WHEREAS, Mr. McCausland's endearing and enduring Seattle Post-Intelligencer newspaper character, "Hairbreadth Husky," from 1960 to 1982 hued the victories and rued the defeats of the University of Washington football team; and

WHEREAS, A true "Renaissance Couple," the McCauslands later graced coastal Washington with their artistic flair, historical insight, ornithological acumen, and dedicated community service; and

WHEREAS, The McCauslands were honored by their fellow Tokelanders in 1999 with Citizens of the Year recognition, and they were feted by the Aberdeen Museum of History in 2004 with Historians of the Year distinction; and

WHEREAS, The Westport Maritime Museum lecture hall is very appropriately named in their honor; and

WHEREAS, Bob McCausland, who had been an artist at the Seattle Post-Intelligencer for more than 30 years, later painted, whittled, cut stained glass, and drew a weekly cartoon for The Daily World newspaper; and

House Chamber, Olympia, Monday, February 12, 2007

WHEREAS, His murals celebrate and ennoble communities up and down the coast, he carved plaques for ships along Westport's harbor, and he carved the figurehead of Lady Washington for the state's centennial ship; and

WHEREAS, Ruth McCausland authored a comprehensive and respected regional history volume called Washington's Westport, and she has written a South Beach Bulletin newspaper column sharing her considerable knowledge of birds; and

WHEREAS, Her diverse contributions to community life and lore have also included articles for the Pacific County Historical Society's quarterly journal; and

WHEREAS, Bob McCausland and Ruth Bjornstad met in an art class in 1937, and they were married four years later; and

WHEREAS, In 1971, the McCauslands bought property on land overlooking Willapa Bay and launched a seven-year home-building project for their retirement haven; and

WHEREAS, They went on to become charter members of the Westport-South Beach Historical Society; and

WHEREAS, According to a January 16, 2001, article in the Seattle Post-Intelligencer newspaper, the McCauslands "show what being partners--and being part of a community--are all about";

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, That the House of Representatives of the State of Washington honor the wonderful life of Bob McCausland, and celebrate the team of Bob and Ruth McCausland for their tireless and genuine commitment to making Washington a better place for all Washingtonians; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That copies of this resolution be immediately transmitted by the Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives to Ruth McCausland, to the Seattle Post-Intelligencer newspaper, to The Daily World newspaper, to the South Beach Bulletin newspaper, the Pacific County Historical Society, and to the Westport-South Beach Historical Society.

Representative Blake moved the adoption of the resolution.

Representative Blake spoke in favor of the adoption of the resolution.

HOUSE BILL NO. 1116, By Representatives Miloscia, Pettigrew, Morrell, Ormsby, Green, B. Sullivan, Moeller, Dunn, Santos and Simpson

Creating a plan to increase the homeownership rate to seventy-five percent by 2020.

The bill was read the second time.

With the consent of the House, amendments (010), (011) and (012) were withdrawn.

Representative Armstrong moved the adoption of amendment (007):

On page 1, line 9, after "state." insert "The plan must address, among other issues, how (a) reducing impact fees, (b) allowing single-family residential development outside urban growth areas, and (c) eliminating the state sales tax on construction labor and services in counties where housing is not affordable, may contribute to an increase in the state homeownership rate."

POINT OF ORDER

Representative Springer requested a scope and object ruling on the amendment (007) to HOUSE BILL NO. 1116.

SPEAKER'S RULING

Mr. Speaker (Representative Lovick presiding): House Bill No. 1116 is entitled an act relating to creating a plan to increase the homeownership rate to seventy-five percent by 2020.

The bill contains only one section, directing the Housing Finance Commission to work with designated stakeholders to create a strategic plan to increase the homeownership rate to seventy-five percent by 2020. The only specification for the content of the plan is that it address increasing homeownership on a fair basis for all geographic regions of the state. The plan is to be presented to the Legislature by December 31, 2007.

Amendment (007) requires the plan to evaluate whether making changes to impact fees, the growth management act, and the imposition of the sales tax on home construction, would contribute to an increase in the state homeownership act.

The amendment is clearly within the scope of the title as it relates to development of a plan to increase the homeownership rate. The amendment's requirement that specific issues be considered in developing the plan supplements the directives in the underlying bill but does not expand the bill's purpose of requiring development of the plan.

The Speaker therefore finds that the amendment is within the scope and object of the underlying bill, and that the point of order is not well taken."

Representative Armstrong spoke in favor of the adoption of the amendment.

Representative Miloscia spoke against the adoption of the amendment.

The amendment was not adopted.

Representative Schindler moved the adoption of amendment (008):

On page 1, after line 16, insert the following:

"NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. A new section is added to chapter 82.02 RCW to read as follows:

(1) As used in this chapter, "first-time buyer housing affordability index" means the index determined by the Washington center for real estate research that measures the ability of a typical renter household to afford the purchase of a typical starter home by assuming: (a) The household will purchase a home priced at eighty-five percent of area median with a ten-percent down payment; (b) the home mortgage loan is for a term of thirty years at the prevailing average fixed rate of interest; (c) the potential first-time home buyer earns seventy percent of the area median household income and twenty-five percent of household income can be used for principal and interest payments.

