursuant to subsection (5) of this section. The department shall send by regular mail a copy of any certification of noncompliance filed with the department of licensing or a licensing entity to the responsible parent at the responsible parent's most recent address of record. (8) The department of licensing and a licensing entity shall, without undue delay, notify a responsible parent certified by the department under subsection (7) of this section that the parent's driver's license or other license has been suspended because the parent's name has been certified by the department as a responsible parent who is not in compliance with a child support order. (9) When a responsible parent who is served notice under subsection (1) of this section subsequently complies with the child support order, the department shall promptly provide the parent with a release stating that the responsible parent is in compliance with the order. A copy of the release shall be transmitted by the department to the appropriate licensing entities. (10) The department may adopt rules to implement and enforce the requirements of this section. (11) Nothing in this section prohibits a responsible parent from filing a motion to modify support with the court or from requesting the department to amend a support obligation established by an administrative decision. If there is a reasonable likelihood that the motion or request will significantly change the amount of the child support obligation, the department or the court may stay action to certify the responsible parent to the department of licensing and any licensing entity for noncompliance with a child support order. The responsible parent has the obligation to notify the department that a modification proceeding is pending and provide a copy of the motion or request for modification. (12) The department of licensing and a licensing entity may issue, renew, reinstate, or otherwise extend a license in accordance with the licensing entity's or the department of licensing's rules after the licensing entity or the department of licensing receives a copy of the release specified in subsection (9) of this section. The department of licensing and a licensing entity may waive any applicable requirement for reissuance, renewal, or other extension if it determines that the imposition of that requirement places an undue burden on the person and that waiver of the requirement is consistent with the public interest. (13) The procedures in chapter . . . , Laws of 1997 (this act), constitute the exclusive administrative remedy for contesting the establishment of noncompliance with a child support order and suspension of a license under this section, and satisfy the requirements of RCW 34.05.422. NEW SECTION. Sec. 803. A new section is added to chapter 74.20A RCW to read as follows: (1) The department and all of the various licensing entities subject to section 802 of this act shall enter into such agreements as are necessary to carry out the requirements of the license suspension program established in section 802 of this act. (2) The department and all licensing entities subject to section 802 of this act shall compare data to identify responsible parents who may be subject to the provisions of chapter . . . , Laws of 1997 (this act). The comparison may be conducted electronically, or by any other means that is jointly agreeable between the department and the particular licensing entity. The data shared shall be limited to those items necessary to implementation of chapter . . . , Laws of 1997 (this act). The purpose of the comparison shall be to identify current licensees who are not in compliance with a child support order, and to provide to the department the following information regarding those licensees: (a) Name; (b) Date of birth; (c) Address of record; (d) Federal employer identification number and social security number; (e) Type of license; (f) Effective date of license or renewal; (g) Expiration date of license; and (h) Active or inactive status. NEW SECTION. Sec. 804. A new section is added to chapter 74.20A RCW to read as follows: In furtherance of the public policy of increasing collection of child support and to assist in evaluation of the program established in section 802 of this act, the department shall report the following to the legislature and the governor on December 1, 1998, and annually thereafter: (1) The number of responsible parents identified as licensees subject to section 802 of this act; (2) The number of responsible parents identified by the department as not in compliance with a child support order; (3) The number of notices of noncompliance served upon responsible parents by the department; (4) The number of responsible parents served a notice of noncompliance who request an adjudicative proceeding; (5) The number of adjudicative proceedings held, and the results of the adjudicative proceedings; (6) The number of responsible parents certified to the department of licensing or licensing entities for noncompliance with a child support order, and the number of each type of licenses that were suspended; (7) The costs incurred in the implementation and enforcement of section 802 of this act and an estimate of the amount of child support collected due to the department under section 802 of this act; (8) Any other information regarding this program that the department feels will assist in evaluation of the program; (9) Recommendations for the addition of specific licenses in the program or exclusion of specific licenses from the program, and reasons for such recommendations; and (10) Any recommendations for statutory changes necessary for the cost-effective management of the program. Sec. 805. RCW 74.20A.020 and 1990 1st ex.s. c 2 s 15 are each amended to read as follows: Unless a different meaning is plainly required by the context, the following words and phrases as hereinafter used in this chapter and chapter 74.20 RCW shall have the following meanings: (1) "Department" means the state department of social and health services. (6) "Administrative order" means any determination, finding, decree, or order for support pursuant to RCW 74.20A.055, or by an agency of another state pursuant to a substantially similar administrative process, establishing the existence of a support obligation and ordering the payment of a set or determinable amount of support moneys to satisfy the support obligation. (18) "Noncompliance with a child support order" for the purposes of the license suspension program authorized under section 802 of this act means a responsible parent has: (a) Accumulated arrears totaling more than six months of child support payments; (b) Failed to make payments pursuant to a written agreement with the department towards a support arrearage in an amount that exceeds six months of payments; or (c) Failed to make payments required by a superior court order or administrative order towards a support arrearage in an amount that exceeds six months of payments. Sec. 806. RCW 46.20.291 and 1993 c 501 s 4 are each amended to read as follows: The department is authorized to suspend the license of a driver upon a showing by its records or other sufficient evidence that the licensee: (1) Has committed an offense for which mandatory revocation or suspension of license is provided by law; (2) Has, by reckless or unlawful operation of a motor vehicle, caused or contributed to an accident resulting in death or injury to any person or serious property damage; (3) Has been convicted of offenses against traffic regulations governing the movement of vehicles, or found to have committed traffic infractions, with such frequency as to indicate a disrespect for traffic laws or a disregard for the safety of other persons on the highways; (4) Is incompetent to drive a motor vehicle under RCW 46.20.031(3); ((or)) (5) Has failed to respond to a notice of traffic infraction, failed to appear at a requested hearing, violated a written promise to appear in court, or has failed to comply with the terms of a notice of traffic infraction or citation, as provided in RCW 46.20.289; ((or)) (6) Has committed one of the prohibited practices relating to drivers' licenses defined in RCW 46.20.336; or (7) Has been certified by the department of social and health services as a person who is not in compliance with a child support order as provided in section 802 of this act. Sec. 807. RCW 46.20.311 and 1995 c 332 s 11 are each amended to read as follows: (1) The department shall not suspend a driver's license or privilege to drive a motor vehicle on the public highways for a fixed period of more than one year, except as specifically permitted under RCW 46.20.342 or other provision of law. Except for a suspension under RCW 46.20.289 ((and)), 46.20.291(5), or section 802 of this act, whenever the license or driving privilege of any person is suspended by reason of a conviction, a finding that a traffic infraction has been committed, pursuant to chapter 46.29 RCW, or pursuant to RCW 46.20.291 or 46.20.308, the suspension shall remain in effect until the person gives and thereafter maintains proof of financial responsibility for the future as provided in chapter 46.29 RCW. If the suspension is the result of a violation of RCW 46.61.502 or 46.61.504, the department shall determine the person's eligibility for licensing based upon the reports provided by the alcoholism agency or probation department designated under RCW 46.61.5056 and shall deny reinstatement until enrollment and participation in an approved program has been established and the person is otherwise qualified. Whenever the license or driving privilege of any person is suspended as a result of certification of noncompliance with a child support order under chapter 74.20A RCW, the suspension shall remain in effect until the person provides a release issued by the department of social and health services stating that the person is in compliance with the order. The department shall not issue to the person a new, duplicate, or renewal license until the person pays a reissue fee of twenty dollars. If the suspension is the result of a violation of RCW 46.61.502 or 46.61.504, or is the result of administrative action under RCW 46.20.308, the reissue fee shall be fifty dollars. (2) Any person whose license or privilege to drive a motor vehicle on the public highways has been revoked, unless the revocation was for a cause which has been removed, is not entitled to have the license or privilege renewed or restored until: (a) After the expiration of one year from the date the license or privilege to drive was revoked; (b) after the expiration of the applicable revocation period provided by RCW 46.20.3101 or 46.61.5055; (c) after the expiration of two years for persons convicted of vehicular homicide; or (d) after the expiration of the applicable revocation period provided by RCW 46.20.265. After the expiration of the appropriate period, the person may make application for a new license as provided by law together with a reissue fee in the amount of twenty dollars, but if the revocation is the result of a violation of RCW 46.20.308, 46.61.502, or 46.61.504, the reissue fee shall be fifty dollars. If the revocation is the result of a violation of RCW 46.61.502 or 46.61.504, the department shall determine the person's eligibility for licensing based upon the reports provided by the alcoholism agency or probation department designated under RCW 46.61.5056 and shall deny reissuance of a license, permit, or privilege to drive until enrollment and participation in an approved program has been established and the person is otherwise qualified. Except for a revocation under RCW 46.20.265, the department shall not then issue a new license unless it is satisfied after investigation of the driving ability of the person that it will be safe to grant the privilege of driving a motor vehicle on the public highways, and until the person gives and thereafter maintains proof of financial responsibility for the future as provided in chapter 46.29 RCW. For a revocation under RCW 46.20.265, the department shall not issue a new license unless it is satisfied after investigation of the driving ability of the person that it will be safe to grant that person the privilege of driving a motor vehicle on the public highways. (3) Whenever the driver's license of any person is suspended pursuant to Article IV of the nonresident violators compact or RCW 46.23.020 or 46.20.289 or 46.20.291(5), the department shall not issue to the person any new or renewal license until the person pays a reissue fee of twenty dollars. If the suspension is the result of a violation of the laws of this or any other state, province, or other jurisdiction involving (a) the operation or physical control of a motor vehicle upon the public highways while under the influence of intoxicating liquor or drugs, or (b) the refusal to submit to a chemical test of the driver's blood alcohol content, the reissue fee shall be fifty dollars. NEW SECTION. Sec. 808. A new section is added to chapter 48.22 RCW to read as follows: If a motor vehicle liability insurance policy contains any provision excluding insurance coverage for an unlicensed driver, such provision shall not apply for ninety days from the date of suspension in the event that the department of licensing suspends a driver's license solely for the nonpayment of child support as provided in chapter 74.20A RCW. NEW SECTION. Sec. 809.

ATTORNEYS. The legislature intends that the license suspension program established in chapter 74.20A RCW be implemented fairly to ensure that child support obligations are met. However, being mindful of the separations of powers and responsibilities among the branches of government, the legislature strongly encourages the state supreme court to adopt rules providing for suspension and denial of licenses related to the practice of law to those individuals who are in noncompliance with a support order. NEW SECTION. Sec. 810. A new section is added to chapter 2.48 RCW to read as follows:

ATTORNEYS. The Washington state supreme court may provide by rule that no person who has been certified by the department of social and health services as a person who is in noncompliance with a support order as provided in section

802 of this act may be admitted to the practice of law in this state, and that any member of the Washington state bar association who has been certified by the department of social and health services as a person who is in noncompliance with a support order as provided in section 802 of this act shall be immediately suspended from membership. The court's rules may provide for review of an application for admission or reinstatement of membership after the department of social and health services has issued a release stating that the person is in compliance with the order. NEW SECTION. Sec. 811. A new section is added to chapter 18.04 RCW to read as follows: The board shall immediately suspend the certificate or license of a person who has been certified pursuant to section 802 of this act by the department of social and health services as a person who is not in compliance with a support order. If the person has continued to meet all other requirements for reinstatement during the suspension, reissuance of the license or certificate shall be automatic upon the board's receipt of a release issued by the department of social and health services stating that the licensee is in compliance with the order. Sec. 812. RCW

18.04.335 and 1992 c 103 s 13 are each amended to read as follows: (1) Upon application in writing and after hearing pursuant to notice, the board may: ((+)) (a) Modify the suspension of, or reissue a certificate or license to, an individual whose certificate has been revoked or suspended; or ((-)) (b) Modify the suspension of, or reissue a license to a firm whose license has been revoked, suspended, or which the board has refused to renew. (2) In the case of suspension for failure to comply with a support order under chapter 74.20A RCW, if the person has continued to meet all other requirements for reinstatement during the suspension, reissuance of a certificate or license shall be automatic upon the board's receipt of a release issued by the department of social and health services stating that the individual is in compliance with the order. Sec. 813. RCW 18.08.350 and 1993 c 475 s 1 are each amended to read as follows: (1) Except as provided in section 815 of this act, a certificate of registration shall be granted by the director to all qualified applicants who are certified by the board as having passed the required examination and as having given satisfactory proof of completion of the required experience. (2)

Applications for examination shall be filed as the board prescribes by rule. The application and examination fees shall be determined by the director under RCW 43.24.086. (3) An applicant for registration as an architect shall be of a good moral character, at least eighteen years of age, and shall possess any of the following qualifications: (a) Have an accredited architectural degree and three years' practical architectural work experience approved by the board, which may include designing buildings as a principal activity. At least two years' work experience must be supervised by an architect with detailed professional knowledge of the work of the applicant; (b) Have eight years' practical architectural work experience approved by the board. Each year spent in an accredited architectural program approved by the board shall be considered one year of practical experience. At least four years' practical work experience shall be under the direct supervision of an architect; or (c) Be a person who has been designing buildings as a principal activity for eight years, or has an equivalent combination of education and experience, but who was not registered under chapter 323, Laws of 1959, as amended, as it existed before July 28, 1992, provided that application is made within four years after July 28, 1992. Nothing in this chapter prevents such a person from designing buildings for four years after July 28, 1992, or the five-year period allowed for completion of the examination process, after that person has applied for registration. Sec. 842. A new section is added to chapter 18.165 RCW to read as follows: The director shall immediately suspend a license issued under this chapter if the holder has been certified pursuant to section 802 of this act by the department of social and health services as a person who is not in compliance with a support order. If the person has continued to meet all other requirements for reinstatement during the suspension, reissuance of the license shall be automatic upon the director's receipt of a release issued by the department of social and health services stating that the person is in compliance with the order. Sec. 843. RCW 18.170.170 and 1995 c 277 s 12 are each amended to read as follows: In addition to the provisions of section 844 of this act, the following acts are prohibited and constitute grounds for disciplinary action, assessing administrative penalties, or denial, suspension, or revocation of any license under this chapter, as deemed appropriate by the director: (1) Knowingly violating any of the provisions of this chapter or the rules adopted under this chapter; (2) Practicing fraud, deceit, or misrepresentation in any of the private security activities covered by this chapter; (3) Knowingly making a material misstatement or omission in the application for a license or firearms certificate; (4) Not meeting the qualifications set forth in RCW 18.170.030, 18.170.040, or 18.170.060; (5) Failing to return immediately on demand a firearm issued by an employer; (6) Carrying a firearm in the performance of his or her duties if not the holder of a valid armed private security guard license, or carrying a firearm not meeting the provisions of this chapter while in the performance of his or her duties; (7) Failing to return immediately on demand any uniform, badge, or other item of equipment issued to the private security guard by an employer; (8) Making any statement that would reasonably cause another person to believe that the private security guard is a sworn peace officer; (9) Divulging confidential information that may compromise the security of any premises, or valuables shipment, or any activity of a client to which he or she was assigned; (10) Conviction of a gross misdemeanor or felony or the commission of any act involving moral turpitude, dishonesty, or corruption whether the act constitutes a crime or not. If the act constitutes a crime, conviction in a criminal proceeding is not a condition precedent to disciplinary action. Upon such a conviction, however, the judgment and sentence is conclusive evidence at the ensuing disciplinary hearing of the guilt of the license holder or applicant of the crime described in the indictment or information, and of the person's violation of the statute on which it is based. For the purposes of this section, conviction includes all instances in which a plea