JOURNAL OF THE SENATE

STATE OF WASHINGTON THIRTY-NINTH LEGISLATURE

FIRST DAY

SENATE CHAMBER,
OLYMPIA, WASH., Monday, January 11, 1965.
At Noon.

The Thirty-ninth Senate of the state of Washington assembled at the Senate Chamber in the State Capitol, pursuant to law at noon.

Lieutenant Governor John A. Cherberg, President of the Senate, called the Senate to order.

The President declared the Senate to be at ease.

At 12:15 p.m., the Senate was called to order by President Cherberg.

The Color Guard consisting of Pages Curt Leady, Color Bearer, and Teresa Hallauer, presented the Colors.

The Reverend Walter A. MacArthur, pastor of the First Methodist Church of Olympia, offered prayer as follows:

"What a privilege life is! Eternal Father. What joy and exhilaration is ours as we come once again to a new day—THIS DAY and its significant meaning. We pause to thank Thee then, for life and for all that makes it worth living. What responsibility life brings! It is not a meaningless round of petty experiences with no purpose. It is not a treadmill of activity with no progress and no direction. IT IS A GIFT OF HIGH CALLING—GREAT CHALLENGE! Here we are, select individuals, elected by our peers for these special and particular duties. They have recognized in us certain capabilities of wisdom, judgment and courage. They have called us to exercise these special gifts so needed for the facing of these hours and the living of these days in this great State.

"Thus, we come to this opening hour of this Legislature with humbleness of heart and spirit . . . profoundly grateful for the confidence of our fellow citizens, justly proud of the heritage handed to us by those who have served in this Chamber in years gone by, devotedly determined to do our best, to give our utmost, to serve with honor and integrity. Motivate us, guide and direct us and bless us in all our endeavors, through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen."

"Members of the Senate, Ladies and Gentlemen:

"The President at this time should like to remark that it is a true pleasure, to once again greet so many good friends at the start of this Thirty-ninth Legis-

It is gratifying to see that there are so many loved ones present in the audience today to observe the administering of the oath of office to our newly elected and re-elected Senators.

The Acting Sergeant at Arms locked the doors of the Senate Chamber.

The Acting Secretary commenced to call the roll on the Call of the Senate:

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Senator Moriarty Jr.:

"Mr. President, point of parliamentary inquiry."

The President:

"The Senator will state his parliamentary inquiry."

Senator Moriarty, Jr.:

"Will the President advise me under what rules we are now operating that provide for a Call of the Senate?"

MOTIONS

Senator Greive:

"Mr. President:

"I move that this Body be governed by majority rule."

Senator Moriarty, Jr.:

"Mr. President:

"I move that the Senate be at recess until 3:15."

POINT OF ORDER

Senator Greive:

"Since there are no rules, the majority rule motion will have to be put first."

Senator Moriarty, Jr.:

"Answering Senator Greive, I would like to point out that by parliamentary law and custom, motions to recess take precedence."

RULING BY THE PRESIDENT

The President:

"It is the ruling of the President that inasmuch as the Senate is conducting a roll call, no interruptions shall be permitted."

The Acting Secretary continued with the roll call, and all Senators were present.

MOTION

Senator Greive moved that the Senate be at recess for one hour.

POINT OF INQUIRY

The President:

"For what purpose does Senator Woodall rise?"

Senator Woodall:

"To find out if it would be all right with the majority if some of us went over and observed the House during this recess."

Senator Greive:

"It not only would be all right, we would be very happy to see them go."

RULING BY THE PRESIDENT

The President:

"The President must remind the members of the Senate that the Senate is still under the Call of the Senate and, for that reason, permission cannot be granted for the Senators to leave the Chamber to observe the House of Representatives and its procedure."

POINT OF ORDER

Senator Dore:

"Point of order, Mr. President:

"Do we have any rules under which this vote can be called for? I am not aware that we have passed any rules either temporary or permanent. As I recall, the Constitution provides in the final passage of bills, one-sixth of the members of the Senate may call for a roll call. This is not a bill. This is merely a motion. I wonder if Senator Moriarty might advise me what provision he is relying on."

RULING BY THE PRESIDENT

The President:

"The President believes Article II, Section 21 of the State Constitution covers the point of order raised by Senator Dore in that it provides that the yeas or nays of either House shall be entered on the journal on the demand of one-sixth of the members present. The President believes that Senator Moriarty has the right to demand a roll call. The demand for the roll call has been sustained.

"The question before the Senate is, it has been moved by Senator Bailey that the Senate proceed in order subject to roll call. The Secretary will call the roll."

COMMITTEE FROM THE HOUSE

The report was received and the committee retired.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS

The President declared the first order of business to be nominations for the office of President Pro Tempore.

Senator Knoblauch:

"Mr. President and members of the Senate:

"We like to think that some of the most able and capable people of the state of Washington are among these state Senators; those who have the ability to serve their state in a very fine manner.

"I had the privilege of entering the Senate in 1953 with a young man from Lake Stevens, serving his first term in the state Legislature. Throughout the years, this young man grew in ability and in respect among the members of both political parties. He is a young man whom we know to be fair, a young man whom we have known through the years to be extremely sincere and hard working, one who could do a most able job as a presiding officer of the state Senate.

"I would like to place in nomination the name of my seat mate who entered the Senate with me in 1953, one of our most capable Senators, for the office of President Pro Tempore, Senator William A. Gissberg of the Thirty-ninth District."

Senator Riley:

"Mr. President, Senator Morgan, and gentlemen of the Senate:

"I rise to second the nomination of Senator William Gissberg as President Pro Tempore.

"In the 1953 Legislature, we welcomed a new Senator, William A. Gissberg, who came to us from the area of the Thirty-ninth District. He brought enthusiasm with him. His natural qualifications for this office were noticeable immediately.

"Since his first session, Senator Gissberg has been recognized as a man of integrity, a man of abundant knowledge of matters in the science of government. Senator Gissberg is a keen competitor, and he is known throughout the Senate as one who is completely fair on all occasions. Daily he has shown his leadership qualifications. He has the respect of all the Senators. I personally feel that Senator Gissberg meets all the required specifications to assume the duties of President Pro Tempore."

Senator England:

"Mr. President:

"I have the distinct pleasure this afternoon of placing in nomination for President Pro Tempore of this Senate the name of one of the respected members of our side of the aisle from the Forty-eighth District, Senator Albert C. Thompson, Jr.

"I do believe I met Senator Thompson long before most of those here. In fact, I first knew his mother before I knew Senator Thompson, many years ago. I will say this about Senator Thompson: I think there is no one who has given more effort to the office of Senator, who has taken the office more sincerely. Although this afternoon he was a holdover and did not have to take the oath of office again, I am sure that every time that oath of office was repeated, he repeated it also. There is no one on the floor of this Senate who is more dedicated to upholding the laws and the Constitution of the United States, and I submit there is no one more qualified as a leader than our Senator Thompson.

"Senator Thompson first entered politics on the school board of his local school district in Bellevue. He served there with distinction and then was elected to the Senate in 1958, and 1962. He is a leader. I submit this because, for example, he is one out of four men who have been voted a life membership in the Washington State School Directors' Association. He has also been given the distinct honor of being voted a life member of the Washington Congress of Parents and Teachers Association.

"It is a distinct pleasure again to submit the name of Senator Albert C. Thompson, Jr., of the Forty-eighth District, for the office of President Pro Tempore of the Senate."

There being no further nominations, the President declared the nominations closed.

ROLL CALL

The Acting Secretary called the roll on the election of President Pro Tempore of the Senate, and Senator Gissberg was elected by the following vote: Senator Gissberg, 31; Senator Thompson, Jr. 17; excused, 1.

Those voting for Senator Gissberg were: Senators Bailey, Charette, Connor, Cooney, Cowen, Donohue, Dore, Durkan, Foley, Gallagher, Hallauer, Hanna, Henry, Herr, Herrmann, Keefe, Knoblauch, Kupka, McCormack, McCutcheon, McMillan, Mardesich, Morgan, Peterson (Lowell), Petrich, Rasmussen, Riley, Sandison, Talley, Thompson, Jr., Washington—31.

Those voting for Senator Thompson, Jr. were: Senators Atwood, Chytil, England, Freise, Gissberg, Guess, Lennart, Lewis, Moriarty, Jr., Neill, Peterson (Ted), Raugust, Redmon, Ryder, Stender, Williams, Woodall—17.

Excused: Senator Greive—1.

The President declared that, Senator Gissberg having received the constitutional majority vote of the Senate, was elected President Pro Tempore of the Senate.

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Thompson, Jr.:

"Mr. President:

"I rise to a point of personal privilege. I think this body used excellent wisdom in choosing the fine Senator they have elected as President Pro Tempore of the Senate. I, too, have had the privilege of serving with Senator Gissberg. I think the man is certainly well qualified, and it is a pleasure to sit in this body with him."

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Bailey:

"Mr. President, point of personal privilege:

"I would like to ask Senator Thompson if the Democratic Party as a whole doesn't use better wisdom and judgment?"

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Moriarty, Jr.:

"Point of personal privilege, Mr. President:

"If you have thirty-two votes, it is very easy to show good judgment. While I am here, I would also like to congratulate Senator Gissberg and comment that our nominee never had a chance."

PRESIDENT'S PRIVILEGE

The President:

"Members of the Senate, Ladies and Gentlemen:

"Justice Weaver is on his way to the Senate Chamber to administer the oath of office to Senator William A. Gissberg. With your approval, Senator Gissberg, the Senate will proceed with nominations for the office of Pro Tempore Vice President of the Senate of the state of Washington."

The President declared that nominations were now in order for the office of Vice President Pro Tempore of the Senate.

Senator Knoblauch:

"Mr. President and members of the Senate:

"It's a rare occasion when a man has the privilege to nominate two very fine, capable Senators for offices in this Senate.

"It is most difficult to find the words that I want to use in nominating the man who will serve us as Vice President Pro Tempore of the Washington State Senate. How can one really describe the very fine Senator from the Forty-seventh District, Spokane, who, when he completes his present term, will have served thirty-two years in the State Legislature, nearly half the length of time that Washington has been a state—a man who is most beloved by every member of the Senate, both Democrats and Republicans, a man who has served—and this will be his fifth time as the Vice President Pro Tempore, a man most able in this position. He has done this for a long time and I am sure we will all agree that he does an outstanding job.

"This man I am about to nominate is the Senior Legislator in the state of Washington; and, when he finishes his present term, he will have served longer as a legislator than any man in the history of our state.

"Of course, I am talking about that likeable, lovable, and very fine Senator from Spokane. I would like to place in nomination for Vice President Pro Tempore, the name of our beloved Senator Dr. David Cowen."

Senator Gissberg:

"Mr. President, Lady and Gentlemen of the Senate:

"I rise to second the nomination of Dr. Senator David C. Cowen to the position of Vice President Pro Tempore. I can recall over the years in serving with Dr. Dave that he has on many occasions been called to the rostrum to preside, and on most of the occasions that he has been so ordered, it has been under circumstances where time was of the essence, when this body had to act and act expeditiously, when the sixtieth day was here upon us and perhaps there were seven or eight hours left, and much vital legislation needed to be passed during those seven or eight hours.

"Dr. David knows how to preside over this body. He knows how to use the gavel. He knows how to get things done in a hurry. It would be my fond hope that Dr. David might be able to show us now how to get things done in a hurry, in view of what I suspect is turning out to be somewhat of a mild filibuster.

"What I am trying to say is that Dr. Cowen is eminently qualified to serve as he has in the past, as Vice President, and I think, more than that, this is a demonstration to the Senate and to the state of Washington that Dr. David C. Cowen has earned the honors which we have given to him over the years, and he is going to receive a lot more before he leaves this Senate. I think there is no one present who has ever shown more courtesy and understanding to each of us as individuals than Dr. Dave. He is always thinking of the welfare of all of us. Particularly, individually, he shows us the many little courtesies that have made this State Senate so nice a place to come to."

Senator Guess:

"Mr. President, members of the Senate:

"I would like to place in nomination the name of not the eldest Senator, but one who is approaching the years and stature of the good Dr. David Cowen. This Senator first came to serve in the House in 1941. He served three terms and then, after a recess of about four years, he came back to serve another term, and finally he is serving his third term in the Senate.

"This gentleman was born in Sweden and, as so often is the case, when a person comes to the United States and studies the background of our country and knows whereof it is great, he becomes a stronger and a truer citizen of his adopted land than those of us who were fortunate enough to have been born here. This Senator is a true student of American history. He knows well many passages from the writings of Abraham Lincoln. He has stood before this body on numerous occasions to deliver the Lincoln Day address, and he certainly held us all spellbound Lincoln's Day 1963 when he appeared before us.

"In addition to being a historian, a student, he is also an artist, and his artistry has been the subject of several paintings, one of which was presented on the floor during the last session.

"Beside being a historian, an artist and a student, he is also one of the very strongest exponents of the free enterprise system, having founded his own company and having experimented in the field of seed production. He has made quite a name for himself in the field of agriculture. When you want certified seed, or when you want knowledge of seed crops, Senator Lennart is an able and learned authority.

"Because of his long service in both Houses, because of the ability that is native to his own makeup, I would like to place the name of Senator Lennart before the body for Vice President Pro Tempore."

Senator Raugust:

"Mr. President, members of the Senate:

"I am very happy to second the nomination of Senator Lennart. Senator Lennart came to this Senate about the same time I did. I have had the pleasure of serving with him before in the House. As was mentioned before, he is an adopted son of the United States, but when the time came during World War I, he did not hesitate, and he was one of the U.S. Marines that were on the battlefields of France, and his record speaks for itself. He holds degrees from two universities in the United States, plus one university in Europe. He has been a successful business man, as was pointed out somewhat by Senator Guess. He believes in the free enterprise system. On many occasions we have asked him to speak before the Senate, and he has spoken before the House as well.

"I do not know of any man that sits on this floor of the Senate that is better qualified for the position for which he was nominated than Senator Lennart."

There being no further nominations, the President declared the nominations for Vice President Pro Tempore closed.

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Lennart:

"Mr. President, personal privilege:

"All of the very wonderful things that were said about me, I think equally could be said about my very good friend, Senator Cowen. I could think no higher of any man, and this time I take defeat very kindly."

The special committee, consisting of Senators Neill and Hanna and the Acting Sergeant at Arms escorted The Honorable Justice Frank P. Weaver to a seat upon the rostrum.

The president appointed Senators Atwood, Gallagher and Hallauer as a committee of honor to escort Senator Gissberg to the rostrum.

The Acting Sergeant at Arms and the honor committee escorted Senator Gissberg to the rostrum and Justice Weaver administered the oath of office.

The President:

"Members of the Senate, Ladies and Gentlemen:

"The members of the Senate and the President wish to extend to you, Senator Gissberg, the heartiest and warmest congratulations. The President should like to add personally that having a tried and true friend in William A. Gissberg gives him a deep sense of satisfaction and pride. The President has had the opportunity over the years to introduce many fine people. Certainly Senator William A. Gissberg is one of the finest. Senator Gissberg, would you favor the members of the Senate and those present with your remarks?"

Senator Gissberg:

"Justice Weaver, Mr. President, my very fine friends and colleagues:

"I think that I can probably best express my feeling by saying that over the years as I have been sitting where you have been sitting on the opening day, I have perhaps not been as conscious of the real honor that is bestowed upon somebody who comes to the rostrum, until it has actually happened, and I feel that way now. It means so much to me, that I hardly know how to express the feeling that is so very deep within me.

"During the last campaign, I said to a lot of people, really I don't know why I am running except for the fact that I do know, and I said to my friends, that one of the redeeming features, in addition to the public service that we all think that we can provide to our people, and probably over a long period of time even more so, is the very fine comradeship, the wonderful friends that we make here in the Senate with one another on both sides of the aisle. I think some of my best friends are sitting on the Republican side of the aisle, as well as on the Democratic side of the aisle. I think we all have that feeling down deep within us that it is the personal contacts that we have with one another that is so redeeming to all of us.

"I will do what I can to my limited ability to uphold the oath that I just took, and to that extent I hope that I will have the wisdom and the judgment, when the occasion arises for me to assume the responsibility of this chair, to carry out in a limited sense, in some small part, as well as our Lieutenant Governor has done over the years.

"Thank you for having honored me so."

The President:

"Thank you very much, Bill, and I'm very happy that you have been chosen for this honor."

The honor committee escorted Senator Gissberg from the rostrum.

The President appointed Senators Knoblauch, Keefe and Guess to act as a committee of honor to escort Senator Cowen to the rostrum.

The committee escorted Senator Cowen to the rostrum.

The Honorable Frank P. Weaver, Justice of the Supreme Court, administered the oath of office to Senator Cowen.

The President:

"Members of the Senate, Ladies and Gentlemen:

"The President is sure that all would agree that it would be impossible to exaggerate the love, the affection, and the admiration that the people of the state of Washington have for Senator Dr. David C. Cowen. To attempt to enumerate his many acts of generosity and kindness would be impossible. The President has a deep personal affection for Senator Cowen and takes the greatest pride in having the privilege of presenting to you at this time the Honorable Dr. David C. Cowen, Vice President Pro Tempore of the Washington State Senate."

Senator Cowen:

"Justice Weaver, Lieutenant Governor Cherberg, my colleagues in the Senate:

"I am deeply grateful, and with all humility from everything I possess, for the great honor that you have bestowed upon me for the fifth consecutive time. I will do my very best and my very utmost as to the running of the Senate and preserving the decorum, as I have in the past.

Senator Redmon, would you please stand for a moment? Senator Redmon, this is your first day in the Senate, and, being a young man, I sincerely hope and pray that you will serve as long as I have in the Washington State Legislature. You being a kid, I'm sure you will live long enough to serve as long as I have. I hope and pray God will protect you and keep you well. And may you sit in this Senate for thirty-two long consecutive years.

"Members of the Senate, again, I am deeply grateful and humble, and I shall always cherish this moment as I have always cherished the last four sessions. Again, thank you."

The President:

"Thank you very much, David Cowen. We are all privileged to have the honor of serving with you. Now, Davey, a very dear friend of yours, Mrs. John Happy, among others, has noticed your ability as a short baton twirler. Mrs. Happy called me last evening and requested the privilege of presenting to you, through the members of the Senate and the President, this box of fifty short batons."

The committee of honor escorted Senator Cowen from the rostrum.

The President called for nominations for the office of Secretary of the Senate.

Senator Gissberg:

"Mr. President, Gentlemen and Lady of the Senate:

"I think that there is no better way of expressing a man's qualifications for any office than to comment upon the fact that he has been doing it for a long time and doing it well. Ward Bowden is a man whom I would like to nominate as Secretary of this Senate again. As I have said before on the many occasions I have had the pleasure of nominating him, and I don't really know what it would be like to serve here in the Senate without Ward as our Secretary of the Senate. He has always done a very fair job for Republicans and Democrats alike. Ward knows how to make this place run!

"I think that the reason we have had such an outstanding Senate over the years and the reason we have proceeded so well mechanically, with our employees and so on, is because of the fine work that Ward Bowden has done for us. We could do no better job in any circumstances, regardless of the number of Republicans on that side of the aisle or the number of Democrats on this side of the aisle, than to nominate and elect Ward Bowden Secretary of the Senate."

Senator Neill:

"Mr. President and members of the Senate:

"One of the oldest political axioms is that when you are short of votes, you talk. When you've got the votes, you vote. So I'll get around to the subject matter in a half hour or so.

"You know, we have built a country and a system of government in America on a strong, two-party system. This was not by design of our forefathers. We don't find this written into our Constitution. But it has developed, and I would submit for your consideration it is probably one of the things that has made this country great. You only need to think of some of the other nations on the face of this earth who have tried to emulate our system of government, but they have not been successful in installing with their written constitution or even their unwritten constitution the framework of a strong, two-party system. You saw what happened in the Weimar Republic in post World War I Germany when our country attempted to tell the Germans how to run a democracy; but they developed a one-party system, as you will recall, with failure as the result. We have seen France try to develop a constitutional form of government without the framework of a strong two-party system, and we have seen governments rise and fall in France almost weekly.

"Now this is all appropos of the subject matter before us, believe me, because we see fit on our side of the aisle to recognize the two-party system as the essence of American government; therefore, when it comes time to elect purely political officers, we in the minority feel that it is our duty to this system of government to nominate people from the minority, knowing full well that you gentlemen on the majority side of the aisle are aware that there is nothing personal in this. I know my good friend, Senator Gissberg, was not offended when we saw fit to nominate a man from our side of the aisle and did not vote for Senator Gissberg. I know Senator Gissberg realizes that we hold him in the highest esteem. But we feel this is a responsibility of our system of government.

"Now on a hot July afternoon in Philadelphia, nearly two hundred years ago, the very existence of American government hung in the balance. It hung in the balance on one basic issue, an issue which is really before this Senate today; and, in due time, will come to the floor. For three weeks during that hot summer in July in Philadelphia, the question of whether we could form a United States of America hung on the question of representative government. Now you all can go back and remember your high school civics and your history and remember the things I am reminding you of today for they are still important and worth recalling. When the large, populous states insisted on a legislative branch of government elected by population, when the small rural states insisted that there be an element of geography built into representative government, the greatest compromise in American government was made at that Constitutional Convention which permitted this country to come into existence. That great compromise resulted in a bicameral national legislature under which one body was representative of the people on a population basis, and one body was representative of the states, to-wit: geography and area. Throughout the history of America, this country grew and prospered under this philosophy of government.

"Suddenly, almost overnight, by decision of the United States Supreme Court, we see a new era. I'm not enough of a student of history, I'm not enough of a political scientist to stand here and attempt to forecast for you the real import of this historic decision. All I feel in my bones is that this is a change in the fundamental precepts of a government that has been successful such as no other government on the face of this earth, and we suddenly find this fundamental change which is going to have far reaching effects, not just in these halls—we are temporary—I'm here today and gone tomorrow—somebody else will take my place. This building will be replaced by some other building—but a system of government that has proven successful has been tampered with.

"Why am I talking about these things? Because of two points which I think are so fundamental that we've got to remind ourselves about them. I'm talking about the principle that minorities have always had a right to representation in America government. But apparently minorities are no longer going to have a right to representation in the legislative branch of American government.

"I'm talking about these facts because one of the things that I think we are going to see happening in these halls in the near future (as I at least hear the rumors and try to separate the facts from the fiction in these halls) is going to be basic to the question of whether the state of Washington retains this heritage of a two-party system of government. You know it's very easy for a majority to run absolutely roughshod over a minority. I'm not complaining personally. I have no cause for complaint. I have sat in these halls for a good number of years. I have enjoyed fine associations with each and every one of you, ladies and gentlemen across the aisle and in my prior service in the House of Representatives. When the chips were down, we have always found ourselves able to sit down and ignore purely party political alliances and find an answer to the very serious problems that have faced the people of the state of Washington.

"But one of the reasons we have been able to do this is because we operated under a two-party system. There have been times I have been here when, believe it or not—and you fellows may not remember this, but I can remember—we were in the majority. This thing works both ways throughout history, you know, and what I am talking about now is the preservation of something that I think is near and dear to everyone of us; that, we cannot completely ignore the rights of the minority—and I talk about the rights of minorities in this body. I talk about the rights of minorities who are minorities only because they happen to live in rural areas of a state. When it comes to someone speaking for this group, in a system of government where people do not speak directly for themselves, in a legislative branch of government—we operate under a representative system of government, not a democracy—I'm not telling you anything new—but reminding you of some of the problems we are going to have face us in the next few hours or days, depending on the circumstances, and I think we've got to be a little objective about this approach. So I reiterate, feeling so strongly about this as I do, I firmly believe that if you gentlemen were in our position, you would feel the same way we do, and I know you respect our position in this regard. We feel it is incumbent upon us, when purely political offices are at stake, that we disregard our personal feelings and high esteem for certain members on the other side of the aisle, and put our own people up in nomination for offices, because this is the way American government works.

"But now I want to address myself to another segment of the operation of the legislative body. We, out here on the floor of the Senate, operate in a political arena. We are all aware of this. It's give and take. We get bloodied once in a while, but we live through it and go home and laugh about it later. But while we're out here doing this and making our purely political plays or partisan plays, or geography plays or whatever you may want to call them, somebody has to keep the ship going. Somebody has to keep the back room operating.

"Now, I told you I'd get down to the subject here pretty quick. We on this side of the aisle have enjoyed working with Mr. Ward Bowden, and we have not seen fit to nominate anyone in opposition to Ward Bowden for the very reasons I have just outlined. I might reiterate those in just a few minutes, just to make sure they sink in. His is not a political office. Our offices in this arena are political. Our presiding officer is a politician, and I mean this in the highest sense, Mr. President. Our Temporary President, when he presides, is a political officer. But the person who keeps the wheels of state operating and makes the administrative machinery go is not exactly a political officer. That person serves all of us, whether Republican or Democrat. I don't think it makes very much difference. In fact, I know it makes no difference in the Secretary's office. He has served us well in his time here. We have no complaint whatsoever in spite of the fact that we have felt it necessary and I think proper, to recognize the rightful position of the minority party. (And, believe me, gentlemen, it looks pretty bad to me at the moment—thirty-two to seventeen—but you know, the political winds have a funny way of turning and one of these days I'm going to sit here and listen to you give this same speech, so I hope you are taking notes.)

"Now, having gotten past that point, it is with extreme pleasure on our side of the aisle that we rise and second the nomination of Ward Bowden for Secretary of the Senate.

"But, before I sit down, I want to go back and address myself one moment more to that which I think is so important; this question of the position of any minority in our particular system of government; and, I reiterate again to those of you who I think know me pretty well, you have never heard me give any personal complaints about this. I have no complaints. I'm merely standing up here and taking a few minutes of your valuable time because I want to make it absolutely clear—I was going to say 'crystal clear', but I'd have Senator Riley on his feet if I did—I want to make it absolutely clear that what we do here in the next few hours or the next few days has a meaning far beyond the pure question of who fills these seats. We are dealing with a fundamental principle of a system of government that has never seen its equal on the face of this globe; and, gentlemen, let's remember our responsibility when we take our action in the forthcoming hours.

"Thank you."

Senator Riley:

"Mr. President and Senators:

"I want to make it crystal clear that I am completely satisfied with the administration of the office of the Secretary of the Senate, the position held by Ward Bowden, and for which, at this moment, I want to second his nomination. We have always charged Ward Bowden with the responsibility of maintaining the show behind the scenes. He has done it well, ably and capably for everyone. Therefore, it is a proud moment for me to second his nomination."

Senator Gissberg:

"Mr. President and members of the Senate:

"I would like to commend Senator Neill for that wonderful oration and comment that that is probably the longest seconding speech that has ever been made or ever will be made in this Senate."

The President:

"The President would like to exercise the privilege of remarking, Senator Neill, that he does not take the slightest exception to your remarks, as they were very well chosen. However, he much prefers to be described as a statesman, rather than a politician."

There being no further nominations, the President declared the nominations for Secretary of the Senate to be closed.

ROLL CALL

The Acting Secretary called the roll on the election of Secretary of the Senate, and Ward Bowden was elected by the following vote: Ward Bowden, 48; absent and excused, 1.

Those voting for Ward Bowden were: Senators Atwood, Bailey, Charette, Chytil, Connor, Cooney, Cowen, Donohue, Dore, Durkan, England, Foley, Freise, Gallagher, Gissberg, Guess, Hallauer, Hanna, Henry, Herr, Herrmann, Keefe, Knoblauch, Kupka, Lennart, Lewis, McCormack, McCutcheon, McMillan, Mardesich, Morgan, Moriarty, Jr., Neill, Peterson (Lowell), Peterson (Ted), Petrich, Rasmussen, Raugust, Redmon, Riley, Ryder, Sandison, Stender, Talley, Thompson, Jr., Washington, Williams, Woodall—48.

Excused: Senator Greive—1.

Ward Bowden, having received the constitutional majority vote of the Senate, was elected Secretary of the Senate.

The President appointed an honor committee consisting of Senators Gissberg and Freise to escort Ward Bowden to the rostrum.

Justice Weaver administered the oath of office of Secretary of the Senate to Ward Bowden.

The President:

"Members of the Senate, Ladies and Gentlemen:

"The President wishes to express his deep appreciation to the members of the Senate for the wisdom they have just shown. Everyone associated with the Senate is certainly aware of the tremendous job Ward Bowden does in serving the Senate. I think it's worthy of note to mention that he makes a remarkable contribution to all of the people of the state of Washington.

"Ward, I'm sure everyone joins me in extending to you their heartiest congratulations and best wishes, and if you believe you're going to escape from this without making an address to the Senate at this time, you're mistaken. It is with great pleasure and pride that the President presents to you, Lady and Gentlemen of the Senate, the Honorable Ward Bowden."

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. Bowden:

"Justice Weaver, Mr. President, and members of the Senate:

"I haven't prepared any remarks. The only thing I want to say to you is that I am extremely flattered and gratified at the result of the election that was just held. I want to thank you all very much especially Senators Gissberg and Neill for the wonderful speeches they made. I understand records were broken here today, and this is interesting, too.

"I think you have heard a new voice in the Senate, and I'm referring now to the voice of our Reading Clerk. I would like to introduce him to you at this time. Many of you already know him. His name is Verne Sawyer. He comes from Woodallville—I mean, Toppenish. Of course, many of you served at the time Verne was Reading Clerk in the House of Representatives in 1949 and 1951. Verne Sawyer.

"We have another new face on the rostrum this year, that of Rosalie Kneeland of Olympia, who is our Docket Clerk.

"And of course you all know our beloved Assistant Secretary, Don Wilson.

"And our lovely Minute Clerk, Pat Martin.

"And of course last but not least we have our O'Brien, too. Pat O'Brien of Seattle, at the public address system.

"Now, you have met all the staff and you have seen many young pages around here to serve you. We have a fine staff of stenographers employed, bill clerks, committee clerks, and many other attaches here in the Senate to make your stay here more pleasant and easy along the way, so let's get at the business at hand.

"Thank you, Gentlemen and Lady, very much."

The President:

"Ward, the President should like to add that all of the girls in the back room were invited to the rostrum to observe the oath of office being administered, and although they were highly desirous of coming, they still were somewhat concerned about your reaction."

The President declared nominations for the office of Sergeant at Arms of the Senate now in order.

Senator Herrmann:

"Mr. President and members of the Senate:

"I rise to place in nomination for Sergeant at Arms the name of a man who, for many years has been a resident of this community in Olympia. He has served as a member of the House of Representatives. He has also served as Sergeant at Arms in the House and was considered one of the best Sergeant at Arms that they ever had in the House, and I believe we can all say the same in regard to his performance here in the Senate.

"When we are speaking about hard work, when we are speaking about a man being on the job and doing the job without favor, without prejudice, without any other consideration but serving the members of the Senate and this body with dignity and decorum, a man who has always been on the job, and is always willing to even go out of his way to serve individual members of this Senate. I think that Charlie Johnson has performed well. I think he has done an excellent job as Sergeant at Arms, and it is indeed an honor and privilege for me to place his name in nomination."

Senator Henry:

"Mr. President, members of the Senate:

"If, as in the case of Senator Neill's very fine speech, my remarks had been recorded for posterity over the last five or six or seven sessions, it would be almost a complete replay. I served in the House as a member of the Legislature, and had the privilege of nominating Charlie Johnson for Sergeant at Arms of the House. I have either nominated or seconded his nomination every time he has been Sergeant at Arms of either body.

"I think there is no doubt in anybody's mind that he has done a very good job and that he has, regardless of party or personalities, always been anxious and willing to serve not only during the Legislature, but between sessions when the members would come to Olympia. He has performed various privileges, even to the point of helping them with their housing problems.

"It is a great pleasure for me to second the nomination of Charles Johnson for Sergeant at Arms."

Senator Woodall:

"Mr. President and members of the Senate:

"I would feel remiss if I did not express the fact that the Reading Clerk of this Session comes from Toppenish. It is rather unique, of course, to get a Reading Clerk from our area. Most of them are people of few words, likened to myself.

"It is a pleasure to stand and place a nomination for the office of Sergeant at Arms. I was honored to have attended a meeting or conference of legislative leaders where one of the main questions for discussion was the question of improving the legislative image with the public and the press. One of the things that they were unanimous on was the fact that in too many of our legislative bodies, the proper decorum is not always maintained.

"The main officer in that regard would, of course, be the Sergeant at Arms, and I think that we should bear this in mind in our selection, and choose a man that we feel can be a very fine, splendid representative of the Senate, one we are happy to have listed wherever he may go as the representative of the presiding officer of the Senate. He should conduct himself with dignity and decorum and with fairness at all times.

"Now there has been a lot of thought and a lot of conversation given to the rights of minorities and for the protection of minorities, and I know there are many dedicated Senators on this floor who feel very keenly about minorities—Senator Dore and many, many others. We feel on this side of the aisle that a minority group has a very vital interest in the office of the Sergeant at Arms, that we should select someone who will deal justly and fairly with us, someone who will give us our just dues and desserts, and someone who will, we feel, properly represent the area, which has been discussed.

"I have the pleasure of thinking of a man who comes from Southeastern Washington, a man who comes from an area that is about to become lost out at being a represented unit, a man who served in the House of Representatives when I served there, and I must state that in looking around the room here, there are not very many people present here who came the first session I came to the House, which was in 1939, other than Senator Ed Riley and Dr. Cowen. This man I served with, and I learned to esteem and highly regard him. He is a farmer, a fine citizen, a former member of the House and later its Sergeant at Arms, a man who has been an Assistant Sergeant at Arms in this body, a man who has on so many, many occasions, done so many, many fine things for all of us over here that we would like now, in this year when everyone wants to get together, when we want harmony and unity, when we want to show again that the majority wants to do, in its graciousness, something for the minority, we would like to present for your consideration and prove to you that we on this side of the aisle think above the demarcation of Democrat and Republican, but are thinking in consideration of a minority and an agricultural area, the Southeastern part of the state—it is my honor to present to you the name of Newton Fry.”

Senator Freise:

“I would like to second the nomination of Newton Fry. Newt comes from Dayton, Washington, the home district of Senator Donohue, and I am hoping that Senator Donohue will also join me in seconding the nomination of Newt Fry.

“This is my fifth session in the legislature, and Newt Fry has been Assistant Sergeant at Arms for these five sessions. I don’t think a single one of us Senators can complain as to whether or not he did or did not treat us fairly, whether he did or did not treat us with utmost consideration, and whether he was or was not an excellent employee of this august body. As Senator Woodall said, he has been a former County Commissioner, he was a former legislator, a former employee of the House, an excellent employee of the Senate, and at this time, I am wondering if Senator Donohue would also join with me in seconding the nomination of Newt Fry for Sergeant at Arms.”

Senator Dore:

“Would Senator Woodall yield to a question?”

Senator Woodall:

“I yield.”

Senator Dore:

“I wonder if you have conferred with Mr. Fry to see whether or not he would be willing to accept this august position in the event we selected him?”

Senator Woodall:

“I have not conferred with him. I can only say that you know and I know that when a man runs for the House, he will run for the Senate; and, anyone who is an assistant will take the main job if he can get it.”

Senator Dore:

“That’s not true in my district, I’m sure. May I ask a second question? Senator, you said you have not consulted with Mr. Fry at all, yourself, personally. Do you know if any other Republicans or any of the other minority members have consulted with Mr. Fry?”

Senator Woodall:

“I do not. I do not know of any person who has discussed this matter with him. It would be my feeling that probably they have not because they would not want to embarrass him by going to him first. I do not know of anyone who has.”

Senator Dore:

“Will Senator Woodall yield to one further question?”

Senator Woodall:

“I yield for the third and final time.”

Senator Dore:

“Don’t you think it is rather foolish to nominate someone when you are not quite sure he would accept if you elected him? Don’t you think you should consult with him first?”

Senator Woodall:

“I do not think he would need to be consulted, and I have never made a foolish nomination in my life. I would be willing that we recess for the purpose of consulting with him for a period of time and perhaps, if you’d care to make such a motion, I would be happy to join with you, Senator, and we could return after a period of time.”

Senator Durkan:

"Mr. President:

"I have just now talked with Mr. Fry, and he said that under no circumstances would he wish to be Sergeant at Arms at this time. He has great respect for Mr. Johnson and he would hope that his wisdom would carry across the aisle to some of our brothers."

SENATE RESOLUTION

No. 1965 -1

By Senators Greive and Moriarty, Jr.:

MOTION

Senator Greive moved that all bills be held in the possession of the Secretary until the Senate committees are appointed.

