FREDERICK G. HAMLEY, Director

Olympia, January 11, 1943.

To the Honorable, the Senate and the House of Representatives of the State of Washington.

GENTLEMEN: The last session of the Legislature enacted Chapter 93, Laws of 1941, providing as follows:

"Section 1. The Department of Public Service, with the advice and assistance of the Attorney General, is hereby directed to draft and compile a full and complete code of all statutes relating to its powers and duties and present a report of the same, with any suggestions for improvements, to the 1943 session of the Legislature during its first week of session."

Pursuant to this legislative direction, the Department of Public Service has compiled, and submits herewith along with this report, a code of all statutes relating to its powers and duties. With respect to the "suggestions for improvements," the department believes that the public service laws should be completely revised and re-enacted in the form of a unified code, but, for reasons hereinafter set forth, the department respectfully recommends that this complete revision and reenactment should be postponed until the 1945 session of the Legislature. In the event that this course is followed, the department is of the view that there are several changes and additions to the existing law which should not wait until 1945, and the department will hereafter submit, for your consideration, separate bills covering these matters.

REPORT TO LEGISLATURE

The laws of the State of Washington relating to the powers and duties of the department consist of numerous acts of the Legislature enacted since the creation of the Public Service Commission in 1911. Broadly speaking, these separate acts may be said to consist of the following:

(1) Chapter 117, Laws of 1911, as amended, known as the "Public Service Commission Law."

(2) Chapter 30, Laws of 1913, as amended, relating to railroad grade crossings.

(3) Chapter 111, Laws of 1921, as amended, commonly known as the "Auto Transportation Act."

(4) Chapter 248, Laws of 1927, relating to the transportation of passengers and vehicles by vessel.

(5) Chapter 151, Laws of 1933, as amended, relating to the issuance of securities by public service companies.

(6) Chapter 152, Laws of 1933, as amended, relating to affiliated interests of public service companies.

(7) Chapter 154, Laws of 1933, as amended, relating to public storage warehouses.

(8) Chapter 165, Laws of 1933, which amended the Public Service Commission Law, and certain other legislative enactments, and also contained several new sections which were not amendatory of any previous enactment.

(9) Chapter 184, Laws of 1935, as amended, commonly known as the "Truck Act."

(10) Chapter 158, Laws of 1937, as amended, relating to regulatory fees to be paid by public service companies.

(11) Chapter 203, Laws of 1939, relating to investigation of public service companies.

(12) Chapter 159, Laws of 1941, relating to transfers of property by public service companies.

(13) Chapter 161, Laws of 1941, relating to grade crossings of logging and industrial railroads.

(14) Chapter 198, Laws of 1941, relating to motor carrier transportation agents.

In the code of existing statutes compiled by the department, an attempt has been made to place all of these separate enactments, and all other statutes relating to the powers and duties of the department, in a logical order. An examination of this compilation will disclose the fact that Article 1, entitled "General Provisions," contains the general statutes applying to the powers and duties of the department with respect to all persons subject to regulation by the department, and sets forth the sections having to do with such matters as hearings, procedure and penalties. Generally speaking,

Article 1 is based upon the Public Service Commission Law of 1911, and upon Chapter 165, Laws of 1933.

Under the method of arrangement followed by the department in compiling the existing statutes, Article 1, entitled "General Provisions" is followed by 17 other articles relating either to specific subjects, or to specific types of public service companies. Articles 2 to 6, inclusive, relate to specific subjects, namely, "Regulatory Fees," "Investigation of Public Service Companies," "Securities," "Transfers of Property" and "Affiliated Interests." All of these articles, meaning Articles 1 to 6, inclusive, are applicable to all types of public service companies. Articles 7 to 14, inclusive, relate to transportation, and are entitled respectively, "Common Carriers-General," "Railroads-General," "Railroads-Grade Crossings," "Logging and Industrial Railroads-Grade Crossings," "Highway Passenger Carriers," "Highway Freight Carriers," "Motor Carrier Transportation Agents," and "Water Transportation Companies." Articles 15 to 18, inclusive, entitled "Gas, Electrical and Water Companies," "Telephone and Telegraph Companies," "Wharfingers and Warehousemen" and "Public Storage Warehousemen" relate to public service companies other than transportation companies.

Following each section of the compilation of existing laws, the department has inserted references to the Session Laws, to Remington's Revised Statutes, and to the compilation of laws prepared by the department in 1935, commonly known as the "O'Leary Code."

In addition to directing the department to draft and compile a full and complete code of all statutes relating to its powers and duties, the 1941 Legislature directed the department to present this report "with any suggestions for improvements." In considering the matter of suggesting improvements, the department has examined carefully every section of every statute relating to the department's powers and duties. Due to the fact that no fundamental revision of the Public Service Laws has been undertaken since the original enactment of the Public Service Commission Laws in 1911, the department's "suggestions for improvements" are many and varied.

Basically, the improvements which the department believes should be made in the existing public service laws, are the following: First, the grouping of all statutes relating to the powers and duties of the Department of Public Service in a logical order, and the reenactment of these statutes in this order so that all laws relating to the powers and duties of the Department of Public Service will appear in one part of any published code of the laws of this state; second, the modernizing of the definitions contained in the various legislative enactments during the past thirty years, particularly the definitions contained in the Public Service Commission Law of 1911; third, the making of numerous minor changes in individual sections to overcome antiquated provisions, such as references to the "Public Service Commission," which has not existed since 1921; fourth, the outright repeal or fundamental revision of numerous sections of the existing statutes which have proved unworkable in their present form, either because of the impracticability of the objective attempted to be reached, or because of the inaptness of the language used; and fifth, the inclusion of provisions giving the department such additional powers and duties as appear to be necessary, in the public interest, as a result of the changes, developments and new trends in the public utility industries.

During the past year, several members of the department's staff, with the assistance of the assistant attorney generals assigned to the department, have devoted much of their time to the consideration of possible improvements in the existing public service laws. Staff conferences have been held on many occasions for the purpose of arriving at conclusions as to the proper language to be used in certain sections. After each series of these conferences relating to the various subjects covered by the public service laws, the department prepared and sent to the affected public service companies, and to a large number of attorneys and other interested persons, detailed analyses of all proposed changes in the laws. These detailed analyses are available to any members of the Legislature who may desire the same. In the letters of transmittal attached to these analyses, the department requested all interested parties to submit written comments upon the proposed changes. In addition to receiving a large number of written comments, the department has held numerous conferences with representatives of different companies and associations regarding the proposed changes in the laws.

In preparing and submitting to the affected public service companies the detailed analyses of the proposed changes in the law, the department proceeded upon the assumption that a bill would be introduced at the 1943 session incorporating all of these proposed changes, as revised or supplemented after receiving the suggestions of the persons to whom the analyses were sent. Within the last few weeks, however, it has become more and more apparent that there would be some very serious practicable difficulties in obtaining careful consideration and enactment of a completely revised public service code at the 1943 session. Briefly summarized, these practicable difficulties are as follows:

(1) Because of the heavy wartime burdens which have been placed upon all public utility companies and their personnel, representatives of the public utility industries feel that they should have additional time in which to study this very important matter, and that they are not now in a position to express their views to the Legislature regarding the suggested revision.

(2) Certain important principles of public utility regulation, such as the proper basis for determining valuation of property, are presently being reexamined in the courts, and it is difficult at this time to formulate statutory language which will be certain to coincide with judicial pronouncements which may be expected to come down within the next two years.

For the above reasons, the department is of the opinion, and respectfully recommends that consideration by the Legislature of the advisability of enacting a new public service code be postponed until 1945; that Chapter 93 of the Laws of 1941, be reenacted to give the department two more years in which to make a final report; and that changes in the present law which are deemed to be sufficiently urgent to require consideration at this session be dealt with in the form of separate bills.

Respectfully submitted,

FREDERICK G. HAMLEY,
Director of Public Service.

Senator Stinson moved that the report be referred to the Committee on Rules and Joint Rules.

The motion carried.

- REPORT TO 1943 WASHINGTON STATE LEGISLATURE

BY

STATE CHARITABLE, PENAL AND REFORMATORY INTERIM INVESTIGATING COMMITTEE

Senator Murphy moved that the report be referred to the Committee on State Penal and Reformatory Institutions.

Motion carried.

The Secretary read:

MESSAGE FROM THE SECRETARY OF STATE

Department of State, Office of the Secretary,
Olympia, Washington, January 11, 1943.

To the Honorable, The President of the Senate of the State of Washington, The Legislature of the State of Washington, Olympia, Washington.

SIR: On the twenty-ninth day of August, 1942, Henry P. Carstensen, Master and Chief Official of the Washington State Grange, for and on behalf of said organization tendered five (5) copies of a proposed measure to be an Initiative to the Legislature of the State of Washington, accompanied by his affidavit stating that his post office address is 421 West Roy Street, Seattle, Washington, and that he is a legal voter, also that the name and post office address of the organization proposing this initiative petition for submission to the Legislature is:

Washington State Grange, 3104 Western Avenue,
Seattle, Washington

The copies of the proposed measure were filed and the measure was given serial No. 12. A copy was transmitted to the Attorney General for Ballot Title, and on August 31st, 1942, the following Ballot Title was received from the Attorney General.

"BALLOT TITLE

"Initiative Measure to the Legislature No. 12

"An Act pertaining to public power resources and public utilities and acquisition and operation thereof by certain public authorities and municipal corporations; authorizing public utility district commissioners to create joint commissions; relating to composition, government, powers, funds, business and properties thereof; applying certain public utility district laws thereto; empowering them to acquire electrical properties solely by issuing revenue bonds and warrants; requiring deposit of funds with State Treasurer and audit of accounts by State Auditor; taxing their operations instead of property; permitting their union; offsetting earnings against interest on certain condemnation awards; declaring emergency and that act takes effect immediately."

On September 2nd, 1942, the exact language of the above quoted Ballot Title was transmitted to the Washington State Grange, 3104 Western Avenue, Seattle, Washington, by telegram and confirmed by mail as required by law.

I further certify that on December 28th, 1942, Rolla V. Houghton, attorney representing the Washington State Grange, submitted petitions said to contain in excess of 53,000 names of legal voters for filing and canvass, and requested that report of the final canvass and count be certified to the Legislature.

Accompanying the petitions was a statement of receipts and disbursements had in connection with the circulation of petitions which statement was verified by the affidavit of Henry P. Carstensen, Master of the Washington State Grange.

On December 29th, 1942, a preliminary canvass of the names of the voters who signed the petitions was made, and the result of which indicated that there were apparently in excess of 53,000 names signed to the petitions. The petitions were accepted for further examination, canvass and count as required by law.

In the absence of the Governor, the sheets containing the signatures were detached in the presence of Otto A. Case, State Treasurer and F. D. Keister, Assistant State Auditor. They were then bound in seventy-one (71) volumes for convenience in filing and canvassing as is permitted by law. The count of these showed that 53,806 signatures had been obtained.

On December 31, 1942, Rolla V. Houghton, attorney representing the Washington State Grange, submitted additional petitions said to contain in excess of 7,000 names of legal voters for filing and canvass.

Accompanying the additional petitions was a statement of receipts and disbursements had in connection with the circulation of petitions which statement was verified by the affidavit of Henry P. Carstensen, Master of the Washington State Grange.

On January 5, 1943, a preliminary canvass of the names of the voters who signed the petitions was made, the result of which indicated that there were apparently 7,972 names signed to said petitions. The petitions were accepted for further examination, canvass and count as required by law. With the supplemental filing the grand total number of signatures submitted was approximately 61,778.

In the absence of the Governor, the sheets containing the signatures were detached in the presence of Otto A. Case, State Treasurer and F. D. Keister, Assistant State Auditor. They were then bound in fourteen (14) volumes for convenience in filing and canvassing as is permitted by law.

The canvass has proceeded as expeditiously as possible since the time of filing and is continuing at present. To date, 18,457 signatures have been compared to the permanent registration cards in my possession. Of this number 17,731 have been found to be valid signatures of legal voters, while 726 signatures have been rejected.

The above figures show that 96% (per cent) of the names thus far checked have been found to be the signatures of legal voters of the State of Washington.

The Secretary of State's office estimates that the canvass will be completed on or about February 1, 1943, at which time a full report will be given to the Legislature, including a certified copy of the proposed measure and a certified copy of the affidavit accompanying it.

Respectfully submitted,

BELLE REEVES, Secretary of State.

REPORT TO 1943 WASHINGTON STATE LEGISLATURE BY STATE CHARITABLE PENAL AND REFORMATORY INTERIM INVESTIGATING COMMITTEE—
SENATE JOINT RESOLUTION NO. 18—STATE OF WASHINGTON, TWENTY-SEVENTH REGULAR SESSION

ORIGIN AND PURPOSE OF INTERIM COMMITTEE

The Interim Committee was established by authority of Senate Joint Resolution No. 18, passed by the Senate March 1, 1941, and passed by the House March 7, 1941:
IN THE SENATE. BY SENATORS MARSH AND FARQUHARSON.

SENATE JOINT RESOLUTION NO. 18

State of Washington, Twenty-Seventh Regular Session

February 27, 1941, read first and second time, ordered printed and referred to Committee on State Penal and Reformatory Institutions.

Relating to an interim committee to investigate conditions at the four state penal and reformatory institutions and report its findings to the 1943 session of the Legislature.

WHEREAS, The State Charitable and Penal Institutions now have a biennial budget of $9,823,255.57, and numerous persons are employed by these institutions and they now have approximately 11,500 inmates for which the State is responsible; and

WHEREAS, The investigations of the Joint House and Senate Special Committee of the four (4) State Penal Institutions has brought to light many facts, or alleged facts, and many irregularities, or alleged irregularities, which should be investigated further, and it is evident that such irregularities as exist may go on for an indefinite period with no check because of lack of adequate supervision; and

WHEREAS, The limited investigations that have been made reveal that many changes could be brought about within the institutions which are in line with modern scientific methods of handling youthful offenders as well as older criminals and also for handling the mentally abnormal patients, and it seems apparent that the handling of parolees is seriously handicapped by a small staff, and in some instances, untrained parole officers; and

WHEREAS, Such investigation as has been made indicates the necessity for a complete investigation of conditions at all such institutions in order that the 1943 Session of the Legislature may have before it a report of the same, together with suggestions for betterment and improvement;

Now, Therefore, Be It Resolved, By the Senate and House of Representatives of the State of Washington, in legislative session assembled, That the Governor of the State of Washington is hereby empowered to appoint two (2) Superior Court Judges, the President of the Senate is empowered to appoint two (2) Senate members, and the Speaker of the House of Representatives is hereby empowered to appoint two (2) House members who are hereby authorized and empowered to investigate, with the Governor as Chairman, and the Lieutenant Governor as Executive Secretary, as a Committee, conditions at the State Charitable Penal and Reformatory Institutions, and make a report of the same, with its recommendations for betterments and improvements, to the 1943 Session of the Legislature, not later than during its first week of Session; and

Be It Further Resolved, That the Lieutenant Governor shall maintain his office at the seat of Government for meetings of the committee, for the convenience of the Committee members and as a depository for the records and files of the Committee; and

Be It Further Resolved, That the Committee shall meet upon the call of its Chairman from time to time as may be necessary and that there shall be further sessions of the Committee upon the request of not less than three (3) members thereof; and

Be It Further Resolved, That the Committee is empowered to employ such necessary expert and clerical and other help as may be necessary to carry out its duties and shall have the right to summon experts on penal problems and call upon the Board of Prison Terms and Paroles, the heads of the State Penal institutions, the Judges and officers of the courts, and such other officers or individuals for such evidence or reports as may be necessary to its deliberations; and

Be It Further Resolved, That said Committee is empowered to administer oaths, subpoena witnesses and take their testimony after the manner and to the same effect as is provided in Chapter 6 of the Laws of 1895 and Chapter 33 of the Laws of 1897 (Sections 8178 to 8194, Remington's Revised Statutes); and

Be It Further Resolved, That said Committee and its employees, shall be entitled to their actual traveling, lodging and subsistence expenses while absent from their usual places of residence in the service of the State in attendance at meetings of the Committee and for traveling to and from such meetings, the same to be paid upon their individual vouchers with the necessary receipts attached, from any sums appropriated therefor, and that the salaries of any employees, experts or advisors of such Committee shall be paid upon vouchers approved by its Executive Secretary from such appropriations; Provided, That subsistence and lodging expenses shall not exceed the sum of Five Dollars ($5) per day for any individual.

Investigations and reports by certain organizations, committees and individuals had brought to light many facts, or alleged facts, regarding the State's institutions which justified the setting up of the Interim Committee for further investigation. Reference is made in this connection to the report of the Joint House and Senate Special Committee in 1941 and the report of the Osborne Association, Incorporated, released in 1940.

INITIAL ACTIVITIES OF THE INTERIM COMMITTEE

The personnel of the Committee to Investigate State Penal and Charitable Institutions was as follows:

Governor Arthur B. Langlie, Chairman
 Lieutenant Governor Victor A. Meyers
 Representative Carl W. Broome
 Representative John L. O'Brien
 Senator Guy M. Balfour
 Senator Monty Percival
 Superior Court Judge Fred H. Witt
 Superior Court Judge William J. Wilkins.

At the first meeting it was decided that the members of the Committee should study the problems at hand and they outlined the following procedure:

1. Study the penal programs of other states, particularly those of New Jersey, New York and Massachusetts.
2. Enlist the cooperation of individuals whose special training should be helpful. Norman S. Haynor, of the Sociology Department of the University of Washington was among those recommended.
3. Explore the opportunity for assistance from the Federal Bureau of Prisons.
4. Contact Edward R. Cass (General Secretary of the American Prison Association of New York and member of New York State Commission of Correction and Advisor to Committee on Criminal Justice—Youth of the American Law Institute) as to methods of procedure.

It was further decided by the Committee that Dr. Haynor be authorized to place graduate students in four penal and correctional institutions, located at Monroe, Walla Walla, Grand Mound and Chehalis, for the summer, to make factual studies of those institutions; that they report to Dr. Haynor as a University activity, and that these reports subsequently be made available to the Committee; that the Committee authorize the Governor and the Lieutenant Governor to approve expenditures not to exceed $100 per month for each student for the time given to the survey.

Accordingly, student Sociological workers were assigned to the Washington State Reformatory at Monroe, Washington State Penitentiary at Walla Walla, Washington State Training School at Chehalis and the State School for Girls at Grand Mound, for a period of a month to six weeks during the summer of 1941. The findings of these students will be incorporated in the report on the various institutions.

Subsequent meetings were held monthly by the Committee with one or two exceptions and one or two bi-monthly meetings were also held.

The following books were reviewed by Committee members:

"Criminal Youth and the Borstal System"
 "Prison and Beyond"
 "Prison Community."

Senator Monty Percival, a member of the Interim Committee, passed away on July 24, 1941, and Senator C. C. Mohler was appointed by the Lieutenant Governor to replace him. Senator Guy M. Balfour found it necessary to present his resignation from the Committee at the July, 1941, meeting and Senator Roderick A. Lindsay was appointed to replace him. Judge William J. Wilkins resigned from the Committee on April 27, 1942, having been called into active service. Judge Charles R. Denny was named to replace him. Senator Lindsay and Representative Broome have joined the armed forces within the past few months.

An invitation was received by the Committee from the American Prison Congress to attend their annual conference in August, 1941. The invitation was accepted and the following members attended:

Governor Arthur B. Langlie
 Lieutenant Governor Victor A. Meyers
 Judge William J. Wilkins
 Judge Fred H. Witt
 Representative John O'Brien.

In addition to these members of the Interim Committee, there were also present Dr. Norman S. Haynor of the University of Washington, and David E. Lockwood, Director of the Department of Finance, Budget and Business.

The Washington Delegation had several meetings with nationally known prison authorities including Sanford Bates, Commissioner, New York State Board of Parole, Austin R. MacCormick, Executive Director, the Osborne Association, Inc., and James V. Bennett, Director United States Bureau of Prisons.

Mr. Bates emphasized the fact that personnel is the number one institutional problem. He stated that fine buildings and modern equipment lose much of their value without carefully selected and well trained employees. He pointed out that establishment of a merit system and selection and training of employees are relatively long processes. He said that frequently such changes require as long as ten years. He recommended that the interim Committee not wait for the necessary legislation to establish civil service, but that steps be taken at once to set up a merit program by giving qualifying tests to present employees and entrance examinations to new personnel. Mr. Bates warned against wholesale dismissal of present employees, but suggested a gradual weeding-out process based on results of qualifying examinations. Prison industries were briefly discussed, and the Committee was informed that the Federal government has such industries as clothing manufacturing, duck mill, furniture manufacturing, both metal and wood, needle trades, shoe manufacturing, and the manufacturing of brushes and brooms. Mr. Bates emphasized the importance of maintenance of fair price standards and quality standards in prison industry operations.

Mr. MacCormick stressed the importance of psychiatrists and psychologists in dealing with inmates. It was suggested that the state should have a psychologist at each of its penal institutions, and a psychiatrist for joint use by the institutions.

In a discussion of forest camps Mr. Bennett stressed the importance of careful selection of inmates for these camps from a standpoint of physical, mental and moral standards. All men agreed that the conversion of abandoned C. C. C. Camps should be considered in establishing forest camps in the State of Washington and that an incentive should be provided either in the way of reduction of time or a small wage for those who are transferred to the camps. The idea of a small wage is well regarded generally among prison leaders to make funds available upon release. It was also stressed that it is important to carry on a well rounded educational and recreational program at the camps.

In addition to these special meetings the members of the Committee also attended the regularly scheduled sessions of the American Prison Congress with the result that they arrived at the following conclusions:

1. Secure outstanding institutional man to supervise institutions.
2. Set up a merit system now by qualifying examination for present employees.
3. Establish a training program for employees.
4. Establish a classification system in each penal institution.
5. Have a full-time medical officer and psychologist at all institutions, and psychiatrist for joint use by several institutions.
6. Make a wage study to determine proper wage standards that will secure competent personnel.
7. Increase prison industries to eliminate idleness. Work is one of the best rehabilitative forces.
8. Work more closely with courts, welfare agencies, and Board of Prison Terms and Paroles to establish better probation and parole procedure.
9. Establish forest camp, considering the possibility of using an abandoned C. C. C. Camp.
10. Study vacation policies, working hours, discipline, etc., with a view to establishing better practices.

The Committee also made an inspection trip to Alcatraz and one of the members was designated to make a report on the "Wall-less" Camp at Chino. This report follows in part:

On January 1, 1943, the "Wall-less" Camp at Chino, California will have been in operation for two years. No inmate is sentenced directly to this institution, but each is chosen from the most likely candidates for rehabilitation at San Quentin Prison. The Classification Committee, before whom the prospect appears observes among others, the following qualifications:

1. Prospect must be in the age bracket of from 18 to 30 years.
2. There must be some family tie on the outside—mother, wife, or some closely associated relative.
3. The prisoner must have a sentence yet to serve of from eight months to three years.
4. Only normal or above normal men are considered.
5. Men convicted of sex crimes or crimes of violence are not eligible.

When the selected men leave San Quentin they are secured in no way and escape would be very possible. Transportation is effected by ordinary bus. The institution at Chino is completely surrounded by a non-electrical fence about ten feet high. The inmates are simply told upon their arrival at the institution that the fence is not there to keep them in but to keep the public out. The guards are termed supervisors and no one on the premises is armed. The inmates' doors are not locked at night.

The program includes academic as well as practical vocational training and the academic work is undertaken by regular teachers from Chino City High School. No one is permitted to go idle. Toward the end of the inmate's sentence, after the successful completion of the six months educational program, steps are taken to secure him part time work in private industry, returning every night to the institution. This, it is considered, cushions the shock of going straight from confinement to society. Any money earned from private industry during this period is given either to the man's family during his confinement, or is given to him at regular intervals after his release.

Careful selection of the institutional personnel is evident and a blanket requirement is that only college graduates are eligible. The staff members receive an adequate salary to secure the type desired for this work.

In inmates and personnel alike, a lack of drab prison routine was noted. The Committee member was highly impressed with the modern handling of the penal problem and considered the results well worth emulating, particularly in the vocational training departments, in the State of Washington.

LEGAL BASIS FOR APPOINTMENT OF SUPERVISOR

The state law, in providing for the organization of the Department of Finance, Budget and Business, established five main divisions of the department, as follows:

1. Division of Public Institutions
2. Division of Budget, Accounts and Control
3. Division of Purchasing
4. Division of Savings and Loan Associations
5. Division of Banking

Under Chapter 176, Session Laws of 1935, Section 15, is the following provision: "The Director of Finance, Budget and Business shall appoint and deputize an assistant Director to be known as the Supervisor of Public Institutions, who shall have charge and supervision of the Division of Public Institutions, and have power, with the approval of the Director, to appoint and employ such assistants and personnel as may be necessary to carry on the work of the division."

It is the opinion of the Interim Committee that the spirit of the law had never been carried out in the appointment of an outstanding administrator to head the Division of Public Institutions. In keeping with the law and as a result of conferences with prison leaders at the American Prison Congress in San Francisco, it was concluded that an outstanding institutional administrator should be appointed. After a very careful and thorough search throughout the entire United States, Mr. Richard A. McGee was appointed as Supervisor of Public Institutions, effective December, 1941. Following is a brief biography of his life:

Richard A. McGee was born in 1897 in the State of Minnesota.

Mr. McGee attended public school and high school in Minnesota and is a graduate of the University of Minnesota. He holds B. S. and M. A. degrees and has had substantial graduate study beyond the requirements of the M. A. degree. In his university work, Mr. McGee specialized in engineering, vocational education and economics.

Before entering upon institutional work, Mr. McGee was widely known as a leader in the field of vocational and industrial education. He has been a member of the faculties of the University of Minnesota, the Stout Institute in Wisconsin and the State Teacher's College of Minot, North Dakota. He entered the service of the U. S. Bureau of Prisons as Educational Supervisor at the Federal Penitentiary at Fort Leavenworth, Kansas in 1931, and was transferred to the U. S. Penitentiary at Lewisburg, Pennsylvania in 1933 where he remained until 1935. At this time he was appointed warden of the New York City Penitentiary on Rikers Island. He was chosen for this position as a result of a nation-wide competitive examination. In 1939 Mr. McGee was promoted to the position of Deputy Commissioner of Correction for the City of New York, from which position he resigned to come to his present position as Supervisor of Public Institutions of the State of Washington.

Mr. McGee is the author of two textbooks concerning industrial education and numerous articles and pamphlets on penal and correctional management. He is also editor and founder of "The Prison World", the official publication of the American Prison Association.

Mr. McGee's professional memberships are as follows:

AMERICAN PRISON ASSOCIATION
President, 1943.

