Give them both wisdom and a spirit of cooperation. And by their patience and energy, may they work together, and combine their many insights and talents so as to better the lives of all the citizens of our Evergreen State. With prudence and foresight may our legislators strive earnestly and successfully during their session for the true betterment of our State's citizens and sojourners.

To you Oh God we offer praise and thanksgiving both now and always. Amen."

Secretary of State Sam Reed: "Thank you very much. It is indeed an honor to be here on the opening day of session. For many of you, this is day one of an entirely new chapter of your life. Do well, work hard, meet new friends, reach out for solutions to difficult problems and represent your constituents to the best of your ability. As your Secretary of State it is an honor to present to each of you your certificate of election. Cherish this paper because frankly you have worked mighty hard to get it. I have had the privilege to represent our nation a couple of times overseas as an election observer. One experience was in Uganda after what Idi Amin had done to destroy that nation. Everywhere I went around that country, when people found out I was an American, they grasped my hand with two hands and said "America, America". That is what this means and remember this heritage as you serve during this session. This is a short time in the history of human experience that we have had this concept of a representative democracy. Wear it well.

Thank you and congratulations."

The motion to postpone indefinitely may be made at any stage of the bill except when on first reading.

(D) MOTIONS DECIDED WITHOUT DEBATE. A motion to adjourn, to recess, to lay on the table and to call for the previous question shall be decided without debate.

All incidental motions shall be decided without debate, except that members may speak to points of order and appeal as provided in Rule 22.

(E) MOTION TO ADJOURN. A motion to adjourn shall always be in order, except when the house is voting or is working under the call of the house; but this rule shall not authorize any member to move for adjournment when another member has the floor.

Members Right to Debate

Rule 16. The methods by which a member may exercise his or her right to debate are as follows:

(A) RECOGNITION OF MEMBER. When any member desires to speak in debate or deliver any matter to the house, the member shall rise and respectfully address the speaker and pause until recognized.

(B) ORDER OF SPEAKING. When two or more members arise at once, the speaker shall name the one who is to speak.

No member shall speak more than twice on the same question without leave of the house: PROVIDED, That the chair of the committee or the mover of the question may close debate if it is consistent with Rule 18 (Previous Question).

Rules of Debate

Rule 17. The rules for debate in the house are as follows:

(A) QUESTION OF PRIVILEGE. Any member may rise to a question of privilege and explain a personal matter, by leave of the speaker, but the member shall not discuss any pending question in such explanations.

(B) WITHDRAWAL OF MOTION, BILL, ETC. After a motion is stated by the speaker or a bill, memorial, resolution, petition, or remonstrance is read by the clerk, it shall be deemed to be in possession of the house, but may be withdrawn by consent of the house at any time before decision or amendment.

(C) READING OF A PAPER. When the reading of any paper is called for and is objected to by any member, it shall be determined by a vote of the house.

(D) DISTRIBUTION OF MATERIALS. Any materials of any nature distributed to the members' desks on the floor shall be subject to approval by the speaker and shall bear the name of at least one member granting permission for the distribution. This shall not apply to materials normally distributed by the chief clerk.

(E) ORDER OF QUESTIONS. All questions, whether in committee or in the house, shall be propounded in the order in which they are named except that in filling blanks, the largest sum and the longest time shall be put first.

(F) DIVISION OF POINTS OF DEBATE. Any member may call for a division of a question which shall be divided if it embraces subjects so distinct that one being taken away a substantive proposition shall remain for the decision of the house; but a motion to strike out and to insert shall not be divided. The rejection of a motion to strike out and to insert one proposition shall not prevent a motion to strike out and to insert a different proposition.

(J) TRANSGRESSION OF RULES - APPEAL. If any member, in speaking or otherwise, transgresses the rules of the house the speaker shall, or any member may, call the member to order, in which case the member so called to order shall immediately sit down unless permitted to explain; and the house shall, if appealed to, decide the case without debate; if there be no appeal, the decision of the chair shall prevail.

If the decision be in favor of the member called to order, the member shall be at liberty to proceed; if otherwise, and the case shall require it, the member shall be liable to the censure of the house.

Ending of Debate - Previous Question

Rule 18. The previous question may be ordered by a two-thirds (2/3) vote of the members present on all recognized motions or amendments which are debatable.

The previous question is not debatable and cannot be amended.

The previous question shall be put in this form: "Representative _____ demands the previous question. As many as are in favor of ordering the previous question will say 'Aye'; as many as are opposed will say 'No'."

The results of the motion are as follows: If determined in the negative, the consideration goes on as if the motion had never been made; if decided in the affirmative it shall have the effect of cutting off all debate and bringing the house to a direct vote upon the motion or amendment on which it has been ordered: PROVIDED HOWEVER, That when a bill is on final passage or when the motion to postpone indefinitely is pending, one of the sponsors of the bill or the chair of the committee may have the privilege of closing debate after the previous question has been ordered.

If an adjournment is had after the previous question is ordered, the motion or proposition on which the previous question was ordered shall be put to the house immediately following the approval of the journal on the next working day, thus making the main question privileged over all other business, whether new or unfinished.

Voting

Rule 19. (A) PUTTING OF QUESTION. The speaker shall put the question in the following form: "The question before the house is (state the question). As many as are in favor say 'Aye'; and after the affirmative vote is expressed, "as many as are opposed say 'No'."

Upon a division and count of the house on the question, only members at their desks within the bar of the house shall be counted.

(C) CHANGE OF VOTE. When the electric roll call machine is used, no member shall be allowed to vote or change a vote after the speaker has locked the roll call machine. When an oral roll call is taken, no member shall be allowed to vote or change a vote after the result has been announced.

(D) PRIVATE INTEREST. No member shall vote on any question which affects that member privately and particularly. A member who has a private interest in any bill or measure proposed or pending before the legislature shall disclose the fact to the house of which he is a member, and shall not vote thereon. (Art. II § 30)

(E) INTERRUPTION OF ROLL CALL. Once begun, the roll call may not be interrupted. No member or other person shall visit or remain at the clerk's desk while the yeas and nays are being called.

(F) YEAS AND NAYS - RECORDED VOTES. Upon the final passage of any bill, the vote shall be taken by yeas and nays and shall be recorded by the electric voting system: PROVIDED, HOWEVER, That an oral roll call shall be ordered when demanded by one-sixth (1/6) of the members present. (Art. II § 21)

The speaker may vote last when the yeas and nays are called.

When the vote is by electric voting machine or by oral roll call on any question, it shall be entered upon the journal of the house. A recorded vote may be compelled by one-sixth (1/6) of the members present. A request for a recorded vote must be made before the vote is commenced.

(G) TIE VOTE, QUESTION LOSES. In case of an equal division, the question shall be lost.

(H) DIVISION. If the speaker is in doubt, or if division is called for by any member, the house shall divide.

Reconsideration

Rule 20. Notice of a motion for reconsideration on the final passage of bills shall be made on the day the vote to be reconsidered was taken and before the house has voted to transmit the bill to the senate.

Reconsideration of the votes on the final passage of bills must be taken on the next working day after such vote was taken: PROVIDED, That on and after the fifth day prior to the day of adjournment sine die of any session, as determined pursuant to Article II, Section 12 of the state Constitution, or concurrent resolution, or on and after the third day prior to the day a bill must be reported from the house as established by concurrent resolution, then reconsideration of votes on the final passage of bills must be taken on the same day as the original vote was taken.

A motion to reconsider an amendment may be made at any time the bill remains on second reading.

Any member who voted on the prevailing side may move for reconsideration or give notice thereof.

A motion to reconsider can be decided only once when decided in the negative.

When a motion to reconsider has been carried, its effect shall be to place the original question before the house in the exact position it occupied before it was voted upon.

Call of the House

When call of the house has been ordered, the sergeant at arms shall close and lock the doors, and no member shall be allowed to leave the chamber: PROVIDED, That the rules committee shall be allowed to meet, upon request of the speaker, while the house stands at ease: AND PROVIDED FURTHER, That the speaker may permit members to use such portions of the fourth floor as may be properly secured.

(B) SERGEANT AT ARMS TO BRING IN THE ABSENTEES. The clerk shall immediately call a roll of the members and note the absentees, whose names shall be read and entered upon the journal in such manner as to show who are excused and who are absent without leave.

The clerk shall furnish the sergeant at arms with a list of those who are absent without leave, and the sergeant at arms shall proceed to bring in such absentees; but arrests of members for absence shall not be made unless ordered by a majority of the members present.

(C) HOUSE UNDER CALL. While the house is under a call, no business shall be transacted except to receive and act on the report of the sergeant at arms; and no other motion shall be in order except a motion to proceed with business under the call of the house, a motion to excuse absentees, or a motion to dispense with the call of the house. The motion to proceed with business under the call of the house and the motion to excuse absent members shall not be adopted unless a majority of the members elected vote in favor thereof. The motion to dispense with the call of the house may be adopted by a majority of the members present.

Appeal from Decision of Chair

HOUSE RESOLUTION NO. 4600 was adopted.

ELECTION OF THE SPEAKER

Representative Linville: "Madam Chief Clerk, it is an honor and a privilege to nominate Frank Chopp for Speaker of the Washington State House of Representatives.

I am supporting Frank because he is a man of experience, action and leadership for whom the phrase, "working together for one Washington" is not a hollow slogan, but a plan of action for our state. Frank grew up in Bremerton where he became a champion for hard working citizens and good jobs. As CEO of the Fremont Public Association, he has managed budgets, personnel and development and advocated for our state's most vulnerable citizens.

In 1996 he was elected to his first legislative leadership position. Frank has a track record of getting things done because he believes in action; whether it is preventing an enormous increase in unemployment insurance, enacting a patient's bill of rights, funding improvements to educational salaries and class size or passing agriculture and water packages to help our rural areas.

Frank has demonstrated the ability to work across party lines, geographic and economic divides and social and cultural differences. Frank's skills will serve us well as we enter this difficult session. This is a session where challenge and opportunity will go together to increase the public's confidence in the effectiveness of their government, to enhance the quality of life in our communities and to ensure a robust economy for our citizens.

Finally, Frank and I belong to the Croatian Caucus. Membership benefits include racing around a hall carrying a whole lamb that Frank roasted and learning ethnic dances that rival any aerobics program, if you can survive. Zivio Frank.

I ask the members of this body to join me in electing Representative Frank Chopp, Speaker of the House."

Representative Cox: "It is a privilege and honor to nominate Representative Cathy McMorris as Speaker of the House of Representatives.

My friend and colleague from the 7th District has the experience, the talent and the temperament to serve as a distinguished leader of this institution. During our recent reorganization, our caucus recognized in her a leader who not only is inclusive, thorough and thoughtful, but one who instinctively balances gentleness with people and firmness on issues. Today, she serves as the first woman, and among the youngest in our state's history, to lead either caucus in the House of Representatives. Regardless of how we vote, I would hope you would join me in congratulating her for the example she has set by choosing to make a difference in her community and our state.

These facts are a tribute to her leadership, but they are not the reason I stand here today to offer her name as a nominee for Speaker. While younger than most of us, Representative McMorris has served in this body now for a decade, after being a legislative assistant. She knows the needs of staff, as well as members, and has a profound respect for both. She has experience bringing lawmakers together to reach resolution on critical and emotional issues in her years as committee chair and co-chair. And she brings a knowledgeable, fresh and visionary approach to decision-making.

I know personally the depth of Representative McMorris' motivation to make a positive difference in our state, and what she has sacrificed to take on this responsibility. She is poised to use her leadership abilities to accomplish a number of goals we can all agree are critical. Specifically, she is committed to enacting reforms that will preserve and create jobs for families. These jobs will enhance prosperity and improve the economy throughout Washington. She is also dedicated to restoring the people's trust in state government. And she will work with all members to serve our seniors, students and those who feel disenfranchised. Her example as a person and her success in achieving positive results through the legislative process demonstrate to young and old that every citizen can make a difference by serving with integrity, honesty and compassion.

Representative McMorris offers not only fresh leadership, but gives this institution a positive and hopeful spirit as we take on the enormous challenges of the session. I'm pleased to make this nomination and I ask you to support Cathy McMorris as Speaker of the House. "

POINT OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Representative McMorris: "Ladies and gentlemen of the House, I rise to respectfully withdraw my name for consideration as Speaker. As they say at the Academy Awards, it's an honor just to be nominated. Instead, I urge the body to give its support once again to Speaker Chopp."

MOTIONS

Representative Kessler moved the nominations for the Office of Speaker of the House of Representatives be closed and the motion was carried.

Representative Kessler moved that the rules be suspended, and that by a voice vote of the House, Representative Frank Chopp be elected Speaker of the House of Representatives. The motion was carried.

Representative Linville escorted Speaker-elect Frank Chopp to the Rostrum. Chief Justice Alexander administered the Oath of Office to Speaker Chopp.

SPEAKER'S COMMENTS

Speaker Chopp: "Thank you, Kelli. The people of the 42nd district are lucky to have you representing them. I appreciate your kind words. Thank you.

This is not only the first day of a new session. It is the first day of an entirely new set of dynamics in the Legislature, with new leadership and new ideas at the table.

I'd like to start off by congratulating one of these new leaders, the Republican leader: Cathy McMorris. We also have twenty new Representatives in the House. Last year we welcomed our new members to the People's House. This year let's welcome them to the People's Portable.

While I'm at it let me recognize my wife Nancy Long, and my Mom, Anne Brozovich Chopp.

As we start this session I am reminded of the Chinese proverb that says "the person who says it cannot be done should not interrupt the person doing it." As we move into this session, you are going to be surrounded by doomsday predictions and long lists of tough choices. Despite all of that we need to keep our focus on getting the job done. And we will!

What you see as you look ahead to this session depends on what you look for. If you are looking for problems, they are there. But these are not problems without solutions. The work of this body is to choose the solutions that best serve the people of our state.

Finding our way to agreement on the best solutions will require all of us to think and behave differently. It means we can't waste time labeling solutions as Republican or Democrat. It means we can't assume that the ideas of new members take a back seat. It means we can't afford to rehash the past and let the future slip out of view. It means we must all Work Together for One Washington.

We are all here to provide the citizens of this state with the most effective and efficient government. And we all want to increase jobs and business development opportunities. Now, certainly, the details about how we do these things get complicated, but today, let's not forget that we are all here for these same results.

About the economy: One way to improve the lives of our people is to provide leadership for our economy. Democrats and Republicans, the House, the Senate and the Governor all agree that we need to continue the work we have started on the recommendations of the Governor's Competitiveness Council. Last session, we passed several pieces of legislation. Already we have created one of the best worker-retraining programs in the nation. This is critical since a well-honed economy depends on a well-trained workforce that matches the needs of employers. As we make progress on the Council's recommendations for improving education and transportation and removing obstacles to economic development it is important not to forget all the things about Washington state that have made it home to some of the world's greatest businesses.

1. Washington is the leading state in the nation in the creation of new companies.
2. And we're in the top ten of all states in the Small Business Survival Index for 2002.
3. We're one of the nation's five top centers for biotechnology companies.
4. In our state, we have the second leading high tech capital in the United States!
5. We're fourth in exports.
6. In our tremendously productive agricultural industry, Washington state has been declared by the International Wine Spectator magazine as the wine region of the year. Guess what, we're the best in the world!
7. Close to home and also of great importance, Washington has the highest proportion of residents with high school diplomas, in the nation.

That's what we should be telling people about doing business in Washington state.

We need to be sure that the conditions that led to the development of Microsoft, Starbucks, Nordstrom, and Costco – and many, many smaller businesses – are maintained and enhanced. We are pleased to see an extension of some unemployment benefits at the federal level. But unemployment benefits can never match the benefits of employment. We need more jobs that pay a wage that allow people to live long and prosper.

As we work to improve the business climate, we must remember the workers who are weathering this economic storm. And we will!

About education: It is important not to let short term thinking harm the long term future of our schools. We should be tremendously proud of what Washington's teachers and schools are doing to improve education. And we are! We must not reverse this progress! We are seeing rising test scores, and parents, teachers, administrators and school employees are pulling together to make our schools better. It is possible to make progress in education, despite our budget problems.

For example, we should consider the proposal made by former Governors Dan Evans and Booth Gardner to build the schools and colleges that tomorrow's students will need. We often talk about stretching our tax dollars. Well, one way to do it is to take advantage of the lowest interest rates in 30 years!

About the budget: When we address this challenge part of the solution is obvious:

1. Find innovative ways to squeeze more value out of every tax dollar.
2. Cut back programs that are a low priority.
3. Search out opportunities to consolidate programs.
4. Use state revenues to leverage federal dollars.

The truth is, there are many ways we can improve the lives of Washington's people without increasing state spending. For example, prescription drug reform is one thing we can do for our budget and for our citizens.

But even if we do all these things and seize every possible opportunity to provide state services faster, better, and cheaper – we will still face difficult budget cuts and deferrals of important programs.

As we look at the margins of our budget, let us remember those who live at the margins of our society:

1. the disabled,
2. the mentally ill

3. the homeless families,
4. the elderly living in home and nursing care.

As members of this House, we have a fundamental and moral responsibility to our fellow members of humanity.

So, as we re-examine the core functions of government, we must remember the heart of government.

There are some who say the voters rejected the recent gas tax proposal because they don't trust government. And there's some truth to that. That's why we should make our next steps in transportation a showcase of how to build trust in government.

Our transportation committee intends to start with legislation to make our Department of Transportation more accountable, more efficient, and more responsive to what the public wants.

And let's not forget that we are making some progress in transportation. For example, we are building one of the largest and most important transportation projects in state history – the second Tacoma Narrows Bridge. And we did it with public financing, and with public control, saving hundreds of millions of dollars over time. This project will improve capacity, benefit the economy, and save lives.

As we work together to further address our transportation challenges and all of the challenges facing us, let us try to find a clear vision through our windshield, not just the rear view mirror.

It takes creativity and hard work to see things as they are but still believe that you can work for positive change. Our choice is, as a Ziggy cartoon once said, "You can complain because roses have thorns, or you can rejoice because thorns have roses."

Let's get to work!"

POINT OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Representative McMorris: "Thank you Mr. Speaker. I would like to extend my congratulations. I would like to pledge to our friends across the aisle, to you personally, Mr. Speaker, and to the citizens of the State that this caucus – the House Republicans – intends to be proactively involved in the problem-solving necessary to put our State back on track.

We have identified two goal for the upcoming session: One, we want to create jobs for our families and two, restore the people's trust in state government.

Our State is in crisis. Our unemployment is among the highest in the nation. Families are hurting and unable to find work. Our health care costs are rising while the options available for families to find care have diminished. And the citizens have told us that they don't trust government enough yet to spend an additional nine cents at the gas pump to help get them out of traffic.

And yet, I stand here to convey a message of hope and confidence in our ability to address the needs of families. Why? Because I believe it is in times of crisis that our common ground comes more clearly into focus.

I come from the heart of northeastern Washington and I've worked, I've attended school and I've traveled all across this State. I see more similarities than differences in the issues that families everywhere are facing. They want job security, improved quality of life, the best education possible for their kids, prosperity, safe neighborhoods and healthy families. We want to reach out, address issues that matter most and solve problems.

Above all, we have to be honest about these issues. We have to be straightforward in our approach – with each other and with the citizens. We need a genuine dialogue advantage. We must make positive and meaningful changes in the everyday lives of the people of this State.

Let's show the citizens we are worthy of their trust and that we are capable of doing the job they sent us here to do. We can create incredible momentum toward positive change and a return to prosperity.

Thank you."

ELECTION OF SPEAKER PRO TEMPORE

Representative Kagi: "Thank you, Mr. Speaker. I am very honored to nominate Representative John Lovick as Speaker Pro Tempore this afternoon. For four years serving in this body and for twenty nine years serving as a state patrolman, John has demonstrated that he is a man of character and of great integrity. He has also demonstrated tremendous respect for this institution and for the decorum of the House. When he gave a speech from the floor of the House four years ago when he was sworn in, John gave us a picture of why he holds this body in particular regard. He spoke of going to the polls in Louisiana with his grandmother many years ago and watching his grandmother pay a poll tax. It was an amazing statement of where we have been and how far we have come. His grandmother is here today. It is wonderful that John's grandmother and family can be here to celebrate this historic swearing in.

John Lovick brings a very rich history to the Speaker Pro Tem position but most of all he inspires the best of us by setting a high standard of civil discourse and of mutual respect. He represents the best this country has to offer and I am very honored to place his name in nomination.”

MOTIONS

Representative Kessler moved that the nominations for the Office of Speaker Pro Tempore of the House of Representatives be closed. The motion carried.

Representative Kessler moved that the rules be suspended, and that by a voice vote of the House, Representative John Lovick be elected to the position of Speaker Pro Tempore of the House of Representatives. The motion was carried.

Representative Kagi escorted Speaker Pro Tempore Lovick to the Rostrum. Chief Justice Alexander administered the Oath of Office to Speaker Pro Tempore Lovick.

SPEAKER PRO TEMPORE COMMENTS

Speaker Pro Tempore John Lovick: "Speaker Chopp, Representative McMorris, Chief Clerk. Thank you colleagues for this honor today. I am truly honored. I would also thank my predecessor Representative Val Ogden. I know we will all dearly miss her.

I would like to thank a few people. My grandmother, who is here today, used to tell me when I was kid that behind every man is a good woman. In this case, there are three great women behind me. First of all, I would like introduce my wife Karen. We have five kids and one point five grandchildren. Second, I would also like to thank Mrs. Hazel Gershowitz. Hazel's husband was my commander in the Coast Guard. She has played the most vital role in my life; she took me into her home many years ago when I came to Washington from Louisiana. I cannot tell you the great things she has done for me. Thank you Hazel for all you have contributed to my life.

And lastly, my special guest, my grandmother, Elsie Lee Lovick. I watched with great amazement as my grandmother raised me from the day I was born until I left and joined the Coast Guard in 1968. And I have to tell you, Grandmother, I know you paid a tremendous price for the privileges and honors I receive today. I want you to know that you have always been the wind beneath my wings and you are my hero. Everything I am and all that I will be in my life is because of you. Thank you so very much.

I want to tell you my grandmother brought us threw some very tough times. We are facing some tough times this session. Maybe the worst in two decades. After a long period of economic expansion we have a huge budget shortfall and one of the highest unemployment rates in the nation. As we consider what to do with our State budget, our education system, our health care programs and social services, let us remember Hubert Humphrey's words. Hubert Humphrey died twenty five years ago today. Humphrey once said 'let the moral test of government is how it treats those who are in the dawn of life, the children; those who are in the twilight of life, the elderly and those who are in the shadow of life, the sick, the needy and the handicapped.' Each and everyone of us want the same things that my grandmother worked hard for all of these years – a better life for our families. As we begin this session we must remember that it is indeed our job to help individuals and families make a better life for future generations.

Thank you very much and may God bless you and may God continue to bless America."

ELECTION OF CHIEF CLERK

Representative Kenney: "Thank you, Mr. Speaker. It gives me great pleasure to nominate Cindy Zehnder as Chief Clerk of the Washington State House of Representatives.

The Chief Clerk plays an important role in the successful operations of the House of Representatives. Responsibilities include administrative and committee support, staff, budget, security and facilities. Cindy brings unique capabilities to this role, having served as co-Chief Clerk and then Chief Clerk. She has proven abilities in the development and implementation of policy, extensive negotiation experience in both the public and private sectors with an in-depth knowledge of media and public relations. Her skills in strategic planning, information technology and quality improvement are positive contributions.

Cindy has demonstrated her leadership skill in working with diverse groups and individuals, especially this group—all 98 of us—which in itself can be a challenge. I had the pleasure of meeting Cindy in our other lives (a number of years ago) and I always admired her ability to stay cool under pressure (not that there is any pressure in this job) and also her ability to listen and work together with others to find solutions to the issue at hand.

Cindy's great laugh and sense of humor remind us not only that laughter is good for the soul, but there are times we shouldn't take ourselves too seriously. She has been a great Chief Clerk and I am proud to support the nomination of Cindy Zehnder as Chief Clerk of the House and I hope you will, too!

Thank you."

The flags were escorted to the Rostrum by the Washington State Patrol Color Guard. The prayer was offered by Rabbi Michael Latz, Temple Bnai Torah.

Rabbi Latz: "Sunrise - the first brilliant rays of a new day, the morning light illuminates possibility for each of us, the wide expanse of the day unfolds before our eyes. Night - tis the evening that frightens us. Young children wake terrified from nightmares and the old find themselves in the dark alleys of despair. The inability to see clearly in the dark terrifies us the most.

So many of us prefer the daylight - the brilliance of the sun, the clarity of its purpose. But as Sophocles wisely teaches "one must wait until evening to see how splendid the day has been." It live a full day together we must face the night.