of guilty or nolo contendere is the basis for the conviction and all proceedings in which the sentence has been deferred or suspended; (11) Misrepresentation or concealment of a material fact in obtaining a license or in reinstatement thereof; (12) Advertising that is false, fraudulent, or misleading; (13) Incompetence or negligence that results in injury to a person or that creates an unreasonable risk that a person may be harmed; (14) Suspension, revocation, or restriction of the individual's license to practice the profession by competent authority in any state, federal, or foreign jurisdiction, a certified copy of the order, stipulation, or agreement being conclusive evidence of the revocation, suspension, or restriction; (15) Failure to cooperate with the director by: (a) Not furnishing any necessary papers or documents requested by the director for purposes of conducting an investigation for disciplinary action, denial, suspension, or revocation of a license under this chapter; (b) Not furnishing in writing a full and complete explanation covering the matter contained in a complaint filed with the department; or (c) Not responding to subpoenas issued by the director, whether or not the recipient of the subpoena is the accused in the proceeding; (16) Failure to comply with an order issued by the director or an assurance of discontinuance entered into with the disciplining authority; (17) Aiding or abetting an unlicensed person to practice if a license is required; (18) Misrepresentation or fraud in any aspect of the conduct of the business or profession; (19) Failure to adequately supervise employees to the extent that the public health or safety is at risk; (20) Interference with an investigation or disciplinary proceeding by willful misrepresentation of facts before the director or the director's authorized representative, or by the use of threats or harassment against a client or witness to prevent them from providing evidence in a disciplinary proceeding or any other legal action; (21) Assigning or transferring any license issued pursuant to the provisions of this chapter, except as provided in RCW 18.170.060; (22) Failure to maintain insurance; and (23) Failure to have a qualifying principal in place. NEW SECTION. Sec. 844. A new section is added to chapter 18.170 RCW to read as follows: The director shall immediately suspend any license issued under this chapter if the holder has been certified pursuant to section 802 of this act by the department of social and health services as a person who is not in compliance with a support order. If the person has continued to meet all other requirements for reinstatement during the suspension, reissuance of the license shall be automatic upon the director's receipt of a release issued by the department of social and health services stating that the person is in compliance with the order. NEW SECTION. Sec. 845. A new section is added to chapter 18.175 RCW to read as follows: The director shall immediately suspend a certificate of registration issued under this chapter if the holder has been certified pursuant to section 802 of this act by the department of social and health services as a person who is not in compliance with a support order. If the person has continued to meet all other requirements for certification during the suspension, reissuance of the certificate shall be automatic upon the director's receipt of a release issued by the department of social and health services stating that the person is in compliance with the order. NEW SECTION. Sec. 846. A new section is added to chapter 18.185 RCW to read as follows: The director shall immediately suspend any license issued under this chapter if the holder has been certified pursuant to section 802 of this act by the department of social and health services as a person who is not in compliance with a support order. If the person has continued to meet all other requirements for reinstatement during the suspension, reissuance of the license shall be automatic upon the director's receipt of a release issued by the department of social and health services stating that the person is in compliance with the order. Sec. 847. RCW 43.20A.205 and 1989 c 175 s 95 are each amended to read as follows: This section governs the denial of an application for a license or the suspension, revocation, or modification of a license by the department. (1) The department shall give written notice of the denial of an application for a license to the applicant or his or her agent. (3) Except for licensees suspended for noncompliance with a support order under chapter 74.20A RCW, a license applicant or licensee who is aggrieved by a department denial, revocation, suspension, or modification has the right to an adjudicative proceeding. The proceeding is governed by the Administrative Procedure Act, chapter 34.05 RCW. The application must be in writing, state the basis for contesting the adverse action, include a copy of the adverse notice, be served on and received by the department within twenty-eight days of the license applicant's or licensee's receiving the adverse notice, and be served in a manner that shows proof of receipt. (4)(a) If the department gives a licensee twenty-eight or more days notice of revocation, suspension, or modification and the licensee majority of the board shall be necessary to render a decision. (3) The department shall immediately suspend the license or certificate of a person who has been certified pursuant to section 802 of this act by the department of social and health services as a person who is not in compliance with a support order. The director shall immediately suspend the license or certificate of a person who has been certified pursuant to section 802 of this act by the department of social and health services as a person who is not in compliance with a support order. If the person has continued to meet all other requirements for reinstatement during the suspension, reissuance of the license or certificate shall be automatic upon the director's receipt of a release issued by the department of social and health services stating that the licensee is in compliance with the order. Sec. 853. RCW 19.16.120 and 1994 c 195 s 3 are each amended to read as follows: In addition to other provisions of this chapter, any license issued pursuant to this chapter or any application therefor may be denied, not renewed, revoked, or suspended, or in lieu of or in addition to suspension a licensee may be assessed a civil, monetary penalty in an amount not to exceed one thousand dollars: (1) If an individual applicant or licensee is less than eighteen years of age or is not a resident of this state. Fines collected from such proceedings shall be deposited in the state general fund. (3) An operator, registrant, or applicant against whom administrative or legal proceedings have been filed shall be responsible for and shall reimburse the state, by payment into the general fund, for all administrative and legal costs actually incurred by the department in issuing, processing, and conducting any such administrative or legal proceeding authorized under this chapter that results in a final legal or administrative determination of any type or degree in favor of the department. (4) No order may be entered under this section without appropriate prior notice to the applicant or registrant of opportunity for a hearing and written findings of fact and conclusions of law, except that the director may by order summarily deny an application for registration or renewal under any of the above subsections and may summarily suspend or revoke a registration under subsection (1)(d), (f), (g), (h), (i), (k), (l), (m), and (n) of this section. No fine may be imposed by summary order. (5) The proceedings to deny an application or renewal, suspend or revoke a registration or permit, whether summarily or otherwise, or impose a fine shall be held in accordance with chapter 34.05 RCW. (6) The director may enter into assurances of discontinuance in lieu of issuing a statement of charges or a cease and desist order or conducting a hearing under this chapter. The assurances shall consist of a statement of the law in question and an agreement not to violate the stated provision. The applicant or registrant shall not be required to admit to any violation of the law, nor shall the assurance be construed as such an admission. Violating or breaching an assurance under this subsection is grounds for suspension or revocation of registration or imposition of a fine. (7) The director shall immediately suspend the license or certificate of a person who has been certified pursuant to section 802 of this act by the department of social and health services as a person who is not in compliance with a support order. If the person has continued to meet all other requirements for reinstatement during the suspension, reissuance of the license or certificate shall be automatic upon the director's receipt of a release issued by the department of social and health services stating that the licensee is in compliance with the order. Sec. 857. RCW 19.105.440 and 1988 c 159 s 21 are each amended to read as follows: (1) A salesperson may apply for registration by filing in a complete and readable form with the director an application form provided by the director which includes the following: (a) A statement whether or not the applicant within the past five years has been convicted of, pleaded nolo contendere to, or been ordered to serve probation for a period of a year or more for any misdemeanor or felony involving conversion, embezzlement, theft, fraud, or dishonesty or the applicant has been enjoined from, had any civil penalty assessed for, or been found to have engaged in any violation of any act designed to protect consumers; (b) A statement fully describing the applicant's employment history for the past five years and whether or not any termination of employment during the last five years was the result of any theft, fraud, or act of dishonesty; (c) A consent to service comparable to that required of operators under this chapter; and (d) Required filing fees. (2) The director may by order deny, suspend, or revoke a camping resort salesperson's registration or application for registration under this chapter or the person's license or application under chapter 18.85 RCW, or impose a fine on such persons not exceeding two hundred dollars per violation, if the director finds that the order is necessary for the protection of purchasers or owners of camping resort contracts and the applicant or registrant is guilty of: (a) Obtaining registration by means of fraud, misrepresentation, or concealment, or through the mistake or inadvertence of the director; (b) Violating any of the provisions of this chapter or any lawful rules adopted by the director pursuant thereto; (c) Being convicted in a court of competent jurisdiction of this or any other state, or federal court, of forgery, embezzlement, obtaining money under false pretenses, bribery, larceny, extortion, conspiracy to defraud, or any similar offense or offenses. For the purposes of this section, "being convicted" includes all instances in which a plea of guilty or nolo contendere is the basis for the conviction, and all proceedings in which the sentence has been deferred or suspended; (d) Making, printing, publishing, distributing, or causing, authorizing, or knowingly permitting the making, printing, publication, or distribution of false statements, descriptions, or promises of such character as to reasonably induce any person to act thereon, if the statements, descriptions, or promises purport to be made or to be performed by either the applicant or registrant and the applicant or registrant then knew or, by the exercise of reasonable care and inquiry, could have known, of the falsity of the statements, descriptions, or promises; (e) Knowingly committing, or being a party to, any material fraud, misrepresentation, concealment, conspiracy, collusion, trick, scheme, or device whereby any other person lawfully relies upon the work, representation, or conduct of the applicant or registrant; (f) Failing, upon demand, to disclose to the director or the director's authorized representatives acting by authority of law any information within his or her knowledge or to produce for inspection any document, book or record in his or her possession, which is material to the salesperson's registration or application for registration; (g) Continuing to sell camping resort contracts in a manner whereby the interests of the public are endangered, if the director has, by order in writing, stated objections thereto; (h) Committing any act of fraudulent or dishonest dealing or a crime involving moral turpitude, and a certified copy of the final holding of any court of competent jurisdiction in such matter shall be conclusive evidence in any hearing under this chapter; (i) Misrepresentation of membership in any state or national association; or (j) Discrimination against any person in hiring or in sales activity on the basis of race, color, creed, or national origin, or violating any state or federal antidiscrimination law. (3) No order may be entered under this section without appropriate prior notice to the applicant or registrant of opportunity for a hearing and written findings of fact and conclusions of law, except that the director may by order summarily deny an application for registration under this section. (4) The proceedings to deny an application or renewal, suspend or revoke a registration or permit, whether summarily or otherwise, or impose a fine shall be held in accordance with chapter 34.05 RCW. (5) The director, subsequent to any complaint filed against a salesperson or pursuant to an investigation to determine violations, may enter into stipulated assurances of discontinuances in lieu of issuing a statement of charges or a cease and desist order or conducting a hearing. The assurance shall consist of a statement of the law in question and an agreement not to violate the stated provision. The salesperson shall not be required to admit to any violation of the law, nor shall the assurance be construed as such an admission. Violation of an assurance under this subsection is grounds for a disciplinary action, a suspension of registration, or a fine not to exceed one thousand dollars. (6) The director may by rule require such further information or conditions for registration as a camping resort salesperson, including qualifying examinations and fingerprint cards prepared by authorized law enforcement agencies, as the director deems necessary to protect the interests of purchasers. (7) Registration as a camping resort salesperson shall be effective for a period of one year unless the director specifies otherwise or the salesperson transfers employment to a different registrant. Registration as a camping resort salesperson shall be renewed annually, or at the time of transferring employment, whichever occurs first, by the filing of a form prescribed by the director for that purpose. (8) It is unlawful for a registrant of camping resort contracts to employ or a person to act as a camping resort salesperson covered under this section unless the salesperson has in effect with the department and displays a valid registration in a conspicuous location at each of the sales offices at which the salesperson is employed. It is the responsibility of both the operator and the salesperson to notify the department when and where a salesperson is employed, his or her responsibilities and duties, and when the salesperson's employment or reported duties are changed or terminated. (9) The director shall immediately suspend the license or certificate of a person who has been certified pursuant to section 802 of this act by the department of social and health services as a person who is not in compliance with a support order. Conditions for granting such authority shall be adopted by rule. No retail license of any kind may be issued to: (a) A person who has not resided in the state for at least one month prior to making application, except in cases of licenses issued to dining places on railroads, boats, or aircraft; (b) A copartnership, unless all of the members thereof are qualified to obtain a license, as provided in this section; (c) A person whose place of business is conducted by a manager or agent, unless such manager or agent possesses the same qualifications required of the licensee; or (d) A corporation, unless it was created under the laws of the state of Washington or holds a certificate of authority to transact business in the state of Washington. (3)(a) The board may, in its discretion, subject to the provisions of RCW 66.08.150, suspend or cancel any license; and all rights of the licensee to keep or sell liquor thereunder shall be suspended or terminated, as the case may be. (b) The board shall immediately suspend the license or certificate of a person who has been certified pursuant to section 802 of this act by the department of social and health services as a person who is not in compliance with a support order. If the person has continued to meet all other requirements for reinstatement during the suspension, reissuance of the license or certificate shall be automatic upon the board's receipt of a release issued by the department of social and health services stating that the licensee is in compliance with the order. (c) The board may request the appointment of administrative law judges under chapter 34.12 RCW who shall have power to administer oaths, issue subpoenas for the attendance of witnesses and the production of papers, books, accounts, documents, and testimony, examine witnesses, and to receive testimony in any inquiry, investigation, hearing, or proceeding in any part of the state, under such rules and regulations as the board may adopt. (d) Witnesses shall be allowed fees and mileage each way to and from any such inquiry, investigation, hearing, or proceeding at the rate authorized by RCW 34.05.446, as now or hereafter amended. Fees need not be paid in advance of appearance of witnesses to testify or to produce books, records, or other legal evidence. (e) In case of disobedience of any person to comply with the order of the board or a subpoena issued by the board, or any of its members, or administrative law judges, or on the refusal of a witness to testify to any matter regarding which he or she may be lawfully interrogated, the judge of the superior court of the county in which the person resides, on application of any member of the board or administrative law judge, shall compel obedience by contempt proceedings, as in the case of disobedience of the requirements of a subpoena issued from said court or a refusal to testify therein. (4) Upon receipt of notice of the suspension or cancellation of a license, the licensee shall forthwith deliver up the license to the board. Where the license has been suspended only, the board shall return the license to the licensee at the expiration or termination of the period of suspension. The board shall notify all vendors in the city or place where the licensee has its premises of the suspension or cancellation of the license; and no employee may allow or cause any liquor to be delivered to or for any person at the premises of that licensee. (5)(a) At the time of the original issuance of a class H license, the board shall prorate the license fee charged to the new licensee according to the number of calendar quarters, or portion thereof, remaining until the first renewal of that license is required. (b) Unless sooner canceled, every license issued by the board shall expire at midnight of the thirtieth day of June of the fiscal year for which it was issued. However, if the board deems it feasible and desirable to do so, it may establish, by rule pursuant to chapter 34.05 RCW, a system for staggering the annual renewal dates for any and all licenses authorized by this chapter. If such a system of staggered annual renewal dates is established by the board, the license fees provided by this chapter shall be appropriately prorated during the first year that the system is in effect. (6) Every license issued under this section shall be subject to all conditions and restrictions imposed by this title or by the regulations in force from time to time. All conditions and restrictions imposed by the board in the issuance of an individual license shall be listed on the face of the individual license along with the trade name, address, and expiration date. (7) Every licensee shall post and keep posted its license, or licenses, in a conspicuous place on the premises. (8) Before the board shall issue a license to an applicant it shall give notice of such application to the chief executive officer of the incorporated city or town, if the application be for a license within an incorporated city or town, or to the county legislative authority, if the application be for a license outside the boundaries of incorporated cities or towns; and such incorporated city or town, through the official or employee selected by it, or