FIRST DAY

NOON SESSION

Senate Chamber, Olympia
Monday, January 9, 2023

At 12 o'clock noon, pursuant to law, the Senate of the 2023 Regular Session of the Sixty-Eighth Legislature of the State of Washington assembled in the Senate Chamber at the State Capitol. Lieutenant Governor Denny Heck, President of the Senate, called the Senate to order.

The Washington State Patrol Honor Guard, consisting of Lieutenant Matt Fehler, Trooper Kyle Flaig, Trooper Dean Gallanger, Sergeant Kelli Howes and Corporal Alexis Robinson, presented the Colors.

Lt. Governor Heck led the Senate in the Pledge of Allegiance.

The National Anthem was performed in both song and interpreted into American Sign Language (ASL) by the American Sign Language Program class at River Ridge High School, Lacey. The class was led by their teacher, Ms. Cathy Boos.

The Washington State Patrol Honor Guard retired from the Chamber.

The prayer was offered by Pastor Maynard Atik of Edmonds, guest of Senator Pedersen.

REMARKS BY THE PRESIDENT

President Heck: "The President extends his heartfelt congratulations to all of you and especially the new members. You are an impressive lot indeed.

The President also wants to recognize the incredible partnership and sacrifices that your families play in this great process. It defies imagination that anyone could ever go through this without a strong support network and especially that of a family.

Thank you all for your willingness to serve your community.

You are part of a special institution. In our state's entire history, probably fewer than 1,000 people have had the privilege to occupy these seats. Think about that! That's fewer people than the number of students at Olympia High School up the street. So, it is indeed an honor to serve here.

We meet in person for the first time in three years. Now we will practice democracy in the originally intended way – face to face. We are all glad for that and hopefully, we are also aware that this return to normalcy will require some adjustment and patience and grace on each of our parts. The President will extend that to all of you and humbly asks it in return.

This body, including our outstanding staff, acquitted itself these last years in spectacular fashion. Remote operations are hard. We got the technology down thanks to extraordinary effort. But we also got the comportment piece right despite the extraordinary frustrations and tensions.

Indeed, this is said with the utmost sincerity, it is an honor to be a part of a democratic institution where policy disagreements are often prosecuted with strong conviction but also respectfully. It is not true everywhere. It is here. That is part of why the rules exist and they will be enforced.

We all know your communities have sent you here to do good. It is our collective charge. Back home, paying attention to our efforts isn't always the highest priority. Maybe it is just getting by. Or maybe it is the universal pursuit of finding meaning, or a sense of belonging or of well-being. Again, they may not be focusing on this place.

But they have given us the power to do good and it is a sacred opportunity, an opportunity to make a difference in the lives of people, and to elevate the human condition in however we may individually or collectively define that. Let us all remember, however, that we do not possess that power but only hold it in trust and temporarily.

And so, as the President has said now three years running, let's get started."

The Secretary called the roll of the following holdover members of the Senate, and all were present with the exception of Senator McCune: Senators Billig, Braun, Cleveland, Dozier, Gildon, Hasegawa, Hawkins, Hunt, King, Lovelett, McCune, Mullet, Muzzall, Nobles, Padden, Rivers, Rolfes, Schoesler, Stanford, Van De Wege, Wagoner, Wellman, Wilson, J., and Wilson, L.

MOTION

On motion of Senator Pedersen, the Senate advanced to the third order of business.

Sarah has both the experience and the talent to do this job and to do it well. Speaking of experience, she started in the legislature in 1999. She was a caseworker and a temporary session aide. And then she just kept getting more and more responsibility. And then became the Deputy Leader of this body, or Deputy, excuse me Deputy Secretary of this body. And a year ago elected as the Secretary of the Senate. I just have so much confidence in her to do this job because I've seen her do the job. And it is not an easy job. She's responsible for over 200 staff people and has the responsibility and duty to wrangle 49 independently minded senators. She does it with grace and she does it very effectively. One of the things I especially appreciate about Sarah is how she balances; you know this is an old institution with a lot of traditions. And a lot of those traditions are good and should continue, but we also need to have change when it makes sense, and she seems to get that balance between the old and the new just right. In short, she is exactly the right person for this job, and I urge everybody in this body to join me in re-electing Sarah Bannister as the Secretary of the Senate. Thank you."

REMARKS BY SENATOR BRAUN

Senator Braun: “Thank you Mr. President. I just want to stand briefly and recognize in particular the work Sarah Bannister has done over the last couple of years with respect, humility, frankly with great energy. But also, with resolute determination to do the people’s business in an unprecedented time during the pandemic and the strength to make it happen. I’m very proud, very proud to second the nomination and support her with my vote. Thank you Mr. President.”

(See also Art. 2, Secs. 27 and 30, State Constitution.)

2. A member not voting by reason of personal or direct interest, or by reason of an excused absence, or a member having inadvertently voted contrary to the member's intent, may explain the reason for not voting or the member's intended vote by a brief statement not to exceed fifty words in the journal.

3. The yeas and nays shall be taken when called for by one-sixth of all the senators present, and every senator within the bar of the senate shall vote unless excused by the unanimous vote of the members present, except as provided for in Senate Rule 7, subsection 4, and the votes shall be entered upon the journal. (See also Art. 2, Sec. 21, State Constitution.)

When once begun the roll call may not be interrupted for any purpose other than to move a call of the senate. (See also Senate Rule 24.)

4. A senator having been absent during roll call may ask to have his or her name called. Such a request must be made before the result of the roll call has been announced by the president. If, during a roll call vote, the vote of a member participating remotely is unable to be taken due to connectivity issues, the member shall be automatically excused. The member may request in writing that their vote be reflected in the senate journal, though it will not count towards the final roll call.

5. The passage of a bill or action on a question is lost by a tie vote, but when a vote of the senate is equally divided, the lieutenant governor, when presiding, shall have the deciding vote on questions as provided for in the state Constitution. (See also Art. 2, Secs. 10 and 22, State Constitution.)

6. The order of the names on the roll call shall be alphabetical by last name.

7. All votes in a committee (~~or subcommittee~~) shall be recorded, and the record shall be preserved as prescribed by the secretary of the senate. One-sixth of the committee may demand an oral roll call.

8. If a member of the majority is going to be absent due to a health matter or other emergency, then a member of the minority may publicly announce on the floor of the senate that he or she will cast votes as he or she believes the absent member would have voted in order to avoid results that would only occur because of the unanticipated absence.

Announcement of Vote

Rule 23. The announcement of all votes shall be made by the president.

Call of the Senate

Rule 24. Although a roll call is in progress, a call of the senate may be moved by three senators, and if carried by a majority of all present the secretary shall call the roll, after which the names of the absentees shall again be called. The doors shall then be locked and the sergeant at arms directed to take into custody all who may be absent without leave, and all the senators so taken into custody shall be presented at the bar of the senate for such action as the senate may deem proper.

Rule 25. No bill shall embrace more than one subject and that shall be expressed in the title. (See also Art. 2, Sec. 19, State Constitution.)

No Amendment by Mere Reference to Title of Act

Rule 26. No act shall ever be revised or amended by mere reference to its title, but the act revised or the section amended shall be set forth at full length. (See also Art. 2, Sec. 37, State Constitution.)

Reading of Papers

Rule 27. When the reading of any paper is called for, and is objected to by any senator, it shall be determined by a vote of the senate, without debate.

Any and all copies of reproductions of newspaper or magazine editorials, articles or cartoons or publications or material of any nature distributed to senators' desks must bear the name of at least one senator granting permission for the distribution. This shall not apply to materials normally distributed by the secretary of the senate or the majority or minority caucuses.

Comparing Enrolled and Engrossed Bills

Rule 28. Any senator shall have the right to compare an enrolled bill with the engrossed bill and may note any objections in the Journal.

SECTION IV
PARLIAMENTARY PROCEDURE

Rules of Debate

Rule 29. When any senator is about to speak in debate, or submit any matter to the senate, the senator shall rise, and standing in place, respectfully request recognition by the President, and when recognized shall, in a courteous manner, speak to the question under debate, avoiding personalities; provided that a senator may refer to another member using the title "Senator" and the surname of the other member. With respect to any senators participating remotely under the authority of Senate Rule 8, each caucus shall designate a single member who is charged with seeking recognition on behalf of a senator from that caucus who is participating remotely and wishes to speak. Any senator participating remotely who wishes to speak in debate or submit any matter permitted by Senate Rule 8 to the senate, shall notify the designated member of the senator's desire to speak. The designated member shall seek recognition under the provisions of this section on behalf of the senator participating remotely and, upon recognition, the designated member shall defer to the senator participating remotely. No senator shall impeach the motives of any other member or speak more than twice (except for explanation) during the consideration of any one question, on the same day or a second time without leave, when others who have not spoken desire the floor, but incidental and subsidiary questions arising during the debate shall not be considered the same question. A majority of the members present may further limit the number of times a member may speak on any question and may limit the length of time a member may speak but, unless a demand for the previous question has been sustained, a member shall not be denied the right to speak at least once on each question, nor shall a member be limited to less than two minutes on each question. In any event, the senator who presents the motion may open and close debate on the question.

Recognition by the President

Rule 30. When two or more senators rise at the same time to address the chair, the president shall name the one who shall speak first, giving preference, when practicable, to the mover or introducer of the subject under consideration. (See also Reed's Rule 214).

Call for Division of a Question

Rule 31. Any senator may call for a division of a question, which shall be divided if it embraces subjects so distinct that one being taken away a substantive proposition shall remain for the decision of the senate; but a motion to strike out and insert shall not be divided.

Point of Order - Decision Appealable

Rule 32. 1. Every decision of points of order by the president shall be subject to appeal by any senator, and discussion of a question of order shall be allowed. In all cases of appeal the question shall be: "Shall the decision of the president stand as the judgment of the senate?"

2. When a member appeals the decision of the presiding officer, the presiding officer may not preside over the appeal.

3. An appeal from the decision of the presiding officer is timely if brought before the body on the day the decision was made unless the decision affected a measure that is no longer in possession of the senate.

Question of Privilege

Rule 33. Any senator may rise to a question of privilege and explain a personal matter by leave of the president, but shall not discuss any pending question in such explanations, nor shall any question of personal privilege permit any senator to introduce any person or persons in the galleries. The president upon notice received may acknowledge the presence of any distinguished person or persons.

A question of privilege shall involve only subject matter which affects the particular senator personally and in a manner unique and peculiar to that senator.

Protests

Rule 34. Any senator or senators may protest against the action of the senate upon any question. Such protest may be entered upon the journal if it does not exceed 200 words. The senator protesting shall file the protest with the secretary of the senate within 48 hours following the action protested.

Adoption and Suspension of Rules

Rule 35. 1. The permanent senate rules adopted at the first regular session during a legislative biennium shall govern any session subsequently convened during the same legislative biennium. Adoption of permanent rules may be by majority of the senate without notice and a majority of the senate may change a permanent rule without notice at the beginning of any session, as determined pursuant to Article 2, Section 12 of the State Constitution. No permanent rule or order of the senate shall be rescinded or changed without a majority vote of the members of the senate, and one day's notice of the motion.

2. A permanent rule or order may be temporarily suspended for a special purpose by a vote of two-thirds of the members present unless otherwise specified herein. When the suspension of a rule is called, and after due notice from the president no objection is offered, the president may announce the rule suspended, and the senate may proceed accordingly. Motion for suspension of the rules shall not be debatable, except, the mover of the motion may briefly explain the purpose of the motion and at the discretion of the president a rebuttal may be allowed.

3. For the purposes of this rule, one day's notice means written notice is provided to all members of the Senate by 5:00 p.m. the day prior to the amendment to the permanent rules being offered and the notice must include, at a minimum, a description of the change to be offered.

Previous Question

Rule 36. The previous question shall not be put unless demanded by three senators, and it shall then be in this form: "Shall the main question be now put?" When sustained by a majority of senators present it shall preclude all debate, except the senator who presents the motion may open and close debate on the question and the vote shall be immediately taken on the question or questions pending before the senate, and all incidental question or questions of order arising after the motion is made shall be decided whether on appeal or otherwise without debate.

Reconsideration

Rule 37. 1. After the final vote on any measure, before the adjournment of that day's session, any member who voted with the prevailing side may give notice of reconsideration unless a motion to immediately transmit the measure to the house has been decided in the affirmative. Such motion to reconsider shall be in order only under the ~~((order of motions of))~~ second order of business the day immediately following the day upon which such notice of reconsideration is given, and may be made by any member who voted with the prevailing side.

2. A motion to reconsider shall have precedence over every other motion, except a motion to adjourn; and when the senate adjourns while a motion to reconsider is pending or before passing the order of motions, the right to move a reconsideration shall continue to the next day of sitting. On and after the tenth day prior to adjournment sine die of any session, as determined pursuant to Article 2, Section 12, or concurrent resolution, or in the event that the measure is subject to a senate rule or resolution or a joint rule or concurrent resolution, which would preclude consideration on the next day of sitting a motion to reconsider shall only be in order on the same day upon which notice of reconsideration is given and may be made at any time that day. Motions to reconsider a vote upon amendments to any pending question may be made and decided at once.

Motion to Adjourn

Rule 38. Except when under call of the senate, a motion to adjourn shall always be in order. The name of the senator moving to adjourn and the time when the motion was made shall be entered upon the journal.

Yeas and Nays - When Must be Taken

Rule 39. The yeas and nays shall be taken when called for by one-sixth of all the senators present, and every senator within the bar of the senate shall vote unless excused by the unanimous vote of the members present, and the votes shall be entered upon the journal. (See also Art. 2, Sec. 21, State Constitution.)

When once begun the roll call may not be interrupted for any purpose other than to move a call of the senate. (See also Senate Rules 22 and 24.)

Reed's Parliamentary Rules

Rule 40. The rules of parliamentary practice as contained in Reed's Parliamentary Rules shall govern the senate in all cases to which they are applicable, and in which they are not inconsistent with the rules and orders of this senate and the joint rules of this senate and the house of representatives.

In addition to standing subcommittees created under Senate Rule 41, committee))~~ Committee chairs may create subcommittees of the standing committee and designate subcommittee chairs thereof to study subjects within the jurisdiction of the standing committee. These subcommittees do not have executive action authority ~~((and are not considered standing subcommittees for purposes of senate rules))~~. The committee chair shall approve the use of committee staff and equipment assigned to the subcommittee. Subcommittee activities shall further be subject to facilities and operations committee approval to the same extent as are the actions of the standing committee from which they derive their authority.

Subpoena Power

Rule 43. Any ~~((of the above referenced committees, including subcommittees thereof))~~ standing committee, or any special ~~((committees))~~ committee created by the senate, may have the powers of subpoena, the power to administer oaths, and the power to issue commissions for the examination of witnesses in accordance with the provisions of chapter 44.16 RCW. The committee chair shall file with the committee on rules, prior to issuance of any process, a statement of purpose setting forth the name or names of those subject to process. The rules committee shall consider every proposed issuance of process at a meeting of the rules committee immediately following the filing of the statement with the committee. The process shall not be issued prior to consideration by the rules committee. The process shall be limited to the named individuals and the committee on rules may overrule the service on an individual so named.

Duties of Committees

Rule 44. The several committees shall fully consider measures referred to them.

