SPEAKER'S REMARKS

Mr. Speaker: "Welcome back to session!"

Let's start by recognizing the new Republican leader, Richard DeBolt. And welcome back the Majority Leader, Lynn Kessler. I'd like to introduce my wife, Nancy, and my daughter, Ellie.

I'd also like to recognize some special guests in the gallery -- leaders in the ethnic media who play such a crucial role in our democracy. It's wonderful to have you here!

We had great session together last year. It was the most productive in decades. We focused on the kitchen-table issues of education, health care, and jobs.

Since the session finished on time, I had the opportunity to travel across our state. I saw evidence of the good we did, but also the next steps we need to take. By the way, I wasn't the only one traveling the state. I want to thank Rep. Eileen Cody, and the members of the Health Care committee for doing their rural health tour last summer.

We must take every opportunity to bring the people of Washington together. When I visited Ellensburg, I was hosted by Rep. Jane'a Holmquist and the local Farm Bureau. Folks there expressed appreciation for our agenda passed last session.

But they also offered ideas for the future:

Immediate help, remove the sales tax from on-farm diesel

Long-term step -- Bio fuels -- Which is a tremendous opportunity for a win-win for One Washington.

At the end of my visit, one of the farmers, who is also a member of the local school board, said thanks for listening to us on the farm issues!

And then he said, "Oh, by the way, thanks for funding Initiative 728, to help lower class sizes! Now, what we really need next is help to fund full-day kindergarten."

This session, we can move ahead on early learning! But this House will also take some steps to help farmers:

We'll take the sales tax off farm diesel.

And we will create an Energy Independence fund, a step towards reducing our addiction to foreign oil.

Let's send our money to Eastern Washington, not the Middle East!

When I visited Spokane, I was accompanied by Rep. Timm Ormsby. He took me to the local Union Hall for the construction trades. If you want to get a look at the real builders of our state, visit that hall. They showed a lot of appreciation for the investments we made in school construction and transportation.

We made historic investments in those two areas in 2005!

This session, we have a huge responsibility, not just to make sure that performance audits are done—which this House paved the way for, but to make sure every construction dollar is well-spent.

In Walla Walla, I was hosted by Rep. Bill Grant and Rep. Maureen Walsh. By the way, Maureen, please tell your husband how much I loved the sweet onion sausages he makes.

Wow! I apologize to my wife for mentioning that ---she was a vegetarian before she met me. But I figured, hey they say this is a sausage factory, so, ...

While I was in Walla Walla, I attended the Community College Foundation fund-raising dinner. People there thanked us for adding more enrollments in higher ed. They thanked us for investing in Walla Walla CC. We enabled students from our state to learn the wine industry in our state. To help make the best wine in the world!

This session, we must look for more opportunities to see how careful investments in education can leverage jobs for our people.

I visited the small town near Yakima with Rep. Phyllis Kenney and Senator Patty Murray, two tremendous leaders on may issues, including farm worker housing. We took a tour of Buena Nueva Homes -- 52 units of new, decent housing sponsored by the Yakima Catholic diocese. Families living there expressed great appreciation for our investment in low-income housing. One woman told of how she and her family used to live in a chicken coop. Now, thanks to the Farmer Worker Housing Trust, they have a decent home. They were also pleased that we've started down the road to assuring that all kids have health care by 2010. Because of this legislature, over 70,000 formerly uninsured kids across the state will now have a medical home. To put that in perspective, that's more than enough kids to fill Qwest Field, where the Seahawks will win and go on to the Super Bowl!

This session, we can afford to advance our effort for kids' care because of the hot real estate market that has generated additional resources for our state. About 50% of the new revenue is a result of the housing market and construction boom. So it also makes sense to invest a small amount of that in a Home Security Fund, to help those who have been left behind in the housing market: the disabled, seniors, victims of domestic violence, the working poor. They deserve the security of a home.

Along the same lines, this session we will use the money from a legal settlement with the Qwest company to help low-income people with their heating bills.

When I visited Omak, I was asked to give a commencement address at the branch campus of the Wenatchee Community College. The auditorium was packed. There was a large graduating class of nurses, the second-generation, in several cases. I wish you could have seen their pride and joy! It was inspiring!

This session, we need to help students in high school and community colleges, to acquire the skills to succeed, and to earn the pride of their parents.

Overall, this session must not be about posturing for attention; it must be about passing legislation for the next generation. We will take care of our people, and we must be wise in the care of their money. At the end of this session, we will have the vast bulk of the new revenue held in reserve. Over the past several years, we have cut billions out of our state budget, but we must continue to look for ways to do things more efficiently and in the right priority.

Washington state is one of the best places on earth, where hope and opportunity, innovation and creativity, freedom and community can flourish. As legislators, let's keep in mind the people of our state who share a fundamental value: the notion of including every one of our people in a better future:

Every child being healthy and ready to learn and protected from abuse.

Every student learning the skills for a productive life.

Every worker making ends meet for their family and their future.

Every farmer finding success in the global marketplace.

Every enterprise working to create good jobs and the common wealth.

Every individual living free from discrimination.

Every senior having quality care and security when they will need it --- and we will all need it, some day.

Every person with a disability being supported to reach their potential

Every person in poverty earning their way up and out of poverty

And, every citizen seeing their tax dollars well spent and audited, and their public servants serving the public interest.

In this short legislative session, we'll make some more progress. But let's get it done on time. Let's bring people together to address the challenges that confront us.

Let's work together for one Washington."

POINT OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Representative DeBolt: "Thank you, Mr. Speaker. I feel I have been neglected; when you were traveling around the State, you never came to visit me.

One thing important to mention is that, as Speaker Chopp said, the citizens of Washington State were in the mood to talk this year. They were in the mood to tell the Legislature what they think needs to be worked on. We too had a "listening tour" this year which went to different communities around the State, and heard what people wanted the Legislature to work on this year. From that we came up with a commitment to Washington – that we work together with the Senate on these issues. Whether it is WASL issues, health care issues, taxation issues – we know that we can work with you to find a common bond for a solution that works for all of Washington, not just one side of the State.

Mr. Speaker, we have seen here in the Legislature in the past several years an opportunity for us to work together. But it has not always come to fruition on the floor. What we would like to do this year is to give an opportunity to put the bills and ideas that we feel strong about out there, and allow you the opportunity to take those ideas and make them your own – including our ideas and making the bills strong, saying that we understand that there are two ideas in Washington today, not just one. And so I challenge you to look at our commitment to Washington to see what we can do to deliver something to the people of the State. And allow us to delve into the details, not just bill title politics but something that works for both sides of the aisle. You know, this session is going to about a lot things for this caucus, sex predator issues that we have in our State that keep our children in jeopardy. What can we do to protect the most venerable citizens? So on our caucus wall you will see a poster – 'The Faces of Meth' – and what this poison is doing to the citizens of our State and how that is interconnected to identity thief and auto thief. We want to be part of the solution. We would like to see a caucus that is moving forward working and having the opportunity to put our thoughts into bills.

One of the things that we all have to remember is that we all have a commitment to Washington whether it be 'One Washington' or every single small town. When I hear 'One Washington', Mr. Speaker, I think of everybody but it seems that sometimes some of those smaller communities get left out. I pledge to you to try to bring the rural voice to your plan. I pledge to you to look for solutions in the suburban crescent that work for all of Washington.

So as we are here today and we are moving forward each and everyone of us have an obligation to the citizens of the State of Washington to do what is best; to try to move the opportunities, to take the risks, to take the challenges to be leaders. And we need to decide if we are going to do that this session.

Lastly, I would thank the most important people in our lives – our families. I would like to thank my spouse and my children for allowing me to be here. And I would like to thank everyone of your spouses for allowing you to come to Olympia. I would like to thank your friends and family who do without you while you are here doing the people's business. Without them we could not do what we do here today for Washington. So thank you to everybody. I wish us the best session."

The flags were escorted to the Rostrum by the Washington State Patrol Color Guard. The President led the Chamber in the Pledge of Allegiance. The prayer was offered by Dr. Don Argue, President, Northwest University.

Dr. Argue: "With the Psalmist of old we declare: "O Lord our Lord, how majestic is your name in all the earth! When we consider your heavens, the work of your fingers, the moon and the stars, we ask what is man that you care for us?"

On this important day in our great State, we observe not a victory of party, but a celebration of freedom. A day that symbolizes a beginning, a renewal. We are reminded of the words of Thomas Jefferson that the rights of man come not from the generosity of the State but from the hand of God. That all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty, and the pursuit of Happiness. We declare today, that united there is little that we cannot accomplish in a host of cooperative ventures. Divided there is little we can do. Civility is never a sign of weakness.

We specifically pray for our leader, Governor Christine Gregoire and her family. Grant her great wisdom. For all elected and appointed leaders, we pray for your blessing and wisdom. While they are conducting the affairs of State, strengthen and protect their families.

May all of us accept the personal responsibility for the great opportunities and challenges that face our State. Especially for children and families, the poor and those who suffer the terrible impact of prejudice and racism. In righteousness may we speak for those who cannot speak for themselves.

May we all be reminded that what we are doing here is service to others above our own self interests. Today we declare and affirm your great commandment, that we will "love our neighbor as ourselves".

The prophet Micah wrote "He has shown thee what is good, and what the Lord requires of us, to do Justly, to love Mercy, and to walk Humbly with your God."

May we rules Justly, love Mercy, and walk in Humility.

We pause to remember those in our armed services, serving around the world. Protect them, bring them home safely. May a just and lasting peace be declared. We are reminded that dark yesterdays can turn into bright tomorrows.

The responsibilities of those gathered today are huge. May we all remember the words of Scripture that "Righteousness exalts a nation: but sin is a reproach to any people." As we govern, may we be righteous.

Now with the Psalmist we pray "May the words of my mouth and the meditation of my heart be acceptable in your sight, O Lord, my strength and my redeemer." Amen."

The President introduced Governor Christine Gregoire.

STATE OF THE STATE ADDRESS

Governor Christine Gregoire: "Mr. President, Mr. Speaker, Mr. Chief Justice, distinguished justices of the court, honored officials, members of the Washington State Legislature, former Governors Rosellini and Gardner, Congressman Inslee, Congressman Reichert, King County Executive Sims, members of the Consular Association of Washington, my fellow citizens:

Good evening. It is an honor to stand before you for this State of the State Address. To honor our achievements, to appraise the "State of our State," and to preview greater things to come.

Joining me at the rostrum are my daughters, Courtney and Michelle. This is a big day for our family. This afternoon we were at the Temple of Justice to attend Courtney's swearing-in ceremony to the Washington State Bar. Mike and I are obviously very proud of her and delighted, as some of you have heard me say, that she is now going to actually be paid to argue. Michelle is a college junior and will study abroad this year. Now, more than ever, the study abroad experience is vital for young people so they can better understand the truly competitive global world. My daughters are my best friends, my passion, and a constant reminder of the incredible challenge we face to prepare our children to pursue their dreams.

While the fifth member of our family isn't with us, in light of recent days I'd like to paraphrase from a speech delivered in 1944 by President Franklin Roosevelt. Some have not been content with attacks on me, or my spouse, or on my daughters. No, not content with that, they now include my little dog, Franz. Well, of course, I don't resent attacks, and my family doesn't resent attacks, but Franz does resent them. You know, as soon as he learned that the fiction writers had concocted a story he couldn't defend himself and was a cost to taxpayers, his Pomeranian soul was furious. He has not been the same dog since. Our family dog Franz has a real kinship with FDR's dog Fala.

Also joining me is my husband and best friend Mike – also known as First Mike. Mike is a retired Medicaid fraud investigator and a Vietnam combat veteran. Mike has worked extremely hard in the last year for Veterans. Thanks to his work, the work of Veteran's organizations, and the support of this Legislature, last session was one of the most productive in history for former servicemen and women. It was a fitting outcome considering the incredible debt we owe them. Mike served as a member of our bipartisan team that last year successfully worked to persuade the Base Realignment Commission to keep the doors of Washington's key military installations open. It was a major victory for our communities, for our economy, and for the men and women who serve this country and have come to love our state.

I would also like to thank Dr. Don Argue who gave today's opening prayer. He shares my belief that the best solutions for many of our problems lie not with government, but with people and organizations in our communities.

Last, and certainly not least, let me introduce some very special guests. The safety of our troops in Iraq and the plight of hurricane victims were heavy on all our minds in 2005. Our National Guard troops have been on the front lines fighting in Iraq and were among the first responders to the devastation left by Hurricanes Katrina and Rita. We owe these troops a hearty thank you and are indebted to them for their selfless service to others. God bless them. They serve as a symbol of the patriotism of all of our citizens.

Obviously we can't have all our troops here, but I would like to introduce Staff Sergeant Dale Flory, an Iraq combat veteran. Staff Sergeant Flory, on behalf of the people of Washington, thank you and your colleagues for your service and we are delighted to have you home safe. Next I would like to introduce Master Sergeant Michael Readnour. Washington's National Guard was one of the first to step forward and help the people of the Gulf Coast after Katrina's devastation. They represent the outpouring of generosity by our citizens who opened their hearts, wallets, and homes to our fellow citizens of the Gulf Coast. Master Sergeant Readnour, thank you and your colleagues for your commitment to service and your willingness to leave your families behind in order to help those in need.

Sadly, 45 men and women who called Washington home died in Iraq and Afghanistan in 2005. I would like to ask you to join me in a moment of silence for these brave soldiers and their families. Thank you.

In the last year I have been all around this great state and met a lot of people. I found their values and dreams are very similar. They value personal responsibility, service to others, and providing new opportunities for our kids and families. Consider Megan and Martin Clubb, owners and operators of L'Ecole Number 41 Winery in the Walla Walla Valley. They are carrying on the great vision of Megan's parents, Jean and Baker Ferguson, who had the foresight to recognize the extraordinary wine producing potential of Washington. Or consider Tatyana Fedorchuk, a 39-year-old mother of five and immigrant from Ukraine. She is building a new life by taking English classes and earning nursing assistant credentials at Everett Community College. And Barbara and Steve LeVette who live on Hood Canal. Concerned about failing septic systems fouling Hood Canal, they rallied their homeowners association to develop an innovative treatment plan through a public-private partnership.

I tell these stories because they are an important reminder that this is a state of diverse people who are doing exciting things.

Our job isn't to get in the way, but to offer help where needed and carry on the values that have made this state great. In this magnificent building it is easy to think that our work is terribly difficult and incredibly important. But our work isn't as tough as what people face back home. Running a small business. Becoming a proud new American. Protecting the environment. Raising a family. Keeping their loved ones safe. Keeping a job. Providing a helping hand to a neighbor. Our job is to represent them in a way that is worthy of their struggles.

A year ago, we fought for the people. In 2005 we began building a brighter future by putting partisan politics aside, by being bold and demanding change, and by relying on traditional Washington values of opportunity, responsibility, and service to others. This year, we need to build on that success. We need to continue improvements in our education system. We need to make our families safer and more secure. We need to improve access to quality health care. We need to keep our economy growing. And we need to protect our quality of life.

That foundation – the outstanding legislative session of 2005 – has already elevated Washington to a new level of opportunity. In our state the news is good. Our economy has turned the corner with 85,000 new jobs—that's a seven-year high. And around the world, I am pleased to report that Washington State is viewed like a small nation. When you say, "I'm from Washington" in Japan and China, they know that means Washington State. And our reputation is stellar – we are about quality – quality products, quality agriculture – like our cherries and wine – and a quality environment.

Going beyond our promise, we're providing health insurance to 73,000 additional children. This is a major step toward our vision to guarantee every child has health insurance by 2010.

We made education our number one investment in 2005.

Voters recognized how critical smaller class sizes are by passing Initiative 728. But it wasn't until last year that we fully implemented the will of the voters, and we went one step further, we set up the Education Legacy Trust Account to permanently fund smaller class sizes. To attract and retain quality teachers we fully funded another citizens' initiative – teacher salaries. And we took down the "no vacancy" signs at our colleges and universities so nearly 8,000 more students could attend.

The transportation package was truly a bi-partisan effort by legislators who knew that leadership involves risk. Let's have a big hand for you who fought and won passage of our historic transportation package last year – with a special "bow and hurrah" to the leadership of Rep. Ed Murray, Senator Mary Margaret Haugen, Rep. Beverly Woods, and Senator Dan Swecker, and for our voters who supported the plan even though gas prices at the pumps were stretching their family and business budgets to the limits.

Another important bi-partisan vote produced the Life Sciences Discovery Fund. To be honest with you, I don't believe we understand yet the vast potential this initiative has for our state. This bold investment in a 21st century industry will lead to medical breakthroughs that will save the lives of friends and loved ones by finding cures to some of our most dreaded diseases like Parkinsons and Cancer. And it will help ensure for human wellness that we continue to produce the highest quality and safest agriculture in the world.

Having been a caseworker myself, I understand the challenge of protecting our children. So, I signed an executive order requiring social service workers to get to a child's doorstep within 24 hours of being notified of a life in danger.

Keeping our promise, we've implemented an initiative to make government more accountable and transparent – and we're well ahead of our goal to eliminate 1,000 state government middle managers.

We also took important steps to improve and protect our quality of life. At certain times of the year, Hood Canal, one of the jewels of our state, becomes a dead zone where aquatic life is killed off. We are working to bring Hood Canal back to life with real on-the-ground projects that work. We adopted tough emission standards for new cars and required new "green building" standards for public buildings. There was much, much more. For example we took steps to ramp up our fight against the ravages of meth.

It is important to note that even though we were handed a $2.2 billion budget shortfall, we did all this without a general tax increase -- no sales tax, no business and occupation and no property tax increases.

So we had a good year – a very good year in 2005. But you know what, we aren't done yet.

One area where we need work is early learning. Let me be candid with you. How would you grade a system where less than 50 percent of the kids are prepared to learn when they reach kindergarten? Or a system where half a dozen early learning programs in state government are spread across numerous agencies and have no clear vision? We know children with early learning success are more likely to finish school, more likely to go to college, less likely to be unemployed and less likely to commit crimes. Our children are born to learn, and the first and best teacher in a child's life is the parent. But when parents and their families want help with care outside the home, we must be there for our kids. We need less bureaucracy. We need to stop falling behind the rest of the country. We need to make sure our children are ready to learn when they hit kindergarten.

Business leaders understand the value of early learning. They know it is an investment in the future. So we're creating public-private partnerships because this is about communities, and no one wants government to tell them how to parent. For the last month or so we have seen the battle lines forming over requiring certain performance standards for our students. I traveled to Europe and Asia and witnessed firsthand our competition and, believe me, we don't let our children down with high standards. We let them down if we retreat. And we fail them again if we don't prepare them to succeed. Before we talk about lowering standards, shouldn't we first:

Show all our students – boys and girls, black and white, Hispanic, Native American, Asian, rich and poor- we believe in them?

Demonstrate we support their teachers by paying them a decent wage?

Provide individualized help to students so they can achieve the standards?

And develop alternative assessments for those who need them?

I have talked to hundreds of high school students in the last year, and I will tell you, I believe in them. I will not give up on them. And I will not accept 1/3 of our students dropping out of high school. I have learned that if we entrust students with responsibility for their own future, they will do amazing things. Many students do not feel their high school classes relate to their future. Programs like Navigation 101 challenge students to choose alternative careers and enroll in courses needed to achieve that dream. As a result, students engage in more rigorous coursework because they are in charge of their future.

