WHEREAS, Recent events in South Africa are hopeful signs that the seeds of democracy beginning to flourish throughout the world are also taking root in this country of apartheid; and

WHEREAS, President F.W. de Klerk of South Africa has recently recognized the African National Congress (ANC) as the legitimate voice of opponents to the apartheid system in South Africa and removed the ban that has outlawed the congress for thirty years; and

WHEREAS, President de Klerk has freed ANC leader Nelson Mandela, who suffered imprisonment as a political detainee for twenty-eight years; and

WHEREAS, The economic sanctions imposed by the United States on the South African government in the Anti-Apartheid Act passed by the United States Congress in 1986 have played an important role in moving the South African government toward loosening its grip on opposition forces; and

WHEREAS, The structure of apartheid that put Mr. Mandela in prison and outlawed the voices of opposition continues to dictate political and economic discrimination against South Africa's nearly twenty million non-white citizens; and

WHEREAS, The state of emergency under which South African citizens have lived since 1986 continues to deny its non-white citizens the right of free movement, the right of congregation, and the right to vote; and

WHEREAS, More than three hundred fifty political prisoners remain illegally detained in South African jails; and

WHEREAS, In its 1987 session, the Washington State House of Representatives passed anti-apartheid divestiture legislation, supporting the national Conference of State Legislatures, which voted in its 1985 convention in Seattle to condemn the apartheid practices of the South African government;

WHEREAS, The Washington State House of Representatives prays that:

(1) President de Klerk grant freedom to all political prisoners, put an immediate end to the state of emergency, and enter swiftly into reconciliation and negotiations with Nelson Mandela, Archbishop Desmond Tutu, the Reverend Allen Boesak and other anti-apartheid leaders to install a system of democracy where the rights of all individuals are protected regardless of race;

(2) The South African government carry its efforts further by putting an end to political trials and executions, and by removing any and all restrictions on the free movement of South African citizens and the press;

(3) South Africa endorse the principles of democracy by adopting a new constitution that grants the right to all citizens, regardless of race, creed or sex, to vote for and receive representation in their government in a free and fair election; and

(4) The United States Congress not lift or relax economic sanctions until the South African government has undertaken irreversible actions to dismantle apartheid and instituted a democratic system of government.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, That the House of Representatives of the State of Washington support President Bush's invitation to meet with Nelson Mandela and President de Klerk, and urge President Bush to convene a joint meeting with both leaders to promote the goals of racial equality and human rights for all South African citizens.

MOTIONS

Mr. Ebersole moved that the House defer further consideration of Substitute House Bill No. 2979 and that the bill hold its place on the regular second reading calendar. The motion was carried.

Mr. Ebersole moved that the House immediately consider House Bill No. 2570 on the regular second reading calendar. The motion was carried.

HOUSE BILL NO. 2570, by Representatives Sprenkle, Walker, Fraser, Pruitt, May, G. Fisher, Brekke, R. King, R. Meyers, Spanel, Winsley, Todd, Rasmussen and Cooper

Requiring the department of ecology to develop a waste reduction, recycling, and procurement plan for state agencies.

The bill was read the second time. On motion of Mr. Grant, Substitute House Bill No. 2570 was substituted for House Bill No. 2570, and the substitute bill was placed on the second reading calendar.

Substitute House Bill No. 2570 was read the second time.

Mr. Sprenkle moved adoption of the following amendment by Representatives Sprenkle and Peery:

On page 4, after line 3, insert the following:

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4. The legislature finds that the state's timber resources and its proximity to states and countries without such resources has provided, and should continue to provide, a healthy export market for its old newspapers. The legislature also finds that existing domestic markets for old newspaper need to be enhanced in order to stabilize the price of the old newspaper collected through local recycling programs. The legislature therefore finds that the state's newspapers should use newsprint containing secondary fiber to the maximum extent economically practicable.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 5. Unless the context clearly requires otherwise, the definitions in this section apply throughout this chapter.

(1) 'Newsprint user' means a person who uses newsprint in a commercial printing or publishing operation.

(2) 'Secondary fiber' means paper fiber reclaimed from newspapers, mixed waste paper, and other postconsumer or preconsumer paper products. Secondary fiber does not include mill broke.

(3) 'Newsprint' means uncoated paper, whether supercalendered or machine finished, of the type generally used for, but is not limited to, the publication of newspapers, commercial advertising inserts, directories, or commercial advertising mailers, which is made primarily from mechanical woodpulp combined with some chemical woodpulp. 'Newsprint' includes paper made from old newspapers which have been deinked, using the recycled pulp in lieu of virgin pulp. 'Newsprint' includes all grades of paper sold as newsprint, supercalendered (SC) uncoated groundwood, or machine finished (MF) uncoated groundwood.

(4) 'Department' means the department of ecology.

(5) 'Mixed waste paper' means assorted low value grades of paper that have not been separated into individual grades at the point of collection.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 6. (1) Newsprint users shall file a statement with the department by March 31 of each year certifying the total number of tons of newsprint used during the past calendar year and the number of tons of secondary fiber in the newsprint. The statement shall declare whether the guidelines established under section 9 of this act have been met for the past year, and if not met, a statement explaining why the guidelines were not met.

(2) Any newsprint user who fails to file a statement with the department by March 31 of any year, or who files false or misleading information, shall be subject to a civil penalty, assessed by the department, of up to one thousand dollars.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 7. (1) The department shall appoint a task force involving the department of trade and economic development, environmental groups, newsprint mills, newspaper publishers, exporters of paper fiber, and any other entity deemed appropriate by the department. Each year, the department, in conjunction with the task force, shall monitor:

(a) The availability, quality, and price of newsprint containing secondary fiber; and

(b) Other factors, as determined appropriate by the department, that may affect the ability of newsprint users to achieve the goals established in section 9 of this act.

(2) Each year, the department shall publish a report, at the department's expense, in each newspaper filing a statement pursuant to section 6 of this act. The report shall describe:

(a) The state-wide average of secondary fiber used in newsprint;

(b) The use of secondary fiber by the newsprint user publishing the report;

(c) The state-wide recycling rate for newspapers; and

(d) The disposition of newspapers not being remanufactured into newsprint.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 8. Each person supplying a newsprint user with newsprint shall certify the amounts of secondary fiber content contained in each shipment to each newsprint user. If the newsprint supplied to a newsprint user contains mixed waste paper the supplier shall certify the amount of such paper contained in each shipment to each newsprint user. If the newsprint contains no secondary fiber, the supplier shall so certify.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 9. (1) Each newsprint user shall, purchase newsprint containing secondary fiber to the maximum extent economically practicable. The following goals concerning the secondary fiber content of newsprint used in the state shall be collectively sought by newsprint users on an annual basis:

- (a) On and after January 1, 1992, ten percent;
- (b) On and after January 1, 1994, twenty percent;
- (c) On and after January 1, 1996, twenty-five percent; and
- (d) On January 1, 2001, and thereafter, thirty percent.

(2) These goals shall apply on an industry-wide basis, and not on individual newsprint users. If the department finds that: (a) The goals established under subsection (1) of this section are not met after any given year; and (b) except for such factors beyond the control of newsprint users, no significant factors had prevented newsprint users from attaining such goals; then the department shall prepare rules prescribing the use of newsprint containing secondary fiber. In preparing such rules, the department may revise the goals established in this section as the department deems appropriate.

(3) If the department finds that the conditions described in subsection (2) of this section apply after a second consecutive year, the department shall adopt the rules prepared during the previous year.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 10. For the purposes of section 9 of this act, newsprint containing mixed waste paper shall be considered as containing twice its certified value.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 11. Sections 4 through 10 of this act shall constitute a new chapter in Title 70 RCW."

Renumber remaining sections consecutively and correct internal references accordingly.

POINT OF ORDER

Ms. Scott: I would like to request a ruling on the scope and object of the amendment, please.

SPEAKER'S RULING

The Speaker: Representative Scott, your Point of Order is not a difficult call. House Bill No. 2570 basically asks the Department of Ecology to develop a waste reduction, recycling and procurement plan for state agencies and for local government. The amendment, which would also be outside the scope because it is the exact duplicate of a bill before us, offers to encourage the newspaper industry to make plans to begin using more recycled newsprint. As much as I agree with the intent of the amendment, Representative Scott, I find that your point is well taken. The amendment is outside the scope and object of the bill before us.

With consent of the House, the rules were suspended, the second reading considered the third, and the bill was placed on final passage.

Mr. Sprenkle spoke in favor of passage of the bill.

SUBSTITUTE HOUSE BILL NO. 2979, by Committee on Judiciary (originally sponsored by Representative Appelwick)

Regulating forfeited firearms.

The House resumed consideration of Substitute House Bill No. 2979 on second reading. (For previous action, see today's Journal, Morning Session.)

The Speaker stated the question before the House to be the Point of Order by Representative Padden regarding the scope and object of the striking amendment by Representative Anderson and others.

SPEAKER'S RULING

The Speaker: Representative Padden, the Speaker has examined Substitute House Bill No. 2979 and the striking amendment. Substitute House Bill No. 2979 amends the law, dealing with disposal of forfeited firearms, by adding an additional method for disposition of such firearms. The new disposal method allows law enforcement agencies to trade forfeited weapons for other firearms or police equipment. The bill also amends the law on the disposition of the proceeds from the sale of forfeited firearms. The striking amendment by Representative Appelwick and others, in addition to making these changes, allows law enforcement agencies to dispose of forfeited firearms by destroying them. The Speaker is ruling that destroying forfeited firearms is an additional form of disposition and that it does clarify. My ruling is that it is within the intent of Substitute House Bill No. 2979 and that your point is not well taken.

The Clerk read the following amendment by Representatives Nutley and Appelwick to the amendment by Representative Anderson and others:

On page 3, after line 39 of the amendment, insert the following:

(2) Upon any violation under subsection (1) of this section, a proceeding for forfeiture of a firearm shall be deemed commenced by the seizure of the firearm by a law enforcement agency. The law enforcement agency under whose authority the seizure was made shall, within fifteen days following the seizure, file with the court and serve on the owner of the firearm and on any person having any known right or interest therein notice of the seizure and intended forfeiture of the firearm. The notice shall state: (a) the date of seizure, (b) that the person receiving notice may, within forty-five days after the seizure, claim that the firearm should be returned to him or her as provided in subsection (3) of this section by petitioning the court for a hearing, and (c) that an order of forfeiture may be entered by the court authorizing disposal of the firearm if a petition is not filed in a timely manner. The notice may be served by any method authorized by law or court rule, including service by any form of mail requiring a return receipt. A hearing before the court shall be scheduled if any person petitions the court claiming that the firearm should be returned to him or her pursuant to subsection (3) of this section. If no person petitions the court in a timely manner, the firearm shall be deemed forfeited."

STATEMENTS FOR THE JOURNAL

I intended to vote "Yes" on final passage of Engrossed Substitute House Bill No. 2917.

JOHN W. BETROZOFF, 45th District.

I voted inadvertently against Engrossed Substitute House Bill No. 2917 due to distraction in a conversation. My vote should have been for the bill for the following reasons: (1) It strengthens the physician assistant bill, and (2) it is needed to bring the law up to meet current standards of practice.

Where a person makes an acquisition under lease or comparable arrangement, or through donation, which would have required review if the acquisition had been made by purchase, such expenditure shall be deemed a capital expenditure. Capital expenditures include donations of equipment or facilities to a nursing home facility which if acquired directly by such facility would be subject to certificate of need review under the provisions of this chapter and transfer of equipment or facilities for less than fair market value if a transfer of the equipment or facilities at fair market value would be subject to such review. The cost of any studies, surveys, designs, plans, working drawings, specifications, and other activities essential to the acquisition, improvement, expansion, or replacement of any plant or equipment with respect to which such expenditure is made shall be included in determining the amount of the expenditure.

responsibility for costs of services exceeding the member's financial responsibility as stated in contract, so that, with the exception of insurance purchased by the retirement community or its members, no third party, including the medicaid program, is liable for costs of care even if the member depletes his or her personal resources; and (iv) has offered continuing care contracts and operated a nursing home continuously since January 1, 1988, or has obtained a certificate of need to establish a nursing home; and (v) maintains a binding agreement with the department of social and health services assuring that financial liability for services to members, including nursing home services, shall not fall upon the department of social and health services; and (vi) does not operate, and has not undertaken, a project which would result in a number of nursing home beds in excess of one for every four living units operated by the continuing care retirement community, exclusive of nursing home beds; and (vii) has undertaken no increase in the total number of nursing home beds after January 1, 1988, unless a professional review of pricing and long-term solvency was obtained by the retirement community within the prior five years and fully disclosed to members:))

(9) 'Health service area' means a geographic region appropriate for effective health planning which includes a broad range of health services.

Ms. Rust spoke in favor of passage of the bill.

POINT OF INQUIRY

Ms. Rust yielded to question by Ms. Brekke.

Ms. Brekke: I notice that the intent section of Engrossed Second Substitute House Bill No. 2494 states that prevention is the best method of responding to an oil spill. I also notice that the contingency plans required in the bill and the review of those plans by the Department of Ecology are to consider, in part, prevention measures that have been adopted. What is your understanding of how these provisions will be used to reduce the likelihood that an oil spill will occur in the future?

Ms. Rust: Representative Brekke, this bill is only a first step toward a comprehensive response to the transportation of oil on water and on land. It is my intention to spend the coming interim in a review of what we can do in the way of prevention and propose legislation directed at these efforts next year.

This bill takes some initial steps at prevention. The facilities and vessels required to complete contingency plans are directed to include in those plans a statement of the measures that they have taken to reduce the chance that a spill will occur. The Department also has authority to review these measures and determine that reasonable, cost-effective measures have been taken to prevent a spill. The Department may refuse to approve a plan, if it determines these efforts have not been undertaken. In addition to these efforts, the Department is also required to prepare a statewide master plan, one element of which is a review of actions which should be undertaken to prevent spills. This might include such things as additional inspections of equipment to assure safety, training for personnel, and other similar measures.

Mr. D. Sommers spoke in favor of passage of the bill.

Mr. Appelwick moved adoption of the following amendment:

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. The legislature intends, in establishing mandatory child support guidelines, to ensure that child support orders are adequate to meet a child's basic needs and to provide additional child support commensurate with the parents' income, resources, and standard of living. The child support guidelines should not be overly complicated, should provide certainty and predictability so that the parties can plan for the future, should provide for an equitable apportionment of the child support obligation between the parents, allow changes at regular intervals to reflect changes in the normal economic circumstances of the parties, and meet federal requirements for implementing child support guidelines.

The legislature finds that these goals will be best achieved by adoption and use of mandatory state-wide child support guidelines. The use of mandatory state-wide guidelines will benefit children and their parents by providing for adequate child support awards based upon specific numeric and descriptive criteria, increase compliance with the guidelines by making them more understandable, increase the equity of child support awards by providing for comparable orders on a state-wide basis in cases with similar circumstances, and encourage voluntary settlements of disputes by setting a presumptive amount of support that each parent will be obligated to pay.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. Unless the context clearly requires otherwise, the definitions in this section apply throughout this chapter.

(1) 'Child support guidelines' means the standards and economic table as adopted by the legislature for establishing child support obligations.

(2) 'Standards' means the standards as adopted by the legislature for determining income, allowable deductions from income, and deviations from presumptive child support awards.

(3) 'Economic table' means the child support economic table that represents the basic child support obligation amount per child.

(4) 'Worksheets' means the forms developed by the administrator for the courts.

(5) 'Health care' means out-of-pocket expenses reasonably incurred by a parent for insurance coverage or uninsured amounts for health care services or health care treatment. It does not include portions paid by employers or other third parties.

(6) 'Instructions' means the instructions developed by the administrator of the courts for use in completing the worksheets.

(7) 'Basic support obligation' means each parent's child support obligation per child based upon the standards and economic table before any deviation is considered.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. (1) In any proceeding under this title or Title 13 or 74 RCW in which child support is an issue, child support shall be determined and ordered according to the economic table and standards adopted pursuant to sections 4, 5, and 6 of this act. The Washington child support guidelines shall be applied as follows:

(a) In each county of the state;

(b) In judicial and administrative proceedings;

(c) In all proceedings in which child support is determined or modified;

(d) For setting temporary and permanent support; and

(e) For adjusting support orders instead of using a cost-of-living or escalation provision.

(2) An order for child support shall be supported by written findings of fact upon which the support determination was made including reasons for deviations from the basic support obligation.

(3) The parties shall complete and file worksheets in the form developed by the administrator for the courts in every proceeding in which child support is determined. The court shall not accept incomplete worksheets or worksheets that vary from the worksheets developed by the administrator for the courts. The parties shall complete the worksheets under penalty of perjury. The court order setting or modifying child support shall include a completed worksheet initiated or signed by the judge.

(4) Except for the judicial discretion expressly reserved in this chapter, the parties do not have authority to agree to provisions in conflict with this chapter and any agreement or court order to the contrary shall be voidable as against public policy.

(5) The standards and economic table in this chapter shall be applied uniformly throughout the state. The superior courts of the various counties do not have authority to establish alternative standards and tables except as provided in section 6 of this act.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4. (1) All income and resources of each parent's household shall be disclosed to the court as provided in this section when the child support obligation of each parent is determined.

(2) In the absence of actual income information, the court will impute income to the parent when the parent is underemployed, voluntarily unemployed, or self-employed. The court will determine whether the person is underemployed or voluntarily unemployed based upon that parent's work history. The amount imputed will be in the discretion of the court, but in the absence of information to the contrary, a parent's income shall be based on the median income of year-round, full-time workers as derived from the United States bureau of census, current population reports for that parent's occupation and gender if available on that basis. If occupation and gender-specific median income reports are unavailable, the amount imputed shall be based on the overall median income. A parent will not be deemed underemployed as long as that parent is gainfully employed on a full-time basis. Income shall not be imputed for an unemployable parent.

(3) (a) Monthly gross income shall include income from any source, including salaries, wages, commissions, deferred compensation, pensions, bonuses, mandatory overtime, cash benefits pursuant to contract, dividends, interest, trust income, severance pay, annuities, capital gains, social security benefits, workers' compensation, unemployment benefits, disability insurance benefits, spousal maintenance that is actually received, gifts, and prizes.

(b) Aid to families with dependent children, supplemental security income, general assistance, veteran's aid and attendant allowance, and food stamps shall be disclosed but shall not be included in gross income or be a reason to deviate from the schedule. Child support received from other relationships shall be disclosed and considered, but shall not be included in gross income. Income of a second spouse or cohabitant shall not be included in the income determination. The court has discretion to exclude from income, voluntary overtime, nonrecurring overtime, nonrecurring bonuses, and income from second jobs in excess of full-time or full-time equivalent employment.

(c) Allowable deductions from gross income are federal and state income taxes, federal insurance contributions act deductions, mandatory pension plan payments, and mandatory union or professional dues. Amounts that are actually determined to be spousal maintenance and that are actually paid for spousal maintenance shall be deducted. Payments of child support involving other relationships shall be deducted. Amounts actually paid into voluntary pension plans up to the federal limit of tax-exempt contributions to one individual retirement account are exempt if the contributions began prior to the commencement of the dissolution and only in the amount actually paid after the dissolution. Self-employed persons may deduct normal business expenses and self-employment taxes. Justification shall be required for any business expense deduction about which there is disagreement.

(4) (a) Tax returns for the preceding three years and current paystubs shall be provided to verify income and deductions. Other sufficient verification shall be required for income and deductions which do not appear on tax returns or paystubs.

(b) The parties may agree or the court may order which parent is entitled to claim the child or children as dependents for federal income tax exemptions.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 5. (1) Both parents have a continuing obligation to support their children. The parents' obligation for support shall be based on their combined net income, resources, and special child-rearing costs. The presumptive basic support obligation shall be determined upon the combined net income of the parents up to a cap of seven thousand dollars combined net income per month. The table is not presumptive but advisory only for combined net incomes above seven thousand dollars. The presumptive basic support obligation will be determined according to the following economic table after income has been determined:

For combined net incomes above $7000.00, see section 5(6)(d) of this act.

For combined net incomes under $600.00, see section 5(6) (a) and (b) of this act.

(2) Presumptive basic child support shall be apportioned to each parent in proportion to that parent's net monthly income divided by the parents' combined net monthly income.

(3) Neither parent's basic child support obligation shall exceed fifty percent of net earnings unless good cause is shown. Good cause includes, but is not limited to, possession of substantial wealth; children with day care expenses; special health care, educational, or psychological needs; and larger families.

(4) The transfer payment shall be made to the parent with whom the child or children reside a majority of the time pursuant to a parenting plan or a custody decree. The transfer payment shall be for the amount of that parent's share of basic support plus day care, health care, long-distance transportation, or other extraordinary expenses as apportioned pursuant to section 7 of this act.

(5) Basic child support shall be adjusted when a child stays overnight with the nonresidential parent more than ninety nights per calendar year. Credit shall be allowed for each overnight stay beyond ninety overnight stays. The amount of the credit shall be determined by multiplying the basic support obligation determined under this section for the parent seeking the credit times $2/365$ ths times the number of overnights for which credit is granted. This calculation shall be made independently for each child for whom an adjustment is sought.

Absent agreement between the parents, the parent seeking the adjustment based on overnight stays shall have the burden to show by a preponderance of the evidence the requested adjustment is consistent with the parent's actual past involvement with the child. The support payment should not be reduced if the reduction will result in insufficient funds in the house receiving the support to meet the basic needs of the child or the child is receiving aid to families with dependent children payments.

(6) (a) When combined monthly net income is less than six hundred dollars, a support order not less than twenty-five dollars per month shall be entered for each parent, regardless of the number of children.

(b) A parent's child support obligation shall not reduce his or her net income below the need standard for one person promulgated pursuant to RCW 74.04.770, except for the mandatory minimum payment of twenty-five dollars per month as required pursuant to (a) of this subsection. This section shall not be construed to require monthly substantiation of income.

(c) The court may deviate from the basic support calculation. Reasons for deviation may include the possession of wealth, shared living arrangements, extraordinary debts that have not been voluntarily incurred, extraordinarily high income of a child, a significant disparity in the living costs of the parents due to conditions beyond their control, and special needs of disabled children. Deviation from the basic support obligation based upon tax planning considerations shall be allowed in the discretion of the court, but only upon written findings of fact demonstrating that the tax planning considerations result in greater benefits for the child. Deviations must be supported by the evidence and substantiated by written findings of fact entered by the court.

(d) The child support guidelines are not presumptive, but advisory only for combined net incomes above seven thousand dollars. For combined monthly net incomes exceeding seven thousand dollars per month, the court shall not set child support at a level below the amount calculated for the seven thousand dollars per month income level, but the court has discretion to establish support at higher levels upon written findings of fact based upon reasons for deviation as set forth in (c) of this subsection.

(7) When there are children from other relationships, the child support guidelines shall be applied to the mother, father, and children of the relationship being considered. Natural and adopted children from other relationships of the parent obligated to make the transfer payment and stepchildren shall not be considered for purposes of determining the presumptive basic support obligation per child from the table. Deviations from the amount of the presumptive basic support obligation due shall be based on the total circumstances of both households and determined according to subsection (6)(c) of this section.

(8) The child support guidelines for children in the age category of twelve and over shall be advisory and not mandatory for children who have attained the age of eighteen, have completed their secondary education, and who seek postsecondary education. When considering whether to order child support for children over age eighteen who have completed their secondary education and who seek postsecondary education, the court shall determine whether the child is in fact dependent and is relying upon the parents for the reasonable necessities of life. The court shall exercise its discretion when determining whether and for how long to award postsecondary educational support based upon consideration of factors that include but are not limited to the following: Age of the child; the child's needs; the expectations of the parties for their children when the parents were together; the child's prospects, desires, aptitudes, abilities, disabilities; the nature of the postsecondary education sought; and the parents' level of education, standard of living, and current and future resources. Also to be considered is the amount and type of support that the child would have been afforded if the parents had stayed together. The child must be enrolled in school, actively pursuing a course of study, and in good academic standing as defined by the institution or the court-ordered postsecondary educational support may be automatically suspended during the period or periods the child fails to comply with these conditions. The court in its discretion may order that the payment be made directly to the parent who has been receiving the transfer payments, the educational institution if feasible, or directly to the child. The court shall not order the payment of postsecondary educational expenses beyond the age of twenty-three, except for exceptional circumstances, such as mental, physical, or emotional disabilities.

(9) The provisions of this chapter shall apply to adult children who are dependent on their parents and for whom support is ordered pursuant to RCW 26.09.100.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 6. If approved by a majority vote of the superior court judges of a county, the superior court may adopt by local court rule an economic table that shall be used by the superior court of that county, instead of the economic table adopted by the legislature, to determine the appropriate amount of child support. The economic table adopted by the superior court shall not vary by more than twenty-five percent from the economic table adopted by the legislature and shall not vary the economic table for combined monthly net income of two thousand five hundred dollars or less.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 7. (1) Day care, health care, long-distance transportation costs, and special child-rearing expenses such as tuition are not included in the basic support obligation for each child. These expenses shall be shared by the parents in the same proportion as the basic child support obligation and may be listed as a specific dollar amount or as a percentage amount subject to the verification requirements pursuant to subsection (2) of this section. The court may exercise its discretion to determine the reasonableness and necessity of extraordinary and special expenses.

(2) (a) If a sum certain is established for day care and is set forth in the decree, the parent making the transfer payment is entitled to proof of the amount paid for day care. The parent making the transfer payment is responsible for the appropriate percentage of the actual amount paid, not to exceed the proper share of the amount as set forth in the decree. The transfer payment for day care must be made in advance if the day care amount is set forth in the decree or is a regularly paid amount in a sum certain. If an amount is not specified in the decree or a regular sum certain, reimbursement of day care expenses shall be treated in the same manner as reimbursement for transportation costs, health care, and other extraordinary expenses. If the actual amount of day care expenditures is less than the anticipated amount, then the parent making the transfer payment is entitled to reimbursement for that parent's percentage share of the savings, either directly or by a reduction in future day care transfer payments.

(b) For transportation costs, health care costs, and other extraordinary expenses of the children specified in the decree, the parent paying these expenses shall be entitled to prompt reimbursement of the other parent's share of those expenses. Proof of the expenditure shall be furnished to the parent from whom reimbursement is sought. Reimbursement must be made promptly but not later than thirty days of receipt of proof of payment of these expenditures.

(3) (a) If reimbursement is not made within the thirty-day period or is incomplete due to a nonsufficient fund check or other failure to pay, the parent seeking reimbursement may by motion obtain an order compelling payment with statutory interest. The court shall award actual court costs and reasonable attorneys' fees in every instance of failure to reimburse except upon a showing of good cause for nonpayment.

(b) Wage assignment orders may be obtained pursuant to chapter 26.18 RCW to collect court-ordered basic child support, day care, health care, long-distance transportation costs, or other extraordinary expenses, and attorneys' fees. A parent to whom basic child support, day care, health care, long-distance transportation costs, or other extraordinary expenses are to be paid based on a percentage share of the costs, may by motion obtain a court order reducing the amounts owed to a sum certain and then enforce collection of that amount by a wage assignment order.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 8. (1) Except as provided in subsections (2) and (3) of this section, all child support decrees may be adjusted once every twenty-four months pursuant to this chapter based upon changes in the income of the parents without a showing of substantially changed circumstances as provided in RCW 26.09.170. Either party may initiate the modification pursuant to procedures of RCW 26.09.175.

(2) Parents whose decrees are entered before the effective date of this act may petition the court for a modification after twelve months has expired from the entry of the decree or the most recent modification setting child support. However, if a party is granted relief under this provision, twenty-four months must pass before another petition for modification may be filed pursuant to subsection (1) of this section.

(3) A party may petition for modification in cases of substantially changed circumstances, under RCW 26.09.170, at any time. However, if relief is granted under RCW 26.09.170, twenty-four months must pass before a petition for modification under subsection (1) of this section may be filed.

(4) Statutory changes do not constitute a substantial change of circumstances.

(5) A parent who is receiving transfer payments who receives a wage or salary increase may not bring a modification action alleging that increase constitutes a substantial change of circumstances under RCW 26.09.170.

NEW SECTION, Sec. 9. (1) A parent obligated to pay child support may file a motion for an accounting of how the support is being spent by the receiving parent. The parent filing the motion must meet the following conditions prior to filing the motion:

(a) The parent filing the motion must be obligated to pay at least fifty percent of the basic child support obligation for both parents;

(b) If support is owed for one child, the parent must be obligated to pay at least three hundred dollars per month in child support; for two children, the parent must be obligated to pay at least five hundred twenty-five dollars per month in child support; for three or more children, the parent must be obligated to pay at least six hundred sixty dollars in child support; and

(c) The parent must be current in all child support payments.

(2)(a) The motion for an accounting must be accompanied by an affidavit setting forth facts demonstrating that the parent receiving support is not spending a substantial portion of the child support for the direct or indirect benefit of the child. The motion, affidavit, and notice of hearing shall be served on the parent receiving support. The only issue at the preliminary hearing on the motion shall be whether there is reasonable cause to believe that the support is directly or indirectly benefiting the child.

(b) If the court determines at the preliminary hearing that the motion and affidavit establish reasonable cause to believe that a substantial portion of the support is not directly or indirectly benefiting the child the court may: (i) Set a show cause hearing on the motion and affidavit, or (ii) order the parents to mediate the issue with a court commissioner, family court commissioner, or other appropriate person. The court's order shall be in writing and shall set forth the facts which establish reasonable cause. The parent receiving support may be required to produce at the show cause hearing such documentation as is reasonably available to the parent and as the court determines is necessary to resolve the issue. The parent receiving support shall not be required to provide documentation for expenditures for more than six months prior to the time of the filing of the motion.

(c) If the court determines at the preliminary hearing that the motion and affidavit do not establish reasonable cause to believe that a substantial portion of the support is directly or indirectly benefiting the child, the court shall order the parent filing the motion and affidavit to pay costs and statutory attorneys' fees to the parent receiving the support.

The court may award reasonable attorneys' fees to the parent receiving support if the court determines that:

(i) The motion was brought in bad faith, for harassment, or frivolously; or

(ii) The motion was based on material statements of fact which were false.

(3) If at the show cause hearing on the motion and affidavit the parent obligated to pay support demonstrates by a preponderance of the evidence that a substantial portion of the support is not directly or indirectly benefiting the child, the court shall enter an appropriate order directing the parent receiving the support to spend the child support to benefit the child. The court may order the child support payments to be paid to a protective payee for the benefit of the child. The only issue at the hearing on the motion shall be whether the parent receiving support is spending support to directly or indirectly benefit the child.

If the moving party prevails on the motion at the show cause hearing, the court may award reasonable attorneys' fees to the moving party.

(4) A motion and affidavit for an accounting of child support expenditures may not be filed more than once every twelve months.

Sec. 10. Section 6, chapter 275, Laws of 1988 and RCW 26.19.050 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) The ~~((commission))~~ administrator for the courts shall develop and adopt worksheets and instructions to assist the parties and courts in establishing the appropriate child support level and apportionment of support. The ~~((commission))~~ administrator for the courts shall attempt to the greatest extent possible to make the worksheets and instructions understandable by persons who are not represented by legal counsel.

(2) The administrator for the courts (~~in consultation with the commission~~) shall develop and adopt standards for the printing of worksheets and shall establish a process for certifying printed worksheets. (~~The administrator shall not alter the design approved by the commission~~). The administrator may maintain a register of sources for approved worksheets.

(3) The administrator for the courts should pursue methods to assist pro se parties and judges in the courtroom to calculate support payments through automated software, equipment, or personal assistance.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 11. A new section is added to chapter 26.18 RCW to read as follows:

When the department of labor and industries or a self-insurer pays compensation under chapter 51.32 RCW on behalf of or on account of the child or children of the injured worker for whom the injured worker owes a duty of child support, the amount of compensation the department or self-insurer pays on behalf of the child or children shall be treated for all purposes as if the injured worker paid the compensation toward satisfaction of the injured worker's child support obligations.

(1) Section 1, chapter 275, Laws of 1988 and RCW 26.19.001;

NEW SECTION. Sec. 14. This act shall not be construed as affecting any existing right acquired or liability or obligation incurred under the sections amended or repealed in this act or under any rule or order adopted under those sections, nor as affecting any proceeding instituted under those sections, if the proceeding was instituted prior to July 1, 1990.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 15. If any provision of this act or its application to any person or circumstance is held invalid, the remainder of the act or the application of the provision to other persons or circumstances is not affected.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. Wang: Thank you, Mr. Speaker. I wish you would consider this amendment as to whether or not it falls within the scope and object of this bill.

SPEAKER'S RULING

The Speaker: The Speaker has examined Substitute House Bill No. 2929, dealing with growth management, and the amendment by Representative Wolfe. The amendment provides a six percent limitation on the total tax liability of certain senior citizens. While Substitute House Bill No. 2929 covers a broad range of issues related to growth, the Speaker finds that this amendment, by dealing with general state tax policy, broadens the scope of Substitute House Bill No. 2929. The department may deny an application required under this subsection or condition a permit if water is not available, if the use is not a beneficial use, if the use would adversely affect existing water rights, if the use would threaten water quality or if the use would be inconsistent with a local comprehensive plan.

(4) Within one year of the effective date of this 1990 act, the department shall promulgate rules, pursuant to Chapter 34.05 RCW, establishing geographic areas of the state within which new small ground water withdrawals, as defined in subsection (2) of this section, shall be contingent upon applying for and receiving a water right permit. In the determination of these geographic areas, the department shall give particular consideration to areas covered by a ground water management area plan, designated critical water service areas, designated sole source aquifers, designated aquifer protection areas, or regional or basin water plans. Until such rules are adopted, the department may, by issuance of a written regulatory order, temporarily withdraw designated areas from appropriation by small ground water uses as defined in subsection 2 of this section.

*NEW SECTION. Sec. 86. (1) The sum of four hundred ninety-five thousand dollars, or as much thereof as may be necessary, is appropriated from the general fund to the department of trade and economic development for the biennium ending June 30, 1991, for the purposes of subsection (2) of this section.

(2) The department of trade and economic development shall provide fifteen thousand dollars to each associate development organization in this state; there is no match required from the associate development organization. The associate development organizations shall report to the trade and economic development committee in the house of representatives and the economic development and labor committee in the senate, by July 1, 1991, on how the funds provided under this section were used."

Renumber the remaining sections consecutively and correct the index and internal references accordingly.

Mr. Schoon spoke in favor of adoption of the amendment, and Ms. Cantwell opposed it. Mr. Schoon again spoke in favor of the amendment.

The amendment was not adopted.

Mr. R. Meyers moved adoption of the following amendment:

On page 85, after line 29, insert the following:

*NEW SECTION. Sec. 87. The declaration of moratoria on construction and land development by any permit-granting agency or the imposition of an interim zone may have a negative effect on the policies and goals of state and other local governments within the state, and therefore is a matter of state-wide concern. Such moratoria or interim zoning, particularly when limited in duration and scope and adopted pursuant to growth management systems that further the community planning goals and local comprehensive plans, may be both necessary and desirable.

However, clear state standards should be established to assure that the need for moratoria or interim zoning is considered and documented, the impact on necessary development and particularly housing is minimized, and necessary and properly enacted moratoria or interim zoning are not subjected to undue litigation.

NEW SECTION, Sec. 88. Unless the context clearly requires otherwise, the definitions in this section apply throughout sections 87 through 94 of this act.

(1) 'Moratorium' means a pattern or practice of delaying or withholding issuance of permits, authorizations, or approvals necessary to subdivide or partition real property or development on real property or any construction pursuant to such a permit.

(2) 'Permit-granting agency' means any branch of state government which is a lead agency or an agency with jurisdiction under the state environmental policy act, chapter 43.21C RCW, involved with the development, subdivision, or construction on real property.

(3) 'Facilities or resource-based emergency' means the emergency which exists with respect to facilities or resources when the projected development within an area will result in the creation of a demand or impact on the facilities or resources which will exceed the capacity of the facilities or resources within the period of the moratorium or interim zoning. Facilities may include transportation, sewer, water, storm water, or septic systems. Resources may include any property or interest identified as environmentally sensitive, including but not limited to agricultural or timber lands, ground water, surface water, shorelines and wetlands, and air. Capacity or permitted levels of contamination must be measured by existing adopted regulations at the state, federal, or local level.

(4) 'Land use emergency' means the emergency which exists when an unanticipated change occurs in a community or upon the adoption of a change in plan in a community which creates a situation in which a community may lose the benefits of planning unless a moratorium is imposed or an interim zone is adopted. Development which occurs in accordance with an adopted comprehensive plan or proposed changes to adopted plans may not be considered an unanticipated change for purposes of declaring a land use emergency.

(5) 'Interim zoning' means a deliberate and purposeful device designed to classify or regulate uses of land and related matters and is necessary to preserve the zoning scheme as presented to the public in the comprehensive plan and attendant maps and resolutions or ordinances.

(6) 'Regulation' means a statute, rule, or standard adopted by the permit-granting agency to establish standards, procedures, or criteria for the subdivision, development, or construction of real property.

NEW SECTION, Sec. 89. Any permitting agency seeking to adopt a rule or ordinance which would impose a moratorium or interim zoning because of facilities, resources, or land use emergencies, shall only adopt such regulation as provided in this section.

(1) If the permit-granting agency deals through a planning agency, the matter must be recommended by the planning commission and adopted by the governmental board, council, or commission of the permit-granting agency. Any other permit-granting agency must effect the action by regulation adopted by the governing board. All such regulations must be approved by an affirmative vote of not less than seventy-five percent of the governing board.

(2) In the event of a facilities or resource-based emergency, notice and hearing are not required if the following findings are reasonably documented by the permit-granting agency:

(a) The current level, service, or current contaminant level of the affected facilities or resources;

(b) The adopted regulation defining capacity of the facility or safe levels of potential contaminants in the affected resource. However, if the affected resource is drinking water, ground water, aquifers, or air, the adopted standard for emergency purposes may not be more stringent than the standards adopted through state or federal regulations;

(c) The factors which demonstrate that capacity or safe levels for potential contaminants will be exceeded during the period of the moratorium or interim zoning ordinance;

(d) The factors which demonstrate that the scope and definition of the moratorium or interim zoning ordinance will serve to equalize the effect of the moratorium or interim zoning over all property owners to the extent possible and not merely limit the effect to a select few.

(3) In the event of a land use emergency, notice and hearing are not required if the following findings are reasonably documented by the board:

(a) The nature of the change in the community and the reason it was unanticipated;

(b) The factors which make the interim rules during a moratorium or interim zoning period consistent with adopted comprehensive plans;

(c) The geographic extent of the emergency and the reason the boundaries selected are the minimum necessary to deal with the identified emergency;

(d) The facts which demonstrate why the prohibited development or activity which will be shifted out of the area affected by the emergency during the period of moratorium or interim zoning will not cause an emergency in nearby or adjoining areas to which the prohibited development or activity would likely shift.

(e) The facts which demonstrate that the cost to the public of the consequences of the unanticipated change will be greater than the cost to the property owners within the area affected by the emergency; and

(f) The nature and extent of the public resources which demonstrate the permit-granting agency can resolve the emergency within the time limits identified in subsection (4) of this section.

(4) No moratorium or interim zoning shall be effective for a period longer than one hundred twenty days, but such a moratorium or interim zoning may be extended provided the city, county, or special district adopting the moratorium or interim zoning:

(a) Finds that the problem giving rise to the need for a moratorium or interim zoning continues to exist;

(b) Demonstrates that reasonable progress is being made to alleviate the problem giving rise to the moratorium or interim zoning; and

(c) Sets a specific duration for the renewal of the moratorium or interim zoning. A moratorium or interim zoning may be extended more than once but no single extension may be for a period longer than six months.

A renewal shall only be after a notice and public hearing.

A renewal shall require reconfirmation of the factual issues identified in subsections (2) and (3) of this section.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 90. The municipality shall document any decision made under sections 89 through 94 of this act as required by chapter 43.21C RCW. In the event the environmental review officer determines the initial action exempt by reason of RCW 43.21C.110, as defined in WAC 197-11-880, the municipality shall not extend the moratorium or interim zoning as provided in section 89(4) of this act without an environmental assessment and appropriate action as required under chapter 43.21C RCW.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 91. A permit-granting agency that adopts a moratorium or interim zoning shall, within sixty days after the effective date of the moratorium or interim zone, adopt a program which seeks to correct the problem creating the moratorium or interim zoning. The program shall be presented at a public hearing. The permit-granting agency shall give advance notice of the time and date of the public hearing.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 92. Any ordinance regulating a moratorium or interim zoning shall identify the criteria by which the permit-granting agency will determine vested projects. The ordinance shall provide that all applications on file, for which the initial fee has been paid, shall be processed to completion under existing rules even if the state environmental policy act review has not been completed or several approvals must be obtained prior to the issuance of building permits.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 93. Any moratorium or interim ordinance adopted on an emergency basis, including the emergency section under the state environmental policy act, WAC 197-11-880, is null and void unless the procedures in sections 89 through 92 of this act are followed.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 94. Any person aggrieved by violation of this section may enforce this section by action in superior court in the county in which the moratorium or interim zoning takes effect. The successful party in any action shall be entitled to reimbursement of reasonable costs and fees, including attorneys' fees.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 95. Sections 88 through 94 of this act are each added to chapter 36.70 RCW.*

RESOLUTION

HOUSE FLOOR RESOLUTION NO. 90-4747, by Representatives Hine and Brough

WHEREAS, Thursday, February 15, 1990, marks the one hundred seventieth anniversary of the birth of Susan Brownell Anthony, reformer and leader of women's suffrage; and

WHEREAS, Susan B. Anthony defied male electioneers and faced indictment for illegally voting in 1872; and

WHEREAS, Susan B. Anthony was director of the Female Department of the Canajoharie Academy in New York until she abandoned her career in education to devote her life to social reform, first organizing the Woman's State Temperance Society of New York; and

WHEREAS, Susan B. Anthony, along with Elizabeth Cady Stanton, founded in 1863 the Woman's Loyal National League to petition Congress to advocate full civil and political rights for women, as well as for blacks, when the Civil War ended; and

WHEREAS, In 1866, Susan B. Anthony and other reformers formed the Equal Rights Association to further their campaign for women's suffrage; and

WHEREAS, The reformers took their suffrage campaign in 1867 to the New York State Constitutional Convention, where the state legislature refused to consider the issue, but instead gave considerable support to legislation legalizing prostitution; and

WHEREAS, Susan B. Anthony and her suffragettes fought back with lobbying efforts that killed the prostitution bill in committee and eventually secured the first laws in New York State to guarantee women's rights over their children and control over their property and wages; and

WHEREAS, Susan B. Anthony organized the National Woman Suffrage Association that later united with the American Woman Suffrage Association to form the National American Woman Suffrage Association; and

WHEREAS, During the presidential campaign in 1872, Susan B. Anthony urged women in every state in the union to claim their rights under the Fourteenth and Fifteenth Amendments of the United States Constitution by registering and voting; and

WHEREAS, In a colorful display of her remarkable courage, Susan B. Anthony and her three sisters boldly entered a stronghold of men in a Rochester, New York barbershop in 1872 and insisted that they be registered to vote under provisions of the Fourteenth Amendment; and

WHEREAS, On November 5, 1872, Susan B. Anthony entered her polling place, voted the Republican ticket, then was charged and indicted for voting illegally; and

WHEREAS, In another display of determination, Susan B. Anthony refused to pay her streetcar fare when the Deputy Marshall carted her off to jail, announcing loudly enough for all passengers to hear, "I'm travelling at the expense of this government. This gentleman is taking me to jail. Ask him for my fare!";

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, That the House of Representatives honor Susan B. Anthony, remember her for and emulate her dedication to social reform that led to the passage of the women's suffrage amendment (Nineteenth Amendment) to the United States Constitution in 1920; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That Susan B. Anthony be remembered for her courage and determination to work for equal rights for all citizens of America as reflected in her statement: "It was we the people, not we the white male citizens, nor yet we the male citizens, but we the whole people, who formed this Union. And we formed it not to give the blessings of liberty, but to secure them, not to the half of ourselves and the half of our posterity, but to the whole people -- women as well as men."

SSB 6290 Prime Sponsor, Committee on Energy & Utilities: Revising provisions for telecommunications devices for the hearing impaired and speech impaired and repealing the expiration date. Reported by Committee on Energy & Utilities

MAJORITY recommendation: Do pass with the following amendments:

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

NEW SECTION, Sec. 1. The legislature finds that provision of telecommunications devices and relay capability for hearing impaired persons is an effective and needed service which should be continued. The legislature further finds that the same devices and relay capability can serve and should be extended to serve speech impaired persons.

Sec. 2. Section 2, chapter 304, Laws of 1987 and RCW 43.20A.720 are each amended to read as follows:

'Hearing impaired' means those persons who are certified to be deaf, deaf-blind, or hard of hearing, and those persons who are certified to have a hearing disability limiting their access to telecommunications.

'Speech impaired' means persons who are certified to be unable to speak or who are certified to have a speech impairment limiting their access to telecommunications.

'Telecommunications device for the deaf (TDD)' means a teletypewriter that has a typewriter keyboard and a readable display that couples with the telephone, allowing messages to be typed rather than spoken. The device allows a person to make a telephone call directly to another person possessing similar equipment. The conversation is typed through one machine to the other machine instead of spoken.

'TDD relay system' is a service for hearing and speech impaired people who have a TDD to call someone who does not have a TDD or vice versa. The service consists of several telephones being utilized by TDD relay service operators who receive either TDD or voice phone calls. If a TDD relay service operator receives a phone call from a hearing or speech impaired person wishing to call a hearing person, the operator will call the hearing person and act as an intermediary by translating what is displayed on the TDD to voice and typing what is voiced into the TDD to be read by the ~~((deaf))~~ hearing or speech impaired caller. This process can also be reversed with a hearing person calling a deaf person through the TDD relay service.

'Qualified trainer' is a person who is knowledgeable about TDDs, signal devices, and amplifying accessories; familiar with the technical aspects of equipment designed to meet hearing impaired people's needs; and is fluent in American sign language.

'Qualified contractor' shall have bilingual staff available for quality language/cultural interpretations; quality training of operators; and policies, training, and operational procedures to be determined by the office.

'The department' means the department of social and health services of the state of Washington.

'Office' means the office of deaf services within the state department of social and health services.

Sec. 3. Section 3, chapter 304, Laws of 1987 and RCW 43.20A.725 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) The department shall ~~((design and implement))~~ maintain a program whereby TDDs, signal devices, a TDD relay system, and amplifying accessories capable of serving the needs of the hearing and speech impaired shall be provided at no charge additional to the basic exchange rate, to an individual of school age or older, (a) who is certified as hearing impaired by a licensed physician, audiologist, or a qualified state agency, and to any subscriber that is an organization representing the hearing impaired, as determined and specified by the TDD advisory committee; or (b) who is certified as speech impaired by a licensed physician, speech pathologist, or a qualified state agency, and to any subscriber that is an organization representing the speech impaired, as determined and specified by the TDD advisory committee. For the purpose of this section, certification implies that individuals cannot use the telephone for expressive or receptive communications due to hearing or speech impairment.

(2) The office shall award contracts on a competitive basis, to qualified persons for which eligibility to contract is determined by the office, for the distribution and maintenance of such TDDs, signal devices, and amplifying accessories as shall be determined by the office. Such contract shall include a provision for the employment and use of a qualified trainer and the training of recipients in the use of such devices.

~~(3) (TDDs, signal devices, and amplifying accessories shall be made available to qualified recipients by December 1, 1987.)~~ The office shall establish and implement a policy for the ultimate responsibility for recovery of TDDs, signal devices, and amplifying accessories from recipients who are moving from this state or who for other reasons are no longer using them.

(4) Pursuant to recommendations of the TDD advisory committee, the office shall maintain a program whereby a relay system will be provided state-wide using operator intervention to connect hearing impaired and speech impaired persons and offices or organizations representing the hearing impaired and speech impaired, as determined and specified by the TDD advisory committee pursuant to section 4 of this act. The relay system shall be the most cost-effective possible and shall operate in a manner consistent with federal requirements for such systems.

(5) The program shall be funded by telecommunications devices for the deaf (TDD) excise tax applied to each switched access line provided by the local exchange companies. The office shall determine, in consultation with the TDD advisory committee, the amount of money needed to fund the program on an annual basis, including both operational costs and a reasonable amount for capital improvements such as equipment upgrade and replacement. That information shall be given by the department in an annual budget to the utilities and transportation commission no later than March 1 prior to the beginning of the fiscal year. The utilities and transportation commission shall then determine the amount of TDD excise tax to be placed on each access line and shall inform each local exchange company of this amount no later than May 15. The TDD excise tax shall not exceed ten cents per month per access line. Each local exchange company shall impose the amount of excise tax determined by the commission as of July 1, and shall remit the amount collected directly to the department on a monthly basis. The TDD excise tax shall be separately identified on each ratepayer's bill as 'Telecommunications devices funds for deaf and hearing impaired'. All proceeds from the TDD excise tax shall be put into a fund to be administered by the office through the department.

(6) The office shall administer and control the award of money to all parties incurring costs in implementing and maintaining telecommunications services, programs, equipment, and technical support services in accordance with the provisions of RCW 43.20A.725.

(7) The department shall provide the legislature with a biennial report on the operation of the program. The first report shall be provided no later than December 1, 1990, and successive reports every two years thereafter. Reports shall be prepared in consultation with the TDD advisory committee and the utilities and transportation commission. The reports shall, at a minimum, briefly outline the accomplishments of the program, the number of persons served, revenues and expenditures, the prioritizing of services to those eligible based on such factors as degree of physical handicap or the allocation of the program's revenue between provision of devices to individuals and operation of the state-wide relay service, other major policy or operational issues, and proposals for improvements or changes for the program. The first report shall contain a study which includes examination of like programs in other states, alternative methods of financing the program, alternative methods of using the telecommunications system, advantages and disadvantages of operating the TDD program from within the department, by telecommunications companies, and by a private, nonprofit corporation, and means to limit demand for system usage.

(8) The program shall be consistent with the requirements of federal law for the operation of both interstate and intrastate telecommunications services for the deaf or hearing impaired or speech impaired. The department and the utilities and transportation commission shall be responsible for ensuring compliance with federal requirements and shall provide timely notice to the legislature of any legislation that may be required to accomplish compliance.

Sec. 4. Section 4, chapter 304, Laws of 1987 and RCW 43.20A.730 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) The department advisory committee on deafness shall establish a TDD advisory committee ~~((to study the feasibility of implementing a state-wide telecommunications relay system))~~ to oversee operation of the TDD program. The TDD advisory committee shall consist of no more than thirteen individuals ~~((from))~~ representing the hearing impaired and speech impaired communities, ~~((representatives from))~~ the department, the utilities and transportation commission, agencies and services serving the hearing impaired and speech impaired, and local exchange companies in the state. The membership on the TDD advisory committee shall, to the maximum extent possible, include representatives from (a) the major state-wide organizations representing the hearing impaired and speech impaired, (b) organizations for the hearing impaired and speech impaired located in areas of the state with high populations of such persons, and (c) organizations that reflect the different geographic regions of the state. In order to develop ~~((and))~~, implement, and maintain a state-wide relay system providing cost-effective relay centers at a reasonable cost and that will meet the requirements of the hearing impaired and speech impaired, the TDD advisory committee shall investigate options, conduct public hearings as needed to determine the most cost-effective method of ~~((creating))~~ operating a state-wide relay system providing relay centers to the hearing impaired and speech impaired, and solicit the advice, counsel, and assistance of interested parties and nonprofit consumer organizations for hearing impaired and speech impaired persons state-wide. ~~((Such committee shall begin the study within thirty days of July 26, 1987, to be completed within six months after the study begins.))~~ The TDD advisory committee~~((s))~~ shall also, in conjunction with the department, monitor the activities and moneys that ~~((is/are))~~ are being spent by the department for the program herein.

~~((2))~~ ~~((Pursuant to the recommendations of the TDD advisory committee, the office shall implement a program whereby relay centers will be provided state-wide using operator intervention to connect hearing impaired persons and offices of organizations representing the hearing impaired, as determined and specified by the TDD advisory committee pursuant to subsection (4) of this section, and connect hearing persons within six months after the office receives the recommendations.~~

~~((3))~~ ~~The program will be funded by telecommunications devices for the deaf (TDD) excise tax applied to each switched access line provided by the local exchange companies. The office shall determine the amount of money needed to fund the program. That information shall be given to the utilities and transportation commission. The utilities and transportation commission shall then determine the amount of TDD excise tax to be placed on each access line. The TDD excise tax shall not exceed ten cents per month per access line. The TDD excise tax shall be separately identified on each ratepayer's bill as "Telecommunications devices funds for deaf and hearing impaired." All proceeds from the TDD excise tax will be put into a fund to be administered by the office through the department.~~

~~((4))~~ The TDD advisory committee shall establish criteria and specify state-wide organizations representing the hearing or speech impaired meeting such criteria that are to receive telecommunications devices pursuant to RCW 43.20A.725(1), and in which offices the equipment shall be installed if an organization has more than one office.

~~((5))~~ ~~The office shall establish a policy determining the ultimate ownership and responsibility for the recovery of TDDs, signal devices, and amplifying accessories from recipients who are moving from this state.~~

~~((6))~~ ~~The office shall administer and control the award of money to all parties incurring costs in implementing and maintaining telecommunications services, programs, equipment, and technical support services in accordance with the provisions of RCW 43.20A.725.~~

~~((7))~~ ~~A study will be authorized to determine the number of hearing impaired people who have party lines and the costs of converting them to single lines. The TDD advisory committee will report the study findings to the utilities and transportation commission. The study will be completed by the TDD advisory committee within a year of July 26, 1987.)~~

POINTS OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. Todd: Thank you, Mr. Speaker. On this Presidents' Day, 1990, I would like to remember a relative of mine, somebody whose birthday occurred last week. Over the years, as many of you know, I have enjoyed giving a counterpoint to a gentleman from the other side of the aisle who is no longer here. I would like to provide a few brief thoughts for you this afternoon.

Each February 12, people throughout our country, and in many parts of the world, take a few moments to remember and appreciate the greatness of Abraham Lincoln. We remember the man and also his words. He believed that our country was "a nation conceived in liberty, and dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal." He was committed to "a government of the people, by the people, and for the people." He lived a life characterized by "malice towards none and charity for all." School children throughout the world know his famous words, which tells you something about Lincoln's greatness. Yet Lincoln himself believed his words would be little noted, nor long remembered, which tells you something about Lincoln.

Eloquent people remember Lincoln's goodness of heart in many ways. For example, his contemporary Emerson remembered that "his heart was as great as the world, but there was no room in it to hold a memory of a wrong." Frederick Douglass, who knew him well, remembered Lincoln as the first white person he ever spent an hour with who did not remind him that he was black. And I believe that Henry Cabot Lodge spoke for many of us when he said, exactly eighty-one years ago, that Washington and Lincoln were "the best great men and the greatest good men whom history can show."

But how did Lincoln want to be remembered? He answered that question once, and his answer speaks volumes about the man. He said, "Die when I may, I want it said of me by those who know me best, that I have always plucked a thistle and planted a flower when I thought a flower would grow."

Mr. Speaker, Lincoln's ideas about freedom, equality, and democracy have taken root and flowered more broadly and more brightly than that humble man could ever have imagined. There is a reason why the N.A.A.C.P. was born eighty-one years ago on what would have been Lincoln's one hundredth birthday. There is a reason why Martin Luther King shared his great dream on the steps of the Lincoln Memorial. And there is a reason why our nation's Voting Rights Act was signed at the foot of Lincoln's statue. The reason is simply that Lincoln's inspiration came from the heart and speaks to the heart.

And it continues to speak to the hearts of men and women everywhere. For example, when Lech Walesa, whose own courage and leadership has changed the course of history, spoke to Congress last November, he called himself just "a shipyard worker from Gdansk, who has devoted his entire life...to this idea: 'Government of the people, by the people, for the people.'"

So, yes, Lincoln's inspiration--America's inspiration--continues to flower throughout the world. In eastern Europe, and in Latin America, authoritarian government is being uprooted and replaced by government "of the people, by the people, and for the people." We all pray this principle will continue to flower in South Africa. We all pray it will soon flower in China. We all pray it will grow in the Soviet Union. And we all believe it will, someday.

And when it does, you can be sure that on that day, as on this day, people will take a few moments to remember and appreciate the greatness, the goodness, and the wisdom of Abraham Lincoln.

Mr. Moyer: Thank you, Mr. Speaker. May I add one short quotation to the eloquence of the previous speaker? "A child is a person who is going to carry on what you have started. He will assume control of your cities, your states and your nation. The fate of humanity is in his hands." That is from Abraham Lincoln. Thank you.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. Improving the quality of instruction at our state institutions of higher education is a priority of the legislature. It is the intent of the legislature that, in conjunction with these various efforts, the process for the award of faculty tenure at community colleges should allow for a more lengthy and thorough review of the performance of faculty appointees prior to the granting of tenure.

SSB 6493 Prime Sponsor, Committee on Children & Family Services: Authorizing the appointment of confidential intermediaries in adoption searches. Reported by Committee on Human Services

MAJORITY recommendation: Do pass with the following amendments:

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

"NEW SECTION, Sec. 1. A new section is added to chapter 26.33 RCW to read as follows:

(1) An adopted person over the age of twenty-one years, or under twenty-one with the permission of the adoptive parent, or a birth parent or member of the birth parent's family after the adoptee has reached the age of twenty-one may petition the court to appoint a confidential intermediary. The intermediary shall search for and discreetly contact the birth parent or adopted person; or members of the birth parent or adopted person's family if authorized by the court pursuant to subsection (6)(c) of this section. These family members shall be limited to the birth grandparents of the adult adoptee, a brother or sister of a birth parent, or the child of a birth parent. The court, for good cause shown, may allow a relative more distant in degree to petition for disclosure.

(2)(a) Confidential intermediaries appointed under this section shall complete training provided by a licensed adoption service or another court-approved entity and file an oath of confidentiality and a certificate of completion of training with the superior court of every county in which they serve as intermediaries. The court may dismiss an intermediary if the intermediary engages in conduct which violates professional or ethical standards.

(b) The confidential intermediary shall sign a statement of confidentiality substantially as follows:

I, _____, signing under penalty of contempt of court, state: 'As a condition of appointment as a confidential intermediary, I affirm that, when adoption records are opened to me:

I will not disclose to the petitioner, directly or indirectly, any identifying information in the records without further order from the court.

I will conduct a diligent search for the person being sought and make a discreet and confidential inquiry as to whether that person will consent to being put in contact with the petitioner, and I will report back to the court the results of my search and inquiry.

If the person sought consents to be put in contact with the petitioner, I will attempt to obtain a dated, written consent from the person, and attach the original of the consent to my report to the court. If the person sought does not consent to the disclosure of his or her identity, I shall report the refusal of consent to the court.

I will not make any charge or accept any compensation for my services except as approved by the court, or as reimbursement from the petitioner for actual expenses incurred in conducting the search. These expenses will be listed in my report to the court.

I recognize that unauthorized release of confidential information may subject me to civil liability under state law, and subjects me to being found in contempt of court.'

(c) The confidential intermediary shall be entitled to reimbursement from the petitioner for actual expenses in conducting the search. The court may authorize a reasonable fee in addition to these expenses.

(3) If the confidential intermediary is unable to locate the person being sought within one year, the confidential intermediary shall make a recommendation to the court as to whether or not a further search is warranted, and the reasons for this recommendation.

(4) In the case of a petition filed on behalf of a birth parent or other blood relative of the adoptee, written consent of any living adoptive parent shall be obtained prior to contact with the adoptee if the adoptee:

(a) Is less than twenty-five years of age and is residing with the adoptive parent; or

(b) Is less than twenty-five years of age and is a dependent of the adoptive parent.

(5) If the confidential intermediary locates the person being sought, a discreet and confidential inquiry shall be made as to whether or not that person will consent to having his or her present identity disclosed to the petitioner. The identity of the petitioner shall not be disclosed to the party being sought. If the party being sought consents to the disclosure of his or her identity, the confidential intermediary shall obtain the consent in writing and shall include the original of the consent in the report filed with the court. If the party being sought refuses disclosure of his or her identity, the confidential intermediary shall report the refusal to the court and shall refrain from further and subsequent inquiry without judicial approval.

(6)(a) If the confidential intermediary obtains from the person being sought written consent for disclosure of his or her identity to the petitioner, the court may then order that the name and other identifying information of that person be released to the petitioner.

(b) If the person being sought is deceased, the court may order disclosure of the identity of the deceased to the petitioner.

(c) If the confidential intermediary is unable to contact the person being sought within one year, the court may order that the search be continued for a specified time or be terminated. If the person who is the subject of the search is not alive or cannot be located within one year, the court may order the intermediary to attempt to locate members of the birth parent or adopted person's family.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. A new section is added to chapter 26.33 RCW to read as follows:

(1) The department of social and health services, adoption agencies, and independent adoption facilitators shall release the name and location of the court where a relinquishment of parental rights or finalization of an adoption took place to an adult adoptee, a birth parent of an adult adoptee, an adoptive parent, a birth or adoptive grandparent of an adult adoptee, or an adult sibling of an adult adoptee, or the legal guardian of any of these.

(2) The department of vital records shall make available a noncertified copy of the original birth certificate of a child to the child's birth parents upon request.

Sec. 3. Section 33, chapter 155, Laws of 1984 and RCW 26.33.330 are each amended to read as follows:

Sec. 4. Section 34, chapter 155, Laws of 1984 and RCW 26.33.340 are each amended to read as follows:

Identifying information may also be disclosed through the procedure described in section 1 of this act.

Sec. 5. Section 2, chapter 155, Laws of 1984 and RCW 26.33.020 are each amended to read as follows:

The entry of a decree of adoption divests any parent or alleged father who is not married to the adoptive parent or who has not joined in the petition for adoption of all legal rights and obligations in respect to the adoptee, except past-due child support obligations. The adoptee shall be free from all legal obligations of obedience and maintenance in respect to the parent. The adoptee shall be, to all intents and purposes, and for all legal incidents, the child, legal heir, and lawful issue of the adoptive parent, entitled to all rights and privileges, including the right of inheritance and the right to take under testamentary disposition, and subject to all the obligations of a ((~~natural~~)) birth child of the adoptive parent.

(1) Every person, firm, society, association, or corporation receiving, securing a home for, or otherwise caring for a minor child shall transmit to the prospective adopting parent prior to placement and shall make available to all persons with whom a child has been placed by adoption a complete medical report containing all available information concerning the mental, physical, and sensory handicaps of the child. The report shall not reveal the identity of the ((~~natural~~)) birth parents of the child but shall include any available mental or physical health history of the ((~~natural~~)) birth parents that needs to be known by the adoptive parents to facilitate proper health care for the child or that will assist the adoptive parents in maximizing the developmental potential of the child.

(2) Where available, the information provided shall include:

(3) A ((~~natural~~)) birth parent who has executed a written consent to adoption shall not bring an action to set aside an adoption more than one year after the date the court approved the written consent.

Sec. 9. Section 2, chapter 281, Laws of 1989 and RCW 26.33.380 are each amended to read as follows:

Every person, firm, society, association, or corporation receiving, securing a home for, or otherwise caring for a minor child shall transmit to the prospective adopting parent prior to placement and shall make available to all persons with whom a child has been placed by adoption, a family background and child and family social history report, which includes a chronological history of the circumstances surrounding the adoptive placement and any available psychiatric reports, psychological reports, court reports pertaining to dependency or custody, or school reports. Such reports or information shall not reveal the identity of the ((~~natural~~)) birth parents of the child.

Sec. 10. Section 2, chapter 42, Laws of 1975-'76 2nd ex. sess. and RCW 26.26.010 are each amended to read as follows:

As used in this chapter, 'parent and child relationship' means the legal relationship existing between a child and his ((~~natural~~)) or her birth or adoptive parents incident to which the law confers or imposes rights, privileges, duties, and obligations. It includes the mother and child relationship and the father and child relationship.

Sec. 11. Section 4, chapter 42, Laws of 1975-'76 2nd ex. sess. as amended by section 86, chapter 7, Laws of 1985 and RCW 26.26.030 are each amended to read as follows:

The parent and child relationship between a child and

(1) the ((~~natural~~)) birth mother may be established by proof of her having given birth to the child, or under this chapter;

(2) the ((~~natural~~)) birth father may be established under this chapter;

(3) an adoptive parent may be established by proof of adoption or under the provisions of chapter 26.33 RCW.

Sec. 12. Section 5, chapter 42, Laws of 1975-'76 2nd ex. sess. as amended by section 4, chapter 55, Laws of 1989 and RCW 26.26.040 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) A man is presumed to be the ((natural)) birth father of a child for all intents and purposes if:

(a) He and the child's ((natural)) birth mother are or have been married to each other and the child is born during the marriage, or within three hundred days after the marriage is terminated by death, annulment, declaration of invalidity, divorce, or dissolution, or after a decree of separation is entered by a court; or

(b) Before the child's birth, he and the child's ((natural)) birth mother have attempted to marry each other by a marriage solemnized in apparent compliance with law, although the attempted marriage is or could be declared invalid, and the child is born within three hundred days after the termination of cohabitation;

(c) After the child's birth, he and the child's ((natural)) birth mother have married, or attempted to marry, each other by a marriage solemnized in apparent compliance with law, although the attempted marriage is or could be declared invalid, and

(i) He has acknowledged his paternity of the child in writing filed with the registrar of vital statistics,

(ii) With his consent, he is named as the child's father on the child's birth certificate, or

(iii) He is obligated to support the child under a written voluntary promise or by court order;

(d) While the child is under the age of majority, he receives the child into his home and openly holds out the child as his child; or

(e) He acknowledges his paternity of the child pursuant to RCW 70.58.080 or in a writing filed with the state office of vital statistics, which shall promptly inform the mother of the filing of the acknowledgment, if she does not dispute the acknowledgment within a reasonable time after being informed thereof, in a writing filed with the registrar of vital statistics. In order to enforce rights of residential time, custody, and visitation, a man presumed to be the father as a result of filing a written acknowledgment must seek appropriate judicial orders under this title.

(2) A presumption under this section may be rebutted in an appropriate action only by clear, cogent, and convincing evidence. If two or more presumptions arise which conflict with each other, the presumption which on the facts is founded on the weightier considerations of policy and logic controls. The presumption is rebutted by a court decree establishing paternity of the child by another man.