Dusk now descends upon Washington. For years we celebrated the prosperity of the light, a robust economy, security, growth and opportunity. But such celebrations today are but memory's fodder - they seemingly evaporated as quickly as morning fog in August. The question before us today dances through the air like fireflies on a warm spring evening. Will we illuminate a new path? Like stars that echo Heaven's radiance, will we be vessels to carry forth the light?

There is risk born when we face the darkness - why? Because we must recognize those places within ourselves that are unseen, that we fear being exposed - our personal flaws and our failure - for we have know the darkness. Centuries ago, enslaved Israelites pleaded with Pharaoh to set them free. He stubbornly refused and darkness descended upon the land. And yet in the hovels of slavery the flames of justice burned unconsumed - no great power, no fanatic tyrant was able to extinguish the promise of human dignity, the promise of our full worth. And in our own time we call to memory Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. who's birth we celebrate tomorrow. In the valleys of hatred and in the alleys of corruption, he led the way for each of us to dream for ourselves and our children. They could enslave the body but the soul longs to sing forever free.

Today, we must confront the depths of our anguish and the remote despair. We look at the raging indifference of midnight and the haunting simplicity of twilight. We wistfully long for the moments when it was all so simple, so clear and so bright. Some of use will close our eyes and wish our fears away but history call to us - to each of us - and we cannot escape her haunting presence. And so we us answer the call to carry the torch of justice, integrity and freedom forward. And we must answer her in the affirmative. Tis our only choice. For ours is to face the questions of ultimate concern - eternity calls to us - heed the cries of our companions, heed their suffering. With our collective strength, with the sweat of our spirit and the tears of our souls, we can kindle the tiny embers of possibility until they smolder with the radiance of the Universe. And in the depths of our conscience, a whisper for generations past and those yet to be, we can hear humanity's song, light is sewn for the righteous and justice shines like a beacon.

To embrace a new day together, we must face the night."

President Owen stated the purpose of the Joint Session was to receive the Governor's State of the State message.

GOVERNOR'S STATE OF THE STATE

Governor Locke: "Mr. President, Mr. Speaker, Honorable Chief Justice, distinguished Justices of the Supreme Court, members of the Consular Association, statewide elected officials, members of the Washington State Legislature, people of Washington:

It's great to welcome many friends back to Olympia. I'd also like to especially welcome the new members of this 58th Legislature. I share your pride in the opportunity to serve the people of Washington. And I look forward to a productive session in which we work together across party lines to meet our state's pressing challenges, advance our vision of Washington's future, and leave at the end of the session with the people's business completed.

We will be tested by difficult decisions. And I believe we have uniquely promising opportunities to advance our agenda for a better Washington.

Tough Times

Today we face tough economic times. A national recession, the nation's third highest unemployment rate, and the largest deficit in the history of our state—$2.4 billion. Washington families are struggling, and uncertain about their future. We can and will direct our own destiny. We can and will continue to be trailblazers as we have in the past. We can and will lead the way by showing discipline, creativity, and common sense in tackling today's challenges.

Tough Choices—The Budget

We will make tough choices in the days ahead. But tough choices today mean a better tomorrow. We must restore public trust in government by making the hard choices—and the right choices. Choices that protect our state's most vital interests. Choices that strongly position our state for a sustainable future. A future of stronger communities, a more vibrant economy, a healthier environment, and a continued high quality of life. I think of our state as a family, struggling through difficult economic times right now. And like every family, we will continue to take care of one another. We will continue to plan for the future and better times for our children and grandchildren.

We will build such a future by focusing on what matters most. The way to get back on our feet economically is to live within our means. By sticking together and sacrificing together, we will get through these tough times.

The results-oriented budget I have proposed is a bold response to our deficit. Nearly every state in America faces serious economic challenges. But we are the first state in the nation to tackle our problems head-on by re-examining how we govern—and fundamentally changing how we govern. Our Priorities of Government approach is becoming a model for other states to follow.

We exhaustively studied all that we do—examining some 1,400 state government activities. Then, like a family on a very tight budget, we sat down and looked at how we've typically spent our money. We decided how we now need to spend it to get the results we want.

My budget proposal clearly states what we believe are the priorities of state government: education, jobs, healthy families, safe communities, and protection of vulnerable children and adults. We must all be disciplined in our approach. In preparing this proposal, I made decisions that were personally difficult. There are programs and services we will each be reluctant to see reduced or eliminated. But we must focus on our core priorities.

The budget I've proposed will let us do what matters most without a general tax increase. A general tax increase in these tough economic times will hurt, not help, our economic recovery. The $2.4 billion dollar deficit would require a sales tax increase of over 1 percent. That will not help struggling families. That will not help struggling businesses.

The tough choices we make today will lead us to a better, more secure tomorrow.

Education First

Even as we make necessary reductions, we must still aggressively pursue our highest priorities—and we will. Education remains my highest priority. We are committed to building a world-class education system. Education is the key to a vital economy and a prosperous future for our children. We must continue to invest in the future—in their future.

It is vitally important that we protect the core of education even as we make deep and painful budget cuts in other areas. That's why 56% of the proposed budget is allocated to education. K-12 education is one of the very few areas in which we will be spending more in the upcoming biennium than in the current one.

There has been some confusion about my intentions regarding Initiative 728 and 732. I want to emphasize that my budget proposal delays—not cancels—both voter-approved initiatives. During the past two years, Initiative 728 provided $400 million to reduce class size in public schools. Under my proposal, schools will continue to receive that money during the next two years. Further enhancements will resume again in the 2005-2006 school year.

My plan also calls for the automatic cost-of-living adjustments for teachers to be reinstated beginning in 2005. I acknowledge the many teachers and supporters who are in Olympia today, rallying in support of education. I appreciate the dedication and hard work of our educators. We ask you to do so much. You are not paid enough. I wish we could do more.

I remain committed to high standards, goals and expectations for achievement for every student in every school. We must continue the gains we have made. The test scores of our students have consistently improved. We've seen great progress at schools like Garfield Elementary in Spokane, where the percentage of 4th graders meeting the math standards has gone from only 14% to 81% in just a few years. Schools like Union Gap Elementary, where the percentage of 4th graders meeting the reading standards has gone from only 21% to 74%. We've seen reading scores climb for all grades in our state, thanks to programs like the Washington Reading Corp, which has helped 22,000 struggling readers advance in their reading skills by more than one full grade level.

While test scores are on the rise, there's a widening disparity between minority and white students... that growing achievement gap is unacceptable. A good education is a universal right and must never depend on circumstances of social or economic standing. We'll close the gaps by reforming the Learning Assistance Program to ensure that the schools with at risk kids receive and keep the money they need.

As I announced yesterday, we must also simplify and reform the WASL high school graduation requirements. I support a constitutional amendment to allow the passage of school levies by a simple majority of the voters. If we can build police stations, symphony halls, low-income housing and professional sports stadiums with a simple majority, then it should also be sufficient for our schools. It's time to remove artificial distinctions between neighboring school districts. Currently, some school districts right next door to one another have vastly different levy limits. That's not fair, and that's why I'm proposing legislation that would allow all school districts the opportunity to ask their local voters for levies up to 36% of their levy base.

That will also help those districts with high costs of living meet the needs of their teachers. We are honoring our commitment to education. As I said, K-12 education is one of the very few areas in which we will be spending more in the upcoming biennium than in the current one.

But we can and must do more. Building an education system where every child achieves his or her potential requires new approaches and new commitments. The structure and funding of our education system has not changed even as we have learned more about what's needed and even as we have demanded more of our students and teachers. We must recognize that the lines we have traditionally drawn between pre-school and K-12, and between K-12 and college are artificial. Our education system must be seamless, with all components—from early learning to graduate school—working together as one.

That system needs stable and dedicated funding. I intend to work with education and legislative leaders in establishing an Education Trust Fund to address urgent needs and reforms not covered in the education budget. We may be facing tough economic times, but education, and especially higher education, is a key part of our economic engine. I will not propose a general tax increase to fund this Trust. Rather, we will consider other funding sources such as "sin taxes."

Jobs are the Key

A strong education system prepares our workforce for good, family-wage jobs. And jobs are the key to economic recovery. We must do all we can this session to create and support jobs in our state. That's why I have a five-point plan for jobs and economic recovery.

First, we will create new jobs by building a better Washington. Approving my state construction budget will mean more than 13,000 new private sector construction and other family-wage jobs during the next two years - jobs building and renovating buildings on the campuses of our colleges and universities, public schools and our prisons. Let's approve the state construction budget as early as possible and get those family-wage jobs to the workers who need them. Let's build a better Washington.

Second, we must intensify our focus on trade and the jobs that trade creates. Last year, our trade missions to Japan, Korea, China and Singapore were successful in advancing trade partnerships with some of the world's most promising markets. We returned from Japan and Korea with immediate new sales for Washington businesses. Last month we promoted Boeing airplane sales in China and promoted biotechnology in Singapore. China is already our 3rd largest export trade partner. It is a huge market with great potential for the sale of Washington products and services. And Singapore is now interested in funding biotech companies in our state. We must continue to pursue these golden opportunities to create jobs in our state.

Third, we must continue to improve our business climate to keep our state competitive in attracting and keeping businesses. We are making exceptional progress. Over the years, we've reduced the B&O tax on businesses, cut red tape, and streamlined regulatory processes. The Department of Ecology has set a goal to act on 90% of all permits within 90 days. We're on target to meet this goal. We approved a Safeway distribution center—the largest construction project in Safeway's history—in less than 60 days. Indeed, in the last 12 months, three national companies chose Washington over other Northwest states for major facilities and hundreds of jobs: Safeway in Auburn, WalMart in Grandview, and Ferguson Enterprises in Tri-Cities. I am directing that these successful practices be implemented all across our state government. These successes can and will increase.

The fourth point in my jobs and economic recovery plan is new economic development tools. Our Constitution prohibits many incentives that other states use to attract businesses. I am proposing to add a new funding tool that will allow local governments to finance the critical infrastructure that businesses are looking for in making location and expansion decisions. Our proposal will help attract at least $400 million in private sector investment.

The Community Economic Revitalization Board program has attracted a British Columbia manufacturing company to Blaine, a grass seed cleaning operation to Odessa, and a technology center to the Port of Chelan County. This program has created thousands of jobs for rural areas, but has lost its funding source. So I'm submitting legislation to provide permanent funding to keep this program going. It's a strong source of good jobs for rural families and I hope you'll support it.

Fifth and finally, we must continue to create jobs with investments in education, especially by supporting industries of the future like biotechnology and software. I'm proposing $20 million in higher education funding to expand enrollments at our colleges and universities by more than 1,500 students, dedicated exclusively to such high-demand fields as engineering, computer science and health care. Our state's businesses continue to need these critical skills. I don't want Washington companies to have to hire people from out-of-state to meet their needs. I want Washington citizens to have the first chance at filling these good paying jobs. We're also providing funding to retrain more than 7,200 unemployed workers.

Following this five-point plan and working together will lead us to more jobs and accelerate our economic recovery.

Transportation Solutions Now

Of course, we need an efficient transportation system to attract and retain businesses. The transportation crisis is too important to ignore. We still need to fix our deadliest roads and highways. And making improvements to Washington's roads, public transit, and ferries will also bring more family-wage jobs—thousands of them.

For too many legislative sessions, we have deferred, delayed and postponed. Our state's transportation problems must be solved here in Olympia. We will do it by working together—Democrats and Republicans. The longer we wait, the more it will cost. So let's get started.

Environment

As the Competitiveness Council emphasized, a strong business climate does not mean lowering environmental standards. Just last month, businesses, environmentalists and local government announced an historic agreement to protect our shorelines. I want to thank our Attorney General Christine Gregoire for helping mediate that agreement.

I'm proposing funding to implement that agreement. We can be proud that we have a rescue tug to protect our coastline and the Strait of Juan de Fuca from oil spills. Funding for that rescue tug must continue.

Over the years, my administration has worked hard on other environmental issues critical to our state, such as salmon restoration and modernizing our water laws. I congratulate the Legislature for the great strides we've made, but there's more to do. We need to help more communities fix unfit drinking water systems, and move forward on water storage projects.

Keeping the Safety Net Intact

The soaring costs of medical care have exacerbated our state's fiscal condition. We can't handle these skyrocketing costs alone and forever at the state level. We must continue to push Congress and the Administration to provide a national solution to the nation's health care woes. The good news is that even in these tough economic times, my budget proposal continues to fund all existing health care programs for children. We will still be among the top three or five in the nation in providing health care for our kids.

But let's recognize that the cost of prescription drugs is a key driver of our escalating health care costs. As a purchaser of prescription drugs, the state must implement a preferred drug list of safe, effective and affordable drugs to reduce the costs to state government. And let's work together to extend the state's buying power to benefit seniors and others without prescription drug coverage. I'm also proposing that we establish a new Senior Prescription Drug Information Clearinghouse. This program will help low-income seniors obtain drugs that are available free, or at low cost, from pharmaceutical companies. It will also provide information on generic drugs and discount purchasing clubs.

Government Efficiency

As we strive to do more with less, we will continue to work hard to make state government more efficient, more effective and less costly. We'll continue to find ways to better serve the people of our state through technology. Many of our agencies and their services have been rated the best in the nation, thanks to the work of state employees. Unfortunately, state government employees will feel the pain of cutbacks. The state workforce will continue to shrink—a total of 2,500 full-time jobs will be eliminated in the next 12 months. These employment reductions are necessary, but not easy. I deeply appreciate the hard work of our state employees. Their dedication to their jobs and to our state is remarkable. And I ask for their continued dedication. State workers are the face of our government, and directly interact with our citizens. We count on state employees every day to make government work—and work well. So, on behalf of the people of Washington, I thank our state employees.

Conclusion/Vision

Difficult times remind us that we cannot do everything. But we can do the things that matter most by being disciplined, creative and determined. And like any family, we can do our best to learn from hard times and plan for the future. I am proposing a constitutional amendment for a constitutionally-protected "rainy day fund." As our economy recovers, we must make every effort to protect ourselves and set aside resources to help our state the next time we experience hard times.

I am confident that we will overcome our challenges. Tough decisions today will bring us a better tomorrow. I want a Washington known across America as "The Education State." I want a Washington where every person has ample opportunity to earn a good living and hold a family-wage job. I want a Washington that protects and takes care of its most vulnerable children and adults, a state where people feel safe and secure and part of a caring community. I want a Washington that attracts new businesses and is confidently geared toward the prosperous industries of the future. And I want a Washington with an unrivaled quality of life, and a sustainable future of exceptional education, economic vitality and a healthy environment. A state where our children and grandchildren will want to live, work, and raise their families.

Join me in making this happen. If we work hard, if we work together, if we make the tough choices, we will accomplish great things.

Thank you and God bless you all."

The Sergeant at Arms announced that the Statewide Elected Officials had arrived. The President asked the Statewide Elected Officials to seats within the Chamber. The President introduced: State Treasurer Mike Murphy, State Auditor Brian Sonntag, State Attorney General Christine O. Gregoire and Superintendent of Public Instruction Terry Bergeson.

Madsen, Justice Richard B. Sanders, Justice Faith Ireland, Justice Bobbe Bridge, Justice Tom Chambers, Justice Susan Owens and Justice Mary Fairhurst.

The flags were escorted to the Rostrum by the Washington State Patrol Color Guard. The prayer was given by Pastor Neal Neuenschwander, Lacey Presbyterian Church.

"Gracious and Holy God, God of justice, God of mercy, God of wisdom, God of strength, You have given us a beautiful state. The majestic evergreens, the fertile river valleys, and the mighty mountains declare your praise.

You have also given us a strong system of state government undergirded by judicious women and men who interpret our constitution and resolve the competing values for which our people strive. As we begin our task this season, Lord, give us the wisdom to see that the values that unite us are greater than those that can divide us. Let justice, fairness, and freedom be our aim. Give us the courage to represent the best qualities of our constituents. Goodness, patience, charity, — not the petty, vindictive, or mean. Finally, give us the humility to seek your face for mercy, love, and grace — especially when negotiations become heated and the day is long for we ask it by the prompting of your Spirit and the guidance of your Holy Word.

Amen."

STATE OF THE JUDICIARY

Chief Justice Gerry Alexander: "Lieutenant Governor Owen, Speaker of the House Chopp, members of the House and Senate, state elected officials, Pastor Neuenschwander, fellow justices and judges, ladies and gentlemen.

Good morning, and welcome to the Temple of Justice. Let me first thank all of the members of the legislature for the warm welcome you have accorded me and my fellow justices on this and other occasions. Let me also extend our thanks to the leaders of this legislature for inviting me, as chief justice, to deliver this address to you on behalf of the judiciary of the state of Washington. We know that time is at a premium for senators and representatives during a legislative session. We know also that you need not accord me this privilege. The state constitution only requires the governor to deliver a message to the legislature. While that same document requires the justices of the Supreme Court to report to the governor in writing on or before January 1 of each year on defects and omissions in the law, it does not require our court to report to the legislature nor does it require you to provide us that opportunity. But by a custom that has developed over the past decade, the chief justice of the Washington Supreme Court has been invited to speak to the legislature every other year, on the state of our justice system. The fact that you provide us this opportunity speaks well of the legislative branch of government and we are most grateful for the opportunity to report to you and thereby to the people of the state of Washington.

Let me first observe that today's joint session of the legislature is historic. It is because this is the first time since the Supreme Court moved into the Temple of Justice way back in 1913 that a session of the legislature has been held in this building. Since that early time, the room we are in now has served exclusively as the courtroom of the Supreme Court. But today it is not functioning as a courtroom, but, rather, as the venue for this joint legislative session. We want you to know that despite the fact this is our normal courtroom, today you in the legislature are the home team and we on the court are the visitors.

Before I speak about the judiciary as a whole, let me say a word to you about the Supreme Court. We have a very fine court and I am immensely proud of it and my colleagues. I was very honored when two years ago they elected me to serve a four-year term as chief justice. I can assure all of you that my colleagues and I are absolutely unified in our desire to work together with our judicial colleagues at all levels of court, to keep the promise of providing equal and quality justice to all who enter the courts of this state.

The membership of the Supreme Court has not changed very much since I addressed you two years ago. Eight of the nine justices before you now were on the court then and I think most of you are somewhat familiar with us. You may not, though, be as well acquainted with our newest member, so let me say a brief word about Justice Mary Fairhurst, who swore her oath in this courtroom on Monday of this week. Justice Fairhurst comes to our court from Attorney General Gregoire's office where she served for sixteen years as an assistant attorney general, most recently as the chief of the very important Revenue, Bankruptcy and Collections Division. Justice Fairhurst is a former president of the Washington State Bar Association, only the third justice in the long history of this court to have served in that important position prior to coming to this court. Interestingly, Justice Tom Chambers who sits next to her on the bench was the second former WSBA president to come to this court. Although it has been extensively reported, it bears repeating that Justice Fairhurst's entry onto the Supreme Court alters the gender balance of the court for the first time in our state's 114 year history, and, as I said at the induction ceremony, this is an historic event. You may recall that two years ago I told you that when Justice Owens took the oath a few days before my address to you, our court instantly had more women among its membership than any Supreme Court of the 50 states. We still enjoy that distinction, but we also have a majority of women, a distinction that is shared only by the Ohio Supreme Court. Please join me in welcoming Justice Fairhurst to the Washington Supreme Court.

Whenever a new person comes on the court it is a happy occasion, but it is always accompanied by a tinge of sadness. That is because when someone new comes on the court that means that a veteran has left to create the opening. So as happy as we are to welcome Justice Fairhurst, we will still miss our friend and colleague, Justice Charles Z. Smith, at our conference table. I have asked Justice Smith to be here today and I would like him to stand so that you can join me in thanking him for his 50-plus years of devoted service to the people of the state of Washington, as a justice, judge, educator, prosecutor, news commentator, civil rights pioneer, and in countless other activities—Justice Smith.

Let me now, in my capacity as this state's 52nd chief justice, speak to you about the state of Washington's justice system. I feel comfortable telling you, as I did two years ago, that our justice system is in relatively good shape. The system is not perfect, to be sure, but the judicial branch is managing to hold its head above water despite the many and increasing demands that have been placed upon it. This would not be true, of course, without the hard work and ingenuity of the judicial officers of this state and the many dedicated employees of the judicial branch, including the excellent elected and appointed county clerks in each of our counties. I can't begin to convey to you the depth of my admiration for the outstanding work of the 217 full- and part-time judges of our district and municipal courts who hold forth in the towns, cities, and counties of our state and who manage caseloads made heavy with over two million filings each year. Our 175 superior court judges are equally as dedicated and hard working, managing to stay on top of caseloads that are enriched each year by over a quarter of a million new filings in those courts located in every county of our state. Collectively, our two levels of trial court entertain approximately one case filing for every 2.5 citizens each year—cases that run the gamut from parking citations to aggravated first degree murder, and from small claims to cases that involve millions and, in some cases, billions of dollars and significant public issues.

I am also very proud of our two levels of appellate courts. I have already made reference to the court on which I sit, the Supreme Court. Let me brag a bit about our State Court of Appeals, that workhorse court which sits in three divisions and doesn't get near the credit that it deserves. Unlike the Supreme Court, it is without discretion to decline an appeal—it must take all cases that are ripe for review. In 2002, that court managed to maintain its tradition of staying current despite an influx of approximately 4,200 appeals, personal restraint petitions, and other petitions.

I wish I could have invited every judicial officer in the state to be here today, but, obviously, space limitations wouldn't permit that and besides, as you can tell from my remarks, they have work to do at home. I did, though, ask a few judges to be here to represent all of our state's judges—allow me to introduce them to you. Representing the district and municipal court judges, one of our state's very fine young judges, Judge Stephen Dwyer, of the Snohomish County District Court. Judge Dwyer is president of the District and Municipal Court Judges' Association. Representing the superior courts, we have one of the state's most energetic judges, King County Superior Court Judge Deborah Fleck. Judge Fleck is president of the Superior Court Judges' Association. Representing the 23 judges of our Court of Appeals, a veteran judge and old friend, Judge John Schultheis, from Division Three in Spokane. He is presiding chief judge of the Court of Appeals.

Let me take just a few minutes to describe to you some of the really positive things that have taken place in the judicial branch since I addressed you two years ago. Frankly, it is hard to know where to begin because there is so much energy and creativity out there in the field. Consequently, I am just going to scratch the surface.

I will start by saying that one of our proudest accomplishments was gaining passage of ESJR 8208. As you know, that constitutional amendment provides our hard-pressed superior court jurisdictions with greater flexibility in harnessing the assistance of elected judges from other levels of court as judges pro tem when those courts are faced with backlog problems. Of course, we would never have achieved this important reform without the support of the 57th Legislature, of which most of you were a part. That legislature passed what was then a proposed constitutional amendment on to the people and gave it a large boost with over a two-thirds vote in each house. The people then approved the measure in November of 2001, by an almost 70% affirmative vote, the highest affirmative vote given to any ballot measure that year.

I can tell you that this amendment, which we in the judiciary refer to as the "portability of judges" amendment, is working well and is helping jurisdictions keep on top of ever increasing caseloads without having to ask you in the legislature to increase the number of judgeships. For example, in the King County Superior Court, our state's largest superior court jurisdiction, that court is utilizing the service of elected judges from other levels, primarily the King County District Court, to the tune of 4.1 full-time equivalents. That has been a life saver for that busy court, but the life ring could disappear if the number of district court judges for that county is reduced, as some have suggested.

I am proud to report to you on the progress we have made toward revising our time for trial rules for criminal cases—the so-called "speedy trial" rules. You may recall that these rules, which apply to all criminal cases in superior court and courts of limited jurisdiction, came to the attention of the 2002 session of the legislature, when the rules came under some criticism. You may recall that I thereafter appeared before a committee of the House of Representatives and indicated that even though we had not received any recommendations for modification of these rules in recent years, we were willing to look at the rules from top to bottom to see if they should be modified in light of the concerns that were then being expressed. The Supreme Court immediately followed up on that promise and appointed a broad based task force to examine the rules. Four legislators, two from the House and two from the Senate, served on that task force, which was chaired by Professor David Boerner of the Seattle University Law School, a former King County deputy prosecutor. We received the report of the task force this past October together with suggested revisions to the rules. The Supreme Court then asked the Board for Judicial Administration, which is the policy setting body for the entire court system, to consider the task force proposal and give us the benefit of their recommendations. We felt this was important because two-thirds of the membership of that board are trial judges, and it is our trial judges who are ultimately responsible for assuring compliance with the time for trial rules. That board will consider the proposal for the second time at its meeting on January 24, after which it will send its recommendations on to our court. I can tell you, speaking for myself, that the task force did a fine job in drafting rules that appear to be designed to preserve the values of the current rule—which is moving criminal cases through the system promptly—while at the same time providing trial judges with greater flexibility in managing their caseloads and dealing with unforeseen circumstances. I am confident that the Supreme Court will take action on the task force’s proposal before this legislative session is completed.