Debate ensued.

The motion was carried, and Senate Bill No. 1 was ordered retained in the possession of the Secretary.

The Secretary read:

MESSAGE FROM THE HOUSE

House of Representatives,
Olympia, Wash., January 11, 1965.

MR. PRESIDENT:

The House has adopted: House Concurrent Resolution No. 1; also

House Concurrent Resolution No. 2; also

House Concurrent Resolution No. 3; also

House Concurrent Resolution No. 4 and the same are herewith transmitted.

S. R. HOLCOMB, Chief Clerk.

FIRST READING OF HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTIONS

The following were read first time by title and acted upon as indicated:

House Concurrent Resolution No. 1, by Representative O'Brien:

Relating to committee to notify the Governor that the Legislature is organized.

On motion of Senator Greive, the resolution was adopted.

MOTION

Senator Greive:

"Mr. President:

"Until such time as we have temporary rules, I move that the rule of this body be majority rule."

POINT OF PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Senator Moriarty, Jr.:

"Mr. President:

"I would like to raise a parliamentary question at this point. I ask the Chair for a ruling specifically on the rules under which we are operating at the present time, whether we are operating only with the Constitution of this state and the rules set out therein, or whether we are operating within the tradition of the body of parliamentary law built up over the centuries, including Reed's Rules of Order."

The President:

"Senator Moriarty, would you kindly repeat your remarks?"

Senator Moriarty, Jr.:

"Mr. President:

"It is my feeling—I do not know that there has been a ruling on this point in the history of this body; my research has found none—however, it is my belief and my understanding and my feeling, as I say, that the Senate of this state is a continuing body, inasmuch as only one-half of its membership is elected every two years, and the remaining half of the membership continues in office. Now, if it be true that the Senate of the state of Washington is a continuing body, then it must also be true that the rules under which it operates continue. If it be true that the rules under which the Senate operates continue, my question of the Chair is: What are those rules?"

Senator Greive:

"Mr. President:

"Senator Moriarty is not speaking on the motion presently before this body, which is namely that we operate under the Constitution by majority rule, period. Incidentally, that would be consistent also with Reed's Rule 23, but we are not making it under Reed's or any other rule."

RULING OF THE PRESIDENT

The President:

"Senator Greive, the President can answer Senator Moriarty's inquiry and also advise you that the President already ruled that until such time as temporary rules or permanent rules have been adopted, the rule of the majority would prevail in the Washington State Senate subject to certain provisions of the Washington State Constitution."

The Secretary read:

House Concurrent Resolution No. 2, by Representative O'Brien:

Relating to joint session for the purpose of canvassing the vote of constitutional elective state officers.

On motion of Senator Greive, the resolution was adopted.

House Concurrent Resolution No. 3, by Representative O'Brien:

Relating to joint session to receive message of Governor Albert D. Rosellini.

On motion of Senator Greive, the resolution was adopted.

House Concurrent Resolution No. 4, by Representative O'Brien:

Relating to joint session for inaugurating Governor Daniel J. Evans, receive his message and administer the oaths of office to the constitutional elective state officers.

On motion of Senator Greive, the resolution was adopted.

MOTIONS

On motion of Senator Greive, the Senate dispensed with the Call of the Senate.

At 6:00 p.m., on motion of Senator Greive, the Senate recessed until 7:30 p.m.

EVENING SESSION

At 7:30 p.m., the Senate was called to order by President Cherberg. The President declared the Senate to be at ease.

The President called the Senate to order at 8:55 p.m.

The Secretary called the roll and announced to the President that all Senators were present except Senators Bailey, Chytil, Stender and Thompson, Jr.

Senators Greive, Henry and McCutcheon demanded a Call of the Senate. A Call of the Senate was ordered.

CALL OF THE SENATE

The Sergeant at Arms locked the doors of the Senate Chamber.

The Secretary called the roll on the Call of the Senate, all members being present.

On motion of Senator Greive, the Senate proceeded under the Call of the Senate.

MOTION

Senator Greive moved that the temporary rules be that of majority rule.

POINT OF ORDER

Senator Atwood:

"Point of order, Mr. President:

"What is majority rule as interpreted by the Chair in regards to any proceeding here tonight?"

RULING OF THE PRESIDENT

The President:

"The President believes that a majority of the membership elected to the Senate, which, in the minimum, would consist of twenty-five votes."

POINT OF ORDER

Senator Moriarty, Jr.:

"Point of order, Mr. President:

"Under the ruling the President made earlier this afternoon, the motion by Senator Greive is out of order."

The President:

"The motion is somewhat redundant."

Senator Moriarty, Jr.:

"May I have a ruling, Mr. President?"

The President:

"In essence, the President did rule that it is redundant. The President believes that the motion is superfluous. However, if the Senate wishes to consider it once again, the President is willing to put the question. The question is: It has been moved that the will of the majority shall prevail."

The motion was carried.

POINT OF PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Senator Moriarty, Jr.:

"Point of inquiry, Mr. President:

"Am I correct that neither the House nor the Governor has been notified formally and officially that this Senate is organized?"

REPLY BY THE PRESIDENT

The President:

"To the best of the President's knowledge, the House has not as yet been advised of the organization of the Senate due to the fact the House has adjourned until 10:30 a. m., tomorrow.

POINT OF ORDER

Senator Moriarty, Jr.:

"Point of order, Mr. President:

"My point of order is that this legislature is not properly constituted as yet for the reason that neither the Governor nor the House has been formally notified of the organization of the Washington State Senate; therefore, the Senate does not yet possess the legal power to consider legislation at this time."

The President:

"Senator, would you direct the President to that portion of the Constitution which so states?"

Senator Moriarty, Jr.:

"Would you give me a moment to read the Constitution?"

MOTION

Senator Woodall moved that the Senate recess for one hour to permit all Senators to read the Constitution.

Debate ensued.

The motion was lost.

Senator Greive:

"Mr. President:

"May I respectfully remind Senator Moriarty that today he said we were a continuing body. Now he seems to feel we are no longer a continuing body. If we are a continuing body, we are now organized and ready to do business. We must wait for no one."

Senator Moriarty, Jr.:

"I think the point is, yes, we are a continuing body. My point is, this legislature is a bicameral legislature composed of a House of Representatives and a Senate. The Senate has organized. We have received advice that the House has been organized. We have not yet, however, advised the House we are organized. If this be the case, the legislature is not properly constituted. We have not officially advised the House that we exist. If we have not advised the House that we exist nor have we advised the Governor we exist, how then, sir, can we pass legislation? At this time, I again request a ruling."

Senator Greive:

"I move we proceed in order, Mr. President."

Senator Moriarty, Jr.:

"I again request a ruling on my point of order."

The President:

"The President first, Senator Moriarty, has requested that you direct him to that portion of the Constitution which upholds your argument. Before ruling on your point of order, the President wishes you to study the Constitution and direct the President to the proper portion."

Senator Gissberg:

"Mr. President, speaking on the point of order:

"Obviously the House is ready to do business. They have appointed a committee that has reported to the Senate and advised us that they are ready to do business. We have organized earlier in the day. We are now ready to do business. The validity of the action of this Senate is not dependent upon any communication which this house might make to the other house with respect to the fact that we have organized and are ready to do business. The communication that one house makes to the other is one of courtesy, and one of courtesy alone, and the validity of our action is in no way dependent upon the communication, either to the House or the Governor."

Senator Greive:

"Mr. President:

"I renew my motion to proceed in order. I'm sure there is going to be a great deal of time expended before the evening is over, and Senator Moriarty will have a lot of time to read the Constitution and he can renew his motion. And, if he finds we are in error, I'm sure we'll be glad to abandon the procedure ad initium."

Senator Moriarty, Jr.:

"I think the point is important. I think the point is of the utmost importance and I think this body should consider the point of order and we should have a ruling before proceeding."

The President:

"The President agrees with you, Senator Moriarty, on that particular statement, and wishes to give you a reasonable amount of time in which to peruse the Constitution."

Senator Moriarty, Jr.:

"Mr. President:

"Referring to Article II, Section 1, 'Legislative Powers, Where Vested—The legislative authority of the state of Washington shall be vested in the legislature, consisting of a senate and a house of representatives, which shall be called the legislature of the state of Washington.'

"Now, the legislature shall consist of the Senate and the House. The House does not as yet know that the Senate exists. If the House does not know that the Senate exists, there cannot be a legislature, because we could simply be a group of people who decided to come down here on January 11, 1965, and pass a redistricting bill. But we do not yet exist insofar as the House is concerned. We may exist insofar as we are concerned, but we haven't bothered to advise the House, nor have we bothered to advise the Governor.

"How can the legislature, which by the Constitution consists of a House and Senate, exist as a legal entity as yet when we haven't told the House, which is an essential part of the legislature, that we are here?"

RULING BY THE PRESIDENT

The President:

"It is the President's ruling on the point of order as presented by Senator Moriarty that the members of the Senate have been duly elected and qualified. The members of the Senate have met and completed their organization. They have set their rules of procedure and have also seen fit to have a committee appointed to notify the House of its organization, as is customary. The President finds nothing in the Constitution which would prevent the Senate from proceeding in order."

AMENDMENT TO THE SENATE RULES

Senator Woodall moved the adoption of the following amendment to the Senate rules:

"Add a new rule:

"The guiding rule in the conduct of the majority party shall be the tried and true axiom, 'Whatever is fair.'"

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Atwood:

"Mr. President, would Senator Williams yield to questions?"

Senator Williams:

"Yes."

Senator Atwood:

"Senator Williams, in our brief chance to examine this bill, from what you have seen, in your opinion, or could you point out any instances in this bill of arbitrariness?"

Senator Greive:

"Mr. President:

"I move that the gentleman be permitted to make a speech, or that they be permitted to enter a protest, but not be permitted to conduct an Ev and Charlie show so they can get this in the record."

Senator Moriarty, Jr.:

"Mr. President:

"Senator Greive's point is not well taken. The Senate has granted Senator Atwood the right to ask Senator Williams a question. It seems to me the Senate owes the courtesy to Senator Williams to reply to the question asked of him by Senator Atwood."

Senator Greive:

"I think I have a better solution. I'll move that the privilege of having an answer to his remarks be spread upon the journal and that debate on both sides be spread upon the journal."

Senator Atwood:

"Mr. President:

"Personal privilege, Mr. President: This is not for the purpose of delay. If Senator Greive will bear with us, we are trying to make a record in the event of an appearance in court. This is done in all seriousness, not to conduct an Ev and Charlie show. We'll try to get this over with as soon as possible.

"Senator Williams, in the few hours you have had a chance to look this bill over, some three or four hours now, I'll ask you if there has been a formal adherence to the population plan, in your opinion, without any arbitrariness, and is there freedom from discrimination politically, racially or otherwise?"

Senator Williams:

"Mr. President and members of the Senate:

"In the short time we have had, we still do not have maps on the major population areas of the state, but in the maps that are here that show the more rural areas, there are a number of places which show arbitrariness and action which appears to be clearly beyond the scope of the court order under which we are operating.

"It has already been mentioned previously, but it should be pointed out again that one district shows clearly in the map that it crosses parts of five or six counties, whereas our state constitution and the Supreme Court of the United States has said that these areas should be contiguous. This district extends perhaps a hundred miles in distance but with no highway connecting it. It extends from the Canadian border, approximately half way or more to the Columbla River—across half of that part of the state. It is on any standard an arbitrary district. By reason of this it is squarely in conflict with the Supreme Court decision which says the only basis for deviating from equal population at all is on the basis of being contiguous or a regular political boundary. The United States Supreme Court, in its decision last June, indicated that that was the only basis for moving from exact, equal boundaries.

"It is further arbitrary in that in no regular way have they allocated the representative districts. In other words, in some legislative districts, they have separated the representative districts. In other words, they have divided the districts, and in others they have not. In some districts, they are separated into 'A' and 'B' districts, and in others they are not. This is not based on proximity or the size of the district or any other basis. In some very small, compact districts, they have split it up, and in very large districts such as the nineteenth district, extending over three counties, there is no such division.

"The Attorney General has cautioned this body, in an opinion given recently as to the danger of going beyond a ten percent variation, even if we adhere to the idea of contiguous districts. Here we have not kept contiguous districts and we have gone even beyond a fifteen percent variation. The Supreme Court points out that because we know this bill or whatever bill this legislature passes will go to the courts, it is very important that we stay clearly within the legal boundaries and we have definitely and deliberately, if this bill should pass, gone beyond those boundaries prescribed for us.

"There are undoubtedly other breaches in this bill, but the very fact that it has been rushed through the way it has, I think, becomes a red flag to the Court. The fact that the rules under which this body operated under for many decades were disregarded and all the procedures under which this body has operated were disregarded to push this bill through will further be a red flag to the Court and create a real hazard for the bill."

It was moved by Senator Greive that all remarks made on final passage of Senate Bill No. 2 be recorded.

Senator Dore:

"Mr. President and members of the Senate:

"I felt highly honored to learn while down in the restaurant that I am to present the legal argument to spread on the record to have this bill upheld. I accept that as an honor and privilege. At this time I would like to do that particular honor for the members of the Democratic Party and for the Republican Party.

"First, I would like to incorporate in the record the official opinion of John J. O'Connell, which we received just a few weeks ago, in which he and his assistant, Phil Austin, analyzed the recent decision of the U.S. Supreme Court and gave the guide lines upon which Senator Greive and his staff and his helpers have studied and incorporated in this bill before us. That opinion should be referred to, and perhaps I could get Senator Williams' copy and get the date of it. Under date of December 24, 1964, and under those guidelines it was said that it was not, of course, mathematically possible to have every legislative district exactly even. In other words, they set the norm, some 59,000, as I recall, and said there shall not be a variation of fifteen percent more or less, and if you will examine this bill, that percentage is applied here. There is no district, I think, except one, which exceeds by two hundred votes, something in excess of 66,000 votes, which is the highest amount of population in any one district.

"The Attorney General who issued this opinion later, just in fact yesterday, I think, officially analyzed the bill and publicly announced, to the public and also to the members of the august body that this bill presented a copy of which he had at that time, substantially conforms to the guidelines that he and his assistants set forth in the opinion of December 24th, 1964. So much for the legal arguments. After all, we have to rely upon what the Attorney General of our state tells us to do, and I think we have complied with every particular in that regard.

"In reference to the political aspects of the bill, it is indeed an honor to perhaps offer some remarks to our minority leader, Senator Moriarty, whom I had the honor to work with in his father's office some fifteen years ago and I know at that time he was extremely industrious and very conscious of statutory provisions of the law, and also of rule-making powers; and, I know that having been elected to the minority responsibility that he has in this body, he probably—undoubtedly has studied the rules to a great depth and understanding over the weekend with the hope that he perhaps might be able to promulgate them and explain them to the body on this first redistricting bill, and I know that he must be disappointed that perhaps we didn't adopt them so he might raise these rules in argument here this evening, and also the early hours of the morning, but legally speaking I think Senator Moriarty, excellent lawyer that he is, would agree that of course there being no rules that we have adopted, there is of course no particular hazard in bringing this particular bill forth and passing this particular bill. Those rules just don't apply, so I think his argument before the TV cameras that we have not adopted any rules, therefore, this makes this bill illegal, of course you know and I know has no legal basis in fact, so I think we might set aside that particular legal argument, if it is a legal argument.

"In reference to the fact, then, Senator Moriarty and his cohorts on the right side of the aisle, the far right, have not had the opportunity to study this bill, I think nothing could be more foolish. I think two years ago he studied the same redistricting bill in this same Senate with, I think, two exceptions. We studied it in great detail at that time. We had all the maps, went through all the precincts. We all know exactly what we are doing. I think it is extremely naive, if not dishonest, to suggest that we don't know exactly what we are doing here because we do.

"We are a majority party here in both houses of the legislature. We are operating under court order to expedite at the earliest possible time, to pass this bill. I think the majority party is resolved. They have decided to expedite this bill at this time, and I think it is commendable that they would take the energy to stay this late in the night and make sure we might be able to pass this within the next twenty-four hours, so I think there is no particular argument against the lateness of the hour. I am informed, looking at the clock, it is 1:30 a.m., in the morning, on the 12th of January, 1964.—'65. I wonder if the clerk could strike the figure four and insert five."

The President:

"There being no objection, so ordered."

Senator Dore:

"Thank you."

Senator Woodall:

"Mr. President:

"It is very obvious that Senator Dore is tired and in fairness I think we ought to allow him some rest, so let's come back and let him finish his remarks tomorrow."

Senator Dore:

"Thank you very kindly. It's an honor to make these legal remarks at this time and in closing I would like to commend Senator Greive for the tremendous effort and job he has done in order to achieve this bill. I think we all should be grateful to him. With that, I would like to close."

Senator Lennart:

"Mr. President and members of the Senate:

"We are now on the final passage of Senate Bill No. 2 or the reapportionment bill, which is supposed to be the working out and applying science of representation that will give all citizens a nearly equal voice in his government, consequences that will determine human affairs a century ahead.

"There is a map on your desk of this proposed bill. Take a good look at it. Whatcom county now comprises two districts, the 41st and 42nd. There is a close identity of interest between these two districts, Bellingham being the 42nd district, as the economy of the county is strongly agricultural. This identity of interest far surpasses political motives. It appears to me that we must lay aside political considerations for the best interest of all.

"The make-up of the new 41st district is unique. Even as now constituted, part of the district, Point Roberts, is located on a peninsula jutting out from the Canadian mainland and can be reached only by a long journey over Canadian soil or else by boat as there are no ferries available to reach it. But behold what is now proposed: The new 41st would take Northwest Whatcom county diagonally and exclude Columbia, Crescent, Deming, Geneva, Glacier, Lawrence, Maple Falls, Marietta, Ten Mile, etc. It would then head out to sea and seduce the lovely San Juans from Skagit county's present moorings. I approve of this change but from now on I part company from what I might term a magnificent conception. The district now bypasses Fidalgo Island, sneaks under the bridge connecting Whidbey with Skagit county, artfully filches Camano Island from Snohomish county. The boundary of the district now heads west, takes in all of Whidbey Island except United States Census Tract 4. From thence the district meanders south into Kitsap county and purloins Bainbridge Island from that county. One must own a boat to represent this district in any manner and I just sold my boat. It would appear that the framers of this bill suffered from intellectual malnutrition.

"Part of this bill is not amendable for it sets the boundaries for all this Island at low water mark, something controlled by the tides of the ocean which ebb and flow by a force which, though remote, always retains its source. I am confident that we here cannot amend out the Celestial Orbit.

Now this rich agricultural area of Whatcom county would perhaps never again elect a Senator to represent them. The all powerful inhabitants of Bainbridge, having absolutely nothing in common with farm population which I represent, will be calling the cards.

"The state constitution has the following to say: 'Senators shall be elected from single districts of convenient and contiguous territory.' Not by any stretch of imagination can this district come under the definition set out by the constitution.

"Considering the errors the majority party is making, we are thankful that they do not have complete control. The Federal Courts have their say and the Governor may use his veto, and properly so."

Senator McCutcheon:

"Mr. President and members of the Senate:

"I'll be very brief. You have been here a long time and this is the end of a long, hard day. You earned your money today, but it's not the end of the world, gentlemen, for you people. You'll have a chance within two years from now to correct all the mistakes and, for a group of men that are kept in complete ignorance, I want to compliment you on that side of the aisle on your terrific intelligence in being able to pick up so much information in such a short time. They even know the precinct lines and the number of votes in the lines in every precinct in the state, some three or four thousand, but in any event, as I said, two years from now if we make mistakes here in drawing boundaries, you will have a chance to correct them. You can't freeze the human mind. And, by the way, as Senator Dore said, he regrets the TV is gone, but I see some faithful reporters up here stayed through.

"This redistricting had to be done by some instrumentality and the only one here is the majority party. If the Republicans were in power, we'd expect them to do the same thing. We're not here—our field of debate is very narrow, Senator Raugust and Senator Lennart. We don't have a chance to talk about the political aspects of this. The Court said it's not interested. It's not interested in parties, persons or percentages, and whether you have fifty percent of the votes of a district.

"You can change this in two years and the Court is not at all interested in our arguments about who shall be top dog or otherwise. The Court has said to us, this is not an essential part of the argument. 'You're a rump caucus here, you're a rump session. You're absolutely unconstitutional.' They said the fourteenth amendment is paramount. The state constitution means nothing. Your state initiative and referendum mean nothing. The fourteenth amendment says: 'One person, one vote.' I may not agree with that philosophy. I voted for that memorial two years ago to keep the Supreme Court out of the place where we had the initiative. But the Court has spoken, and we are confronted with it. We are not here as debaters. We are merely a sterile agency, ordered to carry out the terms of that court order, and this questioning, Senator Atwood, to say that we can consider other matters—we can't in reality do so. You know that. But this is the thing before us. We are confronted with a duty, and I am ready to accept my responsibility.

"You're trying to give us a bad press with voluminous reports and protests, but if you think this press is going to be bad, wait until we have been here thirty days and spent $400,000 of the taxpayers money, or wait until you have been here sixty days and the prestige and the dignity of the legislature will go down, and the dignity of your new Governor who is coming in, if we get into a dog fight and quarrel—what is to be gained, in Heaven's name, by delay. We almost got into a quarrel on Pierce county this evening over a trivial matter. I talked to friends on all sides here, and Heavens knows I've lost enough of them, but after sixty days, we're not going to have a friend in the place. We'll all be at each other's throats, quarrelling, conniving, double-dealing, fighting with the Executive.

"I believe this solemnly to be true, that this bill that we are passing, we are going to pass in a few minutes, is constitutional and it will be sustained by the Federal Court. Now the crux and center of this argument is this: We don't have to have outside committees to tell us. I hope that we can repeat our oath of responsibility here. The Supreme Court says: 'One man, one vote.' Now we don't have to have any committee or outside advice tell us what that means. They pay me a hundred a month to know that, and they pay you to know that much, and you know it. I know what my duty is. The Court has ordered it, the public expects it. They have a right to expect it. I'll vote for any constitutional bill that comes here in the first thirty minutes. Get it out of here. Rather than months from now.

"You say there is gerrymandering in it and it's being shoved down your necks. I would remind you that your great Governor Nelson Rockefeller did it just yesterday with a lame duck session of the New York legislature. The man in the street wants these lines drawn. He's not particularly concerned about where they are drawn. There's no reserved seats in this body. Some of us will be wiped out by this sort of thing. I sympathize. Now I perhaps am sitting pretty good at the moment, but that doesn't mean it can last forever.

"Now getting back to my notes and I'm going to sit down, because I could have made this twice as good a little earlier in the evening. Some people can't make a decision, and I slip once in a while myself, but this is one that has been fought through and I believe that we have come to the end of the road. We have discussed it with the League of Women Voters. They tried it once and failed. They tried it once and succeeded and they were amended, and tried again and failed, and we talked eighty-two days about it. There isn't a phase of this thing that hasn't been discussed. The public is sick and tired of it. They want us to act and act now, and I predict this: That if we pass this thing and have the courage to do so, do it tonight, and do it as quick as we can and get it through the House, that we'll come back here and won't be defeated by any of these charges that will be made. Now, I think, Senator Dore, this is quibbling, but I think in that long, windy opinion there wasn't one word about fifteen percent or ten percent. The Court said 'an honest effort.' God knows we have made an honest effort. You'd have the same problems if you were in our position, but I think we have kept within the order of the Court and will be sustained."

Senator Greive:

"Mr. President, Lady and Gentlemen of the Senate:

"Thirty-nine legislatures have met before us. We may not have any other distinction, but I think we have certainly had the most momentous first day. I'd like to very briefly answer the arguments, first that the Islands generally make a monstrosity, I would like to point out to the gentlemen, as I have done previously, that the Islands have a common interest. I'd like to point out that the same argument that would say you shouldn't permit the Islands to have a representative, when there are almost forty thousand people and a district of their own, could very well be used against Hawaii becoming one of the states. It's three thousand miles from the mainland United States and if you were to follow the logic of that particular type of argument, neither Hawaii nor Alaska would belong as members of the United States.

"There is no question I have had more to do with this piece of legislation, but I deny categorically I drew it as such. As a practical matter it was drawn by a great many people. Senator McCutcheon mentioned he worked on it, Senator Hallauer, Senator Washington, Senator Hanna did some fast overruling of things I wanted to do to get their way as part of this particular legislation. We had troubles with almost every phase and almost every district as we went through it, unless a district happened to be a single county, such as Thurston.

"In other words, this is something that involved a great deal of compromise. Basically, I think that's what the opinion and the courts expect us to do: face our duty and compromise, painful as it may be; and, I want to assure you this is the work of many. It is well within the limits prescribed. I won't bother with this now. It will be submitted as part of the record, the forty-nine districts and the populations which we used, the census and the maps and all of the criteria is available that we used, the Federal Bureau of Census populations studies that we used, and it is well within fifteen percent except one district which is two hundred over in that case. We kept two full counties together, Kittitas and Grant, and I think that was the reason for going over the fifteen per cent.

"Now we come down to the next question of 'A' and 'B' districts. I'd like to remind the body, and I hope it will be brought out forcibly to the Court, this was not Bob Greive's idea. Rather it was an idea spawned by Representative Gorton at the last session. I felt every district should be divided or not divided. But it seems he had more persuasive powers than I. The first thing I knew, a number of Senators insisted they would vote no on the bill unless there were a division to protect certain geographical areas, so we were forced to follow suit, so when we began to draw the bill, what we did was to decide ultimately the aim should be that everybody would represent a single member district. In other words, eventually I hope that no one will vote for two representatives, everybody will vote for one, but it was our judgment and our feeling that it would be impossible to make that kind of jump in one step, so what we have done is to go through as many districts as we could, where it wasn't an unreasonable hardship, but in any event, we tried to divide as many districts as we could and still retain the necessary votes to pass the bill. If we had thought we could get enough votes, we would have divided all the districts, but as a practical matter—and I think the Court expects us to be practical—this was the only way we could get the bill passed, but it would be my suggestion in coming sessions of the legislature, that we continue to divide these districts, but that it would be done a little bit at a time, and eventually we would in every instance achieve this.

"I was rather amused by the charges that the Republicans didn't have a chance to read this bill. True, they didn't have a great deal of time, but every one of them represented a particular district and each of them knew the number of it very well, judging from the number of amendments that were presented. I didn't see a single Republican reading the bill or following it along while it was being read. I presume they read faster than the Reading Clerk.

"I would like to remind this body that since I have been Senator, I have never known of a bill being read in its entirety, word for word, with no suspension of rules, no hankey-pankey, anything like that. Perhaps a few times when we were dealing with very short bills, but this was a long bill, and every word was read from the podium. There was no subterfuge. Every word was read, section by section.

"Finally, I would like to bring to the members of this body's mind the experience that we had. They said we were arbitrary and we did a lot of things. Last session, the Republicans in the House and the coalition kept under lock and key all of the maps. They wouldn't permit anyone to see them, which we didn't do. They brought a bill out in exactly the same procedure that was followed this evening, and they weren't pressed by time. They had no court order. They did it simply because they felt it would happen. Now we didn't do it that way for that reason. We felt it was expeditious. We want to get this done. Maybe we want to get it done before the Governor is out of office. The point is, we do want to get it done. That's what the Court wants us to do as well. Certainly this is a far superior approach than that conducted by the great Republican Governor Rockefeller, in which he took a lame duck Republican legislature to pass a bill after they were defeated so he could use the veto power to protect whatever it was decided from the majority which was overwhelmingly Democratic, elected at the next election.

"Now we haven't attempted to cut off debate. We have attempted to be reasonable in that. I don't think anyone here can say we have been unreasonable in at least that regard.

"I think what it finally comes down to, the ultimate power here does not lie with this body nor with the House nor with the Governor. The ultimate power lies with the Federal Judiciary. They have issued a decree. I think the real quarrel here, and the real thing we have demonstrated this evening and have demonstrated in any attempt to redistrict is that it is painful, but I don't expect that when Judge Warren wrote his decision, and when Judge Beeks rendered his that he expected for one minute it wasn't going to be painful. They, I think, knew it would be painful. They expected us, in spite of that pain, to do a job. They expected some people to be hurt and perhaps some people to be helped, but the most important thing is they expected us to do the job, the political job we were elected to do. We were elected to do that political job as a political instrument, and I think it's about time we got down to doing it."

Senator Moriarty, Jr.:

"Mr. President:

"I have no wish to prolong the agony, but I do wish to ask Senator Greive to yield to one or two questions which I would like to ask for the benefit of the Court."

The President:

"Does Senator Greive yield?"

Senator Greive:

"I yield."

Senator Moriarty, Jr.:

"Senator Greive:

"I'm sure you will answer this with exactitude and I'll ask you to do so for me. Had this bill been law in November of 1960, how many Democratic Senators would have been elected to this body and how many Republican Senators would have been elected?"

Senator Greive:

"In the first place, I would assume that this is very speculative. In my opinion, it does not substantially change the membership of this Senate. I would expect that it does give some advantage to the Democrats in the House. On the other hand, I can think of a number of districts which would depend upon the extent to which the Democrats carried. Now, if we are to take the last election in which President Johnson had such an overwhelming majority, we would have one result. If we are to go back to the election in which President Eisenhower had such an overwhelming majority, we would have a different result. Which is par for the course?"

Senator Moriarty, Jr.:

"I'll ask this question, if Senator Greive will yield:

"In the 1964 election, had this bill been law, how many Democratic Senators would have been elected and how many Republican Senators would have been elected to this body?"

Senator Greive:

"Frankly, I don't know, but I expect thirty-two."

Senator Moriarty, Jr.:

"One more question, again for the benefit of the Federal Court in Seattle, Senator Greive, would you answer me categorically 'yes' or 'no' whether or not this bill is designed to favor the Democratic Party or the Republican Party?"

Senator Greive:

"Senator Moriarty, you and I both practice that noble and honest profession of law, and the first thing we ever tell any client before he takes the stand is never answer 'yes' or 'no.' I have been given a good prompt by Senator Gissberg. He says, let us remind the Republicans the people will answer that question at the next election."

Senator Ryder:

"Mr. President, Lady and Gentlemen of the Senate:

"We have been speaking a great deal here tonight about the rights of political parties. We have been talking about the majority party and about the minority. We have been talking about votes and what this bill does to this individual or that individual.

"I think we have lost sight of the reason why we are down here in Olympia as elected officials of the people of the state of Washington. It's the people we should be thinking about. Rightly or wrongly, the Supreme Court decision under which we are laboring here tonight was made in the interest of the people of the United States of America and of the citizens of each of the states, including the state of Washington.

"Senator Moriarty, rightly, has talked about the right of the Republican Party. We have had thrown up to us a Republican convention held last summer, which, for the life of me, I can't connect with the problem of redistricting here tonight. We have had thrown up to us the actions of a so-called Republican Governor in New York. This, I think, has nothing to do with the actions which we are taking tonight. I think we are forgetting the duty of this Senate towards the people in the state. We are doing nothing here tonight which can't be done after two or three or four or five days, whatever it takes to give this bill a thorough public hearing. There are many people in the state, many groups of people who are interested in this legislation which we are considering. I think we, as responsible Senators, as responsible representatives of our district, owe it to these people to give them a chance, not only for ourselves who haven't had a chance to look at it, but they have not had a chance to look at it, to analyze it, to give us the benefit of their thinking; and then after having had some public hearings on it, after having gone over it in committee, worked it over, then we can sit down and if it takes all night, pass it. We can do it then with a clear conscience, but I do not believe that the Senate tonight, each and every one of us, can with a clear conscience pass this bill and think that we are serving the people of the state of Washington."

Senator Guess:

"Mr. President:

"I came down here a Senator from a city district. Two years ago when I ran for the Senate, I ran from the purely downtown business area. I have not had the advantage of being raised on a farm.

"Now I find that I am told that I have a farming district. I haven't seen a map except this big one with the big, broad lines on it, and Spokane county is about two by two, and I can't tell where my district lies. Just before I came over here, I received several communications from various bodies, groups within the county, and they said, 'Please, when you go to Olympia, remember for one, the Spokane Valley is a community of almost identical interest,' and now I understand that I have half of the county and my colleague from across the aisle has the other half of it. I find that I end up with an institution of higher learning. Now I have requested, because I thought something like this might come up, a position on the committee of Higher Education. But I was denied the position on Higher Education and yet I hear the statement that this redistricting is done so that we may properly represent those people we are going to be assigned to represent, yet I am not permitted to be on the Committee of Higher Education.

"Now the community of Cheney will now come in my district, I understand. This is the home of Eastern Washington College, and so I will appeal to the committee for an assignment to the Committee on Higher Education. I think that this situation will be repeated many times over, and this is the reason that I think that this bill should have taken many hours longer than fourteen."

Senator Greive:

"Mr. President:

"I would like to very briefly—and I do mean briefly—answer some of the arguments just given by Senator Ryder and Senator Guess, and I do this simply because I appreciate that these remarks are going into the Federal Court and I presume that the judges will be reading them.

"First may I point out to Senator Lennart, which I did earlier, and I didn't think it was necessary again, the island area here of approximately 44,000 people have no representative and have not had any representative except two years of the twenty years, when I finish this term, that I will have been in this body. Only two years of that twenty have they been represented. I think they deserve representation. These are the islands in our Puget Sound. Islands have a lot of interests in common. There are some twenty-seven junior taxing districts. They have common taxing problems, and it seems to me best to give them representation. True, transportation is a problem, but there are other problems which I feel transcend that one particular drawback.

"Second, I would like to point out for the Court if I might that Whatcom county, about which Senator Lennart speaks, is basically too big for one district and too small for two, and this gave us the only way of bringing this area within the requirements of the Court.

"Now I have heard other arguments of representation of farmers, and other arguments of representation of various others. Now these are purely political considerations and I believe, I affirmatively believe, that the courts never intended to interfere with the political complexion of various districts. Lady and gentlemen, that's what we are elected for. It is our responsibility to handle the politics. They only require we represent the proper number of people. Tomorrow we will submit for the record a very careful count made of these districts and I feel that even the most skeptical will agree we have done a wonderful job keeping this within the requirements. Now we have read through the bill, we have considered the bill. Lord only knows, we spent eighty-three days of last session. We've had Legislative Council in between. There's very little new about this. We've studied it. All of us here, with one or two exceptions, were here last session. All of us are familiar with the lines. This isn't a new legislature with fresh new faces. We know what we are doing. The real thing about the Republican opposition, what they are really telling us is they just don't like what we are doing."

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Riley:

"I wonder if Senator Greive would yield to a question.

"Senator Greive, my question is simply this: Do you think that the people should have the right to read their favorite newspaper tomorrow and find out something about what is going on, so they could communicate with us their viewpoints on this matter, or should we proceed tonight?"

Senator Greive:

"Senator Riley, I think that you and I are the experts. I don't think that the average person or even the very informed person has the slightest perception when it comes to a very complicated matter such as redistricting. I wish they did. At best they generally know what district or area they are in. We are the people elected. We are the people who have studied this. We have heard the discussion. We are the ones who are supposed to understand this thing. They expect us to use our judgment and use it as best we possibly can."

Senators Sandison, McCutcheon and Greive demanded the previous question and the demand was sustained.

The President stated the question before the Senate to be the final passage of Engrossed Senate Bill No. 2.

ROLL CALL

The Secretary called the roll on the final passage of Engrossed Senate Bill No. 2, and the bill passed the Senate by the following vote: Yeas, 28, nays, 19; excused, 2.

Those voting yea were: Senators Bailey, Charette, Connor, Cooney, Donohue, Dore, Durkan, Foley, Gallagher, Gissberg, Greive, Hanna, Henry, Herr, Herrmann, Keefe, Knoblauch, Kupka, McCormack, McCutcheon, Mardesich, Morgan, Peterson (Lowell), Petrich, Riley, Sandison, Talley, Washington—28.

Those voting nay were: Senators Atwood, Chytil, Cowen, England, Freise, Guess, Hallauer, Lennart, Lewis, McMillan, Moriarty, Jr., Neill, Peterson (Ted), Rasmussen, Redmon, Ryder, Thompson, Jr., Williams, Woodall—19.

Excused: Senators Raugust, Stender—2.

Engrossed Senate Bill No. 2, having received the constitutional majority, was declared passed.

There being no objection, the title of the bill was ordered to stand as the title of the act.

MOTION

On motion of Senator Greive, Engrossed Senate Bill No. 2 was ordered immediately transmitted to the House.

