FIRST DAY

NOON SESSION

House Chamber, Olympia, Monday, January 8, 1990

The House of Representatives of the 1990 Regular Session of the Fifty-First Legislature was called to order at 12:00 noon by the Speaker, Joseph E. King.

The flag was escorted to the rostrum by a Sergeant at Arms Color Guard, Pages Kimberly Merrill and Joshua Donaldson.

Prayer was offered by The Reverend David Nelson of the Messiah Lutheran Church of Vancouver:

Almighty God, Creator of all things, Giver of every good gift, hear us as we seek Your blessings upon this state at the opening of this legislative session and those who hold office in this government.

Grant to these people, Your servants, the gifts they need for their service:

Wisdom and kindness;

Courage, compassion and creativity;

The insight to see the connection between all they do here, socially, economically and environmentally;

The heart to hear the cry for hope and justice;

The courage to act for all Your people;

That all our special interests be Yours;

That we may all be a voice for those who have no voice and the power for those who have no power;

That we may all be a future for our children and grandchildren.

Help us all to remember that we are called to serve the people as lovers of truth and justice. With thanksgiving for these legislators' lives of dedication, trust and service, we pray in the name of the One, Who also came among us to serve, Our Lord Jesus Christ. Amen.

Prayer was followed by the performance of "God Bless America" by vocalist Jan Stenz.

POINTS OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Ms. Brough: Thank you, Mr. Speaker. I wish to speak for a moment about monsters. We are beginning a new session and a new decade; we are faced with tremendous challenges. We find ourselves here today with one overriding issue. We must protect the citizens of our state from monsters--monsters in the form of sexual predators and violent criminals.

Our solution must include several things. It must include a strong element of the community's right to know. We must provide the law enforcement agencies with immunity so they can disclose the location of monsters loose in our communities. Our solution must also include a comprehensive approach to victims' services. We must care more about the victims of crimes than we care about the monsters who commit crimes, and the proof of our concern must be reflected in the legislation that we pass.

I have another point that I think we must have in our minds as we go into this issue and develop a solution to it, and that is the concern about young children being confronted in the courtroom and serving as witnesses. In my heart I know that there is no way that our forefathers would have ever expected a three-year-old to face a sexual predator in a court of law.

My message and my request today is, as we review these bills and others that will follow, let us remember that we are here to protect innocent citizens in our state. Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. Ebersole: Thank you, Mr. Speaker. It has become traditional that, on the first day of session, we talk about the need to work on a bipartisan basis, and I wanted to reiterate that here today. During the past two years we have had very productive legislative agendas and sessions. We expect to work cooperatively with our very able colleagues on the other side of the aisle to fashion a bipartisan approach to the many issues facing us, such as the need to rid our streets of sexual predators, to protect children and to address the need for victims' rights. We look forward to fashioning a bipartisan solution to all of those issues, just as we did last session with the omnibus drug bill. We look forward to working with you. We will begin work in earnest in committees today and on the floor tomorrow, and I hope we will have a good session for the people of the state.

Mr. Ballard: Thank you, Mr. Speaker. I would like to join the Majority Leader in saying that we are here to do the people's business with bipartisan effort. As usual there will be a lot of challenging issues. Last session we got over some of those hurdles. We didn't always agree and we probably won't always agree this time, but we will try to disagree in a reasonable manner that will serve the people of Washington well. We look forward to working in a good cooperative effort on a number of vital issues that are, quite frankly, bipartisan in their nature. Thank you very much.

STATE OF THE STATE ADDRESS
BY GOVERNOR BOOTH GARDNER

Governor Gardner: Mr. President, Mr. Speaker, Mr. Chief Justice, Justices of the Supreme Court, honored elected officials and fellow citizens of the State of Washington:

The future has arrived. Washington has celebrated its centennial and begun its second century. The rest of the country is focusing on the decade ahead as a time to prepare for the twenty-first century. But we in Washington know that a new century of statehood and a promising new age have already begun.

The evidence of these new beginnings is everywhere. Apathy is giving way to a new wave of activism. Greed has become less fashionable than generosity. There is a new willingness to confront and solve problems rather than to retreat behind cynicism and self-interest. But best of all, the simple human values of kindness, honesty and openness have replaced political dogma as the way that we govern. Nothing underscores the arrival of this new future so eloquently as the day last November when we watched the Berlin wall open. In homes across America we shared the joy of millions of Germans, as they danced in the streets half a world away from us. Forty years of silence and separation passed suddenly into history. It was a powerful demonstration of the strength of people who are determined to take the future into their own hands.

As we face the future, we can draw on the lessons of those who dared to dream for more than we thought was possible. We can learn from those who turned barriers into gateways. And we will need to. The countries of eastern Europe will soon become both our allies and our competitors in the growing community of free-world economies. They will join a growing list of nations all over the world that have challenged American products in world markets. We should rejoice in the prosperity of other nations, just as we celebrate freedom in eastern Europe. We should recognize that we have problems today not because we have lost our way, but because other countries have found our way. We have helped to create the world in which we now find ourselves.

Now we must face the fact that this world demands more of us than ever before. To remain competitive in the century ahead, we must recognize that what was good enough in the past will not be good enough in the future. Just like the athletes at the Goodwill Games, which will put Washington State on the world stage this summer, we need to put on our running shoes and get ourselves in shape. Improving our economic performance will require that we strengthen all of our institutions--our schools and our universities, our state and local governments, our social service systems, our industries and our families. And, like the people of eastern Europe, we must work to tear down the walls between our own people in this state, because for us they are not walls made of stone or barbed wire; they are the barriers of homelessness, poverty, addiction, illiteracy and fear. To make those walls crumble we must build a state full of healthy families in safe and healthy communities. We must become a state in which every child is learning and where every adult, who is capable, has access to a good job. And we must create a state where rural and urban communities alike share prosperity, where the environment is protected, and where all citizens feel safe and secure.

In this session of the Legislature we can make substantial progress on this agenda. We have the good fortune of a budget surplus to help us. However, we must ensure that today's windfall does not become tomorrow's debt. Our state's population is growing as fast or faster than our revenues. In times like these, the prudent planner saves a third, spends a third, and invests one-third.

In the budget I have proposed, one-third of the available surplus is invested in meeting the needs of children. Children can't learn if they can't see well enough to read the blackboard or if they have a toothache but cannot afford to go to a dentist. Last session of the Legislature we had the vision to enact a program called First Steps. Now sixteen thousand more young children are receiving health care. Today it is time to take the second step--to extend that coverage to all school-age kids whose families are in poverty. Let's make sure that all our classrooms are full of healthy learners.

Let's also continue to invest in excellence in our schools. Let's make sure that our children graduate from high school knowing more than we knew when we graduated. And most important of all, let's ensure that all of our children graduate--not drop out and not become kids who have already decided they are failures when their lives have scarcely begun. We need to restructure schools, as we have begun to do in the Schools for the Twenty-First Century project. We need to return control to local communities, deregulate and diversify our programs so that we respond to the individual needs of every child. We need parents who are partners with teachers in the education of children. And we need the freedom, as parents, to seek the best educational setting for our children, even if it means crossing school district lines to find it. Americans cherish the right to choose. Families choose the day care centers and the colleges their children attend. Now they would like to choose the public school which is best for them. That is a perfectly reasonable request. No one school can meet the needs of all children. In the last session of the Legislature we enacted a measure that allows students who have dropped out of school, kids who are returning from drug or alcohol treatment, and teen parents to get a fresh start in the school of their choice. Why should we wait until they fail or get in trouble to give them this choice? Every child can learn, and every child should have the right to learn in the public school where they learn best. If a child is failing in school, it is because we are failing that child. And we cannot afford to let any children fail.

Every adult can learn, too. The workforce of the future will require constant training and retraining, and we must build the institutional capacity in our community colleges, our vocational institutes, and yes, even in our public schools, for adult job retraining and skills development. Our job training and retraining programs were adequate in the fifties, in the sixties and in the seventies, but they are not adequate now. That is why I am proposing a year-long, intensive review of our job training programs and pilot programs to test new ways of training world class workers for Washington businesses.

Good workers in good jobs are the foundation of a healthy community. But protecting jobs alone is not enough. We must also protect ourselves and our communities. Protecting our communities means facing problems that are so traumatic that it is still difficult for many of us to talk about them--the problems of sexual predators, child abuse, family violence, and drug and alcohol addiction. The recent past has been full of both despair and dramatic progress on these issues. We despair when we hear of the brutal crimes against the vulnerable. In the Ozzie-and-Harriet fifties, such crimes were not absent; they simply were not discussed. But those days are over. In the language of the family therapist, we have finally gotten over our denial phase. We have made the painful effort to face these problems, to confront their enormity and to express openly our outrage and our anger. This is our version of glasnost, of openness to the truth and to the urgent need to change. Members of the Community Protection Task Force faced these issues with enormous courage and developed recommendations that will be strong medicine in the battle against the disease of violence. When Norm Maleng, Helen Harlow and Ida Balliasotes come to you and ask for your support of the community protection bill, you can only give them one answer. But this bill is not for them alone. It is for all of us. It is for every woman who has ever been attacked; it is for every child who has ever been abused and for every victim who has suffered at the hands of a criminal. It is for all of us--all the citizens of this state who deserve to feel safe in their homes and their communities.

The safety of the public must always be the paramount consideration in decisions about who gets out on our streets. But look at the numbers. Our county jails are bursting at the seams, and thousands more violent offenders are headed for prison. We can't put these people back on the streets. That would be the worst crime. We have no choice but to build more prisons, and we'd better get started right now. We know that, in the long run, building prisons is not a solution to the problem of crime, but for the immediate future it is the necessary response. We need to keep criminals behind bars.

And, we need to show more compassion for their victims. Let's all affirm right now that the victims of crime have a right to recovery and to humane treatment that heals the wounds of fear and grief.

In the long term, ending the scourge of violence requires breaking the cycles of poverty, addiction and family chaos. That's why our budget also calls for more treatment for the addicted and more counseling and mental health services for children and for families that are dysfunctional. All of us need to redouble our efforts to ensure that every child and every family in this state is safe and secure; that every child and every family live in circumstances that promote good health and good values.

However, protecting ourselves from the symptoms of poverty isn't enough; we must protect ourselves from the economic conditions that make poverty inevitable. We know that we must protect our natural heritage and that some of our forests have been cut at a rate which is no longer sustainable. But no humane person wants to save the forests by driving the families that depend on those forests into poverty. We cannot solve the timber crisis by confronting one another in court or by organizing angry demonstrations. In the long term all of us want the same thing--sustainable communities in a sustainable environment. To build that essential agreement, I am working closely with the Public Lands Commissioner and our congressional delegation to protect both our forests and the economic health of the communities that depend on those forests.

I have also proposed measures to protect our wetlands, to purchase old growth forests from the school trust, and to make a long-term commitment to the strongest possible protection of Puget Sound water quality. As more and more people move to Washington State, protecting our environment becomes more and more challenging. We must meet that challenge by managing growth instead of arguing about it. All the doctors in the world won't be able to keep our children healthy if the air is polluted, the drinking water contaminated, or if the land will not sustain our needs for food and housing.

While the needs of our children and grandchildren must remain paramount in our plans for the future, there is something which we can do for ourselves. And that is to fix a transportation system that has kept so many of us stuck for too long on our freeways. Those of us who must show up for work on time every morning and get home to our families at night need a break. And we can't wait until the next century. Our new approach to transportation planning recognizes the realities of population growth and the need to plan for it. It makes no sense to keep building more highways when the population is growing faster than we can build on-ramps. It makes even less sense to let our highways and bridges deteriorate, as we have been doing the past few years. We need additional revenue to repair and maintain existing roads and bridges, to develop better mass transit systems and to coordinate planning, so that growth, environmental protection and transportation fit together like the pieces of a puzzle. To prevent hardening of the arterials of our state's circulatory system, we need to change our transportation diet. That is a problem that will not be solved in a year, but this has to be the year that we begin to solve the problem.

It also has to be the year that we don't shoot ourselves in the foot just because we have a one-time six-hundred-million-dollar surplus. We know that to maintain existing levels of government service will cost an additional one and a half billion dollars or more in the next biennium. Every child in Washington needs a school, a home and a street to get from one to the other. Every business in Washington needs skilled workers and managers, a transportation system to get their products to market, and government services that are efficient and accessible. That is why I am continuing our efforts to find ways to save money and to make state government more efficient. The Efficiency Commission and suggestions from state employees have saved this state millions of dollars. But it is no time to rest on our laurels. We need to save more, and we need to be more productive. To be more productive we need to attract, train and retain the very best state employees. You will have legislation before you to address this need. And to save more we need a shared commitment to put some of this budget surplus away. I am going to be difficult to satisfy on this score only because I want Washington State to be a national model of prudence and productivity. And I want us to have a substantial cushion in the bank. To be as blunt as possible, at least one third of today's surplus will still be in the bank when this session of the Legislature is over.

As Washington begins its second century as a state, we are blessed with natural abundance and economic health. We are blessed with people who care about one another and we are blessed with communities that pull together. When we think of what we have achieved here in the last century, it fuels our optimism for the next one. As we begin the next century together, let's embrace the future. Let's take the future into our hands and shape it for the benefit of all the citizens of the State of Washington. We can share in better times if we resolve now to lead rather than follow, to plan rather than react, to conserve rather than squander and to nurture rather than neglect.

If the events of the past year have taught us only one thing, let it be that we can achieve what used to seem beyond our grasp. Our persistence will pay off, just as it has for the people of eastern Europe. Moral, political and economic progress is within our reach, if only we have faith in each other and faith in ourselves and a commitment to create a future that every citizen in this state can share.

Thank you very much.

POINTS OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. Prince: Mr. Speaker and members of the House: I rise to ask your forgiveness for a mistake that I have inadvertently made. Some of you may be aware of the newspaper article relating to my comments, which are said to have a racial or ethnic connotation.

There is no way that I can justify what has happened, except that it was the furthest thing from my intent. I was very much taken aback when it was pointed out that it could be interpreted in other ways. I have no real excuse. I made an error. I cannot plead ignorance, because I have been here too long and I know better. I cannot claim fowl, because the words I used could be misconstrued in the manner that they were. I can only ask the forgiveness of the body and the forgiveness of the people who were affected, and I hope they believe it was not my intent.

To the credit of the groups affected, it is my understanding that they are researching my record before they decide how to judge my statement. This shows a sophistication within the group, as well as progress for this society, and I am very thankful to them for taking this course.

I have lost more sleep over this than probably any mistake that I have made to date. I was concerned first by what my friends might think. I was also concerned by how this might affect my workability within this body, if they believed that I had intended such a statement. But, more importantly, it was such a conflict with how I personally view myself, that it has caused me a great deal of stress.

To have you fully understand how I feel, let me relate a story that took place a little over twenty years ago. When I was Sergeant at Arms of this body, I had a friend who told me that I was "colorless." Where I come from that means "lackluster." I was a little bit taken aback. My friend immediately sensed my concern and started to explain. I realized at once that I had been given as great a compliment as one could ever expect to receive in this society that, although it is getting better, is still anything but colorless. I have taken pride in this comment; I have always tried to live up to it; I have always tried to judge people on their ability and on their actions.

Again, let me say I am sorry for a very obvious error on my part. I am hoping that some good will come of this, even if it only means I am more careful in the future. I am hopeful that we, as a society and as an institution, try to live up to the challenge that my friend laid down--to continue forward and strive to become a more colorless society as we move into the future. Thank you.

Ms. Prentice: Thank you, Mr. Speaker. I rise to attest to the fact that this gentleman, the previous speaker, is not only colorless, he is truly color blind. He is not racist. He is reflecting the social consequences of years of society's neglect and indifference and the devaluation of minorities as people. We need to put this episode behind us. We also must address those social determinants, such as the continuation of exploited child labor. Thank you, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. Locke: Thank you, Mr. Speaker. Members of the body: I wish to react to the statements of my good friend, Representative Gene Prince, who spoke just a few moments ago. I think all of us know him and know him well and know that he is a great friend of minority issues and minority concerns. All of us who know Representative Prince know that no offense was taken or intended, and from that no offense was perceived on our part, and that, therefore, no offense was made. Thank you very much.

Mr. Wineberry: Thank you, Mr. Speaker. I have had the pleasure of working with Representative Prince in the Committee on Higher Education and in this Legislature for the last six years. Despite the way in which the context of the comments was framed in articles I read, I never expected any kind of apology because I know that they were not intended in that context. Unlike the sport of baseball, where an error goes up under the name of a particular player and it stays there, fortunately, in public service, the only mistake that remains in error is one that goes uncorrected. I believe that all of us recognize that Representative Prince has corrected his minor error, not just by the comments he has made on the floor today, but by his record of supporting minority rights and supporting higher education opportunities for people of all ethnic groups. That is the record that will remain under your name, not this article. It has been the pleasure of many of us, who have been contacted by citizens over in that area, to stand in your defense, because you have stood in the defense of so many of them on the issues that we have addressed in this Legislature.

MOTION

On motion of Mr. Ebersole, the House adjourned until 10:00 a.m., Friday, January 12, 1990.

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR

January 8, 1990

To the Honorable, the Senate and House of Representatives of the State of Washington
Ladies and Gentlemen:

In compliance with the provision of Section 11 of Article III of the Constitution of the State of Washington, the Governor hereby submits his report of each case of reprieve, commutation or pardon that he has granted since the adjournment of the 1989 Second Special Session of the Fifty-First Legislature, copy of which is attached.

Respectfully submitted,
Terry Sebring, Counsel.

CONDITIONAL COMMUTATION/CLEMENCY ORDER DELIA ALANIZ

On December 23, 1988, Delia Alaniz was sentenced by the Superior Court for Skagit County for the State of Washington to a term of 123 months (ten years and three months) in prison after a plea of guilty to Murder in the Second Degree of her husband, Roy Alaniz.

Delia Alaniz has now served approximately one year and ten months of her sentence, having been originally incarcerated on January 28, 1988, and sentenced on December 23, 1988.

Numerous petitions and letters have been received by the Governor on behalf of Delia Alaniz urging that her sentence be commuted. The matter was thoroughly reviewed by the Clemency and Pardons board which recommended a conditional clemency by a 3 to 2 vote at its September 8, 1989 meeting.

The documents presented indicate that Delia Alaniz and her children were physically, sexually and mentally abused by her husband, Roy Alaniz, throughout their 17 years of marriage, that she was in fear for her life and the physical well-being of her children due to her husband's past actions and threats; that she was later diagnosed as suffering from the battered woman syndrome which explains, in part, why she was unable to successfully use the community and legal resources available to effectively intervene to stop the violence and sexual abuse, that these facts do not relieve Delia Alaniz from the responsibility of her actions, though they do explain her motive and inability to help herself by legal means.

Violence against women and children is all too common and a disturbing problem in our society. Although we have made efforts in our state by passing laws which are intended to provide protection, counseling and shelter to victims of family violence such as Delia Alaniz and her children, no system can guarantee absolute protection. Though I do not condone the action by Delia Alaniz, it is my hope that her story will increase public awareness of the tragic consequences of the battered woman syndrome and will reinforce our determination to continue to provide more effective alternatives to end this destructive cycle of inner family violence.

Delia Alaniz has accepted the responsibility for her actions and admitted her guilt. Due to the unique nature of this crime, it is unlikely that Delia Alaniz will present any future danger to society if released at this time subject to the conditions set forth herein. I further believe that Delia Alaniz and her family have already paid a substantial emotional price as victims of the years of abuse by Roy Alaniz and subsequently as victims due to the criminal action taken by Delia Alaniz.

This is an extraordinary case and justice is served by granting a conditional clemency at this time for the remainder of Delia Alaniz's sentence, subject to the following conditions, with the explicit understanding that Delia Alaniz may be returned to prison to complete the balance of her sentence if the conditions are not fulfilled. The Department of Corrections is hereby directed to supervise the following conditions and to release Delia Alaniz from prison upon final verification that she has employment, a place to reside, and she has signed a copy of this document after advice of counsel indicating she understands the conditions herein and agrees to them in full. The Department of Corrections shall have the responsibility to supervise her and periodically report her progress to the Governor's Office and to also monitor her for any violations of the conditions.

Delia Alaniz's conditional clemency is subject to the following conditions and may be revoked by the Governor for violation of any or all of these conditions:

1. Enter and successfully complete counseling as ordered or approved by the community corrections officer. Seek psychological counseling for her children.

2. Complete five years' of community service in the form of educating the public and courts about domestic violence as ordered or approved by the community corrections officer.

3. Be employed and/or involved in an educational program acceptable to the community corrections officer and obtain permission from the community corrections officer before changing residence, employment or educational programs.

4. Not use or possess drugs or alcohol without a prescription from a licensed physician and submit to testing for the use of alcohol/drugs as scheduled by the community corrections officer.

5. Possess no deadly weapons on her person and not own or possess a firearm.

6. Obey all laws.

7. Possess a Department of Corrections-issued identification card, a Washington State identification card or a Washington State driver's license at all times.

8. Submit to the search of her person, residence, vehicle, and/or belongings when ordered to do so by the community corrections officer.

9. Obtain written permission from the community corrections officer before traveling outside of Washington State.

10. Repay any monies received from the Crime Victims Fund and other legal financial obligations imposed by the court on a fee schedule set by the community corrections officer. This provision shall also include the obligation to pay supervision fees based upon ability to pay and at the direction of the community corrections officer.

11. Not cohabitate with another adult without the prior permission of the community corrections officer.

12. Follow the directions of the community corrections officer in meeting any or all of the conditions imposed by the Department of Corrections to facilitate the carrying out of the conditions herein. These conditions include appearing, when directed, to meet with her community corrections officer, submitting monthly reports on how she's fulfilling the conditions and providing any information needed to assure compliance with the conditions.

VIOLATION PROCEDURE

Should a violation of any of the conditions herein occur, the following process will be followed:

1. The community corrections officer may detain Delia Alaniz in jail or prison and/or issue a warrant for her arrest upon a determination that there is probable cause to believe a violation of any of the conditions has occurred.

2. Detention beyond 48 hours must be reviewed and approved by the Secretary of the Department of Corrections or his/her designee.

3. Within five days of placement in custody, a supervisory level employee of the Department of Corrections will conduct a hearing to review the probable cause determination.

4. Upon a finding of probable cause, the violation(s) will be brought to the attention of a representative appointed by the Governor as his/her designee and that person will schedule a hearing, within 30 days of the probable cause review hearing decision, to determine if a violation has occurred. The Governor's designee shall make findings of fact as to a violation and make a recommendation to the Governor whether to revoke or modify the conditional clemency. This recommendation shall become the final decision within ten (10) days unless the Governor decides to modify it. There shall be no right to appeal or seek further review from the decision of the Governor or the Governor's designee.

TERM OF CONDITIONAL CLEMENCY

The period of this conditional clemency shall be from the date of Delia Alaniz's release from confinement with the State Department of Corrections until the expiration date of her 123 months sentence. If she violates any of the conditions of this clemency, the Governor or his/her designee may sentence her to the remaining unserved portion of the prison term, approximately eight years and five months, which will be remaining upon her release, even though a revocation will extend her new release date beyond her original release date had she remained in prison for the whole term without being released on a conditional clemency. Any violation of this conditional clemency must occur prior to the expiration date of the original 123 month sentence for it to be a basis for revoking her conditional clemency.

CONDITIONAL CLEMENCY GRANTED

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Booth Gardner, Governor of the State of Washington, by virtue of the authority vested in me by the laws of the State of Washington, do hereby grant the conditional clemency for Delia Alaniz, Department of Corrections' No. 946488, for her conviction of Murder in the Second Degree of her husband Roy Alaniz, pursuant to the conditions set forth herein.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the State of Washington to be affixed at Olympia this 27th day of October, A.D., Nineteen Hundred and Eight-Nine.

(Seal)

Booth Gardner, Governor.

POINT OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. Ballard: Thank you, Mr. Speaker. In accordance with provisions of Reed's Rule 168 and House Rule 16(B)(1), I rise to a Question of Privilege relating to the rights and reputation of all the members of this august body. In Reed's Rule 167 you will find a discussion about Questions of Privilege. In that discussion it is noted that sometimes an assembly may be so attacked that the good effects of the assembly's action may be lost, and the purpose of the Question of Privilege then is to allow the assembly to "set itself right with the community."

The purpose of the Point of Personal Privilege and these comments relates to the murals, the strong feelings that many members have on them, and the fact that we should have a full discussion and a vote because of the future impact upon this body. Thank you very much.

SPEAKER'S RULING

The Speaker: The Speaker would remind the House that Questions of Privilege are defined in Section 168 of Reed's Rules, as Representative Ballard has pointed out, and are matters affecting the safety, dignity and integrity of the House collectively or matters regarding the rights, reputation or conduct of an individual member. Points of Personal Privilege should not be used to discuss or debate issues. That debate should wait until the specific issue is formally before the House; that is, when we have an action or motion before us. I commend and thank Representative Ballard for his brief remarks in that he felt this matter affected the dignity of the entire body.

The Speaker declared the House to be at ease.

The Speaker (Mr. O'Brien) presiding called the House to order.

There being no objection, the House advanced to the eleventh order of business.

PERFORMANCE OF THE
MOTHER JOSEPH HISTORICAL STORY

Presiding: Speaker Pro Tempore John L. O'Brien

SPEAKER'S PRIVILEGE

Speaker O'Brien: We are today commemorating the tenth anniversary of the formal acceptance of the placement of the Mother Joseph statue in Statuary Hall of the United States House of Representatives, Nation's Capitol, Washington, D.C.

Mother Joseph, accompanied by other sisters, arrived at Fort Vancouver on a cold December day in 1856 and, during the period until her death in 1902, established twenty-nine hospitals, academies, schools and orphanages. In early north-west history Mother Joseph was among the first to care for orphans, the first to care for the aged, the first to care for the mentally ill and the first to establish a hospital. The American Institute of Architects in 1953 declared Mother Joseph "the first architect of the Pacific Northwest."

It is also fitting to recognize and honor the Sisters of Providence for their devotion to their fellow humans and for their caring love for all of us. Truly, Mother Joseph set the example and, with the tireless dedication of the Sisters who served the Order, she was able to contribute a worthy and lasting legacy.

We are privileged today to have as a means of honoring this commemoration, Joan Pinkerton Tucker, who will present a special monologue performance of the Mother Joseph historical story. She is wearing a habit identical to that worn by Mother Joseph. This event is especially significant because it is Joan Pinkerton Tucker's one-hundredth performance on the good works of Mother Joseph. It is my pleasure to present Joan Pinkerton Tucker in her role as Mother Joseph.