We have "Running Start" for college. But what about kids who don't want to go to college? We need Running Start for the trades.

Education and health care are interwoven: An unhealthy child can't learn. Too many working families and senior citizens in Washington are uninsured or underinsured and only an accident or illness away from financial hardship. There are too many disparities in health care. This is inconsistent with our values. I believe health care is a basic right and not a perk.

Late last year I met with Pam Roberts, a single mom in the Spokane Valley. Like a lot of parents, she is struggling to cope with overwhelming home energy bills. We have watched as gas prices increased a dollar a gallon over the past year.

I am challenging you to pass, in the first week of this session, initial assistance for our neighbors and friends who are struggling with high home heating bills. Washington families shouldn't be left in the cold while the oil companies cash in on record returns.

For the longer term, I am proposing an energy agenda that will help reduce our dependence on foreign oil and create another 21st-century industry in Washington. Farmers like Ted Durfey in Sunnyside are ready to grow the biofuel business in Washington. But they need help getting started. With a strategic investment of low interest loans we can help launch this 21st-century industry and provide new markets for energy crops likes canola or mustard. It's time we have an energy policy based on Washington-grown and Washington-owned.

As we work to create and attract business, we need to remember that our quality of life is key to our success. Our natural resources not only provide beauty and recreation, they are the lifeblood of our economy. That's why environmentalists, local government, sportsmen, tribal and business leaders have all joined our renewed efforts to preserve and protect Puget Sound. There's work we must do now. My budget includes money to speed the cleanup of toxic waste, restore salmon habitat, help homeowners repair failing septic systems, and improve oil spill prevention and response.

We're approaching the clean up of Puget Sound by embracing what we call the Washington Way: a bottom-up, grassroots strategy that sparks citizen energy and engages our farmers, environmentalists, and landowners who live and work near the Sound. It is a legacy we must leave.

Sadly, too many of the 2005 headlines told terrible tales of hurricanes, tsunamis, and attacks by sex offenders and terrorists. The lesson is we have to be prepared and invest in our personal safety and security. I am, therefore, proposing actions to help protect Washington families. My budget includes funds to improve tsunami warnings in our coastal communities, improve our earthquake readiness and strengthen detection and tracking of a pandemic flu. I also requested additional funding for the state patrol for ferry security and highway safety. Our families need to know when a sex offender is moving into the community. We need to toughen the penalties for sex offenders who fail to register.

We have been blessed with higher than expected revenue. My supplemental budget pays the bills, makes targeted investments and saves money for the future. I know some of you want to spend more money. So did I. I know some of you want to cut taxes. So did I. As we look ahead to the next year, we will need every dime just to cover the increased cost of our existing services, particularly in education and health care.

Our state budgeting has been a roller coaster. We spend when we have a surplus and we struggle to make painful cuts when the economy slumps. It is time to even out the ride. While the roller coaster is fun at the amusement park, it is no model for state budgeting. By treating our budget like a Washington family budget – we will ensure stability and avoid tax increases or Draconian cuts tomorrow.

So my budget pays the bills and keeps the retirement system sound. It makes targeted investments for the future, and it puts money aside to pay the bills that will come due in a year.

Saving the amount of new revenue I propose is something that has never been done before – but its time has come. It's a budget that is practical, prudent, and responsible. I accept the fact that we may have differences over how to spend this supplemental budget.

But let me be clear, I cannot sign a budget that next year would require cuts harmful to the people of this state.

As I look out over this great chamber, I am reminded of nine voices that once echoed here fell silent last year. These are the voices of those who put service to others over their self-interests and who shared our Washington values of responsibility and opportunity.

In March we lost Representative. Ruth Fisher-our state's original "Steel Magnolia." On a sidewalk precisely twenty-five feet outside Heaven's gate, Ruth stands puffing on a Marlboro Light in grudging respect for the passage of Initiative 901. Her rich life and commitment to the greater good offer proof that "surliness" is next to "Godliness!"

We also lost Senators Dick Hemstad, Martin Durkan, and Bob Bailey, and Representatives Charles Kilbury, Stan Bradley, Russ Austin, Geraldine McCormick and Speaker Tom Swayze.

They were Democrats and Republicans, and each was emblematic of what our collective credo should be: that public service transcend partisanship and that politics is about getting real things done for Washington families. Let's continue to honor their spirit of responsibility, opportunity, and service to others.

Each of us, irrespective of our political party, owes it to the families of our great state not to lose our way; each of us must see ourselves through history's lens, and create a legacy by building on our success. We cannot be distracted by partisan politics, special interests, or political maneuvering. We are all here to serve others. That is our call to duty.

So in the spirit of responsibility, opportunity and service, let's get to work and build on the foundation we created together last year.

Thank you, God Bless you, and God Bless the people of Washington State."

The President asked the special committee to escort Governor Gregoire and her family from the House Chamber.

The President asked the special committee to escort the statewide elected officials from the House Chamber.

The President asked the special committee to escort the Supreme Court Justices from the House Chamber.

On motion of Representative Kessler, the Joint Session was dissolved. The Speaker (Representative Lovick presiding) assumed the chair.

The Sergeant at Arms of the House and the Sergeant at Arms of the Senate escorted President of the Senate Owen, President Pro Tempore Franklin, Majority Leader Brown, Minority Leader Mike Hewitt and members of the Washington State Senate from the House Chamber.

There being no objection, the House reverted to the fifth order of business.

MESSAGE FROM THE SENATE

January 27, 2006

Mr. Speaker:

The Senate has passed ENGROSSED SUBSTITUTE HOUSE BILL NO. 2661, with the following amendment:

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

"Sec. 1. RCW 49.60.010 and 1997 c 271 s 1 are each amended to read as follows:

This chapter shall be known as the "law against discrimination((2))." It is an exercise of the police power of the state for the protection of the public welfare, health, and peace of the people of this state, and in fulfillment of the provisions of the Constitution of this state concerning civil rights. The legislature hereby finds and declares that practices of discrimination against any of its inhabitants because of race, creed, color, national origin, families with children, sex, marital status, sexual orientation, age, or the presence of any sensory, mental, or physical disability or the use of a trained dog guide or service animal by a disabled person are a matter of state concern, that such discrimination threatens not only the rights and proper privileges of its inhabitants but menaces the institutions and foundation of a free democratic state. A state agency is herein created with powers with respect to elimination and prevention of discrimination in employment, in credit and insurance transactions, in places of public resort, accommodation, or amusement, and in real property transactions because of race, creed, color, national origin, families with children, sex, marital status, sexual orientation, age, or the presence of any sensory, mental, or physical disability or the use of a trained dog guide or service animal by a disabled person; and the commission established hereunder is hereby given general jurisdiction and power for such purposes.

Sec. 2. RCW 49.60.020 and 1993 c 510 s 2 are each amended to read as follows:

The provisions of this chapter shall be construed liberally for the accomplishment of the purposes thereof. Nothing contained in this chapter shall be deemed to repeal any of the provisions of any other law of this state relating to discrimination because of race, color, creed, national origin, sex, marital status, sexual orientation, age, or the presence of any sensory, mental, or physical disability, other than a law which purports to require or permit doing any act which is an unfair practice under this chapter. Nor shall anything herein contained be construed to deny the right to any person to institute any action or pursue any civil or criminal remedy based upon an alleged violation of his or her civil rights. This chapter shall not be construed to endorse any specific belief, practice, behavior, or orientation. Inclusion of sexual orientation in this chapter shall not be construed to modify or supersede state law relating to marriage.

Sec. 3. RCW 49.60.030 and 1997 c 271 s 2 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) The right to be free from discrimination because of race, creed, color, national origin, sex, sexual orientation, or the presence of any sensory, mental, or physical disability or the use of a trained dog guide or service animal by a disabled person is recognized as and declared to be a civil right. This right shall include, but not be limited to:

(a) The right to obtain and hold employment without discrimination;

(b) The right to the full enjoyment of any of the accommodations, advantages, facilities, or privileges of any place of public resort, accommodation, assemblage, or amusement;

(c) The right to engage in real estate transactions without discrimination, including discrimination against families with children;

(d) The right to engage in credit transactions without discrimination;

(e) The right to engage in insurance transactions or transactions with health maintenance organizations without discrimination: PROVIDED, That a practice which is not unlawful under RCW 48.30.300, 48.44.220, or 48.46.370 does not constitute an unfair practice for the purposes of this subparagraph; and

(f) The right to engage in commerce free from any discriminatory boycotts or blacklists. Discriminatory boycotts or blacklists for purposes of this section shall be defined as the formation or execution of any express or implied agreement, understanding, policy or contractual arrangement for economic benefit between any persons which is not specifically authorized by the laws of the United States and which is required or imposed, either directly or indirectly, overtly or covertly, by a foreign government or foreign person in order to restrict, condition, prohibit, or interfere with or in order to exclude any person or persons from any business relationship on the basis of race, color, creed, religion, sex, sexual orientation, the presence of any sensory, mental, or physical disability, or the use of a trained dog guide or service animal by a disabled person, or national origin or lawful business relationship: PROVIDED HOWEVER, That nothing herein contained shall prohibit the use of boycotts as authorized by law pertaining to labor disputes and unfair labor practices.

(2) Any person deeming himself or herself injured by any act in violation of this chapter shall have a civil action in a court of competent jurisdiction to enjoin further violations, or to recover the actual damages sustained by the person, or both, together with the cost of suit including reasonable attorneys' fees or any other appropriate remedy authorized by this chapter or the United States Civil Rights Act of 1964 as amended, or the Federal Fair Housing Amendments Act of 1988 (42 U.S.C. Sec. 3601 et seq.).

(3) Except for any unfair practice committed by an employer against an employee or a prospective employee, or any unfair practice in a real estate transaction which is the basis for relief specified in the amendments to RCW 49.60.225 contained in chapter 69, Laws of 1993, any unfair practice prohibited by this chapter which is committed in the course of trade or commerce as defined in the Consumer Protection Act, chapter 19.86 RCW, is, for the purpose of applying that chapter, a matter affecting the public interest, is not reasonable in relation to the development and preservation of business, and is an unfair or deceptive act in trade or commerce.

(6) To make such technical studies as are appropriate to effectuate the purposes and policies of this chapter and to publish and distribute the reports of such studies.

The commission may perform such services for these agencies and be reimbursed therefor.

(8) To foster good relations between minority and majority population groups of the state through seminars, conferences, educational programs, and other intergroup relations activities.

Sec. 6. RCW 49.60.130 and 1997 c 271 s 5 are each amended to read as follows:

The commission has power to create such advisory agencies and conciliation councils, local, regional, or statewide, as in its judgment will aid in effectuating the purposes of this chapter. Such advisory agencies and conciliation councils shall be composed of representative citizens, serving without pay, but with reimbursement for travel expenses in accordance with RCW 43.03.050 and 43.03.060 as now existing or hereafter amended, and the commission may make provision for technical and clerical assistance to such agencies and councils and for the expenses of such assistance. The commission may use organizations specifically experienced in dealing with questions of discrimination.

Sec. 7. RCW 49.60.175 and 1997 c 271 s 7 are each amended to read as follows:

It shall be an unfair practice to use the sex, race, creed, color, national origin, marital status, sexual orientation, or the presence of any sensory, mental, or physical disability of any person, or the use of a trained dog guide or service animal by a disabled person, concerning an application for credit in any credit transaction to determine the credit worthiness of an applicant.

Sec. 8. RCW 49.60.176 and 1997 c 271 s 8 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) It is an unfair practice for any person whether acting for himself, herself, or another in connection with any credit transaction because of race, creed, color, national origin, sex, marital status, sexual orientation, or the presence of any sensory, mental, or physical disability or the use of a trained dog guide or service animal by a disabled person:

For the purposes of this section, "insurance transaction" is defined in RCW 48.01.060, health maintenance agreement is defined in RCW 48.46.020, and "health maintenance organization" is defined in RCW 48.46.020.

The fact that such unfair practice may also be a violation of chapter 48.30, 48.44, or 48.46 RCW does not constitute a defense to an action brought under this section.

The insurance commissioner, under RCW 48.30.300, and the human rights commission, under chapter 49.60 RCW, shall have concurrent jurisdiction under this section and shall enter into a working agreement as to procedure to be followed in complaints under this section.

(4) To print, or circulate, or cause to be printed or circulated any statement, advertisement, or publication, or to use any form of application for employment, or to make any inquiry in connection with prospective employment, which expresses any limitation, specification, or discrimination as to age, sex, marital status, sexual orientation, race, creed, color, national origin, or the presence of any sensory, mental, or physical disability or the use of a trained dog guide or service animal by a disabled person, or any intent to make any such limitation, specification, or discrimination, unless based upon a bona fide occupational qualification: PROVIDED, Nothing contained herein shall prohibit advertising in a foreign language.

(3) To discriminate against any member, employer, employee, or other person to whom a duty of representation is owed because of age, sex, marital status, sexual orientation, race, creed, color, national origin, or the presence of any sensory, mental, or physical disability or the use of a trained dog guide or service animal by a disabled person.

Sec. 12. RCW 49.60.200 and 1997 c 271 s 12 are each amended to read as follows:

Sec. 13. RCW 49.60.215 and 1997 c 271 s 13 are each amended to read as follows:

It shall be an unfair practice for any person or the person's agent or employee to commit an act which directly or indirectly results in any distinction, restriction, or discrimination, or the requiring of any person to pay a larger sum than the uniform rates charged other persons, or the refusing or withholding from any person the admission, patronage, custom, presence, frequenting, dwelling, staying, or lodging in any place of public resort, accommodation, assemblage, or amusement, except for conditions and limitations established by law and applicable to all persons, regardless of race, creed, color, national origin, sexual orientation, sex, the presence of any sensory, mental, or physical disability, or the use of a trained dog guide or service animal by a disabled person: PROVIDED, That this section shall not be construed to require structural changes, modifications, or additions to make any place accessible to a disabled person except as otherwise required by law: PROVIDED, That behavior or actions constituting a risk to property or other persons can be grounds for refusal and shall not constitute an unfair practice.

Sec. 14. RCW 49.60.222 and 1997 c 400 s 3 and 1997 c 271 s 14 are each reenacted and amended to read as follows:

(1) It is an unfair practice for any person, whether acting for himself, herself, or another, because of sex, marital status, sexual orientation, race, creed, color, national origin, families with children status, the presence of any sensory, mental, or physical disability, or the use of a trained dog guide or service animal by a disabled person:

(a) To refuse to engage in a real estate transaction with a person;

(b) To discriminate against a person in the terms, conditions, or privileges of a real estate transaction or in the furnishing of facilities or services in connection therewith;

(c) To refuse to receive or to fail to transmit a bona fide offer to engage in a real estate transaction from a person;

(d) To refuse to negotiate for a real estate transaction with a person;

(e) To represent to a person that real property is not available for inspection, sale, rental, or lease when in fact it is so available, or to fail to bring a property listing to his or her attention, or to refuse to permit the person to inspect real property;

(f) To discriminate in the sale or rental, or to otherwise make unavailable or deny a dwelling, to any person; or to a person residing in or intending to reside in that dwelling after it is sold, rented, or made available; or to any person associated with the person buying or renting;

(g) To make, print, circulate, post, or mail, or cause to be so made or published a statement, advertisement, or sign, or to use a form of application for a real estate transaction, or to make a record or inquiry in connection with a prospective real estate transaction, which indicates, directly or indirectly, an intent to make a limitation, specification, or discrimination with respect thereto;

(h) To offer, solicit, accept, use, or retain a listing of real property with the understanding that a person may be discriminated against in a real estate transaction or in the furnishing of facilities or services in connection therewith;

(i) To expel a person from occupancy of real property;

(j) To discriminate in the course of negotiating, executing, or financing a real estate transaction whether by mortgage, deed of trust, contract, or other instrument imposing a lien or other security in real property, or in negotiating or executing any item or service related thereto including issuance of title insurance, mortgage insurance, loan guarantee, or other aspect of the transaction. Nothing in this section shall limit the effect of RCW 49.60.176 relating to unfair practices in credit transactions; or

(k) To attempt to do any of the unfair practices defined in this section.

(2) For the purposes of this chapter discrimination based on the presence of any sensory, mental, or physical disability or the use of a trained dog guide or service animal by a blind, deaf, or physically disabled person includes:

(a) A refusal to permit, at the expense of the disabled person, reasonable modifications of existing premises occupied or to be occupied by such person if such modifications may be necessary to afford such person full enjoyment of the dwelling, except that, in the case of a rental, the landlord may, where it is reasonable to do so, condition permission for a modification on the renter agreeing to restore the interior of the dwelling to the condition that existed before the modification, reasonable wear and tear excepted;

(b) To refuse to make reasonable accommodation in rules, policies, practices, or services when such accommodations may be necessary to afford a person with the presence of any sensory, mental, or physical disability and/or the use of a trained dog guide or service animal by a blind, deaf, or physically disabled person equal opportunity to use and enjoy a dwelling; or

(c) To fail to design and construct covered multifamily dwellings and premises in conformance with the federal fair housing amendments act of 1988 (42 U.S.C. Sec. 3601 et seq.) and all other applicable laws or regulations pertaining to access by persons with any sensory, mental, or physical disability or use of a trained dog guide or service animal. Whenever the requirements of applicable laws or regulations differ, the requirements which require greater accessibility for persons with any sensory, mental, or physical disability shall govern.

Nothing in (a) or (b) of this subsection shall apply to: (i) A single-family house rented or leased by the owner if the owner does not own or have an interest in the proceeds of the rental or lease of more than three such single-family houses at one time, the rental or lease occurred without the use of a real estate broker or salesperson, as defined in RCW 18.85.010, and the rental or lease occurred without the publication, posting, or mailing of any advertisement, sign, or statement in violation of subsection (1)(g) of this section; or (ii) rooms or units in dwellings containing living quarters occupied or intended to be occupied by no more than four families living independently of each other if the owner maintains and occupies one of the rooms or units as his or her residence.

(3) Notwithstanding any other provision of this chapter, it shall not be an unfair practice or a denial of civil rights for any public or private educational institution to separate the sexes or give preference to or limit use of dormitories, residence halls, or other student housing to persons of one sex or to make distinctions on the basis of marital or families with children status.

(4) Except pursuant to subsection (2)(a) of this section, this section shall not be construed to require structural changes, modifications, or additions to make facilities accessible to a disabled person except as otherwise required by law. Nothing in this section affects the rights, responsibilities, and remedies of landlords and tenants pursuant to chapter 59.18 or 59.20 RCW, including the right to post and enforce reasonable rules of conduct and safety for all tenants and their guests, provided that chapters 59.18 and 59.20 RCW are only affected to the extent they are inconsistent with the nondiscrimination requirements of this chapter. Nothing in this section limits the applicability of any reasonable federal, state, or local restrictions regarding the maximum number of occupants permitted to occupy a dwelling.

(5) Notwithstanding any other provision of this chapter, it shall not be an unfair practice for any public establishment providing for accommodations offered for the full enjoyment of transient guests as defined by RCW 9.91.010(1)(c) to make distinctions on the basis of families with children status. Nothing in this section shall limit the effect of RCW 49.60.215 relating to unfair practices in places of public accommodation.