EXPLANATION OF VOTE

We, the undersigned, protest the Democrat railroading of the redistricting bill. By refusing to organize, to adopt time-tested rules of procedure, to activate the standing committees, or to provide any notice or opportunity of anyone other than Democrat legislators to be heard on the redistricting bill, the Democrats abused their power and violated the basic tenets of legislative due process.

It is indispenable to the orderly development of a statute from the conception of the idea to its enactment that it be introduced, printed, circulated, analyzed, discussed, publicized, tested, a process which takes days rather than hours.

We, recognizing our responsibility to the people of this state, condemn the Democrat deprivation of the people, the news media, interested citizen groups, the opportunity to see the bill, to study it, to criticize it, and our right to receive counsel of such people.

We protest the placing of a 36 page bill on our desks at 8:50 p. m. and requiring a vote within a few hours, charging that the Democrats allowed too little time for study, analysis, verification and confirmation of the truth of the contentions of the sponsors.

We point out that this was a technical bill which purported to describe geographic territories and boundary lines in a variety of ways not within the personal knowledge of the Senators, not verifiable in any state office, nor in any one place, since the authors used metes and bounds, street names of municipalities and counties, state highway designations, precinct numbers, presumably of existing precincts in existing districts, precinct names that are not descriptive of geographic areas, census tracts. To check it out in the orderly, deliberative, legislative fashion required committee consideration denied to us by the Democrat leadership.

We register our protest to this action, now history, and at the same time we pledge our cooperation to Democrats if they are wise enough to take advantage of it, to work out a fair bill without delay.

MOTION

At 2:20 a. m., on motion of Senator Greive, the Senate adjourned until 10:00 a. m., Tuesday, January 12, 1965.

WARD BOWDEN, Secretary of the Senate.

SECOND DAY

MORNING SESSION

---

SENATE CHAMBER,

OLYMPIA, WASH., Tuesday, January 12, 1965.

The Senate was called to order at 10:00 a. m. by President Cherberg.

The Secretary called the roll and announced to the President that all Senators were present except Senators Dore, McCormack and McMillan.

On motion of Senator Bailey, Senator McCormack was excused.

The Color Guard, consisting of pages Curt Leady, Color Bearer, and Teresa Hallauer, presented the Colors.

Reverend Walter A. MacArthur, pastor of the First Methodist Church of Olympia, offered prayer as follows:

"Ours is a world of confusion and bewilderment, O God; we cannot find our way alone—thus, we seek now, in this moment of prayer, Thy guidance. We can take only one step at a time, but, we pray, make that step plain to us! Help us to see where duty and justice lies, then give us a good push that we may start in that direction. Deliver us from petty concern about ourselves. Stand us in the center of the great needs of our beloved State. Discipline us to sharpen our insight; to open our minds to all sides of each issue; to rightly distinguish between truth and half-truth, good, evil, political expediency, justice. Furnish our minds with the daring of faith, the humility of love, the devotion of responsible service, through Christ our Lord. Amen."

On motion of Senator Greive, the reading of the journal of the previous day was dispensed with and it was approved.

APPOINTMENT OF SPECIAL COMMITTEE

On motion of Senator Greive, the President appointed Senators Lowell Peterson, Lewis and Herr to serve as the three members from the Senate, in accordance with House Concurrent Resolution No. 1, to notify the Governor that the Legislature was organized and ready to transact business.

The committee retired.

The President declared the Senate to be at ease.

The President called the Senate to order.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Senator Ryder:

"Mr. President:

"Has the House been informed that the Senate is organized?"

The President:

"The committee has been duly appointed, and the President cannot give a definite answer to your question."

REPORT OF SPECIAL COMMITTEE

The special committee consisting of Senators Herr, Lowell Peterson and Lewis appeared before the bar of the Senate and reported that the Governor had been notified that the Legislature was organized and ready to transact business.

The report was received and the committee was discharged.

REPORT OF SPECIAL COMMITTEE

The President of the Senate:

"By popular acclaim and unanimous demand, I have been requested to ask if you would address the members of the Joint Session of the Washington State Legislature and the other ladies and gentlemen present today."

Secretary of State Meyers:

"Well, thank you very much, President Cherberg. I appreciate this very high honor.

"Governor Rosellini, President Cherberg, Mr. Speaker, ladies and gentlemen of the legislature and ladies and gentlemen who are visitors here today:

"You know, I was thinking as I came down the aisle and I was trying to count back. That was the twenty-eighth trip I have made down that main aisle for twenty-eight consecutive times—I am wrong. There were twenty-eight times I presided over a joint session; it wasn't entirely consecutive. I know something happened in 1952—it shocked the world. I was defeated. I think that was the year that thousands of people promised to help me out; they did and I was out for four years.

"But I appreciate this honor very much. I mean there is a lot of sentiment connected with this. I broke in Johnny as presiding officer over at the Senate. He is doing a terrific job. I don't mind telling you I have a very fine young man succeeding me as Secretary of State. You can say what you want; this is an age of youth, and we old-timers, like the members of the Supreme Court and—(indicating Governor Rosellini)—and me; we have had it! You always make a mistake and run once too often. They finally got me. I mean those newspaper guys up in front there.

"But next to the real thing—I would rather have a certificate of election—but next to that, this is very good. The only thing I object to is that it doesn't carry any salary with it—no expense account—no credit card. That's murder!

"Well, I have enjoyed my relationship with you and I have enjoyed a terrific friendship with most of you over a period of thirty-seven years, and this is a high honor and I am very humble and very proud to achieve this fine honor of being elected—what is this thing? It says "emeritus." I should know, because I wrote it.

"We'll break up the dignity of this thing yet.

"Thank you very much, Mr. President. I appreciate this honor from the bottom of my heart. I shall cherish the memory of our fine relationship over all these long years. I know it was a long trip coming down these aisles for twenty-eight years, but I don't mind telling you from the bottom of my heart—it's going to be a long trip back!"

The President of the Senate:

"Vic, your priceless sense of humor and wit are exceeded only by your natty and handsome appearance."

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Moriarty, Jr.:

"Mr. President:

"I intended to speak before debate was closed. I wasn't quick enough. Under personal privilege, I should like to advise the Senate that inasmuch as our Governor-elect will benefit from this bill, I made a point of primary responsibility on my part to discuss with him his attitude. I would like to advise the Senate that he has stated that he was elected at a certain salary and that he was not pushing the bill. I do not wish the Republican vote to be interpreted as a feeling on the part of the Governor-elect that his salary should have been increased. I would like to advise the Senate, speaking personally, however, that most of the people on this side of the aisle felt, as most of the people on your side of the aisle did, that our public officials were underpaid; that the time has come for us to recognize the responsibility that the legislature has to establish adequate salaries, and I do think we did a good job tonight."

Senator Greive:

"In brief answer to Senator Moriarty, may I point out, we think any Governor of the state of Washington, whether he be Evans or Rosellini, is worth it and if he does not desire to take the money, he can do what Senator Cowen does with a great many of his checks: turn it over to charity."

The Secretary read:

"I would now ask in lieu of the full committee investigation, to have the distinguished Senator with the roll call book read the names of those who voted for Mr. Rowland the last time."

Senator Durkan:

"Mr. President:

"Mr. Rowland was confirmed February 16th by this body in the 1961 session. The vote was forty-two yeas, no nays."

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Moriarty, Jr.:

"Would Senator Durkan yield to another question?

"Senator Durkan, can you personally tell me today on January 12th of 1965, that Mr. Rowland has the same capacities, the same physical capacity, the same educational background, the same abilities—can you personally tell me this—that he did on that day in 1961?"

Senator Durkan:

"Mr. President:

"I can say that when we interviewed Mr. Rowland, he was a man of vigor. He was a very vigorous man. He exuded much vigor. He was mentally alert. He was physically able, and I can't say that I know any more of his mental or physical ability than I know of the good Senator from the Thirty-sixth District."

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Ryder:

"Mr. President, personal privilege:

"I intend to vote 'no' on this confirmation. I have several good friends among those on the list which is on our desk here tonight, but I am going to be forced to vote 'no' on each one of them because of the manner in which these names are being brought before the body. I regret this very much. I would like to have it spread upon the record, my reason for voting 'no' on all of the confirmations which will be before us tonight is because of the way in which they are being brought before us and the lack of investigation of any of the nominees."

It was moved by Senator Kupka that the appointment of DeWitt C. Rowland to the Position of Member of the Washington State Aeronautics Commission be now confirmed.

Senators Greive, Durkan and Cooney demanded the previous question and the demand was sustained.

Senator Bailey:

"Mr. President:

"I would just like to ask if it would be possible in the future that we make a motion Senator England be excused from voting on the bills?"

The President Pro Tempore:

"I would say, Senator, it would be possible for anyone here to make a motion, if you have the votes to do so. The question before the Senate is the motion by Senator England that he be excused from voting on the confirmation of DeWitt Rowland."

The motion was carried, and Senator England was excused.

Senator Guess moved that he be excused from voting, and the motion was carried.

Senator Woodall moved that he be excused from voting, and the motion was carried.

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator McCutcheon:

"Personal privilege, Mr. President:

"I want to thank the members of both sides of the aisle for confirming the appointment of DeWitt Rowland, who was my law partner many years and is now a municipal judge in Tacoma. I have just learned he is a distant relative of Senator Thompson, and Senator Thompson, being a man of sterling character, knows his cousin. He voted for him. He is sixty years of age and still flies. I won't, of course, fly with him. He scared the pants off me the last time he took me up, but he is a dedicated non-salaried public servant."

The Secretary read:

MESSAGES FROM THE GOVERNOR

To the Honorable, the Senate of the State of Washington.

LADY AND GENTLEMEN:

ALBERT D. ROSELLINI,
Governor.

It was moved by Senator Herrmann that the appointment of Roy A. Betlach to the Washington State Liquor Control Board be now confirmed.

APPOINTMENT OF ROY A. BETLACH

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Thompson, Jr.:

"Mr. President, personal privilege:

"I rise to a point of personal privilege, Mr. President. It is regrettable that we didn't have an opportunity in the committee system to offer our advice and consent regarding the confirmation of Chief Betlach to the Liquor Control Board.

"I have had the pleasure of knowing Mr. Betlach for the last several months in my capacity as member of the Legislative Council of the Legislature of the state of Washington, and have come to know the gentleman very well. I think that Mr. Betlach is an excellent law enforcement officer and a man who has had a remarkable record in the field of law enforcement. Unfortunately the responsibility of the Liquor Control Board is a job that requires someone who is well versed in the subject of proprietary business such as we are operating in the state of Washington. This is a hundred million dollar business—"

POINT OF ORDER

Senator Greive:

"Mr. President, point of order:

"I regret to make this point of order, but he is transgressing personal privilege and I ask Senator Thompson to stick to the point or resume his seat."

RULING BY THE PRESIDENT

The President Pro Tempore:

"The point of Senator Greive is well taken. Senator Thompson, will you confine your remarks to your knowledge of Mr. Betlach as pertains to your personal privilege only?"

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Senator Woodall:

"Parliamentary inquiry, Mr. President:

"I would like to know what Senate rules we are using which now defines what is and what is not personal privilege."

The President Pro Tempore:

"We are not using any Senate rules. We are using the President's rule."

Senator Woodall:

"That's 'crystal clear.'"

The President Pro Tempore:

"Senator Thompson will confine his remarks to personal privilege, please."

Senator Thompson, Jr.:

"Well, Mr. President, I am only attempting to relate certain knowledge as a member of the august body that affects a member of this august body, and it is on that basis, I would feel that we should look very carefully at the relationship—"

Senator Greive:

"Mr. President:

"I'm going to have to insist that Senator Thompson resume his seat, or speak about something personal to him."

The President Pro Tempore:

"Senator Thompson, Senator Greive's point is well taken, as has been ruled. The President will have to insist that you confine your remarks to that of personal privilege, or take your seat."

Senator Thompson, Jr.:

"Mr. President:

"It is very difficult to go beyond the premise that I was attempting to speak upon, and that is, I am a member of this body and in relation to trying to serve this body, my contact with Chief Betlach is a personal matter. I don't know how I could proceed to explain these with the lack of understanding that seems to exist under these particular circumstances. I would like to make it perfectly clear that Chief Betlach is a very fine law enforcement officer and I have nothing but the highest regard for his ability as a law enforcement officer, but I think the problem here is the contacts that this gentleman has had with members of this legislature that relate to—"

POINT OF ORDER

Senator Riley:

"Point of order, Mr. President:

"I think the gentleman is entirely out of order. We have already confirmed the gentleman he is speaking about."

The President Pro Tempore:

"Does Senator Greive care to make a motion?"

MOTION

Senator Greive moved that the Senate proceed in order.

The motion was carried.

The Secretary read:

State of Washington, Executive Department,
Olympia, January 10, 1965.

To the Honorable, the Senate of the State of Washington.

LADY AND GENTLEMEN:

I have the honor to submit the following appointment to the Position of Member, Washington Utilities and Transportation Commission, subject to your confirmation:

Dayton A. Witten, appointed January 4, 1965, for the term ending January 1, 1971, succeeding Patrick D. Sutherland.

Sincerely yours,
ALBERT D. ROSELLINI,
Governor.

Senators Gallagher, Greive and Durkan demanded the previous question, and the demand was sustained.

CONFIRMATION OF DAYTON A. WITTEN

"I merely want to reiterate the remarks I made earlier. Dayton Witten is a very fine friend of mine. It grieves me very much to have to vote against him, but I am doing it on a matter of principal."

POINT OF INQUIRY

The President Pro Tempore:

"For what purpose does Senator Woodall rise?"

Senator Woodall:

"To ask a question."

The President Pro Tempore:

"Of whom?"

Senator Woodall:

"Anyone on the majority side who will answer."

The President Pro Tempore:

"I'm afraid that such a question may not be put. You may direct your inquiry to a specific person."

Senator Woodall:

"May I direct a question to the Chair?"

The President Pro Tempore:

"You may, Senator."

Senator Woodall:

"On the last two matters, there appears to be a pattern whereby one person moves the confirmation and then Senator Gallagher is then recognized to demand the previous question, and all debate is cut off with no chance to ask a question. If this procedure is going to be followed for the balance of the evening, then, of course, there is no point of any of us remaining here except twenty-five members of the majority. I would like to have the Chair tell us at this time, will there be any chance for anyone to ask questions or to be recognized other than Senator Gallagher?"

The President Pro Tempore:

"The Chair will be glad to recognize someone other than Senator Gallagher if the personal privilege is not abused as has already been done, Senator, on one occasion. The Chair will recognize your side of the aisle when you seek to have it for the purpose of legitimate comment."

State of Washington, Executive Department.
Olympia, January 11, 1965.

To the Honorable, the Senate of the State of Washington.

LADY AND GENTLEMEN:

I have the honor to submit the following appointments to the Position of Members, State Personnel Board, subject to your confirmation:

John T. Conlin, appointed January 4, 1965, for the term ending January 4, 1971, succeeding himself.

Stanbery Foster, appointed January 11, 1965, for the term ending January 4, 1969, succeeding Max Nicolai.

PERSONAL PRIVILEGES

Senator Woodall:

"Mr. President and members of the Senate:

"I am not going to oppose all of these appointments. I intend to vote for some. It is a new appointment. If you respect the advice of your own Attorney General, it will make no difference to hold this over and refer it to the proper committee before we vote on it. This is an instance where the appointment should clearly go to a committee. We are being asked to confirm an appointment of a man who has not served in this capacity before. We know nothing about him. I certainly feel that this should be referred to a committee."

Senator Moriarty, Jr.:

"Mr. President and members of the Senate:

"Some of the appointments which we have been asked to confirm so far are re-appointees. But this appointment was made on January 11, 1965. It is a new appointment. It is clearly a 'lame duck' appointment. It is a clear attempt to impose the personality of the administration of the prior Governor onto the new administration. Gentlemen, this is a raw, raw deal. I am not naive enough to think that my arguments will have any effect upon your vote here. But I would like you to consider that what you are doing here is setting a precedent, and, gentlemen, the worm will turn! I urge you to consider this. We have been deprived of the opportunity to learn something of this appointment by having it referred to the proper committee. This is a raw, raw deal!"

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Riley:

"Would Senator Durkan or Senator Gallagher or any of the members of the committee yield to a question?"

Senator Gallagher:

"If the question is brief."

Senator Riley:

"My question, Senator Gallagher, is simply this:

"It has been said that there was a committee of three Senators who reviewed all nominees. In view of the fact this appointment came up yesterday, did your sub-committee meet with Mr. Foster? I have never seen Mr. Foster to my knowledge, and if your committee met with him, please give me some more information."

Senator Gallagher:

"As one of our distinguished colleagues who used to be here used to say, 'I'm glad you asked that question.' Yes, the committee met with Mr. Foster this afternoon. He is a high type gentleman. I'm sure he'll do his best to uphold the civil service system and never let it go back to the spoils system; therefore, at this time, may I demand the previous question?"

Senators Knoblauch, Talley and Gallagher demanded the previous question, and the demand was sustained.

The motion was carried.

To the Honorable, The Senate of the State of Washington.

LADY AND GENTLEMAN:

I have the honor to submit the following appointment to the Position of Member, Board of Prison Terms and Paroles, subject to your confirmation:

Russell S. Gideon, appointed April 1, 1963, for the term ending April 15, 1966, succeeding Philip Burton.

Sincerely yours,
ALBERT D. ROSELLINI,
Governor.

Senator Dore moved that the Senate do now confirm the appointment of Russell S. Gideon to the Washington State Board of Prison Terms and Paroles.

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Dore:

"Mr. President:

"I would just like to speak briefly about my good friend Russell S. Gideon. He has served in this capacity on the Board of Prison Terms and Paroles for the last two years and did an outstanding job. He is a member of a number of national societies such as the National Council on Crime and Delinquency, the National Rehabilitation Association, and the National Association of Parole Authorities; and, he has done excellent work."

Senator Riley:

"Would Senator Dore yield to a question?"

Senator Dore:

"Certainly."

Senator Riley:

"Senator Dore:

"I do not know Mr. Gideon. I have never heard a word about him up until your comments this minute. Do you know how he stands on the general philosophy of rehabilitation? In other words, my point is this: I hear so much about giving everybody a chance. It doesn't make any difference what crime they're convicted of. So many people have the attitude, give them another chance at rehabilitation. I'd like to have your comment on that."

Senator Dore:

"Mr. President:

"I'd be very happy to answer. I, too, believe in giving every person another chance. I think even among ourselves down here, we may be defeated, but if we rehabilitate ourselves, the people give us another chance and we are able to serve again and represent our districts. I notice in the information sheet that Mr. Gideon is a member of the National Council on Crime and Delinquency and the National Association of Parole Authorities. I assume he believes in rehabilitation, just as we do."

Senator Riley:

"Mr. President:

"In answer to Senator Dore, if he wants to rehabilitate himself, that's his business, but at the present time I am concerned about my responsibility on how I should vote for a nominee or appointee. So far as I am concerned, I did not get an answer from Senator Dore. I therefore can't in conscience vote for somebody of whom I have no knowledge, or certainly no knowledge that fits my specifications."

Senator Keefe:

"Mr. President:

"Mr. Gideon is in every hotel room."

The motion was carried.

APPOINTMENT OF RUSSELL S. GIDEON

The Secretary called the roll, and the appointment of Russell S. Gideon to the Washington State Board of Prison Terms and Paroles was confirmed by the Senate by the following vote: Yeas, 29; nays, 11; absent or not voting, 9.

Those voting yea were: Senators Bailey, Charette, Connor, Cooney, Cowen, Donohue, Dore, Durkan, Gallagher, Gissberg, Greive, Hallauer, Hanna, Henry, Herr, Herrmann, Keefe, Knoblauch, Kupka, McCormack, McCutcheon, Marde-sich, Morgan, Peterson (Lowell), Petrich, Rasmussen, Sandison, Talley, Wash-ington—29.

Those voting nay were: Senators Atwood, Chytil, England, Freise, Guess, Lewis, Moriarty, Jr., Peterson (Ted), Raugust, Riley, Thompson, Jr.—11.

Absent or not voting: Senators Foley, Lennart, McMillan, Neill, Redmon, Ryder, Stender, Williams, Woodall—9.

Having received the approval of the Senate, the appointment of Russell S. Gideon to the Washington State Board of Prison Terms and Paroles was confirmed.

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Freise:

"Mr. President, I would like to speak on personal privilege:

"Members of the Senate, I speak in all sincerity. I voted against Mr. Gideon, not because he is not a fine man, a man of great integrity. I know him personally. When he comes to Walla Walla to interview inmates of the various cases, I frequently have breakfast or lunch with him, so I can honestly say that he is a person of real integrity. But I will say that Mr. Gideon is completely unqualified for the particular job he has, but so are all of the other members of the Board of Prison Terms and Paroles. They are completely unqualified for this job to which they have been appointed. Now when you have worked with this situation as long as I have, you will realize that legislation is long overdue in the state of Washington whereby we set the minimum qualifications for Parole Board Members and by reason of the failure of the legislature in adopting legislation to this effect, it is costing the state of Washington millions and millions of dollars, and it is going to cost millions and millions of dollars more.

"Now I have worked very closely with the staff at the Penitentiary and I can assure you that the people who are interested in rehabilitation and others on the national level as well feel the same way about it, and my vote against Mr. Gideon is not on the basis he isn't a man of integrity and honesty and a fine person, but by the fact of the very nature of this system which allows appointments of men who are completely unqualified for this particular job."

Senator Dore:

"Mr. President, I rise to point of personal privilege:

"I am shocked at these remarks of Senator Freise—absolutely shocked. Because the libel laws do not extend to this body that extend to others, he saw fit to rise in this chamber here tonight and call Mr. Gideon completely unqualified for this position. This is, in my opinion, not only lack of judgment on his part, but totally untrue. I have known Mr. Gideon personally for some twenty years."

Senator Gallagher:

"Mr. President:

"I would like to move that we proceed in order. I can understand the honorable Senator's concern at the charges made by Senator Freise, but I think he is falling into a little trap, as we say, and I hope we can proceed in order here and confirm the rest of these appointments."

Senator Dore:

"I do not consider this a trap. I think the record should be qualified so Mr. Gideon's qualifications are put in perspective here. However, in view of the wishes of the members here, I withdraw my remarks at this time and shall make my remarks of record tomorrow."

State of Washington, Executive Department,
Olympia, January 10, 1965.

Senator Atwood:

"Will Senator Washington yield?"

Senator Washington:

"Yes."

Senator Atwood:

"Senator, I notice that Joseph Panatoni is Prosecuting Attorney in Kittitas County. Is there any conflict of interest between his duties as an officer of the Central Washington State College and his duties as Prosecuting Attorney? Is there any legal question as to his ability to serve?"

"Especially now we pray Thy hand upon Daniel Evans. We thank Thee for all of the gracious influences in home and training that have prepared him for this high hour of leadership and responsibility. Deliver him from love of power and from motives of personal gain and from consideration of men and money in place of the demands of justice and truth. Guide him to an ever larger vision of the truth and an even deeper sense of the demands of righteousness, that through his faithfulness the lives of our people may be guided through wise policies and lifted to higher ideals and nobler achievements.

"Deliver us all from every influence that would break down our reverence for law and corrupt our sense of corporate responsibility. Help us, oh God, to put right before self interest, the attainment of noble ends before the enjoyment of present pleasures, principle before selfish power, and to put Thee before all else, that we may know the truth, revealed to us through Jesus Christ, Who alone can set men free, for it is in His spirit of love for all that we offer this prayer. ## FIFTH DAY

MORNING SESSION

SENATE CHAMBER,
OLYMPIA, WASH., Friday, January 15, 1965.

The Senate was called to order at 10:00 a. m. by President Cherberg.

The Secretary called the roll and announced to the President that all Senators were present except Senators Charette and Lennart.

On motion of Senator Keefe, Senator Charette was excused.

On motion of Senator Neill, Senator Lennart was excused.

The Color Guard, consisting of Pages Curt Leady, Color Bearer, and Susan Harris, presented the colors.

Reverend Walter A. MacArthur, pastor of the First Methodist Church of Olympia, offered prayer as follows:

"In this quiet moment of devotion, Great God, with all other voices stilled—breathe on us, Breath of God.

"We pause to thank Thee for the glories of the world in which we live, for the work Thou has given us to do, for the strength and wisdom with which to do it. We seek Thy blessing upon all who labor here with true purpose of heart, for the purification of public life, for the removal of all that betrays or denies democracy, for good government and just laws, for sound education and a clean press, for sincerity and honesty in our relations with one another, for the spirit of service which will abolish pride of place and make possible equal opportunities to all in a human brotherhood without frontiers.

"We pray in the Name of Christ. Amen."

On motion of Senator Greive, the reading of the journal of the previous day was dispensed with and it was approved.

MOTION

It was moved by Senator Rasmussen that the President of the Senate appoint a committee to draft a new rule to be included in the Senate rules covering the registration of lobbyists.

Debate ensued.

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Riley:

"I wonder if at this stage of the proceedings I might ask Senator Rasmussen to submit to a question.

"Senator, I wasn't able to get to Rule 26 to read it, but I would like to ask this question: Is it possible that the rule might cover employees who are also, likewise, lobbyists or suspected of being lobbyists?"

Senator Rasmussen:

"Senator Riley, at the present time we do have a rule covering employees, and they are not permitted to lobby and are subject to discipline or removal from their jobs. This would primarily occur if we find lobbyists attempting to influence employees and get them to lobby. Then the lobbyists would be guilty and we would be able to take action against them. Now the privilege of appearing before a committee is important. Most lobbyists are reliable people. Once in a while you get someone who isn't and at the present time, you can stumble over forty thousand lobbyists. You don't even know who they are or who they represent, if you want to prefer charges against them to the President. He has no means of knowing who they are, so this would be important."

Debate ensued.

The motion was carried.

"Mr. President and members of the Senate:

"As a long time paleface friend of the Indians, I would like to announce that I believe, Mr. President, that you are known as Chief Rap-um-Down, or something, of the Yakimas, and Senator Keefe is a three-father-chief, and I believe Senator Woodall has been recognized, and now to that great, distinguished fraternity we have a new member added. Mr. Verne Sawyer, President of the Toppenish Chamber of Commerce, and our distinguished Reader, has been granted the honor and title of Chief Leather Lungs of the Yakima tribe. I think this article should be read into the record in order to substantiate my statements."

EIGHTH DAY

NOON SESSION

SENATE CHAMBER,
OLYMPIA, WASH., Monday, January 18, 1965.

The Senate was called to order at noon by President Cherberg.

The Secretary called the roll and announced to the President that all Senators were present.

Reverend T. Eugene Turner, pastor of the First Christian Church of Olympia, offered prayer as follows:

"Our Father, how frail we are, how inadequate, even the strongest, the keenest, the most clever of us, and yet Thou hast invited us to be co-workers with Thee. Stab us wide awake then that all life is sacred, all decent work magnificent, all honorable occupations and professions sublime. Make known to us then, once again, clearly and sharply, Lord of all the earth, that in the market place, in the courts of justice, in the hall of legislation, as well as in cathedrals and before altars, we may do, we are doing, Thy true work.

"We know, Righteous God, the times are strange and hard, that man may have to stumble and grope, fall and rise again. But so did our fathers before us in other times and in other places. Save us then from despair in a time when there are no easy answers and when we cannot expect to come suddenly upon the end of the rainbow.

"Remind us of the ultimate decency of all life under Thy sovereign rule. Give us grace to light even small candles and to refrain from the easy way of cursing the darkness. Let this spirit, our Divine Parent, be in those whose essential ministry is here in this Senate chamber, and in all of us as citizens of this nation and of the world.

"And unto Thee be the glory, the majesty, the dominion and the power, both now and forever. Amen."

On motion of Senator Riley, the reading of the journal of the previous day was dispensed with and it was approved.

Reverend T. Eugene Turner, pastor of the First Christian Church of Olympia, offered prayer as follows:

"This day, our Divine Parent, we come to Thee about our beloved State. We come in gratitude, not in petition. We come not to wring our hands in despair but to thank Thee for the privilege of being a living, dynamic part of the United States of America. We are grateful for those who have led us in the past and are leading us now into responsible Statehood.

"In a time of unrest, when bigotry is easy and violence envelops our best dreams, we pray Thee for insight and courage to move ahead by the ways of law and order to a true fellowship of all our people based on righteousness, justice and human dignity.

"Bless and sustain our Chief Executive, Governor Evans. Uphold the members of this legislative body. Preserve and maintain for us the freedom and greatness of our people. Save for us, O God, in our time, all that is honorable, true, just, lovely and of good report. Amen."

On motion of Senator Greive, the reading of the journal of the previous day was dispensed with and it was approved.

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Dore:

"Mr. President:

"Would Senator Moriarty yield to a question?"

"Senator Moriarty, I wonder when we might expect Governor Evans' proposed budget. I think if it were in the next few days, we could perhaps hold hearings and proceed with it. However, we are in a lapse state waiting for it. If we cannot expect it in the next few days, it may be necessary to have a special session to consider it. I just wonder if you could advise us what legislative day we might expect to receive the budget."

Senator Moriarty, Jr.:

"Now that the Democratic majority has decided that committees are a good thing after all, I think Governor Evans will do his part. Seriously, I think you can expect the budget some time next week."

Senator Dore:

"May I ask one further question? What legislative day do you believe Governor Evans' budget will be prepared to be presented?"

Senator Moriarty, Jr.:

"To the best of my knowledge, Senator Dore, it would be some time between next Monday and next Friday. I don't know which legislative days they are."

Senator Dore:

"In other words, about thirty days after we have commenced?"

Senator Moriarty, Jr.:

"Not thirty days after we have commenced, no. Somewhere between fifteen and eighteen days after we commenced."

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Woodall:

"Would Senator Dore yield to a question?"

"Senator Dore, do you have any idea when we will have committees named that will receive the budget, when we get the budget?"

Senator Dore:

"You're putting the cart before the horse. First we need the budget. Then we will need committees."

Senator Woodall:

"Will Senator Dore yield to a second question?"

"Can you tell me, Senator Dore, when we will know what committees we are on and when we can have stationery? We used to get our stationery fairly early in the session. Do you anticipate we will have our stationery before the thirtieth day?"

Senator Dore:

"Answering your question, I think that's more in the realm of Senator Greive or Senator Bailey."

Senator Greive:

"We thought Senator Woodall should find out if he was a member of this body before we gave him stationery."

The Secretary read:

MOTION

It was moved by Senator Greive that the standing committee appointments as announced be confirmed.

Senator Ryder:

"Mr. President:

"I would like to take exception to one committee. Some changes have been made which throws the committee politically out of balance. This is the Public Utilities Committee. Originally there were three Republicans on this committee and eight Democrats, which was a little out of balance, but we felt we could go along with this. But now they have added some four Democrats to the committee, so it makes it now a balance of three Republicans and twelve Democrats, which we feel is a little bit lopsided, although we do recognize that three Republicans are a match for almost any number on the other side. But I would like to take exception to this one committee. I think the other committees are all in line with our understanding in caucus and have the approval of the Republican caucus."

Senator Bailey:

"I'd like to reply, Mr. President, to Senator Ryder's remarks. As chairman of the Committee on Committees, he may have impugned my motives. The situation actually is this. Very bluntly, the Democratic Party is a party of public power, this is a stacked committee, and we hope we have a public power committee."

Senator Ryder:

"Nevertheless, Mr. President, we have both sides over here, and we would like to have you stack it with a little more of our people. This would be all right with us. Nevertheless, I would like to take exception, as a matter of record, to the balance of this one particular committee."

The motion was carried, and the committee appointments were confirmed.

MOTIONS

It was moved by Senator Stender that Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 2 be placed on final passage and adopted.

Debate ensued.

It was moved by Senator Washington that Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 2 be referred to the Committee on Highways.

Debate ensued.

POINT OF ORDER

Senator Moriarty, Jr.:

"Mr. President:

"Isn't there a motion pending, and wouldn't it be necessary to have Senator Stender's motion put to the body first?"

Senator Greive:

"Senator Moriarty, in any precedence of motions, the motion to refer to a particular committee is a higher motion than to adopt."

Senator Moriarty, Jr.:

"Mr. President:

"I would like to remind Senator Greive that we operate under rules that very few of us understand, that do not seem to have anything except a sort of fluid motion in this body; that unless there is something in the Constitution, Senator Greive, I would suggest we are governed by majority rule and these rules you are quoting simply don't have a basis at this time. If they do, and if I have missed a motion to adopt certain rules, I'd be very, very happy to find it out. However, at the present time, as I understand it, whatever this group wants to do, it can do. There is no precedent, so I suggest that Senator Stender's motion in the normal course of events should be put first."

Senator Greive:

"Mr. President:

"Senator Moriarty will soon find out what we want to do."

The President declared the question before the Senate to be: It has been moved by Senator Washington that Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 2 be referred to the Committee on Highways.

Debate ensued.

The motion was carried, and Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 2 was referred to the Committee on Highways.

At 11:40 a. m., on motion of Senator Greive, the Senate adjourned until 10:30 a. m., Thursday, January 21, 1965.

OLYMPIA, WASH., Friday, January 22, 1965.

The Senate was called to order at 10:30 a.m. by President Cherberg.

The Secretary called the roll and announced to the President that all Senators were present except Senator Cowen.

On motion of Senator Keefe, Senator Cowen was excused.

The Color Guard, consisting of Pages Don Beardin, Color Bearer, and Susan Harris, presented the Colors.

Reverend T. Eugene Turner, pastor of the First Christian Church of Olympia, offered prayer as follows:

"Grant, O Lord, that the members of this Senate may see the true proportions of all claims made on them, and may deal justly with their time, their affections, their positions, and the power of their words.

"Give us all a vision of justice illumined by the insights of intelligent goodwill. Grant that neither indolence nor prejudice, self-seeking nor favoritism shall so blind us as to make us unjust to others.

"Assist us in becoming worthy citizens of this State in which our lives and destinies are now being lived out. Help us to place our ultimate loyalty to Thee above all earthly allegiance and so prove that in word and in deed, 'In God we trust.'

"So, help us, God, that we may continue to seek justice and pursue that which makes for righteousness. Amen."

On motion of Senator Greive, the reading of the journal of the previous day was dispensed with and it was approved.

SPECIAL ORDER OF BUSINESS

The time having arrived, the President stated the special order of business is: Engrossed Senate Bill No. 2 as amended by the House.

On motion of Senator Greive, the Senate resolved itself into a Committee of the Whole, President Pro Tempore Gissberg in the Chair, for the purpose of receiving an opinion from Attorney General John J. O'Connell regarding Engrossed Senate Bill No. 2 as amended by the House.

COMMITTEE OF THE WHOLE

On motion of Senator Greive, the Sergeant at Arms was directed to escort Attorney General John J. O'Connell to the rostrum to deliver an opinion.

MESSAGE OF ATTORNEY GENERAL O'CONNELL

"Senator Gissberg, Governor Cherberg, members of the Senate:

"My real purpose in being here this morning is to attend a budget meeting, and I find myself suddenly in a place usually reserved for the leaders of the Senate and, on appropriate occasions, the Governor, so my being here should not necessarily be construed as wishful thinking.

"We have been asked to give our opinion on the constitutionality of a redistricting proposal passed by the members of the Senate, amended and passed thereafter by the House, and submitted back to this body for concurrence or non-concurrence in the amendments. We have drafted a letter, and with your indulgence, I will read it. It is addressed to the Speaker, Mr. Robert Schaefer, Senator Robert C. Bailey, Senator R. R. (Bob) Greive, and Representative Gary Grant.
Gentlemen:

By letter dated January 21, 1965 you have submitted to us for review Engrossed Senate Bill No. 2, a bill providing for reapportionment of the Washington state legislature in compliance with the order entered on October 26, 1964 by the United States District Court in the case of Thigpen et al. v. Meyers et al. This bill, we are advised, was passed by the Senate on January 12, 1965 and, with certain amendments, by the House of Representatives on January 20, 1965.

In addition to submitting the plan in bill form, as aforesaid, you have at our request supplied us with certain findings as to the population of each proposed newly aligned senatorial and representative district, based upon 1960 federal census data. Your findings, upon which the plan is predicated, are summarized in the appendix hereto.<sup>1</sup> You have requested that we provide you with an opinion relating to the constitutional validity of this plan.

