Kimberly Forgaard: "Thank you. Good afternoon, ladies and gentlemen. My name is Kim Forgaard and I'm currently a senior at Capitol High School. It is my pleasure to have this opportunity to address you as the 2008 Lakefair Queen. I'm truly honored to represent this wonderful city and our great state of Washington. Our state and country face challenging times ahead. We have just experienced yet a second devastating storm in the past thirteen months leaving hundreds of families homeless or with severe damage to their property. In times like this we must reach out to our neighbors and community to help in any way we can. As I begin the next phase of my life, leaving home and entering college, I reflect on the current economic situation in our country. We face unparalleled demands with a failure of several financial institutions, the collapse of the housing sector and the instability of world markets. The current economic down turn has directly affected me, as the business I was working for closed its doors in early December. My plan is to pursue and education and career in business and economics and I'm intrigued on how we have come to face this current economic situation. As complex as these issues are it is clear that we must work together to solve them. A common key to success always begins with the establishment of solid goals and objectives. My father says, 'aim at nothing and you're bound to hit it.' Having said that, my current goal is to get back to school because I'm sure as most of you know Capital's roof collapsed over break which has delayed its start by one week. So, for you, leaders of this great state, you face unprecedented challenges this coming term and I won't take up anymore of your time allowing you to get to the task at hand. Once again, I thank you for this unique opportunity."

FIRST DAY, JANUARY 12, 2009

INTRODUCTION OF SPECIAL GUESTS

The President welcomed and introduced members of the Taiwan dignitaries, Daniel Liao, Director General of the Taiwan Economic and Cultural Office of Seattle and Richard Lin, Director of the Taiwan Economic and Cultural Office of Seattle who were seated in the gallery.

INTRODUCTION OF SPECIAL GUESTS

FIRST DAY, JANUARY 12, 2009

2009 REGULAR SESSION

The President welcomed and introduced the family and friends of Senator Becker family who were seated in the gallery.

INTRODUCTION OF SPECIAL GUESTS

The President welcomed and introduced the family and friends of Senator Jarrett family who were seated in the gallery.

REMARKS BY THE PRESIDENT

President Owen: "The President would like to welcome all of the newly elected members to Washington State Senate and to their families. It's a great privilege and honor to serve in this tremendous institution and I hope that the members of the family will come back and visit us often. You're always welcome here."

ELECTION OF PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE

The President declared nominations to be open for the office of President Pro Tempore of the Senate.

REMARKS BY SENATOR HARGROVE

Senator Hargrove: "Thank you Mr. President. I wanted to know it to your already getting us in the mood for saving money by not buying a razor or dye to color your beard. I thought that was really good."

REMARKS BY THE PRESIDENT

President Owen: "The President would hope that you would continue what you've been doing in the interim and save us money by not eating so much."

REMARKS BY SENATOR HARGROVE

Senator Hargrove: "I rise to nominate for President Pro Tempore, Senator Rosa Franklin. I've done this before and it's because I can't think of anybody that does a better job and backing up the President than Senator Rosa Franklin. She not only has experience, she's been here doing this job for a number of years. She has actually more stamina than the President, I believe, she can stand up there in long hours and do a great job. She has grace which I really think is one of her defining characteristics but you better pay attention because she has kind of a quick gavel. I can sometimes remember that she will say 'all those in favor' and then slam the gavel before she gets the no's down but she's always fair and how can you resist that smile? So, I like to tell people that the President and the President Pro Tempore make all of here in the Senate look good and I'll have to say for the President Pro Tempore that still holds true."

REMARKS BY SENATOR KOHL-WELLES

Senator Kohl-Welles: "Thank you Mr. President. I'm very pleased to second the nomination of Senator Rosa Franklin as President Pro Tempore. It's hard to follow Senator Hargrove as he has really covered so many of the wonderful qualities of Senator Franklin. As we've all known her and I believe that I can state this in a bi-partisan way, we've all loved her. Senator Franklin to me embodies the integrity, the respect and in fact the institution of the Washington State Senate. It's wonderful for me and I'm sure for all of us to know that when Senator Franklin is presiding that we are going to have any decisions that need to be made in terms of calling on people, keeping the body in order, maintaining decorum that it will be handled appropriately, gently and elegantly all of these characters reflecting our wonderful colleague and I'm very happy to place her name, second her nomination. Thank you."

MOTION

On motion of Senator Eide, the nominations for the office of President Pro Tempore were closed.

About 2000 years ago our mentor Confucius said, 'When I was fifteen I began my studies, when I was thirty I opened my eyes and when I became fifty I was ready to listen,' I'm still an infant, learning stage. I'm a student and thank you for confidence and trust you've placed in me and I'll do my best to assist Senator Rosa Franklin in her absence, Lieutenant Governor Owen and to carry out my responsibilities. I think that we have all come to know Tom over the last four years as an outstanding Secretary of the Senate and for many years as an outstanding employee of the Senate. He has brought fairness, leadership and an even tempered attitude to what can be a very difficult job. I have particularly come to appreciate him in my new capacity as Chair of the Facilities and Operations Committee where his strategic approach and his concern for this body as an institution helps us in so many ways. I would add though if you don't like you're parking place, it's his fault and not mine. Having said that I think we are lucky to have Tom willing to serve for yet another term. Thank you."

REMARKS BY SENATOR PARLETTE

Senator Parlette: "Thank you Mr. President. It is my honor to second the nomination of Tom Hoemann for Secretary of the Senate. Thank you Mr. President. I know that Tom really cares about doing a very, very good job and he is doing of his ability. It's kind of difficult, all those people under him that he has to have report to him and sometimes they get a bit unruly and that doesn't make him happy. I'm happy to tell you he took the time to come to my district and see me, but I think to be honest it's because of the good wineries in the Lake Chelan area. I won't hold that against him but I hope you will join me and support him as I do believe he's doing an excellent job as Secretary of the Senate."

2. A motion to reconsider shall have precedence over every other motion, except a motion to adjourn; and when the senate adjourns while a motion to reconsider is pending or before passing the order of motions, the right to move a reconsideration shall continue to the next day of sitting. On and after the tenth day prior to adjournment sine die of any session, as determined pursuant to Article 2, Section 12, or concurrent resolution, or in the event that the measure is subject to a senate rule or resolution or a joint rule or concurrent resolution, which would preclude consideration on the next day of sitting a motion to reconsider shall only be in order on the same day upon which notice of reconsideration is given and may be made at any time that day. Any such reconsideration may be made at any time, by any member of the committee, provided that the committee has not yet reported the measure, appointment, substitute bill, or amendment out to the full senate. Any such reconsideration made after a vote has been taken or signatures obtained will require a new vote and signature sheet. Any measure which does not receive a majority vote of the members present may be reconsidered at that meeting and may again be considered upon motion of any committee member if one day's notice of said motion is provided to all committee members. For purposes of this rule, a committee is deemed to have reported a measure, appointment, substitute bill, or amendment out when it has delivered its majority and minority reports to the senate workroom. After such delivery, the committee no longer has possession of the measure, appointment, substitute bill, or amendment and no further committee action, including reconsideration, may be taken.

8. Any member of the committee not concurring in the majority report may sign a minority report containing a recommendation of "do not pass" or "without recommendation," which shall be signed by those members of the committee subscribing thereto, and submitted with the majority report. In every case where a majority report form is circulated for signature, a minority report form shall also be circulated.

9. When a committee reports a substitute for an original bill with the recommendation that the substitute bill do pass, it shall be in order to read the substitute bill the first time and have the same ordered printed. A motion for the substitution of the substitute bill for the original bill shall not be in order until the committee on rules places the original bill on the second reading calendar.

10. No vote in any committee shall be taken by secret ballot nor shall any committee have a policy of secrecy as to any vote on action taken in such committee.

11. All reports of standing committees must be on the secretary's desk one hour prior to convening of the session in order to be read at said session.

Committee Meetings During Sessions

Rule 46. No committee shall sit during the daily session of the senate unless by special leave. No committee shall sit during any scheduled caucus.

Reading of Reports

Rule 47. The majority report, and minority report, if there be one, together with the names of the signers thereof, shall be read by the secretary, unless the reading be dispensed with by the senate, and all committee reports shall be spread upon the

Recalling Bills from Committees

Rule 48. Any standing committee of the senate may be relieved of further consideration of any bill, regardless of prior action of the committee, by a majority vote of the senators elected or appointed. The senate may then make such orderly disposition of the bill as they may direct by a majority vote of the members of the senate.

Bills Referred to Rules Committee

Rule 49. All bills reported by a committee to the senate shall then be referred to the committee on rules for second reading without action on the report unless otherwise ordered by the senate. (See also Rules 63 and 64.)

Rules Committee

Rule 50. The lieutenant governor shall be a voting member and the chair of the committee on rules. The committee on rules shall have charge of the daily second and third reading calendar of the senate and shall direct the secretary of the senate the order in which the bills shall be considered by the senate and the committee on rules shall have the authority to directly refer any bill before them to any other standing committee. Such referral shall be reported out to the senate on the next day's business.

The senate may change the order of consideration of bills on the second or third reading calendar.

The calendar, except in emergent situations, as determined by the committee on rules, shall be on the desks and in the offices of the senators each day and shall cover the bills for consideration on the next following day.

Employment Committee

Rule 51. The employment committee for committee staff shall consist of five members, three from the majority party and two from the minority party. The chair shall be appointed by the majority leader. The committee shall, in addition to its other duties, appoint a staff director for committee services with the concurrence of four of its members. All other decisions shall be determined by majority vote. The committee shall operate within staffing, budget levels and guidelines as authorized and adopted by the facilities and operations committee.

Committee of the Whole

Rule 52. At no time shall the senate sit as a committee of the whole. The senate may at any time, by the vote of the majority of the members present, sit as a body for the purpose of taking testimony on any measure before the senate.

Appropriation Budget Bills

Rule 53. No amendment to the budget, capital budget or supplemental budget, not incorporated in the bill as reported by the ways and means committee, shall be adopted except by the affirmative vote of sixty percent of the senators elected or appointed.

SECTION VI BILLS, RESOLUTIONS, MEMORIALS AND GUBERNATORIAL APPOINTMENTS Definitions

Rule 54. "Measure" means a bill, joint memorial, joint resolution, or concurrent resolution. "Bill" when used alone means bill, joint memorial, joint resolution, or concurrent resolution. "Majority" shall mean a majority of those members present unless otherwise stated.

Prefiling

Rule 55. Holdover members and members-elect to the senate may prefile bills with the secretary of the senate on any day commencing with the first Monday in December preceding any session year; or twenty days prior to any special session of the legislature. Such bills will be printed, distributed and prepared for introduction on the first legislative day. No bill, joint memorial or joint resolution shall be prefiled by title and/or preamble only. (See also Rule 3, Sub. 3.)

Introduction of Bills

Rule 56. All bills, joint resolutions and joint memorials introduced shall be endorsed with a statement of the title and the name of the member introducing the same. Any member desiring to introduce a bill, joint resolution or joint memorial shall file the same with the secretary of the senate by noon of the day before the convening of the session at which said bill, joint resolution or joint memorial is to be introduced.

After the expiration of deadlines for bill introductions provided for by resolution, no bill shall be introduced, except as the legislature shall direct by a vote of two-thirds of all the members elected to each house, said vote to be taken by yeas and nays and entered upon the journal, or unless the same be at a special session. The time limitation for introduction of bills shall not apply to substitute bills reported by standing committees for bills pending before such committees and general appropriation and revenue bills. (See also Art. 2, Sec. 36, State Constitution.)

Amendatory Bills

Rule 57. Bills introduced in the senate intended to amend existing statutes shall have the words which are amendatory to such existing statutes underlined. Any matter to be deleted from the existing statutes shall be indicated by setting such matter forth in full, enclosed by double parentheses, and such deleted matter shall be lined out with hyphens. No bill shall be printed or acted upon until the provisions of this rule shall have been complied with. Sections added by amendatory bill to an existing act, or chapter of the official code, need not be underlined but shall be designated "NEW SECTION" in upper case type and such designation shall be underlined. New enactments need not be underlined.

When statutes are being repealed, the Revised Code of Washington section number to be repealed, the section caption and the session law history, from the most current to the original, shall be cited.

Joint Resolutions and Memorials

Rule 58. Joint resolutions and joint memorials, up to the signing thereof by the president of the senate, shall be subject to the rules governing the course of bills.

Senate Concurrent Resolutions

Rule 59. Concurrent resolutions shall be subject to the rules governing the course of bills and may be adopted without a roll call. Concurrent resolutions authorizing investigations and authorizing the expenditure or allocation of any money must be adopted by roll call and the yeas and nays recorded in the journal. Concurrent resolutions are subject to final passage on the day of the first reading without regard to Senate Rules 62, 63, and 64.

Committee Bills

Rule 60. Committee bills introduced by a standing committee during a legislative session may be filed with the secretary of the senate and introduced, and the signature of each member of the committee shall be endorsed upon the cover of the original bill. Committee bills shall be read the first time by title, ordered printed, and referred to the committee on rules for second reading.

Committee Reference

Rule 61. When a motion is made to refer a subject, and different committees are proposed, the question shall be taken in the following order:

FIRST: A standing committee.

SECOND: A select committee.

Reading of Bills

Rule 62. Every bill shall be read on three separate days unless the senate deems it expedient to suspend this rule. On and after the tenth day preceding adjournment sine die of any session, or three days prior to any cut-off date for consideration of bills, as determined pursuant to Article 2, Section 12 of the Constitution or concurrent resolution, this rule may be suspended by a majority vote. (See also Rule 59).

First Reading

Rule 63. The first reading of a bill shall be by title only, unless a majority of the members present demand a reading in full. After the first reading, bills shall be referred to an appropriate committee pursuant to Rule 61.

Upon being reported back by committee, all bills shall be referred to the committee on rules for second reading, unless otherwise ordered by the senate. (See Rule 49.)

A bill shall be reported back by the committee chair upon written petition therefor signed by a majority of its members. The petition shall designate the recommendation as provided in Rule 45, Sub. 5.

No committee chair shall exercise a pocket veto of any bill.

Should there be a two-thirds majority report of the committee membership against the bill, a vote shall be immediately ordered for the indefinite postponement of the bill.

Second Reading/Amendments

Rule 64. Upon second reading, the bill shall be read section by section, in full, and be subject to amendment.

Any member may, if sustained by three members, remove a bill from the consent calendar as constituted by the committee on rules. A bill removed from the consent calendar shall take its place as the last bill in the order of consideration of bills on the second reading calendar.

No amendment shall be considered by the senate until it shall have been sent to the secretary's desk in writing and read by the secretary.

All amendments adopted on the second reading shall then be securely fastened to the original bill.

All amendments rejected by the senate shall be spread upon the journal, and the journal shall show the disposition of all amendments.

When no further amendments shall be offered, the president shall declare the bill has passed its second reading, and shall be referred to the committee on rules for third reading.

FIRST DAY, JANUARY 12, 2009

2009 REGULAR SESSION

Third Reading

Rule 65. Bills on third reading shall be read in full by sections, and no amendment shall be entertained.

When a bill shall pass, it shall be certified to by the secretary, together with the vote upon final passage, noting the day of its passage thereon.

The vote must be taken by yeas and nays, the names of the senators voting for and against the same to be entered upon the journal and the majority of the members elected to the senate must be recorded thereon as voting in its favor to secure its passage by the senate.

Scope and Object of Bill Not to be Changed

Rule 66. No amendment to any bill shall be allowed which shall change the scope and object of the bill. (See also Art. 2, Sec. 38, State Constitution.) Substitute bills shall be considered amendments for the purposes of this rule. A point of order raising the question of scope and object may be raised at any time during consideration of an amendment prior to voting on the amendment. A proposed amendment to an unamended title-only bill shall be within the scope and object of the bill if the subject of the amendment fits within the language in the title.

Matters Related to Disagreement Between the Senate and House

Rule 67. When there is a disagreement between the senate and house on a measure before the senate, the senate may act upon the measure with the following motions which have priority in the following order:

- To concur
- To non-concur
- To recede
- To insist
- To adhere

These motions are in order as to any single amendment or to a series of amendments. (See Reed's Rules 247 through 254.)

A senate bill, passed by the house with amendment or amendments which shall change the scope and object of the bill, upon being received in the senate, shall be referred to an appropriate committee and shall take the same course as for original bills, unless a motion to ask the house to recede, to insist or to adhere is made prior to the measure being referred to committee.

Bills Committed for Special Amendment

Rule 68. A bill may be committed with or without special instructions to amend at any time before taking the final vote.

Confirmation of Gubernatorial Appointees

Rule 69. When the names of appointees to state offices are transmitted to the Secretary of the Senate for senate confirmation, the communication from the governor shall be recorded and referred to the appropriate standing committee.

The standing committee, or subcommittee, pursuant to rule 42, shall require each appointee referred to the committee for consideration to complete the standard questionnaire to be used to ascertain the appointee's general background and qualifications. The committee may also require the appointee to complete a supplemental questionnaire related specifically to the qualifications for the position to which he has been appointed.

Any hearing on a gubernatorial appointment, held by the standing committee, or subcommittees, pursuant to rule 42, shall be a public hearing. The appointee may be required to appear before the committee on request. When appearing, the appointee shall be required to testify under oath or affirmation. The chair of the committee or the presiding member shall administer the oath or affirmation in accordance with RCW 44.16. (See also Article 2, Sec. 6 of the State Constitution.)

Nothing in this rule shall be construed to prevent a standing committee, or subcommittee, pursuant to rule 42, upon a two-thirds vote of its members, from holding executive sessions when considering an appointment. When the committee on rules presents the report of the standing committee before the senate, the question shall be the confirmation of the name proposed, and the roll shall then be called and the yeas and nays entered upon the journal. In the event a message is received from the governor requesting return of an appointment or appointments to the office of the governor prior to confirmation, the senate shall vote upon the governor's request and the appointment or appointments shall be returned to the governor if the request is approved by a majority of the members elected or appointed. (Article 13 of the State Constitution.)

The President declared the question before the Senate to be the adoption of Senate Resolution No. 8601.

The motion by Senator Eide carried and the resolution was adopted by voice vote.

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Brown: “Well, thank you Mr. President and it’s good to be back. I just wanted to make a couple of remarks, first to you, there was a bit of upheaval last week when the Governor was out of town and people were speculating as to her whereabouts, but they were also speculating as to whether or not you’d get a promotion. Didn’t exactly pan out that way and we are happy to have you back presiding over the Senate and secondly to our staff, just wanted to say how pleased I am that all the hard work that people have been doing to get the chambers ready and the new things that we have at our disposal here to make our job easier and I want to thank everyone from Tom Hoemann and Brad to the whole Senate staff for all you’ve done. It’s good to be back with you again. To my fellow Senators congratulations to those of you who just went through a reelection or your first election. It’s going to be a pleasure to work with every single one of you. We have an amazingly difficult challenge ahead of us but I have a lot of confidence in the people in this room that we will maintain decorum and our spirit of cooperation as well as our commitment to our districts and to the people of Washington State. We have pledged on our side of the aisle that our number one job is helping people keep their jobs or find a job if they don’t have one or prepare for a job of the economy tomorrow and we look forward to working together to help accomplish that. We also know that there is a tremendous amount of insecurity out there whether its caused by the economy or by the weather and people are digging out from the snow in Colville or recovering from water damage in Senator Eide’s district or dealing with a job loss in Seattle or Everett or potential job loss. Potentially wondering about their ferry service in San Juan County, new Senator Ranker asked me to say that, or really grappling with the future with their children, children graduating from school and wondering if they are going to secure a job. So, family security and community security across Washington State is a key challenge for us to work together and certainly protecting the most vulnerable people in our state and I also think with every crisis there is an opportunity and the opportunity with this particular crisis is that we will come up with ways to make government work better. So, let’s work together on all those challenges and look forward to that with you over the next one-hundred and five days. Also, a special thank you to our families. Everyone who serves in public office knows that your family also serves and sacrifices, so a special thanks to all those spouses and partners and children and grandchildren who miss their mommies, daddies and grandparents during the legislative session.”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Hewitt: “I can’t help distinguish, noticing how distinguished you look with this addition on your face. It’s wonderful.”

REPLY BY THE PRESIDENT

President Owen: “It’s good to suck up the first day, Senator.”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Hewitt: “Yes, sir. I understand the rules around here Mr. President. And because I am so hungry I am tempted just follow Senator Browns by saying, ‘ditto’.”

REMARKS BY THE PRESIDENT

President Owen: “Did you wish to state a Point of Personal Privilege?”

FIRST DAY, JANUARY 12, 2009

2009 REGULAR SESSION

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Hewitt: "Thank you, I thought I did that but I was so intent on telling you how good you looked I forgot to ask for a personal point of privilege, Mr. President. Thank you and I can't help but noticing you still look good, Mr. President. Now that I am officially recognized, it is, I have to tell you that I am very happy that the political season is out of the way. It's hard on all of us, every two years to go through all of this and then have to come back here and be a family again but we do it and it's a wonderful family to live in. I can't imagine being without it at least this point in my life but we're looking forward to working with everyone on the issues before us. It's good for the people in the state of Washington. It's going to be very difficult this year. We have a lot to do, very hard choices to make and I don't think a lot of us are going to like some of the choices we have to make but we are here willing to work with both sides so thank you Mr. President. You look so, so good up there."

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Fraser: "Thank you Mr. President. As senator from the State Capitol area I would like to say on behalf of community, welcome to everybody. Members and staff, we're looking forward to having everyone in town for one-hundred five days. You might have noted in the procession today, at the beginning of the session, that there were two suffragists who were promoting women's right to vote. This session gives us an opportunity to reflect on the evolution of democracy here in the state of Washington. This session, the 2009 session, constitutes the centennial, the one-hundredth anniversary of our legislature putting on the ballot the right for women to vote in all elections, so that happened in 1909. I'm pleased to report it passed by a overwhelming majority and back then, the general elections were only every two years so it went on the 1910 ballot and the all male voters approved it overwhelmingly, I'm pleased to let you know, and it was of course an all male legislature back then because women didn't have the right to vote. So, it was an historical note for our state but also is a historical note for our nation. It is a fact that Washington was the fifth state to grant women the right to vote. The first state in the 1900's and the movement had kind of flagged a little bit, had a little discouragement, there were no other states that had done this in the 1900's so after Washington passed women's right to vote it sparked and reinvigorated the movement nationally. So, in 1920, ten years later the national, the amendment to the national constitution granting all women in the country the right to vote was approved by, was ratified by all the states, so we are an important part of the history of women's right to vote in this country. Our suffragists in the procession today represented the two major acclaimed leaders of the movement at that time. Mae Arkwright Hutton of Spokane, well known in the Spokane region and Emma Smith Devoe who lived in Pierce County. So, I think there are plans to commemorate this historic event this year and next year during the session and beyond and around the state including the opening of a major exhibit at the Washington State Historical Commission which you'll have receive notice of and you have a list on your desks of some of the events. So, I think we want to say thank you to the gentlemen of 1909 and 1910 as well as thank you to all the gentlemen we work with here so this is a wonderful historic session for us."

REPORT OF COMMITTEE

The Senate Committee composed of Senators Becker and Shin appeared before the bar of the Senate and reported that the Governor had been notified under the provisions of House Concurrent Resolution No. 4400 that the Legislature was organized and ready to conduct business.

The President received the report of the committee and the committee was discharged.

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Swecker: "Well, I want thank the members of the Senate. As you know I spent a lot more time in the hospital this year than I planned too. I had three fairly major surgeries and in one case my wife had to give me CPR before the fire department arrived so, I just wanted to thank you for all your kind words, for your encouragement, for all your prayers. I feel great. Thank you."

REMARKS BY THE PRESIDENT

President Owen: "Senator Swecker, we are all very, very pleased that you made it through all that. I know it was a difficult time but you look good. Welcome back."

MOTION

On motion of Senator Eide, the Senate reverted to the third order of business.

To the Honorable, the Senate
Of the State of Washington

Ladies and Gentlemen:

In compliance with the provisions of Article III, Section 11, of the Constitution of the State of Washington, the Governor hereby submits her report of each case of reprieve, commutation or pardon that she has granted since the adjournment of the 2008 Regular Session of the 60th Legislature, copies of which are attached.

FULL AND UNCONDITIONAL PARDON
OF
IGOR M. KOZLOV

To All to Whom These Presents Shall Come, Greetings:

WHEREAS, on August 18, 2000, Mr. Kozlov and two friends entered a grocery store in Kent, filled several shopping bags with merchandise, and then walked out of the store without paying for the items. Two clerks confronted the men and a fight ensued. Mr. Kozlov and his friends then fled from the scene.

WHEREAS, later that evening, Mr. Kozlov and the two friends attempted to purchase beer at a gas station. When the clerk refused to sell them the beer, the three men physically attacked him and then fled from the station.

WHEREAS, Mr. Kozlov was charged with First Degree Robbery for the grocery store offense and Fourth Degree Assault for the gas station offense. Mr. Kozlov entered a plea agreement whereby he pled guilty to a reduced charge of Second Degree Robbery with the agreement that no additional charges would be prosecuted relating the Fourth Degree Assault.

WHEREAS, Mr. Kozlov discovered religion while incarcerated and decided to change his life by becoming a productive member of his community. Upon his release, Mr. Kozlov pursued a career in construction and today owns his own construction company. He joined a community church where he met and married his wife. Over the past six years, Mr. Kozlov has contributed over $50,000 to his church – where he and his wife have also spent many hours volunteering. As a result of Mr. Kozlov's dedication to his church community, there was tremendous support at this hearing in the form of letters and verbal statements on his behalf.

WHEREAS, Mr. Kozlov faces deportation to Russia if he is not granted a pardon. His wife and daughter are United States citizens, and his mother and step-father also reside here. Mr. Kozlov has been diagnosed with Hepatitis C; he is concerned that he may not be able to afford – or even obtain – the necessary medical treatment if he is deported. In addition, Mr. Kozlov has virtually no connections – family or otherwise – in Russia; thus, if deported, he does not know how he will find work or survive.