The committees shall acquaint themselves with the interest of the state specially represented by the committee, and from time to time present such bills and reports as in their judgment will advance the interests and promote the welfare of the people of the state: PROVIDED, That no executive action on bills may be taken during an interim.

Committee Rules

Rule 45. 1. At least five days' notice shall be given of all public hearings held by any committee other than the rules committee. Such notice shall contain the date, time and place of such hearing together with the title and number of each bill, or identification of the subject matter, to be considered at such hearing. By a majority vote of the committee members present at any committee meeting such notice may be dispensed with. The reason for such action shall be set forth in a written statement preserved in the records of the meeting.

2. No committee may hold a public hearing during a regular or extraordinary session on a proposal identified as a draft unless the draft has been made available to the public at least twenty-four hours prior to the hearing. This rule does not apply during the five days prior to any cutoff established by concurrent resolution nor does it apply to any measure exempted from the resolution.

3. During its consideration of or vote on any bill, resolution or memorial, the deliberations of any committee or subcommittee of the senate shall be open to the public. In case of any disturbance or disorderly conduct at any such deliberations, the chair shall order the sergeant at arms to suppress the same and may order the meeting closed to any person or persons creating such disturbance.

4. No committee shall amend a measure, adopt a substitute bill, or vote upon any measure or appointment absent a quorum. A committee may conduct a hearing absent a quorum. A majority of any committee shall constitute a quorum and committees shall be considered to have a quorum present unless the question is raised. Any question as to quorum not raised at the time of the committee action is deemed waived.

5. Bills reported to the senate from a standing committee must have a majority report, which shall be prepared upon a printed standing committee report form; shall be adopted at a regularly or specially called meeting during a legislative session and shall be signed by a majority of the committee; and shall carry only one of the following recommendations:

- a. Do pass;
- b. Do pass as amended;
- c. That a substitute bill be substituted therefor, and the substitute bill do pass; or
- d. Without recommendation.

In addition to one of the above-listed recommendations, a report may also recommend that a bill be referred to another committee.

6. A majority report of a committee must carry the signatures of a majority of the members of the committee. In the event a committee has a quorum pursuant to subsection 4 of this rule, ~~((subject to the limitation of subsection 12 of this rule,))~~ a majority of the members present may act on a measure, subject to obtaining the signatures of a majority of the members of the committee on the majority report. If, after executive action on a measure, the signatures of all members are not included on either a majority or minority report, the committee shall hold the signature sheets for the measure for 24 hours, not counting Saturdays or Sundays, from adjournment of the committee hearing at which executive action was taken on the measure. This 24-hour hold period applies even if a majority of the members of the committee has signed the majority report. After the 24-hour hold period, the signature sheets must be submitted to the workroom if there is a majority of signatures on the majority report. Once signature sheets have been submitted to the senate workroom by committee staff, a member may not sign or remove his or her signature from a majority or minority signature sheet. If a majority of members of the committee have not signed the majority report, the measure or appointment remains in the possession of the committee. The 24-hour hold period does not apply within the five days preceding any cutoff date and does not apply to a biennial or supplemental omnibus operating budget, omnibus capital budget, or omnibus transportation budget.

7. Any measure, appointment, substitute bill, or amendment still within a committee's possession before it has been reported out to the full senate may be reconsidered to correct an error, change language, or otherwise accurately reflect the will of the committee in its majority and minority reports to the full senate. Any such reconsideration may be made at any time, by any member of the committee, provided that the committee has not yet reported the measure, appointment, substitute bill, or amendment out to the full senate. Any such reconsideration made after a vote has been taken or signatures obtained will require a new vote and signature sheet. Any measure which does not receive a majority vote of the members present may be reconsidered at that meeting and may again be considered upon motion of any committee member if one day's notice of said motion is provided to all committee members. ~~((For purposes of this rule, a committee is deemed to have reported a measure, appointment, substitute bill, or amendment out when it has delivered its majority and minority reports to the senate workroom. After such delivery, the committee no longer has possession of the measure, appointment, substitute bill, or amendment and no further committee action, including reconsideration, may be taken.))~~

8. Any member of the committee not concurring in the majority report may sign a minority report containing a recommendation of "do not pass" or "without recommendation," which shall be signed by those members of the committee subscribing thereto, and submitted with the majority report. Unless the signatory of a minority report expressly indicates a "do not pass" recommendation, the member's vote shall be deemed to be "without recommendation." In every case where a majority report form is circulated for signature, a minority report form shall also be circulated.

9. When a committee reports a substitute for an original bill with the recommendation that the substitute bill do pass, it shall be in order to read the substitute bill the first time and have the same ordered printed.

A motion for the substitution of the substitute bill for the original bill shall not be in order until the committee on rules places the original bill on the second reading calendar.

10. No vote in any committee shall be taken by secret ballot nor shall any committee have a policy of secrecy as to any vote on action taken in such committee.

11. All reports of standing committees must be on the secretary's desk one hour prior to convening of the session in order to be read at said session. During any special session of the legislature or within the three days ((of)) preceding any cut-off date or sine die, this rule may be suspended by a majority vote of those present. This rule does not apply to reports of biennial or supplemental omnibus operating budget, omnibus capital budget, or omnibus transportation budget bill.

12. ~~((When a standing committee is operated by cochairs, the committee may not vote upon any measure or appointment without the consent of each cochair.~~

13. ~~When a standing committee has a standing subcommittee established under Senate Rule 41, the chair of the committee may rerefer any measures referred to the committee to the standing subcommittee with the consent of the ranking member of the committee or, in the event of a dispute between the chair and ranking member, referral may occur with a majority vote of the committee))~~ For purposes of this rule, a committee is deemed to have reported a measure, appointment, substitute bill, or amendment out when it has delivered its majority and minority reports to the senate workroom. After such delivery, the committee no longer has possession of the measure, appointment, substitute bill, or amendment and no further committee action, including reconsideration or a member adding or removing his or her signature to a majority or minority report, may be taken.

13. All committees will rely upon and use the Electronic Bill Book. Committee staff should add all materials relating to hearings, work sessions, or executive sessions to the Electronic Bill Book as early as possible or when the material has been made public. Paper copies will not be provided to members. All materials submitted by the public shall be submitted electronically.

14. All committees will use the online Committee Sign-In system. All committee members will be able to view the list of individuals who have signed in to testify on each measure or appointment. Members of the public wishing to testify in-person or remotely may sign up remotely no later than one hour before the committee is scheduled to meet.

15. With the exception of the ways and means and transportation committees, the chairs of standing committees must publish the list of measures and appointments that may be considered for executive session by 4:00 p.m. two days preceding executive session. The chairs of the ways and means committee and the transportation committee must publish the list of measures and appointments that may be considered for executive session by 7:00 p.m. two days preceding executive session. A chair, with the consent of the ranking member, has discretion to waive this deadline in extraordinary circumstances. A published measure or appointment may be rescheduled for executive action at the committee's next meeting without additional notice, provided no additional amendments are considered.

16. Members must have amendment requests to nonpartisan committee staff by 12:00 p.m. the day before scheduled executive action. A chair, with the consent of the ranking member, has discretion to waive this deadline in extraordinary circumstances or to accept technical revisions to perfect an amendment. Members should be considerate of staff and turn in amendment requests earlier if they are long or complex, keeping in mind the final deadline for consideration of amendments.

17. All amendments, including substitutes, must be sponsored by a committee member. All amendments and effect statements must be either drafted or reviewed, or both, by nonpartisan committee staff. To be eligible for consideration at an executive session in a committee meeting scheduled to begin prior to 12:00 p.m., amendments must be released from confidentiality and posted to the Electronic Bill Book for committee members and the public by 4:00 p.m. the day before the executive session or the amendments will be considered out of order. To be eligible for consideration at an executive session in a committee meeting scheduled to begin on or after 12:00 p.m., amendments must be released from confidentiality and posted to the Electronic Bill Book for committee members and the public by 7:00 p.m. the day before the executive session or the amendments will be considered out of order. A chair with the consent of the ranking member has discretion to waive this deadline in extraordinary circumstances or to accept technical revisions to perfect an amendment.

18. A committee chair may choose to allow other committee members to participate remotely in committee meetings. The committee chair shall notify the secretary of the senate prior to the first day of the legislative session if the chair will allow committee members to participate remotely. A chair that initially chooses to allow only in-person participation may later choose to allow remote participation but must provide the secretary of the senate with notice of the change at least 24 hours prior to the committee hearing in which the change will become effective. Once a chair has chosen to allow members to participate remotely, this choice cannot be changed during the remainder of the session. If a chair allows committee members to participate remotely, those members will be considered "present" for the purposes of this rule and Senate Rule 49. A chair may not participate remotely in a committee meeting. Members participating remotely shall be allowed to participate in committee activities to the same extent as those attending in person.

Committee Meetings During Sessions

Rule 46. No committee shall sit during the daily session of the senate unless by special leave.

No committee shall sit during any scheduled caucus.

Reading of Reports

Rule 47. The majority report, and minority report, if there be one, together with the names of the signers thereof, shall be read by the secretary, unless the reading be dispensed with by the senate, and all committee reports shall be spread upon the journal.

Recalling Bills from Committees

Rule 48. Any standing committee (~~(or subcommittee)~~) of the senate may be relieved of further consideration of any bill, regardless of prior action of the committee, by a majority vote of the senators elected or appointed. The senate may then make such orderly disposition of the bill as they may direct by a majority vote of the members of the senate.

Bills Referred to Rules Committee

Rule 49. All bills reported by a committee (~~(or subcommittee)~~) to the senate shall then be referred to the committee on rules for second reading without action on the report unless otherwise ordered by the senate. (See also Senate Rules 63 and 64.) A bill may not be referred to the committee on rules for second reading unless a standing committee (~~(or subcommittee)~~) has held a public hearing on the bill. (~~(By a majority vote of the committee members present at any executive session, the public hearing requirement may be dispensed with)~~) This rule does not apply when the committee is considering a bill whose official companion has already been heard. By a majority vote of the committee members present at any executive session, the public hearing requirement may be dispensed with when the committee is considering a biennial or supplemental omnibus operating budget, omnibus capital budget, or omnibus transportation budget bill and the committee has already had a hearing on a substantially similar omnibus budget bill.

Rules Committee

Rule 50. The lieutenant governor shall be a voting member and the chair of the committee on rules. The president pro tempore shall be a voting member and the vice chair of the committee on rules. The committee on rules shall have charge of the daily second and third reading calendar of the senate and shall direct the secretary of the senate the order in which the bills shall (~~(be considered by the senate)~~) appear on the calendars and the committee on rules shall have the authority to directly refer any bill before them to any other standing committee. Such referral shall be reported out to the senate on the next day's business.

The order of consideration of bills on the second or third reading calendar will be set by the floor leader of the majority caucus. A majority of members present may vote to change the order.

The calendar, except in emergent situations, as determined by the committee on rules, shall be (~~(on the desks and in the offices of the)~~) available electronically to senators each day and shall cover the bills for consideration on the next following day.

Employment Committee

Rule 51. The employment committee for committee staff shall consist of six members, three from the majority party and three from the minority party. The chair shall be appointed by the majority leader. All decisions shall be determined by majority vote. The committee shall operate within staffing, budget levels and guidelines as authorized and adopted by the facilities and operations committee.

Committee of the Whole

Rule 52. At no time shall the senate sit as a committee of the whole.

The senate may at any time, by the vote of the majority of the members present, sit as a body for the purpose of taking testimony on any measure before the senate.

Appropriation Budget Bills

Rule 53. No biennial or supplemental omnibus operating budget, omnibus capital budget, or omnibus transportation budget bill may be acted upon in second reading until twenty-four hours after the bill has been placed on the second reading calendar by the rules committee. This rule does not apply to conference committee reports of biennial or supplemental omnibus budget bills, which are governed by joint rules. This rule may be suspended with a majority vote of those present within three days of sine die. The rules committee shall establish by separate motion the time at which a bill has been placed on the second reading calendar for purposes of this rule.

SECTION VI
BILLS, RESOLUTIONS, MEMORIALS AND GUBERNATORIAL APPOINTMENTS

Rule 54. "Measure" means a bill, joint memorial, joint resolution, or concurrent resolution.

"Bill" when used alone means bill, joint memorial, joint resolution, or concurrent resolution.

"Majority" shall mean a majority of those members present unless otherwise stated.

Prefiling

Rule 55. Holdover members and members-elect to the senate may prefile bills with the secretary of the senate on any day commencing with the first Monday in December preceding any session year; or twenty days prior to any special session of the legislature. Such bills will be printed, distributed and prepared for introduction on the first legislative day. No bill, joint memorial or joint resolution shall be prefiled by title and/or preamble only. (See also Senate Rule 3, Sub. 3.)

Introduction of Bills

Rule 56. 1. All bills, joint resolutions, and joint memorials introduced shall be endorsed with a statement of the title and the name of the member introducing the same. Any member desiring to introduce a bill, joint resolution, or joint memorial shall file the same with the secretary of the senate by noon of the day before the convening of the session at which said bill, joint resolution, or joint memorial is to be introduced. Sponsor sheets shall be available in both physical and electronic formats. A member may introduce a bill electronically by emailing the bill to the office of the code reviser. Only bills that have been emailed by a member or the member's legislative assistant may be considered for electronic introduction.

2. For bills introduced electronically, the sponsoring member may designate one cosponsor of the bill by providing the cosponsor's name in the email and by including the cosponsor's name in the cc line of the email. Additional members may add themselves as cosponsors to the bill by emailing the senate workroom by 5:00 p.m. of the day of its introduction. Agency and governor request legislation may follow this process and the sponsoring member or member's legislative assistant must email such legislation to the office of the code reviser.

3. Provided that a vote has not been taken on final passage of a bill, joint resolution, or joint memorial, a member may add his or her name as a cosponsor until ((2:00)) 5:00 p.m. of the day of its introduction. For any bill, joint resolution, or joint memorial that has been prefiled for a regular session, a member has until ((2:00)) 5:00 p.m. of the day following introduction to add his or her name as a cosponsor.

4. To be considered during a regular session, a bill must be introduced at least ten days before final adjournment of the legislature, unless the legislature directs otherwise by a vote of two-thirds of all the members elected to each house, said vote to be taken by yeas and nays and entered upon the journal. The time limitation for introduction of bills shall not apply to substitute bills reported by standing committees for bills pending before such committees and general appropriation and revenue bills. (See also Art. 2, Sec. 36, State Constitution.)

5. The introduction of title-only bills is prohibited. For the purposes of this subsection, a title-only bill is a bill containing a title or short summary of the intended subject matter, without laying forth the full changes intended to any act or sections of law.

Amendatory Bills

Rule 57. Bills introduced in the senate intended to amend existing statutes shall have the words which are amendatory to such existing statutes underlined. Any matter to be deleted from the existing statutes shall be indicated by setting such matter forth in full, enclosed by double parentheses, and such deleted matter shall be lined out with hyphens. No bill shall be printed or acted upon until the provisions of this rule shall have been complied with.

Sections added by amendatory bill to an existing act, or chapter of the official code, need not be underlined but shall be designated "NEW SECTION" in upper case type and such designation shall be underlined. New enactments need not be underlined.