(6) Nothing in this chapter prohibiting discrimination based on families with children status applies to housing for older persons as defined by the federal fair housing amendments act of 1988, 42 U.S.C. Sec. 3607(b)(1) through (3), as amended by the housing for older persons act of 1995, P.L. 104-76, as enacted on December 28, 1995. Nothing in this chapter authorizes requirements for housing for older persons different than the requirements in the federal fair housing amendments act of 1988, 42 U.S.C. Sec. 3607(b)(1) through (3), as amended by the housing for older persons act of 1995, P.L. 104-76, as enacted on December 28, 1995.

(7) Nothing in this chapter shall apply to real estate transactions involving the sharing of a dwelling unit, or rental or sublease of a portion of a dwelling unit, when the dwelling unit is to be occupied by the owner or sublessor. For purposes of this section, "dwelling unit" has the same meaning as in RCW 59.18.030.

Sec. 15. RCW 49.60.223 and 1997 c 271 s 15 are each amended to read as follows:

It is an unfair practice for any person, for profit, to induce or attempt to induce any person to sell or rent any real property by representations regarding the entry or prospective entry into the neighborhood of a person or persons of a particular race, creed, color, sex, national origin, sexual orientation, families with children status, or with any sensory, mental, or physical disability and/or the use of a trained dog guide or service animal by a blind, deaf, or physically disabled person.

Sec. 16. RCW 49.60.224 and 1997 c 271 s 16 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) Every provision in a written instrument relating to real property which purports to forbid or restrict the conveyance, encumbrance, occupancy, or lease thereof to individuals of a specified race, creed, color, sex, national origin, sexual orientation, families with children status, or with any sensory, mental, or physical disability or the use of a trained dog guide or service animal by a blind, deaf, or physically disabled person, and every condition, restriction, or prohibition, including a right of entry or possibility of reverter, which directly or indirectly limits the use or occupancy of real property on the basis of race, creed, color, sex, national origin, sexual orientation, families with children status, or the presence of any sensory, mental, or physical disability or the use of a trained dog guide or service animal by a blind, deaf, or physically disabled person is void.

(2) It is an unfair practice to insert in a written instrument relating to real property a provision that is void under this section or to honor or attempt to honor such a provision in the chain of title.

Sec. 17. RCW 49.60.225 and 1997 c 271 s 17 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) When a reasonable cause determination has been made under RCW 49.60.240 that an unfair practice in a real estate transaction has been committed and a finding has been made that the respondent has engaged in any unfair practice under RCW 49.60.250, the administrative law judge shall promptly issue an order for such relief suffered by the aggrieved person as may be appropriate, which may include actual damages as provided by the federal fair housing amendments act of 1988 (42 U.S.C. Sec. 3601 et seq.), and injunctive or other equitable relief. Such order may, to further the public interest, assess a civil penalty against the respondent:

(a) In an amount up to ten thousand dollars if the respondent has not been determined to have committed any prior unfair practice in a real estate transaction;

(b) In an amount up to twenty-five thousand dollars if the respondent has been determined to have committed one other unfair practice in a real estate transaction during the five-year period ending on the date of the filing of this charge; or

(c) In an amount up to fifty thousand dollars if the respondent has been determined to have committed two or more unfair practices in a real estate transaction during the seven-year period ending on the date of the filing of this charge, for loss of the right secured by RCW 49.60.010, 49.60.030, 49.60.040, and 49.60.222 through 49.60.224, as now or hereafter amended, to be free from discrimination in real property transactions because of sex, marital status, race, creed, color, national origin, sexual orientation, families with children status, or the presence of any sensory, mental, or physical disability or the use of a trained dog guide or service animal by a blind, deaf, or physically disabled person. Enforcement of the order and appeal therefrom by the complainant or respondent may be made as provided in RCW 49.60.260 and 49.60.270. If acts constituting the unfair practice in a real estate transaction that is the object of the charge are determined to have been committed by the same natural person who has been previously determined to have committed acts constituting an unfair practice in a real estate transaction, then the civil penalty of up to fifty thousand dollars may be imposed without regard to the period of time within which any subsequent unfair practice in a real estate transaction occurred. All civil penalties assessed under this section shall be paid into the state treasury and credited to the general fund.

(2) Such order shall not affect any contract, sale, conveyance, encumbrance, or lease consummated before the issuance of an order that involves a bona fide purchaser, encumbrancer, or tenant who does not have actual notice of the charge filed under this chapter.

(3) Notwithstanding any other provision of this chapter, persons awarded damages under this section may not receive additional damages pursuant to RCW 49.60.250.

Sec. 18. RCW 48.30.300 and 2005 c 223 s 19 are each amended to read as follows:

Notwithstanding any provision contained in Title 48 RCW to the contrary:

A person or entity engaged in the business of insurance in this state may not refuse to issue any contract of insurance or cancel or decline to renew such contract because of the sex ((~~or~~)), marital status, or sexual orientation as defined in RCW 49.60.040, or the presence of any sensory, mental, or physical handicap of the insured or prospective insured. The amount of benefits payable, or any term, rate, condition, or type of coverage may not be restricted, modified, excluded, increased, or reduced on the basis of the sex ((~~or~~)), marital status, or sexual orientation, or be restricted, modified, excluded, or reduced on the basis of the presence of any sensory, mental, or physical handicap of the insured or prospective insured. This subsection does not prohibit fair discrimination on the basis of sex, or marital status, or the presence of any sensory, mental, or physical handicap when bona fide statistical differences in risk or exposure have been substantiated."

On page 1, line 2 of the title, after "commission;" strike the remainder of the title and insert "amending RCW 49.60.010, 49.60.020, 49.60.030, 49.60.040, 49.60.120, 49.60.130, 49.60.175, 49.60.176, 49.60.178, 49.60.180, 49.60.190, 49.60.200, 49.60.215, 49.60.223, 49.60.224, 49.60.225, and 48.30.300; and reenacting and amending RCW 49.60.222."

Representative Dunshee moved the adoption of amendment (666):

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

The legislature finds that:

- (1) Relying on foreign oil hurts our state's economy, citizens, and businesses;
- (2) Experts tell us that the global oil shortage will only worsen, making the three dollars per gallon gasoline of summer 2005 seem affordable;
- (3) Instead of leaving our economy at the mercy of global events, and the policies of foreign nations, Washington state should adopt a policy of energy independence;
- (4) Each year, citizens and businesses in Washington state spend nine billion dollars on gasoline and diesel, with those funds drained from the state economy;
- (5) The energy freedom program is meant to lead Washington state toward energy independence;
- (6) The biofuels industry is a new and developing industry now limited by the availability of capital for construction of facilities for converting farm products into energy and fuels; and
- (7) For biofuels to be economically viable in Washington, it will be necessary to grow dedicated crops, construct crushers near Washington farms, and build refineries to create fuel.

Therefore, it is the intent of the legislature to reduce Washington's dependence on imported oil, expand renewable fuel production and use in Washington, help citizens and business conserve energy, and promote sustainable rural economic development by creating new jobs and stimulating business and economic activity in local communities across Washington.

To accomplish this, the energy freedom program is established to stimulate strategic investment in facilities, infrastructure, and technologies that will advance Washington's move toward energy independence.

FOR THE DEPARTMENT OF COMMUNITY, TRADE, AND ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT
Energy Freedom Program (06-2-852)

The appropriation in this section is subject to the following conditions and limitations:

- (1)(a) The appropriation is provided solely for low-interest loans to political subdivisions for renewable energy projects including the development of biofuel oilseed crushers, supporting infrastructure, and facilities. The political subdivision may negotiate an appropriate agreement with the bioenergy industry for the use of the oilseed crushers, supporting infrastructure, and facilities.
- (b) For purposes of this section, political subdivision means any port district, county, city, town, special purpose district, and any other municipal corporations or quasi-municipal corporations in the state.
- (2) The appropriation is provided solely for the following list of projects:

Project	Recommendation
Spokane conservation district	$2,750,000
Odessa public development authority	$2,750,000
Port of Columbia county	$2,750,000
Port of Sunnyside	$750,000
Total	$9,000,000

(3) All agreements negotiated between the political subdivision and the bioenergy industry for use of the oilseed crushers, supporting infrastructure, or facilities funded in this section must provide for at least a fifty percent match by the industry partner. The industry match may include, but is not limited to, investments in rail, buildings, refining capacity, or seed stock.

(4) All other project funds must be disbursed prior to energy freedom loans, except where required on a matching basis by other federal or state programs.

(5) The department shall disburse loans to the political subdivision on a reimbursement basis only.

(6) The department may defer loan repayment for up to twenty-four months or until the projects start to receive revenue from operations, whichever is sooner.

The political subdivision shall: (a) Develop a plan for outreach to local growers and an estimate of when maximum Washington state oilseed-based production will be reached; (b) develop a goal for the political subdivision to return a portion of the biofuel to local oilseed producers; and (c) report this information to the department of community, trade, and economic development by December 1, 2006. The department shall report on the implementation of this section by January 1, 2007, to the appropriate committees of the legislature.

Representative Schindler moved the adoption of amendment (685):

On page 4, after line 19, insert:

"NEW SECTION. Sec. 4. A new section is added to chapter 9.94A RCW to read as follows:

(1) In a prosecution for rape in the first degree, the prosecuting attorney shall file a special allegation that the victim of the offense was under twelve years of age at the time of the offense whenever sufficient admissible evidence exists, which, when considered with the most plausible, reasonably foreseeable defense that could be raised under the evidence, would justify a finding by a reasonable and objective fact-finder that the victim was under twelve years of age at the time of the offense.

(2) Once a special allegation has been made under this section, the state has the burden to prove beyond a reasonable doubt that the victim was under twelve years of age at the time of the offense. If a jury is had, the jury shall, if it finds the defendant guilty, also find a special verdict as to whether the victim was under the age of twelve at the time of the offense. If no jury is had, the court shall make a finding of fact as to whether the victim was under the age of twelve at the time of the offense.

(3) The prosecuting attorney shall not withdraw a special allegation filed under this section without the approval of the court through an order of dismissal of the allegation. The court may not dismiss the special allegation unless it finds that the order is necessary to correct an error in the initial charging decision or that there are evidentiary problems that make proving the special allegation doubtful."

Renumber the remaining sections consecutively and correct internal references accordingly.

On page 6, line 6, after "greater," insert "If the offense that caused the offender to be sentenced under this section was rape in the first degree and there has been a finding that the victim was under the age of twelve at the time of the offense under section 4 of this act, the minimum term shall be life."

On page 8, line 25, after "greater," insert "If the offense that caused the offender to be sentenced under this section was rape in the first degree and there has been a finding that the victim was under the age of twelve at the time of the offense under section 4 of this act, the minimum term shall be life."

POINT OF ORDER

Representative Hunt requested a scope and object ruling on the amendment (685) to House Bill No. 3277.

SPEAKER'S RULING

Mr. Speaker: "The title of HOUSE BILL NO. 3277 authorizes special verdicts that would result in more severe punishment for certain sex offenses against children and vulnerable adults by increasing the minimum sentences to twenty-five years or the maximum of the standard sentence range, whichever is greater, for specified crimes and upon proof of specified allegations related to predatory offenses, victims under the age of fifteen, and vulnerable adults.

The bill sets out the standards for charging and proving such allegations and the standards for sentencing upon findings of guilt on the special verdicts.

As noted, the title specifies the minimum sentence to be imposed for certain sex offenses. Amendment (685) would impose a different minimum sentence and therefore is beyond the scope and object of the bill.

Representative Hunt, your point of order is well taken."

Representative Ericksen moved the adoption of amendment (683):

On page 30, after line 34, insert:

"Sec. 8. RCW 9.94A.670 and 2004 c 176 s 4 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) Unless the context clearly requires otherwise, the definitions in this subsection apply to this section only.

(a) "Sex offender treatment provider" or "treatment provider" means a certified sex offender treatment provider or a certified affiliate sex offender treatment provider as defined in RCW 18.155.020.

(b) "Substantial bodily harm" means bodily injury that involves a temporary but substantial disfigurement, or that causes a temporary but substantial loss or impairment of the function of any body part or organ, or that causes a fracture of any body part or organ.

(c) "Victim" means any person who has sustained emotional, psychological, physical, or financial injury to person or property as a result of the crime charged. "Victim" also means a parent or guardian of a victim who is a minor child unless the parent or guardian is the perpetrator of the offense.

(2) An offender is eligible for the special sex offender sentencing alternative if:

(a) The offender has been convicted of a sex offense other than a violation of RCW 9A.44.050 or a sex offense that is also a serious violent offense;

(b) The offender has no prior convictions for a sex offense as defined in RCW 9.94A.030 or any other felony sex offenses in this or any other state;

(c) The offender has no prior adult convictions for a violent offense that was committed within five years of the date the current offense was committed;

(d) The offense did not result in substantial bodily harm to the victim;

(e) The offender had an established relationship with, or connection to, the victim such that the sole connection with the victim was not the commission of the crime; ~~(and)~~

(f) The offender's standard sentence range for the offense includes the possibility of confinement for less than eleven years; and

(g) The immediate victim or immediate victim's family agrees to the sentence imposed under this section.

(3) If the court finds the offender is eligible for this alternative, the court, on its own motion or the motion of the state or the offender, may order an examination to determine whether the offender is amenable to treatment.

(a) The report of the examination shall include at a minimum the following:

(i) The offender's version of the facts and the official version of the facts;

(ii) The offender's offense history;

(iii) An assessment of problems in addition to alleged deviant behaviors;

(iv) The offender's social and employment situation; and

(v) Other evaluation measures used.

The report shall set forth the sources of the examiner's information.

(b) The examiner shall assess and report regarding the offender's amenability to treatment and relative risk to the community. A proposed treatment plan shall be provided and shall include, at a minimum:

(i) Frequency and type of contact between offender and therapist;

(ii) Specific issues to be addressed in the treatment and description of planned treatment modalities;

(iii) Monitoring plans, including any requirements regarding living conditions, lifestyle requirements, and monitoring by family members and others;

(iv) Anticipated length of treatment; and

(v) Recommended crime-related prohibitions and affirmative conditions, which must include, to the extent known, an identification of specific activities or behaviors that are precursors to the offender's offense cycle, including, but not limited to, activities or behaviors such as viewing or listening to pornography or use of alcohol or controlled substances.

(c) The court on its own motion may order, or on a motion by the state shall order, a second examination regarding the offender's amenability to treatment. The examiner shall be selected by the party making the motion. The offender shall pay the cost of any second examination ordered unless the court finds the defendant to be indigent in which case the state shall pay the cost.

(4) After receipt of the reports, the court shall consider whether the offender and the community will benefit from use of this alternative, consider whether the alternative is too lenient in light of the extent and circumstances of the offense, consider whether the offender has victims in addition to the victim of the offense, consider whether the offender is amenable to treatment, consider the risk the offender would present to the community, to the victim, or to persons of similar age and circumstances as the victim, and consider the victim's opinion whether the offender should receive a treatment disposition under this section. The court shall give great weight to the victim's opinion whether the offender should receive a treatment disposition under this section. If the sentence imposed is contrary to the victim's opinion, the court shall enter written findings stating its reasons for imposing the treatment disposition. The fact that the offender admits to his or her offense does not, by itself, constitute amenability to treatment. If the court determines that this alternative is appropriate, the court shall then impose a sentence or, pursuant to RCW 9.94A.712, a minimum term of sentence, within the standard sentence range. If the sentence imposed is less than eleven years of confinement, the court may suspend the execution of the sentence and impose the following conditions of suspension:

(a) The court shall order the offender to serve a term of confinement of up to twelve months or the maximum term within the standard range, whichever is less. The court may order the offender to serve a term of confinement greater than twelve months or the maximum term within the standard range based on the presence of an aggravating circumstance listed in *RCW 9.94A.535(2). In no case shall the term of confinement exceed the statutory maximum sentence for the offense. The court may order the offender to serve all or part of his or her term of confinement in partial confinement. An offender sentenced to a term of confinement under this subsection is not eligible for earned release under RCW 9.92.151 or 9.94A.728.

(b) The court shall place the offender on community custody for the length of the suspended sentence, the length of the maximum term imposed pursuant to RCW 9.94A.712, or three years, whichever is greater, and require the offender to comply with any conditions imposed by the department under RCW 9.94A.720.

(c) The court shall order treatment for any period up to five years in duration. The court, in its discretion, shall order outpatient sex offender treatment or inpatient sex offender treatment, if available. A community mental health center may not be used for such treatment unless it has an appropriate program designed for sex offender treatment. The offender shall not change sex offender treatment providers or treatment conditions without first notifying the prosecutor, the community corrections officer, and the court. If any party or the court objects to a proposed change, the offender shall not change providers or conditions without court approval after a hearing.

(d) As conditions of the suspended sentence, the court shall impose specific prohibitions and affirmative conditions relating to the known precursor activities or behaviors identified in the proposed treatment plan under subsection (3)(b)(v) of this section or identified in an annual review under subsection (7)(b) of this section.

(5) As conditions of the suspended sentence, the court may impose one or more of the following:

(a) Crime-related prohibitions;

(b) Require the offender to devote time to a specific employment or occupation;

(c) Require the offender to remain within prescribed geographical boundaries and notify the court or the community corrections officer prior to any change in the offender's address or employment;

(d) Require the offender to report as directed to the court and a community corrections officer;

(e) Require the offender to pay all court-ordered legal financial obligations as provided in RCW 9.94A.030;

(f) Require the offender to perform community restitution work;

or
(g) Require the offender to reimburse the victim for the cost of any counseling required as a result of the offender's crime.

(6) At the time of sentencing, the court shall set a treatment termination hearing for three months prior to the anticipated date for completion of treatment.

(7)(a) The sex offender treatment provider shall submit quarterly reports on the offender's progress in treatment to the court and the parties. The report shall reference the treatment plan and include at a minimum the following: Dates of attendance, offender's compliance with requirements, treatment activities, the offender's relative progress in treatment, and any other material specified by the court at sentencing.

(b) The court shall conduct a hearing on the offender's progress in treatment at least once a year. At least fourteen days prior to the hearing, notice of the hearing shall be given to the victim. The victim shall be given the opportunity to make statements to the court regarding the offender's supervision and treatment. At the hearing, the court may modify conditions of community custody including, but not limited to, crime-related prohibitions and affirmative conditions relating to activities and behaviors identified as part of, or relating to precursor activities and behaviors in, the offender's offense cycle or revoke the suspended sentence.

(8) At least fourteen days prior to the treatment termination hearing, notice of the hearing shall be given to the victim. The victim shall be given the opportunity to make statements to the court regarding the offender's supervision and treatment. Prior to the treatment termination hearing, the treatment provider and community corrections officer shall submit written reports to the court and parties regarding the offender's compliance with treatment and monitoring requirements, and recommendations regarding termination from treatment, including proposed community custody conditions. The court may order an evaluation regarding the advisability of termination from treatment by a sex offender treatment provider who may not be the same person who treated the offender under subsection (4) of this section or any person who employs, is employed by, or shares profits with the person who treated the offender under subsection (4) of this section unless the court has entered written findings that such evaluation is in the best interest of the victim and that a successful evaluation of the offender would otherwise be impractical. The offender shall pay the cost of the evaluation. At the treatment termination hearing the court may: (a) Modify conditions of community custody, and either (b) terminate treatment, or (c) extend treatment in two-year increments for up to the remaining period of community custody.