I wish time permitted me to expound at length about the continued expansion of our so-called problem solving courts. I’m speaking of our drug courts, mental illness courts, and domestic violence courts. The drug courts, in particular, have been hugely successful in employing tough love to resurrect the lives of many of our young people who had literally reached bottom due to drug dependency. I am pleased to tell you that while two years ago we had drug courts in 12 of our counties, we now have them in 14 counties and more are on the way.

I wish also that time permitted me to go into detail about the court rule we enacted since I last addressed you that tightens up the qualifications that court appointed counsel must have in order to represent a person charged with a capital offense. Let me simply say that we now have the strictest rules in the nation and, again thanks to the 57th Legislature, the Office of Public Defense had funds which enabled it to provide training to interested attorneys so that we could enlarge the pool of counsel deemed qualified in cases where the death penalty is sought.

Finally, let me tell you very briefly about the rule the Supreme Court adopted very recently requiring all judicial officers in this state, from municipal court judges up to and including Supreme Court justices, to obtain the same number of continuing education credit hours as attorneys have been required to obtain. This rule also requires each judge, justice, or court commissioner to attend our State Judicial College within one year of assuming office. On Monday I spoke to the judges who are just now attending our week long Judicial College in Tacoma. I am pleased to inform you that there were about 60 judges in attendance, the largest attendance ever in the long history of the college.

Now if up to this point I sound a bit like a Pollyanna, I must plead guilty. As I have said, I am immensely proud of the many accomplishments that I have told you about and many more that I have not mentioned. At the same time I must again say that our justice system is not perfect. There is no institution that has been created by humans that can’t be made better and we recognize that in the judicial branch. We are, therefore, committed to making improvements and that is what I would like to discuss with you now very briefly. Again, time won’t permit me to discuss all of our goals with you. Let me, if I may, mention three, and then close by telling you about one goal in progress.

First, we are requesting the creation of five additional superior court judgeships, and one additional district court judgeship. It has been four years since the number of superior courts in this state was increased and despite the best efforts of our judges, the caseloads in some jurisdictions have expanded to the point where new judges are needed. We are requesting two additional superior court judges and one additional district court judge for Clark County, the state’s fastest growing county. We are asking for one additional superior court judge for the Benton-Franklin County joint judicial district, and one each in Kittitas and Kitsap Counties.

Next, let me advise you that the judiciary is asking the legislature to increase funding for our state’s judicial information system. We have, for a number of years, been fortunate in Washington to have one of the most efficient judicial information systems in the nation, one that has truly been a model for other states. Unfortunately, the system has to some extent become a victim of its own success. While it was a state of the art system 20 years ago, it is now underfunded and not entirely prepared for the internet revolution. Our Judicial Information System Committee, which is chaired by Justice Bridge, has compared our system to an eight track tape system, an aging relic that costs too much to maintain. We need to invest in JIS because judges, prosecutors, and law enforcement officers all over the state rely on it for information that they use in making decisions. We are in danger of losing this system and we hope that you will make certain that this does not happen. Because we know that money is scarce, our Administrative Office of the Courts has reduced its staff by over 6% to absorb a portion of the cost of the upgrades. Fortunately, JIS has a dedicated funding source, the State’s Public Safety and Education account, and we are asking that you appropriate additional dollars from this account in order to complete the upgrading of JIS.

Let me next speak to you about a very great problem that the poor and vulnerable people of this state face. It is an increasing inability to obtain legal assistance in civil matters. Frankly, this has been a problem for some time, but it has become more acute in recent years what with dwindling support of civil legal services for the poor coming from the public purse. Indeed, it has been estimated that our state's dedicated legal services providers, both full-time and volunteers, are able to serve only a small percentage of the needs of our indigent citizens. The Supreme Court and the other courts of this state have been concerned about this for some time, and in November 2001 our concerns resulted in the Supreme Court creating a Task Force on Civil Equal Justice Funding. It is chaired by Justice Charles Johnson and has among its broad membership four members of the legislature. That task force has been charged with overseeing a comprehensive study of the legal needs of the poor and vulnerable in Washington and developing a plan for long term, sustained and permanent state funding for essential legal services for the poor.

Unfortunately, since the task force began its work, the circumstances that prompted creation of the task force worsened. In February 2002, the governor eliminated so-called TANF funding that had been previously committed for civil equal justice services. Although the 57th Legislature thankfully restored $1.5 million of the $2.4 million dollar cut, the loss of $900,000 meant that our state's two principal legal services providers, Columbia Legal Services and Northwest Justice Project, have had to reduce staff. These offices now have 20 fewer attorneys than they had in 1999. On top of that, low interest rates and reduced business activity has caused a decline in IOLTA revenue of about $1.2 million dollars annually.

In light of this bad news, the task force made an interim recommendation to the Supreme Court, asking us to support legislation that would place a $90 surcharge on the superior court civil filing fee. This would raise the fee to $200. They recommended that the split of the surcharge be in the same proportion that it is now—54% to the county general fund and 46% to the state, with the state portion being earmarked for a newly created equal justice account. The Supreme Court has approved this recommendation, as did the Board for Judicial Administration and the Washington State Bar Association. We commend it to you. Some might say, why should we support this when we face tough financial times? Well times are tough, as we heard last night, but it seems to me in America where we rejoice in the fact that we are a nation devoted to the rule of law, we should not ration access to justice. This week, we have all pledged allegiance to our flag and said these familiar words, "Liberty and justice for all." We should not make those words hollow by taking action that would say, "Justice is only for those who can afford it."

I indicated that I would mention a goal in progress. I will close with that. Many of us have been concerned in recent years about the manner in which our trial courts are funded. As you know, the great bulk of funding for both levels of our trial courts is provided by local government. This is not all bad as a concept because it results in decentralized administration of our trial courts. I, for one, endorse that idea. On the other hand, local governments are, as we know, experiencing increasing difficulties in providing support for the courts and other components of the justice system. Furthermore, the degree to which local government is able to support the courts varies widely throughout the state.

Consequently, there is growing interest in exploring the question of whether the state government should share a greater portion of the expense of what is really a state court system. You might be interested to know that currently, the state government of Washington pays the lowest percentage of the cost of its trial courts of any state government in the Union—in many states, the costs of trial courts are shared on about a fifty-fifty basis.

To address this issue, we have created yet another task force and have charged it with looking at the issue from top to bottom and making recommendations as to the fairest and most efficient way to fund our state's courts. Like the other task forces it has representatives from both houses of the legislature. It is chaired by a very distinguished lawyer, a former president of the Washington State Bar Association, Wayne Blair. We plan to report to you at your next session as to the findings and recommendations of that body.

There is a lot more I could say. I understand that you may be considering sentencing issues this session as well as other issues on which the judges of this state are knowledgeable. I can assure you that the judges of this state and the Administrative Office of the Courts stand ready to give you the benefit of our views on these subjects whenever you deem it to be beneficial to you.

Let me close by thanking all of you for your service to the state of Washington and for your willingness to listen to the report on the State of the Judiciary. Thank you and best wishes."

The President thanked Chief Justice Alexander for his report and again thanked the Supreme Court for the use of their chamber.

The President requested the special committee escort the Statewide Elected Officials from the chamber.

On motion of Representative Kessler, the Joint Session was dissolved.

There being no objection, the House advanced to the eleventh order of business.

There being no objection, the House adjourned until 9:55 a.m., January 16, 2003, the 4th Day of the Regular Session.

Sec. 5. RCW 35.58.2795 and 1994 c 158 s 6 are each amended to read as follows:

By April 1st of each year, the legislative authority of each municipality, as defined in RCW 35.58.272, and each regional transit authority shall prepare a six-year transit development plan for that calendar year and the ensuing five years. The program shall be consistent with the comprehensive plans adopted by counties, cities, and towns, pursuant to chapter 35.63, 35A.63, or 36.70 RCW, the inherent authority of a first class city or charter county derived from its charter, or chapter 36.70A RCW. The program shall contain information as to how the municipality intends to meet state and local long-range priorities for public transportation, capital improvements, significant operating changes planned for the system, and how the municipality intends to fund program needs. The six-year plan for each municipality and regional transit authority shall specifically set forth those projects of regional significance for inclusion in the transportation improvement program within that region. Each municipality and regional transit authority shall file the six-year program with the state department of transportation, the transportation improvement board, and cities, counties, and regional planning councils within which the municipality is located.

In developing its program, the municipality and the regional transit authority shall consider those policy recommendations affecting public transportation contained in the state transportation policy plan approved by the ~~((state))~~ legislative transportation ~~((commission))~~ committee and, where appropriate, adopted by the legislature. The municipality shall conduct one or more public hearings while developing its program and for each annual update.

Sec. 6. RCW 36.57A.070 and 1985 c 6 s 5 are each amended to read as follows:

The comprehensive transit plan adopted by the authority shall be reviewed by the ~~((state))~~ legislative transportation ~~((commission))~~ committee to determine:

- (1) The completeness of service to be offered and the economic viability of the transit system proposed in such comprehensive transit plan;
- (2) Whether such plan integrates the proposed transportation system with existing transportation modes and systems that serve the benefit area;
- (3) Whether such plan coordinates that area's system and service with nearby public transportation systems;
- (4) Whether such plan is eligible for matching state or federal funds;

After reviewing the comprehensive transit plan, the ~~((state))~~ legislative transportation ~~((commission shall have))~~ committee has sixty days in which to approve such plan and to certify to the state treasurer that such public transportation benefit area shall be eligible to receive the motor vehicle excise tax proceeds authorized pursuant to RCW 35.58.273, as now or hereafter amended in the manner prescribed by chapter 82.44 RCW, as now or hereafter amended. To be approved a plan shall provide for coordinated transportation planning, the integration of such proposed transportation program with other transportation systems operating in areas adjacent to, or in the vicinity of the proposed public transportation benefit area, and be consistent with the public transportation coordination criteria adopted pursuant to the urban mass transportation act of 1964 as amended as of July 1, 1975. In the event such comprehensive plan is disapproved and ruled ineligible to receive motor vehicle tax proceeds, the ((state)) legislative transportation ((commission)) committee shall provide written notice to the authority within thirty days as to the reasons for such plan's disapproval and such ineligibility. The authority may resubmit such plan upon reconsideration and correction of such deficiencies in the plan cited in such notice of disapproval.

Sec. 7. RCW 36.79.120 and 1988 c 26 s 6 are each amended to read as follows:

Sec. 9. RCW 43.160.010 and 1999 c 164 s 101 and 1999 c 94 s 5 are each reenacted and amended to read as follows:

(1) The legislature finds that it is the public policy of the state of Washington to direct financial resources toward the fostering of economic development through the stimulation of investment and job opportunities and the retention of sustainable existing employment for the general welfare of the inhabitants of the state. Reducing unemployment and reducing the time citizens remain jobless is important for the economic welfare of the state. A valuable means of fostering economic development is the construction of public facilities which contribute to the stability and growth of the state's economic base. Strengthening the economic base through issuance of industrial development bonds, whether single or umbrella, further serves to reduce unemployment. Consolidating issues of industrial development bonds when feasible to reduce costs additionally advances the state's purpose to improve economic vitality. Expenditures made for these purposes as authorized in this chapter are declared to be in the public interest, and constitute a proper use of public funds. A community economic revitalization board is needed which shall aid the development of economic opportunities. The general objectives of the board should include:

(a) Strengthening the economies of areas of the state which have experienced or are expected to experience chronically high unemployment rates or below average growth in their economies;

(b) Encouraging the diversification of the economies of the state and regions within the state in order to provide greater seasonal and cyclical stability of income and employment;

(c) Encouraging wider access to financial resources for both large and small industrial development projects;

(d) Encouraging new economic development or expansions to maximize employment;

(e) Encouraging the retention of viable existing firms and employment; and

(f) Providing incentives for expansion of employment opportunities for groups of state residents that have been less successful relative to other groups in efforts to gain permanent employment.

(2) The legislature also finds that the state's economic development efforts can be enhanced by, in certain instances, providing funds to improve state highways, county roads, or city streets for industries considering locating or expanding in this state.

(a) The legislature finds it desirable to provide a process whereby the need for diverse public works improvements necessitated by planned economic development can be addressed in a timely fashion and with coordination among all responsible governmental entities.

(b) Transportation improvements on state highways that have been approved by the community economic revitalization board must be approved by the legislative transportation ~~((commission))~~ committee in accordance with the procedures established by RCW 43.160.074 and 47.01.280 to receive funding.

(3) The legislature also finds that the state's economic development efforts can be enhanced by, in certain instances, providing funds to assist development of telecommunications infrastructure that supports business development, retention, and expansion in rural natural resources impact areas and rural counties of the state.

(4) The legislature also finds that the state's economic development efforts can be enhanced by providing funds to improve markets for those recyclable materials representing a large fraction of the waste stream. The legislature finds that public facilities which result in private construction of processing or remanufacturing facilities for recyclable materials are eligible for consideration from the board.

(5) The legislature finds that sharing economic growth statewide is important to the welfare of the state. Rural counties and rural natural resources impact areas do not share in the economic vitality of the Puget Sound region. The ability of these communities to pursue business and job retention, expansion, and development opportunities depends on their capacity to ready necessary economic development project plans, sites, permits, and infrastructure for private investments. Project-specific planning, predevelopment, and infrastructure are critical ingredients for economic development. Rural counties and rural natural resources impact areas generally lack these necessary tools and resources to diversify and revitalize their economies. It is, therefore, the intent of the legislature to increase the amount of funding available through the community economic revitalization board for rural counties and rural natural resources impact areas, and to authorize flexibility for available resources in these areas to help fund planning, predevelopment, and construction costs of infrastructure and facilities and sites that foster economic vitality and diversification.

Sec. 10. RCW 43.160.074 and 1985 c 433 s 5 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) An application to the board from a political subdivision may also include a request for improvements to an existing state highway or highways. The application is subject to all of the applicable criteria relative to qualifying types of development set forth in this chapter, as well as procedures and criteria established by the board.

(2) Before board consideration of an application from a political subdivision that includes a request for improvements to an existing state highway or highways, the application shall be forwarded by the board to the legislative transportation ((~~commission~~)) committee.

(3) The board may not make its final determination on any application made under subsection (1) of this section before receiving approval, as submitted or amended or disapproval from the legislative transportation ((~~commission~~)) committee as specified in RCW 47.01.280. Notwithstanding its disposition of the remainder of any such application, the board may not approve a request for improvements to an existing state highway or highways without the approval as submitted or amended of the legislative transportation ((~~commission~~)) committee as specified in RCW 47.01.280.

(4) The board shall notify the legislative transportation ((~~commission~~)) committee of its decision regarding any application made under this section.

Sec. 11. RCW 46.44.080 and 1977 ex.s. c 151 s 29 are each amended to read as follows:

Local authorities with respect to public highways under their jurisdiction may prohibit the operation thereon of motor trucks or other vehicles or may impose limits as to the weight thereof, or any other restrictions as may be deemed necessary, whenever any such public highway by reason of rain, snow, climatic or other conditions, will be seriously damaged or destroyed unless the operation of vehicles thereon be prohibited or restricted or the permissible weights thereof reduced: PROVIDED, That whenever a highway has been closed generally to vehicles or specified classes of vehicles, local authorities shall by general rule or by special permit authorize the operation thereon of school buses, emergency vehicles, and motor trucks transporting perishable commodities or commodities necessary for the health and welfare of local residents under such weight and speed restrictions as the local authorities deem necessary to protect the highway from undue damage: PROVIDED FURTHER, That the governing authorities of incorporated cities and towns shall not prohibit the use of any city street designated by the legislative transportation ((~~commission~~)) committee as forming a part of the route of any primary state highway through any such incorporated city or town by vehicles or any class of vehicles or impose any restrictions or reductions in permissible weights unless such restriction, limitation, or prohibition, or reduction in permissible weights be first approved in writing by the department of transportation.

The local authorities imposing any such restrictions or limitations, or prohibiting any use or reducing the permissible weights shall do so by proper ordinance or resolution and shall erect or cause to be erected and maintained signs designating the provisions of the ordinance or resolution in each end of the portion of any public highway affected thereby, and no such ordinance or resolution shall be effective unless and until such signs are erected and maintained.

The department shall have the same authority as hereinabove granted to local authorities to prohibit or restrict the operation of vehicles upon state highways. The department shall give public notice of closure or restriction. The department may issue special permits for the operation of school buses and motor trucks transporting perishable commodities or commodities necessary for the health and welfare of local residents under specified weight and speed restrictions as may be necessary to protect any state highway from undue damage.

Sec. 12. RCW 46.61.450 and 1977 ex.s. c 151 s 39 are each amended to read as follows:

It shall be unlawful for any person to operate a vehicle or any combination of vehicles over any bridge or other elevated structure or through any tunnel or underpass constituting a part of any public highway at a rate of speed or with a gross weight or of a size which is greater at any time than the maximum speed or maximum weight or size which can be maintained or carried with safety over any such bridge or structure or through any such tunnel or underpass when such bridge, structure, tunnel, or underpass is sign posted as hereinafter provided. The secretary of transportation, if it be a bridge, structure, tunnel, or underpass upon a state highway, or the governing body or authorities of any county, city, or town, if it be upon roads or streets under their jurisdiction, may restrict the speed which may be maintained or the gross weight or size which may be operated upon or over any such bridge or elevated structure or through any such tunnel or underpass with safety thereto. The secretary or the governing body or authorities of any county, city, or town having jurisdiction shall determine and declare the maximum speed or maximum gross weight or size which such bridge, elevated structure, tunnel, or underpass can withstand or accommodate and shall cause suitable signs stating such maximum speed or maximum gross weight, or size, or either, to be erected and maintained on the right hand side of such highway, road, or street and at a distance of not less than one hundred feet from each end of such bridge, structure, tunnel, or underpass and on the approach thereto: PROVIDED, That in the event that any such bridge, elevated structure, tunnel, or underpass is upon a city street designated by the legislative transportation ((~~commission~~)) committee as forming a part of the route of any state highway through any such incorporated city or town the determination of any maximum speed or maximum gross weight or size which such bridge, elevated structure, tunnel, or underpass can withstand or accommodate shall not be enforceable at any speed, weight, or size less than the maximum allowed by law, unless with the approval in writing of the secretary. Upon the trial of any person charged with a violation of this section, proof of either violation of maximum speed or maximum weight, or size, or either, and the distance and location of such signs as are required, shall constitute conclusive evidence of the maximum speed or maximum weight, or size, or either, which can be maintained or carried with safety over such bridge or elevated structure or through such tunnel or underpass.

It is the intent of the legislature to establish policy goals for the operation, performance of, and investment in, the state's transportation system. The policy goals shall consist of, but not be limited to, the following benchmark categories, adopted by the state's Blue Ribbon Commission on Transportation on November 30, 2000. In addition to improving safety, public investments in transportation shall support achievement of these and other priority goals:

No interstate highways, state routes, and local arterials shall be in poor condition; no bridges shall be structurally deficient, and safety retrofits shall be performed on those state bridges at the highest seismic risk levels; traffic congestion on urban state highways shall be significantly reduced and be no worse than the national mean; delay per driver shall be significantly reduced and no worse than the national mean; per capita vehicle miles traveled shall be maintained at 2000 levels; the nonauto share of commuter trips shall be increased in urban areas; administrative costs as a percentage of transportation spending shall achieve the most efficient quartile nationally; and the state's public transit agencies shall achieve the median cost per vehicle revenue hour of peer transit agencies, adjusting for the regional cost-of-living.

These policy goals shall be the basis for establishment of detailed and measurable performance benchmarks.

It is the intent of the legislature that the legislative transportation ((~~commission~~)) committee establish performance measures to ensure transportation system performance at local, regional, and state government levels, and the legislative transportation ((~~commission~~)) committee should work with appropriate government entities to accomplish this.

If House Bill No. 1120 or a similar bill creating citizen oversight of the transportation performance benchmarks becomes law, the legislative transportation committee shall work in conjunction with the citizen oversight panel to monitor the attainment of transportation performance benchmarks.

Sec. 14. RCW 47.01.071 and 1981 c 59 s 2 are each amended to read as follows:

After public notice and hearings, the ~~((commission))~~ committee shall adopt the plan and submit it to ~~((the legislative transportation committee and to))~~ the house and senate standing committees on transportation before January 1, 1980, for consideration in the 1980 regular legislative session. The plan shall be reviewed and revised prior to each regular session of the legislature during an even-numbered year thereafter. A preliminary plan shall be submitted to such committees by January 1, 1979.

The plan shall take into account federal law and regulations relating to the planning, construction, and operation of transportation facilities;

~~((10))~~ (6) To exercise such other specific powers and duties as may be vested in the ~~((transportation commission))~~ committee by this or any other provision of law.

Sec. 15. RCW 47.01.250 and 1998 c 245 s 92 are each amended to read as follows:

The chief of the Washington state patrol, the director of the traffic safety commission, the executive director of the county road administration board, and the director of licensing are designated as official consultants to the legislative transportation ~~((commission))~~ committee so that the goals and activities of their respective agencies which relate to transportation are fully coordinated with other related responsibilities of the department of transportation. In this capacity, the chief of the Washington state patrol, the director of the traffic safety commission, the executive director of the county road administration board, and the director of licensing shall consult with the legislative transportation ~~((commission))~~ committee and the secretary of transportation on the implications and impacts on the transportation related functions and duties of their respective agencies of any proposed comprehensive transportation plan, program, or policy.

In order to develop fully integrated, balanced, and coordinated transportation plans, programs, and budgets the chief of the Washington state patrol, the director of the traffic safety commission, the executive director of the county road administration board, and the director of licensing shall consult with the secretary of transportation on the matter of relative priorities during the development of their respective agencies' plans, programs, and budgets as they pertain to transportation activities.

Sec. 16. RCW 47.01.280 and 1999 c 94 s 10 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) Upon receiving an application for improvements to an existing state highway or highways pursuant to RCW 43.160.074 from the community economic revitalization board, the legislative transportation ~~((commission))~~ committee shall, in a timely manner, determine whether or not the proposed state highway improvements:

- (a) Meet the safety and design criteria of the department of transportation;
- (b) Will impair the operational integrity of the existing highway system;
- (c) Will affect any other improvements planned by the department; and
- (d) Will be consistent with its policies developed pursuant to RCW 47.01.071.

(2) Upon completion of its determination of the factors contained in subsection (1) of this section and any other factors it deems pertinent, the ~~((transportation commission))~~ committee shall forward its approval, as submitted or amended or disapproval of the proposed improvements to the board, along with any recommendation it may wish to make concerning the desirability and feasibility of the proposed development. If the ~~((transportation commission))~~ committee disapproves any proposed improvements, it shall specify its reasons for disapproval.

Sec. 17. RCW 47.05.021 and 2002 c 56 s 301 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) The ~~((transportation commission is hereby directed to))~~ department shall conduct periodic analyses of the entire state highway system, report thereon to the chairs of the transportation committees of the senate and house of representatives, including one copy to the staff of each of the committees, biennially and based thereon, ~~((to))~~ subdivide, classify, and subclassify according to their function and importance all designated state highways and those added from time to time and periodically review and revise the classifications into the following three functional classes:

(a) The "principal arterial system" shall consist of a connected network of rural arterial routes with appropriate extensions into and through urban areas, including all routes designated as part of the interstate system, which serve corridor movements having travel characteristics indicative of substantial statewide and interstate travel;

(b) The "minor arterial system" shall, in conjunction with the principal arterial system, form a rural network of arterial routes linking cities and other activity centers which generate long distance travel, and, with appropriate extensions into and through urban areas, form an integrated network providing interstate and interregional service; and

(c) The "collector system" shall consist of routes which primarily serve the more important intercounty, intracounty, and intraurban travel corridors, collect traffic from the system of local access roads and convey it to the arterial system, and on which, regardless of traffic volume, the predominant travel distances are shorter than on arterial routes.

(2) In making the functional classification the ~~((transportation commission))~~ department shall adopt and give consideration to criteria consistent with this section and federal regulations relating to the functional classification of highways, including but not limited to the following:

(a) Urban population centers within and without the state stratified and ranked according to size;

(b) Important traffic generating economic activities, including but not limited to recreation, agriculture, government, business, and industry;

(c) Feasibility of the route, including availability of alternate routes within and without the state;

(d) Directness of travel and distance between points of economic importance;

(e) Length of trips;

(f) Character and volume of traffic;

(g) Preferential consideration for multiple service which shall include public transportation;

(h) Reasonable spacing depending upon population density; and

(i) System continuity.