MOTION

On motion of Mr. Ebersole, the bills, memorials and resolutions listed on today's introduction sheet under the fourth order of business were referred to the committees so designated.

POINT OF PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Ms. Brough: On January 12, House Bill No. 2463, an act relating to vehicle registration records, was introduced and sent to Committee on State Government. On today's introduction calendar a bill identical to House Bill No. 2463 appears as House Bill No. 2807 and is referred to Committee on State Government. My Question of Parliamentary Inquiry is this, Mr. Speaker: Is House Bill No. 2807 properly before this body, given that it is identical to the previously introduced House Bill No. 2463?

SPEAKER'S REPLY

The Speaker (Mr. O'Brien presiding): There is no rule relative to the duplication of bills--perhaps something happened here inadvertently. I am sure that the final decision on which bill to handle will rest with the chair of the committee.

"Sec. 2. Section 5, chapter 42, Laws of 1975-'76 2nd ex. sess. as amended by section 4, chapter 55, Laws of 1989 and RCW 26.26.040 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) A man is presumed to be the natural father of a child for all intents and purposes if:

(a) He and the child's natural mother are or have been married to each other and the child is born during the marriage, or within three hundred days after the marriage is terminated by death, annulment, declaration of invalidity, divorce, or dissolution, or after a decree of separation is entered by a court; or

(b) Before the child's birth, he and the child's natural mother have attempted to marry each other by a marriage solemnized in apparent compliance with law, although the attempted marriage is or could be declared invalid, and the child is born within three hundred days after the termination of cohabitation;

(c) After the child's birth, he and the child's natural mother have married, or attempted to marry, each other by a marriage solemnized in apparent compliance with law, although the attempted marriage is or could be declared invalid, and

(i) He has acknowledged his paternity of the child in writing filed with the registrar of vital statistics,

(ii) With his consent, he is named as the child's father on the child's birth certificate, or

(iii) He is obligated to support the child under a written voluntary promise or by court order;

(d) While the child is under the age of majority, he receives the child into his home and openly holds out the child as his child; ~~((or))~~

(e) He acknowledges his paternity of the child pursuant to RCW 70.58.080 or in a writing filed with the state office of vital statistics, which shall promptly inform the mother of the filing of the acknowledgment, if she does not dispute the acknowledgment within a reasonable time after being informed thereof, in a writing filed with the registrar of vital statistics. In order to enforce rights of residential time, custody, and visitation, a man presumed to be the father as a result of filing a written acknowledgement must seek appropriate judicial orders under this title; or

(1) The United States immigration and naturalization service made or accepted a determination that he was the father of the child at the time of the child's entry into the United States and he had the opportunity at the time of the child's entry into the United States to admit or deny the paternal relationship.

(2) A presumption under this section may be rebutted in an appropriate action only by clear, cogent, and convincing evidence. If two or more presumptions arise which conflict with each other, the presumption which on the facts is founded on the weightier considerations of policy and logic controls. The presumption is rebutted by a court decree establishing paternity of the child by another man."

GOODWILL GAMES RECOGNITION

Presiding: Joseph E. King, Speaker

SPEAKER'S PRIVILEGE

The Speaker: We are about to enjoy one of the first of many, many blessings that the Goodwill Games will bring to the State of Washington. The very first blessing, that the Legislature has had a chance to enjoy, brings to us an exciting program, a great band and three world-class guests, who will be introduced in a minute to help us celebrate the coming of the Goodwill Games.

The Goodwill Games are an absolutely magnificent opportunity for the State of Washington. We, as residents of this state, and those around the world will have the opportunity to see world-class athletes, all competing in the name of good will. We will have the opportunity to share ideas, products and cultural perspectives with visitors and television audiences around the world. We will have the opportunity to show off this state and show the rest of the world why we love it. I think too often, however, we miss the central theme of the Goodwill Games: This is, in fact, the contribution of the State of Washington to world peace.

With that we would like to begin the program. I would like to introduce Father Sullivan, a good friend of mine. I think everybody here realizes that a world-class event, such as the Goodwill Games, needs world-class people to make it work. Our next guest and my friend, Father Sullivan, is indeed such a person. He is President of Seattle University and Chairman of the Board of Directors of the Seattle Organizing Committee for the Goodwill Games. Please welcome someone, whom I consider to be a true statesman, Father William J. Sullivan.

REMARKS BY FATHER WILLIAM J. SULLIVAN

Father Sullivan: Mr. Speaker and distinguished members of the House: It is a great privilege for me to be here today as a representative of the thousands and thousands of citizens of this state, who are working together to prepare for this magnificent summer event which will be coming to us in just six months. We are now at the six-month countdown for the Goodwill summer. As you know, this will involve world-class sports events and some magnificent international arts events, as well as a visit to our state by thousands of citizens from around the world.

From the very beginning of the preparation for the Goodwill Games, four years ago, it was clear that the games would succeed, depending upon the cooperation of all the sectors here within our state. We are here today celebrating the cooperation between the public sector--of course, yourselves and the local municipalities--and the corporate sector--represented here today by my good friend, Jay Greene, who is the Chairman of U.S. Bank and one of our strong supporters--and then also, of course, the volunteer sector. The games are going to succeed because so many thousands of people in the state are interested in them. We are here today to say thank you to the Legislature for the assistance it has given us and the assistance which we are confident will continue until the wonderful evening, July 21, 1990, when we will have the welcoming ceremonies in Husky Stadium.

As part of your ceremony here today, I have the privilege of introducing to this Chamber two extraordinary athletes. I am not sure whether or not this Chamber has ever previously had four Olympic gold medals in its presence at one time. I am going to take just a moment to introduce both of these gentlemen and then ask them to say a word to you.

First of all will be a man, whom we do not know all that well here in the United States, because the hammer throw is not a really big American sport. Not many of us spent our childhood working on the hammer throw. However, as you know, in Europe and other parts of the world, it is. This gentleman is the current world record holder, two-time Olympic gold medalist, and probably the best known athlete in Europe. Almost anyplace else in the world he has an absolutely extraordinary stature. He won Olympic medals in Montreal and Moscow and, in the opinion of everybody, would have been a winner in Los Angeles if the Soviets would have been permitted to participate there. He is here with us and, in just a moment, I am going to ask Yuri to say a word.

With him, and following him to the rostrum, will be someone whom I think you do know--at least from television and photos--Mr. Edwin Moses, who is a world record holder, two-time Olympic gold medalist in the four hundred meter intermediate hurdles, and, again in everybody's opinion, would have been a winner in the Moscow Olympics if we had participated at that time. You know Mr. Moses' record of consecutive victories in the four hundred meter hurdles along with Joe DiMaggio's consecutive hitting streak--a most extraordinary record in the history of American athletics.

At this point, to say a word about our Goodwill Games next summer from the point of view of the athletes who will be participating, I would like to ask you to join me in welcoming to the podium, Mr. Yuri Sedykh from the Soviet Union and, following him, Mr. Edwin Moses.

REMARKS BY MR. UYRI SEDYKH

Mr. Sedykh: Ladies and gentlemen: I am very happy and enjoying my stay in the State of Washington and City of Seattle. I think the second Goodwill Games in Seattle will be a success because they are not just a sports competition. They will work to bring very good relations and friendship between our countries. Thank you.

REMARKS BY MR. EDWIN MOSES

Mr. Moses: Thank you very much. I would like to echo that I am very pleased to be here. I competed in the Goodwill Games in 1986 in Moscow. It was an opportunity for me to compete in Moscow for the first time, after not being able to compete in 1980 as everyone well knows. I have said it everywhere I have gone: Yuri and I have very similar backgrounds. We both started in the Olympic Games in 1976. I didn't have the opportunity to compete in his country in 1980; he didn't have the opportunity to compete in our country in 1984. We both did compete in Moscow in the Goodwill Games in 1986; we both probably will compete in the Goodwill Games in the Seattle area in 1990. We are the same age. Different events, different countries, but the same sport.

For the State of Washington the Goodwill Games are a great opportunity to help with world relations. In 1986, when the games were originated by Ted Turner and Turner Broadcasting, no one thought that what has happened in the eastern European countries would happen. Here in 1990 we will be right on the cutting edge of those events, still working through sports and bringing good will to sports. That is what it is all about. Just as Yuri and his people showed us a good time when we went to the Soviet Union in 1986, the American people and the people of the State of Washington surely will show athletes from around the world a very good time when they compete here in the Goodwill Games. It is an excellent event and the State of Washington has an excellent opportunity to be right on the leading edge of normalizing relations with the Soviet Union, establishing good sporting relations with many countries of the world, and having an excellent event. You should be proud that the games are being held in this state. The countdown is one hundred and seventy-nine or eighty days to go, so everyone is working like a little beaver to get everything ready. We are sure that it will be a great opportunity for everyone. Thanks a lot.

Mr. Speaker:

On January 8, 1990, this office certified that we had begun the signature checking process on Initiative to the Legislature No. 109 which was originally filed with this office on April 19, 1989.

We have completed a canvass of 40,538 signatures out of 153,619 signatures submitted in support of this measure. Of the number canvassed we have determined that 34,912 were signatures of legal voters, 4,655 were either not registered or illegible, and 971 were multiple signatures.

Article II, section 1A of the State Constitution establishes the minimum number of acceptable signatures in order to qualify an initiative measure for the ballot as eight percent of the total votes cast for the office of Governor, or 150,001 signatures. The total number of invalid signatures permissible on Initiative Measure No. 109, therefore is 3,618 (153,619 - 150,001).

Since the total number of invalid signatures discovered during the canvassing procedure was 5,626, which exceeds the permissible number, we have terminated the signature checking process and we are unable to certify the measure to you for your consideration.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have set my hand and affixed the seal of the State of Washington, this 24th day of January, 1990.

(Seal)

Ralph Munro, Secretary of State

Ladies and gentlemen, the Speaker has the honor to present to you Lieutenant Governor Joel Pritchard for the purpose of introducing and honoring James Reed Ellis.

REMARKS BY THE PRESIDENT INTRODUCTION OF JAMES REED ELLIS

President Pritchard: In introducing James Ellis to you here in the Chamber, rather than go through a long litany of all of the things he has accomplished and all the awards he has been given, I would like to talk about his characteristics and how I would hope other people would emulate those characteristics in order that they, too, can make an impact on their community.

The first thing about Jim is that he is truly a modest person. He gives credit to other people. When I think of him, I think of him driving an old car and generally wearing a suit that looks like it just came through a rain storm. He has had this habit for many years. When I was far younger, I heard my mother one day say, "Somebody should talk to Jim Ellis' parents." The other person said, "What's wrong?" She said, "Well, he's out there, going through law school, and all he does is wear his old army clothes." And someone else said, "Jim is so stubborn, he won't take help from anyone, and you can't tell him a thing." He truly is a modest man.

He is a great motivator. His enthusiasm is contagious and his persuasion is deadly when he asks you to do something. I don't know how many times I have heard someone say, "I really shouldn't be on this committee," or "I really shouldn't be taking the time to work on this thing. But how do you say 'no' to Jim Ellis?"

He is an original thinker. When he devised the idea of using that space over the freeway for the Freeway Park, this was the first time in America that the air space over a freeway was used. Now it has been copied all over America. Before he put together the Forward Thrust Program, ideas generally came from the top down in the old days in Seattle. There were some very good people who used to sit around in the Rainier Club, and they did some pretty good things. But times changed, and Jim devised the Forward Thrust Program in which over two hundred people were on committees all over our county. They held hearings and meetings all over the county. The Forward Thrust Program came from the bottom up. It is the way things have to be done today. Jim was ahead of his time.

He has another characteristic--he refuses to give up. Somebody said that there are lots of people who are starters in the world, but Jim Ellis is a finisher. In cleaning up Lake Washington or with the Forward Thrust Program that built parks, in helping the zoo, putting in swimming pools--and those made an enormous change in our community--in every one of those cases, it was hard going. And, in almost every situation, there was a time when conventional wisdom said that it couldn't be done. I can think of the times when people said, "It is a good idea he has, but it'll never get through." Sometimes the idea was put to a vote of the people; then the committees had to put it back up to the vote of the people; there had to be changes and more effort. But eventually those programs went through. Our community is better off because of those efforts. He is dogged in how he works.

He is a sensitive person. I think the best example is when we were having the racial unrest in the sixties, when Jim was a new person on the Board of Regents. That was an explosive situation and he took command, because he was the only one whom all sides trusted and felt understood the problem. He got through that period. I think that was Jim Ellis' finest hour. He is sensitive to other people, and he understands how the other person feels.

He has had some failures. He tried to put a rapid transit system into Seattle. What a foolish idea--a rapid transit system. The sad thing was that he had the funding worked out, working with Scoop and Maggie and elected officials on both sides of the aisle, but we failed. So he hasn't had a perfect record. He also tried to do some community-wide planning. Think of that. Planning all over the county, thirty years ago. He was ahead of his time. When he was thirty-three, he went before the business community of Seattle, the Seattle Rotary Club. He did not represent a corporation and he did not represent a person of great wealth and he did not hold a public office. But he stood up there and made a clarion call to do something about Lake Washington. This gem, this wonderful resource we had, was becoming a point for sewage. If you swam there, you couldn't see the bottom, and the fish were leaving. He rallied the troops and turned that around. It didn't get passed the first time, but you remember he was thirty-three years old and the force of his ideas and the force of his personality prevailed. Today we have Lake Washington. People for years will get the benefit of that effort.

He has had some tragedies. He lost a brother in war. He lost a daughter in an accident. Several years ago he lost his wife. He always dedicates himself even more so to their memories, as he goes out to work.

He has given more of his time and a higher percentage of his assets to other people than any person I have known in my life. At this point I would like to read something that I think fits him. Many of you have heard this before:

"It is not the critic who counts; not the man who points out how the strong man stumbles or where the doer of deeds could have done them better. The credit belongs to the man who is actually in the arena, whose face is marred by dust and sweat and blood; who strives valiantly; who errs and comes short again and again, because there is no effort without error and shortcomings; but who does actually strive to do the deed; who knows the great enthusiasm, the great devotions; who spends himself in worthy cause; who at the best knows in the end the triumph of high achievement and who, at the worst if he fails, at least fails while daring greatly, so that his place shall never be with those cold and timid souls who know neither victory nor defeat."

Teddy Roosevelt wrote that many years ago. It is fitting now, and today it certainly fits our nominee. I am not going to go into what he has done on the national scene or all the other things. I am going to stop here and just say what a privilege it is for me, a high honor, to introduce James Reed Ellis as one of our recipients.

President Pritchard presented the Medal of Merit to Mr. James Reed Ellis.

REMARKS BY MR. ELLIS

Mr. Ellis: Thank you, Governor Pritchard, for those extraordinarily kind and personal remarks. I also appreciate greatly, Governor Gardner, Speaker King, Justice Callow, Secretary of State Munro, for giving me the honor to stand with Frances Owen before you today and to be in the company of the great Washingtonians who have received this award. I am a little bit, more than a little bit, embarrassed. My history is one of civic activist. One of the ironies of civic activity is a public focus of credit and blame upon a single individual for what is, almost always, the work of many people. Every effort, in which Mary Lou and I were involved, had dozens of co-authors, co-organizers and co-leaders. Without them none of those things could have happened.

I am pleased that my family is here today. Last November Lynn and Mark, who have lived here for some time where Mark is a city attorney, somehow got me invited to speak to the Olympia Chamber of Commerce. My eight-year-old grandson Matthew, who lives here, came to the luncheon, accompanied by his dad to keep him under control. After lunch Matt was invited to go up to the podium and draw out of the bowl for the door prize. At his height, when he got to the podium, he disappeared completely behind it. You couldn't see him. And, when someone in the audience questioned whether or not there really was, in fact, a drawing going on, Matt reached up from behind the podium with his arm and waved it back and forth with a white slip of paper. This brought down the house. I remember thinking, "At least one more citizen politician will come from the next generation."

Of course, the process of building communities extends from one generation to another. Our family roots go deep in this state, and Mary Lou and I often marveled at the tremendous achievements of the pioneers. They created parks we take for granted and look for granted. They plowed rich farms out of stump land and sage brush. They developed the schools that shaped our values. They created great universities. They established a tradition of honest government, caring families and caring neighbors. We knew that we were building upon the shoulders of people who had gone before, and we believed that, in a later time, other men and women would build on what they found--good and bad.

Today's challenges are as great in their own way as anything that faced people who came before. Will we spread the benefits of economic growth to people and places that have been passed by? Will we let the Puget Sound basin fill up with smog and sprawl? Will I-5 become a strip city clogged with cars? Will we bring effective education to a changing work force? Will we respect our ethnic differences and draw strength from each other? Can we build humane cities and save precious pieces of the natural environment? If you say these questions sound a lot like the problems we have been working on for the last thirty years, you are right. Much was done in that time, but a great deal remains unfinished.

And new conditions, unforeseen problems, continue to emerge. By the time our grandchildren assume their stewardship of the state some of the things, that we thought were so great and that our generation worked on so hard, will either seem like they were always part of the landscape or will have been changed or improved, possibly beyond recognition. Still others will have been torn down and replaced by something different. The institutions we helped to shape may be serving well, or they may have grown tired and be ready for reform. No physical improvement can be truly permanent, and there will never be an end to civic work that needs doing. A community that is alive is never completed. It is a work that is always in progress. Each generation--ours, those that came before, and those that will follow--touches the state in its own way. New causes replace old causes. It is a sign of strength in democracy. We know intuitively that the processes that nurture freedom and build places that people love cannot go forward, unwatched and untended. Every so often states and communities, like families and nations, need surges of effort to show what they can do. The real value of this effort is not so much the people that it helped, the land then preserved, the water cleaned, or the buildings built, but rather that people cared enough to do it.

Caring citizens are the seedbed of community. This seed was planted long before we came. It has grown by examples familiar to all of us and with which I grew up. For me its value was found at home and at school. Awareness became commitment in 1945, when my brother Bob was killed in action. My wife Mary Lou inspired me to make my life count for his. This commitment was encouraged by my law partners and shared by my family and co-workers for almost forty years. I am grateful for loving parents and grandparents, who believed in the value of service to others. I owe a debt to my grade-school teachers who indelibly marked their students with the ideals of John Muir. I am grateful to all of you for this unforgettable day. And I am grateful to Mary Lou for inspiring my life. Thank you.

The Speaker (Mr. O'Brien presiding) introduced Booth Gardner, Governor of the State of Washington.

REMARKS BY THE GOVERNOR
INTRODUCTION OF FRANCES PENROSE OWEN

Governor Gardner: John Ellis, as he always does so eloquently, gave us a formula that all in this state appreciate, when he said that what he has done so well was supported by what he called "co-workers and co-leaders." We all know them in this state by the word "volunteers." I have the honor of introducing to you this morning the dean of volunteers. How much we, as legislators, appreciate the importance of volunteers, as do all of you. The dean of volunteers in the State of Washington, for many, many years and for as long as most of us have lived, is a person who will be hard to outdo by anyone who comes behind her--Frances Penrose Owen.

I am going to share with you some of the longevity and importance of what she has volunteered for, but give most of this time to her, so that you can hear her fine words. Understand that when you look at her when she gets up here, you are looking at a woman who has touched many lives and many organizations. Her leadership, while broad-based, has been specifically directed toward children and youth in the State of Washington. For more than thirty-six years she has dedicated her time and her energy to serving Children's Orthopedic Hospital and, during those thirty-six years, she served for a period as President of that organization's Board of Trustees. For twenty-two years she served as a member of the Seattle School Board, including four terms as President of the Seattle School Board. Thirty-six years with Children's Orthopedic, twenty-two years with the Seattle School Board and yet she had time to serve for eighteen years as a member of the Board of Regents of Washington State University, twice elected as President of that Board of Regents. As a postscript, she was also the first woman to be appointed to the WSU Board of Regents. To this day she continues to volunteer her time and her energy, concentrating now on serving the needs of senior citizens.

Today we recognize and truly thank Frances Penrose Owen with the Medal of Merit. I think you would agree from what you have just heard, that she has truly earned the title of "Dean of Volunteers in the State of Washington." Ladies and gentlemen, Frances Penrose Owen.

Governor Gardner presented the Medal of Merit to Mrs. Frances Penrose Owen.

REMARKS BY MRS. OWEN

Mrs. Owen: Governor Gardner, distinguished guests, members of the Legislature: I am particularly proud of having received this very great honor, because I am first and last and always a citizen of the State of Washington. It means more to me to have received this from my state than almost any other organization that I can think of. One of the things that I have been most proud of is that I was born in the State of Washington. Many worthy Washingtonians cannot claim that privilege. I have always felt myself fortunate.

I have been fortunate in another regard. I have lived on both sides of the state. Born and brought up in eastern Washington, my roots go deep into that side of the state. I appreciate its history, particularly, its economy, its culture and its beauty. But I have spent several decades on the west side of the state, where I thoroughly appreciate the quality of life that we have here and the beauty in which we live. As I have lived in the state and worked around the state, I have made a discovery which, as a citizen of the State of Washington, I abhor. And that is that the Cascade Mountains seem to cloud our vision of the state as a whole. We naturally are loyal to the community in which we live, but I know a number of citizens on both sides of the state to whom the State of Washington is only the half of the state that they live in. If you are going to be a citizen of the state, I think you have to concern yourself with all of the differences and the difficulties and the special needs and the possible solutions. They may not be yours to make, but we need, as citizens of the state, to be interested and involved in them.

I am proud of the fact that the State of Washington stands in the forefront of good legislation in many fields. My particular field was that of education on the national level, state level and local level and in both higher education and in the public schools. I will always be a concerned citizen, whether I am active any more or not—a concerned citizen, and a doubly concerned citizen, when I learned through federal statistics recently that the State of Washington ranks below the national average in its contribution to the expenditure per pupil in the common schools. Washington State ranks lower than the national average in its expenditures for public schools. In this day and age we need a strong educational system—strong for the children in the public schools, strong for the young men and women who are going to our colleges and universities. It is one of the best investments we can make for the future of Washington State and its future citizens.

Thank you again for this medal of recognition. I am tremendously pleased. As a citizen of the State of Washington, it gives me a great deal of satisfaction. Thank you very much.

SENATE AMENDMENTS TO HOUSE BILL

January 29, 1990

Mr. Speaker:

The Senate has passed ENGROSSED SUBSTITUTE HOUSE BILL NO. 2198 with the following amendments:

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

*NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. The legislature finds that using energy efficiently in housing is one of the lowest cost ways to meet consumer demand for energy; that using energy efficiently helps protect citizens of the state from negative impacts due to changes in energy supply and cost; that using energy efficiently will help mitigate negative environmental impacts of energy use and resource development; and that using energy efficiently will help stretch our present energy resources into the future. The legislature further finds that the electricity surplus in the Northwest is dwindling as the population increases and the economy expands, and that the region will eventually need new sources of electricity generation.

It is declared policy of the state of Washington that energy be used efficiently. It is the intent of this act to establish residential building standards that bring about the common use of energy efficient building methods, and to assure that such methods remain economically feasible and affordable to purchasers of newly constructed housing.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. A new section is added to chapter 19.27A RCW to read as follows:

Except as provided in RCW 19.27A.020(7), the Washington state energy code for residential buildings shall be the maximum and minimum energy code for residential buildings in each city, town, and county and shall be enforced by each city, town, and county no later than July 1, 1991. The Washington state energy code for nonresidential buildings shall be the minimum energy code for nonresidential buildings enforced by each city, town, and county.

Sec. 3. Section 3, chapter 76, Laws of 1979 ex. sess. as amended by section 2, chapter 144, Laws of 1985 and RCW 19.27A.020 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) No later than January 1, 1991, the state building code ((~~advisory~~)) council shall promulgate rules((-pursuant to chapter 34.04 RCW, for the purpose of adopting a revised)) to be known as the Washington state energy code as part of the state building code. ((The revised code shall be designed to achieve reductions in energy consumption relative to buildings constructed to comply with the state energy code, June 30, 1980 edition, as amended.))

(2) The council shall follow the legislature's ((~~guidelines~~)) standards set forth in this section to ((~~design a revised~~)) promulgate rules to be known as the Washington state energy code ((which requires)). The Washington state energy code shall be designed to require new buildings to meet a certain level of energy efficiency, but allow((s)) flexibility in building design ((and)), construction, and heating equipment efficiencies within that framework. The Washington state energy code shall be designed to allow space heating equipment efficiency to offset or substitute for building envelope thermal performance.

(3) The ((~~revised~~)) Washington state energy code shall take into account regional climatic conditions ((and shall be designed according to the following guidelines)). Climate zone 1 shall include all counties not included in climate zone 2. Climate zone 2 includes: Adams, Chelan, Douglas, Ferry, Grant, Kittitas, Lincoln, Okanogan, Pend Oreille, Spokane, Stevens, and Whitman counties.

(4) The Washington state energy code for residential buildings shall require:

(a) ((For new electric resistance heated residential buildings, the code shall be designed)) New residential buildings that are space heated with electric resistance heating systems to achieve energy ((savings)) use equivalent to ((savings-achieved)) that used in typical buildings constructed with:

(i) Ceilings insulated to a level of R-38((-except)). The code shall contain an exception which permits single rafter or joist vaulted ceilings ((may-be)) insulated to a level of R-30 (R value includes insulation only):

(ii) in zone 1, walls insulated to a level of R-19 ((total assembly)) (R value includes insulation only), or constructed with two by four members, R-13 insulation batts, R-3.2 insulated sheathing, and other normal assembly components; in zone 2 walls insulated to a level of R-24 (R value includes insulation only), or constructed with two by six members, R-22 insulation batts, R-3.2 insulated sheathing, and other normal construction assembly components; for the purpose of determining equivalent thermal performance, the wall U-value shall be 0.058 in zone 1 and 0.044 in zone 2:

(iii) Below grade walls, insulated on the interior side, to a level of R-19 or, if insulated on the exterior side, to a level of R-10 in zone 1 and R-12 in zone 2 (R value includes insulation only):

(iv) Floors over unheated spaces insulated to a level of ((R-19 for areas with six thousand or less annual heating degree days and to a level of R-25 for areas with more than six thousand annual heating degree days)) R-30 (R value includes insulation only):

~~((iv))~~ (v) Slab on grade floors insulated to a level of R-10 at the perimeter;

(vi) Double glazed windows with ~~((tested R))~~ values not ~~((less))~~ more than ~~((t-79 when tested according to the procedures of the American architectural manufacturers association))~~ U-0.4; ~~((and~~

~~((v) in areas with more than six thousand annual heating degree days a maximum of seventeen percent of the floor area in glazing; in areas with six thousand or less annual heating degree days a maximum of twenty-one percent of the floor area in glazing))~~ (vii) In zone 1 the glazing area may be up to twenty-one percent of floor area and in zone 2 the glazing area may be up to seventeen percent of floor area where consideration of the thermal resistance values for other building components and solar heat gains through the glazing result in thermal performance equivalent to that achieved with thermal resistance values for other components determined in accordance with the equivalent thermal performance criteria of (a) of this subsection and glazing area equal to fifteen percent of the floor area. Throughout the state for the purposes of determining equivalent thermal performance, the maximum glazing area shall be fifteen percent of the floor area; and

(viii) Exterior doors insulated to a level of R-5; or an exterior wood door with a thermal resistance value of less than R-5 and values for other components determined in accordance with the equivalent thermal performance criteria of (a) of this subsection.

