PREFACE

Numbering system: The number of each section of this code is made up of three factors, in sequence as follows: Number of title; number of chapter within the title; number of section within the chapter. Thus RCW 1.04.020 is Title 1, chapter 4, section 20. The section factor of the number (.020) is originally a three-digit factor, constitutes a true decimal, and provides a facility for numbering new sections to be inserted between old sections already consecutively numbered, merely by adding a digit at the right hand end of the number, ad infinitum. In most chapters of the code, sections have been numbered by tens (.010, .020, .030, .040, etc.) thus leaving nine vacant numbers between original sections so that for a time new sections may be inserted without extension of the section factor beyond three digits.

Citation to the Revised Code of Washington: The code may be cited as RCW; see RCW 1.04-.040. An RCW title may be cited Title 7 RCW. An RCW chapter may be cited chapter 7.24 RCW. An RCW section may be cited RCW 7.24.010. Through references may be made either by RCW 7.24.010-7.24.100 or RCW 7.24.010 through 7.24.100. Series of sections may be cited as RCW 7.24.010, 7.24.020, and 7.24.030.

History of the Revised Code of Washington; Source Notes. The Revised Code of Washington was adopted by the legislature in 1950; see chapter 1.04 RCW. The original publication (1951) contained material variances from the language and organization of the session laws from which it was derived, including a variety of divisions and combinations of the session law sections. During the years 1953-1959, the Statute Law Committee in exercise of the powers contained in chapter 1.08 RCW completed a comprehensive study of these variances and, by means of a series of administrative orders or reenactment bills, restored each title of the code so as to reflect its session law parentage, retaining however the general codification scheme originally adopted. An audit trail of this activity has been preserved in the concluding phrases of the source note of each section of the code so affected. The legislative source of each section is enclosed in brackets [] at the end of the section. Reference to session laws is abbreviated; thus "1891 c 23 § 1; 1854 p 99 § 135" refers to section 1, chapter 23, Laws of 1891 and section 135, page 99, Laws of 1854. "Prior" indicates a break in the statutory chain, usually a repeal and reenactment. "RRS or Rem. Supp.—" indicates the parallel citation in Remington's Revised Code, last published in 1949.

Where, prior to restoration, a section of this code constituted a consolidation of two or more sections of the session laws, or of sections separately numbered in Remington, the line of derivation is shown for each component section, each line of derivation being set off from the others by use of small Roman numerals, "(i)," "(ii)," etc.

Where, prior to restoration, only a part of a session law section was reflected in a particular RCW section the history note reference is followed by the word "part."

"Formerly" and its correlative form "FORMER PART OF SECTION" followed by an RCW citation preserves the record of original codification as it existed prior to restoration.

Double amendments: Double or other multiple amendments to a section made without reference to each other are set out in the code in smaller (8-point) type.

Index: Titles 1 through 91 are indexed in the RCW General Index. Separate indexes are provided for the Rules of Court and the State Constitution.

Sections repealed or decodified; Disposition table: Memorials to RCW sections repealed or decodified are no longer carried in place. They are now tabulated in numerical order in the table entitled "Disposition of former RCW sections."

Parallel tables: To convert a session law citation to its RCW number (laws of 1951 or later) consult the parallel tables. A similar table is included to relate the disposition in RCW of sections of Remington's Revised Statutes.

Errors or omissions: (1) Where an obvious clerical error has been made in the law during the legislative process, the code reviser adds a corrected word, phrase, or punctuation mark in brackets [] for clarity. Such additions do not constitute any part of the law.

(2) Although considerable care has been used in the production of this code, within the limits of available time and facilities, it is inevitable in so large a work that there will be errors, both mechanical and of judgment. As such errors are detected, or are believed to exist in particular sections, by those who use this code, it is requested that a note, citing the section involved and the nature of the error, be mailed to: Code Reviser, Legislative Building, Olympia, Washington 98504, so that correction may be made in any subsequent publication.

The Constitution of the United States of America

Preamble

We the people of the United States, in order to form a more perfect union, establish justice, insure domestic tranquility, provide for the common defense, promote the general welfare, and secure the blessings of liberty to ourselves and our posterity, do ordain and establish this Constitution for the United States of America.

ARTICLE I

§ 1 LEGISLATIVE POWERS. All legislative powers herein granted shall be vested in a congress of the United States, which shall consist of a senate and house of representatives.

§ 2 HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES, HOW CONSTITUTED, POWER OF IMPEACHMENT. The house of representatives shall be composed of members chosen every second year by the people of the several states, and the electors in each state shall have the qualifications requisite for electors of the most numerous branch of the state legislature.

No person shall be a representative who shall not have attained to the age of twenty-five years, and been seven years a citizen of the United States, and who shall not, when elected, be an inhabitant of that state in which he shall be chosen.

Representatives and direct taxes shall be apportioned among the several states which may be included within this union, according to their respective numbers, which shall be determined by adding to the whole number of free persons, including those bound to service for a term of years, and excluding Indians not taxed, three-fifths of all other person.* The actual enumeration shall be made within three years after the first meeting of the congress of the United States, and within every subsequent term of ten years, in such manner as they shall by law direct. The number of representatives shall not exceed one for every thirty thousand, but each state shall have at least one representative; and until such enumeration shall be made, the state of New Hampshire shall be entitled to choose three, Massachusetts eight, Rhode Island and Providence Plantations one, Connecticut five, New York six, New Jersey four, Pennsylvania eight, Delaware one,

Maryland six, Virginia ten, North Carolina five, South Carolina five, and Georgia three.

When vacancies happen in the representation from any state, the executive authority thereof shall issue writs of election to fill such vacancies.

The house of representatives shall choose their speaker and other officers; and shall have the sole power of impeachment.

*Note: Modified by Amendment XIV, Section 2.

§ 3 THE SENATE, HOW CONSTITUTED, IMPEACHMENT TRIALS. The senate of the United States shall be composed of two senators from each state, chosen by the legislature thereof, for six years; and each senator shall have one vote.

Immediately after they shall be assembled in consequence of the first election, they shall be divided as equally as may be into three classes. The seats of the senators of the first class shall be vacated at the expiration of the second year, of the second class at the expiration of the fourth year, and of the third class at the expiration of the sixth year, so that one-third may be chosen every second year; and if vacancies happen by resignation, or otherwise, during the recess of the legislature of any state, the executive thereof may make temporary appointments until the next meeting of the legislature, which shall then fill such vacancies.*

No person shall be a senator who shall not have attained to the age of thirty years, and been nine years a citizen of the United States, and who shall not, when elected, be an inhabitant of that state for which he shall be chosen.

The vice president of the United States shall be president of the senate, but shall have no vote, unless they be equally divided.

The senate shall choose their other officers, and also a president pro tempore, in the absence of the vice president, or when he shall exercise the office of president of the United States.

The senate shall have the sole power to try all impeachments. When sitting for that purpose, they shall be on oath or affirmation. When the president of the United States is tried the chief justice shall preside: and no person shall be convicted without the concurrence of two-thirds of the members present.

Judgment in cases of impeachment shall not extend further than to removal from office, and disqualification to hold and enjoy any office of honor, trust or profit under the United States: but the party convicted shall nevertheless be liable and subject to indictment, trial, judgment and punishment, according to law.

*Note: Provisions changed by Amendment XVII.

§ 4 ELECTION OF SENATORS AND REPRESENTATIVES. The times, places and manner of holding elections for senators and representatives, shall be prescribed in each state by the legislature thereof; but the congress may at any time by law make or alter such regulations, except as to the places of choosing senators.

The congress shall assemble at least once in every year, and such meeting shall be on the first Monday in December, unless they shall by law appoint a different day.*

*Note: Provision changed by Amendment XX, Section 2.

§ 5 QUORUM, JOURNALS, MEETINGS, ADJOURNMENTS. Each house shall be the judge of the elections, returns and qualifications of its own members, and a majority of each shall constitute a quorum to do business; but a smaller number may adjourn from day to day, and may be authorized to compel the attendance of absent members, in such manner, and under such penalties as each house may provide.

Each house may determine the rules of its proceedings, punish its members for disorderly behavior, and, with the concurrence of two-thirds, expel a member.

Each house shall keep a journal of its proceedings, and from time to time publish the same, excepting such parts as may in their judgment require secrecy; and the yeas and nays of the members of either house on any question shall, at the desire of one-fifth of those present, be entered on the journal.

Neither house, during the session of congress, shall, without the consent of the other, adjourn for more than three days, nor to any other place than that in which the two houses shall be sitting.

§ 6 COMPENSATION, PRIVILEGES, DISABILITIES. The senators and representatives shall receive a compensation for their services, to be ascertained by law, and paid out of the treasury of the United States. They shall in all cases, except treason, felony and breach of the peace, be privileged from arrest during their attendance at the session of their respective houses, and in going to and returning from the same; and for any speech or debate in either house, they shall not be questioned in any other place.

No senator or representative shall, during the time for which he was elected, be appointed to any civil office under the authority of the United States, which shall have been created, or the emoluments whereof shall have been increased during such time; and no person holding any office under the United States, shall be a member of either house during his continuance in office.

§ 7 PROCEDURE IN PASSING BILLS AND RESOLUTIONS. All bills for raising revenue shall originate in the house of representatives; but the senate may propose or concur with amendments as on other bills.

Every bill which shall have passed the house of representatives and the senate, shall, before it become a law, be presented to the president of the United States; if he approve he shall sign it, but if not he shall return it, with his objections to that house in which it shall have originated, who shall enter the objections at large on their journal, and proceed to reconsider it. If after such reconsideration two-thirds of that house shall agree to pass the bill, it shall be sent, together with the objections, to the other house, by which it shall likewise be reconsidered, and if approved by two-thirds of that house, it shall become a law. But in all such cases the votes of both houses shall be determined by yeas and nays, and the names of the persons voting for and against the bill shall be entered on the journal of each house respectively. If any bill shall not be returned by the president within ten days (Sundays excepted) after it shall have been presented to him, the same shall be a law, in like manner as if he had signed it, unless the congress by their adjournment prevent its return, in which case it shall not be a law.

Every order, resolution, or vote to which the concurrence of the senate and house of representatives may be necessary (except on a question of adjournment) shall be presented to the president of the United States; and before the same shall take effect, shall be approved by him, or being disapproved by him, shall be repassed by two-thirds of the senate and house of representatives, according to the rules and limitations prescribed in the case of a bill.

§ 8 POWERS OF CONGRESS. The congress shall have power to lay and collect taxes, duties, imposts and excises, to pay the debts and provide for the common defense and general welfare of the United States; but all duties, imposts and excises shall be uniform throughout the United States;

To borrow money on the credit of the United States;

To provide for calling forth the militia to execute the laws of the union, suppress insurrections and repel invasions;

To exercise exclusive legislation in all cases whatsoever, over such district (not exceeding ten miles square) as may, by cession of particular states, and the acceptance of congress, become the seat of the government of the United States, and to exercise like authority over all places purchased by the consent of the legislature of the state in which the same shall be, for the erection of forts, magazines, arsenals, dock yards, and other needful buildings; and

To make all laws which shall be necessary and proper for carrying into execution the foregoing powers, and all other powers vested by this Constitution in the government of the United States, or in any department or officer thereof.

§ 9 LIMITATIONS UPON POWERS OF CONGRESS. The migration or importation of such persons as any of the states now existing shall think proper to admit, shall not be prohibited by the congress prior to the year one thousand eight hundred and eight, but a tax or duty may be imposed on such importation, not exceeding ten dollars for each person.

The privilege of the writ of habeas corpus shall not be suspended, unless when in cases of rebellion or invasion the public safety may require it.

No tax or duty shall be laid on articles exported from any state.

No preference shall be given by any regulation of commerce or revenue to the ports of one state over those of another nor shall vessels bound to, or from, one state, be obliged to enter, clear, or pay duties in another.

No money shall be drawn from the treasury, but in consequence of appropriations made by law; and a regular statement and account of the receipts and expenditures of all public money shall be published from time to time.

§ 10 RESTRICTIONS UPON POWERS OF STATES. No state shall, without the consent of the congress, lay any imposts or duties on imports or exports, except what may be absolutely necessary for executing its inspection laws: and the net produce of all duties and imposts, laid by any state on imports or exports, shall be for the use of the treasury of the United States; and all such laws shall be subject to the revision and control of the congress.

No state shall, without the consent of congress, lay any duty of tonnage, keep troops, or ships of war in time of peace, enter into any agreement or compact with another state, or with a foreign power, or engage in war, unless actually invaded, or in such imminent danger as will not admit of delay.

ARTICLE II

§ 1 EXECUTIVE POWER, ELECTION, QUALIFICATIONS OF THE PRESIDENT. The executive power shall be vested in a president of the United States of America. He shall hold his office during the term of four years, and, together with the vice president, chosen for the same term, be elected, as follows

Each state shall appoint, in such manner as the legislature thereof may direct, a number of electors, equal to the whole number of senators and representatives to which the state may be entitled in the congress: but no senator or representative, or person holding an office of trust or profit under the United States, shall be appointed an elector.

The electors shall meet in their respective states, and vote by ballot for two persons, of whom one at least shall not be an inhabitant of the same state with themselves. And they shall make a list of all the persons voted for, and of the number of votes for each; which list they shall sign and certify, and transmit sealed to the seat of the government of the United States, directed to the president of the senate. The president of the senate shall, in the presence of the senate and house of representatives, open all the certificates, and the votes shall then be counted. The person having the greatest number of votes shall be the president, if such number be a majority of the whole number of electors appointed; and if there be more than one who have such majority, and have an equal number of votes, then the house of representatives shall immediately choose by ballot one of them for president; and if no person have a majority, then from the five highest on the list the said house shall in like manner choose the president. But in choosing the president, the votes shall be taken by states, the representation from each state having one vote; a quorum for this purpose shall consist of a member or members from two-thirds of the states, and a majority of all the states shall be necessary to a choice. In every case, after the choice of the president, the person having the greatest number of votes of the electors shall be the vice president. But if there should remain two or more who have equal votes, the senate shall choose from them by ballot the vice president.*

The congress may determine the time of choosing the electors, and the day on which they shall give their votes; which day shall be the same throughout the United States.

No person except a natural born citizen, or a citizen of the United States, at the time of the adoption of this Constitution, shall be eligible to the office of president; neither shall any person be eligible to that office who shall not have attained to the age of thirty-five years, and been fourteen years a resident within the United States.

In case of the removal of the president from office, or of his death, resignation, or inability to discharge the powers and duties of the said office, the same shall devolve on the vice president, and the congress may by law provide for the case of removal, death, resignation or inability, both of the president and vice president, declaring what officer shall then act as president, and such officer shall act accordingly, until the disability be removed, or a president shall be elected.

The president shall, at stated times, receive for his services, a compensation, which shall neither be increased nor diminished during the period for which he shall have been elected, and he shall not receive within that period any other emolument from the United States, or any of them.

Before he enter on the execution of his office, he shall take the following oath or affirmation: "I do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I will faithfully execute the office of president of the United States, and will to the best of my ability, preserve, protect and defend the Constitution of the United States."

Note: Provisions superseded by Amendment XII.*

§ 2 POWERS OF THE PRESIDENT. The president shall be commander in chief of the army and navy of the United States, and of the militia of the several states, when called into the actual service of the United States; he may require the opinion, in writing, of the principal officer in each of the executive departments, upon any subject relating to the duties of their respective offices, and he shall have power to grant reprieves and pardons for offences against the United States, except in cases of impeachment.

He shall have power, by and with the advice and consent of the senate, to make treaties, provided two-thirds of the senators present concur; and he shall nominate, and by and with the advice and consent of the senate, shall appoint ambassadors, other public ministers and consuls, judges of the supreme court, and all other officers of the United States, whose appointments are not herein otherwise provided for, and which shall be established by law: but the congress may by law vest the appointment of such inferior officers, as they think proper in the president alone, in the courts of law, or in the heads of departments.

The president shall have power to fill up all vacancies that may happen during the recess of the senate, by granting commissions which shall expire at the end of their next session.

§ 3 POWERS AND DUTIES OF THE PRESIDENT. He shall from time to time give to the congress information of the state of the union, and recommend to their consideration such measures as he shall judge necessary and expedient; he may, on extraordinary occasions, convene both houses, or either of them, and in case of disagreement between them, with respect to the time of adjournment, he may adjourn them to such time as he shall think proper; he shall receive ambassadors and other public ministers; he shall take care that the laws be faithfully executed, and shall commission all the officers of the United States.

§ 4 IMPEACHMENT. The president, vice president and all civil officers of the United States, shall be removed from office on impeachment for, and conviction of, treason, bribery, or other high crimes and misdemeanors.

ARTICLE III

§ 1 JUDICIAL POWER, TENURE OF OFFICE. The judicial power of the United States, shall be vested in one supreme court, and in such inferior courts as the congress may from time to time ordain and establish. The judges, both of the supreme and inferior courts, shall hold their offices during good behavior, and shall, at stated times, receive for their services, a compensation, which shall not be diminished during their continuance in office.

§ 2 JURISDICTION. The judicial power shall extend to all cases, in law and equity, arising under this Constitution, the laws of the United States, and treaties made, or which shall be made, under their authority; to all cases affecting ambassadors, other public ministers and consuls; to all cases of admiralty and maritime jurisdiction; to controversies to which the United States shall be a party; to controversies between two or more states; between a state and citizens of another state; between citizens of different states, between citizens of the same state claiming lands under grants of different states, and between a state, or the citizens thereof, and foreign states, citizens or subjects.*

In all cases affecting ambassadors, other public ministers and consuls, and those in which a state shall be party, the supreme court shall have original jurisdiction. In all the other cases before mentioned, the supreme court shall have appellate jurisdiction, both as to law and fact, with such exceptions, and under such regulations as the congress shall make.

The trial of all crimes, except in cases of impeachment, shall be by jury; and such trial shall be held in the state where the said crimes shall have been committed; but when not committed within any state, the trial shall be at such place or places as the congress may by law have directed.

Note: Clause changed by Amendment XI.*

§ 3 TREASON, PROOF AND PUNISHMENT. Treason against the United States, shall consist only in levying war against them, or in adhering to their enemies, giving them aid and comfort. No person shall be convicted of treason unless on the testimony of two witnesses to the same overt act, or on confession in open court.

The congress shall have power to declare the punishment of treason, but no attainder of treason shall work corruption of blood, or forfeiture except during the life of the person attainted.

ARTICLE IV

§ 1 FAITH AND CREDIT AMONG STATES. Full faith and credit shall be given in each state to the public acts, records, and judicial proceedings of every other state. And the congress may by general laws prescribe the manner in which such acts, records and proceedings shall be proved, and the effect thereof.

§ 2 PRIVILEGES AND IMMUNITIES, FUGITIVES. The citizens of each state shall be entitled to all privileges and immunities of citizens in the several states.

A person charged in any state with treason, felony, or other crime, who shall flee from justice, and be found in another state, shall on demand of the executive authority of the state from which he fled, be delivered up, to be removed to the state having jurisdiction of the crime.

No person held to service or labor in one state, under the laws thereof, escaping into another, shall, in consequence of any law or regulation therein, be discharged from such service or labor, but shall be delivered up on claim of the party to whom such service or labor may be due.

§ 3 ADMISSION OF NEW STATES. New states may be admitted by the congress into this union; but no new state shall be formed or erected within the jurisdiction of any other state; nor any state be formed by the junction of two or more states, or parts of states, without the consent of the legislatures of the states concerned as well as of the congress.

The congress shall have power to dispose of and make all needful rules and regulations respecting the territory or other property belonging to the United States; and nothing in this Constitution shall be so construed as to prejudice any claims of the United States, or of any particular state.

§ 4 GUARANTEE OF REPUBLICAN GOVERNMENT. The United States shall guarantee to every state in this union a republican form of government, and shall protect each of them against invasion; and on application of the legislature, or of the executive (when the legislature cannot be convened) against domestic violence.

ARTICLE V

Amendment of the Constitution. The congress, whenever two-thirds of both houses shall deem it necessary, shall propose amendments to this Constitution, or, on the application of the legislatures of two-thirds of the several states, shall call a convention for proposing amendments, which, in either case, shall be valid to all intents and purposes, as part of this Constitution, when ratified by the legislatures of three-fourths of the several states, or by conventions in three-fourths thereof, as the one or the other mode of ratification may be proposed by the congress; provided that no amendment which may be made prior to the year one thousand eight hundred and eight shall in any manner affect the first and fourth clauses in the ninth section of the first article; and that no state, without its consent, shall be deprived of its equal suffrage in the senate.

ARTICLE VI

Debts, supremacy, oath. All debts contracted and engagements entered into, before the adoption of this Constitution, shall be as valid against the United States under this Constitution, as under the confederation.

This Constitution, and the laws of the United States which shall be made in pursuance thereof; and all treaties made, or which shall be made, under the authority of the United States, shall be the supreme law of the land; and the judges in every state shall be bound thereby, any thing in the Constitution or laws of any state to the contrary notwithstanding.

The senators and representatives before mentioned, and the members of the several state legislatures, and all executive and judicial officers, both of the United States and of the several states, shall be bound by oath or affirmation, to support this Constitution; but no religious test shall ever be required as a qualification to any office or public trust under the United States.

ARTICLE VII

Ratification and establishment. The ratification of the conventions of nine states, shall be sufficient for the establishment of this Constitution between the states so ratifying the same.

Done in convention by the unanimous consent of the states present the seventeenth day of September in the year of our Lord one thousand seven hundred and eighty-seven and of the independence of the United States of America the twelfth.* In witness whereof we have hereunto subscribed our names,

ORGANIC ACT

Reviser's note: The original organic act to establish the territorial government of Washington is set forth herein. Note however that the organic act was completely revised in the 1873 United States Revised Statutes which was enacted by Congress in 1874. The 1873 United States Revised Statutes contained a construction section (Title 74, section 5596) which has been construed by the United States Supreme Court (Dwight v. Merrit, 140 U.S. 213, 11 S.Ct. 768, 35 U.S. (L. ed.) 45) as abrogating or repealing all prior statutes on the same subject as those revised. As the twenty-one sections of the original organic act were rewritten and combined with the organic acts of other territories the disposition of the original sections into the 1873 United States Revised Statutes cannot be traced with absolute accuracy. A schedule of the disposition of the original organic act sections based on the audit contained in the United States Revised Statutes of 1878, is published herein following section 21 of the organic act.

AN ACT TO ESTABLISH THE TERRITORIAL GOVERNMENT OF WASHINGTON.

(Approved March 2, 1853.) [10 U.S. Statutes at Large, c 90 p 172.]

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That from and after the passage of this act, all that portion of Oregon Territory lying and being south of the forty-ninth degree of north latitude, and north of the middle of the main channel of the Columbia River, from its mouth to where the forty-sixth degree of north latitude crosses said river, near Fort Wallawalla, thence with said forty-sixth degree of latitude to the summit of the Rocky Mountains, be organized into and constitute a temporary government by the name of the Territory of Washington: Provided, That nothing in this act contained shall be construed to affect the authority of the government of the United States to make any regulation respecting the Indians of said Territory, their lands, property, or other rights, by treaty, law, or otherwise, which it would have been competent to the government to make if this act had never been passed: Provided further, That the title to the land, not exceeding six hundred and forty acres, now occupied as missionary stations among the Indian tribes in said Territory, or that may have been so occupied as missionary stations prior to the passage of the act establishing the Territorial government of Oregon, together with the improvements thereon, be, and is hereby, confirmed and established to the several religious societies to which said missionary stations respectively belong.

SEC. 2. And be it further enacted, That the executive power and authority in and over said Territory of Washington shall be vested in a governor, who shall hold his office for four years, and until his successor shall be appointed and qualified, unless sooner removed by the President of the United States. The governor shall reside in said Territory, shall be the commander-in-chief of the militia thereof, shall perform the duties and receive the emoluments of Superintendent of Indian Affairs; he may grant pardons and remit fines and forfeitures for offenses against the laws of said Territory, and respites for offenses against the laws of the United States until the decision of the President can be made known thereon; he shall commission all officers who shall be appointed to office under the laws of the said Territory, where, by law, such commissions shall be required, and shall take care that the laws be faithfully executed.

SEC. 3. And be it further enacted, That there shall be a Secretary of said Territory, who shall reside therein, and hold his office for four years, unless sooner removed by the President of the United States; he shall record and preserve all the laws and proceedings of the Legislative Assembly hereinafter constituted, and all the acts and proceedings of the Governor in his Executive department; he shall transmit one copy of the laws and journals of the Legislative Assembly within thirty days after the end of each session, and one copy of the executive proceedings and official correspondence semi-annually, on the first days of January and July in each year, to the President of the United States, and two copies of the laws to the President of the Senate and to the Speaker of the House of Representatives, for the use of Congress. And in case of the death, removal, resignation, or absence of the Governor from the Territory, the Secretary shall be, and he is hereby, authorized and required to execute and perform all the powers and duties of the Governor during such vacancy or absence, or until another Governor shall be duly appointed and qualified to fill such vacancy.

SEC. 4. And be it further enacted, That the Legislative power and authority of said Territory shall be vested in a Legislative Assembly, which shall consist of a Council and House of Representatives. The Council shall consist of nine members, having the qualifications of voters, as hereinafter prescribed, whose term of service shall continue three years. Immediately after they shall be assembled, in consequence of their first election, they shall be divided as equally as may be into three classes. The seats of the members of Council of the first class, shall be vacated at the expiration of the first year, of the second class at the expiration of the second year, and of the third class at the expiration of the third year, so that one third may be chosen every year; and if vacancies happen, by resignation or otherwise, the same shall be filled at the next ensuing election. The House of Representatives shall, at its first session, consist of eighteen members, possessing the same qualifications as prescribed for members of the Council, and whose term of service shall continue one year. An apportionment shall be made, as nearly equal as practicable, among the several counties or districts, for the election of the Council and Representatives, giving to each section of the Territory representation in the ratio of its qualified voters, as nearly as may be. And the members of the Council and of the House of Representatives shall reside in, and be inhabitants of, the district or county or counties, for which they may be elected, respectively. Previous to the first election, the Governor shall cause a census or enumeration of the inhabitants and qualified voters of the several counties and districts of the Territory to be taken, by such persons, and in such mode, as the Governor shall designate and appoint; and the persons so appointed shall receive a reasonable compensation therefor. And the first election shall be held at such time and places, and be conducted in such manner, both as to the persons who shall superintend such election and the returns thereof, as the Governor shall appoint and direct; and he shall at the same time declare the number of members of the Council and House of Representatives to which each of the counties or districts shall be entitled under this act; and the Governor shall, by his proclamation, give at least sixty days' previous notice of such apportionment, and of the time, places, and manner of holding such election. The persons having the highest number of legal votes in each of said council districts for members of the Council shall be declared by the Governor to be duly elected to the Council, and the persons having the highest number of legal votes for the House of Representatives shall be declared by the Governor to be duly elected members of said House: Provided, That in case two or more persons voted for shall have an equal number of votes, and in case a vacancy shall otherwise occur in either branch of the Legislative Assembly, the Governor shall order a new election; and the persons thus elected to the Legislative Assembly shall meet at such place, and on such day, within ninety days after such elections, as the Governor shall appoint. But thereafter the time, place, and manner of holding and conducting all elections by the people, and the apportioning the representation in the several counties or districts to the Council and House of Representatives, according to the number of qualified voters, shall be prescribed by law, as well as the day of the commencement of the regular session of the Legislative Assembly: Provided, That no session in any one year shall exceed the term of sixty days, except the first session, which shall not exceed one hundred days.

SEC. 5. And be it further enacted, That every white male inhabitant above the age of twenty-one years, who shall have been a resident of said Territory at the time of the passage of this act, and shall possess the qualifications hereinafter prescribed, shall be entitled to vote at the first election, and shall be eligible to any office within the said Territory; but the qualifications of voters and of holding office at all subsequent elections shall be such as shall be prescribed by the Legislative Assembly: Provided, That the right of suffrage and of holding office shall be exercised only by citizens of the United States above the age of twenty-one years, and those above that age who shall have declared on oath their intention to become such, and shall have taken an oath to support the Constitution of the United States and the provisions of this act: And provided further, That no officer, soldier, seaman, mariner, or other person in the army or navy of the United States, or attached to troops in the service of the United States, shall be allowed to vote in said Territory, by reason of being on service therein, unless said Territory is, and has been for the period of six months, his permanent domicile: Provided further, That no person belonging to the army or navy of the United States shall ever be elected to or hold any civil office or appointment in said Territory.

SEC. 6. And be it further enacted, That the Legislative power of the Territory shall extend to all rightful subjects of legislation not inconsistent with the Constitution and laws of the United States. But no law shall be passed interfering with the primary disposal of the soil; no tax shall be imposed upon the property of the United States; nor shall the lands or other property of nonresidents be taxed higher than the lands or other property of residents. All the laws passed by the Legislative Assembly shall be submitted to the Congress of the United States, and, if disapproved, shall be null and of no effect: Provided, That nothing in this act shall be construed to give power to incorporate a bank or any institution with banking powers, or to borrow money in the name of the Territory, or to pledge the faith of the people of the same for any loan whatever, directly or indirectly. No charter granting any privileges of making, issuing, or putting into circulation any notes or bills in the likeness of bank-notes, or any bonds, scrip, drafts, bills of exchange, or obligations, or granting any other banking powers or privileges, shall be passed by the Legislative Assembly; nor shall the establishment of any branch or agency of any such corporation, derived from other authority, be allowed in said Territory; nor shall said Legislative Assembly authorize the issue of any obligation, scrip, or evidence of debt, by said Territory, in any mode or manner whatever, except certificates for service to said Territory. And all such laws, or any law or laws inconsistent with the provisions of this act, shall be utterly null and void. And all taxes shall be equal and uniform; and no distinctions shall be made in the assessments between different kinds of property, but the assessments shall be according to the value thereof. To avoid improper influences, which may result from intermixing in one and the same act such things as have no proper relation to each other, every law shall embrace but one object, and that shall be expressed in the title.

SEC. 7. And be it further enacted, That all township, district, and county officers not herein otherwise provided for, shall be appointed or elected in such manner as shall be provided by the Legislative Assembly of the Territory of Washington.

SEC. 8. And be it further enacted, That no member of the Legislative Assembly shall hold or be appointed to any office which shall have been created, or the salary or emoluments of which shall have been increased while he was a member, during the term for which he was elected and for one year after the expiration of such term; but this restriction shall not be applicable to members of the first Legislative Assembly; and no person holding a commission or appointment under the United States shall be a member of the Legislative Assembly, or shall hold any office under the government of said Territory.

SEC. 9. And be it further enacted, That the judicial power of said Territory shall be vested in a supreme court, district courts, probate courts, and in justices of the peace. The supreme court shall consist of a chief justice and two associate justices, any two of whom shall constitute a quorum, and who shall hold a term at the seat of government of said Territory annually, and they shall hold their offices during the period of four years, and until their successors shall be appointed and qualified. The said Territory shall be divided into three judicial districts, and a district court shall be held in each of said districts by one of the justices of the supreme court, at such times and places as may be prescribed by law; and the said judges shall, after their appointments, respectively reside in the districts which shall be assigned them. The jurisdiction of the several courts herein provided for, both appellate and original, and that of the probate courts and of justices of the peace, shall be as limited by law: Provided, That justices of the peace shall not have jurisdiction of any case in which the title to land shall in any wise come in question, or where the debt or damages claimed shall exceed one hundred dollars; and the said supreme and district courts, respectively shall possess chancery as well as common-law jurisdiction. Each district court, or the judge thereof, shall appoint its clerk, who shall also be the register in chancery, and shall keep his office at the place where the court may be held. Writs of error, bills of exception, and appeals, shall be allowed in all cases from the final decisions of said district court to the supreme court under such regulations as may be prescribed by law; but in no case removed to the supreme court shall trial by jury be allowed in said court. The supreme court, or the justices thereof, shall appoint its own clerk, and every clerk shall hold his office at the pleasure of the court for which he shall have been appointed. Writs of error, and appeals from the final decisions of said supreme court, shall be allowed, and may be taken to the Supreme Court of the United States, in the same manner and under the same regulations as from the circuit court of the United States, where the value of the property, or the amount in controversy, to be ascertained by the oath or affirmation of either party, or other competent witness, shall exceed two thousand dollars, and in all cases where the constitution of the United States, or acts of Congress, or a treaty of the United States, is brought in question; and each of the said district courts shall have and exercise the same jurisdiction in all cases arising under the constitution of the United States and the laws of said Territory, as is vested in the circuit and district courts of the United States; writs of error and appeal in all such cases shall be made to the supreme court of said Territory the same as in other cases. Writs of error, and appeals from the final decisions of said supreme court, shall be allowed and may be taken to the supreme court of the United States in the same manner as from the circuit courts of the United States, where the value of the property, or the amount in controversy, shall exceed two thousand dollars, and each of said district courts shall have and exercise the same jurisdiction, in all cases arising under the constitution and laws of the United States, as is vested in the circuit and district courts of the United States; and also of all cases arising under the laws of said Territory, and otherwise. The said clerk shall receive in all such cases the same fees which the clerks of the district courts of the Territory of Oregon receive for similar services.

SEC. 10. And be it further enacted, That there shall be appointed an attorney for said Territory, who shall continue in office for four years and until his successor shall be appointed and qualified, unless sooner removed by the President, and who shall receive the same fees and salary as is provided by law for the attorney of the United States for the Territory of Oregon. There shall also be a marshal for the Territory appointed, who shall hold his office for four years and until his successor shall be appointed and qualified, unless sooner removed by the President, and who shall execute all processes issuing from the said courts when exercising their jurisdiction as circuit and district courts of the United States; he shall perform the duties, be subject to the same regulation and penalties, and be entitled to the same fees, as are provided by law for the marshal of the Territory of Oregon, and shall, in addition, be paid the sum of two hundred dollars annually as a compensation for extra services.

SEC. 11. And be it further enacted, That the governor, secretary, chief justice, and associate justices, attorney, and marshal, shall be nominated, and, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, appointed by the President of the United States. The governor and secretary to be appointed as aforesaid shall, before they act as such, respectively take an oath or affirmation before the district judge, or some justice of the peace in the limits of said Territory duly authorized to administer oaths and affirmations by the laws in force therein, or before the chief justice or some associate justice of the supreme court of the United States, to support the constitution of the United States, and faithfully to discharge the duties of their respective offices, which said oaths, when so taken, shall be certified by the person before whom the same shall have been taken; and such certificates shall be received and recorded by the said Secretary among the executive proceedings; and the Chief Justice and Associate Justices, and all other civil officers in said Territory, before they act as such, shall take a like oath or affirmation before the said Governor or Secretary, or some judge or justice of the peace of the Territory who may be duly commissioned and qualified, which said oath or affirmation shall be certified and transmitted, by the person taking the same, to the Secretary, to be by him recorded as aforesaid; and afterwards, the like oath or affirmation shall be taken, certified and recorded in such manner and form as may be prescribed by law. The Governor shall receive an annual salary of fifteen hundred dollars as Governor, and fifteen hundred dollars as Superintendent of Indian affairs. The Chief Justice, and Associate Justices, shall each receive an annual salary of two thousand dollars.

Organic Act

The Secretary shall receive an annual salary of fifteen hundred dollars. The said salaries shall be paid quarterly, from the dates of the respective appointments, at the Treasury of the United States; but no such payment shall be made until said officers shall have entered upon the duties of their respective appointments. The members of the legislative assembly shall be entitled to receive three dollars each per day during their attendance at the session thereof, and three dollars each for every twenty miles' travel in going to and returning from said sessions, estimated according to the nearest usually traveled route. And a chief clerk, one assistant clerk, a sergeant-at-arms, and door-keeper, may be chosen for each house; and the chief clerk shall receive five dollars per day, and the said other officers three dollars per day, during the session of the legislative assembly; but no other officers shall be paid by the United States: Provided, That there shall be but one session of the legislative assembly annually, unless, on an extraordinary occasion, the Governor shall deem it expedient and proper to call the legislature together. There shall be appropriated, annually, the sum of fifteen hundred dollars, to be expended by the Governor, to defray the contingent expenses of the Territory, including the salary of a clerk of the executive department; and there shall also be appropriated, annually, a sufficient sum to be expended by the Secretary of the Territory, and upon an estimate to be made by the Secretary of the Treasury of the United States, to defray the expenses of the legislative assembly, the printing of the laws, and other incidental expenses; and the Governor and Secretary of the Territory shall, in the disbursement of all moneys intrusted to them, be governed solely by the instructions of the Secretary of the Treasury of the United States, and shall, semi-annually, account to the said Secretary for the manner in which the aforesaid sums of money shall have been expended; and no expenditure, to be paid out of money appropriated by Congress, shall be made by said legislative assembly for objects not specially authorized by the acts of Congress making the appropriations, nor beyond the sums thus appropriated for such objects.

SEC. 12. And be it further enacted, That the laws now in force in said Territory of Washington, by virtue of the legislation of Congress in reference to the Territory of Oregon, which have been enacted and passed subsequent to the first day of September, eighteen hundred and forty-eight, applicable to the said Territory of Washington, together with the legislative enactments of the Territory of Oregon, enacted and passed prior to the passage of, and not inconsistent with, the provisions of this act, and applicable to the said Territory of Washington, be, and they are hereby, continued in force in said Territory of Washington until they shall be repealed or amended by future legislation.

SEC. 13. And be it further enacted, That the legislative assembly of the Territory of Washington shall hold its first session at such time and place in said Territory as the Governor thereof shall appoint and direct; and at said first session, or as soon thereafter as they shall deem expedient, the legislative assembly shall proceed to locate and establish the seat of government for said Territory, at such place as they may deem eligible; which place, however, shall thereafter be subject to be changed by said legislative assembly. And the sum of five thousand dollars, out of any money in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated, is hereby appropriated and granted to said Territory of Washington, to be there applied by the Governor to the erection of suitable buildings at the seat of government.

SEC. 14. And be it further enacted, That a delegate to the House of Representatives of the United States, to serve for the term of two years, who shall be a citizen of the United States, may be elected by the voters qualified to elect members of the legislative assembly, who shall be entitled to the same rights and privileges as have been heretofore exercised and enjoyed by the delegates from the several other Territories of the United States to the House of Representatives, but the delegate first elected shall hold his seat only during the term of the Congress to which he shall be elected. The first election shall be held at such time, and places, and be conducted in such manner, as the Governor shall appoint and direct; of which, and the time, place, and manner of holding such elections, he shall give at least sixty days' notice by proclamation; and at all subsequent elections the time, places, and manner of holding the elections shall be prescribed by law. The person having the greatest number of votes shall be declared by the Governor to be duly elected, and a certificate thereof shall be given accordingly. The delegate from said Territory shall be entitled to receive the same per diem compensation and mileage at present allowed the delegate from the Territory of Oregon.

SEC. 15. And be it further enacted, That all suits, complaints, process, and proceedings, civil and criminal, at law and in chancery, and all indictments and informations, which shall be pending and undetermined in the courts established within and for said Territory of Oregon, by act of Congress, entitled "An act to establish the territorial government of Oregon," approved August fourteen, one thousand eight hundred and forty-eight, wherein the venue in said cases, suits at law, or in chancery, or criminal proceedings, shall be included within the limits hereinbefore declared and established for the said Territory of Washington; then, and in that case, said actions so pending in the Supreme or Circuit Courts of the Territory of Oregon shall be, by the clerks of said courts, duly certified to the proper courts of said Territory of Washington; and thereupon said causes shall, in all things concerning the same, be proceeded on, and judgments, verdicts, decrees, and sentences rendered thereon, in the same manner as if the said Territory had not been divided. All bonds, recognizances, and obligations of every kind whatsoever, valid, under the existing laws, within the limits of said Territory of Oregon, shall be held valid under this act, and all crimes and misdemeanors against the laws now in force within the said limits of the Territory of Washington may be prosecuted, tried, and punished in the courts established by this act, and all penalties, forfeitures, actions, and causes of action, may be recovered and enforced, under this act, before the Supreme and Circuit Courts established by this act as aforesaid: Provided, That no right of action whatever shall accrue against any person for any act done in pursuance of any law heretofore passed by the legislative assembly of the Territory of Oregon, and which may be declared contrary to the Constitution or laws of the United States.

SEC. 16. And be it further enacted, That all justices of the peace, constables, sheriffs, and other judicial and ministerial officers, who shall be in office within the limits of said Territory of Washington when this act shall take effect, shall be and they are hereby authorized and required to continue to exercise and perform the duties of their respective offices, as officers of said Territory, until they or others shall be duly elected or appointed, and qualified, to fill their places in the manner herein directed, or until their offices shall be abolished.

SEC. 17. And be it further enacted, That the sum of five thousand dollars be, and the same is hereby, appropriated out of any moneys in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated, to be expended, by and under the direction of the Governor of Washington, in the purchase of a library, to be kept at the seat of government for the use of the Governor, legislative assembly, Judges of the Supreme Court, secretary, marshal, and Attorney of said Territory, and such other persons, and under such regulations, as shall be prescribed by law.

SEC. 18. And be it further enacted, That until otherwise provided for by law, the Governor of said Territory may define the judicial districts of said Territory, and assign the judges who may be appointed for said Territory to the several districts, and also appoint the times and places for holding courts in the several counties or subdivisions in each of said judicial districts by proclamation, to be issued by him; but the legislative assembly, at their first or any subsequent session, may organize, alter, or modify such judicial districts, and assign the judges, and alter the times and places of holding the courts, as to them shall seem expedient and proper.

SEC. 19. And be it further enacted, That all officers to be appointed by the President, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, for the Territory of Washington, who, by virtue of the provisions of any law of Congress now existing, or which may be enacted during the present session of Congress, are required to give security for moneys that may be intrusted with them for disbursement, shall give such security at such time and place, and in such manner, as the Secretary of the Treasury may prescribe.

SEC. 20. And be it further enacted, That when the lands in said Territory shall be surveyed under the direction of the Government of the United States preparatory to bringing the same into market or otherwise disposing thereof, sections numbered sixteen and thirty-six in each township in said Territory shall be, and the same are hereby, reserved for the purpose of being applied to common schools in said Territory. And in all cases where said sections sixteen and thirty-six, or either or any of them, shall be occupied by actual settlers prior to survey thereof, the County Commissioners of the counties in which said sections so occupied as aforesaid are situated, be, and they are hereby, authorized to locate other lands to an equal amount in sections, or fractional sections, as the case may be, within their respective counties, in lieu of said sections so occupied as aforesaid.

SEC. 21. And be it further enacted, That the Territory of Oregon and the Territory of Washington shall have concurrent jurisdiction over all offenses committed on the Columbia River, where said river forms a common boundary between said Territories.

ENABLING ACT

AN ACT to provide for the division of Dakota into two States and to enable the people of North Dakota, South Dakota, Montana, and Washington to form constitutions and State governments and to be admitted into the Union on an equal footing with the original States, and to make donations of public lands to such States. (Approved February 22, 1889.) [25 U.S. Statutes at Large, c 180 p 676.] [President's proclamation declaring Washington a state: 26 St. at Large, Proclamations, p 10, Nov. 11, 1889.]

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That the inhabitants of all that part of the area of the United States now constituting the Territories of Dakota, Montana, and Washington, as at present described, may become the States of North Dakota, South Dakota, Montana, and Washington, respectively, as hereinafter provided.

SEC. 2. The area comprising the Territory of Dakota shall, for the purposes of this act, be divided on the line of the seventh standard parallel produced due west to the western boundary of said Territory; and the delegates elected as hereinafter provided to the constitutional convention in districts north of said parallel shall assemble in convention, at the time prescribed in this act, at the city of Bismarck; and the delegates elected in districts south of said parallel shall, at the same time, assemble in convention at the city of Sioux Falls.

SEC. 3. That all persons who are qualified by the laws of said Territories to vote for representatives to the legislative assemblies thereof, are hereby authorized to vote for and choose delegates to form conventions in said proposed States; and the qualifications for delegates to such conventions shall be such as by the laws of said Territories respectively persons are required to possess to be eligible to the legislative assemblies thereof; and the aforesaid delegates to form said conventions shall be apportioned within the limits of the proposed States, in such districts as may be established as herein provided, in proportion to the population in each of said counties and districts, as near as may be, to be ascertained at the time of making said apportionments by the persons hereinafter authorized to make the same, from the best information obtainable, in each of which districts three delegates shall be elected, but no elector shall vote for more than two persons for delegates to such conventions; that said apportionments shall be made by the governor, the chief-justice, and the secretary of said Territories; and the governors of said Territories shall, by proclamation, order an election of the delegates aforesaid in each of said proposed States, to be held on the Tuesday after the second Monday in May, eighteen hundred and eighty-nine, which proclamation shall be issued on the fifteenth day of April, eighteen hundred and eighty-nine; and such election shall be conducted, the returns made, the result ascertained, and the certificates to persons elected to such convention issued in the same manner as is prescribed by the laws of the said Territories regulating elections therein for Delegates to Congress; and the number of votes cast for delegates in each precinct shall also be returned. The number of delegates to said conventions respectively shall be seventy-five; and all persons resident in said proposed States, who are qualified voters of said Territories as herein provided, shall be entitled to vote upon the election of delegates, and under such rules and regulations as said conventions may prescribe, not in conflict with this act, upon the ratification or rejection of the constitutions.

SEC. 4. That the delegates to the conventions elected as provided for in this act shall meet at the seat of government of each of said Territories, except the delegates elected in South Dakota, who shall meet at the city of Sioux Falls, on the fourth day of July, eighteen hundred and eighty-nine, and, after organization, shall declare, on behalf of the people of said proposed States, that they adopt the Constitution of the United States; whereupon the said conventions shall be, and are hereby, authorized to form constitutions and States governments for said proposed states, respectively. The constitutions shall be republican in form, and make no distinction in civil or political rights on account of race or color, except as to Indians not taxed, and not be repugnant to the Constitution of the United States and the principles of the Declaration of Independence. And said conventions shall provide, by ordinances irrevocable without the consent of the United States and the people of said States:

First. That perfect toleration of religious sentiment shall be secured and that no inhabitant of said States shall ever be molested in person or property on account of his or her mode of religious worship.

Second. That the people inhabiting said proposed States do agree and declare that they forever disclaim all right and title to the unappropriated public lands lying within the boundaries thereof, and to all lands lying within said limits owned or held by any Indian or Indian tribes; and that until the title thereto shall have been extinguished by the United States, the same shall be and remain subject to the disposition of the United States, and said Indian lands shall remain under the absolute jurisdiction and control of the Congress of the United States; that the lands belonging to citizens of the United States residing without the said States shall never be taxed at a higher rate than the lands belonging to residents thereof; that no taxes shall be imposed by the States on lands or property therein belonging to or which may hereafter be purchased by the United States or reserved for its use. But nothing herein, or in the ordinances herein provided for, shall preclude the said States from taxing as other lands are taxed any lands owned or held by any Indian who has severed his tribal relations, and has obtained from the United States or from any person a title thereto by patent or other grant, save and except such lands as have been or may be granted to any Indian or Indians under any act of Congress containing a provision exempting the lands thus granted from taxation; but said ordinances shall provide that all such lands shall be exempt from taxation by said States so long and to such extent as such act of Congress may prescribe.

Third. That the debts and liabilities of said Territories shall be assumed and paid by said States, respectively.

Fourth. That provision shall be made for the establishment and maintenance of systems of public schools, which shall be open to all the children of said States, and free from sectarian control.

SEC. 5. That the convention which shall assemble at Bismarck shall form a constitution and State government for a State to be known as North Dakota, and the convention which shall assemble at Sioux Falls shall form a constitution and State government for a State to be known as South Dakota: Provided, That at the election for delegates to the constitutional convention in South Dakota, as hereinbefore provided, each elector may have written or printed on his ballot the words "For the Sioux Falls constitution," or the words "Against the Sioux Falls constitution," and the votes on this question shall be returned and canvassed in the same manner as for the election provided for in section three of this act; and if a majority of all votes cast on this question shall be "for the Sioux Falls constitution" it shall be the duty of the convention which may assemble at Sioux Falls, as herein provided, to resubmit to the people of South Dakota, for ratification or rejection at the election hereinafter provided for in this act, the constitution framed at Sioux Falls and adopted November third, eighteen hundred and eighty-five, and also the articles and propositions separately submitted at the election, including the question of locating the temporary seat of government, with such changes only as relate to the name and boundary of the proposed State, to the re-apportionment of the judicial and legislative districts, and such amendments as may be necessary in order to comply with the provisions of this act; and if a majority of the votes cast on the ratification or rejection of the constitution shall be for the constitution irrespective of the articles separately submitted, the State of South Dakota shall be admitted as a State in the Union under said constitution as hereinafter provided; but the archives, records, and books of the Territory of Dakota shall remain at Bismarck, the capital of North Dakota, until an agreement in reference thereto is reached by said States. But if at the election for delegates to the constitutional convention in South Dakota a majority of all the votes cast at that election shall be "against the Sioux Falls constitution", then and in that event it shall be the duty of the convention which will assemble at the city of Sioux Falls on the fourth day of July, eighteen hundred and eighty-nine, to proceed to form a constitution and State government as provided in this act the same as if that question had not been submitted to a vote of the people of South Dakota.

SEC. 6. It shall be the duty of the constitutional conventions of North Dakota and South Dakota to appoint a joint commission, to be composed of not less than three members of each convention, whose duty it shall be to assemble at Bismarck, the present seat of government of said Territory, and agree upon an equitable division of all property belonging to the Territory of Dakota, the disposition of all public records, and also adjust and agree upon the amount of the debts and liabilities of the Territory, which shall be assumed and paid by each of the proposed States of North Dakota and South Dakota; and the agreement reached respecting the Territorial debts and liabilities shall be incorporated in the respective constitutions, and each of said States shall obligate itself to pay its proportion of such debts and liabilities the same as if they had been created by such States respectively.

SEC. 7. If the constitutions formed for both North Dakota and South Dakota shall be rejected by the people at the elections for the ratification or rejection of their respective constitutions as provided for in this act, the Territorial government of Dakota shall continue in existence the same as if this act had not been passed. But if the constitution formed for either North Dakota or South Dakota shall be rejected by the people, that part of the Territory so rejecting its proposed constitution shall continue under the Territorial government of the present Territory of Dakota, but shall, after the State adopting its constitution is admitted into the Union, be called by the name of the Territory of North Dakota or South Dakota, as the case may be: Provided, That if either of the proposed States provided for in this act shall reject the constitution which may be submitted for ratification or rejection at the election provided therefor, the governor of the Territory in which such proposed constitution was rejected shall issue his proclamation reconvening the delegates elected to the convention which formed such rejected constitution, fixing the time and place at which said delegates shall assemble; and when so assembled they shall proceed to form another constitution or to amend the rejected constitution, and shall submit such new constitution or amended constitution to the people of the proposed State for ratification or rejection, at such time as said convention may determine; and all the provisions of this act, so far as applicable, shall apply to such convention so reassembled and to the constitution which may be formed, its ratification or rejection, and to the admission of the proposed State.

SEC. 8. That the constitutional convention which may assemble in South Dakota shall provide by ordinance for resubmitting the Sioux Falls constitution of eighteen hundred and eighty-five, after having amended the same as provided in section five of this act, to the people of South Dakota for ratification or rejection at an election to be held therein on the first Tuesday in October, eighteen hundred and eighty-nine; but if said constitutional convention is authorized and required to form a new constitution for South Dakota it shall provide for submitting the same in like manner to the people of South Dakota for ratification or rejection at an election to be held in said proposed State on the said first Tuesday in October. And the constitutional conventions which may assemble in North Dakota, Montana, and Washington shall provide in like manner for submitting the constitutions formed by them to the people of said proposed States, respectively, for ratification or rejection at elections to be held in said proposed States on the said first Tuesday in October. At the elections provided for in this section the qualified voters of said proposed States shall vote directly for or against the proposed constitutions, and for or against any articles or propositions separately submitted. The returns of said elections shall be made to the secretary of each of said Territories, who with the governor and chief-justice thereof, or any two of them, shall canvass the same; and if a majority of the legal votes cast shall be for the constitution the governor shall certify the result to the President of the United States, together with a statement of the votes cast thereon and upon separate articles or propositions, and a copy of said constitution, articles, propositions, and ordinances. And if the constitutions and governments of said proposed States are republican in form, and if all the provisions of this act have been complied with in the formation thereof, it shall be the duty of the President of the United States to issue his proclamation announcing the result of the election in each, and thereupon the proposed States which have adopted constitutions and formed State governments as herein provided shall be deemed admitted by Congress into the Union under and by virtue of this act on an equal footing with the original States from and after the date of said proclamation.

SEC. 9. That until the next general census, or until otherwise provided by law, said States shall be entitled to one Representative in the House of Representatives of the United States, except South Dakota, which shall be entitled to two; and the Representatives to the fifty-first Congress, together with the governors and other officers provided for in said constitutions, may be elected on the same day of the election for the ratification or rejection of the constitutions; and until said State officers are elected and qualified under the provisions of each constitution and the States, respectively, are admitted into the Union, the Territorial officers shall continue to discharge the duties of their respective offices in each of said Territories.

SEC. 10. That upon the admission of each of said States into the Union sections numbered sixteen and thirty-six in every township of said proposed States, and where such sections, or any parts thereof, have been sold or otherwise disposed of by or under the authority of any act of Congress, other lands equivalent thereto, in legal subdivisions of not less than one-quarter section, and as contiguous as may be to the section in lieu of which the same is taken, are hereby granted to said States for the support of common schools, such indemnity lands to be selected within said States in such manner as the legislature may provide, with the approval of the Secretary of the Interior: Provided, That the sixteenth and thirty-sixth sections embraced in permanent reservations for national purposes shall not, at any time, be subject to the grants nor to the indemnity provisions of this act, nor shall any lands embraced in Indian, military, or other reservations of any character be subject to the grants or to the indemnity provisions of this act until the reservation shall have been extinguished and such lands be restored to, and become a part of, the public domain.

SEC. 11. That all lands herein granted for educational purposes shall be disposed of only at public sale, and at a price not less than ten dollars per acre, the proceeds to constitute a permanent school fund, the interest of which only shall be expended in the support of said schools. But said lands may, under such regulations as the legislatures shall prescribe, be leased for periods of not more than five years, in quantities not exceeding one section to any one person or company; and such land shall not be subject to pre-emption, homestead entry, or any other entry under the land laws of the United States, whether surveyed or unsurveyed, but shall be reserved for school purposes only.

§ 2 SUPREME LAW OF THE LAND. The Constitution of the United States is the supreme law of the land.

§ 3 PERSONAL RIGHTS. No person shall be deprived of life, liberty, or property, without due process of law.

§ 4 RIGHT OF PETITION AND ASSEMBLAGE. The right of petition and of the people peaceably to assemble for the common good shall never be abridged.

§ 5 FREEDOM OF SPEECH. Every person may freely speak, write and publish on all subjects, being responsible for the abuse of that right.

§ 6 OATHS—MODE OF ADMINISTERING. The mode of administering an oath, or affirmation, shall be such as may be most consistent with and binding upon the conscience of the person to whom such oath, or affirmation, may be administered.

§ 7 INVASION OF PRIVATE AFFAIRS OR HOME PROHIBITED. No person shall be disturbed in his private affairs, or his home invaded, without authority of law.

§ 8 IRREVOCABLE PRIVILEGE, FRANCHISE OR IMMUNITY PROHIBITED. No law granting irrevocably any privilege, franchise or immunity, shall be passed by the legislature.

§ 11 RELIGIOUS FREEDOM. Absolute freedom of conscience in all matters of religious sentiment, belief and worship, shall be guaranteed to every individual, and no one shall be molested or disturbed in person or property on account of religion; but the liberty of conscience hereby secured shall not be so construed as to excuse acts of licentiousness or justify practices inconsistent with the peace and safety of the state. No public money or property shall be appropriated for or applied to any religious worship, exercise or instruction, or the support of any religious establishment: Provided, however, That this article shall not be so construed as to forbid the employment by the state of a chaplain for such of the state custodial, correctional and mental institutions as in the discretion of the legislature may seem justified. No religious qualification shall be required for any public office or employment, nor shall any person be incompetent as a witness or juror, in consequence of his opinion on matters of religion, nor be questioned in any court of justice touching his religious belief to affect the weight of his testimony. [AMENDMENT 34, 1957 Senate Joint Resolution No. 14, p 1299. Approved November 4, 1958.]

Amendment 4 (1904)—Art. 1 § 11 RELIGIOUS FREEDOM—*Absolute freedom of conscience in all matters of religious sentiment, belief and worship, shall be guaranteed to every individual, and no one shall be molested or disturbed in person or property on account of religion; but the liberty of conscience hereby secured shall not be so construed as to excuse acts of licentiousness or justify practices inconsistent with the peace and safety of the state. Whenever an attempt is made to take private property for a use alleged to be public, the question whether the contemplated use be really public shall be a judicial question, and determined as such, without regard to any legislative assertion that the use is public: Provided, That the taking of private property by the state for land reclamation and settlement purposes is hereby declared to be for public use. ARTICLE II LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT

§ 1 LEGISLATIVE POWERS, WHERE VESTED.

The legislative authority of the state of Washington shall be vested in the legislature, consisting of a senate and house of representatives, which shall be called the legislature of the state of Washington, but the people reserve to themselves the power to propose bills, laws, and to enact or reject the same at the polls, independent of the legislature, and also reserve power, at their own option, to approve or reject at the polls any act, item, section or part of any bill, act or law passed by the legislature.

(a) Initiative: The first power reserved by the people is the initiative. Ten per centum, but in no case more than fifty thousand, of the legal voters shall be required to propose any measure by such petition, and every such petition shall include the full text of the measure so proposed. [Note: Signature requirements superseded by Art. 2 Sec. 1(A), AMENDMENT 30.] Initiative petitions shall be filed with the secretary of state not less than four months before the election at which they are to be voted upon, or not less than ten days before any regular session of the legislature. If filed at least four months before the election at which they are to be voted upon, he shall submit the same to the vote of the people at the said election. If such petitions are filed not less than ten days before any regular session of the legislature, he shall transmit the same to the legislature as soon as it convenes and organizes. Such initiative measure shall take precedence over all other measures in the legislature except appropriation bills and shall be either enacted or rejected without change or amendment by the legislature before the end of such regular session. If any such initiative measures shall be enacted by the legislature it shall be subject to the referendum petition, or it may be enacted and referred by the legislature to the people for approval or rejection at the next regular election. If it is rejected or if no action is taken upon it by the legislature before the end of such regular session, the secretary of state shall submit it to the people for approval or rejection at the next ensuing regular general election. The legislature may reject any measure so proposed by initiative petition and propose a different one dealing with the same subject, and in such event both measures shall be submitted by the secretary of state to the people for approval or rejection at the next ensuing regular general election. When conflicting measures are submitted to the people the ballots shall be so printed that a voter can express separately by making one cross (X) for each, two preferences, first, as between either measure and neither, and secondly, as between one and the other. If the majority of those voting on the first issue is for neither, both fail, but in that case the votes on the second issue shall nevertheless be carefully counted and made public. If a majority voting on the first issue is for either, then the measure receiving a majority of the votes on the second issue shall be law.

(b) Referendum. The second power reserved by the people is the referendum, and it may be ordered on any act, bill, law, or any part thereof passed by the legislature, except such laws as may be necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health or safety, support of the state government and its existing public institutions, either by petition signed by the required percentage of the legal voters, or by the legislature as other bills are enacted. Six per centum, but in no case more than thirty thousand, of the legal voters shall be required to sign and make a valid referendum petition. [Note: Signature requirements superseded by Art. 2 Sec. 1(A), AMENDMENT 30.]

(c) No act, law, or bill subject to referendum shall take effect until ninety days after the adjournment of the session at which it was enacted. No act, law, or bill approved by a majority of the electors voting thereon shall be amended or repealed by the legislature within a period of two years following such enactment. But such enactment may be amended or repealed at any general regular or special election by direct vote of the people thereon. [Note: Subsection (c) is expressly superseded by Art. 2 Sec. 41, AMENDMENT 26.]

(d) The filing of a referendum petition against one or more items, sections or parts of any act, law or bill shall not delay the remainder of the measure from becoming operative. Referendum petitions against measures passed by the legislature shall be filed with the secretary of state not later than ninety days after the final adjournment of the session of the legislature which passed the measure on which the referendum is demanded. The veto power of the governor shall not extend to measures initiated by or referred to the people. All elections on measures referred to the people of the state shall be had at the biennial regular elections, except when the legislature shall order a special election. Any measure initiated by the people or referred to the people as herein

provided shall take effect and become the law if it is approved by a majority of the votes cast thereon: Provided, That the vote cast upon such question or measure shall equal one-third of the total votes cast at such election and not otherwise. Such measure shall be in operation on and after the thirtieth day after the election at which it is approved. The style of all bills proposed by initiative petition shall be: "Be it enacted by the people of the State of Washington." This section shall not be construed to deprive any member of the legislature of the right to introduce any measure. The whole number of electors who voted for governor at the regular gubernatorial election last preceding the filing of any petition for the initiative or for the referendum shall be the basis on which the number of legal voters necessary to sign such petition shall be counted. [Note: Cf. Art. 2 Sec. 1(A), AMENDMENT 30.] All such petitions shall be filed with the secretary of state, who shall be guided by the general laws in submitting the same to the people until additional legislation shall especially provide therefor. This section is self-executing, but legislation may be enacted especially to facilitate its operation.

The legislature shall provide methods of publicity of all laws or parts of laws, and amendments to the Constitution referred to the people with arguments for and against the laws and amendments so referred, so that each voter of the state shall receive the publication at least fifty days before the election at which they are to be voted upon. [Note: This paragraph is expressly superseded by subsection (e) of this section, which was added by AMENDMENT 36.]

(e) The legislature shall provide methods of publicity of all laws or parts of laws, and amendments to the Constitution referred to the people with arguments for and against the laws and amendments so referred. The secretary of state shall send one copy of the publication to each individual place of residence in the state and shall make such additional distribution as he shall determine necessary to reasonably assure that each voter will have an opportunity to study the measures prior to election. These provisions supersede the provisions set forth in the last paragraph of section 1 of this article as amended by the seventh amendment to the Constitution of this state. [AMENDMENT 7, 1911 p 136 § 1. Approved November, 1912; Subsection (e) added by AMENDMENT 36, 1961 Senate Joint Resolution No. 9, p 2751. Approved November, 1962.]

§ 1(a) INITIATIVE AND REFERENDUM, SIGNATURES REQUIRED. Hereafter, the number of valid signatures of legal voters required upon a petition for an initiative measure shall be equal to eight per centum of the number of voters registered and voting for the office of governor at the last preceding regular gubernatorial election. Hereafter, the number of valid signatures of legal voters required upon a petition for a referendum of an act of the legislature or any part thereof, shall be equal to four per centum of the number of voters registered and voting for the office of governor at the last preceding regular gubernatorial election. These provisions supersede the requirements specified in section 1 of this article as amended by the seventh amendment to the Constitution of this state. [AMENDMENT 30, 1955 Senate Joint Resolution No. 4, p 1860. Approved November 6, 1956.]

§ 2 HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES AND SENATE. The house of representatives shall be composed of not less than sixty-three nor more than ninety-nine members. The number of senators shall not be more than one-half nor less than one-third of the number of members of the house of representatives. The first legislature shall be composed of seventy members of the house of representatives, and thirty-five senators.

§ 3 THE CENSUS. The legislature shall provide by law for an enumeration of the inhabitants of the state in the year one thousand eight hundred and ninety-five and every ten years thereafter; and at the first session after such enumeration, and also after each enumeration made by the authority of the United States, the legislature shall apportion and district anew the members of the senate and house of representatives, according to the number of inhabitants, excluding Indians not taxed, soldiers, sailors and officers of the United States army and navy in active service.

§ 4 ELECTION OF REPRESENTATIVES AND TERM OF OFFICE. Members of the house of representatives shall be elected in the year eighteen hundred and eighty-nine at the time and in the manner provided by this Constitution, and shall hold their offices for the term of one year and until their successors shall be elected.

§ 5 ELECTIONS, WHEN TO BE HELD. The next election of the members of the house of representatives after the adoption of this Constitution shall be on the first Tuesday after the first Monday of November, eighteen hundred and ninety, and thereafter, members of the house of representatives shall be elected biennially and their term of office shall be two years; and each election shall be on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, unless otherwise changed by law.

§ 6 ELECTION AND TERM OF OFFICE OF SENATORS. After the first election the senators shall be elected by single districts of convenient and contiguous territory, at the same time and in the same manner as members of the house of representatives are required to be elected; and no representative district shall be divided in the formation of a senatorial district. They shall be elected for the term of four years, one-half of their number retiring every two years. The senatorial districts shall be numbered consecutively, and the senators chosen at the first election had by virtue of this Constitution, in odd numbered districts, shall go out of office at the end of the first year; and the senators, elected in the even numbered districts, shall go out of office at the end of the third year.

ARTICLE VIII
STATE, COUNTY AND MUNICIPAL INDEBTEDNESS

§ 1 STATE DEBT. (a) The state may contract debt, the principal of which shall be paid and discharged within thirty years from the time of contracting thereof, in the manner set forth herein.

(b) The aggregate debt contracted by the state shall not exceed that amount for which payments of principal and interest in any fiscal year would require the state to expend more than nine percent of the arithmetic mean of its general state revenues for the three immediately preceding fiscal years as certified by the treasurer. The term "fiscal year" means that period of time commencing July 1 of any year and ending on June 30 of the following year.

(c) The term "general state revenues" when used in this section, shall include all state money received in the treasury from each and every source whatsoever except: (1) Fees and revenues derived from the ownership or operation of any undertaking, facility, or project; (2) Moneys received as gifts, grants, donations, aid, or assistance or otherwise from the United States or any department, bureau, or corporation thereof, or any person, firm, or corporation, public or private, when the terms and conditions of such gift, grant, donation, aid, or assistance require the application and disbursement of such moneys otherwise than for the general purposes of the state of Washington; (3) Moneys to be paid into and received from retirement system funds, and performance bonds and deposits; (4) Moneys to be paid into and received from trust funds including but not limited to moneys received from taxes levied for specific purposes and the several permanent and irreducible funds of the state and the moneys derived therefrom but excluding bond redemption funds; (5) Proceeds received from the sale of bonds or other evidences of indebtedness.

(d) In computing the amount required for payment of principal and interest on outstanding debt under this section, debt shall be construed to mean borrowed money represented by bonds, notes, or other evidences of indebtedness which are secured by the full faith and credit of the state or are required to be repaid, directly or indirectly, from general state revenues and which are incurred by the state, any department, authority, public corporation, or quasi public corporation of the state, any state university or college, or any other public agency created by the state but not by counties, cities, towns, school districts, or other municipal corporations, but shall not include obligations for the payment of current expenses of state government, nor shall it include debt hereafter incurred pursuant to section 3 of this article, obligations guaranteed as provided for in subsection (f) of this section, principal of bond anticipation notes or obligations issued to fund or refund the indebtedness of the Washington state building authority.

(e) The state may, without limitation, fund or refund, at or prior to maturity, the whole or any part of any existing debt or of any debt hereafter contracted pursuant to section 1, section 2, or section 3 of this article, including any premium payable with respect thereto and interest thereon, or fund or refund, at or prior to maturity, the whole or any part of any indebtedness incurred or authorized prior to the effective date of this amendment by any entity of the type described in subsection (g) of this section, including any premium payable with respect thereto and any interest thereon. Such funding or refunding shall not be deemed to be contracting debt by the state.

(f) Notwithstanding the limitation contained in subsection (b) of this section, the state may pledge its full faith, credit, and taxing power to guarantee the payment of any obligation payable from revenues received from any of the following sources: (1) Fees collected by the state as license fees for motor vehicles; (2) Excise taxes collected by the state on the sale, distribution or use of motor vehicle fuel; and (3) Interest on the permanent common school fund: Provided, That the legislature shall, at all times, provide sufficient revenues from such sources to pay the principal and interest due on all obligations for which said source of revenue is pledged.

(g) No money shall be paid from funds in custody of the treasurer with respect to any debt contracted after the effective date of this amendment by the Washington state building authority, the capitol committee, or any similar entity existing or operating for similar purposes pursuant to which such entity undertakes to finance or provide a facility for use or occupancy by the state or any agency, department, or instrumentality thereof.

(h) The legislature shall prescribe all matters relating to the contracting, funding or refunding of debt pursuant to this section, including: The purposes for which debt may be contracted; by a favorable vote of three-fifths of the members elected to each house, the amount of debt which may be contracted for any class of such purposes; the kinds of notes, bonds, or other evidences of debt which may be issued by the state; and the manner by which the treasurer shall determine and advise the legislature, any appropriate agency, officer, or instrumentality of the state as to the available debt capacity within the limitation set forth in this section. The legislature may delegate to any state officer, agency, or instrumentality any of its powers relating to the contracting, funding or refunding of debt pursuant to this section except its power to determine the amount and purposes for which debt may be contracted.

(i) The full faith, credit, and taxing power of the state of Washington are pledged to the payment of the debt created on behalf of the state pursuant to this section and the legislature shall provide by appropriation for the payment of the interest upon and installments of principal of all such debt as the same falls due, but in any event, any court of record may compel such payment.

(j) Notwithstanding the limitations contained in subsection (b) of this section, the state may issue certificates of indebtedness in such sum or sums as may be necessary to meet temporary deficiencies of the treasury, to preserve the best interests of the state in the conduct of the various state institutions, departments, bureaus, and agencies during each fiscal year; such certificates may be issued only to provide for appropriations already made by the legislature and such certificates must be retired and the debt discharged other than by refunding within twelve months after the date of incurrence.

(k) Bonds, notes, or other obligations issued and sold by the state of Washington pursuant to and in conformity with this article shall not be invalid for any irregularity or defect in the proceedings of the issuance or sale thereof and shall be incontestable in the hands of a bona fide purchaser or holder thereof. ARTICLE XI

COUNTY, CITY AND TOWNSHIP ORGANIZATION

§ 1 EXISTING COUNTIES RECOGNIZED. The several counties of the Territory of Washington existing at the time of the adoption of this Constitution are hereby recognized as legal subdivisions of this state.

§ 2 COUNTY SEATS—LOCATION AND REMOVAL. No county seat shall be removed unless three-fifths of the qualified electors of the county, voting on the proposition at a general election shall vote in favor of such removal, and three-fifths of all votes cast on the proposition shall be required to relocate a county seat. A proposition of removal shall not be submitted in the same county more than once in four years.

Governmental continuity during emergency periods: Art. 2 § 42.

§ 3 NEW COUNTIES. No new counties shall be established which shall reduce any county to a population less than four thousand (4,000), nor shall a new county be formed containing a less population than two thousand (2,000). There shall be no territory stricken from any county unless a majority of the voters living in such territory shall petition therefor and then only under such other conditions as may be prescribed by a general law applicable to the whole state. Every county which shall be enlarged or created from territory taken from any other county or counties shall be liable for a just proportion of the existing debts and liabilities of the county or counties from which such territory shall be taken: Provided, That in such accounting neither county shall be charged with any debt or liability then existing incurred in the purchase of any county property, or in the purchase or construction of any county buildings then in use, or under construction, which shall fall within and be retained by the county: Provided further, That this shall not be construed to affect the rights of creditors.

§ 4 COUNTY GOVERNMENT AND TOWNSHIP ORGANIZATION. The legislature shall establish a system of county government, which shall be uniform throughout the state except as hereinafter provided, and by general laws shall provide for township organization, under which any county may organize whenever a majority of the qualified electors of such county voting at a general election shall so determine; and whenever a county shall adopt township organization, the assessment and collection of the revenue shall be made, and the business of such county and the local affairs of the several townships therein, shall be managed and transacted in the manner prescribed by such general law.

Any county may frame a "Home Rule" charter for its own government subject to the Constitution and laws of this state, and for such purpose the legislative authority of such county may cause an election to be had, at which election there shall be chosen by the qualified voters of said county not less than fifteen (15) nor more than twenty-five (25) freeholders thereof, as determined by the legislative authority, who shall have been residents of said county for a period of at least five (5) years preceding their election and who are themselves qualified electors, whose duty it shall be to convene within thirty (30) days after their election and prepare and propose a charter for such county. Such proposed charter shall be submitted to the qualified electors of said county, and if a majority of such qualified electors voting thereon ratify the same, it shall become the charter of said county and shall become the organic law thereof, and supersede any existing charter, including amendments thereto, or any existing form of county government, and all special laws inconsistent with such charter. Said proposed charter shall be published in two (2) legal newspapers published in said county, at least once a week for four (4) consecutive weeks prior to the day of submitting the same to the electors for their approval as above provided. All elections in this section authorized shall only be had upon notice, which notice shall specify the object of calling such election and shall be given for at least ten (10) days before the day of election in all election districts of said county. Said elections may be general or special elections and except as herein provided, shall be governed by the law regulating and controlling general or special elections in said county. Such charter may be amended by proposals therefor submitted by the legislative authority of said county to the electors thereof at any general election after notice of such submission published as above specified, and ratified by a majority of the qualified electors voting thereon. In submitting any such charter or amendment thereto, any alternate article or proposition may be presented for the choice of the voters and may be voted on separately without prejudice to others.

Any home rule charter proposed as herein provided, may provide for such county officers as may be deemed necessary to carry out and perform all county functions as provided by charter or by general law, and for their compensation, but shall not affect the election of the prosecuting attorney, the county superintendent of schools, the judges of the superior court, and the justices of the peace, or the jurisdiction of the courts.

The petition shall be filed with the county auditor of the county at least three (3) months before any general election and the proposal that a board of freeholders be elected for the purpose of framing a county charter shall be submitted to the vote of the people at said general election, and at the same election a board of freeholders of not less than fifteen (15) or more than twenty-five (25), as fixed in the petition calling for the election, shall be chosen to draft the new charter. The procedure for the nomination of qualified electors as candidates for said board of freeholders shall be prescribed by the legislative authority of the county, and the procedure for the framing of the charter and the submission of the charter as framed shall be the same as in the case of a board of freeholders chosen at an election initiated by the legislative authority of the county.

In calling for any election of freeholders as provided in this section, the legislative authority of the county shall apportion the number of freeholders to be elected in accordance with either the legislative districts or the county commissioner districts, if any, within said county, the number of said freeholders to be elected from each of said districts to be in proportion to the population of said districts as nearly as may be.

Should the charter proposed receive the affirmative vote of the majority of the electors voting thereon, the legislative authority of the county shall immediately call such special election as may be provided for therein, if any, and the county government shall be established in accordance with the terms of said charter not more than six (6) months after the election at which the charter was adopted.

The terms of all elective officers, except the prosecuting attorney, the county superintendent of schools, the judges of the superior court, and the justices of the peace, who are in office at the time of the adoption of a Home Rule Charter shall terminate as provided in the charter. All appointive officers in office at the time the charter goes into effect, whose positions are not abolished thereby, shall continue until their successors shall have qualified.

After the adoption of such charter, such county shall continue to have all the rights, powers, privileges and benefits then possessed or thereafter conferred by general law. All the powers, authority and duties granted to and imposed on county officers by general law, except the prosecuting attorney, the county superintendent of schools, the judges of the superior court and the justices of the peace, shall be vested in the legislative authority of the county unless expressly vested in specific officers by the charter. The legislative authority may by resolution delegate any of its executive or administrative powers, authority or duties not expressly vested in specific officers by the charter, to any county officer or officers or county employee or employees.

The provisions of sections 5, 6, 7, and the first sentence of section 8 of this Article as amended shall not apply to counties in which the government has been established by charter adopted under the provisions hereof. The authority conferred on the board of county commissioners by Section 15 of Article II as amended, shall be exercised by the legislative authority of the county. § 16 COMBINED CITY-COUNTY.

Any county may frame a "Home Rule" charter subject to the Constitution and laws of this state to provide for the formation and government of combined city and county municipal corporations, each of which shall be known as "city-county". Registered voters equal in number to ten (10) percent of the voters of any such county voting at the last preceding general election may at any time propose by a petition the calling of an election of freeholders. The provisions of section 4 of this Article with respect to a petition calling for an election of freeholders to frame a county home rule charter, the election of freeholders, and the framing and adoption of a county home rule charter pursuant to such petition shall apply to a petition proposed under this section for the election of freeholders to frame a city-county charter, the election of freeholders, and to the framing and adoption of such city-county charter pursuant to such petition. Except as otherwise provided in this section, the provisions of section 4 applicable to a county home rule charter shall apply to a city-county charter. If there are not sufficient legal newspapers published in the county to meet the requirements for publication of a proposed charter under section 4 of this Article, publication in a legal newspaper circulated in the county may be substituted for publication in a legal newspaper published in the county. No such "city-county" shall be formed except by a majority vote of the qualified electors voting thereon in the county. The charter shall designate the respective officers of such city-county who shall perform the duties imposed by law upon county officers. Every such city-county shall have and enjoy all rights, powers and privileges asserted in its charter, and in addition thereto, such rights, powers and privileges as may be granted to it, or to any city or county or class or classes of cities and counties. In the event of a conflict in the constitutional provisions applying to cities and those applying to counties or of a conflict in the general laws applying to cities and those applying to counties, a city-county shall be authorized to exercise any powers that are granted to either the cities or the counties.

No legislative enactment which is a prohibition or restriction shall apply to the rights, powers and privileges of a city-county unless such prohibition or restriction shall apply equally to every other city, county, and city-county.

The provisions of sections 2, 3, 5, 6, and 8 and of the first paragraph of section 4 of this article shall not apply to any such city-county.

Municipal corporations may be retained or otherwise provided for within the city-county. The formation, powers and duties of such municipal corporations shall be prescribed by the charter.

No city-county shall for any purpose become indebted in any manner to an amount exceeding three per centum of the taxable property in such city-county without the assent of three-fifths of the voters therein voting at an election to be held for that purpose, nor in cases requiring such assent shall the total indebtedness at any time exceed ten per centum of the value of the taxable property therein, to be ascertained by the last assessment for city-county purposes previous to the incurring of such indebtedness: Provided, That no part of the indebtedness allowed in this section shall be incurred for any purpose other than strictly city-county or other municipal purposes: Provided further, That any city-county, with such assent may be allowed to become indebted to a larger amount, but not exceeding five per centum additional for supplying such city-county with water, artificial light, and sewers, when the works for supplying such water, light, and sewers shall be owned and controlled by the city-county.

No municipal corporation which is retained or otherwise provided for within the city-county shall for any purpose become indebted in any manner to an amount exceeding one and one-half per centum of the taxable property in such municipal corporation without the assent of three-fifths of the voters therein voting at an election to be held for that purpose, nor shall the total indebtedness at any time exceed five per centum of the value of the taxable property therein, to be ascertained by the last assessment for city-county purposes previous to the incurring of such indebtedness: Provided, That no part of the indebtedness allowed in this section shall be incurred for any purpose other than strictly municipal purposes: Provided further, That any such municipal corporation, with such assent, may be allowed to become indebted to a larger amount, but not exceeding five per centum additional for supplying such municipal corporation with water, artificial light, and sewers, when the works for supplying such water, light, and sewers shall be owned and controlled by the municipal corporation. All taxes which are levied and collected within a municipal corporation for a specific purpose shall be expended within that municipal corporation.

The authority conferred on the city-county government shall not be restricted by the second sentence of Article 7, section 1, or by Article 8, section 6 of this Constitution. [AMENDMENT 58, 1971 House Joint Resolution No. 21, p 1831. Approved November, 1972.]

Amendment 23 (1948)—Art. 11, Sec. 16 COMBINED CITY AND COUNTY—The legislature shall, by general law, provide for the formation of combined city and county municipal corporations, and for the manner of determining the territorial limits thereof, each of which shall be known as a "city and county," and, when organized, shall contain a population of at least three hundred thousand (300,000) inhabitants. No such city and county shall be formed except by a majority vote of the qualified electors of the area proposed to be included therein and also by a majority vote of the qualified electors of the remainder of that county from which such area is to be taken. Any such city and county shall be permitted to frame a charter for its own government, and amend the same, in the manner provided for cities by section 10 of this article: Provided, however, That the first charter of such city and county shall be framed and adopted in a manner to be specified in the general law authorizing the formation of such corporations: Provided further, That every such charter shall designate the respective officers of such city and county who shall perform the duties imposed by law upon county officers. Every such city and county shall have and enjoy all rights, powers and privileges asserted in its charter, not inconsistent with general laws, and in addition thereto, such rights, powers and privileges as may be granted to it, or possessed and enjoyed by cities and counties of like population separately organized.

No county or county government existing outside the territorial limits of such county and city shall exercise any police, taxation or other powers within the territorial limits of such county and city, but all such powers shall be exercised by the city and county and the officers thereof, subject to such constitutional provisions and general laws as apply to either cities or counties: Provided, That the provisions of sections 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, and 8 of this article shall not apply to any such city and county: Provided further, That the salary of any elective or appointive officer of a city and county shall not be changed after his election or appointment or during his term of office, nor shall the term of any such officer be extended beyond the period for which he is elected or appointed. In case an existing county is divided in the formation of a city and county, such city and county shall be liable for a just proportion of the existing debts or liabilities of the former county, and shall account for and pay the county remaining a just proportion of the value of any real estate or other property owned by the former county and taken over by the county and city, the method of determining such just proportion to be prescribed by general law, but such division shall not affect the rights of creditors. The officers of a city and county, their compensation, qualifications, term of office and manner of election or appointment shall be as provided for in its charter, subject to general laws and applicable constitutional provisions. [AMENDMENT 23, 1947 House Joint Resolution No. 13, p 1386. Approved November 2, 1948.]

change from a territorial to a state government, and which shall then be pending, shall be prosecuted to judgment, and execution in the name of the state. And until the expiration of the term of office of the probate judges, such probate judges shall perform the duties now imposed upon them by the laws of the Territory. The superior courts shall have appellate and revisory jurisdiction over the decisions of the probate courts, as now provided by law, until such latter courts expire by limitation.

The election held at the time of the adoption of this Constitution shall be held and conducted in all respects according to the laws of the Territory, and the votes cast at said election for all officers (where no other provisions are made in this Constitution), and for the adoption of this Constitution and the several separate articles and the location of the state capital, shall be canvassed and returned in the several counties in the manner provided by Territorial law, and shall be returned to the secretary of the Territory in the manner provided by the Enabling Act.

Article 2 was amended by striking all of sections 1 and 31, and inserting in lieu thereof as section 1 the following, so that the same shall read as follows:

Art. 2 § 1 LEGISLATIVE POWERS, WHERE VESTED. The legislative authority of the state of Washington shall be vested in the legislature, consisting of a senate and house of representatives, which shall be called the legislature of the state of Washington, but the people reserve to themselves the power to propose bills, laws, and to enact or reject the same at the polls, independent of the legislature, and also reserve power, at their own option, to approve or reject at the polls any act, item, section or part of any bill, act or law passed by the legislature.

(a) Initiative: The first power reserved by the people is the initiative. Ten per centum, but in no case more than fifty thousand, of the legal voters shall be required to propose any measure by such petition, and every such petition shall include the full text of the measure so proposed. Initiative petitions shall be filed with the secretary of state not less than four months before the election at which they are to be voted upon, or not less than ten days before any regular session of the legislature. If filed at least four months before the election at which they are to be voted upon, he shall submit the same to the vote of the people at the said election. If such petitions are filed not less than ten days before any regular session of the legislature, he shall transmit the same to the legislature as soon as it convenes and organizes. Such initiative measure shall take precedence over all other measures in the legislature except appropriation bills and shall be either enacted or rejected without change or amendment by the legislature before the end of such regular session. If any such initiative measure shall be enacted by the legislature it shall be subject to the referendum petition, or it may be enacted and referred by the legislature to the people for approval or rejection at the next regular election. If it is rejected or if no action is taken upon it by the legislature before the end of such regular session, the secretary of state shall submit it to the people for approval or rejection at the next ensuing regular general election. The legislature may reject any measure so proposed by initiative petition and propose a different one dealing with the same subject, and in such event both measures shall be submitted by the secretary of state to the people for approval or rejection at the next ensuing regular general election. When conflicting measures are submitted to the people the ballots shall be so printed that a voter can express separately by making one cross (X) for each, two preferences, first, as between either measure and neither, and secondly, as between one and the other. If the majority of those voting on the first issue is for neither, both fail, but in that case the votes on the second issue shall nevertheless be carefully counted and made public. If a majority voting on the first issue is for either, then the measure receiving a majority of the votes on the second issue shall be law.

Portion of subdivision (a) is superseded by the 30th amendment.

(b) Referendum. The second power reserved by the people is the referendum, and it may be ordered on any act, bill, law, or any part thereof passed by the legislature, except such laws as may be necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health or safety, support of the state government and its existing public institutions, either by petition signed by the required percentage of the legal voters, or by the legislature as other bills are enacted. Six per centum, but in no case more than thirty thousand, of the legal voters shall be required to sign and make a valid referendum petition.

Portion of subdivision (b) is superseded by the 30th amendment.

(c) No act, law, or bill subject to referendum shall take effect until ninety days after the adjournment of the session at which it was enacted. No act, law, or bill approved by a majority of the electors voting thereon shall be amended or repealed by the legislature within a period of two years following such enactment. But such enactment may be amended or repealed at any general regular or special election by direct vote of the people thereon.

Subdivision (c) is superseded by the 26th amendment.

(d) The filing of a referendum petition against one or more items, sections or parts of any act, law or bill shall not delay the remainder of the measure from becoming operative. Referendum petitions against measures passed by the legislature shall be filed with the secretary of state not later than ninety days after the final adjournment of the session of the legislature which passed the measure on which the referendum is demanded. The veto power of the governor shall not extend to measures initiated by or referred to the people. All elections on measures referred to the people of the state shall be had at the biennial regular elections, except when the legislature shall order a special election. Any measure initiated by the people or referred to the people as herein provided shall take effect and become the law if it is approved by a majority of the votes cast thereon: Provided, That the vote cast upon such question or measure shall equal one-third of the total votes cast at such election and not otherwise. Such measure shall be in operation on and after the thirtieth day after the election at which it is approved. The style of all bills proposed by initiative petition shall be: "Be it enacted by the people of the State of Washington." This section shall not be construed to deprive any member of the legislature of the right to introduce any measure. The whole number of electors who voted for governor at the regular gubernatorial election last preceding the filing of any petition for the initiative or for the referendum shall be the basis on which the number of legal voters necessary to sign such petition shall be counted. All such petitions shall be filed with the secretary of state, who shall be guided by the general laws in submitting the same to the people until additional legislation shall especially provide therefor. This section is self-executing, but legislation may be enacted especially to facilitate its operation.

The legislature shall provide methods of publicity of all laws or parts of laws, and amendments to the constitution referred to the people with arguments for and against the laws and amendments so referred, so that each voter of the state shall receive the publication at least fifty days before the election at which they are to be voted upon. [1911 p 136 § 1. Approved November, 1912.]

Last paragraph is superseded by the 36th amendment.

The percentages required shall be, state officers, other than judges, senators and representatives, city officers of cities of the first class, school district boards in cities of the first class; county officers of counties of the first, second and third classes, twenty-five per cent. Whenever an attempt is made to take private property for a use alleged to be public, the question whether the contemplated use be really public shall be a judicial question, and determined as such, without regard to any legislative assertion that the use is public:

[1921 p 80 § 1. Approved November, 1922.]

The term "taxing district" for the purposes of this section shall mean any political subdivision, municipal corporation, district, or other governmental agency authorized by law to levy, or have levied for it, ad valorem taxes on property, other than a port or public utility district. Such aggregate limitation or any specific limitation imposed by law in conformity therewith may be exceeded only

(a) By any taxing district when specifically authorized so to do by a majority of at least three-fifths of the electors thereof voting on the proposition to levy such additional tax submitted not more than twelve months prior to the date on which the proposed levy is to be made and not oftener than twice in such twelve month period, either at a special election or at the regular election of such taxing district, at which election the number of persons voting on the proposition shall constitute not less than forty per centum of the total number of votes cast in such taxing district at the last preceding general election;

Such highway purposes shall be construed to include the following:

(a) The necessary operating, engineering and legal expenses connected with the administration of public highways, county roads and city streets;

(e) The cost of collection of any revenues described in this section:

Provided, That this section shall not be construed to include revenue from general or special taxes or excises not levied primarily for highway purposes, or apply to vehicle operator's license fees or any excise tax imposed on motor vehicles or the use thereof in lieu of a property tax thereon, or fees for certificates of ownership of motor vehicles. [1943 House Joint Resolution No. 4, p 938. Approved November, 1944.]

Art. 7 § 3 TAXATION OF FEDERAL AGENCIES AND PROPERTY. The United States and its agencies and instrumentalities, and their property, may be taxed under any of the tax laws of this state, whenever and in such manner as such taxation may be authorized or permitted under the laws of the United States, notwithstanding anything to the contrary in the Constitution of this state. AMENDMENT 20

Art. 28 § 1 COMPENSATION OF STATE OFFICERS. All elected state officials shall each severally receive such compensation as the legislature may direct. The provisions of sections 14, 16, 17, 19, 20, 21, and 22 of Article III and section 23 of Article II in so far as they are inconsistent herewith, are hereby repealed. [1947 Senate Joint Resolution No. 4, p 1371. Approved November 2, 1948.]

Authorizing compensation increase during term: See Amendment 54.

Art. 11 § 4 COUNTY GOVERNMENT AND TOWNSHIP ORGANIZATION. The legislature shall establish a system of county government, which shall be uniform throughout the state except as hereinafter provided, and by general laws shall provide for township organization, under which any county may organize whenever a majority of the qualified electors of such county voting at a general election shall so determine; and whenever a county shall adopt township organization, the assessment and collection of the revenue shall be made, and the business of such county and the local affairs of the several townships therein, shall be managed and transacted in the manner prescribed by such general law.

Any county may frame a "Home Rule" charter for its own government subject to the Constitution and laws of this state, and for such purpose the legislative authority of such county may cause an election to be had, at which election there shall be chosen by the qualified voters of said county not less than fifteen (15) nor more than twenty-five (25) freeholders thereof, as determined by the legislative authority, who shall have been residents of said county for a period of at least five (5) years preceding their election and who are themselves qualified electors, whose duty it shall be to convene within thirty (30) days after their election and prepare and propose a charter for such county. Such proposed charter shall be submitted to the qualified electors of said county, and if a majority of such qualified electors voting thereon ratify the same, it shall become the charter of said county and shall become the organic law thereof, and supersede any existing charter, including amendments thereto, or any existing form of county government, and all special laws inconsistent with such charter. Said proposed charter shall be published in two (2) legal newspapers published in said county, at least once a week for four (4) consecutive weeks prior to the day of submitting the same to the electors for their approval as above provided. All elections in this section authorized shall only be had upon notice, which notice shall specify the object of calling such election and shall be given for at least ten (10) days before the day of election in all election districts of said county. Said elections may be general or special elections and except as herein provided, shall be governed by the law regulating and controlling general or special elections in said county. Such charter may be amended by proposals therefor submitted by the legislative authority of said county to the electors thereof at any general election after notice of such submission published as above specified, and ratified by a majority of the qualified electors voting thereon. In submitting any such charter or amendment thereto, any alternate article or proposition may be presented for the choice of the voters and may be voted on separately without prejudice to others.

Any home rule charter proposed as herein provided, may provide for such county officers as may be deemed necessary to carry out and perform all county functions as provided by charter or by general law, and for their compensation, but shall not affect the election of the prosecuting attorney, the county superintendent of schools, the judges of the superior court, and the justices of the peace, or the jurisdiction of the courts.

Notwithstanding the foregoing provision for the calling of an election by the legislative authority of such county for the election of freeholders to frame a county charter, registered voters equal in number to ten (10) per centum of the voters of any such county voting at the last preceding general election, may at any time propose by petition the calling of an election of freeholders. The petition shall be filed with the county auditor of the county at least three (3) months before any general election and the proposal that a board of freeholders be elected for the purpose of framing a county charter shall be submitted to the vote of the people at said general election, and at the same election a board of freeholders of not less than fifteen (15) or more than twenty-five (25), as fixed in the petition calling for the election, shall be chosen to draft the new charter. The procedure for the nomination of qualified electors as candidates for said board of freeholders shall be prescribed by the legislative authority of the county, and the procedure for the framing of the charter and the submission of the charter as framed shall be the same as in the case of a board of freeholders chosen at an election initiated by the legislative authority of the county.

In calling for any election of freeholders as provided in this section, the legislative authority of the county shall apportion the number of freeholders to be elected in accordance with either the legislative districts or the county commissioner districts, if any, within said county, the number of said freeholders to be elected from each of said districts to be in proportion to the population of said districts as nearly as may be.

Should the charter proposed receive the affirmative vote of the majority of the electors voting thereon, the legislative authority of the county shall immediately call such special election as may be provided for therein, if any, and the county government shall be established in accordance with the terms of said charter not more than six (6) months after the election at which the charter was adopted.

The terms of all elective officers, except the prosecuting attorney, the county superintendent of schools, the judges of the superior court, and the justices of the peace, who are in office at the time of the adoption of a Home Rule Charter shall terminate as provided in the charter. All appointive officers in office at the time the charter goes into effect, whose positions are not abolished thereby, shall continue until their successors shall have qualified.

After the adoption of such charter, such county shall continue to have all the rights, powers, privileges and benefits then possessed or thereafter conferred by general law. All the powers, authority and duties granted to and imposed on county officers by general law, except the prosecuting attorney, the county superintendent of schools, the judges of the superior court and the justices of the peace, shall be vested in the legislative authority of the county unless expressly vested in specific officers by the charter. The legislative authority may by resolution delegate any of its executive or administrative powers, authority or duties not expressly vested in specific officers by the charter, to any county officer or officers or county employee or employees.

The provisions of sections 5, 6, 7, and the first sentence of section 8 of this Article as amended shall not apply to counties in which the government has been established by charter adopted under the provisions hereof. The authority conferred on the board of county commissioners by Section 15 of Article II as amended, shall be exercised by the legislative authority of the county. [1947 Senate Joint Resolution No. 5, p 1372. Approved November 2, 1948.]

Section 7, Article XI, Constitution of the State of Washington is hereby repealed. [1947 House Joint Resolution No. 4, p 1385. Approved November 2, 1948.]

Art. 11 § 16 COMBINED CITY AND COUNTY. The legislature shall, by general law, provide for the formation of combined city and county municipal corporations, and for the manner of determining the territorial limits thereof, each of which shall be known as a "city and county," and, when organized, shall contain a population of at least three hundred thousand (300,000) inhabitants. No such city and county shall be formed except by a majority vote of the qualified electors of the area proposed to be included therein and also by a majority vote of the qualified electors of the remainder of that county from which such area is to be taken. Any such city and county shall be permitted to frame a charter for its own government, and amend the same, in the manner provided for cities by section 10 of this article: Provided, however, That the first charter of such city and county shall be framed and adopted in a manner to be specified in the general law authorizing the formation of such corporations: Provided further, That every such charter shall designate the respective officers of such city and county who shall perform the duties imposed by law upon county officers. Every such city and county shall have and enjoy all rights, powers and privileges asserted in its charter, not inconsistent with general laws, and in addition thereto, such rights, powers and privileges as may be granted to it, or possessed and enjoyed by cities and counties of like population separately organized.

No county or county government existing outside the territorial limits of such county and city shall exercise any police, taxation or other powers within the territorial limits of such county and city, but all such powers shall be exercised by the city and county and the officers thereof, subject to such constitutional provisions and general laws as apply to either cities or counties: Provided, That the provisions of sections 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, and 8 of this article shall not apply to any such city and county: Provided further, That the salary of any elective or appointive officer of a city and county shall not be changed after his election or appointment or during his term of office; nor shall the term of any such officer be extended beyond the period for which he is elected or appointed. In case an existing county is divided in the formation of a city and county, such city and county shall be liable for a just proportion of the existing debts or liabilities of the former county, and shall account for and pay the county remaining a just proportion of the value of any real estate or other property owned by the former county and taken over by the county and city, the method of determining such just proportion to be prescribed by general law, but such division shall not affect the rights of creditors. No such "city-county" shall be formed except by a majority vote of the qualified electors voting thereon in the county. The charter shall designate the respective officers of such city-county who shall perform the duties imposed by law upon county officers. Every such city-county shall have and enjoy all rights, powers and privileges asserted in its charter, and in addition thereto, such rights, powers and privileges as may be granted to it, or to any city or county or class or classes of cities and counties. In the event of a conflict in the constitutional provisions applying to cities and those applying to counties or of a conflict in the general laws applying to cities and those applying to counties, a city-county shall be authorized to exercise any powers that are granted to either the cities or the counties.

No legislative enactment which is a prohibition or restriction shall apply to the rights, powers and privileges of a city-county unless such prohibition or restriction shall apply equally to every other city, county, and city-county.

The provisions of sections 2, 3, 5, 6, and 8 and of the first paragraph of section 4 of this Article shall not apply to any such city-county.

Municipal corporations may be retained or otherwise provided for within the city-county. The formation, powers and duties of such municipal corporations shall be prescribed by the charter.

No city-county shall for any purpose become indebted in any manner to an amount exceeding three per centum of the taxable property in such city-county without the assent of three-fifths of the voters therein voting at an election to be held for that purpose, nor in cases requiring such assent shall the total indebtedness at any time exceed ten per centum of the value of the taxable property therein, to be ascertained by the last assessment for city-county purposes previous to the incurring of such indebtedness: Provided, That no part of the indebtedness allowed in this section shall be incurred for any purpose other than strictly city-county or other municipal purposes: Provided further, That any city-county, with such assent may be allowed to become indebted to a larger amount, but not exceeding five per centum additional for supplying such city-county with water, artificial light, and sewers, when the works for supplying such water, light, and sewers shall be owned and controlled by the city-county.

No municipal corporation which is retained or otherwise provided for within the city-county shall for any purpose become indebted in any manner to an amount exceeding one and one-half per centum of the taxable property in such municipal corporation without the assent of three-fifths of the voters therein voting at an election to be held for that purpose, nor shall the total indebtedness at any time exceed five per centum of the value of the taxable property therein, to be ascertained by the last assessment for city-county purposes previous to the incurring of such indebtedness: Provided, That no part of the indebtedness allowed in this section shall be incurred for any purpose other than strictly municipal purposes: Provided further, That any such municipal corporation, with such assent, may be allowed to become indebted to a larger amount, but not exceeding five per centum additional for supplying such municipal corporation with water, artificial light, and sewers, when the works for supplying such water, light, and sewers shall be owned and controlled by the municipal corporation. All taxes which are levied and collected within a municipal corporation for a specific purpose shall be expended within that municipal corporation.

The authority conferred on the city-county government shall not be restricted by the second sentence of Article 7, section 1, or by Article 8, section 6 of this Constitution. [1971 House Joint Resolution No. 21. Approved November 7, 1972.]

Art. 8 § 1. STATE DEBT. (a) The state may contract debt, the principal of which shall be paid and discharged within thirty years from the time of contracting thereof, in the manner set forth herein.

(b) The aggregate debt contracted by the state shall not exceed that amount for which payments of principal and interest in any fiscal year would require the state to expend more than nine percent of the arithmetic mean of its general state revenues for the three immediately preceding fiscal years as certified by the treasurer. The term "fiscal year" means that period of time commencing July 1 of any year and ending on June 30 of the following year.

(c) The term "general state revenues" when used in this section, shall include all state money received in the treasury from each and every source whatsoever except: (1) Fees and revenues derived from the ownership or operation of any undertaking, facility, or project; (2) Moneys received as gifts, grants, donations, aid, or assistance or otherwise from the United States or any department, bureau, or corporation thereof, or any person, firm, or corporation, public or private, when the terms and conditions of such gift, grant, donation, aid, or assistance require the application and disbursement of such moneys otherwise than for the general purposes of the state of Washington; (3) Moneys to be paid into and received from retirement system funds, and performance bonds and deposits; (4) Moneys to be paid into and received from trust funds including but not limited to moneys received from taxes levied for specific purposes and the several permanent and irreducible funds of the state and the moneys derived therefrom but excluding bond redemption funds; (5) Proceeds received from the sale of bonds or other evidences of indebtedness.

(d) In computing the amount required for payment of principal and interest on outstanding debt under this section, debt shall be construed to mean borrowed money represented by bonds, notes, or other evidences of indebtedness which are secured by the full faith and credit of the state or are required to be repaid, directly or indirectly, from general state revenues and which are incurred by the state, any department, authority, public corporation, or quasi public corporation of the state, any state university or college, or any other public agency created by the state but not by counties, cities, towns, school districts, or other municipal corporations, but shall not include obligations for the payment of current expenses of state government, nor shall it include debt hereafter incurred pursuant to section 3 of this Article, obligations guaranteed as provided for in subsection (f) of this section, principal of bond anticipation notes or obligations issued to fund or refund the indebtedness of the Washington state building authority.

(e) The state may, without limitation, fund or refund, at or prior to maturity, the whole or any part of any existing debt or of any debt hereafter contracted pursuant to section 1, section 2, or section 3 of this Article, including any premium payable with respect thereto and interest thereon, or fund or refund, at or prior to maturity, the whole or any part of any indebtedness incurred or authorized prior to the effective date of this amendment by any entity of the type described in subsection (g) of this section, including any premium payable with respect thereto and any interest thereon. Such funding or refunding shall not be deemed to be contracting debt by the state.

(f) Notwithstanding the limitation contained in subsection (b) of this section, the state may pledge its full faith, credit, and taxing power to guarantee the payment of any obligation payable from revenues received from any of the following sources: (1) Fees collected by the state as license fees for motor vehicles; (2) Excise taxes collected by the state on the sale, distribution or use of motor vehicle fuel; and (3) Interest on the permanent common school fund: Provided, That the legislature shall, at all times, provide sufficient revenues from such sources to pay the principal and interest due on all obligations for which said source of revenue is pledged.

(g) No money shall be paid from funds in custody of the treasurer with respect to any debt contracted after the effective date of this amendment by the Washington state building authority, the capitol committee, or any similar entity existing or operating for similar purposes pursuant to which such entity undertakes to finance or provide a facility for use or occupancy by the state or any agency, department, or instrumentality thereof.

(h) The legislature shall prescribe all matters relating to the contracting, funding or refunding of debt pursuant to this section, including: The purposes for which debt may be contracted; by a favorable vote of three-fifths of the members elected to each house, the amount of debt which may be contracted for any class of such purposes; the kinds of notes, bonds, or other evidences of debt which may be issued by the state; and the manner by which the treasurer shall determine and advise the legislature, any appropriate agency, officer, or instrumentality of the state as to the available debt capacity within the limitation set forth in this section. The legislature may delegate to any state officer, agency, or instrumentality any of its powers relating to the contracting, funding or refunding of debt pursuant to this section except its power to determine the amount and purposes for which debt may be contracted.

(i) The full faith, credit, and taxing power of the state of Washington are pledged to the payment of the debt created on behalf of the state pursuant to this section and the legislature shall provide by appropriation for the payment of the interest upon and installments of principal of all such debt as the same falls due, but in any event, any court of record may compel such payment.

(j) Notwithstanding the limitations contained in subsection (b) of this section, the state may issue certificates of indebtedness in such sum or sums as may be necessary to meet temporary deficiencies of the treasury, to preserve the best interests of the state in the conduct of the various state institutions, departments, bureaus, and agencies during each fiscal year; such certificates may be issued only to provide for appropriations already made by the legislature and such certificates must be retired and the debt discharged other than by refunding within twelve months after the date of incurrence.

(k) Bonds, notes, or other obligations issued and sold by the state of Washington pursuant to and in conformity with this Article shall not be invalid for any irregularity or defect in the proceedings of the issuance or sale thereof and shall be incontestable in the hands of a bona fide purchaser or holder thereof.

Art. 8 § 3. SPECIAL INDEBTEDNESS, HOW AUTHORIZED. Except the debt specified in sections one and two of this Article, no debts shall hereafter be contracted by, or on behalf of this state, unless such debt shall be authorized by law for some single work or object to be distinctly specified therein. No such law shall take effect until it shall, at a general election, or a special election called for that purpose, have been submitted to the people and have received a majority of all the votes cast for and against it at such election. PREAMBLE

1. Compliance with the Code of Judicial Conduct. Anyone, whether or not a lawyer, who is an officer of a judicial system performing judicial functions, including an officer such as a referee in bankruptcy, special master, court commissioner, or magistrate, is a judge for the purpose of this Code. All judges should comply with this Code except as provided below.

A. Part-time Judge. A part-time judge is a judge who serves on a continuing or periodic basis, but is permitted by law to devote time to some other profession or occupation and whose compensation for that reason is less than that of a full-time judge. A part-time judge:

(1) is not required to comply with Canon 5C(2), D, E, F, and G, and Canon 6C;

(2) should not act as a lawyer in a proceeding in which he has served as a judge or in any other proceeding related thereto.

B. Judge Pro Tempore. A judge pro tempore is a person who is appointed to act temporarily as a judge.

(1) While acting as such, a judge pro tempore is not required to comply with Canon 5C(2), (3), D, E, F, and G, and Canon 6C.

(2) A person who has been a judge pro tempore should not act as a lawyer in a proceeding in which he has served as a judge or in any other proceeding related thereto.

C. Retired Judge. If a retired appellate court judge engages in the practice of law, he shall be ineligible to serve as a judge pro tempore of an appellate court.

2. Effective Date of Compliance. A person to whom this Code becomes applicable should arrange his affairs as soon as reasonably possible to comply with it. If, however, the demands on his time and the possibility of conflicts of interest are not substantial, a person who holds judicial office on the date this Code becomes effective may:

(a) continue to act as an officer, director, or non-legal advisor of a family business;

(b) continue to act as an executor, administrator, trustee, or other fiduciary for the estate or person of one who is not a member of his family. [Amended June 19, 1974, effective July 1, 1974; Adopted October 31, 1974, effective January 1, 1974. Prior: Canons of Judicial Ethics, Adopted November 22, 1950, effective January 2, 1951.]

A JUDGE SHOULD UPHOLD THE INTEGRITY AND INDEPENDENCE OF THE JUDICIARY

An independent and honorable judiciary is indispensable to justice in our society. A judge should participate in establishing, maintaining, and enforcing, and should himself observe, high standards of conduct so that the integrity and independence of the judiciary may be preserved. The provisions of this Code should be construed and applied to further that objective. [Adopted October 31, 1973, effective January 1, 1974. Prior: Canons of Judicial Ethics, Adopted November 22, 1950, effective January 2, 1951.]

A JUDGE SHOULD AVOID IMPROPRIETY AND THE APPEARANCE OF IMPROPRIETY IN ALL HIS ACTIVITIES

A. A judge should respect and comply with the law and should conduct himself at all times in a manner that promotes public confidence in the integrity and impartiality of the judiciary.

B. A judge should not allow his family, social, or other relationships to influence his judicial conduct or judgment. He should not lend the prestige of his office to advance the private interests of others; nor should he convey or permit others to convey the impression that they are in a special position to influence him. He should not testify voluntarily as a character witness.

Commentary: Public confidence in the judiciary is eroded by irresponsible or improper conduct by judges. A judge must avoid all impropriety and appearance of impropriety. He must expect to be the subject of constant public scrutiny. He must therefore accept restrictions on his conduct that might be viewed as burdensome by the ordinary citizen and should do so freely and willingly.

The testimony of a judge as a character witness injects the prestige of his office into the proceeding in which he testifies and may be misunderstood to be an official testimonial. This Canon, however, does not afford him a privilege against testifying in response to an official summons.

A JUDGE SHOULD PERFORM THE DUTIES OF HIS OFFICE IMPARTIALLY AND DILIGENTLY

The judicial duties of a judge take precedence over all his other activities. His judicial duties include all the duties of his office prescribed by law. In the performance of these duties, the following standards apply:

A. Adjudicative Responsibilities.

(1) A judge should be faithful to the law and maintain professional competence in it. He should be unswayed by partisan interests, public clamor, or fear of criticism.

(2) A judge should maintain order and decorum in proceedings before him.

(3) A judge should be patient, dignified, and courteous to litigants, jurors, witnesses, lawyers, and others with whom he deals in his official capacity, and should require similar conduct of lawyers, and of his staff, court officials, and others subject to his direction and control.

Commentary: The duty to hear all proceedings fairly and with patience is not inconsistent with the duty to dispose promptly of the business of the court. Courts can be efficient and business-like while being patient and deliberate.

(4) A judge should accord to every person who is legally interested in a proceeding, or his lawyer, full right to be heard according to law, and, except as authorized by law, neither initiate nor consider ex parte or other communications concerning a pending or impending proceeding. A judge, however, may obtain the advice of a disinterested expert on the law applicable to a proceeding before him, by amicus curiae only, if he affords the parties reasonable opportunity to respond.

Commentary: The proscription against communications concerning a proceeding includes communications from lawyers, law teachers, and other persons who are not participants in the proceeding, except to the limited extent permitted. It does not preclude a judge from consulting with other judges, or with court personnel whose function is to aid the judge in carrying out his adjudicative responsibilities.

An appropriate and often desirable procedure for a court to obtain the advice of a disinterested expert on legal issues is to invite him to file a brief amicus curiae.

(5) A judge should dispose promptly of the business of the court.

Commentary: Prompt disposition of the court's business requires a judge to devote adequate time to his duties, to be punctual in attending court and expeditious in determining matters under submission, and to insist that court officials, litigants and their lawyers cooperate with him to that end.

(6) A judge should abstain from public comment about a pending or impending proceeding in any court, and should require similar abstention on the part of court personnel subject to his direction and control. This subsection does not prohibit judges from making public statements in the course of their official duties or from explaining for public information the procedures of the court.

Commentary: "Court personnel" does not include the lawyers in a proceeding before a judge. The conduct of lawyers is governed by DR 7-107 of the Code of Professional Responsibility.

(7) A judge may permit broadcasting, televising, recording, and taking photographs in the courtroom during sessions of the court, including recesses between sessions, under the following conditions:

(a) Permission shall have first been expressly granted by the judge and under such conditions as the judge may prescribe;

(b) The media personnel will not distract participants or impair the dignity of the proceedings; and

(c) No witness, juror or party who expresses any prior objection to the judge shall be photographed nor shall the testimony of such a witness, juror or party be broadcast or telecast.

Note: The Illustrative Broadcast Guidelines and Illustrative Print Media Guidelines set forth below were attached to the order amending Canon 3(A)(7) as illustrative only and were not adopted by the court.

ILLUSTRATIVE BROADCAST GUIDELINES

1. Officers of court. The judge has the authority to direct whether broadcast equipment may be taken within the courtroom. The broadcast news person should advise the bailiff prior to the start of a court session that he or she desires to electronically record and/or broadcast live from within the courtroom. The bailiff may have prior instructions from the judge as to where the broadcast reporter and/or camera operator may position themselves. In the absence of any directions from the judge or bailiff, the position should be behind the front row of spectator seats by the least used aisleway or other unobtrusive but viable location.

2. Pooling. Unless the judge directs otherwise, no more than one TV camera should be taking pictures in the courtroom (as presently constructed) at any one time. Where coverage is by both radio and TV, the microphones used by TV should also serve for radio and radio should be permitted to feed from the TV sound system. Multiple radio feeds, if any, should be provided by a junction box. It should be the responsibility of each broadcast news representative present at the opening of each session of court to achieve an understanding with all other broadcast representatives as to who will function at any given time, or, in the alternative, how they will pool their photographic coverage. This understanding should be reached outside the courtroom and without imposing on the judge or court personnel.

Broadcast coverage outside the courtroom should be handled with care and discretion, but need not be pooled.

3. Broadcast equipment. All running wires used should be securely taped to the floor. All broadcast equipment should be handled as inconspicuously and quietly as reasonably possible. Sufficient film and/or tape capacities should be provided to obviate film and/or tape changes except during court recess. No camera should give any indication of whether it is or is not operating such as a red light on some studio cameras. No additional lights should be used without the specific approval of the presiding judge and then only as he may specifically approve as may be needed in the case of appellate hearings.

4. Decorum. Broadcast representatives' dress should not set them apart unduly from other trial spectators. Camera operators should not move tripod-mounted cameras except during court recesses. All broadcast equipment should be in place and ready to function no less than 15 minutes before the beginning of each session of court.

ILLUSTRATIVE PRINT MEDIA GUIDELINES

1. The judge has authority to direct whether photographs may be taken within the courtroom. The photographer should advise the bailiff, prior to the start of a court session, that he desires to take photographs. The bailiff may have prior instructions from the judge as to where the photographer may position himself. In the absence of any directions from the judge or bailiff, the photographer should remain behind the front row of spectator seats.

2. Unless the judge directs otherwise, no more than one still picture photographer is to be taking pictures in the courtroom at any one time. It is the responsibility of each photographer present at the opening of each session of court to achieve an understanding with all other photographers present as to which will function at any given time, or, in the alternative, how they will pool their photographic coverage. This understanding must be reached outside the courtroom and without imposing on the judge or court personnel.

3. The photographer's dress and equipment should not set him apart unduly from other trial spectators. Cameras which operate without flash and with a minimum of noise should be utilized.

4. The photographer's movements in and out of the courtroom and while taking pictures should be unobtrusive. He should not, for example, assume body positions inappropriate for spectators.

B. Administrative Responsibilities.

(1) A judge should diligently discharge his administrative responsibilities, maintain professional competence in judicial administration, and facilitate the performance of the administrative responsibilities of other judges and court officials.

(2) A judge should require his staff and court officials subject to his direction and control to observe the standards of fidelity and diligence that apply to him.

(3) A judge should take or initiate appropriate disciplinary measures against a lawyer for unprofessional conduct of which the judge may become aware.

Commentary: Disciplinary measures may include reporting a lawyer's misconduct to an appropriate disciplinary body.