(3) The ~~((transportation commission or the))~~ legislature shall designate state highways of statewide significance under RCW 47.06.140. ~~((If the commission designates a state highway of statewide significance, it shall submit a list of such facilities for adoption by the legislature.))~~ This statewide system shall include at a minimum interstate highways and other statewide principal arterials that are needed to connect major communities across the state and support the state's economy.

(4) The legislative transportation ~~((commission))~~ committee shall designate a freight and goods transportation system. This statewide system shall include state highways, county roads, and city streets. The ~~((commission))~~ committee, in cooperation with cities and counties, shall review and make recommendations to the legislature regarding policies governing weight restrictions and road closures which affect the transportation of freight and goods.

Sec. 18. RCW 47.05.030 and 2002 c 5 s 402 are each amended to read as follows:

The legislative transportation ~~((commission))~~ committee shall adopt a comprehensive six-year investment program specifying program objectives and performance measures for the preservation and improvement programs defined in this section. In the specification of investment program objectives and performance measures, the legislative transportation ~~((commission, in consultation with the Washington state department of transportation,))~~ committee shall define and adopt standards for effective programming and prioritization practices including a needs analysis process. The analysis process must ensure the identification of problems and deficiencies, the evaluation of alternative solutions and trade-offs, and estimations of the costs and benefits of prospective projects. The investment program must be revised biennially, effective on July 1st of odd-numbered years. The investment program must be based upon the needs identified in the state-owned highway component of the statewide transportation plan as defined in RCW 47.01.071(3).

(1) The preservation program consists of those investments necessary to preserve the existing state highway system and to restore existing safety features, giving consideration to lowest life cycle costing. The preservation program must require use of the most cost-effective pavement surfaces, considering:

(a) Life-cycle cost analysis;

(b) Traffic volume;

- (c) Subgrade soil conditions;
- (d) Environmental and weather conditions;
- (e) Materials available; and
- (f) Construction factors.

The comprehensive six-year investment program for preservation must identify projects for two years and an investment plan for the remaining four years.

(2) The improvement program consists of investments needed to address identified deficiencies on the state highway system to increase mobility, address congestion, and improve safety, support for the economy, and protection of the environment. The six-year investment program for improvements must identify projects for two years and major deficiencies proposed to be addressed in the six-year period giving consideration to relative benefits and life cycle costing. The legislative transportation ((~~commission~~)) committee shall give higher priority for correcting identified deficiencies on those facilities classified as facilities of statewide significance as defined in RCW 47.06.140. Project prioritization must be based primarily upon cost-benefit analysis, where appropriate.

The legislative transportation ((~~commission~~)) committee shall approve and present the comprehensive six-year investment program to the legislature in support of the biennial budget request under RCW 44.40.070 and 44.40.080.

Sec. 19. RCW 47.05.035 and 2002 c 5 s 403 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) The department ((~~and the commission~~)) shall use the transportation demand modeling tools developed under subsection (2) of this section to evaluate investments based on the best mode or improvement, or mix of modes and improvements, to meet current and future long-term demand within a corridor or system for the lowest cost. The end result of these demand modeling tools is to provide a cost-benefit analysis by which the department ((~~and the commission~~)) can determine the relative mobility improvement and congestion relief each mode or improvement under consideration will provide and the relative investment each mode or improvement under consideration will need to achieve that relief. The department must forward the results of its analysis to the legislative transportation committee for approval.

(2) The department will participate in the refinement, enhancement, and application of existing transportation demand modeling tools to be used to evaluate investments. This participation and use of transportation demand modeling tools will be phased in.

(3) In developing program objectives and performance measures, the legislative transportation ((~~commission~~)) committee shall evaluate investment trade-offs between the preservation and improvement programs. In making these investment trade-offs, the ((~~commission~~)) committee shall evaluate, using cost-benefit techniques, roadway and bridge maintenance activities as compared to roadway and bridge preservation program activities and adjust those programs accordingly.

(4) The ((~~commission~~)) legislative transportation committee shall allocate the estimated revenue between preservation and improvement programs giving primary consideration to the following factors:

- (a) The relative needs in each of the programs and the system performance levels that can be achieved by meeting these needs;
- (b) The need to provide adequate funding for preservation to protect the state's investment in its existing highway system;
- (c) The continuity of future transportation development with those improvements previously programmed; and
- (d) The availability of dedicated funds for a specific type of work.

Sec. 20. RCW 47.05.051 and 2002 c 189 s 3 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) The comprehensive six-year investment program shall be based upon the needs identified in the state-owned highway component of the statewide multimodal transportation plan as defined in RCW 47.01.071(3) and priority selection systems that incorporate the following criteria:

(a) Priority programming for the preservation program shall take into account the following, not necessarily in order of importance:

(i) Extending the service life of the existing highway system, including using the most cost-effective pavement surfaces, considering:

- (A) Life-cycle cost analysis;
- (B) Traffic volume;
- (C) Subgrade soil conditions;

- (D) Environmental and weather conditions;
- (E) Materials available; and
- (F) Construction factors;

(iii) Minimizing life cycle costs. The legislative transportation ((~~commission~~)) committee in carrying out the provisions of this section may delegate to the department of transportation the authority to select preservation projects to be included in the six-year program.

(b) Priority programming for the improvement program must be based primarily upon the following, not necessarily in order of importance:

- (i) Traffic congestion, delay, and accidents;
- (ii) Location within a heavily traveled transportation corridor;

(iii) Except for projects in cities having a population of less than five thousand persons, synchronization with other potential transportation projects, including transit and multimodal projects, within the heavily traveled corridor; and

- (iv) Use of benefit/cost analysis wherever feasible to determine the value of the proposed project.

(c) Priority programming for the improvement program may also take into account:

- (i) Support for the state's economy, including job creation and job preservation;
- (ii) The cost-effective movement of people and goods;
- (iii) Accident and accident risk reduction;
- (iv) Protection of the state's natural environment;
- (v) Continuity and systematic development of the highway transportation network;

(vi) Consistency with local comprehensive plans developed under chapter 36.70A RCW including the following if they have been included in the comprehensive plan:

- (A) Support for development in and revitalization of existing downtowns;

(B) Extent that development implements local comprehensive plans for rural and urban residential and nonresidential densities;

(C) Extent of compact, transit-oriented development for rural and urban residential and nonresidential densities;

- (D) Opportunities for multimodal transportation; and

(E) Extent to which the project accommodates planned growth and economic development;

- (vii) Consistency with regional transportation plans developed under chapter 47.80 RCW;
- (viii) Public views concerning proposed improvements;
- (ix) The conservation of energy resources;
- (x) Feasibility of financing the full proposed improvement;
- (xi) Commitments established in previous legislative sessions;
- (xii) Relative costs and benefits of candidate programs.

(d) Major projects addressing capacity deficiencies which prioritize allowing for preliminary engineering shall be reprioritized during the succeeding biennium, based upon updated project data. Reprioritized projects may be delayed or canceled by the legislative transportation ((~~commission~~)) committee if higher priority projects are awaiting funding.

(e) Major project approvals which significantly increase a project's scope or cost from original prioritization estimates shall include a review of the project's estimated revised priority rank and the level of funding provided. Projects may be delayed or canceled by the legislative transportation ((~~commission~~)) committee if higher priority projects are awaiting funding.

(2) The ((~~commission~~)) legislative transportation committee may depart from the priority programming established under subsection (1) of this section: (a) To the extent that otherwise funds cannot be utilized feasibly within the program; (b) as may be required by a court judgment, legally binding agreement, or state and federal laws and regulations; (c) as may be required to coordinate with federal, local, or other state agency construction projects; (d) to take advantage of some substantial financial benefit that may be available; (e) for continuity of route development; or (f) because of changed financial or physical conditions of an unforeseen or emergent nature. The ((~~commission or secretary of~~)) legislative transportation committee shall maintain in its files information sufficient to show the extent to which the ((~~commission~~)) committee has departed from the established priority.

(3) The ((~~commission~~)) committee shall identify those projects that yield freight mobility benefits or that alleviate the impacts of freight mobility upon affected communities.

Sec. 21. RCW 47.06.030 and 1997 c 369 s 8 are each amended to read as follows:

The ((~~commission~~)) legislative transportation committee shall develop a state transportation policy plan that (1) establishes a vision and goals for the development of the statewide transportation system consistent with the state's growth management goals, (2) identifies significant statewide transportation policy issues, and (3) recommends statewide transportation policies and strategies to the legislature to fulfill the requirements of RCW 47.01.071(1). The state transportation policy plan shall be the product of an ongoing process that involves representatives of significant transportation interests and the general public from across the state. The plan shall address how the department of transportation will meet the transportation needs and expedite the completion of industrial projects of statewide significance.

Sec. 22. RCW 47.06.050 and 2002 c 5 s 413 are each amended to read as follows:

The state-owned facilities component of the statewide transportation plan shall consist of:

(1) The state highway system plan, which identifies program and financing needs and recommends specific and financially realistic improvements to preserve the structural integrity of the state highway system, ensure acceptable operating conditions, and provide for enhanced access to scenic, recreational, and cultural resources. The state highway system plan shall contain the following elements:

(a) A system preservation element, which shall establish structural preservation objectives for the state highway system including bridges, identify current and future structural deficiencies based upon analysis of current conditions and projected future deterioration, and recommend program funding levels and specific actions necessary to preserve the structural integrity of the state highway system consistent with adopted objectives. Lowest life cycle cost methodologies must be used in developing a pavement management system. This element shall serve as the basis for the preservation component of the six-year highway program and the two-year biennial budget request to the legislature;

(b) A highway maintenance element, establishing service levels for highway maintenance on state-owned highways that meet benchmarks established by the legislative transportation ((commission)) committee. The highway maintenance element must include an estimate of costs for achieving those service levels over twenty years. This element will serve as the basis for the maintenance component of the six-year highway program and the two-year biennial budget request to the legislature;

(c) A capacity and operational improvement element, which shall establish operational objectives, including safety considerations, for moving people and goods on the state highway system, identify current and future capacity, operational, and safety deficiencies, and recommend program funding levels and specific improvements and strategies necessary to achieve the operational objectives. In developing capacity and operational improvement plans the department shall first assess strategies to enhance the operational efficiency of the existing system before recommending system expansion. Strategies to enhance the operational efficiencies include but are not limited to access management, transportation system management, demand management, and high-occupancy vehicle facilities. The capacity and operational improvement element must conform to the state implementation plan for air quality and be consistent with regional transportation plans adopted under chapter 47.80 RCW, and shall serve as the basis for the capacity and operational improvement portions of the six-year highway program and the two-year biennial budget request to the legislature;

(d) A scenic and recreational highways element, which shall identify and recommend designation of scenic and recreational highways, provide for enhanced access to scenic, recreational, and cultural resources associated with designated routes, and recommend a variety of management strategies to protect, preserve, and enhance these resources. The department, affected counties, cities, and towns, regional transportation planning organizations, and other state or federal agencies shall jointly develop this element;

(e) A paths and trails element, which shall identify the needs of nonmotorized transportation modes on the state transportation systems and provide the basis for the investment of state transportation funds in paths and trails, including funding provided under chapter 47.30 RCW.

(2) The state ferry system plan, which shall guide capital and operating investments in the state ferry system. The plan shall establish service objectives for state ferry routes, forecast travel demand for the various markets served in the system, develop strategies for ferry system investment that consider regional and statewide vehicle and passenger needs, support local land use plans, and assure that ferry services are fully integrated with other transportation services. The plan must provide for maintenance of capital assets. The plan must also provide for preservation of capital assets based on lowest life cycle cost methodologies. The plan shall assess the role of private ferries operating under the authority of the utilities and transportation commission and shall coordinate ferry system capital and operational plans with these private operations. The ferry system plan must be consistent with the regional transportation plans for areas served by the state ferry system, and shall be developed in conjunction with the ferry advisory committees.

Sec. 23. RCW 47.12.242 and 1991 c 291 s 1 are each amended to read as follows:

The term "advance right of way acquisition" means the acquisition of property and property rights, generally not more than ten years in advance of programmed highway construction projects, together with the engineering costs necessary for such advance right of way acquisition. Any property or property rights purchased must be in designated highway transportation corridors and be for projects approved by the ((commission)) committee as part of the state's six-year plan or included in the state's route development planning effort.

Sec. 24. RCW 47.12.330 and 1998 c 181 s 2 are each amended to read as follows:

For the purpose of environmental mitigation of transportation projects, the department may acquire or develop, or both acquire and develop, environmental mitigation sites in advance of the construction of programmed projects. The term "advanced environmental mitigation" means mitigation of adverse impacts upon the environment from transportation projects before their design and construction. Advanced environmental mitigation consists of the acquisition of property; the acquisition of property, water, or air rights; the development of property for the purposes of improved environmental management; engineering costs necessary for such purchase and development; and the use of advanced environmental mitigation sites to fulfill project environmental permit requirements. Advanced environmental mitigation must be conducted in a manner that is consistent with the definition of mitigation found in the council of environmental quality regulations (40 C.F.R. Sec. 1508.20) and the governor's executive order on wetlands (EO 90-04). Advanced environmental mitigation is for projects approved by the ((transportation commission)) committee as part of the state's six-year plan or included in the state highway system plan. Advanced environmental mitigation must give consideration to activities related to fish passage, fish habitat, wetlands, and flood management. Advanced environmental mitigation may also be conducted in partnership with federal, state, or local government agencies, tribal governments, interest groups, or private parties. Partnership arrangements may include joint acquisition and development of mitigation sites, purchasing and selling mitigation bank credits among participants, and transfer of mitigation site title from one party to another. Specific conditions of partnership arrangements will be developed in written agreements for each applicable environmental mitigation site.

Sec. 25. RCW 47.24.010 and 1998 c 245 s 97 are each amended to read as follows:

The ~~((transportation commission))~~ committee shall determine what streets, together with bridges thereon and wharves necessary for use for ferriage of motor vehicle traffic in connection with such streets, if any, in any incorporated cities and towns shall form a part of the route of state highways and between the first and fifteenth days of July of any year the department of transportation shall identify by brief description, the streets, together with the bridges thereon and wharves, if any, in such city or town which are designated as forming a part of the route of any state highway; and all such streets, including curbs and gutters and street intersections and such bridges and wharves, shall thereafter be a part of the state highway system and as such shall be constructed and maintained by the department of transportation from any state funds available therefor: PROVIDED, That the responsibility for the construction and maintenance of any such street together with its appurtenances may be returned to a city or a town upon certification by the department of transportation to the clerk of any city or town that such street, or portion thereof, is no longer required as a part of the state highway system: PROVIDED FURTHER, That any such certification that a street, or portion thereof, is no longer required as a part of the state highway system shall be made between the first and fifteenth of July following the determination by the department that such street or portion thereof is no longer required as a part of the state highway system, but this shall not prevent the department and any city or town from entering into an agreement that a city or town will accept responsibility for such a street or portion thereof at some time other than between the first and fifteenth of July of any year.

Sec. 26. RCW 47.26.170 and 1994 c 179 s 16 are each amended to read as follows:

Each county having within its boundaries an urban area and cities and towns shall prepare and submit to the transportation improvement board arterial inventory data required to determine the long-range arterial construction needs. The counties, cities, and towns shall revise the arterial inventory data every four years to show the current arterial construction needs through the advanced planning period, and as revised shall submit them to the transportation improvement board during the first week of January every four years beginning in 1996. The inventory data shall be prepared pursuant to guidelines established by the transportation improvement board. As information is updated, it shall be made available to the ~~((commission and the))~~ legislative transportation committee.

Sec. 27. RCW 47.28.010 and 1977 ex.s. c 151 s 59 are each amended to read as follows:

Whenever the general route of any state highway shall be designated and laid out as running to or by way of certain designated points, without specifying the particular route to be followed to or by way of such points, the ~~((transportation commission))~~ committee shall determine the particular route to be followed by said state highway to or by way of said designated points, and shall be at liberty to select and adopt as a part of such state highway, the whole or any part of any existing public highway previously designated as a county road, primary road, or secondary road or now or hereafter classified as a county road. The ~~((commission))~~ committee need not select and adopt the entire routes for such state highways at one time, but may select and adopt parts of such routes from time to time as it deems advisable. Where a state highway is designated as passing by way of a certain point, this shall not require the ~~((commission))~~ committee to cause such state highway to pass through or touch such point but such designation is directional only and may be complied with by location in the general vicinity. The department of transportation is empowered to construct as a part of any state highway as designated and in addition to any portion meeting the limits of any incorporated city or town a bypass section either through or around any such incorporated city or town.

Sec. 28. RCW 47.80.060 and 1992 c 101 s 31 are each amended to read as follows:

In order to qualify for state planning funds available to regional transportation planning organizations, the regional transportation planning organizations containing any county with a population in excess of one million shall provide voting membership on its executive board to the ~~((state))~~ legislative transportation ~~((commission))~~ committee, the state department of transportation, and the three largest public port districts within the region as determined by gross operating revenues. It shall further assure that at least fifty percent of the county and city local elected officials who serve on the executive board also serve on transit agency boards or on a regional transit authority.

Not later than November 1st of each even-numbered year the board shall prepare and present to the ~~(state)~~ legislative transportation (~~commission~~) committee a recommended budget for expenditures from the rural arterial trust account during the ensuing biennium. The budget shall contain an estimate of the revenues to be credited to the rural arterial trust account.

The ~~(state)~~ department of transportation (~~commission~~) shall review the budget as recommended, revise the budget as it deems proper, and include the budget as revised as a separate section of the transportation budget which it shall submit to the governor pursuant to chapter 43.88 RCW.

Sec. 32. RCW 36.120.050 and 2002 c 56 s 105 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) A regional transportation investment district planning committee may, as part of a regional transportation investment plan, recommend the imposition of some or all of the following revenue sources, which a regional transportation investment district may impose upon approval of the voters as provided in this chapter:

(a) A regional sales and use tax, as specified in RCW 82.14.430, of up to 0.5 percent of the selling price, in the case of a sales tax, or value of the article used, in the case of a use tax, upon the occurrence of any taxable event in the regional transportation investment district;

(b) A local option vehicle license fee, as specified under RCW 82.80.100, of up to one hundred dollars per vehicle registered in the district. As used in this subsection, "vehicle" means motor vehicle as defined in RCW 46.04.320. Certain classes of vehicles, as defined under chapter 46.04 RCW, may be exempted from this fee;

(c) A parking tax under RCW 82.80.030;

(d) A local motor vehicle excise tax under RCW 81.100.060 and chapter 81.104 RCW;

(e) An employer excise tax under RCW 81.100.030; and

(f) Vehicle tolls on new or reconstructed facilities. Unless otherwise specified by law, the department shall administer the collection of vehicle tolls on designated facilities, and the ~~(state)~~ department of transportation (~~commission~~), or its successor, shall be the tolling authority.

(2) Taxes, fees, and tolls may not be imposed without an affirmative vote of the majority of the voters within the boundaries of the district voting on a ballot proposition as set forth in RCW 36.120.070. Revenues from these taxes and fees may be used only to implement the plan as set forth in this chapter. A district may contract with the state department of revenue or other appropriate entities for administration and collection of any of the taxes or fees authorized in this section.

(3) Existing statewide motor vehicle fuel and special fuel taxes, at the distribution rates in effect on January 1, 2001, are not intended to be altered by this chapter.

Sec. 33. RCW 46.44.042 and 1996 c 116 s 1 are each amended to read as follows:

Subject to the maximum gross weights specified in RCW 46.44.041, it is unlawful to operate any vehicle upon the public highways with a gross weight, including load, upon any tire concentrated upon the surface of the highway in excess of six hundred pounds per inch width of such tire. An axle manufactured after July 31, 1993, carrying more than ten thousand pounds gross weight must be equipped with four or more tires. Effective January 1, 1997, an axle carrying more than ten thousand pounds gross weight must have four or more tires, regardless of date of manufacture. Instead of the four or more tires per axle requirements of this section, an axle may be equipped with two tires limited to five hundred pounds per inch width of tire. This section does not apply to vehicles operating under oversize or overweight permits, or both, issued under RCW 46.44.090, while carrying a nonreducible load.

The following equipment may operate at six hundred pounds per inch width of tire: (1) A nonliftable steering axle or axles on the power unit; (2) a tiller axle on fire fighting apparatus; (3) a rear booster trailing axle equipped with two tires on a ready-mix concrete transit truck; and (4) a straddle trailer manufactured before January 1, 1996, equipped with single-tire axles or a single axle using a walking beam supported by two in-line single tires and used exclusively for the transport of fruit bins between field, storage, and processing. A straddle trailer manufactured after January 1, 1996, meeting this use criteria may carry five hundred fifteen pounds per inch width of tire on sixteen and one-half inch wide tires.

For the purpose of this section, the width of tire in case of solid rubber or hollow center cushion tires, so long as the use thereof may be permitted by the law, shall be measured between the flanges of the rim. For the purpose of this section, the width of tires in case of pneumatic tires shall be the maximum overall normal inflated width as stipulated by the manufacturer when inflated to the pressure specified and without load thereon.

The department of transportation, under rules adopted by ~~((the transportation commission))~~ it with respect to state highways, and a local authority, with respect to a public highway under its jurisdiction, may extend the weight table in RCW 46.44.041 to one hundred fifteen thousand pounds. However, the extension must be in compliance with federal law, and vehicles operating under the extension must be in full compliance with the 1997 axle and tire requirements under this section.

Sec. 34. RCW 46.44.090 and 2001 c 262 s 1 are each amended to read as follows:

The department of transportation, pursuant to rules adopted by ~~((the transportation commission))~~ it with respect to state highways, and local authorities, with respect to public highways under their jurisdiction, may, upon application in writing and good cause being shown therefor, issue a special permit in writing, or electronically, authorizing the applicant to operate or move a vehicle or combination of vehicles of a size, weight of vehicle, or load exceeding the maximum set forth in RCW 46.44.010, 46.44.020, 46.44.030, 46.44.034, and 46.44.041 upon any public highway under the jurisdiction of the authority granting such permit and for the maintenance of which such authority is responsible.

Sec. 35. RCW 46.44.092 and 1989 c 398 s 2 are each amended to read as follows:

Special permits may not be issued for movements on any state highway outside the limits of any city or town in excess of the following widths:

On two-lane highways, fourteen feet;

On multiple-lane highways where a physical barrier serving as a median divider separates opposing traffic lanes, twenty feet;

On multiple-lane highways without a physical barrier serving as a median divider, thirty-two feet.

These limits apply except under the following conditions:

(1) In the case of buildings, the limitations referred to in this section for movement on any two lane state highway other than the national system of interstate and defense highways may be exceeded under the following conditions: (a) Controlled vehicular traffic shall be maintained in one direction at all times; (b) the maximum distance of movement shall not exceed five miles; additional contiguous permits shall not be issued to exceed the five-mile limit: PROVIDED, That when the department of transportation, pursuant to general rules adopted by ~~((the transportation commission))~~ it, determines a hardship would result, this limitation may be exceeded upon approval of the department of transportation; (c) prior to issuing a permit a qualified transportation department employee shall make a visual inspection of the building and route involved determining that the conditions listed herein shall be complied with and that structures or overhead obstructions may be cleared or moved in order to maintain a constant and uninterrupted movement of the building; (d) special escort or other precautions may be imposed to assure movement is made under the safest possible conditions, and the Washington state patrol shall be advised when and where the movement is to be made;

(2) Permits may be issued for widths of vehicles in excess of the preceding limitations on highways or sections of highways which have been designed and constructed for width in excess of such limitations;

(3) Permits may be issued for vehicles with a total outside width, including the load, of nine feet or less when the vehicle is equipped with a mechanism designed to cover the load pursuant to RCW 46.61.655;

(4) These limitations may be rescinded when certification is made by military officials, or by officials of public or private power facilities, or when in the opinion of the department of transportation the movement or action is a necessary movement or action: PROVIDED FURTHER, That in the judgment of the department of transportation the structures and highway surfaces on the routes involved are capable of sustaining widths in excess of such limitation;

(5) These limitations shall not apply to movement during daylight hours on any two lane state highway where the gross weight, including load, does not exceed eighty thousand pounds and the overall width of load does not exceed sixteen feet: PROVIDED, That the minimum and maximum speed of such movements, prescribed routes of such movements, the times of such movements, limitation upon frequency of trips (which limitation shall be not less than one per week), and conditions to assure safety of traffic may be prescribed by the department of transportation or local authority issuing such special permit.

The applicant for any special permit shall specifically describe the vehicle or vehicles and load to be operated or moved and the particular state highways for which permit to operate is requested and whether such permit is requested for a single trip or for continuous operation.

Sec. 36. RCW 46.44.096 and 1996 c 92 s 1 are each amended to read as follows:

In determining fees according to RCW 46.44.0941, mileage on state primary and secondary highways shall be determined from the planning survey records of the department of transportation, and the gross weight of the vehicle or vehicles, including load, shall be declared by the applicant. Overweight on which fees shall be paid will be gross loadings in excess of loadings authorized by law or axle loadings in excess of loadings authorized by law, whichever is the greater. Loads which are overweight and oversize shall be charged the fee for the overweight permit without additional fees being assessed for the oversize features.