When statutes are being repealed, the Revised Code of Washington section number to be repealed, the section caption and the session law history, from the most current to the original, shall be cited.

Rule 58. Joint resolutions and joint memorials, up to the signing thereof by the president of the senate, shall be subject to the rules governing the course of bills.

Senate Concurrent Resolutions

Rule 59. Concurrent resolutions shall be subject to the rules governing the course of bills and may be adopted without a roll call. Concurrent resolutions authorizing investigations and authorizing the expenditure or allocation of any money must be adopted by roll call and the yeas and nays recorded in the journal. Concurrent resolutions are subject to final passage on the day of the first reading without regard to Senate Rules 62, 63, and 64.

Committee Bills

Rule 60. Committee bills introduced by a standing committee during a legislative session may be filed with the secretary of the senate and introduced, and the signature of each member of the committee shall be endorsed upon the cover of the original bill.

Committee bills shall be read the first time by title, ordered printed, and referred to the committee on rules for second reading.

Committee Reference

Rule 61. When a motion is made to refer a subject, and different committees are proposed, the question shall be taken in the following order:

FIRST: A standing committee.

SECOND: A select committee.

Reading of Bills

Rule 62. Every bill shall be read on three separate days unless the senate deems it expedient to suspend this rule. On and after the tenth day preceding adjournment sine die of any session, or three days prior to any cut-off date for consideration of bills, as determined pursuant to Article 2, Section 12 of the Constitution or concurrent resolution, or during any special session of the legislature, this rule may be suspended by a majority vote. (See also Senate Rules 59 and 64).

First Reading

Rule 63. The first reading of a bill shall be by title only, unless a majority of the members present demand a reading in full.

After the first reading, bills shall be referred to an appropriate committee pursuant to Senate Rule 61. Draft bill referrals will be electronically published by 7:00 p.m. the evening before any session to consider them. All objections or requests for rereferral must be communicated in an email by a member to the majority floor leader by 9:00 a.m. the day of convening.

Upon being reported back by committee, pursuant to Senate Rule 49, all bills shall be referred to the committee on rules for second reading, unless otherwise ordered by the senate.

A bill shall be reported back by the committee chair upon written petition therefor signed by a majority of its members. The petition shall designate the recommendation as provided in Senate Rule 45, Sub. 5.

FIRST DAY, JANUARY 9, 2023

No committee chair shall exercise a pocket veto of any bill.

Should there be a two-thirds majority report of the committee membership against the bill, a vote shall be immediately ordered for the indefinite postponement of the bill.

Second Reading/Amendments

Rule 64. Upon second reading, the bill shall be read section by section, in full, and be subject to amendment.

Any member may, if sustained by three members, remove a bill from the consent calendar as constituted by the committee on rules. A bill removed from the consent calendar shall take its place as the last bill on the second reading calendar.

No amendment shall be considered by the senate until it shall have been sent to the secretary's desk in writing and read by the secretary.

All amendments adopted on the second reading shall then be securely fastened to the original bill.

All amendments rejected by the senate shall be spread upon the journal, and the journal shall show the disposition of all amendments.

When no further amendments shall be offered, the president shall declare the bill has passed its second reading, and shall be referred to the committee on rules for third reading.

Third Reading

Rule 65. Bills on third reading shall be read in full by sections, and no amendment shall be entertained.

When a bill shall pass, it shall be certified to by the secretary, together with the vote upon final passage, noting the day of its passage thereon.

The vote must be taken by yeas and nays, the names of the senators voting for and against the same to be entered upon the journal and the majority of the members elected to the senate must be recorded thereon as voting in its favor to secure its passage by the senate.

Scope and Object of Bill Not to be Changed

Rule 66. No amendment to any bill shall be allowed which shall change the scope and object of the bill. (See also Art. 2, Sec. 38, State Constitution.) Substitute bills shall be considered amendments for the purposes of this rule. A point of order raising the question of scope and object may be raised at any time during consideration of an amendment prior to voting on the amendment. (~~(A proposed amendment to an unamended title only bill shall be within the scope and object of the bill if the subject of the amendment fits within the language in the title.)~~)

Matters Related to Disagreement Between the Senate and House

Rule 67. When there is a disagreement between the senate and house on a measure before the senate, the senate may act upon the measure with the following motions which have priority in the following order:

- To concur
- To non-concur
- To recede
- To insist
- To adhere

These motions are in order as to any single amendment or to a series of amendments. (See Reed's Rules 247 through 254.)

A senate bill, passed by the house with amendment or amendments which shall change the scope and object of the bill, upon being received in the senate, shall be referred to an appropriate committee and shall take the same course as for original bills, unless a motion to ask the house to recede, to insist or to adhere is made prior to the measure being referred to committee.

Bills Committed for Special Amendment

Rule 68. A bill may be committed with or without special instructions to amend at any time before taking the final vote.

Confirmation of Gubernatorial Appointees

Rule 69. When the names of appointees to state offices are transmitted to the secretary of the senate for senate confirmation, the communication from the governor shall be recorded and referred to the appropriate standing committee.

The standing committee, or subcommittee, pursuant to Senate Rule 42, shall require each appointee referred to the committee for consideration to complete the standard questionnaire to be used to ascertain the appointee's general background and qualifications. The committee may also require the appointee to complete a supplemental questionnaire related specifically to the qualifications for the position to which he has been appointed.

Any hearing on a gubernatorial appointment, held by the standing committee, or subcommittees, pursuant to Senate Rule 42, shall be a public hearing. The appointee may be required to appear before the committee on request. When appearing, the appointee shall be required to testify under oath or affirmation. The chair of the committee or the presiding member shall administer the oath or affirmation in accordance with RCW 44.16. (See also Article 2, Sec. 6 of the State Constitution.)

Nothing in this rule shall be construed to prevent a standing committee, or subcommittee, pursuant to Senate Rule 42, upon a two-thirds vote of its members, from holding executive sessions when considering an appointment.

When the committee on rules presents the report of the standing committee before the senate, the question shall be the confirmation of the name proposed, and the roll shall then be called and the yeas and nays entered upon the journal. In the event a message is received from the governor requesting return of an appointment or appointments to the office of the governor prior to confirmation, the senate shall vote upon the governor's request and the appointment or appointments shall be returned to the governor if the request is approved by a majority of the members elected or appointed. (Article 13 of the State Constitution.)

2. For purposes of adopting the senate resolution required by this rule, some or all members may vote using a remote access program established by the Secretary of the Senate. O Almighty, All merciful God, we are gathered here today, in Your sight and ask for Your guidance. Extend Your abundant blessings upon all those women and men who work diligently here to serve the needs of the people who place their trust in them to maintain the good estate of their lives.

Lead us in Your truth, in all we do. The truth that does not divide but unites, does not tear down but builds up. May we be a good steward of the gifts that You bless us with, our environment, our resources, our people. Protect our country, this state, from famine, earthquake, flood, fire, injustice and disease. In Your compassion, lead us to be guardians of those who are most vulnerable or in need among us, and in all things may we give you greater glory.

Further, O Lord, we beseech Your loving kindness and blessings upon the people of Ukraine who suffer greatly as we gather here this day. Grant them the strength and endurance to deal, once again, with another invasion.

Strengthen the people – the nation of Ukraine so that it will rise like the phoenix from the ashes as it has been forced to do so many times throughout history. Continue to call forth the supporters of the Ukrainian people, Lord, who have given them courage almost beyond belief. Bless the nations and people of the world who have contributed, especially the United States of America, beyond all expectations and grant that they might experience the gratitude, love and appreciation the citizens in Ukraine have for them.

In You we trust and in Your name we pray.
Amen.”

These Abundant and Generous Homelands

Warm at home, in the long cold days of winter, how and why should it trouble our thoughts

That eternal question of the haves and have-naughts?

We are not thoughtless or hard of heart.

We give what's fair, do our part, and the privileges we claim as our share, those we reserve without reservation—

Perhaps even unaware of our good fortune.

Perhaps, never having troubled deaf heaven with our bootless cries, we walk well-heeled through our blessed lives with ease, or maybe we stride with shrewd purpose in shoes made for long days of toil on our feet.

You have yours, and I have mine, and aren't most of us just trying to get by?

But still, the hungry—they are always with us and isn't the worry always that if we pause our labor too long to care too much that we shall be counted among them?

How can equality be anything but a utopian dream for those whose history and legends tell only of statesmen and kings and whose concerns are less and less over the justness of wars as much as they are for the accumulation of more, more, more?

Yet we live on lands where equality bloomed once before, when Indigenous nations lived by beliefs and followed ancient laws that said an orca whale and a cedar tree are sovereign, sentient beings with inviolable rights, just like you and me.

SECOND DAY, JANUARY 10, 2023

Those beliefs are not childlike or primitive.

They are the blueprint for a just and fair society, which for Native nations is not a vision but a memory.

That sublime belief in the wisdom and goodness of the giving earth, is not so elusive, is not a birthright exclusive to tribes.

Yes, it's mine, but it's yours too if you want it.

If you want it, you must tell new stories—true stories, on which to build new beliefs—true beliefs, in the interconnection and value of all living things.

The supremacy of man is only a fiction.

This is the secret every river knows, for water rises and falls, and in a circle, eternally flows from the cloud to the mountain through the valley to the sea.

Thus, is a circle, a balanced, perfect, and natural state of being.

And who are we to interrupt it?

We do so at our peril.

When the forest burns, our eyes burn, and our hearts fill with ashes.

And when streams are dammed and wanting of salmon, doesn't our blood also want of vitality?

This is the folly of hierarchy, with man at the top.

We reap the fruit of inequity.

A harvest of terrible hunger.

Now is the hour of our reckoning, a moment of dire lack.

Though unrehearsed, we must summon the courage and the will to act, to assure our children a better path forward.

And when we look back, will we see that in fact we were not recovering from natural disasters;

rather, we were the great disaster from which nature must recover?

With hindsight for eyes, we must sail toward a beautiful vision: an era that is trying but hopeful, demanding, but healthy, whole, and equitable.

We will be steadfast in our course, carried by the winds of change, into a more balanced way of being, for while free will is at the whim of our human nature, nature loves balance, and so, our nature is humane.

These truths being self-evident, if all are created equal, and life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness are our legacy, then we must each wish that for the other and repair this world we've borrowed from our children.

We must recall a time when we did not have the things we think we need but had the whole living earth for free.

'As long as the rivers run, as long as the tide flows, and as long as the sun shines, you will have land, fish and game for your frying pans ,and timber for your lodges.'

These were the promises on which this state was founded, these sacred homelands in which the call of eagles resounded, resplendent from the tops of towering cedars, where none went hungry when salmon were running,

in clear cool waters,

these abundant and generous homelands were given in exchange for a promise of a world, we could live in a world that would keep giving, to all in common, for as long as the rivers run.

— Ms. Rena Priest, State Poet Laureate

EDITOR'S NOTE: "As long as the rivers run," quotes assurances given by Territorial Governor Issac Stevens to tribal leaders and Native signatories of the Treaty of Point Elliot, January 1855.

State Poet Laureate Priest offered a closing gesture and comment in the native Lummi language.

The President introduced the Honorable Jay Inslee, Governor of the State of Washington.

STATE OF THE STATE

Governor Inslee: "Thank you. Thank you very much for that greeting. Good afternoon on a beautiful day in the state of Washington. And it is a beautiful day and it's been made more beautiful by our guest Father Andriy Matlak, Poet Laureate Rena Priest and the Tacoma Refugee Choir. Thank you very much for enlightening us and inspiring us. We appreciate that.

And a very warm welcome and congratulations to our twenty-nine newly-elected senators and representatives. I'm excited to be in service with you.

And as Speaker Jinkins remarked yesterday, our government should be reflective and representative of the people we serve. Tthis year we are welcoming the most diverse legislature in our state's history.

And I want to give ... if you will allow me, I would like to express my deep appreciation for my family, particularly my grandchildren, who always inspire me to take the long view. And particularly, of course, to Trudi Inslee, who is such a great partner, and I mean great.

Mr. President, Madam Speaker, Mr. Chief Justice, distinguished justices of the court, members of the Legislature, tribal leaders, state and local officials, and members of the Consular Corps, particularly the Ukrainian Honorary Consul Valeriy Goloborodko, We stand with Ukraine in the state of Washington.

The Joint Session rose in recognition of Consul Globrodko and the people of the Ukraine.

My fellow Washingtonians, after two years of delivering the State of the State virtually, it is great to be back here together again. And I want to tell you, you all look great. You haven't aged a day in two years. So, there's good news here.

Look, I know we have big challenges this session. As leaders, we will be called upon these next few months to act with decisiveness, ambition, with audacity.

And the good news is that here in Washington state, ambition and audacity are both embedded in our state's DNA.

And as I was giving thought about the challenges we face this session, I realized we aren't facing anything we aren't ready for.

I was thinking about my comments today, it was just something that we're ready to do. When you think about the things we've passed in the recent years that are now becoming real, and they need them to become real. People are eager to see bold and inclusive leadership and action.

Think about this, five years ago we launched a transformation of our centuries-old behavioral health system. Today, that effort is resulting in dozens of new facilities opening throughout our state that offer more kinds of care in more places for more people.

Two years ago, we funded a new type of rapid acquisition housing. It's speeding up our ability to create supportive housing in a matter of weeks and months, instead of years and decades.

The climate policies we passed in recent sessions are now going into effect. And not only are these policies driving down polluting emissions, they are also creating thousands of clean energy jobs across our state.

Two years ago, we passed a Working Families Tax Credit that starts next month. This credit will put as much as $1,200 into the hands of more than 400,000 Washington families.

And the list goes on: paid family leave; broadband access; career connected learning; and the best financial program, financial aid program for students in the nation.

Here in our state, we invest in our people, and we invest in our communities.

It's a reason we have been rated the best state in America, the best economy in America, the second-best state for business, the third best state for workers — we can't be number one in everything, but we sure come close every year.

And this is not an accident. It is because of the work we do in these chambers.

And because of that work and because of the work of millions of Washingtonians, I can proudly report to you this: the state of our state is strong. And I am happy.

If we continue building on the investments and policies we've started, we can continue building a Washington: Where everyone is housed. Where schools are safe from gun violence, and students receive the mental and educational support they need. Where the existential crisis of climate change is met by unmatched innovation. Where communities are welcoming and safe for all. Where all people have a constitutional right to reproductive freedom. And, where people struggling with mental health or substance use no longer fall unseen and unheard through the cracks.

Building a Washington that fits this vision is entirely within our grasp this session. We can set the bar this high because we know we're able to achieve it. Let's take housing and homelessness as an example.

We know states across the country are seeing an increase in homelessness, and Washington unfortunately is one of them. Why? Well, we know there are multiple reasons. Though some people face behavioral health challenges or chemical addiction issues, the fundamental, underlying challenge is that we do not have enough housing in our state for our people.

And it is a difficult irony of having such a strong economy. Well-paid workers flock here for jobs, forcing lower-paid workers to compete for housing. And when there's not enough housing for all, rents and prices skyrocket beyond what we can afford.

And until we fix our housing crisis, thousands of people will remain homeless. Today, we're short 81,000 housing units and worsening by the thousands each year.