(4) A judge should not make unnecessary appointments. He should exercise his power of appointment only on the basis of merit, avoiding nepotism and favoritism. He should not approve compensation of appointees beyond the fair value of services rendered.

Commentary: Appointees of the judge include officials such as referees, commissioners, special masters, receivers, guardians and personnel such as clerks, secretaries, and bailiffs. Consent by the parties to an appointment or an award of compensation does not relieve the judge of the obligation prescribed by this subsection.

C. Disqualification.

(1) A judge should disqualify himself in a proceeding in which his impartiality might reasonably be questioned, including but not limited to instances where:

(a) he has a personal bias or prejudice concerning a party, or personal knowledge of disputed evidentiary facts concerning the proceeding;

(b) he served as lawyer in the matter in controversy, or a lawyer with whom he previously practiced law served during such association as a lawyer concerning the matter, or the judge or such lawyer has been a material witness concerning it;

Commentary: A lawyer in a governmental agency does not necessarily have an association with other lawyers employed by that agency within the meaning of this subsection; a judge formerly employed by a governmental agency, however, should disqualify himself in a proceeding if his impartiality might reasonably be questioned because of such association.

(c) he knows that he, individually or as a fiduciary, or his spouse or minor child residing in his household, has a financial interest in the subject matter in controversy or in a party to the proceeding, or any other interest that could be substantially affected by the outcome of the proceeding;

(d) he or his spouse, or a person within the third degree of relationship to either of them, or the spouse of such a person:

(i) is a party to the proceeding, or an officer, director, or trustee of a party;

(ii) is acting as a lawyer in the proceeding;

Commentary: The fact that a lawyer in a proceeding is affiliated with a law firm with which a lawyer-relative of the judge is affiliated does not of itself disqualify the judge. Under appropriate circumstances, the fact that "his impartiality might reasonably be questioned" under Canon 3C(1), or that the lawyer-relative is known by the judge to have an interest in the law firm that could be "substantially affected by the outcome of the proceeding" under Canon 3C(1)(d)(iii) may require his disqualification.

(iii) is known by the judge to have an interest that could be substantially affected by the outcome of the proceeding;

(iv) is to the judge's knowledge likely to be a material witness in the proceeding;

(2) A judge should inform himself about his personal and fiduciary financial interests, and make a reasonable effort to inform himself about the personal financial interests of his spouse and minor children residing in his household.

(3) For the purposes of this section:

(a) the degree of relationship is calculated according to the civil law system;

Commentary: According to the civil law system, the third degree of relationship test would, for example, disqualify the judge if his or his spouse's father, grandfather, uncle, brother, or niece's husband were a party or lawyer in the proceeding, but would not disqualify him if a cousin were a party or lawyer in the proceeding.

(b) "fiduciary" includes such relationships as executor, administrator, trustee, and guardian;

(c) "financial interest" means ownership of a legal or equitable interest, however small, or a relationship as director, advisor, or other active participant in the affairs of a party, except that:

(i) ownership in a mutual or common investment fund that holds securities is not a "financial interest" in such securities unless the judge participates in the management of the fund;

(ii) an office in an educational, religious, charitable, fraternal, or civic organization is not a "financial interest" in securities held by the organization;

(iii) the proprietary interest of a policy holder in a mutual insurance company, of a depositor in a mutual savings association, or a similar proprietary interest, is a "financial interest" in the organization only if the outcome of the proceeding could substantially affect the value of the interest;

(iv) ownership of government securities is a "financial interest" in the issuer only if the outcome of the proceeding could substantially affect the value of the securities.

D. Remittal of Disqualification. A judge disqualified by the terms of Canon 3C(1)(c) or Canon 3C(1)(d) may, instead of withdrawing from the proceeding, disclose on the record the basis of his disqualification. If, based on such disclosure, the parties and lawyers, independently of the judge's participation, all agree in writing that the judge's relationship is immaterial or that his financial interest is insubstantial, the judge is no longer disqualified, and may participate in the proceeding. The agreement, signed by all parties and lawyers, shall be incorporated in the record of the proceeding.

Commentary: This procedure is designed to minimize the chance that a party or lawyer will feel coerced into an agreement. When a party is not immediately available, the judge without violating this section may proceed on the written assurance of the lawyer that his party's consent will be subsequently filed.

[Amended July 23, 1976, effective September 20, 1976; adopted October 31, 1973, effective January 1, 1974. Prior: Canons of Judicial Ethics, Adopted November 22, 1950, effective January 2, 1974.]

A JUDGE MAY ENGAGE IN ACTIVITIES TO IMPROVE THE LAW, THE LEGAL SYSTEM, AND THE ADMINISTRATION OF JUSTICE

A judge, subject to the proper performance of his judicial duties, may engage in the following quasi-judicial activities, if in doing so he does not cast doubt on his capacity to decide impartially any issue that may come before him:

A. He may speak, write, lecture, teach, and participate in other activities concerning the law, the legal system, and the administration of justice.

B. He may appear at a public hearing before an executive or legislative body or official on matters concerning the law, the legal system, and the administration of justice, and he may otherwise consult with an executive or legislative body or official, but only on matters concerning the administration of justice.

C. He may serve as a member, officer, or director of an organization or governmental agency devoted to the improvement of the law, the legal system, or the administration of justice. He may assist such an organization in raising funds and may participate in their management and investment, but should not personally participate in public fund raising activities. He may make recommendations to public and private fund-granting agencies on projects and programs concerning the law, the legal system, and the administration of justice.

Commentary: As a judicial officer and person specially learned in the law, a judge is in a unique position to contribute to the improvement of the law, the legal system, and the administration of justice, including revision of substantive and procedural law and improvement of criminal and juvenile justice. To the extent that his time permits, he is encouraged to do so, either independently or through a bar association, judicial conference, or other organization dedicated to the improvement of the law. Extra-judicial activities are governed by Canon 5.

CANON 5

A JUDGE SHOULD REGULATE HIS EXTRA-JUDICIAL ACTIVITIES TO MINIMIZE THE RISK OF CONFLICT WITH HIS JUDICIAL DUTIES

A. Avocational Activities. A judge may write, lecture, teach, and speak on non-legal subjects, and engage in the arts, sports, and other social and recreational activities, if such avocational activities do not detract from the dignity of his office or interfere with the performance of his judicial duties.

Commentary: Complete separation of a judge from extra-judicial activities is neither possible nor wise; he should not become isolated from the society in which he lives.

B. Civic and Charitable Activities. A judge may participate in civic and charitable activities that do not reflect adversely upon his impartiality or interfere with the performance of his judicial duties. A judge may serve as an officer, director, trustee, or non-legal advisor of an educational, religious, charitable, fraternal, or civic organization not conducted for the economic or political advantage of its members, subject to the following limitations:

(1) A judge should not serve if it is likely that the organization will be engaged in proceedings that would ordinarily come before him or will be regularly engaged in adversary proceedings in any court.

Commentary: The changing nature of some organizations and of their relationship to the law makes it necessary for a judge regularly to reexamine the activities of each organization with which he is affiliated to determine if it is proper for him to continue his relationship with it. For example, in many jurisdictions charitable hospitals are now more frequently in court than in the past. Similarly, the boards of some legal aid organizations now make policy decisions that may have political significance or imply commitment to causes that may come before the courts for adjudication.

(2) A judge should not solicit funds for any educational, religious, charitable, fraternal, or civic organization, or use or permit the use of the prestige of his office for that purpose, but he may be listed as an officer, director, or trustee of such an organization. He should not be a speaker or the guest of honor at an organization's fund raising events, but he may attend such events.

(3) A judge should not give investment advice to such an organization, but he may serve on its board of directors or trustees even though it has the responsibility for approving investment decisions.

Commentary: A judge's participation in an organization devoted to quasi-judicial activities is governed by Canon 4.

C. Financial Activities.

(1) A judge should refrain from financial and business dealings that tend to reflect adversely on his impartiality, interfere with the proper performance of his judicial duties, exploit his judicial position, or involve him in frequent transactions with lawyers or persons likely to come before the court on which he serves.

(2) Subject to the requirements of subsection (1), a judge may hold and manage investments, including real estate, and engage in other remunerative activity, but should not serve as an officer, director, manager, advisor, or employee of any business.

Commentary: The Preamble, section 2, of this Code qualifies this subsection with regard to a judge engaged in a family business at the time this Code becomes effective.

(3) A judge should manage his investments and other financial interests to minimize the number of cases in which he is disqualified. As soon as he can do so without serious financial detriment, he should divest himself of investments and other financial interests that might require frequent disqualification.

(4) Neither a judge nor a member of his family residing in his household should accept a gift, bequest, favor, or loan from anyone except as follows:

(a) a judge may accept a gift incident to a public testimonial to him; books supplied by publishers on a complimentary basis for official use; or an invitation to the judge and his spouse to attend a bar-related function or activity devoted to the improvement of the law, the legal system, or the administration of justice;

(b) a judge or a member of his family residing in his household may accept ordinary social hospitality; a gift, bequest, favor, or loan from a relative; a wedding or engagement gift; a loan from a lending institution in its regular course of business on the same terms generally available to persons who are not judges; or a scholarship or fellowship awarded on the same terms applied to other applicants;

(c) a judge or a member of his family residing in his household may accept any other gift, bequest, favor, or loan only if the donor is not a party or other person whose interests have come or are likely to come before him, and, if its value exceeds $100, the judge reports it in the same manner as he reports compensation in Canon 6C.

Commentary: This subsection does not apply to contributions to a judge's campaign for judicial office, a matter governed by Canon 7.

(5) For the purposes of this section "member of his family residing in his household" means any relative of a judge by blood or marriage, or a person treated by a judge as a member of his family, who resides in his household.

(6) A judge is not required by this Code to disclose his income, debts, or investments, except as provided in this Canon and Canons 3 and 6.

Commentary: Canon 3 requires a judge to disqualify himself in any proceeding in which he has a financial interest, however small; Canon 5 requires a judge to refrain from engaging in business and from financial activities that might interfere with the impartial performance of his judicial duties; Canon 6 requires him to report all compensation he receives for activities outside his judicial office. A judge has the rights of an ordinary citizen, including the right to privacy of his financial affairs, except to the extent that limitations thereon are required to safeguard the proper performance of his duties. Owning and receiving income from investments do not as such affect the performance of a judge's duties.

(7) Information acquired by a judge in his judicial capacity should not be used or disclosed by him in financial dealings or for any other purpose not related to his judicial duties.

D. Fiduciary Activities. A judge should not serve as the executor, administrator, trustee, guardian, or other fiduciary, except for the estate, trust, or person of a member of his family, and then only if such service will not interfere with the proper performance of his judicial duties. "Member of his family" includes a spouse, child, grandchild, parent, grandparent, or other relative or person with whom the judge maintains a close familial relationship. As a family fiduciary a judge is subject to the following restrictions:

(1) He should not serve if it is likely that as a fiduciary he will be engaged in proceedings that would ordinarily come before him, or if the estate, trust, or ward becomes involved in adversary proceedings in the court on which he serves or one under its appellate jurisdiction.

Commentary: The Preamble, section 2, of this Code qualifies this subsection with regard to a judge who is an executor, administrator, trustee, or other fiduciary at the time this Code becomes effective.

(2) While acting as a fiduciary a judge is subject to the same restrictions on financial activities that apply to him in his personal capacity.

Commentary: A judge's obligation under this Canon and his obligation as a fiduciary may come into conflict. For example, a judge should resign as trustee if it would result in detriment to the trust to divest it of holdings whose retention would place the judge in violation of Canon 5C(3).

E. Arbitration. A judge should not act as an arbitrator or mediator.

F. Practice of Law. A judge should not practice law.

G. Extra-judicial Appointments. A judge should not accept appointment to a governmental committee, commission, or other position that is concerned with issues of fact or policy on matters other than the improvement of the law, the legal system, or the administration of justice. A judge, however, may represent his country, state, or locality on ceremonial occasions or in connection with historical, educational, and cultural activities.

Commentary: Valuable services have been rendered in the past to the states and the nation by judges appointed by the executive to undertake important extra-judicial assignments. The appropriateness of conferring these assignments on judges must be reassessed, however, in light of the demands on judicial manpower created by today's crowded dockets and the need to protect the courts from involvement in extra-judicial matters that may prove to be controversial. Judges should not be expected or permitted to accept governmental appointments that could interfere with the effectiveness and independence of the judiciary.

A JUDGE SHOULD REGULARLY FILE REPORTS OF COMPENSATION RECEIVED FOR QUASI-JUDICIAL AND EXTRA-JUDICIAL ACTIVITIES

A judge may receive compensation and reimbursement of expenses for the quasi-judicial and extra-judicial activities permitted by this Code, if the source of such payments does not give the appearance of influencing the judge in his judicial duties or otherwise give the appearance of impropriety, subject to the following restrictions:

A. Compensation. Compensation should not exceed a reasonable amount nor should it exceed what a person who is not a judge would receive for the same activity.

B. Expense Reimbursement. Expense reimbursement should be limited to the actual cost of travel, food, and lodging reasonably incurred by the judge and, where appropriate to the occasion, by his spouse. Any payment in excess of such an amount is compensation.

C. Public Reports. A judge should report the date, place, and nature of any activity for which he received compensation, and the name of the payor and the amount of compensation so received. Compensation or income of a spouse attributed to the judge by operation of a community property law is not extra-judicial compensation to the judge. His report should be made at least annually and should be filed as a public document in the office of the clerk of the court on which he serves or other office designated by rule of court. [Adopted October 31, 1973, effective January 1, 1974. Prior: Canons of Judicial Ethics, Adopted November 22, 1950, effective January 2, 1951.]

A JUDGE SHOULD REFRAIN FROM POLITICAL ACTIVITY INAPPROPRIATE TO HIS JUDICIAL OFFICE

A. Political Conduct in General.

(1) A judge or a candidate for election to judicial office should not:

(a) act as a leader or hold any office in a political organization;

(b) make speeches for a political organization or candidate or publicly endorse a nonjudicial candidate for public office;

(c) solicit funds for or pay an assessment or make a contribution to a political organization or nonjudicial candidate, attend political gatherings, or purchase tickets for political party dinners, or other functions, except as authorized in subsection A(2);

(2) A judge holding an office filled by public election between competing candidates or candidates for such office, may, attend political gatherings and speak to such gatherings on his own behalf. The judge or candidate shall not identify himself as a member of a political party, and he shall not contribute to a political party or organization.

(3) A judge shall resign his office when he becomes a candidate either in a party primary or in a general election for a nonjudicial office, except that he may continue to hold his judicial office while being a candidate for election to or serving as a delegate in a state constitutional convention, if he is otherwise permitted by law to do so.

(4) A judge should not engage in any other political activity except on behalf of measures to improve the law, the legal system, or the administration of justice.

B. Campaign Conduct.

(1) A candidate, including an incumbent judge, for a judicial office that is filled either by public election between competing candidates or on the basis of a merit system election:

(a) should maintain the dignity appropriate to judicial office, and should encourage members of his family to adhere to the same standards of political conduct that apply to him;

(b) should prohibit public officials or employees subject to his direction or control from doing for him what he is prohibited from doing under this Canon; and except to the extent authorized under subsection B(2) or B(3), he should not allow any other person to do for him what he is prohibited from doing under this Canon;

(c) should not make pledges or promises of conduct in office other than the faithful and impartial performance of the duties of the office; announce his views on disputed legal or political issues; or misrepresent his identity, qualifications, present position, or other fact.

(2) A candidate, including an incumbent judge, for a judicial office that is filled by public election between competing candidates should not himself solicit or accept campaign funds, but he may establish committees of responsible persons to secure and manage the expenditure of funds for his campaign and to obtain public statements of support for his candidacy. Such committees are not prohibited from soliciting campaign contributions and public support from lawyers or others. A candidate's committees may solicit funds for his campaign no earlier than 120 days from the date when filing for that office is first permitted and no later than 30 days after the last election in which he participates during the election year. A candidate should not use or permit the use of campaign contributions for the private benefit of himself or members of his family.

Commentary: Unless the candidate is required by law to file a list of his campaign contributors, their names should not be revealed to the candidate.

(3) An incumbent judge who is a candidate for retention in or re-election to office without a competing candidate, and whose candidacy has drawn active opposition, may campaign in response thereto and may obtain publicly stated support and campaign funds in the manner provided in subsection B(2). Judicial Ethics, Adopted November 22, 1950, effective January 2, 1951.]

CODE OF PROFESSIONAL RESPONSIBILITY PREAMBLE AND PRELIMINARY STATEMENT PREAMBLE

The continued existence of a free and democratic society depends upon recognition of the concept that justice is based upon the rule of law grounded in respect for the dignity of the individual and his capacity through reason for enlightened self-government. Law so grounded makes justice possible, for only through such law does the dignity of the individual attain respect and protection. Without it, individual rights become subject to unrestrained power, respect for law is destroyed, and rational self-government is impossible.

Lawyers, as guardians of the law, play a vital role in the preservation of society. The fulfillment of this rule requires an understanding by lawyers of their relationship with and function in our legal system. A consequent obligation of lawyers is to maintain the highest standards of ethical conduct.

In fulfilling his professional responsibilities, a lawyer necessarily assumes various roles that require the performance of many difficult tasks. Not every situation which he may encounter can be foreseen, but fundamental ethical principles are always present to guide him. Within the framework of these principles, a lawyer must with courage and foresight be able and ready to shape the body of the law to the ever-changing relationships of society.

The Code of Professional Responsibility points the way to the aspiring and provides standards by which to judge the transgressor. Each lawyer must find within his own conscience the touchstone against which to test the extent to which his actions should rise above minimum standards. But in the last analysis it is the desire for the respect and confidence of the members of his profession and the society which he serves that should provide to a lawyer the incentive for the highest possible degree of ethical conduct. The possible loss of that respect and confidence is the ultimate sanction. So long as its practitioners are guided by these principles, the law will continue to be a noble profession. This is its greatness and its strength, which permit of no compromise.

PRELIMINARY STATEMENT

In furtherance of the principles stated in the Preamble this Code of Professional Responsibility has been promulgated consisting of three separate but interrelated parts: Canons, Ethical Considerations, and Disciplinary Rules. The Code is designed to be adopted by appropriate agencies both as an inspirational guide to the members of the profession and as a basis for disciplinary action when the conduct of a lawyer falls below the required minimum standards stated in the Disciplinary Rules.

Obviously the Canons, Ethical Considerations, and Disciplinary Rules cannot apply to non-lawyers; however, they do define the type of ethical conduct that the public has a right to expect not only of lawyers but also of their non-professional employees and associates in all matters pertaining to professional employment. A lawyer should ultimately be responsible for the conduct of his employees and associates in the course of the professional representation of the client.

The Canons are statements of axiomatic norms, expressing in general terms the standards of professional conduct expected of lawyers in their relationships with the public, with the legal system, and with the legal profession. They embody the general concepts from which the Ethical Consideration and the Disciplinary Rules are derived.

The Ethical Considerations are aspirational in character and represent the objectives toward which every member of the profession should strive. They constitute a body of principles upon which the lawyer can rely for guidance in many specific situations.

The Disciplinary Rules, unlike the Ethical Considerations, are mandatory in character. The Disciplinary Rules state the minimum level of conduct below which no lawyer can fall without being subject to disciplinary action. Within the framework of fair trial, the Disciplinary Rules should be uniformly applied to all lawyers, regardless of the nature of their professional activities. The Code makes no attempt to prescribe either disciplinary procedures or penalties for violation of a Disciplinary Rule, nor does it undertake to define standards for civil liability of lawyers for professional conduct. The severity of judgment against one found guilty of violating a Disciplinary Rule should be determined by the character of the offense and the attendant circumstances. An enforcing agency, in applying the Disciplinary Rules, may find interpretive guidance in the basic principles embodied in the Canons and in the objectives reflected in the Ethical Considerations.

A LAWYER SHOULD ASSIST IN MAINTAINING THE INTEGRITY AND COMPETENCE OF THE LEGAL PROFESSION

DR 1-101 Maintaining Integrity and Competence of the Legal Profession.

(A) A lawyer is subject to discipline if he has made a materially false statement in, or if he has deliberately failed to disclose a material fact requested in connection with, his application for admission to the bar.

(B) A lawyer shall not further the application for admission to the bar of another person known by him to be unqualified in respect to character, education, or other relevant attribute.

DR 1-102 Misconduct.

(A) A lawyer shall not:

(1) Violate a Disciplinary Rule.

(2) Circumvent a Disciplinary Rule through actions of another.

(3) Engage in illegal conduct involving moral turpitude.

(4) Engage in conduct involving dishonesty, fraud, deceit, or misrepresentation.

(5) Engage in conduct that is prejudicial to the administration of justice.

(6) Engage in any other conduct that adversely reflects on his fitness to practice law.

DR 1-103 Disclosure of Information to Authorities.

(A) A lawyer possessing unprivileged knowledge or evidence of a violation of DR 1-102 concerning another lawyer or a judge shall reveal fully such knowledge or evidence upon proper request of a tribunal or other authority empowered to investigate or act upon the conduct of lawyers or judges.

ETHICAL CONSIDERATIONS

EC 1-1 A basic tenet of the professional responsibility of lawyers is that every person in our society should have ready access to the independent professional services of a lawyer of integrity and competence. Maintaining the integrity and improving the competence of the bar to meet the highest standards is the ethical responsibility of every lawyer.

EC 1-2 The public should be protected from those who are not qualified to be lawyers by reason of a deficiency in education or moral standards or of other relevant factors but who nevertheless seek to practice law. To assure the maintenance of high moral and educational standards of the legal profession, lawyers should affirmatively assist courts and other appropriate bodies in promulgating, enforcing, and improving requirements for admission to the bar. In like manner, the bar has a positive obligation to aid in the continued improvement of all phases of pre-admission and post-admission legal education.

EC 1-3 Before recommending an applicant for admission, a lawyer should satisfy himself that the applicant is of good moral character. Although a lawyer should not become a self-appointed investigator or judge of applicants for admission, he should report to proper officials all unfavorable information he possesses relating to the character or other qualifications of an applicant.

EC 1-4 The integrity of the profession can be maintained only if conduct of lawyers in violation of the Disciplinary Rules is brought to the attention of the proper officials. A lawyer should reveal voluntarily to those officials all unprivileged knowledge of conduct of lawyers which he believes clearly to be in violation of the Disciplinary Rules. A lawyer should upon request serve on and assist committees and boards having responsibility for the administration of the Disciplinary Rules.

EC 1-5 A lawyer should maintain high standards of professional conduct and should encourage fellow lawyers to do likewise. He should be temperate and dignified, and he should refrain from all illegal and morally reprehensible conduct. Because of his position in society, even minor violations of law by a lawyer may tend to lessen public confidence in the legal profession. Obedience to law exemplifies respect for law. To lawyers especially, respect for the law should be more than a platitude.

EC 1-6 An applicant for admission to the bar or a lawyer may be unqualified, temporarily or permanently, for other than moral and educational reasons, such as mental or emotional instability. Lawyers should be diligent in taking steps to see that during a period of disqualification such person is not granted a license or, if licensed, is not permitted to practice. In like manner, when the disqualification has terminated, members of the bar should assist such person in being licensed, or, if licensed, in being restored to his full right to practice.

CANON 2

A LAWYER SHOULD ASSIST THE LEGAL PROFESSION IN FULFILLING ITS DUTY TO MAKE LEGAL COUNSEL AVAILABLE

DR 2-101 Publicity.

(A) A lawyer shall not, on behalf of himself, his partner, associate or any other lawyer affiliated with him or his firm, use or participate in the use of any form of public communication containing a false, fraudulent, misleading, deceptive, self-laudatory or unfair statement or claim.

(B) In order to facilitate the process of informed selection of a lawyer by potential consumers of legal services, a lawyer may publish or broadcast, subject to (CPR) DR 2-103, the following information in print media distributed in the geographic area or areas in which the lawyer resides or maintains offices or in which a significant part of the lawyer's clientele resides, provided that the information disclosed by the lawyer in such publication or broadcast complies with (CPR) DR 2-101(A), and is presented in a dignified manner:

(1) Name, including name of law firm and names of professional associates; addresses and telephone numbers;

(2) One or more fields of law in which the lawyer or law firm practices or a statement that practice is limited to one or more fields of law;

(3) To the extent authorized under (CPR) DR 2-105, a statement that the lawyer specializes in a particular field of law practice. Absent such authorization, a lawyer may not hold himself or herself out as a specialist or as specializing in any field of law;

(4) Date and place of birth;

(5) Date and place of admission to the bar of state and federal courts;

(6) Schools attended, with dates of graduation, degrees and other scholastic distinctions;

(7) Public or quasi-public offices;

(8) Military service;

(9) Legal authorships;

(10) Legal teaching position;

(11) Memberships, offices, and committee assignments, in bar associations;

(12) Membership and offices in legal fraternities and legal societies;

(13) Technical and professional licenses;

(14) Memberships in scientific, technical and professional associations and societies;

(15) Foreign language ability;

(16) Names and addresses of bank references;

(17) With their written consent, names of clients regularly represented;

(18) Prepaid or group legal services programs in which the lawyer participates;

(19) Whether credit cards or other credit arrangements are accepted;

(20) Office and telephone answering service hours;

(21) Fee for an initial consultation;

(22) Availability upon request of a written schedule of fees and/or an estimate of the fee to be charged for specific services;

(23) Contingent fee rates subject to (CPR) DR 2-106(C), provided that the statement discloses whether percentages are computed before or after deduction of costs;

(24) Range of fees for services, provided that the statement discloses that the specific fee within the range which will be charged will vary depending upon the particular matter to be handled for each client and the client is entitled, without obligation, to an estimate of the fee within the range likely to be charged, in print size equivalent to the largest print used in setting forth the fee information;

(25) Hourly rate, provided that the statement discloses that the total fee charged will depend upon the number of hours which must be devoted to the particular matter to be handled for each client and the client is entitled, without obligation, to an estimate of the fee likely to be charged, in print size at least equivalent to the largest print used in setting forth the fee information;

(26) Fixed fees for specific legal services, the description of which would not be misunderstood or be deceptive, provided that the statement discloses that the quoted fee will be available only to clients whose matters fall into the services described and that the client is entitled without obligation to a specific estimate of the fee likely to be charged in print size at least equivalent to the largest print used in setting forth the fee information;

(C) Any person desiring to expand the information authorized for disclosure in (CPR) DR 2-101(B), or to provide for its dissemination through other forums may apply to the Code of Professional Responsibility Committee of the Washington State Bar Association. Any such application shall be directed to the chairman of the committee at the office of the Washington State Bar Association. Any such application shall be heard expeditiously by the committee. The applicant shall have the right to be heard in person and the committee may hear such other persons as it deems appropriate on the issue of whether the proposal is necessary in light of the existing provisions of the code, accords with standards of accuracy, reliability and truthfulness, and would facilitate the process of informed selection of lawyers by potential consumers of legal services. The committee shall establish such rules as it deems appropriate to assure orderly, fair and expeditious procedures for hearing and recommending relief. Any recommended relief shall be recommended to the Supreme Court as an amendment to (CPR) DR 2-101(B), and shall be universally applicable to all lawyers.

(D) If a lawyer advertises a fee for a service, the lawyer must render that service for no more than the fee advertised.

(E) Unless otherwise specified in the advertisement if a lawyer publishes any fee information authorized under (CPR) DR 2-101(B) in a publication that is published more frequently than one time per month, the lawyer shall be bound by any representation made therein for a period of not less than 30 days after such publication. If a lawyer publishes any fee information authorized under (CPR) DR 2-101(B) in a publication that is published once a month or less frequently, he shall be bound by any representation made therein until the publication of the succeeding issue. If a lawyer publishes any fee information authorized under (CPR) DR 2-101(B) in a publication which has no fixed date for publication of a succeeding issue, the lawyer shall be bound by any representation made therein for a reasonable period of time after publication but in no event less than 1 year.

(F) This rule does not prohibit limited and dignified identification of a lawyer as a lawyer as well as by name:

(1) In political advertisements when his professional status is germane to the political campaign or to a political issue.

(2) In public notices when the name and profession of a lawyer are required or authorized by law or are reasonably pertinent for a purpose other than the attraction of potential clients.

(3) In routine reports and announcements of a bona fide business, civic, professional, or political organization in which he serves as a director or officer.

(4) In and on legal documents prepared by him.

(5) In and on legal textbooks, treatises, and other legal publications, and in dignified advertisements thereof.

(G) A lawyer shall not compensate or give any thing of value to representatives of the press, radio, television, or other communication medium in anticipation of or in return for professional publicity in a news item. A paid advertisement must be identified as such unless it is apparent from the context that it is a paid advertisement. If the advertisement is communicated to the public by use of radio or television, a recording of the actual transmission shall be retained in the lawyer's or law firm's records for a period of 3 years.

DR 2-102 Professional Notices, Letterheads and Offices.

(A) A lawyer or law firm shall not use or participate in the use of professional cards, professional announcement cards, office signs, letterheads, or similar professional notices or devices, except that the following may be used if they are in dignified form:

(1) A professional card of a lawyer identifying him by name and as a lawyer, and giving his addresses, telephone numbers, the name of his law firm, and any information permitted under (CPR) DR 2-105. A professional card of a law firm may also give the names of members and associates. Such cards may be used for identification.

(2) A brief professional announcement card stating new or changed associations or addresses, change of firm name, or similar matters pertaining to the professional offices of a lawyer or law firm, which may be mailed to lawyers, clients, former clients, personal friends, and relatives. It shall not state biographical data except to the extent reasonably necessary to identify the lawyer or to explain the change in his association, but it may state the immediate past position of the lawyer. It may give the names and dates of predecessor firms in a continuing line of succession. It shall not state the nature of the practice except as permitted under (CPR) DR 2-105.

(3) A sign on or near the door of the office and in the building directory identifying the law office. The sign shall not state the nature of the practice, except as permitted under (CPR) DR 2-105.

(4) A letterhead of a lawyer identifying him by name and as a lawyer, and giving his addresses, telephone numbers, the name of his law firm, associates and any information permitted under (CPR) DR 2-105. A letterhead of a law firm may also give the names of members and associates, and names and dates relating to deceased and retired members. A lawyer may be designated "Of Counsel" on a letterhead if he has a continuing relationship with a lawyer or law firm, other than as a partner or associate. A lawyer or law firm may be designated as "General Counsel" or by similar professional reference on stationery of a client if he or the firm devotes a substantial amount of professional time in the representation of that client. The letterhead of a law firm may give the names and dates of predecessor firms in a continuing line of succession.

(B) A lawyer in private practice shall not practice under a trade name, a name that is misleading as to the identity of the lawyer or lawyers practicing under such name, or a firm name containing names other than those of one or more of the lawyers in the firm, except that the name of a professional corporation or professional association may contain "P.C." or "P.A." or similar symbols indicating the nature of the organization, and if otherwise lawful a firm may use as, or continue to include in, its name the name or names of one or more deceased or retired members of the firm or of a predecessor firm in a continuing line of succession. A lawyer who assumes a judicial, legislative, or public executive or administrative post or office shall not permit his name to remain in the name of a law firm or to be used in professional notices of the firm during any significant period in which he is not actively and regularly practicing law as a member of the firm, and during such period other members of the firm shall not use his name in the firm name or in professional notices of the firm.

(C) A lawyer shall not hold himself out as having a partnership with one or more other lawyers unless they are in fact partners.

(D) A partnership shall not be formed or continued between or among lawyers licensed in different jurisdictions unless all enumerations of the members and associates of the firm on its letterhead and in other permissible listings make clear the jurisdictional limitations on those members and associates of the firm not licensed to practice in all listed jurisdictions; however, the same firm name may be used in each jurisdiction.

(E) A lawyer who is engaged both in the practice of law and another profession or business shall not so indicate on his letterhead, office sign, or professional card, nor shall he identify himself as a lawyer in any publication in connection with his other profession or business.

(F) Nothing contained herein shall prohibit a lawyer from using or permitting the use of, in connection with his name, an earned degree or title derived therefrom indicating his training in the law.

DR 2-103 REcommendation of Professional Employment.

(A) A lawyer shall not, except as authorized in (CPR) DR 2-101(B), recommend employment as a private practitioner, of himself, his partner, or associate to a layperson who has not sought his advice regarding employment of a lawyer.

(B) Except as permitted under (CPR) DR 2-103(C), a lawyer shall not compensate or give anything of value to a person or organization to recommend or secure his employment by a client, or as a reward for having made a recommendation resulting in his employment by a client.

(C) A lawyer shall not request a person or organization to recommend or promote the use of his services or those of his partner or associate, or any other lawyer affiliated with him or his firm, as a private practitioner, except as authorized in (CPR) DR 2-101, and except that

(1) He may request referrals from a lawyer referral service operated, sponsored, or approved by a bar association and may pay its fees incident thereto.

(2) He may cooperate with the legal service activities of any of the offices or organizations enumerated in (CPR) DR 2-103(D)(1) through (4) and may perform legal services for those to whom he was recommended by it to do such work if:

(a) The person to whom the recommendation is made is a member or beneficiary of such office or organization; and

(b) The lawyer remains free to exercise his independent professional judgment on behalf of his client.

(D) A lawyer or his partner or associate or any other lawyer affiliated with him or his firm may be recommended, employed or paid by, or may cooperate with, one of the following offices or organizations that promote the use of his services or those of his partner or associate or any other lawyer affiliated with him or his firm if there is no interference with the exercise of independent professional judgment in behalf of his client:

(1) A legal aid office or public defender office:

(a) Operated or sponsored by a duly accredited law school.

(b) Operated or sponsored by a bona fide nonprofit community organization.

(c) Operated or sponsored by a governmental agency.

(d) Operated, sponsored, or approved by a bar association.

(2) A military legal assistance office.

(3) A lawyer referral service operated, sponsored, or approved by a bar association.

(4) Any bona fide organization that recommends, furnishes or pays for legal services to its members or beneficiaries provided the following conditions are satisfied:

(a) Such organization, including any affiliate, is so organized and operated that no profit is derived by it from the rendition of legal services by lawyers, and that, if the organization is organized for profit, the legal services are not rendered by lawyers employed, directed, supervised or selected by it except in connection with matters where such organization bears ultimate liability of its member or beneficiary.

(b) Neither the lawyer, nor his partner, nor associate, nor any other lawyer affiliated with him or his firm, nor any nonlawyer, shall have initiated or promoted such organization for the primary purpose of providing financial or other benefit to such lawyer, partner, associate or affiliated lawyer.

(c) Such organization is not operated for the purpose of procuring legal work or financial benefit for any lawyer as a private practitioner outside of the legal services program of the organization.

(d) The member or beneficiary to whom the legal services are furnished, and not such organization, is recognized as the client of the lawyer in the matter.

(e) Any member or beneficiary who is entitled to have legal services furnished or paid for by the organization may, if such member or beneficiary so desires, select counsel other than that furnished, selected or approved by the organization for the particular matter involved; and the legal service plan of such organization provides appropriate relief for any member or beneficiary who asserts a claim that representation by counsel furnished, selected or approved would be unethical, improper or inadequate under the circumstances of the matter involved and the plan provides an appropriate procedure for seeking such relief.

(f) The lawyer does not know or have cause to know that such organization is in violation of applicable laws, rules of court and other legal requirements that govern its legal service operations.

(g) Such organization has filed with the appropriate disciplinary authority at least annually a report with respect to its legal service plan, if any, showing its terms, its schedule of benefits, its subscription charges, agreements with counsel, and financial results of its legal service activities or, if it has failed to do so, the lawyer does not know or have cause to know of such failure.

(E) A lawyer shall not accept employment when he knows or it is obvious that the person who seeks his services does so as a result of conduct prohibited under this disciplinary rule.

DR 2-104 Suggestion of Need of Legal Services.

(A) A lawyer who has given in-person unsolicited advice to a layperson that he should obtain counsel or take legal action shall not accept employment resulting from that advice, except that:

(1) A lawyer may accept employment by a close friend, relative, former client (if the advice is germane to the former employment), or one whom the lawyer reasonably believes to be a client.

(2) A lawyer may accept employment that results from his participation in activities designed to educate laypersons to recognize legal problems, to make intelligent selection of counsel, or to utilize available legal services if such activities are conducted or sponsored by a qualified legal assistance organization.

(3) A lawyer who is recommended, furnished, or paid by a qualified legal assistance organization enumerated in (CPR) DR 2-103(D)(1) through (4) may represent a member or beneficiary thereof, to the extent and under the conditions prescribed therein.

(4) Without affecting his right to accept employment, a lawyer may speak publicly or write for publication on legal topics so long as he does not emphasize his own professional experience or reputation and does not undertake to give individual advice.

(5) If success in asserting rights or defenses of his client in litigation in the nature of a class action is dependent upon the joinder of others, a lawyer may accept, but shall not seek, employment from those contacted for the purpose of obtaining their joinder.

DR 2-105 Specialization.

(A) A lawyer shall not hold himself out publicly as a specialist except as follows:

(1) A lawyer admitted to practice before the United States Patent and Trademark Office may use the designation Patent Attorney, Patent Lawyer, Trademark Attorney, or Trademark Lawyer, or Registered Patent Attorney or any combination of those terms, on his letterhead and office sign, and a lawyer actively engaged in the admiralty practice may use the designation Admiralty or Admiralty Lawyer on his letterhead and office sign.

(2) A lawyer who is certified as a specialist in a particular field of law or law practice pursuant to legal specialization rules and regulations promulgated by the Supreme Court may hold himself out as such, but only in accordance with the rules and regulations prescribed by that authority.

DR 2-106 Fees for Legal Services.

(A) A lawyer shall not enter into an agreement for, charge, or collect an illegal or clearly excessive fee.

(B) A fee is clearly excessive when, after a review of the facts, a lawyer of ordinary prudence would be left with a definite and firm conviction that the fee is in excess of a reasonable fee. Factors to be considered as guides in determining the reasonableness of a fee include the following:

(1) The time and labor required, the novelty and difficulty of the questions involved, and the skill requisite to perform the legal service properly.

(2) The likelihood, if apparent to the client, that the acceptance of the particular employment will preclude other employment by the lawyer.

(3) The fee customarily charged in the locality for similar legal services.

(4) The amount involved and the results obtained.

(5) The time limitations imposed by the client or by the circumstances.

(6) The nature and length of the professional relationship with the client.

(7) The experience, reputation, and ability of the lawyer or lawyers performing the services.

(8) Whether the fee is fixed or contingent.

(C) A lawyer shall not enter into an arrangement for, charge, or collect a contingent fee for representing a defendant in a criminal case.

DR 2-107 Division of Fees Among Lawyers.

(A) A lawyer shall not divide a fee for legal services with another lawyer who is not a partner in or associate of his law firm or law office, unless:

(1) The client consents to employment of the other lawyer after a full disclosure that a division of fees will be made.

(2) The division is made in proportion to the services performed and responsibility assumed by each.

(3) The total fee of the lawyers does not clearly exceed reasonable compensation for all legal services they rendered the client.

(B) This Disciplinary Rule does not prohibit payment to a former partner or associate pursuant to a separation or retirement agreement.

DR 2-108 Agreements Restricting the Practice of a Lawyer.

(A) A lawyer shall not be a party to or participate in a partnership or employment agreement with another lawyer that restricts the right of a lawyer to practice law after the termination of a relationship created by the agreement, except as a condition to payment of retirement benefits.

(B) In connection with the settlement of a controversy or suit, a lawyer shall not enter into an agreement that restricts his right to practice law except in or connected with disciplinary proceedings against the lawyer.

DR 2-109 Acceptance of Employment.

(A) A lawyer shall not accept employment on behalf of a person if he knows or it is obvious that such person wishes to:

(1) Bring a legal action, conduct a defense, or assert a position in litigation, or otherwise have steps taken for him, merely for the purpose of harassing or maliciously injuring any person.

(2) Present a claim or defense in litigation that is not warranted under existing law, unless it can be supported by good faith argument for an extension, modification, or reversal of existing law.

DR 2-110 Withdrawal From Employment.

(A) In general.

(1) If permission for withdrawal from employment is required by the rules of a tribunal, a lawyer shall not withdraw from employment in a proceeding before that tribunal without its permission.

(2) In any event, a lawyer shall not withdraw from employment until he has taken reasonable steps to avoid foreseeable prejudice to the rights of his client, including giving due notice to his client, allowing time for employment of other counsel, delivering to the client all papers and property to which the client is entitled, and complying with applicable laws and rules.

(3) A lawyer who withdraws from employment shall refund promptly any part of a fee paid in advance that has not been earned.

(B) Mandatory withdrawal.

A lawyer representing a client before a tribunal, with its permission if required by its rules, shall withdraw from employment, and a lawyer representing a client in other matters shall withdraw from employment, if:

(1) He knows or it is obvious that his client is bringing the legal action, conducting the defense, or asserting a position in the litigation, or is otherwise having steps taken for him, merely for the purpose of harassing or maliciously injuring any person.

(2) He knows or it is obvious that his continued employment will result in violation of a Disciplinary Rule.

(3) His mental or physical condition renders it unreasonably difficult for him to carry out the employment effectively.

(4) He is discharged by his client.

(C) Permissive withdrawal.

If DR 2-110(B) is not applicable, a lawyer may not request permission to withdraw in matters pending before a tribunal, and may not withdraw in other matters, unless such request or such withdrawal is because:

(1) His client:

(a) Insists upon presenting a claim or defense that is not warranted under existing law and cannot be supported by good faith argument for an extension, modification, or reversal of existing law.

(b) Personally seeks to pursue an illegal course of conduct.

(c) Insists that the lawyer pursue a course of conduct that is illegal or that is prohibited under the Disciplinary Rules.

(d) By other conduct renders it unreasonably difficult for the lawyer to carry out his employment effectively.

(e) Insists, in a matter not pending before a tribunal, that the lawyer engage in conduct that is contrary to the judgment and advice of the lawyer but not prohibited under the Disciplinary Rules.

(f) Deliberately disregards an agreement or obligation to the lawyer as to expenses or fees.

(2) His continued employment is likely to result in a violation of a Disciplinary Rule.

(3) His inability to work with co-counsel indicates that the best interests of the client likely will be served by withdrawal.

(4) His mental or physical condition renders it difficult for him to carry out the employment effectively.

(5) His client knowingly and freely assents to termination of his employment.

(6) He believes in good faith, in a proceeding pending before a tribunal, that the tribunal will find the existence of other good cause for withdrawal.

ETHICAL CONSIDERATIONS

EC 2-1 The need of members of the public for legal services is met only if they recognize their legal problems, appreciate the importance of seeking assistance, and are able to obtain the services of acceptable legal counsel. Hence, important functions of the legal profession are to educate laymen to recognize their problems, to facilitate the process of intelligent selection of lawyers, and to assist in making legal services fully available.

Recognition of Legal Problems

EC 2-2 The legal profession should assist laypersons to recognize legal problems because such problems may not be self-revealing and often are not timely noticed. Therefore, lawyers should encourage and participate in educational and public relations programs concerning our legal system with particular reference to legal problems that frequently arise. Preparation of advertisements and professional articles for lay publications and participation in seminars, lectures, and civic programs should be motivated by a desire to educate the public to an awareness of legal needs and to provide information relevant to the selection of the most appropriate counsel rather than to obtain publicity for particular lawyers. The problems of advertising on radio and television require special consideration, due to the style, cost, and transitory nature of such media. If the interests of laypersons in receiving relevant lawyer advertising are not adequately served by print media, and if adequate safeguards to protect the public can reasonably be formulated, radio and television advertising may serve a public interest.

EC 2-3 Whether a lawyer acts properly in volunteering in-person advice to a layperson to seek legal services depends upon the circumstances. The giving of advice that one should take legal action could well be in fulfillment of the duty of the legal profession to assist laypersons in recognizing legal problems. The advice is proper only if motivated by a desire to protect one who does not recognize that he may have legal problems or who is ignorant of his legal rights or obligations. It is improper if motivated by a desire to obtain personal benefit, secure personal publicity, or cause legal action to be taken merely to harass or injure another. A lawyer should not initiate an in-person contact with a nonclient, personally or through a representative, for the purpose of being retained to represent him for compensation.

EC 2-4 Since motivation is subjective and often difficult to judge, the motives of a lawyer who volunteers in-person advice likely to produce legal controversy may well be suspect if he receives professional employment or other benefits as a result. A lawyer who volunteers in-person advice that one should obtain the services of a lawyer generally should not himself accept employment, compensation, or other benefit in connection with that matter. However, it is not improper for a lawyer to volunteer such advice and render resulting legal services to close friends, relatives, former clients (in regard to matters germane to former employment), and regular clients.

EC 2-5 A lawyer who writes or speaks for the purpose of educating members of the public to recognize their legal problems should carefully refrain from giving or appearing to give a general solution applicable to all apparently similar individual problems, since slight changes in fact situations may require a material variance in the applicable advice; otherwise, the public may be misled and misadvised. Talks and writings by lawyers for laypersons should caution them not to attempt to solve individual problems upon the basis of the information contained therein.

Selection of a Lawyer

EC 2-6 Formerly a potential client usually knew the reputations of local lawyers for competency and integrity and therefore could select a practitioner in whom he had confidence. This traditional selection process worked well because it was initiated by the client and the choice was an informed one.

EC 2-7 Changed conditions, however, have seriously restricted the effectiveness of the traditional selection process. Often the reputations of lawyers are not sufficiently known to enable laypersons to make intelligent choices. The law has become increasingly complex and specialized. Few lawyers are willing and competent to deal with every kind of legal matter, and many laypersons have difficulty in determining the competence of lawyers to render different types of legal services. The selection of legal counsel is particularly difficult for transients, persons moving into new areas, persons of limited education or means, and others who have little or no contact with lawyers. Lack of information about the availability of lawyers, the qualifications of particular lawyers, and the expense of legal representation leads laypersons to avoid seeking legal advice.

EC 2-8 Selection of a lawyer by a layperson should be made on an informed basis. Advice and recommendation of third parties—relatives, friends, acquaintances, business associates, or other lawyers—and disclosure of relevant information about the lawyer and his practice may be helpful. A layperson is best served if the recommendation is disinterested and informed. In order that the recommendation be disinterested, a lawyer should not seek to influence another to recommend his employment. A lawyer should not compensate another person for recommending him, for influencing a prospective client to employ him, or to encourage future recommendations. Advertisements and public communications, whether in law lists, telephone directories, newspapers, other forms, or on radio or television, should be formulated to convey only information that is necessary to make an appropriate selection. Such information includes: (1) office information, such as name, including name of law firm and names of professional associates; addresses; telephone numbers; credit card acceptability; fluency in foreign languages; and office hours; (2) relevant biographical information; (3) one or more fields of law in which the lawyer or law firm practices; a statement that practice is limited to one or more fields of law; and/or a statement that the lawyer or law firm specializes in a particular field of law practice, but only to the extent authorized by applicable rules and regulations adopted by the Supreme Court; and (4) permitted fee information. Self-laudation should be avoided.

Selection of a Lawyer: Lawyer Advertising

EC 2-9 The lack of sophistication on the part of many members of the public concerning legal services, the importance of the interests affected by the choice of a lawyer and prior experience with unrestricted lawyer advertising, require that special care be taken by lawyers to avoid misleading the public and to assure that the information set forth in any advertising is relevant to the selection of a lawyer. The lawyer must be mindful that the benefits of lawyer advertising depend upon its reliability and accuracy. Examples of information in law advertising that would be deceptive include misstatements of fact, suggestions that the ingenuity or prior record of a lawyer rather than the justice of the claim are the principal factors likely to determine the result, inclusion of information irrelevant to selecting a lawyer, and representations concerning the quality of service, which cannot be measured or verified. Since lawyer advertising is calculated and not spontaneous, reasonable regulation of lawyer advertising designed to foster compliance with appropriate standards serves the public interest without impeding the flow of useful, meaningful, and relevant information to the public.

EC 2-10 A lawyer should insure that the information contained in any advertising which the lawyer publishes, or causes to be published, is relevant, is disseminated in an objective and understandable fashion, and would facilitate the prospective client's ability to compare the qualifications of the lawyers available to represent him. A lawyer should strive to communicate such information without undue emphasis upon style and advertising stratagems which serve to hinder rather than to facilitate intelligent selection of counsel. Because technological change is a recurrent feature of communications forms, and because perceptions of what is relevant in lawyer selection may change, lawyer advertising regulations should not be cast in rigid, unchangeable terms. Machinery is therefore available for prompt consideration of proposals to change the rules governing lawyer advertising. The determination of any request for such change should depend upon whether the proposal is necessary in light of existing code provisions, whether the proposal accords with standards of accuracy, reliability and truthfulness, and whether the proposal would facilitate informed selection of lawyers by potential consumers of legal services. Any change which is approved should be promulgated in the form of an amendment to the code so that all lawyers practicing in the jurisdiction may avail themselves of its provisions.

EC 2-11 The name under which a lawyer conducts his practice may be a factor in the selection process. The use of a trade name or an assumed name could mislead laypersons concerning the identity, responsibility, and status of those practicing thereunder. Accordingly, a lawyer in private practice should practice only under a designation containing his own name, the name of a lawyer employing him, the name of one or more of the lawyers practicing in a partnership, or, if permitted by law, the name of a professional legal corporation, which should be clearly designated as such. For many years some law firms have used a firm name retaining one or more names of deceased or retired partners and such practice is not improper if the firm is a bona fide successor of a firm in which the deceased or retired person was a member, if the use of the name is authorized by law or by contract, and if the public is not misled thereby. However, the name of a partner who withdraws from a firm but continues to practice law should be omitted from the firm name in order to avoid misleading the public.

EC 2-12 A lawyer occupying a judicial, legislative, or public executive or administrative position who has the right to practice law concurrently may allow his name to remain in the name of the firm if he actively continues to practice law as a member thereof. Otherwise, his name should be removed from the firm name, and he should not be identified as a past or present member of the firm; and he should not hold himself out as being a practicing lawyer.

EC 2-13 In order to avoid the possibility of misleading persons with whom he deals, a lawyer should be scrupulous in the representation of his professional status. He should not hold himself out as being a partner or associate of a law firm if he is not one in fact, and thus should not hold himself out as a partner or associate if he only shares offices with another lawyer.

EC 2-14 In some instances a lawyer confines his practice to a particular field of law. In the absence of state controls to insure the existence of special competence, a lawyer should not be permitted to hold himself out as a specialist or as having official recognition as a specialist, other than in the fields of admiralty, trademark, and patent law where a holding out as a specialist historically has been permitted and in specialties in which the lawyer has been certified as a specialist pursuant to rules and regulations adopted by the Supreme Court. A lawyer may, however, indicate in permitted advertising, if it is factual, a limitation of his practice or one or more particular areas or fields of law in which he practices. A lawyer must always be careful not to confuse laypersons as to his status. If a lawyer discloses areas of law in which he practices or to which he limits his practice, but is not certified as a specialist, he should avoid any implication that he is fact certified.

EC 2-15 The legal profession has developed lawyer referral systems designed to aid individuals who are able to pay fees but need assistance in locating lawyers competent to handle their particular problems. Use of a lawyer referral system enables a layman to avoid an uninformed selection of a lawyer because such a system makes possible the employment of competent lawyers who have indicated an interest in the subject matter involved. Lawyers should support the principle of lawyer referral systems and should encourage the evolution of other ethical plans which aid in the selection of qualified counsel.

EC 2-16 The legal profession cannot remain a viable force in fulfilling its role in our society unless its members receive adequate compensation for services rendered, and reasonable fees should be charged in appropriate cases to clients able to pay them. Nevertheless, persons unable to pay all or a portion of a reasonable fee should be able to obtain necessary legal services, and lawyers should support and participate in ethical activities designed to achieve that objective.

Financial Ability to Employ Counsel: Persons Able to Pay Reasonable Fees

EC 2-17 The determination of a proper fee requires consideration of the interests of both client and lawyer. A lawyer should not charge more than a reasonable fee, for excessive cost of legal service would deter laymen from utilizing the legal system in protection of their rights. Furthermore, an excessive charge abuses the professional relationship between lawyer and client. On the other hand, adequate compensation is necessary in order to enable the lawyer to serve his client effectively and to preserve the integrity and independence of the profession.

EC 2-18 The determination of the reasonableness of a fee requires consideration of all relevant circumstances, including those stated in the Disciplinary Rules. The fees of a lawyer will vary according to many factors, including the time required, his experience, ability, and reputation, the nature of the employment, the responsibility involved, and the results obtained. Suggested fee schedules and economic reports of state and local bar associations provide some guidance on the subject of reasonable fees. It is a commendable and long-standing tradition of the bar that special consideration is given in the fixing of any fee for services rendered a brother lawyer or a member of his immediate family.

EC 2-19 As soon as feasible after a lawyer has been employed, it is desirable that he reach a clear agreement with his client as to the basis of the fee charges to be made. Such a course will not only prevent later misunderstanding but will also work for good relations between the lawyer and the client. It is usually beneficial to reduce to writing the understanding of the parties regarding the fee, particularly when it is contingent. A lawyer should be mindful that many persons who desire to employ him may have had little or no experience with fee charges of lawyers, and for this reason he should explain fully to such persons the reasons for the particular fee arrangement he proposes.

EC 2-20 Contingent fee arrangements in civil cases have long been commonly accepted in the United States in proceedings to enforce claims. The historical bases of their acceptance are that (1) they often, and in a variety of circumstances, provide the only practical means by which one having a claim against another can economically afford, finance, and obtain the services of a competent lawyer to prosecute his claim, and (2) a successful prosecution of the claim produces a res out of which the fee can be paid. Although a lawyer generally should decline to accept employment on a contingent fee basis by one who is able to pay a reasonable fixed fee, it is not necessarily improper for a lawyer, where justified by the particular circumstances of a case, to enter into a contingent fee contract in a civil case with any client who, after being fully informed of all relevant factors, desires that arrangement. Because of the human relationships involved and the unique character of the proceedings, contingent fee arrangements in domestic relation cases are rarely justified. In administrative agency proceedings contingent fee contracts should be governed by the same consideration as in other civil cases. Public policy properly condemns contingent fee arrangements in criminal cases, largely on the ground that legal services in criminal cases do not produce a res with which to pay the fee.

EC 2-21 A lawyer should not accept compensation or any thing of value incident to his employment or services from one other than his client without the knowledge and consent of his client after full disclosure.

EC 2-22 Without the consent of his client, a lawyer should not associate in a particular matter another lawyer outside his firm. A fee may properly be divided between lawyers properly associated if the division is in proportion to the services performed and the responsibility assumed by each lawyer and if the total fee is reasonable.

EC 2-23 A lawyer should be zealous in his efforts to avoid controversies over fees with clients and should attempt to resolve amicably any differences on the subject. He should not sue a client for a fee unless necessary to prevent fraud or gross imposition by the client.

Financial Ability to Employ Counsel: Persons Unable to Pay Reasonable Fees

EC 2-24 A layman whose financial ability is not sufficient to permit payment of any fee cannot obtain legal services, other than in cases where a contingent fee is appropriate, unless the services are provided for him. Even a person of moderate means may be unable to pay a reasonable fee which is large because of the complexity, novelty, or difficulty of the problem or similar factors.

EC 2-25 Historically, the need for legal services of those unable to pay reasonable fees has been met in part by lawyers who donated their services or accepted court appointments on behalf of such individuals. The basic responsibility for providing legal services for those unable to pay ultimately rests upon the individual lawyer, and personal involvement in the problems of the disadvantaged can be one of the most rewarding experiences in the life of a lawyer. Every lawyer, regardless of professional prominence or professional workload, should find time to participate in serving the disadvantaged. The rendition of free legal services to those unable to pay reasonable fees continues to be an obligation of each lawyer, but the efforts of individual lawyers are often not enough to meet the need. Thus it has been necessary for the profession to institute additional programs to provide legal services. Accordingly, legal aid offices, lawyer referral services, and other related programs have been developed, and others will be developed, by the profession. Every lawyer should support all proper efforts to meet this need for legal services.

Acceptance and Retention of Employment

EC 2-26 A lawyer is under no obligation to act as adviser or advocate for every person who may wish to become his client; but in furtherance of the objective of the bar to make legal services fully available, a lawyer should not lightly decline proffered employment. The fulfillment of this objective requires acceptance by a lawyer of his share of tendered employment which may be unattractive both to him and the bar generally.

EC 2-27 History is replete with instances of distinguished and sacrificial services by lawyers who have represented unpopular clients and causes. Regardless of his personal feelings, a lawyer should not decline representation because a client or a cause is unpopular or community reaction is adverse.

EC 2-28 The personal preference of a lawyer to avoid adversary alignment against judges, other lawyers, public officials, or influential members of the community does not justify his rejection of tendered employment.

EC 2-29 When a lawyer is appointed by a court or requested by a bar association to undertake representation of a person unable to obtain counsel, whether for financial or other reasons, he should not seek to be excused from undertaking the representation except for compelling reasons. Compelling reasons do not include such factors as the repugnance of the subject matter of the proceeding, the identity or position of a person involved in the case, the belief of the lawyer that the defendant in a criminal proceeding is guilty, or the belief of the lawyer regarding the merits of the civil case.

EC 2-30 Employment should not be accepted by a lawyer when he is unable to render competent service or when he knows or it is obvious that the person seeking to employ him desires to institute or maintain an action merely for the purpose of harassing or maliciously injuring another. Likewise, a lawyer should decline employment if the intensity of his personal feeling, as distinguished from a community attitude, may impair his effective representation of a prospective client. If a lawyer knows a client has previously obtained counsel, he should not accept employment in the matter unless the other counsel approves or withdraws, or the client terminates the prior employment.

EC 2-31 Full availability of legal counsel requires both that persons be able to obtain counsel and that lawyers who undertake representation complete the work involved. Trial counsel for a convicted defendant should continue to represent his client by advising whether to take an appeal and, if the appeal is prosecuted, by representing him through the appeal unless new counsel is substituted or withdrawal is permitted by the appropriate court.

EC 2-32 A decision by a lawyer to withdraw should be made only on the basis of compelling circumstances, and in a matter pending before a tribunal he must comply with the rules of the tribunal regarding withdrawal. A lawyer should not withdraw without considering carefully and endeavoring to minimize the possible adverse effect on the rights of his client and the possibility of prejudice to his client as a result of his withdrawal. Even when he justifiably withdraws, a lawyer should protect the welfare of his client by giving due notice of his withdrawal, suggesting employment of other counsel, delivering to the client all papers and property to which the client is entitled, cooperating with counsel subsequently employed, and otherwise endeavoring to minimize the possibility of harm. Further, he should refund to the client any compensation not earned during the employment.

CANON 3A LAWYER SHOULD ASSIST IN PREVENTING THE UNAUTHORIZED PRACTICE OF LAW*DR 3-101 Aiding Unauthorized Practice of Law.

(A) A lawyer shall not aid a non-lawyer in the unauthorized practice of law.

(B) A lawyer shall not practice law in a jurisdiction where to do so would be in violation of regulations of the profession in that jurisdiction.

DR 3-102 Dividing Legal Fees With a Non-Lawyer.

(A) A lawyer or law firm shall not share legal fees with a non-lawyer, except that:

(1) An agreement by a lawyer with his firm, partner, or associate may provide for the payment of money, over a reasonable period of time after his death, to his estate or to one or more specified persons.

(2) A lawyer who undertakes to complete unfinished legal business of a deceased lawyer may pay to the estate of the deceased lawyer that proportion of the total compensation which fairly represents the services rendered by the deceased lawyer.

(3) A lawyer or law firm may include non-lawyer employees in a retirement plan, even though the plan is based in whole or in part on a profit-sharing arrangement.

DR 3-103 Forming a Partnership With a Non-Lawyer.

(A) A lawyer shall not form a partnership with a non-lawyer if any of the activities of the partnership consist of the practice of law.

ETHICAL CONSIDERATIONS

EC 3-1 The prohibition against the practice of law by a layman is grounded in the need of the public for integrity and competence of those who undertake to render legal services. Because of the fiduciary and personal character of the lawyer-client relationship and the inherently complex nature of our legal system, the public can better be assured of the requisite responsibility and competence if the practice of law is confined to those who are subject to the requirements and regulations imposed upon members of the legal profession.

EC 3-2 The sensitive variations in the considerations that bear on legal determinations often make it difficult even for a lawyer to exercise appropriate professional judgment, and it is therefore essential that the personal nature of the relationship of client and lawyer be preserved. Competent professional judgment is the product of a trained familiarity with law and legal processes, a disciplined, analytical approach to legal problems, and a firm ethical commitment.

EC 3-3 A non-lawyer who undertakes to handle legal matters is not governed as to integrity or legal competence by the same rules that govern the conduct of a lawyer. A lawyer is not only subject to that regulation but also is committed to high standards of ethical conduct. The public interest is best served in legal matters by a regulated profession committed to such standards. The Disciplinary Rules protect the public in that they prohibit a lawyer from seeking employment by improper overtures, from acting in cases of divided loyalties, and from submitting to the control of others in the exercise of his judgment. Moreover, a person who entrusts legal matters to a lawyer is protected by the attorney-client privilege and by the duty of the lawyer to hold inviolate the confidences and secrets of his client.

EC 3-4 A layman who seeks legal services often is not in a position to judge whether he will receive proper professional attention. The entrustment of a legal matter may well involve the confidences, the reputation, the property, the freedom, or even the life of the client. Proper protection of members of the public demands that no person be permitted to act in the confidential and demanding capacity of a lawyer unless he is subject to the regulations of the legal profession.

EC 3-5 It is neither necessary nor desirable to attempt the formulation of a single, specific definition of what constitutes the practice of law. Functionally, the practice of law relates to the rendition of services for others that call for the professional judgment of a lawyer. The essence of the professional judgment of the lawyer is his educated ability to relate the general body and philosophy of law to a specific legal problem of a client; and thus, the public interest will be better served if only lawyers are permitted to act in matters involving professional judgment. Where this professional judgment is not involved, non-lawyers, such as court clerks, police officers, abstracters, and many governmental employees, may engage in occupations that require a special knowledge of law in certain areas. But the services of a lawyer are essential in the public interest whenever the exercise of professional legal judgment is required.

EC 3-6 A lawyer often delegates tasks to clerks, secretaries, and other lay persons. Such delegation is proper if the lawyer maintains a direct relationship with his client, supervises the delegated work, and has complete professional responsibility for the work product. This delegation enables a lawyer to render legal service more economically and efficiently.

EC 3-7 The prohibition against a non-lawyer practicing law does not prevent a layman from representing himself, for then he is ordinarily exposing only himself to possible injury. The purpose of the legal profession is to make educated legal representation available to the public; but anyone who does not wish to avail himself of such representation is not required to do so. Even so, the legal profession should help members of the public to recognize legal problems and to understand why it may be unwise for them to act for themselves in matters having legal consequences.

EC 3-8 Since a lawyer should not aid or encourage a layman to practice law, he should not practice law in association with a layman or otherwise share legal fees with a layman. This does not mean, however, that the pecuniary value of the interest of a deceased lawyer in his firm or practice may not be paid to his estate or specified persons such as his widow or heirs. In like manner, profit-sharing retirement plans of a lawyer or law firm which include non-lawyer office employees are not improper. These limited exceptions to the rule against sharing legal fees with laymen are permissible since they do not aid or encourage laymen to practice law.

EC 3-9 Regulation of the practice of law is accomplished principally by the respective states. Authority to engage in the practice of law conferred in any jurisdiction is not per se a grant of the right to practice elsewhere, and it is improper for a lawyer to engage in practice where he is not permitted by law or by court order to do so. However, the demands of business and the mobility of our society pose distinct problems in the regulation of the practice of law by the states. In furtherance of the public interest, the legal profession should discourage regulation that unreasonably imposes territorial limitations upon the right of a lawyer to handle the legal affairs of his client or upon the opportunity of a client to obtain the services of a lawyer of his choice in all matters including the presentation of a contested matter in a tribunal before which the lawyer is not permanently admitted to practice.

CANON 4A LAWYER SHOULD PRESERVE THE CONFIDENCES AND SECRETS OF A CLIENT*DR 4-101 Preservation of Confidences and Secrets of a Client.

(A) "Confidence" refers to information protected by the attorney-client privilege under applicable law, and "secret" refers to other information gained in the professional relationship that the client has requested be held inviolate or the disclosure of which would be embarrassing or would be likely to be detrimental to the client.

(B) Except when permitted under DR 4-101(C) and (D), a lawyer shall not knowingly during or after termination of the professional relationship to his client:

- (1) Reveal a confidence or secret of his client.
- (2) Use a confidence or secret of his client to the disadvantage of the client.
- (3) Use a confidence or secret of his client for the advantage of himself or of a third person, unless the client consents after full disclosure.

(C) A lawyer may reveal:

- (1) Confidences or secrets with the consent of the client or clients affected, but only after a full disclosure to them.
- (2) Confidences or secrets when permitted under Disciplinary Rules or required by law or court order.
- (3) The intention of his client to commit a crime and the information necessary to prevent the crime.
- (4) Confidences or secrets necessary to establish or collect his fee or to defend himself or his employees or associates against an accusation of wrongful conduct.

(D) A lawyer shall exercise reasonable care to prevent his employees, associates, and others whose services are utilized by him from disclosing or using confidences or secrets of a client, except that a lawyer may reveal the information allowed by DR 4-101(C) through an employee.

ETHICAL CONSIDERATIONS

EC 4-1 Both the fiduciary relationship existing between lawyer and client and the proper functioning of the legal system require the preservation by the lawyer of confidences and secrets of one who has employed or sought to employ him. A client must feel free to discuss whatever he wishes with his lawyer and a lawyer must be equally free to obtain information beyond that volunteered by his client. A lawyer should be fully informed of all the facts of the matter he is handling in order for his client to obtain the full advantage of our legal system. It is for the lawyer in the exercise of his independent professional judgment to separate the relevant and important from the irrelevant and unimportant. The observance of the ethical obligation of a lawyer to hold inviolate the confidences and secrets of his client not only facilitates the full development of facts essential to proper representation of the client but also encourages laymen to seek early legal assistance.

EC 4-2 The obligation to protect confidences and secrets obviously does not preclude a lawyer from revealing information when his client consents after full disclosure, when necessary to perform his professional employment, when permitted by a Disciplinary Rule, or when required by law. Unless the client otherwise directs, a lawyer may disclose the affairs of his client to partners or associates of his firm. It is a matter of common knowledge that the normal operation of a law office exposes confidential professional information to non-lawyer employees of the office, particularly secretaries and those having access to the files; and this obligates a lawyer to exercise care in selecting and training his employees so that the sanctity of all confidences and secrets of his clients may be preserved. If the obligation extends to two or more clients as to the same information, a lawyer should obtain the permission of all before revealing the information. A lawyer must always be sensitive to the rights and wishes of his client and act scrupulously in the making of decisions which may involve the disclosure of information obtained in this professional relationship. Thus, in the absence of consent of his client after full disclosure, a lawyer should not associate another lawyer in the handling of a matter; nor should he, in the absence of consent, seek counsel from another lawyer if there is a reasonable possibility that the identity of the client or his confidences or secrets would be revealed to such lawyer. Both social amenities and professional duty should cause a lawyer to shun indiscreet conversations concerning his clients.

EC 4-3 Unless the client otherwise directs, it is not improper for a lawyer to give limited information from his files to an outside agency necessary for statistical, bookkeeping, accounting, data processing, banking, printing, or other legitimate purposes, provided he exercises due care in the selection of the agency and warns the agency that the information must be kept confidential.

EC 4-4 The attorney-client privilege is more limited than the ethical obligation of a lawyer to guard the confidences and secrets of his client. This ethical precept, unlike the evidentiary privilege, exists without regard to the nature or source of information or the fact that others share the knowledge. A lawyer should endeavor to act in a manner which preserves the evidentiary privilege; for example, he should avoid professional discussions in the presence of persons to whom the privilege does not extend. A lawyer owes an obligation to advise the client of the attorney-client privilege and timely to assert the privilege unless it is waived by the client.

EC 4-5 A lawyer should not use information acquired in the course of the representation of a client to the disadvantage of the client and a lawyer should not use, except with the consent of his client after full disclosure, such information for his own purposes. Likewise, a lawyer should be diligent in his efforts to prevent the misuse of such information by his employees and associates. Care should be exercised by a lawyer to prevent the disclosure of the confidences and secrets of one client to another, and no employment should be accepted that might require such disclosure.

EC 4-6 The obligation of a lawyer to preserve the confidences and secrets of his client continues after the termination of his employment. Thus an attorney, as successor to another practice, must preserve inviolate the secrets and confidences reflected in the files in the same respect as required by his predecessor. A lawyer should take all reasonable steps, providing safeguards from disclosing the confidences and secrets reflected in the files of his client, following the termination of his practice of the law whether termination is due from disability or retirement.

A LAWYER SHOULD EXERCISE INDEPENDENT PROFESSIONAL JUDGMENT ON BEHALF OF A CLIENT

DR 5-101 Refusing Employment When the Interests of the Lawyer May Impair His Independent Professional Judgment.

(A) Except with the consent of his client after full disclosure, a lawyer shall not accept employment if the exercise of his professional judgment on behalf of his client will be or reasonably may be affected by his own financial, business, property, or personal interests.

(B) A lawyer shall not accept employment in contemplated or pending litigation if he knows or it is obvious that he or a lawyer in his firm ought to be called as a witness, except that he may undertake the employment and he or a lawyer in his firm may testify:

- (1) If the testimony will relate solely to an uncontested matter.
- (2) If the testimony will relate solely to a matter of formality and there is no reason to believe that substantial evidence will be offered in opposition to the testimony.
- (3) If the testimony will relate solely to the nature and value of legal services rendered in the case by the lawyer or his firm to the client.

(4) As to any matter, if refusal would work a substantial hardship on the client because of the distinctive value of the lawyer or his firm as counsel in the particular case.

DR 5-102 Withdrawal as Counsel When the Lawyer Becomes a Witness.

(A) If, after undertaking employment in contemplated or pending litigation, a lawyer learns or it is obvious that he or a lawyer in his firm ought to be called as a witness on behalf of his client, he shall withdraw from the conduct of the trial and his firm, if any, shall not continue representation in the trial, except that he may continue the representation and he or a lawyer in his firm may testify in the circumstances enumerated in DR 5-101(B) (1) through (4).

(B) If, after undertaking employment in contemplated or pending litigation, a lawyer learns or it is obvious that he or a lawyer in his firm may be called as a witness other than on behalf of his client, he may continue the representation until it is apparent that his testimony is or may be prejudicial to his client.

DR 5-103 Avoiding Acquisition of Interest in Litigation.

(A) A lawyer shall not acquire a proprietary interest in the cause of action or subject matter of litigation he is conducting for a client, except that he may:

(1) Acquire a lien granted by law to secure his fee or expenses.

(2) Contract with a client for a reasonable contingent fee in a civil case.

(B) While representing a client in connection with contemplated or pending litigation, a lawyer shall not advance or guarantee financial assistance to his client, except that a lawyer may advance or guarantee the expenses of litigation, including court costs, expenses of investigation, expenses of medical examination, and costs of obtaining and presenting evidence, provided the client remains ultimately liable for such expenses.

DR 5-104 Limiting Business Relations With a Client.

(A) A lawyer shall not enter into a business transaction with a client if they have differing interests therein and if the client expects the lawyer to exercise his professional judgment therein for the protection of the client, unless the client has consented after full disclosure.

(B) Prior to conclusion of all aspects of the matter giving rise to his employment, a lawyer shall not enter into any arrangement or understanding with a client or a prospective client by which he acquires an interest in publication rights with respect to the subject matter of his employment or proposed employment.

DR 5-105 Refusing to Accept or Continue Employment if the Interests of Another Client May Impair the Independent Professional Judgment of the Lawyer.

(A) A lawyer shall decline proffered employment if the exercise of his independent professional judgment in behalf of a client will be or is likely to be adversely affected by the acceptance of the proffered employment, except to the extent permitted under DR 5-105(C).

(B) A lawyer shall not continue multiple employment if the exercise of his independent professional judgment in behalf of a client will be or is likely to be adversely affected by his representation of another client, except to the extent permitted under DR 5-105(C).

(C) In the situations covered by DR 5-105(A) and (B), a lawyer may represent multiple clients if it is obvious that he can adequately represent the interests of each and if each consents to the representation after full disclosure of the possible effect of such representation on the exercise of his independent professional judgment on behalf of each.

(D) If a lawyer is required to decline employment or to withdraw from employment under DR 5-105, no partner or associate of his or his firm may accept or continue such employment.

DR 5-106 Settling Similar Claims of Clients.

(A) A lawyer who represents two or more clients shall not make or participate in the making of an aggregate settlement of the claims of or against his clients, unless each client has consented to the settlement after being advised of the existence and nature of all the claims involved in the proposed settlement, of the total amount of the settlement, and of the participation of each person in the settlement.

DR 5-107 Avoiding Influence by Others Than the Client.

(A) Except with the consent of his client after full disclosure, a lawyer shall not:

(1) Accept compensation for his legal services from one other than his client.

(2) Accept from one other than his client any thing of value related to his representation of or his employment by his client.

(B) A lawyer shall not permit a person who recommends, employs, or pays him to render legal services for another to direct or regulate his professional judgment in rendering such legal services.

(C) A lawyer shall not practice with or in the form of a professional corporation or association authorized to practice law for a profit, if:

(1) A non-lawyer owns any interest therein, except that a fiduciary representative of the estate of a lawyer may hold the stock or interest of the lawyer for a reasonable time during administration;

(2) A non-lawyer is a corporate director or officer thereof; or

(3) A non-lawyer has the right to direct or control the professional judgment of a lawyer.

ETHICAL CONSIDERATIONS

EC 5-1 The professional judgment of a lawyer should be exercised, within the bounds of the law, solely for the benefit of his client and free of compromising influences and loyalties. Neither his personal interests, the interests of other clients, nor the desires of third persons should be permitted to dilute his loyalty to his client.

Interests of a Lawyer That May Affect His Judgment

EC 5-2 A lawyer should not accept proffered employment if his personal interests or desires will, or there is a reasonable probability that they will, affect adversely the advice to be given or services to be rendered the prospective client. After accepting employment, a lawyer carefully should refrain from acquiring a property right or assuming a position that would tend to make his judgment less protective of the interests of his client.

EC 5-3 The self-interest of a lawyer resulting from his ownership of property in which his client also has an interest or which may affect property of his client may interfere with the exercise of free judgment on behalf of his client. If such interference would occur with respect to a prospective client, a lawyer should decline employment proffered by him. After accepting employment, a lawyer should not acquire property rights that would adversely affect his professional judgment in the representation of his client. Even if the property interests of a lawyer do not presently interfere with the exercise of his independent judgment, but the likelihood of interference can reasonably be foreseen by him, a lawyer should explain the situation to his client and should decline employment or withdraw unless the client consents to the continuance of the relationship after full disclosure. A lawyer should not seek to persuade his client to permit him to invest in an undertaking of his client nor make improper use of his professional relationship to influence his client to invest in an enterprise in which the lawyer is interested.

EC 5-4 If, in the course of his representation of a client, a lawyer is permitted to receive from his client a beneficial ownership in publication rights relating to the subject matter of the employment, he may be tempted to subordinate the interests of his client to his own anticipated pecuniary gain. For example, a lawyer in a criminal case who obtains from his client television, radio, motion picture, newspaper, magazine, book, or other publication rights with respect to the case may be influenced, consciously or unconsciously, to a course of conduct that will enhance the value of his publication rights to the prejudice of his client. To prevent these potentially differing interests, such arrangements should be scrupulously avoided prior to the termination of all aspects of the matter giving rise to the employment, even though his employment has previously ended.

EC 5-5 A lawyer should not suggest to his client that a gift be made to himself or for his benefit. If a lawyer accepts a gift from his client, he is peculiarly susceptible to the charge that he unduly influenced or over-reached the client. If a client voluntarily offers to make a gift to his lawyer, the lawyer may accept the gift, but before doing so, he should urge that his client secure disinterested advice from an independent, competent person who is cognizant of all the circumstances. Other than in exceptional circumstances, a lawyer should insist that an instrument in which his client desires to name him beneficially be prepared by another lawyer selected by the client.

EC 5-6 A lawyer should not consciously influence a client to name him as executor, trustee, or lawyer in an instrument. In those cases where a client wishes to name his lawyer as such, care should be taken by the lawyer to avoid even the appearance of impropriety.

EC 5-7 The possibility of an adverse effect upon the exercise of free judgment by a lawyer on behalf of his client during litigation generally makes it undesirable for the lawyer to acquire a proprietary interest in the cause of his client or otherwise to become financially interested in the outcome of the litigation. However, it is not improper for a lawyer to protect his right to collect a fee for his services by the assertion of legally permissible liens, even though by doing so he may acquire an interest in the outcome of the litigation. Although a contingent fee arrangement gives a lawyer a financial interest in the outcome of litigation, a reasonable contingent fee is permissible in civil cases because it may be the only means by which a layman can obtain the services of a lawyer of his choice. But a lawyer, because he is in a better position to evaluate a cause of action, should enter into a contingent fee arrangement only in those instances where the arrangement will be beneficial to the client.

EC 5-8 A financial interest in the outcome of litigation also results if monetary advances are made by a lawyer to his client. Although this assistance is generally not encouraged, there are instances when it is not improper to advance or guarantee the expenses of litigation, including court costs, expenses of investigation, expenses of medical examination, and the cost of obtaining and presenting evidence, provided that the client remains ultimately liable for such expenses.

EC 5-9 Occasionally a lawyer is called upon to decide in a particular case whether he will be a witness or an advocate. If a lawyer is both counsel and witness, he becomes more easily impeachable for interest and thus may be a less effective witness. Conversely, the opposing counsel may be handicapped in challenging the credibility of the lawyer when the lawyer also appears as an advocate in the case. An advocate who becomes a witness is in the unseemly and ineffective position of arguing his own credibility. The roles of an advocate and of a witness are inconsistent; the function of an advocate is to advance or argue the cause of another, while that of a witness is to state facts objectively.

EC 5-10 Problems incident to the lawyer-witness relationship arise at different stages; they relate either to whether a lawyer should accept employment or should withdraw from employment. Regardless of when the problem arises, his decision is to be governed by the same basic considerations. It is not objectionable for a lawyer who is a potential witness to be an advocate if it is unlikely that he will be called as a witness because his testimony would be merely cumulative or if his testimony will relate only to an uncontested issue. In the exceptional situation where it will be manifestly unfair to the client for the lawyer to refuse employment or to withdraw when he will likely be a witness on a contested issue, he may serve as advocate even though he may be a witness. In making such decision, he should determine the personal or financial sacrifice of the client that may result from his refusal of employment or withdrawal therefrom, the materiality of his testimony, and the effectiveness of his representation in view of his personal involvement. In weighing these factors, it should be clear that refusal or withdrawal will impose an unreasonable hardship upon the client before the lawyer accepts or continues the employment. Where the question arises, doubts should be resolved in favor of the lawyer testifying and against his becoming or continuing as an advocate.

EC 5-11 A lawyer should not permit his personal interests to influence his advice relative to a suggestion by his client that additional counsel be employed. In like manner, his personal interests should not deter him from suggesting that additional counsel be employed; on the contrary, he should be alert to the desirability of recommending additional counsel when, in his judgment, the proper representation of his client requires it. However, a lawyer should advise his client not to employ additional counsel suggested by the client if the lawyer believes that such employment would be a disservice to the client, and he should disclose the reasons for his belief.

EC 5-12 Inability of co-counsel to agree on a matter vital to the representation of their client requires that their disagreement be submitted by them jointly to their client for his resolution, and the decision of the client shall control the action to be taken.

EC 5-13 A lawyer should not maintain membership in or be influenced by any organization of employees that undertakes to prescribe, direct, or suggest when or how he should fulfill his professional obligations to a person or organization that employs him as a lawyer. Although it is not necessarily improper for a lawyer employed by a corporation or similar entity to be a member of an organization of employees, he should be vigilant to safeguard his fidelity as a lawyer to his employer, free from outside influences.

Interests of Multiple Clients

EC 5-14 Maintaining the independence of professional judgment required of a lawyer precludes his acceptance or continuation of employment that will adversely affect his judgment on behalf of or dilute his loyalty to a client. This problem arises whenever a lawyer is asked to represent two or more clients who may have differing interests, whether such interests be conflicting, inconsistent, diverse, or otherwise discordant.

EC 5-15 If a lawyer is requested to undertake or to continue representation of multiple clients having potentially differing interests, he must weigh carefully the possibility that his judgment may be impaired or his loyalty divided if he accepts or continues the employment. He should resolve all doubts against the propriety of the representation. A lawyer should never represent in litigation multiple clients with differing interests; and there are few situations in which he would be justified in representing in litigation multiple clients with potentially differing interests. If a lawyer accepted such employment and the interests did become actually differing, he would have to withdraw from employment with likelihood of resulting hardship on the clients; and for this reason it is preferable that he refuse the employment initially. On the other hand, there are many instances in which a lawyer may properly serve multiple clients having potentially differing interests in matters not involving litigation. If the interests vary only slightly, it is generally likely that the lawyer will not be subjected to an adverse influence and that he can retain his independent judgment on behalf of each client; and if the interests become differing, withdrawal is less likely to have a disruptive effect upon the causes of his clients.

EC 5-16 In those instances in which a lawyer is justified in representing two or more clients having differing interests, it is nevertheless essential that each client be given the opportunity to evaluate his need for representation free of any potential conflict and to obtain other counsel if he so desires. Thus before a lawyer may represent multiple clients, he should explain fully to each client the implications of the common representation and should accept or continue employment only if the clients consent. If there are present other circumstances that might cause any of the multiple clients to question the undivided loyalty of the lawyer, he should also advise all of the clients of those circumstances.

EC 5-17 Typically recurring situations involving potentially differing interests are those in which a lawyer is asked to represent co-defendants in a criminal case, co-plaintiffs in a personal injury case, an insured and his insurer, and beneficiaries of the estate of a decedent. Whether a lawyer can fairly and adequately protect the interests of multiple clients in these and similar situations depends upon an analysis of each case. In certain circumstances, there may exist little chance of the judgment of the lawyer being adversely affected by the slight possibility that the interests will become actually differing; in other circumstances, the chance of adverse effect upon his judgment is not unlikely.

EC 5-18 A lawyer employed or retained by a corporation or similar entity owes his allegiance to the entity and not to a stockholder, director, officer, employee, representative, or other person connected with the entity. In advising the entity, a lawyer should keep paramount its interests and his professional judgment should not be influenced by the personal desires of any person or organization. Occasionally a lawyer for an entity is requested by a stockholder, director, officer, employee, representative, or other person connected with the entity to represent him in an individual capacity; in such case the lawyer may serve the individual only if the lawyer is convinced that differing interests are not present.

EC 5-19 A lawyer may represent several clients whose interests are not actually or potentially differing. Nevertheless, he should explain any circumstances that might cause a client to question his undivided loyalty. Regardless of the belief of a lawyer that he may properly represent multiple clients, he must defer to a client who holds the contrary belief and withdraw from representation of that client.

EC 5-20 A lawyer is often asked to serve as an impartial arbitrator or mediator in matters which involve present or former clients. He may serve in either capacity if he first discloses such present or former relationships. After a lawyer has undertaken to act as an impartial arbitrator or mediator, he should not thereafter represent in the dispute any of the parties involved.

Desires of Third Persons

EC 5-21 The obligation of a lawyer to exercise professional judgment solely on behalf of his client requires that he disregard the desires of others that might impair his free judgment. The desires of a third person will seldom adversely affect a lawyer unless that person is in a position to exert strong economic, political, or social pressures upon the lawyer. These influences are often subtle, and a lawyer must be alert to their existence. A lawyer subjected to outside pressures should make full disclosure of them to his client; and if he or his client believes that the effectiveness of his representation has been or will be impaired thereby, the lawyer should take proper steps to withdraw from representation of his client.

EC 5-22 Economic, political, or social pressures by third persons are less likely to impinge upon the independent judgment of a lawyer in a matter in which he is compensated directly by his client and his professional work is exclusively with his client. On the other hand, if a lawyer is compensated from a source other than his client, he may feel a sense of responsibility to someone other than his client.

EC 5-23 A person or organization that pays or furnishes lawyers to represent others possesses a potential power to exert strong pressures against the independent judgment of those lawyers. Some employers may be interested in furthering their own economic, political, or social goals without regard to the professional responsibility of the lawyer to his individual client. Others may be far more concerned with establishment or extension of legal principles than in the immediate protection of the rights of the lawyer's individual client. On some occasions, decisions on priority of work may be made by the employer rather than the lawyer with the result that prosecution of work already undertaken for clients is postponed to their detriment. Similarly, an employer may seek, consciously or unconsciously, to further its own economic interests through the actions of the lawyers employed by it. Since a lawyer must always be free to exercise his professional judgment without regard to the interests or motives of a third person, the lawyer who is employed by one to represent another must constantly guard against erosion of his professional freedom.

EC 5-24 To assist a lawyer in preserving his professional independence, a number of courses are available to him. For example, a lawyer should not practice with or in the form of a professional legal corporation, even though the corporate form is permitted by law, if any director, officer, or stockholder of it is a non-lawyer. Although a lawyer may be employed by a business corporation with non-lawyers serving as directors or officers, and they necessarily have the right to make decisions of business policy, a lawyer must decline to accept direction of his professional judgment from any layman. Various types of legal aid offices are administered by boards of directors composed of lawyers and laymen. A lawyer should not accept employment from such an organization unless the board sets only broad policies and there is no interference in the relationship of the lawyer and the individual client he serves. Where a lawyer is employed by an organization, a written agreement that defines the relationship between him and the organization and provides for his independence is desirable since it may serve to prevent misunderstanding as to their respective roles. Although other innovations in the means of supplying legal counsel may develop, the responsibility of the lawyer to maintain his professional independence remains constant, and the legal profession must insure that changing circumstances do not result in loss of the professional independence of the lawyer.

A LAWYER SHOULD REPRESENT A CLIENT COMPETENTLY

DR 6-101 Failing to Act Competently.

(A) A lawyer shall not:

(1) Handle a legal matter which he knows or should know that he is not competent to handle, without associating with him a lawyer who is competent to handle it.

(2) Handle a legal matter without preparation adequate in the circumstances.

(3) Neglect a legal matter entrusted to him.

DR 6-102 Limiting Liability to Client.

(A) A lawyer shall not attempt to exonerate himself from or limit his liability to his client for his personal malpractice.

ETHICAL CONSIDERATIONS

EC 6-1 Because of his vital role in the legal process, a lawyer should act with competence and proper care in representing clients. He should strive to become and remain proficient in his practice and should accept employment only in matters which he is or intends to become competent to handle.

EC 6-2 A lawyer is aided in attaining and maintaining his competence by keeping abreast of current legal literature and developments, participating in continuing legal education programs, concentrating in particular areas of the law, and by utilizing other available means. He has the additional ethical obligation to assist in improving the legal profession, and he may do so by participating in bar activities intended to advance the quality and standards of members of the profession. Of particular importance is the careful training of his younger associates and the giving of sound guidance to all lawyers who consult him. In short, a lawyer should strive at all levels to aid the legal profession in advancing the highest possible standards of integrity and competence and to meet those standards himself.

EC 6-3 While the licensing of a lawyer is evidence that he has met the standards then prevailing for admission to the bar, a lawyer generally should not accept employment in any area of the law in which he is not qualified. However, he may accept such employment if in good faith he expects to become qualified through study and investigation, as long as such preparation would not result in unreasonable delay or expense to his client. Proper preparation and representation may require the association by the lawyer of professionals in other disciplines. A lawyer offered employment in a matter in which he is not and does not expect to become so qualified should either decline the employment or, with the consent of his client, accept the employment and associate a lawyer who is competent in the matter.

EC 6-4 Having undertaken representation, a lawyer should use proper care to safeguard the interests of his client. If a lawyer has accepted employment in a matter beyond his competence but in which he expected to become competent, he should diligently undertake the work and study necessary to qualify himself. In addition to being qualified to handle a particular matter, his obligation to his client requires him to prepare adequately for and give appropriate attention to his legal work.

EC 6-5 A lawyer should have pride in his professional endeavors. His obligation to act competently calls for higher motivation than that arising from fear of civil liability or disciplinary penalty.

EC 6-6 A lawyer should not seek, by contract or other means, to limit his individual liability to his client for his malpractice. A lawyer who handles the affairs of his client properly has no need to attempt to limit his liability for his professional activities and one who does not handle the affairs of his client properly should not be permitted to do so. A lawyer who is a stockholder in or is associated with a professional legal corporation may, however, limit his liability for malpractice of his associates in the corporation, but only to the extent permitted by law.

DR 7-106 Trial Conduct.

(3) Assert his personal knowledge of the facts in issue, except when testifying as a witness.

(4) Assert his personal opinion as to the justness of a cause, as to the credibility of a witness, as to the culpability of a civil litigant, or as to the guilt or innocence of an accused; but he may argue, on his analysis of the evidence, for any position or conclusion with respect to the matters stated herein.

(2) A lawyer who is not connected therewith shall not communicate with or cause another to communicate with a juror concerning the case.

(C) Dr 7-108(A) and (B) do not prohibit a lawyer from necessary communication with veniremen or jurors solely in the course of official proceedings.

(D) After discharge of the jury from further consideration of a case with which the lawyer was connected, the lawyer shall not ask questions of or make comments to a member of that jury that are calculated merely to harass or embarrass the juror or to influence his actions in future jury service.

(4) As otherwise authorized by law.

EC 7-1 The duty of a lawyer, both to his client and to the legal system, is to represent his client zealously within the bounds of the law, which includes Disciplinary Rules and enforceable professional regulations. The professional responsibility of a lawyer derives from his membership in a profession which has the duty of assisting members of the public to secure and protect available legal rights and benefits. In our government of laws and not of men, each member of our society is entitled to have his conduct judged and regulated in accordance with the law; to seek any lawful objective through legally permissible means; and to present for adjudication any lawful claim, issue, or defense.

EC 7-2 The bounds of the law in a given case are often difficult to ascertain. The language of legislative enactments and judicial opinions may be uncertain as applied to varying factual situations. The limits and specific meaning of apparently relevant law may be made doubtful by changing or developing constitutional interpretations, inadequately expressed statutes or judicial opinions, and changing public and judicial attitudes. Certainty of law ranges from well-settled rules through areas of conflicting authority to areas without precedent.

EC 7-3 Where the bounds of law are uncertain, the action of a lawyer may depend on whether he is serving as advocate or adviser. A lawyer may serve simultaneously as both advocate and adviser, but the two roles are essentially different. In asserting a position on behalf of his client, an advocate for the most part deals with past conduct and must take the facts as he finds them. By contrast, a lawyer serving as adviser primarily assists his client in determining the course of future conduct and relationships. While serving as advocate, a lawyer should resolve in favor of his client doubts as to the bounds of the law. In serving a client as adviser, a lawyer in appropriate circumstances should give his professional opinion as to what the ultimate decisions of the courts would likely be as to the applicable law.

Duty of the Lawyer to a Client

EC 7-4 The advocate may urge any permissible construction of the law favorable to his client, without regard to his professional opinion as to the likelihood that the construction will ultimately prevail. His conduct is within the bounds of the law, and therefore permissible, if the position taken is supported by the law or is supportable by a good faith argument for an extension, modification, or reversal of the law. However, a lawyer is not justified in asserting a position in litigation that is frivolous.

EC 7-5 A lawyer as adviser furthers the interest of his client by giving his professional opinion as to what he believes would likely be the ultimate decision of the courts on the matter at hand and by informing his client of the practical effect of such decision. He may continue in the representation of his client even though his client has elected to pursue a course of conduct contrary to the advice of the lawyer so long as he does not thereby knowingly assist the client to engage in illegal conduct or to take a frivolous legal position. A lawyer should never encourage or aid his client to commit criminal acts or counsel his client on how to violate the law and avoid punishment therefor.

EC 7-6 Whether the proposed action of a lawyer is within the bounds of the law may be a perplexing question when his client is contemplating a course of conduct having legal consequences that vary according to the client's intent, motive, or desires at the time of the action. Often a lawyer is asked to assist his client in developing evidence relevant to the state of mind of the client at a particular time. He may properly assist his client in the development and preservation of evidence of existing motive, intent, or desire; obviously, he may not do anything furthering the creation or preservation of false evidence. In many cases a lawyer may not be certain as to the state of mind of his client, and in those situations he should resolve reasonable doubts in favor of his client.

EC 7-7 In certain areas of legal representation not affecting the merits of the cause or substantially prejudicing the rights of a client, a lawyer is entitled to make decisions on his own. But otherwise the authority to make decisions is exclusively that of the client and, if made within the framework of the law, such decisions are binding on his lawyer. As typical examples in civil cases, it is for the client to decide whether he will accept a settlement offer or whether he will waive his right to plead an affirmative defense. A defense lawyer in a criminal case has the duty to advise his client fully on whether a particular plea to a charge appears to be desirable and as to the prospects of success on appeal, but it is for the client to decide what plea should be entered and whether an appeal should be taken.

EC 7-8 A lawyer should exert his best efforts to insure that decisions of his client are made only after the client has been informed of relevant considerations. A lawyer ought to initiate this decision-making process if the client does not do so. Advice of a lawyer to his client need not be confined to purely legal considerations. A lawyer should advise his client of the possible effect of each legal alternative. A lawyer should bring to bear upon this decision-making process the fullness of his experience as well as his objective viewpoint. In assisting his client to reach a proper decision, it is often desirable for a lawyer to point out those factors which may lead to a decision that is morally just as well as legally permissible. He may emphasize the possibility of harsh consequences that might result from assertion of legally permissible positions. In the final analysis, however, the lawyer should always remember that the decision whether to forego legally available objectives or methods because of non-legal factors is ultimately for the client and not for himself. In the event that the client in a non-adjudicatory matter insists upon a course of conduct that is contrary to the judgment and advice of the lawyer but not prohibited by Disciplinary Rules, the lawyer may withdraw from the employment.

EC 7-9 In the exercise of his professional judgment on those decisions which are for his determination in the handling of a legal matter, a lawyer should always act in a manner consistent with the best interests of his client. However, when an action in the best interest of his client seems to him to be unjust, he may ask his client for permission to forego such action.

EC 7-10 The duty of a lawyer to represent his client with zeal does not militate against his concurrent obligation to treat with consideration all persons involved in the legal process and to avoid the infliction of needless harm.

EC 7-11 The responsibilities of a lawyer may vary according to the intelligence, experience, mental condition or age of a client, the obligation of a public officer, or the nature of a particular proceeding. Examples include the representation of an illiterate or an incompetent, service as a public prosecutor or other government lawyer, and appearances before administrative and legislative bodies.

EC 7-12 Any mental or physical condition of a client that renders him incapable of making a considered judgment on his own behalf casts additional responsibilities upon his lawyer. Where an incompetent is acting through a guardian or other legal representative, a lawyer must look to such representative for those decisions which are normally the prerogative of the client to make. If a client under disability has no legal representative, his lawyer may be compelled in court proceedings to make decisions on behalf of the client. If the client is capable of understanding the matter in question or of contributing to the advancement of his interests, regardless of whether he is legally disqualified from performing certain acts, the lawyer should obtain from him all possible aid. If the disability of a client and the lack of a legal representative compel the lawyer to make decisions for his client, the lawyer should consider all circumstances then prevailing and act with care to safeguard and advance the interests of his client. But obviously a lawyer cannot perform any act or make any decision which the law requires his client to perform or make, either acting for himself if competent, or by a duly constituted representative if legally incompetent.

EC 7-13 The responsibility of a public prosecutor differs from that of the usual advocate; his duty is to seek justice, not merely to convict. This special duty exists because: (1) the prosecutor represents the sovereign and therefore should use restraint in the discretionary exercise of governmental powers, such as in the selection of cases to prosecute;

(2) during trial the prosecutor is not only an advocate but he also may make decisions normally made by an individual client, and those affecting the public interest should be fair to all; and (3) in our system of criminal justice the accused is to be given the benefit of all reasonable doubts. With respect to evidence and witnesses, the prosecutor has responsibilities different from those of a lawyer in private practice; the prosecutor should make timely disclosure to the defense of available evidence, known to him, that tends to negate the guilt of the accused, mitigate the degree of the offense, or reduce the punishment. Further, a prosecutor should not intentionally avoid pursuit of evidence merely because he believes it will damage the prosecutor's case or aid the accused.

EC 7-14 A government lawyer who has discretionary power relative to litigation should refrain from instituting or continuing litigation that is obviously unfair. A government lawyer not having such discretionary power who believes there is lack of merit in a controversy submitted to him should so advise his superiors and recommend the avoidance of unfair litigation. A government lawyer in a civil action or administrative proceeding has the responsibility to seek justice and to develop a full and fair record, and he should not use his position or the economic power of the government to harass parties or to bring about unjust settlements or results.

EC 7-15 The nature and purpose of proceedings before administrative agencies vary widely. The proceedings may be legislative or quasi-judicial, or a combination of both. They may be ex parte in character, in which event they may originate either at the instance of the agency or upon motion of an interested party. The scope of an inquiry may be purely investigative or it may be truly adversary looking toward the adjudication of specific rights of a party or of classes of parties. The foregoing are but examples of some of the types of proceedings conducted by administrative agencies. A lawyer appearing before an administrative agency, regardless of the nature of the proceeding it is conducting, has the continuing duty to advance the cause of his client within the bounds of the law. Where the applicable rules of the agency impose specific obligations upon a lawyer, it is his duty to comply therewith, unless the lawyer has a legitimate basis for challenging the validity thereof. In all appearances before administrative agencies, a lawyer should identify himself, his client if identity of his client is not privileged, and the representative nature of his appearance. It is not improper, however, for a lawyer to seek from an agency information available to the public without identifying his client.

EC 7-16 The primary business of a legislative body is to enact laws rather than to adjudicate controversies, although on occasion the activities of a legislative body may take on the characteristics of an adversary proceeding, particularly in investigative and impeachment matters. The role of a lawyer supporting or opposing proposed legislation normally is quite different from his role in representing a person under investigation or on trial by a legislative body. When a lawyer appears in connection with proposed legislation, he seeks to affect the lawmaking process, but when he appears on behalf of a client in investigatory or impeachment proceedings, he is concerned with the protection of the rights of his client. In either event, he should identify himself and his client, if identity of his client is not privileged, and should comply with applicable laws and legislative rules.

EC 7-17 The obligation of loyalty to his client applies only to a lawyer in the discharge of his professional duties and implies no obligation to adopt a personal viewpoint favorable to the interests or desires of his client. While a lawyer must act always with circumspection in order that his conduct will not adversely affect the rights of a client in a matter he is then handling, he may take positions on public issues and espouse legal reforms he favors without regard to the individual views of any client.

EC 7-18 The legal system in its broadest sense functions best when persons in need of legal advice or assistance are represented by their own counsel. For this reason a lawyer should not communicate on the subject matter of the representation of his client with a person he knows to be represented in the matter by a lawyer, unless pursuant to law or rule of court or unless he has the consent of the lawyer for that person. If one is not represented by counsel, a lawyer representing another may have to deal directly with the unrepresented person; in such an instance, a lawyer should not undertake to give advice to the person who is attempting to represent himself, except that he may advise him to obtain a lawyer.

Duty of the Lawyer to the Adversary System of Justice

EC 7-19 Our legal system provides for the adjudication of disputes governed by the rules of substantive, evidentiary, and procedural law. An adversary presentation counters the natural human tendency to judge too swiftly in terms of the familiar that which is not yet fully known; the advocate, by his zealous preparation and presentation of facts and law, enables the tribunal to come to the hearing with an open and neutral mind and to render impartial judgments. The duty of a lawyer to his client and his duty to the legal system are the same: to represent his client zealously within the bounds of the law.

EC 7-20 In order to function properly, our adjudicative process requires an informed, impartial tribunal capable of administering justice promptly and efficiently according to procedures that command public confidence and respect. Not only must there be competent, adverse presentation of evidence and issues, but a tribunal must be aided by rules appropriate to an effective and dignified process. The procedures under which tribunals operate in our adversary system have been prescribed largely by legislative enactments, court rules and decisions, and administrative rules. Through the years certain concepts of proper professional conduct have become rules of law applicable to the adversary adjudicative process. Many of these concepts are the basis for standards of professional conduct set forth in the Disciplinary Rules.

EC 7-21 The civil adjudicative process is primarily designed for the settlement of disputes between parties, while the criminal process is designed for the protection of society as a whole. Threatening to use, or using, the criminal process to coerce adjustment of private civil claims or controversies is a subversion of that process; further, the person against whom the criminal process is so misused may be deterred from asserting his legal rights and thus the usefulness of the civil process in settling private disputes is impaired. As in all cases of abuse of judicial process, the improper use of criminal process tends to diminish public confidence in our legal system.

EC 7-22 Respect for judicial rulings is essential to the proper administration of justice; however, a litigant or his lawyer may, in good faith and within the framework of the law, take steps to test the correctness of a ruling of a tribunal.

EC 7-23 The complexity of law often makes it difficult for a tribunal to be fully informed unless the pertinent law is presented by the lawyers in the cause. A tribunal that is fully informed on the applicable law is better able to make a fair and accurate determination of the matter before it. The adversary system contemplates that each lawyer will present and argue the existing law in the light most favorable to his client. Where a lawyer knows of legal authority in the controlling jurisdiction directly adverse to the position of his client, he should inform the tribunal of its existence unless his adversary has done so; but, having made such disclosure, he may challenge its soundness in whole or in part.

EC 7-24 In order to bring about just and informed decisions, evidentiary and procedural rules have been established by tribunals to permit the inclusion of relevant evidence and argument and the exclusion of all other considerations. The expression by a lawyer of his personal opinion as to the justness of a cause, as to the credibility of a witness, as to the culpability of a civil litigant, or as to the guilt or innocence of an accused is not a proper subject for argument to the trier of fact. It is improper as to factual matters because admissible evidence possessed by a lawyer should be presented only as sworn testimony. It is improper as to all other matters because, were the rule otherwise, the silence of a lawyer on a given occasion could be construed unfavorably to his client. However, a lawyer may argue, on his analysis of the evidence, for any position or conclusion with respect to any of the foregoing matters.

EC 7-25 Rules of evidence and procedure are designed to lead to just decisions and are part of the framework of the law. Thus while a lawyer may take steps in good faith and within the framework of the law to test the validity of rules, he is not justified in consciously violating such rules and he should be diligent in his efforts to guard against his unintentional violation of them. As examples, a lawyer should subscribe to or verify only those pleadings that he believes are in compliance with applicable law and rules; a lawyer should not make any prefatory statement before a tribunal in regard to the purported facts of the case on trial unless he believes that his statement will be supported by admissible evidence; a lawyer should not ask a witness a question solely for the purpose of harassing or embarrassing him; and a lawyer should not by subterfuge put before a jury matters which it cannot properly consider.

EC 7-26 The law and Disciplinary Rules prohibit the use of fraudulent, false, or perjured testimony or evidence. A lawyer who knowingly participates in introduction of such testimony or evidence is subject to discipline. A lawyer should, however, present any admissible evidence his client desires to have presented unless he knows, or from facts within his knowledge should know, that such testimony or evidence is false, fraudulent, or perjured.

EC 7-27 Because it interferes with the proper administration of justice, a lawyer should not suppress evidence that he or his client has a legal obligation to reveal or produce. In like manner, a lawyer should not advise or cause a person to secrete himself or to leave the jurisdiction of a tribunal for the purpose of making him unavailable as a witness therein.

EC 7-28 Witnesses should always testify truthfully and should be free from any financial inducements that might tempt them to do otherwise. A lawyer should not pay or agree to pay a non-expert witness an amount in excess of reimbursement for expenses and financial loss incident to his being a witness; however, a lawyer may pay or agree to pay an expert witness a reasonable fee for his services as an expert. But in no event should a lawyer pay or agree to pay a contingent fee to any witness. A lawyer should exercise reasonable diligence to see that his client and lay associates conform to these standards.

EC 7-29 To safeguard the impartiality that is essential to the judicial process, veniremen and jurors should be protected against extraneous influences. When impartiality is present, public confidence in the judicial system is enhanced. There should be no extrajudicial communication with veniremen prior to trial or with jurors during trial by or on behalf of a lawyer connected with the case. Furthermore, a lawyer who is not connected with the case should not communicate with or cause another to communicate with a venireman or a juror about the case. After the trial, communication by a lawyer with jurors is permitted so long as he refrains from asking questions or making comments that tend to harass or embarrass the juror or to influence actions of the juror in future cases. Were a lawyer to be prohibited from communicating after trial with a juror, he could not ascertain if the verdict might be subject to legal challenge, in which event the invalidity of a verdict might go undetected. When an extrajudicial communication by a lawyer with a juror is permitted by law, it should be made considerately and with deference to the personal feelings of the juror.

EC 7-30 Vexatious or harassing investigations of veniremen or jurors seriously impair the effectiveness of our jury system. For this reason, a lawyer or anyone on his behalf who conducts an investigation of veniremen or jurors should act with circumspection and restraint.

EC 7-31 Communications with or investigations of members of families of veniremen or jurors by a lawyer or by anyone on his behalf are subject to the restrictions imposed upon the lawyer with respect to his communications with or investigations of veniremen and jurors.

EC 7-32 Because of his duty to aid in preserving the integrity of the jury system, a lawyer who learns of improper conduct by or towards a venireman, a juror, or a member of the family of either should make a prompt report to the court regarding such conduct.

EC 7-33 A goal of our legal system is that each party shall have his case, criminal or civil, adjudicated by an impartial tribunal. The attainment of this goal may be defeated by dissemination of news or comments which tend to influence judge or jury. Such news or comments may prevent prospective jurors from being impartial at the outset of the trial and may also interfere with the obligation of jurors to base their verdict solely upon the evidence admitted in the trial. The release by a lawyer of out-of-court statements regarding an anticipated or pending trial may improperly affect the impartiality of the tribunal. For these reasons, standards for permissible and prohibited conduct of a lawyer with respect to trial publicity have been established.

EC 7-34 The impartiality of a public servant in our legal system may be impaired by the receipt of gifts or loans. A lawyer, therefore, is never justified in making a gift or a loan to a judge, a hearing officer, or an official or employee of a tribunal which might reasonably be construed as being for the purpose of influencing his official actions.

EC 7-35 All litigants and lawyers should have access to tribunals on an equal basis. Generally, in adversary proceedings a lawyer should not communicate with a judge relative to a matter pending before, or which is to be brought before, a tribunal over which he presides in circumstances which might have the effect or give the appearance of granting undue advantage to one party. For example, a lawyer should not communicate with a tribunal by a writing unless a copy thereof is promptly delivered to opposing counsel or to the adverse party if he is not represented by a lawyer. Ordinarily an oral communication by a lawyer with a judge or hearing officer should be made only upon adequate notice to opposing counsel, or, if there is none, to the opposing party. A lawyer should not condone or lend himself to private importunities by another with a judge or hearing officer on behalf of himself or his client.

EC 7-36 Judicial hearings ought to be conducted through dignified and orderly procedures designed to protect the rights of all parties. Although a lawyer has the duty to represent his client zealously, he should not engage in any conduct that offends the dignity and decorum of proceedings. While maintaining his independence, a lawyer should be respectful, courteous, and above-board in his relations with a judge or hearing officer before whom he appears. He should avoid undue solicitude for the comfort or convenience of judge or jury and should avoid any other conduct calculated to gain special consideration.

EC 7-37 In adversary proceedings, clients are litigants and though ill feeling may exist between clients, such ill feeling should not influence a lawyer in his conduct, attitude, and demeanor towards opposing lawyers. A lawyer should not make unfair or derogatory personal reference to opposing counsel. Haranguing and offensive tactics by lawyers interfere with the orderly administration of justice and have no proper place in our legal system.

EC 7-38 A lawyer should be courteous to opposing counsel and should accede to reasonable requests regarding court proceedings, settings, continuances, waiver of procedural formalities, and similar matters which do not prejudice the rights of his client. He should follow local customs of courtesy or practice, unless he gives timely notice to opposing counsel of his intention not to do so. A lawyer should be punctual in fulfilling all professional commitments.

EC 7-39 In the final analysis, proper functioning of the adversary system depends upon cooperation between lawyers and tribunals in utilizing procedures which will preserve the impartiality of tribunals and make their decisional processes prompt and just, without impinging upon the obligation of lawyers to represent their clients zealously within the framework of the law.

CANON 8

A LAWYER SHOULD ASSIST IN IMPROVING THE LEGAL SYSTEM

DR 8-101 Action as a Public Official.

(A) A lawyer who holds public office shall not:

(1) Use his public position to obtain, or attempt to obtain, a special advantage in legislative matters for himself or for a client under circumstances where he knows or it is obvious that such action is not in the public interest.

(2) Use his public position to influence, or attempt to influence, a tribunal to act in favor of himself or of a client.

(3) Accept any thing of value from any person when the lawyer knows or it is obvious that the offer is for the purpose of influencing his action as a public official.

DR 8-102 Statements Concerning Judges and Other Adjudicatory Officers.

(A) A lawyer shall not knowingly make false statements of fact concerning the qualifications of a candidate for election or appointment to a judicial office.

(B) A lawyer shall not knowingly make false accusations against a judge or other adjudicatory officer.

DR 8-103 Lawyer Candidate for Judicial Office.

(A) A lawyer who is a candidate for judicial office shall comply with the applicable provisions of Canon 7 of the Code of Judicial Conduct. [Adopted April 5, 1977, effective July 1, 1977.]

ETHICAL CONSIDERATIONS

EC 8-1 Changes in human affairs and imperfections in human institutions make necessary constant efforts to maintain and improve our legal system. This system should function in a manner that commands public respect and fosters the use of legal remedies to achieve redress of grievances. By reason of education and experience, lawyers are especially qualified to recognize deficiencies in the legal system and to initiate corrective measures therein. Thus they should participate in proposing and supporting legislation and programs to improve the system, without regard to the general interests or desires of clients or former clients.

EC 8-2 Rules of law are deficient if they are not just, understandable, and responsive to the needs of society. If a lawyer believes that the existence or absence of a rule of law, substantive or procedural, causes or contributes to an unjust result, he should endeavor by lawful means to obtain appropriate changes in the law. He should encourage the simplification of laws and the repeal or amendment of laws that are outmoded. Likewise, legal procedures should be improved whenever experience indicates a change is needed.

EC 8-3 The fair administration of justice requires the availability of competent lawyers. Members of the public should be educated to recognize the existence of legal problems and the resultant need for legal services, and should be provided methods for intelligent selection of counsel. Those persons unable to pay for legal services should be provided needed services. Clients and lawyers should not be penalized by undue geographical restraints upon representation in legal matters, and the bar should address itself to improvements in licensing, reciprocity, and admission procedures consistent with the needs of modern commerce.

EC 8-4 Whenever a lawyer seeks legislative or administrative changes, he should identify the capacity in which he appears, whether on behalf of himself, a client, or the public. A lawyer may advocate such changes on behalf of a client even though he does not agree with them. But when a lawyer purports to act on behalf of the public, he should espouse only those changes which he conscientiously believes to be in the public interest.

EC 8-5 Fraudulent, deceptive, or otherwise illegal conduct by a participant in a proceeding before a tribunal or legislative body is inconsistent with fair administration of justice, and it should never be participated in or condoned by lawyers. Unless constrained by his obligation to preserve the confidences and secrets of his client, a lawyer should reveal to appropriate authorities any knowledge he may have of such improper conduct.

EC 8-6 Judges and administrative officials having adjudicatory powers ought to be persons of integrity, competence, and suitable temperament. Generally, lawyers are qualified, by personal observation or investigation, to evaluate the qualifications of persons seeking or being considered for such public offices, and for this reason they have a special responsibility to aid in the selection of only those who are qualified. It is the duty of lawyers to endeavor to prevent political considerations from outweighing judicial fitness in the selection of judges. Lawyers should protest earnestly against the appointment or election of those who are unsuited for the bench and should strive to have elected or appointed thereto only those who are willing to forego pursuits, whether of a business, political, or other nature, that may interfere with the free and fair consideration of questions presented for adjudication. Adjudicatory officials, not being wholly free to defend themselves, are entitled to receive the support of the bar against unjust criticism. While a lawyer as a citizen has a right to criticize such officials publicly, he should be certain of the merit of his complaint, use appropriate language, and avoid petty criticisms, for unrestrained and intemperate statements tend to lessen public confidence in our legal system. Criticisms motivated by reasons other than a desire to improve the legal system are not justified.

EC 8-7 Since lawyers are a vital part of the legal system, they should be persons of integrity, of professional skill, and of dedication to the improvement of the system. Thus a lawyer should aid in establishing, as well as enforcing, standards of conduct adequate to protect the public by insuring that those who practice law are qualified to do so.

EC 8-8 Lawyers often serve as legislators or as holders of other public offices. This is highly desirable, as lawyers are uniquely qualified to make significant contributions to the improvement of the legal system. A lawyer who is a public officer, whether full or part-time, should not engage in activities in which his personal or professional interests are or foreseeably may be in conflict with his official duties.

EC 8-9 The advancement of our legal system is of vital importance in maintaining the rule of law and in facilitating orderly changes; therefore, lawyers should encourage, and should aid in making, needed changes and improvements.

CANON 9

A LAWYER SHOULD AVOID EVEN THE APPEARANCE OF PROFESSIONAL IMPROPRIETY

DR 9-101 Avoiding Even the Appearance of Impropriety.

(A) A lawyer shall not accept private employment in a matter upon the merits of which he has acted in a judicial capacity.

(B) A lawyer shall not accept private employment in a matter in which he had substantial responsibility while he was a public employee.

(C) A lawyer shall not state or imply that he is able to influence improperly or upon irrelevant grounds any tribunal, legislative body, or public official.