(b) ~~((For))~~ New residential buildings which are space-heated with ~~((other fuels, the code shall be designed))~~ all other forms of space heating to achieve energy ~~((savings))~~ use equivalent to ~~((savings achieved))~~ that used in typical buildings constructed with:

(i) Ceilings insulated to a level of R-30 in zone 1 and R-38 in zone 2 the code shall contain an exception which permits single rafter or joist vaulted ceilings insulated to a level of R-30 (R value includes insulation only);

(ii) Walls insulated to a level of R-19 ~~((total assembly))~~ (R value includes insulation only), or constructed with two by four members, R-13 insulation batts, R-3.2 insulated sheathing, and other normal assembly components;

(iii) Below grade walls, insulated on the interior side, to a level of R-19 or, if insulated on the exterior side, to a level of R-10 in zone 1 and R-12 in zone 2 (R value includes insulation only);

(iv) Floors over unheated spaces insulated to a level of R-19 in zone 1 and R-30 in zone 2 (R value includes insulation only);

~~((iv))~~ (v) Slab on grade floors insulated to a level of R-10 at the perimeter;

(vi) Heat pumps with a minimum heating season performance factor (HSPF) of 6.8 or with all other energy sources with a minimum annual fuel utilization efficiency (AFUE) of seventy-eight percent;

(vii) Double glazed windows with ~~((tested R))~~ values not ~~((less))~~ more than ~~((t-40 when tested according to the procedures of the American architectural manufacturers association))~~ U-0.65 in zone 1 and U-0.60 in zone 2. The state building code council, in consultation with the state energy office, shall review these U-values, and, if economically justified for consumers, shall amend the Washington state energy code to improve the U-values by December 1, 1993. The amendment shall not take effect until July 1, 1994; and

~~((v) in areas with more than six thousand annual heating degree days a)~~ (viii) In zone 1, the maximum ~~((of seventeen))~~ glazing area shall be twenty-one percent of the floor area ~~((in glazing; in areas with six thousand or less annual heating degree days a maximum of twenty-one percent of the floor area in glazing))~~. In zone 2 the maximum glazing area shall be seven percent of the floor area. Throughout the state for the purposes of determining equivalent thermal performance, the maximum glazing area shall be fifteen percent of the floor area.

(c) For ~~((new nonresidential buildings;))~~ log built homes with space heat other than electric resistance, the building code council shall establish equivalent thermal performance standards consistent with the standards and maximum glazing areas of (b) of this subsection.

(d) The state building code council may approve an energy code for pilot projects of residential construction that use innovative energy efficiency technologies intended to result in savings that are greater than those realized in the levels specified in this section.

(5) U-values for glazing shall be determined using the area weighted average of all glazing in the building. U-values for glazing are the tested values for thermal transmittance due to conduction resulting from either the American architectural manufacturers' association (AAMA) 1503.1 test procedure or the American society for testing materials (ASTM) C236 or C976 test procedures. Testing shall be conducted under established winter horizontal heat flow test conditions using the fifteen miles per hour wind speed perpendicular to the exterior surface of the glazing as specified under AAMA 1503.1 and product sample sizes specified under AAMA 1503.1. The AAMA 1503.1 testing must be conducted by an AAMA certified testing laboratory. The ASTM C236 or C976 testing U-values include any tested values resulting from a future revised AAMA 1503.1 test procedure. Sealed insulation glass, where used, shall conform to ASTM E-774-81 level A or better. The state building code council shall maintain a list of the tested U-values for glazing products available in the state.

(6) The minimum state energy code for new nonresidential buildings shall be ((designed to achieve a ten percent reduction in energy consumption relative to buildings constructed to comply with)) the Washington state energy code, ((June 30, 1986)) 1986 edition, as amended.

((2) In developing the revised code, the council shall consider possible health and respiratory problems caused by insulating buildings so tightly that the rate of air exchange is significantly retarded, thereby concentrating toxic pollutants at unhealthy high levels.

(3) The council shall publish the revision as proposed rules pursuant to chapter 34.04 RCW and provide for the rules to become effective January 1, 1986. All cities, towns, and counties shall enforce the revised state energy code not later than April 1, 1986;))

(7)(a) Except as provided in (b) of this subsection, the Washington state energy code for residential structures shall preempt the residential energy code of each city, town, and county in the state of Washington.

(b) The state energy code for residential structures does not preempt a city, town, or county's energy code for residential structures which exceeds the requirements of the state energy code and which was adopted by the city, town, or county prior to the effective date of this section. Such cities, towns, or counties may not subsequently amend their energy code for residential structures to exceed the requirements adopted prior to the effective date of this section.

(8) The state building code council shall consult with the state energy office as provided in RCW 34.05.310 prior to publication of proposed rules. The state energy office shall review the proposed rules for consistency with the guidelines adopted in subsection (4) of this section. The director of the state energy office shall recommend to the state building code council any changes necessary to conform the proposed rules to the requirements of this section.

(9) The state building code council shall conduct a study of county and city enforcement of energy codes in the state. In conducting the study, the council shall conduct public hearings at designated council meetings to seek input from interested individuals and organizations, and to the extent possible, hold these meetings in conjunction with adopting rules under this section. The study shall include recommendations as to how code enforcement may be improved. The findings of the study shall be submitted in a report to the legislature no later than January 1, 1991.

(10) If any electric utility providing electric service to customers in the state of Washington purchases at least one percent of its firm energy load from a federal agency, pursuant to section 5.(b)(1) of the pacific northwest electric power planning and conservation act (P.L. 96-501), and such utility is unable to obtain from that agency at least fifty percent of the funds for payments required by section 4 of this act, the amendments to this section by this 1990 act shall be null and void, and the 1986 state energy code shall be in effect, except that a city, town, or county may enforce a local energy code with more stringent energy requirements adopted prior to the effective date of this section. This subsection shall expire June 30, 1995.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4. A new section is added to chapter 19.27A RCW to read as follows:

(1) Electric utilities shall make payments to the owner at the time of construction of a newly constructed residential building with electric resistance space heat built in compliance with the requirements of the Washington state energy code adopted pursuant to RCW 19.27A.020 or a residential energy code in effect pursuant to RCW 19.27A.020(7). All or a portion of the funds for payments may be accepted from federal agencies or other sources. Payments are required for residential buildings on which construction has begun on or after July 1, 1991, and prior to July 1, 1995. Payments in an amount equal to a fixed sum of at least nine hundred dollars per single family residence are required for such buildings so constructed which are single family residences having two thousand square feet or less of finished floor area. Payments in an amount equal to a fixed sum of at least three hundred ninety dollars per multifamily residential unit, are required for such buildings so constructed which are multifamily residential units. For purposes of this section, a zero lot line home and each unit in a duplex and each attached housing unit in a planned unit development shall each be considered a single family residence.

(2) Electric utilities which provide electrical service in jurisdictions in which the local government has adopted an energy code not preempted by RCW 19.27A.020(7)(b) shall make payments as provided in subsection (1) of this section for residential buildings on which construction has begun on or after the effective date of this section and prior to July 1, 1991.

(3) Nothing in this section shall prohibit an electric utility from providing incentives in excess of the payments required by this section or from providing additional incentives for energy efficiency measures in excess of those required under RCW 19.27A.020.

(4) This section is null and void if any electric utility providing electric service to its customers in the state of Washington purchases at least one percent of its firm energy load from a federal agency, pursuant to section 5.(b)(1) of the pacific northwest electric power planning and conservation act (P.L. 96-501), and if such electric utility is unable to obtain from the agency at least fifty percent of the funds to make the payments required by this section. This subsection shall expire June 30, 1995.

(5) The utilities and transportation commission shall provide an appropriate regulatory mechanism which allows a utility regulated by the commission to recover expenses incurred by the utility in making payments under this section.

(6) Subsections (1) through (3) of this section shall expire July 1, 1996.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 5. A new section is added to chapter 19.27A RCW to read as follows:

The state building code council shall maintain the state energy code for residential structures in a status which is consistent with the state's interest as set forth in section 1 of this act. In maintaining the Washington state energy code for residential structures, beginning in 1996 the council shall review the Washington state energy code every three years. After January 1, 1996, by rule adopted pursuant to chapter 34.05 RCW, the council may amend any provisions of the Washington state energy code to increase the energy efficiency of newly constructed residential buildings. Decisions to amend the Washington state energy code for residential structures shall be made prior to December 1 of any year and shall not take effect before the end of the regular legislative session in the next year.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 6. A new section is added to chapter 19.27A RCW to read as follows:

There is hereby created in the state treasury the energy code training account. The Washington state energy office shall administer expenditures from this account for the purpose of providing training for the inspection and training for the enforcement by local governments of the Washington state energy code in effect pursuant to RCW 19.27A.020. The revenues into this account shall derive from assessments by the state energy office on all investor-owned and publicly owned gas and electric utilities in the state of Washington in proportion to the number of housing starts served by a utility in 1989, based on an amount of one hundred fifty dollars per energy code inspection or enforcement official that is within the service area of the utility. Assessments may be made between January 1, 1991, and July 1, 1991. Federal funds available to qualifying utilities for code inspection retraining shall be used before obtaining funds from utilities under this section. Additional funds may be deposited in the account from federal agencies or other sources. All or a portion of the funds for the cost of local government inspection and enforcement may be accepted from federal agencies or other sources.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 7. A new section is added to chapter 19.27 RCW to read as follows:

(1)(a) Not later than January 1, 1991, the state building code council, in consultation with the state energy office, shall establish interim requirements for the maintenance of indoor air quality in newly constructed residential buildings. In establishing the interim requirements, the council shall take into consideration differences in heating fuels and heating system types. These requirements shall be in effect July 1, 1991, through June 30, 1993.

(b) The interim requirements for new electrically space heated residential buildings shall include ventilation standards which provide for mechanical ventilation in areas of the residence where water vapor or cooking odors are produced. The ventilation shall be exhausted to the outside of the structure. The ventilation standards shall further provide for the capacity to supply outside air to each bedroom and the main living area through dedicated supply air inlet locations in walls, or in an equivalent manner. At least one exhaust fan in the home shall be controlled by a dehumidistat or clock timer to ensure that sufficient whole house ventilation is regularly provided as needed.

(c)(i) For new single family residences with electric space heating systems, zero lot line homes, each unit in a duplex, and each attached housing unit in a planned unit development, the ventilation standards shall include fifty cubic feet per minute of effective installed ventilation capacity in each bathroom and one hundred cubic feet per minute of effective installed ventilation capacity in each kitchen.

(ii) For other new residential units with electric space heating systems the ventilation standards may be satisfied by the installation of two exhaust fans with a combined effective installed ventilation capacity of two hundred cubic feet per minute.

(iii) Effective installed ventilation capacity means the capability to deliver the specified ventilation rates for the actual design of the ventilation system. Natural ventilation and infiltration shall not be considered acceptable substitutes for mechanical ventilation.

(d) For new residential buildings that are space heated with other than electric space heating systems, the interim standards shall be designed to result in indoor air quality equivalent to that achieved with the interim ventilation standards for electric space heated homes.

(e) The interim requirements for all newly constructed residential buildings shall include standards for indoor air quality pollutant source control, including the following requirements: All structural panel components of the residence shall comply with appropriate standards for the emission of formaldehyde; the back-drafting of combustion by-products from combustion appliances shall be minimized through the use of dampers, vents, outside combustion air sources, or other appropriate technologies; and, in areas of the state where monitored data indicate action is necessary to inhibit indoor radon gas concentrations from exceeding appropriate health standards, entry of radon gas into homes shall be minimized through appropriate foundation construction measures.

(2) No later than January 1, 1993, the state building code council, in consultation with the state energy office, shall establish final requirements for the maintenance of indoor air quality in newly constructed residences to be in effect beginning July 1, 1993. For new electrically space heated residential buildings, these requirements shall maintain indoor air quality equivalent to that provided by the mechanical ventilation and indoor air pollutant source control requirements included in the February 7, 1989, Bonneville power administration record of decision for the environmental impact statement on new energy efficient homes programs

(DOE/EIS-0127F) built with electric space heating. In residential units other than single family, zero lot line, duplexes, and attached housing units in planned unit developments, ventilation requirements may be satisfied by the installation of two exhaust fans with a combined effective installed ventilation capacity of two hundred cubic feet per minute. For new residential buildings that are space heated with other than electric space heating systems, the standards shall be designed to result in indoor air quality equivalent to that achieved with the ventilation and source control standards for electric space heated homes. In establishing the final requirements, the council shall take into consideration differences in heating fuels and heating system types.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 8. A new section is added to chapter 4.24 RCW to read as follows:

It is a defense in a civil action brought for damages for injury caused by indoor air pollutants in a residential structure on which construction was begun on or after July 1, 1991, that the builder or design professional complied in good faith, without negligence or misconduct, with:

- (1) Building product safety standards, including labeling;
- (2) Restrictions on the use of building materials known or believed to contain substances that contribute to indoor air pollution; and
- (3) The ventilation requirements adopted under section 7 of this act.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 9. A new section is added to chapter 80.28 RCW to read as follows:

(1) The commission shall adopt a policy allowing an incentive rate of return on investment (a) for payments made under section 4 of this act and (b) for programs that improve the efficiency of energy end use if priority is given to senior citizens and low-income citizens in the course of carrying out such programs. The incentive rate of return on investments set forth in this subsection is established by adding an increment of two percent to the rate of return on common equity permitted on the company's other investments.

(2) The commission shall consider and may adopt a policy allowing an incentive rate of return on investment in additional programs to improve the efficiency of energy end use or other incentive policies to encourage utility investment in such programs.

(3) The commission shall consider and may adopt other policies to protect a company from a reduction of short-term earnings that may be a direct result of utility programs to increase the efficiency of energy use. These policies may include allowing a periodic rate adjustment for investments in end use efficiency or allowing changes in price structure designed to produce additional new revenue.

(4) The commission may adopt a policy allowing the recovery of a utility's expenses incurred under section 6 of this act.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 10. A new section is added to chapter 82.16 RCW to read as follows:

(1) In computing tax under this chapter there shall be deducted from the gross income:

- (a) Payments made under section 4 of this act; and
- (b) Those amounts expended on additional programs that improve the efficiency of energy end use if priority is given to senior citizens and low-income citizens in the course of carrying out such programs.

(2) The department, after consultation with the utilities and transportation commission in the case of investor-owned utilities and the governing bodies of locally regulated utilities, shall determine the eligibility of individual programs for deductions under this section.

(3) Until July 1, 1992, utilities may deduct from the amount of tax paid under this chapter fifty percent of the payments made under section 6 of this act, excluding any federal funds that are passed through to a utility for the purpose of retraining local code officials.

(4) This section shall expire January 1, 1996.

Sec. 11. Section 4, chapter 96, Laws of 1974 ex. sess. as last amended by section 8, chapter 360, Laws of 1985 and RCW 19.27.040 are each amended to read as follows:

The governing body of each county or city is authorized to amend the state building code as it applies within the jurisdiction of the county or city. The minimum performance standards of the codes and the objectives enumerated in RCW 19.27.020 shall not be diminished by any county or city amendments. (~~Amendments to RCW 19.27A.010 shall not result in structures that exceed the overall structural heat loss characteristics that would have resulted from conforming to RCW 19.27A.010;~~)

Nothing in this chapter shall authorize any modifications of the requirements of chapter 70.92 RCW.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 12. The following acts or parts of acts are each repealed:

(1) Section 3, chapter 96, Laws of 1974 ex. sess., section 8, chapter 110, Laws of 1975 1st ex. sess., section 11, chapter 14, Laws of 1977 ex. sess., section 1, chapter 76, Laws of 1979 ex. sess., section 1, chapter 8, Laws of 1980, section 1, chapter 101, Laws of 1984, section 1, chapter 144, Laws of 1985 and RCW 19.27A.010;

(3) Section 4, chapter 144, Laws of 1985, section 2, chapter 204, Laws of 1988 and RCW 19.27A.040.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 13. If any provision of this act or its application to any person or circumstance is held invalid, the remainder of the act or the application of the provision to other persons or circumstances is not affected.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 14. Sections 1 through 4, 6, 7, 9, and 10 of this act are necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health, or safety, or support of the state government and its existing public institutions, and shall take effect March 1, 1990. Sections 11 and 12 of this act shall take effect January 1, 1991. Section 8 of this act shall take effect July 1, 1991."

SPEAKER'S PRIVILEGE

The Speaker: It gives me great pleasure today to welcome some very distinguished guests to the Washington State House of Representatives. They are the Consular officers representing fifteen countries all stationed in Seattle. They have been invited here today to receive our thanks and appreciation for the invaluable contributions that they have made to the people of the State of Washington. In addition to their administrative functions, they have focused their efforts on promoting cultural, educational and economical ties between our governments. The spirit of cooperation and friendship which encompasses their work has helped create an environment in our state in which international activities can flourish. Gentlemen, please accept our deepest thanks.

The Speaker introduced the Philippine Consul General and Dean of the Seattle Consular Corps, Dr. Jaime Bautista; the Korean Consul General, Heung Soo Kim; the Consul General of German, Hans-Jurgen Mendel; the Consul General of Mexico, Raul Lopez Lira Castro; the British Consul, Noel Jones; the Consul General of Peru, Victor Schiantarelli; the Austrian Consul General, Walter Weber; the Consul of Bolivia, Ricardo Antezana; the Consul of Switzerland, Hans Weber; the Consul of Chile, Kerry Monterey; the Belgian Consul, Ronald Masnik; the Consul of Finland, Norman Westerberg; the Canadian Consul, Richard Seaborn; Consul Emeritus of France, Roger Gotteland; and the Director General of the Coordination Council for North American Affairs representing Taiwan, James Chang. The consular officers, who were seated in the place of honor in the rear of the House Chambers, were welcomed by the Members of the House of Representatives.

SPEAKER'S PRIVILEGE

The Speaker: At this time, it is my pleasure to present the Dean of the Seattle Consular Corps, Dr. Jaime Bautista, the Consul General of the Philippines. Dr. Bautista entered the Ministry of Foreign Affairs in 1972 and has represented his government in various positions around the world, including Manila, Kuala Lumpur, Peking and London. In July of 1986 he was appointed head of the consular post in Seattle with jurisdiction covering Washington, Oregon, Idaho, Montana, Wyoming and Alaska. Please welcome Dr. Bautista.

REMARKS BY DR. JAIME BAUTISTA

Dr. Bautista: Thank you very much, Mr. Speaker. The Honorable Joe King, the Honorable Members of the House of Representatives, my distinguished colleagues, ladies and gentlemen: We, the members of the Seattle Consular Corps, are truly honored by this invitation to meet the distinguished members of the Washington State Legislature. I understand that this may be the first time that such an invitation has been extended, providing the Consular Corps with a unique opportunity to better understand the different ways by which this august body influences the course of events in Washington State and beyond. For this initiative, which we hope will be the beginning of a great tradition, we are truly grateful to Speaker Joe King and Lieutenant Governor Joel Pritchard. Our special thanks also to Mr. Alan Thompson, the Chief Clerk of the House, and to Ms. Mae Clise.

There is good reason to make this a tradition. The Seattle Consular Corps represents the sovereign governments and peoples with the greatest commercial interests and the oldest historical and cultural ties with the Evergreen State. Furthermore, the presence of a lively Consular Corps is surely one of the best manifestations of successful trading practices and of the importance that a state is regarded by its foreign trading partners.

As you may have noted, there are seven Career Consular Missions in Washington, manned by full-time professional diplomats, and eighteen Honorary Consulates, the officials of which are chosen from among the most distinguished and qualified citizens of the state.

It is only natural that your immediate neighbors, Canada and Mexico, should maintain Career Missions in Seattle, as do your top trading partners in the European community, the United Kingdom and the Federal Republic of Germany. The other three Career Missions represent Pacific Rim nations in Asia, reflecting the growing importance of this region to Washington's trade. The countries so represented are Japan, an economic giant, the Republic of Korea, one of the newly-emerging Asian tigers, and my country, the Philippines, which is a member of ASEAN.

On the other hand, the ethnic diversity of Seattle and Washington State is reflected in the composition of the Honorary Consulates. All the five Scandinavian countries have established Honorary Consulates here, as have all the Benelux countries, as well as France, Austria and Switzerland. The Latin American presence is illustrated by seven Honorary Consulates representing four Andean states--Peru, Chile, Bolivia and Ecuador--and three Central American nations--Costa Rica, Honduras and Guatemala.

Nowadays, as the Speaker has mentioned, practically all Consular Missions are expected to perform not only the traditional consular duties of issuing passports, visas and other documents and extending assistance to nationals, but also a wide variety of functions, including the promotion of trade, investments and tourism and providing information and cultural services. In view thereof, most of the Career Missions in Seattle have a staff, which is as large or larger than mine and which make them large by Philippine foreign services standards. My office has a staff of fourteen, which compares favorably with the size of our Embassies in Europe.

It is reasonable to expect that the size of the Consular Corps of Seattle should increase in the years to come. Already another nation has expressed an interest in establishing a Mission in Seattle. If the Pacific Century emerges, as economists predict, more Asian countries and those down under are likely to consider similar moves. The Pacific Century should usher in an era of greater prosperity, with the Pacific Northwest and Washington State playing an even more prominent role. After all, Washington officials never tire of reminding us that Seattle and Tacoma are located centrally between Asia and Europe. Moreover, a bigger global economy would also stimulate the economies of Latin American and generate more trade.

The dawn of a new democratic age in eastern Europe also provides new opportunities for trade and cooperation. There freedom has returned, replacing the despotism which ruined rich and proud European nations. Undoubtedly, there is need to create and sustain the development of democratic institutions in these socialist countries, without neglecting to support democracy where it flourishes in Third World countries. The age of telecommunications hastened the downfall of dictatorships in eastern Europe. Conversely, a setback of democracy in one country may encourage despots to re-emerge in other countries.

The struggle of Third World countries to maintain their freedom and democracy has been rendered more difficult by their serious debt problems. These nations are faced with the tremendous task of feeding their populations and modernizing their economies, but find their scarce resources diverted to paying external debts. Undoubtedly, the debt problem is one needing a global solution. As a state whose interests are more directly related to the prosperity of its trading partners, Washington State has provided leadership in enlightening the decision-makers at the other Washington on trade and related matters.

This gathering today is, therefore, all the more significant and symbolic. As it is now apparent, the most important task of our Consular Missions here is really to promote greater understanding and to earn the good will of other nations, particularly the host nation. Our meeting today ushers a new approach to building a framework for greater cooperation.

MABUHAY and thank you to all of you.

There being no objection, the House reverted to the fifth order of business.

On page 12, after line 7, strike everything through line 33 on page 12 and insert the following:

"NEW SECTION, Sec. 8. A new section is added to chapter 70.95C RCW to read as follows:

(1) The department may review a plan, executive summary, or an annual progress report to determine whether the plan, executive summary, or annual progress report is adequate pursuant to the rules developed under this section and with the provisions of section 6 of this act. In determining the adequacy of any plan, executive summary, or annual progress report, the department shall base its determination solely on whether the plan, executive summary, or annual progress report is complete and prepared in accordance with the provisions of section 6 of this act.

(2) Plans developed under section 6 of this act shall be retained at the facility of the hazardous substance user or hazardous waste generator preparing a plan. The plan is not a public record under the public disclosure laws of the state of Washington contained in chapter 42.17 RCW. A user or generator required to prepare a plan shall permit the director or a representative of the director to review the plan to determine its adequacy. No visit made by the director or a representative of the director to a facility for the purposes of this subsection may be regarded as an inspection or investigation, and no notices or citations may be issued, nor any civil penalty assessed, upon such a visit.

(3) If a hazardous substance user or hazardous waste generator fails to complete an adequate plan, executive summary, or annual progress report, the department shall notify the user or generator of the inadequacy, identifying specific deficiencies. For the purposes of this section, a deficiency may include failure to develop a plan, failure to submit an executive summary pursuant to the schedule provided in section 6(5) of this act, and failure to submit an annual progress report pursuant to the rules developed under section 6(6) of this act. The department shall specify a reasonable time frame, of not less than ninety days, within which the user or generator shall complete a modified plan, executive summary, or annual progress report addressing the specified deficiencies.

(4) If the department determines that a modified plan, executive summary, or annual progress report is inadequate, the department may, within its discretion, either require further modification or enter an order pursuant to section 6(5)(a) of this act.

(5)(a) If, after having received a list of specified deficiencies from the department, a hazardous substance user or hazardous waste generator required to prepare a plan fails to complete modification of a plan, executive summary, or annual progress report within the time period specified by the department, the department may enter an order pursuant to chapter 34.05 RCW finding the user or generator not in compliance with the requirements of section 6 of this act. When the order is final, the department shall notify the department of revenue to charge a penalty fee. The penalty fee shall be the greater of one thousand dollars or three times the amount of the user's or generator's previous year's fee, in addition to the current year's fee. If no fee was assessed the previous year, the penalty shall be the greater of one thousand dollars or three times the amount of the current year's fee. The penalty assessed under this subsection shall be collected each year after the year for which the penalty was assessed until an adequate plan or executive summary is completed.