Special permits issued under RCW 46.44.047, 46.44.0941, or 46.44.095, may be obtained from offices of the department of transportation, ports of entry, or other agents appointed by the department.

The department may appoint agents for the purposes of selling special motor vehicle permits, temporary additional tonnage permits, and log tolerance permits. Agents so appointed may retain three dollars and fifty cents for each permit sold to defray expenses incurred in handling and selling the permits. If the fee is collected by the department of transportation, the department shall certify the fee so collected to the state treasurer for deposit to the credit of the motor vehicle fund.

The department may select a third party contractor, by means of competitive bid, to perform the department's permit issuance function, as provided under RCW 46.44.090. Factors the department shall consider, but is not limited to, in the selection of a third party contractor are economic benefit to both the department and the motor carrier industry, and enhancement of the overall level of permit service. For purposes of this section, "third party contractor" means a business entity that is authorized by the department to issue special permits. The department of transportation (~~commission~~) may adopt rules specifying the criteria that a business entity must meet in order to qualify as a third party contractor under this section.

Fees established in RCW 46.44.0941 shall be paid to the political body issuing the permit if the entire movement is to be confined to roads, streets, or highways for which that political body is responsible. When a movement involves a combination of state highways, county roads, and/or city streets the fee shall be paid to the state department of transportation. When a movement is confined within the city limits of a city or town upon city streets, including routes of state highways on city streets, all fees shall be paid to the city or town involved. A permit will not be required from city or town authorities for a move involving a combination of city or town streets and state highways when the move through a city or town is being confined to the route of the state highway. When a move involves a combination of county roads and city streets the fee shall be paid to the county authorities, but the fee shall not be collected nor the county permit issued until valid permits are presented showing that the city or town authorities approve of the move in question. When the movement involves only county roads the fees collected shall be paid to the county involved. Fees established shall be paid to the political body issuing the permit if the entire use of the vehicle during the period covered by the permit shall be confined to the roads, streets, or highways for which that political body is responsible.

Bonds authorized by RCW 47.02.120 through 47.02.190 shall be sold in such manner, at such time or times, in such amounts, and at such price as the state finance committee shall determine. Except for the purpose of repaying the loan from the motor vehicle fund, no such bonds may be offered for sale without prior legislative appropriation of the net proceeds of the sale of the bonds.

The state finance committee shall consider the issuance of short- term obligations in lieu of long-term obligations for the purposes of more favorable interest rates, lower total interest costs, and increased marketability and for the purpose of retiring the bonds during the life of the project for which they were issued.

Sec. 39. RCW 47.10.843 and 1998 c 321 s 16 are each amended to read as follows:

In order to provide funds necessary for the location, design, right of way, and construction of state and local highway improvements, there shall be issued and sold upon the request of the ~~((Washington state transportation commission))~~ department a maximum of one billion nine hundred million dollars of general obligation bonds of the state of Washington.

No such bonds may be offered for sale without prior legislative appropriation of the net proceeds of the sale of the bonds.

The state finance committee shall consider the issuance of short- term obligations in lieu of long-term obligations for the purposes of more favorable interest rates, lower total interest costs, and increased marketability and for the purpose of retiring the bonds during the life of the project for which they were issued.

Sec. 41. RCW 47.12.200 and 1977 ex.s. c 151 s 55 are each amended to read as follows:

The ~~((transportation commission))~~ department may enter into agreements with the state finance committee for financing the acquisition, by purchase or condemnation, of real property together with engineering costs that the ~~((transportation commission))~~ department deems will be necessary for the improvement of the state highway system. Such agreements may provide for the acquisition of an individual parcel or for the acquisition of any number of parcels within the limits of a contemplated highway project.

shall adopt policies for the placement of memorial signs on interstate safety rest areas and may disapprove any memorial sign that it determines to be inappropriate or inconsistent with the policies. The policies shall include, but are not limited to, guidelines for the size and location of and inscriptions on memorial signs. The secretary shall adopt rules for administering this program. Nonprofit associations may have their name identified on a memorial sign if the association bears the cost of supplying and maintaining the memorial sign.

(2) The citizen advisory committee shall serve in an advisory capacity to the (~~(commission)~~) department on all matters related to the imposition of tolls. Members of the committee shall serve without compensation.

Sec. 47. RCW 47.46.120 and 2002 c 114 s 9 are each amended to read as follows:

Pursuant to RCW 43.135.055, the legislature authorizes the department of transportation (~~(commission)~~) to increase bridge tolls in excess of the fiscal growth factor.

Sec. 48. RCW 47.52.133 and 1987 c 200 s 2 are each amended to read as follows:

Except as provided in RCW 47.52.134, the (~~(transportation commission)~~) department and the highway authorities of the counties and incorporated cities and towns, with regard to facilities under their respective jurisdictions, prior to the establishment of any limited access facility, shall hold a public hearing within the county, city, or town wherein the limited access facility is to be established to determine the desirability of the plan proposed by such authority. Notice of such hearing shall be given to the owners of property abutting the section of any existing highway, road, or street being established as a limited access facility, as indicated in the tax rolls of the county, and in the case of a state limited access facility, to the county and/or city or town. Such notice shall be by United States mail in writing, setting forth a time for the hearing, which time shall be not less than fifteen days after mailing of such notice. Notice of such hearing also shall be given by publication not less than fifteen days prior to such hearing in one or more newspapers of general circulation within the county, city, or town. Such notice by publication shall be deemed sufficient as to any owner or reputed owner or any unknown owner or owner who cannot be located. Such notice shall indicate a suitable location where plans for such proposal may be inspected.

Sec. 49. RCW 47.52.145 and 1981 c 95 s 2 are each amended to read as follows:

Whenever after the final adoption of a plan for a limited access highway by the (~~(transportation commission)~~) department, an additional design public hearing with respect to the facility or any portion thereof is conducted pursuant to federal law resulting in a revision of the design of the limited access plan, the (~~(commission)~~) department may modify the previously adopted limited access plan to conform to the revised design without further public hearings providing the following conditions are met:

(1) As compared with the previously adopted limited access plan, the revised plan will not require additional or different right of way with respect to that section of highway for which the design has been revised, in excess of five percent by area; and

(2) If the previously adopted limited access plan was modified by a board of review convened at the request of a county, city, or town, the legislative authority of the county, city, or town shall approve any revisions of the plan which conflict with modifications ordered by the board of review.

Sec. 50. RCW 47.52.210 and 1981 c 95 s 3 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) Whenever the (~~(transportation commission)~~) department adopts a plan for a limited access highway to be constructed within the corporate limits of a city or town which incorporates existing city or town streets, title to such streets shall remain in the city or town, and the provisions of RCW 47.24.020 as now or hereafter amended shall continue to apply to such streets until such time that the highway is operated as either a partially or fully controlled access highway. Title to and full control over that portion of the city or town street incorporated into the limited access highway shall be vested in the state upon a declaration by the secretary of transportation that such highway is operational as a limited access facility, but in no event prior to the acquisition of right of way for such highway including access rights, and not later than the final completion of construction of such highway.

(2) Upon the completion of construction of a state limited access highway within a city or town, the department of transportation may relinquish to the city or town streets constructed or improved as a functional part of the limited access highway, slope easements, landscaping areas, and other related improvements to be maintained and operated by the city or town in accordance with the limited access plan. Title to such property relinquished to a city or town shall be conveyed by a deed executed by the secretary of transportation and duly acknowledged. Relinquishment of such property to the city or town may be expressly conditioned upon the maintenance of access control acquired by the state and the continued operation of such property as a functional part of the limited access highway.

Sec. 51. RCW 47.56.030 and 2002 c 114 s 19 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) Except as permitted under chapter 47.46 RCW:

(a) The department of transportation shall have full charge of the construction of all toll bridges and other toll facilities including the Washington state ferries, and the operation and maintenance thereof.

(b) The (~~transportation commission~~) department shall determine and establish the tolls and charges thereon, and shall perform all duties and exercise all powers relating to the financing, refinancing, and fiscal management of all toll bridges and other toll facilities including the Washington state ferries, and bonded indebtedness in the manner provided by law.

(c) The department shall have full charge of design of all toll facilities.

(d) Except as provided in this section, the department shall proceed with the construction of such toll bridges and other facilities and the approaches thereto by contract in the manner of state highway construction immediately upon there being made available funds for such work and shall prosecute such work to completion as rapidly as practicable. The department is authorized to negotiate contracts for any amount without bid under (d)(i) and (ii) of this subsection:

(i) Emergency contracts, in order to make repairs to ferries or ferry terminal facilities or removal of such facilities whenever continued use of ferries or ferry terminal facilities constitutes a real or immediate danger to the traveling public or precludes prudent use of such ferries or facilities; and

(ii) Single source contracts for vessel dry dockings, when there is clearly and legitimately only one available bidder to conduct dry dock- related work for a specific class or classes of vessels. The contracts may be entered into for a single vessel dry docking or for multiple vessel dry dockings for a period not to exceed two years.

(2) The department shall proceed with the procurement of materials, supplies, services, and equipment needed for the support, maintenance, and use of a ferry, ferry terminal, or other facility operated by Washington state ferries, in accordance with chapter 43.19 RCW except as follows:

(a) Except as provided in (d) of this subsection, when the secretary of the department of transportation determines in writing that the use of invitation for bid is either not practicable or not advantageous to the state and it may be necessary to make competitive evaluations, including technical or performance evaluations among acceptable proposals to complete the contract award, a contract may be entered into by use of a competitive sealed proposals method, and a formal request for proposals solicitation. Such formal request for proposals solicitation shall include a functional description of the needs and requirements of the state and the significant factors.

(b) When purchases are made through a formal request for proposals solicitation the contract shall be awarded to the responsible proposer whose competitive sealed proposal is determined in writing to be the most advantageous to the state taking into consideration price and other evaluation factors set forth in the request for proposals. No significant factors may be used in evaluating a proposal that are not specified in the request for proposals. Factors that may be considered in evaluating proposals include but are not limited to: Price; maintainability; reliability; commonality; performance levels; life cycle cost if applicable under this section; cost of transportation or delivery; delivery schedule offered; installation cost; cost of spare parts; availability of parts and service offered; and the following:

(i) The ability, capacity, and skill of the proposer to perform the contract or provide the service required;

(ii) The character, integrity, reputation, judgment, experience, and efficiency of the proposer;

(iii) Whether the proposer can perform the contract within the time specified;

(iv) The quality of performance of previous contracts or services;

(v) The previous and existing compliance by the proposer with laws relating to the contract or services;

(vi) Objective, measurable criteria defined in the request for proposal. These criteria may include but are not limited to items such as discounts, delivery costs, maintenance services costs, installation costs, and transportation costs; and

(vii) Such other information as may be secured having a bearing on the decision to award the contract.

(c) When purchases are made through a request for proposal process, proposals received shall be evaluated based on the evaluation factors set forth in the request for proposal. When issuing a request for proposal for the procurement of propulsion equipment or systems that include an engine, the request for proposal must specify the use of a life cycle cost analysis that includes an evaluation of fuel efficiency. When a life cycle cost analysis is used, the life cycle cost of a proposal shall be given at least the same relative importance as the initial price element specified in the request of proposal documents. The department may reject any and all proposals received. If the proposals are not rejected, the award shall be made to the proposer whose proposal is most advantageous to the department, considering price and the other evaluation factors set forth in the request for proposal.

(d) If the department is procuring large equipment or systems (e.g., electrical, propulsion) needed for the support, maintenance, and use of a ferry operated by Washington state ferries, the department shall proceed with a formal request for proposal solicitation under this subsection (2) without a determination of necessity by the secretary.

Sec. 52. RCW 47.56.032 and 1984 c 7 s 247 are each amended to read as follows:

All powers vested in the toll bridge authority as of September 21, 1977, relating to the acquiring, operating, extending, designing, constructing, repairing, and maintenance of the Washington state ferries or any part thereof and the collecting of tolls and charges for use of its facilities, shall be performed by the department. The ~~((commission))~~ department shall determine all fares, tolls, and other charges for its facilities and shall directly perform all duties and exercise all powers relating to financing, refinancing, and fiscal management of the system's bonded indebtedness in the manner provided by law.

Sec. 53. RCW 47.56.070 and 1977 ex.s. c 151 s 67 are each amended to read as follows:

The department of transportation may ~~((with the approval of the transportation commission,))~~ provide for the establishment, construction, and operation of toll tunnels, toll roads, and other facilities necessary for their construction and connection with public highways of the state. It may cause surveys to be made to determine the propriety of their establishment, construction, and operation, and may acquire rights of way and other facilities necessary to carry out the provisions hereof; and may issue, sell, and redeem bonds, and deposit and expend them; secure and remit financial and other assistance in the construction thereof; carry insurance thereon; and handle any other matters pertaining thereto, all of which shall be conducted in the same manner and under the same procedure as provided for the establishing, constructing, operating, and maintaining of toll bridges by the department, insofar as reasonably consistent and applicable. No toll facility, toll bridge, toll road, or toll tunnel, shall be combined with any other toll facility for the purpose of financing unless such facilities form a continuous project, to the end that each such facility or project be self-liquidating and self-sustaining.

Sec. 54. RCW 47.56.076 and 2002 c 56 s 403 are each amended to read as follows:

Upon approval of a majority of the voters within its boundaries voting on the ballot proposition, and only for the purposes authorized in RCW 36.120.050(1)(f), a regional transportation investment district may impose vehicle tolls on state routes where improvements financed in whole or in part by a regional transportation investment district add additional lanes to, or reconstruct lanes on, a highway of statewide significance. The department shall administer the collection of vehicle tolls on designated facilities unless otherwise specified in law, and ~~((the state transportation commission, or its successor,))~~ shall be the tolling authority.

Sec. 55. RCW 47.56.080 and 1977 ex.s. c 151 s 68 are each amended to read as follows:

Whenever in the judgment of the ~~((transportation commission))~~ department it is considered in the best interest of the public highways of the state that any new toll bridge or bridges be constructed upon any public highway and across any stream, body of water, gulch, navigable water, swamp, or other topographical formation and operated by the state the ~~((commission))~~ department shall adopt a resolution declaring that public interest and necessity require the construction of such toll bridge or bridges and authorizing the issuance of revenue bonds for the purpose of obtaining funds in an amount not in excess of that estimated to be required for such construction. The issuance of bonds as provided in this chapter for the construction of more than one toll bridge may at the discretion of the ~~((commission))~~ department be included in the same authority and issue of bonds.

Sec. 56. RCW 47.56.110 and 1984 c 7 s 255 are each amended to read as follows:

Before the department proceeds with any action to secure a right of way or with construction of any toll bridge under the provisions of this chapter, the ~~((commission))~~ department shall first pass a resolution that public interest and necessity require the acquisition of right of way for and the construction of the toll bridge. The resolution is conclusive evidence (1) of the public necessity of such construction; (2) that the property is necessary therefor; and (3) that the proposed construction is planned or located in a manner which will be most compatible with the greatest public good and the least private injury. When it becomes necessary for the department to condemn any real estate to be used in connection with any such bridge, the attorney general of the state shall represent the department. In eminent domain proceedings to acquire property for any of the purposes of this chapter, any toll bridge, real property, personal property, franchises, rights, easements, or other property or privileges appurtenant thereto appropriated or dedicated to a public use or purpose by any person, firm, private, public, or municipal corporation, county, city, town, district, or any political subdivision of the state, may be condemned and taken, and the acquisition and use as provided in this chapter for the same public use or purpose to which the property has been so appropriated or dedicated, or for any other public use or purpose, is a superior and permanent right and necessity, and a more necessary use and purpose than the public use or purpose to which the property has already been appropriated or dedicated. It is not necessary in any eminent domain proceedings under this chapter to plead or prove any acts or proceedings preliminary or prior to the adoption of the resolution hereinbefore referred to describing the property sought to be taken and directing such proceedings.

Sec. 57. RCW 47.56.120 and 1977 ex.s. c 151 s 70 are each amended to read as follows:

Any such city, county, or other political subdivision may, either jointly or separately, at the request of the ~~((transportation commission))~~ department advance or contribute money or bonds for the purpose of guaranteeing the payment of interest or principal on the bonds issued by the ~~((commission))~~ department to finance the toll facility. Appropriations for such purposes may be made from any funds available, including county road funds received from or credited by the state, or funds obtained by excess tax levies made pursuant to law or the issuance of general obligation bonds for this purpose. General obligation bonds issued by a city, county, or political subdivision may ~~((with the consent of the commission))~~ be placed with the department of transportation to be sold by the department to provide funds for such purpose. Money, or bonds, or property so advanced or contributed may be immediately transferred or delivered to the department to be used for the purpose for which contribution was made. The ~~((commission))~~ department may enter into an agreement with a city, county, or other political subdivision to repay any money, or bonds or the value of a right of way, labor, materials, or other property so advanced or contributed. Sec. 59. RCW 47.60.013 and 1981 c 341 s 1 are each amended to read as follows:

The governor is authorized to take such actions as may be necessary to insure the continued operation of the Puget Sound ferry and toll bridge system under any emergency circumstances which threaten the continued operation of the system. In the event of such an emergency, the governor may assume all the powers granted by law to the ~~((transportation commission and))~~ department of transportation with respect to the ferry system. In addition, notwithstanding the provisions of chapters 47.60 and 47.64 RCW, the governor may contract with any qualified persons for the operation of the Washington state ferry system, or any part thereof, or for ferry service to be provided by privately owned vessels. Administrative costs to the office of the governor incurred in the exercise of this authority shall be reimbursed by the department.

Sec. 60. RCW 47.60.150 and 1999 c 94 s 26 are each amended to read as follows:

Subject to the provisions of RCW 47.60.326, the schedule of charges for the services and facilities of the system shall be fixed and revised from time to time by the ~~((commission))~~ department so that the tolls and other revenues deposited in the Puget Sound ferry operations account for maintenance and operation, and all moneys in the Puget Sound capital construction account available for debt service will yield annual revenue and income sufficient, after allowance for all operating, maintenance, and repair expenses to pay the interest and principal and sinking fund charges for all outstanding revenue bonds, and to create and maintain a fund for ordinary renewals and replacements: PROVIDED, That if provision is made by any resolution for the issuance of revenue bonds for the creation and maintenance of a special fund for rehabilitating, rebuilding, enlarging, or improving all or any part of the ferry system then such schedule of tolls and rates of charges shall be fixed and revised so that the revenue and income will also be sufficient to comply with such provision.

All income and revenues as collected shall be paid to the state treasurer for the account of the department and deposited into the Puget Sound ferry operations account. Nothing in this section requires tolls on the Hood Canal bridge except as may be required by any bond covenants.

Sec. 61. RCW 47.60.326 and 2001 1st sp.s. c 1 s 1 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) In order to maintain an adequate, fair, and economically sound schedule of charges for the transportation of passengers, vehicles, and commodities on the Washington state ferries, the department of transportation each year shall conduct a full review of such charges.

(2) Prior to February 1st of each odd-numbered year the department shall ~~((transmit to the transportation commission))~~ make public a report of its review together with its recommendations for the revision of a schedule of charges for the ensuing biennium. The ~~((commission))~~ department on or before July 1st of that year shall adopt as a rule, in the manner provided by the Washington Administrative Procedure Act, a schedule of charges for the Washington state ferries for the ensuing biennium commencing July 1st. The schedule may initially be adopted as an emergency rule if necessary to take effect on, or as near as possible to, July 1st.

(3) The department in making its review ~~((and))~~, formulating recommendations, and ~~((the commission~~ ~~))~~ adopting a schedule of charges may consider any of the following factors:

- (a) The amount of subsidy available to the ferry system for maintenance and operation;
- (b) The time and distance of ferry runs;
- (c) The maintenance and operation costs for ferry runs with a proper adjustment for higher costs of operating outmoded or less efficient equipment;
- (d) The efficient distribution of traffic between cross-sound routes;
- (e) The desirability of reasonable commutation rates for persons using the ferry system to commute daily to work;
- (f) The effect of proposed fares in increasing walk-on and vehicular passenger use;
- (g) The effect of proposed fares in promoting all types of ferry use during nonpeak periods;
- (h) Such other factors as prudent managers of a major ferry system would consider.

(4) If at any time during the biennium it appears that projected revenues from the Puget Sound ferry operations account and any other operating subsidy available to the Washington state ferries will be less than the projected total cost of maintenance and operation of the Washington state ferries for the biennium, the department shall forthwith undertake a review of its schedule of charges to ascertain whether or not the schedule of charges should be revised. The department shall, upon completion of its review report, ~~((submit))~~ make public its recommendation ~~((to the transportation commission which))~~, and may in its sound discretion revise the schedule of charges as required to meet necessary maintenance and operation expenditures of the ferry system for the biennium or may defer action until the regular annual review and revision of ferry charges as provided in subsection (2) of this section.

(5) The provisions of RCW 47.60.330 relating to public participation shall apply to the process of revising ferry tolls under this section.

(6) Under RCW 43.135.055, the ~~((transportation commission))~~ department may increase ferry tolls included in the schedule of charges adopted under this section by a percentage that exceeds the fiscal growth factor.

Sec. 62. RCW 47.60.330 and 1983 c 15 s 26 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) Before a substantial expansion or curtailment in the level of service provided to ferry users, or a revision in the schedule of ferry tolls or charges, the department of transportation shall consult with affected ferry users. The consultation shall be: (a) By public hearing in affected local communities; (b) by review with the affected ferry advisory committees pursuant to RCW 47.60.310; (c) by conducting a survey of affected ferry users; or (d) by any combination of (a) through (c).

(2) There is created a ferry system productivity council consisting of a representative of each ferry advisory committee empanelled under RCW 47.60.310, elected by the members thereof, and two representatives of employees of the ferry system appointed by mutual agreement of all of the unions representing ferry employees, which shall meet from time to time with ferry system management to discuss means of improving ferry system productivity.

(3) Before increasing ferry tolls the department of transportation shall consider all possible cost reductions with full public participation as provided in subsection (1) of this section and, consistent with public policy, shall consider adapting service levels equitably on a route-by-route basis to reflect trends in and forecasts of traffic usage. Forecasts of traffic levels shall be developed by the bond covenant traffic engineering firm appointed under the provisions of RCW 47.60.450. Provisions of this section shall not alter obligations under RCW 47.60.450. Before including any toll increase in a budget proposal ~~((by the commission))~~, the department of transportation shall consult with affected ferry users in the manner prescribed in (1)(b) of this section plus the procedure of either (1)(a) or (c) of this section.

Sec. 63. RCW 47.60.445 and 1990 c 42 s 409 are each amended to read as follows:

Notwithstanding the provisions of RCW 47.56.240 and 47.56.245 the ~~((transportation commission))~~ department shall not collect tolls on the Hood Canal bridge for any purpose except where necessary to comply with bond covenants.

The cost of maintenance, upkeep, and repair may be paid from funds appropriated for the construction and maintenance of the primary state highways of the state of Washington.

Sec. 64. RCW 47.60.800 and 1992 c 158 s 1 are each amended to read as follows:

In order to provide funds necessary for vessel and terminal acquisition, construction, and major and minor improvements, including long lead time materials acquisition for the Washington state ferries, there shall be issued and sold upon the request of the ~~((Washington state))~~ department of transportation ~~((commission))~~ and legislative appropriation a total of two hundred ten million dollars of general obligation bonds of the state of Washington.

"NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. (1) The legislature finds that prescription drugs are an effective and important part of efforts to maintain and improve the health of Washington state residents. Yet prescription drug expenditures in both the public and private sectors are growing at rates far in excess of consumer or medical inflation, placing a strain on the ability of public and private health care purchasers to continue to offer comprehensive health benefits coverage. (a) Develop a comprehensive prescription drug education and utilization system in Washington state that will ensure best prescribing practices and pharmaceutical use, reduce administrative burdens on providers, increase consumer understanding of and compliance with appropriate use of prescription drugs, help to control increases in consumer and state health care spending, and improve prescription drug purchasing through a sound evidence-based process that evaluates the therapeutic value and cost-effectiveness of prescription drugs; and

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4. A new section is added to chapter 41.05 RCW to read as follows:

The health care authority shall, directly or by contract:

(a) Adopt a preferred drug list for use as provided in this act through the establishment of a pharmacy and therapeutics committee. The preferred drug list shall exclude drugs used to treat mental illness, cancer, the acquired human immunodeficiency virus, and diabetes.