Notably, the reapportionment plan contained in Engrossed Senate Bill No. 2 is substantially the same plan as was considered by this office some ten days ago in response to an opinion request submitted by State Representative Gary Grant. Of that plan we said:

" * * * it is our considered opinion that the plan can be defended on both state and federal constitutional grounds. With particular reference to the latter, the basic criterion of constitutionality was laid down by the United States Supreme Court in Reynolds v. Sims, 377 U. S. 553, 84 S. Ct. 1362 (June 15, 1964) as follows (377 U. S. at 577):

"By holding that as a federal constitutional requisite both houses of a state legislature must be apportioned on a population basis, we mean that the Equal Protection Clause requires that a State make an honest and good faith effort to construct districts, in both houses of its legislature, as nearly of equal population as is practicable. We realize that it is a practical impossibility to arrange legislative districts so that each one has an identical number of residents, or citizens, or voters. Mathematical exactness or precision is hardly a workable constitutional requirement. * * * (Emphasis supplied.)

"Of course, review of the district-by-district population breakdown set forth in the appendix hereto reveals the achievement of something less than mathematical perfection; on the other hand we believe that it does reveal

" * * * an honest and good faith effort to construct districts, in both houses, * * * as nearly of equal population as is practicable * * * "

In particular regard to the plan's use of some single-member representative districts and some multi-member representative districts, we commented as follows:

" * * * this approach very definitely appears to be sanctioned by the United States Supreme Court. See again, Reynolds v. Sims, supra, in which the court, speaking of the constitutionally permissible flexibility in regard to the composition of the two houses of a bicameral state legislature, said inter alia (377 U. S. at 577):

" * * * One body could be composed of single-member districts while the other could have at least some multi-member districts * * * "

"Again in this area as in the case of the proposed senatorial districts, the crucial factor of substantial equality of population appears to be present."

In conclusion, we said:

"Obviously, the final decision as to the validity of your proposal (if enacted into law) will be with the courts, and no one can guaranty with certainty the court's decision. We do not purport to do so. We do believe, however, that if your proposal does become the law of this state, it stands an excellent chance of being upheld."

Insofar as the fundamental relationship between population and representation is concerned, the several modifications in the plan that have been made by the senate or house amendments since our original review have resulted in no significant change. As a matter of fact, of these several modifications only one has altered the population of proposed senatorial districts—reducing the population of the proposed sixth senatorial district (Spokane, part) from 57,651 to 56,083 inhabitants and increasing the population of the adjacent fourth senatorial district (Spokane, part) from 51,036 to 52,604 inhabitants. If anything, this minor change is a change for the better because it takes the proposed fourth senatorial district out of the less desirable fifteen percent "over and under" population range category and brings it well within the preferable ten percent "over and under" class. See our letter to Mr. James Dolliver on behalf of Governor Evans, dated December 24, 1964.

All of the other substantive modifications in the reapportionment plan originally reviewed have simply involved the transformation of single-member representative districts into two-member districts in certain instances where for various reasons the "sub-district" device was apparently deemed to be less suitable. Where this feature of the original plan remains in use, the requisite equality in population between representative districts within a single senatorial district is still present.<sup>2</sup>

<sup>2</sup>Since the date of our previous review of this matter the United States Supreme Court has given a further indication of its willingness to allow use of this device on a piece-meal basis in regard to the apportionment of state legislatures. See Fortson v. Dorsey et al., 25 S. Ct., Bulletin 591 (January 18, 1965).

Accordingly, on the basis of the criteria laid down by the United States Supreme Court in Reynolds v. Sims, supra, and companion cases of June 15, 1964—as discussed in our letter to Mr. Dolliver, supra—it is our opinion that the apportionment plan contained in Senate Bill No. 2, as amended, is constitutionally valid.

In thus concluding we are aware that opposition has been expressed to this bill on partisan political grounds. However, our study of the pertinent Supreme Court decisions leads us to believe that such considerations are not regarded by the Court to be germane to the ultimate constitutional issue of whether a state's legislative apportionment assures that " * * * The vote of any citizen is approximately equal in weight to that of any other citizen in the State." Reynolds v. Sims, supra.

The plan you have submitted does meet this criteria. Such minor discrepancies as exist in the text of amendments to the original bill—and we have noted one or two upon reading them over in connection with your request<sup>3</sup>—do not appear upon considering the bill as a whole to be material to the question of constitutional validity of the plan.

<sup>3</sup>e.g., the apparent misplacement of an amendatory proviso relating to the significance of a partial veto by the Governor, in section 62; and the inclusion of a cross-reference to section 48 in both sections 53 and 55 rather than merely section 53.

We trust that the foregoing will be of assistance to you.

Very truly yours,
JOHN J. O'CONNELL,
Attorney General.

"There are three things I would like to say very briefly. For several years we have been on the firing line in this case. We succeeded in persuading this three judge Federal Court to allow this very Session to come into being. We succeeded in persuading them to let us hold our regular election and have one more convening of our Legislature to resolve this plan. Our only wish is to present this court—and we are the ones that are going to have to do it—a defensible apportionment plan. We think Engrossed Senate Bill No. 2 fits the bill. The partisan political aspects are in your hands. They are of no concern of ours.

"Second, I want to congratulate the members of the Legislature for having come this far in reapportionment in such a short period of time. I know that even within the working ground of a majority party, this is not easily done, and I hope that this problem will be resolved as soon as possible so that you can devote full time to the other pressing matters affecting the citizens of the state of Washington.

"Number three, I have been in contact with this three judge court as late as last evening. This is a special court convened for this one purpose, this one case. It consists of three judges who sit in various jurisdictions. I asked them when they would be available to consider the acts of this Legislature. They said first they would be available the latter part of next week. They will not be available, probably, again until about Lincoln's Birthday. They will scatter around the western United States and sit on cases that have been long set for their deliberation. After about February 12 or 13, they were unable to tell me when this three man court could be convened, although they will do all in their power to accommodate themselves to this matter.

"Please consider our office always at the disposal of the Legislature and particularly in this matter because, as I indicated, I consider this not only of grave importance to you, but of grave importance to the office of the Attorney General because it is our office that will have to bring what you have done to the Federal Court for its approval. Thank you."

Chairman Gissberg:

"Thank you, Mr. O'Connell, for your message to the Committee of the Whole. I know your words, particularly with respect to the time that the Court will be in session, are welcome on both sides of the aisle, so far as the mechanics of any future action might be concerned."

Senator Greive:

"Mr. Chairman:

"Pursuant to a communication sent to me through Mr. O'Connell's office in the last two or three minutes, I understand that he is desirous, informally, of answering questions of the minority. I move that he might be permitted to answer informal questions."

Chairman Gissberg:

"If there are no objections, it is so ordered."

POINTS OF INFORMATION

Senator Moriarty, Jr.:

"I have a question I would like to address to the witness.

"Mr. O'Connell, if the alternative redistricting plan which was presented to the members of the House should be presented to you, would your office be able to give the Senate and the Legislature an opinion as to the constitutionality of that plan and, if so, would you be able to give us that opinion within the same period of time as you have been able to deliver this opinion?"

Mr. O'Connell:

"I assume you refer to the reapportionment plan of the minority of the House. We have never seen this plan. We have been aware of this plan for almost a month, and the proponents of this plan have met with us regularly and we have discussed it in detail. But we would be more than happy at any time to evaluate the plan you referred to and I don't think it would take too much time to issue an opinion on its constitutionality."

Senator Williams:

"Mr. O'Connell, you referred briefly to your prior opinion of December 24th setting down guide lines as to what would be a constitutional redistricting plan. At some length you discussed the problem of equality of population and pointed out there could be slight variations because of political boundaries or historical patterns, but in your last sentence you said that any over-population of a district should only be in an urban or suburban area. Now I understand the bill before us has the largest district and one even beyond population boundaries in a completely rural area in eastern Washington. How do you reconcile your statement now with your statement of December 24th on that point?"

Mr. O'Connell:

"I think we indicated, Senator, we would prefer, if there were any over-population factor, that it be in an urban or suburban area. However, you have to take each district separately, and I think the one you refer to, the only way it can be sensibly put together is in such a fashion as to make it slightly over-populated. The court will consider the plan as a whole and consider what to do with the particular district referred to if you tried to bring it down to a more acceptable norm. But in an over-all evaluation of the constitutionality of this proposal, we thought it could be defended as an over-all plan before the Federal Court."

Senator Woodall:

"Mr. O'Connell, realizing we are getting the services of a higher paid attorney than we used to get a few days ago, I'm going to ask a question now. I believe in the court decision there was something about invidious discrimination, or words to that effect. Have you checked this bill to see whether or not there was any evidence of invidious discrimination with the purpose of discriminating against the minority group, namely the Republican Party?"

Mr. O'Connell:

"No, Senator, I have not. The reason we have not is this: Political disposition or the disposition of political parties in a district is not one of the criteria for a constitutional apportionment act. At least it isn't right now. The current decisions of the Supreme Court do not give this as one of the standards, so we have not checked it from that standpoint."

Senator Woodall:

"One further question: Would your office be willing to present that to the Court and point out to the Court that possibly that thing has happened in this particular bill?"

Mr. O'Connell:

"I have had some discussion with Republican leaders over the past few days concerning that, and it is just a question of how the apportionment act should be put together. If the Legislature passed a bill and it was signed into law by the Governor as being a reapportionment act of this state, I would not be adverse to contacting the Federal Court and saying, 'Look, the minority party claims that these districts are aligned in such a way as to discriminate against the Republicans. Would the Court be willing to hear argument on this question?' I would then present argument so that if the Court wanted to hear it, it could be presented by a capable person whose selection could be made by the minority party."

Senator Lennart:

"Mr. O'Connell, along the same lines, are you aware—surely you are—that the essence of our government is a two-party system?"

Mr. O'Connell:

"Yes, I am, but of course we have to take our law as we find it from the Supreme Court of the United States, and from the Federal Courts, and they haven't considered this to be a standard in reapportioning a state, and the reason for it is easy to see.

"How can anybody look into the minds of fifty-thousand people and say twenty-six thousand of them are Republicans and twenty-four thousand of them are Democrats. It's an impossibility. You can see the color of an individual, for example, but his political disposition is a factor that would be hard to be concerned with because, as you well know, in our state, political complexions change from election to election, and it is not a constant factor so this is probably the reason they didn't use the political criterion as one of the standards for reapportionment."

Senator Herrmann:

"Mr. Chairman:

"I would just like to call to Senator Woodall's attention that we have higher paid questioners than we have ever had before."

Senator Woodall:

"Senator Herrmann, may I merely state I did not vote to raise the pay of the questioners."

MOTION

Senator Greive:

"I move that the Committee of the Whole do now rise and report back to the full Senate and that the report of the Attorney General be spread upon the journal and that a copy be made available on each Senator's desk."

The motion was carried, and the Committee of the Whole reported back to the Senate with the recommendation that the opinion delivered by Attorney General O'Connell, together with the questions and answers submitted during the Committee of the Whole, be spread upon the journal.

On motion of Senator Gissberg, the report of the Committee of the Whole was adopted.

MOTIONS

It was moved by Senator Greive that the Senate do concur in all of the House amendments to Engrossed Senate Bill No. 2 except the amendment to section 62, page 36, line 25, and that the House be asked to recede therefrom.

Debate ensued.

It was moved by Senator Moriarty, Jr. that Engrossed Senate Bill No. 2, together with the House amendments thereto, be referred to the Committee on Constitution, Elections and Legislative Processes.

With the consent of the Senate, Senator Moriarty's motion was placed first. Debate ensued.

Senators Greive, Gallagher and Gissberg demanded the previous question and the demand was sustained.

Senator Moriarty, Jr. demanded a roll call and the demand was sustained by Senators Chytil, England, Atwood, Redmon, Greive, Bailey and Sandison.

ROLL CALL

The Secretary called the roll on the motion by Senator Moriarty, Jr. to refer Engrossed Senate Bill No. 2, together with the House amendments thereto, to the Committee on Constitution, Elections and Legislative Processes. The motion was lost by the following vote: Yeas, 18; nays, 30; excused, 1.

Those voting yea were: Senators Atwood, Chytil, England, Freise, Guess, Lennart, Lewis, Moriarty, Jr., Neill, Peterson (Ted), Raugust, Redmon, Riley, Ryder, Stender, Thompson, Jr., Williams, Woodall—18.

Excused: Senator Cowen—1.

The President declared the question before the Senate to be: It has been moved by Senator Greive that the Senate do concur in the House amendments to Engrossed Senate Bill No. 2, except the amendment to section 62, page 36, line 25, and ask the House to recede from that amendment.

Senators Greive, Gallagher and Herrmann demanded the previous question and the demand was sustained.

The motion carried and the Senate concurred in the house amendments to Engrossed Senate Bill No. 2 except the amendment to section 62, page 36, line 25 and asked the House to recede from said amendment.

On motion of Senator Greive, Engrossed Senate Bill No. 2 was ordered immediately transmitted to the House.

On motion of Senator McCormack, Senate Bill No. 53 was referred to the Committee on Education.

SENATE RESOLUTION

No. 1965 -7

WHEREAS, The Federal Power Commission has scheduled a hearing on the Oroville Project for April 6, 1965, to examine the inclusion of provisions in the federal license which could make necessary the building of costly fish ladder and protection facilities; and

WHEREAS, The inclusion of such provisions would no doubt result in the abatement by the Okanogan Public Utility District of its Oroville Dam, rather than an acceptance of the license with such provisions; and

WHEREAS, Such abatement would seriously affect the feasibility of developing multi-purpose storage on the Similkameen River as well as adversely affecting the proposed two hundred seventy foot project at Shanker's Bend; and

WHEREAS, A prime need of the Similkameen-Okanogan Basin is storage for the control of floods (as evidenced by the devastating flood of 1948) and for the augmentation of low flows; and

WHEREAS, The Corps of Engineers and other federal and state agencies within a year will undertake a detailed review of the development plans for the Columbia River and its tributaries;

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR

Office of the Governor,
January 26, 1965.

To the Honorable, The Senate of the State of Washington.

LADY AND GENTLEMEN:

I am returning herewith, without my approval, Senate Bill No. 2, entitled:

"An Act relating to the legislature; providing for the redistricting and reapportionment thereof; repealing chapter 5, Laws of 1957, chapter 289, Laws of 1957 and chapter 44-06 RCW; and declaring an emergency."

In my inaugural message on January 13, 1965, I urged the legislature to pass promptly a constitutional redistricting bill which would insure that the party which wins a majority of votes would win a majority of the seats in the legislature. Senate Bill No. 2 totally fails to meet this goal. I have reached this conclusion after a great deal of thought and after meeting with the chief proponents of the bill in the House and Senate.

After considering all of the facts I am convinced that this bill would thwart the will of the majority and guarantee perpetual control of the legislative process by one party.

As Governor, I have a responsibility to all the people of the state, Republicans, Democrats and Independents alike, to see that they have the right to choose by majority vote, the party which will lead the legislature. This bill would deprive the people of the fundamental goal of the two party system.

For these reasons I have vetoed Senate Bill No. 2.

Yesterday I called together the legislative leaders of both parties and urged them to lay aside partisan considerations and to negotiate in good faith a redistricting bill which will be fair to all of the people of the state. When such a bill is presented to me, I will approve it promptly.

It is now the 16th day of the legislative session. The public business is pressing and demands immediate action.

Respectfully submitted,

DANIEL J. EVANS, Governor.

MOTION

It was moved that the message of Governor Evans be referred to the Committee on Rules and Joint Rules with instructions to consider the contents of the message and report back to the Senate.

Debate ensued.

The motion was carried.

APPOINTMENT OF SPECIAL COMMITTEE

"Since we are not operating under any rules and the State Constitution, Article II, Section 11 does state that the doors of each House shall be kept open, under what authority, sir, did you order the Sergeant at Arms to lock the doors? The constitution further goes on to say, 'except on matters which require secrecy.' Is this matter here secret or not? Is it open to the public?"

Senator Chytil moved the adoption of the following amendment:

On page 7, section 39, line 21, after the numbers "44.06.220" and before the period, insert: "except the following precincts in Grays Harbor County: Arctic Blockhouse, Connie, Cosmopolis 1 and 2, Cosmopolis Rural, Delezene, Fords Prairie, Grayland, Johns River, Malone, Melbourne, Oakville 1, Oakville 2 Rural, Ocosta, Porter, Vesta, Westport, Westport Rural".

Debate ensued.

On motion of Senator Greive, the amendment was laid upon the table.

Senator Hallauer moved the adoption of the following amendment:

On page 24, section 112, line 12, following "Sec. 112." strike the entire section and insert: "This act will take effect immediately following approval by the Federal District Court."

Debate ensued.

On motion of Senator McCutcheon, the amendment was laid upon the table.

SPECIAL ORDER OF BUSINESS

The time having arrived, the Senate resumed consideration of the amendment by Senator Riley to page 12, section 72, line 24, strike "Sec. 72." and renumber the following sections consecutively.

Debate ensued.

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Moriarty, Jr.:

"Senator Greive, if I understood your remarks, you stated that if one of the districts did not have the 'A' and 'B' districts, and the others did, it would jeopardize the constitutionality of the bill?"

Senator Greive:

"Yes, I said if they didn't have the 'A' and 'B' designation. They do not have to have the geographical sub-districts."

Senator Moriarty, Jr.:

"My question really is: Why is the division of the district in this bill, or the elimination of a division of a district in this bill going to jeopardize its constitutionality, where in the previous bill considered on the floor of the Senate several days ago, Engrossed Senate Bill No. 2, some districts were subdivided into 'A' and 'B' districts, and others were not subdivided."

Senator Greive:

"Senator, it is my understanding there are no subdivisions remaining in the thirty-fifth district as designated in this bill. The difficulty now is they are about to try to eliminate the 'A' and 'B' positions and since uniformly we have had 'A' and 'B' positions in all of the districts, this might jeopardize it."

Debate ensued.

On motion of Senator McCutcheon, the amendment was laid upon the table.

On motion of Senator Riley, the following amendments were adopted:

On page 12, section 72, line 24, after "35-B:" strike the remainder of the section and insert "The area constituted in Sec. 71 of this act."

On line 2 of the amendment by Senator Riley, after "35" insert "-A"

On motion of Senator McCutcheon, Senate Bill No. 237, as amended, was placed on final passage.

Debate ensued.

POINTS OF INQUIRY

Senator Moriarty, Jr.:

"Would Senator Greive yield to a series of short questions?"

"Senator Greive, I'll try to make these as short as possible. The hour is late and I know we are all tired. Since about all we can do in the minority is keep one eye cocked on the Federal Court, which may act with some alchemy, I would like to ask you first, in view of the provision of page 20, lines 15 through 18 of this bill, which provides that one Senator shall be elected for the second senatorial district created by this act at the general election to be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November of 1966, for a term of two years, and the provision in Article II, Section 6 of the state constitution which states with reference to senatorial districts that senators shall be elected for a term of four years, my question is: How does the provision on page 20 square with the provision of Section 6, Article II of the constitution?"

Senator Greive:

"Senator, this matter, happily, has already been ruled upon by our Supreme Court in the matter of State ex rel. Christensen. I'm told it is 169 Washington. My lawyer tells me it is page 9."

Senator Moriarty, Jr.:

"My second question: My information with regard to the population figures in the seventh district under Senate Bill No. 237 is that the district contains a population of 38,592, while the fifth senatorial district contains a population of 61,982, or a disparity of thirty-seven per cent. My question is: How do these two districts meet the population standards set by the Federal Court in their recent decisions and orders?"

Senator Greive:

"Senator, my information is that your figures are in error."

Senator Moriarty, Jr.:

"Senator Greive, the third of my questions is with regard to my own thirty-sixth district. In this bill, I have acquired a part of Bainbridge Island. Now Bainbridge Island is in Kitsap County, while my existing district is in King County and comprises only a part of the city of Seattle. Kitsap County and those portions of my district which are in King County are separated by eight to ten miles of water. In view of the provision in Article II, Section 6 of the state constitution that Senators shall be elected by single districts of convenient and contiguous territory, my question to you is, Senator, how do we meet these standards of convenience and contiguousness with regard to the thirty-sixth senatorial district in this bill?"

Senator Greive:

"I have three parts to this answer. First, let me say that if you were to follow this as a criterion, no island could ever be a part of any district. For instance, the Hawaiian Islands would never be a part of the United States. We have a number of islands and we had to put them somewhere, so we attempted to choose those areas that we felt they best fitted for economic, political and various other reasons.

"Now in this particular case, it seems that you have a very prominent relative who lives there. You married a very lovely bride from that particular area. You have a summer home in that particular area. It seems the other representative from this district, the House district, also has a summer home there, and it seems to me that the interests are very greatly connected. We understand that people who live in that particular area generally work in the city and commute. Most of them do not drive their cars. They have regular community car-pool systems. There is a strong identity and it was the political judgment of myself, and I think speaking for the authors of the bill, that we all felt this particular section of Kitsap County was far more identified and over the years has become far more a part of the city of Seattle and its environs, than it has of Bremerton.

"So, Senator, under those circumstances, we felt that was the proper place for it and we were sorry we couldn't do it in our first effort, but we were able to do it, since we reduced the size of Kitsap County, or one district, so they would only have two representatives."

Senator Moriarty, Jr.:

"Thank you for the compliments on my bride, Senator. The next question, Senator Greive: I'm sure that you have analyzed the districts as established in Senate Bill No. 237 from the standpoint of their political complexion. Would you kindly advise me, Senator, what your analysis shows would have been the result in the House of Representatives had this reapportionment plan been in effect in the 1964 elections?"

Senator Greive:

"Senator, you have put me a very difficult question. I thought originally that I was a fair analyst of Senate Bill No. 2, and we found that in Senate Bill No. 2 we were in gross error. We found that looking at it from a Republican-Democratic point of view, that Governor Evans would have carried thirteen to forty and Lud Kramer would have carried thirty-two to sixteen. We found it was almost impossible to calculate. Obviously we haven't had the time necessary to calculate under this bill and come up with any definitive political opinion. It has been a matter of compromising with various people, looking carefully at the population and attempting to satisfy the requirements of the Court. I can say to you quite honestly I don't know how this bill will go. My guess, even though it might be an educated guess, would hardly be or should hardly be the subject of any court action, which is the reason you are asking these questions."

Senator Moriarty, Jr.:

"Another question: Had this bill been in effect for the 1964 elections, Senator Greive, what would have been the political complexion of the Washington State Senate during the 1965 Session? I assume your answer would be the same?"

Senator Greive:

"Yes, Senator."

Senator Moriarty, Jr.:

"One other question. Has the Washington State Attorney General given you an opinion on the constitutionality of Senate Bill No. 237?"

Senator Greive:

"No, Senator, he hasn't. We feel several of us, both you and I and several other members of the Senate are lawyers; and, the sole criterion being that of population, we feel this criterion has been satisfied and we feel we will get a favorable opinion. We certainly intend to do so."

Debate ensued.

The Secretary called the roll on the final passage of Engrossed Senate Bill No. 237, and the bill passed the Senate by the following vote: Yeas, 27; nays, 20; excused, 2.

MESSAGE FROM THE ATTORNEY GENERAL

Office of the Attorney General,
Olympia, Wash., January 28, 1965.

Honorable W. A. Gissberg
President Pro Tempore of the Senate
Legislative Building
Olympia, Washington

Honorable Robert M. Schaefer
Speaker of the House of Representatives
Legislative Building
Olympia, Washington.

GENTLEMEN:

We are writing in response to your letter of January 27, 1965, by which you asked to be advised as to what business the committees of the legislature may transact pending the enactment of a redistricting plan which is acceptable to the United States District Court having jurisdiction in Thigpen, et al., v. Kramer, et al.

The answer to your question is to be found in the language of the first full paragraph appearing on page four of the Court's decree of October 26, 1964, copy enclosed. As originally drafted by this office in response to the Court's initial ruling on October 5, 1964, this paragraph read:

"IT IS FURTHER ORDERED, ADJUDGED AND DECREED that except for the bills or other measures specifically listed in the preceding paragraph of this decree, no bill shall be introduced, considered or passed by either house of the Washington state legislature or any committee thereof until the legislature shall have enacted into law a legislative apportionment plan that is in compliance with Amendment Fourteen of the United States Constitution to the satisfaction of this Court upon review of the same at a hearing to be held as soon as possible after enactment of such apportionment plan, together with implementing legislation for the election of legislators from the reapportioned districts."

However, between the time of this ruling and the actual entry of the decree a memorandum was submitted to the Court by the defendant William S. Day, then Speaker of the House of Representatives. Among other things, the defendant Day asked that the proposed decree be modified to the extent of permitting bills on all subjects to be introduced and considered by the two houses of the legislature with the committees of the legislature being permitted to function in the normal manner. In support of this request he said, in pertinent part:

" * * * Not to permit the committees of both houses to function while a reapportionment bill is being formulated will extend the legislation session insofar as the work will have to be performed subsequent to the passage of the reapportionment bill. To allow the house and senate committees to regularly function would in no way impede the formulation and passage of a reapportionment measure nor impair the Court's control over the legislature. To grant such permission would however, promote the efficient and orderly operation of the thirty-ninth legislative session. * * *"

After due deliberation, the Court decided to grant this modification and, accordingly, before entering the decree it crossed out certain language so that the decree, when entered, read as follows:

"IT IS FURTHER ORDERED, ADJUDGED AND DECREED that except for the bills or other measures specifically listed in the preceding paragraph of this decree, no bill shall be [introduced, considered or] passed by either house of the Washington state legislature or any committee thereof until the legislature shall have enacted into law a legislative apportionment plan that is in compliance with Amendment Fourteen of the United States Constitution to the satisfaction of this Court upon review of the same at a hearing to be held as soon as possible after enactment of such apportionment plan, together with implementing legislation for the election of legislators from the reapportioned districts."

Subsequently, however, questions arose as to the significance of the phrase "or any committee thereof" which was not crossed out. In order to clarify the matter, we contacted the Court on an informal basis, both last fall and again earlier this week. We were advised that having crossed out "introduced, considered or" the Court regarded "or any committee thereof" to be surplusage. In other words, the true intent of the Court, as aforesaid, was to grant in full the particular modification requested by the defendant Day as above described.

Accordingly with this background we answer the specific points of your question as follows:

(1) The decree does permit the passage of bills out of committees into the Rules Committee;

(2) It further permits the passage of bills out of the Rules Committee onto the floor of the House or Senate for second reading;

(3) However, the decree does not permit final passage of a bill by either house for the reason that in this regard the decree clearly states that,

"* * * no bill [except as expressly permitted elsewhere] shall be passed by either house of the Washington state legislature * * * until the legislature shall have enacted into law a legislative apportionment plan that is in compliance with Amendment Fourteen of the United States Constitution * * *"

We trust that the foregoing will be of assistance to you.

Very truly yours,
 JOHN J. O'CONNELL,
Attorney General,
 PHILIP H. AUSTIN,
Assistant Attorney General.

MOTION

On motion of Senator Gissberg, the message from the Attorney General was ordered spread upon the journal.

It was moved by Senator Stender that the permanent rules of the Senate of the 1963 Session be adopted as the temporary Senate rules of the 1965 Session.

Debate ensued.

The Secretary called the roll and announced to the President that all Senators were present except Senator Guess.

Reverend Arthur I. Anderson, pastor of the Gloria Dei Lutheran Church of Olympia, offered prayer as follows:

"O Father of lights, God of love, Thou hast said that if we were to speak with the combined eloquence of men and angels, we should stir men like a fanfare of trumpets or the crushing of cymbals; but unless we had love, we should do nothing more.

"May Thy love flood through our hearts: The love that is slow to lose patience and that looks for a way of being constructive; the love that is not possessive and does not cherish inflated ideas of its own importance; the love that has good manners and does not pursue selfish advantage.

"Grant us all the grace to say with the inspired Apostle Paul: When I was a child, I spoke like a child, I thought like a child, I reasoned like a child; but when I became a man, I gave up childish ways.

"May we this day and all our days, FOLLOW THE WAY OF LOVE, through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen."

On motion of Senator Greive, the reading of the journal of the previous day was dispensed with and it was approved.

WHEREAS, There exists in the state of Washington a practical, simple and expeditious method of registering land titles known as the Torrens Act; and,

WHEREAS, The Torrens method of registering constitutes an economical, equitable and easily understandable method of conveying and recording titles to real estate; and,

WHEREAS, In many other jurisdictions such as the Commonwealth of Australia and in the Dominion of Canada the Torrens method of registering and recording land titles is utilized extensively and has demonstrated its practicability, simplicity of operation, and economy; and,

WHEREAS, In the state of Washington there appears to exist a conspiracy of silence involving title insurance companies, certain lawyers, and real estate brokers resulting in lack of utilization of the Torrens method of title registration; and

WHEREAS, Said conspiracy of silence has caused the citizens of the State of Washington great and needless expense.

Be It Resolved, That the Commissioner of Public Lands cause to be studied the availability of the Torrens system of title registration and advise the Senate within thirty days why said system of title registration is not used more extensively in the State of Washington and that the Land Commissioner make recommendations as to the best methods available to advise and inform the citizens of the Torrens system of registering land titles so as to cause it to be utilized more extensively in the State of Washington.

"We would remember him and pay tribute in the immortal words of the inimitable Rudyard Kipling: 'L'Envoi'

"When Earth's last picture is painted, and the tubes are twisted and dried,
When the oldest colors of faith and the youngest critic has died,
We shall rest—and, faith, we shall need it—lie down for an eon or two,
'Til the Master of All Good Workmanship shall put us to work anew,
And they that are His shall be happy. They shall sit on the Golden Chair.
They shall splash at a ten league canvass with brushes of comets' hair.
They shall have real Saints to draw from; Magdalene, Peter and Paul.
They shall work an age at a sitting, and never be weary at all.
And only the Master shall praise us, and only the Master shall blame.
And no one shall work for money, and no one shall work for fame,

"Members of the Senate, Ladies and Gentlemen:

"Governor Evans has requested of the citizens of the state of Washington that they recognize February as Heart Month. The Secretary will read the Governor's proclamation."

The Secretary read:

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR

"This month, February 1 through 28, has been set aside as Heart Month, both in this state and throughout the nation. All the citizens of our state acknowledge the accomplishments in the field of cardiovascular research which have meant longer and fuller lives for so many. I urge each citizen to assist your Heart Association in even greater and more meaningful accomplishments against our number one killer: Heart Disease."

PRESIDENT'S PRIVILEGE

The President:

"Members of the Senate, Ladies and Gentlemen:

"The President at this time should like to say 'Kung Hee Fat Choi' to every member of the Senate and every citizen of the state of Washington. Today is the first day of the Chinese New Year, Lunar Year 4,663. The President is not sure that there is any significance to this particular fact, but this is also the year of the Serpent. You may make out of that what you wish.

"Present today to impress upon each of us the significance of Heart Month are Jim Marich of Mercer Island, Dave Morgan of Kirkland, Alan Setherley, Seattle, and Bob Rychard, Bellevue. This group will now take over."

SENATE RESOLUTION

No. 1965 -14

By Senators Riley, Mardesich, Sandison, Moriarty, Jr., Woodall and Lennart:

WHEREAS, In the accidental and untimely passing of Dr. Henry Schmitz, the state of Washington has lost a truly outstanding native son, a gifted scholar and educator of national stature, a notable alumnus, former president and president emeritus of the University of Washington, and a highly honored and respected citizen.

Now, Therefore, Be It Resolved, By the Senate of the state of Washington in legislative session assembled; that public tribute be hereby paid to the memory of Henry Schmitz, gentleman, educator, administrator, public servant and citizen of utmost distinction;

Be It Further Resolved, That this resolution be spread upon the journal of the Senate, and a copy thereof transmitted to his widow, Melba Schmitz, to his daughter, Mary Elizabeth Schmitz Hoff, to his sister, Mrs. Harold Hartman, to his brothers Dietrich and Ferdinand Schmitz, and to his granddaughter Erica Ann Hoff, all of Seattle.

It was moved by Senator Greive that all remarks pertaining to the resolution be entered on the journal of the Senate.

The motion was carried.

It was moved by Senator Riley that the resolution be adopted.

Senator Riley:

"Mr. President, Senator Morgan and Gentlemen of the Senate:

"I don't think there is anything further that could be added. The resolution is written well and properly. It tells exactly how those of us feel who signed the resolution. Dr. Schmitz is, of course, a native son and the first native son to have been President of the University of Washington; and, thinking in terms of the fact that this is a young state and we came into being in 1889, it's rather remarkable that we were to have citizens of the high caliber of the late Dr. Henry Schmitz to be born among us, live with us, and come here to take his rightful position as a scholar and President. I'm certain everyone feels as I do and as the resolution expresses it. We are saddened at this tragic loss."

Senator Greive:

"Mr. President, members of the Senate:

"Speaking on behalf of the resolution, I, too, would like to add a word to what Senator Riley has just said. Dr. Schmitz was born about three blocks from where I live in West Seattle. He comes from a family who has been most generous to the city of Seattle. We have a park preserved by the statutes of this state, Schmitz Park, and many people, possibly members of the Senate, have had the opportunity to enjoy it in the past few years. They have given a large section of waterfront to the city of Seattle to make a waterfront park as a part of a marine drive.

"They have given one son who was President of the University of Washington, Dr. Schmitz. In addition to that, they have another son who was for many years on the school board in Seattle and President of the School Board. It's a family of public service, a family that has always placed its desire to help the community among its individual desires politically, and I think nothing could be more fitting than to express our sympathy at this tragic loss that has befallen them. I believe the mother still lives in the family estate. They are fine people and I think any sympathy we can extend is only fitting and proper."

Senator Ryder:

"Mr. President and members of the Senate:

"The tragedy which happened last Saturday was a tremendous loss not only to the community in Seattle, but to the people of the state of Washington. The service Dr. Henry Schmitz has given as a citizen has been tremendous. He has never turned down an opportunity to serve the people as he saw in his own mind was the way in which they should be served. As Senator Greive has said, he comes from a family which has given of itself unstintingly through the years in public work, and I think the people of the state of Washington have incurred a great loss in this tragedy which happened last Saturday. I would like to join in the resolution as a sponsor."

On motion of Senator Moriarty, Jr., Senator Ryder's name was added as a sponsor to the resolution.

On motion of Senator Riley, Senator Greive's name was added as a sponsor to the resolution.

The motion by Senator Riley was carried and the resolution was adopted.

PRESIDENT'S PRIVILEGE

The President:

"Members of the Senate, Ladies and Gentlemen:

"Having been associated for a number of years at the University of Washington with Dr. Schmitz, I feel a deep personal loss. The remarks and observations made by the Senators this morning and those contained in the resolution are appropriate. I'm sure Mrs. Schmitz and the members of the doctor's family will receive a great deal of satisfaction from them."

The Senate stood in silence for one minute in reverence for the passing of Dr. Henry Schmitz.

The Secretary read:

REPORT OF STANDING COMMITTEE

Senate Bill No. 169:

Senate Chamber,
Olympia, Wash., January 29, 1965.

Removing requirement that school district boundaries be coextensive with city of the first class boundaries (reported by Committee on Education):

MAJORITY recommends that it do pass. MIKE McCORMACK, Chairman.

We concur in this report: Robert Charette, Fred H. Dore, Herbert H. Freise, Reuben A. Knoblauch, David E. McMillan, Frances Haddon Morgan, Ted G. Peterson, John A. Petrich, A. L. Rasmussen, John H. Stender, Albert C. Thompson, Jr.

Passed to Committee on Rules and Joint Rules for second reading.

The Secretary read:

REPORT OF SELECT COMMITTEE

January 27, 1965.

"Almighty God and Father, we thank Thee for the promise of another day and the privilege of picking up anew the tools of our trade. Bless the legislators as they study, revise, and revise again the blueprints of the future. Help them to find adequate materials for the structure that is needed. Equip them with tools to saw off that which is superfluous and bind that which belongs together. Give them wisdom that they place upon the beams of our economy no greater strain than they can bear. Save us from the pessimist who would build too meanly and from the enthusiast who would shingle outer space.

The President appointed a special committee consisting of Senators Keefe, Cooney and Herrmann to escort Senator David C. Cowen to the rostrum.

The President introduced the members of the Washington State Arts Commission to the Senate.

PRESENTATION OF AWARD

The President:

"Governor Evans, members of the Senate, Ladies and Gentlemen:

"It was the declaration of the 1961 Legislature that the preservation and development of beauty is essential to the progress and growth of the state of Washington.

"It was also apparent that the growth and development of the arts provides for the general welfare and thus is an appropriate matter of concern to the state government.