WHEREAS, the prosecutor did not oppose Mr. Kozlov's petition, but, instead, commended Mr. Kozlov for being conviction free for the past seven years.

WHEREAS, I have reviewed all pertinent facts and circumstances surrounding this matter, the circumstances of the crime, and the favorable recommendation of the Washington State Clemency and Pardons Board. In light of the foregoing, I have determined that the best interests of justice will be served by this action.

NOW, THEREFORE, I Christine O. Gregoire, by virtue of the power vested in me as Governor of the State of Washington, hereby grant to Igor Kozlov, this full and unconditional pardon of his convictions of Robbery in the Second Degree and Assault in the Fourth Degree so that he may live with his family in the United States.

IN WITNESS WHERE OF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the State of Washington to be affixed at Olympia on this 8th day of December, A.D., two thousand and eight.

FULL AND UNCONDITIONAL PARDON
OF
AGUSTIN M. CORTES

To All to Whom These Presents Shall Come, Greetings:

WHEREAS, Mr. Cortes was involved in gang activity when he was a teenager. On July 1, 1995, there was a confrontation between Mr. Cortes' gang and a rival gang. On that day, Mr. Cortes and his friends were in his car and the rival gang members, riding bicycles, threw rocks at and into the car. Mr. Cortes subsequently chased down the rival gang, and, in so doing, his car grazed one of the bicycles causing the rider to lose control and fall onto the road.

WHEREAS, the injured teenager was taken to the hospital with cuts and abrasions. Mr. Cortes was arrested and subsequently charged with Second Degree Assault; he pled guilty and was sentenced to 179 days confinement, $1,157.28 restitution, and 12 months community supervision.

WHEREAS, Mr. Cortes used his days in confinement to reflect on his actions and ultimately decided to end his criminal and gang activities.

WHEREAS, Mr. Cortes successfully broke ties with his gang and has been an active member of his community for the past 11 years. He has apologized to the people he hurt in the past and has become friends with the person he hit with his car. He has volunteered for the American Red Cross, Heritage University, Northwest Communities Action Center, the Yakima Nation Area Agency on Aging, and youth recreation programs. Further, he is an advocate for anti-gang activity in his community.

WHEREAS, Mr. Cortes graduated with a Master's Degree in Social Work from Eastern Washington University in December 2006. He desires to use his volunteer experience and educational background to assist others in his community as a social worker; however, his Second Degree Assault conviction is preventing him from reaching his goal and from gaining permanent employment.

WHEREAS, over ten years have passed since Mr. Cortes' conviction; in that time, he has had no other arrest or convictions.

WHEREAS, at his hearing, there was a strong showing of community support for Mr. Cortes in the form of letters and attendance: family members, law enforcement, and religious leaders attested by letter and in person to Mr. Cortes' personal growth, maturation, exceptional contributions to society, and the belief that Mr. Cortes is and would continue to be an asset to his community.

WHEREAS, I have reviewed all pertinent facts and circumstances surrounding this matter, the circumstances of the crime, and the favorable recommendation of the Washington State Clemency and Pardons Board. In light of the foregoing, I have determined that the interests of justice will be served by this action.

NOW, THEREFORE, I Christine O. Gregoire, by virtue of the power vested in me as Governor of the State of Washington, hereby grant to Agustin Cortes this full and unconditional pardon of his conviction of Second Degree Assault so that he may pursue permanent and gainful employment.

OF
WILLIAM CARTER

To All to Whom These Presents Shall Come, Greetings:

WHEREAS, Mr. Carter was stationed at McChord Air Force Base from 1978 until he was transferred to Korea in 1983. During this time, he was a Chaplain at the base and ministered to the surrounding community.

WHEREAS, after receiving his orders for Korea, Mr. Carter's congregation requested his assistance in acquiring materials for the church, as it had no bank account of its own. The night before departing for Korea, in reliance upon the promise of the congregation to deposit cash funds into his account, Mr. Carter wrote two checks to the church that drew from his personal account. The promised cash deposits were not made, however, and the checks were returned for insufficient funds. Mr. Carter never received notification that the cash funds were not deposited nor that his checks bounced.

WHEREAS, Mr. Carter continued to serve in the Air Force until his health failed in 1993 and he retired on disability. He has remained active with the Chaplaincy and social services in California.

WHEREAS, in March 2005, Mr. Carter was informed by the Department of Veterans Affairs that a warrant for his arrest was outstanding in the state of Washington and that, as a result, he was considered a "fugitive felon," which required the suspension of his retirement, disability, and social security benefits. Mr. Carter made full restitution and the warrant was discharged.

WHEREAS, the Department of Veterans Affairs discontinued his retirement and disability payments and has deemed all payments he had received as "overpayment" of his benefits. Mr. Carter's social security payments have been reinstated.

WHEREAS, the prosecutor stated that the Governor should grant Mr. Carter's pardon because he has made restitution, has abided by the law for many years, and has been a productive member of society.

WHEREAS, I have reviewed all pertinent facts and circumstances surrounding this matter, the circumstances of the crime, and the favorable recommendation of the Washington State Clemency and Pardons Board. In light of the foregoing, I have determined that the best interests of justice will be served by this action.

ERIC A. RUST

To All to Whom These Presents Shall Come, Greetings:

WHEREAS, on July 17, 1994, Mr. Rust and two friends robbed a video store in Snohomish County. During the robbery, Mr. Rust pointed a gun at the store clerk while demanding money. The three perpetrators then fled from the store with approximately $208 in cash. At the time of the crime, Mr. Rust was a 17 year-old who lived in a home where drugs and alcohol were abused regularly.

WHEREAS, following the robbery, Mr. Rust went to his pastor and disclosed what he and his friends had done. The pastor told Mr. Rust that he needed to tell his parents about his involvement in the crime and turn himself into the police. Mr. Rust told his parents but was arrested before he turned himself in. Mr. Rust and his friends subsequently cooperated with the authorities.

WHEREAS, Mr. Rust was convicted of Robbery in the First Degree and sentenced to 30 days detention, 150 hours community service, 12 months community supervision, and ordered to pay $1,437.16 in restitution and fines. The Court found clear and convincing evidence that imposing a sentence within the standard range would be a manifest injustice based on the mitigating factor that, at the time of the crime, Mr. Rust suffered from a mental condition that significantly reduced his culpability. Today, Mr. Rust takes full responsibility for his actions.

WHEREAS, Mr. Rust served and completed all conditions of his sentence while undergoing intensive counseling and treatment. After serving his sentence, Mr. Rust obtained his GED and an Emergency Medical Technician Certificate. He went on to earn a Bachelor's Degree in Electrical Engineering and then a Masters Degree at the University of Washington. Mr. Rust wants to continue his education by going to law school. He also has aspirations of joining the military.

WHEREAS, Mr. Rust has remained free of arrest and conviction for over 14 years. His current conviction of record will be an impediment to his ability to gain admittance to the state bar and to other areas of employment.

WHEREAS, I have reviewed all pertinent facts and circumstances surrounding this matter, the circumstances of the crime, and the favorable recommendation of the Washington

MELISSA NICHOLE SCOTT

To All to Whom These Presents Shall Come, Greetings:

WHEREAS, in 1992 Ms. Scott was involved in an abusive relationship which had produced one daughter aged 14 months. After a particularly violent episode that occurred when she was eight months pregnant with a second child, Ms. Scott announced her intentions of separating from the father and taking their child with her. Unbeknownst to Ms. Scott, the father sought and obtained a temporary custody order awarding him custody of the child pending further proceedings. The order stated that neither parent could remove the child from Kitsap County.

FIRST DAY, JANUARY 12, 2009

2009 REGULAR SESSION

WHEREAS, on August 15, 1992, the Kitsap County Sheriff served Ms. Scott with the temporary custody order; surprised and outraged, she grabbed her child and fled the residence. A few days later, Ms. Scott was arrested when she returned to Washington State from Idaho. Ms. Scott was charged with First Degree Custodial Interference and subsequently entered into a plea agreement in which she was sentenced to 25 days jail time with credit for 25 days served, 24 months community supervision, and a $987 fine.

WHEREAS, following her conviction, Ms. Scott entered and completed an in-patient treatment center for drugs and alcohol; sought five years of therapy for the domestic violence she endured; and returned to school to earn her GED. Ms. Scott fought a four year batter to gain custody of her children from their drug-addicted father. In 2000, she received her Associate of Arts and Sciences Degree from Olympic College; in 2002, she received her Bachelor of Arts degree from Western Washington University. While pursuing both degrees, Ms. Scott served as a volunteer for the Head Start and ECEA programs.

WHEREAS, along with her own children, Ms. Scott has had custody of her nieces Hailey and Kailey Frias since they were born. Hailey and Kailey's mother has a history of methamphetamine abuse and has had four children removed from her care; Ms. Scott raised three of those children.

WHEREAS, on September 16, 2006, Kailey was born six weeks premature; she needed two blood transfusions, suffered a Grade 4 bleed on the brain, and weighed less than 4 pounds. The Department of Social and Health Services found that Kailey needed continued placement due to the level of medical care and monitoring she required. At the time of her birth, DSHS chose to institutionalize Kailey; their assessment was that she would die within her first year.

WHEREAS, upon Kailey's release from the hospital in October 2006, she was placed with Ms. Scott at Ms. Scott's insistence; since that time, Kailey has lived continuously in that home with her sister Hailey. Kailey has many developmental delays, cannot sit up unassisted, and requires continuous monitoring. Her long-term diagnosis has not been determined and Cerebral Palsy has not been ruled out.

WHEREAS, Kailey's parents' rights were terminated on March 6, 2008, and Kailey is now adoptable. Ms. Scott is willing to be a permanent placement for Kailey; however, DSHS says that Ms. Scott's 1992 Custodial Interference conviction disqualifies her permanently.

WHEREAS, Ms. Scott presented several letters of support attesting that she has proven herself to be a conscientious, committed, and loving mother to all of her children. Kailey's Guardian ad Litem reported to the court that "Melissa continues to love and nurture Kailey as a birth mother would. She is devoted to providing the best care possible....Since Melissa Scott has custody of Kailey's sister, it would be in both of their...interests to keep them together."

WHEREAS, over 15 years have elapsed since Ms. Scott's conviction without any further arrests or convictions. Her current conviction of record may result in Kailey being removed from the only home she has ever known.

WHEREAS, I have reviewed all pertinent facts and circumstances surrounding this matter, the circumstances of the crime, and the favorable recommendation of the Washington State Clemency and Pardons Board. In light of the foregoing, I have determined that the best interests of justice will be served by this action.

MICHAEL B. FOXWORTHY

To All to Whom These Presents Shall Come, Greetings:

WHEREAS, on February 22, 1985, Michael Foxworthy was pulled over by a police officer, handcuffed, and placed in the back of a patrol car. While in the patrol car, a young lady appeared, looked at him, and told the officer, "No, that's not him." Mr. Foxworthy was arrested, however, and charged with Robbery in the First Degree. All the while, Mr. Foxworthy maintained his innocence.

WHEREAS, counsel for Mr. Foxworthy recommended that he avoid a lengthy trial by entering an Alford plea. Because Mr. Foxworthy had no prior criminal history, his attorney believed Mr. Foxworthy would receive at most a work release sentence and the matter would go away. On March 11, 1986, Mr. Foxworthy entered an Alford plea to the charge of Robbery in the Second Degree and was sentenced to five months in jail and ordered to pay restitution.

WHEREAS, prior to his arrest and conviction, Mr. Foxworthy served as a medic in the Army, during which he received a good conduct medal. Up until the arrest for which he seeks a pardon, he had no prior criminal record.

WHEREAS, Mr. Foxworthy completed all of his court obligations and received a Certificate and Order of Discharge in 1987. He entered Seattle University, graduating with a Bachelors degree in 1995. In 2001, he applied to be trained as a Registered Vascular Technologist. He was one of four people selected from approximately 1500 applicants for admission to a two-year intensive education program. In 2003, he completed the program and obtained his Vascular Technologist Certification.

WHEREAS, between 2002 and 2006, Mr. Foxworthy underwent two brain surgeries. In 2006, having just recovered from his second brain surgery, Mr. Foxworthy returned to work. At that time, he was informed that it would be virtually impossible to place him in a hospital setting as hospital policies barred employing convicts. Hospital facilities in Seattle where he once worked were no longer options for him. His employer therefore relocated him to Yakima where he is earning significantly less, and away from family and friends in order to keep him employed. As more hospitals have instituted mandatory background checks on all employees, Mr. Foxworthy has found his ability to pursue his career severely diminished.

WHEREAS, the President and CEO of Mr. Foxworthy's employer considers him to be of the highest integrity, focused, dedicated, intelligent and a hardworking employee. Mr. Foxworthy's immediate supervisor noted that his skill as a vascular technologist is impeccable.

FIRST DAY, JANUARY 12, 2009

WHEREAS, at Mr. Foxworthy's Clemency and Pardons hearing, the Board Members noted that he had no other criminal history and that, even after two brain surgeries, he was able to complete an intensive education program and demonstrate that he is a proved asset to the healthcare community. The Board found the petition extraordinary and voted 5-0 to recommend to the Governor that a full and unconditional pardon be granted.

WHEREAS, I have reviewed all pertinent facts and circumstance surrounding this matter, the circumstances of the crime, and the favorable recommendation of the Washington State Clemency and Pardons Board. In light of the foregoing, I have determined that the best interests of justice will be served by this action.

NOW, THEREFORE, I Christine O. Gregoire, by virtue of the power vested in me as Governor of the State of Washington, hereby grant to Michael B. Foxworthy this full and unconditional pardon of his conviction of Robbery in the Second Degree so that he may pursue his professional goals.

To all to Whom These Presents Shall Come, Greetings:

WHEREAS, shortly after graduating from high school, James L. Clark suffered a hemorrhagic stroke requiring brain surgery. Because he suffered from grand mal seizures, could not drive, and was dependent on family for care, Mr. Clark lived with his mother during his recuperation. His physicians had warned him not to suffer any head trauma during his recovery.

WHEREAS, Mr. Clark described his stepfather as a substance abuser who was prone to violent outbursts. He witnessed his stepfather hit a child with a golf club and choke another until he passed out. Mr. Clark feared his stepfather.

WHEREAS, during his recuperation, Mr. Clark heard his mother and stepfather arguing. He tried to calm them down, only to have his stepfather chase him through the house while threatening to kill him. Mr. Clark grabbed a .22 rifle that he and his stepbrother used for target practice. Mr. Clark stated that he did not know that the rifle was loaded and only hoped that it would scare his stepfather away. As Mr. Clark ran he turned, pointed the gun toward the floor and pulled the trigger. The rifle discharged. Unbeknownst to Mr. Clark, he shot his stepfather in the foot.

WHEREAS, Mr. Clark's defense counsel, without exploring issues of self defense, advised Mr. Clark to plead guilty or risk several years in prison. Mr. Clark pled guilty to Assault in the Third Degree rather than face the chance of jail time. He was sentenced to six months on house arrest.

WHEREAS, after serving his house arrest, Mr. Clark was placed on community supervision for two years. He remained violation free during his entire supervision period, reported regularly to his community corrections officer, and attended all mental health and counseling sessions as required. Since his conviction in 1998, Mr. Clark has had no subsequent contact with Washington State law enforcement.

WHEREAS, in 1999, Mr. Clark graduated from Clark College with an Associate Arts degree. Mr. Clark has since obtained two Bachelor degrees and is close to completing his doctoral degree. He graduated 2002 with Honors in Neuroscience and Psychology. While pursuing his education, he served as a teaching assistant and research assistant for several professors. In 2003, Clark was one of 94 students admitted from nearly 400 applicants to Washington State University's Doctor of Pharmacy program. Mr. Clark is licensed as a pharmacist intern in Washington, Oregon, and Idaho.

WHEREAS, Mr. Clark's convictions preclude him from arranging and completing a year-long experiential practicum required to complete his doctoral degree, as most health care institutions have a policy against allowing convicts to work in their facilities.

WHEREAS, A large support group attended Mr. Clark's Clemency and Pardons Board hearing or wrote in support of his pardon request, including several of his former professors.

WHEREAS, the Clark County Prosecutor stated that his office would not oppose a pardon if it were recommended by the Board and wrote, "This may very well meet the definition of an extraordinary case."

WHEREAS, at the Clemency and Pardons Board's hearing, the Board Members noted Mr. Clark's remarkable work ethic and academic achievements given his medical and family obstacles. The Board voted 5-0 to recommend to the Governor that a full and unconditional pardon be granted.

WHEREAS, I have reviewed all pertinent facts and circumstance surrounding this matter, the circumstances of the crime, and the favorable recommendation of the Washington State Clemency and Pardons Board. WHEREAS, on October 9, 1991, Mr. Arteaga went to Child Protective Services (CPS) and reported that he had sexually abused his stepdaughter approximately three of four times over a period of 10 months, with the last incident occurring approximately one year prior to the report.

WHEREAS, in April 1993, Mr. Artega was sentenced to six month partial confinement under a Work Release Program and ordered to participate in sex offender treatment for two years. Mr. Artega successfully completed the terms of his sentence.

WHEREAS, Dr. Mark Cross, who oversaw Mr. Artega's treatment from 1993 to 1995, wrote in support of Mr. Artega's pardon petition. He stated that Mr. Artega always took full responsibility for his offenses, did not attempt to blame the victim, and sought to learn what he could do to avoid re-offending. Dr. Cross concluded that Mr. Artega is at an extremely low risk of reoffending, especially since more than 10 years have passed since his offense.

WHEREAS, upon his arrest and conviction Mr. Artega reported his crimes to his church and was ex-communicated. According to the former president of Mr. Artega's church, Mr. Artega's dedication and commitment to his church earned him re-admittance as a member in full fellowship in 1996.

WHEREAS, the victim personally addressed the Board and stated that she has forgiven her stepfather for his crimes. She stated that her family, especially her own children, would be devastated if her stepfather was deported to Mexico. She expressed concern with who would support her mother, who is in failing health and is dependent on Mr. Artega. The victim personally asked the Board to recommend that her stepfather's petition be granted.

WHEREAS, Mr. Artega's wife explained her debilitating health problems to the Board, which includes Bell's palsy, diabetes, high blood pressure, and severe sleep apnea. She further explained how dependent she was on her husband's assistance with her care, their home and her medical bills, and that she would likely lose her home if Mr. Artega were deported.

WHEREAS, at Mr. Artega's Clemency and Pardons hearing, the Board Members felt that a combination of factors existed, making this case extraordinary, including the demonstration of rehabilitation for not reoffending for the last 14 years, the support of the victim, the significant lapse of time between the offense and potential deportation, and the severe emotional and financial hardship to the family if Mr. Artega were deported.

WHEREAS, I have reviewed all pertinent facts and circumstance surrounding this matter, the circumstances of the crime, and the favorable recommendation of the Washington State Clemency and Pardons Board. In light of the foregoing, I have determined that the best interests of justice will be served by this action.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Christine O. PROVIDED that in the event Mr. Artega is convicted of any offense classified as a gross misdemeanor or felony in the state of Washington or violates the conditions of this commutation within the 10 years following this pardon, as determined by the Governor, the Conditional Pardon is revoked without notice.

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR

March 21, 2008

To the Honorable President and members,
The Senate of the State of Washington

Ladies and Gentlemen:

I am returning, without my approval as to Sections 11 and 13, Second Substitute Senate Bill No. 6732 entitled:

“AN ACT Relating to implementing the recommendations of the joint legislative task force on the underground economy in the construction industry.”

This bill provides precise tools to both the Department of Labor and Industries and the Employment Security Department to crack down on the underground construction economy. This legislation strengthens the ability of the two departments to enforce the statutes most frequently violated by unregistered contractors. It also provides the enforcement staff and the penalties necessary to make an impact on the underground construction economy.

Section 11 directs the Department of Labor and Industries to hire three staff members, including a working supervisor. While it is understandable that the Legislature wishes to make clear its intent regarding the Department's enforcement staff, specific reporting relationships and staffing levels are decisions best left to the Department and its management. The underlying strategies and tools described in the bill as a whole depend upon increased staffing in the Department's fraud audit infraction and revenue team. Therefore, I am directing the Department of Labor and Industries to hire investigative staff, consistent with the legislative appropriation provided for implementation of this bill, to carry out the activities and functions necessary to curb the activities of the underground construction economy.

2009 REGULAR SESSION

Section 13 directs the Department of Labor and Industries to establish a pilot program with local jurisdictions surrounding the collection and sharing of building permit information. The intent and makeup of this study is unclear and the language provides little direction as to the nature of the pilot project. Since the pilot was intended to run until the end of 2014, I believe the legislature can revisit this idea in the next session.

For these reasons, I have vetoed Sections 11 and 13 of Second Substitute Senate Bill No. 6732.

With the exception of Sections 11 and 13, Second Substitute Senate Bill No. 6732 is approved.

Respectfully submitted,
CHRISTINE O. GREGOIRE, Governor

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR

March 21, 2008

To the Honorable President and Members,
The Senate of the State of Washington

Ladies and Gentlemen:

I am returning, without my approval, Substitute Senate Bill No. 6804 entitled:

"AN ACT Relating to capital grants for integrated long-term care worker training labs in the community and technical college system."

If it had been funded, this bill would have established a capital grant program for up to four long-term care worker training labs in the community and technical college system. However, the bill includes a clause stating that the proposed pilot grant program is null and void unless funding for the program is included in the 2008 supplemental budget. The Legislature did not include funding in either the operating or capital supplemental budgets. By simultaneously including the null and void clause in the bill while not appropriating funding, the Legislature did not intend the bill to become effective.

For these reasons, I have vetoed Substitute Senate Bill No. 6804 in its entirety.

Respectfully submitted,
CHRISTINE O. GREGOIRE, Governor

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR

March 26, 2008

To the Honorable President and Members,
The Senate of the State of Washington

Ladies and Gentlemen:

I am returning, without my approval as to Sections 204 and 307, Second Substitute Senate Bill No. 6377 entitled:

"AN ACT Relating to secondary career and technical education."

Section 204 provides for three-year grants to high schools and skills centers for implementing integrated work skills, basic skills and English skills program. The Legislature did not allocate funding for Section 204 of this bill in either the supplemental operating budget or in Engrossed Second Substitute Senate Bill No. 6673, which specified the purposes of the appropriations for this legislation. Instead, the Legislature allocated funding in the supplemental operating budget for program development and plans for implementing integrated programs at five skills center. I look forward to receiving the report on these efforts in November. This will guide future program development in this area.

Section 307 creates a new program, the In-Demand Scholars Program, to be administered by the Workforce Training and Education Board. The Legislature did not allocate funding for this new program in either the supplemental operating budget or in Engrossed Second Substitute Senate Bill No. 6673, which specified the purposes of the appropriations for this bill.

For these reasons, I have vetoed Sections 204 and 307 of Second Substitute Senate Bill No. 6377.

With the exceptions of Sections 204 and 307, Second Substitute Senate Bill No. 6377 is approved.

Respectfully submitted,
CHRISTINE O. GREGOIRE, Governor

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR

March 27, 2008

To the Honorable President and Members,
The Senate of the State of Washington

Ladies and Gentlemen:

I am returning without my approval as to Section 15, Senate Bill No. 6310 entitled:

"AN ACT Relating to correcting obsolete references concerning chapter 10.77 RCW."

Section 15 is an emergency clause. An emergency clause is to be used where it is necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health or safety or whenever it is essential for the support of state government. This bill makes technical corrections to existing law by deleting obsolete terms and correcting references. I do not believe that an emergency clause is warranted.

For these reasons, I have vetoed Section 15 of Senate Bill No. 6310.

With the exception of Section 15, Senate Bill No. 6310 is approved.

Respectfully submitted,
CHRISTINE O. GREGOIRE, Governor

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR

March 28, 2008

To the Honorable President and Members,
The Senate of the State of Washington

Ladies and Gentlemen:

I am returning, without my approval as to Section 1, Substitute Senate Bill No. 6743 entitled:

FIRST DAY, JANUARY 12, 2009

2009 REGULAR SESSION

“AN ACT Relating to autism awareness instruction for teachers of students with autism.”

Respectfully submitted,
CHRISTINE O. GREGOIRE, Governor

This bill provides for training and guidelines for teachers of students with autism.

Section 1 includes an extensive listing of items for an autism guidebook that is being developed by the Caring for Washington Individuals with Autism Task Force with staff support from the Department of Health. These items are very specific regarding possible strategies and activities that could be included to support children with autism in our public schools.

The OSPI already has a guide developed as a resource for both educators and parents, produced by the Autism Outreach Project, which maintains an informational web site as well as an e-mail address for communication with individuals with specific questions and concerns. I believe that this guide is the most appropriate document to address the many issues raised in Section 1.

Therefore, I have asked the OSPI to update its guide and to emphasize tools for parents to use. I have also asked that this updated guide be distributed to educational service districts, school districts, appropriate school employees and parent advocacy groups.

Additionally, I have asked the Professional Educator Standards Board and the OSPI to develop recommendations for autism awareness instruction and methods of teaching students with autism that will strengthen learning for students. The recommendations will address appropriate content in teacher preparation and professional development. These reports will be completed by December 1, 2008.

For these reasons, I am vetoing Section 1 of Substitute Senate Bill No. 6743.

With the exception of Section 1, Substitute Senate Bill No. 6743 is approved.

Respectfully submitted,
CHRISTINE O. GREGOIRE, Governor

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR

March 28, 2008

To the Honorable President and Members,
The Senate of the State of Washington

Ladies and Gentlemen:

I am returning without my approval as to Section 2, Substitute Senate Bill No. 6807 entitled:

“AN ACT Relating to discharge of long-term care residents.”