(i) The pharmacy and therapeutics committee shall be comprised of practicing licensed physicians, other practicing licensed health professionals with prescriptive authority, practicing licensed pharmacists, and pharmacoeconomists. At least one licensed health professional with prescriptive authority and one pharmacist must have demonstrated experience in serving women, children, and people of color. The membership composition must be consistent with applicable federal requirements under Title XIX of the federal social security act to allow full participation by the department of social and health services or other state agencies in activities under this act.

(ii) The pharmacy and therapeutics committee shall review nationally recognized therapeutic drug classes. The committee must use an evidence-based process that evaluates the efficacy of prescription drugs, considering safety, efficacy, likelihood of compliance, outcomes, and any unique impacts on specific populations based upon factors such as sex, age, ethnicity, race, or disability. For each therapeutic class reviewed, the committee must identify the prescription drugs determined to be most clinically effective, and if applicable, equally effective. If there is insufficient evidence or no evidence to establish whether a drug is equally effective, cost shall not be the determining factor in identifying a drug for the preferred drug list. Decisions of the pharmacy and therapeutics committee regarding the clinical effectiveness of drugs within a therapeutic class are binding on the authority.

If a substantial number of prescribers in a peer group are frequently prescribing nonpreferred drugs in one or more therapeutic classes, the administrator must provide the pharmacy and therapeutics committee with information on these prescribing patterns to enable the committee to review their decisions related to the affected therapeutic classes.

(iii) State purchased health care programs shall adopt the preferred drug list established by the authority for those components of their programs that purchase prescription drugs directly or through reimbursement of retail pharmacies consistent with the scope of benefits offered through those programs. In administering prescription drug benefits under state purchased health care programs, agencies shall honor an endorsing prescriber's direction to dispense a prescription drug as written on the prescription order or to continue therapy with the drug classes included in section 13 of this act.

(iv) Within one hundred twenty days following establishment of the pharmacy and therapeutics committee, the drug utilization and education council within the department of social and health services shall be disbanded and its functions transferred to the pharmacy and therapeutics committee.

(v) If a particular class of drugs is being used in a disease management program sponsored by a state purchased health care program, efforts shall be made to ensure that the preferred drugs in that class are consistent with protocols or algorithms used in the disease management program.

(vi) Members of the pharmacy and therapeutics committee are immune from civil liability for any official acts performed in good faith as members of the committee;

(b) Establish drug utilization management policies. State purchased health care programs shall adopt these drug utilization management policies consistent with the scope of benefits offered and populations served through programs administered by that program and may implement the policies directly or by contract or interagency agreement. To ensure full participation by the department of social and health services in drug utilization management activities under this act, the policies must be consistent with drug utilization review requirements of Title XIX of the federal social security act. The pharmacy and therapeutics committee shall conduct drug utilization management activities for state purchased health care programs as directed by the authority;

(c) Develop prescriber and consumer education policies. State purchased health care programs shall adopt these prescriber and consumer policies and implement them directly or by contract or interagency agreement. Effective prescriber education policies are intended to result in better compliance of prescribers with the preferred drug list and increased cost savings. Prescriber education policies should be adequately funded and designed to educate prescribers to prevent use of more expensive prescription drugs of no greater clinical benefit, to increase prescribers' awareness of the preferred drug list and the credible evidence-based process used to develop it, and the ability to direct that prescriptions be dispensed as written;

(d) Adopt policies necessary for establishment of cross-agency prescription drug purchasing activities. The administrator shall implement the prescription drug purchasing policies, and shall coordinate state purchased health care programs' participation. State purchased health care programs shall coordinate the purchase of prescription drugs for those prescription drugs that are purchased directly by the state and those that are purchased through reimbursement of retail pharmacies, unless exempted under section 14 of this act. The administrator shall explore joint purchasing opportunities with other states to achieve quality cost-effective prescription drug coverage for participating state agencies.

(e) Develop an operating plan for a public/private prescription drug purchasing consortium and present the plan to appropriate committees of the senate and house of representatives by January 1, 2005. The operating plan will go into effect on July 1, 2005 unless the legislature takes official action to modify or prohibit the operating plan. The authority shall provide reports to the legislature on January 1, 2006 and January 1, 2007 on the costs and benefits of the purchasing consortium to participating individuals and private entities.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 5. A new section is added to chapter 41.05 RCW to read as follows:

Members of the prescription drug board, the pharmacy and therapeutics committee, or any committee that may be established to carry out activities under this act are prohibited from being employed by a pharmaceutical manufacturer, a pharmacy benefits management company, or be employed by any agency administering state purchased health care programs, except as specified in section 3(2)(d), (e), and (f) of this act. As a condition of appointment to the prescription drug board or any committee, each member must disclose any potential conflict of interest, including receipt of any remuneration, grants, or other compensation from a pharmaceutical manufacturer or pharmaceutical benefits management company.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 6. A new section is added to chapter 41.05 RCW to read as follows:

The administrator shall:

(1) Directly or by interagency agreement or contract, distribute the initial preferred drug list and any subsequent revisions to every provider with prescriptive authority, including with it a description of how the list was developed, how it will be used, and requesting his or her endorsement;

(2) Obtain in writing from all prescribers either: (a) An affirmative statement endorsing the preferred drug list and acknowledging the therapeutic substitution authority granted to pharmacists when there is no direction to dispense the prescription as written, or (b) a statement declining to endorse the preferred drug list; and

(3) Provide each pharmacy with a listing of the prescribers who have not endorsed the preferred drug list.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 7. A new section is added to chapter 74.09 RCW to read as follows:

(1) There is established a program to be known as the senior prescription drug assistance program. To the extent funds are appropriated specifically for this purpose, and subject to any conditions placed on appropriations made for this purpose, the department shall design and administer the senior prescription drug assistance program. Neither the benefits of, nor eligibility for, the program is considered to be an entitlement.

(2) The department is directed to obtain necessary federal waivers to implement this program. Consistent with federal waiver conditions, the department is authorized to charge enrollment fees, premiums, or point-of-service cost-sharing to enrollees of the program. In addition to seeking a federal waiver, the department shall develop a state-only alternative that does not require federal approval or funding.

(3) Eligibility for this program is limited to persons: (a) Who are age sixty-five and older; (b) whose family income does not exceed two hundred percent of the federal poverty level as adjusted for family size and determined annually by the federal department of health and human services; (c) who do not otherwise have insurance that provides prescription drug coverage; and (d) who are not otherwise eligible under Title XIX of the federal social security act.

(4) The department is authorized to use a cost-effective prescription drug benefit design. Consistent with federal waiver conditions, this benefit design can be different than the benefit design offered under the medical assistance program. The benefit design may include a deductible benefit that provides coverage when enrollees incur higher prescription drug costs as defined by the department. The department also may offer more than one benefit design.

(5) The department is authorized to limit enrollment of persons who qualify for the program so as to prevent an overexpenditure of appropriations for this program or to assure necessary compliance with federal waiver budget neutrality requirements. The department shall not reduce existing medical assistance program eligibility or benefits to assure compliance with federal waiver budget neutrality requirements.

(6) No funds from an approved federal waiver that allows for the collection of premiums from medicaid clients will be used to finance the medicaid prescription drug assistance program.

(7) This program will be terminated within twelve months after implementation of a prescription drug benefit under Title XVIII of the social security act.

(8) The department shall provide recommendations to the appropriate committees of the senate and house of representatives by November 15, 2003, on financing options available to support the prescription drug assistance program. In recommending financing options, the department shall explore every opportunity to maximize federal funding to support the program.

WHEREAS, Abraham Lincoln continues to be known and admired for his eloquent and accomplished oratory of viewpoints, which were always rooted in the truest principles of liberty and justice, and which are perhaps best illustrated in his debate opposing slavery with Judge Stephen A. Douglas and by the delivery of what has become known as the Gettysburg Address, which honored the magnitude of the cost of liberty; and

WHEREAS, Abraham Lincoln believed the republican form of government established by the Founding Fathers was the best means of ensuring freedom from despotic government, and he became the father of the Republican Party dedicated to maintaining the truest principles of constitutional representation under the rule of law; and

RESOLUTION

HOUSE RESOLUTION NO. 2003-4626, By Representatives Santos, Veloria, Kenney, Pettigrew, McCoy, Lovick, Moeller, Morris, Chase, Linville, Dickerson, Romero, Conway, Gombosky, Holmquist, Wallace, Haigh, Darneille, Fromhold, Sommers, Simpson, Murray, Cody, Dunshee, Hunter, Quall, Hunt, Hudgins, McIntire, Upthegrove, Edwards, Rockefeller, Lantz, Wood, Kirby, Cooper, Sullivan, Berkey, Kagi, Woods, Condotta, Sump, Armstrong, Shabro, Schoesler, Nixon, Alexander, Anderson, Newhouse, Clements, Jarrett, Priest, Kessler, Grant, Ruderman, Schual-Berke, Chopp, McDermott, Ericksen, O'Brien, Skinner and Talcott

WHEREAS, On February 19, 1942, President Franklin D. Roosevelt issued Executive Order 9066, which authorized the forced assembly, evacuation, and internment of approximately 12,000 Japanese-Americans residing in the state of Washington; and

WHEREAS, The order for assembly and detention at Camp Harmony in Puyallup, Washington, prior to evacuation and subsequent internment caused the Japanese-Americans from the state of Washington to lose millions of dollars in property and assets, to suffer immeasurable physical and psychological damage, and to be deprived of their constitutional liberties without due process of law; and

WHEREAS, The alleged purpose of this drastic course of action was to prevent Japanese-Americans, all of whom were deemed disloyal and untrustworthy, from committing acts of espionage and sabotage against the United States during the period of its involvement in World War II; and

WHEREAS, An overwhelming number of Japanese-Americans from the state of Washington responded to questions of their loyalty and patriotism by volunteering from within barbed wire camps to serve in the United States Military Intelligence Service and the United States Army's 442nd Regimental Combat Team, the latter of which became the most decorated unit of its size in American history with seven Presidential Unit Citations, 21 Congressional Medals of Honor, 52 Distinguished Service Crosses, 588 Silver Stars, 4,000 Bronze Stars, 9,486 Purple Hearts, and a total of 18 decorations from France and Italy; and

WHEREAS, A few equally patriotic Japanese-Americans, such as Gordon Hirabayashi, then a student at the University of Washington, were willing to face imprisonment to seek justice by challenging the constitutionality of the evacuation and internment orders; and

WHEREAS, Hindsight has proven that the predominant factor that actually led to the internment of Japanese-Americans was not "military necessity" to protect the United States from possible espionage or sabotage, but was the result of "race prejudice, war hysteria, and a failure of political leadership"; and

WHEREAS, Japanese-American internees from the state of Washington endured economic, physical, and psychological hardship and suffered in silence for more than forty years before the state of Washington provided monetary redress and reparations to municipal and state employees;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, That the House of Representatives, along with the people of Washington, pause in their endeavors on February 19, 2003, to acknowledge the sixty-first anniversary of the signing of Executive Order 9066, to recognize the Japanese-American internees from the state of Washington and honor their patience, heroism, sacrifice, and patriotic loyalty, and to remember the lessons and blessings of liberty and justice for all; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That copies of this resolution be immediately transmitted by the Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives to the Nisei Veterans Committee, the Military Intelligence Service - Northwest Association, and the Japanese- American Citizens League.

HOUSE RESOLUTION NO. 4626 was adopted.

SPEAKER'S PRIVILEGE

The Speaker (Representative Lovick presiding): "The speaker wishes to acknowledge that February 19th has been designated as a Day of Remembrance, a day to observe the anniversary of the signing of Executive Order 9066, which authorized a very painful chapter in the history of our country -- the evacuation, relocation, and internment of more than 120,000 Japanese Americans during World War II.

The Speaker would note that Japanese-American residents of Bainbridge Island were the very first in the nation to be subject to this order. The Speaker further recognizes the hundreds of valiant men and women from Washington State who served with honor and distinction in the 100th Battalion, 442nd Regimental Combat Team, and the Military Intelligence Service.

We are eternally grateful to these veterans for fighting to protect our rights and freedoms, and for honoring the Washington State House of Representatives with this morning's color guard. We are honored by your presence.

The Day of Remembrance is a time to remember what happened to loyal American citizens during World War II and to pledge never again to surrender our principles or our people to fear."

While the legislature has authorized state agencies to promulgate rules, the legislature retains continued oversight over the rule-making process of those agencies.

"(8) This section does not apply to facilities to recapture and reuse return flow from irrigation operations serving a single farm under an existing water right as long as the acreage irrigated is not increased beyond the acreage allowed to be irrigated under the water right that applies to the property.

(9) In addition to the facilities exempted under subsection (8) of this section, this section does not apply to small irrigation impoundments. For purposes of this subsection, "small irrigation impoundments" means surface storage ponds less than ten acre feet in volume used to impound irrigation water under an existing water right where use of the impoundment: (a)(i) Facilitates efficient use of water; or (ii) promotes compliance with an approved recovery plan for endangered or threatened species; and (b) does not expand the number of acres irrigated or the annual consumptive quantity of water used. Water remaining in a small irrigation impoundment at the end of an irrigation season may be carried over for use in the next season; however, the limitations of this subsection (9) apply to such a carry over. Development and use of a small irrigation impoundment does not constitute a change or amendment for purposes of RCW 90.03.380 or 90.44.055.

Sec. 3. RCW 90.03.380 and 2001 c 237 s 5 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) The right to the use of water which has been applied to a beneficial use in the state shall be and remain appurtenant to the land or place upon which the same is used: PROVIDED, HOWEVER, That the right may be transferred to another or to others and become appurtenant to any other land or place of use without loss of priority of right theretofore established if such change can be made without detriment or injury to existing rights. The point of diversion of water for beneficial use or the purpose of use may be changed, if such change can be made without detriment or injury to existing rights. A change in the place of use, point of diversion, and/or purpose of use of a water right to enable irrigation of additional acreage or the addition of new uses may be permitted if such change results in no increase in the annual consumptive quantity of water used under the water right. For purposes of this section, "annual consumptive quantity" means the estimated or actual annual amount of water diverted pursuant to the water right, reduced by the estimated annual amount of return flows, averaged over the two years of greatest use within the most recent five-year period of continuous beneficial use of the water right. Before any transfer of such right to use water or change of the point of diversion of water or change of purpose of use can be made, any person having an interest in the transfer or change, shall file a written application therefor with the department, and the application shall not be granted until notice of the application is published as provided in RCW 90.03.280. If it shall appear that such transfer or such change may be made without injury or detriment to existing rights, the department shall issue to the applicant a certificate in duplicate granting the right for such transfer or for such change of point of diversion or of use. The certificate so issued shall be filed and be made a record with the department and the duplicate certificate issued to the applicant may be filed with the county auditor in like manner and with the same effect as provided in the original certificate or permit to divert water.

(2) If an application for change proposes to transfer water rights from one irrigation district to another, the department shall, before publication of notice, receive concurrence from each of the irrigation districts that such transfer or change will not adversely affect the ability to deliver water to other landowners or impair the financial integrity of either of the districts.

(3) A change in place of use by an individual water user or users of water provided by an irrigation district need only receive approval for the change from the board of directors of the district if the use of water continues within the irrigation district, and when water is provided by an irrigation entity that is a member of a board of joint control created under chapter 87.80 RCW, approval need only be received from the board of joint control if the use of water continues within the area of jurisdiction of the joint board and the change can be made without detriment or injury to existing rights.

(4) This section shall not apply to trust water rights acquired by the state through the funding of water conservation projects under chapter 90.38 RCW or RCW 90.42.010 through 90.42.070.

(5)(a) Pending applications for new water rights are not entitled to protection from impairment, injury, or detriment when an application relating to an existing surface or ground water right is considered.

(b) Applications relating to existing surface or ground water rights may be processed and decisions on them rendered independently of processing and rendering decisions on pending applications for new water rights within the same source of supply without regard to the date of filing of the pending applications for new water rights.

(c) Notwithstanding any other existing authority to process applications, including but not limited to the authority to process applications under WAC 173-152-050 as it existed on January 1, 2001, an application relating to an existing surface or ground water right may be processed ahead of a previously filed application relating to an existing right when sufficient information for a decision on the previously filed application is not available and the applicant for the previously filed application is sent written notice that explains what information is not available and informs the applicant that processing of the next application will begin. The previously filed application does not lose its priority date and if the information is provided by the applicant within sixty days, the previously filed application shall be processed at that time. This subsection (5)(c) does not affect any other existing authority to process applications.

(d) Nothing in this subsection (5) is intended to stop the processing of applications for new water rights.

(6) No applicant for a change, transfer, or amendment of a water right may be required to give up any part of the applicant's valid water right or claim to a state agency, the trust water rights program, or to other persons as a condition of processing the application.

(7) In revising the provisions of this section and adding provisions to this section by chapter 237, Laws of 2001, the legislature does not intend to imply legislative approval or disapproval of any existing administrative policy regarding, or any existing administrative or judicial interpretation of, the provisions of this section not expressly added or revised.

(8) The development and use of a facility described in RCW 90.03.370(8) or of a small irrigation impoundment, as defined in RCW 90.03.370(9), does not constitute a change or amendment for the purposes of this section.

Sec. 4. RCW 90.44.100 and 1997 c 316 s 2 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) After an application to, and upon the issuance by the department of an amendment to the appropriate permit or certificate of ground water right, the holder of a valid right to withdraw public ground waters may, without losing the holder's priority of right, construct wells or other means of withdrawal at a new location in substitution for or in addition to those at the original location, or the holder may change the manner or the place of use of the water.

(2) An amendment to construct replacement or a new additional well or wells at a location outside of the location of the original well or wells or to change the manner or place of use of the water shall be issued only after publication of notice of the application and findings as prescribed in the case of an original application. Such amendment shall be issued by the department only on the conditions that: (a) The additional or replacement well or wells shall tap the same body of public ground water as the original well or wells; (b) where a replacement well or wells is approved, the use of the original well or wells shall be discontinued and the original well or wells shall be properly decommissioned as required under chapter 18.104 RCW; (c) where an additional well or wells is constructed, the original well or wells may continue to be used, but the combined total withdrawal from the original and additional well or wells shall not enlarge the right conveyed by the original permit or certificate; and (d) other existing rights shall not be impaired. The department may specify an approved manner of construction and shall require a showing of compliance with the terms of the amendment, as provided in RCW 90.44.080 in the case of an original permit.

(3) The construction of a replacement or new additional well or wells at the location of the original well or wells shall be allowed without application to the department for an amendment. However, the following apply to such a replacement or new additional well: (a) The well shall tap the same body of public ground water as the original well or wells; (b) if a replacement well is constructed, the use of the original well or wells shall be discontinued and the original well or wells shall be properly decommissioned as required under chapter 18.104 RCW; (c) if a new additional well is constructed, the original well or wells may continue to be used, but the combined total withdrawal from the original and additional well or wells shall not enlarge the right conveyed by the original water use permit or certificate; (d) the construction and use of the well shall not interfere with or impair water rights with an earlier date of priority than the water right or rights for the original well or wells; (e) the replacement or additional well shall be located no closer than the original well to a well it might interfere with; (f) the department may specify an approved manner of construction of the well; and (g) the department shall require a showing of compliance with the conditions of this subsection (3).

(4) As used in this section, the "location of the original well or wells" is the area described as the point of withdrawal in the original public notice published for the application for the water right for the well.

(5) The development and use of a facility described in RCW 90.03.370(8) or of a small irrigation impoundment, as defined in RCW 90.03.370(9), does not constitute a change or amendment for the purposes of this section."

Rabbi Zari Weiss, Temple Beth Hatfiloh gave the Invocation:

"2500 years ago, the philosopher known only as Kohelet, or Ecclesiastes, wrote:
To everything there is a season, a time for every purpose under heaven.
A time to be born and a time to die.
A time to plant and a time to uproot what has been planted.
A time to tear down and a time to build up.
A time to weep and a time to laugh.
A time to grieve and a time to dance.
A time to throw stones and a time to gather stones together,
A time to embrace and a time to refrain from embracing;
A time to seek and a time to lose;
A time to keep and a time to discard;
A time to tear and a time to sew;
A time to keep silence and a time to speak.

Today is a time to grieve and a time to remember, a time to recall with both sadness and appreciation-those who have served our community and this State with dedication and commitment. Today is a day not only to mourn their passing, but also, to celebrate the goodness of their lives and the work of their hands: the labor of their hearts, minds, and souls.

We come together today from various faith traditions-humbled in the shadow of death, awed by the mysteries of Life. Each in our own way, we offer up the prayers of our hearts-to the Source of Life from which all life comes, to the Profound Mystery that is present in all of creation: birth and death, health and sickness, love and loss. We come together seeking greater understanding in the face of grief, comfort in the midst of our sadness, connection with others who also share our loss. We come together-family, friends, colleagues, and community, to honor and celebrate the lives of those distinguished members of this legislative body who, though taken from us by death, have contributed in no small way to the welfare of the citizens of this state, the well-being of our country. Though no longer a part of this earthly plane, they live on not only in the legacy of the work that they did, but also in the many ways that they touched our lives and contributed to who we are today. Divine Mystery that is present in all Life . . . and Death, help us to trust the eternal in the midst of the temporal. Help us find comfort and knowledge that-in ways that are beyond our mortal comprehension and understanding-the souls of our loved ones are now a part of the mysterious tapestry of the universe, held with love in the gentle embrace of your Divine Presence. May the nobility of their lives and the high ideals they cherished endure in our thoughts and live on in our deeds. May we-the generations who follow-carry on their work, and in so doing affirm the hope and potential that is present in life.

May the memories of the ones we have loved and lost strengthen our lives and guide us always in ways of goodness. Zichronom livracha – May their memories be for a blessing, for their families and friends, colleagues and community, indeed, for all humanity. And let us say, Amen."

The Legislative Choir, led by guest director Irvin Martin and accompanied by Barbara Ruble performed "Amazing Grace".

Speaker Pro Tempore Lovick introduced President Pro Tempore Winsley for the Memorial Tribute. She called the roll and the memorialists came forward to light the candles.

Reverend Paul Lundborg, Lutheran Church of the Good Shephard gave the memorial prayer.

"O God, In Whom We Live and Move and Have Our Being,

You hold us in Your hands. Our memories and our longings are all known to You. Time holds us captive, but even time rests safely in Your compassionate embrace.

Today we are looking back in time to remember. We confess that we seldom visit the halls of our history. We are guilty of relentlessly pushing forward, willing our way into the future, seldom recalling those who have gone before us.

But we acknowledge today that we are standing on the shoulders of workers who laid a foundation. We are relay runners who have received the baton of leadership from earlier members of the team who have run their race. We are inheritors of a legacy given us by those who invested their gifts serving the public good. Let us be enriched today by remembering those who have gone before us, and let us honor their memory by thankfully receiving their unique gifts. Bless the households, the families and friends of these departed servants, who stood beside their loved ones that they might serve. Grant them the blessings of comfort in their loss and the satisfaction of warm memories.

In this moment of time, the present, we know that You ask us to do justice, love kindness, and walk humbly beside You. Others have walked first on this path, and we are made bolder by their pioneering spirits. Teach us, O God, what You would have us learn from their examples.

The future puzzles us, O God. We plan for it, but we receive it from You, a moment at a time, and You invite us to shape it with You for the good. Let us not be anxious about the future; neither let us be afraid of what we face. Allow these servant/leaders gathered here today to be steadfast in spirit while serving the common good of this state. It does not escape us, O God, that some day we will be the ones remembered, rather than remembering. Until that time, enable us to live boldly within the liberating boundaries of Your Grace, and let us be faithful stewards of all that you give us to manage, especially the gift of time. AMEN."

The Legislative Choir performed "Oh Lord God, You Are My Refuge." The State Patrol Color Guard gave the 21 Bell Salute which included the flag folding ceremony, then the bagpiper played "Amazing Grace".