the county legislative authority or the official or employee selected by it, shall have the right to file with the board within twenty days after date of transmittal of such notice, written objections against the applicant or against the premises for which the license is asked, and shall include with such objections a statement of all facts upon which such objections are based, and in case written objections are filed, may request and the liquor control board may in its discretion hold a formal hearing subject to the applicable provisions of Title 34 RCW. Upon the granting of a license under this title the board shall send a duplicate of the license or written notification to the chief executive officer of the incorporated city or town in which the license is granted, or to the county legislative authority if the license is granted outside the boundaries of incorporated cities or towns. (9) Before the board issues any license to any applicant, it shall give (a) due consideration to the location of the business to be conducted under such license with respect to the proximity of churches, schools, and public institutions and (b) written notice by certified mail of the application to churches, schools, and public institutions within five hundred feet of the premises to be licensed. The board shall issue no beer retailer license class A, B, D, or E or wine retailer license class C or F or class H license covering any premises not now licensed, if such premises are within five hundred feet of the premises of any tax-supported public elementary or secondary school measured along the most direct route over or across established public walks, streets, or other public passageway from the outer property line of the school grounds to the nearest public entrance of the premises proposed for license, and if, after receipt by the school or public institution of the notice as provided in this subsection, the board receives written notice, within twenty days after posting such notice, from an official representative or representatives of the school within five hundred feet of said proposed licensed premises, indicating to the board that there is an objection to the issuance of such license because of proximity to a school. For the purpose of this section, church shall mean a building erected for and used exclusively for religious worship and schooling or other activity in connection therewith. No liquor license may be issued or reissued by the board to any motor sports facility or licensee operating within the motor sports facility unless the motor sports facility enforces a program reasonably calculated to prevent alcohol or alcoholic beverages not purchased within the facility from entering the facility and such program is approved by local law enforcement agencies. It is the intent under this subsection that a retail license shall not be issued by the board where doing so would, in the judgment of the board, adversely affect a private school meeting the requirements for private schools under Title 28A RCW, which school is within five hundred feet of the proposed licensee. The board shall fully consider and give substantial weight to objections filed by private schools. If a license is issued despite the proximity of a private school, the board shall state in a letter addressed to the private school the board's reasons for issuing the license. (10) The restrictions set forth in subsection (9) of this section shall not prohibit the board from authorizing the assumption of existing licenses now located within the restricted area by other persons or licenses or relocations of existing licensed premises within the restricted area. In no case may the licensed premises be moved closer to a church or school than it was before the assumption or relocation. (11) Nothing in this section prohibits the board, in its discretion, from issuing a temporary retail or wholesaler license to an applicant assuming an existing retail or wholesaler license to continue the operation of the retail or wholesaler premises during the period the application for the license is pending and when the following conditions exist: (a) The licensed premises has been operated under a retail or wholesaler license within ninety days of the date of filing the application for a temporary license; (b) The retail or wholesaler license for the premises has been surrendered pursuant to issuance of a temporary operating license; (c) The applicant for the temporary license has filed with the board an application to assume the retail or wholesaler license at such premises to himself or herself; and (d) The application for a temporary license is accompanied by a temporary license fee established by the board by rule. A temporary license issued by the board under this section shall be for a period not to exceed sixty days. A temporary license may be extended at the discretion of the board for an additional sixty-day period upon payment of an additional fee and upon compliance with all conditions required in this section. Refusal by the board to issue or extend a temporary license shall not entitle the applicant to request a hearing. A temporary license may be canceled or suspended summarily at any time if the board determines that good cause for cancellation or suspension exists. RCW 66.08.130 and chapter 34.05 RCW shall apply to temporary licenses. Application for a temporary license shall be on such form as the board shall prescribe. If an application for a temporary license is withdrawn before issuance or is refused by the board, the fee which accompanied such application shall be refunded in full. Sec. 882. RCW 43.63B.040 and 1994 c 284 s 19 are each amended to read as follows: (1) The department shall issue a certificate of manufactured home installation to an applicant who has taken the training course, passed the examination, paid the fees, and in all other respects ~~(meets)~~ meets the qualifications. The certificate shall bear the date of issuance, a certification identification number, and is renewable every three years upon application and completion of a continuing education program as determined by the department. A renewal fee shall be assessed for each certificate. If a person fails to renew a certificate by the renewal date, the person must retake the examination and pay the examination fee. (2) The certificate of manufactured home installation provided for in this chapter grants the holder the right to engage in manufactured home installation throughout the state, without any other installer certification. (3) The department shall immediately suspend the license or certificate of a person who has been certified pursuant to section 802 of this act by the department of social and health services as a person who is not in compliance with a support order. If the person has continued to meet all other requirements for reinstatement during the suspension, reissuance of the license or certificate shall be automatic upon the department's receipt of a release issued by the department of social and health services stating that the licensee is in compliance with the order. Sec. 883. RCW 70.95D.040 and 1989 c 431 s 68 are each amended to read as follows: (1) The department shall establish a process to certify incinerator and landfill operators. (2) Operators shall be certified if they: (a) Attend the required training sessions; (b) Successfully complete required examinations; and (c) Pay the prescribed fee. (3) By January 1, 1991, the department shall adopt rules to require incinerator and appropriate landfill operators to: (a) Attend a training session concerning the operation of the relevant type of landfill or incinerator; (b) Demonstrate sufficient skill and competency for proper operation of the incinerator or landfill by successfully completing an examination prepared by the department; and (c) Renew the certificate of competency at reasonable intervals established by the department. (4) The department shall provide for the collection of fees for the issuance and renewal of certificates. These fees shall be sufficient to recover the costs of the certification program. (5)

The department shall establish an appeals process for the denial or revocation of a certificate. (6) The department shall establish a process to automatically certify operators who have received comparable certification from another state, the federal government, a local government, or a professional association. (7) Upon July 23, 1989, and prior to January 1, 1992, the owner or operator of an incinerator or landfill may apply to the department for interim certification. Operators shall receive interim certification if they: (a) Have received training provided by a recognized national organization, educational institution, or the federal government that is acceptable to the department; or (b) Have received individualized training in a manner approved by the department; and (c) Have successfully completed any required examinations. (8) No interim certification shall be valid after January 1, 1992, and interim certification shall not automatically qualify operators for certification pursuant to subsections (2) through (4) of this section. (9) The department shall immediately suspend the license or certificate of a person who has been certified pursuant to section 802 of this act by the department of social and health services as a person who is not in compliance with a support order. If the person has continued to meet all other requirements for reinstatement during the suspension, reissuance of the license or certificate shall be automatic upon the department's receipt of a release issued by the department of social and health services stating that the licensee is in compliance with the order. NEW SECTION. (3) Each day's continuance of a violation or failure to comply with any directive or order of the director is a separate and distinct violation or failure. (4) The director shall establish by rule standards for licensure of applicants licensed in other jurisdictions. (3) The plan shall be submitted to the legislature for review by September 1, 1997. Sec. 896. RCW 26.23.050 and 1994 c 230 s 9 are each amended to read as follows: (1) If the ~~((office of support enforcement))~~ division of child support is providing support enforcement services under RCW 26.23.045, or if a party is applying for support enforcement services by signing the application form on the bottom of the support order, the superior court shall include in all court orders that establish or modify a support obligation: (a) A provision that orders and directs the responsible parent to make all support payments to the Washington state support registry; (b) A statement that ~~((a notice of payroll deduction may be issued, or other income withholding action under chapter 26.18 or 74.20A RCW may be taken))~~ withholding action may be taken against wages, earnings, assets, or benefits, and liens enforced against real and personal property under the child support statutes of this or any other state, without further notice to the responsible parent at any time after entry of the court order, unless: (i) One of the parties demonstrates, and the court finds, that there is good cause not to require immediate income withholding and that withholding should be delayed until a payment is past due; or (ii) The parties reach a written agreement that is approved by the court that provides for an alternate arrangement; ~~((and))~~ (c) A statement that the receiving parent might be required to submit an accounting of how the support is being spent to benefit the child; and (d) A statement that the responsible parent's privileges to obtain and maintain a license, as defined in section 802 of this act, may not be renewed, or may be suspended if the parent is not in compliance with a support order as defined in section 802 of this act. As used in this subsection and subsection (3) of this section, "good cause not to require immediate income withholding" means a written determination of why implementing immediate wage withholding would not be in the child's best interests and, in modification cases, proof of timely payment of previously ordered support. (2) In all other cases not under subsection (1) of this section, the court may order the responsible parent to make payments directly to the person entitled to receive the payments, to the Washington state support registry, or may order that payments be made in accordance with an alternate arrangement agreed upon by the parties. (a) The superior court shall include in all orders under this subsection that establish or modify a support obligation: (i) A statement that ~~((a notice of payroll deduction may be issued or other income))~~ withholding action (under chapter 26.18 or 74.20A RCW)) may be taken against wages, earnings, assets, or benefits, and liens enforced against real and personal property under the child support statutes of this or any other state, without further notice to the responsible parent at any time after entry of the court order, unless: (A) One of the parties demonstrates, and the court finds, that there is good cause not to require immediate income withholding and that withholding should be delayed until a payment is past due; or (B) The parties reach a written agreement that is approved by the court that provides for an alternate arrangement; and (ii) A statement that the receiving parent may be required to submit an accounting of how the support is being spent to benefit the child. As used in this subsection, "good cause not to require immediate income withholding" is any reason that the court finds appropriate. (b) The superior court may order immediate or delayed income withholding as follows: (i) Immediate income withholding may be ordered if the responsible parent has earnings. If immediate income withholding is ordered under this subsection, all support payments shall be paid to the Washington state support registry. The superior court shall issue a mandatory wage assignment order as set forth in chapter 26.18 RCW when the support order is signed by the court. The parent entitled to receive the transfer payment is responsible for serving the employer with the order and for its enforcement as set forth in chapter 26.18 RCW. (ii) If immediate income withholding is not ordered, the court shall require that income withholding be delayed until a payment is past due. The support order shall contain a statement that ~~((a notice of payroll deduction may be issued, or other income withholding action under chapter 26.18 or 74.20A RCW may be taken))~~ withholding action may be taken against wages, earnings, assets, or benefits, and liens enforced against real and personal property under the child support statutes of this or any other state, without further notice to the responsible parent, after a payment is past due. (c) If a mandatory wage withholding order under chapter 26.18 RCW is issued under this subsection and the ~~((office of support enforcement))~~ division of child support provides support enforcement services under RCW 26.23.045, the existing wage withholding assignment is prospectively superseded upon the ~~((office of support enforcement's))~~ division of child support's subsequent service of an income withholding notice. (3) The office of administrative hearings and the department of social and health services shall require that all support obligations established as administrative orders include a provision which orders and directs that the responsible parent shall make all support payments to the Washington state support registry. All administrative orders shall also state that the responsible parent's privileges to obtain and maintain a license, as defined in section 802 of this act, may not be renewed, or may be suspended if the parent is not in compliance with a support order as defined in section 802 of this act. All administrative orders shall also state that ~~((a notice of payroll deduction may be issued, or other income withholding action taken))~~ withholding action may be taken against wages, earnings, assets, or benefits, and liens enforced against real and personal property under the child support statutes of this or any other state without further notice to the responsible parent at any time after entry of the order, unless: (a) One of the parties demonstrates, and the presiding officer finds, that there is good cause not to require immediate income withholding; or (b) The parties reach a written agreement that is approved by the presiding officer that provides for an alternate agreement. (4) If the support order does not include the provision ordering and directing that all payments be made to the Washington state support registry and a statement that ~~((a notice of payroll deduction may be issued))~~ withholding action may be taken against wages, earnings, assets, or benefits if a support payment is past due or at any time after the entry of the order, or that a parent's licensing privileges may not be renewed, or may be suspended, the ~~((office of support enforcement))~~ division of child support may serve a notice on the responsible parent stating such requirements and authorizations. Service may be by personal service or any form of mail requiring a return receipt. AND TO: Obligor

The above-named obligee claims that the above-named obligor is subject to a support order requiring immediate income withholding or is more than fifteen days past due in either child support or spousal maintenance payments, or both, in an amount equal to or greater than the child support or spousal maintenance payable for one month. The amount of the accrued child support or spousal maintenance debt as of this date is . . . . . dollars, the amount of arrearage payments specified in the support or spousal maintenance order (if applicable) is . . . . . dollars per . . . . ., and the amount of the current and continuing support or spousal maintenance obligation under the order is . . . . . dollars per . . . . . You are hereby commanded to answer this order by filling in the attached form according to the instructions, and you must mail or deliver the original of the answer to the court, one copy to the Washington state support registry, one copy to the obligee or obligee's attorney, and one copy to the obligor within twenty days after service of this wage assignment order upon you. If you possess any earnings or other remuneration for employment due and owing to the obligor, then you shall do as follows: (1) Withhold from the obligor's earnings or remuneration each month, or from each regular earnings disbursement, the lesser of: (a) The sum of the accrued support or spousal maintenance debt and the current support or spousal maintenance obligation; (b) The sum of the specified arrearage payment amount and the current support or spousal maintenance obligation; or (c) Fifty percent of the disposable earnings or remuneration of the obligor. (2) The total amount withheld above is subject to the wage assignment order, and all other sums may be disbursed to the obligor. (3) Upon receipt of this wage assignment order you shall make immediate deductions from the obligor's earnings or remuneration and remit to the Washington state support registry or other address specified below the proper amounts at each regular pay interval. You shall continue to withhold the ordered amounts from nonexempt earnings or remuneration of the obligor until notified by: (a) The court that the wage assignment has been modified or terminated; or (b) The addressee specified in the wage assignment order under this section that the accrued child support or spousal maintenance debt has been paid. You shall promptly notify the court and the addressee specified in the wage assignment order under this section if and when the employee is no longer employed by you, or if the obligor no longer receives earnings or remuneration from you. If you no longer employ the employee, the wage assignment order shall remain in effect for one year after the employee has left your employment or you are no longer in possession of any earnings or remuneration owed to the employee, whichever is later. You shall continue to hold the wage assignment order during that period. If the employee returns to your employment during the one-year period you shall immediately begin to withhold the employee's earnings according to the terms of the wage assignment order. If the employee has not returned to your employment within one year, the wage assignment will cease to have effect at the expiration of the one-year period, unless you still owe the employee earnings or other remuneration. You shall deliver the withheld earnings or remuneration to the Washington state support registry or other address stated below at each regular pay interval. You shall deliver a copy of this order to the obligor as soon as is reasonably possible. This wage assignment order has priority over any other wage assignment or garnishment, except for another wage assignment or garnishment for child support or spousal maintenance, or order to withhold or deliver under chapter 74.20A RCW.