Substitute Senate Bill No. 6807 prohibits a boarding home from transferring or discharging a current resident on the basis that it is voluntarily withdrawing from the Medicaid program.

Section 2 requires all long-term care facilities to disclose in writing to any potential resident prior to admission the facility policy on accepting Medicaid as a payment source. Upon admission, the disclosure will be considered a legally binding contract between the resident and the facility.

I am concerned that this section is impossible to implement retroactively, and there is no recourse for those who would be in violation of this bill the moment it becomes effective. In addition, Washington’s administrative code already requires the disclosure contemplated in Section 2.

For these reason, I have vetoed Section 2 of Substitute Senate Bill No. 6807.

With the exception of Section 2, Substitute Senate Bill No. 6807 is approved.

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR

April 1, 2008

To the Honorable President and Members,
The Senate of the State of Washington

Ladies and Gentlemen:

I am returning, without my approval as to Section 3, Second Substitute Senate Bill No. 5596 entitled:

“AN ACT relating to fair payment for chiropractic services.”

This bill provides that a health insurance carrier may not pay a chiropractor less for a given service or procedure than it pays any other provider for that service or procedure.

Section 3 directs the Insurance Commissioner after January 1, 2010 to contract for an evaluation of the impact of Section 1 on the utilization and cost of health care services, and requires carriers to provide any data necessary to complete the evaluation. The evaluation is due to the Legislature by January, 2012. Since it was not otherwise funded, the study will be paid for through the administrative assessment levied on carriers by the Office of the Insurance Commissioner. This is a significant administrative burden on carriers with little benefit.

For these reasons, I have vetoed Section 3 of Second Substitute Senate Bill No. 5596.

With the exception of Section 3, Second Substitute Senate Bill No. 5596 is approved.

Respectfully submitted,
CHRISTINE O. GREGOIRE, Governor

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR

April 1, 2008

To the Honorable President and Members,
The Senate of the State of Washington

Ladies and Gentlemen:

I am returning without my approval as to Sections 5, 6, 8, 9, and 11, Engrossed Second Substitute Senate Bill No. 6111 entitled:

“AN ACT Relating to generating electricity from tidal and wave energy.”

Washington State is currently working with tidal and wave energy project proponents and federal agencies to identify what will need to take place to specify potential environmental impacts and Engrossed Second Substitute Senate Bill No. 6111 establishes a workgroup to further this inquiry.

Sections 5 and 6 require that a public-private entity be created to support hydrokinetic energy development, and that a report to the Legislature be submitted in December 2008. I believe that this work is premature until we understand the potential impact on Puget Sound and our ocean resources.

Sections 8 and 9 exempt machinery and equipment used in generating tidal or wave energy from state and local retail sales and use taxes and public utility taxes. Such tax exemptions are more appropriately considered once commercial production of tidal turbines is viable.

FIRST DAY, JANUARY 12, 2009

2009 REGULAR SESSION

Section 11 is a null and void clause which, due to the veto of Sections 5 and 6, is unnecessary.

For these reasons, I have vetoed Sections 5, 6, 8, 9, and 11 of Engrossed Second Substitute Senate Bill No. 6111.

With the exception of Sections 5, 6, 8, 9, and 11, Engrossed Second Substitute Senate Bill No. 6111 is approved.

Respectfully submitted,
CHRISTINE O. GREGOIRE, Governor

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR

April 1, 2008

To the Honorable President and Members,
The Senate of the State of Washington

Ladies and Gentlemen:

I am returning, without my approval as to Sections 7, 8, 9 and 10, Engrossed Substitute Senate Bill No. 6580 entitled:

“AN ACT Relating to mitigating the impacts of climate change through the growth management act.”

Section 2 requires the Department of Community, Trade and Economic Development to develop advisory methods for how counties and cities can evaluate and respond to climate change. In my view, this section of the bill does not create a new mandate for local governments, and does not provide grounds for new litigation under the Growth Management Act. The section appropriately recognizes the differences between our urban and rural settings, and requires the Department to follow the recommendations of the policy committee created in Section 4 of the bill. The bill directs the committee, which will include legislators, county and city officials, tribes, state agencies, business, agriculture, forestry, land use and other interests, to develop recommendations for whether and how climate change could be addressed in the GMA. Any further action on this topic is subject to future decisions by the Legislature. In addition, Section 6 of the bill ensures that the ongoing Ruckelshaus Center process related to agriculture and land use is not affected.

Section 3 establishes a voluntary pilot global warming mitigation and adaptation program for up to three counties and up to six cities. The Department is required to provide grants and technical assistance to local governments who are addressing climate change through their land use plans. Only partial funding was provided for the pilot program – enough for the Department to provide limited technical assistance, but not enough to provide state grant funds to the pilot jurisdictions. I ask the Department to encourage local jurisdictions that have their own resources to begin, on a voluntary basis, to address the role of land use and transportation planning in mitigating climate change. However, given the state’s budget forecast, I strongly believe that additional state funding for the pilots will not be available next biennium.

Section 7 is an emergency clause to allow the bill to take effect immediately. An emergency clause is to be used where it is necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health or safety or whenever it is essential for the support of state government. The clause would allow the Department to promptly convene a committee and begin work on a report due later this year. However, there was no supplemental funding provided to implement the bill in fiscal year 2008. As a result, the emergency clause is not needed.

Section 8 would declare this act null and void if funding were not provided specifically for Section 2 of the bill (advisory methods) in the omnibus appropriations act. Section 9 would declare this act null and void if funding were not provided specifically for Section 3 of the bill (pilot program) in the omnibus appropriations act. Section 10 of the bill would declare this act null and void if funding were not provided specifically for this measure in the omnibus appropriations act. Funding for this bill, including Sections 2 and 3, was included in the omnibus appropriations act. As a result, the null and void clauses are not needed.

For these reasons, I have vetoed Sections 7, 8, 9 and 10 of Engrossed Substitute Senate Bill No. 6580.

With the exception of Sections 7, 8, 9 and 10, Engrossed Substitute Senate Bill No. 6580 is approved.

Respectfully submitted,
CHRISTINE O. GREGOIRE, Governor

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR

April 1, 2008

To the Honorable President and Members,
The Senate of the State of Washington

Ladies and Gentlemen:

I am returning, without my approval as to Section 4, Engrossed Substitute Senate Bill No. 6665 entitled:

“AN ACT Relating to the intensive case management and integrated response pilot programs.”

This bill extends the life of two pilot programs authorized by the Legislature in 2005, the Intensive Case Management and the Integrated Crisis Response pilots. Section 4 provides the Department of Social and Health Services with the authority to expand the number of intensive crisis response pilots. Vetoing this sections allows time for the Washington State Institute for Public Policy to adequately study the effectiveness of these programs prior to making a determination on whether to expand their availability.

For these reasons, I have vetoed Section 4 of Engrossed Substitute Senate Bill No. 6665.

With the exception of Section 4, Engrossed Substitute Senate Bill No. 6665 is approved.

Respectfully submitted,
CHRISTINE O. GREGOIRE, Governor

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR

April 1, 2008

To the Honorable President and Members,
The Senate of the State of Washington

Ladies and Gentlemen:

I am returning without my approval as to Sections 6, 11, 12 and 13, Engrossed Second Substitute Senate Bill No. 6673 entitled:

“AN ACT Relating to learning opportunities to assist students to obtain a high school diploma.”

Engrossed Second Substitute Senate Bill No. 6673 provides support for students in need of additional time or assistance to meet state academic standards and graduation requirements. Key components of this bill enhance the Learning Assistance Program, assure parent notification of student progress, and explore on-line curriculum support in languages other than English and build teacher instructional capacity. This bill also creates a number of new programs.

Section 6 creates a new duty for school districts to provide all tenth graders enrolled in the district the option of taking the PSAT at no cost to the student. While this test may provide students some information regarding their readiness for the SAT and college preparedness, there has not been coordination with the other college readiness assessment work already in progress, specifically work being done in mathematics.

Section 11 directs Educational Service Districts to develop and provide a program of outreach to community-based programs and organizations that are serving non-English speaking segments of the population as well as those programs that target groups of students who are struggling academically. This is an idea that should be considered within the context of the several studies, due this December, that will analyze and make recommendations on how to close the achievement gap.

Section 12 direct the Office of the Superintendent of Public Instruction to allocate grant funds to school districts to provide summer school funding for all middle and high school students to explore career opportunities rich in math, science, and technology. School districts and skills centers should be finding ways to engage students in learning and career exploration as part of their basic missions. Once exciting opportunity initiated in 2006 in the Washington Aerospace Scholars, a statewide partnership through the Washington Aerospace Scholars Foundation with The Museum of Flight, schools and business partners. The program gives high school students the opportunity to participate in hands-on engineering activities; tour facilities at Boeing, the University of Washington, Microsoft, and Battelle; receive mentoring from astronauts, pilots, engineers, and scientists; and conduct a project on Mars exploration. Future funds need to support targeted programs that have been proven effective.

Section 13 directs the Office of the Superintendent of Public Instruction to contract with a national organization to establish and operate an endowment for the promotion of geography education. There are no funds provided for the creation of the endowment program.

For these reasons, I am vetoing Sections 6, 11, 12 and 13 of Engrossed Second Substitute Senate Bill No. 6673.

With the exception of Sections 6, 11, 12 and 13, Engrossed Second Substitute Senate Bill No. 6673 is approved.

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR

April 1, 2008

To the Honorable President and Members,
The Senate of the State of Washington

Ladies and Gentlemen:

I am returning without my approval as to Section 4, Senate Bill No. 6818 entitled:

“AN ACT Relating to transparency in state expenditures.”

Section 4 of this bill would have the Legislative Evaluation and Accountability Program prepare and post to the web a presentation about school funding programs and categories. The Joint Task Force on Basic Education is currently reviewing basic education funding, and will produce a recommendation for a new K-12 funding framework for consideration by the Legislature during the 2009 session. One of the criteria for the new funding system is that it be more transparent. Because the categories and cost allocations specified in Section 4 will be outdated and need to be changed very soon, I am concerned that this provision could cause more, rather than less, confusion about how the state funds K-12 education.

For these reasons, I have vetoed Section 4 of Senate Bill No. 6818.

With the exception of Section 4, Senate Bill No. 6818 is approved.

Respectfully submitted,
CHRISTINE O. GREGOIRE, Governor

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR

April 1, 2008

To the Honorable President and Members,
The Senate of the State of Washington

Ladies and Gentlemen:

I am returning, without my approval as to Sections 10 and 12, Second Substitute Senate Bill No. 6855 entitled:

“AN ACT Relating to dedicated funding for jobs, economic development, and local capital projects.”

This bill expands upon the existing Community Services Facilities Program by creating the Building Communities Fund Account in the State Treasury. I am very supportive of the policy underlying this bill.

Section 10 give responsibility to the Economic Development Commission that it already has and this is not something the Commission requested. Reiterating it in this legislation is unnecessary. Therefore, I am vetoing Section 10 to avoid any expectations about requirements either on the Community Economic Development Board of the Economic Development Commission.

I support the concept of expanding the existing Community Services Facilities Program but it is unnecessary to outline legislative findings in this legislation. Therefore, I am vetoing Section 12.

Fro these reasons, I have vetoed Sections 10 and 12 of Second Substitute Senate Bill No. 6855.

With the exception of Sections 10 and 12, Second Substitute Senate Bill No. 6855 is approved.

Respectfully submitted,
CHRISTINE O. GREGOIRE, Governor

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have set my hand and affixed the official seal of the State of Washington, this 4th day of December, 2008.

SAM REED
Secretary of State

The Speaker (Representative Morris presiding): "In view of the election results previously read, certified to by the Secretary of State, the Joint Session now declares the following qualified citizens to be the duly elected constitutional officers of the State of Washington."

Christine Gregoire	Governor
Brad Owen	Lieutenant Governor
Sam Reed	Secretary of State
Jim McIntire	State Treasurer
Brian Sonntag	State Auditor
Rob McKenna	Attorney General
Randy Dorn	Superintendent of Public Instruction
Mike Kreidler	Insurance Commissioner
Peter Goldmark	Commissioner of Public Lands

The Speaker and the President of the Senate signed the Certificates of Election for the duly elected constitutional officers. The Speaker (Representative Morris presiding) called upon President Owen to preside.

The President introduced the State elected officials seated on the rostrum:

Christine Gregoire	Governor
Sam Reed	Secretary of State
Mike Murphy	State Treasurer
Brian Sonntag	State Auditor
Terry Bergeson	Superintendent of Public Instruction
Doug Sutherland	Commissioner of Public Lands

The flags were escorted to the rostrum by a Sergeant at Arms Color Guard, Pages Phoebe Sinclair and Erik Anderson. The President led the Chamber in the Pledge of Allegiance. The prayer was offered by Reverend Jim Erlandson, Community of Christ, Olympia.

Reverend Erlandson: "Gracious Lord, I come to you on behalf of this assembly, offering both praise and thanksgiving. Also to pause and ask you, the creator of all things to be spiritually present in today's tasks.

I offer You thanks for all of the gift of freedom; the freedom to speak, the freedom to travel, the freedom to object or to agree with those around us, the freedoms hard won by patriots who have preceded us and freedoms which are now, in part, the responsibility of those here.

I also offer You thanks for the wonderful natural resources with which you have given this State. Not only the mineral, agricultural and geographic blessings we enjoy, but also the people and their talents that give identify and character to our culture. Thank You especially for those who are being honored today. They have given service to the people of this State that is above and beyond expectation. Bless them in their ongoing public and private lives.

Please provide Your continued blessing in the endeavors of this day and this session. Bless this body in its process of decision making, that the results may provide equity and prosperity. Bless the members and their staff who have all made significant sacrifices of time and energy to serve their fellow citizens. Bless the families of the many members separated from home and hearth in order to do the work of governance. And, may You bless the process of legislation that the result may be well crafted laws that improve the quality of life for the residents of this great State.

Amen."

The President: "As the Speaker has announced, this occasion provides all of us with the opportunity to recognize our friends who are leaving office."

HONORING OUTGOING STATE ELECTED OFFICIALS

The President: "Ladies and gentlemen, the President has the great privilege of being able to share some information about the distinguish public servants that we are honoring today. They have served with great distinction over the years. I am going to start with Commissioner of Public Lands, Doug Sutherland.

As our State's twelfth Lands Commissioner, Doug Sutherland has overseen the management of our State's 5.6 million acres of forest, range, agricultural, aquatic and commerce lands. Throughout his tenure, these resources have generated more than 200 million dollars a year in revenue, much of which has gone to support public schools, state institutions, and county services. Doug was the first Commissioner of Public Lands to permanently protect the old growth forest. He led the development and the signing of the forest practices habitat conservation plan. He improved and diversified management of Washington's trust land portfolio by completing major land exchanges that resulted in the creation of two new State forests, the Ahtanum Multiple Use Area west of Yakima and the Naneum Ridge State Forest north of Ellensburg. He eliminated environmental and public safety hazards from state-owned aquatic lands by removing more than 200 sinking or sunken vessels plus nearly 11 million pounds of toxic creosote laden materials from the beaches and waters of Puget Sound and from other bodies of water in Washington State.

I was privileged to serve with Commissioner Sutherland for many years on the State Capitol Committee which provides oversight of buildings and grounds projects on our splendid capitol campus and I will miss the keen perspectives and insights he provided to this group.

Prior to these impressive accomplishments as Public Lands Commissioner, Doug was a city council member, a mayor of Tacoma, the first city manager for the City of SeaTac and the Pierce County Executive. He has also been active on a wide variety of local boards, commissions and charities including the Pierce County Chapter of the American Heart Association, the Tacoma Youth Symphony, and the Tacoma Urban League.

Commissioner, thank you very much for your incredible service to the people of the State of Washington. I hope we will still see you around working with us in the future."

Doug Sutherland: "Madam Governor, Mr. President, Mr. Speaker of the House, members of the House and Senate, I am delighted to be here and to enjoy today's celebrations.

I have over the past eight years, been blessed with significant and incredible opportunities. Opportunities to be able to serve the people of this State and to be able to serve it in such a way that not only were we able to provide significant financial, ecological, environmental and social opportunities and benefits but also to be able to serve with an incredible group of people who work in the Department of Natural Resources. This group of people, and they are only just part of the 1500 who work day in and day out, like no other agency that I have ever been associated with. The successes that the President has outlined are not because of the things that I have done necessarily but because of the strength and the vision and the capabilities of the people who work in the Department of Natural Resources.

You folks have an incredible challenge in front of you. The lands that we manage are under your trusteeship. You have this incredible 8 to 10 billion dollar asset in which every year we are provide significant benefits to the people of this State – financially, socially, ecologically and environmentally. These benefits come as a result of the recognition of the historical nature of these trust lands. Do not lose the vision that the people that wrote our State constitution and those who developed the Enabling Acts of this State. Those legislatures that have been here before, who have continually provided significant direction – you most maintain that valuable vision that has been created and developed. As this State continues to grow, the demands on these lands are going to continue to grow as well. I see that is a most critical part of being able to maintain the financial, ecological, environmental and social benefits that can accrue from these lands.

This State has a great future. You have a great challenge. This year is going to be very difficult for you. And I wish you all the very best luck. God's speed and thank you so very much for your support and help in making my career here in these past years successful. We didn't always agree but in the end the decisions that were made were made based on good information, based on what and how does it benefit the people of this State. I appreciate the support you have given me and members of our staff.

Thank you."

The President: "Next I have the privilege of introducing Superintendent of Public Instruction, Terry Bergeson. During her twelve years as Washington Superintendent of Public Institution, Dr. Terry Bergeson has striven to transform the teaching profession in our State and to ensure all students achieve a diploma that prepares them for success in the twenty first century.

Terry's distinguish career has covered every aspect of the education profession during which she worked tirelessly to build partnership between legislators, educators, parents and community leaders. She has been active as classroom teacher and Counselor in public schools. Within the National Education Association and Washington Education Association she has been active. She has served as the Executive Director of the Central Kitsap School District and then the Washington State Commission on Student Learning.

As our Superintendent of Public Instruction, Dr. Bergeson worked to strengthened standards and accountability and improve student achievement and make Washington a national leader in its professional support for our teachers. Under her leadership, students in every ethnic group have improved their academic performance with the most notable improvements coming from students in traditionally under performing populations. For the sixth consecutive year, Washington has the highest SAT scores for states where more than half of all students take the test.

We have worked closely with Superintendent Bergeson in recent years on the Legislative Youth Advisory Council. The young men and women in that program are a very active group and will serve as an important voice in the proceedings of the Legislature especially as legislative proposals relate to young people.

She has also been very supportive and an advocate for international teacher and student exchange programs especially with Spain. Dozens of Washington teachers have gone to the University of Castilla-La Mancha in Spain to improve their Spanish language teaching skills as well as to immerse themselves and learn more about the Spanish culture. Many of our schools have welcomed teachers from Spain as well under her leadership. Students of the State of Washington have truly been the beneficiaries of these exchanges.

So I would like to thank you, Terry Bergeson for your incredible service to our State and most importantly to your dedication to our kids."

Terry Bergeson: "Thank you very much, Lieutenant Governor, Speaker Pro Tem, our wonderful Governor Gregoire, all of my fellow elected official – those who will be staying, and my congratulations to Randy Dorn and to the other newly elected officials taking the new roles they are taking. And to those of you who are here in the House and the Senate – thank you. Congratulation to the people who just arrived. There are some wonderful new additions to the group. To those of you who are continuing to serve I wish you well this year.

For me, thank you for doing this today. It's a wonderful thing to recognize our service to the people of the State of Washington. There has been nothing that has been a more exciting challenge and a greater honor in my life than to be the State Superintendent of Public Instruction. To be the constitutional officer who oversees the paramount duty of the State of Washington, which is in our wonderful constitution, the strongest language in the United States of America. To protect the ample education of children regardless of where they live in our State, regardless of their background. I have tremendously enjoyed the partnership which I have had with the House and the Senate, with you, Chris and with Gary Locke and the governors before you. In joining forces to improve the opportunities for the children of this State. We've done a great job. I have many people in the audience who I have worked with in the House and Senate who have deep caring for children with disabilities, for the gifted children who sometimes are forgotten because we think they are so strong. But they are only strong if they have the opportunity to fly, to find their way in this world. To get access for those children – particularly poor children and children of color. I used to run the gifted program in Central Kitsap and at first I didn't like gifted education because the kids I had always taught never got into the programs. Well today they do. Today we have hundreds of young people in Advanced Placement programs because of the grants you have helped me get from the Federal government and because of the money which you have invested in Advanced Placement. We have children from our migrant communities and children from rural and intercity poverty taking and passing Advanced Placement exams because they are getting access to strong academic programs. They are going to soar. We have children from military families and children who are in foster care who we have worked so hard to make sure that they have an opportunity to have some stability in the schools by changing some of our rules and providing transportation and support. The new Building Bridges program that we just passed is really for the first time concentrating on ways to find the early warning systems of children who are beginning to disengage in our schools, catch them before we lose them and intervene in ways that are powerful. There are consortia all across the State of wonderful people from the Social and Health Services, community and school people working together to keep these kids, to educate them well and to keep them engaged and interested, and knowing that we love them, that we care about them in our schools.

SECOND DAY, JANUARY 13, 2009

There are so many things that come through the State Superintendent's Office which relate to children from all different backgrounds, their safety, the schools that they are in, the capital construction. We have wonderful new career and technical legislation which you passed last year which is going to change the face of education and open pathways for young people who need a rigorous future but they need a hands-on learning environment. We have done miracles in our State in the last decade and a half. It has been our partnership together which has made that happen. I want to thank you for the support that you have given me and the strength that you have had to stay with our standards because as I talk about all these different groups of children, the big thing we have done is to take our school system from a place where many kids fell through the cracks because everyone taught what they thought they wanted to teach. Now we have really strong academic standards. We had a really good fight about math and science. And we have revised those standards and now we have great math and science standards. They are going to take kids to a whole new level of heights. Over 93% of our kids met the reading and writing standards, and you had the courage to stay with me and with the educators on the graduation requirements that people thought would be very difficult and were very challenging. But children made it. And kids made it that no one thought would make it. We had three thousand teachers this week at the yearly conference I started when I was with the Commission on Student Learning. A young woman from Selah came up to me. She told me her school district had fifty children last Fall who were not going to make it. The teachers started working with those children and all fifty of those children graduated. She found one young man who could not read or write at all. They worked together for eight weeks after school and during the school day, and it just popped. He learned to read and he learned to write. It was in there and this young man connected. No one knew how bad off he was, he passed both the tests and now he is on his way to college. You have helped me and everyone in the State make that happen. I thank you for that because we are better because of it. Our future is brighter because of it.

Doug said it, and I love my work with Doug on the Board of Natural Resources but as we look into the future that this is going to be such a challenging year for you. I hate to leave the work and the people but I don't miss having to make some of the decisions you are going to be struggling with, with the budget crisis which we are in. But we are going to come out of the crisis because we are Americans. We are going to have something new at the national level. We have dug a hole for ourselves and we cannot leave our kids in that hole. We are going to find our way out of it. This State is strong and resilient, and we will come back. As you make your decisions about education funding, we have good information now about how to fund schools. A group of your colleagues have helped to create that new structure. There will not be a lot of money to do anything about it at this point other than to get the policy direction set. But our schools need to remain an island of safety and stability and place of learning for every child in our State. The most vulnerable families are going to have the most difficulty in the times which we face. So as you struggle with your decisions, I would urge you to keep your hearts where I believe they always are for the children and their education in the State of Washington.

Thank you for giving me the opportunity to serve this State.

I'm not done, I don't have a Plan B because I didn't plan to lose. But I am making my Plan B. I would love to help our new president fix 'No Child Left Behind'. He says 'Mend it, don't end it'. I don't know where I'm going but I will still be involved with children and education. I will never forget you.

Thank you. And thank you for doing this for all of us today."

The President introduced Mrs. Teri Murphy, wife of retiring State Treasurer Mike Murphy.

Mr. President: "Mike Murphy's distinguished career of public service began with a tour of duty in the military after which he was hired by the Office of the State Treasurer where he served in various capacities for fifteen years. He was appointed to the position of Thurston County Treasurer in the Spring 1987 and was subsequently elected and re-elected to that office where he served until he was elected Washington's twenty-first State Treasurer in 1996. As State Treasurer, Mike Murphy has been responsible for our State's treasury portfolio and the local government investment pool. As the chair of the State Finance Committee, he has been responsible for the management of the State's outstanding debt and has served as one of ten voting members of the State Investment Board which manages more than 81.9 billion dollars in investments.

Treasurer Murphy helped institute innovative new ways to help local governments take advantage of the services of the State Treasurer for their debt issuance. He also oversaw the development of the Guaranteed Education Tuition or GET program which is the fastest growing pre-paid college tuition in the nation. During the last twelve years, Mike has proposed smart financing packages for projects like the new Tacoma Narrows Bridge where the State saved over 416 million dollars by using bond insurance rather than concession financing through a public-private partnership.

He also spoke out strongly against the public financing proposals which he felt were unsound. In fact, he has been more than willing to take on politicians and issues, myself included, others might think twice about. When Treasurer Murphy felt the financing being considered was not in the best interest of the State, he was often the first to speak up. In the case against me, he was wrong. Whether constituent, reporter, lobbyist or politician - they knew that with Mike Murphy what you see is what you get and what you get is straight talk.

Since I also sit on the Finance Committee and have had the opportunity over the years to work with Treasurer Murphy, I know first hand that he keeps things very interesting despite what can be some dry topics. You might say he puts a little fire in finance. Taking the boring out of bond sales. I think he wrote this. In fact no one moves money like Mike Murphy and we will owe him a great deal of gratitude - actually in truth, Mike, you've done an incredible job; your integrity and innovative style and your dedication to service is second to none."