"The arts commission was established in 1957 to meet, study, plan and advise the Governor, the various departments of state and the Legislature concerning the beautification and cultural development of the State of Washington.

"Now, seated upon the rostrum with Governor Evans is Mr. Robert Evans, chairman of the Washington State Arts Commission, who is a practicing architect in Tacoma, Washington. The members of the Senate may be interested in learning that Mr. Evans is past president and Founder of the Allied Arts of Tacoma, and was instrumental in converting the old city jail of Tacoma into a handsome art gallery and cultural center.

"Mr. Evans, the members of the Senate would certainly be delighted to hear from you. Incidentally, members of the Senate and ladies and gentlemen, this is a first in two different directions. This is the first time the Arts Commission has seen fit to honor a citizen of this state, and I believe, also, this is the first time, Governor Evans, that you have been presented to the Senate."

Mr. Evans:

"Governor Evans, Mr. President, distinguished Senators, and guests:

"This state of Washington is matchless in what it has to offer in the sense of physical beauty and wealth and resources, some of which are its physical beauties. As citizens and legislators we are all charged with preserving and enhancing and adding to these resources for the economic value, as well as their aesthetic values. This can take many forms and all of us are equally responsible for seeing that things are done in very diverse fields. We are responsible to some degree for what happens to our highways in the way of beautification, in the preservation of our historic buildings, and small things such as murals for this chamber, or large things such as the designing of the Capitol buildings complex. Our business as a Commission is to advise on request the members of the legislature and the Governor in these aesthetic areas.

"Now we have developed this achievement in the arts award which is not necessarily an annual award. It can be given whenever we find it justified to anyone who has given distinguished service or made a contribution of significance in the arts. The first award is to be presented by the Governor. Governor Evans."

PRESENTATION BY GOVERNOR DANIEL J. EVANS

"Mr. President, Honorable Members of the Senate, Senator Cowen, Distinguished Members of our Washington State Arts Commission, and to the Distinguished Guests on the Floor and in the Gallery:

"It is an honor for me to appear this first time before the Senate of our state as Governor, and I think it is an auspicious occasion to appear in the role that I am appearing. Never before in the history of our state or of our country have more people been as interested in the cultural advancement of their community and of their state than today, and I am confident this will continue in the foreseeable future. People have more time, more ability and more interest in the things about them than they had in the early days of our country where much of their time and effort had to be spent in merely earning a living.

"I think that it is particularly appropriate that the first award of our Washington State Arts Commission for achievement in the arts is to be presented to a member of our legislature, and I would like to read briefly from the official citation of the Commission:

"The Washington State Arts Commission, in pursuing its charge by the Legislature to promote the "beautification and cultural development of the state of Washington," has established an award to commend unusual achievement in the arts by a citizen of our state.

"In presenting this award, the Washington State Arts Commission reaffirms its belief that the preservation and development of beauty is essential to the progress and growth of the state of Washington, and that unusual contributions by citizens toward these goals should be recognized.

"The award can be given in two categories: (1) personal achievement in or unusual contributions to the arts, and (2) buildings, gardens, or areas of great natural beauty which contribute to the rich culture of the state, and because of their aesthetic or historic value need to be preserved.

"The first award that the Commission has chosen to present is for unusual effort by an individual in city beautification. Senator David C. Cowen has given to the city of Spokane, his time, his money, and his personal labor to turn unkempt and unimproved public land into beautifully landscaped properties which are civic assets. At his own expense, he has developed and given to the city of Spokane a three-acre park, complete with landscaping, sprinkler system, recreational facilities, and lighting system. His efforts have beautified the approach to the Maple Street Bridge; an area overlooking Hangman Creek; approximately one-half mile of a scenic drive overlooking the Spokane River known as High Drive, and twenty blocks of landscaping on a major boulevard."

"Therefore, Senator Cowen, I am honored to present to you this award on behalf of the Washington State Arts Commission for your outstanding effort to make Washington a more beautiful place to live, and I am very proud to shake your hand.

"I might say this is a model of the award that will be cast eventually. It was designed by the Washington State Arts Commission Secretary, William Werrbach. It's a pleasure to present this to you, Senator Cowen."

Senator Cowen:

"Governor Evans, Lieutenant Governor Cherberg, members of the Arts Commission, my fellow Senators, and Ladies and Gentlemen:

"No doubt you would like to know how I got started in this development. It goes back more than thirty years when a little, unfortunate woman came to me and told me her daughter, fourteen years of age, was buried in a little cemetery that was poorly kept with nothing but weeds and garbage around. I went out there one day with the idea of spending a few dollars to beautify this cemetery. It's been more than thirty years ago. I expected to spend fifty or a hundred dollars. Before I got through, it took me three years and I spent more than $25,000 on that one project, but it made me so happy when completed, I thought I'd go on with my work.

"Somewhere about twenty-eight years ago, when I was a member of the House, a very distinguished gentleman came to the city of Spokane, Kinsey Robinson. He was visiting the House members when I asked him a question about a piece of property which lay on the south end of Spokane. I asked him if there was any chance of buying it. He said, 'No, Davey, we just can't sell it. We have mortgaged everything from pencils to every piece of property we own to build the dams upon the Kootenay River in northern Idaho.' I told Mr. Robinson if there ever came a time when they would consider selling the property, I hoped they would consider me first. He said, 'After knowing what you have done on the west side of the city, I'll certainly put your name down and if we ever get the title back, we'll be most happy to give it to you or sell it to you, Davey.'

"It was about four years ago when the telephone rang and the secretary said to me, 'There's a Mr. Robinson wishes to speak to you.' I didn't know which Mr. Robinson it was and I got on the phone, and he said, 'Davey, this is Kinsey Robinson of Washington Water Power. I'd like to have you come over.' Now, understand I never said anything in the interim from the time I asked him about it, until the time he called me.

"I got in a cab and went over to the Washington Water Power. He said, 'You remember some twenty-odd years ago, you asked about that piece of property and said you'd like to purchase it.' 'Well, it's now yours. We want to share your joys and the work you are doing, because we understand what you intend to do with this land is develop a park, and we wish to give it to you.'

"I said, 'No, I'll give you a check for what I think it's worth.'

"He said, 'We'd rather just give it you, because we know you're going to put in a lot of money in this project.'

"I said, 'No, I think it's best I pay for the property. I'll just give you a check for what I think it's worth.' I wrote him out a check and he took it, and a few days later I got the title and deed back and I started on a little project. I thought it would amount to a few hundred dollars, but the more I worked on it, the more beautiful it became. Therefore, I figured I might as well go ahead and beautify the entire section of what the Spokane members know as the High Drive. I got help from the missions down on the lower end of Spokane. In the meantime, I hired four gardeners full time. But it took a great deal of manpower to beautify the entire section on which I am now working, and by the end of four more years, I think I'll complete the project. I think it will be one of the most beautiful sites in the city of Spokane. We now have three acres all finished. We're going to use it this summer as a softball field for the youngsters. All of it has beautiful lighting equipment. All of the flower beds are completely lighted, and we are extending now from 29th to 44th Street. The city is putting in the curbing. I'm doing the rest.

"The happiness and good health that I have received out of this, money couldn't buy and words cannot express. Some ten years ago, maybe eight years ago, I was desperately ill. Not one member knew about it except Senator James Keefe. A few of you were here, but only Jim Keefe knew about my serious illness. I sat here sixty days and never said a word. No one in the Senate knew I was desperately ill. By taking on this project, I have regained my health completely. The work I am now doing with the park has made me full of life, vigor and ambition; and, it is my duty and sincere desire before I die that I will complete the wonderful project that I have started in the south end of Spokane.

"Members of the Arts Commission, Governor Evans, Lieutenant Governor Cherberg, I'm delighted to receive this first award by the Arts Commission, and I can assure you members of the Arts Commission you will be more than satisfied with the work when I complete the job. I want you to be as proud of me as I am sure Governor Evans and Governor Cherberg are. Governor Evans and I have a lot in common. It started two years ago. I'm sure you will be proud of me when I get through, just as any other person in the state. If business continues as it has in the last few years, I'm sure it will be a mighty, mighty fine project when I get through.

"Thank you members of the Arts Commission, thank you Governor Evans and Lieutenant Governor Cherberg, for this very fine award. I'm sure you haven't made a mistake!"

Applause:

The President:

"The members of the Senate, and for that matter, every citizen of the state takes great pleasure and pride in this presentation. The members of the Senate and the President should like to express their appreciation to Governor Evans and the members of the Washington State Arts Commission for taking the time and interest to be with us today."

SENATE RESOLUTION No. 1965 -17

By Senators Hallauer, Woodall and Dore:

WHEREAS, This state, singular in its beauty and its abundance of natural resources, possesses yet a further national distinction, that of a diverse and integrated multiplicity of racial strains, personified more particularly in the great Indian race which stands as straight and tall as the mighty forests of the state; and

WHEREAS, In these days of dubious alliances, questioned allegiance and hypocritical attitudes the action of the Colville Confederated Tribes in seeking the application of this state's criminal and civil jurisdiction over its people, reservation, territory and lands, stands forth as a compliment extraordinary to the citizens and government of this state; and

WHEREAS, The acceptance of such responsibility by the state through a proclamation by the governor on the twenty-ninth day of January, A.D., nineteen hundred and sixty-five, will be a day long remembered and revered by the people of this state;

Now, Therefore. Be It Resolved, By the Senate, That our heartfelt hand of welcome be offered to the peoples of the Colville Confederated Tribes, our congratulations for their voluntary assumption of the responsibilities, as well as the privileges, of citizenship, our assurances that theirs shall be a voice heard and respected in the chamber of this Senate;

And Be It Further Resolved, That the Secretary of the Senate shall confer with the members of the press, radio and television, to see that this Senate Resolution is brought to the attention of the citizens of this state.

WHEREAS, Father Lemieux has served as President of Seattle University for seventeen years, an unusually long term of office, and a longer period than any of his predecessors; and

WHEREAS, During his term of office, and under his dynamic leadership, Seattle University has grown from a small college to an institution of nearly four thousand students, the largest Catholic University west of the Mississippi; and

WHEREAS, This growth of Seattle University has meant that the district in which it is located has acquired ten new or substantially remodelled buildings, and will soon be the site of Father Lemieux's most cherished project, a two million eight hundred thousand dollar library; and

WHEREAS, These fine buildings and the expansion of the University of which they are a part have meant a veritable transformation of the surrounding area, to the point where it has become one of urban Seattle's handsomest districts, and an intellectual center for the whole community; and

WHEREAS, Father Lemieux himself, by his tireless and successful fund-raising campaigns for worthy causes, by his dedicated service in the Urban League, and in many other civic organizations, and especially by the impact of his genial and outgoing personality, has won the affection and respect of countless men and women in Seattle, both within the Catholic community and outside it.

Now, Therefore, Be It Resolved, That we, the members of the Senate of the state of Washington, in legislative session assembled, warmly commend Father Lemieux for his vision and for his notable service to the cause of education, express our feeling that he will be deeply missed, and wish him well in whatever future endeavors he may undertake; and

Amen."

Be with them, we pray, on this day, and through all days of their precious stewardship. Keep from them, O Heavenly Father, all blight of error and injustice; may nothing that is false or unjust enter into the minds of these Thy people. Aid them, O Lord, in their difficult tasks that lie before them, and make their paths straight.

"Where there is darkness, O let there be light; where there is doubt, may the way be pointed out; where there is confusion, let there be only order; where there may be weakness, grant them the gift of courage; and where walls of political differences or of prejudice separate them, wilt Thou shatter these walls of separation.

The bill was read the second time by sections.

Senator Petrich moved the adoption of the committee amendment.

Debate ensued.

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Talley:

"Would Senator Woodall yield to a question?"

"Senator Woodall, sometimes we have run into problems in the smaller towns where we cannot get a lawyer to serve as police judge, but we can get them from a neighboring town. Would this be permissible at all under this bill?"

Senator Woodall:

"The present law, Senator Talley, for cities of five thousand and over, requires that the police judge must be the regularly elected justice of the peace, who must be a lawyer. At the present time, the mayor of a city of five thousand and over must appoint the justice of the peace whether he wants the job or not. This would allow a greater flexibility on the part of the local mayor, because he can name the justice of the peace if he wants to, or any other lawyer residing or maintaining an office in the town, so this is liberalizing the present law."

Senator Talley:

"Residing or maintaining an office?"

Senator Woodall:

"That is correct."

The committee amendment was adopted.

Senate Bill No. 94 was ordered engrossed and passed to the Committee on Rules and Joint Rules for third reading.

Senate Bill No. 95, by Senators Woodall, Greive and Petrich (by Legislative Council request):

Senate Bill No. 92, by Senators Thompson, Jr., Riley and Sandison:

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Dore:

"Mr. President:

"Would the sponsor of the bill yield to a question?

"Senator Thompson, does this have any revenue impact?"

Senator Thompson, Jr.:

"Yes, this would have a slight revenue impact. The State Liquor Control Commission appeared before the committee and gave testimony that in the last fiscal year there were one hundred fifty transactions with a total income to the state, as I recall, of $2,700. The year before, there were about one hundred ten transactions, with an income of about $1,700. The cost of processing these transactions was computed to be about $8,000, so the effect would be to relieve the board of this burdensome paper work which costs us money rather than bringing money in."

Debate ensued.

It was moved by Senator Dore that Senate Bill No. 92 be referred to the Committee on Ways and Means.

Further debate ensued.

With the consent of the Senate, the motion was withdrawn.

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Neill:

"Would Senator Petrich yield to a question?"

"Senator Petrich, since we have raised the three hundred dollars to five hundred dollars by other amendments, why is this particular bond requirement on the last amendment left at three hundred dollars?"

Senator Petrich:

"Senator, with reference to that problem, this amendment is only concerned with the application of a writ of garnishment prior to judgment. Now in the 1961 act which has the one thousand dollar jurisdiction limitation, the committee in its judgment felt that where you were suing for or claiming a debt in excess of three hundred dollars and it was prior to a judgment, that you had to put up the bond. This amendment does not have anything to do with the jurisdictions as far as the court is concerned to handle matters in excess of this amount."

Senate Bill No. 96 was ordered engrossed and passed to the Committee on Rules and Joint Rules for third reading.

Guide and sustain every member this day and throughout all the days of this governmental session, that its deliberations and its deeds may be enlightened and guided by Thy eternal justice and truth.

"We acknowledge before Thee, O Lord our Father, that our shortcomings are many, and our wisdom so lacking compared to Thy infinite wisdom. We know that we give so little thought and meditation upon Thy eternal Truths, and too much upon those of our own desires and personal advantage. For these weaknesses we ask Thy mercy and forgiveness, and the help of Thy greater truths in the helping and governing of Thy people.

"Oh bring us closer to Thee, Our Father and Our God. May this session be blessed with Thy Divine direction, and wilt Thou enlighten and guide the minds of these men and women in whom are invested the government of their people. May they be wise in Thy wisdom, understanding in Thy understanding, charitable in Thy greater charity, today and always. Amen."

Debate ensued.

POINT OF ORDER

Senator Moriarty, Jr.:

"Mr. President, point of order:"

The President:

"Senator Moriarty, state your point of order."

Senator Moriarty, Jr.:

"My point of order is that this body cannot now properly consider this measure."

The President:

"Does the Senator wish to speak on the point of order?"

Senator Moriarty, Jr.:

"Yes, I do. Mr. President, I hold in my hand a copy of the order dated October 26, 1964, by the U. S. District Court, Western District of Washington, Northern Division, in cause number 5597, and in that order, on page 3, lines 13, 14, 15 and through 17, it states as follows:

"The Court having determined that the primary objective of this decree at this time should be to effectively induce the Sixty-five Session of the Washington State Legislature to properly reapportion itself as the first order of business during the period of the session—' Requiring this legislature to reapportion itself is the important part of that language, it goes on at the bottom of page 3 and the top of page 4 to permit this legislature to pass only a bill or bills relating to legislative apportionment. At the middle of page 4 of the order, between lines 8 and 19, the following language appears:

"It is further ordered, adjudged and decreed that except for the bills or other measures specifically listed in the preceding paragraph of this decree, no bill shall be passed by either house of the Washington State Legislature or any committee thereof until the legislature shall have enacted into law a legislative apportionment plan that is in compliance with Amendment Fourteen of the U. S. Constitution to the satisfaction of this Court upon review of the same at a hearing to be held as soon as possible after enactment of such apportionment plan."

"We have before us, Mr. President, Senate Bill No. 333 which is not a bill by which the legislature reapportions itself. It is not a bill which is permitted by the Federal Court decree of October, 1964.

"It further restrains the President, and I am sure he is aware of this. 'The Defendant President of the Washington State Senate is hereby enjoined from signing any bill passed by either house of the Washington State Legislature with the exception of a bill or bills relating to legislative apportionment.' The bill we have before us, Senate Bill No. 333, simply refers to the people or sets up a special election on March 16, on the subject of legislative reapportionment, and I submit that that matter is not properly before us; that we are enjoined by the Federal Court from acting on this measure, and I ask for a ruling on the point of order."

Senator Greive:

"Mr. President:

"May I point out to Senator Moriarty that following his logic and if it is followed to its logical conclusion, the Governor would have no right to veto a bill, the legislature being the only person ready to act. Senator Gissberg made a very fine legal argument two or three days ago and he explained—and apparently the House has deemed not to act as yet, though I understand as each day goes by, more and more are coming to the conclusion that they must—that maybe we, the legislature, under that order were the only people required to act and that we have a right to go to the Court and ask them to enact a particular measure. Now, I'm not going to go into that argument, which is much better handled by Senator Gissberg, who has prepared it. I am going to say this: We, the legislature, if this passes, will have acted. We will have reapportioned ourselves. We merely would have gone to our state constitution and asked the people to substitute their voice for that of the Governor; and, I also point out that we have had one bill vetoed and have threats of many other vetoes of anything we suggest. We have negotiated at great length. Negotiations have reached at least a temporary impasse. Finally, we have to take every legal means to accomplish this and I believe this is within the court order.

Senator Lennart:

"Mr. President, Senators:

"First, I must apologize to Senator Greive. It wasn't my fortune to have law as my training, and certainly I am very humble about this. But you will recall that the court actually invalidated an initiative, which, if you read the constitution, is the first right of the people. This is a granted right. It is the only granted right we have except the United States Constitution. It is a direct grant under the Tenth Amendment.

"Now you come back and plead to the court in a kind of wizzardland: 'This is what we want done this time.' I look at this bill. I don't know. What a Senator really needs is a sound stomach, a good thick skin for resisting foes and, particularly, friends, and an operation to remove his conscience. Truly this is proof this is the land of the free and the home of the brave. I have never seen anything like this. I notice, with tears in my eyes, that the first district, which no one should claim—"

POINT OF ORDER

Senator McCutcheon:

"Point of order, Mr. President:

"I regret to interrupt here but I don't think Senator Lennart is talking to the point of order."

RULING OF THE PRESIDENT

The President:

"Senator Lennart, would you please confine your remarks to the point of order? Thank you."

Senator Lennart:

"Mr. President:

"We have meandered all around the lot. Really all of the evening we have talked upon the merits of the bill. Would you restate the point of order that we are talking about? I don't think anybody knows."

The President:

"The point of order as presented by Senator Moriarty was to the effect that the Senate does not have the right to consider this measure at this time."

Senator Lennart:

"Mr. President:

"I believe I was meandering along that point pretty well. I think the whole point of the order is really the ridiculous part of what we are doing, and what I am trying to call attention to here. The Federal Court has actually invalidated the initiative, and we have become a lesser power of government, and we have nothing to do about this. Actually, we have nothing to do with this. The point of order of Senator Moriarty is so strong, I just can't see how you can help but to go along with it."

Senator Washington:

"Mr. President, members of the Senate:

"Speaking on the point of order, it appears to me that the statement read by Senator Moriarty answers itself, in that the legislation that we pass or act on must relate to reapportionment. I think the entire point, Mr. President, is that it does relate to this. It doesn't state that it must be a bill in final form, but must relate to it, and I think with that language in the court's decision, you have every right to allow the Senate to proceed and to sign any necessary legislation without fear of being in contempt."

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Lewis:

"Mr. President:

"I wonder if Senator Moriarty would yield to a question."

Senator Moriarty, Jr.:

"Yes."

Senator Lewis:

"Senator Moriarty, I'm a new Senator and I'm not an attorney, but I wonder if, in the event that this measure were passed on to the people and that they rejected it, in your opinion as an attorney, would we then have complied with the order of the court?"

Senator Moriarty, Jr.:

"Senator Lewis, I don't see how we could have possibly complied with the order of the court, if the people rejected the redistricting plan. As I stated in my original point of order, the Federal Court order states that the primary objective of this decree of October, 1964, should be to effectively induce the 1965 Session of the Washington State Legislature to properly reapportion itself. The decree further states: 'It is further ordered, adjudged and decreed that except for the bills or other measures specifically listed in the preceding paragraph of this decree, no bills shall be passed by either house of the Washington State Legislature or any committee thereof until the legislature shall have enacted into law a legislative apportionment plan which meets these standards set down by the Fourteenth Amendment of the Constitution.'

"Your question is, I think, an excellent one because it points out the fact that we will not have enacted into law a legislative reapportionment plan. We will have submitted a proposal to the people, and if the people do not act favorably and pass that legislative reapportionment plan, how can we possibly come back and say that tonight we have enacted into law a reapportionment plan. How can we say that the legislature has reapportioned itself.

"I submit again to the presiding officer of this body that he may find himself in contempt of the Federal Court by permitting this legislature to consider this bill at this time."

Senator Gallagher:

"Mr. President:

"In partial answer to Senator Lewis, if the people turn down this act after we have submitted it to them, we will have to return to Senator Lewis' district and continue to be gouged for those high rents, so I think he should be pretty well aware of the situation that confronts us after March 16th."

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator McCormack:

"Mr. President:

"I wonder if Senator Herrmann would yield to a question?"

"Senator Herrmann, does the legislature ever enact anything into law, in and of itself?"

Senator Herrmann:

"No. Under our process, we either have to have the signature of the Governor, or we have to have the approval of the people, and we are asking this measure have the approval of the people, because we feel it is impossible to get the signature of the Governor."

Senator Rasmussen:

"Mr. President, members of the Senate:

"I rise in support of Senator Moriarty's point of order. I think it is well taken.

As a matter of fact, I would hate to have some of the people defend me in court that say we can go ahead with this referendum to the people.

"It was quite clear, I think, in the court order, and while I'm an attorney only up to twenty-five dollars in one of the inferior courts, I think the court made it quite clear, the United States Supreme Court, that they did not consider the fact that you had the right of initiative and referendum in the state any reason to bypass the Supreme Court's ruling that said you shall redistrict. They said that didn't count. We have the initiative and referendum. This is one of the points that was brought up by the Attorney General at the time he argued the case.

"But here we have the situation where we are going right in the face of the Court. In fact we are kicking them in the teeth and saying we don't care what they said about the legislature doing the redistricting job; we are going to present it to the people.

"Senator Moriarty, in his point of order, is exactly right. We are making no attempt to redistrict this legislature by this means. We are not passing a law. We are passing something over to the people, and this is what the Court said: 'You will have one more chance. You will have sixty days in which to redistrict and then we will take further action.' They didn't say that you had sixty days or thirty days to present something to the people and then go home and twiddle your thumbs while they decided whether they would pass it. Probably there would be a good chance, when they went to read the bill, they wouldn't understand it any better than some of us, and they would naturally vote, 'No.' However, I don't like to put myself—even though we have the weight of the vote on this floor—in the position where I say I'm not going to obey the court order, and I think that Senator Gissberg said—I don't see him on the floor; he is probably looking that letter up—when the Judge said, 'You stand a very good chance of being in contempt of court,' Senator Gissberg backed up and didn't say anything more. Now maybe the President of the Senate is braver than Senator Gissberg. But I would like to say he is wearing a big badge and he looks pretty brave, but I do think that the point of order of Senator Moriarty is well taken and I think that it should be sustained."

Senator Greive:

"Mr. President:

"In brief answer, may I point out that there is a specific amendment on this measure which shows the way. We can continue to negotiate. We can continue to pass a bill, and I certainly can see no harm in letting the people know how we feel.

"Number two, even if we were to submit this to the people, I think the court would go along with us. Now there are two states—I don't remember the other one—I think Rhode Island and Connecticut is the other one, in which the court used the rule and reasoned there a little differently because the constitution provided for a federal system, and they gave them a chance to amend the constitution. The court permitted them to go ahead with their legislation. So I think there is precedent, if you please, for this particular act."

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Woodall:

"Mr. President:

"Would Senator Greive yield to a question?"

Senator Greive:

"To you, Senator, it's always a mistake, but I will."

Senator Woodall:

"In all seriousness, Senator Greive, would it be your plan of the majority party that should the other house join with you in passing this measure, would it then be your intention to adjourn sine die and start over again after the election, or is it the construction of the majority party—and I think this becomes real important—that after having passed this measure and putting it out, is it your construction that that complies with the court order and you would then be able to go ahead with all of the rest of the measures? Would that be considered to have enacted into law a redistricting law, or would it be the plan of the majority to adjourn sine die and abide by the election?"

Senator Greive:

"Personally, I would say this brings to mind three alternatives. In preface, I don't know what this has to do with the point of order. But in preface let me say that what position the Attorney General shall take or what advice he shall give us if we enact this, I'm not prepared to say. Our briefing hadn't gone that far. Maybe we should have Representative Klein tell us. He has already done some briefing in this matter. Now I do know this: The Court certainly would have the alternative to permit us, to relieve us of the responsibility and permit us to go ahead, if we wished; and, I understand they will be sitting next week. That is the first thing they could do.

"Then we could continue as we have the past thirty days and try to reach some sort of agreement, either put a bill through to the Governor hoping that he will sign it, or some sort of negotiation, which I remind you we of the majority are perfectly willing to renew negotiations again and again. We don't feel that it's impossible.

"And, finally, may I say that there is also the possibility that we could adjourn sine die. I question seriously whether we would feel the task was so completely performed that we should quit."

Senator Woodall:

"Mr. President and members of the Senate:

"There are two ways of considering this matter: Now, you can take the viewpoint that—"

POINT OF ORDER

Senator Gallagher:

"Point of order, Mr. President:

"He says there are two viewpoints. Is he speaking on the viewpoints on the point of order?"

Senator Woodall:

"The viewpoint was to the viewpoint on the point of order. You just didn't let me get started."

RULING OF THE PRESIDENT

The President:

"Senator Woodall will please confine his remarks to the point of order."

Senator Woodall:

"Is there anything further, Senator Gallagher? I would like the floor undivided, if I could, Senator.

"Speaking to the point of order, this matter does become a very serious one if it be the belief that by having the President sign this particular measure, we then take the attitude that we have enacted into law and have abided by the court order. I think it would be a grievous error, because we have not enacted into law when you merely put it on a referendum, to proceed with the enactment of any measure after that point. In my opinion, we would clearly be in defiance of the court order. Now, it's true if people wish to sit here and collect their per diem under some negotiation basis after this is put out by our body, true they can do that. But the point is that this does not comply with the court order of enacting a measure into law. We do not enact it into law. We have merely provided that a referendum be given to the people; and, to me, it would be a very dangerous course to attempt to enact any measure into law on the theory that this was complying with the court order. This is not enacting a measure into law."

POINT OF ORDER

Senator Greive:

"Point of order, Mr. President:

"With some reflection, I am forced to the conclusion that this is improperly raised because it isn't necessary for the governor to sign anything at this point. That will only come about if and when both houses have passed this measure. At this time, the Lieutenant Governor, as presiding officer, need take no action on this measure and there will be plenty of time to obtain an opinion."

Senator Moriarty, Jr.:

"Mr. President:"

The President:

"Senator Moriarty may conclude the discussion on the point of order."

Senator Moriarty, Jr.:

"Thank you, Mr. President:

"We have wandered up and down the halls a little bit, but to come back to the point, the Federal Court decree of October, 1964, requires this legislature to reapportion itself. The bill before us, Senate Bill No. 333, does not reapportion the legislature. It refers the question to the people.

"May I also point out, further, that the court order may be arguable, as far as I'm concerned, that the order states that no bill shall be passed by either house of the Washington State Legislature or any committee thereof until the legislature—not the people—the legislature shall have enacted into law—not the people—a legislative reapportionment plan that is in compliance with the Fourteenth Amendment of the United States Constitution to the satisfaction of this court upon review of the same at a hearing to be held as soon as possible after enactment of such apportionment plan.

"Now, Mr. President, I submit that if we are going to argue or rule, if you should rule that this bill is properly before the Senate at this time and may be passed by this Senate, that we can do absolutely nothing until a hearing to be held after a March 18th election. That is obviously, to me anyhow, not within the purview of the order. To me, the Federal Court required this legislature to reapportion itself, to do the job itself, not to shuck it off on the people, and I again raise the point and ask for a ruling on the point."

The President declared the Senate to be at ease.

The President called the Senate to order at 12:20 a. m.

RULING OF THE PRESIDENT

The President:

"The President, ruling upon the point of order as presented by Senator Moriarty, to wit: That this body cannot now properly consider this measure. The President does not believe that the Federal District Court in its injunction intended to deprive the citizens of the state of Washington of their right to a voice in the apportionment of the state. Therefore, the President rules that the point of order is not well taken."

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Senator McCutcheon:

"Point of inquiry, Mr. President:

"What is before the body?"

REPLY BY THE PRESIDENT

The President:

"The question before the Senate is Senate Bill No. 333 on final passage. Senator."

Debate ensued.

ROLL CALL

The Secretary called the roll on the final passage of Engrossed Senate Bill No. 333, and the bill passed the Senate by the following vote: Yeas, 26; nays, 22; excused, 1.

Those voting yea were: Senators Bailey, Charette, Connor, Cooney, Donohue, Dore, Durkan, Foley, Gallagher, Greive, Hanna, Henry, Herr, Herrmann, Keefe, Knoblauch, Kupka, McCormack, McCutcheon, McMillan, Morgan, Peterson (Lowell), Raugust, Sandison, Talley, Washington—26.

Those voting nay were: Senators Atwood, Chytil, Cowen, England, Freise, Gissberg, Guess, Hallauer, Lennart, Lewis, Mardesich, Moriarty, Jr., Neill, Peterson (Ted), Petrich, Rasmussen, Redmon, Riley, Ryder, Stender, Thompson, Jr., Woodall—22.

Excused: Senator Williams—1.

Engrossed Senate Bill No. 333, having received the constitutional majority, was declared passed.

There being no objection, the title of the bill was ordered to stand as the title of the act.

MOTION

It was moved by Senator Greive that Engrossed Senate Bill No. 333 be immediately transmitted to the House.

POINT OF ORDER

Senator Woodall:

"Point of order, Mr. President:

"How is it engrossed when there was an amendment put on from the floor here tonight. It cannot be engrossed."

Senator Greive:

"It is my understanding that a bill is engrossed once it is passed with the amendment."

REPLY BY THE PRESIDENT

The President:

"That is correct, Senator Woodall."

Senator Woodall:

"A bill is engrossed before we have voted on it? When did it get engrossed?"

The President:

"The Secretary has advised the President that the bill is engrossed, Senator Woodall. Would you care to look at it?"

Senator Woodall:

"Yes. I'd like to know how he knows in advance what amendments are going on and gets it all engrossed so rapidly. It would be a good business practice in private life."

Senator Gallagher:

"Mr. President, if I may, I think we have real competent help. We don't want the Honorable Senator limping over with the bill. We want it immediately transmitted and it is on the way if this motion prevails."

Senator Woodall:

"I would inform the good Senator from King county my limping is physical only."

The motion was carried and Engrossed Senate Bill No. 333 was ordered immediately transmitted to the House.

MOTIONS

On motion of Senator Greive, the Senate dispensed with the Call of the Senate.

At 1:15 a. m., on motion of Senator Greive, the Senate adjourned until noon, Friday, February 12, 1965.

The Secretary called the roll and announced to the President that all Senators were present except Senators Donohue, Gissberg and Guess.

On motion of Senator Keefe, Senator Gissberg was excused.

On motion of Senator Atwood, Senator Guess was excused.

The Color Guard, consisting of Pages Don Bearden, Color Bearer, and Marcia Williams, presented the Colors.

Father Leonard Rafalowski, pastor of the St. Michael's Catholic Church of Olympia, offered prayer as follows:

"O God our Father, Who created all men of every race, color and creed, we pray for Thy Divine guidance and direction for those gathered here to govern their people. Wilt Thou be with them this day, and all days of this session, that all may be well with each of them, and for their people over whom they seek to rule with wisdom and with justice.

"We acknowledge our humility before Thee, and our unworthiness. But, O Lord, in Thy love and mercy wilt Thou grant these members of the Senate wisdom to judge the good from the bad, the right from the wrong, the uncertain roads which lead to the greater happiness and welfare of Thy people whom they represent.

"Wilt Thou, Our Father, dispel the clouds of sectionalism, of prejudice, of any political difference, or of individual enmities, and guide them as one, for the greater good of all.

"We ask these things of Thee, O Father in Heaven, prayerfully and with humility, knowing that all good things must come from Thee Who created us, and in Whom is our only strength. Amen."

PRESIDENT'S PRIVILEGE

The President:

"Members of the Senate, Ladies and Gentlemen:

"This being the birthday of the Great Emancipator, the President has prevailed upon the Honorable Ernest W. Lennart, esteemed and beloved Senator from Whatcom county, to deliver an address upon President Abraham Lincoln."

APPOINTMENT OF SPECIAL COMMITTEE

A committee of honor consisting of Senators Neill, Freise, Bailey and Knoblauch escorted Senator Lennart to the rostrum.

The President:

"Members of the Senate, Ladies and Gentlemen:

"It is a great privilege for the President to have the opportunity to present one of the finest men in state service, the Honorable Ernest W. Lennart. At this time, would you please address the Senate."

Senator Lennart:

"Thank you, Governor Cherberg, Senators and Friends:

"For the past several years, it has been my great privilege to have been honored to speak. I feel quite humble about it. I know there are members here who might do a much better job of it, but this has become almost a tradition for me to be honored to commemorate the Great Emancipator.

Reviewing the past weeks, I should leave you this thought:

"We have not lived, we do not live, in the Republic of Plato, but in the Republic of Washington, Jefferson, Jackson and Lincoln pitted for storm as well as calm. We shall have our differences, our contentions, and our controversies, sometimes even seasons of bitterness and discord. We shall make mistakes and sometimes grope along for the right way. At times we shall fight harder for the party than for the Country, for political power rather than public welfare; but such is the nature, such is the glory of our way of life that ultimately such things are lost in the depth of devotion for that constitutional system which in a world all but terrified with intolerance and oppression keeps us independent, united and free.

"Again we are joined to unite on this day to commemorate the life and character of the Great Emancipator. A century has gone since his passing.

"Abraham Lincoln, unknown to fame until his election to the presidency, exhibited the power for the government of man which scarcely has been surpassed in any age. No man ever displayed a greater insight into the complex motives which shape the public opinion of a free country, and he possessed, almost to the degree of an instinct, the supreme quality of a statesman, of making the right decision, of making it at the right moment, and of expressing it in language of incomparable felicity.

"As we look into the crystal globe that is slowly turning, telling the story of his life, we see a little heartbroken boy, weeping by the outstretched form of a dead mother, then nobly trudging a hundred miles to obtain her Christian burial. We see the motherless lad growing to manhood, amid scenes that seem to lead to nothing but abasement; no teachers, few books, no charts except his own untutored mind, no compass except his own undisciplined will, no light except the light from heaven, struggling on toward the destined land. We see him from first to last; the poor child weeping over a dead mother; the great chief sobbing over the horrors of war, never flinching from duty. And last the scene of all that ends this strange eventful history, he gave his 'last full measure of devotion.' From Caesar to Gladstone, the world has had its statesmen; many who rose from obscurity to eminence and power. They were not what we call 'men of destiny', they were men of the time. Lincoln was a man of destiny.

"The inspired ones are few. There is no explanation to their lives. They came from mist. We feel them. We feel them but we know them not. They fulfilled their mission and they vanished, leaving behind half memory, half myth. From first to last, they were the creations of Providence, baffling the wit of man to fathom, then passing away from the scene, the work done as mysteriously as they had come upon it. Today we regard with wonder the infinite patience and gentleness with which Lincoln endured the indescribable burden of those four years of struggles. During it all, he was a power of strength to the Union, whether in victory or defeat. Nothing dismayed him or diverted him from the pathway of duty.