DR 9-102 Preserving Identity of Funds and Property of a Client.

(A) All funds of clients paid to a lawyer or law firm, other than advances for costs and expenses, shall be deposited in one or more identifiable bank accounts maintained in the state in which the law office is situated and no funds belonging to the lawyer or law firm shall be deposited therein except as follows:

(1) Funds reasonably sufficient to pay bank charges may be deposited therein.

(2) Funds belonging in part to a client and in part presently or potentially to the lawyer or law firm must be deposited therein, but the portion belonging to the lawyer or law firm may be withdrawn when due unless the right of the lawyer or law firm to receive it is disputed by the client, in which event the disputed portion shall not be withdrawn until the dispute is finally resolved.

(B) A lawyer shall:

(1) Promptly notify a client of the receipt of his funds, securities, or other properties.

(2) Identify and label securities and properties of a client promptly upon receipt and place them in a safe deposit box or other place of safekeeping as soon as practicable.

(3) Maintain complete records of all funds, securities, and other properties of a client coming into the possession of the lawyer and render appropriate accounts to his client regarding them.

(4) Promptly pay or deliver to the client as requested by a client the funds, securities, or other properties in the possession of the lawyer which the client is entitled to receive.

ETHICAL CONSIDERATIONS

EC 9-1 Continuation of the American concept that we are to be governed by rules of law requires that the people have faith that justice can be obtained through our legal system. A lawyer should promote public confidence in our system and in the legal profession.

EC 9-2 Public confidence in law and lawyers may be eroded by irresponsible or improper conduct of a lawyer. On occasion, ethical conduct of a lawyer may appear to laymen to be unethical. In order to avoid misunderstandings and hence to maintain confidence, a lawyer should fully and promptly inform his client of material developments in the matters being handled for the client. While a lawyer should guard against otherwise proper conduct that has a tendency to diminish public confidence in the legal system or in the legal profession, his duty to clients or to the public should never be subordinate merely because the full discharge of his obligation may be misunderstood or may tend to subject him or the legal profession to criticism. When explicit ethical guidance does not exist, a lawyer should determine his conduct by acting in a manner that promotes public confidence in the integrity and efficiency of the legal system and the legal profession.

EC 9-3 After a lawyer leaves judicial office or other public employment, he should not accept employment in connection with any matter in which he had substantial responsibility prior to his leaving, since to accept employment would give the appearance of impropriety even if none exists.

EC 9-4 Because the very essence of the legal system is to provide procedures by which matters can be presented in an impartial manner so that they may be decided solely upon the merits, any statement or suggestion by a lawyer that he can or would attempt to circumvent those procedures is detrimental to the legal system and tends to undermine public confidence in it.

EC 9-5 Separation of the funds of a client from those of his lawyer not only serves to protect the client but also avoids even the appearance of impropriety, and therefore commingling of such funds should be avoided.

EC 9-6 Every lawyer owes a solemn duty to uphold the integrity and honor of his profession; to encourage respect for the law and for the courts and judges thereof; to observe the Code of Professional Responsibility; to act as a member of a learned profession, one dedicated to public service; to cooperate with his brother lawyers in supporting the organized bar through the devoting of his time, efforts, and financial support as his professional standing and ability reasonably permit; to conduct himself so as to reflect credit on the legal profession and to inspire the confidence, respect, and trust of his clients and of the public; and to strive to avoid not only professional impropriety but also the appearance of impropriety.

[By order of the Supreme Court dated May 5, 1967, and effective July 1, 1967, the Rules for Admission to Practice (RAP) were redesignated "Admission to Practice Rules (APR)".]

Rule 1 [Classification of applicants.]

Every person desiring to be admitted to the bar of the State of Washington must pass a bar examination and satisfy all of the requirements of these Rules applicable to the classification of applicant to which he belongs.

For the purpose of these Rules, applicants for admission to practice in the State of Washington are classified either as "general applicants" or as "attorney applicants." [Adopted January 29, 1965, effective February 12, 1965. Prior: Adopted December 2, 1955, effective December 15, 1955.]

Reviser's note: "Rules for Admission to Practice" were redesignated as "Admission to Practice Rules," by order of the Supreme Court adopted May 5, 1967, effective July 1, 1967.

Rule 2 General applicants.

A. Definitions

A "general applicant" means either (1) a graduate of an approved law school who does not qualify as an attorney applicant under Rule 3, or (2) a registered law clerk who has satisfactorily completed the course of study prescribed by these Rules.

An "approved law school" means a law school approved by the board of governors. The board of governors shall keep a list of approved law schools on file with the State Bar Association and the Clerk of the Supreme Court.

B. Qualifications

A general applicant, in order to be permitted to take the bar examination, must

(1) present satisfactory proof of either (a) graduation from an approved law school, or (b) satisfactory completion of the course of study prescribed for a registered law clerk by these Rules;

(2) be either: (a) a citizen of the United States, or (b) an alien permanently residing in the United States in accordance with Federal Immigration and Naturalization Law who has legally declared his intent to become a citizen and is proceeding with due diligence toward naturalization.[:]

(3) be of good moral character;

(4) execute under oath and file with the State Bar Association within the time specified in Section C of this Rule 2, two copies of his application, one of which shall be in his own handwriting, in such form as may be required by the board of governors. Additional proof of any fact stated in the application may be required by the board. In the event of the failure or refusal of an applicant to furnish any information or proof, or to answer any interrogatories of the board pertinent to the pending application, the board may deny the application. The form of application shall be provided by the board, and the contents thereof shall be such as the board may direct from time to time;

(5) pay, upon the filing of the application, an examination and admission fee in the amount prescribed in Section C of this Rule 2 and also an investigation fee in the amount prescribed in Section C of this Rule 2. The investigation shall cover all phases of the applicant's qualifications for admission, as the board may deem necessary. No refund of any examination and admission fee shall be made unless the request to withdraw the application is made at least ten (10) days in advance of the examination date. The investigation fee is not subject to refund.

C. Time for Filing Applications and Fees Payable

(1) A general applicant shall pay an examination and admission fee of one hundred dollars ($100).

(2) A general applicant who has not been admitted to the bar anywhere in the world prior to the filing of his application, must file his application to take each bar examination not less than 30 days prior to the examination date, and pay an investigation fee of one hundred dollars ($100). In the case of late filing the Board of Governors may, for good cause, reduce the time requirement for filing the application to take the bar examination.

(3) A general applicant who has been admitted to the bar anywhere in the world prior to the filing of his application, must file his application to take each bar examination:

(a) Ninety days prior to the examination date if he is applying to take the Washington state bar examination for the first time, or

(b) Thirty days in advance of the examination date in the case of a repeater. In the case of late filing the Board of Governors may, for good cause, reduce the time requirement for filing the application to take the bar examination. Said general applicant shall pay at the time of filing his application an investigation fee of two hundred twenty-five dollars ($225).

D. Law Clerks

(1) Requisites

Every person who desires subsequently to qualify as a general applicant for admission to practice in the State of Washington, without having been graduated from an approved law school, shall register as a law clerk as hereinafter provided. He must be a bona fide resident of the State of Washington and shall present satisfactory proof that he has been granted a bachelor's degree (other than bachelor of laws) by a college or university offering such degree on the basis of a four-year course of study.

(2) Registrations—Employment in Law Office—Application—Statement of Employer

Such applicant shall obtain regular and full-time employment as a law clerk in the office of a judge of a court of record or an attorney or firm of attorneys licensed to practice law in the State of Washington and engaged in the general practice of law. The person by whom he is employed, or if he be employed by a firm, the person under whose direction he is to study, must have been admitted to practice law in this state for at least ten (10) years at the time the application for registration is filed, and be otherwise eligible to act as tutor. Prior to the commencement of the study of law under this Rule 2 D the applicant shall file with the State Bar Association an application to register as a law clerk. Such application shall be made on a form to be provided by the State Bar Association and shall require answers to such interrogatories as the board may determine from time to time to be relevant to a consideration of the application. Proof of any fact stated in the application may be required by the board. If the applicant fails or refuses to furnish any information or proof or answer any interrogatory required by the application, or independently thereof by the Board, in a manner satisfactory to the board, the application may be denied.

Accompanying the application there must be submitted a statement under oath of the person by whom such applicant is employed as a law clerk, or, if he is employed by a firm, of the person under whose direction he is to study, certifying to the fact of such employment, and that such person will act as tutor for the applicant and will faithfully instruct the applicant in the branches of the law prescribed by the course of study adopted by the board of governors. No person shall be eligible to act as tutor while disciplinary proceedings (following the service of a formal complaint) are pending against him, or if he has ever been censured, reprimanded, suspended or disbarred. If a registered law clerk finds it necessary to change his tutor during his period of study, a new application for registration as a law clerk shall be required and such credit given for study under his prior tutor as the board may determine.

(3) Course of Study—How Pursued

A law clerk whose registration has been approved by the board must pursue a course of study for four (4) calendar years of at least forty-eight (48) weeks each year, with a minimum each week of thirty (30) hours of study (it being understood that the time actually spent in the performance of the duties of law clerk is to be considered as time spent in the study of law). The tutor must give personal direction regularly and frequently to the clerk, must examine him at least once a month on the work done in the previous month, and must certify monthly as to compliance with the requirements of subsections 3 and 4 of this Rule 2 D.

The examinations shall be written and not oral, and shall be answered by the clerk without research or assistance during the examination. The monthly certificate of compliance submitted by the tutor shall be accompanied by the originals of all written examinations and answers thereto given during the period reported.

If the certificates, together with the required attachments be not filed timely in the office of the State Bar Association, no credit shall be given for any period of such default.

If a registered law clerk does not furnish evidence of completion of his law studies hereunder within a period of six years after registration, the board may cancel such registration.

(4) Course of Study—Subjects—Books

The course of study to be pursued by a registered law clerk shall cover subjects, and such text books, case books, and other material, as the board of governors may from time to time require.

(5) Advanced Standing—Special Students

A registered law clerk who has attended either an approved or a nonapproved law school, may, in the discretion of the board, receive credit for work done and obtain advanced standing. In no event will credit be given for fractional parts of semesters or terms, or for correspondence school work.

(6) Change of Rules—Effect

This latest (1964) revision of these Rules shall not be retroactive as to a law clerk whose registration has been approved by the board of governors prior to the effective date of this revision. Each such person may complete his course of study in accordance with the rules in force at the time of his registration or enrollment and with the same effect as if said rules were still in force. [Amended March 7, 1978, effective May 1, 1978; amended November 16, 1973, effective January 1, 1974; amended December 29, 1970, effective March 10, 1971; amended September 18, 1968, effective September 27, 1968; amended June 26, 1968, effective August 1, 1968;

B. Qualifications

To qualify as an attorney applicant for admission to practice law in the State of Washington, a person must

- (1) satisfy the requirements of Rule 2B(2);
- (2) have been a bona fide resident of the State of Washington for a period beginning at least one hundred and eighty (180) days prior to the date of the examination;
- (3) be of good moral character;
- (4) execute under oath and file with the executive director of the State Bar Association
 - (a) not less than ninety (90) days prior to the examination date, if he is applying to take the Washington State Bar examination for the first time, or
 - (b) thirty (30) days in advance of each examination date, in the case of a repeater two copies of his application, one of which shall be in his own handwriting, in such form as may be required by the board of governors. Additional proof of any fact stated in the application may be required by the board. In the event of the failure or refusal of an applicant to furnish any information or proof, or to answer any interrogatory of the board pertinent to the pending application, the board may deny the application. In the case of late filing, the board may, for good cause, reduce the time requirement for filing the application to take the bar examination;
- (5) pay, upon the filing of each application, an examination and admission fee of fifty ($50) dollars plus an investigation fee of one hundred seventy-five ($175) dollars. The investigation shall cover all phases of the applicant's qualifications for admission. No refund of any examination and admission fee shall be made unless the request to withdraw the application is made at least ten (10) days in advance of the examination date. The investigation fee is not subject to refund;
- (6) have been admitted to practice in another state, territory of the United States or foreign country, where the common law of England exists as a basis of its jurisprudence, and where the requirements for admission are substantially equivalent to those of this state. The applicant shall submit with his application a certificate from the clerk or other officer of the highest court of record of such state, territory of the United States or foreign country, in which he has previously been admitted, or from the clerk of the court of such state, territory of the United States or foreign country, by which attorneys are admitted, under the seal of the court, showing that the applicant has been admitted to, and is entitled to, practice in such state, territory of the United States or foreign country, and the date of his admission;

(7) submit with his application satisfactory evidence that he has been actively and continuously engaged in the general private practice in such state, territory of the United States or foreign country, or has held a judicial position or full-time law-teaching position therein for a total period of at least five (5) years. Admission to practice and such continuous practice or the holding of a judicial position or full-time law-teaching position in two (2) or more states, territories of the United States or foreign countries for a total period of at least five (5) years, shall be equivalent to such admission and practice in one (1) state. The application of such applicant shall not be approved by the board of governors unless it shall be presented within a period of three (3) years from the termination of the period during which the applicant was actually engaged in such practice or was holding such judicial position or full-time law-teaching position: Provided, however, the board may in its discretion approve such application if a longer period has elapsed, upon a showing to the board that the occupation of the applicant during such intervening period was of such character as to keep the applicant in close relationship to the practice of the law; and provided further that the aforesaid three-year period shall not be deemed to include the time necessarily taken in diligent effort to secure citizenship;

(8) submit with his application a certificate from the chief justice or other member of the court of the state in which he has previously been admitted to practice, under the seal of the court, certifying that the applicant is in good standing at the bar of the court and is an honorable and worthy member of the profession, and if the applicant comes from a place where there is a local bar association, he shall also submit a recommendation from the president and secretary of such association. If either of these certificates cannot be procured on account of lack of acquaintance or lack of existence of a local bar association, then the applicant may present in lieu thereof a certificate of the judge of the highest court of record in the county or counties within which such applicant was so engaged in practice or was holding such judicial or teaching position, and recommendations from at least three (3) members of the local bar of the county where he last practiced. If for sufficient reason the applicant cannot obtain any of the recommendations required, the board of governors may accept other satisfactory proof of his character and reputation. The certificates required by this subsection 8 of this Rule 3 B shall not be conclusive upon the board on the question of the moral or ethical fitness of the applicant, but the board shall in all cases have the right to make such further independent investigation as it may desire upon said questions. If, upon consideration of all the evidence in respect thereto, the board is of the opinion that the applicant does not possess such moral and ethical qualifications, or such character and reputation as is consistent with the standards of the profession, the application shall be rejected;

(9) present himself before the board of governors at such time and place as may be required, for oral examination as to his moral character and as to any other qualifications;

(10) after having satisfied the foregoing requirements, have passed the attorney's examination as prescribed in these Rules, and complied with the provisions concerning enrollment and fees prescribed herein. [Amended June 4, 1976, effective July 1, 1976; amended March 5, 1971, effective March 10, 1971; amended December 29, 1970, effective March 10, 1971; amended September 18, 1968, effective September 27, 1968; amended June 26, 1968, effective August 1, 1968; amended January 29, 1965, effective February 12, 1965. Rule 4 Examinations.

A. General Applicant's Examination—How Conducted

The general applicant's examination shall be conducted by and under the direction of the board of governors, who shall, for the purpose of conducting such examination, appoint a committee of three (3) or more active members of the state bar, and this committee shall be known as the committee of law examiners. The examination shall consist of such questions as the committee may select on such subjects as may be listed by the committee and approved by the board of governors. The board shall furnish to this committee such clerical or other assistance as in the discretion of the board shall be deemed necessary. The State Bar Association shall certify to this committee, on or prior to the morning of the first day of each examination, the names of those whose applications for examinations have been approved by the board of governors. The committee of law examiners shall have charge of the conduct of such examination and shall, as soon as practicable, after the completion thereof, certify to the board of governors the grades of those who have taken the examination.

Examinations for admission to the bar will be held on the third Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of January and July of each year, commencing at 9 a.m. or on such other dates and at such times as the board of governors may designate, at such location as the board of governors may designate.

B. Attorney Applicant's Examination

Before being certified for admission, each attorney applicant must pass a written examination, which shall be conducted by the committee of law examiners and which shall be held on the third Monday of January and July of each year, commencing at 9 a.m. or on such other dates and at such times as the board of governors may designate, at such location as the board of governors may designate.

The examination shall consist of such questions as the committee may select on general law and on Washington procedure and Washington substantive, constitutional, and statutory law. The State Bar Association shall certify to the committee, on or prior to the morning of the examination, the names of those whose applications for examination have been approved by the board of governors. As soon as practicable after the completion of the examination, the committee of law examiners shall certify to the board of governors the grades of those who have taken the attorney's examination.

C. Examination—Failure

Any applicant failing to pass an examination which he or she takes may apply to take another examination, but after the third failure, no such applicant shall take any subsequent examination unless 11 months have elapsed since the date upon which the last preceding examination was taken. [Amended June 19, 1974, effective July 1, 1974; amended January 29, 1965, effective February 12, 1965. Prior: Adopted December 2, 1955, effective December 15, 1955.]

Rule 5 Certificate of results—Admission oath—Payment of membership fee.

A. Upon completion of the examination and the receipt of the certificate from the committee of law examiners, the board of governors shall cause each applicant to be notified of the result of the examination and shall recommend to the Supreme Court of the State of Washington the admission or rejection of each applicant who has passed the examination.

B. No applicant shall be recommended to the Supreme Court for admission nor shall any applicant be permitted to take the oath of attorney unless he is then a resident of and domiciled in the State of Washington. Applications for permission to take the bar examination must state the residence of the applicant at the time of application. Applicants who are not residents of the State of Washington at the time of taking the examination, shall submit to the board as a prerequisite to the taking of the oath of attorney and being recommended for admission by the board of governors, an affidavit that he is a resident of and domiciled in the State of Washington.

C. In all cases the oath of attorney must be taken within one year from the date of the examination, except for good cause shown.

D. The recommendation of the board of governors to the court shall be accompanied by the successful candidates' applications for examination and any other documents deemed pertinent by the board. Such recommendation and all other documents and papers forwarded shall be kept by the Clerk of the Supreme Court in a separate file and such file shall not be a public record. The Supreme Court may thereupon examine the recommendation and accompanying papers and make such order in each case as it deems advisable. Upon the request of the court, the board shall forward to the court the examination papers of, and all documents presented in connection with, any registration, whether for "clerkship" or "examination", and all papers in connection with the examination of such applicant.

E. The Supreme Court shall enter an order admitting to practice those applicants it deems qualified, conditioned upon such applicants

(1) taking, and filing with the Clerk of the Supreme Court, the Oath of Attorney as provided herein, and

(2) paying to the Washington State Bar Association its membership fee for the current year.

Upon the entry of such order, the taking and filing of the oath, and payment of said annual membership fee, an applicant shall be enrolled as a member of the bar and shall be entitled to practice law in the State of Washington.

F. The Oath of Attorney must be taken before a court of record in the State of Washington sitting in open court, provided that in the event a successful applicant is outside the State of Washington and the chief justice is satisfied that it is impossible or impractical for him to take the oath below prescribed before a court of record of this state, the chief justice may, upon proper application setting forth all the circumstances designate the person authorized by law to administer oaths, before whom the applicant may appear and take said oath.

G. The oath which all applicants shall take is as follows:

"OATH OF ATTORNEY

[Amended April 26, 1974, effective April 26, 1974; amended December 29, 1970, effective March 10, 1971; amended June 25, 1965, effective July 9, 1965; amended January 29, 1965, effective February 12, 1965. Prior: Amended February 6, 1964; adopted December 2, 1955, effective December 15, 1955.]

Rule 6 Special investigations. The board of governors may refer any application for admission, examination, or registration as a law clerk to any existing committee of the state bar association or to a special committee thereof for the purpose of investigating and making recommendations on any matter connected with said application. Any applicant for admission, examination, or registration as a law clerk may be required to appear before the board or any committee of the state bar association upon reasonable notice and submit to an examination touching any matter deemed by the board of governors relevant to a proper consideration of the pending application. Failure to appear before the board or any committee as directed shall be sufficient reason for rejection of the application. The board of governors shall have the power to issue subpoenas to compel the attendance of witnesses or the production of books or documents in connection with any such investigation. [Amended January 29, 1965, effective February 12, 1965. Prior: Adopted December 2, 1955, effective December 15, 1955.]

Rule 7 Practice by members of bar from other jurisdictions prohibited—Exception.

A. In General.

(1) No person shall appear as attorney or counsel in any of the courts of this state, unless he is an active member of the state bar: Provided, that a member in good standing of the bar of any other state who is a resident of and who maintains a practice in such other state may, with permission of the court, appear as counsel in the trial of an action or proceeding in association only with an active member of the state bar, who shall be the attorney of record therein and responsible for the conduct thereof and shall be present at all court proceedings.

(2) Application to appear as such counsel shall be made to the court before whom the action or proceeding in which it is desired to appear as counsel is pending. The application shall be heard by the court after such notice to the adverse parties as the court shall direct; and an order granting or rejecting the application made, and if rejected, the court shall state the reasons therefor.

(3) No member of the state bar shall lend his name for the purpose of, or in any way assist in, avoiding the effect of this rule.

B. Indigent Representation.

(1) A member in good standing of the bar of another state who is eligible to take the bar examination in this state (herein referred to as the Applicant), while rendering service in either a Bar Association or governmentally sponsored legal services organization or in a public defender's office or similar program providing legal services to indigents and solely in that capacity, may, upon application and approval, practice law and appear as counsel before the courts of this state in any matter, litigation, or administrative proceeding, subject to the following conditions and limitations:

(i) In any such matter, litigation, or administrative proceeding, an active member of the Washington State Bar Association must be associated with the Applicant; shall be counsel of record in all litigation and administrative proceedings; and shall be the person responsible for the conduct of the matter, litigation, or administrative proceeding.

(ii) The Applicant shall apply to sit for and shall take the first bar examination which is given more than 90 days after the date of his or her admission to practice under this Rule. Failure to do so shall automatically revoke the Applicant's right to practice under this Rule.

(iii) If the Applicant does not pass the bar examination, such Applicant's right to practice under this Rule shall terminate on the date that the bar examination results are published.

(iv) If the Applicant passes the bar examination, he or she shall, at the earliest practicable date, apply for active membership in the Washington State Bar Association and shall become an active member therein at the first opportunity. Either the failure to apply or the failure to become an active member for any reason shall terminate the Applicant's right to practice under this Rule.

(v) The Supreme Court may terminate the Applicant's right to practice under this Rule at any time, with or without cause.

(vi) The Applicant's right to practice under this Rule shall, unless sooner terminated pursuant to the other provisions of this Rule, terminate in any event 1 year after the original date of his or her admission to practice.

(2) Application to practice under this Rule shall be made to the Supreme Court of the State of Washington, and the Applicant shall be subject to the Discipline Rules for Attorneys and the Code of Professional Responsibility. [Amended March 10, 1977, effective July 1, 1977; amended March 31, 1975, effective July 1, 1975; amended November 5, 1973, effective January 1, 1974; amended January 29, 1965, effective February 12, 1965. Prior: Adopted December 2, 1955, effective December 15, 1955.]

An applicant hereunder shall establish in the manner specified by the Board of Governors that he:

- (2) Is of good moral character;
- (3) Is admitted to practice in another state or the District of Columbia, and is in good standing as an attorney of such bar;
- (4) Is enrolled and in good standing in such an approved program.

Upon approval of such application by the Board, the applicant shall take the oath of attorney and the Board shall recommend to the Supreme Court the admission of such applicant for the purposes herein stated; such oath, together with any other documents the Board deems pertinent, shall be sent to the Supreme Court which shall enter an appropriate order upon the limited admission of such applicant.

Practice of an applicant so admitted shall be limited to the clinical work of the particular approved course of study in which he is enrolled; no charge shall be made for any services so rendered. When such applicant ceases to actively participate in such program the dean of the law school shall immediately notify the Washington State Bar Association and the clerk of the court so that the right of the applicant to practice may be terminated of record. [Amended December 29, 1970, effective March 10, 1971; adopted May 20, 1966, effective May 20, 1966.]

Reviser's note: Former Rule 8 captioned "Change of rules—Effect" adopted December 2, 1955, effective December 15, 1955, was abrogated January 29, 1965, effective February 12, 1965. For later rule on this subject, see APR 2 (D) (6).

Rule 9 Legal interns.

A. Admission to Limited Practice as a Legal Intern.

Notwithstanding any provision of any other rule to the contrary, qualified law students, registered law clerks and graduates of approved law schools, upon application and approval in accordance with the requirements set forth in Rule 9B, may be admitted to the status of "legal intern" and may be granted a limited license to engage in the practice of law, as hereinafter provided and not otherwise.

B. Application for Limited License as a Legal Intern—Qualifications—Procedure.

(1) Qualifications—The applicant when submitting an application must:

(a) Be a student duly enrolled and in good academic standing at an approved law school with legal studies completed amounting to not less than two-thirds of a prescribed three-year course of study or five-eighths of a prescribed four-year course of study, and have the written approval of the applicant's law school dean or a person designated by such dean; or

(b) Be a registered law clerk in compliance with the provision APR 2(d) with not less than three-fourths of the prescribed four-year course of study completed, and have the written approval of his or her tutor; or

(c) Make the application before the expiration of nine (9) months following graduation from an approved law school, and submit satisfactory evidence thereof to the Washington State Bar Association;

(d) Certify in writing under oath that he or she has read, is familiar with, and will abide by, the Code of Professional Responsibility as adopted by the Supreme Court, and this Rule.

(2) Procedure

(a) The applicant shall submit an application on a form provided by the Washington State Bar Association. Such application shall set forth all of the qualifications of the applicant required in Rule 9B. There shall be no fee for filing such application.

(b) The application shall give the name of, and shall be signed by, the supervising attorney who, in doing so, shall assume the responsibilities of supervising attorney set forth in Rule 9D if the applicant is granted a limited license as a legal intern. The supervising attorney shall be relieved of such responsibilities upon the termination of such limited license or at such earlier time as the supervising attorney or the applicant shall give written notice to the Washington State Bar Association and the Supreme Court of the State of Washington requesting that the supervising attorney be so relieved. In the latter event another active member of the Bar may be substituted as such supervising attorney by giving written notice of such substitution, signed by the applicant and by such other active member, to the Washington State Bar Association and the Supreme Court of the State of Washington.

(c) Upon receipt of the application, the Washington State Bar Association shall examine and evaluate such application and endorse thereon its approval or disapproval and forward the same to the Supreme Court of the State of Washington.

(d) The Supreme Court of the State of Washington shall issue or refuse the issuance of a limited license of a legal intern. The Court's decision shall be forwarded to the Washington State Bar Association, and the applicant shall be informed of the Court's decision.

C. Scope of Practice by Legal Intern Under the Limited License.

(1) A legal intern shall be authorized to engage in the limited practice of law, in civil and criminal matters, as authorized by the provisions of this Rule 9. A legal intern shall be subject to the Code of Professional Responsibility and Disciplinary Rules as adopted by the Supreme Court and to all other laws and rules governing lawyers admitted to the bar of this state, and shall be personally responsible for all services performed as an intern. Upon recommendation of the Disciplinary Board, a legal intern may be precluded from sitting for the Bar Examination or from being admitted as a member of the Washington State Bar Association within the discretion of the Board of Governors. Any such intern barred from the Bar Examination or from recommendation for admission by the Board of Governors shall have the usual rights of appeal to the State Supreme Court.

(2) A judge may exclude a legal intern from active participation in a case filed with the court in the interest of orderly administration of justice or for the protection of a litigant or witness, and shall thereupon grant a continuance to secure the attendance of the supervising attorney.

(3) No legal intern may receive payment from a client for his or her services; however, nothing contained herein shall prevent a legal intern from being paid for his or her services by the intern's employer or to prevent the employer from making such charges for the service of the legal intern as may otherwise be proper. A legal intern and his or her supervising attorney or an attorney from the same office shall, before the intern undertakes to perform any services for a client, inform the client of the legal intern's status as such.

(4) A legal intern may participate in superior court and Court of Appeals proceedings, including depositions, provided the supervising attorney or another attorney from the same office is present. Ex parte and agreed orders may be presented to the court by a legal intern without the presence of his or her supervising attorney or another attorney from the same office; provided further that an intern may represent the state in juvenile court in misdemeanor and gross misdemeanor cases without in-court supervision after a reasonable period of in-court supervision, which shall not be less than one trial.

(5) Except as otherwise provided in Rule 9(c)(6), in courts from the judgment of which there is a right of trial de novo, a legal intern, only after participating with his or her supervising attorney in at least one nonjury case, may try nonjury cases in such courts without the presence of a supervising attorney; and only after participating with his or her supervising attorney in at least one jury case, may try jury cases in such courts without the presence of a supervising attorney.

(6) Either the supervising attorney or an attorney from the same office shall be present in the representation of a defendant in all preliminary criminal hearings.

D. Supervising Attorneys—Qualifications, Responsibilities and Duties.

(1) The supervising attorney shall be an active member of the Washington State Bar Association and shall have been actively engaged in the practice of law in the State of Washington or elsewhere for at least three years at the time the application is filed.

(2) The supervising attorney or another attorney from the same office shall direct, supervise and review all of the work of the legal intern and both shall assume personal professional responsibility for any work undertaken by the legal intern while under his or her supervision. All pleadings, motions, briefs, and other documents prepared by the legal intern shall be reviewed by the supervising attorney or an attorney from the same office as the supervising attorney. When a legal intern signs any correspondence or legal document, the intern's signature shall be followed by the title "legal intern" and, if the document is prepared for presentation to a court or for filing with the clerk thereof, the document shall also be signed by the supervising attorney or an attorney from the same office as the supervising attorney. In any proceeding in which a legal intern appears before the court, the legal intern must advise the court of the intern's status and the name of the intern's supervising attorney.

(3) Supervision shall not require that the supervising attorney be present in the room while the legal intern is advising or negotiating on behalf of a person referred to the intern by the supervising attorney, or while the legal intern is preparing the necessary pleadings, motions, briefs, or other documents.

(4) No supervising attorney shall have supervision over more than one (1) legal intern at any one time; however, in the case of recognized legal aid, legal assistance, public defender and similar programs furnishing legal assistance to indigents, or of state, county or municipal legal departments, the supervising attorney may have supervision over two (2) legal interns at one time.

(5) No attorney shall be authorized to become a supervising attorney if the attorney is subject to pending disciplinary proceedings (following the service of a formal complaint) or if the attorney has ever been censured, reprimanded, suspended or disbarred. No attorney without the express approval of the Board of Governors shall be authorized to become a supervising attorney if the attorney is or within the previous 12 months has been the subject of any complaint received by the Washington State Bar Association which has not been resolved in the attorney's favor.

(6) An attorney currently acting as a supervising attorney may be terminated as a supervising attorney at the discretion of the Board of Governors. When an intern's supervisor is so terminated, the intern shall cease performing any services under this rule and shall cease holding himself or herself out as a legal intern until written notice of a substitute supervising attorney, signed by the intern and by a new and qualified supervising attorney, is given to the Washington State Bar Association and to the Supreme Court of the State of Washington.

(7) The failure of a supervising attorney, or an attorney acting as a supervising attorney, to provide adequate supervision or to comply with the duties set forth in this Rule 9 shall be grounds for disciplinary action pursuant to the Discipline Rules for Attorneys.

(8) For purposes of the attorney-client privilege, an intern shall be considered a subordinate of the attorney providing supervision for the intern.

(9) For purposes of the provisions of this Rule 9D which permit an attorney from the same office as the supervising attorney to sign documents or be present with a legal intern during court appearances, the attorney so acting must be one who meets all of the qualifications for becoming a supervising attorney under this Rule 9.

E. Term of Limited License.

(1) A limited license as a legal intern shall be valid, unless revoked, for a period of 18 months, provided that a person who fails the Washington state bar examination shall not continue to serve or to be eligible to become a legal intern after the date the results of the said bar examination are made public, and provided further that a person shall not serve as a legal intern more than 18 months after graduation from law school.

(2) The approval given to a law student by his or her law school dean or the dean's designee or to a clerk by his or her tutor may be withdrawn at any time by mailing notice to that effect to the Clerk of the Supreme Court and to the Washington State Bar Association, and shall be withdrawn if the student ceases to be duly enrolled as a student prior to graduation or ceases to be in good academic standing or if the law clerk ceases to comply with APR 2(d).

(3) A limited license is granted at the sufferance of the Supreme Court of the State of Washington and may be revoked at any time upon the Court's own motion, or upon the motion of the Board of Governors of the Washington State Bar Association, in either case with or without cause.

(4) An intern shall immediately cease performing any services under this rule and shall cease holding himself or herself out as a legal intern: upon termination for any reason of said intern's limited license under this rule; upon the resignation of the intern's supervising attorney; upon the suspension or termination by the Board of Governors of the Washington State Bar Association of the supervising attorney's status as supervising attorney; or upon the withdrawal of approval of the intern pursuant to (E)(2).

(5) Any person applying for permission to take the Washington State Bar examination who has ever had his or her limited license revoked shall disclose that fact on his or her application and explain the reason for revocation, if known. [Amended November 9, 1978, effective January 1, 1979; amended December 16, 1976, effective December 31, 1976; amended September 26, 1973, effective December 31, 1973; amended February 29, 1972, effective February 29, 1972; amended May 21, 1971, effective May 21, 1971; adopted June 4, 1970, effective June 4, 1970.]

Rule 10 Revocation of order admitting to practice.

The order admitting to practice an applicant under Rule 2B(2) (b) may be revoked by the Supreme Court, upon the recommendation of the Board of Governors, for failure of the applicant to proceed with due diligence in completing his naturalization process. [Adopted December 29, 1970, effective March 10, 1971.]

Rule 11 Continuing legal education.

Rule 11.1 Purpose. It is of primary importance to the members of the Bar and to the public that attorneys continue their legal education throughout the period of their active practice of law. These rules will establish the minimum requirements for continuing legal education. [Adopted November 29, 1976, effective January 1, 1977.]

Rule 11.2 Educational Requirement.

A. Minimum Requirement. Each active member of the Bar Association shall complete a minimum of 15 credit hours of approved or accredited legal education (as provided in Rule 11.4 hereof) during each calendar year after 1976. If a member completes more than 15 such hours in a given calendar year after 1976, the excess credit may be carried forward and applied to such member's education requirement for either or both of the next two succeeding calendar years. Such legal education completed between September 1, 1976, and December 31, 1976, shall be credited as though it had been completed in 1977.

B. New Admission. An attorney shall not be required to comply with this rule during the calendar year in which he or she is admitted nor for the following full calendar year. [Adopted November 29, 1976, effective January 1, 1977.]

Rule 11.3 Board of Continuing Legal Education. There is hereby established a Board of Continuing Legal Education (referred to herein as the Board) consisting of seven members. Six of the members of the Board must be active members of the Washington State Bar Association (referred to herein as the Bar Association). The seventh member shall not be a member of the Bar Association. The Supreme Court shall designate a chairperson of the Board, who shall serve at the pleasure of the Court. The members of the Board shall be nominated by the Bar Association and appointed by the Supreme Court. Of the members first appointed, two shall be appointed for 1 year, three for 2 years, and two for 3 years. Thereafter, appointments shall be for a 3-year term. No member may serve more than two consecutive terms. Terms shall end on September 30 of the applicable year, except that no term shall end prior to September 30, 1977. [Adopted November 29, 1976, effective January 1, 1977.]

Rule 11.4 Powers of the Board. The Board shall approve individual courses and may accredit all or portions of the entire legal educational program of a given organization which, in the Board's judgment, will satisfy the education requirements of these rules. It shall determine the number of credit hours to be allowed for each such course. It shall discover and encourage the offering of such courses and programs by established organizations, whether offered within or outside of this state. The Board may adopt regulations pertinent to these powers subject to the approval of the Bar Association and the Supreme Court. Individual compliance with the educational or time requirements of these rules may be waived or modified by the Board upon a showing of undue hardship, age or infirmity. [Adopted November 29, 1976, effective January 1, 1977.]

Rule 11.5 Expenses of the Board. Members of the Board shall not be compensated for their services. For their actual and necessary expenses incurred in the performance of their duties, they shall be reimbursed by the Bar Association in a manner consistent with the Association's reimbursement of its committee members. The Bar Association shall furnish the Board with the necessary staff and clerical help to carry out its duties and shall pay all expenses reasonably and necessarily incurred by the Board, pursuant to a budget for the Board which the Board shall submit annually to the Bar Association, subject to approval by the Association. [Adopted November 29, 1976, effective January 1, 1977.]

Rule 11.6 Reports and Enforcement.

A. Compliance Report. On or before each January 31st hereafter, commencing January 31, 1978, each active member shall file a report with the Bar Association in such form as the Bar Association shall prescribe concerning such member's completion of accredited legal education during the preceding calendar year. If such member has not completed the minimum education requirement for the preceding year, compliance may still be accomplished by making up the deficiency within the first 4 months of the next succeeding calendar year, filing a supplemental report with the Bar Association by May 1 of such year evidencing such compliance in such form as the Bar Association shall prescribe and by paying a special $50.00 filing fee therefor.

B. Delinquency. Any member who has not so complied by May 1 of each year hereafter, commencing with May 1, 1978, may be removed (or conditionally removed) from the roll of active members of the Bar and transferred to inactive status pending such member's compliance with Section A above. To effect such removal the Board shall by written notice to the noncomplying member advise of the pendency of removal proceedings unless within 10 days of receipt of such notice such member shall complete and return to the Board an accompanying form of petition which may be accompanied by affidavit(s) in support of request for extension of time for or exemption from compliance with Section A above or for a ruling by the Board of substantial compliance therewith.

1. Unless such petition be so filed, the Board shall report such fact to the Supreme Court with its recommendations for appropriate action. The Supreme Court shall enter such order or conditional order as it deems appropriate.

2. If such petition be so filed, the Board may, in its discretion, approve the same without hearing, or may enter into agreement on terms with such member as to time and requirements for achieving compliance with the provisions of Section A.

3. If the Board does not so approve such petition or enter into such agreement with terms, the Board shall hold a hearing upon the petition and shall give the member at least 10 days' notice of the time and place thereof. Testimony taken at the hearing shall be under oath and the oath shall be administered by the chairperson of the Board. For good cause shown the Board may rule that the member has substantially complied with these rules for the year in question or, if he or she has not done so, it may grant the member an extension of time within which to comply and may do so upon terms as it may deem appropriate. As to each such application the Board shall enter written findings of fact and an appropriate order, a copy of which shall be mailed forthwith to the member at the address on file with the Bar Association. Any such order shall be final unless within 10 days from the date thereof the member shall file with the Bar Association at its office a written appeal to the Board of Governors of the Bar Association.

4. In its consideration of petitions for relief hereunder, the Board shall consider factors of hardship such as age or disability, or of restricted practice.

C. Appeal to Board of Governors. Any such appeal shall be considered by the Board of Governors at its next regular meeting (unless that meeting takes place less than 5 days following the perfection of the appeal, in which event it shall be the second meeting following thereafter). To perfect such appeal the member shall, at the member's expense, within 15 days of the filing of the notice of such appeal, cause to be transcribed and filed with the Bar Association a narrative report of proceedings in compliance with RAP 9.3. The Board chairperson shall certify that the narrative report of proceedings contains a fair and accurate report of the occurrences in and evidence introduced in the cause. Upon the filing of any such notice of appeal to the Board of Governors, the Bar Association shall prepare a transcript of all orders, findings, and other documents pertinent to the proceeding, which transcript shall be certified by the Board chairperson. The Board of Governors may require the member to submit his or her argument in writing and it may, but shall not be obligated to, permit the member or his or her counsel to appear in person before it. The Board of Governors may affirm, reverse or modify the ruling of the Board of Continuing Legal Education as it deems appropriate. The decision of the Board of Governors shall be reduced to writing and a copy thereof shall be mailed forthwith to the member at the member's address. The decision of the Board of Governors shall be final, unless within 10 days from the date thereof, the member shall file with the Bar Association at its office a written notice of appeal to the Supreme Court.

D. Appeal to the Supreme Court. To perfect such appeal to the Supreme Court, the member shall at the member's expense, if testimony was taken before the Board of Governors, cause to be transcribed and filed with the Bar Association as to proceedings before the Board of Governors, a narrative report of proceedings in compliance with RAP 9.3. The President of the Bar Association shall certify that any such narrative report of proceedings contains a fair and accurate report of the occurrences in and evidence introduced in the cause. The Bar Association shall prepare a transcript of all orders and other documents pertinent to the proceeding before the Board of Governors, which transcript shall be certified by the President of the Bar Association. The Bar Association shall then file promptly with the Clerk of the Supreme Court said narrative report of proceedings and the transcripts pertinent to the proceedings before the Board and the Board of Governors. The matter shall be heard in the Supreme Court on the motion calendar and the provisions of RAP 17.4 and RAP 17.5 shall be applicable thereto.

E. Time. The times set forth in this rule for filing notices of appeal are jurisdictional. The Board of Governors or the Supreme Court, as to appeals pending before each such body respectively, may, for good cause shown:

1. extend the time for the filing or certification of said statement of facts, or
2. dismiss the appeal for failure to prosecute the same diligently.

F. Costs. If the member prevails in his or her appeal before the Board of Governors or in his or her appeal to the Supreme Court, the member shall be awarded costs against the Bar Association in an amount equal to his or her reasonable expenditures for the preparation of the statement or statements of facts.

G. Change of Status. Once an attorney has been transferred to inactive membership status for noncompliance with these Rules, the attorney affected must comply with the then applicable regulations of the Board for transfer from inactive to active status. [Adopted November 29, 1976, effective January 1, 1977.]

Rule 11.7 Confidentiality. The files and records of the Bar Association, as they may relate to or arise out of any failure of a member of the Association to satisfy these continuing legal education requirements, shall be deemed confidential and shall not be disclosed except in furtherance of its duties, or upon request of the attorney affected, or pursuant to a proper subpoena duces tecum, or as directed by this Court. [Adopted November 29, 1976, effective January 1, 1977.]

I. GROUNDS FOR DISCIPLINARY ACTION

- Rule 1.1 Grounds.
- 1.2 Sanctions.

Rule 1.1 Grounds. An attorney at law may be subjected to the disciplinary sanctions or actions set forth in Rule 1.2 for any of the following causes, hereinafter sometimes referred to as violations of the rules of professional conduct:

(a) The commission of any act involving moral turpitude, dishonesty, or corruption, whether the same be committed in the course of his or her conduct as an attorney, or otherwise, and whether the same constitutes a felony or misdemeanor or not; and if the act constitutes a felony or misdemeanor, conviction thereof in a criminal proceeding shall not be a condition precedent to disciplinary action. Upon such conviction, however, the judgment and sentence shall be conclusive evidence at the ensuing disciplinary hearing of the guilt of the respondent attorney of the crime described in the indictment or information, and of his or her violation of the statute upon which it is based. A disciplinary hearing as provided in Rule 3.2 of these rules shall be had to determine, (1) whether moral turpitude was in fact an element of the crime committed by the respondent attorney and, (2) the disciplinary action recommended to result therefrom.

(b) Willful disobedience or violation of a court order directing him or her to do or cease doing an act which he or she ought in good faith to do or forbear.

(c) Violation of his or her oath or duties as an attorney.

(d) Willfully appearing without authority as an attorney for a party to an action or proceeding.

(e) Permitting his or her name to be used as an attorney by another person who is not an attorney authorized to practice law in the state of Washington.

(f) Misrepresentation or concealment of a material fact made in his or her application for admission to the bar or admission to the bar examination or reinstatement or in support thereof.

(g) Suspension, disbarment or other disciplinary sanction by competent authority in any state, federal or foreign jurisdiction.

(h) Practicing law with or in cooperation with a disbarred or suspended attorney, or maintaining an office for the practice of law in a room or office occupied or used in whole or in part by a disbarred or suspended attorney, or permitting a disbarred or suspended attorney to use his or her name for the practice of law, or practicing law for or on behalf of a disbarred or suspended attorney, or practicing law under any arrangement or understanding for division of fees or compensation of any kind with a disbarred or suspended attorney, or with any person not authorized to practice law.

(i) Violation of the Code of Professional Responsibility of the profession adopted by the Supreme Court of the State of Washington.

(j) Willful violation of Rule 2.6, Rule 3.2(k), willful disregard of the subpoena or notice of a Local Administrative Committee, Hearing Panel, State Bar Counsel, Disciplinary Board, or Board of Governors of the Association, willful disregard of a restraining order issued pursuant to Rule 2.5(b)(3), willful disregard of a stipulation approved pursuant to Rule 3.3, willful failure to cooperate with an attorney appointed pursuant to Rule 4.4, willful violation of Rule 13.2, or the making of a false statement under oath in any document filed with the Association.

(k) Conduct demonstrating unfitness to practice law.

(l) Engaging in the practice of law while on inactive status. [Amended April 25, 1978, effective May 15, 1978; adopted January 21, 1975, effective February 3, 1975.]

Rule 1.2 Sanctions. The disciplinary sanctions or actions affecting the status of an attorney are censure, reprimand, suspension or disbarment or transfer to inactive status. [Adopted January 21, 1975, effective February 3, 1975.]

Reviser's note: By order of the Supreme Court dated May 5, 1967, and effective July 1, 1967, the Rules for Discipline of Attorneys (RDA) have been redesignated as "Discipline Rules for Attorneys (DRA)."

Rule 2.1 Local administrative committee.

(a) Appointment. The Board of Governors shall appoint a Local Administrative Committee consisting of three or more members in each county or district as herein defined. The Board of Governors may create districts consisting of two or more counties, a portion of one or more counties, or one or more counties and a portion of one or more counties. These Committees shall be known as "Local Administrative Committee of ----- County (or ----- District)." All members of the Local Administrative Committees shall be chosen by the Board of Governors from the active members of the Association whose residences are in the county or district for which they are appointed and who have been admitted to practice not less than 5 years.

(b) Term of Office. The members of the Local Administrative Committees shall serve at the pleasure of the Board of Governors. The Board of Governors shall designate each year one member of each Local Administrative Committee to serve as chairperson thereof for 1 year or until his or her successor is appointed. Members heretofore appointed by the Board of Governors shall continue to serve until replaced.

(c) Duties. It shall be the duty of a Local Administrative Committee to:

(1) Take cognizance of any alleged or apparent violation of the rules of professional conduct coming to its attention, whether by complaint or otherwise, to investigate the same promptly and to submit a report to the Board within 30 days from the date the matter first came to the attention of such committee, unless the time is extended by said Board.

(2) Initiate Reports.

(i) Reports shall be in such form and pursuant to such procedures as may from time to time be prescribed by the Board.

(ii) Reports made by Local Administrative Committees shall form a part of the permanent records of the Association and may be used as a basis for the commencement of disciplinary proceedings.

(d) Perpetuation of Testimony. Where, in the discretion of a Local Administrative Committee or State Bar Counsel, there is reasonable cause to believe that testimony should be perpetuated, the Committee may, upon reasonable notice to the attorney investigated, cause the deposition of any witness to be taken under oath before a notary public or before any other officer authorized by the law of the jurisdiction where the deposition is taken to administer an oath, and have the same transcribed for use in any further proceedings under these rules to which the said attorney may be a party. Save as in this paragraph specifically provided, proceedings before a Local Administrative Committee shall be informal and witnesses need not be sworn.

(e) Authority.

(1) Trivial Matters. The committee shall have power conditionally to settle and dispose of complaints of a trivial nature; provided, that a complete report of the disposition of each such complaint shall be made to the Board; upon filing of such written report with the Board such conditional disposition shall be deemed conclusive unless the Board acts otherwise within 60 days from receipt of such report.

(2) Settlement, Compromise or Restitution. Settlement of, compromise of, or restitution in a matter shall not justify the committee in failing to undertake or complete its investigation and report thereon to the Board.

(f) Special Circumstances. The Board, in lieu of referring a matter to a Local Administrative Committee for investigation, in its discretion may:

(1) Appoint a special committee composed of Local Administrative Committee members from more than one county or district to conduct an investigation; or

(2) Refer a complaint to bar counsel or bar staff for investigation; or

(3) Direct the filing of a formal complaint without investigation.

(g) Matters Involving Related Pending Civil or Criminal Litigation.

(1) Processing of complaints involving material allegations which are substantially similar to the material allegations of pending criminal or civil litigation may be deferred when authorized by the board. In such event, the respondent attorney shall make all reasonable efforts to obtain the prompt trial and disposition of such pending litigation.

(2) The acquittal of the respondent attorney on criminal charges or a verdict or judgment in his or her favor in a civil litigation involving substantially similar material allegations shall not in and of itself justify abatement of a disciplinary investigation predicated upon the same material allegations. [Adopted January 21, 1975, effective February 3, 1975.]

Rule 2.2 Trial committee.

(a) Appointment. The Board of Governors shall appoint a Trial Committee consisting of three or more members in each county or special district as herein defined. The Board of Governors may create special districts consisting of two or more counties, a portion of one or more counties, or one or more counties and a portion of one or more counties. Those committees shall be known as "Local Trial Committee of ----- County (or ----- Special District)." All members of Local Trial Committees shall be chosen by the Board of Governors from the active members of the Association whose residences are in the county or special district for which they are appointed, and who have been active members of the Association for at least 5 years.

(b) Term of Office. The members of the Local Trial Committees shall serve at the pleasure of the Board of Governors; provided, however, that any member designated to serve on a Hearing Panel shall continue as a member of the Local Trial Committee until the completion of his or her duties as a member of such Hearing Panel. [Adopted January 21, 1975, effective February 3, 1975.]

Rule 2.3 Hearing panel.

(a) Hearing Panel. Each disciplinary matter referred for hearing shall be heard by a Hearing Panel appointed by the chairperson of the Board. A Hearing Panel shall consist of either one or three members, as determined by said chairperson. The Panel may be composed of not more than one attorney member from the Board, not more than one member from the Local Trial Committee of the county or special district where the respondent attorney had his or her residence at the time of the alleged violation of the rules of professional conduct, and one or more members from trial committees elsewhere in the state. In the event the Panel consists of more than one member, the chairperson of the Board shall designate a chairperson of that Panel to conduct the hearing. The Board may direct a hearing which has been assigned to a Panel in one county or special district to be transferred to another county or special district or to a special Panel appointed by the chairperson of the Board.

(b) Authority and Duties of Hearing Panel. It shall be the duty of the Panel to whom a cause has been referred for hearing to conduct the hearing in the manner hereinafter provided. The Panel chairperson shall pass on all questions of procedure and admission of evidence. The Panel shall make its findings of fact, conclusions of law and recommendation, submitting them to the Board together with all pleadings, documents and exhibits in accordance with Rule 3.2(1).

(c) Disagreement. In the event of disagreement the dissenting member shall file independent findings, conclusions and recommendation within 15 days after the time provided for in Rule 3.2(1). [Adopted January 21, 1975, effective February 3, 1975.]

Rule 2.4 Disciplinary board.

(a) Membership.

(1) Composition. The Board shall be comprised of two lay members appointed by the Supreme Court and one attorney member from each congressional district in the state of Washington. Attorney members shall be appointed by the Board of Governors. Each member, whether lay or attorney, shall have one vote.

(2) Qualification. Lay members must be residents of the state of Washington. Attorney members must have been active members of the Washington State Bar Association for at least 10 years and their residences must be in the congressional district from which they are appointed.

(3) Quorum. Five or more members shall constitute a quorum. Given a quorum, the concurrence of a majority of those present shall constitute the action of the Board.

(4) Disqualification. In the event any complaint is made to the Washington State Bar Association, alleging a violation of the rules of professional conduct by an attorney member of the Board, such member shall take a leave of absence from the Board until the matter is resolved, unless otherwise directed by the Board of Governors. If a disciplinary sanction is imposed against the member, he or she shall be ineligible to serve further on the Board. The resulting vacancy shall be filled as set forth in Rule 2.4(e).

(b) Term of Office. The term of office for all members of the Board shall be three years or until his or her successor is appointed or takes office. One of the initial lay members shall be appointed for a two year term. All terms of office shall expire on September 30 of the appropriate year. Members may not serve consecutive terms.

(c) Continuity. Notwithstanding the expiration of the term of office of a member of the Board, he or she shall have the authority to act in any matter assigned to him or her prior to the expiration of his or her term.

(d) Chairperson. The Board of Governors shall designate one member of the Board to act as its chairperson and another as its vice chairperson. The chairperson shall have duties and powers as are specified in the Discipline Rules for Attorneys, and shall preside at Board meetings. The vice chairperson shall serve in the absence or at the request of the chairperson.

(e) Vacancies. Vacancies in attorney membership on the Board and in the office of the chairperson and vice chairperson shall be filled by the Board of Governors. Vacancies in lay membership shall be filled by the Supreme Court.

(f) Responsibilities.

(1) General. The Board shall have the powers and duties provided in these Discipline Rules for Attorneys, together with those delegated to it in writing by the Board of Governors.

(2) Specific. The Board shall review all reports or allegations of violations of the rules of professional conduct or matters within the purview of Rules 4.1-4 and take such action pursuant to these Discipline Rules for Attorneys as it deems appropriate.

(3) Letter of Admonition. Where it appears to the Board that, even if the findings of the Local Administrative Committee or bar staff were true, the misconduct charged is not of sufficient magnitude to warrant a trial, the Board, in its discretion, may dismiss the complaint and send the attorney a letter of admonition warning against such conduct in the future. Such a letter shall not constitute a finding of misconduct.

(4) Division of Authority. The Board of Governors shall have no right or responsibility to review decisions or recommendations of Hearing Panels or of the Board in specific disciplinary matters. It shall, however, have the responsibility generally for the proper functioning of the Local Administrative Committees, Trial Committees, the Disciplinary Board, the bar staff, and bar counsel. Any publicity with reference to pending disciplinary proceedings shall be released only through the Board of Governors.

(5) Meetings. The Board shall hold at least eight meetings a year at such times and places as it may determine. [Amended April 25, 1978, effective May 15, 1978; amended May 2, 1975, effective July 1, 1975; adopted January 21, 1975, effective February 3, 1975.]

Rule 2.5 State bar counsel.

(a) Appointment and Duties. The Executive Director of the State Bar Association under the direction of the Board of Governors shall employ a suitable person or persons from among the members of the Association to act as counsel for the Association with respect to matters of discipline and reinstatement of members, including the investigations, hearings and appeals incident thereto, and to perform such other duties as shall be required by the Executive Director or the Board. He shall not participate in post-hearing deliberations of either the hearing panel or of the Board.

(b) Discovery Prior to Formal Complaint. Where bar counsel deems it advisable to utilize discovery procedures with regard to the attorney being investigated or a witness, prior to the filing of a formal complaint, he or she may do so.

(1) Procedure. All such proceedings shall be in conformity with the Superior Court Civil Rules.

(2) Subpoenas. A member of the Board or State Bar Counsel shall have the power to issue subpoenas to compel the attendance of the attorney being investigated or of a witness, or the production of books or documents at the taking of such depositions. Subpoenas shall be served in the same manner as in civil cases in the Superior Court.

(3) Show Cause—Restraining Proceedings. In addition to and supplemental of the existing Superior Court Civil Rules, the Board or Hearing Panel may, by and through Bar Counsel, for good cause shown and supported by affidavit, require the respondent attorney to appear, together with such records or data as the Board or Hearing Panel may require, and to show cause why said respondent attorney should not be proceeded against as provided for in Rule 9.2 herein or be restrained, pendente lite, upon such terms and conditions as the Board or Hearing Panel may determine. No bond or other security or undertaking shall be required in such proceeding. Notice shall be by personal service; however, in the event that, and upon affidavit by Bar Counsel that said attorney cannot be then found, notice by mail, postage prepaid, to the last known address of said attorney on file with the Bar Association shall be deemed sufficient. The time for said notice shall be not less than 5 days. [Adopted January 21, 1975, effective February 3, 1975.]

Rule 2.6 Respondent Attorney.

Responsibility. It shall be the duty and the obligation of an attorney who is the subject of a disciplinary investigation to cooperate with the Local Administrative Committee, State Bar Counsel or bar staff as requested, subject only to the proper exercise of his privilege against self-incrimination where applicable, by:

- (a) Furnishing any papers or documents;
- (b) Furnishing in writing a full and complete explanation covering the matter contained in such complaint; and
- (c) Appearing before the Committee at the time and place designated. [Adopted January 21, 1975, effective February 3, 1975.]

Rule 2.7 Complainant.

Duties of Complainant. Upon request, the person complaining shall furnish to the Local Administrative Committee, the bar staff, or State Bar Counsel documentary and other evidence in his or her possession and the names and addresses of witnesses, and assist in securing evidence in relation to the facts charged. [Adopted January 21, 1975, effective February 3, 1975.]

III. DISCIPLINARY PROCEEDINGS

Rule

Any determinations or orders required under said Rules to be made by a Superior Court judge shall be made by the chairperson.

(k) Cooperation. It shall be the duty of an attorney who has been served with a formal complaint to respond to all lawful orders made by the chairperson of the Panel as provided in the preceding paragraph. (2) Set forth the respondent attorney's prior record of censure, reprimand, suspension or disbarment, or any absence of such record;

(3) State that the stipulation is not binding on the Association as a statement of all existing facts relating to the professional conduct of the respondent attorney, but that any additional existing facts may be proven in any subsequent disciplinary proceedings; and

(a) Proceedings Held in Abeyance. If the respondent attorney has been or is subject to being transferred to inactive status pursuant to the provisions of Rule 4.1, all proceedings based upon a formal complaint calling for disciplinary sanctions (as distinguished from transfer to inactive status) for alleged violation of the rules of professional conduct shall be held in abeyance until such time as it shall appear that the respondent attorney is mentally capable of conducting a proper defense thereto.

(b) Panel Determination of Incompetency. If it shall appear to the chairperson of the Hearing Panel that there is reasonable cause to believe that the respondent attorney is incapable of conducting a proper defense to the formal complaint against him, the chairperson of the Panel shall fix a time and place for a hearing before the Panel on the sole issue of the respondent attorney's mental capacity to defend the formal complaint against him or her. It shall be the duty of the chairperson of the Panel to appoint a member of the Association as guardian ad litem for the respondent attorney in the proceeding in this subsection provided, should the respondent attorney not have counsel of his or her own choosing.

(c) Procedure After Determination by Panel. If it shall be determined by the Panel that said respondent attorney is mentally capable of conducting a proper defense, the proceeding shall continue. If, however, it shall be determined by the Panel that the respondent attorney is not mentally capable of conducting a proper defense, the panel shall prepare its findings of fact to that effect, shall suspend further proceedings and transmit the entire record to the Board.

(d) Action by Board. If the decision of the Panel after the hearing provided herein, is that the respondent attorney is incapable of conducting a proper defense to the formal complaint against him or her the evidence relating thereto shall be filed with the Board. If the Board does not concur in the findings of the Panel, the Panel shall continue in accordance with the Rules. If such Board concurs in the decision of the Panel, the Board shall enter an order transferring the respondent attorney to inactive status. The effective date of such order and appellate procedures shall be as provided in Rule 4.1(b)(1).

(e) Proceedings After Transfer to Inactive Status. When it shall appear to the Board, upon application made by or on behalf of the respondent attorney or by bar counsel, and pursuant to the procedures set out in Rule 4.2, that such attorney is now mentally capable of conducting a proper defense to the formal complaint in question, the Board shall appoint a Hearing Panel. Thereafter a hearing on the formal complaint and proceedings thereunder shall be had as is provided by these rules in other cases. If the Board concludes the charge or charges in the formal complaint have not been sustained or, having been sustained, do not warrant suspension or disbarment, the respondent attorney shall thereupon be restored to the roll of active members of the Association. (h) Record to Supreme Court. If a censure or reprimand is not accepted, or if the recommendation of the Board is that respondent attorney be suspended or disbarred, the record shall be transmitted to the Supreme Court. Provided however, if the Board suspends further proceedings in a matter pursuant to Rule 5.6(i), notice of such action shall be sent to the Supreme Court where it shall remain confidential unless such suspension is later revoked pursuant to Rule 5.6(j).

(i) Suspension of Proceedings.

(1) Where the Board has acted upon the findings, conclusions and recommendations of a hearing panel and has itself recommended the suspension of the respondent attorney from the practice of law, it may, in its discretion and for a period of not to exceed 3 years, stay or suspend all further proceedings in the matter until otherwise ordered by said board, upon such terms as the Board may determine, provided said attorney stipulates in writing to such stay and to the terms and conditions thereof within 15 days of the service upon such attorney of said proposed order of suspension. If said attorney does not so stipulate, then the proposed stay shall be null and void and the record in the matter shall be transmitted to the Supreme Court for action by the court. As a condition to the suspension of further proceedings, said Board may order the respondent attorney to pay all costs and expenses of the proceedings pursuant to Rule 7.1, to make restitution to any person who may have suffered loss or damage by reason of the disciplinary violations in question, to report periodically to, or to permit periodic inspections of the attorney's trust account and the like by, a probation officer designated by said Board under conditions specified by said Board, may order respondent attorney to submit to specified treatment for alcoholism, drug addiction, or emotional disturbance, and may order such other conditions as said Board deems appropriate to assist in the rehabilitation of the respondent attorney. For this purpose, any active member of the Association so designated by said Board may act as the respondent attorney's probation officer.

(2) When and if the respondent attorney has, in the opinion of the Board, satisfactorily completed his or her period of probation, the file on the disciplinary charges in question against said attorney shall be closed, subject, however, to being considered in connection with Rule

10.1, and in connection with any subsequent disciplinary offense as provided in Rule 3.1(b).

(j) Revocation of Suspension. The Board may, at any time for good cause shown, revoke its suspension of further proceedings against the respondent attorney and transmit the entire record to the Supreme Court for action by it as provided in Rule 5.6, provided that such revocation may not be ordered after expiration of the period for which further proceedings were suspended. Before ordering revocation said Board shall cause an order to show cause why its suspension of further proceedings should not be revoked, signed by the chairperson of the Board or by State Bar Counsel, to be served on the respondent attorney as provided in Rule 3.1(f) notifying him of a hearing before said Board no less than 5 days nor more than 30 days after the date of such service upon him upon the issue of the revocation of said Board's suspension of further proceedings against the respondent attorney. Following such hearing, if said Board orders revocation, it shall make written findings of fact upon the matter involved in said revocation hearing, conclusions of law and an order of revocation, which shall be signed by the chairperson of said Board and transmitted to the Supreme Court along with said entire record.

(k) Chairperson Not Disqualified. Neither the chairperson of the Board nor a member or members of the Board who also served on a Hearing Panel are, by virtue of that office or service, disqualified from participating in the discussion before the Board of that Panel's findings and recommendations or from participating in that Board's vote on the matter.

(l) Information to Local Administrative Committee. Upon referral to a Panel, a final disposition of a complaint by the Board or upon recommendation to the Supreme Court by the Board of disbarment or suspension, or upon a suspension of proceedings pursuant to Rule 5.6(i), notice of the action taken shall be given by the Board to the chairperson of the Local Administrative Committee which investigated the complaint.

(m) Information to Complainant. The complainant in all cases shall be advised by the Board of the final disposition of the complaint.

(n) Information to Members of Panel. Notice of the action taken by the Board on matters considered by a Panel shall be given to all members of the Hearing Panel. [Adopted January 21, 1975, effective February 3, 1975.]

Rule 7.1 Costs and expenses. In all cases resulting in the administration of censure, reprimand, suspension or disbarment, or suspension of proceedings pursuant to Rule 5.6(i), counsel for the Association shall serve upon the respondent attorney and file in the office of the Association his or her verified statement of costs and expenses for the disciplinary proceedings to the time the Board makes its recommendation.

(a) Costs and Expenses Defined. The term "costs" is defined to be all sums so taxable in a civil proceeding. The term "expenses" is defined as all other obligations in money reasonably and necessarily incurred by the Association in the complete performance of its duties under these rules. Expenses shall include, by way of illustration and not of limitation, necessary expenses of Panel members, Bar Counsel, charges of expert witnesses, charges of court reporters, expenses incurred in carrying out the terms of an order suspending further proceedings pursuant to Rule 5.6(i), a reasonable attorney's fee, expenses incurred pursuant to Title 13, as well as all other direct provable expenses of the office of the Association. The Board shall recommend a reasonable attorney's fee, which fee shall not exceed the actual cost to the Association for its legal representation in the matter. The Board may waive payment of any or all costs and expenses if it deems such waiver to be in the interests of justice.

(b) Statement of Costs and Expenses. In all cases in which the Board determines that a censure or reprimand should be administered, the said statement of costs and expenses shall be served on the respondent attorney at the time he or she is notified of the proposed censure or reprimand, together with a statement by said Board as to the amount of said costs and expenses which it, in its discretion, deems just to assess against said respondent attorney, and if the respondent attorney accepts the censure or reprimand, the amount thereof as so determined by the Board shall be paid in accordance with Rule 7.1(e). If the respondent attorney refuses to accept the censure or reprimand, or excepts to the statement of costs and expenses, the statement of costs and expenses together with the Board's statement as to the amount thereof assessed by it against the respondent attorney, shall be made a part of the record sent to the Supreme Court, together with any exceptions thereto by the respondent attorney, which exceptions shall be filed within 10 days after the service of the statement of costs and expenses upon the respondent attorney. A verified statement of any additional costs and expenses to the Association occasioned by the proceeding in the Supreme Court shall be served upon the respondent attorney and filed with the Clerk of the Supreme Court within 10 days after the hearing in that court, and the respondent attorney shall have 10 days after such service within which to file exceptions thereto.

(c) Assessment by Supreme Court. If the Supreme Court directs such censure or reprimand, it shall, in its judgment, fix the amount of the costs and expenses to be paid by the respondent attorney as it shall deem just, together with the terms and conditions of the payment thereof.

(d) Assessment Upon Suspension or Disbarment. In all cases in which the Board recommends suspension or disbarment, the said statement of costs and expenses together with a statement by said board as to the amount of said costs and expenses which it, in its discretion, deems just to assess against said respondent attorney shall be served on the respondent attorney at the time he is notified of the recommendation of the Board, and it shall be made a part of the record sent to the Clerk of the Supreme Court, together with any exceptions thereto by the respondent attorney, which exceptions shall be filed within 10 days after the service of the statement of costs and expenses upon the respondent attorney.

(e) Payment of Costs and Expenses. In all cases of censure or reprimand, the respondent attorney shall pay the assessed costs and expenses within 30 days or such other longer period of time as is determined by the Board under Rule 7.1(b) or Rule 7.1(c). Should the respondent attorney fail to pay the costs and expenses as herein provided, such failure shall be grounds for suspension and the Association may move the Supreme Court for an order suspending said attorney from the practice of law until said costs and expenses are paid.

(f) Assessment Upon Dismissal of Charges. In all cases in which the Board dismisses the charges against a respondent attorney following a hearing upon the charges, the Board shall fix the amount of said attorney's costs and expenses which the Board, in its discretion, deems just to assess against the Association, which sum shall be paid by the Association within 30 days of the entry of such order. [Amended April 25, 1978, effective May 15, 1978; adopted January 21, 1975, effective February 3, 1975.]

(b) Exceptions. The parties shall have 10 days after such service within which to file exceptions thereto.

(c) Determination of Costs. The judgment of the Supreme Court, in any such disciplinary proceedings, shall fix the amount of the costs and expenses to be paid by the parties as it shall deem just. [Adopted January 21, 1975, effective February 3, 1975.]

Rule 9.1 Suspension for conviction of a felony.

(a) Suspension Automatic. An attorney shall be automatically suspended from the practice of law upon his conviction of a felony under either state or federal law, whether such conviction be after a plea of guilty, nolo contendere, not guilty, or otherwise, and regardless of the pendency of an appeal, and upon the filing of a certified copy of such conviction with the Supreme Court. Provided, however, that the Board may recommend to the Supreme Court for final disposition the prevention or termination of the suspension if such Board affirmatively finds that moral turpitude was not in fact an element of the crime of which the attorney was convicted, or if the Board affirmatively finds that there is other good cause for preventing or terminating such suspension. Suspension in this manner shall not be a substitute or alternative for disciplinary proceedings against said attorney, but such proceedings shall be commenced by the Board upon said conviction, or prior thereto if reasonable cause therefor exists, and shall proceed without regard to said suspension.

(b) Duration of Suspension. When an attorney is suspended upon conviction of a felony as provided in this rule the duration of such suspension shall not exceed final disposition of the disciplinary proceedings commenced against said attorney. When the disciplinary proceedings are fully completed, after appeal or otherwise, the suspension occurring in this manner shall end and such disciplinary action as then occurs shall commence.

(c) Petition for Reinstatement. A petition for reinstatement after automatic suspension for conviction of a felony pending completion of disciplinary proceedings shall be in writing and verified by the petitioner and filed with the Board. The petition shall set forth the age, residence and address of the petitioner, the date of the conviction, and a concise statement of facts claimed to justify reinstatement pending completion of the disciplinary proceedings. The petition shall be accompanied by the application for admission and the total fees required of an attorney applicant under the Admission to Practice Rules.

(d) Investigation. In its discretion the Board may refer the petition for reinstatement for investigation and report to the proper Local Administrative Committee, State Bar Counsel, or to such other person or persons as may be determined by the Board.

(e) Notice of Hearing. The Board shall fix a time and place for hearing of the petition by the Board and shall serve notice thereof 10 days prior to the hearing upon the petitioner and upon such persons as may be ordered by such Board.

(f) Requirements and Procedures. Such petition for reinstatement shall be recommended to the Supreme Court only upon affirmative showing to the satisfaction of the Board that the petitioner possesses the qualifications and meets the requirements as set forth in Rule 3B of the Admission to Practice Rules, excepting subsections 6, 7, 8 and 9 thereof, and that his or her reinstatement will not be detrimental to the integrity and standing of the Bar and the administration of justice, or be contrary to the public interest.

(g) Granting or Denial of the Petition by the Supreme Court. The Board shall keep a record of the hearing upon the petition for reinstatement and shall make and file its findings, conclusions and recommendation thereon with the Supreme Court for final disposition. [Adopted January 21, 1975, effective February 3, 1975.]

Rule 9.2 Suspension during pendency of disciplinary proceedings.

(a) Court May Suspend. At any time after institution of a disciplinary proceeding under Rule 3.1, where it appears that a continuation of the practice of law by the attorney during the pendency of the disciplinary proceedings will result in substantial risk of injury to the public, the Association, on recommendation of the Board (with no more than two members dissenting,) may petition the Supreme Court for an order suspending the respondent attorney during the pendency of the disciplinary proceedings. If the court, finds a continuation of practice by the attorney will result in substantial risk of injury to the public, it may enter an order suspending such attorney from the practice of law. Such suspension shall not continue beyond the conclusion of the disciplinary proceedings.

(b) Petition and Notice to Answer. The petition to the Supreme Court under this rule shall set forth the acts or omissions of the respondent attorney contained in the pending complaint, together with such other facts as may constitute grounds for suspension pending disciplinary proceedings. The petition may be supported by documents or affidavits. An order to show cause to be signed by the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court shall be issued thereon requiring the respondent attorney to be and appear before the Supreme Court on that court's first motion day following the expiration of 7 calendar days after the date on which such show cause order was signed, or on such other date as the Chief Justice may set, then and there to show cause why the prayer of the Petition for Suspension Pending Disciplinary Proceedings should not be granted.

(c) Service. Service of the petition and order to show cause shall be by service of a certified copy of such order to show cause and an uncertified copy of such petition served in the manner provided in Rule 3.1(f)(1) at least 5 calendar days before the scheduled show cause hearing.

(d) Answer to Petition. The answer may contain additional facts relating only to the issue of substantial risk of injury to the public, shall be verified by respondent or respondent's counsel, and may be supported by documents or affidavits. The answer shall be filed with the Clerk of the Supreme Court at least 3 days before the scheduled show cause hearing. For good cause shown, the Chief Justice may extend the time for answer.

(e) Service of Answer. Two copies of the answer shall be served on the Washington State Bar Association within the time specified in Rule 9.2(d) by filing in the office of the Association.

(c) Notice of Disciplinary Action Taken.

(1) If an attorney is permitted to resign during the pendency of disciplinary hearings, or upon suspension or disbarment, the fact of such resignation, suspension or disbarment with the attorney's name shall be published in the Washington State Bar News.

(3) Notice of all reprimands administered by the Board of Governors, including the attorney's name, shall be published in the Washington State Bar News, unless the Board specifically provides otherwise.

(4) The Board of Governors may authorize publication in the Washington State Bar News of any final action taken by the Board since the last such publication, provided that the name of the respondent attorney shall be withheld as to all disciplinary matters which were dismissed, or where no disciplinary action was taken, or where a letter of admonition or censure was given (subject to Rule 11.7(c)(2)).

(d) Disciplinary Record. The disciplinary record of any attorney shall consist of a brief summary of any complaint made against him or her and the disposition or status thereof. Information with reference thereto may be released by the Association:

(1) When specifically authorized by these rules; or

(2) When requested in writing by the attorney; or

(3) When requested by the chairperson of a Local Administrative Committee who is investigating a complaint against the attorney; or

(4) When directed by the Board of Governors in the public interest; or

(5) When directed by the Supreme Court.

(e) Contempt. Disclosure, except as herein provided, of any matter made confidential by these rules by any person whomsoever, shall subject such person to a proceeding as for contempt. Introductory Comment: A comment prepared by the Judicial Council Task Force on Evidence appears after each rule. If the rule is identical to the corresponding rule in the Federal Rules of Evidence, no effort is made to reiterate the Advisory Committee's Note to the federal rule. That information is readily available in works such as Weinstein's Evidence (Matthew Bender, 1975), Wright & Graham, Federal Practice and Procedure: Evidence (West, 1977), Moore's Federal Practice (Matthew Bender, 1976), and Louisell & Mueller, Federal Evidence (Bancroft-Whitney, 1978). The rules are also discussed in J. Powell & R. Burns, A Discussion of the New Federal Rules of Evidence, 8 Gonz. L. Rev. 1 (1972).

The comments here focus on the intent of the drafters with respect to prior Washington law and on the reasons for departures from the federal rules. In these comments, the word "drafters" refers only to the Washington Judicial Council and its Task Force on Evidence. It does not refer to Congress, the Washington State Supreme Court, or to any other judicial or legislative body.

The rules do not purport to codify constitutional law. The application of a rule may be subject to constitutional restrictions or limitations which are not defined in the rule. See, for example, the comments to Rules 104, 105, and 804.

ARTICLE I. GENERAL PROVISIONS.

- Rule
- 101 Scope.
 - 102 Purpose and construction.
 - 103 Rulings on evidence.
 - (a) Effect of erroneous ruling.
 - (b) Record of offer and ruling.
 - (c) Hearing of jury.
 - (d) Errors raised for the first time on review [Reserved].
 - 104 Preliminary questions.
 - (a) Questions of admissibility generally.
 - (b) Relevancy conditioned on fact.
 - (c) Hearing of jury.
 - (d) Testimony by accused.
 - (e) Weight and credibility.
 - 105 Limited admissibility.
 - 106 Remainder of or related writings or recorded statements.

Rule 101 Scope. These rules govern proceedings in the courts of the state of Washington to the extent and with the exceptions stated in Rule 1101. [Adopted December 19, 1978, effective April 2, 1979.]

Comment: Rule 1101 specifies in more detail the courts, proceedings, questions, and stages of proceedings to which the rules apply.

Rule 102 Purpose and construction. These rules shall be construed to secure fairness in administration, elimination of unjustifiable expense and delay, and promotion of growth and development of the law of evidence to the end that the truth may be ascertained and proceedings justly determined. [Adopted December 19, 1978, effective April 2, 1979.]

Comment: The rule is the same as Federal Rule 102. This generalized statement of purpose is comparable to CR 1, CrR 1.2, and RAP 1.2. The Rules of Evidence, like other court rules, give the judge the authority to interpret the rules in a way which avoids an unjust result. See Petrarca v. Halligan, 83 Wn.2d 773, 522 P.2d 827 (1974).

"Following the rules is not an end in itself. Rather, the rules are carefully designed to enable judges, lawyers, litigants, and juries to achieve sound results. . . . Rule 102 recognizes the responsibility judges bear by enumerating goals which cannot be achieved mechanically, and which will compete with another at times." 10 Moore's Federal Practice § 102.02 (1976). See also United States v. Jackson, 405 F. Supp. 938 (1975).

This approach implies a considerable grant of discretion to the trial judge in situations not explicitly covered by the rules which may require differentiated treatment in the light of special factors. 1 Weinstein's Evidence § 102[01] (1975). The rules place a burden on the lawyer to explain his position and the reasons for it at the trial level. It also places heavy burdens on the trial judge. Id.

"Judges should indicate which factors are significant and which goals paramount in a particular case and why, so that members of the Bar can adjust to changing nuances in the law in advising their clients and in conducting litigations. This process of accommodation to change will itself promote desirable change while preserving the sound fundamentals of the law of evidence." Id.

Rule 103 Rulings on evidence.

(a) Effect of Erroneous Ruling. Error may not be predicated upon a ruling which admits or excludes evidence unless a substantial right of the party is affected, and

(1) Objection. In case the ruling is one admitting evidence, a timely objection or motion to strike is made, stating the specific ground of objection, if the specific ground was not apparent from the context; or

(2) Offer of Proof. In case the ruling is one excluding evidence, the substance of the evidence was made known to the court by offer or was apparent from the context within which questions were asked.

(b) Record of Offer and Ruling. The court may add any other or further statement which shows the character of the evidence, the form in which it was offered, the objection made, and the ruling thereon. The court may direct the making of an offer in question and answer form.

(c) Hearing of Jury. In jury cases, proceedings shall be conducted, to the extent practicable, so as to prevent inadmissible evidence from being suggested to the jury by any means, such as making statements or offers of proof or asking questions in the hearing of the jury.

(d) Errors Raised for the First Time on Review. [Reserved—See RAP 2.5(a).] [Adopted December 19, 1978, effective April 2, 1979.]

Comment: Section (a). This section is the same as Federal Rule 103(a), except that the words "is made" are substituted for "appears of record" in subsection (a)(1). This change is necessary because the rules are applicable to courts, such as District Courts, where testimony and argument are not recorded. Section (a) is consistent with prior Washington law. Harmless evidentiary errors are disregarded. Primm v. Wockner, 56 Wn.2d 215, 351 P.2d 933 (1960). A timely objection or motion to strike is ordinarily necessary to seek appellate review of the admission of evidence. State v. James, 63 Wn.2d 71, 385 P.2d 558 (1963). In order to obtain appellate review of the exclusion of evidence, an offer of proof must be made which fairly advises the trial court whether the evidence is admissible. Northern State Construction v. Robbins, 76 Wn.2d 357, 457 P.2d 187 (1969). The procedure for objecting is defined by CR 46 and CrR 8.7.

Section (b). This section is the same as Federal Rule 103(b) except that the word "It" in the second sentence is changed to "The court" to improve readability. As a practical matter, the section is consistent with prior Washington law. The previous Washington rule, CR 43(c), provided that the court's statements about the character of the evidence had to be made in the absence of the jury. Although this mandatory provision is not found in Rule 103, section (c) encourages the statements to be made in the absence of the jury, and this procedure would ordinarily be required in order to conform to the state constitutional prohibition against a judge commenting on the evidence. Wash. Const. art. 4, § 16.

Section (c). This section is the same as Federal Rule 103(c) and differs slightly from prior Washington law. The previous rule, CR 43(c), distinguishes between offers of proof and statements by the court. Under that rule, the court could, in its discretion, direct that an offer of proof be made in the absence of the jury, but a statement by the court as to the character of the evidence had to be made in the absence of the jury. Under Rule 103(c), inadmissible evidence is to be kept from the jury "to the extent practicable."

The court's discretion under Rule 103(c) must be exercised cautiously in light of the state constitutional prohibition against a judge commenting on the evidence. Wash. Const. art. 4, § 16.

Section (d). Federal Rule 103(d), Plain error, is deleted. The Washington Supreme Court recently codified the extent to which an error may be asserted for the first time in an appellate court. See RAP 2.5(a). Rule 103(d) defers to the Rules of Appellate Procedure and the decisions construing them.

To be distinguished is the extent to which counsel may acquiesce in a trial court ruling and then move for a new trial on the ground that the ruling was in error. That determination is made by reference not to the appellate rules but to the rules of civil and criminal procedure and decisional law. See, e.g., CR 46; CrR 8.7; Sherman v. Mobbs, 55 Wn.2d 202, 347 P.2d 189 (1959).

Rule 104 Preliminary questions.

(a) Questions of Admissibility Generally. Preliminary questions concerning the qualification of a person to be a witness, the existence of a privilege, or the admissibility of evidence shall be determined by the court, subject to the provisions of section (b). In making its determination it is not bound by the rules of evidence except those with respect to privileges.

(b) Relevancy Conditioned on Fact. When the relevancy of evidence depends upon the fulfillment of a condition of fact, the court shall admit it upon, or subject to, the introduction of evidence sufficient to support a finding of the fulfillment of the condition.

(c) Hearing of Jury. Hearings on the admissibility of confessions shall in all cases be conducted out of the hearing of the jury. Hearings on other preliminary matters shall be so conducted when the interests of justice require or, when an accused is a witness, if he so requests.

(d) Testimony by Accused. The accused does not, by testifying upon a preliminary matter, subject himself to cross-examination as to other issues in the case.

(e) Weight and Credibility. This rule does not limit the right of a party to introduce before the jury evidence relevant to weight or credibility. [Adopted December 19, 1978, effective April 2, 1979.]

Comment: Section (a). This section is the same as Federal Rule 104(a) and is consistent with prior Washington law. See RCW 4.44-.080. The statute does not expressly say, as the rule does, that preliminary determinations are not subject to the rules of evidence, but this is the generally prevailing view. The civil and criminal rules for superior court, for example, authorize many preliminary determinations to be made on the basis of affidavits. See, e.g., CR 43(e) and CrR 2.3(c). The law with respect to privileged communications does apply to preliminary determinations. See also Rule 1101. Thus, a privilege may not be violated even in a preliminary hearing to determine whether the privilege exists.

The proceedings to which the rules of evidence do, and do not, apply are discussed in more detail in the comment to Rule 1101.

Section (b). This section is the same as Federal Rule 104(b) and defines a procedure for handling the situation in which a party wishes to prove Fact A, but Fact A is relevant only if Fact B is established. The order of proof under this rule, as generally, is determined by the judge. Rule 611. The court, in its discretion, may decide whether to hear evidence of Fact A or B first, taking into account the relative prejudice of having the jury hear one rather than the other if the proponent fails to offer evidence of one of them sufficient to warrant a finding of its truth. Because of this danger of prejudice, the rule should be used with caution, especially in criminal cases.

The rule is substantially in accord with previous Washington law. See State v. Whetstone, 30 Wn.2d 301, 191 P.2d 818 (1948); 5 R. Meisenholder, Wash. Prac. § 1 (1965 & Supp.).

Section (c). This section is the same as Federal Rule 104(c). In a criminal case, a hearing on the admissibility of a confession is constitutionally required to be conducted in the absence of the jury. Jackson v. Denno, 378 U.S. 368 (1964). The rule further provides that the accused, as a witness, is entitled on request to have any preliminary hearing conducted in the absence of the jury. In other situations, and in civil cases, the judge has discretion to decide whether the interests of justice require preliminary matters to be considered in the absence of the jury. Accord, Gilcher v. Seattle Elec. Co., 82 Wash. 414, 144 P. 530 (1914).

Section (d). This section is the same as Federal Rule 104(d) and is consistent with prior Washington law. It is designed to encourage participation by the accused in the determination of preliminary matter. Portions of the subject matter of Rule 104 are covered in superior court by CrR 3.5(b), a more detailed rule. CrR 3.5 is not superseded by Rule 104. The rules are not in conflict, and both apply in superior court. Neither rule prevents cross-examination of the accused as to credibility at a preliminary hearing. See Weinstein's Evidence § 104[10] (1975).

Rule 104 does not address itself to questions of the subsequent use of testimony given by an accused at a preliminary hearing. See Walder v. United States, 347 U.S. 62 (1954); Simmons v. United States, 390 U.S. 377 (1968); Harris v. New York, 401 U.S. 222 (1971). In superior court, CrR 3.5(b) restricts the use of preliminary testimony in some respects.

Section (e). This section is the same as Federal Rule 104(e) and is consistent with prior Washington law. See CrR 3.5, discussed above.

Rule 105 Limited admissibility. When evidence which is admissible as to one party or for one purpose but not admissible as to another party or for another purpose is admitted, the court, upon request, shall restrict the evidence to its proper scope and instruct the jury accordingly. [Adopted December 19, 1978, effective April 2, 1979.]

Comment: This rule is the same as Federal Rule 105 and should be read together with Rule 403, which provides that evidence may be excluded, although relevant, if its probative value is substantially outweighed by the danger of unfair prejudice, confusion of the issues, undue delay, or the like. These rules are consistent with prior Washington law. See State v. Stevenson, 16 Wn. App. 341, 555 P.2d 1004 (1976) and State v. Goebel, 36 Wn.2d 367, 218 P.2d 300 (1950).

The rules neither imply that limiting instructions are sufficient in all situations nor restrict the court's authority to order a severance in a multidefendant case. The availability and effectiveness of these practices must be taken into consideration in deciding whether to exclude evidence under Rule 403. In Bruton v. United States, 389 U.S. 818 (1968), the court ruled that a limiting instruction did not effectively protect the accused against the prejudicial effect of admitting in evidence the confession of a codefendant which implicated him.

Rule 106 Remainder of or related writings or recorded statements. When a writing or recorded statement or part thereof is introduced by a party, an adverse party may require the party at that time to introduce any other part, or any other writing or recorded statement, which ought in fairness to be considered contemporaneously with it. [Adopted December 19, 1978, effective April 2, 1979.]

Comment: This rule is substantially the same as Federal Rule 106. In the Washington rule, commas were added between the words "part" and "or" and between "statement" and "which". The added punctuation insures that the phrase "which ought in fairness" is read as modifying all of the nouns ("part . . . writing . . . statement") which precede it. The word "him" has been changed to "the party".

Existing Washington rules, CR 32(b) and 33(b), provide that the rules of evidence apply with respect to the admission of depositions and interrogatories. The drafters of Federal Rule 106 considered a number of suggestions to include language in the rule indicating that the other rules of evidence apply. The language was not included in the final draft, not because the other rules did not apply, but because the drafters thought such a provision would be surplusage. Weinstein's Evidence, § 106[01] (1975). Thus, the rules of evidence apply to the admission of any additional evidence under Rule 106, and irrelevant portions of documents remain inadmissible under this rule.

ARTICLE II. JUDICIAL NOTICE.

Rule

- 201 Judicial notice of adjudicative facts.
- (a) Scope of rule.
 - (b) Kinds of facts.
 - (c) When discretionary.
 - (d) When mandatory.
 - (e) Opportunity to be heard.
 - (f) Time of taking notice.

Rule 201 Judicial notice of adjudicative facts.

(a) Scope of Rule. This rule governs only judicial notice of adjudicative facts.

(b) Kinds of Facts. A judicially noticed fact must be one not subject to reasonable dispute in that it is either (1) generally known within the territorial jurisdiction of the trial court or (2) capable of accurate and ready determination by resort to sources whose accuracy cannot reasonably be questioned.

(c) When Discretionary. A court may take judicial notice, whether requested or not.

(d) When Mandatory. A court shall take judicial notice if requested by a party and supplied with the necessary information.

(e) Opportunity To Be Heard. A party is entitled upon timely request to an opportunity to be heard as to the propriety of taking judicial notice and the tenor of the matter noticed. In the absence of prior notification, the request may be made after judicial notice has been taken.

(f) Time of Taking Notice. Judicial notice may be taken at any stage of the proceeding. [Adopted December 19, 1978, effective April 2, 1979.]

Comment: The rule is the same as Federal Rule 201(a) through (f). Federal Rule 201(g), Instructing jury, is deleted.

Prior Washington law has not offered a comprehensive theory of judicial notice. 5 R. Meisenholder, Wash. Prac. § 591 (1965 & Supp.) (hereinafter cited Meisenholder). Rule 201 establishes a coherent theoretical basis for the taking of judicial notice of adjudicative facts.

Section (a). The rule applies only to judicial notice of "adjudicative facts" as distinguished from "legislative facts". An adjudicative fact is the "what-happened", "who-did-what-and-when" kind of question that normally goes to a jury. It seems reasonable to require, as the rule does, that a judicially noticed adjudicative fact must be one not subject to reasonable dispute. Legislative facts are those a court takes into account in determining the constitutionality or interpretation of a statute or the extension or restriction of a common-law rule upon grounds of policy. They will often hinge on social, economic, or political facts not generally known by intelligent people or readily determinable by resort to sources of unquestioned accuracy. See 2 K. Davis, Administrative Law Treatise 353 (1958). Section (a) excludes legislative facts from the operation of the rule.

The determination of foreign law is governed by CR 44.1 and RCW 5.24.

Section (b). This section requires that a judicially noticed fact must not be subject to reasonable dispute and that it must be either generally known in the area or readily found in noncontroversial references.

For purposes of judicial notice, no distinction between adjudicative and legislative facts has been recognized in prior Washington law. Washington opinions have stated that courts may take judicial notice of facts which are within the common knowledge of the community and facts which are capable of certain verification by reference to competent authoritative sources. Rogstad v. Rogstad, 74 Wn.2d 736, 446 P.2d 340 (1968). See Meisenholder § 592, 593. This is consistent with Rule 201(b) and adoption of the rule does little to change the kinds of adjudicative facts which may be judicially noticed in Washington. Judicial notice of legislative facts continues to be governed by previous Washington law.

Sections (c) and (d). Under section (c), the court has discretionary authority to take judicial notice, regardless of whether it is requested by a party. The taking of judicial notice is mandatory under section (d) only when a party requests it and the necessary information is supplied. No procedure is specified to determine what types of information may be considered, and from what sources; nor is the process of evaluation defined. These matters are, however, often defined by statute.

A number of statutes require the taking of judicial notice in specific instances. See, for example, RCW 4.36.090 (private statutes); RCW 4.36.110 (any ordinance of a city or town in Washington); RCW

5.24.010 (constitution, common law, and statutes of every state, territory, and other jurisdiction of the United States); RCW 28B.19.070 (rules for higher education); RCW 34.04.050(6) (rules of state agencies); RCW 35.03.050 (certain city charters); RCW 35.06.070 (existence of incorporated cities); RCW 35.22.110 (charters of first class cities); RCW 35A.08.120 (certain city charters); RCW 49.48.040 (seal of the Department of Labor and Industries of the State of Washington); RCW 49.60.080 (seal of state board against discrimination); RCW 50.12.010 (seal of the employment security commissioner); RCW 51.52.010 (seal of the board of industrial insurance appeals); and RCW 61.12.060 (economic conditions—discretionary with court).

The statutes cited are not in conflict with Rule 201 and are not superseded. To the extent that a statute applies to legislative facts, the rule does not apply at all. To the extent that a statute applies to adjudicative facts, the statute states a more specific requirement than the more general process of broad applicability defined in the rule.

As a general rule, a court may take judicial notice of court records in the same case, but not records of a different case. This rule and certain exceptions are discussed in Meisenholder § 594.

Section (e). Basic considerations of procedural fairness require an opportunity to be heard on the propriety of taking judicial notice and the tenor of the matter noticed. The rule provides this opportunity on request. If a party has received no prior notification that judicial notice will be taken, a request to be heard may be made after judicial notice has been taken. No formal procedure for giving notice is defined.

There has been no prior Washington authority for the proposition stated in Rule 201(e), but an opportunity to be heard may often have been accorded as a matter of practice. Meisenholder § 597.

Section (f). Section (f) appears to be consistent with prior Washington law. There are no decisions authorizing any particular practices or procedures for raising questions of whether particular facts should be judicially noticed. However, it seems beyond dispute that judicial notice may, under appropriate circumstances, be taken by appellate courts. See Meisenholder § 596.

Federal Rule 201(g), Instructing jury, is deleted. That rule provides:

(g) Instructing jury. In a civil action or proceeding, the court shall instruct the jury to accept as conclusive any fact judicially noticed. In a criminal case, the court shall instruct the jury that it may, but is not required to, accept as conclusive any fact judicially noticed.

Article IV, Section 16 of the Washington Constitution prohibits the court from charging the jury with respect to disputed matters of fact. See Hansen v. Wightman, 14 Wn. App. 78, 538 P.2d 1283 (1975) for a recent discussion of this provision. The drafters of the Washington rules felt that a literal application of the federal rule may be unconstitutional in some circumstances. The state of Nevada, in promulgating rules of evidence based on the federal rules, felt bound by a similar provision in its constitution to omit Federal Rule 201(g).

The drafters of the Washington rules felt that the court must be given more discretion, both with respect to whether to receive evidence contrary to a judicially noticed fact, and with respect to the manner of instructing the jury. Recognizing the difficulty of codifying a procedure which would be constitutional in every case, the drafters felt that the constitutional requirement would be better served by deleting the rule and permitting the courts to fashion a constitutional procedure on a case-by-case basis.

ARTICLE III. PRESUMPTIONS IN CIVIL ACTIONS AND PROCEEDINGS.

Rule

- 301 Presumptions in general in civil actions and proceedings [Reserved].
302 Applicability of state law in civil actions and proceedings [Reserved].

Rule 301 Presumptions in general in civil actions and proceedings [Reserved].

Comment: An earlier draft proposed by the task force and tentatively approved by the Judicial Council included Rule 301, titled Presumptions in General in Civil Actions and Proceedings. The proposed rule was the same as Federal Rule 301 and read as follows:

In all civil actions and proceedings not otherwise provided for by statute or by these rules, a presumption imposes on the party against whom it is directed the burden of going forward with evidence to rebut or meet the presumption, but does not shift to such party the burden of proof in the sense of the risk of nonpersuasion, which remains throughout the trial upon the party on whom it was originally cast.

On reconsideration, the Judicial Council decided to delete the proposed rule from its draft. This decision was based primarily on the fact that the federal courts have not yet developed a uniform practice under the rule, and that we would, in effect, be adopting a rule without knowing its intended application in practice. The Council was particularly concerned about the rule's effect upon "enhanced" presumptions which can be overcome only by clear, cogent, and convincing evidence. The commentators do not agree upon the intended effect of the federal rule in this regard. Some Judicial Council members also expressed the belief that presumptions were beyond the Supreme Court's rulemaking authority.

The Judicial Council recommends that this rule be reserved, and that it be the subject of further study.

Rule 302 Applicability of state law in civil actions and proceedings [Reserved].

Comment: The drafters of the Washington rules deleted Federal Rule 302, Applicability of State Law in Civil Actions and Proceedings. That rule would not apply to proceedings in a state court. The converse of Federal Rule 302—the extent to which federal law applies in state court—is determined by reference to the law of preemption and would not appropriately be defined by a state court rule.

ARTICLE IV. RELEVANCY AND ITS LIMITS.

Rule

- 401 Definition of "Relevant Evidence".
402 Relevant evidence generally admissible; irrelevant evidence inadmissible.
403 Exclusion of relevant evidence on grounds of prejudice, confusion, or waste of time.
404 Character evidence not admissible to prove conduct; exceptions; other crimes.
(a) Character evidence generally.
(b) Other crimes, wrongs, or acts.
405 Methods of proving character.
(a) Reputation.
(b) Specific instances of conduct.
406 Habit; routine practice.
407 Subsequent remedial measures.
408 Compromise and offers to compromise.
409 Payment of medical and similar expenses.
410 Inadmissibility of pleas, offers of pleas, and related statements.
411 Liability insurance.

Rule 401 Definition of "Relevant Evidence". "Relevant evidence" means evidence having any tendency to make the existence of any fact that is of consequence to the determination of the action more probable or less probable than it would be without the evidence. [Adopted December 19, 1978, effective April 2, 1979.]

Comment: Rule 401 is the same as Federal Rule 401. Although the terminology in some decisions differs from that of the rule, the Washington view of relevancy remains substantially unaltered by Rule 401. See 5 R. Meisenholder, Wash. Prac. § 1 (1965 & Supp.).

Rule 402 Relevant evidence generally admissible; irrelevant evidence inadmissible. All relevant evidence is admissible, except as limited by constitutional requirements or as otherwise provided by statute, by these rules, or by other rules or regulations applicable in the courts of this state. Evidence which is not relevant is not admissible. [Adopted December 19, 1978, effective April 2, 1979.]

Comment: The rule is substantially the same as Federal Rule 402 and is consistent with previous Washington law. See 5 R. Meisenholder, Wash. Prac. § 1 (1965). Federal Rule 402 defers to the United States Constitution and Acts of Congress. Washington Rule 402 defers generally to statutes, regulations, and rules which make relevant evidence inadmissible.

The rule's deference to other codified law making relevant evidence inadmissible applies generally throughout the rules in Article IV. For example, in rape cases, RCW 9.79.150 defines detailed restrictions upon disclosure of the victim's past sexual behavior. The statute prevails over conflicting provisions in Rule 404.

Rule 403 Exclusion of relevant evidence on grounds of prejudice, confusion, or waste of time. Although relevant, evidence may be excluded if its probative value is substantially outweighed by the danger of unfair prejudice, confusion of the issues, or misleading the jury, or by considerations of undue delay, waste of time, or needless presentation of cumulative evidence. [Adopted December 19, 1978, effective April 2, 1979.]

Comment: This rule is the same as Federal Rule 403 and is consistent with previous Washington law. See State v. Stevenson, 16 Wn. App. 341, 555 P.2d 1004 (1976).

It is recognized that certain circumstances call for the exclusion of evidence which is of unquestioned relevance. The rule lists six safeguards by which the trial judge may, in the exercise of discretion, exclude evidence even though it is relevant.

The rule does not specify surprise as a ground of exclusion, following Wigmore's view of the common law. 6 Wigmore § 1849. The Advisory Committee Note to Federal Rule 403 observes that claims of unfair surprise may still be justified in some cases despite procedural requirements of notice and the availability of discovery, but that the granting of a continuance is a more appropriate remedy than exclusion of the evidence.

In deciding whether to exclude evidence on grounds of unfair prejudice, consideration should be given to the probable effectiveness or lack of effectiveness of a limiting instruction. The availability of other means of proof may also be an appropriate factor. These procedural factors may favor admission or exclusion, depending on the circumstances.

Rule 404 Character evidence not admissible to prove conduct; exceptions; other crimes.

(a) Character Evidence Generally. Evidence of a person's character or a trait of his character is not admissible for the purpose of proving that he acted in conformity therewith on a particular occasion, except:

(1) Character of Accused. Evidence of a pertinent trait of his character offered by an accused, or by the prosecution to rebut the same;

(2) Character of Victim. Evidence of a pertinent trait of character of the victim of the crime offered by an accused, or by the prosecution to rebut the same, or evidence of a character trait of peacefulness of the victim offered by the prosecution in a homicide case to rebut evidence that the victim was the first aggressor;

(3) Character of Witness. Evidence of the character of a witness, as provided in Rules 607, 608, and 609.

(b) Other Crimes, Wrongs, or Acts. Evidence of other crimes, wrongs, or acts is not admissible to prove the character of a person in order to show that he acted in conformity therewith. It may, however, be admissible for other purposes, such as proof of motive, opportunity, intent, preparation, plan, knowledge, identity, or absence of mistake or accident. [Adopted December 19, 1978, effective April 2, 1979.]

Comment: This rule is the same as Federal Rule 404 and conforms substantially to previous Washington law.

Section (a). Section (a) deals with the question whether character evidence should be admitted to prove that a person acted in conformity therewith on a particular occasion. This use of character evidence is often called "circumstantial". The basic premise is that circumstantial character evidence is inadmissible unless it falls within one of the three exceptions. Once the admissibility of character evidence in some form is established under this rule, reference must then be made to Rule 405 in order to determine the appropriate method of proof. If the character is that of a witness, Rules 608 and 609 provide methods of proof.

To be distinguished are cases in which a person's character is "in issue". The admissibility of character evidence as proof of a material element is governed by Rule 405, not Rule 404.

Rule 404 does not permit the admission of circumstantial character evidence in civil cases. Under Rules 404 and 405, evidence of character is admissible in a civil case only if the person's character is actually in issue. Previous Washington law is in accord. 5 R. Meisenholder, Wash. Prac. §§ 2, 3 (1965 & Supp.) [hereinafter cited Meisenholder].

Under Rule 404(a)(1), the accused in a criminal case may introduce evidence of his good character. Accord, State v. Arine, 182 Wash. 697, 48 P.2d 249 (1935). The evidence must be directed toward a trait of character which is pertinent to rebut the nature of the charge against the defendant. State v. Schuman, 89 Wash. 9, 153 P. 1084 (1915). A character witness for the accused is limited by Rule 405(a) to testimony as to the reputation of the accused. Neither Rules 404 and 405 nor previous Washington law permit the accused to demonstrate his good character by having a witness testify as to specific instances of good conduct by the accused. 2 Weinstein's Evidence § 405[04] at 405-39 (1976); Meisenholder § 4, at 21 n.7.

If the accused introduces evidence of good character under Rule 404(a)(1), the prosecution may rebut the evidence either by testimony from the prosecutor's own witnesses or by cross-examining the accused's witnesses. 2 Weinstein's Evidence § 404[04] at 404-25 (1976). Rebuttal testimony by the prosecution's witnesses is limited under Rule 405(a) to the reputation of the accused, but the prosecutor may inquire into specific instances of conduct on cross-examination of the witnesses for the accused. Id. at 405-20. Prior Washington law is in accord. Meisenholder § 4, at 22 n.15, and 23 n.20.

Rule 404(a)(2) admits evidence of the character of the victim in a criminal case under certain circumstances. Previous Washington law is substantially in accord with the rule. Where there is an issue of self-defense, the accused may show the victim was the first aggressor by character evidence of the victim's reputation for violent disposition or for using deadly weapons in quarrels or fights. Meisenholder § 4 at 24. Evidence of specific acts or conduct is inadmissible to show the character of the victim, but it may be admissible for the limited purpose of showing whether the accused had a reasonable apprehension of danger from the victim. State v. Walker, 13 Wn. App. 545, 536 P.2d 657 (1975). In rebuttal, the prosecution may show the victim's good character for the pertinent trait, but only after the defendant has attacked that good reputation. Meisenholder § 4 at 25.

In rape cases, RCW 9.79.150 defines detailed restrictions upon disclosure of the victim's past sexual behavior. By the terms of Rule 402, the statute prevails over conflicting provisions in Rule 404. See the comment to Rule 402.

Section (b). Evidence of other crimes, wrongs, or acts is not admissible to prove character as a basis for suggesting that conduct on a particular occasion was in conformity with it. The evidence may, however, be offered for another purpose such as proof of motive or opportunity. The court must determine whether the danger of undue prejudice outweighs the probative value of the evidence, in view of the availability of other means of proof and other factors. Slough & Knightly, Other Vices, Other Crimes, 41 Iowa L. Rev. 325 (1956). Previous Washington law is in accord. See State v. Whalon, 1 Wn. App. 785, 464 P.2d 730 (1970).

The fact that section (b) uses the discretionary word "may" does not confer arbitrary discretion on the trial judge. Whether evidence is admissible under this section is determined by reference to the considerations set forth in Rule 403. Federal Rule 404, Report of the House Committee on the Judiciary. Although the words "crimes, wrongs, or acts" are deliberately imprecise, a number of recent decisions indicate that evidence of this sort should be admitted with extreme caution to avoid prejudice against the defendant, particularly when admitting acts which are not unlawful but which may tend to disparage the defendant. In State v. Draper, 10 Wn. App. 802, 521 P.2d 53 (1974), the court held that in a prosecution for delivery of a controlled substance, it was prejudicial error to admit evidence of a perhaps unusual amount of prescription drugs, lawfully in the defendant's possession. The error may be prejudicial even though the judge has instructed the jury to disregard the evidence of other conduct. State v. Miles, 73 Wn.2d 67, 436 P.2d 198 (1968). These and other decisions are collected and discussed in Meisenholder § 4 (1975 Supp.).

Rule 405 Methods of proving character.

(a) Reputation. In all cases in which evidence of character or a trait of character of a person is admissible, proof may be made by testimony as to reputation. On cross-examination, inquiry is allowable into relevant specific instances of conduct.

(b) Specific Instances of Conduct. In cases in which character or a trait of character of a person is an essential element of a charge, claim, or defense, proof may also be made of specific instances of his conduct. [Adopted December 19, 1978, effective April 2, 1979.]

Comment: For a discussion of the relationship between this rule and Rule 404, see the comment to Rule 404.

Section (a). This section differs from Federal Rule 405 in that the Washington rule does not permit proof of character by testimony in the form of an opinion. Previous Washington law has not permitted the introduction of opinion testimony to prove a person's character. Thompson-Cadillac Co. v. Matthews, 173 Wash. 353, 23 P.2d 399 (1933); Johansen v. Pioneer Mining Co., 77 Wash. 421, 137 P. 1019 (1914); 5 R. Meisenholder, Wash. Prac. § 4 (1965 & Supp.). The drafters of the Washington rule felt that the policy established by decisional law was preferable to that of the federal rule.

On a practical level, the drafters were convinced that weaknesses in such opinion testimony cannot be exposed except with difficulty by cross-examination of the witness, and that challenges to the witness' answers on cross-examination by extrinsic evidence may not be completely realistic and that it may in effect disguise the opinion of the witness who testifies to reputation. However, again on a practical level, it seems preferable to opinion testimony, because it can much more easily and clearly be tested by cross-examination of the witness.

References to opinion testimony were similarly deleted from Rule 608.

Section (b). This section is the same as Federal Rule 405(b) and appears to be consistent with existing Washington law. See Johansen v. Pioneer Mining Co., 77 Wash. 421, 137 P. 1019 (1914); Meisenholder §§ 2, 4.

In rape cases RCW 9.79.150 defines in detail the extent to which the victim's past behavior is admissible and the procedure for seeking its admission. By the terms of Rule 402, the statute prevails over inconsistent provisions in Rule 405.

Rule 406 Habit; routine practice. Evidence of the habit of a person or of the routine practice of an organization, whether corroborated or not and regardless of the presence of eyewitnesses, is relevant to prove that the conduct of the person or organization on a particular occasion was in conformity with the habit or routine practice. [Adopted December 19, 1978, effective April 2, 1979.]

Comment: This rule is the same as Federal Rule 406. The rule recognizes the relevancy of a person's habit or the routine practice of an organization in proving that conduct on a particular occasion was in conformity with the habit or routine practice. Rule 404 states the general rule that evidence of a person's character or a trait of his character is not admissible for the purpose of proving that he acted in conformity therewith on a particular occasion. Why should habit be treated differently under Rule 406? The rationale is that habit describes one's regular response to a repeated specific situation so that doing the habitual act becomes semi-automatic. It is the notion of the invariable regularity that gives habit evidence its probative force. Although the rule does not define habit, the Advisory Committee Note to Federal Rule 406 contains a quote from McCormick describing habitual behavior as "consisting of semi-automatic, almost involuntary and invariable specific responses to fairly specific stimuli."

It is not clear to what extent the rule changes previous Washington law. There are cases contrary to the rule, particularly where the evidence bears on the issue of negligence. Rossier v. Payne, 125 Wash. 155, 215 P. 366 (1923); State v. Lewis, 37 Wn.2d 540, 255 P.2d 428 (1950). In a recent case arising out of an automobile accident, the defendant sought to introduce testimony to the effect that the plaintiff was always a fast driver and always drove recklessly. The Court of Appeals affirmed the trial judge's refusal to admit the testimony, saying that it was irrelevant to the issue of whether the recklessness or speed of the plaintiff was the cause of the particular accident in issue. Breimon v. General Motors Corp., 8 Wn. App. 747, 509 P.2d 398 (1973).

Rule 406, however, appears to clarify Washington law rather than to significantly change it. Despite the cases cited above, evidence of habit has been held properly admitted in a number of cases collected in 5 R. Meisenholder, Wash. Prac. § 6 (1965 & Supp.). Evidence offered under this rule could, of course, still be excluded if the court determined that the conduct sought to be shown did not reach the level of habit or routine practice.

Rule 407 Subsequent remedial measures. When, after an event, measures are taken which, if taken previously, would have made the event less likely to occur, evidence of the subsequent measures is not admissible to prove negligence or culpable conduct in connection with the event. This rule does not require the exclusion of evidence of subsequent measures when offered for another purpose, such as proving ownership, control, or feasibility of precautionary measures, if controverted, or impeachment. [Adopted December 19, 1978, effective April 2, 1979.]

Comment: This rule is the same as Federal Rule 407 and is consistent with previous Washington law.

The rule of exclusion has been applied to evidence introduced on the question of liability. Cochran v. Harrison Memorial Hosp., 42 Wn.2d 264, 254 P.2d 752 (1953). Washington courts have justified the principle on the ground that such evidence is irrelevant, Alread v. Northern Pac. Ry. Co., 93 Wash. 209, 160 P. 429 (1916), and that it is contrary to the policy of encouraging safety measures to admit such evidence. Carter v. Seattle, 21 Wash. 585, 59 P. 500 (1899).

The rule bars evidence to prove "negligence or culpable conduct." It has been held that a virtually identical California statute is inapplicable to a products liability case in which the manufacturer is alleged to be strictly liable for placing a defective product on the market. Ault v. Int'l Harvester Co., 13 Cal. 3d 113, 117 Cal. Rptr. 812, 528 P.2d 1148 (1975). But see Smyth v. Upjohn Co., 529 F.2d 803 (2d Cir. 1975) to the contrary.

The Washington cases are consistent with the rule in admitting evidence of subsequent remedial measures for purposes other than proving liability. The rule cites as examples proving ownership, control, or feasibility of precautionary measures, or impeachment. In Washington, see Hatcher v. Globe Union Mfg. Co., 170 Wash. 494, 16 P.2d 824 (1932), Brown v. Quick Mix Co., 75 Wn.2d 833, 454 P.2d 205 (1969) on feasibility of precautionary measures; Peterson v. King County, 41 Wn.2d 907, 252 P.2d 797 (1953) on nature of conditions existing at time of incident; Cochran v. Harrison Memorial Hosp., supra, dictum on issue of control of an instrumentality.

Under Rule 407, the permissible "other purpose" must be controverted in order to avoid the introduction of evidence under false pretenses. The evidence must be relevant as proof upon the actual issues in the case. See 5 R. Meisenholder, Wash. Prac. § 10 (1965).

Rule 408 Compromise and offers to compromise. Evidence of (1) furnishing or offering or promising to furnish, or (2) accepting or offering or promising to accept a valuable consideration in compromising or attempting to compromise a claim which was disputed as to either validity or amount, is not admissible to prove liability for or invalidity of the claim or its amount. Evidence of conduct or statements made in compromise negotiations is likewise not admissible. This rule does not require exclusion of any evidence otherwise discoverable merely because it is presented in the course of compromise negotiations. This rule also does not require exclusion when the evidence is offered for another purpose, such as proving bias or prejudice of a witness, negating a contention of undue delay, or proving an effort to obstruct a criminal investigation or prosecution. [Adopted December 19, 1978, effective April 2, 1979.]

Comment: This rule is the same as Federal Rule 408 and changes Washington case law only with respect to the admissibility of statements made in compromise negotiations.

The first sentence codifies the common law rule that evidence of an offer to compromise a claim is inadmissible to prove liability or lack thereof. It is consistent with previous Washington law. See Eagle Ins. Co. v. Albright, 3 Wn. App. 256, 474 P.2d 920 (1970). The foundation of the rule in Washington, as in the federal rules, is the policy favoring compromise and settlement of disputes. Berliner v. Greenberg, 37 Wn.2d 308, 223 P.2d 598 (1950).

The second sentence of the rule changed federal law by making evidence of conduct or statements made in compromise negotiations inadmissible. Compare Factor v. Commissioner, 281 F.2d 100 (9th Cir. 1960). Similarly in Washington, the conduct or statements have been allowed in evidence as admissions of a party opponent, Romano Eng'r Corp. v. State, 8 Wn.2d 670, 113 P.2d 670, 113 P.2d 649 (1941), unless the statement of fact is expressly made without prejudice. Wagner v. Peshastin Lumber Co., 149 Wash. 328, 270 P. 1032 (1928).

By contrast, Rule 408 makes the evidence inadmissible and is based on the policy of promoting complete freedom of communication in compromise negotiations. Parties are encouraged to make whatever admissions may lead to a successful compromise without sacrificing portions of their case in the event such efforts fail. The rule avoids the generation of controversy over whether a statement was within or without the area of compromise negotiations.

The rule also provides that the exclusionary rule applies only to claims disputed as to validity or amount. There has been no previous authority on this issue in Washington. 5 R. Meisenholder, Wash. Prac. § 9 (1965 & Supp.).

The third sentence, relating to evidence otherwise discoverable, was added by Congress to the Supreme Court draft of the federal rules. The sentence clarifies the dual objective of Rule 408 to encourage compromise and to prevent immunization of evidence merely because it is presented in the course of compromise negotiations. 10 Moore's Federal Practice § 408.06 (1976). A party may not use Rule 408 as a screen for curtailing the opposing party's rights to discovery. 2 Weinstein's Evidence § 408[01] (1976). The Senate Report on Rule 408 suggests, for example, that documents disclosed in compromise negotiations are not thereby insulated from discovery. The Conference Report makes it clear that this provision applies to factual evidence as well.

The fourth sentence is consistent with previous Washington law admitting evidence of compromise and offers of compromise when offered for some purpose other than liability. Meisenholder § 9. See Matteson v. Ziebarth, 40 Wn.2d 286, 242 P.2d 1025 (1952) (to prove lack of good faith where good faith in issue); Robinson v. Hill, 60 Wash. 615, 111 P. 871 (1910) (to prove employer-employee relationship). Settlement agreements may be introduced where breach is the issue, or to show bias or interest of witnesses. Meisenholder § 9. The word "negating" is substituted for "negating," the word used in the federal rule. This is only an improvement in style. No substantive change is intended.