WHETHER OR NOT YOU OWE ANYTHING TO THE OBLIGOR, YOUR FAILURE TO ANSWER AS REQUIRED MAY MAKE YOU LIABLE FOR OBLIGOR'S CLAIMED SUPPORT OR SPOUSAL MAINTENANCE DEBT TO THE OBLIGEE OR SUBJECT TO CONTEMPT OF COURT.

The employer or employment security department shall thereafter deduct each pay period the amount stated in the notice divided by the number of pay periods per month. The payroll deduction each pay period shall not exceed fifty percent of the responsible parent's disposable earnings. (5) The notice of payroll deduction shall be in writing and include: (a) The name and social security number of the responsible parent; (b) The amount to be deducted from the responsible parent's disposable earnings each month, or alternate amounts and frequencies as may be necessary to facilitate processing of the payroll deduction; (c) A statement that the total amount withheld shall not exceed fifty percent of the responsible parent's disposable earnings; ~~((and))~~ (d) The address to which the payments are to be mailed or delivered; and (e) A notice to the responsible parent warning the responsible parent that, despite the payroll deduction, the responsible parent's privileges to obtain and maintain a license, as defined in section 802 of this act, may not be renewed, or may be suspended if the parent is not in compliance with a support order as defined in section 802 of this act. (6) An informational copy of the notice of payroll deduction shall be mailed to the last known address of the responsible parent by regular mail. (7) An employer or employment security department that receives a notice of payroll deduction shall make immediate deductions from the responsible parent's unpaid disposable earnings and remit proper amounts to the Washington state support registry on each date the responsible parent is due to be paid. (8) An employer, or the employment security department, upon whom a notice of payroll deduction is served, shall make an answer to the ~~((office of support enforcement))~~ division of child support within twenty days after the date of service. If the responsible parent is no longer employed, or receiving earnings from the employer, the answer shall state the present employer's name and address, if known. If the responsible parent is no longer receiving unemployment compensation benefits from the employment security department, the answer shall state the present employer's name and address, if known. (9) The employer or employment security department may deduct a processing fee from the remainder of the responsible parent's earnings after withholding under the notice of payroll deduction, even if the remainder is exempt under RCW 26.18.090. The processing fee may not exceed: (a) Ten dollars for the first disbursement made to the Washington state support registry; and (b) one dollar for each subsequent disbursement to the registry. (10) The notice of payroll deduction shall remain in effect until released by the ~~((office of support enforcement))~~ division of child support, the court enters an order terminating the notice and approving an alternate arrangement under RCW 26.23.050 ~~((2))~~, or one year has expired since the employer has employed the responsible parent or has been in possession of or owing any earnings to the responsible parent or the employment security department has been in possession of or owing any unemployment compensation benefits to the responsible parent. (11) The division of child support may use uniform interstate withholding forms adopted by the United States department of health and human services to take withholding actions under this section when the responsible parent is receiving earnings or unemployment compensation in another state. B. CHILD SUPPORT ENFORCEMENT Sec. 899. RCW 74.20.040 and 1989 c 360 s 12 are each amended to read as follows: (1) Whenever the department ~~((of social and health services))~~ receives an application for public assistance on behalf of a child, the department shall take appropriate action under the provisions of this chapter, chapter 74.20A RCW, or other appropriate statutes of this state to establish or enforce support obligations against the parent or other persons owing a duty to pay support moneys. (2) The secretary may accept a request for support enforcement services on behalf of persons who are not recipients of public assistance and may take appropriate action to establish or enforce support obligations against the parent or other persons owing a duty to pay moneys. Requests accepted under this subsection may be conditioned upon the payment of a fee as required through regulation issued by the secretary. ~~((Action may be taken under the provisions of chapter 74.20~~

RCW, the abandonment or nonsupport statutes, or other appropriate statutes of this state, including but not limited to remedies established in chapter 74.20A RCW, to establish and enforce said support obligations.) The secretary may establish by regulation, reasonable standards and qualifications for support enforcement services under this subsection. (3) The secretary may accept requests for support enforcement services from child support enforcement agencies in other states operating child support programs under Title IV-D of the social security act or from foreign countries, and may take appropriate action to establish and enforce support obligations, or to enforce subpoenas, information requests, orders for genetic testing, and collection actions issued by the other agency against the parent or other person owing a duty to pay support moneys, the parent or other person's employer, or any other person or entity properly subject to child support collection or information-gathering processes. The request shall contain and be accompanied by such information and documentation as the secretary may by rule require, and be signed by an authorized representative of the agency. The secretary may adopt rules setting forth the duration and nature of services provided under this subsection. (4) The department may take action to establish, enforce, and collect a support obligation, including performing related services, under this chapter and chapter 74.20A RCW, or through the attorney general or prosecuting attorney for action under chapter 26.09, 26.18, 26.20, 26.21, or 26.26 RCW or other appropriate statutes or the common law of this state. (5) Whenever a support order is filed with the Washington state support registry under chapter 26.23 RCW, the department may take appropriate action under the provisions of this chapter, chapter 26.23 or 74.20A RCW, or other appropriate law of this state to establish or enforce the support obligations contained in that order against the responsible parent or other persons owing a duty to pay support moneys. (6) The secretary may charge and collect a fee from the person obligated to pay support to compensate the department for services rendered in establishment of or enforcement of support obligations. This fee shall be limited to not more than ten percent of any support money collected as a result of action taken by the secretary. The fee charged shall be in addition to the support obligation. In no event may any moneys collected by the department (~~of social and health services~~) from the person obligated to pay support be retained as satisfaction of fees charged until all current support obligations have been satisfied. The secretary shall by regulation establish reasonable fees for support enforcement services and said schedule of fees shall be made available to any person obligated to pay support. The secretary may, on showing of necessity, waive or defer any such fee. (7) Fees, due and owing, may be collected as delinquent support moneys utilizing any of the remedies in chapter 74.20 RCW, chapter 74.20A RCW, chapter 26.21 RCW, or any other remedy at law or equity available to the department or any agencies with whom it has a cooperative or contractual arrangement to establish, enforce, or collect support moneys or support obligations. (8) The secretary may waive the fee, or any portion thereof, as a part of a compromise of disputed claims or may grant partial or total charge off of said fee if the secretary finds there are no available, practical, or lawful means by which said fee may be collected or to facilitate payment of the amount of delinquent support moneys owed. (9) The secretary shall adopt rules conforming to federal laws, rules, and regulations required to be observed in maintaining the state child support enforcement program required under Title IV-D of the federal social security act. The adoption of these rules shall be calculated to promote the cost-effective use of the agency's resources and not otherwise cause the agency to divert its resources from its essential functions. NEW SECTION. Sec. 900. A new section is added to chapter 74.20A RCW to read as follows: CHILD SUPPORT PAYMENTS IN THE POSSESSION OF THIRD PARTIES--COLLECTION AS CHILD SUPPORT. (1) If a person or entity not entitled to child support payments wrongfully or negligently retains child support payments owed to another or to the Washington state support registry, those payments retain their character as child support payments and may be collected by the division of child support using any remedy available to the division of child support under Washington law for the collection of child support. (2) Child support moneys subject to collection under this section may be collected for the duration of the statute of limitations as it applies to the support order governing the support obligations, and any legislative or judicial extensions thereto. (3) This section applies to the following: (a) Cases in which an employer or other entity obligated to withhold child support payments from the parent's pay, bank, or escrow account, or from any other asset or distribution of money to the parent, has withheld those payments and failed to remit them to the payee; (b) Cases in which child support moneys have been paid to the wrong person or entity in error; (c) Cases in which child support recipients have retained child support payments in violation of a child support assignment executed or arising by operation of law in exchange for the receipt of public assistance; and (d) Any other case in which child support payments are retained by a party not entitled to them. (4) This section does not apply to fines levied under section 901(3)(b) of this act. NEW SECTION. Sec. 901. A new section is added to chapter 74.20A RCW to read as follows: NONCOMPLIANCE WITH CHILD SUPPORT PROCESSES--NOTICE--HEARINGS--LIABILITY. (1) The division of child support may issue a notice of noncompliance to any person, firm, entity, or agency of state or federal government that the division believes is not complying with: (a) A notice of payroll deduction issued under chapter 26.23 RCW; (b) A lien, order to withhold and deliver, or assignment of earnings issued under this chapter; (c) Any other wage assignment, garnishment, attachment, or withholding instrument properly served by the agency or firm providing child support enforcement services for another state, under Title IV-D of the federal social security act; (d) A subpoena issued by the division of child support, or the agency or firm providing child support enforcement for another state, under Title IV-D of the federal social security act; (e) An information request issued by the division of child support, or the agency or firm providing child support enforcement for another state under Title IV-D of the federal social security act, to an employer or entity required to respond to such requests under section 905 of this act; or (f) The duty to report newly hired employees imposed by RCW 26.23.040. (2) Liability for noncompliance with a wage withholding, garnishment, order to withhold and deliver, or any other lien or attachment issued to secure payment of child support is governed by RCW 26.23.090 and 74.20A.100, except that liability for noncompliance with remittance time frames is governed by subsection (3) of this section. (3) The division of child support may impose fines of up to one hundred dollars per occurrence for: (a) Noncompliance with a subpoena or an information request issued by the division of child support, or the agency or firm providing child support enforcement services for another state under Title IV-D of the federal social security act; (b) Noncompliance with the required time frames for remitting withheld support moneys to the Washington state support registry, or the agency or firm providing child support enforcement services for another state, except that no liability shall be established for failure to make timely remittance unless the division of child support has provided the person, firm, entity, or agency of state or federal government with written warning: (i) Explaining the duty to remit withheld payments promptly; (ii) Explaining the potential for fines for delayed submission; and (iii) Providing a contact person within the division of child support with whom the person, firm, entity, or agency of state or federal government may seek assistance with child support withholding issues. (4) The division of child support may assess fines according to RCW 26.23.040 for failure to comply with employer reporting requirements. (5) The division of child support may suspend licenses for failure to comply with a subpoena issued under section 906 of this act. (6) The division of child support may serve a notice of noncompliance by personal service or by any method of mailing requiring a return receipt. (7) The liability asserted by the division of child support in the notice of noncompliance becomes final and collectible on the twenty-first day after the date of service, unless within that time the person, firm, entity, or agency of state or federal government: (a) Initiates an action in superior court to contest the notice of noncompliance; (b) Requests a hearing by delivering a hearing request to the division of child support in accordance with rules adopted by the secretary under this section; or (c) Contacts the division of child support and negotiates an alternate resolution to the asserted noncompliance or demonstrates that the person, firm, entity, or agency of state or federal government has complied with the child support processes. (8) The notice of noncompliance shall contain: (a) A full and fair disclosure of the rights and obligations created by this section; and (b) Identification of the: (i) Child support process with respect to which the division of child support is alleging noncompliance; and (ii) State child support enforcement agency issuing the original child support process. (9) In an administrative hearing convened under subsection (7)(b) of this section, the presiding officer shall determine whether or not, and to what extent, liability for noncompliance exists under this section, and shall enter an order containing these findings. If liability does exist, the presiding officer shall include language in the order advising the parties to the proceeding that the liability may be collected by any means available to the division of child support under subsection (12) of this section without further notice to the liable party. (10) Hearings under this section are governed by the administrative procedure act, chapter 34.05 RCW. (11) After the twenty days following service of the notice, the person, firm, entity, or agency of state or federal government may petition for a late hearing. A petition for a late hearing does not stay any collection action to recover the debt. A late hearing is available upon a showing of any of the grounds stated in civil rule 60 for the vacation of orders. (12) The division of child support may collect any obligation established under this section using any of the remedies available under chapter 26.09, 26.18, 26.21, 26.23, 74.20, or 74.20A RCW for the collection of child support. (13) The division of child support may enter agreements for the repayment of obligations under this section. Agreements may: (a) Suspend the obligation imposed by this section conditioned on future compliance with child support processes. Such suspension shall end automatically upon any failure to comply with a child support process. Amounts suspended become fully collectible without further notice automatically upon failure to comply with a child support process; (b) Resolve amounts due under this section and provide for repayment. (14) The secretary may adopt rules to implement this section. Sec. 902. RCW 26.23.090 and 1990 c 165 s 2 are each amended to read as follows: (1) The employer shall be liable to the Washington state support registry, or to the agency or firm providing child support enforcement for another state, under Title IV-D of the federal social security act and issuing a notice, garnishment, or wage assignment attaching wages or earnings in satisfaction of a support obligation, for one hundred percent of the amount of the support debt, or the amount of support moneys which should have been withheld from the employee's earnings, whichever is the lesser amount, if the employer: (a) Fails or refuses, after being served with a notice of payroll deduction, or substantially similar action issued by the agency or firm providing child support enforcement for another state, under Title IV-D of the federal social security act, to deduct and promptly remit from unpaid earnings the amounts of money required in the notice; (b) Fails or refuses to submit an answer to the notice of payroll deduction, or substantially similar action issued by the agency or firm providing child support enforcement for another state, under Title IV-D of the federal social security act, after being served; or (c) Is unwilling to comply with the other requirements of RCW 26.23.060. (2) Liability may be established in superior court or may be established pursuant to ((RCW 74.20A.270)) section 901 of this act. Debts established pursuant to this section may be collected ((pursuant to chapter 74.20A RCW utilizing any of the remedies contained in that chapter)) by the division of child support using any of the remedies available under chapter 26.09, 26.18, 26.21, 26.23, 74.20, or 74.20A RCW for the collection of child support. Sec. 903. RCW 74.20A.100 and 1989 c 360 s 5 are each amended to read as follows: (1) Any person, firm, corporation, association, political subdivision or department of the state shall be liable to the department, or to the agency or firm providing child support enforcement for another state, under Title IV-D of the federal social security act and issuing a notice, garnishment, or wage assignment attaching wages or earnings in satisfaction of a support obligation, in an amount equal to one hundred percent of the value of the debt which is the basis of the lien, order to withhold and deliver, distraint, or assignment of earnings, or the amount that should have been withheld, whichever amount is less, together with costs, interest, and reasonable attorney fees if that person or entity: (a) Fails to answer an order to withhold and deliver, or substantially similar action issued by the agency or firm providing child support enforcement for another state, under Title IV-D of the federal social security act, within the time prescribed herein; (b) Fails or refuses to deliver property pursuant to said order; (c) After actual notice of filing of a support lien, pays over, releases, sells, transfers, or conveys real or personal property subject to a support lien to or for the benefit of the debtor or any other person; (d) Fails or refuses to surrender property distrainted under RCW 74.20A.130 upon demand; or (e) Fails or refuses to honor an assignment of earnings presented by the