Mike Murphy: "Thank you, Brad. I am not going to do the normal protocol thing. I am just going to say 'dear friends'.

I started in these halls in 1972. And true to the 'Murphy Tradition' I'm about ready to cry so please bear with me. I have had a really fun time here. I must thank my wife Teri. And most importantly the staff of the State Treasurer's Office. These are the folks who invest billions, borrow hundred of millions for all of us. We just recently had a bond issued last week. We were wanting to issue 860 million dollars. You had already authorized that amount. After evaluating where the markets are today indicated no, we had to issue a smaller number. So we issued 400 million dollars instead of the 860 million dollars. We did get you a good rate though. And our bond rating was reaffirmed. I was very pleased to see that because given the future budget deficient issues, they could very well downgrade our State. But we worked very hard to ensure we are a strong AA State. We are good so far.

I wanted to give some special thank you to the Speaker, Mr. Chopp. When I came in office in 1997, the Legislature had already decided what you were going to do with the Tacoma Narrows Bridge. I got a briefing by the DOT and they said 'Murph, it's not your deal'. I said 'Thanks, I have other things to do'. So I went about my business until I started getting sued. I don't know why they were suing me because it was somebody else's deal. Well, as it turned out, I didn't like being sued, whether as an individual or as an elected official. So I went to a number of my colleagues in the Legislative branch and said, 'Okay I can do this a little cheaper than what you planned.' And they said 'Murphy, the train left town a long time ago, you weren't on it. Forget it'. But I said 'I can save you a whole lot of money.' They said, 'We don't care we are not revisiting that issue. That issue has been done. We're over it.' So finally I got to thinking about what was the next mega-project coming down the road. That's probably the 520 highway who's district is on the western end of that? Frank Chopp. So I went up and had a chat with Frank and I was prohibited by SCC regulations from speaking publicly about that because I act as an issuer for the State. So we helped Frank, we gave him the numbers and we are so pleased to be able to help with that financing because by doing publicly funded, we saved you 416 million dollars. That was a whole lot of fun, and Frank, thank you so much for leadership.

I have had a very fun time working in government. We are leaving this afternoon. I'm taking the afternoon off. Heading down through California to our home in Arizona. I wish you all very much luck during this session. I thank you much for your kindnesses. I think I have friends wherever I look out here. We have tried to disagree without being disagreeable. We hope we have succeeded. Thank you."

The President invited everyone to the State reception room to greet the honorees.

MOTION

On motion of Representative Kessler, the Joint Session was dissolved.

Father Ryan: "My sisters and brothers, let us pray. Generous and compassionate God, you have revealed your glory to all the nations. God of power and might, wisdom and justice, through your authority is rightly administered, laws enacted and judgement is decreed. We pray today for Christine Gregoire, the Governor of this great state of Washington, for the members of the Legislature, the judges and elected civil officials and all others who are intrusted to guard our political welfare. May they be enabled by your powerful protection to discharge their responsibilities with honesty and ability. Like Solomon of old who faced with the opportunity to enjoy a mediated power he elected instead to ask of heaven, the gift of an understanding heart that he might discern between good and evil and therefore judge rightly amongst the various demands and expectations of his people. No leader could ask for more but only a foolish one would ask for less. And so as these newly elected officials begin their challenging times ahead we ask you, God our creator to bless them with courage, with understanding hearts and we pray that all the citizens of this state take the responsibility in the care of our human family. We are all one union, family. Life is not about us, we are about life so may we drop today any negative attitudes, cynicism and come together in the care and concern of one union family. Together we can do this, apart we can not and so we pray to you our Lord and God for ever and ever. Amen."

THIRD DAY, JANUARY 14, 2009

2009 REGULAR SESSION

for your wonderful performance of the National Anthem.

Mr. President, Mr. Speaker, Mr. Chief Justice, distinguished justices of the court, honored officials, members of the Washington State Legislature, former governors, tribal leaders, local government officials, members of the Consular Association of Washington, my fellow citizens: Good Afternoon.

I first want to express my condolences at the passing of Representative Steve Hailey of the 9th District. His career ended much too soon. I also want to share my personal sadness at the passing last week of Representative Bill Grant. All of us, this chamber, Bill's beloved 16th District, Bill's family — and the people of Washington — are the poorer for his loss. Bill brought to this chamber a sense of bi-partisanship, humor and compassion that we will sorely miss.

I am deeply honored to stand before you in the first moments of my second term as governor of the Great State of Washington. I am grateful and humbled that the people of Washington have chosen me to lead this state through the most difficult and trying times maybe since the Great Depression.

I know all of us in this chamber are honored to be here, and are ready to take on a crisis the likes of which our generation has never seen, let alone imagined. All of us, Democrats and Republicans — the newly elected and the seasoned — have a huge opportunity — the opportunity to bring Washington more firmly into the 21st century. For us — and for all Washingtonians — there are two words that will define us as we confront the challenge and seize the opportunity. Those words are courage and generosity.

The people of Washington are looking to us to act with remarkable courage. In turn, I believe Washingtonians will respond with very personal compassion and generosity for their neighbors. And more than ever, the people of Washington do not want partisan politics! They want us to work together to build a better state for them and their children. So I will challenge all of us today — and throughout the session — to join together. Let's use this crisis! Let's summon the courage to make the hard decisions. And let's make sure Washington emerges better positioned to create jobs, prepare our kids for the future and provide affordable health care. Let's make sure we improve our ranking from third best place to do business — to number one!

With me today is my family: My husband Mike, who plans to continue his work on behalf of veterans and children's literacy; our daughter Courtney, and, of course, our brand-new son-in-law Scott; and our daughter Michelle. My family is here not only to share this important day with me, but to remind us of just what we have at stake this legislative session — and it's the well-being of all Washington families. Too many of our families are struggling just to put food on the table and a roof over their heads. They are worried about keeping a job or finding one. They lose sleep wondering if they can save the business where they have poured their sweat and their savings. And last week, Mother Nature laid on another layer of misery, forcing thousands of people from their homes when our rivers rose and hillsides came down. Our highway transportation system and the commerce that depends on it ground to a halt. But it could have been worse if Washingtonians had not responded so quickly and wisely to the warnings and evacuated by the hundreds. For that, we owe a huge debt of gratitude to the skill of local responders, and our own state and federal agencies. I also want to thank the hundreds of Washingtonians who stepped up to help their suffering neighbors and friends. But the misery continues, and we're working very hard to help with recovery.

Last fall, a different kind of storm rolled over the nation's incredibly mismanaged mortgage and credit markets. That financial storm is now parked over Washington and almost every other state, and it's raining buckets of hardship for families and businesses. We've all worked to create a world-class education system and affordable, accessible health care, and to rapidly build on our already amazing, diverse economy. I promise you we cannot and will not forget that work. But today, our work is more basic and urgent. Our work is to help our families and businesses survive at a time when they are forced to juggle bills and cut back spending ... when too many stores, restaurants and car dealerships are struggling for customers ... and last month, when 75 percent more Washington workers filed for unemployment benefits than a year ago.

We all know our state didn't make this economic crisis, and we all know we can't unilaterally solve it. But we cannot just ride out the hard times and then go back to business as usual. Instead, we must renew hope for Washingtonians who are suffering today, and lay — for them — a platform for a better tomorrow.

First, we can and must quickly create new jobs for working families by rebuilding roads and schools, and creating a green economy for the 21st century — all in partnership with President-elect Barack Obama's "American Recovery and Reinvestment" plan.

Second, like our struggling families and businesses, we can and will tighten our belts, balance our budget and focus on basic needs — protection of our children, our schools and colleges, our public safety, our environment and our economy.

Third, we won't waste this crisis! We can and must reform state government. In this moment of clarity, we must grab the opportunity to reform so we can respond to the evolving needs of this century.

Fourth, we can and must approach all our challenges as a computer engineer might. Let's build a new platform that makes Washington unique — that can support the exciting possibilities of the 21st century rather than the fading possibilities of the last.

And finally, this is the time for generosity among all Washingtonians.

Real solutions to many of our problems will come from partnerships with our families, our communities, our faith-based organizations and our service groups. This is our time. A time like no other. Our time to show courage. Our time to reach across the aisle — Democrats and Republicans — to help our people. Our time for all to light the lamp of generosity.

And if we need an example of this can-do spirit, we can reach back 76 years to an even worse time — the Great Depression — a time of breadlines, massive unemployment, despair and hope for a better day. The first thing President Franklin Roosevelt did was get people back to work, and by the way, so did Governor Clarence Martin right here in Washington. Indeed, the most visible Northwest project built under Roosevelt's jobs plan was the world-famous Grand Coulee Dam. Tomorrow, I will introduce the "Washington Jobs Now" plan. It is nowhere near as big as the Grand Coulee Dam project back in the 20th century, but it will leave a legacy of roads, schools and green-collar jobs to thrust our state firmly into the 21st century! And I urge you to help me do it — and in the first days of this new session.

This is our moment to act with courage — boldly and urgently — as our President-elect is doing — to speed up a recovery. We can quickly create thousands of new jobs this year and next by accelerating nearly $1 billion in public works projects. These projects will build new roads and schools, and create green-collar jobs to lay more groundwork for the prosperity to come.

The time to act is now! My "Washington Jobs Now" plan will stretch over the next two years — even as we undertake the largest transportation construction cycle in state history! We now have 1,400 transportation projects under way, or about to start, worth $3 billion. By combining this historic transportation package with my "Washington Jobs Now" plan,

THIRD DAY, JANUARY 14, 2009

2009 REGULAR SESSION

we will provide nearly 20,000 jobs in the next two years.

Franklin Roosevelt did more than create jobs. And so must we. That's why I'm urging you to also act on an unemployment insurance proposal I'll soon introduce to help laid-off workers and struggling businesses. Our state has the healthiest Unemployment Trust Fund in the country. We need to put these funds to work through a temporary increase in benefits for workers and a temporary tax cut for businesses. Unemployment benefits are a uniquely powerful tool to benefit our economy. Benefits go directly to folks who need help and they are spent locally to boost business. Every dollar of benefits results in another $1.64 of buying power in our economy. And the tax break will help businesses weather the downturn.

And we must help ease the suffering of families struggling to feed their kids. Last fall, we greatly expanded eligibility for food stamps, which brings to our state $825 million in federal funding this year. Every $5 spent in food stamps ultimately means $9.20 circulating through our economy.

And finally, I have an urgent proposal to keep families in their homes. We helped homeowners last year and this year I'm asking you to approve legislation to help struggling homeowners work out ways to avoid foreclosure with time extensions. My "Washington Jobs Now" plan and the recovery proposals address some short-term needs, but they amount to more than a short-term fix. They help us build that new foundation to prepare Washington for the future.

I welcome a new dawn in Washington, D.C. — where Barack Obama and the new Congress are ready to create jobs, rebuild our nation, and help working people and businesses. Next week President-elect Obama will introduce his plan to get Americans back to work. His plan includes funding for schools, infrastructure and expansion of a green economy. I am working with the President-elect to make sure his plan includes ready-to-go projects here in Washington. The President-elect's plan will double our commitment to renewable energy production — a huge opportunity for Washington, which is already leading in renewable energy production.

Let's join that new dawn with our own plan to accelerate jobs and economic recovery. I know many of you have ideas for an economic recovery plan. I want to work with you, and with everyone else, for an effective package that will quickly pass. There is no reason to delay. The sooner we do it, the better it will be for working Washington families and businesses. When this recession ends, and it will end, we must be ready for a new economy. We need to preserve our education system to make sure we provide workers skilled in science, math, engineering and technology. We need to nurture and cultivate our growing life sciences and global health sectors. We need to deliver on the promise of a green economy and thousands of green collar-jobs. This is the economic future for our children and our state. Economic recovery also means tightening our belts and living within our means. We must do what the people who sent us here are doing.

There is a growing number of Washington families out there right now who suddenly find themselves living on an unemployment check. They know what it means to tighten their belts. I have proposed a two-year spending plan that addresses the largest budget gap in state history. This budget contains as much care and compassion as we could muster. But it still hurts real people, and with each cut I chose, I saw their faces. I don't like this budget, but I proposed it for one simple reason — I must.

Let's face it. We were dealt a terrible hand by forces beyond our control. We are forced to make unprecedented and difficult choices.

Ladies and gentlemen, this is a time for real courage! I sent you a budget that rests on our basic values. And we lay the foundation to reap the results when the recovery comes. And so we will — all of us — Democrats and Republicans — working together to make the wisest, most compassionate decisions. I'm ready to work with all of you. This is what the people expect.

And one thing we have to do together is reform state government to bring it into the 21st century, and soon. At very basic levels, businesses are struggling to reform, to change the way they do business because they simply must to survive. And our business leaders tell me that American companies, large and small, will emerge from this recession forever changed.

We have to do the same. And that's government reform. This is our chance to reform state government to make it a more nimble and relevant partner in a new state economy. Ladies and gentlemen, we need to reboot! Over the decades, state government has evolved — layer upon layer upon layer. But too much of what served the people well in 1940 or 1960 or 1990 does not serve the people well in the 21st century. There are sacred cows standing in the way. There are political roadblocks. But let's step up to the challenge for the people who sent us here. For example, we have some 470 separate boards and commissions across numerous agencies.

Is there anybody in this chamber, or this state, who believes we need any more than half of 470 boards and commissions to serve the people of Washington? There are almost 60 involved with the Department of Social and Health Services alone.

And that's not the only issue we face. For instance, we have three agencies managing natural resources, each with its own scientist standing in the same Washington stream. We need to reform, and we will. We need a lean, nimble state government serving our people in the 21st century.

We know we can do it because in some cases we already have. Today, almost 40 percent of license tabs are renewed online, saving hassles and gas. We can close 26 licensing offices across the state while extending hours of operation at the 10 most popular locations. We are finding new ways to serve our customers. And customer service is what it's all about.

Today, 18,000 full-time students at our community and technical colleges are earning course credits online. It would take an additional four community colleges to offer all those classes the old-fashioned way. Thousands of people go online to check the balance on their food stamp debit card. And more than half of small business owners are filing their state taxes online. I ask you, if we can serve our motorists, our businesses, our students and our poor with 21st century technology, why can't we serve all citizens in ways that are more convenient for them, and cheaper and more effective for government? The answer is, we can. The answer is, we will!

I'm putting the finishing touches on a package of reforms for you to consider this session. I'm asking you to act on them this year. It will take courage. But the time has come to put our sacred cows out to pasture forever.

I can't reform government all by myself. For starters, I've asked Auditor Sonntag to help us figure out ways to sunset boards and commissions and to help us establish a 21st century way of doing business. I am also partnering with business and labor, state employees, citizens, and you, to get the job done. We need to make sure we have a government for the 21st century so our workers and businesses can compete with anyone in the world.

Finally this afternoon, I issue an urgent call to all Washingtonians — each and every one of us — to come together to help our neighbors in a spirit of shared generosity.

First, please join me by recognizing the men and women, who, for the past five years, have sacrificed by putting their lives on hold to fight in distant wars — and who, in some cases, have sacrificed their very lives. In Iraq last week, I met, among others, Sergeant First Class Gerald Frazier of the Washington National Guard's Heavy Brigade Combat Team. Jerry is typical of the Washington men and women helping Iraq rebuild into a democracy — focused, committed and above all, generous. Jerry and his fellow soldiers run the American combat base at Ramadi. Let me describe their lives to you. They live in a dusty, barren desert, and they work 12 to 14-hour days, seven days a week. Jerry and his fellow soldiers definitely don't come home to home-cooked meals — one of the seasonings on their food is dust, a lot of it. They live in retro-fitted shipping containers, and for recreation, they have a little temporary building with a TV and some weights. Because they're in a combat zone, they don't go outside the camp. They were tickled pink when I gave them a Washington state flag to hang alongside their 12th Man flag. Let us thank them for their generosity — to the people of Iraq and to all of us.

So today, I am honored to introduce to you Jerry Frazier's wife, Val and their two children, Caitlin and Jerry Junior, who are here to represent all the families of the dedicated men and women of the 81st Brigade. These families care enough about this world to see their spouses and parents off to a dangerous war in order to help others, and us, maintain the freedoms we have. Val and you children, please stand for a well-deserved round of applause.

Thank you, each of you, for your generosity to our country and our community. Let your spirit of giving be our spirit too. Let's help our neighbors in need, as the Frazier family has, and as our grandparents and great-grandparents did during the Great Depression so long ago. We must find and embrace the generous spirit of those times. Let's recognize the suffering of our neighbors.

With the terrible flooding last week, we saw once again the spark of generosity in the hearts of Washingtonians. We saw it from the people of Spokane, who turned out in huge numbers to help the city clear storm drains to ease flooding. We saw it in Snohomish where neighbors are still helping neighbors clean up, in Orting where townspeople packed sandbags, and in Lewis County where a hotel cut its room rates in half to accommodate people fleeing their homes.

Today, I want to issue a challenge. I ask every Washingtonian right now, today, to commit to at least one hour a month to help other Washingtonians in need. I personally embrace that challenge. And so does every member of my family. Will you join us? Mother Teresa once said, "If you can't feed a hundred people, then feed just one."

And please know that we are in a time when, for too many people, the things that matter most are incredibly basic — food, shelter, utilities and something deeper — the knowledge that somebody cares about them. There is no shortage of things we can do — help build shelter for poor families ... volunteer at a food bank or homeless shelter ... check "yes" on our utility bills to donate heat and lights to a fellow customer. And we can start by looking around — knocking on a neighbor's door to see if they need help — and by opening our hearts. You know, the Jewish faith teaches that any society in which people care only for themselves is a society that — literally — is headed for poverty. I believe that, too. As Mother Teresa says, "No one person can do it all. But just think what we can do for each other if everybody takes responsibility.

I also want to challenge each person — if you have the means — to commit to donating four non-perishable food items each month to a food bank, or the equivalent in cash. I asked Northwest Harvest what it would mean if even one in four Washingtonians answered the challenge for just one month. Here's what it said: The donations would feed more than 4,200 people for a month! That's a lot of food for hungry kids, seniors and families if we all stepped up to the challenge.

And there is another challenge we can embrace next Monday — the holiday celebrating the birth of Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. President-elect Obama is calling for a national day of service, and I urge all who can take part to do it. Let us join hands, and let us help each other through these difficult times.

Ladies and gentlemen, we will get through this hard time and open the door to a better, brighter day. We are Democrats and Republicans. But we are so much more. We are the sons and daughters of our gleaming high-tech cities ... of our rolling wheat fields and lush orchards ... of our fishing and timber towns. We are from small hamlets and far-flung suburbs. We are teachers, lawyers, salesmen, homemakers, cops, retirees, engineers, nurses, firefighters, computer experts. We are the people of Washington. We represent all the people of Washington, and we share a distinction that transcends who we are and what we are. We are One Washington and we come to serve. We are here in the year 2009 to make hard choices with courage and political will. We are here to protect families, get people back to work and prepare for the 21st century. We are here to reform our government to better serve our future, and we are here together as a family is together — to help and support each other, and to build for tomorrow.

This is the time for courage, and this is the time for generosity among all Washingtonians.

Let's do it, ladies and gentlemen, let's get to work!

God bless you all.

And God bless the Great State of Washington!"

The President announced the appointment of Senator Regala to the Committee on Judiciary.

MOTION

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Franklin: "Thank you Mr. President. Of course today is the time in which we take a moment in order to recognize the Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. I would like to again just say a few words in that regards then followed by a presentation by the Pastor. You know today it seems as if just yesterday that I was standing here talking about Dr. Martin Luther King and what he had contributed and how he in turn had become the face of the civil rights movement and became a drum major for justice. This I would say is really a privilege to be able to speak in his honor, it's a great time in which we are living. We are privileged to be able to do so. This charismatic minister, Dr. Martin Luther King who then became this drum major for justice was not just for himself but he was for all of us. It has seemed impossible undertaking. During King's life time, that racial injustice was the way of the land. Schools, restaurants, public transportation, hotels and hospitals were segregated. Job opportunities were scarce and often limited to very demeaning tasks or hard labor. In his book 'Strength to love', Dr. King wrote, 'Like an unchecked cancer, it corrodes the personality and eats away it's vital unity. It destroys a man's sense of values and his objectivity. It causes him to describe the beautiful as ugly and the ugly as beautiful, and to confuse the truth with the false and the false with the truth.' Between 1957 and 1968, it is estimated that Dr. King spoke more than twenty-five hundred times and traveled six million miles. His resources were shoe leather and buses. His currency was his strength of will and through his efforts came systemic change and federal policy on voting rights and employment discrimination. Mr. President and ladies and gentlemen of the Senate, there's much that can be said about Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. and the days in which he lived and what he has contributed. I have much written down but will not really go through that. What I would say to you, each one and those that are listening, that one day should not be about Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. or what he has done for all humanity. It should be every day. Every day our work should reflect what Dr. Martin Luther King is all about. Ladies and gentlemen of the Senate, I see in each one of you since I've been in this august body that this is happening. We have transitioned now that that dream that Dr. Martin Luther King had is now become a living legacy. That legacy which will take place next week, Tuesday, January 20th, says that America's a great place. It's a place in which we can solve problems. That we can come together and that we can make a difference. Ladies and gentlemen, we have much to do. We are in difficult times but we've been there before working together, we can make a difference. Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. would be very proud of us. Much has been done. It's not the end. There's much more but freedom and democracy requires work every day. Mr. President, ladies and gentlemen, I would like to introduce, if I may, Pastor Johnson.

REPLY BY THE PRESIDENT

President Owen: "You may Senator."

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

I would like, as he speaks, that you go back in time during the 50's and imagine, just imagine. There's a song that says imagine, but imagine that this particular place in time you are listening to Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. Pastor Johnson, thank you for being here."

Reverend Richard Johnson re-enacted a portion of Martin Luther Kings Jrs. final address at Mason Temple, Memphis, Tennessee on April 3, 1968.

MOTION

At 11:31 a.m., on motion of Senator Eide, the Senate was declared to be at ease for the purpose of receiving the state of the judiciary address in the House of Representatives.

Pastor Kreis: "Let us pray. Our Creator and God, You have called your servants here as senators, representatives and judges to bear the concerns of many on their shoulders. Keep them from growing weary. Help them not to rely on their own insight but to trust in You to direct their path. We call on Your insight for the Judiciary especially the State Supreme Court and Chief Justice Gerry Alexander as they meet with us today. Support them in their difficult task of interpreting the law with grace and mercy.

Dear God, You have given these bodies responsibility to govern this State. Grant them patience and wisdom to discern the best action to take among the competing claims that are present. May they show courage in the crafting and interpretation of laws. May their actions renew hope for those suffering economically with unemployment, foreclosure, the basics of life. As many in our State struggle with economics, some with flooding, inspire us to find ways to help one another.

Oh God, You made us in Your image. At this time of economic uncertainty and war, look with compassion on the whole human family. Break down the walls that separate us. Work through our struggles and confusion to accomplish Your purpose on Earth – that all nations and races may serve in You in harmony. We especially remember today the wars in the Middle East – Iraq and Afghanistan. We ask that you preserve lives, deliver all from terror, give all reconciliation and peace. Grant health and favor to all that bear office in our land and especially President-elect Barack Obama, Governor Chris Gregoire and all representatives, senators and judges of our fair State. Guide them with Your wisdom and love as they provide for the needs of all citizens.

For all this we pray. Amen."

Mr. President: "The purpose of this joint session is to receive the State of the Judiciary address from Chief Justice Gerry Alexander."

STATE OF THE JUDICIARY

Chief Justice Alexander: "Thank you President Owen. Governor Gregoire, Speaker Chopp, state elected officials, members of the House and Senate, fellow justices and judges, ladies and gentlemen. Good morning.

Let me first extend my thanks to the members of the legislature for the warm welcome you have accorded me and my fellow justices of the Washington Supreme Court on this and other occasions. We are very honored to be here for the purpose of allowing me to present, on behalf of our court and Washington's judiciary, the biennial State of the Judiciary address. This is the fifth time I have been accorded the privilege of presenting such an address since I was first elected chief justice in January 2001.

My judicial colleagues and I are aware that time is precious to the Legislature during sessions, and we are most grateful for this opportunity to speak to you as well as to our State's elected officials and the people of the state of Washington. While the halls of this Legislature are in close proximity to the offices of our State elected officials and the home of the Supreme Court, our respective branches of government have very different functions and we do not have many opportunities like this to gather together. While some may feel that this is as it should be under the doctrine of separation of powers, it is my view that occasions like this, the various oath taking sessions and the Governor's inaugural address, can lead us all to better appreciate the important role that each branch performs in our democracy.

Before I speak to you about the state of the Judiciary as a whole, allow me to say a word about the court on which I now sit, the State Supreme Court. I can tell you that I am very proud of all of my colleagues and very honored to have been elected by them as chief justice for the third time. All of us on our court are unified in our desire to work with our judicial colleagues around the state to deliver equal and quality justice to all in a system that is administered, in the words of our State constitution, 'openly'. Our court is currently very experienced. Each of us practiced public or private law in this state earlier in our careers and collectively we have over 135 years of judicial service. I am pleased to say also that the relationship between all of the justices is collegial. At the same time, though, we are all free thinking individuals who come from a variety of backgrounds. Thus, it is not surprising that we are not unanimous on every issue that comes before us.

Although most of you are somewhat familiar with the veteran members of the Supreme Court, I would like to say a word about our newest member, Justice Debra Stephens. Justice Stephens was appointed to our court by Governor Gregoire in December 2007 and she was sworn in at a ceremony at our court on the 7th of January 2008. Justice Stephens, of course, had to stand for election to that position in the fall of 2008, and, happily, she was unopposed. Justice Stephens is a Spokane native, who obtained her B.A. degree from Gonzaga University, magna cum laude, and then went on to law school at the same university as a Thomas More Scholar, graduating summa cum laude. Following graduation, she practiced law in Spokane with primary emphasis on appellate practice. She appeared before our court over 125 times, which is remarkable, and she did all of this while also serving as an adjunct member of the law school faculty at Gonzaga. Justice Stephens' judicial career actually began earlier in 2007 when Governor Gregoire appointed her to the Court of Appeals, Division Three, in Spokane. When Justice Stephens came to our court early in 2008, she obtained the double distinction of being the first judge of Division Three and the first woman from Eastern Washington to serve on the Washington Supreme Court. We are delighted to have Justice Stephens as a colleague and look forward to working with her in the years to come.