(b) If a hazardous substance user or hazardous waste generator required to prepare a plan fails to complete an adequate plan, executive summary, or annual progress report after the department has levied against the user or generator the penalty provided in (a) of this subsection, the user or generator shall be required to pay a surcharge to the department whenever the user or generator disposes of a hazardous waste at any hazardous waste incinerator or hazardous waste landfill facility located in Washington state, until a plan, executive summary, or annual progress report is completed and determined to be adequate by the department. The surcharge shall be equal to three times the fee charged for disposal. The department shall furnish the incinerator and landfill facilities in this state with a list of environmental protection agency/state identification numbers of the hazardous waste generators that are not in compliance with the requirements of section 6 of this act.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 9. A new section is added to chapter 70.95C RCW to read as follows:

(1) The department shall make available for public inspection any executive summary or annual progress report submitted to the department. Any hazardous substance user or hazardous waste generator required to prepare an executive summary or annual progress report who believes that disclosure of any information contained in the executive summary or annual progress report may adversely affect the competitive position of the user or generator may request the department pursuant to RCW 43.21A.160 to delete from the public record those portions of the executive summary or annual progress report that may affect the user's or generator's competitive position. The department shall not disclose any information contained in an executive summary or annual progress report pending a determination of whether the department will delete any information contained in the report from the public record.

(2) Any ten persons residing within ten miles of a hazardous substance user or hazardous waste generator required to prepare a plan may file with the department a petition requesting the department to examine a plan to determine its adequacy. The department shall report its determination of adequacy to the petitioners and to the user or generator within a reasonable time. The department may deny a petition if the department has within the previous year determined the plan of the user or generator named in the petition to be adequate.

(3) The department shall maintain a record of each plan, executive summary, or annual progress report it reviews, and a list of all plans, executive summaries, or annual progress reports the department has determined to be inadequate, including descriptions of corrective actions taken. This information shall be made available to the public."

Sec. 115. Section 17, chapter 205, Laws of 1989 and RCW 71.05.670 are each amended to read as follows:

Except as provided in sections 116 through 118 of this 1990 act, any person, including the state or any political subdivision of the state, violating RCW 71.05.610 through 71.05.690 shall be subject to the provisions of RCW 71.05.440.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 116. The legislature finds that sex offenders pose a high risk of engaging in sex offenses even after being released from incarceration or commitment and that protection of the public from sex offenders is a paramount governmental interest. The legislature further finds that the penal and mental health components of our justice system are largely hidden from public view and that lack of information from either may result in failure of both systems to meet this paramount concern of public safety. Overly restrictive confidentiality and liability laws governing the release of information about sexual predators have reduced willingness to release information that could be appropriately released under the public disclosure laws, and have increased risks to public safety. Persons found to have committed a sex offense have a reduced expectation of privacy because of the public's interest in public safety and in the effective operation of government. Release of information about sexual predators to public agencies and under limited circumstances, the general public, will further the governmental interests of public safety and public scrutiny of the criminal and mental health systems so long as the information released is rationally related to the furtherance of those goals.

Therefore, this state's policy as expressed in sections 117 and 118 of this act is to require the exchange of relevant information about sexual predators among public agencies and officials and to authorize the release of necessary and relevant information about sexual predators to members of the general public.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 117. A new section is added to chapter 4.24 RCW to read as follows:

(1) An elected public official, public employee, or public agency as defined in RCW 4.24.470 is immune as provided for in this section from civil liability for damages for any discretionary decision to release information regarding: (a) a person convicted of, or juvenile found to have committed, a sex offense as defined by RCW 9.94A.030; (b) a person found not guilty of a sex offense by reason of insanity under chapter 10.77 RCW; (c) a person found incompetent to stand trial for a sex offense and subsequently committed under chapter 71.05 or 71.34 RCW; (d) a person committed as a sexual psychopath under chapter 71.06 RCW; or (e) a person committed as a sexually violent predator under sections 901 through 912 of this act. The immunity provided under this section applies to the release of information to other employees or officials or to the general public when the agency, official, or employee who releases the information acts without gross negligence and believes in good faith that the release is necessary for the protection of the public. When determining what information is necessary to release and to whom it should be released in order to protect the public, the agency, official, or employee shall consider the factors designated in section 118 of this act.

(2) Except as otherwise provided by statute, nothing in this section shall impose any liability upon a public official, public employee, or public agency for failing to release information as provided in subsection (1) of this section.

(3) Nothing in this section implies that information regarding persons designated in subsection (1) of this section is confidential except as otherwise provided by statute.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 118. Public agencies are authorized to release relevant information regarding sex offenders to the public when the release of the information is necessary for public protection.

When the agency considers what information is relevant and necessary for release, the agency shall consider factors including but not limited to the following: (1) The seriousness of the sex offense for which the offender was adjudicated, convicted, or committed; (2) the offender's criminal history, commitment history for sex offenses, or court-ordered treatment for sexual deviancy; (3) whether any of the offender's known victims were nonfamily members; (4) whether any of the offender's known victims were children, the developmentally disabled, or the elderly; (5) observations of the offender's postconviction or postcommitment behavior, including but not limited to any overt indications such as oral, written, or drawn threats, plans, depictions, or statements regarding the future commission of sex offenses; (6) the most recent risk assessment reports prepared by the department in control or care of the offender; (7) whether the information sought to be released can be released without restrictions or with certain restrictions pursuant to chapter 10.97, 10.98, 43.43, or 42.17 RCW or, as applicable, chapter 13.40, 13.50, 9.94A, 9.95, 71.05, 71.06, 71.34, 10.77, or 70.48 RCW, or sections 901 through 912 of this act; and (8) the length of time, if any, the offender has been in the community without being arrested, charged, or convicted of another sex offense.

The information released must be based in fact and limited in scope to protect the public.

An offender's pending appeal, petition for personal restraint, or writ of habeas corpus shall not restrict the agency's, official's, or employee's authority to release relevant information concerning an offender's prior criminal history. However, the agency must release the latest dispositions of the charges as provided in chapter 10.97 RCW, the Washington state criminal records privacy act.

NEW SECTION, Sec. 119. The governor shall cause a study of federal and state statutes and regulations governing the confidentiality and disclosure of information about dangerous offenders in the criminal justice, juvenile justice, and mental health systems. The governor shall report to the legislature no later than November 1, 1990 with recommendations for a comprehensive policy approach to confidentiality and dissemination of information about offenders who pose a danger to the public and recommendations regarding the immunity and liability of public agencies, officials, and employees when releasing or failing to release that information.

NEW SECTION, Sec. 120. A new section is added to chapter 71.06 RCW to read as follows:

(5) The department of corrections shall send the notices required by this chapter to the last address provided to the department by the requesting party. The requesting party shall furnish the department with a current address.

~~((f))~~ (6) For purposes of this section the following terms have the following meanings:

(5) Except as provided in sections 116 through 118 of this 1990 act, information not in an official juvenile court file concerning a juvenile or a juvenile's family may be released to the public only when that information could not reasonably be expected to identify the juvenile or the juvenile's family.

(6) Notwithstanding any other provision of this chapter, the release, to the juvenile or his or her attorney, of law enforcement and prosecuting attorneys' records pertaining to investigation, diversion, and prosecution of juvenile offenses shall be governed by the rules of discovery and other rules of law applicable in adult criminal investigations and prosecutions.

(7) The juvenile court and the prosecutor may set up and maintain a central record-keeping system which may receive information on all alleged juvenile offenders against whom a complaint has been filed pursuant to RCW 13.40.070 whether or not their cases are currently pending before the court. The central record-keeping system may be computerized. If a complaint has been referred to a diversion unit, the diversion unit shall promptly report to the juvenile court or the prosecuting attorney when the juvenile has agreed to diversion. An offense shall not be reported as criminal history in any central record-keeping system without notification by the diversion unit of the date on which the offender agreed to diversion.

(8) Upon request of the victim of a crime or the victim's immediate family, the identity of an alleged or proven juvenile offender alleged or found to have committed a crime against the victim and the identity of the alleged or proven juvenile offender's parent, guardian, or custodian and the circumstance of the alleged or proven crime shall be released to the victim of the crime or the victim's immediate family.

(9) Subject to the rules of discovery applicable in adult criminal prosecutions, the juvenile offense records of an adult criminal defendant or witness in an adult criminal proceeding shall be released upon request to prosecution and defense counsel after a charge has actually been filed. The juvenile offense records of any adult convicted of a crime and placed under the supervision of the adult corrections system shall be released upon request to the adult corrections system.

(10) In any case in which an information has been filed pursuant to RCW 13.40.100 or a complaint has been filed with the prosecutor and referred for diversion pursuant to RCW 13.40.070, the person the subject of the information or complaint may file a motion with the court to have the court vacate its order and findings, if any, and, subject to subsection (24) of this section, order the sealing of the official juvenile court file, the social file, and records of the court and of any other agency in the case.

(11) The court shall grant the motion to seal records made pursuant to subsection (10) of this section if it finds that:

(a) Two years have elapsed from the later of: (i) Final discharge of the person from the supervision of any agency charged with supervising juvenile offenders; or (ii) from the entry of a court order relating to the commission of a juvenile offense or a criminal offense;

(b) No proceeding is pending against the moving party seeking the conviction of a juvenile offense or a criminal offense; and

(13) If the court grants the motion to seal made pursuant to subsection (10) of this section, it shall, subject to subsection (24) of this section, order sealed the official juvenile court file, the social file, and other records relating to the case as are named in the order. Thereafter, the proceedings in the case shall be treated as if they never occurred, and the subject of the records may reply accordingly to any inquiry about the events, records of which are sealed. Any agency shall reply to any inquiry concerning confidential or sealed records that records are confidential, and no information can be given about the existence or nonexistence of records concerning an individual.

(14) Inspection of the files and records included in the order to seal may thereafter be permitted only by order of the court upon motion made by the person who is the subject of the information or complaint, except as otherwise provided in RCW 13.50.010(8) and subsection (24) of this section.

(15) Any adjudication of a juvenile offense or a crime subsequent to sealing has the effect of nullifying the sealing order. Any conviction for any adult felony subsequent to the sealing has the effect of nullifying the sealing order for the purposes of chapter 9.94A RCW for any juvenile adjudication of guilt for a class A offense or a sex offense as defined in RCW 9.94A.030.

(16) In any case in which an information has been filed pursuant to RCW 13.40.100 or a complaint has been filed with the prosecutor and referred for diversion pursuant to RCW 13.40-.070, the person who is the subject of the information or complaint may file a motion with the court to have the court vacate its order and findings, if any, and, subject to subsection (24) of this section, order the destruction of the official juvenile court file, the social file, and records of the court and of any other agency in the case.

(17) The court may grant the motion to destroy records made pursuant to subsection (16) of this section if it finds:

(a) The person making the motion is at least twenty-three years of age;

(b) The person has not subsequently been convicted of a felony;

(c) No proceeding is pending against that person seeking the conviction of a criminal offense; and

The request shall be granted, subject to subsection (24) of this section, if the court finds that two years have elapsed since completion of the diversion agreement.

(19) If the court grants the motion to destroy records made pursuant to subsection (16) or (18) of this section, it shall, subject to subsection (24) of this section, order the official juvenile court file, the social file, and any other records named in the order to be destroyed.

(20) The person making the motion pursuant to subsection (16) or (18) of this section shall give reasonable notice of the motion to the prosecuting attorney and to any agency whose records are sought to be destroyed.

(21) Any juvenile to whom the provisions of this section may apply shall be given written notice of his or her rights under this section at the time of his or her disposition hearing or during the diversion process.

(22) Nothing in this section may be construed to prevent a crime victim or a member of the victim's family from divulging the identity of the alleged or proven juvenile offender or his or her family when necessary in a civil proceeding.

(23) Any juvenile justice or care agency may, subject to the limitations in subsection (24) of this section and subparagraphs (a) and (b) of this subsection, develop procedures for the routine destruction of records relating to juvenile offenses and diversions.

(a) Records may be routinely destroyed only when the person the subject of the information or complaint has attained twenty-three years of age or older, or is eighteen years of age or older and his or her criminal history consists entirely of one diversion agreement and two years have passed since completion of the agreement.

(b) The court may not routinely destroy the official juvenile court file or recordings or transcripts of any proceedings.

(24) No identifying information held by the Washington state patrol in accordance with chapter 43.43 RCW is subject to destruction or sealing under this section. For the purposes of this subsection, identifying information includes photographs, fingerprints, palmprints, soleprints, toeprints and any other data that identifies a person by physical characteristics, name, birth-date or address, but does not include information regarding criminal activity, arrest, charging, diversion, conviction or other information about a person's treatment by the criminal justice system or about the person's behavior.

Such records shall be organized in accordance with the most modern methods of filing and indexing so that there will be always immediately available complete information about each such prisoner. The board may make rules as to the privacy of such records and their use by others than the board and its staff. In determining the rules regarding dissemination of information regarding convicted sex offenders under the board's jurisdiction, the board shall consider the provisions of sections 116 through 118 of this 1990 act and shall be immune from liability for the release of information concerning sex offenders as provided in section 117 of this 1990 act.

Sec. 302. Section 70, chapter 291, Laws of 1977 ex. sess. as last amended by section 4, chapter 407, Laws of 1989 and RCW 13.40.160 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) When the respondent is found to be a serious offender, the court shall commit the offender to the department for the standard range of disposition for the offense, as indicated in option A of schedule D-3, RCW 13.40.0357 except as provided in subsection (5) of this section.

If the court concludes, and enters reasons for its conclusion, that disposition within the standard range would effectuate a manifest injustice the court shall impose a disposition outside the standard range, as indicated in option B of schedule D-3, RCW 13.40.0357. The court's finding of manifest injustice shall be supported by clear and convincing evidence.

A disposition outside the standard range shall be determinate and shall be comprised of confinement or community supervision, or a combination thereof. When a judge finds a manifest injustice and imposes a sentence of confinement exceeding thirty days, the court shall sentence the juvenile to a maximum term, and the provisions of RCW 13.40.030((5))(2), as now or hereafter amended, shall be used to determine the range. A disposition outside the standard range is appealable under RCW 13.40.230, as now or hereafter amended, by the state or the respondent. A disposition within the standard range is not appealable under RCW 13.40.230 as now or hereafter amended.

(2) Where the respondent is found to be a minor or first offender, the court shall order that the respondent serve a term of community supervision as indicated in option A or option B of schedule D-1, RCW 13.40.0357 except as provided in subsection (5) of this section. If the court determines that a disposition of community supervision would effectuate a manifest injustice the court may impose another disposition under option C of schedule D-1, RCW 13.40.0357. Except as provided in subsection (5) of this section, a disposition other than a community supervision may be imposed only after the court enters reasons upon which it bases its conclusions that imposition of community supervision would effectuate a manifest injustice. When a judge finds a manifest injustice and imposes a sentence of confinement exceeding thirty days, the court shall sentence the juvenile to a maximum term, and the provisions of RCW 13.40.030((5))(2), as now or hereafter amended, shall be used to determine the range. The court's finding of manifest injustice shall be supported by clear and convincing evidence.

((Any)) Except for disposition ((other than)) of community supervision or a disposition imposed pursuant to subsection (5) of this section, a disposition may be appealed as provided in RCW 13.40.230, as now or hereafter amended, by the state or the respondent. A disposition of community supervision or a disposition imposed pursuant to subsection (5) of this section may not be appealed under RCW 13.40.230 as now or hereafter amended.

(3) Where a respondent is found to have committed an offense for which the respondent declined to enter into a diversion agreement, the court shall impose a term of community supervision limited to the conditions allowed in a diversion agreement as provided in RCW 13.40.080(2) as now or hereafter amended.

(4) If a respondent is found to be a middle offender:

(a) The court shall impose a determinate disposition within the standard range(s) for such offense, as indicated in option A of schedule D-2, RCW 13.40.0357 except as provided in subsection (5) of this section: PROVIDED, That if the standard range includes a term of confinement exceeding thirty days, commitment shall be to the department for the standard range of confinement; or

(b) The court shall impose a determinate disposition of community supervision and/or up to thirty days confinement, as indicated in option B of schedule D-2, RCW 13.40.0357 in which case, if confinement has been imposed, the court shall state either aggravating or mitigating factors as set forth in RCW 13.40.150 as now or hereafter amended.

(c) Only if the court concludes, and enters reasons for its conclusions, that disposition as provided in subsection (4) (a) or (b) of this section would effectuate a manifest injustice, the court shall sentence the juvenile to a maximum term, and the provisions of RCW 13.40.030((5))(2), as now or hereafter amended, shall be used to determine the range. The court's finding of manifest injustice shall be supported by clear and convincing evidence.

(d) A disposition pursuant to subsection (4)(c) of this section is appealable under RCW 13.40.230, as now or hereafter amended, by the state or the respondent. A disposition pursuant to subsection (4) (a) or (b) of this section is not appealable under RCW 13.40.230 as now or hereafter amended.

(5) When a serious, middle, or minor first offender is found to have committed a sex offense, other than a sex offense that is also a serious violent offense as defined by RCW 9.94A.030, and has no history of a prior sex offense, the court, on its own motion or the motion of the state or the respondent, may order an examination to determine whether the respondent is amenable to treatment.

The report of the examination shall include at a minimum the following: The respondent's version of the facts and the official version of the facts, the respondent's offense history, an assessment of problems in addition to alleged deviant behaviors, the respondent's social, educational, and employment situation, and other evaluation measures used. The report shall set forth the sources of the evaluator's information.

The examiner shall assess and report regarding the respondent's amenability to treatment and relative risk to the community. A proposed treatment plan shall be provided and shall include, at a minimum:

(a) (i) Frequency and type of contact between the offender and therapist;

(ii) Specific issues to be addressed in the treatment and description of planned treatment modalities;

(iii) Monitoring plans, including any requirements regarding living conditions, lifestyle requirements, and monitoring by family members, legal guardians, or others;

(iv) Anticipated length of treatment; and

(v) Recommended crime-related prohibitions.

The court on its own motion may order, or on a motion by the state shall order, a second examination regarding the offender's amenability to treatment. The evaluator shall be selected by the party making the motion.

After receipt of reports of the examination, the court shall then consider whether the offender and the community will benefit from use of this special sex offender disposition alternative and consider the victim's opinion whether the offender should receive a treatment disposition under this section. If the court determines that this special sex offender disposition alternative is appropriate, then the court shall impose a determinate disposition within the standard range for the offense, and the court may suspend the execution of the disposition and place the offender on community supervision for up to two years. As a condition of the suspended disposition, the court may impose the conditions of community supervision and other conditions, including up to thirty days of confinement and requirements that the offender do any one or more of the following:

(b) (i) Devote time to a specific education, employment, or occupation;

(ii) Undergo available outpatient sex offender treatment for up to two years, or inpatient sex offender treatment not to exceed the standard range of confinement for that offense. A community mental health center may not be used for such treatment unless it has an appropriate program designed for sex offender treatment. The respondent shall not change sex offender treatment providers or treatment conditions without first notifying the prosecutor, the community corrections officer, and the court, and shall not change providers without court approval after a hearing if the prosecutor or community corrections officer object to the change;

(iii) Remain within prescribed geographical boundaries and notify the court or the probation counselor prior to any change in the offender's address, educational program, or employment;

(iv) Report to the prosecutor and the probation counselor prior to any change in a sex offender treatment provider. This change shall have prior approval by the court;

(v) Report as directed to the court and a probation counselor;

(vi) Pay all court-ordered legal financial obligations, perform community service, or any combination thereof; or

(vii) Make restitution to the victim for the cost of any counseling reasonably related to the offense.

The sex offender treatment provider shall submit quarterly reports on the respondent's progress in treatment to the court and the parties. The reports shall reference the treatment plan and include at a minimum the following: Dates of attendance, respondent's compliance with requirements, treatment activities, the respondent's relative progress in treatment, and any other material specified by the court at the time of the disposition.

At the time of the disposition, the court may set treatment review hearings as the court considers appropriate.

After July 1, 1991, examinations and treatment ordered pursuant to this subsection shall only be conducted by sex offender treatment providers certified by the department of health pursuant to sections 709 through 716 of this 1990 act.

If the offender violates any condition of the disposition or the court finds that the respondent is failing to make satisfactory progress in treatment, the court may revoke the suspension and order execution of the sentence. The court shall give credit for any confinement time previously served if that confinement was for the offense for which the suspension is being revoked.

For purposes of this section, 'victim' means any person who has sustained emotional, psychological, physical, or financial injury to person or property as a direct result of the crime charged. 'Victim' may also include a known parent or guardian of a victim who is a minor child unless the parent or guardian is the perpetrator of the offense.

(6) Whenever a juvenile offender is entitled to credit for time spent in detention prior to a dispositional order, the dispositional order shall specifically state the number of days of credit for time served.

((6) in its dispositional order) (7) Except as provided for in subsection (5) of this section, the court shall not suspend or defer the imposition or the execution of the disposition.

((7)) (8) In no case shall the term of confinement imposed by the court at disposition exceed that to which an adult could be subjected for the same offense.

Sec. 303. Section 65, chapter 291, Laws of 1977 ex. sess. as last amended by section 18, chapter 145, Laws of 1988 and RCW 13.40.110 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) The prosecutor, respondent, or the court on its own motion may, before a hearing on the information on its merits, file a motion requesting the court to transfer the respondent for adult criminal prosecution and the matter shall be set for a hearing on the question of declining jurisdiction. Unless waived by the court, the parties, and their counsel, a decline hearing shall be held where:

(a) The respondent is fifteen, sixteen, or seventeen years of age and the information alleges a class A felony or an attempt, solicitation, or conspiracy to commit a class A felony; or

(b) The respondent is sixteen or seventeen years of age and the information alleges assault in the second degree, extortion in the first degree, indecent liberties, ~~((rape of a child in the second degree))~~ child molestation in the ~~((first or))~~ second degree, kidnapping in the second degree, ~~((rape in the second degree))~~ or robbery in the second degree.

(2) The court after a mandatory decline hearing shall order the case be transferred for adult prosecution unless the respondent establishes by a preponderance of the evidence that retaining juvenile court jurisdiction over the juvenile would be in the best interest of the juvenile and the public. After nonmandatory decline hearings the court may order the case transferred for adult criminal prosecution upon a finding that the declination would be in the best interest of the juvenile or the public. The court shall consider the relevant reports, facts, opinions, and arguments presented by the parties and their counsel.

(3) When the respondent is transferred for criminal prosecution or retained for prosecution in juvenile court, the court shall set forth in writing its finding which shall be supported by relevant facts and opinions produced at the hearing.

Sec. 304. Section 75, chapter 291, Laws of 1977 ex. sess. as last amended by section 4, chapter 505, Laws of 1987 and RCW 13.40.210 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) The secretary shall, except in the case of a juvenile committed by a court to a term of confinement in a state institution outside the appropriate standard range for the offense(s) for which the juvenile was found to be guilty established pursuant to RCW 13.40.030, as now or hereafter amended, set a release or discharge date for each juvenile committed to its custody which shall be within the prescribed range to which a juvenile has been committed. Such dates shall be determined prior to the expiration of sixty percent of a juvenile's minimum term of confinement included within the prescribed range to which the juvenile has been committed. The secretary shall release any juvenile committed to the custody of the department within four calendar days prior to the juvenile's release date or on the release date set under this chapter: PROVIDED, That days spent in the custody of the department shall be tolled by any period of time during which a juvenile has absented himself or herself from the department's supervision without the prior approval of the secretary or the secretary's designee.

(2) The secretary shall monitor the average daily population of the state's juvenile residential facilities. When the secretary concludes that in-residence population of residential facilities exceeds one hundred five percent of the rated bed capacity specified in statute, or in absence of such specification, as specified by the department in rule, the secretary may recommend reductions to the governor. On certification by the governor that the recommended reductions are necessary, the secretary has authority to administratively release a sufficient number of offenders to reduce in-residence population to one hundred percent of rated bed capacity. The secretary shall release those offenders who have served the greatest proportion of their sentence. However, the secretary may deny release in a particular case at the request of an offender, or if the secretary finds that there is no responsible custodian, as determined by the department, to whom to release the offender, or if the release of the offender would pose a clear danger to society. The department shall notify the committing court of the release at the end of each calendar year if any such early releases have occurred during that year as a result of excessive in-residence population. In no event shall a serious offender, as defined in RCW 13.40.020(1) be granted release under the provisions of this subsection.

(3) Following the juvenile's release pursuant to subsection (1) of this section, the secretary may require the juvenile to comply with a program of parole to be administered by the department in his or her community which shall last no longer than eighteen months, except that in the case of a juvenile sentenced for rape in the first or second degree, rape of a child in the first or second degree, child molestation in the first degree, or indecent liberties with forcible compulsion, the period of parole shall be twenty-four months. ~~((Such))~~ A parole program ~~((shall be))~~ is mandatory for offenders released under subsection (2) of this section. The secretary shall, for the period of parole, facilitate the juvenile's reintegration into his or her community and to further this goal may require the juvenile to: (a) Undergo available medical or psychiatric treatment; (b) report as directed to a parole officer; (c) pursue a course of study or vocational training; (d) remain within prescribed geographical boundaries and notify the department of any change in his or her address; and (e) refrain from committing new offenses. After termination of the parole period, the juvenile shall be discharged from the department's supervision.

(4) The department may also modify parole for violation thereof. If, after affording a juvenile all of the due process rights to which he or she would be entitled if the juvenile were an adult, the secretary finds that a juvenile has violated a condition of his or her parole, the secretary shall order one of the following which is reasonably likely to effectuate the purpose of the parole and to protect the public: (a) Continued supervision under the same conditions previously imposed; (b) intensified supervision with increased reporting requirements; (c) additional conditions of supervision authorized by this chapter; ~~((and))~~ (d) except as provided in (e) of this subsection, imposition of a period of confinement not to exceed thirty days in a facility operated by or pursuant to a contract with the state of Washington or any city or county for a portion of each day or for a certain number of days each week with the balance of the days or weeks spent under supervision; and (e) the secretary may order any of the conditions or may return the offender to confinement in an institution for the remainder of the sentence range if the offense for which the offender was sentenced is rape in the first or second degree, rape of a child in the first or second degree, child molestation in the first degree, indecent liberties with forcible compulsion, or a sex offense that is also a serious violent offense as defined by RCW 9.94A.030.

(5) A parole officer of the department of social and health services shall have the power to arrest a juvenile under his or her supervision on the same grounds as a law enforcement officer would be authorized to arrest such person.

(6) If so requested and approved under chapter 13.06 RCW, the secretary shall permit a county or group of counties to perform functions under subsections (3) through (5) of this section.

PART IV

REGISTRATION OF SEX OFFENDERS

NEW SECTION. Sec. 401. The legislature finds that sex offenders often pose a high risk of reoffense, and that law enforcement's efforts to protect their communities, conduct investigations, and quickly apprehend offenders who commit sex offenses, are impaired by the lack of information available to law enforcement agencies about convicted sex offenders who live within the law enforcement agency's jurisdiction. Therefore, this state's policy is to assist local law enforcement agencies' efforts to protect their communities by regulating sex offenders by requiring sex offenders to register with local law enforcement agencies as provided in section 402 of this act.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 402. A new section is added to chapter 9A.44 RCW to read as follows:

(1) Any adult or juvenile residing in this state who: (a) Has been found to have committed or has been convicted of any sex offense committed on or after the effective date of this section; or (b) is released from jail or prison after the effective date of this section following incarceration for a sex offense, shall register with the county sheriff for the county of the person's residence.