Rule 409 Payment of medical and similar expenses. Evidence of furnishing or offering or promising to pay medical, hospital, or similar expenses occasioned by an injury is not admissible to prove liability for the injury. [Adopted December 19, 1978, effective April 2, 1979.]

Comment: This rule is the same as Federal Rule 409 and is consistent with previous Washington law. See Libee v. Handy, 163 Wash. 410, 1 P.2d 312 (1931). RCW 5.64.010 is consistent with the rule and is not superseded.

Rule 410 Inadmissibility of pleas, offers of pleas, and related statements. Except as otherwise provided in this rule, evidence of a plea of guilty, later withdrawn, or a plea of nolo contendere, or of an offer to plead guilty or nolo contendere to the crime charged or any other crime, or of statements made in connection with, and relevant to, any of the foregoing pleas or offers, is not admissible in any civil or criminal proceeding against the person who made the plea or offer. However, evidence of a statement made in connection with, and relevant to, a plea of guilty, later withdrawn, a plea of nolo contendere, or an offer to plead guilty or nolo contendere to the crime charged or any other crime, is admissible in a criminal proceeding for perjury or false statement if the statement was made by the defendant under oath and in the presence of counsel. This rule does not govern the admissibility of evidence of a deferred sentence imposed under RCW 3.66.067 or RCW 9.95.200-.240. [Adopted December 19, 1978, effective April 2, 1979.]

Comment: This rule is substantially the same as Federal Rule 410 and changes previous Washington law in some respects. Prior to Rule 410, offers to compromise criminal actions have not been privileged against disclosure. State v. Bixby, 27 Wn.2d 144, 177 P.2d 689 (1947). Rule 410 makes withdrawn guilty pleas, pleas of nolo contendere, and statements made in connection with offers to compromise criminal actions inadmissible even for impeachment, in any proceeding against the person making the plea or statement. 8 Moore's Federal Practice § 11.08[2]. The only exception is that a statement may be used in a criminal proceeding for perjury or false statement, and then only if the statement was made by the defendant under oath and in the presence of counsel. A third requirement in the federal rule, that the statement be made on the record, is not included in the proposed Washington rule. This omission is necessary because the rules apply in courts, such as district court, where no formal record of the proceedings is kept.

"Perjury" and "false statement" are used generically in the rule to refer to crimes of that nature, regardless of their designations in the criminal code or other applicable statutes.

To admit a withdrawn guilty plea into evidence would frustrate the purpose of allowing the withdrawal and would place the accused in a dilemma inconsistent with the decision to award him a trial. Withdrawn pleas of guilty have long been inadmissible in federal prosecutions. Kercheval v. United States, 274 U.S. 220 (1927). Rule 410 conforms to this practice. The provisions making offers to compromise inadmissible are designed to encourage the disposition of criminal cases by compromise.

The rule similarly makes pleas of nolo contendere inadmissible. This plea is not recognized in Washington, and Rule 410 does not create the right to a plea of nolo contendere. See CrR 4.2(a). The rule would apply only to a plea in a jurisdiction which permits the plea, entered by a person later involved in proceedings in a Washington court.

The rule protects from disclosure only statements "made in connection with, and relevant to" the plea or offer. The rule should not be interpreted as barring admission of statements made to police officers during the early stages of investigation, before an indictment or information is filed. Weinstein's Evidence § 410[07] (1975). Nor are statements made as a result of a plea bargain necessarily inadmissible. In Hutto v. Ross, 429 U.S. 28, 97 S. Ct. 202, 50 L. Ed. 2d 194 (1976), the defendant had entered into a plea bargain. Two weeks later he confessed to the crime charged. He subsequently withdrew from the bargain and demanded a trial. The Court held the confession admissible, so long as it was voluntary and the defendant knew he could have enforced the bargain whether he confessed or not.

Similarly, the rule probably does not bar the admission of evidence derived as a result of a statement which is inadmissible under Rule 410. Suppose that the defendant accepts the prosecutor's offer to accept a guilty plea to a lesser offense if the defendant discloses the location of stolen property. The property is retrieved. The defendant later withdraws the plea and demands a trial. Although no cases directly in point have been found, Rule 410 would not appear to bar the use of the property at trial as evidence of the defendant's guilt.

A final sentence was added to the federal rule to provide that the rule does not govern the admission or exclusion of evidence of a deferred sentence. That determination is made by reference to the statutes cited in the rule, the decisions construing them, and in some instances, constitutional principles. See also 5 R. Meisenholder, Wash. Prac.: Evidence §§ 9, 300, 421, and 423.

Rule 411 Liability insurance. Evidence that a person was or was not insured against liability is not admissible upon the issue whether he acted negligently or otherwise wrongfully. This rule does not require the exclusion of evidence of insurance against liability when offered for another purpose, such as proof of agency, ownership, or control, or bias or prejudice of a witness. [Adopted December 19, 1978, effective April 2, 1979.]

Comment: This rule is the same as Federal Rule 411 and is consistent with previous Washington law.

The rule is broadly drafted to include contributory and comparative negligence or other fault of the plaintiff as well as fault of a defendant. Like Rules 407 and 408, Rule 411 allows the evidence if offered for a purpose other than determining fault, such as proof of agency, ownership, or control, or bias or prejudice of a witness.

"It is undoubtedly the general rule in this state, in personal injury cases, that the fact that the defendant carries liability insurance is entirely immaterial on the main issue of liability . . ." Williams v. Hofer, 30 Wn.2d 253, 191 P.2d 306 (1948).

Existing Washington law is consistent with the rule in admitting evidence of liability insurance for purposes other than a determination of liability. See Robinson v. Hill, 60 Wash. 615, 11 P. 871 (1910), on issue of agency; Jerdal v. Sinclair, 54 Wn.2d 565, 342 P.2d 585 (1959) on issue of ownership of automobile; Moy Quon v. M. Furaya Co., 81 Wash. 526, 143 P. 99 (1914), on issue of bias or prejudice of witness.

With respect to the plaintiff's insurance coverage, it seems probable that the fact that plaintiff is so covered is inadmissible. 5 R. Meisenholder, Wash. Prac. § 8 (1965 & Supp.), citing Rich v. Campbell, 164 Wash. 393, 2 P.2d 886 (1931). This is in accord with the rule, as is the prohibition against defendant's introduction of evidence that he does not have liability insurance. King v. Starr, 43 Wn.2d 115, 260 P.2d 351 (1953).

The rule does not affect the view that if the mention of insurance is inadvertent and it appears that neither the attorney nor the witness deliberately raised the subject, a mistrial will not be granted. See, e.g., Williams v. Hofer, 30 Wn.2d 253, 191 P.2d 306 (1948). The reference to insurance may, on motion, be stricken and the jury instructed to disregard it. Meisenholder § 8.

ARTICLE V. PRIVILEGES.

Rule

501 General rule [Reserved].

Rule 501 General rule [Reserved].

Comment: Rule 501, which in the federal rules relates to privileged communications, is deleted. The practical effect of Federal Rule 501 is that (1) the federal law of privilege applies in federal criminal cases; (2) the federal law of privilege applies to civil actions unless state law supplies the rule of decision for a claim or defense, or for an element of a claim or defense; and (3) the state law of privilege applies when state law also supplies the rule of decision (e.g., diversity cases). The rule is addressed to choice-of-law problems unique to the federal courts and has no utility at the state level.

Much of the law of privileged communications in Washington is statutory. Although the statutes lack the detail codified in certain other jurisdictions, many details can be determined by reference to decisional law. These statutes and decisions interpreting them remain the law under the Washington Rules of Evidence. The drafters of the Washington Rules felt that privileges are established in order to protect a specific relationship or interest as a matter of public policy. Evidentiary privileges pertaining to confidential communications foster interests or relationships determined to be of sufficient social importance that nondisclosure of the communication is considered an acceptable cost even though consideration of the testimony would aid in the determination of the truth in the course of litigation. The legislature is equipped to make the policy determinations underlying the creation of evidentiary privileges. Thus, privileges are ordinarily more appropriately created by statute than by procedural rule.

Rule 601 General rule of competency. Every person is competent to be a witness except as otherwise provided by statute or by court rule. [Adopted December 19, 1978, effective April 2, 1979.]

Comment: This rule differs significantly from Federal Rule 601. The federal rule eliminates all grounds of incompetency not specifically recognized in the succeeding rules in Article VI. Included among the grounds abolished are religious belief, conviction of a crime, and interest in the litigation. No mental or moral qualifications are specified. The drafters of the Washington rules felt that the subjects covered in Article VI are, in many cases, adequately covered by existing statutes and rules which have become familiar to the members of the bench and bar. Accordingly, Rule 601 defers to other statutes and rules defining grounds for incompetency. The grounds for incompetency defined in Article VI supplement those found in existing statutes and rules.

Civil Cases. Washington statutory law is more restrictive than the federal rules. The basic statutory provision on competence is RCW 5.60.020: "Every person of sound mind, suitable age and discretion, except as hereinafter provided, may be a witness in any action, or proceeding." This statute is supplemented by RCW 5.60.050 which specifies those who are incompetent to testify: "those who are of unsound mind, or intoxicated at the time of their production for examination and children under ten years of age, who appear incapable of receiving just impressions of the facts, respecting which they are examined, or of relating them truly."

The statutory provisions requiring that a witness be of sound mind have been interpreted as being a codification of the common-law rule as to mental capacity. A person will be held competent to testify if he understands the nature of an oath and is capable of giving a correct account of what he has seen and heard. State v. Morrison, 43 Wn.2d 23, 259 P.2d 1105 (1953).

The trial judge has wide discretion in determining the competency of a child as a witness. There is a presumption that a child over ten years of age is competent to testify. For children under ten years of age the test is fairly explicit. "Where it appears that a child has sufficient intelligence to receive just impressions concerning which he is to testify, has sufficient capacity to relate them correctly and has received sufficient instructions to appreciate the nature and obligations of his age." Stafford, The Child as a Witness, 37 Wash. L. Rev. 303 (1962). It is often appropriate to determine the competency of a child in the absence of the jury. This procedure is authorized by Rule 104(c).

The competency of a person who has been convicted of a crime is the subject of several codified rules. The original Washington statute, RCW 5.60.040, provided that, "any person who shall have been convicted of the crime of perjury shall not be a competent witness in any case, unless such conviction shall have been reversed, or unless he shall have received a pardon." A later statute, RCW 10.52.030, provided that, "every person convicted of a crime shall be a competent witness in any civil or criminal proceeding." This later statute contained no exception for those convicted of perjury. Mullin v. Builders Dev. & Fin. Serv., Inc., 62 Wn.2d 202, 318 P.2d 970 (1963) held that RCW 10.52.030 applied only to criminal cases, while RCW 5.60.040 applied only to civil cases. Thus, the Washington law appears to be that prior conviction of a crime does not make a witness incompetent to testify except, in a civil case, for a prior conviction of perjury.

Interest was abolished as a ground for disqualification by RCW 5.60.030, but that statute does contain an exception to that rule in the form of a dead man statute.

As to religious beliefs, see the comment to Rule 610.

Criminal Cases in Superior Court. Competency of witnesses in superior court criminal cases is governed by CrR 6.12. The language of the rule is quite broad. By its terms, interest is abolished as a basis for incompetency. As to age, the rule eliminates the ten-year-old standard and applies the test of competency to children generally.

By implication, the rule abolishes other bases of incompetency. Among those are conviction of crime and religious belief. The rule parallels the law in civil cases by retaining unsound mind and intoxication as grounds for a finding of incompetency.

The Supreme Court has not determined by written opinion whether the statutory grounds for incompetency apply in criminal cases after the adoption of CrR 6.12, and the issue appears to be debatable. See 5 R. Meisenholder, Wash. Prac. §§ 164, 165 (1975 Supp.). The drafters of the rules of evidence recommended that the law be clarified by incorporating the rules of evidence by reference into CrR 6.12(a). Because the rules of evidence incorporate the statutory grounds for incompetency, the statutes would also become clearly applicable to criminal cases.

Rule 602 Lack of personal knowledge. A witness may not testify to a matter unless evidence is introduced sufficient to support a finding that he has personal knowledge of the matter. Evidence to prove personal knowledge may, but need not, consist of the testimony of the witness himself. This rule is subject to the provisions of Rule 703, relating to opinion testimony by expert witnesses. [Adopted December 19, 1978, effective April 2, 1979.]

Comment: This rule is the same as Federal Rule 602 and is consistent with previous Washington law. The required personal knowledge need not be absolute. Testimony has been held competent although qualified by the following expressions: "according to his best impression", "to the best of his judgment and belief", "to the best of your knowledge", that the witness "thought" thus and so, to "your best recollection", in the "best judgment" of the witness, and "it is my belief". These qualifications were expressed in the question or the answer and were apparently interpreted as qualifications upon memory, observation, perception, or the reliance of the witness upon his memory or observation. 5 R. Meisenholder, Wash. Prac. § 331 (1965 & Supp.).

Rule 603 Oath or affirmation. Before testifying, every witness shall be required to declare that he will testify truthfully, by oath or affirmation administered in a form calculated to awaken his conscience and impress his mind with his duty to do so. [Adopted December 19, 1978, effective April 2, 1979.]

Comment: This rule is the same as Federal Rule 603 and is substantially in accord with previous Washington law. The statutes relating to oaths, RCW 5.28.010 through 5.28.060, provide that different forms of the oath may be used as required by the special circumstances of the witness. The statutes are consistent with the rule and are not superseded. The use of an affirmation may be substituted for an oath if the witness so desires. While the form of the oath or affirmation may be varied, it has been held that some form of swearing in the witnesses is required. In re Ross, 45 Wn.2d 654, 277 P.2d 335 (1954).

Rule 604 Interpreters. An interpreter is subject to the provisions of these rules relating to qualification as an expert and the administration of an oath or affirmation that he will make a true translation. [Adopted December 19, 1978, effective April 2, 1979.]

Comment: This rule is the same as Federal Rule 604. Statutory law provides for interpreters for persons of impaired speech or hearing involved in legal proceedings. RCW 2.42.010 through 2.42.050. It speaks of a "qualified interpreter" as "one who is able readily to translate spoken English to and for impaired persons and to translate statements of impaired persons into spoken English." RCW 2.42.020(2). The interpreter is required to take an oath that he will make a true interpretation to the person being examined of all the proceedings in a language which that person understands, and that he will repeat the statements of such person to the court or other agency conducting the proceedings, in the English language, to the best of his skill and judgment. RCW 2.42.050. Although the statute is more detailed than the rule, it in no way conflicts with the rule and is not superseded.

Rule 605 Competency of judge as witness. The judge presiding at the trial may not testify in that trial as a witness. No objection need be made in order to preserve the point. [Adopted December 19, 1978, effective April 2, 1979.]

Comment: This rule is the same as Federal Rule 605 and is consistent with previous Washington law. Maitland v. Zanga, 14 Wash. 92, 44 P. 117 (1896). The rule is absolute; there are no limitations or qualifications.

The rule provides for automatic objection. This saves counsel from the predicament of choosing between remaining silent and thereby waiving objection, or objecting, which is apt to be considered an offensive attack on the judge's integrity.

The rule does not prevent the judge from testifying in collateral proceedings as to what occurred in an earlier trial. A judge is barred from testifying only at a trial over which he is presiding.

Rule 606 Competency of juror as witness. A member of the jury may not testify as a witness before that jury in the trial of the case in which he is sitting as a juror. If he is called so to testify, the opposing party shall be afforded an opportunity to object out of the presence of the jury. [Adopted December 19, 1978, effective April 2, 1979.]

Comment: This rule is the same as paragraph (a) of Federal Rule 606. Paragraph (b), Inquiry into validity of verdict or indictment, is omitted.

This rule is contrary to RCW 5.60.010, which provides that a juror who is otherwise competent may testify at trial. Although Rule 601 defers generally to statutes, it only defers to statutes which make a person incompetent to testify. It leaves open the possibility for subsequent court rules establishing other grounds for incompetency. Thus, Rule 606(a) prevails over, and supersedes, RCW 5.60.010.

Paragraph (b) of Federal Rule 606 concerns the extent to which testimony, affidavits, or statements of jurors may be received for the purpose of invalidating or supporting a verdict or indictment. Previous Washington law has defined the extent to which jurors' testimony and affidavits are admissible in terms of their being inadmissible if the evidence "inheres in the verdict." For a more complete discussion of this doctrine, see L. Orland, 2 Wash. Prac. § 294 (3d ed. 1972). Federal Rule 606(b) is omitted in deference to existing Washington law.

Rule 607 Who may impeach. The credibility of a witness may be attacked by any party, including the party calling him. [Adopted December 19, 1978, effective April 2, 1979.]

Comment: This rule is the same as Federal Rule 607 and reverses the traditional common-law rule against impeaching one's own witness. The common-law rule has been the subject of much criticism in that it is based on false premises. A party does not vouch for the credibility of witnesses because a party rarely has free choice in selecting them. Denial of the right to impeach would leave the party at the mercy of the witness as well as of the adversary. See Advisory Committee Note, Federal Rule 607.

There is precedent for permitting impeachment of one's own witness. Rule 32(a)(1) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure allows any party to impeach a witness by means of a deposition, and Rule 43(b) has allowed the calling and impeachment of an adverse party or of a person identified with an adverse party. Similar provisions are found in the corresponding civil rules in Washington.

Prior Washington law has allowed a party to impeach the party's own witness but only if the party was "taken by surprise by reason of affirmative testimony prejudicial to the interests of the party calling the witness." State v. Thomas, 1 Wn.2d 298, 95 P.2d 1036 (1939). The two-part test required both the showing of surprise and testimony prejudicial to the party's interests. The requirement of prejudice was not met when the witness merely failed to testify as favorably as expected. Cole v. McGhie, 59 Wn.2d 436, 361 P.2d 938 (1961). Cf. State v. Calhoun, 13 Wn. App. 644, 536 P.2d 668 (1975).

Rule 608 Evidence of character and conduct of witness.

(a) Reputation Evidence of Character. The credibility of a witness may be attacked or supported by evidence in the form of reputation, but subject to the limitations: (1) the evidence may refer only to character for truthfulness or untruthfulness, and (2) evidence of truthful character is admissible only after the character of the witness for truthfulness has been attacked by reputation evidence or otherwise.

(b) Specific Instances of Conduct. Specific instances of the conduct of a witness, for the purpose of attacking or supporting his credibility, other than conviction of crime as provided in Rule 609, may not be proved by extrinsic evidence. They may, however, in the discretion of the court, if probative of truthfulness or untruthfulness, be inquired into on cross-examination of the witness (1) concerning his character for truthfulness or untruthfulness, or (2) concerning the character for truthfulness or untruthfulness of another witness as to which character the witness being cross-examined has testified. [Adopted December 19, 1978, effective April 2, 1979.]

Comment: Section (a). This rule differs from Federal Rule 608 in that it does not authorize the introduction of evidence of character in the form of an opinion. The rule thus parallels the approach taken in Rule 405. The rule restricts the use of character evidence for impeachment to evidence of the witness' reputation for truthfulness, in accordance with existing Washington law. See State v. Swenson, 62

Wn.2d 259, 382 P.2d 614 (1963). The proper procedure for introducing evidence of character is described in 5 R. Meisenholder, Wash. Prac. § 301 (1965 & Supp.). The drafters of the Washington rule felt that impeachment by use of opinion is too prejudicial and on a practical level is not easily subject to testing by cross-examination or contradiction.

By statute, a rape victim's reputation concerning sexual matters is inadmissible in proceedings against the accused. RCW 9.79.150. The statute is consistent with the rule and is not superseded.

Section (b). This section is the same as Federal Rule 608(b) and gives the court discretion to allow inquiry on cross-examination into specific instances of conduct bearing upon the credibility of the witness. The effect of Rule 608(b) upon existing Washington law is not entirely clear. Although there is not total consistency in the Washington case law, the general rule appears to be that acts of misconduct not the subject of a prior conviction have not been admissible for impeachment purposes. "[A] witness may not be impeached by showing specific acts of misconduct. This is true whether the impeachment is attempted by means of extrinsic evidence or cross-examination." State v. Emmanuel, 42 Wn.2d 1, 253 P.2d 761 (1950). There are some cases written in terms of a discretionary power in the judge to admit evidence of acts of misconduct, but these appear to be early cases and probably do not represent the current rule. Meisenholder § 301. Prior to the adoption of RCW 9.79.150, in prosecutions involving sexual matters, the judge had the discretionary power to permit the prosecuting witness to be questioned about acts of unchastity. State v. Linton, 36 Wn.2d 67, 216 P.2d 761 (1950). The statute removes the judge's discretion by making sexual conduct inadmissible on the issue of credibility. The drafters of the Washington rules felt that the rule, restricted as it is to matters probative of truthfulness or untruthfulness, clarified the law and reflected a sound policy.

A third, unlettered paragraph appears in Federal Rule 608. That paragraph provides:

The giving of testimony, whether by an accused or by any other witness, does not operate as a waiver of his privilege against self-incrimination when examined with respect to matters which relate only to credibility.

This paragraph was omitted from the Washington rule, not because of any fundamental disagreement with the policy expressed, but because the drafters felt that the subject was more appropriately left to developing principles of constitutional law.

Rule 609 Impeachment by evidence of conviction of crime.

(a) General Rule. For the purpose of attacking the credibility of a witness, evidence that he has been convicted of a crime shall be admitted if elicited from him or established by public record during cross-examination but only if the crime (1) was punishable by death or imprisonment in excess of 1 year under the law under which he was convicted, and the court determines that the probative value of admitting this evidence outweighs its prejudicial effect to the defendant, or (2) involved dishonesty or false statement, regardless of the punishment.

(b) Time Limit. Evidence of a conviction under this rule is not admissible if a period of more than 10 years has elapsed since the date of the conviction or of the release of the witness from the confinement imposed for that conviction, whichever is the later date, unless the court determines, in the interests of justice, that the probative value of the conviction supported by specific facts and circumstances substantially outweighs its prejudicial effect. However, evidence of a conviction more than 10 years old as calculated herein, is not admissible unless the proponent gives to the adverse party sufficient advance written notice of intent to use such evidence to provide the adverse party with a fair opportunity to contest the use of such evidence.

(c) Effect of Pardon, Annulment, or Certificate of Rehabilitation. Evidence of a conviction is not admissible under this rule if (1) the conviction has been the subject of a pardon, annulment, certificate of rehabilitation, or other equivalent procedure based on a finding of the rehabilitation of the person convicted, and that person has not been convicted of a subsequent crime which was punishable by death or imprisonment in excess of 1 year, or (2) the conviction has been the subject of a pardon, annulment, or other equivalent procedure based on a finding of innocence.

(d) Juvenile Adjudications. Evidence of juvenile adjudications is generally not admissible under this rule. The court may, however, in a criminal case allow evidence of a finding of guilt in a juvenile offense proceeding of a witness other than the accused if conviction of the offense would be admissible to attack the credibility of an adult and the court is satisfied that admission in evidence is necessary for a fair determination of the issue of guilt or innocence.

(e) Pendency of Appeal. The pendency of an appeal therefrom does not render evidence of a conviction inadmissible. Evidence of the pendency of an appeal is admissible. [Adopted December 19, 1978, effective April 2, 1979.]

Comment: This rule is substantially the same as Federal Rule 609 and is more restrictive than previous Washington law.

Two Washington statutes provide that the credibility of a witness may be attacked by evidence that the witness had been previously convicted of a crime. RCW 5.60.040; 10.52.030. The statutes, and some limitations developed by decisional law, are discussed in 5 R. Meisenholder, Wash. Prac. § 300 (1965 & Supp.). The Washington Supreme Court has recently expressed some concern about the constitutionality of the statutes, but it has not invalidated them. State v. Murray, 86 Wn.2d 165, 543 P.2d 332 (1975) (Rosellini, J., concurring); State v. Hultenschmidt, 87 Wn.2d 212, 550 P.2d 115 (1976). Justice Rosellini, concurring in State v. Murray, above, observed that, "These statutes, relating as they do to the judicial process, may be superseded by rule of court." 86 Wn.2d at 170. Rule 609 offers a balance between the right of the accused to testify freely in his own behalf and the desirability of allowing the State to attack the credibility of the accused who chooses to testify. The two statutes in point are superseded.

Section (a). This paragraph narrows the scope of convictions which may be used to impeach the accused in a criminal case. RCW 10.52-.030, which is superseded by the rule, did not contain the restrictions expressed in section (a). This portion of the rule will not cause a different result in most civil cases because misdemeanor convictions were not ordinarily admissible for impeachment in civil cases under prior law, and they remain excluded by the 1-year limitation defined by the rule. See Willey v. Hilltop Associates, 13 Wn. App. 336, 535 P.2d 850 (1975); RCW 9A.04.040.

Section (b). This section narrows the scope of convictions which may be used for impeachment. No time limit was found in previous Washington law. See State v. Robinson, 75 Wn.2d 230, 450 P.2d 180 (1969).

Section (c). This section supersedes prior Washington law holding that a pardon has no effect upon the admissibility of a conviction for impeachment. See State v. Serfling, 131 Wash. 605, 230 P. 847 (1924); State v. Knott, 6 Wn. App. 436, 493 P.2d 1027 (1972).

Section (d). This section gives somewhat more discretion to the trial judge than prior Washington law holding juvenile adjudications inadmissible for impeachment. See State v. Temple, 5 Wn. App. 1, 485 P.2d 93 (1971). The federal term, "juvenile adjudication," is changed in the text of the rule to "finding of guilt in a juvenile offense proceeding." This change conforms to the Washington Juvenile Court Act and makes it clear that adjudications of dependency remain inadmissible.

Section (e). The first sentence of this section is consistent with prior Washington law. State v. Robbins, 37 Wn.2d 492, 224 P.2d 1076 (1950). There appears to be no prior law directly bearing upon the second sentence.

In some situations a party may wish to use evidence of a prior conviction as substantive evidence of a fact alleged in subsequent litigation. Rule 609 would not apply because it relates only to impeachment by evidence of a conviction. Criminal convictions as substantive evidence are governed by Rule 803(a)(22).

Rule 610 Religious beliefs or opinions. Evidence of the beliefs or opinions of a witness on matters of religion is not admissible for the purpose of showing that by reason of their nature his credibility is impaired or enhanced. [Adopted December 19, 1978, effective April 2, 1979.]

Comment: Although the rule is the same as Federal Rule 610, it is not intended to reflect any departure from a similar provision in the Washington Constitution. Const. art. 1, § 11 (Amendment 34).

Rule 611 Mode and order of interrogation and presentation.

(a) Control by Court. The court shall exercise reasonable control over the mode and order of interrogating witnesses and presenting evidence so as to (1) make the interrogation and presentation effective for the ascertainment of the truth, (2) avoid needless consumption of time, and (3) protect witnesses from harassment or undue embarrassment.

(b) Scope of Cross-Examination. Cross-examination should be limited to the subject matter of the direct examination and matters affecting the credibility of the witness. The court may, in the exercise of discretion, permit inquiry into additional matters as if on direct examination.

(c) Leading Questions. Leading questions should not be used on the direct examination of a witness except as may be necessary to develop his testimony. Ordinarily leading questions should be permitted on cross-examination. When a party calls a hostile witness, an adverse party, or a witness identified with an adverse party, interrogation may be by leading questions. [Adopted December 19, 1978, effective April 2, 1979.]

Comment: This rule is the same as Federal Rule 611. Although the rule is primarily one of discretion, it is not intended to broaden the discretion permitted under previous law. As to the scope of cross-examination, see State v. Robideau, 70 Wn.2d 994, 425 P.2d 880 (1967). As to leading questions, see State v. Scott, 20 Wn.2d 696, 149 P.2d 152 (1944).

Rule 612 Writing used to refresh memory. If a witness uses a writing to refresh his memory for the purpose of testifying, either:

(1) while testifying, or

(2) before testifying, if the court in its discretion determines it is necessary in the interests of justice, an adverse party is entitled to have the writing produced at the hearing, to inspect it, to cross-examine the witness thereon, and to introduce in evidence those portions which relate to the testimony of the witness. If it is claimed that the writing contains matters not related to the subject matter of the testimony, the court shall examine the writing in camera, excise any portions not so related, and order delivery of the remainder to the party entitled thereto. Any portion withheld over objections shall be preserved and made available to the appellate court in the event of an appeal. If a writing is not produced or delivered pursuant to order under this rule, the court shall make any order justice requires. [Adopted December 19, 1978, effective April 2, 1979.]

Comment: This rule is substantially the same as Federal Rule 612. An introductory reference in the federal rule to the Jencks Act, 18 U.S.C. § 3500, is omitted from the Washington version because the statute would normally be inapplicable in state court. Also omitted from the Washington version is a clause at the end of the federal rule, providing: "except that in criminal cases when the prosecution elects not to comply, the order shall be one striking the testimony or, if the court in its discretion determines that the interests of justice so require, declaring a mistrial." Although this provision appears to be a restriction on the federal court's discretion, the Advisory Committee's note to Federal Rule 612 indicates that the provision is included only to parallel the Jencks Act, and that other alternatives such as contempt or dismissal remain available under the Federal Rules of Criminal Procedure. The drafters of the Washington rule felt that this approach was unduly confusing and that the clause could be eliminated without compromising the substance of the rule.

Under previous Washington law, there has been a distinction between memoranda used to refresh memory before trial and those used during the appearance of the witness in court. Under State v. Little, 57 Wn.2d 516, 358 P.2d 120 (1961), memoranda used in court are clearly subject to a right of inspection by opposing counsel, but there has been no similar right to inspect memoranda used to refresh memory before trial. State v. Paschall, 182 Wash. 304, 47 P.2d 15 (1935). The rule changes previous law to the extent that it gives the court discretion to permit inspection of memoranda used before trial.

Rule 613 Prior statements of witnesses.

(a) Examining Witness Concerning Prior Statement. In the examination of a witness concerning a prior statement made by him, whether written or not, the court may require that the statement be shown or its contents disclosed to him at that time, and on request the same shall be shown or disclosed to opposing counsel.

(b) Extrinsic Evidence of Prior Inconsistent Statement of Witness. Extrinsic evidence of a prior inconsistent statement by a witness is not admissible unless the witness is afforded an opportunity to explain or deny the same and the opposite party is afforded an opportunity to interrogate him thereon, or the interests of justice otherwise require. This provision does not apply to admissions of a party-opponent as defined in Rule 801(d)(2). [Adopted December 19, 1978, effective April 2, 1979.]

Comment: This rule is a modification of Federal Rule 613 and conforms substantially to previous Washington law.

Paragraph (a) of the federal rule abolishes the old English requirement that a witness be shown a prior written statement before opposing counsel can cross-examine the witness about the statement. Similarly, the federal rule provides that the contents of a prior oral statement need not be disclosed to the witness before cross-examination.

In Washington, previous decisional law is not entirely clear but appears to be closer to the common-law view. With reference to the prior oral statements, counsel must ask foundation questions which substantially repeat the prior inconsistent statement and direct the attention of the witness to the circumstances under which he purportedly made the statement. With reference to prior written statements, similar foundation questions are required, but there appears to be no decisional law requiring the written statement to actually be shown to the witness before cross-examination. 5 R. Meisenholder, Wash. Prac.: Evidence § 296 (1965 & Supp.).

The Advisory Committee's note to Federal Rule 613 indicates that the federal drafters considered the common-law rule to be a "useless impediment to cross-examination." The drafters of the proposed Washington rule agreed to the extent that the common-law requirement can be a useless impediment under some circumstances. The drafters felt, however, that the court should be given some measure of discretion to require that the prior statement be disclosed if it would be manifestly unfair to begin cross-examining the witness before disclosing the statement. Accordingly, section (a) of the rule provides that the court "may require" that the prior statement be shown or its contents disclosed to the witness before cross-examination.

Both the federal rule and the Washington rule also provide that the prior statement must, on request, be shown or disclosed to the lawyer who originally called the witness. This provision, which is consistent with previous law, protects against unwarranted insinuations that a statement was made when in fact it was not. It also serves to prepare counsel for an effort to rehabilitate the witness on redirect examination. Butcher v. Seattle, 142 Wash. 588, 253 P. 1082 (1927).

Section (b) is the same as Federal Rule 613(b) and provides that extrinsic evidence of a prior inconsistent statement is not admissible unless the witness is given an opportunity to explain or deny the statement. Previous Washington law is in accord. Meisenholder § 296. The rule affords a measure of discretion in "the interests of justice" to allow for unusual circumstances such as a witness becoming unavailable by the time a prior inconsistent statement is discovered.

There are prior Washington decisions to the effect that if the witness responds to foundation questions by admitting making the prior inconsistent statement, then extrinsic evidence of the statement is inadmissible. It is felt that the additional extrinsic evidence would usually be of little value and would be a waste of time. Meisenholder § 296. Although Rule 613 does not expressly bar the admission of extrinsic evidence under these circumstances, Rule 403 gives the court broad discretion to exclude evidence on the grounds that it would cause undue delay, be a waste of time, or that it is a needless presentation of cumulative evidence.

It should be remembered that Rule 613 relates to the admission of evidence for impeachment rather than as substantive evidence. Section (b) of Rule 613 expressly disclaims any application to admissions of a party-opponent as defined in Rule 801(d)(2). The admissibility of hearsay statements as substantive evidence is governed by the rules in Article VIII.

Rule 614 Calling and interrogation of witnesses by court.

(a) Calling by Court. The court may, on its own motion where necessary in the interests of justice or on motion of a party, call witnesses, and all parties are entitled to cross-examine witnesses thus called.

(b) Interrogation by Court. The court may interrogate witnesses, whether called by itself or by a party; provided, however, that in trials before a jury, the court's questioning must be cautiously guarded so as not to constitute a comment on the evidence.

(c) Objections. Objections to the calling of witnesses by the court or to interrogation by it may be made at the time or at the next available opportunity when the jury is not present. [Adopted December 19, 1978, effective April 2, 1979.]

Comment: Sections (a) and (b) are modifications of Federal Rule 614. Section (c) is the same as Federal Rule 614(c). As modified, the rule is consistent with previous Washington law.

Section (a). There is dictum to the effect that a trial judge may call witnesses in Washington. Ramsey v. Mading, 36 Wn.2d 303, 217 P.2d 1041 (1950). The phrase "where necessary in the interests of justice" has been added to the language of the federal rule to insure against unlimited, unreviewable discretion. If the court intends to call a witness, the judge, in fairness, should confer with counsel before calling the witness, and the conference should be on the record.

The federal rule provides that the court may also call a witness "at the suggestion of a party." The Washington rule substitutes the phrase "on motion of a party." The drafters of the Washington rule felt that the word "suggestion" was ambiguous and that "motion" was more precise in terms of established practice under the civil and criminal rules.

Section (b). A trial judge in Washington may question a witness so long as the questions do not violate the constitutional prohibition against a judge commenting on the evidence. Const. art. 4, § 16; State

v. Brown, 31 Wn.2d 475, 197 P.2d 590 (1948); 5 R. Meisenholder, Wash. Prac. § 269 (1965 & Supp.). A proviso to this effect has been added to Federal Rule 614.

Section (c). Counsel may object to the judge's questions on the basis of any of the rules of evidence. This section is designed to relieve counsel of the embarrassment of objecting to the judge's questions in front of the jury. The objection is not automatic, however, as it is under Rule 605.

Rule 615 Exclusion of witnesses. At the request of a party the court may order witnesses excluded so that they cannot hear the testimony of other witnesses, and it may make the order of its own motion. This rule does not authorize exclusion of (1) a party who is a natural person, or (2) an officer or employee of a party which is not a natural person designated as its representative by its attorney, or (3) a person whose presence is shown by a party to be reasonably necessary to the presentation of his cause. [Adopted December 19, 1978, effective April 2, 1979.]

Comment: This rule differs from Federal Rule 615 in that the word "may" has been substituted for "shall" in the first sentence, and the words "reasonably necessary" have been substituted for "essential" in the last sentence. The word "may" preserves the discretionary nature of the rule under previous Washington law. State v. Adams, 76 Wn.2d 650, 485 P.2d 558 (1969). The drafters of the Washington rule felt that the federal rule's use of the word "essential" in subdivision (3) established an inordinately strict test which could force an unjustified reversal on appeal. The test of "reasonably necessary" offers more flexibility.

The rule modifies previous Washington law in that it delineates certain witnesses who may not be excluded. Under previous law, the judge was given more discretion in this regard. State v. Weaver, 60 Wn.2d 87, 371 P.2d 1006 (1962).

ARTICLE VII. OPINIONS AND EXPERT TESTIMONY.

Rule

- 701 Opinion testimony by lay witnesses.
- 702 Testimony by experts.
- 703 Bases of opinion testimony by experts.
- 704 Opinion on ultimate issue.
- 705 Disclosure of facts or data underlying expert opinion.
- 706 Court appointed experts.
 - (a) Appointment.
 - (b) Compensation.
 - (c) Disclosure of appointment.
 - (d) Parties' experts of own selection.

Rule 701 Opinion testimony by lay witnesses. If the witness is not testifying as an expert, his testimony in the form of opinions or inferences is limited to those opinions or inferences which are (a) rationally based on the perception of the witness and (b) helpful to a clear understanding of his testimony or the determination of a fact in issue. [Adopted December 19, 1978, effective April 2, 1979.]

Comment: This rule is the same as Federal Rule 701. It is essentially a rule of discretion and differs from previous law more in form than substance. The rule requires the trial judge, on the basis of the posture of the particular case, to decide whether concreteness, abstraction or a combination of both will be most effective in enabling the jury to ascertain the truth and reach a just result. In applying the rule, it should be kept in mind that its purpose is to eliminate time-consuming quibbles over objections that would not affect the outcome regardless of how they were decided. The emphasis belongs on what the witness knows and not on how he is expressing himself. Weinstein's Evidence § 701[02] (1975).

In several recent cases the Washington Supreme Court has cited Section 401 of the Model Code of Evidence as controlling the admission of a lay opinion testimony in Washington. See Church v. West, 75 Wn.2d 502, 452 P.2d 265 (1969) and 5 R. Meisenholder, Wash. Prac. § 341 (1975 Supp.). Section 401 would usually yield the same result as decisional law predating it. Some examples of admissible opinion testimony are: the speed of a vehicle, the mental responsibility of another, whether another was "healthy", the value of one's own property, and the identification of a person. Meisenholder § 341 (1975 Supp.).

Differences between existing Washington law and Rule 701 are largely matters of form rather than substance. Although Model Code Section 401 assumes that the witness may generally testify in terms of inference and opinion, the court may require the testimony to be stated in nonabstract detail if it finds that the witness is capable of doing so satisfactorily and that the statement by the witness of his conclusory inferences might mislead the trier of fact. Rule 701 approaches the problem in reverse. It assumes that the witness will give his testimony by stating his observations in as raw a form as practicable, but permits him to resort to inferences and opinions when this form of testimony will be helpful. Both rules give the trial court a wide latitude of discretion. As a practical matter, the Rule 701 is unlikely to change Washington law. See Meisenholder § 343.

The subject matter of Rule 701 is analyzed in greater detail in J. Powell & R. Burns, A Discussion of the New Federal Rules of Evidence, 8 Gonz. L. Rev. 1, 14-16 (1972).

Rule 702 Testimony by experts. If scientific, technical, or other specialized knowledge will assist the trier of fact to understand the evidence or to determine a fact in issue, a witness qualified as an expert by knowledge, skill, experience, training, or education, may testify thereto in the form of an opinion or otherwise. [Adopted December 19, 1978, effective April 2, 1979.]

Comment: This rule is the same as Federal Rule 702 and is consistent with previous law giving the court broad discretion to determine whether a witness is qualified to express an expert opinion. See State v. Tatum, 58 Wn.2d 73, 360 P.2d 754 (1961).

The Washington Supreme Court has more recently cited Section 401 of the Model Code of Evidence as governing the admissibility of expert testimony. See Church v. West, 75 Wn.2d 502, 452 P.2d 265 (1969). However, the results and language of these opinions indicate that in effect the Court interprets Section 401 in line with the prior general Washington case law. 5 R. Meisenholder, Wash. Prac. § 351 (1975 Supp.).

Rule 703 Bases of opinion testimony by experts. The facts or data in the particular case upon which an expert bases an opinion or inference may be those perceived by or made known to him at or before the hearing. If of a type reasonably relied upon by experts in the particular field in forming opinions or inferences upon the subject, the facts or data need not be admissible in evidence. [Adopted December 19, 1978, effective April 2, 1979.]

Comment: This rule is the same as Federal Rule 703. The first sentence codifies the universally accepted principle that an expert may base an opinion on (1) first-hand information or (2) facts or data presented to him at trial and is consistent with previous Washington law. See 5 R. Meisenholder, Wash. Prac. §§ 354, 355 (1965 & Supp.). The second sentence allows an expert to base an opinion on data which could not be admitted in evidence provided it is of the type reasonably relied upon by experts in forming opinions upon the subject in their particular field of competence. Before an expert will be permitted to testify upon the basis of facts not admissible in evidence, the court will have to find pursuant to Rule 104(a) that the particular underlying data is of a kind that is reasonably relied upon by experts in the particular field in reaching conclusions. If there is a serious issue the trial judge will examine the expert outside the presence of the jury to determine whether these conditions are met. Since Rule 703 is concerned with the trustworthiness of the resulting opinion, the judge should not allow the opinion if the expert can show only that he customarily relies upon such material or that it is relied upon only in preparing for litigation. The expert must establish that he as well as others would act upon the information for purposes other than testifying in a lawsuit. Weinstein's Evidence § 703[01] (1975).

The expert will ordinarily be in the best position to know what data can be reasonably relied upon, and the court will usually follow the expert's advice on the point. The court's decision will, to a large extent, be based on the degree of confidence it has in the professional calibre and ethics of the expert group involved. Physicians are likely to be given more leeway than accidentologists. Id.

Several older Washington cases suggest that the opinion of an expert based solely upon hearsay reports or other hearsay is inadmissible. Meisenholder § 357. One case, however, held that a doctor could state his opinion that the eyesight of a person was normal when the doctor's opinion was based upon his office record of visual field charts prepared by a technician during the course of examination by the technician. Engler v. Woodman, 54 Wn.2d 360, 340 P.2d 563 (1959). And in State v. Wineberg, 74 Wn.2d 372, 444 P.2d 787 (1968), the court held that an expert could, in the trial court's discretion, be permitted to give an opinion as to the value of property even though some of the factors (e.g., comparable sales prices) would be inadmissible as hearsay, so long as the opinion was the product of the expert's own independent judgment. Rule 703 reflects the approach taken in the more recent cases.

Rule 704 Opinion on ultimate issue. Testimony in the form of an opinion or inferences otherwise admissible is not objectionable because it embraces an ultimate issue to be decided by the trier of fact. [Adopted December 19, 1978, effective April 2, 1979.]

Comment: This rule is the same as Federal Rule 704 and is consistent with previous Washington law. In rejecting challenges that opinions should have been excluded because they were opinions on ultimate facts, the court has permitted opinions to be voiced upon various matters: that the physical condition of prosecuting witness could not have been the result of ordinary normal sexual intercourse, the point of impact between vehicles based upon skidmarks, the sanity or insanity of a criminal defendant, the possibility of gainful employment, how a disease would be communicated, and other matters. 5 R. Meisenholder, Wash. Prac. § 356 (1965 & Supp.).

Except for testimony concerning foreign law, experts are not to state opinions of law or mixed fact and law. On this basis, questions such as whether X was negligent can be excluded. Id.

The introduction of evidence under Rule 704 is subject to the restrictions of Rules 701 and 702, which require opinions to be helpful to the trier of fact, and Rule 403, which authorizes the exclusion of time-wasting evidence.

Rule 705 Disclosure of facts or data underlying expert opinion. The expert may testify in terms of opinion or inference and give his reasons therefor without prior disclosure of the underlying facts or data, unless the judge requires otherwise. The expert may in any event be required to disclose the underlying facts or data on cross-examination. [Adopted December 19, 1978, effective April 2, 1979.]

Comment: This rule is the same as Federal Rule 705. It clarifies Washington law by defining a procedure which cannot be determined by reference to decisional law. See 5 R. Meisenholder, Wash. Prac. § 354 (1965 & Supp.). The use of hypothetical questions, often criticized by the authorities, becomes an optional tactic rather than a requirement, unless otherwise ordered by the court.

Without preliminary disclosure at trial of underlying data, effective cross-examination is often impossible unless the information has been obtained through pretrial discovery. The court, therefore, should liberally grant permission for depositions and other discovery with respect to experts under CR 26(b)(4). D. Smith & S. Henley, Opinion Evidence: An Analysis of the New Federal Rules and Current Washington Law, 11 Gonz. L. Rev. 692, 697-98 (1976).

Rule 706 Court appointed experts.

(a) Appointment. The court may on its own motion or on the motion of any party enter an order to show cause why expert witnesses should not be appointed, and may request the parties to submit nominations. The court may appoint any expert witnesses agreed upon by the parties, and may appoint witnesses of its own selection. An expert witness shall not be appointed by the court unless he consents to act. A witness so appointed shall be informed of his duties by the court in writing, a copy of which shall be filed with the clerk, or at a conference in which the parties shall have opportunity to participate. A witness so appointed shall advise the parties of his findings, if any; his deposition may be taken by any party; and he may be called to testify by the court or any party. He shall be subject to cross-examination by each party, including a party calling him as a witness.

(b) Compensation. Expert witnesses so appointed are entitled to reasonable compensation in whatever sum the court may allow. Except as otherwise provided by law, the compensation shall be paid by the parties in such proportion and at such time as the court directs, and thereafter charged in like manner as other costs.

(c) Disclosure of Appointment. In the exercise of its discretion, the court may authorize disclosure to the jury of the fact that the court appointed the expert witness.

(d) Parties' Experts of Own Selection. Nothing in this rule limits the parties in calling expert witnesses of their own selection. [Adopted December 19, 1978, effective April 2, 1979.]

Comment: This rule is the same as Federal Rule 706, except that a provision in paragraph (b) for compensating experts from public funds was deleted. Rule 706 does not apply to the appointment of defense experts in indigent criminal cases. That practice is governed by a more specialized rule, CrR 3.1.

Legal writers and revisers have long favored reforming trial practice by implementing the trial judge's common-law power to call experts. Their imprecations against the "battle of experts" led to the drafting of the Uniform Expert Testimony Act in 1937, which later formed the basis for Rules 403-410 of the Model Code of Evidence, for Rules 59, 60, and 61 of the Uniform Rules of Evidence, and Federal Rule of Evidence 706. Weinstein's Evidence § 706[01] (1975).

There is dicta in the Washington cases suggesting that a judge may appoint an expert witness in nonjury cases. Ramsey v. Mading, 36 Wn.2d 303, 310-11, 217 P.2d 1041 (1950). (The dictum in Ramsey was inaccurately characterized as a holding in State v. Swenson, 62 Wn.2d 259, 277, 382 P.2d 614 (1963).) A relatively small number of rules and statutes relate to the appointment and compensation of experts in specific kinds of cases. Rule 706 codifies the common-law power of the court to call an expert and defines a procedure applicable to all cases.

Expert witness fees in state condemnation proceedings are payable from public funds, as anticipated by Federal Rule 706, but only pursuant to a statutory scheme which imposes certain conditions and restrictions not found in the federal rule. See RCW 8.25.070. The statute does not mention the possibility of the expert being appointed by the court, and the statute does not authorize the disbursement of public funds for an appointed expert. The drafters of the Washington rule eliminated the language in Federal Rule 706 authorizing disbursement of public funds in deference to applicable statutes.

There is an obvious danger that the jury will be more impressed by an expert appointed by the court than by one called by a party. It has been argued that to disclose to the jury the fact that an expert was appointed by the court would violate the state constitutional prohibition against a judge commenting on the evidence. 5 R. Meisenholder, Wash. Prac. § 363 (1965); Const. art. 4, § 16. The court's discretion to make such a disclosure under Rule 706(c) should be used with extreme caution to avoid the possibility of commenting on the evidence.

- (a) Definition of unavailability.

Rule 801 Definitions. The following definitions apply under this article:

(a) Statement. A "statement" is (1) an oral or written assertion or (2) nonverbal conduct of a person, if it is intended by him as an assertion.

(b) Declarant. A "declarant" is a person who makes a statement.

(c) Hearsay. "Hearsay" is a statement, other than one made by the declarant while testifying at the trial or hearing, offered in evidence to prove the truth of the matter asserted.

(d) Statements Which Are Not Hearsay. A statement is not hearsay if—

(1) Prior Statement by Witness. The declarant testifies at the trial or hearing and is subject to cross-examination concerning the statement, and the statement is (i) inconsistent with his testimony, and was given under oath subject to the penalty of perjury at a trial, hearing, or other proceeding, or in a deposition, or (ii) consistent with his testimony and is offered to rebut an express or implied charge against him of recent fabrication or improper influence or motive, or (iii) one of identification of a person made after perceiving him; or

(2) Admission by Party-Opponent. The statement is offered against a party and is (i) his own statement, in either his individual or a representative capacity or (ii) a statement of which he has manifested his adoption or belief in its truth, or (iii) a statement by a person authorized by him to make a statement concerning the subject, or (iv) a statement by his agent or servant acting within the scope of his authority to make the statement for the party, or (v) a statement by a co-conspirator of a party during the course and in furtherance of the conspiracy. [Adopted December 19, 1978, effective April 2, 1979.]

Comment: This rule is the same as Federal Rule 801, except that subsection (d)(2)(iv) has been modified with respect to the admissibility of statements by agents and servants.

Section (a). The definition of "statement" is consistent with previous Washington law. Oral assertions, written assertions, and assertive conduct all constitute statements, but acts of nonassertive conduct do not. 5 R. Meisenholder, Wash. Prac. § 387 (1965 & Supp.).

Section (b). Section (b) is self-explanatory.

Section (c). The definition of "hearsay" is substantially in accord with previous Washington law. See Moen v. Chestnut, 9 Wn.2d 93, 113 P.2d 1030 (1941).

Section (d). This section excludes from the definition of hearsay several types of statements which literally are within the definition. Statements excluded from the hearsay rule by Rule 801(d) are admissible as substantive evidence. The rule does not affect the use of prior inconsistent statements to impeach a witness. The use of these statements for impeachment is governed by Rule 613.

Subsection (d)(1) defines the extent to which prior out-of-court statements are admissible as substantive evidence if the declarant is presently available for cross-examination at trial. One Washington case is in accord with the theory expressed by the rule. State v. Simmons, 63 Wn.2d 17, 385 P.2d 389 (1963). Other cases, however, are to the contrary. Meisenholder § 381. The rule clarifies the law by detailing the circumstances under which the statements are admissible and conforms state law to federal practice.

Subsection (d)(1)(i) provides that a witness' prior inconsistent statement is admissible as substantive evidence if it was given under oath subject to the penalty of perjury at a trial, hearing, or other proceeding, or in a deposition. The rule does not require the statement to have been subject to cross-examination at the time it was made. See Conference Report, quoted in Weinstein's Evidence 801-24 (1975). The rule would not, however, necessarily admit statements made in pretrial affidavits. The rule applies only to statements given in a trial, hearing, proceeding, or deposition. Although the meaning of "proceeding" is not yet clear, it has been observed that the words of limitation were designed in part to prevent the admission of affidavits given by a coerced or misinformed witness. Weinstein's Evidence §§ 801(d)(1)[01], 801(d)(1)(A)[01] 1055 (9th Cir. 1976). The constitutionality of a California statute even less restrictive than Rule 801(d)(1)(i) was upheld in California v. Green, 399 U.S. 149 (1970).

Subsection (d)(1)(ii) makes statements admissible as substantive evidence which were previously admissible only to rehabilitate an impeached witness. See Meisenholder § 306.

Subsection (d)(1)(iii) is consistent with previous Washington law. See State v. Simmons, 63 Wn.2d 17, 385 P.2d 389 (1963).

Subsection (d)(2) differs from previous Washington law more in theory than in practice. Previous decisions have considered admissions by party-opponents to be hearsay but have admitted them as an exception to the hearsay rule. Meisenholder § 421. Rule 801 continues to admit the statements, not as an exception to the hearsay rule, but by excluding them from the definition of hearsay altogether.

Statements of others that are expressly adopted by a party have been held admissible as admissions. State v. McKenzie, 184 Wash. 32, 48 P.2d 1115 (1935). Statements by authorized persons have been similarly held to be admissions. State ex rel. Ledger Pub. Co. v. Gloyd, 14 Wash. 4, 44 P. 103 (1896).

Federal Rule 801 provides in relevant part: "A statement is not hearsay if . . . the statement is offered against a party and is . . . a statement by his agent or servant concerning a matter within the scope of his agency or employment, made during the existence of the relationship. . . ." The Washington cases have not adopted the rule of broader admissibility expressed by the federal rule. The traditional rule, which was applied in early Washington decisions, was that, "the acts and declarations of the agent, when acting within the scope of his authority, having relations to, and connected with, and in the course of, the particular transaction in which he is engaged, are, in legal effect, the acts or declarations of his principal." Tacoma & Eastern Lumber Co. v. Field & Co., 100 Wash. 79, 86, 170 P. 360 (1918). This was known as the "res gestae" rule, and the admissibility of an agent's statement depended upon how closely the statement was related to the transaction in question. Meisenholder § 425(1).

Later decisions have phrased the rule not in terms of res gestae, but in terms of whether the agent was authorized to make the statement on behalf of the principal. Id. This has become known as the "speaking agent" approach and has continued to be applied in relatively recent decisions. See, e.g., Kadiak Fish Co. v. Murphy Diesel Co., 70 Wn.2d 153, 422 P.2d 946 (1967). Accord, Restatement (Second) of Agency §§ 286-88 (1958). The drafters of the Washington rule felt that existing Washington law, as exemplified by the later cases, reflected the better policy and deleted the language in the federal rule which would have broadened the admissibility of statements by agents.

The provision concerning statements by co-conspirators is consistent with previous Washington law. Meisenholder § 430.

Rule 802 Hearsay rule. Hearsay is not admissible except as provided by these rules, by other court rules, or by statute. [Adopted December 19, 1978, effective April 2, 1979.]

Comment: The language of Federal Rule 802 is modified to adapt the rule to state practice. The rule preserves other court rules such as CR 43(e), authorizing the admission of hearsay evidence under particular circumstances.

Rule 803 Hearsay exceptions; availability of declarant immaterial.

(a) Specific Exceptions. The following are not excluded by the hearsay rule, even though the declarant is available as a witness:

(1) Present Sense Impression. A statement describing or explaining an event or condition made while the declarant was perceiving the event or condition, or immediately thereafter.

(2) Excited Utterance. A statement relating to a startling event or condition made while the declarant was under the stress of excitement caused by the event or condition.

(3) Then Existing Mental, Emotional, or Physical Condition. A statement of the declarant's then existing state of mind, emotion, sensation, or physical condition (such as intent, plan, motive, design, mental feeling, pain, and bodily health), but not including a statement of memory or belief to prove the fact remembered or believed unless it relates to the execution, revocation, identification, or terms of declarant's will.

(4) Statements for Purposes of Medical Diagnosis or Treatment. Statements made for purposes of medical diagnosis or treatment and describing medical history, or past or present symptoms, pain, or sensations, or the inception or general character of the cause or external source thereof insofar as reasonably pertinent to diagnosis or treatment.

(5) Recorded Recollection. A memorandum or record concerning a matter about which a witness once had knowledge but now has insufficient recollection to enable him to testify fully and accurately, shown to have been made or adopted by the witness when the matter was fresh in his memory and to reflect that knowledge correctly. If admitted, the memorandum or record may be read into evidence but may not itself be received as an exhibit unless offered by an adverse party.

(6) Records of Regularly Conducted Activity. [Reserved. See RCW 5.45.]

(7) Absence of Entry in Records Kept in Accordance With RCW 5.45. Evidence that a matter is not included in the memoranda, reports, records, or data compilations, in any form, kept in accordance with the provisions of RCW 5.45, to prove the nonoccurrence or nonexistence of the matter, if the matter was of a kind of which a memorandum, report, record, or data compilation was regularly made and preserved, unless the sources of information or other circumstances indicate lack of trustworthiness.

(8) Public Records and Reports. [Reserved. See RCW 5.44.040.]

(9) Records of Vital Statistics. Records or data compilations, in any form, of births, fetal deaths, deaths, or marriages, if the report thereof was made to a public office pursuant to requirements of law.

(10) Absence of Public Record or Entry. To prove the absence of a record, report, statement, or data compilation, in any form, or the nonoccurrence or nonexistence of a matter of which a record, report, statement, or data compilation, in any form, was regularly made and preserved by a public office or agency, evidence in the form of a certification in accordance with Rule 902, or testimony, that diligent search failed to disclose the record, report, statement, or data compilation, or entry.

(11) Records of Religious Organizations. Statements of births, marriages, divorces, deaths, legitimacy, ancestry, relationship by blood or marriage, or other similar facts of personal or family history, contained in a regularly kept record of a religious organization.

(12) Marriage, Baptismal, and Similar Certificates. Statements of fact contained in a certificate that the maker performed a marriage or other ceremony or administered a sacrament, made by a clergyman, public official, or other person authorized by the rules or practices of a religious organization or by law to perform the act certified, and purporting to have been issued at the time of the act or within a reasonable time thereafter.

(13) Family Records. Statements of fact concerning personal or family history contained in family Bibles, genealogies, charts, engravings on rings, inscription on family portraits, tattoos, engravings on urns, crypts, or tombstones, or the like.

(14) Records of Documents Affecting an Interest in Property. The record of a document purporting to establish or affect an interest in property, as proof of the content of the original recorded document and its execution and delivery by each person by whom it purports to have been executed, if the record is a record of a public office and an applicable statute authorized the recording of documents of that kind in that office.

(15) Statements in Documents Affecting an Interest in Property. A statement contained in a document purporting to establish or affect an interest in property if the matter stated was relevant to the purpose of the document unless dealings with the property since the document was made have been inconsistent with the truth of the statement or the purport of the document.

(16) Statements in Ancient Documents. Statements in a document in existence 20 years or more whose authenticity is established.

(17) Market Reports, Commercial Publications. Market quotations, tabulations, lists, directories, or other published compilations, generally used and relied upon by the public or by persons in particular occupations.

(18) Learned Treatises. To the extent called to the attention of an expert witness upon cross-examination or relied upon by him in direct examination, statements contained in published treatises, periodicals, or pamphlets on a subject of history, medicine, or other science or art, established as a reliable authority by the testimony or admission of the witness or by other expert testimony or by judicial notice. If admitted, the statements may be read into evidence but may not be received as exhibits.

(19) Reputation Concerning Personal or Family History. Reputation among members of his family by blood, adoption, or marriage, or among his associates, or in the community, concerning a person's birth, adoption, marriage, divorce, death, legitimacy, relationship by blood, adoption, or marriage, ancestry, or other similar fact of his personal or family history.

(20) Reputation Concerning Boundaries or General History. Reputation in a community, arising before the controversy, as to boundaries of or customs affecting lands in the community, and reputation as to events of general history important to the community or state or nation in which located.

(21) Reputation as to Character. Reputation of a person's character among his associates or in the community.

(22) Judgment of Previous Conviction. Evidence of a final judgment, entered after a trial or upon a plea of guilty (but not upon a plea of nolo contendere), adjudging a person guilty of a crime punishable by death or imprisonment in excess of 1 year, to prove any fact essential to sustain the judgment, but not including, when offered by the prosecution in a criminal case for purposes other than impeachment, judgments against persons other than the accused. The pendency of an appeal may be shown but does not affect admissibility.

(23) Judgment as to Personal, Family, or General History, or Boundaries. Judgments as proof of matters of personal, family, or general history, or boundaries, essential to the judgment, if the same would be provable by evidence of reputation.

(b) Other Exceptions. [Reserved.] [Adopted December 19, 1978, effective April 2, 1979.]

Comment: This rule is the same as Federal Rule 803, except that one addition is made in subsection (a)(13), a minor editorial improvement is made in subsection (a)(22), and subsection (a)(24) is omitted.

Subsection (a)(1). This subsection is consistent with previous Washington law. Beck v. Dye, 200 Wash. 1, 92 P.2d 113 (1939).

Subsection (a)(2). This subsection is consistent with previous Washington law. Beck v. Dye, supra.

Subsection (a)(3). This subsection is a specialized application of the rule expressed in subsection (a)(1). Under previous law it was not clear whether statements to a physician of the declarant's present pain and suffering were admissible. See 5 R. Meisenholder, Wash. Prac. § 472 (1965 & Supp.). The statements are admissible under Rule 803.

Statements of the declarant's then existing state of mind have been admissible in Washington if there is need for their use and if there is circumstantial probability of their trustworthiness. Raborn v. Hayton, 34 Wn.2d 105, 208 P.2d 133 (1949). The rule is substantially in accord.

The provision relating to wills appears to change Washington law. Compare Carey v. Powell, 32 Wn.2d 761, 204 P.2d 193 (1949). This portion of Rule 803 is based on practical considerations of necessity and expediency and conforms Washington law to the practice followed in a majority of American jurisdictions. Weinstein's Evidence § 803(3)[05] (1975).

Subsection (a)(4). This subsection changes Washington law. Under previous cases, statements of past symptoms and statements relating to medical history, even though made to a treating physician, have been inadmissible as independent substantive evidence. Smith v. Ernst Hardware Co., 61 Wn.2d 75, 377 P.2d 258 (1962). Statements made to a treating or nontreating physician have been allowed into evidence, but only for the purpose of supporting the physician's medical conclusions. Kennedy v. Monroe, 15 Wn. App. 39, 547 P.2d 899 (1976). Rule 803 admits the statements for the purpose of proving the truth of the matter asserted. The justification for the rule, already followed in a number of states, is the patient's motivation to be truthful. Meisenholder § 472. Further, it is unrealistic to assume that a juror, instructed according to previous law, would be able to draw the distinction necessary to hear the statements in order to justify a medical conclusion but to disregard them as to the truth of the matter asserted.

The rule is subject to the restrictions imposed by the law of privileged communications.

Subsection (a)(5). This subsection codifies the familiar hearsay exception for past recollection recorded. Under previous Washington law, the exception only applied if the witness had no independent recollection of the facts. State v. Benson, 58 Wn.2d 490, 364 P.2d 220 (1961). Rule 803 is slightly broader in that it requires only that the witness must have insufficient recollection to testify fully and accurately.

Subsection (a)(6). Federal Rule 803(6) is deleted, not because of any fundamental disagreement with the rule, but because the drafters felt that the subject matter was adequately covered by statutes and decisions already familiar to the bench and bar. See Meisenholder, ch. 28.

Subsection (a)(7). Federal Rule 803(7) is modified to refer to RCW 5.45 rather than to subsection (a)(6). The rule resolves an issue which has not been addressed in this state's decisional law. Meisenholder § 516.

Subsection (a)(8). Federal Rule 803(8) is deleted, not because of any fundamental disagreement with the rule, but because the drafters felt that the subject matter was adequately covered by the statute and decisions already familiar to the bench and bar. See Meisenholder, ch. 29.

Subsection (a)(9). There do not appear to be any previous Washington cases or statutes directly bearing on the admissibility of vital statistics as a hearsay exception. RCW 5.44.040, preserved by subsection (a)(8), may be controlling in many instances.

Subsection (a)(10). A similar provision is found in CR 44(b). CR 44 is not superseded.

Subsection (a)(11). There do not appear to be any previous Washington cases or statutes directly in point, except to the extent that a religious organization may qualify as a "business" under RCW 5.45-.010. Subsection (a)(11) clarifies the law by making specific records of religious organizations admissible as hearsay exceptions.

Subsection (a)(12). There do not appear to be any previous Washington cases or statutes directly in point, except to the extent that the statutes preserved by subsection (a)(6) and (8) may also cover the subject matter of subsection (a)(12).

Subsection (a)(13). This subsection conforms substantially to previous Washington law. Meisenholder § 542. Tattoos have been added to the items enumerated in the federal rule. The drafters felt that tattoos often reflect personal or family history and are apt to be as trustworthy as the other items listed in the rule.

Subsection (a)(14). The hearsay exception for records of documents affecting an interest in property has previously been recognized in Washington. Copies of all deeds which must be filed with the county auditor are admissible. RCW 5.44.070. Copies of city or town plats are admissible. RCW 58.10.020. "Whenever any deed, conveyance, bond, mortgage or other writing, shall have been recorded . . . in pursuance of law, copies of record of such deed, [etc.] . . . shall be received in evidence to all intents and purposes as the originals themselves." RCW 5.44.060. The rule does not conflict with the statutes. It supplements the statutes but does not supersede them.

Subsection (a)(15). There is little prior authority on the admissibility of evidence of statements in documents affecting an interest in property, but what little there is supports an exception to the hearsay rule in accord with the rule. In Adams v. Mignon, 197 Wash. 293, 84 P.2d 1016 (1938), the court held that the trial court did not err when it admitted an abstract of title into evidence: "The abstract, while not conclusive as to facts shown by the record, was admissible for what it was worth."

Subsection (a)(16). The rule reduces the time limit from 30 to 20 years. Compare Spokane v. Catholic Bishop, 33 Wn.2d 496, 206 P.2d 277 (1949). Authentication is accomplished pursuant to Rule 901(b)(8).

Subsection (a)(17). This subsection is substantially in accord with previous Washington law. See Nordstrom v. White Metal, 75 Wn.2d 629, 453 P.2d 619 (1969) and Meyer Bros. Drug Co. v. Callison, 120 Wash. 378, 207 P. 683 (1922).

Subsection (a)(18). This subsection makes statements contained in treatises, periodicals, and pamphlets admissible as substantive evidence, but only when the expert is on the stand and available to explain and assist in the application of the information. Prior cases holding that treatises are not admissible to prove the truth of the statements contained therein are no longer controlling. Compare Dabroe v. Rhodes Co., 64 Wn.2d 431, 392 P.2d 317 (1964). The traditional use of treatises on cross-examination is authorized by Rules 611, 703, and 705.

Subsection (a)(19). Previous Washington law has authorized admission of evidence of reputation within the family or among close associates on matters of family history. Meisenholder § 542. Rule 803(a)(19) clarifies the law by stating more specifically the scope of this hearsay exception. The rule does not require the declarant to be unavailable, nor does it require that the statements must be made prior to litigation with no motive to deceive. Compare Carfe v. Albright, 39

Wn.2d 697, 237 P.2d 795 (1951) and Armstrong v. Woodmen of America, 105 Wash. 356, 178 P. 1 (1919).

Subsection (a)(20). This subsection is substantially in accord with previous Washington law, except that the rule does not require the declarant to be unavailable before the hearsay exception applies. See Kay Corp. v. Anderson, 72 Wn.2d 879, 436 P.2d 459 (1967) and Alverson v. Hooper, 108 Wash. 510, 185 P. 808 (1919).

Subsection (a)(21). Under previous law, the scope of this exception could not be stated definitively. Meisenholder § 544. The rule clarifies the law by establishing reputation as a general exception to the hearsay rule. The methods of proving character are defined by Rule 405.

Subsection (a)(22). No similar exception to the hearsay rule is defined by previous Washington law. Meisenholder § 545. Admissibility is limited by the restrictions stated in the rule. The rule does not deal with the substantive effect of a judgment as res judicata, nor does it govern evidence of a conviction for impeachment. The latter is governed by Rule 609. Even though the rule permits certain convictions to be used as substantive evidence in later litigation, the rule does not preclude the defendant from offering an explanation of the conviction based on newly acquired evidence. 4 Weinstein's Evidence § 802(22)[01] (1975).

Subsection (a)(23). There do not appear to be any previous Washington statutes or cases directly in point. The leading case is Patterson v. Gaines, 47 U.S. (6 How.) 550 (1848).

Section (b). Federal Rule 803(24) is deleted. The drafters decided not to adopt any catch-all provision. Despite purported safeguards, there is a serious risk that trial judges would differ greatly in applying the elastic standard of equivalent trustworthiness. The result would be a lack of uniformity which would make preparation for trial difficult. Nor would it be likely that an appellate court could effectively apply corrective measures. There would be doubt whether an affirmation of an admission of evidence under the catch-all provision amounted to the creation of a new exception with the force of precedent or merely a refusal to rule that the trial court had abused its discretion.

Flexibility in construction of the rules so as to promote growth and development of the law of evidence is called for by Rule 102. Under this mandate there will be room to construe an existing hearsay exception broadly in the interest of ascertaining truth, as distinguished from creating an entirely new exception based upon the trial judge's determination of equivalent trustworthiness, a guideline which the most conscientious of judges would find extremely difficult to follow.

Rule 804 Hearsay exceptions: Declarant unavailable.

(a) Definition of Unavailability. "Unavailability as a witness" includes situations in which the declarant:

(1) Is exempted by ruling of the court on the ground of privilege from testifying concerning the subject matter of his statement; or

(2) Persists in refusing to testify concerning the subject matter of his statement despite an order of the court to do so; or

(3) Testifies to a lack of memory of the subject matter of his statement; or

(4) Is unable to be present or to testify at the hearing because of death or then existing physical or mental illness or infirmity; or

(5) Is absent from the hearing and the proponent of his statement has been unable to procure his attendance (or in the case of a hearsay exception under subsection (b)(2), (3), or (4), his attendance or testimony) by process or other reasonable means.

(6) A declarant is not unavailable as a witness if his exemption, refusal, claim of lack of memory, inability, or absence is due to the procurement or wrongdoing of the proponent of his statement for the purpose of preventing the witness from attending or testifying.

(b) Hearsay Exceptions. The following are not excluded by the hearsay rule if the declarant is unavailable as a witness:

(1) Former Testimony. Testimony given as a witness at another hearing of the same or a different proceeding, or in a deposition taken in compliance with law in the course of the same or another proceeding, if the party against whom the testimony is now offered, or, in a civil action or proceeding, a predecessor in interest, had an opportunity and similar motive to develop the testimony by direct, cross, or redirect examination.

(2) Statement Under Belief of Impending Death. In a trial for homicide or in a civil action or proceeding, a statement made by a declarant while believing that his death was imminent, concerning the cause or circumstances of what he believed to be his impending death.

(3) Statement Against Interest. A statement which was at the time of its making so far contrary to the declarant's pecuniary or proprietary interest, or so far tended to subject him to civil or criminal liability, or to render invalid a claim by him against another, that a reasonable man in his position would not have made the statement unless he believed it to be true. A statement tending to expose the declarant to criminal liability and offered to exculpate the accused is not admissible unless corroborating circumstances clearly indicate the trustworthiness of the statement.

(4) Statement of Personal or Family History. (i) A statement concerning the declarant's own birth, adoption, marriage, divorce, legitimacy, relationship by blood, adoption, or marriage, ancestry, or other similar fact of personal or family history, even though declarant had no means of acquiring personal knowledge of the matter stated; or (ii) a statement concerning the foregoing matters, and death also, of another person, if the declarant was related to the other by blood, adoption, or marriage or was so intimately associated with the other's family as to be likely to have accurate information concerning the matter declared.

(5) Other Exceptions. [Reserved.] [Adopted December 19, 1978, effective April 2, 1979.]

Comment: This rule is the same as Federal Rule 804, except that a minor editorial change is made in subsection (b)(2), and subsection (b)(5) is omitted. The rule defines the hearsay exceptions which apply only if the declarant is unavailable.

Section (a). Previous Washington law has defined "unavailability" differently in various contexts. See State v. Ortego, 22 Wn.2d 552, 157 P.2d 320 (1945); State v. Solomon, 5 Wn. App. 412, 487 P.2d 643 (1971); Allen v. Dillard, 15 Wn.2d 35, 129 P.2d 813 (1943). Rule 804 clarifies the law by establishing a general definition applicable to all cases.

The admissibility of hearsay against a defendant in a criminal case is also subject to overriding constitutional considerations. In Barber v. Page, 390 U.S. 719 (1968), for example, the Supreme Court held that the confrontation clause of the Sixth Amendment requires the government to make stringent efforts to procure the attendance of a prosecution witness before the witness can be considered "unavailable". A lesser standard prevails in civil cases and in criminal cases where the statement is being offered on behalf of the accused. These and other constitutional restrictions on Rules 801 and 804 are discussed in Weinstein's Evidence § 804(a)[01] (1975).

Read literally, subsection (a)(3) seems to require only that the declarant assert a lack of memory to be considered unavailable. The rule does not appear to require that the court believe that the declarant is telling the truth. The Report of the House Committee on the Judiciary, however, indicates that "the Committee intends no change in the existing federal law under which the court may choose to disbelieve the declarant's testimony as to a lack of memory." Federal Rules of Evidence for the United States Courts and Magistrates 140 (West 1975). Accord, Weinstein's Evidence § 804(a)[01] (1975).

Since the witness must testify to the lack of memory and is, therefore, subject to cross-examination about his claim, the concern of some courts that the witness may make a perjured allegation of forgetfulness to avoid having to be cross-examined about his testimony is considerably lessened. Cross-examination about the making of the statement and his present recollection gives the trial judge an opportunity for assessing the witness' credibility. Id.

Subsection (b)(1). This portion of the rule is substantially in accord with previous Washington law in civil cases. 5 R. Meisenholder, Wash. Prac. §§ 401-08 (1965 & Supp.). See also CR 43(h) and (j). In criminal cases, previous Washington law has imposed greater restrictions on the use of former testimony. The use of testimony at a former trial has been limited to proceedings on the same charge. State v. Lunsford, 163 Wash. 199, 300 P. 529 (1931). Rule 804 is less restrictive but is, of course, subject to constitutional limitations. For example, it has been held that under the state constitution, the defendant in criminal cases against whom the former testimony is introduced must have been present at the former trial and must have had the opportunity to confront and cross-examine witnesses. State v. Ortego, 22 Wn.2d 552, 157 P.2d 320 (1945).

Subsection (b)(2). Previous Washington law has recognized a limited exception for dying declarations. It has applied only in criminal cases involving prosecution for homicide. Hobbs v. Great Northern Ry. Co., 80 Wash. 678, 142 P. 20 (1914). Death must have actually resulted from the injuries creating the belief in impending death. State v. Lewis, 80 Wash. 532, 141 P. 1025 (1914). Declarations containing conclusions or opinion have been inadmissible to that extent. State v. Schwartz, 108 Wash. 21, 182 P. 953 (1919). Rule 804 broadens the scope of this exception. The rule substitutes the word "trial" for "prosecution" to avoid the unwarranted implication that the defendant might not be allowed to introduce a dying declaration.

Subsection (b)(3). Under previous Washington law, this exception has applied only to declarations against the declarant's pecuniary or proprietary interest. Allen v. Dillard, 15 Wn.2d 35, 129 P.2d 813 (1943). There has been no apparent authority concerning statements of matters which could furnish the basis for tort liability or invalidate a claim, nor has there been authority concerning statements furnishing the basis for criminal liability. Meisenholder § 441. Rule 804 expands and clarifies the scope of this exception.

Subsection (b)(4). Previous Washington law has recognized an exception for statements of personal or family history substantially in accord with Rule 804, although the rule is much more detailed. The rule does not require the statement to have been made prior to the litigation and with no motive to deceive, a restriction apparently imposed by previous law. Meisenholder § 542.

Subsection (b)(5). Federal Rule 804(b)(5) is deleted for the same reasons that Federal Rule 803(24) is deleted. See the comment to Rule 803(b).

Rule 805 Hearsay within hearsay. Hearsay included within hearsay is not excluded under the hearsay rule if each part of the combined statements conforms with an exception to the hearsay rule provided in these rules. [Adopted December 19, 1978, effective April 2, 1979.]

Comment: This rule is the same as Federal Rule 805. It accepts the trustworthiness of each hearsay statement once it has been deemed worthy of an exception. Thus, if a dying declaration incorporated a declaration against interest by another out-of-court declarant, both statements would be admissible as exceptions to the hearsay rule. The statement of the second declarant is not admissible, however, if it does not fall within an exception. See, for example, Johnson v. Lutz, 253 N.Y. 124, 170 N.E. 517 (1930), holding information from a bystander incorporated in an admissible police report to be inadmissible as hearsay.

Rule 806 Attacking and supporting credibility of declarant. When a hearsay statement, or a statement defined in Rule 801(d)(2)(iii), (iv), or (v), has been admitted in evidence, the credibility of the declarant may be attacked, and if attacked may be supported, by any evidence which would be admissible for those purposes if declarant had testified as a witness. Evidence of a statement or conduct by the declarant at any time, inconsistent with his hearsay statement, is not subject to any requirement that he may have been afforded an opportunity to deny or explain. If the party against whom a hearsay statement has been admitted calls the declarant as a witness, the party is entitled to examine him on the statement as if under cross-examination. [Adopted December 19, 1978, effective April 2, 1979.]

Comment: This rule is the same as Federal Rule 806. The declarant of a hearsay statement which is admitted in evidence is in effect a witness. His credibility is subject to impeachment and support just as if he had testified.

The use of an inconsistent statement to impeach a hearsay declarant is not subject to the usual requirement that the witness have been afforded an opportunity to deny or explain it. Compare Rule 613. The foundation requirement is relaxed here because, as a practical matter, the declarant seldom will have been confronted with inconsistent statements when making an out-of-court statement later admitted as an exception to the hearsay rule. See Weinstein's Evidence § 806[01] (1975).

ARTICLE IX. AUTHENTICATION AND IDENTIFICATION.

Rule

- 901 Requirement of authentication or identification.
 - (a) General provision.
 - (b) Illustrations.
- 902 Self-authentication.
 - (a) Domestic public documents under seal.
 - (b) Domestic public documents not under seal.
 - (c) Foreign public documents.
 - (d) Certified copies of public records.
 - (e) Official publications.
 - (f) Newspapers and periodicals.
 - (g) Trade inscriptions and the like.
 - (h) Acknowledged documents.
 - (i) Commercial paper and related documents.
 - (j) Presumptions created by law.
- 903 Subscribing witness' testimony unnecessary.

Rule 901 Requirement of authentication or identification.

(a) General Provision. The requirement of authentication or identification as a condition precedent to admissibility is satisfied by evidence sufficient to support a finding that the matter in question is what its proponent claims.

(b) Illustrations. By way of illustration only, and not by way of limitation, the following are examples of authentication or identification conforming with the requirements of this rule:

(1) Testimony of Witness With Knowledge. Testimony that a matter is what it is claimed to be.

(2) Nonexpert Opinion on Handwriting. Nonexpert opinion as to the genuineness of handwriting, based upon familiarity not acquired for purposes of the litigation.

(3) Comparison by Court or Expert Witness. Comparison by the court or by expert witnesses with specimens which have been authenticated.

(4) Distinctive Characteristics and the Like. Appearance, contents, substance, internal patterns, or other distinctive characteristics, taken in conjunction with circumstances.

(5) Voice Identification. Identification of a voice, whether heard firsthand or through mechanical or electronic transmission or recording, by opinion based upon hearing the voice at any time under circumstances connecting it with the alleged speaker.

(6) Telephone Conversations. Telephone conversations, by evidence that a call was made to the number assigned at the time by the telephone company to a particular person or business, if (i) in the case of a person, circumstances, including self-identification, show the person answering to be the one called, or (ii) in the case of a business, the call was made to a place of business and the conversation related to business reasonably transacted over the telephone.

(7) Public Records or Reports. [Reserved. See RCW 5.44 and CR 44.]

(8) Ancient Documents or Data Compilation. Evidence that a document or data compilation, in any form, (i) is in such condition as to create no suspicion concerning its authenticity, (ii) was in a place where it, if authentic, would likely be, and (iii) has been in existence 20 years or more at the time it is offered.

(9) Process or System. Evidence describing a process or system used to produce a result and showing that the process or system produces an accurate result.

(10) Methods Provided by Statute or Rule. Any method of authentication or identification provided by statute or court rule. [Adopted December 19, 1978, effective April 2, 1979.]

Comment: Federal Rule 901 has been modified to restrict the application of subparagraph (b)(3), to delete subparagraph (b)(7), and to adapt subparagraph (b)(10) to state practice.

Section (a). The rule treats preliminary questions of authentication and identification as matters of conditional relevance under Rule 104(b). The court should admit the evidence if sufficient proof is introduced to permit a reasonable juror to find in favor of its authenticity or identification. Weinstein's Evidence § 901(a)[01] (1975). There is no apparent conflict between section (a) and previous Washington law. See 5 R. Meisenholder, Wash. Prac. §§ 38, 61 (1965 & Supp.). The rule is concerned only with proving authenticity. It does not govern admissibility. An authentic document may still be inadmissible under another rule.

Example 1. This portion of the rule is consistent with previous Washington law. Allen v. Porter, 19 Wn.2d 503, 143 P.2d 328 (1943); State v. Cottrell, 56 Wash. 543, 106 P. 179 (1910). The rule does not require that the witness' testimony, alone, be sufficient for authentication. This is true for the other examples as well. Any combination of methods illustrated by Rule 901(b)(1) through (10) will suffice so long as Rule 901(a) is satisfied. Weinstein's Evidence § 901(b)(1)[01] (1975).

Example 2. This portion of the rule is consistent with previous Washington law. State v. Simmons, 52 Wash. 132, 100 P. 269 (1909); Meisenholder § 61.

Example 3. Federal Rule 901(b)(3) permits the comparison to be made by the "trier of fact." The Washington rule substitutes the word "court" to avoid any suggestion that the jury initially determines whether the requirement of authentication has been satisfied. It is the judge who determines whether the proponent of the evidence has made a prima facie demonstration that it is genuine. Once this demonstration is made, the document is sufficiently authenticated for admissibility. Meisenholder § 61. After the document is admitted, however, evidence challenging its authenticity is pertinent and authenticity ultimately becomes a factual issue for the jury. See, e.g., State v. Bogart, 21 Wn.2d 765, 153 P.2d 507 (1944); Mitchell v. Mitchell, 24 Wn.2d 701, 166 P.2d 938 (1946); State v. Haislip, 77 Wn.2d 838, 467 P.2d 284 (1970).

In a jury case, the initial comparison by the judge should probably be made in the absence of the jury. This procedure is authorized by Rule 104(c).

Example 4. This portion of the rule reflects, for example, the reply letter technique. A letter is sufficiently authenticated by showing that a letter was sent to a person and that the letter to be introduced is in reply to the first letter. Connor v. Zanuzoski, 36 Wn.2d 458, 218 P.2d 879 (1950). Other examples of circumstantial proof are cited in Meisenholder § 63.

Example 5. This portion of the rule is substantially in accord with previous Washington law. State v. Williams, 49 Wn.2d 354, 301 P.2d 769 (1956). Proper identification and authentication do not assure admissibility. RCW 9.73.050, for example, makes sound recordings inadmissible under certain circumstances.

Example 6. This portion of the rule is substantially in accord with previous law in Washington and elsewhere. Meisenholder § 66. One Washington decision appears to hold that self-identification by the answering party is insufficient for authentication. State v. Manos, 149 Wash. 60, 270 P. 132 (1929). Self-identification is sufficient under Rule 901 so long as the call was made to the telephone number assigned to that particular person.

Example 7. Federal Rule 901(b)(7) is deleted, not because of any fundamental disagreement with its content, but because the subject matter is covered by existing statutes and rules which have become familiar to the bench and bar. CR 44 does not supersede the cited statute. Either procedure may be used. State v. Hodge, 11 Wn. App. 323, 523 P.2d 953 (1974). A common-law procedure for authenticating original government documents is described in State v. Bolen, 142 Wash. 653, 254 P. 445 (1927).

Example 8. The rule reduces the time limit from 30 to 20 years. Compare Spokane v. Catholic Bishop, 33 Wn.2d 496, 206 P.2d 277 (1949).

Example 9. This portion of the rule would apply, for example, to the authentication of photographs and X-rays. Meisenholder § 32. Authorities discussing computer printouts are cited in the Advisory Committee Note to Federal Rule 902. See also Seattle v. Heath, 10 Wn. App. 949, 520 P.2d 1392 (1974).

Example 10. Statutes and other court rules defining methods of authentication are not superseded by Rule 901.

Rule 902 Self-authentication. Extrinsic evidence of authenticity as a condition precedent to admissibility is not required with respect to the following:

(a) Domestic Public Documents Under Seal. A document bearing a seal purporting to be that of the United States, or of any state, district, commonwealth, territory, or insular possession thereof, or the Panama Canal Zone, or the Trust Territory of the Pacific Islands, or of a political subdivision, department, officer, or agency thereof, and a signature purporting to be an attestation or execution.

(b) Domestic Public Documents Not Under Seal. A document purporting to bear the signature in his official capacity of an officer or employee of any entity included in section (a), having no seal, if a public officer having a seal and having official duties in the district or political subdivision of the officer or employee certifies under seal that the signer has the official capacity and that the signature is genuine.

(c) Foreign Public Documents. A document purporting to be executed or attested in his official capacity by a person authorized by the laws of a foreign country to make the execution or attestation, and accompanied by a final certification as to the genuineness of the signature and official position (1) of the executing or attesting person, or (2) of any foreign official whose certificate of genuineness of signature and official position relates to the execution or attestation or is in a chain of certificates of genuineness of signature and official position relating to the execution or attestation. A final certification may be made by a secretary of embassy or legation, consul general, consul, vice-consul, or consular agent of the United States, or a diplomatic or consular official of the foreign country assigned or accredited to the United States. If reasonable opportunity has been given to all parties to investigate the authenticity and accuracy of official documents, the court may, for good cause shown, order that they be treated as presumptively authentic without final certification or permit them to be evidenced by an attested summary with or without final certification.

(d) Certified Copies of Public Records. A copy of an official record or report or entry therein, or of a document authorized by law to be recorded or filed and actually recorded or filed in a public office, including data compilations in any form, certified as correct by the custodian or other person authorized to make the certification, by certificate complying with section (a), (b), or (c) of this rule or complying with any law of the United States or of this state.

(e) Official Publications. Books, pamphlets, or other publications purporting to be issued by public authority.

(f) Newspapers and Periodicals. Printed materials purporting to be newspapers or periodicals.

(g) Trade Inscriptions and the Like. Inscriptions, signs, tags, or labels purporting to have been affixed in the house of business and indicating ownership, control, or origin.

(h) Acknowledged Documents. Documents accompanied by a certificate of acknowledgement executed in the manner provided by law by a notary public or other officer authorized by law to take acknowledgements.

(i) Commercial Paper and Related Documents. Commercial paper, signatures thereon, and documents relating thereto to the extent provided by general commercial law.

(j) Presumptions Created by Law. Any signature, document, or other matter declared by any law of the United States or of this state to be presumptively or prima facie genuine or authentic. [Adopted December 19, 1978, effective April 2, 1979.]

Comment: This rule is the same as Federal Rule 902, except that sections (d) and (j) have been modified to adapt the rule to state practice. Unlike the ten subsections in Rule 901, the ten sections in Rule 902 are not set forth as examples. They comprise instead the scope of the rule. This rule does not preclude the opposite party from disputing the authenticity of a document listed in the rule. It should also be emphasized that the rule is concerned only with the authenticity of certain documents. It is not concerned with their admissibility. A document deemed authentic may still be inadmissible under another rule.

By the terms of Rules 901(b)(10) and 902(j), statutory methods of authentication are preserved as alternative procedures. See, e.g., RCW 5.44. CR 44, Proof of Official Record, relates to some of the matters governed by Rule 902. CR 44 is not superseded and remains as an alternative procedure. R. Meisenholder, 3 West's Federal Forms § 3926 (1976 Supp.).

Section (a). This section simplifies the procedure for determining the authenticity of a domestic public document bearing a seal. Forgeries are unlikely, and detection is relatively easy and certain.

Section (b). A document purporting to bear an official signature is more easily forged in the absence of a seal. The rule thus requires the additional safeguard of authentication by an officer who does have a seal.

Section (c). This section is substantially the same as CR 44(a)(2).

Section (d). This section reflects the familiar practice of recognizing certified copies of public records. The rule defers to statutes such as RCW 5.44 which address the procedure for certification in more detail.

Section (e). By statute, certain official publications are considered authentic. See, e.g., RCW 5.44.070, 5.44.080. The rule accepts all official publications as authentic. The rule does not confer authenticity upon statutes, rules, and court decisions reprinted by nongovernmental publishers. Weinstein's Evidence § 902(5)[01] (1975).

Section (f). Newspapers and periodicals are considered authentic because the risk of forgery is minimal. The rule could not be determined with certainty under previous Washington law. 5 R. Meisenholder, Wash. Prac. § 65 (1965 & Supp.).

Section (g). The laws protecting trade inscriptions minimize the risk of forgery. The rule generalizes upon a policy which has been previously implemented on a piece-meal basis. See, e.g., RCW 16.57.100 (brands as evidence of title to livestock); Kneeland Inv. Co. v. Berendes, 81 Wash. 372, 142 P. 869 (1914) (seal of corporation on stock certificate held sufficient authentication).

Section (h). The rule is consistent with RCW 64.08.050. The persons authorized to take acknowledgements are defined by RCW 64.08.010.

Section (i). The rule incorporates the provisions of the Uniform Commercial Code relating to authenticity. See RCW 62A.1-202 (certain documents deemed to be prima facie evidence of their own authenticity and genuineness); RCW 62A.3-307 (signatures presumed to be genuine); RCW 62A.3-510 (certain documents are admissible in evidence and create presumption of dishonor).

Section (j). Federal Rule 902(10) has been modified to refer to state law as well as to federal statutes. Statutory procedures such as those defined in RCW 5.44 are preserved. As to self-authenticating wills, see RCW 11.20.020. Some statutes provide that a document is presumptively authentic, but only after it has been certified or otherwise verified in a specified manner. See, e.g., RCW 77.12.050 (rules and regulations of state game commission). Section (j) does not eliminate these restrictions. Certified copies are governed by section (d). Other documents not falling within sections (a) through (i) but made presumptively authentic by statute are subject to any statutory conditions or restrictions on authenticity.

Rule 903 Subscribing witness' testimony unnecessary.

The testimony of a subscribing witness is not necessary to authenticate a writing unless required by the laws of the jurisdiction whose laws govern the validity of the writing. [Adopted December 19, 1978, effective April 2, 1979.]

Comment: This rule is the same as Federal Rule 903. It eliminates the traditional common-law requirement of live testimony from a subscribing witness and reflects the prevailing modern view. McCormick on Evidence § 220 (2d ed. 1972). The rule preserves statutes which require live testimony under particular circumstances.

ARTICLE X. CONTENTS OF WRITINGS, RECORDINGS, AND PHOTOGRAPHS.

Rule
1001	Definitions. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> (a) Writings and recordings. (b) Photographs. (c) Original. (d) Duplicate.
1002	Requirement of original.
1003	Admissibility of duplicates.
1004	Admissibility of other evidence of contents. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> (a) Original lost or destroyed. (b) Original not obtainable. (c) Original in possession of opponent. (d) Collateral matters.
1005	Public records.
1006	Summaries.
1007	Testimony or written admission of party.
1008	Functions of court and jury.

Rule 1001 Definitions. For purposes of this article the following definitions are applicable:

(a) Writings and Recordings. "Writings" and "recordings" consist of letters, words, sounds, or numbers, or their equivalent, set down by handwriting, typewriting, printing, photostating, photographing, magnetic impulse, mechanical or electronic recording, or other form of data compilation.

(b) Photographs. "Photographs" include still photographs, X-ray films, and motion pictures.

(c) Original. An "original" of a writing or recording is the writing or recording itself or any counterpart intended to have the same effect by a person executing or issuing it. An "original" of a photograph includes the negative or any print therefrom. If data are stored in a computer or similar device, any printout or other output readable by sight, shown to reflect the data accurately, is an "original".

(d) Duplicate. A "duplicate" is a counterpart produced by the same impression as the original, or from the same matrix, or by means of photography, including enlargements and miniatures, or by mechanical or electronic recording, or by chemical reproduction, or by other equivalent techniques which accurately reproduce the original. [Adopted December 19, 1978, effective April 2, 1979.]

Comment: This rule is the same as Federal Rule 1001 except that "sounds" have been added to section (a). This addition is also found in Uniform Rule 1001. The rule establishes definitions which apply throughout Article X. "Original" includes a counterpart intended to have the effect of an original. Thus, for example, an original and a photocopy of a contract, both bearing the original signatures of the parties and intended as originals, would both be originals under the rule. Previous Washington law is in accord. 5 R. Meisenholder, Wash. Prac. § 94 (1965 & Supp.). To qualify as a "duplicate", a copy must be produced by a method which virtually eliminates the possibility of error. Copies produced manually, whether handwritten or typed, are not within the definition.

The rules in Article X do not govern the authenticity of an "original". That determination is made by reference to the rules in Article IX. The authenticity of any piece of evidence, even documents which are self-authenticating under Rule 902, may be disputed by the opposing party. Advisory Committee Note, Federal Rule 902. Thus, for example, an opposing party may challenge the integrity of an electronic recording even though it qualifies as an "original" under Article X. See also Comments 901 and 902. Similarly, the rules do not prevent a party from challenging the accuracy of data fed into a computer or the integrity of the computer's storage system, even though a printout qualifies as the "original".

Rule 1002 Requirement of original. To prove the content of a writing, recording, or photograph, the original writing, recording, or photograph is required, except as otherwise provided in these rules or by rules adopted by the Supreme Court of this state or by statute. [Adopted December 19, 1978, effective April 2, 1979.]

Comment: Federal Rule 1002 has been modified to refer to state rules and statutes instead of to federal statutes. Taken together, Rules 1001 and 1002 extend the traditional best evidence rule from writings to photographs and recordings as well. Previous Washington law has applied the best evidence rule only to writings. 5 R. Meisenholder, Wash. Prac. § 99 (1965 & Supp.). Although the rule now requires original photographs, Rule 1001(3) defines an original photograph broadly as the negative or any print therefrom. The rule defers to statutory exceptions to the normal rule of requiring the original. These statutes are cited and discussed in Meisenholder § 98.

Rule 1003 Admissibility of duplicates. A duplicate is admissible to the same extent as an original unless (1) a genuine question is raised as to the authenticity of the original or (2) in the circumstances it would be unfair to admit the duplicate in lieu of the original. [Adopted December 19, 1978, effective April 2, 1979.]

Comment: This rule is the same as Federal Rule 1003 and relaxes the best evidence rule with respect to duplicates. Under Rule 1003, the admission of duplicates is not limited to situations where the original is unavailable. Compare 5 R. Meisenholder, Wash. Prac. § 95 (1965 & Supp.). The rule applies only to duplicates as defined in Rule 1001 and thus assures the admission of accurate reproductions. The rule changes the law more in theory than in practice. As a practical matter, photocopies are reliable reproductions and are widely used both in commercial transactions and in litigation. The rule reflects this reality and at the same time affords ample opportunity to challenge the authenticity of a duplicate.

Rule 1004 Admissibility of other evidence of contents. The original is not required, and other evidence of the contents of a writing, recording, or photograph is admissible if:

(a) Original Lost or Destroyed. All originals are lost or have been destroyed, unless the proponent lost or destroyed them in bad faith; or

(b) Original Not Obtainable. No original can be obtained by any available judicial process or procedure; or

(c) Original in Possession of Opponent. At a time when an original was under the control of the party against whom offered, he was put on notice, by the pleadings or otherwise, that the contents would be a subject of proof at the hearing, and he does not produce the original at the hearing; or

(d) Collateral Matters. The writing, recording, or photograph is not closely related to a controlling issue. [Adopted December 19, 1978, effective April 2, 1979.]

Comment: This rule is the same as Federal Rule 1004 and rejects any suggestion of a "second best" evidence rule. It is substantially in accord with previous Washington law. Although there is no case directly in point, the decisions appear to assume that there are no degrees of secondary evidence. 5 R. Meisenholder, Wash. Prac. §§ 95, 96 (1965 & Supp.).

Proof of a lost or destroyed will is governed by RCW 11.20.070. The statute defines "lost" and "destroyed" for purposes of probate and establishes the procedure to be followed. The statute is not in conflict with the rule and is not superseded.

Section (d), relating to collateral matters, reflects existing law in Washington and elsewhere. Meisenholder § 93.

The definition of "collateral" is elusive in the absence of specific facts. "In the final analysis the question of whether a document's terms are collateral depends upon the importance of the terms to the issues in the case. Insistence upon proof by introduction of an original document to prove its terms is a waste of time when the terms are relatively unimportant and not the subject of an important factual issue." Meisenholder § 93. See also McCormick on Evidence § 236 (2d ed. 1972).

Thus, for example, in State ex rel. Walton v. Superior Court, 18 Wn.2d 810, 140 P.2d 554 (1943), the principal issue was whether an easement over the land to be condemned was necessary in order to reach certain timber. The court held that oral testimony concerning ownership of the land to be benefited by the easement was admissible because ownership was a collateral question. In another case, oral testimony concerning a contract was held admissible to show the relationship between the plaintiffs and their right to sue jointly. Hull v. Seattle, R. & S. Ry., 60 Wash. 162, 110 P. 804 (1910).

Rule 1005 Public records. The contents of an official record, or of a document authorized to be recorded or filed and actually recorded or filed, including data compilations in any form, if otherwise admissible, may be proved by copy, certified as correct in accordance with Rule 902 or testified to be correct by a witness who has compared it with the original. If a copy which complies with the foregoing cannot be obtained by the exercise of reasonable diligence, then other evidence of the contents may be given. [Adopted December 19, 1978, effective April 2, 1979.]

Comment: This rule is the same as Federal Rule 1005. It exempts public records from the requirement of producing the original under Rule 1002 because their removal from public custody is often not feasible. Unlike Rule 1002, which makes no distinction among degrees of secondary evidence, this rule expresses a preference for certified or compared copies over other forms of secondary evidence.

Various statutes authorize the use of certified copies. RCW 5.44.040 (certified copies of public records); RCW 5.44.060 (certified copies of recorded instruments); RCW 5.44.070 (certified copies of transcripts of county commissioners' proceedings); RCW 5.44.090 (certified copies of instruments restoring civil rights). The rule authorizes proof by certified copy of any public record.

The rule changes Washington law in the sense that no previous authority has been found which equates compared copies with certified copies.

The last sentence of the rule authorizes proof by other forms of secondary evidence if neither a certified nor a compared copy can be obtained with reasonable diligence. Although this approach has been authorized in a number of factual situations, no previous authority has been found which applies the rule generally to public records. See 5 R. Meisenholder, Wash. Prac. §§ 95, 96 (1965 & Supp.).

Rule 1006 Summaries. The contents of voluminous writings, recordings, or photographs which cannot conveniently be examined in court may be presented in the form of a chart, summary, or calculation. The originals, or duplicates, shall be made available for examination or copying, or both, by other parties at reasonable time and place. The court may order that they be produced in court. [Adopted December 19, 1978, effective April 2, 1979.]

Comment: This rule is the same as Federal Rule 1006 and is substantially in accord with previous Washington law. See Kenn v. O'Rourke, 48 Wn.2d 1, 290 P.2d 976 (1955). The rule does not require that the summary be prepared by a person with special expertise, but as a practical matter, the summary would ordinarily be prepared by a qualified person in order to avoid a challenge to its accuracy under Rule 1008. See Weinstein's Evidence § 1006[01] (1975).

Rule 1007 Testimony or written admission of party. Contents of writings, recordings, or photographs may be proved by the testimony or deposition of the party against whom offered or by his written admission, without accounting for the nonproduction of the original. [Adopted December 19, 1978, effective April 2, 1979.]

Comment: This rule is the same as Federal Rule 1007 and conforms to the view expressed in McCormick on Evidence § 242 (2d ed. 1972). An adverse party's oral testimony, deposition, and writings are within the scope of the rule; oral admissions made out of court are not. Written responses to interrogatories and requests for admission are admissible under this rule. Weinstein's Evidence § 1007[05] (1975). There appears to be no previous Washington law on this point. 5 R. Meisenholder, Wash. Prac. § 97 (1965 & Supp.).

Rule 1008 Functions of court and jury. When the admissibility of other evidence of contents of writings, recordings, or photographs under these rules depends upon the fulfillment of a condition of fact, the question whether the condition as been fulfilled is ordinarily for the court to determine in accordance with the provisions of Rule 104. However, when an issue is raised (1) whether the asserted writing ever existed, or (2) whether another writing, recording, or photograph produced at the trial is the original, or (3) whether other evidence of contents correctly reflects the contents, the issue is for the trier of fact to determine as in the case of other issues of fact. [Adopted December 19, 1978, effective April 2, 1979.]

Comment: This rule is the same as Federal Rule 1008 and defines a specialized approach to determining questions under Rule 104 for matters within the scope of Article X. RCW 4.44.080 and 4.44.090 allocate questions of law and fact to the court and jury, respectively. The rule is more specific than the statutes but does not conflict with them. The statutes are not superseded.

ARTICLE XI. MISCELLANEOUS RULES.

Rule

- 1101 Applicability of rules.
 - (a) Courts generally.
 - (b) Law with respect to privilege.
 - (c) When rules need not be applied.
- 1102 Amendments [Reserved].
- 1103 Title.

Rule 1101 Applicability of rules.

(a) Courts Generally. Except as otherwise provided in section (c), these rules apply to all actions and proceedings in the courts of the state of Washington. The terms "judge" and "court" in these rules refer to any judge of any court to which these rules apply or any other officer who is authorized by law to hold any hearing to which these rules apply.

(b) Law With Respect to Privilege. The law with respect to privileges applies at all stages of all actions, cases, and proceedings.

(c) When Rules Need Not Be Applied. The rules (other than with respect to privileges) need not be applied in the following situations:

(1) Preliminary Questions of Fact. The determination of questions of fact preliminary to admissibility of evidence when the issue is to be determined by the court under Rule 104(a).

(2) Grand Jury. Proceedings before grand juries and special inquiry judges.

(3) Miscellaneous Proceedings. Proceedings for extradition or rendition; detainer proceedings under RCW 9.100; preliminary determinations in criminal cases; sentencing, or granting or revoking probation; issuance of warrants for arrest, criminal summonses, and search warrants; proceedings with respect to release on bail or otherwise; contempt proceedings in which the court may act summarily; habeas corpus proceedings; small claims courts; supplemental proceedings under RCW 6.32; coroners' inquests; disposition hearings in juvenile court; dispositional determinations under the Uniform Alcoholism and Intoxication Treatment Act, RCW 70.96A; and dispositional determinations under the civil commitment act, RCW 71.05. [Adopted December 19, 1978, effective April 2, 1979.]

Comment: Federal Rule 1101 has been modified by deleting references to matters heard only in federal court and by adding references to certain proceedings heard in the state courts. The rule conforms substantially to previous Washington practice.

Section (a). The rules of evidence apply generally to civil and criminal proceedings, including mental commitment proceedings, reference hearings, and juvenile court fact-finding and adjudicatory hearings. See RCW 71.05.250, RCW 71.05.310, MPR 3.4, RAP 16.12, JuCR 3.7, and JuCR 7.11. Juvenile court hearings on whether to decline jurisdiction are not excused from the operation of the rules. These hearings have a substantial impact upon the case and deserve the formality of evidentiary rules. Cf. In re Harbert, 85 Wn.2d 719, 538 P.2d 1212 (1975).

The words "judge" and "court" are used interchangeably throughout the rules and refer to a judge, judge pro tempore, commissioner, or any other person authorized to hold a hearing to which the rules apply.

Section (b). The law concerning privileged communications applies to all proceedings, including those listed in section (c).

Subsection (c)(1). This portion of the rule is a restatement of a similar provision in Rule 104. The rules need not be applied, for example, at a hearing on a motion to suppress evidence. United States v. Matlock, 415 U.S. 164 (1974); Am. Jur. 2d, Federal Rules of Evidence (New Topic Service 1975). The rule, like all of the other rules, does not attempt to specify the situations in which due process would require a full evidentiary hearing. That determination is made by reference to constitutional law.

In the absence of a constitutional requirement, the rule still does not prevent the court from requiring a certain measure of reliability with respect to the admission of evidence in the proceedings specified in section (c). The court should have the discretion to require an appropriate level of formality.

Subsection (c)(2). The statutes contain special evidentiary provisions for grand juries and inquiry judges. See RCW 10.27.120, .130, .140, and .170. Although there are no Washington cases directly in point, the majority view is that the validity of a grand jury indictment may not be challenged on the basis of insufficient or incompetent evidence unless none of the witnesses was competent. Annot., 37 A.L.R.3d 612 (1971); Annot., 39 A.L.R.3d 1064 (1971).

Subsection (c)(3). Proceedings with respect to extradition, rendition, and detainers are essentially administrative matters, and the rules of evidence have traditionally not applied. Gibson v. Beall, 249 F.2d 489 (D.C. Cir. 1957); United States v. Flood, 374 F.2d 554 (2d Cir. 1967).

The view that the rules of evidence do not apply to preliminary determinations in criminal cases is consistent with the Superior Court Criminal Rules. See, e.g., CrR 3.2(i), relating to hearings on pretrial release. The rule refers to "determinations" rather than to "examinations," the federal rule's terminology. This change was made to clarify the intent to relax the rules of evidence with respect to all preliminary matters, not just at hearings in which the accused gives testimony.

The normal rules of evidence do not apply to hearings with respect to sentencing or probation. State v. Short, 12 Wn. App. 125, 528 P.2d 480 (1974); State v. Shannon, 60 Wn.2d 883, 376 P.2d 646 (1962); State v. Kuhn, 80 Wn.2d 648, 503 P.2d 1061 (1972). As to sentencing proceedings in cases involving the death penalty, see also RCW 10.94-.020. As to search warrants, see CrR 2.3(c). The rules do not apply to hearings with respect to pretrial release. CrR 3.2(i).

The provision regarding contempt applies to contempt committed in the presence of the court as defined by RCW 7.20.030.

The rule clarifies the law with respect to habeas corpus hearings. A statute, RCW 7.36.120, directs the court to hear and determine the matter "in a summary way." The Supreme Court has held that the trial court may thus determine factual matters by reference to affidavits. Little v. Rhay, 68 Wn.2d 353, 413 P.2d 15 (1966). Later, a division of the Court of Appeals held that such affidavits should be considered only to assist in formulating the issues of fact and not in themselves to determine disputed questions of material fact. Little v. Rhay, 8 Wn. App. 725, 509 P.2d 92 (1973). A dissenting opinion argued that the majority opinion nullified the statute and disregarded earlier decisions of the Supreme Court. Rule 1101 adopts the approach taken by the earlier Supreme Court decisions. This is contrary to Federal Rule 1101, which makes the rules of evidence applicable to federal habeas corpus proceedings, but the underlying federal statute requires testimony to be taken. Walker v. Johnson, 312 U.S. 275 (1941).

The rules do not apply to small claims courts, supplemental proceedings, or to coroners' inquests, primarily because the purposes of these proceedings would be frustrated by strictly imposing rules of evidence. As a practical matter, the rules have not been applied to these proceedings in the past.

Fact-finding and adjudicatory hearings in juvenile court are conducted in accordance with the rules of evidence. JuCR 3.7 and JuCR 7.11. Once the facts have been determined, however, the appropriate form of disposition is determined with less formality. The situation is analogous to the distinction between a criminal trial and sentencing. Rule 1101 thus authorizes a relaxation of the rules of evidence for disposition hearings in juvenile court. A corresponding relaxation of the rules is authorized for dispositional determinations under the Uniform Alcoholism and Intoxication Treatment Act, RCW 70.96A, and the civil commitment act, RCW 71.05.

Rule 1102 Amendments. [Reserved].

Rule 1103 Title. These rules may be known and cited as the Washington Rules of Evidence. ER is the official abbreviation. [Adopted December 19, 1978, effective April 2, 1979.]

 - (c) Waiver

Rule 1.1 Scope of rules.

(a) Review of Trial Court Decision. These rules govern proceedings in the Supreme Court and the Court of Appeals for review of a trial court decision.

(b) Review of Decision of Court of Appeals. These rules also establish the procedure for seeking review of a decision of the Court of Appeals by the Supreme Court. Review of a decision of the Court of Appeals is governed by Title 13 of these rules.

(c) Special Proceedings. These rules also establish the procedure for original actions in the Supreme Court and the Court of Appeals and the procedure for determining questions of law certified by a federal court, all called "special proceedings." Special proceedings are governed by Title 16 of these rules.

(d) Application to Both Appellate Courts. Each rule applies to proceedings both in the Supreme Court and in the Court of Appeals, unless a different application is indicated. Both the Supreme Court and the Court of Appeals are called "appellate court."

(e) Application to Civil and Criminal Proceedings and Juvenile Court Proceedings. Each rule applies to both civil and criminal proceedings, unless a different application is indicated. If different rules apply in civil and criminal proceedings, the criminal rule applies to review of a decision in a juvenile offense proceeding, and the civil rule applies to review of any other decision by a juvenile court.

(f) Action of Appellate Court. The appellate court clerk and commissioner are given authority by these rules to make some decisions, called rulings. An act performed on the authority of these rules is action taken by the appellate court whether that act is performed by the clerk or a commissioner or by the judges of the Supreme Court or the Court of Appeals.

(g) Superseding Effect of Rules. These rules supersede all statutes and rules covering procedure in the Supreme Court and the Court of Appeals, unless one of these rules specifically indicates to the contrary.

(h) Effect of Subsequent Legislation. If a statute in conflict with a rule is enacted after these rules become effective and that statute does not supersede the conflicting rule by direct reference to the rule by number, the rule applies unless the rule specifically indicates that statutes control. If a statute in conflict with a rule is enacted after these rules become effective and that statute does supersede the conflicting rule by direct reference to the rule by number, the statute applies until such time as the rule may be amended or changed by the Supreme Court through exercise of its rule making power. [Amended July 18, 1978, effective July 1, 1978; adopted January 28, 1976, effective July 1, 1976.]

Comment: The Rules of Appellate Procedure are a complete revision of the rules for procedure in Washington's appellate courts. Unless a specific rule indicates that a different application is intended, the rules govern all actions in both the Supreme Court and the Court of Appeals, in both civil and criminal cases.

The rules supersede the Supreme Court Rules on Appeal, the Court of Appeals Rules on Appeal, SAR 15, CAR 15 and 24, CrR 7.7, and parts of CR 62. They also supersede numerous statutes relating to appellate procedure. Particular rules, however, expressly defer to any statute on the subject. Rule 5.2, for example, requires that a notice of appeal be filed within the time established by statute in a particular kind of case.

Under the former rules it was not clear which statutes were superseded and which were not. Compare Taylor v. Greenler, 54 Wn.2d 682, 344 P.2d 515 (1959).

Rule 1.2 Interpretation and waiver of rules by court.

(a) Interpretation. These rules will be liberally interpreted to promote justice and facilitate the decision of cases on the merits. Cases and issues will not be determined on the basis of compliance or noncompliance with these rules except in compelling circumstances where justice demands, subject to the restrictions in Rule 18.8(b).

(b) Words of Command. Unless the context of the rule indicates otherwise: "Should" is used when referring to an act a party or counsel for a party is under an obligation to perform. The court will ordinarily impose sanctions if the act is not done within the time or in the manner specified. The word "must" is used in place of "should" if extending the time within which the act must be done is subject to the severe test under Rule 18.8(b) or to emphasize failure to perform the act in a timely way may result in more severe than usual sanctions. The word "will" or "may" is used when referring to an act of the appellate court. The word "shall" is used when referring to an act that is to be done by an entity other than the appellate court, a party, or counsel for a party.

(c) Waiver. The appellate court may waive or alter the provisions of any of these rules in order to serve the ends of justice, subject to the restrictions in Rule 18.8(b) and (c). [Adopted January 28, 1976, effective July 1, 1976.]

References: Rule 18.8, Waiver of Rules and Extension and Reduction of Time, (b) Restriction on extension of time, (c) Restriction on changing decision.

Rule 18.9, Violation of Rules.

Comment: (a) Interpretation. Noncompliance with the rules will ordinarily not prevent a decision on the merits. Prior cases to the contrary are superseded. Compare Hill v. Tacoma, 40 Wn.2d 718, 246 P.2d 458 (1952); Glass v. Windsor Navigation Co., 81 Wn.2d 726, 504 P.2d 1135 (1973).

The rule reflects the recent cases in which the court has disregarded technical violations of the rules to reach the merits. See King County Republican Cent. Comm. v. Republican State Comm., 79 Wn.2d 202, 484 P.2d 387 (1971), and Beritich v. Starlet Corp., 69 Wn.2d 454, 418 P.2d 762 (1966), where the Supreme Court stated:

The hallmark of procedural reform is the conviction that rules of pleading, practice, and procedure are to be drafted, adopted, and interpreted to the end that the merits of a controversy are the ultimate determinates—instead of the procedural jousting which unfortunately characterized common law actions.

Federal law is generally in accord with Rule 1.2. 9 Morre, Federal Practice 534-35; Foman v. Davis, 371 U.S. 178 (1962).

(c) Waiver. Section (c) makes clear the power of the courts to expedite or delay the determination of cases by prescribing a time schedule other than that provided by the rules. The rule also establishes a court policy to waive or alter the rules where injustice would otherwise result. See O'Connor v. Matzdorff, 76 Wn.2d 589, 458 P.2d 154 (1969).

Rule 2.1 Methods for seeking review of trial court decision—Generally.

(a) Two Methods for Seeking Review of Trial Court Decisions. The only methods for seeking review of decisions of the superior court by the Court of Appeals and by the Supreme Court are the two methods provided by these rules. The two methods are:

- (1) Review as a matter of right, called "appeal"; and
- (2) Review by permission of the reviewing court, called "discretionary review."

Both "appeal" and "discretionary review" are called "review." The term "decision" refers to rulings, orders, and judgments of the trial court, or the appellate court, as the context indicates.

