President Habib: “Thank you Senator Padden, just to be clear. Are you objecting for the purpose for calling for a vote on the question or are you registering your displeasure? How you would like us to proceed?”

Senator Padden: “I am registering my displeasure, there is no need for a vote. Thank you, Mr. President.”

President Habib: “Thank you, Senator Padden and I know that from speaking with the Majority Floor Leader that this was not an easy decision to schedule floor time but in light of the extraordinary list of requests for very important resolutions that he granted floor time for this is how he has chosen to proceed in an extraordinary set of circumstances, so I appreciate, Senator Padden, your willingness to allow us to proceed. So, without objection, the motion carries.”

WHEREAS, This led Claire to a career in documentary filmmaking where she worked on films about peace issues with other women, their work then being immortalized in the Harvard Library; and

WHEREAS, Inspired by the birth of her son Jesse in 1987, she honed her focus on media literacy, producing and hosting a live public affairs show on violence in children's television which won a Commonwealth of Massachusetts outstanding Public Affairs Program Award; and

WHEREAS, Claire began her teaching career in the Seattle and Edmonds communities in 1995, and is a valuable and beloved member of the Edmonds community, having inspired and impacted the lives of hundreds of students over her many years of service; and

WHEREAS, Claire has a sincere passion for and deep knowledge of the field of media literacy and scholarship, and understands the importance of teaching students how to evaluate films, TV, print news, and other media for accuracy, messaging, and value; and

WHEREAS, Claire's love for media literacy and her students led to her becoming a member, and later the president, of Action for Media Education, where she worked on several media literacy-based projects and grants through the Washington State Department of Health; and

WHEREAS, This passion led Claire to engage with her representatives in the Legislature on the issue, and as a result of her tireless efforts to expand access to media literacy curricula for students in her district and across the state, Washington has been recognized as a leader among all fifty states in the realm of media literacy education, developing a national model for helping students develop the skills to navigate an increasingly digitized world and become engaged, informed, and empowered 21st century citizens; and

WHEREAS, In 2017, Claire began a new fight against ovarian cancer, but has refused to let her work in the classroom stop, continuing to serve as a substitute saying "chemo heals my cancer, teaching heals my soul"; and

SENATE RESOLUTION

By Senators Hasegawa, Saldaña, Conway, and Wagoner

WHEREAS, The United States Government tested 67 atmospheric nuclear weapons in the Marshall Islands from 1946-1958 during the time that the United States was the administering authority for the Trust Territory of the Pacific Islands; and

WHEREAS, Much of the plutonium that served as the energy source for the nuclear weapons detonated in the Marshall Islands was processed at Hanford, thus creating a link between the Marshallese people and the people of Washington state; and

WHEREAS, The “Bravo” test on Bikini Atoll on March 1, 1954, was the equivalent of 1.00 Hiroshima-sized bombs, and the Marshallese people experienced the equivalent of 1.6 Hiroshima-sized bombs every day for the twelve years of the testing program; and

WHEREAS, The Marshallese people and their islands became a living laboratory for nuclear weapons designers to better understand the impacts of radioactive weaponry on human beings and their environment, including the top secret biomedical program, Project 4.1; and

WHEREAS, Project 4.1 established an internment camp on Kwajalein Atoll for the people exposed to radioactive fallout from the Bravo test, and established numerous biomedical studies, such as the purposeful resettlement of Marshallese people on radioactive islands to study human uptake of radiation from the environment; and

WHEREAS, The Marshallese experience numerous challenges today connected to the United States nuclear legacy, such as communities that cannot return to their ancestral lands because of lingering contamination, those who were prematurely resettled on contaminated lands, and health care issues related to radiation exposure and diaspora, including cancer and other radiogenic illnesses; and

WHEREAS, There are no oncologists in the Marshall Islands today, nor is there a cancer care treatment facility, and thus the Government of the Republic of the Marshall Islands is hoping to build relationships with Washington state’s world class cancer research and treatment facilities; and

WHEREAS, The termination of the Trust Territory of the Pacific Islands in 1986 resulted in the Compact of Free Association between the United States and the Republic of the Marshall Islands, the Federated States of Micronesia, and later Palau, collectively known as the “COFA” nations; and

WHEREAS, As a result of the unique and historical relationship between the citizens of the former United States trust territory, residents under the COFA treaty currently serve in every branch of the United States armed forces, and have the right to enter, live, and work in the United States without a visa; and

WHEREAS, COFA community members reside in numerous counties across Washington state and are advocating for equity in terms of eligibility for federal assistance programs for other legal migrants, such as Medicaid and food stamps; and

WHEREAS, The Marshallese people are consummate survivors whose culture continues to thrive, including the ground zero communities of Bikini and Enewetak who remain some of the most gifted open ocean navigators, voyagers, and weavers in the world; and

WHEREAS, The upcoming March 1st anniversary of the Bravo detonation is a national holiday and day of mourning and remembrance for the Republic of the Marshall Islands;
NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, That the Senate pause to acknowledge the painful and damaging legacy of United States nuclear weapons testing in the Marshall Islands, and stand