(9)(a) If a violation of conditions other than a second violation of the prohibitions or affirmative conditions relating to precursor behaviors or activities imposed under subsection (4)(d) or (7)(b) of this section occurs during community custody, the department shall either impose sanctions as provided for in RCW 9.94A.737(2)(a) or refer the violation to the court and recommend revocation of the suspended sentence as provided for in subsections (6) and (8) of this section.

(b) If a second violation of the prohibitions or affirmative conditions relating to precursor behaviors or activities imposed under subsection (4)(d) or (7)(b) of this section occurs during community custody, the department shall refer the violation to the court and recommend revocation of the suspended sentence as provided in subsection (10) of this section.

(10) The court may revoke the suspended sentence at any time during the period of community custody and order execution of the sentence if: (a) The offender violates the conditions of the suspended sentence, or (b) the court finds that the offender is failing to make satisfactory progress in treatment. All confinement time served during the period of community custody shall be credited to the offender if the suspended sentence is revoked.

(11) The offender's sex offender treatment provider may not be the same person who examined the offender under subsection (3) of this section or any person who employs, is employed by, or shares profits with the person who examined the offender under subsection (3) of this section, unless the court has entered written findings that such treatment is in the best interests of the victim and that successful treatment of the offender would otherwise be impractical. Examinations and treatment ordered pursuant to this subsection shall only be conducted by certified sex offender treatment providers or certified affiliate sex offender treatment providers under chapter 18.155 RCW unless the court finds that:

(a) The offender has already moved to another state or plans to move to another state for reasons other than circumventing the certification requirements; or

(b)(i) No certified sex offender treatment providers or certified affiliate sex offender treatment providers are available for treatment within a reasonable geographical distance of the offender's home; and
(ii) The evaluation and treatment plan comply with this section and the rules adopted by the department of health.

(12) If the offender is less than eighteen years of age when the charge is filed, the state shall pay for the cost of initial evaluation and treatment."

Renumber the remaining sections consecutively and correct internal references accordingly.

Correct the title.

POINT OF ORDER

Representative Hunt requested a scope and object ruling on the amendment (683) to House Bill No. 3277.

SPEAKER'S RULING

Mr. Speaker: "As previously stated, the title of HOUSE BILL NO. 3277 authorizes special verdicts that would result in more severe punishment for certain sex offenses against children and vulnerable adults by increasing the minimum sentences to twenty-five years or the maximum of the standard sentence range, whichever is greater, for specified crimes and upon proof of specified allegations related to predatory offenses, victims under the age of fifteen, and vulnerable adults.

The bill sets out the standards for charging and proving such allegations and the standards for sentencing upon findings of guilt on the special verdicts.

Amendment (683) relates to the special sex offender sentencing alternative, a subject not contemplated in the title or addressed in the substantive content of the bill.

The Speaker therefore finds the amendment is beyond the scope and object of the bill.

Representative Hunt, your point of order is well taken."

Representative Ahern moved the adoption of amendment (684):

On page 30, after line 34, insert:

"Sec. 8. RCW 9.94A.670 and 2004 c 176 s 4 are each amended to read as follows:

(c) The court on its own motion may order, or on a motion by the state shall order, a second examination regarding the offender's amenability to treatment. The examiner shall be selected by the party making the motion. The offender shall pay the cost of any second examination ordered unless the court finds the defendant to be indigent in which case the state shall pay the cost.

(4) After receipt of the reports, the court shall consider whether the offender and the community will benefit from use of this alternative, consider whether the alternative is too lenient in light of the extent and circumstances of the offense, consider whether the offender has victims in addition to the victim of the offense, consider

If any party or the court objects to a proposed change, the offender shall not change providers or conditions without court approval after a hearing.

(d) As conditions of the suspended sentence, the court shall impose specific prohibitions and affirmative conditions relating to the known precursor activities or behaviors identified in the proposed treatment plan under subsection (3)(b)(v) of this section or identified in an annual review under subsection (7)(b) of this section.

(5) As conditions of the suspended sentence, the court may impose one or more of the following:

relative progress in treatment, and any other material specified by the court at sentencing.

(b) The court shall conduct a hearing on the offender's progress in treatment at least once a year. At least fourteen days prior to the hearing, notice of the hearing shall be given to the victim. At the hearing, the court may modify conditions of community custody including, but not limited to, crime-related prohibitions and affirmative conditions relating to activities and behaviors identified as part of, or relating to precursor activities and behaviors in, the offender's offense cycle or revoke the suspended sentence.

(8) At least fourteen days prior to the treatment termination hearing, notice of the hearing shall be given to the victim. The victim shall be given the opportunity to make statements to the court regarding the offender's supervision and treatment. Prior to the treatment termination hearing, the treatment provider and community corrections officer shall submit written reports to the court and parties regarding the offender's compliance with treatment and monitoring requirements, and recommendations regarding termination from treatment, including proposed community custody conditions. The court may order an evaluation regarding the advisability of termination from treatment by a sex offender treatment provider who may not be the same person who treated the offender under subsection (4) of this section or any person who employs, is employed by, or shares profits with the person who treated the offender under subsection (4) of this section unless the court has entered written findings that such evaluation is in the best interest of the victim and that a successful evaluation of the offender would otherwise be impractical. The offender shall pay the cost of the evaluation. At the treatment termination hearing the court may: (a) Modify conditions of community custody, and either (b) terminate treatment, or (c) extend treatment in two-year increments for up to the remaining period of community custody.

(9)(a) If a violation of conditions other than a second violation of the prohibitions or affirmative conditions relating to precursor behaviors or activities imposed under subsection (4)(d) or (7)(b) of this section occurs during community custody, the department shall either impose sanctions as provided for in RCW 9.94A.737(2)(a) or refer the violation to the court and recommend revocation of the suspended sentence as provided for in subsections (6) and (8) of this section.

(b) If a second violation of the prohibitions or affirmative conditions relating to precursor behaviors or activities imposed under subsection (4)(d) or (7)(b) of this section occurs during community custody, the department shall refer the violation to the court and recommend revocation of the suspended sentence as provided in subsection (10) of this section.

(10) The court may revoke the suspended sentence at any time during the period of community custody and order execution of the sentence if: (a) The offender violates the conditions of the suspended sentence, or (b) the court finds that the offender is failing to make satisfactory progress in treatment. All confinement time served during the period of community custody shall be credited to the offender if the suspended sentence is revoked.

(11) The offender's sex offender treatment provider may not be the same person who examined the offender under subsection (3) of this section or any person who employs, is employed by, or shares profits with the person who examined the offender under subsection (3) of this section, unless the court has entered written findings that such treatment is in the best interests of the victim and that successful treatment of the offender would otherwise be impractical. POINT OF ORDER

Representative Hunt requested a scope and object ruling on the amendment (684) to House Bill No. 3277.

SPEAKER'S RULING

The Speaker: "Amendment (687), like Amendment (683), also relates to the serial sex offender sentencing alternative and is beyond the scope and object of the bill for the reasons stated in the Speaker's previous ruling.

Representative Hunt, your point of order is well taken."

Representative Alexander moved the adoption of amendment (687):

On page 30, after line 34, insert:

"NEW SECTION. Sec. 8. A new section is added to chapter 9A.44 RCW to read as follows:

(1) A public employee who, in the course of his or her employment, becomes aware that a person is not in compliance with RCW 9A.44.130 shall report the person's non-compliance to the appropriate law enforcement official within five working days of discovering the person's non-compliance.

POINT OF ORDER

Representative Hunt requested a scope and object ruling on the amendment (687) to House Bill No. 3277.

SPEAKER'S RULING

Mr. Speaker: "As previously stated, the title of HOUSE BILL NO. 3277 authorizes special verdicts that would result in more severe punishment for certain sex offenses against children and vulnerable adults by increasing the minimum sentences to twenty-five years or the maximum of the standard sentence range, whichever is greater, for specified crimes and upon proof of specified allegations related to predatory offenses, victims under the age of fifteen, and vulnerable adults.

The bill sets out the standards for charging and proving such allegations and the standards for sentencing upon findings of guilt on the special verdicts.

Amendment (687) relates to reporting of unregistered offenders, a topic completely outside the scope and object of the sentencing bill before us.

Representative Hunt, your point of order is well taken."

Representative Hunt requested a scope and object ruling on the amendment (647) to Substitute House Bill No. 2335.

SPEAKER'S RULING

The Speaker (Representative Lovick presiding): "Substitute House Bill No. 2335 is entitled an act relating to "preventing the spread of disease in body piercing practices through standard universal precautions and sterilization requirements." The bill requires the Secretary of Health to establish sterilization and disease prevention standards for body piercing practices. The title of the bill is narrow and the subject matter is limited.

The amendment establishes criminal penalties for performing body piercing on minors without parental consent. The amendment is unrelated to sterilization and disease prevention standards, and is therefore beyond the scope and objection of the bill.

Representative Hunt, your point of order is well taken."

There being no objection, the rules were suspended, the second reading considered the third and the bill was placed on final passage.

Representatives Appleton, Hinkle, Ericksen and Campbell spoke in favor of passage of the bill.

Representatives Nixon and Bailey spoke against the passage of the bill.

The Speaker (Representative Lovick presiding) stated the question before the House to be the final passage of Substitute House Bill No. 2335.

Beginning on page 2, line 1, after "(3)" strike all material through "administration," on page 3, line 9 and insert the following: "(a) To determine whether or not a defendant is a dependent of a person in the military service under this chapter, the plaintiff may serve on or mail via first-class mail to the defendant a written notice in substantially the following form:

"NOTICE: State and federal law provide protections to defendants who are on active duty in the military service, and to their dependents. Dependents of a service member are the service member's spouse, the service member's minor child, or an individual for whom the service member provided more than one-half of the individual's support for one hundred eighty days immediately preceding an application for relief.

One protection provided is the protection against the entry of a default judgment in certain circumstances. This notice only pertains to a defendant who is a dependent of a member of the national guard or a military reserve component under a call to active service for a period of more than thirty consecutive days. Other defendants in military service also have protections against default judgments not covered by this notice. If you are the dependent of a member of the national guard or a military reserve component under a call to active service for a period of more than thirty consecutive days, you should notify the plaintiff or the plaintiff's attorneys in writing of your status as such within twenty days of the receipt of this notice. If you fail to do so, then a court or an administrative tribunal may presume that you are not a dependent of an active duty member of the national guard or reserves, and proceed with the entry of an order of default and/or a default judgment without further proof of your status. Your response to the plaintiff or plaintiff's attorneys about your status does not constitute an appearance for jurisdictional purposes in any pending litigation nor a waiver of your rights."

(b) If the notice is either served on the defendant twenty or more days prior to an application for an order of default or a default judgment, or mailed to the defendant more than twenty-three days prior to such application, and the defendant fails to timely respond, then for purposes of entry of an order of default or default judgment, the court or administrative tribunal may presume that the defendant is not a dependent of a person in the military service under this chapter."

"NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. A new section is added to chapter 18.130 RCW to read as follows:

The secretary, with the advice and consultation of the other disciplining authorities, shall adopt a schedule that defines appropriate ranges of sanctions that are applicable to a finding after a hearing that a license holder has committed unprofessional conduct as defined in this chapter or the chapters specified in RCW 18.130.040(2). The schedule must identify aggravating and mitigating circumstances that may enhance or reduce the sanction imposed by the disciplining authority for each act of unprofessional conduct. The schedule must apply to all disciplining authorities. In addition, the secretary shall make provisions for instances in which there are multiple findings of unprofessional conduct. When establishing the schedule, the secretary shall consider maintaining consistent sanction determinations that balance the protection of the public's health and the rights of health care providers of the different health professions.

Sec. 4. RCW 18.130.050 and 1995 c 336 s 4 are each amended to read as follows:

The disciplining authority has the following authority:

(1) To adopt, amend, and rescind such rules as are deemed necessary to carry out this chapter;

(2) To investigate all complaints or reports of unprofessional conduct as defined in this chapter and to hold hearings as provided in this chapter;

(3) To issue subpoenas and administer oaths in connection with any investigation, hearing, or proceeding held under this chapter;

(4) To take or cause depositions to be taken and use other discovery procedures as needed in any investigation, hearing, or proceeding held under this chapter;

(5) To compel attendance of witnesses at hearings;

(6) In the course of investigating a complaint or report of unprofessional conduct, to conduct practice reviews;

~~(7) ((To take emergency action ordering summary suspension of a license, or restriction or limitation of the licensee's practice pending proceedings by the disciplining authority;~~

~~(8))~~ (8) To use a presiding officer as authorized in RCW 18.130.095(3) or the office of administrative hearings as authorized in chapter 34.12 RCW to conduct hearings. The disciplining authority shall make the final decision regarding disposition of the license unless the disciplining authority elects to delegate in writing the final decision to the presiding officer;

~~((9))~~ (9) To use individual members of the boards to direct investigations. However, the member of the board shall not subsequently participate in the hearing of the case;

~~((10))~~ (10) To enter into contracts for professional services determined to be necessary for adequate enforcement of this chapter;

~~((11))~~ (11) To contract with licensees or other persons or organizations to provide services necessary for the monitoring and supervision of licensees who are placed on probation, whose professional activities are restricted, or who are for any authorized purpose subject to monitoring by the disciplining authority;

~~((12))~~ (12) To adopt standards of professional conduct or practice;

~~((13))~~ (13) To grant or deny license applications, and in the event of a finding of unprofessional conduct by an applicant or license holder, to impose any sanction consistent with section 2 of this act against a license applicant or license holder provided by this chapter;

~~((14))~~ (14) To designate individuals authorized to sign subpoenas and statements of charges;

~~((15))~~ (15) To establish panels consisting of three or more members of the board to perform any duty or authority within the board's jurisdiction under this chapter;

~~((16))~~ (16) To review and audit the records of licensed health facilities' or services' quality assurance committee decisions in which a licensee's practice privilege or employment is terminated or restricted. Each health facility or service shall produce and make accessible to the disciplining authority the appropriate records and otherwise facilitate the review and audit. Information so gained shall not be subject to discovery or introduction into evidence in any civil action pursuant to RCW 70.41.200(3).

Sec. 5. RCW 18.130.060 and 2001 c 101 s 1 are each amended to read as follows:

In addition to the authority specified in RCW 18.130.050, the secretary has the following additional authority:

(1) To employ such investigative, administrative, and clerical staff as necessary for the enforcement of this chapter;

(2) Upon the request of a board, to appoint pro tem members to participate as members of a panel of the board in connection with proceedings specifically identified in the request. Individuals so appointed must meet the same minimum qualifications as regular members of the board. Pro tem members appointed for matters under this chapter are appointed for a term of no more than one year. No pro tem member may serve more than four one-year terms. While serving as board members pro tem, persons so appointed have all the powers, duties, and immunities, and are entitled to the emoluments, including travel expenses in accordance with RCW 43.03.050 and 43.03.060, of regular members of the board. The chairperson of a panel shall be a regular member of the board appointed by the board chairperson. Panels have authority to act as directed by the board with respect to all matters concerning the review, investigation, and adjudication of all complaints, allegations, charges, and matters subject to the jurisdiction of the board. The authority to act through panels does not restrict the authority of the board to act as a single body at any phase of proceedings within the board's jurisdiction. Board panels may make interim orders and issue final decisions with respect to matters and cases delegated to the panel by the board.

Final decisions may be appealed as provided in chapter 34.05 RCW, the Administrative Procedure Act;

(3) To establish fees to be paid for witnesses, expert witnesses, and consultants used in any investigation and to establish fees to witnesses in any agency adjudicative proceeding as authorized by RCW 34.05.446;

(4) To conduct investigations and practice reviews at the direction of the disciplining authority and to issue subpoenas, administer oaths, and take depositions in the course of conducting those investigations and practice reviews at the direction of the disciplining authority;

(5) To take emergency action ordering summary suspension of a license, or restriction or limitation of the license holder's practice pending proceedings by the disciplining authority;

(6) To have the health professions regulatory program establish a system to recruit potential public members, to review the qualifications of such potential members, and to provide orientation to those public members appointed pursuant to law by the governor or the secretary to the boards and commissions specified in RCW 18.130.040(2)(b), and to the advisory committees and councils for professions specified in RCW 18.130.040(2)(a).

Sec. 6. RCW 18.130.160 and 2001 c 195 s 1 are each amended to read as follows:

Upon a finding, after hearing, that a license holder or applicant has committed unprofessional conduct or is unable to practice with reasonable skill and safety due to a physical or mental condition, the disciplining authority may issue an order providing for one or any combination of the following, in accordance with the schedule adopted by the secretary in section 2 of this act:

- (1) Revocation of the license;
- (2) Suspension of the license for a fixed or indefinite term;
- (3) Restriction or limitation of the practice;
- (4) Requiring the satisfactory completion of a specific program of remedial education or treatment;
- (5) The monitoring of the practice by a supervisor approved by the disciplining authority;
- (6) Censure or reprimand;
- (7) Compliance with conditions of probation for a designated period of time;
- (8) Payment of a fine for each violation of this chapter, not to exceed five thousand dollars per violation. Funds received shall be placed in the health professions account;
- (9) Denial of the license request;
- (10) Corrective action;
- (11) Refund of fees billed to and collected from the consumer;
- (12) A surrender of the practitioner's license in lieu of other sanctions, which must be reported to the federal data bank.

Any of the actions under this section may be totally or partly stayed by the disciplining authority. In determining what action is appropriate, the disciplining authority must consider the schedule adopted by the secretary in section 2 of this act. Where the schedule allows flexibility in determining the appropriate sanction, the disciplining authority must first consider what sanctions are necessary to protect or compensate the public. Only after such provisions have been made may the disciplining authority consider and include in the order requirements designed to rehabilitate the license holder or applicant. All costs associated with compliance with orders issued under this section are the obligation of the license holder or applicant.

The licensee or applicant may enter into a stipulated disposition of charges that includes one or more of the sanctions of this section, but only after a statement of charges has been issued and the licensee has been afforded the opportunity for a hearing and has elected on the record to forego such a hearing. The stipulation shall either contain one or more specific findings of unprofessional conduct or inability to practice, or a statement by the licensee acknowledging that evidence is sufficient to justify one or more specified findings of unprofessional conduct or inability to practice. The stipulation entered into pursuant to this subsection shall be considered formal disciplinary action for all purposes."

(1)(a) An insurer offering any health benefit plan to a small employer, either directly or through an association or member-governed group formed specifically for the purpose of purchasing health care, may offer and actively market to the small employer a health benefit plan featuring a limited schedule of covered health care services. Nothing in this subsection shall preclude an insurer from offering, or a small employer from purchasing, other health benefit plans that may have more comprehensive benefits than those included in the product offered under this subsection. An insurer offering a health benefit plan under this subsection shall clearly disclose all covered benefits to the small employer in a brochure filed with the commissioner.

(b) A health benefit plan offered under this subsection shall provide coverage for hospital expenses and services rendered by a physician licensed under chapter 18.57 or 18.71 RCW but is not subject to the requirements of RCW 48.21.130, 48.21.140, 48.21.141, 48.21.142, 48.21.144, 48.21.146, 48.21.160 through 48.21.197, 48.21.200, 48.21.220, 48.21.225, 48.21.230, 48.21.235, 48.21.240, 48.21.244, 48.21.250, 48.21.300, 48.21.310, or 48.21.320.