NATIONAL JAIL ASSOCIATION
First President, 1939
Member of Board of Directors

OSBORNE ASSOCIATION, INC.
Member of Board of Directors

AMERICAN SOCIETY FOR PUBLIC ADMINISTRATION

Following the appointment of the Supervisor of Public Institutions, it became apparent that there was need for specialized supervision in the following categories:

1. Food Management
2. Farm Management

3. Personnel Administration
4. Social Work
5. Medical Service
6. Education and Recreation

FOOD MANAGEMENT:

The institutions of the state have approximately 12,000 inmates and employees who receive their meals at the institutions at the expense of the state. The need for technical supervision by a trained nutritionist in a phase of management involving as large an expenditure of funds as this, definitely warranted the appointment of a trained person to head this work.

Since the budget had made no provision for such a member of the staff, the best trained and most capable food manager at one of the institutions was designated to serve as Supervising Food Manager on a part basis, effective February 1, 1942. In September, 1942, the Food Manager was assigned to these duties on a full time basis.

As a result of the work of this staff member, the diets of the institutions have been improved and material savings have been effected by improved management.

FARM MANAGEMENT:

In December, 1941, the Washington State College was requested to make a careful survey of the farming operations of the public institutions of the state. There are ten large farms which include extensive programs of farming, dairying, swine and poultry raising.

Following the completion of this survey, a member of the faculty of Washington State College was appointed to the staff of the Division of Public Institutions as Supervising Farm Manager. Under this program the agricultural facilities of each institution are being used to the fullest capacity, to the benefit of the entire Division of Public Institutions instead of for the individual benefit of the separate institutions.

PERSONNEL:

For many years there has been a lack of systematic organization in the recruitment and management of institutional employees. In order to correct this chaotic condition, a consulting personnel firm was employed to make a study of the situation in the entire Department of Finance, Budget and Business. As a result of this study, a systematic classification and compensation plan has been developed.

SOCIAL WORK:

The admission of large numbers of citizens to the state's several institutions and their eventual release into society, constitutes a social problem of major proportions. In order to standardize and improve admission and release procedures, a supervising field worker with professional training and institutional experience was appointed in August, 1942.

ADDITIONAL FUNCTIONS REQUIRING SPECIALIZED SUPERVISION:

1. Stores' Management:

The store houses of the several state institutions have inventories valued at many thousands of dollars. The need for more careful management of this merchandise is apparent. Accordingly, it is recommended by the Committee that a Supervising Store Keeper be appointed to install a modern systematic stores system which will insure careful accountability and full protection of property under the management of these storehouses.

2. Medicine and Health:

Since the state institutions are responsible for the medical treatment and care of approximately twelve thousand wards and since these institutions represent an important block in the population of the state, insofar as public health is concerned, there is an apparent need for a medical supervisor who should be a physician of recognized professional and administrative capacity. He should provide over-all direction for medical treatment and health in the several institutions. He should be responsible for standardized practices, for the control of drug procurement and for the general problem of institutional sanitation. This addition to the staff is recommended by the United States Public Health Service and the Washington State Medical Association, both of which have made detailed surveys of the medical work in the public institutions.

3. Education and Recreation:

Every institution in the Department has an educational function varying in importance from that found in occupational therapy departments in state hospitals to that of school for the blind and deaf. Each institution should have adequate library and recreation programs, both for purposes of mental hygiene and education. It would be highly desirable to have a supervisory staff member who should be a highly trained and experienced educator and especially equipped for dealing with the problems of the handicapped and maladjusted.

VISITATIONS BY COMMITTEE MEMBERS

Following is a summary of observations and information gathered during visitations of Committee members to various institutions:

In connection with each institutional summary there are listed steps which have been taken by the administration to improve the operation of the institutions, and recommendations by the Committee.

Washington State Penitentiary Walla Walla

1. ADMINISTRATION:

During the early part of the investigation this institution was in charge of an "Acting" Superintendent. In April, 1942, Mr. Bert O. Webb was appointed Superintendent. Mr. Webb had an extensive background in penal work. His prison experience began at the Federal Prison at McNeil Island in 1930. While at McNeil Island, Mr. Webb completed a six-year prison service course sponsored by the United States Bureau of Prisons. In 1931, Mr. Webb was promoted to the position of Lieutenant and in 1938 he was transferred to the Federal Penitentiary at Terminal Island, Los Angeles, where he was promoted to Captain. He was then assigned to the Federal Penitentiary at Tallahassee, Florida, where he remained until he was appointed to his present position.

The Department, in securing a Superintendent for the Penitentiary, recognized the need for an experienced, practical executive with the modern viewpoint. The Committee feels that Mr. Webb meets these qualifications in an admirable manner. He comes to his position highly recommended by the United States Bureau of Prisons as one of their most promising officers.

2. CLASSIFICATION:

In line with modern practice a system of individualized study and treatment has been initiated at the penitentiary through the appointment of a Classification Officer, whose duty it is to develop a full case history of each inmate. The Classification Officer acts as secretary to the Classification Committee which reviews each new admission and establishes, as a result of its deliberations, a special program for each case.

3. PERSONNEL:

As a result of personal visitations by the Committee, the following observations were made as to personnel:

The Committee ascertained the fact that wages paid the employees at the penitentiary are not sufficient to attract, and hold, employees of the caliber needed for efficient operation. It has been called to the attention of the Committee that the Department recently authorized a survey by Griffen-Hagen and Associates to establish a classification and compensation plan for all institution employees. The 1943-45 Budget brings the salaries of all penitentiary employees up to the minimum scale provided for by this survey.

It was noted that the uniforms worn by the officers at the institution were not up to the standard which should prevail for the sake of officer morale and proper respect from inmates. Especially it was observed that the uniforms in many cases were not properly cleaned and pressed, shoes were unshined and caps improperly worn. The Committee has been advised by the Department that plans have been laid for the design and adoption of a new uniform for the officers of the institution. The Committee has been further advised that this matter is delayed because of difficulty in obtaining materials during the war period.

The lack of a proper training program for officers was apparent as a result of conversations with employees and administrative officers and by observations of their general demeanor.

The Department advises the Committee that the urgent need of a training program is recognized but that it has not yet been instituted because of the rapid turn over of employees during this emergency period.

It was further observed that there were no formal printed rules and regulations regarding officers' conduct and procedure.

The Department informs the Committee that rules and regulations covering procedures and officers' conduct have been prepared and are in the process of printing.

4. MEDICAL SERVICE:

It was observed by the Committee that there was inadequate medical service. A part time physician visits the institution daily for about one hour. The dental service provided was considered insufficient by reason of the fact that only two half days a week are spent at the institution by a local dentist.

It was also the opinion of the members of the Committee that facilities were lacking in the hospital that are necessary in a well rounded medical program.

The Committee is advised that some improvements have already been made by the addition of new dental equipment, a new X-ray machine and some physical improvements in the surgery. It has also learned that the Washington State Medical Association and a representative of the United States Public Health Service have surveyed the medical situation at this institution and have submitted a report which is highly critical of the lack of facilities and the inadequacy of the treatment program. A report of the Washington State Medical Association says in brief that "the medical service of this institution in terms of modern standards is deplorable". The Committee was further informed that a full time physician has been employed, effective January 1, 1943. This physician is a general medical doctor and a psychiatrist. The employment of this physician is the first step in the development of a much needed modern medical program for the institution.

The Committee has been advised that request is being made for appropriations to provide necessary physical facilities to implement this program.

5. EDUCATION:

The Committee was well pleased with the progress that is being made in the educational program. The Supervisor of Education, who is organizing the program at the penitentiary was appointed September 1, 1942. He brings to the institution a background of experience in public school and adult education. He has a Master's Degree from a recognized University and seems eminently well qualified for his work. While the Committee was impressed with the progress that has been made with the limited facilities available, the members feel that this program cannot become fully effective without the provision of suitable classroom space and appropriate educational supplies and equipment. The greatest and most obvious need for educational equipment is in the vocational phase of the program. Your Committee feels that the use of funds for rehabilitating prisoners in penal institutions through education is to be highly commended.

6. DISCIPLINE:

The Committee feels that the disciplinary control of the inmates at the penitentiary is a matter of major importance. The members noted worthwhile improvements in this regard. Some of the most noteworthy are:

The organization of a discipline committee to pass upon infractions of the established rules and regulations of the institution. In this connection the Committee wishes to strongly recommend that these rules and regulations be reduced to writing and made available to both officers and inmates.

The elimination of many special privileges granted to prisoners who had preferential work assignments in the institution. Some of these privileges, no longer in vogue, involved eating in the employees' mess, eating in the kitchen, instead of in the main dining room, wearing civilian clothes instead of the prescribed uniforms and staying out of the cells after lock-up time.

The organization of an inmate Advisory Council to work with the Administration in the management of recreation and other inmate activities.

The practice of confining punishment cases in dark dungeon-like cells has been discontinued and these cells have been remodeled to conform to the design of other cells in the institution. The deprivation of privileges and "good time" allowances has been found effective in most disciplinary cases. A few prisoners who are habitually intractable are isolated in cell block No. 5.

A great many of the petty rackets and conniving practices that have been so prevalent in the institution in the past have been eliminated by the discontinuance of the so-called "Transfer" system. This was a system whereby prisoners were permitted to "Transfer" funds among themselves. It was learned that certain inmates exacted tribute from other inmates for special favors and for special consideration shown them. Certain inmates were shown special consideration in assignment of work, mail and visiting privileges and food. Other inmates had access to drugs and other contraband which were freely distributed within the institution to those who were in position to pay for them. These practices have, for the most part, been eliminated entirely since the "Transfer" system in the cashier's office was discontinued.

It was further called to the attention of the Committee that a considerable amount of food stocks have been stolen from the prison farm and were disposed of by the inmates. A report was heard that a few of the privileged inmates had been making a racket of disposing of civilian clothing worn by prisoners when they entered the institution. A recent check-up discloses that this practice has also been discontinued. The practice of permitting certain prisoners to enjoy special foods such as extra butter and other delicacies they were able to pay for has been discontinued.

In the past, inmates had access to drugs for the reason that other inmates were given keys and put in charge of the places where the drugs were kept. A new regulation provides that no inmate shall be in possession of any custodial keys at any time. This new regulation has eliminated a great many abuses.

7. WORK PROGRAM:

It is generally recognized by penal authorities that idleness among inmates is one of the greatest of evils. When the Committee began its investigation considerable idleness existed in the penitentiary. However, the Committee has been informed that with the work programs that have been laid out under industrial operations, farming, state cannery operations, honor camps, necessary maintenance work and educational work, idleness will not be a problem for the duration of the war. Following the war, it will be necessary to establish additional prison industries in order to insure continued work for these prisoners. In this connection the Committee is informed that legislation is being prepared to make possible the expansion of the prison industries in the future.

The Committee wishes to commend the policy of releasing prisoners a short time in advance of their parole dates in order to help alleviate the acute shortage in agricultural harvests and war industries. The practice employed at the penitentiary during the summer of using prison inmates from the institution to assist in the harvest is also commended. The Committee is informed that during the summer and autumn of 1942, 433 inmates participated in this program and worked a total of 76,536 man hours. The Committee is reliably informed that without this assistance large quantities of farm products would have been lost. It should be noted in this connection that these prisoners were allocated to employers through the agency of the United States Employment Office and that they received the prevailing rate of pay for their services.

It was observed that the inmates at Walla Walla, who are employed in the prison industries are receiving an average of 1½¢ per hour for work performed in the institutional industries. The Committee recommends that Chapter 305, Session Laws 1927, dealing with the payment of prisoners at the penitentiaries and reformatories, be invoked in the state and that a plan for compensation for inmates engaged in prison industries be evolved which will be comparable to that used at the Federal Institutions. Industries include the manufacture of shoes for state institutions, the repair of shoes for soldiers stationed at Walla Walla, the laundering of clothes for the soldiers and for the hospital at the Walla Walla Air Base, the salvage of tin cans and the manufacture of clothing for state institutions, and a portion of the farm operations. All of these industrial activities bring a profit to the state as well as provide useful products during the time of National Emergency.

8. HONOR CAMPS:

As another move to provide work for prisoners and at the same time perform a useful service for the state, the Committee has enthusiastically supported the establishment of "Honor Camps" at the following locations:

1. Western State Custodial School—Buckley

A group of some 50 prisoners are completing a water line at this institution to provide a permanent and dependable water supply. This project was originally set up under W. P. A. but with the discontinuance of that agency and the consequent stoppage of labor supply, it was necessary to turn to inmate labor. The prisoners are being compensated for their labors by the payment of a small wage on a piece work basis.

2. Wood Cutting Camp—Onalaska

At the request of the United States Fuel Administration, steps have been taken to make use of the labor of approximately 200 inmates from the Penitentiary for the purpose of supplying fuel wood in certain areas of the state where there is an acute shortage of fuel. The State Division of Forestry has acquired a 1700 acre tract of logged off land in the vicinity of the town of Onalaska. The Department of Finance, Budget and Business has acquired abandoned buildings in Onalaska for the purpose of housing these men. The actual cutting of wood began December 19, 1942. It is estimated that approximately 100 cords of wood per day will be made available from this operation for the purpose of alleviating the acute shortage of fuel wood. The inmates in this camp will be paid a nominal wage, amounting to about 5¢ per hour.

3. Washington State Cannery—Wapato

The state operates four canneries. In the past the bulk of the labor for these canneries has been supplied by W. P. A. During the 1942 season, due to the non-availability of this labor, the operation of the Wapato Cannery was taken over by 25 inmates from the penitentiary. These inmates were paid a wage of 25¢ per day. The Committee is advised that it is expected that all four canneries will be operated for the duration of the war by inmates from the penitentiary and the reformatory.

The operation of these canneries is particularly vital at this time owing to the need for canned food as a result of demands made upon the market by the Lend-Lease Authorities and our armed forces.

The Committee feels that the establishment of these "Honor Camps" has been a most worthy achievement. It not only provides a much needed program for the rehabilitation of prisoners but also constitutes a fine contribution to the general welfare of the state. This program should be maintained after the war in activities consistent with the public good.

9. FOOD SERVICE:

Since the cost of food constitutes approximately 40% of the operating budget of the institution and since food is such an important element in the morale and health of an institution, special mention of this service is warranted.

The Committee found on visitation to the penitentiary that an adequate, well balanced diet, prescribed by the Supervising Food Manager, was being served to all inmates. The steward in charge is a graduate of Washington State College, having specialized in food management. Many of the practices formerly reported in the institution, involving waste and misuse of food, seem to have been corrected. All of the food services have been consolidated and with the initiation of skilled management, the food service has not only improved but the cost has been reduced.

10. PHYSICAL PLANT:

The Committee observed that the old cell blocks, known as Wing 1, 2, 3, 4 and 5, were not being used to their full capacity. One of these has been completely torn out, two are unoccupied, another is used as the segregation section and another was being used, at the time of the Committee members' visitation, to house the inmates assigned to the kitchen. The use of these antiquated cells has, in the past, invoked much adverse criticism because they are built for two men to a cell, they have no plumbing facilities, are poorly ventilated and have very little light.

It is recommended that these cell blocks be torn out as soon as possible and the buildings converted to other uses such as dormitories, classroom space and utility services.

The present visiting facilities permit visitors to enter the main enclosure and to sit side by side with the prisoners. This is considered very bad practice, especially with reference to the ease with which contraband can be passed into the institution. The Superintendent explained to the Committee his plan for building a new visiting room in the Administration Building, which would prevent physical contact between visitor and inmate and therefore contribute materially to the safety of the institution.

Washington State Reformatory Monroe

1. ADMINISTRATION:

Mr. Olaf L. Olson was appointed superintendent of the Washington State Reformatory in July, 1941. In accordance with the general practice in institutions of this class, an office of Assistant Superintendent was set up. The present incumbent has been Captain of the Guard in this institution for many years.

2. CLASSIFICATION:

In line with modern practice, a system of individualized study and treatment has been initiated at the reformatory through the appointment of a Classification Officer, whose duty it is to develop a full case history of each inmate. This Classification Officer acts as secretary to the Classification Committee which reviews each new admission and establishes, as a result of its deliberations, a special program for each case.

3. PERSONNEL:

The Committee's observations with regard to personnel in this institution are practically the same with respect to wages, personal appearance and training as in the case of the State Penitentiary. The Committee wishes to stress particularly the fact that before personnel weaknesses can be eliminated there must be an increase in wages paid the employees.

4. MEDICAL SERVICE:

The Committee observed that the medical staff at this institution consisted of a full time male nurse and one part time physician, who also practices medicine in the city of Monroe. It is the opinion of the Committee that the full development of a rehabilitation program at this institution requires the services of a full time physician who has a knowledge of psychiatry as well as general medicine. Following the appointment of a competent full time physician, careful study should be made of the medical facilities with a view to bringing them up to an acceptable standard.

Your Committee noted that the general sanitation of the institution was not up to satisfactory standards. It is the opinion of the Committee that such a condition is inexcusable in view of the fact that there is an ample supply of labor on which to draw. When a full time physician is appointed, one of his major responsibilities should be the inspection and supervision of the sanitation of the buildings and equipment. The Committee has been advised that this matter has been called to the attention of the administration at the reformatory on several occasions but that conditions are still below standard.

The Committee questioned certain practices observed in the institution in connection with the work of the visiting psychiatrist from the Northern State Hospital, and they are informed that these practices have been discontinued and are being investigated.

5. EDUCATION:

The Committee studied the educational program of the institution and found a well trained staff in charge of the academic work. There was an apparent lack of drive and interest shown in the program however. Especially did the Committee observe this to be the case with respect to the vocational program. Although enrollment in the educational work has increased, it is the opinion of the Committee that in an institution of this type more emphasis should be placed upon the vocational training.

6. DISCIPLINE:

The Committee was not well impressed with the evidences of good discipline in this institution. There were many signs of disorder and a general attitude of indifference both on the part of the inmates and the officers. The Committee has been informed, however, that some of the disciplinary abuses have been eliminated. Among the practices reported as having been discontinued are:

1. Use of solitary confinement blocks
(Commonly known as the "Black Holes")
2. Use of drill crew for punishment
3. Ban on the smoking of cigarettes
4. Ban on full complement of table cutlery
(Formerly only a tablespoon was permitted)
5. Ban on safety razors and mirrors
6. Commitment number on outside inmate's clothing
7. Complete silence in dining room.

The Committee feels that a program of disciplinary training should be developed to take the place in a positive way of the outmoded negative practices which have been discontinued. Upon entry into the institution each inmate is given military drill for a period of sixty days. A former army sergeant is employed for this purpose.

The Committee feels that the "Committee Method" of passing upon disciplinary cases is highly desirable. At the reformatory only a part of the cases are reported to be brought before the disciplinary committee.

7. WORK PROGRAM:

The Committee was interested in investigating the evil of idleness in this institution. It was reported that all able-bodied inmates in the institution had work assignments. On the other hand the Committee members observed many inmates about the institution who did not seem to be fully occupied. It is recommended that the whole question of employment at the reformatory be given further study with a view to developing a constructive program of activity for each and every inmate during all hours of the day.

The work program consists principally of the general maintenance work required in all institutions, plus two farms, including two dairy herds, a brick manufacturing plant, a tailor shop and an auto and truck repair shop.

The idleness problem has been greatly alleviated during the past year owing to increased agricultural activities, early release of paroled inmates to work in the agricultural harvests, the use of a number of inmates at the State canneries at Kirkland and Kent during the canning season, the establishment of an "Honor" camp at Lake Cavanaugh and a substantial drop in the population of the institution.

The Committee expressly wishes to commend the policy of releasing trust-worthy inmates in advance of their established parole dates for the purpose of relieving the shortage of agricultural labor and other labor essential in our war effort.

8. HONOR CAMPS:

For many years it has been the expressed belief of leaders in the State that an "Honor" camp which would serve as a stepping stone between the institution and parole should be established for inmates of the State Reformatory. Your Committee concurs in this belief.

On April 15, 1942, such a camp was established in an abandoned C. C. C. building on Lake Cavanaugh, Skagit County, Washington. This camp has a capacity of fifty inmates, and is operated as a branch of the Reformatory. The work engaged in by these inmates consists of fire prevention and tree planting which is under the technical direction of the State Division of Forestry.

9. FOOD MANAGEMENT:

The Committee examined the food and the menus in use at the Reformatory and felt the diet was adequate and was satisfied with the quality and palatability of the food.

10. PHYSICAL PLANT:

The confinement block, often referred to as the "Black Hole" was not being used. The Committee was advised that plans are under way to remodel this section of the building and install in its place shower baths, which are very much needed in connection with the adjacent cell block. An item has been provided in the 1943-45 budget to cover this improvement.

The Committee felt that the arrangement for visiting was unsatisfactory, if not unsafe. It is suggested that this matter be given further study with a view to relocating the visiting section and providing suitable visiting tables, which will reduce the possibility of passing contraband between visitors and inmates.

Washington State Training School Chehalis

1. ADMINISTRATION:

Mr. Herbert Hansen assumed the superintendency of the Washington State Training School on August 7, 1941. At the time of his appointment, Mr. Hansen was Superintendent of the city school system at Winlock, Washington. He brought to the institution twenty years of experience in dealing with adolescent boys as a teacher and administrator in the public schools of the State of Washington. Since the function of an institution of this type is primarily educational, Mr. Hansen's background fitted him particularly well for the position.

2. CLASSIFICATION:

The need for a professional classification program in this institution is even more important than at the penitentiary and reformatory, in view of the fact that the Superintendent is charged by law with the responsibility for releasing these boys on parole.

At the present time there is a classification committee composed of staff members with the Superintendent acting as Chairman. Your Committee recommends the continued improvement of this work.

3. PLACEMENT:

Attached to this institution are two placement officers who are on the payroll of the Division of Parole Transportation and Deportation of the departmental office at Olympia. It is the duty of these officers to transport new admissions from the place of commitment to the institution; to become fully familiarized with the details of each boy's case, and finally to supervise the activities of the boys after they are released and placed in their homes or elsewhere in the communities of the State. It seems to the Committee that this is a very important function and should be directed with unusual care.

4. PERSONNEL:

In common with our statements in connection with the penitentiary and the reformatory, the Committee is of the opinion that the wage scale for employees at the boys' school should be adjusted to insure the recruitment and continued tenure of well trained and qualified employees.

5. MEDICAL SERVICE:

This institution maintains a small hospital, twenty-four bed capacity. The staff consists of one full-time female nurse and a physician who makes routine visits to the institution as required. Major surgical operations are usually handled either at the Western State Hospital or, in cases of emergency, at the local hospital in Chehalis. Monthly visits are made to the institution by a psychiatrist from Western State Hospital.

A representative of the United States Public Health Service who has surveyed the institution's medical services, recommends a full-time physician to divide his time between this institution and the Girls' School at Grand Mound. The Committee believes this would be a good solution to this problem.

When the services of such a physician are secured, he should give major attention to problems of sanitation in this institution. There has been criticism, especially from the State Department of Health, concerning the cleanliness of this school. We believe this to be a very important matter affecting the health and habits of these boys and should be given attention at the earliest possible moment.

6. EDUCATION:

The institution seems to have excellent facilities for academic, vocational and physical education. However, it was noted that the facilities for vocational education, both in trades and agriculture, were not being fully utilized. It is recommended that a vocational training program at this institution be given careful study with a view to employing an adequate staff of vocational teachers as soon as they may be available.

7. DISCIPLINE:

The report of the Joint House and Senate Investigation Committee and the Osborne Association called attention to certain disciplinary measures such as marching to the dining room with arms folded and maintenance of strict silence at the meal hour, which have long been outmoded in progressive institutions.

These practices and other petty rules have been discontinued. The wearing of commitment numbers on the clothing of the boys has been stopped. Discipline is now handled by the removal of privileges, such as attendance at picture shows, athletic games and other activities.

Past reports have also made reference to alleged use of physical punishment. The present administration has a very strict rule prohibiting the use of any physical punishment.

8. PHYSICAL PLANT:

The institution has some excellent buildings, especially those provided for school work, shops, farm buildings and the like. On the other hand the administration building and the hospital building are frame buildings which have long since outlived their usefulness. As soon as men and material are available appropriations should be provided to replace these two buildings.

State School For Girls Grand Mound

1. ADMINISTRATION:

Miss Florence Monahan was appointed Superintendent of the State School for Girls, April 12, 1942, after a nation-wide search for a thoroughly qualified and experienced woman. Miss Monahan has been engaged in the administration of correctional institutions for women since 1919. From 1919 to 1932 she was Superintendent of the State Reformatory for Women at Shakopee, Minnesota. From 1932 to 1937 Miss Monahan was Superintendent of the State Training School for Girls at Geneva, Illinois. From 1937 to July of last year she was superintendent of the California State Reformatory for Women. Miss Monahan is the author of the recently published book entitled "Women in Crime" and was engaged, after leaving the California institution until coming to Grand Mound, in public lecturing on the subject "Delinquency Among Women and Girls."

Miss Monahan is a graduate of the State Teachers College at St. Cloud, Minnesota, and also of the St. Paul Law School, St. Paul, Minnesota. In addition to her educational and institutional experience, she was employed for a time in social work in the City of Minneapolis.

2. PERSONNEL:

The personnel problems presented in this school are somewhat different from the other public institutions of the State because practically all of the employees are women and because they are required to live at the institution. This school, in common with the other public institutions of the state, has difficulty in securing and holding the best quality of rank and file employees because of the relatively low wage scale offered. The Committee believes that this matter should be studied with a view to increasing the salaries to a point necessary to bring the staff up to desirable standards.

3. MEDICAL SERVICE:

Medical service is provided by a physician from Centralia. He makes periodic visits to the institution and is subject to call in the event of an emergency. The dental needs of the girls are cared for on a fee basis by a Centralia dentist. The Committee recommends that a full-time medical officer be employed who will devote his time to supervision of the medical problem at both the Washington State Training School and the State School for Girls.

A psychiatrist from the Western State Hospital visits the school regularly to examine the girls who need special help and to make recommendations as to their treatment.

4. EDUCATION:

Since the girls' school is conceived basically as a correctional school, more than ordinary emphasis is placed upon the educational program. The teaching staff and the classroom facilities seem to be entirely adequate. Experience seems to indicate that most of these girls eventually either get married or enter domestic service. Consequently, the major emphasis in the educational program is upon Home Economics. The Committee wishes to commend the practice of extending the special privilege of preparing and serving a meal to a small group of staff members, by individual girls who have shown by their work the type of ability and interest which deserves this reward. The Committee also commends the practice of programs using the talents of various girls. Such programs are frequently put on by the girls; also many short plays are given.

These are most valuable in developing initiative and in giving an opportunity for experiences which these girls have never had.

Each girl goes to school one half of the day and is given vocational training in housework, cooking, laundry, sewing and gardening the other half.

5. DISCIPLINE:

Many adverse reports have been heard from time to time concerning the failure of this school to exert salutary discipline control over these girls. Some of the practices which have been reported in the past include cutting off the girls' hair and locking them up in rooms without furniture. Although the Committee has been advised that these practices have been discontinued, they wish to go on record as being unalterably opposed to such treatment and methods. The Committee is informed that discipline is now controlled by a program of segregation and the extension of privileges for good behavior and a program of instruction and guidance in conduct.