"Thus among the noise and confusion there came one day into the Northern Camp one of the oddest figures imaginable, with an air of command and with an utterance that was heard above the din of a crying race. How shall I describe him to you. I feel humble in my attempt to make a word picture of this greatest of all leaders of men. I doubt whether any statesman ever lived who sank so deeply into the hearts and fibre of people in many lands as Abraham Lincoln did. I am not sure we here in America realize the extent to which he is also held in the possession and pride of people in other lands. In many respects, he was the greatest man of his day and of his age.

"If you look at his portraits they always give you an indelible impression of his great height. So does his life: height in purpose, height in character, height in ideal, height in intelligence. Among the many notable men that occupied the stage of that day, he was the tallest of them all. He still towers above the tallest of his contemporaries.

"He was in many respects even taller than the great events in which he had a leading part in directing. The preservation of the American Union, the emancipation of the slaves are notable events in world's history, and any man who took a leading part in those events, as he did, would have made for himself enduring fame. But reading the story, I feel that the character of Abraham Lincoln and his statesmanship are greater even than those colossal events. His courage, his fortitude, his patience, his clemency, his trust in the people, his belief in democracy, and, may I add, the very phrases to which he gave expression to those attributes will stand forever as beacon lights to leaders and nations in their perplexity. Resolute in war, he was moderate in peace. Misunderstood, misrepresented, underestimated, he was patient to the last. There were those who thought that he ought to have shown his abhorrence of war by waging it halfheartedly, and there were those who thought he should have displayed his appreciation of victory by using it wholeheartedly. He disclaimed both those counsels, and was often reviled by both those counselors. His tenderness was interpreted as weakness of character and his humbleness as proof of shallowness of mind, but the people believed in him to the end and they still believe in him now.

"Lincoln's fame rests upon a more severe test than any other American. Never in all ages of man have the acts, the words, the notices been scrutinized and analyzed upon so much. Historians without exception agree as to the true greatness and nobility as well as intellectual greatness of Lincoln. His teaching was and is that no party or partisan can escape responsibility to the people; that no party or presumed party advantage should ever swerve us from the plain path of duty and honor and that rising above the temptation of temporary party advantage will be a lasting gain in the respect and confidence of the people.

"There is no historic figure more noble and, perhaps only with a recent exception, there is scarcely another event more touching and tragic than his death. All his long, laborious mature years he had aimed at the consummation of the saving of the Union. Now the dim outline rose up on the horizon. Like unto Moses, the noble Jewish lawmaker who, when only the Jordan lay between him and the Promised Land, when the word of the Lord came to him—"Thou mayest not go over. Get thee up into the mountains, look on it and die", like unto him Lincoln's life was spared by Providence long enough to save the Union for which he died. Born as the lowly son of God in a hovel, raised in penury and squalor, —and a thousand years hence, no drama, no tragedy, no epic poem will create greater wonder or be followed by mankind with deeper feeling than that which tells the story of his life and of his death."

The President:

"Senator Lennart, members of the Senate, Ladies and Gentlemen:

"I am sure that everyone joins in deepest appreciation to you, Ernie, for giving us this remarkable address. Thank you so very much."

The honor committee escorted Senator Lennart from the rostrum.

The Secretary read:

Strike all of the title and substitute the following:

"NEW SECTION. Section 1. We, the legislature, responding to the mandate of Article II, section 3 of the Constitution directing us to redistrict and to reapportion legislative districts subsequent to each census, have conducted a thorough investigation of all relevant factors essential to the preparation of appropriate revisions which are set forth in this act.

We have consulted the 1960 federal census reports, considered the geographic, economic and sociological factors essential to the preservation of reasonable geographic and socio-economic groupings, consulted the authoritative sources for the most reliable estimates concerning population growth patterns and trends within the state as evaluating the published statistics reciting population growth patterns and trends already established as a matter of fact, reviewed the existing political boundaries, both those possible of being subject to change by legislative action and those beyond legislative control, and conducted special population counts from time to time to determine better and to evaluate formulas necessary to prepare a proper redistricting and reapportionment measure. Based upon our investigation and studies, we, the legislature, have determined that legislative redistricting and reapportionment, as set forth in this act, represents an allocation of legislators within the districts established so as to provide as near equality of representation to the inhabitants of the state of Washington as is possible under the circumstances, as required by the state and federal Constitutions.

We, the legislature, in determining the actual district boundaries and the allocation of legislators to each, have resorted to factors and formulas found to be most reliable for each of the districts concerned, and the formulas and factors used for any specific area were applied only after careful confirmation of their validity by testing against the findings of facts resulting from our investigation.

"Oh Heavenly Father, look upon the difficult tasks which confront them, and the decisions they must make. Grant to them, O Lord, that their minds may seek Thy

The Secretary read:

SENATE RESOLUTION

No. 1965 - 22

By Senator Lewis:

WHEREAS, The people of the city of Olympia have devoted much time, energy, and money in endeavoring to develop Capitol Lake to its maximum scenic and recreational potential; and

WHEREAS, By their unremitting efforts in concert with state, county, and civic leaders, they have done much to draw the attention of the citizens of our state and nation to the unique beauty of our capital city; and

WHEREAS, Their resourceful, imaginative, and energetic promotional efforts have made Capitol Lake an outstanding tourist attraction at all seasons of the year, from midsummer, when visitors are drawn there for water sports and the annual celebration of Capitol Lakefair, to midwinter, when the scintillating Christmas Island exhibit is on view; and

WHEREAS, The people of the city of Olympia, in their continuing endeavor to enhance the natural attractions of the Capitol Lake site, have announced the purchase of four hundred double-flowering Japanese cherry trees for planting along the drive adjacent to the lake; and

WHEREAS, This project will ultimately provide an even more spectacular landscaped setting for the Capitol campus than now exists, complementing the strength and dignity of the Capitol itself;

Now, Therefore, Be It Resolved, That we, the members of the Senate and House of Representatives of the state of Washington, in legislative session assembled, applaud the continuing efforts of the people of Olympia to beautify Capitol Lake, and, speaking on behalf of the citizens of the state, express our appreciation therefor, in the full confidence that the flowering cherry trees will every year present a more impressive memorial to their enterprise;

Be It Further Resolved, That this resolution be transmitted to the people of the city of Olympia in appropriate ceremonies, and, in particular, to the Honorable Neil McKay, Mayor; Don Trafford, President of the Olympia Chamber of Commerce; Bob Selene, of the Capitol Lake Coordinating Committee; and Wally Turner, of the Olympia Salmon Club.

On motion of Senator Lewis, the resolution was adopted.

The Secretary read:

SENATE RESOLUTION

No. 1965 - 23

By Senators Riley and Thompson, Jr.:

WHEREAS, The Washington state liquor control board has charge of the operation and management of our state retail liquor outlets; and

WHEREAS, The function of management and proprietorship includes, among other things, the promotion of better service to customers and good customer relations; and

WHEREAS, Monopoly gives the liquor board an unique opportunity to employ advanced methods of marketing, merchandising and distributing; and

WHEREAS, There has been no significant change in such methods since the establishment of the board's operation; and

WHEREAS, The existing standard retail liquor store floor layout, instead of promoting good merchandising practice as is used in most other states of the union, requires customers to wait in line for service causing delays and embarrassment; and

WHEREAS, The state liquor control board has authority to improve customer service to the extent that it can authorize and institute better store planning, to include floor and counter displays within each retail outlet, thereby allowing customers to shop at leisure and to make intelligent selections; and

WHEREAS, More leisure shopping can help reduce holiday shopping rushes in our state retail outlets, and with these advanced retail merchandising methods a larger margin of profit will result;

Now, Therefore, Be It Resolved, By the Senate that the Washington state liquor control board be urged to institute modernized merchandising, marketing and distributing methods with a dual purpose of providing improved service to the citizens of the state and increasing the margin of profit in its operations, which profits are divided between the state, and the cities and counties.

On motion of Senator Greive, the resolution was referred to the Committee on Liquor Control.

The Secretary read:

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Durkan:

"Point of personal privilege, Mr. President:"

The President:

"The Senator will speak on point of personal privilege."

Senator Durkan:

"Mr. President:

"I voted against this measure, not because I feel that the city dwellers don't need buses, so to speak, but because I feel this whole area of tax exemption has to be re-examined. Now, if the City of Seattle Transit is entitled to a tax exemption, perhaps home residents are entitled to tax exemption. So here we go into the whole area of tax exemption. The way to face up to this problem of the cities is to come to grips with the fact they need more revenue. If we do that, we can get away from this entire problem of tax exemption."

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Raugust:

"Personal privilege, Mr. President:

"I made the statement here that this exemption was on a temporary basis on the original bill and this has been asked to be permanent. If I was wrong, I'd like to have anyone show me where we have ever had this on a permanent basis. It was always on a relief basis."

Senator Gallagher:

"Mr. President:

"I believe I have introduced this bill for the last two sessions, and it seems in order to get it passed, we did have to compromise and make it on a two year level. Now I'm not sure of the original legislation in 1957, but I know the last two sessions had the permanent provision written into it, but in order to get it passed, there had to be a compromise made in it, and the two year legislation was put on it."

Senate Bill No. 84 was passed to the Committee on Rules and Joint Rules for third reading.

Authorizing Washington State University to exchange land.

REPORT OF STANDING COMMITTEE

Senate Bill No. 264:

Senate Chamber,
Olympia, Wash., February 8, 1965.

Authorizing the director of fisheries to sell food fish or shellfish caught or taken during test fishing operation (reported by Committee on Fisheries, Game and Game Fish):

MAJORITY recommends that it do pass with the following amendments

On page 2, section 2, line 6, after "fishing:" and before "PROVIDED" insert "PROVIDED FURTHER, That salmon taken in test fishing operations shall not be sold except during a season open to commercial fishing in the district that test fishing is being conducted."

ROBERT L. CHARETTE, Chairman.

The bill was read the second time by sections.

It was moved by Senator Charette that the committee amendment be adopted.

Debate ensued.

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Talley:

"Would Senator Charette yield to a question?"

Senator Charette:

"Yes."

Senator Talley:

"Senator, these salmon can be used and then put on the market, can they not? Or they can be held and put on the market?"

Senator Charette:

"No, they cannot be held and put on the market. I think they are disposed of in the same manner as fish are disposed of now."

Senator Talley:

"How is that?"

Senator Charette:

"At the present time, they are given to institutions and county jails, and such agencies. The reason for this bill is because people in the county jail and other institutions are complaining they are getting too much baked salmon to eat."

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Mardesich:

"Would Senator Charette yield to another question?"

"Senator, I take it then if the Department wishes to conduct test fishing during a time when the season is closed, and I can see this would be logically a time to conduct test fishing, at least that's the way it is done wherever I have operated, then if fish are taken by the Department, can you tell me, if the counties don't want fish any more, if they are getting too much fish, does this bill prohibit the sale of them? What are they going to do? Discard them?"

Senator Charette:

"I'm sure the county will take care of them as long as they don't get an excessive amount, Senator Mardesich. We try to help those in the fishing industry by eating as much as we can."

Debate ensued.

The motion was carried and the committee amendment was adopted.

Senator Charette moved the adoption of the following amendment:

On page 2, section 2, line 4, after "account" strike all the material down to and including "appropriation" on line 5 and insert "known as receipts in excess of budget estimates, to be allotted by the governor, upon the request of the Director of Fisheries."

Debate ensued.

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Kupka:

"Would Senator Charette yield?"

"Senator, while I hadn't paid too much attention to this particular issue prior to just now when you mentioned that we are going to create another fund, how many pounds of fish are involved in this? How much game food is going to the departments and institutions, like the jails and hospitals and wherever else they might be using this fish?"

Senator Charette:

"I don't know."

Further debate ensued.

The motion was carried and the amendment was adopted.

Senator Woodall moved the adoption of the following amendment:

On page 1, section 1, line 13, after "studies" and before the period, add the following: "any fish left over may be sent collect to Marlon Brando".

Debate ensued.

The motion was lost and the amendment was not adopted.

Senator Lennart moved the adoption of the following amendments:

On page 1, section 2, line 21, after [and], strike all underlined material beginning with "except" through "studies."

On page 2, section 2, line 1, after "fund:" strike all underlined material beginning with "PROVIDED" through "fishing." on line 6.

After "PROVIDED" on line 6, strike "FURTHER".

Debate ensued.

The motion was lost and the amendments were not adopted.

Senate Bill No. 264 was ordered engrossed and passed to the Committee on Rules and Joint Rules for third reading.

Senate Bill No. 184, by Senators Sandison, Bailey and Chytil (by Departmental request):

SENATE RESOLUTION

No. 1965-24

By Senators Charette, Mardesich, Atwood and Ted Peterson:

WHEREAS, In the words of the late Cordell Hull, issued in 1937, when he was Secretary of State:

"Large bodies of American citizens are of the opinion that the salmon runs of Bristol Bay and elsewhere in Alaskan waters are an American resource; that the salmon fisheries relate to and are linked with the American continent, particularly the Northwest area; and that, for all practical purposes, the salmon industry is in fact a part of the economic life of the Pacific Northwest Coast. The fact that salmon taken from waters off the Alaskan Coast are spawned and hatched in American inland waters, and when intercepted are returning to American waters, adds further to the conviction that there is in these waters a special and unmistakable American interest;" and

WHEREAS, The North American salmon would cease to exist were it not for the continuing restrictions of United States and Canadian conservation policies; and

WHEREAS, The North Pacific salmon fisheries have a special importance to our coastal communities as a source of livelihood, and to the nation as a food and industrial resource; and

WHEREAS, It is vital to maintain these fisheries on a sustained yield basis; and

WHEREAS, Widespread Japanese fishing for salmon, using highly efficient new methods and techniques, seriously threatens the North American salmon fisheries with depletion if not destruction; and

WHEREAS, The 1953 North Pacific Fisheries Treaty entered into between the United States, Canada and Japan is now in process of re-negotiations; and

WHEREAS, Present Japanese fishing policies urgently require establishment of additional controls west of the present treaty line;

Now, Therefore, Be It Resolved, By the Senate of the state of Washington, that we do respectfully petition the Congress of the United States to consider with the greatest care the value of our salmon fisheries to Alaska, to the Pacific Northwest, and to the nation as a whole, and to take all appropriate action necessary to preserve this industry by insisting upon language in the revised treaty that will furnish adequate protection for it.

Be It Further Resolved, That copies of this resolution be sent to the Honorable Lyndon B. Johnson, President of the United States, to the President of the Senate and Speaker of the House of Representatives, to each member of Congress from the state of Washington, and to the Secretary of the Department of the Interior.

Senator Petrich:

"Senator, in answer to your first question, some of the amendments proposed by the Credit Association were adopted as committee amendments, which were adopted on Friday, I think, which dealt with the question of disclosure of various information in the secured instrument. However, not all of the amendments suggested by the Credit Association were adopted by the committee. It was felt that the amendments did not all merit support at that time.

"In this bill I was advised there was a provision, under a conditional sales contract, that if the purchaser was not able to fulfill his contract and the automobile was repossessed and sold at whatever price they decided upon, they would then garnishee the man's wages for the deficiency, is that correct?"

Senator Petrich:

Doctor Henry S. Rahn, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Olympia, offered prayer as follows:

"We thank Thee, O God for valiant souls of all the ages who, seeing a vision of Thy truth and holiness, have stood steadfast for Thee, and have proclaimed Thy righteous judgments against the evils of their time.

"By their resolute effort has Thy kingdom been brought nearer. Give us in our time and for this day, wisdom to discern what to do, courage to speak and to act with conviction.

"Keep curiosity in our minds, wonder in our hearts, that we may fashion something good out of the materials of this day. In our Master's Name. Amen."

On motion of Senator Greive, the reading of the journal of the previous day was dispensed with and it was approved.

REPORT OF SPECIAL COMMITTEE

Senate Chamber,
Olympia, Wash., February 18, 1965.

To Secretary of the Senate.

Herewith transmitted is the report of the Senate Committee on Facilities and Operations as required by Senate Resolution No. 1965-13.

FRED H. DORE, Chairman.

MR. PRESIDENT AND MEMBERS OF THE SENATE OF THE THIRTY-NINTH LEGISLATURE:

REPORT OF SENATE FACILITIES AND OPERATIONS COMMITTEE

Your Committee, appointed pursuant to Senate Resolution No. 1965-13, hereby makes report as follows:

State Capitol Committee studies indicate the need of a number of state agencies for more building space than existing capitol buildings provide.

New building construction together with some remodeling of existing capitol buildings is required to supply this need and to provide the Legislature with necessary offices, committee rooms, hearing rooms and work rooms now for some in contemplation.

Retirement of outstanding bonds for the construction of existing buildings on the capitol site is expected to be completed within the next thirty or sixty days. Income from capitol grant lands is and will be sufficient to service new construction and remodeling bond indebtedness at the rate of five hundred thousand dollars per annum, which is greatly in excess of normal or anticipated requirements.

On the basis of the foregoing report your Committee recommends that:

1. The Legislature provide for at least one new building on the capitol site and for such remodeling of existing buildings as may be necessary.

2. Inasmuch as such construction and or remodeling will be expected to supply, among others, the needs of the Legislature, the latter should be especially consulted in the planning thereof.

3. That a Concurrent Senate Resolution should be adopted constituting those members appointed under Senate Resolution No. 1965-13 and the like House Resolution a joint interim legislative committee on facilities and operations under the co-chairmanship of the present chairmen of Senate Resolution No. 1965-13 and the like House Resolution, such committee to be authorized, empowered and directed to advise and consult with the State Capitol Committee on the need of the construction and remodeling aforesaid and to give approval to so much of the construction and remodeling as will be designed to provide legislative offices, committee rooms, hearing rooms and work rooms.

Respectfully submitted,

FRED H. DORE, Chairman.

We concur in this report: Robert C. Bailey, Joe Chytil, Herbert H. Freise, William A. Gissberg, R. R. Bob Greive, Gordon Herr, Charles P. Moriarty, Jr., Marshall A. Neill, Perry B. Woodall.

Referred to Committee on Parks, Capitol Grounds and Public Buildings.

The Secretary read:

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR

Executive Department,
Olympia, Wash., February 18, 1965.

To the Honorable, The Senate of the State of Washington.

LADY AND GENTLEMEN:

I am returning herewith, without my approval, Senate Bill No. 237 entitled:

"An Act relating to the legislature; providing for the redistricting and reapportionment thereof; repealing Chapter 5, Laws of 1957, Chapter 289, Laws of 1957 and Chapter 44.06 RCW; and declaring an emergency."

This bill obviously does not represent a serious effort on the part of the legislature to solve the difficult problem of redistricting. It seems to have been framed in such a way as to invite gubernatorial veto. Non-contiguous land areas have been included in one district in direct violation of the state Constitution. Many districts have such disproportionate populations that they violate the rule of 'one man, one vote'. One district has been given three representatives instead of two, when other districts have a greater number of inhabitants and therefore are entitled to greater representation. And some portions of the state have been omitted entirely from the plan and other errors in describing districts appear throughout the bill.

The Honorable John T. McCutcheon, chairman of the Senate Committee on Redistricting, has been quoted in the press as stating during the debate on this bill:

'I don't expect we could even carry this bill on this side of the aisle if we didn't know Governor Evans would veto it.'

I would unhesitatingly veto this bill under any circumstances, but it is comforting to know that in this action I am supported by a majority of the legislators.

If we can agree that this is a bad bill, I trust that we can agree on a good one. Toward this end leaders of both parties in the House and Senate have been meeting with me this week in an effort to resolve the differences which have prevented the enactment of a fair, equitable and responsible redistricting law. It is my sincere hope that a redistricting plan acceptable to a majority of the legislature and to this office will be enacted soon.

However, I wish to make a record of some of the specific objections which I have to this bill in the hope that future bills may avoid these pitfalls.

First, I question the propriety of providing district 49 with three representatives, when it appears that its population of 69,593 people is less than the population of at least two other districts, to wit district 37 with 70,935 inhabitants and district 46 with 69,846 inhabitants. In this regard I call the attention of the legislature to the constitutional guidelines for redistricting contained in the attorney general's letter of December 24, 1964 addressed to my administrative assistant, Mr. James Dolliver. In that letter the attorney general said:

"* * * if the legislature determines to retain the present number of senators (forty-nine) and representatives (ninety-nine) and, as well, the present number (forty-nine) of legislative districts, it is evident that forty-eight legislative districts will have one senator and two representatives each and the forty-ninth district will have one senator and three representatives. The legislative district having this excess number of representatives should properly contain a somewhat higher population than any of the other districts. Using the figures set forth above, we have suggested that this "three representative" district might contain something in the neighborhood of seventy-five thousand to eighty thousand inhabitants."

Second, I object strongly to dividing any county into an unnecessary number of districts. Senate Bill No. 237 is grossly unfair to Kitsap county in this regard. It would place portions of the county in three separate Senatorial districts. Bainbridge Island would be joined with a part of Seattle. Bremerton would be split in two with a portion being joined with three census tracts in Kitsap county and other parts of the state as far away as the Canadian border in Whatcom county. The balance of Kitsap county would constitute district 23.

Third, I believe that the portions of Kitsap county included in district 41 are not contiguous as required by Article II, Section 6 of the Washington Constitution. These areas are a part of the mainland portion of Kitsap county and are separated from each other by several miles of additional land area which has been included in district 23.

Fourth, several districts appear to vary in population more than fifteen percent from the population for an ideal district. These include districts 1-A, 16, 37, 41-A, 45 and 46. Moreover, in Seattle district 45 is underpopulated more than fifteen percent, and adjoining district 46 is overpopulated more than fifteen percent. These districts could easily be adjusted to equalize population. Again it is helpful to refer to the guidelines furnished by the attorney general in his letter of December 24, 1964 where he stated:

'In line with the proposition, noted earlier, that population density is a factor which can legitimately be considered, we are further advising that within the permissible general population ranges, supra, any underpopulated districts should generally be confined to sparsely populated rural areas. Likewise, any overpopulated districts should be located in densely populated urban or suburban areas.

'Furthermore, we should emphasize that in regard to the establishment of these ranges we are suggesting that the lesser, or ten percent "over and under" standard be adhered to as far as reasonably possible. Some clearly demonstrable justification should exist for any deviation in excess of this degree.

'Basically, we believe it probable that a legislative apportionment plan that conforms with these standards and guidelines can be defended. A plan which departs from these guidelines would, in our opinion, be most difficult to defend and would probably lead to protracted litigation in regard to the matter.'

For the reasons outlined above, I have vetoed Senate Bill No. 237. Moreover, I believe Senate Bill No. 237 is not only undesirable legislation, but is of doubtful validity. The letter of December 24, 1964 from the attorney general warns against adopting such a plan:

'Clearly, an apportionment plan which is only marginal or of doubtful validity should be avoided because of the possibilities of protracted litigation that could result in regard to determining the constitutionality of such a plan. Because the legislature will not be permitted to function in its normal manner until the court has approved its legislative apportionment plan, it is evident that the plan adopted and presented to the court must be one which will be clearly acceptable.'

Respectfully submitted,

DANIEL J. EVANS, Governor.

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator McCutcheon:

"Mr. President:

"I rise to a point of personal privilege. I noticed my name mentioned in the Governor's veto message. I feel distinctly honored. I feel a little like Rudolph, the Red Nosed Reindeer. My name will go down in history.

"The Governor scolded us a little bit. He says that this Senate Bill No. 237 did not represent a serious effort. I might say that I admit frankly it is not a masterpiece, but I would say that his veto message is not a masterpiece either. They both have some faults. It's hard to bring out masterpieces in redistricting.

"He says it does not represent a serious effort. I would disagree with him heartily on that point. I think we made a very serious effort. A great deal of legislation is passed with a compromise, and lots of people vote when they don't know what the result is going to be.

"Now he does get down to cases, and I'm happy to see he abandons the theory that we must maintain certain numbers of men riveted to their seats or in such districts where they will have sufficient votes to stay there forever.

"He talks about contiguous territory. Now I read that and listened to it and it sounded quite convincing to you. It sounded quite convincing to me when I first read it. I took it very seriously. I didn't take it the way he took our bill. I took his message seriously. But he says certain portions and areas of the state of Washington are not included at all in this. They are omitted. Other areas are attached to the wrong places and sometimes to two districts. He makes a great deal of this.

"Now our bill provides, and all of these bills provide in standard, technical form, a catchall for all of those things. If there is any portion that this bill left out, it attaches to the surrounding territory. If any territory mentioned in this act is specifically embraced in two or more non-inclusive legislative districts, such territory shall become a part of the nearest district. So all that talk about us not including everything that should have been included is purely lint-picking. That argument is not substantive. It has no value at all, and when it comes to contiguous territory and the state constitution, Senator Lennart, islands may all be in one district, but are they contiguous by water? Yes. How much water do you have to jump over to make one piece of land contiguous with the other? How much water do you jump across? Are the Hawaiian Islands contiguous, or Alaska to the United States? I suppose not.

"Take my own district and a fact that has always puzzled me. I have the Fort Lewis Reservation and then Dupont is down there six miles from where I live in Steilacoom. But it's supposed to be contiguous in my district anyway; Anderson Island, McNeil Island, all these islands through the Sound. How much water must you have? Of course they're contiguous. What's he talking about. I don't think the Court's going to question that for a moment. These are small matters. However, they should be answered.

"The Governor says that the majority of this body agreed that this is a bad bill. Well, I'm not going to assume that is true. I neither assume nor admit this. We could have lived under it very nicely.

"But he is getting down to cases. I was particularly interested and I am sure the Senator from Whatcom county, the Senator from Kitsap county, and the Senator from Clark county, Senator Foley, will be very interested. The Governor says it's a horrible thing, and quotes what they have done to Kitsap county, when there is only one district with three representatives and every other district has two. There being forty-nine Senators and ninety-nine members of the House, one of them has to have three and that, by law, means it should go to the largest and we shouldn't get to playing games here and going down to Clark county with it.

"Actually, Senator Foley, the count is very close according to the figures I have. According to the population guide, we find that Clark county had 69,593 people. The governor, himself, knows these facts. He says Kitsap has 70,935. Whatcom county has 69,846. Now, Senator Morgan, I'm happy to report to you that Kitsap led by 1,089 people. You led over Whatcom county. You have 70,935. Whatcom county has 1,089 people less.

"Now we get down to Clark county and we find that Kitsap leads Whatcom county by 1,089, and Whatcom leads Clark by 253. Now that's terrific! There's a gross error! We gave it to the wrong district. Horrible! We missed one by 253 and another by a thousand people. The Governor said we did a terrible thing, giving you three members down there.

"I would remind the Governor we had a bill on his desk called Senate Bill No. 2. It gave the three where they belonged, according to strict mathematical computation, and gave those three, Senator Morgan, to your district and your county. That was Senate Bill No. 2, so there's nothing to that argument, and he spends a page on it, underpopulation and overpopulation. Perhaps his computations are correct. Perhaps they might be in error. I've heard two stories on that. But mathematical exactitude, lady and gentlemen of the Senate, in a redistricting bill is not possible. The Court said it was not possible.

"But I say this to the Governor: I say this to you people over there and to our people over here: We have sent two bills down there. Why doesn't the Governor let these bills go to the Federal Court to try them on for size? Why shouldn't he let the Court do this? If the Court turns it down, then we can try again.

"We have heard a great deal in the last ten days around here about an unofficial compromise bill. I don't want to do anything but praise the members on both sides. They have been working long, hard days and they have been working seriously, Governor Evans. They haven't been working on trivia. I have no criticism of them at all, but this is a different situation in this kind of matter. Men do come down here. We have a majority party, and you have the executive. Both of us have the prerogative of power in a sense. We can block the other.

"Sometimes when we come down here, people make promises. They give their word they will follow a course, and when the pressures get too great, they begin to succumb.

"Now the Governor says we have been playing politics. I have not been invited—I'm sure I would have been welcome to go down and confer with the Executive, but I did not choose to do so. I felt we would deal more honorably at arm's length. I'd like to have it in writing, but that, of course, is not possible. But he's been dangling in front of the members, singling out some certain members all over the state of Washington, and dangling those goodies in front of their eyes in a way that says: 'This will take care of you. What do you care about anybody else?' And so they begin to forget their honor. They begin to forget their judgment, and they begin to lose their perspective, and they follow that old veto rule of politics. When the water reaches the upper decks, they follow the ranks; and it appears the water may be rising. The Governor knows this. He's a pretty good politician and he's been dangling, don't think he hasn't, with politics down there.

"But we have come to this point after forty days, and to the people of the state of Washington I'm not ashamed to say it takes time to work things out. We're human, but we're working. Now if we have an unofficial bill floating around here somewhere—it's supposed to have been proof read—I don't know where it is, but I'd like to see it. Let us bring it out. We've got a skeleton number up there in that committee. Hang it on that thing and let us call our committee together, both sides of this aisle. Let us go over it section by section, paragraph by paragraph, without haste and without rest, and let us be thorough. We'll give in where we think we're wrong, and we'll stand our ground where we think we're right, and let us get a whack at it for a while for another day or two or a week. If we do it methodically, we can come out here with something, but I don't think lint-picking is going to help. We can drop some of the politics out of this and get back to the fundamental one man, one vote population basis, and what the results of the last election were and who voted for the Governor and for us. We realize, like the political conventions of olden days, sometimes they ran a hundred ballots, but along about the fiftieth, they begin to take a different tack, they take a little different view than they did in the beginning, and begin to think, 'I can live with that, perhaps, if I have to,' and they will. But I think we are making great progress. I respect the Governor. I think he's got intelligence, and I think under the fire of this redistricting, he is maturing. He cannot hold us up as whipping boys and say, 'It's all your fault,' every time we turn around. 'You're spending forty dollars a day and costing the state all of this money. I'm the White Charger!'

"Let him remember he should not scold us and we should not scold him. Neither of us is perfect. Neither of us can write a masterpiece, but we can be human. We can remember our word in our heart. It may not be too early or too late, so let's get back to work in our committee. These last two days I have enjoyed more than any time in a long time. It's been very quiet. But let's get along with this and get our perspective and we can write a bill that won't make everyone happy, but won't make everybody unhappy either. I don't like to see people coming around and saying: 'This is it. I'll leave you in the room with your conscience whether or not you want to take the poison. This is it.' And then walk off. I look across the aisle and I see a man over here I have served with for many years. He's been too busy sitting in Judiciary doing his duty day by day for you and for me and the people of the state of Washington—too busy to look after his own on this. I'm supposed to be trying to take care of him up there. I feel emotional about it.

"Well, that's enough for me. That's enough for John McCutcheon. Again, I want to thank the Governor. I want to thank him from the bottom of my heart for mentioning my name in his veto message. I shall go down in history, like Rudolph, the Red Nosed Reindeer!"

PERSONAL PRIVILEGES

Senator Herrmann:

"Mr. President, members of the Senate:

"I would like to make some additional remarks, supplementing the talk of Senator McCutcheon. I want to say that I agree with what he has said. I, too, would like to have a personal privilege to just say a few words."

The President:

"Senator Herrmann will speak upon a point of personal privilege."

Senator Herrmann:

"Mr. President and members of the Senate:

"I think that the Court, having placed us in this position that we must redistrict, that we cannot conduct any business until we do the Court is the only solution to settling this situation.

"The majority here has passed two bills and from what I can understand at the present time, we are deadlocked. I believe that it would be in order to present the bill that we passed and ask the Court not to overrule the Governor, but to adopt that bill as the Court's plan. They have done it in other states. There is precedent for this when states become deadlocked and they are unable to do the job that is before them and when they cannot agree. It looks like we have gone down the road the full length and we have come to the dead end; and if that is so then I think it's time that we appeal to the Court to adopt our plan and let us go forward with the business of the state."

Senator Morgan:

"Mr. President, I would like to speak on a point of personal privilege:

"Mr. President and gentlemen of the Senate:

"I feel I must clarify the position of Kitsap county, the twenty-third district. Our situation is unique in that we are practically an island. Politics or no politics, these are the facts. Kitsap county was chopped up—84,000 people and we were chopped up in the former bill, which I didn't vote for at any time—and floated out to sea; and, I do mean that. Point Roberts is up in the sea where the ocean is.

"We were penalized. I don't know if this happened in the House or where. We were penalized for being overpopulated, and they reduced our representation instead of granting us more. Certainly one Kitsap county Senator cannot represent 84,000 people properly, and certainly stretching it clear up to Whatcom and Point Roberts would weaken us, and it would be at least a hundred and fifty miles by water to that point, so you would have to supply this district no doubt with a Washington Ferry.

"We were cut three ways, and even though I, personally, as a Senator, have invited Mason county to take some of our population—I talked with Pierce county and asked them to take some because it is contiguous, but their position is that they are nearly perfect and that's the way it must be, and I accept that. Apparently no one wanted us in this bill which was just vetoed.

"The record will show that Senator Frances Haddon Morgan never voted for this bill, yet I, personally, as a Senator have been secure in every bill presented, but that isn't the point. I may not be here tomorrow. We are not here permanently. If you think we are, look at the gallery upstairs. But it isn't fair for the rest of the district, which I now represent and must do so on the floor of this Senate, to allow this to happen to them. Our island peninsula cannot be represented by less people. It must have more representation.

"Thank you, gentlemen."

Senator Moriarty, Jr.:

"Mr. President, members of the Senate:

"Speaking briefly on one or two points raised by Senator McCutcheon, I recall a very pleasant evening last week when my wife and I had the privilege and pleasure of sitting with Senator McCutcheon at dinner at the Tye Restaurant. That was the evening after the Governor's press conference on the day that we passed Senate Bill No. 237 through this Senate. Senator McCutcheon was quite exorcised by the whole affair, and the basis of the objection, if I remember correctly, was that the Governor did not mention him by name in his press conference, and he would have appreciated it.

"Senator McCutcheon, you have not only been mentioned, but I want to call attention to the fact that he has spelled your name correctly. More, a politician could not ask.

"Speaking seriously on one or two points, the Governor has done what you were told he would do when the bill was on the floor of this Senate. Moreover he has done what you have asked him to do in the previous occasion when we have had redistricting bills on the floor of the Senate. He has pointed out specific areas where the bill that you passed did not meet the standards laid down by the Federal Court and did not meet the standards laid down by the Governor in his inaugural address.

"As far as Senator Herrmann's comments are concerned, I think I speak for the entire Republican caucus when I say we are not ready to abandon our responsibility, gentlemen. We remain willing to negotiate. We remain willing to talk. Substantial progress has been made and remains to be made. The time will come, I hope soon, when we will agree and pass a redistricting bill. We disagree the Court is the only solution. We remain willing to talk to you. I said that early in the game. I repeat it again this late in the game.

"As far as Senator Morgan is concerned and the situation in Kitsap county and Bainbridge Island, Senator, I couldn't agree more."

The Governor's veto message, together with vetoed Senate Bill No. 237, was referred to the Committee on Rules and Joint Rules.

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Lennart:

"Mr. President, I want to speak on personal privilege."

The President:

"The Senator will speak on personal privilege."

Senator Lennart:

"I want to now speak upon a real 'masterpiece.' You will have read the Seattle Post-Intelligencer. According to Lord Bacon, 'great empires and little minds go ill together. I think this applies to representative news media. Small minds and large news media go ill together. I think this argument is just filled with half-truths, innuendo and allegations. I have never seen one just like it and I would say that such literature has no place in my mailbox, and I would also say that if you accept this, you are of a different breed of Americans than were your forefathers."

MEMORIAL SERVICES

The following memorial tribute was given by Representative Epton:

"'Somewhere between the idea and the reality falls the shadow.' The philosopher-poet, T. S. Elliot, who wrote those words described, inadvertently no doubt, man's timeless search for law and order and for a discipline that would transcend the shadow of his own vast desires.

"For a fleeting hour, here today, we honor twenty-eight former members of the Washington state legislature. The compass of their service spans fifty-four years. Their ayes and nays and the principles which impelled them to write into the record their interpretation of the common good have designed the course and the pattern of our present laws.

"The fragrance of a flower tribute, the sound of music and the bonds of this communion are the symbols of the esteem in which we, and their families and friends, hold the memory of each one of them and also the measure of our own faith in the rightness of the law and order and the reality of the idea which they were seeking to accomplish."

"To make a motion and solve the problem."

The President:

"Please do so."

MOTION

Senator Greive:

"I move the question of consideration on these particular amendments, and if you will look up Senate Rule 68, they have to be read."

The President:

"Senator Greive has raised the question of consideration on the amendments."