Sec. 13. Section 6, chapter 42, Laws of 1975-'76 2nd ex. sess. and RCW 26.26.050 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) If, under the supervision of a licensed physician and with the consent of her husband, a wife is inseminated artificially with semen donated by a man not her husband, the husband is treated in law as if he were the ((natural)) birth father of a child thereby conceived. The husband's consent must be in writing and signed by him and his wife. The physician shall certify their signatures and the date of the insemination, and file the husband's consent with the registrar of vital statistics, where it shall be kept confidential and in a sealed file.

(2) The donor of semen provided to a licensed physician for use in artificial insemination of a woman other than the donor's wife is treated in law as if he were not the ((natural)) birth father of a child thereby conceived unless the donor and the woman agree in writing that said donor shall be the father. The agreement must be in writing and signed by the donor and the woman. The physician shall certify their signatures and the date of the insemination and file the agreement with the registrar of vital statistics, where it shall be kept confidential and in a sealed file.

(3) The failure of the licensed physician to perform any administrative act required by this section shall not affect the father and child relationship. All papers and records pertaining to the insemination, whether part of the permanent record of a court or of a file held by the supervising physician or elsewhere, are subject to inspection only in exceptional cases upon an order of the court for good cause shown.

Sec. 14. Section 7, chapter 42, Laws of 1975-'76 2nd ex. sess. as amended by section 5, chapter 41, Laws of 1983 1st ex. sess. and RCW 26.26.060 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) (a) A child, a child's ((natural)) birth mother, a man alleged or alleging himself to be the father, a child's guardian, a child's personal representative, the state of Washington, or any interested party may bring an action at any time for the purpose of declaring the existence or nonexistence of the father and child relationship.

(b) A man presumed to be a child's father under RCW 26.26.040 may bring an action for the purpose of declaring the nonexistence of the father and child relationship only if the action is brought within a reasonable time after obtaining knowledge of relevant facts. After the presumption has been rebutted, paternity of the child by another man may be determined in the same action, if he has been made a party.

(2) In an action brought by the state pursuant to this chapter, the state may be represented by either the prosecuting attorney for the county where the action is brought or by the attorney general.

(3) Regardless of its terms, no agreement between an alleged or presumed father and the mother or child, shall bar an action under this section.

(4) If an action under this section is brought before the birth of the child, all proceedings may be stayed until after the birth, except service of process and discovery, including the taking of depositions to perpetuate testimony.

(5) Actions under this chapter may be maintained as to any child, whether born before or after the enactment of this chapter.

Sec. 15. Section 10, chapter 42, Laws of 1975-'76 2nd ex. sess. as last amended by section 31, chapter 260, Laws of 1984 and RCW 26.26.090 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) The child shall be made a party to the action. If the child is a minor, the child shall be represented by the child's general guardian or a guardian ad litem appointed by the court subject to RCW 74.20.310. The child's mother or father may not represent the child as guardian or otherwise. The ((natural)) birth mother, each man presumed to be the father under RCW 26.26.040, and a man or men alleged to be the ((natural)) birth father shall be made parties or, if not subject to the jurisdiction of the court, shall, if possible, be given actual notice of the action and an opportunity to be heard in a manner as the court may prescribe.

(2) Any party may cause to be joined as additional parties other men alleged to be the father of the child or any other person necessary for a full adjudication of the issues.

(3) The failure or inability to join as a party an alleged or presumed father does not deprive the court of jurisdiction to adjudicate some or all of the issues based on the evidence and parties available to it.

(4) If more than one party is alleged to be the father of the child, the default of a party shall not preclude the court from finding any other party to be the father of the child.

Sec. 16. Section 14, chapter 42, Laws of 1975-'76 2nd ex. sess. as last amended by section 18, chapter 360, Laws of 1989 and by section 23, chapter 375, Laws of 1989 and RCW 26.26.130 are each reenacted and amended to read as follows:

(1) The judgment and order of the court determining the existence or nonexistence of the parent and child relationship shall be determinative for all purposes.

(2) If the judgment and order of the court is at variance with the child's birth certificate, the court shall order that an amended birth certificate be issued.

(3) The judgment and order shall contain other appropriate provisions directed to the appropriate parties to the proceeding, concerning the duty of current and future support, the extent of any liability for past support furnished to the child if that issue is before the court, the furnishing of bond or other security for the payment of the judgment, or any other matter in the best interest of the child. The judgment and order may direct the father to pay the reasonable expenses of the mother's pregnancy and confinement.

(4) Support judgment and orders shall be for periodic payments which may vary in amount. The court may limit the father's liability for the past support to the child to the proportion of the expenses already incurred as the court deems just. The court shall not limit or affect in any manner the right of nonparties including the state of Washington to seek reimbursement for support and other services previously furnished to the child.

(5) After considering all relevant factors, the court shall order either or both parents to pay an amount determined pursuant to the schedule and standards adopted under RCW 26.19.040.

(6) On the same basis as provided in chapter 26.09 RCW, the court shall make residential provisions with regard to minor children of the parties, except that a parenting plan shall not be required unless requested by a party.

(7) In any dispute between the ((natural)) birth parents of a child and a person or persons who have (a) commenced adoption proceedings or who have been granted an order of adoption, and (b) pursuant to a court order, or placement by the department of social and health services or by a licensed agency, have had actual custody of the child for a period of one year or more before court action is commenced by the ((natural)) birth parent or parents, the court shall consider the best welfare and interests of the child, including the child's need for situation stability, in determining the matter of custody, and the parent or person who is more fit shall have the superior right to custody.

Sec. 17. Section 74.04.060, chapter 26, Laws of 1959 as last amended by section 29, chapter 435, Laws of 1987 and RCW 74.04.060 are each amended to read as follows:

For the protection of applicants and recipients, the department and the county offices and their respective officers and employees are prohibited, except as hereinafter provided, from disclosing the contents of any records, files, papers and communications, except for purposes directly connected with the administration of the programs of this title. In any judicial proceeding, except such proceeding as is directly concerned with the administration of these programs, such records, files, papers and communications, and their contents, shall be deemed privileged communications and except for the right of any individual to inquire of the office whether a named individual is a recipient of welfare assistance and such person shall be entitled to an affirmative or negative answer. However, upon written request of a parent who has been awarded visitation rights in an action for divorce or separation or any parent with legal custody of the child, the department shall disclose to him or her the last known address and location of his or her ((natural)) birth or adopted children. The secretary shall adopt rules which establish procedures for disclosing the address of the children and providing, when appropriate, for prior notice to the custodian of the children. The notice shall state that a request for disclosure has been received and will be complied with by the department unless the department receives a copy of a court order which enjoins the disclosure of the information or restricts or limits the requesting party's right to contact or visit the other party or the child. Information supplied to a parent by the department shall be used only for purposes directly related to the enforcement of the visitation and custody provisions of the court order of separation or decree of divorce. No parent shall disclose such information to any other person except for the purpose of enforcing visitation provisions of the said order or decree.

The county offices shall maintain monthly at their offices a report showing the names and addresses of all recipients in the county receiving public assistance under this title, together with the amount paid to each during the preceding month.

The provisions of this section shall not apply to duly designated representatives of approved private welfare agencies, public officials, members of legislative interim committees and advisory committees when performing duties directly connected with the administration of this title, such as regulation and investigation directly connected therewith: PROVIDED, HOWEVER, That any information so obtained by such persons or groups shall be treated with such degree of confidentiality as is required by the federal social security law.

It shall be unlawful, except as provided in this section, for any person, body, association, firm, corporation or other agency to solicit, publish, disclose, receive, make use of, or to authorize, knowingly permit, participate in or acquiesce in the use of any lists or names for commercial or political purposes of any nature. The violation of this section shall be a gross misdemeanor.

Sec. 18. Section 4, chapter 192, Laws of 1983 and RCW 74.14A.040 are each amended to read as follows:

The department shall involve a juvenile offender's family as a unit in the treatment process. The department need not involve the family as a unit in cases when family ties have by necessity been irrevocably broken. When the ((natural)) birth parents have been or will be replaced by a foster family or guardian, the new family will be involved in the treatment process.

Sec. 19. Section 8, chapter 206, Laws of 1963 as amended by section 113, chapter 154, Laws of 1973 1st ex. sess. and RCW 74.20.230 are each amended to read as follows:

Any married parent with minor children, ((natural)) birth or legally adopted children, who is receiving public assistance may apply to the superior court of the county in which such parent resides or in which the spouse may be found for an order upon such spouse, if such spouse is the ((natural)) birth or adoptive mother or father of such children, to provide for such spouse's support and the support of such spouse's minor children by filing in such county a petition setting forth the facts and circumstances upon which such spouse relies for such order. If it appears to the satisfaction of the court that such parent is without funds to employ counsel, the state department of social and health services through the attorney general may file such petition on behalf of such parent. If satisfied that a just cause exists, the court shall direct that a citation issue to the other spouse requiring such spouse to appear at a time set by the court to show cause why an order of support should not be entered in the matter.

Sec. 20. Section 15, chapter 171, Laws of 1979 ex. sess. and RCW 74.20.310 are each amended to read as follows:

The provisions of RCW 26.26.090 requiring appointment of a general guardian or guardian ad litem to represent the child in an action brought to determine the parent and child relationship do not apply to actions brought under chapter 26.26 RCW if:

(1) The action is brought by the attorney general on behalf of the department of social and health services, the child, or the ((natural)) birth mother; or

(2) The action is brought by any prosecuting attorney on behalf of the state, the child, or the ((natural)) birth mother when referral has been made to the prosecuting attorney by the department of social and health services requesting such action.

The court, on its own motion or on motion of a party, may appoint a guardian ad litem when necessary.

Sec. 21. Section 19, chapter 171, Laws of 1979 ex. sess. and RCW 74.20.350 are each amended to read as follows:

In order to facilitate and ensure compliance with Title IV-D of the federal social security act, now existing or hereafter amended, wherein the state is required to undertake to establish paternity of such children as are born out of wedlock, the secretary of social and health services may pay the reasonable and proper fees of attorneys admitted to practice before the courts of this state, who are engaged in private practice for the purpose of maintaining actions under chapter 26.26 RCW on behalf of such children, to the end that parent and child relationships be determined and financial support obligations be established by superior court order. The secretary or the secretary's designee shall make the determination in each case as to which cases shall be referred for representation by such private attorneys. The secretary may advance, pay, or reimburse for payment of, such reasonable costs as may be attendant to an action under chapter 26.26 RCW. The representation by a private attorney shall be only on behalf of the subject child, the custodial ((natural)) birth parent, and the child's personal representative or guardian ad litem, and shall not in any manner be, or be construed to be, in representation of the department of social and health services or the state of Washington, such representation being restricted to that provided pursuant to chapters 43.10 and 36.27 RCW.

Sec. 22. Section 2, chapter 164, Laws of 1971 1st ex. sess. as last amended by section 1, chapter 55, Laws of 1989 and by section 151, chapter 175, Laws of 1989 and RCW 74.20A.020 are each reenacted and amended to read as follows:

Unless a different meaning is plainly required by the context, the following words and phrases as hereinafter used in this chapter and chapter 74.20 RCW shall have the following meanings:

- (1) 'Department' means the state department of social and health services.
- (2) 'Secretary' means the secretary of the department of social and health services, his designee or authorized representative.
- (3) 'Dependent child' means any person:

For purposes of RCW 74.20A.055, orders for support which were entered under the uniform reciprocal enforcement of support act by a state where the responsible parent no longer resides shall not preclude the department from establishing an amount to be paid as current and future support.
- (6) 'Administrative order' means any determination, finding, decree, or order for support pursuant to RCW 74.20A.055, or by an agency of another state pursuant to a substantially similar administrative process, establishing the existence of a support obligation and ordering the payment of a set or determinable amount of support moneys to satisfy the support obligation.
- (7) 'Responsible parent' means a ((~~natural~~)) birth parent, adoptive parent, or stepparent of a dependent child or a person who has signed an affidavit acknowledging paternity which has been filed with the state office of vital statistics.

- (11) 'State' means any state or political subdivision, territory, or possession of the United States, the District of Columbia, and the commonwealth of Puerto Rico.

Sec. 23. Section 3, chapter 55, Laws of 1989 and RCW 74.20A.056 are each amended to read as follows:

- (1) If an alleged father has signed an affidavit acknowledging paternity which has been filed with the state office of vital statistics, the office of support enforcement may serve a notice and finding of parental responsibility on him. Service of the notice shall be in the same manner as a summons in a civil action or by certified mail, return receipt requested. The notice shall have attached to it a copy of the affidavit and shall state that:
 - (a) The alleged father may file an application for an adjudicative proceeding at which he will be required to appear and show cause why the amount stated in the finding of financial responsibility as to support is incorrect and should not be ordered;
 - (b) An alleged father may request that a blood test be administered to determine whether such test would exclude him from being a ((~~natural~~)) birth parent and, if not excluded, may subsequently request that the office of support enforcement initiate an action in superior court to determine the existence of the parent-child relationship; and
 - (c) If the alleged father does not request that a blood test be administered or file an application for an adjudicative proceeding, the amount of support stated in the notice and finding of parental responsibility shall become final, subject only to a subsequent determination under RCW 26.26.060 that the parent-child relationship does not exist.
- (2) An alleged father who objects to the amount of support requested in the notice may file an application for an adjudicative proceeding up to twenty days after the date the notice was served. An application for an adjudicative proceeding may be filed within one year of service of the notice and finding of parental responsibility without the necessity for a showing of good cause or upon a showing of good cause thereafter. An adjudicative proceeding under this section shall be pursuant to RCW 74.20A.055. The only issues shall be the amount of the accrued debt, the amount of the current and future support obligation, and the reimbursement of the costs of blood tests if advanced by the department.

(3) If the application for an adjudicative proceeding is filed within twenty days of service of the notice, collection action shall be stayed pending a final decision by the department. If no application is filed within twenty days:

(a) The amounts in the notice shall become final and the debt created therein shall be subject to collection action; and

(b) Any amounts so collected shall neither be refunded nor returned if the parent is later found not to be the father.

(4) An alleged father who denies being a responsible parent may request that a blood test be administered at any time. The request for testing shall be in writing and served on the office of support enforcement personally or by registered or certified mail. If a request for testing is made, the department shall arrange for the test and, pursuant to rules adopted by the department, may advance the cost of such testing. The department shall mail a copy of the test results by certified mail, return receipt requested, to the alleged father's last known address.

(5) If the test excludes the alleged father from being a ((natural)) birth parent, the office of support enforcement shall file a copy of the results with the state office of vital statistics and shall dismiss any pending administrative collection proceedings based upon the affidavit in issue. The state office of vital statistics shall remove the alleged father's name from the birth certificate.

(6) The alleged father may, within twenty days after the date of receipt of the test results, request the office of support enforcement to initiate an action under RCW 26.26.060 to determine the existence of the parent-child relationship. If the office of support enforcement initiates a superior court action at the request of the alleged father and the decision of the court is that the alleged father is a ((natural)) birth parent, the alleged father shall be liable for court costs incurred.

(7) If the alleged father does not request the office of support enforcement to initiate a superior court action, or if the alleged father fails to appear and cooperate with blood testing, the notice of parental responsibility shall become final for all intents and purposes and may be overturned only by a subsequent superior court order entered under RCW 26.26.060."

SPEAKER'S PRIVILEGE

The Speaker (Mr. O'Brien presiding) presented a copy of House Floor Resolution No. 90-4740 to Lieutenant Colonel Allan Maestas, Commander of the 2nd Battalion, 75th Ranger Regiment.

REMARKS BY LIEUTENANT COLONEL MAESTAS

Lieutenant Colonel Maestas: Mr. Speaker, ladies and gentlemen of the Legislature: On behalf of the soldiers and the airmen, represented by these young men sitting in the gallery, I would like to express our sincere gratitude and appreciation for taking time to recognize them and to think about them. While I have the microphone, I want to mention something that sometimes gets overlooked. And that is that Panama happens every now and then; Granada happens every now and then. Success in operations like that is not a function of getting up in the morning and deciding that you are going to do well. Success is a function of preparing for it, of having the support of the community, and of raising sons and daughters in a manner that creates a sense of patriotism. And that comes from you. And it comes from the community. And it comes from the Legislature which outlines the laws that provide the money for the schools. You create the environment that makes our lives possible, and, for that, I would like to thank you. It is my privilege to introduce Major General Paul R. Schwartz, Deputy Commander of I Corps at Fort Lewis.

REMARKS BY MAJOR GENERAL SCHWARTZ

Major General Schwartz: Mr. Speaker, sponsors of this resolution, legislators, guests, soldiers and airmen: I represent the soldiers and airmen, and I speak for them in thanking you for this great honor and in thanking you for the recognition of the heroic acts of these individuals that you honor today. It was been mentioned a little earlier in very kind comments that there is a danger of the military forces becoming a closed society. I would reflect that this is not the case, that through your resolution today and through your support, you have demonstrated that this effort is the effort of your fellow Americans. We are, as you are, responsible individuals. Mostly we are your sons and your daughters, and we stand along side of you in declaring the inviolability of America's freedom. We will continue to do that. You can count on that in the future. On behalf of all the airmen, of the Ranger Battalion, and of the great and important civilian workforce at Fort Lewis and McChord Air Force Base, thank you for this honor.

*Sec. 37, Section 6, chapter 1, Laws of 1980 and RCW 43.135.060 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) (a) The legislature shall not impose responsibility for new programs or increased levels of service under existing programs on any taxing district unless the districts are reimbursed for the costs thereof by the state. (iii) Enactments that the legislature declares are exempt from this subsection as necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health, or safety.

(c) The legislature finds that adequate resources have been provided to all taxing districts and further reimbursement is thus not required for new programs and increased levels of service under existing programs required by the state through July 1, 1990.

(2) ((That proportion of state tax revenue which consists of direct state appropriations to taxing districts taken as a group shall not be decreased below that proportion appropriated in the biennium immediately preceding January 1, 1980. (1) The director of financial management or the director's designee shall, in cooperation with appropriate legislative committees and legislative staff, establish a mechanism for the determination of the fiscal impact of proposed legislation which if enacted into law would directly or indirectly increase or decrease revenues received or expenditures incurred by counties, cities, towns, or any other political subdivisions of the state. The office of financial management shall, when requested by a member of the state legislature, report in writing as to such fiscal impact and said report shall be known as a 'fiscal note'. Fiscal notes under this chapter shall be given the same priority as fiscal notes relating to state revenues and expenditures under chapter 43.88A RCW.

(2) Such fiscal notes shall indicate by fiscal year the total impact on the subdivisions involved for the first two years the legislation would be in effect and also a cumulative six year forecast of the fiscal impact. Where feasible and applicable, the fiscal note also shall indicate the fiscal impact on each individual county or on a representative sampling of cities, towns, or other political subdivisions.

(3) A fiscal note as defined in this section shall be provided only upon request of any member of the state legislature. A legislator also may request that such a fiscal note be revised to reflect the impact of proposed amendments or substitute bills. Fiscal notes shall be completed within seventy-two hours of the request unless a longer time period is allowed by the requesting legislator. In the event a fiscal note has not been completed within seventy-two hours of a request, a daily report shall be prepared for the requesting legislator by the director of financial management which report summarizes the progress in preparing the fiscal note. If the request is referred to the director of community development, the daily report shall also include the date and time such referral was made.

(4) A fiscal note as defined in this section shall be prepared for any bill, substitute bill, or amendment that substantially imposes responsibility for new programs or increased levels of service under existing programs on any unit of local government. A fiscal note under this subsection must be completed before the bill, substitute bill, or amendment becomes law."

NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. The legislature finds that there exists in the state of Washington a critical need to examine, plan, and finance criminal justice activities. It is the policy of the state of Washington to encourage self-reliance by cities, towns, and counties in meeting their local government responsibilities. However, local criminal justice needs have accelerated to such an extent that many local governments cannot continue to meet the challenges of crime. It is the policy of the state of Washington to assist cities, towns, and counties in meeting these financial needs while promoting and encouraging local solutions, improved management, coordination, and planning of criminal justice activities.

Sec. 2. Section 1, chapter 18, Laws of 1988 and RCW 82.44.150 are each amended to read as follow:

(1) The director of licensing shall on the twenty-fifth day of February, May, August, and November of each year, commencing with November, 1971, advise the state treasurer of the total amount of motor vehicle excise taxes remitted to the department of licensing during the preceding calendar quarter ending on the last day of March, June, September, and December, respectively, except for those payable under RCW 82.44.020(6) and 82.44.030, from motor vehicle owners residing within each municipality which has levied a tax under RCW 35.58.273, which amount of excise taxes shall be determined by the director as follows:

The total amount of motor vehicle excise taxes remitted to the department, except those payable under RCW 82.44.020(6) and 82.44.030, from each county shall be multiplied by a fraction, the numerator of which is the population of the municipality residing in such county, and the denominator of which is the total population of the county in which such municipality or portion thereof is located. The product of this computation shall be the amount of excise taxes from motor vehicle owners residing within such municipality or portion thereof. Where the municipality levying a tax under RCW 35.58.273 is located in more than one county, the above computation shall be made by county, and the combined products shall provide the total amount of motor vehicle excise taxes from motor vehicle owners residing in the municipality as a whole. Population figures required for these computations shall be supplied to the director by the office of financial management, who shall adjust the fraction annually.

(2) On the first day of the months of January, April, July, and October of each year, the state treasurer based upon information provided by the department of licensing shall make the following apportionment and distribution of motor vehicle excise taxes deposited in the general fund except taxes collected under RCW 82.44.020(6).

(a) A sum equal to seventeen percent thereof shall be paid to cities and towns in the proportions and for the purposes hereinafter set forth:

(b) A sum equal to two percent thereof shall be allocable to the county sales and use tax equalization account under RCW 82.14.200;

(c) A sum equal to seven and fifty-three one-hundredths percent thereof shall be allocable to the local government criminal justice assistance account under section 3 of this act; and

(d) A sum equal to four and two-tenths percent of the special excise tax levied under RCW 35.58.273 by those municipalities authorized to levy a special excise tax at a rate not exceeding ninety-six one-hundredths of one percent on the fair market value of every motor vehicle owned by a resident of such municipality shall be deposited in the rail development account established in RCW 47.78.010.

(3) The amount payable to cities and towns shall be apportioned among the several cities and towns within the state according to the following formula:

(a) Sixty-five percent of the sum specified in subsection (2) of this section to be paid to cities and towns shall be apportioned ratably on the basis of population as last determined by the office of financial management.

(b) Thirty-five percent of the sum specified in subsection (2) of this section to be paid to cities and towns shall be apportioned to cities and towns under RCW 82.14.210.

(4) When so apportioned, the amount payable to each such city and town shall be transmitted to the city treasurer thereof, and shall be utilized by such city or town for the purposes of police and fire protection and the preservation of the public health therein, and not otherwise. In case it be adjudged that revenue derived from the excise tax imposed by this chapter cannot lawfully be apportioned or distributed to cities or towns, all moneys directed by this section to be apportioned and distributed to cities and towns shall be credited and transferred to the state general fund.

(5) On the first day of the months of January, April, July, and October of each year, the state treasurer, based upon information provided by the department of licensing, shall remit motor vehicle excise tax revenues imposed and collected under RCW 35.58.273 as follows:

(a) The amount required to be remitted by the state treasurer to the treasurer of any municipality levying the tax shall not exceed in any calendar year the amount of locally-generated tax revenues, excluding the excise tax imposed under RCW 35.58.273 for the purposes of this section, which shall have been budgeted by the municipality to be collected in such calendar year for any public transportation purposes including but not limited to operating costs, capital costs, and debt service on general obligation or revenue bonds issued for these purposes; and

(b) In no event may the amount remitted in a single calendar quarter exceed the amount collected on behalf of the municipality under RCW 35.58.273 during the calendar quarter next preceding the immediately preceding quarter.

(6) At the close of each calendar year accounting period, but not later than April 1, each municipality that has received motor vehicle excise taxes under subsection (5) of this section shall transmit to the director of licensing and the state auditor a written report showing by source the previous year's budgeted tax revenues for public transportation purposes as compared to actual collections. Any municipality that has not submitted the report by April 1 shall cease to be eligible to receive motor vehicle excise taxes under subsection (5) of this section until the report is received by the director of licensing. If a municipality has received more or less money under subsection (5) of this section for the period covered by the report than it is entitled to receive by reason of its locally-generated collected tax revenues, the director of licensing shall, during the next ensuing quarter that the municipality is eligible to receive motor vehicle excise tax funds, increase or decrease the amount to be remitted in an amount equal to the difference between the locally-generated budgeted tax revenues and the locally-generated collected tax revenues. In no event may the amount remitted for a calendar year exceed the amount collected on behalf of the municipality under RCW 35.58.273 during that same calendar year. At the time of the next fiscal audit of each municipality, the state auditor shall verify the accuracy of the report submitted and notify the director of licensing of any discrepancies.

(7) The motor vehicle excise taxes imposed under RCW 35.58.273 and required to be remitted under this section shall be remitted without legislative appropriation.

(8) Any municipality levying and collecting a tax under RCW 35.58.273 which does not have an operating, public transit system or a contract for public transportation services in effect within one year from the initial effective date of the tax shall return to the state treasurer all motor vehicle excise taxes received under subsection (5) of this section.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. The local government criminal justice assistance account is created in the state treasury. The account shall consist of all motor vehicle excise tax receipts deposited into the account under RCW 82.44.150(2)(c).

(1) Two percent of the local government criminal justice assistance account shall be appropriated annually to the prosecution assistance revolving account hereby created in the custody of the state treasurer. Within available funds, moneys in the prosecution assistance revolving account may be disbursed, without appropriation, by the director of community development solely for grants to cities, towns, and counties for costs incurred in a criminal case, but only to the extent the costs exceed five percent of the annual operating budget of the city, town, or county. If the legislature determines that moneys in the prosecution assistance revolving account exceed the anticipated need, the legislature in the omnibus appropriations act may direct the transfer of a specified amount to the state general fund. The prosecution assistance revolving account is subject to the allotment procedures under chapter 43.88 RCW. The department of community development shall adopt such rules as are necessary to implement this subsection.

(2) The remainder of the moneys in the local criminal justice assistance account shall be distributed at such times as distributions are made under RCW 82.44.150 and on the relative basis of each county's funding factor as determined under this subsection.

(a) A county's funding factor is the sum of:

(i) The population of the county, divided by one thousand, and multiplied by two-tenths;

(ii) The crime rate of the county, multiplied by three-tenths; and

(iii) The annual number of criminal cases filed in the county superior court, for each one thousand in population, multiplied by five-tenths.

(b) As used in this subsection:

(i) The population of the county shall be determined by the office of financial management;

(ii) The crime rate of the county is the annual occurrence of specified criminal offenses, as calculated in the most recent annual report on crime in Washington state as published by the Washington association of sheriffs and police chiefs, for each one thousand in population;

(iii) The annual number of criminal cases filed in the county superior court shall be determined by the most recent annual report of the courts of Washington, as published by the office of the administrator for the courts.

(3) Moneys distributed under subsection (2) of this section shall be expended exclusively for criminal justice purposes. Within thirty days following the close of the county's fiscal year, the county shall report to the state auditor the expenditures made under subsection (2) of this section.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4. (1) The local justice assistance board is created, composed of seventeen members as follows:

(a) The director of the department of community development or the director's designee;

(b) The director of financial management or the director's designee;

(c) The chief of the state patrol or the chief's designee;

(d) Four representatives of cities and towns, appointed by the governor from a list of at least eight persons nominated by the association of Washington cities;

(e) Four representatives of counties, appointed by the governor from a list of at least eight persons nominated by the Washington state association of counties;

(f) One representative of sheriffs and police chiefs, appointed by the governor from a list of at least two persons nominated by the Washington association of sheriffs and police chiefs;

(g) One representative of prosecutors, appointed by the governor from a list of at least two persons nominated by the Washington association of prosecutors;

(h) Two members of the house of representatives, one from each of the two largest caucuses, appointed by the speaker of the house of representatives; and

(i) Two members of the senate, one from each of the two largest caucuses, appointed by the president of the senate.

(2) Vacancies on the board shall be filled by appointment by the original appointing authority under this section. The board shall elect a chairperson from among its members.

(3) Board members shall receive no compensation, but shall be reimbursed as provided in RCW 43.03.050, 43.03.060, and 44.04.120.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 5. (1) The board shall prepare a report or reports on the status of criminal justice in the state of Washington. The reports may include policy recommendations to the legislature for dealing with criminal justice issues and problems. The board shall specifically recommend in its first report on or before January 1, 1991:

(a) The feasibility and desirability of including cities and towns in a funding formula for criminal justice purposes that is the same or similar to the formula specified for counties in section 3 of this act. In making its recommendations, the board shall include potential costs, distribution formula, financing, and the roles of cities and towns in providing criminal justice services, or any other factors deemed appropriate; and

(b) Whether the legislature should authorize cities, towns, or counties to impose an additional four-tenths of one percent real estate excise tax that is in addition to the rate of tax authorized in RCW 82.46.010. In making its recommendation, the board may consider the appropriateness of the tax option as opposed to other local option taxes, revenues generated, and other factors deemed appropriate.

(2) The board may conduct studies and research into criminal policies and practices as identified by the board. In conducting studies and research, the board may request assistance from the office of financial management, department of corrections, state patrol, sentencing guidelines commission, or other appropriate state, local, or federal agency or private source.

(3) The board may develop a library of materials on trends and techniques in dealing with local government criminal justice problems and issues that may be used by interested parties.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 6. The director of the department of community development shall provide administrative and staff support for the board. The director shall dismiss the board when the director determines the board has satisfactorily completed its assigned duties. It is the intent of the legislature that the board conclude its work within one to two years, unless circumstances compel a longer term.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 7. The sum of fourteen million four hundred thousand dollars, or as much thereof as may be necessary, is appropriated from the state general fund to the local justice assistance board for the biennium ending June 30, 1991, for the purpose of providing grants to local governments for construction and expansion of jail facilities. The appropriation in this section is subject to the following conditions and limitations:

(1) Before receiving a grant, an applicant shall demonstrate an ability to complete the construction or expansion of the jail facility;

(2) The grants shall not exceed an amount equivalent to sixty-six percent of the cost per bed, up to a maximum of twelve thousand dollars per bed, created or added to a jail facility;

(3) The office of financial management shall develop eligibility criteria for grants. The intent of the criteria is to award grants based on highest need. The criteria shall include, among other things determined by the office, a requirement for a jail management plan to reduce the local jail inmate population;

(4) The office of financial management may create a local advisory committee to develop the criteria for selection of projects for funding under this section. The advisory committee shall consist of representatives of law enforcement, jail administrators, prosecutors, judges, the department of corrections, the office of financial management, and other officials as deemed appropriate by the office.

Sec. 8. Section 21, chapter 49, Laws of 1982 1st ex. sess. as last amended by section 82, chapter 57, Laws of 1985 and RCW 82.14.200 are each amended to read as follows:

There is created in the state treasury a special account to be known as the 'county sales and use tax equalization account.' Into this account shall be placed a portion of all motor vehicle excise tax receipts as provided in RCW 82.44.150(2). Funds in this account shall be allocated by the state treasurer according to the following procedure:

(1) Prior to April 1st of each year the director of revenue shall inform the state treasurer of the total and the per capita levels of revenues for the unincorporated area of each county and the state-wide weighted average per capita level of revenues for the unincorporated areas of all counties imposing the sales and use tax authorized under RCW 82.14.030(1) for the previous calendar year.

(2) At such times as distributions are made under RCW 82.44.150, (~~as now or hereafter amended~~) the state treasurer shall apportion to each county imposing the sales and use tax under RCW 82.14.030(1) at the maximum rate and receiving less than one hundred fifty thousand dollars from the tax for the previous calendar year, an amount from the county sales and use tax equalization account sufficient, when added to the amount of revenues received the previous calendar year by the county, to equal one hundred fifty thousand dollars.

The department of revenue shall establish a governmental price index as provided in this subsection. The base year for the index shall be the end of the third quarter of 1982. Prior to November 1, 1983, and prior to each November 1st thereafter, the department of revenue shall establish another index figure for the third quarter of that year. The department of revenue may use the implicit price deflators for state and local government purchases of goods and services calculated by the United States department of commerce to establish the governmental price index. Beginning on January 1, 1984, and each January 1st thereafter, the one hundred fifty thousand dollar base figure in this subsection shall be adjusted in direct proportion to the percentage change in the governmental price index from 1982 until the year before the adjustment. Distributions made under this subsection for 1984 and thereafter shall use this adjusted base amount figure.

(3) Subsequent to the distributions under subsection (2) of this section and at such times as distributions are made under RCW 82.44.150, as now or hereafter amended, the state treasurer shall apportion to each county imposing the sales and use tax under RCW 82.14.030(1) at the maximum rate and receiving less than seventy percent of the state-wide weighted average per capita level of revenues for the unincorporated areas of all counties as determined by the department of revenue under subsection (1) of this section, an amount from the county sales and use tax equalization account sufficient, when added to the per capita level of revenues for the unincorporated area received the previous calendar year by the county, to equal seventy percent of the state-wide weighted average per capita level of revenues for the unincorporated areas of all counties determined under subsection (1) of this section, subject to reduction under subsections (6) and (7) of this section. When computing distributions under this section, any distribution under subsection (2) of this section shall be considered revenues received from the tax imposed under RCW 82.14.030(1) for the previous calendar year.

(4) Subsequent to the distributions under subsection (3) of this section and at such times as distributions are made under RCW 82.44.150, ~~((as now or hereafter amended:))~~ the state treasurer shall apportion to each county imposing the sales and use tax under RCW 82.14.030(2) at the maximum rate and receiving a distribution under subsection (2) of this section, a third distribution from the county sales and use tax equalization account. The distribution to each qualifying county shall be equal to the distribution to the county under subsection (2) of this section, subject to the reduction under subsections (6) and (7) of this section. To qualify for the total distribution under this subsection, the county must impose the tax under RCW 82.14.030(2) for the entire calendar year. Counties imposing the tax for less than the full year shall qualify for prorated allocations under this subsection proportionate to the number of months of the year during which the tax is imposed.

(5) Subsequent to the distributions under subsection (4) of this section and at such times as distributions are made under RCW 82.44.150, ~~((as now or hereafter amended:))~~ the state treasurer shall apportion to each county imposing the sales and use tax under RCW 82.14.030(2) at the maximum rate and receiving a distribution under subsection (3) of this section, a fourth distribution from the county sales and use tax equalization account. The distribution to each qualifying county shall be equal to the distribution to the county under subsection (3) of this section, subject to the reduction under subsections (6) and (7) of this section. To qualify for the distributions under this subsection, the county must impose the tax under RCW 82.14.030(2) for the entire calendar year. Counties imposing the tax for less than the full year shall qualify for prorated allocations under this subsection proportionate to the number of months of the year during which the tax is imposed.

~~(6) ((Revenues distributed under this section in any calendar year shall not exceed an amount equal to seventy percent of the state-wide weighted average per capita level of revenues for the unincorporated areas of all counties during the previous calendar year. If distributions under subsections (3) through (5) of this section cannot be made because of this limitation, then distributions under subsections (3) through (5) of this section shall be reduced ratably among the qualifying counties)) Subsequent to distributions under subsection (5) of this section and at such times as distributions are made under RCW 82.44.150, the department of revenue shall apportion and the state treasurer shall distribute to each fourth through ninth class county a fifth distribution from the county sales and use tax equalization account. The distribution to each qualifying county shall be one hundred thousand dollars or an amount that when added to the distribution under subsection (2) of this section and the previous year's distribution under RCW 82.14.030(1) equals three hundred seventy-five thousand dollars, whichever is greater.~~

~~(7) Beginning on January 1, 1992, and each January 1st thereafter, the one hundred thousand dollars and three hundred seventy-five thousand dollars in subsection (6) of this section shall be adjusted by the same percentage calculated under subsection (2) of this section.~~

~~((7)) (8) If inadequate revenues exist in the county sales and use tax equalization account to make the distributions under subsections (3) through ((5)) (6) of this section, then the distributions under subsections (3) through ((5)) (6) of this section shall be reduced ratably among the qualifying counties. At such time during the year as additional funds accrue to the county sales and use tax equalization account, additional distributions shall be made under subsections (3) through ((5)) (6) of this section to the counties.~~

~~((8)) (9) If the level of revenues in the county sales and use tax equalization account exceeds the amount necessary to make the distributions under subsections (2) through ((5)) (6) of this section, then the additional revenues shall be credited and transferred to the state general fund.~~

~~((9)) (10) All earnings of investments of balances in the county sales and use tax equalization account shall be credited to the general fund.~~

Sec. 9. Section 22, chapter 49, Laws of 1982 1st ex. sess. as last amended by section 83, chapter 57, Laws of 1985 and RCW 82.14.210 are each amended to read as follows:

There is created in the state treasury a special account to be known as the 'municipal sales and use tax equalization account.' Into this account shall be placed such revenues as are provided under RCW 82.44.150(3)(b). Funds in this account shall be allocated by the state treasurer according to the following procedure:

(1) Prior to April 1st of each year the director of revenue shall inform the state treasurer of the total and the per capita levels of revenues for each city and the state-wide weighted average per capita level of revenues for all cities imposing the sales and use tax authorized under RCW 82.14.030(1) for the previous calendar year.

(2) At such times as distributions are made under RCW 82.44.150, as now or hereafter amended, the state treasurer shall apportion to each city not imposing the sales and use tax under RCW 82.14.030(2) an amount from the municipal sales and use tax equalization account equal to the amount distributed to the city under RCW 82.44.150(3)(a) multiplied by thirty-five sixty-fifths.

(3) Subsequent to the distributions under subsection (2) of this section, and at such times as distributions are made under RCW 82.44.150, as now or hereafter amended, the state treasurer shall apportion to each city imposing the sales and use tax under RCW 82.14.030(1) at the maximum rate and receiving less than seventy percent of the state-wide weighted average per capita level of revenues for all cities as determined by the department of revenue under subsection (1) of this section, an amount from the municipal sales and use tax equalization account sufficient, when added to the per capita level of revenues received the previous calendar year by the city, to equal seventy percent of the state-wide weighted average per capita level of revenues for all cities determined under subsection (1) of this section, subject to reduction under subsection (5) of this section.

(4) Subsequent to the distributions under subsection (3) of this section, and at such times as distributions are made under RCW 82.44.150, as now or hereafter amended, the state treasurer shall apportion to each city imposing the sales and use tax under RCW 82.14.030(2) at the maximum rate and receiving a distribution under subsection (3) of this section, a third distribution from the municipal sales and use tax equalization account. The distribution to each qualifying city shall be equal to the distribution to the city under subsection (3) of this section, subject to the reduction under subsection (5) of this section. To qualify for the distributions under this subsection, the city must impose the tax under RCW 82.14.030(2) for the entire calendar year. Cities imposing the tax for less than the full year shall qualify for prorated allocations under this subsection proportionate to the number of months of the year during which the tax is imposed.

(5) If inadequate revenues exist in the municipal sales and use tax equalization account to make the distributions under subsection (3) or (4) of this section, then the distributions under subsection (3) or (4) of this section shall be reduced ratably among the qualifying cities. At such time during the year as additional funds accrue to the municipal sales and use tax equalization account, additional distributions shall be made under subsections (3) and (4) of this section to the cities.

(6) If the level of revenues in the municipal sales and use tax equalization account exceeds the amount necessary to make the distributions under subsections (2) through (4) of this section, then the additional revenues shall be apportioned among the several cities within the state ratably on the basis of population as last determined by the office of financial management: PROVIDED, That no such distribution shall be made to those cities receiving a distribution under subsection (2) of this section.

(7) The municipal targeted fiscal assistance account is created in the state treasury. Into this account shall be placed such revenues as are provided under RCW 82.44.150(2)(b).

(8) Prior to January 1, 1991, and each January 1st thereafter, the department of revenue shall determine which cities and towns will receive distributions from the municipal targeted fiscal assistance account. Cities and towns shall be eligible to receive distributions from this account if the following conditions are met:

(a) They are receiving a distribution under RCW 82.14.210(3); and

(b) They have a per capita assessed valuation of property that is at or below seventy percent of the state-wide average per capita assessed valuation of property for all cities.

(9) Beginning January 1, 1991, and each January 1st thereafter, at the same time as distributions are made under RCW 82.44.150, the department of revenue shall apportion and the state treasurer shall distribute to each city and town eligible under subsection (8) of this section an amount which when added to the per capita level of revenues received from the distributions under RCW 82.14.030(1) the previous calendar year and from the current year's distributions under RCW 82.14.210(3) equals seventy-five percent of the state-wide average per capita level of revenues for all cities and towns as determined under RCW 82.14.210(1). The minimum payment under this subsection shall be five hundred dollars in any calendar year. The maximum payment under this subsection shall be twenty-six thousand dollars in any calendar year.

(10) Subsequent to the distributions under subsection (9) of this section and at such times as distributions are made under RCW 82.44.150, the department of revenue shall apportion and the state treasurer shall distribute to each city and town imposing the sales and use tax under RCW 82.14.030(2) at the maximum rate during the full previous calendar year and receiving a distribution under subsection (9) of this section a second distribution from the municipal targeted fiscal assistance account. The distribution to each qualifying city or town shall be equal to the distribution to the city or town under subsection (9) of this section. Cities imposing the tax for less than the full calendar year shall qualify for prorated allocation under this subsection proportionate to the number of months of the year during which the tax was imposed.

(11) If inadequate revenues exist in the municipal targeted fiscal assistance account to make the distributions under subsections (9) and (10) of this section, the distributions under subsection (10) of this section shall be ratably reduced to the qualifying cities and towns. If inadequate revenues still exist then the distributions under subsection (9) of this section shall be ratably reduced.

(12) If the level of revenues in the municipal targeted fiscal assistance account exceeds the amount necessary to make the distributions under this section, then the additional revenues shall be credited and transferred to the state general fund.

(13) For a city or town initially incorporated on or after January 1, 1983, at the time distributions are made under subsection (3) of this section, the state treasurer shall place into a separate designated account for such city or town a pro rata amount of the revenues received under RCW 82.44.150(3)(b) equal to the city's or town's population multiplied by the amount of equalization funds to which the city or town would be entitled if its per capita yield the previous calendar year were zero. Such account shall take effect on January 1st of the first full calendar year during which the city or town imposes the taxes authorized by RCW 82.14.030(1) and shall cease to exist on December 31st of that year.

~~((8) All earnings of investments of balances in the municipal sales and use tax equalization account shall be credited to the general fund.))~~

(14) At the time that sales and use tax distributions are made pursuant to RCW 82.14.060, the revenues in such designated account shall be added to the city's or town's sales and use tax distributions so as to provide to such city or town an amount which reflects what such jurisdiction's entitlement from the municipal sales and use tax equalization account would have been if the actual distributions of sales and use tax revenues to such city or town had been received the previous full calendar year. Any excess revenues remaining in such designated account upon its expiration shall be apportioned according to subsection (6) of this section. If the department of revenue determines during the year that any funds in the designated account are not necessary for the purposes of distribution under this subsection, the department may deposit those funds in the municipal sales and use tax equalization account to be apportioned according to subsection (6) of this section.

(15) All earnings of investments of balances in the municipal sales and use tax equalization account shall be credited to the general fund.

Sec. 10. Section 1, chapter 18, Laws of 1988 and RCW 82.44.150 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) The director of licensing shall on the twenty-fifth day of February, May, August, and November of each year, commencing with November, 1971, advise the state treasurer of the total amount of motor vehicle excise taxes remitted to the department of licensing during the preceding calendar quarter ending on the last day of March, June, September, and December, respectively, except for those payable under RCW 82.44.020(6) and 82.44.030, from motor vehicle owners residing within each municipality which has levied a tax under RCW 35.58.273, which amount of excise taxes shall be determined by the director as follows:

The total amount of motor vehicle excise taxes remitted to the department, except those payable under RCW 82.44.020(6) and 82.44.030, from each county shall be multiplied by a fraction, the numerator of which is the population of the municipality residing in such county, and the denominator of which is the total population of the county in which such municipality or portion thereof is located. The product of this computation shall be the amount of excise taxes from motor vehicle owners residing within such municipality or portion thereof. Where the municipality levying a tax under RCW 35.58.273 is located in more than one county, the above computation shall be made by county, and the combined products shall provide the total amount of motor vehicle excise taxes from motor vehicle owners residing in the municipality as a whole. Population figures required for these computations shall be supplied to the director by the office of financial management, who shall adjust the fraction annually.

(2) On the first day of the months of January, April, July, and October of each year, the state treasurer based upon information provided by the department of licensing shall make the following apportionment and distribution of motor vehicle excise taxes deposited in the general fund except taxes collected under RCW 82.44.020(6)((:));

(a) A sum equal to seventeen percent thereof shall be ~~((paid))~~ distributed to cities and towns ~~((in the proportions and for the purposes hereinafter set forth))~~ as provided in subsections (3) and (4) of this section:

(b) A sum equal to one-half of one percent shall be distributed to the municipal targeted fiscal assistance account created under RCW 82.14.210(7);

(c) A sum equal to ~~((two))~~ three percent thereof shall be ~~((allocable))~~ distributed to the county sales and use tax equalization account under RCW 82.14.200; and

(d) A sum equal to four and two-tenths percent of the special excise tax levied under RCW 35.58.273 by those municipalities authorized to levy a special excise tax at a rate not exceeding ninety-six one-hundredths of one percent on the fair market value of every motor vehicle owned by a resident of such municipality shall be deposited in the rail development account established in RCW 47.78.010.

(3) The amount payable to cities and towns shall be apportioned among the several cities and towns within the state according to the following formula:

(a) Sixty-five percent of the sum specified in subsection (2) of this section to be paid to cities and towns shall be apportioned ratably on the basis of population as last determined by the office of financial management.

(b) Thirty-five percent of the sum specified in subsection (2) of this section to be paid to cities and towns shall be apportioned to cities and towns under RCW 82.14.210.

(4) When so apportioned, the amount payable to each such city and town shall be transmitted to the city treasurer thereof, and shall be utilized by such city or town for the purposes of police and fire protection and the preservation of the public health therein, and not otherwise. In case it be adjudged that revenue derived from the excise tax imposed by this chapter cannot lawfully be apportioned or distributed to cities or towns, all moneys directed by this section to be apportioned and distributed to cities and towns shall be credited and transferred to the state general fund.

(5) On the first day of the months of January, April, July, and October of each year, the state treasurer, based upon information provided by the department of licensing, shall remit motor vehicle excise tax revenues imposed and collected under RCW 35.58.273 as follows:

(a) The amount required to be remitted by the state treasurer to the treasurer of any municipality levying the tax shall not exceed in any calendar year the amount of locally-generated tax revenues, excluding the excise tax imposed under RCW 35.58.273 for the purposes of this section, which shall have been budgeted by the municipality to be collected in such calendar year for any public transportation purposes including but not limited to operating costs, capital costs, and debt service on general obligation or revenue bonds issued for these purposes; and

(b) In no event may the amount remitted in a single calendar quarter exceed the amount collected on behalf of the municipality under RCW 35.58.273 during the calendar quarter next preceding the immediately preceding quarter.

(6) At the close of each calendar year accounting period, but not later than April 1, each municipality that has received motor vehicle excise taxes under subsection (5) of this section shall transmit to the director of licensing and the state auditor a written report showing by source the previous year's budgeted tax revenues for public transportation purposes as compared to actual collections. Any municipality that has not submitted the report by April 1 shall cease to be eligible to receive motor vehicle excise taxes under subsection (5) of this section until the report is received by the director of licensing. If a municipality has received more or less money under subsection (5) of this section for the period covered by the report than it is entitled to receive by reason of its locally-generated collected tax revenues, the director of licensing shall, during the next ensuing quarter that the municipality is eligible to receive motor vehicle excise tax funds, increase or decrease the amount to be remitted in an amount equal to the difference between the locally-generated budgeted tax revenues and the locally-generated collected tax revenues. In no event may the amount remitted for a calendar year exceed the amount collected on behalf of the municipality under RCW 35.58.273 during that same calendar year. At the time of the next fiscal audit of each municipality, the state auditor shall verify the accuracy of the report submitted and notify the director of licensing of any discrepancies.

(7) The motor vehicle excise taxes imposed under RCW 35.58.273 and required to be remitted under this section shall be remitted without legislative appropriation.

(8) Any municipality levying and collecting a tax under RCW 35.58.273 which does not have an operating, public transit system or a contract for public transportation services in effect within one year from the initial effective date of the tax shall return to the state treasurer all motor vehicle excise taxes received under subsection (5) of this section.

Sec. 11, Section 6, chapter 94, Laws of 1970 ex. sess. as last amended by section 81, chapter 57, Laws of 1985 and RCW 82.14.050 are each amended to read as follows:

The counties, metropolitan municipal corporations and cities shall contract, prior to the effective date of a resolution or ordinance imposing a sales and use tax, the administration and collection to the state department of revenue, which shall deduct a percentage amount, as provided by contract, not to exceed two percent of the taxes collected for administration and collection expenses incurred by the department. The remainder of any portion of any tax authorized by this chapter which is collected by the department of revenue shall be deposited by the state department of revenue in the local sales and use tax account hereby created in the state treasury. Moneys in the local sales and use tax account may be spent only for distribution to counties, metropolitan municipal corporations, and cities imposing a sales and use tax. All administrative provisions in chapters 82.03, 82.08, 82.12, and 82.32 RCW, as they now exist or may hereafter be amended, shall, insofar as they are applicable to state sales and use taxes, be applicable to taxes imposed pursuant to this chapter. All earnings of investments of balances in the local sales and use tax account shall be credited to the local sales and use tax account and distributed to the counties, metropolitan municipal corporations, and cities monthly.

Sec. 12, Section 7, chapter 94, Laws of 1970 ex. sess. as last amended by section 11, chapter 4, Laws of 1981 2nd ex. sess. and RCW 82.14.060 are each amended to read as follows:

The state treasurer shall make the distribution under this section without appropriation.

In the event that any ordinance or resolution imposes a sales and use tax at a rate in excess of the applicable limits contained herein, such ordinance or resolution shall not be considered void in toto, but only with respect to that portion of the rate which is in excess of the applicable limits contained herein.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 13, Sections 10 and 11 of this act shall not be effective for earnings on balances prior to July 1, 1990, regardless of when a distribution is made.

The numerator of the fraction is the number of persons for whom the city or town is obligated to pay such benefits. The denominator of the fraction is the total number of persons eligible to receive such benefits in the county.

Sec. 18. Section 5, chapter 91, Laws of 1947 as last amended by section 3, chapter 296, Laws of 1986 and RCW 41.16.050 are each amended to read as follows:

Sec. 23. Section 19, chapter 179, Laws of 1983 and RCW 63.29.190 are each amended to read as follows:

(2) Every court having jurisdiction over offenses committed under this chapter, or any other act of this state or municipal ordinance adopted by a local authority regulating the operation of motor vehicles on highways, or any federal authority having jurisdiction over offenses substantially the same as those set forth in Title 46 RCW which occur on federal installations within this state, shall forward to the department within ten days of a forfeiture of bail or collateral deposited to secure the defendant's appearance in court, a payment of a fine or penalty, a plea of guilty or a finding of guilt, or a finding that any person has committed a traffic infraction an abstract of the court record in the form prescribed by rule of the supreme court, showing the conviction of any person or the finding that any person has committed a traffic infraction in said court for a violation of any said laws other than regulations governing standing, stopping, parking, and pedestrian offenses.

The department may enter into agreements of reciprocity with the duly authorized representatives of the states for reporting to each other violations of laws governing standing, stopping, and parking.

SSB 6190 Prime Sponsor, Committee on Health & Long Term Care: Providing for the prevention of head injuries. Reported by Committee on Health Care

MAJORITY recommendation: Do pass with the following amendments:

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. This act shall be known and cited as the Head Injury Prevention Act of 1990.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. The legislature finds that head injury is a major cause of death and disability for Washington citizens. The costs of head injury treatment and rehabilitation are extensive and resultant disabilities are long and indeterminate. These costs are often borne by public programs such as medicaid. The legislature finds further that many such injuries are preventable. The legislature intends to reduce the occurrence of head injury by educating persons whose behavior may place them at risk and by regulating certain activities.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. As used in sections 1 through 6 of this act, the term 'head injury' means traumatic brain injury.

A head injury prevention program is created in the department of health. The program's functions may be integrated with those of similar programs to promote comprehensive, integrated, and effective health promotion and disease prevention.

In consultation with the traffic safety commission, the department shall, directly or by contract, identify and coordinate public education efforts currently underway within state government and among private groups to prevent traumatic brain injury, including, but not limited to, bicycle safety, pedestrian safety, bicycle passenger seat safety, motorcycle safety, motor vehicle safety, and sports safety. If the department finds that programs are not available or not in use, it may, within funds appropriated for the purpose, provide grants to promote public education efforts. Grants may be awarded only after recipients have demonstrated coordination with relevant and knowledgeable groups within their communities, including at least schools, brain injury support organizations, hospitals, physicians, traffic safety specialists, police, and the public. The department may accept grants, gifts, and donations from public or private sources to use to carry out the head injury prevention program.

The department may assess or contract for the assessment of the effectiveness of public education efforts coordinated or initiated by any agency of state government. Agencies are directed to cooperate with assessment efforts by providing access to data and program records as reasonably required. The department may seek and receive additional funds from the federal government or private sources for assessments. Assessments shall contain findings and recommendations that will improve the effectiveness of public education efforts. These findings shall be distributed among public and private groups concerned with traumatic brain injury prevention.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4. The department of health, the department of licensing, and the traffic safety commission shall jointly prepare information for driver license manuals, driver education programs, and driving tests to increase driver awareness of pedestrian safety, to increase driver skills in avoiding pedestrian and motor vehicle accidents, and to determine drivers' abilities to avoid pedestrian motor vehicle accidents.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 5. The department shall establish a state-wide trauma registry to collect information on the incidence, severity, and causes of traumatic brain injury. The state-wide trauma registry shall identify and track major brain injury cases from injury through rehabilitation or recovery. The registry shall keep specific statistics on helmet and nonhelmet, motorcycle-related head and neck injuries. Specific data elements of the registry, sources for collecting the data, and data collection procedures shall be determined by the department by rule. Information obtained shall be used to design prevention and treatment programs. By January 1, 1991, the department shall report to the legislature on the feasibility, cost, and benefits of expanding the registry requirements of this section to include information on minor brain injuries.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 6. The department shall prepare guidelines on relevant training and education regarding traumatic brain injury for health and education professionals, and relevant public safety and law enforcement officials. The department shall distribute such guidelines and any recommendations for training or educational requirements for health professionals or educators to the disciplinary authorities governed by chapter 18.130 RCW and to educational service districts established under chapter 28A.21 RCW. Specifically, all emergency medical personnel shall be trained in proper helmet removal.

Sec. 7. Section 4, chapter 232, Laws of 1967 as last amended by section 732, chapter 330, Laws of 1987 and by section 1, chapter 454, Laws of 1987 and RCW 46.37.530 are each repealed and amended to read as follows:

Sec. 8. Section 10, chapter 232, Laws of 1967 as last amended by section 733, chapter 330, Laws of 1987 and RCW 46.37.535 are each amended to read as follows:

It is unlawful for any person to rent out motorcycles, motor-driven cycles, or mopeds unless ~~(he)~~ the person also has on hand for rent helmets of a type conforming to rules adopted by the state patrol.

It shall be unlawful for any person to rent a motorcycle, motor-driven cycle, or moped unless the person has in his or her possession a helmet of a type approved by the state patrol, regardless of from whom the helmet is obtained.

ESSB 6412 Prime Sponsor, Committee on Environment & Natural Resources: Funding the acquisition of land for wildlife conservation and outdoor recreation. Reported by Committee on Natural Resources & Parks

MAJORITY recommendation: Do pass with the following amendments:

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

*NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. The legislature finds:

(1) That Washington possesses an abundance of natural wealth in the form of forests, mountains, wildlife, waters, and other natural resources, all of which help to provide an unparalleled diversity of outdoor recreation opportunities and a quality of life unmatched in this nation;

(2) That as the state's population grows, the demand on these resources is growing too, placing greater stress on today's already overcrowded public recreational lands and facilities, and resulting in a significant loss of wildlife habitat and lands of unique natural value;

(3) That public acquisition and development programs have not kept pace with the state's expanding population;

(4) That private investment and employment opportunities in general and the tourist industry in particular are dependent upon the continued availability of recreational opportunities and our state's unique natural environment;

(5) That if current trends continue, some wildlife species and rare ecosystems will be lost in the state forever and public recreational lands will not be adequate to meet public demands;

(6) That there is accordingly a need for the people of the state to reserve certain areas of the state, in rural as well as urban settings, for the benefit of present and future generations.

It is therefore the policy of the state to acquire as soon as possible the most significant lands for wildlife conservation and outdoor recreation purposes before they are converted to other uses, and to develop existing public recreational land and facilities to meet the needs of present and future generations.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. The definitions set forth in this section apply throughout this chapter.

(1) 'Acquisition' means the purchase on a willing seller basis of fee or less than fee interests in real property. These interests include, but are not limited to, options, rights of first refusal, conservation easements, leases, and mineral rights.

(2) 'Committee' means the interagency committee for outdoor recreation.

(3) 'Critical habitat' means lands important for the protection, management, or public enjoyment of certain wildlife species or groups of species, including, but not limited to, wintering range for deer, elk, and other species, waterfowl and upland bird habitat, fish habitat, and habitat for endangered, threatened, or sensitive species.

(4) 'Local agencies' means a city, county, town, tribe, special purpose district, port district, or other political subdivision of the state providing services to less than the entire state.

(5) 'Natural areas' means areas that have, to a significant degree, retained their natural character and are important in preserving rare or vanishing flora, fauna, geological, natural historical, or similar features of scientific or educational value.

(6) 'Special needs populations' means physically restricted people or people of limited means.

(7) 'Trails' means public ways constructed for and open to pedestrians, equestrians, or bicyclists, or any combination thereof, other than a sidewalk constructed as a part of a city street or county road for exclusive use of pedestrians.

(8) 'Urban wildlife habitat' means lands that provide habitat important to wildlife in proximity to a metropolitan area.

(9) 'Water access' means boat or foot access to marine waters, lakes, rivers, or streams.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. The habitat conservation account is established in the state treasury. The committee shall administer the account in accordance with chapter 43.99 RCW and this chapter, and shall hold it separate and apart from all other money, funds, and accounts of the committee.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4. (1) Moneys appropriated for this chapter shall be divided equally between the habitat conservation and outdoor recreation accounts and shall be used exclusively for the purposes specified in this chapter.

(2) Moneys deposited in these accounts shall be invested as authorized for other state funds, and any earnings on them shall be credited to the respective account.

(3) All moneys deposited in the habitat conservation and outdoor recreation accounts shall be allocated under sections 5 and 6 of this act as grants to state or local agencies for acquisition, development, and renovation within the jurisdiction of those agencies, subject to legislative appropriation. The committee may use or permit the use of any funds appropriated for this chapter as matching funds where federal, local, or other funds are made available for projects within the purposes of this chapter.

(4) Projects receiving grants under this chapter that are developed or otherwise accessible for public recreational uses shall be available to the public on a nondiscriminatory basis.

(5) The committee may make grants to an eligible project from both the habitat conservation and outdoor recreation accounts and any one or more of the applicable categories under such accounts described in sections 5 and 6 of this act.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 5. (1) Moneys appropriated for this chapter to the habitat conservation account shall be distributed in the following way:

(a) Not less than thirty-five percent for the acquisition and development of critical habitat;

(b) Not less than twenty percent for the acquisition and development of natural areas;

(c) Not less than fifteen percent for the acquisition and development of urban wildlife habitat; and

(d) The remaining amount shall be considered unallocated and shall be used by the committee to fund high priority acquisition and development needs for critical habitat, natural areas, and urban wildlife habitat.

(2) In distributing these funds, the committee retains discretion to meet the most pressing needs for critical habitat, natural areas, and urban wildlife habitat, and is not required to meet the percentages described in subsection (1) of this section in any one biennium.

(3) Only state agencies may apply for acquisition and development funds for critical habitat and natural areas projects under subsection (1) (a), (b), and (d) of this section.

(4) State and local agencies may apply for acquisition and development funds for urban wildlife habitat projects under subsection (1) (c) and (d) of this section.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 6. (1) Moneys appropriated for this chapter to the outdoor recreation account shall be distributed in the following way:

(c) Not less than fifteen percent for the acquisition and development of trails;

(d) Not less than ten percent for the acquisition and development of water access sites, with at least seventy-five percent of this money for acquisition costs; and

(e) The remaining amount shall be considered unallocated and shall be distributed by the committee to state and local agencies to fund high priority acquisition and development needs for parks, trails, and water access sites.

(2) In distributing these funds, the committee retains discretion to meet the most pressing needs for state and local parks, trails, and water access sites, and is not required to meet the percentages described in subsection (1) of this section in any one biennium.

(3) Only local agencies may apply for acquisition, development, or renovation funds for local parks under subsection (1)(b) of this section.

(4) State and local agencies may apply for funds for trails under subsection (1)(c) of this section.

(5) State and local agencies may apply for funds for water access sites under subsection (1)(d) of this section.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 7. (1) The committee may adopt rules establishing acquisition policies and priorities for distributions from the habitat conservation account.

(2) Moneys appropriated for this chapter may not be used by the committee to fund additional staff positions or other overhead expenses, or by a state, regional, or local agency to fund operation and maintenance of areas acquired under this chapter.

(3) Moneys appropriated for this chapter may be used for costs incidental to acquisition, including, but not limited to, surveying expenses, fencing, and signing.

(4) The committee may not approve a local project where the local agency share is less than the amount to be awarded from the habitat conservation account.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 8. (1) In determining which state parks proposals and local parks proposals to fund, the committee shall use existing policies and priorities.

The legislature may remove projects from the list recommended by the governor.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 10. Moneys made available under this chapter for land acquisition shall not be used to acquire land through condemnation.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 11. All sales of tidelands and shorelands belonging to the state, otherwise permitted by RCW 79.94.150 to be sold, shall be at public auction and all sales of valuable materials shall be at public auction or by sealed bid to the highest responsible bidder, on the terms prescribed by law and as specified in the notice provided, and no land or materials shall be sold for less than their appraised value: PROVIDED, That when valuable material has been appraised at an amount not exceeding ((twenty)) one hundred thousand dollars, the department of natural resources, when authorized by the board of natural resources, may arrange for the sale at public auction of said valuable material and for its removal under such terms and conditions as the department may prescribe, after the department shall have caused to be published not less than ten days prior to sale a notice of such sale in a newspaper of general circulation located nearest to the property to be sold(~~(- PROVIDED FURTHER- That))~~). However, any sale of valuable material on aquatic lands of an appraised value of ~~((one))~~ ten thousand dollars or less may be sold directly to the applicant for cash without notice or advertising.

(1) To determine the 'highest responsible bidder' under RCW 79.90.210, the department of natural resources shall be entitled to consider, in addition to price, the following:

(d) The payment required by law to be made at the time of making the sale~~((:))~~ has been made, and that the best interests of the state may be subserved thereby~~((:))~~.

(2) Upon confirming a sale, the commissioner shall enter upon his records ~~((a))~~ the confirmation of sale and thereupon issue to the purchaser a contract of sale or bill of sale as the case may be, as is provided for in this chapter.

Sec. 4. Section 141, chapter 21, Laws of 1982 1st ex. sess. and RCW 79.96.080 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) Geoducks shall be sold as valuable materials under the provisions of chapter 79.90 RCW. After confirmation of the sale, the department of natural resources may enter into ~~((leases or harvesting))~~ an agreement~~((s))~~ with the purchaser for the harvesting of geoducks. The department of natural resources may place terms and conditions in the ~~((leases or))~~ harvesting agreements as the department deems necessary. The department of natural resources may enforce the provisions of any ~~((lease or))~~ harvesting agreement by suspending or cancelling the ~~((lease or))~~ harvesting agreement or through any other means contained in the ~~((lease or))~~ harvesting agreement. ~~((The department of natural resources may cancel any lease or harvesting agreement upon receiving a report from the department of fisheries of the person's second violation of the geoduck licensing or harvesting provisions under Title 75 RCW.))~~ Any ~~((lessee))~~ geoduck harvester may terminate a ~~((lease))~~ harvesting agreement entered into pursuant to this subsection if actions of a governmental agency, beyond the control of the ~~((lessee))~~ harvester, its agents, or its employees, prohibit harvesting, for a period exceeding thirty days~~((:))~~ during the term of the harvesting agreement, except as provided within the agreement. Upon such termination of the ~~((lease))~~ agreement by the harvester, the ~~((lessee))~~ harvester shall be reimbursed by the ~~((lessor))~~ department of natural resources for the cost paid to the department on the ~~((lease))~~ agreement, less the value of the harvest already accomplished by the ~~((lessee or the leasehold))~~ harvester under the agreement.

The department of natural resources is authorized to offer and pay a reward not to exceed one thousand dollars in each case for information regarding violations of any statute or rule adopted pursuant to any statute relating to the state's public lands and natural resources including, but not limited to, Titles 75, 76, 78, and 79 RCW, and any rule adopted pursuant thereto. No reward may be paid to any federal, state, or local government or agency employees for information obtained by them in the normal course of their employment. The department of natural resources is authorized to promulgate rules in pursuit of its authority under this section to determine the appropriate account or fund from which to pay the reward. No appropriation shall be required for disbursement.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 9. A new section is added to chapter 79.96 RCW to read as follows:

(1) If a person wrongfully takes shellfish or causes shellfish to be wrongfully taken from the public lands and the wrongful taking is intentional and knowing, then the person shall be liable for damages of treble the fair market retail value of the amount of shellfish wrongfully taken. If a person wrongfully takes shellfish from the public lands under other circumstances, then the person shall be liable for damages of double the fair market value of the amount of shellfish wrongfully taken.

(2) For purposes of this section, a person 'wrongfully takes' shellfish from public lands if the person takes shellfish: (a) Above the limits of any applicable laws that govern the harvest of shellfish from public lands; (b) without reporting the harvest to the department of fisheries or the department of natural resources where such reporting is required by law or contract; (c) outside the area or above the limits that an agreement or contract from the department of natural resources allows the harvest of shellfish from public lands; or (d) without a lease or purchase of the shellfish where such lease or purchase is required by law prior to harvest of the shellfish.

(3) The remedies in this section are for civil damages and shall be proved by a preponderance of the evidence. The department of natural resources may file a civil action in Thurston county superior court or the county where the shellfish were taken against any person liable under this section. Damages recovered under this section shall be applied in the same way as received under geoduck harvesting agreements authorized by RCW 79.96.080.