(2) The person shall, within forty-five days of establishing residence in Washington, or if a current resident within thirty days of release from confinement, if any, provide the county sheriff with the following information: (a) Name; (b) address; (c) place of employment; (d) crime for which convicted; (e) date and place of conviction; (f) aliases used; and (g) social security number.

(3) If any person required to register pursuant to this section changes his or her residence address within the same county, the person must send written notice of the change of address to the county sheriff within ten days of establishing the new residence. If any person required to register pursuant to this section moves to a new county, the person must register with the county sheriff in the new county within ten days of establishing the new residence. The person must also send written notice within ten days of the change of address in the new county to the county sheriff with whom the person last registered.

(4) The county sheriff shall obtain a photograph of the individual and shall obtain a copy of the individual's fingerprints.

(5) 'Sex offense' for the purposes of sections 402 through 408 of this act means any offense defined as a sex offense by RCW 9.94A.030.

(6) A person who knowingly fails to register as required by this section is guilty of a class C felony if the crime for which the individual was convicted was a class A felony or a federal or out-of-state conviction for an offense that under the laws of this state would be a class A felony. If the crime was other than a class A felony or a federal or out-of-state conviction for an offense that under the laws of this state would be a class A felony, violation of this section is a gross misdemeanor.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 403. A new section is added to chapter 43.43 RCW to read as follows:

The county sheriff shall forward the information and fingerprints obtained pursuant to section 402 of this act to the Washington state patrol within five working days. The state patrol shall maintain a central registry of sex offenders required to register under section 402 of this act and shall adopt rules consistent with chapters 10.97, 10.98, and 43.43 RCW as are necessary to carry out the purposes of sections 402 through 408 of this act. The Washington state patrol shall reimburse the counties for the costs of processing the sex offender registration, including taking the fingerprints and the photographs.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 404. A new section is added to chapter 10.01 RCW to read as follows:

The court shall provide written notification to any defendant charged with a sex offense of the registration requirements of section 402 of this act. Such notice shall be included on any guilty plea forms and judgment and sentence forms provided to the defendant.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 405. A new section is added to chapter 72.09 RCW to read as follows:

(1) The department shall provide written notification to an inmate convicted of a sex offense of the registration requirements of section 402 of this act at the time of the inmate's release from confinement and shall receive and retain a signed acknowledgement of receipt.

(2) The department shall provide written notification to an individual convicted of a sex offense from another state of the registration requirements of section 402 of this act at the time the department accepts supervision and has legal authority of the individual under the terms and conditions of the interstate compact agreement under RCW 9.95.270.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 406. A new section is added to chapter 70.48 RCW to read as follows:

A person having charge of a jail shall notify in writing any confined person who is in the custody of the jail for a conviction of a sexual offense as defined in RCW 9.94A.030 of the registration requirements of section 402 of this act at the time of the inmate's release from confinement, and shall obtain written acknowledgment of such notification.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 407. A new section is added to chapter 46.20 RCW to read as follows:

The department, at the time a person renews his or her driver's license or identicard, or surrenders a driver's license from another jurisdiction pursuant to RCW 46.20.021 and makes an application for a driver's license or an identicard, shall provide the applicant with written information on the registration requirements of section 402 of this act.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 408. A new section is added to chapter 9A.44 RCW to read as follows:

(1) The duty to register under section 402 of this act shall end:

(a) For a person convicted of a class A felony: Such person may only be relieved of the duty to register under subsection (2) of this section.

(b) For a person convicted of a class B felony: Fifteen years after the last date of release from confinement, if any, (including full-time residential treatment) pursuant to the conviction, or entry of the judgment and sentence, if the person has spent fifteen consecutive years in the community without being convicted of any new offenses.

(c) For a person convicted of a class C felony: Ten years after the last date of release from confinement, if any, (including full-time residential treatment) pursuant to the conviction, or entry of the judgment and sentence, if the person has spent ten consecutive years in the community without being convicted of any new offenses.

(2) Any person having a duty to register under section 402 of this act may petition the superior court to be relieved of that duty. The petition shall be made to the court in which the petitioner was convicted of the offense that subjects him or her to the duty to register, or, in the case of convictions in other states, to the court in Thurston county. The prosecuting attorney of the county shall be named and served as the respondent in any such petition. The court shall consider the nature of the registerable offense committed, and the criminal and relevant non-criminal behavior of the petitioner both before and after conviction, and may consider other factors. The court may relieve the petitioner of the duty to register only if the petitioner shows, with clear and convincing evidence, that future registration of the petitioner will not serve the purposes of sections 402 through 408 of this act.

(3) Unless relieved of the duty to register pursuant to this section, a violation of section 402 of this act is an ongoing offense for purposes of the statute of limitations under RCW 9A.04.080.

(4) Nothing in RCW 9.94A.220 relating to discharge of an offender shall be construed as operating to relieve the offender of his or her duty to register pursuant to section 402 of this act.

Sec. 409. Section 10, chapter 152, Laws of 1972 ex. sess. as last amended by section 6, chapter 346, Laws of 1985 and RCW 43.43.745 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) It shall be the duty of the sheriff or director of public safety of every county, of the chief of police of each city or town, or of every chief officer of other law enforcement agencies operating within this state, to record the fingerprints of all persons held in or remanded to their custody when convicted of any crime as provided for in RCW 43.43.735 for which the penalty of imprisonment might be imposed and to disseminate and file such fingerprints in the same manner as those recorded upon arrest pursuant to RCW 43.43.735 and 43.43.740.

(2) Every time the secretary authorizes a furlough as provided for in RCW 72.66.012 the department of corrections shall notify, forty-eight hours prior to the beginning of such furlough, the section that the named prisoner has been granted a furlough, the place to which furloughed, and the dates and times during which the prisoner will be on furlough status. In the case of an emergency furlough the forty-eight hour time period shall not be required but notification shall be made as promptly as possible and before the prisoner is released on furlough. Upon receipt of furlough information pursuant to the provisions of this subsection the section shall notify the sheriff or director of public safety of the county to which the prisoner is being furloughed, the nearest attachment of the Washington state patrol in the county wherein the furloughed prisoner shall be residing and such other criminal justice agencies as the section may determine should be so notified.

(3) Disposition of the charge for which the arrest was made shall be reported to the section at whatever stage in the proceedings a final disposition occurs by the arresting law enforcement agency, county prosecutor, city attorney, or court having jurisdiction over the offense: PROVIDED, That the chief shall promulgate rules pursuant to chapter 34.05 RCW to carry out the provisions of this subsection.

(4) Whenever a person serving a sentence for a term of confinement in a state correctional facility for convicted felons, pursuant to court commitment, is released on an order of the state indeterminate sentence review board (~~(of prison terms and paroles)~~), or is discharged from custody on expiration of sentence, the department of corrections shall promptly notify the section that the named person has been released or discharged, the place to which such person has been released or discharged, and the conditions of his release or discharge, and shall additionally notify the section of change in residence or conditions of release or discharge of persons on active parole supervision, and shall notify the section when persons are discharged from active parole supervision.

~~((No city, town, county, or local law enforcement authority or other agency thereof may require that a convicted felon entering, sojourning, visiting, in transit, or residing in such city, town, county, or local area report or make himself known as a convicted felon or make application for and/or carry on his person a felon identification card or other registration document)) Local law enforcement agencies may identify persons convicted of sex offenses to register pursuant to section 402 of this 1990 act. In addition, nothing ((herein)) in this section shall ((-however-)) be construed to prevent any local law enforcement authority from recording the residency and other information concerning any convicted felon or other person convicted of a criminal offense when such information is obtained from a source other than from ((such requirement)) registration pursuant to section 402 of this 1990 act which source may include any officer or other agency or subdivision of the state.~~

PART V

CRIME VICTIMS' COMPENSATION

Sec. 501. Section 6, chapter 122, Laws of 1973 1st ex. sess. as last amended by section 1, chapter 98, Laws of 1986 and RCW 7.68.060 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) For the purposes of applying for benefits under this chapter, the rights, privileges, responsibilities, duties, limitations and procedures contained in RCW 51.28.020, 51.28.030, 51.28.040 and 51.28.060 as now or hereafter amended shall apply: PROVIDED, That no compensation of any kind shall be available under this chapter if:

(a) An application for benefits is not received by the department within one year after the date the criminal act was reported to a local police department or sheriff's office or the date the rights of dependents or beneficiaries accrued; or

(b) The criminal act is not reported by the victim or someone on his or her behalf to a local police department or sheriff's office within ~~((seventy-two hours))~~ twelve months of its occurrence or, if it could not reasonably have been reported within that period, within ~~((seventy-two hours))~~ twelve months of the time when a report could reasonably have been made. In making determinations as to reasonable time limits, the department shall give greatest weight to the needs of the victims.

(2) This section shall apply only to criminal acts reported after December 31, 1985.

(3) Because victims of childhood criminal acts may repress conscious memory of such criminal acts far beyond the age of eighteen, the rights of adult victims of childhood criminal acts shall accrue at the time the victim discovers or reasonably should have discovered the elements of the crime. In making determinations as to reasonable time limits, the department shall give greatest weight to the needs of the victim.

Sec. 502. Section 3, chapter 5, Laws of 1989 1st ex. sess. and RCW 7.68.085 are each amended to read as follows:

The director of labor and industries shall institute a cap on medical benefits of one hundred fifty thousand dollars per ~~((victim))~~ injury or death. Payment for medical services in excess of the cap shall be made available to any innocent victim under the same conditions as other medical services, if the medical services are:

(1) Necessary to treat a previously accepted condition;

(2) Necessary to protect the victim's life, or prevent deterioration of the victim's previously accepted condition; and

(3) Not available from an alternative source.

For the purposes of this section, an individual shall not be required to use his or her assets, other than funds recovered as a result of a civil action or criminal restitution, for medical expenses or pain and suffering, in order to qualify for an alternative source of payment.

PART VI

SEXUAL MOTIVATION IN CRIMINAL OFFENSES

NEW SECTION. Sec. 601. A new section is added to chapter 9.94A RCW to read as follows:

(1) The prosecuting attorney shall file a special allegation of sexual motivation in every criminal case other than sex offenses as defined in RCW 9.94A.030(29) (a) or (c) when sufficient admissible evidence exists, which, when considered with the most plausible, reasonably foreseeable defense that could be raised under the evidence, would justify a finding of sexual motivation by a reasonable and objective fact finder.

(2) In a criminal case wherein there has been a special allegation the state shall prove beyond a reasonable doubt that the accused committed the crime with a sexual motivation. The court shall make a finding of fact of whether or not a sexual motivation was present at the time of the commission of the crime, or if a jury trial is had, the jury shall, if it finds the defendant guilty, also find a special verdict as to whether or not the defendant committed the crime with a sexual motivation. This finding shall not be applied to sex offenses as defined in RCW 9.94A.030(29) (a) or (c).

(3) The prosecuting attorney shall not withdraw the special allegation of sexual motivation without approval of the court through an order of dismissal of the special allegation. The court shall not dismiss this special allegation unless it finds that such an order is necessary to correct an error in the initial charging decision or unless there are evidentiary problems which make proving the special allegation doubtful.

Sec. 602. Section 2, chapter 252, Laws of 1989 and section 1, chapter 394, Laws of 1989 and RCW 9.94A.030 are each reenacted and amended to read as follows:

Unless the context clearly requires otherwise, the definitions in this section apply throughout this chapter.

(1) 'Collect,' or any derivative thereof, 'collect and remit,' or 'collect and deliver,' when used with reference to the department of corrections, means that the department is responsible for monitoring and enforcing the offender's sentence with regard to the legal financial obligation, receiving payment thereof from the offender, and, consistent with current law, delivering daily the entire payment to the superior court clerk without depositing it in a departmental account.

(2) 'Commission' means the sentencing guidelines commission.

(3) 'Community corrections officer' means an employee of the department who is responsible for carrying out specific duties in supervision of sentenced offenders and monitoring of sentence conditions.

(4) 'Community custody' means that portion of an inmate's sentence of confinement in lieu of earned early release time served in the community subject to controls placed on the inmate's movement and activities by the department of corrections.

(5) 'Community placement' means ~~((a one-year))~~ that period during which the offender is subject to the conditions of community custody and/or postrelease supervision, which begins either upon completion of the term of confinement (postrelease supervision) or at such time as the offender is transferred to community custody in lieu of earned early release. Community placement may consist of entirely community custody, entirely postrelease supervision, or a combination of the two.

(6) 'Community service' means compulsory service, without compensation, performed for the benefit of the community by the offender.

(7) 'Community supervision' means a period of time during which a convicted offender is subject to crime-related prohibitions and other sentence conditions imposed pursuant to this chapter by a court. For first-time offenders, the supervision may include crime-related prohibitions and other conditions imposed pursuant to RCW 9.94A.120(5). For purposes of the interstate compact for out-of-state supervision of parolees and probationers, RCW 9.95.270, community supervision is the functional equivalent of probation and should be considered the same as probation by other states.

(8) 'Confinement' means total or partial confinement as defined in this section.

(9) 'Conviction' means an adjudication of guilt pursuant to Titles 10 or 13 RCW and includes a verdict of guilty, a finding of guilty, and acceptance of a plea of guilty.

(11) 'Crime-related prohibition' means an order of a court prohibiting conduct that directly relates to the circumstances of the crime for which the offender has been convicted, and shall not be construed to mean orders directing an offender affirmatively to participate in rehabilitative programs or to otherwise perform affirmative conduct.

(12) (a) 'Criminal history' means the list of a defendant's prior convictions, whether in this state, in federal court, or elsewhere. The history shall include, where known, for each conviction (i) whether the defendant has been placed on probation and the length and terms thereof; and (ii) whether the defendant has been incarcerated and the length of incarceration.

(b) 'Criminal history' shall always include juvenile convictions for sex offenses and shall also include(s) a defendant's other prior convictions in juvenile court if: (i) The conviction was for an offense which is a felony or a serious traffic offense and is criminal history as defined in RCW 13.40.020(6)(a); (ii) the defendant was fifteen years of age or older at the time the offense was committed; and (iii) with respect to prior juvenile class B and C felonies or serious traffic offenses, the defendant was less than twenty-three years of age at the time the offense for which he or she is being sentenced was committed.

(13) 'Department' means the department of corrections.

(14) 'Determinate sentence' means a sentence that states with exactitude the number of actual years, months, or days of total confinement, of partial confinement, of community supervision, the number of actual hours or days of community service work, or dollars or terms of a legal financial obligation. The fact that an offender through 'earned early release' can reduce the actual period of confinement shall not affect the classification of the sentence as a determinate sentence.

(15) 'Disposable earnings' means that part of the earnings of an individual remaining after the deduction from those earnings of any amount required by law to be withheld. For the purposes of this definition, 'earnings' means compensation paid or payable for personal services, whether denominated as wages, salary, commission, bonuses, or otherwise, and, notwithstanding any other provision of law making the payments exempt from garnishment, attachment, or other process to satisfy a court-ordered legal financial obligation, specifically includes periodic payments pursuant to pension or retirement programs, or insurance policies of any type, but does not include payments made under Title 50 RCW, except as provided in RCW 50.40.020 and 50.40.050, or Title 74 RCW.

(b) Any offense defined as a felony under federal law that relates to the possession, manufacture, distribution, or transportation of a controlled substance; or

(c) Any out-of-state conviction for an offense that under the laws of this state would be a felony classified as a drug offense under (a) of this subsection.

(b) For purposes of (a) of this subsection, a juvenile adjudication for an offense committed before the age of fifteen years is not a previous felony conviction except for adjudications of sex offenses.

(21) 'Nonviolent offense' means an offense which is not a violent offense.

(22) 'Offender' means a person who has committed a felony established by state law and is eighteen years of age or older or is less than eighteen years of age but whose case has been transferred by the appropriate juvenile court to a criminal court pursuant to RCW 13.40.110. Throughout this chapter, the terms 'offender' and 'defendant' are used interchangeably.

(23) 'Partial confinement' means confinement for no more than one year in a facility or institution operated or utilized under contract by the state or any other unit of government, or, if home detention has been ordered by the court, in the residence of either the defendant or a member of the defendant's immediate family, for a substantial portion of each day with the balance of the day spent in the community. Partial confinement includes work release and home detention as defined in this section.

(24) 'Postrelease supervision' is that portion of an offender's community placement that is not community custody.

(27) 'Serious violent offense' is a subcategory of violent offense and means:

(a) Murder in the first degree, homicide by abuse, murder in the second degree, assault in the first degree, kidnapping in the first degree, or rape in the first degree, or an attempt, criminal solicitation, or criminal conspiracy to commit one of these felonies; or

Participation in the home detention program for medical or health-related reasons is conditioned on the offender abiding by the rules of the home detention program and complying with court-ordered restitution.

Sec. 603. Section 10, chapter 115, Laws of 1983 as last amended by section 1, chapter 408, Laws of 1989 and RCW 9.94A.390 are each amended to read as follows:

If the sentencing court finds that an exceptional sentence outside the standard range should be imposed in accordance with RCW 9.94A.120(2), the sentence is subject to review only as provided for in RCW 9.94A.210(4).

The following are illustrative factors which the court may consider in the exercise of its discretion to impose an exceptional sentence. The following are illustrative only and are not intended to be exclusive reasons for exceptional sentences.

(1) Mitigating Circumstances

(a) To a significant degree, the victim was an initiator, willing participant, aggressor, or provoker of the incident.

(b) Before detection, the defendant compensated, or made a good faith effort to compensate, the victim of the criminal conduct for any damage or injury sustained.

(c) The defendant committed the crime under duress, coercion, threat, or compulsion insufficient to constitute a complete defense but which significantly affected his or her conduct.

(d) The defendant, with no apparent predisposition to do so, was induced by others to participate in the crime.

(e) The defendant's capacity to appreciate the wrongfulness of his conduct or to conform his conduct to the requirements of the law, was significantly impaired (voluntary use of drugs or alcohol is excluded).

(f) The offense was principally accomplished by another person and the defendant manifested extreme caution or sincere concern for the safety or well-being of the victim.

(g) The operation of the multiple offense policy of RCW 9.94A.400 results in a presumptive sentence that is clearly excessive in light of the purpose of this chapter, as expressed in RCW 9.94A.010.

(h) The defendant or the defendant's children suffered a continuing pattern of physical or sexual abuse by the victim of the offense and the offense is a response to that abuse.

(2) Aggravating Circumstances

(a) The defendant's conduct during the commission of the current offense manifested deliberate cruelty to the victim.

(b) The defendant knew or should have known that the victim of the current offense was particularly vulnerable or incapable of resistance due to extreme youth, advanced age, disability, or ill health.

(c) The current offense was a major economic offense or series of offenses, so identified by a consideration of any of the following factors:

(i) The current offense involved multiple victims or multiple incidents per victim;

(ii) The current offense involved attempted or actual monetary loss substantially greater than typical for the offense;

(iii) The current offense involved a high degree of sophistication or planning or occurred over a lengthy period of time;

(iv) The defendant used his or her position of trust, confidence, or fiduciary responsibility to facilitate the commission of the current offense.

(d) The current offense was a major violation of the Uniform Controlled Substances Act, chapter 69.50 RCW (VUCSA), related to trafficking in controlled substances, which was more onerous than the typical offense of its statutory definition. The presence of ANY of the following may identify a current offense as a major VUCSA:

(i) The current offense involved at least three separate transactions in which controlled substances were sold, transferred, or possessed with intent to do so; or

(ii) The current offense involved an attempted or actual sale or transfer of controlled substances in quantities substantially larger than for personal use; or

(iii) The current offense involved the manufacture of controlled substances for use by other parties; or

(iv) The circumstances of the current offense reveal the offender to have occupied a high position in the drug distribution hierarchy; or

(v) The current offense involved a high degree of sophistication or planning or occurred over a lengthy period of time or involved a broad geographic area of disbursement; or

(vi) The offender used his or her position or status to facilitate the commission of the current offense, including positions of trust, confidence or fiduciary responsibility (e.g., pharmacist, physician, or other medical professional); or

(e) The current offense included a finding of sexual motivation pursuant to section 601 of this 1990 act:

(f) The offense was part of an ongoing pattern of sexual abuse of the same victim under the age of eighteen years manifested by multiple incidents over a prolonged period of time; or

((f)) (g) The operation of the multiple offense policy of RCW 9.94A.400 results in a presumptive sentence that is clearly too lenient in light of the purpose of this chapter, as expressed in RCW 9.94A.010.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 604. A new section is added to chapter 13.40 RCW to read as follows:

(1) The prosecuting attorney shall file a special allegation of sexual motivation in every juvenile offense other than sex offenses as defined in RCW 9.94A.030(29) (a) or (c) when sufficient admissible evidence exists, which, when considered with the most plausible, reasonably consistent defense that could be raised under the evidence, would justify a finding of sexual motivation by a reasonable and objective fact finder.

(2) In a juvenile case wherein there has been a special allegation the state shall prove beyond a reasonable doubt that the juvenile committed the offense with a sexual motivation. The court shall make a finding of fact of whether or not the sexual motivation was present at the time of the commission of the offense. This finding shall not be applied to sex offenses as defined in RCW 9.94A.030(29) (a) or (c).

(3) The prosecuting attorney shall not withdraw the special allegation of 'sexual motivation' without approval of the court through an order of dismissal. The court shall not dismiss the special allegation unless it finds that such an order is necessary to correct an error in the initial charging decision or unless there are evidentiary problems which make proving the special allegation doubtful.

Sec. 605. Section 69, chapter 291, Laws of 1977 ex. sess. as last amended by section 12, chapter 299, Laws of 1981 and RCW 13.40.150 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) In disposition hearings all relevant and material evidence, including oral and written reports, may be received by the court and may be relied upon to the extent of its probative value, even though such evidence may not be admissible in a hearing on the information. The youth or the youth's counsel and the prosecuting attorney shall be afforded an opportunity to examine and controvert written reports so received and to cross-examine individuals making reports when such individuals are reasonably available, but sources of confidential information need not be disclosed. The prosecutor and counsel for the juvenile may submit recommendations for disposition.

(2) For purposes of disposition:

(a) Violations which are current offenses count as misdemeanors;

(b) Violations may not count as part of the offender's criminal history;

(c) In no event may a disposition for a violation include confinement.

(3) Before entering a dispositional order as to a respondent found to have committed an offense, the court shall hold a disposition hearing, at which the court shall:

(a) Consider the facts supporting the allegations of criminal conduct by the respondent;

(b) Consider information and arguments offered by parties and their counsel;

(c) Consider any predisposition reports;

(d) Afford the respondent and the respondent's parent, guardian, or custodian an opportunity to speak in the respondent's behalf;

(e) Allow the victim or a representative of the victim and an investigative law enforcement officer to speak;

(f) Determine the amount of restitution owing to the victim, if any;

(g) Determine whether the respondent is a serious offender, a middle offender, or a minor or first offender;

(h) Consider whether or not any of the following mitigating factors exist:

(i) The respondent's conduct neither caused nor threatened serious bodily injury or the respondent did not contemplate that his or her conduct would cause or threaten serious bodily injury;

(ii) The respondent acted under strong and immediate provocation;

(iii) The respondent was suffering from a mental or physical condition that significantly reduced his or her culpability for the offense though failing to establish a defense;

(iv) Prior to his or her detection, the respondent compensated or made a good faith attempt to compensate the victim for the injury or loss sustained; and

(v) There has been at least one year between the respondent's current offense and any prior criminal offense;

(i) Consider whether or not any of the following aggravating factors exist:

(i) In the commission of the offense, or in flight therefrom, the respondent inflicted or attempted to inflict serious bodily injury to another;

(ii) The offense was committed in an especially heinous, cruel, or depraved manner;

(iii) The victim or victims were particularly vulnerable;

(iv) The respondent has a recent criminal history or has failed to comply with conditions of a recent dispositional order or diversion agreement;

(v) The current offense included a finding of sexual motivation pursuant to section 601 of this 1990 act;

(vi) The respondent was the leader of a criminal enterprise involving several persons; and

((v)) (vii) There are other complaints which have resulted in diversion or a finding or plea of guilty but which are not included as criminal history.

(4) The following factors may not be considered in determining the punishment to be imposed:

(a) The sex of the respondent;

(b) The race or color of the respondent or the respondent's family;

(c) The creed or religion of the respondent or the respondent's family;

(d) The economic or social class of the respondent or the respondent's family; and

(e) Factors indicating that the respondent may be or is a dependent child within the meaning of this chapter.

(5) A court may not commit a juvenile to a state institution solely because of the lack of facilities, including treatment facilities, existing in the community.

(4) The following additional times shall be added to the presumptive sentence if the offender or an accomplice committed the offense while in a county jail or state correctional facility as that term is defined in this chapter and the offender is being sentenced for one of the crimes listed in this subsection. If the offender or an accomplice committed one of the crimes listed in this subsection while in a county jail or state correctional facility as that term is defined in this chapter, and the offender is being sentenced for an anticipatory offense under chapter 9A.28 RCW to commit one of the crimes listed in this subsection, the following times shall be added to the presumptive sentence range determined under subsection (2) of this section:

- (a) Eighteen months for offenses committed under RCW 69.50.401(a)(1)(i);

- (c) Twelve months for offenses committed under RCW 69.50.401(d).

For the purposes of this subsection, all of the real property of a state correctional facility or county jail shall be deemed to be part of that facility or county jail.