GENERAL:

While the Committee observes that this institution has a high ratio of employees to inmates thus bringing about a high per capita cost, it is felt that a good constructive program should be continued at the girls' school as an essential part of the state-wide program for controlling juvenile delinquency. It was also observed that there is more building space available than is required for the present population. However, in view of the growing population of the state, and in further view of the apparent trend toward an increased rate in juvenile delinquency in the country, it is felt that the facilities of this institution should be maintained for the present purpose.

State Mental Hospitals

Western State Hospital—Fort Steilacoom
Northern State Hospital—Sedro Woolley
Eastern State Hospital—Medical Lake

1. ADMINISTRATION:

Dr. W. N. Keller is superintendent of the Western State Hospital. Dr. Keller was first appointed as head of this institution in 1914 which position he occupied until 1922 when he resigned to enter private practice. He was reappointed Superintendent in 1933.

Dr. J. W. Doughty was first appointed Superintendent of the Northern State Hospital in 1914 and served until 1930. He was reappointed as Superintendent in 1934.

Dr. M. W. Conway served as Assistant Superintendent at the Eastern State Hospital from 1913 to 1921 when he resigned to enter private practice. He was appointed as Superintendent in 1933 and has occupied this position continuously since that time.

2. PERSONNEL:

The Committee's investigation disclosed that in common with other institutions the wages paid at the mental hospitals are not in keeping with the responsibilities usually expected of people charged with the care of the sick. The Committee observed on their visitation to the Western State Hospital two instances involving the abuse and neglect of patients which indicated the need for better qualified and more efficient type of personnel than in the present attendant staff. The Committee has been informed that the 1943-1945 budget provides for an increase in wages which will do much to improve personnel standards. While the Committee realizes the difficulty of securing employees at this time, it is recommended that at a later date, when employees are more plentiful, that recruitment standards be set up, and only employees hired who would meet these requirements.

The Committee commends the program carried on in the three mental hospitals for the training of psychiatric attendants and nurses in cooperation with our State institutions of higher learning. It is the Committee's recommendation that training programs be set up for other classes of employees within the institutions.

3. MEDICAL SERVICE:

All three of these institutions are recognized as meeting the standards of the American Medical Association and the American Psychiatric Association. Western State Hospital also has full recognition by the American College of Surgeons and is, therefore, an accepted institution for the purpose of training internes and resident psychiatrists. The Committee is advised that all three of these institutions have been inspected recently by a Committee of the Washington State Medical Association. This Committee has commended the mental hospitals of the state not only for their equipment and medical programs but also for being able to maintain fairly high standards during the war period in spite of overcrowded conditions. During the past year it has been extremely difficult to obtain a sufficient number of qualified physicians, nurses and technicians.

4. WORK PROGRAM:

All of these institutions maintain extensive agricultural activities, including farming and gardening, dairying, swine raising and poultry culture. These activities provide excellent opportunities for occupational therapy for a large number of the patients and at the same time contribute considerably to reducing the cost of operation.

The Western State Hospital and Northern State Hospital made a valuable contribution to the saving of the berry crops in their respective areas during the past season by furnishing patient help to local growers.

5. FOOD MANAGEMENT:

The problem of feeding approximately 7000 patients in these three institutions is one of major proportions. The present supervising food manager of the entire division of public institutions was formerly the food manager at Western State Hospital. In addition to her academic training, this practical administrative experience has served to qualify her in an unusually fine way for her present work.

Each institution has a trained and experienced nutritionist in charge of the feeding program.

In visiting the Western State Hospital the Committee observed certain unsanitary conditions in connection with the refrigeration and the service of milk in the wards. The Committee understands that these conditions have since been corrected.

6. PHYSICAL PLANT:

The Committee considers the outstanding weakness of the institutional program to be the overcrowded conditions witnessed in the Western State Hospital, and to a lesser extent at the Northern State Hospital. The Eastern State Hospital, although filled to capacity, is not overcrowded. The Western State Hospital recently reached a peak of 2867 patients. This overcrowded condition is not only a menace to health but makes difficult the proper treatment and rehabilitation of patients.

Funds were provided in the 1941-1943 budget for construction of a new ward building at Western State Hospital, but due to the fact that labor and materials have been in demand by defense and war industries, the administration has not yet been able to provide additional housing facilities. The Committee has been advised that application has been made to the War Production Board for Priorities to construct a new 440-bed building for the housing of senile patients. The War Production Board has definitely turned down this application but has indicated that they will give consideration to the approval of a 200-bed ward building. In the meantime, buildings at the C. C. C. Camp at Rainier, Washington, are being dismantled and moved to the Western State Hospital where temporary ward buildings are to be constructed as a means of emergency relief for the overcrowded condition.

It is the Committee's Recommendation that steps be taken as soon as material and labor are available to build modern buildings to house mental patients at the Western State Hospital, particularly, and to add those facilities that are needed at the other two mental hospitals.

Western State Hospital has been about 60% reconstructed during the past decade. There are still in use a number of old ward buildings which have long since been condemned both from the standpoint of safety and modern design. These old buildings should be replaced with new structures as soon as men and material are available.

The facilities at Northern State Hospital have within recent years been entirely reconstructed. There are needed, however, additions to the laundry, the kitchen and bakery, as well as facilities for housing employees.

The Eastern State Hospital is made up for the most part of either new or reconstructed buildings. The ward buildings are adequate for the present population, but there is a pressing need for additional housing facilities for employees.

Custodial Schools

Eastern State Custodial School
Medical Lake

Western Custodial School
Buckley

1. ADMINISTRATION:

Mr. Lester F. Mason has served on the staff of the Eastern State Custodial School since August 1, 1933, first as an accountant, then as Acting Superintendent and since September 24, 1941, as Superintendent.

Frederick M. Lash, Ph. D. was appointed Superintendent at Western State Custodial School September 1, 1939. On December 11, 1942, Dr. Lash reported for active duty in the United States Armed Forces. In his absence, the Assistant Superintendent, J. G. King, is Acting Superintendent.

The Committee has observed the lack of an Assistant Superintendent at the Eastern Custodial School and recommends that such a position be created and filled by a competent individual.

2. PERSONNEL:

The personnel situation in these two institutions has been made difficult by the competitive situation in the labor market. The problem of keeping a full staff of capable employees is indeed difficult. It is the Committee's recommendation that provision be made for improving the wage scale at these two institutions so that there will be an opportunity to attract, and hold, competent employees. It is also the opinion of the Committee that an in-service training program should be provided at both institutions to improve the methods and procedure for dealing with handicapped children.

3. MEDICAL SERVICE:

At the Eastern State Custodial School the medical service is under the direction of two full time physicians. In addition to the problem of caring for the ordinary cases of illness, tubercular cases and epilepsy, there is the problem of major surgery which is being taken care of at the Eastern State Hospital where excellent staff and surgical facilities are available. The requirements for dental work are met by a full time dentist.

The medical service at this institution was surveyed by a committee of the Washington State Medical Association which made two major recommendations: (1) that the medical staff be improved and that in coordination with the resident staff, a competent attending staff be recruited and (2) the consolidation of all medical facilities in one new building. This would release the buildings used at present, for ordinary ward space which is very much needed.

The Western State Custodial School has excellent facilities for medical and dental treatment. The nursing staff is adequate but it is the opinion of the Committee that a half time physician is not sufficient for this institution and recommends the employment of a full time medical officer. The dental service is handled by a part time dentist which seems to be adequate.

4. EDUCATION:

The Committee observed that a well rounded educational program is being conducted in both institutions. It is the Committee's understanding that research is being made to improve methods of treatment with regard to handicapped boys and girls who attend this type of school. It is the hope of the Committee that the administrators of these two schools will be alert to take advantage of all advances that are being made in this field.

5. WORK PROGRAM:

Each of these schools maintains extensive agricultural programs including farming, dairying, swine and poultry culture. These activities provide healthful and useful occupation for the boys and girls and at the same time contribute materially to the support of the institutions. The Committee wishes to call particular attention to the assistance which was given in the harvesting of the apple crop in the vicinity of Medical Lake, by the Eastern State Custodial School during the past season. It is reported that these boys and girls picked 27,758 boxes of apples and earned $1,717.96.

6. PHYSICAL PLANT:

Some of the wards at the Eastern School are very much overcrowded and in addition to this, there is a waiting list of about forty-five. It is the opinion of the Committee that additional ward facilities should be made available by the construction of a central hospital building which would improve the medical service and at the same time release space now being used for medical purposes to be converted into resident wards.

Perhaps the greatest handicap in obtaining and retaining suitable employees at the Eastern State Custodial School is to be found in the lack of modern living quarters. The Committee strongly recommends the construction of a residence for the Superintendent, several other residences for official members of the staff and apparent facilities both for single men and women and for married couples.

The Western State Custodial School was opened October 19, 1939. A short time after opening its doors the institution was filled to capacity. At the present time there is a waiting list of about three hundred boys and girls, approximately one hundred of whom are in need of immediate care. Funds were provided in the 1941-1943 budget to build additional ward buildings to accommodate those awaiting admission. Due to the urgent need for labor and materials in defense and war work, construction of these ward buildings had to be postponed. The Committee observed that certain recreational and play space in the ward buildings has been converted into dormitories to enlarge the bed capacity. This has made possible the admission of many boys and girls, but should be considered only as a temporary measure until proper facilities can be constructed.

The Committee strongly recommends the erection of additional ward buildings just as soon as materials and labor are available. Provision was made in the 1941-1943 budget for a nurses' home and equipment at this institution. Again, due to the demand for labor and material in the prosecution of the war, it was necessary to delay this construction. The Committee is cognizant of the need for additional housing facilities for employees and strongly recommends that construction along this line be consummated as soon as labor and materials are available.

Schools For Handicapped Children
 Washington State School for the Deaf
 Washington State School for the Blind
 Vancouver, Washington

1. ADMINISTRATION:

Mr. George Lloyd, the Superintendent of Washington State School for the Deaf, has occupied that position since 1920. Mrs. Jeanne E. Chapman, Superintendent of the Washington State School for the Blind has occupied that position since her appointment in 1926.

2. PERSONNEL:

Since these schools are provided for the purpose of giving a common and high school education to the blind and deaf children of the state, the most important group of employees are the teachers. These men and women must not only be qualified teachers in a general sense but must also have specialized training for teaching the blind and the deaf. During the past year it has become increasingly difficult to obtain qualified persons at the salaries offered. It is recommended that the salaries paid this type of teacher elsewhere in the country be studied with a view to placing the salary scale of these institutions on a satisfactory competitive basis.

Since the inauguration of the numerous and extensive war industries in the vicinity of Vancouver, great difficulty is reported to have been met in obtaining the service type of employees—such as fireman, maid, cook and the like.

The Committee is advised that the American Foundation for the Blind has recently made an extensive survey of the State School for the Blind. It is hoped that the recommendations growing out of this report will serve to bring this institution up to desirable standards in every particular.

The Committee wishes to recommend that some qualified agency be invited to make a similar study of the State School for the Deaf in order to obtain the same objectives for this institution.

The staff of the State Superintendent has been working in close cooperation with the Department of Finance, Budget and Business in an effort to maintain and improve the educational standards of these two schools.

The Committee has also no adverse criticism of the operation of these two institutions. It is suggested, however, that there is need for the extension of the vocational program at both the School for the Blind and the School for the Deaf. It has been proposed that a cooperative arrangement between the schools and the business and industrial concerns of the community to meet this need, could be worked out after the war.

Veteran's Homes

Washington State Veteran's Home
Retsil, Washington
State Soldiers' Home and Colony
Orting, Washington

1. ADMINISTRATION:

Mr. Mack S. Smith was appointed Superintendent of the Washington Veteran's Home August 15, 1942. Mr. Smith, a veteran of the Spanish American War, was appointed to the position of Superintendent following the death of Mr. R. E. Bucklin. Mr. Smith brings to the position the background of a successful business man, experience gained as Chairman of the Board of Olympic Hospital at Bremerton as well as five years as Chairman of the School Board at Kitsap Lake, Washington.

General Maurice Thompson was appointed Superintendent of the State Soldier's Home June 15, 1941. Prior to his appointment General Thompson was Adjutant General of the Military Department of the State of Washington.

2. PERSONNEL:

The personnel at both the Veteran institutions has been very trying. Particularly is this true at the Washington Veteran's Home due to the proximity of the Puget Sound Navy Yard. In order to cope with the competitive labor situation, the Committee recommends that wages at these institutions be raised as soon as funds are available.

3. GENERAL REMARKS:

During the investigation period, the Committee was aware of the action taken by the Department in transferring some fifty to sixty patients from the Western State Hospital to each of the two veteran homes. This transfer was made on a temporary basis and after a limited time the patients were returned to the Western State Hospital.

It is the Committee's understanding that veteran organizations in the state are planning to submit legislation prohibiting the housing of non-veterans in these institutions.

McKay Memorial Research Hospital

The McKay Memorial Research Hospital was taken over by the Army Air Corps on August 1, 1942, to be used as a base hospital for the Ephrata Army Air Base.

The institution was established by the legislature " . . . for the treatment and care of persons afflicted with Buerger's Disease, and for experimental and scientific study of such disease and the medicinal and curative properties of the waters of Soap Lake, and for general hospital care and treatment of indigent citizens of the State of Washington entitled to such service at public expense . . . "

For some months prior to the release of the institution for the use of the Army Air Corps there had been an average of only one to three Buerger's patients at the Hospital. Two Buerger's patients who were in the Hospital at the time it was turned over to the Air Corps were transferred to the Eastern State Hospital.

In the opinion of the Committee, the institution was too expensive to operate, and it is doubtful that its continuance can be justified at a later date for the purpose originally intended.

Scientific research in connection with Soap Lake Water was conducted by T. J. FATHEREE, M.D., former Superintendent of the McKay Memorial Research Hospital, and Cecil Hurst, M.D., formerly on the medical staff at the hospital. The results of their study are recorded in the August, 1941 edition of "The American Heart Journal." The title of the article which begins on page 180 is "The Spa Treatment of Thromboangiitis Obliterans." Their conclusions are given on page 194 of the article as follows:

(1) This study indicates that the spa treatment of thromboangiitis obliterans at Soap Lake, Washington, is not a specific treatment for this disease.

(2) The ulcerative and gangrenous lesions of the patients who were studied healed in a large percentage of cases.

The Committee plans to give this institution further study.

General Recommendations

1. ADMINISTRATION:

The Committee recommends that the Supervisor make every effort to fill administrative positions with thoroughly trained and experienced administrators.

2. CLASSIFICATION:

The Committee recommends that a standard method be applied in all the institutions as to classification. Since the basic problem is that of dealing with human beings, there should be a trained and qualified person employed in each institution whose responsibility is chiefly that of making an individualized study of all those admitted, planning their programs and arranging for their rehabilitation and return to society.

3. PERSONNEL:

It is the Committee's recommendation that wage adjustments be made so that proper personnel can be secured and held.

The Committee further recommends that an in-service training program be set up in each institution for the purpose of upgrading the personnel and building a foundation for a career service.

4. MEDICAL SERVICE:

The Committee concurs in the recommendations made by the Washington State Medical Association to effect proper medical standards in the institutions. Since the medical care and treatment, and preservation of health of the approximately 12,000 wards of the State is a major responsibility, the Committee feels that each institution should be equipped and staffed to meet the best modern medical standards. The Committee wishes to draw special attention to the importance of maintaining high standards of sanitation in these institutions, which can be largely accomplished by the employment of medical officers who would be interested in this matter as a question of public health.

5. EDUCATION:

In all of the State Institutions, education has a place. In some of the State's institutions the educational program is of paramount importance. It is the Committee's recommendation that every effort be made through proper employee recruitment, adjustment of wage standards and adequate appropriations, to improve the caliber of the teachers, the equipment and the general educational facilities, both academic and vocational.

6. FOOD MANAGEMENT:

The Committee believes that it is the responsibility of the State to provide adequate, well balanced diets for all the inmates in the State's institutions, and believes that this objective can be achieved only through high grade technical supervision both from the central office staff and from the individuals in charge of the several institutional feeding programs. The Committee, therefore, recommends the continued development of the food service supervision from the Olympia office and the employment of a well qualified and experienced nutritionist in each institution.

7. WORK PROGRAM:

For the purposes of rehabilitation, as a counter-action to the evil of idleness and as an outlet for excess energies, the Committee feels that work programs at the institutions are of inestimable value. The type of work program or occupational therapy varies with the different institutions, but it is the opinion of the Committee that an intelligent approach to this problem has been made through the use of farm operations, industrial operations, honor camps, occupational therapy projects, vocational training and the like.

The Committee recommends that these programs all be continued and, wherever possible, expanded to the end that in those institutions where work on the part of the inmates contribute to the objective of the institutions, that a program be developed to the point where every ward of the State be assigned definite duties and have definite responsibilities within the limits of individual capacities.

8. PHYSICAL PLANT:

In the opinion of the Committee one of the pressing needs of several of the state institutions is in this category. Particularly is this true with respect to the inadequacy of the ward buildings at the Western State Hospital and the Western State Custodial School. At several institutions there is an apparent need for additional housing facilities for employees, particularly Eastern State Hospital, Eastern State Custodial School and Western State Custodial School.

The Committee recommends that adequate appropriations be approved in the 1943 session of the Legislature so when labor and material are available this work may be started.

Senator Zednick moved that the thanks of the Senate be tendered to the State Charitable, Penal and Reformatory Interim Investigating Committee in appreciation for their thoroughly capable and painstaking discharge of their duties and for the concise, comprehensive and constructive report they have made to this 1943 Washington State Legislature; and that this report be accepted and referred to the Committee on Rules and Joint Rules for reference to such committees as are appropriate to consider the various recommendations.

"After much consideration it is the unanimous belief of members of your committee that the standing committees should be named by the Lieutenant Governor without interference from any group or faction.

"The Lieutenant Governor did a remarkably fair and able job of setting up committees in the first place, and your committee finds that it was not until various groups in the senate membership began to interfere in the selection that serious disagreement developed. Therefore, we have reached the conclusion to accept and recommend the committees as they were originally set up by the Lieutenant Governor."

SPECIAL ORDER

The Secretary read:

MESSAGES FROM THE GOVERNOR

State of Washington, Executive Department,
Olympia, March 21, 1941.

To the Honorable, The Senate of the State of Washington
(Through the Secretary of State)

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN:

I am filing herewith, to be transmitted to the Senate at the next session of the legislature, without my approval as to section 1, Senate Bill 154, entitled:

"An Act relating to the leasing of county property, apportioning the rentals, amending section 1, chapter LXXXVII, Laws of 1901 (section 4019, Remington's Revised Statutes) and amending section 1, chapter 162, Laws of 1913 (section 4022 of Remington's Revised Statutes) and declaring an emergency."

Section 1 of the above bill amends the present law relative to the authority of boards of county commissioners to lease county owned property by making the same applicable to tax acquired property as well as property owned by the county in its own right.

In the ownership of tax acquired property, the county holds the same as trustee and the proceeds of the sale of such property become trust funds for the benefit of the various tax distribution branches of the government.

I believe that it is in the public interest that tax title property be returned as rapidly as possible to the tax rolls and that this bill giving authority to county commissioners to lease such property for a year or term of years would serve to seriously retard return of such property to the tax rolls.

By vetoing section 1 of this bill, section 2 thereof, which extends the authority to lease county lands to cover sites for military purposes or for emergency housing, will still be operative in so far as lands owned outright by the county are concerned.

For this reason, section 1 is vetoed and the remainder of the bill is approved.

Respectfully submitted,

ARTHUR B. LANGLEIE, Governor.

On motion of Senator Stinson, the message and bill were referred to the Committee on Rules and Joint Rules.

State of Washington, Executive Department,
Olympia, March 21, 1941.

To the Honorable, The Senate of the State of Washington
(Through the Secretary of State)

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN:

I am filing herewith, to be transmitted to the Senate at the next session of the legislature, without my approval as to section 15, Senate Bill No. 262, entitled:

"An Act relating to revenue and taxation; providing for the levying and collection of an excise tax on the privilege of transferring property by gift, providing for penalties, and providing that this act shall take effect immediately."

Section 15 of the act provides "claims in abatement may be filed in respect of any assessment in respect of any tax imposed by this act."

As originally drawn by the Tax Commission, section 15 actually provided "No claim in abatement may be filed in respect of any assessment in respect of any tax imposed by this act."

An adequate remedy is afforded to the taxpayer by the act itself if he desires to question any gift tax assessment. The bill thus preserves to him his day in court and the method provided in the original form of the bill was intended to be exclusive.

If section 15, as amended subsequent to introduction of the bill, became a part of the law, any taxpayer could reopen his case after the assessment has become final. For this reason, section 15 is vetoed, and the remainder of the bill is approved.

Respectfully submitted,

ARTHUR B. LANGLEIE, Governor.

On motion of Senator Stinson, the message and bill were referred to the Committee on Rules and Joint Rules.

State of Washington, Executive Department,
Olympia, March 24, 1941

To the Honorable, The Senate of the State of Washington
(Through the Secretary of State)

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN:

I am filing herewith, to be transmitted to the Senate at the next session of the Legislature, without my approval as to section 4, Senate Bill No. 299, entitled:

"An Act relating to the administration of public lands of the state, reconstituting the board of state land commissioners and prescribing the powers and duties thereof, amending section 10, chapter 255, Laws of 1927 (section 7797-10, Remington's Revised Statutes) and section 23, chapter 255, Laws of 1927, as amended by section 1, chapter 136, Laws of 1935 (section 7797-23, Remington's Revised Statutes), making an appropriation and declaring an emergency."

Section 4 appropriates from the general fund the sum of $25,000 to carry out the provisions of section 3 of the bill.

It appears to me that the general budget for the office of the State Land Commissioner will be ample to care for any expenses incurred under section 3 and that it will not be necessary to make this special additional appropriation.

For this reason section 4 is vetoed and the remainder of the bill is approved.

Respectfully submitted,
ARTHUR B. LANGLEIE, Governor.

There being no objection, the message and bill were referred to the Committee on Rules and Joint Rules.

On motion of Senator Wall, further proceedings under the call of the Senate were dispensed with.

The Secretary read:

MESSAGES FROM THE GOVERNOR

State of Washington, Executive Department,
Olympia, March 25, 1941.

To the Honorable, The Senate of the State of Washington
(Through the Secretary of State)

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN:

I am filing herewith, to be transmitted to the Senate at the next session of the legislature, without my approval as to certain items, Senate Bill No. 30, entitled:

"An Act making appropriations for the payment of salaries of certain officers and employees of the state and for the operation, maintenance and other expenses of certain state institutions, departments and offices, for the purchase and improvement of land, the construction of buildings and improvements for the various state institutions designated and mentioned, and for emergencies, and for refunds, and for sundry civil expenses of the state government, and for public assistance, and for purposes specified in certain acts of Congress, and for miscellaneous purposes, for the fiscal biennium beginning April 1, 1941, and ending March 31, 1943, except as otherwise provided, and declaring that this act shall take effect immediately."

I disapprove and veto the item "Codifying and Printing Laws $6,000.00" for the reason that in my opinion sufficient funds are included in the increased appropriations for the State Auditor to carry on this work.

I disapprove and veto the item "National Defense and Other Activities: Salaries, Wages and Operations $30,600.00" as it is my understanding that this appropriation was to cover the supervisory and planning activities of the Superintendent of Public Instruction in connection with House Bill No. 1, which appropriates $3,000,000 for school buildings. The legislature, by amendment, has transferred the responsibility of administering such fund to the Social Security Board.

This item is therefore vetoed.

I disapprove and veto the item "Testing Blood Samples for Bang's Disease, Washington State College: Equipment and Operations, including salaries and wages $10,000.00." The Director of Agriculture advises me that the state has no need that would justify the establishment of such a laboratory at the Washington State College. At the present time blood samples are analyzed either at Puyallup or Olympia, and the facilities are adequate for the purpose.

I disapprove and veto the item "For the Social Security Committee $2,000,000.00. To be expended in accordance with the provisions of Chapter 205, Laws of 1939." This appropriation in the past has been expended largely for the construction of school buildings. The legislature by the enactment of House Bill No. 1, has provided $3,000,000 for such purpose.

I disapprove and veto the items "Legal Services: Salaries and Wages $13,600.00, Operations $750.00" for the reason that in my opinion the appropriation of $23,200 for salaries and wages and $1,500 for operations for legal services of the Tax Commission are sufficient to cover any probable expenditure for such services to this department.

With the exception of the foregoing items, which are vetoed, the remainder of Senate Bill No. 30 is approved.

Respectfully submitted,

ARTHUR B. LANGLE, Governor.

There being no objection, the message and bill were referred to the Committee on Rules and Joint Rules.

State of Washington, Executive Department,
Olympia, March 25, 1941.

To the Honorable, The Senate of the State of Washington
(Through the Secretary of State)

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN:

I am filing herewith, to be transmitted to the Senate at the next session of the legislature with my approval, except as to section 5, Senate Bill No. 323, entitled:

"An Act relating to and providing for aid to dependent children; and amending sections 1, 4 and 6 of chapter 114, Laws of 1937 (sections 9992-101, 9992-104, 9992-106, Remington's Revised Statutes) and declaring an emergency."

Section 5, which amends section 3 of chapter 114, Laws of 1937, has the effect of assigning a flat $17.50 rate as a basic need to each eligible child. Careful analysis of this amendment indicates that the mandatory assignment of $17.50 to each child will result in the State Department of Social Security spending approximately 50% of its appropriation on 40% of the case load, and consequently 50% on the other 60% of the case load.

The 40% case load, spoken of above, are families in which there are three or more children, oftentimes resulting in total grants to families far in excess of the budget used by the department in determining need, and because these larger amounts are required to be expended in these families, there is no opportunity to provide in excess of $17.50 for a one-child family, or in excess of $35.00, where there are two children. This may result in considerable hardship as it is quite obvious that a child and the relative with whom it lives, cannot be expected to live on $17.50 per month. In other words, this amendment allows the Department of Social Security no flexibility which is vitally necessary in meeting need where need exists.

Moreover, the amendment does not make it possible to receive any additional federal funds, resulting in what would seem to be an undesirable practice in the administration of the Aid to Dependent Children program.

I am advised that with the appropriation which is now available to the children's division from the state and federal funds, the Department of Social Security will be able, without the amendment provided in section 5, to meet the need where need exists and show at the end of the biennium that assistance has gone to dependent families on the basis of an average of $17.50 per child.

For these reasons, section 5 is vetoed, and the remainder of the bill is approved.

Respectfully submitted,

ARTHUR B. LANGLE, Governor.

State of Washington, Executive Department,
Olympia, March 25, 1941.

