

Annual Revenue Losses Associated with Underground Construction in Washington State (FY2006)*

Total = $112,600,000 (revised)

*Does not include lost building permit or licensing revenue (see below).

The previous estimate ($109,000,000) excluded local retail and B&O revenue.

Underground construction activity may also influence other local revenue sources, specifically, building permit and business and occupational license fees. Building permit fees constitute the great majority of this revenue, providing over $180,000,000 in local revenue in 2006. The underground-related losses with respect to these revenue sources are unknown at this time.