Our population grew nearly 1 million people in the past decade. But housing stock only grew about 315,000 units. We're gonna need another million units in the next 17 years. Again, until we fix our housing crisis, thousands of people will remain homeless. And we need a fix that provides a level of speed and scale beyond anything we've done in the past.

Now when it comes to building affordable housing, our Housing Trust Fund has been our primary tool for decades. But unfortunately, we can only adjust that dial a little bit here and there. We have been adjusting it up every biennium since 2013 — $30-$50 million at a time. But it simply isn't enough. And if there was ever a time to go big, it's now. And I understand the frustration of those who wonder why this problem hasn't been solved yet. And I understand the allure of easy answers to homelessness. But we all know there is no easy answers. Simply moving a person experiencing homelessness from one street corner or city to another is not a real solution.

Now, what is working are efforts such as the rapid acquisition program that we launched, and you launched two years ago. That program is allowing us now to create thousands of new supportive housing units at a pace that was never possible before. This is a pace we have to sustain and accelerate at scale.

I've seen the success of these programs in several housing projects that I've visited, including a few months ago when I met a young man named Sjon Tori Mackey. He was at a pallet shelter village in Vancouver called The Outpost. Tori told me that having a private space all of his own, that was secure and access to services was the difference he needed to get effective treatment and get back on his feet. He told me it literally saved his life.

I also met a woman named Millicent, and her daughter, McKenna, last year. They lost their home right before COVID and couldn't find another place she could afford. But they found stability at the Willow Crossing in Seattle. I'd like all of you to meet Millicent and McKenna here. Thanks Millicent and McKenna. Where are you? I'm looking for you there. Thanks for being here today.

Their stories, and stories like Tori's, are not unlike most of the other 25,000 individuals experiencing homelessness in our state. When you're only one paycheck or one car repair away from a missed rent payment, it can feel impossible to find another option in a housing market like ours. So, I will say it again: Until we fix our housing crisis, thousands of people, like these folks, are going remain homeless.

This is why I'm proposing a $4 billion referendum that will significantly speed up the construction of thousands of new units that will include shelters, supportive housing and affordable housing. This will be combined with additional behavioral health support, and substance use treatment, and employment services and more. Why? Well, it's because we know that substance use treatment and mental health support can work when you combine it with secure, stable housing.

This is not a one-time effort to buy a one-time fix where the money just sort of disappears. This investment will turn into true assets, once built, will provide a pipeline of affordable housing for tens of thousands of more people every year. And most importantly, a bonding referendum allows us to act now, not bit by bit over the next 30 years.

So, this referendum will forward our ability to build. Importantly, it offers us the scale and speed we need. Scale and speed are necessary for market-rate development, as well. We know that residential zoning restrictions block developers from building denser, more affordable options. And we simply have to finish the job we started last session to address middle housing and increase housing density within our communities. There is a way to do this that respects the unique character of our towns and cities, while also responding to the reality that look, we are a growing, changing state.

Again, until we fix our housing crisis, thousands of people will remain homeless. I believe the people in the state of Washington are with us on this. Let's go big. Let's get this done this session.

Now another issue confronting families and communities across Washington is behavioral health. And I've mentioned that we launched an effort in 2018 to transform our behavioral health system. We had a century-old model of care that wasn't working. And since then, we've been building a new, community-based systems that helps people get the specific type of care they need closer to their homes and loved ones. And we've made thousands of new beds available to patients across Washington for care that ranges from crisis stabilization to substance abuse disorder.

We're still building, and my budgets contain funding to keep every part of our plan on track, including the new 350-bed forensic hospital at Western. We've got work to do. But much like our housing crisis, this is not enough, particularly when it comes to forensic services. We are seeing an unprecedented increase in demand for competency evaluation and restoration services – a 60% increase in court orders just since 2018, and a 145% increase in inpatient referrals since 2013. This is not sustainable.

This state has been and will continue doing its part to shore up capacity. We've added hundreds of forensic beds since the Trueblood trial in 2015, and we plan on adding hundreds more.

But even with all these investments, this unprecedented growth in court orders and referrals is not manageable or sustainable. Nor is our criminal justice system really an effective way to connect people to the treatment they really need to restore their lives.

So, we should be prioritizing diversion and community-based treatment options rather than using the criminal justice system as an avenue to mental health care, particularly because competency services only treat people to be well enough to be prosecuted. Now, this has been a frustrating point of contention for families, lawyers, judges, patients, advocates, providers and for me. We have to find a better way. Lawsuits and lawyers are not going to fix this problem. So, I will be asking local leaders to join me in crafting a better plan, both for defendants' mental health and for public safety.

Now, while we do these things, we're also continuing our efforts in education. And we know that meeting the social and emotional needs of our students is an extremely important effort, and I commend this Legislature and you for making historic investments last year to increase funding for schools so that they can hire more nurses, counselors, psychologists, and social workers which is always important but particularly as we are coming through COVID. And my budget continues these additional investments.

I'm also hopeful this year that we can increase funding for special education. I've proposed more than $120 million to better support school districts as they meet the needs of every student, no matter how complex the needs.

All told, my budget proposal increases K-12 spending by $3 billion. We know that circumstances have been difficult for students, educators, paraeducators, school bus drivers and all the others who work in our schools. So, I hope you can join me in a moment of recognition for these people who have been so instrumental in helping students navigate the challenges of COVID and beyond. Thank you to these educators. I appreciate your work.

On another positive note, one effort we've made tremendous progress on is climate. And when we see the tremendous damage that climate change is causing in our state, it's understandable to feel some despair at times. But I think we're also entitled to feel deep pride in what we have accomplished together. The tremendous pace of innovation, together with the policies we've adopted, because of your leadership, ought to give us significant doses of hope when we need it.

When I travel and meet with other government leaders from around the world, they know about the work we're doing in Washington. They know we are leading America on this noble effort. We've passed several landmark policies that are transitioning us to clean transportation, clean electricity and clean buildings. Just last week, our clean fuel standard and our cap-and-invest programs went into effect. And we're doing this in a way that ensures overburdened communities will experience the economic and health benefits of this transition.

Now, our focus shifts to implementation and investment. Now when we do this, we need more capacity to permit clean energy projects in a timely manner, and we need to bolster our transmission infrastructure to reliably deliver clean energy throughout the state.

We also need to expand our research and development capacity. It was just fantastic to go over to the Tri-Cities with Senators Nguyen and Boehnke last month to talk about the potential for a new Institute for Northwest Energy Futures at Washington State University. This Institute will put the region to be a global leader and in the global forefront of clean tech innovation. Co Cougs. And I hope you can help on this. I am not above pandering to Sam Hunt; I will tell you that. I admit to that.

Look, on the investment side this is a really big deal too, obviously now that this program is live. Our state's new cap-and-invest program will allow us, this year, to transform how we invest in transportation and our communities. Heat pumps for low-income families, charging stations across the state, hybrid-electric ferries, free transit for youth, grants to clean up air pollution. The list goes on. Again, because of the work you have done the CCA [Climate Commitment Act] will provide an estimated $1.7 billion that will be used for projects to drive down emissions, create jobs and give people cleaner air and make communities healthier. The act is also helping us invest in the strongest suite of salmon recovery actions in the state's history. We know salmon are iconic to our state, to all Washingtonians, and certainly to the tribes' culture and way of life.

This will also fund a new voluntary riparian grant program that offers landowners assistance to protect and recover these habitats statewide. Now here's a sad truth, unfortunately, climate change will continue increasing the temperatures of our waters and killing salmon for years to come regardless of some of our best efforts. We need to minimize that. But we have to face this reality. So, providing shade that helps cool rivers and streams is even more critical for the years to come.

And I believe this, as legislators, when future generations look back at you and your efforts forty to fifty years from now, I know they will be proud you took action that gave their generation a chance. So, let's do just that. Let's boldly continue our fight against climate change and salmon extinction this session.

I know the list of things we intend to accomplish is long, but there are a couple more things I want to touch on. The first is public safety. That phrase – public safety – evokes different meanings and ideas amongst people. And I think we need to escape the trap that public safety is about any one thing – mental health or gun safety or drug treatment or law enforcement. The clear fact is, we need them all. One thing we know is that gun violence is a significant driver of increased crime. This isn't a surprise considering that the gun lobby has worked for decades against common sense gun safety measures.

Fortunately, in Washington state, voters and legislators have been willing to take on the gun lobby. We've enacted several measures to strengthen background checks and put limits on the kinds of weaponry used in mass shootings.

This year, we need to continue that work in three ways. First, one of the most meaningful measures, and effective measures that we can take is requiring that people have safety training, basic safety training, before they purchase a gun. Look, we expect that people have, we ought to expect that people have some basic training. We accept training in multiple parts of our lives. So, we should expect that people have basic training when they buy a gun. This has worked in other states. It is time to put it to work in Washington.

Second, we must increase accountability among manufacturers and dealers, and give families and victims access to justice when those entities fail to do their duty. And third, the time has come for the Legislature to ban the sale of military-style assault weapons. These weapons are designed for the sole purpose of destroying lives; the lives of school children, law enforcement officers, concertgoers, nightclub patrons, and people gathered in houses of worship. We owe our children the assurance we're doing all we can to keep them safe. Let's pass all three bills and prove to them that the gun lobby doesn't make the rules in Washington state, we do.

Now, of course, gun safety laws are not the only thing we need. We want to help local law enforcement agencies hire and train more officers. They need more officers on our streets and in our neighborhoods. Last summer, Sen. John Lovick and I were joined by dozens of chiefs and sheriffs to propose new regional training centers. These new facilities will allow us to train hundreds more recruits and help law enforcement agencies recruit people from within their diverse communities.

And also, sometimes the right response isn't necessarily from a law enforcement officer. I applaud the incredible work underway to implement our new 9-8-8 system. Unlike most states, this Legislature had the foresight to see this as much more than a crisis hotline. We're using this opportunity to create a true behavioral health crisis response system. And your continued support puts us on a path to ensure people facing a mental health, substance use, or suicidal crisis can be connected to mobile responders or culturally competent behavioral health providers. Thank you for making this work possible. I appreciate your leadership.

There is one other very important priority we have to address, and that's the rights of Washingtonians seeking reproductive care. We know, the Dobbs decision last year on the national level upended decades of precedent that assured people across the country had at least some measure of constitutional protection, constitutional protection for abortion care and contraception. That protection is gone for more than half the people in our nation. And the new Republican majority in Congress this weekend made further abortion restrictions one of their top priorities. So, in Washington state, we are fighting to make sure that right remains protected.

We must protect patient data and privacy. We must protect access from the threat of health care consolidation and cost barriers. We must protect patients and providers from persecution by vigilantes and activist politicians in anti-choice states. And finally, and most importantly, we must pass a constitutional amendment that expressly establishes a fundamental right to reproductive freedom in the great state of Washington.

Before I close, I want to make a bit of a personal comment to you all. I want to express my personal thanks to you and to your families, for your service this session. You have each left your hearth and home to come here to serve your constituents and further the progress and success of our state. And when you do so, I know you will all strive and toil to enact the policies you believe in, and yet may never know many of the actual people you've really helped due to your work.

You may never know the single mom you've helped out of homelessness, but she'll be there. You may never know the teenager in a mental health crisis that you helped, but they'll be there. You may never know the person who was not a victim of gun violence because of your actions, but they'll be there. They'll all be there by the hundreds and thousands. Taken care of because of your efforts. And at the end of this session, I am confident you will feel the deep satisfaction of those who know they have made a difference.

We have emerged recently through two great threats — one to our personal health and our family's health, and one to our body politic. Because of the combination of scientific genius and sound decision-making in our state, we are no longer dominated by a virus. Because we stood up to those who dared to dismantle democracy, it is a joy to say with assurance and confidence that democracy is today intact in Washington state. So, now, it is our blessed opportunity to fully exercise the power of democracy, not with half measures, empty gestures, or platitudes. But with the boldness and the ambition that is fitting to the unlimited capacity of the Evergreen State.

We have a special state. We have a special moment. Let's realize both. Let's get to work. Thank you."

STATE OF THE JUDICIARY

Chief Justice González: “Thank you for the introduction. Thank you to all the members of the Legislature gathered here from both houses. Thank you, President Heck, Speaker Jinkins, our statewide electeds: Hilary Franz; Mike Pellicciotti; Steve Hobbs. I wanted to also thank our former Chief Justice Gerry Alexander who has joined us and is in the upper gallery. Thank you, sir, for your service. I also want to pause for a moment and thank my wife Michelle, who is here and has been a source of support and what has been, what allows me to do this work. Michelle, thank you. I love you. Outside of my prepared remarks, we have two sons both college students so the house is much quieter, and I was told that my speech should be bipartisan, and I said, ‘Well no, it’s actually nonpartisan.’ But since they are both at a school here in the state, I’ve worn a necktie that shows my support. I apologize for those who support ... [audio difficulties]. [Laughter.]

Having two children in college at once I think maybe there’s a way that the Treasurer can help me, that our check goes straight to the University of Washington so it’s less painful somehow. Thank you again for being here for the first in-person State of the Judiciary since 2019 when Justice Fairhurst gave those remarks. We miss her very much.

The pandemic has been a challenge for all of us. It challenged the judicial branch to provide equitable access to justice throughout the entire crisis. People in courthouses around the state rose to that challenge, and I thank them from the bottom of my heart. Actually, as I think about it, it wasn’t from courthouses, sometimes it was from garages and living rooms dressed well at least from the waist up.

The pandemic made clearer than ever the inequities within our justice system. But by making those issues more visible, the pandemic also made them more addressable. Courts and judicial branch partners across the state worked tirelessly at no small risk to themselves, to deliver access to justice to the people of Washington. We have identified and confronted many of the barriers to a fair and open system. We need to continue that work, and to do that, we need the Legislature’s continued partnership.

Time will not permit me to catalog all the good work that has happened in the last years since we were here. But I want to highlight a few things. The Washington Indian Child Welfare Act passed by this Legislature recognizes the painful and unjust history of indigenous children being taken from their families and from their communities. The Act imposes a heightened standard in cases where the state seeks to remove Indian children. Recently, we have expanded court calendars to make sure these cases are heard and decided promptly.

In addition, the pandemic left thousands without jobs, and many have faced eviction as a result of that and health issues. You passed legislation to provide counsel in eviction cases that we have helped to implement. Thank you for doing that work. In addition, the Dispute Resolution Centers and other community partners continue to help resolve through mediation, disputes between landlords and tenants, this lightens our court calendars and helps many people who will remain safe and housed.

I want to recognize some of those who have done the work: Clallam County Superior Court Commissioner Brandon Mack who established specialized family court calendars focused on native families and families with infants or toddlers; Pierce County Superior Court Commissioner Clint Johnson who worked with local attorneys to craft a highly successful eviction-prevention program with Right to Counsel; and the Clark County Volunteer Lawyers Program, they expanded the scope of their work to yet more vulnerable people during the COVID pandemic.

I also want to recognize members of the organization, Civil Survival. Together with Kitsap, Pierce, and Thurston county courts they relieve the burden of unpayable court fines and fees for thousands of people. It was gratifying to see prosecutors and defenders working side-by-side with clerks to accomplish this work, together.