secretary. The provisions as to property disposition may not be revoked or modified, unless the court finds the existence of conditions that justify the reopening of a judgment under the laws of this state. (2) Unless otherwise agreed in writing or expressly provided in the decree the obligation to pay future maintenance is terminated upon the death of either party or the remarriage of the party receiving maintenance. (3) Unless otherwise agreed in writing or expressly provided in the decree, provisions for the support of a child are terminated by emancipation of the child or by the death of the parent obligated to support the child. (4) An order of child support may be modified one year or more after it has been entered without showing a substantial change of circumstances: (a) If the order in practice works a severe economic hardship on either party or the child; (b) If a party requests an adjustment in an order for child support which was based on guidelines which determined the amount of support according to the child's age, and the child is no longer in the age category on which the current support amount was based; (c) If a child is still in high school, upon a finding that there is a need to extend support beyond the eighteenth birthday to complete high school; or (d) To add an automatic adjustment of support provision consistent with RCW 26.09.100. (5) An order or decree entered prior to June 7, 1984, may be modified without showing a substantial change of circumstances if the requested modification is to: (a) Require health insurance coverage for a child named therein; or (b) Modify an existing order for health insurance coverage. (6) An obligor's voluntary unemployment or voluntary underemployment, by itself, is not a substantial change of circumstances. (7) The department of social and health services may file an action to modify an order of child support if public assistance money is being paid to or for the benefit of the child and the child support order is twenty-five percent or more below the appropriate child support amount set forth in the standard calculation as defined in RCW 26.19.011 and reasons for the deviation are not set forth in the findings of fact or order. The determination of twenty-five percent or more shall be based on the current income of the parties and the department shall not be required to show a substantial change of circumstances if the reasons for the deviations were not set forth in the findings of fact or order. (8)(a) All child support decrees may be adjusted once every twenty-four months based upon changes in the income of the parents without a showing of substantially changed circumstances. Either party may initiate the adjustment by filing a motion and child support worksheets. (b) A party may petition for modification in cases of substantially changed circumstances under subsection (1) of this section at any time. However, if relief is granted under subsection (1) of this section, twenty-four months must pass before a motion for an adjustment under (a) of this subsection may be filed. (c) If, pursuant to (a) of this subsection or subsection (9) of this section, the court adjusts or modifies a child support obligation by more than thirty percent and the change would cause significant hardship, the court may implement the change in two equal increments, one at the time of the entry of the order and the second six months from the entry of the order. Twenty-four months must pass following the second change before a motion for an adjustment under (a) of this subsection may be filed. (d) A parent who is receiving transfer payments who receives a wage or salary increase may not bring a modification action pursuant to subsection (1) of this section alleging that increase constitutes a substantial change of circumstances. (e) The department of social and health services may file an action at any time to modify an order of child support in cases of substantially changed circumstances if public assistance money is being paid to or for the benefit of the child. The determination of the existence of substantially changed circumstances by the department that lead to the filing of an action to modify the order of child support is not binding upon the court. (9) An order of child support may be adjusted twenty-four months from the date of the entry of the decree or the last adjustment or modification, whichever is later, based upon changes in the economic table or standards in chapter 26.19 RCW. Sec. 919. RCW 26.21.005 and 1993 c 318 s 101 are each amended to read as follows: In this chapter: (1) "Child" means an individual, whether over or under the age of majority, who is or is alleged to be owed a duty of support by the individual's parent or who is or is alleged to be the beneficiary of a support order directed to the parent. (2) The employer shall treat an income-withholding order issued in another state that appears regular on its face as if it had been issued by a tribunal of this state. (3) Except as provided in subsection (4) of this section and section 928 of this act, the employer shall withhold and distribute the funds as directed in the withholding order by complying with the terms of the order which specify: (a) The duration and amount of periodic payments of current child support, stated as a sum certain; (b) The person or agency designated to receive payments and the address to which the payments are to be forwarded; (c) Medical support, whether in the form of periodic cash payment, stated as sum certain, or ordering the obligor to provide health insurance coverage for the child under a policy available through the obligor's employment; (d) The amount of periodic payments of fees and costs for a support enforcement agency, the issuing tribunal, and the obligee's attorney, stated as sum certain; and (e) The amount of periodic payments of arrearages and interest on arrearages, stated as sum certain. (4) The employer shall comply with the law of the state of the obligor's principal place of employment for withholding from income with respect to: (a) The employer's fee for processing an income withholding order; (b) The maximum amount permitted to be withheld from the obligor's income; and (c) The times within which the employer must implement the withholding order and forward the child support payment. NEW SECTION. Sec. 928. A new section is added to chapter 26.21 RCW to read as follows: COMPLIANCE WITH MULTIPLE INCOME WITHHOLDING ORDERS. If an obligor's employer receives multiple income-withholding orders with respect to the earnings of the same obligor, the employer satisfies the terms of the multiple orders if the employer complies with the law of the state of the obligor's principal place of employment to establish the priorities for withholding and allocating income withheld for multiple child support obligees. NEW SECTION. Sec. 929. A new section is added to chapter 26.21 RCW to read as follows: IMMUNITY FROM CIVIL LIABILITY. An employer who complies with an income-withholding order issued in another state in accordance with this article is not subject to civil liability to an individual or agency with regard to the employer's withholding of child support from the obligor's income. NEW SECTION. Sec. 930. A new section is added to chapter 26.21 RCW to read as follows: PENALTIES FOR NONCOMPLIANCE. An employer who willfully fails to comply with an income-withholding order issued by another state and received for enforcement is subject to the same penalties that may be imposed for noncompliance with an order issued by a tribunal of this state. NEW SECTION. Sec. 931. A new section is added to chapter 26.21 RCW to read as follows: CONTEST BY OBLIGOR. (1) An obligor may contest the validity or enforcement of an income-withholding order issued in another state and received directly by an employer in this state in the same manner as if the order had been issued by a tribunal of this state. RCW 26.21.510 applies to the contest. (2) The obligor shall give notice of the contest to: (a) A support enforcement agency providing services to the obligee; (b) Each employer that has directly received an income-withholding order; and (c) The person or agency designated to receive payments in the income-withholding order, or if no person or agency is designated, to the obligee. Sec. 932. RCW 26.21.490 and 1993 c 318 s 602 are each amended to read as follows: (1) A support order or income-withholding order of another state may be registered in this state by sending the following documents and information to the support enforcement agency of this state or to the superior court of any county in this state where the obligor resides, works, or has property: (a) A letter of transmittal to the tribunal requesting registration and enforcement; (b) Two copies, including one certified copy, of all orders to be registered, including any modification of an order; (c) A sworn statement by the party seeking registration or a certified statement by the custodian of the records showing the amount of any arrearage; (d) The name of the obligor and, if known: (i) The obligor's address and social security number; (ii) The name and address of the obligor's employer and any other source of income of the obligor; and (iii) A description and the location of property of the obligor in this state not exempt from execution; and (e) The name and address of the obligee and, if applicable, the agency or person to whom support payments are to be remitted. (2) On receipt of a request for registration, the registering tribunal shall cause the order to be filed as a foreign judgment, together with one copy of the documents and information, regardless of their form. (3) A petition or comparable pleading seeking a remedy that must be affirmatively sought under other law of this state may be filed at the same time as the request for registration or later. The pleading must specify the grounds for the remedy sought. Sec. 933. RCW 26.21.520 and 1993 c 318 s 605 are each amended to read as follows: (1) When a support order or income-withholding order issued in another state is registered, the registering tribunal shall notify the nonregistering party. ((Notice must be given by certified or registered mail or by any means of personal service authorized by the law of this state.)) The notice must be accompanied by a copy of the registered order and the documents and relevant information accompanying the order. (2) The notice must inform the nonregistering party: (a) That a registered order is enforceable as of the date of registration in the same manner as an order issued by a tribunal of this state; (b) That a hearing to contest the validity or enforcement of the registered order must be requested within twenty days after the date of receipt by certified or registered mail or personal service of the notice given to a nonregistering party within the state and within sixty days after the date of receipt by certified or registered mail or personal service of the notice on a nonregistering party outside of the state; (c) That failure to contest the validity or enforcement of the registered order in a timely manner will result in confirmation of the order and enforcement of the order and the alleged arrearages and precludes further contest of that order with respect to any matter that could have been asserted; and (d) Of the amount of any alleged arrearages. (3) Upon registration of an income-withholding order for enforcement, the registering tribunal shall notify the obligor's employer pursuant to the income-withholding law of this state. Sec. 934. RCW 26.21.530 and 1993 c 318 s 606 are each amended to read as follows: (1) A nonregistering party seeking to contest the validity or enforcement of a registered order in this state shall request a hearing within twenty days after the date of receipt of certified or registered mail or the date of personal service of notice of the registration on the nonmoving party within this state, or, within sixty days after the receipt of certified or registered mail or personal service of the notice on the nonmoving party outside of the state. The nonregistering party may seek to vacate the registration, to assert any defense to an allegation of noncompliance with the registered order, or to contest the remedies being sought or the amount of any alleged arrearages pursuant to RCW 26.21.540. (2) If the nonregistering party fails to contest the validity or enforcement of the registered order in a timely manner, the order is confirmed by operation of law. (3) If a nonregistering party requests a hearing to contest the validity or enforcement of the registered order, the registering tribunal shall schedule the matter for hearing and give notice to the parties ~~((by first class mail))~~ of the date, time, and place of the hearing. Sec. 935. RCW 26.21.580 and 1993 c 318 s 611 are each amended to read as follows: (1) After a child support order issued in another state has been registered in this state, the responding tribunal of this state may modify that order only if ~~((the))~~ section 937 of this act does not apply and after notice and hearing ~~((and))~~ it finds that: (a) The following requirements are met: (i) The child, the individual obligee, and the obligor do not reside in the issuing state; (ii) A petitioner who is a nonresident of this state seeks modification; and (iii) The respondent is subject to the personal jurisdiction of the tribunal of this state; or (b) ~~((An individual party or))~~ The child, or a party who is an individual, is subject to the personal jurisdiction of the tribunal of this state and all of the ((individual)) parties who are individuals have filed ((a)) written consents in the issuing tribunal ((providing that)) for a tribunal of this state ((may)) to modify the support order and assume continuing, exclusive jurisdiction over the order. However, if the issuing state is a foreign jurisdiction that has not enacted a law or established procedures substantially similar to the procedures under the Uniform Interstate Family Support Act, the consent otherwise required of an individual residing in this state is not required for the tribunal to assume jurisdiction to modify the child support order. (2) Modification of a registered child support order is subject to the same requirements, procedures, and defenses that apply to the modification of an order issued by a tribunal of this state and the order may be enforced and satisfied in the same manner. (3) A tribunal of this state may not modify any aspect of a child support order that may not be modified under the law of the issuing state. If two or more tribunals have issued child support orders for the same obligor and child, the order that controls and must be so recognized under RCW 26.21.135 establishes the aspects of the support order that are nonmodifiable. (4) On issuance of an order modifying a child support order issued in another state, a tribunal of this state becomes the tribunal ~~((of))~~ having continuing, exclusive jurisdiction. ~~((5) Within thirty days after issuance of a modified child support order, the party obtaining the modification shall file a certified copy of the order with the issuing tribunal which had continuing, exclusive jurisdiction over the earlier order, and in each tribunal in which the party knows that earlier order has been registered.)~~ Sec. 936. RCW 26.21.590 and 1993 c 318 s 612 are each amended to read as follows: A tribunal of this state shall recognize a modification of its earlier child support order by a tribunal of another state that assumed jurisdiction pursuant to the Uniform Interstate Family Support Act or a law substantially similar to this chapter and, upon request, except as otherwise provided in this chapter, shall: (1) Enforce the order that was modified only as to amounts accruing before the modification; (2) Enforce only nonmodifiable aspects of that order; (3) Provide other appropriate relief only for violations of that order which occurred before the effective date of the modification; and (4) Recognize the modifying order of the other state, upon registration, for the purpose of enforcement. NEW SECTION. Sec. 937. A new section is added to chapter 26.21 RCW to read as follows: JURISDICTION TO MODIFY CHILD SUPPORT ORDER OF ANOTHER STATE IF INDIVIDUAL PARTIES RESIDE IN THIS STATE. (1) If all of the parties who are individuals reside in this state and the child does not reside in the issuing state, a tribunal of this state has jurisdiction to enforce and to modify the issuing state's child support order in a proceeding to register that order. (2) A tribunal of this state exercising jurisdiction under this section shall apply the provisions of Articles 1 and 2, this article, and the procedural and substantive law of this state to the proceeding for enforcement or modification. Articles 3, 4, 5, 7, and 8 of this chapter do not apply. NEW SECTION. Sec. 938. A new section is added to chapter 26.21 RCW to read as follows: NOTICE TO ISSUING TRIBUNAL OF MODIFICATION. Within thirty days after issuance of a modified child support order, the party obtaining the modification shall file a certified copy of the order with the issuing tribunal that had continuing, exclusive jurisdiction over the earlier order, and in each tribunal in which the party knows the earlier order has been registered. A party who obtains the order and fails to file a certified copy is subject to appropriate sanctions by a tribunal in which the issue of failure to file arises. The failure to file does not affect the validity or enforceability of the modified order of the new tribunal having continuing, exclusive jurisdiction. Sec. 939. RCW 26.21.620 and 1993 c 318 s 701 are each amended to read as follows: (1) A tribunal of this state may serve as an initiating or responding tribunal in a proceeding brought under this chapter or a law or procedure substantially similar to this chapter, the Uniform Reciprocal Enforcement of Support Act, or the Revised Uniform Reciprocal Enforcement of Support Act to determine that the petitioner is a parent of a particular child or to determine that a respondent is a parent of that child. (2) In a proceeding to determine parentage, a responding tribunal of this state shall apply the Uniform Parentage Act, chapter 26.26 RCW, procedural and substantive law of this state, and the rules of this state on choice of law. NEW SECTION. Sec. 940. A new section is added to chapter 26.21 RCW to read as follows: ADOPTION OF RULES. The secretary of the department of social and health services shall issue such rules as necessary to act as the administrative tribunal pursuant to RCW 26.21.015. Sec. 941. RCW 26.23.035 and 1991 c 367 s 38 are each amended to read as follows: (1) The department of social and health services shall adopt rules for the distribution of support money collected by the ~~((office of support enforcement))~~ division of child support. These rules shall: (a) Comply with ~~((42 U.S.C. Sec. 657))~~ Title IV-D of the federal social security act as amended by the personal responsibility and work opportunity reconciliation act of 1996; (b) Direct the ~~((office of support enforcement))~~ division of child support to distribute support money within eight days of receipt, unless one of the following circumstances, or similar circumstances specified in the rules, prevents prompt distribution: (i) The location of the custodial parent is unknown; (ii) The support debt is in litigation; (iii) The ~~((office of support enforcement))~~ division of child support cannot identify the responsible parent or the custodian; (c) Provide for proportionate distribution of support payments if the responsible parent owes a support obligation or a support debt for two or