Let me now, in my capacity as chief justice, speak to you more directly about our State's justice system. As you all know, Washington's justice system is present in every county in our State as well as in most of our cities and towns. The system is presided over by nine justices of the Supreme Court, 22 judges of the state court of appeals, 188 superior court judges, and 204 full and part-time judges of our district and municipal courts. These justices and judges can't, of course, manage the system alone and, fortunately, they have the assistance of dedicated court commissioners, county clerks, and court staff that work hard managing caseloads that collectively total more than two million filings each year--more than one filing for every three citizens of our State. I can tell you that from my perspective, as one who has served as a judge in this state for over 35 years, that our judiciary and its staff has never been more skilled and hardworking than it is right now.

I wish I could have invited every judicial officer in the state to be here today, but, as you can tell from my remarks, they have plenty work to do at home. I did, though, ask a few judges to be present in the gallery--allow me to introduce them to you. Representing the district and municipal court judges of our State is Judge Marilyn Paja of the Kitsap County District Court. Judge Paja is a veteran judge and is currently president of the District and Municipal Court Judges' Association. Representing the superior courts, we have the very able Richard McDermott, president of the Superior Court Judges' Association. Judge McDermott sits on our State's largest court, the King County Superior Court. Representing the 22 judges of our Court of Appeals, we have Judge C. C. Bridgewater. Judge Bridgewater, who hails from Castle Rock in Cowlitz County, is the chief presiding judge of the Court of Appeals. We also have other judges in the audience who are here to attend this afternoon's monthly meeting of the Board for Judicial Administration. These judges represent Washington's judiciary and I am immensely proud of them all.

Each level of court that these judges represent has a direct affect on the lives of individuals. This is particularly true of our trial courts--the superior courts, district courts, and municipal courts). At the superior court, judges determine child custody issues, protect victims of domestic violence from harm, preside over felony criminal cases and all manner of significant civil disputes. At the limited jurisdiction level, judges handle misdemeanor and gross misdemeanor cases, traffic infractions, and a myriad of other matters, including, at the district court, small claims cases and other civil actions where $75,000 or less is sought. Our limited jurisdiction trial court judges see huge numbers of persons in their courts each year and these courts can truly be called our 'people's courts.'

When reflecting upon the important work of each level of court in our State, and the challenges they face, I am reminded of the old saying that, 'If we do not maintain justice, justice will not maintain us.' These words go to the very essence of our great republic and contribute to the pride we feel about our nation, our State, and our system of government. Americans have always revered justice, and we demonstrate that when we face our nation's flag and recite those well known words: 'justice for all.' Maintaining a strong and fair justice system is, I believe, of great concern to all of our citizens.

Unfortunately, we have not done the best job as a state government in maintaining our justice system at the trial level. Many of you have heard me say before that since we first became a state in 1889, our trial courts have been funded almost entirely by local governments--our counties and cities. This means of funding our trial courts was not problematic in earlier times because our State's court system was relatively small and local governments did not have huge demands placed on their resources. But as the years have gone by the number of cases flowing into our courts has risen dramatically as our population has increased and a variety of new laws and regulations have been enacted at the state and local level. At the same time local governments have assumed financial obligations that were unknown to their predecessors. As a consequence, our trial courts have been severely challenged as they have endeavored to keep up with their increasing and more complex caseloads. In some jurisdictions, particularly in our metropolitan areas, we have seen delays in getting cases to trial due to crowded court calendars, difficulties in obtaining qualified interpreters for non-English speakers, criminal defense attorneys and prosecutors with caseloads that are too large, and large numbers of persons going without representation in civil cases, particularly in family court matters. I must add that these problems always become more pronounced as the budgets of local government are affected adversely by an economic downturn, such as the one we are currently experiencing.

A few years ago, the state's Board for Judicial Administration addressed the funding crisis facing our trial courts in what we called the Justice in Jeopardy Initiative. We first presented the initiative to you in 2005. The initiative flowed out of the hard work of the Court Funding Task Force, a body that was formed in 2002 by the Board for Judicial Administration. This effort engaged more than 100 persons from across the state and from all backgrounds--significantly, it included five members of the Legislature.

Some of you will recall that when we first spoke to you about the Justice in Jeopardy initiative, we relayed a startling statistic from the task force's report--that Washington State ranked last among the state's of the union, in terms of state government participation in the funding of trial courts, indigent defense and prosecution.

Today, despite the advent of additional and much needed state funding in the last four years, Washington is still in last place in the nation in terms of state funding, with budget-strapped local governments still bearing more than 80 percent of the costs of maintaining our trial courts. Although state government funds the rest, less than one percent of the state budget goes to maintain our justice system and our courts, which compose the key component of that system, courts that are provided for in our State constitution--a constitution that says that justice is to be administered 'without unnecessary delay.'

The report of the Court Funding Task Force and the other studies that have been done over the years have recommended that optimally, the State should pay 50 percent of the cost of trial court operations and indigent criminal defense, and it should assume a substantially greater role in funding civil legal aid services for Washington's low-income residents. We think that this 'partnership approach' between state and local government makes more sense than a complete state takeover of the cost of our trial courts, the path that states like California and Oregon have followed. We say this because we believe that local jurisdictions should have a stake in how the courts operate within their jurisdictions. We recognized, however, that obtaining an increase in state funding of the magnitude we envisioned would be a major change, and, thus, we opted for recommending an incremental approach.

I must tell you that the Judiciary has been immensely gratified by the support that the Legislature has provided since we first approached you with the Justice in Jeopardy initiative. In the legislative sessions of 2005, 2006, and 2007, you recognized by your action that state government does have a responsibility to pay a higher proportion of the costs of the state's justice system than it has in the past. In those sessions, you appropriated significant funds, much of which were derived from higher user fees, and you applied it to the support of our trial courts, public defense and civil legal aid. We are most grateful for that show of support.

Let me be more specific about what you have done: In 2005, you provided, for the first time, state funding for a portion of the salaries of district court judges and elected municipal court judges, and for trial court improvement accounts. You also appropriated funds to provide legal representation for indigent parents in termination and dependency cases as well as funding for indigent criminal defense at the trial level. You also created the Office of Civil Legal Aid as an independent agency of the judicial branch and increased the amount of dollars going to civil legal aid. This was truly historic action by the Legislature. In the 2006 session, you maintained the momentum established in the previous session by funding a pilot jury pay research project and expanding the parents' representation program. Again you provided additional funds for civil legal aid programs. In 2007, you appropriated supplemental funds to complete the jury pay research project in addition to providing funds for court interpreters at the trial level. At the same time you provided additional funds for CASA representatives, civil legal aid, criminal indigent defense, and parental representation. Although we did not ask for any new funding in 2008, a supplemental budget year, it was our intention to ask you to continue the march toward implementation of the goals of the Justice in Jeopardy Initiative in this session. Specifically, we anticipated requesting additional state funding to assist local governments in covering the ever burgeoning costs of providing court interpreters at the trial level. We also planned to seek additional funding for civil legal aid, public defense, parental representation, the Commission on Children in Foster Care, and the Washington Family and Juvenile Plan--an ambitious agenda.

We have since decided to shelve these requests for time being. We took this action because we recognized the problems you face in the Legislature this year as a consequence of the current economic crisis that faces our State and the nation. Bottom line, we concluded that this is not a propitious time to seek enlargement of the budget of the judicial branch. That does not mean that we have lost our zeal for the goals we set forth in the Justice in Jeopardy Initiative. It simply means that we have taken a time out. We want you to know, though, that we strongly urge you to not dismantle the progress we have made since 2005. I can also promise you that we will be back seeking your support for the goals of the initiative when the economic situation in our State and nation is rosier. Relevant to the current fiscal situation, I wish to point out that we have endeavored in the last several months to cut back our spending in the remaining months of the current biennium and it appears that we have done so to the tune of about $672,000. Because of this effort we will be able to leave a much greater amount of money in the treasury at the end of the biennium than we otherwise would have.

Since we are not asking for any funding of new programs, I suppose I could stand down now and head back across the street. But I don't want to do that without addressing a familiar issue that we believe deserves attention by this Legislature. It is an issue that I have highlighted in each of the previous State of the Judiciary addresses I have presented to you. It concerns Washington's low rate of pay for our jurors. Let me quickly add that we have not set forth any amount in our proposed budget to fund an increase in the attendance fee for the reasons I have already given. We will, though, seek introduction of a bill that would provide for an increase in the fee.

To refresh your memory, the daily attendance fee for jury service is set by statute at no less than $10 per day and no more than $25. Significantly, almost every jurisdiction in the state pays the minimum of $10. That fee was established in 1958, a time when $10 was roughly equivalent to the minimum wage for a day's work. It is clear that today the fee is woefully inadequate and its meagerness is evidenced by the fact that for a five-day trial, Washington ranks 45th out of 50 states in terms of jury compensation.

To the Legislature's great credit, you did fund the pilot project that allowed us to raise the fee in three jurisdictions to an amount akin to the current minimum wage. You also underwrote the cost of a study of the effect of the fee increase on the response to the jury summons by persons called for jury duty, juror satisfaction, and the diversity of our jury panels. While the study, a copy of which you should have received this week, does reveal greater juror satisfaction on the part of those who received the higher fee, it was not entirely clear what effect the increase had on responses to the jury summons--that may have been due, in part, to the fact that many, if not most, prospective jurors were not entirely aware of the fact that the attendance fee had been increased.

But regardless of whether an increase in the fee will get more citizens to fulfill this important responsibility of American citizenship, the fee should be increased as a matter of equity. Even though we are getting jurors to serve, we believe that it is simply not fair to pay them such a low fee, particularly those who devote more than one day to jury service.

In light of the current economic situation, the proposed legislation, which will be before you, is much more modest than what we were initially inclined to propose. Basically, we are suggesting that the fee stay at $10 for the first day of jury service, on the theory that everyone should be willing to give one day of service at little or no cost to the government, but that it should increase on the second and subsequent days of jury service and that the State, as opposed to local government, should bear the cost of the increase. Again, with a view toward the current economic situation, we are asking that the proposed increase be phased in over a period of about four years. We recognize that obtaining an increase in the jury fee is a tough sell in this session. We believe, though, that this issue needs to be kept at the forefront and, thus, we will strongly advocate support for the proposal in this session.

I am about to close, but before I do I want you to know that we in the Judiciary fully appreciate the immense challenges the 61st Legislature faces. As Governor Gregoire pointed out in her address on Wednesday, we are facing an economic upheaval of proportions unseen for many years. As a consequence, this Legislature is going to have to make some tough and painful decisions about how the State's smaller revenue pie will be divided. I know that you will receive much advice on how to do that, and I am hesitant as the spokesperson for the Judiciary to kibitz, other than to say just a couple of things.

First, I implore you to resist the temptation to reduce the appropriation for civil legal services for the poor and criminal public defense below current levels. I make this plea because it is our view that the demand for the services that our legal aid attorneys and public defenders provide is almost certainly going to increase in the hard economic times we are likely to experience in the coming biennium. The persons who benefit from these services, including the increasing numbers of our citizens who face foreclosure, eviction, or debt collection, are among the most vulnerable in our population and they are often without a voice in the halls of government--so we wish to speak for them.

The other thing I would say is that when you are looking for possible ways to reduce the cost of government spending in order to accommodate decreased revenues, you should take a look at Washington's current sentencing regime. I say that because even the most ardent fan of our current determinate sentencing scheme would have to concede that under this system, which is very rigid and inflexible and vests very little discretion in the sentencing judge, the number of persons in our State prisons and county jails has increased substantially and it would appear that this increase will continue for the foreseeable future.

As you know, the costs attendant to housing this large number of persons in our jails and prisons is huge. Let me just briefly give you some numbers. Right now, we have 18,000 inmates in Washington's prisons, state-supervised work release, or rented space in county jails or prisons outside the state. This compares to 16,000 in confinement just five years ago, and approximately 14,000 ten years ago. Those numbers are, of course, in addition to the thousands who are confined on any one day in our county and city jails. Significantly, the increase in our prison population, which exceeds the state's population growth during the same period, has occurred during a period in which Washington's overall crime rate and violent crime rate has declined substantially.

FIFTH DAY, JANUARY 16, 2009

Although most of the persons who are confined within our prisons need and deserve to be there, most judges will tell you, if asked, that there are a significant number of persons in our prisons who could be treated outside of the prison walls at a cost much lower than the cost of imprisonment, and that this could be done without jeopardizing the public's safety and security.

Having said that, I hasten to add that we in the Judiciary are not proposing at this time a wholesale revision of our State's determinate sentencing scheme for those convicted of felonies. We do think, though, that it is time for the Legislature to take a close look at this system that came out of the so-called Sentencing Reform Act of 1981 to see if these massive costs of incarceration cannot be reduced. I want you to know that if you undertake such a long-term project, the Judiciary stands ready to assist you in any way that we can.

In the short run, we ask you to give favorable consideration to some proposed legislation that is being advocated by our superior court judges, the persons who impose the sentences in felony cases and who know a bit about the subject. They propose that you increase the number of community-based DOSA beds. DOSA stands for the Drug Offender Sentencing Alternative, for defendants who would otherwise be sent to prison. Experience shows this alternative to imprisonment, like drug courts, works and has the effect of reducing crime and saving dollars.

The superior court judges will also propose that you restore to sentencing judges something we could do when I was a young superior court judge, and that is the ability to suspend, in appropriate cases, part or all of a felony sentence of a defendant facing a determinate jail sentence and no imprisonment. This would not apply to persons charged with a sex or violent offense. Such a step, we believe, would be of great value to fiscally strapped counties and would not impinge on public safety.

Although these are relatively modest proposals, they are ones that make sense. We hope, also, that confronting them in this session will serve as a catalyst to open dialogue which could lead to broader sentencing reform in the future. We are aware that reform of our sentencing practices would not be popular with everyone, but these are challenging times and such times call for boldness and innovation.

Let me close where I began by thanking all of you for allowing me to speak to you today and for the graciousness with which you have received me and my colleagues. Please accept our very best wishes for a successful legislative session."

Senator Hatfield: "Thank you Madam President. I would be remiss in my duties as the new Chair of the Agriculture & Rural Economic Development Committee if I didn't remind the members that today is Potato Day. You can probably smell them out there in the Rotunda getting ready. When you consider that the process potato products in our state equal about 2.5 billion dollars a year, that's no small potatoes and its a very important industry in our state, so I encourage all of you around noon, go out and enjoy a baked potato, I believe with all the trimmings if you like and help celebrate this industry. Thanks."

Senator Oemig: "Thank you Madam President. It's ironic I was just leaving the education committee on my way over and we're working on a bill for children of our military and after I had some issues with the bills, we were working it out so I missed what happened in the last five minutes here. I do want to comment that I think that I, I guess I'd hoped that our body will spend more time on issues that are relative to the state and maybe less time on resolutions. Thank you."

of the State of Washington

Ladies and Gentlemen:

Please note that Governor Gregoire’s report dated December 29, 2008, regarding reprieves, commutations or pardons that she has granted since the adjournment of the 2008 Regular Session of the Legislature incorrectly referenced that the session as the 61st Legislature. That report should have read “2008 Regular Session of the 60th Legislature.”

Sincerely,
Martin C. Loesch
Senior Advisor and General Counsel

2009 REGULAR SESSION

With permission of the Senate, business was suspended to allow Washington State Poet Laureate Sam Green read one of his poems.

REMARKS BY SAM GREEN

Sam Green: "Thank you Madam President, Senators, guests. I just turned sixty imagine my surprise to find myself at sixty. After a life of what I thought was rebellious youth, more conservative and more old fashion than I ever expected to be. One of the things that has happened is that I realized I've actually spent a life time listening to my elders when what I thought I was doing was spending a life time rebelling against them. Since 1982 I've lived in a tiny Island in the San Juan's. One of those that's off the grid. My wife and I haven't had electricity for twenty-six years. We have an awful lot of old neighbors and one of the first things we had to do was to talk to them about how to survive in such a place. I was walking one day around some fields with one of the elders and I asked him how the stones got around the edges. There are huge piles of stones everywhere. Where did these come from? I said. So, he told me and after listening to this story, which is essentially about how they got rid of big rocks I realized he just given me a life lesson.

Exemplar

When the old timers cleared their fields for the plow
They sometimes found boulders too big for horse and skid
They covered these over with brush and waited for weathers safe enough to burn then lugged sea water in buckets up the steep bluff from the beach and poured it over the hot rock which would rapidly hiss, contract and split
They did this again and again until the stones were small enough to manage. These they hauled or tossed to the boundaries of their lives work.
The seeds they broadcast with their best faith upon the turned earth against the coming push of frost.
So I asked him afterwards, 'Wait a minute. You mean you have to do it again?' He says, 'Oh yeah, it happens all the time.
The problem's not the problem. The problem is knowing how to solve the problem. Once you have that, it's all gravy.' Thank you very much.

INTRODUCTION OF SPECIAL GUESTS

The President welcomed and introduced Miss Washington 2008, Janet Harding and Father Honorable Ron Harding, Mayor of Yelm who were seated in the gallery.

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Schoesler: "Well thank you Mr. President. I'd like to thank the kind lady from the Second District for bringing wonderful example of the State of Washington before us and we all wish her our very, very best. I remember my maiden conversation on this floor was something not nearly as beautiful, peas and lentils, so we are coming up. I did want to welcome the kind lady to what is now team eighteen, after team seventeen, which we're very happy about over here. We know that the young lady is an avid hunter, outdoors woman, comes with a background in health care and we certainly can use all the help we can stand there. I dug a little deeper into her past. Seems she has ties to the airline industry. The good gentleman from the forty-sixth district would certainly like to talk to her about that down the road and we'd also like to ask a few questions about her role in the airline industry. Were they still using propellers on all four engines when she flew there? Is it an airline that is currently in business that she worked for or was it the era of I think the book came out when I was a youngster called Coffee, Tea or Me? and I don't know whether that had anything to do with it but I do know in the tradition of the Senate we will be expecting the proper gratuities to come to us. I can only hope that there not some of the left over airlines' snacks. Thank you."

THIRTY-FIRST DAY, FEBRUARY 11, 2009

2009 REGULAR SESSION

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Delvin: "A couple questions, Mr. President. Could we trade the nice lady in the gallery for the one who just spoke on the floor? Is that possible?"

REPLY BY THE PRESIDENT

President Owen: "I suggest you take that up with your caucus."

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Delvin: "Thank you Mr. President. And also, I know you have a rule about carrying fire arms. You know, if she's a hunter, I hope you've had her qualified before she carries her firearm on the floor as you made me."

REPLY BY THE PRESIDENT

President Owen: "With the exception of bows and arrows of course."

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Marr: "Thank you Mr. President. Well, out of difference to the inexperience of the good Senator from the Second District I did not rise to ask a point or order. I believe there were several faux pas that the Senator exhibited during moving a resolution but because it certainly was a worthy resolution I think most of us resisted the temptation to suggest that perhaps she not move her resolution properly. I do want to say Mr. President, that Senator Becker certainly a welcome addition to the chamber and I really appreciate the fact that although I heard she lives in a fancy waterfront condo, in fact on the top floor, she shows some sympathy for those of us that have to suffer through the low price rental housing here in Olympia. So in fact I think she's able to relate to all of us. I do understand that she's going to be going shoe shopping with Senator McAuliffe and Senator Pflug this afternoon. She's already developed some common interest. I think that comes from her background. She is from rural Western Washington, I don't know exactly where Eatonville is, I think it's near Hooterville if I'm not mistaken. I was told that her zip code is actually E-I-E-I-O. But I do want to say I have had the pleasure of serving on several committees with her, found her to be a find collaborative colleague and I just want to say when we encounter this type of colleague both Senator Schoesler and myself feel five feet tall to serve in this chamber. Thank you."

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Kilmer: "Well, thank you Mr. President. You know it was good to hear the good lady from the Second District speak on the floor today. Frankly, it's good to hear the good lady from the Second District speak. Senator Becker explained to me last night that she received a call from her grandson who said, 'Grandma, I saw you on TV last night. You need to talk more,' and I think that's true. Senator Becker actually makes Senator Kauffman look chatty. It's the fifth week of session and Senator Hatfield told me he didn't realize that Senator Becker was on his committee. But I will say this, while she is quiet I believe that our good colleague, one, is a great listener and is taking things in and, like a lot of people in this body, once you speak it's with great purpose and it's on behalf of her constituents and on behalf of what she thinks is right and what is good and we welcome you here. We're glad you're here."

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Becker: "I've never been told I'm quiet. I'm just trying to be observant and learn and listen so I can do a good job but I appreciate that. Thank you very much. 'Coffee, Tea or Me?' was an issue when I flew but I never partook, ok. We had a good song, I will tell you later about that. United still is in service and I flew for eight and half years and I started out on a Convair airplane and I got sick to my stomach every time we landed because it was so bumpy. So thank you very much. Hunting is my privilege and I'm glad that we can do it. Thank you Senator Marr. I don't go E-I-E-O but I wake up every morning from my home in Eatonville and look at Mt. Rainier and I say, 'Thank you God; everyday that I can see that when the suns out. It's an honor to be here. It's a privilege to be here and thank you all for being so warm and so welcoming to me. Thank you.'"

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Delvin: "Thank you Mr. President. I just wanted recognize a young man up in the South Gallery. I just wanted to recognize one individual, Bryan Freshley. He was a page, former page of mine, as was his sister. He's working on his Eagle or he is an Eagle now, I think, and but I just wanted to recognize him personally. He did a great job as a page. His family is well known in the community and they participate in the community. Thank you Mr. President."

REPLY BY THE PRESIDENT

President Owen: "Ladies and Gentleman of the Senate. You may have noticed that we do have some very outstanding young Americans with us today. These are all Eagle Scouts, Senator Delvin, including your former page. Every year we allow them to come in and we have the honor of having them present the State of Scouting, the report to the state. We're going to have that right now. It will only take a couple of minutes here from another outstanding Eagle Scout, Luke Wylie who will present the report of scouting to the State Senate. Mr. Wylie, would you please come forward?"

INTRODUCTION OF SPECIAL GUESTS

The President welcomed and introduced Eagle Scout, Luke Wylie, who was seated at the rostrum.

With permission of the Senate, business was suspended to allow Eagle Scout Luke Wylie to address the Senate.

REMARKS BY LUKE WYLIE

Luke Wylie: "Thank you. Good morning. My name is Luke Wylie and I'm an Eagle Scout from Troop 550 in Redmond, Washington. I'm here today in our capital city along with twenty-seven other Eagle Scouts and six Boy Scout Councils including Blue Mt. Council, Tri Cities; Chief Seattle Council, Seattle; Grand Columbia Council, Yakima; Inland Empire Council, Spokane; Mt. Baker Council, Everett; Pacific Harbor Council, Tacoma. Collectively we are here to present the annual report to the State of Washington. This past year, seventy-three thousand young people in Washington State participated in scouting programs through the membership of more than twenty thousand adult volunteers. Of these twenty thousand attending camp, two thousand achieve the pinnacle of scouting by earning the Eagle Scout rank. The Boy Scouts of America was founded on the premise that to be a good citizen you must do for others. Since its inception Scouts and volunteers have committed to serving others at all times with enthusiasm and conviction. In Scouting's earliest we sold bonds and collected scrap metal to help win wars. Over the years, scouts have worked diligently to protect the environment. Through these and many other efforts the Boy Scouts of America has established a tradition of service. In 2004, the Boy Scouts launched Good Turn for America, a national service initiative that addresses the issues of hunger, homelessness and poor health. Good Turn for America is a collaborative effort partnership with Habitat for Humanity, the Salvation Army and the American Red Cross. Through Good Turn for America the work of a single group is duplicated ten fold when hundreds of other organizations' volunteers join to improve their community. While the program teaches youth vital lessons about service and leadership, it also enhances the life of adult volunteers by making difference in the happiness and health of our state under the leadership of our state wide Good Turn for America Chairman, Attorney General, Rob McKenna. In 2008 Washington Scouts and volunteers donated more than three hundred eighty-four thousand hours of community service to our state. That volunteer time is valued at 6.5 million dollars. By continuing to recruit quality leadership, inviting youth from all backgrounds to join and offering fun and exciting programs, we seek to help ordinary people become extraordinary adults. On behalf of the six Boy Scout Councils of Washington state, I'd like to present Lt. Governor Brad Owen with a copy of the 2009 report to the state. Thank you."

THIRTY-FIRST DAY, FEBRUARY 11, 2009

2009 REGULAR SESSION

REMARKS BY THE PRESIDENT

President Owen: "In case you didn't catch that, that was three hundred eighty-four thousand hours of community service that Scouts provided in the State of Washington in the last year. I believe that is correct, and of those the President would like to note that a couple of those Eagle Scouts have been pages for us as was noted by Senator Delvin. One of them is a page for us right now but Brian Freshley was a page for Senator Delvin last year. Today we have with us, Christopher Bitting who is also a Eagle Scout and just to give you an idea of the type of work that they do, he's from Senator Haugen's district. He raised five thousand dollars for defibrillators to be placed in his school so that's the type of work that the scouts are doing for us in the great state of Washington. Thank you all very much."

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Roach: "I just wanted to make a comment not only to thank those young men that have become Eagle Scouts and put their time an effort into this. As a mother of three Eagle Scouts I know how that is very time consuming and what really fun it is. But, I also want to rise and thank those leaders here today and across the state of Washington for giving their time and effort to guide young men and help them achieve the goals that have set for themselves because I think those volunteers that help our young people are what is helping to make our state and our nation as great as it is. Thank you."

