PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator King: "Thank you Mr. President. Well, as all of your aware last Thursday the Governor announced all the regions except one got to move to Phase 2. Fortunately, we had a commissioner that in Yakima, a new commissioner in Yakima, Amanda McKinney, who said these numbers don't look right. And rather than just saying that, she took it on herself and started to call the departments of the health districts, the other commissioners in the other five counties in the south-central region, and they discovered there was an error by one hospital in Walla Walla. And it was a relatively large number. And is what kept the south-central region from moving to phase 2. They've got that fixed. They've they found the error. They reported it to DOH. And I want to thank the Governor and the Governor's office and DOH for their their prompt response to that. I want to thank Commissioner McKinney for her perseverance, so to speak. She ramrodded that all the way through. And then I publicly want to thank the good Senator Billig. I called him on Saturday, maybe morning I think it was, and asked him for his help to expedite the recalculation of those numbers and and talking to the Governor to see if we couldn't get that region released with everybody else. And not only did he say yes, he said 'I will do it right away and not only will I call the Governor's office I will call the Department of Health'. And I think it was like a half hour later he texted me back and said, 'I've done that'. Well, I just want to say thank you. I know that having a bipartisan effort to get to this point is very important and it's a great deal for our region and our county and all the citizens and all the businesses. So, Senator Billig, thank you very much."

SECOND READING

REMARKS BY THE PRESIDENT

President Heck: "It has been painfully brought to my attention that on more than one occasion my language may have slipped, and I referred to this Chamber incorrectly. I apologize to you in the deepest of sincerity. I also pledge to you that I am creating a fine jar, and every time I refer to the Senate as the House, I'm going to put five bucks in that fine jar. And at the end of session, I will donate it to charity. I will count upon you to remind me when I do that since I do that subconsciously. But you have a part of this deal, if anybody, especially the new House members, ever refers to me as Mr. Speaker, you gotta put five bucks into the fine jar. And let's hope that we can make a difference in some peoples lives by the end of session because of mistakes you've made not mistakes I've made."