(4) For purposes of the remedies created by this section, the amount of shellfish wrongfully taken by a person may be established either:

(a) By surveying the aquatic lands to reasonably establish the amount of shellfish taken from the immediate area where a person is shown to have been wrongfully taking shellfish;

(b) By weighing the shellfish on board any vessel or in possession of a person shown to be wrongfully taking shellfish; or

(c) By any other evidence that reasonably establishes the amount of shellfish wrongfully taken.

The amount of shellfish established by (a) or (b) of this subsection shall be presumed to be the amount wrongfully taken unless the defendant shows by a preponderance of evidence that the shellfish were lawfully taken or that the defendant did not take the shellfish presumed to have been wrongfully taken. Whenever there is reason to believe that shellfish in the possession of any person were wrongfully taken, the department of natural resources or the department of fisheries may require the person to proceed to a designated off-load point and to weigh all shellfish in possession of the person or on board the person's vessel.

(5) This civil remedy is supplemental to the state's power to prosecute any person for theft of shellfish, for other crimes where shellfish are involved, or for violation of regulations of the department of fisheries."

Prime Sponsor, Committee on Ways & Means: Establishing farmworker housing inspection procedures and standards. Reported by Committee on Housing

MAJORITY recommendation: Do pass with the following amendments:

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

"NEW SECTION, Sec. 1. A new section is added to chapter 43.70 RCW to read as follows:

The legislature finds that the demand for housing for migrant and seasonal farmworkers far exceeds the supply of adequate housing in the state of Washington. In addition, increasing numbers of these housing units are in deteriorated condition because they cannot be economically maintained and repaired.

The legislature further finds that the lack of a clear program for the regulation and inspection of farmworker housing has impeded the construction and renovation of housing units in this state.

It is the purpose of this act for the various agencies involved in the regulation of farmworker housing to coordinate and consolidate their activities to provide for efficient and effective monitoring of farmworker housing. It is intended that this action will provide greater responsiveness in dealing with public concerns over farmworker housing, and allow greater numbers of housing units to be built.

NEW SECTION, Sec. 2. A new section is added to chapter 43.70 RCW to read as follows:

(1) The department of health shall be the primary inspector of labor camps and farmworker housing for the state of Washington: PROVIDED, That the department of labor and industries shall be the inspector for all farmworker housing not covered by the authority of the state board of health.

(2) The department of health, the department of labor and industries, the department of community development, the state board of health, and the employment security department shall develop an interagency agreement defining the rules and responsibilities for the inspection of farmworker housing. This agreement shall recognize the department of health as the primary inspector of labor camps for the state, and shall further be designed to provide a central information center for public information and education regarding farmworker housing. The agencies shall provide the legislature with a report on the results of this agreement by January 1, 1991.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. A new section is added to chapter 43.70 RCW to read as follows:

(1) The farmworker housing inspection fund is established in the custody of the state treasury. The department of health shall deposit all funds received under subsection (2) of this section and from the legislature to administer a labor camp inspection program conducted by the department of health. Disbursement from the fund shall be on authorization of the secretary of health or the secretary's designee. The fund is subject to the allotment procedure provided under chapter 43.88 RCW, but no appropriation is required for disbursements.

(2) There is imposed a fee on each operating license issued by the department of health to every operator of a labor camp that is regulated by the state board of health. The fee paid under this subsection shall include all necessary inspection of the units to ensure compliance with applicable state board of health rules on labor camps.

(a) Fifty dollars shall be charged for each labor camp containing six or less units.

(b) Seventy-five dollars shall be charged for each labor camp containing more than six units.

(3) The term of the operating license and the application procedures shall be established, by rule, by the department of health.

Sec. 4. Section 1, chapter 231, Laws of 1969 ex. sess. and RCW 70.54.110 are each amended to read as follows:

The state board of health shall develop rules for labor camps, which shall include as a minimum the standards developed under the Washington industrial safety and health act in chapter 49.17 RCW as relates to sanitation and temporary labor camps.

All new housing and new construction together with the land areas appurtenant thereto which shall be started on and after May 3, 1969, and is to be provided by employers, growers, management, or any other persons, for occupancy by workers or by workers and their dependents, in agriculture, shall comply with the rules and regulations of the state board of health pertaining to labor camps (~~as filed with the office of the code reviser on November 29, 1968 and future amendments and revisions thereof~~).

NEW SECTION. Sec. 5. A new section is added to chapter 43.63A RCW to read as follows:

The department shall develop, and make available to the public, model or prototype construction plans and manuals for several types of farmworker housing, including but not limited to seasonal housing for individuals and families, campgrounds, and recreational vehicle parks. Any person or organization intending to construct farmworker housing may adopt one or more of these models as the plan for the proposed housing.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 6. A new section is added to chapter 43.63A RCW to read as follows:

The department shall work with the departments of natural resources, transportation, and general administration to identify and catalog under-utilized, state-owned land and property for possible lease. The department shall provide an inventory of real property that is owned or administered by each agency and is available for lease. The inventories shall be provided to the department by November 1, 1990, with inventory revisions provided each November 1 thereafter. The department shall assist local governments, public housing authorities, public nonprofit organizations, and private nonprofit organizations in obtaining long-term leases of suitable and available sites. The leases shall be for the purpose of providing sites to be used for affordable housing for farmworkers.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 7. A new section is added to chapter 36.34 RCW to read as follows:

If a county owns property that is located anywhere within the county, including within the limits of a city or town, and that is suitable for seasonal or migrant farmworker housing, the legislative authority of the county may, by negotiation, lease the property for seasonal or migrant farmworker housing for a term not to exceed seventy-five years to any public housing authority or nonprofit organization that has demonstrated its ability to construct or operate housing for seasonal or migrant farmworkers. Leases for housing for migrant and seasonal farmworkers shall not be subject to any requirement of periodic rental adjustments, as provided in RCW 36.34.180, but shall provide for such fixed annual rents as appear reasonable considering the public, social, and health benefits to be derived by providing an adequate supply of safe and sanitary housing for migrant and seasonal farmworkers.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 8. To carry out this act, the sum of one hundred twenty-five thousand dollars, or as much thereof as may be necessary, is appropriated from the state general fund for the biennium ending June 30, 1991. The appropriation is subject to the following limitations and conditions:

(1) Not less than sixty-five thousand dollars, to the department of community development, for the purposes of section 5 of this act; and

(2) Not less than sixty thousand dollars, to the department of health, for the purposes of section 3 of this act."

(3) The agency shall deny, revoke, or suspend the license of any school that does not meet or maintain the minimum standards.

Sec. 8. Section 1, chapter 459, Laws of 1987 and RCW 28C.10.084 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) The agency shall establish, maintain, and administer a tuition recovery fund. All funds collected for the tuition recovery fund are payable to the state for the benefit and protection of any student or enrollee of a private vocational school licensed under this chapter, or, in the case of a minor, his or her parents or guardian, for purposes including but not limited to the settlement of claims procedures under subsection (9) of this section and RCW 28C.10.120. The fund shall be liable for settlement of claims and costs of administration but shall not be liable to pay out or recover penalties assessed under RCW 28C.10.130 or 28C.10.140. No liability accrues to the state of Washington from claims made against the fund.

(2) To be and remain licensed under this chapter each entity shall, in addition to other requirements under this chapter, make cash deposits into a tuition recovery fund as a means to assure payment of claims brought under this chapter. The fund shall be initially capitalized at two hundred thousand dollars and shall achieve an operating balance of at least one million dollars within five years after May 18, 1987, as required under subsection (5) of this section.

(3) The amount of liability that can be satisfied by this fund on behalf of each individual entity licensed under this chapter shall be established by the agency, based on an incremental scale that recognizes the average amount of unearned prepaid tuition in possession of the entity. However, the minimum amount of liability for any entity shall not be less than five thousand dollars and the maximum amount shall not exceed two hundred thousand dollars. Such limitation on each entity's liability remains unchanged by single or cumulative disbursements made on behalf of the entity. The upper limit of liability is reestablished following the settlement of any claim.

(4) Within sixty days after any entity deposits its initial contribution into the fund, the agency shall release whatever surety such entity had previously filed. Thereupon, the tuition recovery fund shall be liable for a period of one year following the date such surety is released with respect to prior claims against the surety. However, the liability of the fund is limited to the amount of and subject to the defenses of that released surety as though it had remained on file with the agency. The fund's liability with respect to each entity that makes an initial deposit into the fund commences on that date and ceases one year from the date it is no longer licensed under this chapter.

(5) The agency shall adopt by rule a matrix for calculating the deposits into the fund required of each entity. Proration shall be determined by factoring the entity's share of liability in proportion to the aggregated liability of all participants under the fund by grouping such prorations under the incremental scale created in subsection (3) of this section. Expressed as a percentage of the total liability, that figure determines the amount to be contributed when factored into a fund containing one million dollars. The total amount of its prorated share, minus the amount paid for initial capitalization, shall be payable in ten equal increments over a five-year period, commencing with the sixth month after May 18, 1987. Additionally, the agency shall require deposits for initial capitalization, under which the amount each entity deposits is proportionate to its share of two hundred thousand dollars, employing the matrix developed under this subsection. The amount thus established shall be deposited by each licensee of record, within thirty days after May 18, 1987, and a like amount shall be deposited by each subsequent applicant for licensing before the issuance of such license.

(6) No vested right or interests in deposited funds is created or implied for the depositor, either at any time during the operation of the fund or at any such future time that the fund may be dissolved. All funds deposited are payable to the state for the purposes described under this section. The agency shall maintain the fund, collect deposits when due by serving appropriate notices to affected entities, and make disbursements to settle claims. When the deposits total five million dollars and the history of disbursements so warrants, the agency may at its own option reduce the schedule of deposits whether as to time, amount, or both. When such level is achieved, the agency may also entertain proposals from among the licensees with regard to disbursing surplus funds for such purposes as vocational scholarships.

(7) The agency shall make determinations based on annual financial data supplied by the entity whether the increment assigned to that entity on the incremental scale established under subsection (5) of this section has changed. If an increase or decrease has occurred, a corresponding change in its incremental position and contribution schedule shall be made before the date of its next scheduled deposit into the fund.

(8) If fifty-one percent or more of the ownership interest in an entity is conveyed through sale or other means into different ownership, the contribution schedule of the prior owner is canceled. All contributions made to the date of transfer accrue to the fund. The new owner commences contributions under provisions applying to a new applicant.

(9) To settle complaints adjudicated under RCW 28C.10.120 and claims resulting ~~((from closure of an entity))~~ when a private vocational school ceases to provide educational services, the agency may make disbursements from the fund. In addition to the processes described under RCW 28C.10.120 for handling complaints, the following additional procedures are established to deal with school closures:

(a) The agency shall attempt to notify all potential claimants. The absence of records and other circumstances may make it impossible or unreasonable for the agency to ascertain the names and whereabouts of each potential claimant but the agency shall make reasonable inquiries to secure that information from all likely sources. The agency shall then proceed to settle the claims on the basis of information in its possession. The agency is not responsible or liable for claims or for handling claims that may subsequently appear or be discovered.

(b) Thirty days after identified potential claimants have been notified, if a claimant refuses or neglects to file a claim verification as requested in such notice, the agency shall be relieved of further duty or action on behalf of the claimant under this chapter.

(c) After verification and review, the agency may disburse funds from the tuition recovery fund to settle or compromise the claims. However, the liability of the fund for claims against the closed entity shall not exceed that total amount of the contribution schedule assigned to that entity under subsection (5) of this section.

(d) The agency shall seek to recover such disbursed funds from the assets of the defaulted entity, including but not limited to asserting claims as a creditor in bankruptcy proceedings.

(10) When funds are disbursed to settle claims against a current licensee, the agency shall make demand upon the licensee for recovery. The agency shall adopt schedules of times and amounts acceptable for effecting recoveries. An entity's failure to perform subjects its license to suspension or revocation under RCW 28C.10.050 in addition to any other available remedies.

(11) A minimum operating balance of two hundred thousand dollars shall be maintained in the fund. If disbursements reduce the balance below two hundred thousand dollars, each participating entity shall be assessed a prorata share of the deficiency created, based upon the incremental scale created under subsection (5) of this section. The agency shall promptly adopt schedules of times and amounts acceptable for affecting payments of assessments.

Sec. 9. Section 11, chapter 299, Laws of 1986 and RCW 28C.10.110 are each amended to read as follows:

It is an unfair business practice for a private vocational school or agent to:

- (1) Fail to comply with the terms of a student enrollment contract or agreement;
- (2) Use an enrollment contract form, catalog, brochure, or similar written material affecting the terms and conditions of student enrollment other than that previously submitted to the agency and authorized for use;

It is a violation of this chapter for a private vocational school to engage in an unfair business practice.

Sec. 10. Section 12, chapter 299, Laws of 1986 as amended by section 83, chapter 175, Laws of 1989 and RCW 28C.10.120 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) A person claiming loss of tuition or fees as a result of an unfair business practice may file a complaint with the agency. The complaint shall set forth the alleged violation and shall contain information required by the agency. A complaint may also be filed with the agency by an authorized staff member of the agency or by the attorney general.

(2) The agency shall investigate any complaint under this section and may attempt to bring about a settlement. The agency may hold a hearing pursuant to the Administrative Procedure Act, chapter 34.05 RCW, in order to determine whether a violation has occurred. ~~((If the agency prevails, the private vocational school shall pay the costs of the administrative hearing.))~~

(3) If, after the hearing, the agency finds that the private vocational school or its agent engaged in or is engaging in any unfair business practice, the agency shall issue and cause to be served upon the violator an order requiring the violator to cease and desist from the act or practice and may impose the penalties under RCW 28C.10.130. If the agency finds that the complainant has suffered loss as a result of the act or practice, the agency may order full or partial restitution for the loss. The complainant is not bound by the agency's determination of restitution and may pursue any other legal remedy.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 13. The purpose of this chapter is to provide for the dramatically increasing number of students requiring high standards of education either as a part of vocational training or retraining by creating a new, independent system of vocational-technical institutes which will:

(1) Offer an open door to every citizen, regardless of his or her academic background or experience, at a cost normally within his or her economic means;

(2) Ensure that each vocational-technical district shall offer thoroughly comprehensive educational, training, and service programs to meet the needs of both the communities and students served by combining, with equal emphasis, high standards of excellence; realistic and practical courses in vocational education, both graded and ungraded; community services of an educational, cultural, and recreational nature; and adult education;

(4) Allow for the growth, improvement, flexibility, and modification of the vocational-technical institutes and their education, training, and service programs as future needs occur; and

(5) Establish firmly that vocational-technical institutes are an independent, unique, and vital section of our state's higher education system, separate from both the common school system and other institutions of higher learning, and never to be considered for conversion into four-year liberal arts colleges or community colleges.

NEW SECTION, Sec. 15. There is hereby created the 'vocational-technical institute board,' to consist of eight members, one from each congressional district, as now or hereafter existing, who shall be appointed by the governor, with the consent of the senate. The successors of the members initially appointed shall be appointed for terms of four years except that any persons appointed to fill a vacancy occurring prior to the expiration of a term shall be appointed only for the remainder of such term. In such an event, each institute board member may continue to serve in office for the balance of the term for which he or she was appointed if the institute board member continues to reside within the boundaries of the congressional district as they existed at the time of his or her appointment. Vacancies which occur in an institute board member position during the balance of any such term shall be filled pursuant to section 15 of this act by a successor who resides within the boundaries of the congressional district from which the member whose office was vacated was appointed as they existed at the time of his or her appointment. At the completion of such term, and thereafter, a successor shall be appointed from the congressional district which corresponds in number with the congressional district from which the incumbent was appointed.

The institute board may, by written order filed in its office, delegate to the director any of the powers and duties vested in or imposed upon it by this chapter. Such delegated powers and duties may be exercised by the director in the name of the institute board.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 18. The governor shall make the appointments to the institute board.

The institute board shall organize, adopt a seal, and adopt bylaws for its administration, not inconsistent herewith, as it may deem expedient and may from time to time amend such bylaws. Annually the board shall elect a chairperson and vice-chairperson; all to serve until their successors are appointed and qualified. The institute board shall at its initial meeting fix a date and place for its regular meeting. Five members shall constitute a quorum, and no meeting shall be held with less than a quorum present, and no action shall be taken by less than a majority of the institute board.

Special meetings may be called as provided by its rules. Regular meetings shall be held at the institute board's established offices in Olympia, but whenever the convenience of the public or of the parties may be promoted, or delay or expenses may be prevented, it may hold its meetings, hearings, or proceedings at any other place designated by it. The fiscal year of the institute board shall conform to the fiscal year of the state.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 19. Suitable offices and office equipment shall be provided by the state for the institute board in the city of Olympia, and the institute board may incur the necessary expense for office furniture, stationery, printing, incidental expenses, and other expenses necessary for the administration of this chapter.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 20. The institute board shall appoint a treasurer who shall be the financial officer of the institute board, who shall make such vendor payments and salary payments for the entire system as authorized by the institute board, and who shall hold office during the pleasure of the institute board. All moneys received by the institute board and not required to be deposited elsewhere, shall be deposited in a depository selected by the institute board, which moneys shall be subject to the budgetary and audit provisions of law applicable to state agencies. The depository selected by the institute board shall conform to the collateral requirements required for the deposit of other state funds. Disbursement shall be made by check signed by the treasurer. The treasurer shall render a true and faithful account of all moneys received and paid out by him or her and shall give bond for the faithful performance of the duties of his or her office in such amount as the institute board requires. The institute board shall pay the fee for any such bonds.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 21. The institute board shall have general supervision and control over the system. In addition to the other powers and duties imposed upon the institute board by this chapter, the institute board shall be charged with the following powers, duties, and responsibilities:

(1) Review the budgets prepared by the boards of trustees, prepare a single budget for the support of the system, and submit this budget to the governor as provided in RCW 43.88.090;

(2) Establish guidelines for the disbursement of funds; and receive and disburse such funds for maintenance, operation, and capital support of the individual vocational-technical institutes in conformance with the state and individual institute budgets, and in conformance with chapter 43.88 RCW;

(3) Ensure, through the full use of its authority:

(a) That each vocational-technical institute offers thoroughly comprehensive educational, training, and service programs to meet the needs of students served by providing realistic and practical courses in vocational education, both graded and ungraded;

(b) That each vocational-technical institute maintains an open-door policy, to the end that no student will be denied admission because of the location of his or her residence or because of his or her educational background or ability; that, insofar as is practical in the judgment of the institute board, curriculum offerings will be provided to meet the educational and training needs of the community generally and the students thereof; and that all students, regardless of their differing courses of study, will be considered, known and recognized equally as members of the student body. The administrative officers of a vocational-technical institute may deny admission to a prospective student or attendance to an enrolled student if, in their judgment, the student would not be competent to profit from the curriculum offerings of the vocational-technical institute, or would, by his or her presence or conduct, create a disruptive atmosphere within the vocational-technical institute not consistent with the purposes of the institution;

(4) Prepare a comprehensive master plan for the development of vocational and technical training and retraining in the state; and assist the office of financial management in the preparation of enrollment projections to support plans for providing adequate vocational-technical institute facilities in all areas of the state;

(5) Define and administer criteria and guidelines for the establishment of new vocational-technical institutes;

(6) Establish minimum standards to govern the operation of the vocational-technical institutes with respect to:

(a) Qualifications and credentials of instructional and key administrative personnel;

(b) Internal budgeting, accounting, auditing, and financial procedures as necessary to supplement the general requirements prescribed pursuant to chapter 43.88 RCW;

(c) The content of the curriculums and other educational and training programs, and the requirement for degrees and certificates awarded by the vocational-technical institutes;

(d) Standard admission policies; and

(e) Eligibility of courses to receive state fund support;

(7) Establish and administer criteria and procedures for all capital construction including the establishment, installation, and expansion of facilities within the various vocational-technical institutes;

(8) Encourage innovation in the development of new educational and training programs and instructional methods; coordinate research efforts to this end; and disseminate the findings thereof;

(9) Exercise any other powers, duties, and responsibilities necessary to carry out the purposes of this chapter;

(10) Notwithstanding any other law or statute regarding the sale of state property, sell or exchange and convey any or all interest in any vocational-technical institute real and personal property, when it determines that such property is surplus or that such a sale or exchange is in the best interests of the vocational-technical institute system;

(11) In order that the treasurer for the institute board appointed in accordance with section 20 of this act may make vendor payments, the state treasurer shall honor warrants drawn by the institute board providing for an initial advance on July 1, 1992, and on July 1 of each succeeding biennium from the state general fund in an amount equal to twenty-four percent of the average monthly allotment for such budgeted biennium expenditures for the vocational-technical institutes as certified by the office of financial management; and at the conclusion of such initial month and for each succeeding month of any biennium, the state treasurer shall reimburse expenditures incurred and reported monthly by the institute board treasurer in accordance with chapter 43.88 RCW. The reimbursement to the institute board for actual expenditures incurred in the final month of each biennium shall be less the initial advance made in such biennium;

(12) May receive such gifts, grants, conveyances, devises, and bequests of real or personal property from private sources as may be made from time to time, in trust or otherwise, whenever the terms and conditions thereof will aid in carrying out the vocational-technical institute programs and may sell, lease or exchange, invest or expend the same or the proceeds, rents, profits, and income thereof according to the terms and conditions thereof; and adopt rules to govern the receipt and expenditure of the proceeds, rents, profits, and income thereof.

The institute board shall have the power of eminent domain.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 22. In addition to other powers and duties, the institute board may issue rules permitting a student to register at more than one vocational-technical institute, provided that such student shall pay tuition and fees as if he or she were registered at a single institute.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 23. There is hereby created a local vocational-technical institute board of trustees for each vocational-technical institute. Each local vocational-technical institute board of trustees shall be composed of five trustees, who shall be appointed by the governor for terms commencing October 1st of the year in which appointed. In making such appointments the governor shall give consideration to geographical exigencies, and the interests of labor, industry, education, the professions, and ethnic groups. The initial trustees shall be selected from the vocational-technical institute's advisory board.

The successors of the trustees initially appointed shall be appointed by the governor to serve for a term of five years except that any person appointed to fill a vacancy occurring prior to the expiration of any term shall be appointed only for the remainder of the term. Each member shall serve until a successor is appointed and qualified.

No trustee may be an employee of the vocational-technical institute system, a member of the board of directors of any school district, or a member of the governing board of any public or private educational institution.

Each board of trustees shall organize itself by electing a chairperson from its members. The local board of trustees shall adopt a seal and may adopt such bylaws and rules, as it deems necessary for its own government. Three members of the local board of trustees shall constitute a quorum, but a lesser number may adjourn from time to time and may compel the attendance of absent members in such manner as prescribed in its bylaws and rules. The local institute president shall serve as, or may designate another person to serve as, the secretary of the local board of trustees, who shall not be deemed to be a member of the local board of trustees.

Members of the boards of trustees may be removed for misconduct or malfeasance in office in the manner provided by RCW 28B.10.500.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 24. Within thirty days of their appointment or July 1, 1992, whichever is sooner, the various district boards of trustees shall organize, adopt bylaws for its own government, and make such rules not inconsistent with this chapter as they deem necessary. At such organizational meeting it shall elect from among its members a chairperson and a vice-chairperson, each to serve for one year, and annually thereafter shall elect such officers to serve until their successors are appointed or qualified. The chief executive officer of the local vocational-technical institute, or his or her designee, shall serve as secretary of the local board of trustees. Three trustees shall constitute a quorum, and no action shall be taken by less than a majority of the trustees of the local board of trustees. The local boards of trustees shall transmit such reports to the institute board as may be requested by the institute board. The fiscal year of the local boards of trustees shall conform to the fiscal year of the state.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 25. Each local vocational-technical institute board of trustees:

- (1) Shall operate the existing vocational-technical institute;
- (2) Shall create comprehensive programs of education and training and maintain an open-door policy in accordance with the provisions of section 21 of this act;
- (3) Shall employ for a period to be fixed by the board of trustees a local institute president for each vocational-technical institute, members of the faculty, and such other administrative officers and other employees as may be necessary or appropriate and fix their salaries and duties. Salary increases shall not exceed the amount or percentage established in the state appropriations act by the legislature as allocated to the board of trustees by the institute board;
- (4) May establish, under the approval and direction of the institute board, new facilities as community needs and interests demand. The authority of local vocational-technical institute boards of trustees to purchase or lease major off-campus facilities shall be subject to the approval of the institute board;
- (5) May establish or lease, operate, equip, and maintain food service facilities, bookstores, and other self-supporting facilities connected with the operation of the vocational-technical institute;
- (6) May, with the approval of the institute board, borrow money and issue and sell revenue bonds or other evidences of indebtedness for the construction, reconstruction, erection, equipping with permanent fixtures, demolition, and major alteration of buildings or other capital assets, and the acquisition of sites, rights of way, easements, improvements or appurtenances, food service facilities, and other self-supporting facilities connected with the operation of the local vocational-technical institute in accordance with the provisions of RCW 28B.10.300 through 28B.10.330 where applicable;
- (7) May receive such gifts, grants, conveyances, devises, and bequests of real or personal property from private sources, as may be made from time to time, in trust or otherwise, whenever the terms and conditions thereof will aid in carrying out the vocational-technical institute programs as specified by law and the rules of the institute board; sell, lease or exchange, invest or expend the same or the proceeds, rents, profits, and income thereof according to the terms and conditions thereof; and adopt rules to govern the receipt and expenditure of the proceeds, rents, profits, and income thereof;
- (8) May establish and maintain night schools whenever in the discretion of the local board of trustees it is deemed advisable, and authorize classrooms and other facilities to be used for summer or night schools, or for public meetings and for any other uses consistent with the use of such classrooms or facilities for vocational-technical institute purposes;
- (9) May make rules for pedestrian and vehicular traffic on property owned, operated, or maintained by the vocational-technical institute;
- (10) Shall prescribe, with the assistance of the faculty, the course of study in the various departments of the vocational-technical institute and publish such catalogues and bulletins as may become necessary;
- (11) May grant to every student, upon graduation or completion of a course of study, a suitable diploma, nonbaccalaureate degree, or certificate;
- (12) Shall enforce the rules prescribed by the institute board for the government of vocational-technical institutes, students and teachers, and adopt such rules and perform all other acts not inconsistent with law or rules of the institute board as the local board of trustees may in its discretion deem necessary or appropriate to the administration of vocational-technical institutes. Such rules shall include, but not be limited to, rules relating to scholarships, conduct at the various institute facilities, and discipline. The local board of trustees may suspend or expel from the vocational-technical institute students who refuse to obey any of the adopted rules;

(13) May, by written order filed in its office, delegate to the president any of the powers and duties vested in or imposed upon it by this chapter. Such delegated powers and duties may be exercised in the name of the local board of trustees;

(14) May perform such other activities consistent with this chapter and not in conflict with the directives of the institute board;

(15) Notwithstanding any other provision of law, may offer educational services on a contractual basis other than the tuition and fee basis set forth in chapter 28B.15 RCW for a special fee to private or governmental entities, consistent with rules adopted by the institute board. The whole of such special fee shall go to the local institute and be not less than the full instructional costs of such services including any salary increases authorized by the legislature for vocational-technical institute employees during the term of the agreement;

(16) Notwithstanding any other provision of law, may offer educational services on a contractual basis, charging tuition and fees as set forth in chapter 28B.15 RCW, counting such enrollments for state funding purposes, and may additionally charge a special supplemental fee when necessary to cover the full instructional costs of such services. Such contracts shall be subject to review by the institute board and to such rules as the institute board may adopt for that purpose to assure that the sum of the supplemental fee and the normal state funding does not exceed the projected total cost of offering the educational service. Enrollments generated by courses offered on the basis of contracts requiring payment of a share of the normal costs of the course shall be discounted to the percentage provided by the vocational-technical institute;

(17) Shall be authorized to pay dues to any association of trustees that may be formed by the various boards of trustees; such association may expend any or all of such funds to submit biennially, or more often if necessary, to the governor and to the legislature, the recommendations of the association regarding changes that would affect the efficiency of the association;

(2) The term 'resident student' shall mean: (a) A financially independent student who has had a domicile in the state of Washington for the period of one year immediately prior to the time of commencement of the first day of the semester or quarter for which the student has registered at any institution and has in fact established a bona fide domicile in this state primarily for purposes other than educational; (b) a dependent student, if one or both of the student's parents or legal guardians have maintained a bona fide domicile in the state of Washington for at least one year immediately prior to commencement of the semester or quarter for which the student has registered at any institution; (c) a student classified as a resident based upon domicile by an institution on or before May 31, 1982, who was enrolled at a state institution during any term of the 1982-1983 academic year, so long as such student's enrollment (excepting summer sessions) at an institution in this state is continuous; or (d) any student who has spent at least seventy-five percent of both his or her junior and senior years in high schools in this state, whose parents or legal guardians have been domiciled in the state for a period of at least one year within the five-year period before the student graduates from high school, and who enrolls in a public institution of higher education within six months of leaving high school, for as long as the student remains continuously enrolled for three quarters or two semesters in any calendar year: PROVIDED, That a nonresident student enrolled for more than six hours per semester or quarter shall be considered as attending for primarily educational purposes, and for tuition and fee paying purposes only such period of enrollment shall not be counted toward the establishment of a bona fide domicile of one year in this state unless such student proves that the student has in fact established a bona fide domicile in this state primarily for purposes other than educational.

(3) The term 'nonresident student' shall mean any student who does not qualify as a 'resident student' under the provisions of RCW 28B.15.011 through 28B.15.014 and 28B.15.015, each as now or hereafter amended. A nonresident student shall include:

It is the place where the student intends to remain, and to which the student expects to return when the student leaves without intending to establish a new domicile elsewhere. NEW SECTION, Sec. 4. A new section is added to chapter 75.10 RCW to read as follows:

Persons who repeatedly demonstrate indifference and disrespect for the fisheries laws of the state shall be considered a threat to the fisheries resource. These habitual offenders shall be denied the privilege of harvesting food fish or shellfish.

A revoked license shall not be reissued for a period of at least two years from the date of revocation, and shall be reissued only under the discretion of the director.

For purposes of this section, 'conviction' means a final conviction in a state or municipal court. An unvacated forfeiture of bail or collateral of two hundred fifty dollars or more deposited to secure a defendant's appearance in court, the payment of a fine, a plea of guilty, or a finding of guilt for violating a provision of this title is equivalent to a conviction regardless of whether the imposition of sentence is deferred or the penalty is suspended.

Sec. 5. Section 75.36.010, chapter 12, Laws of 1955 as amended by section 34, chapter 46, Laws of 1983 1st ex. sess. and RCW 75.10.030 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) Fisheries patrol officers and ex officio fisheries patrol officers may seize without warrant food fish or shellfish they have reason to believe have been taken, killed, transported, or possessed in violation of this title or rule of the director and may seize without warrant ((α)) boats, vehicles, gear, appliances, or other articles they have reason to believe is held with intent to violate or has been used in violation of this title or rule of the director. The articles seized shall be subject to forfeiture to the state, regardless of ownership. Articles seized may be recovered by their owner by depositing into court a cash bond equal to the value of the seized articles but not more than ((five)) twenty-five thousand dollars. The cash bond is subject to forfeiture to the state in lieu of the seized article.

(2)(a) In the event of a seizure of an article under subsection (1) of this section, proceedings for forfeiture shall be deemed commenced by the seizure. Within fifteen days following the seizure, the seizing authority shall serve notice on the owner of the property seized and on any person having any known right or interest in the property seized. The hearing shall be before the director or the director's designee, or before an administrative law judge appointed under chapter 34.12 RCW, except that a person asserting a claim or right may remove the matter to a court of competent jurisdiction if the aggregate value of the articles seized is more than five thousand dollars. The department hearing and any subsequent appeal shall be as provided for in Title 34 RCW. The burden of producing evidence shall be upon the person claiming to be the lawful owner or person claiming lawful right of possession of the articles seized. The department shall promptly return the seized articles to the claimant upon a determination by the director or the director's designee, an administrative law judge, or a court that the claimant is the present lawful owner or is lawfully entitled to possession of the articles seized, and that the seized articles were improperly seized.

(d)(i) No conveyance, including vessels, vehicles, or aircraft, is subject to forfeiture under this section by reason of any act or omission established by the owner of the conveyance to have been committed or omitted without the owner's knowledge or consent.

(ii) A forfeiture of a conveyance encumbered by a perfected security interest is subject to the interest of the secured party if the secured party neither had knowledge nor consented to the act or omission.

(e) When seized property is forfeited under this section the department may retain it for official use unless the property is required to be destroyed, or upon application by any law enforcement agency of the state, release such property to the agency for the use of enforcing this title, or sell such property, and deposit the proceeds to the state general fund, as provided for in RCW 75.08.230.

Sec. 6. Section 75.08.260, chapter 12, Laws of 1955 as last amended by section 16, chapter 380, Laws of 1987 and RCW 75.10.110 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) Unless otherwise provided for in this title, a person who violates this title or rules of the director ((or who aids or abets in the violation)) is guilty of a gross misdemeanor, and upon a conviction thereof shall be ((punished by imprisonment in the county jail of the county in which the offense is committed for not less than thirty days or more than one year, or by a fine of not less than twenty-five dollars or more than one thousand dollars, or by both such fine and imprisonment)) subject to the penalties under RCW 9.92.020. Food fish or shellfish involved in the violation shall be forfeited to the state. The court may forfeit seized articles involved in the violation.

(2) The director may specify by rule, when not inconsistent with applicable statutes, that violation of a specific rule is an infraction under chapter 7.84 RCW. ((A person taking or possessing salmon in violation of this title or rules of the director shall be punished by a fine in an amount not more than five thousand dollars if the salmon involved in the violation have a market value greater than two hundred fifty dollars. This fine is in addition to the punishment resulting under subsection (1) of this section.))

Sec. 7. Section 75.28.380, chapter 12, Laws of 1955 as last amended by section 43, chapter 46, Laws of 1983 1st ex. sess. and RCW 75.10.120 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) Upon conviction of a person for a violation of this title or rule of the director, in addition to the penalty imposed by law, the court may forfeit the person's license or licenses.

((2) The court shall forfeit the license: (a) Upon conviction for a violation of this title or rule of the director prescribing the length, depth, or construction of fishing gear, or (b) upon two or more convictions in a five-year period of any violation of this title or rule of the director.)) The license or licenses shall remain forfeited pending appeal.

(2) The director may prohibit, for one year, the issuance of ((α)) all commercial fishing licenses to a person convicted of two or more gross misdemeanor or class C felony violations of this title or rule of the director in a five-year period or prescribe the conditions under which the license or licenses may be issued. For purposes of this section, the term 'conviction' means a final conviction in a state or municipal court. An unvacated forfeiture of bail or collateral of two hundred fifty dollars or more deposited to secure the defendant's appearance in court, the payment of a fine, a plea of guilty, or a finding of guilt on a violation of this title or rule of the director is equivalent to a conviction regardless of whether the imposition of sentence is deferred or the penalty is suspended.

Sec. 8. Section 75.12.090, chapter 12, Laws of 1955 as last amended by section 54, chapter 46, Laws of 1983 1st ex. sess. and RCW 75.12.090 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) It is unlawful to take food fish or shellfish from a building, vehicle, vessel, container, or fishing gear thereby depriving the rightful owner of the food fish or shellfish.

ESSB 6452 Prime Sponsor, Committee on Ways & Means: Clarifying "annual leave" for purposes of the school district leave sharing program. Reported by Committee on State Government

MAJORITY recommendation: Do pass with the following amendments:

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

*Sec. 1. Section 3, chapter 93, Laws of 1989 and RCW 41.04.660 are each amended to read as follows:

The Washington state leave sharing program is hereby created. The purpose of the program is to permit state employees, at no significantly increased cost to the state of providing annual or sick leave, to come to the aid of a fellow state employee who is suffering from or has a relative or household member suffering from an extraordinary or severe illness, injury, impairment, or physical or mental condition which has caused or is likely to cause the employee to take leave without pay or terminate his or her employment.

Sec. 2. Section 4, chapter 93, Laws of 1989 and RCW 41.04.665 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) An agency head may permit an employee to receive leave under this section if:

(a) The employee suffers from, or has a relative or household member suffering from, an illness, injury, impairment, or physical or mental condition which is of an extraordinary or severe nature and which has caused, or is likely to cause, the employee to:

(i) Go on leave without pay status; or

(ii) Terminate state employment;

(b) The employee's absence and the use of shared leave are justified;

(c) The employee has depleted or will shortly deplete his or her annual leave and sick leave reserves;

(d) The employee has abided by agency rules regarding sick leave use; and

(e) The employee has diligently pursued and been found to be ineligible for benefits under chapter 51.32 RCW.

(2) The agency head shall determine the amount of leave, if any, which an employee may receive under this section. However, an employee shall not receive a total of more than two hundred sixty-one days of leave.

(3) An employee who has an accrued annual leave balance of more than ten days may request that the head of the agency for which the employee works transfer a specified amount of annual leave to another employee authorized to receive leave under subsection (1) of this section. In no event may the employee request a transfer of an amount of leave that would result in his or her annual leave account going below ten days.

(4) An employee of a community college, school district, or educational service district who does not accrue annual leave but does accrue sick leave and who has an accrued sick leave balance of more than sixty days may request that the head of the agency for which the employee works transfer a specified amount of sick leave to another employee authorized to receive leave under subsection (1) of this section. In no event may such an employee request a transfer of more than six days of sick leave during any twelve month period, or request a transfer that would result in his or her sick leave account going below sixty days. Transfers of sick leave under this subsection are limited to transfers from employees who do not accrue annual leave. Under this subsection, 'sick leave' also includes leave accrued pursuant to RCW 28A.58.099(2) or 28A.21.102(1) with compensation for illness, injury, and emergencies.

(5) Transfers of leave made by an agency head under subsections (3) and (4) of this section shall not exceed the requested amount.

~~((5))~~ (6) Leave transferred under this section may be transferred from employees of one agency to an employee of the same agency or, with the approval of the heads of both agencies, to an employee of another state agency. However, leave transferred to or from employees of school districts or educational service districts is limited to transfers to or from employees within the same employing district.

~~((6))~~ (7) While an employee is on leave transferred under this section, he or she shall continue to be classified as a state employee and shall receive the same treatment in respect to salary, wages, and employee benefits as the employee would normally receive if using accrued annual leave or sick leave.

(a) All salary and wage payments made to employees while on leave transferred under this section shall be made by the agency employing the person receiving the leave. The value of leave transferred shall be based upon the annual leave value of the person receiving the leave.

(b) In the case of leave transferred by an employee of one agency to an employee of another agency, the agencies involved shall arrange for the transfer of funds and credit for the appropriate value of leave.

(i) Pursuant to rules adopted by the office of financial management, funds shall not be transferred under this section if the transfer would violate any constitutional or statutory restrictions on the funds being transferred.

(ii) The office of financial management may adjust the appropriation authority of an agency receiving funds under this section only if and to the extent that the agency's existing appropriation authority would prevent it from expending the funds received.

(iii) Where any questions arise in the transfer of funds or the adjustment of appropriation authority, the director of financial management shall determine the appropriate transfer or adjustment.

~~((7))~~ (8) Leave transferred under this section shall not be used in any calculation to determine an agency's allocation of full time equivalent staff positions.

~~((8))~~ (9) The value of any leave transferred under this section which remains unused shall be returned at its original value to the employee or employees who transferred the leave when the agency head finds that the leave is no longer needed or will not be needed at a future time in connection with the illness or injury for which the leave was transferred. To the extent administratively feasible, the value of unused leave which was transferred by more than one employee shall be returned on a pro rata basis.

Sec. 3. Section 5, chapter 93, Laws of 1989 and RCW 41.04.670 are each amended to read as follows:

The state personnel board, the higher education personnel board, and other personnel authorities shall each adopt rules applicable to employees under their respective jurisdictions:

(1) Establishing appropriate parameters for the program which are consistent with the provisions of RCW 41.04.650 through 41.04.665; (2) providing for equivalent treatment of employees between their respective jurisdictions and allowing transfers of leave in accordance with RCW 41.04.665(5); (3) establishing procedures to ensure that the program does not significantly increase the cost of providing ~~((annual))~~ leave; and (4) providing for the administration of the program and providing for maintenance and collection of sufficient information on the program to allow a thorough legislative review.

Sec. 4. Section 6, chapter 93, Laws of 1989 and RCW 28A.58.0991 are each amended to read as follows:

Every school district board of directors and educational service district superintendent may, in accordance with RCW 41.04.650 through 41.04.665, establish and administer ~~((an annual))~~ a leave sharing program for their certificated and noncertificated employees. For employees of school districts and educational service districts, the superintendent of public instruction shall adopt standards: (1) Establishing appropriate parameters for the program which are consistent with the provisions of RCW 41.04.650 through 41.04.665; and (2) establishing procedures to ensure that the program does not significantly increase the cost of providing ~~((annual))~~ leave.

SSB 6575 Prime Sponsor, Committee on Energy & Utilities: Revising liability requirements for nuclear operations. Reported by Committee on Energy & Utilities

MAJORITY recommendation: Do pass with the following amendments:

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

*Sec. 1. Section 1, chapter 191, Laws of 1986 and RCW 43.200.200 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) The director of the department of ecology shall periodically review the potential for bodily injury and property damage in the packaging, shipping, transporting, treatment, storage, and disposal of commercial low-level radioactive materials under licenses or permits issued by the state.

~~(2) ((The director shall, upon the completion of each review, determine by rule the minimum amount of liability coverage that is adequate to protect the state and its citizens from all claims, suits, losses, damages, or expenses on account of injuries to persons and property damage arising or growing out of the packaging, shipping, transporting, treatment, storage, and disposal of commercial low-level radioactive materials.~~

~~(3)) Except as otherwise provided in subsection (7) of this section, the director shall require ((the maximum amount of)) each permit holder to maintain liability coverage ((available from private sources, including)) in an amount that is adequate to protect the state and its citizens from all claims, suits, losses, damages, or expenses on account of injuries to persons and property damage arising or growing out of the packaging, shipping, transporting, treatment, storage, and disposal of commercial low-level radioactive materials. The liability coverage may be in the form of insurance, cash, surety bonds, corporate guarantees, and other acceptable instruments((, unless the director determines that a lesser amount is adequate to protect the state and its citizens pursuant to this section)).~~

~~((4)) (3) In making the determination of the appropriate level of liability coverage, the director shall consider:~~

(a) The nature and purpose of the activity and its potential for injury and damages to or claims against the state and its citizens;

(b) The current and cumulative manifested volume and radioactivity of material being packaged, transported, buried, or otherwise handled;

(c) The location where the material is being packaged, transported, buried, or otherwise handled, including the proximity to the general public and geographic features such as geology and hydrology, if relevant; and

(d) The legal defense cost, if any, that will be paid from the required liability coverage amount.

~~((f))~~ (4) The director may establish different levels of required liability coverage for various classes of ~~(license or)~~ permit holders.

~~((f))~~ (5) The director shall establish by rule the instruments or mechanisms by which a person may demonstrate liability coverage as required by RCW 43.200.210 ~~(and 70.98.095)~~. Any instrument or mechanism approved as an alternative to liability insurance shall provide the state and its citizens with a level of financial protection at least as great as would be provided by liability insurance.

~~((f))~~ (6) The director shall complete the first review and determination, and report the results to the legislature, by December 1, 1987. At least every five years thereafter, the director shall conduct a new review and determination and report its results to the legislature.

(7)(a) The director by rule may exempt from the requirement to provide liability coverage a class of permit holders if the director determines that the exemption of that class will not pose a significant risk to persons or property and will not pose substantial financial risk to the state.

(b) The director may exempt from the requirement to provide liability coverage an individual permit holder if the director determines that the cost of obtaining that coverage for that permit holder would impose a substantial financial hardship on the person and that failure to maintain the coverage will not pose a significant risk to persons or property and will not pose a substantial financial risk to the state.

Sec. 2. Section 2, chapter 191, Laws of 1986 and RCW 43.200.210 are each amended to read as follows:

(1)(a) The department of ecology shall require that any person who holds or applies for a ~~(license or)~~ permit under this chapter ~~((or))~~ indemnify and hold harmless the state from claims, suits, damages, or expenses on account of injuries to or death of persons and property, arising or growing out of any operations and activities for which the person holds the license or permit, and any necessary or incidental operations ~~(and)~~;

(b) Except for a permit holder not required to maintain liability insurance coverage under RCW 43.200.200(7), the department shall require any person who holds or applies for a permit under this chapter to demonstrate that the person has and maintains liability coverage for the operations for which the state has been indemnified and held harmless pursuant to this section. The agency shall require coverage in an amount determined by the director of the department of ecology pursuant to RCW 43.200.200.

(2) The department of ecology shall suspend the license ~~(or permit)~~ of any person required by this section to hold and maintain liability coverage who fails to demonstrate compliance with this section. The ~~(license or)~~ permit shall not be reinstated until the person demonstrates compliance with this section.

(3) The department of ecology shall require (a) that any person required to maintain liability coverage maintain with the agency current copies of any insurance policies, certificates of insurance, or any other documents used to comply with this section, (b) that the agency be notified of any changes in the insurance coverage or financial condition of the person, and (c) that the state be named as an insured party on any insurance policy used to comply with this section.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. A new section is added to chapter 70.98 RCW to read as follows:

(1) Except as otherwise provided in subsection (5) of this section, the secretary shall require each permit or license holder to maintain liability coverage in an amount that is adequate to protect the state and its citizens from all claims, suits, losses, damages, or expenses on account of injuries to persons and property damage arising or growing out of the packaging, shipping, transporting, treatment, storage, and disposal of commercial low-level radioactive materials. The liability coverage may be in the form of insurance, cash, surety bonds, corporate guarantees, and other acceptable instruments.

(2) In making the determination of the appropriate level of liability coverage, the secretary shall consider:

(a) The nature and purpose of the activity and its potential for injury and damages to or claims against the state and its citizens;

(b) The current and cumulative manifested volume and radioactivity of material being packaged, transported, buried, or otherwise handled;

However, if the applicant does not have a valid permanent Washington driver's license or Washington state identification card or has not been a resident of the state for the previous consecutive ninety days, the issuing authority shall have up to sixty days after the filing of the application to issue a license. The original thereof shall be delivered to the licensee, the duplicate shall within seven days be sent by registered mail to the director of licensing and the triplicate shall be preserved for six years, by the authority issuing said license.

The fee shall be distributed as follows:

- (a) Three dollars shall be deposited in the state wildlife fund and used exclusively for the printing and distribution of a pamphlet on the legal limits of the use of firearms, firearms safety, and the preemptive nature of state law. The pamphlet shall be given to each applicant for a license; and
- (b) Seven dollars shall be paid to the issuing authority for the purpose of enforcing this chapter.

(8) A political subdivision of the state shall not modify the requirements of this section or chapter, nor may a political subdivision ask the applicant to voluntarily submit any information not required by this section. A civil suit may be brought to enjoin a wrongful refusal to issue a license or a wrongful modification of the requirements of this section or chapter. Sec. 115. Section 17, chapter 205, Laws of 1989 and RCW 71.05.670 are each amended to read as follows:

Except as provided in section 117 of this 1990 act, any person, including the state or any political subdivision of the state, violating RCW 71.05.610 through 71.05.690 shall be subject to the provisions of RCW 71.05.440.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 116. The legislature finds that sex offenders pose a high risk of engaging in sex offenses even after being released from incarceration or commitment and that protection of the public from sex offenders is a paramount governmental interest. The legislature further finds that the penal and mental health components of our justice system are largely hidden from public view and that lack of information from either may result in failure of both systems to meet this paramount concern of public safety. Overly restrictive confidentiality and liability laws governing the release of information about sexual predators have reduced willingness to release information that could be appropriately released under the public disclosure laws, and have increased risks to public safety. Persons found to have committed a sex offense have a reduced expectation of privacy because of the public's interest in public safety and in the effective operation of government. Release of information about sexual predators to public agencies and under limited circumstances, the general public, will further the governmental interests of public safety and public scrutiny of the criminal and mental health systems so long as the information released is rationally related to the furtherance of those goals.

Therefore, this state's policy as expressed in section 117 of this act is to require the exchange of relevant information about sexual predators among public agencies and officials and to authorize the release of necessary and relevant information about sexual predators to members of the general public.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 117. A new section is added to chapter 4.24 RCW to read as follows:

(1) Public agencies are authorized to release relevant and necessary information regarding sex offenders to the public when the release of the information is necessary for public protection.

(2) An elected public official, public employee, or public agency as defined in RCW 4.24-.470 is immune from civil liability for damages for any discretionary decision to release relevant and necessary information, unless it is shown that the official, employee, or agency acted with gross negligence or in bad faith. The authorization and immunity in this section applies to information regarding: (a) a person convicted of, or juvenile found to have committed, a sex offense as defined by RCW 9.94A.030; (b) a person found not guilty of a sex offense by reason of insanity under chapter 10.77 RCW; (c) a person found incompetent to stand trial for a sex offense and subsequently committed under chapter 71.05 or 71.34 RCW; (d) a person committed as a sexual psychopath under chapter 71.06 RCW; or (e) a person committed as a sexually violent predator under sections 1001 through 1012 of this act. The immunity provided under this section applies to the release of relevant information to other employees or officials or to the general public.

(3) Except as otherwise provided by statute, nothing in this section shall impose any liability upon a public official, public employee, or public agency for failing to release information as provided in subsection (2) of this section.

(4) Nothing in this section implies that information regarding persons designated in subsection (2) of this section is confidential except as otherwise provided by statute.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 118. An offender's pending appeal, petition for personal restraint, or writ of habeas corpus shall not restrict the agency's, official's, or employee's authority to release relevant information concerning an offender's prior criminal history. However, the agency must release the latest dispositions of the charges as provided in chapter 10.97 RCW, the Washington state criminal records privacy act.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 119. The governor shall cause a study of federal and state statutes and regulations governing the confidentiality and disclosure of information about dangerous offenders in the criminal justice, juvenile justice, and mental health systems. (c) The work release prisoner shall be confined in a work release facility or jail unless authorized to be absent from the facility for program-related purposes, unless the court directs otherwise.

(d) Each work release prisoner's earnings may be collected by the chief law enforcement officer or a designee. The chief law enforcement officer or a designee may deduct from the earnings moneys for the payments for the prisoner's board, personal expenses inside and outside the jail, a share of the administrative expenses of this section, court-ordered victim compensation, and court-ordered restitution. Support payments for the prisoner's dependents, if any, shall be made as directed by the court. With the prisoner's consent, the remaining funds may be used to pay the prisoner's preexisting debts. Any remaining balance shall be returned to the prisoner.

(e) The prisoner's sentence may be reduced by earned early release time in accordance with procedures that shall be developed and promulgated by the work release facility. The earned early release time shall be for good behavior and good performance as determined by the facility. The facility shall not credit the offender with earned early release credits in advance of the offender actually earning the credits. In the case of an offender convicted of a serious violent offense or a sex offense that is a class A felony committed on or after July 1, 1990, the aggregate earned early release time may not exceed fifteen percent of the sentence. In no other case may the aggregate earned early release time exceed one-third of the total sentence.

(f) If the work release prisoner violates the conditions of custody or employment, the prisoner shall be returned to the sentencing court. The sentencing court may require the prisoner to spend the remainder of the sentence in actual confinement and may cancel any earned reduction of the sentence.

(4) A special detention facility may be operated by a noncorrectional agency or by noncorrectional personnel by contract with the governing unit. The employees shall meet the standards of training and education established by the criminal justice training commission as authorized by RCW 43.101.080. The special detention facility may use combinations of features including, but not limited to, low-security or honor prisoner status, work farm, work release, community review, prisoner facility maintenance and food preparation, training programs, or alcohol or drug rehabilitation programs. Special detention facilities may establish a reasonable fee schedule to cover the cost of facility housing and programs. The schedule shall be on a sliding basis that reflects the person's ability to pay.

(1) When the respondent is found to be a serious offender, the court shall commit the offender to the department for the standard range of disposition for the offense, as indicated in option A of schedule D-3, RCW 13.40.0357 except as provided in subsection (5) of this section.

If the court concludes, and enters reasons for its conclusion, that disposition within the standard range would effectuate a manifest injustice the court shall impose a disposition outside the standard range, as indicated in option B of schedule D-3, RCW 13.40.0357. The court's finding of manifest injustice shall be supported by clear and convincing evidence.

A disposition outside the standard range shall be determinate and shall be comprised of confinement or community supervision, or a combination thereof. When a judge finds a manifest injustice and imposes a sentence of confinement exceeding thirty days, the court shall sentence the juvenile to a maximum term, and the provisions of RCW 13.40.030~~((5))~~(2), as now or hereafter amended, shall be used to determine the range. A disposition outside the standard range is appealable under RCW 13.40.230, as now or hereafter amended, by the state or the respondent. A disposition within the standard range is not appealable under RCW 13.40.230 as now or hereafter amended.

(2) Where the respondent is found to be a minor or first offender, the court shall order that the respondent serve a term of community supervision as indicated in option A or option B of schedule D-1, RCW 13.40.0357 except as provided in subsection (5) of this section. If the court determines that a disposition of community supervision would effectuate a manifest injustice the court may impose another disposition under option C of schedule D-1, RCW 13.40.0357. Except as provided in subsection (5) of this section, a disposition other than a community supervision may be imposed only after the court enters reasons upon which it bases its conclusions that imposition of community supervision would effectuate a manifest injustice. When a judge finds a manifest injustice and imposes a sentence of confinement exceeding thirty days, the court shall sentence the juvenile to a maximum term, and the provisions of RCW 13.40.030((5))(2), as now or hereafter amended, shall be used to determine the range. The court's finding of manifest injustice shall be supported by clear and convincing evidence.

((Any)) Except for disposition ((other than)) of community supervision or a disposition imposed pursuant to subsection (5) of this section, a disposition may be appealed as provided in RCW 13.40.230, as now or hereafter amended, by the state or the respondent. A disposition of community supervision or a disposition imposed pursuant to subsection (5) of this section may not be appealed under RCW 13.40.230 as now or hereafter amended.

(3) Where a respondent is found to have committed an offense for which the respondent declined to enter into a diversion agreement, the court shall impose a term of community supervision limited to the conditions allowed in a diversion agreement as provided in RCW 13.40.080(2) as now or hereafter amended.

(4) If a respondent is found to be a middle offender:

(a) The court shall impose a determinate disposition within the standard range(s) for such offense, as indicated in option A of schedule D-2, RCW 13.40.0357 except as provided in subsection (5) of this section: PROVIDED, That if the standard range includes a term of confinement exceeding thirty days, commitment shall be to the department for the standard range of confinement; or

(b) The court shall impose a determinate disposition of community supervision and/or up to thirty days confinement, as indicated in option B of schedule D-2, RCW 13.40.0357 in which case, if confinement has been imposed, the court shall state either aggravating or mitigating factors as set forth in RCW 13.40.150 as now or hereafter amended.

(c) Only if the court concludes, and enters reasons for its conclusions, that disposition as provided in subsection (4) (a) or (b) of this section would effectuate a manifest injustice, the court shall sentence the juvenile to a maximum term, and the provisions of RCW 13.40.030((5))(2), as now or hereafter amended, shall be used to determine the range. The court's finding of manifest injustice shall be supported by clear and convincing evidence.

(d) A disposition pursuant to subsection (4)(c) of this section is appealable under RCW 13.40.230, as now or hereafter amended, by the state or the respondent. A disposition pursuant to subsection (4) (a) or (b) of this section is not appealable under RCW 13.40.230 as now or hereafter amended.

(5) When a serious, middle, or minor first offender is found to have committed a sex offense, other than a sex offense that is also a serious violent offense as defined by RCW 9.94A.030, and has no history of a prior sex offense, the court, on its own motion or the motion of the state or the respondent, may order an examination to determine whether the respondent is amenable to treatment.

The report of the examination shall include at a minimum the following: The respondent's version of the facts and the official version of the facts, the respondent's offense history, an assessment of problems in addition to alleged deviant behaviors, the respondent's social, educational, and employment situation, and other evaluation measures used. The report shall set forth the sources of the evaluator's information.

The examiner shall assess and report regarding the respondent's amenability to treatment and relative risk to the community. A proposed treatment plan shall be provided and shall include, at a minimum:

(a) (i) Frequency and type of contact between the offender and therapist;

(ii) Specific issues to be addressed in the treatment and description of planned treatment modalities;

(iii) Monitoring plans, including any requirements regarding living conditions, lifestyle requirements, and monitoring by family members, legal guardians, or others;

(iv) Anticipated length of treatment; and

(v) Recommended crime-related prohibitions.

The court on its own motion may order, or on a motion by the state shall order, a second examination regarding the offender's amenability to treatment. The evaluator shall be selected by the party making the motion. The defendant shall pay the cost of any second examination ordered unless the court finds the defendant to be indigent in which case the state shall pay the cost.

After receipt of reports of the examination, the court shall then consider whether the offender and the community will benefit from use of this special sex offender disposition alternative and consider the victim's opinion whether the offender should receive a treatment disposition under this section. If the court determines that this special sex offender disposition alternative is appropriate, then the court shall impose a determinate disposition within the standard range for the offense, and the court may suspend the execution of the disposition and place the offender on community supervision for up to two years. As a condition of the suspended disposition, the court may impose the conditions of community supervision and other conditions, including up to thirty days of confinement and requirements that the offender do any one or more of the following:

(b) (i) Devote time to a specific education, employment, or occupation;

(ii) Undergo available outpatient sex offender treatment for up to two years, or inpatient sex offender treatment not to exceed the standard range of confinement for that offense. A community mental health center may not be used for such treatment unless it has an appropriate program designed for sex offender treatment. The respondent shall not change sex offender treatment providers or treatment conditions without first notifying the prosecutor, the probation counselor, and the court, and shall not change providers without court approval after a hearing if the prosecutor or probation counselor object to the change;

(iii) Remain within prescribed geographical boundaries and notify the court or the probation counselor prior to any change in the offender's address, educational program, or employment;

(iv) Report to the prosecutor and the probation counselor prior to any change in a sex offender treatment provider. This change shall have prior approval by the court;

(v) Report as directed to the court and a probation counselor;

(vi) Pay all court-ordered legal financial obligations, perform community service, or any combination thereof; or

(vii) Make restitution to the victim for the cost of any counseling reasonably related to the offense.

The sex offender treatment provider shall submit quarterly reports on the respondent's progress in treatment to the court and the parties. The reports shall reference the treatment plan and include at a minimum the following: Dates of attendance, respondent's compliance with requirements, treatment activities, the respondent's relative progress in treatment, and any other material specified by the court at the time of the disposition.

At the time of the disposition, the court may set treatment review hearings as the court considers appropriate.

After July 1, 1991, examinations and treatment ordered pursuant to this subsection shall only be conducted by sex offender treatment providers certified by the department of health pursuant to sections 801 through 809 of this 1990 act.

If the offender violates any condition of the disposition or the court finds that the respondent is failing to make satisfactory progress in treatment, the court may revoke the suspension and order execution of the sentence. The court shall give credit for any confinement time previously served if that confinement was for the offense for which the suspension is being revoked.

For purposes of this section, 'victim' means any person who has sustained emotional, psychological, physical, or financial injury to person or property as a direct result of the crime charged. 'Victim' may also include a known parent or guardian of a victim who is a minor child unless the parent or guardian is the perpetrator of the offense.

(d) Whenever a juvenile offender is entitled to credit for time spent in detention prior to a dispositional order, the dispositional order shall specifically state the number of days of credit for time served.

~~((6) In its dispositional order))~~ (7) Except as provided for in subsection (5) of this section, the court shall not suspend or defer the imposition or the execution of the disposition.

~~((7))~~ (8) In no case shall the term of confinement imposed by the court at disposition exceed that to which an adult could be subjected for the same offense.

Sec. 303. Section 65, chapter 291, Laws of 1977 ex. sess. as last amended by section 18, chapter 145, Laws of 1988 and RCW 13.40.110 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) The prosecutor, respondent, or the court on its own motion may, before a hearing on the information on its merits, file a motion requesting the court to transfer the respondent for adult criminal prosecution and the matter shall be set for a hearing on the question of declining jurisdiction. Unless waived by the court, the parties, and their counsel, a decline hearing shall be held where:

(a) The respondent is fifteen, sixteen, or seventeen years of age and the information alleges a class A felony or an attempt, solicitation, or conspiracy to commit a class A felony; or

(b) The respondent is seventeen years of age and the information alleges assault in the second degree, extortion in the first degree, indecent liberties, ~~((rape of a child in the second degree;))~~ child molestation in the ~~((first or))~~ second degree, kidnapping in the second degree, ~~((rape in the second degree;))~~ or robbery in the second degree.

(2) The court after a decline hearing may order the case transferred for adult criminal prosecution upon a finding that the declination would be in the best interest of the juvenile or the public. The court shall consider the relevant reports, facts, opinions, and arguments presented by the parties and their counsel.

(3) When the respondent is transferred for criminal prosecution or retained for prosecution in juvenile court, the court shall set forth in writing its finding which shall be supported by relevant facts and opinions produced at the hearing.

Sec. 304. Section 75, chapter 291, Laws of 1977 ex. sess. as last amended by section 4, chapter 505, Laws of 1987 and RCW 13.40.210 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) The secretary shall, except in the case of a juvenile committed by a court to a term of confinement in a state institution outside the appropriate standard range for the offense(s) for which the juvenile was found to be guilty established pursuant to RCW 13.40.030, as now or hereafter amended, set a release or discharge date for each juvenile committed to its custody which shall be within the prescribed range to which a juvenile has been committed. Such dates shall be determined prior to the expiration of sixty percent of a juvenile's minimum term of confinement included within the prescribed range to which the juvenile has been committed. The secretary shall release any juvenile committed to the custody of the department within four calendar days prior to the juvenile's release date or on the release date set under this chapter: PROVIDED, That days spent in the custody of the department shall be tolled by any period of time during which a juvenile has absented himself or herself from the department's supervision without the prior approval of the secretary or the secretary's designee.

(2) The secretary shall monitor the average daily population of the state's juvenile residential facilities. When the secretary concludes that in-residence population of residential facilities exceeds one hundred five percent of the rated bed capacity specified in statute, or in absence of such specification, as specified by the department in rule, the secretary may recommend reductions to the governor. On certification by the governor that the recommended reductions are necessary, the secretary has authority to administratively release a sufficient number of offenders to reduce in-residence population to one hundred percent of rated bed capacity. The secretary shall release those offenders who have served the greatest proportion of their sentence. However, the secretary may deny release in a particular case at the request of an offender, or if the secretary finds that there is no responsible custodian, as determined by the department, to whom to release the offender, or if the release of the offender would pose a clear danger to society. The department shall notify the committing court of the release at the end of each calendar year if any such early releases have occurred during that year as a result of excessive in-residence population. In no event shall a serious offender, as defined in RCW 13.40.020(1) be granted release under the provisions of this subsection.

(3) Following the juvenile's release pursuant to subsection (1) of this section, the secretary may require the juvenile to comply with a program of parole to be administered by the department in his or her community which shall last no longer than eighteen months, except that in the case of a juvenile sentenced for rape in the first or second degree, rape of a child in the first or second degree, child molestation in the first degree, or indecent liberties with forcible compulsion, the period of parole shall be twenty-four months. ~~((Such))~~ A parole program ~~((shall be))~~ is mandatory for offenders released under subsection (2) of this section. The secretary shall, for the period of parole, facilitate the juvenile's reintegration into his or her community and to further this goal may require the juvenile to: (a) Undergo available medical or psychiatric treatment; (b) report as directed to a parole officer; (c) pursue a course of study or vocational training; (d) remain within prescribed geographical boundaries and notify the department of any change in his or her address; and (e) refrain from committing new offenses. After termination of the parole period, the juvenile shall be discharged from the department's supervision.

(4) The department may also modify parole for violation thereof. If, after affording a juvenile all of the due process rights to which he or she would be entitled if the juvenile were an adult, the secretary finds that a juvenile has violated a condition of his or her parole, the secretary shall order one of the following which is reasonably likely to effectuate the purpose of the parole and to protect the public: (a) Continued supervision under the same conditions previously imposed; (b) intensified supervision with increased reporting requirements; (c) additional conditions of supervision authorized by this chapter; ~~((and))~~ (d) except as provided in (e) of this subsection, imposition of a period of confinement not to exceed thirty days in a facility operated by or pursuant to a contract with the state of Washington or any city or county for a portion of each day or for a certain number of days each week with the balance of the days or weeks spent under supervision; and (e) the secretary may order any of the conditions or may return the offender to confinement in an institution for the remainder of the sentence range if the offense for which the offender was sentenced is rape in the first or second degree, rape of a child in the first or second degree, child molestation in the first degree, indecent liberties with forcible compulsion, or a sex offense that is also a serious violent offense as defined by RCW 9.94A.030.

(5) A parole officer of the department of social and health services shall have the power to arrest a juvenile under his or her supervision on the same grounds as a law enforcement officer would be authorized to arrest such person.

(6) If so requested and approved under chapter 13.06 RCW, the secretary shall permit a county or group of counties to perform functions under subsections (3) through (5) of this section.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 305. A new section is added to chapter 74.13 RCW to read as follows:

(1) For the purposes of funds appropriated for the treatment of at-risk juvenile sex offenders, 'at-risk juvenile sex offenders' means those juveniles in the care and custody of the state who:

- (a) Have been abused; and
- (b) Have committed a sexually aggressive or other violent act that is sexual in nature; or
- (c) Cannot be detained under the juvenile justice system due to being under age twelve and incompetent to stand trial for acts that could be prosecuted as sex offenses as defined by

RCW 9.94A.030 If the juvenile was over twelve years of age, or competent to stand trial if under twelve years of age.

(2) In expending these funds, the department of social and health services shall establish in each region a case review committee to review all cases for which the funds are used. In determining whether to use these funds in a particular case, the committee shall consider:

- (a) The age of the juvenile;
- (b) The extent and type of abuse to which the juvenile has been subjected;
- (c) The juvenile's past conduct;
- (d) The benefits that can be expected from the treatment; and
- (e) The cost of the treatment.