We have adopted new technologies during the pandemic and found ways to keep court doors open, sometimes just virtually. Remote access has made our courts more available to people in the same way that the Legislature has become more available for remote public participation. I think it's all to the good. Remote access has relieved the burden of travel from those unable to afford childcare or to take time off from work. It has allowed disabled people better, more inclusive access to justice. We've expanded electronic filings and the use of electronic signatures; we launched remote and hybrid trials; we gave remote hearing technology to litigants who didn't have it, giving them both the option and the means to appear remotely. Some of these pandemic necessities have been so effective we will adopt rules to make them permanent. We're in that process now.

But our work is not done. Deep disparities remain. The Board for Judicial Administration's Reimagining Our Courts Task Force expanded its work in response to the tragic and avoidable killing of George Floyd in May 2020. Racial justice must remain, is central to how we think about improving justice in our state.

For example, powerful research from the Minority and Justice Commission's Race and Justice Task Force shows that, well it shows what many from lived experiences already know, and that is that Court fines and fees criminalize poverty. They have a disparate, inequitable effect on communities of color without improving public safety, and they have for decades.

Our Gender and Justice Commission looked at gender, race, and poverty to show how bias affects our courtrooms. It found evidence of many gender-based inequities in the justice system, inequities that intensify when they're layered with race. In other words, Black women, Indigenous women, women of color, transgender women, and gender nonconforming folks face increased gender bias in the justice system. This hard data reinforces, again, what many know from their lived experience. But these reports give us tangible, actionable data we can point to as we push for improvements.

Our Interpreter Commission has made great improvements expanding not just to language interpreters but to in language access beyond just licensing and regulating interpreters. We are grateful to the legislature for its recent investment in interpreter reimbursements. Thank you.

Therapeutic courts are an increasingly important part of our work. I was pleased to hear the Governor yesterday speak about improving mental health diversion and treatment programs. I also want to thank the Legislature for funding new programs in district and municipal courts. Generally, though, success for all of us is keeping people with mental illness, people without housing, people with drug dependency, and families and children out of court all together. We must do our best to keep kids in school and away from courts. Courts are neither the best nor most efficient place to remedy all of society's ills, yet we must be there when issues can't otherwise be resolved. We must have culturally competent courts, able to direct appropriate services. This is essential to protect both those who come to court and the public at large.

There are things we can do. Therapeutic courts decrease recidivism, improve community safety, and help people make life-altering, positive changes. We know this is true. For example, eighty-one percent of King County Drug Court participants — not just graduates — have no new felonies thirty-six months after treatment.

On racial justice, we still have work to do. In June 2020, following the George Floyd uprisings and under the leadership of then Chief Justice Stephens, we issued an open letter drafted initially by Justice Yu that recognized the justice system's role in perpetuating systemic racism. Judicial branch leaders, from every level of court, rose to the challenge of addressing systemic racism. Many of these leaders are here today, as are members of the Racial Justice Consortium that has moved this work forward.

That Consortium brought together judicial branch partners to develop a plan to address systemic racism in the courts. That group included judges from every court level as well as court clerks, court administrators, attorneys, and community members who have lived the trauma of a racialized justice system, and so have an essential perspective on how to change it.

In addition, we became the first court in the nation to adopt a statewide rule targeting both implicit and explicit racial bias in jury selection. This rule, General Rule 37, strengthens the prohibition against the use of race based peremptory challenges in jury selection, making our juries more diverse and representative of Washington's diverse communities. The rule also bars both intentional race discrimination and "implicit" race discrimination or bias in jury selection. Our rule has become a national model for change.

The pandemic forced us to engage with each other in new ways. In 2021, our annual Judicial Summit included not just judges and court partners but also leaders from the Legislative and Executive branches. Out of the pandemic, we have forged stronger bonds, and those bonds are necessary to address what lies ahead.

Our state is growing fast. This presents challenges and opportunities for Washington courts. We hope, with your continued support, Washington's courts can continue to address the complex demands of justice. We appreciate the investments of the Legislature in our branch.

Court funding has always been a challenge in Washington. In territorial times, traveling judges were paid from the fines and fees they themselves collected from litigants. While that is no longer the case, all too much of the funding for our judicial branch IT system still comes from district and municipal court fines and fees. Court fines and fees are disparately imposed on the poorest and most marginalized communities. This needs to change.

Our courts face many challenges. Court security is an increasing concern. People come to court because they are commanded to or because they are there asking for justice and protection of their individual rights. Our democracy depends on people having a safe and fair place to adjudicate their disputes. Courthouses must be safe. As recent events demonstrate, not all of them are.

We have traveled far along the road to justice, but we still have far to go. We need your help to continue our progress.

Thank you to the Legislature for hosting us here today, thank you to the Administrative Office of the Courts, to my colleagues on the Supreme Court, the judges of the Court of Appeals, Superior Courts, and District and Municipal Courts for their work. We have accomplished much, and I look forward to working with all of you to fulfill the promise of equal justice under the law.

Earlier this week, Justice Montoya-Lewis was able to swear in newly-elected members across the way, and I was here swearing in new members of the Senate.

It is the most diverse group we have ever seen. Our Court is now more diverse than it has ever been.

But studies that we have done on group decision making, including deliberations by juries, how that diverse groups make better decisions than homogenous groups do. On every objective measure, except for one.

It takes more time. I expect you might find that too.

But I also expect you might find yourself making good decisions and strong legislation that we'll get to review in due course.

I want to thank you all again for inviting us here, and I hope you can join us if you can for a reception downstairs in the Columbia Room starting immediately after we leave here."

The President thanked Chief Justice González for his remarks.

The President called upon the committee of honor to escort Chief Justice González from the rostrum and the Chief Justice retired from the Chamber.

The President called upon the committee of honor to escort the statewide elected officials from the Chamber.

CONDITIONAL COMMUTATION OF SPENCER CARTER JR.

To All to Whom These Presents Shall Come, Greetings:

WHEREAS, in 2004, a jury found Spencer Carter Jr. guilty of two counts of SECOND DEGREE ASSAULT in Benton County Superior Court Cause No. 01-1-00895-5. This conviction followed events in which Mr. Carter visited associates to collect on a debt. During the visit, when some of the associates protested Mr. Carter's demand that they remove clothing so that he could see if they were wearing a wire, he hit them.

WHEREAS, prosecutors initially offered Mr. Carter a plea deal that would have resulted in him serving a 63-month sentence. He rejected that deal and opted to take his case to trial. After his first two trials resulted in a hung jury and a mistrial, a third jury found Mr. Carter guilty on two counts of second degree assault, "strike" offenses. These convictions followed two other earlier convictions on "strike" offenses, resulting in Mr. Carter being sentenced to life in prison without the possibility of parole under Washington's persistent offender statute.

WHEREAS, Mr. Carter has served over 18 years on this sentence. Had he not been sentenced as a persistent offender, Mr. Carter would have faced a 10-year statutory maximum sentence on these second degree assault convictions.

WHEREAS, in June 2022, the Clemency and Pardons Board reviewed Mr. Carter's clemency petition. The testimony before the Board stated that Mr. Carter began using alcohol as a teen, leading to his involvement in the criminal justice system. But since 2007, Mr. Carter has maintained his sobriety.

WHEREAS, the Benton County Prosecuting Attorney does not oppose Mr. Carter's clemency petition, nor does the only surviving victim. Additionally, Mr. Carter's sentencing judge supports his petition.

WHEREAS, the Clemency and Pardons Board unanimously voted to recommend that the Governor commute Mr. Carter's sentence. In making this recommendation, the Board cited Mr. Carter's remorse and demonstrated rehabilitation, strong support network, and the support of his sentencing judge.

WHEREAS, I have reviewed all pertinent facts and circumstances surrounding this matter, the circumstances of the involved crimes, and the favorable recommendation of the Washington State Clemency and Pardons Board, and in light of the foregoing, I have determined that the best interests of justice will be served by this action.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Jay Inslee, by virtue of the power vested in me as Governor of the state of Washington, adopt the recommendation of the Clemency and Pardons Board and hereby COMMUTE Spencer Carter Jr.'s 2004 sentence on two counts of SECOND DEGREE ASSAULT in Benton County Superior Court Cause No. 01-1-00895-5, conditioned on his written agreement to comply with all terms outlined by the Department of Corrections (DOC) in the below community transition plan. Under this plan, DOC shall have the authority to release Mr. Carter from custody no later than May 1, 2024, contingent on DOC approving his offender release plan and completing all applicable statutory notifications. During his final six months in custody, Mr. Carter shall complete a DOC-approved work release program. Following his release from custody, Mr. Carter shall serve 36 months of DOC community supervision. This transition plan, designed to support a successful community transition, shall not be eligible for compliance credits. During this period in custody and under community supervision, Mr. Carter must comply with any conditions set forth by DOC. These conditions shall include, but not be limited to the following:

Mr. Carter shall:

1. Obey all laws and abide by all written or verbal conditions, prohibitions, or instructions issued by DOC.

13. Obtain, within his first 90 days of release to the community, an assessment for anger and a mental health evaluation through a medical or mental health provider and follow any treatment or programming recommendations.

ADDITIONALLY PROVIDED, that in the event Mr. Carter violates any of the conditions of this Conditional Commutation, as determined by the Governor, this Conditional Commutation may be revoked or amended and the sentence of the court reinstated, whereupon Mr. Carter will be immediately returned to any facility that the DOC Secretary deems appropriate. If any such violation occurs, DOC shall provide a written report to the Governor regarding the violation. A written notice of the Governor's intent to review the alleged violations and revoke or amend the Conditional Commutation may then be mailed to the most recent address Mr. Carter has provided to the Office of the Governor or, if Mr. Carter is in custody, to his place of detention. ADDITIONALLY PROVIDED, that Mr. Carter may be detained pending judicial disposition of any new criminal charge or a final determination of whether a condition of this Conditional Commutation has been violated, if the Governor determines there are reasonable grounds to believe he has violated the above conditions of this Conditional Commutation, reason to be concerned that he would pose a risk to any person or to the community, or that there is a possibility that Mr. Carter may abscond if not detained. FULL AND UNCONDITIONAL PARDON OF
JACOB PAUL COTE

To All to Whom These Presents Shall Come, Greetings:

WHEREAS, in 2000, Jacob Paul Cote pleaded guilty to FIRST DEGREE ROBBERY in Snohomish County Superior Court, Cause No. 00-1-00226-7. This conviction followed an event in late 1999 in which Mr. Cote, then a teenager, and four older associates kicked in the door at a known marijuana grow operation and assaulted at least one victim before stealing property and fleeing.

WHEREAS, two days later, Mr. Cote confessed to police his involvement in this offense and agreed to testify against his associates.

WHEREAS, Mr. Cote earned his GED in prison. Since his release, he has married and is now a father and grandfather.

WHEREAS, Mr. Cote and his wife own an appliance recycling business and employ individuals who have criminal records.

WHEREAS, Mr. Cote has no other criminal convictions on his record.

WHEREAS, in June 2022, the Clemency and Pardons Board reviewed Mr. Cote's petition for a pardon. At this hearing, Mr. Cote presented evidence that his criminal record precludes certain involvement in his family's school activities, and it negatively affects certain aspects of his business operations that require the successful completion of a background check.

WHEREAS, the Snohomish County Prosecuting Attorney supports Mr. Cote's petition seeking a pardon.

WHEREAS, the Clemency and Pardons Board voted unanimously to recommend that the Governor grant Mr. Cote a full pardon. The Board cited Mr. Cote's growth and maturation since this crime as well as his strong familial and community support network. The Board also applauded Mr. Cote for using his business to offer opportunities to others who could benefit from a second chance.

WHEREAS, at the time of his crime in 1999, Mr. Cote was 17 years old. The scientific and criminal justice communities have documented the difficulty the juvenile brain has in engaging in behavior control, often leading juveniles to exhibit a transient rashness, proclivity for risk, and inability to assess the full consequences of their actions. And,

WHEREAS, I have reviewed all pertinent facts and circumstances surrounding this matter, the circumstances of the involved crime, and the favorable recommendation of the Washington State Clemency and Pardons Board, and in light of the foregoing, I have determined that the best interests of justice will be served by this action.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Jay Inslee, by virtue of the power vested in me as Governor of the state of Washington, hereby grant Jacob Paul Cote this full and unconditional pardon for his FIRST DEGREE ROBBERY conviction in Snohomish County Superior Court, Cause No. 00-1-00226-7.

WHEREAS, Mr. Johnson has had no other criminal history since he was released after serving his sentences on these convictions.

WHEREAS, while incarcerated, Mr. Johnson earned his GED.

WHEREAS, in March 2022, the Clemency and Pardons Board reviewed Mr. Johnson's petition for a pardon. To All to Whom These Presents Shall Come, Greetings:

WHEREAS, in 2018, Julie Melissa Lane pleaded guilty to FELONY HARASSMENT in Snohomish County Superior Court, Cause No. 08-1-01175-0. This conviction followed an event in 2005 in which Ms. Lane, then in an abusive marriage, was arguing with her intoxicated husband. During the argument, Ms. Lane "lost it" and threatened to kill their daughter.

WHEREAS, Ms. Lane initially entered into a diversion program, but after her husband was killed in an alcohol-related automobile accident, she experienced a mental health spiral and left the state to be closer to family in Oklahoma. Years later she learned of this refiled charge and pleaded guilty in 2018.

WHEREAS, surrounded by her family support network in Oklahoma, Ms. Lane flourished. She rebuilt her relationship with her daughter and has worked to put herself through nursing school.

WHEREAS, Ms. Lane has had no other criminal convictions on her record.

WHEREAS, the Clemency and Pardons Board voted unanimously to recommend that the Governor grant Ms. Lane a full pardon. The Board cited Ms. Lane's growth and maturation since this crime. The Board also noted that the crime occurred almost 20 years ago and she has since paid her debt to society. And,

WHEREAS, I have reviewed all pertinent facts and circumstances surrounding this matter, the circumstances of the involved crime, and the favorable recommendation of the Washington State Clemency and Pardons Board, and in light of the foregoing, I have determined that the best interests of justice will be served by this action.

WHEREAS, Mr. Larsen was found guilty of FIRST DEGREE KIDNAPPING, FIRST DEGREE EXTORTION, FIRST DEGREE ATTEMPTED KIDNAPPING, ATTEMPTING TO ELUDE A PURSUING POLICE VEHICLE, and THEFT OF A RENTAL CAR, in King County Superior Court, Cause No. 04-1-10322-0. WHEREAS, Mr. Larsen has accepted full responsibility for his actions. Following his period in Washington state custody, in 2015 he was released to federal immigration detention.

WHEREAS, since his release from custody, Mr. Larsen has engaged to be married and now lives near his adult children. He is active in his community through volunteerism and civic engagement.

WHEREAS, due to Mr. Larsen's convictions, he now faces the possibility of imminent deportation from the United States to Vietnam, a country from which he was evacuated as a young child in 1975. He has no family, friends, or other connections in Vietnam, nor does he speak the language.

WHEREAS, in June 2022, the Clemency and Pardons Board reviewed Mr. Larsen's petition for a pardon. At his hearing, Mr. Larsen presented testimony that his deportation would devastate his community and his family.

WHEREAS, the King County Prosecuting Attorney's Office supports Mr. Larsen's petition. Nobody has expressed opposition to Mr. Larsen's petition.