(2) Nothing in this section shall prohibit an insurer from offering, or a purchaser from seeking, health benefit plans with benefits in excess of the health benefit plan offered under subsection (1) of this section. All forms, policies, and contracts shall be submitted for approval to the commissioner, and the rates of any plan offered under this section shall be reasonable in relation to the benefits thereto.

(3) Premium rates for health benefit plans for small employers as defined in this section shall be subject to the following provisions:

(iii) Age; and

(iv) Wellness activities.

(b) The adjustment for age in (a)(iii) of this subsection may not use age brackets smaller than five-year increments, which shall begin with age twenty and end with age sixty-five. Employees under the age of twenty shall be treated as those age twenty.

(c) The insurer shall be permitted to develop separate rates for individuals age sixty-five or older for coverage for which medicare is the primary payer and coverage for which medicare is not the primary payer. Both rates shall be subject to the requirements of this subsection (3).

(d) The permitted rates for any age group shall be no more than four hundred twenty-five percent of the lowest rate for all age groups on January 1, 1996, four hundred percent on January 1, 1997, and three hundred seventy-five percent on January 1, 2000, and thereafter.

(g) Rating factors shall produce premiums for identical groups that differ only by the amounts attributable to plan design, with the exception of discounts for health improvement programs.

(h) For the purposes of this section, a health benefit plan that contains a restricted network provision shall not be considered similar coverage to a health benefit plan that does not contain such a provision, provided that the restrictions of benefits to network providers result in substantial differences in claims costs. A carrier may develop its rates based on claims costs due to network provider reimbursement schedules or type of network. This subsection does not restrict or enhance the portability of benefits as provided in RCW 48.43.015.

(i) Adjusted community rates established under this section shall pool the medical experience of all small groups purchasing coverage. (b) An insurer shall not require a minimum participation level greater than:

(i) One hundred percent of eligible employees working for groups with three or less employees; and

(ii) Seventy-five percent of eligible employees working for groups with more than three employees.

(c) In applying minimum participation requirements with respect to a small employer, a small employer shall not consider employees or dependents who have similar existing coverage in determining whether the applicable percentage of participation is met.

(d) An insurer may not increase any requirement for minimum employee participation or modify any requirement for minimum employer contribution applicable to a small employer at any time after the small employer has been accepted for coverage.

~~((6))~~ (7) An insurer must offer coverage to all eligible employees of a small employer and their dependents. POINT OF ORDER

Representative Hunt requested a scope and object ruling on the amendment (720) to Second Substitute House Bill No. 2572.

SPEAKER'S RULING

Mr. Speaker (Representative Lovick presiding): "Second Substitute House Bill No. 2572 is an act relating to "establishment of the small employer health insurance partnership program." The bill creates a new chapter in Title 70 RCW and establishes a premium assistance program for small business through the Health Care Authority. The bill does not make any changes to the insurance code in Title 48.

Amendment (720) changes insurance regulations for carriers participating in the small group market and amends the insurance code in Title 48.

The amendment is unrelated to the establishment of a premium assistance program for small business through the Health Care Authority, and is therefore, beyond the scope and object of the bill.

Representative Hunt, your point of order is well taken."

Representative Bailey moved the adoption of amendment (721):

On page 5, after line 21, insert the following:

Nothing in this subsection shall preclude an insurer from offering, or a small employer from purchasing, other health benefit plans that may have more comprehensive benefits than those included in the product offered under this subsection. An insurer offering a health benefit plan under this subsection shall clearly disclose all covered benefits to the small employer in a brochure filed with the commissioner.

(b) A health benefit plan offered under this subsection shall provide coverage for hospital expenses and services rendered by a physician licensed under chapter 18.57 or 18.71 RCW but is not subject to the requirements of RCW 48.21.130, 48.21.140, 48.21.141, 48.21.142, 48.21.144, 48.21.146, 48.21.160 through 48.21.197, 48.21.200, 48.21.220, 48.21.225, 48.21.230, 48.21.235, 48.21.240, 48.21.244, 48.21.250, 48.21.300, 48.21.310, or 48.21.320.

(2) Nothing in this section shall prohibit an insurer from offering, or a purchaser from seeking, health benefit plans with benefits in excess of the health benefit plan offered under subsection (1) of this section. All forms, policies, and contracts shall be submitted for approval to the commissioner, and the rates of any plan offered under this section shall be reasonable in relation to the benefits thereto.

(3) Premium rates for health benefit plans for small employers as defined in this section shall be subject to the following provisions:

(a) The insurer shall develop its rates based on an adjusted community rate and may only vary the adjusted community rate for:

- (i) Geographic area;
- (ii) Family size;
- (iii) Age; and
- (iv) Wellness activities.

(b) The adjustment for age in (a)(iii) of this subsection may not use age brackets smaller than five-year increments, which shall begin with age twenty and end with age sixty-five. Employees under the age of twenty shall be treated as those age twenty.

(c) The insurer shall be permitted to develop separate rates for individuals age sixty-five or older for coverage for which medicare is the primary payer and coverage for which medicare is not the primary payer. Both rates shall be subject to the requirements of this subsection (3).

(d) The permitted rates for any age group shall be no more than four hundred twenty-five percent of the lowest rate for all age groups on January 1, 1996, four hundred percent on January 1, 1997, and three hundred seventy-five percent on January 1, 2000, and thereafter.

(e) A discount for wellness activities shall be permitted to reflect actuarially justified differences in utilization or cost attributed to such programs.

(f) The rate charged for a health benefit plan offered under this section may not be adjusted more frequently than annually except that the premium may be changed to reflect:

- (i) Changes to the enrollment of the small employer;
- (ii) Changes to the family composition of the employee;
- (iii) Changes to the health benefit plan requested by the small employer; or
- (iv) Changes in government requirements affecting the health benefit plan.

(g) Rating factors shall produce premiums for identical groups that differ only by the amounts attributable to plan design, with the exception of discounts for health improvement programs.

(h) For the purposes of this section, a health benefit plan that contains a restricted network provision shall not be considered similar coverage to a health benefit plan that does not contain such a provision, provided that the restrictions of benefits to network providers result in substantial differences in claims costs. A carrier may develop its rates based on claims costs (~~due to network provider reimbursement schedules or type of network~~) for a plan. This subsection does not restrict or enhance the portability of benefits as provided in RCW 48.43.015.

(i) Except for small group health benefit plans that qualify as insurance coverage combined with a health savings account as defined by the United States internal revenue service, adjusted community rates established under this section shall pool the medical experience of all small groups purchasing coverage. However, annual rate adjustments for each small group health benefit plan may vary by up to plus or minus four percentage points from the overall adjustment of a carrier's entire small group pool, such overall adjustment to be approved by the commissioner, upon a showing by the carrier, certified by a member of the American academy of actuaries that: (i) The variation is a result of deductible leverage, benefit design, or provider network characteristics; and (ii) for a rate renewal period, the projected weighted average of all small group benefit plans will have a revenue neutral effect on the carrier's small group pool. Variations of greater than four percentage points are subject to review by the commissioner, and must be approved or denied within sixty days of submittal. A variation that is not denied within sixty days shall be deemed approved. The commissioner must provide to the carrier a detailed actuarial justification for any denial (within thirty days of the denial).

(4) Nothing in this section shall restrict the right of employees to collectively bargain for insurance providing benefits in excess of those provided herein.

(5)(a) Except as provided in this subsection, requirements used by an insurer in determining whether to provide coverage to a small employer shall be applied uniformly among all small employers applying for coverage or receiving coverage from the carrier.

(b) An insurer shall not require a minimum participation level greater than:

- (i) One hundred percent of eligible employees working for groups with three or less employees; and
- (ii) Seventy-five percent of eligible employees working for groups with more than three employees.

(c) In applying minimum participation requirements with respect to a small employer, a small employer shall not consider employees or dependents who have similar existing coverage in determining whether the applicable percentage of participation is met.

(d) An insurer may not increase any requirement for minimum employee participation or modify any requirement for minimum employer contribution applicable to a small employer at any time after the small employer has been accepted for coverage.

(6) An insurer must offer coverage to all eligible employees of a small employer and their dependents. An insurer may not offer coverage to only certain individuals or dependents in a small employer group or to only part of the group. An insurer may not modify a health plan with respect to a small employer or any eligible employee or dependent, through riders, endorsements or otherwise, to restrict or exclude coverage or benefits for specific diseases, medical conditions, or services otherwise covered by the plan.

(7) As used in this section, "health benefit plan," "small employer," "adjusted community rate," and "wellness activities" mean the same as defined in RCW 48.43.005.

(f) The rate charged for a health benefit plan offered under this section may not be adjusted more frequently than annually except that the premium may be changed to reflect:

- (i) Changes to the enrollment of the small employer;

(g) Rating factors shall produce premiums for identical groups that differ only by the amounts attributable to plan design, with the exception of discounts for health improvement programs.

(h) For the purposes of this section, a health benefit plan that contains a restricted network provision shall not be considered similar coverage to a health benefit plan that does not contain such a provision, provided that the restrictions of benefits to network providers result in substantial differences in claims costs. A variation that is not denied within sixty days shall be deemed approved. The commissioner must provide to the carrier a detailed actuarial justification for any denial within thirty days of the denial.

(4) Nothing in this section shall restrict the right of employees to collectively bargain for insurance providing benefits in excess of those provided herein.

(5)(a) Except as provided in this subsection, requirements used by a contractor in determining whether to provide coverage to a small employer shall be applied uniformly among all small employers applying for coverage or receiving coverage from the carrier.

(b) A contractor shall not require a minimum participation level greater than:

- (i) One hundred percent of eligible employees working for groups with three or less employees; and
- (ii) Seventy-five percent of eligible employees working for groups with more than three employees.

(c) In applying minimum participation requirements with respect to a small employer, a small employer shall not consider employees or dependents who have similar existing coverage in determining whether the applicable percentage of participation is met.

(d) A contractor may not increase any requirement for minimum employee participation or modify any requirement for minimum employer contribution applicable to a small employer at any time after the small employer has been accepted for coverage.

(6) A contractor must offer coverage to all eligible employees of a small employer and their dependents. A contractor may not offer coverage to only certain individuals or dependents in a small employer group or to only part of the group. A contractor may not modify a health plan with respect to a small employer or any eligible employee or dependent, through riders, endorsements or otherwise, to restrict or exclude coverage or benefits for specific diseases, medical conditions, or services otherwise covered by the plan.

POINT OF ORDER

Representative Hunt requested a scope and object ruling on the amendment (721) to Second Substitute House Bill No. 2572.

SPEAKER'S RULING

Mr. Speaker (Representative Lovick presiding): "Second Substitute House Bill No. 2572 is an act relating to "establishment of the small employer health insurance partnership program." The bill creates a new chapter in Title 70 RCW and establishes a premium assistance program for small business through the Health Care Authority. The bill does not make any changes to the insurance code in Title 48.

Amendment (721) changes insurance regulations for carriers participating in the small group market and amends the insurance code in Title 48.

The amendment is unrelated to the establishment of a premium assistance program for small business through the Health Care Authority, and is therefore, beyond the scope and object of the bill.

Representative Hunt, your point of order is well taken."

Representative Bailey moved the adoption of amendment (722):

- (iv) Wellness activities.

(b) The adjustment for age in (a)(iii) of this subsection may not use age brackets smaller than five-year increments, which shall begin with age twenty and end with age sixty-five. Employees under the age of twenty shall be treated as those age twenty.

(c) The contractor shall be permitted to develop separate rates for individuals age sixty-five or older for coverage for which medicare is the primary payer and coverage for which medicare is not the primary payer. Both rates shall be subject to the requirements of this subsection ~~((3))~~ (4).

(d) The permitted rates for any age group shall be no more than four hundred twenty-five percent of the lowest rate for all age groups on January 1, 1996, four hundred percent on January 1, 1997, and three hundred seventy-five percent on January 1, 2000, and thereafter.

(e) A discount for wellness activities shall be permitted to reflect actuarially justified differences in utilization or cost attributed to such programs.

(f) The rate charged for a health benefit plan offered under this section may not be adjusted more frequently than annually except that the premium may be changed to reflect:

- (i) Changes to the enrollment of the small employer;
- (ii) Changes to the family composition of the employee;
- (iii) Changes to the health benefit plan requested by the small employer; or
- (iv) Changes in government requirements affecting the health benefit plan.

(g) Rating factors shall produce premiums for identical groups that differ only by the amounts attributable to plan design, with the exception of discounts for health improvement programs.

(h) For the purposes of this section, a health benefit plan that contains a restricted network provision shall not be considered similar coverage to a health benefit plan that does not contain such a provision, provided that the restrictions of benefits to network providers result in substantial differences in claims costs. A carrier may develop its rates based on claims costs due to network provider reimbursement schedules or type of network. This subsection does not restrict or enhance the portability of benefits as provided in RCW 48.43.015.

(i) Adjusted community rates established under this section shall pool the medical experience of all groups purchasing coverage. However, annual rate adjustments for each small group health benefit plan may vary by up to plus or minus four percentage points from the overall adjustment of a carrier's entire small group pool, such overall adjustment to be approved by the commissioner, upon a showing by the carrier, certified by a member of the American academy of actuaries that: (i) The variation is a result of deductible leverage, benefit design, or provider network characteristics; and (ii) for a rate renewal period, the projected weighted average of all small group benefit plans will have a revenue neutral effect on the carrier's small group pool. Variations of greater than four percentage points are subject to review by the commissioner, and must be approved or denied within sixty days of submittal. A variation that is not denied within sixty days shall be deemed approved. The commissioner must provide to the carrier a detailed actuarial justification for any denial within thirty days of the denial.

~~((4))~~ (5) Nothing in this section shall restrict the right of employees to collectively bargain for insurance providing benefits in excess of those provided herein.

~~((5))~~ (6)(a) Except as provided in this subsection, requirements used by a contractor in determining whether to provide coverage to a small employer shall be applied uniformly among all small employers applying for coverage or receiving coverage from the carrier.

(b) A contractor shall not require a minimum participation level greater than:

- (i) One hundred percent of eligible employees working for groups with three or less employees; and
- (ii) Seventy-five percent of eligible employees working for groups with more than three employees.

(c) In applying minimum participation requirements with respect to a small employer, a small employer shall not consider employees or dependents who have similar existing coverage in determining whether the applicable percentage of participation is met.

(d) A contractor may not increase any requirement for minimum employee participation or modify any requirement for minimum employer contribution applicable to a small employer at any time after the small employer has been accepted for coverage.

~~((6))~~ (7) A contractor must offer coverage to all eligible employees of a small employer and their dependents. A contractor may not offer coverage to only certain individuals or dependents in a small employer group or to only part of the group. A contractor may not modify a health plan with respect to a small employer or any eligible employee or dependent, through riders, endorsements or otherwise, to restrict or exclude coverage or benefits for specific diseases, medical conditions, or services otherwise covered by the plan.

Sec. 14. RCW 48.46.066 and 2004 c 244 s 9 are each amended to read as follows:

~~(1)((a))~~ A health maintenance organization offering any health benefit plan to a small employer, either directly or through an association or member-governed group formed specifically for the purpose of purchasing health care, may offer and actively market to the small employer ~~((a))~~ no more than one health benefit plan featuring a limited schedule of covered health care services. ~~((Nothing in this subsection shall preclude a health maintenance organization from offering, or a small employer from purchasing, other health benefit plans that may have more comprehensive benefits than those included in the product offered under this subsection. All forms, policies, and contracts shall be submitted for approval to the commissioner, and the rates of any plan offered under this section shall be reasonable in relation to the benefits thereto.

~~((3))~~ (4) Premium rates for health benefit plans for small employers as defined in this section shall be subject to the following provisions:

POINT OF ORDER

Representative Hunt requested a scope and object ruling on the amendment (722) to Second Substitute House Bill No. 2572.

SPEAKER'S RULING

Mr. Speaker (Representative Lovick presiding): "Second Substitute House Bill No. 2572 is an act relating to "establishment of the small employer health insurance partnership program." The bill creates a new chapter in Title 70 RCW and establishes a premium assistance program for small business through the Health Care Authority. The bill does not make any changes to the insurance code in Title 48.

Amendment 722 changes insurance regulations for carriers participating in the small group market and amends the insurance code in Title 48.

The amendment is unrelated to the establishment of a premium assistance program for small business through the Health Care Authority, and is therefore, beyond the scope and object of the bill.

Representative Hunt, your point of order is well taken."

Representative Bailey moved the adoption of amendment (727):

On page 5, after line 21, insert the following:

"NEW SECTION. Sec. 12. The legislature finds and declares that there has been an ongoing controversy over the costs and benefits of existing health care coverage statutory requirements and their effect on health care insurance costs. It is for this reason that an unbiased, independent actuarial study of existing health care coverage statutory requirements needs to be conducted. It is not the intent of the legislature to take any actions in relation to the findings of the study until they can be reviewed and analyzed by the legislature, in consultation with the office of the insurance commissioner, health care providers, health carriers, and health care purchasers.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 13. The office of the insurance commissioner shall contract for an actuarial review and analysis of existing health care coverage statutory requirements. The office of the insurance commissioner shall:

(1) Contract with a qualified independent and impartial entity that has not taken a public position in the past on the merits or consequences of the adoption of health care coverage statutory requirements;

(2) Provide that the review of health care coverage statutory requirements include statutes that:

(a) Mandate that health carriers provide benefits for certain conditions or services;

(b) Prohibit discrimination between health care provider groups who deliver services that are included in a health benefit plan;

(c) Establish requirements as to how a particular service or benefit must be provided by a health carrier in its health benefit plans; and

(d) Require health carriers to offer certain services as an option for individuals or groups purchasing a health benefit plan;

(3) Include the following analyses in the scope of the actuarial review:

(a) The cost of including the statutory requirements in health benefit plans, taking into consideration the impact that covering the statutory requirement has on the utilization of other health services, expressed as a net premium cost or savings per member per month; and

(b) An assessment of whether market demand has already resulted in inclusion of current statutory requirements in a significant number of health benefit plans in states that do not have such statutory requirements; and

(4) Submit an interim report to the governor and appropriate committees of the legislature by December 1, 2005, and a final report by December 1, 2006."

Correct the title.

"Sec. 1. RCW 41.05.006 and 1988 c 107 s 2 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) The legislature recognizes that (a) the state is a major purchaser of health care services, (b) the increasing costs of such health care services are posing and will continue to pose a great financial burden on the state, (c) it is the state's policy, consistent with the best interests of the state, to provide comprehensive health care as an employer, to state employees and officials and their dependents and to those who are dependent on the state for necessary medical care, and (d) it is imperative that the state begin to develop effective and efficient health care delivery systems and strategies for procuring health care services in order for the state to continue to purchase the most comprehensive health care possible.

(2) It is therefore the purpose of this chapter to establish the Washington state health care authority whose purpose shall be to (a) develop health care benefit programs that provide access to at least one comprehensive benefit plan funded to the fullest extent possible by the employer, ~~((that provide comprehensive health care))~~ and a health savings account/high deductible health plan option as defined in section 1201 of the medicare prescription drug improvement and modernization act of 2003, as amended, for eligible state employees, officials, and their dependents, and (b) study all state-purchased health care, alternative health care delivery systems, and strategies for the procurement of health care services and make recommendations aimed at minimizing the financial burden which health care poses on the state, its employees, and its charges, while at the same time allowing the state to provide the most comprehensive health care options possible.