PART IV
REGISTRATION OF SEX OFFENDERS

NEW SECTION. Sec. 401. The legislature finds that sex offenders often pose a high risk of reoffense, and that law enforcement's efforts to protect their communities, conduct investigations, and quickly apprehend offenders who commit sex offenses, are impaired by the lack of information available to law enforcement agencies about convicted sex offenders who live within the law enforcement agency's jurisdiction. Therefore, this state's policy is to assist local law enforcement agencies' efforts to protect their communities by regulating sex offenders by requiring sex offenders to register with local law enforcement agencies as provided in section 402 of this act.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 402. A new section is added to chapter 9A.44 RCW to read as follows:

(1) Any adult or juvenile residing in this state who has been found to have committed or has been convicted of any sex offense shall register with the county sheriff for the county of the person's residence.

(2) The person shall, within forty-five days of establishing residence in Washington, or if a current resident within thirty days of release from confinement, if any, provide the county sheriff with the following information: (a) Name; (b) address; (c) place of employment; (d) crime for which convicted; (e) date and place of conviction; (f) aliases used; and (g) social security number.

(3) If any person required to register pursuant to this section changes his or her residence address within the same county, the person must send written notice of the change of address to the county sheriff within ten days of establishing the new residence. If any person required to register pursuant to this section moves to a new county, the person must register with the county sheriff in the new county within ten days of establishing the new residence. The person must also send written notice within ten days of the change of address in the new county to the county sheriff with whom the person last registered.

(4) The county sheriff shall obtain a photograph of the individual and shall obtain a copy of the individual's fingerprints.

(5) 'Sex offense' for the purpose of sections 402 through 406 of this act means any offense defined as a sex offense by RCW 9.94A.030:

(a) Committed on or after the effective date of this section; or

(b) Committed prior to the effective date of this section if the person, as a result of the offense, is under the custody or active supervision of the department of corrections or the department of social and health services on or after the effective date of this section.

(6) A person who knowingly fails to register as required by this section is guilty of a class C felony if the crime for which the individual was convicted was a class A felony or a federal or out-of-state conviction for an offense that under the laws of this state would be a class A felony. If the crime was other than a class A felony or a federal or out-of-state conviction for an offense that under the laws of this state would be a class A felony, violation of this section is a gross misdemeanor.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 403. A new section is added to chapter 43.43 RCW to read as follows:

The county sheriff shall forward the information and fingerprints obtained pursuant to section 402 of this act to the Washington state patrol within five working days. The state patrol shall maintain a central registry of sex offenders required to register under section 402 of this act and shall adopt rules consistent with chapters 10.97, 10.98, and 43.43 RCW as are necessary to carry out the purposes of sections 402 through 408 of this act. The Washington state patrol shall reimburse the counties for the costs of processing the sex offender registration, including taking the fingerprints and the photographs.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 404. A new section is added to chapter 10.01 RCW to read as follows:

The court shall provide written notification to any defendant charged with a sex offense of the registration requirements of section 402 of this act. Such notice shall be included on any guilty plea forms and judgment and sentence forms provided to the defendant.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 405. A new section is added to chapter 72.09 RCW to read as follows:

(1) The department shall provide written notification to an inmate convicted of a sex offense of the registration requirements of section 402 of this act at the time of the inmate's release from confinement and shall receive and retain a signed acknowledgement of receipt.

(2) The department shall provide written notification to an individual convicted of a sex offense from another state of the registration requirements of section 402 of this act at the time the department accepts supervision and has legal authority of the individual under the terms and conditions of the interstate compact agreement under RCW 9.95.270.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 406. A new section is added to chapter 70.48 RCW to read as follows:

A person having charge of a jail shall notify in writing any confined person who is in the custody of the jail for a conviction of a sexual offense as defined in RCW 9.94A.030 of the registration requirements of section 402 of this act at the time of the inmate's release from confinement, and shall obtain written acknowledgment of such notification.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 407. A new section is added to chapter 46.20 RCW to read as follows:

The department, at the time a person renews his or her driver's license or identicard, or surrenders a driver's license from another jurisdiction pursuant to RCW 46.20.021 and makes an application for a driver's license or an identicard, shall provide the applicant with written information on the registration requirements of section 402 of this act.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 408. A new section is added to chapter 9A.44 RCW to read as follows:

(1) The duty to register under section 402 of this act shall end:

(a) For a person convicted of a class A felony: Such person may only be relieved of the duty to register under subsection (2) of this section.

(b) For a person convicted of a class B felony: Fifteen years after the last date of release from confinement, if any, (including full-time residential treatment) pursuant to the conviction, or entry of the judgment and sentence, if the person has spent fifteen consecutive years in the community without being convicted of any new offenses.

(c) For a person convicted of a class C felony: Ten years after the last date of release from confinement, if any, (including full-time residential treatment) pursuant to the conviction, or entry of the judgment and sentence, if the person has spent ten consecutive years in the community without being convicted of any new offenses.

The prosecuting attorney of the county shall be named and served as the respondent in any such petition. The court shall consider the nature of the registrable offense committed, and the criminal and relevant noncriminal behavior of the petitioner both before and after conviction, and may consider other factors. (3) Unless relieved of the duty to register pursuant to this section, a violation of section 402 of this act is an ongoing offense for purposes of the statute of limitations under RCW 9A.04.080.

(2) Every time the secretary authorizes a furlough as provided for in RCW 72.66.012 the department of corrections shall notify, forty-eight hours prior to the beginning of such furlough, the section that the named prisoner has been granted a furlough, the place to which furloughed, and the dates and times during which the prisoner will be on furlough status. Upon receipt of furlough information pursuant to the provisions of this subsection the section shall notify the sheriff or director of public safety of the county to which the prisoner is being furloughed, the nearest attachment of the Washington state patrol in the county wherein the furloughed prisoner shall be residing and such other criminal justice agencies as the section may determine should be so notified.

In addition, nothing ((herein)) in this section shall((-however,)) be construed to prevent any local law enforcement authority from recording the residency and other information concerning any convicted felon or other person convicted of a criminal offense when such information is obtained from a source other than from ((such requirement)) registration pursuant to section 402 of this 1990 act which source may include any officer or other agency or subdivision of the state.

For the purposes of this section, an individual will not be required to use his or her assets other than funds recovered as a result of a civil action or criminal restitution, for medical expenses or pain and suffering, in order to qualify for an alternative source of payment.

SEXUAL MOTIVATION IN CRIMINAL OFFENSES

NEW SECTION. Sec. 601. A new section is added to chapter 9.94A RCW to read as follows:

(1) The prosecuting attorney shall file a special allegation of sexual motivation in every criminal case other than sex offenses as defined in RCW 9.94A.030(29) (a) or (c) when sufficient admissible evidence exists, which, when considered with the most plausible, reasonably foreseeable defense that could be raised under the evidence, would justify a finding of sexual motivation by a reasonable and objective fact finder.

(2) In a criminal case wherein there has been a special allegation the state shall prove beyond a reasonable doubt that the accused committed the crime with a sexual motivation. The court shall make a finding of fact of whether or not a sexual motivation was present at the time of the commission of the crime, or if a jury trial is had, the jury shall, if it finds the defendant guilty, also find a special verdict as to whether or not the defendant committed the crime with a sexual motivation. This finding shall not be applied to sex offenses as defined in RCW 9.94A.030(29) (a) or (c).

(3) The prosecuting attorney shall not withdraw the special allegation of sexual motivation without approval of the court through an order of dismissal of the special allegation. The court shall not dismiss this special allegation unless it finds that such an order is necessary to correct an error in the initial charging decision or unless there are evidentiary problems which make proving the special allegation doubtful.

(2) 'Commission' means the sentencing guidelines commission.

(3) 'Community corrections officer' means an employee of the department who is responsible for carrying out specific duties in supervision of sentenced offenders and monitoring of sentence conditions.

(6) 'Community service' means compulsory service, without compensation, performed for the benefit of the community by the offender.

(7) 'Community supervision' means a period of time during which a convicted offender is subject to crime-related prohibitions and other sentence conditions imposed pursuant to this

(30) 'Sexual motivation' means that one of the purposes for which the defendant committed the crime was for the purpose of his or her sexual gratification.

(31) 'Total confinement' means confinement inside the physical boundaries of a facility or institution operated or utilized under contract by the state or any other unit of government for twenty-four hours a day, or pursuant to RCW 72.64.050 and 72.64.060.

~~((31))~~ (32) 'Victim' means any person who has sustained emotional, psychological, physical, or financial injury to person or property as a direct result of the crime charged.

~~((32))~~ (33) 'Violent offense' means:

(a) Any of the following felonies, as now existing or hereafter amended: Any felony defined under any law as a class A felony or an attempt to commit a class A felony, criminal solicitation of or criminal conspiracy to commit a class A felony, manslaughter in the first degree, manslaughter in the second degree, indecent liberties if committed by forcible compulsion, ~~((child molestation in the first degree, rape in the second degree;))~~ kidnapping in the second degree, arson in the second degree, assault in the second degree, extortion in the first degree, robbery in the second degree, vehicular assault, and vehicular homicide, when proximately caused by the driving of any vehicle by any person while under the influence of intoxicating liquor or any drug as defined by RCW 46.61.502, or by the operation of any vehicle in a reckless manner;

(b) Any conviction for a felony offense in effect at any time prior to July 1, 1976, that is comparable to a felony classified as a violent offense in (a) of this subsection; and

(c) Any federal or out-of-state conviction for an offense that under the laws of this state would be a felony classified as a violent offense under (a) or (b) of this subsection.

((33)) (34) 'Work release' means a program of partial confinement available to offenders who are employed or engaged as a student in a regular course of study at school. Participation in work release shall be conditioned upon the offender attending work or school at regularly defined hours and abiding by the rules of the work release facility.

((34)) (35) 'Home detention' means a program of partial confinement available to offenders wherein the offender is confined in a private residence subject to electronic surveillance. Home detention may not be imposed for offenders convicted of a violent offense, any sex offense, any drug offense, reckless burning in the first or second degree as defined in RCW 9A.48.040 or 9A.48.050, assault in the third degree as defined in RCW 9A.36.031, unlawful imprisonment as defined in RCW 9A.40.040, or harassment as defined in RCW 9A.46.020. Home detention may be imposed for offenders convicted of possession of a controlled substance (RCW 69.50.401(d)) or forged prescription for a controlled substance (RCW 69.50.403) if the offender fulfills the participation conditions set forth in this subsection and is monitored for drug use by treatment alternatives to street crime (TASC) or a comparable court or agency-referred program. Home detention may be imposed for offenders convicted of burglary in the second degree as defined in RCW 9A.52.030 or residential burglary conditioned upon the offender: (a) Successfully completing twenty-one days in a work release program, (b) having no convictions for burglary in the second degree or residential burglary during the preceding two years and not more than two prior convictions for burglary or residential burglary, (c) having no convictions for a violent felony offense during the preceding two years and not more than two prior convictions for a violent felony offense, (d) having no prior charges of escape, and (e) fulfilling the other conditions of the home detention program. Participation in a home detention program shall be conditioned upon: (a) The offender obtaining or maintaining current employment or attending a regular course of school study at regularly defined hours, or the offender performing parental duties to offspring or minors normally in the custody of the offender, (b) abiding by the rules of the home detention program, and (c) compliance with court-ordered legal financial obligations. The home detention program may also be made available to offenders whose charges and convictions do not otherwise disqualify them if medical or health-related conditions, concerns or treatment would be better addressed under the home detention program, or where the health and welfare of the offender, other inmates, or staff would be jeopardized by the offender's incarceration. Participation in the home detention program for medical or health-related reasons is conditioned on the offender abiding by the rules of the home detention program and complying with court-ordered restitution.

Sec. 603, Section 10, chapter 115, Laws of 1983 as last amended by section 1, chapter 408, Laws of 1989 and RCW 9.94A.390 are each amended to read as follows:

If the sentencing court finds that an exceptional sentence outside the standard range should be imposed in accordance with RCW 9.94A.120(2), the sentence is subject to review only as provided for in RCW 9.94A.210(4).

The following are illustrative factors which the court may consider in the exercise of its discretion to impose an exceptional sentence. The following are illustrative only and are not intended to be exclusive reasons for exceptional sentences.

(1) Mitigating Circumstances

(a) To a significant degree, the victim was an initiator, willing participant, aggressor, or provoker of the incident.

(b) Before detection, the defendant compensated, or made a good faith effort to compensate, the victim of the criminal conduct for any damage or injury sustained.

(c) The defendant committed the crime under duress, coercion, threat, or compulsion insufficient to constitute a complete defense but which significantly affected his or her conduct.

(d) The defendant, with no apparent predisposition to do so, was induced by others to participate in the crime.

(e) The defendant's capacity to appreciate the wrongfulness of his conduct or to conform his conduct to the requirements of the law, was significantly impaired (voluntary use of drugs or alcohol is excluded).

(f) The offense was principally accomplished by another person and the defendant manifested extreme caution or sincere concern for the safety or well-being of the victim.

(g) The operation of the multiple offense policy of RCW 9.94A.400 results in a presumptive sentence that is clearly excessive in light of the purpose of this chapter, as expressed in RCW 9.94A.010.

(h) The defendant or the defendant's children suffered a continuing pattern of physical or sexual abuse by the victim of the offense and the offense is a response to that abuse.

(2) Aggravating Circumstances

(a) The defendant's conduct during the commission of the current offense manifested deliberate cruelty to the victim.

(b) The defendant knew or should have known that the victim of the current offense was particularly vulnerable or incapable of resistance due to extreme youth, advanced age, disability, or ill health.

(c) The current offense was a major economic offense or series of offenses, so identified by a consideration of any of the following factors:

- (i) The current offense involved multiple victims or multiple incidents per victim;
 - (ii) The current offense involved attempted or actual monetary loss substantially greater than typical for the offense;
 - (iii) The current offense involved a high degree of sophistication or planning or occurred over a lengthy period of time;
 - (iv) The defendant used his or her position of trust, confidence, or fiduciary responsibility to facilitate the commission of the current offense.
- (d) The current offense was a major violation of the Uniform Controlled Substances Act, chapter 69.50 RCW (VUCSA), related to trafficking in controlled substances, which was more onerous than the typical offense of its statutory definition: The presence of ANY of the following may identify a current offense as a major VUCSA:
- (i) The current offense involved at least three separate transactions in which controlled substances were sold, transferred, or possessed with intent to do so; or
 - (ii) The current offense involved an attempted or actual sale or transfer of controlled substances in quantities substantially larger than for personal use; or
 - (iii) The current offense involved the manufacture of controlled substances for use by other parties; or
 - (iv) The circumstances of the current offense reveal the offender to have occupied a high position in the drug distribution hierarchy; or
 - (v) The current offense involved a high degree of sophistication or planning or occurred over a lengthy period of time or involved a broad geographic area of disbursement; or
 - (vi) The offender used his or her position or status to facilitate the commission of the current offense, including positions of trust, confidence or fiduciary responsibility (e.g., pharmacist, physician, or other medical professional); or
- (e) The current offense included a finding of sexual motivation pursuant to section 601 of this 1990 act:
- (f) The offense was part of an ongoing pattern of sexual abuse of the same victim under the age of eighteen years manifested by multiple incidents over a prolonged period of time; or
 - ((f)) (g) The operation of the multiple offense policy of RCW 9.94A.400 results in a presumptive sentence that is clearly too lenient in light of the purpose of this chapter, as expressed in RCW 9.94A.010.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 604. A new section is added to chapter 13.40 RCW to read as follows:

- (1) The prosecuting attorney shall file a special allegation of sexual motivation in every juvenile offense other than sex offenses as defined in RCW 9.94A.030(29) (a) or (c) when sufficient admissible evidence exists, which, when considered with the most plausible, reasonably consistent defense that could be raised under the evidence, would justify a finding of sexual motivation by a reasonable and objective fact finder.
- (2) In a juvenile case wherein there has been a special allegation the state shall prove beyond a reasonable doubt that the juvenile committed the offense with a sexual motivation. The court shall make a finding of fact of whether or not the sexual motivation was present at the time of the commission of the offense. This finding shall not be applied to sex offenses as defined in RCW 9.94A.030(29) (a) or (c).
- (3) The prosecuting attorney shall not withdraw the special allegation of 'sexual motivation' without approval of the court through an order of dismissal. The court shall not dismiss the special allegation unless it finds that such an order is necessary to correct an error in the initial charging decision or unless there are evidentiary problems which make proving the special allegation doubtful.

Sec. 605. Section 69, chapter 291, Laws of 1977 ex. sess. as last amended by section 12, chapter 299, Laws of 1981 and RCW 13.40.150 are each amended to read as follows:

- (1) In disposition hearings all relevant and material evidence, including oral and written reports, may be received by the court and may be relied upon to the extent of its probative value, even though such evidence may not be admissible in a hearing on the information. The youth or the youth's counsel and the prosecuting attorney shall be afforded an opportunity to examine and controvert written reports so received and to cross-examine individuals making reports when such individuals are reasonably available, but sources of confidential information need not be disclosed. The prosecutor and counsel for the juvenile may submit recommendations for disposition.
- (2) For purposes of disposition:
 - (a) Violations which are current offenses count as misdemeanors;
 - (b) Violations may not count as part of the offender's criminal history;
 - (c) In no event may a disposition for a violation include confinement.
- (3) Before entering a dispositional order as to a respondent found to have committed an offense, the court shall hold a disposition hearing, at which the court shall:
 - (a) Consider the facts supporting the allegations of criminal conduct by the respondent;
 - (b) Consider information and arguments offered by parties and their counsel;
 - (c) Consider any predisposition reports;
 - (d) Afford the respondent and the respondent's parent, guardian, or custodian an opportunity to speak in the respondent's behalf;

- (e) Allow the victim or a representative of the victim and an investigative law enforcement officer to speak;
- (f) Determine the amount of restitution owing to the victim, if any;
- (g) Determine whether the respondent is a serious offender, a middle offender, or a minor or first offender;
- (h) Consider whether or not any of the following mitigating factors exist:
 - (i) The respondent's conduct neither caused nor threatened serious bodily injury or the respondent did not contemplate that his or her conduct would cause or threaten serious bodily injury;
 - (ii) The respondent acted under strong and immediate provocation;
 - (iii) The respondent was suffering from a mental or physical condition that significantly reduced his or her culpability for the offense though failing to establish a defense;
 - (iv) Prior to his or her detection, the respondent compensated or made a good faith attempt to compensate the victim for the injury or loss sustained; and
 - (v) There has been at least one year between the respondent's current offense and any prior criminal offense;
- (i) Consider whether or not any of the following aggravating factors exist:
 - (i) In the commission of the offense, or in flight therefrom, the respondent inflicted or attempted to inflict serious bodily injury to another;
 - (ii) The offense was committed in an especially heinous, cruel, or depraved manner;
 - (iii) The victim or victims were particularly vulnerable;
 - (iv) The respondent has a recent criminal history or has failed to comply with conditions of a recent dispositional order or diversion agreement;
 - (v) The current offense included a finding of sexual motivation pursuant to section 601 of this 1990 act.

(vi) The respondent was the leader of a criminal enterprise involving several persons; and (()) (vii) There are other complaints which have resulted in diversion or a finding or plea of guilty but which are not included as criminal history.

(4) The following factors may not be considered in determining the punishment to be imposed:

- (a) The sex of the respondent;
- (b) The race or color of the respondent or the respondent's family;
- (c) The creed or religion of the respondent or the respondent's family;
- (d) The economic or social class of the respondent or the respondent's family; and
- (e) Factors indicating that the respondent may be or is a dependent child within the meaning of this chapter.

(5) A court may not commit a juvenile to a state institution solely because of the lack of facilities, including treatment facilities, existing in the community.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 606. (1) Sections 601 through 605 of this act, for purposes of sentencing adult or juvenile offenders, shall take effect July 1, 1990, and shall apply to crimes or offenses committed on or after July 1, 1990.

(2) For purposes of defining a 'sexually violent offense' pursuant to section 1002(4) of this act, sections 601 through 605 of this act shall take effect July 1, 1990, and shall apply to crimes committed on, before, or after July 1, 1990.

NOTE: Numbers in the first horizontal row of each seriousness category represent sentencing midpoints in years(y) and months(m). Numbers in the second and third rows represent presumptive sentencing ranges in months, or in days if so designated. 12+ equals one year and one day.

(2) For persons convicted of the anticipatory offenses of criminal attempt, solicitation, or conspiracy under chapter 9A.28 RCW, the presumptive sentence is determined by locating the sentencing grid sentence range defined by the appropriate offender score and the seriousness level of the completed crime, and multiplying the range by 75 percent.

(3) The following additional times shall be added to the presumptive sentence if the offender or an accomplice was armed with a deadly weapon as defined in this chapter and the offender is being sentenced for one of the crimes listed in this subsection. If the offender or an accomplice was armed with a deadly weapon and the offender is being sentenced for an anticipatory offense under chapter 9A.28 RCW to commit one of the crimes listed in this subsection, the following times shall be added to the presumptive range determined under subsection (2) of this section:

(a) 24 months for Rape 1 (RCW 9A.44.040), Robbery 1 (RCW 9A.56.200), or Kidnapping 1 (RCW 9A.40.020)

(b) 18 months for Burglary 1 (RCW 9A.52.020)

(c) 12 months for Assault 2 (RCW 9A.36.020 or 9A.36.021), Escape 1 (RCW 9A.76.110), Kidnapping 2 (RCW 9A.40.030), Burglary 2 of a building other than a dwelling (RCW 9A.52.030), Theft of Livestock 1 or 2 (RCW 9A.56.080), or any drug offense.

(4) The following additional times shall be added to the presumptive sentence if the offender or an accomplice committed the offense while in a county jail or state correctional facility as that term is defined in this chapter and the offender is being sentenced for one of the crimes listed in this subsection. If the offender or an accomplice committed one of the crimes listed in this subsection while in a county jail or state correctional facility as that term is defined in this chapter, and the offender is being sentenced for an anticipatory offense under chapter 9A.28 RCW to commit one of the crimes listed in this subsection, the following times shall be added to the presumptive sentence range determined under subsection (2) of this section:

(a) Eighteen months for offenses committed under RCW 69.50.401(a)(1)(i);

(b) Fifteen months for offenses committed under RCW 69.50.401(a)(1)(ii), (iii), and (iv);

(c) Twelve months for offenses committed under RCW 69.50.401(d).

For the purposes of this subsection, all of the real property of a state correctional facility or county jail shall be deemed to be part of that facility or county jail.

(5) An additional twenty-four months shall be added to the presumptive sentence for any ranked offense involving a violation of chapter 69.50 RCW if the offense was also a violation of RCW 69.50.435.

Sec. 703. Section 6, chapter 115, Laws of 1983 and RCW 9.94A.350 are each amended to read as follows:

The offense seriousness level is determined by the offense of conviction. ~~((Felony offenses are divided into fourteen levels of seriousness, ranging from low (seriousness level 1) to high (seriousness level XIV—see RCW 9.94A.320 (Table 2)):~~

Sec. 704. Section 11, chapter 115, Laws of 1983 as last amended by section 24, chapter 143, Laws of 1988 and by section 5, chapter 157, Laws of 1988 and RCW 9.94A.400 are each reenacted and amended to read as follows:

(1) (a) Except as provided in (b) of this subsection, whenever a person is to be sentenced for two or more current offenses, the sentence range for each current offense shall be determined by using all other current and prior convictions as if they were prior convictions for the purpose of the offender score. PROVIDED, That if the court enters a finding that some or all of the current offenses encompass the same criminal conduct then those current offenses shall be counted as one crime. Sentences imposed under this subsection shall be served concurrently. Consecutive sentences may only be imposed under the exceptional sentence provisions of RCW 9.94A.120 and 9.94A.390(2)((e))(f) or any other provision of RCW 9.94A.390. 'Same criminal conduct,' as used in this subsection, means two or more crimes that require the same criminal intent, are committed at the same time and place, and involve the same victim. This definition does not apply in cases involving vehicular assault or vehicular homicide if the victims occupied the same vehicle. However, the sentencing judge may consider multiple victims in such instances as an aggravating circumstance under RCW 9.94A.390.

(b) Whenever a person is convicted of ~~((three))~~ two or more serious violent offenses, as defined in RCW 9.94A.030, arising from separate and distinct criminal conduct, the sentence range for the offense with the highest seriousness level under RCW 9.94A.320 shall be determined using the offender's prior convictions and other current convictions that are not serious violent offenses in the offender score and the sentence range for other serious violent offenses shall be determined by using an offender score of zero. The sentence range for any offenses that are not serious violent offenses shall be determined according to (a) of this subsection. All sentences imposed under (b) of this subsection shall be served consecutively to each other and concurrently with sentences imposed under (a) of this subsection.

(2) Whenever a person while under sentence of felony commits another felony and is sentenced to another term of confinement, the latter term shall not begin until expiration of all prior terms.

(3) Subject to subsections (1) and (2) of this section, whenever a person is sentenced for a felony that was committed while the person was not under sentence of a felony, the sentence shall run concurrently with any felony sentence which has been imposed by any court in this or another state or by a federal court subsequent to the commission of the crime being sentenced unless the court pronouncing the current sentence expressly orders that they be served consecutively.

(4) Whenever any person granted probation under RCW 9.95.210 or 9.92.060, or both, has the probationary sentence revoked and a prison sentence imposed, that sentence shall run consecutively to any sentence imposed pursuant to this chapter, unless the court pronouncing the subsequent sentence expressly orders that they be served concurrently.

(5) However, in the case of consecutive sentences, all periods of total confinement shall be served before any partial confinement, community service, community supervision, or any other requirement or conditions of any of the sentences. Except for exceptional sentences as authorized under RCW 9.94A.120(2), if two or more sentences that run consecutively include periods of community supervision, the aggregate of the community supervision period shall not exceed twenty-four months.

Sec. 705. Section 4, chapter 252, Laws of 1989 and RCW 9.94A.120 are each amended to read as follows:

When a person is convicted of a felony, the court shall impose punishment as provided in this section.

(1) Except as authorized in subsections (2), (5), and (7) of this section, the court shall impose a sentence within the sentence range for the offense.

(2) The court may impose a sentence outside the standard sentence range for that offense if it finds, considering the purpose of this chapter, that there are substantial and compelling reasons justifying an exceptional sentence.

(3) Whenever a sentence outside the standard range is imposed, the court shall set forth the reasons for its decision in written findings of fact and conclusions of law. A sentence outside the standard range shall be a determinate sentence.

(4) An offender convicted of the crime of murder in the first degree shall be sentenced to a term of total confinement not less than twenty years. An offender convicted of the crime of assault in the first degree where the offender used force or means likely to result in death or intended to kill the victim shall be sentenced to a term of total confinement not less than five years. An offender convicted of the crime of rape in the first degree shall be sentenced to a term of total confinement not less than ~~((three))~~ five years, and shall not be eligible for furlough, work release or other authorized leave of absence from the correctional facility during such minimum ~~((three-year))~~ five-year term except for the purpose of commitment to an inpatient treatment facility. The foregoing minimum terms of total confinement are mandatory and shall not be varied or modified as provided in subsection (2) of this section.

(5) In sentencing a first-time offender the court may waive the imposition of a sentence within the sentence range and impose a sentence which may include up to ninety days of confinement in a facility operated or utilized under contract by the county and a requirement that the offender refrain from committing new offenses. The sentence may also include up to two years of community supervision, which, in addition to crime-related prohibitions, may include requirements that the offender perform any one or more of the following:

- (a) Devote time to a specific employment or occupation;
- (b) Undergo available outpatient treatment for up to two years, or inpatient treatment not to exceed the standard range of confinement for that offense;
- (c) Pursue a prescribed, secular course of study or vocational training;
- (d) Remain within prescribed geographical boundaries and notify the court or the community corrections officer prior to any change in the offender's address or employment;
- (e) Report as directed to the court and a community corrections officer; or
- (f) Pay all court-ordered legal financial obligations as provided in RCW 9.94A.030 and/or perform community service work.

(6) If a sentence range has not been established for the defendant's crime, the court shall impose a determinate sentence which may include not more than one year of confinement, community service work, a term of community supervision not to exceed one year, and/or other legal financial obligations. The court may impose a sentence which provides more than one year of confinement if the court finds, considering the purpose of this chapter, that there are substantial and compelling reasons justifying an exceptional sentence.

(7)(a) (i) When an offender is convicted of a sex offense other than a violation of (~~RCW 9A.44.040 or~~) RCW 9A.44.050 or a sex offense that is also a serious violent offense and has no prior convictions for a sex offense or any other felony (~~sexual~~) sex offenses in this or any other state, the sentencing court, on its own motion or the motion of the state or the defendant, may order an examination to determine whether the defendant is amenable to treatment.

The report of the examination shall include at a minimum the following: The defendant's version of the facts and the official version of the facts, the defendant's offense history, an assessment of problems in addition to alleged deviant behaviors, the offender's social and employment situation, and other evaluation measures used. The report shall set forth the sources of the evaluator's information.

The examiner shall assess and report regarding the defendant's amenability to treatment and relative risk to the community. A proposed treatment plan shall be provided and shall include, at a minimum:

- (A) Frequency and type of contact between offender and therapist;
- (B) Specific issues to be addressed in the treatment and description of planned treatment modalities;
- (C) Monitoring plans, including any requirements regarding living conditions, lifestyle requirements, and monitoring by family members and others;
- (D) Anticipated length of treatment; and
- (E) Recommended crime-related prohibitions.

The court on its own motion may order, or on a motion by the state shall order, a second examination regarding the offender's amenability to treatment. The evaluator shall be selected by the party making the motion. The defendant shall pay the cost of any second examination ordered unless the court finds the defendant to be indigent in which case the state shall pay the cost.

(ii) After receipt of the reports, the court shall (~~then determine~~) consider whether the offender and the community will benefit from use of this special sexual offender sentencing alternative and consider the victim's opinion whether the offender should receive a treatment disposition under this subsection. If the court determines that (~~both the offender and the community will benefit from use of this provision~~) this special sex offender sentencing alternative is appropriate, the court shall then impose a sentence within the sentence range (~~and~~)). If this sentence is less than (~~str~~) eight years of confinement, the court may suspend the execution of the sentence and impose the following conditions of suspension:

(A) The court shall place the (~~offender~~) defendant on community supervision for (~~up to two~~) the length of the suspended sentence or three years, whichever is greater; and

(B) The court shall order treatment for any period up to three years in duration. The court in its discretion shall order outpatient sex offender treatment or inpatient sex offender treatment, if available. A community mental health center may not be used for such treatment unless it has an appropriate program designed for sex offender treatment. The offender shall not change sex offender treatment providers or treatment conditions without first notifying the prosecutor, the community corrections officer, and the court, and shall not change providers without court approval after a hearing if the prosecutor or community corrections officer object to the change. In addition, as (~~a~~) conditions of the suspended sentence, the court may impose other sentence conditions including up to six months of confinement, not to exceed the sentence range of confinement for that offense, crime-related prohibitions, and requirements that the offender perform any one or more of the following:

- (~~th~~) (i) Devote time to a specific employment or occupation;
- (~~th~~) Undergo available outpatient sex offender treatment for up to two years, or inpatient sex offender treatment not to exceed the standard range of confinement for that offense. A community mental health center may not be used for such treatment unless it has an appropriate program designed for sex offender treatment;

~~((#))~~ (II) Remain within prescribed geographical boundaries and notify the court or the community corrections officer prior to any change in the offender's address or employment;

~~((#))~~ (III) Report as directed to the court and a community corrections officer;

~~((#))~~ (IV) Pay all court-ordered legal financial obligations as provided in RCW 9.94A.030, perform community service work, or any combination thereof; or

~~((#))~~ (V) Make recoupment to the victim for the cost of any counseling required as a result of the offender's crime.

(iii) The sex offender therapist shall submit quarterly reports on the defendant's progress in treatment to the court and the parties. The report shall reference the treatment plan and include at a minimum the following: Dates of attendance, defendant's compliance with requirements, treatment activities, the defendant's relative progress in treatment, and any other material as specified by the court at sentencing.

(iv) At the time of sentencing, the court shall set a treatment termination hearing for three months prior to the anticipated date for completion of treatment. Prior to the treatment termination hearing, the treatment professional and community corrections officer shall submit written reports to the court and parties regarding the defendant's compliance with treatment and monitoring requirements, and recommendations regarding termination from treatment, including proposed community supervision conditions. Either party may request and the court may order another evaluation regarding the advisability of termination from treatment. The defendant shall pay the cost of any additional evaluation ordered unless the court finds the defendant to be indigent in which case the state shall pay the cost. At the treatment termination hearing the court may: (A) Modify conditions of community supervision, and either (B) terminate treatment, or (C) extend treatment for up to the remaining period of community supervision.

(v) The court may revoke the suspended sentence at any time during the period of community supervision and order execution of the sentence if: (A) The ~~((offender))~~ defendant violates ~~((these sentence))~~ the conditions ~~((the court may revoke the suspension and order execution of the sentence))~~ of the suspended sentence, or (B) the court finds that the defendant is failing to make satisfactory progress in treatment. All confinement time served during the period of community supervision shall be credited to the offender if the suspended sentence is revoked.

(vi) After July 1, 1991, examinations and treatment ordered pursuant to this subsection shall only be conducted by sex offender treatment providers certified by the department of health pursuant to sections 801 through 809 of this 1990 act.

For purposes of this subsection, 'victim' means any person who has sustained emotional, psychological, physical, or financial injury to person or property as a result of the crime charged. 'Victim' also means a parent or guardian of a victim who is a minor child unless the parent or guardian is the perpetrator of the offense.

(b) When an offender is convicted of any felony ~~((sexual))~~ sex offense committed before July 1, 1987, and is sentenced to a term of confinement of more than one year but less than six years, the sentencing court may, on its own motion or on the motion of the offender or the state, order the offender committed for up to thirty days to the custody of the secretary of social and health services for evaluation and report to the court on the offender's amenability to treatment at these facilities. If the secretary of social and health services cannot begin the evaluation within thirty days of the court's order of commitment, the offender shall be transferred to the state for confinement pending an opportunity to be evaluated at the appropriate facility. The court shall review the reports and may order that the term of confinement imposed be served in the sexual offender treatment program at the location determined by the secretary of social and health services or the secretary's designee, only if the report indicates that the offender is amenable to the treatment program provided at these facilities. The offender shall be transferred to the state pending placement in the treatment program. Any offender who has escaped from the treatment program shall be referred back to the sentencing court.

If the offender does not comply with the conditions of the treatment program, the secretary of social and health services may refer the matter to the sentencing court. The sentencing court shall commit the offender to the department of corrections to serve the balance of the term of confinement.

If the offender successfully completes the treatment program before the expiration of the term of confinement, the court may convert the balance of confinement to community supervision and may place conditions on the offender including crime-related prohibitions and requirements that the offender perform any one or more of the following:

(i) Devote time to a specific employment or occupation;

(ii) Remain within prescribed geographical boundaries and notify the court or the community corrections officer prior to any change in the offender's address or employment;

(iii) Report as directed to the court and a community corrections officer;

(iv) Undergo available outpatient treatment.

If the offender violates any of the terms of community supervision, the court may order the offender to serve out the balance of the community supervision term in confinement in the custody of the department of corrections.

After June 30, 1993, this subsection (b) shall cease to have effect.

(c) When an offender commits any felony (~~(sexual)~~ sex offense on or after July 1, 1987, and is sentenced to a term of confinement of more than one year but less than six years, the sentencing court may, on its own motion or on the motion of the offender or the state, request the department of corrections to evaluate whether the offender is amenable to treatment and the department may place the offender in a treatment program within a correctional facility operated by the department.

Except for an offender who has been convicted of a violation of RCW 9A.44.040 or 9A.44.050, if the offender completes the treatment program before the expiration of his term of confinement, the department of corrections may request the court to convert the balance of confinement to community supervision and to place conditions on the offender including crime-related prohibitions and requirements that the offender perform any one or more of the following:

- (i) Devote time to a specific employment or occupation;
- (ii) Remain within prescribed geographical boundaries and notify the court or the community corrections officer prior to any change in the offender's address or employment;
- (iii) Report as directed to the court and a community corrections officer;
- (iv) Undergo available outpatient treatment.

If the offender violates any of the terms of his community supervision, the court may order the offender to serve out the balance of his community supervision term in confinement in the custody of the department of corrections.

Nothing in (c) of this subsection shall confer eligibility for such programs for offenders convicted and sentenced for a (~~(sexual)~~ sex offense committed prior to July 1, 1987. This subsection (c) does not apply to any crime committed after the effective date of this section.

(d) Offenders convicted and sentenced for a sex offense committed prior to July 1, 1987, may, subject to available funds, request an evaluation by the department of corrections to determine whether they are amenable to treatment. If the offender is determined to be amenable to treatment, the offender may request placement in a treatment program within a correctional facility operated by the department. Placement in such treatment program is subject to available funds.

(8) (a) When a court sentences a person to a term of total confinement to the custody of the department of corrections for an offense categorized as a sex offense~~(;)~~ or a serious violent offense committed after July 1, 1988, but before July 1, 1990, assault in the second degree, any crime against a person where it is determined in accordance with RCW 9.94A.125 that the defendant or an accomplice was armed with a deadly weapon at the time of commission, or any felony offense under chapter 69.50 or 69.52 RCW, committed on or after July 1, 1988, the court shall in addition to the other terms of the sentence, sentence the offender to a one-year term of community placement beginning either upon completion of the term of confinement or at such time as the offender is transferred to community custody in lieu of earned early release in accordance with RCW 9.94A.150 (1) and (2). When the court sentences an offender under this (~~(section)~~ subsection) to the statutory maximum period of confinement then the community placement portion of the sentence shall consist entirely of such community custody to which the offender may become eligible, in accordance with RCW 9.94A.150 (1) and (2). Any period of community custody actually served shall be credited against the community placement portion of the sentence.

(b) ~~(When a court sentences a person to a term of total confinement to the custody of the department of corrections for an offense categorized as a sex offense, a serious violent offense, assault in the second degree, any crime against a person where it is determined in accordance with RCW 9.94A.125 that the defendant or an accomplice was armed with a deadly weapon at the time of commission, or any felony offense under chapter 69.50 or 69.52 RCW, committed on or after July 1, 1988;))~~ When a court sentences a person to a term of total confinement to the custody of the department of corrections for an offense categorized as a sex offense or serious violent offense committed on or after July 1, 1990, the court shall in addition to other terms of the sentence, sentence the offender to community placement for two years or up to the period of earned early release awarded pursuant to RCW 9.94A.150 (1) and (2), whichever is longer. The community placement shall begin either upon completion of the term of confinement or at such time as the offender is transferred to community custody in lieu of earned early release in accordance with RCW 9.94A.150 (1) and (2). When the court sentences an offender under this subsection to the statutory maximum period of confinement then the community placement portion of the sentence shall consist entirely of the community custody to which the offender may become eligible, in accordance with RCW 9.94A.150 (1) and (2). Any period of community custody actually served shall be credited against the community placement portion of the sentence. Unless a condition is waived by the court, (~~the sentence shall include, in addition to the other terms of the sentence, a one-year~~) the terms of community placement (~~(on)~~) for offenders sentenced pursuant to this section shall include the following conditions:

- (i) The offender shall report to and be available for contact with the assigned community corrections officer as directed;

(ii) The offender shall work at department of corrections-approved education, employment, and/or community service;

(iii) The offender shall not consume controlled substances except pursuant to lawfully issued prescriptions;

(iv) An offender in community custody shall not unlawfully possess controlled substances; and

(v) The offender shall pay supervision fees as determined by the department of corrections.

(c) The court may also order any of the following special conditions:

(i) The offender shall remain within, or outside of, a specified geographical boundary;

(ii) The offender shall not have direct or indirect contact with the victim of the crime or a specified class of individuals;

(iii) The offender shall participate in crime-related treatment or counseling services;

(iv) The offender shall not consume alcohol;

(v) The residence location and living arrangements of a sex offender shall be subject to the prior approval of the department of corrections; or

(vi) The offender shall comply with any crime-related prohibitions.

(d) Prior to transfer to, or during, community placement, any conditions of community placement may be removed or modified so as not to be more restrictive by the sentencing court, upon recommendation of the department of corrections.

(9) If the court imposes a sentence requiring confinement of thirty days or less, the court may, in its discretion, specify that the sentence be served on consecutive or intermittent days. A sentence requiring more than thirty days of confinement shall be served on consecutive days. Local jail administrators may schedule court-ordered intermittent sentences as space permits.

(10) If a sentence imposed includes payment of a legal financial obligation, the sentence shall specify the total amount of the legal financial obligation owed, and shall require the offender to pay a specified monthly sum toward that legal financial obligation. Restitution to victims shall be paid prior to any other payments of monetary obligations. Any legal financial obligation that is imposed by the court may be collected by the department, which shall deliver the amount paid to the county clerk for credit. The offender's compliance with payment of legal financial obligations shall be supervised by the department. All monetary payments ordered shall be paid no later than ten years after the last date of release from confinement pursuant to a felony conviction or the date the sentence was entered. Independent of the department, the party or entity to whom the legal financial obligation is owed shall have the authority to utilize any other remedies available to the party or entity to collect the legal financial obligation. Nothing in this section makes the department, the state, or any of its employees, agents, or other persons acting on their behalf liable under any circumstances for the payment of these legal financial obligations. If an order includes restitution as one of the monetary assessments, the county clerk shall make disbursements to victims named in the order.

(11) Except as provided under RCW 9.94A.140(1) and 9.94A.142(1), a court may not impose a sentence providing for a term of confinement or community supervision or community placement which exceeds the statutory maximum for the crime as provided in chapter 9A.20 RCW.

(12) All offenders sentenced to terms involving community supervision, community service, community placement, or legal financial obligation shall be under the supervision of the secretary of the department of corrections or such person as the secretary may designate and shall follow explicitly the instructions of the secretary including reporting as directed to a community corrections officer, remaining within prescribed geographical boundaries, and notifying the community corrections officer of any change in the offender's address or employment.

(13) The sentencing court shall give the offender credit for all confinement time served before the sentencing if that confinement was solely in regard to the offense for which the offender is being sentenced.

(14) A departure from the standards in RCW 9.94A.400(1) and (2) governing whether sentences are to be served consecutively or concurrently is an exceptional sentence subject to the limitations in subsections (2) and (3) of this section, and may be appealed by the defendant or the state as set forth in RCW 9.94A.210(2) through (6).

(15) The court shall order restitution whenever the offender is convicted of a felony that results in injury to any person or damage to or loss of property, whether the offender is sentenced to confinement or placed under community supervision, unless extraordinary circumstances exist that make restitution inappropriate in the court's judgment. The court shall set forth the extraordinary circumstances in the record if it does not order restitution.

(16) As a part of any sentence, the court may impose and enforce an order that relates directly to the circumstances of the crime for which the offender has been convicted, prohibiting the offender from having any contact with other specified individuals or a specific class of individuals for a period not to exceed the maximum allowable sentence for the crime, regardless of the expiration of the offender's term of community supervision or community placement.

(17) In any sentence of partial confinement, the court may require the defendant to serve the partial confinement in work release or in a program of home detention.

(18) All court-ordered legal financial obligations collected by the department and remitted to the county clerk shall be credited and paid where restitution is ordered. Restitution shall be paid prior to any other payments of monetary obligations.

Sec. 706. Section 103, chapter 271, Laws of 1989 and RCW 9.94A.360 are each amended to read as follows:

The offender score is measured on the horizontal axis of the sentencing grid. The offender score rules are as follows:

The offender score is the sum of points accrued under this section rounded down to the nearest whole number.

(1) A prior conviction is a conviction which exists before the date of sentencing for the offense for which the offender score is being computed. Convictions entered or sentenced on the same date as the conviction for which the offender score is being computed shall be deemed 'other current offenses' within the meaning of RCW 9.94A.400.

(2) Except as provided in subsection (4) of this section, class A and sex prior felony convictions shall always be included in the offender score. Class B prior felony convictions other than sex offenses shall not be included in the offender score, if since the last date of release from confinement (including full-time residential treatment) pursuant to a felony conviction, if any, or entry of judgment and sentence, the offender had spent ten consecutive years in the community without being convicted of any felonies. Class C prior felony convictions other than sex offenses shall not be included in the offender score if, since the last date of release from confinement (including full-time residential treatment) pursuant to a felony conviction, if any, or entry of judgment and sentence, the offender had spent five consecutive years in the community without being convicted of any felonies. Serious traffic convictions shall not be included in the offender score if, since the last date of release from confinement (including full-time residential treatment) pursuant to a felony conviction, if any, or entry of judgment and sentence, the offender spent five years in the community without being convicted of any serious traffic or felony traffic offenses. This subsection applies to both adult and juvenile prior convictions.

(3) Out-of-state convictions for offenses shall be classified according to the comparable offense definitions and sentences provided by Washington law.

(4) Always include juvenile convictions for sex offenses. Include other class A juvenile felonies only if the offender was 15 or older at the time the juvenile offense was committed. Include other class B and C juvenile felony convictions only if the offender was 15 or older at the time the juvenile offense was committed and the offender was less than 23 at the time the offense for which he or she is being sentenced was committed.

(5) Score prior convictions for felony anticipatory offenses (attempts, criminal solicitations, and criminal conspiracies) the same as if they were convictions for completed offenses.

(6) In the case of multiple prior convictions, for the purpose of computing the offender score, count all convictions separately, except:

(a) Prior adult offenses which were found, under RCW 9.94A.400(1)(a), to encompass the same criminal conduct, shall be counted as one offense, the offense that yields the highest offender score. The current sentencing court shall determine with respect to other prior adult offenses for which sentences were served concurrently whether those offenses shall be counted as one offense or as separate offenses, and if the court finds that they shall be counted as one offense, then the offense that yields the highest offender score shall be used;

(b) Juvenile prior convictions entered or sentenced on the same date shall count as one offense, the offense that yields the highest offender score, except for juvenile prior convictions for violent offenses with separate victims, which shall count as separate offenses; and

(c) In the case of multiple prior convictions for offenses committed before July 1, 1986, for the purpose of computing the offender score, count all adult convictions served concurrently as one offense, and count all juvenile convictions entered on the same date as one offense. Use the conviction for the offense that yields the highest offender score.

(7) If the present conviction is one of the anticipatory offenses of criminal attempt, solicitation, or conspiracy, count each prior conviction as if the present conviction were for a completed offense.

(8) If the present conviction is for a nonviolent offense and not covered by subsection (12) or (13) of this section, count one point for each adult prior felony conviction and one point for each juvenile prior violent felony conviction and 1/2 point for each juvenile prior nonviolent felony conviction.

(9) If the present conviction is for a violent offense and not covered in subsection (10), (11), (12), or (13) of this section, count two points for each prior adult and juvenile violent felony conviction, one point for each prior adult nonviolent felony conviction, and 1/2 point for each prior juvenile nonviolent felony conviction.

(10) If the present conviction is for Murder 1 or 2, Assault 1, Kidnaping 1, Homicide by Abuse, or Rape 1, count three points for prior adult and juvenile convictions for crimes in these categories, two points for each prior adult and juvenile violent conviction (not already counted), one point for each prior adult nonviolent felony conviction, and 1/2 point for each prior juvenile nonviolent felony conviction.

(11) If the present conviction is for Burglary 1, count prior convictions as in subsection (9) of this section; however count two points for each prior adult Burglary 2 or residential burglary conviction, and one point for each prior juvenile Burglary 2 or residential burglary conviction.

(12) If the present conviction is for a felony traffic offense count two points for each adult or juvenile prior conviction for Vehicular Homicide or Vehicular Assault; for each felony offense or serious traffic offense, count one point for each adult and 1/2 point for each juvenile prior conviction.

(13) If the present conviction is for a drug offense count three points for each adult prior felony drug offense conviction and two points for each juvenile drug offense. All other adult and juvenile felonies are scored as in subsection (9) of this section if the current drug offense is violent, or as in subsection (8) of this section if the current drug offense is nonviolent.

(14) If the present conviction is for Willful Failure to Return from Furlough, RCW 72.66.060, or Willful Failure to Return from Work Release, RCW 72.65.070, count only prior escape convictions in the offender score. Count adult prior escape convictions as one point and juvenile prior escape convictions as 1/2 point.

(15) If the present conviction is for Escape 1, RCW 9A.76.110, or Escape 2, RCW 9A.76.120, count adult prior convictions as one point and juvenile prior convictions as 1/2 point.

(16) If the present conviction is for Burglary 2 or residential burglary, count priors as in subsection (8) of this section; however, count two points for each adult and juvenile prior Burglary 1 conviction, two points for each adult prior Burglary 2 or residential burglary conviction, and one point for each juvenile prior Burglary 2 or residential burglary conviction.

(17) If the present conviction is for a sex offense, count priors as in subsections (8) through (16) of this section; however count three points for each adult and juvenile prior sex offense conviction.

(18) If the present conviction is for an offense committed while the offender was under community placement, add one point.

Sec. 707, Section 24, chapter 137, Laws of 1981 as last amended by section 1, chapter 259, Laws of 1989 and RCW 9.95.009 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) On July 1, 1986, the board of prison terms and paroles shall be redesignated as the indeterminate ~~((sentencing))~~ sentence review board. The board's membership shall be reduced as follows: On July 1, 1986, and on July 1st of each year until 1998, the number of board members shall be reduced in a manner commensurate with the board's remaining workload as determined by the office of financial management based upon its population forecast for the indeterminate sentencing system and in conjunction with the budget process. To meet the statutory obligations of the indeterminate sentence review board, the number of board members shall not be reduced to fewer than three members, although the office of financial management may designate some or all members as part-time members and specify the extent to which they shall be less than full-time members. Any reduction shall take place by the expiration, on that date, of the term or terms having the least time left to serve.

(2) After July 1, 1984, the board shall continue its functions with respect to persons convicted of crimes committed prior to July 1, 1984, and committed to the department of corrections. When making decisions on duration of confinement, including those relating to persons committed under a mandatory life sentence, and parole release under RCW 9.95.100 and 9.95.110, the board shall consider the purposes, standards, and sentencing ranges adopted pursuant to RCW 9.94A.040 and the minimum term recommendations of the sentencing judge and prosecuting attorney, and shall attempt to make decisions reasonably consistent with those ranges, standards, purposes, and recommendations: PROVIDED, That the board and its successors shall give adequate written reasons whenever a minimum term or parole release decision is made which is outside the sentencing ranges adopted pursuant to RCW 9.94A.040. In making such decisions, the board and its successors shall consider the different charging and disposition practices under the indeterminate sentencing system.

(3) Notwithstanding the provisions of subsection (2) of this section, the indeterminate sentence review board shall give public safety considerations the highest priority when making all discretionary decisions on the remaining indeterminate population regarding the ability for parole, parole release, and conditions of parole.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 708. A new section is added to chapter 72.09 RCW to read as follows:

In making all discretionary decisions regarding supervision of sexually violent offenders, the department of corrections shall set priorities and make decisions based on an assessment of public safety risks rather than the legal category of the sentences.

PART VIII

CERTIFICATION OF SEX OFFENDER TREATMENT PROVIDERS

NEW SECTION. Sec. 801. The legislature finds that sex offender therapists who examine and treat sex offenders pursuant to the special sexual offender sentencing alternative under RCW 9.94A.120(7)(c) and who may treat juvenile sex offenders pursuant to section 302 of this act, play a vital role in protecting the public from sex offenders who remain in the community following conviction. The legislature finds that the qualifications, practices, techniques, and effectiveness of sex offender treatment providers vary widely and that the court's ability to effectively determine the appropriateness of granting the sentencing alternative and monitoring the offender to ensure continued protection of the community is undermined by a lack of regulated practices. The legislature recognizes the right of sex offender therapists to practice, consistent with the paramount requirements of public safety. Public safety is best served by regulating sex offender therapists whose clients are being evaluated and being treated pursuant to RCW 9.94A.120(7)(a) and section 302 of this act. This chapter shall be construed to require only those sex offender therapists who examine and treat sex offenders pursuant to RCW 9.94A.120(7)(a) and section 302 of this act to obtain a sexual offender treatment certification as provided in this chapter.

NEW SECTION, Sec. 802. Unless the context clearly requires otherwise, the definitions in this section apply throughout this chapter:

(1) 'Certified sex offender treatment provider' means a licensed, certified, or registered health professional who is certified to examine and treat sex offenders pursuant to RCW 9.94A.120(7)(a) and section 302 of this act.

(2) 'Department' means the department of health.

(3) 'Secretary' means the secretary of health.

(4) 'Sex offender treatment provider' means a person who counsels or treats sex offenders accused of or convicted of a sex offense as defined by RCW 9.94A.030.

NEW SECTION, Sec. 803. (1) No person shall represent himself or herself as a certified sex offender treatment provider without first applying for and receiving a certificate pursuant to this chapter.

(2) Only a certified sex offender treatment provider may perform or provide the following services:

(a) Evaluations conducted for the purposes of and pursuant to RCW 9.94A.120(7)(a) and section 302 of this act;

(b) Treatment of convicted sex offenders who are sentenced and ordered into treatment pursuant to RCW 9.94A.120(7)(a) and adjudicated juvenile sex offenders who are ordered into treatment pursuant to section 302 of this act.

NEW SECTION, Sec. 804. In addition to any other authority provided by law, the secretary shall have the following authority:

(3) To issue a certificate to any applicant who has met the education, training, and examination requirements for certification and deny a certificate to applicants who do not meet the minimum qualifications for certification. Proceedings concerning the denial of certificates based on unprofessional conduct or impaired practice shall be governed by the uniform disciplinary act, chapter 18.130 RCW;

(4) To hire clerical, administrative, and investigative staff as needed to implement and administer this chapter and to hire individuals including those certified under this chapter to serve as examiners or consultants as necessary to implement and administer this chapter;

(5) To maintain the official department record of all applicants and certifications;

(6) To conduct a hearing on an appeal of a denial of a certificate on the applicant's failure to meet the minimum qualifications for certification. The hearing shall be conducted pursuant to chapter 34.05 RCW;

(7) To issue subpoenas, statements of charges, statements of intent to deny certificates, and orders and to delegate in writing to a designee the authority to issue subpoenas, statements of charges, and statements of intent to deny certificates;

(8) To determine the minimum education, work experience, and training requirements for certification, including but not limited to approval of educational programs;

(9) To prepare and administer or approve the preparation and administration of examinations for certification;

(10) To establish by rule the procedure for appeal of an examination failure;

(11) To adopt rules implementing a continuing competency program;

(12) To adopt rules in accordance with chapter 34.05 RCW as necessary to implement this chapter.

NEW SECTION, Sec. 805. (1) The sexual offender treatment providers advisory committee is established to advise the secretary concerning the administration of this chapter.

(2) The secretary shall appoint the members of the advisory committee who shall consist of the following persons:

(a) One superior court judge;

(b) Three sexual offender treatment providers;

(c) One mental health practitioner who specializes in treating victims of sexual assault;

(5) Members of the advisory committee shall be residents of this state. The members who are sex offender treatment providers must have a minimum of five years of extensive work experience in treating sex offenders to qualify for appointment to the initial committee, which shall develop and implement the certification program. After July 1, 1991, the sex offender treatment providers on the committee must be certified pursuant to this chapter.

(6) The committee shall meet at times as necessary to conduct committee business.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 806. The secretary, members of the committee, and individuals acting on their behalf are immune from suit in any action, civil or criminal, based on any acts performed in the course of their duties.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 807. The department shall issue a certificate to any applicant who meets the following requirements:

(1) Successful completion of an educational program approved by the secretary or successful completion of alternate training which meets the criteria of the secretary;

(2) Successful completion of any experience requirement established by the secretary;

(3) Successful completion of an examination administered or approved by the secretary;

(4) Not having engaged in unprofessional conduct or being unable to practice with reasonable skill and safety as a result of a physical or mental impairment;

(2) Examination procedures;

(3) Certifying applicants who have a comparable certification in another jurisdiction;

(4) Application method and forms;

(5) Requirements for renewals of certificates;

(6) Requirements of certified sex offender treatment providers who seek inactive status;

(7) Other rules as appropriate to carry out the purposes of this chapter.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 809. The uniform disciplinary act, chapter 18.130 RCW, governs unauthorized practice, the issuance and denial of certificates, and the discipline of certified sex offender treatment providers under this chapter.

Sec. 810. Section 7, chapter 243, Laws of 1988, section 22, chapter 267, Laws of 1988, and section 13, chapter 277, Laws of 1988 and RCW 18.130.040 are each reenacted and amended to read as follows:

PART IX
ENHANCED PENALTIES

Sec. 901. Section 5, chapter 14, Laws of 1975 1st ex. sess. as last amended by section 1, chapter 146, Laws of 1988 and RCW 9A.44.050 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) A person is guilty of rape in the second degree when, under circumstances not constituting rape in the first degree, the person engages in sexual intercourse with another person:

- (a) By forcible compulsion;
- (b) When the victim is incapable of consent by reason of being physically helpless or mentally incapacitated; or
- (c) When the victim is developmentally disabled and the perpetrator is a person who is not married to the victim and who has supervisory authority over the victim.

(2) Rape in the second degree is a class (B) A felony.

Sec. 902. Section 5, chapter 145, Laws of 1988 and RCW 9A.44.083 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) A person is guilty of child molestation in the first degree when the person has sexual contact with another who is less than twelve years old and not married to the perpetrator and the perpetrator is at least thirty-six months older than the victim.

(2) Child molestation in the first degree is a class (B) A felony.

Sec. 903. Section 3, chapter 145, Laws of 1988 and RCW 9A.44.076 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) A person is guilty of rape of a child in the second degree when the person has sexual intercourse with another who is at least twelve years old but less than fourteen years old and not married to the perpetrator and the perpetrator is at least thirty-six months older than the victim.

(2) Rape of a child in the second degree is a class (B) A felony.

Sec. 904. Section 9A.88.010, chapter 260, Laws of 1975 1st ex. sess. as amended by section 1, chapter 277, Laws of 1987 and RCW 9A.88.010 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) A person is guilty of indecent exposure if he intentionally makes any open and obscene exposure of his person or the person of another knowing that such conduct is likely to cause reasonable affront or alarm.

(2) Indecent exposure is a misdemeanor unless such person exposes himself to a person under the age of fourteen years in which case indecent exposure is a gross misdemeanor on the first offense and, if such person has previously been convicted under this subsection or of a sex offense as defined in RCW 9A.04.030, then such person is guilty of a class C felony punishable under chapter 9A.20 RCW.

PART X
CIVIL COMMITMENT

NEW SECTION. Sec. 1001. The legislature finds that a small but extremely dangerous group of sexually violent predators exist who do not have a mental disease or defect that renders them appropriate for the existing involuntary treatment act, chapter 71.05 RCW, which is intended to be a short-term civil commitment system that is primarily designed to provide short-term treatment to individuals with serious mental disorders and then return them to the community. In contrast to persons appropriate for civil commitment under chapter 71.05 RCW, sexually violent predators generally have antisocial personality features which are unamenable to existing mental illness treatment modalities and those features render them likely to engage in sexually violent behavior. The legislature further finds that sex offenders' likelihood of engaging in repeat acts of predatory sexual violence is high. The existing involuntary commitment act, chapter 71.05 RCW, is inadequate to address the risk to reoffend because during confinement these offenders do not have access to potential victims and therefore they will not engage in an overt act during confinement as required by the involuntary treatment act for continued confinement. The legislature further finds that the prognosis for curing sexually violent offenders is poor, the treatment needs of this population are very long term, and the treatment modalities for this population are very different than the traditional treatment modalities for people appropriate for commitment under the involuntary treatment act.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 1002. Unless the context clearly requires otherwise, the definitions in this section apply throughout this chapter.

(1) 'Sexually violent predator' means any person who has been convicted of or charged with a crime of sexual violence and who suffers from a mental abnormality or personality disorder which makes the person likely to engage in predatory acts of sexual violence.

(2) 'Mental abnormality' means a congenital or acquired condition affecting the emotional or volitional capacity which predisposes the person to the commission of criminal sexual acts in a degree constituting such person a menace to the health and safety of others.

(3) 'Predatory' means acts directed towards strangers or individuals with whom a relationship has been established or promoted for the primary purpose of victimization.

(4) 'Sexually violent offense' means: (a) An act defined in Title 9A RCW as rape in the first degree, rape in the second degree by forcible compulsion, rape of a child in the first or second degree, statutory rape in the first or second degree, indecent liberties by forcible compulsion, indecent liberties against a child under age fourteen, incest against a child under age fourteen, or child molestation in the first or second degree; (b) any conviction for a felony offense in effect at any time prior to the effective date of this section, that is comparable to a sexually violent offense as defined in subsection (4)(a) of this section, or any federal or out-of-state conviction for a felony offense that under the laws of this state would be a sexually violent offense as defined in this subsection; or (c) any act of murder in the first or second degree, assault in the first or second degree, kidnapping in the first or second degree, burglary in the first degree, residential burglary, or unlawful imprisonment, which act, either at the time of sentencing for the offense or subsequently during civil commitment proceedings pursuant to this section, has been determined beyond a reasonable doubt to have been sexually motivated, as that term is defined in section 602 of this act; or, as described in chapter 9A.28 RCW, is an attempt, criminal solicitation, or criminal conspiracy to commit one of the felonies designated in (a), (b), or (c) of this subsection.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 1003. When it appears that: (1) The sentence of a person who has been convicted of a sexually violent offense is about to or has expired at any time in the past; (2) the term of confinement of a person found to have committed a sexually violent offense as a juvenile is about to or has expired; (3) a person who has been charged with a sexually violent offense and has been determined to be incompetent to stand trial is about to be or has been released pursuant to RCW 10.77.090(3); or (4) a person who has been found not guilty by reason of insanity of a sexually violent offense is about to be released pursuant to RCW 10.77.020(3); and it appears that the person may be a sexually violent predator, the prosecuting attorney of the county where the person was convicted or charged or the attorney general if requested by the prosecuting attorney may file a petition alleging that the person is a 'sexually violent predator' and stating sufficient facts to support such allegation.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 1004. Upon the filing of a petition under section 1003 of this act, the judge shall determine whether probable cause exists to believe that the person named in the petition is a sexually violent predator. If such determination is made the judge shall direct that the person be taken into custody and the person shall be transferred to an appropriate facility for an evaluation as to whether the person is a sexually violent predator. The evaluation shall be conducted by a person deemed to be professionally qualified to conduct such an examination pursuant to rules developed by the department of social and health services. In adopting such rules, the department of social and health services shall consult with the department of health and the department of corrections.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 1005. Within forty-five days after the filing of a petition pursuant to section 1003 of this act, the court shall conduct a trial to determine whether the person is a sexually violent predator. At all stages of the proceedings under this chapter, any person subject to this chapter shall be entitled to the assistance of counsel, and if the person is indigent, the court shall appoint counsel to assist him or her. Whenever any person is subjected to an examination under this chapter, he or she may retain experts or professional persons to perform an examination on their behalf. When the person wishes to be examined by a qualified expert or professional person of his or her own choice, such examiner shall be permitted to have reasonable access to the person for the purpose of such examination, as well as to all relevant medical and psychological records and reports. In the case of a person who is indigent, the court shall, upon the person's request, assist the person in obtaining an expert or professional person to perform an examination or participate in the trial on the person's behalf. The person, the prosecuting attorney or attorney general, or the judge shall have the right to demand that the trial be before a jury. If no demand is made, the trial shall be before the court.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 1006. (1) The court or jury shall determine whether, beyond a reasonable doubt, the person is a sexually violent predator. If the state alleges that the prior sexually violent offense that forms the basis for the petition for commitment was an act that was sexually motivated as provided in section 1002(3)(c) of this act, the state must prove beyond a reasonable doubt that the alleged sexually violent act was sexually motivated as defined in section 602 of this act. If the court or jury determines that the person is a sexually violent predator, the person shall be committed to the custody of the department of social and health services in a secure facility for control, care, and treatment until such time as the person's mental abnormality or personality disorder has so changed that the person is safe to be at large. Such control, care, and treatment shall be provided at a facility operated by the department of social and health services. If the court or jury is not satisfied beyond a reasonable doubt that the person is a sexually violent predator, the court shall direct the person's release.

(2) If the person charged with a sexually violent offense has been found incompetent to stand trial, and is about to or has been released pursuant to RCW 10.77.090(3), and his or her commitment is sought pursuant to subsection (1) of this section, the court shall first hear evidence and determine whether the person did commit the act or acts charged if the court did not enter a finding prior to dismissal under RCW 10.77.090(3) that the person committed the act or acts charged. The hearing on this issue must comply with all the procedures specified in this section. In addition, the rules of evidence applicable in criminal cases shall apply, and all constitutional rights available to defendants at criminal trials, other than the right not to be tried while incompetent, shall apply. After hearing evidence on this issue, the court shall make specific findings on whether the person did commit the act or acts charged, the extent to which the person's incompetence or developmental disability affected the outcome of the hearing, including its effect on the person's ability to consult with and assist counsel and to testify on his or her own behalf, the extent to which the evidence could be reconstructed without the assistance of the person, and the strength of the prosecution's case. If, after the conclusion of the hearing on this issue, the court finds, beyond a reasonable doubt, that the person did commit the act or acts charged, it shall enter a final order, appealable by the person, on that issue, and may proceed to consider whether the person should be committed pursuant to this section.

(3) The state shall comply with RCW 10.77.220 while confining the person pursuant to this chapter. The facility shall not be located on the grounds of any state mental facility or regional habilitation center because these institutions are insufficiently secure for this population.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 1007. Each person committed under this chapter shall have a current examination of his or her mental condition made at least once every year. The person may retain, or if he or she is indigent and so requests, the court may appoint a qualified expert or a professional person to examine him or her, and such expert or professional person shall have access to all records concerning the person. The periodic report shall be provided to the court that committed the person under this chapter.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 1008. The involuntary detention or commitment of persons under this chapter shall conform to constitutional requirements for care and treatment.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 1009. (1) If the secretary of the department of social and health services determines that the person's mental abnormality or personality disorder has so changed that the person is not likely to commit predatory acts of sexual violence if released, the secretary shall authorize the person to petition the court for release. The petition shall be served upon the court and the prosecuting attorney. The court, upon receipt of the petition for release, shall within forty-five days order a hearing. The prosecuting attorney or the attorney general, if requested by the county, shall represent the state, and shall have the right to have the petitioner examined by an expert or professional person of his or her choice. The hearing shall be before a jury if demanded by either the petitioner or the prosecuting attorney or attorney general. The burden of proof shall be upon the prosecuting attorney or attorney general to show beyond a reasonable doubt that the petitioner's mental abnormality or personality disorder remains such that the petitioner is not safe to be at large and that if discharged is likely to commit predatory acts of sexual violence.

