NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. There is created a provisional international marketing program for agricultural commodities and trade (IMPACT) center at Washington State University, which shall terminate on June 30, 1985, and which shall be referred to in this act as "the center."

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. The provisional IMPACT center shall:

(1) Coordinate the teaching, research, and extension expertise of the college of agriculture and home economics at Washington State University to assist in:

(a) The design and development of information and strategies to expand the long-term international markets for Washington agricultural products; and

(b) The dissemination of such information and strategies to Washington exporters, overseas users, and public and private trade organizations;

(2) Research and identify current impediments to increased exports of Washington agricultural products, and determine methods of surmounting those impediments and opportunities for exporting new agricultural products and commodities to foreign markets;

(3) Prepare curricula to present and distribute information concerning international trade in agricultural commodities and products to students, exporters, international traders, and the public; and

(4) Link itself through cooperative agreements with the provisional center for international trade in forest products at the University of Washington, the state department of agriculture, the state department of commerce and economic development, Washington's agriculture businesses and associations, and other state agency data collection, processing, and dissemination efforts.
NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. The provisional IMPACT center shall be administered by a director appointed by the dean of the college of agriculture and home economics of Washington State University.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4. The provisional center shall coordinate its activities with the state department of agriculture, the state department of commerce and economic development, the United States department of agriculture, the University of Washington, the export assistance center, and other state agencies to avoid duplication of effort and programs.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 5. By December 1, 1984, the center shall:
(1) Consult with the state's agricultural industry to identify the major international marketing problems of that industry and develop preliminary strategies to help solve these problems.
(2) Identify agricultural industry resources, including financial, which could be committed to support the center's research, education, and training project.
(3) Determine which new or existing agricultural products can and should be exported to foreign markets to create or retain jobs in Washington.
(4) Examine and prioritize obstacles to the expansion of Washington agricultural exports and assemble policy alternatives to surmount such obstacles.
(5) Assess the need for advanced degree programs in international marketing at Washington State University, in coordination with that university's college of business and economics and other state universities.
(6) Report to the governor and legislature on the activities of the center under this section, the desirability of continuing the center past June 30, 1985, and, if necessary, the future activities and structure of the center. This report shall describe the director's success in obtaining private-sector financial support for the center's programs during 1984, and the center's plans for future private-sector financial support solicitation efforts for future center programs. The report shall include a detailed proposed 1985–1987 biennial budget for the center.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 6. The governor, the legislature, state agencies, and the public may use the center's trade policy research and advisory services as may be needed.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 7. The center shall seek financial support from the agricultural industries and producer organizations and individuals to help fund its research and education programs, and shall use previously appropriated funds of Washington State University and existing resources as much as is possible to further the center's activities.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 8. There is appropriated from the general fund to Washington State University for the biennium ending June 30, 1985, the sum of forty-eight thousand five hundred dollars, or so much thereof as may be necessary, to carry out the purposes of the provisional international marketing program for agricultural commodities and trade center. This appropriation shall not be used for the employment of more than one full-time equivalent staff unit.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 9. This act is necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health, and safety, the support of the state government and its existing public institutions, and shall take effect immediately.

Passed the Senate February 22, 1984.
Approved by the Governor March 1, 1984.
Filed in Office of Secretary of State March 1, 1984.

CHAPTER 58
[Substitute House Bill No. 1270]