Sec. 2. RCW 41.05.065 and 2005 c 518 s 920 and 2005 c 195 s 1 are each reenacted and amended to read as follows:

(1) The board shall study all matters connected with the provision of health care coverage, life insurance, liability insurance, accidental death and dismemberment insurance, and disability income insurance or any of, or a combination of, the enumerated types of insurance for employees and their dependents on the best basis possible with relation both to the welfare of the employees and to the state. However, liability insurance shall not be made available to dependents.

(2) The board shall develop employee benefit plans that include comprehensive health care benefits for all employees. In developing these plans, the board shall consider the following elements:

(a) Methods of maximizing cost containment while ensuring access to quality health care;

(b) Development of provider arrangements that encourage cost containment and ensure access to quality care, including but not limited to prepaid delivery systems and prospective payment methods;

(c) Wellness incentives that focus on proven strategies, such as smoking cessation, injury and accident prevention, reduction of alcohol misuse, appropriate weight reduction, exercise, automobile and motorcycle safety, blood cholesterol reduction, and nutrition education;

(d) Utilization review procedures including, but not limited to a cost-efficient method for prior authorization of services, hospital inpatient length of stay review, requirements for use of outpatient surgeries and second opinions for surgeries, review of invoices or claims submitted by service providers, and performance audit of providers;

(e) Effective coordination of benefits;

(f) Minimum standards for insuring entities; and

(g) Minimum scope and content of public employee benefit plans to be offered to enrollees participating in the employee health care benefits, employee eligibility criteria related to the number of hours worked and the benefits provided to employees shall be substantially equivalent to the state employees' health benefits plan and eligibility criteria in effect on January 1, 1993. Nothing in this subsection (2)(g) shall prohibit changes or increases in employee point-of-service payments or employee premium payments for benefits or the administration of a high deductible health plan in conjunction with a health savings account.

(3) The board shall design benefits and determine the terms and conditions of employee and retired employee participation and coverage, including establishment of eligibility criteria. The same terms and conditions of participation and coverage, including eligibility criteria, shall apply to state employees and to school district employees and educational service district employees.

(4) The board may authorize premium contributions for an employee and the employee's dependents in a manner that encourages the use of cost-efficient managed health care systems. During the 2005-2007 fiscal biennium, the board may only authorize premium contributions for an employee and the employee's dependents that are the same, regardless of an employee's status as represented or nonrepresented by a collective bargaining unit under the personnel system reform act of 2002. The board shall require participating school district and educational service district employees to pay at least the same employee premiums by plan and family size as state employees pay.

(5) The board shall develop a health savings account option for employees that conform to section 223, Part VII of subchapter B of chapter 1 of the internal revenue code of 1986. The board shall comply with all applicable federal standards related to the establishment of health savings accounts.

(6) Notwithstanding any other provision of this chapter, the board shall develop a high deductible health plan to be offered in conjunction with a health savings account developed under subsection (5) of this section.

(7) Employees shall choose participation in one of the health care benefit plans developed by the board and may be permitted to waive coverage under terms and conditions established by the board.

~~((6))~~ (8) The board shall review plans proposed by insuring entities that desire to offer property insurance and/or accident and casualty insurance to state employees through payroll deduction. The board may approve any such plan for payroll deduction by insuring entities holding a valid certificate of authority in the state of Washington and which the board determines to be in the best interests of employees and the state. The board shall promulgate rules setting forth criteria by which it shall evaluate the plans.

~~((7))~~ (9) Before January 1, 1998, the public employees' benefits board shall make available one or more fully insured long-term care insurance plans that comply with the requirements of chapter 48.84 RCW. Such programs shall be made available to eligible employees, retired employees, and retired school employees as well as eligible dependents which, for the purpose of this section, includes the parents of the employee or retiree and the parents of the spouse of the employee or retiree. Employees of local governments and employees of political subdivisions not otherwise enrolled in the public employees' benefits board sponsored medical programs may enroll under terms and conditions established by the administrator, if it does not jeopardize the financial viability of the public employees' benefits board's long-term care offering.

(a) Participation of eligible employees or retired employees and retired school employees in any long-term care insurance plan made available by the public employees' benefits board is voluntary and shall not be subject to binding arbitration under chapter 41.56 RCW. Participation is subject to reasonable underwriting guidelines and eligibility rules established by the public employees' benefits board and the health care authority.

(b) The employee, retired employee, and retired school employee are solely responsible for the payment of the premium rates developed by the health care authority. The health care authority is authorized to charge a reasonable administrative fee in addition to the premium charged by the long-term care insurer, which shall include the health care authority's cost of administration, marketing, and consumer education materials prepared by the health care authority and the office of the insurance commissioner.

(c) To the extent administratively possible, the state shall establish an automatic payroll or pension deduction system for the payment of the long-term care insurance premiums.

(d) The public employees' benefits board and the health care authority shall establish a technical advisory committee to provide advice in the development of the benefit design and establishment of underwriting guidelines and eligibility rules. The committee shall also advise the board and authority on effective and cost-effective ways to market and distribute the long-term care product. The technical advisory committee shall be comprised, at a minimum, of representatives of the office of the insurance commissioner, providers of long-term care services, licensed insurance agents with expertise in long-term care insurance, employees, retired employees, retired school employees, and other interested parties determined to be appropriate by the board.

(e) The health care authority shall offer employees, retired employees, and retired school employees the option of purchasing long-term care insurance through licensed agents or brokers appointed by the long-term care insurer. The authority, in consultation with the public employees' benefits board, shall establish marketing procedures and may consider all premium components as a part of the contract negotiations with the long-term care insurer.

(f) In developing the long-term care insurance benefit designs, the public employees' benefits board shall include an alternative plan of care benefit, including adult day services, as approved by the office of the insurance commissioner.

(g) The health care authority, with the cooperation of the office of the insurance commissioner, shall develop a consumer education program for the eligible employees, retired employees, and retired school employees designed to provide education on the potential need for long-term care, methods of financing long-term care, and the availability of long-term care insurance products including the products offered by the board.

(h) By December 1998, the health care authority, in consultation with the public employees' benefits board, shall submit a report to the appropriate committees of the legislature, including an analysis of the marketing and distribution of the long-term care insurance provided under this section."

SUBSTITUTE HOUSE BILL NO. 1010 was read the second time.

Representative Morris moved the adoption of amendment (736):

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

"NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. It is the intent of the legislature to establish a goal of encouraging the construction and development of new energy resources in the state of Washington to meet increasing demand for affordable and reliable electricity. Since electricity supply may lag behind electricity demand, the result may be a sharp increase in electricity prices. The legislature finds that it is desirable to shorten the time it takes to bring new electricity generation to market. The legislature also recognizes the resulting infrastructure to get new electricity generation to market may not be available, which may also lead to more expensive electricity prices. The legislature intends that information obtained from integrated resource planning under this chapter will be used to assist in identifying and developing new energy generation and related infrastructure to meet growing electricity demand.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. The definitions in this section apply throughout this chapter unless the context clearly requires otherwise.

(1) "Commission" means the Washington state utilities and transportation commission.

(2) "Consumer-owned utility" includes a municipal electric utility formed under Title 35 RCW, a public utility district formed under Title 54 RCW, an irrigation district formed under chapter 87.03 RCW, a cooperative formed under chapter 23.86 RCW, a mutual corporation or association formed under chapter 24.06 RCW, that is engaged in the business of distributing electricity to one or more retail electric customers in the state.

(3) "Department" means the department of community, trade, and economic development.

(4) "Electric utility" means a consumer-owned or investor-owned utility.

(5) "Governing body" means the board of directors, city council, commissioners, or board of any consumer-owned utility.

(6) "Integrated resource plan" means a plan describing the mix of generating resources and improvements in the efficient generation, transmission, distribution, and use of electricity that will meet current and future needs at the lowest reasonable cost to the utility and its ratepayers and that complies with the requirements specified in Section 3(1).

(7) "Resource plan" means a plan that estimates electricity loads and resources over a defined period of time and complies with the requirements in Section 3(2).

(8) "Plan" means either an integrated resource plan or a resource plan.

(9) "Investor-owned utility" means a corporation owned by investors that meets the definition of electrical company in RCW 80.04.010 and is engaged in distributing electricity to more than one retail electric customer in the state.

(10) "Renewable energy" means resources whose common characteristic is that they are nondepletable or are naturally replenishable existing or emerging nonfossil fuel energy sources or technologies, and shall include but not be limited to the following:

(a) Solar photovoltaic or solar thermal electric energy;

(b) wind energy;

(c) ocean thermal, wave, or tidal energy;

(d) fuel cells;

(e) landfill gas;

(f) incremental gains in energy production from capital and operational improvements in hydroelectric generating facilities;

(g) run of river hydropower generation;

(h) hydroelectric generation that does not impede the flow in naturally flowing water;

(i) advanced biomass power conversion technologies, such as gasification using such biomass fuels as wood, agricultural, or food wastes, energy crops, biogas, biodiesel, or organic refuse-derived fuel;

(j) biomass energy using animal waste, solid organic fuels from wood, forest, or field residues, dedicated energy crops that do not include wood pieces that have been treated with chemical preservatives such as creosote, pentachlorophenol or copper chrome arsenic; and

(k) lignin in spent pulping liquors.

(l) The following technologies or fuels shall not be considered renewable energy supplies: Coal, oil, nuclear power, or fuel gases, excluding fuel gases that are used in a combined heat and power plant designed to produce both heat and electricity from a single heat source.

(11) "Full requirements customer" means an electric utility that relies on the Bonneville power administration for all power needed to supply its total load requirement other than that served by nondispatchable generating resources totaling no more than six megawatts or renewable resources.

(12) "Lowest reasonable cost" means the lowest cost mix of resources determined through a detailed and consistent analysis of a wide range of commercially available sources. At a minimum, this analysis must consider resource cost, market-volatility risks, demand-side resource uncertainties, resource dispatchability, resource effect on system operation, the risks imposed on ratepayers, public policies regarding resource preference adopted by Washington state or the federal government and the cost of risks associated with environmental effects including emissions of carbon dioxide.

(13) "Conservation" means any reduction in electric power consumption that results from increases in the efficiency of energy use, production, or delivery.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. (1) Except as otherwise provided under this section, utilities with more than 25,000 customers that are not full-requirements customers must develop an integrated resource plan consistent with the provisions of this section by July 31, 2007. Such a plan, at a minimum, must include:

- (a) A range of forecasts of future customer demand using methods that examine the effect of economic forces on the consumption of electricity and that address changes in the number, type, and efficiency of electrical end-uses;
 - (b) An assessment of technically feasible and commercially available efficiency improvements in the generation, delivery, and use of electricity, including load management and fuel switching, as well as currently employed and new policies and programs needed to obtain the efficiency improvements;
 - (c) An assessment of technically feasible and commercially available utility scale generating technologies including but not limited to renewable resources, cogeneration, power purchases, and thermal resources;
 - (d) An assessment of transmission system capability and reliability, to the extent such information can be provided consistent with applicable laws;
 - (e) An evaluation comparing the cost-effectiveness of generating resources with the cost-effectiveness of efficiency improvements in the delivery and use of electricity;
 - (f) The integration of the demand forecasts and resource evaluations into a long-range integrated resource plan describing the mix of resources and efficiency measures that will meet current and future needs at the lowest reasonable cost to the utility and ratepayers;
 - (g) A short-term plan outlining the specific actions to be taken by the utility consistent with the long-range integrated resource plan; and
 - (h) For all plans subsequent to the initial integrated resource plan, a progress report that relates the new plan to the previous plan.
- (2) All other utilities may elect to develop a full integrated resource plan as set forth in sub-section (1) or, at a minimum, shall develop by July 31, 2007, a resource plan that:
- (a) Estimates loads for the next 5 and 10 years;
 - (b) Enumerates the resources that will be maintained and/or acquired to serve those loads; and
 - (c) Explains why the resources in (b) were chosen and, if the resources chosen are not renewable resources or conservation, why such a decision was made.
- (3) In development of a resource plan under subsection (2), a utility may use data submitted to federal power marketing agencies that is equivalent to the data required in this subsection.
- (4) Plans developed under this section must be updated on a regular basis, at a minimum of intervals of three years.
- (5) Plans shall not be a basis to bring legal action against electric utilities.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4. (1) Investor-owned utilities shall submit integrated resource plans to the commission. The commission shall establish by rule the requirements for preparation and submission of integrated resource plans.

(2) The commission may adopt additional rules as necessary to clarify the requirements of section 3 of this act as they apply to investor-owned utilities.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 5. (1) Before conducting or contracting for work under this act, the governing body of each utility shall approve a work plan that includes public comment opportunities. Only after complying with its adopted work plan may a governing body approve a proposed plan. Upon approval of its governing board, each consumer-owned utility required to develop a plan shall publish a final plan either as part of an annual report or as a separate document available to the public.

(2) Each consumer owned utility required to develop a plan shall transmit a copy of its plan to the department by December 31, 2007, and transmit subsequent plans to the department at least every three years thereafter. The department shall develop, in consultation with utilities, a common cover sheet that summarizes the essential data in their plans.

(3) Consumer-owned utilities may develop plans jointly with other consumer-owned utilities. Data and assessments included in joint reports must be identifiable to each individual utility.

(4) Consumer-owned utilities are encouraged to use resource planning concepts, techniques and information provided to and by other state, regional, national and bi-national entities in developing their plans.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 6. The department shall review the plans of consumer and investor owned utilities and prepare an electronic report to the legislature that aggregates the data submitted by all utilities, summarizes at a state-wide level the resource choices and dates specified in the plans. The commission shall provide the department with data summarizing the plans of investor owned utilities for use in the department's statewide summary. Individual utility plans will be provided to the legislature. The report shall include a statewide summary of utility load forecasts, load/resource balance, and utility plans for the development of thermal generation, renewable resources, and efficiency resources. The department shall submit the initial report by June 30, 2008, and subsequent reports every three years thereafter. Where appropriate, the department may include reports required by this section within the biennial report required under RCW 43.21F.045.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 7. Sections 1 through 6 of this act constitute a new chapter in Title 19 RCW."

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

"Sec. 1. RCW 80.60.010 and 2000 c 158 s 1 are each amended to read as follows:

The definitions in this section apply throughout this chapter unless the context clearly indicates otherwise.

(1) "Commission" means the utilities and transportation commission.

(2) "Customer-generator" means a user of a net metering system.

(3) "Electrical company" means a company owned by investors that meets the definition of RCW 80.04.010.

(4) "Electric cooperative" means a cooperative or association organized under chapter 23.86 or 24.06 RCW.

(5) "Electric utility" means any electrical company, public utility district, irrigation district, port district, electric cooperative, or municipal electric utility that is engaged in the business of distributing electricity to retail electric customers in the state.

(6) "Irrigation district" means an irrigation district under chapter 87.03 RCW.

(7) "Municipal electric utility" means a city or town that owns or operates an electric utility authorized by chapter 35.92 RCW.

(8) "Net metering" means measuring the difference between the electricity supplied by an electric utility and the electricity generated by a customer-generator that is fed back to the electric utility over the applicable billing period.

(9) "Net metering system" means ~~((a fuel cell or))~~ a facility for the production of electrical energy that:

(a) Uses ~~((as its fuel either solar, wind, or hydropower))~~ renewable energy;

(b) Has a generating capacity of not more than ~~((twenty-five))~~ one hundred kilowatts;

(c) Is located on the customer-generator's premises;

(d) Operates in parallel with the electric utility's transmission and distribution facilities; and

(e) Is intended primarily to offset part or all of the customer-generator's requirements for electricity.

(10) "Port district" means a port district within which an industrial development district has been established as authorized by Title 53 RCW.

(11) "Public utility district" means a district authorized by chapter 54.04 RCW.

(12) "Renewable energy" means resources whose common characteristic is that they are nondepletable or are naturally replenishable existing or emerging nonfossil fuel energy sources or technologies, and shall include but not be limited to the following:

(a) Solar photovoltaic or solar thermal electric energy;

(b) Wind energy;

(c) Ocean thermal, wave, or tidal energy;

(d) Fuel cells;

(e) Landfill gas;

(f) Incremental gains in energy production from capital and operational improvements in hydroelectric generating facilities;

(g) Run of river hydropower generation;

(h) Hydroelectric generation that does not impede the flow in naturally flowing water;

(i) Advanced biomass power conversion technologies, such as gasification using such biomass fuels as wood, agricultural, or food wastes, energy crops, biogas, biodiesel, or organic refuse-derived fuel;

(j) Biomass energy using animal waste, solid organic fuels from wood, forest, or field residues, dedicated energy crops that do not include wood pieces that have been treated with chemical preservatives such as creosote, pentachlorophenol, or copper-chrome-arsenic; and

(k) Lignin in spent pulping liquors.

(l) The following technologies or fuels shall not be considered renewable energy supplies: Coal, oil, nuclear power, or fuel gases, excluding fuel gases that are used in a combined heat and power plant designed to produce both heat and electricity from a single heat source.

Sec. 2. RCW 80.60.020 and 2000 c 158 s 2 are each amended to read as follows:

An electric utility:

(1) Shall offer to make net metering available to eligible customers-generators on a first-come, first-served basis until the cumulative generating capacity of net metering systems equals ~~((0.1))~~ 0.25 percent of the utility's peak demand during 1996_ ((of which not less than 0.05 percent shall be attributable to net metering systems that use as its fuel either solar, wind, or hydropower)) If one or more utilities are found to be approaching the maximum cumulative generating capacity of net metering systems allowed under this subsection of this section, the legislature may review the generation threshold contained in this section for potential modification. On January 1, 2014 the cumulative generating capacity of net metering systems will equal 0.5 percent of the utility's peak demand during 1996;

(2) Shall allow net metering systems to be interconnected using a standard kilowatt-hour meter capable of registering the flow of electricity in two directions, unless the commission, in the case of an electrical company, or the appropriate governing body, in the case of other electric utilities, determines, after appropriate notice and opportunity for comment:

(a) That the use of additional metering equipment to monitor the flow of electricity in each direction is necessary and appropriate for the interconnection of net metering systems, after taking into account the benefits and costs of purchasing and installing additional metering equipment; and

(b) How the cost of purchasing and installing an additional meter is to be allocated between the customer-generator and the utility;

(3) Shall charge the customer-generator a minimum monthly fee that is the same as other customers of the electric utility in the same rate class, but shall not charge the customer-generator any additional standby, capacity, interconnection, or other fee or charge unless the commission, in the case of an electrical company, or the appropriate governing body, in the case of other electric utilities, determines, after appropriate notice and opportunity for comment that:

(a) The electric utility will incur direct costs associated with interconnecting or administering net metering systems that exceed any offsetting benefits associated with these systems; and

(b) Public policy is best served by imposing these costs on the customer-generator rather than allocating these costs among the utility's entire customer base.

Sec. 3. RCW 80.60.030 and 1998 c 318 s 4 are each amended to read as follows:

Consistent with the other provisions of this chapter, the net energy measurement must be calculated in the following manner:

(1) The electric utility shall measure the net electricity produced or consumed during the billing period, in accordance with normal metering practices.

(2) If the electricity supplied by the electric utility exceeds the electricity generated by the customer-generator and fed back to the electric utility during the billing period, the customer-generator shall be billed for the net electricity supplied by the electric utility, in accordance with normal metering practices.