RESOLUTION

HOUSE RESOLUTION NO. 2003-4631, By Representatives Pflug, Murray, Sommers and Woods

WHEREAS, The State of Washington has neighborhoods as varied and unique as the gorgeous coastal landscape and offers many great places to live; and

WHEREAS, Half an hour to the east of Seattle is the Snoqualmie Valley, nestled in the foothills of the Cascade Mountains; and

WHEREAS, The small towns in the Valley - Snoqualmie, North Bend, Preston, and Fall City - are in a geographic sweet spot, just as close to Seattle as they are to the ski slopes; and

WHEREAS, New home construction is burgeoning, but the area retains a rural feel with elk and golf courses, a place where people can relax in what Washington living used to be about; and

WHEREAS, The neighboring communities of Fremont and Ballard lie on the north side of Seattle; and

WHEREAS, Fremont is Seattle's acknowledged hip and cool spot, the kind of place where you meet people named Sunshine; and

WHEREAS, Fremont's rich stock of old industrial buildings means apartments and condos predominate with prices running from $175,000 to $300,000; and

WHEREAS, Next door in Ballard you'll find more houses with verdant backyards in a city shaped by hills, with homes ranging from fishermen's bungalows to new, larger constructions; and

WHEREAS, Originally a Scandinavian settlement, Ballard lies on a relatively gentle slope that opens it to sun almost all the time, a big advantage in the damp Pacific Northwest; and

WHEREAS, Ballard boasts some of the most active locks in the United States, with watching the boats a happening every day; and

WHEREAS, For those who prefer their commute by ferry, the other side of Puget Sound is the ticket with Bainbridge Island the classic off-the-mainland bedroom community; and

WHEREAS, Other close-in waterfront suburbs have even more commuters from Seattle taking the 40-minute cruise to Bremerton and the nearby communities of Silverdale and Poulsbo; and

WHEREAS, Bremerton, a Navy town, has become known as a good place to raise children with the school system rapidly improving, and homes ranging from ranches to view-stealing mansions averaging about a third less than similar spreads in Seattle itself;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, That the House of Representatives of Washington State join with Money Magazine to recognize these outstanding neighborhood communities, each exemplifying a different aspect of Washington State's gorgeous coastal living, and the local community leaders who have helped shape the unique character and quality of life enjoyed by all those who live, work, and play there.

HOUSE RESOLUTION NO. 4631 was adopted.

The Speaker assumed the chair.

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

"NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. The definitions in this section apply throughout this chapter unless the context clearly requires otherwise.

(1) "Automotive mercury switch" includes a convenience switch, such as a switch for a trunk or hood light, and a mercury switch in antilock brake systems.

(2) "Department" means the department of ecology.

(3) "Director" means the director of the department of ecology.

(5) "Manufacturer" includes any person, firm, association, partnership, corporation, governmental entity, organization, or joint venture that produces a mercury-added product or an importer or domestic distributor of a mercury-added product produced in a foreign country. In the case of a multicomponent product containing mercury, the manufacturer is the last manufacturer to produce or assemble the product. If the multicomponent product or mercury-added product is produced in a foreign country, the manufacturer is the first importer or domestic distributor.

(6) "Mercury-added button-cell battery" means a button-cell battery to which the manufacturer intentionally introduces mercury for the operation of the battery.

(7) "Mercury-added novelty" means a mercury-added product intended mainly for personal or household enjoyment or adornment. Mercury-added novelties include, but are not limited to, items intended for use as practical jokes, figurines, adornments, toys, games, cards, ornaments, yard statues and figures, candles, jewelry, holiday decorations, items of apparel, and other similar products. Mercury-added novelty does not include games, toys, or products that require a button-cell or lithium battery, liquid crystal display screens, or a lamp that contains mercury.

(8) "Mercury-added product" means a product, commodity, or chemical, or a product with a component that contains mercury or a mercury compound intentionally added to the product, commodity, or chemical in order to provide a specific characteristic, appearance, or quality, or to perform a specific function, or for any other reason. NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. (1) Effective January 1, 2004, a manufacturer, wholesaler, or retailer may not knowingly sell at retail a fluorescent lamp if the fluorescent lamp contains mercury and was manufactured after November 30, 2003, unless the fluorescent lamp is labeled in accordance with the guidelines listed under subsection (2) of this section. Primary responsibility for affixing labels required under this section is on the manufacturer, and not on the wholesaler or retailer.

(2) Except as provided in subsection (3) of this section, a lamp is considered labeled pursuant to subsection (1) of this section if the lamp has all of the following:

(a) A label affixed to the lamp that displays the internationally recognized symbol for the element mercury; and

(b) A label on the lamp's packaging that: (i) Clearly informs the purchaser that mercury is present in the item; (ii) explains that the fluorescent lamp should be disposed of according to applicable federal, state, and local laws; and (iii) provides a toll-free telephone number, and a uniform resource locator internet address to a web site, that contains information on applicable disposal laws.

(3) The manufacturer of a mercury-added lamp is in compliance with the requirements of this section if the manufacturer is in compliance with the labeling requirements of another state.

(4) The provisions of this section do not apply to products containing mercury-added lamps.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. (1) The department shall develop and implement a state plan for a permanent repository for mercury that is certified under the federal resource conservation and recovery act. The plan must include the identification of local jurisdictions that are willing to host a mercury repository site.

(2) Prior to implementing the state plan for a permanent mercury repository under subsection (1) of this section, the department shall report to the legislature the details of the plan and the list of local jurisdictions that are willing to host a mercury repository site.

(3) Mercury recovered after the establishment date of a permanent repository under this section may not be sold for reuse.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4. The department of health must develop an educational plan for schools, local governments, businesses, and the public on the proper disposal methods for mercury and mercury-added products.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 5. A school may not purchase for use in a primary or secondary classroom bulk elemental mercury or chemical mercury compounds. By January 1, 2004, all primary and secondary schools in the state must remove and properly dispose of all bulk elemental mercury, chemical mercury, and bulk mercury compounds.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 6. (1) Effective January 1, 2004, no person may sell, offer for sale, or distribute for sale or use in this state a mercury-added novelty. A manufacturer of mercury-added novelties must notify all retailers that sell the product about the provisions of this section and how to properly dispose of any remaining mercury-added novelty inventory.

(2)(a) Effective January 1, 2005, no person may sell, offer for sale, or distribute for sale or use in this state a manometer that contains mercury to any health care facility in this state or a thermometer that contains mercury. This subsection (2)(a) does not apply to:

(3) Effective January 1, 2006, no person may sell, install, or reinstall a commercial or residential thermostat that contains mercury unless the manufacturer of the thermostat conducts or participates in a thermostat recovery or recycling program designed to assist contractors in the proper disposal of thermostats that contain mercury in accordance with 42 U.S.C. Sec. 6901, et seq., the federal resource conservation and recovery act.

(4) No person may sell, offer for sale, or distribute for sale or use in this state a motor vehicle manufactured after January 1, 2006, if the motor vehicle contains an automotive mercury switch.

(5) Nothing in this section restricts the ability of a manufacturer, importer, or domestic distributor from transporting products through the state, or storing products in the state for later distribution outside the state.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 7. (1) The department of general administration must, by January 1, 2004, revise its rules, policies, and guidelines to implement the purpose of this chapter.

(2) The department of general administration must give priority and preference to the purchase of equipment, supplies, and other products that contain no mercury-added compounds or components, unless: (a) There is no economically feasible nonmercury-added alternative that performs a similar function; or (b) the product containing mercury is designed to reduce electricity consumption by at least forty percent and there is no nonmercury or lower mercury alternative available that saves the same or a greater amount of electricity as the exempted product. In circumstances where a nonmercury-added product is not available, preference must be given to the purchase of products that contain the least amount of mercury added to the product necessary for the required performance.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 8. The department is authorized to participate in a regional or multistate clearinghouse to assist in carrying out any of the requirements of this chapter. A clearinghouse may also be used for examining notification and label requirements, developing education and outreach activities, and maintaining a list of all mercury-added products.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 9. A violation of this chapter is punishable by a civil penalty not to exceed one thousand dollars for each violation in the case of a first violation. Repeat violators are liable for a civil penalty not to exceed five thousand dollars for each repeat violation. Penalties collected under this section must be deposited in the state toxics control account created in RCW 70.105D.070.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 10. Nothing in this chapter applies to crematories as that term is defined in RCW 68.04.070.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 11. Any fiscal impact on the department or the department of health that results from the implementation of this chapter must be paid for out of funds that are appropriated by the legislature from the state toxics control account for the implementation of the department's persistent bioaccumulative toxic chemical strategy.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 12. Nothing in this chapter applies to prescription drugs regulated by the food and drug administration under the federal food, drug, and cosmetic act (21 U.S.C. Sec. 301 et seq.), to biological products regulated by the food and drug administration under the public health service act (42 U.S.C. ### POINT OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE Representative McMahan: "It has come to my attention that comments that I made Monday afternoon have caused misunderstanding and offenses. I had acted Monday morning out of personal preference and spoke without consulting anyone else. Nothing I said in any way reflects the feelings or opinions of any other lawmaker as far as I know.

I want to make it clear that it was not my intention to offend anyone by my actions or words. Specifically, I want to state that it was not my intention to slight or show any ill-will toward Imam Mohamad Joban or any other American member of the Islamic faith, whose members I'm sure enjoy the freedom and opportunity of this country as much as I do.

As I pointed out in the statement that I released to the media yesterday, this nation was founded on the principle of the individual's right to religious freedom. I have great respect for those who hold religious beliefs, whether they resemble or are vastly different from my own.

In fact, I would die for the right of any American to believe as he or she chooses. It is my personal belief that God gave this individual right and extends it to everyone. It has never been my intention to show disrespect for anyone else because of their deeply held religious beliefs and thereby cause an offense. In fact, I have made it a lifelong goal to live as much as possible without causing offense to others.

I apologize for offenses given and would like to ask forgiveness of any whom I have offended. It was never my intention for such offenses to occur in the first place.

I understand that Imam Joban has extended an invitation to me to visit the local Islamic center where he presides. If in fact this is true, I intend to accept his gracious invitation. At that time I will personally deliver to him my apology for any offense he may have experienced.

Thank you, Mr. Speaker."

(2) An employer ((need)) is not required to reemploy ((such)) a person under this chapter if:

(a) Circumstances have so changed such that reemployment would be impossible or unreasonable due to a change in the employer's circumstances (~~(-or-)~~);

(b) Reemployment would impose an undue hardship on the employer (~~(- PROVIDED FURTHER, That this section shall not apply to a temporary position)~~); or

If he or she is not so qualified as a result of disability sustained during his or her service in the uniformed services, but is nevertheless qualified to perform the duties of another position, under the control of the same employer, he or she shall be reemployed in such other position: PROVIDED, That such position shall provide him or her with like seniority, status, and pay, or the nearest approximation thereto consistent with the circumstances of the case."

On page 4, beginning on line 5, strike all of section 3 and insert the following:

Sec. 3. RCW 73.16.035 and 2001 c 133 s 6 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) In order to be eligible for the benefits of this chapter, an applicant must comply with the following requirements:

(a) The applicant must notify his or her employer as to his or her membership in the uniformed services within a reasonable time of accepting employment or becoming a member of the uniformed services. An employer may not take any action prohibited in RCW 73.16.032 against a person because the person provided notice of membership in the uniformed services to the employer.

(b) The applicant must furnish a receipt of an honorable, or under honorable conditions discharge, report of separation, certificate of satisfactory service, or other proof of having satisfactorily completed his or her service. Rejectees must furnish proof of orders for examination and rejection.

(c) The applicant must make written application to the employer or his or her representative as follows:

(i) In the case of an applicant whose period of service in the uniformed services was less than thirty-one days, by reporting to the employer:

(A) Not later than the beginning of the first full regularly scheduled work period on the first full calendar day following the completion of the period of service and the expiration of eight hours after a period allowing for the safe transportation of the applicant from the place of that service to the applicant's residence; or

(B) As soon as possible after the expiration of the eight-hour period in (c)(i)(A) of this subsection, if reporting within that period is impossible or unreasonable through no fault of the applicant;

(ii) In the case of an applicant who is absent from a position of employment for a period of any length for the purposes of an examination to determine the applicant's fitness to perform service in the uniformed services, by reporting in the manner and time referred to in (c)(i) of this subsection;

(iii) In the case of an applicant whose period of service in the uniformed services was for more than thirty days but less than one hundred eighty-one days, by submitting an application for reemployment with the employer not later than fourteen days after the completion of the period of service or if submitting such application within such period is impossible or unreasonable through no fault of the applicant, the next first full calendar day when submission of such application becomes possible;

(iv) In the case of an applicant whose period of service in the uniformed services was for more than one hundred eighty days, by submitting an application for reemployment with the employer not later than ninety days after the completion of the period of service;

(v) In the case of an applicant who is hospitalized for, or convalescing from, an illness or injury incurred or aggravated during the performance of service in the uniformed services, at the end of the period that is necessary for the applicant to recover from such illness or injury, the applicant shall submit an application for reemployment with such employer. The period of recovery may not exceed two years. This two-year period shall be extended by the minimum time required to accommodate the circumstances beyond the applicant's control that make reporting within the two-year period impossible or unreasonable;

(vi) In the case of an applicant who fails to report or apply for employment or reemployment within the appropriate period specified in this subsection (1)(c), the applicant does not automatically forfeit his or her entitlement to the rights and benefits conferred by this chapter, but is subject to the conduct rules, established policy, and general practices of the employer pertaining to explanations and discipline with respect to absence from scheduled work.

(d) An applicant who submits an application for reemployment shall provide to the applicant's employer, upon the request of that employer, documentation to establish that:

(i) The application is timely;

(ii) The applicant has not exceeded the service limitations set forth in this section, except as permitted under (c)(v) of this subsection; and

(iii) The applicant's entitlement to the benefits under this chapter has not been terminated pursuant to (e) of this subsection.

(e) The applicant must return and reenter the office or position within the appropriate period specified in (c) of this subsection after serving four years or less in the uniformed services other than state-ordered active duty: PROVIDED, That any period of additional service imposed by law, from which one is unable to obtain orders relieving him or her from active duty, will not affect reemployment rights.

(f) The applicant must return and reenter the office or position within the appropriate period specified in (c) of this subsection after serving twelve weeks or less in a calendar year in state-ordered active duty: PROVIDED, That the governor, when declaring an emergency that necessitates a longer period of service, may extend the period of service in state-ordered active duty to up to twelve months after which the applicant is eligible for the benefits of this chapter.

(2) The failure of an applicant to provide documentation that satisfies rules adopted pursuant to subsection (1)(c) of this section shall not be a basis for denying reemployment in accordance with the provisions of this chapter if the failure occurs because such documentation does not exist or is not readily available at the time of the request of the employer. If, after such reemployment, documentation becomes available that establishes that the applicant does not meet one or more of the requirements referred to in subsection (1)(d) of this section, that applicant's employer may terminate the employment of the person and the provision of any rights or benefits afforded the person under this chapter.

(3) An employer may not delay or attempt to defeat a reemployment obligation by demanding documentation that does not then exist or is not then readily available.

(4) The application in subsection (1) of this section is not required if the giving of such application is precluded by military necessity or, under all of the relevant circumstances, the giving of such notice is otherwise impossible or unreasonable. A determination of military necessity for the purposes of this subsection shall be made by the adjutant general of the state of Washington military department and is not subject to judicial review.

(5) In any proceeding involving an issue of whether (a) reemployment is impossible or unreasonable because of a change in an employer's circumstances, (b) reemployment would impose an undue hardship on the employer, or (c) the employment is for a ~~((temporary position))~~ brief, nonrecurrent period, and there is no reasonable expectation that the employment will continue indefinitely or for a significant period, the employer has the burden of proving the impossibility or unreasonableness, undue hardship, or the brief ~~((or))~~ nonrecurrent nature of the employment without a reasonable expectation of continuing indefinitely or for a significant period."

"NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. The definitions in this section apply throughout this chapter unless the context clearly requires otherwise.

(1) "Commercial property" means the same as in RCW 60.04.031.

(2) "Professional services, materials, or equipment supplied" means the same as in RCW 60.04.031.

(3) "Residential homeowner" means the same as in RCW 60.04.031.

(4) "Substantial completion" means the earliest of the following dates: (a) The date upon which the work of improvement has been completed as specified under the contract; (b) the date upon which the improvement becomes usable or fit for the purposes for which it was intended; (c) the date of issuance of a certificate of occupancy; or (d) the date of occupation or use of the improvement by the owner or an agent of the owner.

(5) "Work of improvement means work performed or provided, including professional services, materials or equipment provided, related to the new construction, repair, alteration, or remodel of a single-family residence or appurtenant garage for a residential homeowner. Work of improvement includes incremental improvements which are in themselves complete but do not necessarily bring a property improvement to a state of substantial completion.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. (1) Any moneys released to or obtained by an owner, developer, prime contractor, subcontractor, or person in charge of a construction project related to a work of improvement, shall be regarded and held in trust for the benefit of those persons making the payment and those who provided the professional services, materials or equipment in connection with the work of improvement giving rise to the receipt of moneys.

(2) Nothing contained in this section shall be construed as requiring moneys held in trust by an owner, contractor, or subcontractor under subsection (1) of this section to be placed in a separate account. If an owner, contractor, or subcontractor commingles moneys held in trust under this section with other moneys, the mere commingling of the moneys does not constitute a violation of this chapter.

(3)(a) The use of trust moneys for any other purpose than to first pay when due those persons for whom the funds are held in trust shall be prima facie evidence of a trust violation and an intent to defraud in a civil action.

(b) The mishandling of work of improvement trust moneys is a matter affecting the public interest for the purpose of applying chapter 19.86 RCW. The failure to use the money as intended is not reasonable in relation to the development and preservation or business. A violation of this section constitutes an unfair or deceptive act or practice in trade or commerce for the purpose of applying chapter 19.86 RCW.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4. (1) It is against public policy for any party to require any other party to waive any provision of this chapter.

(2) This chapter is to be liberally construed to provide security for all parties intended to be protected by its provisions.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 5. This chapter is applicable only to contracts entered into on or after September 1, 2003, relating to the new construction, repair, alteration, or remodel of a single-family residence or appurtenant garage for a residential homeowner.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 6. Sections 2 through 5 of this act shall constitute a new chapter in title 60 RCW."

RESOLUTION

HOUSE RESOLUTION NO. 2003-4632, by Representatives Kenney, Woods, Ahern, Alexander, Anderson, Armstrong, Bailey, Benson, Berkey, Blake, Boldt, Buck, Bush, Cairnes, Campbell, Carrell, Chandler, Chase, Chopp, Clements, Clibborn, Cody, Condotta, Conway, Cooper, Cox, Crouse, Darneille, DeBolt, Delvin, Dickerson, Dunshee, Edwards, Eickmeyer, Ericksen, Flannigan, Fromhold, Gombosky, Grant, Haigh, Hankins, Hatfield, Hinkle, Holmquist, Hudgins, Hunt, Hunter, Jarrett, Kagi, Kessler, Kirby, Kristiansen, Lantz, Linville, Lovick, Mastin, McCoy, McDermott, McDonald, McIntire, McMahan, McMorris, Mielke, Miloscia, Moeller, Morrell, Morris, Murray, Newhouse, Nixon, O'Brien, Orcutt, Pearson, Pettigrew, Pflug, Priest, Quall, Roach, Rockefeller, Romero, Ruderman, Santos, Schindler, Schoesler, Schual-Berke, Sehlin, Shabro, Simpson, Skinner, Sommers, Sullivan, Sump, Talcott, Tom, Upthegrove, Veloria, Wallace and Wood

WHEREAS, 150 years ago on November 23, 1852, a group of 44 pioneers assembled at a small settlement called Monticello at present-day Longview and petitioned the United States Congress to divide the Oregon Territory and create a new Territory; and

WHEREAS, 150 years ago on March 2, 1853, President Fillmore signed the bill creating the territory of Washington; and

WHEREAS, We honor the thousands upon thousands of settlers who came here with their hopes and dreams - truly the American dream in its pioneer form - who settled this state and created the cities and towns, with the best intentions of self-governance and loyalty to our nation, laying the groundwork for the state we are today; and

WHEREAS, We honor those who inhabited this land thousands of years prior to the first landings of Spanish in 1775. Their strong sense of family, reverence for the wildlife and the environment, pride in who they are, and continued hope for their thriving communities belies the struggle and difficulties the advent of the European explorer brought to them. They are, in their own right, the early pioneers as well who brought to our history a tradition that lives today - not only in their cultural centers and museums but in their daily lives and communities; and

WHEREAS, We honor those who brought the notion of self-governance and populist spirit, who became towering figures in the history of their respective communities and provided each with a notion of government that was based on the best ideals of our nation at the time, fair play, and the rule of law over the rule of man; and

WHEREAS, We honor all those who keep this history alive in small community-based museums and historical societies to large heritage complexes as staff and volunteers. It is in the best sense of community service that people donate so much of their time to keep many of these organizations alive and thriving; and

WHEREAS, We honor the generations of school children throughout Washington who are our future. Our history cannot live in just those adults who show interest, it must be cultivated in our youth through the family and our educational institutions. It is our history and the particular episodes in that history that set us apart from the rest of this nation; just as it is that history which integrates us into the fabric of the United States of America; and

WHEREAS, We honor our communities, even those created after 1889, that make up this great state. Just as governance started with a band of 44 people assembled here 150 years ago, so too our sesquicentennial observance depends on those local communities throughout this state who will take this commemoration as its own and make it a theme for fairs, community celebrations, tribal gatherings, historical writings, and other events too numerous to name; and

WHEREAS, The Governor, through Executive Order 02-02, set up the Sesquicentennial Commission with membership from across the state and headed by Secretary of State Sam Reed and First Lady Mona Locke;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, That the Washington State House of Representatives call on the people of the State of Washington to honor its early settlers and the indigenous people of the region by celebrating and commemorating our Territorial Sesquicentennial in the grand manner befitting this one hundred fiftieth anniversary of Washington's charter as a part of the United States.

Providing a procedure for court-ordered contact with a child for nonparents.

With the consent of the House, amendment (048) was withdrawn.

Representative Carrell moved the adoption of amendment (049):

On page 13, after line 24, insert the following:

"NEW SECTION. Sec. 5. Unless the context clearly requires otherwise, the definitions in this section apply throughout this chapter.

- (1) "Department" means the department of social and health services.
- (2) "Parenting plan" means a plan for parenting a child, including allocation of residential time, which plan is incorporated in any final decree or decree of modification in any action for dissolution of marriage, declaration of invalidity, or legal separation, and includes custody orders.
- (3) "Secretary" means the secretary of the department.
- (4) "Visitation" refers to the residential time provisions in a parenting plan for noncustodial persons or other court-ordered contact for third parties.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 6. A person who is a party to a parenting plan or court order authorizing contact with a child pursuant to Section 2 of this act may initiate a petition with the department alleging residential interference. To commence action under this chapter, the petitioner shall:

- (1) Allege in writing, under oath, that:
  - (a) A court has entered a parenting plan or has ordered contact with the child pursuant to Section 2 of this act; and
  - (b) There is or has been interference with or a denial of visitation rights; and
- (2) Provide the department with supporting documents, including a copy of the parenting plan or court order if the department does not have a copy.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 7. (1) The department shall provide notice to the alleged violator of the allegations under section 6 of this act and require the alleged violator to either acknowledge the violation or demand an administrative hearing before an administrative law judge.

- (2) If the violation is acknowledged, an administrative finding of residential interference shall be entered.
- (3) If an administrative hearing is demanded, the office of administrative hearings shall set a hearing date.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 8. (1) At the hearing, the petitioner must prove by a preponderance of evidence that a violation of the visitation provisions of the parenting plan or court order occurred.

- (2) An administrative finding shall be entered if the administrative law judge finds that a violation of the parenting plan or court order occurred.
- (3) The administrative law judge may order the noncomplying parent to:
  - (a) Provide the moving party additional time with the child. The additional time shall be equal to the time missed with the child due to the parent's or custodian's noncompliance. If the additional time granted to the moving party has the effect of reducing the time the child is required to spend with others under a parenting plan, then the reduction in time must be proportionately allocated between those other parties under the parenting plan;
  - (b) Pay to the moving party all court costs and reasonable attorneys' fees incurred as a result of the noncompliance and any reasonable expenses incurred in locating, returning, or visiting the child; and
  - (c) Pay to the moving party a civil penalty not less than one hundred dollars.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 9. After two findings of violation of the residential provisions of the parenting plan or court order, a petitioner may petition a court to change residential time provisions of a parenting plan as provided for under RCW 26.09.260 or visitation provisions in a court order.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 10. An administrative finding under this chapter may be appealed as provided under chapter 34.05 RCW.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 11. The secretary shall adopt rules under chapter 34.05 RCW to implement and enforce this chapter.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 12. The remedies in this chapter are cumulative and are in addition to any other remedies provided by law.

Sec. 13. RCW 26.09.260 and 2000 c 21 s 19 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) Except as otherwise provided in subsections (4), (5), (6), (8), and (10) of this section, the court shall not modify a prior custody decree or a parenting plan unless it finds, upon the basis of facts that have arisen since the prior decree or plan or that were unknown to the court at the time of the prior decree or plan, that a substantial change has occurred in the circumstances of the child or the nonmoving party and that the modification is in the best interest of the child and is necessary to serve the best interests of the child.

(2) In applying these standards, the court shall retain the residential schedule established by the decree or parenting plan unless:

(a) The parents agree to the modification;

(b) The child has been integrated into the family of the petitioner with the consent of the other parent in substantial deviation from the parenting plan;

(c) The child's present environment is detrimental to the child's physical, mental, or emotional health and the harm likely to be caused by a change of environment is outweighed by the advantage of a change to the child; or

(d) The court has found the nonmoving parent in contempt of court at least twice within three years because the parent failed to comply with the residential time provisions in the court-ordered parenting plan, or the parent has been convicted of custodial interference in the first or second degree under RCW 9A.40.060 or 9A.40.070.