POINTS OF ORDER

Senator Gallagher:

"Mr. President:

"I think Senator Gissberg moved that the rules be suspended and before consideration of the first amendment, we consider amendments to sections 2 and 3. I think that a motion to suspend the rules would have the highest priority according to my little red book, and I think, therefore, the motion would be in order."

Senator Gissberg:

"If I may, Mr. President:

"Whenever anyone makes a motion to suspend the rules, if carried, then you need not be concerned about any motion to lay on the table or any of your regular rules of priority of motions, and my motion was to suspend the rules and now consider, before Senator Moriarty's amendments, the amendments to section 2 and 3. The motion to suspend the rules automatically takes care of any of the points of order that are raised by Senator Moriarty."

Senator Greive:

"Mr. President:

"I'll withdraw the motion."

The President:

"With the consent of the Senate, the question of consideration has been withdrawn. The question before the Senate now is the motion as presented by Senator Gissberg.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Senator Ryder:

"Mr. President:

"I am confused. Why would we want to reconsider this amendment? Have they been speaking on an amendment which is not before the Senate?"

Senator Gallagher:

"I don't think it was our intention to reconsider this one, but there is a further amendment which relates to the boundaries of the forty-fifth district. Senator Greive had another amendment on the desk. I think this is where we got into the overall problem."

Senator Greive:

"That's right. It can't be considered until we get to the point where we want to reconsider this. You can't amend an amendment after it is adopted. The second amendment will correct the situation."

The President:

"That is correct. The first amendment changes the spelling of Fremont to a single 'e'. The second amendment will strike the word 'Freemont' with a double 'e' and substitute the word 'Aurora.' In order to do this, Senators, it is necessary to reconsider the first amendment."

Debate ensued.

POINT OF ORDER

"NEW SECTION. Section 1. We, the legislature, responding to the mandate of Article II, section 3 of the Constitution directing us to redistrict and to reapportion legislative districts subsequent to each census, have conducted a thorough investigation of all relevant factors essential to the preparation of appropriate revisions which are set forth in this act.

We have consulted the 1960 federal census reports, considered the geographic, economic and sociological factors essential to the preservation of reasonable geographic and socio-economic groupings, consulted the authoritative sources for the most reliable estimates concerning population growth patterns and trends within the state as well as evaluating the published statistics reciting population growth patterns and trends already established, reviewed the existing political boundaries, and conducted special population counts to determine better and to evaluate formulas necessary to prepare a proper redistricting and reapportionment measure. Based on our investigation and studies, we, the legislature, have determined that legislative redistricting and reapportionment, as set forth in this act, represents an allocation of legislators within the districts established so as to provide as near equality of representation to the inhabitants of the state of Washington as is possible under the circumstances, as required by the state and federal constitutions.

We, the legislature, in determining the actual district boundaries and the allocation of legislators to each, have resorted to factors and formulas found to be most reliable for each of the districts concerned, and the formulas and factors were applied only after careful confirmation of their validity by testing against the findings of facts resulting from our investigation.

The bill was read the second time by sections.

It was moved by Senator Ryder that the following amendment be adopted:

On page 1, section 1, line 16, after the word "system" insert a colon and the following: Provided further, That the board of each district coming into the system under the 1965 amendatory act shall have an option to assume all or part of the past service obligation for its employees".

Debate ensued.

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator McCormack:

"Would Senator Ryder yield to a question?"

"Senator Ryder, I don't have all of the figures on this subject that you have. I wonder if you could give me some information that would get at some sort of perspective here. Did you use the figure, $130,000?"

Senator Ryder:

"Yes, I did."

Senator McCormack:

"And this is per year?"

Senator Ryder:

"This would be the cost per year."

Senator McCormack:

"To all of the school districts?"

Senator Ryder:

"Yes, to all of the school districts if they funded it over a period of fifteen years, Senator. Of course it would be two million dollars if they picked it up all at one time."

Senator McCormack:

"Now, Senator, what would the impact be in equivalent employees for a given school district? Would it be a fifth of one employee per year, or something like this? Would it be a thousand dollars per school district, or would it be two-fifths of an employee?"

Senator Ryder:

"I don't know what you mean by a fifth of an employee."

Senator McCormack:

"Mr. President and Senator Ryder:

"We can assume the average employee might be paid a salary of $5,000 per year. Now are we assuming that we are going to increase the total cost of the school district by a thousand dollars per year, the equivalent of one-fifth of an employee, or something like this? What I'm trying to get at here, $130,000 sounds like a lot of money. Can you interpret it in terms of school districts. We might find that this would be a very, very small expenditure if we interpret it in this way. This is what I want to clarify."

Senator Ryder:

"Senator McCormack, it would cost one thousand dollars per employee. The cost per year would be around seventy-five dollars per employee if they funded it over a period of fifteen years."

Senator McCormack:

"And, Senator, this would be for the employees that are hired now?"

Senator Ryder:

"Those that are on the system now, employees of the school district. This is correct."

Debate ensued.

It was moved by Senator Charette that the amendment be laid upon the table.

The motion was carried on a rising vote and the amendment was laid upon the table.

MOTION TO RECONSIDER

Senator Lewis:

"Mr. President:

"Having voted on the prevailing side, I do now move that the Senate reconsider the vote by which the amendment was laid upon the table."

Debate ensued.

POINTS OF ORDER

Senator Gallagher:

"Point of order, Mr. President:

"Does the Secretary's record show on which side Senator Lewis voted?"

The President:

"The Secretary has no record, Senator Gallagher."

Senator Charette:

"Point of order, Mr. President:

"I call the President's attention to Reed's Rules, No. 204, which says that a motion to lay on the table is not subject to reconsideration."

Senator Lewis:

"Mr. President:

"The motion to lay on the table is not subject to reconsideration, but we have laid the amendment on the table, which is now subject to reconsideration. I think that is a more proper interpretation of the rules."

RULING BY THE PRESIDENT

The President:

"The President, in ruling upon the point of order as presented by Senator Charette, it is the President's ruling in accordance with Reed's Rules No. 204 that the point of order is well taken. The Senate cannot reconsider the motion."

Senator Lewis:

"Mr. President:

"I move to suspend the rules and now reconsider the vote by which the motion of Senator Ryder was laid upon the table."

Senator Greive:

"Mr. President:

"I respectfully suggest to Senator Lewis that the proper motion is not to move for reconsideration, but simply to take the amendment from the table. This is the reason why reconsideration isn't in order. There is simply another motion which does exactly the same thing. A motion to take from the table solves the problem."

MOTION

It was moved by Senator Lewis that the motion by Senator Ryder be taken from the table.

Debate ensued.

POINT OF ORDER

Senator McCormack:

"Mr. President, point of order:

"A motion to take from the table is not debatable."

RULING BY THE PRESIDENT

The President:

"The President agrees and your point of order is well taken, Senator McCormack, but the President believes the motion to take from the table could have a brief explanation in this instance."

The motion was lost on a rising vote.

It was moved by Senator McCutcheon that Senate Bill No. 272 be ordered to retain its place on the second reading calendar for the next working day.

Debate ensued.

The motion was carried on a rising vote.

Senate Bill No. 256, by Senators Charette, Petrich and Atwood:

Pertaining to the use of purse seines in the taking of salmon.

The bill was read the second time by sections.

It was moved by Senator Stender that the following amendment be adopted:

On page 2, section 1, line 8, after the word "nets," strike "round haul nets, purse seines."

Debate ensued.

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Riley:

"Mr. President, would Senator Charette yield to a question?"

Senator Charette:

"I yield."

Senator Riley:

"Senator Charette, is it true that the passage of this bill would throw the entire Puget Sound area inside the Initiative 77 line except for a few designated areas prescribed by law?"

Senator Charette:

"That is partially true, Senator Riley. This law would allow the only type of fisheries that are now excluded to be regulated and, if they secured permission of the Department of Fisheries, they would be allowed to go in and fish. But it does not throw it open of itself. This law, if passed without amendment, would merely allow purse seiners to go in on the directive of the Department of Fisheries, and I am sure the Department of Fisheries would not allow that except when there was an excess of fish."

Senator Riley:

"One further question. Why is it that someone like Ken McCloud, who presumably is an authority, opposes this?"

Senator Charette:

"I don't know. I have been chairman of the Committee on Fisheries and he has not contacted me or said anything to me about it. I have never met Ken McCloud."

Debate ensued.

Senator Stender demanded a roll call and the demand was not sustained.

The motion was lost on a rising vote, and the amendment was not adopted.

Senate Bill No. 256 was referred to the Committee on Rules and Joint Rules for third reading.

Senate Bill No. 144, by Senators Keefe, Guess and Kupka:

Authorizing negotiations to purchase St. Luke's Hospital.

On motion of Senator Keefe, Senate Bill No. 144 was referred to the Committee on Rules and Joint Rules.

Senate Joint Resolution No. 2, by Senators Peterson (Lowell), Gissberg, Mardesich and Hanna (by Executive request of Governor Rosellini):

Proposing constitutional amendment changing residence qualifications for voting to six months in state, thirty days in county, city, town, ward, or precinct.

The resolution was read the second time by sections and passed to the Committee on Rules and Joint Rules for third reading.

Senate Bill No. 338, by Senators Dore, Petrich, Moriarty, Jr. and Cowen:

Authorizing transfer of stock pursuant to community survivor's agreement.

The bill was read the second time by sections and passed to the Committee on Rules and Joint Rules for third reading.

Senate Bill No. 134, by Senators Hallauer and Charette:

The President called the Senate to order at 5:00 p. m.

PROTEST OF FEDERAL COURT ACTION

Senator Lennart:

"Mr. President:

"With the permission of the President and the Senate, I would like to read a protest into the record."

The President:

"With the consent of the Senate, it is so ordered."

Senator Lennart:

"Mr. President and members of the Senate:

"I wish to protest the handling of Thigpen vs. Meyers by the attorneys and the court. The lawyers and judges have persisted in handling this most important matter in an informal way. They have seen fit to handle the public's business in private ex parte hearings so that the public and the press learn of what is going on by publicity handouts after the deeds are done.

"The court and counsel, instead of aiding in settlement of the redistricting matter, worked a delay of the redistricting matter by listening to and granting a continuance based upon affidavits apparently signed by the attorneys involved without consultation with their clients or knowledge of the true state of affairs.

"At any rate, the attorney general announces that he needs more time in order to evaluate the situation. This is the most important piece of business in his office today. He has responded to the request of the legislature to evaluate plans before him on short notice. The only plan now before him has been available to him for a sufficient period for him to have evaluated it. It has been suggested that the convenience of the court is advanced by the continuance since the three judges thereof are busy trying cases elsewhere. They should have thought of that when they set February 26, 1965 as the date for the report of the legislature. There is no more important matter before the court. Apparently this date had been reserved by the court after reviewing its own calendar. Wide publicity had been given to this fact. It is, or should be, unthinkable that any other matter or matters should take precedence when the convenience of all of the people of the state of Washington is involved.

"I cannot understand why the court would permit the incorrect order of October 26, 1964 to remain incorrect for so long a period, requiring the legislature to act under a cloud and not knowing what its true authority was for such a period. I mean the order which said no committee could pass out a bill until redistricting was passed. It is difficult to understand how a court should preclude a legislature from passing any bill except redistricting; and then nullify that order to permit the private interest bill of the Attorney General, concerning his salary, to constitute an exception. While I hope and trust that the redistricting legislation will pass and that it will be approved, all in good order, I cannot help but comment that the informal handling of this matter has caused the loss of confidence on my part, and many others, in the independence of the court and integrity of the bar."

"All the days are Thy gifts to us, and Thou dost mean us to use them well, that we may give a good accounting to Thee, and to those we serve.

"Thou hast not only given us the day, Thou hast given us the strength and the grace needful to make the most of it in working out our calling, doing our duty and fulfilling the tasks laid upon us. Grant unto us, Lord, largeness of heart and purpose, delivering us from meanness and selfishness in aims and work. In the moments and the days that are before us, grant, O God, that we may use them to make the months and the years to come to profit by good, courageous, honest work done now.

"Pity us in our weakness, forgive us in our failures, and help us so that those who pray for us shall not have placed their confidence in us in vain. For the needs of this day we now implore Thy mercy, wisdom and strength to do Thy will, in the name of Jesus Christ, our Lord. Amen."

INTRODUCTION AND FIRST READING OF BILLS

The following was introduced, read first time by title and acted upon as indicated:

Senate Bill No. 518, by Senators Washington, Morgan, Sandison, Moriarty, Jr., Bailey, Peterson (Lowell), Mardesich, Stender, Herr and Greive (by State Highway Commission request):

An Act relating to urban mass transportation; authorizing the state highway commission to make application to the United States for a grant of financial assistance for the acquisition of new ferry vessels; authorizing the sale of limited obligation bonds and the use of the proceeds for acquisition of new ferry vessels; and making an appropriation; and declaring an emergency.

Referred to Committee on Highways.

On motion of Senator Washington, the rules were suspended and additional names were permitted as sponsors to Senate Bill No. 518.

SECOND READING OF BILLS

Senate Bill No. 272, by Senators Thompson, Jr., Knoblauch and Bailey:

Extending state employees' retirement system to cover certain school district employees.

The bill was read the second time by sections.

It was moved by Senator Guess that the following amendment be adopted:

On page 1, section 1, line 24, after "330" insert "Provided, That contributions for past service credits of noncertificated school district employees shall be paid by appropriation from the state general fund".

Debate ensued.

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Rasmussen:

"Would Senator Ryder yield to a question, Mr. President?"

Senator Ryder:

"Yes."

Senator Rasmussen:

"Senator Ryder, do you believe that this amendment is workable and that it will do what Senator Guess intends it to do?"

Senator Ryder:

"Yes. That is why I had the amendment re-read. I believe it will do this and that we, the state, would merely have to appropriate the money to the local school district to pay the past liability of the employees in that school district. Then from this time forward, of course, it would be necessary for the local school district to pay that portion of the state's contribution for future service. This would be a one time liability of the state and actually, as I understand it, would probably cost somewhere in the neighborhood of two million dollars."

Senator Bailey:

"Would Senator Ryder yield to a question?"

Senator Ryder:

"Yes."

Senator Bailey:

"Senator Ryder, it is my understanding that if the school districts pay this, they have several years in which to pay it, is that right?"

Senator Ryder:

"Yes, they can fund it over a period of fifteen years."

Senator Bailey:

"Do you propose then under this amendment that the state would do the same over a period of fifteen years, or would they make the two million dollar appropriation this session?"

Senator Ryder:

"I believe the state could do it over a period of fifteen years, and it would cost $130,000 per year. I see no reason why the state could not also fund it over the same period of time."

It was moved by Senator Charette that the amendment be laid upon the table.

Senator Knoblauch demanded a roll call and the demand was sustained by Senators Charette, Rasmussen, Herrmann, Greive, Bailey, Donohue, Connor and Washington.

ROLL CALL

The Secretary called the roll. The motion was carried and the amendment was laid upon the table by the following vote: Yeas, 33; nays, 15; excused, 1.

Those voting yea were: Senators Bailey, Charette, Chytil, Connor, Cooney, Donohue, Dore, Durkan, Foley, Freise, Gallagher, Greive, Hallauer, Hanna, Henry, Herr, Herrmann, Keefe, Knoblauch, Kupka, Lennart, McCormack, McMillan, Morgan, Peterson (Lowell), Peterson (Ted), Petrich, Rasmussen, Raugust, Stender, Talley, Thompson, Jr., Washington—33.

Those voting nay were: Senators Atwood, Cowen, Gissberg, Guess, Lewis, McCutcheon, Mardesich, Moriarty, Jr., Neill, Redmon, Riley, Ryder, Sandison, Williams, Woodall—15.

They would not, of course, share in the annuity, except from this time on to the time they retired. Their annuities would start at the time

"Eternal God and Heavenly Father, Thine eye is upon us continually; there is not a thought in our heart, a word on our tongue, but Thou knowest it altogether. Enable us to remember at all times that Thine eye is upon us for good and not for judgment only; and that Thy Divine Spirit can be our constant guide.

"Watch over our lives this day and help us to yield to Thee so as to bring honor to Thee; make us good men, sound of heart, bright of mind and obedient of will. Teach us that obedience to God is greatness; teach us that God's will is better than our own way.

"Help us ever to be mindful of the needs of our constituents and help us to meet those needs with wisdom and the enablement of Thy giving.

"Forgive us our errors in judgment and grant unto us Thy divine aid to ever avoid errors in principle. Write Thou upon the fleshly tablets of our hearts the divine directions that shall keep us as a God fearing nation.

"We thank Thee for the privilege of prayer, and we pray renew in our hearts an assurance of Thy guidance and of Thy care of the affairs of state.

"This we ask in the name of Jesus Christ, our Lord. Amen."

"The President, ruling upon the point of order as presented by Senator Gallagher, rules that the amendment is properly before the Senate because the amendment, whereas the effect is the same, involves a different section. ## POINTS OF INQUIRY

Senator Mardesich:

"Mr. President, would Senator Gallagher yield to a question?"

The President:

"Will Senator Gallagher yield?"

Senator Gallagher:

"Yes, Mr. President."

Senator Mardesich:

"Senator Gallagher, I note the title of this bill is rather broad; however, if you look at page 2, line 23, the word 'shall' is used: 'The corporate authorities of a municipality are authorized to adopt ordinances for the levy and collection of excise taxes, and shall appropriate and use the proceeds derived therefrom only for the operation, maintenance, and capital needs of its municipally owned . . .' and so on. I wonder if these words and this bill in effect allows the cities to adopt ordinances, collect an excise tax and in effect, requires that those taxes shall be used only and solely for the operation, maintenance and so on of these municipal systems. Now, it may be stretching the point a little, but would it be possible that this would prohibit the levy of excise taxes for purposes other than support of a municipal transit system?"

Senator Gallagher:

"Senator Mardesich, I believe the city now has authority and does exercise it in other fields. It is not, I am sure, the intent of the bill, and I hope this is for the purpose of the record, to prohibit the city from levying excise taxes in areas in which they already do so. The intent here is that the excise taxes to be levied under this authority would be used only for the purpose of a transportation system. I think they do have that authority and do exercise it now for uses in other areas of city government."

Senator Dore:

"Would Senator Gallagher yield to another question?"

"Senator Gallagher, this speaks of excise tax. Would that include the sales tax, too?"

Senator Gallagher:

"No, there was a qualifying amendment yesterday that clarified that. This amendment was proposed by Senator Glissberg. It does not include sales tax."

Substitute Senate Bill No. 167 was ordered engrossed and passed to the Committee on Rules and Joint Rules for third reading.

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Talley:

"Mr. President, point of personal privilege."

The President:

"The Senator will speak on point of personal privilege."

Senator Talley:

"I am having trouble with my conscience right now and I would like to speak on that point. I have been standing on this floor fighting for the city of Tacoma, and I can remember when they shoved the Cowlitz Dam right down my district's throat. It has bothered me a bit."

MOTION

---

The Secretary read:

SENATE RESOLUTION No. 1965 - 28

By Senators Hallauer and Woodall:

WHEREAS, The state of Washington is singularly honored in that the Indian peoples constituting the membership of the great Colville Indian Reservation wish to find an equitable means of terminating federal supervision over the property and affairs of the Colville Indian Reservation and become full-fledged citizens both of this nation and of the state; and

WHEREAS, This desire on the part of the membership has been evidenced by the action of the members of its Tribal Council; and

WHEREAS, Senator Henry Jackson introduced legislation in the past session of our National Congress providing for an end to the Colville Reservation and restoration to full rights as citizens to the membership and Representative Thomas Foley has introduced like legislation for the present session of Congress;

Now, Therefore, Be It Resolved, By the Senate, That this petition be most respectfully submitted to the House of Representatives and to the Senate of the United States and to the Honorable Lyndon B. Johnson, President of the United States, urging immediate action to fulfill the desires of the membership of the Colville Reservation to become citizens enjoying equal rights, privileges and responsibilities as other citizens of this state and this nation;

And Be It Further Resolved, That the Secretary of the Senate submit copies of this Resolution to the Honorable Lyndon B. Johnson, President of the United States, to the Speaker of the House of Representatives of the United States, to the President of the Senate of the United States, and to each member of Congress from the state of Washington.

On motion of Senator Hallauer, the resolution was adopted.

The Secretary read:

SENATE RESOLUTION No. 1965-30

By Senators Raugust, Bailey, Washington, Lennart, Hallauer, Redmon, Donohue, McMillan, Neill, Freise and Hanna:

WHEREAS, The Bureau of the Budget has proposed that the Soil Conservation Service appropriation for assisting locally organized and locally managed soil and water conservation districts be reduced by twenty million dollars and that soil and water conservation districts and cooperating farmers, ranchers and other landowners shall pay the federal government up to fifty percent of the cost of technical assistance furnished in the design, layout and installation of planned soil and water conservation practices on their lands; and

WHEREAS, The federal government has, for some thirty years, provided technical assistance to owners and operators of privately owned lands believing that it is in the total public interest, and one of the most urgent national needs to protect and improve the soil and water resources of this nation; and

WHEREAS, Over ninety-six percent of Washington privately owned land is included in its sixty-eight soil and water conservation districts and nearly a third of Washington's farmers and ranchers are annually using the technical assistance in the design, layout and installation of planned soil and water conservation measures on their lands; and

WHEREAS, The supervisors of such districts have continuously requested additional technical assistance to meet the needs of farmers and ranchers to accelerate the application of conservation practices; and

WHEREAS, Recent state-wide storms and floods of disastrous proportions have resulted in heavy erosion and loss of valuable top soil, in heavy sediment deposits in our reservoirs, lakes, streams and rivers which also have spread over valuable bottom lands and in other flood damage to both public and private property together with destruction or severe damage to thousands of water control and use structures, requiring greater, rather than reduced efforts in the application of soil and water conservation practices; and

WHEREAS, Such assessments of payments to the federal government will discourage and seriously curtail the application of soil and water conservation measures on lands so vital to the strength and welfare of the state of Washington and the nation and will seriously affect fall harvest on family farms and the holdings of small operators; and

WHEREAS, This proposed additional burden added to the costs of farmers and ranchers already in a depressed economic condition, would limit the ability of these people to participate in the existing agricultural conservation program and similar programs which have in the past contributed substantially to the conservation development, and the prudent use of these soil and water resources.

Now, Therefore, Be it Resolved, by the Senate of the state of Washington that we respectfully make application to the Congress of the United States to continue the long established policy of providing technical assistance to soil and water conservation districts and their cooperating land owners and operators without requiring them to pay the federal government any portion of cost of such technical assistance; and

Be It Further Resolved, That the Congress provide the increases in technical assistance requested by the soil and water conservation districts in Washington and throughout the nation to meet the needs of land owners and operators to accelerate the planning and application of conservation measures on their privately owned lands; and

Be It Further Resolved, That copies of this resolution be transmitted to the Honorable Lyndon B. Johnson, President of the United States, the President of the United States Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives, the Chief of the Soil and Conservation Service, and to each Senator and Representative in Congress from the state of Washington.

On motion of Senator Bailey, the resolution was adopted.

"Mr. President, would Senator Washington yield to a question?

"Senator Washington, is it the intention of the Highway Commission, to your knowledge or to your information, to charge the actual cost of the material, or do you know of any particular amount they may place on these items?"

Senator Washington:

"No. At the present time, it is two dollars, which is much too small, and they will place there a reasonable sum. As I understand, it will include the cost of the material and will cover some of the cost of clerical work. It will be more than just the bare cost of mimeographing the specifications and making the blueprints and so forth. We left it purposely 'a reasonable amount' to have the Commission determine what it should be. The Highway Commission doesn't want to discourage bidders, but they do feel they should be getting more for these materials than they are now."

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Ryder:

"Mr. President, would Senator Thompson yield to a question?"

Senator Thompson, Jr.:

"Yes."

Senator Ryder:

"Senator Thompson, would this allow the Commissioner of Natural Resources to lease this land without consulting the board on a dollar a year basis or rent free basis without consulting the permanent school fund administrators or board of regents if it were to apply to a university or college?"

Senator Thompson, Jr.:

"No, it would not, Senator Ryder. We carefully wrote into the bill in both sections 1 and 3 that the determination of this would be by the board of regents if it is a university held piece of land, or by the state board of education or by the county school board. There would be no discretion on the part of the commissioner. The decision for the use of the land would be made by the owner, in other words, the board of regents if it is a university, or the state board of education in the case of common school land. There is no discretion on the part of the commissioner to use the land without their requests."

Senator Ryder:

"Senator Thompson, except in the sale of land, at the moment the commissioner of the Board of Natural Resources does have this power, does he not? He can lease public land without the consent of the institution that owns them but he can't sell. He can lease, can he not?"

Senator Thompson, Jr.:

"This is correct, but we are talking here about only lands that are appropriate for park purposes, and first the request has to come from the Park Commission to the board of regents or the state board of education and if both the Park Commission and the board of regents agree that the best use for the people of the state is to use this for park and recreation or education purposes. Then they can make the determination and instruct the commissioner to make it available for this use and reserve the right on sixty day notice to cancel it for that use and let it revert back to the use it had before it was turned into a recreational or educational use."

Debate ensued.

"Almighty God, Thou art every day showing us Thy goodness; and we are not worthy of the least of Thy mercies. Each morning we are reminded that we have a full day of opportunities to serve Thee, and each evening we find that Thou has rewritten Thy covenant of faithfulness to us. Thy kingdom ruleth over all, and we come before Thy throne humbly in prayer.

"Lord, look upon us in all the relations of life this day; in this Senate Chamber, in the homes where our loved ones dwell, in the classrooms housing our children, and grant to all of us the wisdom to live in obedience to Thee and Thy word. Thou knowest what our purposes are; if they are good, healthy, sound and useful, bring them into fruition; if they are otherwise, crush them and deliver our souls from anything unworthy of Thine approval.

"May Thy loving kindness and tender mercy be fully appreciated by our hearts this day; forgive us our shortcomings, and give us strength, courage and inspiration for the work before us. We thank Thee that Thou hearest us, for we ask these things in the name of Thy Son, the Lord Jesus Christ. Amen."

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Moriarty, Jr.:

"Would Senator Petrich yield to a question?"

"Senator, this is a legitimate inquiry. One of the things that has bothered me a great deal about this bill, and I'm sorry I don't know enough about labor law, national or state, to answer the question myself, but I would like to have you answer this question and, if you can't, refer it to anyone else who might have the information.

"If this language stays in the act, would it not be true that each and every employee organization and each and every employer as defined by the act would come under the jurisdiction of the National Labor Relations Board; and, if that be the case, are we not then subjecting each and every employee organization which might be formed and operate under this act, and the employers who are political subdivisions, to the jurisdiction of the National Labor Relations Board?"

Senator Petrich:

"Senator Moriarty, I'm sorry that I am not able to answer that particular question. I will have to refer it perhaps to Senator Greive."

Senator Greive:

"In answer to the question of Senator Moriarty, it could be I am wrong since I am not a labor lawyer, but it is my understanding that the National Labor Relations Board applies only to those matters which deal with interstate commerce. I hardly think the state of Washington or the political subdivisions of the state of Washington would be the hallmark of somebody in interstate commerce. It could only apply to the affairs and business of that particular state, so if there is anything left in the doctrine of state sovereignty, then I think certainly it would apply in this case."

Debate ensued.

On motion of Senator Gallagher, the amendment was laid upon the table.

It was moved by Senator Greive that the rules be suspended, that Senate Bill No. 360 be advanced to third reading, the second reading considered the third, and the bill placed on final passage.

Senator Moriarty, Jr. demanded a roll call and the demand was sustained by Senators Thompson, Jr., Guess, Stender, Redmon, Atwood, Greive, Bailey, Connor and Knoblauch.

Senator Dore:

"Would Senator Greive yield to a question?"

"Senator Greive, in section 4, it says the representatives of the city will bargain with the representative employees. Now my question is this: In a councilman-mayor form of government that we have in most of the cities in this state, if a representative of the council signs an agreement and the majority of the council vote against him and refuse to go along with the written agreement and pass an ordinance to carry out the written agreement, how are these objections going to be met by this bill?"

Senator Greive:

"Mr. President:

"It would seem to me that we would be in fact exactly in the same position as we are nowadays in complicated labor relations. Oftentimes groups negotiate for the management on one side and for the unions on the other side. Both sides invariably have to take their agreements back to the parent body and have it ratified before it goes into effect and it seems to me a simple device. It is a good deal the way Senator Neill, Senator Bailey and myself negotiated on redistricting. We didn't know if we had the votes, but we tendered the agreement. Fortunately, it was ratified, at least from my point of view. It may have been if Senator Gallagher's point of view had prevailed, it would not have been ratified."

Senator Atwood:

"Would Senator Greive yield to further questions?"

Senator Greive:

"Yes."

Senator Atwood:

"Senator Greive, I want to ask you this: If the council passes an ordinance and enacts a collective bargaining agreement, and the mayor vetoes it and subsequently the mayor is upheld, which would control; the written agreement or the ordinance?"

Senator Greive:

"I feel, quite obviously, the city government operates as a whole. The mayor has to function with the council, and that agreement certainly wouldn't be ratified until it went through that procedure."

Debate ensued.

ROLL CALL

The Secretary called the roll on the final passage of Senate Bill No. 360 and the bill passed the Senate by the following vote: Yeas, 34; nays, 12; excused, 3.

There being no objection, the title of the bill was ordered to stand as the title of the act.

EXPLANATION OF VOTE

I support the federal policy that local governmental units not be subject to regulation in labor-management relations. Permissive or compulsory arbitration delegates decisional authority to private individuals serving as members of an arbitration board and abrogates the responsibility vested in legislative bodies by the electorate. An arbitrator not directly responsible to the electorate for the tax rate should not be permitted to finally decide what the tax rate should be.

Government differs from business. Revenue is based on taxes rather than the sale of products. There is little flexibility in adjustment of government services. A city cannot discontinue fire or police protection or garbage collection and disposal because of a demand for higher wages. Pressures to hold down taxes are strong and continuous.

The adoption of Section 4 of Senate Bill No. 360, insofar as it gives legislative endorsement to binding collective bargaining agreements, if not an unconstitutional delegation of legislative power to the bargaining representatives, is, at least, an unwarranted and unwise surrender of a right and duty of elective representatives of the people, whose conscience the elected officials reflect.

SENATOR R. FRANK ATWOOD.

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Gallagher:

"Would Senator Moriarty yield to a question?"

Senator Moriarty, Jr.:

"Yes."

Senator Gallagher:

"Senator Moriarty, now this does create within an existing department, a new department. Would you be able to give us some assurance, at least to the best of your knowledge and ability, whether or not this might lead to dismissing a number of employees who are now covered by the merit system within the department; and, in addition, if you know, how much additional money this is going to take to set up this new department in the Highway Department, and is there going to be any savings by using this method?"

Senator Moriarty, Jr.:

"Senator Gallagher, to the best of my knowledge, there will be no employees dismissed. That is to the best of my knowledge. Secondly, I understand—and I'm searching my memory now—the cost would be in the neighborhood of $51,400. I stand to be corrected on that by Senator Washington. However, I also understand once this is in operation, the savings should absorb the cost within the very near future."

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Woodall:

"Would Senator Washington yield? I would like a rather restricted answer, if possible, Senator. Time is of the essence."

Senator Washington:

"You know in court you can't ask a witness to say 'yes' or 'no.'"

Senator Woodall:

"Well, they wouldn't get anywhere if they asked you. That's for sure! Anyway, what I would simply like to know: As the bill is now, we have changed the name from 'license' to 'motor vehicle', is that correct?"

Senator Washington:

"That is correct."

Senator Woodall:

"All right, we have in it all the departments we have always had, is that correct?"

Senator Washington:

"That is correct."

Senator Woodall:

"And we have added a few more?"

Senator Washington:

"That's correct."

Senator Woodall:

"Thank you."

Debate ensued.

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Riley:

"Would Senator Dore yield to a question?"

Senator Dore:

"Certainly."

Senator Riley:

"Mr. President, Senator Dore:

"My question is, in your remarks you used the word 'save.' Now aren't we in effect using it in an improper fashion? Actually, it's not a saving, it's a postponement?"

Senator Dore:

"No, Senator, that's not correct. Actually, in accordance with proper bookkeeping procedure, what we are doing now, we are paying our school teachers in June for three months during the summer, June, July and August, rather than giving them a check in July and a check in August. Actually we are paying them in advance. This would merely spread it over twelve months, rather than ten months as it is at the present time. It's a one biennium pick up of forty-two million dollars a real savings. Of course, next biennium you will have to pay it over the twelve month period."

Senator Stender:

"Well, it comes again to my thinking that we wouldn't have an extra forty-two million in the cash register. We may have it there temporarily, but we'll still have to distribute it if we don't use it this biennium. We'll have to distribute it the next."

Senator Dore:

"No, it's not merely an accounting change. It's an actual savings of forty-two million dollars. It will have no effect on the next biennium whatsoever."

Debate ensued.

On motion of Senator Atwood, the committee amendment by the Committee on Ways and Means was adopted.

On motion of Senator Atwood, the rules were suspended, Engrossed Senate Bill No. 50 was advanced to third reading, the second reading considered the third, and the bill was placed on final passage.

Debate ensued.

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Charette:

"Will Senator Gissberg yield to a question?"

"Senator Gissberg, under the terms of section 17 of this bill, how much will it cost the current state school fund?"

Senator Gissberg:

"Under the terms of it, it isn't going to cost them anything at this point because the appropriation has been stricken. However, there will be $25,000 annually which would go out of the current school fund into a special account, a law enforcement officers' training account. These funds, however, Senator, come from an area which we believe it is proper for them to come, namely; violations of orders, injunctions, contempt of court and other criminal penalties, which we feel is certainly proper that they should accrue to the benefit of this account. Ultimately Senator Foley and Senator Dore in the Committee on Ways and Means and Appropriations will have to make the financial determination as to how much, if any, of these funds are to be appropriated for the benefit of this account."

Senator Charette:

"Mr. President, Senator Gissberg, one additional question:

"As I read the bill, there is $35,000 appropriated. Then, in addition to that, in section 17 there are certain fines and penalties that are now going to the permanent school fund that will go into this fund, and I would like to know how much money will be taken from the permanent school fund."

Senator Gissberg:

"Senator, I'm sorry I didn't make myself clear. All I can say again is just what I have said and hope that it will be clear to you. The fact of the matter is, there has been established by this act a law enforcement officers' training fund within the general fund, into which will be paid a sum not to exceed $25,000, the fines and forfeitures that now go into the common school fund, so if this bill is passed there will be a total amount of $50,000 which will accrue to the special fund within the general fund during the next biennium. However, none of that will be expended unless there is specifically appropriated those amounts out of that fund for the purpose for which this bill is designed to accomplish. However, there is no appropriation provided. You see, section 16 provided for the appropriation of $35,000 for the first biennium, but that has been stricken from this bill. But if the Ways and Means Committee does not make any appropriation, then there will be within the general fund the sum of $50,000 for that biennium unexpended."

Further debate ensued.

FIFTY-FIFTH DAY

MORNING SESSION

SENATE CHAMBER,

Reverend Dave Carlson, pastor of the Assembly of God Church of Olympia, offered prayer as follows:

"Eternal God and Heavenly Father, we thank Thee that we are not left alone to stumble through the journey of life, but that Thou has promised Thy presence if we would but come to Thee. We come to Thee, sincerely, and humbly, by the avenue of prayer.

"In view of the tasks before us this day, deliver us from mediocrity in purpose and labor; and set before us high goals, for which Thy strength will be supplied, and for this we petition Thee now. Deliver us from fear of criticism in making decisions that are right, but may not be popular; that will benefit the most, but not favor a few; and teach us that in this we are learning to do Thy will.

"Where pressures are brought upon us, we seek Thy peace; in the weariness of long hours of labor, grant a renewing of strength by Thy presence.

"All that we have and know, we have received from Thee; and with the great responsibilities upon us, grant that our stewardship will stand the scrutiny of Thine examination, as well as that of our citizenry. Help us to this end, we pray in Christ's name. Amen."

MOTIONS

On motion of Senator Thompson, Jr., the Senate returned to the first order of business.

On motion of Senator Thompson, Jr., the following editorial from the Bellevue American, dated March 4, 1965, was ordered spread upon the pages of the journal:

SIDE LINES — By Bruce Helberg

Living in the Lap of 'Luxury'

While we're on the subject of the legislature, we think it's high time someone stood up and defended the legislators on the matter of their so-called "high pay".