(3) If electricity generated by the customer-generator exceeds the electricity supplied by the electric utility, the customer-generator:

(a) Shall be billed for the appropriate customer charges for that billing period, in accordance with RCW 80.60.020; and

(b) Shall be credited for the excess kilowatt-hours generated during the billing period, with this kilowatt-hour credit appearing on the bill for the following billing period.

~~(At the beginning)~~ On April 30th of each calendar year, any remaining unused kilowatt-hour credit accumulated during the previous year shall be granted to the electric utility, without any compensation to the customer-generator.

Sec. 4. RCW 80.60.040 and 2000 c 158 s 3 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) A net metering system used by a customer-generator shall include, at the customer-generator's own expense, all equipment necessary to meet applicable safety, power quality, and interconnection requirements established by the national electrical code, national electrical safety code, the institute of electrical and electronics engineers, and underwriters laboratories.

(2) The commission, in the case of an electrical company, or the appropriate governing body, in the case of other electric utilities, after appropriate notice and opportunity for comment, may adopt by regulation additional safety, power quality, and interconnection requirements for customer-generators, including limitations on the number of customer generators and total capacity of net metering systems that may be interconnected to any distribution feeder line, circuit or network that the commission or governing body determines are necessary to protect public safety and system reliability.

(3) An electric utility may not require a customer-generator whose net metering system meets the standards in subsections (1) and (2) of this section to comply with additional safety or performance standards, perform or pay for additional tests, or purchase additional liability insurance. However, an electric utility shall not be liable directly or indirectly for permitting or continuing to allow an attachment of a net metering system, or for the acts or omissions of the customer-generator that cause loss or injury, including death, to any third party."

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. A new section is added to chapter 82.32 RCW to read as follows:

(1) The legislature finds that accountability and effectiveness are important aspects of setting tax policy. In order to make policy choices regarding the best use of limited state resources, the legislature needs information on how a tax incentive is used.

(2)(a) A person who claims the tax credit under RCW 82.04.4333 shall file a complete annual survey with the department. The survey is due by March 31st following any year in which a person takes the credit under RCW 82.04.4333. The department may extend the due date for timely filing of annual surveys under this section as provided in RCW 82.32.590. The survey shall also include the following information for employment positions in Washington:

(ii) Full-time, part-time, and temporary employment positions as a percent of total employment;

(iii) The number of employment positions according to the following wage bands: Less than thirty thousand dollars; thirty thousand dollars or greater, but less than sixty thousand dollars; and sixty thousand dollars or greater. A wage band containing fewer than three individuals may be combined with another wage band;

(iv) The number of employment positions that have employer-provided medical, dental, and retirement benefits, by each of the wage bands;

(v) The number of people receiving qualified worker training;

(vi) The average cost of the qualified worker training;

(vii) The cost of the program administration; and

Information on the amount of the tax credit is not subject to the confidentiality provisions of RCW 82.32.330 and may be disclosed to the public upon request, except as provided in (d) of this subsection. If the amount of the tax credit as reported on the survey is different than the amount actually reduced based on the taxpayer's excise tax returns or otherwise allowed by the department, the amount actually reduced may be disclosed.

(d) Persons for whom the actual amount of the tax credit is less than ten thousand dollars during the period covered by the survey may request the department to treat the amount of the tax reduction as confidential under RCW 82.32.330.

(3) If a person fails to submit a complete annual survey under subsection (2) of this section by the due date or any extension under RCW 82.32.590, the department shall declare the amount of tax credit taken under RCW 82.04.4333 for the period covered by the survey to be immediately due and payable. (b) Five to ten employees;

(c) Eleven to twenty-five employees; and

(d) Twenty-six to forty-nine employees.

The department shall report these statistics to the legislature each year by September 1st.

The report shall measure the effect of the tax credit provided in RCW 82.04.4333 on job retention, net jobs created for Washington residents, company growth, diversification of the state's economy, cluster dynamics, and other factors as the committees select. The report shall include a discussion of principles to apply in evaluating whether the legislature should extend the tax credit provided in RCW 82.04.4333.

Sec. 3. RCW 82.32.590 and 2005 c 514 s 1001 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) If the department finds that the failure of a taxpayer to file an annual survey under RCW 82.04.4452 or 82.04.4333 by the due date was the result of circumstances beyond the control of the taxpayer, the department shall extend the time for filing the survey. Such extension shall be for a period of thirty days from the date the department issues its written notification to the taxpayer that it qualifies for an extension under this section. Mr. Speaker (Representative Lovick presiding): The title of Substitute House Bill No. 2738 is an act "relating to developing minimum renewable fuel content requirements and fuel quality standards." The bill amends the Motor Fuel Quality Act in chapter 19.112 RCW by establishing minimum fuel content requirements for biodiesel and ethanol, requiring the Department of Agriculture to adopt fuel quality standards for biodiesel and rules for ethanol and biodiesel, and establishing a Biofuels Advisory Committee.

Amendment (828) changes various taxes related to the development and production of biodiesel engines. It amends 82.04 and 82.08 RCW.

Changes to the tax code for the development and production of engines is completely unrelated to the bill's purpose of developing fuel content requirements and fuel quality standards.

The Speaker finds the amendment is beyond the scope and object of the bill.

Representative Hunt, your point of order is well taken."

Representative Holmquist moved the adoption of amendment (798):

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

"NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. The legislature finds that it is in the public interest to establish a market for alternative fuels in Washington. By requiring a growing percentage of our fuel supply to be renewable biofuel that meets appropriate fuel quality standards, we will reduce our dependence on imports of foreign oil, improve the health and quality of life for Washingtonians, and stimulate the creation of a new industry that benefits our farmers and rural communities.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. A new section is added to chapter 19.112 RCW to read as follows:

(1) Special fuel licensees under chapter 82.38 RCW, other than international fuel tax agreement licensees and special fuel distributors, shall provide evidence to the department of licensing that at least two percent of total annual diesel fuel sales are biodiesel fuel sales, when the director determines that feedstock grown in Washington state can satisfy a two-percent requirement, or the date November 30, 2008, has passed.

(2) Special fuel licensees under chapter 82.38 RCW, other than international fuel tax agreement licensees and special fuel distributors, shall provide evidence to the department of licensing that at least five percent of total annual diesel fuel sales are biodiesel fuel sales, when the director determines that both in-state oil seed crushing capacity and feedstock grown in Washington state can satisfy a three-percent requirement.

(3) For the purposes of this chapter, "biodiesel fuel" has the meaning provided in RCW 82.29A.135.

(4) The director and the director of licensing shall adopt rules for enforcing and carrying out the purposes of this section.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. A new section is added to chapter 19.112 RCW to read as follows:

(1) Beginning December 1, 2008, all gasoline sold or offered for sale in Washington shall contain at least two percent denatured ethanol by volume.

(2) If the director of ecology determines that ethanol content greater than two percent will not jeopardize continued attainment of the federal clean air act's national ambient air quality standard for ozone pollution in Washington and the director of agriculture determines that sufficient raw materials are available within Washington to support economical production of ethanol at higher levels, the director of agriculture may require by rule that all gasoline sold or offered for sale in Washington shall contain up to a maximum of ten percent of denatured ethanol by volume. The director of agriculture shall allow blenders and retailers six months to meet the new minimum content requirement.

(3) The director of agriculture shall adopt rules for enforcing and carrying out the purposes of this section.

Sec. 4. RCW 19.112.020 and 1990 c 102 s 3 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) This chapter shall be administered by the director or his or her authorized agent. ~~((For the purpose of administering this chapter;))~~

(2) The director shall adopt rules for maintaining standards for biodiesel fuel or fuel blended with biodiesel fuel by adopting all or part of the standards set forth in the Annual Book of ASTM Standards and supplements ((thereto, and revisions thereof, are adopted)), amendments, or revisions thereof, all or part of the standards set forth in the National Institute of Standards and Technology (NIST) Handbook 130, Uniform Laws and Regulations in the areas of legal metrology and engine fuel quality rules, and any supplements, amendments, or revisions thereof, together with applicable federal environmental protection agency standards. If a conflict exists between federal environmental protection agency standards, ASTM standards, or ~~((state))~~ NIST standards, for purposes of uniformity, federal environmental protection agency standards shall take precedence over ASTM and NIST standards. ((Any state standards adopted must be consistent with federal environmental protection agency standards and ASTM standards not in conflict with federal environmental protection agency standards.)) The department of agriculture shall not exceed ASTM standards for diesel.

(3) The director may establish a fuel testing laboratory or may contract with a laboratory for testing. The director may also adopt rules on false and misleading advertising, labeling and posting of prices, and the standards for, and identity of, motor fuels. The director shall require fuel pumps offering biodiesel and ethanol blends to be identified by a label stating the percentage of biodiesel or ethanol.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 5. A new section is added to chapter 19.112 RCW to read as follows:

The director shall establish a biofuels advisory committee to advise the director on implementing or suspending the minimum renewable fuel content requirements. The committee shall advise the director on applicability to all users; logistical, technical, and economic issues of implementation; and how the use of renewable fuel blends greater than two percent could achieve the goals of this act. The director shall make recommendations to the legislature and the governor on the implementation or suspension of this act by September 1, 2007.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 6. A new section is added to chapter 19.112 RCW to read as follows:

The governor, by executive order, may suspend all or portions of the minimum renewable fuel content requirements in section 2 or 3 of this act, or both, based on a determination that such requirements are temporarily technically or economically infeasible.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 7. A new section is added to chapter 19.112 RCW to read as follows:

(1) By November 30, 2008, the director shall determine whether the state's diesel fuel supply is comprised of at least ten percent biodiesel made predominantly from Washington feedstock, and whether the goals of section 2 of this act have been achieved.

(2) By November 30, 2008, the director shall determine whether the state's gasoline fuel supply is comprised of at least five percent ethanol made predominantly from Washington feedstock, without jeopardizing continued attainment of the federal clean air act's national ambient air quality standard for ozone pollution, and whether the goals of section 3 of this act have been achieved.

(3) By December 1, 2008, the director shall notify the governor and the legislature of the findings in subsections (1) and (2) of this section.

(4) If the findings from the director indicate that the goals of section 2 or 3 of this act, or both, have been achieved, then the governor shall issue an executive order declaring that section 2 or 3 of this act, or both, are no longer applicable."

Representatives Ericksen moved the adoption of amendment (804) to amendment (798):

On page 1, beginning on line 3 of the amendment, strike everything and insert the following:

"Sec. 1. RCW 43.19.642 and 2003 c 17 s 2 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) All state agencies are encouraged to use a fuel blend of twenty percent biodiesel and eighty percent petroleum diesel for use in diesel-powered vehicles and equipment. The department shall ensure that the fuel used is produced from feedstock grown in Washington state.

(2) Effective ~~((June))~~ July 1, 2006, for agencies complying with the ultra-low sulfur diesel mandate of the United States environmental protection agency for on-highway diesel fuel, agencies shall use biodiesel as an additive to ultra-low sulfur diesel for lubricity, except for vehicles engaged in fire suppression and life support activities (provided that the use of a lubricity additive is warranted and that the use of biodiesel is comparable in performance and cost with other available lubricity additives). The amount of biodiesel added to the ultra-low sulfur diesel fuel shall be not less than:

(a) two percent, if both in-state oil seed crushing capacity and feedstock grown, produced, and refined in Washington state can fully satisfy the two percent requirement;

(b) five percent, if feedstock grown, produced, and refined in Washington state can fully satisfy a five percent requirement;

(c) ten percent, if feedstock grown, produced, and refined in Washington state can fully satisfy a ten percent requirement; and

(d) twenty percent, if feedstock grown, produced, and refined in Washington state can fully satisfy a ten percent requirement.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. A new section is added to chapter 19.112 RCW to read as follows:

The director shall establish a biofuels advisory committee to advise the director on implementing or suspending the minimum renewable fuel content standards for state agencies. The committee shall advise the director on applicability to all users; logistical, technical and economic issues of implementation; and how the use of renewable fuel blends greater than two percent could achieve the goals of this act. The director shall make recommendations to the legislature and the governor on the implementation of this act by September 1, 2007.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. The office of financial management shall conduct a fiscal impact study of the cost impacts of this act on state government. The office shall report its findings to the relevant committees of the legislature by November 1st, 2006."

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. The legislature finds that it is in the public interest to encourage the rapid adoption and use of bioenergy, to develop a viable bioenergy industry within Washington state, and to support a viable agriculture industry to grow bioenergy crops. To accomplish this, the Washington bioenergy loan program is established to stimulate the construction of facilities in Washington to generate energy from farm sources or convert organic matter into fuels.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. The definitions in this section apply throughout this chapter unless the context clearly requires otherwise.

(1) "Department" means the department of community, trade, and economic development.

(2) "Director" means the director of the department of community, trade, and economic development.

(3) "Project" means the construction of facilities, including the purchase of equipment, to convert farm products or wastes into electricity or gaseous and liquid fuels. These specifically include facilities to generate electricity or methane from the anaerobic digestion of organic matter, and facilities for the extracting oils from canola, rape, mustard, and other oilseeds.

(4) "Political subdivision" means any port district, county, city, town, special purpose district, and any other municipal corporations or quasi-municipal corporations in the state.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. (1) An bioenergy loan program is established within the department. The director may only approve an application providing a loan to a political subdivision for a project that the director finds:

(a) Will convert farm products or wastes directly into electricity or into gaseous or liquid fuels;

(b) Demonstrates technical feasibility and probable business success;

(c) The facility produces long-term economic benefits to the state, a region of the state, or a particular community in the state;

(d) The project does not require continuing state support;

(e) The expenditure will result in new jobs, job retention, or higher incomes for citizens of the state; and

(f) The expenditure is accompanied by private investment.

(2) The director may not approve an application if it fails to provide for adequate reporting or disclosure of financial and employment data to the director. The director may require an annual or other periodic audit of the project books.

(3) The director may approve an application that results in a loan of up to five million dollars. In no circumstances shall a loan approved under this section constitute more than fifty percent of total project funding.

(4) The director shall fix the terms and rates of these loans to minimize the costs to the borrowers and to encourage establishment of a viable bioenergy industry. The interest rates for these loans must be one percent below the prime interest rate offered by private lending institutions.

(5) The director may defer loan repayment for up to twelve months or until the project starts to receive revenue from operations, whichever is sooner.

(6) The director is authorized to award grants to Washington public research institutions for the research and development of new and renewable energy and biofuel sources and markets for alternative fuel byproducts.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4. (1) The director may establish policies and procedures necessary for processing, reviewing, and approving loan applications made under this section.

(2) Each application must show in detail the nature of the project, the source of the feedstock, and the technologies that will be used. Each application submitted by a political subdivision must contain a credit analysis of any industry partner that the political subdivision may propose to partner with, and must include a detailed feasibility analysis and business plan.

(3) The director shall consult with those agencies having expertise and knowledge to assess the technical and business feasibility of the project and probability of success. These agencies may include, but are not limited to, Washington State University, the University of Washington, the department of ecology, the department of agriculture, and the Washington state conservation commission.

(4) If the total requested dollar amount of loans exceeds the amount available in the Washington bioenergy loan account created in section 5 of this act, the applications must be prioritized based upon the following criteria:

(a) The extent to which the project will help conserve energy and reduce dependence on petroleum fuels and imported energy either directly or indirectly;

(b) The extent to which the project will reduce air and water pollution either directly or indirectly;

(c) The extent to which the project will establish a viable bioenergy production capacity in Washington;

(d) The benefits to Washington's agriculture producers; and

(e) The number and quality of jobs and economic benefits created by the project.

(5) Upon receiving financial assistance, a political subdivision must enter into appropriate contracts with any industry partners that may be involved in the use of the facilities, infrastructure, or equipment.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 5. The Washington bioenergy loan account is created in the state treasury. All receipts from appropriations made to the account and loan payments of principal and interest derived from loans made under this chapter must be deposited into the account. Moneys in the account may be spent only after appropriation. Expenditures from the account may be used only for loans for projects consistent with this chapter. Administrative costs of the department may not exceed three percent of the annual funds available for this program.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 6. The director shall report to the legislature and governor on the status of the Washington bioenergy loan program created under this chapter, on or before December 1st of the years 2006, 2007, and 2009. This report must include information on the projects that have been funded, the status of these projects, and their environmental, energy savings, and job creation benefits.

COLLOQUY

Representative Fromhold: "Mr. Speaker, there was discussion in the Appropriations Committee about the potential cost of HB 2608 as originally introduced, and specially about its impact on the Volunteer Firefighters' and Reserve Officers' Relief and Pensions Fund, given the possible liability created by the bill and the actuarial status of the fund. With your permission, I'd like to ask the gentleman from the 18th District how that concern was addressed in the Appropriations Committee."

Representative Curtis: "House Bill No. 2608 was amended in the Appropriations Committee to tighten the definition of "performance of duty" or "performance of service" in the Volunteer Fire Fighters' and Reserve Officers' Relief and Pension System from "any participation in community or charitable events sanctioned by the chief or another officer" to "other officially assigned duties that are secondary to duties as a fire fighter, emergency worker, or reserve officer, including maintenance, public education, inspections, investigations, court testimony, and fund raising for the benefit of the department." Based on advice from the Board for Volunteer Firefighters, we believe this tightens that language sufficiently to minimize the risk of any significant exposure to the fund from this bill."

Representative Fromhold: "Mr. Speaker, if I may ask a follow-up question of the gentleman from the 18th - If, despite the amendment in the Appropriations Committee, the impact of the provisions of Substitute House Bill No. 2608 are found later to be greater than we anticipate based on present actuarial analysis, how would that contingency be addressed?"

Representative Curtis: "The Board of Volunteer Firefighters has indicated to members of the Appropriations Committee that in that contingency it would come to the Legislature to seek any adjustment to the funding of the system required to ensure the actuarial soundness of the system. It would be the intent of the Legislature to give due consideration to such a request."

"Sec. 12. RCW 36.70A.110 and 2004 c 206 s 1 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) Each county that is required or chooses to plan under RCW 36.70A.040 shall designate an urban growth area or areas within which urban growth shall be encouraged and outside of which growth can occur only if it is not urban in nature. Each city that is located in such a county shall be included within an urban growth area. An urban growth area may include more than a single city. An urban growth area may include territory that is located outside of a city only if such territory already is characterized by urban growth whether or not the urban growth area includes a city, or is adjacent to territory already characterized by urban growth, or is a designated new fully contained community as defined by RCW 36.70A.350.

(2) Based upon the growth management population projection made for the county by the office of financial management, the county and each city within the county shall include areas and densities sufficient to permit the urban growth that is projected to occur in the county or city for the succeeding twenty-year period, except for those urban growth areas contained totally within a national historical reserve.

Each urban growth area shall permit urban densities and shall include greenbelt and open space areas. In the case of urban growth areas contained totally within a national historical reserve, the city may restrict densities, intensities, and forms of urban growth as determined to be necessary and appropriate to protect the physical, cultural, or historic integrity of the reserve. An urban growth area determination may include a reasonable land market supply factor and shall permit a range of urban densities and uses. In determining this market factor, cities and counties may consider local circumstances. Cities and counties have discretion in their comprehensive plans to make many choices about accommodating growth.