(2) Nothing contained in this chapter shall prohibit the person from otherwise petitioning the court for discharge without the secretary's approval. The secretary shall provide the committed person with an annual written notice of the person's right to petition the court for release over the secretary's objection. The notice shall contain a waiver of rights. The secretary shall forward the notice and waiver form to the court with the annual report. If the person does not affirmatively waive the right to petition, the court shall set a show cause hearing to determine whether facts exist that warrant a hearing on whether the person's condition has so changed that he or she is safe to be at large. The committed person shall have a right to have an attorney represent him or her at the show cause hearing but the person is not entitled to be present at the show cause hearing. If the court at the show cause hearing determines that probable cause exists to believe that the person's mental abnormality or personality disorder has so changed that the person is safe to be at large and will not engage in acts of sexual violence if discharged, then the court shall set a hearing on the issue. At the hearing, the committed person shall be entitled to be present and to the benefit of all constitutional protections that were afforded to the person at the initial commitment proceeding. The prosecuting attorney or the attorney general if requested by the county shall represent the state and shall have a right to a jury trial and to have the committed person evaluated by experts chosen by the state. The committed person shall also have the right to have experts evaluate him or her on his or her behalf and the court shall appoint an expert if the person is indigent and requests an appointment. The burden of proof at the hearing shall be upon the state to prove beyond a reasonable doubt that the committed person's mental abnormality or personality disorder remains such that the person is not safe to be at large and if released will engage in acts of sexual violence.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 1010. Nothing in this chapter shall prohibit a person from filing a petition for discharge pursuant to this chapter. However, if a person has previously filed a petition for discharge without the secretary's approval and the court determined, either upon review of the petition or following a hearing, that the petitioner's petition was frivolous or that the petitioner's condition had not so changed that he or she was safe to be at large, then the court shall deny the subsequent petition unless the petition contains facts upon which a court could find that the condition of the petitioner had so changed that a hearing was warranted. Upon receipt of a first or subsequent petition from committed persons without the secretary's approval, the court shall endeavor whenever possible to review the petition and determine if the petition is based upon frivolous grounds and if so shall deny the petition without a hearing.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 1011. The department of social and health services shall be responsible for all costs relating to the evaluation and treatment of persons committed to their custody under any provision of this chapter. Reimbursement may be obtained by the department for the cost of care and treatment of persons committed to its custody pursuant to RCW 43.20B.330 through 43.20B.370.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 1012. In addition to any other information required to be released under this chapter, the department is authorized, pursuant to section 117 of this act, to release relevant information that is necessary to protect the public, concerning a specific sexually violent predator committed under this chapter.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 1013. Sections 1001 through 1012 of this act shall constitute a new chapter in Title 71 RCW.

However, access to conviction records pursuant to this subsection (1)(e) does not limit or restrict the ability of the department to obtain additional information regarding conviction records and pending charges as set forth in RCW 74.15.030(2)(b).

After processing the request, if the conviction record, disciplinary board final decision and any subsequent criminal charges associated with the conduct that is the subject of the disciplinary board final decision, or adjudication record shows no evidence of a crime against children or other persons or, in the case of vulnerable adults, no evidence of crimes relating to financial exploitation in which the victim was a vulnerable adult, an identification declaring the showing of no evidence shall be issued to the applicant by the state patrol and shall be issued within fourteen working days of the request. Possession of such identification shall satisfy future background check requirements for the applicant for a two-year period unless the prospective employee is any current school district employee who has applied for a position in another school district.

(2) The state patrol shall by rule establish fees for disseminating records under this section to recipients identified in subsection (1)(a) and (b) of this section. (4) Before July 26, 1987, the state patrol shall adopt rules and forms to implement this section and to provide for security and privacy of information disseminated under this section, giving first priority to the criminal justice requirements of this chapter. The rules may include requirements for users, audits of users, and other procedures to prevent use of civil adjudication record information or criminal history record information inconsistent with this chapter.

(5) Nothing in RCW 43.43.830 through 43.43.840 shall authorize an employer to make an inquiry not specifically authorized by this chapter, or be construed to affect the policy of the state declared in chapter 9.96A RCW.

most effectively planned and provided at the local level through the combined efforts of concerned community and citizens groups, treatment providers, and local government officials. The legislature further recognizes that adequate treatment for victims is not only a matter of justice for the victim, but also a method by which additional abuse can be prevented.

The peer review committee shall advise the department on the extent to which each eligible applicant meets the purposes and criteria of this chapter. The department shall consider this advice in making awards.

(4) Activities funded under this section may be considered for funding in future years, but shall be considered under the same terms and criteria as new activities. Funding under this

MISCELLANEOUS

NEW SECTION. Sec. 1401. A pilot project located in two counties shall be established for the joint investigation of child abuse and sexual assault cases by a law enforcement officer trained in gathering physical evidence and other investigative procedures, and a child protective services case worker skilled in interpreting psychological evidence and interviewing child victims in a sensitive manner.

The pilot project shall be conducted in the counties of King and Spokane from July 1, 1990, through June 30, 1991. - (5) The law enforcement agency and the child protective services agency shall jointly develop a procedure to determine when investigations of suspicious child deaths, physical

NEW SECTION. Sec. 1402. (1) The department of social and health services through its division of children and family services shall provide, subject to available funds, comprehensive sexual assault services to sexually abused children. The department shall provide treatment by licensed professionals on a one-to-one or group basis as may be deemed appropriate.

(2) Funds appropriated under this section shall be provided solely for contracts or direct purchase of specific treatment services from community organizations and private service providers for child victims of sexual assault and sexual abuse. Funds shall be disbursed through the request for proposal or request for qualifications process.

(3) As part of the request for proposal or request for qualifications process the department of social and health services shall ensure that there be no duplication of services with existing programs including the crime victims' compensation program as provided in chapter 7.68 RCW. The department shall also ensure that victims exhaust private insurance benefits available to the child victim before providing services to the child victim under this section.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 1403. NEW SECTION. Sec. 1405. If any provision of this act or its application to any person or circumstance is held invalid, the remainder of the act or the application of the provision to other persons or circumstances is not affected.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 1406. (1) Sections 101 through 131, 401 through 409, 501 through 504, 606, 707 and 708, 801 through 810, 1101 through 1104, 1201 through 1210, and 1401 through 1403 of this act are necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health, or safety, or support of the state government and its existing public institutions, and shall take effect immediately.

(2) Sections 201 through 203, 301 through 305, 701 through 706, and 901 through 904 shall take effect July 1, 1990, and shall apply to crimes committed on or after July 1, 1990.

HOUSE BILL NO. 2951, by Representatives Braddock, Brooks, D. Sommers, Sayan and Wineberry; by request of Department of Corrections

Establishing procedures for siting of correctional facilities.

The bill was read the second time.

POINT OF ORDER

Ms. Brough: Mr. Speaker, House Bill No. 2951 is not properly before us. Our cut-off resolution would mean that this bill would have stayed in Committee on Rules prior to our cut-off for House Bills for floor action.

SPEAKER'S RULING

The Speaker: Representative Brough, the Speaker has examined your Point of Order after we were able to find the cut-off resolution. The language in the cut-off resolution exempts matters from those cut-off dates and clearly says "with the exception of budgets, matters necessary to implement budgets, and matters relating to the reduction of taxes, growth strategies and access to medical care." The Speaker finds that this is necessary to implement the budget. If you can't get prisons sited, then you can't spend the money in the capital budget. We find the bill necessary to implement the budget--in this case, the capital budget.

On motion of Mr. Braddock, Second Substitute House Bill No. 2951 was substituted for House Bill No. 2951, and the second substitute bill was placed on the second reading calendar.

Ms. Rasmussen moved adoption of the following amendment by Representatives Rasmussen, Fraser, Dorn and Winsley:

On page 1, line 27, after "life," insert "Further, it is the policy of the state of Washington to address the impacts of locating and operating correctional facilities on people living and working in the vicinity of such correctional facilities, including their personal safety, property values, lifestyles, and impacts on schools and day care facilities."

Representatives Rasmussen, Fraser, Miller, Dorn and Betzoff spoke in favor of adoption of the amendment, and Representatives Braddock, H. Sommers and Schoon opposed it.

Mr. May demanded an electric roll call vote, and the demand was sustained.

ROLL CALL

The Clerk called the roll on adoption of the amendment on page 1, line 27, by Representative Rasmussen and others, and the amendment was adopted by the following vote: Yeas, 67; nays, 27; excused, 4.

Voting yea: Representatives Anderson, Ballard, Basich, Baugher, Beck, Bennett, Betzoff, Bowman, Brekke, Brough, Brumsickle, Cantwell, Chandler, Cooper, Dorn, Doty, Ferguson, Fisher G, Forner, Fraser, Fuhrman, Hankins, Heavey, Holland, Horn, Inslee, Jesernig, Jones, King P, King R, Kirby, Kremen, May, McLean, Miller, Morris, Moyer, Myers H, Nealey, Nelson, Nutley, Padden, Peery, Phillips, Pruitt, Raiter, Rasmussen, Rayburn, Rector, Schmidt, Silver, Smith, Sommers D, Spanel, Sprengle, Tate, Todd, Valle, Van Luven, Walker, Wilson K, Wilson S, Winsley, Wolfe, Wood, Youngsman, Zellinsky - 67.

"Sec. 1. Section 2, chapter 163, Laws of 1981 as amended by section 37, chapter 75, Laws of 1987 and RCW 43.20B.635 are each amended to read as follows:

After service of a notice of debt for an overpayment as provided for in RCW 43.20B.630, stating the debt accrued, the secretary may issue to any person, firm, corporation, association, political subdivision, or department of the state, an order to withhold and deliver property of any kind including, but not restricted to, earnings which are due, owing, or belonging to the debtor, when the secretary has reason to believe that there is in the possession of such person, firm, corporation, association, political subdivision, or department of the state property which is due, owing, or belonging to the debtor. The order to withhold and deliver shall state the amount of the debt, and shall state in summary the terms of this section, RCW ((7-33-200)) 6.27-.150 and 6.27.160, chapters ((6-72)) 6.13 and ((6-76)) 6.15 RCW, 15 U.S.C. 1673, and other state or federal exemption laws applicable generally to debtors. The order to withhold and deliver shall be served in the manner prescribed for the service of a summons in a civil action or by certified mail, return receipt requested. Any person, firm, corporation, association, political subdivision, or department of the state upon whom service has been made shall answer the order to withhold and deliver within twenty days, exclusive of the day of service, under oath and in writing, and shall make true answers to the matters inquired of therein. The secretary may require further and additional answers to be completed by the person, firm, corporation, association, political subdivision, or department of the state. If any such person, firm, corporation, association, political subdivision, or department of the state possesses any property which may be subject to the claim of the department of social and health services, such property shall be withheld immediately upon receipt of the order to withhold and deliver and shall, after the twenty-day period, upon demand, be delivered forthwith to the secretary. The secretary shall hold the property in trust for application on the indebtedness involved or for return, without interest, in accordance with final determination of liability or nonliability. In the alternative, there may be furnished to the secretary a good and sufficient bond, satisfactory to the secretary, conditioned upon final determination of liability. Where money is due and owing under any contract of employment, express or implied, or is held by any person, firm, corporation, association, political subdivision, or department of the state subject to withdrawal by the debtor, such money shall be delivered by remittance payable to the order of the secretary. Delivery to the secretary, subject to the exemptions under RCW ((7-33-200)) 6.27.150 and 6.27.160, chapters ((6-+2)) 6.13 and ((6-+6)) 6.15 RCW, 15 U.S.C. 1673, and other state or federal law applicable generally to debtors, of the money or other property held or claimed satisfies the requirement of the order to withhold and deliver. Delivery to the secretary serves as full acquittance, and the state warrants and represents that it shall defend and hold harmless for such actions persons delivering money or property to the secretary pursuant to this chapter. The state also warrants and represents that it shall defend and hold harmless for such actions persons withholding money or property pursuant to this chapter.

The secretary shall also, on or before the date of service of the order to withhold and deliver, mail or cause to be mailed by certified mail a copy of the order to withhold and deliver to the debtor at the debtor's last known post office address, or, in the alternative, a copy of the order to withhold and deliver shall be served on the debtor in the same manner as a summons in a civil action on or before the date of service of the order or within two days thereafter. The copy of the order shall be mailed or served together with a concise explanation of the right to petition for a hearing on any issue related to the collection. This requirement is not jurisdictional, but, if the copy is not mailed or served as provided in this section, or if any irregularity appears with respect to the mailing or service, the superior court, on its discretion on motion of the debtor promptly made and supported by affidavit showing that the debtor has suffered substantial injury due to the failure to mail the copy, may set aside the order to withhold and deliver and award to the debtor an amount equal to the damages resulting from the secretary's failure to serve on or mail to the debtor the copy.

To secure reimbursement for assistance provided under this section, the department may pursue its remedies under section 7 of this 1990 act.

((in the conduct of such audits or investigations, the secretary may examine only those records or portions thereof, including patient records, for which services were rendered by a health care provider and reimbursed by the department)) Any overpayment discovered as a result of an audit of a provider under this authority shall be offset by any underpayments discovered in that same audit sample. In order to determine the provider's actual, usual, customary, or prevailing charges, the secretary may examine such random representative records as necessary to show accounts billed and accounts received. In order to verify costs incurred by the department for treatment of public assistance applicants or recipients, the secretary may examine patient records or portions thereof in connection with services to such applicants or recipients rendered by a health care provider, notwithstanding the provisions of RCW 5.60.060, 18.53.200, 18.83.110, or any other statute which may make or purport to make such records privileged or confidential: PROVIDED, That no original patient records shall be removed from the premises of the health care provider, and that the disclosure of any records or information by the department of social and health services is prohibited and ((constitutes a violation of RCW 42-22-040)) shall be punishable as a class C felony according to chapter 9A.20 RCW, unless such disclosure is directly connected to the official purpose for which the records or information were obtained: PROVIDED FURTHER, That the disclosure of patient information as required under this section shall not subject any physician or other health services provider to any liability for breach of any confidential relationship between the provider and the patient, but no evidence resulting from such disclosure may be used in any civil, administrative, or criminal proceeding against the patient unless a waiver of the applicable evidentiary privilege is obtained: PROVIDED FURTHER, That the secretary shall destroy all copies of patient medical records in their possession upon completion of the audit, investigation or proceedings:

(2) Approve or deny applications to participate as a provider of services furnished pursuant to this chapter:

(3) Terminate or suspend eligibility to participate as a provider of services furnished pursuant to this chapter; and

(4) Adopt, promulgate, amend, and rescind administrative rules and regulations, in accordance with the administrative procedure act, chapter 34.05 RCW, to carry out the policies and purposes of RCW 74.09.200 through 74.09.290.

Sec. 6. Section 1, chapter 264, Laws of 1988 (uncodified) is amended to read as follows:

(1) Persons receiving public assistance, particularly families, frequently have great difficulty obtaining adequate housing. The department of social and health services is directed to conduct a pilot program designed to show whether the supply of housing for persons on public assistance would increase if the department made rental payments directly to landlords.

(2) The department shall solicit not fewer than three nor more than seven local governing bodies for participation in the pilot program. In implementing this program the department shall:

(a) Provide a written statement notifying the recipient of public assistance that the landlord may not legally require direct payment from the department;

(b) Upon written request of the recipient, pay to the recipient's landlord as defined in RCW 59.18.030, through the local governing body, that portion that equals ninety percent of the monthly public assistance grant which is allocated for rent in the department's payment standard under RCW 74.04.770 or ninety percent of the rent, whichever is less. No direct payment shall be made for rent of premises with respect to which the landlord is not in compliance with RCW 59.18.060;

(c) Promptly terminate such payments to the landlord upon the recipient's written request, provided that the recipient gives written notice of termination of direct payments to the landlord and the local governing body;

(d) Enter into an agreement with the local governing bodies selected to participate in the pilot program for the direct payment of rent to landlords.

(3) The local governing bodies selected to participate in the pilot program shall:

(a) Administer the pilot program using existing housing assistance providers, where appropriate;

(b) Charge the landlord a monthly fee of two dollars to cover the cost of administering each direct payment made under this section, which fee shall not be charged to the tenant;

(c) Charge the landlord a fee, up to fifty dollars, to cover the cost of inspecting and certifying that the housing unit is in compliance with the housing quality standards used for the United States department of housing and urban development, section eight existing housing program.

(4) The landlords participating in the pilot program shall mail to the secretary and the local governing body, by certified mail, a copy of any notice served upon the tenant under RCW 59.12.030 or 59.18.200 which terminates the tenancy. The notice, when mailed to the secretary and the local governing body, shall constitute the landlord's request that the secretary and local governing body cease making direct payments of rent to the landlord.

(5) No recipient of public assistance shall be liable to the department of social and health services for any amount incorrectly paid to a landlord under this section. The department shall recover such overpayment from the landlord ~~((under RCW 74.04.700)).~~

(6) The department of social and health services shall adopt rules under chapter 34.05 RCW regarding the pilot program.

(7) The secretary may include in the department's annual report to the governor and the legislature a summary of the progress and status of the pilot program. The summary shall include but need not be limited to the results of the individual projects selected, the number of persons served, and recommendations for improving the program.

(8) The secretary shall immediately take such steps as are necessary to ensure that this section is implemented on its effective date. This section shall take effect July 1, 1988.

(9) This section shall terminate June 30, 1991, unless extended by law for an additional fixed period of time.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 7. A new section is added to chapter 43.20B RCW to read as follows:

(1) To secure reimbursement of any assistance paid under chapter 74.09 RCW or reimbursement for any residential care provided by the department at a hospital for the mentally ill or habilitative care center for the developmentally disabled, as a result of injuries to or illness of a recipient caused by the negligence or wrong of another, the department shall be subrogated to the recipient's rights against a tortfeasor or the tortfeasor's insurer, or both.

(2) The department shall have a lien upon any recovery by or on behalf of the recipient from such tortfeasor or the tortfeasor's insurer, or both to the extent of the value of the assistance paid or residential care provided by the department, provided that such lien shall not be effective against recoveries subject to wrongful death when there are surviving dependents of the deceased. The lien shall become effective upon filing with the county auditor in the county where the assistance was authorized or where any action is brought against the tortfeasor or insurer. The lien may also be filed in any other county or served upon the recipient in the same manner as a civil summons if, in the department's discretion, such alternate filing or service is necessary to secure the department's interest. The additional lien shall be effective upon filing or service.

(3) The lien of the department shall be upon any claim, right of action, settlement proceeds, money, or benefits arising from an insurance program to which the recipient might be entitled (a) against the tortfeasor or insurer of the tortfeasor, or both, and (b) under any contract of insurance purchased by the recipient or by any other person providing coverage for the illness or injuries for which the assistance or residential care is paid or provided by the department.

(4) If recovery is made by the department under this section and the subrogation is fully or partially satisfied through an action brought by or on behalf of the recipient, the amount paid to the department shall bear its proportionate share of attorneys' fees and costs. The determination of the proportionate share to be borne by the department shall be based upon:

(a) The fees and costs approved by the court in which the action was initiated; or

(b) The written agreement between the attorney and client which establishes fees and costs when fees and costs are not addressed by the court.

(c) When fees and costs have been approved by a court, after notice to the department, the department shall have the right to be heard on the matter of attorneys' fees and costs or its proportionate share.

(d) When fees and costs have not been addressed by the court, the department shall receive at the time of settlement a copy of the written agreement between the attorney and client which establishes fees and costs and may request and examine documentation of fees and costs associated with the case. The department may bring an action in superior court to void a settlement if it believes the attorneys' calculation of its proportionate share of fees and costs is inconsistent with the written agreement between the attorney and client which establishes fees and costs or if the fees and costs associated with the case are exorbitant in relation to cases of a similar nature.

NEW SECTION, Sec. 8. A new section is added to chapter 43.20B RCW to read as follows:

An attorney representing a person who, as a result of injuries or illness sustained through the negligence or wrong of another, has received, is receiving, or has applied to receive assistance under chapter 74.09 RCW, or residential care provided by the department at a hospital for the mentally ill or habilitative care center for the developmentally disabled, shall:

(1) Notify the department at the time of filing any claim against a third party, commencing an action at law, negotiating a settlement, or accepting a settlement offer from the tortfeasor or the tortfeasor's insurer, or both; and

(2) Give the department thirty days' notice before any judgment, award, or settlement may be satisfied in any action or any claim by the applicant or recipient to recover damages for such injuries or illness.

"Sec. 4, Section 4, chapter 27, Laws of 1981 as last amended by section 1, chapter 94, Laws of 1988 and RCW 7.72.030 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) A product manufacturer is subject to liability to a claimant if the claimant's harm was proximately caused by the negligence of the manufacturer in that the product was not reasonably safe as designed or not reasonably safe because adequate warnings or instructions were not provided.

(a) A product is not reasonably safe as designed, if, at the time of manufacture, the likelihood that the product would cause the claimant's harm or similar harms, and the seriousness of those harms, outweighed the burden on the manufacturer to design a product that would have prevented those harms and the adverse effect that an alternative design that was practical and feasible would have on the usefulness of the product: PROVIDED, That a firearm or ammunition shall not be deemed defective in design on the basis that the benefits of the product do not outweigh the risk of injury posed by its potential to cause serious injury, damage, or death when discharged.

(b) A product is not reasonably safe because adequate warnings or instructions were not provided with the product, if, at the time of manufacture, the likelihood that the product would cause the claimant's harm or similar harms, and the seriousness of those harms, rendered the warnings or instructions of the manufacturer inadequate and the manufacturer could have provided the warnings or instructions which the claimant alleges would have been adequate.

(c) A product is not reasonably safe because adequate warnings or instructions were not provided after the product was manufactured where a manufacturer learned or where a reasonably prudent manufacturer should have learned about a danger connected with the product after it was manufactured. In such a case, the manufacturer is under a duty to act with regard to issuing warnings or instructions concerning the danger in the manner that a reasonably prudent manufacturer would act in the same or similar circumstances. This duty is satisfied if the manufacturer exercises reasonable care to inform product users.

(2) A product manufacturer is subject to strict liability to a claimant if the claimant's harm was proximately caused by the fact that the product was not reasonably safe in construction or not reasonably safe because it did not conform to the manufacturer's express warranty or to the implied warranties under Title 62A RCW.

(a) A product is not reasonably safe in construction if, when the product left the control of the manufacturer, the product deviated in some material way from the design specifications or performance standards of the manufacturer, or deviated in some material way from otherwise identical units of the same product line.

(b) A product does not conform to the express warranty of the manufacturer if it is made part of the basis of the bargain and relates to a material fact or facts concerning the product and the express warranty proved to be untrue.

(c) Whether or not a product conforms to an implied warranty created under Title 62A RCW shall be determined under that title.

(3) In determining whether a product was not reasonably safe under this section, the trier of fact shall consider whether the product was unsafe to an extent beyond that which would be contemplated by the ordinary consumer.

(4) Manufacturers of a single source drug product shall be individually subject to product liability claims. Manufacturers and/or distributors, as indicated by the drug product label, of a multiple source drug product shall share product liability proportionate to their market share. Any manufacturer or distributor who is able to demonstrate that their drug product was not involve in the product liability claim shall be removed from the calculation of market share.

ESSB 5650 Prime Sponsor, Committee on Law & Justice: Specifying conditions for the awarding of attorneys' fees. Reported by Committee on Judiciary

MAJORITY recommendation: Do pass with the following amendments:

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

NEW SECTION, Sec. 1. The legislature finds that certain individuals, smaller partnerships, smaller corporations, and other organizations may be deterred from seeking review of or defending against unreasonable agency action because of the expense involved in securing the vindication of their rights in administrative proceedings. The legislature further finds that because of the greater resources of the state of Washington, individuals, smaller partnerships, smaller corporations, and other organizations are often deterred from seeking review of or defending against state agency actions because of the costs for attorneys, expert witnesses, and other costs. The legislature therefore adopts this equal access to justice act to ensure that these parties have a greater opportunity to defend themselves from inappropriate state agency actions and to protect their rights.

NEW SECTION, Sec. 2. A new section is added to chapter 4.84 RCW to read as follows:

(1)(a) Except as otherwise specifically provided by statute, a court shall award to a prevailing party other than the state of Washington fees and other expenses including reasonable attorneys' fees, in addition to any reasonable costs awarded, not to exceed ten thousand dollars, incurred by that party in any civil action except an action for personal injury or wrongful death, including proceedings for judicial review of agency action, unless the court finds that the position of the state of Washington was substantially justified or that circumstances make an award unjust.

(b) A party seeking an award of fees and other expenses shall, within thirty days of final judgment in the action, submit to the court an application for fees and other expenses which shows that the party is a prevailing party and is eligible to receive an award under this subsection, and the amount sought, including an itemized statement from any attorney or expert witness representing or appearing on behalf of the party stating the actual time expended and the rate at which fees and other expenses were computed. The party shall also allege that the position of the state of Washington was not substantially justified. Whether or not the position of the state of Washington was substantially justified shall be determined on the basis of the record, including the record with respect to the action or failure by the agency upon which the civil action is based, which is made in the civil action for which fees and other expenses are sought.

(c) The court, in its discretion, may reduce the amount to be awarded pursuant to this subsection, or deny an award, to the extent that the prevailing party during the course of other proceedings engaged in conduct which unduly and unreasonably protracted the final resolution of the matter in controversy.

(2) For purposes of this section:

(a) 'Fees and other expenses' includes the reasonable expenses of expert witnesses, the reasonable cost of any study, analysis, engineering report, test, or project which is found by the court to be necessary for the preparation of the party's case, and reasonable attorneys' fees. The amount of fees awarded under this subsection shall be based upon the prevailing market rates for the kind and quality of the services furnished, except that (i) no expert witness shall be compensated at a rate in excess of the highest rate of compensation for expert witnesses paid by the state of Washington; and (ii) attorneys shall not be awarded in excess of one hundred fifty dollars per hour unless the court determines that an increase in the cost of living or a special factor, such as the limited availability of qualified attorneys for the proceedings involved, justify a higher fee;

(b) 'Party' means (i) an individual whose net worth did not exceed two million dollars at the time the civil action was filed, or (ii) any owner of an unincorporated business, or any partnership, corporation, association, or organization, the net worth of which did not exceed seven million dollars at the time the civil action was filed; except that an organization described in section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 (26 U.S.C. 501(c)(3)) exempt from taxation under section 501(a) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 (26 U.S.C. 501(a)), or a cooperative association as defined by section 15(a) of the agricultural marketing act (12 U.S.C. 1141j(a)), may be a party regardless of the net worth of such organization or cooperative association;

(c) 'Washington state' includes any agency and any official of the state of Washington acting in his or her official capacity;

(d) 'Position of the state of Washington' means, in addition to the position taken by the state of Washington in the civil action, the action or failure to act by the agency upon which the civil action is based; except that fees and expenses may not be awarded to a party for any portion of the litigation in which the party has unreasonably protracted the proceedings;

(e) 'Civil action' means a civil action brought by or against the state of Washington and includes an appeal by a party of a decision of an agency action.

NEW SECTION, Sec. 3. The office of financial management shall report annually to the legislature on the amount of fees and other expenses awarded during the preceding fiscal year under this act. The report shall describe the number, nature, and amount of the awards, the claims involved in the controversy, and any other relevant information which may aid the legislature in evaluating the scope and impact of the awards."

SB 5705 Prime Sponsor, Senator Benitz: Requiring the energy facility site evaluation council to consider the extent of carbon dioxide emissions by thermal plant facilities seeking certification. Reported by Committee on Energy & Utilities

MAJORITY recommendation: Do pass with the following amendments:

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

NEW SECTION, Sec. 1. The legislature finds that the greenhouse effect on the earth's atmosphere with its ensuing global warming may jeopardize the economic framework and the quality of life in this state. The legislature finds that increased production of carbon dioxide may contribute to the greenhouse effect, and that when new facilities are needed, there must be consideration of the impact on the environment of these facilities. The legislature further finds that all sources of energy have other environmental consequences in their production, transportation, and consumption and that these environmental consequences have not always been included in determining the total cost of these energy resources.

NEW SECTION, Sec. 2. A new section is added to chapter 80.50 RCW to read as follows:

When considering an application for certification of an energy facility under RCW 80.50-.060, the council must consider the extent to which the facility will increase emissions of carbon dioxide. Each application for certification of a thermal plant must include a plan which sets forth what steps the plant will take to minimize any increase in carbon dioxide emissions to the extent that it is technologically and economically feasible. The council shall recommend whether the plan is satisfactory.

NEW SECTION, Sec. 3. The state energy office shall include in the biennial report required by RCW 43.21F.045(9) to be submitted by December 1, 1990, an interim report on an energy study that:

(1) Reviews state energy policy as contained in RCW 43.21F.015 and elsewhere and recommends changes where appropriate, especially taking into consideration global environmental impacts of energy resources use;

(2) Evaluates all energy resources for availability, efficiency, and dollar and environmental costs. Evaluation shall include all facets of obtaining, processing, transporting, making ready for use, controlling pollutants, and disposal of residues; and

(3) Analyzes the approaches to and recommends methodologies for inclusion of environmental costs, especially costs of global environmental pollutant controls in least cost planning.

The study shall be completed and provided to the governor and the legislature by December 1, 1991.

Sec. 4. Section 1, chapter 45, Laws of 1970 ex. sess. as amended by section 29, chapter 108, Laws of 1975-'76 2nd ex. sess. and RCW 80.50.010 are each amended to read as follows:

The legislature finds that ~~((the present and predicted))~~ growth in energy demands in the state of Washington requires the development of a procedure for the selection and utilization of sites for energy facilities and the identification of a state position with respect to each proposed site. The legislature recognizes that the selection of sites will have a significant impact upon the welfare of the population, the location and growth of industry and the use of the natural resources of the state.

It is the policy of the state of Washington to recognize the ~~((pressing))~~ continuing need for increased energy facilities, and to ensure through available and reasonable methods, that the location and operation of ~~((such))~~ energy facilities will produce minimal adverse effects on the environment, ecology of the land and its wildlife, and the ecology of state waters and their aquatic life.

It is the intent to seek courses of action that will balance ~~((the increasing))~~ continuing demands for energy facility location and operation in conjunction with the broad interests of the public. Such action will be based on these premises:

(1) To assure Washington state citizens that, where applicable, operational safeguards are at least as stringent as the criteria established by the federal government and are technically sufficient for their welfare and protection.

(2) To preserve and protect the quality of the environment; to enhance the public's opportunity to enjoy the ~~((esthetic))~~ aesthetic and recreational benefits of the air, water and land resources; to promote air cleanliness; to limit the danger posed to the environment by the release of greenhouse gasses and other byproducts of energy generation; and to pursue beneficial changes in the environment.

(3) To provide ((abundant)) adequate energy at ((reasonable)) the least cost. In evaluating whether a proposed facility will provide energy at the least cost, the council shall consider the entire cost of the energy resource to be used at the facility, including the costs of obtaining, processing, transporting, making ready for use, controlling pollutants, and disposing of residues from the energy source. The council shall consider the results of the study conducted by the Washington state energy office under section 3 of this act and any relevant studies completed by the northwest power planning council.

(c) The state resources needed to carry out the proposed approach, and the local resources that will be made available.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 5. APPLICATION EVALUATION. In deciding which project to undertake, the department shall consider the following factors:

(1) The degree of economic distress in the community;

(2) Community initiative;

(3) The degree to which additional state assistance is required to accomplish the project's goals; and

(4) The feasibility of significantly impacting the community's economic condition, and its surrounding region.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 6. DEPARTMENT OVERSIGHT. The department shall be responsible for:

ESB 6164 Prime Sponsor, Senator Newhouse: Revising provisions for the transportation of food products. Reported by Committee on Agriculture & Rural Development

MAJORITY recommendation: Do pass with the following amendments:

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

*NEW SECTION, Sec. 1. The definitions in this section apply throughout sections 1 through 7 of this act:

(1) 'Food' means: (a) Any article used for food or drink for humans or used as a component of such an article; or (b) a food grade substance.

(2) 'Food grade substance' means a substance which satisfies the requirements of the federal food, drug, and cosmetic act, meat inspection act, and poultry products act and rules promulgated thereunder as materials approved by the federal food and drug administration, United States department of agriculture, or United States environmental protection agency for use: (a) As an additive in food or drink for human consumption, (b) in sanitizing food or drink for human consumption, (c) in processing food or drink for human consumption, or (d) in maintaining equipment with food contact surfaces during which maintenance the substance is expected to come in contact with food or drink for human consumption.

(3) 'In bulk form' means a food or substance which is not packaged or contained by anything other than the cargo carrying portion of the vehicle or vessel.

(4) 'Vehicle or vessel' means a commercial vehicle or commercial vessel which has a gross weight of more than ten thousand pounds, is used to transport property, and is a motor vehicle, motor truck, trailer, railroad car, or vessel.

NEW SECTION, Sec. 2. (1) Except as provided in sections 4 and 6 of this act, no person may transport in intrastate commerce food in bulk form in the cargo carrying portion of a vehicle or vessel that has been used for transporting in bulk form a cargo other than food.

(2) No person may transport in intrastate commerce food in bulk form in the cargo carrying portion of a vehicle or vessel unless the vehicle or vessel is marked 'Food or Food Compatible Only' in conformance with rules adopted under section 3 of this act.

(3) No person may transport in intrastate commerce a substance in bulk form other than food or a substance on a list adopted under section 3 of this act in the cargo carrying portion of a vehicle or vessel marked 'Food or Food Compatible Only.'

(4) This section does not apply to the transportation of a raw agricultural commodity from the point of its production to the facility at which the commodity is first processed or packaged.

NEW SECTION, Sec. 3. (1) The director of agriculture and the secretary of health shall jointly adopt by rule:

(a) A list of food compatible substances other than food that may be transported in bulk form as cargo in a vehicle or vessel that is also used, on separate occasions, to transport food in bulk form as cargo. The list shall contain those substances that the director and the secretary determine will not pose a health hazard if food in bulk form were transported in the vehicle or vessel after it transported the substance. In making this determination, the director and the secretary shall assume that some residual portion of the substance will remain in the cargo carrying portion of the vehicle or vessel when the food is transported;

(b) The procedures to be used to clean the vehicle or vessel after transporting the substance and prior to transporting the food:

(c) The form of the certificates to be used under section 4 of this act; and

(d) Requirements for the 'Food or Food Compatible Only' marking which must be borne by a vehicle or vessel under section 2 or 4 of this act.

(2) In developing and adopting rules under this section and section 5 of this act, the director and the secretary shall consult with the secretary of transportation, the chief of the state patrol, the chair of the utilities and transportation commission, and representatives of the vehicle and vessel transportation industries, food processors, and agricultural commodity organizations.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4. Transporting food as cargo in bulk form in intrastate commerce in a vehicle or vessel that has previously been used to transport in bulk form a cargo other than food does not constitute a violation of section 2 of this act if:

(1) The cargo is a food compatible substance contained on the list adopted by the director and secretary under section 3 of this act;

(2) The vehicle or vessel has been cleaned as required by the rules adopted under section 3 of this act;

(3) The vehicle or vessel is marked 'Food or Food Compatible' in conformance with rules adopted under section 3 of this act; and

(4) A certificate accompanies the vehicle or vessel when the food is transported which attests, under penalty of perjury, to the fact that the vehicle or vessel has been cleaned as required by those rules and is dated and signed by the party responsible for that cleaning. Such certificates shall be maintained by the owner of the vehicle or vessel for not less than three years and shall be available for inspection concerning compliance with sections 1 through 7 of this act. Forms for the certificates shall be provided by the department of agriculture.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 5. The director of agriculture and the secretary of health shall jointly adopt by rule:

(1) A list of substances which, if transported in bulk form in the cargo carrying portion of a vehicle or vessel, render the vehicle or vessel permanently unsuitable for use in transporting food in bulk form because the prospect that any residue might be present in the vehicle or vessel when it transports food poses a hazard to the public health; and

(2) Procedures to be used to rehabilitate a vehicle or vessel that has been used to transport a substance other than a substance contained on a list adopted under section 3 of this act or under subsection (1) of this section. The procedures shall ensure that transporting food in the cargo carrying portion of the vehicle or vessel after its rehabilitation will not pose a health hazard.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 6. A vehicle or vessel that has been used to transport a substance other than food or a substance contained on the lists adopted by the director and secretary under sections 3 and 5 of this act, may be rehabilitated and used to transport food only if:

(1) The vehicle or vessel is rehabilitated in accordance with the procedures established by the director and secretary in section 5 of this act;

(2) The vehicle or vessel is inspected by the department of agriculture, and the department determines that transporting food in the cargo carrying portion of the vehicle or vessel will not pose a health hazard;

(3) A certificate accompanies the vehicle or vessel certifying that the vehicle or vessel has been rehabilitated and inspected and is authorized to transport food, and is dated and signed by the director of agriculture, or an authorized agent of the director. Such certificates shall be maintained for the life of the vehicle by the owner of the vehicle or vessel, and shall be available for inspection concerning compliance with sections 1 through 7 of this act. Forms for the certificates shall be provided by the department of agriculture; and

(4) The vehicle or vessel is marked as required by section 2 of this act or is marked and satisfies the requirements of section 4 of this act which are not inconsistent with the rehabilitation authorized by this section.

No vehicle or vessel that has transported in bulk form a substance contained on the list adopted under section 5 of this act qualifies for rehabilitation.

The cost of rehabilitation shall be borne by the vehicle or vessel owner. The director shall determine a reasonable fee to be imposed on the vehicle or vessel owner based on inspection, laboratory, and administrative costs incurred by the department in rehabilitating the vehicle or vessel.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 7. A person who knowingly transports a cargo in violation of section 2 of this act or who knowingly causes a cargo to be transported in violation of section 2 of this act is subject to a civil penalty, as determined by the director of agriculture, for each such violation as follows:

(1) For a person's first violation or first violation in a period of five years, not more than five thousand dollars;

(2) For a person's second or subsequent violation within five years of a previous violation, not more than ten thousand dollars.

The director shall impose the penalty by an order which is subject to the provisions of chapter 34.05 RCW.

The director shall, wherever practical, secure the assistance of other public agencies, including but not limited to the department of health, the utilities and transportation commission, and the state patrol, in identifying and investigating potential violations of section 2 of this act.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 8. The director of agriculture and the secretary of health shall examine, in consultation with an industry advisory committee, the potential hazards that may be posed to the public health by the transportation of food in other than bulk form in intrastate commerce. The director and secretary shall report the findings to the legislature by January 1, 1992, concerning the extent of the potential hazards, the frequency of mixed shipments of packaged food and nonfood items, the manner in which mixed shipments of packaged food and nonfood items are transported, and the incidents of food contamination in Washington state within the past five years. The findings shall include recommendations, if any, for regulating the transportation of food in other than bulk form.

The director and the secretary shall establish an industry advisory committee to provide advice regarding the examination required by this section. The director and the secretary shall jointly appoint not less than nine persons to the committee. These persons shall be representatives from the manufacturing, processing, wholesaling, distributing, and retailing sectors of the food industry.

Sec. 9. Section 99, chapter 257, Laws of 1945 and RCW 69.04.810 are each amended to read as follows:

For the purpose of enforcing the provisions of this chapter, carriers engaged in intrastate commerce, and persons receiving food, drugs, devices, or cosmetics in intrastate commerce or holding such articles so received, shall, upon the request of the director, permit the director at reasonable times, to have access to and to copy all records showing the movement in intrastate commerce of any food, drug, device, or cosmetic, or the holding thereof during or after such movement, and the quantity, shipper, and consignee thereof; and it shall be unlawful for any such carrier or person to fail to permit such access to and the copying of any such records so requested when such request is accompanied by a statement in writing specifying the nature or kind of food, drug, device, or cosmetic to which such request relates: PROVIDED, That evidence obtained under this section shall not be used in a criminal prosecution of the person from whom obtained: PROVIDED FURTHER, That except for violations of section 2 of this act, penalties levied under section 7 of this act, the requirements of sections 1 through 7 of this act, and the requirements of this section, carriers shall not be subject to the other provisions of this chapter by reason of their receipt, carriage, holding, or delivery of food, drugs, devices, or cosmetics in the usual course of business as carriers.

"NEW SECTION, Sec. 1. The legislature finds that economic factors considered within the program for permitting the siting and operation of commercial off-site hazardous waste disposal facilities must not be elevated above human health and environmental quality concerns in the eventual siting of such facilities. It is therefore the intent of this act to review the potential siting of such facilities within the agricultural communities and direct the Washington State University hazardous substances research group to complete a review to determine the impact of such facilities to agricultural lands.

NEW SECTION, Sec. 2. A new section is added to chapter 70.105 RCW to read as follows:

(1) On or before November 1, 1990, the Washington State University hazardous substance research group shall submit a report to the legislature and governor which includes the following:

(a) An assessment of the risks that airborne contaminants from hazardous waste incineration facilities pose to nearby agricultural lands and their products;

(b) An assessment of the risks that the landfill disposal of the ash from such facilities pose to nearby agricultural lands and their products;

(c) An assessment of the origins and quantity of hazardous waste within Washington, Alaska, Oregon, and Idaho that are likely to be disposed at a facility located within Washington. Information pertaining to the origins and quantity of hazardous waste within the region shall be based on information from the Pacific Northwest hazardous waste advisory council; and

(d) An assessment of the viability of the state-owned land on the Hanford reservation as a site for a hazardous waste incineration and disposal facility.

(2) The assessment and report shall be based on a review of existing scientific studies and information. The studies and information collected for assessment on or before June 15, 1990, shall be deemed as 'existing scientific studies and information' for the purposes of this section. The assessment and report shall be based on the relative impact on existing background hazardous material levels.

(3) In preparing the report, the research group shall form and incorporate the advice of an advisory committee with balanced representation geographically throughout the state, and that includes representatives of agriculture, local government, environmental organizations, hazardous waste generators, and the waste management industry. The research group shall also consult with recognized scientific authorities on the environmental and health impacts of the siting and operation of hazardous waste disposal facilities, and review the operational record of the facilities located in other states and countries.

(4) Prior to issuing a permit for a facility for the incineration or disposal of hazardous waste the department of ecology shall take into consideration the report prepared by the research group and shall have information adequate to determine the need for, size of, and environmental safety of such a facility.

NEW SECTION, Sec. 3. The sum of one hundred ninety-eight thousand five hundred dollars, or as much thereof as may be necessary, is appropriated from the state toxics control account to Washington State University for the biennium ending June 30, 1991, to carry out the purposes of this act.

ESB 6411 Prime Sponsor, Senator Lee: Establishing an employment training program. Reported by Committee on Trade & Economic Development

MAJORITY recommendation: Do pass with the following amendments:

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

*NEW SECTION, Sec. 1. The legislature finds that demographic and economic changes are causing an increasing shortage of well trained workers within Washington. The working age population is growing at a decreasing rate due to the aging of the post World War II baby boom generation and due to a lower rate of birth. The current economic boom in the state is aggravating this long-term trend by lowering the rate of unemployed individuals seeking work. Because of the developing labor shortage, Washington businesses increasingly need to employ individuals from demographic groups which have been traditionally underrepresented among the employed population. Many of these and other individuals need training in order to have the skills required by employers. Despite economic growth, significant unemployment remains a serious and persistent problem in many areas of the state. By making first rate training available to individuals who lack suitable skills for employment in well-paying careers, the state will enhance employment opportunities for low-income individuals, unemployed persons, dislocated workers, and others enabling more citizens of the state to enjoy our economic prosperity.

The legislature further finds that our state's businesses have a growing need for highly trained workers because of the increasing technological complexity of occupations and due to increasing world market competition. Because of these technical and economic changes, businesses in the future will need to fully utilize the capacities of their workers for skilled, flexible, and intelligent work.

The legislature further finds that the vast majority of the work force for the year 2000 and beyond is already of the age eighteen years or older. For the work force of the future to be well trained will require a first-rate adult training system. This system will need to train those individuals who are entering and reentering the labor market and those individuals already employed who need new or updated skills to meet changing technological and economic conditions. For the training system to be first rate will require a system that is well coordinated between service providers, is accountable for its performance, and is responsive to the needs of businesses and the work force. The training system must emphasize training in broad-based skills with long-term career potential. For the state to have a first rate training system requires a thorough study of our present and future training needs; experimentation in new ways of providing training; and leadership and recommendations from representatives of business, workers, and training providers.

The legislature further finds that adults without the basic skills needed for training in job skills are more likely to need unemployment compensation and welfare payments, and to fill our state's correctional institutions. The legislature intends to assess adult educational opportunities in the state for adults lacking basic literacy skills, for adults who have not received a high school diploma, and for adults who have received a high school diploma but whose level of achievement, based on standard measures, indicates that additional basic skills are necessary in order to enter a job training program.

NEW SECTION, Sec. 2. Unless the context clearly requires otherwise, the definitions in this section apply throughout this act.

(1) 'Basic literacy' means achievement at a tenth grade educational level as measured by standardized tests.

(2) 'Council' means the advisory council on investment in human capital.

(3) 'Training' means any education, literacy, or skill training or retraining activity that is needed by an individual to begin or continue full participation in the Washington work force.

(4) 'Training system' means the network of public and private providers of training, and includes secondary vocational education programs for gainful employment upon completion of a designated program sequence, but not other programs of primary or secondary education.

(5) 'Training providers' includes agencies and institutions of secondary vocational education programs for gainful employment upon completion of a designated program sequence, adult education, vocational technical institutes, community colleges, apprenticeship programs, private and public nonprofit organizations that are representative of communities or significant segments of communities and provide job training services, and private for-profit organizations that provide training as their primary service.

(6) 'Workforce' means all persons of working age including those who are currently gainfully employed and those who are not.

NEW SECTION, Sec. 3. (1) There is created the advisory council on investment in human capital. The council shall consist of ten voting members, nine nonvoting members, and a nonvoting chairperson. The governor shall appoint the members of the council except for the legislative members. Three of the voting members shall be representatives of business, and three of the voting members shall be representatives of labor. Four of the voting members shall be the state superintendent of public instruction or the superintendent's designee, the executive director of the state board for community college education or the director's designee, the commissioner of the department of employment security or the commissioner's designee, and the director of the department of labor and industries or the director's designee. The nine nonvoting members shall be a member from each of the two major caucuses in the house of representatives appointed by the speaker of the house, a member from each of the two major caucuses in the senate appointed by the president of the senate, a representative of the council of vocational technical institutes, a representative of the general public, a representative of a broad-based coalition of groups providing literacy services, a representative of private or public nonprofit organizations that are representative of communities or significant segments of communities and provide job training services, and a representative of private for-profit organizations which provide job training services as their primary service. The governor or the governor's designee shall serve as the nonvoting chairperson of the council.

(2) The council shall advise the office of financial management concerning the study of training authorized under section 4 of this act.

(3) The council shall advise the office of financial management and other appropriate state agencies concerning the pilot programs established under sections 5 through 9 of this act.

(4) The council shall make recommendations on changes necessary in state policies for training to the office of financial management and to the governor by December 1, 1990.

(5) The office of financial management and the office of the governor shall provide staff to the council as necessary to carry out the purposes of this act.

(6) The council shall meet as necessary to carry out the purposes of this act, and council members shall be reimbursed for travel expenses in accordance with RCW 43.03.050 and 43.03.060, or 44.04.120.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4. (1) The office of financial management shall, with the advice of the council, administer a study of the training needs of the state's work force, businesses, and the economy, including an evaluation of the training system. The office of financial management shall complete the study by December 1, 1990, and present the study to the council and governor. For purposes of the study, the office of financial management shall use already existing data whenever appropriate. As necessary, the labor market and economic analysis unit of the department of employment security shall assist the office of financial management with labor market and economic data, and state agencies that provide training shall assist the office of financial management with data on their training programs. The director of the office of financial management may contract for services necessary for the completion of the study, and shall contract for services as necessary to ensure objectivity in evaluating the training system. The study shall include:

(2) An assessment of the employment competency needs of the present Washington work force, including regional and demographic subgroups of the state work force, and projections of these competencies to the year 2010. Employment competency needs shall include, but not be limited to, literacy, basic skills, and vocational skills;

(3) An assessment of the current work force skill needs of Washington businesses and public employers, including subgroups by region, industry, and firm size, and projections of these needs to the year 2010. Work force skill needs shall include, but not be limited to, literacy, basic skills, and vocational skills;

(4) An assessment of the gaps which may exist between the competencies of the work force and the work force skill needs of Washington businesses between now and the year 2010 given current training policies;

(5) An assessment of the characteristics, size, and geographic distribution of Washington population groups which are in need of training between now and the year 2010;

(6) An inventory and analysis of alternative training programs, policies, and funding mechanisms including, but not limited to, financial contributions from businesses, workers, and trainees, which have been proposed or are in use in other states or other nations;

(7) An assessment of current data, information, monitoring, and evaluation systems so that training needs and training providers may be assessed on an ongoing, systematic, objective, and comprehensive basis. This assessment shall include integrating an evaluation component into each of the pilot programs authorized under sections 5 through 9 of this act;

(8) An inventory and analysis of the current training system in terms of organization, including the governance of vocational technical institutes, coordination, responsiveness, accountability, effectiveness, resources, support services for trainees, including but not limited to child care, and access, including access for subgroups of the population, including but not limited to subgroups by gender, race, ethnicity, and income level, and an inventory of training provided by employers whose primary product is not training;

(9) An analysis of current training programs to enable women and minorities to enter occupations and industries in which women and minorities have traditionally been underrepresented, and ways of improving such training;

(10) Recommendations for reducing the percentage of the adult population lacking basic literacy skills to five percent by the year 2010. The recommendations shall provide a framework for interagency collaboration and include:

(a) Recommendations on state policies and objectives to guide the adult literacy activities of the state;

(12) Recommendations on changes in the training system, including but not limited to ways of improving coordination and integration to meet the present and future needs of the work force, businesses, and the economy.

NEW SECTION, Sec. 5. The office of financial management and the office of the governor, with the advice of the council, shall oversee the pilot programs for job training. The pilot programs shall test means of integrating delivery systems and improving the responsiveness of training providers to the needs of businesses and the work force. Each pilot program shall integrate an evaluation component in conjunction with the study conducted under section 4 of this act.

NEW SECTION, Sec. 6. The state board for community college education shall, in cooperation with the office of financial management, administer pilot programs which provide additional community college training programs incorporating new means of responding to the needs of businesses and the work force. - (4) Includes a copy of the agreement for joint cooperative action pursuant to chapter 39.34 RCW.

On or before July 1, 1992, the superintendent of public instruction shall submit a report to the education committees and the economic development committees of the house of representatives and the senate including the cooperative evaluations and recommendations concerning the continuation of this program.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 17. If any provision of this act or its application to any person or circumstance is held invalid, the remainder of the act or the application of the provision to other persons or circumstances is not affected.

2SSB 6418 Prime Sponsor, Committee on Ways & Means: Expanding rural health care opportunities. Reported by Committee on Health Care

MAJORITY recommendation: Do pass with the following amendments:
Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

"PART I

NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. The legislature finds that a health care access problem exists in rural areas of the state due to a lack of practicing physicians, physician assistants, and advanced registered nurse practitioners. In addition, many of these rural providers are unable to leave the community for short-term periods of time to attend required continuing education training or for personal matters because their absence would leave the community without adequate medical care coverage. The lack of adequate medical coverage in geographically remote rural communities constitutes a threat to the health and safety of the people in those communities.

The legislature declares that it is in the public interest to recruit and maintain a pool of physicians, physician assistants, pharmacists, and advanced registered nurse practitioners willing and able on short notice to practice in rural communities on a short-term basis to meet the medical needs of the community.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. The department shall establish the health professional temporary substitute resource pool. The purpose of the pool is to provide short-term physician, physician assistant, pharmacist, and advanced registered nurse practitioner personnel to rural communities where these health care providers:

(1) Are unavailable due to provider shortages;
(2) Need time off from practice to attend continuing education and other training programs; and

(3) Need time off from practice to attend to personal matters or recover from illness.

The health professional temporary substitute resource pool is intended to provide short-term assistance and should complement active health provider recruitment efforts by rural communities where shortages exist.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. (1) The department, in cooperation with University of Washington school of medicine, the state's registered nursing programs, and other appropriate public and private agencies and associations, shall develop and keep current a register of physicians, physician assistants, pharmacists, and advanced registered nurse practitioners who are available to practice on a short-term basis in rural communities of the state. The department shall periodically screen individuals on the registry for violations of the uniform disciplinary act as authorized in chapter 18.130 RCW. If a finding of unprofessional conduct has been made by the appropriate disciplinary authority against any individual on the registry, the name of that individual shall be removed from the registry and that person shall be made ineligible for the program. The department shall include a list of back-up physicians and hospitals who can provide support to health care providers in the pool. The register shall be compiled, published, and made available to all rural hospitals, public health departments and districts, and other appropriate public and private agencies and associations. The department shall coordinate with existing entities involved in health professional recruitment when developing the registry for the health professional temporary substitute resource pool.

(2) Eligible health care professionals are those licensed under chapters 18.57, 18.57A, 18.64, 18.71, and 18.71A RCW and advanced registered nurse practitioners licensed under chapter 18.88 RCW.

(3) Participating health care professionals shall receive:

(a) Reimbursement for travel to and from the rural community and for lodging at a rate determined under RCW 43.03.050 and 43.03.060;

(b) Medical malpractice insurance purchased by the department, or the department may reimburse participants for medical malpractice insurance premium costs for medical liability while providing health care services in the program, if the services provided are not covered by the participant's or local provider's existing medical malpractice insurance; and

(c) Information on back-up support from other physicians and hospitals in the area to the extent necessary and available.

(4) The department may require rural communities to participate in health professional recruitment programs as a condition for providing a temporary substitute health care professional if the community does not have adequate permanent health care personnel. To the extent deemed appropriate and subject to funding, the department may also require communities to participate in other programs or projects, such as the rural health system project authorized by this chapter, that are designed to assist communities to reorganize the delivery of rural health care services.

(5) The department may require a community match for assistance provided in subsection (3) of this section if it determines that adequate community resources exist.

(6) The maximum continuous period of time a participating health professional may serve in a community is ninety days. The department may modify or waive this limitation should it determine that the health and safety of the community warrants a waiver or modification. The community shall be responsible for all salary expenses of participating health professionals.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4. (1) Requests for a temporary substitute health care professional may be made to the department by the local rural hospital, public health department or district, community health clinic, local practicing physician, physician assistant, pharmacist, or advanced registered nurse practitioner, or local city or county government.

(2) The department shall:

(a) Establish a manner and form for receiving requests;

(b) Minimize paperwork and compliance requirements for participant health care professionals and entities requesting assistance; and

(c) Respond promptly to all requests for assistance.

(3) The department may apply for, receive, and accept gifts and other payments, including property and services, from any governmental or other public or private entity or person, and may make arrangements as to the use of these receipts to operate the pool. The department shall make available upon request to the appropriate legislative committees information concerning the source, amount, and use of such gifts or payments.

PART II

NEW SECTION. Sec. 5. The legislature finds that the lack of primary care physicians in some rural areas of the state and the critical shortage of maternity care services adversely affect access to basic health care services. Rural areas often require more services because the health care needs are greater due to poverty or because these areas are difficult to service due to geographic circumstances. The legislature further finds that encouraging primary care physicians to serve in rural areas of the state and midwives to serve in midwife shortage areas is essential to assure continued access to basic health care services. Studies suggest that physicians recruited from rural areas or physicians who have resident and intern experience in a rural setting tend to make a long-term commitment as rural physicians. The legislature declares that whenever possible rural communities should take an active part in identifying prospective medical students from the local rural community or other rural areas. In this way the community and the prospective physician can form a mutual commitment prior to the individual acquiring a medical education.

The legislature further finds that midwives serve as an important provider of prenatal, interpartum, and postpartum care. Training individuals to become midwives can serve to address the current shortage of providers. The legislature declares that it is in the best interest of the people in this state to promote the availability of midwife services through activities that lead to the recruitment and training of midwives.

The program shall be administered by the board in consultation with the department, the school of medicine at the University of Washington and other appropriate private and public entities. In administering the program, the board shall have the following powers and duties:

(1) Select students to receive scholarships to attend schools of medicine, schools of osteopathic medicine, schools of pharmacy, or training programs in midwifery with the assistance of a screening committee;

(2) Adopt rules and guidelines to implement this chapter;

(3) Publicize the program, particularly emphasizing individuals residing in rural and midwifery shortage rural areas of the state;

(5) Solicit and accept grants and donations from public and private sources for the program; and

(6) Develop criteria for a contract for service in lieu of the five-year service where appropriate, that may be a combination of service and payment.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 8. (1) The board shall establish a planning committee to develop criteria for the screening and selection of recipients of the scholarships. The planning committee shall be comprised of at least representatives from the following entities: Rural physicians and hospitals, health care clinics, local health districts and departments, agencies involved in physician recruitment, the department, the University of Washington school of medicine, licensed and certified nurse midwives, pharmacists, and other entities involved in rural health and midwifery issues.

(2) For prospective physicians, the selection criteria shall include requirements that recipients declare an interest in serving in rural areas of the state of Washington. Preference for scholarships shall be given to students who reside in rural areas of the state prior to admission to the medical training program. Highest preference shall be given to students seeking admission who are recommended by sponsoring communities and who declare the intent of serving as a physician in a rural area.

(3) For prospective midwives, the selection criteria shall include requirements that the recipient declare an interest in serving in midwife shortage areas of the state of Washington.

(4) For prospective pharmacists, the selection shall include requirements that recipients declare an interest in serving in the rural areas of the state of Washington.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 9. A new section is added to Title 28B RCW to read as follows:

The school of medicine at the University of Washington shall develop and implement a policy to grant admission preference to prospective medical students from rural areas of the state who agree to serve for at least five years as primary care physicians in rural areas of Washington after completion of their medical education and have applied for and meet the qualifications of the program under section 7 of this act. Should the school of medicine be unable to fill any or all of the admission openings due to a lack of applicants from rural areas who meet minimum qualifications for study at the medical school, it may admit students not eligible for preferential admission under this section.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 10. The board may award scholarships to eligible students from the funds appropriated to the board for this purpose, or from any private donations, or any other funds given to the board for this program. Scholarships for physicians may be awarded contingent upon acceptance to a medical school. The amount of the scholarship awarded an individual shall not exceed fifteen thousand dollars per academic year for physicians and four thousand dollars per academic year for midwives and pharmacists. Scholarship awards are intended to meet the eligible financial expenses of eligible students. Students are eligible to receive scholarships for a maximum of five years for physicians and three years for midwives while continually enrolled in an approved medical school or midwifery training program. The board may require the sponsoring community located in a nonshortage rural area to financially contribute to the eligible expenses of a medical student if the student will serve in the nonshortage rural area.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 11. The department may provide technical assistance to rural communities desiring to become sponsoring communities. Such assistance should include, but not be limited to: The identification of prospective students, assisting prospective students to apply to medical school and midwifery training programs, making formal agreements with prospective medical students to provide future primary care physician services in the community, forming agreements between rural communities in a service area to share physician and midwifery services, and fulfilling any matching requirements.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 12. In providing health care services the participant shall not discriminate against any person on the basis of the person's ability to pay for such services or because payment for the health care services provided to such persons will be made under the insurance program established under part A or B of Title XVIII of the federal social security act or under a state plan for medical assistance including Title XIX of the federal social security act and agrees to accept assignment under section 18.42(b)(3)(B)(ii) of such act for all services for which payment may be made under part B of Title XVIII and enters into an appropriate agreement with the department of social and health services for medical assistance under Title XIX to provide services to individuals entitled to medical assistance under the plan. Participants found by the board or the department in violation of this section shall be declared ineligible for receiving assistance under the program authorized by this chapter.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 13. (1) Participants in the program incur an obligation to repay the scholarship, with interest set by state law, unless they serve for five years in rural areas or midwife shortage areas of the state of Washington.

(2) The terms of the repayment, including deferral of the interest, shall be consistent with the terms of the federal guaranteed loan program.

(3) The period for repayment shall be three years, with payments accruing quarterly commencing nine months from the date the participant completes or discontinues the course of study or completes or discontinues the required residency.

(4) The entire principal and interest of each payment shall be forgiven for each payment period in which the participant serves in a rural area or a midwife shortage area until the entire repayment obligation is satisfied or the borrower ceases to so serve. Should the participant cease to serve in a rural area or midwife shortage area of this state before the participant's repayment obligation is completed, payments on the unsatisfied portion of the principal and interest shall begin the next payment period and continue until the remainder of the participant's repayment obligation is satisfied. Except for circumstances beyond their control, participants who serve less than five years shall be obliged to repay to the program an amount equal to twice the total amount paid by the program on their behalf in addition to the unsatisfied portion of principal and interest required by this section.

(5) The board is responsible for collection of repayments made under this section and shall exercise due diligence in such collection, maintaining all necessary records to ensure that maximum repayments are made. Collection and servicing of repayments under this section shall be pursued using the full extent of the law, including wage garnishment if necessary, and shall be performed by entities approved for such servicing by the Washington student loan guaranty association or its successor agency. The board is responsible to forgive all or parts of such repayments under the criteria established in this section and shall maintain all necessary records of forgiven payments.

(6) Receipts from the payment of principal or interest or any other subsidies to which the board as administrator is entitled, which are paid by or on behalf of participants under this section, shall be deposited with the board and shall be used to cover the costs of granting the scholarships, maintaining necessary records, and making collections under subsection (5) of this section. The board shall maintain accurate records of these costs, and all receipts beyond those necessary to pay such costs shall be used to grant scholarships to eligible students.

(7) Sponsoring communities who financially contribute to the eligible financial expenses of eligible medical students may enter into agreements with the student to require repayment should the student not serve the minimum of five years in the community as a primary care physician. The board may develop criteria for the content of such agreements with respect to reasonable provisions and obligations between communities and eligible students.

(8) The board may make exceptions to the conditions for participation and repayment obligations should circumstances beyond the control of individual participants warrant such exceptions.

NEW SECTION, Sec. 14. The legislature finds that a shortage of physicians, nurses, pharmacists, and physician assistants exists in rural areas of the state. In addition, many education programs to train these health care providers do not include options for practical training experience in rural settings. As a result, many health care providers find their current training does not prepare them for the unique demands of rural practice.

The legislature declares that the availability of rural training opportunities as a part of professional medical, nursing, pharmacist, and physician assistant education would provide needed practical experience, serve to attract providers to rural areas, and help address the current shortage of these providers in rural Washington.

NEW SECTION, Sec. 15. (1) The department in consultation with at least the higher education coordinating board, the state board for community college education, the superintendent of public instruction, and state-supported education programs in medicine and nursing, shall develop a plan for increasing rural training opportunities for students in medicine and nursing. The plan shall provide for direct exposure to rural health professional practice conditions for students planning careers in medicine and nursing.

(2) The department and the medical and nurse education programs shall:

(a) Inventory existing rural-based clinical experience programs, including internships, clerkships, residencies, and other training opportunities available to students pursuing degrees in nursing and medicine;

(b) Identify where training opportunities do not currently exist and are needed;

(c) Develop recommendations for improving the availability of rural training opportunities;

(d) Develop recommendations on establishing agreements between education programs to assure that all students in medical, pharmacist, and nurse education programs in the state have access to rural training opportunities; and

(e) Review private and public funding sources to finance rural-based training opportunities.

(3) The department shall report to the house of representatives and senate standing committees on health care by December 1, 1990, with their findings and recommendations including needed legislative changes.

NEW SECTION, Sec. 16. The department, in consultation with training programs that lead to licensure in midwifery and certification as a certified nurse midwife, and other appropriate private and public groups, shall develop a state-wide plan to address access to midwifery services.

The plan shall include at least the following: (1) identification of maternity service shortage areas in the state where midwives could reduce the shortage of services; (2) an inventory of current training programs and preceptorship activities available to train licensed and certified nurse midwives; (3) identification of gaps in the availability of training due to such factors as geographic or economic conditions that prevent individuals from seeking training; (4) identification of other barriers to utilizing midwives; (5) identification of strategies to train future midwives such as developing training programs at community colleges and universities, using innovative telecommunications for training in rural areas, and establishing preceptorship programs accessible to prospective midwives in shortage areas; (6) development of recruitment strategies; and (7) estimates of expected costs associated in recruitment and training.

The plan shall identify the most expeditious and cost-efficient manner to recruit and train midwives to meet the current shortages. Plan development and implementation shall be coordinated with other state policy efforts directed toward, but not limited to, maternity care access, rural health care system organization, and provider recruitment for shortage and medically underserved areas of the state.

The department shall submit a copy of the plan to the senate and house of representatives health care committees by December 1, 1990.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 17. By September 1, 1995, the department shall review the continuing need for the program and recommend the need for its continuation. It shall report its findings to the senate and house of representatives committees on health care by December 1, 1995.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 18. A new section is added to chapter 70.175 RCW to read as follows:

The department may develop and implement a rural health care plan and may approve hospital and rural primary care facilities requests to be designated as essential access community hospitals or rural primary care hospitals so that such facilities may form rural health networks to preserve health care services in rural areas and thereby be eligible for federal program funding and enhanced medicare reimbursement.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 19. After consulting with the higher education coordinating board, the governor may transfer the administration of the rural physician, pharmacist, and midwife scholarship program to another agency with an appropriate educational mission.

PART III

NEW SECTION. Sec. 20. The legislature finds that the residents of rural communities are having difficulties in locating and purchasing affordable health insurance. The legislature further finds that many rural communities have sufficient funds to pay for needed services, but those funds are being expended elsewhere causing insufficient funding of local health services. As part of the solution to this problem, rural communities need to be able to structure the financing of local health services to better serve local residents. The legislature further finds that as rural communities need well financed and organized health care, it is in the interest of residents of rural communities that existing unauthorized entities comply with appropriate fiscal solvency standards and consumer safeguards, and that those entities be given an opportunity to come into compliance with existing state laws.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 21. The insurance commissioner shall establish a committee to recommend to the governor and legislature methods to improve the availability of affordable health insurance or coverage in rural communities. The recommendations shall consider (1) the unique and varied nature of rural communities, (2) methods to maximize the retention of local health expenditures in rural communities, (3) the need of rural communities to have sufficient control over the health services in their communities so that they may improve the quality and have the appropriate quantity of those health services, (4) financial stability and consumer protection issues, and (5) the feasibility of such recommendations. The committee shall examine methods of improving the way currently authorized carriers address rural health issues and shall examine the use of alternative arrangements specifically adapted to rural communities including, but not limited to, the use of local service contractors in combination with other entities authorized under Title 48 RCW.