INTRODUCTION OF SPECIAL GUESTS

The President welcomed and introduced the Eagle Scouts of the Boy Scouts of America who were seated in the gallery.

REMARKS BY THE PRESIDENT

President Owen: "The President has the privilege of having two of those scouts shadow him today. Chandler Luke and Nathan Compton have been joining me today and they'll be down here a little bit later."

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Becker: "I wanted to see if I could spend a minute and explain my gifts that I gave to everyone today? Senator Eide, what you're holding in your hand is actually from Wilkeson and Senator Roach and I share part of that district. That is a piece of limestone from the Wilkeson Quarry. That Wilkeson Quarry actually is part of the limestone that built the Capitol and it was completed in 1920. The company transported thirty ton rocks, limestone rocks down to Tacoma where the dozens of craftsmen work to build them, transported them here and actually that is part of our Capitol so I thought was a really important thing. Wilcox eggs are a farm in our community that has been in existence for one hundred years this year and so I asked if they would share part of their product with us and in the bottom of your package you will find a surveyor marker from Mt. Rainier. It's a replica that's given out in their stores or sold in their stores and since that's a big part of my district and something that I love I thought was really important. You will also find a map of the walking tour of Orting and a little VIP pass and if you let them know, when you come down, they'll put balloons on your car celebrating the fact that you're in their town. One thing that I didn't get in there is I wanted to put in my two cents but they told me I shouldn't. Thank you."

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Carrell: "Well, I very much appreciate the gifts from the good Senator from the Second District but I was wondering if there might be some sort of political statement inside here about the economic times that we're in since my dozen only has eleven."

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Brandland: "Mr. President, I'm, I have to take some sort of responsibility for that because I gave Senator Becker the message that Senator Carrell was one egg short of a dozen."

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator McAuliffe: "Well, I happen to have a dozen chickens at home and I get eight eggs a day so because I didn't need these eggs I called the Thurston County Food Bank and anyone who would like to have their eggs donated to the food bank they will pick them up in my office and they are very, very happy to have them. So, if you'd like to donate your eggs please drop them off at my office, 403."

We relayed that to our members, one of them left thinking there was going to be no floor action and then we found out that there was and so I'm just, all I would ask if we could just maybe just get a little bit more warning because I just didn't want our members to leave and think that there was going to be nothing. President Owen: "The purpose of this Joint Session is to present the Washington State Medal of Merit Awards to very deserving individuals. It is now my pleasure to present Governor Chris Gregoire."

Governor Gregoire: "Good afternoon. I'm privileged and I'm touched to be part of this ceremony. Today we are honoring not just four truly generous Washingtonians, we are honoring the spirit of generosity itself. And if ever we, the people of Washington, need to renew that spirit, it's now.

We're in tough times, and they're getting tougher. We need to find ways to help our neighbors. We need to find ways to help the stranger down the street. We need to find ways to lean a little more on each other, and more ways to be generous.

As Winston Churchill put it, you make a living by what you get, but you make a life by what you give. The four Washingtonians we are honoring today have given so much to their fellow human beings in so many ways. They did it with important ideas to make this State and this world a better place. They did it with material resources to ease suffering, and they did it with something all too rare, a strong belief that their work is not all about them, but all about their fellow human beings. These are, and were, incredibly generous Washingtonians!

Bill Gates Sr., through his work as co-chair of the Bill and Melinda Gates Foundation to ease the suffering of people all around the globe. Wilfred Woods, through his newspaper, "The Wenatchee World", and his tireless activism to promote economic development in North-Central Washington from public power to highways. The late Emma Smith DeVoe, and May Arkwright Hutton, who gave Washington a great gift, Women's Suffrage, and empowered the movement for women's rights that continues even today.

I want to thank these four Washingtonians, and their families. We're honoring them at an especially significant time, a time unseen since the Great Depression. These four Washingtonians exemplify the kind of spirit that we very much need to get through these times. Thank you, and congratulations to the medal honorees."

Secretary of State Sam Reed: "It is indeed an honor and privilege that the Legislature has placed the Medal of Merit program into the Office of Secretary of State. I am grateful to all of you attending today, and to the families and friends of the recipients.

The medal is awarded by a committee consisting of the Governor, the Lieutenant Governor, the Speaker of the House of Representatives and the Chief Justice of the Washington State Supreme Court. The Deputy Speaker Pro Tempore represented the Speaker and did an outstanding job. I want to thank the four of them because they took very strong personal interest in this and helped make this happen.

Along with choosing the recipients, the committee also chose the design and layout of the medal and the accompanying certificates. The Medal of Merit was produced and designed by the Washington State-based Territorial Mint in Auburn using guidelines laid out in the Revised Code of Washington. They are of the highest quality and are testaments to the professionalism and attention to detail of the people who made them.

The Medal of Merit is solid bronze displaying the seal of the State of Washington, surrounded by a raised laurel wreath and suspended from a ring attached by a dark green ribbon. The reverse of the decoration within the raised laurel wreath is inscribed with the recipient's name and the words: "For exceptionally meritorious conduct in performing outstanding services to the people of the State of Washington."

The certificate, accompanying the medals, are signed by each committee member representing three branches of our government: Executive, Judicial and Legislative. It is my honor as the Keeper of the State Seal to affix the Seal of the State of Washington along with my signature to each of the certificates. Like the medals, each certificate bears the name of the recipient and why they have been awarded this prestigious honor.

I wish to thank all of those who made this auspicious occasion possible -- the staff of the Secretary of State's Office, particularly Megan Moreno and the Legislative staff, especially Patty Moore. I really appreciate the efforts that were made. And a special thanks to all of those who had a hand in making the event a success from the Washington State Patrol and the State Capitol Tours Office.

I especially want to thank and congratulate each recipient being nominated and chosen for this honor.

Finally, I want to thank their family and their friends who traveled to Olympia to be here today for their support and consideration.

Thank you very much."

MEDAL OF MERIT

Mr. President: "We will now honor the Medal of Merit recipients. The Medal of Merit is to honor those who have been distinguished by exceptionally meritorious conduct in performing outstanding service to the people and State of Washington."

EMMA SMITH DEVOE AND MAY ARKWRIGHT HUTTON

Deputy Speaker Pro Tempore Moeller: "It's a great honor and privilege for me to introduce and express our respect and recognition for Emma Smith DeVoe and May Arkwright Hutton. And thank you very much, to Corky Mattingly, for being here today to receive this award on behalf of two of our State's most courageous and forward-thinking pioneers.

You, yourself, Ms. Mattingly, are certainly to be commended for the time you take from your work as Yakima County Auditor to serve on the Advisory Board of the Women's History Consortium. Thank you for your selfless service in guarding the interests of Washingtonians today and tomorrow as well as celebrating the lives of yesterday's Washingtonians.

Suffragists Emma Smith DeVoe and May Arkwright Hutton were the paramount champions in the struggle toward securing the ballot for Washington women. It was through the untiring perseverance of these two women that we lay claim to the status of being the fifth of the then forty six states to establish women's suffrage. In representing the two geographic halves of our Evergreen State, these two women led the historic enterprise that culminated in our 1910 enactment of women's suffrage.

That our State is a national leader today in electing women to local, statewide, and national offices is a testament to the perseverance and farsightedness of Emma Smith DeVoe and May Arkwright Hutton.

In 2000, Emma Smith DeVoe was named to the National Women's Hall of Fame, a fitting recognition for her achievements in the fight for women's suffrage. Newspaper headlines mourned her passing in 1927 as the death of a "Mother of Woman's Suffrage."

Before she and her family moved to the State of Washington in the early 1900's, May Arkwright Hutton had in fact already helped win the ballot for women in Idaho. A tireless philanthropist on top of her great standing in the suffrage movement, she passed in 1915 -- a wonderful life wonderfully led.

We stand today just a year ahead of the centennial of women's suffrage in the State of Washington. How very appropriate that the 2009 Medal of Merit be awarded to two Washington suffragettes whose lives were dedicated to a just, historic and rightful cause."

The Governor presented to Corky Mattingly, on behalf of May Arkwright Hutton and Emma Smith DeVoe, the Medals of Merit and certificates.

Corky Mattingly: "As Washington approaches the 2010 centennial of women's suffrage, it seems fitting that the two women who spearheaded the victory be recognized with the Washington Medal of Merit. As a voting woman and elected official, I am pleased to accept these medals as a proud descendant of their work and ideals of equal rights for women.

As leaders in the final suffrage victory in 1910, May Arkwright Hutton of Spokane and Emma Smith DeVoe of Tacoma, embody the single minded efforts of Washington women to achieve the vote. Hutton and DeVoe were the outstanding figures of the 1909-1910 campaign which employed the strategies of appealing to western men for justice for their wives, mothers, and sisters while forming coalitions and conducting a modern media campaign. After authorization from the legislature in 1909, Washington women campaigned for the ratification of the amendment to the Washington Constitution which culminated in a wide majority vote on November 8, 1910. As the fifth state and the first state in the 20th century to enact women's suffrage, Washington's stunning victory in 1910 is widely credited with re-invigorating the national movement.

These two women, May Arkwright Hutton and Emma Smith DeVoe, did not always agree on tactics but they used their own political savvy to organize women east and west of the Cascades.

Born in Ohio, May Arkwright Hutton came to Northern Idaho in the 1880s and married Levi Hutton, a railroad engineer. Together they purchased a minor interest in a mine that paid off when they struck high grade silver ore in 1901 and they moved to Spokane in 1906. At first aligned with Emma Smith DeVoe, Hutton later formed the Washington Political Equality League during the 1909-10 ratification campaign. Hutton had a distinctive, direct, democratic style and approach, believing in the power of the vote for working women and equality for women taxpayers. In 1912, she was one of the first women delegates to the Democratic National Convention. She died in 1915 at the age of 55. Levi Hutton continued the Hutton's charitable legacy, establishing the Hutton Settlement for children in Spokane in 1919, which endures today.

Emma Smith DeVoe was born in Illinois and when she was eight years old, she attended a speech by Susan B. Anthony on women's suffrage and when the crowd was asked who was for women voting, she rose to her feet. Well educated, DeVoe worked as an organizer for the national suffrage movement, traveling to many states. She came to Washington and began organizing in earnest in 1906. She headed the Washington Equal Suffrage Association. Emma Smith DeVoe was the great organizer for the Washington campaign and has been credited with its victory in 1910 but not without controversy because of her sometimes autocratic style.

She was appointed to a position on the Republican National Committee in the early 1920s. At the age of seventy six, Emma Smith DeVoe was elected to the National Women's Hall of Fame in 2000. The Washington State Historical Society and Washington Women's History Consortium cordially invites everyone to attend the opening of the Women's Suffrage Centennial Exhibit, Women's Votes, Women's Voices, Saturday, February 28th, 11:30am, at the Tacoma Washington State History Museum. The exhibit will travel and features rare women's history, documents and artifacts from across the United States."

WILFRED WOODS

Mr. President: "Retired publisher Wilfred Woods hails from North Central Washington, the region that for many years his newspaper has boldly proclaimed as the "Apple Capital of the World and the Buckle of the Power Belt of the Great Northwest." The accomplishments of our honoree today are nearly as grand, even if he has been quiet about touting the. So we are doing that today. This lifelong Wenatchee resident has been a grand champion of civic and economic concerns of North Central Washington.

His father, Rufus Woods, was publisher of the "Wenatchee Daily World" from 1907 until his death in 1950 and forever made his mark as the chief proponent of the Grand Coulee Dam. Following his father's passing, Wilfred became editor and publisher of that newspaper, which shortened its name to the "Wenatchee World" in 1971. During his 47 years as the newspaper's publisher, Wilfred Woods continued his father's efforts to promote economic development. Wilfred dedicated many stories and personal columns to the public power, highways, port districts and the history of natural resources in North Central Washington. In 1997, Mr. Woods retired as publisher, giving control of the newspaper to his son, Rufus.

Mr. Woods has been a dedicated historian and community educator and has written many articles informing readers of resource development, agriculture and orchard growth, geography, climate, archaeology, Native American history, education and environmental concerns. The Woods family helped found Wenatchee Valley College, where Mr. Woods and his wife, Kathy, have attended and participated in many educational lectures and forums by scholars, activists and influential leaders. He has been a philanthropic leader in the region, especially with the arts. He helped to establish the Woods Conservatory of Music, and he was part of a group of local business people, artists and government representatives that led the drive for a Performing Arts Center of Wenatchee.

Mr. Woods has been involved in many statewide projects, serving several years on the State Parks Commission and the State Centennial Commission, and 10 years on the board of the American Forestry Association. He is a former trustee of the Washington State Historical Society.

Wilfred and Kathleen Woods have been married for 56 years. They have one son, Rufus, and two daughters, Gretchen Woods and Kara Hunnicutt, and three grandchildren. I'm told that at nearly 89, Mr. Woods hasn't really slowed down at all. He is truly a powerhouse of the region and of Washington State, and is very deserving of this Medal of Merit. On behalf of the committee, I would like to thank you, Wilfred Woods, for your lifetime of public service."

The Governor presented Wilfred Woods with the Medal of Merit and certificate.

Wilfred Woods: "Thank you. I had this opportunity thanks to a business that allowed me the opportunity to help serve Central Washington, and the State of Washington. And all with the help of my wife Kathy.

We looked for opportunities for state and local people to participate. I thank my stars I came along at a time when I was able to participate. I hope that our future generations have the same opportunity, and the education and cultural advantages which help make the State of Washington the great state it is today.

Thank you very much."

WILLIAM H. GATES, SR.

Chief Justice Gerry Alexander: "Thank you, President Owen. The Washington State Medal of Merit is not awarded very frequently, and as you've heard it goes only to a person who has displayed exceptionally meritorious conduct in performing outstanding service to the people of the State of Washington. Today, I have the very great honor and privilege of presenting to you, Governor Gregoire, and all those present today, such a person, William H. Gates Sr.

Bill Gates is truly a man for all seasons – patriot, distinguished attorney at law, bar and civic leader, philanthropist, and exemplary husband and parent. In the time allotted to me I can only skim the surface in describing the career accomplishments of this outstanding Washingtonian, and knowing Bill Gates, he would probably be very uncomfortable if I went on too long in doing that, but let me just tell you a little about this man.

Bill Gates was raised in Bremerton and went to high school there. During his school years, he was active in scouting, achieving the Eagle Scout award in 1941. Like many of his generation, the generation Tom Brokaw called the "Greatest American Generation", Bill's plans to further his education were put on a serious hold after graduation of high school and one year of college. They were put on hold due to the advent of World War II. Indeed, in 1943 after graduating high school and attending the University of Washington for one year, Bill enlisted in the United States Army and fought in that war until it ended. Upon receiving his discharge from the Army in 1946, Bill Gates returned to the University of Washington and like many of his contemporaries, he received help in completing his education from the GI Bill. Bill's re-enrollment at the University of Washington resumed a long association with that University, one which benefitted him, and as I will explain in a minute, greatly benefitted the University of Washington and the State of Washington. Bill obtained his B.A. degree in 1949 and his law degree, also from the University of Washington, in 1950.

Upon graduating and passing the state bar examination, Bill entered the private practice of law in Seattle with a firm he co-founded and which was known for many years as Preston, Gates and Ellis. Today it is one of the Nation's largest law firms currently known as K and L Gates. During the years in which Bill Gates actively practiced law, he was one of the State's foremost leaders of the Bar serving a term as the president of the Seattle/King County Bar Association followed by service as governor and president of the Washington State Bar association. In addition, Bill Gates headed up numerous committees and commissions that were devoted to and succeeded in improving the administration of justice in this State. Notably he served on the Board for Judicial Administration of the State of Washington, and the Board for the National Center for State Courts.

On top of his bar activities, Bill Gates has, to put it mildly, been very active in the broader community, serving on boards and as officer of numerous charitable organizations such as the Chief Seattle Council of the Boy Scouts of America, and the board of the United Way for King County. His service for the

2009 REGULAR SESSION

United Way included the challenging task of heading up the United Way's King County fund raising campaign of 1989.

In recent years, particularly since his retirement from the active practice of law in 1998, Bill has devoted huge amounts of his time to two institutions that mean a great deal to him, institutions which have had a great impact on our State, our Nation, and the World.

The first is his alma mater, the University of Washington. As I mentioned, Bill's relationship with the University of Washington began actually in the early 1940s and continued in 1946 when he re-enrolled there. It has continued and it has flourished over the years. Bill has served the university in many ways including service as a member of the Board of Regents of the University of Washington. As an alum of the University of Washington myself, I am proud that Bill was named a distinguished alumnus of the University of Washington Law School and that the law school I attended is now named William Gates Hall. In my opinion, Bill's most notable service to the University of Washington has been through his work with the University of Washington Foundation and particularly his chairing of a fund raising campaign that raised 2.6 billion – not million – 2.6 billion dollars for the University of Washington. If that was not the largest fund raising campaign ever for a publicly funded university it came awfully close I'm sure. In a letter to the Medal of Merit Committee, University of Washington President Mark Emmert said this about Bill's effort, and I quote, "Bill's contributions to the University of Washington are simply unparalleled. He has witnessed and influenced all phases of the University's history over the last 65 years, from his days of student activism to his selfless service on numerous committees and boards. A regent since 1997, he recently chaired 'Campaign UW Creating Futures', the University's largest fund-raising campaign ever. The campaign was a phenomenal success, exceeding its original goal and raising more than 2.6 billion over eight years. While this is an impressive amount by any standards, its true value lies in the impact it has on our students, faculty and staff, and their ability to make our State and our world a better place."

The other institution that has benefitted immeasurably from Bill's time and talent has been the Gates' Foundation. As most of you know, the largesse for this foundation has been provided by Bill's son and daughter-in-law. But much of the vision and strategic direction for the Foundation has been provided by the man we are here to honor today. How this came about is described in a letter by former Governor Daniel Evans, and I'm glad he is here today. Governor Evans himself is a recipient of the Washington Medal of Merit as you will remember. Governor Evans says this in his letter about Bill Gates, and I quote, "at the age when most of us think about retiring, Bill began a demanding new career in philanthropy. Years ago when his son Bill said to his dad in exasperation, "what do I do with all these requests for charity?" Bill Sr. said 'let me help you out' and took a cardboard box full of the requests. That was the birth of the Bill and Melinda Gates Foundation. He has built the Foundation into the largest charitable foundation in the world. But not just from the head office; he has traveled the world to see for himself where needs exist and how the Gates Foundation can use its resources most effectively. From Bangladesh to Central Africa, he has traipsed through poverty stricken villages at a pace few can match. Governor Evans goes on to say, "I think I am pretty active, but I am merely trotting while Bill Gates still runs at full speed." While the Gates Foundation is famous for its work to improve health and education for some of the world's most impoverished people, it is also at work in our State. Just a few examples: Sound Families a partnership with agencies in Pierce, King and Snohomish counties, that provides transitional housing and support services to almost 1500 homeless families; Thrive by Five the Washington Early Learning Fund; a public-private partnership to ensure that children in our state have the greatest chance at success in school and life. Washington State Achievers Scholarship, a partnership with high schools that serve low income populations to re-design the high school experience, create early college awareness in students, and provide scholarships to successful students.

The last hallmark of Bill Gates' life that I would like to mention, and I'll close with this. This is one I noted at the outset of my remarks – the fact that he has been an exemplary husband and parent. Bill and his late wife Mary Maxwell Gates, met at the University of Washington. They raised three children, Kristianne, Bill and Libby. Mary Gates died in 1994, and in 1996 Bill married Mimi Gardner Gates, who is the director of the Seattle Art Museum. I know that Bill and Mimi and Mary, during her life, have been very proud of their children, just as their children and the entire community of the State of Washington are proud of William Gates Sr.

Governor Gregoire, I am very honored to present William H. Gates Sr. to you to receive the Washington State Medal of Merit."

The Governor presented William H. Gates Sr. with the Medal of Merit and certificate.

William H. Gates Sr.: "Thank you, Governor for those very kind words, and Chief Justice for the very wonderful introduction. It's really quite humbling, but of course I have a lot to be humble about. This morning was such a perfect icon for my life, seated behind and located in the shadow of a great woman, who is my life. Thank you, Mimi.

I thought that the most admirable impulse of human kind was our desire to change things for the better. Lord knows we haven't got it all figured out yet, but we keep trying. The impulse to make improvements is what motivated me to become active in civic affairs and I'm really pleased and proud to be recognized for the small things I've done in the last 60 years. Looking back, I'm confident in the fact, besides my family, the one factor that made it possible for me to develop such abilities I may have had, is the public education I received from the State of Washington. My father left school in the 8th grade. I grew up in Bremerton during the Great Depression. Even so, I received an excellent public education – from first grade all the way through law school. Without it, I could not have done any of the things I am being recognized for today.

Poor kids nowadays, they don't get that chance. I just learned this fact from my son, who is in the Chamber with us today, that low income young people are more likely to go to jail than to earn a four year college degree. That is a gross violation of the values that make this country so great. For the past decade I have been working with my son and daughter-in-law to advance their foundations mission in guaranteeing that all students get the high quality education they deserve. Our society as a whole should set the same goal. If we succeed, then that success, that success, will be the really meritorious thing any of us could accomplish. Thank you."

We both of us have this semi new look this year, both of us married wives taller than us, both of our wives are prettier than us, both of our wives are younger than us, both of them have more hair than us as well. Thank you Mr. President. I've been to your home and I've seen you cook, so I'm fairly certain that these cookies before us today did not come from your hand but from your beautiful younger, taller than your wife. So, I would like to personally thank Linda and you because you did deliver them for a nice Valentine and may she have a good time looking down upon you on Valentine's Day. Thank you Mr. President."

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Eide: "Well, thank you. Well, I too would like to stand and thank your lovely wife Linda for all the cookies that she has delivered throughout the years and she's never failed to make us treats on Valentine's Day. You make sure that you go home and tell her that she's a sweetheart."

I got to tell you, being in the Legislature and having to celebrate your anniversary on the floor of the legislature when your wife is one hundred fifty miles away, it's just not the same. So, I just want you all to know that I love being here but, be very honest with you, I'd rather be about one hundred fifty miles from here. Thank you."

REMARKS BY THE PRESIDENT

President Owen: "If the President may indulge you for a moment, about the cookies. Because, normally, she will, after an impassioned request by Senator McCaslin a few years ago she did start making two different types but after thirteen hours yesterday at working on the cookies I made the mistake of asking her if she made two different types. She said no, but she did ask to share with you that, Senator McCaslin, they were made with love and that even though you may not be able to eat chocolate chip cookies, if you would share them with your staff, the cookies will do as they intended and even though you will not feel the love in your stomach, you will feel it in your heart, if you would share them with somebody else. Thank you."

(h) The department is authorized to continue to expend federal block grant funds and special purpose federal grants through direct contracts, rather than through contracts with regional support networks, and to allocate such funds through such formulas as it shall adopt.

(i) The department is authorized to continue to contract directly, rather than through contracts with regional support networks, for children's long-term inpatient facility services.

(j) $2,250,000 of the general fund--state appropriation for fiscal year 2008, $2,250,000 of the general fund--state appropriation for fiscal year 2009, and $4,500,000 of the general fund--federal appropriation are provided solely for the continued operation of community residential and support services for persons who are older adults or who have co-occurring medical and behavioral disorders and who have been discharged or diverted from a state psychiatric hospital. These funds shall be used to serve individuals whose treatment needs constitute substantial barriers to community placement, who no longer require active psychiatric treatment at an inpatient hospital level of care, and who no longer meet the criteria for inpatient involuntary commitment. Coordination of these services will be done in partnership between the mental health program and the aging and disability services administration.

(k) $750,000 of the general fund--state appropriation for fiscal year 2008 and $750,000 of the general fund--state appropriation for fiscal year 2009 are provided solely to continue performance-based incentive contracts to provide appropriate community support services for individuals with severe mental illness who were discharged from the state hospitals as part of the expanding community services initiative. Within the amount provided in this subsection (l)(m), beginning August 1, 2007, each hospital's inpatient psychiatric payment rate shall instead be set at the greater of a percentage of: (i) The hospital's estimated per diem cost for psychiatric inpatient care during the most recent rebasing year; or (ii) the statewide average per diem cost for psychiatric inpatient care during the most recent rebasing year, adjusted for regional wage differences and for~~

—(n) $7,396,000 of the general fund--state appropriation for fiscal year 2008, $15,146,000 of the general fund--state appropriation for fiscal year 2009, and $13,927,000 of the general fund--federal appropriation are provided solely to increase regional support network medicaid capitation rates, or fee-for-service rates paid instead of those capitation rates, and nonmedicaid allocations by 3.0 percent effective July 1, 2007, and by an additional 3.0 percent effective July 1, 2008. The federal portion of these rate increases is contingent upon federal approval. (i) The legislature intends and expects that regional support networks and community mental health agencies will use at least 67 percent of the amounts provided in this subsection (1)(o) to increase compensation for direct care personnel above and beyond usual and customary wage increases. To this end, regional support networks shall report to the department by October 15, 2007, on planned uses of the rate increases within their network area. The report shall describe the direct care job classifications to which increases are to be provided; the number of full-time equivalent personnel employed in each classification; the annualized dollar and percentage increases to be provided each classification; the annualized dollar value of the direct care compensation increases provided, in total and as a percentage of the total rate increase; and the number of personnel in each job classification covered by a collective bargaining agreement. TOTAL APPROPRIATION. (($1,366,637,000))
	$1,365,440,000

The appropriations in this subsection are subject to the following conditions and limitations:

(a) The entire health services account appropriation, $615,000 of the general fund--state appropriation for fiscal year 2008, $892,000 of the general fund--state appropriation for fiscal year 2009, and $2,546,011 of the general fund--federal appropriation are provided solely for health care benefits for agency home care workers who are employed through state contracts for at least twenty hours a week. The state contribution to the cost of health care benefits per participating worker per month shall be no greater than $532.00 in fiscal year 2008 and $585.00 in fiscal year 2009.