Sec. 703. Section 6, chapter 115, Laws of 1983 and RCW 9.94A.350 are each amended to read as follows:

The offense seriousness level is determined by the offense of conviction. (~~Felony offenses are divided into fourteen levels of seriousness, ranging from low (seriousness level I) to high (seriousness level XIV — see RCW 9.94A.320 (Table 2))~~)

Sec. 704. Section 11, chapter 115, Laws of 1983 as last amended by section 24, chapter 143, Laws of 1988 and by section 5, chapter 157, Laws of 1988 and RCW 9.94A.400 are each reenacted and amended to read as follows:

(1) (a) Except as provided in (b) of this subsection, whenever a person is to be sentenced for two or more current offenses, the sentence range for each current offense shall be determined by using all other current and prior convictions as if they were prior convictions for the purpose of the offender score: PROVIDED, That if the court enters a finding that some or all of the current offenses encompass the same criminal conduct then those current offenses shall be counted as one crime. Sentences imposed under this subsection shall be served concurrently. Consecutive sentences may only be imposed under the exceptional sentence provisions of RCW 9.94A.120 and 9.94A.390(2)(~~(e)~~)(f) or any other provision of RCW 9.94A.390. 'Same criminal conduct,' as used in this subsection, means two or more crimes that require the same criminal intent, are committed at the same time and place, and involve the same victim. This definition does not apply in cases involving vehicular assault or vehicular homicide if the victims occupied the same vehicle. However, the sentencing judge may consider multiple victims in such instances as an aggravating circumstance under RCW 9.94A.390.

(b) Whenever a person is convicted of (~~(three)~~) two or more serious violent offenses, as defined in RCW 9.94A.030, arising from separate and distinct criminal conduct, the sentence range for the offense with the highest seriousness level under RCW 9.94A.320 shall be determined using the offender's prior convictions and other current convictions that are not serious violent offenses in the offender score and the sentence range for other serious violent offenses shall be determined by using an offender score of zero. The sentence range for any offenses that are not serious violent offenses shall be determined according to (a) of this subsection. All sentences imposed under (b) of this subsection shall be served consecutively to each other and concurrently with sentences imposed under (a) of this subsection.

(2) Whenever a person while under sentence of felony commits another felony and is sentenced to another term of confinement, the latter term shall not begin until expiration of all prior terms.

(3) Subject to subsections (1) and (2) of this section, whenever a person is sentenced for a felony that was committed while the person was not under sentence of a felony, the sentence shall run concurrently with any felony sentence which has been imposed by any court in this or another state or by a federal court subsequent to the commission of the crime being sentenced unless the court pronouncing the current sentence expressly orders that they be served consecutively.

(4) Whenever any person granted probation under RCW 9.95.210 or 9.92.060, or both, has the probationary sentence revoked and a prison sentence imposed, that sentence shall run consecutively to any sentence imposed pursuant to this chapter, unless the court pronouncing the subsequent sentence expressly orders that they be served concurrently.

(5) However, in the case of consecutive sentences, all periods of total confinement shall be served before any partial confinement, community service, community supervision, or any other requirement or conditions of any of the sentences. Except for exceptional sentences as authorized under RCW 9.94A.120(2), if two or more sentences that run consecutively include periods of community supervision, the aggregate of the community supervision period shall not exceed twenty-four months.

Sec. 705. Section 4, chapter 252, Laws of 1989 and RCW 9.94A.120 are each amended to read as follows:

When a person is convicted of a felony, the court shall impose punishment as provided in this section.

(1) Except as authorized in subsections (2), (5), and (7) of this section, the court shall impose a sentence within the sentence range for the offense.

(2) The court may impose a sentence outside the standard sentence range for that offense if it finds, considering the purpose of this chapter, that there are substantial and compelling reasons justifying an exceptional sentence.

(3) Whenever a sentence outside the standard range is imposed, the court shall set forth the reasons for its decision in written findings of fact and conclusions of law. A sentence outside the standard range shall be a determinate sentence.

(4) An offender convicted of the crime of murder in the first degree shall be sentenced to a term of total confinement not less than twenty years. An offender convicted of the crime of assault in the first degree where the offender used force or means likely to result in death or intended to kill the victim shall be sentenced to a term of total confinement not less than five years. An offender convicted of the crime of rape in the first degree shall be sentenced to a term of total confinement not less than three years, and shall not be eligible for furlough, work release or other authorized leave of absence from the correctional facility during such minimum three year term except for the purpose of commitment to an inpatient treatment facility. The foregoing minimum terms of total confinement are mandatory and shall not be varied or modified as provided in subsection (2) of this section.

(5) In sentencing a first-time offender the court may waive the imposition of a sentence within the sentence range and impose a sentence which may include up to ninety days of confinement in a facility operated or utilized under contract by the county and a requirement that the offender refrain from committing new offenses. The sentence may also include up to two years of community supervision, which, in addition to crime-related prohibitions, may include requirements that the offender perform any one or more of the following:

(a) Devote time to a specific employment or occupation;

(b) Undergo available outpatient treatment for up to two years, or inpatient treatment not to exceed the standard range of confinement for that offense;

(c) Pursue a prescribed, secular course of study or vocational training;

(d) Remain within prescribed geographical boundaries and notify the court or the community corrections officer prior to any change in the offender's address or employment;

(e) Report as directed to the court and a community corrections officer; or

(f) Pay all court-ordered legal financial obligations as provided in RCW 9.94A.030 and/or perform community service work.

(6) If a sentence range has not been established for the defendant's crime, the court shall impose a determinate sentence which may include not more than one year of confinement, community service work, a term of community supervision not to exceed one year, and/or other legal financial obligations. The court may impose a sentence which provides more than one year of confinement if the court finds, considering the purpose of this chapter, that there are substantial and compelling reasons justifying an exceptional sentence.

(7)(a) (i) When an offender is convicted of a sex offense other than a violation of (~~RCW 9A.44.040 or~~) RCW 9A.44.050 or a sex offense that is also a serious violent offense and has no prior convictions for a sex offense or any other felony (~~sexual~~) sex offenses in this or any other state, the sentencing court, on its own motion or the motion of the state or the defendant, may order an examination to determine whether the defendant is amenable to treatment.

The report of the examination shall include at a minimum the following: The defendant's version of the facts and the official version of the facts, the defendant's offense history, an assessment of problems in addition to alleged deviant behaviors, the offender's social and employment situation, and other evaluation measures used. The report shall set forth the sources of the evaluator's information.

The examiner shall assess and report regarding the defendant's amenability to treatment and relative risk to the community. A proposed treatment plan shall be provided and shall include, at a minimum:

(A) Frequency and type of contact between offender and therapist;

(B) Specific issues to be addressed in the treatment and description of planned treatment modalities;

(C) Monitoring plans, including any requirements regarding living conditions, lifestyle requirements, and monitoring by family members and others;

(D) Anticipated length of treatment; and

(E) Recommended crime-related prohibitions.

The court on its own motion may order, or on a motion by the state shall order, a second examination regarding the offender's amenability to treatment. The evaluator shall be selected by the party making the motion.

(ii) After receipt of the reports, the court shall (~~then determine~~) consider whether the offender and the community will benefit from use of this special sexual offender sentencing alternative and consider the victim's opinion whether the offender should receive a treatment disposition under this subsection. If the court determines that (~~both the offender and the community will benefit from use of this provision~~) this special sex offender sentencing alternative is appropriate, the court shall then impose a sentence within the sentence range (~~and~~). If this sentence is less than ~~((str)) eight~~ years of confinement, the court may suspend the execution of the sentence and impose the following conditions of suspension:

(A) The court shall place the ((offender)) defendant on community supervision for ((up-to two)) the length of the suspended sentence or three years, whichever is greater; and

(B) The court shall order treatment for any period up to three years in duration. The court in its discretion shall order outpatient sex offender treatment or inpatient sex offender treatment, if available. A community mental health center may not be used for such treatment unless it has an appropriate program designed for sex offender treatment. The offender shall not change sex offender treatment providers or treatment conditions without first notifying the prosecutor, the community corrections officer, and the court, and shall not change providers without court approval after a hearing if the prosecutor or community corrections officer object to the change. In addition, as ((σ)) conditions of the suspended sentence, the court may impose other sentence conditions including up to six months of confinement, not to exceed the sentence range of confinement for that offense, crime-related prohibitions, and requirements that the offender perform any one or more of the following:

~~((#)) (I) Devote time to a specific employment or occupation;~~

~~((#)) Undergo available outpatient sex offender treatment for up to two years, or inpatient sex offender treatment not to exceed the standard range of confinement for that offense. A community mental health center may not be used for such treatment unless it has an appropriate program designed for sex offender treatment;~~

~~((#)) (II) Remain within prescribed geographical boundaries and notify the court or the community corrections officer prior to any change in the offender's address or employment;~~

~~((#)) (III) Report as directed to the court and a community corrections officer;~~

~~((#)) (IV) Pay all court-ordered legal financial obligations as provided in RCW 9.94A.030, perform community service work, or any combination thereof; or~~

~~((#)) (V) Make recoupment to the victim for the cost of any counseling required as a result of the offender's crime.~~

((ii)) The sex offender therapist shall submit quarterly reports on the defendant's progress in treatment to the court and the parties. The report shall reference the treatment plan and include at a minimum the following: Dates of attendance, defendant's compliance with requirements, treatment activities, the defendant's relative progress in treatment, and any other material as specified by the court at sentencing.

(iv) At the time of sentencing, the court shall set a treatment termination hearing for three months prior to the anticipated date for completion of treatment. Prior to the treatment termination hearing, the treatment professional and community corrections officer shall submit written reports to the court and parties regarding the defendant's compliance with treatment and monitoring requirements, and recommendations regarding termination from treatment, including proposed community supervision conditions. Either party may request and the court may order another evaluation regarding the advisability of termination from treatment. At the treatment termination hearing the court may: (A) Modify conditions of community supervision, and either (B) terminate treatment, or (C) extend treatment for up to the remaining period of community supervision.

(v) The court may revoke the suspended sentence at any time during the period of community supervision and order execution of the sentence if: (A) The ((offender)) defendant violates ((these sentence)) the conditions ((the court may revoke the suspension and order execution of the sentence)) of the suspended sentence, or (B) the court finds that the defendant is failing to make satisfactory progress in treatment. All confinement time served during the period of community supervision shall be credited to the offender if the suspended sentence is revoked.

(vi) After July 1, 1991, examinations and treatment ordered pursuant to this subsection shall only be conducted by sex offender treatment providers certified by the department of health pursuant to sections 709 through 716 of this 1990 act.

For purposes of this subsection, 'victim' means any person who has sustained emotional, psychological, physical, or financial injury to person or property as a result of the crime charged. 'Victim' also means a parent or guardian of a victim who is a minor child unless the parent or guardian is the perpetrator of the offense.

(b) When an offender is convicted of any felony ((sexual)) sex offense committed before July 1, 1987, and is sentenced to a term of confinement of more than one year but less than six years, the sentencing court may, on its own motion or on the motion of the offender or the state, order the offender committed for up to thirty days to the custody of the secretary of social and health services for evaluation and report to the court on the offender's amenability to treatment at these facilities. If the secretary of social and health services cannot begin the evaluation within thirty days of the court's order of commitment, the offender shall be transferred to the state for confinement pending an opportunity to be evaluated at the appropriate facility. The court shall review the reports and may order that the term of confinement imposed be served in the sexual offender treatment program at the location determined by the secretary of social and health services or the secretary's designee, only if the report indicates that the offender is amenable to the treatment program provided at these facilities. The offender shall be transferred to the state pending placement in the treatment program. Any offender who has escaped from the treatment program shall be referred back to the sentencing court.

If the offender does not comply with the conditions of the treatment program, the secretary of social and health services may refer the matter to the sentencing court. The sentencing court shall commit the offender to the department of corrections to serve the balance of the term of confinement.

If the offender successfully completes the treatment program before the expiration of the term of confinement, the court may convert the balance of confinement to community supervision and may place conditions on the offender including crime-related prohibitions and requirements that the offender perform any one or more of the following:

- (i) Devote time to a specific employment or occupation;
- (ii) Remain within prescribed geographical boundaries and notify the court or the community corrections officer prior to any change in the offender's address or employment;
- (iii) Report as directed to the court and a community corrections officer;
- (iv) Undergo available outpatient treatment.

If the offender violates any of the terms of community supervision, the court may order the offender to serve out the balance of the community supervision term in confinement in the custody of the department of corrections.

After June 30, 1993, this subsection (b) shall cease to have effect.

(c) When an offender commits any felony (~~(sexual)~~ sex offense on or after July 1, 1987, and is sentenced to a term of confinement of more than one year but less than six years, the sentencing court may, on its own motion or on the motion of the offender or the state, request the department of corrections to evaluate whether the offender is amenable to treatment and the department may place the offender in a treatment program within a correctional facility operated by the department.

Except for an offender who has been convicted of a violation of RCW 9A.44.040 or 9A.44.050, if the offender completes the treatment program before the expiration of his term of confinement, the department of corrections may request the court to convert the balance of confinement to community supervision and to place conditions on the offender including crime-related prohibitions and requirements that the offender perform any one or more of the following:

- (i) Devote time to a specific employment or occupation;
- (ii) Remain within prescribed geographical boundaries and notify the court or the community corrections officer prior to any change in the offender's address or employment;
- (iii) Report as directed to the court and a community corrections officer;
- (iv) Undergo available outpatient treatment.

If the offender violates any of the terms of his community supervision, the court may order the offender to serve out the balance of his community supervision term in confinement in the custody of the department of corrections.

Nothing in (c) of this subsection shall confer eligibility for such programs for offenders convicted and sentenced for a (~~(sexual)~~ sex offense committed prior to July 1, 1987. This subsection (c) does not apply to any crime committed after the effective date of this section.

(8) (a) When a court sentences a person to a term of total confinement to the custody of the department of corrections for an offense categorized as a sex offense(;) or a serious violent offense committed after July 1, 1988, but before July 1, 1990, assault in the second degree, any crime against a person where it is determined in accordance with RCW 9.94A.125 that the defendant or an accomplice was armed with a deadly weapon at the time of commission, or any felony offense under chapter 69.50 or 69.52 RCW, committed on or after July 1, 1988, the court shall in addition to the other terms of the sentence, sentence the offender to a one-year term of community placement beginning either upon completion of the term of confinement or at such time as the offender is transferred to community custody in lieu of earned early release in accordance with RCW 9.94A.150 (1) and (2). When the court sentences an offender under this (~~(section)~~ subsection) to the statutory maximum period of confinement then the community placement portion of the sentence shall consist entirely of such community custody to which the offender may become eligible, in accordance with RCW 9.94A.150 (1) and (2). Any period of community custody actually served shall be credited against the community placement portion of the sentence.

(b) (~~When a court sentences a person to a term of total confinement to the custody of the department of corrections for an offense categorized as a sex offense, a serious violent offense, assault in the second degree, any crime against a person where it is determined in accordance with RCW 9.94A.125 that the defendant or an accomplice was armed with a deadly weapon at the time of commission, or any felony offense under chapter 69.50 or 69.52 RCW, committed on or after July 1, 1988;)~~ When a court sentences a person to a term of total confinement to the custody of the department of corrections for an offense categorized as a sex offense or serious violent offense committed on or after July 1, 1990, the court shall in addition to other terms of the sentence, sentence the offender to community placement for two years or up to the period of earned early release awarded pursuant to RCW 9.94A.150 (1) and (2), whichever is longer. The community placement shall begin either upon completion of the term of confinement or at such time as the offender is transferred to community custody in lieu of earned early release in accordance with RCW 9.94A.150 (1) and (2). When the court sentences an offender under this subsection to the statutory maximum period of confinement then the community placement portion of the sentence shall consist entirely of the community custody to which the offender may become eligible, in accordance with RCW 9.94A.150 (1) and (2). Any period of community custody actually served shall be credited against the community placement portion of the sentence. Unless a condition is waived by the court, ~~((the sentence shall include, in addition to the other terms of the sentence, a one-year))~~ the terms of community placement ~~((on))~~ for offenders sentenced pursuant to this section shall include the following conditions:

(i) The offender shall report to and be available for contact with the assigned community corrections officer as directed;

(ii) The offender shall work at department of corrections-approved education, employment, and/or community service;

(iii) The offender shall not consume controlled substances except pursuant to lawfully issued prescriptions;

(iv) An offender in community custody shall not unlawfully possess controlled substances; and

(v) The offender shall pay supervision fees as determined by the department of corrections.

(c) The court may also order any of the following special conditions:

(i) The offender shall remain within, or outside of, a specified geographical boundary;

(ii) The offender shall not have direct or indirect contact with the victim of the crime or a specified class of individuals;

(iii) The offender shall participate in crime-related treatment or counseling services;

(iv) The offender shall not consume alcohol;

(v) The residence location and living arrangements of a sex offender shall be subject to the prior approval of the department of corrections; or

(vi) The offender shall comply with any crime-related prohibitions.

(d) Prior to transfer to, or during, community placement, any conditions of community placement may be removed or modified so as not to be more restrictive by the sentencing court, upon recommendation of the department of corrections.

(9) If the court imposes a sentence requiring confinement of thirty days or less, the court may, in its discretion, specify that the sentence be served on consecutive or intermittent days. A sentence requiring more than thirty days of confinement shall be served on consecutive days. Local jail administrators may schedule court-ordered intermittent sentences as space permits.

(10) If a sentence imposed includes payment of a legal financial obligation, the sentence shall specify the total amount of the legal financial obligation owed, and shall require the offender to pay a specified monthly sum toward that legal financial obligation. Restitution to victims shall be paid prior to any other payments of monetary obligations. Any legal financial obligation that is imposed by the court may be collected by the department, which shall deliver the amount paid to the county clerk for credit. The offender's compliance with payment of legal financial obligations shall be supervised by the department. All monetary payments ordered shall be paid no later than ten years after the last date of release from confinement pursuant to a felony conviction or the date the sentence was entered. Independent of the department, the party or entity to whom the legal financial obligation is owed shall have the authority to utilize any other remedies available to the party or entity to collect the legal financial obligation. Nothing in this section makes the department, the state, or any of its employees, agents, or other persons acting on their behalf liable under any circumstances for the payment of these legal financial obligations. If an order includes restitution as one of the monetary assessments, the county clerk shall make disbursements to victims named in the order.

(11) Except as provided under RCW 9.94A.140(1) and 9.94A.142(1), a court may not impose a sentence providing for a term of confinement or community supervision or community placement which exceeds the statutory maximum for the crime as provided in chapter 9A.20 RCW.

(12) All offenders sentenced to terms involving community supervision, community service, community placement, or legal financial obligation shall be under the supervision of the secretary of the department of corrections or such person as the secretary may designate and shall follow explicitly the instructions of the secretary including reporting as directed to a community corrections officer, remaining within prescribed geographical boundaries, and notifying the community corrections officer of any change in the offender's address or employment.

(13) The sentencing court shall give the offender credit for all confinement time served before the sentencing if that confinement was solely in regard to the offense for which the offender is being sentenced.

(14) A departure from the standards in RCW 9.94A.400(1) and (2) governing whether sentences are to be served consecutively or concurrently is an exceptional sentence subject to the limitations in subsections (2) and (3) of this section, and may be appealed by the defendant or the state as set forth in RCW 9.94A.210(2) through (6).

(15) The court shall order restitution whenever the offender is convicted of a felony that results in injury to any person or damage to or loss of property, whether the offender is sentenced to confinement or placed under community supervision, unless extraordinary circumstances exist that make restitution inappropriate in the court's judgment. The court shall set forth the extraordinary circumstances in the record if it does not order restitution.

(16) As a part of any sentence, the court may impose and enforce an order that relates directly to the circumstances of the crime for which the offender has been convicted, prohibiting the offender from having any contact with other specified individuals or a specific class of individuals for a period not to exceed the maximum allowable sentence for the crime, regardless of the expiration of the offender's term of community supervision or community placement.

(17) In any sentence of partial confinement, the court may require the defendant to serve the partial confinement in work release or in a program of home detention.

(18) All court-ordered legal financial obligations collected by the department and remitted to the county clerk shall be credited and paid where restitution is ordered. Restitution shall be paid prior to any other payments of monetary obligations.

Sec. 706. Section 103, chapter 271, Laws of 1989 and RCW 9.94A.360 are each amended to read as follows:

The offender score is measured on the horizontal axis of the sentencing grid. The offender score rules are as follows:

The offender score is the sum of points accrued under this section rounded down to the nearest whole number.

(1) A prior conviction is a conviction which exists before the date of sentencing for the offense for which the offender score is being computed. Convictions entered or sentenced on the same date as the conviction for which the offender score is being computed shall be deemed 'other current offenses' within the meaning of RCW 9.94A.400.

(2) Except as provided in subsection (4) of this section, class A and sex prior felony convictions shall always be included in the offender score. Class B prior felony convictions other than sex offenses shall not be included in the offender score, if since the last date of release from confinement (including full-time residential treatment) pursuant to a felony conviction, if any, or entry of judgment and sentence, the offender had spent ten consecutive years in the community without being convicted of any felonies. Class C prior felony convictions other than sex offenses shall not be included in the offender score if, since the last date of release from confinement (including full-time residential treatment) pursuant to a felony conviction, if any, or entry of judgment and sentence, the offender had spent five consecutive years in the community without being convicted of any felonies. Serious traffic convictions shall not be included in the offender score if, since the last date of release from confinement (including full-time residential treatment) pursuant to a felony conviction, if any, or entry of judgment and sentence, the offender spent five years in the community without being convicted of any serious traffic or felony traffic offenses. This subsection applies to both adult and juvenile prior convictions.

(3) Out-of-state convictions for offenses shall be classified according to the comparable offense definitions and sentences provided by Washington law.

(4) Always include juvenile convictions for sex offenses. Include other class A juvenile felonies only if the offender was 15 or older at the time the juvenile offense was committed. Include other class B and C juvenile felony convictions only if the offender was 15 or older at the time the juvenile offense was committed and the offender was less than 23 at the time the offense for which he or she is being sentenced was committed.

(5) Score prior convictions for felony anticipatory offenses (attempts, criminal solicitations, and criminal conspiracies) the same as if they were convictions for completed offenses.

(6) In the case of multiple prior convictions, for the purpose of computing the offender score, count all convictions separately, except:

(a) Prior adult offenses which were found, under RCW 9.94A.400(1)(a), to encompass the same criminal conduct, shall be counted as one offense, the offense that yields the highest offender score. The current sentencing court shall determine with respect to other prior adult offenses for which sentences were served concurrently whether those offenses shall be counted as one offense or as separate offenses, and if the court finds that they shall be counted as one offense, then the offense that yields the highest offender score shall be used;

(b) Juvenile prior convictions entered or sentenced on the same date shall count as one offense, the offense that yields the highest offender score, except for juvenile prior convictions for violent offenses with separate victims, which shall count as separate offenses; and

(c) In the case of multiple prior convictions for offenses committed before July 1, 1986, for the purpose of computing the offender score, count all adult convictions served concurrently as one offense, and count all juvenile convictions entered on the same date as one offense. Use the conviction for the offense that yields the highest offender score.

(7) If the present conviction is one of the anticipatory offenses of criminal attempt, solicitation, or conspiracy, count each prior conviction as if the present conviction were for a completed offense.

(8) If the present conviction is for a nonviolent offense and not covered by subsection (12) ~~((or))~~, (13), or (17) of this section, count one point for each adult prior felony conviction and one point for each juvenile prior violent felony conviction and 1/2 point for each juvenile prior nonviolent felony conviction.

(9) If the present conviction is for a violent offense and not covered in subsection (10), (11), (12), ~~((or))~~ (13), or (17) of this section, count two points for each prior adult and juvenile violent felony conviction, one point for each prior adult nonviolent felony conviction, and 1/2 point for each prior juvenile nonviolent felony conviction.

(10) If the present conviction is for Murder 1 or 2, Assault 1, Kidnaping 1, Homicide by Abuse, or Rape 1, count three points for prior adult and juvenile convictions for crimes in these categories, two points for each prior adult and juvenile violent conviction (not already counted), one point for each prior adult nonviolent felony conviction, and 1/2 point for each prior juvenile nonviolent felony conviction.

(11) If the present conviction is for Burglary 1, count prior convictions as in subsection (9) of this section; however count two points for each prior adult Burglary 2 or residential burglary conviction, and one point for each prior juvenile Burglary 2 or residential burglary conviction.

(12) If the present conviction is for a felony traffic offense count two points for each adult or juvenile prior conviction for Vehicular Homicide or Vehicular Assault; for each felony offense or serious traffic offense, count one point for each adult and 1/2 point for each juvenile prior conviction.

(13) If the present conviction is for a drug offense count three points for each adult prior felony drug offense conviction and two points for each juvenile drug offense. All other adult and juvenile felonies are scored as in subsection (9) of this section if the current drug offense is violent, or as in subsection (8) of this section if the current drug offense is nonviolent.

(14) If the present conviction is for Willful Failure to Return from Furlough, RCW 72.66.060, or Willful Failure to Return from Work Release, RCW 72.65.070, count only prior escape convictions in the offender score. Count adult prior escape convictions as one point and juvenile prior escape convictions as 1/2 point.

(15) If the present conviction is for Escape 1, RCW 9A.76.110, or Escape 2, RCW 9A.76.120, count adult prior convictions as one point and juvenile prior convictions as 1/2 point.

(16) If the present conviction is for Burglary 2 or residential burglary, count priors as in subsection (8) of this section; however, count two points for each adult and juvenile prior Burglary 1 conviction, two points for each adult prior Burglary 2 or residential burglary conviction, and one point for each juvenile prior Burglary 2 or residential burglary conviction.

(17) If the present conviction is for a sex offense, count three points for each adult and juvenile prior sex offense conviction.

(18) If the present conviction is for an offense committed while the offender was under community placement, add one point.

Sec. 707. Section 24, chapter 137, Laws of 1981 as last amended by section 1, chapter 259, Laws of 1989 and RCW 9.95.009 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) On July 1, 1986, the board of prison terms and paroles shall be redesignated as the indeterminate ~~(sentencing)~~ sentencing review board. The board's membership shall be reduced as follows: On July 1, 1986, and on July 1st of each year until 1998, the number of board members shall be reduced in a manner commensurate with the board's remaining workload as determined by the office of financial management based upon its population forecast for the indeterminate sentencing system and in conjunction with the budget process. To meet the statutory obligations of the indeterminate sentencing review board, the number of board members shall not be reduced to fewer than three members, although the office of financial management may designate some or all members as part-time members and specify the extent to which they shall be less than full-time members. Any reduction shall take place by the expiration, on that date, of the term or terms having the least time left to serve.

(2) After July 1, 1984, the board shall continue its functions with respect to persons convicted of crimes committed prior to July 1, 1984, and committed to the department of corrections. When making decisions on duration of confinement, including those relating to persons committed under a mandatory life sentence, and parole release under RCW 9.95.100 and 9.95.110, the board shall consider the purposes, standards, and sentencing ranges adopted pursuant to RCW 9.94A.040 and the minimum term recommendations of the sentencing judge and prosecuting attorney, and shall attempt to make decisions reasonably consistent with those ranges, standards, purposes, and recommendations: PROVIDED, That the board and its successors shall give adequate written reasons whenever a minimum term or parole release decision is made which is outside the sentencing ranges adopted pursuant to RCW 9.94A.040. In making such decisions, the board and its successors shall consider the different charging and disposition practices under the indeterminate sentencing system.