The Seattle Times, using righteous tones, has condemned the legislature for voting itself $40 per day expense money.

The Seattle Post-Intelligencer using trickier methods, "exposed" the fact the senate and house have their own lunch rooms.

Both papers should know better. We suspect that the publisher of the Times would think nothing of entering $40 per day for expense money if he found it necessary to travel away from home, as the legislators have to do.

And the Post-Intelligencer should know all about the lunch rooms, because their reporters eat there regularly themselves.

Let's look at this matter of pay from the eyes of a legislator.

He draws the magnificent salary of $100 per month. Leaving campaign expenses out of it, he's lucky to break even on this amount when he figures his time and travel spent going to various meetings during the off-session.

During the session, he won't be so lucky, even with this giant $40 per day in expense money.

The typical legislator will rent a room in Olympia, and get gouged by the patriotic Olympia landlords in the process. He'll have to leave his family at home because not even $40 per day would permit him to pay for their expenses in Olympia.

So he has his own living to pay for, plus maintaining his home for his family. If he happens to be a professional man, he has to keep paying his office secretary and his office overhead during the two or three months the legislature is in session.

Then on top of this, of course, he has no income from his profession, since he's spending at least six days and six nights a week in Olympia.

So he gets to come home for one night and one day a week during the session— at his own expense, since he is allowed mileage only for one trip to Olympia at the beginning of the session and one trip home at the end.

If he were paid $80 per day in expense money during the session, he might come closer to breaking even.

Why, then, does a good man consent to beat himself to death financially to serve in the legislature and get insulted in the process?

Well, you've got some pretty good people asking themselves that question right now. And when the next election rolls around there will be some who will say: "Not me, brother. Not me again."

And so democracy loses one more good public servant, while the people make their big jokes about those overpaid "clowns" in Olympia.

You won't catch us joining in those jokes. We don't think it's funny.

The President declared the Senate to be at ease.

At 11:55 a. m., the Senate retired to the House chamber to meet in Joint Session for the purpose of hearing an address by United States Senator Warren G. Magnuson.

JOINT SESSION

---

The Sergeant at Arms of the House announced the arrival of the Senate at the bar of the House.

The Speaker invited the Senators to seats within the House, and the President of the Senate to a seat on the rostrum beside the Speaker.

The Speaker turned the gavel over to President of the Senate John A. Cherberg.

The President of the Senate called the Joint Session to order.

The Secretary of the Senate called the roll of the Senate and all members were present.

The Clerk of the House called the roll of the House and all members were present.

The President of the Senate announced that the purpose of the joint session was to present United States Senator Warren G. Magnuson and to receive an address from him.

The President appointed the following committee to escort Senator Magnuson from the State Reception Room to the rostrum: Senators Gallagher, Keefe, and Redmon and Representatives O'Brien, O'Donnell, and Chatalas.

The committee retired.

The Sergeant at Arms of the House announced the arrival of the Honorable Warren G. Magnuson and Mrs. Magnuson at the bar of the House, and the President of the Senate instructed the committee to escort them to seats on the rostrum.

The President of the Senate:

"Members of the Senate and House, Ladies and Gentlemen:

"It is certainly a very welcome responsibility that the President has this morning in presenting two very charming and respected visitors. It is appropriate that at this time we first present the lovely and gracious Mrs. Warren G. Magnuson. (Applause.)

"Ladies and gentlemen and members of the Washington State Legislature, it was sometime during the mid-twenties that our respected visitor chose to ride the rods from the Middle West to the great Northwest and become a student at the University of Washington, where he successfully worked his way through that school and also served with considerable distinction as quarterback on the University of Washington Husky football team.

"There are many members that recall that Senator Magnuson was a member of this particular body at one time and occupied the seat presently held by the Honorable John L. O'Brien, representing the 37th District. His accomplishments are widely known to all, but to mention a few, it is safe to say that without the endeavors and the influence of our Senator we would not have the Bonneville Power Administration or the Hanford atomic plant. Senator Magnuson is also responsible for the $9 million federal appropriation for the 1962 Seattle World's Fair—and incidentally, I could amend that remark to make that around $12.5. He was also a primary sponsor and great help to the Boeing Plant in Seattle, the Puget Sound Naval Shipyards and Sand Point Naval Air Station. Incidentally, the Senator himself is a member of the United States Navy, holding the rank of Lieutenant Commander in the Naval Reserve. Foremost in the minds of all of us was the evening in Seattle when our late beloved President John Fitzgerald Kennedy, in presenting Senator Magnuson, remarked 'What is his business? Oh, nothing important. Just the Grand Coulee Dam.' From this tremendous accomplishment, the entire Pacific Northwest has prospered.

"Now, it is Senator Magnuson's theory that if you have the votes you do not need the speech and if you need the speech you do not have the votes. As a veteran campaigner of a dozen elections, the Senator has always managed to have the votes. Those of us who have known the respected Senator for many years know that because of his dedicated efforts in behalf of the citizens of the state of Washington, he will always have the votes.

"Ladies and gentlemen, it is with pleasure and pride that I present United States Senator Warren G. Magnuson." (Applause.)

Senator Magnuson:

"Members of the House and Senate, Ladies and Gentlemen:

"Of course I would be derelict to what I feel if I did not say that I consider this a great honor to be here with you today and to have the opportunity to talk with you. I have been back here since I was a member on other occasions but never under such auspicious circumstances. I deeply appreciate your invitation.

"I bring you greetings from the entire Washington delegation in the Congress of the United States. Many of them would of course have liked to have been here today too, but they are busy, as you are, and felt that they must stay back there and do the job that they were sent to do by the electorate.

"It is good, as I say, to talk with you. I do remember back thirty-two years ago when I sat down there in one of these seats as a young, concerned legislator. I remember it so vividly because it was a time in this state of depression. It was a time of unemployment, bank failures, problems and wants, and, yes, even rights, and I remember how concerned I was and some days how helpless I felt in my job to meet the needs of the time. People had demanded many things, and rightly so, and sometimes as a legislator it was difficult for me to evaluate what we could do in the legislative field to take care of those serious problems. We did take care of them to the best of our ability. And I suspect that thirty-two years later you folks here are faced also with the problems of the time—they don't change—and should I be fortunate enough to come back here thirty-two years hence, those members of the legislature will be faced with the same trying problems. I know that you can only do so much, but I do know that the concern of the legislators for the problems of the times is great and their contribution is great. And I must sadly say that these problems don't seem to change. They are ever present, and particularly ever present in a growing country and a growing state with many of the things that we are attempting to do to make this state and this country a better place in which to live.

"But we prevailed thirty-two years ago and you will prevail now and those who sit in this body here and across the hall will prevail thirty-two years from now too, and I think as an American it is a glorious feeling to know that legislative bodies such as yours exist. I know that you have your critics. I know that the going is sometimes tough and I suppose you feel the same sense of frustration occasionally that I felt at that time. I have been a legislator ever since. I have never lost that. I don't think you folks ever will either. But your worst critics would be the first to complain if we should change in any material way the legislative processes of what we call a democracy. They would be the first to shout the loudest. If there is a bulwark of democracy, if there is a bulwark that has kept America along the road of having the greatest government in the world, it is because legislative bodies exist and they exist in the fashion in which you meet here today, under the same rules, the same procedures. Oh, I know that people want to spout off at you. They want to criticize. They want to gossip. They want to air their views, and sometimes I suspect that you wonder if it is worth it. Sometimes you probably think that they think they own you body and soul. But they don't think that way. And I want to hasten to suggest to you that without you democracy wouldn't succeed and without them it wouldn't either. Sometimes people seem to think that this is a way in which they want to exercise their duties of citizenship, and this is true too. Some days I know that you feel you are kind of muddling along, but in the long run history will record what you do here for the state. In the long run, the legislative processes as we know them have been labeled by all historians as good, good for the people.

"So I join with you as a sort of fellow soldier. I have been in legislative bodies, as I said, most of my adult life and our problems in the Congress are just the same as yours here. The results are the same. The growing needs of the people are the same, but probably there is more of a partnership now than there was thirty-two years ago when I first came down here, and I want to talk a little bit, if I may encroach upon your busy time, about that partnership, what it means to the state, what it means to you, what it means to the country, and what it means to the future of Americans.

"We share, of course, common problems, but the most difficult problem we face today is that of fiscal policy, of government spending and taxation. It is just as difficult to talk about the federal budget as it is to have an intelligent, unheated discussion of the state budget. There is a peculiar language in its terms and all of the money is not necessarily in the same pot where you can actually control it, any more than we can control the total federal budget. There are fixed charges that must be met, bi-partisan programs over which no one argues and which everyone supports; there are trust funds over which little or no legislative control can be exercised.

"The federal administration budget runs today $100 billion, but members of Congress have control actually of about 22 percent of it, because the bulk is for the federal responsibility—defense, veterans' administration, and interest on a debt which is primarily a war debt. And although increases in the federal budget are significant, the real growth of government spending has taken place at the level of some 90,000 state and local units of government. In the past three years we have seen the high cost item, the defense item, level off a little, but the needs of the local communities, the states, the cities, the counties, of course increase, and last year the total revenue allotted to state and local government was about 15 percent, and this doesn't include many programs in research.

"But we have common problems. The highway program: in twelve years, you will have spent in this state $567 million under the federal highway program. It is actually a state program. It isn't federal; we are merely tax collectors for you. Last year $57 million was taken out of the state; $71 million was put back in, or a plus of $14 million, in the fields of education, in the field of impact areas, in the field of social security, fisheries, all of these things in which we have common problems, and these are just some of the specifics of the federal-state fiscal program. Federal spending has leveled out in our greatest and most important cost area, defense and payment for past wars, and if we can maintain the relative peace of today and our economy remains on the high plane, then federal revenues will continue to rise faster than our actual federal needs, so additional revenue will be available for general government needs, for investment in human resources, in development and conservation of our natural resources and the making of our nation a better place to live. This could be true on the federal level because our federal tax structure is geared to produce more as the gross national product rises.

"Now, what is the pattern of your state and local government where you have many of these pressing needs, much more pressing and much more timely than even some of the federal needs? They grow faster and the cost of current programs races far ahead of your revenue gains, and your committees in the legislature and your county and local budget officials know these problems better than anyone else. Your urbanization, the increased cost of services in metropolitan areas, increasing percentages of both young and old people, and tremendous increases and demands in education, public institutions for the mentally ill, the retarded, the juvenile criminal, assistance in the needs of the crippled and the blind, and all of these problems which of course are not new, seem to loom larger in any state legislative body. And we share these problems. We can't ignore or forget them.

"What is the answer? You have some answers already. You have taken care at the state level of many of these problems in the field of education, the field of better pay for teachers, in the field of social security, in the field of natural resources. But they still remain the same. They are still here in a growing community. And so I say we have got to start to decide together what we are going to do with increased revenue and new potential at the federal level, and here is what we must decide. Do we increase or expand tax cuts with no regard to the ultimate utilization of financial resources? Do we increase and expand federal grants-in-aid to state and local government? Do we in some way free federal revenue sources so that state and local governments can pick up the slack? Or do we make some form of outright gift or rebate to the state with no strings? These are the alternatives and it is here that we are going to face in the future our common problems. Grants-in-aid should be of course without control or strings, and there is no one at the federal level but would enjoy the release of any semblance of control in the aid or in these common programs to the local level.

"So I suggest to you that we do have these common problems. They are going to persist in the field of natural resources and education and many of the things that are going to plague you here until you finally recess. If I had any suggestion to make to the legislature, I would suggest and I would greatly appreciate—I speak for all members of Congress that represent this great state—one of your interim committees delving into this business, not only to study the entire scope of federal-state-local fiscal relationship but to establish itself as a legislative oversight committee inquiring into the current problems in which there is federal participation and to tell us through yourselves and through the people where these programs are faltering, where they are good, where there is needed more cooperation, where maybe there is needed more grants or less grants, and where in some cases a program may be cut out entirely. And I think that is the only way that legislative bodies can face the future, because the common problems grow greater, the situation in many of these things has reached sometimes a place where there aren't particularly state boundaries, and I think that we need a lot of advice and a lot of counsel from the local bodies themselves as to how federal programs are working, if they are working at all. We expect that advice; it will be helpful to us; it will be helpful to the future of this state and will be helpful to the welfare of these entire United States.

"Thank you so much for listening." (Applause.)

Following Senator Magnuson's address there was a question and answer period during which he answered questions propounded by members of the legislature.

The President of the Senate:

"Senator and Mrs. Magnuson, it has been a real honor and a delightful pleasure to have you with us today. We have been most impressed by your importance but even more by your friendliness, your sincerity and your generous spirit of cooperation. Your remarks have been most informative and inspirational. We certainly want to extend to you our warmest, deepest appreciation for coming to spend the afternoon with us."

The President of the Senate instructed the special committee to escort Senator and Mrs. Magnuson from the rostrum to the State Reception Room.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Senator Moriarty, Jr.:

"Mr. President, point of parliamentary inquiry:

"There is some confusion in the minds of some of the members as to the status of Rule 28. Am I correct that a suspension of the rules requires a two-thirds vote of the members present?"

President Pro Tempore Gissberg:

"Senator Greive, I think, will clarify that."

Senator Greive:

"Mr. President:

"Rule 61, if you look at it, for the purpose of advancing, after the forty-ninth day, takes care of this."

Senator Moriarty, Jr.:

"This is the reason, of course, why I raised the question. I do not read Rule 61 the same way Senator Greive reads Rule 61. He refers to Rule 61 which states: 'Every bill shall be read on three separate days unless the senate deems it expedient to suspend this rule: Provided, however, that after the forty-ninth day this rule may be suspended by a majority vote,' the motion to suspend the rules is not a reading of the bill and this is why I raise the point at this juncture."

Senator Greive:

"The rule we are speaking of now is the advancing from first, second and third reading and the way you define the three readings in the rules is by a reading on three separate days, so that's precisely what we do by majority vote. We can advance it by majority vote after the forty-ninth day."

Senator Thompson, Jr.:

"Mr. President:

"In reading Rule 61, as I read it, it says: 'The bill with the amendments, if there be any attached thereto, shall be sent to the committee on engrossed and enrolled bills, which committee shall see that all amendments are properly engrossed upon the original bill, and the bill returned to the secretary before the opening of the Senate on the next succeeding day.'

"We are not talking about suspending the reading of a bill. We are talking about a change in the rule which would bypass the committee on engrossed and enrolled bills. That, in my opinion, would require a suspension of the rules."

RULING BY THE PRESIDENT

President Pro Tempore Gissberg:

"The question of parliamentary inquiry has been raised by Senator Moriarty concerning Rule 61, as to whether or not it takes a majority or two-thirds vote to advance a bill to third reading. The President believes that that part of the rule which states: 'Provided, however, that after the forty-ninth day of every regular session this rule may be suspended by a majority vote,' applies to all of the provisions of Rule 61, and not only the first phrase of Rule 61. Therefore, the answer to your point of parliamentary inquiry is that it can be suspended and advanced by a majority vote."

Senator Moriarty, Jr.:

"Mr. President:

"I merely wanted the record to note my congratulations on the mental gymnastics."

President Pro Tempore Gissberg:

"Thank you, Senator Moriarty."

The bill was read the second time by sections.

It was moved by Senator Thompson, Jr., that the following amendment be adopted:

On page 3, line 28, add a new section to be known as section 3 as follows:

"NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. Employers of retail clerks obligated to finance benefits under this title may elect to purchase coverage from the state under the provisions of Title 51 RCW, or alternatively, to purchase coverage from insurance companies qualified to and doing business in the state writing such coverage so long as the policies provide equivalent or better benefits."

Debate ensued.

It was moved by Senator Charette that the amendment be laid upon the table.

Senator Charette demanded a roll call and the demand was sustained by Senators Greive, Bailey, Connor, Gallagher, Herrmann, Hallauer, Lewis and Cooney.

The President resumed the Chair.

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Riley:

"Would Senator Thompson yield to a question?"

Senator Thompson, Jr.:

"Yes."

Senator Riley:

"Senator Thompson, to refresh my memory and make sure I understand what your amendment was to do, does your amendment give the employer, the opportunity to go under a private carrier; to take the state coverage, and any other alternatives?"

Senator Thompson, Jr.:

"Senator Riley:

"My amendment would allow an employer to elect to purchase coverage from the state under Title 51 RCW, or alternately, to provide coverage from an insurance company qualified to do business in the state that would provide coverage to an employee equivalent or better than he could get from the state under Title 51."

It was moved by Senator Thompson, Jr., that the following amendment be adopted:

It was moved by Senator Bailey that the following amendment be adopted:

On page 2, section 1, line 7, after "employing" strike "one" and insert "six".

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Thompson, Jr.:

"Mr. President, would Senator Bailey yield to a question?"

Senator Bailey:

"Yes."

Senator Thompson, Jr.:

"Senator Bailey, how would you define six employees? Do you mean six employees working a normal work week of forty hours? Are you talking about two hundred man hours in an establishment, or do you mean something else? What concerns me is if you had four full time employees and three delivery boys, would you have seven employees, or if they were part time, would you in reality have only five and a half employees?"

Senator Bailey:

"Senator, I would judge the department would probably have the formula figured out on this. I would say if you were concerned with a night shift and a day shift, three on each shift, it would be my opinion you had six employees. If they were part time employees, I would have to find out from the department what they would be considered. I am inclined to think if the part time were in just as hazardous work as the full time employees, they would be considered full time employees. You would pay on the basis of the amount earned, so this wouldn't really make a great deal of difference."

Senator Thompson, Jr.:

"May I ask another question, Senator?"

"If I understand your answer correctly, six employees would be six total employees, whether they were full time or part time? That's the way you intend the amendment?"

Senator Bailey:

"That, Senator, would hinge upon what the department has done in ruling in other cases. I don't know their formula. I would say six full or part time employees if they are regular employees."

Senator Thompson, Jr.:

"I'm not arguing with you. I want to know which way you intended the amendment. If you intended it to be full time employees, then perhaps the amendment should be rewritten. If you intended it to be full or part time employees, then I think the amendment should go the way it stands. It doesn't make any difference to me except I would like to know the purport of the amendment."

Debate ensued.

The motion was carried and the amendment was adopted.

It was moved by Senator Lewis that the following amendment be adopted:

Add the following on page 2 after Sec. 2:

"NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. There is added to chapter 23, Laws of 1961 and to Title 51 RCW two sections to read as follows:

"NEW SECTION. Sec. 4. An employer may elect to directly assume the responsibility for providing benefits and compensation due his injured workmen and their beneficiaries upon application to the director of labor and industries, after a determination by the insurance commissioner that the employer is qualified as a direct responsibility employer. An employer may qualify as a direct responsibility employer by establishing with the commissioner that such employer has sufficient financial ability to be able to make certain the prompt payment of all benefits and compensation and to be able to pay all assessments which may become due from such employer. The insurance commissioner shall establish and promulgate rules, after hearing in accordance with Title 34 RCW, for the granting or denying of an application from an employer to become qualified as a direct responsibility employer. The commissioner shall also require the depositing in a depository of money, securities or bond in an amount reasonably sufficient to insure payment of benefits, compensation and assessments, but not less than the employer's normal expected annual claim liabilities, and in no event, less than $100,000. In case of default on the part of a direct responsibility employer in payment of benefits, compensation or assessments, the director shall, on notice to the employer, use money or securities, sell securities or institute legal proceedings on surety bonds deposited or filed with the commissioner to the extent necessary to make such payments and such employer thereafter shall be prohibited from any election to directly assume the responsibility for providing such benefits for a period of ten years.

The director of labor and industries shall establish and promulgate rules governing an application by an employer electing to directly assume the responsibility for providing benefits and compensation to his injured workmen and their beneficiaries. A direct responsibility employer shall not pay the premiums required of other subject employers, but shall pay assessments as shall be established by the director in an amount sufficient to pay for the support of the board of industrial insurance appeals, for the support of the safety division of the department, and for the payment of such expenses of administration of the division of industrial insurance as are reasonably allocable to all employers. Such rules shall also provide the manner and means for handling of claims of such workmen and their beneficiaries resulting from injuries while in the employment of direct responsibility employers. No direct responsibility employer shall ever be relieved from full and primary responsibility for claims administration and the payment of benefits, compensation and assessments.

"NEW SECTION. Sec. 5. Any employer electing to become a direct responsibility employer shall not be relieved from any liability for contributions into the accident fund and medical aid fund arising from any obligation for treatment of injured workmen and payment to such workmen of their beneficiaries because of any accident or occupational disease which occurred prior to the election. If there should be a deficit in any existing class or subclass because of such obligation the director shall assess the same against all those who were contributors to such class or subclass during the period in which the deficit was incurred or created, including a direct responsibility employer."

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Ryder:

"Mr. President, would Senator Herrmann yield to a question?

"Senator Herrmann, in reading this concurrent resolution, I would be given to understand that you feel there is something wrong with the insurance business in this state. Is there some particular thing that you are thinking about in this resolution? Is there some reason for it?"

Senator Herrmann:

"Yes, I think so, Senator, especially in regard to these mail order and fly-by-night health-accident-hospital policies. I think that many of their sales are tantamount to fraud. I think insurance being the broad and general field that it is, there are many other phases of the operation that could very well stand a study with a view of improving practices and serving the public interest."

Senator Ryder:

"Senator, in promulgating this, were you aware that there had been a study made just a few years ago by a committee which was chairmanned, I believe, by the now Speaker of the House, Mr. Schaefer, and that quite an extensive study was carried on by one of the professors at the University of Washington very recently of the insurance business? I don't have the reports at hand, but I understand that they were made and were quite comprehensive."

Senator Herrmann:

"I am aware of that, Senator, but we must realize that insurance is not a static industry. It is very dynamic. It is reaching out to all fields of our economy and all fields of our relations, and I don't think that because there has been a good job done in the past in looking into these matters that it has been so complete and thorough that they have provided for the future. I would say that at the present time, inasmuch as many conditions have changed, there is a need for an interim study on the situation. I'm not attempting to say that there is any great, flagrant fraud on the part of the major companies or anything of that sort. I don't mean to infer that. But I do feel that for the public interest, there is a tremendous need to look over the entire scope of the insurance field."

Senators Greive, Connor and Charette demanded a Call of the Senate.

A Call of the Senate was ordered.

The Secretary called the roll and announced to the President that all Senators were present.

The Color Guard, consisting of Pages Robert Fitch, Color Bearer, and Rosemary Lundstrom, presented the Colors.

Reverend Dave Carlson, pastor of the Assembly of God Church of Olympia, offered prayer as follows:

"Almighty God, we love to look up to the place where Thine honor dwelleth. 'The heavens declare the glory of God and the firmament showeth His handiwork. Day unto day uttereth speech, and night unto night showeth knowledge.' Forgive us, that so often, having eyes we see not, and having ears we hear not, and our hearts do not understand. Deal with us in patience, O Lord, and bring our hearts into a place of faith where we shall have proper answer to Thee when asked—'Shall not the judge of the whole earth do right?' We bow before Thy throne this day in prayer.

"We pray, bless our land; our national leaders, our state leaders and our community officials. Endue them with moral and spritual qualities that shall fulfill the hopes and aspirations of our founding fathers in perpetuating the work so nobly begun. We do not ask Thee to just bless our efforts; but we ask that we may be led in the paths of Thy choice for us, and in serving our fellow man, we find ourselves serving Thee.

"For the needs of this session, give us illumination on items in question, wisdom to choose total good, and courage to ever stand for right.

"For Thine is the kingdom, and the power, and the glory, forever. Amen."

On motion of Senator Greive, the reading of the journal of the previous day was dispensed with and it was approved.

"Senator Williams, on page 3 of the bill, section 14, line 24, it states that no person who is not so licensed shall have any part of the ownership, management or control of such corporation. Now my question is simply this: In the event that we pass this bill and it becomes law, when there is an attachment made and the court decides that these shares can be attached, are you willing to come down here in two years and provide the necessary leadership which will take care of this problem?"

Senator Williams:

"If the problem arises, yes. This might well be covered by the articles or bylaws of the particular corporation that any voluntary transfer shall be null and void, but in the event of attachment or garnishment, the court might well direct some sort of liquidation or partial liquidation to satisfy the claim."

Senator Lewis:

"I wonder if Senator Gissberg would yield to a question?"

Senator Gissberg:

"Yes."

Senator Lewis:

"Senator Gissberg, I am not too familiar with this and I wonder if you could tell me how many other agencies have eminent domain? Is this a common consideration for agencies, this power of eminent domain that we are asking for diking districts? I understand the port districts have this, but just exactly what are we doing here?"

Senator Gissberg:

"We are considering Senate Bill No. 246, for one thing. To answer your first question, I was surprised, actually, when Senator Talley brought this bill around and asked me to co-sponsor it with him. I was very surprised to learn that diking districts do not now have the power of eminent domain. I was surprised to learn this because I thought that all municipal corporations and political subdivisions, which this would be, had that legal power given to them at this time."

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Petrich:

"Would Senator Talley or Senator Gissberg yield to a question?"

"I recall a case involving a park district in which no procedure was adopted to exercise the power of eminent domain. What particular procedures do you adopt for the eminent domain power in this bill? The reason I ask the question is that if we do not defer to the procedures or adopt some means by which this power is exercised, we may be in some difficulty. Now do you know whether or not we adopt by reference or by classification any other procedures to exercise the power of eminent domain for this diking district?"

Senator Gissberg:

"No, I cannot specifically say as a matter of law, Senator. I have been laboring under the assumption that the general eminent domain statute would apply and, as you know, there is a considerable body of statute with respect to that, and I have been led to believe that would be the case, but I can't answer you categorically."

On motion of Senator Petrich, Senate Bill No. 246 was ordered to retain its place at the end of the second reading calendar for tonight.

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Atwood:

"Mr. President, would Senator Washington yield?"

Senator Washington:

"Yes."

Senator Atwood:

"Senator Washington, I notice this bill carries an emergency clause. For what purpose is this necessary?"

Senator Washington:

"It perhaps doesn't need one, but I don't believe we should take the time to go back to second reading to remove it. I'm sure there is not going to be any referendum on it."

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Lewis:

"Would Senator Washington yield?"

"Senator Washington, I have never been able to straighten out in my mind very clearly just why you do not want a doctor to be a commissioner. Would you explain this, please?"

Senator Washington:

"Basically, one of the reasons is the commissioners feel the doctors are on the board that is they are on the board as far as the hospital is concerned. They have a great deal to do in the policies of operating the hospital. Some felt that they perhaps might have a possible vested interest and I know in my area the doctors have absolutely no objections as far as I have heard. I have gotten no complaints. We have three hospital districts in our county and since it relates directly to their activities, this is not an anti-doctor bill in any sense; it was just the feeling of the commissioners of hospital districts that it perhaps could be administered on a better basis without having the doctors as members. Certainly this is no anti-doctor movement."

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Woodall:

"Would Senator Washington yield?"

"It says, referring to the language as you now have it, that no commissioner shall be actively engaged in any of the healing arts utilizing the facilities of the hospital. The way you have it now, a medical doctor who practices in the hospital couldn't run for commissioner, but a chiropractor that they wouldn't let in the hospital would be free to run for commissioner. Is that not true?"

Senator Washington:

"I believe that would be true because he has no connection with the hospital. He couldn't take his patients there and he would have no one to question conflicts of interest. These are the things that are brought out. Occasionally people talk about conflicts of interest. I think they would be very few and far between, but this is an effort to remove that possible complaint."

"Would you be willing to accept as a compromise that we have all state-wide offices on a six month requirement? You understand the problem is that many times people move from one part of the state to the other. It isn't always from out of state. I think that should satisfy you. It would mean that the legislature and local county commissioners wouldn't necessarily be voted on. Now if you have an objection to that, I would like to hear your remarks. I think you have a sound position. It seems to me this would be a sound compromise."

Senator Woodall:

"Excuse me. Does your proposal include legislative races?"

Senator Greive:

"No, no legislative or county races, but all state-wide offices, starting with the governor, on down."

Senator Woodall:

"That would be sixty days?"

Senator Greive:

"Yes."

Senator Woodall:

"Let's understand each other. To vote for the legislature, what would be the requirement?"

Senator Greive:

"One year as it is now."

Senator Woodall:

"One year. Well, yes, I think I can go along with that."

Further debate ensued.

The Secretary called the roll on the final passage of Senate Joint Resolution No. 2 and the resolution failed to pass the Senate by the following vote: Yeas, 32; nays, 17.

Those voting yea were: Senators Bailey, Charette, Connor, Cooney, Donohue, Dore, Durkan, Foley, Gallagher, Gissberg, Greive, Hallauer, Hanna, Henry, Herr, Herrmann, Keefe, Knoblauch, Kupka, McCormack, McCutcheon, McMillan, Mardesich, Morgan, Peterson (Lowell), Petrich, Rasmussen, Riley, Sandison, Stender, Talley, Washington—32.

Those voting nay were: Senators Atwood, Chytil, Cowen, England, Freise, Guess, Lennart, Lewis, Moriarty, Jr., Neill, Peterson (Ted), Raugust, Redmon, Ryder, Thompson, Jr., Williams, Woodall—17.

Senate Joint Resolution No. 2, having failed to receive the constitutional two-thirds majority, was declared lost.

EXPLANATION OF VOTE

In 1962 the people rejected the current version of Senate Joint Resolution No. 2. I believe they knew what they were doing.

But, new residents of this state, being United States citizens, should be able to vote for President, particularly in this electronic age when the issues are widely debated. I offered an amendment to give the people a chance to enfranchise residents who have lived in the state sixty days to vote for President. I believed that if this amendment had been adopted, we would have been justified in asking the people to vote again. Without it, I had to vote "No".

SENATOR ALBERT C. THOMPSON, JR.

On motion of Senator Riley, the Senate dispensed with the Call of the Senate.

MOTION

It was moved by Senator Dore that the Senate do now consider Senate Bill No. 122 on final passage.

Debate ensued.

POINT OF ORDER

Senator Greive:

"Pursuant to the joint resolution, I presume that we can no longer consider Senate bills, so I would move that we do now revert to the second order of business."

MOTIONS

On motion of Senator Riley, the rules were suspended and all bills passed today were ordered immediately engrossed and transmitted to the House.

It was moved by Senator Greive that the rules be suspended and all Senate bills presently on the calendar be referred to the Committee on Rules and Joint Rules.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Senator Dore:

"Mr. President:

"Under the joint resolution passed by both houses, no further action will be taken on Senate bills in the Senate after 3:00 p. m., today. Now that time has passed, so any motion in reference to those bills, I think, would be out of order. I believe they should retain their places on the calendar as they are."

Senator Greive:

"I think that it is a good thing to put to a vote. Maybe the majority doesn't want all bills returned to the Committee on Rules and Joint Rules."

Senator Dore demanded a roll call and the demand was sustained by Senators Talley, Petrich, Mardesich, Stender, Redmon, Greive, McCutcheon, Riley and Connor.

ROLL CALL

The Secretary called the roll on the motion by Senator Greive to refer all Senate bills to the Committee on Rules and Joint Rules, and the motion was carried by the following vote: Yeas, 40; nays, 7; absent or not voting, 2.

Those voting yea were: Senators Atwood, Bailey, Charette, Chytil, Connor, Cooney, Cowen, Donohue, Durkan, England, Foley, Gallagher, Gissberg, Greive, Guess, Hallauer, Henry, Herr, Herrmann, Keefe, Knoblauch, Kupka, Lennart, Lewis, McCormack, McMillan, Morgan, Moriarty, Jr., Neill, Peterson (Ted), Raugust, Redmon, Riley, Ryder, Sandison, Stender, Talley, Thompson, Jr., Williams, Woodall—40.

Those voting nay were: Senators Dore, Freise, Mardesich, Peterson (Lowell), Petrich, Rasmussen, Washington—7.

Absent or not voting: Senators Hanna, McCutcheon—2.

There being no objection, the Senate returned to the second order of business.

The Secretary read:

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Atwood:

"Senator Ryder, would you yield to a question?"

"Senator, what is the financial impact of this bill as determined by the Pension Commission?"

Senator Ryder:

"Senator Atwood, this bill moved rather fast through the House. The Pension Commission did not get a chance to study it when it came over yesterday. I did not feel that this august body would treat it seriously at all, so I did not even ask the staff of the Pension Commission to compute the cost. I felt that the Senate, in its wisdom, would not be quite as frivolous as the House in passing this type of legislation.

"I would like to support the motion of Senator Williams, Mr. President, to put this into Ways and Means. I do not have any idea what the cost of this would be, nor do I have any idea of what the impact of this would be on the other pension systems. Now, certainly if we, as a special class of beneficiaries of our state employment pension system, treble our own benefits, then how can we in good conscience step away from other groups within this pension system or other pension systems when they wish to treble their particular benefits. I think this should be studied very, very carefully and be put into context not only with what its financial implications are, but also what the trend might be in this type of legislation."

Debate ensued.

Senator Ryder:

"Mr. President, I would like to speak on personal privilege."

The President:

"The Senator will speak on point of personal privilege."

Senator Ryder:

"These speeches got a little bit out of hand as time went on regarding this matter, but I want to make it clear to all of the members of this body that I was not impugning the motives of any Senator or any House member on this floor; that I was talking as a matter of principle so far as this bill is concerned. I believe, and I still believe the principle embodied in this bill is wrong and that was the point which I was discussing in my argument."

Senator Morgan:

"Mr. President and members of the Senate, speaking on personal privilege:

"I tried to get the floor earlier to say a few things on this measure and I would like to do that now. I, too, agree we have a right to bring this bill out and discuss it without having our motives impugned. My mother served nearly twenty years in public service and she received not one penny in any form of pension. She served many years on this floor and the floor across the hall.

"Now, I'm tired of being in the corner where it seems to be there is some disgrace in being a public servant. I'm tired of being relegated into a corner by my colleagues and others as though I were some kind of dock servant or somebody in labor, and I mean the labor market. There should be some respect for public office, and I am a little bit tired of the attitude of some people being a little bit 'Holier-than-thou' or speaking for the 'conscience of the Senate.'"

Senator Rasmussen:

"Mr. President, speaking on personal privilege:

"If, in the heat of debate, I impugned someone's motives, I wish to apologize to the Senate. I was quite interested in the bill and I presented my argument to the Senate in good faith. I probably got carried away. I did not impugn the motives of Senator McCutcheon. He only made the motion. #### POINTS OF INQUIRY

Senator McCutcheon:

"Mr. President, I wonder if Senator Dore would yield to a question?"

Senator Dore:

"Yes."

Senator McCutcheon:

"Is there a presumption of guilt of grand larceny on the part of the state just by the mere fact that the renter didn't bring it back?"

Senator Dore:

"No, you have to show a notice in writing asking to have it brought back and you have to make a showing you have sent it by certified mail. However, this presumption may be rebutted by evidence creating a reasonable inference that the failure to return the vehicle was not with the intent to defraud or otherwise deprive the owner of his property."

Senator Stender:

"I notice in the amendments in the engrossed bill, it's amended to provide vehicles or pieces of machinery or equipment. Would you know what they are referring to as pieces of machinery or equipment?"

Senator Dore:

"Senator Stender, I think someone mentioned farm machinery or heavy construction machinery, things of that nature, having a market value of two thousand dollars."

Senator Stender:

"It doesn't just refer to automobiles then?"

Senator Dore:

"No, the amendment includes pieces of machinery or equipment having a fair market value in excess of $2,000."

Senator Kupka:

"Mr. President, would Senator Dore yield to question?"

Senator Dore:

"Yes."

Senator Kupka:

"Senator Dore, would you mind if we amended this bill to include tool rental? You know we had such a bill that went into Judiciary and hasn't seen daylight since. The tool rental people have the same problem. Would you mind if we amended this to four or five hundred dollars to include tool rental?"

Senator Dore:

"Senator, I was opposed to that bill and it didn't get out of committee. The thinking of the majority of the attorneys was that they were opposed to it. We didn't want to include all these little offenses under this kind of presumption. The problem is so great, evidently, in the heavy equipment field and the automobile field, we thought we would experiment this time in this bill and if it works out, maybe the next session the others could also be included from two thousand to a thousand and from a thousand to zero. At this time, I think it's ambitious enough to change this particular law. I'm not one hundred percent sold on this law, but let's see how it works. The big problem is the rental and leasing of heavy equipment and automobiles. Let's try this out and if it is successful, then we can enlarge by amendment and bring this down to include all others."