(b) Writ Procedure Superseded. The procedure for seeking review of trial court decisions established by these rules supersedes the review procedure formerly available by extraordinary writs of review, certiorari, mandamus, prohibition, and other writs formerly considered necessary and proper to the complete exercise of appellate and revisory jurisdiction of the Supreme Court and the Court of Appeals. Original writs in the appellate court are not superseded and are governed by Title 16. [Amended June 21, 1976, effective July 2, 1976; adopted January 28, 1976, effective July 1, 1976.]

References: Rule 16.2, Original Action Against State Officer. Rules 16.3–16.15, Personal Restraint Petition. Const. Art. 4 § 4.

Comment: (a) Two Methods for Seeking Review of Trial Court Decisions. Section (a) establishes the forms of review and other terminology used throughout the rules.

(b) Writ Procedure Superseded. Section (b) supersedes the various extraordinary writs as procedural mechanisms. Review by way of extraordinary writ under the former rules has been the most confusing of all the appellate procedures, and precedent for almost any arguable position can be found. Feigenbaum, Interlocutory Appellate Review Via Extraordinary Writ, 36 Wash. L. Rev. 1 (1961).

Rule 2.1 simplifies and clarifies review of nonappealable orders or judgments by establishing a single method of seeking review by permission of the appellate court, called discretionary review. Once discretionary review is granted, the remaining procedure is the same as in an ordinary appeal. See Rule 6.2. Similar systems are found in Alaska and Vermont.

RCW 8.04.070, 19.10.110, 29.79.170, 29.79.210, 43.24.120 and similar statutes restricting review as a matter of right are superseded as they relate to the procedure for review of trial court decisions. Whether review is by appeal or discretionary review is now governed by Rules 2.2 and 2.3.

Rule 2.2 Decisions of the superior court which may be appealed.

(a) Generally. Except as provided in section (b), a party may appeal from only the following superior court decisions:

(1) Final Judgment. The final judgment entered in any action or proceeding, except a final decree of adoption.

(2) Interlocutory Decree of Adoption. An interlocutory decree of adoption.

(3) Decision Determining Action. Any written decision affecting a substantial right in a civil case which in effect determines the action and prevents a final judgment or discontinues the action.

(4) Order of Public Use and Necessity. An order of public use and necessity in a condemnation case.

(5) Juvenile Court Disposition. The disposition decision following a finding of dependency by a juvenile court, or a disposition decision following a finding of guilt in a juvenile offense proceeding.

(6) Deprivation of All Parental Rights. A decision depriving a person of all parental rights with respect to a child.

(7) Order of Incompetency. A decision declaring an adult legally incompetent, or an order establishing a conservatorship or guardianship for an adult.

(8) Order of Commitment. A decision ordering commitment, entered after a sanity hearing.

(9) Order on Motion for New Trial or Amendment of Judgment. An order granting or denying a motion for new trial or amendment of judgment.

(10) Order on Motion for Vacation of Judgment. An order granting or denying a motion to vacate a judgment.

(11) Order on Motion for Arrest of Judgment. An order arresting or denying arrest of a judgment in a criminal case.

(12) Order Denying Motion To Vacate Order of Arrest of a Person. An order denying a motion to vacate an order of arrest of a person in a civil case.

(13) Final Order After Judgment. Any final order made after judgment which affects a substantial right.

(b) Appeal by State or a Local Government in Criminal Case. The State or a local government may appeal in a criminal case only from the following superior court decisions and only if the appeal will not place the defendant in double jeopardy:

(1) Final Decision, Except Not Guilty. A decision which in effect abates, discontinues, or determines the case other than by a judgment or verdict of not guilty, including but not limited to a decision setting aside, quashing, or dismissing an indictment or information.

(2) Pretrial Order Suppressing Evidence. A pretrial order suppressing evidence, if the trial court expressly finds that the practical effect of the order is to terminate the case.

(3) Arrest or Vacation of Judgment. An order arresting or vacating a judgment.

(4) New Trial. An order granting a new trial.

(5) Disposition in Juvenile Offense Proceeding. A disposition in a juvenile offense proceeding which is outside the standard range of disposition for the offense.

(c) Multiple Parties or Multiple Claims or Counts. In any case with multiple parties or multiple claims for relief, or in a criminal case with multiple counts, an appeal may be taken from a final judgment which does not dispose of all of the claims or counts as to all of the parties, but only after an express direction by the trial court for entry of judgment and a written finding that there is no just reason for delay. The finding may be made at the time of entry of judgment or thereafter on the court's own motion or on motion of any party. The time for filing notice of appeal begins to run from the entry of the required finding. In the absence of the required finding, a judgment that adjudicates less than all the claims or counts, or adjudicates the rights and liabilities of less than all the parties, is subject only to discretionary review until the entry of a final judgment adjudicating all the claims, counts, rights, and liabilities of all the parties. [Amended July 18, 1978, effective July 1, 1978; adopted January 28, 1976, effective July 1, 1976.]

Comment: The rule sets forth the decisions which may be appealed as a matter of right. Except as discussed in this comment, Rule 2.2 conforms to established practice. See Orland, 3 Wash. Prac. (2d) p. 189 et seq.

Various statutes appear to limit review of superior court decisions to certiorari in particular kinds of cases. The court has held that this sort of statute precludes an appeal as a matter of right. Berman v. Urquhart, 48 Wn.2d 85, 291 P.2d 655 (1955). The statutes which limit review to certiorari are superseded by these rules. One statutory order, the order of public use and necessity, would be appealable under Rule 2.2 because the rule expressly so states. Others, such as those provided by RCW 19.10.110, 29.79.170, 29.79.210, and 43.24-.120, are left to judicial interpretation in particular factual situations. For example, if a judgment or order entered pursuant to RCW 19.10-.110 fell within the scope of Rule 2.2, it would be appealable as a matter of right. If not, it would be subject only to discretionary review.

(a)(1) Final Judgment. A decree of adoption is interlocutory and does not become a final judgment until six months later. RCW 26.32-.120, 26.32.130. In order to minimize disruption of the family, however, an appeal must be taken within thirty days after entry of the interlocutory decree. See Rule 2.2(a)(2). No appeal from the final judgment is permitted.

(a)(2) Interlocutory Decree of Adoption. An appeal is allowed from an interlocutory decree of adoption. See comment 2.2(a)(1).

(a)(3) Decision Determining Action. By statute, certain orders are "final" for the purpose of seeking review, e.g., RCW 7.20.140, 11.52-.016, 11.52.020, 11.52.022, 30.30.090, 26.32.120, 26.32.130, 33.40.120. The rule supersedes these and similar statutes as they relate to the appropriate method of appellate review. Individual orders, however, would still be appealable if they fell within the scope of Rule 2.2.

(a)(4) Order of Public Use and Necessity. Most orders of public use and necessity have been subject to review only by extraordinary writ. See CAROA 57(b)(4); RCW 8.04.070; Taylor v. Greenler, 54 Wn.2d 682, 344 P.2d 515 (1959). Current practice, however, is to uniformly accept review of the order. Rule 2.2 makes the order appealable as a matter of right, eliminating the necessity of seeking permission to obtain review.

(a)(5) Determination of Dependency or Delinquency. Decisions in juvenile court have traditionally been reviewable only by extraordinary writ. See CAROA 57(b)(3); In re King, 39 Wn.2d 875, 239 P.2d 553 (1952). Current practice, however, is to uniformly accept review of most juvenile court decisions. Rule 2.2 makes orders of dependency and delinquency appealable as a matter of right, eliminating the necessity of seeking permission to obtain review. All other juvenile court decisions would be subject to appeal if the decision fits within one of the classifications in this rule; otherwise, the decision would be subject to discretionary review.

(a)(6) Deprivation of All Parental Rights. An appeal is allowed from an order depriving a person of all parental rights because of its fundamental impact upon the parties.

(a)(7) Order of Incompetency. An appeal is allowed because of the order's fundamental impact on the person affected by the decision.

(a)(8) Order of Commitment. An appeal is allowed because of the order's fundamental impact on the person affected by the decision.

(a)(9) Order on Motion for New Trial or Amendment of Judgment. The lack of an appeal from an order denying a new trial has been a pitfall for inexperienced counsel who attempt to exhaust the remedies provided by the civil or criminal rules before seeking appellate review. See In re King, 39 Wn.2d 875, 239 P.2d 553 (1952). Rule 2.2 avoids this problem by permitting an appeal from an order granting or denying a new trial. See also comment 2.4(c).

(a)(10) Order on Motion for Vacation of Judgment. Under the old rules, the appealability of orders vacating or refusing to vacate judgment has been unclear. With respect to the denial of a motion to vacate judgment, compare Smith v. Stiles, 68 Wash. 345, 123 P. 448 (1912) with Sound Inv. Co. v. Fairhaven Land Co., 45 Wash. 262, 88 P. 198 (1907). With respect to the granting of a motion to vacate judgment, compare Fairley v. Durkee's Famous Foods, Inc., 178 Wash. 141, 33 P.2d 1073 (1934) and Mori's Blue Cheese v. Andre's Better Foods, 68 Wn.2d 756, 415 P.2d 501 (1966) with Sengfleider v. Powell-Sanders Co., 40 Wash. 686, 82 P. 931 (1905) and Brandtjen & Kluge, Inc. v. Nanson, 9 Wn.2d 362, 115 P.2d 731 (1941). Under these rules, both an order vacating and refusing to vacate a judgment are appealable.

(a)(11) Order on Motion for Arrest of Judgment. Traditionally, the State has been permitted to appeal from an order arresting judgment, but no comparable appeal is allowed the defendant from an order refusing to arrest judgment. See CAROA 14(8)(3). Rule 2.2 permits a comparable appeal by the defendant.

(a)(12) Order Denying Motion to Vacate Order of Arrest of a Person. The rule refers to a refusal to vacate the order of arrest for contempt of court contemplated by RCW 7.20.040.

Prior rules have permitted review as a matter of right from certain additional decisions. The Task Force, however, has determined that review of these orders should more appropriately be discretionary. Accordingly, the following orders are omitted from Rule 2.2(a):

CAROA 14(3): An order granting or denying a motion for temporary injunction, heard upon notice to the adverse party, and any order vacating or refusing to vacate a temporary injunction unless the judge of the superior court shall have found upon the hearing, that the party against whom the injunction was sought was insolvent;

CAROA 14(4): An order discharging or refusing to discharge an attachment;

CAROA 14(5): An order appointing or removing, or refusing to appoint or remove, a receiver;

CAROA 14(6): An order affecting a substantial right in a civil action or proceeding, which . . . (4) sets aside or refuses to affirm an award of arbitrators, or refers the cause back to them.

(b) Appeal by State or a Local Government in Criminal Case.

(b)(1) Final Decisions Except Not Guilty. Prior law is retained. See CAROA 14(8)(1), 14(8)(5). The phrase "demurrer to an indictment or information" (CAROA 14(8)(2)) has been restated as "Any decision . . . quashing, or dismissing an indictment or information." The term "demurrer" is inappropriate under the Superior Court Criminal Rules. See CrR 8.3.

(b)(2) Order Suppressing Evidence. The new rules permit the State to appeal from a pretrial order suppressing evidence if the trial court finds that the practical effect of the pretrial order is to terminate the case. This policy is suggested by federal practice where an appeal is permitted with certain restrictions and is recommended by the President's Commission on Law Enforcement and Administration and the American Bar Association. See 18 U.S.C. § 3731; "The Challenge of Crime in a Free Society—A Report by the President's Commission on Law Enforcement and Administration of Justice," p. 140 (February 1967); "American Bar Association Project on Minimum Standards Relating to Criminal Appeals," § 1.4 (March 1969).

(b)(3) Arrest or Vacation of Judgment. The terms arrest of judgment and vacation of judgment are used interchangeably in the Superior Court Criminal Rules.

(b)(4) New Trial. The old rules authorized the State to appeal from the granting of a new trial only in jury cases. CAROA 14(8)(4). There is no reason to limit the rule to jury trials. Accordingly, the rule permits a state's appeal from all orders granting a new trial.

Rule 2.2(b) is intended to avoid constitutional problems of double jeopardy. See State v. Brunn, 22 Wn.2d 120, 154 P.2d 826, 157 A.L.R. 1049 (1945). A state's appeal would not be accepted if it would place the defendant in double jeopardy. State v. Ridgley, 70 Wn.2d 555, 424 P.2d 632 (1967).

(c) Multiple Parties or Multiple Claims or Counts. The rule is a companion to CR 54(b) and clarifies the appealability of a judgment entered pursuant to that rule. The rule departs from CR 54(b) in two respects. First, it is applicable to both civil and criminal cases. Second, for purposes of an appeal, the required finding may be entered after the entry of judgment. See Schiffman v. Hanson Excavating Co., 82 Wn.2d 681, 513 P.2d 29 (1973), which suggests that the finding may be entered after the judgment under the old rules.

To be distinguished is a partial summary judgment on the issue of liability alone pursuant to CR 56(c), from which no appeal is permitted. Gazin v. Hieber, 8 Wn. App. 104, 504 P.2d 1178 (1972).

Rule 2.3 Decisions of the trial court which may be reviewed by discretionary review.

(a) Decision of Superior Court. A party may seek discretionary review of any act of the superior court not appealable as a matter of right.

(b) Considerations Governing Acceptance of Review. Discretionary review will be accepted only:

(1) If the superior court has committed an obvious error which would render further proceedings useless, or

(2) If the superior court has committed probable error and the decision of the superior court substantially alters the status quo or substantially limits the freedom of a party to act, or

(3) If the superior court has so far departed from the accepted and usual course of judicial proceedings, or so far sanctioned such a departure by an inferior court or administrative agency, as to call for review by the appellate court.

(c) Effect of Denial of Discretionary Review. The denial of discretionary review of a decision does not affect the right of a party to obtain later review of the trial court decision or the issues pertaining to that decision. [Adopted January 28, 1976, effective July 1, 1976.]

Comment: Generally. The rule represents a new procedure for seeking review of decisions which are not appealable. The various extraordinary writs are consolidated into a single action called discretionary review. See generally comment 2.2.

(a) Decision of Superior Court. Section (a) states the general rule that discretionary review is the appropriate remedy when an appeal as a matter of right is unavailable.

(b) Considerations Governing Acceptance of Review. Section (b) sets forth criteria by which discretionary review is granted or denied. Subsection (b)(1) states the general test established by decisional law. See Oliver v. American Motors Corp., 70 Wn.2d 875, 425 P.2d 647 (1967) and State v. Harris, 2 Wn. App. 272, 469 P.2d 937 (1970). Subsection (b)(2) provides that when the status quo or the freedom of a party to act is substantially affected, the less restrictive probable error test applies. The subsection applies primarily to orders pertaining to injunctions, attachments, receivers, and arbitration, which have formerly been appealable as a matter of right. CAROA 14. Subsection (b)(3) governs the relatively unusual case calling for the exercise of revisory jurisdiction. See Const. Art. 4 § 4; RCW 2.04.010.

No attempt is made to list certain types of cases in which review is uniformly accepted. Compare CAROA 57(b). The prior practice of granting or denying review according to the nature of the case generated a confusing body of decisional law and has been abandoned by the courts in recent years. Compare Feigenbaum, Interlocutory Appellate Review via Extraordinary Writ, 36 Wash. L. Rev. 1 (1961), with Oliver v. American Motors Corp., 70 Wn.2d 875, 425 P.2d 647 (1967) and State v. Harris, 2 Wn. App. 272, 469 P.2d 937 (1970).

Rule 2.4 Scope of review of a trial court decision.

(a) Generally. The appellate court will, at the instance of appellant, review the decision or parts of the decision designated in the notice of appeal or notice for discretionary review and other decisions in the case as provided in sections (b), (c), (d), and (e). The appellate court will, at the instance of the respondent, review those acts in the proceeding below which if repeated on remand would constitute error prejudicial to respondent. The appellate court will grant a respondent affirmative relief by modifying the decision which is the subject matter of the review only (1) if the respondent also seeks review of the decision by the timely filing of a notice of appeal or a notice for discretionary review, or (2) if demanded by the necessities of the case.

(b) Order or Ruling Not Designated in Notice. The appellate court will review a trial court order or ruling not designated in the notice, including an appealable order, if (1) the order or ruling prejudicially affects the decision designated in the notice, and (2) the order is entered, or the ruling is made, before the appellate court accepts review.

(c) Final Judgment Not Designated in Notice. The appellate court will review a final judgment not designated in the notice only if the notice designates an order deciding a timely post-trial motion based on (1) CR 59 [Reconsideration, New Trial and Amendment of Judgments], (2) CrR 7.4 [Arrest of Judgment], or (3) CrR 7.6 [New Trial].

(d) Order Deciding Alternative Post-Trial Motions in Civil Case. An appeal from the judgment granted on a motion for judgment notwithstanding the verdict brings up for review the ruling of the trial court on a motion for new trial. If the appellate court reverses the judgment notwithstanding the verdict, the appellate court will review the ruling on the motion for a new trial.

(e) Order Deciding Alternative Post-Trial Motions in Criminal Case. An appeal from an order granting a motion in arrest of judgment brings up for review the ruling of the trial court on a motion for new trial. If the appellate court reverses the order granting the motion in arrest of judgment, the appellate court will review the ruling on a motion for new trial. [Adopted January 28, 1976, effective July 1, 1976.]

Rule 5.2, Time Allowed To File Notice, (f) Subsequent notice by other parties.

Comment: (a) Generally. Section (a) states the general rule that the appellate court begins by reviewing the decisions designated in the notice of appeal or notice for discretionary review. The rule clarifies the established policy of requiring the respondent to file notice in order to seek affirmative relief in the appellate court. See Waagen v. Gerde, 36 Wn.2d 563, 219 P.2d 595 (1950); Fraser v. Monroe, 1 Wn. App. 14, 459 P.2d 64 (1969). Cf. Leland v. Frogge, 71 Wn.2d 197, 427 P.2d 724 (1967). The remaining sections set forth the extent to which decisions not designated in the notice may be reviewed.

(b) Order or Ruling Not Designated in Notice. Generally, the appellate court considers the entire proceeding below and may review any decision prejudicially affecting the decision designated in the notice. A pitfall under prior rules has been that the failure to appeal an appealable order may prevent its review upon appeal from final judgment. In re Estate of Kruse, 52 Wn.2d 342, 324 P.2d 1088 (1958). What is an appealable order is not always clear. The rule solves the problem by including prior appealable orders within the scope of review. A number of other states are in accord. 79 A.L.R.2d 1352 (1961).

Section (b) applies only to orders entered, or rulings made, prior to acceptance of review. Acceptance of review is defined in Rules 6.1 and 6.2. The procedure for seeking review of decisions entered after acceptance of review is to initiate a separate review. See Rule 5.1(e).

(c) Final Judgment Not Designated in Notice. Under prior law an appeal from the decision on a timely filed motion for new trial, arrest of judgment, or amendment of judgment did not bring the final judgment up for review. CAROA 14(7); Nestegard v. Investment Exch., 5 Wn. App. 618, 489 P.2d 1142 (1971). Rule 2.4(c) eliminates this pitfall if the motion is timely and is brought under CR 59, or CrR 7.4 or 7.6.

(d) Order Deciding Alternative Post-Trial Motions in Civil Case. Section (d) conforms to established practice. See ROA 1-16; CAROA 16; CR 50.

(e) Order Deciding Alternative Post-Trial Motions in Criminal Case. The substance of the preceding section is made applicable to criminal cases by rewording it in language consistent with the Superior Court Criminal Rules.

Rule 2.5 Circumstances which may affect scope of review.

(a) Errors Raised for First Time on Review. The appellate court may refuse to review any claim of error which was not raised in the trial court. However, a party may raise the following claimed errors for the first time in the appellate court: (1) lack of trial court jurisdiction, (2) failure to establish facts upon which relief can be granted, and (3) manifest error affecting a constitutional right. A party or the court may raise at any time the question of appellate court jurisdiction.

(b) Acceptance of Benefits.

(1) Decision Subject to Modification. A party may accept the benefits of a trial court decision without losing the right to obtain review of that decision only (i) if the decision is one which is subject to modification by the court making the decision or (ii) if the party gives security as provided in subsection (b)(2).

(2) Other Decisions—Security. If a party gives adequate security to make restitution if the decision is reversed or modified, a party may accept the benefits of the decision without losing the right to obtain review of that decision. The trial court making the decision shall fix the amount and type of security to be given by the party accepting the benefits.

(3) Conflict With Statutes. In the event of any conflict between this section and a statute, the statute governs.

(c) Law of the Case Doctrine Restricted. The following provisions apply if the same case is again before the appellate court following a remand:

(1) Prior Trial Court Action. If a trial court decision is otherwise properly before the appellate court, the appellate court may at the instance of a party review and determine the propriety of a decision of the trial court even though a similar decision was not disputed in an earlier review of the same case.

(2) Prior Appellate Court Decision. The appellate court may at the instance of a party review the propriety of an earlier decision of the appellate court in the same case and, where justice would best be served, decide the case on the basis of the appellate court's opinion of the law at the time of the later review. [Adopted January 28, 1976, effective July 1, 1976.]

Comment: (a) Errors Raised for the First Time on Review. The rule states the general rule that the court reviews only issues which the record shows have been argued and decided at the trial level. State v. Davis, 41 Wn.2d 535, 250 P.2d 548 (1952). The rule then states the exceptions to the general rule. Exceptions (1), (2), and the last sentence in section (a) have previously been found in ROA 1-43 and RCW 4.32.290 [4.32.190]. Exception (2) uses the phrase "failure to establish facts" rather than the traditional "failure to state a claim." The former phrase more accurately expresses the meaning of the rule in modern practice. Exception (3) is intended to encompass developing case law. Thus, certain constitutional questions can be raised for the first time on review. See, e.g., State v. Myers, 6 Wn. App. 557, 494 P.2d 1015 (1972); State v. Van Auken, 77 Wn.2d 136, 460 P.2d 277 (1969).

These rules do not supersede court rules which define the means by which an error must be preserved in the trial court, such as CR 43, 46, and 51. RCW 4.80.050, as it relates to appellate procedure and the scope of appellate review, is superseded.

(b) Acceptance of Benefits. By decisional law, a party loses the right to review by accepting the benefits of the decision, subject to certain exceptions for cases of coercion or extreme hardship, e.g., Maxham v. Berne, 88 Wash. 158, 152 P. 673 (1915). See generally 169 A.L.R. 985 (1947). Subsections (1) and (2) modify existing decisional law, but not statutory law.

(b)(1) Decision Subject to Modification. Subsection (b)(1) abrogates the acceptance of benefits rule for decisions in cases which are continuous in nature and subject to modification. The purpose of Rule 2.5(b)(1) is to fully implement the various statutes recognizing the necessity of immediate relief. Examples fall primarily within the law of domestic relations. See, e.g., Bennett v. Bennett, 63 Wn.2d 404, 387 P.2d 517 (1963); RCW Ch. 26.09. Under these rules, a spouse may accept maintenance and support while seeking review of the amount awarded. Prior law to the contrary is superseded. Compare Potter v. Potter, 46, Wn.2d 526, 282 P.2d 1052 (1955).

(b)(2) Other Decisions—Security. Subsection (b)(2) is suggested by D. Mehrens, Waiver of Right to Appeal, 39 Neb. L. Rev. 739 (1960). There appears to be no justification for applying the acceptance of benefits rule if the party seeking review gives adequate security to make restitution in case the decision is reversed or modified.

(b)(3) Conflict With Statutes. The acceptance of benefits doctrine is found in several statutes, particularly in the area of eminent domain, e.g., RCW 37.16.130, 91.04.360, and 91.08.250. The statutes prevail over inconsistent portions of Rule 2.5(b).

(c) Law of the Case Doctrine Restricted. The term "law of the case" is used in various senses. See Note, 2 Gonz L. Rev. 105 (1967).

Subsection (c)(1) restricts the doctrine as it relates to trial court decisions after the case is remanded by the appellate court. The trial court may exercise independent judgment as to decisions to which error was not assigned in the prior review, and these decisions are subject to later review by the appellate court. Prior law to the contrary is superseded. Compare Adamson v. Traylor, 66 Wn.2d 338, 402 P.2d 499 (1965).

To be distinguished is a case which is reviewed by the Court of Appeals and then, without an intervening remand, by the Supreme Court. The scope of review in this situation is governed by Rule 13.7.

TITLE 3—PARTIES

Rule

- 3.1 Who may seek review
- 3.2 Substitution of parties
 - (a) Substitution generally
 - (b) Duty to move for substitution
 - (c) Where to make motion
 - (d) Procedure pending substitution
 - (e) Time limits
 - (f) Public officer
- 3.3 Consolidation of cases
 - (a) Cases consolidated in trial court
 - (b) Cases consolidated in appellate court
- 3.4 Title of case and designation of parties

Rule 3.1 Who may seek review. Only an aggrieved party may seek review by the appellate court. [Adopted January 28, 1976, effective July 1, 1976.]

Comment: Generally, only an aggrieved party may seek review. The doctrine applies equally to appeals as a matter of right and to discretionary review (review by extraordinary writ under previous rules). State ex. rel. Simoon v. Superior Court, 20 Wn.2d 88, 145 P.2d 1017 (1944); Temple v. Feeney, 7 Wn. App. 345, 499 P.2d 1272 (1972). A person may be an aggrieved party even though that person was not a party to the proceedings below. For example, a complainant mother may be an aggrieved party in a filiation proceeding brought in the name of the State, as in State v. Casey, 7 Wn. App. 923, 503 P.2d 1123 (1972).

Rule 3.2 Substitution of parties.

(a) Substitution Generally. The appellate court will substitute parties to a review when it appears that a party is deceased or legally incompetent or that the interest of a party in the subject matter of the review has been transferred.

(b) Duty To Move for Substitution. A party with knowledge of the death or declared legal disability of a party to review, or knowledge of the transfer of a party's interest in the subject matter of the review, shall promptly move for substitution of parties. The motion and all other documents must be served on all parties and on the personal representative or successor in interest of a party, within the time and in the manner provided for service on a party. If a party fails to promptly move for substitution, the personal representative of a deceased or legally disabled party, or the successor in interest of a party, should promptly move for substitution of parties.

(c) Where To Make Motion. The motion to substitute parties must be made in the appellate court if the motion is made after review is accepted. In other cases, the motion should be made in the trial court.

(d) Procedure Pending Substitution. A party, a successor in interest of a party, a personal representative of a deceased or legally disabled party, or an attorney of record for a deceased or legally disabled party who has no personal representative, may without waiting for substitution file (1) a notice of appeal, (2) a notice for discretionary review, (3) a motion for reconsideration, (4) a petition for review, and (5) a motion for discretionary review of a decision of a trial court or of the Court of Appeals.

(e) Time Limits. The time reasonably necessary to accomplish substitution of parties is excluded from computations of time made to determine whether the following have been timely filed: (1) a notice of appeal, (2) a notice for discretionary review, (3) a motion for reconsideration, (4) a petition for review, and (5) a motion for discretionary review of a decision of a trial court or the Court of Appeals.

(f) Public Officer. If a public officer is a party to a proceeding in the appellate court and during its pendency dies, resigns, or otherwise ceases to hold office, a party or the new public officer may move for substitution of the successor as provided in this rule. [Adopted January 28, 1976, effective July 1, 1976.]

Comment: (a) Substitution Generally. Previous rules have spoken only in terms of substitution upon the death of a party. However, RCW 4.20.050 has been construed to permit substitution of parties on appeal for reasons other than death. Baker v. Northwest Bldg. & Inv. Co., 33 Wash. 677, 74 P. 825 (1903) (conveyance of affected property); Wright v. Seattle Groc. Co., 101 Wash. 266, 172 P. 345 (1918) (assignment of judgment). Rule 3.2 broadens the scope of substitution accordingly.

(b) Duty To Move for Substitution. Section (b) creates a duty to move for substitution in certain enumerated circumstances. Decisional law suggests that a proper decision may depend upon the courts' knowledge of a substitution of parties. See, e.g., Malo v. Anderson, 76 Wn.2d 1, 454 P.2d 828 (1969).

(f) Public Officer. The Task Force rejected the federal practice of automatically substituting successors in public office. See FRAP 43. In some cases, a public officer may have liability in an official and a personal capacity, and liability may not be clear in a particular case. Accordingly, section (f) requires that public officers be substituted by motion.

Rule 3.3 Consolidation of cases.

(a) Cases Consolidated in Trial Court. If two or more cases have been consolidated for trial by order of the trial court, the cases remain consolidated for the purpose of review unless the appellate court otherwise directs.

(b) Cases Consolidated in Appellate Court. The appellate court, on its own initiative or on motion of a party, may order the consolidation of cases or the separation of cases for the purpose of review. A party should move to consolidate two or more cases if consolidation would save time and expense and provide for a fair review of the cases. If two or more cases have been consolidated for review in the Court of Appeals, the cases remain consolidated for review in the Supreme Court unless the Supreme Court otherwise directs. [Adopted January 28, 1976, effective July 1, 1976.]

Comment: (a) Cases Consolidated in Trial Court. Cases consolidated at trial remain consolidated on review unless the appellate court orders to the contrary.

(b) Cases Consolidated in Appellate Court. Section (b) gives the appellate court discretion to consolidate cases not consolidated at trial. The rule makes it the duty of a party to move for consolidation when consolidation appears to be indicated for reasons of economy and efficiency.

Rule 3.4 Title of case and designation of parties. The title of a case in the appellate court is the same as in the trial court except that the party seeking review by appeal is called an "appellant," the party seeking review by discretionary review is called a "petitioner," and an adverse party on review is called a "respondent." [Adopted January 28, 1976, effective July 1, 1976.]

Comment: This rule is limited to what a party is called in the title of a case on review. Rule 10.4(e) discourages references in briefs to a party by such designations as "appellant" or "respondent."

TITLE 4—WHERE TO SEEK REVIEW OF A TRIAL COURT DECISION

Rule

- 4.1 Review of trial court decision by the court of appeals
 - (a) Decisions reviewed by court of appeals
 - (b) Division of court of appeals
- 4.2 Direct review of trial court decision by supreme court
 - (a) Types of cases reviewed directly
 - (b) Statement of grounds for direct review
 - (c) Effect of denial of direct review

4.3 Transfer of cases by supreme court

Rule 4.1 Review of trial court decision by the court of appeals.

(a) Decisions Reviewed by Court of Appeals. A party may seek review in the Court of Appeals of any trial court decision which is subject to review as provided in Title 2.

(b) Division of Court of Appeals.

(1) Division I. A party must seek review in Division I of the Court of Appeals of a decision by a trial court located in any of the following counties: Island, King, San Juan, Skagit, Snohomish, or Whatcom.

(2) Division II. A party must seek review in Division II of the Court of Appeals of a decision by a trial court located in any of the following counties: Clallam, Clark, Cowlitz, Grays Harbor, Jefferson, Kitsap, Lewis, Mason, Pacific, Pierce, Skamania, Thurston, or Wahkiakum.

(3) Division III. A party must seek review in Division III of the Court of Appeals of a decision by a trial court located in any of the following counties: Adams, Asotin, Benton, Chelan, Columbia, Douglas, Ferry, Franklin, Garfield, Grant, Kittitas, Klickitat, Lincoln, Okanogan, Pend Oreille, Spokane, Stevens, Walla Walla, Whitman, or Yakima. [Adopted January 28, 1976, effective July 1, 1976.]

Comment: (a) Decisions Reviewed by Court of Appeals. Current practice is retained. A party may seek Court of Appeals review of any case—even a case which is subject to direct review by the Supreme Court.

(b) Division of Court of Appeals. The statutes do not require that a case be heard in a particular court of appeals. As a matter of practice, the courts have accepted cases according to the geographical provisions of RCW 2.06.020. The rule incorporates this practice.

Rule 4.2 Direct review of trial court decision by supreme court.

(a) Types of Cases Reviewed Directly. A party may seek review in the Supreme Court of a decision of a trial court which is subject to review as provided in Title 2 only in the following types of cases:

(1) Authorized by Statute. A case in which a statute authorizes direct review in the Supreme Court.

(2) Law Unconstitutional. A case in which the trial court has held invalid a statute, ordinance, tax, impost, assessment, or toll, upon the ground that it is repugnant to the United States Constitution, the Washington State Constitution, a statute of the United States, or a treaty.

(3) Conflicting Decisions. A case involving an issue in which there is a conflict among decisions of the Court of Appeals or an inconsistency in decisions of the Supreme Court.

(4) Public Issues. A case involving a fundamental and urgent issue of broad public import which requires prompt and ultimate determination.

(5) Action Against State Officer. An action against a state officer in the nature of quo warranto, prohibition, injunction, or mandamus.

(6) Death Penalty. A case in which the death penalty has been decreed.

(b) Statement of Grounds for Direct Review. A party seeking direct review of a trial court decision in the Supreme Court must file a short written statement with the Supreme Court indicating (1) the grounds upon which the party contends direct review should be granted, and (2) whether the case is one which the Supreme Court would probably review if decided by the Court of Appeals in the first instance. In an appeal, the party must file the statement on or before the filing of the party's opening brief. In a proceeding for discretionary review, the party must file the statement with the motion.

(c) Effect of Denial of Direct Review. If the Supreme Court denies direct review of a proceeding the case will be transferred without prejudice and without costs to the Court of Appeals for determination. The Supreme Court may transfer to the Court of Appeals for determination a motion filed in the Supreme Court for discretionary review of a trial court decision. [Adopted January 28, 1976, effective July 1, 1976.]

Form 4, Statement of Grounds for Direct Review.

Comment: (a) Types of Cases Reviewed Directly. Rule 4.2 sets forth the types of cases which may be reviewed by the Supreme Court without an intermediate review by the Court of Appeals. The rule conforms to established practice. ROA 1-14. In civil cases, the amount in controversy must be at least two hundred dollars, subject to several qualifications and exceptions. Const. Art. 4 § 4; Orland, 3 Wash. Prac. (2d) 171-174 (1968).

RCW 43.21B.190 expressly permits certain decisions to be appealed directly to the Supreme Court. The rules give deference to this statute and to other similar statutes providing for direct review which may be enacted in the future.

(b) Statement of Grounds for Direct Review. The written argument required by Rule 4.2(b) is filed separately from the party's brief. Prior practice has been to include the argument within the brief. A separate document is more convenient for the court.

(c) Effect of Denial of Direct Review. Current practice is, on transfer, to set the case for oral argument at the same time it would have been set if filed originally in the Court of Appeals.

Rule 4.3 Transfer of cases by supreme court. The Supreme Court, to promote the orderly administration of justice may, on its own initiative or on motion of a party, transfer a case from the Court of Appeals to the Supreme Court or from one division to another division of the Court of Appeals. [Adopted January 28, 1976, effective July 1, 1976.]

Comment: The rule is a change from prior practice in that the motion procedure is expressly made available to request a transfer.

RCW 2.06.030 authorizes the Court of Appeals to certify a jurisdictional determination to the Supreme Court whenever a majority of the Court of Appeals "is in doubt" as to the proper reviewing court. This is an administrative provision, and it is not superseded by these rules.

Rule 5.1 Review initiated by filing notice of appeal or notice for discretionary review.

(a) Review Initiated by Notice. A party seeking review of a trial court decision reviewable as a matter of right must file a notice of appeal. A party seeking review of a trial court decision subject to discretionary review must file a notice for discretionary review. Each notice must be filed with the trial court within the time provided by Rule 5.2.

(b) Filing Fee. The first party to file a notice of appeal or a notice for discretionary review must, at the time the notice is filed, pay the statutory filing fee to the clerk of the superior court in which the notice is filed.

(c) Incorrectly Designated Notice. A notice for discretionary review of a decision which is appealable will be given the same effect as a notice of appeal. A notice of appeal of a decision which is not appealable will be given the same effect as a notice for discretionary review.

(d) Cross Review. Cross review means review initiated by a party already a respondent in an appeal or a discretionary review. A party seeking cross review must file a notice of appeal or a notice for discretionary review within the time allowed by Rule 5.2(f).

(e) Final Judgment Entered After Notice for Discretionary Review Has Been Filed. If a final judgment is entered after a notice for discretionary review is filed, a party seeking review of the final judgment must file a notice of appeal from the judgment within the time provided by Rule 5.2.

(f) Order Entered After Review Accepted. If a party wants to seek review of a trial court decision entered pursuant to Rule 7.2 after review in the same case has been accepted by the appellate court, the party must initiate a separate review of the decision by timely filing a notice of appeal or notice for discretionary review, except as provided by Rules 7.2(i), 8.1(d) and 8.2(b). [Amended June 21, 1976, effective July 2, 1976; adopted January 28, 1976, effective July 1, 1976.]

RCW 2.32.070, Fees—Supreme Court Clerk, Clerks of Court of Appeals.

Comment: (a) Review Initiated by Notice. An appeal is initiated by filing a notice of appeal. In this respect, the rule conforms to established practice. The rule, however, adds that discretionary review is also initiated by notice. Appeals and discretionary review should be as procedurally similar as possible. See generally comments 2.1 and 6.2.

(b) Filing Fee. See RCW 2.32.070.

(c) Incorrectly Designated Notice. The rule avoids a pitfall found in previous rules. It is frequently difficult to determine whether an order is appealable as a matter of right. Under the old rules, an attempted appeal from a nonappealable order or judgment is dismissed. Hayton v. Independent Petroleum Co., 27 Wn.2d 856, 180 P.2d 557 (1947). Conversely, certiorari has been denied solely on the grounds that the order sought to be reviewed was sufficiently final to make an appeal the appropriate remedy. In the meantime, the time to do the proper thing may have expired. State v. Superior Court, 139 Wash. 704, 247 P. 457 (1926). But compare ROA 1-57(j).

A party seeking review should not be prejudiced by an inappropriate choice of procedure, particularly when an order is only arguably appealable. The rule provides that the court will treat an inappropriate notice as if it were the correct one. Discretionary review, of course, might still be declined.

(d) Cross Review. See Rule 2.4(a), which defines the circumstances in which a notice of cross review is necessary.

(e) Final Judgment Entered After Notice for Discretionary Review Has Been Filed. A constructive notice of appeal would confuse the running of time limits and the scope of review. The rule requires a notice of appeal to secure review of the final judgment.

(f) Order Entered After Review Accepted. Rule 7.2(e) gives the trial court authority to hear post-judgment motions, even though review of the judgment has been accepted. The decision on the motion is reviewable only by initiating a separate review which, in the discretion of the appellate court, may be consolidated with the review of the judgment. See comment 7.2(e).

Rule 5.2 Time allowed to file notice.

(a) Notice of Appeal. Except as provided in Rules 3.2(e), 5.2(d) and (f), and 15.2(a), a notice of appeal must be filed in the trial court within the longer of (1) 30 days after the entry of the decision of the trial court which the party filing the notice wants reviewed, or (2) the time provided in section (e).

(b) Notice for Discretionary Review. Except as provided in Rules 3.2(e), 5.2(d) and (f), and 15.2(a) a notice for discretionary review must be filed in the trial court within 30 days after the entry of the decision of the trial court which the party filing the notice wants reviewed.

(c) Date Time Begins to Run. The date of entry of a trial court decision is determined by CR 5(e) and 58.

(d) Time Requirements Set by Statute Govern. If a statute provides that a notice of appeal, a petition for extraordinary writ, or a notice for discretionary review must be filed within a time period other than 30 days after entry of the decision, the notice required by these rules must be filed within the time period established by the statute.

(e) Effect of Certain Post-Trial Motions. A notice of appeal of orders deciding certain timely post-trial motions designated in this paragraph must be filed in the trial court within (1) 30 days after the entry of the order, or (2) if a statute provides that a notice of appeal, a petition for extraordinary writ, or a notice for discretionary review must be filed within a time period other than 30 days after entry of a decision, the number of days after the entry of the order established by the statute for initiating review. The post-trial motions to which this rule applies are a Motion for Arrest of Judgment under CrR 7.4, a Motion for New Trial under CrR 7.6, a Motion for Reconsideration or New Trial under CR 59, and a Motion for Amendment of Judgment under CR 59.

(f) Subsequent Notice by Other Parties. If a timely notice of appeal or a timely notice for discretionary review is filed by a party, any other party who wants relief from the decision must file a notice of appeal or notice for discretionary review within the later of (1) 14 days after service by the trial court clerk of the notice filed by the other party, or (2) the time within which notice must be given as provided in sections (a), (b), (d) or (e).

(g) Effect of Premature Notice. A notice of appeal or notice for discretionary review filed after the announcement of a decision but before entry of the decision will be treated as filed on the day following the entry of the decision. [Amended June 21, 1976, effective July 2, 1976; adopted January 28, 1976, effective July 1, 1976.]

Rule 18.8, Waiver of Rules and Extension and Reduction of Time, (b) Restrictions on Extension of Time; CR 5, Service and Filing of Pleadings and Other Papers; CR 58, Entry of Judgment.

Comment: Generally, Rule 5.2 imposes a general 30-day time limit for seeking review. With respect to appeals, the rule conforms to current practice. With respect to discretionary review, the time limit is extended from 15 to 30 days to promote uniformity. See ROA I-57(e), CAROA 57(e). The time may be extended because of the pendency of a motion for an order of indigency under Rule 15.2(a).

The entry of a decision is defined by CR 5(e) and 58. The effect of a notice filed before a decision is entered is determined by Rule 5.2(g). An untimely notice will be considered only in the narrow circumstances provided in Rule 18.8(b).

(d) Time Requirements Set by Statute Govern. The rule preserves statutory time limits for filing notice. The statutes generally express public policy about finality of trial court decisions. Statutory time periods govern—and they may be shorter than the time periods provided by this rule. The statutes include:

RCW 8.04.070, 8.04.098. Order of Public Use and Necessity. Five days.

RCW 8.03.040 [8.08.040]. Eminent Domain by Counties. Five days.

RCW 8.16.130. Eminent Domain by School Districts. Sixty days.

RCW 29.65.110. Election Contests (Appeal). Ten days.

RCW 29.79.170. Election Contests (Certiorari). Five days.

RCW 29.79.210. Initiative and Referendum (Certiorari). Five days.

RCW 29.82.160. Review of Superior Court Decision in Recall Election Case. Fifteen days.

RCW 35.44.260. Review of Assessments for Local Improvements. Fifteen days.

RCW 36.94.290. Review of Assessment for Local Utility Improvement. Fifteen days.

RCW 47.32.060. Review of Superior Court Decision in Favor of Highway Commission Regarding Obstruction of Right of Way. Five days.

RCW 54.16.160. Review of Assessment for Local Utility District. Fifteen days.

RCW 56.20.080. Review of Assessment for Sewer District. Fifteen days.

RCW 57.16.090. Review of Assessment for Water District. Fifteen days.

RCW 85.08.440. Review of Apportionment of Diking or Drainage Assessment. Fifteen days.

RCW 85.15.130, 85.16.190, 85.16.210, 85.18.140, 85.32.200. Review of Superior Court Decision on Objections to Certain Assessments. Fifteen days.

RCW 87.56.225. Review of Decision Regarding Dissolution of Insolvent Irrigation District. Sixty days.

RCW 90.03.200. Review of Determination of Water Rights. Sixty days.

(e) Effect of Certain Post-Trial Motions. Rule 2.4(c) allows the judgment to be reviewed upon review of certain post-trial orders. Rule 5.2(e) accommodates Rule 2.4(c) by starting the time running from the date of the entry of the decision on the designated timely-filed post-judgment motions.

(f) Subsequent Notice by Other Parties. The rule changes two prior procedures. A coparty, ROA I-33(2), and a cross-appellant, ROA I-33(3), become simply "any other party," and their time for seeking review, now 20 days from the date the original notice is filed, is reduced to not less than 14 days from that date. This conforms to federal practice. The necessity of seeking cross review is governed by Rule 2.4(a). The necessity of notice by a coparty is governed by Rule 5.3(d) and (i).

(g) Effect of Premature Notice. The rule, suggested by Federal Rule of Appellate Procedure 4(b), offers a practical solution to the awkward legal problem raised by a premature notice. Prior law to the contrary is superseded. Compare Glass v. Windsor Navigation Co., 81 Wn.2d 726, 504 P.2d 1135 (1973).

Rule 5.3 Content of notice—Filing.

(a) Content of Notice of Appeal. A notice of appeal must (1) be titled a notice of appeal, (2) specify the party or parties seeking the review, (3) designate the decision or part of decision which the party wants reviewed, and (4) name the appellate court to which the review is taken.

(b) Content of Notice for Discretionary Review. A notice for discretionary review must comply in content and form with the requirements for a notice of appeal, except that it should be titled a notice for discretionary review.

(c) Identification of Parties, Counsel, and Address of Defendant in Criminal Case. The party seeking review should advise the trial court clerk of the name and address of the attorney for each of the parties by placing this information on the notice. In a criminal case the attorney for the defendant should also notify the appellate court clerk of the defendant's address, by placing this information on the notice. The attorney for a defendant in a criminal case must also keep the appellate court clerk advised of any changes in defendant's address during review.

(d) Multiple Parties Filing Notice. More than one party may join in filing a single notice of appeal or notice for discretionary review.

(e) Notices Directed to More than One Case. If cases have been consolidated for trial, separate notices for each case or a single notice for more than one case may be filed. A single notice for more than one decision will be given the same effect as if a separate notice had been filed for each decision. If cases have not been consolidated for trial, separate notices must be filed.

(f) Defects in Form of Notice. The appellate court will disregard defects in the form of a notice of appeal or a notice for discretionary review if the notice clearly reflects an intent by a party to seek review.

(g) Notices Directed to More than One Court. If a notice of appeal or a notice for discretionary review is filed which is directed to the Court of Appeals and a notice is filed in the same case which is directed to the Supreme Court, the case will be treated as if all notices were directed to the Supreme Court.

(h) Amendment of Notice Directed to Portion of Decision. The appellate court may, on its own initiative or on the motion of a party, permit an amendment of a notice to include additional parts of a decision in order to do justice. The appellate court may condition the amendment on appropriate terms, including payment of a compensatory award under Rule 18.9.

(i) Notice by Fewer than All Parties on a Side—Joinder. If there are multiple parties on a side of a case and fewer than all of the parties on that side of the case timely file a notice of appeal or notice for discretionary review, the appellate court will grant relief only (1) to a party who has timely filed a notice, (2) to a party who has been joined as provided in this section or (3) to a party if demanded by the necessities of the case. The appellate court will permit the joinder on review of a party who did not give notice only if the party's rights or duties are derived through the rights or duties of a party who timely filed a notice or if the party's rights or duties are dependent upon the appellate court determination of the rights or duties of a party who timely filed a notice.

(j) Assistance to Defendant in Criminal Case. The trial court clerk shall, if requested by a defendant in a criminal case in open court or in writing, file a notice of appeal or notice for discretionary review on the defendant's behalf. [Adopted January 28, 1976, effective July 1, 1976.]

 Rule 3.3, Consolidation of Cases; Rule 4.2, Direct Review of Trial Court Decision by Supreme Court.

Comment: (a) Content of Notice of Appeal. Section (a) is adapted from FRAP 3(c) without material change and conforms to established Washington practice in civil cases. ROA 1-33; CAROA 33. Prior rules for criminal cases have required additional statements relating to the offense, sentence, and place of confinement. ROA 1-46; CAROA 46. These additional statements are not required by Rule 5.3(a). The value of having this information in the notice is outweighed by the desirability of uniform practice.

(b) Content of Notice for Discretionary Review. Discretionary review is initiated by notice similar to a notice of appeal. See comment 5.1

(d) Multiple Parties Filing Notice. The rule retains the prior practice of permitting coparties to join in a single notice. See ROA 1-33; CAROA 33.

(e) Notices Directed to More than One Case. Compare Oerter v. Geoger, 70 Wash. 110, 126 P. 103 (1912).

(f) Defects in Form of Notice. Defects in form do not affect the validity of the notice. Prior law is in accord. See ROA 1-52; State v. Mitchell, 2 Wn. App. 943, 472 P.2d 629 (1970).

(g) Notices Directed to More than One Court. The Supreme Court may exercise its authority to transfer a case pursuant to Rule 4.3.

(h) Amendment of Notice Directed to Portion of Decision. A notice may be amended to include additional parts of a decision. Terms may be imposed. This is consistent with the general policy of the rules to promote decisions on the merits. Compare ROA 1-52.

(i) Notice by Fewer than All Parties on a Side—Joinder. The phrase "necessity of the case" has become a term of art and is retained. See Mon Wai v. Parks, 46 Wn.2d 138, 278 P.2d 676 (1955). This rule also permits the joinder of a party under the specified circumstances so that relief may be granted to that party. For example, a surety should appropriately have the benefit of a decision on review in favor of the surety's principal.

Rule 5.4 Filing of notice and service by clerk. The clerk of the trial court shall immediately upon filing of a notice of appeal or notice for discretionary review (1) file a copy of the notice with the appellate court designated in the notice, and transmit the filing fee to that court, and (2) serve by mail a copy of the notice on each party of record. The clerk shall indicate on the notice in the clerk's file, or on a separate paper, the date the notice was mailed to each party. Failure by the clerk to file the notice with the appellate court has no effect on the rights of any party to review. Failure by the clerk to serve a party with notice does not prejudice the rights of the party seeking review. The clerk or a party may correct the oversight by serving the notice at any time. A party prejudiced by the clerk's failure to serve the notice may move in the appellate court for appropriate relief. [Adopted January 28, 1976, effective July 1, 1976.]

Comment: The rule returns to a former practice of service by the trial court clerk in both civil and criminal cases. Previous rules requiring a party to properly serve the notice have led to problems of invalidity for violations of the rules. Braman v. Kuper, 51 Wn.2d 676, 321 P.2d 275 (1958). Rule 5.4 directs the clerk to serve notice. To assure consistency with Rule 1.2(a), improper service does not prejudice the rights of a party. The task force recognizes that a full and fair hearing may be impossible if a party below has not been served. See Davey v. Brownson, 3 Wn. App. 820, 478 P.2d 258 (1970). The rule, therefore, provides a convenient procedure for later service and gives the appellate court authority to fashion remedies to provide a fair hearing.

Rule 5.5 Civil appeal statement and settlement conference in court of appeals

(a) Application of Rule. This rule applies only to an appeal to the Court of Appeals from a trial court decision in a civil case.

(b) Service and Filing of Civil Appeal Statement. A party that files a notice of appeal must, within 15 days after the notice is filed, serve on all other parties and file in the Court of Appeals a "civil appeal statement" in the form provided in section (c).

(c) Form of Civil Appeal Statement. The statement should be captioned "Civil Appeal Statement," contain the title of the case as provided in Rule 3.4, and contain under appropriate headings and in the order here indicated:

(1) Nature of Case and Decision. A short statement of the substance of the case below and the basis for the trial court decision.

(2) Issues Presented for Review. A statement of each issue the party intends to present for review by the Court of Appeals.

(3) Relief Sought In Court of Appeals. The relief the party seeks in the Court of Appeals.

(4) Trial Court. The name of the court from which the appeal was taken.

(5) Judge. The name of the trial court judge who made the decision which is being reviewed.

(6) Date of Decision. The date the decision was entered in the trial court.

(7) Post Decision Motions. A statement of each post decision motion made in the trial court including the nature of the motion, the date the motion was made, the decision on the motion, and the date the decision was entered.

(8) Notice of Appeal. The date the notice of appeal was filed. A copy of the notice should be attached to the statement.

(9) Counsel. The name, address, and telephone number of counsel for each party.

(10) Method of Disposition in Trial Court. A statement of the method used to decide the case in the trial court.

(11) Relief Granted by Trial Court. A short statement of the relief granted by the trial court.

(12) Relief Denied by Trial Court. A short statement of the relief sought by the party making the statement which was denied by the trial court.

(13) Certificate of Counsel. A statement signed by counsel for the party filing the statement certifying that the appeal is taken in good faith; the appeal is not taken for the purpose of delay; and that the party represented by counsel is or is not prepared to immediately take all steps to complete the appeal. If the statement indicates the party is not prepared to immediately take all steps to complete the appeal, the certificate of counsel must state why the party is not prepared to immediately complete the appeal.

(d) Answer to Civil Appeal Statement. A respondent must file an answer to the civil appeal statement within seven days after service of the statement on respondent. The answer should include any modifications to the civil appeal statement that the respondent feels are necessary to give the settlement conference judge a fair presentation of the matters material to settlement of the case. To the extent reasonably necessary to meet this objective, the answer should correct any errors in the civil appeal statement, and present any new issues or modify those presented in the civil appeal statement.

(e) Notice of Settlement Conference. The Chief Judge of the Court of Appeals will determine if one or more settlement conferences are appropriate in each civil appeal. The clerk of the Court of Appeals will notify each party if a settlement conference is to be held. The notice will specify the date, time, and place of the conference; the name of the judge or judge pro tempore who will conduct the conference; and whether the parties are required to attend the conference.

(f) Stay Pending Settlement Conference. Unless the notice of the settlement conference states otherwise, a party who has received a notice of settlement conference is not required to take any further steps to complete the review until the settlement conference is concluded. After the settlement conference is completed, the clerk or a commissioner or the settlement judge will establish the dates within which the remaining steps in the review should be completed.

(g) Attendance at Settlement Conference. The attorney for each party, and the party if the notice requires it, must attend the settlement conference on the date, time, and place specified in the clerk's notice. Those in attendance should be ready to seriously consider the possibility of settlement, limitation of the issues to be presented for review, and other matters which may promote the prompt and fair disposition of the appeal.

(h) Settlement Conference Order. If the parties agree to settle the case, limit the issues, or to other matters to promote the prompt and fair disposition of the appeal, the settlement judge may enter an order consistent with that agreement. If the settlement conference order fully settles the case, the clerk of the Court of Appeals will immediately issue the mandate to the trial court with directions to enter judgment as indicated in the order. In all other cases the order is binding on the parties during the review proceeding, unless the appellate court otherwise directs on its own initiative or on motion of a party for good cause shown and on those terms the appellate court deems appropriate.

(i) Sanctions. If a party or counsel for a party fails to comply with this rule or to comply with a settlement conference order, the Court of Appeals may impose sanctions or dismiss the review proceeding as provided in Rule 18.9.

(j) Settlement Conference Judge May Be Disqualified. The settlement conference judge may hear the appeal on the merits unless (1) the judge decides the best interests of justice would be served by refraining from hearing the case on the merits, or (2) a party disqualifies the judge by request to the clerk of the appellate court. A party may disqualify the judge without cause. Each clerk of the Court of Appeals shall adopt and implement a procedure to preserve the confidentiality of the identity of a party who disqualifies the judge. [Adopted February 28, 1977, effective February 28, 1977.]

Comment: This rule, as Rule 18.11, was initially effective on a trial basis from March 1, 1976 through February 28, 1977. The Supreme Court, in making the rule permanent, has caused it to be retitled and relocated as Rule 5.5. The Court of Appeals has experienced a substantial and dramatic increase in the number of review proceedings being filed in that court. As a result, the backlog in the Court of Appeals has reached crisis proportions.

The procedure established by this rule was suggested to the Supreme Court by several of the judges of the Court of Appeals who studied a similar, but not identical, procedure being used by the New York Supreme Court Appellate Division. The New York experience indicates this procedure holds substantial promise to help reduce the backlog of appellate cases.

TITLE 6—ACCEPTANCE OF REVIEW

Rule

6.1 Appeal as a matter of right

6.2 Discretionary review

(a) Generally

(b) Time to make motion

- (c) Regular motion procedure governs
- (d) Notice of decision on motion

Rule 6.1 Appeal as a matter of right. The appellate court "accepts review" of a trial court decision upon the timely filing in the trial court of a notice of appeal from a decision which is reviewable as a matter of right. [Adopted January 28, 1976, effective July 1, 1976.]

References:

Rule 2.2, Decisions of the Superior Court which may be Appealed.

Comment: Title 6 establishes an important concept called acceptance of review. The acceptance of a case for review causes the general authority over the case to shift to the appellate court (Title 7) and serves as the point from which subsequent events are timed. See e.g., Rules 3.2(c), 7.2(a).

Under Rule 6.1, review of a decision appealable as a matter of right is accepted automatically upon the timely filing of a notice of appeal. This is consistent with current practice. Cf. ROA I-32.

Rule 6.2 Discretionary review.

(a) Generally. The appellate court accepts discretionary review of a trial court decision by granting a motion for discretionary review.

(b) Time To Make Motion. The party seeking discretionary review must file in the appellate court a motion for discretionary review within 15 days after filing the notice for discretionary review. If a party files a notice of appeal from a decision which may not be subject to review as a matter of right, the clerk or a party may note for hearing the question whether the decision is reviewable as a matter of right and, if the decision is reviewable by discretion, the question whether review should be accepted.

(c) Regular Motion Procedure Governs. A motion for discretionary review is governed by the motion procedure established by Title 17.

(d) Notice of Decision on Motion. The clerk of the appellate court will promptly give written notice to the parties and the trial court of the appellate court's decision on the motion for discretionary review. [Adopted January 28, 1976, effective July 1, 1976.]

Comment: The motion procedure is used to determine whether review is accepted. The motion must be filed within 15 days after the notice for discretionary review is filed. The clerk notes for hearing the question of the granting of discretionary review if a party files a notice of appeal from a nonappealable decision. See Rule 5.1(b).

A case subject to discretionary review is accepted by granting a motion for discretionary review. Once review is accepted, the remaining steps are the same whether the case is an appeal or a discretionary review. See also comment 2.1.

TITLE 7—AUTHORITY OF TRIAL COURT AND APPELLATE COURT PENDING REVIEW

Rule

- 7.1 Authority of trial court before review accepted
- 7.2 Authority of trial court after review accepted
 - (a) Generally
 - (b) Settlement of record
 - (c) Enforcement of trial court decision

- (d) Attorney fees and costs
- (e) Post-judgment motions and actions to modify decision
- (f) Release of defendant in criminal case
- (g) Questions relating to indigency
- (h) Supersedeas, stay, and bond
- (i) Costs
- (j) Juvenile court decision

7.3 Authority of appellate court

Rule 7.1 Authority of trial court before review accepted. The trial court retains full authority to act in a case before review is accepted by the appellate court, unless the appellate court directs otherwise as provided in Rule 8.3. [Adopted January 28, 1976, effective July 1, 1976.]

Comment: The case proceeds normally in the trial court until review is accepted, unless the appellate court directs otherwise pursuant to Rule 8.3. Acceptance of review shifts the general authority over the case to the appellate court, and the trial court may act only as provided in Rule 7.2. Ambiguous concepts of "jurisdiction" are abandoned in favor of defining "authority to act."

Rule 7.2 Authority of trial court after review accepted.

(a) Generally. After review is accepted by the appellate court, the trial court has authority to act in a case only to the extent provided in this rule, unless the appellate court limits or expands that authority as provided in Rule 8.3.

(b) Settlement of Record. The trial court has authority to settle the record as provided in Title 9 of these rules.

(c) Enforcement of Trial Court Decision. Except to the extent a decision has been superseded as provided in Rule 8.1, the trial court has authority to enforce any decision of the trial court and a party may execute on any judgment of the trial court. Any person may take action premised on the validity of a trial court decision until enforcement of the decision is superseded as provided in Rule 8.1.

(d) Attorney Fees and Costs. The trial court has authority to award attorney fees and costs for an appeal in a marriage dissolution, a legal separation, a declaration of invalidity proceeding, and in an action to modify a decree in any of these proceedings.

(e) Post-Judgment Motions and Actions To Modify Decision. The trial court has authority to hear and determine (1) post-judgment motions authorized by the civil rules, the criminal rules, or statutes, and (2) actions to change or modify a decision that is subject to modification by the court that initially made the decision. If the trial court determination will change a decision then being reviewed by the appellate court, the permission of the appellate court must be obtained prior to the entry of the trial court decision. A party should seek the required permission by motion. The decision granting or denying a post-judgment motion may be subject to review. A party may only obtain review of the decision on the post-judgment motion by initiating a separate review in the manner and within the time provided by these rules. If review of a post-judgment motion is accepted while the appellate court is reviewing another decision in the same case, the appellate court may on its own initiative or on motion of a party consolidate the separate reviews as provided in Rule 3.3(b).

(f) Release of Defendant in Criminal Case. In a criminal case, the trial court has authority to fix conditions of release of a defendant and to revoke a suspended or deferred sentence.

(g) Questions Relating to Indigency. The trial court has authority to decide questions relating to indigency as provided in Title 15 of these rules.

(h) Supersedeas, Stay, and Bond. The trial court has authority to act on matter of supersedeas, stays, and bonds as provided in Rules 8.1 and 8.4, CR 62(a), (b), and (h), and RCW 6.08.

(i) Costs. The trial court has authority to act on claims for costs and objections to costs. A party may obtain review of a trial court decision on costs in the same review proceeding as that challenging the judgment without filing a separate notice of appeal or notice for discretionary review.

(j) Juvenile Court Decision. The trial court has authority to act on matters of supersedeas, stays, bonds, and the release of a person pending review of a juvenile court proceeding. [Amended July 18, 1978, effective July 1, 1978; amended June 21, 1976, effective July 2, 1976; adopted January 28, 1976, effective July 1, 1976.]

Comment: (a) Generally. Rule 7.2 and the rules which follow define the respective powers of the trial and appellate courts in terms of "authority to act." Rule 7.1 defined the trial court's authority to act before acceptance of review. Rule 7.2 defines the trial court's authority to act after acceptance of review.

(c) Enforcement of Trial Court Decision. Section (c) conforms to established practice and clarifies what has been frequently misunderstood under prior rules. If the party seeking review does not supersede enforcement pursuant to Rules 8.1 or 8.2, the acceptance of appellate review does not diminish the prevailing party's right to enforce the decision below. See Baisch v. Gibson, 138 Wash. 127, 244 P. 259 (1926); Malo v. Anderson, 76 Wn.2d 1, 454 P.2d 828 (1969). The decision may be enforced in the trial court as if no review had been sought. If an unsuperseded judgment is enforced and later reversed or modified by the appellate court, the rights of persons affected may be adjusted as provided in Rule 12.8.

(d) Attorney Fees and Costs. Section (d) is suggested by Bennett v. Bennett, 63 Wn.2d 404, 387 P.2d 517 (1963).

(e) Post-Judgment Motions and Actions To Modify Decision. The rule changes present Washington practice and conforms to practice generally followed in federal court. See 9 J. Moore, Federal Practice pp. 734-740 (1973); Weiss v. Hunna, 312 F.2d 711 (2d Cir. 1963).

Previous Washington practice required a party to file a motion in the appellate court requesting leave to file the post-judgment motion in the superior court. Doss v. Schuller, 47 Wn.2d 520, 288 P.2d 475 (1955). The petitioner had to make a showing on the merits of his motion twice: first in the appellate court, and later in the trial court. Nevertheless, the decision of the appellate court on the motion only authorized the petitioner to proceed below. The trial court was free to deny the motion. Palmer v. Cozza, 2 Wn. App. 900, 901, 471 P.2d 102, 103 (1970).

Rule 7.2 reverses the procedure. The motion will be made in the trial court in the first instance, and the motion will be presented to the appellate court only if the trial court is inclined to grant the motion. Under these rules, the motion is heard first in the court best equipped to evaluate the grounds for a post-trial motion. Unnecessary work for the appellate court is eliminated. The trial court decision on the motion may be reviewed as any other trial court decision. See also comment 5.1(e).

(f) Release of Defendant in Criminal Case. A defendant in a criminal case may be released pending review as provided by the Superior Court Criminal Rules or by statutes. See, e.g., CrR 3.2(h). The A.B.A. gives criteria for release pending review and recommends a procedure for appellate review of bail decisions, but such criteria and procedure are not included in these rules. See American Bar Association, Standards Relating to Criminal Appeals, § 2.5 (1970). Standards for release on bail are more appropriately governed by criminal rules and statutes.

Rule 7.3 Authority of appellate court. The appellate court has the authority to determine whether a matter is properly before it, and to perform all acts necessary or appropriate to secure the fair and orderly review of a case. The Court of Appeals retains authority to act in a case pending before it until review is accepted by the Supreme Court, unless the Supreme Court directs otherwise. [Adopted January 28, 1976, effective July 1, 1976.]

Comment: The rule states the broad authority of the appellate court to act. It clarifies the effect of Supreme Court review of a decision of the Court of Appeals on the authority of the Court of Appeals to act.

TITLE 8—SUPERSEDEAS, INJUNCTIONS, AND OTHER ORDERS TO INSURE EFFECTIVE REVIEW—BONDS

Rule

- 8.1 Supersedeas in the trial court
 - (a) Application of civil rules
 - (b) Supersedeas by bond or other security
 - (c) Supersedeas by party not required to post bond
 - (d) Objection to supersedeas decision
- 8.2 Release of defendant or juvenile during review
 - (a) Release not governed by these rules
 - (b) Objection to decision
- 8.3 Appellate court orders needed for effective review
- 8.4 Bond with individual sureties—Justification—Objection
 - (a) Scope of rule
 - (b) Justification
 - (c) Objection
- 8.5 State as obligee on bond
- 8.6 Termination of supersedeas, injunctions, and other orders

Rule 8.1 Supersedeas in the trial court.

(a) Application of Civil Rules. This rule provides a means of delaying the enforcement of a trial court decision in a civil case in addition to the means provided in CR 62(a), (b), and (h).

(b) Supersedeas by Bond or Other Security. Except when prohibited by statute, a party may supersede the enforcement of a money judgment or decision affecting property by filing a supersedeas bond executed by one or more sureties approved by the trial court. The bond must be conditioned for the satisfaction of the judgment in full together with interest and costs, and the satisfaction in full of any probable modification of the judgment by the appellate court. If a party seeks to supersede only part of a decision, the bond amount shall be adjusted to accomplish the purpose desired. The trial court may authorize a party to post security other than a bond.

(1) Money Judgment. If the judgment is for the recovery of money not wholly secured, the amount of the bond shall be fixed at such sum as will cover the whole amount of the judgment remaining unsatisfied and unsecured, together with interest thereon, unless the court, after notice and hearing and for good cause shown, fixes a different amount.

(2) Decision Affecting Property. If the decision determines the disposition of property in controversy, or if the property is in the custody of the sheriff, or if the proceeds of the property or a bond for its value are in the custody or control of the court, the amount of the supersedeas bond shall be fixed at such sum only as will secure any money judgment plus the amount of loss which a party may be entitled to recover as a result of the inability of the party to enforce the judgment during review.

(c) Supersedeas by Party Not Required to Post Bond. If a party is not required to post a bond, that party shall file a notice that the decision is superseded without bond and, after filing the notice, the party shall be in the same position as if the party had posted a bond pursuant to the provisions of this rule.

(d) Objection to Supersedeas Decision. A party may object to a supersedeas decision of the trial court by motion in the appellate court. [Adopted January 28, 1976, effective July 1, 1976.]

CR 62, Stay of Proceedings to Enforce a Judgment.
RCW 48.28.010, Requirements Deemed Met by Surety Insurer.

Comment: (a) Application of Civil Rules. Rule 8.1 supplements CR 62(a), (b) and (h) and supersedes CR 62(c), (d), (e), (f) and (g). The authority to suspend, modify, restore, or grant an injunction after acceptance of review should rest solely with the appellate court.

Chapter 6.08 RCW, which provides for a temporary stay of execution upon the filing of a bond, is not designed to accomplish supersedeas on review and is not superseded by Rule 8.1.

(b) Supersedeas by Bond or Other Security. The rule is derived substantially from present ROA I-23, except for the deletion of ROA I-23(2), Effect of Supersedeas, which appears redundant. The language is altered to eliminate the term stay in favor of more descriptive terminology.

The relief afforded by Rule 8.1 is available as a matter of right. However, the rule applies only to money judgments and decisions affecting property. A party may seek to delay the enforcement of other decisions under Rule 8.3 by a motion to the appellate court. The descriptive terminology established by Rules 8.1 and 8.3 simplifies the task of determining whether supersedeas is available. One need not research the question whether a particular decision is self-executing. Compare State ex rel. Austin v. Superior Court, 6 Wn.2d 61, 106 P.2d 1077 (1941). Nor is it necessary to research the question whether an injunction is mandatory or prohibitory. Compare State ex rel. Langlie v. Wright, 35 Wn.2d 703, 215 P.2d 407 (1958). If the decision falls within Rule 8.1, supersedeas is available as a matter of right. If the decision is not among those listed in Rule 8.1, supersedeas is available only in the discretion of the appellate court. See also comment 8.3.

These rules do not purport to treat the effect of supersedeas on the running of statutory time limitations for redemption, execution of judgment, or the commencement of a new action. See generally Baisch v. Gibson, 138 Wash. 127, 244 P. 259 (1926); Kuper v. Stojack, 57 Wn.2d 482, 358 P.2d, 132 (1960); RCW 4.16.240. See also comment 7.2(c).

(c) Supersedeas by Party Not Required To Post Bond. Statutory law excuses particular parties from posting a supersedeas bond. See, e.g., RCW 2.10.210, 4.92.030, 8.04.150, 8.08.080, 8.20.120, 41.26.230, 41.40.440, 43.21B.190, 43.21B.200, 50.32.130, 51.52.110, 74.08.080, 85.05.130, 85.06.130, and 91.04.325. The rule requires these parties to give a notice to insure that other parties are aware of the intent to supersede.

(d) Objection to Supersedeas Decision. Fast action may be necessary. Thus, the quicker motion procedure is available to review trial court supersedeas decisions, as well as the usual slower review procedure.

Rule 8.2 Release of defendant or juvenile during review.

(a) Release Not Governed by These Rules. The conditions under which a defendant in a criminal case or a juvenile in a juvenile offense proceeding may be released pending review are set forth in the criminal rules, juvenile court rules, and in statutes.

(b) Objection to Decision. A party may object to a trial court decision relating to release of a defendant or a juvenile during a review of a criminal case or a juvenile offense proceeding by motion in the appellate court. [Amended July 18, 1978, effective July 1, 1978; adopted January 28, 1976, effective July 1, 1976.]

Rule 8.3 Appellate court orders needed for effective review. Except when prohibited by statute, the appellate court has authority to issue orders, before or after acceptance of review, to insure effective and equitable review, including authority to grant injunctive or other relief to a party. The appellate court will ordinarily condition the order on furnishing a bond or other security. A party seeking the relief provided by this rule should use the motion procedure provided in Title 17. [Adopted January 28, 1976, effective July 1, 1976.]

Comment: The rule gives the appellate court broad discretionary authority to issue orders to insure effective and equitable review. The rule may be used to seek to delay the enforcement of judgments not subject to supersedeas as a matter of right. See generally comment 8.1. The rule may also be used to seek a stay of trial court proceedings pending acceptance of review. Without limiting relief formerly available, the rule avoids the ambiguous distinctions between injunctions, writs, stays, and supersedeas by using the single term order. However, statutes restricting delays in enforcement or stays of proceedings on review take precedence over these rules. See e.g. RCW 48.31.190(6).

The motion procedure provided by Title 17 is used to obtain the order. The motion may be filed before or after acceptance of review and, in an emergency, may be filed in the manner provided by Rule 17.4(b). An order issued pursuant to Rule 8.3 will ordinarily be conditioned on the furnishing of a bond or other adequate security.

Rule 8.4 Bond with individual sureties—Justification—Objection.

(a) Scope of Rule. An individual who is a resident of this state may be a surety on a bond, except that a party may not act as a surety. This rule applies to justification of and objection to a surety on a bond given pursuant to Rule 8.1 or 8.3, but only if the surety is a person other than a surety company authorized to transact surety business in this state.

(b) Justification. The bond must be accompanied by an affidavit signed by each surety affirming that (1) the surety is a resident of this state, and (2) the surety alone or the sureties together have a net worth, excluding property exempt from execution, at least equal to twice the penalty in the bond.

(c) Objection. A party may object to the sufficiency of the surety on the bond or the form of the bond by a motion in the trial court made within 7 days after the party making the motion is served with the bond and the supporting affidavit or affidavits. If the trial court determines that the bond is improper as to form or that the net worth of the surety is inadequate, the supersedeas or other order conditioned upon the posting of the bond may be preserved only by furnishing a proper new bond within 7 days of the entry of the order declaring the first bond deficient. [Adopted January 28, 1976, effective July 1, 1976.]

Comment: The Rule is similar to ROA I-26 and I-27. Section (a) prohibits a party from acting as a surety.

Rule 8.5 State as obligee on bond. The obligee in a bond given pursuant to Rule 8.1 or 8.3 may be named as the State of Washington for the benefit of whom it may concern. If the State is named as the obligee, anyone has the same right upon or concerning the bond as if named as an obligee in the bond. The State of Washington shall not, solely because the State is named as an obligee, be sued or named as a party in any suit on the bond. [Adopted January 28, 1976, effective July 1, 1976.]

Comment: Rule 8.5 is similar to ROA I-25.

Rule 8.6 Termination of supersedeas, injunctions, and other orders. The issuance of the mandate as provided in Rule 12.5 terminates any delay of enforcement of a trial court decision obtained pursuant to Rule 8.1 and terminates orders entered pursuant to Rule 8.3. [Adopted January 28, 1976, effective July 1, 1976.]

Comment: Rule 8.6 clarifies established law. The mandate issued pursuant to Rule 12.5 terminates delays in enforcement of decisions obtained pursuant to Rule 8.1 and orders obtained pursuant to Rule 8.3.

Rule 9.1 Composition of record on review.

(a) Generally. The "record on review" may consist of (1) a "report of proceedings", (2) "clerk's papers", and (3) exhibits.

(b) Report of Proceedings. The report of proceedings may take the form of a "verbatim report of proceedings" as provided in Rule 9.2, a "narrative report of proceedings" as provided in Rule 9.3, or an "agreed report of proceedings" as provided in Rule 9.4.

(c) Clerk's Papers. The clerk's papers include the pleadings, orders, and other papers filed with the clerk of the trial court.

(d) Avoid Duplication. Material appearing in one part of the record on review should not be duplicated in another part of the record on review. [Adopted January 28, 1976, effective July 1, 1976.]

Rule 13.7, Proceedings (in Supreme Court) After Acceptance of Review (of Court of Appeals decision), (a) Procedure.

Comment: The old rules governing the record on review have unfortunately operated in some cases to prevent a decision on the merits. The rules in Title 9, based on the Federal Rules of Appellate Procedure, simplify preparation of the record on review and give the court a better opportunity to consider the case on its merits.

Rule 9.1 requires one record, not two. Under the old rules, the record has been sent to the appellate court in two packages, one called the "statement of facts," certified by the trial judge, and one called the "transcript," certified by the superior court clerk. ROA I-37, I-44.

If counsel erred by putting in the transcript that which should have been in the statement of facts, the material was stricken from the record, and assignments of error based on the stricken material would not be considered by the court, e.g., Clark v. Fowler, 58 Wn.2d 435, 363 P.2d 812 (1961); Popovich v. Department of Labor & Indus. 66 Wn.2d 908, 406 P.2d 593 (1965). Rule 9.1 establishes a single, unified record, ending the need to research and decide at one's peril which is the appropriate package in which to place a document.

The next step taken by Rule 9.1 is to adopt descriptive terminology. The record of the proceedings in trial is no longer the "statement of facts," but the "report of proceedings." If the report of proceedings is a word for word record of the trial, it is called a verbatim report of proceedings; if it is in narrative form, a narrative report of proceedings; and if it is agreed, an agreed report of proceedings. The papers filed with the trial court are no longer the "transcript," but the "clerk's papers," and the exhibits.

The ambiguity of previous terminology has unfortunately raised problems of interpretation which tend to penalize parties for attorney error. See, e.g., Warner v. Hearst Publications, 20 Wn.2d 552, 148 P.2d 315 (1944); Porter v. Chicago, M., St. P. & Pac. R.R., 41 Wn.2d 836, 252 P.2d 306 (1953); Clark v. Fowler, 58 Wn.2d 435, 363 P.2d 812 (1961). The unified record and descriptive terminology of Rule 9.1 provide a simplified procedure designed to minimize the chances of a defective or incomplete record.

Rule 9.2 Verbatim report of proceedings.

(a) Transcription and Statement of Arrangements. If the party seeking review intends to provide a verbatim report of proceedings, the party should arrange for transcription of and payment for an original and one copy of the verbatim report of proceedings within 45 days after acceptance of review. The party seeking review must file with the appellate court a statement that arrangements have been made for the transcription of the report. The statement must be filed within 45 days after acceptance of review. The party must indicate the date that the statement was ordered and the financial arrangements which have been made for payment of transcription costs.

(b) Content. A party should arrange for the transcription of only those portions of the verbatim report of proceedings necessary to present the issues raised on review. If the party seeking review intends to urge that a verdict or finding of fact is not supported by the evidence, the party should include in the record all evidence relevant to the disputed verdict or finding. If the party seeking review intends to urge that the court erred in giving or failing to give an instruction, the party should include in the record all of the instructions given, the relevant instructions proposed, the party's objections to the instructions given, and the court's ruling on the objections.

(c) Notice of Partial Report of Proceedings and Issues. If a party seeking review arranges for less than all of the verbatim report of proceedings, the party should file and serve on all other parties within 45 days after review is accepted a description of the parts of the verbatim report of proceedings which the party intends to include in the record and a statement of the issues the party intends to present on review. Any other party who wishes to add to the verbatim report of proceedings should file and serve on all other parties a designation of additional parts of the verbatim report of proceedings. If the party seeking review refuses to provide the additional parts of the verbatim report of proceedings, the party seeking the additional parts may provide them at the party's own expense or apply to the trial court for an order requiring the party seeking review to pay for the additional parts of the verbatim report of proceedings.

(d) Payment of Expenses. If a party fails to make arrangements for payment of the costs of the verbatim report of proceedings at the time the verbatim report of proceedings is ordered, the party may be subject to sanctions as provided in Rule 18.9.

(e) Index. The verbatim report of proceedings should include an index indicating, under the headings listed below, the pages where the following appear:

- (1) Proceedings. The beginning of each proceeding and the nature of that proceeding;
- (2) Witnesses. The testimony of each witness and the type of examination;
- (3) Exhibits. The marking and admission into evidence of exhibits and depositions;
- (4) Motions. All motions and decisions of motions;
- (5) Argument. Opening and closing arguments;

(6) Instructions. All instructions proposed and given. Any other events should be listed under a suitable heading which would help the reviewing court locate separate parts of the verbatim report of proceedings.

(f) Form Generally. The verbatim report of proceedings must be on 8 1/2 inch by 11 inch paper. Margins should be lined 1 3/8 inches from the left and 5/8 inches from the right side of each page. The type should fill the space between the lines. Indentations from the left lined margin should be: 1 space for "Q" and "A"; 3 spaces for the body of the testimony; 8 spaces for commencement of a paragraph; and 10 spaces for quoted authority. Typing should be double spaced or 1 1/2 spaced except that comments by the reporter should be single spaced. If double spaced, the page should have 25 lines of type. If 1 1/2 spaced, the page should have 33 lines of type. Type must be pica type or its equivalent with no more than 10 characters an inch.

(g) Form When at Public Expense. A verbatim report of proceedings provided at public expense must be in the form provided by section (f), except the report must be on 8 1/2 inch by 13 inch paper and typing must be double spaced 30 lines of type to the page. Comments by the reporter must be single spaced. [Amended June 21, 1976, effective July 2, 1976; adopted January 28, 1976, effective July 1, 1976.]

Form 15, Statement of Arrangements, Title 6, Acceptance of Review.

Comment: Generally. Under the new rules a report of proceedings may be in one of three forms: a verbatim report of proceedings, a narrative report of proceedings, or an agreed report of proceedings. It is the first of these three forms with which Rule 9.2 is concerned.

(a) Transcription and Statement of Arrangements. Section (a) retains the time limits for arranging for a typewritten verbatim report of the proceeding and for filing a statement that this has been done. ROA I-34; CAROA 34. The report may be prepared by a court reporter or any other person.

(b) Content. The use of an abbreviated report of proceedings is encouraged if a report of the entire trial is unnecessary. This lessens the cost of the record for the litigants and relieves the court of the burden of reading unnecessarily lengthy records. See Lofgren v. Western Wash. Corp., 65 Wn.2d 144, 396 P.2d 139 (1964). The report may be supplemented under Rule 9.10 if the appellate court determines additional parts of the record are necessary.

Section (b) details the content of a report of proceedings in two troublesome situations. The two situations outlined are sufficiently important to warrant special mention. With respect to review of a verdict or finding of fact, see Whitney v. McKay, 54 Wn.2d 672, 344 P.2d 497 (1959). With respect to review of a jury instruction, see ROA I-34(9), CR 51(f), and Stuart v. Consolidated Foods Corp., 6 Wn. App. 841, 496 P.2d 527 (1972). If a party seeking review intends to urge that the court erred in determining the sufficiency of evidence in an administrative hearing, the party should include the entire record of the administrative proceeding. Tunget v. Employment Security Dep't, 78 Wn.2d 954, 481 P.2d 436 (1971).

(c) Notice of Partial Report of Proceedings and Issues. Section (c) requires notice to be given when the appellant or petitioner intends to include a report of less than all of the proceedings. The trial court may direct the preparation of additional parts of the record and may require the party seeking review to pay the cost.

(e) Index. The rule is derived from current practice in King County and ROA I-34(6). A properly prepared index is an important aid to the appellate court.

(f) Form. Letter-sized paper is required. This conforms to federal practice and the trend towards letter-sized paper for all legal documents. The rule allows, but does not require, lines to be 1 1/2-spaced. A letter-sized page 1 1/2-spaced contains as much written material as a double spaced legal-sized page with no sacrifice in readability.

Contrary to prior practice, the verbatim report of proceedings need not be certified by the trial judge. It is simply submitted to the trial judge for his review. Compare ROA 1-36, 1-37, 1-38, 1-39. This change accomplishes two things: it eliminates one appearance in court in most cases, and reduces the cost of an appeal accordingly; and, it frees trial judges from the ministerial task of signing a certificate when there is no dispute between the parties on the content of the record. The adversary system helps insure an accurate report. See comment 9.5. Of course, if the parties or the trial judge does not agree to the report, the trial judge must have a hearing and settle the disputed portions of the record. The procedure for additions or correction is provided by Rules 9.5 and 9.9. See FRAP 10(e).

Rule 9.3 Narrative report of proceedings. The party seeking review may prepare a narrative report of proceedings. A party preparing a narrative report must exercise the party's best efforts to include a fair and accurate statement of the occurrences in an evidence introduced in the trial court material to the issues on review. A narrative report should be in the same form as a verbatim report, as provided in Rule 9.2(e) and (f). If any party prepares a verbatim report of proceedings, that report will be used as the report of proceedings for the review. [Adopted January 28, 1976, effective July 1, 1976.]

Comment: Rule 9.3 governs the second form of report of proceedings permitted by Rule 9.1. The old rules do not expressly authorize a narrative report of proceedings, but decisional law indicates that the Supreme Court has no objection to this practice. Glaser v. Holdorf, 53 Wn.2d 92, 330 P.2d 1066 (1958).

A narrative report must be prepared in good faith and must fairly and accurately portray the proceedings below. The narrative report may not be used as a vehicle for seeking an advisory opinion, even if the parties stipulate to its contents. Intentional disregard of this rule would violate DR 7-104 of the Code of Professional Responsibility.

The narrative report must be submitted to the trial judge in accordance with Rule 9.5(b). Any party may object to the narrative report under Rule 9.5(a).

If one party prepares a verbatim report of proceedings (Rule 9.2), it is unfair to permit a review of the case solely on the basis of a narrative report. Consequently, the rule provides that a verbatim report, if prepared, will be used as the report of proceedings for review. The reasonable costs of preparing the verbatim report may be recovered if the party preparing the verbatim report prevails on review. See Rules 14.2 and 14.3.

Rule 9.4 Agreed report of proceedings. The parties may prepare and sign an agreed report of proceedings setting forth only so many of the facts averred and proved or sought to be proved as are essential to the decision of the issues presented for review. The agreed report of proceedings must include only matters which were actually before the trial court. An agreed report of proceedings should be in the same form as a verbatim report, as provided in Rule 9.2(e) and (f). [Adopted January 28, 1976, effective July 1, 1976.]

Comment: Rule 9.4 authorizes a stipulated statement of the case, called an agreed report of proceedings. The agreed report may consist of excerpted portions of a verbatim report of proceedings arranged in a meaningful form, a narrative statement, or some of both.

An agreed report must be prepared in good faith and must accurately portray the proceedings below. The agreed report may not be used as a vehicle for seeking an advisory opinion, even if the parties stipulate to its contents. Intentional disregard of this rule would violate DR 7-104 of the Code of Professional Responsibility.

The agreed report must be submitted to the trial judge in accordance with Rule 9.5(b).

Rule 9.5 Filing and service of report of proceedings—Objections.

(a) Generally. The party seeking review must file the report of proceedings with the clerk of the trial court, and then submit it to the judge as provided in section (b), within 90 days after review is accepted by the appellate court. The party must at the time of filing the report of proceedings serve one copy on an adverse party and serve and file notice of the filing on all other parties. A party may serve and file objections to, and propose amendments to, a narrative report of proceedings or a verbatim report of proceedings within 10 days after receipt of the report of proceedings or receipt of the notice of filing of the report of proceedings. If objections or amendments to the report of proceedings are served and filed, the report of proceedings and any objections or proposed amendments must be submitted to the trial court judge before whom the proceedings were held for settlement and approval. The trial court may direct the party seeking review to pay for the expense of any modifications of the proposed report of proceedings.

(b) Submission of Report of Proceedings to Trial Judge. A report of proceedings must be submitted to the trial court judge before whom the proceedings were held for approval. The judge may call the parties to appear before the court for the purpose of adding to or correcting the report of proceedings. The report of proceedings is deemed approved if the trial court judge does not otherwise notify the parties within 10 days after submission of the report to the judge and if a party has not objected to the report as provided in section (a).

(c) Substitute Judge May Settle Report of Proceedings. If the judge before whom the proceedings were held is for any reason unable to promptly settle questions as provided in section (a), or unable to promptly accept and review the report as provided in section (b), another judge may act in the place of the judge before whom the proceedings were held.

(d) Use of Copy of Report of Proceedings. The party who has the right to file the next brief must be given the use of the copy of the report of proceedings. If more than one party has the right to file the next brief, the parties must cooperate in the use of the report of proceedings. When all brief[s] are filed, the copy of the report of proceedings should be returned to the party who paid for it. [Adopted January 28, 1976, effective July 1, 1976.]

Title 6, Acceptance of Review.

Comment: (a) Generally. Rule 9.5 retains the 90-day time limit for filing and serving the report of proceedings. The time limit begins to run from the filing of a notice of appeal or the acceptance of discretionary review. ROA 1-34(2) and CAROA 34(2) are in accord. In the interest of uniformity, the rule applies to both civil and criminal cases. Compare ROA 1-46(e)(2)(i) and (ii). The objection procedure is similar to the old rules. Certification is not required.

(b) Submission of Report of Proceedings to Trial Judge. A report of proceedings must be submitted to the trial judge. This is to insure its accuracy and prevent parties from seeking an appellate court advisory opinion.

Rule 9.6 Designation of clerk's papers and exhibits. The party seeking review should, within 30 days after review is accepted, serve on all other parties and file a designation of those clerk's papers and exhibits the party wants the trial court clerk to transmit to the appellate court. Any other party may in the same manner designate additional clerk's papers or exhibits for transmittal to the appellate court. Each party is encouraged to designate only clerk's papers and exhibits needed to review the issues presented to the appellate court. [Adopted January 28, 1976, effective July 1, 1976.]

Title 6, Acceptance of Review.

Comment: Rule 9.6 describes the procedure for designating the clerk's papers and exhibits to be included in the record. The parties should designate only those papers and exhibits necessary for review. See comment 9.2(b).

Rule 9.7 Preparing clerk's papers and exhibits for appellate court.

(a) Clerk's Papers. The clerk of the trial court shall make copies at cost, not to exceed 50 cents a page, of those portions of the clerk's papers designated by the parties and prepare them for transmission to the appellate court. The clerk shall assemble the copies and number each page of the clerk's papers in chronological order of filing. The clerk shall prepare a cover sheet for the papers with the title "Clerk's Papers" and prepare an alphabetical index to the papers. The clerk shall promptly send a copy of the index to each party.

(b) Exhibits. The clerk of the trial court shall assemble those exhibits designated by the parties and prepare them for transmission to the appellate court. Exhibits which are papers should be assembled in the order the exhibits are numbered with a cover sheet which lists the exhibits and is titled "Exhibits." [Amended April 25, 1978, effective May 15, 1978; adopted January 28, 1976, effective July 1, 1976.]

Comment: It is the responsibility of the superior court clerk to prepare the clerk's papers and exhibits designated by the parties for transmission to the appellate court. Rule 9.7 states how this should be done. All counsel will receive a copy of the index to the clerk's papers; page references in briefs can then correspond to the pages in the clerk's papers sent to the appellate court.

Rule 9.8 Transmitting record on review.

(a) Duty of Trial Court Clerk. Except as provided in section (b), the clerk of the trial court shall transmit the record on review to the appellate court when requested by the clerk of the appellate court. The clerk shall endorse on the face of the record the date upon which the record on review is transmitted to the appellate court.

(b) Cumbersome Exhibits. The clerk of the trial court shall transmit to the appellate court exhibits which are difficult or unusually expensive to transmit only if the appellate court directs or if a party makes arrangements with the clerk to transmit the exhibits at the expense of the party requesting the transfer of the exhibits.

(c) Temporary Transmittal to Another Court. If the record or any part of it is needed in another court while a review is pending, the clerk of the appellate court will,

on the order or ruling of the appellate court, transmit the record or part of it to the clerk of that court, to remain there until the purpose for which it is transmitted has been satisfied or until the clerk of the appellate court requests its return. [Amended June 21, 1976, effective July 2, 1976; adopted January 28, 1976, effective July 1, 1976.]

Comment: It is the responsibility of the superior court to transmit the record on review to the appellate court when requested. Exhibits which are difficult or expensive to mail will be transmitted only if the appellate court so directs or if a party arranges with the clerk for their transmission. A party should also arrange with the appellate court clerk for the receipt of the exhibits.

Statutes prescribing inconsistent time limits for transmission of the record are superseded. See Rule 18.12.

Rule 9.9 Correcting or supplementing report of proceedings before transmittal to appellate court. The report of proceedings may be corrected or supplemented by the trial court on motion of a party, or on stipulation of the parties, at any time prior to the transmission of the report to the appellate court. The trial court may impose the same kinds of sanctions provided in Rule 18.9(a) as a condition to correcting or supplementing the report of proceedings after the time provided in Rule 9.5. [Adopted January 28, 1976, effective July 1, 1976.]

Comment: Rule 9.9, adapted from FRAP 10(e), supplements the procedure in Rule 9.5 for amending or correcting the report of proceedings before it is sent to the appellate court. Monetary sanctions may be imposed under Rule 18.9 against a party who did not make a good faith effort to correct or amend the report at the time established in Rule 9.5.

Rule 9.10 Correcting or supplementing record after transmittal to appellate court. If a party has made a good faith effort to provide those portions of the record required by Rule 9.2(b), the appellate court will not ordinarily dismiss a review proceeding or affirm, reverse, or modify a trial court decision because of the failure of the party to provide the appellate court with a complete record of the proceedings below. If the record is not sufficiently complete to permit a decision on the merits of the issues presented for review, the appellate court may, on its own initiative or on the motion of a party (1) direct the transmittal of additional clerk's papers and exhibits, or (2) correct, or direct the supplementation or correction of, the report of proceedings. The appellate court may impose sanctions as provided in Rule 18.9(a) as a condition to correcting or supplementing the record on review. [Adopted January 28, 1976, effective July 1, 1976.]

Comment: Rule 9.10, derived from FRAP 10(e), establishes liberal provisions for correcting or adding to the record after it has been sent to the appellate court. The rule relates only to additions or corrections to the record of earlier proceedings in the trial court. To be distinguished is the procedure for introducing new evidence on review under Rule 9.11.

The rule alleviates the risk in providing an abbreviated record. A party need only assemble a record which appears to be adequate for purposes of review. Issues presented for review will not be decided on the basis that the record is incomplete, except in the unusual case where a party fails to make a good faith effort to provide the relevant portions of the record. Errors in judgment will not be penalized by dismissal of the case. If a decision on the merits requires study of additional parts of the record, the court will request the additional materials. Prior law to the contrary is superseded. Compare Harris v. Kuhn, 80 Wn.2d 630, 497 P.2d 164 (1972); Tunget v. Employment Security Dep't, 78 Wn.2d 954, 481 P.2d 436 (1971); Barnes v. Central Wash. Deaconess Hosp., 5 Wn. App. 13, 485 P.2d 85 (1971). Monetary sanctions may be imposed under Rule 18.9(a) against a party who did not make a good faith effort to correct or supplement the record before transmittal to the appellate court.

Rule 9.11 Additional evidence on review.

(a) Remedy Limited. The appellate court may only on its own initiative direct that additional evidence be taken before the decision of a case on review if: (1) additional proof of facts is needed to fairly resolve the issues on review, (2) the additional evidence would probably change the decision being reviewed, (3) it is equitable to excuse a party's failure to present the evidence to the trial court, (4) the remedy available to a party through post-judgment motions in the trial court is inadequate or unnecessarily expensive, (5) the appellate court remedy of granting a new trial is inadequate or unnecessarily expensive, and (6) it would be inequitable to decide the case solely on the evidence already taken in the trial court.

(b) Where Taken. The appellate court will ordinarily direct the trial court to take additional evidence and find the facts based on that evidence. [Adopted January 28, 1976, effective July 1, 1976.]

Comment: The proper disposition of a case may, in very exceptional circumstances, be dependent upon the consideration of new evidence by the appellate court. For example, the parties to a contract dispute may have inadvertently failed to offer the contract in evidence after it was marked as an exhibit. This rule permits the introduction of new evidence at the appellate level—but only on the initiative of the court and only if all six listed conditions are met. The rule corresponds to California and Michigan practice, except that this rule is stricter. Compare California Appellate Rule 23 and Michigan Court Rule 810.

Rule 10.1 Briefs which may be filed.

(a) Scope of Title. The rules in this title apply only to the briefs referred to in this rule, unless a particular rule indicates a different application is intended.

(b) Briefs Which May Be Filed in Any Review. The following briefs may be filed in any review: (1) a brief of appellant or petitioner, (2) a brief of respondent, and (3) a reply brief of appellant or petitioner.

(c) Reply Brief of Respondent. If the respondent is also seeking review, the respondent may file a brief in reply to the response the appellant or petitioner has made to the issues presented by respondent's review.

(d) Pro Se Supplemental Brief in Criminal Case. A defendant in a review of a criminal case may file a brief supplementing the brief filed by the defendant's counsel, but only if the defendant files a notice of intention to file a pro se supplemental brief. The notice of intent should be filed within 30 days after the defendant has received the brief prepared by defendant's counsel, a notice from the clerk of the appellate court advising the defendant of the substance of this section, Rule 10.2(e), and 10.3(d), and a form of notice of intention to file a pro se supplemental brief. The clerk will advise all parties if the defendant files the notice of intention.

(e) Amicus Curiae Brief. An amicus curiae brief may be filed only if permission is obtained as provided in Rule 10.6. If an amicus curiae brief is filed, a brief in answer to the brief of amicus curiae may be filed by a party.

(f) Briefs in Cases Involving Cross Review. If a cross review is filed, the party first filing a notice of appeal or notice for discretionary review is deemed the appellant or petitioner for the purpose of this title, unless the parties otherwise agree or the appellate court otherwise orders.

(g) Briefs in Consolidated Cases and in Cases Involving Multiple Parties. In cases consolidated for the purpose of review and in a case with more than one party to a side, a party may (1) join with one or more other parties in a single brief, or (2) file a separate brief and adopt by reference any part of the brief of another.

(h) Other Briefs. The appellate court may in a particular case authorize or direct the filing of briefs on the merits other than those listed in this rule. [Adopted January 28, 1976, effective July 1, 1976.]

Form 7, Notice of Intent to File Pro Se Supplemental Brief,

Rule 13.7, Proceedings (in Supreme Court) After Acceptance of Review (of Court of Appeals decision), (a) Procedure; Rule 16.10, Personal Restraint Petition—Briefs.

Comment: Rule 10.1 conforms to current practice, except section (d). When the clerk sends a criminal defendant the brief prepared by defendant's counsel, the clerk will also send defendant a notice. The notice will inform the defendant of defendant's right to file a pro se supplemental brief and the procedure to be employed if the brief is filed. If the defendant wants to file a brief, a notice of intent to do so must be filed within 30 days of receipt of the brief filed by defendant's counsel. The form is provided by the clerk. The defendant need not obtain permission to file the brief as in ROA I-46. Motions under the old rule were uniformly granted.

Sections (f), (g), and (h) clarify practices which were ambiguous in the old rules, or not expressly covered.

Rule 10.2 Time for filing briefs.

(a) Brief of Appellant or Petitioner. The brief of an appellant or petitioner should be filed with the appellate court within 45 days after the report of proceedings is filed in the trial court; or, if the record on review does not include a report of proceedings, within 45 days after the party seeking review has filed the designation of clerk's papers and exhibits.

(b) Brief of Respondent in Civil Case. The brief of a respondent in a civil case should be filed with the appellate court within 30 days after service of the brief of appellant or petitioner.

(c) Brief of Respondent in Criminal Case. The brief of a respondent in a criminal case should be filed with the appellate court within 60 days after service of the brief of appellant or petitioner or, if a defendant files a pro se supplemental brief, within 30 days after service of the pro se supplemental brief.

(d) Reply Brief. A reply brief of an appellant or petitioner should be filed with the appellate court within the sooner of 30 days after service of the brief of respondent or 14 days before oral argument.

(e) Pro Se Supplemental Brief in Criminal Case. A pro se supplemental brief in a criminal case should be filed with the appellate court within 60 days after the defendant has received the brief prepared by counsel and has had an opportunity to view the report of proceedings.

(f) Brief of Amicus Curiae. A brief of amicus curiae must be filed with the appellate court not later than the date fixed by the appellate court.

(g) Answer to Brief of Amicus Curiae. A brief in answer to the brief of amicus curiae may be filed with the appellate court not later than the date fixed by the appellate court.

(h) Sanctions for Late Filing. The appellate court will ordinarily impose sanctions under Rule 18.9 for failure to timely file a brief. [Adopted January 28, 1976, effective July 1, 1976.]

Rule 18.6, Computation of Time, (c) Filing by Mail

Rule 17.8, Accelerated Disposition of Review by Motion

Comment: (a) Brief of Appellant or Petitioner. The rule retains the time limit under ROA I-41. In the interest of uniformity, Rule 10.2(a) applies to both civil and criminal cases. It should be noted, however, that the time limits may be shortened or extended pursuant to Rule 18.8.

(b) Brief of Respondent in Civil Case. The rule retains the time limit under ROA I-41.

(c) Brief of Respondent in Criminal Case. The old rule is expanded from 30 days (ROA I-46) to 60 days. A notice of intent to file a pro se supplemental brief may be given as late as 30 days after the criminal defendant has received the brief prepared by defendant's counsel. The respondent's brief should answer the pro se brief, if filed; and respondent's counsel will not know if one is to be filed until the first 30 days has expired. See comments 10.1 and 10.2(e). Prior practice is retained with respect to the 30-day time limit after the respondent has been served with a pro se supplemental brief. See ROA I-46.

(d) Reply Brief. The old rules provided a time limit in civil cases of not less than 12 days prior to oral argument. ROA I-41.

(e) Pro Se Supplemental Brief in Criminal Case. The previous 60-day time limit is retained. See ROA I-46. The rule complies with State v. Theobald, 78 Wn.2d 184, 470 P.2d 188 (1970) and Anders v. California, 386 U.S. 738 (1967), which require that the defendant in a criminal case be given time to study counsel's brief and to raise any points the defendant chooses.

(g) Answer to Brief of Amicus Curiae. No comparable provision is found in the old rules.

Rule 10.3 Content of Brief.

(a) Brief of Appellant or Petitioner. The brief of the appellant or petitioner should contain under appropriate headings and in the order here indicated:

(2) Tables. A table of contents, with page references, and a table of cases (alphabetically arranged), statutes and other authorities cited, with references to the pages of the brief where cited.

(3) Assignments of Error. A separate concise statement of each error a party contends was made by the trial court, together with the issues pertaining to the assignments of error.

(4) Statement of the Case. A fair statement of the facts and procedure relevant to the issues presented for review, without argument. Reference to the record must be included for each factual statement.

(5) Argument. The argument in support of the issues presented for review, together with citations to legal authority and references to relevant parts of the record. The argument may be preceded by a summary.

(6) Conclusion. A short conclusion stating the precise relief sought.

(7) Appendix. An appendix to the brief if deemed appropriate by the party submitting the brief.

(b) Brief of Respondent. The brief of respondent should conform to section (a) and answer the brief of appellant or petitioner. A statement of the issues and a statement of the case need not be made if respondent is satisfied with the statement in the brief of appellant or petitioner. If a respondent is also seeking review, the brief of respondent must state the assignments of error and the issues pertaining to those assignments of error presented for review by respondent and include argument of those issues.

(c) Reply Brief. A brief should be limited to a response to the issues in the brief to which the reply brief is directed.

(d) Pro Se Supplemental Brief in Criminal Case. The pro se supplemental brief in a criminal case should be limited to those matters which defendant believes have not been adequately covered by the brief filed by the defendant's counsel.

(e) Amicus Curiae Brief. The brief of amicus curiae should conform to section (a) but should in all respects be limited to the issues of concern to amicus. Amicus must review all briefs on file and avoid repetition of matters in other briefs.

(f) Answer to Brief of Amicus Curiae. The brief in answer to a brief of amicus curiae should be limited solely to the new matters raised in the brief of amicus curiae.

(g) Special Provision for Assignments of Error. A separate assignment of error for each instruction which a party contends was improperly given or refused must be included with reference to each instruction or proposed instruction by number. A separate assignment of error for each finding of fact a party contends was improperly made or refused must be included with reference to the finding or proposed finding by number. The appellate court will only review a claimed error which is included in an assignment of error or clearly disclosed in the associated issue pertaining thereto. [Adopted January 28, 1976, effective July 1, 1976.]

Form 6, Brief of Appellant;

Rule 3.4, Title of Case and Designation of Parties;

Rule 18.1, Attorney's Fees and Expenses, (b) Argument in brief.

Comment: (a) Brief of Appellant or Petitioner. Rule 10.3 departs somewhat from prior practice. Assignments of error are required but a brief now must also include a concise statement of the issues presented for review. The appellate court may impose sanctions under Rule 18.9 for failure to assign error even if disclosed in an issue presented for review. And see Rule 10.4(c) for including in the brief verbatim findings, instructions, etc.

The issues presented for review part of Rule 10.3(a) is patterned after the Federal Rules of Appellate procedure. The rule makes relevant to the Washington practitioner the many excellent treatises on drafting briefs for federal courts. The task force particularly recommends Wiener, F., Briefing and Arguing Federal Appeals (1967), and Stern & Gressman, Supreme Court Practice (1969).

Rule 10.4 Preparation and filing of brief by party.

(a) Typing and Filing Brief. One legible, clean, and reproducible copy of the brief must be filed with the appellate court. The brief should be typed with black ribbon on 20 lb. substance 8 1/2" x 11" white paper. The type should not be smaller than pica equivalent to 10 point type. Lines should not generally exceed 5 inches in length. Margins 2 inches on the left side and 1 1/2 inches on the right side and on the top and bottom of each page are preferred. Lines should be double or one and one-half spaced. Quotations may be single spaced and footnotes should be single spaced.

(b) Length of Brief. A brief of appellant, petitioner, or respondent, and a pro se brief in a criminal case should not exceed 70 pages if double spaced, or 54 pages if 1 1/2 spaced. A reply brief should not exceed 35 pages if double spaced, or 27 pages if 1 1/2 spaced. An amicus curiae brief should not exceed 30 pages if double spaced, or 23 pages if 1 1/2 spaced. For the purpose of determining compliance with this rule appendices are included. The title sheet, table of contents, and table of authorities are not included.

(i) Waiver of Page Limitations. Waiver of page limitations will be granted only upon a motion made at least 14 days before the brief is due. Such motion must set forth the extraordinary reasons why compliance with the usual provisions of Rule 10.4(b) cannot be met. The motion may be heard ex parte.

(c) Text of Statute, Rule, Jury Instruction, or the Like. If a party presents an issue which requires study of a statute, rule, regulation, jury instruction, finding of fact, exhibit, or the like, the party should type the material portions of the text out verbatim or include them by facsimile copy in the text or in an appendix to the brief.

(d) Motion in Brief. A party may include in a brief only a motion which, if granted, would preclude hearing the case on the merits.

(e) Reference to Party. References to parties by such designations as "appellant" and "respondent" should be kept to a minimum. It promotes clarity to use the designations used in the lower court, the actual names of the parties, or descriptive terms such as "the employee," "the injured person," and "the taxpayer."

(f) Reference to Record. A reference to the record should designate the page and part of the record. Exhibits should be referred to by number. The clerk's papers should be abbreviated as "CP"; exhibits should be abbreviated as "Ex"; and the report of proceedings should be abbreviated as "RP." Suitable abbreviations for other recurrent references may be used.

(g) Citations. Citations must be in conformity with the form used in current volumes of the Washington Reports. Decisions of the Supreme Court and of the Court of Appeals must be cited to the official report thereof and should include the national reporter citation and the year of the decision. The citation of other state court decisions should include both the state and national reporter citations. The citation of a United States Supreme Court decision should include the United States Reports, the United States Supreme Court Reports Lawyers' Edition, and the Supreme Court Reporter. The citation of a decision of any other federal court should include the federal reporter citation and the district of the district court or circuit of the court of appeals deciding the case. Any citation should include the year decided and a reference to and citation of any subsequent decision of the same case. [Amended August 14, 1978, effective September 15, 1978; amended March 7, 1978, effective March 24, 1978; amended June 21, 1976, effective July 2, 1976; adopted January 28, 1976, effective July 1, 1976.]

Comment: (b) Length of Brief. The maximum lengths prescribed by ROA 1-42 are enlarged to conform to federal practice. See FRAP 28(g). Longer briefs may be filed with permission obtained under Rule 18.8. The rule permits optional 1 1/2 spacing between typewritten lines, with a commensurate reduction in the number of pages permitted. One and one-half spacing reduces the physical bulk of a brief without sacrificing readability.

(c) Text of Statute, Rule, Jury Instruction, or the Like. A party may use a copy from the official source of a statute, regulation, or the like.

(e) Reference to Party. For reference to a party in the title of a case, see Rule 3.4.

(f) References to Record. The abbreviations prescribed by ROA 1-42 have been revised to conform to the terminology adopted by Title 9 of these rules.

Rule 10.5 Reproduction and service of briefs by clerk.

(a) Reproduction of Brief. The appellate court commissioner or clerk will arrange for the economical reproduction of each brief and bill the party or amicus filing the brief for the cost of reproduction. Each brief will be reproduced in the number of copies deemed necessary by the commissioner or clerk. The party or amicus must pay the cost of reproduction of the brief within 10 days after receiving the bill from the clerk. The appellate court commissioner or clerk may permit, under appropriate standards, a governmental party to reproduce and directly supply to the commissioner or clerk the number of copies required by the court in lieu of reproduction of the briefs being made by the court.

(b) Service of Brief. The clerk will serve two copies of each brief on each party and one each on the defendant in a criminal case and on any amicus curiae. The clerk will also send five copies of each brief to the Washington State Law Library.

(c) Notice to Defendant in Criminal Case. In a criminal case, the clerk will, at the time of service of the brief, serve the defendant with a notice and form as provided in Rule 10.1(d). [Amended May 3, 1976, effective July 1, 1976; adopted January 28, 1976, effective July 1, 1976.]

Comment: Rule 10.5 relieves the parties of the responsibility for reproducing and serving briefs. The rule is similar to the practice in Alaska. The party files one legible typewritten brief with the appellate court. The clerk reproduces and brief, makes only as many copies as are needed, and mails a copy to each party and amicus. The parties are billed for the actual costs incurred by the clerk. This procedure is used for all documents filed in the appellate court where multiple copies are needed. Rule 10.5 will substantially reduce costs to litigants and assure briefs of a uniform quality acceptable to the court.

Rule 10.6 Amicus curiae brief.

(a) When Allowed by Motion. The appellate court may prior to oral argument, on motion, grant permission to file an amicus curiae brief only if all parties consent, or if the filing of the brief would assist the appellate court. An amicus curiae brief may be filed only by an attorney authorized to practice law in this state, or by a member in good standing of the bar of another state in association with an attorney authorized to practice law in this state.

(b) Motion. A motion to file an amicus curiae brief must include a statement of (1) applicant's interest and the person or group applicant represents, (2) applicant's familiarity with the issues involved in the review and with the scope of the argument presented or to be presented by the parties, (3) specific issues to which the amicus curiae brief will be directed, and (4) applicant's reason for believing that additional argument is necessary on these specific issues. The brief of amicus curiae may be filed with the motion.

(c) On Request of the Appellate Court. The appellate court may ask for an amicus brief at any stage of review. [Adopted January 28, 1976, effective July 1, 1976.]

Comment: Generally. Amicus curiae procedures should serve the traditional purpose of rendering friend of the court opinions and advice to the appellate court. Providing access to the appellate court by those persons or groups who will be significantly affected by the outcome of the issues on review can materially assist the court in the decision-making process. Social order and confidence in the judicial system are promoted when interested persons have the opportunity to receive a fair hearing.

(a) When Allowed by Motion. The consent of all parties is sufficient to permit amicus participation. The last sentence limits those persons who might file amicus curiae briefs to attorneys authorized to practice law in this state, or members of a Bar of another state in association with an active member of the Bar of this state. The social interest to be served by permitting nonlawyers to file amicus briefs is outweighed by the inconvenience caused to the administration of justice in appellate courts.

Rule 10.7 Submission of improper brief. If a party submits a brief which fails to comply with the requirements for content, style, legibility, and length provided by Rules 10.3 and 10.4, the appellate court, on its own initiative or on the motion of a party, may (1) order the brief returned for correction or replacement within a specified time, (2) order the brief stricken from the files with leave to file a new brief within a specified time, or (3) accept the brief. The appellate court will ordinarily impose sanctions on a party or counsel for a party who files a brief which fails to comply with these rules. [Amended June 21, 1976, effective July 2, 1976, adopted January 28, 1976, effective July 1, 1976.]

Comment: The rule gives the court discretion in handling briefs which fail to conform to the requirements of Rules 10.3 and 10.4. The case will not be dismissed, but the offending party may be subject to sanctions under Rule 18.9(a).

Rule 10.8 Additional authorities. A party may file a statement of additional authorities, without argument. The statement must be served and filed prior to the filing of the decision on the merits or, if there is a motion for reconsideration, prior to the filing of the decision on the motion. [Adopted January 28, 1976, effective July 1, 1976.]

Comment: A statement of additional authorities may be filed within the time specified in the rule. The statement should not contain additional argument, but may include a short comment indicating the portion of the brief or argument of a party to which the authorities pertain.

Rule 11.1 Oral arguments to which title applies. The rules in this title apply to all oral argument in the appellate court except an argument on a motion. [Adopted January 28, 1976, effective July 1, 1976.]

References:

Rule 17.5, Oral Argument of Motions.

Rule 11.2 Who may present oral argument.

(a) Party. A party of record may present oral argument only if the party has filed a brief.

(b) Amicus Curiae. Amicus curiae may present oral argument only if time is made available for the argument by a party, or if the appellate court grants additional time for argument by amicus curiae. [Adopted January 28, 1976, effective July 1, 1976.]

Comment: (b) Amicus curiae. Amicus curiae may present oral argument if time is made available by a party out of the party's allocated time. An amicus may be given an opportunity to argue, on court order, even if none of the parties is willing to grant amicus a portion of the party's argument time.

Rule 11.3 Date of argument.

(a) Notice. The clerk will advise all parties and others who have filed briefs of the time and place of oral argument.

(b) Postponement. A request to postpone oral argument must be made by motion filed reasonably in advance of the date fixed for oral argument. [Adopted January 28, 1976, effective July 1, 1976.]

Rule 11.4 Time allowed and order of argument.

(a) Time allowed to a Party. Each side is allowed 30 minutes for oral argument. If there is more than one party to a side in a single review or in a consolidated review, the parties on that side will share the 30 minutes equally, unless the parties on that side agree to some other allocation.

(b) Time Allowed to Amicus Curiae. Amicus curiae may present oral argument with the consent of a party and within a portion of the time for oral argument allocated to that party, or within the time allowed by the court.

(c) Order of Argument. The appellant or petitioner is entitled to open and conclude oral argument. The party first filing a notice of appeal or a notice for discretionary review is deemed the appellant or petitioner for the purpose of this rule.

(d) Cross Review. The argument on any cross review must be made at the same time as the argument on the initial review.

(e) Failure to Appear. The appellate court will hear argument on behalf of a party who has filed a brief who appears at the time of oral argument. If none of the parties to the review appears for oral argument, the court may order oral argument at a later time or may decide the case on the briefs. [Adopted January 28, 1976, effective July 1, 1976.]

References:

Rule 18.8, Waiver of Rules and Extension and Reduction.

Comment: Rule 11.4 is derived from prior rules without material change. Additional time may be requested in advance pursuant to Rule 18.8. The court may require oral argument even if the parties wish to submit the case on the briefs. See also comments 11.5 and 11.6.

Rule 11.5 Conduct of argument.

(a) Scope of Argument. The court ordinarily encourages oral argument. The opening argument should include a fair and concise statement of the facts of the case. Counsel need not argue all issues raised and argued in the briefs.

(b) Reading at Length. Counsel should avoid reading at length from briefs, records, or authorities.

(c) Duplication of Argument. Counsel should avoid duplication of argument, particularly if there are multiple parties arguing in support of the same issue.

