May you remember that in this chamber the words 'majority' and 'minority' refer only to a number of seats, not who has a greater claim to truth, commitment, empathy or justice.

And most of all may you be blessed with peace, a session of peace as you create peace for this great State and all who dwell within it.

And let us say, Amen."

INTRODUCTION OF SPECIAL GUEST

The President welcomed and introduced Ms. Claudia Castro, Washington State Poet Laureate, who was seated at the rostrum.

With permission of the Senate, business was suspended to allow Washington State Poet Laureate Claudia Castro to address the Senate.

Poet Laureate Ms. Claudia Castro: "Thank you Mr. President; Honorable Members of the Washington State Senate; Fellow Washingtonians: It is my great honor to stand before you and share a poem on the opening day of the Senate.

It has been my great privilege this past year to serve as Washington State Poet Laureate, to crisscross our beautiful state, to build appreciation for the power of words to unveil things yet unconsidered or to re-consider notions held, to stir the deepest parts of ourselves, to invite folks who have never written a poem in their lives to try their hand at it, to nurture young writers and to connect those already writing to each other.

This poem I share with you today is titled Summer Sparks. It is an invitation, a beginning to imagine a more just, inclusive future.

Summer Sparks

In New York a colossal woman raises a burning torch, a promise to harbor the tired, the poor, the homeless, the tempest-tossed.
In Seattle another woman fades, homeless in a park, with the racing butterfly of her child’s heart her only compass.
A pendulum swings, all over the land, from the luscious forests of generous imaginations to the ruins of bigotry that clipped Emmett Till’s wings. Echoes of yesteryear’s Ghost Dance over Wounded Knee, that sideline shuffle call for ancestors’ aid, beats time before us again and again.
Fruit plump on summer’s light in a New England vale ripens alongside Southwestern’s border bruised and battered fruit.
4th of July fireworks bravado, the feeling of losing yourself in the jubilee of the crowd after winning, collapses under the crushing evidence of the country that we’ve never been.
The sparks lighting up the sky then falling, folding back into night,
are they a celebration, the best part of summer, or more of a weeping?
Love and pain don’t strike some over others with different strength.
We are equally susceptible to kindness.
and to cold, and board together the destiny of our shared country.
On an occasion like this,
from sea to shining sea,
is a good place to begin not end.

Thank you so much.”

REMARKS BY THE PRESIDENT

President Habib: "We have a very busy and crowded itinerary I'd guess you'd call it today.

And so there's, it's, I think, daunting for the floor leaders to see this line here that says 'President's welcoming remarks.' You all know me well enough to know that's dangerous.

But I do want to just say a couple things before we continue with our very important proceedings and really that's to acknowledge all of you. I want to first of all say, and we'll have a chance individually to welcome our new senators as well as those who've been re-elected for their for their next term but I really want to say on behalf of the Senate how fortunate we are that you've stepped up and agreed to run for office. You have agreed to serve and it's not easy. In this day and age, I think more than at any other time perhaps, it's difficult to be involved in politics; it's difficult to put your name forward and to risk the not just criticism but some of the animosity and negativity that goes into our politics and so every one of you irrespective of party has my deep, deep respect for stepping up and willing to serve your constituents. And, when I travel around the state, I've met with many of you both sides of the aisle in your home districts and I always remind your constituents that they have a fantastic leader who is willing to represent them, even when we don’t agree, I have utter respect for all of you. And I want to acknowledge, I know that we have many guests in the gallery who are members of the families, friends and families of our newly-elected senators and I want to thank all of you for allowing us to have the time with your husband or wife or mother or father, brother or sister to be here with us. We know that it takes a toll on families during these, particularly, these odd numbered years to have Legislators come to Olympia and often be far away from their families so I'd like to ask the Senate to join me in thanking all the family members that make it possible for us to do this work and every single year.

I'd also like to and we do we tend to do this at the end of the session, at the end of certain key cut offs but I want to just take a moment at the very outset of the session to thank all the staff of the state Senate from legislative assistants; to the folks who work in the in the Code Revisor's Office; all the folks that work in the joint legislative functions as well as for the Senate. They've all been working during the interim while many of us have been doing other things, or maybe had a different job even in some cases. But these folks have been working hard to get us ready for this day and we all know that they will be working extremely hard over the next hundred and five days to make the senators successful in representing their constituents. And they are just as much public servants as all of us who are here. So I want to again ask all of you to join me in thanking in advance all the members of the staff here in Olympia that make this possible.'

The senate rose in recognition of the staff of the senate.

"Finally I want to recognize and congratulate two individuals in particular who have earned the respect of their caucus, their respective caucuses, and have a critical, critical roles to play over these next three and a half months. I'd like to congratulate Senator Andy Billig on being elected Majority Leader by the Democratic Caucus. It's been an honor to, I learned from Senator Billig when I took over as whip from him four years ago and then got to work with him in his capacity as Deputy Leader and we're extremely fortunate to have Senator Billig as the Majority Leader. And I also want to congratulate Senator Schoesler on earning the respect of his caucus, one more time, to be the leader of the Republicans here in Olympia again for another year. It's again been a pleasure for me to get to know Senator Schoesler and work with him both as a senator but really far more during the past couple years particularly during the year when my first year here when he was the Majority Caucus Leader and so would you all please join me in congratulating Senators Billig and Schoesler on their leadership roles."

"I'll just remind all of you, it's a, it's a tremendous pleasure for me to be able to serve you in this capacity and I'm, this is my third year now doing this, and I'll be the first now to tell you that I'm not perfect and if there are ways in which I can do a better job please reach out to me personally. I love the chance to sit down with you I hope to get to meet with you want one on one but my staff and I are here to facilitate your experience in the Senate. Above all to make sure that you're successful in representing your constituents, who are also my constituents, and I'll just close by reminding you I've had the chance to travel around the country and visit state legislatures including and especially the Senate, the upper chambers of different states and we are still unique at least we are one of only a handful of chambers, lower or upper chambers, that that still use roll call voting. And I think that's a good thing even though, for me, it means sitting around here and hearing your names over and over and over again sometimes I wake up in the morning and I'm like, 'Becker,' 'Bailey' I've got names going through my head because I've heard it so many times but why is it important? It's important because the very fact of you all needing to be here to vote in person means, means something else as well. It also means that you're here to hear one another speak on the floor and debate bills and perhaps even change your mind based on what you hear and that's really, when you go back two thousand plus years to the Roman era of the Senate first took its name, took its form, that's what it's about. It's about rhetoric; it's about persuasion; and it's about the power of ideas. So I'm proud that I get to lead an institution where you all don't hide in your offices or you don't travel around the campus but you're here right here listening to one another and so I again will do everything I can to facilitate you being able to do that. Thank you all for the tremendous pleasure of being able to work with you and I wish you all a productive, fruitful, amicable twenty-nineteen Regular Session with that: Senator Liias?"

MOTION

On motion of Senator Liias, the Senate advanced to the third order of business.

REMARKS BY SENATOR PEDERSEN

Senator Pedersen: "Mr President I am so proud to nominate Senator Keiser to continue in this position as President Pro Tem. Not only does Senator Keiser have a long and distinguished record of leading on health care issues on helping to forge a bipartisan compromise on the very contentious issue of paid family leave and significant work over many years on reduction of sexual harassment in our workplaces and her tenure as a most excellent chair of the Labor and Commerce Committee and previously as the chair of the Health Care Committee. Senator Keiser just did a fantastic job in my opinion last session in your absence running this place and so I heartily recommend her to the members and hope that everyone will support her reelection as President Pro Tempore for the coming session. Thank you."

MOTION

On motion of Senator Rivers, Senator Hawkins was excused.

REMARKS BY SENATOR BAILEY

Senator Bailey: "Thank you, Mr. President. I would like to also again reiterate my nomination for President Pro Tem and I also say that Tim Sheldon is a person who we all have had the opportunity to work with and he has actually performed the job in your absence and I really think that he has the background, the experience and certainly the integrity that we would want of someone in that position so I would ask everyone's support for that nomination."

REMARKS BY SENATOR KEISER

Senator Keiser: "Thank you, Mr. President. I am so pleased to see the seconds from the other side of the aisle and I know that we all come together to support each other on days like this. I want to support Senator Conway for this position. He really is an elder statesman in this institution of the legislature. He actually began in the legislature before I did, which is a long time ago. As you may know, he's a retired history professor, a Ph. D. in history, and sometimes he does wax a little academic because he has a real depth of knowledge but he is also a former union official and knows how to strike a good bargain. And between those two pieces I commend this nomination to the body."

REMARKS BY SENATOR SCHOESLER

Senator Schoesler: "Well thank you Mr. President. Speaking in support of Senator Conway. When called upon to serve at the rostrum last year, Senator Conway did a fine job on behalf of the body. I'd like to point out that when Senator Conway got here I welcomed him on his arrival as a new member and that was a long time ago, had a lot of distinguished service to the state of Washington."

The Secretary called the roll for the office of Vice President Pro Tempore and Senator Conway was elected Vice President Pro Tempore of the Senate by the following vote: Conway, 48.

REMARKS BY SENATOR BILLIG

Senator Billig: “Thank you Mr. President, it's my pleasure to rise in support of the nomination of Brad Hendrickson and to continue serving as Secretary of the Senate. Brad performed admirably in his first year as Secretary last year but it was by no means his first year in the Senate. He started thirty-nine years ago as the Senate intern and has been serving the public since then. I appreciate Brad’s strong work ethic, his thoughtfulness, his diligence. And I found out today, just to top it off, that he was born in Spokane and I supported him before I knew that but now I like I'm just a little bit more so I ask the body's support of the nomination of Brad Hendrickson for Secretary of the Senate. Thank you Mr. President."

REMARKS BY SENATOR BECKER

Senator Becker: Thank you Mr. President. I too stand in support of Brad Hendrickson’s nomination. Mr. President I would like to say that every time Brad Hendrickson comes into my office I give him a bad time but I have to say it's been really wonderful working with him because he has provided reports very, very timely, very good reports, has answered all my questions. He's been a part of every discussion that I've had regarding staff etcetera so I honor and cherish that relationship that we have developed but, Brad, that doesn't mean I'm going to let you off easy when you come in."

The President declared the question before the Senate to be the election for the office of Secretary of the Senate.

The Secretary called the roll for the office of Secretary of the Senate and Mr. Brad Hendrickson was elected Secretary of the Senate by the following vote: Hendrickson, 48.

Rule 22. 1. In all cases of election by the senate, the votes shall be taken by yeas and nays, and no senator or other person shall remain by the secretary's desk while the roll is being called or the votes are being counted. No senator shall be allowed to vote except when within the bar of the senate, or upon any question upon which he or she is in any way personally or directly interested, nor be allowed to explain a vote or discuss the question while the yeas and nays are being called, nor change a vote after the result has been announced. (See also Art. 2, Secs. 27 and 30, State Constitution.)

2. A member not voting by reason of personal or direct interest, or by reason of an excused absence, may explain the reason for not voting by a brief statement not to exceed fifty words in the journal.

3. The yeas and nays shall be taken when called for by one-sixth of all the senators present, and every senator within the bar of the senate shall vote unless excused by the unanimous vote of the members present, except as provided for in Senate Rule 7, subsection 4, and the votes shall be entered upon the journal. (See also Art. 2, Sec. 21, State Constitution.)

When once begun the roll call may not be interrupted for any purpose other than to move a call of the senate. (See also Senate Rule 24.)

4. A senator having been absent during roll call may ask to have his or her name called. Such a request must be made before the result of the roll call has been announced by the president.

5. The passage of a bill or action on a question is lost by a tie vote, but when a vote of the senate is equally divided, the lieutenant governor, when presiding, shall have the deciding vote on questions (other than the final passage of a bill) as provided for in the state Constitution. (See also Art. 2, Secs. 10 and 22, State Constitution.)

6. The order of the names on the roll call shall be alphabetical by last name.

7. All votes in a committee or subcommittee shall be recorded, and the record shall be preserved as prescribed by the secretary of the senate. One-sixth of the committee may demand an oral roll call.

8. If a member of the majority is going to be absent due to a health matter or other emergency, then a member of the minority may publicly announce on the floor of the senate that he or she will cast votes as he or she believes the absent member would have voted in order to avoid results that would only occur because of the unanticipated absence.

Announcement of Vote

Rule 23. The announcement of all votes shall be made by the president.

Call of the Senate

Rule 24. Although a roll call is in progress, a call of the senate may be moved by three senators, and if carried by a majority of all present the secretary shall call the roll, after which the names of the absentees shall again be called. The doors shall then be locked and the sergeant at arms directed to take into custody all who may be absent without leave, and all the senators so taken into custody shall be presented at the bar of the senate for such action as the senate may deem proper.

One Subject in a Bill

Rule 25. No bill shall embrace more than one subject and that shall be expressed in the title. (See also Art. 2, Sec. 19, State Constitution.)

No Amendment by Mere Reference to Title of Act

Rule 26. No act shall ever be revised or amended by mere reference to its title, but the act revised or the section amended shall be set forth at full length. (See also Art. 2, Sec. 37, State Constitution.)

Reading of Papers

Rule 27. When the reading of any paper is called for, and is objected to by any senator, it shall be determined by a vote of the senate, without debate.

Any and all copies of reproductions of newspaper or magazine editorials, articles or cartoons or publications or material of any nature distributed to senators' desks must bear the name of at least one senator granting permission for the distribution. This shall not apply to materials normally distributed by the secretary of the senate or the majority or minority caucuses.

Comparing Enrolled and Engrossed Bills

Rule 28. Any senator shall have the right to compare an enrolled bill with the engrossed bill and may note any objections in the Journal.

PARLIAMENTARY PROCEDURE

Rules of Debate

Rule 29. When any senator is about to speak in debate, or submit any matter to the senate, the senator shall rise, and standing in place, respectfully (address) request recognition by the President, and when recognized shall, in a courteous manner, speak to the question under debate, avoiding personalities; provided that a senator may refer to another member using the title "Senator" and the surname of the other member. No senator shall impeach the motives of any other member or speak more than twice (except for explanation) during the consideration of any one question, on the same day or a second time without leave, when others who have not spoken desire the floor, but incidental and subsidiary questions arising during the debate shall not be considered the same question. A majority of the members present may further limit the number of times a member may speak on any question and may limit the length of time a member may speak but, unless a demand for the previous question has been sustained, a member shall not be denied the right to speak at least once on each question, nor shall a member be limited to less than two minutes on each question. In any event, the senator who presents the motion may open and close debate on the question.

Recognition by the President

Rule 30. When two or more senators rise at the same time to address the chair, the president shall name the one who shall speak first, giving preference, when practicable, to the mover or introducer of the subject under consideration. (See also Reed's Rule 214).

Call for Division of a Question

Rule 31. Any senator may call for a division of a question, which shall be divided if it embraces subjects so distinct that one being taken away a substantive proposition shall remain for the decision of the senate; but a motion to strike out and insert shall not be divided.

Point of Order - Decision Appealable

Rule 32. 1. Every decision of points of order by the president shall be subject to appeal by any senator, and discussion of a question of order shall be allowed. In all cases of appeal the question shall be: "Shall the decision of the president stand as the judgment of the senate?"
2. When a member appeals the decision of the presiding officer, the presiding officer may not preside over the appeal.
3. An appeal from the decision of the presiding officer is timely if brought before the body on the day the decision was made unless the decision affected a measure that is no longer in possession of the senate.

Question of Privilege

Rule 33. Any senator may rise to a question of privilege and explain a personal matter by leave of the president, but shall not discuss any pending question in such explanations, nor shall any question of personal privilege permit any senator to introduce any person or persons in the galleries. The president upon notice received may acknowledge the presence of any distinguished person or persons.

A question of privilege shall involve only subject matter which affects the particular senator personally and in a manner unique and peculiar to that senator.

Protests

Rule 34. Any senator or senators may protest against the action of the senate upon any question. Such protest may be entered upon the journal if it does not exceed 200 words. The senator protesting shall file the protest with the secretary of the senate within 48 hours following the action protested.

Adoption and Suspension of Rules

Rule 35. 1. The permanent senate rules adopted at the first regular session during a legislative biennium shall govern any session subsequently convened during the same legislative biennium. Adoption of permanent rules may be by majority of the senate without notice and a majority of the senate may change a permanent rule without notice at the beginning of any session, as determined pursuant to Article 2, Section 12 of the State Constitution. No permanent rule or order of the senate shall be rescinded or changed without a majority vote of the members of the senate, and one day's notice of the motion.
2. A permanent rule or order may be temporarily suspended for a special purpose by a vote of two-thirds of the members present unless otherwise specified herein. When the suspension of a rule is called, and after due notice from the president no objection is offered, the president may announce the rule suspended, and the senate may proceed accordingly. Motion for suspension of the rules shall not be debatable, except, the mover of the motion may briefly explain the purpose of the motion and at the discretion of the president a rebuttal may be allowed.

3. For the purposes of this rule, one day's notice means written notice is provided to all members of the Senate by 5:00 p.m. the day prior to the amendment to the permanent rules being offered and the notice must include, at a minimum, a description of the change to be offered.

Previous Question

Rule 36. The previous question shall not be put unless demanded by three senators, and it shall then be in this form: "Shall the main question be now put?" When sustained by a majority of senators present it shall preclude all debate, except the senator who presents the motion may open and close debate on the question and the vote shall be immediately taken on the question or questions pending before the senate, and all incidental question or questions of order arising after the motion is made shall be decided whether on appeal or otherwise without debate.

Reconsideration

Rule 37. 1. After the final vote on any measure, before the adjournment of that day's session, any member who voted with the prevailing side may give notice of reconsideration unless a motion to immediately transmit the measure to the house has been decided in the affirmative. Such motion to reconsider shall be in order only under the order of motions of the day immediately following the day upon which such notice of reconsideration is given, and may be made by any member who voted with the prevailing side.
2. A motion to reconsider shall have precedence over every other motion, except a motion to adjourn; and when the senate adjourns while a motion to reconsider is pending or before passing the order of motions, the right to move a reconsideration shall continue to the next day of sitting. On and after the tenth day prior to adjournment sine die of any session, as determined pursuant to Article 2, Section 12, or concurrent resolution, or in the event that the measure is subject to a senate rule or resolution or a joint rule or concurrent resolution, which would preclude consideration on the next day of sitting a motion to reconsider shall only be in order on the same day upon which notice of reconsideration is given and may be made at any time that day. Motions to reconsider a vote upon amendments to any pending question may be made and decided at once.

Motion to Adjourn

Rule 38. Except when under call of the senate, a motion to adjourn shall always be in order. The name of the senator moving to adjourn and the time when the motion was made shall be entered upon the journal.

Yea and Nays - When Must be Taken

Rule 39. The yeas and nays shall be taken when called for by one-sixth of all the senators present, and every senator within the bar of the senate shall vote unless excused by the unanimous vote of the members present, and the votes shall be entered upon the journal. (See also Art. 2, Sec. 21, State Constitution.) When once begun the roll call may not be interrupted for any purpose other than to move a call of the senate. (See also Senate Rules 22 and 24.)

Reed's Parliamentary Rules

Rule 40. The rules of parliamentary practice as contained in Reed's Parliamentary Rules shall govern the senate in all cases to which they are applicable, and in which they are not inconsistent with the rules and orders of this senate and the joint rules of this senate and the house of representatives.
SECTION V

Rule 41. The president shall appoint all conference, special, joint and standing committees and standing subcommittees on the part of the senate. The appointment of the conference, special, joint and standing committees and standing subcommittees shall be confirmed by the senate.

- First Day, January 14, 2019 2019 Regular Session

The committees shall acquaint themselves with the interest of the state specially represented by the committee, and from time to time present such bills and reports as in their judgment will advance the interests and promote the welfare of the people of the state: PROVIDED, That no executive action on bills may be taken during an interim.

Duties of Committees

Rule 44. The several committees shall fully consider measures referred to them.

The committees shall acquaint themselves with the interest of the state specially represented by the committee, and from time to time present such bills and reports as in their judgment will advance the interests and promote the welfare of the people of the state: PROVIDED, That no executive action on bills may be taken during an interim.

Committee Rules

Rule 45. 1. At least five days' notice shall be given of all public hearings held by any committee other than the rules committee. Such notice shall contain the date, time and place of such hearing together with the title and number of each bill, or identification of the subject matter, to be considered at such hearing. By a majority vote of the committee members present at any committee meeting such notice may be dispensed with. The reason for such action shall be set forth in a written statement preserved in the records of the meeting.

2. No committee may hold a public hearing during a regular or extraordinary session on a proposal identified as a draft unless the draft has been made available to the public at least twenty-four hours prior to the hearing. This rule does not apply during the five days prior to any cutoff established by concurrent resolution nor does it apply to any measure exempted from the resolution.

3. During its consideration of or vote on any bill, resolution or memorial, the deliberations of any committee or subcommittee of the senate shall be open to the public. In case of any disturbance or disorderly conduct at any such deliberations, the chair shall order the sergeant at arms to suppress the same and may order the meeting closed to any person or persons creating such disturbance.

4. No committee shall amend a measure, adopt a substitute bill, or vote upon any measure or appointment absent a quorum. A committee may conduct a hearing absent a quorum. A majority of any committee shall constitute a quorum and committees shall be study subjects within the jurisdiction of the standing committee. These subcommittees do not have executive action authority and are not considered standing subcommittees for purposes of senate rules. The committee chair shall approve the use of committee staff and equipment assigned to the subcommittee. Subcommittee activities shall further be subject to facilities and operations committee approval to the same extent as are the actions of the standing committee from which they derive their authority.

Subpoena Power

Rule 43. Any of the above referenced committees, including subcommittees thereof, or any special committees created by the senate, may have the powers of subpoena, the power to administer oaths, and the power to issue commissions for the examination of witnesses in accordance with the provisions of chapter 44.16 RCW. The committee chair shall file with the committee on rules, prior to issuance of any process, a statement of purpose setting forth the name or names of those subject to process. The rules committee shall consider every proposed issuance of process at a meeting of the rules committee immediately following the filing of the statement with the committee. The process shall not be issued prior to consideration by the rules committee. The process shall be limited to the named individuals and the committee on rules may overrule the service on an individual so named.

Subcommittees

Rule 42. 1. A standing subcommittee has authority to hold work sessions and public hearings and take executive action on measures referred to it by the relevant standing committee. The committee requirements in Senate Rules 44 through 49 apply equally to standing subcommittees created under Senate Rule 41.

2. In addition to standing subcommittees created under Senate Rule 41, committee chairs may create subcommittees of the standing committee and designate subcommittee chairs thereof to... considered to have a quorum present unless the question is raised. Any question as to quorum not raised at the time of the committee action is deemed waived.

5. Bills reported to the senate from a standing committee must have a majority report, which shall be prepared upon a printed standing committee report form; shall be adopted at a regularly or specially called meeting during a legislative session and shall be signed by a majority of the committee; and shall carry only one of the following recommendations:
   a. Do pass;
   b. Do pass as amended;
   c. That a substitute bill be substituted therefor, and the substitute bill do pass; or

In addition to one of the above-listed recommendations, a report may also recommend that a bill be referred to another committee.

6. A majority report of a committee must carry the signatures of a majority of the members of the committee. In the event a committee has a quorum pursuant to subsection 4 of this rule, subject to the limitation of subsection 12 of this rule, a majority of the members present may act on a measure, subject to obtaining the signatures of a majority of the members of the committee on the majority report.

7. Any measure, appointment, substitute bill, or amendment still within a committee’s possession before it has been reported out to the full senate may be reconsidered to correct an error, change language, or otherwise accurately reflect the will of the committee in its majority and minority reports to the full senate. Any such reconsideration may be made at any time, by any member of the committee, provided that the committee has not yet reported the measure, appointment, substitute bill, or amendment out to the full senate. Any such reconsideration made after a vote has been taken or signatures obtained will require a new vote and signature sheet. Any measure which does not receive a majority vote of the members present may be reconsidered at that meeting and may again be considered upon motion of any committee member if one day's notice of said motion is provided to all committee members. For purposes of this rule, a committee is deemed to have reported a measure, appointment, substitute bill, or amendment out when it has delivered its majority and minority reports to the senate workroom. After such delivery, the committee no longer has possession of the measure, appointment, substitute bill, or amendment and no further committee action, including reconsideration, may be taken.

8. Any member of the committee not concurring in the majority report may sign a minority report containing a recommendation of "do not pass" or "without recommendation," which shall be signed by those members of the committee subscribing thereto, and submitted with the majority report. Unless the signatory of a minority report expressly indicates a "do not pass" recommendation, the member's vote shall be deemed to be "without recommendation." In every case where a majority report form is circulated for signature, a minority report form shall also be circulated.

9. When a committee reports a substitute for an original bill with the recommendation that the substitute bill do pass, it shall be in order to read the substitute bill the first time and have the same ordered printed.

A motion for the substitution of the substitute bill for the original bill shall not be in order until the committee on rules places the original bill on the second reading calendar.