To the Honorable, The Senate of the State of Washington
(Through the Secretary of State)

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN:

I am filing herewith, to be transmitted to the Senate at the next session of the legislature, without my approval as to section 1, Senate Bill No. 135, entitled:

"An Act authorizing investments in obligations issued pursuant to the provisions of the Federal Home Loan Bank Act and of Title IV of the National Housing Act, and in shares, deposits, or accounts of any institution having the insurance protection provided by Title IV of the National Housing Act, and providing that such obligations, shares, deposits, or accounts may be used as collateral security for reserve funds and in lieu of bonds, recognizances, or undertakings."

Section 1 of the above bill reads in part as follows:

"SECTION 1. Every * * * bank, trust company and * * * shall have power to invest * * * in the shares, deposits or accounts of any institution wherever located to the extent insurance protection is provided by Title IV of the National Housing Act * * *"

Under the present law, banks are not permitted to purchase the shares of a savings and loan association. The above quoted portion of Section 1 would change the law and permit such purchases to be made. I am advised that the Acting Chief of the Division of Examination of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation has taken the position that such shares are not eligible bank assets and in instances where it has been found that such shares had been purchased by insured banks, the banks have been criticized because of such acquisition and instructed to dispose of them.

I am of the opinion that no wholesome purpose can be served by permitting commercial banks or trust companies to purchase shares in savings and loan associations as originally acquired investments and that the public would not be benefited thereby. Such reciprocal transactions between banks and savings and loan associations might bring about an inflationary tendency with respect to each type of institution.

For these reasons, Section 1 is vetoed and the remainder of the bill is approved.

Respectfully submitted,

ARTHUR B. LANGLIE, Governor.

Executive Department,
Olympia, March 25, 1941.

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN:

I am filing herewith, to be transmitted to the Senate at the next session of the legislature, without my approval as to certain items, Senate Bill No. 362, entitled:

"An Act relating to public highways and ferries; making appropriations therefor from the motor vehicle fund, the highway equipment fund and the highway safety fund, and declaring an emergency and that this act shall take effect April 1, 1941."

I disapprove and veto the item on page two, reading: "Puyallup to Sumner—$50,000." This item provides an appropriation for a section of Primary State Highway No. 5 now graded for a four-lane highway and on which pavement has been placed for two lanes. To provide for an additional two lanes of paving on this section would result in an isolated portion on the state system of four-lane pavement which should lead from the metropolitan center of Tacoma. Also additional facilities for bridging the Puyallup River in order to prevent a bottleneck should be constructed before constructing the additional two lanes between Puyallup and Sumner.

I disapprove and veto the item on page two, reading: "Discovery Bay—Admiral Point—Hood Canal (for survey, right of way, construction vicinity South Discovery Bay to vicinity Admiral Point on Hood Canal opposite Lofall)—$253,500." This item provides an appropriation for an entirely new road not a part of the state highway system or the existing county road system. The appropriation is insufficient to complete the construction between the termini indicated and no provision is made for maintenance after construction which must necessarily be performed by the county under existing statutes. The additional burden for maintenance on the county is not warranted as no definite service will be provided by the partial construction of the proposed road.

I disapprove and veto the item on page two—"Primary State Highway No. 17, Marblemount East—$100,000," which provides an appropriation to extend construction easterly from the end of present construction. No traffic can be accommodated through this expenditure and nothing of immediate value accomplished thereby. This expenditure is unnecessary at this time.

With the exception of the foregoing items, which are vetoed, the remainder of Senate Bill No. 362 is approved.

Respectfully submitted,

ARTHUR B. LANGLIE, Governor.

Executive Department,
Olympia, March 25, 1941.

To the Honorable, the Senate of the State of Washington
(Through the Secretary of State)

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN:

I am filing herewith, to be transmitted to the Senate at the next session of the legislature without my approval as to certain sections, Substitute Senate Bill No. 275, entitled:

"An Act relating to unemployment compensation, amending chapter 162 of the Laws of 1937, as amended by chapter 214 of the Laws of 1939, repealing sections 19, 22 and 23 of chapter 162 of the Laws of 1937 and section 17 of chapter 214 of the Laws of 1939, establishing liens and providing for the enforcement thereof."

Subparagraphs 19 (g) (1) and 19 (g) (5) of Section 14 appear to me to be too broad to permit of practicable administration. After these subparagraphs are vetoed, it is necessary to have the 1937 act with respect to this particular subject matter remain in force and effect. It is, therefore, also necessary to veto section 13 of the above bill, which section repeals section 19 of chapter 162 of the Laws of 1937.

For these reasons I veto section 13, and subparagraphs 19 (g) (1) and 19 (g) (5) of Section 14, and approve the remainder of the bill.

Respectfully submitted,

ARTHUR B. LANGLIE, Governor.

State of Washington, Executive Department,
Olympia, March 21, 1941.

To the Honorable, The Senate of the State of Washington
(Through the Secretary of State)

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN:

I am filing herewith to be transmitted to the Senate at the next session of the legislature without my approval, Senate Bill No. 8, entitled:

"An Act relating to community property, and amending section 2409, Code of Washington of 1881 (section 6892 of Remington's Revised Statutes; section 1433 of Pierce's Code) to limit the power of a husband in dealing with community personal property."

This bill has the effect of amending the long-standing community property laws of this state by adding a proviso to the effect that any grant or delegation of the management and control of the community personal property by the husband to another shall be void unless it is by instrument in writing signed and acknowledged by both husband and wife.

There is probably a need for some revision in the community property laws so that a way may be found to protect wives against occasional improvident and incompetent husbands due to the control vested in the latter with regard to community personal property. However, it is my opinion, and this is the view supported by some of the outstanding lawyers of the state and by members of the faculty of the University of Washington Law School, that this particular bill constitutes a far-reaching change in the concept of the community property law as it has been long established in the state; that it would, in effect, deprive the husband of the ability to carry on ordinary community business affairs.

The language "grant or delegation of management or control" is broad enough to cover any agency no matter how narrow its scope or how temporary its purpose. Moreover, the transaction requiring the wife's authority may by this bill be construed to become the wife's transaction and not solely a community undertaking, thus imposing upon the wife's separate estate a direct obligation.

The present community property law of the state has become well settled as a result of a long line of Supreme Court decisions. To now alter this statutory law in this fundamental respect would be to open the door to endless litigation in the process of establishing the court's interpretation of the new provision. In the meantime the full significance of the change would be a question of doubt, which would seriously hamper the ordinary and general commercial activity of the state.

For the above reasons, Senate Bill No. 8 is vetoed.

Respectfully submitted,

ARTHUR B. LANGLIE, Governor.

State of Washington, Executive Department,
Olympia, March 25, 1941.

To the Honorable, The Senate of the State of Washington
(Through the Secretary of State)

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN:

I am filing herewith, to be transmitted to the Senate at the next session of the legislature, without my approval, Senate Bill No. 17, entitled:

"An Act relating to intoxicating liquors and providing for the control and regulation of the traffic thereof."

I cannot give my approval to this measure because it is apparent that it eventually would inject political consideration into the purchase of liquors by the Washington State Liquor Control Board. There can be no valid reason to require manufacturers or importers to employ local representatives or "middlemen" because purchase orders are placed for deliveries over considerable periods of time and can be made directly with the liquor board.

The only basis for a company requiring a local representative would be because such agent had contacts with the board or one of its members. This would open the door to political abuses as well as increase retail prices paid by consumers.

For these reasons, Senate Bill No. 17 is vetoed.

Respectfully submitted,

ARTHUR B. LANGLE, Governor.

State of Washington, Executive Department,
Olympia, March 25, 1941.

To the Honorable, The Senate of the State of Washington
(Through the Secretary of State)

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN:

I am filing herewith to be transmitted to the Senate at the next session of the Legislature without my approval, Senate Bill No. 37, entitled:

"An Act relating to scholarships in the University of Washington and the State College of Washington; providing that certain students may be exempted from the payment of tuition and incidental fees."

It is my opinion that Senate Bill No. 37 sets up a scholarship program which adds to the financial burden of the state and sets up an improper basis for awarding scholarships, if a student's scholarship record, ability for leadership, and financial need is taken into consideration.

Assuming that the remission of tuition and incidental fees accomplished by such scholarships would average $60 per year, the total expense to the state, if this program was put into maximum operation would be $37,440 for the two higher educational institutions of the state annually.

This appears to me to be too great a sum to make available for this purpose, especially when these institutions have requirements in the way of equipment and other additional facilities which we are finding difficulty in meeting.

For these reasons, Senate Bill No. 37 is vetoed.

Sincerely yours,

ARTHUR B. LANGLE, Governor.

State of Washington, Executive Department,
Olympia, March 21, 1941.

To the Honorable, the Senate of the State of Washington
(Through the Secretary of State)

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN:

I am filing herewith, to be transmitted to the Senate at the next session of the legislature, without my approval, Senate Bill 171, entitled:

"An Act relating to intoxicating liquors, permitting the sale of beer and wine during the hours from midnight to 1 o'clock A. M., on Sundays, and amending chapter 62 of the Laws of 1933, Extraordinary Session, by adding a new section to be known as section 79-A."

I cannot give this proposed law my approval because I am convinced that any liberalization of the existing regulations governing the sale of wine and beer, would be against the public welfare. I am convinced that this measure must be regarded as an opening wedge for the eventual breakdown of the law preventing the sale of wine and beer on Sundays.

In disapproving this bill, I cannot disregard that the legislature wisely rejected repeated efforts during the session to remove all limitations on the sale of beer and wine on Sunday. In doing so, the legislators showed a keen appreciation for the reverence with which the people of the State of Washington regard the Sabbath. I feel that Senate Bill 171 is a compromise after the failure of the original attacks on the Sunday limitations. There can be no compromise with the principle that Sunday should be kept apart as a day of worship and wholesome diversion.

For these reasons I cannot approve Senate Bill 171, and it is hereby vetoed.

Respectfully submitted,

ARTHUR B. LANGLE, Governor.

State of Washington, Executive Department,
Olympia, March 25, 1941.

To the Honorable, the Senate of the State of Washington
(Through the Secretary of State)

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN:

I am filing herewith, to be transmitted to the Senate at the next session of the legislature, without my approval, Senate Bill No. 196, entitled:

"An Act relating to motor vehicles; providing for truck and trailer fees, and amending section 17, chapter 188, Laws of 1937 as amended by section 3, chapter 182, Laws of 1939 (section 6312-17 Remington's Revised Statutes, section 2696-708 Pierce's Code)."

Senate Bill No. 196 and House Bill No. 18 duplicate one another on many points. I have signed House Bill No. 18 and, therefore, believe that Senate Bill No. 196 is not essential, and am vetoing it.

Respectfully submitted,

ARTHUR B. LANGLE, Governor.

State of Washington, Executive Department,
Olympia, March 25, 1941.

To the Honorable, the Senate of the State of Washington
(Through the Secretary of State)

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN:

I am filing herewith, to be transmitted to the Senate at the next session of the legislature, without my approval, Senate Bill No. 212, entitled:

"An Act relating to maintenance of indigent non-violently insane persons committed to state hospitals for the insane, relieving counties of certain liabilities therefor and declaring an emergency, to take effect April 1, 1941."

This bill seeks to circumvent effect of recent Supreme Court decisions holding the counties liable for payment for nonviolent insane.

Some counties have been making regular payments for the years this bill seeks to set aside. Most of the other counties have funds on hand to pay amount due for the period. Some counties have collected statutory charges from relatives in cases where the court had previously held such relatives unable to pay and these counties have even failed, and refused, to turn in such funds to the state.

For these reasons, Senate Bill No. 212 is vetoed.

Respectfully submitted,

ARTHUR B. LANGLE, Governor.

State of Washington, Executive Department,
Olympia, March 25, 1941.

To the Honorable, the Senate of the State of Washington
(Through the Secretary of State)

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN:

I am filing herewith, to be transmitted to the Senate at the next session of the legislature, without my approval, Senate Bill No. 273, entitled:

"An Act relating to Firemen's Relief and Pension funds and creating an association in certain incorporated cities and towns; providing for the maintenance and distribution of such funds and designating the beneficiaries thereof, defining the powers and duties of certain officials and repealing chapter 50, Laws of 1909, chapter 196, Laws of 1919, chapter 86, Laws of 1929, and chapter 39, Laws of 1935 (sections 9559 to 9578, inclusive, Remington's Revised Statutes)."

Senate Bill No. 273 sets up a new and general firemen's relief and pension system for all of the cities and towns of the state. It attempts to finance the payments of pensions by means of a tax upon fire insurance premiums, a levy upon real property and contributions by firemen. I am convinced that the bill is not actuarially sound and if enacted into law new legislation would be required within six years to provide additional revenues.

The imposition of a new and additional tax through the 2 per cent surcharge on fire insurance premiums would constitute an additional financial burden upon every home owner and every building owner in the State of Washington.

Section 19 of the bill providing for a property levy of not to exceed one mill "in addition to the levy otherwise authorized" would seem to me to be in conflict with the 40-Mill-Limit law and therefore of no force and effect, since the 40-Mill-Limit law was enacted by initiative and may not be repealed or modified at this session of the legislature. If this portion of the revenue provisions of the bill is invalidated, the workability of the entire bill is of course seriously jeopardized.

It appears to me that several provisions of the bill are open to very serious legal objection. I make reference particularly to the provisions for the 2 per cent tax on gross premiums of fire insurance collected in each city having a pension fund. It is entirely possible that this would be regarded as an unreasonable classification of property for taxation. Other provisions of the bill purport to pre-empt all assets of existing funds, to assume all debts of existing funds, and to bring all present pensioners of existing funds under its terms. These provisions are of doubtful legality and would undoubtedly be the subject of extended litigation.

For these reasons, Senate Bill No. 273 is vetoed.

Respectfully submitted,

ARTHUR B. LANGLIE, Governor.

State of Washington, Executive Department,
Olympia, March 25, 1941.

*To the Honorable, the Senate of the State of Washington
(Through the Secretary of State)*

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN:

I am filing herewith, to be transmitted to the Senate at the next session of the Legislature, without my approval, Senate Bill No. 357, entitled: "An Act directing the Washington Toll Bridge Authority to reconstruct the Tacoma Narrows Bridge, and declaring an emergency."

This bill authorizes and directs the Washington Toll Bridge Authority to "reconstruct the Tacoma Narrows Bridge." Reconstruction of the old bridge and utilization of any of the remaining parts of that bridge may not be advisable and this bill, passed by the legislature, only complicates the problem of dealing with the claims arising out of the insurance contracts.

The Washington Toll Bridge Authority has all the power necessary to carry forward the construction of a new bridge as soon as such construction is possible and inasmuch as this bill may retard rather than promote such new construction, I am vetoing Senate Bill No. 357.

Respectfully submitted,

ARTHUR B. LANGLIE, Governor.

State of Washington, Executive Department,
Olympia, March 21, 1941.

*To the Honorable, the Senate of the State of Washington
(Through the Secretary of State)*

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN:

I am filing herewith, to be transmitted to the Senate at the next session of the legislature, without my approval, Senate Bill No. 391, entitled: "An Act relating to the removal of housing authority commissioners; and amending section 7, chapter 23, Laws of 1939 (section 6889-7, Remington's Revised Statutes; section 2746-107, Pierce's Code), and declaring an emergency."

Under the existing law, housing authority commissioners may be removed for inefficiency, neglect of duty, or misconduct in office by the appointing authority (the Mayor, or Board of County Commissioners, as the case may be) only after such appointees shall have been given a copy of the charges at least ten days prior to the hearing thereon and has had an opportunity to be heard in person or by counsel. A record of the proceedings, together with the charges and findings thereon, must be filed in the office of the clerk.

The above bill changes this procedure by providing that before any such housing authority commissioner can be removed there must be a summons and complaint filed in the Superior Court setting forth the facts charging the Commissioner with inefficiency, neglect of duty, or misconduct, and unless such charges are judicially sustained the appointing authority has no power to remove such appointees.

No similar provision is in force anywhere in the United States, the present law being in accordance with the statutes in general use on this subject. It would seem that housing authority commissioners should be responsible to their appointing officers, inasmuch as they are not responsible to the people through election. This bill would make it extremely difficult to remove such commissioners, and there might be many cases where removal would be justified, but where proof thereof could not be established through judicial proceedings.

While under the present law there is, of course, the possibility that competent housing authority commissioners might be removed for political or other insufficient reasons, the enactment of this bill might do more harm in the other direction by making it possible for incompetent housing authority commissioners to remain in office long past the term of office of the men who appointed them. By leaving such housing authority commissioners responsible to their appointing officers, as at present, the appointing authorities who are elected by the people will be responsible to the people for the competency and honesty of such appointees, a result which is certainly to be desired.

Respectfully submitted,

ARTHUR B. LANGLEY, Governor.

There being no objection, the messages and bills were referred to the Committee on Rules and Joint Rules.

The following is a report from the Commission Veterinarian, Dr. Carl A. Schneider:

The following is a resume of the saliva and urine collection for the race season of 1942.

The routine work consisted of the regular collection of saliva samples, taken from the winner in each race. These were sent by express to the laboratory located at the State College of Washington, Pullman, Wash., at the end of each day. An average of eight regular samples each race of the day were sent in, as well as five request samples taken at the suggestion of the Presiding Steward of the Washington Race Horse Commission, Mr. Al Hardy. These were requested because of excessive excitement and unruliness, causing a belief that a stimulating drug may have been administered.

Urine samples were collected throughout the season, but special effort was made toward the close of the season as the urine is more sensitive to the chemical reagents used.

To my knowledge there were no drugs found in any of the samples collected.

Daily examinations were made previous to the starting time of the races in order to withhold any horses that might have been a detriment and hazard to the personnel and horses of the individual race to be run.

Many examinations were made as the animals were in the paddock to determine soundness for the run. There were no horses allowed to leave the paddock for the track that exhibited any lameness.

In order to further the testing I would like to suggest a minor change in the system of sample collection.

As urine samples are more sensitive to the chemical reagents an assistant in the backstretch collecting as many as possible would aid the procedure. This would give several samples each day and do away with the hit and miss chance of gathering samples as in the past.

CARL A. SCHNEIDER, D. V. M.

SALIVA TEST AND COMMISSION LABORATORY

Since the adoption of the saliva test system by this Commission for the detection of drugs, there has been a steady decline in the number of incidents involving the use of stimulating or depressant drugs. Many of these are new in the field of Pharmaceutical Research and are available to persons that might wish to tamper with the thoroughbred race horse.

Saliva and urine samples were drawn under the supervision of and administered by the Commission Veterinarian. The samples collected daily were sent to the testing laboratory and checked in the regular procedure, as in the past.

New quarters are to be provided for the Commission Laboratory in the new Veterinary Building, Washington State College, Pullman, Washington, which will allow a closer contact with the College of Veterinary Medicine. The Commission extends their appreciation to Dean E. E. Wegner for his efforts toward accomplishing this close cooperation; also, to Dean C. C. Todd for the Department of Chemistry and Chemical Engineering at Washington State College for his assistance with the research carried on during the past biennium.

Before the beginning of each race season a report of the research work for the year is deposited with the Commission for reference. This contains the work and results found by the Veterinarian and Chemist employed under the research and experimental program of 1939. New drugs are tested for clinical symptoms and chemical tests evolved to detect such drugs eliminated from the body excretions of the test animals

Continuation of a close contact is being maintained by the Chemist and Veterinarian with other laboratories that are employed in a similar type of work. This enables further advancement without many repetitions and promotes faster results in this particular field.

CARL A. SCHNEIDER, D. V. M.

To His Excellency, Arthur B. Langlie, Governor of Washington, and To the Honorable, The Members of the Twenty-eighth Legislature State of Washington.

SIRS: Your present Racing Commission, taking office June 7, 1941, has made a sincere effort to administer the State of Washington Horse Racing Act and the Jockey Club rules of racing. Considerable personal effort and supervision beyond the normal expectancy of such positions have been spent by all the Commissioners to see that the public is protected in every manner. We have attempted to apply all rules strictly. The officials of racing have been selected on the basis of their professional qualifications and integrity, and have done a good job. The quality of racing has definitely improved. The totalisator and calculation methods are under constant supervision of a certified public accountant. The latest methods of racing inspection-starting, timing, horseshoeing and photo-finish are in effect at the Longacres track.

The Washington State Patrol officials have given us excellent policing and have performed their duties such as to receive favorable commendation from the patrons of the track, officials, citizens, and the horsemen.

The commission is desirous of fostering and aiding in every way the interests of light horse breeding, and the Thoroughbred Breeders' Association of this state. The number of farmers and individuals now breeding thoroughbreds in this state has markedly increased, adding a new potential industry of some magnitude. Two new Washington bred stakes were added this season, carrying added stake value.

There were three charity races in the Longacres season for the benefit of the American Red Cross and Navy and Army relief, resulting in a total outright gift of $106,492.02 to these groups. This represents the largest proportionate gift per capita race fan of any citizenry in the country, of which the State of Washington should be justly proud. This does not include moneys raised for the purchase of war bonds.

This Commission has found the association with the Veterinary and Chemistry departments at the Washington State College a highly satisfactory arrangement since it provides adequate impartial control over the veterinary inspection and the chemical analyses of the saliva and urine. Research continues in our own laboratory room at the college and the efforts of these scientists will no doubt add to the storehouse of knowledge in this science. Suffice to say, that in two seasons we have not had reports of drug administration to any animal.

You will note from the financial reports that the costs of racing administration have been materially reduced.

The Commission invites your constructive criticism and suggestions.

Respectfully submitted,

DR. MILLARD T. NELSON, Chairman.

In accordance with the House Joint Resolution No. 21 creating a Joint Interim Legislative Committee relating to preserving the resources and beauty of the Columbia River area, it was felt by both the Oregon and Washington members that we might well review the steps necessary to protect and conserve the bounteous gifts nature had given to this area.

The Secretary read:

REPORT OF THE INTERSTATE JOINT INTERIM LEGISLATIVE COMMITTEE

Relating to Problems of the Interstate Columbia River Area

December, 1942.

To the Legislatures of the State of Washington and of the State of Oregon:

Foreword

The Interstate Joint Interim Legislative Committee relating to the problems of the interstate Columbia River area was created by House Joint Resolution No. 21 of the Twenty-seventh Session of the Washington Legislature and Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 8 of the Forty-first Session of the Oregon Legislative Assembly.

The duties and powers of the Committee are as follows:

OREGON . . . "To meet with a similar interim committee of the . . . Washington for . . . holding hearings, making surveys and conducting research as to the needs of the people and the various interests represented within the interstate area of the Columbia River and as to the existing laws and regulatory measures . . . and to bring before the legislative bodies of the two states in 1943 definite legislative proposals for the solution of development and conservation problems;"

WASHINGTON . . . "empowered with a similar committee from Oregon to hold hearings, to make surveys, to conduct research, to determine the needs of the people and the various interests represented in the interstate area of the Columbia River, to study and digest existing laws and regulatory measures affecting the problem and to make a mutual report, including therein recommendations for legislation for the consideration of the 1943 legislative sessions of the respective states;"

The members of the Committee are as follows:

From Washington: ①

Senator Charles F. Stinson, Pasco
 Senator Robert R. Ray, Vancouver
 Representative Marion Sexton, Vancouver
 Representative V. G. Backman, Pasco ②
 Representative Al Henry, Klickitat

From Oregon: ①

Senator Coe A. McKenna, Portland
 Senator P. J. Stadelman, The Dalles.
 Representative Donald E. Heisler, The Dalles
 Representative E. Riddell Lage, Hood River
 Representative Stanhope S. Pier, Portland

Recommendations:

The Interstate Joint Interim Legislative Committee defined "the interstate area of the Columbia River" as reaching from the mouth of the Columbia to the point south of Wallula where the Columbia River ceases to be the boundary line between Washington and Oregon. The problems of this area were then approached from the point of view that industry should be given every encouragement, but that care should be taken in choosing industrial locations so that adverse public opinion would not develop in later years and hamper industrial operations. The laws of both states relating to regulation of land use were studied. While Washington has laws empowering cities and counties to enact urban and rural land zoning③ and platting and subdivision regulations,④ Oregon's similar laws⑤ apply only to cities. After holding six public hearings and several executive meetings to study the results of these hearings and reports submitted, the Committee finds

For Washington and Oregon:

- (1) That uniform laws uniformly imposed would be the most desirable procedure for the solution of the problems relating to the conservation of the scenic resources and to the industrial development of the interstate Columbia River area.
- (2) That a joint memorial be sent to the Congress from the legislatures of the states of Oregon and Washington urging the Federal Government immediately to assume the responsibility for controlling pollution from war industries, military establishments, housing projects and other sources of contamination along the Columbia River and its tributaries so that the public may enjoy the full use of these waters for domestic, industrial and recreational purposes and that fish life may be perpetuated.

For Washington:

- (1) That the creation of county planning commissions be encouraged.
- (2) That county planning commissions be required to secure the advice of the State Planning Council regarding zoning regulations in order that as much uniformity as possible may be obtained.

① At the first meeting of the Committee on July 11, 1941, Mr. P. Hetherton, Executive Officer of the Washington State Planning Council and Mr. David Eccles, Executive Secretary to the Governor of Oregon were appointed active members with the power to vote and sit in on all committees.

② Dr. V. C. Backman's leave of absence for military service was granted in April, 1941, and Speaker Edward J. Reilly agreed to serve in his stead.

③ Laws of Washington, 1935, Chapter 44.

④ Laws of Washington, 1937, Chapter 186.

⑤ Reference.

- (3) That boards of county commissioners be given express power to adopt and enforce building and housing codes, and health and sanitary regulations.
- (4) That the policy of the Bonneville Power Administration in refusing power to any industry which proposes to locate in a non-industrial zone, be endorsed.
- (5) That all cities, counties, industrial plants and others located on the Columbia River and its tributaries be required to include the construction of disposal plants for sewage and waste in their post-war programs.

For Oregon:

- (1) That the establishment of county planning commissions be encouraged.
- (2) That legislation be enacted to permit zoning and platting and subdivision regulations in both cities and counties.
- (3) That county commissioners be given express power to adopt and enforce building and housing codes, and health and sanitary regulations.
- (4) That the policy of the Bonneville Power Administration in refusing power to any industry which proposes to locate in a non-industrial zone, be endorsed.
- (5) That all cities, counties, industrial plants and others located on the Columbia River and its tributaries be required to include the construction of disposal plants for sewage and waste in their post-war programs.

SENATE RESOLUTION

By Senator Mohler.