(d) Use of Exhibits. Counsel may, to promote clarity of argument, use exhibits brought up as a part of the record and demonstrative or illustrative exhibits not a part of the record. Counsel should arrange, before court convenes, for the placement in the courtroom of exhibits and equipment to be used in oral argument. [Adopted January 28, 1976, effective July 1, 1976.]

Comment: (a) Scope of Argument. Rule 11.5(a) is included as a guide to counsel. (d) Use of Exhibits. The rule expressly permits the use of exhibits in the record, and demonstrative or illustrative exhibits not a part of the record. Picture projection equipment may also be used.

Rule 11.6 Submitting case without oral argument.

The appellate court may, on its own initiative or on motion of all parties, decide a case without oral argument. [Adopted January 28, 1976, effective July 1, 1976.]

 - (c) Time for motion

Rule 12.1 Basis for decision.

(a) Generally. Except as provided in section (b), the appellate court will decide a case only on the basis of issues set forth by the parties in their briefs.

(b) Issues Raised by the Court. If the appellate court concludes that an issue which is not set forth in the briefs should be considered to properly decide a case, the court may notify the parties and give them an opportunity to present written argument on the issue raised by the court. [Adopted January 28, 1976, effective July 1, 1976.]

Comment: (a) Generally. The rule emphasizes the importance of the briefs and advises counsel that the court will ordinarily not consider issues raised for the first time at oral argument. Francioli v. Brue, 4 Wash. 124, 29 P. 928 (1892).

(b) Issues Raised by the Court. Section (b) is suggested by Siegler v. Kuhlman, 81 Wn.2d 448, 502 P.2d 1181 (1972). To reach a proper decision the court may be required to consider issues or theories not raised by the parties.

Rule 12.2 Disposition on review. The appellate court may reverse, affirm, or modify the decision being reviewed and take any other action as the merits of the case and the interest of justice may require. Upon issuance of the mandate of the appellate court as provided in Rule 12.5, the action taken and decision made by the appellate court is effective and binding on the parties to the review and governs all subsequent proceedings in the action in any court, unless otherwise directed upon recall of the mandate as provided in Rule 12.9, and except as provided in Rule 2.5(c)(2). [Adopted January 28, 1976, effective July 1, 1976.]

Comment: This rule broadly states the power of the appellate court. The time for initiating a new trial after a reversal by an appellate court is governed by RCW 4.16.240.

Rule 12.3 Forms of decision.

(a) Decision Terminating Review. A "decision terminating review" is an opinion, order, or judgment of the appellate court or a ruling of a commissioner or clerk of an appellate court if it:

- (1) is filed after review is accepted by the appellate court filing the decision, and
- (2) terminates review unconditionally, and
- (3) is (i) a decision on the merits, or (ii) a decision by the judges dismissing review, or (iii) a ruling by a commissioner or clerk dismissing review, or (iv) an order refusing to modify a ruling by the commissioner or clerk dismissing review.

(b) Interlocutory Decision. An "interlocutory decision" is any opinion, order, or judgment of the appellate court or ruling of a commissioner or clerk which is not a decision terminating review.

(c) Ruling. A "ruling" is any determination of a commissioner or clerk of an appellate court. The ruling may be a decision terminating review or an interlocutory decision. [Adopted January 28, 1976, effective July 1, 1976.]

Rule 17.6, Motion Decided by Ruling or Order

Comment: An understanding of the various forms of decision is essential to an understanding of what follows in Title 12.

The term decision is used in the broadest sense to mean all determinations or directions, whether they are in the form of an opinion, order, or ruling. This definition of decision conforms to current practice in the Court of Appeals. See CAR 15 as construed in Reeploeg v. Jensen, 81 Wn.2d 541, 503 P.2d 99 (1972). In the Supreme Court, decision has traditionally meant an opinion. See SAR 15, RCW 2.04-.160, RCW 2.04.170, and Const. Art. 4 § 2. Rule 12.3 adopts the Court of Appeals terminology.

Under the old rules, the proper form of post-decision remedy depended upon whether an opinion was written. See ROA I-50 and SAR 15. There is no necessary correlation between the form of a decision and the appropriate method of reviewing that decision. These rules make distinctions based upon the effect of the decision. Decision terminating review is defined in section (a) and an interlocutory decision is defined in section (b). At least five members of the Supreme Court consider all applications for discretionary review if the decision of the Court of Appeals terminates review. See comment 13.5. A motion for discretionary review of an interlocutory decision does not receive this same consideration.

Publication of decisions is governed by RCW 2.06.040. The task force was divided on the question whether all decisions of the Court of Appeals should be published. These rules do not supersede RCW 2.06-.040. The rule does not affect the current policy that unpublished opinions lack precedential value. State v. Fitzpatrick, 5 Wn. App. 661, 491 P.2d 262 (1971).

Rule 12.4 Motion for reconsideration of decision terminating review.

(a) Generally. A party may file a motion for reconsideration only of a decision terminating review which is not a ruling of the appellate court commissioner or clerk. The motion should be in the form and be served and filed as provided in Rules 17.3(a), 17.4(a) and (g), and 18.5, except as otherwise provided in this rule. A party must file a motion for reconsideration of a Court of Appeals decision terminating review as a condition of seeking review by the Supreme Court.

(b) Time. The party must file the motion for reconsideration within 20 days after the decision the party wants reconsidered is filed in the appellate court.

(c) Content. The motion should state with particularity the points of law or fact which the moving party contends the court has overlooked or misapprehended, together with a brief argument on the points raised.

(d) Answer and Reply. A party should not file an answer to a motion for reconsideration or a reply to an answer unless requested by the appellate court.

(e) Length—One Copy. The motion, answer, or reply should not exceed 25 pages in length if double spaced or 20 pages if one and one-half spaced unless additional length is authorized under Rule 18.8. Only one legible copy should be filed.

(f) No Oral Argument. A motion for reconsideration will be decided without oral argument.

(g) Grant of Motion. If a motion for reconsideration is granted, the appellate court may (1) modify the decision without new argument, (2) call for new argument, or (3) takes such other action as may be appropriate.

(h) Only One Motion Permitted. Only one motion for reconsideration may be filed, even if the appellate court modifies its decision or changes the language in the opinion rendered by the court. [Amended June 21, 1976, effective July 2, 1976; adopted January 28, 1976, effective July 1, 1976.]

Comment: The rule eliminates the distinctions between petitions for rehearing, petitions for modification, and motions for reconsideration of orders. A motion is sufficient to argue that the court should reconsider any decision. Rule 12.4 applies only to reconsideration of a decision made by the judges and only to a decision terminating review. Modifications of rulings of the clerk or commissioner are sought by a motion to modify the ruling under Rule 17.7.

The rule represents a change in law governing reconsideration of decisions at the Court of Appeals level. Under the former rules, orders of the Court of Appeals do not become final for 30 days. A motion for reconsideration could be filed during the 30-day period. CAR 15; Reeploeg v. Jensen, 81 Wn.2d 541, 503 P.2d 99 (1972). Under the old rules, at the Supreme Court level, orders are final when entered and will not be reconsidered. SAR 15. New Rule 12.4 provides only for reconsideration of decisions terminating review, and applies to both the Supreme Court and the Court of Appeals. The time within which the motion must be filed is reduced from 30 to 20 days.

A motion for reconsideration may be filed in the Court of Appeals. A party must do so in order to seek review by the Supreme Court. See Rules 13.2(a) and 13.3(b). Compare CAROA 50(b).

Statutes relating to petitions for rehearing are superseded. See Rules 1.1(g) and 18.12.

The appellate court may give permission to file a motion in excess of the length provided in (e). See Rules 1.2(c) and 18.8(a).

Rule 12.5 Mandate.

(a) Mandate Defined. A "mandate" is the written notification by the clerk to the trial court and to the parties of an appellate court decision terminating review. No mandate issues for an interlocutory decision.

(b) When Mandate Issued by Court of Appeals. The clerk of the Court of Appeals issues the mandate for a Court of Appeals decision terminating review upon stipulation of the parties that no motion for reconsideration, petition for review, or notice of appeal will be filed. In the absence of that stipulation, and except to the extent the mandate is stayed as provided in Rule 12.6, the clerk issues the mandate:

(1) 20 days after the decision is filed, unless (i) a motion for reconsideration of the decision has been earlier filed, (ii) a notice of appeal to the Supreme Court has been earlier filed, (iii) a petition for review to the Supreme Court has been earlier filed, or (iv) the decision is a ruling of the commissioner or clerk and a motion to modify the ruling has been earlier filed.

(2) If a motion for reconsideration is timely filed and denied, 30 days after filing the order denying the motion for reconsideration, unless a petition for review to the Supreme Court or a notice of appeal to the Supreme Court has been earlier filed.

(3) If a petition for review has been timely filed and denied by the Supreme Court, upon denial of the petition for review.

(c) When Mandate Issued by Supreme Court. The Clerk of the Supreme Court issues the mandate for a Supreme Court decision terminating review upon stipulation of the parties that no motion for reconsideration will be filed. In the absence of that stipulation, and except to the extent the mandate is stayed as provided in Rule 12.6, the clerk issues the mandate:

(1) 20 days after the decision is filed, unless (i) a motion for reconsideration has been earlier filed, or (ii) the decision is a ruling of the commissioner or clerk and a motion to modify the ruling has been earlier filed.

(2) If a motion for reconsideration is timely filed and denied, upon filing the order denying the motion for reconsideration. [Adopted January 28, 1976, effective July 1, 1976.]

Comment: The appellate court's directions to the lower court are known by various names. The statutes use the word judgment. RCW 2.04.160, 2.04.170. Some Rules on Appeal say mandate (ROA 1-59), but others say remittitur (ROA 1-2(g)). Rule 12.5 settles on the word mandate to conform to federal practice.

Rule 12.5 does not change existing practice, except that the rule anticipates that a motion may be filed for reconsideration of a Supreme Court order terminating review and the mandate issues in 20 days if a motion for reconsideration is not filed. See comment 12.4.

Rule 12.6 Stay of mandate pending decision on application for review by United States Supreme Court. The appellate court will not stay issuance of the mandate for the length of time necessary to secure a decision by the United States Supreme Court on an application for review, except in a case in which the penalty of death has been imposed. [Adopted January 28, 1976, effective July 1, 1976.]

Rule 12.7 Finality of decision.

(a) Court of Appeals. The Court of Appeals loses the power to change or modify its decision (1) upon issuance of its mandate in accordance with Rule 12.5, except when the mandate is recalled as provided in Rule 12.9, or (2) upon acceptance by the Supreme Court of review of the decision of the Court of Appeals.

(b) Supreme Court. The Supreme Court loses the power to change or modify a decision of the Court of Appeals upon issuance of the mandate of the Court of Appeals in accordance with Rule 12.5. The Supreme Court loses the power to change or modify a Supreme Court decision upon issuance of the mandate of the Supreme Court in accordance with Rule 12.5, except when the mandate is recalled as provided in Rule 12.9.

(c) Special Rule for Costs. The appellate court retains the power to act on questions of costs as provided in Title 14 after the issuance of the mandate.

(d) Special Rule for Law of the Case. The appellate court retains the power to change a decision as provided in Rule 2.5(c)(2). [Adopted January 28, 1976, effective July 1, 1976.]

References:

Rule 2.5, Circumstances which may affect Scope of Review,
(c) Law of the Case doctrine restricted,
(2) Prior appellate court decision.

Comment: As demonstrated by Reeploeg v. Jensen, 81 Wn.2d 541, 503 P.2d 99 (1972), there has been considerable confusion over the use of the word final. Rule 12.7 and the other rules in Title 12 consider finality in terms of finality for specific purposes.

Rule 12.7 addresses finality in the sense that, at some point, the appellate court loses the power to change or modify its decision. The rule restates the traditional doctrine that the court loses the power to change or modify its decision upon issuance of the mandate, or upon acceptance of review by a higher court. The one exception to this rule is a recall of the mandate under Rule 12.9.

Rule 12.8 Effect of reversal on intervening rights. If a party has voluntarily or involuntarily partially or wholly satisfied a trial court decision which is modified by the appellate court, the trial court shall enter orders and authorize the issuance of process appropriate to restore to the party any property taken from that party, or the value of the property. An interest in property acquired by a purchaser in good faith, under a decision subsequently reversed or modified, shall not be affected by the reversal or modification of that decision. [Adopted January 28, 1976, effective July 1, 1976.]

Comment: Rule 7.2(c) provides that any person may take action, including execution, which assumes the validity of the trial court decision which is not superseded. Rule 12.8 defines what happens in certain circumstances if a person has acted or relied on an earlier trial court decision which is modified or reversed. The rule relates to the rights of all parties, not just the appellant as under ROA I-61 and CAROA 61. Fact situations are possible in which it would be necessary to protect the rights of the respondent as well as the appellant. See Malo v. Anderson, 76 Wn.2d 1, 454 P.2d 828 (1969).

Rule 12.9 Recall of mandate.

(a) To Require Compliance With Decision. The appellate court may recall a mandate issued by it to determine if the trial court has complied with an earlier decision of the appellate court given in the same case. The question of compliance by the trial court may be raised by motion to recall the mandate, or by initiating a separate review of the lower court decision entered after issuance of the mandate.

(b) To Correct Error. The appellate court may recall a mandate issued by it to correct an inadvertent mistake, to modify a decision obtained by fraud of a party or counsel in the appellate court, or to modify a decision of the appellate court which was beyond the jurisdiction of the court.

(c) Time for Motion. The motion to recall the mandate must be made within a reasonable time. [Adopted January 28, 1976, effective July 1, 1976.]

Comment: Rule 12.9 represents a common-law exception to the usual principles of finality expressed in Rule 12.7. See 84 A.L.R. 579 (1933). Several Washington cases discuss the doctrine. The most recent and most comprehensive is Reeploeg v. Jensen, 81 Wn.2d 541, 503 P.2d 99 (1972). The rule simplifies prior practice. The simple motion procedure is used to request a recall of the mandate. Decisional law has not fixed a rigid time limit in which to make the motion. A rigid time limit would not be appropriate. See Kosten v. Fleming, 17 Wn.2d 500, 136 P.2d 449 (1943), and cases cited therein. The motion must be made within a reasonable time.

Rule 13.1 Methods of seeking review.

(a) Two Methods of Seeking Review. There are only two methods of seeking review by the Supreme Court of decisions of the Court of Appeals. The two methods are review as a matter of right, called "appeal," and review by permission of the Supreme Court, called "discretionary review." Both appeal and discretionary review are called "review."

(b) Writ Procedure Superseded. The procedure for seeking review of decisions of the Court of Appeals established by these rules supersedes the review procedure formerly available by extraordinary writs of review, certiorari, mandamus, prohibition, and other writs formerly considered necessary and proper to the complete exercise of appellate and revisory jurisdiction of the Supreme Court. [Adopted January 28, 1976, effective July 1, 1976.]

Comment: The terminology and principles established by Rule 2.1 are made applicable to review of decisions of the Court of Appeals by the Supreme Court. See generally comment 2.1.

Rule 13.2 Decisions reviewed as a matter of right.

(a) What May Be Appealed. A party may appeal from a Court of Appeals decision terminating review only if the trial court decision has been reversed and the Court of Appeals decision is not unanimous and only if the party has filed a timely motion for reconsideration under Rule 12.4.

(b) Procedure To Initiate Appeal. A party seeking an appeal must file a notice of appeal in the Court of Appeals within 30 days after an order is filed denying a timely motion for reconsideration of that decision. The notice must be in the form provided by Rule 5.3(a).

(c) Incorrect Designation. A motion for discretionary review or a petition for review of a decision appealable as a matter of right will be given the same effect as a notice of appeal. [Adopted January 28, 1976, effective July 1, 1976.]

References:

Form 8, Notice of Appeal (Court of Appeals Decision).

Comment: (a) What may be Appealed. Current law is unchanged. See ROA II-2(a).

(b) Procedure to Initiate Appeal. The notice of appeal is filed in the Court of Appeals. The Court of Appeals must have the notice to prevent issuance of the mandate under Rule 12.5(b). The notice is forwarded to the Supreme Court along with all other Court of Appeals records in the case.

Rule 13.3 Decisions reviewed as a matter of discretion.

(a) What May Be Reviewed. A party may seek discretionary review by the Supreme Court of any decision of the Court of Appeals which is not a ruling and is not appealable as a matter of right, including:

(1) Decision Terminating Review. Any decision terminating review.

(2) Interlocutory Decision. Subject to the restrictions imposed by Rule 13.5(b), any interlocutory decision, including but not limited to (i) a decision denying a motion to modify a ruling of the commissioner or clerk which denies a motion for discretionary review, and (ii) if the clerk refers a motion for discretionary review to the court, a decision by the court which denies a motion for discretionary review.

(b) Decision Terminating Review. A party seeking review of a Court of Appeals decision terminating review which is not appealable must first file a motion for reconsideration under Rule 12.4 and must file a "petition for review" as provided in Rule 13.4.

(c) Interlocutory Decision. A party seeking review of an interlocutory decision of the Court of Appeals must file a "motion for discretionary review" as provided in Rule 13.5.

(d) Incorrect Designation of Motion or Petition. A motion for discretionary review of a decision terminating review will be given the same effect as a petition for review. A petition for review of an interlocutory decision will be given the same effect as a motion for discretionary review.

(e) Ruling by Commissioner or Clerk. A ruling by a commissioner or clerk of the Court of Appeals is not subject to review by the Supreme Court. The decision of the Court of Appeals on a motion to modify a ruling by the commissioner or clerk may be subject to review as provided in this title. [Adopted January 28, 1976, effective July 1, 1976.]

References:

Rule 12.3, Forms of Decision;

Rule 17.3, Content of Motion, (b) Motion for discretionary review.

Comment: Generally. Rule 13.3 closely parallels Rule 2.3, governing discretionary review of a trial court decision. However, Title 13 provides two methods of seeking discretionary review of the Court of Appeals. The appropriate method is determined by the nature of the decision sought to be reviewed.

(a) What may be Reviewed. The rule states the general rule that decisions not appealable are subject to discretionary review. The two classes of decisions subject to discretionary review are set forth. The rule does not apply to review of rulings of a commissioner or clerk. Review of a ruling is obtained under Rule 17.7.

(b) Decision Terminating Review. Rule 13.3(b) retains the petition for review as the method of seeking discretionary review of a decision terminating review. The conditions governing acceptance of review of a decision terminating review differ from those governing acceptance of review of an interlocutory decision. These differences lend themselves to separate procedural treatment. See Rules 13.4 and 13.5.

(c) Interlocutory Decision. Interlocutory decisions were reviewable by extraordinary writ under the old rules. ROA II-4. Under these rules, review of an interlocutory decision is sought by a motion for discretionary review under Rule 13.5.

(d) Incorrect Designation of Motion or Petition. It may be difficult in some cases to determine whether a decision is a decision terminating review subject to review by petition for review, or an interlocutory decision subject to review by a motion for discretionary review. Review will not be denied solely because a party chose the wrong method for seeking discretionary review.

Rule 13.4 Discretionary review of decision terminating review.

(a) How To Seek Review. A party seeking discretionary review by the Supreme Court of a Court of Appeals decision terminating review must file a petition for review in the Court of Appeals within 30 days after an order is filed denying a timely motion for reconsideration of that decision.

(b) Considerations Governing Acceptance of Review. A petition for review will be accepted by the Supreme Court only:

(1) if the decision of the Court of Appeals is in conflict with a decision of the Supreme Court, or

(2) if the decision of the Court of Appeals is in conflict with a decision of another division of the Court of Appeals, or

(3) if a significant question of law under the Constitution of the State of Washington or of the United States is involved, or

(4) if the petition involves an issue of substantial public interest that should be determined by the Supreme Court.

(c) Content and Style of Petition. The petition for review should contain under appropriate headings and in the order here indicated:

(1) Cover. A title page, which is the cover.

(2) Tables. A table of contents, with page references, and a table of cases (alphabetically arranged), statutes and other authorities cited, with reference to the pages of the brief where cited.

(3) Identity of Petitioner. A statement of the name and designation of the person filing the petition.

(4) Citation to Court of Appeals Decision. A reference to the Court of Appeals decision which petitioner wants reviewed, the date of filing the decision, and the date of any order granting or denying a motion for reconsideration.

(5) Issues Presented for Review. A concise statement of the issues presented for review.

(6) Statement of the Case. A statement of the facts and procedure in the trial court and in the Court of Appeals relevant to the issues presented for review, with appropriate references to the record.

(7) Argument. A direct and concise statement of the reason why review should be accepted under one or more of the tests established in section (b), with argument.

(8) Conclusion. A short conclusion stating the precise relief sought.

(9) Appendix. An appendix containing a copy of the Court of Appeals decision, any order granting or denying a motion for reconsideration of the decision, and copies of statutes and constitutional provisions relevant to the issues presented for review.

(d) Answer and Reply. A party may file an answer to a petition for review, or a reply to an answer. If a party wants to raise an issue which is not raised in the petition for review, that party must raise that new issue in an answer filed within 15 days of the service on the party of the petition. The Supreme Court may call for an answer or a reply to an answer.

(e) Form of Petition, Answer, and Reply. The petition, answer, and reply should comply with the requirements as to form for a brief as provided in Rules 10.3 and 10.4, except as otherwise provided in this rule.

(f) Length. The petition for review, answer, or reply should not exceed 20 pages if double-spaced or 15 pages if one and one-half spaced.

(g) Service and Reproduction of Petition, Answer, and Reply. The clerk will arrange for the reproduction of copies of a petition for review, an answer, or a reply, and bill the appropriate party for the copies as provided in Rule 10.5. The clerk will serve the petition, answer, or reply as provided in Rule 10.5(b).

(h) No Oral Argument. The Supreme Court will decide the petition without oral argument. [Adopted January 28, 1976, effective July 1, 1976.]

Form 9, Petition for Review.

Comment: The procedural requirements of Rule 13.4 are substantially the same as under the old rules, except the petition under the new rules will be filed only in the Court of Appeals and the answer to the petition takes on added importance. Under the old rules, only issues raised in a petition would be considered—the new rules permit a party to raise an issue in an answer to a petition. A party does not have to answer a petition unless that party wants to raise an issue not presented in the petition.

Section (f) limits the length of a petition, answer, or reply. The considerations governing acceptance of review remain unchanged. The time for filing is the same as the time for filing a motion for discretionary review. The petition is reproduced by the clerk in the manner provided in Rule 10.5.

Under current practice, a petition for review is determined by at least 5 judges. The record and briefs filed in the Court of Appeals are reviewed by the Supreme Court when considering the petition for review. A decision terminating review is a final decision and deserves judicial consideration.

Rule 13.5 Discretionary review of interlocutory decision.

(a) How to Seek Review. A party seeking review by the Supreme Court of an interlocutory decision of the Court of Appeals must file a motion for discretionary review in the Supreme Court and a copy in the Court of Appeals within 30 days after the decision is filed.

(b) Considerations Governing Acceptance of Review. Discretionary review of an interlocutory decision of the Court of Appeals will be accepted by the Supreme Court only:

(1) if the Court of Appeals has committed an obvious error which would render further proceedings useless, or

(2) if the Court of Appeals has committed probable error and the decision of the Court of Appeals substantially alters the status quo or substantially limits the freedom of a party to act, or

(3) if the Court of Appeals has so far departed from the accepted and usual course of judicial proceedings, or so far sanctioned such a departure by a trial court or administrative agency, as to call for the exercise of revisory jurisdiction by the Supreme Court.

(c) Motion Procedure. The procedure for and the form of the motion for discretionary review is as provided in Title 17.

(d) Effect of Denial. Denial of discretionary review of a decision does not affect the right of a party to obtain later review of the Court of Appeals decision or the issues pertaining to that decision. [Adopted January 28, 1976, effective July 1, 1976.]

Form 3, Motion for Discretionary Review.

Comment: Rule 13.5 corresponds to Rules 2.3 and 6.2 governing discretionary review of trial court decisions. The principles and terminology established are discussed in comments 2.3 and 6.2. The time within which to seek review is the same as that in which a notice of appeal must be filed.

Rule 13.6 Acceptance of review.

(a) Appeal. The Supreme Court accepts review of a Court of Appeals decision upon the timely filing in the Court of Appeals of a notice of appeal from a decision which is reviewable as a matter of right.

(b) Discretionary Review. The Supreme Court accepts discretionary review of a decision of the Court of Appeals by granting a motion for discretionary review or by granting a petition for review. [Adopted January 28, 1976, effective July 1, 1976.]

Comment: The rule makes the terminology established by Rule 6.2 applicable to review of decisions of the Court of Appeals by the Supreme Court. See comment 6.2.

Rule 13.7 Proceedings after acceptance of review.

(a) Procedure. The procedure in the Supreme Court, after acceptance of review of a decision of the Court of Appeals, is the same as the procedure in the Supreme Court after acceptance of review of a trial court decision, except that (1) the record in the Court of Appeals is the record on review in the Supreme Court, and (2) only the briefs filed in the Court of Appeals and the documents submitted in connection with the motion for discretionary review or petition for review will be considered by the Supreme Court, unless additional briefs are requested by the Supreme Court.

(b) Scope of Review of Decision Subject to Appeal. On an appeal to the Supreme Court from a decision of the Court of Appeals, the scope of review in the Supreme Court is the same as if the Supreme Court had initially accepted direct review of the trial court decision.

(c) Scope of Review of Decision Subject to Discretionary Review. If the Supreme Court accepts review of a Court of Appeals decision which is subject to discretionary review, the Supreme Court will review only the questions raised in the motion for discretionary review or the petition for review and the answer. The Supreme Court may limit the issues to one or more of those raised by the parties.

(d) Other Limitations on Scope of Review. The scope of review may be further affected by the circumstances set forth in Rule 2.5. [Adopted January 28, 1976, effective July 1, 1976.]

References:

Rule 2.5, Circumstances Which May Affect Scope of Review.

Comment: (a) Procedure. The record and briefs from the Court of Appeals are transferred to the Supreme Court. No additional briefs are permitted unless the Supreme Court orders otherwise. The old rules are substantially the same.

(b) Scope of Review of Decisions Subject to Appeal. If any party has an appeal to the Supreme Court, all issues originally before the Court of Appeals are considered by the Supreme Court—even decisions on issues which are not subject to appeal.

(c) Scope of Review of Decision Subject to Discretionary Review. The Supreme Court will review only the questions raised in the motion for discretionary review or petition for review and answer. See Wood v. Postelthwaite, 82 Wn.2d 387, 510 P.2d 1109 (1973). Similarly, a party who fails to join in the motion or petition will normally not derive any benefit from Supreme Court review.

(b) Which Court Determines and Awards Costs. Costs on review are determined and awarded by the appellate court which accepts review and makes the final determination of the case.

The remainder of this rule is an introduction to the rules which follow.

Rule 14.2 Who is entitled to costs. A commissioner or clerk of the appellate court will award costs to the party that substantially prevails on review, unless the appellate court directs otherwise in its decision terminating review. If there is no substantially prevailing party on review, the commissioner or clerk will not award costs to any party. An award of costs will specify the party who must pay the award. A party who is a nominal party only will not be awarded costs and will not be required to pay costs. A "nominal party" is one who is named but has no real interest in the controversy. [Adopted January 28, 1976, effective July 1, 1976.]

Comment: If the court determines costs in its decision terminating review, costs will be awarded in accordance with that determination. In all other circumstances, costs are awarded by a commissioner or clerk to the party who substantially prevails on review. If there is no substantially prevailing party on review, costs will not be awarded. In other words, the award of costs is based on who wins the review proceeding—not on who ultimately prevails on the merits. Costs will not abide the outcome of a new trial unless the court expressly so directs in its decision. This represents a departure from current practice.

Rule 14.3 Expenses allowed as costs.

(a) Generally. Only statutory attorney fees and the reasonable expenses actually incurred by a party for the following items which were reasonably necessary for review may be awarded to a party as costs: (1) preparation of the original and one copy of the report of proceedings, (2) copies of the clerk's papers, (3) preparation of an original document to be reproduced by the clerk, as provided in Rule 14.3(b), (4) transmittal of the record on review, (5) bonds given in connection with the review, and (6) the lesser of the charges of the clerk for reproduction of briefs, petitions, and motions, or the costs incurred by the party reproducing briefs as authorized under Rule 10.5(a). If a party has incurred an expense for one of the designated items, the item is presumed to have been reasonably necessary for review, which presumption is rebuttable. The amount paid by a party for the designated item is presumed reasonable, which presumption is rebuttable.

(b) Special Rule for Cost of Preparing Original Document. The costs awarded for preparing an original document is an amount per page fixed from time to time by the Supreme Court. The cost for preparing an original document will only be awarded for a document which substantially complies with these rules and only for the actual number of pages of the document including the front cover and appendix. If a document is unreasonably long, costs will be awarded only for a reasonable number of pages.

(c) Special Rule for Indigent Review. An indigent may not recover costs from the State for expenses paid with public funds as provided in Title 15. The clerk or commissioner will claim costs due from other parties which reimburse the State for expenses paid with public funds as provided in Title 15. [Amended June 21, 1976, effective July 2, 1976; amended May 3, 1976, effective July 1, 1976; adopted January 28, 1976, effective July 1, 1976.]

Rule 18.1, Attorney's Fees and Expenses, RCW 4.84, Costs.

Comment: (a) Generally. Section (a) defines the expenses which may be awarded as costs. The specified expense must be reasonably necessary for review. For example, if the case is dismissed for failure to timely file a notice of appeal, the prevailing party would probably not be awarded costs for the expense of reproducing briefs on the merits. The charge for the specified item must also be reasonable. Thus, a party would not be awarded costs for a court reporter's overtime work occasioned by the party's delay in ordering the verbatim report of proceedings. An item of expense is presumed to be reasonably necessary for review and the amount is presumed reasonable. The presumptions are rebuttable.

(c) Special Rule for Indigent Review. This provision is new.

Rule 14.4 Cost bill.

(a) Generally. Except as provided in sections (b) and (c), a party seeking costs on review must file a cost bill with the appellate court and serve a copy of the cost bill on all parties within 10 days after the filing of an appellate court decision terminating review. If a party seeks costs for an expense incurred after the time to file a cost bill has expired, that party must serve on all parties and file a supplemental cost bill with the appellate court within 10 days after the expense was incurred. If a decision terminating review is modified to the extent that a different party is entitled to costs, the party seeking costs must file a cost bill with the appellate court and serve a copy of the cost bill on all parties within 10 days after the filing of the decision which modifies the original decision terminating review.

(b) When Costs Abide Final Result And There is No Second Review. If the costs on review are to abide the final determination in the trial court and that final determination is not reviewed by the appellate court, a party seeking costs must, within 30 days after the time to seek review of the trial court decision has expired, file with the appellate court and serve on each party: (1) a cost bill for costs on review, or if a cost bill was filed for the earlier review, a copy of the cost bill previously filed in the appellate court, (2) a copy of the final determination of the trial court, and (3) an affidavit stating that a notice of appeal or notice for discretionary review of the decision finally determining the case has not been filed.

(c) When Costs Abide Final Result and There is a Second Review. If the costs on review are to abide the final determination of the case by the trial court and that final determination is reviewed by the appellate court, the costs of the earlier review will be taxed at the same time the costs of the later review are taxed. A party seeking costs of the earlier review must file (1) a cost bill for costs on the earlier review or, if a cost bill was filed for the earlier review, a copy of the cost bill for the earlier review, and (2) a cost bill for the later review. Comment: The rule changes current practice. See ROA I-55(c). Time limits have been extended from 10 to 30 days and the time begins to run on issuance of the mandate.

Rule 14.5 Objections to cost bill. A party may object to items in the cost bill of another party by serving on all parties and filing with the appellate court objections to the cost bill within 10 days after service of the cost bill upon the party. [Adopted January 28, 1976, effective July 1, 1976.]

Comment: The rule conforms to current practice except that affidavits in support of objections are not required. Compare ROA I-55(c)(1). The use of affidavits is optional.

Rule 14.6 Award of costs.

(a) Commissioner or Clerk Awards Costs. A commissioner or the clerk will determine costs within 10 days after the time has expired for filing objections to the cost bill. The commissioner or clerk will notify the parties of the ruling on costs.

(b) Objection to Ruling. A party may only object to the ruling on costs by motion to the appellate court in the same manner and within the same time as provided for objections to any other rulings of a commissioner or clerk as provided in Rule 17.7.

(c) Transmitting Judgment for Costs. The commissioner or clerk will award costs in the mandate or in a supplemental judgment. An award of costs may be enforced as part of the judgment in the trial court. [Adopted January 28, 1976, effective July 1, 1976.]

Rule 12.7, Finality of Decision, (c) Special rule for costs.

Comment: The rule conforms substantially to current practice. See ROA I-55(c) and (d). A party who wants review of the ruling on costs of a commissioner or clerk must file a motion to modify the ruling under Rule 17.7(a).

Rule 15.1 Procedures to which title applies. The rules in this title define the procedure to be used (1) to determine indigency and to determine the expenses of an indigent party to review which will be paid from public funds as provided in Rule 15.2, (2) to obtain a waiver of charges imposed by the court as provided in Rule 15.3, (3) to claim payment from public funds for services rendered to an indigent party to review as provided in Rule 15.4, (4) to allow claims for expense as provided in Rule 15.5, and (5) to recover public funds expended on behalf of an indigent as provided in Rule 15.6. The rules in this title apply to all proceedings in the appellate court, except the rules apply to personal restraint petitions only to the extent defined in Rule 16.15(f) and (g). [Adopted January 28, 1976, effective July 1, 1976.]

Comment: The rules in this title establish a procedure comparable to that under ROA I-46 and I-47, and CAROA 46 and 47. The provisions for payment of review expense with public funds for certain civil cases correspond to ROA I-47 and CAROA 47, as amended by the Supreme Court on November 20, 1975.

Rule 15.2 Determination of indigency and rights of indigent party.

(a) Motion for Order of Indigency. A party seeking review partially or wholly at public expense must move in the trial court for an order of indigency. The motion must be served and filed within the time allowed for filing a notice of appeal or a notice for discretionary review. The time between the service and filing of the motion for an order of indigency and the determination of that motion is excluded from the time allowed for filing a notice of appeal or notice for discretionary review. The motion must be supported by an affidavit setting forth the moving party's total assets; the expenses and liabilities of the party; a statement of the amount, if any, the party can contribute towards the expense of review; a statement of the expenses the party wants waived or provided at public expense; a brief statement of the nature of the case and the issues sought to be reviewed; a designation of those parts of the record the party thinks are necessary for review; and a statement that review is sought in good faith. If the case is a civil case which does not involve a termination of parental rights or a disposition in a juvenile offense proceeding, the party must also demonstrate in the motion or the supporting affidavit that the issues the party wants reviewed have probable merit and that the party has a constitutional right to review partially or wholly at public expense.

(b) Action by Superior Court. The superior court shall decide the motion for an order of indigency, after a hearing if the circumstances warrant, as follows:

(1) Denial Generally. The superior court shall deny the motion if a party has adequate means to pay all of the expenses of review. The order denying the motion for an order of indigency shall contain findings designating the funds or source of funds available to the party to pay all of the expenses of review.

(2) Cases Involving Crimes, Parental Rights, Juvenile Offenses. In a criminal case, a case involving a termination of parental rights, or a case involving a disposition in a juvenile offense proceeding, the superior court shall grant the motion and enter an order of indigency if the party seeking public funds is unable by reason of poverty to pay for all or some of the expenses of appellate review.

(3) Other Civil Cases. If the case is a civil case which does not involve a termination of parental rights or a disposition in a juvenile offense proceeding and if the party is unable by reason of poverty to pay for all of the expenses of review, the superior court shall enter findings of indigency. The superior court shall determine in those findings the portion of the record necessary for review and the amount, if any, the party is able to contribute towards the expense of review. The findings shall conclude with an order to the clerk of the superior court to promptly transmit to the Supreme Court, without charge to the moving party, the findings of indigency, the motion for an order of indigency, the affidavit in support of the motion, and all other papers submitted in support of or in opposition to the motion. The superior court clerk shall promptly transmit to the Supreme Court the papers designated in the findings of indigency.

(c) Action by Supreme Court. If findings of indigency and other papers relating to the motion for an order of indigency are transmitted to the Supreme Court, the Supreme Court will determine whether an order of indigency in that case should be entered by the superior court. The determination will be made by a department of the Supreme Court on a regular motion day without oral argument and based only on the papers transmitted to the Supreme Court by the superior court clerk, unless the Supreme Court directs otherwise. If the Supreme Court determines that the party is seeking review in good faith, that an issue of probable merit is presented, and that the party is entitled under the state or federal constitution to review partially or wholly at public expense, the Supreme Court will enter an order directing the trial court to enter an order of indigency. In all other cases, the Supreme Court will enter an order denying the party's motion for an order of indigency. The clerk of the appellate court will transmit a copy of the order to the clerk of the superior court and notify all parties of the decision of the Supreme Court.

(d) Order of Indigency. An order of indigency shall designate the items of expense which are to be paid with public funds and, where appropriate, the items of expense to be paid by a party or the amount which the party must contribute towards the expense of review. The order shall designate the extent to which public funds are to be used for payment of the expense of the record on review, limited to those parts of the record reasonably necessary to review issues argued in good faith. The order of indigency shall appoint counsel if the party is entitled to counsel on review at public expense. The order of indigency must be transmitted to the appellate court as a part of the record on review.

(e) Continued Indigency Presumed. A party and counsel for the party who has been granted an order of indigency must bring to the attention of the trial court any significant improvement during review in the financial condition of the party. The appellate court will give a party the benefits of an order of indigency throughout the review unless the trial court finds the party's financial condition has improved to the extent that the party is no longer indigent.

(f) Appointment and Withdrawal of Counsel in Trial Court. The trial court shall determine questions relating to the appointment and withdrawal of counsel for an indigent party on review, except withdrawal as provided in section (h). If trial counsel is not appointed, trial counsel must assist counsel appointed for review in preparing the record.

(g) Review of Order of Indigency. Only a party in a criminal case, in a case involving permanent deprivation of parental rights, or in a case determining whether a juvenile is a delinquent may seek review of an order of indigency or an order denying an order of indigency. Review must be sought by a motion for discretionary review.

(h) Withdrawal of Counsel in Appellate Court. If counsel can find no basis for a good faith argument on review, counsel should file a motion in the appellate court to withdraw as counsel for the indigent. The motion should be supported by a brief. The motion and brief will be reproduced by the clerk and served on the opposing party and the person represented by counsel seeking to withdraw. [Amended July 18, 1978, effective July 1,

1978; amended June 21, 1976, effective July 2, 1976; adopted January 28, 1976, effective July 1, 1976.]

Rule 15.3 Waiver of charges for reproducing briefs. The appellate court will waive the charges of the appellate court for reproducing briefs and other papers only to the extent authorized by the order of indigency. [Adopted January 28, 1976, effective July 1, 1976.]

Comment: The rule refers to the charges under Rule 10.5. Waiver of these charges must be specifically authorized by the order of indigency. See also Rule 15.2(b).

Rule 15.4 Claim for payment of expense for indigent party.

(a) Conditions for Payment. The expenses for an indigent party which are necessarily incident to review by an appellate court will be paid from public funds only if:

(1) an order of indigency is included in the record on review; and

(2) an order properly authorizes the expense claimed; and

(3) the claim is made by filing four copies of an invoice in the form and manner and within the time provided by this rule.

(b) Invoice Generally. Each invoice must include the appellate court caption and docket number and the name of the claimant. The claimant's social security number or the I.R.S. employer identification number of the claimant's firm must be included on each invoice, except one submitted by the superior court clerk. The invoice of a court reporter or a superior court clerk may be submitted as soon as the services have been performed or the expense incurred, but the invoice must be filed within 10 days after issuance of the mandate. The invoice must be filed in the appellate court to which the notice of appeal or notice for discretionary review was directed. Invoices filed in the Court of Appeals will be forwarded to the Supreme Court together with a statement indicating whether the requirements of this rule are satisfied.

(c) Invoice of Counsel. An invoice submitted by counsel representing an indigent party should be titled "Invoice of Counsel for Indigent Party." An invoice may be submitted only after oral argument, and not later than 10 days after issuance of the mandate. Counsel may submit only one invoice in the same review proceeding. The invoice must include a statement of the number of hours spent by counsel preparing the review, the amount of compensation claimed, and the reasonable expenses excluding normal overhead incurred by counsel for the review including travel expenses of counsel incurred for argument in the appellate court. Travel expenses may not exceed the amount allowable to state employees for travel by private vehicle. The invoice must include an affidavit of counsel stating that the items listed are correct charges for necessary services rendered and expenses incurred for proper consideration of the review and that counsel has not received and has not been promised compensation for the review from the indigent party or from any other source except as may have been approved by the court.

(d) Invoice of Court Reporter. An invoice submitted by the court reporter should be titled "Invoice of Court Reporter—Indigent Case." The invoice must state the number of pages transcribed and the billing rate per page. The billing rate must be at the rate per page or line page equivalent set by the Supreme Court for the original and one copy of that portion of the report of proceedings ordered by the superior court. Additional copies which have been authorized and ordered from the reporter must be charged for as though reproduced by the most economical method available to the reporter. The superior court clerk shall certify the reporter's invoice as follows:

I hereby certify that the amount claimed in this invoice is for that portion of the verbatim report of proceedings ordered by the trial court; that the typing of the report is in accordance with appellate rule 9.2(e) and (g); and that the bill is computed at the current rate per page set by the Supreme Court for the original and one copy, namely $_____per page.

(e) Invoice of Superior Court Clerk. An invoice submitted by the superior court clerk should be titled "Invoice of Superior Court Clerk—Indigent Case." The invoice must itemize the clerk's charges for the preparation of the record ordered by counsel for the indigent or the trial court and list the actual expenses of the clerk for transmittal of those portions of the record. The superior court clerk shall certify the clerk's invoice as follows:

I hereby certify that the items listed in this invoice are correct charges for the preparation of those portions of the record ordered by counsel or the trial court and for the actual expense of transmittal of those portions of the record.

[Adopted January 28, 1976, effective July 1, 1976.]

Rule 15.5 Allowance of claim for payment of expense for indigent party.

(a) Allowance Generally. A commissioner or the Clerk of the Supreme Court determines all claims for expense by ruling. The commissioner or clerk will allow or disallow all or part of the claimed expense by ruling within 10 days after the invoice has been filed in the Supreme Court. The commissioner or clerk will notify the claimant of the ruling. A claimant may object to the ruling of the commissioner or clerk by motion to the Supreme Court, in the same manner and within the same time as an objection to any other ruling as provided in Rule 17.7.

(b) Disallowance of Claim. If a brief is unnecessarily long, improper in substance, or not in compliance with these rules, all or a portion of counsel's claim may be disallowed. If the court reporter or counsel has been dilatory, all or a portion of the claim of the court reporter or the claim of counsel may be disallowed. [Adopted January 28, 1976, effective July 1, 1976.]

Rule 15.6 Recovery of public funds. If a case on review is returned to the trial court for further proceedings and the case involves a claim for a money judgment for the party on whose behalf public funds have been expended, the Clerk of the Supreme Court will indicate the amount of public funds expended on behalf of the party in the mandate or in a supplemental judgment. The amount indicated in the mandate and supplemental judgment is a lien on any settlement or judgment obtained by the party on whose behalf public funds have been expended. This lien must be satisfied prior to the payment of any other amounts to the party. If a judgment is entered, the judgment should reflect the lien imposed by this rule. The amount of the lien must be paid to the clerk of the superior court. The clerk of the superior court shall forward all funds recovered to the Clerk of the Supreme Court, who will credit these funds to the Indigent Appeal Allotment. [Amended June 21, 1976, effective July 2, 1976; adopted January 28, 1976, effective July 1, 1976.]

Rule 16.1 Proceedings to which title applies.

(a) Generally. The rules in this title establish the procedure for original actions in the Supreme Court and in the Court of Appeals, and the procedure for determining questions of law certified by a federal court.

(b) Original Actions in Supreme Court Against State Officers. Rule 16.2 defines the procedure for petitions against state officers for writs of mandamus, prohibition, quo warranto, and similar writs, but only when the proceeding is started for the first time in the Supreme Court.

(c) Original Actions in the Appellate Court—Personal Restraint Petition. Rules 16.3 through 16.15 define the procedure for a personal restraint petition, but only when the proceeding is started for the first time in the appellate court.

(d) Questions Certified by Federal Court. Rule 16.16 defines the procedure for determining questions of law certified by a federal court.

(e) Review of Decision of the Court of Appeals. Except as provided in Rule 16.14, a Court of Appeals decision in a special proceeding is subject to review by the Supreme Court only by discretionary review as provided in Title 13.

(f) Removal of Public Officer. Proceedings to remove a public officer are governed by statute and not these rules. [Adopted January 28, 1976, effective July 1, 1976.]

Comment: There are certain proceedings in the Supreme Court and the Court of Appeals which cannot be handled under usual appellate rules. This title establishes a special set of rules for these special proceedings. The special proceedings include all original actions in the Supreme Court and in the Court of Appeals and determinations of questions of law certified to the Supreme Court by a federal court. The rules in the other titles do not apply to a special proceeding unless the special proceeding rule incorporates the rule in the other title.

Statutory proceedings to remove a public officer, heard by a special panel of superior court judges convened by the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, are governed by statute and not these rules. See, e.g., RCW 28B.10.500, 43.21B.040, 51.52.040, 80.01.010, and 82.03.040.

Rule 16.2 Original action against state officer.

(a) Generally. The Supreme Court and the superior court have concurrent original jurisdiction of a petition against a state officer in the nature of quo warranto, prohibition, or mandamus. This rule applies only to an action originating in the Supreme Court.

(b) Initiating Proceeding. The proceeding is initiated by filing the petition in the Supreme Court and serving the petition on the proper parties. The petition must be noted for hearing before the commissioner or clerk as provided in Rule 17.4 for motions. The notice of hearing should be served with the petition. Service of the petition and notice must be made as provided in the Superior Court Civil Rules and statutes for service of a summons in a superior court action.

(c) Motion Procedure Governs. The petition is treated by the Supreme Court as a motion to a commissioner or clerk. Title 17 relating to motions governs the response to the petition, oral argument, decisions by ruling, and the means of objecting to the ruling of the commissioner or clerk.

(d) Decisions Made by Commissioner or Clerk. A commissioner or clerk will, at the hearing, determine if the petition should be decided by the Supreme Court. If the commissioner or clerk decides that the petition should be transferred, the petition will be transferred to a superior court for determination on the merits. If the petition is not transferred, the commissioner or clerk will refer questions of fact to a master or to the superior court unless an agreed and adequate written statement of facts is approved by the parties prior to or at the hearing. The commissioner or clerk will also determine the timing of all remaining steps in the proceeding, including time for filing briefs on the merits.

(e) Procedure if Petition is Not Transferred. The procedure if the petition is not transferred is the same as the procedure in the Supreme Court after acceptance of review of a trial court decision, except as otherwise directed by a ruling of the commissioner or clerk as provided in section (d).

(f) Statutory Time Limits Govern. If a statute provides a time within which a petition against a state officer in the nature of quo warranto, prohibition, or mandamus must be filed, the petition must be filed in the Supreme Court within the time period established by the statute.

(g) Costs. Costs are determined and awarded as provided in Title 14. The appellate court will award costs by supplemental judgment and will, on motion, transmit the judgment to the clerk of the superior court in the county selected by the party who is awarded costs. The supplemental judgment to the superior court shall be filed as a judgment in that court without payment of a filing fee. [Adopted January 28, 1976, effective July 1, 1976.]

Comment: (a) Generally. Section (a) restates the constitutional scope of concurrent original Supreme Court jurisdiction for writs directed to state officers. To be distinguished is the scope of appellate jurisdiction over similar cases initiated in superior court. See Rule 4.2. This rule applies only to cases started in the Supreme Court.

Prior law defining "state officer" is applicable. Generally, the procedures set forth in Rule 16.2 (currently ROA I-58) may not be used to initiate review of a trial court decision. Lowry, Supreme Court Practice, Washington State Bar News, February 1971, p. 25. Although a trial court judge is technically a state officer, the judge is not a real party in interest with respect to an interlocutory order. State ex rel. Edelstein v. Foley, 6 Wn.2d 444, 107 P.2d 901 (1940); Davis v. Gibbs, 39 Wn.2d 180, 234 P.2d 1071 (1951). Review of a nonappealable trial court order should be sought under Rule 2.3

(b) Initiating Proceeding. ROA I-58 provides that the action is initiated "in the same manner as for the commencement of an ordinary civil action." Civil actions may be commenced in a variety of ways. The ambiguity in the old rule is avoided by the more precise language of Rule 16.2(b).

(c) Motion Procedure Governs. The complicated procedure under the old rules is abandoned in favor of the simpler motion procedure.

(d) Decisions Made by Commissioner or Clerk. Section (d) relieves the Chief Justice of the administrative details of referring the case to superior court for factual determinations and of determining the timing of remaining procedural steps in the Supreme Court. Delegation of these administrative decisions to the commissioner or clerk conserves valuable judicial time. See A. Tate, Containing the Law Explosion, 56 Judicature 228 (Jan. 1973). Adequate means for seeking review of a ruling by the clerk or commissioner are provided.

The Supreme Court may decline to exercise its original jurisdiction over a case which the court determines can more appropriately be adjudicated by a superior court. See State ex rel. O'Connell v. Meyers, 51 Wn.2d 454, 319 P.2d 828 (1957). The rule does not require that a case be transferred to the superior court of Thurston County. A different county may be more convenient.

(e) Procedure if Petition is Not Transferred. If the case is not transferred to a different court, the remaining procedural steps are the same as on an appeal, except as modified pursuant to Rule 16.2(d).

The deposit required by ROA I-58(c) is eliminated. Under the old rules the deposit is passed from one party to another. The deposit served no purpose sufficiently useful to justify the administrative burden on the court.

Rule 16.3 Personal restraint petition—Generally.

(a) Habeas Corpus and Post-Conviction Relief. Rules 16.3 through 16.15 establish a single procedure for original proceedings in the appellate court to obtain relief formerly available by a petition for writ of habeas corpus or by an application for post-conviction relief.

(b) Former Procedure Superseded. The procedure established by Rules 16.3 through 16.15 for a personal restraint petition supersedes the appellate procedure formerly available for a petition for writ of habeas corpus and for an application for post-conviction relief, unless one of these rules specifically indicates to the contrary. These rules do not supersede and do not apply to habeas corpus proceedings initiated in the superior court.

(c) Original Appellate Court Jurisdiction. The Supreme Court and the Court of Appeals have original concurrent jurisdiction in personal restraint petition proceedings. The Supreme Court will ordinarily exercise its jurisdiction by transferring the petition to the Court of Appeals. [Adopted January 28, 1976, effective July 1, 1976.]

Chapter 7.36 RCW, Habeas Corpus

Comment: Under current law there are two appellate court proceedings which may be used to challenge a restraint on personal liberty. Those two means are an application for post-conviction relief under CrR 7.7 and a Petition for Writ of Habeas Corpus under ROA I-56 or CAROA 56. Rules 16.3 through 16.15 supersede both of these procedures. New rules provide for a single procedure called a personal restraint petition. The procedure employed by the new rules is in many respects similar to the procedure under the superseded CrR 7.7, except the appellate court decides petitions where there are factual disputes after a reference hearing in superior court.

These rules do not supersede and do not apply to habeas corpus procedures in the Superior Court.

Rule 16.4 Personal restraint petition—Grounds for remedy.

(a) Generally. Except as restricted by section (d), the appellate court will grant appropriate relief to a petitioner if the petitioner is under a "restraint" as defined in section (b) and the petitioner's restraint is unlawful for one or more of the reasons defined in section (c).

(b) Restraint. A petitioner is under a "restraint" if the petitioner has limited freedom because of a court decision in a civil or criminal proceeding, the petitioner is confined, the petitioner is subject to imminent confinement, or the petitioner is under some other disability resulting from a judgment or sentence in a criminal case.

(c) Unlawful Nature of Restraint. The restraint must be unlawful for one or more of the following reasons:

(1) the decision in a civil or criminal proceeding was entered without jurisdiction over the person of the petitioner or the subject matter; or

(2) the conviction was obtained or the sentence or other order entered in a criminal proceeding or civil proceeding instituted by the state or local government was imposed or entered in violation of the Constitution of the United States or the constitution or laws of the State of Washington; or

(3) material facts exist which have not been previously presented and heard, which in the interest of justice require vacation of the conviction, sentence, or other order entered in a criminal proceeding or civil proceeding instituted by the state or local government; or

(4) there has been a significant change in the law, whether substantive or procedural, which is material to the conviction, sentence, or other order entered in a criminal proceeding or civil proceeding instituted by the state or local government, and sufficient reasons exist to require retroactive application of the changed legal standard; or

(5) other grounds exist for a collateral attack upon a judgment in a criminal proceeding or civil proceeding instituted by the state or local government; or

(6) the conditions or manner of the restraint of petitioner are in violation of the Constitution of the United States or the constitution or laws of the State of Washington; or

(7) other grounds exist to challenge the legality of the restraint of petitioner.

(d) Restrictions. The appellate court will only grant relief by a personal restraint petition if other remedies which may be available to petitioner are inadequate under the circumstances. No more than one petition for similar relief on behalf of the same petitioner will be entertained without good cause shown. [Amended June 21, 1976, effective July 2, 1976; adopted January 28, 1976, effective July 1, 1976.]

Chapter 7.36 RCW, Habeas Corpus

Comment: Relief will be granted only if a petitioner can meet the requirements of sections (b) and (c), subject to the restrictions in (d). The personal restraint petition may be used to challenge the legality of the restraint of the petitioner where the restraint is imposed in a criminal case or a civil case. The relationship between a personal restraint petition and other remedies defined in section (d) is consistent with present law and is in accord with ABA Standards Relating to Post-Conviction Remedies (Approved Draft, 1968). See Standard 2.2 and the commentary at page 40. In cases challenging the propriety of a private restraint, a personal restraint petition is not the appropriate remedy if there is another adequate remedy. For example, a custody challenge in a domestic relations case might fit the technical requirements of sections (b) and (c). However, the petition would not be entertained if there was an adequate remedy by means of a domestic relations proceeding. Section (c) relates to the basis of petitioner's restraint. A petitioner must establish that the petitioner's restraint falls within one or more of the classifications in section (c). This section corresponds to Standard 2.1 of the ABA Standards.

Rule 16.5 Personal restraint petition—Where to seek relief.

(a) Court of Appeals. A personal restraint petition should be filed in the Court of Appeals.

(b) Supreme Court. If a personal restraint petition is filed in the Supreme Court, the Supreme Court will ordinarily transfer the petition to the Court of Appeals. [Adopted January 28, 1976, effective July 1, 1976.]

References:

Chapter 7.36 RCW, Habeas Corpus

Comment: Old CrR 7.7(a) states that a petition for post-conviction relief is to be filed in the Court of Appeals. Rule 16.5 provides that all personal restraint petitions are to be filed in the Court of Appeals. If a personal restraint petition is filed in the Supreme Court, the Supreme Court will ordinarily transfer the petition to the Court of Appeals.

Rule 16.6 Personal restraint petition—Parties.

(a) Parties. If petitioner is under a restraint imposed by the state or local government, the petition should be captioned only with the name of the petitioner. If petitioner is not under a restraint imposed by the state or local government, the petition should be captioned with the name of the petitioner and the name of the person or agency restraining petitioner's liberty, as respondent. The petition may be brought by the person who is under a restraint or in the person's name by that person's guardian, conservator, parent, or attorney.

(b) Respondent—Restraint by Government. If petitioner is under a restraint imposed by the state or local government, the officer or agency responsible for the proceeding against petitioner at the time petitioner claims the proceeding was defective or improper shall respond to the petition. If there are two or more proper respondents, each shall serve and file a separate response unless they agree to joint representation and notify the appellate court and the petitioner of that agreement.

(c) Change of Respondent. If the petitioner is under a restraint imposed by the state or local government, the appellate court may on its own initiative or on motion substitute the proper respondent, and the clerk of the court will notify substituted respondent. [Adopted January 28, 1976, effective July 1, 1976.]

Comment: (b) Respondent. The rules changes current criminal practice for Supreme Court habeas corpus and conforms to the practice which seems to be emerging under (but is not spelled out in) CrR 7.7. In Supreme Court habeas corpus proceedings under the old rules, the custodian of the prisoner is named as the respondent. If the petitioner is confined in a State institution the respondent is the secretary of the Department of Social and Health Services who appears and answers the petition through the Attorney General. Typically, the petition claims a defect in the proceeding against a petitioner in Superior Court at a time when the prosecution was handled by the county prosecutor. The responsibility for answering the petition should be that of the person or agency responsible for the proceeding at the time the claimed defect occurred. That person or agency will be more familiar with the proceeding and would be located in the area where any hearing would be held which should reduce the time and expense required to answer the petition. This rule makes this change by specifically defining who has the duty to respond to the petition.

Rule 16.7 Personal restraint petition—Form of petition.

(a) Generally. Under the titles indicated, the petition should set forth:

(1) Status of Petitioner. The restraint on petitioner; the place where petitioner is held in custody, if confined; the judgment, sentence, or other order or authority upon which petitioner's restraint is based, identified by date of entry, court, and cause number; any appeals taken from that judgment, sentence or order; and a statement of each other petition filed with regard to the same allegedly unlawful restraint, identified by the date filed, the court, the disposition made by the court, and the date of disposition.

(2) Grounds for Relief. A statement of (i) the facts upon which the claim of unlawful restraint of petitioner is based and the evidence available to support the factual allegations, (ii) why other remedies are inadequate, and (iii) why the petitioner's restraint is unlawful for one or more of the reasons specified in Rule 16.4(c). Legal argument and authorities may be included in the petition, or submitted in a separate brief as provided in Rule 16.10(a).

(3) Statement of Finances. If petitioner is unable to pay the filing fee or fees of counsel, a request should be included for waiver of the filing fee and for the appointment of counsel at public expense. The request should be supported by a statement of petitioner's total assets and liabilities.

(4) Request for Relief. The relief petitioner wants.

(5) Oath. If a notary is available, the petition must be signed by the petitioner or his attorney and verified substantially as follows:

After being first duly sworn, on oath, I depose and say: That I am the petitioner, that I have read the petition, know its contents, and I believe the petition is true.

or,

After being first duly sworn, on oath, I depose and say: That I am the attorney for the petitioner, that I have read the petition, know its contents, and I believe the petition is true.

[Signature]

Subscribed and sworn to before me this ____ day of _____, 19__.

Notary Public in and for the State of Washington, residing at

If a notary is not available, the petition must be subscribed by the petitioner or his attorney substantially as follows:

I declare that I have examined this petition and to the best of my knowledge and belief it is true and correct.

Dated This day of, 19...

[Signature]

If a notary is available and a petition is filed which is not verified, the appellate court will return the petition for verified signature and advise the petitioner's custodian to make a notary available.

(b) Standard Form. The clerk of the appellate court will make the standard form of petition available to persons who are confined in state institutions and to others who may request the form. [Adopted January 28, 1976, effective July 1, 1976.]

References:

Form 17, Personal Restraint Petition.

Comment: The standard form of petition is designed to assist a petitioner without counsel to prepare a petition which will permit a determination of the petitioner's claim on the merits. The device seems to work in Federal Court. See comment, Washington Proposed Rules of Criminal Procedure, 135. Standardized application forms for those without counsel are recommended in ABA Standards Relating to Post-Conviction Remedies § 3.2. CrR 7.7(a) seems to require the use of a standard form even if the application is prepared by an attorney. Section (b) of the new rule specifies a form of an application but does not require use of the standard form.

Rule 16.8 Personal restraint petition—Filing and service.

(a) Filing Fee. A personal restraint petition will be filed by the clerk of the appellate court only if the statutory filing fee is paid, unless the appellate court determines that the petitioner is unable to pay the filing fee. The statute requiring payment of a fee for filing a petition for writ of habeas corpus is controlling.

(b) Filing in Court of Appeals. A personal restraint petition filed in the Court of Appeals must be filed in the division which includes the superior court entering the decision on the basis of which petitioner is held in custody or, if petitioner is not being held in custody on the basis of a decision, in the division in which the petitioner is located.

(c) Service of Petition. If petitioner's restraint is imposed by the state or local government, the clerk of the appellate court will reproduce a copy of the petition and serve the petition on the officer or agency under a duty to respond to the petition. If petitioner's restraint is imposed by a person or agency other than the state or local government, the petitioner must prepare and serve a copy of the petition on the proper respondent. [Adopted January 28, 1976, effective July 1, 1976.]

RCW 2.32.070, Fees—Supreme Court Clerk, Clerks of Court of Appeals.

Comment: The statutory filing fee is retained for personal restraint petitions. The filing fee discourages the filing of frivolous petitions by persons in custody. A commissioner or a clerk will accept a personal restraint petition without the payment of the filing fee if the petitioner has insufficient funds to pay that fee. A motion to waive the fee is not necessary. The procedure is designed to be simple so a lay person can make use of it. A section in the standard form of petition gives an indigent petitioner a means to show details about financial circumstances and to request waiver of the filing fee. See Rule 16.7(a)(3).

Rule 16.9 Personal restraint petition—Response to petition. The respondent must, within 20 days after the petition is served, unless the time is extended by the commissioner or clerk for good cause shown, serve and file a response to the petition. The response must answer the allegations in the petition. The response must state the authority for the restraint of petitioner by respondent and, if the authority is in writing, include a conformed copy of the writing. If an allegation in the petition can be answered by reference to a record of another proceeding, the response should so indicate and include a copy of those parts of the record which are relevant. Respondent should also identify in the response all material disputed questions of fact. [Adopted January 28, 1976, effective July 1, 1976.]

Comment: ABA Standard 4.2(a) states as follows:

Because of the limited pleading capabilities of lay applicants, it is not expedient for courts to undertake to evaluate applications filed pro se by such persons. A routine practice of ruling on such applications for sufficiency of pleadings should be avoided. The court will be better able to understand the nature of the grievance asserted and to determine the proper mode of proceeding after a responsive pleading has been filed and the pertinent record has been brought into focus. It is preferable, therefore, that the courts make it clear that responsive pleadings are expected as of course.

This rule conforms to the ABA Standards. Old CrR 7.7(b) is to the contrary; post-conviction applications under CrR 7.7(b) are screened to determine if they "have any basis in fact or law" without requiring a responsive answer. This has in the past resulted in sending an application for post-conviction relief to the Superior Court for a trial when an answer would have made clear that this procedure was not necessary.

Rule 16.10 Personal restraint petition—Briefs.

(a) Briefs Allowed. The following briefs may be, but need not be, filed:

(1) Petitioner's Opening Brief. Petitioner's opening brief, which should be filed with the petition.

(2) Petitioner's Reply Brief. Petitioner's reply brief, which should be filed within 20 days after the answering brief is served on petitioner. If the brief is mailed, it must be mailed within 17 days after the answering brief is served on petitioner.

(b) Brief Required. Respondent must file an answering brief within the time the response must be filed.

(c) Briefs at Request of Appellate Court. The appellate court may call for additional briefs at any stage of the consideration of the petition.

(d) Content and Style of Briefs. The content and style of briefs is governed by Rules 10.3 and 10.4.

(e) Reproduction and Service of Briefs. Briefs must be filed with the clerk of the appellate court. Briefs will be reproduced and served by the clerk in accordance with Rule 10.5. [Adopted January 28, 1976, effective July 1, 1976.]

Rule 16.11 Personal restraint petition—Consideration of petition.

(a) Generally. The Chief Judge will consider the petition promptly after the time has expired to file petitioner's reply brief. The Chief Judge determines at the initial consideration if the petition will be retained by the appellate court for determination on the merits or transferred to a superior court for determination on the merits or for a reference hearing.

(b) Determination by Appellate Court. The Chief Judge determines at the initial consideration of the petition the steps necessary to properly decide on the merits the issues raised by the petition. If the issues presented are frivolous, the Chief Judge will dismiss the petition. If the petition is not frivolous and can be determined solely on the record, the Chief Judge will refer the petition to a panel of judges for determination on the merits. If the petition cannot be determined solely on the record, the Chief Judge will transfer the petition to a superior court for a determination on the merits or for a reference hearing. The Chief Judge may enter other orders necessary to obtain a prompt determination of the petition on the merits.

(c) Oral Argument. Decisions of the Chief Judge will be made without oral argument. If a petition is to be decided on the merits by a panel of judges, the appellate court clerk will set the petition for consideration by the panel of judges, with or without oral argument. If oral argument is directed, the clerk will notify the parties of the date set for oral argument. [Amended November 9, 1976, effective January 1, 1977; adopted January 28, 1976, effective July 1, 1976.]

Comment: Under old CrR 7.7, the Chief Judge of the Court of Appeals could do one of two things with an application for post-conviction relief. The Chief Judge would dismiss the application if it had no basis in fact or law, or transfer it to a superior court for determination on the merits. The new rules provide for four alternatives. If the petition is frivolous, it is dismissed. If the petition is not frivolous and can be determined on the record in the appellate court, the petition is referred directly to a panel of appellate court judges for determination on the merits. If the petition cannot be determined solely on the record, the petition is sent to the superior court for a reference hearing to determine disputed facts or for a determination on the merits.

Rule 16.12 Personal restraint petition—Superior court hearing. If the appellate court transfers the petition to a superior court, the transfer will be to the superior court for the county in which the decision was made resulting in the restraint of petitioner or, if petitioner is not being restrained on the basis of a decision, in the superior court in the county in which petitioner is located. If the respondent is represented by the attorney general, the prosecuting attorney, or a municipal attorney, respondent must take steps to obtain a prompt evidentiary hearing and must serve notice of the date set for hearing on all other parties. The parties, on motion and for good cause shown, will be granted reasonable pretrial discovery. Each party has the right to subpoena witnesses. The hearing shall be held before a judge who was not involved in the challenged proceeding. The petitioner has the right to be present at the hearing and the right to cross-examine adverse witnesses. The rules of evidence apply at the hearing. Upon the conclusion of the hearing, if the case has been transferred for a reference hearing the superior court shall enter findings of fact and have the findings and all appellate court files forwarded to the appellate court. Upon the conclusion of the hearing if the case has been transferred for a determination on the merits, the superior court shall enter findings of fact and conclusions of law and an order deciding the petition. [Amended November 9, 1976, effective January 1, 1977; adopted January 28, 1976, effective July 1, 1976.]

Comment: This rule establishes the procedure in a superior court hearing if the petition is transferred to that court for a reference hearing. The rule is consistent with ABA Standards Relating to Post-Conviction Remedies. The petitioner has the right to be present at the hearing. See ABA Standard 4.6(b). Normal rules of evidence apply. See ABA Standard 4.6(c). Reasonable discovery proceedings are available.

Rule 16.13 Personal restraint petition—Procedure after reference hearing. After a reference hearing and the findings of fact and appellate court files have been returned to the appellate court, the Chief Judge will dismiss the petition if the issues presented are frivolous. If the petition is not frivolous, the Chief Judge will refer the petition to a panel of judges for determination on the merits. The appellate court may, on motion of a party, order the preparation of and transmittal to the appellate court of a part or all of the record of the reference proceeding. The appellate court order will define at whose expense the record is prepared. Oral argument is governed by Rule 16.11(c). [Amended June 21, 1976, effective July 2, 1976; adopted January 28, 1976, effective July 1, 1976.]

Rule 16.14 Personal restraint petition—Appellate review.

(a) Decision Whether to Transfer. A decision to transfer a petition to a superior court for a hearing or to retain the petition for determination by the appellate court is not subject to review by the Supreme Court.

(b) Decision of Superior Court. A decision of a superior court in a personal restraint proceeding transferred to that court for a determination on the merits is subject to review in the same manner and under the same procedure as any other trial court decision.

(c) Other Decisions. If the petition is dismissed by the Chief Judge or decided by the Court of Appeals on the merits, the decision is subject to review by the Supreme Court only by a motion for discretionary review on the terms and in the manner provided in Rule 13.5(a), (b), and (c). [Amended November 9, 1976, effective January 1, 1977; adopted January 28, 1976, effective July 1, 1976.]

Comment: This rule clarifies which decisions are subject to review and the means of obtaining review.

Rule 16.15 Personal restraint petition—Supplemental provisions.

(a) Motion. The procedure for and form of a motion is as provided in Title 17, except that a motion by the petitioner must be verified in the same manner as a petition. Motions will ordinarily be considered without oral argument.

(b) Release by Appellate Court of Person in Custody. The appellate court may release a petitioner on bail or personal recognizance before deciding the petition, if release prevents further unlawful confinement and it is unjust to delay the petitioner's release until the petition is determined. The appellate court or the superior court in its decision on the merits, or by separate order after a decision on the merits, may release a petitioner on bail or on personal recognizance. The appellate court may direct the release of petitioner with the conditions of release to be determined by a trial court.

(c) Oral Argument. Except as otherwise provided in Rule 16.11(c), the procedure for oral argument is governed by Title 11.

(d) Disposition of Petition. The petition will be determined by the appellate court by written opinion or order briefly stating the reasons for the determination.

(e) Costs. Costs are awarded as provided in Title 14.

(f) Indigency—Superior Court Determination. The provisions of CrR 3.1 apply to a personal restraint petition transferred to a superior court. If any of the petitioner's expenses incurred in the superior court are to be paid with public funds, the expenses shall be paid with funds appropriated by the county in which the superior court is located.

(g) Indigency—Appellate Court Proceeding. If the restraint is imposed by the state or local government, and if the appellate court determines that petitioner is indigent, the court may provide for the appointment of counsel at public expense for services in the appellate court, order waiver of charges for reproducing briefs and motions, provide for the preparation of the record of prior proceedings and provide for the payment of such other expenses as may be necessary to consider the petition in the appellate court. Invoices for expenses of an indigent person in the appellate court must be submitted to the appellate court which decided the petition in the form and manner provided in Rule 15.4, except that a trial court order of indigency is not required and the invoice must be submitted within 45 days after the appellate court decision terminating the proceeding is filed. If a petitioner who claims to be indigent is in the custody of an agency of the Department of Social and Health Services, the clerk of the appellate court will obtain a statement of petitioner's known assets from the superintendent of the institution where petitioner is confined. Statutes providing for payment of expenses with public funds are not superseded. [Amended November 9, 1976, effective January 1, 1977; adopted January 28, 1976, effective July 1, 1976.]

Title 15, Special Provisions Relating to Rights of Indigent Party.

Comment: (b) Release by Appellate Court of Person in Custody. See ABA Standards Relating to Post-Conviction Remedies, Standard 5.2(b), which states in part:

The appellate court, or an individual judge or justice, should be authorized to release applicants for post-conviction relief or otherwise to stay execution of their judgments of conviction pending appellate review.

The conditions of release, such as the amount of bail or personal recognizance, may be determined by the trial court.

Rule 16.16 Question certified by federal court.

(a) Generally. The Supreme Court may entertain a petition to determine a question of law certified to it under the federal court local law certificate procedure act if the question of state law is one which has not been clearly determined and does not involve a question determined by reference to the United States Constitution. Certificate procedure is the means by which a federal court submits a question of Washington law to the Supreme Court. This rule provides the procedure for implementing chapter 2.60 RCW.

(b) Caption of Pleadings and Briefs Filed in Supreme Court. The caption of the case should be:

CERTIFICATION FROM [ORIGINATING UNITED STATES COURT]

IN

[Title of Action]

(c) Filing. The cause shall be filed, indexed, and numbered in the same manner as an appeal to the Supreme Court.

(d) Record. The record shall be certified by the federal court as required by statute.

(e) Briefs.

(1) Procedure. The federal court shall designate who will file the first brief. The first brief should be filed within 30 days after the record is filed in the Supreme Court. The opposing party should file the opposing brief within 20 days after receipt of the opening brief. A reply brief should be filed within 10 days after the opposing brief is served. The time for filing the record, the supplemental record, or briefs may be extended for cause.

(2) Form and Reproduction of Briefs. Briefs should be in the form provided by Rules 10.3 and 10.4. Briefs will be reproduced and served in accordance with Rule 10.5.

(f) Costs. The cost provisions of Title 14 are applicable except that both parties must file a cost bill, and that the commissioner or clerk will not award costs but will divide the total costs equally between the parties.

(g) Finality of Opinion. The opinion of the Supreme Court is certified to the federal court at the time a mandate would issue as provided in Rule 12.5. The certification by the clerk states that the opinion is in answer to the question of Washington law submitted. [Adopted January 28, 1976, effective July 1, 1976.]

Rule 17.1 Relief available by motion. A person may seek relief, other than a decision of the case on the merits, by motion as provided in Title 17. [Adopted January 28, 1976, effective July 1, 1976.]

Rule 17.2 Who decides a motion.

(a) Generally. The judges determine (1) a motion in a brief, (2) a motion to modify a ruling by a commissioner or the clerk, (3) a motion for reconsideration of a decision, (4) a motion to recall the mandate, and (5) a motion to extend time under Rule 18.8(b). All other motions may be determined initially by a commissioner or the clerk of the appellate court.

(b) Reference to the Judges. A commissioner or clerk may refer a motion to the judges for determination. If the motion is referred to the judges, the commissioner or clerk will give notice of the reference to all persons entitled to notice of the motion.

(c) Transfer by Supreme Court to Court of Appeals. A commissioner or clerk of the Supreme Court may transfer a motion for discretionary review of a trial court decision to the Court of Appeals for determination. [Amended June 21, 1976, effective July 2, 1976; adopted January 28, 1976, effective July 1, 1976.]

Comment: (a) Generally. With the exception of designated motions to be heard by the judges, all motions may first be heard and determined by an appellate court commissioner or clerk. A commissioner or clerk may hear motions formerly heard by the Chief Justice, such as a motion for discretionary review, a motion for minor procedural changes, and a motion for a stay or other order to insure effective review. A commissioner or clerk may also hear motions formerly heard by the court, such as a motion for a major procedural change and a motion to dismiss. Each appellate court may restrict the types of motions to be heard by a commissioner or the clerk, and define which types will be heard by a commissioner and which will be heard by the clerk.

This change in procedure is designed to conserve judicial time. It does not deny a hearing by the court. Rule 17.7 gives any party the right to ask for such a hearing.

Division I of the Court of Appeals has both a commissioner and a clerk. The Supreme Court and each division of the Court of Appeals may appoint one or more commissioners to fill the role established by these rules.

(b) Reference to the Court. The commissioner or clerk may refrain from ruling on a motion and refer it to the court for decision.

Rule 17.3 Content of motion.

(a) Generally. A motion must include (1) a statement of the name and designation of the person filing the motion, (2) a statement of the relief sought, (3) reference to or copies of parts of the record relevant to the motion, and (4) a statement of the grounds for the relief sought, with supporting argument.

(b) Motion for Discretionary Review. A motion for discretionary review should contain under appropriate headings and in the order here indicated:

(1) Cover. A title page, which is the cover.

(2) Identity of Petitioner. A statement of the name and designation of the person filing the motion.

(3) Decision Below. A statement of the decision which petitioner wants reviewed, the court entering or filing the decision, the date entered or filed, and the date and a description of any order granting or denying motions made after the decision.

(4) Issues Presented for Review. A concise statement of the issues presented for review.

(5) Statement of the Case. A statement of the facts and procedure below relevant to the issues presented for review, with appropriate reference to the record.

(6) Argument. A direct and concise statement of the reasons why review should be granted, with supporting argument.

(7) Conclusion. A short conclusion stating the precise relief sought.

(8) Appendix. An appendix containing a conformed copy of the decision which the party wants reviewed and a conformed copy of any order granting or denying motions made with respect to that decision. In addition, the appendix may include copies of statutes and constitutional provisions relevant to the issues presented for review, a conformed copy of parts of the record relevant to the motion, and other material which would assist the court in determining whether the motion should be granted.

(c) Statement of Grounds for Direct Review. If the motion is for discretionary review of a trial court decision and the party making the motion seeks direct review by the Supreme Court, the party seeking review must also file a separate statement urging grounds for Supreme Court review as provided in Rule 4.2(b). Comment: (a) Generally. Section (a) sets forth the general requirements for a written motion. No comparable provision is found in the former rules. The rule minimizes paperwork and overlap by eliminating the distinction between the motion and the brief in support of the motion. However, it is permissible to file a separate brief with the motion or after the motion is filed. See Rule 17.4(f).

(b) Motion for Discretionary Review. Section (b) defines what the motion for discretionary review must include. See Rule 6.2 and comment 6.2.

Certified copies of parts of the record are not required.

Rule 17.4 Filing and service of motion—Response to motion.

(a) Filing and Service Generally. Except in the special circumstances defined in section (c), a motion must be served on all parties, amicus, and other persons entitled to notice, and filed in the appellate court. Except in the special circumstances defined in sections (b), (c), and (d), a motion which is to be decided by a commissioner or the clerk must be accompanied by a notice of the time and date set for oral argument of the motion. The movant should contact the clerk of the appellate court to determine the date and time available for argument of the motion. The motion and notice must be served on all parties, amicus, and other persons entitled to notice and filed in the appellate court at least 10 days before the date noted for the hearing on the motion. If service is by mail, the moving party must mail the motion and notice at least 13 days before the date noted for hearing the motion.

(b) Emergency Motion. In an emergency, a person may present a motion to the commissioner or clerk on notice less than that required by section (a) and at any time and place the commissioner or clerk will make available to hear the motion. The movant shall notify all parties, amicus, and other persons entitled to notice of the date, time, and place the motion will be heard. The notice may be written or oral. The person presenting the motion must, at the time the motion is heard, file an affidavit stating the type of notice given and the time and date the notice was given to each person. The commissioner or clerk may decide the motion only if satisfied (1) that adequate relief cannot be given if a decision of the motion is delayed to permit the notice required by section (a), and (2) the movant has taken reasonable steps under the circumstances to give notice to persons who would be affected by the ruling sought.

(c) Summary Determination. The commissioner or clerk may summarily determine without oral argument a motion which, in the judgment of the commissioner or clerk, does not affect a substantial right of a party. The commissioner or clerk may also hear and decide verbal ex parte motions which, in the judgment of the commissioner or clerk, involve minor matters and seek relief which would be routinely granted without sanctions.

(d) Motion in Brief. A party may include in a brief only a motion which, if granted, would preclude hearing the case on the merits.

(e) Response to Motion. A person with a recognized interest in the subject matter of the motion may submit a written response to the motion. A response to a motion must be served and filed at least 2 days preceding the day of hearing. If service is by mail, the responding party must mail the response at least 5 days before the day noted for hearing the motion. The response to a motion within a brief may be made within the brief of the responding party.

(f) Supporting Papers. A person should serve and file with the motion all affidavits and other papers submitted in support of the motion. A person must, in any event, serve and file affidavits and other papers submitted in support of the motion not less than 5 days before the date designated for hearing the motion. If the affidavits and other papers are mailed, the person must, in any event, mail them at least 8 days before the day noted for hearing the motion. Affidavits and other papers submitted in support of a response must be served and filed with the response.

(g) Form of Papers and Number of Copies. All papers relating to motions or responses should be filed in duplicate in the form provided for briefs in Rule 10.4(a). The appellate court commissioner or clerk will reproduce additional copies that may be necessary for the appellate court and charge the appropriate party as provided in Rule 10.5(a). [Amended June 21, 1976, effective July 2, 1976; adopted January 28, 1976, effective July 1, 1976.]

Form 19, Notice of Motion;

Rule 12.4, Motion for Reconsideration of Decision, (d) Answer and reply, (f) Oral argument.

Comment: Sections (a), and (d) through (g), reorganize and modify the relevant portions of ROA I-53 and I-54. The present practice of permitting certain motions to be made within a brief is retained.

Section (b), Emergency Motions, has no counterpart in the current rules but it is consistent with practice in the Supreme Court and Court of Appeals.

Section (c) provides that minor matters, typically requests for short extensions of time, may be handled by the clerk without the formalities otherwise required by Rule 17.4.

Rule 17.5 Oral argument of motion.

(a) Oral Argument to Commissioner or Clerk. Unless the motion is determined without oral argument, as provided in Rule 17.4(c) for a motion determined summarily, the movant, and any person entitled to notice of the motion who has filed a response to the motion, may present oral argument on a motion to be decided by a commissioner or the clerk.

(b) Oral Argument to Judges. A motion to be decided by the judges will be decided without oral argument, unless the appellate court directs otherwise.

(c) Date and Time of Argument. Oral argument on a motion to be determined by the clerk or a commissioner will be held on the date and time noted for hearing the motion, unless otherwise directed by the appellate court.

(d) Time Allowed, Order, and Conduct of Oral Argument. If oral argument is held, each side is allowed 10 minutes for argument of a motion. The moving party is entitled to open and conclude oral argument. Rule 11.5 applies to the conduct of argument of motions.

(e) Telephone Argument. The appellate court may direct the parties to conduct oral argument of a motion to the commissioner or clerk or to the court by means of a conference telephone call. The expense of the call will be shared equally by the parties, unless the appellate court directs otherwise in the ruling or decision on the motion. A party may request telephone conference argument by letter to the appellate court clerk. [Amended June 21, 1976, effective July 2, 1976; adopted January 28, 1976, effective July 1, 1976.]

Comment: The motion days listed in ROA 1-53 and CAROA 53 are not set forth. Under these rules, the moving party arranges with the clerk for a hearing on a day acceptable to the court. See Rule 17.4(a).

Rule 17.6 Motion decided by ruling or order.

(a) Motion Decided by Commissioner or Clerk. A commissioner or clerk decides a motion by a written ruling which includes a statement of the reason for the decision. The commissioner or clerk will file the ruling and serve a copy on the movant and all persons entitled to notice of the original motion.

(b) Motion Decided by Judges. Ordinarily the judges decide a motion by an order. The judges may decide a motion by an opinion. The clerk will notify the movant and all persons entitled to notice of the motion of the order made or opinion rendered by the court. [Adopted January 28, 1976, effective July 1, 1976.]

Rule 17.7 Objection to ruling—Review of decision on motion. An aggrieved person may object to a ruling of a commissioner or clerk, including transfer of the case to the Court of Appeals under Rule 17.2(c), only by a motion to modify the ruling directed to the judges of the court served by the commissioner or clerk. The motion to modify the ruling must be served on all persons entitled to notice of the original motion and filed in the appellate court not later than 10 days after the ruling is filed. A motion to the justices in the Supreme Court will be decided by a panel of five justices unless the court directs a hearing by the court en banc. [Adopted January 28, 1976, effective July 1, 1976.]

Form 20, Motion to Modify Ruling.

Comment: A person adversely affected by the ruling of the commissioner or clerk may have the ruling reviewed by the judges. The motion to modify the ruling is decided by the court as an original proposition. The movant does not have to claim an abuse of discretion by the commissioner or clerk.

Rule 18.1 Attorneys' fees and expenses.

(a) Generally. If applicable law grants to a party the right to recover reasonable attorney's fees or expenses on review, the party should request the fees or expenses as provided in this rule.

(b) Argument in Brief. The party should devote a section of the brief to the request for the fee or expenses. The request should not be made in the cost bill.

(c) Affidavit. Seven days prior to oral argument, the party should serve and file an affidavit in the appellate court detailing the expenses incurred and the services performed by counsel.

(d) Oral Argument. A party should include in oral argument a request for the fee or expenses and a reference to the affidavit on file.

(e) Fees and Expenses Determined After Remand. The appellate court may direct that the amount of fees and expenses be determined by the trial court after remand.

[Amended June 21, 1976, effective July 2, 1976; adopted January 28, 1976, effective July 1, 1976.]

Comment: The rule does not apply to statutory attorney's fees. See RCW 4.84.080. It applies to particular cases in which reasonable attorney's fees are allowed by law or contract. See, e.g., RCW 4.84.250; RCW 60.04.130, 60.76.040, 74.08.080; Corinthian Corp. v. White & Bollard, 74 Wn.2d 50, 442 P.2d 950 (1968).

Rule 18.2 Voluntary withdrawal of review. The appellate court on motion may, in its discretion, dismiss review of a case on stipulation of all parties and, in criminal cases, the written consent of the defendant, if the motion is made before oral argument on the merits. The appellate court may, in its discretion, dismiss review of a case on the motion of a party who has filed a notice of appeal, a notice for discretionary review, or a motion for discretionary review by the Supreme Court. Costs will be awarded in a case dismissed on a motion for voluntary withdrawal of review only if the appellate court so directs at the time the motion is granted. [Adopted January 28, 1976, effective July 1, 1976.]

Comment: The rule shifts the authority to permit withdrawal of a case on review from the superior court to the appellate court. The appellate court should retain control over proceedings on review.

The rule does not give the appellant or petitioner the right to withdraw the case ex parte. See State v. Wells, 7 Wn. App. 553, 500 P.2d 1012 (1972).

Rule 18.3 Withdrawal by counsel in criminal case. Except for indigent appointments and withdrawals as provided in Rule 15.2(f), counsel for a defendant in a criminal case may withdraw only with the permission of the appellate court on a showing of good cause. The appellate court will not ordinarily grant permission to counsel to withdraw after the opening brief has been filed. A motion to withdraw must be served on all parties and on the defendant personally. An affidavit of service must be filed with the motion to withdraw. [Amended June 21, 1976, effective July 2, 1976; adopted January 28, 1976, effective July 1, 1976.]

Comment: Rule 18.3 is consistent with CrR 3.1(b) and (e), which requires permission of the court to withdraw as counsel at any stage of a criminal proceeding. See Rule 15.2(f) for withdrawal of counsel for an indigent party.

Rule 18.4 Disposition of exhibits.

(a) If Further Proceedings Ordered. If a case is returned to the trial court for further proceedings, exhibits in the custody of the appellate court will be returned to the trial court.

(b) Exhibits Requested by Interested Person. If a case is not returned to the trial court for further proceedings, the clerk of the appellate court will dispose of exhibits in a civil case as stipulated by the parties, at the expense of the parties designated in the stipulation. In all other circumstances where an interested person requests an exhibit in a civil or criminal case, the exhibit will be returned to the trial court for disposition.

(c) Exhibits Not Requested by Interested Person. Exhibits which are not requested by an interested person will be disposed of in the following manner:

(1) Cumbersome Exhibits. If an exhibit cannot reasonably be retained in the appellate court case pouch, the clerk will notify the parties that the exhibit will be disposed of in accordance with section (d) unless requested by an interested person in accordance with section (b) within six months of the date of the clerk's notice.

(2) Other Exhibits. Exhibits will be retained in the appellate court case pouch for 30 years after a case is final if it is reasonably practical to do so. After that time if the exhibit appears to the clerk to have material or sentimental value, the clerk will make a reasonable attempt to notify the parties that the exhibit will be disposed of in accordance with section (d) unless the exhibit is requested by an interested person in accordance with section (b) within three months of the date of the clerk's notice.

(d) Disposition of Exhibits by Clerk. Exhibits not requested by an interested person within the time provided in section (c) will be destroyed by the clerk unless: (1) the exhibit is of historical value, in which case it will be transferred to the custody of the Washington State Museum; or (2) the exhibit is of material value, in which case it will be transferred to the Surplus Property Section of the Washington State Department of General Administration for sale; or (3) the transfer or destruction of the exhibit is regulated, in which case the exhibit will be disposed of in accordance with applicable law. [Adopted January 28, 1976, effective July 1, 1976.]

Rule 18.5 Service and filing of papers.

(a) Service. Except when a rule requires the appellate court commissioner or clerk or the trial court clerk to serve a particular paper, and except as provided in Rule 9.5, a person filing a paper must, at or before the time of filing, serve a copy of the paper on all parties, amicus, and other persons who may be entitled to notice. If a person does not have an attorney of record, service should be made upon the person. Service must be made as provided in CR 5(b), (f), (g), and (h).

(b) Proof of Service. Proof of service should be made by an acknowledgement of service, or by an affidavit, or, if service is by mail, as provided in CR 5(b). Proof of service may appear on or be attached to the papers filed.

(c) Filing. Papers required or permitted to be filed in the appellate court must be filed with the clerk, except that an appellate court judge may permit papers to be filed with the judge, in which event the judge will note the filing date on the papers and promptly transmit them to the appellate court clerk. [Adopted January 28, 1976, effective July 1, 1976.]

Rule 18.6 Computation of time.

(a) Generally. In computing any period of time prescribed by these rules, the day of the event from which the time begins to run is not included. The last day of the period so computed is included unless it is a Saturday, Sunday, or day when the appellate court is not open, in which case the period extends to the end of the next day which is not a Saturday, Sunday, or day when the court is not open.

(b) Service by Mail. Except as otherwise provided in Rule 17.4, if the time period in question applies to a party serving a paper by mail, the paper is timely served if mailed within the time permitted for service. If the time period in question applies to the party upon whom service is made, the time begins to run 3 days after the paper is mailed to the party.

(c) Filing by Mail. A brief authorized by Title 10 is timely filed if mailed to the appellate court within the time permitted for filing. Except as provided in Rule 17.4, any other paper is timely filed only if it is received by the appellate court within the time permitted for filing. Comment: Note that service by mail, section (b), is treated differently from filing by mail, section (c).

Rule 18.7 Signing and dating papers. Each paper filed pursuant to these rules should be dated and signed by an attorney or party as provided in CR 11, except papers prepared by a judge, commissioner or clerk of court, bonds, papers comprising a record on review, papers which are verified on oath or by certificate, and exhibits. [Adopted January 28, 1976, effective July 1, 1976.]

Rule 18.8 Waiver of rules and extension and reduction of time.

(a) Generally. The appellate court may, on its own initiative or on motion of a party, waive or alter the provisions of any of these rules and enlarge or shorten the time within which an act must be done in a particular case in order to serve the ends of justice, subject to the restrictions in sections (b) and (c).

(b) Restriction on Extension of Time. The appellate court will only in extraordinary circumstances and to prevent a gross miscarriage of justice extend the time within which a party must file a notice of appeal, a notice for discretionary review, a motion for discretionary review of a decision of the Court of Appeals, a petition for review, or a motion for reconsideration. The appellate court will ordinarily hold that the desirability of finality of decisions outweighs the privilege of a litigant to obtain an extension of time under this section. The motion to extend time is determined by the appellate court to which the untimely notice, motion or petition is directed.

(c) Restriction on Changing Decision. The appellate court will not enlarge the time provided in Rule 12.7 within which the appellate court may change or modify its decision.

(d) Terms. The remedy for violation of these rules is set forth in Rule 18.9. The court may condition the exercise of its authority under this rule by imposing terms or awarding compensatory damages, or both, as provided in Rule 18.9. [Amended June 21, 1976, effective July 2, 1976; adopted January 28, 1976, effective July 1, 1976.]

Comment: (a) Generally. See comment 1.2.

(b) Restriction on Extension of Time. The appellate court will almost always hold that the desirability of finality of decisions outweighs the right of an individual party to obtain an extension. Thus, the court will rarely grant the extension permitted by this paragraph. This is to be contrasted with the federal rule which permits a 30-day extension without the showing of "extraordinary circumstances" required by this rule. This paragraph represents only a slight departure from the old rigid 30-day rule. Section (b) is designed to accommodate those limited cases where extraordinary circumstances prevent the filing of a timely document. A rigid rule can produce harsh results.

(c) Restriction on Changing Decision. Section (d) should be contrasted with Rule 12.9, which permits a recall of the mandate and provides that the motion to recall must be made within a reasonable time.

(d) Terms. See comment 18.9.

Rule 18.9 Violation of rules.

(a) Sanctions. The appellate court on its own initiative or on motion of a party may order a party or counsel who uses these rules for the purpose of delay or who fails to comply with these rules to pay terms or compensatory damages to any other party who has been harmed by the delay or the failure to comply. The appellate court may condition a party's right to participate further in the review on compliance with terms of an order or ruling including payment of an award which is ordered paid by the party. If an award is not paid within the time specified by the court, the appellate court will transmit the award to the superior court of the county where the case arose and direct the entry of a judgment in accordance with the award.

(b) Dismissal on Motion of Commissioner or Clerk. The commissioner or clerk, on 30 days notice to the parties, may (1) dismiss a review proceeding as provided in section (a) and (2) except as provided in Rule 18.8(b), will dismiss a review proceeding for failure to timely file a notice of appeal, a notice for discretionary review, a motion for discretionary review of a decision of the Court of Appeals, or a petition for review. A party may object to the ruling of the commissioner or clerk only as provided in Rule 17.7.

(c) Dismissal on Motion of Party. The appellate court will, on motion of a party, dismiss review of a case (1) for want of prosecution if the party seeking review has abandoned the review, or (2) if the application for review is frivolous, moot, or solely for the purpose of delay, or (3) except as provided in Rule 18.8(b), for failure to timely file a notice of appeal, a notice for discretionary review, a motion for discretionary review of a decision of the Court of Appeals, or a petition for review.

(d) Objection to Ruling. A counsel upon whom sanctions have been imposed or a party may object to the ruling of a commissioner or the clerk only as provided in Rule 17.7 [Adopted January 28, 1976, effective July 1, 1976.]

Rule 10.7, Brief Which Fails to Comply with Rules.

Comment: The old rules provided that a case might be dismissed for the failure of counsel to observe the rules relating to bonds, briefs, and the record. ROA I-51, CAROA 51. The new rules for the most part substitute monetary sanctions for the harsher sanction of dismissal. Sanctions will also be imposed to assure compliance with the rules under circumstances where dismissal was not available under the old rules. The sanction will typically be a fine or a compensatory award paid by the offending person to the opposing party. The rule permits the court to fashion other remedies when appropriate. A dismissal would ordinarily not be granted except as provided in sections (b) and (c).

The rule is suggested by Neal v. Green, 68 Wn.2d 415, 413 P.2d 339 (1966). There, appellant failed to comply with the time requirements for bonds and the record. Respondent moved to dismiss the appeal. The court, however, said that it was hesitant to punish litigants for neglect of their counsel, and instead required the offending attorney to pay $150 attorney's fees to opposing counsel.

The rule does not limit the contempt powers of the appellate court.

Rule 18.12 Accelerated review generally. The appellate court may set any review proceeding for accelerated disposition on the judges' motion calendar. The appellate court clerk will notify the parties of the setting and any orders entered to promote the accelerated disposition under Rules 1.2(c) and 18.8(a). [Amended July 1, 1978; effective July 1, 1978; adopted June 21, 1976; effective July 2, 1976.]

Rule 18.13 Accelerated review of dispositions in juvenile offense proceedings.

(a) Generally. A disposition in a juvenile offense proceeding which is beyond the standard range for that offense may be reviewed in the manner provided in the rules for other decisions or by accelerated review as provided in this rule.

(b) Accelerated Review by Motion. A party seeking accelerated review of the disposition shall do so by motion. The motion must include (1) the name of the party filing the motion; (2) the offense; (3) the disposition of the trial court; (4) the standard range for the offense; (5) a statement of the disposition urged by the moving party; (6) copies of the clerk's papers and a written verbatim report of those portions of the disposition proceeding which are material to the motion; (7) an argument for the relief the party seeks; and (8) a statement of any other issues to be decided in the review proceeding.

(c) Motion Procedure Controls. The motion procedure, including a party's response, is governed by Title 17.

(d) Accelerated Review of Other Issues. The decision of issues other than those relating to the juvenile offense disposition may be accelerated only pursuant to Rules 18.8 and 18.12. [Adopted July 18, 1978, effective July 1, 1978.]

Rule 18.22 Statutes and rules superseded.

(a) Generally. Rule 1.1(g) provides that these rules supersede all statutes and rules covering procedure in the appellate courts, unless a particular rule indicates that statutes control. The statutes and rules superseded by these rules continue to apply to any case pending before the Supreme Court or the Court of Appeals on July 1, 1976.

(b) List of Statutes and Rules. Some, but not necessarily all, of the statutes and rules which are superseded by these rules are listed below. If a listed statute relates to appellate procedure and to some other subject, it is superseded only as it relates to appellate procedure. If a listed statute relates in part to one of these rules which specifies that statutes control, and in part to other rules, the listed statute is superseded only as it relates to the other rules. The rules listed are superseded and no longer effective.

Comment: Rule 18.22 identifies statutes and rules in force on July 1, 1975, which are superseded by these rules. There may be other statutes the Task Force did not find, and statutes enacted since July 1, 1975, in conflict with these rules. If a statute or rule has been overlooked, the question whether or not it is superseded is governed by Rule 1.1.

A statute may be superseded in part and retained in part. Statutes are superseded only as they relate to appellate procedure. Further, a portion of a procedural statute may be retained if a particular rule expressly states that statutes control. For example, RCW 8.04.070 is superseded as to the appropriate method of review but is retained insofar as it specifies the time allowed to seek review. Compare Rules 2.2(a)(4) and 5.2(d).

The intended relationship between these rules and the statutes next discussed deserves clarification.

RCW 24.32.360 is superseded except for that portion which restricts relief available under Rules 8.1 and 8.3.

RCW 46.20.270, staying execution of sentence pending an appeal, is retained.

RCW 48.31.190 restricts relief available under Rules 8.1 and 8.3, and is retained.

RCW 50.32.130 and RCW 51.52.110 affect relief available under Rules 8.1 and 8.3 and are retained except to the extent that the statutory requirements purport to be jurisdictional.

RCW 59.12.200 affects relief available under Rules 8.1 and 8.3, and is retained.

RCW 84.64.120 is superseded as it relates to notice of appeal, but is retained as it affects relief available under Rules 8.1 and 8.3, except to the extent the statutory requirements purport to be jurisdictional.

RCW 85.05.130 is superseded except for the 30-day time limit for seeking review (which, in any event, corresponds to the rules). No position is taken with respect to the statement, "No bonds shall be allowed on such appeals," because the Task Force is unable to determine the meaning of this statement.

RCW 85.06.130 is superseded except for the 30-day time limit for seeking review, (which, in any event, corresponds to the rules). No position is taken with respect to the statement, "No bonds shall be required on such appeals," because the Task Force is unable to determine the meaning of this statement.

RCW 90.03.210 affects relief available under Rules 8.1 and 8.3, and is retained.

RCW 91.04.325 is superseded except for the 30-day time limit for seeking review (which, in any event, corresponds to the rules). No position is taken with respect to the statement "Upon such appeal, no bonds shall be required and no stay shall be allowed," because the Task Force is unable to determine the meaning of this statement.

RCW 10.77.130 relates to the record on review and is superseded.

RCW 10.77.230 relates to appealable orders and judgments, and is superseded.

Rule 18.23 Mail addressed to appellate courts. All briefs and other papers sent to the Supreme Court and the Court of Appeals to be filed in a case should be addressed to the clerk of the appropriate court. [Adopted January 28, 1976, effective July 1, 1976.]

Rule 18.24 Status of comments, references and index. The comments, references and index to these rules have not been adopted by the Supreme Court. The comments, references and index are solely those of the advisory task force on appellate rules. [Adopted January 28, 1976, effective July 1, 1976.]

Note: For form of citations generally, see Sections 71 through 76 of F. Wiener, Briefing and Arguing Federal Appeals (1967).

A. ASSIGNMENTS OF ERROR

Assignments of Error

[Here separately state and number each assignment of error as required by Rule 10.3(a) and (g). For example:

"1. The trial court erred in entering the order of May 12, 1975, denying defendant's motion to vacate the judgment entered on May 1, 1975.

OR

"2. The trial court erred in denying the defendant's motion to suppress evidence by order entered on March 10, 1975."]

Issues Pertaining to Assignments of Error

[Concisely define the legal issues in question form which the appellate court is asked to decide and number each issue. List after each issue the Assignments of Error which pertain to the issue. Proper phrasing of the issues is important. Each issue should be phrased in the terms and circumstances of the case, but without unnecessary detail. The court should be able to determine what the case is about and what specific issues the court will be called upon to decide by merely reading the issues presented for review. For an excellent discussion of how to properly phrase issues, see Sections 31 through 33 of F. Wiener, Briefing and Arguing Federal Appeals (1967).]

[Examples of issues presented for review are: "Does an attorney, without express authority from his client, have implied authority to stipulate to the entry of judgment against his client as a part of a settlement which limits the satisfaction of the judgment to specific property of the client? (Assignment of Error 1.)"

OR

"Defendant was arrested for a traffic offense and held in jail for two days because of outstanding traffic warrants. The police impounded defendant's car and conducted a warrantless 'inventory' search of defendant's car and seized stolen property in the trunk. The impound was not authorized by any ordinance. Did the search and seizure violate defendant's rights under the Fourth and Fourteenth Amendments to the Constitution of the United States and under Article I, Section 7 of the Constitution of the State of Washington? (Assignment of Error 2.)"]

B. STATEMENT OF THE CASE

[Write a statement of the procedure below and the facts relevant to the issues presented for review. The statement should not be argumentative. Every factual statement should be supported by a reference to the record.

See Rule 10.4(f) for proper abbreviations for the record. For a good discussion of this aspect of brief writing, see Wiener, supra, Sections 23 through 28 and 42 through 45.]

C. SUMMARY OF ARGUMENT

[This is optional. For suggestions for preparing a summary of argument, see Wiener, supra, Section 65.]

D. ARGUMENT

[The argument should ordinarily be separately stated under appropriate headings for each issue presented for review. Long arguments should be divided into subheadings. The argument should include citations to legal authority and references to relevant parts of the record. See Wiener, supra, Sections 34 through 36, 38, and 46 through 64.]

A lawsuit has been started against you in the above entitled court by -----, plaintiff. Plaintiff's claim is stated in the written complaint, a copy of which is served upon you with this summons.

In order to defend against this lawsuit, you must respond to the complaint by stating your defense in writing, and serve a copy upon the undersigned attorney for the plaintiff within 20 days after the service of this summons, excluding the day of service, or a default judgment may be entered against you without notice. If you serve a notice of appearance on the undersigned attorney, you are entitled to notice before a default judgment may be entered.

You may demand that the plaintiff file this lawsuit with the court. If you do so, the demand must be in writing and must be served upon the plaintiff. Within 14 days after you serve the demand, the plaintiff must file this lawsuit with the court, or the service on you of this summons and complaint will be void.

If you wish to seek the advice of an attorney in this matter, you should do so promptly so that your written response, if any, may be served on time.

Comment by the Court. Paragraph (1) follows and supersedes RCW 4.28.040. Paragraph (2) follows and supersedes RCW 4.28.050 with minor clarifying changes.

(c) By Whom Served. Service of summons and process, except when service is by publication, shall be by the sheriff of the county wherein the service is made, or by his deputy, or by any person over 18 years of age who is competent to be a witness in the action, other than a party. Subpoenas may be served as provided in Rule 45.

Comment by the Court. Subdivision (c) follows and supersedes RCW 4.28.070.

(d) Service.

(1) Of Summons and Complaint. The summons and complaint shall be served together.

(2) Personal in State. Personal service of summons and other process shall be as provided in RCW 4.28-.080–4.28.090, 23A.08.110, 23A.32.100, 46.64.040, 48-.05.200 and 48.05.210, and other statutes which provide for personal service.

(3) By Publication. Service of summons and other process by publication shall be as provided in RCW 4.28.100 and 4.28.110, 13.04.080, and 26.32.080, and other statutes which provide for service by publication.

(4) Alternative to Service by Publication. In circumstances justifying service by publication, if the serving party files an affidavit stating facts from which the court determines that service by mail is just as likely to give actual notice as service by publication, the court may order that service be made by any person over 18 years of age, who is competent to be a witness, other than a party, by mailing copies of the summons and other process to the party to be served at his last known address or any other address determined by the court to be appropriate. Two copies shall be mailed, postage prepaid, one by ordinary first class mail and the other by a form of mail requiring a signed receipt showing when and to whom it was delivered. The envelopes must bear the return address of the sender. The summons shall contain the date it was deposited in the mail and shall require the defendant to appear and answer the complaint within 90 days from the date of mailing. Service under this subsection has the same jurisdictional effect as service by publication.

(5) Appearance. A voluntary appearance of a defendant does not preclude his right to challenge lack of jurisdiction over his person, insufficiency of process, or insufficiency of service of process pursuant to Rule 12(b).

Comment by the Court. Paragraph (1) supersedes RCW 4.28.060. The rule should be read in connection with Rule 3. Paragraph (4) supersedes the last sentence of RCW 4.28.020.

(e) Other Service.

(1) Generally. Whenever a statute or an order of court thereunder provides for service of a summons, or of a notice, or of an order in lieu of summons upon a party not an inhabitant of or not found within the state, service may be made under the circumstances and in the manner prescribed by the statute or order, or if there is no provision prescribing the manner of service, in a manner prescribed by this rule.

(2) Personal Service Out of State—Generally. [Reserved—See RCW 4.28.180.]

(3) Personal Service Out of State—Acts Submitting Person to Jurisdiction of Courts. [Reserved—See RCW 4.28.185.]

(4) Non-Resident Motorist. [Reserved—See RCW 46.64.040.]

Comment by the Court. Paragraph (1) follows FRCP 4(e) as amended with appropriate changes.

(f) Territorial Limits of Effective Service. All process other than a subpoena may be served anywhere within the territorial limits of the state, and when a statute or these rules so provide beyond the territorial limits of the state. A subpoena may be served within the territorial limits provided in Rule 45 and RCW 5.56.010.

Comment by the Court. Subdivision (f) follows FRCP 4(f) with appropriate changes. This subdivision is similar to the first sentence of RCW 2.08.210.

(g) Return of Service. Proof of service shall be as follows:

(1) If served by the sheriff or his deputy, the return of the sheriff or his deputy indorsed upon or attached to the summons;

(2) If served by any other person, his affidavit of service endorsed upon or attached to the summons; or

(3) If served by publication, the affidavit of the publisher, foreman, principal clerk, or business manager of the newspaper showing the same, together with a printed copy of the summons as published; or

(4) If served as provided in subsection (d)(4), the affidavit of the serving party stating that copies of the summons and other process were sent by mail in accordance with the rule and directions by the court, and stating to whom, and when, the envelopes were mailed.

(5) The written acceptance or admission of the defendant, his agent or attorney;

(6) In case of personal service out of the state, the affidavit of the person making the service, sworn to before a notary public, with a seal attached, or before a clerk of a court of record.

(7) In case of service otherwise than by publication, the return, acceptance, admission, or affidavit must state the time, place, and manner of service. Failure to make proof of service does not affect the validity of the service.

Comment by the Court. Subdivision (g) follows RCW 4.28.310 which is superseded. The last sentence of FRCP 4(g) is added.

(h) Amendment of Process. At any time in its discretion and upon such terms as it deems just, the court may allow any process or proof of service thereof to be amended, unless it clearly appears that material prejudice would result to the substantial rights of the party against whom the process issued.

Comment by the Court. Subdivision (h) is identical to FRCP 4(h).

(i) Alternative Provisions for Service in a Foreign Country.

(1) Manner. When a statute or rule authorizes service upon a party not an inhabitant of or found within the state, and service is to be effected upon the party in a foreign country, it is also sufficient if service of the summons and complaint is made: (A) in the manner prescribed by the law of the foreign country for service in that country in an action in any of its courts of general jurisdiction; or (B) as directed by the foreign authority in response to a letter rogatory, when service in either case is reasonably calculated to give actual notice; or (C) upon an individual, by delivery to him personally, and upon a corporation or partnership or association, by delivery to an officer, a managing or general agent; or (D) by any form of mail, requiring a signed receipt, to be addressed and mailed to the party to be served; or (E) as directed by order of the court. Service under (C) or (E) above may be made by any person who is not a party and is not less than 21 years of age or who is designated by order of the court or by the foreign court.

(2) Return. Proof of service may be made as prescribed by subdivision (g) of this rule, or by the law of the foreign country, or by order of the court. When service is made pursuant to subparagraph (1)(D) of this subdivision, proof of service shall include a receipt signed by the addressee or other evidence of delivery to the addressee satisfactory to the court.

Comment by the Court: Subdivision (i) follows FRCP 4(i).

(j) Other Process. These rules do not exclude the use of other forms of process authorized by law. [Amended July 20, 1978, effective September 1, 1978; amended June 13, 1977, effective July 1, 1977; amended November 29, 1971, effective January 1, 1972; adopted May 5, 1967, effective July 1, 1967.]

Rule 4.1 Process—Domestic relations actions.

(a) Summons—General. Actions authorized by RCW 26.09 shall be commenced by filing a petition. Service of the summons and a copy of the petition shall be made on respondent as provided in Rule 4.

(b) Summons—Content, Form.

(1) Content. The summons shall contain the title of the action, the name of the county and the court in which the action is brought, the names of the parties, as petitioner and respondent, a direction to the respondent to serve a copy of his response on the person who has signed the summons, the time limit within which the copy of the response must be served, notice that failure to serve a copy of the response within the stated time may result in a judgment by default, the signature and address of the petitioner or his attorney, and the date.

(2) Form. The summons in an action for dissolution of marriage shall be substantially in the following form. The summons in any other action authorized by RCW 26.09 should be adapted from this form.

Rule 5 Service and filing of pleadings and other papers.

(a) Service: When required. Except as otherwise provided in these rules, every order required by its terms to be served, every pleading subsequent to the original complaint unless the court otherwise orders because of numerous defendants, every paper relating to discovery required to be served upon a party unless the court otherwise orders, every written motion other than one which may be heard ex parte, and every written notice, appearance, demand, offer of judgment, designation of record on appeal, and similar paper shall be served upon each of the parties. No service need be made on parties in default for failure to appear except that pleadings asserting new or additional claims for relief against them shall be served upon them in the manner provided for service of summons in Rule 4.

In an action begun by seizure of property, in which no person need be or is named as defendant, any service required to be made prior to the filing of an answer, claim, or appearance shall be made upon the person having custody or possession of the property at the time of its seizure.

Comment by the Court. Subdivision (a) follows FRCP 5(a), and supersedes the third sentence of RPPP 8.04W(1).

(b) Service; How Made.

(1) On Attorney or Party. Whenever under these rules service is required or permitted to be made upon a party represented by an attorney the service shall be made upon the attorney unless service upon the party himself is ordered by the court. Service upon the attorney or upon a party shall be made by delivering a copy to him or by mailing it to him at his last known address or, if no address is known, by leaving it with the clerk of the court. Delivery of a copy within this rule means: handing it to the attorney or to the party; or leaving it at his office with his clerk or other person in charge thereof; or, if there is no one in charge, leaving it in a conspicuous place therein; or, if the office is closed or the person to be served has no office, leaving it at his dwelling house or usual place of abode with some person of suitable age and discretion then residing therein.

(2) Service by Mail.

(A) How Made. If service is made by mail, the papers shall be deposited in the post office addressed to the person on whom they are being served, with the postage prepaid. The service shall be deemed complete upon the third day following the day upon which they are placed in the mail, unless the third day falls on a Saturday, Sunday or legal holiday, in which event service shall be deemed complete on the first day other than a Saturday, Sunday or legal holiday, following the third day.

(B) Proof of Service by Mail. Proof of service of all papers permitted to be mailed may be by written acknowledgment of service, by affidavit of the person who mailed the papers, or by certificate of an attorney. The certificate of an attorney may be in form substantially as follows:

CERTIFICATE

I certify that I mailed a copy of the foregoing ----- to [John Smith], [plaintiff's] attorney, at [office address or residence], and to [Joseph Doe], an additional [defendant's] attorney [or attorneys] at [office address or residence], postage prepaid, on [date].

[John Brown], Attorney for [Defendant] William Noe

(3) Service on Non-Residents. Where a plaintiff or defendant who has appeared resides outside the state and has no attorney in the action, the service may be made by mail if his residence is known; if not known, on the clerk of court for him. Where a party, whether resident or non-resident, has an attorney in the action, the service of papers shall be upon the attorney instead of the party. If the attorney does not have an office within the state or has removed his residence from the state, the service may be upon him personally either within or without the state, or by mail to him at either his place of residence or his office, if either is known, and if not known, then by mail upon the party, if his residence is known, whether within or without the state. If the residence of neither the party nor his attorney, nor the office address of the attorney is known, the service may be upon the clerk of court for the attorney.

Comment by the Court. Paragraphs (1) and (2) supersede RCW 4.28.240, 4.28.250, 4.28.260 and 4.28.280. Paragraph (3) is similar to and supersedes RCW 4.28.270.

(c) Service; Numerous Defendants. In any action in which there are unusually large numbers of defendants, the court, upon motion or of its own initiative, may order that service of the pleadings of the defendants and replies thereto need not be made as between the defendants and that any cross-claim, counterclaim, or matter constituting an avoidance or affirmative defense contained therein shall be deemed to be denied or avoided by all other parties and that the filing of any such pleading and service thereof upon the plaintiff constitutes due notice of it to the parties. A copy of every such order shall be served upon the parties in such manner and form as the court directs.

Comment by the Court. Subdivision (c) is identical to FRCP 5(c).

(d) Filing.

(1) Time. Complaints shall be filed as provided in Rule 3(a). All pleadings and other papers after the complaint required to be served upon a party shall be filed with the court either before service or promptly thereafter.

(2) Sanctions. The effect of failing to file a complaint is governed by Rule 3. If a party fails to file any other pleading or paper under this rule, the court upon 5 days' notice of motion for sanctions may dismiss the action or strike the pleading or other paper and grant judgment against the defaulting party for costs and terms including a reasonable attorney fee unless good cause is shown for, or justice requires, the granting of an extension of time.

(3) Limitation. No sanction shall be imposed if prior to the hearing the pleading or paper other than the complaint is filed and the moving attorney is notified of the filing before he leaves his office for the hearing.

(4) Non-Payment. No further action shall be taken in the pending action and no subsequent pleading or other paper shall be filed until the judgment is paid. No subsequent action shall be commenced upon the same subject matter until the judgment has been paid.

Comment by the Court. Subdivision (d) supersedes RPPP 8.04W(2) and RCW 4.32.260.