10. No vote in any committee shall be taken by secret ballot nor shall any committee have a policy of secrecy as to any vote on action taken in such committee.

11. All reports of standing committees must be on the secretary's desk one hour prior to convening of the session in order to be read at said session. During any special session of the legislature, this rule may be suspended by a majority vote.

12. When a standing committee is operated by cochairs, the committee may not vote upon any measure or appointment without the consent of each cochair.

13. When a standing committee has a standing subcommittee established under Senate Rule 41, the chair of the committee may refer any measure referred to the committee to the standing subcommittee with the consent of the ranking member of the committee or, in the event of a dispute between the chair and ranking member, referral may occur with a majority vote of the committee.

Committee Meetings During Sessions
Rule 46. No committee shall sit during the daily session of the senate unless by special leave.
No committee shall sit during any scheduled caucus.

Reading of Reports
Rule 47. The majority report, and minority report, if there be one, together with the names of the signers thereof, shall be read by the secretary, unless the reading be dispensed with by the senate, and all committee reports shall be spread upon the journal.

Recalling Bills from Committees
Rule 48. Any standing committee or standing subcommittee of the senate may be relieved of further consideration of any bill, regardless of prior action of the committee, by a majority vote of the senators elected or appointed. The senate may then make such orderly disposition of the bill as they may direct by a majority vote of the members of the senate.

Bills Referred to Rules Committee
Rule 49. All bills reported by a committee to the senate shall then be referred to the committee on rules for second reading without action on the report unless otherwise ordered by the senate. (See also Senate Rules 63 and 64.)

Rules Committee
Rule 50. The lieutenant governor shall be a voting member and the chair of the committee on rules. The president pro tempore shall be a voting member and the vice chair of the committee on rules. The committee on rules shall have charge of the daily second and third reading calendar of the senate and shall direct the secretary of the senate the order in which the bills shall be considered by the senate and the committee on rules shall have the authority to directly refer any bill before them to any other standing committee. Such referral shall be reported out to the senate on the next day's business.

The ((senate may change the)) order of consideration of bills on the second or third reading calendar will be set by the floor leader of the majority caucus. A majority of members present may vote to change the order.
The calendar, except in emergent situations, as determined by the committee on rules, shall be on the desks and in the offices of the senators each day and shall cover the bills for consideration on the next following day.

Employment Committee

Rule 51. The employment committee for committee staff shall consist of six members, three from the majority party and three from the minority party. The chair shall be appointed by the majority leader. All decisions shall be determined by majority vote. The committee shall operate within staffing, budget levels and guidelines as authorized and adopted by the facilities and operations committee.

Committee of the Whole

Rule 52. At no time shall the senate sit as a committee of the whole.

The senate may at any time, by the vote of the majority of the members present, sit as a body for the purpose of taking testimony on any measure before the senate.

Appropriation Budget Bills

Rule 53. No biennial or supplemental omnibus operating budget, omnibus capital budget, or omnibus transportation budget bill may be acted upon in second reading until twenty-four hours after the bill has been placed on the second reading calendar by the rules committee. This rule does not apply to conference committee reports of biennial or supplemental omnibus budget bills, which are governed by joint rules. This rule may be suspended with a majority vote of those present within three days of sine die. The rules committee shall establish by separate motion the time at which a bill has been placed on the second reading calendar for purposes of this rule.

SECTION VI

GUBERNATORIAL APPOINTMENTS

Definitions

Rule 54. "Measure" means a bill, joint memorial, joint resolution, or concurrent resolution.

"Bill" when used alone means bill, joint memorial, joint resolution, or concurrent resolution.

"Majority" shall mean a majority of those members present unless otherwise stated.

Prefiling

Rule 55. Holdover members and members-elect to the senate may prefille bills with the secretary of the senate on any day commencing with the first Monday in December preceding any session year; or twenty days prior to any special session of the legislature. Such bills will be printed, distributed and prepared for introduction on the first legislative day. No bill, joint memorial or joint resolution shall be prefille by title and/or preamble only.
(See also Senate Rule 3, Sub. 3.)

Introduction of Bills

Rule 56. All bills, joint resolutions, and joint memorials introduced shall be endorsed with a statement of the title and the name of the member introducing the same. Any member desiring to introduce a bill, joint resolution, or joint memorial shall file the same with the secretary of the senate by noon of the day before the convening of the session at which said bill, joint resolution, or joint memorial is to be introduced.

Provided that a vote has not been taken on final passage of a bill, joint resolution, or joint memorial, a member may add his or her name as a cosponsor until 2:00 p.m. of the day of its introduction. For any bill, joint resolution, or joint memorial that has been prefilled for a regular session, a member has until 2:00 p.m. of the day following introduction to add his or her name as a cosponsor.

To be considered during a regular session, a bill must be introduced at least ten days before final adjournment of the legislature, unless the legislature directs otherwise by a vote of two-thirds of all the members elected to each house, said vote to be taken by yeas and nays and entered upon the journal. The time limitation for introduction of bills shall not apply to substitute bills reported by standing committees for bills pending before such committees and general appropriation and revenue bills.
(See also Art. 2, Sec. 36, State Constitution.)

Amendatory Bills

Rule 57. Bills introduced in the senate intended to amend existing statutes shall have the words which are amendatory to such existing statutes underlined. Any matter to be deleted from the existing statutes shall be indicated by setting such matter forth in full, enclosed by double parentheses, and such deleted matter shall be lined out with hyphens. No bill shall be printed or acted upon until the provisions of this rule shall have been complied with.

Sections added by amendatory bill to an existing act, or chapter of the official code, need not be underlined but shall be designated "NEW SECTION" in upper case type and such designation shall be underlined. New enactments need not be underlined.

When statutes are being repealed, the Revised Code of Washington section number to be repealed, the section caption and the session law history, from the most current to the original, shall be cited.

Joint Resolutions and Memorials

Rule 58. Joint resolutions and joint memorials, up to the signing thereof by the president of the senate, shall be subject to the rules governing the course of bills.

Senate Concurrent Resolutions

Rule 59. Concurrent resolutions shall be subject to the rules governing the course of bills and may be adopted without a roll call. Concurrent resolutions authorizing investigations and authorizing the expenditure or allocation of any money must be adopted by roll call and the yeas and nays recorded in the journal.
Concurrent resolutions are subject to final passage on the day of the first reading without regard to Senate Rules 62, 63, and 64.

Committee Bills

Rule 60. Committee bills introduced by a standing committee during a legislative session may be filed with the secretary of the senate and introduced, and the signature of each member of the committee shall be endorsed upon the cover of the original bill.

Committee bills shall be read the first time by title, ordered printed, and referred to the committee on rules for second reading.

Committee Reference

Rule 61. When a motion is made to refer a subject, and different committees are proposed, the question shall be taken in the following order:

FIRST: A standing committee.
SECOND: A select committee.

Reading of Bills

Rule 62. Every bill shall be read on three separate days unless the senate deems it expedient to suspend this rule. On and after the tenth day preceding adjournment sine die of any session, or three days prior to any cut-off date for consideration of bills, as determined pursuant to Article 2, Section 12 of the Constitution or concurrent resolution, or during any special session of the legislature, this rule may be suspended by a majority vote. (See also Senate Rules 59 and ((Rule)) 64).

First Reading

Rule 63. The first reading of a bill shall be by title only, unless a majority of the members present demand a reading in full.

After the first reading, bills shall be referred to an appropriate committee pursuant to Senate Rule 61.

Upon being reported back by committee, pursuant to Senate Rule 49, all bills shall be referred to the committee on rules for second reading, unless otherwise ordered by the senate. (((See Rule 49)))

A bill shall be reported back by the committee chair upon written petition therefor signed by a majority of its members. The petition shall designate the recommendation as provided in Senate Rule 45, Sub. 5.

No committee chair shall exercise a pocket veto of any bill.

Should there be a two-thirds majority report of the committee membership against the bill, a vote shall be immediately ordered for the indefinite postponement of the bill.

Second Reading/Amendments

Rule 64. Upon second reading, the bill shall be read section by section, in full, and be subject to amendment.

Any member may, if sustained by three members, remove a bill from the consent calendar as constituted by the committee on rules. A bill removed from the consent calendar shall take its place as the last bill ((in the order of consideration of bills)) on the second reading calendar.

No amendment shall be considered by the senate until it shall have been sent to the secretary's desk in writing and read by the secretary.

All amendments adopted on the second reading shall then be securely fastened to the original bill.

All amendments rejected by the senate shall be spread upon the journal, and the journal shall show the disposition of all amendments.

When no further amendments shall be offered, the president shall declare the bill has passed its second reading, and shall be referred to the committee on rules for third reading.

Third Reading

Rule 65. Bills on third reading shall be read in full by sections, and no amendment shall be entertained.

When a bill shall pass, it shall be certified to by the secretary, together with the vote upon final passage, noting the day of its passage thereon.

The vote must be taken by yeas and nays, the names of the senators voting for and against the same to be entered upon the journal and the majority of the members elected to the senate must be recorded thereon as voting in its favor to secure its passage by the senate.

Scope and Object of Bill Not to be Changed

Rule 66. No amendment to any bill shall be allowed which shall change the scope and object of the bill. (See also Art. 2, Sec. 38, State Constitution.) Substitute bills shall be considered amendments for the purposes of this rule. A point of order raising the question of scope and object may be raised at any time during consideration of an amendment prior to voting on the amendment. A proposed amendment to an unamended title-only bill shall be within the scope and object of the bill if the subject of the amendment fits within the language in the title.

Matters Related to Disagreement Between the Senate and House

Rule 67. When there is a disagreement between the senate and house on a measure before the senate, the senate may act upon the measure with the following motions which have priority in the following order:

To concur
To non-concur
To recede
To insist
To adhere

These motions are in order as to any single amendment or to a series of amendments. (See Reed's Rules 247 through 254.)

A senate bill, passed by the house with amendment or amendments which shall change the scope and object of the bill, upon being received in the senate, shall be referred to an appropriate committee and shall take the same course as for original bills, unless a motion to ask the house to recede, to insist or to adhere is made prior to the measure being referred to committee.

Bills Committed for Special Amendment

Rule 68. A bill may be committed with or without special instructions to amend at any time before taking the final vote.

Confirmation of Gubernatorial Appointees

Rule 69. When the names of appointees to state offices are transmitted to the secretary of the senate for confirmation, the communication from the governor shall be recorded and referred to the appropriate standing committee.

The standing committee, or subcommittee, pursuant to Senate Rule 42, shall require each appointee referred to the committee for consideration to complete the standard questionnaire to be used to ascertain the appointee's general background and qualifications. The committee may also require the appointee to complete a supplemental questionnaire related specifically to the qualifications for the position to which he has been appointed.

Any hearing on a gubernatorial appointment, held by the standing committee, or subcommittee, pursuant to Senate Rule 42, shall be a public hearing. The appointee may be required to appear before the committee on request. When appearing, the appointee shall be required to testify under oath or affirmation. MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR

March 21, 2018

To the Honorable President and Members,
The Senate of the State of Washington

Ladies and Gentlemen:

I am returning herewith, without my approval as to Section 4, Senate Bill No. 6058 entitled:

"AN ACT Relating to write-in voting."

Section 4 creates an unintended extra administrative burden for some counties and is not needed for implementation purposes or to meet the intent of the bill.

For these reasons I have vetoed Section 4 of Senate Bill No. 6058.

With the exception of Section 4, Senate Bill No. 6058 is approved.

Respectfully submitted,
/s/Jay Inslee
Governor

MESSAGE FROM THE SECRETARY OF STATE

The Honorable President of the Senate
Legislature of the State of Washington
Olympia, Washington 98504

MR. PRESIDENT:

We respectfully transmit for your consideration the following bill which was partially vetoed by the Governor, together with the official veto message setting forth his objections to the sections or items of the bill, as required by Article III, section 12, of the Washington State Constitution:

Engrossed Substitute Senate Bill No. 6032
MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR

March 27, 2018

To the Honorable President and Members,

The Senate of the State of Washington

Ladies and Gentlemen:

I am returning herewith, without my approval as to Sections 119(8), 129(21), 135(4), 146(10), 307, 308(21), 502(1)(h), 504(2), 606(23)(b), 908(3), 103(9), 122(3), 127(56), 135(6), 140(7), 141(4), 146(7), 148(10), 205(1)(w), 206(30), and 501(51), Engrossed Substitute Senate Bill No. 6032 entitled:

"AN ACT Relating to fiscal matters."

Section 119(8), page 19, Secretary of State, Automatic Voter Registration Study

This section includes funding for the Secretary of State to conduct a study related to automatic voter registration. The requirement to do this study was removed from Engrossed Second Substitute House Bill 2595 (automatic voter registration), but the funding proviso remained in the budget. Because the agency will not be doing this study, the funding is not needed. For this reason, I have vetoed Section 119(8).

Section 129(21), page 56, Office of Financial Management, 2020 Census

Funds are provided to the agency for staffing and support to prepare for the 2020 census in two identical provisos: Section 129(19) and Section 129(21). This is clearly a drafting error because funding for the double proviso is not included in the total appropriation authority. For this reason, I have vetoed Section 129(21).

Section 135(4), pages 59-60, Department of Revenue, Tax Database

The budget provides $150,000 to the department to create a publicly available online searchable database of all taxes and tax rates in the state for each taxing district. This is the same provison that was included in Senate Bill 6590 which had a fiscal note of $1,219,800 for creation of the database. This project cannot be done for the $150,000 provided in the budget. For this reason, I have vetoed Section 135(4).

Section 146(10), page 74, Department of Enterprise Services, Capitol Dome Access

This section directs the Department of Enterprise Services to allow individuals to access the top of the Capitol dome "under approved supervision and guidelines developed by the department." The Olympia Fire Department has assessed this space in the past, and, among other issues, reported that it could not use a fireman's rescue technique in this space nor could it assist an injured party by using a gurney. The Department of Labor and Industries classifies the area as a "confined space" which means that it has restricted entry/exit and is not primarily designed for human occupancy. Access should be authorized only for individuals needed to do work on the dome. While the view is beautiful from the dome, there are too many risks involved with granting access to the public. For this reason, I have vetoed Section 146(10).

Section 307, page 261, lines 14-15, Department of Fish and Wildlife, FY 2018 General Fund- State Appropriation

The final budget reduces the department's FY 2018 General Fund-State appropriation by $1,739,000. Although the final budget provides an additional $1.5 million for Orca whale recovery efforts, it does not fully cover the costs of important work needed to begin the recovery of this iconic species. To support Orca recovery efforts, I am vetoing this reduction in appropriation and directing the department to use $650,000 of this amount to complete fish screen inventories, conduct public outreach and education, hire a recovery coordinator position, and support facilitation of the Southern Resident Killer Whale Task Force. I also am directing the agency to place the remaining amount in unallotted status. For this reason, I have vetoed Section 307, page 261, lines 14-15.

Section 308(21), page 274, Department of Natural Resources, SAFER Grant Match

One-time funding of $873,000 General Fund-State is provided to Kittitas County Fire District 7 for matching funds for its Staffing for Adequate Fire and Emergency Response (SAFER) grant from the Federal Emergency Management Agency. Despite the merits of the federal grant funding to provide firefighting staff to the district, the state should not provide the local match for these grants.

Operational funding for fire districts is a local decision. Not only would providing the match through the state general fund set a precedent, it would be unfair to the other 19 fire districts across the state that were awarded a similar federal grant and provided their own local match. For these reasons, I have vetoed Section 308(21).

Section 502(1)(h), page 303, Office of Superintendent of Public Instruction for General Apportionment, Net Revenue Hold Harmless

Engrossed Second Substitute Senate Bill 6362 contains a more prescriptive hold harmless calculation than the language in the operating budget. The operating budget will hold districts harmless to a baseline that assumes the levy cliff would go into effect- a decision that the Legislature chose last year not to implement. We must ensure that no school district receives less funding in the 2018-19 school year. For this reason, I have vetoed Section 502(1)(h).

Section 504(2), page 318, Office of Superintendent of Public Instruction for School Employee Compensation Adjustments, Delay Professional Learning Day

The operating budget delays the implementation of state-funded professional learning days by one year. Research shows that time for job embedded professional learning and collaboration is linked to student success. Limiting practices that improve student achievement goes against our goal for a world-class education system. For these reasons, I have vetoed Section 504(2).

Section 606(23)(b), page 372, The Evergreen State College, Funding Options for the Legislature

This proviso allows the Office of Financial Management, State Board for Community and Technical Colleges, and Council of Presidents to use information from a Washington State Institute for Public Policy (WSIPP) study to present funding options to the Legislature. The WSIPP study is related to higher education funding methods in other states. This item directs two separate agencies and the Council of Presidents to perform work that does not naturally fit together with the WSIPP study. For this reason, I have vetoed Section 606(23)(b).

Section 908(3), page 417, Law Enforcement Officers' and Firefighters' Retirement System (LEOFF) Distribution

This language expresses the Legislature's intent that future distributions to the Local Law Enforcement Officers' and Firefighters' Retirement System Benefits Improvement Account may include transfers from the LEOFF 2 pension fund. I have consistently vetoed similar provisions in the past, and I remain concerned about the wisdom of such transfers from a retirement fund. For this reason, I have vetoed Section 908(3).

I am vetoing the following sections related to bills that did not pass the Legislature resulting in the lapse of funding. My veto of these sections will serve to clean up these unnecessary sections of the bill.

Section 103(9), page 5, Joint Legislative Audit & Review Committee, SHB 1154, Fishing and Seafood Processing.

Section 122(3) page 22, State Treasurer's Office, E2SHB 2718, Civil Forfeiture Proceedings.

Section 127(56), page 43, Department of Commerce, ESSB 6081, Net Metering, or SHB 2995 Energy.

Section 135(6), page 61, Department of Revenue, E2SHB 2718, Civil Forfeiture Proceedings. Section 140(7), page 64, Liquor and Cannabis Board, ESSB 6346, Sale of Wine/Microbrewery.

Section 141(4), page 66, Utilities and Transportation Commission, ESSB 6081, Distributed Generation, or SHB 2995, Energy.

Section 146(7), page 73, Department of Enterprise Services, ESSB 6081, Net Metering, or SHB 2995, Energy.

Section 148(10), page 77, Consolidated Technology Services, E2SSB 5935, Broadband and Telecommunication Service.

Section 205(l)(w), page 116, Department of Social and Health Services - Developmental Disabilities, SHB 1792, Residential Services and Supports.

Section 206(30), page 134, Department of Social and Health Services - Aging and Adult Services, SHB 1792, Residential Services and Supports.

Section 501(51), page 297, Office of Superintendent of Public Instruction, SHB 2748, Learning Assistance Program.

For these reasons I have vetoed Sections 119(8), 129(21), 135(4), 146(10), 307 lines 14-15, 308(21), 502(1)(b), 504(2), 606(23)(b), 908(3), 103(9), 122(3), 127(56), 135(6), 140(7), 141(4), 146(7), 148(10), 205(l)(w), 206(30), and 501(51) of Engrossed Substitute Senate Bill No. 6032.

With the exception of Sections 119(8), 129(21), 135(4), 146(10), 307 lines 14-15, 308(21), 502(1)(b), 504(2), 606(23)(b), 908(3), 103(9), 122(3), 127(56), 135(6), 140(7), 141(4), 146(7), 148(10), 205(l)(w), 206(30), and 501(51), Engrossed Substitute Senate Bill No. 6032 is approved.

Respectfully submitted,

MESSAGE FROM THE SECRETARY OF STATE

The Honorable President of the Senate

MR. PRESIDENT:

We respectfully transmit for your consideration the following bill which was partially vetoed by the Governor, together with the official veto message setting forth his objections to the sections or items of the bill, as required by Article III, section 12, of the Washington State Constitution:

Engrossed Substitute Senate Bill No. 6095

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and affixed the Seal of the state of Washington, this 29th day of March, 2018.

GREG LANE, Deputy Secretary of State (Seal)

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR

March 27, 2018

To the Honorable President and Members,
The Senate of the State of Washington

Ladies and Gentlemen:

I am returning herewith, without my approval as to Sections 3011(2), 3011(3), 3011(4), 4002, 7018, and 7019, Engrossed Substitute Senate Bill No. 6095 entitled:

"AN ACT Relating to the capital budget."

Sections 3011(2), (3) and (4), page 83, Department of Ecology, Water Availability (91000343)

I appreciate the bipartisan effort and support to pass Engrossed Substitute Senate Bill 6091 (ESSB 6091) and the accompanying appropriation of $20 million in the enacted capital budget. Together, these measures are important in allowing appropriate development to proceed in rural areas of our state while also ensuring the protection of instream flows. Negotiations on ESSB 6091 were both substantial and difficult. Sections 3011(2), (3) and (4) single out particular projects for funding. This is a departure from the planning and implementation processes established only weeks ago in ESSB 6091, and circumvents the Department of Ecology's efforts to prioritize and approve projects. For these reasons, I have vetoed Sections 3011(2), (3) and (4).

Section 4002, pages 110-112, Aviation Revitalization Loans (92000003)

This section contains amendments identical to Substitute House Bill 1656 (SHB 1656) and reduces the amount available for loans by $2.5 million. Because I have vetoed SHB 1656 and I support the original $5 million appropriation, I have vetoed Section 4002.

Section 7018 repeals Section 13 of Substitute House Bill 1656 (SHB 1656). Because I have vetoed SHB 1656, there is no need to repeal a section in that bill. For this reason, I have vetoed Section 7018.

Section 7019 directs that Section 7018 takes effect when Substitute House Bill 1656 (SHB 1656) takes effect. Because I have vetoed Section 7018 and SHB 1656, this section is not necessary. For this reason, I have vetoed Section 7019.
For these reasons I have vetoed Sections 3011(2), 3011 (3), 3011(4), 4002, 7018, and 7019 of Engrossed Substitute Senate Bill No. 6095.

With the exception of Sections 3011(2), 3011(3), 3011(4), 4002, 7018, and 7019, Engrossed Substitute Senate Bill No. 6095 is approved.

Respectfully submitted,

MESSAGE FROM THE SECRETARY OF STATE

MR. PRESIDENT:

Engrossed Substituted Senate Bill No. 6106

(Seal)

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR

March 27, 2018

To the Honorable President and Members,

Ladies and Gentlemen:

I am returning herewith, without my approval as to Sections 208(19), 207(8), 208(1), 208(22), 208(25), 208(26), 208(28), 208(29), 208(30), and 212(3), Engrossed Substitute Senate Bill No. 6106 entitled:

"AN ACT Relating to transportation funding and appropriations."

Section 208(19), Pages 23-24, Department of Licensing, Licensing Services Workgroup

Section 208(19) directs the department to convene a workgroup comprised of a county auditor, county licensing manager, and three subagent representatives to assess the current licensing services system and the establishment of a new licensing services partnership committee. The workgroup must consider and make recommendations on expanding services offered by subagents, establishing voluntary payment plans and automatic renewal options, and reviewing the current financial environment of subagents and county auditors. The department already has a specific licensing committee that meets twice a year. It also meets twice a year with the Washington Association of Vehicle Subagents. In addition, the proviso did not provide funding for this workgroup. While I encourage looking at ways to improve services to the public, this workgroup provides a forum for communication that already exists and funding is not provided to support the workgroup. For these reasons, I have vetoed Section 208(19).

I am vetoing the following sections related to bills that did not pass the legislature resulting in the lapse of funding. My veto of these sections will serve to clean up these unnecessary sections of the bill.

Section 207(8), page 18, Washington State Patrol, SHB 2278, Privacy Protections in Government Section 208(1), pages 19-20, Department of Licensing, EHB 2201 or ESSB 5955, MVET Collection Section 208(22), page 25, Department of Licensing, SHB 2278, Privacy Protections Section 208(25), page 25, Department of Licensing, HB 2653 Alternative Fuel Vehicle Exemption, or SB 6080, Electrification of Transportation Section 208(26), page 25, Department of Licensing, SHB 2975, Snow Bikes Section 208(28), page 26, Department of Licensing, SSB 6009, Issuance of Personalized Collector Vehicle License Plates Section 208(29), page 26, Department of Licensing, SSB 6107, Electric Motorcycle Registration Renewal Fees Section 208(30), page 26, Department of Licensing, SSSB 6189, Suspended or Revoked Driver's License Provisions Section 212(3), page 35, Department of Transportation-Aviation, ESHB 2295, Electric Aircraft

For these reasons I have vetoed Sections 208(19), 207(8), 208(1), 208(22), 208(25), 208(26), 208(28), 208(29), 208(30), and 212(3) of Engrossed Substitute Senate Bill No. 6106.

With the exception of Sections 208(19), 207(8), 208(1), 208(22), 208(25), 208(26), 208(28), 208(29), 208(30), and 212(3), Engrossed Substitute Senate Bill No. 6106 is approved.