Be It Resolved By the Senate of the State of Washington in Legislative Session Assembled:

WHEREAS, there have been public disclosures that a great many convicts who previously have been sentenced to life in the State Penitentiary at Walla Walla for the crime of murder and as habitual criminals have had their life terms commuted to designated periods less than life, and have been released from the aforesaid penitentiary; and at the present time there exists confusion in the minds of the public and the members of the Senate as to the powers of the Board of Prison, Terms and Paroles in commuting any life sentence, and the legality of the Board of Prison, Terms and Paroles to act at all or in any event; and

WHEREAS, there is a serious question of law as to the power or legal authority of the Board of Prison, Terms and Paroles to take such action as they are reputed to have taken or whether it lies entirely within the power of the Governor of the State of Washington, and no one else, to act in the matter of pardoning such convicts; and

WHEREAS, the members of the Senate and the public generally are vitally concerned over the actions of the Governor and the Board of Prison, Terms and Paroles; and

WHEREAS, a full, thorough and complete investigation is desired on the part of the members of the Senate to the ends that justice may prevail and the question be settled in the minds of the members of the Senate and of the public generally;

Now, Therefore Be It Resolved, That a committee of the Senate be forthwith appointed by the Lieutenant Governor of the State of Washington consisting of five (5) members of the Senate for the purpose of conducting a full, complete and thorough investigation concerning all matters and things pertaining to the commutation of sentences for convicts sentenced to the Washington State Penitentiary for life or who are sentenced to life having been adjudged habitual criminals and the legal rights of the Governor of the State of Washington or the Board of Prison, Terms and Paroles to act in such matter; and

Be It Further Resolved, That said committee shall be authorized to employ counsel, stenographers, reporters and investigators, to engage clerical help, subpoena and examine witnesses under oath, compel the production of books, papers and records, compel all state officials as deemed necessary by said committee to appear before said investigating committee and then and there give testimony under oath; and

Be It Further Resolved, That said investigating committee shall immediately upon its appointment proceed with said investigation and on or before the 10th day of February, 1943, report its findings and recommendations to the Senate setting forth in detail all matters which said committee deem material for the information of the Senate, and such further action as may be deemed necessary on the part of the Senate; and

Be It Further Resolved, That the expenses of said committee be paid from moneys appropriated for the expenses of this Twenty-eighth Session of the Legislature: Provided, however, That the total amount which shall be expended by this committee in carrying out its duties under this resolution shall not exceed the sum of five hundred dollars ($500) or so much thereof as may be necessary.

SENATE RESOLUTION

By Senators Todd and Rabbitt.

Be It Resolved by the Senate of the State of Washington in Legislative Session Assembled:

WHEREAS, Forty per cent (40%) of the more than thirty thousand (30,000) workers in the aircraft industry in the State of Washington are today receiving the sub-standard hiring-in wage of sixty two and one-half cents (62½¢) an hour, which is the wage they have been receiving since 1938, despite a forty per cent (40%) increase in food costs in the Puget Sound area and other comparable increases in the cost of living;

WHEREAS, This condition has caused a ninety-four per cent (94%) labor turnover in the aircraft industry in nine months with consequent harm to production, aggravation of housing, transportation and labor migration problems;

WHEREAS, Paul Porter, of the sub-committee of the War Labor Board which first heard the case of the aircraft workers for wage stabilization, has recommended to the National War Labor Board, headed by William Davis, that a two and one-half cents (2½¢) an hour hiring-in wage raise be granted the aircraft workers, which would make the wage sixty five cents (65c) an hour or thirty cents (30c) an hour less than the minimum wage paid in the ship building industry and which disparity, if permitted to continue to exist, would correct none of the iniquities of the existing wage of the evils attendant thereto;

Now, Therefore, Be It Resolved, That the State of Washington respectfully petition the National War Labor Board to grant the aircraft workers an equitable wage increase which will compare favorably with the wages paid in other war industries and permit the workers a standard of living commensurate with their production; and

Be It Further Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be immediately sent to the National War Labor Board.

SPECIAL MESSAGE

The Secretary read:

1515 Smith Tower
Seattle, Washington,
February 1, 1943

To The Honorable Members of The Senate:

I herewith respectfully submit a report to the Senate of the State of Washington covering the activities of the State Dairy Products Commission, which covers the period of the two years since a last report to the Legislature.

Respectfully,
STATE DAIRY PRODUCTS COMMISSION,
By: /s/ DR. ROBERT PRYOR.

The Secretary read:

REPORT OF WASHINGTON STATE DAIRY PRODUCTS COMMISSION TO THE SENATE AS PER REQUEST OF RESOLUTION SENATOR KEBEL MURPHY, 1943 SESSION

In compliance with Senate Resolution, the Washington State Dairy Products Commission is making the following report.

This first came to our attention on January 25th, 1943, the same report being requested by the Senate not later than January 30th, making time for a complete audit out of the question. We are giving you the facts requested in your Resolution and hope that it will meet the practical requirements. However, if an extension of time may be granted, the Commission would be glad to give a complete audit.

Explanation of operating statement as contained in said report, from June 15th, 1939, up to and including December 31st, 1942, is as follows:

RECEIPTS:

1. Loan from bank. A loan from the National Bank of Commerce, Seattle, Washington, was negotiated by the Commissioner to cover expense of purchasing office furniture, supplies, to pay rent, set up a bookkeeping and reporting system. This loan was repaid out of assessments as soon as they were paid into the treasury.

2. Materials sold. This was a small amount of material that we ordered for one of the creameries during Dairy Month, June of 1940, and was really a reimbursement from a manufacturer and distributor who was not contributing to the fund.

3. Assessments. The total amount in assessments for the period June 15th, 1939, to and including December 31st, 1942, was $263,318.57.

4. Total cash received. Total cash received from organization of the Commission on June 15th, 1939 as provided by Chapter 219, Session Laws of 1939, has been $265,-325.77.

DISBURSEMENTS:

5. Advertising. Advertising has included our participation in the national program in which at the beginning there were six states cooperating under the national organization, known as the American Dairy Association. Our proportion of the producers' funds in Washington paid into this organization was arrived at on the basis of the relationship of fat production in the State of Washington to that of the other states participating, and amounted to 6.8819%. In other words, Wisconsin with its four hundred and ten million pounds of fat and Washington with eighty-four million pounds of fat, both pay their pro rated amounts into the national fund. This was considered equitable, in which all producing interests paid proportionately for the services rendered by the national organization. This is paid monthly, under a signed agreement between the Washington State Dairy Products Commission and the American Dairy Association and runs until August 7th, 1943. We still have approximately seventeen thousand five hundred dollars to pay on this contract to its maturity date, however, it will be the percentage of actual expenditures by the national organization at the rate noted above.

6. Books and periodicals. This item of $29.00 is to cover subscriptions to farm magazines, trade journals, etc., since the Act became effective.

7. Commissioners. This item covers the per diem allowed by the Act for commission meetings during the period since the Act became effective, at the rate of ten dollars per diem for time actually in attendance at commission meetings. There are five commissioners who receive this per diem and we average about one meeting per month. However, meetings are not on regular dates but on call by the secretary.

8. Educational expenses. Our educational division is directed by Mrs. Margaret Hannay and we have offices in Seattle, Spokane and Tacoma. The work of this division is nutritional education in which we are cooperating with schools, service clubs, parents and teachers organizations, with the state and national nutritional committees, and our director, Mrs. Hannay, is on the national committee of 3 for the preparation of supplemental educational and teaching materials for use in the schools, colleges and similar institutions as well as with consumer groups in a nation-wide program of meals that measure up according to their nutritional value, and is very important at this time to further the war effort. We have four nutritionists in this field who cover the entire state, all of whom are graduates of our colleges and universities in home economics and nutritional department, and are doing a wonderful work.

Material. These materials are secured from organizations in which we participate in the creation and which are produced en masse, thus making them less expensive than if they were produced in small quantities. In fact, they are produced on a national basis.

Freight and express. This is freight and express paid on materials and equipment for the educational division which results from materials being shipped into the offices and that shipped out to cooperating agencies for distribution and use.

Material. $18,691.50 is monies expended for above described material which includes educational films for distribution by the educational division. All of our educational material before being placed must have the approval of our educational authorities in the districts like county superintendents of schools, city superintendents and superintendent of public instruction, and is now being used throughout the school system of the State of Washington from the primary grades up through the high schools and is designed to educate the scholars to the value of milk and milk products in the diet and also the necessity of a balanced diet which may include other foods.

Office supplies. Office supplies for this division, $2,986.45, are for the keeping of records, stationery, etc., necessary to the conduct of any office of this type.

Postage. $2,340.38 is largely for the mailing of materials out to our distribution system, the mails being used where the cost is less than it would be by freight or express.

Salaries, nutritionists. These range from $135.00 to $255.00 per month and there are now four persons on this list, a third office having been opened in Tacoma.

Salaries of the office, amounting to $10,404.90, is for the secretarial, stenographic and stock room help necessary to the proper and speedy functioning of the office and duties delegated to these persons.

Travel expense in this division of $4,360.78, is the necessary travel in attending meetings of the home economics groups, trade association groups, attending school institutes, county and city, but does not include travel expense outside of the state paid by our director who is a member of the national nutritional committee and which travel expense is paid by the national organization where it has to do with the creation of materials and the production of the same.

9. General expense. This covers a listing of items which are carried on our ledger like towel supply, bank services and collection charges, collection of delinquent accounts, mimeographing of special reports, lettering on doors, and such items as would not properly classify under the other headings.

10. Insurance. This includes premium on insurance of accounts and premium on the manager's twenty-thousand dollar fidelity bond and bond of the assistant secretary.

11. Interest. This was interest on the original loan of $2,000.00.

12. Legal and auditing. We have a certified public accountant check our books monthly and until the Act was passed providing legal advice from the Attorney General's office, we had the firm of MacBride & Williams as our legal advisors for the first two years we operated. Since the Act became effective we have used the Attorney General's office without any further outlay of cash for legal services.

13. Loan repaid. This was the original $2,000.00 borrowed from the National Bank of Commerce by the Commission to purchase office equipment, supplies, and set up the office.

14. Office furniture and equipment. This is contained on a list attached to this report.

15. Office supplies and stationery includes letter paper, letterheads, envelopes, carbon paper, typewriter ribbons, pencils, ink, report forms and receipts and such other material as would obviously come under this heading.

16. Postage. This covers the executive office only and does not include the previous postage item which was reported under our educational division.

17. Publication of legal notices is the amount charged by the two newspapers which are required to publish all regulations promulgated by the Commission.

18. Rent is for the executive offices in the Smith Tower, for the period at the rate of $60.00 and $66.00 per month, the 10% raise having taken place during the past year.

19. Research fellowship is the part of our participation in a joint research being conducted in the Dairy Chemistry Division of the Washington State College at Pullman. The cooperating organizations are the Dry Milk Institute, the Division of Dairying of the Washington State College and the Washington State Dairy Products Commission.

20. Salary of manager is self-explanatory and is for three years, six and one-half months.

21. The office salary is for the office secretary and such additional help as we have to employ from time to time to get out special reports and materials.

22. Telephone and telegraph includes our regular service charge on the phone at the rate of $12.00 per month and is for three and one-half years, plus long distance and telegraph charges.

23. Travel of commissioners is travel incident to attending commission meetings.

24. Travel of the manager includes use of privately owned automobile at four cents per mile and such other transportation charges as is necessary for the manager to properly conduct the business of the organization.

25. The total expenditures for all purposes from June 15th, 1939 to and including December 31st, 1942, is $203,782.55. This leaves a balance of cash on hand, December 31st, 1942, of $61,543.22, of which there is a commitment unpaid to the American Dairy Association for advertising, publicity, etc. of approximately $17,500.00 and is due in monthly payments as previously explained and runs to August 7th, 1943. We also have a commitment to the newspapers of the State of Washington for our January 1943 advertising of approximately $5,100.00, and the educational division is committed to the supplying of school and educational materials in the amount of an additional $12,000.00. However, with the balance on hand the Commission felt justified in reducing the assessment rate as of December 1st, 1942, to one-half of the amount collected during the previous year. We also anticipate a lesser production of butterfat during the coming year than was produced in 1942, however, the change in program of advertising from the product to production and consumer relations, will assist in the war effort. We have always given a general service to the producing dairy interests on all matters which have come up relative to transportation, transportation rates, labor, selective service, price administration, employment and consumer relations, and this latter is the big job we are carrying on at the moment in order that we may be able to hold the markets that we have developed to the time when peace is declared and we will need our dairy products market. It is much easier to attempt the holding of these markets by proper consumer relations and explanations than to try to re-develop them when the war is over. We know that the American public is quick to forget.

The Commission regrets that we do not have an uptodate audit to submit nor is time allowed to make one to comply with the Senate's request. However, we would welcome an investigation of our offices and methods of expending the dairy producer's money to stimulate their demand and to solve the pressing problems which will stimulate expansion of dairying in the State of Washington as provided by Chapter 219, Session Laws of 1939.

The manager of the Commission would be glad and willing to at any time appear and make further explanations if necessary.

This respectfully submitted this 30th day of January, 1943, in compliance with Senate resolution which bears neither number nor date of passage.

SPECIAL MESSAGES

United States Senate, Committee on Patents,
January 23, 1943.

The President Washington State Senate, Olympia, Washington.

DEAR SR: I am pleased to present to you a petition from the entire Congressional delegation of the State of Washington urging the Legislature of the State of Washington to pass Initiative 12 now pending before the Legislature. The reasons assigned for this request are set forth in our petition. We hope that Initiative 12 will be speedily enacted into law.

Respectfully yours,

HOMER T. BONE, United States Senator.

Enclosure.

The Secretary read:

United States Senate, Committee on Patents,
January 23, 1943.

To the Members of the Washington State Legislature:

The Washington State Delegation in Congress all joined in sponsoring Initiative 12 by signing the petition requesting the Legislature to pass it. The Federal Government has made a vast investment in two great electric generating plants on the Columbia River, and this investment was made with the approval of the people of our state. We believe that it was their desire that the blessings of cheap electricity should, as far as possible, be brought to every home in the State of Washington.

Our people have previously approved, on several occasions, legislation looking to the development of power systems under public auspices. Initiative 12 merely seeks to further implement this program. By the adoption of Initiative 12 at the present session, the Legislature of our state will have taken a great step forward in further carrying out the desires of the people expressed at the ballot box.

Because of our united support of Initiative 12, and because we desire to cooperate in the Federal power program which has so benefited our state and enabled it to make a contribution to the war effort of incalculable value, we sincerely urge our State Legislature to pass Initiative 12. We believe that its passage will serve the best interests of our people and enable them to make a still greater contribution to the war effort. We suggest this in light of the fact that the presence of great power plants like Bonneville and Grand Coulee have been the backbone of a large number of the most important and essential war industries in our section.

In this request we seek to make plain the fact that we are endeavoring to cooperate with the Federal Government in the essential purposes underlying the creation of the Federal power projects on the Columbia River.

Very sincerely,

REPORT OF THE SPECIAL COMMITTEE ON THE INVESTIGATION OF THE UNIVERSITY OF WASHINGTON METROPOLITAN TRACT LEASE

Your special committee on the investigation of the University of Washington Metropolitan Building Company lease respectfully reports:

In view of the fact that more than ten years remain before the expiration of the lease, we have concluded that under present abnormal conditions it would be unwise and premature to formulate any plan for utilization of the property when the lease expires.

It will be necessary, however, that arrangements be concluded far enough in advance of the termination of the lease to assure continued maintenance and management, particularly in regard to sub-leases. We therefore recommend that at least five years before the expiration date, the Board of Regents of the University of Washington take appropriate action regarding the re-leasing or other disposition to be made of the property, and submit the same to the ensuing session of the Legislature in accordance with Chapter 44 of the Laws of 1923.

Senator McCutcheon addressed the joint assembly as follows:

MR. CHAIRMAN, FELLOW MEMBERS OF THE LEGISLATURE:

We are met here today in Joint Session to honor the memory of those former members of the House and Senate, who have passed away since our last session. We are met in the presence of their immediate families, relatives and friends, who also have come here today to do them honor, by being present at this ceremony. It is entirely fitting and proper that we should do this on the birthday of Abraham Lincoln.

The greatest teacher of all time and of all ages said: "Love thy neighbor as thyself."

We all see life from a different background of environment. The business man sees life through the business man's outlook. His problems naturally take all his time and energy and affect his point of view. The same is true of the doctor, the lawyer or any other professional man. Their own problems are most important ones to them. The laborer toils from day to day and thinks about the problems of his immediate environment and occupation. In every walk of life men and women strive and work to support their families, their relatives and their friends. These are indeed high virtues, without which our state and nation could not survive; but the profession which has the greatest dignity and merit is that of the person who serves the man and woman he never sees, whom he may never know, whose voice he may never hear and whose hand he may never touch. Such is the service given by those who serve and have served in this legislature. The legislator thinks of the welfare and serves not only the man and woman he never sees and may never meet face to face, but also strives to cling to principles he sincerely believes will bring the greatest good to the greatest number and strains his ear to catch the call of the distressed, whose distant voice is often drowned out in the welter and confusion of this our life. He seeks the light sometimes with conscience torn by doubt. Oftentimes he is forced to make decisions without all the facts at hand. He is often misunderstood and villified by those he seeks to serve. His tools have been and will always be an understanding mind and heart and good judgment; his test of manhood, moral courage in the midst of a clash of wills, ambition, conflicting interests and ideas. He risks losing lifelong friendships. His call of duty leaves no other choice as government of and by the people can only come through us.

Such is the service that has been given by those men and women in whose memory we pause today. Because they lived, and served and died, we pause today and again remember the high dignity of our calling.

No man who has ever served in either branch of this legislature has failed to be impressed by the fact that his fellow member is a little different, than the average man or woman whose energy and time are absorbed by their ordinary pursuits. The characters of these men have not been molded in any standard pattern but they are indeed individuals from every walk of life. Those who served here have caught a glimpse of something bigger than themselves, or their own particular surroundings. They have visioned the state as Justice Blindfolded holding even the scales of Justice.

The men and women in whose memory we meet today knew that mankind was forced to band itself together and pass laws for its own self preservation. They sensed that our state is made up of many kinds and conditions of men and women, of varying religions, that we represent not a class, but a common denominator.

They knew that men and women earn their living and advance the general welfare in a multitude of ways, and that each, individually and collectively, are entitled to be given consideration at our hands and that none should be allowed an unfair advantage. They also realized that mankind does not live by bread alone, and that the cultural side of life must not be forgotten. That human beings live and grow, nurtured by truth and culture and courage and fair dealing. That you can honestly differ with a man and hold his friendship.

Those men who sat in this place, had an ideal, to which as a body we must always strive to live up to. That is to struggle to keep alive that small spark of celestial fire known as conscience; to strive to look at the whole picture at all times no matter how we may be pulled and hauled and importuned, and do right as we see it between man and man.

The sovereign state of which we are a part, represents something much bigger than any one of us or any single interest. Our coming and going are but incidents in its history.

Those members of the House and Senate who have passed from our midst, would now tell us if they could speak, that civic virtue is the highest virtue and the cornerstone of our institutions.

Here where it may be that, invoked by the love of their families and friends their spirits hover near us, let us draw new faith and hope and courage for the tasks ahead, and we shall not lose heart or waiver or falter or fail.

The following eulogies were ordered printed in the Journal:

Representative Ernest W. Lennart delivered the following eulogy on the life of former Senator Edward J. Cleary:

Senator Edward J. Cleary, for twenty years a member of the Washington State Senate, passed away April 5, 1942, at the family home in Bellingham.

Surviving him are his widow, May B. Cleary, and three daughters, Mrs. Amy Fisher of Seattle, Mrs. Mabel Trafton, Anchorage, Alaska, and Mrs. Bernice Cone of Custer, Washington.

For over thirty years Senator Cleary held a prominent place in the public life of his state and community.

Before the consolidation of the pioneer towns on Bellingham Bay to form the present city of Bellingham, Senator Cleary was a member of the City Council of the Town of Fairhaven. In 1904, when Bellingham became a first-class city, he continued as councilman of the new city. In 1911 he was elected Mayor of Bellingham, voluntarily retiring at the end of his term two years later.

Unwilling not to avail themselves of his talents, the people of Bellingham elected Mr. Cleary to the State Senate in 1914. From that date until his retirement in 1934, Senator Cleary was a prominent and influential member of this body. As a member of the Senate, Mr. Cleary's interests were, largely, better schools, better roads, and improvement in methods of taxation. He served, among others, as chairman of the committees on Cities of the First Class and Revenue and Taxation. He had much to do with the shaping of the revenue and local improvement laws under which our cities operate.

Without disparaging the many able men who sat with him in these legislative halls, it may be truly said that our better school system, our great institutions of higher learning, particularly the Western Washington College of Education at Bellingham, owe much to Senator Cleary's vision and courage. He saw the need of our monumental highways. He worked always for their building. These necessary things of progress are the true monuments of a lawmaker of splendid zeal and great talent.

Recognized by all as one of the ablest legislators of his period, Senator Cleary was loved and respected for his forthright and frank integrity of purpose and expression. In 1925 the Senate elected him as President pro tempore. He served in that capacity also during the 1925 extraordinary session.

Early in life Mr. Cleary came west from his native Wisconsin, where he was born at Briggsville, July 17, 1866. During his whole life in the new State of Washington, Mr. Cleary was engaged in some phase of the lumber or shingle business. He became an authority on these basic industries and both in public and private life his advice thereon was often sought.

In private life Senator Cleary was a kind and generous husband and father and a helpful friend. Afflicted by a painful malady, he bore the sufferings of his later years with a fortitude and understanding, inspiring to his family and to those friends who were privileged to know him well and love him greatly.

Senator Victor Zednick delivered the following eulogy on the life of former Senator James A. Ghent:

It was my privilege to know Dr. James A. Ghent intimately for many years. He and I served together in the state House of Representatives in the session of 1911. He was a member of the State Senate in 1915 and 1917, while I was still a member of the House.

Dr. Ghent was a conscientious, hard-working legislator, responsive to the wishes of his constituents and devoted to the welfare of the entire state. He represented the downtown district of Seattle.

After establishing an enviable record as a physician and surgeon for many years in Seattle, opportunity called him to San Francisco, where he continued his practice.

He is survived by his widow, Geneva, and a son, Byron Ghent, both residing in San Francisco.

While a resident of Washington, the doctor was very active in Republican politics and, for several years, was county jail physician.

In his passing, both Washington and his adopted state of California lost an outstanding citizen.

Representative Henry Hartung delivered the following eulogy on the life of former Senator Mack F. Gose:

Perhaps no man stood higher in the esteem of the bench and bar of the State of Washington, than Mack F. Gose. He was a keen and able lawyer, a sound and capable judge, possessing a personality so kind and charming that practically all who knew him were his friends.

Mr. Gose was born in Missouri, July 8, 1859, the son of John M. and Hannah Gose. In 1864 the family came west and after spending a year at Boise, Idaho, proceeded to Walla Walla County, Washington. He attended Whitman College and later studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1883 and immediately moved to Pomeroy, Washington, where he practiced for many years. He was married in 1886 to Lelah B. Seeley, who passed on several years before his death. In 1909 the late Governor Cosgrove appointed Mr. Gose to fill a vacancy on the Supreme bench, from which he retired six years later. He was nominated State Senator and elected without opposition in 1920 to fill the unexpired term of E. V. Kuykendall.

Mr. Gose died January 31, 1942, in Pomeroy, Washington. He is survived by one daughter, L. Vivien, now the widow of Charles B. McCleary, in Olympia, Washington.

His death, though not unexpected because of his long illness and his ripe age, cast a pall of gloom over his entire community, and the universal expression was that a good man, a kindly neighbor and a charming companion had gone to his reward.

Representative Herbert H. Hamblen delivered the following eulogy on the life of former Senator Dona B. Heil:

During Christmas week, 1941, death came quietly to Dona B. Heil, former State Senator and a resident of Spokane.

Mr. Heil came to our state in 1905, studied law and was soon admitted to the bar where he practiced with distinction and honor. He was an able trial lawyer and with all his success he still maintained the high respect of his fellow attorneys. His reputation for complete fairness and his good judgment carried him far.

Much of Mr. Heil's life was devoted to the service of his fellow citizens. In addition to his service in the Senate, he served at one time as a county prosecuting attorney, was a member of his local school board, active in his Rotary Club, and in many other service and charitable organizations. He had a profound faith in our form of constitutional government and the democratic process.

In his passing we have lost a sound American citizen but we have kept with us his deeds and accomplishments as a public servant.

Senator John N. Todd delivered the following eulogy on the life of former Senator Paul W. Houser:

It is an honor to be privileged to deliver this eulogy in memory of Paul W. Houser, former member of the State House of Representatives and of the State Senate.

He was born in Lincoln, Illinois, January 12, 1879. He enlisted in the 5th Illinois Volunteer Infantry at the age of 18 and served through the Spanish American War. In the first World War he served 22 months in the air corps with the rank of First Lieutenant.

He received his law degree from the Illinois Wesleyan University, went to Renton, Washington, in 1907, as a practicing lawyer and entered politics the following year, when he was elected City Attorney of Renton, a post which he held until 1914. In 1912 he was elected to the State House of Representatives on the Progressive Ticket and served continuously in the Legislature until 1934 with the exception of a few years during the first World War.

He served in the State Senate from the 31st District from 1922 to 1934. After his retirement from the State Legislature, he served again as City Attorney of Renton from 1938 to 1942.

Surviving are his widow, two sons, one grandson, three sisters and one brother. He was an untiring progressive leader and did much to promote progressive legislation and to work constructively in his community.

Representative Ella Wintler delivered the following eulogy on the life of former Senator George McCoy:

George McCoy, of Vancouver, Washington, was born in Green County, Wisconsin, January 13, 1865. His early life was spent on the farm of his parents, James and Margaret (Galligan) McCoy, who emigrated from Ireland. He graduated from the Evansville, Wisconsin, High School, and chose the lumber business as his life occupation. After working three years in the northern Wisconsin woods, he came west in 1890 and settled at Napavine, Lewis County, Washington, where he owned and operated a sawmill. In 1893 he married Eleanor Burdick of Edgerton, Wisconsin, and to them were born three sons, Austin B., Allan B., and George McCoy, Junior. In 1907 he moved to Vancouver, where he resided until his death October 2, 1942.

After moving to Vancouver he engaged in logging, river driving and dock construction. He was instrumental in forming the Port of Vancouver and was one of the original Port Commissioners.

George McCoy served eleven sessions as a Republican member of the Washington State Legislature, representing Lewis County in the House in 1899, 1901, 1905 and 1907 and Clark County in 1913, 1915, 1917, and 1919. He was in the Senate in 1921-1923, and again in the House in 1931.

He sponsored legislation which protected State, Granted, School and Tide Lands, provided for industrial insurance, authorized the construction of the Interstate Bridge between Vancouver and Portland, and promoted, always, the general welfare of the State.

All who knew Mr. George McCoy and were familiar with his active life, appreciated him for his many fine qualities of honesty, integrity, loyalty, perseverance, genial humor, and kindness of heart. He loved the State of Washington, and the state gained much from his industrious life. His was purely a life of service.

Senator Ernest C. Huntley delivered the following eulogy on the life of former Senator Peter McGregor:

It is my privilege to say a few words in memory of a former member of both the House and Senate, Peter McGregor, who passed away at his home in Hooper, February 8, 1941, at the age of 77.