CONDITIONAL COMMUTATION OF STEVEN CHARLES SPURGEON

To All to Whom These Presents Shall Come, Greetings:

WHEREAS, in 1989, a jury found Steven Charles Spurgeon guilty of FIRST DEGREE AGGRAVATED MURDER in King County Superior Court Cause No. 89-1-00592-8. This conviction followed events in which Mr. Spurgeon and associates robbed a taxi driver at gunpoint, and Mr. Spurgeon shot the driver, killing him.

FOURTH DAY, JANUARY 12, 2023

WHEREAS, the trial court sentenced Mr. Spurgeon to life in prison without the possibility of parole. He has served over 33 years in prison on this sentence.

WHEREAS, Mr. Spurgeon has had no prison infractions since 1997.

WHEREAS, in June 2022, the Clemency and Pardons Board reviewed Mr. Spurgeon's clemency petition. The testimony before the Board included that of the charging prosecutor in Mr. Spurgeon's prosecution, who supports Mr. Spurgeon's petition and stated that by today's standards, based on the facts of this case, prosecutors would have tried Mr. Spurgeon for first degree murder-not aggravated first degree murder-which would have carried a shorter sentence and resulted in Mr. Spurgeon being released from custody over a decade ago.

WHEREAS, the King County Prosecuting Attorney does not oppose Mr. Spurgeon's clemency petition, and confirmed that the standard range sentence for Mr. Spurgeon, had he faced a first-degree murder conviction, would have been shorter than Mr. Spurgeon's current incarceration.

WHEREAS, the Clemency and Pardons Board unanimously voted to recommend that the Governor commute Mr. Spurgeon's sentence. In making this recommendation, the Board cited Mr. Spurgeon's strong support network, his remorse and growth over the term of his incarceration, the support of his charging prosecutor, and his exemplary prison record over the last 25 years.

WHEREAS, I have reviewed all pertinent facts and circumstances surrounding this matter, the circumstances of the involved crime, and the favorable recommendation of the Washington State Clemency and Pardons Board, and in light of the foregoing, I have determined that the best interests of justice will be served by this action.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Jay Inslee, by virtue of the power vested in me as Governor of the state of Washington, adopt the recommendation of the Clemency and Pardons Board and hereby COMMUTE Steven Charles Spurgeon's 1989 sentence for FIRST DEGREE AGGRAVATED MURDER in King County Superior Court Cause No. 89-1-00592-8, conditioned on his written agreement to comply with all terms outlined by the Department of Corrections (DOC) in the below community transition plan. If detained, Mr. Spurgeon will be provided a preliminary hearing, as promptly as convenient after arrest, to determine whether there are reasonable grounds to believe he has violated the above conditions.

WHEREAS, Dr. King's unwavering support for the principles of racial justice and social equality helped transform America; and

WHEREAS, In 2020, an immense public outcry and movement that followed the police killing of George Floyd – a Black man – continues to call for immediate actions toward eliminating systemic racism and police brutality; and

WHEREAS, Dr. King's steadfast pursuit of fairness encouraged others, as exemplified in his famous "Letter from Birmingham Jail," in which he said, "Injustice anywhere is a threat to justice everywhere."

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, That the Senate, in recognition of the courageous leadership and legacy of hope demonstrated by Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., honor his memory by urging all citizens of our state to continue the legacy of Dr. King by condemning racism in all its forms and advancing a more perfect union where all people experience fair treatment under our laws.

Senators Nobles, Short, Fortunato, Saldaña, Wilson, J., Hasegawa, Trudeau and Warnick spoke in favor of adoption of the resolution.

MOTION

On motion of Senator Hasegawa, and without objection, the remarks of Senator Nobles were spread upon the journal.

Senator Nobles: "Thank you, Mr. President. Well, we just had a song, but I have another one for you. Happy birthday to you, Happy birthday to you, Happy birthday, Happy birthday to you, Happy birthday to you, Happy birthday. And I might not have the most beautiful voice and you might have heard that Stevie Wonder hit before. You might be wondering why Senator Nobles is singing on the Senate floor. But I wanted to bring to your attention that this song was written by Stevie Wonder. He shared with Coretta Scott King that he had a dream, and in his dream, he had a vision that he could write this song to help to move forward the movement to pass these senate legislation to offer a day to celebrate Reverend Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. In 1998 Stevie Wonder wrote that song and around that time, there was a growing movement to establish a national holiday to honor of Dr. King. Many states and cities had established a holiday, but the movement was asking for a national holiday in recognition. Stevie Wonder, as a strong supporter of the civil rights movement, wanted to do his part. And he wanted to raise awareness and contribute to this movement. So, he released his version of the 'Happy Birthday' song to raise awareness. But let's take it back to the beginning of the movement for a moment.

The first proposed legislation was offered by a Democrat, and it took about fifteen years and later another piece of legislation was sponsored by a Republican. And that legislation passed. And I learned recently that it was because of this leadership, this type of leadership in this bipartisan effort to recognize the importance of social justice and civil rights and peace in our county and an opportunity for us to come together, that passed this important piece of legislation.

And yes, we still have very important work to do. A lot more work to do. Once the legislation was passed by the President the opposition pushed for rebranding. They said, 'No, let's not call it Reverend Dr. Martin Luther King Day. Let's call it Civil Rights Day or Equality Day.' But those titles attempted to dilute the legacy of this unparalleled leader. Throughout his leadership Dr. King had an immense focus on not just the civil rights movement, but on poverty, but on economic injustice, wealth distribution and education. And as someone who serves on two education committees here in this Senate, that last one, of education, really stands out to me because I know that the remarkable impact that education can have. That access to education, that a school environment can have on our youngest learners. So, this is particularly important for our young people. And this day is, for me, really why we are here, why our work is so crucial. The recognition of this day, dedicated to one our nations most prominent leaders, extends beyond party. It is a reminder that this session and every session have a really important duty. We have a duty to our children, to our future, and to continue emerging from the tumultuous period we experienced in the pandemic.

In 1947 Dr. King published a paper titled The Purpose of Education. Mr. President, I know I have been relying on my notes a little bit, but do you mind if I read a little excerpt from his paper?"

President Heck: "Please proceed."

Senator Nobles: "Thank you. 'The function of education, therefore, is to teach one to think intensively and to think critically. But education which stops with efficiency may prove the greatest menace to society. The most dangerous criminal may be the man gifted with reason, but with no morals.'

And so, this is why we honor Dr. King every single year. We must remember that this is far greater than division and grammar, but we have an opportunity to guide the moral compass of our children. We must remember that our children are absorbing the world around them and are questioning everything, including the past. And they should. I hope for all of our children, our grandchildren, our great grandchildren, that they continue to learn from our faults. That they continue to learn from our past. And that more importantly they help us to build a better future.

History is so critical for our students. Understanding the legacy and the why behind a day like Martin Luther King Day is so important for our students. And not just some history, but the many stories. The stories that will allow our children to create the kind of future that we want to see for them. That they want to see for themselves. So, I hope when they learn about the histories and legacies of the leaders that came before us, and when they remember how we came together to create a holiday like Martin Luther King Day, and how, despite our differences and identity and region and party, that collectively we align to fulfill our shared goals of a better tomorrow for each of us and for each of our children. Thank you Mr. President."

The President declared the question before the Senate to be the adoption of Senate Resolution No. 8604.

The motion by Senator Nobles carried and the resolution was adopted by voice vote.

MOTION

On motion of Senator Pedersen, the Senate reverted to the third order of business.

INTRODUCTION OF SPECIAL GUESTS

The President welcomed and introduced The Honorable Jay Inslee, Governor, who was seated at the rostrum.

With permission of the Senate, business was suspended to allow Governor Inslee to address the Senate.

REMARKS BY GOVERNOR INSLEE

Governor Inslee: "Thank you for this huge honor to be able to address this chamber on this special day. It is a huge honor for a couple of reasons. One, to in any way honor the most inspirational effective leader in the history of America to allow us to march, in our continuing march toward a more perfect union. And second, it is a personal privilege because with Senator Warnick, Trudi and I are one of the few people in this room right now that were actually adults to watch what he meant for America in real time. And you know, history always seems inevitable when you look backwards. This progress was not inevitable when this man was alive. It was questioned. It was fought. It was controversial. He was subject to massive personal attacks, obviously physical threats, and what he did, I have to tell you, was change the face of this America through personal effort and still it's astounding to me to see what happened. The difference between America from November 1961 when he went to the University of Washington and gave a speech and the end of this life in 1968 was an entirely new nation. And I watched that happen. So, to be able to lend my voice to the importance of this holiday, it is a privilege that you have asked me to say a few words. I just want to focus on two of his, at least in my mind, quotes that speak closest to my heart. If I may Mr. Lt. Governor? He said, [All men] 'are caught in an inescapable network of mutuality, tied in a single garment of destiny. Whatever effects one directly, affects all indirectly. I can never be what I ought to be until you are what you ought to be, [and] you can never be what you ought to be until I am what I ought to be.' And I think in your work in the next several weeks I know you'll be directed by an effort to be all this chamber can be so that every citizen in the state of Washington can be all they can be. And if we follow that admonition, we're going to do great work together this session. The second, the second quote is the one least noted. Dr. King had two things he fought. Here is what he said about the two twin evils: 'There are two inseparable twins. The twins of racial injustice and economic injustice. These are directly linked.' And it is that second part of economic injustice as Senator Hasegawa talked about that is frequently sort of given short shrift in his struggles. He understood you could not have one without solving the other. And when he lost his life in Memphis, he was fighting for economic injustice. He was there to stand up for the refuse workers who were trying to have some economic justice on the day he lost his life. And so, I think we all can be inspired to focus on that as well. And I want to compliment this chamber in the state of Washington that has focused on that, in having the highest minimum wage in the nation. In passing overtime reform. In passing paid leave. In passing the best career connected learning program in the United States. In investing in our students and our educational system. And having the best financial aid program for our kids to go to college. This chamber's work, to follow Dr. Martin Luther King and attack economic injustice is something I think you should be proud of, and our state is proud of us. Let's keep this march of justice going. Thank you."

MOTION

Senator Pedersen moved adoption of the following resolution:

SENATE RESOLUTION 8606

By Senator Pedersen

WHEREAS, The Senate adopted permanent rules for the 2023-2025 biennium under Senate Resolution 8601; and

WHEREAS, The notice requirements set forth in Senate Rule 35 have been satisfied;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, That Rule 45 is amended as follows:

"Rule 45. 1. At least five days' notice shall be given of all public hearings held by any committee other than the rules committee. Such notice shall contain the date, time and place of such hearing together with the title and number of each bill, or identification of the subject matter, to be considered at such hearing. By a majority vote of the committee members present at any committee meeting such notice may be dispensed with. The reason for such action shall be set forth in a written statement preserved in the records of the meeting.

2. No committee may hold a public hearing during a regular or extraordinary session on a proposal identified as a draft unless the draft has been made available to the public at least twenty-four hours prior to the hearing. This rule does not apply during the five days prior to any cutoff established by concurrent resolution nor does it apply to any measure exempted from the resolution.

3. During its consideration of or vote on any bill, resolution or memorial, the deliberations of any committee or subcommittee of the senate shall be open to the public. In case of any disturbance or disorderly conduct at any such deliberations, the chair shall order the sergeant at arms to suppress the same and may order the meeting closed to any person or persons creating such disturbance.

4. No committee shall amend a measure, adopt a substitute bill, or vote upon any measure or appointment absent a quorum. A committee may conduct a hearing absent a quorum. A majority of any committee shall constitute a quorum and committees shall be considered to have a quorum present unless the question is raised. Any question as to quorum not raised at the time of the committee action is deemed waived.

5. Bills reported to the senate from a standing committee must have a majority report, which shall be prepared upon a printed standing committee report form; shall be adopted at a regularly or specially called meeting during a legislative session and shall be signed by a majority of the committee; and shall carry only one of the following recommendations:

- a. Do pass;
- b. Do pass as amended;
- c. That a substitute bill be substituted therefor, and the substitute bill do pass; or
- d. Without recommendation.

In addition to one of the above-listed recommendations, a report may also recommend that a bill be referred to another committee.

6. A majority report of a committee must carry the signatures of a majority of the members of the committee. In the event a committee has a quorum pursuant to subsection 4 of this rule, a majority of the members present may act on a measure, subject to obtaining the signatures of a majority of the members of the committee on the majority report. If, after executive action on a measure, the signatures of all members are not included on either a majority or minority report, the committee shall hold the signature sheets for the measure for 24 hours, not counting Saturdays or Sundays, from adjournment of the committee hearing at which executive action was taken on the measure. This 24-hour hold period applies even if a majority of the members of the committee has signed the majority report. After the 24-hour hold period, the signature sheets must be submitted to the workroom if there is a majority of signatures on the majority report. Once signature sheets have been submitted to the senate workroom by committee staff, a member may not sign or remove his or her signature from a majority or minority signature sheet. If a majority of members of the committee have not signed the majority report, the measure or appointment remains in the possession of the committee. The 24-hour hold period does not apply within the five days preceding any cutoff date and does not apply to a biennial or supplemental omnibus operating budget, omnibus capital budget, or omnibus transportation budget.

7. Any measure, appointment, substitute bill, or amendment still within a committee's possession before it has been reported out to the full senate may be reconsidered to correct an error, change language, or otherwise accurately reflect the will of the committee in its majority and minority reports to the full senate. Any such reconsideration may be made at any time, by any member of the committee, provided that the committee has not yet reported the measure, appointment, substitute bill, or amendment out to the full senate. Any such reconsideration made after a vote has been taken or signatures obtained will require a new vote and signature sheet. Any measure which does not receive a majority vote of the members present may be reconsidered at that meeting and may again be considered upon motion of any committee member if one day's notice of said motion is provided to all committee members.

8. Any member of the committee not concurring in the majority report may sign a minority report containing a recommendation of "do not pass" or "without recommendation," which shall be signed by those members of the committee subscribing thereto, and submitted with the majority report. Unless the signatory of a minority report expressly indicates a "do not pass" recommendation, the member's vote shall be deemed to be "without recommendation." In every case where a majority report form is circulated for signature, a minority report form shall also be circulated.

9. When a committee reports a substitute for an original bill with the recommendation that the substitute bill do pass, it shall be in order to read the substitute bill the first time and have the same ordered printed.

A motion for the substitution of the substitute bill for the original bill shall not be in order until the committee on rules places the original bill on the second reading calendar.

10. No vote in any committee shall be taken by secret ballot nor shall any committee have a policy of secrecy as to any vote on action taken in such committee.

11. All reports of standing committees must be on the secretary's desk one hour prior to convening of the session in order to be read at said session. During any special session of the legislature or within the three days preceding any cut-off date or sine die, this rule may be suspended by a majority vote of those present. This rule does not apply to reports of biennial or supplemental omnibus operating budget, omnibus capital budget, or omnibus transportation budget bill.

12. For purposes of this rule, a committee is deemed to have reported a measure, appointment, substitute bill, or amendment out when it has delivered its majority and minority reports to the senate workroom. After such delivery, the committee no longer has possession of the measure, appointment, substitute bill, or amendment and no further committee action, including reconsideration or a member adding or removing his or her signature to a majority or minority report, may be taken.