The committee shall include the insurance commissioner or the commissioner's designee and representatives of rural communities, rural health providers, entities authorized under title 48 RCW, the department of health, and other individuals, as appointed by the insurance commissioner.

These recommendations shall be submitted to the governor and legislature no later than November 1, 1990.

The committee established under this section shall dissolve on January 1, 1991.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 22. Unless the context clearly requires otherwise, the definitions in this section apply to section 23 of this act.

(1) 'Rural community' means any grouping of consumers, seventy-five percent of whom reside in areas outside of a standard metropolitan statistical area as defined by the United States bureau of census.

(2) 'Consumer' means any person enrolled and eligible to receive benefits in the rural health care arrangement.

(3) 'Rural health care service arrangement' or 'arrangement' means any arrangement which is established or maintained for the purpose of offering or providing through the purchase of insurance or otherwise, medical, surgical, or hospital care or benefits in the event of sickness, accident, or disability in a rural community, as defined in this section, that is subject to the jurisdiction of the insurance commissioner but is not now a currently authorized carrier.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 23. Rural health care service arrangements existing on the effective date of this act may continue in full operation only so long as they comply with all of the following:

(1) Within ten days following the effective date of this act, all rural health care service arrangements shall inform the insurance commissioner of their intent to apply for approval to operate as an entity authorized under chapter 48.44 RCW or intend to merge with an entity authorized under Title 48 RCW or merge with an entity defined in this section;

(2) The arrangement submits an application for approval as an entity authorized under chapter 48.44 RCW by May 1, 1990;

(3) The arrangement has one hundred thousand dollars on deposit with the insurance commissioner by July 1, 1990;

(4) The arrangement has one hundred fifty thousand dollars on deposit with the insurance commissioner by September 1, 1990; and

(5) The arrangement complies with all reasonable requirements of the insurance commissioner excluding the deposit requirement, except as outlined in this section.

If such rural health care service arrangements fail to comply with any of the above requirements, or if during the application process an entity engages in any activities which the insurance commissioner reasonably determines may cause imminent harm to consumers, the entity may be subject to appropriate legal action by the insurance commissioner pursuant to the authority provided in Title 48 RCW.

A rural health care service arrangement which comes into compliance with Title 48 RCW through the method outlined in this act shall be subject to all applicable requirements of Title 48 RCW except that the deposit requirements shall not be increased until May 1, 1991.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 24. The insurance commissioner, pursuant to chapter 34.05 RCW, may promulgate rules to implement sections 22 and 23 of this act.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 25. The sum of forty-nine thousand dollars, or as much thereof as may be necessary, is appropriated for the biennium ending June 30, 1991, from the general fund to the insurance commissioner for the purposes of section 21 of this act.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 26. This act is necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health, or safety, or support of the state government and its existing public institutions, and shall take effect immediately.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 27. Sections 20 through 23 of this act shall constitute a new chapter in Title 48 RCW.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 28. Any additional expenditures incurred by the University of Washington from provisions of this act shall be funded from existing financial resources.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 29. Sections 1 through 8, 10 through 17, 19 and 28 of this act shall constitute a new chapter in Title 70 RCW.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 30. If specific funding for the purposes of this act, referencing this act by bill number, is not provided by June 30, 1990, in the omnibus appropriations act, this act shall be null and void."

SSB 6447 Prime Sponsor, Committee on Energy & Utilities: Regarding failing public water systems. Reported by Committee on Energy & Utilities

MAJORITY recommendation: Do pass with the following amendments:

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

"NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. The legislature finds the best interests of the citizens of the state are served if:

(1) Customers served by public water systems are assured of an adequate quantity and quality of water supply at reasonable rates;

(2) There is improved coordination between state agencies engaged in water system planning and public health regulation and local governments responsible for land use regulation and public health and safety;

(3) Public water systems in violation of health and safety standards adopted under RCW 43.20.050 remain in operation and continue providing water service providing that public health is not compromised, assuming a suitable replacement purveyor is found and deficiencies are corrected in an expeditious manner consistent with public health and safety; and

(4) The state address, in a systematic and comprehensive fashion, new operating requirements which will be imposed on public water systems under the federal Safe Drinking Water Act.

Sec. 2. Section 14, chapter 72, Laws of 1967 as amended by section 2, chapter 188, Laws of 1975 1st ex. sess. and RCW 36.94.140 are each amended to read as follows:

Every county, in the operation of a system of sewerage and/or water, shall have full jurisdiction and authority to manage, regulate and control it and to fix, alter, regulate and control the rates and charges for the service to those to whom such county service is available, and to levy charges for connection to such system. The rates for availability of service and connection charges so charged must be uniform for the same class of customers or service.

In classifying customers served, service furnished or made available by such system of sewerage and/or water, or the connection charges, the board may consider any or all of the following factors:

(1) The difference in cost of service to the various customers within or without the area;

(2) The difference in cost of maintenance, operation, repair and replacement of the various parts of the systems;

(3) The different character of the service furnished various customers;

(4) The quantity and quality of the sewage and/or water delivered and the time of its delivery;

(5) Capital contributions made to the system or systems, including, but not limited to, assessments: ~~((and))~~

(6) The cost of acquiring the system or portions of the system in making system improvements necessary for the public health and safety; and

(7) Any other matters which present a reasonable difference as a ground for distinction.

Such rates shall produce revenues sufficient to take care of the costs of maintenance and operation, revenue bond and warrant interest and principal amortization requirements, and all other charges necessary for the efficient and proper operation of the system.

Sec. 3. Section 5, chapter 102, Laws of 1967 ex. sess. as last amended by section 258, chapter 9, Laws of 1989 1st ex. sess. and RCW 43.70.190 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) The secretary of health or local health officer may bring an action to enjoin a violation or the threatened violation of any of the provisions of the public health laws of this state or any rules or regulation made by the state board of health or the department of health pursuant to said laws, or may bring any legal proceeding authorized by law, including but not limited to the special proceedings authorized in Title 7 RCW, in the superior court in the county in which such violation occurs or is about to occur, or in the superior court of Thurston county. Upon the filing of any action, the court may, upon a showing of an immediate and serious danger to residents constituting an emergency, issue a temporary injunctive order ex parte.

(2) In an action brought by the secretary of health or by a local health officer under chapter 7.60 RCW, the petition for receivership shall include the names of one or more suitable candidates for receiver who have consented to assume operation of the water system. The department shall maintain a list of interested and qualified individuals, municipal entities, special purpose districts, and investor-owned water companies with experience in the provision of water service and a history of satisfactory operation of a water system. If there is no other person willing and able to be named as receiver, the court shall appoint the county in which the water system is located as receiver. The county may designate a county agency to operate the system, or it may contract with another individual or public water system to provide management for the system. If the county is appointed as receiver, the secretary of health and the county health officer shall provide regulatory oversight for the agency or other person responsible for managing the water system.

(3) In any petition for receivership, the department shall recommend that the court grant to the receiver full authority to act in the best interests of the customers served by the public water system. The receiver shall assess the capability, in conjunction with the department and local government, for the system to operate in compliance with health and safety standards, and shall report to the court its recommendations for the system's future operation, including the formation of a water district or other public entity, or ownership by another existing water system capable of providing service.

If a petition for receivership and verifying affidavit executed by an appropriate departmental official allege an immediate and serious danger to residents constituting an emergency, the court shall set the matter for hearing within three days and may appoint a temporary receiver ex parte upon the strength of such petition and affidavit pending a full evidentiary hearing, which shall be held within fourteen days after receipt of the petition.

(4) A bond, if any is imposed upon a receiver, shall be minimal and shall reasonably relate to the level of operating revenue generated by the system. Any receiver appointed pursuant to this section shall not be held personally liable for any good faith, reasonable effort to assume possession of, and to operate, the system in compliance with the court's orders.

(5) The court shall authorize the receiver to impose reasonable assessments on a water system's customers to recover expenditures for improvements necessary for the public health and safety.

Sec. 4. Section 6, chapter 102, Laws of 1967 ex. sess. as last amended by section 259, chapter 9, Laws of 1989 1st ex. sess. and RCW 43.70.200 are each amended to read as follows:

Upon the request of a local health officer, the secretary of health is hereby authorized and empowered to take legal action to enforce the public health laws and rules and regulations of the state board of health or local rules and regulations within the jurisdiction served by the local health department, and may institute any civil legal proceeding authorized by the laws of the state of Washington, including a proceeding under Title 7 RCW.

Sec. 5. Section 12, chapter 446, Laws of 1985 as last amended by section 3, chapter 93, Laws of 1988 and RCW 43.155.070 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) To qualify for loans or pledges under this chapter the board must determine that a local government meets all of the following conditions:

(a) The city or county must be imposing a tax under chapter 82.46 RCW at a rate of at least one-quarter of one percent;

(b) The local government must have developed a long-term plan for financing public works needs; and

(c) The local government must be using all local revenue sources which are reasonably available for funding public works, taking into consideration local employment and economic factors.

(2) The board shall develop a priority process for public works projects as provided in this section. The intent of the priority process is to maximize the value of public works projects accomplished with assistance under this chapter. The board shall attempt to assure a geographical balance in assigning priorities to projects. The board shall consider at least the following factors in assigning a priority to a project:

(a) Whether the local government receiving assistance has experienced severe fiscal distress resulting from natural disaster or emergency public works needs;

(b) Whether the project is critical in nature and would affect the health and safety of a great number of citizens;

(c) The cost of the project compared to the size of the local government and amount of loan money available;

(d) The number of communities served by or funding the project;

(e) Whether the project is located in an area of high unemployment, compared to the average state unemployment: ~~((amd))~~

(f) Whether the project is the acquisition, expansion, improvement, or renovation by a local government of a public water system that is in violation of health and safety standards, including the cost of extending existing service to such a system; and

(g) Other criteria that the board considers advisable.

(3) Existing debt or financial obligations of local governments shall not be refinanced under this chapter. Each local government applicant shall provide documentation of attempts to secure additional local or other sources of funding for each public works project for which financial assistance is sought under this chapter.

(4) Before November 1 of each year, the board shall develop and submit to the chairs of the ways and means committees of the senate and house of representatives a description of the emergency loans made under RCW 43.155.065 during the preceding fiscal year and a prioritized list of projects which are recommended for funding by the legislature, including one copy to the staff of each of the committees. The list shall include, but not be limited to, a description of each project and recommended financing, the terms and conditions of the loan or financial guarantee, the local government jurisdiction and unemployment rate, demonstration of the jurisdiction's critical need for the project and documentation of local funds being used to finance the public works project. The list shall also include measures of fiscal capacity for each jurisdiction recommended for financial assistance, compared to authorized limits and state averages, including local government sales taxes; real estate excise taxes; property taxes; and charges for or taxes on sewerage, water, garbage, and other utilities.

(5) The board shall not sign contracts or otherwise financially obligate funds from the public works assistance account before the legislature has appropriated funds for a specific list of public works projects. The legislature may remove projects from the list recommended by the board. The legislature shall not change the order of the priorities recommended for funding by the board.

(6) Subsections (4) and (5) of this section do not apply to loans made for emergency public works projects under RCW 43.155.065.

Sec. 6. Section 1, chapter 93, Laws of 1988 and RCW 43.155.065 are each amended to read as follows:

The board may make low-interest or interest-free loans to local governments for emergency public works projects. Emergency public works projects shall include the construction, repair, reconstruction, replacement, rehabilitation, or improvement of a public water system that is in violation of health and safety standards and is being operated by a local government on a temporary basis. The loans may be used to help fund all or part of an emergency public works project less any reimbursement from any of the following sources: (1) Federal disaster or emergency funds, including funds from the federal emergency management agency; (2) state disaster or emergency funds; (3) insurance settlements; or (4) litigation. Emergency loans may be made only from those funds specifically appropriated from the public works assistance account for such purpose by the legislature. The amount appropriated from the public works assistance account for emergency loan purposes shall not exceed five percent of the total amount appropriated from this account in any biennium.

Sec. 7. Section 4, chapter 271, Laws of 1986 as amended by section 135, chapter 175, Laws of 1989 and RCW 70.119A.040 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) In addition to or as an alternative to any other penalty provided by law, every person who commits any of the acts or omissions in RCW 70.119A.030 shall be subjected to a penalty in an amount of not less than five hundred dollars. The maximum penalty shall be not more than five thousand dollars per day for every such violation. Every such violation shall be a separate and distinct offense. The amount of fine shall reflect the health significance of the violation and the previous record of compliance on the part of the public water supplier. In case of continuing violation, every day's continuance shall be a separate and distinct violation. Every person who, through an act of commission or omission, procures, aids, or abets in the violation shall be considered to have violated the provisions of this section and shall be subject to the penalty provided in this section.

(2) The penalty provided for in this section shall be imposed by a notice in writing to the person against whom the civil fine is assessed and shall describe the violation. The notice shall be personally served in the manner of service of a summons in a civil action or in a manner that shows proof of receipt. A penalty imposed by this section is due twenty-eight days after receipt of notice unless application for remission or mitigation is made as provided in subsection (3) of this section or unless application for an adjudicative proceeding is filed as provided in subsection (4) of this section.

(3) Within fourteen days after the notice is received, the person incurring the penalty may apply in writing to the department for the remission or mitigation of such penalty. Upon receipt of the application, the department may remit or mitigate the penalty upon whatever terms the department in its discretion deems proper, giving consideration to the degree of hazard associated with the violation, provided the department deems such remission or mitigation to be in the best interests of carrying out the purposes of this chapter. The department shall not mitigate the fines below the minimum penalty prescribed in subsection (1) of this section. The department shall have authority to ascertain the facts regarding all such applications in such reasonable manner as it may deem proper. When an application for remission on mitigation is made, a penalty incurred under this section is due twenty-eight days after receipt of the notice setting forth the disposition of the application, unless an application for an adjudicative proceeding to contest the disposition is filed as provided in subsection (4) of this section.

(4) Within twenty-eight days after notice is received, the person incurring the penalty may file an application for an adjudicative proceeding and may pursue subsequent review as provided in chapter 34.05 RCW and applicable rules of the department or board of health.

(5) A penalty imposed by a final order after an adjudicative proceeding is due upon service of the final order.

(6) The attorney general may bring an action in the name of the department in the superior court of Thurston county, or of any county in which such violator may do business, to collect a penalty.

(7) All penalties imposed under this section shall be payable to the state treasury and credited to the general fund.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 8. A new section is added to chapter 8.25 RCW to read as follows:

Consistent with standard appraisal practices, the valuation of a public water system as defined in RCW 70.119A.020 shall reflect the cost of system improvements necessary to comply with health and safety rules of the state board of health and applicable regulations developed under chapter 43.20, 43.20A, or 70.116 RCW.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 9. A new section is added to chapter 82.08 RCW to read as follows:

Such a report shall be prepared in consultation with the utilities and transportation commission, the department of community development, department of ecology, public works assistance board, and associations of cities, counties, public and private utilities, water districts, local health directors, and other interested groups. SSB 6473 Prime Sponsor, Committee on Law & Justice: Changing conditions applying to the sale of products of correctional industries. Reported by Committee on Health Care

MAJORITY recommendation: Do pass with the following amendments:

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

"Sec. 1, Section 11, chapter 136, Laws of 1981 as last amended by section 7, chapter 185, Laws of 1989 and RCW 72.09.100 are each amended to read as follows:

It is the intent of the legislature to vest in the department the power to provide for a comprehensive inmate work program and to remove statutory and other restrictions which have limited work programs in the past. For purposes of establishing such a comprehensive program, the legislature recommends that the department consider adopting any or all, or any variation of, the following classes of work programs:

(1) CLASS I: FREE VENTURE INDUSTRIES. The industries in this class shall be operated and managed in total or in part by any profit or nonprofit organization pursuant to an agreement between the organization and the department. The organization shall produce goods or services for sale to both the public and private sector.

The department of corrections shall supply appropriate security and custody services without charge to the participating firms.

Inmates who work in free venture industries shall do so at their own choice. They shall be paid a wage not less than sixty percent of the approximate prevailing wage within the state for the occupation, as determined by the director of the correctional industries division. If the director finds that he cannot reasonably determine the wage, then the pay shall not be less than the federal minimum wage.

(2) CLASS II: TAX REDUCTION INDUSTRIES. Industries in this class shall be state-owned and operated enterprises designed to reduce the costs for goods and services for tax-supported agencies and for nonprofit organizations. The industries selected for development within this class shall, as much as possible, match the available pool of inmate work skills and aptitudes with the work opportunities in the free community. The industries shall be closely patterned after private sector industries but with the objective of reducing public support costs rather than making a profit. The products and services of this industry, including purchased products and services necessary for a complete product line, may be sold to public agencies ~~((and)), to nonprofit organizations~~~~(-PROVIDED-That)),~~ and to private contractors when the goods purchased will be ultimately used by a public agency or a nonprofit organization. Clothing manufactured by an industry in this class may be donated to nonprofit organizations that provide clothing free of charge to low-income persons. Correctional industries products and services shall be reviewed by the correctional industries board of directors before offering such products and services for sale to private contractors. The board of directors shall conduct a yearly marketing review of the products and services offered under this subsection. Such review shall include an analysis of the potential impact of the proposed products and services on the Washington state business community. To avoid waste or spoilage and consequent loss to the state, when there is no public sector market for such goods, byproducts and surpluses of timber, agricultural, and animal husbandry enterprises may be sold to private persons, at private sale. Surplus by-products and surpluses of timber, agricultural and animal husbandry enterprises that cannot be sold to public agencies or to private persons may be donated to nonprofit organizations. All sales of surplus products shall be carried out in accordance with rules prescribed by the secretary.

Security and custody services shall be provided without charge by the department of corrections.

Inmates working in this class of industries shall do so at their own choice and shall be paid for their work on a gratuity scale which shall not exceed the federal minimum wage and which is approved by the director of correctional industries.

(3) CLASS III: INSTITUTIONAL SUPPORT INDUSTRIES. Industries in this class shall be operated by the department of corrections. They shall be designed and managed to accomplish the following objectives:

(a) Whenever possible, to provide basic work training and experience so that the inmate will be able to qualify for better work both within correctional industries and the free community. It is not intended that an inmate's work within this class of industries should be his or her final and total work experience as an inmate.

(b) Whenever possible, to provide forty hours of work or work training per week.

(c) Whenever possible, to offset tax and other public support costs.

Supervising, management, and custody staff shall be employees of the department.

All able and eligible inmates who are assigned work and who are not working in other classes of industries shall work in this class.

Except for inmates who work in work training programs, inmates in this class shall be paid for their work in accordance with an inmate gratuity scale. The scale shall be adopted by the secretary of corrections.

(4) CLASS IV: COMMUNITY WORK INDUSTRIES. Industries in this class shall be operated by the department of corrections. They shall be designed and managed to provide services in the inmate's resident community at a reduced cost. The services shall be provided to public agencies, to persons who are poor or infirm, or to nonprofit organizations.

Inmates in this program shall reside in facilities owned by, contracted for, or licensed by the department of corrections. A unit of local government shall provide work supervision services without charge to the state and shall pay the inmate's wage.

The department of corrections shall reimburse participating units of local government for liability and workers compensation insurance costs.

Inmates who work in this class of industries shall do so at their own choice and shall receive a gratuity which shall not exceed the minimum wage for their work.

(5) CLASS V: COMMUNITY SERVICE PROGRAMS. Programs in this class shall be subject to supervision by the department of corrections. The purpose of this class of industries is to enable an offender, placed on community supervision, to work off all or part of a community service order as ordered by the sentencing court.

Employment shall be in a community service program operated by the state, local units of government, or a nonprofit agency.

To the extent that funds are specifically made available for such purposes, the department of corrections shall reimburse nonprofit agencies for workers compensation insurance costs.

NEW SECTION, Sec. 2. The department of corrections, in conjunction with representatives of labor and the business community, shall study the expansion of prison industries products to the private sector and report to the senate law and justice and house of representatives health care committees by January 1, 1991."

ESSB 6501 Prime Sponsor, Committee on Agriculture: Creating a central filing system for security interests in farm crops. Reported by Committee on Judiciary

MAJORITY recommendation: Do pass with the following amendments:

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

"NEW SECTION, Sec. 1. The availability of credit is vital for agriculture. For that reason, the legislature has traditionally promoted the availability of agricultural credit. The legislature finds that lenders lack a uniformly effective means of providing notice of a lender's security interest in farm products to purchasers of the products. The legislature further finds that purchasers lack any practical method for discovering the existence of security interests in farm products.

Accordingly, it is the intent of the legislature to promote the development of a central filing system as provided in 7 U.S.C. Sec. 1631(c)(11) and to encourage private businesses to provide for expeditious discovery of liens and security interests in farm products.

Sec. 2. Section 9-307, chapter 157, Laws of 1965 ex. sess. as last amended by section 15, chapter 393, Laws of 1987 and RCW 62A.9-307 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) A buyer in ordinary course of business (subsection (9) of RCW 62A.1-201) other than a person buying farm products from a person engaged in farming operations takes free of a security interest created by his seller even though the security interest is perfected and even though the buyer knows of its existence.

(2) A buyer who in the ordinary course of business buys farm products from a person engaged in farming operations buys and takes free of a security interest created by his or her seller, and a commission merchant or selling agent who in the ordinary course of business sells farm products for a person engaged in farming operations buys, takes, and sells free of a security interest created by his or her seller, even though the security interest is perfected and the buyer, commission merchant, or selling agent knows of the existence of such interest if:

(a) The buyer, commission merchant, or selling agent has registered with the department of licensing pursuant to RCW 62A.9-407(4); and

(i) The secured party has not filed an effective farm products notice statement with the department of licensing pursuant to RCW 62A.9-402(9); or

(ii) Such buyer, commission merchant, or selling agent does not receive from the department of licensing written notice that specifies the seller and farm product pursuant to RCW 62A.9-407(3), (5), and (6); or

(b) The secured party has not filed an effective farm products notice statement pursuant to RCW 62A.9-402(9) and the buyer, commission merchant, or selling agent has not received within one year before the sale from the secured party or seller written notice of the security interest containing:

(i) The name and address of the secured party;

(ii) The name and address of the debtor;

(iii) The social security number of the debtor or, in the case of a debtor doing business other than as an individual, the debtor's federal internal revenue service taxpayer identification number;

(iv) A description by category of the farm products subject to the security interest, including the amount of such products, if applicable;

(v) The crop year;

(vi) The county or counties where the farm products are produced or located and, if less than all of such farm products in a county are claimed, a reasonable description of the real property; and

(vii) Any payment obligations imposed by the secured party as a condition for waiver or release of the security interest;

The notice described in this subsection (b) must be amended in writing within three months and similarly signed and transmitted, to reflect material changes; or

(c) The buyer, commission merchant, or selling agent has obtained a waiver from the secured party by performing any payment obligation or otherwise.

(3) In the case of consumer goods, a buyer takes free of a security interest even though perfected if he buys without knowledge of the security interest, for value and for his own personal, family or household purposes unless prior to the purchase the secured party has filed a financing statement covering such goods.

~~((3))~~ (4) A buyer other than a buyer in ordinary course of business (subsection (1) of this section) takes free of a security interest to the extent that it secures future advances made after the secured party acquires knowledge of the purchase, unless made pursuant to a commitment entered into without knowledge of the purchase.

Sec. 3. Section 9-402, chapter 157, Laws of 1965 ex. sess. as last amended by section 2, chapter 251, Laws of 1989 and RCW 62A.9-402 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) A financing statement is sufficient if it gives the names of the debtor and the secured party, is signed by the debtor, gives an address of the secured party from which information concerning the security interest may be obtained, gives a mailing address of the debtor and contains a statement indicating the types, or describing the items, of collateral. A financing statement may be filed before a security agreement is made or a security interest otherwise attaches. When the financing statement covers timber to be cut or covers minerals or the like (including oil and gas) or accounts subject to subsection (5) of RCW 62A.9-103, or when the financing statement is filed as a fixture filing (RCW 62A.9-313) and the collateral is goods which are or are to become fixtures, the statement must also comply with subsection (5). A copy of the security agreement is sufficient as a financing statement if it contains the above information and is signed by the debtor. A carbon, photographic or other reproduction of a security agreement or a financing statement is sufficient as a financing statement if the security agreement so provides or if the original has been filed in this state.

(2) A financing statement which otherwise complies with subsection (1) is sufficient when it is signed by the secured party instead of the debtor if it is filed to perfect a security interest in

(a) collateral already subject to a security interest in another jurisdiction when it is brought into this state or when the debtor's location is changed to this state. Such a financing statement must state that the collateral was brought into this state or that the debtor's location was changed to this state under such circumstances; or

(b) proceeds under RCW 62A.9-306 if the security interest in the original collateral was perfected. Such a financing statement must describe the original collateral; or

(c) collateral as to which the filing has lapsed; or

(d) collateral acquired after a change of name, identity or corporate structure of the debtor (subsection (7)).

(3) A form substantially as follows is sufficient to comply with subsection (1):

Address

Name of secured party (or assignee)

Address

1. This financing statement covers the following types (or items) of property:

(Describe)

2. (If applicable) The above goods are to become fixtures on* and this financing statement is to be filed for record in the real estate records. (If the debtor does not have an interest of record) The name of a record owner is

*Where appropriate substitute either "The above timber is standing on

' or "The above minerals or the like (including oil and gas) or accounts will be financed at the wellhead or minehead of the well or mine located on

3. (If products of collateral are claimed)

Products of the collateral are also covered

(use

whichever Signature of Debtor (or Assignor)

applicable) Signature of Secured Party (or Assignee)

(4) A financing statement may be amended by filing a writing signed by both the debtor and the secured party: PROVIDED, That a secured party may amend a financing statement without the signature of the debtor when the amendment is to change the address or name of the secured party. An amendment does not extend the period of effectiveness of a financing statement. If any amendment adds collateral, it is effective as to the added collateral only from the filing date of the amendment. In this Article, unless the context otherwise requires, the term 'financing statement' means the original financing statement and any amendments. The fee for filing an amendment shall be the same as the fee for filing a financing statement.

(5) A financing statement covering timber to be cut or covering minerals or the like (including oil and gas) or accounts subject to subsection (5) of RCW 62A.9-103, or a financing statement filed as a fixture filing (RCW 62A.9-313) where the debtor is not a transmitting utility, must show that it covers this type of collateral, must recite that it is to be filed for record in the real estate records, and the financing statement must contain a description of the real estate sufficient if it were contained in a mortgage of the real estate to give constructive notice of the mortgage under the law of this state. If the debtor does not have an interest of record in the real estate, the financing statement must show the name of a record owner.

(6) A mortgage is effective as a financing statement filed as a fixture filing from the date of its recording if (a) the goods are described in the mortgage by item or type, (b) the goods are or are to become fixtures related to the real estate described in the mortgage, (c) the mortgage complies with the requirements for a financing statement in this section other than a recital that it is to be filed in the real estate records, and (d) the mortgage is duly recorded. No fee with reference to the financing statement is required other than the regular recording and satisfaction fees with respect to the mortgage.

(7) A financing statement sufficiently shows the name of the debtor if it gives the individual, partnership or corporate name of the debtor, whether or not it adds other trade names or the names of partners. Where the debtor so changes his name or in the case of an organization its name, identity or corporate structure that a filed financing statement becomes seriously misleading, the filing is not effective to perfect a security interest in collateral acquired by the debtor more than four months after the change, unless a new appropriate financing statement or an amendment is filed before the expiration of that time. A filed financing statement remains effective with respect to collateral transferred by the debtor even though the secured party knows of or consents to the transfer.

(8) A financing statement substantially complying with the requirements of this section is effective even though it contains minor errors which are not seriously misleading.

(9) Written notice of a security interest in farm products is sufficient for purposes of being filed in the system described in RCW 62A.9-407 (3) through (8) and shall, for purposes of such sections, be called an 'effective farm products notice statement' if it contains the following information:

(a) The name and address of the debtor;

(b) The debtor's signature;

(c) The name, address, and signature of the secured party;

(d) The social security number of the debtor, or in the case of a debtor doing business other than as an individual, the debtor's federal internal revenue service taxpayer identification number;

(e) A description by category (as prescribed by rule pursuant to RCW 62A.9-407(3)) of the farm products subject to the security interest including the amount of such products if applicable;

(f) A reasonable description of the real estate where the farm products are produced or located. This provision may be satisfied by a designation of the county or counties, and a legal description shall not be required.

(10) An effective farm products notice statement described in subsection (9) of this section must be amended in writing within three months, and similarly signed and filed, to reflect any material changes.

(11) If a secured party fails to file a termination statement within ten days after proper demand for the statement, the secured party is liable to the debtor for one hundred dollars, and in addition for any loss caused to the debtor by the failure.

Sec. 4. Section 9-407, chapter 157, Laws of 1965 ex. sess. as last amended by section 5, chapter 189, Laws of 1987 and RCW 62A.9-407 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) If the person filing any financing statement, termination statement, statement of assignment, or statement of release, furnishes the filing officer a copy thereof, the filing officer shall upon request note upon the copy the file number and date and hour of the filing of the original and deliver or send the copy to such person.

(2) Upon request of any person following payment of the required fees, the department of licensing shall issue its certificate showing whether there is on file with the department of licensing on the date and hour stated therein, any presently effective financing statement naming a particular debtor and any statement of assignment thereof and if there is, giving the date and hour of filing of each such statement and the names and addresses of each secured party therein. Upon request and following payment of the required fees, the department of licensing shall issue its certificate and shall furnish a copy of any filed financing statements or statements of assignment.

(3) The department of licensing shall develop and, following certification by the United States department of agriculture, implement a central filing system containing the information filed with it pursuant to RCW 62A.9-402(9). Under this system, the department shall record the date and time of filing and compile the information into a master list organized according to categories of farm products. The list shall be organized within each farm product category in alphabetical order according to the last name of the debtor (or, in the case of debtors doing business other than as individuals, the first word in the name of such debtor). The list shall be further organized according to and contain information required by federal law and regulation. The department shall, by rule adopted pursuant to chapter 34.05 RCW, designate the categories of farm products to be used in compiling the master list. The department may establish and maintain, by rule, a separate system for filing farm products notice statements and search, retrieval, and dissemination of information relating to effective farm products notice statements, and may require separate search requests for such information pursuant to a fee schedule to be established by rule.

(4) The department of licensing shall maintain a list of all buyers of farm products, commission merchants, selling agents, and other persons who register with the department indicating an interest in receiving the lists described in subsection (5) of this section.

(5) The department of licensing shall distribute complete master lists for each farm product category at least quarterly to each buyer, commission merchant, selling agent, and other person registered under subsection (4) of this section and distribute either complete lists or cumulative supplements, which supplements shall be issued not less frequently than twice monthly, of effective farm products notice statements filed subsequent to the last date of filing for effective farm products notice statements on the last preceding quarterly master list, which the buyer, commission merchant, or selling agent has requested. The buyer, commission merchant, or selling agent shall be deemed to have received the lists and supplements no later than the third calendar day following the date of mailing by the department or in the event the mail is not delivered on that day, the first day thereafter on which mail is delivered.

(6) Upon the request of any person not registered pursuant to RCW 62A.9-407(4), the department of licensing shall provide, within twenty-four hours, an oral confirmation of the filing of the notice described in RCW 62A.9-402(9) followed by a written confirmation.

(7) Upon request of any person and payment of such fees as may be established by the department by rule, the department shall furnish copies of particular filed effective farm products notice statements or statements of assignment if the requestor provides the department with the file numbers of the statement to be copied.

(8) The department of licensing shall establish a fee schedule by rule for registration and listing of buyers of farm products, commission merchants, and selling agents of farm products and for distribution of master lists and supplements of master lists and information and oral confirmation of filing as required by RCW 62A.9-407. The fee for registration of buyers of farm products shall not exceed fifty dollars.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 5. To encourage private enterprise, the department of licensing may appoint an agent or agents to develop, implement, and/or maintain a central filing system in compliance with this chapter: PROVIDED, That any such agent or agents must meet such financial responsibility standards as the department may require and further that the appointment of an agent or agents will facilitate the cost-effective operation of the department's responsibilities under this chapter. The department shall adopt any rules necessary for the implementation of this section.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 6. No suit or action shall ever be commenced or prosecuted against the director or the state of Washington by reason of any act done or omitted to be done by any agent appointed under section 5 of this act in the administration of the duties and responsibilities of the agent.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 7. All rules adopted under the provisions of this chapter are subject to the provisions of chapter 34.05 RCW concerning the adoption of rules. The department of licensing shall issue regulations requiring the master lists distributed to registrants to include a listing of statutory crop liens filed with the department.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 8. The central filing system program fund is created in the custody of the state treasurer. All receipts from the fees collected by the director under this chapter and RCW 62A.9-409(1) shall be deposited into the fund. Expenditures from the fund may be used only for the purposes of this act. Only the director of licensing or the director's designee may authorize expenditures from the fund. The fund is subject to allotment procedures under chapter 43.88 RCW, but no appropriation is required for expenditures.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 9. Sections 5 through 8 of this act are each added to chapter 62A.9 RCW.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 10. The sum of one hundred six thousand dollars, or as much thereof as may be necessary, is appropriated for the biennium ending June 30, 1991, from the general fund to the department of licensing for the purposes of this act.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 11. This act shall take effect July 1, 1991. The director of licensing may immediately take such steps as are necessary to ensure that this act is implemented on its effective date."

E2SSB 6537 Prime Sponsor, Committee on Ways & Means: Providing for foster care reform and making appropriations. Reported by Committee on Human Services

MAJORITY recommendation: Do pass with the following amendments:

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. The legislature finds that the foster care system plays an important role in preserving families and giving consistent and nurturing care to children placed in its care. The legislature further finds that foster parents play an integral and important role in the system and particularly in the child's chances for the earliest possible reunification with his or her family.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. (1) Preservice training is recognized as a valuable tool to reduce placement disruptions, the length of time children are in care, and foster parent turnover rates. Preservice training also assists potential foster parents in making their final decisions about foster parenting and assists social service agencies in obtaining information about whether to approve potential foster parents.

(2) Foster parent preservice training shall include information about the potential impact of placement on foster children; social service agency administrative processes; the requirements, responsibilities, expectations, and skills needed to be a foster parent; attachment, separation, and loss issues faced by birth parents, foster children, and foster parents; child management and discipline; birth family relationships; and helping children leave foster care. Preservice training shall assist applicants in making informed decisions about whether they want to be foster parents. Preservice training shall be designed to enable the agency to assess the ability, readiness, and appropriateness of families to be foster parents. As a decision tool, effective preservice training provides potential foster parents with enough information to make an appropriate decision, affords potential foster parents an opportunity to discuss their decision with others and consider its implications for their family, clarifies foster family expectations, presents a realistic picture of what foster parenting involves, and allows potential foster parents to consider and explore the different types of children they might serve.

(3) Preservice training shall be completed prior to the issuance of a foster care license, except that the department may, on a case by case basis, issue a written waiver that allows the foster parent to complete the training after licensure, so long as the training is completed within ninety days following licensure.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. If specific funding for the purposes of section 2 of this act, referencing section 2 of this act by bill and section number, is not provided by June 30, 1990, in the omnibus appropriations act, section 2 of this act shall be null and void.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4. Regular on-site monitoring of foster homes to assure quality care improves care provided to children in family foster care. An on-site monitoring program shall be established by the department to assure quality care and regularly identify problem areas. The department shall report to the legislature by June 1 of each year, beginning with June 1, 1991, the results of the monitoring, including identified problem areas, and make policy recommendations to improve the quality of foster care based on the results of the monitoring. Monitoring shall be done by the department on a random sample basis of no less than ten percent of the total licensed family foster homes licensed by the department on July 1 of each year.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 5. If specific funding for the purposes of section 4 of this act, referencing section 4 of this act by bill and section number, is not provided by June 30, 1990, in the omnibus appropriations act, section 4 of this act shall be null and void.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 6. The legislature finds that regular and ongoing program review of child protective services, child welfare services, and foster care is essential to agencies and the legislature in making informed recommendations and decisions regarding policy in the delivery of services to children and their families. The department of social and health services shall contract, through the request for proposal process, with an independent qualified organization for a comprehensive evaluation of these programs. The evaluation shall be based on findings secured through a generally accepted audit procedure based on a statistically significant state-wide sampling of data. The department shall cooperate with the contractor to meet the requirements of this section.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 7. If specific funding for the purposes of section 6 of this act, referencing section 6 of this act by bill and section number, is not provided by June 30, 1990, in the omnibus appropriations act, section 6 of this act shall be null and void.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 8. The legislature recognizes the need for temporary short-term relief for foster parents who care for children with emotional, mental, or physical handicaps. For purposes of this section, respite care means appropriate, temporary, short-term care for these foster children placed with licensed foster parents. The purpose of this care is to give the foster parents temporary relief from the stresses associated with the care of these foster children. The department shall design a program of respite care that will minimize disruptions to the child and will serve foster parents within these priorities, based on input from foster parents, foster parent associations, and reliable research if available.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 9. If specific funding for the purposes of section 8 of this act, referencing section 8 of this act by bill and section number, is not provided by June 30, 1990, in the omnibus appropriations act, section 8 of this act shall be null and void.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 10. (1) Except as provided in RCW 70.24.105, whenever a child is placed in out-of-home care by the department or a child-placing agency, the department or agency may share information about the child and the child's family with the care provider and may consult with the care provider regarding the child's case plan.

(2) Any person who receives information about a child or a child's family pursuant to this section shall keep the information confidential and shall not further disclose or disseminate the information except as authorized by law.

(3) Nothing in this section shall be construed to limit the authority of the department or child-placing agencies to disclose client information or to maintain client confidentiality as provided by law.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 11. To provide stability to children in out-of-home care, placement selection shall be made with a view toward the fewest possible placements for each child. If possible, the initial placement shall be viewed as the only placement for the child. The use of short-term interim placements of thirty days or less to protect the child's health or safety while the placement of choice is being arranged is not a violation of this principle.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 12. (1) Whenever a child has been placed in a foster family home by the department or a child-placing agency and the child has thereafter resided in the home for at least ninety consecutive days, the department or child-placing agency shall notify the foster family at least five days prior to moving the child to another placement, unless:

- (a) A court order has been entered requiring an immediate change in placement;
- (b) The child is being returned home;
- (c) The child's safety is in jeopardy; or
- (d) The child is residing in a receiving home or a group home.

(2) If the child has resided in a foster family home for less than ninety days or if, due to one or more of the circumstances in subsection (1) of this section, it is not possible to give five days' notification, the department or child-placing agency shall notify the foster family of proposed placement changes as soon as reasonably possible.

(3) This section is intended solely to assist in minimizing disruption to the child in changing foster care placements. Nothing in this section shall be construed to require that a court hearing be held prior to changing a child's foster care placement nor to create any substantive custody rights in the foster parents.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 13. Adequate foster parent training has been identified as directly associated with increasing the length of time foster parents are willing to provide foster care and reducing the number of placement disruptions for children. Placement disruptions can be harmful to children by denying them consistent and nurturing support. Foster parents have expressed the desire to receive training in addition to the foster parent SCOPE training currently offered. Foster parents who care for more demanding children, such as children with severe emotional, mental, or physical handicaps, would especially benefit from additional training. The department shall develop additional training for foster parents that focuses on skills to assist foster parents in caring for emotionally, mentally, or physically handicapped children.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 14. If specific funding for the purposes of section 13 of this act, referencing section 13 of this act by bill and section number, is not provided by June 30, 1990, in the omnibus appropriations act, section 13 of this act shall be null and void.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 15. The legislature finds that during the fiscal years 1987 to 1989 the number of children in foster care has risen by 14.3 percent. At the same time there has been a 31 percent turnover rate in foster homes because many foster parents have declined to continue to care for foster children. This situation has caused a dangerously critical shortage of foster homes.

The department of social and health services shall develop and implement a project to recruit more foster homes and adoptive homes for special needs children by developing a request for proposal to licensed private foster care, licensed adoption agencies, and other organizations qualified to provide this service.

The project shall consist of one state-wide administrator of recruitment programs, and one or more licensed foster care or adoption agency contracts in each of the six departmental regions. These contracts shall enhance currently provided services and may not replace services currently funded by the agencies. No more than sixty thousand dollars may be spent annually to fund the administrator position.

The agencies shall recruit foster care homes and adoptive homes for children classified as special needs children under chapter 74.08 RCW. The agencies shall utilize their own network of contacts and shall also develop programs similar to those used effectively in other states. The department shall expand the foster-adopt program state-wide to encourage stable placements for foster children for whom permanent out-of-home placement is a likelihood. The department shall carefully consider existing programs to eliminate duplication of services.

The department shall assist the private contractors by providing printing services for informational brochures and other necessary recruitment materials. No more than fifty thousand dollars of the funds provided for this section may be expended annually for recruitment materials.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 16. (1) The department shall establish a state-wide program to manage health services for children in foster care. Services include medical and developmental services already provided subject to current statutes and available resources, and shall provide children in foster care with:

- (a) Health screening, supervision, and continuity of care;
- (b) Developmental screening;
- (c) Illness and emergency care; and
- (d) Child centered management plans designed to address specific therapeutic rehabilitative and preventative needs. Case management shall be used to ensure comprehensiveness and continuity of care.

(2) Strategies for reimbursements shall be developed which utilize prospective payment or capitation formulas.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 17. The department of social and health services shall develop and implement a survey tool to provide information to the legislature regarding the specific reasons foster parents voluntarily or involuntarily terminate their service to the foster parent system. The tool shall be implemented by July 1, 1990. The survey shall cover a period of one year and a final report shall be made to the legislature by December 1991.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 18. If specific funding for the purposes of sections 15 and 17 of this act, referencing sections 15 and 17 of this act by bill and section number, is not provided by June 30, 1990, in the omnibus appropriations act, sections 15 and 17 of this act shall be null and void.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 19. The average basic rate of reimbursement to foster parents for children placed in their care often does not cover the total cost of care. Studies have identified that increasing rates is directly related to increasing the number of available foster homes and positively influences the decision of foster parents to provide care.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 20. If specific funding for the purposes of section 19 of this act, referencing section 19 of this act by bill and section number, is not provided by June 30, 1990, in the omnibus appropriations act, section 19 of this act shall be null and void.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 21. Private child placement agencies offer a valuable service to the state. Caseloads are limited to no more than twenty-five per caseworker allowing the agencies to provide quality services. Child placement agencies are funded by a variety of public and private sources. Over the last several years, administration costs have risen in both public and private agencies.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 22. If specific funding for the purposes of section 21 of this act, referencing section 21 of this act by bill and section number, is not provided by June 30, 1990, in the omnibus appropriations act, section 21 of this act shall be null and void.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 23. Foster parents are responsible for the protection, care, supervision, and nurturing of the child in placement. As an integral part of the foster care team, foster parents shall, if appropriate and they desire to: Participate in the development of the service plan for the child and the child's family; assist in family visitation, including monitoring; and model effective parenting behavior for the natural family.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 24. A new section is added to chapter 13.32A RCW to read as follows:
In an attempt to minimize the inherent intrusion in the lives of families involved in the foster care system and to maintain parental authority where appropriate, the department, absent good cause, shall follow the wishes of the natural parent regarding the placement of the child. Preferences such as family constellation, ethnicity, and religion shall be given consideration when matching children to foster homes. Parental authority is appropriate in areas that are not connected with the abuse or neglect that resulted in the dependency and should be integrated through the foster care team.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 25. A new section is added to chapter 13.34 RCW to read as follows:
In an attempt to minimize the inherent intrusion in the lives of families involved in the foster care system and to maintain parental authority where appropriate, the department, absent good cause, shall follow the wishes of the natural parent regarding the placement of the child. Preferences such as family constellation, ethnicity, and religion shall be given consideration when matching children to foster homes. Parental authority is appropriate in areas that are not connected with the abuse or neglect that resulted in the dependency and should be integrated through the foster care team.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 26. Sections 1, 2, 4, 6, 8, 10 through 13, 15, and 16 of this act are each added to chapter 74.13 RCW.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 27. This act shall take effect July 1, 1990, however the secretary may immediately take any steps necessary to ensure implementation of section 17 of this act on July 1, 1990.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 28. The legislature recognizes the unique liability risks that foster parents face in taking children into their care and that foster parents often cannot obtain liability protection through private insurance carriers. The legislature finds that some potential foster parents are unwilling to subject themselves to such liability without insurance protection. The legislature further finds that to encourage those people to serve as foster parents, it is necessary to increase the liability protection available to foster parents.

Sec. 29. Section 7, chapter 159, Laws of 1963 as last amended by section 4, chapter 419, Laws of 1989 and RCW 4.92.130 are each amended to read as follows:

A liability account in the custody of the treasurer is hereby created as a nonappropriated account to be used solely and exclusively for the payment of liability settlements and judgments against the state under 42 U.S.C. Sec. 1981 et seq. or for the tortious conduct of its officers, employees, ((and)) volunteers, and foster parents licensed under chapter 74.15 RCW.

(1) The purpose of the liability account is to: (a) Expediently pay legal liabilities of the state resulting from tortious conduct; (b) promote risk control through a cost allocation system which recognizes agency loss experience, levels of self-retention, and levels of risk exposure; and (c) establish an actuarially sound system to pay incurred losses, within defined limits.

(2) The liability account shall be used to pay claims for injury and property damages exclusive of legal defense costs and agency-retained expenses otherwise budgeted.

(3) No money shall be paid from the liability account unless all proceeds available to the claimant from any valid and collectible liability insurance shall have been exhausted and unless:

(a) The claim shall have been reduced to final judgment in a court of competent jurisdiction; or

(b) The claim has been approved for payment.

(4) Earnings on the account's assets shall be credited to the account, notwithstanding RCW 43.84.090.

(5) The liability account shall be financed through annual premiums assessed to state agencies, based on sound actuarial principles, and shall be for liability coverage in excess of agency-budgeted self-retention levels.

(6) Annual premium levels shall be determined by the risk manager, with the consultation and advice of the risk management advisory committee and concurrence from the office of financial management. An actuarial study shall be conducted to assist in determining the appropriate level of funding.

(7) Disbursements from the liability account shall be made to the claimant, or to the clerk of the court for judgments, upon written request to the state treasurer from the risk manager.

(8) The director of the office of financial management may direct agencies to transfer moneys from other funds and accounts to the liability account if premiums are delinquent.

(9) The liability account shall not exceed fifty percent of the actuarial value of the outstanding liability, as determined annually by the office of risk management. If the account exceeds the maximum amount specified in this section, premiums may be adjusted by the office of risk management in order to maintain the account balance at the maximum limits. If, after adjustment of premiums, the account balance remains above the limits specified, the excess amount will be prorated back to the appropriate funds.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 30. If specific funding for the purpose of sections 28 and 29 of this act, referencing sections 28 and 29 of this act by bill and section numbers, is not provided by June 30, 1990, in the omnibus appropriations act, sections 28 and 29 of this act shall be null and void."

E2SSB 6538 Prime Sponsor, Committee on Ways & Means: Pertaining to termination of parental rights. Reported by Committee on Human Services

MAJORITY recommendation: Do pass with the following amendments:

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

"Sec. 1. Section 30, chapter 291, Laws of 1977 ex. sess. as amended by section 2, chapter 524, Laws of 1987 and RCW 13.34.020 are each amended to read as follows:

The legislature declares that the family unit is a fundamental resource of American life which should be nurtured. Toward the continuance of this principle, the legislature declares that the family unit should remain intact unless a child's right to conditions of basic nurture, health, or safety is jeopardized. When the rights of basic nurture, physical and mental health, and safety of the child and the legal rights of the parents are in conflict, the rights and safety of the child should prevail. The right of a child to basic nurturing includes the right to a safe, stable, and permanent home and a speedy resolution of any proceeding under this chapter.

Sec. 2. Section 17, chapter 17, Laws of 1989 1st ex. sess. and RCW 13.34.130 are each amended to read as follows:

If, after a fact-finding hearing pursuant to RCW 13.34.110, as now or hereafter amended, it has been proven by a preponderance of the evidence that the child is dependent within the meaning of RCW 13.34.030(2); after consideration of the predisposition report prepared pursuant to RCW 13.34.110 and after a disposition hearing has been held pursuant to RCW 13.34.110, the court shall enter an order of disposition pursuant to this section.

(1) The court shall order one of the following dispositions of the case:

(a) Order a disposition other than removal of the child from his or her home, which shall provide a program designed to alleviate the immediate danger to the child, to mitigate or cure any damage the child has already suffered, and to aid the parents so that the child will not be endangered in the future. In selecting a program, the court should choose those services that least interfere with family autonomy, provided that the services are adequate to protect the child.

(b) Order that the child be removed from his or her home and ordered into the custody, control, and care of a relative or the department of social and health services or a licensed child placing agency for placement in a foster family home or group care facility licensed pursuant to chapter 74.15 RCW or in a home not required to be licensed pursuant to chapter 74.15 RCW. Unless there is reasonable cause to believe that the safety or welfare of the child would be jeopardized or that efforts to reunite the parent and child will be hindered, such child shall be placed with a grandparent, brother, sister, stepbrother, stepsister, uncle, aunt, or first cousin with whom the child has a relationship and is comfortable, and who is willing and available to care for the child. An order for out-of-home placement may be made only if the court finds that reasonable efforts have been made to prevent or eliminate the need for removal of the child from the child's home and to make it possible for the child to return home and that:

(i) There is no parent or guardian available to care for such child;

~~(ii) (The child is unwilling to reside in the custody of the child's parent, guardian, or legal custodian;~~

~~(iii))~~ The parent, guardian, or legal custodian is not willing to take custody of the child;

~~((iv))~~ (iii) A manifest danger exists that the child will suffer serious abuse or neglect if the child is not removed from the home and an order under RCW 26.44.063 would not protect the child from danger; or

~~((v))~~ (iv) The extent of the child's disability is such that the parent, guardian, or legal custodian is unable to provide the necessary care for the child and the parent, guardian, or legal custodian has determined that the child would benefit from placement outside of the home.

(2) If the court has ordered a child removed from his or her home pursuant to RCW 13.34.130(1)(b), the court may order that a petition seeking termination of the parent and child relationship be filed if the court finds it is recommended by the supervising agency, that it is in the best interests of the child and that it is not reasonable to provide further services to reunify the family because the existence of aggravated circumstances make it unlikely that services will effectuate the return of the child to the child's parents in the near future. In determining whether aggravated circumstances exist, the court shall consider one or more of the following:

(a) Conviction of the parent of rape of the child in the first, second, or third degree as defined in RCW 9A.44.073, 9A.44.076, and 9A.44.079;

(b) Conviction of the parent of criminal mistreatment of the child in the first or second degree as defined in RCW 9A.42.020 and 9A.42.030;

(c) Conviction of the parent of assault of the child in the first or second degree as defined in RCW 9A.36.011 and 9A.36.021;

(d) Conviction of the parent of murder, manslaughter, or homicide by abuse of the child's other parent, sibling, or another child;

(e) A finding by a court that a parent is a sexually violent predator as defined in section 904, chapter ---, Laws of 1990 (Engrossed Second Substitute Senate Bill No. 6259);

(f) Failure of the parent to complete available treatment ordered under this chapter or the equivalent laws of another state, where such failure has resulted in a prior termination of parental rights to another child and the parent has failed to effect significant change in the interim.

(3) Whenever a child is ordered removed from the child's home, the agency charged with his or her care shall provide the court with:

(a) A permanent plan of care that may include one of the following: Return of the child to the home of the child's parent, adoption, guardianship, or long-term placement with a relative or in foster care with a written agreement.

(b) Unless the court has ordered, pursuant to RCW 13.34.130(2), that a termination petition be filed, a specific plan as to where the child will be placed, what steps will be taken to return the child home, and what actions the agency will take to maintain parent-child ties. All aspects of the plan shall include the goal of achieving permanence for the child.

~~((a))~~ (i) The agency plan shall specify what services the parents will be offered in order to enable them to resume custody, what requirements the parents must meet in order to resume custody, and a time limit for each service plan and parental requirement.

~~((b))~~ (ii) The agency shall be required to encourage the maximum parent-child contact possible, including regular visitation and participation by the parents in the care of the child while the child is in placement.

~~((c))~~ (iii) A child shall be placed as close to the child's home as possible, preferably in the child's own neighborhood, unless the court finds that placement at a greater distance is necessary to promote the child's or parents' well-being.

~~((d))~~ (iv) The agency charged with supervising a child in placement shall provide all reasonable services that are available within the agency, or within the community, or those services which the department of social and health services has existing contracts to purchase. It shall report to the court if it is unable to provide such services.

(c) If the court has ordered, pursuant to RCW 13.34.130(2), that a termination petition be filed, a specific plan as to where the child will be placed, what steps will be taken to achieve permanency for the child, services to be offered or provided to the child, and, if visitation would be in the best interests of the child, a recommendation to the court regarding visitation between parent and child pending a fact-finding hearing on the termination petition. The agency shall not be required to develop a plan of services for the parents or provide services to the parents.

~~((3))~~ (4) If there is insufficient information at the time of the disposition hearing upon which to base a determination regarding the suitability of a proposed placement with a relative, the child shall remain in foster care and the court shall direct the supervising agency to conduct necessary background investigations as provided in chapter 74.15 RCW and report the results of such investigation to the court within thirty days. However, if such relative appears otherwise suitable and competent to provide care and treatment, the criminal history background check need not be completed before placement, but as soon as possible after placement. Any placements with relatives, pursuant to this section, shall be contingent upon cooperation by the relative with the agency case plan and compliance with court orders related to the care and supervision of the child including, but not limited to, court orders regarding parent-child contacts and any other conditions imposed by the court. Noncompliance with the case plan or court order shall be grounds for removal of the child from the relative's home, subject to review by the court.

~~((4))~~ (5) The status of all children found to be dependent shall be reviewed by the court at least every six months from the beginning date of the placement episode or the date dependency is established, whichever is first, at a hearing in which it shall be determined whether court supervision should continue. The review shall include findings regarding the agency and parental completion of disposition plan requirements, and if necessary, revised permanency time limits.

(a) A child shall not be returned home at the review hearing unless the court finds that a reason for removal as set forth in this section no longer exists. The parents, guardian, or legal custodian shall report to the court the efforts they have made to correct the conditions which led to removal. If a child is returned, casework supervision shall continue for a period of six months, at which time there shall be a hearing on the need for continued intervention.

(b) If the child is not returned home, the court shall establish in writing:

(i) Whether reasonable services have been provided to or offered to the parties to facilitate reunion;

(ii) Whether the child has been placed in the least-restrictive setting appropriate to the child's needs, including whether consideration has been given to placement with the child's relatives;

(iii) Whether there is a continuing need for placement and whether the placement is appropriate;

(iv) Whether there has been compliance with the case plan by the child, the child's parents, and the agency supervising the placement;

(v) Whether progress has been made toward correcting the problems that necessitated the child's placement in out-of-home care;

(vi) Whether the parents have visited the child and any reasons why visitation has not occurred or has been infrequent;

(vii) Whether additional services are needed to facilitate the return of the child to the child's parents; if so, the court shall order that reasonable services be offered; and

(viii) The projected date by which the child will be returned home or other permanent plan of care will be implemented.

(c) The court at the review hearing may order that a petition seeking termination of the parent and child relationship be filed.

Sec. 3. Section 47, chapter 291, Laws of 1977 ex. sess. as amended by section 48, chapter 155, Laws of 1979 and RCW 13.34.190 are each amended to read as follows:

After hearings pursuant to RCW 13.34.110, the court may enter an order terminating all parental rights to a child if the court finds that:

(1) ~~((a))~~ The allegations contained in the petition as provided in RCW 13.34.180 (1) through (6) are established by clear, cogent, and convincing evidence; or ~~((b))~~

(2) RCW 13.34.180 (3) and (4) may be waived because the allegations under RCW 13.34.180 (1), (2), ~~((4))~~ (5), and (6) are established beyond a reasonable doubt; or (c) the allegation under RCW 13.34.180(7) is established beyond a reasonable doubt. In determining whether RCW 13.34.180 (5) and (6) are established beyond a reasonable doubt, the court shall consider one or more of the following:

(a) Conviction of the parent of rape of the child in the first, second, or third degree as defined in RCW 9A.44.073, 9A.44.076, and 9A.44.079;

(b) Conviction of the parent of criminal mistreatment of the child in the first or second degree as defined in RCW 9A.42.020 or 9A.42.030;

(c) Conviction of the parent of assault of the child in the first or second degree as defined in RCW 9A.36.011 and 9A.36.021;

(d) Conviction of the parent of murder, manslaughter, or homicide by abuse of the child's other parent, sibling, or another child;

(e) A finding by a court that a parent is a sexually violent predator as defined in section 904, chapter ---, Laws of 1990 (Engrossed Second Substitute Senate Bill No. 6259);

(f) Failure of the parent to complete available treatment ordered under this chapter or the equivalent laws of another state, where such failure has resulted in a prior termination of parental rights to another child and the parent has failed to effect significant change in the interim; and

~~((#))~~ (3) Such an order is in the best interests of the child.

E2SSB 6610 Prime Sponsor, Committee on Ways & Means: Revising provisions for at-risk youth. Reported by Committee on Human Services

MAJORITY recommendation: Do pass with the following amendments:

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

*NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. It is the intent of the legislature to:

- (1) Preserve, strengthen, and reconcile families experiencing problems with at-risk youth;
- (2) Provide a legal process by which parents who are experiencing problems with at-risk youth can request and receive assistance from juvenile courts in providing appropriate care, treatment, and supervision to such youth; and
- (3) Assess the effectiveness of the family reconciliation services program.

The legislature does not intend by this enactment to grant any parent the right to file an at-risk youth petition or receive juvenile court assistance in dealing with an at-risk youth. The purpose of this enactment is to create a process by which a parent of an at-risk youth may request and receive assistance subject to the availability of juvenile court services and resources. Recognizing that these services and resources are limited, the legislature intends that counties have the authority to impose reasonable limits on the utilization of juvenile court services and resources in matters related to at-risk youth. Any responsibilities imposed upon the department under this act shall be contingent upon the availability of funds specifically appropriated by the legislature for such purpose.

Sec. 2. Section 16, chapter 155, Laws of 1979 and RCW 13.32A.020 are each amended to read as follows:

This chapter shall be known and may be cited as the (~~Procedures for Families in Conflict~~) Family Reconciliation Act.

Sec. 3. Section 17, chapter 155, Laws of 1979 as amended by section 6, chapter 257, Laws of 1985 and RCW 13.32A.030 are each amended to read as follows:

As used in this chapter the following terms have the meanings indicated unless the context clearly requires otherwise:

- (1) 'Department' means the department of social and health services;
- (2) 'Child,' 'juvenile,' and 'youth' mean any individual who is under the chronological age of eighteen years;

(3) 'Parent' means the legal custodian(s) or guardian(s) of a child;

(4) 'Semi-secure facility' means any facility, including but not limited to crisis residential centers or specialized foster family homes, operated in a manner to reasonably assure that youth placed there will not run away; PROVIDED, That such facility shall not be a secure institution or facility as defined by the federal juvenile justice and delinquency prevention act of 1974 (P.L. 93-415; 42 U.S.C. Sec. 5634 et seq.) and regulations and clarifying instructions promulgated thereunder. Pursuant to rules established by the department, the facility administrator shall establish reasonable hours for residents to come and go from the facility such that no residents are free to come and go at all hours of the day and night. To prevent residents from taking unreasonable actions, the facility administrator, where appropriate, may condition a resident's leaving the facility upon the resident being accompanied by the administrator or the administrator's designee and the resident may be required to notify the administrator or the administrator's designee of any intent to leave, his or her intended destination, and the probable time of his or her return to the center. The facility administrator shall notify a parent and the appropriate law enforcement agency within four hours of all unauthorized leaves;

(5) 'At-risk youth' means an individual under the chronological age of eighteen years who:

(a) Is absent from home for more than seventy-two consecutive hours without consent of his or her parent;

(b) Is beyond the control of his or her parent such that the child's behavior substantially endangers the health, safety, or welfare of the child or any other person; or

(c) Has a serious substance abuse problem for which there are no pending criminal charges related to the substance abuse.

Sec. 4. Section 18, chapter 155, Laws of 1979 as amended by section 1, chapter 298, Laws of 1981 and RCW 13.32A.040 are each amended to read as follows:

Families who are in conflict or who are experiencing problems with at-risk youth may request family reconciliation services from the department. Such services shall be provided to alleviate personal or family situations which present a serious and imminent threat to the health or stability of the child or family and to maintain families intact wherever possible. Family reconciliation services shall be designed to develop skills and supports within families to resolve problems related to at-risk youth or family conflicts and may include but are not limited to referral to services for suicide prevention, psychiatric or other medical care, or psychological, welfare, legal, educational, or other social services, as appropriate to the needs of the child and the family.

Sec. 5. Section 19, chapter 155, Laws of 1979 as last amended by section 1, chapter 288, Laws of 1986 and RCW 13.32A.050 are each amended to read as follows:

A law enforcement officer shall take a child into custody:

(1) If a law enforcement agency has been contacted by the parent of the child that the child is absent from parental custody without consent; or

(2) If a law enforcement officer reasonably believes, considering the child's age, the location, and the time of day, that a child is in circumstances which constitute a danger to the child's safety; or

(3) If an agency legally charged with the supervision of a child has notified a law enforcement agency that the child has run away from placement; or

(4) If a law enforcement agency has been notified by the juvenile court that the court finds probable cause exists to believe that the child has violated a court placement order issued pursuant to chapter 13.32A RCW or that the court has issued an order for law enforcement pick-up of the child under this chapter.

Law enforcement custody shall not extend beyond the amount of time reasonably necessary to transport the child to a destination authorized by law and to place the child at that destination.

An officer who takes a child into custody under this section and places the child in a designated crisis residential center shall inform the department of such placement within twenty-four hours.

(5) Nothing in this section affects the authority of any political subdivision to make regulations concerning the conduct of minors in public places by ordinance or other local law.

Sec. 6. Section 23, chapter 155, Laws of 1979 as amended by section 7, chapter 298, Laws of 1981 and RCW 13.32A.090 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) The person in charge of a designated crisis residential center or the department pursuant to RCW 13.32A.070 shall perform the duties under subsection (2) of this section:

(a) Upon admitting a child who has been brought to the center by a law enforcement officer under RCW 13.32A.060;

(b) Upon admitting a child who has run away from home or has requested admittance to the center;

(c) Upon learning from a person under RCW 13.32A.080 ~~((2))~~ (3) that the person is providing shelter to a child absent from home; or

(d) Upon learning that a child has been placed with a responsible adult pursuant to RCW 13.32A.070.

(2) When any of the circumstances under subsection (1) of this section are present, the person in charge of a center shall perform the following duties:

(a) Immediately notify the child's parent of the child's whereabouts, physical and emotional condition, and the circumstances surrounding his or her placement;

(b) Initially notify the parent that it is the paramount concern of the family reconciliation service personnel to achieve a reconciliation between the parent and child to reunify the family and inform the parent as to the procedures to be followed under this chapter;

(c) Inform the parent whether a referral to children's protective services has been made and, if so, inform the parent of the standard pursuant to RCW 26.44.020(12) governing child abuse and neglect in this state;

(d) Arrange transportation for the child to the residence of the parent, as soon as practicable, at the latter's expense to the extent of his or her ability to pay, with any unmet transportation expenses to be assumed by the department, when the child and his or her parent agrees to the child's return home or when the parent produces a copy of a court order entered under this chapter requiring the child to reside in the parent's home;

(e) Arrange transportation for the child to an alternative residential placement which may include a licensed group care facility or foster family when agreed to by the child and parent at the latter's expense to the extent of his or her ability to pay, with any unmet transportation expenses assumed by the department.

Sec. 7. Section 26, chapter 155, Laws of 1979 and RCW 13.32A.120 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) Where either a child or the child's parent or the person or facility currently providing shelter to the child notifies the center that such individual or individuals cannot agree to the continuation of an alternative residential placement arrived at pursuant to RCW 13.32A.090(2)(e), the center shall immediately contact the remaining party or parties to the agreement and shall attempt to bring about the child's return home or to an alternative living arrangement agreeable to the child and the parent as soon as practicable.

(2) If a child and his or her parent cannot agree to an alternative residential placement under RCW 13.32A.090(2)(e), either the child or parent may file with the juvenile court a petition to approve an alternative residential placement or the parent may file with the juvenile court a petition in the interest of a child alleged to be an at-risk youth under this chapter.

(3) If a child and his or her parent cannot agree to the continuation of an alternative residential placement arrived at under RCW 13.32A.090(2)(e), either the child or parent may file with the juvenile court a petition to approve an alternative residential placement or the parent may file with the juvenile court a petition in the interest of a child alleged to be an at-risk youth under this chapter.

Sec. 8. Section 27, chapter 155, Laws of 1979 as last amended by section 9, chapter 257, Laws of 1985 and RCW 13.32A.130 are each amended to read as follows:

A child admitted to a crisis residential center under this chapter who is not returned to the home of his or her parent or who is not placed in an alternative residential placement under an agreement between the parent and child, shall, except as provided for by RCW 13.32A.140 and 13.32A.160(2), reside in such placement under the rules and regulations established for the center for a period not to exceed seventy-two hours, excluding Saturdays, Sundays, and holidays, from the time of intake, except as otherwise provided by this chapter. Crisis residential center staff shall make a concerted effort to achieve a reconciliation of the family. If a reconciliation and voluntary return of the child has not been achieved within forty-eight hours, excluding Saturdays, Sundays and holidays, from the time of intake, and if the person in charge of the center does not consider it likely that reconciliation will be achieved within the seventy-two hour period, then the person in charge shall inform the parent and child of (1) the availability of counseling services; (2) the right to file a petition for an alternative residential placement ((and)), the right of a parent to file an at-risk youth petition, and the right of the parent and child to obtain assistance in filing the petition; and (3) the right to request a review of ((such a) any alternative residential placement: PROVIDED, That at no time shall information regarding a parent's or child's rights be withheld if requested: PROVIDED FURTHER, That the department shall develop and distribute to all law enforcement agencies and to each crisis residential center administrator a written statement delineating such services and rights. Every officer taking a child into custody shall provide the child and his or her parent(s) or responsible adult with whom the child is placed with a copy of such statement. In addition, the administrator of the facility or his or her designee shall provide every resident and parent with a copy of such statement.