(3) Notwithstanding the provisions of subsection (2) of this section, the indeterminate sentencing review board shall give public safety considerations the highest priority when making all discretionary decisions on the remaining indeterminate population regarding the ability for parole, parole release, and conditions of parole.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 708. A new section is added to chapter 72.09 RCW to read as follows:

In making all discretionary decisions regarding supervision of sexually violent offenders, the department of corrections shall set priorities and make decisions based on an assessment of public safety risks rather than the legal category of the sentences.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 709. The legislature finds that sex offender therapists who examine and treat sex offenders pursuant to the special sexual offender sentencing alternative under RCW 9.94A.120(7)(a) and who may treat juvenile sex offenders pursuant to section 302 of this act, play a vital role in protecting the public from sex offenders who remain in the community following conviction. The legislature finds that the qualifications, practices, techniques, and effectiveness of sex offender treatment providers vary widely and that the court's ability to effectively determine the appropriateness of granting the sentencing alternative and monitoring the offender to ensure continued protection of the community is undermined by a lack of regulated practices. The legislature recognizes the right of sex offender therapists to practice, consistent with the paramount requirements of public safety. Public safety is best served by regulating sex offender therapists whose clients are being evaluated and being treated pursuant to RCW 9.94A.120(7)(a) and section 302 of this act. This chapter shall be construed to require only those sex offender therapists who examine and treat sex offenders pursuant to RCW 9.94A.120(7)(a) and section 302 of this act to obtain a sexual offender treatment certification as provided in this chapter.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 710. Unless the context clearly requires otherwise, the definitions in this section apply throughout this chapter:

(1) 'Certified sex offender treatment provider' means a licensed, certified, or registered health professional who is certified to examine and treat sex offenders pursuant to RCW 9.94A.120(7)(a) and section 302 of this act.

(2) 'Department' means the department of health.

(3) 'Secretary' means the secretary of health.

(4) 'Sex offender treatment provider' means a person who counsels or treats sex offenders accused of or convicted of a sex offense as defined by RCW 9.94A.030.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 711. (1) No person shall represent himself or herself as a certified sex offender treatment provider without first applying for and receiving a certificate pursuant to this chapter.

(2) Only a certified sex offender treatment provider may perform or provide the following services:

(a) Evaluations conducted for the purposes of and pursuant to RCW 9.94A.120(7)(a) and section 302 of this act;

(b) Treatment of convicted sex offenders who are sentenced and ordered into treatment pursuant to RCW 9.94A.120(7)(a) and adjudicated juvenile sex offenders who are ordered into treatment pursuant to section 302 of this act.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 712. In addition to any other authority provided by law, the secretary shall have the following authority:

(1) To set all fees required in this chapter in accordance with RCW 43.70.250;

(2) To establish forms necessary to administer this chapter;

(3) To issue a certificate to any applicant who has met the education, training, and examination requirements for certification and deny a certificate to applicants who do not meet the minimum qualifications for certification. Proceedings concerning the denial of certificates based on unprofessional conduct or impaired practice shall be governed by the uniform disciplinary act, chapter 18.130 RCW;

(4) To hire clerical, administrative, and investigative staff as needed to implement and administer this chapter and to hire individuals including those certified under this chapter to serve as examiners or consultants as necessary to implement and administer this chapter;

(5) To maintain the official department record of all applicants and certifications;

(6) To conduct a hearing on an appeal of a denial of a certificate on the applicant's failure to meet the minimum qualifications for certification. The hearing shall be conducted pursuant to chapter 34.05 RCW;

(7) To issue subpoenas, statements of charges, statements of intent to deny certificates, and orders and to delegate in writing to a designee the authority to issue subpoenas, statements of charges, and statements of intent to deny certificates;

(8) To determine the minimum education, work experience, and training requirements for certification, including but not limited to approval of educational programs;

(9) To prepare and administer or approve the preparation and administration of examinations for certification;

(10) To establish by rule the procedure for appeal of an examination failure;

(11) To adopt rules implementing a continuing competency program;

(12) To adopt rules in accordance with chapter 34.05 RCW as necessary to implement this chapter.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 713. (1) The sexual offender treatment providers advisory committee is established to advise the secretary concerning the administration of this chapter.

(2) The secretary shall appoint the members of the advisory committee who shall consist of the following persons:

- (a) One superior court judge;
- (b) Three sexual offender treatment providers;
- (c) One mental health practitioner who specializes in treating victims of sexual assault;
- (d) One defense attorney with experience in representing persons charged with sexual offenses;

- (e) One representative from the Washington association of prosecuting attorneys;
- (f) The secretary of the department of social and health services or his or her designee;
- (g) The secretary of the department of corrections or his or her designee.

The secretary shall develop and implement the certification procedures with the advice of the committee by July 1, 1991. Following implementation of these procedures by the secretary, the committee shall be a permanent body. The members shall serve staggered six-year terms, to be set by the secretary. No person other than the members representing the departments of social and health services and corrections may serve more than two consecutive terms.

The secretary may remove any member of the advisory committee for cause as specified by rule. In a case of a vacancy, the secretary shall appoint a person to serve for the remainder of the unexpired term.

(3) Committee members shall be reimbursed for travel expenses in accordance with RCW 43.03.050 and 43.03.060.

(4) The committee shall elect officers as deemed necessary to administer its duties. A simple majority of the committee members currently serving shall constitute a quorum of the committee.

(5) Members of the advisory committee shall be residents of this state. The members who are sex offender treatment providers must have a minimum of three years of extensive work experience in treating sex offenders to qualify for appointment to the initial committee, which shall develop and implement the certification program. After July 1, 1991, the sex offender treatment providers on the committee must be certified pursuant to this chapter.

(6) The committee shall meet at times as necessary to conduct committee business.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 714. The secretary, members of the committee, and individuals acting on their behalf are immune from suit in any action, civil or criminal, based on any acts performed in the course of their duties.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 715. The department shall issue a certificate to any applicant who meets the following requirements:

- (1) Successful completion of an educational program approved by the secretary or successful completion of alternate training which meets the criteria of the secretary;
- (2) Successful completion of any experience requirement established by the secretary;
- (3) Successful completion of an examination administered or approved by the secretary;
- (4) Not having engaged in unprofessional conduct or being unable to practice with reasonable skill and safety as a result of a physical or mental impairment;
- (5) Other requirements as may be established by the secretary that impact the competence of the sex offender treatment provider.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 716. The secretary shall establish by rule standards and procedures for approval of the following:

- (1) Educational programs and alternate training;
- (2) Examination procedures;
- (3) Certifying applicants who have a comparable certification in another jurisdiction;
- (4) Application method and forms;
- (5) Requirements for renewals of certificates;
- (6) Requirements of certified sex offender treatment providers who seek inactive status;
- (7) Other rules as appropriate to carry out the purposes of this chapter.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 717. Sections 709 through 716 of this act shall constitute a new chapter in Title 18 RCW.

PART VIII ENHANCED PENALTIES

Sec. 801. Section 5, chapter 14, Laws of 1975 1st ex. sess. as last amended by section 1, chapter 146, Laws of 1988 and RCW 9A.44.050 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) A person is guilty of rape in the second degree when, under circumstances not constituting rape in the first degree, the person engages in sexual intercourse with another person:

- (a) By forcible compulsion;
- (b) When the victim is incapable of consent by reason of being physically helpless or mentally incapacitated; or
- (c) When the victim is developmentally disabled and the perpetrator is a person who is not married to the victim and who has supervisory authority over the victim.

(2) Rape in the second degree is a class (B) A felony.

Sec. 802. Section 5, chapter 145, Laws of 1988 and RCW 9A.44.083 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) A person is guilty of child molestation in the first degree when the person has sexual contact with another who is less than twelve years old and not married to the perpetrator and the perpetrator is at least thirty-six months older than the victim.

(2) Child molestation in the first degree is a class (B) A felony.

Sec. 803. Section 3, chapter 145, Laws of 1988 and RCW 9A.44.076 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) A person is guilty of rape of a child in the second degree when the person has sexual intercourse with another who is at least twelve years old but less than fourteen years old and not married to the perpetrator and the perpetrator is at least thirty-six months older than the victim.

(2) Rape of a child in the second degree is a class (B) A felony.

Sec. 804. Section 9A.88.010, chapter 260, Laws of 1975 1st ex. sess. as amended by section 1, chapter 277, Laws of 1987 and RCW 9A.88.010 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) A person is guilty of indecent exposure if he intentionally makes any open and obscene exposure of his person or the person of another knowing that such conduct is likely to cause reasonable affront or alarm.

(2) Indecent exposure is a misdemeanor unless such person exposes himself to a person under the age of fourteen years in which case indecent exposure is a gross misdemeanor on the first offense and, if such person has previously been convicted under this subsection or of a sex offense as defined in RCW 9.94A.030, then such person is guilty of a class C felony punishable under chapter 9A.20 RCW.

PART IX CIVIL COMMITMENT

NEW SECTION. Sec. 901. The legislature finds that a small but extremely dangerous group of sexually violent predators exist who do not have a mental disease or defect that renders them appropriate for the existing involuntary treatment act, chapter 71.05 RCW, which is intended to be a short-term civil commitment system that is primarily designed to provide short-term treatment to individuals with serious mental disorders and then return them to the community. In contrast to persons appropriate for civil commitment under chapter 71.05 RCW, sexually violent predators generally have antisocial personality features which are unamenable to existing mental illness treatment modalities and those features render them likely to engage in sexually violent behavior. The legislature further finds that sex offenders' likelihood of engaging in repeat acts of predatory sexual violence is high. The existing involuntary commitment act, chapter 71.05 RCW, is inadequate to address the risk to reoffend because during confinement these offenders do not have access to potential victims and therefore they will not engage in an overt act during confinement as required by the involuntary treatment act for continued confinement. The legislature further finds that the prognosis for curing sexually violent offenders is poor, the treatment needs of this population are very long term, and the treatment modalities for this population are very different than the traditional treatment modalities for people appropriate for commitment under the involuntary treatment act.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 902. Unless the context clearly requires otherwise, the definitions in this section apply throughout this chapter.

(1) 'Sexually violent predator' means any person who has been convicted of or charged with a crime of sexual violence and who suffers from a mental abnormality which makes the person likely to engage in predatory acts of sexual violence.

(2) 'Mental abnormality' means a congenital or acquired condition affecting the emotional or volitional capacity which predisposes the person to the commission of criminal sexual acts in a degree constituting such person a menace to the health and safety of others.

(3) 'Predatory' means acts directed towards strangers or individuals with whom a relationship has been established or promoted for the primary purpose of victimization.

(4) 'Sexually violent offense' means: (a) An act defined in Title 9A RCW as rape in the first degree, rape in the second degree by forcible compulsion, rape of a child in the first or second degree, statutory rape in the first or second degree, indecent liberties by forcible compulsion, indecent liberties against a child under age fourteen, incest against a child under age fourteen, or child molestation in the first or second degree; (b) any conviction for a felony offense in effect at any time prior to the effective date of this section, that is comparable to a sexually violent offense as defined in subsection (4)(a) of this section, or any federal or out-of-state conviction for a felony offense that under the laws of this state would be a sexually violent offense as defined in this subsection; or (c) any act of murder in the first or second degree, assault in the first or second degree, kidnapping in the first or second degree, burglary in the first degree, residential burglary, or unlawful imprisonment, which act, either at the time of sentencing for the offense or subsequently during civil commitment proceedings pursuant to this section, has been determined beyond a reasonable doubt to have been sexually motivated, as that term is defined in section 602 of this act; or, as described in chapter 9A.28 RCW, is an attempt, criminal solicitation, or criminal conspiracy to commit one of the felonies designated in (a), (b), or (c) of this subsection.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 903. When it appears that: (1) The sentence of a person who has been convicted of a sexually violent offense is about to or has expired at any time in the past; (2) the term of confinement of a person found to have committed a sexually violent offense as a juvenile is about to or has expired; (3) a person who has been charged with a sexually violent offense and has been determined to be incompetent to stand trial is about to be or has been released pursuant to RCW 10.77.090(3); or (4) a person who has been found not guilty by reason of insanity of a sexually violent offense is about to be released pursuant to RCW 10.77.020(3); and it appears that the person may be a sexually violent predator, the prosecuting attorney of the county where the person was convicted or charged or the attorney general if requested by the prosecuting attorney may file a petition alleging that the person is a 'sexually violent predator' and stating sufficient facts to support such allegation.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 904. Upon the filing of a petition under section 903 of this act, the judge shall determine whether probable cause exists to believe that the person named in the petition is a sexually violent predator. If such determination is made the judge shall direct that the person be taken into custody and the person shall be transferred to an appropriate facility for an evaluation as to whether the person is a sexually violent predator. The evaluation shall be conducted by a person deemed to be professionally qualified to conduct such an examination pursuant to rules developed by the department of social and health services. In adopting such rules, the department of social and health services shall consult with the department of health and the department of corrections.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 905. Within forty-five days after the filing of a petition pursuant to section 903 of this act, the court shall conduct a trial to determine whether the person is a sexually violent predator. At all stages of the proceedings under this chapter, any person subject to this chapter shall be entitled to the assistance of counsel, and if the person is indigent, the court shall appoint counsel to assist him or her. Whenever any person is subjected to an examination under this chapter, he or she may retain experts or professional persons to perform an examination on their behalf. When the person wishes to be examined by a qualified expert or professional person of his or her own choice, such examiner shall be permitted to have reasonable access to the person for the purpose of such examination, as well as to all relevant medical and psychological records and reports. In the case of a person who is indigent, the court shall, upon the person's request, assist the person in obtaining an expert or professional person to perform an examination or participate in the trial on the person's behalf. The person, the prosecuting attorney or attorney general, or the judge shall have the right to demand that the trial be before a jury. If no demand is made, the trial shall be before the court.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 906. (1) The court or jury shall determine whether, beyond a reasonable doubt, the person is a sexually violent predator. If the state alleges that the prior sexually violent offense that forms the basis for the petition for commitment was an act that was sexually motivated as provided in section 902(3)(c) of this act, the state must prove beyond a reasonable doubt that the alleged sexually violent act was sexually motivated as defined in section 602 of this act. If the court or jury determines that the person is a sexually violent predator, the person shall be committed to the custody of the department of social and health services in a secure facility for control, care, and treatment until such time as the person's mental abnormality or personality disorder has so changed that the person is safe to be at large. Such control, care, and treatment shall be provided at a facility operated by the department of social and health services. If the court or jury is not satisfied beyond a reasonable doubt that the person is a sexually violent predator, the court shall direct the person's release.

(2) If the person charged with a sexually violent offense has been found incompetent to stand trial, and is about to or has been released pursuant to RCW 10.77.090(3), and his or her commitment is sought pursuant to subsection (1) of this section, the court shall first hear evidence and determine whether the person did commit the act or acts charged if the court did not enter a finding prior to dismissal under RCW 10.77.090(3) that the person committed the act or acts charged. The hearing on this issue must comply with all the procedures specified in this section. In addition, the rules of evidence applicable in criminal cases shall apply, and all constitutional rights available to defendants at criminal trials, other than the right not to be tried while incompetent, shall apply. After hearing evidence on this issue, the court shall make specific findings on whether the person did commit the act or acts charged, the extent to which the person's incompetence or developmental disability affected the outcome of the hearing, including its effect on the person's ability to consult with and assist counsel and to testify on his or her own behalf, the extent to which the evidence could be reconstructed without the assistance of the person, and the strength of the prosecution's case. If, after the conclusion of the hearing on this issue, the court finds, beyond a reasonable doubt, that the person did commit the act or acts charged, it shall enter a final order, appealable by the person, on that issue, and may proceed to consider whether the person should be committed pursuant to this section.

(3) The state shall comply with RCW 10.77.220 while confining the person pursuant to this chapter.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 907. Each person committed under this chapter shall have a current examination of his or her mental condition made at least once every year. The person may retain, or if he or she is indigent and so requests, the court may appoint a qualified expert or a professional person to examine him or her, and such expert or professional person shall have access to all records concerning the person. The periodic report shall be provided to the court that committed the person under this chapter.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 908. Each person involuntarily detained or committed under this chapter shall have the right to adequate care and individualized treatment.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 909. (1) If the secretary of the department of social and health services determines that the person's mental abnormality or personality disorder has so changed that the person is not likely to commit predatory acts of sexual violence if released, the secretary shall authorize the person to petition the court for release. The petition shall be served upon the court and the prosecuting attorney. The court, upon receipt of the petition for release, shall within forty-five days order a hearing. The prosecuting attorney or the attorney general, if requested by the county, shall represent the state, and shall have the right to have the petitioner examined by an expert or professional person of his or her choice. The hearing shall be before a jury if demanded by either the petitioner or the prosecuting attorney or attorney general. The burden of proof shall be upon the prosecuting attorney or attorney general to show beyond a reasonable doubt that the petitioner's mental abnormality or personality disorder remains such that the petitioner is not safe to be at large and that if discharged is likely to commit predatory acts of sexual violence.

(2) Nothing contained in this chapter shall prohibit the person from otherwise petitioning the court for discharge without the secretary's approval. The secretary shall provide the committed person with an annual written notice of the person's right to petition the court for release over the secretary's objection. The notice shall contain a waiver of rights. The secretary shall forward the notice and waiver form to the court with the annual report. If the person does not affirmatively waive the right to petition, the court shall set a show cause hearing to determine whether facts exist that warrant a hearing on whether the person's condition has so changed that he or she is safe to be at large. The committed person shall have a right to have an attorney represent him or her at the show cause hearing but the person is not entitled to be present at the show cause hearing. If the court at the show cause hearing determines that probable cause exists to believe that the person's mental abnormality has so changed that the person is safe to be at large and will not engage in acts of sexual violence if discharged, then the court shall set a hearing on the issue. At the hearing, the committed person shall be entitled to be present and to the benefit of all constitutional protections that were afforded to the person at the initial commitment proceeding. The prosecuting attorney or the attorney general if requested by the county shall represent the state and shall have a right to a jury trial and to have the committed person evaluated by experts chosen by the state. The committed person shall also have the right to have experts evaluate him or her on his or her behalf and the court shall appoint an expert if the person is indigent and requests an appointment. The burden of proof at the hearing shall be upon the state to prove beyond a reasonable doubt that the committed person's mental abnormality or personality disorder remains such that the person is not safe to be at large and if released will engage in acts of sexual violence.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 910. Nothing in this chapter shall prohibit a person from filing a petition for discharge pursuant to this chapter. However, if a person has previously filed a petition for discharge without the secretary's approval and the court determined, either upon review of the petition or following a hearing, that the petitioner's petition was frivolous or that the petitioner's condition had not so changed that he or she was safe to be at large, then the court shall deny the subsequent petition unless the petition contains facts upon which a court could find that the condition of the petitioner had so changed that a hearing was warranted. Upon receipt of a first or subsequent petition from committed persons without the secretary's approval, the court shall endeavor whenever possible to review the petition and determine if the petition is based upon frivolous grounds and if so shall deny the petition without a hearing.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 911. The department of social and health services shall be responsible for all costs relating to the evaluation and treatment of persons committed to their custody under any provision of this chapter. Reimbursement may be obtained by the department for the cost of care and treatment of persons committed to its custody pursuant to RCW 43.20B.330 through 43.20B.370.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 912. In addition to any other information required to be released under this chapter, the department is authorized, pursuant to sections 116 through 118 of this act, to release relevant information that is necessary to protect the public, concerning a specific sexually violent predator committed under this chapter.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 913. Sections 901 through 912 of this act shall constitute a new chapter in Title 71 RCW.

"CRIME VICTIM SERVICES

NEW SECTION. Sec. 1101. The legislature finds and declares that the state has a moral responsibility to aid innocent victims of crime. It is the intent of the legislature that the state should provide sufficient assistance to victims of crime and their families in order to ease their financial and emotional burden and to maintain their dignity as they go through a difficult and often traumatic period. The legislature also recognizes that although society places a high value on providing services to and advocating for the rights of victims of crime, services are currently scattered throughout state government often creating confusion and inequities and that there exists no one voice advocating for the rights of victims of crime. It is the intent of the legislature to transfer crime victim related programs from the departments of labor and industries and social and health services and to consolidate services to victims of crime in the office of crime victim services as a means of enhancing and improving those services as well as providing a centralized advocate for the rights of victims of crime.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 1102. The attorney general is hereby directed to establish an office of crime victim services. The director of the office of crime victim services shall be appointed by the attorney general and shall be exempt from the provisions of chapter 41.06 RCW. The office shall:

- (2) Administer grants to domestic violence shelters and sexual assault programs as established by chapters 70.123 and 70.125 RCW;
- (3) Conduct state-wide public education and awareness programs regarding victimization, crime prevention, and crime victim services;

(4) Provide training assistance to county victim/witness assistance programs, law enforcement agencies, and others providing direct services to crime victims;

(5) Respond to citizen concerns regarding victim issues;

(6) Coordinate all state crime victim services;

(7) Advocate on behalf of victim services and rights;

(8) Recommend to the legislature additions or modifications to existing crime victim services as needed to enhance or improve services;

(9) Study and report to the legislature by January 1992 on the application of Senate Joint Resolution No. 8200; and

(10) Provide annual reports to the legislature beginning January 1992 through January 1995 regarding the functioning of the office.

(5) Upon submission to the office of a letter of intent to adopt a comprehensive program, the prosecuting attorney shall retain the money deposited by the county under subsection (4) of this section until such time as the county prosecuting attorney has obtained approval of a program from the office. Approval of the comprehensive plan by the office must be obtained within one year of the date of the letter of intent to adopt a comprehensive program. The county prosecuting attorney shall not make any expenditures from the money deposited under subsection (4) of this section until approval of a comprehensive plan by the office. If a county prosecuting attorney has failed to obtain approval of a program from the office under subsection (4) of this section or failed to obtain approval of a comprehensive program within one year after submission of a letter of intent under this section, the county treasurer shall monthly transmit one hundred percent of the money deposited by the county under subsection (4) of this section to the state treasurer for deposit in the public safety and education account established under RCW 43.08.250.

Sec. 1107. Section 5, chapter 122, Laws of 1973 1st ex. sess. as last amended by section 3, chapter 156, Laws of 1980 and RCW 7.68.050 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) No right of action at law for damages incurred as a consequence of a criminal act shall be lost as a consequence of being entitled to benefits under the provisions of this chapter. The victim or his or her beneficiary may elect to seek damages from the person or persons liable for the claimed injury or death, and such victim or beneficiary is entitled to the full compensation and benefits provided by this chapter regardless of any election or recovery made pursuant to this section.

In making determinations as to reasonable time limits, the office shall give greatest weight to the needs of the victim.

(2) Because victims of childhood criminal acts may repress conscious memory of such criminal acts far beyond the age of majority, the rights of adult victims of childhood criminal acts are deemed to accrue at the time the victim discovers or reasonable should have discovered the elements of the crime. In making determinations as to reasonable time limits, the office shall give greatest weight to the needs of the victim.

POINT OF INQUIRY

Mr. Vekich yielded to question by Mr. Smith.

Mr. Smith: Representative Vekich, as Chairman of the House Committee on Commerce & Labor, you will recall that concern was expressed about our intent in describing equipment dealers who would be covered under this agricultural equipment dealers franchise act. Specifically, there was concern expressed on behalf of the automobile and motorcycle manufacturers and dealers because of the language on page 1, line 17, defining equipment as "machines designed for or adapted and used for agriculture, horticulture, livestock, or grazing use." It is my understanding that that language was not intended to cause automobile dealers and manufacturers, and motorcycle dealers and manufacturers, to be covered under this act. I would appreciate your confirmation of the intent of the legislation as it relates to the motor vehicle and motorcycle dealers and manufacturers, who are already covered under their franchise laws.

Mr. Vekich: Thank you, Representative Smith. You are right. We did talk about this in committee, and we did agree that it was not the intent of our committee, or even in our opinion of the legislation, to cover motor vehicle or motorcycle dealers and manufacturers. As you just stated, they are already covered under separate franchise law. I trust this should clarify any legislative intent questions that arise. Thank you.

POINT OF INQUIRY

Mr. Cooper: Yes.

Mr. Ferguson: One further question, if I might. Is this because a public utility district acts in its proprietary or business capacity when it negotiates the terms of employment with its general manager and because of the express mandate for liberal construction of public utility district powers found in the public utility district initiative, originally enacted by the voters in 1931, and also found in RCW 54.44.900?

Establishing a state-wide adopt-a-highway litter control program.

The bill was read the second time.

Ms. Walker moved adoption of the following amendment by Representatives Walker and R. Fisher:

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. The legislature finds that despite the efforts of the department of transportation, the department of ecology, and the ecology youth corps to pick up litter along state highways, roadside litter in Washington state has increased by thirty-six percent since 1983. The legislature further finds that in twenty-seven states, volunteer organizations are able to give of their time and energy, demonstrate commitment to a clean environment, and discourage would-be litterers by keeping sections of highway litter free because those states have established programs to encourage and recognize such voluntary efforts. Therefore, it is the legislature's intent to establish an 'adopt-a-highway' litter control program as a partnership between citizen volunteers and the state to reduce roadside litter and build civic pride in a litter-free Washington.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. A new section is added to chapter 47.40 RCW to read as follows:

(1) The department of transportation shall establish a state-wide adopt-a-highway litter control program whereby volunteer organizations may contribute to a cleaner environment and a more attractive state by adopting sections of state highway and picking up litter along those sections.

An organization whose name: (a) Endorses or opposes a particular candidate for public office, (b) advocates a position on a specific political issue, initiative, referendum, or piece of legislation, or (c) includes a reference to a political party shall not be eligible to participate in the adopt-a-highway program.

(2) In administering the adopt-a-highway, the department shall:

(a) Provide a standardized application form, registration form, and contractual agreement for all volunteer groups. Such forms shall notify the prospective participants of the risks and responsibilities to be assumed by either the department and/or the volunteer groups:

(b) Require all volunteers to be at least fifteen years of age;

(c) Require parental consent for all minors;

(d) Require at least one volunteer adult supervisor for every eight minors;

(e) Require one designated leader for each volunteer organization;

(f) Assign each volunteer organization a section of state highway for a specified period of time;

(g) Recognize the efforts of a participating organization by erecting and maintaining signs with the organization's name on both ends of the organization's section of highway;

(h) Provide appropriate safety equipment and 'Volunteer Litter Crew Ahead' signs. Safety equipment, other than hardhats, issued to volunteer organizations must be returned to the department after each use for reuse by other volunteer groups:

(i) Provide safety training for all volunteers;

(j) Pay any and all premiums or assessments required under RCW 51.12.035 to secure medical aid benefits under chapter 51.36 RCW for all volunteers participating in the program;

(k) Maintain records of all injuries and accidents that occur;

(l) Adopt rules which establish a process to resolve any question of an organization's eligibility to participate in the adopt-a-highway program; and

(m) Establish procedures and guidelines for the adopt-a-highway program."