(e) Filing with the Court Defined. The filing of pleadings and other papers with the court as required by these rules shall be made by filing them with the clerk of the court, except that the judge may permit the papers to be filed with him, in which event he shall note thereon the filing date and forthwith transmit them to the office of the clerk.

Comment by the Court. Subdivision (e) is identical to FRCP 5(e) as amended.

(f) Other Methods of Service. Service of all papers other than the summons and other process may also be made as authorized by statutes other than RCW 4.28-.230, 4.28.240, 4.28.250, 4.28.260, 4.28.270, and 4.28-.280, which are superseded by these rules.

(g) Certified Mail. Whenever the use of "registered" mail is authorized by statutes relating to judicial proceedings or by rule of court, "certified" mail, with return receipt requested, may be used.

Comment by the Court. Subdivision (g) is similar to and supersedes RPPP 5.04W.

(h) Service of Papers by Telegraph. Any writ or order in any civil suit or proceeding, and all the papers requiring service, may be transmitted by telegraph for service in any place, and the telegraphic copy of such writ or order or paper so transmitted may be served or executed by the officer or person to whom it is sent for that purpose, and returned by him, if any return be requisite, in the same manner, and with the same force and effect, in all respects, as the original thereof might be, if delivered to him, and the officer or person serving or executing the same shall have the same authority and be subject to the same liabilities as if the said copy were the original. The original, when a writ or order, shall also be filed in the court from which it was issued, and a certified copy thereof shall be preserved in the telegraph office from which it was sent. In sending it, either the original or certified copy may be used by the operator for that purpose. [Amended July 20, 1978, effective September 1, 1978; amended May 26, 1972, effective July 1, 1972; adopted May 5, 1967, effective July 1, 1967.]

Comment by the Court. Subdivision (h) follows and supersedes RCW 4.28.300. For Statutes relating to Telegraphic Communications, see RCW 5.52.

Rule 6 Time.

(a) Computation. In computing any period of time prescribed or allowed by these rules, by the local rules of any superior court, by order of court, or by any applicable statute, the day of the act, event, or default from which the designated period of time begins to run shall not be included. The last day of the period so computed shall be included, unless it is a Saturday, a Sunday or a legal holiday, in which event the period runs until the end of the next day which is neither a Saturday, a Sunday nor a legal holiday. Legal holidays are prescribed in RCW 1.16.050. When the period of time prescribed or allowed is less than 7 days, intermediate Saturdays, Sundays and legal holidays shall be excluded in the computation.

(b) Enlargement. When by these rules or by a notice given thereunder or by order of court an act is required or allowed to be done at or within a specified time, the court for cause shown may at any time in its discretion, (1) with or without motion or notice, order the period enlarged if request therefor is made before the expiration of the period originally prescribed or as extended by a previous order or, (2) upon motion made after the expiration of the specified period, permit the act to be done where the failure to act was the result of excusable neglect; but it may not extend the time for taking any action under Rules 50(b), 52(b), 59(b), 59(d), and 60(b).

Comment by the Court. Subdivision (b) follows FRCP 6(b). RCW 4.32.250 is a related statutory provision. See also RCW 4.32.240.

(c) Proceeding Not to Fail for Want of Judge or Session of Court. No proceeding in a court of justice in any action, suit, or proceeding pending therein, is affected by a vacancy in the office of any or all of the judges or by the failure of a session of the court.

Comment by the Court. Subdivision (c) is identical to and supersedes RCW 2.28.130.

(d) For Motions—Affidavits. A written motion, other than one which may be heard ex parte, and notice of the hearing thereof shall be served not later than 5 days before the time specified for the hearing, unless a different period is fixed by these rules or by order of the court. Such an order may for cause shown be made on ex parte application. When a motion is supported by affidavit, the affidavit shall be served with the motion; and, except as otherwise provided in Rule 59(c), opposing affidavits may be served not later than 1 day before the hearing, unless the court permits them to be served at some other time.

Comment by the Court. Subdivision (d) is identical to FRCP 6(d) which supersedes subdivision (1) of RPPP 8.08W. See also Rule 43(e)(2).

(e) Additional Time After Service by Mail. Whenever a party has the right or is required to do some act or take some proceedings within a prescribed period after the service of a notice or other paper upon him and the notice or paper is served upon him by mail, 3 days shall be added to the prescribed period. [Adopted May 5, 1967, amended June 28, 1967, effective July 1, 1967.]

Comment by the Court. Subdivision (e) is identical with FRCP 6(e).

Comment by the Court. Rule 7 alone, or Rule 7 combined with various other rules, supersedes RCW 4.32.020, 4.32.030, 4.32.010 (by Rules 7 through 15), 4.32.050 (by Rules 7 and 12), 4.32.060 (by Rules 7 and 12), 4.32.180 (by Rules 7 and 12), 4.32.190 (by Rules 7 and 12), 4.32.200 (by Rules 7 and 12), 4.32.210 (by Rules 7 and 8), 4.32.220 (by Rules 7 and 12), 4.40.020 (by Rules 7, 12, and 56), 4.40.030 (by Rules 7, 8, 12 and 56) and 4.56.180 (by Rules 7 and 12). In addition, Rule 7 modifies or supersedes the following statutes insofar as they relate to demurrers: RCW 2.08.190, 2.08.200, 4.16.010, 4.28.210, 4.36.010, 4.56.020.

Rule 8 General rules of pleading.

(a) Claims for Relief. A pleading which sets forth a claim for relief, whether an original claim, counterclaim, cross-claim, or third-party claim, shall contain (1) a short and plain statement of the claim showing that the pleader is entitled to relief and (2) a demand for judgment for the relief to which he deems himself entitled. Relief in the alternative or of several different types may be demanded.

(b) Defenses; Form of Denials. A party shall state in short and plain terms his defenses to each claim asserted and shall admit or deny the averments upon which the adverse party relies. If he is without knowledge or information sufficient to form a belief as to the truth of an averment, he shall so state and this has the effect of a denial. Denials shall fairly meet the substance of the averments denied. When a pleader intends in good faith to deny only a part or a qualification of an averment, he shall specify so much of it as is true and material and shall deny only the remainder. Unless the pleader intends in good faith to controvert all the averments of the preceding pleading, he may make his denials as specific denials of designated averments or paragraphs, or he may generally deny all the averments except such designated averments or paragraphs as he expressly admits; but, when he does so intend to controvert all its averments, he may do so by general denial subject to the obligations set forth in Rule 11.

(c) Affirmative Defenses. In pleading to a preceding pleading, a party shall set forth affirmatively accord and satisfaction, arbitration and award, assumption of risk, contributory negligence, discharge in bankruptcy, duress, estoppel, failure of consideration, fraud, illegality, injury by fellow servant, laches, license, payment, release, res judicata, statute of frauds, statute of limitations, waiver, and any other matter constituting an avoidance or affirmative defense. When a party has mistakenly designated a defense as a counterclaim or a counterclaim as a defense, the court on terms, if justice so requires, shall treat the pleading as if there had been a proper designation.

(d) Effect of Failure to Deny. Averments in a pleading to which a responsive pleading is required, other than those as to the amount of damage, are admitted when not denied in the responsive pleading. Averments in a pleading to which no responsive pleading is required or permitted shall be taken as denied or avoided.

(e) Pleading to Be Concise and Direct; Consistency.

(1) Each averment of a pleading shall be simple, concise and direct. No technical forms of pleadings or motions are required.

(2) A party may set forth two or more statements of a claim or defense alternately or hypothetically, either in one count or defense or in separate counts or defenses. When two or more statements are made in the alternative and one of them if made independently would be sufficient, the pleading is not made insufficient by the insufficiency of one or more of the alternative statements. A party may also state as many separate claims or defenses as he has regardless of consistency and whether based on legal or on equitable grounds or on both. All statements shall be made subject to the obligations set forth in Rule 11.

(f) Construction of Pleadings. All pleadings shall be so construed as to do substantial justice.

The adoption of this rule shall not be considered an adoption or approval of the forms of pleading in the Appendix of Forms approved in Rule 84, Federal Rules of Civil Procedure. [Adopted May 5, 1967, effective July 1, 1967. Prior: RPPP Rule 8.]

Comment by the Court. Rule 8 combined with other rules supersedes RCW 4.36.050, 4.32.050 (by Rules 8 and 10), 4.32.080 (by Rules 8, 12 and 13), 4.32.090 (by Rules 8, 10, 12 and 13), 4.36.040 (by Rules 8 and 12), and 4.36.160 (by Rules 8 and 12). In addition, the following statutes are modified or superseded in part by Rule 8: RCW 4.16.010 (and by Rules 7, 12, and 56), 4.36.120, 4.36.220 (and by Rule 12). See also comment at the end of Rule 7 for statutes superseded by Rule 8 and other rules.

Rule 9 Pleading special matters.

(a) Capacity. It is not necessary to aver the capacity of a party to sue or be sued or the authority of a party to sue or be sued in a representative capacity or the legal existence of an organized association of persons that is made a party. When a party desires to raise an issue as to the legal existence of any party or the capacity of any party to sue or be sued or the authority of a party to sue or be sued in a representative capacity, he shall do so by specific negative averment which shall include such supporting particulars as are peculiarly within the pleader's knowledge.

(b) Fraud, Mistake, Condition of the Mind. In all averments of fraud or mistake, the circumstances constituting fraud or mistake shall be stated with particularity. Malice, intent, knowledge, and other condition of mind of a person may be averred generally.

(c) Condition Precedent. In pleading the performance or occurrence of conditions precedent, it is sufficient to aver generally that all conditions precedent have been performed or have occurred. A denial of performance or occurrence shall be made specifically and with particularity.

Comment by the Court. Subdivision (c) supersedes RCW 4.36.080 insofar as the statute governs pleading but not to the extent that the statute specifies which party shall have the burden of proof.

(d) Official Document or Act. In pleading an official document or official act, it is sufficient to aver that the document was issued or the act done in compliance with law.

(e) Judgment. In pleading a judgment or decision of a domestic or foreign court, judicial or quasi-judicial tribunal, or of a board or officer, it is sufficient to aver the judgment or decision without setting forth matter showing jurisdiction to render it.

Comment by the Court. Subdivision (e) supersedes RCW 4.36.070 insofar as the statute governs pleading but not to the extent that it specifies which party shall have the burden of proof.

(f) Time and Place. For the purpose of testing the sufficiency of a pleading, averments of time and place are material and shall be considered like all other averments of material matter.

(g) Special Damage. When items of special damage are claimed, they shall be specifically stated.

(h) Pleading Existence of City or Town. In pleading the existence of any city or town in this state, it shall be sufficient to state in such pleading that the same is an existing city or town, incorporated or organized under the laws of Washington.

Comment by the Court. Subdivision (h) is identical to and supersedes RCW 4.36.100.

(i) Pleading Ordinance. In pleading any ordinance of a city or town in this state it shall be sufficient to state the title of such ordinance and the date of its passage, whereupon the court shall take judicial notice of the existence of such ordinance and the tenor and effect thereof.

Comment by the Court. Subdivision (i) follows and supersedes RCW 4.36.110.

(j) Pleading Private Statutes. In pleading a private statute, or a right derived therefrom, it shall be sufficient to refer to such statute by its title, and the day of its passage, and the court shall thereupon take judicial notice thereof.

Comment by the Court. Subdivision (j) is identical to and supersedes RCW 4.36.090.

(k) Foreign Law. [Reserved—See RCW 5.24.010 through 5.24.070.]

(l) Burden of Proof. Nothing in this rule shall be construed to shift or alter the burden of proof. [Adopted May 5, 1967, effective July 1, 1967. Prior: RPPP Rule 9.]

Rule 10 Form of pleadings and other papers.

(a) Caption. Every pleading shall contain a caption setting forth the name of the court, the title of the action, the file number if known to the person signing it, and an identification as to the nature of the pleading or other paper.

(1) Names of Parties. In the complaint the title of the action shall include the names of all the parties, but in other pleadings it is sufficient to state the name of the first party on each side with an appropriate indication of other parties.

(2) Unknown Names. When the plaintiff is ignorant of the name of the defendant, it shall be so stated in his pleading, and such defendant may be designated in any pleading or proceeding by any name, and when his true name shall be discovered, the pleading or proceeding may be amended accordingly.

(3) Unknown Heirs. When the heirs of any deceased person are proper parties defendant to any action relating to real property in this state, and when the names and residences of such heirs are unknown, such heirs may be proceeded against under the name and title of the "unknown heirs" of the deceased. In any action brought to determine any adverse claim, estate, lien, or interest in real property, or to quiet title to real property, unknown parties shall be designated as "also all other persons or parties unknown claiming any right, title, estate, lien, or interest in the real estate described in the complaint herein."

Comment by the Court. Subdivision (a) is similar to former FRCP 10(a) and former RPPP 10(a) except for insertion of headings. See, also, RCW 4.28.140. RCW 4.28.130 is superseded.

(b) Paragraphs; Separate Statements. All averments of claim or defense shall be made in numbered paragraphs, the contents of each of which shall be limited as far as practicable to a statement of a single set of circumstances; and a paragraph may be referred to by number in all succeeding pleadings. Each claim founded upon a separate transaction or occurrence, and each defense other than denials, shall be stated in a separate count or defense whenever a separation facilitates the clear presentation of the matters set forth.

(c) Adoption by Reference; Exhibits. Statements in a pleading may be adopted by reference in a different part of the same pleading or in another pleading or in any motion. A copy of any written instrument which is an exhibit to a pleading is a part thereof for all purposes.

(d) Paper Size. All pleadings, motions, and other papers shall be plainly written or printed, and the use of letter-size paper (8 1/2 x 11 inches) is optional.

Comment by the Court. Use of letter size paper for jury instructions is mandatory. See CR Rule 51(c).

(e) Format Recommendations. It is recommended that all pleadings and other papers include or provide for the following:

(2) Title. All pleadings under the space under the docket number should contain a title indicating their purpose and party presenting them. For example:

USE	DO NOT USE
Complaint for Divorce	Complaint
Defendant's Motion for Support, Etc.	Motion
Order for Support	Order
Plaintiff's Trial Brief	Trial Brief

(3) Bottom Notation. At the left side of the bottom of each page of all pleadings and other papers an abbreviated name of the pleading or other paper should be repeated, followed by the page number. At the right side of the bottom of the first page of each pleading or other paper the name, mailing address and telephone number of the attorney or firm preparing the paper should be printed or typed.

(4) Typed Names. The name of all persons signing a pleading or other paper should be typed under his signature.

(5) Headings and Subheadings. Headings and subheadings should be used for all paragraphs which shall be numbered with Roman and/or Arabic numerals.

(6) Numbered Paper. Use numbered paper. [Adopted May 5, 1967, amended June 28, 1967, effective July 1, 1967. Prior: 10(a) through 10(c), RPPP Rule 10; 10(e), RPPP Rule 8.04(1) 1st and 2nd sentences.]

Comment by the Court. Rule 10 supersedes RCW 4.36.230. See, also, comment at the end of Rule 8 for additional statutes superseded by Rule 10 and other rules.

Rule 11 Signing of pleadings. Every pleading of a party represented by an attorney shall be dated and signed by at least one attorney of record in his individual name, whose address shall be stated. A party who is not represented by an attorney shall sign and date his pleading and state his address. Petitions for dissolution of marriage, separation, declarations concerning the validity of a marriage, custody, and modification of decrees issued as a result of any of the foregoing petitions shall be verified. Other pleadings need not, but may be, verified or accompanied by affidavit. The signature of a party or of an attorney constitutes a certificate by him that he has read the pleading; that to the best of his knowledge, information, and belief there is good ground to support it; and that it is not interposed for delay. If a pleading is not signed or is signed with intent to defeat the purpose of this rule, it may be stricken as sham and false and the action may proceed as though the pleading had not been served. For a wilful violation of this rule an attorney may be subjected to appropriate action as for contempt. Similar action may be taken if scandalous or indecent matter is inserted. [Amended December 7, 1973, effective January 1, 1974; adopted May 5, 1967, effective July 1, 1967. Prior: RPPP Rule 11.]

Comment by the Court. The rule supersedes RCW 4.36.010, 4.36.020 and 4.36.030.

Rule 12 Defenses and objections.

(a) When Presented. A defendant shall serve his answer within the following periods:

(1) within 20 days, exclusive of the day of service, after the service of the summons and complaint upon him pursuant to Rule 4;

(2) within 20 days, exclusive of the day of service, after the service of the summons without the complaint upon him pursuant to Rule 4(d), if he fails to appear within 10 days after such service of summons;

(3) within 10 days after the service of the complaint upon him or his attorney where the defendant has appeared after service of summons and the complaint has been served in accordance with Rule 4(d);

(4) within 60 days from the date of the first publication of the summons if the summons is served by publication in accordance with Rule 4(d)(3);

(5) within 60 days after the service of the summons upon him if the summons is served upon him personally out of the state in accordance with RCW 4.28.180 and 4.28.185 or on the Secretary of State as provided by RCW 46.64.040;

(6) within the period fixed by any other applicable statutes or rules.

A party served with a pleading stating a cross-claim against him shall serve an answer thereto within 20 days after the service upon him. The plaintiff shall serve his reply to a counterclaim in the answer within 20 days after service of the answer or, if a reply is ordered by the court, within 20 days after service of the order, unless the order otherwise directs. The service of a motion permitted under this rule alters these periods of time as follows, unless a different time is fixed by order of the court:

(A) if the court denies the motion or postpones its disposition until the trial on the merits, the responsive pleading shall be served within 10 days after notice of the court's action.

(B) if the court grants a motion for a more definite statement, the responsive pleading shall be served within 10 days after the service of the more definite statement.

Comment by the Court. Subdivision (a) follows RPPP 12(a) except that references to statutes have been deleted and cross references to comparable new rules have been inserted.

(b) How Presented. Every defense, in law or fact, to a claim for relief in any pleading, whether a claim, counterclaim, cross-claim, or third-party claim, shall be asserted in the responsive pleading thereto if one is required, except that the following defenses may at the option of the pleader be made by motion: (1) lack of jurisdiction over the subject matter, (2) lack of jurisdiction over the person, (3) improper venue, (4) insufficiency of process, (5) insufficiency of service of process, (6) failure to state a claim upon which relief can be granted, (7) failure to join a party under Rule 19. A motion making any of these defenses shall be made before pleading if a further pleading is permitted. No defense or objection is waived by being joined with one or more other defenses or objections in a responsive pleading or motion. If a pleading sets forth a claim for relief to which the adverse party is not required to serve a responsive pleading, he may assert at the trial any defense in law or fact to that claim for relief. If, on a motion asserting the defense numbered (6) to dismiss for failure of the pleading to state a claim upon which relief can be granted, matters outside the pleading are presented to and not excluded by the court, the motion shall be treated as one for summary judgment and disposed of as provided in Rule 56, and all parties shall be given reasonable opportunity to present all material made pertinent to such a motion by Rule 56.

(c) Motion for Judgment on the Pleadings. After the pleadings are closed but within such time as not to delay the trial, any party may move for judgment on the pleadings. If, on a motion for judgment on the pleadings, matters outside the pleadings are presented to and not excluded by the court, the motion shall be treated as one for summary judgment and disposed of as provided in Rule 56, and all parties shall be given reasonable opportunity to present all material made pertinent to such a motion by Rule 56.

(d) Preliminary Hearings. The defenses specifically enumerated (1)–(7) in subdivision (b) of this rule, whether made in a pleading or by motion, and the motion for judgment mentioned in subdivision (c) of this rule shall be heard and determined before trial on application of any party, unless the court orders that the hearing and determination thereof be deferred until the trial.

Comment by the Court. Subdivision (d) follows FRCP 12(d).

(e) Motion for More Definite Statement. If a pleading to which a responsive pleading is permitted is so vague or ambiguous that a party cannot reasonably be required to frame a responsive pleading, or if more particularity in that pleading will further the efficient economical disposition of the action, he may move for a more definite statement before interposing his responsive pleading. The motion shall point out the defects complained of and the details desired. If the motion is granted and the order of the court is not obeyed within 10 days after the notice of the order or within such other time as the court may fix, the court may strike the pleading to which the motion was directed or make such order as it deems just.

Comment by the Court. Subdivision (e) supersedes RCW 4.36.060.

(f) Motion to Strike. Upon motion made by a party before responding to a pleading or, if no responsive pleading is permitted by these rules, upon motion made by a party within 20 days after the service of the pleading upon him or upon the court's own initiative at any time, the court may order stricken from any pleading any insufficient defense or any redundant, immaterial, impertinent, or scandalous matter.

(g) Consolidation of Defenses in Motion. A party who makes a motion under this rule may join with it any other motions herein provided for and then available to him. If a party makes a motion under this rule but omits therefrom any defense or objection then available to him which this rule permits to be raised by motion, he shall not thereafter make a motion based on the defense or objection so omitted, except a motion as provided in subdivision (h)(2) hereof on any of the grounds there stated.

(h) Waiver or Preservation of Certain Defenses.

(1) A defense of lack of jurisdiction over the person, improper venue, insufficiency of process, or insufficiency of service of process is waived (A) if omitted from a motion in the circumstances described in subdivision (g), or (B) if it is neither made by motion under this rule nor included in a responsive pleading or an amendment thereof permitted by Rule 15(a) to be made as a matter of course.

(2) A defense of failure to state a claim upon which relief can be granted, a defense of failure to join a party indispensable under Rule 19, and an objection of failure to state a legal defense to a claim may be made in any pleading permitted or ordered under Rule 7(a), or by motion for judgment on the pleadings, or at the trial on the merits.

(3) Whenever it appears by suggestion of the parties or otherwise that the court lacks jurisdiction of the subject matter, the court shall dismiss the action. [Subdivision (a)(5) amended November 29, 1971, effective January 1, 1972; adopted May 5, 1967, effective July 1, 1967. Prior: RPPP Rule 12.]

Rule 13 Counterclaim and cross-claim.

(a) Compulsory Counterclaims. A pleading shall state as a counterclaim any claim which at the time of serving the pleading the pleader has against any opposing party, if it arises out of the transaction or occurrence that is the subject matter of the opposing party's claim and does not require for its adjudication the presence of third parties of whom the court cannot acquire jurisdiction. But the pleader need not state the claim if (1) at the time the action was commenced the claim was the subject of another pending action, or (2) the opposing party brought suit upon his claim by attachment or other process by which the court did not acquire jurisdiction to render a personal judgment on that claim, and the pleader is not stating any counterclaim under this Rule 13.

(b) Permissive Counterclaims. A pleading may state as a counterclaim any claim against an opposing party not arising out of the transaction or occurrence that is the subject matter of the opposing party's claim.

(c) Counterclaim Exceeding Opposing Claim. A counterclaim may or may not diminish or defeat the recovery sought by the opposing party. It may claim relief exceeding in amount or different in kind from that sought in the pleading of the opposing party.

(d) Counterclaim Against the State. These rules shall not be construed to enlarge beyond the limits now fixed by law the right to assert counterclaims, or to claim credits against the state or an officer or agency thereof.

(e) Counterclaim Maturing or Acquired After Pleading. A claim which either matured or was acquired by the pleader after serving his pleading may, with the permission of the court, be presented as a counterclaim by supplemental pleading.

(f) Omitted Counterclaim. When a pleader fails to set up a counterclaim through oversight, inadvertence, or excusable neglect, or when justice requires, he may by leave of court set up the counterclaim by amendment.

(g) Cross-Claim Against Co-Party. A pleading may state as a cross-claim any claim by one party against a co-party arising out of the transaction or occurrence that is the subject matter either of the original action or of a counterclaim therein or relating to any property that is the subject matter of the original action. Such cross-claim may include a claim that the party against whom it is asserted is or may be liable to the cross-claimant for all or part of a claim asserted in the action against the cross-claimant.

(h) Joinder of Additional Parties. Persons other than those made parties to the original action may be made parties to a counterclaim or cross-claim in accordance with the provisions of Rules 19 and 20.

(i) Separate Trials; Separate Judgment. If the court orders separate trials as provided in Rule 42(b), judgment on a counterclaim or cross-claim may be rendered in accordance with the terms of Rule 54(b), even if the claims of the opposing party have been dismissed or otherwise disposed of.

(j) Setoff Against Assignee. The defendant in a civil action upon a contract express or implied, other than upon a negotiable promissory note or bill of exchange, negotiated in good faith and without notice before due, which has been assigned to the plaintiff, may set off a demand of a like nature existing against the person to whom he was originally liable, or any assignee prior to the plaintiff, of such contract, provided such demand existed at the time of the assignment thereof, and belonging to the defendant in good faith, before notice of such assignment, and was such a demand as might have been set off against such person to whom he was originally liable, or such assignee while the contract belonged to him.

Comment by the Court. Subdivision (j) is a revision of RCW 4.32.110. RCW 4.32.110 is superseded.

(k) Other Setoff Rules. [Reserved—See RCW 4.32-.120 through 4.32.150 and RCW 4.56.050 through 4.56.075.] [Adopted May 5, 1967, effective July 1, 1967. Prior: RPPP Rule 13.]

Comment by the Court. In addition to RCW 4.32.110 mentioned above, Rule 13 supersedes RCW 4.32.100. For statutes superseded by Rule 13 and other rules, see comment at the end of Rule 8. Rule 13 modifies or supersedes the following statutes in part: RCW 4.56.060, 4.56.070 and 4.56.075.

Rule 14 Third-party practice.

(a) When Defendant May Bring in Third Party. At any time after commencement of the action a defending party, as a third-party plaintiff, may cause a summons and complaint to be served upon a person not a party to the action who is or may be liable to him for all or part of the plaintiff's claim against him. The third-party plaintiff need not obtain leave to make the service if he files the third-party complaint not later than 10 days after he serves his original answer. Otherwise he must obtain leave on motion upon notice to all parties to the action. The person served with the summons and third-party complaint, hereinafter called the third-party defendant, shall make his defenses to the third-party plaintiff's claim as provided in Rule 12 and his counterclaims against the third-party plaintiff and cross-claims against other third-party defendants as provided in Rule 13. The third-party defendant may assert against the plaintiff any defenses which the third-party plaintiff has to the plaintiff's claim. The third-party defendant may also assert claim against the plaintiff arising out of the transaction or occurrence that is the subject matter of the plaintiff's claim against the third-party plaintiff. The plaintiff may assert any claim against the third-party defendant arising out of the transaction or occurrence that is the subject matter of the plaintiff's claim against the third-party plaintiff, and the third-party defendant thereupon shall assert his defenses as provided in Rule 12 and his counterclaims and cross-claims as provided in Rule 13. Any party may move to strike the third-party claim, or for its severance or separate trial. A third-party defendant may proceed under this rule against any person not a party to the action who is or may be liable to him for all or part of the claim made in the action against the third-party defendant.

(b) When Plaintiff May Bring in Third Party. When a counterclaim is asserted against a plaintiff, he may cause a third party to be brought in under circumstances which under this rule would entitle a defendant to do so.

(c) Tort Cases. This rule shall not be applied in tort cases, to permit the joinder of a liability or indemnity insurance company, unless such company is by statute or contract directly liable to the person injured or damaged. [Adopted May 5, 1967, effective July 1, 1967. Prior: RPPP Rule 14.]

Rule 15 Amended and supplemental pleadings.

(a) Amendments. A party may amend his pleading once as a matter of course at any time before a responsive pleading is served, or, if the pleading is one to which no responsive pleading is permitted and the action has not been placed upon the trial calendar, he may so amend it at any time within 20 days after it is served. Otherwise, a party may amend his pleading only by leave of court or by written consent of the adverse party; and leave shall be freely given when justice so requires. A party shall plead in response to an amended pleading within the time remaining for response to the original pleading or within 10 days after service of the amended pleading, whichever period may be the longer, unless the court otherwise orders.

(b) Amendments to Conform to the Evidence. When issues not raised by the pleadings are tried by express or implied consent of the parties, they shall be treated in all respects as if they had been raised in the pleadings. Such amendment of the pleadings as may be necessary to cause them to conform to the evidence and to raise these issues may be made upon motion of any party at any time, even after judgment; but failure so to amend does not affect the result of the trial of these issues. If evidence is objected to at the trial on the ground that it is not within the issues made by the pleadings, the court may allow the pleadings to be amended and shall do so freely when the presentation of the merits of the action will be subverted thereby and the objecting party fails to satisfy the court that the admission of such evidence would prejudice him in maintaining his action or defense upon the merits. The court may grant a continuance to enable the objecting party to meet such evidence.

(c) Relation Back of Amendments. Whenever the claim or defense asserted in the amended pleading arose out of the conduct, transaction, or occurrence set forth or attempted to be set forth in the original pleading, the amendment relates back to the date of the original pleading. An amendment changing the party against whom a claim is asserted relates back if the foregoing provision is satisfied and, within the period provided by law for commencing the action against him, the party to be brought in by amendment (1) has received such notice of the institution of the action that he will not be prejudiced in maintaining his defense on the merits, and (2) knew or should have known that, but for a mistake concerning the identity of the proper party, the action would have been brought against him.

(d) Supplemental Pleadings. Upon motion of a party the court may, upon reasonable notice and upon such terms as are just, permit him to serve a supplemental pleading setting forth transactions or occurrences or events which have happened since the date of the pleading sought to be supplemented. Permission may be granted even though the original pleading is defective in its statement of a claim for relief or defense. If the court deems it advisable that the adverse party plead to the supplemental pleading, it shall so order, specifying the time therefor.

(e) Interlineations. No amendments shall be made to any pleading by erasing or adding words to the original on file, without first obtaining leave of court. [Adopted May 5, 1967, effective July 1, 1967.]

Comment by the Court. Subdivision (e) follows and supersedes RPPP 15.04W. Rule 15 supersedes RCW 4.32.160, 4.32.240 (and by Rules 6 and 60), 4.36.190, and 4.36.250.

Rule 16 Pre-trial procedure and formulating issues.

(a) Hearing Matters Considered. By order, or on the motion of any party, the court may in its discretion direct the attorneys for the parties to appear before it for a conference to consider:

- (1) The simplification of the issues;
- (2) The necessity or desirability of amendments to the pleadings;
- (3) The possibility of obtaining admissions of fact and of documents which will avoid unnecessary proof;
- (4) The limitation of the number of expert witnesses;

(5) Such other matters as may aid in the disposition of the action.

(b) Pre-Trial Order. The court shall make an order which recites the action taken at the conference, the amendments allowed to the pleadings, and the agreements made by the parties as to any of the matters considered, and which limits the issues for trial to those not disposed of by admissions or agreements of counsel; and such order when entered controls the subsequent course of the action, unless modified at the trial to prevent manifest injustice. The court in its discretion may establish by rule a pre-trial calendar on which actions may be placed for consideration as above provided and may either confine the calendar to jury actions or to nonjury actions or extend it to all actions. [Adopted May 5, 1967, effective July 1, 1967.]

Comment by the Court. Subdivision (b) is identical to the last paragraph of FRCP 16 except for the addition of the subheading.

Rule 17 Parties plaintiff and defendant; capacity.

(-) Designation of Parties. The party commencing the action shall be known as the plaintiff, and the opposite party as the defendant.

Comment by the Court. Subdivision (-) is identical to and supersedes RCW 4.04.030.

(a) Real Party in Interest. Every action shall be prosecuted in the name of the real party in interest. An executor, administrator, guardian, bailee, trustee of an express trust, a party with whom or in whose name a contract has been made for the benefit of another, or a party authorized by statute may sue in his own name without joining with him the party for whose benefit the action is brought. No action shall be dismissed on the ground that it is not prosecuted in the name of the real party in interest until a reasonable time has been allowed after objection for ratification of commencement of the action by, or joinder or substitution of, the real party in interest; and such ratification, joinder, or substitution shall have the same effect as if the action had been commenced in the name of the real party in interest.

(b) Capacity to Sue or Be Sued. [Reserved]

Comment by the Court. For pleading capacity see Rule 9(a).

(c) Infants, or Incompetent Persons.

(1) Scope. Generally this rule does not affect statutes and rules concerning the capacity of infants and incompetents to sue or be sued.

(2) Guardian Ad Litem for Infant. [Reserved—See RCW 4.08.050.]

(2) Actions Against. [Reserved—See RCW 4.08.120.]

(f) Tort Actions Against State. [Reserved—See RCW 4.92.] [Adopted May 5, 1967, effective July 1, 1967. Prior: RPPP Rule 17.]

Rule 18 Joinder of claims and remedies.

(a) Joinder of Claims. A party asserting a claim to relief as an original claim, counterclaim, cross-claim, or third-party claim, may join, either as independent or as alternate claims, as many claims, legal, equitable, or maritime, as he has against an opposing party.

(b) Joinder of Remedies; Fraudulent Conveyances. Whenever a claim is one heretofore cognizable only after another claim has been prosecuted to a conclusion, the two claims may be joined in a single action; but the court shall grant relief in that action only in accordance with the relative substantive rights of the parties. In particular, a plaintiff may state a claim for money and a claim to have set aside a conveyance fraudulent as to him, without first having obtained a judgment establishing the claim for money. [Adopted May 5, 1967, effective July 1, 1967. Prior: RPPP Rule 18.]

Comment by the Court. Rule 18 supersedes RCW 4.36.150.

Rule 19 Joinder of persons needed for just adjudication.

(a) Persons to Be Joined If Feasible. A person who is subject to service of process and whose joinder will not deprive the court of jurisdiction over the subject matter of the action shall be joined as a party in the action if (1) in his absence complete relief cannot be accorded among those already parties, or (2) he claims an interest relating to the subject of the action and is so situated that the disposition of the action in his absence may (A) as a practical matter impair or impede his ability to protect that interest or (B) leave any of the persons already parties subject to a substantial risk of incurring double, multiple, or otherwise inconsistent obligations by reason of his claimed interest. If he has not been so joined, the court shall order that he be made a party. If he should join as a plaintiff but refuses to do so, he may be made a defendant, or, in a proper case, an involuntary plaintiff. If the joined party objects to venue and his joinder would render the venue of the action improper, he shall be dismissed from the action.

(b) Determination by Court Whenever Joinder Not Feasible. If a person joinable under (1) or (2) of subdivision (a) hereof cannot be made a party, the court shall determine whether in equity and good conscience the action should proceed among the parties before it, or should be dismissed, the absent person being thus regarded as indispensable. The factors to be considered by the court include: (1) to what extent a judgment rendered in the person's absence might be prejudicial to him or those already parties; (2) the extent to which, by protective provisions in the judgment, by the shaping of relief, or other measures, the prejudice can be lessened or avoided; (3) whether a judgment rendered in the person's absence will be adequate; (4) whether the plaintiff will have an adequate remedy if the action is dismissed for nonjoinder.

(c) Pleading Reasons for Nonjoinder. A pleading asserting a claim for relief shall state the names, if known to the pleader, of any persons joinable under (1) or (2) of subdivision (a) hereof who are not joined, and the reasons why they are not joined.

(d) Exception of Class Actions. This rule is subject to the provisions of Rule 23.

(e) Husband and Wife Must Join—Exceptions. When a married woman is a party, her husband must be joined with her, except:

(1) When the action concerns her separate property, or her right or claim to the homestead property, she may sue alone.

(2) When the action is between herself and her husband, she may sue or be sued alone.

(3) When she is living separate and apart from her husband, she may sue or be sued alone. [Adopted May 5, 1967, effective July 1, 1967. Prior: RPPP Rule 19.]

Comment by the Court. Subdivision (e) is identical to and supersedes RCW 4.08.030. Together with Rule 20 and Rule 21, Rule 19 supersedes RCW 4.08.130.

Rule 20 Permissive joinder of parties.

(a) Permissive Joinder. All persons may join in one action as plaintiffs if they assert any right to relief jointly, severally, or in the alternative in respect of or arising out of the same transaction, occurrence, or series of transactions or occurrences and if any question of law or fact common to all of these persons will arise in the action. All persons may be joined in one action as defendants if there is asserted against them jointly, severally, or in the alternative, any right to relief in respect of or arising out of the same transaction, occurrence, or series of transactions or occurrences and if any question of law or fact common to all defendants will arise in the action. A plaintiff or defendant need not be interested in obtaining or defending against all the relief demanded. Judgment may be given for one or more of the plaintiffs according to their respective rights to relief, and against one or more defendants according to their respective liabilities.

Comment by the Court. Subdivision (a) follows FRCP 20(a) and supersedes RCW 4.08.090.

(b) Separate Trials. The court may make such orders as will prevent a party from being embarrassed, delayed, or put to expense by the inclusion of a party against whom he asserts no claim and who asserts no claim against him, and may order separate trials or make other orders to prevent delay or prejudice.

Comment by the Court. Subdivision (b) is identical to FRCP 20(b).

(c) When Husband and Wife May Join. Husband and wife may join in all causes of action arising from injuries to the person or character of either or both of them, or from injuries to the property of either or both of them, or arising out of any contract in favor of either or both of them. If a husband and wife be sued together, the wife may defend for her own right, and if the husband neglects to defend, she may defend for his right also. She may defend in all cases in which she is interested, whether she is sued with her husband or not.

Comment of the Court. Subdivision (c) follows and supersedes RCW 4.08.040.

(d) Service on Joint Defendants—Procedure After Service. When the action is against two or more defendants and the summons is served on one or more but not on all of them, the plaintiff may proceed as follows:

(1) If the action is against the defendants jointly indebted upon a contract, he may proceed against the defendants served unless the court otherwise directs; and if he recovers judgment it may be entered against all the defendants thus jointly indebted so far only as it may be enforced against the joint property of all and the separate property of the defendants served.

(2) If the action is against defendants severally liable, he may proceed against the defendants served in the same manner as if they were the only defendants.

(3) Though all the defendants may have been served with the summons, judgment may be taken against any of them severally, when the plaintiff would be entitled to judgment against such defendants if the action had been against them alone.

Comment by the Court. Subdivision (d) is identical to and supersedes RCW 4.28.190.

(e) Procedure to Bind Joint Debtor. [Reserved—See RCW 4.68.] [Adopted May 5, 1967, effective July 1, 1967. Prior: RPPP Rule 20.]

Comment by the Court. Together with Rules 19 and 21, Rule 20 supersedes RCW 4.08.130.

Rule 21 Misjoinder and non-joinder of parties. Misjoinder of parties is not ground for dismissal of an action. Parties may be dropped or added by order of the court on motion of any party or of its own initiative at any stage of the action and on such terms as are just. Any claim against a party may be severed and proceeded with separately. [Adopted May 5, 1967, effective July 1, 1967. Prior: RPPP Rule 21.]

Comment by the Court. Rule 21 is identical to FRCP 21.

Rule 22 Interpleader.

(a) Rule. Persons having claims against the plaintiff may be joined as defendants and required to interplead when their claims are such that the plaintiff is or may be exposed to double or multiple liability. It is not ground for objection to the joinder that the claims of the several claimants or the titles on which their claims depend do not have a common origin or are not identical but are adverse to and independent of one another, or that the plaintiff avers that he is not liable in whole or in part to any or all of the claimants. A defendant exposed to similar liability may obtain such interpleader by way of cross-claim or counterclaim. The provisions of this rule supplement and do not in any way limit the joinder of parties permitted under other rules and statutes.

(b) Statutes. The remedy herein provided is in addition to and in no way supersedes or limits the remedy provided by RCW 4.08.150 to 4.08.180, inclusive. [Adopted May 5, 1967, effective July 1, 1967.]

Comment by the Court. Rule 22 follows and supersedes RPPP 22.

Rule 23 Class actions.

(a) Prerequisites to a Class Action. One or more members of a class may sue or be sued as representative parties on behalf of all only if (1) the class is so numerous that joinder of all members is impracticable, (2) there are questions of law or fact common to the class, (3) the claims or defenses of the representative parties are typical of the claims or defenses of the class, and (4) the representative parties will fairly and adequately protect the interests of the class.

(b) Class Actions Maintainable. An action may be maintained as a class action if the prerequisites of subdivision (a) are satisfied, and in addition:

(1) The prosecution of separate actions by or against individual members of the class would create a risk of

(A) inconsistent or varying adjudications with respect to individual members of the class which would establish incompatible standards of conduct for the party opposing the class, or

(B) adjudications with respect to individual members of the class which would as a practical matter be dispositive of the interests of the other members not parties to the adjudications or substantially impair or impede their ability to protect their interests; or

(2) The party opposing the class has acted or refused to act on grounds generally applicable to the class, thereby making appropriate final injunctive relief or corresponding declaratory relief with respect to the class as a whole; or

(3) The court finds that the questions of law or fact common to the members of the class predominate over any questions affecting only individual members, and that a class action is superior to other available methods for the fair and efficient adjudication of the controversy. The matters pertinent to the findings include: (A) the interest of members of the class in individually controlling the prosecution or defense of separate actions; (B) the extent and nature of any litigation concerning the controversy already commenced by or against members of the class; (C) the desirability or undesirability of concentrating the litigation of the claims in the particular forum; (D) the difficulties likely to be encountered in the management of a class action.

(c) Determination by Order Whether Class Action to Be Maintained; Notice; Judgment; Actions Conducted Partially as Class Actions.

(1) As soon as practicable after the commencement of an action brought as a class action, the court shall determine by order whether it is to be so maintained. An order under this subdivision may be conditional, and may be altered or amended before the decision on the merits.

(2) In any class action maintained under paragraph (b)(3), the court shall direct to the members of the class the best notice practicable under the circumstances, including individual notice to all members who can be identified through reasonable effort. The notice shall advise each member that (A) the court will exclude him from the class if he so requests by a specified date; (B) the judgment, whether favorable or not, will include all members who do not request exclusion; and (C) any member who does not request exclusion may, if he desires, enter an appearance through his counsel.

(3) The judgment in an action maintained as a class action under paragraph (b)(1) or (b)(2), whether or not favorable to the class, shall include and describe those whom the court finds to be members of the class. The judgment in an action maintained as a class action under paragraph (b)(3), whether or not favorable to the class, shall include and specify or describe those to whom the notice provided in paragraph (c)(2) was directed, and who have not requested exclusion, and whom the court finds to be members of the class.

(4) When appropriate, (A) an action may be brought or maintained as a class action with respect to particular issues, or (B) a class may be divided into subclasses and each subclass treated as a class, and the provisions of this rule shall then be construed and applied accordingly.

(d) Orders in Conduct of Actions. In the conduct of actions to which this rule applies, the court may make appropriate orders: (1) determining the course of proceedings or prescribing measures to prevent undue repetition or complication in the presentation of evidence or argument; (2) requiring, for the protection of the members of the class or otherwise for the fair conduct of the action, that notice be given in such manner as the court may direct to some or all of the members of any step in the action, or of the proposed extent of the judgment, or of the opportunity of members to signify whether they consider the representation fair and adequate, to intervene and present claims or defenses, or otherwise to come into the action; (3) imposing conditions on the representative parties or on intervenors; (4) requiring that the pleadings be amended to eliminate therefrom allegations as to representation of absent persons, and that the action proceed accordingly; (5) dealing with similar procedural matters. The orders may be combined with an order under Rule 16, and may be altered or amended as may be desirable from time to time.

(e) Dismissal or Compromise. A class action shall not be dismissed or compromised without the approval of the court, and notice of the proposed dismissal or compromise shall be given to all members of the class in such manner as the court directs. [Adopted May 5, 1967, effective July 1, 1967. Prior: RPPP Rule 23.]

Rule 23.1 Derivative actions by shareholders. In a derivative action brought by one or more shareholders or members to enforce a right of a corporation or of an unincorporated association, the corporation or association having failed to enforce a right which may properly be asserted by it, the complaint shall be verified and shall allege (a) that the plaintiff was a shareholder or member at the time of the transaction of which he complains or that his share or membership thereafter devolved on him by operation of law, and (b) that the action is not a collusive one to confer jurisdiction on a court of this state which it would not otherwise have. The complaint shall also allege with particularity the efforts, if any, made by the plaintiff to obtain the action he desires from the directors or comparable authority and, if necessary, from the shareholders or members, and the reasons for his failure to obtain the action or for not making the effort. The derivative action may not be maintained if it appears that the plaintiff does not fairly and adequately represent the interests of the shareholders or members similarly situated in enforcing the right of the corporation or association. The action shall not be dismissed or compromised without the approval of the court, and notice of the proposed dismissal or compromise shall be given to shareholders or members in such manner as the court directs. [Adopted May 5, 1967, effective July 1, 1967. Prior: RPPP Rule 23(b) part.]

Rule 23.2 Actions relating to unincorporated associations. An action brought by or against the members of an unincorporated association as a class by naming certain members as representative parties may be maintained only if it appears that the representative parties will fairly and adequately protect the interests of the association and its members. In the conduct of the action the court may make appropriate orders corresponding with those described in Rule 23(d), and the procedure for dismissal or compromise of the action shall correspond with that provided in Rule 23(e). [Adopted May 5, 1967, effective July 1, 1967. Prior: RPPP Rule 23(b) part.]

Rule 24 Intervention.

(a) Intervention of Right. Upon timely application anyone shall be permitted to intervene in an action: (1) when a statute confers an unconditional right to intervene; or (2) when the applicant claims an interest relating to the property or transaction which is the subject of the action and he is so situated that the disposition of the action may as a practical matter impair or impede his ability to protect that interest, unless the applicant's interest is adequately represented by existing parties.

(b) Permissive Intervention. Upon timely application, anyone may be permitted to intervene in an action:

(1) when a statute confers a conditional right to intervene; or

(2) when an applicant's claim or defense and the main action have a question of law or fact in common. When a party to an action relies for ground of claim or defense upon any statute or executive order administered by a federal or state governmental officer or agency or upon any regulation, order, requirements, or agreement issued or made pursuant to the statute or executive order, the officer or agency upon timely application may be permitted to intervene in the action. In exercising its discretion the court shall consider whether the intervention will unduly delay or prejudice the adjudication of the rights of the original parties.

(c) Procedure. A person desiring to intervene shall serve a motion to intervene upon all the parties as provided in Rule 5. The motion shall state the grounds therefor and shall be accompanied by a pleading setting forth the claim or defense for which intervention is sought. [Adopted May 5, 1967, effective July 1, 1967. Prior: RPPP Rule 24.]

Comment by the Court. Subdivision (c) is amended to restore and reflect adoption of FRCP 5. Rule 24 supersedes RCW 4.08.190 and 4.08.020.

Rule 25 Substitution of parties.

(a) Death.

(1) Procedure. If a party dies and the claim is not thereby extinguished, the court may order substitution of the proper parties. The motion for substitution may be made by the successors or representatives of the deceased party or by any party and, together with the notice of hearing, shall be served on the parties as provided by Rule 5 for service of notices, and upon persons not parties in the manner provided by statute or by rule for the service of a summons. If substitution is not made within the time authorized by law, the action may be dismissed as to the deceased party.

(2) Partial Abatement. In the event of the death of one or more of the plaintiffs or of one or more of the defendants in an action in which the right sought to be enforced survives only to the surviving plaintiffs or only against the surviving defendants, the action does not abate. The death shall be suggested upon the record and the action shall proceed in favor of or against the surviving parties.

(b) Incompetency. If a party becomes incompetent, the court upon motion served as provided in subdivision (a) of this rule may allow the action to be continued by or against his representative.

(c) Transfer of Interest. In case of any transfer of interest, the action may be continued by or against the original party unless the court upon motion directs the person to whom the interest is transferred to be substituted in the action or joined with the original party. Service of the motion shall be made as provided in subdivision (a) of this rule.

(d) Public Offices; Death or Separation from Office. [Reserved] [Adopted May 5, 1967, effective July 1, 1967. Prior: RPPP Rule 25.]

Rule 26 General provisions governing discovery.

(a) Discovery Methods. Parties may obtain discovery by one or more of the following methods: depositions upon oral examination or written questions; written interrogatories; production of documents or things or permission to enter upon land or other property, for inspection and other purposes; physical and mental examinations; and requests for admission. Unless the court orders otherwise under subdivision (c) of this rule, the frequency of use of these methods is not limited.

(b) Scope of Discovery. Unless otherwise limited by order of the court in accordance with these rules, the scope of discovery is as follows:

(1) In General. Parties may obtain discovery regarding any matter, not privileged, which is relevant to the subject matter involved in the pending action, whether it relates to the claim or defense of the party seeking discovery or to the claim or defense of any other party, including the existence, description, nature, custody, condition and location of any books, documents, or other tangible things and the identity and location of persons having knowledge of any discoverable matter. It is not ground for objection that the information sought will be inadmissible at the trial if the information sought appears reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence.

(2) Insurance Agreements. A party may obtain discovery of the existence and contents of any insurance agreement under which any person carrying on an insurance business may be liable to satisfy part or all of a judgment which may be entered in the action or to indemnify or reimburse for payments made to satisfy the judgment. Information concerning the insurance agreement is not by reason of disclosure admissible in evidence at trial. For purposes of this paragraph, an application for insurance shall not be treated as part of an insurance agreement.

(3) Trial Preparation: Materials. Subject to the provisions of subdivision (b)(4) of this rule, a party may obtain discovery of documents and tangible things otherwise discoverable under subdivision (b)(1) of this rule and prepared in anticipation of litigation or for trial by or for another party or by or for that other party's representative (including his attorney, consultant, surety, indemnitor, insurer, or agent) only upon a showing that the party seeking discovery has substantial need of the materials in the preparation of his case and that he is unable without undue hardship to obtain the substantial equivalent of the materials by other means. In ordering discovery of such materials when the required showing has been made, the court shall protect against disclosure of the mental impressions, conclusions, opinions, or legal theories of an attorney or other representative of a party concerning the litigation.

A party may obtain without the required showing a statement concerning the action or its subject matter previously made by that party. Upon request, a person not a party may obtain without the required showing a statement concerning the action or its subject matter previously made by that person. If the request is refused, the person may move for a court order. The provisions of Rule 37(a)(4) apply to the award of expenses incurred in relation to the motion. For purposes of this paragraph, a statement previously made is (A) a written statement signed or otherwise adopted or approved by the person making it, or (B) a stenographic, mechanical, electrical, or other recording, or a transcription thereof, which is substantially verbatim recital of an oral statement by the person making it and contemporaneously recorded.

(4) Trial Preparation: Experts. Discovery of facts known and opinions held by experts, otherwise discoverable under the provisions of subdivision (b)(1) of this rule and acquired or developed in anticipation of litigation or for trial, may be obtained only as follows:

(A)(i) A party may through interrogatories require any other party to identify each person whom the other party expects to call as an expert witness at trial, to state the subject matter on which the expert is expected to testify, and to state the substance of the facts and opinions to which the expert is expected to testify and a summary of the grounds for each opinion. (ii) Upon motion, the court may order further discovery by other means, subject to such restrictions as to scope and such provisions, pursuant to subdivision (b)(4)(C) of this rule, concerning fees and expenses as the court may deem appropriate.

(B) A party may discover facts known or opinions held by an expert who is not expected to be called as a witness at trial, only as provided in Rule 35(b) or upon a showing of exceptional circumstances under which it is impracticable for the party seeking discovery to obtain facts or opinions on the same subject by other means.

(C) Unless manifest injustice would result, (i) the court shall require that the party seeking discovery pay the expert a reasonable fee for time spent in responding to discovery under subdivisions (b)(4)(A)(ii) and (b)(4)(B) of this rule; and (ii) with respect to discovery obtained under subdivisions (b)(4)(A)(ii) of this rule the court may require, and with respect to discovery obtained under subdivision (b)(4)(B) of this rule the court shall require, the party seeking discovery to pay the other party a fair portion of the fees and expenses reasonably incurred by the latter party in obtaining facts and opinions from the expert.

(c) Protective Orders. Upon motion by a party or by the person from whom discovery is sought, and for good cause shown, the court in which the action is pending or alternatively, on matters relating to a deposition, the court in the county where the deposition is to be taken may make any order which justice requires to protect a party or person from annoyance, embarrassment, oppression, or undue burden or expense, including one or more of the following: (1) that the discovery not be had;

(2) that the discovery may be had only on specified terms and conditions, including a designation of the time or place; (3) that the discovery may be had only by a method of discovery other than that selected by the party seeking discovery; (4) that certain matters not be inquired into, or that the scope of the discovery be limited to certain matters; (5) that discovery be conducted with no one present except persons designated by the court; (6) that a deposition after being sealed be opened only by order of the court; (7) that a trade secret or other confidential research, development, or commercial information not be disclosed or be disclosed only in a designated way; (8) that the parties simultaneously file specified documents or information enclosed in sealed envelopes to be opened as directed by the court.

If the motion for a protective order is denied in whole or in part, the court may, on such terms and conditions as are just, order that any party or person provide or permit discovery. The provisions of Rule 37(a)(4) apply to the award of expenses incurred in relation to the motion.

(d) Sequence and Timing of Discovery. Unless the court upon motion, for the convenience of parties and witnesses and in the interests of justice, orders otherwise, methods of discovery may be used in any sequence and the fact that a party is conducting discovery, whether by deposition or otherwise, shall not operate to delay any other party's discovery.

(e) Supplementation of Responses. A party who has responded to a request for discovery with a response that was complete when made is under no duty to supplement his response to include information thereafter acquired, except as follows:

(1) A party is under a duty seasonably to supplement his response with respect to any question directly addressed to (A) the identity and location of persons having knowledge of discoverable matters, and (B) the identity of each person expected to be called as an expert witness at trial, the subject matter on which he is expected to testify, and the substance of his testimony.

(2) A party is under a duty seasonably to amend a prior response if he obtains information upon the basis of which (A) he knows that the response was incorrect when made, or (B) he knows that the response though correct when made is no longer true and the circumstances are such that a failure to amend the response is in substance a knowing concealment.

(3) A duty to supplement responses may be imposed by order of the court, agreement of the parties, or at any time prior to trial through new requests for supplementation of prior responses.

(4) Failure to seasonably supplement in accordance with this rule will subject the party to such terms and conditions as the trial court may deem appropriate. [Amended May 26, 1972, effective July 1, 1972; adopted May 5, 1967, effective July 1, 1967. Prior: RPPP Rule 26.]

Rule 27 Perpetuation of testimony.

(a) Perpetuation Before Action.

(1) Petition. A person who desires to perpetuate his own testimony or that of another person regarding any matter that may be cognizable in any superior court may file a verified petition in the superior court in the county of the residence of any expected adverse party. The petition shall be entitled in the name of the petitioner and shall show:

(A) that the petitioner expects to be a party to an action cognizable in a superior court but is presently unable to bring it or cause it to be brought,

(B) the subject matter of the expected action and his interest therein,

(C) the facts which he desires to establish by the proposed testimony and his reasons for desiring to perpetuate it,

(D) the names or a description of the persons he expects will be adverse parties and their addresses so far as known, and

(E) the names and addresses of the persons to be examined and the substance of the testimony which he expects to elicit from each, and shall ask for an order authorizing the petitioner to take the depositions of the persons to be examined named in the petition, for the purpose of perpetuating their testimony.

(2) Notice and Service. The petitioner shall thereafter serve a notice upon each person named in the petition as an expected adverse party, together with a copy of the petition, stating that the petitioner will apply to the court, at a time and place named therein, for the order described in the petition. At least 20 days before the date of hearing the notice shall be served in the manner provided by law for service of summons; but if such service cannot with due diligence be made upon any expected adverse party named in the petition, the court may make such order as is just for service by publication or otherwise, and shall appoint, for persons not served personally in the manner provided by law, an attorney who shall represent them and, in case they are not otherwise represented, shall cross-examine the deponent. If any expected adverse party is a minor or incompetent, the court shall make such order as deemed appropriate for the protection of the minor or incompetent as provided in RCW 4.08.050 and 4.08.060.

(3) Order and Examination. If the court is satisfied that the perpetuation of the testimony may prevent a failure or delay of justice, it shall make an order designating or describing the persons whose depositions may be taken and specifying the subject matter of the examination and whether the depositions shall be taken upon oral examination or written interrogatories. The depositions may then be taken in accordance with these rules; and the court may make orders of the character provided for by Rules 34 and 35. For the purpose of applying these rules to depositions for perpetuating testimony, each reference therein to the court in which the action is pending shall be deemed to refer to the court in which the petition for such deposition was filed.

(4) Use of Deposition. If a deposition to perpetuate testimony is taken under these rules or if, although not so taken, it would be admissible in evidence in the courts of the state in which it is taken, it may be used in any action involving the same subject matter subsequently brought in a superior court of this state.

(b) Perpetuation Pending Appeal. If an appeal has been taken from a judgment of a superior court or before the taking of an appeal if the time therefor has not expired, the superior court in which the judgment was rendered may allow the taking of the depositions of witnesses to perpetuate their testimony for use in the event of further proceedings in the superior court. In such case the party who desires to perpetuate the testimony may make a motion in the superior court for leave to take the depositions, upon the same notice and service thereof as if the action was pending in the superior court. The motion shall show (1) the names and addresses of the persons to be examined and the substance of the testimony which he expects to elicit from each; (2) the reasons for perpetuating their testimony. If the court finds that the perpetuation of the testimony is proper to avoid a failure or delay of justice, it may make an order allowing the depositions to be taken and may make orders of the character provided for by Rules 34 and 35, and thereupon the depositions may be taken and used in the same manner and under the same conditions as are prescribed in these rules for depositions taken in actions pending in the superior court.

(c) Perpetuation by Action. This rule does not limit the power of a court to entertain an action to perpetuate testimony. [Adopted May 5, 1967, effective July 1, 1967. Prior: RPPP Rule 27.]

Rule 28 Persons before whom depositions may be taken.

(–) Within the State. Depositions within the state may be taken before the following officers:

(1) Court Commissioners. [Reserved—See RCW 2.24.040 (9) and (10).]

(2) Superior Courts. [Reserved—See RCW 2.28.010(7).]

(3) Judicial Officers. [Reserved—See RCW 2.28.060.]

(4) Judges of Supreme and Superior Courts. [Reserved—See RCW 2.28.080(3).]

(5) Inferior Judicial Officers. [Reserved—See RCW 2.28.090.]

(6) Notaries Public. [Reserved—See RCW 42.28.040(3).]

(7) Special Commissions. [Reserved—See RCW 11.20.030.]

(a) Within the United States. Within the United States or within a territory or insular possession subject to the dominion of the United States, depositions shall be taken before an officer authorized to administer oaths by the laws of the United States or of the place where the examination is held, or before a person appointed by the court in which the action is pending. A person so appointed has power to administer oaths and take testimony.

(b) In Foreign Countries. In a foreign country, depositions may be taken (1) on notice before a person authorized to administer oaths in the place in which the examination is held, either by the law thereof or by the law of the United States, or (2) before a person commissioned by the court, and a person so commissioned shall have the power by virtue of his commission to administer any necessary oath and take testimony, or (3) pursuant to a letter rogatory. A commission or a letter rogatory shall be issued on application and notice, and on terms that are just and appropriate. It is not requisite to the issuance of a commission or a letter rogatory that the taking of the deposition in any other manner is impracticable or inconvenient; and both a commission and a letter rogatory may be issued in proper cases. A notice or commission may designate the person before whom the deposition is to be taken either by name or descriptive title. A letter rogatory may be addressed "To the Appropriate Authority in [here name the country]." Evidence obtained in response to a letter rogatory need not be excluded merely for the reason that it is not a verbatim transcript or that the testimony was not taken under oath or for any similar departure from the requirements for depositions taken within the United States under these rules.

(c) Disqualification for Interest. No deposition shall be taken before a person who is a relative or employee or attorney or counsel of any of the parties, or is a relative or employee of such attorney or counsel, or is financially interested in the action. [Adopted May 5, 1967, effective July 1, 1967. Prior: RPPP Rule 28.]

Rule 29 Stipulations regarding discovery procedure. Unless the court orders otherwise, the parties may by written stipulation (1) provide that depositions may be taken before any person, at any time or place, upon any notice, and in any manner and when so taken may be used like other depositions, and (2) modify the procedures provided by these rules for other methods of discovery. [Amended May 26, 1972, effective July 1, 1972; adopted May 5, 1967, effective July 1, 1967. Prior: RPPP Rule 29.]

Rule 30 Depositions upon oral examination.

(a) When Depositions May be Taken. After the summons and a copy of the complaint are served, or the complaint is filed, whichever shall first occur, any party may take the testimony of any person, including a party, by deposition upon oral examination. Leave of court, granted with or without notice, must be obtained only if the plaintiff seeks to take a deposition prior to the expiration of 30 days after service of the summons and complaint upon any defendant or service made under Rule 4(e), except that leave is not required (1) if a defendant has served a notice of taking deposition or otherwise sought discovery, or (2) if special notice is given as provided in subdivision (b)(2) of this rule. The attendance of witnesses may be compelled by subpoena as provided in Rule 45. The deposition of a person confined in prison may be taken only by leave of court on such terms as the court prescribes.

(b) Notice of Examination: General Requirements; Special Notice; Non-stenographic Recording; Production of Documents and Things; Deposition of Organization.

(1) A party desiring to take the deposition of any person upon oral examination shall give reasonable notice in writing of not less than 5 days (exclusive of the day of service, Saturdays, Sundays and court holidays) to every other party to the action. The notice shall state the time and place for taking the deposition and the name and address of each person to be examined, if known, and, if the name is not known, a general description sufficient to identify him or the particular class or group to which he belongs. If a subpoena duces tecum is to be served on the person to be examined, the designation of the materials to be produced as set forth in the subpoena shall be attached to or included in the notice.

(2) Leave of court is not required for the taking of a deposition by plaintiff if the notice (A) states that the person to be examined is about to go out of the state and will be unavailable for examination unless his deposition is taken before expiration of the 30-day period, and (B) sets forth facts to support the statement. The plaintiff's attorney shall sign the notice, and his signature constitutes a certification by him that to the best of his knowledge, information, and belief the statement and supporting facts are true. The sanctions provided by Rule 11 are applicable to the certification.

If a party shows that when he was served with notice under this subdivision (b)(2) he was unable through the exercise of diligence to obtain counsel to represent him at the taking of the deposition, the deposition may not be used against him.

(3) The court may for cause shown enlarge or shorten the time for taking the deposition.

(4) The court may upon motion order that the testimony at a deposition be recorded by other than stenographic means. In which event the order shall designate the manner of recording, preserving, and filing the deposition, and may include other provisions to assure that the recorded testimony will be accurate and trustworthy. If the order is made, a party may nevertheless arrange to have a stenographic transcription made at his own expense.

(5) The notice to a party deponent may be accompanied by a request made in compliance with Rule 34 for the production of documents and tangible things at the taking of the deposition. The procedure of Rule 34 shall apply to the request.

(6) A party may in his notice and in a subpoena name as the deponent a public or private corporation or a partnership or association or governmental agency and designate with reasonable particularity the matters on which examination is requested. In that event the organization so named shall designate one or more officers, directors, or managing agents, or other persons who consent to testify on its behalf, and may set forth, for each person designated, the matters known on which he will testify. A subpoena shall advise a non-party organization of its duty to make such a designation. The persons so designated shall testify as to the matters known or reasonably available to the organization. This subdivision (b)(6) does not preclude taking a deposition by any other procedure authorized in these rules.

(c) Examination and Cross-Examination; Record of Examination; Oath; Objections. Examination and cross-examination of witnesses may proceed as permitted as the trial under the provisions of the Washington Rules of Evidence (ER). The officer before whom the deposition is to be taken shall put the witness on oath and shall personally, or by someone acting under his direction and in his presence, record the testimony of the witness. The testimony shall be taken stenographically or recorded by any other means ordered in accordance with subdivision (b)(4) of this rule. If requested by one of the parties, the testimony shall be transcribed.

All objections made at the time of the examination to the qualifications of the officer taking the deposition, or to the manner of taking it, or to the evidence presented, or to the conduct of any party, and any other objection to the proceedings, shall be noted by the officer upon the deposition. Evidence objected to shall be taken subject to the objections. In lieu of participating in the oral examination, parties may serve written questions in a sealed envelope on the party taking the deposition and he shall transmit them to the officer, who shall propound them to the witness and record the answers verbatim.

(d) Motion to Terminate or Limit Examination. At any time during the taking of the deposition, on motion of a party or of the deponent and upon a showing that the examination is being conducted in bad faith or in such manner as unreasonably to annoy, embarrass, or oppress the deponent or party, the court in which the action is pending or the court in the county where the deposition is being taken may order the officer conducting the examination to cease forthwith from taking the deposition, or may limit the scope and manner of the taking of the deposition as provided in Rule 26(c). If the order made terminates the examination, it shall be resumed thereafter only upon the order of the court in which the action is pending. Upon demand of the objecting party or deponent, the taking of the deposition shall be suspended for the time necessary to make a motion for an order. The provisions of Rule 37(a)(4) apply to the award of expenses incurred in relation to the motion.

(e) Submission to Witness; Changes; Signing. When the testimony is fully transcribed the deposition shall be submitted to the witness for examination and shall be read to or by him, unless such examination and reading are waived by the witness and by the parties. Any changes in form or substance which the witness desires to make shall be entered upon the deposition by the officer with a statement of the reasons given by the witness for making them. The deposition shall then be signed by the witness, unless the parties by stipulation waive the signing or the witness is ill or cannot be found or refuses to sign. If the deposition is not signed by the witness within 15 days of its submission to him, the officer shall sign it and state on the record the fact of the waiver or of the illness or absence of the witness or the fact of the refusal to sign together with the reason, if any, given therefor; and the deposition may then be used as fully as though signed unless on a motion to suppress under Rule 32(d)(4) the court holds that the reasons given for the refusal to sign require rejection of the deposition in whole or in part.

(f) Certification and Filing by Officer; Exhibits; Copies; Notice of Filing.

(1) The officer shall certify on the deposition that the witness was duly sworn by him and that the deposition is a true record of the testimony given by the witness. He shall then securely seal the deposition in an envelope endorsed with the title of the action and marked "Deposition of [here insert name of witness]" and shall promptly file it with the court in which the action is pending or send it by registered mail to the clerk thereof for filing.

Documents and things produced for inspection during the examination of the witness, shall, upon the request of a party, be marked for identification and annexed to and returned with the deposition, and may be inspected and copied by any party, except that (A) the person producing the materials may substitute copies to be marked for identification, if he affords to all parties fair opportunity to verify the copies by comparison with the originals, and (B) if the person producing the materials requests their return, the officer shall mark them, give each party an opportunity to inspect and copy them, and return them to the person producing them, and the materials may then be used in the same manner as if annexed to and returned with the deposition. Any party may move for an order that the original be annexed to and returned with the deposition to the court, pending final disposition of the case.

(2) Upon payment of reasonable charges therefor, the officer shall furnish a copy of the deposition to any party or the deponent.

(3) The officer filing the deposition shall give prompt notice of its filing to all parties.

(g) Failure to Attend or to Serve Subpoena; Expenses.

(1) If the party giving the notice of the taking of a deposition fails to attend and proceed therewith and another party attends in person or by attorney pursuant to the notice, the court may order the party giving the notice to pay to such other party the reasonable expenses incurred by him and his attorney in attending, including reasonable attorney's fees.

(2) If the party giving the notice of the taking of a deposition of a witness fails to serve a subpoena upon him and the witness because of such failure does not attend, and if another party attends in person or by attorney because he expects the deposition of that witness to be taken, the court may order the party giving the notice to pay to such other party the reasonable expenses incurred by him and his attorney in attending, including reasonable attorney's fees. [Amended December 19, 1978, effective April 2, 1979; amended May 26, 1972, effective July 1, 1972; adopted May 5, 1967, effective July 1, 1967. Prior: RPPP Rule 30.]

Rule 31 Depositions upon written questions.

(a) Serving Questions; Notice. After the summons and a copy of the complaint are served, or the complaint is filed, whichever shall first occur, any party may take the testimony of any person, including a party, by deposition upon written questions. The attendance of witnesses may be compelled by the use of subpoena as provided in Rule 45. The deposition of a person confined in prison may be taken only by leave of court on such terms as the court prescribes.

A party desiring to take a deposition upon written questions shall serve them upon every other party with a notice stating (1) the name and address of the person who is to answer them, if known, and if the name is not known, a general description sufficient to identify him or the particular class or group to which he belongs, and (2) the name or descriptive title and address of the officer before whom the deposition is to be taken. A deposition upon written questions may be taken of a public or private corporation or a partnership or association or governmental agency in accordance with the provisions of Rule 30(b)(6).

Within 15 days after the notice and written questions are served, a party may serve cross questions upon all other parties. Within 10 days after being served with cross questions, a party may serve redirect questions upon all other parties. Within 10 days after being served with redirect questions, a party may serve recross questions upon all other parties. The court may for cause shown enlarge or shorten the time.

(b) Officer to Take Responses and Prepare Record. A copy of the notice and copies of all questions served shall be delivered by the party taking the deposition to the officer designated in the notice, who shall proceed promptly, in the manner provided by Rule 30(c), (e), and (f), to take the testimony of the witness in response to the questions and to prepare, certify, and file or mail the deposition, attaching thereto the copy of the notice and the questions received by him.

(c) Notice of Filing. When the deposition is filed, the officer filing it shall promptly give notice thereof to all parties. [Amended May 26, 1972, effective July 1, 1972; adopted May 5, 1967, effective July 1, 1967. Prior: RPPP Rule 31.]

Rule 32 Use of depositions in court proceedings.

(a) Use of Depositions. At the trial or upon the hearing of a motion or an interlocutory proceeding, any part or all of a deposition, so far as admissible under the rules of evidence applied as though the witness were then present and testifying, may be used against any party who was present or represented at the taking of the deposition or who had reasonable notice thereof, in accordance with any of the following provisions:

(1) Any deposition may be used by any party for the purpose of contradicting or impeaching the testimony of deponent as a witness.

(2) The deposition of a party or of anyone who at the time of taking the deposition was an officer, director, or managing agent, or a person designated under Rule 30(b)(6) or 31(a) to testify on behalf of a public or private corporation, partnership or association or governmental agency which is a party may be used by an adverse party for any purpose.

(3) The deposition of a witness, whether or not a party, may be used by any party for any purpose if the court finds: (A) that the witness is dead; or (B) that the witness resides out of the county and more than 20 miles from the place of trial, unless it appears that the absence of the witness was procured by the party offering the deposition; or (C) that the witness is unable to attend or testify because of age, illness, infirmity, or imprisonment; or (D) that the party offering the deposition has been unable to procure the attendance of the witness by subpoena; or (E) upon application and notice, that such exceptional circumstances exist as to make it desirable, in the interest of justice and with due regard to the importance of presenting the testimony of witnesses orally in open court, to allow the deposition to be used.

(4) If only part of a deposition is offered in evidence by a party, an adverse party may require him to introduce any other part which ought in fairness to be considered with the part introduced, and any party may introduce any other parts.

Substitution of parties pursuant to Rule 25 does not affect the right to use depositions previously taken; and, when an action in any court of the United States or of any State has been dismissed and another action involving the same issues and subject matter is afterward brought between the same parties or their representatives or successors in interest, all depositions lawfully taken and duly filed in the former action may be used in the latter as if originally taken therefor.

(b) Objections to Admissibility. Subject to the provisions of Rule 28(b) and subdivision (d)(3) of this rule, objection may be made at the trial or hearing to receiving in evidence any deposition or part thereof for any reason which would require the exclusion of the evidence if the witness were then present and testifying.

(c) Effect of Taking or Using Depositions. A party does not make a person his own witness for any purpose by taking his deposition. The introduction in evidence of the deposition or any part thereof for any purpose other than that of contradicting or impeaching the deponent makes the deponent the witness of the party introducing the deposition, but this shall not apply to the use by an adverse party of a deposition under subdivision (a)(2) of this rule. At the trial or hearing any party may rebut any relevant evidence contained in a deposition whether introduced by him or by any other party.

(d) Effect of Errors and Irregularities in Depositions.

(1) As to Notice. All errors and irregularities in the notice for taking a deposition are waived unless written objection is promptly served upon the party giving the notice.

(2) As to Disqualification of Officer. Objection to taking a deposition because of disqualification of the officer before whom it is to be taken is waived unless made before the taking of the deposition begins or as soon thereafter as the disqualification becomes known or could be discovered with reasonable diligence.

(3) As to Taking of Deposition.

(A) Objections to the competency of a witness or to the competency, relevancy, or materiality of testimony are not waived by failure to make them before or during the taking of the deposition, unless the ground of the objection is one which might have been obviated or removed if presented at that time.

(B) Errors and irregularities occurring at the oral examination in the manner of taking the deposition, in the form of the questions or answers, in the oath or affirmation, or in the conduct of parties, and errors of any kind which might be obviated, removed, or cured if promptly presented, are waived unless seasonable objection thereto is made at the taking of the deposition.

(C) Objections to the form of written questions submitted under Rule 31 are waived unless served in writing upon the party propounding them within the time allowed for serving the succeeding cross or other questions and within 5 days after service of the last questions authorized.

(4) As to Completion and Return of Deposition. Errors and irregularities in the manner in which the testimony is transcribed or the deposition is prepared, signed, certified, sealed, endorsed, transmitted, filed, or otherwise dealt with by the officer under Rules 30 and 31 are waived unless a motion to suppress the deposition or some part thereof is made with reasonable promptness after such defect is, or with due diligence might have been, ascertained. [Amended May 26, 1972, effective July 1, 1972; adopted May 5, 1967, effective July 1, 1967. Prior: RPPP Rule 32.]

Rule 33 Interrogatories to parties.

(a) Availability; Procedures for Use. Any party may serve upon any other party written interrogatories to be answered by the party served or, if the party served is a public or private corporation or a partnership or association or governmental agency, by any officer or agent, who shall furnish such information as is available to the party. Interrogatories may, without leave of court, be served upon the plaintiff after the summons and a copy of the complaint are served upon the defendant, or the complaint is filed, whichever shall first occur, and upon any other party with or after service of the summons and complaint upon that party.

Interrogatories shall be so arranged that after each separate question there shall appear a blank space reasonably calculated to enable the answering party to have his answer typed in. Each interrogatory shall be answered separately and fully in writing under oath, unless it is objected to, in which event the reasons for objection shall be stated in lieu of an answer. The answers are to be signed by the person making them, and the objections signed by the attorney making them. The party upon whom the interrogatories have been served shall serve a copy of the answers, and objections if any, within 20 days after the service of the interrogatories, except that a defendant may serve answers or objections within 40 days after service of the summons and complaint upon that defendant. The parties may stipulate or the party submitting the interrogatories may move for an order under Rule 37(a) with respect to any objection to or other failure to answer an interrogatory.

(b) Scope; Use at Trial. Interrogatories may relate to any matters which can be inquired into under Rule 26(b), and the answers may be used to the extent permitted by the rules of evidence.

An interrogatory otherwise proper is not necessarily objectionable merely because an answer to the interrogatory involves an opinion or contention that relates to fact or the application of law to fact, but the court may order that such an interrogatory need not be answered until after designated discovery has been completed or until a pretrial conference or other later time.

(c) Option to Produce Business Records. Where the answer to an interrogatory may be derived or ascertained from the business records of the party upon whom the interrogatory has been served or from an examination, audit or inspection of such business records, or from a compilation, abstract or summary based thereon, and the burden of deriving or ascertaining the answer is substantially the same for the party serving the interrogatory as for the party served, it is sufficient answer to such interrogatory to specify the records from which the answer may be derived or ascertained and to afford to the party serving the interrogatory reasonable opportunity to examine, audit or inspect such records and to make copies, compilations, abstracts or summaries. [Amended May 26, 1972, effective July 1, 1972; adopted May 5, 1967, effective July 1, 1967. Prior: RPPP Rule 33.]

Rule 34 Production of documents and things and entry upon land for inspection and other purposes.

(a) Scope. Any party may serve on any other party a request (1) to produce and permit the party making the request, or someone acting on his behalf, to inspect and copy, any designated documents (including writings, drawings, graphs, charts, photographs, phonorecords, and other data compilations from which information can be obtained, translated, if necessary, by the respondent through detection devices into reasonably usable form), or to inspect and copy, test, or sample any tangible things which constitute or contain matters within the scope of Rule 26(b) and which are in the possession, custody or control of the party upon whom the request is served; or (2) to permit entry upon designated land or other property in the possession or control of the party upon whom the request is served for the purpose of inspection and measuring, surveying, photographing, testing, or sampling the property or any designated object or operation thereon, within the scope of Rule 26(b).

(b) Procedure. The request may, without leave of court, be served upon the plaintiff after the summons and a copy of the complaint are served upon the defendant, or the complaint is filed, whichever shall first occur, and upon any other party with or after service of the summons and complaint upon that party. The request shall set forth the items to be inspected either by individual item or by category, and describe each item and category with reasonable particularity. The request shall specify a reasonable time, place and manner of making the inspection and performing the related acts.

The party upon whom the request is served shall serve a written response within 20 days after the service of the request, except that a defendant may serve a response within 40 days after service of the summons and complaint upon that defendant. The parties may stipulate or the court may allow a shorter or longer time. The response shall state, with respect to each item or category, that inspection and related activities will be permitted as requested, unless the request is objected to, in which event the reasons for objection shall be stated. If objection is made to part of an item or category, the part shall be specified. The party submitting the request may move for an order under Rule 37(a) with respect to any objection to or other failure to respond to the request or any part thereof, or any failure to permit inspection as requested.

(c) Persons not Parties. This rule does not preclude an independent action against a person not a party for production of documents and things and permission to enter upon land. [Amended May 26, 1972, effective July 1, 1972; adopted May 5, 1967, effective July 1, 1967. Prior: RPPP Rule 34.]

Rule 35 Physical and mental examination of persons.

(a) Order for Examination. When the mental or physical condition (including the blood group) of a party, or of a person in the custody or under the legal control of a party, is in controversy, the court in which the action is pending may order the party to submit to a physical or mental examination by a physician or to produce for examination the person in his custody or legal control. The order may be made only on motion for good cause shown and upon notice to the person to be examined and to all parties and shall specify the time, place, manner, conditions, and scope of the examination and the person or persons by whom it is to be made.

(b) Report of Examining Physician.

(1) If requested by the party against whom an order is made under Rule 35(a) or the person examined, the party causing the examination to be made shall deliver to him a copy of a detailed written report of the examining physician setting out his finding, including results of all tests made, diagnosis and conclusions, together with like reports of all earlier examinations of the same condition. After delivery the party causing the examination shall be entitled upon request to receive from the party against whom the order is made a like report of any examination, previously or thereafter made, of the same condition, unless, in the case of a report of examination of a person not a party, the party shows that he is unable to obtain it. The court on motion may make an order against a party requiring delivery of a report on such terms as are just, and if a physician fails or refuses to make a report the court may exclude his testimony if offered at the trial.

(2) By requesting and obtaining a report of the examination so ordered or by taking the deposition of the examiner, the party examined waives any privilege he may have in that action or any other involving the same controversy regarding the testimony of every other person who has examined or may thereafter examine him in respect of the same mental or physical condition.

(3) This subdivision applies to examinations made by agreement of the parties, unless the agreement expressly provides otherwise. This subdivision does not preclude discovery of a report of an examining physician or the taking of a deposition of the physician in accordance with the provisions of any other rule. [Amended May 26, 1972, effective July 1, 1972; adopted May 5, 1967, effective July 1, 1967. Prior: RPPP Rule 35.]

Rule 36 Requests for admission.

(a) Request for Admission. A party may serve upon any other party a written request for the admission, for purposes of the pending action only, of the truth of any matters within the scope of Rule 26(b) set forth in the request that relate to statements or opinions of fact or of the application of law to fact, including the genuineness of any documents described in the request. Copies of documents shall be served with the request unless they have been or are otherwise furnished or made available for inspection and copying. The request may, without leave of court, be served upon the plaintiff after the summons and a copy of the complaint are served upon the defendant, or the complaint is filed, whichever shall first occur, and upon any other party with or after service of the summons and complaint upon that party.

Each matter of which an admission is requested shall be separately set forth. The matter is admitted unless, within 20 days after service of the request, or within such shorter or longer time as the court may allow the party to whom the request is directed serves upon the party requesting the admission a written answer or objection addressed to the matter, signed by the party or by his attorney, but, unless the court shortens the time, a defendant shall not be required to serve answers or objections before the expiration of 40 days after service of the summons and complaint upon him. If objection is made, the reasons therefor shall be stated. The answer shall specifically deny the matter or set forth in detail the reasons why the answering party cannot truthfully admit or deny the matter. A denial shall fairly meet the substance of the requested admission, and when good faith requires that a party qualify his answer or deny only a part of the matter of which an admission is requested, he shall specify so much of it as is true and qualify or deny the remainder. An answering party may not give lack of information or knowledge as a reason for failure to admit or deny unless he states that he has made reasonable inquiry and that the information known or readily obtainable by him is insufficient to enable him to admit or deny. A party who considers that a matter of which an admission has been requested presents a genuine issue for trial may not, on that ground alone, object to the request; he may, subject to the provisions of Rule 37(c), deny the matter or set forth reasons why he cannot admit or deny it.

The party who has requested the admissions may move to determine the sufficiency of the answers or objections. Unless the court determines that an objection is justified, it shall order that an answer be served. If the court determines that an answer does not comply with the requirements of this rule, it may order either that the matter is admitted or that an amended answer be served. The court may, in lieu of these orders, determine that final disposition of the request be made at a pretrial conference or at a designated time prior to trial. The provisions of Rule 37(a)(4) apply to the award of expenses incurred in relation to the motion.

(b) Effect of Admission. Any matter admitted under this rule is conclusively established unless the court on motion permits withdrawal or amendment of the admission. Subject to the provisions of Rule 16 governing amendment of a pretrial order, the court may permit withdrawal or amendment when the presentation of the merits of the action will be subserved thereby and the party who obtained the admission fails to satisfy the court that withdrawal or amendment will prejudice him in maintaining his action or defense on the merits. Any admission made by a party under this rule is for the purpose of the pending action only and is not an admission by him for any other purpose nor may it be used against him in any other proceeding. [Amended May 26, 1972, effective July 1, 1972; adopted May 5, 1967, effective July 1, 1967. Prior: RPPP Rule 36.]

Rule 37 Failure to make discovery: Sanctions.

(a) Motion for Order Compelling Discovery. A party, upon reasonable notice to other parties and all persons affected thereby, may apply to the court in the county where the deposition was taken, or in the county where the action is pending, for an order compelling discovery as follows:

(1) Appropriate Court. An application for an order to a party may be made to the court in which the action is pending, or on matters relating to a deposition, to the court in the county where the deposition is being taken. An application for an order to a deponent who is not a party shall be made to the court in the county where the deposition is being taken.

(2) Motion. If a deponent fails to answer a question propounded or submitted under Rules 30 or 31, or a corporation or other entity fails to make a designation under Rule 30(b)(6) or 31(a), or a party fails to answer an interrogatory submitted under Rule 33, or if a party, in response to a request for inspection submitted under Rule 34, fails to respond that inspection will be permitted as requested or fails to permit inspection as requested, the discovering party may move for an order compelling an answer or a designation, or an order compelling inspection in accordance with the request. When taking a deposition on oral examination, the proponent of the question may complete or adjourn the examination before he applies for an order.

If the court denies the motion in whole or in part, it may make such protective order as it would have been empowered to make on a motion made pursuant to Rule 26(c).

(3) Evasive or Incomplete Answer. For purposes of this subdivision an evasive or incomplete answer is to be treated as a failure to answer.

(4) Award of Expenses of Motion. If the motion is granted, the court shall, after opportunity for hearing, require the party or deponent whose conduct necessitated the motion or the party or attorney advising such conduct or both of them to pay to the moving party the reasonable expenses incurred in obtaining the order, including attorney's fees, unless the court finds that the opposition to the motion was substantially justified or that other circumstances make an award of expenses unjust.

If the motion is denied, the court shall, after opportunity for hearing, require the moving party or the attorney advising the motion or both of them to pay to the party or deponent who opposed the motion the reasonable expenses incurred in opposing the motion, including attorney's fees, unless the court finds that the making of the motion was substantially justified or that other circumstances make an award of expenses unjust.

If the motion is granted in part and denied in part, the court may apportion the reasonable expenses incurred in relation to the motion among the parties and persons in a just manner.

(b) Failure to Comply with Order.

(1) Sanctions by Court in District Where Deposition is Taken. If a deponent fails to be sworn or to answer a question after being directed to do so by the court in the county in which the deposition is being taken, the failure may be considered a contempt of that court.

(2) Sanctions by Court in Which Action is Pending. If a party or an officer, director, or managing agent of a party or a person designated under Rule 30(b)(6) or 31(a) to testify on behalf of a party fails to obey an order to provide or permit discovery, including an order made under subdivision (a) of this rule or Rule 35, the court in which the action is pending may make such orders in regard to the failure as are just, and among others the following:

(A) An order that the matters regarding which the order was made or any other designated facts shall be taken to be established for the purposes of the action in accordance with the claim of the party obtaining the order;

(B) An order refusing to allow the disobedient party to support or oppose designated claims or defenses, or prohibiting him from introducing designated matters in evidence;

(C) An order striking out pleadings or parts thereof, or staying further proceedings until the order is obeyed, or dismissing the action or proceedings or any part thereof, or rendering a judgment by default against the disobedient party;

(D) In lieu of any of the foregoing orders or in addition thereto, an order treating as a contempt of court the failure to obey any orders except an order to submit to physical or mental examination;

(E) Where a party has failed to comply with an order under Rule 35(a) requiring him to produce another for examination such orders as are listed in paragraphs (A), (B), and (C) of this subdivision, unless the party failing to comply shows that he is unable to produce such person for examination.

In lieu of any of the foregoing orders or in addition thereto, the court shall require the party failing to obey the order or the attorney advising him or both to pay the reasonable expenses, including attorney's fees, caused by the failure, unless the court finds that the failure was substantially justified or that other circumstances make an award of expenses unjust.

(c) Expenses on Failure to Admit. If a party fails to admit the genuineness of any document or the truth of any matter as requested under Rule 36, and if the party requesting the admissions thereafter proves the genuineness of the document or the truth of the matter, he may apply to the court for an order requiring the other party to pay him the reasonable expenses incurred in making that proof, including reasonable attorney's fees. The court shall make the order unless it finds that (1) the request was held objectionable pursuant to Rule 36(a), or (2) the admission sought was of no substantial importance, or (3) the party failing to admit had reasonable ground to believe the fact was not true or the document was not genuine, or (4) there was other good reason for the failure to admit.

(d) Failure of Party to Attend at Own Deposition or Serve Answers to Interrogatories or Respond to Request for Inspection. If a party or an officer, director, or managing agent of a party or a person designated under Rule 30(b)(6) or 31(a) to testify on behalf of a party fails (1) to appear before the officer who is to take his deposition, after being served with a proper notice, or (2) to serve answers or objections to interrogatories submitted under Rule 33, after proper service of the interrogatories, or (3) to serve a written response to a request for inspection submitted under Rule 34, after proper service of the request, the court in which the action is pending on motion may make such orders in regard to the failure as are just, and among others it may take any action authorized under paragraphs (A), (B), and (C) of subdivision (b)(2) of this rule. In lieu of any order or in addition thereto, the court shall require the party failing to act or the attorney advising him or both to pay the reasonable expenses, including attorney's fees, caused by the failure, unless the court finds that the failure was substantially justified or that other circumstances make an award of expenses unjust.

The failure to act described in this subdivision may not be excused on the ground that the discovery sought is objectionable unless the party failing to act has applied for a protective order as provided by Rule 26(c). [Amended May 26, 1972, effective July 1, 1972; adopted May 5, 1967, effective July 1, 1967. Prior: RPPP Rule 37.]

Rule 38 Jury trial of right.

(–) Defined. A trial is the judicial examination of the issues between the parties, whether they are issues of law or of fact.

Comment by the Court. This subdivision is identical to and supersedes RCW 4.44.010.

(a) Right of Jury Trial Preserved. The right of trial by jury as declared in Article 1 § 21 of the Constitution or as given by a statute shall be preserved to the parties inviolate.

Comment by the Court. Subdivision (a) follows FRCP 38(a) except that reference is changed to the state constitution and reference to United States statutes is deleted.

(b) Demand for Jury. At or prior to the time the case is called to be set for trial, any party may demand a trial by jury of any issue triable of right by a jury by serving upon the other parties a demand therefore in writing, by filing the demand with the clerk, and by paying the jury fee required by law. If before the case is called to be set for trial no party serves or files a demand that the case be tried by a jury of twelve, it shall be tried by a jury of six members with the concurrence of five being required to reach a verdict.

Comment by the Court. Subdivision (b) supersedes RCW 4.44.100.

(c) Specification of Issues. In his demand a party may specify the issues which he wishes so tried; otherwise he shall be deemed to have demanded trial by jury for all the issues so triable. If he has demanded trial by jury for only some of the issues, any other party within 10 days after service of the demand or such lesser time as the court may order, may serve a demand for trial by jury of any other or all of the issues of fact in the action.

Comment by the Court. Subdivision (c) is identical to FRCP 38(c).

(d) Waiver of Jury. The failure of a party to serve a demand as required by this rule, to file it as required by this rule, and to pay the jury fee required by law in accordance with this rule, constitutes a waiver by him of trial by jury. A demand for trial by jury made as herein provided may not be withdrawn without the consent of the parties.

Comment by the Court. Subdivision (d) is similar to FRCP 38(d). This subdivision supersedes the second sentence of RCW 4.44.100.

(e) Return of Jury Fee—When Forfeited. Whenever a case has been set for trial with a jury and the jury fee deposit has been made and such case is settled out of court prior to the time that it is called to be heard upon trial, such jury deposit shall not be returned to the party depositing the same unless the court is notified of the settlement of the case not less than 3 court days before the trial date. [Subdivision (e) amended July 20, 1973, effective July 20, 1973; subdivision (b) amended November 29, 1971, effective January 1, 1972; adopted May 5, 1967, amended June 28, 1967, effective July 1, 1967.]

Comment by the Court. Subdivision (e) follows and supersedes RPPP 38.04W and supersedes the proviso to RCW 4.44.100.

Rule 39 Trial by jury or by the court.

(-) Issues—How Tried. [Reserved—See RCW 4.40.010 through 4.40.070.]

(a) By Jury.

(1) Rule. When trial by jury has been demanded as provided in Rule 38, the action shall be designated upon the docket as a jury action. The trial of all issues so demanded shall be by jury, unless (A) the parties or their attorneys of record, by written stipulation filed with the court or by an oral stipulation made in open court and entered in the record, consent to trial by the court sitting without a jury or (B) the court upon motion or of its own initiative finds that a right of trial by jury of some or all of those issues does not exist under the constitution or statutes of the state.

(2) Questions of Fact for Jury. [Reserved—See RCW 4.44.090.]

Comment by the Court. Paragraph (1) is identical to FRCP 39(a) except for change of reference from United States to the state.

(b) By the Court.

(1) Rule. Issues not demanded for trial by jury as provided in Rule 38 shall be tried by the court; but, notwithstanding the failure of a party to demand a jury in an action in which such a demand might have been made of right, the court in its discretion upon motion may order a trial by a jury or any or all issues.

(2) Questions of Law to Be Decided by Court. [Reserved—See RCW 4.44.080.]

Comment by the Court. Paragraph (1) is identical to FRCP 39(b).

(c) Advisory Jury and Trial by Consent. In all actions not triable of right by a jury the court, upon motion or of its own initiative, may try an issue with an advisory jury or it may, with the consent of both parties, order a trial with a jury whose verdict has the same effect as if trial by jury had been a matter of right. [Adopted May 5, 1967, effective July 1, 1967.]

Comment by the Court. Subdivision (c) follows FRCP 39(c) except that references to actions against the United States are deleted.

Rule 40 Assignment of cases.

(a) Notice of Trial—Note of Issue.

(1) Of Fact. At any time after the issues of fact are completed in any case by the service of complaint and answer or reply when necessary, as herein provided, either party may cause the issues of fact to be brought on for trial, by serving upon the opposite party a notice of trial at least 3 days before any day provided by rules of court for setting causes for trial, which notice shall give the title of the cause as in the pleadings, and notify the opposite party that the issues in such action will be brought on for trial at the time set by the court; and the party giving such notice of trial shall, at least 5 days before the day of setting such causes for trial, file with the clerk of the court a note of issue containing the title of the action, the names of the attorneys and the date when the last pleading was served; and the clerk shall thereupon enter the cause upon the trial docket according to the date of the issue.

(2) Of Law. In case an issue of law raised upon the pleadings is desired to be brought on for argument, either party shall, at least 5 days before the day set apart by the court under its rules for hearing issues of law, serve upon the opposite party a like notice of trial and furnish the clerk of the court with a note of issue as above provided, which note of issue shall specify that the issue to be tried is an issue of law; and the clerk of the court shall thereupon enter such action upon the motion docket of the court.

(3) Adjournments. When a cause has once been placed upon either docket of the court, if not tried or argued at the time for which notice was given, it need not be noticed for a subsequent session or day, but shall remain upon the docket from session to session or from law day to law day until final disposition or stricken off by the court.

(4) Filing Note by Opposite Party. The party upon whom notice of trial is served may file the note of issue and cause the action to be placed upon the calendar without further notice on his part.

(5) Issue May Be Brought to Trial by Either Party. Either party, after the notice of trial, whether given by himself or the adverse party, may bring the issue to trial, and in the absence of the adverse party, unless the court for good cause otherwise directs, may proceed with his case, and take a dismissal of the action, or a verdict or judgment, as the case may require.

Comment by the Court. Paragraphs (1) through (4) follow RCW 4.44.020. Paragraph (5) is identical to and supersedes RCW 4.44.030.

(b) Methods. Each superior court may provide by local rule for placing of actions upon the trial calendar (1) without request of the parties or (2) upon request of a party and notice to the other parties or (3) in such other manner as the court deems expedient.

Comment by the Court. Subdivision (b) follows FRCP 40, but omits the last sentence which gives preference to certain actions under United States statutes.

(c) Preferences. In setting cases for trial, unless otherwise provided by statute, preference shall be given to criminal over civil cases, and cases where the defendant or a witness is in confinement shall have preference over other cases.

Comment by the Court. Subdivision (c) follows subdivision (2) of RPPP 40.04W.

(d) Trials. When a cause is set and called for trial, it shall be tried or dismissed, unless good cause is shown for a continuance. The court may in a proper case, and upon terms, reset the same.

Comment by the Court. Subdivision (d) follows and supersedes subdivision (1) of RPPP 40.04W.

(e) Continuances. A motion to continue a trial on the ground of the absence of evidence, shall only be made upon affidavit, showing the materiality of the evidence expected to be obtained, and that due diligence has been used to procure it, and also the name and residence of the witness or witnesses. The court may also require the moving party to state upon affidavit the evidence which he expects to obtain; and if the adverse party admits that such evidence would be given, and that it be considered as actually given on the trial, or offered and overruled as improper, the trial shall not be continued. The court, upon its allowance of the motion, may impose terms or conditions upon the moving party.

Comment by the Court. Subdivision (e) follows and supersedes RCW 4.44.040.

(f) Change of Judge. [Reserved—See RCW 4.12-.040 and 4.12.050.] [Adopted May 5, 1967, effective July 1, 1967.]

Rule 41 Dismissal of actions.

(a) Voluntary Dismissal.

(1) Mandatory. Subject to the provisions of Rule 23(e) and 23.1, any action shall be dismissed by the court:

(A) By Stipulation. When all parties who have appeared so stipulate in writing; or

(B) By Plaintiff Before Resting. Upon motion of the plaintiff at any time before plaintiff rests at the conclusion of his opening case.

(2) Permissive. After plaintiff rests after his opening case, plaintiff may move for a voluntary dismissal without prejudice upon good cause shown and upon such terms and conditions as the court deems proper.

(3) Counterclaim. If a counterclaim has been pleaded by a defendant prior to the service upon him of plaintiff's motion for dismissal, the action shall not be dismissed against the defendant's objection unless the counterclaim can remain pending for independent adjudication by the court.

(4) Effect. Unless otherwise stated in the order of dismissal, the dismissal is without prejudice, except that an order of dismissal operates as an adjudication upon the merits when obtained by a plaintiff who has once dismissed an action based on or including the same claim in any court of the United States or of any state.

Comment by the Court. Subparagraph (1)(A) follows FRCP 41(a)(1)(ii). Subparagraph (1)(B) and paragraph (2) follow and supersede RPPP 41.08W. Paragraphs (3) and (4) follow similar provisions in FRCP 41(a).

(b) Involuntary Dismissal; Effect. For failure of the plaintiff to prosecute or to comply with these rules or any order of the court, a defendant may move for dismissal of an action or of any claim against him.

(1) Want of Prosecution on Motion of Party. Any civil action shall be dismissed, without prejudice, for want of prosecution whenever the plaintiff, counterclaimant, cross-claimant, or third-party plaintiff neglects to note the action for trial or hearing within 1 year after any issue of law or fact has been joined, unless the failure to bring the same on for trial or hearing was caused by the party who makes the motion to dismiss. Such motion to dismiss shall come on for hearing only after 10 days' notice to the adverse party. If the case is noted for trial before the hearing on the motion, the action shall not be dismissed.

(2) Dismissal on Clerk's Motion.

(A) Notice. In all civil cases wherein there has been no action of record during the 12 months just past, the clerk of the superior court shall mail notice to the attorneys of record that such case will be dismissed by the court for want of prosecution unless within 30 days following said mailing, action of record is made or an application in writing is made to the court and good cause shown why it should be continued as a pending case. If such application is not made or good cause is not shown, the court shall dismiss each such case without prejudice. The cost of filing such order of dismissal with the clerk shall not be assessed against either party.

(B) Mailing Notice. The notice shall be mailed in every eligible case not later than 30 days before June 15th and December 15th of each year, and all such cases shall be presented to the court by the clerk for action thereon on or before June 30th and December 31st of each year. These deadlines shall not be interpreted as a prohibition against mailing of notice and dismissal thereon as cases may become eligible for dismissal under this rule.

(C) Applicable Date. This dismissal procedure is mandatory as to all cases filed after January 1, 1959, and permissive as to all cases filed before that date. This rule is not a limitation upon any other power that the court may have to dismiss any action upon motion or otherwise.

(3) Defendant's Motion After Plaintiff Rests. After the plaintiff, in an action tried by the court without a jury, has completed the presentation of his evidence, the defendant, without waiving his right to offer evidence in the event the motion is not granted, may move for a dismissal on the ground that upon the facts and the law the plaintiff has shown no right to relief. The court as trier of the facts may then determine them and render judgment against the plaintiff or may decline to render any judgment until the close of all the evidence. If the court renders judgment on the merits against the plaintiff, the court shall make findings as provided in Rule 52(a). Unless the court in its order for dismissal otherwise specifies, a dismissal under this paragraph and any dismissal not provided for in this rule, other than a dismissal for lack of jurisdiction, for improper venue, or for failure to join a party under Rule 19, operates as an adjudication upon the merits.

Comment by the Court. Paragraph (2) is similar to RPPP 41.04W, which is superseded. Paragraph (3) is similar to FRCP 41(b).

(c) Dismissal of Counterclaim, Cross-Claim, or Third-Party Claim. The provisions of this rule apply to the dismissal of any counterclaim, cross-claim, or third-party claim. A voluntary dismissal by the claimant alone pursuant to paragraph (1) of subdivision (a) of this rule shall be made before a responsive pleading is served or, if there is none, before the introduction of evidence at the trial or hearing.

Comment by the Court. Subdivision (c) is identical to FRCP 41(c).

(d) Costs of Previously Dismissed Action. If a plaintiff who has once dismissed an action in any court commences an action based upon or including the same claim against the same defendant, the court may make such order for the payment of taxable costs of the action previously dismissed as it may deem proper and may stay the proceedings in the action until the plaintiff has complied with the order.

Comment by the Court. Subdivision (d) is similar to FRCP 41(d).

(e) Notice of Settlements. If a case is settled after it has been assigned for trial, it shall be the duty of the attorneys or of any party appearing pro se to notify the court promptly of the settlement. If the settlement is made within 5 days before the trial date, the notice shall be made by telephone or in person. All notices of settlement shall be confirmed in writing to the clerk. [Adopted May 5, 1967, effective July 1, 1967; amended, subdivision (e) added June 28, 1967, effective July 1, 1967.]

Comment by the Court. Subdivision (e) is added to enable the courts to make fuller use of all court facilities.

Rule 42 Consolidation; separate trials.

(a) Consolidation. When actions involving a common question of law or fact are pending before the court, it may order a joint hearing or trial of any or all the matters in issue in the actions; it may order all the actions consolidated; and it may make such orders concerning proceedings therein as may tend to avoid unnecessary costs or delay.

Comment by the Court. Subdivision (a) is identical to FRCP 42(a).

(b) Separate Trials. The court, in furtherance of convenience or to avoid prejudice, or when separate trials will be conducive to expedition and economy, may order a separate trial of any claim, cross-claim, counterclaim, or third-party claim, or of any separate issue or of any number of claims, cross-claims, counterclaims, third-party claims, or issues, always preserving inviolate the right of trial by jury. [Adopted May 5, 1967, effective July 1, 1967.]

Comment by the Court. Subdivision (b) follows FRCP 42(b) and supersedes RPPP 42(a).

Rule 43 Taking of testimony.

(a) Testimony.

(1) Generally. In all trials the testimony of witnesses shall be taken orally in open court, unless otherwise directed by the court or provided by rule or statute.

(2) Multiple Examinations. When two or more attorneys are upon the same side trying a case, the attorney conducting the examination of a witness shall continue until the witness is excused from the stand; and all objections and offers of proof made during the examination of such witness shall be made or announced by the attorney who is conducting the examination or cross-examination.

Comment by the Court. Paragraph (2) follows and supersedes RPPP 43.08W.

(b) [Reserved. See ER 103 and 611.]

(c) [Reserved. See ER 103 and 611.]

(d) Oaths of Witnesses.

(1) Administration. The oaths of all witnesses in the superior court

(A) shall be administered by the judge;

(B) shall be administered to each witness individually; and

(C) the witness shall stand while the oath is administered.

(2) Applicability. This rule shall not apply to civil ex parte proceedings or default divorce cases and in such cases the manner of swearing witnesses shall be as each superior court may prescribe.

(3) Affirmation in Lieu of Oath. Whenever under these rules an oath is required to be taken, a solemn affirmation may be accepted in lieu thereof.

Comment by the Court. Paragraphs (1) and (2) follow and supersede RPPP 77.04W. Paragraph (3) is identical to FRCP 43(d).

(e) Evidence on Motions.

(1) Generally. When a motion is based on facts not appearing of record the court may hear the matter on affidavits presented by the respective parties, but the court may direct that the matter be heard wholly or partly on oral testimony or depositions.

(2) For Injunctions, etc. On application for injunction or motion to dissolve an injunction or discharge an attachment, or to appoint or discharge a receiver, the notice thereof shall designate the kind of evidence to be introduced on the hearing. If the application is to be heard on affidavits, copies thereof must be served by the moving party upon the adverse party at least 3 days before the hearing. Oral testimony shall not be taken on such hearing unless permission of the court is first obtained and notice of such permission served upon the adverse party at least 3 days before the hearing. This rule shall not be construed as pertaining to applications for restraining orders or for appointment of temporary receivers.

Comment by the Court. Paragraph (1) is identical to FRCP 43(e). See also Rules 6(d) and 12(d). Paragraph (2) follows and supersedes RPPP 66.08W.

(f) Adverse Party as Witness.

(1) Party or Managing Agent as Adverse Witness. A party, or anyone who at the time of the notice is an officer, director, or other managing agent (herein collectively referred to as "managing agent") of a public or private corporation, partnership or association which is a party to an action or proceeding may be examined at the instance of any adverse party. Attendance of such deponent or witness may be compelled solely by notice (in lieu of a subpoena) given in the manner prescribed in Rule 30(a) to opposing counsel of record. Notices for the attendance of a party or of a managing agent at the trial shall be given not less than 10 days before trial (exclusive of the day of service, Saturdays, Sundays, and court holidays). For good cause shown in the manner prescribed in Rule 30(b), the court may make orders for the protection of the party or managing agent to be examined.

(2) Effect of Discovery, etc. A party who has filed interrogatories to be answered by the adverse party or who has taken the deposition of an adverse party or of the managing agent of an adverse party shall not be precluded for that reason from examining such adverse party or managing agent at the trial. The testimony of an adverse party or managing agent at the trial or on deposition or interrogatories shall not bind his adversary but may be rebutted.

(3) Refusal to Attend and Testify; Penalties. If a party or a managing agent refuses to attend and testify before the officer designated to take his deposition or at the trial after notice served as prescribed in Rule 30(a), the complaint, answer, or reply of the party may be stricken and judgment taken against the party, and the contumacious party or managing agent may also be proceeded against as in other cases of contempt. This rule shall not be construed:

(A) to compel any person to answer any question where such answer might tend to incriminate him;

(B) nor to prevent a party from using a subpoena to compel the attendance of any party or managing agent to give testimony by deposition or at the trial; nor

(C) to limit the applicability of any other sanctions or penalties provided in Rule 37 or otherwise for failure to attend and give testimony.

Comment by the Court. Subdivision (f) follows and supersedes RPPP 43.04W.

(g) Attorney as Witness. If any attorney offers himself as a witness on behalf of his client and gives evidence on the merits, he shall not argue the case to the jury, unless by permission of the court.

Comment by the Court. Subdivision (g) follows and supersedes RPPP 43.12W.

(h) Report or Transcript as Evidence. Whenever the testimony of a witness at a trial or hearing which was reported is admissible in evidence at a later trial, it may be proved by the transcript thereof duly certified by the person who reported the testimony.

Comment by the Court. Subdivision (h) follows FRCP 80(c).

(i) [Reserved. See ER 804.]

(j) Report of Proceedings in Retrial of Nonjury Cases. In the event a cause has been remanded by the court for a new trial or the taking of further testimony, and such cause shall have been tried without a jury, and the testimony in such cause shall have been taken in full and used as the report of proceedings upon review, either party upon the retrial of such cause or the taking of further testimony therein shall have the right, provided the court shall so order after an application on 10 days' notice to the opposing party or parties, to submit said report of proceedings as the testimony in said cause upon its second hearing, to the same effect as if the witnesses called by him in the earlier hearing had been called, sworn, and testified in the further hearing; but no party shall be denied the right to submit other or further testimony upon such retrial or further hearing, and the party having the right of cross-examination shall have the privilege of subpoenaing any witness whose testimony is contained in such report of proceedings for further cross-examination. [Amended December 19, 1978, effective April 2, 1979; amended August 9, 1976, effective January 1, 1977; adopted May 5, 1967, effective July 1, 1967.]

Comment by the Court. Subdivision (j) follows and supersedes RPPP 80.04W.

Rule 44 Proof of official record.(a) Authentication.

(1) Domestic. An official record kept within the United States, or any state, district, commonwealth, territory, or insular possession thereof, or within the Panama Canal Zone, the Trust Territory of the Pacific Islands, or the Ryukyu Islands, or an entry therein, when admissible for any purpose, may be evidenced by an official publication thereof or by a copy attested by the officer having the legal custody of the record, or by his deputy, and accompanied by a certificate that such officer has the custody. The certificate may be made by a judge of a court of record of the district or political subdivision in which the record is kept, authenticated by the seal of the court, or may be made by any public officer having a seal of office or official custody of the seal of the political subdivision and having official duties in the district or political subdivision in which the record is kept, authenticated by the seal of his office or the seal of the political subdivision.

(2) Foreign. A foreign official record, or an entry therein, when admissible for any purpose, may be evidenced by an official publication thereof; or a copy thereof, attested by a person authorized to make the attestation, and accompanied by a final certification as to the genuineness of the signature and official position (A) of the attesting person, or (B) of any foreign official whose certificate of genuineness of signature and official position relates to the attestation or is in a chain of certificates of genuineness of signature and official position relating to the attestation. A final certification may be made by a secretary of embassy or legation, consul general, consul, vice consul, or consular agent of the United States, or a diplomatic or consular official of the foreign country assigned or accredited to the United States. If reasonable opportunity has been given to all parties to investigate the authenticity and accuracy of the documents, the court may, for good cause shown, either admit an attested copy without final certification or permit the foreign official record to be evidenced by an attested summary with or without a final certification.

(b) Lack of Record. A written statement that after diligent search no record or entry of a specified tenor is found to exist in the records, designated by the statement, authenticated as provided in paragraph (a)(1) of this rule in the case of a domestic record, or complying with the requirements of paragraph (a)(2) of this rule for a summary in the case of a foreign record, is admissible as evidence that the records contain no such record or entry.

(c) Other Proof. This rule does not prevent the proof of official records or of entry or lack of entry therein by any other method authorized by law. [Adopted May 5, 1967, amended June 28, 1967, effective July 1, 1967. Prior: RPPP Rule 44.]

Rule 44.1 Determination of foreign law.

(a) Pleading. A party who intends to raise an issue concerning the law of a foreign country shall give notice in his pleadings or other reasonable written notice.

(b) United States Jurisdiction. See RCW 5.24.

(c) Other Jurisdictions. The court, in determining the law of any jurisdiction other than a state, territory, or other jurisdiction of the United States, may consider any relevant written material or other source, including testimony, having due regard for their trustworthiness, whether or not submitted by a party and whether or not admissible under the rules of evidence. If the court considers any material or source not received in open court, prior to its determination the court shall:

- (1) Identify in the record such material or source;
- (2) Summarize in the record any unwritten information received; and
- (3) Afford the parties an opportunity to respond thereto. The court's determination shall be treated as a ruling on a question of law. [Adopted June 13, 1977, effective July 1, 1977.]

Rule 45 Subpoena.

(a) For Attendance of Witnesses. The subpoena shall be issued as follows:

(1) Form. To require attendance before a court of record or at the trial of an issue therein, such subpoena may be issued in the name of the state of Washington and be under the seal of the court before which the attendance is required or in which the issue is pending: Provided, That such subpoena may be issued with like effect by the attorney of record of the party to the action in whose behalf the witness is required to appear, and the form of such subpoena in each case may be the same as when issued by the court except that it shall only be subscribed by the signature of such attorney.

(2) Issuance for Trial. To require attendance before a court of record or at the trial of an issue of fact, the subpoena may be issued by the clerk in response to a precept or by an attorney of record.

(3) Issuance for Deposition. To require attendance out of such court before a judge, justice of the peace, commissioner, referee or other officer authorized to administer oaths or to take testimony in any matter under the laws of this state, it shall be issued by an attorney of record or by such judge, justice of the peace, commissioner, referee or other officer before whom the attendance is required.

Comment by the Court. This subdivision supersedes RCW 5.56.020 (1) and (2).

(b) For Production of Documentary Evidence. A subpoena may also command the person to whom it is directed to produce the books, papers, documents, or tangible things designated therein; but the court, upon motion made promptly and in any event at or before the time specified in the subpoena for compliance therewith, may (1) quash or modify the subpoena if it is unreasonable and oppressive or (2) condition denial of the motion upon the advancement by the person in whose behalf the subpoena is issued of the reasonable cost of producing the books, papers, documents, or tangible things.

Comment by the Court. Subdivision (b) is identical to FRCP 45(b), and supersedes RCW 5.56.030.

(c) Service. A subpoena may be served by any suitable person over 18 years of age, by exhibiting and reading it to the witness, or by giving him a copy thereof, or by leaving such copy at the place of his abode. When service is made by any other person than an officer authorized to serve process, proof of service shall be made by affidavit.

Comment by the Court. Subdivision (c) is identical to RCW 5.56.040, which is superseded.

(d) Subpoena for Taking Depositions; Place of Examination.

(1) Authorization. Proof of service of a notice to take a deposition as provided in Rules 30(b) and 31(a) constitutes a sufficient authorization for the issuance by the attorney of record or the officer taking the deposition of subpoenas for the persons named or described therein. The subpoena may command the person to whom it is directed to produce and permit inspection and copying of designated books, papers, documents, or tangible things which constitute or contain matters within the scope of the examination permitted by Rule 26(b), but in that event the subpoena will be subject to the provisions of Rule 26(c) and subdivision (b) of this rule.

The person to whom the subpoena is directed may, within 10 days after the service thereof or on or before the time specified in the subpoena for compliance if such time is less than 10 days after service, serve upon the attorney designated in the subpoena written objection to inspection or copying of any or all of the designated materials. If objection is made, the party serving the subpoena shall not be entitled to inspect and copy the materials except pursuant to an order of the court from which the subpoena was issued. The party serving the subpoena may, if objection has been made, move upon notice to the deponent for an order at any time before or during the taking of the deposition.

(2) Place of Examination. A resident of the state may be required to attend an examination only in the county wherein he resides or is employed or transacts his business in person, or at such other convenient place as is fixed by an order of the court. A nonresident of the state may be required to attend only in the county wherein he is served with a subpoena, or within 40 miles from the place of service or at such other convenient place as is fixed by an order of the court.

(3) Foreign Depositions for Local Actions. When the place of examination is in another state, territory, or country, the party desiring to take the deposition may secure the issuance of a subpoena or equivalent process in accordance with the laws of such state, territory or country to require the deponent to attend the examination.

(4) Local Depositions for Foreign Actions. When any officer or person is authorized to take depositions in this state by the law of another state, territory or country, with or without a commission, a subpoena to require attendance before such officer or person may be issued by any judge or justice of the peace of this state for attendance at any places within his jurisdiction.

Comment by the Court. Subdivision (d) supersedes RCW 5.56.020(3).

(e) Subpoena for Hearing or Trial. [Reserved—See RCW 5.56.010.]

(f) Contempt. Failure by any person without adequate excuse to obey a subpoena served upon him may be deemed a contempt of the court from which the subpoena issued. [Amended May 26, 1972, effective July 1, 1972; adopted May 5, 1967, effective July 1, 1967.]

Comment by the Court. Subdivision (f) is identical to FRCP 45(f) and complements RCW 5.56.061, et seq. See also RCW 2.28.020 and 2.28.070.