Respectfully submitted,
/s/

The Honorable President of the Senate

MR. PRESIDENT:

We respectfully transmit for your consideration the following bill which was partially vetoed by the Governor, together with the official veto message setting forth his objections to the sections or items of the bill, as required by Article III, section 12, of the Washington State Constitution:

Engrossed Second Substitute Senate Bill No. 6362

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and affixed the Seal of the state of Washington, this 29th day of March, 2018.

KIM WYMAN, Secretary of State

(Seal)

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR

March 27, 2018

To the Honorable President and Members,
The Senate of the State of Washington

Ladies and Gentlemen:

I am returning herewith, without my approval as to Sections 402 and 408, Engrossed Second Substitute Senate Bill No. 6362 entitled:

"AN ACT Relating to modifying basic education funding provisions."

Section 402 delays the implementation of state-funded professional learning days. Research shows that time for job-embedded professional learning and collaboration is linked to student success. Limiting practices that improve student achievement goes against the intent of this bill and our goals. For this reason, I am vetoing Section 402.

Section 408 moves forward by one year the requirement for OSPI to develop rules and budgetary procedures to ensure school districts provide separate accounting of state and local revenues to expenditures. The work is underway to design and build the accounting systems required to implement this data transparency within the original timeline for school year 2019-20. Speeding up the development of the system will jeopardize the long-term reliability of the accounting system and suspend the development of all other systems work. For this reason I am vetoing Section 408.

For these reasons I have vetoed Sections 402 and 408 of Engrossed Second Substitute Senate Bill No. 6362.

With the exception of Sections 402 and 408, Engrossed Second Substitute Senate Bill No. 6362 is approved.

Respectfully submitted,

/s/Jay Inslee
Governor

The Speaker Pro Tempore led the Joint Session in the Pledge of Allegiance.

The prayer was offered by Rabbi Elizabeth Dunsker, Congregation Kol Ami, Vancouver.

Rabbi Dunsker: “Thank you for this tremendous honor of offering a blessing today. It is overwhelming to be asked to say words that might be meaningful or offer a hope or set a prayerful tone for everyone. We in Washington state come from so many different backgrounds, cultures and religious traditions. We have such different experiences and perspectives about what hope looks like or what ideals we might pray for. It is quite a task to speak words of prayer while understanding that we are all so different and that my words are meant, at least symbolically, to lead us all to prayer. My Jewish tradition teaches ‘Al tifrosh min hatzibur,’ ‘do not separate yourself from the community.’ And our sage Rabbi Scholomo Yitzchaki better known as ‘Rashi’ explained this means that we must not separate ourselves from the community when it is experiencing difficulties so that we can be united with it when it experiences joy. We must not hide away during the difficult times and share only the joyful times but rather we must support our community through thick and thin.

None of that is a comment on the difficulty or ease we find ourselves in today. Rather, it is a hope I offer for all of us. Let us stand together in all of our differences on the days when that is easy, as well as on the days when it is harder. And may our leaders always understand their role in legislating for all of us a multicultural, multiethnic, multi-religious community. My Scripture teaches that we are each created in the divine image so that we may always see that image reflected in each other regardless of how we look, what we believe, where we come from or how much we have. Every week, as part of our Sabbath worship, Jews read a portion from the Torah and when in our weekly cycle of reading we come to the end of a book and prepare to begin the next we have a tradition of saying, ‘chazak, chazak venit chazek’ which means ‘strength, strength, may we strengthen each other.’ So, today I ask a blessing for our governor, for our legislature and for our state. May we always see the spark of divinity in each other as we make decisions for and about each other. May we remember that as individuals we are stronger when we stand together with each other as one community and as we and one year and begin a new one I say, ‘chazak, chazak venit chazek,’ ‘strength, strength, may we always strengthen each other.’ Thank you.”

Governor Inslee: “Thank you, Rabbi Dunsker, for your inspiring words.

Thank you, Sergeant Scheer, for the beautiful rendition of the national anthem and for your service in the Army National Guard.

I extend a warm welcome to former Governor Gary Locke here today and thank him for his service. Thank you for your service, your leadership.

I would like to welcome the new legislators in your ranks who have stepped up to serve the people of this state. I congratulate your families who are now going to be part of your adventure.

And I’d like to thank my wife, Trudi, and my family who have been part of my adventure for the last thirty years. Thank you to this great family.

I am so pleased to note a couple historic firsts in this Legislature. The people of Washington have elected the first Native American woman to the House, Representative Debra Lekanoff. And they have elected the first refugee, Representative My-Linh Thai, to the Legislature. It’s just really heartening to stand here and look out at the faces that reflect the diversity of our state. These are firsts we can all be proud of.

Mr. President, Mr. Speaker, Madam Chief Justice, distinguished justices of the court, members of the Legislature, tribal leaders, state and local government officials, members of the Consular Corps, and most importantly, my fellow Washingtonians.

Today, we gather in a place that tells much of our Washington story.

Today, we come together from across the state – from the rolling hills of the Palouse to the coastal rocks of La Push – where we find inspiration for the work we do. And today, as we reflect on our 2018 successes, we look ahead to 2019 and offer a rallying cry to build this new and enduring chapter that is the profound story of Washington state.

Our story already reflects optimism and strength. But as Washington’s leaders, we carry an obligation to never be satisfied with how far we’ve come.

That was embodied in what Bruce Lee, the Washington actor, philosopher and martial artist said: ‘There are no limits. There are only plateaus, and you must not stay there, you must go beyond them.’

He was right. Our state history offers example after example of leaders willing to do more and to be more – even after they toppled barriers and shattered expectations.

Did Bill Gates and Paul Allen stop after forever changing the world of personal computing? No. They kept asking ‘what if?’ and not only built on the landscape of the technological world, but delved deep into science, medical research and culture and redefined what giving back means.

Did Steve Gleason, one of the best Cougars out there, stop after he blocked that punt during that famous 2006 New Orleans Saints game? No. Congress just awarded him the Congressional Gold Medal for his advocacy for people with Lou Gehrig’s disease, something he works through every single day.

Did Tarra Simmons of Bremerton quit after she redirected her life while serving time in prison? No. She earned a prestigious fellowship, graduated from Seattle University School of Law, and when told she couldn’t fulfill her ultimate dream of being a lawyer, she appealed to the state’s highest court so she could take the bar exam. Today, she practices law and helps others find a second chance after incarceration. We’re glad she can be here with us today. Glad you’re here today.

We are drawn to stories about people who don’t quit. They call to us because they remind us that we have the same promise for greatness.

In 2019, we are again poised to be more and do more. Yes, we’ve accomplished much already. But all of it – everything we’ve done – brings us to a new tipping point.

So today offers us two choices:
One, do we reflect on the success of our current story and decide we’ve done enough?

Or two, do we rise up to write one of the worthiest chapters of our time that tells future generations who we are?

Though we’ve accomplished much, we still face challenges that require us to push further. At the top of that list is the imminent threat of climate change.

In just the past few years, our state experienced record-high temperatures, record-low snowpack in some locations, higher ocean temperatures and high acidity in our waters.

Historic wildfires blackened our air so much that we had the worst air quality in the world. Not China, not India. Washington state. The smoke shut down outdoor pools in Wenatchee, and impacted all of us, forcing kids and older adults to stay inside to protect their health.

Scientists say if we don’t act now, this will become the norm – a permanent degradation of what we love, our magnificent state.

I don’t know of any other issue that touches the heart of things so many of us care about: our jobs, our health, our safety and our children’s future.

This doesn’t have to be our future. Science affirms the necessity of action – this day.

This is the 11th hour, but it is Washington’s hour to shine. It’s a time of great peril, but also of great promise.

Clean energy and low-carbon technologies are increasingly competitive in the marketplace. Innovation brings us cleaner, cheaper, better fossil-fuel alternatives every day.

This innovation benefits our rural economies as much as our urban and suburban economies.

Just last year, I helped cut the ribbon for our state’s largest solar array in the small town of Lind. I was joined by Senator Schoesler and Representatives Dye and Schmick to celebrate the good-paying jobs that project brings to that community.

These kinds of jobs have propelled our clean energy sector to grow more than twice as fast as the rest of our economy. There is no greater job opportunity than the opportunity of clean energy.

It’s why a historic alliance of labor and communities of color has joined with conservation and environmental groups to push for climate action.

In looking at the many new faces in this chamber today, I can say that I am more optimistic than ever about the clean energy future we’re going to build together.

We will pass legislation to transition to 100 percent clean electricity in the state of Washington, transform our buildings with cost-saving efficiencies, and modernize and electrify our transportation system. We’ll phase down super-pollutants and phase in cleaner fuels.

This means by 2035, nearly all of our electricity will come from clean sources instead of polluting fossil fuels.

It means you’ll save money on lighting and heating costs because our homes and businesses will be much more energy efficient.

It means our transportation system will be the cleanest in the United States because we’ll power it with clean electricity and clean fuels.

Combined, these policies will steeply cut emissions – the equivalent of taking about 3 million cars off our roads.

This transformation has started but we need to do more, we need to do it bigger and we need to do it faster.

So when your grandchildren ask what you did to protect them from climate change, you’ll be able to tell them you weren’t sitting around saying it was someone else’s problem. You took action. Because that is who we are in the state of Washington.

It’s going to feel really good to be part of this solution. It’s going to feel really good to make history this year for clean energy in the state of Washington.

Another historic chapter we need to write about, or write, is in mental health.

While we’ve taken significant steps to improve our physical health in medical schools like the Elson Floyd College of Medicine at WSU, we can improve our mental health care efforts too.

We need to transform behavioral health from a system that responds to crisis to one that helps people before they reach crisis.

For those with a loved one whose waited too long for the right kind of treatment, we know this challenge is urgent.

Our families and friends are suffering and we can do so much better.

We must find room for hundreds of people at new community-based facilities so patients receive services in places close to their families, their homes, their places of worship and their communities. We must also expand our professional workforce so patients are treated.

That’s why I’m proud to pursue a new partnership with the University of Washington to create a teaching hospital to serve these patients and to train behavioral health providers using a unique new curriculum.

We can turn this story around and direct it toward hope.

And I’m pleased we’re at the beginning of a bipartisan effort to do just that. We will create a story this year about a holistic model for behavioral health that encompasses the family, the community and the promise of timely care.

The third thing we need to focus on is saving the Southern Resident orcas.

Despite our orca task force that was already in place, the event that truly told the story of the orcas’ fate happened last summer.

Many of us watched as Tahlequah, a mother orca, carried her dead calf for at least seventeen days. We saw a mother’s grief. We felt it. Our hearts broke as we shared in her loss. This cannot be their fate. We must make unprecedented investments to save our orcas.

The demise of any species is a warning in our natural systems. We have to restore the balance of our ecosystem to sustain orcas, salmon and the quality of life for all Washingtonians. For as the orca go, so go we.

We’ve received thousands of calls from people around the world pleading for us to do more. Our orca task force, led by Dr. Les Purce and Stephanie Solien, has spent hundreds of hours researching the science behind survival. We thank you and the members of the task force.

The actions we have to take, such as increasing salmon stocks, fixing culverts and decreasing vessel traffic risks, are hard but they are necessary. We have just one last chance to save these orcas. In this perilous moment, we must answer back with action.

The fourth issue – one still at the forefront – is education. I thank everyone in this chamber who has been part of the multi-year effort to fully fund basic education. This was an enormously heavy lift that I’m proud we accomplished together last year. This was a remarkable bipartisan effort; both parties shared in that success.

But we have always said we could not stop at basic education. For anyone who cares about equity in education, early learning is the best way to secure a strong start for every child, regardless of their economic – family’s economic circumstances.

We’re investing in children well before they enter the elementary school classroom for the first time. In the past six years we’ve nearly doubled the number of children in early learning programs to more than 15,000. My budget builds on that to expand preschool with a new ‘birth to 3’ preschool program.

And it would create a statewide referral system to connect families with early learning services and facilities.
SECOND DAY, JANUARY 15, 2019

My budget would also offer universal home visits. This gives every new parent the opportunity to get a visit from a nurse during the first few weeks back home with their newborn to share important information and build confidence.

And once those children reach the other end of their education and prepare to graduate from high school, we want to open up as many pathways as possible, including apprenticeships, certificates and degrees. For high-school students or individuals who seek an experience outside a four-year program, our Career Connect Washington initiative gives them that option.

It links students to real-world experience in careers that interest them. And we know that experience is invaluable. It gives them a better shot when they apply for that first job.

My budget will provide 100,000 students over the next 10 years an option to dive into their interests through apprenticeships and paid internships, and fall in love with a career before they graduate. This means more Washington students can take advantage of great careers here at home in one of the best economies anywhere. Don’t our kids deserve that? I think so.

We’re also supporting future students who want more education but can’t afford it. The Washington College Promise is our new statewide free college program that guarantees state financial aid to eligible students. We did this because a student’s financial challenges should not stand in the way of the pursuit of their dreams.

As we grapple with these challenges in our state, we must also confront other forces seeking to undermine our progress. During the past two years, we’ve been challenged by federal actions that appeal more to our darker natures than our better angels. But we know that’s not who we are. We are going to write an even brighter chapter of our Washington story.

We are the state that invests in our people. That’s why we’re the only state that ranks as the best place to work and the best place to do business. What an incredible achievement for the state of Washington.

We are the state significantly ramping up efforts to help struggling Washingtonians find stable, affordable housing. I propose using more than $400 million for chronically homeless individuals, homeless youth and unsheltered families with children.

We, we, we are the state offering to pardon thousands of people with misdemeanor marijuana convictions.

We are the state that’s going to tear down the systemic barriers to work and education faced by people of color, people with disabilities, veterans and women. Initiative 1000 is a well-reasoned approach to do just that.

We, we, we are the first state to pass a bill requiring net neutrality, which will guarantee free and open internet. We are the state pushing for broadband for Washingtonians who want to start a business or further their education no matter where they live in the state.

We are the state that believes women and survivors deserve to be heard. We will make sure our policies set the expectation that every employee feels safe and welcome in the workplace.

We’re the state that supports a woman’s right to make her own health care decisions. I promise you, we will always provide reproductive health services to women in our state.

While too many in D.C. remain in the grips of the NRA, we are the state that stands up for common-sense gun-safety reforms. We’ve closed background check loopholes, banned bump stocks and approved protective orders that keep guns away from people in crisis and there’s more we can do this session.

And at that same time, we’re making sure students don’t worry more about bullying or gun violence than they do about their algebra homework. We’ve heard over and over what an impact a caring adult makes in a child’s life when the child is working through issues like depression or bullying or peer rejection. That’s why we’re committed to putting more social workers, counselors, psychologists and nurses in our schools.

We are the state that put a stop to the death penalty, and I hope this Legislature acts definitively to end this practice once and for all.

We are the state that updated deadly force laws and now require training to help law enforcement officers de-escalate violence. Communities and much of law enforcement came together on this and produced a model for the country on how to have what can be a very difficult conversation. I want to tip my hat to the people involved who helped form these changes. Thanks for your leadership and I look forward to signing this bill soon.

While there has been an unprecedented assault on working families, we are the state that protects workers’ rights. We built the best-in-the-nation paid family and medical leave program, we’re supporting long-term care planning, we will fight for a public health option to ensure health care for all.

While other places close their borders and fear the unfamiliar, we are the state that opens our communities to immigrants and refugees seeking safety, shelter and sanctuary. While the president stokes fear of ‘the other’ at every opportunity, we are the state that embraces our differences and diversity. I’m proud of the incredible diversity of the people we’re appointing to judicial benches, boards, commissions and cabinet agencies. We are the state making sure our government looks like the people it serves.

We’re the state that passed the Voting Rights Act. And while other states threw up barriers to suppress voting, we are the state that passed a nation-leading Access to Democracy package to make sure more people cast their ballots, not fewer.

All this builds toward our promise for greatness. We’re constantly refreshed with new ideas, new cultures, new communities and new technologies. We seek out new talent from the world’s many pockets because that makes Washington stronger. We affirm that diversity is a strength, not a weakness.

It’s the collective stories of all – the story of the refugee from Vietnam and the story of the third-generation Chelan orchardist – that ground us in longstanding Washington values. Now I know the things we’re proposing this year are not small or easy.

But good things in our story have not happened through timidity. They happened because of our optimism and because of our past bold action. Good things in our story happened because we didn’t give up.

Again, I ask you: Which Washington story will prevail? A story where we rested on our laurels? Or the story where we rose up, we called out and we wrote a golden chapter that’s worthy of our best selves?

This chapter will show we answered our obligation to lead with higher expectations. This chapter will show that we made Washington better for everyone seeking a fair shot. This chapter will show that we defended the values we stand for. And more than anything, this chapter will show the heart of who we are.

We’re the people who always make history.

I really believe in the state of Washington. And I believe our next Washington chapter must show that we pushed the limit and moved beyond that plateau, that we always looked for the next beginning. So let this be our profound story. Let it be bold. And most of all, let it make history. So let’s get to work. Thanks a lot. ‘Thank you.’

MESSAGE FROM THE SECRETARY OF STATE

CERTIFICATION OF INITIATIVE TO THE LEGISLATURE

No. 976

Pursuant to Article II, Section 1 of the Washington State Constitution, RCW 29A.72.230, and WAC 434-379-010, the Office of the Secretary of State has caused the signatures submitted in support of Initiative to the Legislature No. 976 to be examined in the following manner:

1. It was determined that 352,093 signatures were submitted by the sponsors of the initiative. A random sample of 10,598 signatures was taken from those submitted;
2. Each sampled signature was examined to determine if the signer was a registered voter of the state, if the signature was reasonably similar to the one appearing on the record of that voter, and if the same signature appeared more than once in the sample. We found 9,128 valid signatures, 1,451 signatures that were invalid and 19 pairs of duplicated signatures in the sample;
3. We calculated an allowance for the chance error of sampling (57) by multiplying the square root of the number of invalid signatures by 1.5;
4. We estimated the upper limit of the number of invalid signatures on the petition from the number of signatures submitted;
5. We determined the expected number of duplicate pairs of signatures in the sample (38) by multiplying the square of the sampling ratio by the maximum allowable number of pairs of signatures on the initiative petition;
6. We determined the acceptable number of duplicate pairs of signatures in the sample (28) by subtracting 1.65 times the square root of the expected number of pairs of signatures in the sample from the expected number of pairs of signatures in the sample; and
7. The number of duplicate pairs of signatures in the sample is less than the acceptable number of duplicate pairs of signatures in the sample.

Therefore, I hereby declare Initiative to the Legislature No. 976 to contain sufficient signatures.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and affixed the Seal of the State of Washington this 15th day of January, 2019.

(Seal)

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Sheldon: “Thank you Mr. President. I just want to make a personal observation. I attended the joint session yesterday and it was the first one that, I know that you were not there but listened in, it was the first joint session that I had attended – and it's a very formal, formal event – that the consular corps was not introduced individually. I think there's about thirty individuals that come from Seattle all down the West Coast, San Francisco. And every time I've attended they've been introduced individually and it's difficult often to pronounce those names and it's fun to watch the presiding officer handle that with a lot of practice but that was omitted.

My other observation was that there was a considerable number of elected officials in the gallery. I saw Mayor Durkin there. I saw former Secretary of State Ralph Munro, five term Secretary of State here in our state, that was not introduced as well. I saw tribal officials – usually the tribal officials are introduced and stand and we get to show our appreciation for their attendance. And I thought that was missing from the ceremony yesterday and, of course, there's Sheldon complaining about something again. But I think it's important to keep that tradition. And, just the last thing I would note, small thing. There was empty chairs on the rostrum. I think, if we had another ceremony, if there were chairs, if for, if they were going to remain empty, I would remove them. And those are just personal observations and hopefully constructive ones. Thank you Mr. President.”

POINT OF INQUIRY
Senator Liias: “I wondered, Mr. President, if Senator Sheldon would yield to a question?”

President Habib: “Ordinarily, Senator Liias, it would be out of order, we are waiting for joint session. I’m going to allow us to proceed but let’s prepare for our guests that are here, some very special guests, and we can continue this later but let’s do one quest… Senator Sheldon do you stand for a question?”

Senator Sheldon: “Sure.”

Senator Liias: “Thank you, Mr. President. I was just reminded of Senator Sheldon’s point of personal privilege last year about the capitol dome and I wondered if you’ve noticed that it’s a little bit cleaner the session?”

Senator Sheldon: “Thank you for the question Senator Liias. The dome is shining and bright and we are very happy about that. The appropriation was for the cleaning of the dome, the contractor did a wonderful job. It was also for repair of leaks and, as I understand it, the leaks were not repaired yet so the Enterprise Services is going to come by our office and give us a report on that. And thank you for asking but I think everybody appreciates the appearance today. Thank you.”

The President welcomed and introduced Chief Justice Fairhurst.

STATE OF THE JUDICIARY

Chief Justice Mary Fairhurst: “Thank you President Habib, Speaker Chopp, Governor Inslee, members of the Washington State Legislature, judges, elected officials and residents of Washington.

Today, we renew the tradition of the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court every other year delivering a State of the Judiciary address to a joint session of the Washington State Legislature.

Thank you for reestablishing this tradition so that I may present this report to you, our lawmakers and executive and the people of the state of Washington, so you can gauge the health of the judicial branch, one of the three key components of our government.

I am very pleased to report that Washington’s judicial branch is strong, managing hundreds of thousands of cases every year – cases impacting the lives of all the people of Washington.

In addition to our casework, judges, judicial branch staff and justice partners devote significant time and energy to improving the justice system so that it can continue to deliver justice. Later, I will detail the challenges before us as well as some recent innovations to meet those challenges.

Before I do, I want to thank you again for opening your doors and the lines of communications between our respective branches. Right now, our nation needs to see that their government leaders – those in the legislative, the executive and the judicial branches – are working together.

Genuine partnership, good will and civility are not only possible – they are essential.
Bringing fair, efficient, effective justice to the people of Washington in an era of uncertain funding and contentious times is an enormous challenge. We, in the justice system, are committed to continually improving justice by seeking new knowledge and better methods while not allowing the circumstances to overwhelm us – believing that each individual, each committee, and each court can make a difference and that every improvement, no matter the size, adds to the better whole. Washington is fortunate to have a judicial branch filled with people who will never give up trying to make a difference and improving justice, in ways big and small.

My goal as Chief Justice is to encourage and support those efforts, and today, I applaud and report to you the work being done in our justice system.

As you know, our state’s justice system is present in every corner of our state. It functions in state, county and municipal courthouses, and is presided over by nine Supreme Court justices, twenty-two Court of Appeals judges, one-hundred ninety-three superior court judges and two-hundred sixty full and part-time district and municipal court judges.

At every level, our courts have a direct impact on the lives of individuals and businesses. This is particularly true of our trial courts.

At the limited jurisdiction court level, our municipal court and district court judges handle misdemeanor and gross misdemeanor crimes. District courts also handle small claims cases and civil actions when less than $100,000 are sought in small claims cases. Our limited jurisdiction trial court judges see huge numbers of persons in their courts each year and can truly be called our ‘people’s courts.’

At the superior court level, which is our general jurisdiction trial court level, judges hear cases on all matters of issues including civil matters over $100,000, felony crimes, family law issues and juvenile matters.

At the trial courts is also where our therapeutic courts may be—drug court, mental health court, veterans’ court, community court, etc. These therapeutic courts are problem solving courts.

The Court of Appeals and the Supreme Court review cases that have been decided in the trial courts.

Important work is being done at each level of court and throughout the judicial branch. We are working hard to have and maintain a strong and fair justice system because justice matters. ‘If we do not maintain justice, justice will not maintain us.’

While the state of the judiciary is strong, it cannot remain so unless we continue to examine and address issues that confront us now, anticipate new issues on the horizon and prepare to meet them.

Leadership of a branch does not happen in a vacuum – it takes active listening, openness to understanding the problems, respect for different viewpoints, and enthusiasm for working with others. We are blessed with outstanding judges, court personnel and others who embrace that role and work tirelessly to maintain and move our justice system into the future.

Speaking of our justice system in the future – there is no greater way to preserve democracy than to ensure that our youth respect and understand their rights and responsibilities.

With that goal, the Council on Public Legal Education developed an initiative to address gaps in meaningful civil learning by youth. The legislative, executive and judicial branches, with many community partners, then worked together to establish the Civic Learning Initiative, focusing on the policies, resources, and support necessary for successful civics education in K through 12 and youth development programs, with emphasized outreach to underserved youth.
Governor Inslee and I convened two summits. The Legislature passed and the Governor signed House Bill 1896, which requires every Washington high school, beginning with the 2020-2021 school year to provide a one-semester civics course.

Complementing that effort, last September 17, the anniversary of the adoption of the United States Constitution in 1787, we launched a new Constitution Day outreach event in classrooms across the state. More than one hundred judicial officers and attorneys engaged students in conversations about the constitution and what it means to them.