Sec. 9. Section 28, chapter 155, Laws of 1979 as amended by section 10, chapter 298, Laws of 1981 and RCW 13.32A.140 are each amended to read as follows:

The department shall file a petition to approve an alternative residential placement on behalf of a child under any of the following sets of circumstances:

(1) The child has been admitted to a crisis residential center or has been placed with a responsible person other than his or her parent, and:

(a) The parent has been notified that the child was so admitted or placed;

(b) Seventy-two hours, including Saturdays, Sundays, and holidays, have passed since such notification;

(c) No agreement between the parent and the child as to where the child shall live has been reached;

(d) No petition requesting approval of an alternative residential placement has been filed by either the child or parent or legal custodian; ((and))

(e) The parent has not filed an at-risk youth petition; and

(f) The child has no suitable place to live other than the home of his or her parent.

(2) The child has been admitted to a crisis residential center and:

(a) Seventy-two hours, including Saturdays, Sundays, and holidays, have passed since such placement;

(b) The staff, after searching with due diligence, have been unable to contact the parent of such child; and

(c) The child has no suitable place to live other than the home of his or her parent.

(3) An agreement between parent and child made pursuant to RCW 13.32A.090(2)(e) or pursuant to RCW 13.32A.120(1) is no longer acceptable to parent or child, and:

(a) The party to whom the arrangement is no longer acceptable has so notified the department;

(b) Seventy-two hours, including Saturdays, Sundays, and holidays, have passed since such notification;

(c) No new agreement between parent and child as to where the child shall live has been reached;

(d) No petition requesting approval of an alternative residential placement has been filed by either the child or the parent: ~~((and))~~

(e) The parent has not filed an at-risk youth petition; and

(f) The child has no suitable place to live other than the home of his or her parent.

Under the circumstances of subsections (1), (2), or (3) of this section, the child shall remain in a licensed child care facility, including but not limited to a crisis residential center, or in any other suitable residence to be determined by the department until an alternative residential placement petition filed by the department on behalf of the child is reviewed by the juvenile court and is resolved by such court. The department may authorize emergency medical or dental care for a child placed under this section. The state, when the department files a petition for alternative residential placement under this section, shall be represented as provided for in RCW 13.04.093.

Sec. 10. Section 29, chapter 155, Laws of 1979 as last amended by section 1, chapter 269, Laws of 1989 and RCW 13.32A.150 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) Except as otherwise provided in this section the juvenile court shall not accept the filing of an alternative residential placement petition by the child or the parents or the filing of an at-risk youth petition by the parent, unless verification is provided that a family assessment has been completed by the department. The family assessment shall be aimed at family reconciliation and avoidance of the out-of-home placement of the child. If the department is unable to complete an assessment within two working days following a request for assessment the child or the parents may proceed under subsection (2) of this section or the parent may proceed under subsection (3) of this section.

(2) A child or a child's parent may file with the juvenile court a petition to approve an alternative residential placement for the child outside the parent's home. The department shall, when requested, assist either a parent or child in the filing of the petition. The petition shall only ask that the placement of a child outside the home of his or her parent be approved. The filing of a petition to approve such placement is not dependent upon the court's having obtained any prior jurisdiction over the child or his or her parent, and confers upon the court a special jurisdiction to approve or disapprove an alternative residential placement.

(3) A child's parent may file with the juvenile court a petition in the interest of a child alleged to be an at-risk youth. The department shall, when requested, assist the parent in filing the petition. The petition shall be filed in the county where the petitioning parent resides. The petition shall set forth the name, age, and residence of the child and the names and residence of the child's parents and shall allege that:

(a) The child is an at-risk youth as defined in this chapter;

(b) The petitioning parent has the right to legal custody of the child;

(c) Court intervention and supervision are necessary to assist the parent to maintain the care, custody, and control of the child; and

(d) Alternatives to court intervention have been attempted or there is good cause why such alternatives have not been attempted.

The petition shall set forth facts that support the allegations in this subsection and shall generally request relief available under this chapter. The petition need not specify any proposed disposition following adjudication of the petition. The filing of an at-risk youth petition is not dependent upon the court's having obtained any prior jurisdiction over the child or his or her parent and confers upon the court the special jurisdiction to assist the parent in maintaining parental authority and responsibility for the child. An at-risk youth petition may not be filed if the court has approved an alternative residential placement petition regarding the child or if the child is the subject of a proceeding under chapter 13.34 RCW. A petition may be accepted for filing only if alternatives to court intervention have been attempted or if there is good cause why they were not attempted. Juvenile court personnel may screen all at-risk youth petitions and may refuse to allow the filing of any petition that lacks merit, fails to comply with the requirements of this section, or fails to allege sufficient facts in support of allegations in the petition.

Sec. 11. Section 30, chapter 155, Laws of 1979 as amended by section 2, chapter 269, Laws of 1989 and RCW 13.32A.160 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) When a proper petition to approve an alternative residential placement is filed under RCW 13.32A.120, 13.32A.140, or 13.32A.150 the juvenile court shall: (a) Schedule a date for a fact-finding hearing; notify the parent, child, and the department of such date; (b) notify the parent of the right to be represented by counsel and, if indigent, to have counsel appointed for him or her by the court; (c) appoint legal counsel for the child; (d) inform the child and his or her parent of the legal consequences of the court approving or disapproving an alternative residential placement petition; and (e) notify all parties, including the department, of their right to present evidence at the fact-finding hearing.

(2) Upon filing of an alternative residential placement petition, the child may be placed, if not already placed, by the department in a crisis residential center, foster family home, group home facility licensed under chapter 74.15 RCW, or any other suitable residence to be determined by the department.

(3) If the child has been placed in a foster family home or group care facility under chapter 74.15 RCW, the child shall remain there, or in any other suitable residence as determined by the department, pending resolution of the alternative residential placement petition by the court. Any placement may be reviewed by the court within three court days upon the request of the juvenile or the juvenile's parent.

NEW SECTION, Sec. 12. (1) When a proper at-risk youth petition is filed by a child's parent under RCW 13.32A.120 or 13.32A.150, the juvenile court shall:

- (a) Schedule a fact-finding hearing and notify the parent and the child of such date;
- (b) Notify the parent of the right to be represented by counsel at the parent's own expense;
- (c) Appoint legal counsel for the child;
- (d) Inform the child and his or her parent of the legal consequences of the court finding the child to be an at-risk youth; and
- (e) Notify the parent and the child of their rights to present evidence at the fact-finding hearing.

(2) Unless out-of-home placement of the child is otherwise authorized or required by law, the child shall reside in the home of his or her parent or in an alternative residential placement approved by the parent. Upon request by the parent, the court may enter a court order requiring the child to reside in the home of his or her parent or an alternative residential placement approved by the parent.

(3) If upon sworn written or oral declaration of the petitioning parent, the court has reason to believe that a child has willfully and knowingly violated a court order issued pursuant to subsection (2) of this section, the court may issue an order directing law enforcement to take the child into custody and place the child in a juvenile detention facility or in a crisis residential center licensed by the department and established pursuant to chapter 74.13 RCW. If the child is placed in detention, a review shall be held as provided in RCW 13.32A.065.

(4) If both an alternative residential placement petition and an at-risk youth petition have been filed with regard to the same child, the proceedings shall be consolidated for purposes of fact-finding. Pending a fact-finding hearing regarding the petition, the child may be placed, if not already placed, in an alternative residential placement as provided in RCW 13.32A.160 unless the court has previously entered an order requiring the child to reside in the home of his or her parent. The child or the parent may request a review of the child's placement including a review of any court order requiring the child to reside in the parent's home. At the review the court, in its discretion, may order the child placed in the parent's home or in an alternative residential placement pending the hearing.

NEW SECTION, Sec. 13. (1) The court shall hold a fact-finding hearing to consider a proper at-risk youth petition. The court may grant the petition and enter an order finding the child to be an at-risk youth if the allegations in the petition are established by a preponderance of the evidence. The court shall not enter such an order if the court has approved an alternative residential placement petition regarding the child or if the child is the subject of a proceeding under chapter 13.34 RCW. If the petition is granted, the court shall enter an order requiring the child to reside in the home of his or her parent or in an alternative residential placement approved by the parent.

(2) The court may order the department to submit a dispositional plan if such a plan would assist the court in ordering a suitable disposition in the case. If the court orders the department to prepare a plan, the department shall provide copies of the plan to the parent, the child, and the court. If the parties or the court desire the department to be involved in any future proceedings or case plan development, the department shall be provided timely notification of all court hearings.

(3) A dispositional hearing shall be held no later than fourteen days after the court has granted an at-risk youth petition. Each party shall be notified of the time and date of the hearing.

(4) If the court grants or denies an at-risk youth petition, a statement of the written reasons shall be entered into the records. If the court denies an at-risk youth petition, the court shall verbally advise the parties that the child is required to remain within the care, custody, and control of his or her parent.

NEW SECTION, Sec. 14. (1) At the dispositional hearing regarding an adjudicated at-risk youth, the court shall consider the recommendations of the parties and the recommendations of any dispositional plan submitted by the department. The court may enter a dispositional order that will assist the parent in maintaining the care, custody, and control of the child and assist the family to resolve family conflicts or problems.

(2) The court may set conditions of supervision for the child that include:

(a) Regular school attendance;

(b) Counseling;

(c) Participation in a substance abuse treatment program;

(d) Reporting on a regular basis to the department or any other designated person or agency; and

(e) Any other condition the court deems an appropriate condition of supervision.

(3) The court may order the parent to participate in counseling services or any other services for the child requiring parental participation. The parent shall cooperate with the court-ordered case plan and shall take necessary steps to help implement the case plan. The parent shall be financially responsible for costs related to the court-ordered plan; however, this requirement shall not affect the eligibility of the parent or child for public assistance or other benefits to which the parent or child may otherwise be entitled. The parent may request dismissal of an at-risk youth proceeding at any time and upon such a request, the court shall dismiss the matter and cease court supervision of the child unless a contempt action is pending in the case. The court may retain jurisdiction over the matter for the purpose of concluding any pending contempt proceedings, including the full satisfaction of any penalties imposed as a result of a contempt finding.

(4) The court may order the department to monitor compliance with the dispositional order, assist in coordinating the provision of court-ordered services, and submit reports at subsequent review hearings regarding the status of the case.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 15. (1) Upon making a disposition regarding an adjudicated at-risk youth, the court shall schedule the matter on the calendar for review within three months, advise the parties of the date thereof, appoint legal counsel for the child, advise the parent of the right to be represented by legal counsel at the review hearing at the parent's own expense, and notify the parties of their rights to present evidence at the hearing.

(2) At the review hearing, the court shall approve or disapprove the continuation of court supervision in accordance with the goal of assisting the parent to maintain the care, custody, and control of the child. The court shall determine whether the parent and child are complying with the dispositional plan. If court supervision is continued, the court may modify the dispositional plan.

(3) Court supervision of the child may not be continued past one hundred eighty days from the day the review hearing commenced unless the court finds, and the parent agrees, that there are compelling reasons for an extension of supervision. Any extension granted pursuant to this subsection shall not exceed ninety days.

(4) The court may dismiss an at-risk youth proceeding at any time if the court finds good cause to believe that continuation of court supervision would serve no useful purpose or that the parent is not cooperating with the court-ordered case plan. The court shall dismiss an at-risk youth proceeding if the child is the subject of a proceeding under chapter 13.34 RCW.

Sec. 16. Section 14, chapter 298, Laws of 1981 as amended by section 4, chapter 269, Laws of 1989 and by section 16, chapter 373, Laws of 1989 and RCW 13.32A.250 are each reenacted and amended to read as follows:

(1) In all alternative residential placement proceedings and at-risk youth proceedings, the court shall verbally notify the parents and the child of the possibility of a finding of contempt for failure to comply with the terms of ~~((an alternative residential placement order))~~ a court order entered pursuant to this chapter. The court shall treat the parents and the child equally for the purposes of applying contempt of court processes and penalties under this section.

(2) Failure by a party to comply with an order entered under this chapter is a contempt of court as provided in chapter 7.21 RCW, subject to the limitations of subsection (2) of this section.

(3) The court may impose a fine of up to one hundred dollars and imprisonment for up to seven days, or both for contempt of court under this section.

(4) A child imprisoned for contempt under this section shall be imprisoned only in a secure juvenile detention facility operated by or pursuant to a contract with a county.

(5) A motion for contempt may be made by a parent, a child, juvenile court personnel, or by any public agency, organization, or person having custody of the child under a court order adopted pursuant to this chapter.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 17. The department shall conduct a research study of the family reconciliation services program. The research study shall include the following information:

(2) The number of youth and families served in family reconciliation services phase I and phase II and outcome of services provided to each youth and family;

(3) Nonclient parent and youth awareness of the family reconciliation services program and their perception of its effectiveness;

(4) The number of referrals to family reconciliation services from law enforcement, juvenile courts, schools, and community agencies and their perception of its effectiveness;

(5) Follow-up contact with a random sample of youth and families receiving family reconciliation services assistance and their perception of the effectiveness of family reconciliation services;

(7) The number of youth and families offered services who refused them and the reason, if known;

(8) The number of youth and families who requested services but were denied based on: (a) Ineligibility or (b) services not available, including a list of those services requested but not available; and

(9) Recommendations for improving services to at-risk youth and families.

The department shall submit a preliminary report by January 1, 1991, and the full research study report by January 1, 1992, to the senate children and family services committee, and the house of representatives human services committee.

NEW SECTION, Sec. 19. If any part of this act is found to be in conflict with federal requirements that are a prescribed condition to the allocation of federal funds to the state, the conflicting part of this act is inoperative solely to the extent of the conflict and with respect to the agencies directly affected, and this finding does not affect the operation of the remainder of this act in its application to the agencies concerned. The rules under this act shall meet federal requirements that are a necessary condition to the receipt of federal funds by the state.

NEW SECTION, Sec. 20. If any provision of this act or its application to any person or circumstance is held invalid, the remainder of the act or the application of the provision to other persons or circumstances is not affected.

SSB 6625 Prime Sponsor, Committee on Higher Education: Prohibiting young men from receiving financial aid unless they have registered with selective service. Reported by Committee on Higher Education

MAJORITY recommendation: Do pass with the following amendments:

On page 1, line 4, after "Sec. 1," strike all material through "section." on line 17 and insert "The legislature finds that many individuals in the state of Washington have attended college and received an associate of arts degree, or its equivalent, but are placebound.

The legislature further finds that there exists in some public and private institutions of the state of Washington unused capacity which would be available to accommodate these students. The legislature finds that there will be a substantial saving to the state to use existing capacity in lieu of adding capacity to a branch campus or constructing additional public higher education facilities in the central Puget Sound, Tri-Cities, Spokane, southwest Washington, or Yakima areas.

The legislature intends to establish an educational opportunity grant program for placebound students who have completed an associate of arts degree, or its equivalent, in an effort to increase their participation in and completion of upper-division programs. The legislature finds that the use of existing capacity for placebound students at the public and private institutions of higher education will achieve a substantial savings and enable placebound students to complete their upper-division educational programs.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. The educational opportunity grant program is hereby created as a demonstration project to serve placebound financially needy students by assisting them to obtain a baccalaureate degree at public and private institutions of higher education which have the capacity to accommodate such students within existing educational programs and facilities.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. (1) For the purposes of this chapter, 'placebound' means unable to relocate to complete a college program because of family or employment commitments, health concerns, monetary inability, or other similar factors.

(2) To be eligible for an educational opportunity grant, applicants must be placebound residents of the state of Washington who are needy students as defined in RCW 28B.10.802(3) and who have completed the associate of arts degree or its equivalent. A placebound resident is one who may be influenced by the receipt of an enhanced student financial aid award to attend an institution that has existing unused capacity rather than attend a branch campus established pursuant to chapter 28B.45 RCW. An eligible placebound applicant is further defined as a person whose residence is located in an area served by a branch campus who, because of family or employment commitments, health concerns, monetary need, or other similar factors, would be unable to complete an upper-division course of study but for receipt of an educational opportunity grant.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4. The higher education coordinating board shall develop and administer the educational opportunity grant program. The board shall adopt necessary rules and guidelines and develop criteria and procedures to select eligible participants in the program. Payment shall be made directly to the eligible participant periodically upon verification of enrollment and satisfactory progress towards degree completion.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 5. Grants may be used by eligible participants to attend any public or private college or university in the state of Washington that has an existing unused capacity. Grants shall not be used to attend any branch campus or educational program established under chapter 28B.45 RCW. The participant shall not be eligible for a grant if it will be used for any programs that include religious worship, exercise, or instruction or to pursue a degree in theology. Each participating student may receive up to two thousand five hundred dollars per academic year, not to exceed the student's demonstrated financial need for the course of study.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 6. Sections 1 through 5 of this act shall constitute a new chapter in Title 28B RCW.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 7. The following acts or parts of acts are each repealed:

(1) Section 12, chapter 7, Laws of 1989 1st ex. sess. and RCW 28B.80.530; and

(2) Section 13, chapter 7, Laws of 1989 1st ex. sess. and RCW 28B.80.540.

Renumber the sections consecutively and correct internal references accordingly.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 15. (1) A foreign student placement agency may not bring or maintain a cause of action in any court of this state for compensation for, or seeking equitable relief in regard to, services rendered to students or host families unless the agency alleges and proves that at the time of rendering the services or contracting for the services, it was validly licensed under this chapter.

(2) Any person who gives consideration of any kind to any foreign student placement agency for the placement of foreign students in this state when the agency is not validly licensed under this chapter shall have a cause of action against the agency. Any court having jurisdiction may enter judgment for treble the amount of the consideration paid, plus reasonable attorneys' fees and costs.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 16. The legislature finds and declares that any violation of this chapter substantially affects the public interest and is an unfair and deceptive act or practice and unfair method of competition in the conduct of trade or commerce as set forth in RCW 19.86.020.

SSB 6667 Prime Sponsor, Committee on Ways & Means: Transferring power and duty to enforce cigarette and tobacco laws to the liquor control board. Reported by Committee on Commerce & Labor

MAJORITY recommendation: Do pass with the following amendments:

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. The legislature finds that there is a large amount of potential cigarette and tobacco tax revenue that the state is failing to collect. The legislature also finds that the reasons for the failure to collect these revenues are varied and complex. Furthermore, the legislature is cognizant of the importance of stability in the structure of state government and its agencies. Therefore, the legislature finds that it is necessary to study the effect of transferring the responsibility for collecting cigarette taxes from the department of revenue to the liquor control board. This study will be conducted in order to ascertain the potential increase in revenue to the state versus the potential costs, including: The cost of enforcement, the cost of litigation, and the cost in terms of the relationship between the state of Washington and the Indian tribes of the state.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. The cigarette and tobacco tax task force is created to conduct a study to determine which agency is best suited to collect and enforce the cigarette and tobacco tax. The task force shall:

(1) Be comprised of seven members, two of whom shall be senators, representing the majority and the minority caucuses, appointed by the president of the senate; two of whom shall be representatives, representing the majority and the minority caucuses, appointed by the speaker of the house of representatives; one of whom shall be a representative of the department of revenue, to be appointed by the director of the department; one of whom shall be a representative of the liquor control board, to be appointed by the chair of the board; and one of whom shall be a representative of the governor, to be appointed by the governor;

(2) Consider at least the following factors in determining which agency is best suited to collect and enforce the cigarette and tobacco tax: (a) Whether one agency will be better able than the other to collect and enforce the tax; (b) whether the costs of enforcement and any attendant litigation will outweigh or greatly reduce the benefit to be derived from any increase in revenue; (c) whether it would be appropriate to transfer responsibilities from one agency to another; and (d) whether increased enforcement of the cigarette and tobacco tax on Indian reservations would be in the best interest of the state of Washington;

(3) Create an advisory committee, including at least two representatives from Indian tribes and two representatives from the tobacco industry, to assist the task force in its study; and

(4) Report its findings and recommendations to the house of representatives commerce and labor committee and to the senate economic development and labor committee no later than January 10, 1991."

SSB 6698 Prime Sponsor, Committee on Environment & Natural Resources: Imposing a fee on the sale of solid fuel burning devices. Reported by Committee on Environmental Affairs

MAJORITY recommendation: Do pass with the following amendments:
Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

*Sec. 1. Section 6, chapter 405, Laws of 1987 and RCW 70.94.473 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) Any person in a residence or commercial establishment which has an adequate source of heat without burning wood shall:

((+)) (a) Not burn wood in any solid fuel ((heating)) burning device whenever the department has determined under RCW 70.94.715 that any air pollution episode exists in that area:

((#)) (b) Not burn wood in any solid fuel ((heating)) burning device(;) except ((wood stoves)) those which meet the standards set forth in RCW 70.94.457, or a pellet stove either certified or issued an exemption certificate by the United States environmental protection agency in accordance with title 40, Part 60 of the code of federal regulations, in the geographical area and for the period of time that a first stage of impaired air quality has been determined, by the department or any authority, for that area. ((For the purposes of this section, impaired air quality shall mean air contaminant concentrations nearing unhealthful levels concurrent with meteorological conditions that are conducive to an accumulation of air contamination. If, after July 1, 1990, the department determines that there is quantitative evidence that wood stoves meeting the requirements of RCW 70.94.457 are contributing to impaired air quality, the department or any authority may prohibit burning of all solid fuel burning devices as provided by this section including those meeting the requirements of RCW 70.94.457-)) A first stage of impaired air quality is reached when a particulate level that is ten microns and smaller in diameter (PM-10) is at an ambient level of seventy-five micrograms per cubic meter measured on a twenty-four hour average or when carbon monoxide is at an ambient level of eight parts of contaminant per million parts of air by volume (ppm) measured on an eight-hour average, and

(c) Not burn wood in any solid fuel burning device, including those which meet the standards set forth in RCW 70.94.457, in a geographical area and for the period of time that a second stage of impaired air quality has been determined by the department or any authority, for that area. A second stage of impaired air quality is reached when a particulate level that is ten microns and smaller in diameter (PM-10) is at an ambient level of one hundred five micrograms per cubic meter measured on a twenty-four hour average.

(2) When a local air authority exercises the limitation on solid fuel burning devices specified under RCW 70.94.477(2), a single stage of impaired air quality applies in the geographical area defined by the authority in accordance with RCW 70.94.477(2) and is reached when a particulate level that is ten microns and smaller in diameter (PM-10) is at the ambient level of ninety micrograms per cubic meter measured on a twenty-four hour average or when carbon monoxide is at an ambient level of eight parts of contaminant per million parts of air by volume (ppm) measured on an eight-hour average.

When this single stage of impaired air quality is reached, no person in a residence or commercial establishment which has an adequate source of heat without burning wood shall burn wood in any solid fuel burning device, including those which meet the standards set forth in RCW 70.94.457.

Sec. 2. Section 9, chapter 405, Laws of 1987 and RCW 70.94.477 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) Unless allowed by rule, under chapter 34.05 RCW, a person shall not cause or allow any of the following materials to be burned in any residential solid fuel burning device:

- ~~((+))~~ (a) Garbage;
- ~~((2))~~ (b) Treated wood;
- ~~((3))~~ (c) Plastics;
- ~~((4))~~ (d) Rubber products;
- ~~((5))~~ (e) Animals;
- ~~((6))~~ (f) Asphaltic products;
- ~~((7))~~ (g) Waste petroleum products;
- ~~((8))~~ (h) Paints; or
- ~~((9))~~ (i) Any substance, other than properly seasoned fuel wood, which normally emits dense smoke or obnoxious odors.

(2) On or after July 1, 1995, a local authority may geographically limit the use of solid fuel burning devices, except fireplaces as defined in RCW 70.94.453(3), wood stoves meeting the standards set forth in RCW 70.94.457 or pellet stoves issued an exemption certificate by the United States environmental protection agency in accordance with Title 40, part 60 of the code of federal regulations. An authority shall allow an exemption from this subsection for low-income persons who reside in a geographical area affected by this subsection. In the exercise of this limitation, a local authority shall consider the following factors:

(a) The contribution of solid fuel burning devices that do not meet the standards set forth in RCW 70.94.457 to nonattainment of national ambient air quality standards;

(b) The population density of geographical areas within the local authority's jurisdiction giving greater consideration to urbanized areas; and

(c) The public health effects of use of solid fuel burning devices which do not meet the standards set forth in RCW 70.94.457.

Sec. 3. Section 2, chapter 194, Laws of 1971 ex. sess. and RCW 70.94.715 are each amended to read as follows:

The department of ecology is hereby authorized to develop an episode avoidance plan providing for the phased reduction of emissions wherever and whenever an air pollution episode is forecast. Such an episode avoidance plan shall conform with any applicable federal standards and shall be effective state-wide. The episode avoidance plan may be implemented on an area basis in accordance with the occurrence of air pollution episodes in any given area.

The department of ecology may delegate authority to adopt source emission reduction plans and authority to implement all stages of occurrence up to and including the warning stage, and all intermediate stages up to the warning stage, in any area of the state, to the air pollution control authority with jurisdiction therein.

The episode avoidance plan, which shall be established by regulation in accordance with chapter 34.05 RCW, shall include, but not be limited to the following:

(1) The designation of episode criteria and stages, the occurrence of which will require the carrying out of preplanned episode avoidance procedures. The stages of occurrence shall be (a) forecast, (b) alert, (c) warning, (d) emergency, and such intermediate stages as the department shall designate. 'Forecast' means the presence of meteorological conditions that are conducive to accumulation of air contaminants and is the first stage of an episode. The department shall not call a forecast episode prior to the department or an authority calling a first stage impaired air quality condition as provided by RCW 70.94.473(1)(b) or calling a single-stage impaired air quality condition as provided by RCW 70.94.473(2). 'Alert' means concentration of air contaminants at levels at which short-term health effects may occur, and is the second stage of an episode. 'Warning' means concentrations are continuing to degrade, contaminant concentrations have reached a level which, if maintained, can result in damage to health, and additional control actions are needed and is the third level of an episode. 'Emergency' means the air quality is posing an imminent and substantial endangerment to public health and is the fourth level of an episode;

(2) The requirement that persons responsible for the operation of air contaminant sources prepare and obtain approval from the director of source emission reduction plans, consistent with good operating practice and safe operating procedures, for reducing emissions during designated episode stages;

(3) Provision for the director of the department of ecology or his authorized representative, or the air pollution control officer if implementation has been delegated, on the satisfaction of applicable criteria, to declare and terminate the forecast, alert, warning and all intermediate stages, up to the warning episode stage, such declarations constituting orders for action in accordance with applicable source emission reduction plans;

(4) Provision for the governor to declare and terminate the emergency stage and all intermediate stages above the warning episode stage, such declarations constituting orders in accordance with applicable source emission reduction plans;

(5) Provisions for enforcement by state and local police, personnel of the departments of ecology and social and health services, and personnel of local air pollution control agencies; and

(6) Provisions for reduction or discontinuance of emissions immediately, consistent with good operating practice and safe operating procedures, under an air pollution emergency as provided in RCW 70.94.720.

Source emission reduction plans shall be considered orders of the department and shall be subject to appeal to the pollution control hearings board according to the procedure in chapter 43.21B RCW.

Sec. 4. Section 10, chapter 405, Laws of 1987 and RCW 70.94.483 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) The wood stove education and enforcement account is hereby created in the general fund. Money placed in the account shall include all money received under subsection (2) of this section and any other money appropriated by the legislature. Money in the account shall be spent for the purposes of the wood stove education program established under RCW 70.94.480 and for enforcement of the wood stove program, and shall be subject to legislative appropriation.

(2) The department of ecology, with the advice of the advisory committee, shall set a flat fee, not to exceed ~~((five))~~ fifteen dollars, on the retail sale, as defined in RCW 82.04.050, of each solid fuel burning device, excepting masonry fireplaces, after January 1, 1988. The fee shall be imposed upon the consumer and shall not be subject to the retail sales tax provisions of chapters 82.08 and 82.12 RCW. The fee may be adjusted annually above ~~((five))~~ fifteen dollars according to changes in the consumer price index after January 1, 1989. The fee shall be collected by the department of revenue in conjunction with the retail sales tax under chapter 82.08 RCW. If the seller fails to collect the fee herein imposed or fails to remit the fee to the department of revenue in the manner prescribed in chapter 82.08 RCW, the seller shall be personally liable to the state for the amount of the fee. The collection provisions of chapter 82.32 RCW shall apply. The department of revenue shall transmit ten dollars of each fifteen-dollar fee collected to each local authority established under this chapter for solid fuel burning devices sold in the counties where such authority has air quality jurisdiction. The department of revenue shall transmit the remaining moneys to the wood stove education and enforcement account.

Sec. 5. Section 3, chapter 405, Laws of 1987 and RCW 70.94.480 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) The department of ecology shall establish a program to educate wood stove dealers and the public about:

~~((1))~~ (a) The effects of wood stove emissions on health and air quality;

~~((2))~~ (b) Methods of achieving better efficiency and emission performance from wood stoves;

~~((3))~~ (c) Wood stoves that have been approved by the department;

~~((4))~~ (d) The benefits of replacing inefficient wood stoves with stoves approved under RCW 70.94.457.

(2) Persons selling new wood stoves shall distribute and verbally explain educational materials describing when a stove can and cannot be legally used to customers purchasing new wood stoves."

On page 1, line 5 of the title, after "devices;" strike the remainder of the title and insert "and amending RCW 70.94.473, 70.94.477, 70.94.715, 70.94.483, and 70.94.480."

SB 6741 Prime Sponsor, Senator Amondson: Modifying permit requirements for substantial developments on shorelines as they relate to utility extensions. Reported by Committee on Environmental Affairs

MAJORITY recommendation: Do pass with the following amendments:

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. The legislature finds that delays in substantial development permit review for the extension of vital utility services to existing and lawful uses within the shorelines of the state have caused hardship upon existing residents without serving any of the purposes and policies of the shoreline management act. Sec. 2. Section 14, chapter 286, Laws of 1971 ex. sess. as last amended by section 1, chapter 22, Laws of 1988 and RCW 90.58.140 are each amended to read as follows:

(2) A substantial development shall not be undertaken on shorelines of the state without first obtaining a permit from the government entity having administrative jurisdiction under this chapter.

A permit shall be granted:

(a) From June 1, 1971, until such time as an applicable master program has become effective, only when the development proposed is consistent with: (i) The policy of RCW 90.58.020; and (ii) after their adoption, the guidelines and rules of the department; and (iii) so far as can be ascertained, the master program being developed for the area;

(b) After adoption or approval, as appropriate, by the department of an applicable master program, only when the development proposed is consistent with the applicable master program and the provisions of chapter 90.58 RCW.

(3) The local government shall establish a program, consistent with rules adopted by the department, for the administration and enforcement of the permit system provided in this section. The administration of the system so established shall be performed exclusively by the local government.

(4) Except as otherwise specifically provided in subsection (13) of this section, the local government shall require notification of the public of all applications for permits governed by any permit system established pursuant to subsection (3) of this section by ensuring that:

(a) A notice of such an application is published at least once a week on the same day of the week for two consecutive weeks in a legal newspaper of general circulation within the area in which the development is proposed; and

(b) Additional notice of such an application is given by at least one of the following methods:

(ii) Posting of the notice in a conspicuous manner on the property upon which the project is to be constructed; or

(iii) Any other manner deemed appropriate by local authorities to accomplish the objectives of reasonable notice to adjacent landowners and the public.

The notices shall include a statement that any person desiring to submit written comments concerning an application, or desiring to receive a copy of the final order concerning an application as expeditiously as possible after the issuance of the order, may submit the comments or requests for orders to the local government within thirty days of the last date the notice is to be published pursuant to subsection (a) of this subsection. The local government shall forward, in a timely manner following the issuance of an order, a copy of the order to each person who submits a request for the order.

(a) In the case of any permit issued to the state of Washington, department of transportation, for the construction and modification of SR 90 (I-90) on or adjacent to Lake Washington, the construction may begin after thirty days from the date of filing, and the permits are valid until December 31, 1995;

(b) If a permit is granted by the local government and (i) the granting of the permit is appealed to the shorelines hearings board within thirty days of the date of filing, (ii) the hearings board approves the granting of the permit by the local government or approves a portion of the substantial development for which the local government issued the permit, and (iii) an appeal for judicial review of the hearings board decision is filed pursuant to chapter 34.05 RCW, the permittee may request, within ten days of the filing of the appeal with the court, a hearing before the court to determine whether construction may begin pursuant to the permit approved by the hearings board or to a revised permit issued pursuant to the order of the hearings board. If, at the conclusion of the hearing, the court finds that construction pursuant to such a permit would not involve a significant, irreversible damaging of the environment, the court may allow the permittee to begin the construction pursuant to the approved or revised permit as the court deems appropriate. The court may require the permittee to post bonds, in the name of the local government that issued the permit, sufficient to remove the substantial development or to restore the environment if the permit is ultimately disapproved by the courts, or to alter the substantial development if the alteration is ultimately ordered by the courts. Construction pursuant to a permit revised at the direction of the hearings board may begin only on that portion of the substantial development for which the local government had originally issued the permit, and construction pursuant to such a revised permit on other portions of the substantial development may not begin until after all review proceedings are terminated. In such a hearing before the court, the burden of proving whether the construction may involve significant irreversible damage to the environment and demonstrating whether such construction would or would not be appropriate is on the appellant;

(c) If a permit is granted by the local government and the granting of the permit is appealed directly to the superior court for judicial review pursuant to the proviso in RCW 90.58.180(1), the permittee may request the court to remand the appeal to the shorelines hearings board, in which case the appeal shall be so remanded and construction pursuant to such a permit shall be governed by the provisions of subsection (b) of this subsection or may otherwise begin after review proceedings before the hearings board are terminated if judicial review is not thereafter requested pursuant to chapter 34.05 RCW;

(d) If the permit is for a substantial development meeting the requirements of subsection (13) of this section, construction pursuant to that permit may not begin or be authorized until thirty days from the date the final order was filed as provided in subsection (6) of this section.

If a permittee begins construction pursuant to subsections (a), (b), ~~((c))~~ (c), or (d) of this subsection, the construction is begun at the permittee's own risk. If, as a result of judicial review, the courts order the removal of any portion of the construction or the restoration of any portion of the environment involved or require the alteration of any portion of a substantial development constructed pursuant to a permit, the permittee is barred from recovering damages or costs involved in adhering to such requirements from the local government that granted the permit, the hearings board, or any appellant or intervener.

(6) Any ruling on an application for a permit under the authority of this section, whether it is an approval or a denial, shall, concurrently with the transmittal of the ruling to the applicant, be filed with the department and the attorney general. With regard to a permit other than a permit governed by subsection (12) of this section, 'date of filing' as used herein means the date of actual receipt by the department. With regard to a permit for a variance or a conditional use, 'date of filing' means the date a decision of the department rendered on the permit pursuant to subsection (12) of this section is transmitted by the department to the local government. The department shall notify in writing the local government and the applicant of the date of filing.

(7) Applicants for permits under this section have the burden of proving that a proposed substantial development is consistent with the criteria that must be met before a permit is granted. In any review of the granting or denial of an application for a permit as provided in RCW 90.58.180 (1) and (2), the person requesting the review has the burden of proof.

(8) Any permit may, after a hearing with adequate notice to the permittee and the public, be rescinded by the issuing authority upon the finding that a permittee has not complied with conditions of a permit. If the department is of the opinion that noncompliance exists, the department shall provide written notice to the local government and the permittee. If the department is of the opinion that the noncompliance continues to exist thirty days after the date of the notice, and the local government has taken no action to rescind the permit, the department may petition the hearings board for a rescission of the permit upon written notice of the petition to the local government and the permittee if the request by the department is made to the hearings board within fifteen days of the termination of the thirty-day notice to the local government.

(9) The holder of a certification from the governor pursuant to chapter 80.50 RCW shall not be required to obtain a permit under this section.

(10) A permit shall not be required for any development on shorelines of the state included within a preliminary or final plat approved by the applicable state agency or local government before April 1, 1971, if:

(a) The final plat was approved after April 13, 1961, or the preliminary plat was approved after April 30, 1969; and

(b) The development is completed within two years after June 1, 1971.

(11) The applicable state agency or local government is authorized to approve a final plat with respect to shorelines of the state included within a preliminary plat approved after April 30, 1969, and before April 1, 1971: PROVIDED, That any substantial development within the platted shorelines of the state is authorized by a permit granted pursuant to this section, or does not require a permit as provided in subsection (10) of this section, or does not require a permit because of substantial development occurred before June 1, 1971.

(12) Any permit for a variance or a conditional use by local government under approved master programs must be submitted to the department for its approval or disapproval.

(13)(a) An application for a substantial development permit for a limited utility extension shall be subject to the following procedures:

(i) The public comment period under subsection (4) of this section shall be twenty days. The notice provided under subsection (4) of this section shall state the manner in which the public may obtain a copy of the local government decision on the application no later than two days following its issuance;

(ii) The local government shall issue its decision to grant or deny the permit within twenty-one days of the last day of the comment period specified in (i) of this subsection; and

(iii) If there is an appeal of the decision to grant or deny the permit to the local government legislative authority, the appeal shall be finally determined by the legislative authority within thirty days.

(b) For purposes of this section, a limited utility extension means the extension of a utility service that:

(i) Is categorically exempt under chapter 43.21C RCW for one or more of the following: Natural gas, electricity, telephone, water, or sewer;

(b) Will serve an existing use in compliance with this chapter; and

(c) Will not extend more than twenty-five hundred linear feet within the shorelines of the state."

On page 1, line 2 of the title, after "extensions;" strike the remainder of the title and insert "amending RCW 90.58.140; and creating a new section."

E2SSB 6767 Prime Sponsor, Committee on Ways & Means: Creating a juvenile justice review commission. Reported by Committee on Human Services

MAJORITY recommendation: Do pass with the following amendments:

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

NEW SECTION, Sec. 1. In 1977, the legislature created an innovative and comprehensive juvenile system to establish special sanctions and procedures for juveniles who engage in criminal activity, while at the same time recognizing the existence and unique needs of dependent children and families in conflict. During the past thirteen years, the legislature has amended the juvenile justice act numerous times to improve its effectiveness in providing punishment and rehabilitation for juveniles who commit criminal acts, and also to improve the procedures and programs for assisting dependent children and families in conflict. While such amendments have generally improved the operation of the juvenile justice system, often the amendments did not address the juvenile justice system in a comprehensive manner to provide accountability, treatment, and rehabilitation.

The legislature finds and declares that it has been thirteen years since the enactment of the juvenile justice act, and it is appropriate and timely that a comprehensive study be conducted to review the sanctions, programs, and operation of the act in light of the changing needs of juveniles and society. The legislature finds that a commission should be created consisting of persons with experience and expertise in juvenile justice issues to ensure that the state of Washington continues to have a progressive and effective juvenile justice statute.

NEW SECTION, Sec. 2. (1) A juvenile justice act review commission is created. It shall consist of:

(a) Four legislators who shall serve on the executive committee, one from each of the two largest caucuses in the house of representatives and the senate. The members shall be selected by the president of the senate and the speaker of the house of representatives;

(b) One superior court judge, who shall have experience in juvenile court proceedings. The member shall be selected by the Washington state superior court judges association;

(c) One prosecuting attorney, or his or her designee, selected by the Washington association of prosecuting attorneys;

(d) Two members, selected by the executive committee, one of whom shall represent cities and one of whom shall represent counties;

(e) One member, selected by the secretary of corrections, to represent the department of corrections, who shall be familiar with confinement and treatment of criminal offenders;

(f) One member, selected by the secretary of social and health services, to represent the department of social and health services, who has experience and training with the confinement and treatment services offered by the division of juvenile rehabilitation;

(g) One juvenile court administrator, selected by the juvenile court administrators' association;

(h) One mental health specialist, selected by the executive committee, who shall be familiar with mental health issues commonly affecting juvenile offenders;

(i) Two attorneys, selected by the Washington state bar association. At least one member shall be an attorney who represents a public defender organization;

(j) Two members, selected by the governor, to represent the governor, who shall serve on the executive committee;

(k) One member appointed by the governor's juvenile justice advisory committee;

(l) One member appointed by the attorney general;

(m) One member who currently serves as a sheriff, appointed by the executive committee;

(n) One member who currently serves as a police chief, appointed by the executive committee;

(o) Three citizen members appointed by the executive committee;

(p) Two members representing private youth serving agencies appointed by the alliance for children, youth, and families; and

(q) Three members representing parents' groups.

(2) The legislative members shall select a chair from the membership of the commission.

(3) The commission shall be staffed by the department of social and health services.

(4) The commission members shall receive no compensation, but shall, to the extent funds are available, be reimbursed for their expenses while attending any meetings in the same manner as legislators engaged in interim committee business as specified in RCW 44.04.120.

(5) The commission may receive appropriations, grants, gifts, and other payments from any governmental or other public or private entity or person and such funds may be used to defray the costs of its operations or to contract for technical services, with the approval of the senate committee on facilities and operations and the house of representatives executive rules committee.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. (1) The juvenile justice act review commission shall conduct a comprehensive review of the juvenile justice act of 1977, chapter 13.32A RCW, and dependency provisions in chapter 13.34 RCW. In reviewing services for juvenile offenders, the commission shall give particular attention to disposition alternatives, including but not limited to emphasis on early intervention, rehabilitation, community resources, and providing for special sanctions and programs for violent offenders who are sixteen and seventeen years of age. The commission shall review the existing system of services for runaway youth and families in conflict and shall assess the adequacy of existing resources and statutory procedures in place for serving this population.

(2) The legislature hereby reaffirms its intent that the overall goals and policies of the juvenile justice act of 1977 will continue to be followed and that any disposition alternatives or dependency provisions proposed by the commission will adhere to the following purposes:

(a) Protect the citizenry from criminal behavior;

(b) Make the juvenile offender accountable for his or her criminal behavior;

(c) Provide punishment commensurate with the age, maturity level, crime, criminal history of the juvenile offender, and any other relevant considerations;

(d) Provide necessary treatment, supervision, and custody for juvenile offenders;

(e) Provide for the handling of juvenile offenders by communities whenever consistent with public safety;

(f) Provide for restitution to victims of crime; and

(g) Provide for a clear policy to determine what types of offenders shall receive punishment, treatment, or both.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4. This act shall expire June 30, 1992.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 5. If specific funding for the purposes of this act, referencing this act by bill number, is not provided by June 30, 1990, in the omnibus appropriations act, this act shall be null and void."

On page 1, line 1 of the title, after "justice," strike the remainder of the title and insert "creating new sections; and providing an expiration date."

SSB 6779 Prime Sponsor, Committee on Ways & Means: Providing for regional water resource planning. Reported by Committee on Natural Resources & Parks

MAJORITY recommendation: Do pass with the following amendments:

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

*Sec. 1. Section 1, chapter 225, Laws of 1971 ex. sess. and RCW 90.54.010 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) The legislature finds that:

(a) Proper utilization of the water resources of this state is necessary to the promotion of public health and the economic well-being of the state and the preservation of its natural resources and aesthetic values. ~~((The legislature further finds that the availability of waters of the state is being evaluated by interests who desire to remove portions thereof from the state in a manner inconsistent with the public interest of people of the state.))~~ Although water is a renewable resource, its supply and availability are becoming increasingly limited, particularly during summer and fall months and dry years when demand is greatest. Growth and prosperity have significantly increased the competition for this limited resource. Adequate water supplies are essential to meet the needs of the state's growing population and economy. At the same time instream resources and values must be preserved and protected so that future generations can continue to enjoy them.

(b) All citizens of Washington share an interest in the proper stewardship of our invaluable water resources. To ensure that available water supplies are managed to best meet both instream and offstream needs, a comprehensive planning process is essential. The people of the state have the unique opportunity to work together to plan and manage our water. Through a comprehensive planning process that includes the state, Indian tribes, local governments, and interested parties, it is possible to make better use of available water supplies through conservation, water use efficiency, cooperation and coordination among water suppliers, and better management of water resources. Comprehensive planning can also help to restore and enhance fishery resources and other instream values. Through comprehensive planning, conflicts among water users and interests can be reduced or resolved. It is in the best interests of the state that comprehensive water resource planning be given a high priority so that water resources and associated values can be utilized and enjoyed today and protected for tomorrow.

(c) Diverse hydrologic, climatic, cultural, and socioeconomic conditions exist throughout the regions of the state. Water resource issues vary significantly across regions. Comprehensive water resource planning is best accomplished through a regional planning process sensitive to the unique characteristics and issues of each region.

(d) Comprehensive water resource planning must provide interested parties adequate opportunity to participate. Water resource issues are best addressed through cooperation and coordination among the state, Indian tribes, local governments, and interested parties.

(e) The long-term needs of the state require ongoing assessment of water availability, use, and demand. A thorough inventory of available resources is essential to water resource management. Current state water resource data and data management is inadequate to meet changing needs and respond to competing water demands. Therefore, a state water resource data program is needed to support an effective water resource management program. Efforts should be made to coordinate and consolidate into one resource data system all relevant information developed by the department of ecology and other agencies relating to the use, protection, and management of the state's water resources.

(2) It is the purpose of this chapter to set forth fundamentals of water resource policy for the state to insure that waters of the state are protected and fully utilized for the greatest benefit to the people of the state of Washington and, in relation thereto, to provide direction to the department of ecology ((and)), other state agencies and officials, and local government in carrying out water and related resources programs. It is the intent of the legislature to work closely with the executive branch, Indian tribes, local government, and interested parties to ensure that water resources of the state are wisely managed.

Sec. 2. Section 3, chapter 225, Laws of 1971 ex. sess. as amended by section 4, chapter 47, Laws of 1988 and RCW 90.54.030 are each amended to read as follows:

For the purpose of ~~((insuring))~~ ensuring that the department is fully advised in relation to the performance of the water resources program provided in RCW 90.54.040, and to provide information and support to ~~((the fact-finding service and))~~ the joint select committee established in RCW ~~((90.54.022 and))~~ 90.54.024, the department is directed to become informed with regard to all phases of water and related resources of the state. To accomplish this objective the department shall:

(1) Develop a comprehensive water resource data program that provides the information necessary for effective planning and management on a regional and state-wide basis. The data program shall include an information management plan describing the data requirements for effective water resource planning, and a system for collecting and providing access to water resource data on a regional and state-wide basis. The water resource data program shall also include a resource inventory and needs assessment under subsection (5) of this section:

(2) Collect, organize and catalog existing information and studies available to it from all sources, both public and private, pertaining to water and related resources of the state;

~~((2))~~ (3) Develop such additional data and studies pertaining to water and related resources as are necessary to accomplish the objectives of this chapter;

~~((3) Determine existing and foreseeable uses of, and needs for, such waters and related resources:))~~

(4) Develop alternate courses of action to solve existing and foreseeable problems of water and related resources and include therein, to the extent feasible, the economic and social consequences of each such course, and the impact on the natural environment;

(5) Establish a water resources data management task force to evaluate data management needs, advise the legislature and the department in developing an information management plan, and conduct a water resource inventory and needs assessment. The task force shall include representatives of appropriate state agencies, Indian tribes, local governments, and interested parties. The task force shall include expertise in both water resources and resource data management. The task force shall make recommendations to the department on developing a data base for water resource planning throughout the state. In conducting the water resource inventory and needs assessment, the task force shall oversee the inventory of existing data and determine what additional data is needed for effective water resource planning and management. The task force shall otherwise provide continuing guidance to the legislature and the department in developing and maintaining an effective information management plan. The department shall coordinate the water resource data program to provide water resource information that meets the needs of the comprehensive water resources program and planning process provided for in RCW 90.54.040:

(6) Prior to September 1, 1990, provide a report to the chairs of the appropriate legislative committees based on the preliminary findings and recommendations of the water resources data management task force. The report shall document the current information flows and data collection processes for state water resources data, and shall include an analysis of task force recommendations for developing additional information to meet water resource data needs. The report shall further include an estimate of funding requirements to implement the water resources data program for consideration in future biennial budget decisions;

(7) Prior to implementation of any preliminary findings and recommendations under subsection (6) of this section, and contingent on legislative appropriation, develop a five-year plan for data collection and information management approved by the department of information services. Commencing July 1, 1991, the department shall provide annual reports to the chairs of the appropriate legislative committees on the development and implementation of the five-year plan and progress toward completion of the water resource inventory and needs assessment; and

(8) Establish pursuant to task force recommendations a process to resolve technical issues in the development and implementation of the water resource inventory and needs assessment.

All the foregoing shall be included in a 'water resources ~~((archive))~~ information system' established and maintained by the department. The department shall develop a system of cataloging, storing and retrieving the information and studies of the ~~((archive))~~ information system so that they may be made readily available to and effectively used not only by the department but by the public generally.

NEW SECTION, Sec. 3. A new section is added to chapter 90.54 RCW to read as follows:

(1) In the development and implementation of the comprehensive state water resources program required in RCW 90.54.040(1), the process shall involve participation of appropriate state agencies, Indian tribes, local governments, and interested parties, and shall be applied on a regional basis pursuant to subsection (2) of this section.

(2) Prior to January 1, 1991, the department, with advice from appropriate state agencies, Indian tribes, local government, and interested parties, shall identify regions and establish regional boundaries for water resource planning and shall designate two regions in which the process shall be initiated on a pilot basis. One region shall encompass an area within the Puget Sound basin in which critical water resource issues exist. A concurrent pilot process may encompass a region east of the Cascade mountains.

(3) The department shall report to the chairs of the appropriate legislative committees prior to July 1st each year summarizing the progress of the pilot process in the two regions. The pilot process in each region shall be completed and shall produce a regional water plan by December 31, 1993.

(4) Appropriate state agencies, Indian tribes, local governments, and interested parties in regions not selected for the pilot program are strongly encouraged to commence water resource planning within their regions.

NEW SECTION, Sec. 4. This act is necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health, or safety, or support of the state government and its existing public institutions, and shall take effect immediately."

On page 1, line 1 of the title, after "planning;" strike the remainder of the title and insert "amending RCW 90.54.010 and 90.54.030; adding a new section to chapter 90.54 RCW; and declaring an emergency."

SSB 6792 Prime Sponsor, Committee on Economic Development & Labor: Creating the community diversification program. Reported by Committee on Trade & Economic Development

MAJORITY recommendation: Do pass with the following amendments

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

NEW SECTION, Sec. 1. The legislature finds that defense spending, defense-related industries, and military bases are important to the state's economy; that economic activity in defense-related industries can fluctuate severely when defense spending changes; and that the state, especially those communities dependent on defense-related industries or bases, have suffered in the past when federal spending changed and may suffer again because of limits on federal spending.

The legislature further finds that the state has an interest in helping defense-dependent communities, private firms, and labor organizations and employees cope with changes in the defense budget, and that economic diversification from defense-related to nondefense-related industries is a logical way to avoid the economic troubles such changes often cause.

The legislature further finds that economic diversification is different from economic development in ways not adequately addressed by existing economic development programs and requires a specialized program.

NEW SECTION, Sec. 2. Unless the context clearly requires otherwise, the definitions in this section apply throughout sections 1 through 4 of this act.

(1) 'Civilian products and services' means all products and services that can be sold to nonmilitary buyers without substantial changes in those products or services, and for which there is a market other than the military.

(2) 'Advisory committee' means the Washington state advisory committee on economic diversification created in section 3 of this act.

(3) 'Department' means the department of community development.

(4) 'Defense-dependent community' means a municipality or geographical area within the state in which the sum of salaries, wages, and procurement spending by the department of defense or defense-related spending by the department of energy or the national aeronautics and space administration is equal to at least five percent of personal income in that municipality or area during any quarter of the previous twenty-four months.

(5) 'Defense-dependent firm' means a firm, partnership, corporation, trust, association, or other form of private business organization that derived at least twenty-five percent of its gross sales during the previous twelve months from spending by the department of defense or defense-related spending by the department of energy or the national aeronautics and space administration.

(6) 'Economic diversification effort' means an effort by a defense-dependent firm or community or a labor organization in such a firm or community to change its economic activities in ways that are likely to remove the firm or community from the definition of 'defense-dependent community' or 'defense-dependent firm' set forth in subsections (4) and (5) of this section.

(7) 'Conversion' means one of several possible strategies for economic diversification and refers specifically to efforts to convert a production enterprise or military base facility from a defense-related activity to a nondefense activity.

(8) 'Industry' includes the provision of services as well as the production of goods.

(9) 'Local development organization' means a nonprofit organization intended to operate within a local area, committed to an economic diversification program, and reflecting a broad cross-section of the community, including business and labor.

(10) 'Military products and services' means products and services that cannot be sold to anyone but the military without substantial changes in the products and services, or for which there is no market except the military.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. There is created in the department of community development the Washington state advisory committee on economic diversification, which shall consist of fourteen members. The governor shall appoint the members, except for the legislative members. The committee shall include two members from the business community, one of whom shall be a representative of a defense-dependent firm; two representatives of labor organizations, one of whom shall represent employees of a defense-dependent firm; two members from community organizations active in economic diversification efforts; two members from local governments of communities dependent on defense expenditures; one member representing military leadership in the state; one member shall be a professional with expertise in the area of economic diversification; four members shall be from the legislature, one from each political caucus of the senate to be appointed by the president of the senate, and one from each political caucus of the house of representatives to be appointed by the speaker of the house of representatives. The governor shall designate the chairperson of the advisory committee from among the fourteen advisory committee members. The director of the department of community development, the director of the department of trade and economic development, and the director of the employment security department shall serve as nonvoting advisory members of the advisory committee.

(1) Members of the advisory committee shall serve for two-year terms. Vacancies shall be filled in the same way as the original appointments.

(2) Members of the advisory committee shall receive no compensation, but shall be reimbursed for travel expenses under RCW 43.03.050 and 43.03.060.

(3) The advisory committee shall be staffed by the department of community development.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4. The department with the assistance of the advisory committee shall conduct a program that promotes diversification from defense-related to nondefense-related industries and local economies. The program shall include but not be limited to the following duties:

(1) Promote and encourage economic diversification as a logical response to the problems engendered by economic dependence on defense spending, take a leading role in promoting dialogue about cuts in defense spending and in educating the public about problems associated with economic dependence on defense spending, and economic diversification responses to those problems. The activities of the department with the assistance of the advisory committee in satisfaction of this mandate may include, without limitation, public conferences, public meetings, press conferences, public speaking by department or advisory committee members or others at the department's or advisory committee's request, consulting with anyone undertaking an economic diversification effort, making fact-finding tours at members' personal expense, studying economic diversification or conversion efforts within Washington state and elsewhere in the nation and abroad, and helping and promoting one or more pilot economic diversification projects.

(2) Monitor possible shifts in defense contracts and programs, and promptly provide information about such shifts to affected firms, affected communities, labor organizations, and organizations interested in economic diversification.

(3) Research and write reports about the likely effect upon firms and communities of expected or likely shifts in defense contracts and programs.

(4) Research and write a yearly report to be issued every January, beginning in 1991, to the governor, the trade and economic development committee of the house of representatives, the economic development and labor committee of the senate, and to organizations interested in economic diversification, upon their request. The report shall review economic diversification efforts in firms and communities, review the activities of the department and the advisory committee under sections 1 through 4 of this act, review the effect on Washington firms and communities of shifts in defense contracts and programs during its previous year, identify expected and likely shifts in defense contracts and programs that may affect firms and communities in Washington, discuss the possible consequences of such shifts, identify firms and communities at risk from such shifts, and recommend possible diversification efforts and strategies to deal with shifts in defense contracts and programs.

(5) Identify defense-dependent firms and communities, review the nature and extent of that dependence, and provide information on that dependence to affected firms, communities, labor unions, local development organizations, and other affected groups.

(6) Help firms, communities, labor organizations, and local development organizations to undertake economic diversification efforts by helping them to get technical and financial help, including but not limited to help from federal, state, local, and private sources in the following areas:

(a) Training people in new skills and services;

(b) Product development;

(c) Marketing;

(d) Modifying or replacing production facilities to produce civilian goods and services;

(e) Raising money from federal, state, local, and private sources to finance economic diversification efforts, including but not limited to loans, investments, and grants.

(7) Coordinate with other state programs that assist businesses and communities, particularly regarding business turnaround efforts or product or market diversification efforts including those in the department of trade and economic development, the department of community development, and the employment security department.

(8) Formulate a state plan for diversification in defense-dependent communities in collaboration with the department of trade and economic development, the department of community development, and the employment security department. The plan shall use the information made available through the department's other actions under this section.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 5. Sections 1 through 4 of this act are each added to chapter 43.63A RCW.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 6. If any provision of this act or its application to any person or circumstance is held invalid, the remainder of the act or the application of the provision to other persons or circumstances is not affected."

ESB 6797 Prime Sponsor, Senator Benitz: Creating the fisheries 2000 council. Reported by Committee on Fisheries & Wildlife

MAJORITY recommendation: Do pass with the following amendments:

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. LEGISLATIVE FINDINGS. The legislature finds that the marine waters of Washington state are capable of supporting many forms of aquaculture, including the culturing of salmon, mussels, seaweed, oysters, and other marine species. However, in order to protect existing biological systems, protect public enhancement opportunities, and reduce conflicts with existing water uses, it is critical that aquaculture projects be appropriately sited, designed, and operated.

The legislature further finds that considerable controversy has occurred when marine fin fish net pen projects have been proposed, and that it is in the best interest of the state to find ways to minimize this conflict, reduce adverse impacts on the marine environment, and reduce adverse impacts on other uses and activities. The legislature further finds that actions are needed to increase predictability and consistency, and expedite the decision-making process for marine net pen projects.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. COUNCIL CREATED—SCOPE. The fisheries 2000 council on floating marine fin fish is hereby created. The council shall be coordinated by the department of natural resources to provide the legislature, state agencies, and local jurisdictions with recommendations on siting fin fish net pen projects in marine waters of the state, while minimizing or eliminating adverse biological effects and conflicts with other uses and activities.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. COUNCIL MEMBERSHIP. (1) The council shall include one representative from the following interests, governmental agencies, and organizations: Department of natural resources, department of ecology, department of fisheries, department of agriculture, University of Washington college of ocean and fisheries science, counties, marine fin fish growers, environmentalists, shoreline property owners, Indian tribes, marine sport anglers, and the commercial fishing industry.

(2) The agencies listed in subsection (1) of this section shall work with recognized organizations and associations that represent the interests listed in subsection (1) of this section in the selection of representatives. Every attempt shall be made to encourage recognized organizations and associations to appoint their own representative. If these organizations and associations have not identified a representative within twenty days of the effective date of this act, or if more than one representative is nominated, the department of natural resources and the other agencies listed in subsection (1) of this section will jointly make appointments within thirty days of the effective date of this act.

(3) The council shall be coordinated and chaired by the department of natural resources. The department shall use a collaborative process that is fair to all interests, and shall attempt to reach outcomes that are supported by all participants.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4. COUNCIL RESPONSIBILITIES. (1) The council shall prepare an action plan that will include recommended changes in law, rule, policy, and procedures. The action plan's objective shall be the development of a consistent, predictable framework for the appropriate siting, regulation, and monitoring of floating fin fish net pens, and the clarification of roles and responsibilities of federal, state, and local decision makers. In preparing this action plan, the council shall:

(a) Identify biological impacts and use conflicts associated with marine fin fish net pens as documented in available sources of information;

(b) Review existing federal, state, and local policies, procedures, rules, and statutes regarding marine fin fish net pens in Washington state;

(c) Review existing policies, procedures, rules, and statutes regarding marine fin fish net pens in other states and nations;

(d) Review the economic costs and benefits of marine fin fish net pens to the state and its citizens; and

(e) Address siting of net pens for enhancement of the state's public fishery resource, and resolution of possible siting conflicts with private net pen projects.

(2) In carrying out its responsibilities, the council shall provide opportunities for public participation. At a minimum, the council shall conduct public meetings during its initial fact-finding phase, and after a draft action plan is developed.

NEW SECTION, Sec. 5. FINAL REPORT AND ACTION PLAN. The council shall present the action plan required in section 4 of this act to the legislature, governor, state agency directors, and local governments by November 15, 1990.

NEW SECTION, Sec. 6. TERMINATION OF COUNCIL. The council shall cease to exist on June 30, 1991.

NEW SECTION, Sec. 7. CAPTIONS NOT LAW. Section headings as used in this act do not constitute any part of the law."

MAJORITY recommendation: Do pass with the following amendments:

*NEW SECTION, Sec. 1. (1) The legislature finds that:

(c) Fairness and equity require consistent tax treatment of computer software by all county assessors;

(d) Thorough study of computer software taxation is necessary before a permanent tax policy can be adopted; and

(e) Any inequities that might result from temporarily restricting the ability of county assessors to list and assess computer software are more than offset by avoidance of unfair and inconsistent tax treatment of computer software.

NEW SECTION, Sec. 2. For property taxes due in 1991, a county assessor shall list and assess computer software in the same manner and to the same extent as computer software was listed and assessed for taxes due in 1989. If the assessor adds an item of computer software to the assessment list for any taxpayer for 1991 taxes, and that item was not listed and assessed for 1989 taxes for that taxpayer, the assessor shall have the burden of proving the item of computer software is taxable within the intent of this act.

NEW SECTION, Sec. 3. (1) The department of revenue shall conduct a study of the taxation of computer software. The study shall focus primarily on the policy implications involved in developing clear definitions of software that should be taxable and software that should be exempt. The study shall include an examination of:

(a) The implementation of section 1 of this act by assessors in each county;

(b) Definitions of computer software and its meaning in property taxation;

(c) The appropriate application of property taxation to computer software;

(d) Taxation of computer software by other states;

(e) Alternatives to property taxation of computer software; and

(f) The advantages or disadvantages of any change, revision, or alternative to tax treatment of computer software.

(2) To perform the study, the department shall form a study committee with balanced representation from different segments of government and industry. WHEREAS, The Forest Service has demonstrated throughout the National Forest Management Act planning process that the national forests in Washington have the capability of providing, on a sustained yield, multiple-use basis, a benchmark volume of 1.5 billion board feet of timber annually while meeting all obligations and requirements of law, including stringent measures to protect water, wildlife, fish, air, and soil; and

WHEREAS, The Forest Service planning process has treated timber production and the communities dependent upon that production as only a residual value of the federal forest lands in Washington; and

WHEREAS, The historical average timber sale volume from Washington national forests for the past five years prior to 1989 is 1.2 billion board feet, or 300 million board feet less than the benchmark volume; and

WHEREAS, National Forest Management Act plans now being finalized for Washington national forests propose a further thirty-three percent reduction in harvest levels from the remaining national forest lands; and

WHEREAS, Proposals to or before the Congress call for withdrawal of up to an additional forty percent of federal harvestable lands; and

WHEREAS, These withdrawals, some of which come from the Grays Harbor Federal Sustained Yield Unit, are inconsistent with fifty-year old promises made to communities who based their livelihoods upon such promises; and

WHEREAS, The reduction of available timber cannot be made up from the sale of additional timber above sustained yield levels from private lands and state trust lands; and

WHEREAS, Approximately 180,000 Washington citizens are directly or indirectly dependent on the forest products industry for their livelihoods, it being the state's second largest employer; and

WHEREAS, The office of the governor of the state of Washington has estimated that a forty-three percent decline in the Forest Service harvest level could result in a worst-case, one-time, job loss impact of over 18,000 jobs; and

WHEREAS, The social and economic infrastructures of many rural counties and communities in Washington state are highly dependent on the forest products industry; and

WHEREAS, Timber from federal forest lands has historically contributed more than twenty percent of the raw material for the state's forest products industry and, in many communities, federal forests supply the majority of the raw material; and

WHEREAS, The reduction in federal timber harvest will significantly reduce revenues to the state of Washington from virtually all of its major revenue sources: Sales taxes, business and occupation taxes, and timber harvest excise taxes, and will reduce revenues that support schools and county government from their share of federal stumpage receipts and reduces the property tax base; and

WHEREAS, Federal, not state, decisions have and will drastically affect the timber industry and all those jobs associated with it; and

WHEREAS, The United States Forest Service has been unable to ensure stability in timber supply or stable, long-term management of our nation's forests;

NOW, THEREFORE, Your Memorialists respectfully pray that:

(1) Congress recognize its historic commitment to the timber processing communities of the state of Washington to maintain a harvestable national forest acreage base that will sustain traditional, predictable, and historical average annual sales levels;

(2) Congress directs its attention to providing funds and direction to the United States Forest Service to achieve silviculturally sound management of those lands left for timber production to fully utilize those lands to produce the wood for our nation's many wood product uses;

(3) Congress recognize the investment that communities have made based on the belief that the Forest Service lands will produce a relatively stable timber sales level and that deviations from historical sales levels can cause a community economic and social distress;

(4) Congress appropriate funds to assist local communities affected by the reduction in historic timber sales level to be used for economic diversification, modernizing mills, and encouragement of additional manufacturing in Washington;

(5) Congress include in its commitment to protecting some lands from timber harvesting a commitment to practice innovative forest management on lands not suited to traditional timber harvesting and to use timber management practices on the remaining forest land base which will produce the highest possible timber yields consistent with prudent land management;

(6) Congress amend the National Forest Management Act planning process to recognize the economic needs of people, communities, and consumers and grant them equal status and consideration with the needs of environmental protection; and

(7) Congress enact capital gains and other tax legislation which will encourage rather than discourage investment in timber production on private lands; and

BE IT RESOLVED, That copies of this Memorial be immediately transmitted to the Honorable George Bush, President of the United States, the President of the United States Senate, the Speaker of the House of Representatives, and each member of Congress from the State of Washington."

Sec. 206. Section 205, chapter 19, Laws of 1989 1st ex. sess. (uncodified) is amended to read as follows:

FOR THE DEPARTMENT OF SOCIAL AND HEALTH SERVICES—MENTAL HEALTH PROGRAM

(1) COMMUNITY SERVICES

General Fund Appropriation—State	$	((168,222,000))
		177,913,000
General Fund Appropriation—Federal	$	((91,552,000))
		94,945,000
General Fund Appropriation—Local	$	3,360,000
Total Appropriation	$	((263,134,000))

The appropriations in this subsection are subject to the following conditions and limitations: (a) A maximum of $33,012,000 of the general fund—state appropriation and $16,057,000 of the general fund—federal appropriation are provided for approved regional network plans through contracts negotiated with the secretary of social and health services.

(i) It is the intent of the legislature to implement mental health reform on a multi-year schedule. Dramatic escalation of costs for new programs would impair the state's ability to proceed with subsequent expansion. The contracts shall contain a fiscal plan that will ensure that the increased cost of maintaining fiscal year 1991 programs in fiscal year 1992 will not unduly exceed the rate of inflation. Of the amounts provided in this subsection, a maximum of $500,000 from the general fund—state appropriation may be used for planning and technical assistance grants to counties or regions wishing to form networks. The amounts in this subsection include moneys needed to implement the federal omnibus budget and reconciliation act of 1987 ('OBRA'). First priority for necessary mental health services shall be given to individuals transferred from nursing homes because of OBRA. Such services shall be consistent with an individual's discharge plan and shall include residential services, if needed. Assumptions regarding the number of transfers from the nursing homes shall be incorporated into each contract and shall be consistent with the state-wide plan. The department shall coordinate OBRA transfers consistent with the provisions of each contract. The secretary shall negotiate contracts with networks from areas comprising no more than two-thirds of the state's population. Contracts shall be negotiated in at least two competitive rounds. The first round of contracts shall be effective no later than January 1, 1990. The last round of contracts shall be effective no later than March 1, 1990.