His death ended a career that saw him grow from a Canadian farm boy to one of the most successful ranchers in the Spokane area. His ranching and farming life was varied. He and his brother started with a homestead in the Big Bend country and at that time had two teams of horses. At the time of his death, the McGregor Land and Livestock Company owned the "Bar-U" ranch, which had 13,000 acres of range and 1,200 acres in wheat, and the "Home Place" which includes 27,000 acres, 9,000 of which was in wheat. In addition, they owned 35,000 sheep.

A Republican, Mr. McGregor served one term in the lower state house, and one term in the State Senate. For seven years he was a regent of Washington State College, under Governor Hart. He was a member of the first Columbia Basin Commission and he served as a state tax commissioner. For twenty years he was a member of the Spokane Branch of the San Francisco Reserve Bank. He was on the Parole Board of the Monroe State Reformatory for seven years.

Mr. McGregor was a member of the Presbyterian church. He was high in Masonic circles, being a member of the El Katif Shrine and the Scottish Rite bodies.

He is survived by two sons, two sisters, and three brothers.

Senator Robert R. Ray delivered the following eulogy on the life of former Senator H. L. Nelson:

Henry L. Nelson was born November 21, 1876, at North Adams, Massachusetts, and came to Clark County from Texas in 1924.

He was elected to the Washington State Senate from Clark County, and served from 1932 to 1936.

Mr. Nelson passed away June 11, 1941, at Vancouver, at the age of 64 years, 6 months and 19 days.

A life-long Democrat, Mr. Nelson was active in public affairs all during his career, and devoted his time and energy entirely to the interests of the State of Washington, and to the community in which he lived.

Senator Gerald G. Dixon delivered the following eulogy on the life of former Senator Monty Percival:

Former Senator Monty Percival of the 28th District, Tacoma, Washington, was born in Highmore, South Dakota, April 22, 1894, and passed to his eternal rest July 24, 1941.

With his parents he came to Tacoma in 1898, having lived there continuously since that time, having attended the Public Schools, graduating from High School and Business College.

Married to Ada L. Bubbins in 1915 by whom he is survived, also one son Robert M. of the home in Tacoma.

He was elected to the State Senate in 1936, served in the 1937-1939 and 1941 sessions. He was known throughout the State for his interest in the less fortunate Citizens of our State, having sponsored the bill for the erection of the Western State Custodial School at Buckley, which stands completed as a beautiful and lasting monument to his memory.

He was a member of the Interim Committee appointed to investigate State Institutions, he was Chairman of Charitable Institutions Committee, served on the Rules and Appropriations, Labor and Labor Statistics Committees, and labored unceasingly to promote better laws for our State.

He was a member of Joseph Warren Lodge of Masons, of the Scottish Rite Bodies, Affi Temple of the Shrine, Elks Lodge No. 174, the Eagles, Chamber of Commerce, Downtown Association and was Past State President of the Children's Benevolent League actively engaged in promoting better conditions for the underprivileged children.

He was indeed "The friend of the friendless", a most devoted husband and father, and a courageous honest Legislator. Our state and nation are better for having men like Senator Monty Percival in its service. We who worked with him, loved him and miss him.

Representative W. C. P. Meddins delivered the following eulogy on the life of former Senator John H. Ryan:

Former Senator J. H. Ryan was born August 6, 1866, at Chillicothe, Ohio, and died on January 20, 1943, at Tacoma, Washington. About the beginning of the century he came to the State of Washington, living for a season in Spokane. In 1904 he came to Tacoma and established himself as an editor and publisher. His first publication was called the "Forum" and later became "Ryan's Weekly."

Senator Ryan was proud of being considered a liberal. He changed party affiliation as the issues advocated appealed to him. He first supported the Farmer Labor Party, then the Republican Party, and later the Democratic Party. Senator J. H. Ryan was first elected to the Washington State Legislature as representative of the Twenty-eighth District of Tacoma in 1920. He served as representative during the sessions of 1921, 1923, and 1931. He was elected to the Senate in 1932, serving in the 1933 session, the extraordinary-session of 1933 and the 1935 session. He closed his career of service to the state in the 1941 session of the House of Representatives. On motion of Senator Cowen, the reading of the Journal of the previous day was dispensed with and it was approved.

The President announced that the question before the Senate is on the motion of Senator Zednick to reconsider the vote by which Senator Mohler's motion to lay the motion of Senator Reardon on the table carried.

Senator Murphy, supported by Senators Rosellini, McCutcheon, Wall, Thomas, Schroeder and Stinson demanded a roll call.

A roll call was ordered.

The Secretary called the roll and the vote was twenty-three to twenty-three.

The President announced that he voted yea, and explained his vote by stating that in the ten years he had acted as Presiding Officer of the Senate he had never permitted his vote to prevent the majority from deciding the main question before the Senate.

The motion of Senator Zednick to reconsider the vote by which Senator Mohler's motion to lay on the table carried by the following vote:

Those voting yea were: Senators Bienz, Binzer, Copeland, Cowen, Dahl, Davison, Dawson, Edwards, Egbert, Flanagan, Henehan, Huntley, Lee, McDonald, Orndorff, Parker, Reardon, Robertson, Schroeder, Stinson, Wall, Warren, Zednick, President Victor A. Meyers—24.

Senators Reardon, Zednick and Davison demanded the previous question.

Senator McCutcheon raised a point of order that the motion of Senator Reardon was out of order.

The President announced that: "The Chair must decide points of order without debate and if there is anything wrong with his decision it was certainly the unmistakable right of the majority of the Senate to appeal from the ruling of the Chair. The Chair rules that the point of order raised by Senator McCutcheon is well taken and the motion of Senator Reardon is out of order."

Senators Zednick, Wall and Reardon gave notice that they appealed from the ruling of the Chair.

The President called Senator Rosellini, President pro tempore, to the Chair.

The President pro tempore announced that the question before the Senate is: Shall the ruling of the Chair be sustained?

President Meyers requested permission to make a statement in support of his ruling, which was granted.

The President:

"I think it proper that I attempt to sustain my decision in ruling the motion out of order. I think this is perhaps one of the most serious decisions I have had to make during my term of office as a presiding officer and my decision is based entirely upon the point of order—of procedure, and nothing else. I think it would be fair to say, and I think that any attorney in the Senate or in the galleries would agree and concur with me, when I say that if this same matter was to be adjudicated in any court of the land, that the presiding judge would undoubtedly take a matter as important as this matter is under advisement for perhaps as much as ninety days before making a decision. Then, I believe according to law he could still ask for a re-argument of the case and spend another ninety days before making a decision, looking up questions of law and decisions, while he had his own decision under advisement, to be sure that his decision was absolutely right and just. Unfortunately in parliamentary procedure, a presiding officer is called upon to make immediate decisions. Now, the point of order in regard to this, I think, is just a very minor point in some respects—it is an important issue we are deciding, but the point of order that I have sustained is somewhat minor for the reason that the Constitution itself, the language of the Constitution pertaining to enactment of Initiatives by the Legislature is not only in the opinion of the Chair rather ambiguous but somewhat contradictory and somewhat hard to understand and inasmuch as this is the second Initiative to the Legislature that the Chair has been asked to give a ruling on, as to procedure—I want to emphasize that—that is, the only decision I make is according to proper procedure. This is the second one that the Chair was required to give a decision on—I think this is the first one—I don't think there was any controversial question on the first Initiative, and, as I say, we haven't had much authority or much experience and we certainly do not have very clear, understandable rules or laws to govern us as to the method of procedure with reference to initiatives. This Initiative was certified to the Legislature by the Secretary of State. It becomes the property of the Legislature and they, according to the provisions of the Constitution, are charged with doing certain mandatory things.

"It becomes the duty of the presiding officer, when bills are introduced, to see that they are sent to proper committees. There are Senate rules and House rules and Joint rules covering the procedure on bills. We do not always agree, but I have in my library a stack of books, what are known as 'Hinds' Precedents,' going 'way back to 1850, where certain rulings were made and subsequently failed to agree because there was no set rule in Congress covering their rulings and it is still regarded as an authority in parliamentary procedure. It is a volume of books that high (indicating), about six or eight books covering 'Hinds' Precedents' when precedents had been established and the only thing the Speaker has to hang his hat on is precedent.

"I am charged with the responsibility of keeping decorum, of presiding fairly and impartially and to make decisions on points of order and to see that all bills and initiatives receive proper attention according to my best judgment. We have a precedent in 1935, where Initiative 2 was passed by the Senate and passed by the House and then a Senate Joint Resolution was introduced a few days afterwards asking that the contents or that Initiative 2, itself, be referred to the people.

"Now, it is my contention that any effort to get this thing out of the Senate, that it is my responsibility to see that it is enacted into law or rejected. The same proper steps are taken. I don't say this is the proper one. It is a matter of procedure I made my ruling on. I am chargeable with the responsibility of taking care of that thing. It has gone through its committees properly. It has been reported out properly and I made a ruling that I thought you couldn't debate a minority report because it was only a recommendation. I think that was done properly and that it went to the Rules Committee properly and it is now in the possession of the Senate. It is on the calendar and I think that any motion to take it out of here, in the judgment of the Chair, that is improper. As I said before, in order to refer an initiative, you must refer a bill to a committee. You perhaps could refer this bill to a committee, if you desired, but to take it away from the Senate, in my judgment that is improper. You can refer it but to send it away from here in my opinion is improper and in order to do so it will take a joint resolution; that is, to refer to the people. Then, we have the authority of former Attorney General Hamilton, and I think the language is very plain; that the Chair can only interpret it in one way. I am going to read it, briefly: 'In our opinion the way to handle it * * * * to act upon Initiative measures is either to enact or reject it.' Now, as I told you, this is my only authority. That is the only action that the Legislature can take upon Initiative Measures and I think that is perfectly plain, the only action if enacted is to refer it to the people.

"This decision being so serious, I could have voted myself out of the embarrassment of having to get up here and explain my actions by voting a moment ago with the side against reconsidering the matter and it would have been dead. Again, I could have voted that it be laid on the table and it would have been dead, but upon important issues such as this, I have always felt that the majority of the Senate are the masters of their own destiny. As pointed out by Senator Dixon, you can make decisions. Your decisions may not always be correct. If they violate Constitutional law or something, then it is up to the courts to decide whether your decisions have been wrong. You do things very often, for instance, in every session we meet after the sixtieth day, which, according to the strict interpretation of the Constitution, is illegal but your records show that the sixty-fourth or sixty-fifth day is still the sixtieth day and the courts never go beyond the decision of the legislature, the majority of the legislature. They never go beyond that because the majority are masters of their own destiny. This thing was submitted for appeal with that thought in mind, the decision to uphold the contention that it is out of order. It is a very important issue and if the majority wish to decide against the Chair, I want to assure you that it should in no way be construed as being a personal affront to me or a lack of confidence in my past rulings. As I said before, I want to apologize, for repeating it so often, it is such an important decision that in the opinion of the Chair the majority of the Senate should decide for themselves."

Senators Bargreen, Mohler and Reardon demanded the previous question.

The previous question was ordered.

The President pro tempore announced that the question before the Senate is, shall the decision of the Chair be sustained as the judgment of the Senate. A vote "yes," sustains the Chair.

Senator Zednick, supported by Senators Baldwin, Ray, Malstrom, Dixon, Klinefelter, Orndorff and Reardon demanded a roll call.

A roll call was ordered.

The Secretary called the roll and the decision of the President was sustained by the following vote:

Those voting yea were: Senators Baldwin, Bargreen, Binyon, Black, Dixon, Edwards, Forbus, Gehrman, Hanson, Jackson, Klinefelter, Malstrom, Marsh, McCutcheon, McQuesten, Mohler, Murphy, Neal, Rabbitt, Ray, Rosellini, Schroeder, Thomas, Todd—24.

Those voting nay were: Senators Bienz, Binzer, Copeland, Cowen, Dahl, Davison, Dawson, Egbert, Flanagan, Henehan, Huntley, Lee, Miller, Orndorff, Parker, Reardon, Robertson, Stinson, Wall, Warren, Zednick—22.

The President pro tempore announced that the ruling of the Chair having been sustained by the Senate, the motion of Senator Reardon was declared out of order.

President Meyers assumed the Chair.

Senator Zednick moved the adoption of the following Resolution:

WHEREAS, The Secretary of State transmitted to the Legislature on the first day of February, 1943, a certified copy of a certain proposed measure designated as Initiative to the Legislature Number Twelve, with the certificate of the Secretary of State relative to the filing of a petition for the enactment of such measure, and also setting forth that the petition bears the requisite number of names of legal voters; and

WHEREAS, The said Initiative Number Twelve was referred to a standing committee of the Senate which had the initiative under consideration for recommendation to the Senate; and

WHEREAS, The actual operation under the provisions of said initiative, if enacted into law, cannot be immediately fulfilled due to the war and the government restrictions on the purchase of all materials which would be used in developing and transmitting hydro-electric power, and that such materials would not be available until the termination of the war; and

WHEREAS, The immediate enactment of Initiative Number Twelve would mean a law in our statutes which would be practically inoperative; and

WHEREAS, The constitution further provides that the legislature may not change or amend any such initiative measure so submitted for its consideration, but that any such initiative measure, if enacted by the legislature, shall be subject to the referendum petition, or may be enacted and referred by the legislature to the people for approval or rejection at the next general election, and that, if rejected or no action is taken upon it by the legislature before the end of such regular session, the Secretary of State shall submit such measure to the people for their approval or rejection at the next ensuing regular general election; and

WHEREAS, Public opinion in regard to the Initiative seems to be well divided and it is known that every voter in the State of Washington is interested in the said Initiative in one way or another;

Now, Therefore, Be It Resolved, Due to the fact that war conditions prevent the operation for an estimated two years of the Initiative, that Initiative Measure to the Legislature No. 12 be referred to the people for their approval or rejection at the next General Election as provided under Amendment 7, State Constitution.

Senator Malstrom moved that copies of the Resolution be placed on the desks of the Senators for the purposes of study.

Senator Zednick moved that the Senate do now recess for one hour in order that copies of the Resolution may be prepared.

Senator Rosellini raised a point of order that the Resolution of Senator Zednick was out of order.

On motion of Senator Stinson, the call of the Senate was ordered dispensed with.

The President announced that the question before the Senate is on the motion of Senator Zednick that the Senate now recess for one hour.

Senators Mohler, Dixon and McCutcheon demanded a call of the Senate.

A call of the Senate was ordered.

The Secretary called the roll on absentee Senators and announced to the President that all Senators were present.

The President announced that the Senate was now proceeding under the call of the Senate and instructed the Sergeant-at-Arms to lock the doors of the Senate and permit no Senator to leave without permission.

The President announced that the question now before the Senate is on the motion of Senator Malstrom that the motion of Senator Zednick be laid on the table. A vote "yes" means that the Senate does not recess.

The Secretary called the roll and the motion of Senator Malstrom carried by the following vote:

Those voting yea were: Senators Baldwin, Bargreen, Binyon, Black, Dahl, Dixon, Edwards, Forbus, Gehrman, Hanson, Jackson, Klinefelter, Malstrom, Marsh, McCutcheon, Mohler, Murphy, Neal, Rabbitt, Ray, Rosellini, Schroeder, Thomas, Todd—24.

Those voting nay were: Senators Bienz, Binzer, Copeland, Cowen, Davison, Dawson, Egbert, Flanagan, Henahan, Huntley, Lee, McDonald, McQuesten, Miller, Orndorff, Parker, Reardon, Robertson, Stinson, Wall, Warren, Zednick—22.

The President announced that the question before the Senate is on the adoption of the Resolution by Senator Zednick.

Senator Dixon raised the point of order that Senator Zednick's Resolution properly belongs after the Senate has voted on Initiative Measure No. 12, which is on the calendar today.

Senator Zednick raised the point of order that what he is now proposing is a resolution.

Senator McCutcheon raised a point of order that it makes no difference whether it is a motion or a resolution.

Senator Orndorff raised the point of order that three points of order have been raised and that the Chair has had no opportunity to rule.

The President ruled that the point of order raised by Senator Orndorff was well taken and ruled that the point of order raised by Senator McCutcheon was well taken and that the resolution of Senator Zednick was out of order.

Senator Zednick moved that he be permitted to introduce his resolution as a Senate Joint Resolution.

Senator Schroeder raised a point of order that the motion of Senator Zednick was out of order.

The Chair ruled as follows: "As I contended before and I must still maintain the same contention and that is that it cannot be referred. It is the property of the Senate. Nothing can be done about it. It first must be enacted or else refuse to act upon it."

Senator Rosellini moved that the Senate proceed in order.

The motion carried.

The Secretary read:

WHEREAS, The said Initiative Number Twelve was referred to a standing committee of the Senate which had the initiative under consideration for recommendation to the Senate; and

WHEREAS, The actual operation under the provisions of said initiative, if enacted into law, cannot be immediately fulfilled due to the war and the government restrictions on the purchase of all materials which would be used in developing and transmitting hydro-electric power, and that such materials would not be available until the termination of the war; and

WHEREAS, The immediate enactment of Initiative Number Twelve would mean a law in our statutes which would be practically inoperative; and

WHEREAS, The constitution further provides that the legislature may not change or amend any such initiative measure so submitted for its consideration, but that any such initiative measure, if enacted by the legislature, shall be subject to the referendum petition, or may be enacted and referred by the legislature to the people for approval or rejection at the next general election, and that, if rejected or no action is taken upon it by the legislature before the end of such regular session, the Secretary of State shall submit such measure to the people for their approval or rejection at the next ensuing regular general election; and

The motion carried. It was so ordered.

The Secretary read:

State of Washington, Executive Department,
Olympia, February 20, 1943.

To the Honorable, the Senate and the House of Representatives of the State of Washington:

In compliance with the Provisions of Section 11 of Article III of the Constitution of the State of Washington, I have the honor to submit herewith a list of the pardons, commutations, commutations and conditional pardons, conditional pardons and executive paroles granted since the date of the report to the Legislature of the 1941 Session.

The power of executive clemency has been exercised during the past two years to release forty persons from the 1,782 inmates from the State's two penal institutions, and in twenty-eight other cases to remove the stigma of a criminal record from the names of persons who have proved themselves good citizens after infractions of the law in years gone by. Comparable totals for the past three two-year periods are: One hundred and four in 1937-1939; eighty-six in 1939-1941; and sixty-eight in 1941-1943.

Pardons were granted to twenty-one persons to restore to them the rights and privileges of citizens, to seven young men to allow them to enter military and naval service, to three men to allow them to become citizens of the United States and one to permit his re-entry from Canada where he had gone on a visit and was unable to return into the United States because of immigration regulations.

The process of commutations was employed in behalf of twenty-two persons serving in the two penal institutions. Under this process, the executive authority commuted the sentences to approximately a half more time than the individuals had served. The Board of Prison Terms and Paroles then granted these individuals earned behavior credits for the time served, enabling them to be released forthwith. It was the opinion of the Board that under this procedure a more adequate supervision might be maintained, and in the event it appeared that the subject was again becoming a problem of society, he could be returned to the institution. This process is used in a number of other states and has proved satisfactory.

However, after this process had been used for approximately seven months, the office of the Attorney General, in an opinion dated January 26, 1943, questioned the legality of the procedure as applied to seventeen men who had been serving life terms, eleven of whom were residing outside the State.

In order to obtain the most competent advice available in determining whether these seventeen men should be returned to the penal institutions or granted conditional pardons so that they might remain at large legally, I selected a committee consisting of Judge Charles R. Denney of the Snohomish County Superior Court, Judge Fred H. Witt of the Spokane County Superior Court and Mr. Richard A. McGee, to make a study of the cases under question and recommend to me a course of action which, in their opinion, would be legal and at the same time adequately protect the public.

Their report has been made to me and I am transmitting a copy of it to your honorable body. I have acted in accordance with the committee's recommendations.

DEAR GOVERNOR LANGLE:

REPORT TO GOVERNOR ARTHUR B. LANGLE

BY

COMMITTEE TO INVESTIGATE RECOMMENDATIONS OF THE WASHINGTON STATE BOARD OF PRISON TERMS AND PAROLES IN CERTAIN MATTERS OF EXECUTIVE CLEMENCY

On January 26, 1943, Fred E. Lewis, Acting Attorney General for the State of Washington, rendered an opinion questioning the legality of the procedure employed by your office and the Board of Prison Terms and Paroles in releasing a number of prisoners from the Washington State Penitentiary at Walla Walla, a copy of this opinion being in our possession.

In view of the questioned legality of this procedure, you appointed the undersigned committee and informed us that it was your desire to determine as soon as possible whether or not these prisoners should be returned to the Penitentiary or allowed to remain at liberty under suitable supervision. Your direction to us was as follows:

1. To make a study of the available data concerning the original crimes.
2. The conduct of these men during their periods of confinement.
3. Their prospects for rehabilitation and for becoming useful members of society.
4. The basis for the recommendations of the Board of Prison Terms and Paroles, and
5. Their conduct while at large.

These oral instructions were confirmed in writing in your letter of February 10, 1943, a copy of which is attached.

In an effort to carry out these instructions, the committee met at Olympia on Friday, January 29. At this meeting plans were formulated for carrying out as thorough an investigation as could be conducted with the available data and in the limited time allowed. Your committee met with the Board of Prison Terms and Paroles, questioned them in detail on each case and examined the records involved. It was determined that of the twenty-two cases referred to us by the Board of Prison Terms and Paroles, eleven were presently living in other states and eleven were in the State of Washington. Letters were immediately dispatched to responsible public officials in these other states requesting immediate reports on the conduct and general adjustment of these men since their release. A copy of the letter addressed to these agencies is attached. A brief summary of each individual case was attached to this letter.

In order to obtain a competent and unbiased report of the conduct of the eleven men living in the State of Washington, it was thought desirable to employ a trained investigator to make a field investigation in each case. Pursuing this decision, Mr. George E. Fahey, Supervisor of the Probation Staff of the King County Juvenile Court, Seattle, Washington, was released from his regular duties and employed by us for six and one-half days. Mr. Fahey met with the committee on Wednesday, February 10, and submitted a complete report of his investigations. A summary of these findings, as well as of those received by mail from other states, is included with our comments on each individual case.

Your committee continued in session on February 11, 12 and 13 for the purpose of compiling this report.

The first step in our deliberations was to familiarize ourselves with the opinion submitted to the members of the Senate by the Honorable Fred E. Lewis, Chief Assistant and Acting Attorney General of the State of Washington.

The committee is of the opinion that the ruling of the Acting Attorney General must be accepted as correct unless over-ruled by the Supreme Court.

The constitutional and statutory power of the Governor to grant a full or a conditional pardon and to commute the sentence of one convicted of a felony is beyond question. The manner in which the releases were made is a matter of procedure. The propriety of the releases is of greater importance. We will, therefore, at your request, proceed to review each case.

Before proceeding to this detailed report on individual cases, it is of interest to digress briefly for the purpose of summarizing the reasoning employed by the Board of Prison Terms and Paroles in recommending the procedure which has been followed in certain cases, namely that of commutation of life sentences to a specified period of years for the purpose of permitting parole.

The Board advised that this question was discussed at great length as a matter of policy, and that the Board consulted the best authorities available on the subject before coming to its decision. The most extensive and authoritative work available on the subject of pardon, parole and other release procedures is to be found in the "U. S. Attorney General's Survey of Release Procedures," published by the U. S. Department of Justice in 1939. Volume III of this report is devoted entirely to the subject of pardon. It seems pertinent at this point to quote the final conclusion to be found on page No. 313 of this volume.

"This analysis of pardon * * * shows that there is a great need for clarification and improvement in the administration of pardon processes in many states. Pardon as a legal device for seasoning justice with mercy and for righting miscarriages of justice should be preserved. * * * Under no circumstances should it be used as a substitute for parole. All releases on condition of good behavior and under supervision should be under the parole law and not by way of pardon or conditional pardon."

The procedure followed by the Board and by the Governor in commuting life sentences for the purpose of permitting parole has sound judicial sanction in cases cited in the volume just mentioned under statutes and systems of parole in other states.

On page No. 217 of above-mentioned volume, this statement is made:

"In Minnesota in recent years, the pardon board has tended to make more and more use of conditional commutations. Of the 721 cases in which the pardon board granted clemency during the years 1921 to 1936, 88.2% were commutations."

Also, on page No. 215:

"The Pennsylvania board since 1929 has adopted a policy of recommending commutation instead of pardon as much as possible."

It appears that similar practices are in vogue in many other states. Your committee is of the opinion that the Board of Prison Terms and Paroles has adopted a procedure which is consistent with the best practice in this matter as exemplified in the above quotations. While it appears that the Board's procedure, from the standpoint of good parole practice, is commendable, it is unfortunate that this matter was not cleared with the Attorney General before any action was taken. Since this procedure has been held to be illegal under existing law, it is recommended that the law be amended to permit the Board of Prison Terms and Paroles to grant paroles to persons sentenced to life after having served a specified period of years.

A discussion of this question is to be found in the "U. S. Attorney General's Survey of Release Procedures," Volume IV—Parole, page No. 110, et seq. It appears from this report that only a mere handful of states fail to provide in their laws for parole eligibility in the case of persons sentenced to life after having served a specified period of years. These periods vary from seven years in California and Nevada to thirty-five years in Minnesota.

"Six jurisdictions, including the Federal System, provide that life termers may be eligible for parole consideration after having served fifteen years."

The Board of Prison Terms and Paroles states that a study was made of all inmates of the State Penitentiary who have been incarcerated therein for a long period of years to determine whether or not some of these prisoners have been sufficiently punished and would have a good chance to make useful citizens at a time when men are sorely needed in the war effort. The Board also states that its action was not influenced by any pressure by friends of the prisoners, but was based upon a systematic review of each case.

With the exception of one case, the question of whether or not the death penalty for murder in the first degree should be inflicted was submitted to the jury and the jury found in favor of life imprisonment well-knowing that the great majority of life-termers ultimately are released through executive clemency. The release of all of these prisoners was recommended by the official who was acting superintendent of the Penitentiary at the time these cases were under consideration and were not made at one time, but covered a period from July 9, 1942, to December 24, 1942.

The prison record of all the men under consideration has been excellent during either the entire period of incarceration or for a period of at least ten years.

Our investigator has found that the publicity incident to this matter has been very disturbing to the released prisoners and makes the adjustment of these men to normal life very difficult. We are, therefore, referring to each case by number with a key to be supplied to you disclosing the identity of the released prisoner. We suggest that this key be made available only to members of the legislature or other public officials who have some legitimate interest in the matter. Further reference to the released prisoners by name is distinctly undesirable. A summary of the individual cases follows:

Resume of crime:

Subject and co-defendant were charged with the crime of murder in the first degree committed while engaged in a robbery which occurred on January 19, 1924, in the City of Spokane. Subject entered a plea of guilty and was tried to a jury upon the sole issue of the death penalty. Subject's accomplice was 46 years of age, and according to the statement of the deputy prosecuting attorney, it was his opinion that the dominating influence in the robbery and murder was the older criminal. The jury found against the death penalty.