Judges and lawyers and partners in the justice system are working together on many other projects. For example, the Superior Court Judges’ Association sponsors a ‘Color of Justice’ program, and the Supreme Court Minority and Justice Commission sponsors ‘Youth and Justice Forums’, which connect judicial mentors of color and attorneys of color to minority youth. In 2018, students ages 11 to 18 met with judge and attorney mentors in Thurston, Yakima and King Counties and in the Tri-Cities. These events give the young people the opportunity to talk with judges and attorneys who look like them, and have similar backgrounds. They get to learn about the judicial branch and careers in law, and are able to imagine themselves in those positions one day.

A 2016 nationwide study by the American Constitution Society found that the judicial branch does not reflect the country’s diversity, with minorities only making up 20% of judges and women only making up 30%. Our judicial branch is working on changing that disparity, because we know that by valuing diversity in our workforce, we promote equity and justice for all.

The Supreme Court Gender and Justice Commission will be examining in depth the degree to which gender affects justice in Washington today. Their work is supported by a national grant provided to help fund the study.

The Commission will use an evidence-based research model to look at gender impacts on justice. One particular focus will be on how race and poverty impact women who access the courts. Recent public awareness regarding the extent to which gender bias and sexual harassment remain significant issues in the workplace make the timing of the study appropriate and necessary.

2018 marked the fourteenth year that courts statewide have celebrated National Adoption Day and hosted community events in order to celebrate adoptions and raise awareness of the many foster children who are legally free and waiting and wanting to join new families.

2018 was the first year that the Supreme Court Commission on Children in Foster Care designated that June be Family Reunification Month. The Commission asked courts statewide to host public celebrations of families in dependency cases who worked hard and completed reunification with their children.

The legislature and the courts have also worked together the last couple of years to examine legal financial obligations. Legal financial obligations are those fines and costs that our laws and court orders impose on people who are convicted of infractions and crimes.

More and more, we are realizing that failure to pay in many instances is due to a person’s inability to pay or indigency, rather than a willful failure to pay. The Legal Financial Obligations Consortium has been and is gathering data and developing strategies for collection of legal financial obligations that support, rather than undermine, accountability and rehabilitation for those who struggle to afford court fines and fees.

Significant steps have already been taken based on this work. The legislature passed and the governor signed House Bill 1783. We launched the legal financial obligations calculator prototype, designed to help Washington judges set appropriate levels of fines and fees based on current laws and statutes, and a defendant’s ability to pay. The consortium has more than 50 members from different sectors across the state.

Another area where a wide group of people have come together to discuss, and hopefully solve a problem, is the area of pretrial reform. Every day across Washington, trial judges make decisions regarding pretrial release or detention that have consequences for our communities and for people accused of crimes. The Pretrial Reform Task Force is composed of judges, prosecutors, public defenders, bail business owners, legal aid attorneys, court administrators and officials, researchers and more.

The task force will assess the information judges need to make these pretrial decisions and gather data to formulate recommendations for expanding pretrial release. They will also evaluate ways to minimize the impact of pretrial detention of low risk offenders by exploring safe and cost-effective alternatives to full incarceration.

I have spent some time discussing our policy work. Let me talk now about the practical aspect of delivering justice.

In Washington, we have a decentralized judicial system, meaning we are not a unified system. Court funding comes from the state, county and cities. Judges in Washington are elected in statewide, county and sometimes municipal elections. The Supreme Court and superior courts are created by the State Constitution. The Court of Appeals and the district and municipal courts are created by legislation, either state or local.

The one area that we do have a mainly unified system is in the area of information technology. The Judicial Information System Committee, created by state legislation, is responsible for information technology decisions implemented by the Administrative Office of the Courts. Our funding comes from a dedicated Judicial Information System account and recently also from the general fund as there is not enough dedicated money for the information technology work that needs to be done.

For many years, we have worked hard to replace antiquated systems at all levels of court. We are still working. However, I am happy to report there has been major progress.

At the end of 2018, five years after beginning implementation, we successfully completed statewide implementation of the Superior Court Case Management System, known as Odyssey, in thirty-seven of the thirty-nine counties. King and Pierce Counties chose not to come on the state system and were allowed by the legislature to develop or keep their own systems. The Odyssey system replaces a case processing system from the 1970s that was used by superior courts and county clerks.

The new system provides much more case management functionality and modern information, and document sharing abilities. A new Judges’ Edition enhances tools for judges in the courtroom and in their offices. A new public portal provides the public with free access to case information. I am very proud to report that the Superior Court Case Management System project was successfully completed, on time and within budget.

In 2017, the Supreme Court and the three divisions of the Court of Appeals began using their new Appellate Court Enterprise Content Management System.

Because of this system, the appellate courts are using the same document management system and have automated many of their workflows and business processes. Our plan for the future includes having fully electronic appellate court records.

Our district and municipal courts cannot efficiently serve the public with their current system based on 1980s technology. We must acquire a modern case management system for Washington courts of limited jurisdiction. We had earnestly begun this work, but, when faced with a solution that did not meet our needs or subjected the state to unreasonable risk, we took a pause to regroup and re-evaluate our options. The Courts of Limited Jurisdiction Case Management Project Steering Committee has developed guiding principles and key features of a case management system, and is now working with a consulting firm that is assisting us to determine a solution or solutions that best meets the needs of our courts of limited jurisdiction and probation departments. Although we made a wise and prudent choice to delay acquiring a new case management system for our courts of limited jurisdiction, the need is great and the work continues.

One final major project we are working on is an information networking hub, which is a statewide enterprise data repository system and data exchange. This is necessary for at least two reasons – first to make sure courts across Washington have access to the same case information, and second to exchange data with state agencies. Since Washington has a nonunified court system and some courts are implementing their own case management systems, we are developing a statewide data repository and establishing standard methods for local court systems to share data with that central repository. When complete, this will maintain a statewide view of case information for judicial decision-making. This exchange is in the works and will be piloted with King County.

While working on these significant statewide judicial information technology projects, the Administrative Office of the Courts is also working on information technology projects with other state agencies that impact the delivery of justice. For example, in September 2018, the Supreme Court and Division III of the Court of Appeals, in conjunction with the Washington State Penitentiary and the Department of Corrections, launched a pilot project to assess the benefits of allowing inmates to file legal documents electronically, because a large number of prisoner petitions are filed in the appellate courts.

Also in 2018, the Administrative Office of the Courts supported the Department of Licensing’s major modernization of driver licensing systems by replacing or modifying key interfaces between the two agencies. Because there are over 800,000 licensing-related filings in the courts per year, it is critical that the courts and the Department of Licensing are able to share and retrieve accurate information.

And now for what we are focusing on specifically in this legislative session – interpreter funding and court system education.

It is fundamental to justice that all individuals, including those with limited English proficiency or who are deaf or hard of hearing, are able to understand and meaningfully participate in courtroom proceedings.

A recent survey revealed that 59% of courts experienced delays in proceedings when interpreter services were unavailable. Small and rural courts report particular difficulties in providing qualified interpreters. Delays impose extra costs on the public and on the participants in the proceedings.

Ensuring that a qualified interpreter is available at the beginning of a case, not only ensures that minor legal issues are resolved promptly, but can also help avoid legal issues from compounding, if not handled appropriately.

State funding for interpreters has been flat since 2008, yet a recent study of Washington courts found that the cost of providing interpreters is increasing. Also increasing are the number of languages spoken in courts – nearly 30% more languages are being spoken statewide, with one court reporting that nearly 165 languages are spoken.

Access to qualified interpreters can have life-altering consequences. Without access, victims of crimes or abuse often face negative impacts, delayed responses or no assistance. For those seeking resolutions in high-risk situations, such as when needing a protection order, a court interpreter can be a matter of life and death.

To address this, the Board for Judicial Administration, using a plan developed by the Interpreter Services Funding Task Force, are asking state lawmakers in 2019 for $2.1 million dollars in additional state funds for interpreter costs. Increased funding will help additional courts, especially rural and small courts, access the Interpreter Reimbursement Program and support interpreter recruitment and testing to increase the number of qualified interpreters.

Another major priority for the judicial branch this year is proper training for judges and court staff across Washington. It is essential that all who work in the court system are well trained in substantive law, technical areas and societal issues. In the last three years, the legislature passed or amended more than 150 laws in a wide array of substantive policy areas, for example, relating to driving under the influence, family law and parentage, guardianship, mental health, public records, and juvenile justice.

Besides knowing the law, judges and court personnel must use and understand technical systems critical to criminal history information, sentencing, case management, and more. And judges and staff, especially in trial courts, see first-hand the impacts of changing societal factors like the crack and opioid epidemics and the exploding number of self-represented litigants. Judges and court personnel must be trained to effectively and efficiently insure that justice occurs in the cases that come before them.

One thing to note is that the judicial branch is experiencing significant turnover of judges and court staff in staggering numbers due to the aging of our workforce and the lure of better paying jobs. We have a record sixty-nine brand new judicial officers since last January.

Funding for court training has remained the same for more than a decade, despite increasing needs. The Board for Judicial Administration, using a plan established by the Court System Education Funding Task Force, is seeking an increase of $1.4 million dollars for court training, recognizing that without necessary training in these critical areas the work of the courts will be ineffective and inefficient. Such funding will also ensure equal access for small and rural courts that struggle to afford training opportunities.

Another issue of great concern to the judicial branch, and what we will be dedicating our energy to next, is courthouse security. A safe courthouse environment is fundamental to the administration of justice.

To address court security, the Board for Judicial Administration is now convening a Court Security Task Force to assess security at all trial courts throughout Washington. The Court Security Task Force will develop recommendations for how we can ensure that every courthouse in Washington is safe for jurors, litigants, court employees and the public that we serve.

Finally, all of the work of the judicial branch is supported and enhanced by the Administrative Office of the Courts. In 2017, the Administrative Office of the Courts celebrated 60 years of serving Washington’s judiciary. I want to publicly thank the staff of the Administrative Office of the Courts for their hard work, thoughtfulness and professionalism. Every day, the people who work for the Administrative Office of the Courts show their dedication to the people of Washington and their commitment to advancing the efficient and effective operation of the Washington judicial system.

We have a new State Court Administrator, Dawn Marie Rubio. She brings a depth of knowledge about court issues from her varied experience with multiple state court systems. We are thrilled someone of her caliber will continue the strong leadership of the Administrative Office of the Courts.

Although we are not a unified court system, we are unified in many ways. I have the great pleasure, having been elected by my colleagues, to serve as the Chief Justice of the state of Washington. Because of that, every day I get to work with, and see the work of, court staff, judicial officers and judicial branch personnel across the state. I get to see the difference they are making every day.

As Chief Justice, I also get to work with you – our legislative and executive branch partners. I get to see the difference you are making every day.

I want to remind you that time is precious. For whatever reasons, this is our individual and collective time and place. It is when and where we are serving in the three branches of government. It is when we are deciding what government looks like in our Washington.

None of us know how many days we have to make a difference. This is again especially true for me. My stage four cancer that I survived eight years ago has returned, and I am currently undergoing treatment. I will continue working. I still believe in miracles. As Albert Einstein said, ‘There are only two ways to live your life. One is as though nothing is a miracle. The other is as though everything is a miracle.’

Everything is a miracle. Every day is a miracle. Let’s not waste the days we have. Working individually and together, on behalf of those that we faithfully serve, we can, and are, making a difference.

Together, we will not fail. We can change the world to be what we want it to be, and we must ensure that all who seek justice, find it.

I would like to close with what my family calls the ‘joy’ pose. This is what we often do when we are overwhelmed with happiness. Because I am overflowing with happiness, hope and gratitude for you, for me, for us, and for all of Washington.”

The President thanked Chief Justice Fairhurst for her remarks.

The President called upon the committee of honor to escort Chief Justice Fairhurst from the rostrum and the Chief Justice retired from the Chamber.

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Padden: “Thank you, Madam President. I just wanted to call your attention to something that probably most of you know but this is a great day for our state and our region. Edgar Martinez is in the Hall of Fame. (Applause) You know, and I mean, what a great story in the persistence and dedication and class that he has shown. I mean to make it on his tenth and last year. And there was an interesting article in The Wall Street Journal today about how he’s going in at the same time as Rivera the tremendous relief pitcher for the Yankees who was lights out really with everybody except Edgar. Edgar had a five fifty seven batting average against Riviera but, anyway, as a as a great resident of our state and a great player for the Mariners I just wanted to call people’s attention and hopefully maybe someday we will see him down here. Thank you Madam President.”

EDITOR’S NOTE: Mr. Edgar Martinez, former designated hitter and third baseman for the Seattle Mariner professional baseball club, on the morning of January 23, 2019, received notice that the Baseball Writers Association of America had voted Mr. Martinez into the National Baseball Hall of Fame. Candidates must be named on 75 percent or more of the ballots cast to gain election. Mr. Martinez was named on 363 of the 425 ballots cast, approximately 85.4 percent, in his tenth and final year of eligibility.

MOTION

Senator Billig spoke in favor of the motion to confirm.

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Short: “So my question, Madam President, to the gentleman from the 3rd District: As you go through that appointment process and seat that 40th district, then will the people who were temporarily appointed to that then be off the committee?”

Senator Billig: “Thank you to Senator Short for asking that question. That does help further qualify, yes. And I meant to say that earlier. This is, the intention is that this is temporary and as soon as that member is appointed, it will be that new member there will fill these two slots on the Energy, Environment, Energy and Technology Committee and Transportation Committee. So, even at that point we would not be expanding the size of the committees. Thank you.”

Senators Short and Ericksen spoke against the motion.

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Das: “Mr. President, each time I drive to the capitol campus I'm in awe of the grandeur and the importance of this place in Washington state. Yes, the sandstone buildings are amazing and the grounds are beautiful. The people bustle with importance but to me this place is truly remarkable because what it holds, one of the state's most precious assets, our democracy. Senators, representatives, staff members and the public come here year after year, session after session, with one common goal. Thinking back on my life it seems unlikely that I would end up here. My journey began, started in India from the state of Bihar and I immigrated to the United States with my family when I was eight months old. I spent much of my life moving around but eventually I landed in beautiful Washington state. I am part of that grand tradition. I'm here to make Washington a welcoming place for all who call it home. I'm so proud of the residents of my district that have put their faith in me to represent them. Now as a first-year Senator, I am part of that tradition. I join the grand tradition of strong women. I join a wave of women of color who took their seats this year in Washington, in the Senate. I believe that every woman who speaks here is an inspiration for those young women. I hope that my time as a senator can be an inspiration for those young women. I believe our democracy should be accessible to all women and communities of color and I believe that we are making much progress. My fellow senators have been so welcoming during my first week here in the legislature that I am immensely grateful for that. Thank you. I, to show my gratitude and return the favor, I have brought you a gift. I hope that these Indian sweets from India Village in Kent will remind you how sweet life is and how sweet it is to serve in the Washington State Legislature. And don't forget to reuse your boxes. Thank you Mr. President.”
PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Liias: “Thank you Mr. President. In December Senator-elect, at the time, Das contacted me to grab coffee. She wanted to chat about what service in the legislature would be like and so, you know, I thought, ‘Great.’ I set aside an hour of time on a Saturday afternoon and we met up at a wonderful coffee shop and Mr. President that coffee lasted four hours long. Four hours. Now it was an enjoyable four hours but Senator-elect Das clearly was enthusiastic about embracing her new role as the voice for the 47th District…”

President Habib: “Senator Liias, those of us who know you know that you weren’t doing any of the talking during that four hour period.”

Senator Liias: “That's a good point, Mr. President, but we're talking about Senator Das right now. Her energy, her enthusiasm and just the great question she asked in that meeting and every subsequent interaction I've had with her tell me that a we're all in for a challenge as we have to explain why we do things the way we do. And sometimes there's not always a good reason and so she asked those questions but also I think she's going to challenge us to think more creatively and think about folks whose voices aren't a part of the process. And just a warning to all my colleagues, when she asks you for a one-hour coffee maybe don't schedule anything right after that meeting because it may last a little bit longer. Thank you Mr. President and welcome to our colleague.”

REMARKS BY THE PRESIDENT

President Habib: “Thank you and on behalf of the entire Senate, Senator Das we're so fortunate to have you here and please know that you're part of our family. And as has been said by others, we disagree about policy but we really do try to treat one another with respect and also become friends with one another and it's been my pleasure to be able to do that.”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Hunt: “Thank you. Just a little bit of history, since I've been on this place as a staff member and a legislator for a long time, when the Senate used to be pretty much or was an all male body there was a very strong tradition on your first speech you had to give every member of the Senate a cigar.”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Short: “Thank you Mr. President. Just reminding everyone: We have in the rotunda, we’re doing a photo. Those of us who are wearing pink, to honor Senator Wilson and her battle with cancer right now. I know she's not here but I think we should still do the picture and then we can send it to her.”

SENATE RESOLUTION

By Senator O'Ban

WHEREAS, The evil and abhorrent practice of slavery reached the shores of colonial America less than a century after the first European settlement there, starting with the first Africans who were brought, against their will, to Jamestown, Virginia, in 1619, a year before the Pilgrims landed at Plymouth; and

WHEREAS, The establishment of slavery in colonial America became a cruel irony since the United States of America, the land of the free, was later founded on the principles embodied in our Declaration of Independence that "all men are created equal" and "endowed by their Creator" with "certain unalienable Rights" including "Life, liberty and the pursuit of Happiness;" and

WHEREAS, African Americans were denied these rights by the practice of slavery; and

WHEREAS, When the Founding Fathers met in 1787 to create the Constitution and set America’s new federal government on a firm course, compromises were made, including allowing slavery to continue, denying African Americans their individual rights and dignity, tearing apart families, and contradicting the American values enshrined in the Declaration of Independence; and

WHEREAS, By 1860, nearly four million slaves, one-eighth of America’s population at that time, were kept in bondage in America’s Southern or border states, and those who supported slavery in America sought to “strengthen, perpetuate, and extend this interest (slavery)” even at the cost of a Civil War; and

WHEREAS, The American Civil War began in 1861 and lasted four bloody years, resulting in more than 650,000 deaths suffered between the two sides; and

WHEREAS, On January 1, 1863, President Abraham Lincoln took a monumental first step toward ending slavery in America by issuing the Emancipation Proclamation, which declared that the slaves of the Confederate states that rebelled against the Union were free; and

WHEREAS, President Lincoln fought valiantly for the passage of a 13th Amendment to the United States Constitution, to ban slavery in America forever, but a bullet fired by a Confederate sympathizer ended Lincoln’s life eight months before the 13th Amendment was ratified on December 6, 1865; and

WHEREAS, The potential for a full and meaningful Reconstruction following the Civil War died with President Lincoln's assassination just days after the Confederate capital fell, and the largest Confederate army surrendered; and

WHEREAS, Vice President Andrew Johnson, who assumed the presidency upon Lincoln's death, failed to lead a reunited America to a complete and true Reconstruction, as Johnson lacked commitment to the civil rights of the former slaves; and

WHEREAS, President Johnson failed to thwart the efforts within the former Confederate states to suppress the rights of African Americans through enactment of "Black Codes" and other discriminatory laws and practices; and

WHEREAS, The “Radical Republicans” led Congress to enact a Reconstruction agenda that expanded civil rights and sought to realize the goal of a more equal America; and

WHEREAS, The national achievements of the Reconstruction era included the ratification of the 13th Amendment, as well as the 1868 ratification of the 14th Amendment, which ensured the citizenship of former slaves, and guaranteed equal protection under the law, and the 1870 ratification of the 15th Amendment, which proclaimed the rights of citizens to vote, regardless of “race, color, or previous condition of servitude;” and

WHEREAS, America’s Reconstruction era saw the historic election of about two thousand African American officeholders in our nation, from local positions and state legislative seats to the United States Senate, a period that would give African Americans a more active role in the political, economic, and social life of the South; and

WHEREAS, The Reconstruction era ended after federal troops withdrew from the old Confederacy in 1877, soon followed by the overt and covert efforts of many Southern whites to reverse the newfound freedoms of African Americans, such as passage of laws in Southern states that took away rights of African Americans, including preventing them from freely participating in elections; and

WHEREAS, Despite these setbacks, the dream of equal rights for African Americans continued to flicker for nearly a century until it reignedited with the civil rights movement in the 1960s, led by the Reverend Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. and others, and was advanced by the passage of the 1964 Civil Rights Act and the 1965 Voting Rights Act, both of which received strong bipartisan support in Congress;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, That the Washington State Senate remember, recognize, and honor America’s Reconstruction era and its advances in civil rights for African Americans.

Senator O’Ban and Lias spoke in favor of adoption of the resolution.

The President declared the question before the Senate to be the adoption of Senate Resolution No. 8611.

The motion by Senator O’Ban carried and the resolution was adopted by voice vote.

The President notified the senate that remarks were offered on Senate Resolution No. 8609 and Senate Resolution No. 8611 by senators during an unofficial morning session for the benefit of guests who had been invited in anticipation of an earlier convening time and were present earlier in the day. Thank you very much Mr. President.”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Sheldon: “Thank you Mr. President. Today we had a wonderful rendition of the national anthem. We had a resolution for an event one hundred years ago today. I just like to think a little bit about this chamber and history and before World War Two we had an open skylight in the chamber. Those legislators enjoyed the sunlight in this chamber and a beautiful day like today that we see the Olympics and the snow covered mountains around us. So, think about that Mr. President, as we go through this legislative session we talked about it last year. What it would take to restore that skylight and I think that’s something that we might all think about in this building and that historic a bit how different it would be to have the sunlight streaming down here today on the debates that go on and in. this Senate chamber. So, Mr. President, thank very much.”

REPLY BY THE PRESIDENT

President Habib: “Senator Sheldon, I think I speak for the body when I say when you speak so eloquently it’s like rays of sunlight are streaming down on the chamber even just in that moment.”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Wilson, C.: “It is no small honor to give my first speech before a body of entrusted folks to determine important laws that govern all Washingtonians. You need to know I owned a courier company and I also ran school bus transportation. But, I also walked two million, one hundred ten thousand, one hundred eighty six steps to get here to the Senate. I counted them from the very first day of my campaign. So perhaps it's fitting that my first bill would be a transportation bill. I walked those steps with very bold goals in mind. To provide full and energetic representation for individuals and groups who have felt overlooked or who have felt left out. So, it's a little humbling that my first bill is about oh mundane technical changes to simply make our motor vehicle laws consistent with federal language. No, this bill who won't change the world but I do hope to change this body. For thirty-five years in education I served children in families whose needs have often gone underserved, ignored or even invisible. My school district is the most diverse in the state and the fifth most diverse in the nation. I know of problems that cry for solutions and I know of people who believe their issues and their voices are not welcome here. And I'm here to abolish that belief. As the Senator for the 30th District, I intend to amplify voices that have been missing in this building and to make sure that all of my constituents inside and outside the district know that this is their house. That they are all welcomed. That they're all valued, as individuals and that their needs are recognized and they're prioritized. I am a mother. I am a parent of an eighteen and a twenty-one year old, and I am a woman who identifies as L.G. T.B.Q. I have enjoyed the benefits of privilege and I also know how daunting it can feel. when you run into discriminatory societal barriers. I bring all these experiences with me to the Senate. When I look around I see a glass that's half full and I see a good goodness in all those folks that are around me, whether in this institution or whether in across our communities across the state. I see my job here as figuring out how we bring different points of view together from all over the spectrum for a greater good. Now, to what you probably really want to know is about the gift that I brought for all of you. What you need to know is this gift comes from an artisan, a constituent of the 30th Legislative District and a woman-owned small business. Each of these gifts is identical yet distinct. Just like every single person in this room and throughout all of our districts, similar from a distance but with all kinds of differences when you get closer. As we work together a look forward to learning your differences and sharing mine, benefiting from the insights I gained from all of your viewpoints just as I hope you will find value in mine. Thank you so much and thank you Mr. President.”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Liias: “Thank you Mr. President. On behalf of our caucus I certainly want to welcome Senator ‘Wilson, Claire’ as I've taken to calling her in the last few weeks. It has been a delight to see her energy and her passion for public education, for early childhood education already beginning to change the dialogue in the discussions that we're having here at the Capitol. I also note that Senator Wilson is the daughter of some refugees and a Holocaust survivor. So she brings an amazing background and life story. And, as one of the members of our Senate LGBT caucus, I'm delighted that we welcome our first lesbian senator to the Senate as well. So she is hard charging and forging a new path in many different directions but we are so excited to have her and the passion energy she brings and, unlike Senator Das, my first meeting with her did not last four hours so I thank her for that as well and welcome her to the Chamber.”

REMARKS BY THE PRESIDENT

President Habib: “Thank you again. Allow me on behalf of the Senate, Senator Wilson, to welcome you here once more. I was pleased after we had a conversation about legislative procedure with the with the smooth delivery of your motion to bump your bill to third reading and I'll just say that that will probably be the last time you ever say the sentence, ‘this bill doesn't change the world’, because every legislator believes that every bill changes the world in some way, shape or form. But, truly, thank you for bringing your talents and gifts to the Senate and thank you for bringing these actual concrete tangible gifts to all of us as well.”