(3) A conviction of custodial interference in the first or second degree under RCW 9A.40.060 or 9A.40.070 or two findings of residential interference under chapter 26.-- RCW (sections 5 through 12 of this act) shall constitute a substantial change of circumstances for the purposes of this section.

(4) The court may reduce or restrict contact between the child and the parent with whom the child does not reside a majority of the time if it finds that the reduction or restriction would serve and protect the best interests of the child using the criteria in RCW 26.09.191.

(5) The court may order adjustments to the residential aspects of a parenting plan upon a showing of a substantial change in circumstances of either parent or of the child, and without consideration of the factors set forth in subsection (2) of this section, if the proposed modification is only a minor modification in the residential schedule that does not change the residence the child is scheduled to reside in the majority of the time and:

(a) Does not exceed twenty-four full days in a calendar year; or

(b) Is based on a change of residence of the parent with whom the child does not reside the majority of the time or an involuntary change in work schedule by a parent which makes the residential schedule in the parenting plan impractical to follow; or

(c) Does not result in a schedule that exceeds ninety overnights per year in total, if the court finds that, at the time the petition for modification is filed, the decree of dissolution or parenting plan does not provide reasonable time with the parent with whom the child does not reside a majority of the time, and further, the court finds that it is in the best interests of the child to increase residential time with the parent in excess of the residential time period in (a) of this subsection. However, any motion under this subsection (5)(c) is subject to the factors established in subsection (2) of this section if the party bringing the petition has previously been granted a modification under this same subsection within twenty-four months of the current motion. Relief granted under this section shall not be the sole basis for adjusting or modifying child support.

(6) The court may order adjustments to the residential aspects of a parenting plan pursuant to a proceeding to permit or restrain a relocation of the child. The person objecting to the relocation of the child or the relocating person's proposed revised residential schedule may file a petition to modify the parenting plan, including a change of the residence in which the child resides the majority of the time, without a showing of adequate cause other than the proposed relocation itself. A hearing to determine adequate cause for modification shall not be required so long as the request for relocation of the child is being pursued. In making a determination of a modification pursuant to relocation of the child, the court shall first determine whether to permit or restrain the relocation of the child using the procedures and standards provided in RCW 26.09.405 through 26.09.560. Following that determination, the court shall determine what modification pursuant to relocation should be made, if any, to the parenting plan or custody order or visitation order.

(7) A parent with whom the child does not reside a majority of the time and whose residential time with the child is subject to limitations pursuant to RCW 26.09.191 (2) or (3) may not seek expansion of residential time under subsection (5)(c) of this section unless that parent demonstrates a substantial change in circumstances specifically related to the basis for the limitation.

(8) If a parent with whom the child does not reside a majority of the time voluntarily fails to exercise residential time for an extended period, that is, one year or longer, the court upon proper motion may make adjustments to the parenting plan in keeping with the best interests of the minor child.

(9) A parent with whom the child does not reside a majority of the time who is required by the existing parenting plan to complete evaluations, treatment, parenting, or other classes may not seek expansion of residential time under subsection (5)(c) of this section unless that parent has fully complied with such requirements.

(10) The court may order adjustments to any of the nonresidential aspects of a parenting plan upon a showing of a substantial change of circumstances of either parent or of a child, and the adjustment is in the best interest of the child. Adjustments ordered under this section may be made without consideration of the factors set forth in subsection (2) of this section.

(11) If the court finds that a motion to modify a prior decree or parenting plan has been brought in bad faith, the court shall assess the attorney's fees and court costs of the nonmoving parent against the moving party.

(1)(a) When any practitioner, county coroner or medical examiner, law enforcement officer, professional school personnel, registered or licensed nurse, social service counselor, psychologist, pharmacist, member of the clergy, licensed or certified child care providers or their employees, employee of the department, juvenile probation officer, placement and liaison specialist, responsible living skills program staff, HOPE center staff, or state family and children's ombudsman or any volunteer in the ombudsman's office has reasonable cause to believe that a child has suffered abuse or neglect, he or she shall report such incident, or cause a report to be made, to the proper law enforcement agency or to the department as provided in RCW 26.44.040.

(b) The reporting requirement also applies to department of corrections personnel who, in the course of their employment, observe offenders or the children with whom the offenders are in contact. If, as a result of observations or information received in the course of his or her employment, any department of corrections personnel has reasonable cause to believe that a child has suffered abuse or neglect, he or she shall report the incident, or cause a report to be made, to the proper law enforcement agency or to the department as provided in RCW 26.44.040.

(c) The reporting requirement shall also apply to any adult who has reasonable cause to believe that a child who resides with them, has suffered severe abuse, and is able or capable of making a report. For the purposes of this subsection, "severe abuse" means any of the following: Any single act of abuse that causes physical trauma of sufficient severity that, if left untreated, could cause death; any single act of sexual abuse that causes significant bleeding, deep bruising, or significant external or internal swelling; or more than one act of physical abuse, each of which causes bleeding, deep bruising, significant external or internal swelling, bone fracture, or unconsciousness.

(d) The report must be made at the first opportunity, but in no case longer than forty-eight hours after there is reasonable cause to believe that the child has suffered abuse or neglect. The report must include the identity of the accused if known.

(2)(a) The reporting requirement of subsection (1) of this section does not apply to a member of the clergy with regard to information obtained by the member of the clergy acting in his or her professional capacity as a religious or spiritual counselor or advisor when (i) the information is obtained as a result of any confession, admission, discussion, or conversation, (ii) the member of the clergy is authorized to hear or participate in such confession, admission, discussion, or conversation, and (iii) the member of the clergy may, under the discipline, tenets, doctrines, practices, customs, or traditions of the person's church or religious or spiritual denomination, sect, community, or body, keep the confession, admission, discussion, or conversation secret, private, or confidential.

(b) Nothing in this subsection shall exempt a member of the clergy from making a report of child abuse or neglect as required in subsection (1) of this section when the member of the clergy is acting exclusively in some other capacity that would otherwise require a member of the clergy to make a report.

~~(3)~~ (3) The reporting requirement of subsection (1) of this section does not apply to the discovery of abuse or neglect that occurred during childhood if it is discovered after the child has become an adult. However, if there is reasonable cause to believe other children are or may be at risk of abuse or neglect by the accused, the reporting requirement of subsection (1) of this section does apply.

~~((3))~~ (4) Any other person who has reasonable cause to believe that a child has suffered abuse or neglect may report such incident to the proper law enforcement agency or to the department of social and health services as provided in RCW 26.44.040.

~~((4))~~ (5) The department, upon receiving a report of an incident of alleged abuse or neglect pursuant to this chapter, involving a child who has died or has had physical injury or injuries inflicted upon him or her other than by accidental means or who has been subjected to alleged sexual abuse, shall report such incident to the proper law enforcement agency. In emergency cases, where the child's welfare is endangered, the department shall notify the proper law enforcement agency within twenty-four hours after a report is received by the department. In all other cases, the department shall notify the law enforcement agency within seventy-two hours after a report is received by the department. If the department makes an oral report, a written report must also be made to the proper law enforcement agency within five days thereafter.

~~((5))~~ (6) Any law enforcement agency receiving a report of an incident of alleged abuse or neglect pursuant to this chapter, involving a child who has died or has had physical injury or injuries inflicted upon him or her other than by accidental means, or who has been subjected to alleged sexual abuse, shall report such incident in writing as provided in RCW 26.44.040 to the proper county prosecutor or city attorney for appropriate action whenever the law enforcement agency's investigation reveals that a crime may have been committed. The law enforcement agency shall also notify the department of all reports received and the law enforcement agency's disposition of them. In emergency cases, where the child's welfare is endangered, the law enforcement agency shall notify the department within twenty-four hours. In all other cases, the law enforcement agency shall notify the department within seventy-two hours after a report is received by the law enforcement agency.

~~((6))~~ (7) Any county prosecutor or city attorney receiving a report under subsection ~~((5))~~ (6) of this section shall notify the victim, any persons the victim requests, and the local office of the department, of the decision to charge or decline to charge a crime, within five days of making the decision.

~~((7))~~ (8) The department may conduct ongoing case planning and consultation with those persons or agencies required to report under this section, with consultants designated by the department, and with designated representatives of Washington Indian tribes if the client information exchanged is pertinent to cases currently receiving child protective services. Upon request, the department shall conduct such planning and consultation with those persons required to report under this section if the department determines it is in the best interests of the child. Information considered privileged by statute and not directly related to reports required by this section must not be divulged without a valid written waiver of the privilege.

~~((8))~~ (9) Any case referred to the department by a physician licensed under chapter 18.57 or 18.71 RCW on the basis of an expert medical opinion that child abuse, neglect, or sexual assault has occurred and that the child's safety will be seriously endangered if returned home, the department shall file a dependency petition unless a second licensed physician of the parents' choice believes that such expert medical opinion is incorrect. If the parents fail to designate a second physician, the department may make the selection. If a physician finds that a child has suffered abuse or neglect but that such abuse or neglect does not constitute imminent danger to the child's health or safety, and the department agrees with the physician's assessment, the child may be left in the parents' home while the department proceeds with reasonable efforts to remedy parenting deficiencies.

~~((9))~~ (10) Persons or agencies exchanging information under subsection ~~((7))~~ (8) of this section shall not further disseminate or release the information except as authorized by state or federal statute. Violation of this subsection is a misdemeanor.

~~((10))~~ (11) Upon receiving reports of alleged abuse or neglect, the department or law enforcement agency may interview children. The interviews may be conducted on school premises, at day-care facilities, at the child's home, or at other suitable locations outside of the presence of parents. Parental notification of the interview must occur at the earliest possible point in the investigation that will not jeopardize the safety or protection of the child or the course of the investigation. Prior to commencing the interview the department or law enforcement agency shall determine whether the child wishes a third party to be present for the interview and, if so, shall make reasonable efforts to accommodate the child's wishes. Unless the child objects, the department or law enforcement agency shall make reasonable efforts to include a third party in any interview so long as the presence of the third party will not jeopardize the course of the investigation.

~~((11))~~ (12) Upon receiving a report of alleged child abuse and neglect, the department or investigating law enforcement agency shall have access to all relevant records of the child in the possession of mandated reporters and their employees.

~~((12))~~ (13) The department shall maintain investigation records and conduct timely and periodic reviews of all cases constituting abuse and neglect. The department shall maintain a log of screened-out nonabusive cases.

~~((13))~~ (14) The department shall use a risk assessment process when investigating alleged child abuse and neglect referrals. The department shall present the risk factors at all hearings in which the placement of a dependent child is an issue. Substance abuse must be a risk factor. The department shall, within funds appropriated for this purpose, offer enhanced community-based services to persons who are determined not to require further state intervention.

The department shall provide annual reports to the legislature on the effectiveness of the risk assessment process.

~~((14))~~ (15) Upon receipt of a report of alleged abuse or neglect the law enforcement agency may arrange to interview the person making the report and any collateral sources to determine if any malice is involved in the reporting.

~~((15))~~ (16) The department shall make reasonable efforts to learn the name, address, and telephone number of each person making a report of abuse or neglect under this section. The department shall provide assurances of appropriate confidentiality of the identification of persons reporting under this section. If the department is unable to learn the information required under this subsection, the department shall only investigate cases in which: (a) The department believes there is a serious threat of substantial harm to the child; (b) the report indicates conduct involving a criminal offense that has, or is about to occur, in which the child is the victim; or (c) the department has, after investigation, a report of abuse or neglect that has been founded with regard to a member of the household within three years of receipt of the referral.

(3) The reporting requirement of subsection (1) of this section does not apply to the discovery of abuse or neglect that occurred during childhood if it is discovered after the child has become an adult. However, if there is reasonable cause to believe other children are or may be at risk of abuse or neglect by the accused, the reporting requirement of subsection (1) of this section does apply.

~~((3))~~ (4) Any other person who has reasonable cause to believe that a child has suffered abuse or neglect may report such incident to the proper law enforcement agency or to the department of social and health services as provided in RCW 26.44.040.

~~((4))~~ (5) The department, upon receiving a report of an incident of alleged abuse or neglect pursuant to this chapter, involving a child who has died or has had physical injury or injuries inflicted upon him or her other than by accidental means or who has been subjected to alleged sexual abuse, shall report such incident to the proper law enforcement agency. In emergency cases, where the child's welfare is endangered, the department shall notify the proper law enforcement agency within twenty-four hours after a report is received by the department. In all other cases, the department shall notify the law enforcement agency within seventy-two hours after a report is received by the department. If the department makes an oral report, a written report must also be made to the proper law enforcement agency within five days thereafter.

~~((5))~~ (6) Any law enforcement agency receiving a report of an incident of alleged abuse or neglect pursuant to this chapter, involving a child who has died or has had physical injury or injuries inflicted upon him or her other than by accidental means, or who has been subjected to alleged sexual abuse, shall report such incident in writing as provided in RCW 26.44.040 to the proper county prosecutor or city attorney for appropriate action whenever the law enforcement agency's investigation reveals that a crime may have been committed. The law enforcement agency shall also notify the department of all reports received and the law enforcement agency's disposition of them. In emergency cases, where the child's welfare is endangered, the law enforcement agency shall notify the department within twenty-four hours. In all other cases, the law enforcement agency shall notify the department within seventy-two hours after a report is received by the law enforcement agency.

~~((6))~~ (7) Any county prosecutor or city attorney receiving a report under subsection ~~((5))~~ (6) of this section shall notify the victim, any persons the victim requests, and the local office of the department, of the decision to charge or decline to charge a crime, within five days of making the decision.

~~((7))~~ (8) The department may conduct ongoing case planning and consultation with those persons or agencies required to report under this section, with consultants designated by the department, and with designated representatives of Washington Indian tribes if the client information exchanged is pertinent to cases currently receiving child protective services. Upon request, the department shall conduct such planning and consultation with those persons required to report under this section if the department determines it is in the best interests of the child. Information considered privileged by statute and not directly related to reports required by this section must not be divulged without a valid written waiver of the privilege.

~~((8))~~ (9) Any case referred to the department by a physician licensed under chapter 18.57 or 18.71 RCW on the basis of an expert medical opinion that child abuse, neglect, or sexual assault has occurred and that the child's safety will be seriously endangered if returned home, the department shall file a dependency petition unless a second licensed physician of the parents' choice believes that such expert medical opinion is incorrect. If the parents fail to designate a second physician, the department may make the selection. If a physician finds that a child has suffered abuse or neglect but that such abuse or neglect does not constitute imminent danger to the child's health or safety, and the department agrees with the physician's assessment, the child may be left in the parents' home while the department proceeds with reasonable efforts to remedy parenting deficiencies.

~~((9))~~ (10) Persons or agencies exchanging information under subsection ~~((7))~~ (8) of this section shall not further disseminate or release the information except as authorized by state or federal statute. Violation of this subsection is a misdemeanor.

~~((10))~~ (11) Upon receiving reports of alleged abuse or neglect, the department or law enforcement agency may interview children. The interviews may be conducted on school premises, at day-care facilities, at the child's home, or at other suitable locations outside of the presence of parents. Parental notification of the interview must occur at the earliest possible point in the investigation that will not jeopardize the safety or protection of the child or the course of the investigation. Prior to commencing the interview the department or law enforcement agency shall determine whether the child wishes a third party to be present for the interview and, if so, shall make reasonable efforts to accommodate the child's wishes. Unless the child objects, the department or law enforcement agency shall make reasonable efforts to include a third party in any interview so long as the presence of the third party will not jeopardize the course of the investigation.

~~((11))~~ (12) Upon receiving a report of alleged child abuse and neglect, the department or investigating law enforcement agency shall have access to all relevant records of the child in the possession of mandated reporters and their employees.

~~((12))~~ (13) The department shall maintain investigation records and conduct timely and periodic reviews of all cases constituting abuse and neglect. The department shall maintain a log of screened-out nonabusive cases.

~~((13))~~ (14) The department shall use a risk assessment process when investigating alleged child abuse and neglect referrals. The department shall present the risk factors at all hearings in which the placement of a dependent child is an issue. Substance abuse must be a risk factor. The department shall, within funds appropriated for this purpose, offer enhanced community-based services to persons who are determined not to require further state intervention.

The department shall provide annual reports to the legislature on the effectiveness of the risk assessment process.

~~((14))~~ (15) Upon receipt of a report of alleged abuse or neglect the law enforcement agency may arrange to interview the person making the report and any collateral sources to determine if any malice is involved in the reporting.

~~((15))~~ (16) The department shall make reasonable efforts to learn the name, address, and telephone number of each person making a report of abuse or neglect under this section. The department shall provide assurances of appropriate confidentiality of the identification of persons reporting under this section. If the department is unable to learn the information required under this subsection, the department shall only investigate cases in which: (a) The department believes there is a serious threat of substantial harm to the child; (b) the report indicates conduct involving a criminal offense that has, or is about to occur, in which the child is the victim; or (c) the department has, after investigation, a report of abuse or neglect that has been founded with regard to a member of the household within three years of receipt of the referral.

Creating a Washington state day of civil liberties remembrance.

The bill was read the second time.

There being no objection, the rules were suspended, the second reading considered the third and the bill was placed on final passage.

Representatives Pettigrew, Skinner, Kenney, Woods, Rockefeller, Santos and Cairnes spoke in favor of passage of the bill.

Representative Pettigrew: "February 19th, 1942 President Franklin D. Roosevelt signed executive order 9066. That order sent 100,000 Americans with Japanese heritage to internment camps for five long years. These were Americans with families, who owned businesses, worked in factories. Their children went to public school, played little league baseball and took dance lessons at the community center. All that ended on that day in February. In my opinion, the order signed by President Roosevelt put a gash on the soul of this country. A wound that was so quickly struck but will take years to heal. In 1988 President Regan took a giant step towards healing that wound by signing a reparations bill for to surviving internees. And now we, this body, have a chance to continue the healing by passing this legislation. This bill will make February 19th a day of remembrance. It will not be a legal holiday, but a day for us to reflect. A chance for all of us to remember those American families who had their lives torn apart. A chance to remind ourselves of the devastation that can occur when you mix fear and ignorance. And a chance to look towards our future and make sure this never ever happens again to any American."

Representative Skinner: "Hawaian resident and state representative Barbara Moromoto is my friend. She was born in San Francisco California and after the Pearl Harbor attack, her family was temporarily relocated to a place called Tamforam Race Track. Her mother, American born, her father American born, her eight and half week old brother, American born, Barbara American born and her grandparents were all housed in a horse stall with very primitive quarters. They were there a very short period of time because her father was asked if he would be willing to teach Japanese language to military officers who were going into the field of intelligence. This man said he would be happy to serve his country as he claimed San Francisco California United States of America as his hometown and as his country. My friend who is a legislator and is my colleague appreciated the civil rights and the freedom that is offered in this country to its citizens. She celebrates this year 25 years as a representative. When I spoke to her she said to me 'do you know the background that I had made it a good opportunity for me to serve my country and to be a representative.' Mr. Speaker, I urge support of House Bill No. 1460 and I thank you for the opportunity to speak."

Representative Kenney: "I rise in support of House Bill No. 1460. I wish that every American appreciated how fortunate we are to live in a country that is a shining light of liberty for the entire world. But no one can fully appreciate American liberties unless they also understand how far we have come and how many tragedies we have overcome to achieve the liberties that we enjoy today. We can only protect our liberties by understanding what threatens them. There is no clearer way to grasps these threats then by remembering the tragedy and pain of Japanese internment. In World War II we fought for liberty abroad while we temporarily lost the liberty of many Americans at home. We owe it to the Japanese Americans who suffered. There are many sad stories that many of us have heard. But we also owe it to ourselves to remember that what happen so that we will never allow a similar tragedy again for we will have our liberties only as long as we protect them against racism, fear and ignorance. President Reagan once pointed out that the United States has the only national anthem in the world that ends with a question – 'Oh say does the star spangle banner yet wave over the land of the free and the home of the brave?' And this is a question that we must constantly ask ourselves; it is a question that we must constantly ask to guarantee that the answer remains yes, all the time. Setting aside a day for civil liberties remembrance will help us ensure that not only to ourselves but to our children and their children and all the future generations of America will be able to say 'Yes, yes America is still the land of free and the home of the brave.' I urge your support for this bill."

Representative Woods: "I stand in support of this bill today. You know about 25 years ago I lived in the Mojave Desert not far from Manzanar which was the internment camp for many Japanese Americans during World War II. I remember going out there with my children when they were tiny and looking at what was left of the internment camp. Really it was desert, it was hot, it was windy with tumbleweeds blowing across what use to be the internment camp. All that is left today is maybe a few stone markers of what was housing, what was the gate, what was the fence that keep those Americans inside. Little did I know that years later I would live in a district that had Bainbridge Island in it. On Bainbridge Island in March of that year, 250 men, women and children were taken from the island in my district and actually many of them ended up in Manzanar California. I do want to say a word about some good things that happened during that time. The people of Bainbridge Island were very sad when this happened but they wanted to make sure that Japanese American people who were taken from the island and interned would be able to return to their land someday. The citizens of Bainbridge Island made sure that their land was taken care of, the Bainbridge Island Review actually had a reporter at the various different internment camps and would report back through the newspaper to the Island folks about the births, the marriages and the deaths of their citizens. They were always American citizens, they were always citizens of Bainbridge Island. So there were some good things that happened out of the sad things that were happening. Last year we had the opportunity to dedicate on the Wycoff site that place where 225 Bainbridge citizens had to leave that sad morning by Army escort - we dedicated that place in remembrance of those wonderful citizens. So I urge your support of this day of remembrance so that we never forget and that we teach our children in our schools and we take this day as set it aside for that teaching. I urge your support of this bill. Thank you for much."

Representative Rockefeller: "Thank you Mr. Speaker. As my good colleague from the 23rd District has just mentioned some 225 Japanese American citizens were in the vanguard of 110,000 citizens from the Western United States who were relocated. They came from Bainbridge Island which is my home. For some 25 years I had a neighbor whose name was Shaquko Kitamoto. Mrs. Kitamoto was one of the 225 individuals who was relocated together with her four very young children to Manzanar. She survived that experience and came back and resumed life to the best of her ability farming some rough stony land creating a magnificent raspberry farm next door to my home where my children learned from her how delicious raspberries were right off the vine. She taught us about fresh tofu, she taught us about koi, she taught them and me about the art of growing beautiful plants. She was a beloved neighbor. She past away some years ago. It was only a few years before her death, that I first learned of her personal experience and the tragedy that befell her and so many of our neighbors on Bainbridge Island. It was not something that she could talk about easily. Indeed, for many years Japanese Americans citizens were reluctant to disclose to the rest of the community what they had experienced. I had to sort of tease it out of her as I learned what she had been through. I learned another chapter of history in Washington State. I think it is important that we have a day of remembrance and that we recall and remember lest we forget how easy it is to trample the civil rights of our fellow citizens. They too were Americans citizens – they deserved the protection which was denied to them – they lost their freedom and in all to many cases they lost their personal possessions, their property, their dignity and their place within the community. A few of them were able to come and restart their lives and we are blest to have them in our community today. But I say this bill is needed, lest we forget. I am pleased to join with my colleagues in urging your support. Thank you."

Representative Santos: "Thank you Mr. Speaker. I am proud to stand in support of HB 1460, a little bill that would simply add a Civil Liberties Day of Remembrance to the eight state recognized days already in statute. The intent, Mr. Speaker, is to acknowledge the World War II evacuation, relocation, and internment of more than 120,000 Japanese Americans - two-thirds of whom were U. S. citizens by birth. Nearly 13,000 of the evacuees were from Washington State; from Asotin, Benton, Chelan, Clallam, Clark, Cowlitz, Franklin, Grays Harbor, Island, Jefferson, King, Kitsap, Klickitat, Lewis, Mason, Pacific, Pierce, San Juan, Skagit, Snohomish, Spokane, Thurston, Wahkiakum, Whatcom, Whitman, and Yakima Counties. After reporting first to Camp Harmony, the assembly center set up at the State Fairgrounds in Puyallup, most of our evacuees were sent to hastily built Relocation Centers in desolate, unpopulated areas: Minidoka in Idaho, Manzanar or Tule Lake in California, Heart Mountain in Wyoming.

Some 4500 Japanese Americans served in the now famed 100th Battallion, the 442nd Regimental Combat Team, and the Military Intelligence Service. Last year, two of our native sons - one from the 37th district in Seattle and one from the 42nd district in Bellingham - were posthumously awarded the Congressional Medal of Honor, our nation's highest military decoration. But, hundreds of Washington Nisei served with valor and distinction while their parents, wives, and children were incarcerated behind barbed wire.