(2) For purposes of this chapter, a first-time buyer housing affordability index of: (a) One hundred, indicates that a household of the defined income can afford a home of the defined price; (b) less than one hundred, indicates that a household of the defined income cannot afford a home of the defined price without spending more than twenty-five percent of their income on mortgage payments; and (c) greater than one hundred, indicates that a household of the defined income can afford a home of the defined price while spending less than twenty-five percent of their income on mortgage payments.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. A new section is added to chapter 82.02 RCW to read as follows:

(1) In any county in which the first-time buyer housing affordability index, as defined in section 1 of this act and as determined by the Washington center for real estate research at Washington State University, is less than one hundred for three quarters in any given year, the county and cities located within the county may not collect impact fees under this chapter for the following two years.

(2) The one-year period measured by the Washington center for real estate research under subsection (1) of this section shall begin and end in the third quarter of the calendar year. The time period for which the ability to collect impact fees under this chapter is suspended under subsection (1) of this section begins January 1st of the year following the determination by the Washington center for real estate research.

Sec. 4. RCW 82.02.100 and 1992 c 219 s 2 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) A person required to pay a fee pursuant to RCW 43.21C.060 for system improvements shall not be required to pay an impact fee under RCW 82.02.050 through 82.02.090 for those same system improvements.

(2) A county prohibited from imposing a fee for system improvements under section 2 of this act may not impose a fee under RCW 43.21C.065 for those same system improvements.

(3) A county prohibited from imposing a fee for system improvements under section 2 of this act may not require a dedication of land under RCW 58.17.110 for those same system improvements."

Correct the title.

POINT OF ORDER

Representative Springer requested a scope and object ruling on the amendment (008) to House Bill No. 1116.

SPEAKER'S RULING

Mr. Speaker (Representative Lovick presiding): "As previously noted, the underlying bill is narrowly drafted to accomplish one specific goal – the development of a strategic plan to increase homeownership rates.

Amendment (008) defines a "first-time buyer housing affordability index" and prohibits the imposition of impact fees upon a determination that benchmarks in the index have not been met. These changes to substantive law exceed the bill's purpose in requiring development of a plan.

The Speaker therefore finds that the amendment is beyond the scope and object of the underlying bill, and that the point of order well taken."

Representative Dunn adoption of amendment (015):

On page 1, after line 4, insert the following:

"NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. A new section is added to chapter 36.70A RCW to read as follows:

(1) As used in this section and section 2 of this act, "first-time buyer housing affordability index" means the index determined by the Washington center for real estate research that measures the ability of a typical renter household to afford the purchase of a typical starter home by assuming: (a) The household will purchase a home priced at eighty-five percent of area median household income with a ten-percent down payment; (b) the home mortgage loan is for a term of thirty years at the prevailing average fixed rate of interest; and (c) the potential first-time home buyer earns seventy percent of the area median household income and twenty-five percent of household income can be used for principal and interest payments.

(2) A first-time buyer housing affordability index of: (a) One hundred, indicates that a household of the defined income can afford a home of the defined price; (b) less than one hundred, indicates that a household of the defined income cannot afford a home of the defined price without spending more than twenty-five percent of their income on mortgage payments; and (c) greater than one hundred, indicates that a household of the defined income can afford a home of the defined price while spending less than twenty-five percent of their income on mortgage payments.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. A new section is added to chapter 36.70A RCW to read as follows:

(1)(a) In any county planning under RCW 36.70A.040 in which the first-time buyer housing affordability index, as defined in section 1 of this act, and as determined by the Washington center for real estate research at Washington State University, is less than one hundred for three quarters in any year, the county may permit single-family detached residential development of any density outside the urban growth area designated according to RCW 36.70A.110 for the following two years. Single-family detached residential development authorized under this section is not considered urban growth located outside of an urban growth area. Services provided to a single-family detached residential development authorized under this section is not considered urban services located outside of an urban growth area.

(b) Any county planning under RCW 36.70A.040 and permitting single-family detached residential development under (a) of this subsection may:

(i) Change its comprehensive plan and development regulations after the determination in (a) of this subsection has been made by the Washington center for real estate research to provide new locations for or increased density of single-family detached residential development under (a) of this subsection; or

(ii) Incorporate sections in its comprehensive plan and enact development regulations that provide new locations for or increased density of single-family detached residential development that are contingent upon a determination under (a) of this subsection that the first-time buyer housing affordability index was less than one hundred for three quarters in any year. If the county chooses to enact sections of its comprehensive plan as well as development regulations, the county may provide that these sections and regulations take effect January 1st of any year following the determination by the Washington center for real estate research under (a) of this subsection.

(2) The one-year period measured by the Washington center for real estate research under subsection (1) of this section begins and ends in the third quarter of the calendar year. The time period for which the ability to permit single-family detached residential development under subsection (1) of this section begins January 1st of the year following the determination by the Washington center for real estate research under (a) of this subsection."

Renumber the remaining section consecutively, correct any internal references accordingly, and correct the title.

POINT OF ORDER

Representative Springer requested a scope and object ruling on the amendment (015) to House Bill No. 1116.

SPEAKER'S RULING

The Speaker (Representative Lovick presiding): "As previously noted, the underlying bill is narrowly drafted to accomplish one specific goal - the development of a strategic plan to increase homeownership rates.