SECOND READING

SENATE BILL NO. 5151, by Senators Wilson, L., Becker, Honeyford, Zeiger and Short

Requiring the growth management hearings board to topically index the rulings, decisions, and orders it publishes.

MOTIONS

On motion of Senator Wilson, L., Substitute Senate Bill No. 5151 was substituted for Senate Bill No. 5151 and the substitute bill was placed on the second reading and read the second time.
but I'm probably going to bring this up again because I want men in this chamber to share with men outside of this chamber and everywhere and women do the same thing. Prostate cancer is something that you can treat early and you can work on the processes. I bring this to you, Mr. President, my brother-in-law was a dermatologist, an extremely intelligent man. And he developed prostate cancer. He opted for the seed implant and it worked for a while. Mr. President, it metastasized. It went throughout his entire body. When we look at the suicide rates that we're looking at, we're not looking at those that have committed suicide because of one thing or another. Mr. President, he had the option to do, to end his life with dignity but he chose to end his life with a gun two years ago. So, this is really personal to me. But it's personal to me that all the men that came in and that were told don't believe that P.S.A. Don't believe that P.S.A. can be elevated. It can be this, it can be that. Well you gosh darn well get in and have a P.S.A. and whether you believe it or not or the doctor does, go to that specialist if you have an elevated P.S.A. And you get the treatment early that you need just like we recommend in breast cancer for women. Mr. President, medical conditions don't care if we are women or if we are men. They don't care what the color of our skins are. They don't care anything about our bodies other than cancer is going to attack us in some way, shape, or form. So, I again, working in urology for over eight years, believe that it is important. Believe that you have to stand up for your rights like women did, and go get the treatment you need. Thank you Mr. President.”

EDITOR’S NOTE:  See twenty-fourth legislative day, January 16, 2019, for appointing Joint Resolution of San Juan County, the Skagit County Board of Commissioners, and Whatcom County Council.

CERTIFICATION OF INITIATIVE TO THE LEGISLATURE

NO. 1000

On January 4, 2019, petition sheets containing voter signatures in favor of Initiative to the Legislature No. 1000 were submitted to the Secretary of State Elections Division by the sponsor. The following is the certificate of the facts relating to the filing, verification, and canvass of this initiative, as required by RCW 29A.72.230.

• 64 petition sheets contained a ballot title, ballot summary, and initiative text that was different than the established ballot title, ballot summary, and initiative text for No. 1000. (Exhibit A) These petition sheets were removed and were not included in the total signature count.

• 218 petition sheets contained a sticker with the established ballot title and ballot summary for No. 1000 on the front side of the petition sheet, but containing the text of a different measure on the backside of the petition sheet. (Exhibit B) These petition sheets were included in the total signature count.

Pursuant to Article 11, Section 1 of the Washington State Constitution, RCW 29A.72.230, and WAC 434-379-010, the Office of the Secretary of State has caused the signatures submitted in support of Initiative to the Legislature No. 1000 to be examined in the following manner:

1. It was determined that 395,938 signatures were submitted by the sponsors of the initiative. A random sample of 11,919 signatures was taken from those submitted;

2. Each sampled signature was examined to determine if the signer was a registered voter of the state, if the signature was reasonably similar to the one appearing on the record of that voter, and if the same signature appeared more than once in the sample. We found 9,047 valid signatures, 2,859 signatures that were invalid and 13 pairs of duplicated signatures in the sample;

3. We calculated an allowance for the chance error of sampling (80) by multiplying the square root of the number of invalid signatures by 1.5;

4. We estimated the upper limit of the number of signatures on the initiative petition which were invalid (97,638) by dividing the sum of the number of invalid signatures in the sample and allowance for the chance of error of sampling by the sampling ratio;

5. We determined the maximum allowable number of duplicate pairs of signatures on the petition (38,678) by subtracting the number of signatures required by Article 11, Section 1 of the Washington State Constitution (259,622) and the estimate of the upper limit of the number of invalid signatures on the petition from the number of signatures submitted;

6. We determined the expected number of duplicate pairs of signatures in the sample (35) by multiplying the square of the sampling ratio by the maximum allowable number of pairs of signatures on the initiative petition;

7. We determined the acceptable number of duplicate pairs of signatures in the sample (25) by subtracting 1.65 times the square root of the expected number of pairs of signatures in the sample from the expected number of pairs of signatures in the sample; and

8. The number of duplicate pairs of signatures in the sample is less than the acceptable number of duplicate pairs of signatures in the sample.

Therefore, I hereby declare Initiative to the Legislature No. 1000 to contain sufficient signatures.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and affixed the Seal of the State of Washington this 6th day of February, 2019

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Salomon: “Thank you. You know I look around and sometimes I still can't believe I'm here. It even took me a week to believe that the voters didn't actually make a mistake. Before I came down here my father took me aside and he said ‘Look Jesse, there’s always one jerk in the room, always’ and I want to say as a as I look around the room here, you all have been so nice to me, I just don’t see anybody like that. Maybe it’s me. He also said you only get one chance to make a first impression so seeing as how I might have messed that up and I’m asking for a second chance. I do agree that a good speech is a short speech and as a trial attorney I tried to keep my closing arguments to about five or ten minutes and I always surprised myself how long I would go without realizing. So knowing that I have that proclivity, I bought you all some gifts. The first thing I have is some coffee, and you’ll see on there it says that it is to keep you awake during my floor speeches. And so I recommend that if you see that I have a bill coming up that, it’s extra strength, you pour yourself a coffee and get going. Also, my family is from New York City. And I was born on the East Coast. My wife was born here in Seattle and so she says, ‘You know, Jesse, you can be kind of direct you know, which is good, but you’re not very sweet.’ So what I said is, you know, I brought you guys but you got some honey here today. And it’s the sweetest that I will ever get yourself a coffee and get going. Also, my family is from New York City. And I was born on the East Coast. My wife President Habib: “That was, I think, the most self-deprecating point of personal privilege that I think I have ever heard. I would just that that the old saying is that if you’re looking for the one jerk in the room and you look around and you don’t see them …”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Liias: “Thank you Mr. President. Typically, when our new members have asked for their first bill they’ve picked highly important things like adjusting timelines for mortgage; individuals; cleaning up motor vehicle statutes; and uniform notarial acts but Senator Salomon said he’s going to break the mold. He’s going to ban fracking as his first bill and I think that it is a testament to the seriousness and the drive that Senator Salomon brings. He is my neighbor to the south. Our districts have, share a very long border and I certainly saw a lot of that hard work and determination over the last few months as his signs and leaflets were all over the place. And, so I think that he has brought that same spirit here. And we welcome him and thank him for taking on a big issue on his first bill and I know that all of us join him and welcoming him to the Senate.”

SECOND READING

SENATE BILL NO. 5641, by Senators Holy, Pedersen and Padden

Adopting the 2018 uniform law commission amendments to the uniform law on notarial acts.

The measure was read the second time.

The President declared the question before the Senate to be the final passage of Senate Bill No. 5641.

ROLL CALL

The Secretary called the roll on the final passage of Senate Bill No. 5641 and the bill passed the Senate by the following vote: Yeas, 47; Nays, 0; Absent, 0; Excused, 2.

Excused: Senators Ericksen and Sheldon

SENATE BILL NO. 5641, having received the constitutional majority, was declared passed. There being no objection, the title of the bill was ordered to stand as the title of the act.

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Holy: “Thank you. I want to thank the body for not using my last name in the hazing that has gone on around here. You know, being a cop, an attorney, and a politician, I think I offered a wide array of subject titles available to them. I’m what this Chamber refers to as ‘House broke’, and I guess that acknowledges that I sort of know the procedure here, but I don’t know the culture yet. Dramatically different over here. Yet, in the short time I have been here I somehow feel like this is a move from the junior varsity to the varsity or maybe having like a seat at the adult table. And since arriving I want to thank the members here, seriously, for being gracious and the reception and willingness to work together in solutions. It’s been much appreciated and most of all, thank you for letting me become a member of the best club on campus here, Washington State Senate. And I want to point out one thing, my gift today is to complement the good Senator Salomon’s coffee or to fortify it.”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Padden: “Well, Mr. President, I’ve been in the Senate now for almost a little over eight years and during part of that time the good gentleman who now represents the 6th District in our august body was over in the other chamber. So had a number of chances to work with him and also knew him back home. He’s unique combination of an attorney and law enforcement official having been, I believe, a cop for eighteen years or so with the Spokane Police Department and I know worked hard. Went to night school to get his law degree for awhile while he was working. Anyway, I think he brings a lot of experience in everything. Hopefully, though, before he’s done, he’ll be able to explain a bill that the gentle lady from the 16th District will understand so … Welcome to the Senate”

(1) The county treasurer must proceed to collect all personal property taxes after first completing the tax roll for the current year's collection.

(2) The treasurer must give notice by mail to all persons charged with personal property taxes, and if the taxes are not paid before they become delinquent, the treasurer must commence delinquent collection efforts. A delinquent collection charge for costs incurred by the treasurer may be added to the account.

(3) In the event that the treasurer is unable to collect the taxes when due under this section, the treasurer must prepare papers in distraint. The papers must contain a description of the personal property, the amount of taxes including any amounts deferred under chapters 84.37 and 84.38 RCW that are a lien on the personal property to be distraint, the amount of the accrued interest at the rate provided by law from the date of delinquency, and the name of the owner or reputed owner.

(a) The treasurer must without demand or notice distraint sufficient goods and chattels belonging to the person charged with the taxes to pay the same, with interest at the rate provided by law from the date of delinquency, together with all accruing costs. The treasurer must proceed to advertise the distraint by posting written notices in three public places in the county in which the property has been distraint, including the county courthouse. The notice must state the time when and place where the property will be sold.

(b) The county treasurer, or the treasurer's deputy, must tax the same fees for making the distraint and sale of goods and chattels for the payment of taxes as are allowed by law to sheriffs for making levy and sale of property on execution. Traveling fees must be computed from the county seat of the county to the place of making distraint.

(c) If the taxes for which the property is distraint, and the interest and costs accruing thereon, are not paid before the date appointed for the sale, which may not be less than ten days after the taking of the property, the treasurer or treasurer's designee must proceed to sell the property at public auction, or so much thereof as is sufficient to pay the taxes and any amounts deferred under chapters 84.37 and 84.38 RCW that are a lien on the property to be sold, with interest and costs. If there is any excess of money arising from the sale of any personal property, the treasurer must pay the excess less any cost of the auction to the owner of the property so sold or to his or her legal representative.

(d) If necessary to distraint any standing timber owned separately from the ownership of the land upon which the same may stand, or any fish trap, pound net, reef net, set net, or drag seine fishing location, or any other personal property as the treasurer determines to be incapable or reasonably impracticable of manual delivery, it is deemed to have been distraint and taken into possession when the treasurer has, at least thirty days before the date fixed for the sale thereof, filed with the auditor of the county wherein the property is located a notice in writing reciting that the treasurer has distraint the property. The notice must describe the property, give the name of the owner or reputed owner, the amount of the tax due, with interest, and the time and place of sale. A copy of the notice must also be sent to the owner or reputed owner at his or her last known address, by registered letter at least thirty days prior to the date of sale.

(e) If the county treasurer has reasonable grounds to believe that any personal property, including mobile homes, manufactured homes, or park model trailers, upon which taxes have been levied, but not paid, is about to be removed from the county where the property has been assessed, or is about to be destroyed, sold, or disposed of, the county treasurer may demand the taxes, without the notice provided for in this section, and if necessary distraint sufficient goods and chattels to pay the same.

(4) As an alternative to the sale procedure specified in this section, the county treasurer may conduct a public auction sale by electronic media pursuant to RCW 36.16.145."

The President welcomed and introduced Miss Gabby Alvarez, Youth Governor 2019, YMCA Youth and Government program, who was seated at the rostrum. Miss Alvarez, a senior high school student at North Star School, Mead School District, Spokane, represents the Central YMCA/YMCA of the Inland Northwest.

With permission of the Senate, business was suspended to allow Youth Legislature Governor Gabby Alvarez, YMCA Youth and Government, Miss to address the Senate.

REMARKS BY MISS GABBY ALVAREZ

Youth Governor Alvarez: “Thank you thank you for inviting me to speak today I am honored to stand before you and share my journey of becoming an advocate for student civic engagement. Youth civics day is more than a single day. It is a continuous campaign of students becoming leaders in their community and a voice for the issues that affect them. Each generation must learn the importance of being involved in the government for we are all members in our democracy. Eighteen years ago, my birth parents wrapped to me in a black leather jacket, placed me in a box on the streets a southern China, and disappeared into the shadows of the city.

I was left orphaned and alone. A nameless girl in a country where they have no voice. But, instead of being confined to an orphanage, I like many people before me made a journey across the ocean to a new life in America, a new home, a family, and a new name. I stand before you now as a citizen in the greatest country in the world where I have a right to participate in my government without fear, without apprehension, and without persecution. A letter from the White House the accompanied my United States certificate of citizenship says ‘Americans are united across the generations by grand and enduring ideals. The grandest of these ideals is an unfolding promise that everyone belongs that everyone deserves a chance and that no insignificant person was ever born. As you begin to participate in our democracy remember that what you do is as important as anything the government does. Welcome to the joy, responsibility, and freedom of American citizenship.’ I have learned to participate and to take an interest in my government because of programs like Y.M.C.A. Youth and Government. This program empowers young people by teaching us the joy and responsibility we have in becoming involved in our government. The first words in the Constitution are ‘We the people’ and that ‘we’ includes us as students.

Every week during the school year eighth graders through high school met with a local delegation to write and propose bills and prepare for session. The experience concludes in May with a trip to our Capitol where we replicate our state government. During those four days we are not sophomores or juniors but are senators, representatives, attorney general, secretary of state and most importantly we are leaders. In 2017, I was in this Chamber as a Youth Senator Alvarez. It was sitting at Senator Hawkins's desk looking up at this rostrum that I realized the amazing opportunity that Youth and Government offers. I know that the rest of my fellow youth senators felt the same way for just being able to debate in this chamber filled us with awe. For many delegates it isn't until they walk the halls of our state capitol and sit on the floor of the House and Senate that they fully understand the ownership they have in their government.

Five years ago when I joined the program, I was an extremely shy and introverted person. Whether it was because I only heard Chinese when I was a baby or the many untreated ear infections I had when I was in the orphanage, fate would have it that I would struggle with a speech impediment. I have been mocked by kids and adults, told that I sound weird, and that I really should get myself fixed. As if I was a broken toy that was useless because I couldn't pronounce my Rs. When you fail to be understood, it is easier to stand in the corner than speak up and risk being made fun of. However, my parents knew that I would never grow if I sat in a corner and refused to speak up. So, in the eighth grade they enrolled me into the Y.M.C.A. Youth and Government program. At my first meeting, I had to debate ice cream versus popsicles and when I spoke the most amazing thing happened. I couldn't pronounce my Rs. When you fail to be understood, it is easier to stand in the corner than speak up and risk being made fun of. However, my parents knew that I would never grow if I sat in a corner and refused to speak up. So, in the eighth grade they enrolled me into the Y.M.C.A. Youth and Government program. At my first meeting, I had to debate ice cream versus popsicles and when I spoke the most amazing thing happened. No one laughed or snickered and the family nods and smiles motivated me to keep going and finish my thoughts. The Y.M.C.A. advisors constantly encourage my efforts of public speaking and I found that the more I spoke out the braver I became. Slowly, I began to realize that I indeed had a voice and I could use it to encourage others.

Today, I have gone from being a shy and timid eighth grader in the program to being elected youth governor for the 72nd session of the Y.M.C.A. Youth Legislature. I have had the privilege of representing our state in Washington D.C. where I spoke to members of Congress at the Capitol. I also made lasting friendships with other Y.M.C.A. youth governors at our national conference. But, even more than that I have had the incredible opportunity to speak to other teenagers across our state, encouraging them to become involved in this program and their government. A democracy cannot exist without its citizens choosing to step up and be informed and be engaged. I hope to not only inspire others but also let them know that we as students can make a difference in our communities and our government.

This is our future. This is our voice and it is our America. Thank you and God bless the great state of Washington.”

REMARKS BY THE PRESIDENT

President Habib: “I hope you guys were taking notes on how to give a speech. That was unbelievable. Thank you to Governor Alvarez. Thank you the Y.M.C.A. Youth and Government program for doing this tremendous public service to our state.”

SENATE RESOLUTION 8620

By Senators Hasegawa, Hobbs, Wellman, Kuderer, Darneille, Das, Hunt, Salomon, Schoesler, Lovelett, Wilson, C., Billig, Saldaña, Zeiger, Frockt, and Palumbo

WHEREAS, Seventy-seven years ago, on February 19, 1942, during World War II, persons of Japanese, Korean, and Taiwanese ancestry, including United States citizens, were ordered to live in concentration camps and subject to a strict curfew; and

WHEREAS, Over 120,000 United States citizens and permanent residents of Japanese ancestry were required to leave their homes on the West Coast and submit to imprisonment based solely on their ancestry. This was required by Civilian Exclusion Order 34 which was authorized by President Franklin D. Roosevelt's Executive Order 9066; and

WHEREAS, The first civilian evacuation order gave Japanese Americans from Bainbridge Island less than one week to leave behind homes, personal belongings, farms, businesses, friends, and family; allowed them only two suitcases of personal belongings; and transported them to hastily constructed detention centers, like Camp Harmony located in the horse stalls on the grounds of the Washington State Fair in Puyallup where they were held until more permanent concentration camps could be built in more remote locations, like Hunt, Idaho (Minidoka) and Tule Lake, California, which is where most Japanese Americans from the Puget Sound region were held; and

WHEREAS, This drastic course of action allegedly aimed to prevent acts of espionage and sabotage by Japanese Americans who were deemed untrustworthy and disloyal to the United States even though no evidence was ever presented to support such distrust; and

WHEREAS, On March 23, 1943, the War Department organized a segregated unit of Japanese Americans; and, from within those American concentration camps where they and their families were incarcerated, surrounded by barbed wire and armed guards, thousands responded to questions of their loyalty and patriotism by volunteering to serve in the segregated Army unit known as the 442nd Regimental Combat Team, which went on to amass a battle record unmatched in United States military history earning 7 Presidential Unit Citations, 21 Medals of Honor, 29 Distinguished Service Crosses, a Distinguished Service Medal, 588 Silver Stars, more than 4,000 Bronze Stars, 22 Legion of Merit Medals, 15 Soldier's Medals, 9,486 Purple Hearts, and a total of 16 decorations from the governments of France and Italy; and

WHEREAS, Equally loyal and patriotic Japanese Americans fought to protect our constitutional rights and liberties through dissent, like Minoru Yasui; Fred Korematsu; and University of Washington student Gordon Hirabayashi who was arrested, convicted, and imprisoned for defying the military curfew on select civilians and challenging the constitutionality of the exclusion and incarceration orders. Korematsu and Hirabayashi were eventually awarded the Presidential Medal of Freedom for their principled actions and sacrifices; and

WHEREAS, In 1982, the Congressional Commission on Wartime Relocation and Internment of Civilians found "no military or security reason for the internment" of persons of Japanese ancestry. Rather, it found the denial of constitutional rights "was caused by racial prejudice, war hysteria, and a failure of political leadership"; and

WHEREAS, In 1976, President Gerald Ford rescinded Executive Order 9066 saying, "I call upon the American people to affirm with me this American Promise—that we have learned from the tragedy of that long-ago experience forever to treasure liberty and justice for each individual American, and resolve that this kind of action shall never again be repeated"; and

WHEREAS, In 1979, newly elected Washington State Congressman Mike Lowry introduced H.R. 5977: The Civil Liberties Act of 1988, which was signed 10 years later by President Ronald Reagan who said, "So what is most important in this bill has less to do with property than with honor, for here, we admit a wrong. Here we reaffirm our commitment as a nation to equal justice under the law."; and

WHEREAS, In 2010, the United States Congress recognized the unparalleled record of Nisei soldiers by awarding the Congressional Gold Medal to the 100th Infantry Battalion, the 442nd Regimental Combat Team, and the Military Intelligence Service (MIS) of the United States Army who fought in the Pacific Theater as interpreters and code breakers; and

WHEREAS, Throughout Washington State, survivors of the European and Asian Pacific battlefields of World War II and of American incarceration camps continue to live their golden years in quiet contrast to their extraordinary acts of patriotism, conscience, and valor;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, That on this auspicious occasion of the 75th Anniversary of the signing of Executive Order 9066, the Washington State Senate, along with the people of Washington State, pause to acknowledge and reflect on the significance of Executive Order 9066 and its effect in denying constitutional freedoms and protections. We also reflect on our democracy's greatness in recognizing the need to correct this failure, the need for constant vigilance to protect our constitutional rights and freedoms; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That we recognize the Japanese American internees, constitutional protectors, and World War II veterans from the state of Washington; honor their patience, heroism, sacrifice, and loyalty; and remember the lessons, rights, and responsibilities that come with the phrase, "liberty and justice for all"; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That copies of this resolution be immediately transmitted by the Secretary of the Senate to the Nisei Veterans Committee, the Military Intelligence Service-Northwest Association, the Japanese American Citizens League National and Seattle Chapter, the Japanese Cultural and Community Center of Washington State, the Japanese American National Museum, and the Wing Luke Museum of the Asian Pacific American Experience.

Senators Hasegawa, Short, Liias, Saldaña and Carlyle spoke in favor of adoption of the resolution.

The President declared the question before the Senate to be the adoption of Senate Resolution No. 8620.
The Senate was called to order at 10:02 a.m. by the President of the Senate, Lt. Governor Habib presiding. The Secretary called the roll and announced to the President that all senators were present with the exception of Senator Van De Wege.

The Sergeant at Arms Color Guard consisting of Pages Miss Annabella Hoffman and Miss Anisa Robinson, presented the Colors.

Page Mr. Luis Bravo led the Senate in the Pledge of Allegiance.

The prayer was offered by Father Louis Cunningham, Parochial Vicar of Saint Michael’s Church, Olympia.

MOTIONS

On motion of Senator Liias, the reading of the Journal of the previous day was dispensed with and it was approved.

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Hobbs: “So, I was afraid no one was going to object or something. I thought this was going to happen so, I was, I was attempting to save the freshman's bill. I really don't care I guess. We'll just sit down.”

REMARKS BY THE PRESIDENT

President Habib: “That was a point of very personal privilege I think.”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Randall: “This week like so many of you I had occasion to welcome some of my youngest constituents to the Capitol. While not everything impressed them, young people can be very discerning customers, there were moments of true wonderment as they stood and looked at the high ceiling, at the rostrum, and learned more about what we do here. I share that awe each morning as I walk into the doors. This storied place has housed historical decisions, protecting women's rights, expanding Medicaid to those like my family who desperately needed help, creating financial aid options for first generation students like me, students like our recent gubernatorial appointment Yazmin Aguilar, students like those who visited me this week who otherwise might not be able to access higher education. I'm here on this floor serving alongside you because this body has made brave decisions in an effort to make Washington work better for all of us residents. To extend the power of economic opportunity to more of us and to ensure that we have broader access to democracy. I stand here as the first queer woman elected to this body, the youngest serving member, the first woman of color from my district, because this body has worked alongside our neighbors to continue opening doors. I'm honored to serve here with you as this body looks more and more like the community members we represent. I am honored to be someone that young people who haven't before seen themselves in the halls of power can look up to so that this career becomes one alongside professional soccer player, doctor, teacher, magician that young folks can imagine for themselves. We know that representation is not enough. We know that there are still folks in our community of all ages who are facing tough seemingly insurmountable challenges. The young people who visited me this week may not yet be voters but they're struggling and they and their families need us to act. They are facing expensive health challenges, bullying and discrimination in and outside of school, the tough reality of living in a rural district lacking the transportation infrastructure investments they need, making it harder to get to school, to their first job, to their doctor's appointments. These young people, these future voters and Washingtonians across our state are depending on us to continue making brave decisions. Decisions about what to fund, which policies to pass, how to balance personal freedom with the common good. Let us always feel comfortable asking questions and generous when answering them. Let us always be respectful of opposing viewpoints and let us be guided by the desire to do right by our neighbors. In the spirit of gracious cooperation and as a reminder of the fact that our words in this chamber live on forever in the public record, in the laws we pass and in the legacy we leave I offer you this gift. It is a collaboration from two local artists in my community. An image that reflects the natural beauty of our Salish Sea and is inscribed with the words, 'The words you speak become the house you live in.' Thank you.”

The President asked the Senate to join him in welcoming Senator Emily Randall to the Washington State Senate.