13. All committees will rely upon and use the Electronic Bill Book. Committee staff should add all materials relating to hearings, work sessions, or executive sessions to the Electronic Bill Book as early as possible or when the material has been made public. Paper copies will not be provided to members. All materials submitted by the public shall be submitted electronically.

14. All committees will use the online Committee Sign-In system. All committee members will be able to view the list of individuals who have signed in to testify on each measure or appointment. Members of the public wishing to testify in-person or remotely may sign up remotely no later than one hour before the committee is scheduled to meet.

15. With the exception of the ways and means and transportation committees, the chairs of standing committees must publish the list of measures and appointments that may be considered for executive session by 4:00 p.m. two days preceding executive session. The chairs of the ways and means committee and the transportation committee must publish the list of measures and appointments that may be considered for executive session by 7:00 p.m. two days preceding executive session. A chair, with the consent of the ranking member, has discretion to waive this deadline in extraordinary circumstances. A published measure or appointment may be rescheduled for executive action at the committee's next meeting without additional notice, provided no additional amendments are considered.

16. Members must have amendment requests to nonpartisan committee staff by 12:00 p.m. the day before scheduled executive action. A chair, with the consent of the ranking member, has discretion to waive this deadline in extraordinary circumstances or to accept technical revisions to perfect an amendment. Members should be considerate of staff and turn in amendment requests earlier if they are long or complex, keeping in mind the final deadline for consideration of amendments.

17. All amendments, including substitutes, must be sponsored by a committee member. All amendments and effect statements must be either drafted or reviewed, or both, by nonpartisan committee staff. To be eligible for consideration at an executive session in a committee meeting scheduled to begin prior to 12:00 p.m., amendments must be released from confidentiality and posted to the Electronic Bill Book for committee members and the public by 4:00 p.m. the day before the executive session or the amendments will be considered out of order. To be eligible for consideration at an executive session in a committee meeting scheduled to begin on or after 12:00 p.m., amendments must be released from confidentiality and posted to the Electronic Bill Book for committee members and the public by 7:00 p.m. the day before the executive session or the amendments will be considered out of order. A chair with the consent of the ranking member has discretion to waive this deadline in extraordinary circumstances or to accept technical revisions to perfect an amendment.

18. A committee chair may choose to allow ~~((other))~~ committee members to participate remotely in committee meetings. The committee chair shall notify the secretary of the senate prior to the first day of the legislative session if the chair will allow committee members to participate remotely. A chair that initially chooses to allow only in-person participation may later choose to allow remote participation but must provide the secretary of the senate with notice of the change at least 24 hours prior to the committee hearing in which the change will become effective. Once a chair has chosen to allow members to participate remotely, this choice cannot be changed during the remainder of the session. If a chair allows committee members to participate remotely, those members will be considered "present" for the purposes of this rule and Senate Rule 49. All committee meetings shall be chaired in person. A chair may ~~((not))~~ participate remotely in a committee meeting when another member of the committee is acting as chair. Members participating remotely shall be allowed to participate in committee activities to the same extent as those attending in person."

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Torres: “Thank you Mr. President. Today before you, you have Treveri, which is a wine cellar so ... So it’s a bubbly, just think of the 15th Legislative District when you take a sip of this because you will hear or actually know that it is coming from the grapes of the 15th Legislative District. That is where it is made and manufactured, so I invite you when you drive by the 15th Legislative District, the Yakima Valley, to stop in there and check out the tasting room at Treveri Wine Cellars. So, enjoy. Again, salud! And just remember, in the bills that are being passed, to consider our bounty that comes from the 15th Legislative District such as water resources and our agriculture. Thank you.”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Warnick: “Thank you Mr. President. And I think we’ve all realized by now this is our brand-new Senator Torres’ first bill. So, I just want to congratulate her. First bill, first day. Thank you, Senator Keiser, for pointing that out as well. But congratulations Senator Torres.”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Billig: “Thank you Mr. President. Well, I would like to welcome Senator Torres here to the Senate body and congratulate her on her first bill. I had a chance to know Senator Torres when she was ‘Councilmember’ Torres of Pasco and I know how highly regarded she is in Pasco for all of her great work there. I did however have one question for her, but of course I will be addressing you, so perhaps you can either convey it or I will just express it generally, maybe she can answer it later. The bottle that we got as a gift is really, is terrific. It’s a really nice gift. But I noticed that some members got this size of the bottle, and some members got a much larger size of the bottle. I noticed Senator Braun, actually, the Minority Leader got the larger bottle; the Majority Leader got the smaller bottle. I don’t know if there was a system. I see Senator Schoesler got the larger one. So that is my question. I, of course am not asking her yield to a question on her first day on the floor but it is just as Senator Claire Wilson likes to say, ‘It’s a wonder that I have’.”

REMARKS BY THE PRESIDENT

President Heck: “The President would like to encourage each and every member to go back and reread the purpose of points of personal privilege.”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Braun: “Thank you Mr. President. Request a point of personal privilege.

President Heck: “State your, probably remotely-related to, point of personal privilege.”

Senator Braun: “No, Mr. President, I strictly abide by the rules of this body. I simply, there are some things that are just inappropriate to speak about in a point of personal privilege. I think you’ll agree. Anyhow, I rose simply to say, hey. I want to welcome Senator Torres to this body. From the moment I first met her last year she struck me as someone who is very thoughtful, tough-minded when she needs to be, extraordinarily hard-working. I think she is off to a tremendous start here. It is no small thing to be the first freshman to do the first, first-speech. And she did it with aplomb. I am very, very proud to have her in this body and part of our caucus. Thank you, Mr. President.”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Randall: “Thank you Mr. President. I rise today also with excitement about Senator Torres’ addition to this chamber. I want to say felicidades and bienvenidos to the newest member of our Latina caucus here in the Senate. I am excited that we now have a bipartisan representation across both sides of the mountains, and I know that Senator Torres brings a wealth of experience from her work in economic development in eastern Washington. Her investment in small businesses. And also, in educational pathways for students, whether they are working in agriculture or in, on Main Street. We have a lot of work to do, and I am eager to learn from her and the experience that she brings and look forward to building stronger partnerships across the mountains as we work to train the next generation of leaders here in our state. And I am so grateful that she has come to join us.”

REMARKS BY THE PRESIDENT

President Heck: “As long as we have strayed this far, the President would invite you all to demonstrate your congratulations to Senator Torres.”

[The Senate rose in recognition of Senator Torres.]

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR

March 31, 2022

To the Honorable President and Members,
The Senate of the State of Washington

Ladies and Gentlemen:

I am returning herewith, without my approval, Engrossed Senate Bill No. 5017 entitled:

“AN ACT Relating to clarifying school district procurement requirements for personal service contracts for construction management, value engineering, constructability review, and building commissioning.”

Engrossed Senate Bill 5017 modifies the list of school district purchases and bidding that require public notification. Public notification and transparency of school district purchases are important to maintain. It is not clear that this change meets the public’s expectation of transparency.

For these reasons I have vetoed Engrossed Senate Bill No. 5017 in its entirety.

Respectfully submitted,

Jay Inslee

Governor

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR

March 31, 2022

To the Honorable President and Members,
The Senate of the State of Washington

Ladies and Gentlemen:

I am returning herewith, without my approval, Substitute Senate Bill No. 5810 entitled:

“AN ACT Relating to exempting certain prepaid services from insurance regulation.”

Substitute Senate Bill 5810 establishes that legal service contractors are not insurers and legal service plans are not insurance; however, it does so without establishing a clear regulatory framework for this sector. In addition, the definition of “legal service contractor” is overly broad and my capture services beyond the intended scope of the bill. More work needs to be done to ensure that these policy changes address consumer protections.

For these reasons I have vetoed Substitute Senate Bill No. 5810 in its entirety.

Respectfully submitted, specifically provided for in RCW 9.94A.535(3)(d), (e), (g), and (h).

Threatening words do not constitute harassment if it is apparent to the criminal justice participant that the person does not have the present and future ability to carry out the threat.

(3) Any criminal justice participant who is a target for threats or harassment prohibited under subsection (2)(b)(iii) or (iv) of this section, and any family members residing with him or her, shall be eligible for the address confidentiality program created under RCW 40.24.030.

Sec. 21. RCW 10.95.030 and 2015 c 134 s 5 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) Except as provided in subsections (2) and (3) of this section, any person convicted of the crime of aggravated first degree murder shall be sentenced to life imprisonment without possibility of release or parole. A person sentenced to life imprisonment under this section shall not have that sentence suspended, deferred, or commuted by any judicial officer and the indeterminate sentence review board or its successor may not parole such prisoner nor reduce the period of confinement in any manner whatsoever including but not limited to any sort of good-time calculation. The department of social and health services or its successor or any executive official may not permit such prisoner to participate in any sort of release or furlough program.

(2) If, pursuant to a special sentencing proceeding held under RCW 10.95.050, the trier of fact finds that there are not sufficient mitigating circumstances to merit leniency, the sentence shall be death. In no case, however, shall a person be sentenced to death if the person had an intellectual disability at the time the crime was committed, under the definition of intellectual disability set forth in (a) of this subsection. A diagnosis of intellectual disability shall be documented by a licensed psychiatrist or licensed psychologist designated by the court, who is an expert in the diagnosis and evaluation of intellectual disabilities. The defense must establish an intellectual disability by a preponderance of the evidence and the court must make a finding as to the existence of an intellectual disability.

(a) "Intellectual disability" means the individual has: (i) Significantly subaverage general intellectual functioning; (ii) existing concurrently with deficits in adaptive behavior; and (iii) both significantly subaverage general intellectual functioning and deficits in adaptive behavior were manifested during the developmental period.

(ii) Any person convicted of the crime of aggravated first degree murder for an offense committed when the person is at least sixteen years old but less than eighteen years old shall be sentenced to a maximum term of life imprisonment and a minimum term of total confinement of no less than twenty-five years. ~~((A minimum term of life may be imposed, in which case the person will be ineligible for parole or early release.))~~

(b) In setting a minimum term, the court must take into account mitigating factors that account for the diminished culpability of youth as provided in Miller v. Alabama, 132 S.Ct. 2455 (2012) including, but not limited to, the age of the individual, the youth's childhood and life experience, the degree of responsibility the youth was capable of exercising, and the youth's chances of becoming rehabilitated.

(c) A person sentenced under this subsection shall serve the sentence in a facility or institution operated, or utilized under contract, by the state. During the minimum term of total confinement, the person shall not be eligible for community custody, earned release time, furlough, home detention, partial confinement, work crew, work release, or any other form of early release authorized under RCW 9.94A.728, or any other form of authorized leave or absence from the correctional facility while not in the direct custody of a corrections officer. conduct, and the offender shall participate in, an examination of the person, incorporating methodologies that are recognized by experts in the prediction of dangerousness, and including a prediction of the probability that the person will engage in future criminal behavior if released on conditions to be set by the board. The board may consider a person's failure to participate in an evaluation under this subsection in determining whether to release the person. The board shall order the person released, under such affirmative and other conditions as the board determines appropriate, unless the board determines by a preponderance of the evidence that, despite such conditions, it is more likely than not that the person will commit new criminal law violations if released. If the board does not order the person released, the board shall set a new minimum term not to exceed five additional years. The board shall give public safety considerations the highest priority when making all discretionary decisions regarding the ability for release and conditions of release.

(g) In a hearing conducted under (f) of this subsection, the board shall provide opportunities for victims and survivors of victims of any crimes for which the offender has been convicted to present statements as set forth in RCW 7.69.032. The procedures for victim and survivor of victim input shall be provided by rule. (i) An offender released or discharged under this section may be returned to the institution at the discretion of the board if the offender is found to have violated a condition of community custody. The offender is entitled to a hearing pursuant to RCW 9.95.435. The board shall set a new minimum term of incarceration not to exceed five years.

"PART I

STATEMENT OF LEGISLATIVE INTENT

NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. The legislature finds that making the act of casting a ballot as simple as possible will help promote the free and equal elections guaranteed by Article I, section 19 and Article VI, section 1 of the Washington state Constitution. The legislature recognizes that transparency and fiscal responsibility are important to the people of Washington, and that election administration and ballot design should reflect these long-held values. The legislature further finds that the people rightfully expect items on their ballots to be neutrally and accurately worded. Finally, the legislature finds for the votes that Washingtonians cast to have meaning, the ballot must be limited to candidate elections that give the people the power to choose their representatives or ballot measures that determine what laws and plan of government the state and its localities shall have.

PART II

REPEAL OF ADVISORY VOTES

Sec. 2. RCW 29A.32.070 and 2016 c 83 s 1 are each amended to read as follows:

Instead, I have some nice little treats from my district. So we have, you either got coffee or tea that either comes from a former student who is a member of Lummi Nation or the family of our county councilmember. We have some jam from a wonderful farmer in Custer who's been doing this work. And even my neighbor, some stickers from various artists from around the county. And my neighbor who bakes bread. And you can go and pick it up and buy it from his front porch. He baked you all bread today and it was driven down today by a wonderful PUD commissioner from Blaine who is here to visit all of us today. So, thank you so much and I just want to say thank you so much for this honor."

After ten years in the other Chamber, I am proud to say I am finally ‘House-broken.’ It is an honor and a pleasure to serve here with you and I look forward to continuing the tradition of my predecessors who have a long, storied tradition of serving the 35th. And today from my district – we have a large timber industry and also a large shellfish industry – and so on the desk here today are Doug Fir trees, because these are what are used to replant the forest after, after they are harvested. And that is a fifth-generation timber company that I got these from, Green Diamond, that started in 1890. And down in the cafeteria are oysters on the half shell from another fifth-generation company in my district, Taylor Shellfish. So, as the dean of the freshman class, I thought we had to raise the bar a little bit. So for those freshmen who still have to do this, maybe they can up it and make it three gifts. But, again, it is an honor to be here. Thank you Mr. President.”