Prison record:

Good. Examination of subject by a psychiatrist in order to determine his mental status disclosed that there was no condition existing objectionable to his release under controlled conditions.

Present situation:

The Chief Probation Officer of the U. S. District Court of Scranton, Pennsylvania, was requested to investigate the subject's present situation. He reports under date of February 3, 1943, that subject is living with his step-mother in a very congenial relationship. He has been employed in Scranton and Buffalo, New York, since 1942, and in the opinion of the Probation Officer and the Captain of Detectives of Scranton, is living an exemplary life. It is their opinion that he is attempting in every way possible to make a complete rehabilitation. He attends church regularly and has a substantial bank account.

Comment:

In view of this man's youth at the time of the crime, and in further view of the fact that he was apparently under the influence of a man 25 years his senior, and because of his excellent prison record, further substantiated by the record he has made since release, and the long period of incarceration (18 years), it is the opinion of the committee that this was a proper case for executive clemency, and that the Board of Prison Terms and Paroles was fully justified in recommending this man's release.

It is recommended that the manner of his release be adjusted so as to permit him to remain at liberty.

Resume of crime:

Subject was convicted after trial for the murder of the wife of an old acquaintance. A brother-in-law of the deceased was killed at the same time and two children of the deceased were suffocated by a fire which followed the killing. It was the contention of the prosecution that the murder grew out of a blackmail scheme involving the husband of the deceased. Subject still stoutly maintains that he is innocent.

Prison record: Excellent.

Present situation:

A careful investigation of this case was made by Mr. George E. Fahey and it was found that subject is maintaining an excellent relationship with his parole supervisor. He is at the present time operating his own lunch counter in a city in Eastern Washington. He has accumulated considerable savings and has reported his intention to purchase another small restaurant formerly owned by a Japanese. Subject informed our investigator of his intention to marry a widow woman of approximately his own age. There has been only one minor incident since subject was released which would indicate anything but exemplary behavior. It is reported as follows: Subject became involved in an argument in his place of business that resulted in his striking another man with his fist. He immediately hurried to the sheriff's office to make known to his parole supervisor that this had happened. The parole officer was apparently able to adjust this matter to the satisfaction of all concerned and concluded that the other party was as much at fault as the subject.

Comment:

In view of the long period of incarceration (19 years) and the excellent record maintained by the subject in the institution, your committee feels that the Board of Prison Terms and Paroles was justified in recommending executive clemency. This recommendation was further substantiated by the satisfactory record which he has made since release. On the other hand, keeping in mind the conditions surrounding the original offense, it is felt that this man's case should be supervised with unusual thoroughness for a long period of time. On the basis of the situation as it now exists, we do not recommend his return to custody unless he violates the conditions of his release.

Resume of crime:

In November, 1920, in Snohomish County, Washington, subject attempted to rob two individuals. One of them broke and ran away and called for help. An officer appeared on the scene and in the resulting duel, the officer was killed by the subject. Subject entered a plea of guilty to the crime of robbery and not guilty to the crime of murder in the first degree, but was convicted by the jury which fixed his sentence as life imprisonment.

Prison Record:

Record indicates subject is a skilled workman and for some time was foreman in the Penitentiary machine shop. He expresses a willingness to work in the Boeing plant or other defense project. His attitude was good and he appeared to the Board of Prison Terms and Paroles to have been thoroughly rehabilitated.

Present situation:

The Board of Prison Terms and Paroles revoked subject's parole on February 2, 1943, and subject has been returned to the Penitentiary.

Investigation by Mr. George E. Fahey reveals that this man returned to Concrete, Washington, on his release and was employed there in the cement works. He was considered a capable machinist and his work record and savings were above average. However, on New Year's Eve, while under the influence of liquor, he became involved in a drunken brawl with a woman who was the divorced wife of the subject's nephew. Immediately following this incident he left town. As soon as the parole officer responsible for him became apprised of his whereabouts he was reported to the Board of Prison Terms and Paroles whereupon his parole was revoked.

Comment:

In spite of subsequent events, the long period of incarceration (21 years), the excellent prison record and the great need for skilled labor in industry warranted the Board's recommendation that this man be given a conditional release.

It is worthy of comment at this point that this case demonstrates the desirability of releasing men on parole rather than through pardon because of the ease with which they can be returned in the event that they show signs of returning to criminal behavior. It is probable that it would have been difficult to convict a person under the circumstances involved in this violation if he had not had a previous record and if it had been necessary to make formal charges in a court of law. His conduct, however, does show a tendency to criminal conduct and, therefore, fully warrants the action which has been taken.

There was a notable lack of careful supervision in this case on the part of the field staff of the parole office, which is evidenced by the lapse of over a month from the time of the violation to the date of the man's arrest.

Prison Record: Excellent.

Resume of crime:

This subject was a co-defendant with subject No. 5, report upon whom follows. He was convicted of murder in the first degree as a result of the killing of a patron of a recreation hall at a logging camp during the course of a holdup by the subject and his co-defendant. Someone took a shot at the men committing the robbery and subject's co-defendant returned the fire killing one of the patrons of the recreation hall.

After conviction but before removal to the Penitentiary, subject escaped from the county jail and was re-arrested in Wyoming and returned to the Penitentiary.

Supporting recommendations:

The release of this subject was recommended on July 16, 1940, by the judge who presided at the trial. A recommendation for release was made on July 18, 1940, by the prosecuting attorney of the county in which the crime was committed, and also by the special prosecutor who was appointed to conduct the prosecution.

Present situation:

Subject and subject No. 5 were reported by the parole office to be working at a logging camp in Idaho. At the request of Judge Fred H. Witt, a deputy sheriff of Spokane County was requested to visit this camp to determine the type of adjustment these men had been making since release. Upon investigation it was found that these two men, while still employed by the same company, had been transferred a few days before to a camp in the Elk River country. Because of snow and weather conditions, it was impossible to make a personal contact with these two men. The investigator did contact the sheriff's office who had had a very close contact with them. He reported that neither of these men had ever expressed any ill feeling against any person and that they had, to the best of his knowledge, refrained from frequenting beer taverns and other places where woodsmen are in the habit of gathering. The sheriff, who apparently has a good reputation in his community, reports that in his opinion these two men are "making good." Both of these men were loggers many years ago before being sentenced to the Penitentiary and are now engaged in a necessary type of work for which they are well qualified.

Comment:

In view of the long period of incarceration (20 years) and the excellent records which these men have maintained and the recommendations of the trial judge, the prosecuting attorney and the special prosecutor, it is the opinion of the committee that the Board of Prison Terms and Paroles was justified in recommending executive clemency.

Since these men are employed in a neighboring state where there are very limited facilities for parole supervision, it is recommended by the committee that frequent personal contacts be made for an extended period of time in order to make certain that there will be no return to delinquent behavior.

Resume of crime:

Subject was convicted of murder in the first degree after trial. He was accused of murdering his brother during a quarrel to win the affections of a girl with whom both were infatuated. By circumstantial evidence it was established that after the killing the subject placed the body of his brother in a sack and disposed of it in the Sound. The subject later deposited money of the exact amount that the brother had received on a fishing contract.

Prison record: Good.

Present situation:

This man is living in a small city in Eastern Oregon. Your committee has been unable to make a field investigation in this case, the reason being that the Oregon parole officer assigned to that area was reported to be ill. A report is expected in the next two or three days and will be transmitted to you separately from this report. The committee has had access, however, to his last monthly parole report which was received on January 3. It appears from this report that he is employed as a section hand on the Union Pacific Railroad and is being sponsored by the sheriff in the county where he resides.

Comment:

In view of the fact that this man's single crime was committed twenty years ago and that he has maintained a consistently good record ever since and is now fifty-nine years of age, your committee can find no objection to his being recommended for release, and it is our belief that he should be permitted to remain at liberty unless he violates the conditions of his release.

Resume of crime:

Subject, a negro, was convicted of murdering his wife. The impelling motive for the crime was a quarrel over a property settlement incident to a divorce action which the wife had contemplated bringing against the subject.

Prison record:

Excellent. During the most of his confinement he was either a trusty or held positions of responsibility in the Penitentiary.

Supporting recommendations:

Under date of March 22, 1940, the deputy prosecutor who tried this man wrote the Parole Board as follows:

"If his prison record and the opinion of the Board justifies it, it is my opinion that he should be paroled, and after parole, such further action taken by the Board as would be justified by his subsequent conduct."

Under date of March 26, 1940, the trial judge wrote the Parole Board stating that he followed a policy of making no specific recommendations as to persons convicted before him, but that he had no objection to whatever clemency the Board and the Governor might deem proper to extend to this man on the basis of the record of the case, his behavior in the Penitentiary and other circumstances having a bearing on the matter.

Present situation:

This man is now employed in a cafe located in the heart of an undesirable district in Seattle. Upon his release this man sought employment from a friend who maintains the restaurant. The prospects for a substantial income are good. There is a doorway which leads from the restaurant where this man is employed to a tavern. Mr. Fahey was unable to learn of any law infraction or immoral conduct on the part of this man. However, the district where he is working and the people with whom he of necessity must associate are not of the best, and we suggest a thorough check of this case by the Parole Board.

Comment:

In view of the period of incarceration (16 years), his excellent prison record, the recommendation of the deputy prosecutor who tried the case, and the attitude of the trial judge, we can find no reason why the Parole Board should not, in the exercise of sound judgment, be of the same opinion as the deputy prosecutor and recommend executive clemency.

Resume of crime:

This man was married in 1911 and lived with his wife for three years at which time they separated. Two children were born to this marriage. Shortly after the separation in 1914 or 1915, he sued his wife for divorce but was unsuccessful in his suit. Subject and his wife then lived separate and apart until they were re-united in 1917. After re-establishment of the home, subject and his wife quarreled continuously, and after having lived together for about six weeks the wife and two children disappeared. Their bodies were later found and subject convicted of murdering his wife.

Prison record: Very good.

Present situation:

This man is now employed as a caulker in a navy yard in California. The supervising parole officer of the State of California reports that he is a diligent and conscientious worker, that he desires to marry and is considered good material for rehabilitation.

Comment:

Because of the circumstances surrounding the crime in this case, your committee feels that they could not in good conscience have recommended executive clemency in this case. On the other hand, he has served nearly a quarter of a century in the Penitentiary and has maintained a satisfactory disciplinary and work record in that institution. There is no evidence of mental unsoundness, and the subject has attained an age usually associated with stability and settled habits. The report of the parole officer in California substantiates the regularity of his behavior and indicates that he is being of service in the war effort as a skilled worker. The basically important consideration in this case should be a determination of whether or not the subject may again commit an act of violence. In a situation of this kind, the opinions of reasonable men would undoubtedly differ on this question.

Since the release has been granted, and since the subject is apparently making a satisfactory adjustment, your committee recommends that he be allowed to remain at liberty under the very closest supervision, and that the conditions of his release be enforced to the letter. Should he violate any of these conditions, an immediate return to the Penitentiary should be the remedy.

Case No. 9

Age when sentenced	22
Present age	36
Date sentenced	May 27, 1929
Date released	November 9, 1942
Time served	13 years
Offense	Murder, first degree, and six counts of robbery
Term	Life imprisonment
Previous convictions:	Taking motor vehicle without permission of the owner, 1926—sentenced 1½ to 2 years, Washington State Reformatory.

Resume of crime:

Subject along with two companions stole an automobile and started out to commit several robberies. During one of these robberies they were intercepted by a police officer and a gun battle ensued in which the police officer lost his life. After committing the murder, the three men proceeded to commit seven robberies within an hour and a half. These are the robberies involved in the robbery counts of which the subject was convicted.

Prison record:

Subject attempted to escape from the Penitentiary in 1931, 1932 and 1933. His record after that time has been excellent except for one minor infraction in 1939.

Present situation:

The California State Parole Officer reports that this man now lives with his parents in San Francisco, California. His home surroundings are average and his family relations good. He has maintained steady employment in war industries, and is, at present, employed as a pipe fitter for an engineering and dry dock company. His work is satisfactory. The parole officer reports that his social adjustment has been satisfactory and his rehabilitation seems assured.

Comment:

Upon examination of the cold record, the committee is of the opinion that this man's release was premature. Thirteen years is hardly an adequate sentence for the very serious crimes which have been committed by this man. He did not make good after his first conviction. The Board of Prison Terms and Paroles states that it was impressed by this man's change of heart and good attitude which he now maintains.

It may be that the action of the Board is justified after seeing the man and talking with him and with those who have been intimately associated with him during his incarceration in the Penitentiary. The very encouraging report which we have received regarding this man's present situation and conduct tends to support the Board's opinion of the man. We therefore are not ready to say that he should be returned to the Penitentiary in the absence of some evidence of conduct on his part showing a tendency toward a return to criminal behavior.

Resume of crime:

This man was convicted of murder in the first degree along with subject No. 11 and two other co-defendants. All the defendants in the case are Chinese, as was the deceased. The state's evidence showed a dying declaration by the deceased that this man and subject No. 11 were two of the men who shot him. The wife of the deceased identified this man and subject No. 11, as well as the two additional co-defendants as the men who attempted to rob her and later shot the deceased. On December 19, 1935, the widow of the deceased, who had subsequently remarried, made an affidavit entirely inconsistent with testimony given on the witness stand.

Supporting recommendations:

The files of the Board of Prison Terms and Paroles disclosed letters from the trial judge, a special state's attorney and the prosecuting attorney who tried the case, to the effect that the conviction of this man and subject No. 11 could not stand without the testimony of this woman who made the affidavit retracting her testimony. These men also said that they had no definite opinion as to which testimony was true.

Present situation:

The Director of Paroles and Probation for the State of Oregon reports that this man is now living in Portland, Oregon, under proper conditions, is employed at a shipyard nearby and that his attitude is good.

Comments:

The chances of rehabilitation for this man appear to be very good. Disregarding that consideration, however, we believe that this is clearly a proper case for exercise of executive clemency upon the ground that there is probable cause to believe that the man is not guilty.

It is worthy of note that two co-defendants involved in this matter were paroled by the Governor in January, 1941.

Resume of crime:

This man is a co-defendant with subject No. 10 and for a short resume of the facts see the report on case No. 10.

Prison record:

No evidence that it has not been satisfactory.

Supporting recommendations:

Same as case No. 10.

Present situation:

Subject was visited at his home by Mr. Fahey where he lives with his parents and his two daughters. It appears from the record that his wife died during the time he was incarcerated at the Penitentiary. He is employed by one of the shipbuilding companies in Seattle. Evidence was produced to show that he is industrious and is regularly employed. His attitude seemed to be good and an inquiry in the neighborhood revealed no resentment on the part of the people of the community to his release. Except for the fact that there is a record going back to 1931 that his man was involved in the narcotics traffic, he appears to be a good subject for rehabilitation.

Comments:

Disregarding any consideration of the chances for rehabilitation, we believe that this is clearly a proper case for the exercise of executive clemency upon the ground that there is probable cause to believe that the subject is not guilty.

It is worthy of note that two co-defendants involved in this matter were paroled by the Governor in January, 1941.

Resume of crime:

This man pleaded guilty to the crime of murder in the first degree in connection with a robbery. An automobile was stolen by one of two co-defendants who picked up the subject and stopped in front of a drug store. Subject entered the drug store with a co-defendant, who was armed, and one of proprietors was shot in a back room out of the presence of the subject. The jury found against the death penalty.

Supporting recommendation:

Release was recommended for this man by the trial judge, prosecuting attorney, sheriff of the county where the crime was committed, guards at the Penitentiary, chaplain of the Penitentiary and superintendent of the Penitentiary.

Prison record:

Good. Subject was employed in the prison hospital for a number of years and rendered a unique service in this situation during a period when the absence of paid personnel was responsible for a very inadequate medical service. The devoted efforts of this man in the hospital service have been most commendable.

Present situation:

From the date of his release to February 3, 1943, subject lived with his mother in Spokane, Washington. According to a report received from a deputy sheriff of Spokane County, his conduct while in that city was exemplary. On February 3, he was given permission by his parole officer to accept a job as first aid attendant in a defense plant in California. Subject seems to be making an excellent adjustment.

Comment:

In view of the fact that the subject was only 18 years of age at the time of his conviction and because he was not directly and primarily responsible for the death of the deceased and because of the excellent attitude which this man has shown during his period of imprisonment, as well as the fact that he has served eleven years, the committee feels that the subject is a good risk and should be allowed to remain at liberty under suitable supervision. It is worthy of special comment that almost everyone who has had close contact with this case has made recommendations for his release.

Resume of crime:

This man was convicted after trial of murder in the first degree as a result of the killing of a friend who appears from the statement of the prosecuting attorney to have been engaged with the subject in some sort of a bootlegging enterprise. The state's evidence indicated that the motive for the killing was robbery. The body of the deceased was disposed of in a garbage dump. The subject maintained that an argument and fight arose over some money realized in the bootlegging venture and he shot the deceased in self-defense.

Prison record: Good.

Supporting recommendations:

We find in the records of the Board of Prison Terms and Paroles strong recommendation for release from the mayor of the town in which this man lived, the state senator representing the district in which this man lived and also recommendations from numerous citizens of high standing in the community.

Present situation:

With the permission of the parole office, subject was permitted to go to Kansas City, Kansas, where he had a promise of employment. The Chief Probation Officer of the U. S., District Court, District of Kansas, has investigated his situation and made a report. Apparently the subject has been in Kansas City only a few days before the report was made and had not yet obtained employment. The probation officer explains that this has been due to the fact that the manager of the company for whom the subject was to work has been transferred to another city. The probation officer reported, however, that a position was expected in the next few days. The Captain of Detectives of Kansas City has been acting as this man's sponsor. Both he and the probation officer report that subject's conduct is and has been satisfactory.

Comments:

From a consideration of the record alone, without the benefit of having seen and interviewed this man, we cannot with clear conscience state that we would have recommended the commutation of his sentence and subsequent release at this time. On the other hand, the subject was only 26 years of age at the time of his offense, has maintained a good prison record and from all evidence at hand, seems to have developed into a mature and stable individual. Since he has been released, and since the opportunities for occupational rehabilitation are unusually favorable at this time, we recommend that he be allowed to remain at liberty unless he fails to live up to each and every condition of his parole.

Resume of crime:

Subject was operating a beer tavern in a coal mining town on the night of June 14, 1936. The person killed, together with some friends, were drinking beer in this tavern. The deceased and his friends grew boisterous and quarreled with the subject. It was the contention of the state that the subject, without a warning, shot the deceased while sitting on the stool with his back half turned toward the subject. However, the subject maintained at the trial, and offered proof, that the killing was in self-defense. The jury failed to inflict the death penalty, making the imprisonment for life mandatory.

Supporting recommendations:

On May 25, 1942, the deputy prosecutor representing the state at the trial recommended to the Board that subject be released from further confinement, the prosecutor having previously reviewed the facts of the case. The trial judge stated that the testimony in the case was highly conflicting, and the jury could have determined the issue in favor of the defendant, and in concurring with the recommendation of the deputy prosecutor stated that in view of the recommendation of the prosecutor and the fact that second degree murder would more readily have fitted the facts, he concurred in the recommendation.

Prison record: Excellent.

Present situation:

The last monthly parole report is stamped as received in the Parole Department at Seattle on January 18, 1943. The Director of Parole and Probation for the State of Oregon was requested to make a field investigation of this case, in view of the fact that his address was given at a Hotel in Portland, Oregon. On February 8 a letter was received signed by the Assistant Parole Officer of Oregon, in which he states that he called at the hotel in question and the subject was not living there. A telephone call was made by a member of the committee to the State Director of Parole and Probation at Salem, Oregon, on the morning of February 12. We were advised that a check had been made at the Swan Island shipyard where the subject reported he was employed, and that no record could be found of his having been employed there. It is possible that there may be some confusion in names. On the record sent to Oregon, the first name of the subject is John. We find that the subject uses the first name Don. In the telephone conversation referred to above the Oregon authority reported that they had located a person with the same last name and first name Don instead of John, but in their opinion this was not the man with whom we were concerned. It is obvious that this situation needs further investigation. In view of the huge numbers of people employed at the shipyard, and the great turn-over there, and in view of the apparent confusion concerning names, and without further investigation, it cannot be reported with certainty at this time that the subject has violated the conditions of his release.

Comment:

In view of the recommendations of the trial judge and the deputy prosecutor, as well as the favorable interest displayed by many citizens of the subject's home town, the committee feels that the Board of Prison Terms and Paroles had adequate basis for recommending executive clemency. This is particularly true in view of the further fact that the subject has maintained an excellent institutional record.

It is worthy of special comment that the attitude of the trial judge and prosecutor in this case, as expressed in their letters of recommendation, are so unusual as to lend extra-ordinary weight to the argument for release.

It is recommended that the Board of Prison Terms and Paroles make a further careful inquiry into this man's present situation, and if it is found that he is violating any of the conditions of his release, appropriate action should be taken. This recommendation is made in view of the inadequacy of the information which has been received to date concerning the present situation in this man's case.

NOTE:

On February 13, after this report had been typed, a report was received at the parole office dated February 11 indicating that the subject had moved to another hotel, and insofar as the facts available disclose, does not seem to be engaged in any activity which could be construed as a violation of the conditions of his release.

Resume of crime:

This man, while in a high state of intoxication, and while living in a cheap hotel, and while associating with people of a low moral character, became jealous of a woman with whom he had intimate associations. Acting under the delusion that he was being robbed, he shot the woman and two men after a quarrel.

Prison record:

Excellent. During a riot at the Penitentiary he saved a Guard's life at the risk of his own.

Present situation:

This man is now living with his sister in Iowa. He is doing some carpenter work around his sister's home, for which he receives a small compensation. A report by the County Director of Social Welfare in the County where the subject is now residing states that this man has a reputation of being an excellent workman, is accepted by the neighbors and friends of his sister and that the subject appears to be making very satisfactory adjustment and is showing promise of rehabilitating himself.

Comment:

Because of the long incarceration of this man (17 years), his advanced years, his excellent institutional record, which includes his act in saving a guard's life, seems to us to fully warrant the recommendation made by the board of executive clemency.

Offense.....	Burglary, second degree—an habitual criminal
Term	Life imprisonment
Previous convictions:	Many previous convictions of petty thievery, burglar, jointist, beginning as far back as 1897.

Resume of crime:

In March, 1929, subject was convicted of the crime of burglary in the second degree, and thereafter was charged with being an habitual criminal, and was tried and convicted thereon in May, 1929, and sentenced to life imprisonment. Subject was wounded while attempting to escape from arrest on the night of the burglary.

Prison record:

Two slight infractions of prison rules, one in 1933 and one in 1936. Otherwise, record very good. Physical condition of subject bad.

Present situation:

Subject is living in the home of friends, who are his sponsors. He is 67 years of age and apparently doing very well. His sponsor has a small acreage and flower garden, and subject is assisting with the work of the place and engaged in odd jobs in the neighborhood. He seems happy in his surroundings and there is no resentment because of his imprisonment. His sponsors are very confident that he will become a good citizen.

Comments:

Although the subject has a long record of criminal offenses, yet in view of the fact that he is in poor physical condition and has reached the age of 67 years, and that his prison record as a whole has been good, and that he is sponsored by reliable citizens, and that his period of incarceration has been substantial, to-wit: 13 years, we believe that the Board was fully justified in recommending executive clemency.

Resume of crime:

This man is a quarter-breed Indian, and after separation from his wife he became associated with two women of the lowest moral character and a male companion of worse character. Subject bought some property as a result of his association with these people, which resulted in the subject justifiably getting the idea that he had been defrauded. He went to a house occupied by these people with whom he had been associated, and found a disgraceful condition, and an argument ensued. The subject claims that he was attacked by one of the parties but the jury evidently found against this contention. After killing one man he ran amuck with a gun and an axe and one of the women and one other man were killed and he seriously wounded the other woman.

Prison record:

Good. Night engineer in the ice plant.

Present situation:

Mr. Fahey investigated this man. He is now living with a sister in a well kept home in Seattle. During the early part of his release he installed some cupboards in the kitchen of his sister's home in a very skillful manner. He is now working for a drydock company as a pipe fitter's helper. His work record is very good and his conduct was above reproach as far as Mr. Fahey could learn. The present situation of this man is very good and chances of rehabilitation are favorable.

Comment:

This case has presented a perplexing and difficult problem to this committee. The facts of the crime are gruesome, involving the killing of three persons and seriously wounding of another. There is one fact which stands out very strongly in this record, however, and that is that in spite of the gruesomeness of this crime the jury chose to inflict the penalty of life imprisonment rather than the death penalty. This leads us to believe that the jury must have been of the opinion that the provocation for a violent action was great, and there must have been some extenuating circumstances which were not apparent from the reading before us. This man, immediately after the commission of the crime, turned himself in to the authorities, stating that he had cleaned up a bad mess that the state wouldn't have to bother with.

While this man has served 13 years, and has maintained an excellent prison record, and from the facts available is making an excellent adjustment since his release, your committee feels that this release was premature. On the other hand, this is a question about which the judgment of different individuals might vary, and since he has been released the committee recommends that he be allowed to remain at liberty as long as his conduct continues to be of an exemplary nature. In order to make certain that his conduct does not deviate from the best standards possible, it is recommended that the parole office maintain a very close supervision over this man for a long period of time.

Resume of crime:

This murder involves a quarrel over the affections of a woman, and the shooting took place at the home of the woman in question. Prior to the date of the shooting, on October 30, 1930, subject had been acquainted with the widow woman in question and was devoting some attention to her. Another man who lived in the neighborhood was also devoting his attention to the same woman, which angered the subject, and it is alleged that he made threats upon the other man's life. Both men were calling on the woman in question, and the subject became enraged and quarreled with the other man, but finally left the house. He returned in a short time, raised the window, fired two shots, killing his rival. He contended that the shooting was done in self-defense. The jury convicted him of murder in the first degree, and found that the death penalty should not be inflicted.

Prison record: Excellent.

Present situation:

This man is now living with a niece in a well kept home in Seattle. At the time of Mr. Fahey's call the subject had little to say, but appeared very cooperative. He acts as doorman on Saturday evenings at an old-time dance hall, and occasionally does janitor work. He has been ill on one occasion, but is fully recovered. His sponsor, the subject's niece, expresses a determination to care for her aged uncle, and has arranged for her son to take care of him in the event anything should happen to her. The environment of this man at this time is very good. His chance of rehabilitation is excellent.

Comment:

In view of the fact that the crime involved here is purely a crime of passion, and in view of the fact that the subject is a man 74 years of age, has been confined in the Penitentiary for a substantial period of time, almost 12 years, and has maintained an excellent prison record, and the fact that his present situation is conducive to his becoming a good citizen, the committee is of the opinion that the action of the Board of Prison Terms and Paroles in recommending executive clemency was wise and warranted by the facts heretofore cited.

The following cases, numbered 19, 20, 21 and 22, have been submitted to us for examination, but are not cases involving murder in the first degree or being an habitual criminal, and therefore do not fall within the cases involved in the Attorney General's Opinion. We will, however, review these cases briefly since they have been submitted to us.