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Liias: “Thank you Mr. President. Earlier today, when I spoke about Ambassador Levine’s commitment to public service I noted that it is awe inspiring to see amazing accomplished people enter public service and Mr. President I would add Senator Randall to that list. In her very brief tenure on this planet, she’s a bit younger than me, she has already accomplished some amazing things as an advocate for healthier communities, as a, at the front lines of raising money to fight the AIDS crisis in in the United States, as an accomplished graduate of Wellesley College and it's inspiring to see her take that commitment and drive and passion and come into public service. I think not enough younger people in our state, I think Mr. President, you and I are the rare exception of young inspired motivated people that have come into public service, so it's inspiring to see someone even more accomplished than us joining us and hopefully out shining us over the course of her tenure. And I just, as a member of the LGBT caucus, also want to note that this is our first queer member of the legislature. And I think for members of the legislature who come from previous generations that term queer carries a lot of connotations and meaning and I know that Senator Randall has already helped educate some of our members but I think over the course the next few weeks and months we will all learn about what it means to be queer in Washington in 2019 and I encourage you to have those conversations with Senator Randall and other members of our LGBT community to understand the many identities of the many representations we see both here in the legislature and across the state. I just want to lend my voice and saluting her and welcoming her to the Senate and I look forward to many years of service with her.”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Takko: “Yeah, I also would like to welcome the new senator and I thought that was a very powerful speech and I really appreciated it. But, in my advancing years, my age, or my ears don't work quite as well and she said the children. I'm just kind of wondering if you could clarify? She said that the children were excited to see and I wasn't sure if she said rostrum or restroom. I wonder if she could clarify that for me?”

REMARKS BY THE PRESIDENT

President Habib: “I take that personally Senator Takko. I don't know. Wow. Thank you again to Senator Randall and just a reminder to all senators because I know it was a long interim and I know we've got a number of new members. Just a reminder to everyone to refrain from reading your remarks. And, also, to address the President when giving a floor speech on the Senate, even a point of personal privilege. Also, don't, don't call us the restroom up here. I think those are a few reminders.”

Senators Nguyen and Walsh spoke in favor of passage of the bill.

The President declared the question before the Senate to be the final passage of Engrossed Senate Bill No. 5429.

ROLL CALL

The Secretary called the roll on the final passage of Engrossed Senate Bill No. 5429 and the bill passed the Senate by the following vote: Yeas, 48; Nays, 0; Absent, 0; Excused, 1.

Excused: Senator Van De Wege

ENGROSSED SENATE BILL NO. 5429, having received the constitutional majority, was declared passed. There being no objection, the title of the bill was ordered to stand as the title of the act.

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Darneille: “Thank you Mr. President. You know the prime sponsor of the bill we've just passed is, has, brings a lot of new strange ideas to the legislature and I'm, I really want to just, I think the bill was a good bill but I wanted to make sure we understood that this is a person who rejected all the furniture in his office. He cleaned out his office. He's actually had the temerity to put his desk in the place where the Legislative Assistant should be having his or her office and he's instead relegated them to this big office where they have to share space. And he's got his office full of things like Swedish furniture and televisions, junk food, toys. It is just actually amazing to see this lack of respect for our traditions here in the Senate. So, I just wanted to warn everyone about that. But, I also wanted to say, if I could Mr. President, that Senator Nguyen is the vice chair for the Human Services Re-entry & Rehabilitation Committee and I could not have lucked out any better than to have a vice chair with his kind of integrity, great ideas, his commitment to improving everything about the justice system for people here in Washington State, as well as caring for children and immigrant families. He's just, he's so assured and so knowledgeable about this place and how his values will be spoken of and respected for years to come because of the kind of person that he is and I'm just honored to know him. Thank you Mr. President.”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Fortunato: “I have a question. I would like to know how you get WIN out of N-G-U-Y-E-N? I mean, really. It should be Senator ‘Naguyen.’ So I mean, that is just my question. So, maybe the senator would like to address that issue.”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Keiser: “My point is that Senator Nguyen is a disrupter. You know what he has done? He has put a table outside of his office. He's moving, he's encroaching into the ante-, the hallway, and he's put a table there. He put fresh flowers on that table. He has an electronic sign in machine, right there. And then you go in that office and he has a picnic table. Please. What kind of senator will he be?”

REMARKS BY THE PRESIDENT

President Habib: “Senator Keiser, I believe the warning about placing flowers on desks is a very important one in this body for any new senator to receive.”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Schoesler: “Mr President I'm going to work really hard to learn to spell and pronounce member new guy's name. And hopefully by the end of this session he will be able to pronounce and spell my name.”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Saldaña: “Well, for me having Senator Nguyen joining this prestigious place as the state senator of my most precious people in my life, my parents, my brothers and where my children play and go into my every day, in the 34th Legislative District. I could not ask for a better representative and state senator for my, my family, so I just want to thank you already for the work that, I thank the new senator for the representation he's already done. We share an alma mater, both for high school and college and, and so he's a little bit younger, but it has been really great to have someone that was raised and knows my community so well and is committed to really making sure that everyone is represented and that, and he takes the time to understand the different stories that, and that, and the different heritages that he has the privilege to represent. And I know that that is the intent of everyone in this floor and I hope that we will make note of that as we move forward.”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Wellman: “Well, I just find it very interesting that Senator Nguyen has brought forth a bill about juvenile diversion because as someone of my age I find someone of his juvenile status very diverting. You, we have heard about his office and I certainly, actually think that everyone should go over and experience, you know, kind of this new way of doing business, which is very progressive. But, I also find it very unusual that the new senator has risen at his desk to speak. He's standing still and speaking at his desk. For those of you who have been on social media, this man is walking and talking constantly. One video after another. I think that we don't have any worry or fear for not being represented in the media this man is on the media every single day multiple times and so I think he will be a great addition to this body. Thank you.”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Braun: “Thank you Mr. President. So, I just want to say that I believe Senator Nguyen is finally comfortable here. For the first time, I think this is week six of the session, he didn't greet me as Senator Braun. He actually greeted me by my first name, which is very pleasing and means that he's comfortable. He started to do good work here and I'm very happy to have him. Thank you Mr. President.”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Nguyen: “Thank you Mr. President. First, I just want to say thank you to everybody so much for the hospitality and grace that you've shown me in the past few, to members of the body, for the past few months of hospitality and grace. You know, as a poor kid from South Seattle, that's actually kind of intense to get used to all the marble in this building. I've never seen a bathroom lined with marble walls before, so that's kind of an interesting dynamic for me. In commemoration of my first floor speech, I offer a humble gift. It is a black and white depiction of hope over peonies. Created by a White Center artist named Stephanie Mi. Symbolically, for folks who don't know, peonies represents not just hope, but honor and compassion as well. All traits I know each of us try to model in our representing of the people in Washington state. More importantly, peonies represents a tradition offering, a traditional offering of longevity in marriages and I want to take a moment to thank my wife. She's not actually here. We have two young kids, breaking nap time is not a good idea. But, she's watching on TVW. I just want to say thank you for her love and support through all of this. In fact peonies, there's a lesser known fact about them as well, they remedy headaches. In case you ever need it. I'd recommend taking a dose about twenty minutes before Transportation Committee. And speaking, and speaking of Transportation Committee you'll notice that my second gift is actually, you'll be receiving a, now, it's a pint of Lucille I.P.A. from Georgetown Brewing Company. And, although the brewing company itself is not in my district, the owners are and that's close enough for me. And there's no symbolism of the beer. It is just good beer and I wanted to share. So you're welcome. You're welcome. But, in all seriousness, I really wanted to talk about where I came from and kind of our shared moment now. Yesterday I was fortunate enough to have lunch with a few of the pages downstairs from my district and we were talking about the state of politics in 2019 and I was so impressed by their story of optimism and hope and how they were going to make a big difference here. In fact, one of them became a page after experiencing the political process this past year at a candidates form and she mentioned that she loved the engagement from her community and was so inspired. But there was actually one point that kind of stuck out with me in fact that there was a bit of hostility in some and some of the questions that came from the audience which is unfortunate. And I don't think it's much of a surprise that skepticism in government seems to be at all time high but honestly this is not new, especially in the communities where I was raised. So I'm from Whitecenter and in White Center we've always felt ignored. It's a community where, despite its richness in people and culture and, of course, the food, we have a good Salvadoran bakery there, we've been historically left out of the conversation. We've been the subject of decision making and rather than being the decision makers ourselves. And that's a feeling that more and more Washingtonians have with every passing year that they don't have a voice and even when they stand up and shout oftentimes nobody is listening. And so often, the shouting has gotten louder and the reason why I'm here is that I believe that there is hope. And I actually saw it this past summer going door to door in my hometown and seeing the excitement on people's faces as I knocked on their door. And it wasn't because I was at their door. It was because someone like me, that looked like them was showing up at their door. I happen to be the first Vietnamese senator, of Vietnamese decent, in this body and it matters. That is because when we work with our constituents in this age of cynicism, I believe that we should join each other's hands and lead with conviction and really admit to our fellow Washingtonians that sometimes things are broken but that we can actually fix this together. Before being elected, I've actually visit the capitol a few times and I've always felt a sense of awe knowing that I stood in the presence of tremendous history. And as you know, to get to the wings and onto the floor you need to be escorted on, then to be a guest of this space. Obviously, now, things are very different. When I first walked onto the floor for the first time as a senator a few months ago I remember looking around and waiting for somebody to stop me because usually you have staff watching. And after realizing that nobody's going to stop me, I took about five steps and I was hit by a wave of emotion. And it finally occurred to me what it meant for someone like me, for someone from White Center, to be here. We are no longer just guests in a space where I once felt unworthy of occupying. I will always remember this time and I will never forget the sacrifices made by so many before me that allowed me to be here. So, thank you Mr. President for the time and members of the Senate for this opportunity.”

The President congratulated Senator Nguyen and asked the Senate to join him in welcoming the new senator.

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Liias: "I wonder if Senator Padden would yield to a question?"

President Habib: "He will. Please continue."

Senator Liias: "Thank you Mr. President. I know from the history books that in 1976, one of Washington’s electors did not vote for the candidate who won the state's majority vote, and I wonder if Senator Padden remembers who that was and if he has any insights into that elector’s motivations?"

Senator Padden: "Thank you Senator Liias. It might have been before you were born, I don’t know. But, yes, and I get to tell the story every four years. I really think this can be solved, as a private matter among the parties. I think the problem, if indeed there was one, and 2016 was who the electors were that were selected. I mean, and just for the record, in my case there never was any pledge. There never was a requirement. I wasn’t asked to do that and I went through a process. I think like the founding fathers envisioned for the electoral college on making a decision. I mean if you really pass this bill what you are saying is that we don’t need the electoral college and that might well be the position of people, and just have the electoral votes automatically cast for whoever carries the state. But, this could be solved by a better vetting of who the electors are, that are going to be selected by whichever party. Unfortunately, recently it has been, always been your party that has carried the state and so you would have to do a better job, I think, of doing that."

Senator Hasegawa spoke against passage of the bill.

SECOND READING

SENATE BILL NO. 5330, by Senators Braun, Van De Wege, Takko, Short, Becker, Rivers, Wagoner and Warnick

Analyzing state regulatory impact on small forest landowners.

MOTION

On motion of Senator Braun, Substitute Senate Bill No. 5330 was substituted for Senate Bill No. 5330 and the substitute bill was placed on the second reading and read the second time.

MOTION

Senator Braun moved that the following striking amendment no. 050 by Senators Braun and Van De Wege be adopted:

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

“NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. (1) Small forestland owners own and manage approximately three million two hundred thousand acres of Washington's forestlands and exert a tremendous influence on public resources, including fish bearing streams, water quality, air, wildlife habitat, and carbon sequestration.

(2) Adoption of the forests and fish report was made possible, in part, by the agreement of small forestland owners who supported the intent of the law despite significant economic impacts to some members of the small forestland owner community. Twenty years after the adoption of the forests and fish report, it is time to evaluate how the increased regulations have impacted small forestland owners and their land.

(3) When the forests and fish report was adopted, the legislature enacted RCW 76.13.100 as follows:

“(1) The legislature finds that increasing regulatory requirements continue to diminish the economic viability of small forest landowners. The concerns set forth in RCW 77.85.180 about the importance of sustaining forestry as a viable land use are particularly applicable to small landowners because of the location of their holdings, the expected complexity of the regulatory requirements, and the need for significant technical expertise not readily available to small landowners. The further reduction in harvestable timber owned by small forest landowners as a result of the rules to be adopted under RCW 76.09.055 will further erode small landowners' economic viability and willingness or ability to keep the lands in forestry use and, therefore, reduce the amount of habitat available for salmon recovery and conservation of other aquatic resources, as defined in RCW 76.09.020.

(2) The legislature finds that the concerns identified in subsection (1) of this section should be addressed by establishing within the department of natural resources a small forest landowner office that shall be a resource and focal point for small forest landowner concerns and policies. The legislature further finds that a forestry riparian easement program shall be established to acquire easements from small landowners along riparian and other areas of value to the state for protection of aquatic resources. The legislature further finds that small forest landowners should have the option of alternate management plans or alternate harvest restrictions on smaller harvest units that may have a relatively low impact on aquatic resources. The small forest landowner office should be responsible for assisting small landowners in the development and implementation of these plans or restrictions.”

(4) The twentieth anniversary of the adoption of the forests and fish report into law presents an optimal time to review how the state's regulatory actions, intended to benefit both landowners and habitat, have affected small forestland owners. How have programs intended to make up for the disproportionate economic impact been implemented? What can the legislature do to keep small forestland owners on the landscape, so their land will be available for salmon habitat and water quality rather than converted?

(5)(a) The school of environmental and forest sciences within the college of the environment at the University of Washington must complete a trends analysis.

(b) The trends analysis must address, at a minimum, the following questions:

(i) Have the number of small forestland owners increased or decreased?

(ii)(A) Has the acreage held by small forestland owners increased or decreased?

(B) Of the land no longer owned by small forestland owners, what percentage was converted to nonforest use, became industrial forestland, trust land, or some other use?
The school of environmental and forest sciences at the University of Washington, using the data from the trends analysis and other pertinent information, must:

(A) Determine which factors contributed to small forestland owners selling their land;

(B) Recommend actions the legislature can take to help keep forestland working; and

(C) Assess the effectiveness and implementation of the programs created in RCW 76.13.100(2) which described three programs to assist small forestland owners and mitigate the disproportionate economic impact. The assessment must include:

(I) Evaluating the effectiveness of the small forest landowner office: Does it have adequate resources and authority to successfully address landowner concerns? Has it received adequate funding to implement fully the duties as assigned through RCW 76.13.110?

(II) Forest riparian easement program: Does the structure of the program adequately address economic impact to small forestland owners? Has funding kept up with need? Has the lack of funding resulted in the loss of riparian habitat?

(III) Have meaningful alternate management plans or alternate harvest restrictions been developed for smaller harvest units?

(IV) Has the family forest fish passage program addressed economic impact to landowners and fish passage barriers adequately?

(ii) Would meaningful alternate harvest restrictions reduce the financial burden on the forest riparian easement program?

(iii) How can the legislature incentivize small forestland owners to maintain their land as forestland?

(iv) Could a program be developed to facilitate small forestland owner's participation in carbon markets?

(6) The University of Washington may reach out to a broad variety of stakeholders for input.

(7) The policy analysis must use the trends analysis, the regulatory impact analysis, and other data to provide recommendations on ways the forest practices board and the legislature can provide more effective incentives to encourage continued management of nonindustrial forests for forestry uses, including traditional timber harvest uses, open space uses, or as part of developing carbon market schemes.

(8) The University of Washington must report the results of the trends analysis and policy analysis to the appropriate committees of the legislature and the forest practices board by November 1, 2020, with recommendations to improve mitigation measures for small forestland owners and improve retention of working forestland held by small forestland owners.

(9) This section expires December 31, 2020.”

On page 1, line 2 of the title, after “owners;” strike the remainder of the title and insert “creating a new section; and providing an expiration date.”

The President Pro Tempore declared the question before the Senate to be the final passage of Engrossed Substitute Senate Bill No. 5330.

ENGROSSED SUBSTITUTE SENATE BILL NO. 5330, having received the constitutional majority, was declared passed. There being no objection, the title of the bill was ordered to stand as the title of the act.

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Lovelett: “Thank you. So, as you all know I came late in the game and in a hot rush. I would say I’m probably the unexpected senator to arrive but, I have been serving my community in my area for years. I started out as a record store owner with a business called The Business in Anacortes that’s been around for forty one years. And in that role, I met people in the community. I heard about their needs. It seems like an unlikely place to have people come as a clearinghouse for information but it was. My first step into service was in the humble beginnings of being my P.T.A. president when my daughter first entered kindergarten. So, my kids have been raised in this lifetime of service. They will never remember a time before their mom was a public servant and when I finally decided to run for the city council in Anacortes we flipped our board. I ran against a two-term incumbent, our mayor ran against a twenty-year incumbent, and we flipped it and ushered in a new era of leadership in Anacortes and I’m very proud of that.

I’m from a scrappy little fishing town that my family has lived in since the late eighteen hundreds and over my lifetime I’ve managed to travel to every corner of the 40th District. From the rich arts and intellect of the people of Bellingham, to the gorgeous tulip fields and hardworking people of Western Skagit County and to the majesty of the San Juan Islands. Where I’m sure a lot of you have traveled and visited and appreciated the beauty there. One of my favorite things about the 40th is the culture and the esthetic we have around do it yourself culture and ideals. You know, we the we in the 40th, we work from home and create unique employment opportunities for ourselves or crafters, we’re boot-strappers or D.I.Y.ers and we know that resources are finite and so many of us choose to live off the land and live on less so that others can have more. So my gift for you today is a testament to all of these places and the ideals that we have in the 40th. When you get them I ask you take a look at the art on the envelopes. My daughters were very keen on making sure that there were personalized decorations on every one, so make sure you take a look at not only yours but your neighbors.

They’re nine and eleven. Yma and Mirabel, and they’re very proud. And as I said, you know a life of service in their family is all they’ve ever known. And we’re taking forward those values our community but as we all know our families and loved ones have to make sacrifices for us to stand here on the floor every day that we’re here and I just want to take a moment to honor our families, our spouses, our loved ones, our children for the sacrifices that they make for us to serve. So, in the envelope is a heart stone. It’s handmade by this Guemes Island artist named Julie deRouche and they are up-cycled using broken glass and porcelain. Things that most of us would take as being broken information you just covered in that speech. Holy moly. I, it aboard. We're glad to have you and thank you very much Mr. good lady for her first bill. So, I apologize for that, but welcome something beautiful and lasting. Thank you.”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Walsh: “Thank you Mr. President for your indulgence. I am, I feel terribly remiss that we didn’t haze the good lady for her first bill. So, I apologize for that, but welcome aboard. We’re glad to have you and thank you very much Mr. Speaker, or, Mr. President.”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Becker: “I can’t help but think of you and how much information you just covered in that speech. Holy moly. I, it reminded me of Senator Fain sitting here, who could talk faster than anybody I’ve ever seen, along with Lieutenant Governor and how they would go so quickly you almost have to pay so much attention to try to hear everything they were talking about. I hope that you continue that so that we don’t sit here for hours as people talk of odd things on the floor. Thank you very much.”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Roloff: “I wanted to turn and give a warm welcome to Senator Lovelett. On behalf of myself, I’m delighted to have you here. Your district has long had a reputation for sending senators to Olympia who are dynamic and energetic and engaged. And, I have all enjoyed working with you already and I admire you the strength that you have brought with you and the grace with which you have taken on this job. So quickly, and so suddenly and unexpectedly for you and your daughters. And I’m very moved by your commitment and your ability to just fit right in, I think impresses most of us. So, welcome to the Senate and I really look forward to working with you.”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Bailey: “I do want to thank you for being willing to serve. The 10th and the 40th have a great relationship and I’m really looking forward to you and having an opportunity to work together on many things that will help our part of the state. So, thank you for being here tell your girls that we also appreciate very much them letting their mom come here. Thank you”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Hobbs: “Seriously? We’re not going to burn Senator Lovelett? I mean, that’s the whole point of these things. I don’t get it. We just, I mean, I had the record of the worst gift, but geez. She gives you a rock and a picture of more rocks and you give her a round of applause? I don’t get it. I could take a picture some gravel and just digitally send it to all of you if that’s what it takes around here. I don’t understand. She just passed a bill that really doesn’t do …. it’s a technical bill, but I guess that’s the tradition of all of our freshman. You know, just technical bills. And the greatest legislative accomplishment that she’s got, or is going to happen, is a San Juan license place. Which I reluctantly pushed out because leadership told me I got to ‘take care of the freshman’. So, you know, I did that. I don’t get around applause for that? And of course, you know I, and by the way I did in a bipartisan manner sent out a Sasquatch plate for Senator Rivers because that’s what she wanted. And hopefully she will bother me year after year after year after. But I just want to welcome the new senator to this chamber. It’s a delight to have you on my committee. It’s another way for Senator Billig to control me and to try to get bills out of there. But I’m going to just kill things I don’t like anyway. But again, welcome, I’m glad you’re on the committee. We do need a person that takes a perspective of the ferries and you definitely do that, so thank you very much.”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Hawkins: “Thank you Mr. President. Yeah, that’s a tough act to follow, I’ll tell you. And I’m not one to throw rocks as you know, these are pretty though so I’ll hold on to these. I would just like to thank the kind lady’s comments, you know, too, she has you know two daughters age nine eleven. I have two boys the same age, nine eleven. Her two daughters, from what I learned today, and what they’re accustomed to is knowing their mother as a public servant and that’s the same situation for me and my two boys. And I think just some of the things I learned from her floor speech today just help illustrate that we do have more in common than our differences so, look forward to serving with you thank you.”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Sheldon: “Thank you Mr. President. I happen to agree with Senator Walsh and Senator Hobbs, it’s really tradition here to say a little something about our new member and we have so many new members I thought I might just take this opportunity Mr. President, to tell you a little story, if I might, from my personal experience. I got a call from Senator Lovelett here the other day and she said she wanted to meet me in my office. And I thought, well that was great so, and she said she’d like to bring some of the other members. She mentioned Senator Wilson over here Senator Claire Wilson, Senator Randall, Senator Salomon, Senator Nguyen and Senator Das. They’d all like to visit with me. Well, I thought that’s important so I went home and you know, thought about a little bit I found an old Mao jacket I had in the closet. I got that on and I scraped some stickers off my wife’s car to bring in and put around the office. I had I had one of the feel the Bern, I had Pro-Choice America on there, Protect our children not our guns I did that for Senator Pedersen, he gave me that. And also, I put a little incense in my room, I had that burning. I felt, I felt pretty good. I think I was ready, I put some Bob Dylan on. I put ‘the times they are they are a changin’ and I had it I had my subscription to Mother Jones that I was reading that when they all five, six I think, six came in. I was excited and they said ‘Well, Senator Sheldon’, I said ‘Just call me Tim, sit down and call me Tim’. ‘You’re the longest serving Democratic senator and we just came over to get some advice you know we’ve been in caucus for you know about six weeks now’ and I said ‘It’s is the food, isn’t it?’ and they said ‘Yes, it’s the food. The arugula’, I don’t even know if I can pronounce it right. ‘The kale. It’s getting tough you know we know you served in there a long time what did you do?’ Well, you know there’s a lot of things you can do. You do have six members so do you have a name for your caucus yet? And they said no. I said ‘Well you might suggest S.D.R.C. And that would stand for Senate Democratic Rookie Caucus. Excellent name for yourselves. You need a name if you’re going to make an impact.’ So, they sat down for a little bit and they sat on the floor. We all kind of got together, got another, turned up another Bob Dylan song and we started talking about other things and they said well you know I said ‘You know the food was tough but the aroma therapy really was tough on me.’ I’m still kind of coughing and Senator Lovelett kept grabbing at her nose like that and I explained a little bit about the ninth order of business and then I kind of blacked out. I don’t remember what to talk. And I explained a little bit about the ninth order of business, the eighth order of business. And then they said, I think that was interesting. So, and then Senator Salomon said ‘I’m not on the committee,’ he says ‘I really don’t know, I’m on six committees.’ I think something like that so, he said that he had he had passed by Senator Billig’s office. Hadn’t been in it yet, and I said well that’s pretty nice. You know if you go in there it has its own bathroom, it and that’s where the Lieutenant Governor used to be. And they said well, Lieutenant Governor, he’s got a whole floor now doesn’t he? He just doesn’t have an office? And I said, ‘Yeah that’s correct, that’s correct,. So they talked a little bit about some of the members and then they said Senator Billig, he has that nice a red Ford Focus doesn’t he? I said ‘Yeah I’ve seen the car.’ We see him. He drives down underneath the Capitol steps. We don’t know where, where does he go down there? And I said well that’s where he gets all the pens from the Governor. He’s passed so many bills, he has the time that he goes down and the Governor comes in and hands out pills. I mean pens, not pills. Excuse me. So, then the last thing they want to know, that that nice Senator Liias, that stands up. He makes these motions. We go to like the first, second or third order of business, the fifth order of business, the eighth order of business. And then they said, I think it was Senator Lovelett that said, ‘Senator, why don’t we ever go to the ninth order of business?’ I said ‘Well, now you’re talking’ so that’s when we really started to hold hands and started to talk. And I explained a little bit about the ninth order of business and then I kind of blacked out. I don’t remember what happened after that. So, that’s my personal experience with all six new members. Thank you Mr. President.”