(b) Individuals receiving family support or high school transition payments as supplemental security income (SSI) state supplemental payments shall not become eligible for medical assistance under RCW 74.09.510 due solely to the receipt of SSI state supplemental payments.

(c) $4,903,000 of the general fund--state appropriation for fiscal year 2008, $9,295,000 of the general fund--state appropriation for fiscal year 2009, and $15,016,000 of the general fund--federal appropriation are provided solely for community residential and support services. Funding in this subsection shall be prioritized for (i) residents of residential habilitation centers who are able to be adequately cared for in community settings and who choose to live in those community settings; (ii) clients without residential services who are at immediate risk of institutionalization or in crisis; (iii) children who are at risk of institutionalization or who are aging out of other state services; and (iv) current home and community-based waiver program clients who have been assessed as having an immediate need for increased services. First priority shall be given to children who are at risk of institutionalization. The department shall ensure that the average cost per day for all program services other than start-up costs shall not exceed $300. In order to maximize the number of clients served and ensure the cost-effectiveness of the waiver programs, the department will strive to limit new client placement expenditures to 90 percent of the budgeted daily rate. If this can be accomplished, additional clients may be served with excess funds, provided the total projected carry-forward expenditures do not exceed the amounts estimated. The department shall electronically report to the appropriate committees of the legislature, within 45 days following each fiscal year quarter, the number of persons served with these additional community services, where they were residing, what kinds of services they were receiving prior to placement, and the actual expenditures for all community services to support these clients.

(d) $2,399,000 of the general fund--state appropriation for fiscal year 2008, $5,961,000 of the general fund--state appropriation for fiscal year 2009, and $8,849,000 of the general fund--federal appropriation are provided solely for expanded community services for persons with developmental disabilities who also have community protection issues. Funding in this subsection shall be prioritized for (i) clients being diverted or discharged from the state psychiatric hospitals; (ii) clients participating in the dangerous mentally ill offender program;

The department shall ensure that the average cost per day for all program services other than start-up costs shall not exceed $349 in fiscal year 2008 and $356 in fiscal year 2009. In order to maximize the number of clients served and ensure the cost-effectiveness of the waiver programs, the department will strive to limit new client placement expenditures to 90 percent of the budgeted daily rate. If this can be accomplished, additional clients may be served with excess funds if the total projected carry-forward expenditures do not exceed the amounts estimated. The department shall implement the four new waiver programs such that decisions about enrollment levels and the amount, duration, and scope of services maintain expenditures within appropriations. The department shall electronically report to the appropriate committees of the legislature, within 45 days following each fiscal year quarter, the number of persons served with these additional community services, where they were residing, what kinds of services they were receiving prior to placement, and the actual expenditures for all community services to support these clients.

(e) $13,198,000 of the general fund--state appropriation for fiscal year 2008, $16,354,000 of the general fund--state appropriation for fiscal year 2009, and $8,579,000 of the general fund--federal appropriation are provided solely for family support programs for individuals with developmental disabilities. Of the amounts provided in this subsection (e), $696,000 of the general fund--state appropriation for fiscal year 2008 and $3,852,000 of the general fund--state appropriation for fiscal year 2009 are for state-only services for individuals with developmental disabilities, as described in Second Substitute Senate Bill No. 5467 (developmental disabilities). (f) $1,692,000 of the general fund--state appropriation for fiscal year 2008, $3,645,000 of the general fund--state appropriation for fiscal year 2009, and $2,397,000 of the general fund--federal appropriation are provided solely for employment and day services. Priority consideration for this new funding shall be young adults with developmental disabilities living with their family who need employment opportunities and assistance after high school graduation. Services shall be provided for both waiver and nonwaiver clients. The legislature finds that some waiver clients are not receiving employment services that are authorized under their waivers. Within the amounts appropriated in this section, waiver clients must receive services as authorized by their waiver, such as pathway to employment, while waiting for paid employment to be developed. The department shall work with the counties to establish a consistent proposed policy for minimum direct service hours for clients, minimum hours of support, time frames for seeking paid employment, and services provided under pathway to employment while paid employment is sought. The department shall report to the office of financial management and the appropriate committees of the legislature on this proposal by November 1, 2008, including estimated fiscal impacts and an option for making the policy budget neutral for the current level of clients served. In order to maximize the number of clients served, the department may serve additional nonwaiver clients with unspent funds for waiver clients, provided the total projected carry-forward expenditures do not exceed the amounts estimated.

(n) Within the amounts appropriated in this subsection (1), the department shall define in-home personal care services to include a client's ability to manage their personal care worker as identified by characteristics in the functional assessment. The continuation and expansion of the pilot programs expires June 30, 2009. If the bill is not enacted by June 30, 2008, the amounts provided in this subsection shall lapse.

These administrative reductions shall be achieved, to the greatest extent possible, by reducing those administrative costs that do not affect direct client services or direct service delivery or programs.

Appropriation.....	$646,000
TOTAL APPROPRIATION, ($8,447,469,000)	$8,376,726,000

The appropriations in this section are subject to the following conditions and limitations:

(1) Based on quarterly expenditure reports and caseload forecasts, if the department estimates that expenditures for the medical assistance program will exceed the appropriations, the department shall take steps including but not limited to reduction of rates or elimination of optional services to reduce expenditures so that total program costs do not exceed the annual appropriation authority.

(2) In determining financial eligibility for medicaid-funded services, the department is authorized to disregard recoveries by Holocaust survivors of insurance proceeds or other assets, as defined in RCW 48.104.030.

(3) Sufficient amounts are appropriated in this section for the department to continue podiatry services for medicaid-eligible adults.

(4) Sufficient amounts are appropriated in this section for the department to provide an adult dental benefit that is at least equivalent to the benefit provided in the 2003-05 biennium.

(5) In accordance with RCW 74.46.625, $6,000,000 of the general fund--federal appropriation is provided solely for supplemental payments to nursing homes operated by public hospital districts. The public hospital district shall be responsible for providing the required nonfederal match for the supplemental payment, and the payments shall not exceed the maximum allowable under federal rules. It is the legislature's intent that the payments shall be supplemental to and shall not in any way offset or reduce the payments calculated and provided in accordance with part E of chapter 74.46 RCW. It is the legislature's further intent that costs otherwise allowable for rate- setting and settlement against payments under chapter 74.46 RCW shall not be disallowed solely because such costs have been paid by revenues retained by the nursing home from these supplemental payments. The supplemental payments are subject to retrospective interim and final cost settlements based on the nursing homes' as-filed and final medicare cost reports. The timing of the interim and final cost settlements shall be at the department's discretion. During either the interim cost settlement or the final cost settlement, the department shall recoup from the public hospital districts the supplemental payments that exceed the medicaid cost limit and/or the medicare upper payment limit. The department shall apply federal rules for identifying the eligible incurred medicaid costs and the medicare upper payment limit.

(6) $1,111,000 of the health services account appropriation for fiscal year 2008, $1,110,000 of the health services account appropriation for fiscal year 2009, $5,402,000 of the general fund-- federal appropriation, $1,590,000 of the general fund--state appropriation for fiscal year 2008, and $1,591,000 of the general fund--state appropriation for fiscal year 2009 are provided solely for grants to rural hospitals. The department shall distribute the funds under a formula that provides a relatively larger share of the available funding to hospitals that (a) serve a disproportionate share of low-income and medically indigent patients and (b) have relatively smaller net financial margins, to the extent allowed by the federal medicaid program.

(7) $10,546,000 of the health services account appropriation for fiscal year 2008, $10,546,000 of the health services account--state appropriation for fiscal year 2009, and $19,725,000 of the general fund--federal appropriation are provided solely for grants to nonrural hospitals. The department shall distribute the funds under a formula that provides a relatively larger share of the available funding to hospitals that

(a) serve a disproportionate share of low-income and medically indigent patients and (b) have relatively smaller net financial margins, to the extent allowed by the federal medicaid program.

(8) The department shall continue the inpatient hospital certified public expenditures program for the 2007-2009 biennium. The program shall apply to all public hospitals, including those owned or operated by the state, except those classified as critical access hospitals or state psychiatric institutions. The department shall submit reports to the governor and legislature by November 1, 2007, and by November 1, 2008, that evaluate whether savings continue to exceed costs for this program. If the certified public expenditures (CPE) program in its current form is no longer cost-effective to maintain, the department shall submit a report to the governor and legislature detailing cost-effective alternative uses of local, state, and federal resources as a replacement for this program. During fiscal year 2008 and fiscal year 2009, hospitals in the program shall be paid and shall retain (a) one hundred percent of the federal portion of the allowable hospital cost for each medicaid inpatient fee-for-service claim payable by medical assistance; and (b) one hundred percent of the federal portion of the maximum disproportionate share hospital payment allowable under federal regulations. Inpatient medicaid payments shall be established using an allowable methodology that approximates the cost of claims submitted by the hospitals. Payments made to each hospital in the program in each fiscal year of the biennium shall be compared to a baseline amount. The baseline amount will be determined by the total of (a) the inpatient claim payment amounts that would have been paid during the fiscal year had the hospital not been in the CPE program, and (b) disproportionate share hospital payment amounts paid to and retained by each hospital during fiscal year 2005 that pertain to fiscal year 2005. If payments during the fiscal year exceed the hospital's baseline amount, no additional payments will be made to the hospital except the federal portion of allowable disproportionate share hospital payments for which the hospital can certify allowable match. If payments during the fiscal year are less than the baseline amount, the hospital will be paid a state grant equal to the difference between payments during the fiscal year and the applicable baseline amount. Payment of the state grant shall be made in the applicable fiscal year and distributed in monthly payments. The grants will be recalculated and redistributed as the baseline is updated during the fiscal year. The grant payments are subject to an interim settlement within eleven months after the end of the fiscal year. A final settlement shall be performed within two years after the end of the related fiscal year. To the extent that either settlement determines that a hospital has received funds in excess of what it would have received as described in this subsection, the hospital must repay the excess amounts to the state when requested. $61,728,000 of the general fund--state appropriation for fiscal year 2008, of which $6,570,000 is appropriated in section 204(1) of this act and the balance in this section, and (~~($57,894,000)~~) $47,745,000 of the general fund--state appropriation for fiscal year 2009, of which $6,570,000 is appropriated in section 204(1) of this act and the balance in this section, are provided solely for state grants for the participating hospitals.

(9) $4,399,000 of the general fund--state appropriation for fiscal year 2008, $6,391,000 of the general fund--state appropriation for fiscal year 2009, and $55,384,000 of the general fund--federal appropriation are provided solely for development and implementation of a replacement system for the existing medicaid management information system. The amounts are conditioned on the department satisfying the requirements of section 902 of this act.

(10) When a person is ineligible for medicaid solely by reason of residence in an institution for mental diseases, the department shall provide the person with the same benefits as he or she would receive if eligible for medicaid, using state-only funds to the extent necessary.

(11) The department is authorized to use funds appropriated in this section to purchase goods and supplies through direct contracting with vendors when the department determines it is cost-effective to do so.

(12) The legislature affirms that it is in the state's interest for Harborview medical center to remain an economically viable component of the state's health care system.

(13) The department shall, within available resources, continue operation of the medical care services care management pilot project for clients receiving general assistance benefits in King and Pierce counties. The project may use a full or partial capitation model that includes a mechanism for shared savings.

(14) $1,688,000 of the general fund--state appropriation for fiscal year 2008 and $1,689,000 of the general fund--state appropriation for fiscal year 2009 are provided solely to incorporate a mental health service component to the pilot project established pursuant to subsection (13) of this section. Addition of the mental health service component authorized in this subsection is contingent upon the managed care contractor or the participating counties providing, alone or in combination, matching funds in cash or in kind, in an amount equal to one-ninth of the amounts appropriated in this subsection. The mental health service component may include care coordination, mental health services, and integrated medical and mental health service delivery for general assistance clients with mental health disorders, as well as primary care provider training and education. The department shall provide a report to the appropriate committees of the legislature by January 1, 2009, on costs, savings, and any outcomes or quality measures associated with the pilot projects during calendar year 2007 and 2008. To the extent possible, the report shall address any impact that the mental health services component has had upon clients' use of medical services, including but not limited to primary care physician's visits, emergency room utilization, and prescription drug utilization.

(15) $341,000 of the health services account appropriation for fiscal year 2008, $1,054,000 of the health services account appropriation for fiscal year 2009, and $1,461,000 of the general fund--federal appropriation are provided solely to implement Second Substitute House Bill No. 1201 (foster care youth medical). If the bill is not enacted by June 30, 2007, the amounts provided in this subsection shall lapse.

(16) $6,728,000 of the general fund--state appropriation for fiscal year 2008 and $8,563,000 of the general fund--state appropriation for fiscal year 2009 are provided solely to provide full benefit dual eligible beneficiaries with medicare part D prescription drug copayment coverage in accordance with chapter 3, Laws of 2007 (part D copayment drug program).

(17) The department shall conduct a study to determine the financial impact associated with continuing to cover brand name medications versus the same medication in its generic form. The study shall account for all rebates paid to the state on each product studied up until the point where the generic form is less expensive, net of federally required rebates. The department shall submit its report to the legislative fiscal committees by December 1, 2007.

(18) $198,000 of the general fund--state appropriation for fiscal year 2008 and (~~($268,000)~~) $134,000 of the general fund--state appropriation for fiscal year 2009 are provided solely for the first two years of a four-year project by the Seattle-King county health department to improve management of symptoms and reduce complications related to asthma among medicaid eligible children. The department shall contract with the Seattle-King county health department to have trained community health workers visit medicaid eligible children in their homes to identify and reduce exposure to asthma triggers,

(a) By December 15, 2007, the department shall provide a report to the appropriate committees of the legislature on the progress of implementing the following activities:

(i) Feasibility study and implementation plan to develop online application capability that is integrated with the department's automated client eligibility system;

(ii) Development of data linkages with the office of superintendent of public instruction for free and reduced-price lunch enrollment information and the department of early learning for child care subsidy program enrollment information;

(iv) Outreach contracts with local governmental entities, community based organizations, and tribes;

(v) Results of data sharing with outreach contractors, and other contracted entities such as local governments, community-based organizations, tribes, health care providers, and insurers to engage, enroll, and reenroll identified children;

(A) Allow applicants and recipients of unemployment insurance to request assistance with obtaining health coverage for household members; and

(B) Authorize the exchange of information between the employment security department and the department of social and health services to more efficiently determine eligibility for health coverage under chapter 74.09 RCW.

(ii) The plan developed in (b)(i) of this subsection should address permissible uses of federal employment security funding and infrastructure, identification of any necessary statutory changes, and cost information. The department shall submit the plan in a report to the governor and the appropriate committees of the legislature by November 15, 2008.

(20) $640,000 of the general fund--state appropriation for fiscal year 2008 and $616,000 of the general fund--state appropriation for fiscal year 2009 are provided solely (~~(to)~~) for a medicare advantage program. The department shall:

(a) Pay the premiums associated with enrollment in a medicare advantage plan for those full benefit dual eligible beneficiaries, as defined in RCW 74.09.010, who were enrolled on or before November 14, 2006 in a medicare advantage plan sponsored by an entity accredited by the national committee for quality assurance and for whom the department had been paying Part C premium as of November 2006; and

(b) Undertake, directly or by contract, a study to determine the cost-effectiveness of paying premiums for enrollment of full benefit dual eligible beneficiaries in medicare advantage plans in lieu of paying full benefit dual eligible beneficiaries' medicare cost-sharing. The study shall compare the cost and health outcomes experience, including rates of nursing home placement and costs for groups of full benefit dual eligible beneficiaries who are enrolled in medicare advantage plans, in medicare special needs plan or in medicare fee-for-service. The study shall compare the health status and utilization of health and long-term care services for the three groups, and the impact of access to a medical home and specialty care, over a period of two years to determine any differences in health status, health outcomes, and state expenditures that result. The department shall submit the results of the study to the governor and the legislature by June 30, 2009. The department is authorized to accept private cash and in-kind donations and grants to support the study and evaluation.

(c) Track enrollment and expenditures for this population on department monthly management reports.

(21) The department may not transition to managed care delivery any population that has been primarily served under fee-for-service delivery unless the department first conducts a cost-effectiveness evaluation of the transition, including an evaluation of historical data on utilization patterns, and finds that the transition would result in a more effective and cost-efficient form of service delivery, pursuant to RCW 74.09.470. Any such finding must be provided to the governor and the legislature no less than ninety days before the transition begins.

(22) $756,000 of the general fund--state appropriation for fiscal year 2008, $1,193,000 of the general fund--state appropriation for fiscal year 2009, $1,261,000 of the health services account--state appropriation for fiscal year 2009, and $2,448,000 of the general fund--federal appropriation are provided solely to implement sections 5, 7, 8, and 11 of Second Substitute House Bill No. 1088 (children's mental health). If the bill is not enacted by June 30, 2007, the amounts provided in this subsection shall lapse.

(23) $288,000 of the general fund--state appropriation for fiscal year 2008, $277,000 of the general fund--state appropriation for fiscal year 2009, and $566,000 of the general fund--federal appropriation are provided solely for the implementation of Engrossed Second Substitute Senate Bill No. 5930 (blue ribbon comm/health care). If the bill is not enacted by June 30, 2007, the amounts provided in this subsection shall lapse.

(24) $45,000 of the general fund--state appropriation for fiscal year 2008 is provided solely for the department of social and health services, in consultation with the health care authority and the employment security department, to prepare and submit a report and recommendations to the governor and the legislature related to coverage of low-wage workers enrolled on state plans who are employed by employers with more than fifty employees. The report shall address multiple approaches, including but not limited to the proposal included in House Bill No. 2094 (taxpayer health care fairness act). The discussion of each approach included in the report should identify how the approach would further the goal of shared responsibility for coverage of low-wage workers, obstacles to implementation and options to address them, and estimated implementation costs. The report shall be submitted on or before November 15, 2007. The agencies shall establish a workgroup, which shall be closely involved and consulted in the development of the report and recommendations under this subsection. (2) Within the savings incentive account, the state treasurer may create subaccounts to be credited with incentive savings attributable to individual state agencies, as determined by the office of financial management in consultation with the legislative fiscal committees. Moneys deposited in the subaccounts may be expended only on the authorization of the agency's executive head or designee and only for the purpose of one-time expenditures to improve the quality, efficiency, and effectiveness of services to customers of the state, such as one-time expenditures for employee training, employee incentives, technology improvements, new work processes, or performance measurement. Funds may not be expended from the account to establish new programs or services, expand existing programs or services, or incur ongoing costs that would require future expenditures.

(3) For purposes of this section, "incentive savings" means state general fund appropriations that are unspent as of June 30th of a fiscal year, excluding any amounts included in across-the-board reductions under RCW 43.88.110 and excluding unspent appropriations for:

(a) Caseload and enrollment in entitlement programs, except to the extent that an agency has clearly demonstrated that efficiencies have been achieved in the administration of the entitlement program. "Entitlement program," as used in this section, includes programs for which specific sums of money are appropriated for pass-through to third parties or other entities;

(b) Enrollments in state institutions of higher education;

(c) A specific amount contained in a condition or limitation to an appropriation in the biennial appropriations act, if the agency did not achieve the specific purpose or objective of the condition or limitation;

(4) The office of (~~fiscal~~ ~~financial~~) financial management, after consulting with the legislative fiscal committees, shall report to the treasurer the amount of savings incentives achieved. By December 1, 1998, and each December 1st thereafter, the office of financial management shall submit a report to the fiscal committees of the legislature on the implementation of this section. The report shall (a) evaluate the impact of this section on agency reversions and end-of-biennium expenditure patterns, and (b) itemize agency expenditures from the savings recovery account. The office of financial management is relieved from having to submit a report by December 1, 2008.

(5) For fiscal year 2009, the legislature may transfer from the savings incentive account to the state general fund such amounts as reflect the fund balance of the account attributable to unspent state general fund appropriations for fiscal year 2008.

Sec. 903. RCW 43.79.465 and 2004 c 275 s 64 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) The reading achievement account is created in the custody of the state treasurer. The purposes of the account are to establish a depository for state and other funds made available for reading achievement, and to ensure that unspent amounts appropriated for reading achievement continue to be available for that purpose in future biennia.

(2) The director of early learning shall deposit in the account all appropriations to the department and nonstate moneys received by the department for reading achievement, including reading foundations and implementation of research-based reading models.

Moneys deposited in the account do not lapse at the close of the fiscal period for which they were appropriated. Both during and after the fiscal period in which moneys were deposited in the account, the director may expend moneys in the account only for the purposes for which they were appropriated, and the expenditures are subject to any other conditions or limitations placed on the appropriations.

(3) Expenditures from the account may be used only for reading achievement, including reading foundations, implementation of research-based reading models, and grants to school districts. During the 2007- 2009 fiscal biennium, the legislature may transfer from the reading achievement account to the state general fund such amounts as reflect the excess fund balance of the account.

Unless the context clearly requires otherwise, the definitions in this section apply throughout this chapter.

(1) "Board" means the indeterminate sentence review board created under chapter 9.95 RCW.

(2) "Collect," or any derivative thereof, "collect and remit," or "collect and deliver," when used with reference to the department, means that the department, either directly or through a collection agreement authorized by RCW 9.94A.760, is responsible for monitoring and enforcing the offender's sentence with regard to the legal financial obligation, receiving payment thereof from the offender, and, consistent with current law, delivering daily the entire payment to the superior court clerk without depositing it in a departmental account.

(4) "Community corrections officer" means an employee of the department who is responsible for carrying out specific duties in supervision of sentenced offenders and monitoring of sentence conditions.

(5) "Community custody" means that portion of an offender's sentence of confinement in lieu of earned release time or imposed as part of a sentence and served in the community subject to controls placed on the offender's movement and activities by the department.

(6) "Community custody range" means the minimum and maximum period of community custody included as part of a sentence under RCW ~~((9.94A.715))~~ 9.94A.701, as established by the commission or the legislature under RCW 9.94A.850.

However, affirmative acts necessary to monitor compliance with the order of a court may be required by the department.

(12) "Criminal history" means the list of a defendant's prior convictions and juvenile adjudications, whether in this state, in federal court, or elsewhere.

(a) The history shall include, where known, for each conviction (i) whether the defendant has been placed on probation and the length and terms thereof; and (ii) whether the defendant has been incarcerated and the length of incarceration.

judgment after such revocation of probation and the defendant shall be delivered to the sheriff to be transported to the penitentiary or reformatory, in accordance with the sentence imposed.

Sec. 8. RCW 9.92.060 and 2005 c 362 s 2 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) Whenever any person is convicted of any crime except murder, burglary in the first degree, arson in the first degree, robbery, rape of a child, or rape, the superior court may, in its discretion, at the time of imposing sentence upon such person, direct that such sentence be stayed and suspended until otherwise ordered by the superior court ~~((and that the sentenced person be placed under the charge of a community corrections officer employed by the department of corrections, or if the county elects to assume responsibility for the supervision of all superior court misdemeanor probationers a probation officer employed or contracted for)).~~

(2) If the county has authorized a superior court misdemeanor probation program for the supervision of persons with suspended sentences as provided in subsection (1) of this section, the sentenced person shall be placed under the charge of a probation officer employed by the county, upon such terms as the superior court may determine.

~~((2))~~ (3) As a condition to suspension of sentence, the superior court shall require the payment of the penalty assessment required by RCW 7.68.035. In addition, the superior court may require the convicted person to make such monetary payments, on such terms as the superior court deems appropriate under the circumstances, as are necessary: (a) To comply with any order of the court for the payment of family support; (b) to make restitution to any person or persons who may have suffered loss or damage by reason of the commission of the crime in question or when the offender pleads guilty to a lesser offense or fewer offenses and agrees with the prosecutor's recommendation that the offender be required to pay restitution to a victim of an offense or offenses which are not prosecuted pursuant to a plea agreement; (c) to pay any fine imposed and not suspended and the court or other costs incurred in the prosecution of the case, including reimbursement of the state for costs of extradition if return to this state by extradition was required; and (d) to contribute to a county or interlocal drug fund.

~~((3)) As a condition of the suspended sentence, the superior court may order the probationer to report to the secretary of corrections or such officer as the secretary may designate and as a condition of the probation to follow the instructions of the secretary. If the county legislative authority has elected to assume responsibility for the supervision of superior court misdemeanor probationers within its jurisdiction, the superior court misdemeanor probationer shall report to a probation officer employed or contracted for by the county.)~~

(4) In cases where a superior court misdemeanor probationer is sentenced in one county, but resides within another county, ~~((there must be provisions for))~~ the superior court may require that the probationer ((to)) report to the ((agency having supervision responsibility for the)) probationer's county of residence if the probationer's county of residence has a superior court misdemeanor program.

~~((4))~~ (5) If restitution to the victim has been ordered under subsection ~~((2))~~ (3)(b) of this section and the superior court has ordered supervision, the officer supervising the probationer shall make a reasonable effort to ascertain whether restitution has been made as ordered. If the superior court has ordered supervision and restitution has not been made, the officer shall inform the prosecutor of that violation of the terms of the suspended sentence not less than three months prior to the termination of the suspended sentence.

~~((5)) The provisions of RCW 9.94A.501 apply to sentences imposed under this section.)~~

Sec. 9. 2008 c 231 s 6 (uncodified) is amended to read as follows:

The existing sentencing reform act contains numerous provisions for supervision of different types of offenders. This duplication has caused great confusion for judges, lawyers, offenders, and the department of corrections, and often results in inaccurate sentences. The clarifications in this act are intended to support continued discussions by the sentencing guidelines commission with the courts and the criminal justice community to identify and propose policy changes that will further simplify and improve the sentencing reform act relating to the supervision of offenders. The sentencing guidelines commission shall submit policy change proposals to the legislature on or before December 1, 2008.