more Title IV-D cases; and (d) Authorize the distribution of support money, except money collected under 42 U.S.C. Sec. 664, to satisfy a support debt owed to the IV-D custodian before the debt owed to the state when the custodian stops receiving a public assistance grant. (2) The ~~((office of~~ support enforcement)) division of child support may distribute support payments to the payee under the support order or to another person who has lawful physical custody of the child or custody with the payee's consent. The payee may file an application for an adjudicative proceeding to challenge distribution to such other person. Prior to distributing support payments to any person other than the payee, the registry shall: (a) Obtain a written statement from the child's physical custodian, under penalty of perjury, that the custodian has lawful custody of the child or custody with the payee's consent; (b) Mail to the responsible parent and to the payee at the payee's last known address a copy of the physical custodian's statement and a notice which states that support payments will be sent to the physical custodian; and (c) File a copy of the notice with the clerk of the court that entered the original support order. (3) If the Washington state support registry distributes a support payment to a person in error, the registry may obtain restitution by means of a set-off against future payments received on behalf of the person receiving the erroneous payment, or may act according to RCW 74.20A.270 as deemed appropriate. Any set-off against future support payments shall be limited to amounts collected on the support debt and ten percent of amounts collected as current support. Sec. 942. RCW 74.20A.030 and 1993 sp.s. c 24 s 926 are each amended to read as follows: (1) The department shall be subrogated to the right of any dependent child or children or person having the care, custody, and control of said child or children, if public assistance money is paid to or for the benefit of the child under a state program funded under Title IV-A of the federal social security act as amended by the personal responsibility and work opportunity reconciliation act of 1996, to prosecute or maintain any support action or execute any administrative remedy existing under the laws of the state of Washington to obtain reimbursement of moneys expended, based on the support obligation of the responsible parent established by a superior court order or RCW 74.20A.055. Distribution of any support moneys shall be made in accordance with ~~((42 U.S.C. Sec. 657))~~ RCW 26.23.035. (2) The department may initiate, continue, maintain, or execute an action to establish, enforce, and collect a support obligation, including establishing paternity and performing related services, under this chapter and chapter 74.20 RCW, or through the attorney general or prosecuting attorney under chapter 26.09, 26.18, 26.20, 26.21, 26.23, or 26.26 RCW or other appropriate statutes or the common law of this state, for so long as and under such conditions as the department may establish by regulation. (3) Public assistance moneys shall be exempt from collection action under this chapter except as provided in RCW 74.20A.270. (4) No collection action shall be taken against parents of children eligible for admission to, or children who have been discharged from a residential habilitation center as defined by RCW 71A.10.020(7). For the period July 1, 1993, through June 30, 1995, a collection action may be taken against parents of children with developmental disabilities who are placed in community-based residential care. The amount of support the department may collect from the parents shall not exceed one-half of the parents' support obligation accrued while the child was in community-based residential care. The child support obligation shall be calculated pursuant to chapter 26.19 RCW. Sec. 943. RCW 74.20.320 and 1979 ex.s. c 171 s 17 are each amended to read as follows: Whenever a custodian of children, or other person, receives support moneys paid to them which moneys are paid in whole or in part in satisfaction of a support obligation which has been assigned to the department pursuant to ~~((42 U.S.C. Sec. 602(A)(26)(a)))~~ Title IV-A of the federal social security act as amended by the personal responsibility and work opportunity reconciliation act of 1996 or RCW 74.20.330 or to which the department is owed a debt pursuant to RCW 74.20A.030, the moneys shall be remitted to the department within eight days of receipt by the custodian or other person. If not so remitted the custodian or other person shall be indebted to the department as a support debt in an amount equal to the amount of the support money received and not remitted. By not paying over the moneys to the department, a custodial parent or other person is deemed, without the necessity of signing any document, to have made an irrevocable assignment to the department of any support delinquency owed which is not already assigned to the department or to any support delinquency which may accrue in the future in an amount equal to the amount of support money retained. The department may utilize the collection procedures in chapter 74.20A RCW to collect the assigned delinquency to effect recoupment and satisfaction of the debt incurred by reason of the failure of the custodial parent or other person to remit. The department is also authorized to make a set-off to effect satisfaction of the debt by deduction from support moneys in its possession or in the possession of any clerk of the court or other forwarding agent which are paid to the custodial parent or other person for the satisfaction of any support delinquency. Nothing in this section authorizes the department to make set-off as to current support paid during the month for which the payment is due and owing. Sec. 944. RCW 74.20.330 and 1989 c 360 s 13 are each amended to read as follows: (1) Whenever public assistance is paid under ~~((this title))~~ a state program funded under Title IV-A of the federal social security act as amended by the personal responsibility and work opportunity reconciliation act of 1996, each applicant or recipient is deemed to have made assignment to the department of any rights to a support obligation from any other person the applicant or recipient may have in his or her own behalf or in behalf of any other family member for whom the applicant or recipient is applying for or receiving public assistance, including any unpaid support obligation or support debt which has accrued at the time the assignment is made. (2) Payment of public assistance under ~~((this title))~~ a state program funded under Title IV-A of the federal social security act as amended by the personal responsibility and work opportunity reconciliation act of 1996 shall: (a) Operate as an assignment by operation of law; and (b) Constitute an authorization to the department to provide the assistance recipient with support enforcement services. Sec. 945. RCW 70.58.080 and 1989 c 55 s 2 are each amended to read as follows: (1) Within ten days after the birth of any child, the attending physician, midwife, or his or her agent shall: (a) Fill out a certificate of birth, giving all of the particulars required, including: (i) The mother's name and date of birth, and (ii) if the mother and father are married at the time of birth or the father has signed an acknowledgment of paternity, the father's name and date of birth; and (b) File the certificate of birth together with the mother's and father's social security numbers with the ~~((local))~~ state registrar of ((the district in which the birth occurred)) vital statistics. (2) The local registrar shall forward the birth certificate, any signed affidavit acknowledging paternity, and the mother's and father's social security numbers to the state office of vital statistics pursuant to RCW 70.58.030. (3) The state ~~((office))~~ registrar of vital statistics shall make available to the ~~((office of support enforcement))~~ division of child support the birth certificates, the mother's and father's social security numbers and paternity affidavits. (4) Upon the birth of a child to an unmarried woman, the attending physician, midwife, or his or her agent shall: (a) Provide an opportunity for the child's mother and natural father to complete an affidavit acknowledging paternity. The completed affidavit shall be filed with the ~~((local))~~ state registrar of vital statistics. The affidavit shall contain or have attached: (i) A sworn statement by the mother consenting to the assertion of paternity and stating that this is the only possible father; (ii) A statement by the father that he is the natural father of the child; (iii) A sworn statement signed by the mother and the putative father that each has been given notice, both orally and in writing, of the alternatives to, the legal consequences of, and the rights, including, if one parent is a minor, any rights afforded due to minority status, and responsibilities that arise from, signing the affidavit acknowledging paternity; (iv) Written information, furnished by the department of social and health services, explaining the implications of signing, including parental rights and responsibilities; and ~~((iv))~~ (v) The social security numbers of both parents. (b) Provide written information and oral information, furnished by the department of social and health services, to the mother and the father regarding the benefits of having ~~((he))~~ the child's paternity established and of the availability of paternity establishment services, including a request for support enforcement services. The oral and written information shall also include information regarding the alternatives to, the legal consequences of, and the rights, including, if one parent is a minor any rights afforded due to minority status, and responsibilities that arise from, signing the affidavit acknowledging paternity. (5) The physician or midwife or his or her agent is entitled to reimbursement for reasonable costs, which the department shall establish by rule, when an affidavit acknowledging paternity is filed with the state ~~((office))~~ registrar of vital statistics. (6) If there is no attending physician or midwife, the father or mother of the child, householder or owner of the premises, manager or superintendent of the public or private institution in which the birth occurred, shall notify the local registrar, within ten days after the birth, of the fact of the birth, and the local registrar shall secure the necessary information and signature to make a proper certificate of birth. (7) When an infant is found for whom no certificate of birth is known to be on file, a birth certificate shall be filed within the time and in the form prescribed by the state board of health. (8) When no putative father is named on a birth certificate of a child born to an unwed mother the mother may give any surname she so desires to her child but shall designate in space provided for father's name on the birth certificate "None Named". Sec. 946. RCW 26.26.040 and 1994 c 230 s 14 are each amended to read as follows: (1) A man is presumed to be the natural father of a child for all intents and purposes if: (a) He and the child's natural mother are or have been married to each other and the child is born during the marriage, or within three hundred days after the marriage is terminated by death, annulment, declaration of invalidity, divorce, or dissolution, or after a decree of separation is entered by a court; or (b) Before the child's birth, he and the child's natural mother have attempted to marry each other by a marriage solemnized in apparent compliance with law, although the attempted marriage is or could be declared invalid, and the child is born within three hundred days after the termination of cohabitation; (c) After the child's birth, he and the child's natural mother have married, or attempted to marry, each other by a marriage solemnized in apparent compliance with law, although the attempted marriage is or could be declared invalid, and (i) He has acknowledged his paternity of the child in writing filed with the state registrar of vital statistics, (ii) With his consent, he is named as the child's father on the child's birth certificate, or (iii) He is obligated to support the child under a written voluntary promise or by court order; (d) While the child is under the age of majority, he receives the child into his home and openly holds out the child as his child; (e) He acknowledges his paternity of the child pursuant to RCW 70.58.080 or in a writing filed with the state ~~((office))~~ registrar of vital statistics, which shall promptly inform the mother of the filing of the acknowledgment, if she does not dispute the acknowledgment within a reasonable time after being informed thereof, in a writing filed with the state registrar of vital statistics. An acknowledgment of paternity under RCW 70.58.080 shall be a legal finding of paternity of the child sixty days after the acknowledgment is filed with the center for health statistics unless the acknowledgment is sooner rescinded or challenged. After the sixty-day period has passed, the acknowledgment may be challenged in court only on the basis of fraud, duress, or material mistake of fact, with the burden of proof upon the challenger. Legal responsibilities of the challenger, including child support obligations, may not be suspended during the challenge, except for good cause shown. Judicial and administrative proceedings are neither required nor permitted to ratify an unchallenged acknowledgment of paternity filed after the effective date of this section. In order to enforce rights of residential time, custody, and visitation, a man presumed to be the father as a result of filing a written acknowledgment must seek appropriate judicial orders under this title; (f) The United States immigration and naturalization service made or accepted a determination that he was the father of the child at the time of the child's entry into the United States and he had the opportunity at the time of the child's entry into the United States to admit or deny the paternal relationship; or (g) Genetic testing indicates a ninety-eight percent or greater probability of paternity. (2) A presumption under this section may be rebutted in an appropriate action only by clear, cogent, and convincing evidence. If two or more presumptions arise which conflict with each other, the presumption which on the facts is founded on the weightier considerations of policy and logic controls. The presumption is rebutted by a court decree establishing paternity of the child by another man. NEW SECTION. Sec. 947. A new section is added to chapter 26.26 RCW to read as follows: PROOF OF CERTAIN SUPPORT AND PATERNITY ESTABLISHMENT COSTS. In all actions brought under this chapter, bills for pregnancy, childbirth, and genetic testing shall: (1) Be admissible as evidence without requiring third-party foundation testimony; and (2) Constitute prima facie evidence of amounts incurred for such services or for testing on behalf of the child. Sec. 948. RCW 74.20A.055 and 1996 c 21 s 1 are each amended to read as follows: (1) The secretary may, in the absence of a superior court order, or pursuant to an establishment of paternity under chapter 26.26 RCW, serve on the responsible parent or parents a notice and finding of financial responsibility requiring a responsible parent or parents to appear and show cause in an adjudicative proceeding why the finding of responsibility and/or the amount thereof is incorrect, should not be finally ordered, but should be rescinded or modified. This notice and finding shall relate to the support debt accrued and/or accruing under this chapter and/or RCW 26.16.205, including periodic payments to be made in the future. The hearing shall be held pursuant to this section, chapter 34.05 RCW, the Administrative Procedure Act, and the rules of the department. (2) The notice and finding of financial responsibility shall be served in the same manner prescribed for the service of a summons in a civil action or may be served on the responsible parent by certified mail, return receipt requested. The receipt shall be prima facie evidence of service. The notice shall be served upon the debtor within sixty days from the date the state assumes responsibility for the support of the dependent child or children on whose behalf support is sought. If the notice is not served within sixty days from such date, the department shall lose the right to reimbursement of payments made after the sixty-day period and before the date of notification: PROVIDED, That if the department exercises reasonable efforts to locate the debtor and is unable to do so the entire sixty-day period is tolled until such time as the debtor can be located. (3) The notice and finding of financial responsibility shall set forth the amount the department has determined the responsible parent owes, the support debt accrued and/or accruing, and periodic payments to be made in the future. The notice and finding shall also include: (a) A statement of the name of the recipient or custodian and the name of the child or children for whom support is sought; (b) A statement of the amount of periodic future support payments as to which financial responsibility is alleged; (c) A statement that the responsible parent may object to all or any part of the notice and finding, and file an application for an adjudicative proceeding to show cause why said responsible parent should not be determined to be liable for any or all of the debt, past and future; (d) ~~((A statement that the alleged responsible parent may challenge the~~ ~~presumption of paternity; (e))~~) A statement that, if the responsible parent fails in timely fashion to file an application for an adjudicative proceeding, the support debt and payments stated in the notice and finding, including periodic support payments in the future, shall be assessed and determined and ordered by the department and that this debt and amounts due under the notice shall be subject to collection action; ~~((f))~~ (e) A statement that the property of the debtor, without further advance notice or hearing, will be subject to lien and foreclosure, distraint, seizure and sale, order to withhold and deliver, notice of payroll deduction or other collection action to satisfy the debt and enforce the support obligation established under the notice. (4) A responsible parent who objects to the notice and finding of financial responsibility may file an application for an adjudicative proceeding within twenty days of the date of service of the notice or thereafter as provided under this subsection. An adjudicative proceeding shall be held in the county of residence or other place convenient to the responsible parent. (a) If the responsible parent files the application within twenty days, the department shall schedule an adjudicative proceeding to hear the parent's objection and determine the parents' support obligation for the entire period covered by the notice and finding of financial responsibility. The filing of the application stays collection action pending the entry of a final administrative order; (b) If the responsible parent fails to file an application within twenty days, the notice and finding shall become a final administrative order. The amounts for current and future support and the support debt stated in the notice are final and subject to collection, except as provided under (c) and (d) of this subsection; (c) If the responsible parent files the application more than twenty days after, but within one year of the date of service, the department shall schedule an adjudicative proceeding