“NEW SECTION. Sec. 17. This section is the tax preference performance statement for the tax preference contained in sections 18 and 19, chapter . . ., Laws of 2019 (sections 18 and 19 of this act). This performance statement is only intended to be used for subsequent evaluation of the tax preference. It is not intended to create a private right of action by any party or be used to determine eligibility for preferential tax treatment.

(1) The legislature categorizes this tax preference as one intended to induce certain designated behavior by taxpayers, as indicated in RCW 82.32.808(2)(a).

(2) It is the legislature’s specific public policy objective to reduce the amount of carbon dioxide emissions in Washington. It is the legislature’s intent to extend the expiration date of the existing sales and use tax exemption for machinery and equipment used directly in generating certain types of alternative energy, in order to reduce the price charged to customers for that machinery and equipment, thereby inducing some customers to buy machinery and equipment for alternative energy when they might not otherwise, thereby displacing electricity from fossil-fueld generating resources, thereby reducing the amount of carbon dioxide emissions in Washington.

(3) The joint legislative audit and review committee is not required to perform a tax preference review under chapter 43.136 RCW for the tax preferences contained in sections 18 and 19, chapter . . . . Laws of 2019 (sections 18 and 19 of this act) and it is the intent of the legislature to allow the tax preferences to expire upon their scheduled expiration dates.

Sec. 18. RCW 82.08.962 and 2018 c 164 s 5 are each amended to read as follows:

(1)(a) (Except as provided in RCW 82.08.963.) Purchasers who have paid the tax imposed by RCW 82.08.020 on machinery and equipment used directly in generating electricity using fuel cells, wind, sun, biomass energy, tidal or wave energy, geothermal resources, or technology that converts otherwise lost energy from exhaust, as the principal source of power, or to sales of or charges made for labor and services rendered in respect to installing such machinery and equipment, are eligible for an exemption as provided in this section, but only if the purchaser develops with such machinery, equipment, and labor a facility capable of generating not less than one thousand watts of electricity.

(b) Beginning on July 1, 2011, through January 1, 2020, the amount of the exemption under this subsection (1) is equal to seventy-five percent of the state and local sales tax paid. The purchaser is eligible for an exemption under this subsection (1)(b) in the form of a remittance.

(c)(i) "Machinery and equipment" means fixtures, devices, and support facilities that are integral and necessary to the generation of electricity using fuel cells, wind, sun, biomass energy, tidal or wave energy, geothermal resources, or technology that converts otherwise lost energy from exhaust.

(ii) “Machinery and equipment” does not include: (A) Hand-powered tools; (B) property with a useful life of less than one year; (C) repair parts required to restore machinery and equipment to normal working order; (D) replacement parts that do not increase productivity, improve efficiency, or extend the useful life of machinery and equipment; (E) buildings; or (F) building fixtures that are not integral and necessary to the generation of electricity that are permanently affixed to and become a physical part of a building.

(3)(a) Machinery and equipment is “used directly” in generating electricity by wind energy, solar energy, biomass energy, tidal or wave energy, geothermal resources, or technology that converts otherwise lost energy from exhaust if it provides any part of the process that captures the energy of the wind, sun, biomass energy, tidal or wave energy, geothermal resources, or technology that converts otherwise lost energy from exhaust, converts that energy to electricity, and stores, transforms, or transmits that electricity for entry into or operation in parallel with electric transmission and distribution systems.

(b) Machinery and equipment is “used directly” in generating electricity by fuel cells if it provides any part of the process that captures the energy of the fuel, converts that energy to electricity, and stores, transforms, or transmits that electricity for entry into or operation in parallel with electric transmission and distribution systems.

(4)(a) A purchaser claiming an exemption in the form of a remittance under subsection (1)(b) of this section must pay the tax imposed by RCW 82.08.020 and all applicable local sales taxes imposed under the authority of chapters 82.14 and 81.104 RCW. (6) This section expires January 1, 2020.

Sec. 19. RCW 82.12.962 and 2018 c 164 s 7 are each amended to read as follows:

The legislature finds it necessary to develop a systemwide credit policy that allows those students to easily understand in advance whether institutions of higher education will award them credit, as well as which type of credit students will receive and the rationale for the institution of higher education's determination.

The legislature further encourages institutions of higher education to establish a policy favoring the award of course equivalent credit for the successful completion of standardized and commonly required courses.

(18) “Investor-owned utility” means a company owned by investors that meets the definition of “corporation” in RCW 80.04.010 and is engaged in distributing electricity to more than one retail electric customer in the state.

(19) “Retail electric customer” includes an individual, organization, group, association, partnership, corporation, agency, unit of state government, or entity that is connected to the electric utility's distribution system and purchases electricity for ultimate consumption and not for resale.

Sec. 2. RCW 80.60.020 and 2007 c 323 s 2 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) An electric utility:
(a) Shall offer to make net metering, pursuant to RCW 80.60.030, available to eligible customers-generators on a first-come, first-served basis until the (cumulative generating capacity of net metering systems equals 0.25 percent of the utility's peak demand during 1996. On January 1, 2014, the cumulative generating capacity available to net metering systems will equal 0.5 percent of the utility's peak demand during 1996) earlier of either: (i) June 30, 2029; or (ii) until the cumulative generating capacity available to net metering systems pursuant to RCW 80.60.030 equals four percent of the utility's peak demand during 1996. Not less than one-half of the utility's 1996 peak demand available for net metering systems shall be reserved for the cumulative generating capacity attributable to net metering systems that generate renewable energy;

(b) Shall allow net metering systems to be interconnected using a standard kilowatt-hour meter capable of registering the flow of electricity in two directions, unless the commission, in the case of an electrical company, or the appropriate governing body, in the case of other electric utilities, determines, after appropriate notice and opportunity for comment:

(i) That the use of additional metering equipment to monitor the flow of electricity in each direction is necessary and appropriate for the interconnection of net metering systems, after taking into account the benefits and costs of purchasing and installing additional metering equipment; and

(ii) How the cost of purchasing and installing an additional meter is to be allocated between the customer-generator and the utility;

(c) Shall charge the customer-generator a minimum monthly fee that is the same as other customers of the electric utility in the same rate class, but shall not charge the customer-generator any additional standby, capacity, interconnection, or other fee or charge unless the commission, in the case of an electrical company, or the appropriate governing body, in the case of other electric utilities, determines, after appropriate notice and opportunity for comment:

(i) The electric utility will incur direct costs associated with interconnecting or administering net metering systems that exceed any offsetting benefits associated with these systems; and

(ii) Public policy is best served by imposing these costs on the customer-generator rather than allocating these costs among the utility's entire customer base.

(2) If a production meter and software is required by the electric utility to provide meter aggregation under RCW 80.60.030, the customer-generator is responsible for the purchase of the production meter and software.

(3)(a)(i) An electric utility must provide net metering pursuant to RCW 80.60.030 to eligible customer-generators until the earlier of either: (A) June 30, 2029; or (B) until the cumulative generating capacity available to net metering systems pursuant to RCW 80.60.030 equals four percent of the utility's peak demand during 1996.

(ii) A consumer-owned utility may develop a standard rate or tariff schedule that deviates from RCW 80.60.030 for eligible customer-generators to take effect upon reaching four percent of the cumulative generating capacity available to net metering systems pursuant to subsection (1)(a) of this section or after June 30, 2029, whichever is earlier.

(iii) An investor-owned utility may submit a filing with the commission to develop a standard tariff schedule that deviates from RCW 80.60.030 for eligible customer-generators. The commission must approve, reject, or approve with conditions an alternative net metering tariff schedule within one year of an investor-owned utility filing. If the commission approves the filing with conditions, the investor-owned utility may choose to accept the tariff schedule with conditions or file a new tariff schedule with the commission.

(b) An approved alternative standard rate or tariff schedule applies to any customer-generator subject to an interconnection agreement entered into: (i) After June 30, 2029, or (ii) the first date upon which the cumulative generating capacity available to net metering systems pursuant to RCW 80.60.030 equals four percent of the utility's peak demand during 1996, whichever is earlier, unless the commission or governing body determines that a customer-generator is eligible for net metering under a rate or tariff schedule pursuant to RCW 80.60.030.

(c)(i) A consumer-owned utility must notify the Washington State University extension energy program sixty days in advance of when a standard rate for an eligible customer-generator is first placed on the agenda of the governing body.

(ii) Each electric utility must give notice by July 31, 2020, and semiannually thereafter, to the Washington State University extension energy program of the current status of meeting the cumulative generating capacity available to net metering systems pursuant to subsection (1)(a) of this section.

(iii) The Washington State University extension energy program must make available on its web site a list of the following:

(A) Each electric utility's progress on reaching the cumulative generating capacity available to net metering systems pursuant to subsection (1)(a) of this section;

(B) Electric utilities that have provided notice of an alternative rate or tariff schedule under this subsection; and

(C) Electric utilities that have adopted an alternative standard rate or tariff schedule under this subsection.

(d) If the commission does not approve an investor-owned utility's alternative tariff schedule under (a)(iii) of this subsection, the commission may determine the alternative cumulative generating capacity available to net metering systems pursuant to RCW 80.60.030.

(4)(a) An electric utility must continue to credit a customer-generator pursuant to RCW 80.60.030 if:

(i) The customer-generator takes service under net metering prior to the earlier of: (A) June 30, 2029; or (B) the cumulative generating capacity available to net metering systems pursuant to RCW 80.60.030 reaches four percent of the utility's peak demand in 1996; and

(ii) The customer-generator's existing interconnection agreement for the net metering system remains valid.

(b) The commission, in the case of investor-owned utilities, and a governing body, in the case of consumer-owned utilities, must determine as part of an alternative standard rate or tariff schedule under this subsection when customer-generators become ineligible for credit pursuant to RCW 80.60.030.

(c) Upon adoption of a standard rate or tariff schedule by the commission or governing body pursuant to subsection (3)(a) of this section, the electric utility is exempt from requirements under subsection (1)(c) of this section and RCW 80.60.030 for new interconnection agreements.

Sec. 3. RCW 80.60.030 and 2007 c 323 s 3 are each amended to read as follows:

Consistent with the other provisions of this chapter, the net energy measurement, billed kilowatt-hour consumption charges, and kilowatt-hour credit for excess generation by a net metered system, must be calculated in the following manner:

(1) The electric utility shall measure the net electricity produced or consumed during the billing period, in accordance with normal metering practices.

(2) If the electricity supplied by the electric utility exceeds the electricity generated by the customer-generator's net metering system and fed back to the electric utility during the billing period, the customer-generator shall be billed for the net electricity supplied by the electric utility, in accordance with normal metering practices.

(3) If excess electricity generated by the customer-generator net metering system during a billing period exceeds the electricity supplied by the electric utility during the same billing period, the customer-generator:

(a) Shall be billed for the appropriate customer charges for that billing period, in accordance with RCW 80.60.020; and

(b) Shall be credited for the excess kilowatt-hours generated during the billing period, with this kilowatt-hour credit appearing on the bill for the following billing period.

(4) If a customer-generator requests, an electric utility shall provide such a customer-generator meter aggregation.

(a) For a customer-generator((s)) participating in meter aggregation, kilowatt-hours credits earned by ((the)) the customer-generator's net metering system during the billing period first shall be used to offset electricity supplied by the electric utility at the location of the customer-generator's designated meter.

(b) Not more than a total of one hundred kilowatts shall be aggregated among all customer-generators participating in a generating facility under this subsection.

(c) A customer-generator may aggregate a designated meter with one additional aggregated meter located on the same parcel as the designated meter or a parcel that is contiguous with the parcel where the designated meter is located.

(d) A retail electric customer who is a customer-generator and receives retail electric service from an electric utility at an aggregated meter must be the same retail electric customer that is located on the premises where such a customer-generator's net metering system is located.

(e) Excess kilowatt-hours credits earned by the net metering system at the site of a designated meter during a billing period shall be credited ((equally)) by the electric utility ((to remaining meters located on all premises of a customer-generator)) for kilowatt-hour charges due at the aggregated meter at the applicable rate of each the aggregated meter.

(f) If credits generated in any billing period exceed total consumption for that billing period at both meters that are part of an aggregated arrangement, credits are retained pursuant to subsections (3) and (5) of this section.

(g) Credits carried over from one billing period to the next pursuant to (f) of this subsection must be applied in subsequent billing periods in the same manner described under (a) and (c) of this subsection.

(h) Meters so aggregated shall not change rate classes due to meter aggregation under this section.

(5) On ((April 30th)) March 31st of each calendar year, any remaining unused kilowatt-hour credit accumulated during the previous year shall be granted to the electric utility, without any compensation to the customer-generator.

(6) Nothing in this section prohibits a utility from allowing aggregation under terms different than the requirements of subsection (4) of this section if a customer-generator has an existing arrangement for meter aggregation in effect or a customer submits a written request for aggregation on or before July 1, 2019.

(7) Nothing in this section prohibits the owner of multifamily residential facility from installing a net metering system as defined in RCW 80.60.010 assigned to a single designated meter located on the premises of the multifamily residential facility where the tenants are not individually metered customers of the utility and distributing any benefits of the net metering to tenants of the facility where the net metering system is located. The utility must measure the net energy produced and provide credit to the single designated meter to which the net metering system is assigned in accordance with subsections (1) through (3) of this section or under the terms of a standard rate or tariff schedule established under RCW 80.60.020(3). The distribution of benefits to tenants of such a system, if any, is the responsibility of the owner of the net metering system and not the responsibility of the utility.

Sec. 4. RCW 80.60.040 and 2006 c 201 s 4 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) A net metering system used by a customer-generator shall include, at the customer-generator's own expense, all equipment necessary to meet applicable safety, power quality, and interconnection requirements established by the national electrical code, national electrical safety code, the institute of electrical and electronics engineers, and underwriters laboratories.

(2) The commission, in the case of an electrical company, or the appropriate governing body, in the case of other electric utilities, after appropriate notice and opportunity for comment, may adopt by regulation additional safety, power quality, and interconnection requirements for customer-generators, including limitations on the number of customer-generators and total capacity of net metering systems that may be interconnected to any distribution feeder line, circuit, or network that the commission or governing body determines are necessary to protect public safety and system reliability.

(3) An electric utility may not require a customer-generator whose net metering system meets the standards in subsections (1) and (2) of this section to comply with additional safety or performance standards, perform or pay for additional tests, or purchase additional liability insurance. However, an electric utility shall not be liable directly or indirectly for permitting or continuing to allow an attachment of a net metering system, or for the acts or omissions of the customer-generator that cause loss or injury, including death, to any third party.

(4) Except when required under the federal public utility regulatory policies act, an electric utility may not establish compensation arrangements or interconnection requirements, other than those permitted in this chapter, for a customer-generator that would have the effect of prohibiting or restricting the ability of a customer-generator to generate or store electricity for consumption on its premises.

Sec. 5. RCW 82.16.090 and 1988 c 228 s 1 are each amended to read as follows:

Any customer billing issued by a light or power business or gas distribution business that serves a total of more than twenty thousand customers and operates within the state shall include the following information:

(1) The rates and amounts of taxes paid directly by the customer upon products or services rendered by the light and power business or gas distribution business; ((and))

(2) The rate, origin and approximate amount of each tax levied upon the revenue of the light and power business or gas distribution business and added as a component of the amount charged to the customer. Taxes based upon revenue of the light and power business or gas distribution business to be listed on the customer billing need not include taxes levied by the federal

workforce mobility is important to economic growth and development. Further, the legislature finds that agreements limiting competition or hiring may be contracts of adhesion that may be unreasonable.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. The definitions in this section apply throughout this chapter unless the context clearly requires otherwise.

(1) “Earnings” means the compensation reflected on box one of the employee’s United States internal revenue service form W-2 that is paid to an employee over the prior year, or portion thereof for which the employee was employed, annualized and calculated as of the earlier of the date enforcement of the noncompetition covenant is sought or the date of separation from employment.
“Earnings” also means payments reported on internal revenue service form 1099-MISC for independent contractors.

(2) “Employee” and “employer” have the same meanings as in RCW 49.17.020.

(3) “Franchisor” and “franchisee” have the same meanings as in RCW 19.100.010.

(4) “Noncompetition covenant” includes every written or oral covenant, agreement, or contract by which an employee or independent contractor is prohibited or restrained from engaging in a lawful profession, trade, or business of any kind. A “noncompetition covenant” does not include: (a) A nonsolicitation agreement; (b) a confidentiality agreement; (c) a covenant prohibiting use or disclosure of trade secrets or inventions; (d) a covenant entered into by a person purchasing or selling the goodwill of a business or otherwise acquiring or disposing of an ownership interest; or (e) a covenant entered into business with the employer.

claimant in a proceeding to enforce a noncompetition covenant or the defendant in an action for declaratory relief.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. (1) A noncompetition covenant is void and unenforceable against an employee:

(a)(i) Unless the employer discloses the terms of the covenant in writing to the prospective employee no later than the time of the acceptance of the offer of employment and, if the agreement becomes enforceable only at a later date due to changes in the employee’s compensation, the employer specifically discloses that the agreement may be enforceable against the employee in the future; or

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4. (a) A noncompetition covenant is void and unenforceable against an employee:

(i) Unless the employer discloses the terms of the covenant in writing to the prospective employee no later than the time of becomes enforceable only at a later date due to changes in the employee’s compensation, the employer specifically discloses

that the agreement may be enforceable against the employee in

(2) A court or arbitrator must presume that any noncompetition covenant with a duration exceeding eighteen months after termination of employment is unreasonable and unenforceable. A party seeking enforcement may rebut the presumption by proving by clear and convincing evidence that a duration longer than eighteen months is necessary to protect the party’s business or goodwill.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4. (1) A noncompetition covenant is void and unenforceable against an independent contractor unless the independent contractor’s earnings from the party seeking enforcement exceed two hundred fifty thousand dollars per year. This dollar amount must be adjusted annually in accordance with section 5 of this act.

The adjusted dollar amount calculated under this section takes effect on the following January 1st.

(2) To the extent it deprives the employee or independent contractor of the protections or benefits of this chapter.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 7. (1) No franchisor may restrict, restrain, or prohibit in any way a franchisee from soliciting or hiring any employee of a franchisee of the same franchisor.

(2) No franchisor may restrict, restrain, or prohibit in any way a franchisee from soliciting or hiring any employee of the franchisor.

This section does not alter the obligations of an employee to an employer under existing law, including the common law duty of loyalty and laws preventing conflicts of interest and any corresponding policies addressing such obligations.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 9. (1) Upon a violation of this chapter, the attorney general, on behalf of a person or persons, may pursue any and all relief. A person aggrieved by a noncompetition covenant to which the person is a party may bring a cause of action to pursue any and all relief provided for in subsections (2) and (3) of this section.

(4) A cause of action may not be brought regarding a noncompetition covenant signed prior to the effective date of this section if the noncompetition covenant is not being enforced.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 10. (1)(a) Subject to (b) of this subsection, this chapter displaces conflicting tort, restitutionary, contract, and other laws of this state pertaining to liability for competition by employees or independent contractors with their employers or principals, as appropriate.

(b) This chapter does not amend or modify chapter 19.108 RCW.

(2) Except as otherwise provided in this chapter, this chapter does not revoke, modify, or impede the development of the common law.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 11. This chapter applies to all proceedings commenced on or after the effective date of this section, regardless of when the cause of action arose. To this extent, this chapter applies retroactively, but in all other respects it applies prospectively.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 12. This chapter is an exercise of the state’s police power and shall be construed liberally for the accomplishment of its purposes.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 13. This act takes effect January 1, 2020.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 14. If any provision of this act or its application to any person or circumstance is held invalid, the remainder of the act or the application of the provision to other persons or circumstances is not affected.

Reducing pollution from plastic bags by establishing minimum state standards for the use of bags at retail establishments.

MOTION

On motion of Senator Das, Substitute Senate Bill No. 5323 was substituted for Senate Bill No. 5323 and the substitute bill was placed on the second reading and read the second time.

MOTION

Senator Das moved that the following striking amendment no. 123 by Senators Das and Carlyle be adopted:

“NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. (1) State policy has long placed waste reduction as the highest priority in the collection, handling, and management of solid waste. Reducing plastic bag waste holds particular importance among state waste reduction efforts for a number of reasons:

(a) Single-use plastic carryout bags are made of nonrenewable resources and never biodegrade; instead, over time, they break down into tiny particles. Single-use plastic carryout bags, and the particles they break into, are carried into rivers, lakes, Puget Sound, and the world’s oceans, posing a threat to animal life and the food chain;

(b) Plastic bags are one of the most commonly found items that litter state roads, beaches, and other public spaces; and

(c) Even when plastic bags avoid the common fate of becoming litter, they are a drain on public resources and a burden on environment and resource conservation goals. For example, if plastic bags are disposed of in commingled recycling systems rather than as garbage or in retailer drop-off programs, they clog processing and sorting machinery, resulting in missorted materials and costly inefficiencies that are ultimately borne by utility ratepayers. Likewise, when green or brown-tinted plastic bags confuse consumers into attempting to dispose of them as compost, the resultant plastic contamination undercuts the ability to use the compost in gardens, farms, landscaping, and surface water and transportation projects.

(2) Alternatives to single-use plastic carryout bags are convenient, functional, widely available, and measure as superior... across most environmental performance metrics. Alternatives to single-use plastic carryout bags feature especially superior environmental performance with respect to litter and marine debris, since plastic bags do not biodegrade.

(3) As of 2019, many local governments in Washington have shown leadership in regulating the use of single-use plastic carryout bags. This local leadership has shown the value of establishing state standards that will streamline regulatory inconsistency and reduce burdens on covered retailers caused by a patchwork of inconsistent local requirements across the state.

(4) Therefore, in order to reduce waste, litter, and marine pollution, conserve resources, and protect fish and wildlife, it is the intent of the legislature to:

(a) Prohibit the use of single-use plastic carryout bags;

(b) Require a pass-through charge on recycled content paper carryout bags and reusable carryout bags made of film plastic, to encourage shoppers to bring their own reusable carryout bags;

(c) Require the use of recycled content bags; and

(d) Encourage the provision of reusable and recycled content paper carryout bags by retail establishments.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. The definitions in this section apply throughout this chapter unless the context clearly requires otherwise.

(1) “Carryout bag” means any bag that is provided by a retail establishment at home delivery, the check stand, cash register, point of sale, or other point of departure to a customer for use to transport or carry away purchases.

(2) “Compostable” means a product that is capable of being completely broken down in a timely manner, consistent with the standard specification as established in section 3(6) of this act, into a material safe and desirable as a soil amendment.

(3) “Compostable film bag” means a compostable bag that is designed and suitable only to be used once and disposed of or composted.

(4) “Department” means the department of ecology.

(5) “Pass-through charge” means a charge to be collected and retained by retailers from their customers when providing recycled content paper carryout bags and reusable carryout bags made of film plastic.

(6) “Recycled content paper carryout bag” means a paper carryout bag provided by a store to a customer at the point of sale that meets the requirements in section 3(6)(a) of this act.

(7) “Retail establishment” means any person, corporation, partnership, business, facility, vendor, organization, or individual that sells or provides food, merchandise, goods, or materials directly to a customer including home delivery, temporary stores, or vendors at farmers markets, street fairs, and festivals.

(8) “Reusable carryout bag” means a bag made of cloth or other durable material with handles that is specifically designed and manufactured for long-term multiple reuse and meets the requirements of section 3(6)(b) of this act.

(9) “Single-use plastic carryout bag” means any bag that is made from plastic that is designed and suitable only to be used once and disposed.

(10) “Standard specification” means the entire American society for testing and materials (ASTM) specification and associated test methods that must be met for:

(a) ASTM D6400 – standard specification labeling of plastics designed to be aerobically composted in municipal or industrial facilities, as it existed as of January 1, 2019; or

(b) ASTM D6868 – standard specification for labeling of end items that incorporate plastics and polymers as coatings or additives with paper and other substrates designed to be aerobically composted in municipal or industrial facilities, as it existed as of January 1, 2019.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. (1) Except as provided in this section and section 4 of this act, a retail establishment may not provide to a customer or a person at an event:

(a) A single-use plastic carryout bag; or

(b) A paper carryout bag or reusable carryout bag made of film plastic that does not meet recycled content requirements.

(2)(a) A retail establishment may provide a reusable carryout bag or a recycled content paper carryout bag of any size to a customer at the point of sale.

(b) A retail establishment must collect a pass-through charge of not less than ten cents for every recycled content paper carryout bag or reusable carryout bag made of film plastic it provides, except as provided in subsection (5) of this section and section 4 of this act. A retail establishment may make reusable carryout bags available to customers through sale.