Sections 7 through 58 of this act are intended to simplify the supervision provisions of the sentencing reform act and increase the uniformity of its application. These sections are not intended to either increase or decrease the authority of sentencing courts or the department relating to supervision, except for those provisions instructing the court to apply the provisions of the current community custody law to offenders sentenced after July 1, 2009, but who committed their crime prior to August 1, 2009, to the extent that such application is constitutionally permissible.

This will effect a change for offenders who committed their crimes prior to the offender accountability act, chapter 196, Laws of 1999. These offenders will be ordered to a term of community custody rather than community placement or community supervision. To the extent constitutionally permissible, the terms of the offender's supervision will be as provided in current law. With the exception of this change, the legislature does not intend to make, and no provision of sections 7 through 58 of this act may be construed as making, a substantive change to the supervision provisions of the sentencing reform act.

~~((It is the intent of the legislature to reaffirm that section 3, chapter 379, Laws of 2003, expires July 1, 2010.))~~

NEW SECTION. Sec. 10. The following acts or parts of acts are each repealed:

(1) RCW 9.95.206 (Misdemeanor probation services--Offender classification system--Supervision standards) and 1996 c 298 s 2; and

(2) RCW 9.95.212 (Standards for supervision of misdemeanor probationers) and 1998 c 245 s 2 & 1995 1st sp.s. c 19 s 31.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 11. 2008 c 231 s 60 (uncodified) is repealed.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 12. (1) Sections 1, 4 through 8, 10, 11, and 14 of this act are necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health, or safety, or support of the state government and its existing public institutions, and take effect immediately.

(2) Sections 2, 3, and 9 of this act take effect August 1, 2009.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 13 Section 1 of this act expires August 1, 2009.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 14. This act applies retroactively and prospectively regardless of whether the offender is currently on community custody or probation with the department, currently incarcerated with a term of community custody or probation with the department, or sentenced after the effective date of this section."

The President requested that the Sergeant at Arms of the Senate and the Sergeant at Arms of the House escort Speaker Frank Chopp, Speaker Pro Tempore Jeff Morris, Majority Leader Lynn Kessler and Minority Leader Richard DeBolt to their seats on the Rostrum. The Representatives were invited to seats within the Chamber.

The President called the joint session to order. The Secretary called the roll of the members of the Senate and House and announced a quorum was present.

The Secretary called the roll of former members who were present in the chamber: Del Bausch, Mike Cooper, Wayne Ehler, Stuart Halson, Joan Houchen, Dick King, Bill Kiskaddon, R. H. "Bob" Lewis, Gary Neslon, Lena Swanson, Sid Snyder and Joe Taller.

REMARKS BY THE PRESIDENT

President Owen: "Are there any other former members here today that we may have missed and did not call? Senator Mark Doumit."

The President introduced the statewide elected officials: Sam Reed, Secretary of State and Randy Dorn, Superintendent of Public Instruction.

The Flags were escorted to the Rostrum by the color guard of the Washington State Patrol, the Olympia Detachment of the Marine Corps League and the Veterans of Foreign Wars. The President led the Chamber in the Pledge of Allegiance.

The President introduced former Representative David Buri and former Secretary of State, Ralph Monro who also were seated in the Gallery.

REMARKS BY THE PRESIDENT

President Owen: "Honored members of the Legislature, ladies and gentlemen: The purpose of this joint session is to conduct a memorial service in memory of departed former members of the legislature. This has been our longstanding custom. For more than a century the Senate and House have met as we meet today to pay special and fitting tribute to the lives and service of these valued public servants and to express our sympathies to their families and friends. On behalf of the Senate and the House of Representatives, I would like to extend a warm welcome to the family members, friends and colleagues who are with us today."

The President called upon the Speaker Pro Tempore Morris to preside over the Joint Session.

Pastor Sandra Kreis of Shelton offered the Invocation: "We gather this day to honor and remember legislators of Washington State who have served these august bodies. We grieve their passing, but we honor them for their service and give thanks for all they have given to the state and to us personally. I believe they may have been familiar with this passage from the Prophet Micah in the Old Testament: 'God has told you O mortal, what is good; and what does the Lord require of you, but to do justice, love kindness, and walk humbly with your God?'"

Holding the position of lawmaker in this place means that one would be about doing justice, living and acting with compassion and certainly realizing their place as a part of a larger body. We praise these men and women who served in this way understanding that respect and compromise were their greatest gifts.

As we continue to live on this earth, we are reminded by the Old Testament writer of the book of Ecclesiastes that our time here is a gift from our creator and has its season:

'A time to be born and a time to die;
A time to plant and a time to pluck what is planted;
A time to break down and a time to build up;
A time to weep and a time to laugh'
A time to mourn and a time to dance;
For everything there is a season,
And a time for every matter under heaven'"

So we gather to remember these your servants:

Let us pray: Gracious God, we give thanks for these persons who have toiled with care and diligence in this place of governance. We thank you for guiding them with the love of justice and compassion for all. May their example encourage those gathered here who continue their legacy. May they too find ways to show compassion for those in need and serve the people of this great state with honor. Comfort and bless those here who have lost a colleague, a friend, a family member, may their lives be richer for knowing your child. May we continue to live lives of service and sacrifice emulating those we have lost. May their example encourage and strengthen us in our daily walk. And now o God we ask that you bless these moments as we remember and honor those who have left our side....Help us to learn from their lives. Thanks be to God. Amen"

Sergeant Patty Lankford of the Washington State Patrol performed "Ave Maria."

REMARKS BY THE SPEAKER

Mr. Speaker (Representative Morris presiding): "We gather here today to pay tribute to the contributions of the distinguished former members of the Washington State Senate and House of Representatives who have passed from among us. The people of our state are grateful for their service. The Sixty-First Legislature conveys its respects to these deceased legislators. They once sat in these chambers, answered roll calls on critical bills, attended committee meetings and throughout it always sought to make our state a better place to live. While their journey in this life is complete, their achievements, public

Rabbi Cheski Edelman of the Chabad Jewish Discovery Center in Olympia gave the Memorial Prayer:

Rabbi Edelman: A fascinating exchange between two rabbis is recorded in the Talmud, the Jewish book of law and lore.

Rabbi Nachman said to Rabbi Yitzchak: "So said Rabbi Yochanan: The patriarch Jacob did not die."

Asked Rabbi Yitzchak: "Was it for no reason that the eulogizers eulogized, the embalmers embalmed and the buriers buried?"

The conversation continues, examining the nature of life, teaching us an important lesson about our time here on earth. Life cannot die. Only existence can die. To exist means one takes up space, and does not allow a focus on others, as two things cannot exist in the same space. Existence is selfish. Life is not about existence, it is about purpose. Life is about making a contribution to the world.

In other words, for a person to whom life means the pursuit and attainment of material gains, life indeed ceases when the soul departs from the body. But one for whom life is defined in terms of what he does for others, is no less alive after physical death, for their influence continues to uplift and benefit others. Today we honor the lives, not merely the existence, of the Washington State Legislators who selflessly dedicated themselves to the service of the citizens of this State. These great men and women were not satisfied with merely existing and bettering themselves, but they chose to live and to contribute to the world, dedicating themselves to serving others. Existence can die but life is eternal. Life is growth and these remarkable men and women sacrificed of themselves to ensure the growth of others. Our gathering here today is testimony to the lives they have lived, and we honor them by following in their footsteps, and living to help others and make this world a better place.

Dear G-d and G-d of our fathers, today as we reflect upon the lives of these leaders of our communities, their accomplishments and the lessons in life they passed on, we pray for the strength to emulate their good deeds and their legacy of concern for the welfare of others. May we perpetuate the legacies of the departed and ensure that they also live on through our actions. May their memories be for a blessing and a guiding light for us all. Amen."

Lieutenant Keith Huntley of the Washington State Patrol performed "Amazing Grace" on Scottish bagpipes.

The V. F. W. honor guard of Olympia and Marine Corps League, Olympia Detachment arrived at the bar of the Senate, ceremonially folded the national flag and placed in on the rostrum.

Gilman Pilkey, Marine Corps League, Olympia Detachment performed Taps.

Reverend Aaron Williams of Mt. Zion Baptist Church, Seattle gave the closing prayer: "Most gracious and everlasting God, we thank you for this day and we thank you for this hour. As we honor those who have gone before us, public servants who have served this country and served you. May they serve Father as a beacon of light a beacon of hope which we will pursue in light of what they have done. We thank you Father for what they've done and may we continue their legacy and move forward in the same spirit. In the name of the Father, Son and Holy Spirit. Amen.

Speaker Pro Tempore Morris returned the gavel to President Owen.

The President acknowledged Representative Karen Schmidt-Wilson who was present in the gallery.

REMARKS BY THE PRESIDENT

President Owen: "Thank you Mr. Speaker and thank you to the members of our Memorial Committee, you did a great job. Special thanks to the members of the State Patrol, the Veterans of Foreign Wars and Marine Corps League, our participating clergy as well. The President hopes that the loved ones of those being honored today would draw comfort from today's observance."

SENATE RESOLUTION

By Senators Marr, Kohl-Welles, Eide, Jarrett, Kauffman, Hobbs, McDermott, Kastama, Prentice, Franklin, Berkey, Kline, Kilmer, Fraser, Tom, McAuliffe, Keiser, Brown, Murray, Regala, Shin, Sheldon, Oemig, Ranker, and Hargrove

WHEREAS, On February 19, 1942, President Franklin D. Roosevelt issued Executive Order 9066, which authorized the forced assembly, evacuation, and internment of approximately 12,000 Japanese-Americans residing in the state of Washington; and

WHEREAS, The order for assembly and detention at Camp Harmony in Puyallup, Washington, prior to evacuation and subsequent internment, caused Japanese-Americans from the state of Washington to lose millions of dollars in property and assets, to suffer immeasurable physical and psychological damage, and to be deprived of their constitutional liberties without due process of law; and

WHEREAS, The alleged purpose of this drastic course of action was to prevent Japanese-Americans, all of whom were deemed disloyal and untrustworthy, from committing acts of espionage and sabotage against the United States during its involvement in World War II; and

WHEREAS, An overwhelming number of Japanese-Americans from the state of Washington responded to questions of their loyalty and patriotism by volunteering from within barbed wire camps to serve in the United States Military Intelligence Service and the United States Army's 442nd Regimental Combat Team, the latter of which became the most decorated unit of its size in American history with seven Presidential Unit Citations, 21 Congressional Medals of Honor, 52 Distinguished Service Crosses, 1 Distinguished Service Medal, 588 Silver Stars, 4,000 Bronze Stars, 9,486 Purple Hearts, and a total of 18 decorations from France and Italy; and

WHEREAS, Through the fact-finding work of the Commission on Wartime Relocation and Internment of Civilians, the United States Congress later found that "there was no military or security reason for the internment" of individuals of Japanese ancestry and that the internment "was caused by racial prejudice, war hysteria, and a failure of political leadership"; and

WHEREAS, On August 10, 1988, President Ronald Reagan signed H.R. 442, the Civil Liberties Act, which recognized the injustice of the relocation and internment of American citizens of Japanese ancestry and provided token monetary redress; and

WHEREAS, Japanese-American internees from the state of Washington endured economic, physical, and psychological hardship and suffered in silence for more than forty years before the state of Washington provided monetary redress and reparations to municipal and state employees;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, That the Washington State Senate along with the people of Washington, pause to acknowledge the sixty-seventh anniversary of the signing of Executive Order 9066, to recognize the Japanese-American internees and World War II veterans from the state of Washington, to honor their patience, heroism, sacrifice, and patriotic loyalty, and to remember the lessons and blessings of liberty and justice for all; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That copies of this resolution be immediately transmitted to the Nisei Veterans Committee, the Military Intelligence Service-Northwest Association, the Japanese-American Citizens

(e) Permitting flexible recruitment and hiring procedures that enable agencies to compete effectively with other employers, both public and private, for managers with appropriate skills and training; allowing consideration of all qualified candidates for positions as managers; and achieving affirmative action goals and diversity in the workplace;

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Marr: "Thank you Mr. President. Mr. President, yesterday the Senate unanimously adopted Senate Joint Resolution No. 8631. How this resolution memorializes a chapter in American history that began sixty-seven years ago with the signing with the Executive Order 9066 by President Franklin Roosevelt. It's a chapter that can have no closure as long as there are those who value human dignity and the Constitution that all of us in this chamber are sworn to uphold.

For many, as much as many would like to forget the tragedy of the internment of so many loyal Japanese Americans, and that includes those who stood by as it happened, as well as those who suffered the indignity of relocation. We cannot and we will not forget Mr. President. It's a story of one hundred twenty thousand lives forever shaped by relocation to internment camps with names like Topaz, Heart Mountain, Minidoka and Manzanar. Over sixty thousand of those were infants, children and young adults who had not reached voting age. Twelve thousand were fellow Washingtonians like you or I. We've all been touched by stories, and I know many of us have them, of families uprooted over night, forced to sell homes and farms in a matter of days usually suffering significant financial loss, family heirlooms and belongings placed in government storage or left with friends that were either destroyed or not returned when those families returned home. Camps, and by the way, I had a chance to visit with my wife, the Buddhist Temple in Wapato that's in Senator King's District. It's a beautiful altar there, and it's there because a local farmer put it in his barn and hid it under hay. They went to camps, they were surrounded by desert and barbed wire. These were tar-papered covered barracks without plumbing or cooking facilities. Coal was hard to come by so basically the people there huddled under the blankets they were provided. The food was rationed. It was prepared by internees, served by internees and served in mess halls of two-hundred fifty and three hundred people. It was a bleak existence that was endured only by the love of friends and family and the same sense of hope that brought many of those Japanese Americans to these shores generations before. There are also stories however, that reinforce our belief in human decency and compassion. Friends back home that wrote on a regular basis, books provided for kids in the camps, neighbors who took care of belongings, pets, property and return them after these people returned home. Many of them with only the one hundred dollars they were given to relocate back to their homes. Also, there are many stories of the heroism of the 442nd regimental combat team, the sons and brothers of those back home in camps, the most highly decorated military unit in the history of the United States Armed Forces with twenty-one medal of honor winners. Now, if giving your life for your country while your parents sit behind barb wire in the desert is not a definition of selfishness and love of country Mr. President, I don't know what is, but sadly the sum total of these acts cannot undo the wrong of putting innocent, loyal Japanese Americans behind barb wire for years. The phrase, Mr. President, 'shikata-ganai' is often used to describe the internment experience by generations, older generations. One translation is, 'literally it cannot be helped,' but I do not prefer this translation because number one, it implies that an honest assessment of what democracy stands for could not have avoided this tragedy, and the second thing, that it implies a sense of helplessness and resignation. To me a better definition, a better translation is that a person has to endure what cannot be changed. This implies that at an end of a time of darkness and suffering, there will be an opportunity to change the causes and conditions that brought so much pain on to so many people and that's why we're here Mr. President. To acknowledge that the experience of putting one hundred twenty thousand fellow Americans in internment camps is one we all here, share collectively in one way or another. It serves to diminish us all as human beings and believers in principles upon our democracy was founded, that so many, including Japanese Americans gave their lives to defend and it really causes us to recommit, not to repeat the same mistakes by succumbing to fear, bigotry or prejudice. As a Japanese American, Mr. President, I'm honored to have been given the honor of serving in this chamber and forever grateful that I'm guided by the lessons that come from the sacrifices of those we honored with that resolution. Thank you Mr. President."

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Hobbs: “Mr. President I like to follow up with the previous speaker. We talked about the darkness and the tragedy of the internment. I’d like to move on from that and talk about the light. The light in the darkness of this tragedy where we have men who fight for the freedom of our country yet at the same time, at the same time, when their battling an enemy that’s trying to defeat us that there seventy year old grandmother and their ten year old sister are considered enemies of the state. I don’t how they did it. We know the history of these great men and I’m talking about the men of the 100th Battalion and the M. I. S and the 442nd. A little bit of the history, thirty three thousand answered the call, answered the call to fight even though their families were in interned. Six thousand were part of the M. I. S. Military Intelligent Service. Boy, I don’t know how they did it. These people fought in the Pacific theater against people they would consider their brothers, their ancestors. But they were fighting on the wrong side, the imperial Japanese, and they were there fighting them and they were there in Iwo Jima and Okinawa. They were critical in every command, but on the other side, in the Atlantic, we had the 100th Battalion and we had the 442nd and I wanted to name off some of the battles, some of the important battles and sacrifices they did. The first one is at Casino. Thirteen hundred men of the 100th battalion. There was this old monastery on top of a hill and they had to take it. They were German observers calling fire upon the allied forces down below and the thirteen hundred men in that action over a course of a few days only five hundred twenty-one we able to muster after the combat. Still unable to take it, it took five more divisions and aerial bombing before that place was able to be taken. Several months later, the 442nd, the rest of them, linked up with them and there they did something that the Army is very proud of, we have a saying, ‘We leave no one behind.’ There was a battalion, now famously called The Lost Battalion, that was the first battalion, 141st Infantry of the 36th Infantry Division. Two hundred eleven men surrounded by German forces in a force, in mountains. They went in there and rescued them at the cost of half their soldiers. They went on to liberate parts of France and went into Germany, 522nd Artillery Unit was one of units that liberated the Dachau concentration camp. If you don’t mind Mr. President, I would like read a little bit here? The 442nd became most decorated unit in the United States Military history for the size and the length of service with it’s component 100th infantry battalion earning the nick name ‘The Purple Heart battalion’. The 442nd received seven presidential unit citations and eighteen thousand one-hundred forty-three awards including twenty-one medals of honor, fifty-two distinguished service crosses, nineteen upgraded to medals of honor, one distinguished service medal, five hundred sixty silver stars, twenty-two legends of merit medals, fifteen soldiers medals, four thousand bronze stars and nine thousand four hundred eighty-six purple hearts. If you were to do a statistical analysis of this battalion in terms of casualty rates. To include killed in action, wounded and missing in action, they would have a stunning three hundred fourteen percent casualty rate, incredible. Incredible that these men took on amazing odds and their families own were interned. I remember I was visiting the Nisei Vet Hall and my son was saying, ‘He’s a little guy over there.’ One of the former Nisei vets, I go, ‘You know Gavin, that little guy, that little guy carried probably about fifty-five pounds on his back ammunition, a rifle up hill to take on a determined enemy.’ You know, he may be a little guy but he’s the biggest hero in my book. We should always remember his sacrifices and the sacrifices of others. You know I can never hold a candle to those men of the 442nd and the M. I. S. and I’m Nisei veteran. I fought in Iraq, but I tell you what I’m proud, I’m proud to be a Nisei veteran and thank you so much for what you’ve done for me.”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Rockefeller: “Thank you Mr. President. Back in 1971 I moved to Bainbridge Island. I didn’t know it’s history at the time but I found out soon enough that I had neighbors, to my east was a former Island garden nursery owned by a gentleman named Junkoh Harui who recently passed away and to the south of my home was ten acre raspberry farm which was farmed by Mrs. Shigeko Kitamoto. Now, I had seen this iconic picture of a young Japanese American carrying a baby waiting for the deportation and removal from the Island and for years I thought it was Mrs. Kitamoto but she never talked about her story and she too was relocated from Bainbridge Island. She was among some two hundred forty citizens who were relocated by the U. S. Army and taken away. Part of that thirteen thousand of the one hundred twenty thousand, the Senator from the Sixth District referenced earlier. For years Mrs. Kitamoto would not talk about this, it was a source of humiliation that this had even occurred to her and never occurred, I think, to think about the injustice. She was struggling to make a life for her four children. She was a widow. She farmed those ten acres. I would hear her at five o’clock in the morning with her hoe scrabbling through some stony soil, hooking up irrigation pipes and picking the raspberries which my daughters found irresistible. They couldn’t help but go down into the raspberry field and run up and down and Mrs. Kitamoto pretended that she didn’t see them. Gradually we became acquainted and she became our friend and someone we loved and then eventually she began to talk about her experience and it was like that of so many others. A denial of civil rights, a loss of the opportunity to make a living for several years, coming back home to a place which had changed where their opportunities were largely gone and they had to rebuild their lives and they have done that with great courage and dignity and they are now a thriving part of our community. We owe so much to them, we owe so much to the veterans who performed so magnificently so I am happy here today to join in support of this resolution. Thank you.”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Shin: “As a former professor of history every time I think about this the 442nd regiment and Executive 9066, used to bring tears to my eyes because how could a democratic nation such as the United States would do? But today, as I stand before you, a nation that committed a wrong and to say, ‘I’m sorry’ and we are sorry the nation civilization would thrive. I think America epitomizes that example. The young nation trials and tribulations went through and we rectified. For example, Executive 9066, it was issued and one hundred twenty thousand Japanese Americans interned. One of the Washington residents whose name was Gordon Hirabayashi, was a University Washington student. He questioned and challenged the legitimacy of such a law and he not go to internment camp but he was arrested but accordingly to constitutionality he was not guilty. He sent or made a time peacefully in Arizona and released after World War II and but Japanese Americans in the United States all their suffering not withstanding, they’re obedient and faithful to this country. They claimed this land is the land of the United States of American which I applaud for them and one of our great senators in the United States, Daniel Induye. He is a recipient of one of the highest medals in the second, World War II. He still in the U. S. Senate in Washington D. C. making a service to this country. As you perhaps know that we actually, I primed sponsored that bill in the year 2001 for Takuji Yamashita. He came to the United States 1897. Went to the University of Washington finished the University of Washington in law school, passed the bar exam in 1904 but he was not allowed to practice law, by he was not given license to practice, so instead he went to fishing. After World War II, 1949 he went back to Japan to die. I read about this article and I present this to you this article to you folks in the Senate and most of you suggested I should put into legislation and give Takuji a post humus title as a lawyer in Washington state and I remember some of you made a speech to the fact we are sorry but I said give this man a title and of such the post humus title is given and we invited Takuji Yamohitea's during the hearing. Japanese Consul General from Seattle area also grandchildren, nine of them came from Japan to participate in the ceremony. It was most emotional ceremony. There wasn't a dry eye in the ceremony and the past, the speech that bill that passed ladies and gentleman that itself Japanese Consul General saw fit to take it to Japan and today that bill hangs in Saiga Ueno National Park in downtown Tokyo, reminder her that the nation live together, they are peacefully and sorry and forgiven and continuing to be friends. This is I think is an important chapter. One of the great things about this country I feel is that yes I am an immigrant myself not knowing much about this country but this country recognize for all. As you know the year 2002 we sponsored legislation changing from 'oriental' to 'Asian.' It passed unanimously passed the House and Governor signed. We became the first state in the country to pass the legislation changing from Oriental to Asians and, surprisingly, the year 2004 United States Congress accepts that and made official change the title from Oriental to Asian. We got a letter from Singapore, India, Pakistan, 'What is this about,' They didn't even understand. We send them the bill. They didn't know that and they all changed. Now it has a global affect and another great thing about this country. After the pass of the bill, I was invited by the Martin Luther King III. He said 'Would you come to Kansas City, Missouri to speak to Southern Christian Conference. Which I did and he was waiting at the airport. He says 'If my father was alive, he would be the first one to thank you for such a bill.' In the speech my conclusion of the speech was this ladies and gentlemen. Many people see America as a different metaphor. Some says, America is like a apple pie, baseball and Chevrolet, some call it Marilyn Monroe but to me America is a beautiful, my metaphor for America is a beautiful piece of tapestry. Some call the melting pot. What does that mean. Does it mean we're melting into the same color. I don't think so. It's a beautiful piece of tapestry. There's a white thread, black, brown, yellow different colored threads. Single thread is there is weak but together make a strong and beautiful tapestry. This is what America is all about. We came a long ways. Is America perfect. I don't think so yet. We have a long ways to go yet, so much work to do but I am so grateful to serve in a country, live in a country, that understands the justice and love for all. For this reason, thank you very much Mr. President."

2009 REGULAR SESSION

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Jacobsen: "I was born in Nebraska and I haven't been back there in a long but I go back for visits but I have a lot of relatives back there and they send me Cornhuskers paraphernalia from the University of Nebraska football team and I had a sweatshirt on one day and I went into Burger Master and this Japanese American woman said to me, 'Now I know why I like you. You're from Nebraska.' Then she told me the story that in World War II the University of Nebraska said all the Japanese Americans that are college age that were going to be relocated that they would accept them at the University of Nebraska so they have a large Nisei contingent of alumni. She said what they told her when she got back there to go to University, and Nebraska's a mixture of ethnic group, every towns a different groups. But anyway what they told her was, you know in World War I we didn't treat our Germans very well and we're not going to make that mistake again and then I thought about it and 911 it helped me from yielding to the passions of the moment and saying you know we have a lot of good citizens here and they're loyal to this country and we shouldn't panic just because of what happened. So, I think that's a lesson I learned from it and I'm proud to be from Nebraska."

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Kohl-Welles: "Thank you Mr. President. Having read the article in the Seattle Post Intellegencer late last month I was particularly moved by the story of Miss. Hayashida and for many years in teaching college classes on sociology and covering information on prejudice and discrimination, one of the most alarming really is devastating facts unfortunately that I had uncovered, and I don't think this is very well known by the public, but at the time of these transportations of individuals to internment camps, the United States Congress came just short of passing legislation that would of required sterilization of all Japanese Americans. It's horrifying to think about that. I absolutely certain that would not happen today and did not happen then but it is just extremely difficulty even comprehend that at that time except for very close margin that would have been the reality. So, I think it's important to note that and I appreciate this debate on the floor today, this discussion. Thank you."

INTRODUCTION OF SPECIAL GUESTS

The President welcomed and introduced Mrs. Fumiko Hayashida, Ruthann Kurose, members of the American Citizens League and Veterans Committee who were seated in the gallery.