With consent of the House, the following amendment by Representatives Walker and R. Fisher to the title was adopted:

On page 1, line 1 of the title, after "control;" strike the remainder of the title and insert "adding a new section to chapter 47.40 RCW; and creating a new section."

SECOND READING

HOUSE BILL NO. 2569, by Representatives Sprenkle, Walker, Valle, D. Sommers, Rust, May, Brekke, G. Fisher, Pruitt, Fraser, Spanel and Todd

Modifying provisions relating to oil recycling.

The bill was read the second time. On motion of Ms. Rust, Substitute House Bill No. 2569 was substituted for House Bill No. 2569, and the substitute bill was placed on the second reading calendar.

Substitute House Bill No. 2569 was read the second time.

Mr. May moved adoption of the following amendments by Representative Schoon:

On page 3, line 30, after "until" strike "July 1, 1991" and insert "July 1, 1992"

On page 3, line 33, after "AS OF" strike "JULY 1, 1991" and insert "JULY 1, 1992"

Representatives May and Schoon spoke in favor of adoption of the amendments, and Ms. Rust spoke against them.

POINT OF INQUIRY

Mr. Schoon yielded to question by Ms. Hine.

Ms. Hine: Representative Schoon, are these kits ultimately recyclable?

Mr. Schoon: The manufacturer had a program with Schuck's which would collect them and would recycle them and that was supposed to be in effect as of July 1, 1990. Schuck's has been advised that the company in California, that has the equipment, is not willing to come up and put a pilot program here in Washington. They have identified fifteen Schuck's stores that would collect these kits. They are hopeful that the company in California will see to it to make the investment and bring the equipment up here. As of right now, we don't have any equipment in Washington that can recycle the oil out of these kits, although they are doing it in California. Hopefully, this extension of time would be enough to get a manufacturer up here to put in the centrifuge, that spins the oil out of the fiber with a very precise micro-screen. But, as of today, no.

The amendments were not adopted.

On motion of Mr. Ebersole, the rules were suspended, the second reading considered the third, and the bill was placed on final passage.

Representatives Sprenkle and Schoon spoke in favor of passage of the bill, and Mr. Grant opposed it.

MOTION

Mr. Ebersole moved that the House defer consideration of House Bill No. 2606 and that the bill hold its place on the second reading calendar. The motion was carried.

HOUSE BILL NO. 2638, by Representatives Inslee, Dellwo, Chandler, Crane, R. King, Brekke and Rector

Revising provisions for sale and renewal of automobile insurance.

The bill was read the second time. Committee on Financial Institutions & Insurance recommendation: Majority, do pass as amended. (For committee amendment, see Journal, 17th Day, January 24, 1990.)

On motion of Mr. Dellwo, the committee amendment was adopted.

Mr. Inslee moved adoption of the following amendment:
On page 2, line 29, strike "fifty" and insert "twenty-five"

Mr. Inslee spoke in favor of adoption of the amendment.

POINT OF INQUIRY

Mr. Inslee yielded to question by Mr. May.

Mr. May: Representative Inslee, in changing from fifty to twenty-five, or not, how do we determine that it is actually twenty-five percent responsible? What method is used to determine this?

Mr. Inslee: Two ways. One, if there were any litigation about the accident, then the court would have a record of that. Secondly, and obviously more frequently, a person would talk to the insurance agent and describe the accident. At that point there is a pretty good idea whether or not there was diminimus fault or any significant degree of fault. There is no way to realistically have an evaluation by a court in every incident. The only way it is going to become a problem is if one carrier decides to ignore the statute; then the Insurance Commissioner's office could become involved. That will happen very, very infrequently.

Mr. May spoke in favor of adoption of the amendment, and it was adopted.

Mr. Chandler moved adoption of the following amendments:

On page 3, line 6, after "policy" strike "or increase the rate to be charged for such a policy"

REMARKS BY REPRESENTATIVE SAYAN

Mr. Sayan: Thank you, Mr. Speaker and members of the House. My remarks will be brief. I want, first, to thank Representative John Moyer for his courage--without which we would not be here--for his direction and his leadership and, frankly, his support. John is willing to take the heat, and I am always willing to let him have it. In all sincerity, I have not met anyone whose convictions are stronger or carried him further than John's do for him.

If the Children's Initiative left us with one clear signal last ballot time, it was that the services that we are to provide for Aid For Dependent Children must be of direct benefit to needy children, all one hundred and forty-two thousand of them under AFDC by our latest count. Now the bipartisan measure before us does exactly that. The grant arrives today, and tomorrow it pays for rent and buys food. It helps out the food bank because, when the check arrives, they get a little respite.

I want to suggest to you that this is a moment that we can share together and, with the permission of the Speaker and the body, I would like to read a few short sentences from the remarks that were presented to us today by The Reverend John Boonstra, Executive Minister of the Washington Association of Churches; The Reverend Gaylord Hasselblad, Executive Minister of the American Baptist Churches of the Northwest; The Most Reverend Raymond Hunthausen, Archbishop of the Roman Catholic Archdiocese of Seattle; The Reverend Lowell Knutson, Bishop, Northwest Washington Center of Evangelical Lutheran Church in America; and The Right Reverend Vincent W. Warner, Junior Bishop, Episcopal Diocese of Olympia--as ecumenical a gathering of people concerned about people in need as we will ever meet. At their press conference today they gave us this statement, and I have just a few sentences to share with you.

They said, "We speak because fundamental moral values are at stake. Our biblical perspectives form the basis of a belief that meeting the basic necessities of the poor must be society's highest priority. The basic needs of the poor must take precedence over the less basic needs of those who are more fortunate. In light of these principles, we believe that Engrossed Second Substitute House Bill No. 2910 is a major statement of policy, which must be implemented this session. House Bill No. 2910 addresses one of the most significant problems facing our state today--growing poverty affecting families and disabled individuals. It is now widely acknowledged that poverty is at the root of many of our social problems--hunger, child abuse, homelessness, failure to learn in school, drugs and crime. We support House Bill No. 2910 because it is a practical, long-term attempt to reverse the steady decline in the value of welfare grants. We ask the House; we ask the Senate and the Governor to support House Bill No. 2910. The time to enact House Bill No. 2910 is now, not later. The children of our state cannot wait until the next session. A long-term, eighteen- to twenty-year plan to recover our standard of decency, brought to this state in 1948 from an initiative to the people where they spelled out clearly that our people have the minimum standard of need, set forth what that standard should be and asked that it be continued in law. We have failed that initiative for all these many years. We have been on a decline in standard for twenty years. We only ask that we reverse that downward decline and step up to the issue, and in the next twenty years bring us back to the standard of decency."

It is said well that hunger in this state and in this land of plenty is not just immoral; it is a national disgrace. Please vote "yes" on this measure.

REMARKS BY REPRESENTATIVE MOYER

Mr. Moyer: Thank you, Mr. Speaker. I hope that what I have to say is worthy of the accolades of the previous speaker. In the last session I worked to defeat the Children's Initiative because I felt that it would not accomplish the purpose for which it was designed. At that time I did commit myself to the concept of the Children's Initiative, and I stand here tonight to honor that commitment. I will discuss what I call the poverty pit, the poverty industry, the legislative commitment, and the need for innovation and change.

First, the poverty pit. Today twenty percent of children live in poverty. If you are black, fifty percent of the children live in poverty. That is two hundred and six thousand kids in Washington. A hundred and forty-two thousand five hundred live on about one-half of the state-defined subsistence level or standard of need. The standard of need was established about sixty years ago to define "a decent, healthful subsistence." The last time the Legislature met that need was in 1969, some twenty-one years ago. Two-thirds of all welfare recipients are children who exist--and I underline exist--at eighteen percent of the median income of Washington. That is the poverty pit.

The poverty industry. A few blocks from this building is DSHS, our poverty pentagon. Over the years the Legislature has constructed this huge entity with sixteen thousand five hundred employees in the name of efficiency. About thirty-five percent of the budget goes to social programs, health programs and other programs which have to do with the poverty of the body or the poverty of spirit. We have created an industry which we fuel with people who struggle to live at eighteen percent of the median income, and they have become docile, compliant and seem to have lost their self-esteem. So much for the industry.

What is the cost? It is illness; it is crime; and it is ignorance. If you live in a house, or anyplace, where the temperatures alternate between hot and cold, your mucus membranes dry out and bacteria get into your system. You get ear infections; you get colds. And these are treated in a very expensive fashion. That is just one of the illnesses. If you are pregnant and you have a crummy diet and you have to move often, the combination of stress and malnutrition, among other things, result in little babies, tiny babies. They are cared for in the neonatal intensive care unit at twelve hundred dollars plus per day. We had more tiny babies in 1989 in this country than we had in 1988. We are dealing with a crime rate which results in jail populations over one hundred percent of their capacity. We are two hundred cases behind on our court dockets. And that is enough of crime. We are talking about four hundred and eleven million dollars, possibly, in jails for this decade. How much for next decade? It is no secret that twenty-five percent of our high school students drop out, but the most recent statistics are thirty percent and fifty percent, if you are black. We import people into Washington for jobs because we haven't got people trained in our own state to do them.

The commitment. Incomes are up since 1969; Washington is on a roll. Do we have a right to deny at least some parity to welfare recipients? Are we not our brother's keeper? I have heard an estimate of forty-three dollars per recipient per month. What does that really buy these days? A pair of shoes?

I have been told the bill is designed to embarrass the other body, and from my perspective that is not true. I have implicit trust in the other body's ability to commit to this concept within the bounds of reality. Certainly they have demonstrated this on other occasions; I have no fear at all that they can't do it now.

The bell has tolled and it is time for a change. So let's reduce that pentagon of poverty by getting people off welfare. Let's get people out of the poverty pit. Let's put dollars where they count, rather than building more prisons, buying more health services, having more and more low birth weight babies, having more and more dropouts. Above all, let's take a bipartisan approach to poverty of the body and an ecumenical approach to poverty of the spirit. Let's send this to the Senate for their wisdom. Politics is the art of compromise. Let the process begin. Thank you.

FURTHER REMARKS BY REPRESENTATIVE SAYAN

Mr. Sayan: Thank you, Mr. Speaker and members of the House. I rise, hopefully, to close the discussion. About every twenty-five years in the lives of most of us, the stars seem to come together and there is some kind of convergence and things happen. Let this happen. And let it be said that this was our finest hour.

HOUSE BILL NO. 2252, by Representatives Braddock, Prentice, Sayan, Vekich, Brekke, Wineberry, Todd, Nelson, H. Sommers, Cole, Spanel and Scott

Establishing the Washington universal health access and containment commission.

The bill was read the second time. On motion of Mr. Braddock, Substitute House Bill No. 2252 was substituted for House Bill No. 2252, and the substitute bill was placed on the second reading calendar.

Substitute House Bill No. 2252 was read the second time.

Mr. Braddock moved adoption of the following amendment by Representatives Braddock and Brooks:

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. This act may be known and cited as 'the Washington universal health access and cost control commission act of 1990.'

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. (1) The legislature finds that although Washington state has made significant strides in addressing the lack of access to health services and rising health service costs, major system deficiencies still exist. The number of persons without access to health services continues to grow at an alarming rate and health service costs continue to rise well above the rate of inflation.

The legislature further finds that problems relating to health service access, quality, and cost control are likely to have a detrimental effect on the state's ability to be competitive in the international economy. Further, growing health service costs have had a particularly harmful effect on small businesses, which have been experiencing significant increases in health costs. This is likely to result in a sharp decline in the capacity of employers to provide health care coverage for their employees.

The legislature further finds that there may be significant administrative inefficiencies in the structure of the current health care system, which has numerous payers and administrators, involving an excessive amount of paperwork and consuming much of a health provider's time on nonpatient matters; and that a single administrative structure could possibly reduce overall administrative costs and increase the amount of time a health provider would have available for patient care.

The legislature concludes that future reforms must be systemic, encompassing all major components of health service delivery and finance. The goals must also result in appropriate health service coverage for all state residents, promote quality of care, and include effective cost controls.

(2) To address these problems, it is the intent of the legislature to develop strategies to establish a universal health access plan for Washington state based on the following principles:

(a) Because the responsibility for a healthy citizenry lies primarily with the individual citizen, the citizen should play a key role in the development and oversight of their health care system;

(b) Appropriate health services should be available within an integrated system to all residents of Washington state regardless of health condition, age, sex, ethnicity, race, geographic location, employment, or economic status;

(c) The financial burden for providing needed health services should be equitably shared by government, employers, and individual citizens;

(d) Citizens should have the freedom to choose their health service provider, but incentives should be provided to facilitate their participation with cost-effective managed health service programs;

(e) Health service providers should receive fair compensation for their services in a timely and uncomplicated manner;

(f) Health service providers should have the freedom to choose their practice setting, but incentives should be provided for them to participate in cost-effective managed health service settings and in areas where there are shortages of providers;

(g) Illness and injury prevention and health promotion programs should be a major part of the health service system;

(h) A state health service budget reflecting the cost of providing health services provided through the plan and established in a public and deliberative manner, is essential for controlling health costs; and

(i) Quality of care should be promoted through the establishment of the most effective health services determined by those providers trained to make such determinations and by the assurance of acceptable standards for health professionals and facilities.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. Unless the context clearly requires otherwise, the definitions in this section apply throughout this act.

(1) 'Board' means the board of health.

(2) 'Commission' means the Washington universal health access and cost control commission created by section 4 of this act.

(3) 'Department' means the department of health.

(4) 'Eligible person' means any person who is a resident of Washington state and who chooses to participate in the universal health plan.

(5) 'Federal poverty level' means the federal poverty level determined annually by the United States department of health and human services.

(6) 'State health services budget' means a budget that is capped and is fixed as a proportion of the Washington nominal personal income as published by the Washington state economic and revenue forecast council, or other indicator established by the commission, from which all health services provided in the state are purchased.

(7) 'Health services' or 'basic health services' mean a set of comprehensive basic health services defined pursuant to section 7 of this act and provided by the universal health plan.

(8) 'Secretary' means the secretary of health.

(9) 'Universal health plan' or 'plan' means the Washington universal health access plan established pursuant to section 5 of this act.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4. (1) The Washington universal health access and cost control commission is created, consisting of seventeen members.

(a) Five members shall be appointed as follows:

(i) Two members of the house of representatives, one from each political caucus, appointed by the speaker of the house of representatives;

(ii) Two members of the senate, one from each political caucus, appointed by the president of the senate;

(iii) The chair of the health care access and cost control council, established pursuant to RCW 70.170.030.

(b) The following twelve members shall be appointed by the governor:

(i) Three members shall represent employers, at least one shall be from the eastern part of the state, and at least one shall represent employers with small businesses;

(ii) Three members shall represent employee organizations;

(iii) Three members shall represent providers of health services, however, no more than one shall be from any one provider group; and

(iv) Three members shall be citizen representatives who have no direct involvement with government, employers, employee organizations, or the provision of health services; however, one shall be sixty-five years of age or older, and one shall be a current or former recent recipient of the state medical assistance program.

(2) All members of the commission shall be appointed no later than June 1, 1990. The first meeting of the commission shall be held no later than June 15, 1990, at a time and place designated by the governor.

(3) The chair of the commission shall be designated by the governor from among the commission members.

(4) The commission may hire staff or contract for professional assistance. State agencies, the senate, and the house of representatives may provide staff support upon request of the commission. The commission may apply for and receive grants, gifts, and other payments from any government or other public or private entity or person.

(5) Commission members shall receive no compensation for their services as members, but shall be reimbursed for commission-related expenses as specified in RCW 44.04.120.

(6) The commission may establish ad hoc technical advisory committees as necessary and may reimburse committee members for related travel expenses.

(7) In the conduct of its business, the commission shall have access to all health data available by statute to the secretary of health. The secretary shall provide the commission with all requested health data or other relevant information maintained by the department in a timely and easy-to-comprehend manner.

(8) The commission shall terminate on January 31, 1992.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 5. (1) The commission shall conduct a study of the problems relating to health access, health cost control, and quality of health services, and shall make recommendations for the development of a Washington universal health access plan. In its deliberations, the commission shall analyze the advantages and disadvantages of including in the plan the elements put forth in this subsection. The commission shall also study the advantages and disadvantages of other approaches identified that address problems relating to access, cost, and quality as the commission deems necessary, but shall include various private and public health service financing systems and a variety of mechanisms used by other states and countries relating to the reimbursement of hospitals, and other health providers delivering inpatient and outpatient health services. The elements are as follows:

(a) A uniform set of appropriate basic health services, as defined pursuant to section 7 of this act, available to all eligible persons regardless of age, sex, ethnicity, race, health condition, geographic location, employment, or economic status that adheres to the principles set forth in section 2 of this act;

(b) A single public or private administrative organization, that shall have complete operational control over all health services provided by the universal health plan. The organization shall have a uniform budgeting, billing, and payment system and shall have control over all data collected in relation to the plan;

(c) A financing system as follows:

(i) A state health services budget as defined in section 3 of this act, which shall be established in an open and deliberative manner and be reflective of citizens' expression of what should be included in basic health services;

(ii) Funds shall be obtained from three sources: Federal and state revenue, employer contributions, and individual contributions:

(A) Federal and state revenue shall include funds from medicare, medicaid, and other publicly funded programs that pay for health services received by individuals;

(B) Employer contributions shall be paid on an equitable basis, however special provisions should be included for employers of small businesses in order not to place an undue hardship on the viability of such businesses;

(c) Eligible persons shall contribute through premiums paid by the individuals directly or through employers, and through utilization fees where appropriate. Eligible persons with household incomes at one hundred percent or less of the federal poverty level shall pay no premiums. Eligible persons over that level shall pay premiums based on family size with a set maximum rate, however premiums for eligible persons with household incomes between one hundred and two hundred percent of the federal poverty level shall be based on family size and income level. Utilization fees shall be required if determined to be appropriate by the commission, but in no case if it is deemed that such fees would be a barrier to appropriate health service access:

(d) Hospitals and other inpatient health facilities that provide health services through the universal health plan shall be funded on an annual hospital budget basis reflecting the total cost of health services provided through the plan, based on historical data, and updated at least twice a year:

(e) Health providers shall have the option of being reimbursed on a fee-for-services, annual budget, or capitated basis. Fees shall be set uniformly in the manner prescribed by the commission. Capitation rates shall be uniform based on the number of eligible persons enrolling in the health maintenance organization or other qualifying group provider. If such organization or group provider chooses to be reimbursed through an annual budget, the amount shall be determined in a manner similar to a hospital annual budget. The commission shall develop incentives for providers to participate in managed health services organizations that are cost effective:

(f) No hospital or other health provider shall charge any additional fees for services that are included in the universal health plan and that are rendered to eligible persons:

(g) The universal health plan shall include portability provisions, whereby eligible persons traveling outside the state continue to be covered under the plan:

(h) Long-term care services shall be fully integrated in the universal health plan. The commission in addressing these services shall consider the recommendations of the long-term care commission created by RCW 74.39.040 provided they are consistent with the principles of sections 1 through 7 of this act.

(2) The commission shall study the advantages and disadvantages of prohibiting insurers, health care service contractors, or health maintenance organizations from independently insuring, contracting, or providing those health services provided through the universal health plan. However, the commission's recommendations shall not preclude such an entity from insuring, providing, or contracting for health services not included in the plan, nor restrict the right of an employer or employee representative from negotiating for services not included in the plan.

(3) The commission shall analyze current issues relating to medical malpractice liability and insurance, and propose ways to reduce its effects on health service access and costs. An analysis of the desirability and feasibility of a publicly funded malpractice insurance program shall be included.

(4) The commission shall study the appropriate use of utilization fees focusing on the extent to which they discourage inappropriate use of health services or, conversely, impose barriers to appropriate health service access. This analysis shall examine the advantages and disadvantages of requiring no utilization fees for a set of primary health services focused on illness prevention and health promotion and a schedule of utilization fees for other health services, where such fees are based on: (a) The eligible person's ability to pay; (b) the cost of the health service and related drugs and equipment; and (c) the determined effectiveness of the specific health service and related drugs and equipment.

(5) The commission shall conduct an analysis of all state and federal laws that would need to be repealed, amended, or waived to implement the universal health plan.

(6) The commission shall study the effects of its recommendations upon existing collective bargaining health benefit agreements and union health trust funds and, if necessary, propose a transitional plan as part of its final report.

(7) The commission shall ensure adequate public participation in its deliberations and shall hold at least four public forums in different regions of the state where a broad spectrum of interested persons can express their views. A draft report shall be made available to the public at least thirty days before its final public forum.

(8) The commission shall make periodic status reports to the governor, the board, and the appropriate committees of the legislature and submit a final report by December 1, 1991. The commission's report shall be advisory, and shall require full enactment by the legislature to take effect.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 6. The administrator of the Washington health care authority shall conduct an analysis and develop an implementation plan, whereby, beginning July 1, 1993, all federal and state funded basic health services, as defined pursuant to section 7 of this act, shall be administered by a single administrative organization as described in section 5(1)(b) of this act. The administrator shall submit its analysis to the commission, the board, and appropriate committees of the legislature by September 1, 1991.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 7. The commission, in coordination with the board's responsibilities set forth in RCW 43.20.050, shall define a set of basic health services for inclusion in the universal health plan. This set of services shall be effective and needed on a broad basis by the citizens of the state. The commission shall seek expert advice on the projected costs of offering each service to the eligible population and the effectiveness of each service in preventing and treating illness and injury and promoting health in the eligible population. These deliberations shall specifically include the appropriate use of expensive medical technology and volume sensitive health services. The commission shall seek to develop a general consensus among the public on the content of basic health services.

Sec. 8. Section 5, chapter 107, Laws of 1988 and RCW 41.05.031 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) The following state agencies are directed to cooperate with the authority to establish appropriate health care information systems in their programs: The department of social and health services, the department of labor and industries, the department of health, the basic health plan, the department of veterans affairs, the department of corrections, and the superintendent of public instruction.

The authority, in conjunction with these agencies, shall determine:

((+)) (a) Definitions of health care services;

((2)) (b) Health care data elements common to all agencies;

((3)) (c) Health care data elements unique to each agency; and

((4)) (d) A mechanism for program and budget review of health care data.

(2) Beginning January 1, 1992, all insurers, health care service contractors, and health maintenance organizations licensed in Washington state shall, to the extent that patient billing and encounter information is maintained, provide the authority with patient care and cost information, to include: (a) Patient identifier; (b) provider identifier; (c) diagnosis; (d) health services or procedures provided; (e) provider charges; and (f) amount paid. The authority shall establish through rule, confidentiality standards to safeguard the information from inappropriate use or release.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 9. The sum of two hundred thousand dollars, or as much thereof as may be necessary, is appropriated for the biennium ending June 30, 1991, from the general fund to the office of financial management solely for the purpose of the Washington universal health access and cost control commission created by section 4 of this act.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 10. This act is necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health, or safety, or support of the state government and its existing public institutions, and shall take effect June 1, 1990.*

POINT OF INQUIRY

Ms. Rector yielded to question by Ms. Bowman.

Ms. Bowman: Representative Rector, in section 3 of Second Substitute House Bill No. 2405 we direct the Department of Community Development to adopt rules and implement the programs laid out in the act. Subsection (4) of that section states that the department shall adopt rules stating the criteria eligible organizations shall use when entering into contracts with persons or families to make mortgage or rental assistance payments on their behalf. Is it your interpretation of this section that the department may require the mortgage payment or rental assistance payment to be paid directly to the mortgage holder or the landlord?

Ms. Rector: Representative Bowman, your question is well taken. The bill in section 3(4) specifically directs the Department of Community Development to develop rules that the local pilot program must use to govern mortgage or rental assistance payments on behalf of a family. This payment can be made directly to the landlord, mortgage holder, or a joint signature check can be mailed to the landlord or the mortgage holder. This provision also allows the payment to not be counted as income for public assistance purposes.

(3) Notwithstanding subsection (1) of this section, an employee may be required to work:

(8)(a) Unless the employer's employees are covered by a collective bargaining agreement or represented by an exclusive bargaining representative, whether the representative is certified or recognized, the employer may petition to the department for a variance from the requirements in this section with respect to work over eight hours in a work day if at least seventy-five percent of the employer's employees in the affected work unit vote by secret ballot to approve a written proposal for regularly scheduled hours of work in a day consisting of hours not otherwise permitted under this section. The agreement shall not permit the employer to require an employee to work over twelve hours in a work day.

Upon receipt of the complaint, the director shall cause an investigation to be made as the director deems appropriate. If after investigation, the director determines that the provisions of this section have been violated, the director shall bring an action in the superior court of the county in which the violation is alleged to have occurred against the person or persons alleged to have violated the provisions of this section. If the director determines that the provisions of this section have not been violated, the employee may institute the action on his or her own behalf within thirty days of receiving notice of the director's determination. In any action under this section, the superior court shall have jurisdiction, for cause shown, to restrain violations of subsection (1) of this section and to order all appropriate relief including rehiring or reinstatement of the employee to his or her former position with back pay.

(3) Within ninety days of the receipt of the complaint filed under this section, the director shall notify the complainant of the determination under subsection (2) of this section.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4. (1) An employee who reports to work as required by the employer and who is not given work, or is given less than half of the employee's usual or scheduled day's work, shall be paid for the hours in half the usual or scheduled day's work or for four hours of work, whichever is greater, at the employee's regular rate of pay.

The Speaker: Representative Crane, the Speaker has examined Substitute House Bill No. 2709, which deals with district court election districts and changes the rules on population requirements for redistricted electoral units. The amendment by Representative D. Sommers deals with the number of district court judges authorized by statute and adds an additional district court judge in Spokane County. I think it is clear on the face of this that the amendment broadens the intent of the original legislation. Therefore, I find that your point is well taken, Representative Crane. The amendment is outside the scope and object of the original bill.

The bill was ordered engrossed. With consent of the House, the rules were suspended, the second reading considered the third, and the bill was placed on final passage.