(c) A retail establishment must keep all revenue from pass-through charges. The pass-through charge is a taxable retail sale. A retail establishment must show all pass-through charges on any receipts provided to customers.

(3) Carryout bags provided by a retail establishment do not include:

(a) Bags used by consumers inside stores to:

(i) Package bulk items, such as fruit, vegetables, nuts, grains, candy, greeting cards, or small hardware items such as nails, bolts, or screws;

(ii) Contain or wrap items where dampness or sanitation might be a problem including, but not limited to:

(A) Frozen foods;

(B) Meat;

(C) Fish;

(D) Flowers; and

(E) Potted plants;

(iii) Contain unwrapped prepared foods or bakery goods;

(iv) Contain prescription drugs; or

(v) Protect a purchased item from damaging or contaminating other purchased items when placed in a recycled content paper carryout bag or reusable carryout bag;

(b) Newspaper bags, door hanger bags, laundry/dry cleaning bags, or bags sold in packages containing multiple bags for uses such as food storage, garbage, or pet waste.

(4)(a) Any compostable film bag that a retail establishment provides to customers for products, including for products bagged in stores prior to checkout, must be tinted green or brown, and be labeled “compostable,” as required under subsection (6)(c)(i) of this section.

(b) A retail establishment may not use or provide polyethylene or other noncompostable plastic bags:

(i) That are tinted green or brown for bagging of customer products in stores, as carryout bags, or for home delivery;

(ii) To customers to bag products in stores, as a carryout bag, or for home delivery that is labeled with the term “biodegradable,” “compostable,” “degradable,” “decomposable,” “oxo-degradable,” or any similar terms, or in any way imply that the plastic bag will break down, fragment, biodegrade, or decompose in a landfill or other environment.

(5) Except as provided by local regulations in effect as of January 1, 2019, a retail establishment may provide a bag restricted under subsections (1) and (4) of this section from existing inventory until one year after the effective date of this section. The retail establishment, upon request by the department, must provide purchase invoices, distribution receipts, or other information documenting that the bag was acquired prior to the effective date of this section.
(6) For the purposes of this section:
(a) A recycled content paper carryout bag must:
(i) Contain a minimum of forty percent postconsumer recycled materials;
(ii) Be capable of composting, consistent with the timeline and specifications of ASTM D6868, as it existed as of January 1, 2019; and
(iii) Display the minimum percentage of postconsumer content in print on the exterior of the paper bag.
(b) A reusable carryout bag must:
(i) Have a minimum lifetime of one hundred twenty-five uses, which for purposes of this subsection means the capacity to carry a minimum of twenty-two pounds one hundred twenty-five times over a distance of at least one hundred seventy-five feet;
(ii) Be machine washable or made from a durable material that may be cleaned or disinfected; and
(iii) If made of film plastic:
(A) Be made from a minimum of forty percent postconsumer recycled material;
(B) Display the minimum percentage of postconsumer content in print on the exterior of the plastic bag;
(C) Have a minimum thickness of no less than three mils; and
(D) Display wording that the bag is reusable.
(c) A compostable film bag must:
(i) Be labeled as “compostable” consistent with green guides published by the United States federal trade commission (16 C.F.R. part 260, as published October 11, 2012) or similar formal guidance issued by the federal trade commission regarding misleading environmental claims; and
(ii) Meet the standard specification established in ASTM D6400, as it existed as of January 1, 2019.
(d) Except for the purposes of subsection (4) of this section, food banks and other food assistance programs are not retail establishments, but are encouraged to take actions to reduce the use of single-use plastic carryout bags.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4. It is a violation of section 3 of this act for any retail establishment to pay or otherwise reimburse a customer for any portion of the pass-through charge; provided that retail establishments may not collect a pass-through charge from anyone using a voucher or electronic benefits card issued under the women, infants, and children (WIC) or temporary assistance for needy families (TANF) support programs, or the federal supplemental nutrition assistance program (SNAP, also known as basic food), or the Washington state food assistance program (FAP).

NEW SECTION. Sec. 5. (1) The department may adopt rules as necessary for the purpose of implementing, administering, and enforcing this chapter.
(2) The enforcement of this chapter must be based primarily on complaints filed with the department. The department must establish a forum, which may include a complaint form on the department’s web site, a telephone hotline, or a public outreach strategy relying upon electronic social media to receive complaints that allege violations. The department must provide education and outreach activities to inform retail establishments, consumers, and other interested individuals about the requirements of this chapter.
(3) The department may work with retail establishments, retail associations, unions, and other organizations to create educational elements regarding the benefits of reusable bags. Educational elements may include signage at store locations, informational literature, and employee training.
(4) Retail establishments are encouraged to educate their staff to promote reusable bags as the best option for carry-out bags and to post signs encouraging customers to use reusable bags.
(5) A violation of this chapter is subject to a civil penalty of up to two hundred fifty dollars. Each calendar day of operation or activity in violation of this chapter comprises a new violation. Penalties issued under this section are appealable to the pollution control hearings board established in chapter 43.21B RCW.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 6. (1) Except as provided in subsection (2) of this section, a city, town, county, or municipal corporation may not implement a local carryout bag ordinance. Any carryout bag ordinance that was not in effect as of January 1, 2019, is preempted by this chapter, as of the effective date of this section.
(2)(a) A city, town, county, or municipal corporation may, by ordinance, increase the amount of the minimum pass-through charge established in section 3(2)(b) of this act.
(b) A city, town, county, or municipal corporation ordinance in effect as of January 1, 2019, is not preempted until January 1, 2020.

I thought it was a spirited debate and while I very much support the efforts of the sponsor – don’t go away yet sponsor, I couldn’t ultimately support the pricing but, just as a point of appreciation, I brought a gift for the sponsor. Some people don’t know it but we are very progressive in the 20th District. When it comes to reuse, repurpose, recycle we are it, is kind of the motto, in case you didn’t know that. Anyhow, this is a shopping bag that my wife built, sewed, maybe is the more appropriate term. It actually comes from a feedbag we use in the fall for our steers. And she has a pattern and she turns that into a nice shopping bag and I brought it as a gift for the sponsor. These are not for sale and this is not a solicitation. Thank you Madam President.”

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

“NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. The legislature finds that a postsecondary credential is essential to Washingtonians’ ability to attain jobs with good salaries and advancement opportunities, and that meeting the increasing demand for credentialed workers to fill jobs in Washington is essential to the future health of the state’s economy. The legislature finds that the amount of debt that individual Washingtonians incur in pursuit of postsecondary credentials represents a growing burden on individuals and on the state’s economy at large that negatively impacts individuals’ ability to obtain a postsecondary credential, as well as their ability to save for retirement, purchase a home, and start a family. The legislature finds that giving Washingtonians new tools to address this burden is necessary to help make higher education more accessible and affordable.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. The definitions in this section apply throughout this chapter unless the context clearly requires otherwise.

(7) “Income share agreement originator” means a person who for compensation or gain takes an income share agreement application or offers or negotiates the terms of an income share agreement or a person who purchases an existing income share agreement. An income share agreement originator does not include any individual who performs purely administrative or clerical tasks.

(8) “Individual” means any person who consults with or retains a licensee or person subject to this chapter in an effort to obtain, or who seeks information about entering into, an income share agreement regardless of whether that person actually enters into an agreement.
(9) “License” means a single license issued under the authority of this chapter with respect to a single place of business.
(10) “Licensee” means a person to whom one or more licenses agreement, based upon the remaining term of the payment period;

(5) Make the following disclosures regarding the income share agreement in clear and simple language:

As part of or in connection with an application for a license under this chapter, or periodically upon license renewal, the director is authorized to receive criminal history record information that includes nonconviction data as defined in RCW 10.97.030. The department may only disseminate nonconviction data obtained under this section to criminal justice agencies. This section does not apply to financial institutions regulated under data obtained under this section to criminal justice agencies. The bond must be conditioned that the obligor as licensee will faithfully conform to and abide by this chapter and all the rules adopted under this chapter. The bond must pay to the state and any person or persons having a cause of action against the obligor all moneys that may become due and owing to the state and those persons under and by virtue of this chapter. The cancellation is effective forty-five days after the notice is received by the director.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 10. (1) The director must issue a license to the applicant to originate income share agreements in accordance with this chapter at the location specified in the application if, after investigation, the director finds that:

(a) The applicant has paid all required fees;
(b) The applicant has submitted a complete application in compliance with section 9 of this act;

The license is not transferable or assignable.

The licensee must be responsible for payment of the annual assessment for the previous calendar year if the licensee had a license for any time during the preceding calendar year, regardless of whether they surrendered their license during the calendar year or whether their license was suspended or revoked. (f) Assess the licensee the cost of the services in (a) of this subsection.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 17. (1)(a) The licensee must keep and use in the business such books, accounts, records, papers, documents, files, and other information as will enable the director to determine whether the licensee is complying with this chapter and with the rules adopted by the director under this chapter.

(b) The director must have free access to such books, accounts, records, papers, documents, files, and other information wherever located.

(c) Every licensee must preserve the books, accounts, records, papers, documents, files, and other information relevant to an income share agreement for at least three years after the last payment is made pursuant to such agreement.

The report must be made under oath and must be in the form prescribed by the director, who must make and publish annually an analysis and recapitulation of the reports. Every licensee that fails to file a report that is required to be filed by this chapter within the time required under this chapter is subject to a penalty of fifty dollars per day for each day’s delay. NEW SECTION. Sec. 18. The director must adopt all rules necessary to administer this chapter and to ensure complete and full disclosure by licensees of lending transactions governed by this chapter.

(2) If it appears to the director that a licensee is conducting business in an injurious manner or is violating any provision of this chapter, the director may order or direct the discontinuance of any such injurious or illegal practice.

(3) For purposes of this section, “conducting business in an injurious manner” means conducting business in a manner that violates any provision of this chapter, or that creates the reasonable likelihood of a violation of any provision of this chapter.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 21. (1) The director or designated persons may, at his or her discretion, take any action as provided for in this chapter to enforce this chapter. If the person subject to this action does not appear in person or by counsel at the time and place designated for any administrative hearing that may be held on the action, then the person is deemed to consent to the action. If the person subject to the action consents, or if after hearing the director finds by a preponderance of the evidence that any grounds for sanctions under this chapter exist, then the director may impose any sanction authorized by this chapter.

(2) The director may recover the state’s costs and expenses for prosecuting violations of this chapter, including staff time spent preparing for and attending administrative hearings and reasonable attorneys’ fees unless, after a hearing, the director determines no violation occurred.

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. Tiny houses have become a trend across the nation to address the shortage of affordable housing. As tiny houses become more acceptable, the legislature finds that it is important to create space in the code for the regulation of tiny house siting. Individual cities and counties may allow tiny houses with wheels to be collected together as tiny house villages using the binding site plan method articulated in chapter 58.17 RCW.

Sec. 2. RCW 58.17.040 and 2004 c 239 s 1 are each amended to read as follows:

The provisions of this chapter shall not apply to:

1. Cemeteries and other burial plots while used for that purpose;

2. Divisions of land into lots or tracts each of which is one hundred twenty-eighth of a section of land or larger, or five acres or larger if the land is not capable of description as a fraction of a section of land, unless the governing authority of the city, town, or county in which the land is situated shall have adopted a subdivision ordinance requiring plat approval of such divisions: PROVIDED, That for purposes of computing the size of any lot under this item which borders on a street or road, the lot size shall be expanded to include that area which would be bounded by the center line of the road or street and the side lot lines of the lot running perpendicular to such center line;

(3) Divisions made by testamentary provisions, or the laws of descent;

(4) Divisions of land into lots or tracts classified for industrial or commercial use when the city, town, or county has approved a binding site plan for the use of the land in accordance with local regulations;

(5) A division for the purpose of lease when no residential structure other than mobile homes, tiny houses or tiny houses with wheels as defined in section 6 of this act; or travel trailers are permitted to be placed upon the land when the city, town, or county has approved a binding site plan for the use of the land in accordance with local regulations;

(6) A division made for the purpose of alteration by adjusting boundary lines, between platted or unplatted lots or both, which does not create any additional lot, tract, parcel, site, or division nor create any lot, tract, parcel, site, or division which contains insufficient area and dimension to meet minimum requirements for width and area for a building site;

(7) Divisions of land into lots or tracts if: (a) Such division is the result of subjecting a portion of a parcel or tract of land to either chapter 64.32 or 64.34 RCW subsequent to the recording of a binding site plan for all such land; (b) the improvements constructed or to be constructed thereon are required by the provisions of the binding site plan to be included in one or more condominiums or owned by an association or other legal entity in which the owners of units therein or their owners’ associations have a membership or other legal or beneficial interest; (c) a city, town, or county has approved the binding site plan for all such land; (d) such approved binding site plan is recorded in the county or counties in which such land is located; and (e) the binding site plan contains thereon the following statement: “All development and use of the land described herein shall be in accordance with this binding site plan, as it may be amended with the approval of the city, town, or county having jurisdiction over the development of such land, and in accordance with such other governmental permits, approvals, regulations, requirements, and restrictions that may be imposed upon such land and the development and use thereof. Upon completion, the improvements on the land shall be included in one or more condominiums or owned by an association or other legal entity in which the owners of units therein or their owners’ associations have a membership or other legal or beneficial interest. This binding site plan shall be binding upon all now or hereafter having any interest in the land described herein.” The binding site plan may, but need not, depict or describe the boundaries of the lots or tracts resulting from subjecting a portion of the land to either chapter 64.32 or 64.34 RCW. A site plan shall be deemed to have been approved if the site plan was approved by a city, town, or county: (i) In connection with the final approval of a subdivision plat or planned unit development with respect to all of such land; or (ii) in connection with the issuance of building permits or final certificates of occupancy with respect to all of such land; or (iii) if not approved pursuant to (i) and (ii) of this subsection (7)(e), then pursuant to such other procedures as such city, town, or county may have established for the approval of a binding site plan;

(8) A division for the purpose of leasing land for facilities providing personal wireless services while used for that purpose.

“Personal wireless services” means any federally licensed personal wireless service. “Facilities” means unstaffed facilities that are used for the transmission or reception, or both, of wireless communication services including, but not necessarily limited to, antenna arrays, transmission cables, equipment shelters, and support structures; and

(9) A division of land into lots or tracts of less than three acres that is recorded in accordance with chapter 58.09 RCW and is used or to be used for the purpose of establishing a site for construction and operation of consumer-owned or investor-owned electric utility facilities. For purposes of this subsection, “electric utility facilities” means unstaffed facilities, except for the presence of security personnel, that are used for or in connection with or to facilitate the transmission, distribution, sale, or furnishing of electricity including, but not limited to, electric power substations. This subsection does not exempt a division of land from the zoning and permitting laws and regulations of cities, towns, counties, and municipal corporations. Furthermore, this subsection only applies to electric utility facilities that will be placed into service to meet the electrical needs of a utility’s existing and new customers. New customers are defined as electric service locations not already in existence as of the date that electric utility facilities subject to the provisions of this subsection are planned and constructed.

Sec. 3. RCW 35.21.684 and 2009 c 79 s 1 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) A city or town may not adopt an ordinance that has the effect, directly or indirectly, of discriminating against consumers’ choices in the placement or use of a home in such a manner that is not equally applicable to all homes. Homes built to 42 U.S.C. Sec. 5401-5403 standards (as amended in 2000) must be regulated for the purposes of siting in the same manner as site built homes, factory built homes, or homes built to any other state construction or local design standard. However, except as provided in subsection (2) of this section, any city or town may require that:

(a) A manufactured home be a new manufactured home;

(b) The manufactured home be set upon a permanent foundation, as specified by the manufacturer, and that the space from the bottom of the home to the ground be enclosed by concrete or an approved concrete product which can be either load bearing or decorative;

(c) The manufactured home comply with all local design standards applicable to all other homes within the neighborhood in which the manufactured home is to be located;

(d) The home is thermally equivalent to the state energy code; and

(2) A city or town may not adopt an ordinance that has the effect, directly or indirectly, of restricting the location of manufactured/mobile homes in manufactured/mobile home communities that were legally in existence before June 12, 2008, based exclusively on the age or dimensions of the manufactured/mobile home. This does not preclude a city or town from restricting the location of a manufactured/mobile home in manufactured/mobile home communities for any other reason including, but not limited to, failure to comply with fire, safety, or other local ordinances or state laws related to manufactured/mobile homes.

(3) Except as provided under subsection (4) of this section, a city or town may not adopt an ordinance that has the effect, directly or indirectly, of preventing the entry or requiring the removal of a recreational vehicle or tiny house with wheels as defined in section 6 of this act used as a primary residence in manufactured/mobile home communities.

(4) Subsection (3) of this section does not apply to any local ordinance or state law that:

(a) Imposes fire, safety, or other regulations related to recreational vehicles;
(b) Requires utility hookups in manufactured/mobile home communities to meet state or federal building code standards for manufactured/mobile home communities; or
(c) Includes both of the following provisions:
   (i) A recreational vehicle or tiny house with wheels as defined in section 6 of this act must contain at least one internal toilet and at least one internal shower; and
   (ii) If the requirement in (c)(i) of this subsection is not met, a manufactured/mobile home community must provide toilets and showers.

(5) For the purposes of this section, “manufactured/mobile home community” has the same meaning as in RCW 59.20.030.

(6) This section does not override any legally recorded covenants or deed restrictions of record.

(7) This section does not affect the authority granted under chapter 43.22 RCW.

Sec. 4. RCW 19.27.031 and 2018 c 189 s 1 are each amended to read as follows:

(7) The state’s climate zones for building purposes are designated in RCW 19.27A.020(3) and may not be changed through the adoption of a model code or rule.

In case of conflict among the codes enumerated in subsections (1), (2), (3), (4), and (5) of this section, the first named code shall govern over those following.

The codes enumerated in this section shall be adopted by the council as provided in RCW 19.27.074. The council shall solicit input from first responders to ensure that firefighter safety issues are addressed during the code adoption process.

The council may issue opinions relating to the codes at the request of a local official charged with the duty to enforce the enumerated codes.

Sec. 5. RCW 43.22.450 and 2001 c 335 s 8 are each amended to read as follows:

(3) Tenants of tiny house communities are entitled to all rights and subject to all duties and penalties required under chapter 59.20 RCW.
(4) For purposes of this section:

President Habib: “I’m going to rule on Senator Billig’s point of order with respect to amendment 186, which was moved by Senator Schoesler. There’s, there is, there’s two, I want to make two points about this. Number one, I want to say that, with respect, as I mentioned earlier, with respect to the remarks made by the mover of the amendment and as I read it, the content of the of the amendment itself, I think, or I can’t speak to, I don’t want to violate the same rule and speak to the motivations, Senator Schoesler but I, I will say that they have the effect of giving the reader the sense that the sponsors of this legislation are interested in some kind of pecuniary benefit. That’s the impression that I get when reading it. And the reason for that is that if, if the reason were something else, seemingly, the amendment would mention all legislators. Or would mention legislators and legislative staff or some broader class. But just as is the case when analyzing a potential conflict of interest where the narrower the class of beneficiaries, the more suspect the vote of a senator, here to the more narrow the group of individuals affected by the language, the more suspect that language is with respect to impugning motives. Now, all of that said, and I would encourage Senator Schoesler as the leader of his caucus and a respected member of the Legislature, to refrain. If that is, and I know sometimes these things are unintended, but to refrain from giving that impression to, to, one’s colleagues. At the same time, the President does not feel that the Senate rule gives me sufficient standing to strike this amendment down as I would when making a, when responding to a point of order with, on constitutional grounds such as scope and object or a single subject. And so Senator Billig’s, to use an expression that my predecessor used often, Senator Billig’s point is well taken. However, the amendment remains before the Senate. One final point that I will make, however, is that I have not ruled on whether the amendment before the Senate violates the object of the underlying bill. That point of order was not raised and I’m not inclined to make a ruling sua sponte on that question. But. I will say that that is an area and, if you look back at the ruling I made last year, I do think senators should pay very close attention to whether or not an amendment that they’re offering fits both the scope and the object. Those are two different doctrines, two different theories.”

Senator Billig spoke against adoption of the amendment.

(9) If a provider of end-user service is a company regulated by the utilities and transportation commission, the company may choose to have the commission resolve disputes concerning the service level agreement under the process established in RCW 54.16.340. For the purposes of this subsection, “company” includes subsidiaries or affiliates.

(10) Any public utility district providing cable television service under this section must secure a cable television franchise, pay franchise fees, and any applicable taxes to the local cable franchise authority as required by federal law.

“NEW SECTION. Sec. 19. (1) This section is the tax preference performance statement for the tax preference in section 20, chapter . . . , Laws of 2019 (section 20 of this act). This performance statement is intended only to be used for subsequent evaluation of the tax preference. It is not intended to create a private right of action by any party or be used to determine eligibility for preferential tax treatment.

(2) The legislature categorizes this tax preference as one intended to expand high-speed broadband service in unserved areas of Washington, as indicated in RCW 82.32.808(2)(f).

(3) It is the legislature’s specific public policy objective to expand access to high-speed broadband service in unserved areas of Washington. It is the legislature’s intent to provide a sales and use tax exemption for telecommunications network transmission equipment that is located in unserved areas of Washington and used for the primary purpose of providing retail broadband service or supporting utility broadband services to those unserved areas, thereby increasing the ability of businesses to invest in and expand their broadband networks in unserved areas of Washington.

(4) If a review finds that the number of consumers receiving the high-speed broadband service in unserved areas of Washington has increased by ten percent in ten years compared to the number of consumers receiving such service on July 1, 2020, then the legislature intends to extend the expiration date of the tax preference.

(5) In order to obtain the data necessary to perform the review in subsection (4) of this section, the joint legislative audit and review committee may refer to data provided by the Washington utilities and transportation commission, data from the national telecommunications and information administration, data from the department of commerce, and the national broadband map maintained by the federal communications commission.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 20. A new section is added to chapter 82.04 RCW to read as follows:

(1) Subject to the limitations in this section, a credit is allowed against the taxes imposed under this chapter for the capital costs associated with providing retail broadband service using qualified broadband equipment, including taxes paid under chapters 82.08 and 82.12 RCW.

(2) A person claiming the credit for taxes paid under chapters 82.08 and 82.12 RCW on the capital costs associated with providing retail broadband service using qualified broadband equipment must have paid the taxes under chapters 82.08 and 82.12 RCW in order to claim the credit under this chapter.

(3) The credit is equal to fifty percent of the capital costs, including associated sales and use taxes paid, to be divided equally over fifteen years.

(4) Credits earned under this section may be claimed against taxes due or paid for the calendar year in which the tax contribution is made. The amount of credit claimed for a reporting period may not exceed the tax otherwise due under this chapter for that reporting period and is limited to five million dollars total per person claiming a credit.

(5) Any amount of tax credit allowable under this section not claimed by the person in any calendar may be carried over and claimed against the person’s tax liability for the next succeeding calendar year. Any credit remaining unused in the next succeeding calendar year may be carried forward and claimed against the person’s tax liability for the second and succeeding calendar years and may be carried forward and claimed against the person’s tax liability for the next thirteen succeeding calendar years from the year the credit was first claimed, but may not be carried over for any calendar year thereafter.

(6) Credits are available on a first in-time basis. The department must disallow any credits, or portion thereof, that would cause the total amount of credits claimed under this section to exceed fifty million dollars. If this limitation is reached, the department must provide notice on its web site that the statewide limit has been met. In addition, the department must provide written notice to any person who has claimed tax credits in excess of the limitation in this subsection. The notice must indicate the amount of tax due and provide that the tax be paid within thirty days from the date of the notice. The department may not assess penalties and interest as provided in chapter 82.32 RCW on the amount due in the initial notice if the amount due is paid by the due date specified in the notice, or any extension thereof.

(7) To claim a credit under this section, a person must electronically file with the department all returns, forms, and any other information required by the department, in an electronic format as provided or approved by the department. Any return, form, or information required to be filed in an electronic format under this section is not filed until received by the department in an electronic format. As used in this subsection, “returns” has the same meaning as “return” in RCW 82.32.050.

(8) No application is necessary for the tax credit. The person must keep records necessary for the department to verify eligibility under this section.

(9) A person receiving a credit under this section must provide to the department, upon request, such information needed to verify eligibility for credit under this section, including information regarding capital costs that are claimed for credits under this section.

(10) The department may not allow any credit under this section before July 1, 2020.

(11) No credit may be earned for costs incurred on or after July 1, 2030.

(12) The definitions in this subsection apply throughout this section unless the context clearly requires otherwise.

(a) “Broadband” means any service providing advanced telecommunications capability and internet access with transmission speeds that, at a minimum, provide twenty-five megabits per second download and three megabits per second upload.

(b) “Qualified broadband equipment” means telecommunications network transmission equipment located in an unserved area in the state that is necessary for and primarily used to provide retail broadband service or support utility broadband services by wire or radio with the capability to transmit data to and receive data from substantially all internet end points with minimum speeds of twenty-five megabits per second download and three megabits per second upload.”