Resume of crime:

When 16 years of age this man was employed by a family living on a farm, and in response to remarks of his employer, which he believed to reflect upon his character, got the idea that his employer was likely to discharge him. He secured some dynamite, placed the same under the house, and blew up the house, killing his employer and his employer's wife.

Supporting recommendations:

The files of the Board of Prison Terms and Paroles disclose a letter from the trial judge addressed to the subject under date of September 16, 1938, in which the judge says, "I believe that if you could get out on parole that you would become a useful citizen again, and that your conduct would be above reproach. Should the Board inquire of me, I would be willing to give them information to that effect." We also find in the files of the Board of Prison Terms and Paroles a copy of a letter from the prosecutor of the trial, addressed to the subject under date of March 12, 1940, in which the prosecutor says he would have no objection to the release of the subject if the Board of Prison Terms and Paroles believed that his conduct warranted such action.

Prison record: Good. Teacher of music.

Present situation:

The present situation of this man was investigated by George A. Hall, Assistant Parole Officer of the State of Oregon. Mr. Hall states that this man is now living in an apartment house in an undesirable location of the City of Portland, Oregon. He is now rooming with five other men after giving up his own apartment in order to allow a woman to occupy it. This matter would bear investigation. Mr. Hall states further that the subject is employed at a radio concern, and is now engaged in the repair of radios. His working record is excellent, and he is in charge of the radio shop while his employer is out of the city. The subject's mother is confined to a rest home, and he is supporting her there. Mr. Hall states that this man is intensely interested in his job and seems to be getting along very well.

Comments:

This man was only 16 years of age when this crime was committed, and the crime grew out of a childish idea that some injury was being done him. It will be observed that this case falls within the jurisdiction of the Board of Prison Terms and Paroles, and this man could have been released by the Board at the expiration of 20 years, minus one-third good time, which is 13½ years. The subject served 12½ years, so could have been paroled by the Board at the expiration of another year. We cannot find anything to criticize adversely in the action of the Board in recommending his release one year before the expiration of his time. He has a good prison record, is now a mature man, whereas the crime was committed when he was a boy. He is skilled, and it appears to us to be wise to permit this man to use his skill in constructive employment. The action of the Board is further fortified by the statements of the prosecutor and the trial judge.

 OffenseManslaughter
 Term.....No minimum, but maximum of 20 years
 Previous convictions: Disorderly conduct; drunkenness; two violations of the motor vehicle law, including driving an automobile while intoxicated.

Resume of crime:

On or about the 13th day of October, 1940, the subject, together with a friend, started on a hunting trip, which terminated on an island in the vicinity of Mason County. There a number of men joined the hunting party, and all indulged in drinking wine and whiskey. The party became more or less intoxicated. The deceased was definitely under the influence of liquor, and in some manner got the subject's gun in his possession. Subject thought that the deceased was going to damage it in some way, which led to an altercation. During the altercation the other parties left, and after they had gone some little distance they heard shots, but did not realize that it involved the deceased and the subject. However, it was soon discovered that there had been a killing, and when the sheriff arrived on the scene the subject apparently knew nothing about the shooting, and talked of fifth column activities. The subject had been severely wounded in 1925 in an automobile accident, being unconscious for 72 hours. Since the accident he had exhibited queer tendencies. The trial judge stated that he believed the subject was sincere in the statement that he knew nothing of the shooting. Subject entered a plea of guilty, which was accepted on the ground that the true facts of the case seemed to show sufficient intoxication and mental unbalance to preclude the ability to form an intention to kill the deceased. The trial judge recommended that his term be fixed between the minimum sentence which could be imposed and the maximum of 10 years. Board fixed sentence at 5 years.

Supporting recommendations:

The early parole of this subject was recommended by the trial judge, the prosecuting attorney, the Attorney General of the State of Washington and a state senator from an adjacent district.

Prison record: Excellent.

Present situation:

The subject was investigated by Mr. Fahey, and was found to be living with his parents in a small rundown farmhouse located in a farm yard which showed signs of neglect. The subject's mother stated that they had been short-handed and hard-pressed while the subject was in the Reformatory. She has quit work in order to care for her husband, who is in poor health. The last parole report states that subject has earned $200 since his release. The mother corrected this statement, saying that a large part of this fund was part of the savings account which she had accumulated for the subject while he was incarcerated. He has now expended this money for farm animals. From all appearances the subject is devoting himself to farm work, and plans to plant and harvest a crop in the coming season.

Comment:

Your committee finds nothing to criticize in the action of the Board in recommending clemency in this case. Certain entries in the record lead one to believe that this individual is one of limited intelligence and possessed of certain grandiose ideas. Close supervision while on parole is recommended.

Resume of crime:

This man, with subject No. 22 and a third man who was pardoned by the Governor on September 29, 1938, were accused of murder in the first degree in connection with an attempted robbery of a business establishment. All three men pleaded not guilty, and upon trial the jury disagreed. All three men were then permitted to enter pleas of guilty to the crime of murder in the second degree, and it is upon the sentence pursuant to this plea of guilty that they have been incarcerated in the State Penitentiary.

Supporting recommendations:

The files of the Board of Prison Terms and Paroles show a recommendation by the trial judge for executive clemency as far back as November 25, 1935. This recommendation by the trial judge was renewed on November 22, 1939. The files also disclose that the prosecuting attorney followed a policy of refusing to make recommendations, but offered no objection. The files also disclose letters from the attorney appointed by the court to represent these men, which are particularly impressive.

Prison record: Good.

Present situation:

A field investigation was made of this case by Mr. George E. Fahey. He was found to be employed by one of the Puget Sound shipbuilding companies, where his record for industry and regularity were found to be excellent. His earnings since his release from the institution have been above average, and his bank book shows deposits in a savings account amounting to a total of $675.

His living quarters in a rooming house appeared to be satisfactory. Subject appeared to resent the visit of the investigator and was very much upset over the recent newspaper publicity.

Comment:

The committee believes the Board of Prison Terms and Paroles was entirely justified in recommending executive clemency in this case. It is recommended, however, that in view of his disturbed frame of mind attendant upon the recent newspaper publicity that the parole officer having charge of this case work rather closely with him for a period of time.

On the other hand, it was found that he is living in the home of a family which has two sons who have served terms in the Penitentiary. Neither of these sons is now at home.

Comment:

There seems to have been reasonable justification for recommending executive clemency in this case, as well as in the companion case, No. 21. In view of his living associations with the family mentioned above it is recommended that the parole officer assist him in finding other living quarters which will not bring him in contact with associations which might lead to further delinquency.

GENERAL RECOMMENDATIONS

1. In order to avoid any question as to the status of the men who have been released, and regarding whom favorable recommendation has been made herein, and who you believe, after a study of each case, to be worthy of remaining at large, we recommend the granting of conditional pardons and the placing of the men under the supervision of the Board of Prison Terms and Paroles, as authorized by Section 7, Chapter 114, Laws of 1935.

2. In accordance with the general discussion of the subject of pardon and parole found in the introduction to this report, it is recommended that the laws of the State of Washington be amended to permit the Board of Prison Terms and Paroles to grant paroles to prisoners sentenced to life terms after they have served the minimum of 15 years. It should be made clear in this connection that your committee does not believe that all life termers should be paroled. We do believe that the Board of Prison Terms and Paroles should have the power to consider each case on its merits for parole, after a specified period of years. This is in accordance with the general recommendations made in the United States Attorney General's Survey of Release Procedure.

3. The committee's examination of these cases has led to the belief that there is a need for a more carefully defined procedure for investigating executive clemency. Some states employ a special investigator for this purpose. He is usually attached to the Board of Paroles or the Board of Pardons, if there is one. In the State of Washington it is probable that this function could be vested in some one qualified person who is already in the employ of the state.

4. It is recommended that the supervisory field staff of the Board of Prison Terms and Paroles be strengthened through the addition of more officers and the institution of a training program.

Your committee is led to this conclusion by a review of the cases referred to us. We find that in some instances proper arrangements have not been made for the employment of the released men, nor has sufficient investigation been made of the social environment into which the released prisoner intends to enter. We also find that the supervision of the released prisoner has in many instances been haphazard and contacts have been made at long intervals.

While we believe that parole is a more satisfactory means of releasing men from institutions than the granting of conditional or full pardons, it should be pointed out that parole cannot fulfill its real function unless it is implemented with an adequate personnel. The basic function of parole is parallel to the function of our whole penal and correctional system, namely that of the protection of society. This protection is presumed to be effected by the careful supervision and guidance of parolees for long periods after their release. Society is entitled to this protection, particularly from men convicted of such serious offenses as those reviewed in this report, either by incarceration in a penal institution or by close supervision, in the event parole or some other form of release is deemed proper. The best interests of the paroled prisoner as well as society are served by such supervision, to the end that the paroled prisoner may be aided and guided during the parole period and prompt revocation be made in the event the parolee violates his parole.

5. It is recommended that the Board of Prison Terms and Paroles enter into a closer relationship with sister states in the carrying out of reciprocal agreements for parole supervision. These agreements are in force and are established by law. However, it was found that in a number of the cases referred to this committee no effort had been made to develop a parole plan before permitting a parolee to take up residence in another state. The need for inter-state cooperation in matters of this kind is obvious. If it is possible for one of our parolees to escape close supervision merely by taking up residence in another state, it is equally possible for parolees in other states to take up residence in the State of Washington without the knowledge of the parole authorities, and thereby deprive the citizens of this state of the protection to which they are entitled.

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

The committee wishes to express its appreciation for the fine spirit displayed by the present members of the Board of Prison Terms and Paroles in making available their records and the facilities of their office to the extent to which they were necessary in making this investigation.

The committee also wishes to express gratitude for and to commend the excellent work done by Mr. George E. Fahey in making the field investigations within the State of Washington.

Senators Wall, Reardon and Zednick demanded the previous question.

Senator Rosellini raised a point of order that consideration of the bill could not be had after he gave notice of reconsideration of the vote until tomorrow.

The President announced that although the Senate has a very definite rule in regard to reconsidering motions, resolutions, petitions or bills, it also has a rule pertaining to dilatory actions, and in view of the fact that the Legislature is limited by Constitutional limitation to sixty days, it is the purpose of all parliamentary practice to expedite business, and the President rules that the motion to reconsider is out of order. The President further stated that this is an attempt to reconsider the second time.

Senator Rosellini announced that he desired to call the President's attention to the fact that Senate Bill No. 34 had not been reconsidered; that the reconsideration was on Senate Bill No. 32 and Senate Bill No. 33.

The motion to reconsider was on Senate Bill No. 32.

Senator Zednick stated that he desired to call the attention of the President to Rule 31 on Special Order. "The President shall call the Senate to order at the hour fixed for the consideration of a special order, and announce that the special order is before the Senate, which shall then be considered unless it is postponed by a two-thirds vote, and any business before the Senate at the time of the announcement of the special order shall take its regular position in the order of business."

The President stated: "The Chair will rule, in view of the fact that it has been pointed out to the Chair that the reconsideration was made on Senate Bill No. 32 and that no action of this kind was had on Senate Bill No. 34.

it does not feel justified in saying that this is a dilatory act and naturally if the notice to reconsider is in effect no action could be taken on the bill because the action was not disposed of."

Senator Warren appealed from the decision of the Chair.

Senator Rabbitt raised a point of order that this is an attempt to repeal Rule 27.

Senator Warren, supported by Senators Dawson and Davison, appealed from the decision of the Chair.

Senator Neal, supported by Senators Binyon, Malstrom, Bargreen, Mohler, Baldwin, Rosellini and Klinefelter, demanded a roll call.

A roll call was ordered.

The Secretary called the roll on the appeal from the decision of the Chair and the Chair was sustained in his ruling by the following vote:

Those voting yea were: Senators Baldwin, Bargreen, Bienz, Binyon, Black, Copeland, Dixon, Forbus, Hanson, Henehan, Jackson, Klinefelter, Malstrom, Marsh, McCutcheon, Mohler, Murphy, Neal, Rabbitt, Ray, Rosellini, Schroeder, Thomas, Todd—24.

SENATE RESOLUTION

By Senator Rabbitt:

Be It Resolved, by the Senate of the State of Washington, in legislative session assembled:

WHEREAS, essential industries have had to draw increasingly on womanpower so that many women with children have gone to work in war industries, and many more will have to go to work in "labor shortage" and "critical" areas if vital war output is to be maintained; and

WHEREAS, the children of these working mothers must be given proper care, and all school children must be given more supervised activity so that by wholesome release from the strain of war tensions delinquency may be prevented; and

WHEREAS, the Congress of the United States has recognized these necessities for children in war-time and has provided funds for nursery school and extended school care of such children; and

WHEREAS, local and state governments have acted upon this initiative of the United States and have made commitments in establishing these child-care facilities; and

WHEREAS, due to the multiplicity of agencies involved and the complexity of their processes, funds have been unduly delayed so as to hamper the war effort and leave our children unwisely neglected;

Now, Therefore, Be It Resolved, That the Senate of the State of Washington hereby urges the President and Congress of the United States of America to continue these funds for the care of children so as to insure the war effort, protect its young citizens, and honor its commitments; and to eliminate the delay in the processing of such funds so that the security of our children is not neglected; and

Be It Further Resolved, That copies of this resolution be immediately transmitted to the Honorable Franklin D. Roosevelt, President of the United States, the Secretary of the United States Senate, the Clerk of the United States House of Representatives and to each member of the United States Congress from the State of Washington.

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR

State of Washington, Executive Department,
Olympia, March 9, 1943.

To the Honorable, The Senate of the State of Washington:

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN:

I am returning herewith, without my approval, Senate Bill No. 154, entitled:

"An Act providing for maintenance of certain state elective officials; making an appropriation therefor, and declaring an emergency."

This bill appropriates $49,200 to pay for "maintenance consisting of subsistence and lodging" in the amount of $3,600 per annum to the Lieutenant Governor, Secretary of State, State Treasurer, State Auditor, Attorney General and State Superintendent of Public Instruction, and $1,500 per annum to the Commissioner of Public Lands and the State Insurance Commissioner. In Section 1 it is recited that the expenditure of "additional and extraordinary funds for maintenance consisting of subsistence and lodging commensurate with their official duties . . ." unjustifiably imposes a heavy financial burden upon these officers.

The state officers in question are elected for a period of several years and therefore, unlike members of the legislature, are not faced with the financial burden of maintaining themselves away from their established homes while performing their official duties at Olympia. Nor are they required to assume the heavy expenses incident to the upkeep of an official residence provided by the state. It must therefore be concluded that the payment of this "maintenance" has no basis of justification other than that present salaries of these officers provide insufficient compensation for the positions.

It is generally recognized that the present salaries of most of these public officers are inadequate in view of the present responsibilities thereof, and the greatly increased cost of living. But the State Constitution prescribes the maximum salary for the first six of these officers, all of whom, with the exception of the Lieutenant Governor, are presently receiving the maximum. The State Constitution further provides that the compensation of public officers shall be neither increased nor diminished during their terms of office. There being no special reason for the payment of "maintenance" in these cases, it would therefore appear that the use of that term was for the sole purpose of circumventing the constitutional restrictions referred to above.

It is possible that the use of the term "maintenance" would bring this bill within the letter of the constitution. It is obvious to me that it does not bring the bill into accord with the spirit of that document. Were the legislature to have free reign to raise or lower compensation of state officers at will, without restriction or limitation of any kind, by the simple device of calling it "maintenance," the effect thereof upon the deliberations of future legislatures, and upon the candor and independence of state officers, could be most insidious. Since the matter of appropriations for such "maintenance" payments would be a recurring problem at every session of the legislature the raising or lowering or complete elimination thereof would be likely to inject disturbing influences which would interfere with legislative attention to more important matters. Moreover, if it became the practice to provide a portion of the compensation of state officers by means of a "maintenance" allowance fixed each biennium by the legislature, no state officer or candidate for such position could ever be sure just what the compensation for his office was to be.

It was no doubt these considerations which prompted the framers of our constitution to specify maximum salaries for these officers, beyond which the legislature was forbidden to go. Likewise this was undoubtedly the reasoning behind the constitutional provision prohibiting the increasing or diminishing of such compensation during the terms of office of these officials. The people, no longer ago than 1940, have reaffirmed this principle by defeating, by a vote of 259,482 to 183,478, a proposed amendment to the constitution which would have given the legislature the power to raise or lower these salaries at will.

When our constitution stands in the way of a change which needs to be made, the only proper and forthright way to correct the condition is to amend the constitution. House Joint Resolution No. 10, now before the legislature, proposes to submit the question of salary increases of state officers to the voters at the next election, and in my opinion the increased scale there set forth is reasonable and should be approved by the people. By following this constitutional process, the unwholesome condition which would result were the legislature to now assume this power and thus attempt to from one session to another exercise that power, will be wholly avoided.

For these reasons, Senate Bill No. 154 is vetoed.

Respectfully submitted,
ARTHUR B. LANGLEY,
Governor.

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert in lieu thereof the following:
Section 1. This act may be cited as the "Washington State War Council Act."

Sec. 2. It is hereby declared to be the policy of the legislature that by reason of the present war conditions resulting therefrom and in the interests of the defense of this state and of the United States, it is necessary to effectively cooperate with the United States government and all of the agencies thereof which are engaged in the prosecution of said war, and provide for the protection of the life, safety and health of the people of this state during said war, and assist in the maintenance of uninterrupted production and transportation of vital war materials, and fully utilize the resources of the state, and to that end it is necessary that the actions and movements of the civilian population be controlled, restricted and regulated. Therefore, it is necessary that said Council be empowered to make, amend and rescind rules and regulations to carry out the provisions of this act.

Sec. 3. There is hereby created the Washington State War Council, to consist of three members, as follows: The Governor of the State of Washington, who shall act as chairman, the Lieutenant Governor and the Insurance Commissioner. The office of the Washington State War Council shall be located at Olympia, Washington, and its official title and address shall be, "Washington State War Council, care of The Secretary of State, Olympia, Washington." All rules, regulations, orders and directives issued pursuant to this act shall be in the name of "The Washington State War Council."

Sec. 4. That the contingencies and happenings within the contemplation of this act are: Threatened or actual invasion; bombing; actual or attempted air raids of enemy powers; fires; floods; epidemics or disease; destruction of public buildings, war plants, strategic bridges or other buildings and places essential to proper prosecution of the war effort by sabotage or otherwise, grave danger to the life, health and safety of the people of the State of Washington as evidenced by the promulgation of orders and directives of the United States government, the Department of Justice, the United States military or naval forces or other armed forces of the United States regarding blackouts, radio silences, traffic control over any street, road or highway in the State of Washington, mobilization of civilians, evacuations, or any other matter concerning the protection of military and/or civilian lives, property and interests in the State of Washington.

Sec. 5. A copy therefore shall be filed in the office of the Secretary of State or if promulgated by a political subdivision of the state or any agency thereof, it shall be filed in the office of the clerk of the governing body of the political subdivision for which the same has been promulgated. SENATE BILLS

March 23, 1943

Senate Bill No. 104

"I am filing herewith, to be transmitted to the Senate at the next session of the legislature, without my approval, Senate Bill No. 104, entitled:

"An Act Licensing blasters in tunnels, quarries, railroads, caissons, subways, highways, buildings, ditches, and general construction excepting mining, open face quarries and magnesite operations; prescribing their qualifications and fees; establishing a board of examiners; creating a special fund; and providing penalties for violations of the provisions hereof."

"This bill appears as a safety measure designed to reduce the hazards incident to conducting blasting operations in industry. From a review of the bill, its exclusions and its inconsistencies, and after receiving the record of the Department of Labor and Industries as to the incidents of hazard as evidenced by the reported accidents and claims over a period of the last several years, there appears to be no need for this legislation. Such accidents as have occurred, and they have been few in number, have been due to factors that would not have been obviated—even assuming an examining board had acted in licensing the people involved.

"A bill such as this would add cost and red tape to construction work and in these days of labor shortage would create a hardship in rural areas where licensed blasters might not be obtainable.

"This measure might also set a precedent for boards to examine and license many other trades and classifications of workmen where, though the tools of their trade do not appear to be so dangerous, actually involve workmen in many more injuries and in many instances greater hazard than the occupation covered in this bill.

"The Federal Bureau of Mines and the State Patrol already have a very comprehensive plan of licensing powder users and the safety division of the Department of Labor and Industries has set up standards covering blasting in tunnels, quarries, and general construction and is now working on an extension of those standards to cover industry in general. These standards will be submitted to a general safety conference next month.

"For the above stated reasons, I believe the bill is unnecessary from the standpoint of safety, and that, considering all factors, it might prove more detrimental than beneficial.

Senate Bill No. 154

"I am returning herewith, without my approval, Senate Bill No. 154, entitled:

"An Act Providing for maintenance of certain state elective officials; making an appropriation therefor, and declaring an emergency."

"This bill appropriates $49,200 to pay for 'maintenance consisting of subsistence and lodging' in the amount of $3,600 per annum to the Lieutenant Governor, Secretary of State, State Treasurer, State Auditor, Attorney General and State Superintendent of Public Instruction, and $1,500 per annum to the Commissioner of Public Lands and the State Insurance Commissioner. In section 1 it is recited that the expenditure of 'additional and extraordinary funds for maintenance consisting of subsistence and lodging commensurate with their official duties * * *' unjustifiably imposes a heavy financial burden upon these officers.

"The state officers in question are elected for a period of several years and therefore, unlike members of the legislature, are not faced with the financial burden of maintaining themselves away from their established homes while performing their official duties at Olympia. Nor are they required to assume the heavy expenses incident to the upkeep of an official residence provided by the state. It must therefore be concluded that the payment of this 'maintenance' has no basis of justification other than that present salaries of these officers provide insufficient compensation for the positions.

"It is generally recognized that the present salaries of most of these public officers are inadequate in view of the present responsibilities thereof, and the greatly increased cost of living. But the State Constitution prescribes the maximum salary for the first six of these officers, all of whom, with the exception of the Lieutenant Governor, are presently receiving the maximum. The State Constitution further provides that the compensation of public officers shall be neither increased nor diminished during their terms of office. There being no special reason for the payment of 'maintenance' in these cases, it would therefore appear that the use of that term was for the sole purpose of circumventing the constitutional restrictions referred to above.

"It is possible that the use of the term 'maintenance' would bring this bill within the letter of the constitution. It is obvious to me that it does not bring the bill into accord with the spirit of that document. Were the legislature to have free reign to raise or lower compensation of state officers at will, without restriction or limitation of any kind, by the simple device of calling it 'maintenance,' the effect thereof upon the deliberations of future legislatures, and upon the candor and independence of state officers, could be most insidious. Since the matter of appropriations for such 'maintenance' payments would be a recurring problem at every session of the legislature, the raising or lowering or complete elimination thereof would be likely to inject disturbing influences which would interfere with legislative attention to more important matters. Moreover, if it became the practice to provide a portion of the compensation of state officers by means of a 'maintenance' allowance fixed each biennium by the legislature, no state officer or candidate for such position could ever be sure just what the compensation for his office was to be.

"It was no doubt these considerations which prompted the framers of our constitution to specify maximum salaries for these officers, beyond which the legislature was forbidden to go. Likewise this was undoubtedly the reasoning behind the constitutional provision prohibiting the increasing or diminishing of such compensation during the terms of office of these officials. The people, no longer ago than 1940, have reaffirmed this principle by defeating, by a vote of 259,842 to 183,478, a proposed amendment to the constitution which would have given the legislature the power to raise or lower these salaries at will.

"When our constitution stands in the way of a change which needs to be made, the only proper and forthright way to correct the condition is to amend the constitution. House Joint Resolution No. 10, now before the legislature, proposes to submit the question of salary increases of state officers to the voters at the next election, and in my opinion the increased scale there set forth is reasonable and should be approved by the people. By following this constitutional process, the unwholesome condition which would result were the legislature to now assume this power and thus attempt to, from one session to another, exercise that power, will be wholly avoided.

"For these reasons, Senate Bill No. 154 is vetoed."

March 23, 1943

Senate Bill No. 200

"I am filing herewith, to be transmitted to the Senate at the next session of the legislature, without my approval as to certain items, Senate Bill No. 200, entitled:

"An Act Making appropriations for the purchase of land, construction of buildings and improvements at designated state institutions; for the payment of salaries of certain officers and employees of the state and for the operation, maintenance and other expenses of certain state institutions, departments and offices; for the relief of certain individuals, corporations, counties and municipalities; for refunds and for deficiencies and for emergencies, including deficiencies and appropriation of revolving funds, and for purposes specified in certain acts of Congress, and for miscellaneous purposes designated for the fiscal biennium beginning April 1, 1943, and ending March 31, 1945, except as otherwise provided; defining terms, limiting allowances and providing that this act shall take effect immediately."

"I disapprove and veto the item 'FROM THE BLASTERS EXAMINERS FUND to carry out the provisions of Senate Bill 104 (Expenditures not to exceed receipts) $10,000.00,' for the reason that Senate Bill 104 has been vetoed and this appropriation, therefore, is unnecessary.

"I disapprove and veto the item 'Ida Bertelacchi, refund of monies escheated to Permanent School Fund $1,603.50,' for the reason that this claim for refund was presented to the 1941 legislature and disallowed, and no further or different facts have been brought to light which would warrant reversal of this decision. The escheat of monies to the Permanent School Funds should not be set aside except for the most impelling reasons and no such reasons appear to exist in this case.

"I disapprove and veto the item 'International Typographical Union, refund of funds of the estate of William G. Evans escheated to the Permanent School Fund $1,158.10,' for the reason that approval thereof would be to give full legal effect to informal and unwitnessed written instruments purporting to bequeath personal property, contrary to the law of wills. Such a precedent might open the door to possible future abuses of our escheat statutes of which the Permanent School Funds are the prime beneficiary.

"I disapprove and veto the item 'J. S. Johnson, for services as bridge operator of Lake Washington bridge, August 6, 1940, to December 1, 1940

$100.00,' for the reason that the records of the highway department show that the amount due claimant is $50.00 rather than $100.00.

"With the exception of the foregoing items, which are vetoed, the remainder of Senate Bill No. 200 is approved."

March 20, 1943

Senate Bill No. 298

"I am filing herewith, to be transmitted to the Senate at the next session of the legislature, without my approval as to section 2, Senate Bill No. 298, entitled:

"An Act Relating to public highways; creating and establishing, describing and designating additions to the primary state highways of the State of Washington; eliminating certain secondary state highways from the secondary state highway system; amending sections 2, 3 and 12, chapter 207, Laws of 1937 (sections 6402-2, 6402-3 and 6402-12, Remington's Revised Statutes, Volume 7A); and declaring an emergency and that this act shall take effect April 1, 1943."

"Section 2 of Senate Bill No. 298 establishes an extension of the Primary State Highway system for which no real need appears to exist at the present time.

"For this reason, section 2 is vetoed and the remainder of the bill is approved."