to hear the parents' objection and determine the parent's support obligation for the entire period covered by the notice and finding of financial responsibility. The filing of the application does not stay further collection action, pending the entry of a final administrative order, and does not affect any prior collection action; (d) If the responsible parent files the application more than one year after the date of service, the department shall schedule an adjudicative proceeding at which the responsible parent must show good cause for failure to file a timely application. The filing of the application does not stay future collection action and does not affect prior collection action; (i) If the presiding officer finds that good cause exists, the presiding officer shall proceed to hear the parent's objection to the notice and determine the parent's support obligation; (ii) If the presiding officer finds that good cause does not exist, the presiding officer shall treat the application as a petition for prospective modification of the amount for current and future support established under the notice and finding. In the modification proceeding, the presiding officer shall set current and future support under chapter 26.19 RCW. The responsible parent need show neither good cause nor a substantial change of circumstances to justify modification of current and future support; (e) The department shall retain and/or shall not refund support money collected more than twenty days after the date of service of the notice. Money withheld as the result of collection action shall be delivered to the department. The department shall distribute such money, as provided in published rules. (5)~~((a))~~) If an application for an adjudicative proceeding is filed, the presiding or reviewing officer shall determine the past liability and responsibility, if any, of the alleged responsible parent and shall also determine the amount of periodic payments to be made in the future, which amount is not limited by the amount of any public assistance payment made to or for the benefit of the child. (c) An alleged father who objects to the amount of support requested in the notice may file an application for an adjudicative proceeding up to twenty days after the date the notice was served. An application for an adjudicative proceeding may be filed within one year of service of the notice and finding of parental responsibility without the necessity for a showing of good cause or upon a showing of good cause thereafter. The tests shall be performed by an expert in paternity blood or genetic testing appointed by the court. The expert's verified report identifying the blood or genetic characteristics observed is admissible in evidence in any hearing or trial in the parentage action, if (a) the alleged or presumed father has had the opportunity to gain information about the security, validity, and interpretation of the tests and the qualifications of any experts, and (b) the report is accompanied by an affidavit from the expert which describes the expert's qualifications as an expert and analyzes and interprets the results. Verified documentation of the chain of custody of the blood or genetic samples tested is admissible to establish the chain of custody. The court may consider published sources as aids to interpretation of the test results. a reasonable time. The court may order additional testing without requiring that the requesting party advance the costs only if another party agrees to advance the costs or if the court finds, after hearing, that (a) the requesting party is indigent, and (b) the laboratory performing the initial tests recommends additional testing or there is substantial evidence to support a finding as to paternity contrary to the initial blood or genetic test results. The court may later order any other party to reimburse the party who advanced the costs of additional testing for all or a portion of the costs. (4) In all cases, the court shall determine the number and qualifications of the experts. Sec. 955. RCW 26.26.130 and 1995 c 246 s 31 are each amended to read as follows: (1) The judgment and order of the court determining the existence or nonexistence of the parent and child relationship shall be determinative for all purposes. In issuing the order, the court shall consider the provisions of RCW 9.41.800. (4) The judgment and order shall contain the social security numbers of all parties to the order. (5) Support judgment and orders shall be for periodic payments which may vary in amount. (2) The state board of health by rule may require additional pertinent information relative to the birth and manner of delivery as it may deem necessary for statistical study. This information shall be placed in a confidential section of the birth certificate form and shall not be subject to the view of the public or for certification purposes except upon order of the court. The state board of health may eliminate from the forms items that it determines are not necessary for statistical study. (3) Each certificate or other document required by this chapter shall be on a form or in a format prescribed by the state registrar. (4) All vital records shall contain the data required for registration. No certificate may be held to be complete and correct that does not supply all items of information called for or that does not satisfactorily account for the omission of required items. Sec. 1. INTENT. The legislature finds that it is in the public interest that the state adopt public assistance policies for needy families that stress: The central role of employment in reducing poverty and need; the temporary nature of public assistance; the importance of the state's efforts in sustaining economic independence and promoting occupational and income advancement; and the continuing responsibility of the state to protect children and other vulnerable residents. Therefore, the legislature intends that: (1) Work should provide the best opportunity for needy families to raise their incomes and leave poverty; (2) Parents should be responsible for support of their children. Child support will be aggressively pursued to assure that responsibility is fulfilled; (3) Those recipients who can work shall immediately participate in mandatory work or work preparation activities; (4) Sanctions for nonparticipation shall be clear, timely, and progressive; (5) Work should pay and the incentives in the system should support unsubsidized employment opportunities; (6) Education and job training should be accessible so an entry-level job can be the first step on a career ladder; (7) The individual shall sign a statement of personal responsibility, acknowledging responsibility for moving quickly into the world of work; (8) The state should help provide the tools for assistance recipients to get and keep a job, and improve their opportunity for advancement; (9) Essential services that low and moderate-income families need for sustaining independence, including health care insurance and child care, should be affordable and accessible; (10) Assistance should be available for those unable to perform self-sustaining work; (11) Individuals temporarily not able to work will be responsible for participating in activities designed to help them achieve self-sufficiency; (12) Legal immigrants should be eligible for the same programs as other residents; (13) State agencies involved with the temporary assistance for needy families program will be focused on moving people into self-sustaining work; (14) The state's goals should be supported by working through public and private providers who are most effective in getting people ready for and into unsubsidized employment; (15) Partnerships should be built with local governments, business, labor, and civic and religious organizations to mobilize the resources of communities to help families raise their incomes and leave poverty; and (16) WorkFirst should recognize the distinct needs and resources of communities and provide recipients with programs suited to the different labor markets of the state.

I. GENERAL PROVISIONS

Sec. 101. RCW 74.08.340 and 1959 c 26 s 74.08.340 are each amended to read as follows: All assistance granted under this title shall be deemed to be granted and to be held subject to the provisions of any amending or repealing act that may hereafter be enacted, and no recipient shall have any claim for compensation, or otherwise, by reason of his assistance being affected in any way by such amending or repealing act. There is no legal entitlement to temporary assistance for needy families. Sec. 102. RCW 74.08.025 and 1981 1st ex. s. c 6 s 9 are each amended to read as follows: Public assistance ~~((shall))~~ may be awarded to any applicant: (1) Who is in need and otherwise meets the eligibility requirements of department assistance programs; and (2) Who has not made a voluntary assignment of property or cash for the purpose of qualifying for an assistance grant; and (3) Who is not an inmate of a public institution except as a patient in a medical institution or except as an inmate in a public institution who could qualify for federal aid assistance: PROVIDED, That the assistance paid by the department to recipients in nursing homes, or receiving nursing home care, may cover the cost of clothing and incidentals and general maintenance exclusive of medical care and health services. The department may pay a grant to cover the cost of clothing and personal incidentals in public or private medical institutions and institutions for tuberculosis. The department shall allow recipients in nursing homes to retain, in addition to the grant to cover the cost of clothing and incidentals, wages received for work as a part of a training or rehabilitative program designed to prepare the recipient for less restrictive placement to the extent permitted under Title XIX of the federal social security act. NEW SECTION. Sec. 103. A new section is added to chapter 74.12 RCW to read as follows: TIME LIMITS. (1) A family that includes an adult who has received temporary assistance for needy families for sixty months after the effective date of this section shall be ineligible for further temporary assistance for needy families assistance. (2) For the purposes of applying the rules of this section, the department shall count any month in which an adult family member received a temporary assistance for needy families cash assistance grant unless the assistance was provided when the family member was a minor child and not the head of the household or married to the head of the household. (3) The legislature recognizes that under P.L. 104-193 the department may exempt no more than twenty percent of the temporary assistance for needy families caseload from the sixty-month time limit. The legislature further recognizes that not all adult recipients of temporary assistance for needy families can be expected to attain self-sufficiency within this time limit. Because the sixty-month time limit will not be applicable to recipients until 2002, the legislature further believes that it is appropriate to engage in the study required in section 501 of this act before making decisions about caseload exemptions. Sec. 104. RCW 74.12.035 and 1985 c 335 s 1 are each amended to read as follows: (1) ~~((A family or assistance unit is not eligible for aid for any month if for that month the total income of the family or assistance unit, without application of income disregards, exceeds one hundred eighty five percent of the state standard of need for a family of the same composition: PROVIDED, That for the purposes of determining the total income of the family or assistance unit, the earned income of a dependent child who is a full-time student for whom aid to families with dependent children is being provided shall be disregarded for six months per calendar year. (2)))~~ Participation in a strike does not constitute good cause to leave or to refuse to seek or accept employment. Assistance is not payable to a family for any month in which any caretaker relative with whom the child is living is, on the last day of the month, participating in a strike. An individual's need shall not be included in determining the amount of aid payable for any month to a family or assistance unit if, on the last day of the month, the individual is participating in a strike. ~~((3))~~ (2) Children over eighteen years of age and under nineteen years of age who are otherwise eligible for temporary assistance for needy families and who are full-time students (reasonably expected to complete a program of) attending secondary school, or the equivalent level of vocational or technical training (~~(, before reaching nineteen years of age)~~) are eligible to receive ~~((aid to families with dependent children: PROVIDED HOWEVER, That if such students do not successfully complete such program before reaching nineteen years of age, the assistance rendered under this subsection during such period shall not be a debt due the state))~~ temporary assistance for needy families. NEW SECTION. Sec. 105. A new section is added to chapter 74.12A RCW to read as follows: GRANT DIVERSION. The legislature recognizes there are low-income employable families who are in danger of becoming reliant on public assistance. With minimal short-term help from the state, these families can remain intact, actively involved in the labor market, and financially self-sufficient. Therefore, the legislature finds it is in the public interest to establish a grant diversion program to help at-risk families remain off temporary assistance for needy families. (1) The department may provide state-funded cash aid to meet short-term need, thereby allowing employable low-income families to remain off assistance. (2) Diversion assistance may include cash or vouchers in payment for the following needs: (a) Child care; (b) Housing assistance; (c) Transportation-related expenses; (d) Food; (e) Medical costs not covered under chapter 74.09 RCW; and (f) Employment-related expenses that are necessary to keep or obtain paid unsubsidized employment. (3) Diversion assistance is available once in each twelve-month period. Recipients of diversion assistance are not included in the temporary assistance for needy families program. (4) Diversion assistance may not exceed one thousand five hundred dollars for each instance. (5) To be eligible for diversion assistance, a family must otherwise be eligible for, but not receiving, temporary assistance for needy families. (6) Families ineligible for temporary assistance for needy families due to sanction, noncompliance, the lump sum income rule, or any other reason are not eligible for diversion assistance. (7) Families must provide evidence showing that a bona fide need exists according to subsection (2) of this section in order to be eligible for diversion assistance. (8) If the recipient of diversion assistance receives temporary assistance for needy families assistance within a period specified by the department, but not to exceed twelve months following the receipt of diversion assistance, the amount of the diversion assistance shall be recovered by the state by deduction from the recipient's temporary assistance for needy families grant. (9) If funds appropriated for grant diversion are exhausted, the department shall discontinue the program in this section. Sec. 106. RCW 74.09.510 and 1991 sp.s. c 8 s 8 are each amended to read as follows: Medical assistance may be provided in accordance with eligibility requirements established by the department (~~(of social and health services)~~), as defined in the social security Title XIX state plan for mandatory categorically needy persons and: (1) Individuals who would be eligible for cash assistance except for their institutional status; (2) individuals who are under twenty-one years of age, who would be eligible for ~~((aid to families with dependent children))~~ temporary assistance for needy families, but do not qualify as dependent children and who are in (a) foster care, (b) subsidized adoption, (c) a nursing facility or an intermediate care facility for the mentally retarded, or (d) inpatient psychiatric facilities; (3) the aged, blind, and disabled who: (a) Receive only a state supplement, or (b) would not be eligible for cash assistance if they were not institutionalized; (4) categorically related individuals who ((would be eligible for but choose not to receive cash assistance)) meet the income and resource requirements of the cash assistance programs; (5) individuals who are enrolled in managed health care systems, who have otherwise lost eligibility for medical assistance, but who have not completed a current six-month enrollment in a managed health care system, and who are eligible for federal financial participation under Title XIX of the social security act; (6) children and pregnant women allowed by federal statute for whom funding is appropriated; ~~((and))~~ (7) other individuals eligible for medical services under RCW 74.09.035 and 74.09.700 for whom federal financial participation is available under Title XIX of the social security act; and (8) persons allowed by section 1931 of the social security act for whom funding is appropriated. NEW SECTION. Sec. 107. A new section is added to chapter 74.08 RCW to read as follows: GOOD CAUSE EXEMPTIONS. The department shall establish by rule good cause exemptions consistent with the family violence options of Sec. 402 (a)(7) of Title IV-A of the federal social security act as amended by P.L. 104-193. Individuals granted a good cause exemption may not be subject to work requirements, child support cooperation requirements, and time limits of section 103 of this act. The department shall periodically review such exemptions to determine when they are no longer necessary. NEW SECTION. Sec. 108. A new section is added to chapter 74.12 RCW to read as follows: STATE-FUNDED TEMPORARY ASSISTANCE FOR NEEDY FAMILIES. (1) The department may provide state-funded temporary assistance for needy families and medical assistance to needy families if: The needy caretaker relative is disabled; the needy caretaker relative is needed in the home to care for a disabled family member; or the needy nonparent caretaker relative is at least fifty years old. (2) Such assistance shall be provided under the same rules and in the same amount as under the temporary assistance for needy families program except: Such families shall not be subject to temporary assistance for needy families WorkFirst requirements unless they volunteer and they will not be subject to the sixty-month time limit in section 103 of this act. (3) The department may use state funds as appropriated to provide such benefits. NEW SECTION. Sec. 109. The following acts or parts of acts are each repealed: (1) RCW 74.12.420 and 1994 c 299 s 9; and (2) RCW 74.12.425 and 1994 c 299 s 10. II. WORKFIRST NEW SECTION. Sec. 201. A new section is added to chapter 74.25 RCW to read as follows: STATEMENT OF PERSONAL RESPONSIBILITY. (1) A family receiving or applying for assistance under the temporary assistance for needy families program is ineligible for continued or new assistance if the recipient and the department have not completed a statement of personal responsibility satisfying the requirements of this section. (2) The statement of personal responsibility shall emphasize the importance of work. (3) The statement of personal responsibility shall contain, but is not limited to (a) an explanation of Washington's WorkFirst program, including time limits; (b) the rights and responsibilities of the recipient in the WorkFirst program; (c) a list of the available programs for which the family is eligible; and (d) the sanctions imposed on the