(ii) The department shall continue contracting directly for the Kitsap mental health services residential care alternative project until such time as Kitsap county becomes or joins a regional support network. The reimbursement rate per available bed-day shall not exceed $206 in fiscal year 1990 and $210 in fiscal year 1991. During the contract period, all eligible involuntary treatment referrals for Kitsap county residents shall be made to the project. No involuntary referrals shall be made to western state hospital unless the Kitsap residential treatment facility is filled to capacity and the mental health division and the Kitsap county mental health coordinator concur with the referral. Priority for referral to western state hospital shall be given to individuals under ninety-day or one hundred eighty-day commitments and individuals who have exhausted all community placement options.

(iii) The department may continue to contract directly with Chartley house until King county joins or becomes a regional support network.

(b) $2,000,000 of the general fund—state appropriation is provided solely for a mental health housing reserve. The secretary of social and health services shall transfer funds from the reserve to the state hospitals in any quarter in which hospital census exceeds the December 1988 forecast adjusted to eliminate the bed contract assumption. Any amount remaining after March 1991 may be used for one-time grants. In making grants, the secretary shall give priority to proposals that facilitate network development, demonstrate integration with other mental health services, and are designed to reduce involuntary treatment.

(c) $5,500,000 of the general fund—state appropriation is provided solely for increases for involuntary treatment act administration, including costs associated with involuntary medication hearings.

(d) $2,200,000 of the general fund—state appropriation is provided solely for information system requirements associated with chapter 205, Laws of 1989.

(e) $600,000 of the general fund—state appropriation and $400,000 of the general fund—federal appropriation are provided solely for increasing local hospital outlier payments.

(f) $1,400,000 of the general fund—state appropriation and $500,000 of the general fund—federal appropriation are for community mental health services for children. Priority for the remaining moneys shall be given to maintaining Title XIX eligibility for children's outpatient services at risk of losing federal financial participation because of lack of state match.

(g) $3,509,000 of the general fund—state appropriation and $1,322,000 of the general fund—federal appropriation are for vendor rate increases for vendors providing services to the mental health program, as specified in section 202 of this act.

(h) $3,000,000 of the general fund—state appropriation and $2,000,000 of the general fund—federal appropriation are provided solely for the enhancement of children's mental health services. The department shall contract with networks and counties through separate performance-based contracts. Applications from counties and networks shall include endorsements from affected school districts, child welfare agencies, juvenile court systems, and tribes. Of these amounts, $200,000 is provided solely for the development of a state-wide action plan for children's mental health. The plan shall include strategies to reduce duplicate case management. It shall recommend changes, if necessary, to mental health statutes and other statutes to accommodate children's special needs and circumstances. It shall include proposals to increase access and availability of culturally relevant mental health services for minority children. It shall propose a protocol for client referrals from educational and social service agencies and a cross-system collaborative process for ranking those referrals. In developing the plan, the department shall involve representatives of the education, juvenile justice, child welfare, and mental health systems. The department shall present the plan by December 1, 1990, to the appropriate program and fiscal committees of the house of representatives and the senate.

(i) $1,500,000 of the general fund—state appropriation is provided solely for up to three comprehensive community-based pilot programs for the prevention of community violence:

(1) Pilot programs shall be established through a competitive selection process and shall provide for coordination between local law enforcement agencies and courts, local government, domestic violence and victims' support programs, public health agencies, health care providers, schools, and relevant programs within state agencies. Each program shall designate a lead agency, and develop written interagency agreements to provide a coordinated continuum of services. Pilot programs shall make every effort to preserve existing violence intervention programs and coordinate available funding for services related to community violence prevention and services to victims of violence, particularly funding provided in Engrossed Second Substitute Senate Bill No. 6259, if enacted by the legislature by June 30, 1990.

(ii) Each pilot program shall provide at least the following services: Services to family members who are victims of violence; services to victims of violent crime; case management services; specialized intervention programs for treatment of perpetrators of violence; parenting and caregiver training to families experiencing or at-risk of experiencing violence; and public education regarding community violence.

(iii) Twenty-five percent of the funding for pilot programs shall be provided in-kind or in cash by public or private entities in communities administering pilot programs.

(iv) Pilot programs shall have a duration of three years, and shall include a provision for evaluation of services provided through the program.

(ii) Fifty-one certificated instructional staff units for each one thousand full time equivalent students in kindergarten through third grade, excluding full time equivalent handicapped students ages six through eight; and

(iii) Forty-six certificated instructional staff units for each one thousand full time equivalent students in grades four through twelve, excluding full time equivalent handicapped students ages nine and above;

(b) For school districts with a minimum enrollment of 250 full time equivalent students, whose full time equivalent student enrollment count in a given month exceeds the first of the month full time equivalent enrollment count by five percent, an additional state allocation of 110 percent of the share that such increased enrollment would have generated had such additional full time equivalent students been included in the normal enrollment count for that particular month.

(c) On the basis of full time equivalent enrollment in vocational education programs approved by the superintendent of public instruction, 0.92 certificated instructional staff units and 0.08 certificated administrative staff units for each 17.5 full time equivalent vocational students, except that for skills center programs the allocation ratios shall be 0.92 certificated instructional staff units and 0.08 certificated administrative staff units for each 16.67 full time equivalent vocational students;

(d) For districts enrolling not more than twenty-five average annual full time equivalent students in kindergarten through grade eight, and for small school plants within any school district which have been judged to be remote and necessary by the state board of education and enroll not more than twenty-five average annual full time equivalent students in kindergarten through grade eight:

(i) For those enrolling no students in grades seven and eight, 1.76 certificated instructional staff units and 0.24 certificated administrative staff units for enrollment of not more than five students, plus one-twentieth of a certificated instructional staff unit for each additional student enrolled; and

(ii) For those enrolling students in grades seven or eight, 1.68 certificated instructional staff units and 0.32 certificated administrative staff units for enrollment of not more than five students, plus one-tenth of a certificated instructional staff unit for each additional student enrolled.

(e) For specified enrollments in districts enrolling more than twenty-five but not more than one hundred average annual full time equivalent students in kindergarten through grade eight, and for small school plants within any school district which enroll more than twenty-five average annual full time equivalent kindergarten through eighth grade students and have been judged to be remote and necessary by the state board of education:

(i) For enrollment of up to sixty annual average full time equivalent students in kindergarten through grade six, 2.76 certificated instructional staff units and 0.24 certificated administrative staff units; and

(ii) For enrollment of up to twenty annual average full time equivalent students in grades seven and eight, 0.92 certificated instructional staff units and 0.08 certificated administrative staff units.

(f) For districts operating no more than two high schools with enrollments of less than three hundred average annual full time equivalent students, for enrollment in grades nine through twelve in each such school, other than alternative schools:

(i) For remote and necessary schools enrolling students in any grades nine through twelve but no more than twenty-five average annual full time equivalent kindergarten through twelfth grade students, four and one-half certificated instructional staff units and one-quarter of a certificated administrative staff unit;

(ii) For all other small high schools under this subsection, nine certificated instructional staff units and one-half of a certificated administrative staff unit for the first sixty average annual full time equivalent students, and additional staff units based on a ratio of 0.8732 certificated instructional staff units and 0.1268 certificated administrative staff units per each additional forty-three and one-half average annual full time equivalent students.

Units calculated under (f)(ii) of this subsection shall be reduced by certificated staff units at the rate of forty-six certificated instructional staff units and four certificated administrative staff units per thousand vocational and handicapped full time equivalent students.

For the 1990-91 school year, no district may receive allocations under (f) (i) or (ii) of this subsection unless the district offers a high school program for district residents eligible to enroll in grades nine through twelve.

(g) For each nonhigh school district having an enrollment of more than seventy annual average full time equivalent students and less than one hundred eighty students, operating a grades K-8 program or a grades 1-8 program, an additional one-half of a certificated instructional staff unit.

(h) For each nonhigh school district having an enrollment of more than fifty annual average full time equivalent students and less than one hundred eighty students, operating a grades K-6 program or a grades 1-6 program, an additional one-half of a certificated instructional staff unit.

(3) Allocations for classified salaries for the 1989-90 and 1990-91 school years shall be calculated using formula-generated classified staff units determined as follows:

(a) For enrollments generating certificated staff unit allocations under subsections (2) (d) through (h) of this section, one classified staff unit for each three certificated staff units allocated under such subsections.

(b) For all other enrollment in grades kindergarten through twelve, including vocational but excluding handicapped full time equivalent enrollments, one classified staff unit for each sixty average annual full time equivalent students.

(c) For each nonhigh school district with an enrollment of more than fifty annual average full time equivalent students and less than one hundred eighty students, an additional one-half of a classified staff unit.

(4) Fringe benefit allocations shall be calculated at a rate of 19.80 percent in the 1989-90 school year and 19.85 percent in the 1990-91 school year of certificated salary allocations provided under subsection (2) of this section, and a rate of 17.32 percent in the 1989-90 school year and 17.37 percent in the 1990-91 school year of classified salary allocations provided under subsection (3) of this section.

(5) Insurance benefit allocations shall be calculated at the rates specified in section 505 of this act, based on:

(a) The number of certificated staff units determined in subsection (2) of this section; and

(b) The number of classified staff units determined in subsection (3) of this section multiplied by 1.152. This factor is intended to adjust allocations so that, for the purposes of distributing insurance benefits, full time equivalent classified employees may be calculated on the basis of 1440 hours of work per year, with no individual employee counted as more than one full time equivalent.

(6)(a) For nonemployee related costs associated with each certificated staff unit allocated under subsection (2) (a), (b), and (d) through (h) of this section, there shall be provided a maximum of $6,355 per certificated staff unit in the 1989-90 school year and a maximum of $6,654 per certificated staff unit in the 1990-91 school year.

(b) For nonemployee related costs associated with each certificated staff unit allocated under subsection (2)(c) of this section, there shall be provided a maximum of $12,110 per certificated staff unit in the 1989-90 school year and a maximum of $12,679 per certificated staff unit in the 1990-91 school year.

(7) Allocations for substitute costs for classroom teachers shall be distributed at a maximum rate of $290 per year for allocated classroom teachers. Solely for the purposes of this subsection, allocated classroom teachers shall be equal to the number of certificated instructional staff units allocated under subsection (2) of this section, multiplied by the ratio between the number of actual basic education certificated teachers and the number of actual basic education certificated instructional staff reported state-wide for the 1987-88 school year.

(8) The superintendent may distribute a maximum of ~~$(9,925,000)~~ 41,925,000 outside the basic education formula during fiscal years 1990 and 1991 as follows:

(a) For fire protection for school districts located in a fire protection district as now or hereafter established pursuant to chapter 52.04 RCW, a maximum of $358,000 may be expended in fiscal year 1990 and a maximum of $375,000 in fiscal year 1991.

(b) For summer vocational programs at skills centers, a maximum of $1,321,000 may be expended in fiscal year 1990 and a maximum of $1,599,000 may be expended in fiscal year 1991.

(c) A maximum of $272,000 may be expended for school district emergencies.

(d) A maximum of $~~(6,666,666)~~ 8,000,000 is provided solely for the purchase of new and replacement equipment for use primarily in approved vocational-secondary and skill center programs, including $6,000,000 provided for allocation in the 1989-90 school year. These moneys shall be allocated to school districts ~~((during the 1989-90 school year))~~ on the basis of full time equivalent enrollment in vocational programs.

(e) $25,250,000 is provided solely to employ additional elementary school classroom assistants and certificated instructional staff for the 1990-91 school year. These moneys shall be distributed in proportion to school districts' full time equivalent enrollment in kindergarten through grade five and shall be allocated according to the schedule established in RCW 28A.48.010. School districts shall use a minimum of seventy-five percent of moneys received under this subsection 8(e) to employ additional classified instructional assistants assigned to kindergarten through fifth grade basic education classrooms. Districts may use remaining moneys to employ either basic education classified instructional assistants or certificated instructional staff assigned to kindergarten through grade five. A district may not use moneys provided under this section for certificated instructional staff unless these staff are excluded when determining the district's actual K-3 staffing ratio under subsection (10) of this section and the district documents to the superintendent of public instruction that its actual K-3 ratio under subsection (10) of this section for the 1990-91 school year is at least fifty-one full time basic education certificated instructional staff per thousand full time equivalent students. Districts may not use allocations provided under this subsection to supplant other moneys previously used to employ classified instructional assistants or certificated instructional staff in kindergarten through grade five.

(9) For the purposes of RCW 84.52.0531, the increase per full time equivalent student in state basic education appropriations provided under this act, including appropriations for salary and benefits increases, is 6.07 percent from the 1988-89 school year to the 1989-90 school year, and ~~(5.74)~~ 6.56 percent from the 1989-90 school year to the 1990-91 school year.

(10) (a) The superintendent of public instruction shall revise personnel reporting systems to include information on grade level assignments of basic education certificated instructional staff, by grade level groupings of K-3, 4-6, and 7-12. The superintendent of public instruction shall collect such information from school districts beginning in the 1989-90 school year. School districts may submit supplemental information on changes in staffing levels after the initial personnel report for each school year. Staffing ratios calculated under this subsection may recognize additional staff reported, prorated by the number of months of employment during the academic year.

(b) For each school year, the funding provided under subsection (2)(a) of this section shall be based on a ratio of fifty-one certificated instructional staff per thousand students in kindergarten through grade three only if the district documents an actual ratio of at least fifty-one full time basic education certificated instructional staff per thousand full time equivalent students at those grade levels. For any school district documenting a lower ratio, the funding provided under this section shall be based on the district's actual K-3 ratio achieved in that school year, or the statutory minimum ratio established under RCW 28A.41.140(2)(c), if greater.

(c) School districts that had a ratio of fifty-one basic education certificated instructional staff per thousand students in kindergarten through grade three in the 1988-89 school year shall expend additional funding generated by the increase in staffing ratios provided in this section solely to improve staffing ratios in kindergarten through grade twelve.

Sec. 503, Section 503, chapter 19, Laws of 1989 1st ex. sess. (uncodified) is amended to read as follows:

FOR THE SUPERINTENDENT OF PUBLIC INSTRUCTION—BASIC EDUCATION EMPLOYEE COMPENSATION INCREASES

General Fund Appropriation $ ~~((+96+28,000))~~
226,991,000

The appropriation in this section is subject to the following conditions and limitations:

(1) The following calculations determine the salaries used in the general fund allocations for certificated instructional, certificated administrative, and classified staff units under section 502 of this act:

(a) Salary allocations for certificated instructional staff units shall be determined for each district by multiplying the district's certificated instructional derived base salary shown on LEAP Document 12 by the district's average staff mix factor for basic education certificated instructional staff in that school year, computed using LEAP Document 1.

(b) Salary allocations for certificated administrative staff units and classified staff units shall be determined for each district by the district's certificated administrative and classified salary allocation amounts shown on LEAP Document 12.

(2)(a) Districts shall certify to the superintendent of public instruction such information as may be necessary regarding the years of service and educational experience of basic education certificated instructional employees for the purposes of calculating certificated instructional staff salary allocations pursuant to this section. Any change in information previously certified, on the basis of years of experience or educational credits, shall be reported and certified to the superintendent of public instruction at the time such change takes place.

(b) For the purposes of this section, 'basic education certificated instructional staff' is defined as provided in RCW 28A.41.110.

(c) 'LEAP Document 1' means the computerized tabulation establishing staff mix factors for basic education certificated instructional staff according to education and years of experience, as developed by the legislative evaluation and accountability program committee on August 18, 1987, at 13:26 hours.

(d) 'LEAP Document 1R' means the computerized tabulation establishing staff mix factors for basic education certificated instructional staff according to education and years of experience, as developed on (~~May 7, 1989~~) February 17, 1990, at (~~11:00~~) 16:00 hours.

(e) 'LEAP Document 12' means the computerized tabulation of 1988-89 salary allocations for basic education certificated administrative staff and basic education classified staff and 1988-89 derived base salaries for basic education certificated instructional staff as developed on April 20, 1989, at 14:15 hours.

(f) The incremental fringe benefits factors applied to salary increases in this section shall be 1.1916 for certificated salaries and 1.1379 for classified salaries in the 1989-90 school year, and 1.1921 for certificated salaries and 1.1384 for classified salaries in the 1990-91 school year.

(3) ~~$(7,492,000)~~ 9,851,000 is provided solely to increase allocations for certificated administrative staff units provided under section 502 of this act, pursuant to this subsection. For the 1989-90 and 1990-91 school years, the allocation for each certificated administrative staff unit shall be increased by 2.5 percent of the 1988-89 state-wide average certificated administrative salary shown on LEAP Document 12, multiplied by incremental fringe benefits. For the 1990-91 school year, the allocation for two-thirds of the certificated administrative staff units shall be further increased by 2.5 percent of the 1988-89 state-wide average certificated administrative salary shown on LEAP Document 12, multiplied by incremental fringe benefits. School districts shall use the allocations generated by the 1990-91 increase under this subsection to provide salary increases for principals, vice-principals, and other school-based administrators.

(4) ~~$(27,903,000)~~ 30,401,000 is provided solely to increase allocations for classified staff units provided under section 502 of this act, pursuant to this subsection. For the 1989-90 and 1990-91 school years, the allocation for each classified staff unit shall be increased by 4.0 percent of the 1988-89 state-wide average classified salary shown on LEAP Document 12, multiplied by incremental fringe benefits. For the 1990-91 school year, the allocation for each classified staff unit shall be further increased by an additional (~~(3+2)~~) 4.16 percent of the 1988-89 state-wide average classified salary shown on LEAP Document 12, multiplied by incremental fringe benefits.

(5) ~~$(10,733,000)~~ 186,739,000 is provided solely to increase allocations for certificated instructional staff units provided under section 502 of this act, pursuant to this subsection:

(a) For any district with a derived base salary of $17,600 on LEAP Document 12, the allocation for each certificated instructional staff unit in the 1989-90 school year shall be increased by the difference between:

(i) The district's salary allocation per certificated instructional staff unit computed under subsection (1)(a) of this section, adjusted for incremental fringe benefits; and

(ii) The district's 1989-90 average certificated instructional staff allocation salary as determined by placing the district's actual full time equivalent basic education certificated instructional staff on the state-wide salary allocation schedule established in subsection (6) of this section, adjusted for incremental fringe benefits.

(b) For any district with a derived base salary greater than $17,600 on LEAP Document 12, the allocation for each certificated instructional staff unit in the 1989-90 school year shall be increased by 4.0 percent of the district's salary allocation per certificated instructional staff unit computed under subsection (1)(a) of this section, adjusted for incremental fringe benefits.

(c) For any district with a derived base salary of $17,600 on LEAP Document 12, the allocation for each certificated instructional staff unit in the 1990-91 school year shall be increased by the difference between:

(i) The district's salary allocation per certificated instructional staff unit computed under subsection (1)(a) of this section, adjusted for incremental fringe benefits; and

(ii) The district's 1990-91 average certificated instructional staff allocation salary as determined by placing the district's actual full time equivalent basic education certificated instructional staff on the state-wide salary allocation schedule established in subsection (7) of this section, adjusted for incremental fringe benefits.

(d) For any district with a derived base salary greater than $17,600 on LEAP Document 12, the allocation for each certificated instructional staff unit in the 1990-91 school year shall be increased by the difference between:

(i) The district's salary allocation per certificated instructional staff unit computed under subsection (1)(a) of this section, adjusted for incremental fringe benefits; and

(ii) The district's salary allocation per certificated instructional staff unit computed under subsection (1)(a) of this section multiplied by the compounded increase provided in this subsection, adjusted for incremental fringe benefits. The compounded increase for each district shall be 7.12 percent, compounded by the percentage difference between the district's average staff mix factor for actual 1990-91 full time equivalent basic education certificated instructional employees computed using LEAP Document 1R and such factor for the same 1990-91 employees computed using LEAP Document 1.

(6)(a) Pursuant to RCW 28A.41.112, the following state-wide salary allocation schedule for certificated instructional staff is established for basic education salary allocations for the 1989-90 school year:

(b) As used in this subsection, the column headings 'BA+(N)' refer to the number of credits earned since receiving the baccalaureate degree.

(c) For credits earned after the baccalaureate degree but before the masters degree, any credits in excess of forty-five credits may be counted after the masters degree. Thus, as used in this subsection, the column headings 'MA+(N)' refer to the total of:

(i) Credits earned since receiving the masters degree; and

(ii) Any credits in excess of forty-five credits that were earned after the baccalaureate degree but before the masters degree.

(8) For the purposes of this section:

(a) 'BA' means a baccalaureate degree.

(b) 'MA' means a masters degree.

(c) 'PHD' means a doctorate degree.

(d) 'Years of service' shall be calculated under the same rules used by the superintendent of public instruction for salary allocations in the 1988-89 school year.

(e) 'Credits' means college quarter hour credits and equivalent inservice credits computed in accordance with RCW 28A.71.110.

(9) The salary allocation schedules established in subsections (6) and (7) of this section are for allocation purposes only. However, it is the legislature's intent to respond to salary needs of many senior teachers who have not been receiving salary increments on either state or local salary schedules. The legislature and the public recognize the need to provide salary growth for these senior teachers, to encourage them to remain teaching. School districts should target moneys generated by the additional seniority steps provided for state salary funding in the 1990-91 school year to senior teachers.

Sec. 504, Section 504, chapter 19, Laws of 1989 1st ex. sess. (uncodified) is amended to read as follows:

FOR THE SUPERINTENDENT OF PUBLIC INSTRUCTION—CATEGORICAL PROGRAM SALARY INCREASES

General Fund Appropriation $ ~~(38,738,000)~~

(2) A maximum of ~~$(13,400,000)~~ 15,204,000 is provided to implement salary increases for each school year for state-supported school employees in the following categorical programs: Transitional bilingual instruction, learning assistance, education of highly capable students, vocational technical institutes, and pupil transportation. Moneys provided by this subsection include costs of incremental fringe benefits and shall be distributed by increasing allocation rates for each school year by the amounts specified:

MAJORITY recommendation: Do pass with the following amendments by Committee on Revenue and without amendments by Committee on Energy & Utilities (For committee amendments, see Journal, 47th Day, February 23, 1990.):

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

"NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. The legislature finds the best interests of the citizens of the state are served if:

(1) Customers served by public water systems are assured of an adequate quantity and quality of water supply at reasonable rates;

(2) There is improved coordination between state agencies engaged in water system planning and public health regulation and local governments responsible for land use regulation and public health and safety;

(3) Public water systems in violation of health and safety standards adopted under RCW 43.20.050 remain in operation and continue providing water service providing that public health is not compromised, assuming a suitable replacement purveyor is found, and deficiencies are corrected in an expeditious manner consistent with public health and safety; and

(4) The state address, in a systematic and comprehensive fashion, new operating requirements which will be imposed on public water systems under the federal Safe Drinking Water Act.

Sec. 2. Section 14, chapter 72, Laws of 1967 as amended by section 2, chapter 188, Laws of 1975 1st ex. sess. and RCW 36.94.140 are each amended to read as follows:

Every county, in the operation of a system of sewerage and/or water, shall have full jurisdiction and authority to manage, regulate and control it and to fix, alter, regulate and control the rates and charges for the service to those to whom such county service is available, and to levy charges for connection to such system. The rates for availability of service and connection charges so charged must be uniform for the same class of customers or service.

In classifying customers served, service furnished or made available by such system of sewerage and/or water, or the connection charges, the board may consider any or all of the following factors:

(1) The difference in cost of service to the various customers within or without the area;

(2) The difference in cost of maintenance, operation, repair and replacement of the various parts of the systems;

(3) The different character of the service furnished various customers;

(4) The quantity and quality of the sewage and/or water delivered and the time of its delivery;

(5) Capital contributions made to the system or systems, including, but not limited to, assessments; ~~((and))~~

(6) The cost of acquiring the system or portions of the system in making system improvements necessary for the public health and safety; and

(7) Any other matters which present a reasonable difference as a ground for distinction.

Such rates shall produce revenues sufficient to take care of the costs of maintenance and operation, revenue bond and warrant interest and principal amortization requirements, and all other charges necessary for the efficient and proper operation of the system.

Sec. 3. Section 5, chapter 102, Laws of 1967 ex. sess. as last amended by section 258, chapter 9, Laws of 1989 1st ex. sess. and RCW 43.70.190 are each amended to read as follows:

The secretary of health or local health officer may bring an action to enjoin a violation or the threatened violation of any of the provisions of the public health laws of this state or any rules or regulation made by the state board of health or the department of health pursuant to said laws, or may bring any legal proceeding authorized by law, including but not limited to the special proceedings authorized in Title 7 RCW, in the superior court in the county in which such violation occurs or is about to occur, or in the superior court of Thurston county. Upon the filing of any action, the court may, upon a showing of an immediate and serious danger to residents constituting an emergency, issue a temporary injunctive order ex parte.

NEW SECTION, Sec. 4. A new section is added to chapter 43.70 RCW to read as follows:

(1) In any action brought by the secretary of health or by a local health officer pursuant to chapter 7.60 RCW to place a public water system in receivership, the petition shall include the names of one or more suitable candidates for receiver who have consented to assume operation of the water system. The department shall maintain a list of interested and qualified individuals, municipal entities, special purpose districts, and investor-owned water companies with experience in the provision of water service and a history of satisfactory operation of a water system. If there is no other person willing and able to be named as receiver, the court shall appoint the county in which the water system is located as receiver. The county may designate a county agency to operate the system, or it may contract with another individual or public water system to provide management for the system. If the county is appointed as receiver, the secretary of health and the county health officer shall provide regulatory oversight for the agency or other person responsible for managing the water system.

(2) In any petition for receivership under subsection (1) of this section, the department shall recommend that the court grant to the receiver full authority to act in the best interests of the customers served by the public water system. The receiver shall assess the capability, in conjunction with the department and local government, for the system to operate in compliance with health and safety standards, and shall report to the court its recommendations for the system's future operation, including the formation of a water district or other public entity, or ownership by another existing water system capable of providing service.

(3) If a petition for receivership and verifying affidavit executed by an appropriate departmental official allege an immediate and serious danger to residents constituting an emergency, the court shall set the matter for hearing within three days and may appoint a temporary receiver ex parte upon the strength of such petition and affidavit pending a full evidentiary hearing, which shall be held within fourteen days after receipt of the petition.

(4) A bond, if any is imposed upon a receiver, shall be minimal and shall reasonably relate to the level of operating revenue generated by the system. Any receiver appointed pursuant to this section shall not be held personally liable for any good faith, reasonable effort to assume possession of, and to operate, the system in compliance with the court's orders.

(5) The court shall authorize the receiver to impose reasonable assessments on a water system's customers to recover expenditures for improvements necessary for the public health and safety.

Sec. 5. Section 6, chapter 102, Laws of 1967 ex. sess. as last amended by section 259, chapter 9, Laws of 1989 1st ex. sess. and RCW 43.70.200 are each amended to read as follows:

Sec. 6. Section 12, chapter 446, Laws of 1985 as last amended by section 3, chapter 93, Laws of 1988 and RCW 43.155.070 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) To qualify for loans or pledges under this chapter the board must determine that a local government meets all of the following conditions:

(a) The city or county must be imposing a tax under chapter 82.46 RCW at a rate of at least one-quarter of one percent;

(b) The local government must have developed a long-term plan for financing public works needs; and

(c) The local government must be using all local revenue sources which are reasonably available for funding public works, taking into consideration local employment and economic factors.

(2) The board shall develop a priority process for public works projects as provided in this section. The intent of the priority process is to maximize the value of public works projects accomplished with assistance under this chapter. The board shall attempt to assure a geographical balance in assigning priorities to projects. The board shall consider at least the following factors in assigning a priority to a project:

(a) Whether the local government receiving assistance has experienced severe fiscal distress resulting from natural disaster or emergency public works needs;

(b) Whether the project is critical in nature and would affect the health and safety of a great number of citizens;

(c) The cost of the project compared to the size of the local government and amount of loan money available;

(d) The number of communities served by or funding the project;

(e) Whether the project is located in an area of high unemployment, compared to the average state unemployment; ~~(and)~~

(f) Whether the project is the acquisition, expansion, improvement, or renovation by a local government of a public water system that is in violation of health and safety standards, including the cost of extending existing service to such a system; and

(g) Other criteria that the board considers advisable.

(3) Existing debt or financial obligations of local governments shall not be refinanced under this chapter. Each local government applicant shall provide documentation of attempts to secure additional local or other sources of funding for each public works project for which financial assistance is sought under this chapter.

(4) Before November 1 of each year, the board shall develop and submit to the chairs of the ways and means committees of the senate and house of representatives a description of the emergency loans made under RCW 43.155.065 during the preceding fiscal year and a prioritized list of projects which are recommended for funding by the legislature, including one copy to the staff of each of the committees. The list shall include, but not be limited to, a description of each project and recommended financing, the terms and conditions of the loan or financial guarantee, the local government jurisdiction and unemployment rate, demonstration of the jurisdiction's critical need for the project and documentation of local funds being used to finance the public works project. The list shall also include measures of fiscal capacity for each jurisdiction recommended for financial assistance, compared to authorized limits and state averages, including local government sales taxes; real estate excise taxes; property taxes; and charges for or taxes on sewerage, water, garbage, and other utilities.

(5) The board shall not sign contracts or otherwise financially obligate funds from the public works assistance account before the legislature has appropriated funds for a specific list of public works projects. The legislature may remove projects from the list recommended by the board. The legislature shall not change the order of the priorities recommended for funding by the board.

(6) Subsections (4) and (5) of this section do not apply to loans made for emergency public works projects under RCW 43.155.065.

Sec. 7. Section 1, chapter 93, Laws of 1988 and RCW 43.155.065 are each amended to read as follows:

The board may make low-interest or interest-free loans to local governments for emergency public works projects. Emergency public works projects shall include the construction, repair, reconstruction, replacement, rehabilitation, or improvement of a public water system that is in violation of health and safety standards and is being operated by a local government on a temporary basis. The loans may be used to help fund all or part of an emergency public works project less any reimbursement from any of the following sources: (1) Federal disaster or emergency funds, including funds from the federal emergency management agency; (2) state disaster or emergency funds; (3) insurance settlements; or (4) litigation. Emergency loans may be made only from those funds specifically appropriated from the public works assistance account for such purpose by the legislature. The amount appropriated from the public works assistance account for emergency loan purposes shall not exceed five percent of the total amount appropriated from this account in any biennium.

Sec. 8. Section 4, chapter 271, Laws of 1986 as amended by section 135, chapter 175, Laws of 1989 and RCW 70.119A.040 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) In addition to or as an alternative to any other penalty provided by law, every person who commits any of the acts or omissions in RCW 70.119A.030 shall be subjected to a penalty in an amount of not less than five hundred dollars. The maximum penalty shall be not more than five thousand dollars per day for every such violation. Every such violation shall be a separate and distinct offense. The amount of fine shall reflect the health significance of the violation and the previous record of compliance on the part of the public water supplier. In case of continuing violation, every day's continuance shall be a separate and distinct violation. Every person who, through an act of commission or omission, procures, aids, or abets in the violation shall be considered to have violated the provisions of this section and shall be subject to the penalty provided in this section.

(2) The penalty provided for in this section shall be imposed by a notice in writing to the person against whom the civil fine is assessed and shall describe the violation. The notice shall be personally served in the manner of service of a summons in a civil action or in a manner that shows proof of receipt. A penalty imposed by this section is due twenty-eight days after receipt of notice unless application for remission or mitigation is made as provided in subsection (3) of this section or unless application for an adjudicative proceeding is filed as provided in subsection (4) of this section.

(3) Within fourteen days after the notice is received, the person incurring the penalty may apply in writing to the department for the remission or mitigation of such penalty. Upon receipt of the application, the department may remit or mitigate the penalty upon whatever terms the department in its discretion deems proper, giving consideration to the degree of hazard associated with the violation, provided the department deems such remission or mitigation to be in the best interests of carrying out the purposes of this chapter. The department shall not mitigate the fines below the minimum penalty prescribed in subsection (1) of this section. The department shall have authority to ascertain the facts regarding all such applications in such reasonable manner as it may deem proper. When an application for remission or mitigation is made, a penalty incurred under this section is due twenty-eight days after receipt of the notice setting forth the disposition of the application, unless an application for an adjudicative proceeding to contest the disposition is filed as provided in subsection (4) of this section.

(4) Within twenty-eight days after notice is received, the person incurring the penalty may file an application for an adjudicative proceeding and may pursue subsequent review as provided in chapter 34.05 RCW and applicable rules of the department or board of health.

(5) A penalty imposed by a final order after an adjudicative proceeding is due upon service of the final order.

(6) The attorney general may bring an action in the name of the department in the superior court of Thurston county, or of any county in which such violator may do business, to collect a penalty.

SSB 6626 Prime Sponsor, Committee on Higher Education: Requiring an assessment of higher education needs of placebound students. Reported by Committee on Appropriations

MAJORITY recommendation: Do pass with the following amendments:

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

*NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. A new section is added to chapter 28B.80 RCW to read as follows:

The higher education coordinating board shall study upper division baccalaureate educational needs of placebound students living in areas of the state not currently served by existing postsecondary institutions or branches. The study shall include recommendations on how the needs should be addressed, and which institutions should be responsible for serving specific areas.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. The legislature finds that many individuals in the state of Washington have attended college and received an associate of arts degree, or its equivalent, but are placebound.

The legislature further finds that there exists in some public and private institutions of the state of Washington unused capacity which would be available to accommodate these students. The legislature finds that there will be a substantial saving to the state to use existing capacity in lieu of adding capacity to a branch campus or constructing additional public higher education facilities in the central Puget Sound, Tri-Cities, Spokane, southwest Washington, or Yakima areas.

The legislature intends to establish an educational opportunity grant program for placebound students who have completed an associate of arts degree, or its equivalent, in an effort to increase their participation in and completion of upper division programs. The legislature finds that the use of existing capacity for placebound students at the public and private institutions of higher education will achieve a substantial savings and enable placebound students to complete their upper division educational programs.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. The educational opportunity grant program is hereby created as a demonstration project to serve placebound financially needy students by assisting them to obtain a baccalaureate degree at public and private institutions of higher education which have the capacity to accommodate such students within existing educational programs and facilities.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4. (1) For the purposes of this chapter, 'placebound' means unable to relocate to complete a college program because of family or employment commitments, health concerns, monetary inability, or other similar factors.

(2) To be eligible for an educational opportunity grant, applicants must be placebound residents of the state of Washington who are needy students as defined in RCW 28B.10.802(3) and who have completed the associate of arts degree or its equivalent. A placebound resident is one who may be influenced by the receipt of an enhanced student financial aid award to attend an institution that has existing unused capacity rather than attend a branch campus established pursuant to chapter 28B.45 RCW. An eligible placebound applicant is further defined as a person whose residence is located in an area served by a branch campus who, because of family or employment commitments, health concerns, monetary need, or other similar factors, would be unable to complete an upper division course of study but for receipt of an educational opportunity grant.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 5. The higher education coordinating board shall develop and administer the educational opportunity grant program. The board shall adopt necessary rules and guidelines and develop criteria and procedures to select eligible participants in the program. Payment shall be made directly to the eligible participant periodically upon verification of enrollment and satisfactory progress towards degree completion.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 6. Grants may be used by eligible participants to attend any public or private college or university in the state of Washington that has an existing unused capacity. Grants shall not be used to attend any branch campus or educational program established under chapter 28B.45 RCW. The participant shall not be eligible for a grant if it will be used for any programs that include religious worship, exercise, or instruction or to pursue a degree in theology. Each participating student may receive up to two thousand five hundred dollars per academic year, not to exceed the student's demonstrated financial need for the course of study, for a period not to exceed two years.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 7. Sections 2 through 6 of this act shall constitute a new chapter in Title 28B RCW.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 8. The following acts or parts of acts are each repealed:

- (1) Section 12, chapter 7, Laws of 1989 1st ex. sess. and RCW 28B.80.530; and
- (2) Section 13, chapter 7, Laws of 1989 1st ex. sess. and RCW 28B.80.540.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 9. It is the intent of the legislature:

- (1) To protect the health, safety, and welfare of foreign students studying in Washington;
- (2) To promote quality education and living experiences for foreign students living in Washington;

Prime Sponsor, Committee on Ways & Means: Transferring power and duty to enforce cigarette and tobacco laws to the liquor control board. Reported by Committee on Revenue

MAJORITY recommendation: Do pass with the following amendments by Committee on Revenue and without amendments by Committee on Commerce & Labor (For committee amendments, see Journal, 47th Day, February 23, 1990.):

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. The legislature finds that there is a large amount of potential cigarette and tobacco tax revenue that the state is failing to collect. The legislature also finds that the reasons for the failure to collect these revenues are varied and complex. Furthermore, the legislature is cognizant of the importance of stability in the structure of state government and its agencies. Therefore, the legislature finds that it is necessary to study the effect of transferring the responsibility for collecting cigarette taxes from the department of revenue to the liquor control board. This study will be conducted in order to ascertain the potential increase in revenue to the state versus the potential costs, including: The cost of enforcement, the cost of litigation, and the cost in terms of the relationship between the state of Washington and the Indian tribes of the state.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. The cigarette and tobacco tax task force is created to conduct a study to determine which agency is best suited to collect and enforce the cigarette and tobacco tax. The task force shall:

(1) Be comprised of seven members, two of whom shall be senators, representing the majority and the minority caucuses, appointed by the president of the senate; two of whom shall be representatives, representing the majority and the minority caucuses, appointed by the speaker of the house of representatives; one of whom shall be a representative of the department of revenue, to be appointed by the director of the department; one of whom shall be a representative of the liquor control board, to be appointed by the chair of the board; and one of whom shall be a representative of the governor, to be appointed by the governor;

(2) Consider at least the following factors in determining which agency is best suited to collect and enforce the cigarette and tobacco tax: (a) Whether one agency will be better able than the other to collect and enforce the tax; (b) whether the costs of enforcement and any attendant litigation will outweigh or greatly reduce the benefit to be derived from any increase in revenue; (c) whether it would be appropriate to transfer responsibilities from one agency to another; and (d) whether increased enforcement of the cigarette and tobacco tax on Indian reservations would be in the best interest of the state of Washington;

(3) Create an advisory committee, including at least two representatives from Indian tribes and two representatives from the tobacco industry, to assist the task force in its study; and

(4) Report its findings and recommendations to the commerce and labor and revenue committees of the house of representatives, and the economic development and labor and ways and means committees of the senate, no later than January 10, 1991."

SB 6698 Prime Sponsor, Senator Metcalf: Imposing a fee on the sale of solid fuel burning devices. Reported by Committee on Revenue

MAJORITY recommendation: Do pass with the following amendments by Committee on Revenue and without amendments by Committee on Environmental Affairs (For committee amendments, see Journal, 47th Day, February 23, 1990.):

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

"NEW SECTION, Sec. 1. A new section is added to chapter 70.94 RCW to read as follows:

The joint select task force on clean air established by chapter (Engrossed Substitute House Bill No. 2277), Laws of 1990, has the authority, in addition to all other powers granted the task force, to:

- (1) Review the implementation of this act;
- (2) Review and make recommendations regarding state policies regarding the sale and use of residential solid fuel burning devices; and
- (3) Review and recommend strategies to further advance technology to reduce contaminants from residential solid fuel burning devices, including but not limited to pellet fuel burning devices.

Sec. 2. Section 6, chapter 405, Laws of 1987 and RCW 70.94.473 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) Any person in a residence or commercial establishment which has an adequate source of heat without burning wood shall:

((H)) (a) Not burn wood in any solid fuel ((heating)) burning device whenever the department has determined under RCW 70.94.715 that any air pollution episode exists in that area;

((2)) (b) Not burn wood in any solid fuel ((heating)) burning device((:)) except ((wood stoves)) those which meet the standards set forth in RCW 70.94.457, or a pellet stove either certified or issued an exemption certificate by the United States environmental protection agency in accordance with title 40, Part 60 of the code of federal regulations, in the geographical area and for the period of time that a first stage of impaired air quality has been determined, by the department or any authority, for that area. ((For the purposes of this section, impaired air quality shall mean air contaminant concentrations nearing unhealthful levels concurrent with meteorological conditions that are conducive to an accumulation of air contamination. If, after July 1, 1990, the department determines that there is quantitative evidence that wood stoves meeting the requirements of RCW 70.94.457 are contributing to impaired air quality, the department or any authority may prohibit burning of all solid fuel burning devices as provided by this section including those meeting the requirements of RCW 70.94.457.)) A first stage of impaired air quality is reached when particulates ten microns and smaller in diameter are at an ambient level of seventy-five micrograms per cubic meter measured on a twenty-four hour average or when carbon monoxide is at an ambient level of eight parts of contaminant per million parts of air by volume measured on an eight-hour average; and

(c) Not burn wood in any solid fuel burning device, including those which meet the standards set forth in RCW 70.94.457, in a geographical area and for the period of time that a second stage of impaired air quality has been determined by the department or any authority, for that area. A second stage of impaired air quality is reached when particulates ten microns and smaller in diameter are at an ambient level of one hundred five micrograms per cubic meter measured on a twenty-four hour average.

(2) When a local air authority exercises the limitation on solid fuel burning devices specified under RCW 70.94.477(2), a single stage of impaired air quality applies in the geographical area defined by the authority in accordance with RCW 70.94.477(2) and is reached when particulates ten microns and smaller in diameter are at an ambient level of ninety micrograms per cubic meter measured on a twenty-four hour average or when carbon monoxide is at an ambient level of eight parts of contaminant per million parts of air by volume measured on an eight-hour average.

When this single stage of impaired air quality is reached, no person in a residence or commercial establishment which has an adequate source of heat without burning wood shall burn wood in any solid fuel burning device, including those which meet the standards set forth in RCW 70.94.457.

Sec. 3. Section 9, chapter 405, Laws of 1987 and RCW 70.94.477 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) Unless allowed by rule, under chapter 34.05 RCW, a person shall not cause or allow any of the following materials to be burned in any residential solid fuel burning device:

((1)) (a) Garbage;

((2)) (b) Treated wood;

((3)) (c) Plastics;

((4)) (d) Rubber products;

((5)) (e) Animals;

((6)) (f) Asphaltic products;

((7)) (g) Waste petroleum products;

((8)) (h) Paints; or

((9)) (i) Any substance, other than properly seasoned fuel wood, which normally emits dense smoke or obnoxious odors.

(2) On or after July 1, 1995, a local authority may geographically limit the use of solid fuel burning devices, except fireplaces as defined in RCW 70.94.453(3), wood stoves meeting the standards set forth in RCW 70.94.457 or pellet stoves issued an exemption certificate by the United States environmental protection agency in accordance with Title 40, part 60 of the code of federal regulations. An authority shall allow an exemption from this subsection for low-income persons who reside in a geographical area affected by this subsection. In the exercise of this limitation, a local authority shall consider the following factors:

(a) The contribution of solid fuel burning devices that do not meet the standards set forth in RCW 70.94.457 to nonattainment of national ambient air quality standards;

(b) The population density of geographical areas within the local authority's jurisdiction giving greater consideration to urbanized areas; and

(c) The public health effects of use of solid fuel burning devices which do not meet the standards set forth in RCW 70.94.457.

Sec. 4. Section 2, chapter 194, Laws of 1971 ex. sess. and RCW 70.94.715 are each amended to read as follows:

The department of ecology is hereby authorized to develop an episode avoidance plan providing for the phased reduction of emissions wherever and whenever an air pollution episode is forecast. Such an episode avoidance plan shall conform with any applicable federal standards and shall be effective state-wide. The episode avoidance plan may be implemented on an area basis in accordance with the occurrence of air pollution episodes in any given area.

The department of ecology may delegate authority to adopt source emission reduction plans and authority to implement all stages of occurrence up to and including the warning stage, and all intermediate stages up to the warning stage, in any area of the state, to the air pollution control authority with jurisdiction therein.

The episode avoidance plan, which shall be established by regulation in accordance with chapter 34.05 RCW, shall include, but not be limited to the following:

(1) The designation of episode criteria and stages, the occurrence of which will require the carrying out of preplanned episode avoidance procedures. The stages of occurrence shall be (a) forecast, (b) alert, (c) warning, (d) emergency, and such intermediate stages as the department shall designate. 'Forecast' means the presence of meteorological conditions that are conducive to accumulation of air contaminants and is the first stage of an episode. The department shall not call a forecast episode prior to the department or an authority calling a first stage impaired air quality condition as provided by RCW 70.94.473(1)(b) or calling a single-stage impaired air quality condition as provided by RCW 70.94.473(2). 'Alert' means concentration of air contaminants at levels at which short-term health effects may occur, and is the second stage of an episode. 'Warning' means concentrations are continuing to degrade, contaminant concentrations have reached a level which, if maintained, can result in damage to health, and additional control actions are needed and is the third level of an episode. 'Emergency' means the air quality is posing an imminent and substantial endangerment to public health and is the fourth level of an episode;

(2) The requirement that persons responsible for the operation of air contaminant sources prepare and obtain approval from the director of source emission reduction plans, consistent with good operating practice and safe operating procedures, for reducing emissions during designated episode stages;

(3) Provision for the director of the department of ecology or his authorized representative, or the air pollution control officer if implementation has been delegated, on the satisfaction of applicable criteria, to declare and terminate the forecast, alert, warning and all intermediate stages, up to the warning episode stage, such declarations constituting orders for action in accordance with applicable source emission reduction plans;

(4) Provision for the governor to declare and terminate the emergency stage and all intermediate stages above the warning episode stage, such declarations constituting orders in accordance with applicable source emission reduction plans;

(5) Provisions for enforcement by state and local police, personnel of the departments of ecology and social and health services, and personnel of local air pollution control agencies; and

(6) Provisions for reduction or discontinuance of emissions immediately, consistent with good operating practice and safe operating procedures, under an air pollution emergency as provided in RCW 70.94.720.

Source emission reduction plans shall be considered orders of the department and shall be subject to appeal to the pollution control hearings board according to the procedure in chapter 43.21B RCW.

Sec. 5. Section 10, chapter 405, Laws of 1987 and RCW 70.94.483 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) The wood stove education and enforcement account is hereby created in the general fund. Money placed in the account shall include all money received under subsection (2) of this section and any other money appropriated by the legislature. Money in the account shall be spent for the purposes of the wood stove education program established under RCW 70.94.480 and for enforcement of the wood stove program, and shall be subject to legislative appropriation.

(2) The department of ecology, with the advice of the advisory committee, shall set a flat fee, not to exceed ~~((five))~~ fifteen dollars, on the retail sale, as defined in RCW 82.04.050, of each solid fuel burning device, excepting masonry fireplaces, after January 1, 1988. The fee shall be imposed upon the consumer and shall not be subject to the retail sales tax provisions of chapters 82.08 and 82.12 RCW. The fee may be adjusted annually above ~~((five))~~ fifteen dollars according to changes in the consumer price index after January 1, 1989. The fee shall be collected by the department of revenue in conjunction with the retail sales tax under chapter 82.08 RCW. If the seller fails to collect the fee herein imposed or fails to remit the fee to the department of revenue in the manner prescribed in chapter 82.08 RCW, the seller shall be personally liable to the state for the amount of the fee. The collection provisions of chapter 82.32 RCW shall apply. The department of revenue shall ~~((transmit the moneys to))~~ deposit fees collected under this section in the wood stove education and enforcement account.

Sec. 6. Section 3, chapter 405, Laws of 1987 and RCW 70.94.480 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) The department of ecology shall establish a program to educate wood stove dealers and the public about:

~~((+))~~ (a) The effects of wood stove emissions on health and air quality;

~~((2))~~ (b) Methods of achieving better efficiency and emission performance from wood stoves;

~~((3))~~ (c) Wood stoves that have been approved by the department;

~~((4))~~ (d) The benefits of replacing inefficient wood stoves with stoves approved under RCW 70.94.457.

(2) Persons selling new wood stoves shall distribute and verbally explain educational materials describing when a stove can and cannot be legally used to customers purchasing new wood stoves.

ESSB 6434 Prime Sponsor, Committee on Transportation: Enhancing bicycle safety. Reported by Committee on Transportation

MAJORITY recommendation: Do pass with the following amendments:

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

*NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. A new section is added to chapter 43.43 RCW to read as follows:

Bicycling is popular for all ages. Almost all families now have bicycles. Bicycling takes more skill than most people realize. Since bicyclists have a low profile in traffic and are unprotected, they need more defensive riding skills than motorists do.

A bicycle awareness program is created within the Washington state patrol. In developing the curriculum for the bicycle awareness program the patrol shall consult with the traffic safety commission and with bicycling groups currently providing bicycle safety education. The patrol shall conduct the program in conjunction with the safety education officer program and may use other law enforcement personnel and volunteers to implement the program for children in grades kindergarten through six. The patrol shall ensure that each safety educator presenting the bicycle awareness program has received specialized training in bicycle safety education and has been trained in effective defensive bicycle riding skills.

Sec. 2. Section 46.04.670, chapter 12, Laws of 1961 as amended by section 4, chapter 213, Laws of 1979 ex. sess. and RCW 46.04.670 are each amended to read as follows:

'Vehicle' includes every device capable of being moved upon a public highway and in, upon, or by which any persons or property is or may be transported or drawn upon a public highway, ((excepting)) including bicycles, but not including devices other than bicycles moved by human or animal power or used exclusively upon stationary rails or tracks, except that mopeds shall be considered vehicles or motor vehicles for the purposes of chapter 46.12 RCW, but not for the purposes of chapter 46.70 RCW, and bicycles shall not be considered vehicles for the purposes of chapter 46.12 or 46.70 RCW.

Sec. 3. Section 92, chapter 155, Laws of 1965 ex. sess. and RCW 46.61.990 are each amended to read as follows:

Sections 1 through 52 and 54 through 86 of ((this amendatory act)) chapter 155, Laws of 1965 ex. sess. are added to chapter 12, Laws of 1961 and shall constitute a new chapter in Title 46 of the Revised Code of Washington and sections 54, 55, and 63 as herein amended and RCW 46.48.012, 46.48.014, 46.48.015, 46.48.016, 46.48.023, 46.48.025, 46.48.026, 46.48.041, 46.48.046, 46.48.050, 46.48.060, 46.48.080, 46.48.110, 46.48.120, 46.48.150, 46.48.160, 46.48.340, 46.56.030, 46.56.070, 46.56.100, 46.56.130, 46.56.135, 46.56.190, 46.56.200, 46.56.210, 46.56.220, 46.56.230, 46.56.240, 46.60.260, 46.60.270, 46.60.330, and 46.60.340 shall be recodified as and be a part of said chapter. The sections of the new chapter shall be organized under the following captions: 'OBEDIENCE TO AND EFFECT OF TRAFFIC LAWS', 'TRAFFIC SIGNS, SIGNALS AND MARKINGS', 'DRIVING ON RIGHT SIDE OF ROADWAY—OVERTAKING AND PASSING—USE OF ROADWAY', 'RIGHT OF WAY', 'PEDESTRIANS' RIGHTS AND DUTIES', 'TURNING AND STARTING AND SIGNALS ON STOPPING AND TURNING', 'SPECIAL STOPS REQUIRED', 'SPEED RESTRICTIONS', 'RECKLESS DRIVING, DRIVING WHILE INTOXICATED AND NEGLIGENT HOMICIDE BY VEHICLE', 'STOPPING, STANDING AND PARKING', 'MISCELLANEOUS RULES', and 'OPERATION OF ((BICYCLES AND PLAY)) NONMOTORIZED VEHICLES'. Such captions shall not constitute any part of the law.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4. The installation of painted reflective stripes along the right edge of roadways can enhance both bicycle and pedestrian safety, but certain types of reflective materials, such as raised pavement markers can cause bicyclists to lose control of their vehicles and fall into the path of oncoming motor vehicle traffic. Therefore it is appropriate to develop uniform guidelines for the installation of reflective edgestripes along urban and rural arterials.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 5. A new section is added to chapter 47.36 RCW to read as follows:

The department of transportation shall, by January 1, 1991, adopt uniform edgestripping standards for principal and minor arterials and collector streets that do not have curbs or sidewalks and are inside urbanized areas or in other areas deemed appropriate by the department. Such arterial and collector streets shall be edgestriped in accordance with the standards by July 1, 1993.

For the purposes of this section, 'urbanized area' means an area designated as such by the United States bureau of census and having a population of more than fifty thousand.

Sec. 6. Section 46.37.480, chapter 12, Laws of 1961 as last amended by section 6, chapter 227, Laws of 1988 and RCW 46.37.480 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) No person shall drive any motor vehicle equipped with any television viewer, screen, or other means of visually receiving a television broadcast which is located in the motor vehicle at any point forward of the back of the driver's seat, or which is visible to the driver while operating the motor vehicle.

(2) No person shall operate any bicycle or motor vehicle on a public highway while wearing any headset or earphones connected to any electronic device capable of receiving a radio broadcast or playing a sound recording for the purpose of transmitting a sound to the human auditory senses and which headset or earphones muffle or exclude other sounds to both ears. This subsection does not apply to students and instructors participating in a Washington state motorcycle safety program.

(3) This section does not apply to authorized emergency vehicles.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 7. A new section is added to chapter 43.59 RCW to read as follows:

Bicycling is increasing in our state. What used to be simply a children's activity is now a common form of transportation and recreation for children, adults, and families. Increased bicycling has many benefits: It is healthy, nonpolluting, energy efficient, and does not cause wear to the road system. Bicycling is an enjoyable activity that people with a wide range of physical abilities can share. The creation of the state bicycle program specified in section 10 of this act is essential to further the benefits of bicycling to the residents of the state.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 8. A new section is added to chapter 43.59 RCW to read as follows:

(1) The Washington state traffic safety commission is responsible for the initiation and operation of a bicycle program.

(2) To assist the commission in the operation of the bicycle program, a full-time staff position of state bicycle coordinator is established. The coordinator shall be appointed by the commission and paid a salary to be fixed by the governor in accordance with RCW 43.03.040.

(3) The state bicycle coordinator shall coordinate bicycle safety related programs and bicycle tourism programs in all state agencies, encourage the use of bicycling for transportation, assist the department of transportation, and the cities and counties of the state in prioritizing, programming, and developing bicycle-related projects.

NEW SECTION, Sec. 9. A new section is added to chapter 43.59 RCW to read as follows:

The state bicycle coordinator shall:

- (1) Gather bicycle program information and resources;
- (2) Plan bicycle programs;
- (3) Work with other state agencies to develop bicycle programs;
- (4) Provide assistance in revising and updating superintendent of public instruction and state patrol bicycle material; and
- (5) Develop a grant program to distribute funds to local agencies in areas with high bicycle accident rates to create bicycle programs;

NEW SECTION, Sec. 10. Section 1 of this act shall take effect September 1, 1991, but the chief of the Washington state patrol may take any action before that date to ensure that the section is implemented on its effective date. Sections 7 through 9 of this act shall take effect July 1, 1990."

Prime Sponsor, Committee on Ways & Means: Authorizing a real estate excise tax for the acquisition of conservation areas. Reported by Committee on Revenue

MAJORITY recommendation: Do pass with the following amendments:

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

NEW SECTION, Sec. 1. The purpose of this act is to provide a mechanism for the acquisition and maintenance of conservation areas through an orderly process that is approved by the voters of a county. The authorities provided in this act are supplemental, and shall not be construed to limit otherwise existing authorities.

NEW SECTION, Sec. 2. A new section is added to chapter 36.32 RCW to read as follows:

The legislative authority of each county may acquire a fee simple interest, or lesser interest, in conservation areas in the county and may maintain the conservation areas. The conservation areas may be acquired and maintained with moneys obtained from the excise tax under section 3 of this act, or any other moneys available for such purposes.

As used in this section, the term 'conservation area' means land and water that has environmental, agricultural, aesthetic, cultural, scientific, historic, scenic, or low-intensity recreational value for existing and future generations, and includes, but is not limited to, open spaces, wetlands, marshes, aquifer recharge areas, shoreline areas, natural areas, and other lands and waters that are important to preserve flora and fauna.

NEW SECTION, Sec. 3. A new section is added to chapter 82.46 RCW to read as follows:

(1) Subject to subsection (2) of this section, the legislative authority of any county may impose an additional excise tax on each sale of real property in the county at a rate not to exceed one-half of one percent of the selling price. The proceeds of the tax shall be used exclusively for the acquisition and maintenance of conservation areas.

The taxes imposed under this subsection shall be imposed in the same manner and on the same occurrences, and are subject to the same conditions, as the taxes under chapter 82.45 RCW, except the tax does not apply to the acquisition of conservation areas by the county or state.

The county may enforce the obligation through an action of debt against the purchaser or may foreclose the lien on the property in the same manner prescribed for the foreclosure of mortgages.

The tax shall take effect thirty days after the election at which the taxes are authorized.

(2) No tax may be imposed under subsection (1) of this section unless approved by a majority of the voters of the county voting thereon for a specified period and maximum rate after:

(a) The adoption of a resolution by the county legislative authority of the county proposing this action; or

(b) The filing of a petition proposing this action with the county auditor, which petition is signed by county voters at least equal in number to ten percent of the total number of voters in the county who voted at the last preceding general election.

The ballot proposition shall be submitted to the voters of the county at the next general election occurring at least sixty days after a petition is filed, or at any special election prior to this general election that has been called for such purpose by the county legislative authority.

(3) A plan for the expenditure of the excise tax proceeds shall be prepared by the county legislative authority at least sixty days before the election if the proposal is initiated by resolution of the county legislative authority, or within six months after the tax has been authorized by the voters if the proposal is initiated by petition. Prior to the adoption of this plan, the elected officials of cities located within the county shall be consulted and a public hearing shall be held to obtain public input. The proceeds of this excise tax must be expended in conformance with this plan.

(4) As used in this section, 'conservation area' has the meaning given under section 2 of this act.

NEW SECTION, Sec. 4. A new section is added to chapter 82.46 RCW to read as follows:

(1) Subject to subsection (2) of this section, the legislative authority of a county may impose an additional excise tax on each sale of real property in the county at a rate not to exceed one-half of one percent of the selling price. The proceeds of the tax shall be used exclusively for the acquisition and maintenance of conservation areas that are critical habitat, natural areas, or urban wildlife habitat. As used in this section:

(a) 'Critical habitat' means lands important for the protection, management, or public enjoyment of certain wildlife species or groups of species, including, but not limited to, wintering range for deer, elk, and other species, waterfowl and upland bird habitat, fish habitat, and habitat for endangered, threatened, or sensitive species.

(b) 'Natural areas' means areas that have, to a significant degree, retained their natural character and are important in preserving rare or vanishing flora, fauna, geological, natural historical, or similar features of scientific or educational value.

(c) 'Urban wildlife habitat' means lands that provide habitat important to wildlife in proximity to a metropolitan area.

(d) 'Conservation area' has the meaning given under section 2 of this act.

(2) The taxes imposed under this section shall be imposed in the same manner and on the same occurrences, and are subject to the same conditions, as the taxes under chapter 82.45 RCW.

(3) If a tax is imposed under this section by counties with a total population greater than fifty percent of the state population, the tax under this section shall be imposed throughout the state at a rate of one-half of one percent and administered by the department of revenue under chapter 82.45 RCW. The proceeds of the tax imposed under this subsection shall be distributed to counties in proportion to the taxable sales in each county.

Sec. 5. Section 14, chapter 49, Laws of 1982 1st ex. sess. and RCW 82.46.040 are each amended to read as follows:

Any tax imposed under (~~RCW 82.46.010~~) this chapter and any interest or penalties thereon is a specific lien upon each piece of real property sold from the time of sale until the tax is paid, which lien may be enforced in the manner prescribed for the foreclosure of mortgages.

Sec. 6. Section 15, chapter 49, Laws of 1982 1st ex. sess. and RCW 82.46.050 are each amended to read as follows:

The taxes levied under (~~RCW 82.46.010~~) this chapter are the obligation of the seller and may be enforced through an action of debt against the seller or in the manner prescribed for the foreclosure of mortgages. Resort to one course of enforcement is not an election not to pursue the other.

Sec. 7. Section 16, chapter 49, Laws of 1982 1st ex. sess. and RCW 82.46.060 are each amended to read as follows:

Any taxes imposed under (~~RCW 82.46.010~~) this chapter shall be paid to and collected by the treasurer of the county within which is located the real property which was sold. The treasurer shall act as agent for any city within the county imposing the tax. The county treasurer shall cause a stamp evidencing satisfaction of the lien to be affixed to the instrument of sale or conveyance prior to its recording or to the real estate excise tax affidavit in the case of used mobile home sales. A receipt issued by the county treasurer for the payment of the tax imposed under (~~RCW 82.46.010~~) this chapter shall be evidence of the satisfaction of the lien imposed in RCW 82.46.040 and may be recorded in the manner prescribed for recording satisfactions of mortgages. No instrument of sale or conveyance evidencing a sale subject to the tax may be accepted by the county auditor for filing or recording until the tax is paid and the stamp affixed thereto; in case the tax is not due on the transfer, the instrument shall not be accepted until suitable notation of this fact is made on the instrument by the treasurer."

Prime Sponsor, Committee on Transportation: Authorizing special license plates and emblems. Reported by Committee on Transportation

MAJORITY recommendation: Do pass with the following amendments:

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

NEW SECTION, Sec. 1. A new section is added to chapter 46.16 RCW to read as follows:

(1) The department may create, design, and issue special license plates, upon terms and conditions as may be established by the department, that may be used in lieu of regular or personalized license plates upon vehicles. The special plates may denote the age or type of vehicle or may denote special activities or interests, status, or contribution or sacrifice for the United States, the state of Washington, or the citizens of the state of Washington, of a registered owner of that vehicle.

(2) The department has the sole discretion to determine whether or not to create, design, or issue any series of special license plates and whether any activity, status, contribution, or sacrifice merits the issuance of a series of special license plates. In making this determination, the department shall consider whether or not an activity or interest proposed contributes or has contributed significantly to the public health, safety, or welfare of the citizens of the United States or of this state or to their significant benefit, or whether the activity, interest, contribution, or sacrifice is recognized by the United States, this state, or other states, in other settings or contexts. The department may also consider the potential number of persons who may be eligible for the plates and the cost and efficiency of producing limited numbers of the plates. The design of a special license plate shall conform to all requirements for plates for the type of vehicle for which it is issued, as provided elsewhere in this chapter.

NEW SECTION, Sec. 2. A new section is added to chapter 46.16 RCW to read as follows:

The department shall continue to issue, under section 1 of this act and the department's rules implementing sections 1 through 9 of this act, the categories of special plates issued by the department under the sections repealed under section 13 (1) through (7) of this act. Special license plates issued under those repealed sections before January 1, 1991, are valid to the extent and under the conditions provided in those repealed sections. The following conditions, limitations, or requirements apply to certain special license plates issued after January 1, 1991:

(1) A horseless carriage plate and a plate or plates issued for collectors' vehicles more than thirty years old, upon payment of the initial fees required by law and the additional special license plate fee established by the department, are valid for the life of the vehicle for which application is approved by the department. When a single plate is issued, it shall be displayed on the rear of the vehicle.

(2) The department may issue special license plates denoting amateur radio operator status only to persons having a valid official radio operator license issued for a term of five years by the federal communications commission.

(3) The department shall issue one set of special license plates to each resident of this state who has been awarded the Congressional Medal of Honor for use on a passenger vehicle registered to that person. The department shall issue the plate without the payment of any fees.

(4) The department may issue for use on only one motor vehicle owned by the qualified applicant special license plates denoting that the recipient of the plate is a survivor of the attack on Pearl Harbor on December 7, 1941, to persons meeting all of the following criteria:

(a) Is a resident of this state;

(b) Was a member of the United States Armed Forces on December 7, 1941;

(c) Was on station on December 7, 1941, during the hours of 7:55 a.m. to 9:45 a.m. Hawaii time at Pearl Harbor, the island of Oahu, or offshore at a distance not to exceed three miles;

(d) Received an honorable discharge from the United States Armed Forces; and

(e) Is certified by a Washington state chapter of the Pearl Harbor survivors association as satisfying the qualifications in (c) of this subsection.

The department may issue such plates to the surviving spouse of any deceased Pearl Harbor survivor who met the requirements of this subsection. If the surviving spouse remarries, he or she shall return the special plates to the department within fifteen days and apply for regular plates. The surviving spouse must be a resident of this state.

The department shall issue these plates upon payment by the applicant of all other license fees, but the department may not set or charge an additional fee for these special license plates under section 4 of this act.

(5) The department shall replace, free of charge, special license plates issued under subsections (3) and (4) of this section if they are lost, stolen, damaged, defaced, or destroyed. Such plates shall remain with the persons upon transfer or other disposition of the vehicle for which they were initially issued, and may be used on another vehicle registered to the recipient in accordance with the provisions of section 5(1) of this act.

NEW SECTION, Sec. 3. A new section is added to chapter 46.16 RCW to read as follows:

Persons applying to the department for special license plates shall apply on forms obtained from the department and in accordance with RCW 46.16.040. The applicant shall provide all information as is required by the department in order to determine the applicant's eligibility for such special license plates and for administration of sections 1 through 9 of this act.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4. A new section is added to chapter 46.16 RCW to read as follows:

The department may establish a fee for the issuance of each type of special license plate or plates in an amount calculated to offset the cost of production of the special license plate or plates and the administration of this program. The fee shall not exceed thirty-five dollars and is in addition to all other fees required to register and license the vehicle for which the plates have been requested. All such additional special license plate fees collected by the department shall be deposited in the state treasury and credited to the motor vehicle fund.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 5. A new section is added to chapter 46.16 RCW to read as follows:

If a person applies for a transfer of the plate or plates to another eligible vehicle, a transfer fee of five dollars shall be charged in addition to all other applicable fees. Such transfer fees shall be deposited in the motor vehicle fund. Failure to surrender the plates when required is a traffic infraction.

(2) If the special license plate or plates issued by the department become lost, defaced, damaged, or destroyed, application for a replacement special license plate or plates shall be made and fees paid as provided by law for the replacement of regular license plates.