SENATE RESOLUTION
8618

By Senators Hasegawa, Conway, Kuderer, Saldaña, Salomon, Short, Torres and Wagoner

WHEREAS, On February 19, 1942, President Franklin D. Roosevelt issued Executive Order 9066, which authorized the United States military to forcibly remove and incarcerate more than 120,000 persons of Japanese ancestry from the West Coast, including 12,000 Japanese American residents of Washington State; and

WHEREAS, The first civilian evacuation order gave Japanese Americans from Bainbridge Island, Washington less than one week to leave behind homes, personal belongings, farms, businesses, friends, and family and report to detention centers like Camp Harmony on the grounds of the Washington State Fair in Puyallup, where hastily converted horse stables housed the evacuated families; and

WHEREAS, These detention centers were temporary quarters for the evacuees while the United States military department constructed 10 mass incarceration sites for Japanese Americans located in remote inland areas of the United States; and

WHEREAS, This drastic policy of removal and relocation allegedly aimed to prevent acts of espionage and sabotage by Japanese Americans who were deemed untrustworthy and disloyal to the United States; and

WHEREAS, On March 23, 1943, the War Department organized a segregated unit of Japanese Americans, many of whom reported for military duty from the concentration camps surrounded by barbed wire in which they and their families were detained; and

WHEREAS, More than 12,000 volunteers responded to questions about their loyalty and patriotism by amassing a battle record unparalleled in United States military history with a casualty rate of 314% and earning a collective 7 Presidential Unit Citations, 21 Medals of Honor, 29 Distinguished Service Crosses, 1 Distinguished Service Medal, 588 Silver Stars, more than 4,000 Bronze Stars, 22 Legion of Merit Medals, 145 Soldier's Medals, 9,486 Purple Hearts, 16 decorations from France and Italy, and, in 2010, the Congressional Gold Medal; and

WHEREAS, Equally loyal and patriotic Japanese Americans fought to protect our constitutional rights and liberties through dissent, like University of Washington student and Auburn native Gordon Hirabayashi who was arrested, convicted, and imprisoned for defying the military curfew on select civilians and refusing to evacuate when ordered; and

WHEREAS, In 1982, the Congressional commission on wartime relocation and internment of civilians found "no military or security reason for the internment" of persons of Japanese ancestry, but determined the cause of the incarceration as "racial prejudice, war hysteria, and a failure of political leadership"; and

WHEREAS, Through this travesty of justice, Japanese Americans suffered immense economic loss of property and assets; experienced immeasurable physical and psychological harm as individuals and collectively as a community; and were deprived of their constitutional liberties without due process of law; and

WHEREAS, In 1979, Washington State Congressman Mike Lowry introduced H.R. 5977 to provide reparations and an apology to the Japanese American incarcerated, thus initiating a 10-year legislative quest that ended when President Ronald Reagan signed the Civil Liberties Act of 1988; and

WHEREAS, Throughout Washington State, the last remaining survivors of the European and Asian Pacific battlefields of World War II and of American incarceration camps live their golden years in quiet contrast to their extraordinary acts of conscience and valor while all of America continues to benefit from their heroic patriotism;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, That the Washington State Senate pause to acknowledge the 81st anniversary of the signing of Executive Order 9066; to recognize and remember Japanese American veterans, incarcerated, and civil rights activists from the State of Washington; and to reflect on, and honor, the lessons, blessings, and responsibilities of the phrase ". . .with liberty and justice for all"; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That copies of this resolution be immediately transmitted by the Secretary of the Senate to the Nisei Veterans Committee, Densho, the Japanese American Citizens League, the Japanese Cultural and Community Center of Washington State, and the Wing Luke Museum of the Asian Pacific American Experience.

SENATE RESOLUTION 8619

By Senators Nobles, Conway, Kuderer, Saldaña, Salomon, Short, Torres and Wagoner

WHEREAS, Black History Month was established in February 1926 by Carter G. Woodson as Negro History Week and was later expanded to Afro-American History Month in 1976 in honor of the nation's bicentennial; and

WHEREAS, It was Carter G. Woodson's hope that, through this special observance, all Americans would be reminded of their own roots and develop a mutual respect for the contributions of all racial groups in America; and

WHEREAS, For more than 300 years as part of an established system of slavery and human bondage, Black Americans toiled and survived, and then overcame the degradation and shame of this system to become contributors at every level of our public and private endeavors; and

WHEREAS, We honor the accomplishments and bravery of the first Black Washingtonians who braved the treacherous journey along the Oregon Trail to escape slave laws in the southern United States; among them George Washington Bush, a free born slave, continued to the territory north of the Columbia River that was free from the Oregon laws that banned Black Americans from settling in the territory south of the Columbia River; and

WHEREAS, George Washington Bush ended his journey in Tumwater to establish a farm; his son William Owen Bush in 1889 became the first Black American to serve in the Washington Territorial Legislature representing Thurston County; William Owen Bush helped write the first state law to establish the Washington State College in Pullman, now Washington State University; and

WHEREAS, Representatives Charles Stokes and Marjorie Pitter King were the first Black American man and woman to serve in the legislature following the proclamation of Washington statehood; and

WHEREAS, In the early 1900s, Jim Crow laws forced the first wave migration of Black Americans to Washington state with the majority of the population settling in the Central District neighborhood of Seattle, which contains one of the most diverse populations in the Pacific Northwest to the present day; and

WHEREAS, The second migration of 1940-1970 resulted in the largest migration of Black Americans fleeing the south to the Pacific Northwest for economic and social opportunities during the rapid industrialization of the American West, with many working for the war industries that led to the Allied Powers victory in World War II; and

FORTY THIRD DAY, FEBRUARY 20, 2023

WHEREAS, After World War II, Black Americans continued to struggle for upward class mobility such as decent housing, well-paying jobs, and quality education; returning military service members were denied their VA benefits once again after another major world conflict; these benefits could have potentially propelled millions of Black Americans out of poverty, but were instead shut out during one of the greatest economic expansions in United States history; and

WHEREAS, The desire to enjoy a life of freedom and liberty caused Black Americans to defy racial hostility, Jim Crow laws, and economic and social injustices; and

WHEREAS, That desire resulted in a decade of social and political unrest that is known as the Civil Rights Movement, whose tactics and rhetoric inspired countless other liberation and rights movements for marginalized and impoverished communities; and

WHEREAS, Resistance and struggle has inspired Black Americans to succeed and the idea of a more perfect union has left a positive legacy in American culture and society in education, medicine, industry, the military, religion, social sciences, philosophy, agriculture, engineering, and the arts; and

WHEREAS, Black Americans continue to contribute widely to the attainment of peace, equality, and justice, and all Americans deserve to know of the great moments and accomplishments of Black Americans; and

WHEREAS, Washington is a beautiful state, and America is a proud nation due to our recognition of the contributions made by many diverse populations and because of our ability to work together as a state dependent upon international peace, harmony, and cooperation;

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

"Sec. 1. RCW 46.63.030 and 2013 2nd sp.s. c 23 s 23 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) A law enforcement officer has the authority to issue a notice of traffic infraction:

(a) When the infraction is committed in the officer's presence, except as provided in RCW 46.09.485;

(b) When the officer is acting upon the request of a law enforcement officer in whose presence the traffic infraction was committed;

(c) If an officer investigating at the scene of a motor vehicle accident has reasonable cause to believe that the driver of a motor vehicle involved in the accident has committed a traffic infraction;

(d) When the infraction is detected through the use of an automated traffic safety camera under RCW 46.63.170; ~~((or))~~

(e) When the infraction is detected through the use of an automated school bus safety camera under RCW 46.63.180; or

(f) When the infraction is detected through the use of a speed safety camera system under section 3 of this act.

(2) A court may issue a notice of traffic infraction upon receipt of a written statement of the officer that there is reasonable cause to believe that an infraction was committed.

(3) If any motor vehicle without a driver is found parked, standing, or stopped in violation of this title or an equivalent administrative regulation or local law, ordinance, regulation, or resolution, the officer finding the vehicle shall take its registration number and may take any other information displayed on the vehicle which may identify its user, and shall conspicuously affix to the vehicle a notice of traffic infraction.

(4) In the case of failure to redeem an abandoned vehicle under RCW 46.55.120, upon receiving a complaint by a registered tow truck operator that has incurred costs in removing, storing, and disposing of an abandoned vehicle, an officer of the law enforcement agency responsible for directing the removal of the vehicle shall send a notice of infraction by certified mail to the last known address of the person responsible under RCW 46.55.105. The notice must be entitled "Littering—Abandoned Vehicle" and give notice of the monetary penalty. The officer shall append to the notice of infraction, on a form prescribed by the department of licensing, a notice indicating the amount of costs incurred as a result of removing, storing, and disposing of the abandoned vehicle, less any amount realized at auction, and a statement that monetary penalties for the infraction will not be considered as having been paid until the monetary penalty payable under this chapter has been paid and the court is satisfied that the person has made restitution in the amount of the deficiency remaining after disposal of the vehicle.

Sec. 2. RCW 46.63.075 and 2012 c 83 s 6 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) In a traffic infraction case involving an infraction detected through the use of an automated traffic safety camera under RCW 46.63.170 ~~((or))~~, detected through the use of a speed safety camera system under section 3 of this act, or detected through the use of an automated school bus safety camera under RCW 46.63.180, proof that the particular vehicle described in the notice of traffic infraction was in violation of any such provision of RCW 46.63.170, section 3 of this act, and 46.63.180, together with proof that the person named in the notice of traffic infraction was at the time of the violation the registered owner of the vehicle, constitutes in evidence a prima facie presumption that the registered owner of the vehicle was the person in control of the vehicle at the point where, and for the time during which, the violation occurred.

(2) This presumption may be overcome only if the registered owner states, under oath, in a written statement to the court or in testimony before the court that the vehicle involved was, at the time, stolen or in the care, custody, or control of some person other than the registered owner.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. A new section is added to chapter 46.63 RCW to read as follows:

(1) This section applies to the use of speed safety camera systems in state highway work zones.

(2) Nothing in this section prohibits a law enforcement officer from issuing a notice of infraction to a person in control of a vehicle at the time a violation occurs under RCW 46.63.030(1)(a), (b), or (c).

(3)(a) The department of transportation is responsible for all actions related to the operation and administration of speed safety camera systems in state highway work zones including, but not limited to, the procurement and administration of contracts necessary for the implementation of speed safety camera systems and the mailing of notices of infraction. By July 1, 2024, the department of transportation, in consultation with the Washington state patrol, department of licensing, office of administrative hearings, Washington traffic safety commission, and other organizations committed to protecting civil rights must adopt rules addressing such actions and take all necessary steps to implement this section.

(b) The Washington state patrol is responsible for all actions related to the enforcement and adjudication of speed violations under this section including, but not limited to, notice of infraction verification and issuance authorization, and determining which types of emergency vehicles are exempt from being issued notices of infraction under this section. By July 1,

FORTY FIFTH DAY, FEBRUARY 22, 2023

2024, the Washington state patrol, in consultation with the department of transportation, department of licensing, office of administrative hearings, Washington traffic safety commission, and other organizations committed to protecting civil rights must adopt rules addressing such actions and take all necessary steps to implement this section.

(c) When establishing rules under this subsection (3), the department of transportation and the Washington state patrol may also consult with other public and private agencies that have an interest in the use of speed safety camera systems in state highway work zones.

(4) Beginning July 1, 2024:

(a) A notice of infraction may only be issued under this section if a speed safety camera system captures a speed violation in a state highway work zone when workers are present. A notice of infraction under this section may be mailed to the registered owner of the vehicle within 30 days of the violation, or to the renter of a vehicle within 30 days of establishing the renter's name and address. The law enforcement officer issuing the notice of infraction shall include with it a certificate or facsimile thereof, based upon inspection of photographs, microphotographs, or electronic images produced by a speed safety camera stating the facts supporting the notice of infraction. This certificate or facsimile is prima facie evidence of the facts contained in it and is admissible in a proceeding charging a violation under this section. The photographs, microphotographs, or electronic images evidencing the violation must be available for inspection and admission into evidence in a proceeding to adjudicate the liability for the violation. A person receiving a notice of infraction based on evidence detected by a speed safety camera system may, within 30 days of receiving the notice of infraction, remit payment in the amount of the penalty assessed for the violation. If a person receiving a notice of infraction fails to remit payment in the amount of the penalty assessed within 30 days of receiving the notice of infraction, or if such person wishes to dispute the violation, it must be adjudicated in accordance with (b) of this subsection.

(b) A notice of infraction that has not been timely paid or a disputed notice of infraction shall be referred to the office of administrative hearings for adjudication consistent with chapter 34.05 RCW.

(c) Speed safety camera systems may only take photographs, microphotographs, or electronic images of the vehicle and vehicle license plate and only while a speed violation is occurring. The photograph, microphotograph, or electronic image must not reveal the face of the driver or any passengers in the vehicle. The department of transportation shall consider installing speed safety camera systems in a manner that minimizes the impact of camera flash on drivers.

(d) The registered owner of a vehicle is responsible for a traffic infraction under RCW 46.63.030 unless the registered owner overcomes the presumption in RCW 46.63.075 or, in the case of a rental car business, satisfies the conditions under (h) of this subsection. If appropriate under the circumstances, a renter identified under (h)(i) of this subsection is responsible for the traffic infraction.

(e) Notwithstanding any other provision of law, all photographs, microphotographs, or electronic images, or any other personally identifying data prepared under this section are for the exclusive use of the Washington state patrol and department of transportation in the discharge of duties under this section and are not open to the public and may not be used in court in a pending action or proceeding unless the action or proceeding relates to a speed violation under this section. This data may be used in administrative appeal proceedings relative to a violation under this section.

(f) All locations where speed safety camera systems are used must be clearly marked before activation of the camera system by placing signs in locations that clearly indicate to a driver that they are entering a state highway work zone where posted speed limits are monitored by a speed safety camera system. Signs placed in these locations must follow the specifications and guidelines under the manual of uniform traffic control devices for streets and highways as adopted by the department of transportation under chapter 47.36 RCW.

(g) Speed violations detected through the use of speed safety camera systems are not part of the registered owner's driving record under RCW 46.52.101 and 46.52.120.

(h) If the registered owner of the vehicle is a rental car business, the department of transportation shall, before a notice of infraction may be issued under this section, provide a written notice to the rental car business that a notice of infraction may be issued to the rental car business if the rental car business does not, within 30 days of receiving the written notice, provide to the issuing agency by return mail:

(i)(A) A statement under oath stating the name and known mailing address of the individual driving or renting the vehicle when the speed violation occurred;

(B) A statement under oath that the business is unable to determine who was driving or renting the vehicle at the time the speed violation occurred because the vehicle was stolen at the time of the violation. A statement provided under this subsection (4)(h)(i)(B) must be accompanied by a copy of a filed police report regarding the vehicle theft; or

(C) In lieu of identifying the vehicle operator, payment of the applicable penalty.

(ii) Timely mailing of a statement to the department of transportation relieves a rental car business of any liability under this chapter for the notice of infraction.

(5) Revenue generated from the deployment of speed safety camera systems must be deposited into the highway safety fund and first used exclusively for the operating and administrative costs under this section. The operation of speed safety camera systems is intended to increase safety in state highway work zones by changing driver behavior. Consequently, any revenue generated that exceeds the operating and administrative costs under this section must be distributed for the purpose of traffic safety including, but not limited to, driver training education and local DUI emphasis patrols.

(6) The Washington state patrol and department of transportation, in collaboration with the Washington traffic safety commission, must report to the transportation committees of the legislature by July 1, 2025, and biennially thereafter, on the data and efficacy of speed safety camera system use in state highway work zones. The final report due on July 1, 2029, must include a recommendation on whether or not to continue such speed safety camera system use beyond June 30, 2030.

(7) For the purposes of this section:

(a) "Speed safety camera system" means employing the use of speed measuring devices and cameras synchronized to automatically record one or more sequenced photographs, microphotographs, or other electronic images of a motor vehicle that exceeds a posted state highway work zone speed limit as detected by the speed measuring devices.

(b) "State highway work zone" means an area of any highway with construction, maintenance, utility work, or incident response activities authorized by the department of transportation. A state highway work zone is identified by the placement of temporary traffic control devices that may include signs, channelizing devices, barriers, pavement markings, and/or work vehicles with warning lights. It extends from the first warning sign or high intensity rotating, flashing, oscillating, or strobe lights on a vehicle to the end road work sign or the last temporary traffic control device or vehicle.

(8) This section expires June 30, 2030."

On page 1, line 1 of the title, after "highways;" strike the remainder of the title and insert "amending RCW 46.63.030 and 46.63.075; adding a new section to chapter 46.63 RCW; and providing an expiration date."