recipient for refusing or failing to participate in the WorkFirst program. NEW SECTION. Sec. 202. A new section is added to chapter 74.25 RCW to read as follows: WASHINGTON WORKFIRST PROGRAM. (1) There is established in the department the WorkFirst program, the welfare-to-work program for temporary assistance for needy families. The exemption shall not exceed a total of twelve months. (3) The department shall adopt rules under chapter 34.05 RCW establishing criteria constituting circumstances of good cause for an individual failing or refusing to participate in an assigned activity, or failing or refusing to accept or retain employment. (4) All teen parents under age eighteen years who are approved for assistance shall, as a condition of receiving benefits, actively progress toward the completion of a high school diploma, GED, or an approved alternative education program. (5) The department may provide employment and training and education support services to assist temporary assistance for needy families recipients under chapter 74.12 RCW to obtain employment. (6) The department may contract with public and private employment and training agencies and other public service entities to carry out the purposes of Washington's WorkFirst program. (7) The department shall adopt rules under chapter 34.05 RCW as necessary to effectuate the intent and purpose of this chapter. NEW SECTION. Sec. 203. A new section is added to chapter 74.25 RCW to read as follows: JOB SEARCH. (1) The department shall require temporary assistance for needy families recipients to engage in initial and ongoing job search. Priority shall be given to work activities that simulate the work environment. (3) As used in this section, "initial job search" means an activity in which nonexempt recipients engage each weekday upon entering the Washington WorkFirst program. The component shall provide classroom instruction and a minimum of fifteen hours per week of structured, individual job search activities. (a) Individual job search shall include individual and group activities. (b) Job search instruction shall be structured in such a way as to replicate the demands of a work environment. It shall include, at a minimum, information on how to apply for work, the current labor market, and available work force development resources. (4) Ongoing job search shall include regular, structured work search and weekly reporting of work search plans and results. NEW SECTION. Sec. 204. A new section is added to chapter 74.08 RCW to read as follows: SANCTIONS FOR NONCOOPERATION. Cooperation with the requirements of Washington's WorkFirst program is required, unless exempt under this title. Failure to cooperate, absent good cause, shall result in sanctions, including but not limited to, reductions of the family's cash assistance grant. The department shall adopt by rule, standards for the imposition of such sanctions. NEW SECTION. Sec. 205. A new section is added to chapter 74.25 RCW to read as follows: WORKFIRST--SERVICE AREAS--PROGRAMS. (1) The legislature finds that moving those eligible for assistance to self-sustaining employment is a goal of the WorkFirst program. It is the intent of WorkFirst to aid a participant's progress to self-sufficiency by allowing flexibility within the state-wide program to reflect community resources, the local characteristics of the labor market, and the composition of the caseload. Program success will be enhanced through effective coordination at regional and local levels, involving employers, labor representatives, educators, community leaders, local governments, and social service providers. (2) The secretary shall establish WorkFirst service areas for purposes of planning WorkFirst programs and for distributing WorkFirst resources. Service areas shall reflect identifiable labor markets. (3) By July 31st of each odd-numbered year, a plan for the WorkFirst program shall be developed for each service area. The plan shall be prepared in consultation with local and regional sources, adapting the state-wide WorkFirst program to achieve maximum effect for the participants and the communities within which they reside. Local consultation shall include to the greatest extent possible input from local and regional planning bodies for social services and work force development. The regional and local administrator shall consult with employers of various sizes, labor representatives, training and education providers, program participants, economic development organizations, community organizations, tribes, and local governments in the preparation of the service area plan. (4) The secretary shall have final authority in plan approval or modification. Local program implementation may deviate from the state-wide program if specified in a service area plan, as approved by the secretary. The local service area plans may adjust the temporary assistance for needy families cash grant for participants in that area, under RCW 74.04.770, and an adjustment to the grant may not exceed five percent of the state-wide grant established by the secretary. Local administrators may adapt service delivery to reflect local labor market and caseload characteristics, consistent with the service area plan, as approved by the secretary. Sec. 206. RCW 74.04.770 and 1983 1st ex. s. c 41 s 38 are each amended to read as follows: The department shall establish consolidated standards of need each fiscal year which may vary by geographical areas, program, and family size, for ~~((aid to families with dependent children))~~ temporary assistance for needy families, refugee assistance, supplemental security income, and general assistance. Standards for ~~((aid to families with dependent children))~~ temporary assistance for needy families, refugee assistance, and general assistance shall be based on studies of actual living costs and generally recognized inflation indices and shall include reasonable allowances for shelter, fuel, food, transportation, clothing, household maintenance and operations, personal maintenance, and necessary incidentals. The standard of need may take into account the economies of joint living arrangements, but unless explicitly required by federal statute, there shall not be proration of any portion of assistance grants unless the amount of the grant standard is equal to the standard of need. The department is authorized to establish rateable reductions and grant maximums consistent with federal law. Further, the department may adjust payment standards, within each WorkFirst service area, by up to five percent, either up or down, to reflect labor market conditions, resources needed to support work and mobilize and leverage local resources, or cost-of-living differences within local geographic areas. Payment level will be equal to need or a lesser amount if rateable reductions or grant maximums are imposed. In no case shall a recipient of supplemental security income receive a state supplement less than the minimum required by federal law. The department may establish a separate standard for shelter provided at no cost. NEW SECTION. (2) Work positions, paid or unpaid, held by public assistance recipients as a department-authorized WorkFirst activity shall not be created as the result of, nor result in, any of the following: (a) The filling of a position created by termination, layoff, or work force reduction; (b) The filling of positions that would otherwise be promotional opportunities for current employees; (c) The filling of a position before compliance with applicable personnel procedures or provisions of collective bargaining agreements; (d) The filling of a work assignment customarily performed by a worker in a job classification within a recognized collective bargaining unit in that specific work site, or the filling of a work assignment in any bargaining unit in which regular employees are on layoff; (e) A strike, lockout, or other bona fide labor dispute, or violation of any existing collective bargaining agreement between employees and employers; or (f) Decertification of any collective bargaining unit. (3) Participants in WorkFirst activities who receive a wage shall be deemed employees, and as such shall be paid and receive benefits in accordance with local, state, and federal law governing occupational health and safety, minimum wage standards, worker compensation insurance, and unemployment insurance. (4) A participant who does not receive a wage should not be required to participate in WorkFirst activities, other than job search, for a number of hours greater than participant's monthly temporary assistance for needy families benefit divided by the greater of the state or federal minimum wage. (5) Participants in WorkFirst activities who do not receive a wage shall be deemed employees for purposes of medical aid benefits under chapter 51.36 RCW and in accordance with local, state, and federal law shall be covered by appropriate occupational health and safety regulations. The agency or organization that provides the position shall be the employer and, as such any and all premiums or assessments due in relation to such benefits are the obligation of and shall be paid by the agency. (6) Subsection (2) of this section does not apply to public assistance recipients who secure unsubsidized paid employment outside of WorkFirst. (2) The community jobs program shall provide work opportunities through nonprofit corporations. This shall be a mandatory program as determined by the department. (a) The department shall contract with local nonprofit corporations for the operation of these programs. The contractor shall be responsible for identifying work sites, referring recipients to work sites, and providing support for recipients as necessary. The contractor shall be considered the employer of the participant. (b) The contractor shall receive the temporary assistance for needy families recipient's monthly benefit allotment and an additional payment, which together will cover the participant's wages, job development, employee counseling, and administrative costs, including the cost of employer-paid payroll taxes. Industrial insurance and other applicable federal payroll taxes shall be deducted from wages received by the employee. (c) In lieu of a grant from the department, the recipient shall receive wages from the contractor. (d) In identifying recipients to place in the program, the department shall target recipients who have limited prior work experience; have low educational attainment; have children older than two years of age; or have received public assistance for at least six months. (e) A temporary assistance for needy families recipient may participate in the community jobs program for twelve months. At the discretion of the department, the referral to community jobs may be renewed. This section does not exempt the participant from mandatory, ongoing job search requirements. (3) The department may use cash grants as a wage subsidy in order to provide full-time employment opportunities in the private sector for temporary assistance for needy families recipients. In no case will the wage subsidy exceed the value of the cash grant for which the participant would be eligible through temporary assistance for needy families. This shall be a voluntary program and no person will be sanctioned by the department for failure to participate. (a) The department shall adopt rules establishing the criteria for employer participation and the participation of recipients of temporary assistance for needy families in the wage subsidy program. Once the recipient is hired, the wage subsidy shall be authorized for up to nine months. (b) In developing job opportunities through the subsidized employment program, the department shall give priority to jobs with a career ladder or reasonable opportunity for wage increases, either with the subsidized employer or with another employer in the same industrial sector. At the end of the subsidized employment, it is expected that the employee be maintained in full-time, unsubsidized employment by the employer. (4) Participants in the community jobs program and the wage subsidy program shall remain eligible for medical benefits.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 209. A new section is added to chapter 74.04 RCW to read as follows: OUTCOME MEASURES. The WorkFirst program shall be evaluated through a limited number of outcome measures designed to hold each region accountable for program success. The outcomes measured used for evaluation shall include: (1) Exits through employment; (2) Employment retention rates; measured every six months for up to two years after leaving temporary assistance for needy families; (3) Reduction in average grant through increased recipient earnings; and (4) Number of recipients working part time and full time. NEW SECTION. (g) Recipients of general assistance based upon a finding of incapacity from gainful employment who remain otherwise eligible shall not have their benefits terminated absent a clear showing of material improvement in their medical or mental condition or specific error in the prior determination that found the recipient eligible by reason of incapacitation. Recipients of the federal ~~((aid to families with dependent children))~~ temporary assistance for needy families program who lose their eligibility solely because of the birth and relinquishment of the qualifying child may receive general assistance through the end of the month in which the period of six weeks following the birth of the child falls. (7) "Applicant"—Any person who has made a request, or on behalf of whom a request has been made, to any county or local office for assistance. (8) "Recipient"—Any person receiving assistance and in addition those dependents whose needs are included in the recipient's assistance. (10) "Resource"—Any asset, tangible or intangible, owned by or available to the applicant at the time of application, which can be applied toward meeting the applicant's need, either directly or by conversion into money or its equivalent: PROVIDED, That an applicant may retain the following described resources and not be ineligible for public assistance because of such resources. (a) A home, which is defined as real property owned and used by an applicant or recipient as a place of residence, together with a reasonable amount of property surrounding and contiguous thereto, which is used by and useful to the applicant. Whenever a recipient shall cease to use such property for residential purposes, either for himself or his dependents, the property shall be considered as a resource which can be made available to meet need, and if the recipient or his dependents absent themselves from the home for a period of ninety consecutive days such absence, unless due to hospitalization or health reasons or a natural disaster, shall raise a rebuttable presumption of abandonment: PROVIDED, That if in the opinion of three physicians the recipient will be unable to return to the home during his lifetime, and the home is not occupied by a spouse or dependent children or disabled sons or daughters, such property shall be considered as a resource which can be made available to meet need. (b) Household furnishings and personal effects and other personal property having great sentimental value to the applicant or recipient, as limited by the department consistent with limitations on resources and exemptions for federal aid assistance. (c) A motor vehicle, other than a motor home, used and useful having an equity value not to exceed one thousand five hundred dollars. Recipients of temporary assistance for needy families may retain a motor vehicle, other than a motor home, used and useful having an equity value not to exceed five thousand dollars. (d) All other resources, including any excess of values exempted, not to exceed one thousand dollars or other limit as set by the department, to be consistent with limitations on resources and exemptions necessary for federal aid assistance. (f) If an applicant for or recipient of public assistance possesses property and belongings in excess of the ceiling value, such value shall be used in determining the need of the applicant or recipient, except that: (i) The department may exempt resources or income when the income and resources are determined necessary to the applicant's or recipient's restoration to independence, to decrease the need for public assistance, or to aid in rehabilitating the applicant or recipient or a dependent of the applicant or recipient; and (ii) the department may provide grant assistance for a period not to exceed nine months from the date the agreement is signed pursuant to this section to persons who are otherwise ineligible because of excess real property owned by such persons when they are making a good faith effort to dispose of that property: PROVIDED, That: (A) The applicant or recipient signs an agreement to repay the lesser of the amount of aid received or the net proceeds of such sale; (B) If the owner of the excess property ceases to make good faith efforts to sell the property, the entire amount of assistance may become an overpayment and a debt due the state and may be recovered pursuant to RCW 43.20B.630; (C) Applicants and recipients are advised of their right to a fair hearing and afforded the opportunity to challenge a decision that good faith efforts to sell have ceased, prior to assessment of an overpayment under this section; and (D) At the time assistance is authorized, the department files a lien without a sum certain on the specific property. (11) "Income"—(a) All appreciable gains in real or personal property (cash

The department may by rule and regulation exempt income received by an applicant for or recipient of public assistance which can be used by him to decrease his need for public assistance or to aid in rehabilitating him or his dependents, but such exemption shall not, unless otherwise provided in this title, exceed the exemptions of resources granted under this chapter to an applicant for public assistance. In determining the amount of assistance to which an applicant or recipient of ~~((aid to families with dependent children))~~ temporary assistance for needy families is entitled, the department is hereby authorized to disregard as a resource or income the earned income exemptions consistent with federal requirements. The department may permit the above exemption of earnings of a child to be retained by such child to cover the cost of special future identifiable needs even though the total exceeds the exemptions or resources granted to applicants and recipients of public assistance, but consistent with federal requirements. In formulating rules and regulations pursuant to this chapter, the department shall define income and resources and the availability thereof, consistent with federal requirements. All resources and income not specifically exempted, and any income or other economic benefit derived from the use of, or appreciation in value of, exempt resources, shall be considered in determining the need of an applicant or recipient of public assistance. (b) If, under applicable federal requirements, the state has the option of considering property in the form of lump sum compensatory awards or related settlements received by an applicant or recipient as income or as a resource, the department shall consider such property to be a resource. (12) "Need"—The difference between the applicant's or recipient's standards of assistance for himself and the dependent members of his family, as measured by the standards of the department, and value of all nonexempt resources and nonexempt income received by or available to the applicant or recipient and the dependent members of his family.