Rule 46 Exceptions unnecessary. Formal exceptions to rulings or orders of the court are unnecessary; but for all purposes for which an exception has heretofore been necessary it is sufficient that a party, at the time the ruling or order of the court is made or sought, makes known to the court the action which he desires the court to take or his objection to the action of the court and his grounds therefor; and, if a party has no opportunity to object to a ruling or order at the time it is made, the absence of an objection does not thereafter prejudice him. [Adopted May 5, 1967, effective July 1, 1967.]

Comment by the Court. The rule is identical to FRCP 46 and supersedes RPPP 46.04W.

Rule 47 Jurors.

(a) Examination of Jurors. The court may examine the prospective jurors to the extent it deems appropriate, and shall permit the parties or their attorneys to ask reasonable questions.

Comment by the Court. Subdivision (a) is intended to preserve the present Washington practice.

(b) Alternate Jurors. The court may direct that not more than 6 jurors in addition to the regular jury be called and impanelled to sit as alternate jurors. Alternate jurors in the order in which they are called shall replace jurors who, prior to the time the jury retires to consider its verdict, become or are found to be unable or disqualified to perform their duties. Alternate jurors shall be drawn in the same manner, shall have the same qualifications, shall be subject to the same examination and challenges, shall take the same oath, and shall have the same functions, powers, facilities and privileges as the regular jurors. An alternate juror who does not replace a regular juror shall be discharged after the jury retires to consider its verdict. Each side is entitled to 1 peremptory challenge in addition to those otherwise allowed by law if 1 or 2 alternate jurors are to be impanelled, 2 peremptory challenges if 3 or 4 alternate jurors are to be impanelled, and 3 peremptory challenges if 5 or 6 alternate jurors are to be impanelled. The additional peremptory challenges may be used against an alternate juror only, and the other peremptory challenges allowed by law shall not be used against an alternate juror.

(c) Procedure When Juror Becomes Ill. [Reserved—See RCW 4.44.290.]

(d) Impanelling Jury. [Reserved—See RCW 4.44.120.]

(e) Challenge.

(1) Kind and Number. [Reserved—See RCW 4.44.130.]

(2) Peremptory Challenges Defined. [Reserved—See RCW 4.44.140.]

(3) Challenges for Cause. [Reserved—See RCW 4.44.150.]

(6) Implied Bias Defined. [Reserved—See RCW 4.44.180.]

(7) Challenge for Actual Bias. [Reserved—See RCW 4.44.190.]

(8) Exemption not Cause of Challenge. [Reserved—See RCW 4.44.200.]

(12) Trial of Challenge. [Reserved—See RCW 4.44.240.]

(13) Challenge, Objection and Denial May Be Oral. [Reserved—See RCW 4.44.250.]

(f) Oath of Jurors. [Reserved—See RCW 4.44.260.]

(g) View of Premises by Jury. [Reserved—See RCW 4.44.270.]

(h) Admonitions to Jurors. [Reserved—See RCW 4.44.280.]

(i) Care of Jury While Deliberating. [Reserved—See RCW 4.44.300.]

(j) Note-taking by Jurors. With the permission of the trial judge, jurors may take written notes regarding the evidence presented to them and keep these notes with them when they retire for their deliberation. Such notes should be treated as confidential between the jurors making them and their fellow jurors, and shall be destroyed immediately after the verdict is rendered. [Subdivision (j) adopted April 9, 1974, effective July 1, 1974; adopted May 5, 1967, effective July 1, 1967.]

Rule 48 Juries of less than twelve. The parties may stipulate that the jury shall consist of any number less than 12 or that a verdict or a finding of a stated majority of the jurors shall be taken as the verdict or finding of the jury. [Adopted May 5, 1967, effective July 1, 1967.]

Comment by the Court. This rule is identical to FRCP 48. See Washington Constitution Article I § 21.

Rule 49 Verdicts.

(–) General Verdict. A general verdict is that by which the jury pronounces generally upon all or any of the issues either in favor of the plaintiff or defendant.

Comment by the Court. Subdivision (–) is identical to and supersedes the second sentence of RCW 4.44.410.

(a) Special Verdict. The court may require a jury to return only a special verdict in the form of a special written finding upon each issue of fact. In that event the court may submit to the jury written questions susceptible of categorical or other brief answer or may submit written forms of the several special findings which might properly be made under the pleadings and evidence; or it may use such other method of submitting the issues and requiring the written findings thereon as it deems most appropriate. The court shall give to the jury such explanation and instruction concerning the matter thus submitted as may be necessary to enable the jury to make its findings upon each issue. If in so doing the court omits any issue of fact raised by the pleadings or by the evidence, each party waives his rights to a trial by jury of the issue so omitted unless before the jury retires he demands its submission to the jury. As to an issue omitted without such demand the court may make a finding; or, if it fails to do so, it shall be deemed to have made a finding in accord with the judgment on the special verdict.

Comment by the Court. Subdivision (a) is identical to FRCP 49(a) and supersedes the third sentence of RCW 4.44.410.

(b) General Verdict Accompanied by Answer to Interrogatories. The court may submit to the jury, together with appropriate forms for a general verdict, written interrogatories upon one or more issues of fact the decision of which is necessary to a verdict. The court shall give such explanation or instruction as may be necessary to enable the jury both to make answers to the interrogatories and to render a general verdict, and the court shall direct the jury both to make written answers and to render a general verdict. When the general verdict and the answers are harmonious, the appropriate judgment upon the verdict and answers shall be entered pursuant to Rule 58. When the answers are consistent with each other but one or more is inconsistent with the general verdict, judgment may be entered pursuant to Rule 58 in accordance with the answers, notwithstanding the general verdict, or the court may return the jury for further consideration of its answers and verdict or may order a new trial. When the answers are inconsistent with each other and one or more is likewise inconsistent with the general verdict, judgment shall not be entered, but the court shall return the jury for further consideration of its answers and verdict or shall order a new trial.

Comment by the Court. Subdivision (b) is identical to FRCP 49(b).

(c) Discharge of Jury.

(1) Without Verdict. [Reserved—See RCW 4.44.330.]

(2) Effect of Discharge. [Reserved—See RCW 4.44.340.]

(d) Court Recess During Deliberation. [Reserved—See RCW 4.44.350.]

(e) Proceedings When Jury Have Agreed. [Reserved—See RCW 4.44.360.]

(f) Manner of Giving Verdict. [Reserved—See RCW 4.44.370.]

(g) Ten Jurors in Civil Cases. [Reserved—See RCW 4.44.380.]

(h) Jury May Be Polled. [Reserved—See RCW 4.44.390.]

(i) Correction of Informal Verdict. [Reserved—See RCW 4.44.400.]

(j) Jury to Assess Amount of Recovery. [Reserved—See RCW 4.44.450.]

(k) Receiving Verdict and Discharging Jury. [Reserved—See RCW 4.44.460.] [Adopted May 5, 1967, effective July 1, 1967. Prior: Rule 49(a) and (b), RPPP.]

Rule 50 Motion for a directed verdict and for judgment notwithstanding the verdict.

(a) Motion for Directed Verdict; When Made; Effect. A party who moves for a directed verdict at the close of the evidence offered by an opponent may offer evidence in the event that the motion is not granted, without having reserved the right so to do and to the same extent as if the motion had not been made. A motion for a directed verdict which is not granted is not a waiver of trial by jury even though all parties to the action have moved for directed verdicts. A motion for a directed verdict shall state the specific ground therefor.

Comment by the Court. Subdivision (a) is similar to FRCP 50(a) and supersedes RPPP 50. Subdivision (a) does not supersede RCW 4.56.150.

(b) Motion for Judgment Notwithstanding the Verdict. Not later than 5 days after the entry of verdict or after the jury is discharged if no verdict is returned, whether or not he has moved for a directed verdict and whether or not a verdict was returned, a party may move for judgment notwithstanding the verdict. A motion in the alternative for a new trial may be joined with this motion.

(c) Alternative Motions for Judgment Notwithstanding Verdict or for a New Trial—Effect of Appeal. Whenever a motion for a judgment notwithstanding the verdict and, in the alternative, for a new trial shall be filed and submitted in any superior court in any civil cause tried before a jury, and such superior court shall enter an order granting such motion for judgment notwithstanding the verdict, such court shall at the same time, in the alternative, pass upon and decide in the same order such motion for a new trial; such ruling upon said motion for a new trial not to become effective unless and until the order granting the motion for judgment notwithstanding the verdict shall thereafter be reversed, vacated, or set aside in the manner provided by law. An appeal to the Supreme Court or Court of Appeals from a judgment granted on a motion for judgment notwithstanding the verdict shall, of itself, without the necessity of a cross-appeal, bring up for review the ruling of the trial court on the motion for a new trial; and the appellate court shall, if it reverses the judgment entered notwithstanding the verdict, review and determine the validity of the ruling on the motion for a new trial. [Amended August 9, 1976, effective January 1, 1977; adopted May 5, 1967, amended June 28, 1967, effective July 1, 1967. Prior: 50(a), RPPP Rule 50; 50(c) and (d), RPPP Rule 59.08W.]

Rule 51 Instructions to jury and deliberation.

(a) Proposed. Unless otherwise requested by the trial judge on timely notice to counsel, proposed instructions shall be submitted when the case is called for trial. Proposed instructions upon questions of law developed by the evidence, which could not reasonably be anticipated, may be submitted at any time before the court has instructed the jury.

Comment by the Court. Subdivision (a) follows paragraph (1) and supersedes paragraphs (1) and (2) of RPPP 51.04W.

(b) Submission. Submission of proposed instructions shall be by delivering the original and 3 or more copies as required by the trial judge, by filing 1 copy with the clerk, identified as the party's proposed instructions, and by serving 1 copy upon each opposing counsel.

Comment by the Court. Subdivision (b) follows and supersedes paragraph (1) of RPPP 51.04W.

(c) Form. Each proposed instruction shall be typewritten or printed on a separate sheet of lettersize (8 1/2 x 11 inches) paper. Except for 1 copy of each, the instructions delivered to the trial court shall not be numbered or identified as to the proposing party. One copy delivered to the trial court, and the copy filed with the clerk, and copies served on each opposing counsel shall be numbered and identified as to proposing party, and may contain supporting annotations.

Comment by the Court. Except for requiring instructions to be on lettersize paper, subdivision (c) follows and supersedes paragraph (3) of RPPP 51.04W.

(d) Published Instructions.

(1) Request. Any instruction appearing in the Washington Pattern Instructions (WPI) may be requested by counsel who must submit the proper number of copies of the requested instruction, identified by number as in (c) of this rule, in the form he wishes it read to the jury. If the instruction in WPI allows or provides for a choice of wording by the use of brackets or otherwise, the written requested instruction shall use the choice of wording which is being requested.

(2) Record on Review. Where the refusal to give a requested instruction is an asserted error on review, a copy of the requested instruction shall be placed in the record on review.

(3) Local Option. Any superior court may adopt a local rule to substitute for CR 51(d)(1) and to allow instructions appearing in the Washington Pattern Instructions (WPI) to be requested by reference to the published number. If the instruction in WPI allows or provides for a choice of wording by the use of brackets or otherwise, the local rule must require that the written request which designates the number of the instruction shall also designate the choice of wording which is being requested.

(e) Disregarding Requests. The trial court may disregard any proposed instruction not submitted in accordance with this rule.

Comment by the Court. Subdivision (e) follows and supersedes paragraph (4) of RPPP 51.04W.

(f) Objections to Instruction. Before instructing the jury, the court shall supply counsel with copies of its proposed instructions which shall be numbered. Counsel shall then be afforded an opportunity in the absence of the jury to make objections to the giving of any instruction and to the refusal to give a requested instruction. The objector shall state distinctly the matter to which he objects and the grounds of his objection, specifying the number, paragraph or particular part of the instruction to be given or refused and to which objection is made.

Comment by the Court. Subdivision (f) follows and supersedes RPPP 51.08W and 51.16W.

(g) Instructing the Jury and Argument. After counsel have completed their objections and the court has made any modifications deemed appropriate, the court shall then provide each counsel with a copy of the instructions in their final form. The court shall then read the instructions to the jury. The plaintiff or party having the burden of proof may then address the jury upon the evidence, and the law as contained in the court's instructions; after which the adverse party may address the jury; followed by the rebuttal of the party first addressing the jury.

Comment by the Court. Subdivision (g) follows and supersedes RPPP 51.08W.

(h) Deliberation. After argument, the jury shall retire to consider their verdict. In addition to the written instructions given, the jury shall take with them all exhibits received in evidence, except depositions. Copies may be substituted for any parts of public records or private documents as ought not, in the opinion of the court, to be taken from the person having them in possession. Pleadings shall not go to the jury room.

Comment by the Court. Subdivision (h) follows and supersedes RPPP 51.12W and 51.08W.

(i) Further Instructions. After retirement for deliberation, if the jury desires to be informed on any point of law, the judge may require the officer having them in charge to conduct them into court. Upon the jury being brought into court, the information requested, if given, shall be given in the presence of, or after notice to the parties or their counsel. Any additional instruction upon any point of law shall be given in writing.

Comment by the Court. Subdivision (i) follows and supersedes RCW 4.44.320.

(j) Comments Upon Evidence. Judges shall not instruct with respect to matters of fact, nor comment thereon. [Amended August 9, 1976, effective January 1, 1977; amended March 12, 1968, effective March 29, 1968; amended October 12, 1967, effective November 3, 1967; adopted May 5, 1967, amended June 28, 1967, effective July 1, 1967.]

Comment by the Court. Subdivision (j) follows Article 4 § 16 of the Washington Constitution.

New Civil Rule 51—Supersedes: RPPP 51.04W, 51.12W and 51.16W; and RCW 4.44.320.

Rule 52 Decisions, findings and conclusions.

(a) Requirements.

(1) Generally. In all actions tried upon the facts without a jury or with an advisory jury, the court shall find the facts specially and state separately its conclusions of law. Judgment shall be entered pursuant to Rule 58 and may be entered at the same time as the entry of the findings of fact and the conclusions of law.

(2) Specifically Required. Without in any way limiting the requirements of paragraph (1), findings and conclusions are required:

(A) Temporary Injunctions. In granting or refusing temporary injunctions.

(B) Domestic Relations. In connection with all final decisions in adoption, custody, and divorce proceedings, whether heard ex parte or not.

(C) Other. In connection with any other decision where findings and conclusions are specifically required by statute, by another rule, or by a local rule of the superior court.

(3) Proposed. Requests for proposed findings of fact are not necessary for review.

(4) Form. If a written opinion or memorandum of decision is filed, it will be sufficient if formal findings of fact and conclusions of law are included.

(5) When Unnecessary. Findings of fact and conclusions of law are not necessary:

(A) Stipulation. Where all parties stipulate in writing that there will be no appeal.

(B) Decision on Motions. On decisions of motions under Rules 12 or 56 or any other motion, except as provided in Rules 41(b)(3) and 55(b)(2).

(C) Temporary Restraining Orders. On the issuance of temporary restraining orders issued ex parte.

Comment by the Court. Subdivision (a) follows FRCP 52(a) as amended.

(b) Amendment of Findings. Upon motion of a party made not later than 5 days after entry of judgment the court may amend its findings or make additional findings and may amend the judgment accordingly. The motion may be made with a motion for a new trial pursuant to Rule 59. When findings of fact are made in actions tried by the court without a jury, the question of the sufficiency of the evidence to support the findings may thereafter be raised whether or not the party raising the question has made in the court an objection to such findings or has made a motion to amend them or a motion for judgment.

(c) Presentation. Unless an emergency is shown to exist, the court shall not sign findings of fact or conclusions of law until the defeated party or parties have received 5 days' notice of the time and place of the submission, and have been served with copies of the proposed findings and conclusions.

(d) Judgment Without Findings, etc. A judgment entered in a case tried to the court where findings are required, without findings of fact having been made, is subject to a motion to vacate within the time for the taking of an appeal. After vacation, the judgment shall not be re-entered until findings are entered pursuant to this rule.

Rule 54 Judgments and costs.

(a) Definitions.

(1) Judgment. A judgment is the final determination of the rights of the parties in the action and includes any decree and order from which an appeal lies. A judgment shall be in writing and signed by the judge and filed forthwith as provided in Rule 58.

(2) Order. Every direction of a court or judge, made or entered in writing, not included in a judgment, is denominated an order.

Comment by the Court. Paragraph (1) combines RCW 4.56.010 and FRCP 54(a) and supersedes RCW 4.56.010.

(b) Judgment Upon Multiple Claims or Involving Multiple Parties. When more than one claim for relief is presented in an action, whether as a claim, counterclaim, cross-claim, or third-party claim, or when multiple parties are involved, the court may direct the entry of a final judgment as to one or more but fewer than all of the claims or parties only upon an express determination in the judgment, that there is no just reason for delay and upon an express direction for the entry of judgment. In the absence of such determination and direction, any order or other form of decision, however designated, which adjudicates fewer than all the claims or the rights and liabilities of fewer than all the parties shall not terminate the action as to any of the claims or parties, and the order or other form of decision is subject to revision at any time before the entry of judgment adjudicating all the claims and the rights and liabilities of all the parties.

Comment by the Court. Except for the addition of the words "in the judgment," subdivision (b) is identical to FRCP 54(b) and supersedes RPPP 42(c), and also supersedes RCW 4.56.030 and 4.56.040. For judgments on setoffs, see RCW 4.32.120 through 4.32.150 and RCW 4.56.050 through 4.56.075. It should be noted that RCW 4.56.050 applies to RCW 4.32.130; RCW 4.56.060 and 4.56.070 apply to RCW 4.32.110 (in part superseded), 4.32.120, 4.32.130 and 4.32.140; and RCW 4.56.075 applies to RCW 4.32.130 and 4.32.140.

(c) Demand for Judgment. A judgment by default shall not be different in kind from or exceed in amount that prayed for in the demand for judgment. Except as to a party against whom a judgment is entered by default, every final judgment shall grant the relief to which the party in whose favor it is rendered is entitled, even if the party has not demanded such relief in his pleadings.

Comment by the Court. Subdivision (c) is identical to FRCP 54(c).

(d) Costs. Costs shall be fixed and allowed as provided in RCW ch. 4.84 or by any other applicable statute.

(e) Preparation of Order or Judgment. The attorney of record for the prevailing party shall prepare and present a proposed form of order or judgment not later than 15 days after the entry of the verdict or decision, or at any other time as the court may direct. Where the prevailing party is represented by an attorney of record, no order or judgment may be entered for the prevailing party unless presented or approved by the attorney of record. If both the prevailing party and his attorney of record fail to prepare and present the form of order or judgment within the prescribed time, any other party may do so, without the approval of the attorney of record of the prevailing party upon notice of presentation as provided in paragraph (f)(2).

(f) Presentation.

(1) Time. Judgments may be presented at the same time as the findings of fact and conclusions of law under Rule 52.

(2) Notice of Presentation. No order or judgment shall be signed or entered until opposing counsel have been given 5 days' notice of presentation and served with a copy of the proposed order or judgment unless:

(A) Emergency. An emergency is shown to exist.

(B) Approval. Opposing counsel has approved in writing the entry of the proposed order or judgment or waived notice of presentation.

(C) After Verdict, etc. If presentation is made after entry of verdict or findings and while opposing counsel is in open court. [Adopted May 5, 1967, effective July 1, 1967. Prior: 54(e), RPPP Rule 54.04W and Rule 77.08W (1st sentence).]

Rule 55 Default and judgment.

(a) Entry of Default.

(1) Motion. When a party against whom a judgment for affirmative relief is sought has failed to appear, plead, or otherwise defend as provided by these rules and that fact is made to appear by motion and affidavit, a motion for default may be made.

(2) Pleading After Default. Any party may respond to any pleading or otherwise defend at any time before a motion for default and supporting affidavit is filed, whether the party previously had appeared or not. If the party had appeared before the motion is filed, he may respond to the pleading or otherwise defend at any time before the hearing on the motion. If the party had not appeared before the motion is filed he may not respond to the pleading nor otherwise defend without leave of court. Any appearances for any purpose in the action shall be for all purposes under this Rule 55.

(3) Notice. Any party who has appeared in the action for any purpose, shall be served with a written notice of motion for default and the supporting affidavit at least 5 days before the hearing on the motion. Any party who has not appeared before the motion for default and supporting affidavit are filed, is not entitled to a notice of the motion, except as provided in Rule 55(f)(2)(A).

(4) Venue. A motion for default shall include a statement of the basis for venue in the action. A default shall not be entered if it clearly appears to the court from the papers on file that the action was brought in an improper county.

Comment by the Court. Paragraph (1) follows FRCP 55(a). Paragraph (2) supersedes RPPP 55.04W. Paragraph (3) supersedes RCW 4.28.220.

(b) Entry of Default Judgment. As limited in Rule 54(c), judgment after default may be entered as follows, if proof of service is on file as required by paragraph (b)(4):

(1) When Amount Certain. When the claim against a party, whose default has been entered under subdivision (a), is for a sum certain or for a sum which can by computation be made certain, the court upon motion and affidavit of the amount due shall enter judgment for that amount and costs against the party in default, if he is not an infant or incompetent person. No judgment by default shall be entered against an infant or incompetent person unless represented by a general guardian or guardian ad litem. Findings of fact and conclusions of law are not necessary under this paragraph even though reasonable attorney fees are requested and allowed.

(2) When Amount Uncertain. If, in order to enable the court to enter judgment or to carry it into effect, it is necessary to take an account or to determine the amount of damages or to establish the truth of any averment by evidence or to make an investigation of any other matter, the court may conduct such hearings as are deemed necessary or, when required by statute, shall have such matters resolved by a jury. Findings of fact and conclusions of law are required under this paragraph.

(3) When Service by Publication or Mail. In an action where the service of the summons was by publication, or by mail under Rule 4(d)(4), the plaintiff, upon the expiration of the time for answering, may upon proof of service, apply for judgment. The court must thereupon require proof of the demand mentioned in the complaint, and must require the plaintiff or his agent to be examined on oath respecting any payments that have been made to the plaintiff, or to any one for his use on account of such demand, and may render judgment for the amount which he is entitled to recover, or for such other relief as he may be entitled to.

(4) Costs and Proof of Service. Costs shall not be awarded and default judgment shall not be rendered unless proof of service is on file with the court.

Comment by the Court. Paragraph (1) follows FRCP 55(b)(1) and supersedes RCW 4.56.160(1). Paragraph (2) follows the third sentence of FRCP 55(b)(2) and supersedes RCW 4.56.160(2). Paragraph (3) follows and supersedes RCW 4.56.160(3).

(c) Setting Aside Default. For good cause shown and upon such terms as the court deems just, the court may set aside an entry of default and, if a judgment by default has been entered, may likewise set it aside in accordance with Rule 60(b).

Comment by the Court. Subdivision (c) follows FRCP 55(c) and supersedes RCW 4.56.170.

(d) Plaintiffs, Counterclaimants, Cross-Claimants. The provisions of this rule apply whether the party entitled to the judgment by default is a plaintiff, a third-party plaintiff, or a party who has pleaded a cross-claim or counterclaim. In all cases a judgment by default is subject to the limitations of Rule 54(c).

Comment by the Court. Subdivision (d) is identical to FRCP 55(d).

(e) Judgment Against State. [Reserved.]

(f) How Made After Elapse of Year.

(1) Notice. When more than one year has elapsed after service of summons with no appearance being made, the court shall not sign an order of default or enter a judgment until a notice of the time and place of the application for the order or judgment is served on the party in default, not less than 10 days prior to the entry. Proof by affidavit of the service of the notice shall be filed before entry of the judgment.

(2) Service. Service of notice of the time and place on the application for the order of default or default judgment shall be made as follows:

(A) by service upon the attorney of record;

(B) if there is no attorney of record, then by service upon the defendant by certified mail with return receipt of said service to be attached to the affidavit in support of the application; or

(C) by a personal service upon the defendant in the same manner provided for service of process.

(D) If service of notice cannot be made under subparagraphs (A) and (C), the notice may be given by publication in a newspaper of general circulation in the county in which the action is pending for one publication, and by mailing a copy to the last known address of each defendant. Both the publication and mailing shall be done 10 days prior to the hearing. [Amended July 20, 1978, effective September 1, 1978; amended June 13, 1977, effective July 1, 1977; adopted May 5, 1967, effective July 1, 1967.]

Comment by the Court. Subdivision (f) follows and supersedes RPPP 55.08W.

Rule 56 Summary judgment.

(a) For Claimant. A party seeking to recover upon a claim, counterclaim, or cross-claim, or to obtain a declaratory judgment may, at any time after the expiration of the period within which the defendant is required to appear, or after service of a motion for summary judgment by the adverse party, move with or without supporting affidavits for a summary judgment in his favor upon all or any part thereof.

(b) For Defending Party. A party against whom a claim, counterclaim, or cross-claim is asserted or a declaratory judgment is sought may, at any time, move with or without supporting affidavits for a summary judgment in his favor as to all or any part thereof.

(c) Motion and Proceedings. The motion shall be served at least 10 days before the time fixed for the hearing. The adverse party, prior to the day of hearing, may serve opposing affidavits. The judgment sought shall be rendered forthwith if the pleadings, depositions, and admissions on file, together with the affidavits, if any, show that there is no genuine issue as to any material fact and that the moving party is entitled to a judgment as a matter of law. A summary judgment, interlocutory in character, may be rendered on the issue of liability alone although there is a genuine issue as to the amount of damages.

(d) Case Not Fully Adjudicated on Motion. If on motion under the rule judgment is not rendered upon the whole case or for all the relief asked and a trial is necessary, the court at the hearing of the motion, by examining the pleadings and the evidence before it and by interrogating counsel, shall if practicable ascertain what material facts exist without substantial controversy and what material facts are actually and in good faith controverted. It shall thereupon make an order specifying the facts that appear without substantial controversy, including the extent to which the amount of damages or other relief is not in controversy, and directing such further proceedings in the action as are just. Upon the trial of the action, the facts so specified shall be deemed established, and the trial shall be conducted accordingly.

(e) Form of Affidavits; Further Testimony; Defense Required. Supporting and opposing affidavits shall be made on personal knowledge, shall set forth such facts as would be admissible in evidence, and shall show affirmatively that the affiant is competent to testify to the matters stated therein. Sworn or certified copies of all papers or parts thereof referred to in an affidavit shall be attached thereto or served therewith. The court may permit affidavits to be supplemented or opposed by depositions, answers to interrogatories, or further affidavits. When a motion for summary judgment is made and supported as provided in this rule, an adverse party may not rest upon the mere allegations or denials of his pleading, but his response, by affidavits or as otherwise provided in this rule, must set forth specific facts showing that there is a genuine issue for trial. If he does not so respond, summary judgment, if appropriate, shall be entered against him.

(f) When Affidavits Are Unavailable. Should it appear from the affidavits of a party opposing the motion that he cannot, for reasons stated, present by affidavit facts essential to justify his opposition, the court may refuse the application for judgment or may order a continuance to permit affidavits to be obtained or depositions to be taken or discovery to be had or may make such other order as is just.

(g) Affidavits Made in Bad Faith. Should it appear to the satisfaction of the court at any time that any of the affidavits presented pursuant to this rule are presented in bad faith or solely for the purpose of delay, the court shall forthwith order the party employing them to pay to the other party the amount of the reasonable expenses which the filing of the affidavits caused him to incur, including reasonable attorneys' fees, and any offending party or attorney may be adjudged guilty of contempt. [Amended July 20, 1978, effective September 1, 1978; adopted May 5, 1967, effective July 1, 1967.]

Comment by the Court. Rule 56 is identical to RPPP 56, which is superseded.

Rule 57 Declaratory judgments. The procedure for obtaining a declaratory judgment pursuant to the Uniform Declaratory Judgment Act, RCW 7.24, shall be in accordance with these rules, and the right to trial by jury may be demanded under the circumstances and in the manner provided in Rules 38 and 39. The existence of another adequate remedy does not preclude a judgment for declaratory relief in cases where it is appropriate. The court may order a speedy hearing of an action for a declaratory judgment and may advance it on the calendar. [Adopted May 5, 1967, effective July 1, 1967.]

Comment by the Court. This rule is identical to FRCP 57 except that reference is made to the Washington Uniform Declaratory Judgment Act. See also RCW 34.04.070.

Rule 58 Entry of judgment.

(a) When. Unless the court otherwise directs and subject to the provisions of Rule 54(b), all judgments shall be entered immediately after they are signed by the judge.

(b) Effective Time. Judgments shall be deemed entered for all procedural purposes from the time of delivery to the clerk for filing, unless the judge earlier permits the judgment to be filed with him as authorized by Rule 5(e).

(c) Notice of Entry. [Reserved—See Rule 54(f).]

(d) [Reserved]

Comment by the Court. Subdivisions (a) and (b) together with Rule 59(b) supersede RCW 4.64.010.

(e) Judgment by Confession. [Reserved—See RCW 4.60.]

(f) Assignment of Judgment. [Reserved—See RCW 4.56.090.]

(g) Interest on Judgments. [Reserved—See RCW 4.56.110.]

(h) Satisfaction of Judgments. [Reserved—See RCW 4.56.100.]

(i) Lien of Judgment. [Reserved—See RCW 4.56.190.]

(j) Commencement of Lien on Real Estate. [Reserved—See RCW 4.56.200.]

(k) Cessation of Lien—Extension Prohibited. [Reserved—See RCW 4.56.210.]

(l) Revival of Judgments. [Reserved—See RCW 4.56.225.] [Adopted May 5, 1967, effective July 1, 1967.]

Rule 59 New trial and amendment of judgments.

(a) Grounds for Reconsideration or New Trial. The verdict or other decision may be vacated and a new trial granted to all or any of the parties and on all or part of the issues when such issues are clearly and fairly separable and distinct, on the motion of the party aggrieved for any one of the following causes materially affecting the substantial rights of such parties:

(1) Irregularity in the proceedings of the court, jury or adverse party, or any order of the court, or abuse of discretion, by which such party was prevented from having a fair trial;

(2) Misconduct of prevailing party or jury; and whenever any one or more of the jurors shall have been induced to assent to any general or special verdict or to a finding on any question or questions submitted to the jury by the court, other and different from his own conclusions, and arrived at by a resort to the determination of chance or lot, such misconduct may be proved by the affidavits of one or more of the jurors;

(3) Accident or surprise which ordinary prudence could not have guarded against;

(4) Newly discovered evidence, material for the party making the application, which he could not with reasonable diligence have discovered and produced at the trial;

(5) Damages so excessive or inadequate as unmistakably to indicate that the verdict must have been the result of passion or prejudice;

(6) Error in the assessment of the amount of recovery whether too large or too small, when the action is upon a contract, or for the injury or detention of property;

(7) That there is no evidence or reasonable inference from the evidence to justify the verdict or the decision, or that it is contrary to law;

(8) Error in law occurring at the trial and objected to at the time by the party making the application;

(9) That substantial justice has not been done.

Comment by the Court. Subdivision (a) follows the first paragraph of RPPP 59.04W.

(b) Time for Motion. A motion for reconsideration and/or for a new trial may be served and filed after the verdict is received in a case tried by a jury or after the oral or written decision in a case tried to the court. No motion for reconsideration or for a new trial may be served more than 5 days after the entry of the verdict or oral or written decision.

Comment by the Court. Subdivision (b) supersedes RCW 4.64.010.

(c) Time for Serving Affidavits. When a motion for new trial is based upon affidavits they shall be served with the motion. The opposing party has 5 days after such service within which to serve opposing affidavits, which period may be extended for an additional period not exceeding 20 days either by the court for good cause shown or by the parties by written stipulation. The court may permit reply affidavits.

Comment by the Court. Subdivision (c) follows FRCP 59(c).

(d) On Initiative of Court. Not later than 5 days after entry of judgment, the court of its own initiative may order a hearing on its proposed order for a new trial for any reason for which it might have granted a new trial on motion of a party, and in the order shall specify the grounds thereof.

Comment by the Court. Subdivision (d) follows FRCP 59(d).

(e) Hearing on Motion. When a motion for reconsideration or for a new trial is served and filed, the judge by whom it is to be heard may on his own motion or on application determine:

(1) Time of Hearing. Whether the motion shall be heard before the entry of judgment;

(2) Consolidation of Hearings. Whether the motion shall be heard before or at the same time as the presentation of the findings and conclusions and/or judgment, and the hearing on any other pending motion; and

(3) Nature of Hearing. Whether the motion or motions and presentation shall be heard on oral argument or submitted on briefs, and if on briefs, shall fix the time within which the briefs shall be served and filed.

Comment by the Court. Subdivision (e) supersedes RPPP 8.08W(3).

(f) Statement of Reasons. In all cases where the trial court grants a motion for a new trial, it shall, in the order granting the motion, state whether the order is based upon the record or upon facts and circumstances outside the record which cannot be made a part thereof. If the order is based upon the record, the court shall give definite reasons of law and facts for its order. If the order is based upon matters outside the record, the court shall state the facts and circumstances upon which it relied.

Comment by the Court. Subdivision (f) supersedes the next to the last paragraph of RPPP 59.04W.

(g) Reopening Judgment. On a motion for a new trial in an action tried without a jury, the court may open the judgment if one has been entered, take additional testimony, amend findings of fact and conclusions of law or make new findings and conclusions, and direct the entry of a new judgment.

Comment by the Court. Subdivision (g) is identical to the last sentence of FRCP 59(a).

(h) Motion to Alter or Amend Judgment. A motion to alter or amend the judgment shall be served not later than 5 days after entry of the judgment.

Comment by the Court. Subdivision (h) follows FRCP 59(e).

(i) Alternative Motions, etc. Alternative motions for judgment notwithstanding the verdict and for a new trial may be made in accordance with Rule 50(c) and (d).

(j) Limit on Motions. If a motion for reconsideration, or for a new trial, or for judgment notwithstanding the verdict, is made and heard before the entry of the judgment, no further motion may be made for a new trial nor pursuant to subdivisions (g), (h), and (i) of this rule, nor under Rule 52(b), without leave of court first obtained for good cause shown. [Adopted May 5, 1967, effective July 1, 1967. Prior: 59(a), 59(b) and 59(f), RPPP Rule 59.04W; 59(e), RPPP Rule 8.08W(3); 59(i), RPPP Rule 59.08W Part.]

Rule 60 Relief from judgment or order.

(a) Clerical Mistakes. Clerical mistakes in judgments, orders or other parts of the record and errors therein arising from oversight or omission may be corrected by the court at any time of its own initiative or on the motion of any party and after such notice, if any, as the court orders. Such mistakes may be so corrected before review is accepted by an appellate court, and thereafter may be corrected pursuant to RAP 7.2(e).

Comment by the Court. Subdivision (a) follows FRCP 60(a) and supersedes RPPP 60.

(b) Mistakes; Inadvertence; Excusable Neglect; Newly Discovered Evidence; Fraud; etc. On motion and upon such terms as are just, the court may relieve a party or his legal representative from a final judgment, order, or proceeding for the following reasons:

(1) Mistakes, inadvertence, surprise, excusable neglect or irregularity in obtaining a judgment or order;

(2) For erroneous proceedings against a minor or person of unsound mind, when the condition of such defendant does not appear in the record, nor the error in the proceedings;

(3) Newly discovered evidence which by due diligence could not have been discovered in time to move for a new trial under Rule 59(b);

(4) Fraud (whether heretofore denominated intrinsic or extrinsic), misrepresentation, or other misconduct of an adverse party;

(5) The judgment is void;

(6) The judgment has been satisfied, released, or discharged, or a prior judgment upon which it is based has been reversed or otherwise vacated, or it is no longer equitable that the judgment should have prospective application;

(7) If the defendant was served by publication, relief may be granted as prescribed in RCW 4.28.200;

(8) Death of one of the parties before the judgment in the action;

(9) Unavoidable casualty or misfortune preventing the party from prosecuting or defending;

(10) Error in judgment shown by a minor, within 12 months after arriving at full age; or

(11) Any other reason justifying relief from the operation of the judgment.

The motion shall be made within a reasonable time and for reasons (1), (2) or (3) not more than 1 year after the judgment, order, or proceeding was entered or taken. If the party entitled to relief is a minor or a person of unsound mind, the motion shall be made within 1 year after the disability ceases. A motion under this subdivision (b) does not affect the finality of the judgment or suspend its operation.

Comment by the Court. Subdivision (b) follows FRCP 60(b), except that paragraph (2) and paragraphs (7) through (10), and part of paragraph (1), have been added from RCW 4.72.010. The last sentence of FRCP 60(b) has been separated into subdivisions (c) and (d), respectively. Subdivision (b) supersedes RCW 4.32-.240, 4.72.010, 4.72.020, 4.72.030, and 4.72.040, to the extent that those sections cover relief from judgments.

(c) Other Remedies. This rule does not limit the power of a court to entertain an independent action to relieve a party from a judgment, order, or proceeding.

(d) Writs Abolished—Procedure. Writs of coram nobis, coram vobis, audita querela, and bills of review and bills in the nature of a bill of review are abolished. The procedure for obtaining any relief from a judgment shall be by motion as prescribed in these rules or by an independent action.

Comment by the Court. Subdivision (d) follows the last sentence of FRCP 60(b).

(e) Procedure on Vacation of Judgment.

(1) Motion. Application shall be made by motion filed in the cause stating the grounds upon which relief is asked, and supported by the affidavit of the applicant or his attorney setting forth a concise statement of the facts or errors upon which the motion is based, and if the moving party be a defendant, the facts constituting a defense to the action or proceeding.

(2) Notice. Upon the filing of the motion and affidavit, the court shall enter an order fixing the time and place of the hearing thereof and directing all parties to the action or proceeding who may be affected thereby to appear and show cause why the relief asked for should not be granted.

(3) Service. The motion, affidavit, and the order to show cause shall be served upon all parties affected in the same manner as in the case of summons in a civil action at such time before the date fixed for the hearing as the order shall provide; but in case such service cannot be made, the order shall be published in the manner and for such time as may be ordered by the court, and in such case a copy of the motion, affidavit, and order shall be mailed to such parties at their last known post office address and a copy thereof served upon the attorneys of record of such parties in such action or proceeding such time prior to the hearing as the court may direct.

(4) Statutes. Except as modified by this rule, RCW 4.72.010-.090 shall remain in full force and effect. [Amended August 9, 1976, effective January 1, 1977; amended September 26, 1972, effective September 26, 1972; adopted May 5, 1967, effective July 1, 1967.]

Comment by the Court. Subdivision (e) follows and supersedes RPPP 60.04W and RCW 4.72.040. Reference to "petition" in RCW 4.72.050 is superseded. RCW 4.32.240 is superseded.

Rule 61 Harmless Error. [Reserved.]

Rule 62 Stay of proceedings to enforce a judgment.

(a) Automatic Stays. No execution shall issue upon a judgment nor shall proceedings be taken for its enforcement until the expiration of 5 days after its entry. Unless otherwise ordered, an interlocutory or final judgment in an action for an injunction or in a receivership action, shall not be stayed during the period after its entry and until appellate review is accepted or during the pendency of appellate review.

Comment by the Court. Subdivision (a) follows FRCP 62(a).

(b) Stay on Motion for New Trial or for Judgment. In its discretion and on such conditions for the security of the adverse party as are proper, the court may stay the execution of or any proceedings to enforce a judgment pending the disposition of a motion for a new trial or to alter or amend a judgment made pursuant to Rule 59, or of a motion for relief from a judgment or order made pursuant to Rule 60, or of a motion for judgment in accordance with a motion for a directed verdict made pursuant to Rule 50, or of a motion for amendment to the findings or for additional findings made pursuant to Rule 52(b).

Comment by the Court. Subdivision (b) follows FRCP 62(b).

(c) Injunction Pending Appeal. RESCINDED.

(d) Stay Upon Appeal. RESCINDED.

(e) Stay in Favor of State. RESCINDED.

(f) Other Stays. This rule does not limit the right of a party to a stay otherwise provided by statute or rule.

Comment by the Court. Subdivision (f) follows FRCP 62(f). See also RCW 6.08.

(g) Power of Supreme Court Not Limited. RESCINDED.

(h) Multiple Claims or Multiple Parties. When a court has ordered a final judgment under the conditions stated in Rule 54(b), the court may stay enforcement of that judgment until the entering of a subsequent judgment or judgments and may prescribe such conditions as are necessary to secure the benefit thereof to the party in whose favor the judgment is entered. [Amended August 9, 1976, effective January 1, 1977; subdivisions (c), (d), (e), and (g) rescinded January 28, 1976, effective July 1, 1976; adopted May 5, 1967, effective July 1, 1967.]

Comment by the Court. Subdivision (h) follows FRCP 62(h) and supersedes RPPP 42(c).

Rule 63 Judges.

(a) Powers. See Rule 77.

(b) Disability of a Judge. If by reason of death, sickness, or other disability, a judge before whom an action has been tried is unable to perform the duties to be performed by the court under these rules after a verdict is returned or findings of fact and conclusions of law are filed, then any other judge regularly sitting in or assigned to the court in which the action was tried may perform those duties; but if such other judge is satisfied that he cannot perform those duties because he did not preside at the trial or for any other reason, he may in his discretion grant a new trial. [Adopted May 5, 1967, effective July 1, 1967.]

Comment by the Court. Subdivision (b) is identical to FRCP 63.

Rule 65 Injunctions.(a) Preliminary Injunction.

(1) Notice. No preliminary injunction shall be issued without notice to the adverse party.

(2) Consolidation of Hearing With Trial on Merits. Before or after the commencement of the hearing of an application for a preliminary injunction, the court may order the trial of the action on the merits to be advanced and consolidated with the hearing of the application. Even when this consolidation is not ordered, any evidence received upon an application for a preliminary injunction which would be admissible upon the trial on the merits becomes part of the record on the trial and need not be repeated upon the trial. This paragraph shall be so construed and applied as to save to the parties any rights they may have to trial by jury.

(b) Temporary Restraining Order; Notice; Hearing; Duration. A temporary restraining order may be granted without written or oral notice to the adverse party or his attorney only if (1) it clearly appears from specific facts shown by affidavit or by the verified complaint that immediate and irreparable injury, loss, or damage will result to the applicant before the adverse party or his attorney can be heard in opposition, and (2) the applicant's attorney certifies to the court in writing the efforts, if any, which have been made to give the notice and the reasons supporting his claim that notice should not be required. Every temporary restraining order granted without notice shall be endorsed with the date and hour of issuance; shall be filed forthwith in the clerk's office and entered of record; shall define the injury and state why it is irreparable and why the order was granted without notice; and shall expire by its terms within such time after entry, not to exceed 10 days, as the court fixes, unless within the time so fixed the order, for good cause shown, is extended for a like period or unless the party against whom the order is directed consents that it may be extended for a longer period. The reasons for the extension shall be entered of record. In case a temporary restraining order is granted without notice, the motion for a preliminary injunction shall be set down for hearing at the earliest possible time and takes precedence of all matters except older matters of the same character; and when the motion comes on for hearing the party who obtained the temporary restraining order shall proceed with the application for a preliminary injunction and, if he does not do so, the court shall dissolve the temporary restraining order. On 2 days' notice to the party who obtained the temporary restraining order without notice or on such shorter notice to that party as the court may prescribe, the adverse party may appear and move its dissolution or modification and in that event the court shall proceed to hear and determine such motion as expeditiously as the ends of justice require.

(c) Security. Except where the court in issuing orders pursuant to Laws of 1973, 1st Ex. Sess., ch. 157 directs otherwise, no restraining order or preliminary injunction shall issue except upon the giving of security by the applicant, in such sum as the court deems proper, for the payment of such costs and damages as may be incurred or suffered by any party who is found to have been wrongfully enjoined or restrained. No such security shall be required of the United States or of an officer or agency thereof. Pursuant to RCW 4.92.080 no security shall be required of the State of Washington, municipal corporations or political subdivisions of the State of Washington.

The provisions of Rule 65.1 apply to a surety upon a bond or undertaking under this rule.

Comment by the Court. Subdivisions (a), (b), and (c) follow FRCP 65(a), (b), and (c).

(d) Form and Scope. Every order granting an injunction and every restraining order shall set forth the reasons for its issuance; shall be specific in terms; shall describe in reasonable detail, and not by reference to the complaint or other document, the act or acts sought to be restrained; and is binding only upon the parties to the action, their officers, agents, servants, employees, and attorneys, and upon those persons in active concert or participation with them who receive actual notice of the order by personal service or otherwise.

(e) Statutes. These rules are intended to supplement and not to modify any statute prescribing the basis for obtaining injunctive relief. These rules shall prevail over statutes if there are procedural conflicts. [Subdivision (c) amended, adopted April 9, 1974, effective July 1, 1974; adopted May 5, 1967, effective July 1, 1967.]

Rule 65.1 Security: Proceedings against sureties. Whenever these rules require or permit the giving of security by a party, and security is given in the form of a bond or stipulation or other undertaking with one or more sureties, each surety submits himself to the jurisdiction of the court and irrevocably appoints the clerk of the court as his agent upon whom any papers affecting his liability on the bond or undertaking may be served. His liability may be enforced on motion without the necessity of an independent action. The motion and such notice of the motion as the court prescribes may be served on the clerk of the court, who shall forthwith mail copies to the sureties if their addresses are known. [Adopted May 5, 1967, effective July 1, 1967.]

Comment by the Court. This rule follows FRCP 65.1.

Rule 66 Receivership proceedings.

(a) Generally. Receivership proceedings shall be in accordance with the practice heretofore followed in the superior court or as provided by local rules. In all other respects, the action in which the receiver is sought or which is brought by or against a receiver is governed by these rules.

Comment by the Court. Subdivision (a) follows the second and third sentences of FRCP 66.

(b) Dismissal. An action wherein a receiver has been appointed shall not be dismissed except by order of the court.

Comment by the Court. Subdivision (b) follows the first sentence of FRCP 66.

(c) Notice to Creditors. A general receiver appointed to liquidate and wind up affairs shall, under the direction of the court, give notice to the creditors of the corporation, of the copartnership, or of the individual, by publication in a newspaper of general circulation in the county in which the action is pending, once each week for 3 weeks, requiring such creditors to file their claims, duly verified, with the receiver, his attorney, or the clerk of the court, within 30 days from the date of first publication of such notice. If necessary to afford proper notice to such creditors, the court may by order enlarge the time for such publication or direct publication of such notice in other counties. In addition to such publication, the receiver shall give actual notice by mail at their last known addresses to all persons and parties to him known to be or to claim to be creditors.

Comment by the Court. Subdivision (c) is identical to RPPP 66.04W(1) which is superseded.

(d) Request for Special Notices. At any time after a receiver is appointed, any person interested in said receivership as a party, creditor, or otherwise, may serve upon the receiver (or upon the attorney for such receiver) and file with the clerk a written request stating that he desires special notice of any and all of the following named matters, steps or proceedings in the administration of said receivership, to-wit:

(1) Filing of petitions for sales, leases, or mortgages of any property in the receivership.

(2) Filing of accounts.

(3) Filing of petitions for removal or discharge of receiver.

(4) Such other matters as are officially requested and approved by the court.

Such request shall state the post-office address of such person, or his attorney.

Comment by the Court. Subdivision (d) follows the first paragraph of RPPP 66.04W(2) which is superseded.

(e) Notices and Hearings. Notice of any of the proceedings set out in subdivision (d) of the rule (except petitions for the sale of perishable property, or other personal property, the keeping of which will involve expense or loss) shall be addressed to such person, or his attorney, at his stated post office address, and deposited in the United States Post Office, with the postage thereon prepaid, at least 5 days before the hearing on any of the matters above described; or personal service of such notice may be made on such person or his attorney not less than 5 days before such hearing; and proof of mailing or personal service must be filed with the clerk before the hearing. If upon the hearing it appears to the satisfaction of the court that the notice has been regularly given, the court shall so find in its order of judgment, and such judgment shall be final and conclusive. [Adopted May 5, 1967, effective July 1, 1967.]

Comment by the Court. Subdivision (e) follows the second paragraph of RPPP 66.04W(2) which is superseded.

Rule 67 Deposit in court. In an action in which any part of the relief sought is a judgment for a sum of money or the disposition of a sum of money or the disposition of any other thing capable of delivery, a party, upon notice to every other party, and by leave of court, may deposit with the court all or any part of such sum or thing. Money paid into court under this rule shall be deposited and withdrawn in accordance with the provisions of RCW 4.44.480 through 4.44.500 or any like statute or rule. [Adopted May 5, 1967, effective July 1, 1967.]

Comment by the Court. This rule follows FRCP 67.

Rule 68 Offer of judgment. At any time more than 10 days before the trial begins, a party defending against a claim may serve upon the adverse party an offer to allow judgment to be taken against him for the money or property or to the effect specified in his offer, with costs then accrued. If within 10 days after the service of the offer the adverse party serves written notice that the offer is accepted, either party may then file the offer and notice of acceptance together with proof of service thereof and thereupon the court shall enter judgment. An offer not accepted shall be deemed withdrawn and evidence thereof is not admissible except in a proceeding to determine costs. If the judgment finally obtained by the offeree is not more favorable than the offer, the offeree must pay the costs incurred after the making of the offer. The fact that an offer is made but not accepted does not preclude a subsequent offer. When the liability of one party to another has been determined by verdict or order or judgment, but the amount or extent of the liability remains to be determined by further proceedings, the party adjudged liable may make an offer of judgment, which shall have the same effect as an offer made before trial if it is served within a reasonable time not less than 10 days prior to the commencement of hearings to determine the amount or extent of liability. [Adopted May 5, 1967, effective July 1, 1967.]

Comment by the Court. This rule follows FRCP 68.

Rule 69 Execution.

(a) Procedure. The procedure on execution, in proceedings supplementary to and in aid of a judgment, and in proceedings on and in aid of execution shall be in accordance with the practice and procedure of the state as authorized in RCW 6.04, 6.08, 6.12, 6.16, 6.20, 6.24, 6.32, 6.36, and any other applicable statutes.

(b) Supplemental Proceedings. In aid of the judgment or execution, the judgment creditor or his successor in interest when that interest appears of record, may examine any person, including the judgment debtor, in the manner provided in these rules for taking depositions or in the manner provided by RCW 6.32. [Adopted May 5, 1967, effective July 1, 1967.]

Comment by the Court. This rule follows FRCP 69(a).

Rule 70 Judgment for specific acts; vesting title. If a judgment directs a party to execute a conveyance of land or to deliver deeds or other documents or to perform any other specific act and the party fails to comply within the time specified, the court may direct the act to be done at the cost of the disobedient party by some other person appointed by the court and the act when so done has like effect as if done by the party. On application of the party entitled to performance, the clerk shall issue a writ of attachment or sequestration against the property of the disobedient party to compel obedience to the judgment. The court may also in proper cases adjudge the party in contempt. If real or personal property is within the state, the court in lieu of directing a conveyance thereof may enter a judgment divesting the title of any party and vesting it in others and such judgment has the effect of a conveyance executed in due form of law. When any order or judgment is for the delivery of possession, the party in whose favor it is entered is entitled to a writ of execution or assistance upon application to the clerk. [Adopted May 5, 1967, effective July 1, 1967. Prior: RPPP Rule 70.]

Comment by the Court. This rule follows FRCP 70. See also RCW 6.28.

Rule 71 Withdrawal by attorneys.

(a) Withdrawal by Attorney. Service on an attorney who has appeared for a party in a civil proceeding shall be valid to the extent permitted by statute and Rule 5(b) only until the attorney has withdrawn in the manner provided in sections (b), (c) and (d). Nothing in this rule defines the circumstances under which a withdrawal might be denied by the court.

(b) Withdrawal by Order. A court-appointed attorney may not withdraw without an order of the court. The client of the withdrawing attorney must be given notice of the motion to withdraw and the date and place the motion will be heard.

(c) Withdrawal by Notice. Except as provided in sections (b) and (d), an attorney may withdraw by notice in the manner provided in this section.

(1) Notice of Intent to Withdraw. The attorney shall file and serve a Notice of Intent to Withdraw on all other parties in the proceeding. The notice shall specify a date when the attorney intends to withdraw, which date shall be at least 10 days after the service of the Notice of Intent to Withdraw. The notice shall include a statement that the withdrawal shall be effective without order of court unless an objection to the withdrawal is served upon the withdrawing attorney prior to the date set forth in the notice. If notice is given before trial, the notice shall include the date set for trial. The notice shall include the names and last known addresses of the persons represented by the withdrawing attorney, unless disclosure of the address would violate the Code of Professional Responsibility, in which case the address may be omitted. If the address is omitted, the notice must contain a statement that after the attorney withdraws, and so long as the address of the withdrawing attorney's client remains undisclosed and no new attorney is substituted, the client may be served by leaving papers with the clerk of the court pursuant to Rule 5(b)(1).

(2) Service on Client. Prior to service on other parties, the Notice of Intent to Withdraw shall be served on the persons represented by the withdrawing attorney or sent to them by certified mail, postage prepaid, to their last known mailing addresses. Proof of service or mailing shall be filed, except that the address of the withdrawing attorney's client may be omitted under circumstances defined by subsection (c)(1) of this rule.

(3) Withdrawal Without Objection. The withdrawal shall be effective, without order of court and without the service and filing of any additional papers, on the date designated in the Notice of Intent to Withdraw, unless a written objection to the withdrawal is served by a party on the withdrawing attorney prior to the date specified as the day of withdrawal in the Notice of Intent to Withdraw.

(4) Effect of Objection. If a timely written objection is served, withdrawal may be obtained only by order of the court.

(d) Withdrawal and Substitution. Except as provided in section (b), an attorney may withdraw if a new attorney is substituted by filing and serving a Notice of Withdrawal and Substitution. The notice shall include a statement of the date on which the withdrawal and substitution are effective and shall include the name, address, and signature of the withdrawing attorney and the substituted attorney. [Adopted June 4, 1976, effective July 1, 1976.]

EXPLANATION BY THE COURT

Format. When adopting the format of the rule numbering and subdivision organization of the Federal Rules it was necessary to remove all miscellaneous rules applicable to special proceedings. This had been partially accomplished because many of these miscellaneous rules had been assigned rule numbers between 87 and 99. These rule numbers continue to be reserved for this purpose and all the miscellaneous rules relating to special proceedings, except Criminal, are now renumbered in this series. Other than the addition of subheadings, no major revisions have been undertaken in the Special Proceedings Rules.

Statutes. No attempt has been made to cross-reference applicable statutes.

Abbreviation. These "Special Proceedings Rules for Superior Court" may be cited as "SPRs"

Rule 90.04W Attachments—Duties of the sheriff. Immediately upon the receipt of a writ of attachment, the sheriff shall endorse thereon, in ink, the day, hour, and minute when the same first came into his hands. [Adopted May 5, 1967, effective July 1, 1967.]

Comment by the Court. This rule is identical to and supersedes RPPP 77.20W.

Rule 91.04W Garnishments—Service, objections, etc.

(a) Methods of Service. In any case where a writ of garnishment has issued, the party at whose instance the writ was issued shall, on or before the day of the service of the writ on the garnishee, mail, or cause to be mailed, by certified mail, a copy of the writ to the defendant or judgment debtor in said cause at his last known post office address; or, in the alternative, a copy of the writ shall be served upon the defendant or judgment debtor in the same manner as is required for personal service of summons upon a party to an action on or before the day of the service of said writ on the garnishee defendant or within 2 days thereafter.

(b) Irregularities. This requirement shall not be deemed jurisdictional, but if the copy is not mailed or served as herein provided, or any irregularity shall appear with respect to the mailing or service, the court may, in its discretion on motion of the defendant or judgment debtor promptly made and supported by affidavit showing that he has suffered substantial injury from the failure to mail said copy, set aside the said garnishment.

(c) Objections. The judgment debtor shall make any objections to the entry of judgment based upon the answer of a garnishee prior to the expiration of the time within which the garnishment should have been answered.

(d) Judgment Against Garnishee. No judgment based on the answer of the garnishee, or upon failure to answer shall be entered prior to the expiration of the time within which the garnishee is required to answer.

(e) Proof of Service. The date of service of the writ of garnishment on the defendant and on the garnishee shall be determined by proof of service or by such other evidence deemed by the court to be satisfactory.

(f) Applicability. This rule shall apply to garnishments in both the superior courts and justice courts in the State of Washington and shall supplement RCW 7.33. [Amended June 4, 1976, effective July 1, 1976; adopted May 5, 1967, amended June 28, 1967, effective July 1, 1967.]

Comment by the court. Amendments to RPPP 96.04W are made to conform to 1967 Amendments to Garnishment Statutes.

Rule 93.04W Disposition of reports—Adoptions. Any report filed by the next friend of the child in any adoption proceeding insofar as it affects or concerns the adopters shall be open to inspection by the adopter and his attorney. Such report at the close of the entire proceeding shall be sealed and filed by the clerk in the record of the adoption proceeding, or in the discretion of the court shall be destroyed and, in any event, it shall not be disclosed to any person without a special order therefor in writing by the judge, and shall thereafter be sealed as before. [Adopted May 5, 1967, amended June 28, 1967, effective July 1, 1967.]

Comment by the Court. This rule is identical to RPPP 92.04W.

Rule 94.04W Divorce actions. [Adop. May 5, 1967, effective July 1, 1967. Rescinded November 6, 1974, effective January 1, 1975.]

Rule 94.05 Continuation of actions—Chapter 26-08 RCW. [Adopted June 28, 1973, effective July 16, 1973. Rescinded April 9, 1974, effective April 9, 1974.]

Rule 98.04W Estates—Probate—Notices to heirs, etc. [Adopted May 5, 1967, amended June 28, 1967, effective July 1, 1967. Abrogated June 5, 1969, effective June 13, 1969.]

Rule 98.08W Estates—Settlement of claims by executors, administrators and receivers. In all actions or proceedings in which executors, administrators, receivers, or other persons having charge or settlement of any estate, apply to the court for an order allowing a claim to be compromised and settled for less than its face value, the court shall appoint a day not less than 5 days after such application for hearing the same, unless for good cause shown less time should intervene, and direct the giving of such notice as may be deemed proper. [Adopted May 5, 1967, effective July 1, 1967.]

Comment by the Court. This rule is identical to the first paragraph of RPPP 98.08W.

Rule 98.10W Estates—Receivership—Reports. All reports of receivers which involve an accounting shall be filed at least 10 days before the hearing. On filing and presentation of such report the court will appoint a time for hearing the same, and will direct such notice to be given as will most likely advise all interested parties of such hearing. [Adopted May 5, 1967, effective July 1, 1967.]

Comment by the Court. This rule is identical to the second paragraph of RPPP 98.08W.

Rule 98.12W Estates generally—Fees. Before compensation shall be allowed to any executor, administrator, guardian, or attorney in connection with any probate matter or proceeding, or to any receiver or his attorney, and before any agreement therefor shall be approved, the amount of compensation claimed shall be definitely and clearly set forth in the application therefor, and all parties interested in the matter shall be given notice of the amount claimed in such manner as shall be fixed by statute, or, in the absence of statute, as shall be directed by the court; unless such application be filed with or made a part of a report or final account of such executor, administrator, guardian, or receiver. [Adopted May 5, 1967, effective July 1, 1967. Prior: RPPP 98.12W.]

Comment by the Court. No change is made in this rule.

Rule 98.16W Estates—Guardianship—Settlement of claims of minors.

(a) Representation. In every case where there is a settlement involving a beneficial interest or claim of a person under the age of eighteen, hereinafter referred to as a minor, the court must appoint an independent guardian ad litem to investigate the adequacy of the offered settlement and file a written report. Said guardian ad litem shall be an attorney-at-law and shall serve in said capacity with the authority to withdraw funds on order of the court after ex parte hearing on petition setting forth the grounds therefor, on behalf of the minor by order until the minor attains the age of eighteen or until relieved by the court. The court may dispense with the appointment of the guardian ad litem if a general guardian has been previously appointed or if the court affirmatively finds that the minor is represented by independent counsel.

(b) Hearing. At the time the petition for approval of the settlement is heard, the allowance and taxation of all fees, costs, and other charges incident to the settlement of the minor's claim shall be considered and disposed of by the court.

(c) Deposit in Court and Disbursements. The total judgment shall be paid into the registry of the court. All sums deductible therefrom including costs, attorneys' fees, hospital and medical expenses, and any other expense, shall be paid upon approval of the court.

(d) Control of Remaining Funds.

(1) Under $5,000. If the money or the value of other property remaining is $5,000 or less and there is no general guardian of the ward, the court shall require that (A) the money be deposited in a bank or trust company or be invested in an account in an insured financial institution for the benefit of the ward subject to withdrawal only upon the order of the court as a part of the original proceeding, or (B) a general guardian be appointed and the money or other property be paid or delivered to such guardian.

(2) Over $5,000. If the money or the value of other property remaining exceeds $5,000, and there is no general guardian of the ward, the court in the order or judgment shall require that a general guardian be appointed.

(e) Deposit of Minor's Funds. Checks for funds that go to the minor may be made out by the clerk jointly to the depository bank, trust company, or insured financial institution and the independent attorney for the minor, guardian ad litem or general guardian and deposit shall be made in a blocked account for the minor with provision that withdrawals cannot be made without court order. A deposit receipt to that effect must be forthwith filed with the court by the attorney or guardian. [Amended May 14, 1974, effective July 1, 1974; amended May 26, 1972, effective July 1, 1972; adopted May 5, 1967, effective July 1, 1967.]

Comment by the Court. Except for addition of headings and sub-headings and editorial changes the rule is identical to RPPP 93.04W.

Rule 98.20W Estates—Guardianships—Authorization of expenditures. Judges of the superior court in charge of probate, in directing and authorizing a guardian of the estate of the ward to make expenditures from the estate in monthly or other periodic installments, shall limit the term of such order to a period not greater than 12 months. [Adopted May 5, 1967, effective July 1, 1967.]

Comment by the Court. This rule is identical to RPPP 98.20W.

- 1.3 Effect.
- 1.4 Prosecuting attorney—Definition.

Rule 1.1 Scope. These rules govern the procedure in the courts of general jurisdiction of the State of Washington in all criminal proceedings and supersede all procedural statutes and rules that may be in conflict and shall be interpreted and supplemented in light of the common law and the decisional law of this State. These rules shall not be construed to affect or derogate from the constitutional rights of any defendant. [Adopted April 18, 1973, effective July 1, 1973.]

Rule 1.2 Purpose and construction. These rules are intended to provide for the just determination of every criminal proceeding. They shall be construed to secure simplicity in procedure, fairness in administration, effective justice, and the elimination of unjustifiable expenses and delay. [Adopted April 18, 1973, effective July 1, 1973.]

Rule 1.3 Effect. Except as otherwise provided elsewhere in these rules, on their effective date:

(a) Any acts done before the effective date in any proceedings then pending or any action taken in any proceeding pending under rules of procedure in effect prior to the effective date of these rules and any constitutional right are not impaired by these rules.

(b) These rules also apply to any proceedings in court then pending or thereafter commenced regardless of when the proceedings were commenced, except to the extent that in the opinion of the court, the former procedure should continue to be made applicable in a particular case in the interest of justice or because of infeasibility of application of the procedures of these rules. [Adopted April 18, 1973, effective July 1, 1973.]

Rule 1.4 Prosecuting attorney—Definition. Whenever used in these rules, prosecuting attorney shall include deputy prosecuting attorneys, or such other person as may be designated by statute. [Adopted April 18, 1973, effective July 1, 1973.]

Rule 2.1 The indictment and the information.

(a) Use of Indictment or Information. The initial pleading by the state shall be an indictment or an information in all criminal proceedings filed by the prosecuting attorney.

(b) Nature and Contents. The indictment or the information shall be a plain, concise and definite written statement of the essential facts constituting the offense charged. It shall be signed by the prosecuting attorney. Allegations made in one count may be incorporated by reference in another count. It may be alleged that the means by which the defendant committed the offense are unknown or that he committed it by one or more specified means. The indictment or information shall state for each count the official or customary citation of the statute, rule, regulation or other provision of law which the defendant is alleged therein to have violated. Error in the citation or its omission shall not be ground for dismissal of the indictment or information or for reversal of a conviction if the error or omission did not mislead the defendant to his prejudice.

(c) Surplusage. The court on motion of the defendant may strike surplusage from the indictment or information.

(d) Amendment of Information. The court may permit any information to be amended at any time before verdict or finding if substantial rights of the defendant are not prejudiced.

(e) Bill of Particulars. The court may direct the filing of a bill of particulars. A motion for a bill of particulars may be made before arraignment or within 10 days after arraignment or at such later time as the court may permit. A bill of particulars may be amended at any time subject to such conditions as justice requires. [Adopted April 19, 1973, effective July 1, 1973.]

Comment: Supersedes RCW 10.37.020, 10.37.025, 10.37.026, 10.37.035, 10.37.180; RCW 10.40.080; RCW 10.46.170.

Rule 2.2 Warrant upon indictment or information.

(a) When Warrant to Issue. When an indictment is found or an information is filed, the court may direct the clerk to issue a warrant for the arrest of the defendant, returnable forthwith, or direct the clerk to issue a summons commanding the defendant to appear at a specified time and place.

(b) Issuance of Summons in Lieu of Warrant.

(1) When summons must issue. If the indictment or information charges only the commission of a misdemeanor or a gross misdemeanor, the court shall direct the clerk to issue a summons instead of a warrant unless it finds reasonable cause to believe that the defendant will not appear in response to a summons, or that arrest is necessary to prevent serious bodily harm to the accused or another, in which case it may issue a warrant.

(2) Failure to appear on summons. If a person fails to appear in response to a summons, or if service is not effected within a reasonable time, a warrant for arrest may issue.

(c) Requisites of a Warrant.

(1) Warrant. The warrant shall be in writing and in the name of the State of Washington, shall be signed by the clerk with the title of his office, and shall state the date when issued and the county where issued. It shall specify the name of the defendant, or if his name is unknown, any name or description by which he can be identified with reasonable certainty. The warrant shall specify the offense charged against the defendant and shall command that the defendant be arrested and brought forthwith before the court issuing the warrant. If the offense is bailable, the judge issuing the warrant shall set forth thereon conditions for release pursuant to Rule 3.2.

(d) Execution; Service.

(1) Execution of warrant. The warrant shall be directed to all peace officers in the state and shall be executed only by a peace officer.

(2) Service of summons. The summons may be served any place within the state. It shall be served by a peace officer who shall deliver a copy of the same to the defendant personally, or it may be served by mailing the same, postage prepaid, to the defendant at his address.

(e) Return. The officer executing a warrant shall make return thereof to the court before whom the defendant is brought pursuant to these rules. At the request of the prosecuting attorney any unexecuted warrant shall be returned to the judge by whom issued and shall be cancelled by him. The person to whom a summons has been delivered for service shall, on or before the return date, file a return thereof with the judge before whom summons is returnable. For reasonable cause, the judge may order that the warrant be returned to him.

(f) Defective Warrant or Summons.

(1) Amendment. No person arrested under a warrant or appearing in response to a summons shall be discharged from custody or dismissed because of any irregularity in the warrant or summons, but the warrant or summons may be amended so as to remedy any such irregularity.

(2) Issuance of new warrant or summons. If during the preliminary examination of any person arrested under a warrant or appearing in response to a summons, it appears that the warrant or summons does not properly name or describe the defendant or the offense with which he is charged, or that although not guilty of the offense specified in the warrant or summons, there is reasonable ground to believe that he is guilty of some other offense, the judge shall not discharge or dismiss the defendant but may allow a new indictment or information to be filed and shall thereupon issue a new warrant or summons. [Adopted April 18, 1973, effective July 1, 1973.]

Comment: Supersedes RCW 10.31.010, 10.31.020.

Rule 2.3 Search and seizure.

(a) Authority to Issue Warrant. A search warrant authorized by this rule may be issued by the court upon request of a peace officer or a prosecuting attorney.

(b) Property Which May Be Seized With a Warrant.

A warrant may be issued under this rule to search for and seize any (1) evidence of a crime; or (2) contraband, the fruits of crime, or things otherwise criminally possessed; or (3) weapons or other things by means of which a crime has been committed or reasonably appears about to be committed.

(c) Issuance and Contents. A warrant shall issue only on an affidavit or affidavits establishing the grounds for issuing the warrant. Such affidavit or affidavits may consist of an officer's sworn telephonic statement to the judge; provided, however, such sworn telephonic testimony must be electronically recorded by the judge on a recording device in the custody of the judge at the time transmitted and the recording shall be retained in the court records and reduced to writing as soon as possible thereafter. If the judge finds that probable cause for the issuance of a warrant exists, he shall issue a warrant or direct an individual whom he authorizes for such purpose to affix his signature to a warrant identifying the property and naming or describing the person, place or thing to be searched. The finding of probable cause shall be based on evidence, which may be hearsay in whole or in part provided there is a substantial basis for believing the source of the hearsay to be credible and for believing that there is factual basis for the information furnished. Before ruling on a request for a warrant the court may require the affiant to appear personally and may examine under oath the affiant and any witnesses he may produce. The judge shall record a summary of any additional evidence on which he relies. The warrant shall be directed to any peace officer. It shall command the officer to search, within a specified period of time not to exceed 10 days, the person, place, or thing named for the property specified. It shall designate a magistrate to whom it shall be returned. The warrant may be served at any time.

(d) Execution and Return With Inventory. The peace officer taking property under the warrant shall give to the person from whom or from whose premises the property is taken a copy of the warrant and a receipt for the property taken. If no such person is present, the officer may post a copy of the search warrant and receipt. The return shall be made promptly and shall be accompanied by a written inventory of any property taken. The inventory shall be made in the presence of the person from whose possession or premises the property is taken, or in the presence of at least one person other than the officer. The judge shall upon request deliver a copy of the inventory to the person from whom or from whose premises the property was taken and to the applicant for the warrant.

(e) Motion for Return of Property. A person aggrieved by an unlawful search and seizure may move the court for the return of the property on the ground that the property was illegally seized and that he is lawfully entitled to possession thereof. If the motion is granted the property shall be returned. If a motion for return of property is made or comes on for hearing after an indictment or information is filed in the court in which the motion is pending, it shall be treated as a motion to suppress. [Adopted April 18, 1973, effective July 1, 1973.]

Comment: Supersedes RCW 10.79.010, 10.79.030.

Rule 3.1 Right to and assignment of counsel.

(a) Types of Proceedings.

(1) The right to counsel shall extend to all criminal proceedings for offenses punishable by loss of liberty regardless of their denomination as felonies, misdemeanors, or otherwise.

(b) Stage of Proceedings.

(1) The right to counsel shall accrue as soon as feasible after the defendant is taken into custody, when he appears before a committing magistrate, or when he is formally charged, whichever occurs earliest.

(2) Counsel shall be provided at every stage of the proceedings, including sentencing, appeal, and post-conviction review. Counsel initially appointed shall continue to represent the defendant through all stages of the proceedings unless a new appointment is made by the court following withdrawal of original counsel pursuant to subsection (e) because geographical considerations or other factors make it necessary.

(c) Explaining the Availability of a Lawyer.

(1) When a person is taken into custody he shall immediately be advised of his right to counsel. Such advice shall be made in words easily understood, and it shall be stated expressly that a person who is unable to pay a lawyer is entitled to have one provided without charge.

(2) At the earliest opportunity a person in custody who desires counsel shall be provided access to a telephone, the telephone number of the public defender or official responsible for assigning counsel, and any other means necessary to place him in communication with a lawyer.

(d) Assignment of Counsel.

(1) Unless waived, counsel shall be provided to any person who is financially unable to obtain one without causing substantial hardship to himself or his family. Counsel shall not be denied to any person merely because his friends or relatives have resources adequate to retain counsel or because he has posted or is capable of posting bond.

(2) The ability to pay part of the cost of counsel shall not preclude assignment. The assignment of counsel may be conditioned upon part payment pursuant to an established method of collection.

(e) Withdrawal of Attorneys. Whenever a criminal cause has been set for trial, no attorney shall be allowed to withdraw from said cause, except upon written consent of the court, for good and sufficient reason shown.

(f) Services Other Than Counsel. Counsel for a defendant who is financially unable to obtain investigative, expert, or other services necessary to an adequate defense in his case may request them by a motion. Upon finding that the services are necessary and that the defendant is financially unable to obtain them, the court shall authorize counsel to obtain the services on behalf of the defendant. The courts, in the interest of justice and on a finding that timely procurement of necessary services could not await prior authorization, shall ratify such services after they have been obtained.

The court shall determine reasonable compensation for the services and direct payment to the organization or person who rendered them upon the filing of a claim for compensation supported by affidavit specifying the time expended and the services, and expenses incurred on behalf of the defendant, and the compensation received in the same case or for the same services from any other source. [Adopted April 18, 1973, effective July 1, 1973.]

Comment: Supersedes RCW 10.01.110; RCW 10.40.030; RCW 10.46.050.

Rule 3.2 Pretrial release.

(a) Personal Recognizance. Any defendant charged with an offense shall at his first court appearance be ordered released on his personal recognizance pending trial unless the court determines that such recognizance will not reasonably assure his appearance, when required. When such a determination is made, the court shall impose the least restrictive of the following conditions that will reasonably assure his appearance or if no single condition gives that assurance, any combination of the following conditions:

- (1) place the defendant in the custody of a designated person or organization agreeing to supervise him;
- (2) place restrictions on the travel, association, or place of abode of the defendant during the period of release;
- (3) require the execution of an unsecured appearance bond in a specified amount;
- (4) require the execution of an appearance bond in a specified amount and the deposit in the registry of the court in cash or other security as directed, of a sum not to exceed 10 per centum of the amount of the bond, such deposit to be returned upon the performance of the conditions of release;
- (5) require the execution of an appearance bond with sufficient solvent sureties, or the deposit of cash in lieu thereof;
- (6) require the defendant return to custody during specified hours; or
- (7) impose any condition other than detention deemed reasonably necessary to assure appearance as required.

(b) Relevant Factors. In determining which conditions of release will reasonably assure the defendant's appearance, the court shall, on the available information, consider the relevant facts including: the length and character of the defendant's residence in the community; his employment status and history and financial condition; his family ties and relationships; his reputation, character and mental condition; his history of response to legal process; his prior criminal record; the willingness of responsible members of the community to vouch for the defendant's reliability and assist him in appearing in court; the nature of the charge; and any other factors indicating the defendant's ties to the community.

(c) Conditions of Release. Upon a showing that there exists a substantial danger that the defendant will commit a serious crime or that the defendant's physical condition is such to jeopardize his safety or that of others or that he will seek to intimidate witnesses, or otherwise unlawfully interfere with the administration of justice, the court, upon the defendant's release, may impose one or more of the following conditions:

- (1) prohibit him from approaching or communicating with particular persons or classes of persons;
- (2) prohibit him from going to certain geographical areas or premises;
- (3) prohibit him from possessing any dangerous weapons, or engaging in certain described activities or indulging in intoxicating liquors or in certain drugs;
- (4) require him to report regularly to and remain under the supervision of an officer of the court or other person or agency;
- (5) detain him until his physical condition permits his release.

(d) Order for Release. A court authorizing the release of the defendant under this rule shall issue an appropriate order containing a statement of the conditions imposed, if any, shall inform him of the penalties applicable to violations of the conditions imposed, if any, shall inform him of the penalties applicable to violations of the conditions of his release and shall advise him that a warrant for his arrest may be issued immediately upon any such violation.

(e) Review of Conditions. Upon determining the conditions of release, the court, upon request, after twenty-four hours from the time of release, may review the conditions previously imposed.

(f) Amendment of Order. The court ordering the release of a defendant on any condition specified in this rule may at any time on change of circumstances or showing of good cause amend its order to impose additional or different conditions for release.

(g) Revocation of Release. Upon the court's own motion or a verified application by the prosecuting attorney alleging with specificity that a defendant has willfully violated a condition of his release, a court shall order the defendant to appear for immediate hearing or issue a warrant directing the arrest of the defendant for immediate hearing. A law enforcement officer having probable cause to believe that a defendant released pending trial for a felony is about to leave the state or that he has violated a condition of such release, imposed pursuant to section (c), under circumstances rendering the securing of a warrant impracticable, may arrest the defendant and take him forthwith before the court.

(h) Release after Verdict or Plea of Guilty. A defendant (1) who is charged with a capital offense, or (2) who has entered a plea of guilty to a felony, or has been found guilty of a felony and is either awaiting sentence or has filed an appeal, shall be released pursuant to this Rule, unless the court finds that the defendant may flee the state or pose a substantial danger to another or to the community. If such a risk of flight or danger exists, the defendant may be ordered detained.

(i) Evidence. Information stated in, or offered in connection with, any order entered pursuant to this rule need not conform to the rules pertaining to the admissibility of evidence in a court of law.

(j) Forfeiture. Nothing contained in this rule shall be construed to prevent the disposition of any case or class of cases by forfeiture of collateral security where such disposition is authorized by the court.

(k) Defendant Discharged on Recognizance or Bail—Absence—Forfeiture. If the defendant has been discharged on his own recognizance, on bail, or has deposited money instead thereof, and does not appear when his personal appearance is necessary, the court, in addition to the forfeiture of the recognizance, or of the money deposited, may direct the clerk to issue a bench warrant for his arrest. [Amended February 4, 1976, effective July 1, 1976; adopted April 18, 1973, effective July 1, 1973.]

Comment: Supersedes RCW 10.16.190; RCW 10.19.010, 10.19.020, 10.19.025, 10.19.050, 10.19.070, 10.19.080; RCW 10.40.130; RCW 10.46.170; RCW 10.64.035.

Rule 3.3 Time for trial.

(a) Responsibility of Court. It shall be the responsibility of the court to insure to each person charged with crime a trial in accordance with the provisions of this rule.

(b) Time Limits.

(1) The time limits set forth in subsections (b)(2) and (b)(3) shall commence to run from the date: (a) of the order binding the defendant over to the superior court following a preliminary hearing pursuant to JCrR 2.03 or (b) of the tenth day following the defendant's arrest in the event a preliminary hearing is not held or the charge is initially filed in the superior court.

(2) A defendant unable to obtain pretrial release from custody shall be brought to trial within 60 days of the applicable event set forth in subsection (b)(1).

(3) A defendant who is released from custody shall be brought to trial within 90 days of the applicable event set forth in subsection (b)(1).

(4) A defendant who is to be tried again following a mistrial, an order for a new trial, or an appeal or collateral attack, shall be tried within 90 days or 60 days as provided in subsections (b)(2) or (b)(3) of this rule, from the date of the mistrial, entry of the order granting a new trial, or the receipt of the mandate of the appellate court.

(5) A defendant who is released pursuant to Rule 3.2 and whose release is subsequently revoked by order of the court shall be brought to trial within such a time period that the defendant spends no more than a total of 60 days in custody, and in no event later than 90 days from the date of the defendant's arraignment in superior court unless the time period is otherwise extended pursuant to this rule.

(6) When a change of venue has been granted pursuant to Rule 5.2, the receiving court shall bring the change to trial as prescribed by this rule, or within 30 days following the date the receiving court receives the file on the case, whichever is greater.

(7) In any case where the prosecuting attorney or judge becomes disqualified from participating in the case, the case shall be brought to trial as prescribed by this rule, or within 30 days following the date of disqualification, whichever is greater.

(8) In any case where the defendant fails to make any appearance required pursuant to Rule 3.2 and Rule 3.4 and a warrant is issued for the defendant's arrest pursuant to Rule 3.4(c), the case shall be brought to trial as prescribed by this rule, or within 30 days following his reappearance before the court that issued the warrant, whichever is greater.

(c) Precedence Over Civil Cases. Criminal trials shall take precedence over civil.

(d) Setting of Trial Date; Notice to Parties.

(1) The court shall, within 10 days of the defendant's arraignment in superior court, set a date for trial which is within the time limits prescribed by this rule, and notify all parties and their counsel of the date set. The notice shall set forth the date of the defendant's arraignment in court on the charge to be tried and the number of days which will elapse before the trial date. A party who objects to the date set upon the ground that it is not within the time limits prescribed by this rule must, within 10 days of receiving the notice from the court, move that the court set a trial within those time limits. Failure of a party, for any reason, to make such a motion shall be a waiver of the objection that a trial commenced on such date is not within the time limits prescribed by this rule.

(2) When the court determines that a period shall be excluded in computing the time for trial pursuant to section (e), the court shall set a new date for trial and notify the parties and their counsel of the date set as provided in subsection (d)(1). A party who objects to the date set on the ground that it is not within the time limits prescribed by this rule must, within 10 days of receiving the notice from the court, move that the court set a trial date within those time limits. Failure of a party, for any reason, to make such a motion shall be a waiver of the objection that a trial commenced on such a date is not within the time limits prescribed by this rule.

(e) Excluded Periods. The following periods shall be excluded in computing the time for trial:

(1) All proceedings relating to the competency of the defendant to stand trial.

(2) Preliminary proceedings and trial on another charge.

(3) Delay granted by the court pursuant to section(f).

(4) The time between the dismissal and the defendant's arraignment in superior court following the refiling of the same charge.

(5) Delay resulting from the granting of a stay by an appellate court.

(f) Continuances. Continuances or other delays may be granted as follows:

(1) Upon written agreement of the parties which must be personally signed by the defendant or all defendants and must be approved by the court.

(2) On motion of the state or on its own motion or on the motion of a party the court may continue the case when required in the due administration of justice and the defendant will not be substantially prejudiced in the presentation of his defense. The court must state its reasons therefor.

(g) Extension of Time for Trial. The court may extend the time in which a trial must be held for no more than 5 days when, because of unavoidable and unforeseen circumstances beyond the control of the court or the parties, the trial has not begun on the date set, even if the time for trial has expired, unless the defendant will be substantially prejudiced in the presentation of his defense. The court must state its reasons therefor.

(h) Absence of Defendant. If and in event the defendant is absent and thereby unavailable for trial or for any pretrial proceeding at which his presence is required, the time period specified in section (b) shall start to accrue anew upon defendant's being actually present in the county wherein the criminal charge is pending, and his presence appearing upon the record of the court.

(i) Dismissal With Prejudice. A criminal charge not brought to trial as required by this rule shall be dismissed with prejudice. [Amended November 9, 1978, effective November 17, 1978; amended May 3, 1976, effective May 21, 1976; adopted April 18, 1973, effective July 1, 1973.]

Comment: Supersedes RCW 10.40.020; RCW 10.43.010; RCW 10.46.010.

Rule 3.4 Presence of the defendant.

(a) When Necessary. The defendant shall be present at the arraignment, at every stage of the trial including the empaneling of the jury and the return of the verdict, and at the imposition of sentence, except as otherwise provided by these rules, or as excused or excluded by the court for good cause shown.

(b) Effect of Voluntary Absence. In prosecutions for offenses not punishable by death, the defendant's voluntary absence after the trial has commenced in his presence shall not prevent continuing the trial to and including the return of the verdict. A corporation may appear by counsel for all purposes. In prosecutions for offenses punishable by fine only, the court, with the written consent of the defendant, may permit arraignment, plea, trial and imposition of sentence in the defendant's absence.

(c) Defendant Not Present. If in any case the defendant is not present when his personal attendance is necessary, the court may order the clerk to issue a warrant for his arrest, which may be served as a warrant of arrest in other cases. [Adopted April 18, 1973, effective July 1, 1973.]

Comment: Supersedes RCW 10.01.080; RCW 10.46.120, 10.46.130; RCW 10.64.020, 10.64.030.

Rule 3.5 Confession procedure.

(a) Requirement For and Time of Hearing. When a statement of the accused is to be offered in evidence, the judge at the time of the omnibus hearing shall hold or set the time for a hearing, if not previously held, for the purpose of determining whether the statement is admissible. A court reporter or a court approved electronic recording device shall record the evidence adduced at this hearing.

(b) Duty of Court to Inform Defendant. It shall be the duty of the court to inform the defendant that: (1) he may, but need not, testify at the hearing on the circumstances surrounding the statement; (2) if he does testify at the hearing, he will be subject to cross examination with respect to the circumstances surrounding the statement and with respect to his credibility; (3) if he does testify at the hearing, he does not by so testifying waive his right to remain silent during the trial; and (4) if he does testify at the hearing, neither this fact nor his testimony at the hearing shall be mentioned to the jury unless he testifies concerning the statement at trial.

(c) Duty of Court to Make a Record. After the hearing, the court shall set forth in writing: (1) the undisputed facts; (2) the disputed facts; (3) conclusions as to the disputed facts; and (4) conclusion as to whether the statement is admissible and the reasons therefor.

(d) Rights of Defendant When Statement Is Ruled Admissible. If the court rules that the statement is admissible, and it is offered in evidence: (1) the defense may offer evidence or cross-examine the witnesses, with respect to the statement without waiving an objection to the admissibility of the statement; (2) unless the defendant testifies at the trial concerning the statement, no reference shall be made to the fact, if it be so, that the defendant testified at the preliminary hearing on the admissibility of the confession; (3) if the defendant becomes a witness on this issue, he shall be subject to cross-examination to the same extent as would any other witness; and, (4) if the defense raises the issue of voluntariness under subsection (1) above, the jury shall be instructed that they may give such weight and credibility to the confession in view of the surrounding circumstances, as they see fit. [Adopted April 18, 1973, effective July 1, 1973.]

Rule 3.6 Suppression hearings—Duty of court. At the conclusion of a hearing, upon a motion to suppress physical, oral or identification evidence the trial court shall set forth in writing: (1) the undisputed facts; (2) the disputed facts; (3) the court's findings as to the disputed facts; and (4) the court's reason for the admissibility or inadmissibility of the evidence sought to be suppressed. [Adopted April 25, 1978, effective May 15, 1978.]

(b) Counsel. If the defendant appears without counsel, the court shall inform him of his right to have counsel before being arraigned. The court shall inquire if he has counsel. If he is not represented and is unable to obtain counsel, counsel shall be assigned to him by the court, unless otherwise provided.

(c) Waiver of Counsel. If the defendant chooses to proceed without counsel, the court shall ascertain whether this waiver is made voluntarily, competently and with knowledge of the consequences. If the court finds the waiver valid, an appropriate finding shall be entered in the minutes. Unless the waiver is valid, the court shall not proceed with the arraignment until counsel is provided. Waiver of counsel at arraignment shall not preclude the defendant from claiming his right to counsel in subsequent proceedings in the cause, and the defendant shall be so informed. If such claim for counsel is not timely, the court shall appoint counsel but may deny or limit a continuance.

(d) Name. Defendant shall be asked his true name. If he alleges that his true name is one other than that by which he is charged, it must be entered in the minutes of the court, and subsequent proceedings shall be had against him by that name or other names relevant to the proceedings.

(e) Reading. The indictment or information shall be read to defendant, unless the reading is waived, and a copy shall be given to defendant. [Adopted April 18, 1973, effective July 1, 1973.]

Rule 4.2 Pleas.

(a) Types. A defendant may plead not guilty, not guilty by reason of insanity or guilty.

(b) Multiple Offenses. Where the indictment or information charges two or more offenses in separate counts the defendant shall plead separately to each.

(c) Pleading Insanity. When it is desired to interpose the defense of insanity or mental irresponsibility on behalf of one charged with a crime the defendant, his counsel or other person authorized by law to appear and act for him, shall at the time of pleading to the information or indictment file a plea in writing in addition to the plea or pleas required or permitted by other laws than this setting up (1) his insanity or mental irresponsibility at the time of the commission of the crime charged, and (2) whether the insanity or mental irresponsibility still exists, or (3) whether the defendant has become sane or mentally responsible between the time of the commission of the crime and the time of the trial. The plea may be interposed at any time thereafter, before the submission of the cause to the jury if it be proven that the insanity or mental irresponsibility of the defendant at the time of the crime was not before known to any person authorized to interpose a plea.

(d) Voluntariness. The court shall not accept a plea of guilty, without first determining that it is made voluntarily, competently and with an understanding of the nature of the charge and the consequences of the plea. The court shall not enter a judgment upon a plea of guilty unless it is satisfied that there is a factual basis for the plea.

(e) Agreements. If a plea of guilty is based upon an agreement between the defendant and the prosecuting attorney, such agreement must be made a part of the record at the time the plea is entered. No agreement shall be made which specifies what action the judge shall take on or pursuant to the plea or which attempts to control the exercise of his discretion, and the court shall so advise the defendant.

(f) Withdrawal of Plea. The court shall allow a defendant to withdraw his plea of guilty whenever it appears that the withdrawal is necessary to correct a manifest injustice.

(g) Written Statement. A written statement of the defendant in substantially the form set forth below shall be filed on a plea of guilty:

Comment: Supersedes RCW 10.40.150, 10.40.160, 10.40.175.

Rule 4.3 Joinder of offenses and defendants.

(a) Joinder of Offenses.

Two or more offenses may be joined in one charge, with each offense stated in a separate count, when the offenses, whether felonies or misdemeanors or both:

- (1) are of the same or similar character, even if not part of a single scheme or plan; or
- (2) are based on the same conduct or on a series of acts connected together or constituting parts of a single scheme or plan;
- (3) improper joinder of offenses or defendants shall not preclude subsequent prosecution on the same charge for the charge or defendant improperly joined.

(b) Joinder of Defendants.

Two or more defendants may be joined in the same charge:

- (1) when each of the defendants is charged with accountability for each offense included;
- (2) when each of the defendants is charged with conspiracy and one or more of the defendants is also charged with one or more offenses alleged to be in furtherance of the conspiracy; or
- (3) when, even if conspiracy is not charged and all of the defendants are not charged in each count, it is alleged that the several offenses charged:
 - (i) were part of a common scheme or plan; or
 - (ii) were so closely connected in respect to time, place and occasion that it would be difficult to separate proof of one charge from proof of the others.

(c) Failure to Join Related Offenses.

- (1) Two or more offenses are related offenses, for purposes of this rule, if they are within the jurisdiction and venue of the same court and are based on the same conduct.
- (2) When a defendant has been charged with two or more related offenses, his timely motion to join them for trial should be granted unless the court determines that because the prosecuting attorney does not have sufficient evidence to warrant trying some of the offenses at that time, or for some other reason, the ends of justice would be defeated if the motion were granted. A defendant's failure to so move constitutes a waiver of any right of joinder as to related offenses with which the defendant knew he was charged.

(3) A defendant who has been tried for one offense may thereafter move to dismiss a charge for a related offense, unless a motion for joinder of these offenses was previously denied or the right of joinder was waived as provided in section (b). The motion to dismiss must be made prior to the second trial, and shall be granted unless the court determines that because the prosecuting attorney was unaware of the facts constituting the related offense or did not have sufficient evidence to warrant trying this offense at the time of the first trial, or for some other reason, the ends of justice would be defeated if the motion were granted.

(4) Entry of a plea of guilty to one offense does not bar the subsequent prosecution of a related offense unless the plea of guilty was entered on the basis of a plea agreement in which the prosecuting attorney agreed to seek or not to oppose dismissal of other related charges or not to prosecute other potential related charges.

(d) Authority of Court to Act on Own Motion.

The court may order consolidation for trial of two or more indictments or informations if the offenses or defendants could have been joined in a single charge. [Adopted April 18, 1973, effective July 1, 1973.]

Rule 4.4 Severance of offenses and defendants.

(a) Timeliness of Motion; Waiver.

(1) A defendant's motion for severance of offenses or defendants must be made before trial, except that a motion for severance may be made before or at the close of all the evidence if the interests of justice require. Severance is waived if the motion is not made at the appropriate time.

(2) If a defendant's pretrial motion for severance was overruled he may renew the motion on the same ground before or at the close of all the evidence. Severance is waived by failure to renew the motion.

(b) Severance of Offenses.

(1) The court, on application of the prosecuting attorney, or on application of the defendant other than under section (a), shall grant a severance of offenses whenever before trial or during trial with consent of the defendant, the court determines that severance will promote a fair determination of the defendant's guilt or innocence of each offense.

(c) Severance of Defendants.

(1) A defendant's motion for severance on the ground that an out-of-court statement of a co-defendant referring to him is inadmissible against him shall be granted unless:

(i) The prosecuting attorney elects not to offer the statement in the case in chief.

(ii) Deletion of all references to the moving defendant will eliminate any prejudice to him from the admission of the statement.

(2) The court, on application of the prosecuting attorney, or on application of the defendant other than under subsection (i), should grant a severance of defendants whenever:

(i) if before trial, it is deemed necessary to protect a defendant's rights to a speedy trial, or it is deemed appropriate to promote a fair determination of the guilt or innocence of a defendant; or

(ii) if during trial upon consent of the severed defendant, it is deemed necessary to achieve a fair determination of the guilt or innocence of a defendant.

(3) When such information would assist the court in ruling on a motion for severance of defendants, the court may order the prosecuting attorney to disclose any statements made by the defendants which he intends to introduce in evidence at the trial.

(d) Failure to Prove Grounds for Joinder of Defendants.

If, pursuant to section (a), a defendant moves to be severed at the conclusion of the prosecution's case or of all the evidence, and there is not sufficient evidence to support the grounds upon which the moving defendant was joined or previously denied severance, the court shall grant a severance if, in view of this lack of evidence, failure to sever prejudices the moving defendant.

(e) Authority of Court to Act on Own Motion. The court may order a severance of offenses or defendants before trial if a severance could be obtained on motion of a defendant or the prosecution. [Adopted April 18, 1973, effective July 1, 1973.]

Comment: Supersedes RCW 10.46.100.

Rule 4.5 Omnibus hearing.

(a) When Required. When a plea of not guilty is entered, the court may set a time for an omnibus hearing.

(b) Time. The time set for the omnibus hearing shall allow sufficient time for counsel to (i) initiate and complete discovery; (ii) conduct further investigation of the case, as needed; and (iii) continue plea discussions.

(c) Checklist. At the omnibus hearing, the trial court on its own initiative, utilizing a checklist substantially in the form of the omnibus application by plaintiff and defendant (see section (h)) shall:

(i) ensure that standards regarding provision of counsel have been complied with;

(ii) ascertain whether the parties have completed discovery and, if not, make orders appropriate to expedite completion;

(iii) make rulings on any motions, other requests then pending, and ascertain whether any additional motions, or requests will be made at the hearing or continued portions thereof;

(iv) ascertain whether there are any procedural or constitutional issues which should be considered;

(v) upon agreement of counsel, or upon a finding that the trial is likely to be protracted or otherwise unusually complicated, set a time for a pretrial conference; and

(vi) permit defendant to change his plea.

(d) Motions. All motions and other requests prior to trial should ordinarily be reserved for and presented orally at the omnibus hearing unless the court otherwise directs. Failure to raise or give notice at the hearing of any error or issue of which the party concerned has knowledge may constitute waiver of such error or issue. Checklist forms substantially like the memorandum required by section (h) shall be made available by the court and utilized at the hearing to ensure that all requests, errors and issues are then considered.

(e) Continuance. Any and all issues should be raised either by counsel or by the court without prior notice, and if appropriate, informally disposed of. If additional discovery, investigation or preparation, or evidentiary hearing, or formal presentation is necessary for a fair and orderly determination of any issue, the omnibus hearing should be continued from time to time until all matters raised are properly disposed of.

(f) Record. A verbatim record, (electronic, mechanical or otherwise), shall be made of all proceedings at the hearing.

(g) Stipulations. Stipulations by any party shall be binding upon that party at trial unless set aside or modified by the court in the interests of justice.

(h) Memorandum. At the conclusion of the hearing, a summary memorandum shall be made indicating disclosure made, rulings and orders of the court, stipulations, and any other matters determined or pending. Such summary memorandum shall be in substantially the following form:

Rule 4.6 Depositions.

(a) When Taken. Upon a showing that a prospective witness may be unable to attend or prevented from attending a trial or hearing or if a witness refuses to discuss the case with either counsel and that his testimony is material and that it is necessary to take his deposition in order to prevent a failure of justice, the court at any time after the filing of an indictment or information may upon motion of a party and notice to the parties order that his testimony be taken by deposition and that any designated books, papers, documents or tangible objects, not privileged, be produced at the same time and place.

(b) Notice of Taking. The party at whose instance a deposition is to be taken shall give to every other party reasonable written notice of the time and place for taking the deposition. The notice shall state the name and address of each person to be examined. On motion of a party upon whom the notice is served, the court for cause shown may extend or shorten the time and may change the place of taking.

(c) How Taken. A deposition shall be taken in the manner provided in civil actions. No deposition shall be used in evidence against any defendant who has not had notice of and an opportunity to participate in or be present at the taking thereof.

(d) Use. At the trial or upon any hearing, a part or all of a deposition so far as otherwise admissible under the rules of evidence may be used if it appears: that the witness is dead; or that the witness is unavailable, unless it appears that his unavailability was procured by the party offering the deposition; or that the witness is unable to attend or testify because of sickness or infirmity; or that the party offering the deposition has been unable to procure the attendance of the witness by subpoena. Any deposition may also be used by any party for the purpose of contradicting or impeaching the testimony of the deponent as a witness.

(e) Objections to Admissibility. Objections to receiving in evidence a deposition or part thereof may be made as provided in civil actions. [Adopted April 18, 1973, effective July 1, 1973.]

Rule 4.7 Discovery.

(a) Prosecutor's Obligations.

(1) Except as otherwise provided by protective orders or as to matters not subject to disclosure, the prosecuting attorney shall disclose to the defendant the following material and information within his possession or control no later than the omnibus hearing:

(i) The names and addresses of persons whom the prosecuting attorney intends to call as witnesses at the hearing or trial, together with any written or recorded statements and the substance of any oral statements of such witnesses;

(ii) Any written or recorded statements and the substance of any oral statements made by the defendant, or made by a codefendant if the trial is to be a joint one;

(iii) When authorized by the court, those portions of grand jury minutes containing testimony of the defendant, relevant testimony of persons whom the prosecuting attorney intends to call as witnesses at the hearing or trial, and any relevant testimony that has not been transcribed.

(iv) Any reports or statements of experts made in connection with the particular case, including results of physical or mental examinations and scientific tests, experiments, or comparisons;

(v) Any books, papers, documents, photographs, or tangible objects, which the prosecuting attorney intends to use in the hearing or trial or which were obtained from or belonged to the defendant; and

(vi) Any record or prior criminal convictions known to the prosecuting attorney of the defendant and of persons whom the prosecuting attorney intends to call as witnesses at the hearing or trial.

(2) The prosecuting attorney shall disclose to the defendant:

(i) Any electronic surveillance, including wiretapping, of the defendant's premises or conversations to which the defendant was a party and any record thereof;

(ii) Any expert witnesses whom the prosecuting attorney will call at the hearing or trial, the subject of their testimony, and any reports they have submitted to the prosecuting attorney;

(iii) Any information which the prosecuting attorney has indicating entrapment of the defendant.

(3) Except as is otherwise provided as to protective orders, the prosecuting attorney shall disclose to defendant's counsel any material or information within his knowledge which tends to negate defendant's guilt as to the offense charged.

(4) The prosecuting attorney's obligation under this section is limited to material and information within the knowledge, possession or control of members of his staff.

(b) Defendant's Obligations.

(1) Except as is otherwise provided as to matters not subject to disclosure and protective orders, the defendant shall disclose to the prosecuting attorney the following material and information within his control no later than the omnibus hearing:

(i) The names and addresses of persons whom the defendant intends to call as witnesses at the hearing or trial, together with any written or recorded statements and the substance of any oral statements of such witness.

(2) Notwithstanding the initiation of judicial proceedings, and subject to constitutional limitations, the court on motion of the prosecuting attorney or the defendant, may require or allow the defendant to:

(i) Appear in a lineup;

(ii) Speak for identification by a witness to an offense;

(iii) Be fingerprinted;

(iv) Pose for photographs not involving reenactment of the crime charged;

(v) Try on articles of clothing;

(vi) Permit the taking of samples of or from his blood, hair, and other materials of his body including materials under his fingernails which involve no unreasonable intrusion thereof;

(ix) State whether there is any claim of incompetency to stand trial;

(x) Allow inspection of physical or documentary evidence in defendant's possession;

(xi) To state whether his prior convictions will be stipulated or need to be proved;

(xiii) To state whether or not he will rely on a defense of insanity at the time of the offense;

(xiv) To state the general nature of his defense.

(3) Provisions may be made for appearance for the foregoing purposes in an order for pretrial release.

(c) Additional Disclosures Upon Request and Specification. Except as is otherwise provided as to matters not subject to disclosure the prosecuting attorney shall, upon request of the defendant, disclose any relevant material and information regarding:

(1) specified searches and seizures;

(2) the acquisition of specified statements from the defendant; and

(3) the relationship, if any, of specified persons to the prosecuting authority.

(d) Material Held by Others. Upon defendant's request and designation of material or information in the knowledge, possession or control of other persons which would be discoverable if in the knowledge, possession or control of the prosecuting attorney, the prosecuting attorney shall attempt to cause such material or information to be made available to the defendant. If the prosecuting attorney's efforts are unsuccessful and if such material or persons are subject to the jurisdiction of the court, the court shall issue suitable subpoenas or orders to cause such material to be made available to the defendant.

(e) Discretionary Disclosures.

(1) Upon a showing of materiality to the preparation of the defense, and if the request is reasonable, the court in its discretion may require disclosure to the defendant of the relevant material and information not covered by sections (a), (c) and (d).

(2) The court may condition or deny disclosure authorized by this rule if it finds that there is a substantial risk to any person of physical harm, intimidation, bribery, economic reprisals or unnecessary annoyance or embarrassment, resulting from such disclosure, which outweigh any usefulness of the disclosure to the defendant.

(f) Matters Not Subject to Disclosure.

(1) Work product. Disclosure shall not be required of legal research or of records, correspondence, reports or memoranda to the extent that they contain the opinions, theories or conclusions of investigating or prosecuting agencies except as to material discoverable under (a)(1)(iv).

(2) Informants. Disclosure of an informant's identity shall not be required where his identity is a prosecution secret and a failure to disclose will not infringe upon the constitutional rights of the defendant. Disclosure of the identity of witnesses to be produced at a hearing or trial shall not be denied.

(g) Medical and Scientific Reports. Subject to constitutional limitations, the court may require the defendant to disclose any reports or results, or testimony relative thereto, of physical or mental examinations or of scientific tests, experiments or comparisons, or any other reports or statements of experts which the defendant intends to use at a hearing or trial.

(h) Regulation of Discovery.

(1) Investigations not to be impeded. Except as is otherwise provided with respect to protective orders and matters not subject to disclosure, neither the counsel for the parties nor other prosecution or defense personnel shall advise persons other than the defendant having relevant material or information to refrain from discussing the case with opposing counsel or showing opposing counsel any relevant material, nor shall they otherwise impede opposing counsel's investigation of the case.

(2) Continuing duty to disclose. If, after compliance with these standards or orders pursuant thereto, a party discovers additional material or information which is subject to disclosure, he shall promptly notify the other party or his counsel of the existence of such additional material, and if the additional material or information is discovered during trial, the court shall also be notified.

(3) Custody of materials. Any materials furnished to an attorney pursuant to these standards shall remain in his exclusive custody and be used only for the purposes of conducting his side of the case, and shall be subject to such other terms and conditions as the court may provide.

(4) Protective orders. Upon a showing of cause, the court may at any time order that specified disclosure be restricted or deferred, or make such other order as is appropriate, provided that all material and information to which a party is entitled must be disclosed in time to permit his counsel to make beneficial use thereof.

(5) Excision. When some parts of certain material are discoverable under this rule, and other parts not discoverable, as much of the material shall be disclosed as is consistent with this rule. Material excised pursuant to judicial order shall be sealed and preserved in the records of the court, to be made available to the appellate court in the event of an appeal.

(6) In camera proceedings. Upon request of any person, the court may permit any showing of cause for denial or regulation of disclosure, or portion of such showing, to be made in camera. A record shall be made of such proceedings. If the court enters an order granting relief following a showing in camera, the entire record of such showing shall be sealed and preserved in the records of the court, to be made available to the appellate court in the event of an appeal.

(7) Sanctions.

(i) If at any time during the course of the proceedings it is brought to the attention of the court that a party has failed to comply with an applicable discovery rule or an order issued pursuant thereto, the court may order such party to permit the discovery of material and information not previously disclosed, grant a continuance, dismiss the action or enter such other order as it deems just under the circumstances.

(ii) Willful violation by counsel of an applicable discovery rule or an order issued pursuant thereto may subject counsel to appropriate sanctions by the court. [Adopted April 18, 1973, effective July 1, 1973.]

The defendant and his attorney shall be present at any such conference, unless the defendant makes an intelligent written waiver of his right to be present. A memorandum of the matters agreed upon shall be signed by counsel, the defendant personally, and the court, and shall be filed. No admission made by the defendant or his attorney at the conference shall be used against the defendant unless it is included in such signed memorandum. Any admissions contained in the memorandum shall be binding only for the purpose of the case in which the conference is held. (b) Jury of Less Than Twelve.

(1) If prior to trial on a noncapital case, all defendants so elect, the case shall be tried by a jury of six, or by the court.

(2) If a juror is unable to continue and if no alternate jurors have been selected or if none is available, all defendants may elect to continue with the remaining jurors; otherwise a mistrial may be granted on motion of any defendant.

When the action is called for trial, the clerk shall prepare separate ballots containing the names of the jurors summoned who have appeared and not been excused, and deposit them in a box. He shall draw the required number of names for purposes of voir dire examination. Any necessary additions to the panel shall be drawn from the clerk's list of qualified jurors. The clerk shall thereupon prepare separate ballots and deposit them in the trial jury box. [Adopted April 18, 1973, effective July 1, 1973.]

Rule 6.4 Challenges.

(a) Challenges to the Entire Panel. Challenges to the entire panel shall only be sustained for a material departure from the procedures prescribed by law for their selection.

(b) Voir Dire. A voir dire examination shall be conducted for the purpose of discovering any basis for challenge for cause and for the purpose of gaining knowledge to enable an intelligent exercise of peremptory challenges. The judge shall initiate the voir dire examination by identifying the parties and their respective counsel and by briefly outlining the nature of the case. The judge and counsel may then ask the prospective jurors questions touching their qualifications to serve as jurors in the case, subject to the supervision of the court as appropriate to the facts of the case.

(c) Challenges for Cause.

(1) If the judge after examination of any juror is of the opinion that grounds for challenge are present, he shall excuse that juror from the trial of the case. If the judge does not excuse the juror, any party may challenge the juror for cause.

(2) RCW 4.44.150 through 4.44.200 shall govern challenges for cause.

(d) Exceptions to Challenge.

(1) Determination. The challenge may be excepted to by the adverse party for insufficiency and, if so, the court shall determine the sufficiency thereof, assuming the facts alleged therein to be true. The challenge may be denied by the adverse party and, if so, the court shall try the issue and determine the law and the facts.

(2) Trial of challenge. Upon trial of a challenge, the rules of evidence applicable to testimony offered upon the trial of an ordinary issue of fact shall govern. The juror challenged, or any other person otherwise competent, may be examined as a witness by either party. If a challenge be determined to be sufficient, or if found to be true, as the case may be, it shall be allowed, and the juror to whom it was taken excluded; but if not so determined or found otherwise, it shall be disallowed.

(e) Peremptory Challenges.

(1) Peremptory challenges defined. A peremptory challenge is an objection to a juror for which there is no reason given, but upon which the court shall exclude him. In prosecutions for capital offenses the defense and the state may challenge peremptorily twelve jurors each; in prosecution for offenses punishable by imprisonment in a penitentiary six jurors each; in all other prosecutions, three jurors each. When several defendants are on trial together, each defendant shall be entitled to one challenge in addition to the number of challenges provided above, with discretion in the trial judge to afford the prosecution such additional challenges as circumstances warrant.

(2) Peremptory challenges—how taken. After prospective jurors have been passed for cause, peremptory challenges shall be exercised alternately first by the prosecution then by each defendant until the peremptory challenges are exhausted or the jury accepted. Acceptance of the jury as presently constituted shall not waive any remaining peremptory challenges to jurors subsequently called. [Adopted April 18, 1973, effective July 1, 1973.]

Comment: Supersedes RCW 10.49.030, 10.49.040, 10.49.050, 10.49.060.

Rule 6.5 Alternate jurors. When the jury is selected the court may direct the selection of one or more additional jurors, in its discretion, to be known as alternate jurors. Each party shall be entitled to one peremptory challenge for each alternate juror to be selected. When several defendants are on trial together, each defendant shall be entitled to one challenge in addition to the challenge provided above, with discretion in the trial judge to afford the prosecution such additional challenges as circumstances warrant. If at any time before submission of the case to the jury a juror is found unable to perform his duties the court shall order him discharged, and the clerk shall draw the name of an alternate who shall take his place on the jury. [Adopted April 18, 1973, effective July 1, 1973.]

Comment: Supersedes RCW 10.49.070.

Rule 6.6 Jurors' oath. The jury shall be sworn or affirmed well and truly to try the issue between the state and the defendant, according to the evidence and instructions by the court. [Adopted April 18, 1973, effective July 1, 1973.]

Comment: Supersedes RCW 10.49.100.

Rule 6.7 Custody of jury. The jury may be allowed to separate if the court finds that good reason exists to believe that such would not jeopardize a fair trial. Any motions or proceedings concerning the separation of the jury shall be made out of the presence of the jury. [Amended June 28, 1976, effective September 20, 1976; adopted April 18, 1973, effective July 1, 1973.]

Comment: Supersedes RCW 10.49.110.

[Adopted April 18, 1973, effective July 1, 1973.]

Rule 6.9 View of premises by jury. The court may allow the jury to view the place in which any material fact occurred. In such event it shall order the jury to be conducted in a body, in the custody of a proper officer of the court to the place which shall be shown to them by the judge. The defendant shall be present at the view. During the view, no person other than the judge or person authorized by him shall speak to the jury on any subject relating to the trial. [Adopted April 18, 1973, effective July 1, 1973.]

Rule 6.10 Discharge of the jury. The jury may be discharged by the court on consent of both parties or when it appears that there is no reasonable probability of their reaching agreement. [Adopted April 18, 1973, effective July 1, 1973.]

Rule 6.11 Judge—Disability.

(a) Disability of Judge During Jury Trial. If, before the judge submits the case to the jury, he is unable to continue with the trial, any other judge assigned to or regularly sitting in the court, upon familiarizing himself with the record of the trial, may proceed with the trial. Upon defendant's objection to the replacement, a mistrial shall be granted. If, after the judge submits the case to the jury, he is unable to continue, the case shall proceed before another judge.

(b) Disability of Judge During Nonjury Trial. If a judge before whom trial without jury has commenced is unable to proceed with the trial, a mistrial shall be granted. [Adopted April 18, 1973, effective July 1, 1973.]

Rule 6.12 Witnesses.

(a) Who May Testify. Any person may be a witness in any action or proceeding under these rules except as hereinafter provided or as provided in the Rules of Evidence.

(b) When Excused. A witness subpoenaed to attend in a criminal case is dismissed and excused from further attendance as soon as he has given his testimony—in-chief and has been cross-examined thereon, unless either party makes requests in open court that the witness remain in attendance; and witness fees will not be allowed any witness after the day on which his testimony is given, except when the witness has in open court been required to remain in further attendance, and when so required the clerk shall note that fact in his journal.

(c) Persons Incompetent to Testify. The following persons are incompetent to testify: (1) Those who are of unsound mind, or intoxicated at the time of their production for examination; and (2) Children who do not have the capacity of receiving just impressions of the facts about which they are examined or who do not have the capacity of relating them truly. This shall not affect any recognized privileges.

(d) Not Excluded on Grounds of Interest. No person offered as a witness shall be excluded from giving evidence by reason of his interest in the result of the action, as a party thereto or otherwise, but such interest may be shown to affect his credibility.

(e) Material Witnesses. On motion of the prosecuting attorney or the defendant a witness may be compelled to attend a hearing to determine whether his testimony is material. Upon request, the court shall appoint counsel for a witness who is financially unable to obtain one if it appears to the court, after an offer of proof by the moving party, that the testimony of such witness would tend to incriminate him, or it appears that counsel is required to otherwise fully protect the rights of such witness. [Amended December 19, 1978, effective April 2, 1979; amended December 10, 1974, effective January 1, 1975; adopted April 18, 1973, effective July 1, 1973.]

Comment: (See RCW 10.01.130).

Rule 6.13 Testimony in lieu of witnesses.

Pending the taking of the deposition the provisions of CrR 3.2 shall apply.

(b) Test Report by Expert.

(1) Certification Required. Subject to subsection (b)(3) of this rule, the official written report of an expert witness which contains the results of any test of a substance or object which are relevant to an issue in a trial shall be admitted in evidence without further proof or foundation as prima facie evidence of the facts stated in the report if the report bears or has attached a certification stating that the certifier has performed a test on the substance or object in question, the name of the person from whom the substance or object was received, the certificate is attached to a true and complete copy of the certifier's official report, the report was made by the certifier, and the qualifications of the certifier to make such tests. SUPERIOR COURT MENTAL PROCEEDINGS
 RULES (MPR)

Introduction

The following rules have been designed and promulgated to give full force and effect to Laws of 1973, 1st Ex. Sess., ch. 142. Any future amendments which may be enacted will be dealt with in rules as the need may arise.

Section 62 of the act directs the Supreme Court to adopt rules with respect to court procedures and proceedings. Adoption of these rules is not to be construed as approval of what could be a breach of the separation of powers of government. While the legislature may recommend rule making as to particular matters, it may not mandate rule making which is an inherent power of the judicial branch.

Although the courts generally do not pass upon the wisdom or the workability of statutes, they are concerned with their constitutionality. The adoption of these rules, which are merely designed to give effect to the statute as it is written, does not in any manner indicate an opinion of the court that the statute is or is not constitutional in any respect. In promulgating them, the court does not in any manner obviate further consideration of any portion of the statute or these rules in a proper case.

Because of the complicated nature of the statute necessitating these rules and the need that they be effective January 1, 1974, the court has promulgated them without submitting them for comment, and now invites comment from the bench and bar. [Adopted Dec. 17, 1973, effective Jan. 1, 1974.]