Within one year of July 1, 1990, each county that as of June 1, 1991, was required or chose to plan under RCW 36.70A.040, shall begin consulting with each city located within its boundaries and each city shall propose the location of an urban growth area. Within sixty days of the date the county legislative authority of a county adopts its resolution of intention or of certification by the office of financial management, all other counties that are required or choose to plan under RCW 36.70A.040 shall begin this consultation with each city located within its boundaries. The county shall attempt to reach agreement with each city on the location of an urban growth area within which the city is located. If such an agreement is not reached with each city located within the urban growth area, the county shall justify in writing why it so designated the area an urban growth area. A city may object formally with the department over the designation of the urban growth area within which it is located. Where appropriate, the department shall attempt to resolve the conflicts, including the use of mediation services.

(3) Urban growth should be located first in areas already characterized by urban growth that have adequate existing public facility and service capacities to serve such development, second in areas already characterized by urban growth that will be served adequately by a combination of both existing public facilities and services and any additional needed public facilities and services that are provided by either public or private sources, and third in the remaining portions of the urban growth areas. Urban growth may also be located in designated new fully contained communities as defined by RCW 36.70A.350.

(4) In general, cities are the units of local government most appropriate to provide urban governmental services. In general, it is not appropriate that urban governmental services be extended to or expanded in rural areas except in those limited circumstances shown to be necessary to protect basic public health and safety and the environment and when such services are financially supportable at rural densities and do not permit urban development. Extensions or expansions of sewer systems consistent with the requirements of section 13 of this act satisfy the requirements of this section.

(5) On or before October 1, 1993, each county that was initially required to plan under RCW 36.70A.040(1) shall adopt development regulations designating interim urban growth areas under this chapter. Within three years and three months of the date the county legislative authority of a county adopts its resolution of intention or of certification by the office of financial management, all other counties that are required or choose to plan under RCW 36.70A.040 shall adopt development regulations designating interim urban growth areas under this chapter. Adoption of the interim urban growth areas may only occur after public notice; public hearing; and compliance with the state environmental policy act, chapter 43.21C RCW, and RCW 36.70A.110. Such action may be appealed to the appropriate growth management hearings board under RCW 36.70A.280. Final urban growth areas shall be adopted at the time of comprehensive plan adoption under this chapter.

(6) Each county shall include designations of urban growth areas in its comprehensive plan.

(7) An urban growth area designated in accordance with this section may include within its boundaries urban service areas or potential annexation areas designated for specific cities or towns within the county.

POINT OF ORDER

Representative Hudgins requested a scope and object ruling on the amendment (835) to Third Substitute House Bill No. 1458.

SPEAKER'S RULING

Mr. Speaker: "The title of Third Substitute House Bill No. 1458 is an act relating to "managing on-site sewage disposal systems in marine areas. Section 2, subsection 7 of the bill defines an on-site sewage disposal system as "as integrated system of components, located on or nearby the property it serves, that conveys, stores, treats, or provides subsurface soil treatment and dispersal of sewage. It consists of a collection system, a treatment component or treatment sequence, and a soil dispersal component. An on-site sewage disposal system also refers to a holding tank sewage system or other system that does not have a soil dispersal component. For purposes of this chapter, the term "on-site sewage disposal system" does not include any system regulated by a water quality discharge permit issued under chapter 90.48 RCW."

Amendment (838) authorizes the extension or expansion of sewer systems OTHER than on-site sewage disposal systems as defined in the bill.

The amendment is therefore beyond the scope and object of the bill.

"Sec. 1. RCW 19.146.005 and 1994 c 33 s 1 are each amended to read as follows:

The legislature finds and declares that the brokering of residential real estate loans substantially affects the public interest. The practices of mortgage brokers and loan originators have had significant impact on the citizens of the state and the banking and real estate industries. It is the intent of the legislature to establish a state system of licensure in addition to rules of practice and conduct of mortgage brokers and loan originators to promote honesty and fair dealing with citizens and to preserve public confidence in the lending and real estate community.

Sec. 2. RCW 19.146.010 and 1997 c 106 s 1 are each amended to read as follows:

(4) A mortgage broker or loan originator on behalf of a mortgage broker shall not charge any fee that inures to the benefit of the mortgage broker if it exceeds the fee disclosed on the written disclosure pursuant to this section, unless (a) the need to charge the fee was not reasonably foreseeable at the time the written disclosure was provided and (b) the mortgage broker or loan originator on behalf of a mortgage broker has provided to the borrower, no less than three business days prior to the signing of the loan closing documents, a clear written explanation of the fee and the reason for charging a fee exceeding that which was previously disclosed. A loan originator may not accept a fee, commission, or compensation of any kind from borrowers in connection with the preparation, negotiation, and brokering of a residential mortgage loan.

(2) A mortgage broker may:

Sec. 1601, and Regulation Z, 12 C.F.R. Sec. 226, as now or hereafter amended; or

(b) Solicit or receive fees for third party provider goods or services in advance. (3) A loan originator may not solicit or receive fees for a third-party provider of goods or services except that a loan originator may transfer funds from a borrower to a licensed mortgage broker, exempt mortgage broker, or third-party provider, if the loan originator does not deposit, hold, retain, or use the funds for any purpose other than the payment of bona fide fees to third-party providers.

Sec. 9. RCW 19.146.200 and 1997 c 106 s 8 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) A person, unless specifically exempted from this chapter under RCW 19.146.020, may not engage in the business of a mortgage broker ~~(, except as an employee of a person licensed or exempt from licensing,)~~ or loan originator without first obtaining and maintaining a license under this chapter. ~~((However, a person who independently contracts with a licensed mortgage broker need not be licensed if the licensed mortgage broker and the independent contractor have on file with the director a binding written agreement under which the licensed mortgage broker assumes responsibility for the independent contractor's violations of any provision of this chapter or rules adopted under this chapter; and if the licensed mortgage broker's bond or other security required under this chapter runs to the benefit of the state and any person who suffers loss by reason of the independent contractor's violation of any provision of this chapter or rules adopted under this chapter.))~~

(2) A person may not bring a suit or action for the collection of compensation ~~((as a mortgage broker))~~ in connection with a residential mortgage loan unless the plaintiff alleges and proves that he or she was a duly licensed mortgage broker, or exempt from the license requirement of this chapter, at the time of offering to perform or performing any such an act or service regulated by this chapter. ~~((This subsection does not apply to suits or actions for the collection or compensation for services performed prior to October 31, 1993.))~~

(3) ~~((The))~~ A mortgage broker license must be prominently displayed in the mortgage broker's place of business.

(4) Every licensed mortgage broker must at all times have a designated broker responsible for all activities of the mortgage broker in conducting the business of a mortgage broker. A designated broker, principal, or owner who has supervisory authority over a mortgage broker is responsible for a licensee's, employee's, or independent contractor's violations of this chapter and its rules if:

(a) The designated broker, principal, or owner directs or instructs the conduct or, with knowledge of the specific conduct, approves or allows the conduct; or

(b) The designated broker, principal, or owner who has supervisory authority over the licensed mortgage broker knows or by the exercise of reasonable care and inquiry should have known of the conduct, at a time when its consequences can be avoided or mitigated and fails to take reasonable remedial action.

Sec. 10. RCW 19.146.205 and 2001 c 177 s 4 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) Application for a mortgage broker license under this chapter shall be in writing and in the form prescribed by the director. The application shall contain at least the following information:

(a) The name, address, date of birth, and social security number of the applicant, and any other names, dates of birth, or social security numbers previously used by the applicant, unless waived by the director;

(b) If the applicant is a partnership or association, the name, address, date of birth, and social security number of each general partner or principal of the association, and any other names, dates of birth, or social security numbers previously used by the members, unless waived by the director;

(c) If the applicant is a corporation, the name, address, date of birth, and social security number of each officer, director, registered agent, and each principal stockholder, and any other names, dates of birth, or social security numbers previously used by the officers, directors, registered agents, and principal stockholders unless waived by the director;

(d) The street address, county, and municipality where the principal business office is to be located;

(e) The name, address, date of birth, and social security number of the applicant's designated broker, and any other names, dates of birth, or social security numbers previously used by the designated broker and a complete set of the designated broker's fingerprints taken by an authorized law enforcement officer; and

(f) Such other information regarding the applicant's or designated broker's background, financial responsibility, experience, character, and general fitness as the director may require by rule.

~~(2) ((The director may exchange fingerprint data with the federal bureau of investigation.))~~ As a part of or in connection with an application for any license under this section, the applicant shall furnish information concerning his or her identity, including fingerprints for submission to the Washington state patrol, the federal bureau of investigation, and any governmental agency or entity authorized to receive this information for a state and national criminal history background check; personal history; experience; business record; purposes; and other pertinent facts, as the director may reasonably require. As part of or in connection with an application for a license under this chapter, the director is authorized to receive criminal history record information that includes nonconviction data as defined in RCW 10.97.030. The department may only disseminate nonconviction data obtained under this section to criminal justice agencies. This section does not apply to financial institutions regulated under chapters 31.12 and 31.13 RCW and Titles 30, 32, and 33 RCW.

(3) At the time of filing an application for a license under this chapter, each applicant shall pay to the director the appropriate application fee in an amount determined by rule of the director in accordance with RCW 43.24.086 to cover, but not exceed, the cost of processing and reviewing the application. The director shall deposit the moneys in the financial services regulation fund, unless the consumer services account is created as a dedicated, nonappropriated account, in which case the director shall deposit the moneys in the consumer services account.

(4)(a) Each applicant for a mortgage broker's license shall file and maintain a surety bond, in an amount of not greater than sixty thousand dollars nor less than twenty thousand dollars which the director deems adequate to protect the public interest, executed by the applicant as obligor and by a surety company authorized to do a surety business in this state as surety. The bonding requirement as established by the director may take the form of a uniform bond amount for all licensees or the director may establish by rule a schedule establishing a range of bond amounts which shall vary according to the annual average number of loan originators ~~((or independent contractors))~~ of a licensee. The bond shall run to the state of Washington as obligee, and shall run first to the benefit of the borrower and then to the benefit of the state and any person or persons who suffer loss by reason of the applicant's or its loan originator's violation of any provision of this chapter or rules adopted under this chapter. The bond shall be conditioned that the obligor as licensee will faithfully conform to and abide by this chapter and all rules adopted under this chapter, and shall reimburse all persons who suffer loss by reason of a violation of this chapter or rules adopted under this chapter. Borrowers shall be given priority over the state and other persons. The state and other third parties shall be allowed to receive distribution pursuant to a valid claim against the remainder of the bond. In the case of claims made by any person or entity who is not a borrower, no final judgment may be entered prior to one hundred eighty days following the date the claim is filed. The bond shall be continuous and may be canceled by the surety upon the surety giving written notice to the director of its intent to cancel the bond. The cancellation shall be effective thirty days after the notice is received by the director. Whether or not the bond is renewed, continued, reinstated, reissued, or otherwise extended, replaced, or modified, including increases or decreases in the penal sum, it shall be considered one continuous obligation, and the surety upon the bond shall not be liable in an aggregate or cumulative amount exceeding the penal sum set forth on the face of the bond. In no event shall the penal sum, or any portion thereof, at two or more points in time be added together in determining the surety's liability. The bond shall not be liable for any penalties imposed on the licensee, including, but not limited to, any increased damages or attorneys' fees, or both, awarded under RCW 19.86.090. The applicant may obtain the bond directly from the surety or through a group bonding arrangement involving a professional organization comprised of mortgage brokers if the arrangement provides at least as much coverage as is required under this subsection.

(b) Subsection (4)(b) and (c) of this section applies only to applications received on or before January 1, 2007. Before January 1, 2007, in lieu of a surety bond, the applicant may, upon approval by the director, file with the director a certificate of deposit, an irrevocable letter of credit, or such other instrument as approved by the director by rule, drawn in favor of the director for an amount equal to the required bond.

(c) Before January 1, 2007, in lieu of the surety bond or compliance with (b) of this subsection, an applicant may obtain insurance or coverage from an association comprised of mortgage brokers that is organized as a mutual corporation for the sole purpose of insuring or self-insuring claims that may arise from a violation of this chapter. An applicant may only substitute coverage under this subsection for the requirements of (a) or (b) of this subsection if the director, with the consent of the insurance commissioner, has authorized such association to organize a mutual corporation under such terms and conditions as may be imposed by the director to ensure that the corporation is operated in a financially responsible manner to pay any claims within the financial responsibility limits specified in (a) of this subsection.

Sec. 11. RCW 19.146.210 and 1997 c 106 s 10 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) The director shall issue and deliver a mortgage broker license to an applicant if, after investigation, the director makes the following findings:

(c) Neither the applicant, any of its principals, or the designated broker have had a license issued under this chapter or any similar state statute suspended or revoked within five years of the filing of the present application;

(d) Neither the applicant, any of its principals, or the designated broker have been convicted of a gross misdemeanor involving dishonesty or financial misconduct or a felony within seven years of the filing of the present application;

(e) The designated broker, (i) has at least two years of experience in the residential mortgage loan industry ~~((or has completed the educational requirements established by rule of the director))~~ and (ii) has passed a written examination whose content shall be established by rule of the director; ~~((and))~~

(g) Neither the applicant, any of its principals, or the designated broker have been found to be in violation of this chapter or rules.

(2) If the director does not find the conditions of subsection (1) of this section have been met, the director shall not issue the license. The director shall notify the applicant of the denial and return to the applicant the bond or approved alternative and any remaining portion of the license fee that exceeds the department's actual cost to investigate the license.

(3) The director shall issue a mortgage broker license under this chapter to any licensee issued a license under chapter 468, Laws of 1993, that has a valid license and is otherwise in compliance with the provisions of this chapter.

(4) A license issued pursuant to this ~~((chapter is valid))~~ section expires on the date one year from the date of issuance ((with no fixed date of expiration)) which, for license renewal purposes, is also the renewal date. The director shall adopt rules establishing the process for renewal of licenses.

(5) A licensee may surrender a license by delivering to the director written notice of surrender, but the surrender does not affect the licensee's civil or criminal liability or any administrative actions arising from acts or omissions occurring before such surrender.

(6) To prevent undue delay in the issuance of a license and to facilitate the business of a mortgage broker, an interim license with a fixed date of expiration may be issued when the director determines that the mortgage broker has substantially fulfilled the requirements for licensing as defined by rule.

Sec. 12. RCW 19.146.215 and 1997 c 106 s 11 are each amended to read as follows:

The designated broker of every licensee shall complete an annual continuing education requirement ~~((which the director shall define by rule)).~~ The director shall establish standards in rule for approval of professional organizations offering continuing education to designated brokers. The director may approve continuing education taken by designated brokers in other states if the director is satisfied that such continuing education meets the requirements of the continuing education required by this chapter.

Sec. 16. RCW 19.146.235 and 1997 c 106 s 14 are each amended to read as follows:

~~((For the purposes of investigating complaints arising under this chapter, the director may at any time, either personally or by a designee, examine the business, including but not limited to the books, accounts, records, and files used therein, of every licensee and of every person engaged in the business of mortgage brokering,~~

(c) The director or designated person may direct, subpoena, or order the attendance of and examine under oath all persons whose testimony may be required about the loans or the business or subject matter of any such examination or investigation, and may direct, subpoena, or order such person to produce books, accounts, records, files, and any other documents the director or designated person deems relevant to the inquiry.

(3) Once during the first five years of licensing, including branch licensing, the director may visit, either personally or by designee, the licensee's place or places of business to conduct an examination. The scope of the examination is limited to documents and information necessary to determine compliance with this chapter and attendant rules. In general, the examination scope may include:

(a) A review for trust accounting compliance;

(b) Loan file review to determine the mortgage broker's compliance with this chapter and applicable federal regulations covering the business of mortgage brokering and lending;

(c) Interviews for the purpose of understanding business and solicitation practices, transactional events, disclosure compliance, complaint resolution, or determining specific compliance with this chapter and the attendant rules; and

(d) A review of general business books and records, including employee records, for the purpose of determining specific compliance with this chapter and the attendant rules.

(4) The purpose of an examination is to make certain that licensees are conducting business in compliance with the law. Therefore, protocols for examination findings and corrective action directed from an examination must be established by rule of the director. To accomplish this purpose, these protocols must include the following:

(a) A reporting mechanism from the director to the licensee;

(b) A process for clear notification of violations and an opportunity for response by the licensee; and

(c) The criteria by which the frequency of examinations will be determined.

(5) If the examination findings clearly identify the need to expand the scope of the examination, the director or a designee, upon five days' written notification to the licensee with an explanation of the need, may:

(a) Expand the examination review to locations other than the examined location regardless of the number of years a location has held a license; or

(b) Expand the time period of the examination beyond the five-year period of licensing, provided the expansion of time does not exceed a date certain identified in the written notification in this subsection.

(6) The director or a designee may consider reports made by independent certified professionals for the mortgage broker covering the same general subject matter as the examination. The director or a designee may incorporate all or part of the report in the report of the examination.

(7) The director may retain attorneys, accountants, or other professionals and specialists as examiners, auditors, or investigators to conduct or assist in the conduct of examinations or investigations. The cost of these services for investigations only must be billed in accordance with RCW 19.146.228.

(8) The director may establish by rule travel costs for examination of out-of-state entities.

(9)(a) No person subject to examination or investigation under this chapter may knowingly withhold, abstract, remove, mutilate, destroy, or secrete any books, records, computer records, or other information.

(b) A person who commits an act under (a) of this subsection is guilty of a class B felony punishable under RCW 9A.20.021(1)(b) or punishable by a fine of not more than twenty thousand dollars, or both.

Sec. 17. RCW 19.146.280 and 2001 c 177 s 6 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) There is established the mortgage (~~(brokerage)~~) broker commission consisting of (~~(five)~~) seven commission members who shall act in an advisory capacity to the director on mortgage (~~(brokerage)~~) broker issues.

(2) The director shall appoint the members of the commission, weighing the recommendations from professional organizations representing mortgage brokers and loan originators. At least three of the commission members shall be mortgage brokers licensed under this chapter (~~(and)~~), at least one shall be exempt from licensure under RCW 19.146.020(1)(~~(f)~~) (g), and at least two of the commission members shall be licensed loan originators under this chapter. No commission member shall be appointed who has had less than five years' experience in the business of residential mortgage lending. In addition, the director or a designee shall serve as an ex officio, nonvoting member of the commission. Voting members of the commission shall serve for two-year terms (~~(with three of the initial commission members serving one-year terms)~~). The department shall provide staff support to the commission.

(3) The commission may establish a code of conduct for its members. Any commissioner may bring a motion before the commission to remove a commissioner for failing to conduct themselves in a manner consistent with the code of conduct. The motion shall be in the form of a recommendation to the director to dismiss a specific commissioner and shall enumerate causes for doing so. The commissioner in question shall recuse himself or herself from voting on any such motion. Any such motion must be approved unanimously by the remaining (~~(four)~~) six commissioners. Approved motions shall be immediately transmitted to the director for review and action.

(4) Members of the commission shall be reimbursed for their travel expenses incurred in carrying out the provisions of this chapter in accordance with RCW 43.03.050 and 43.03.060. All costs and expenses associated with the commission shall be paid from the financial services regulation fund, unless the consumer services account is created as a dedicated, nonappropriated account, in which case all costs and expenses shall be paid from the consumer services account.

(5) The commission shall advise the director on the characteristics and needs of the mortgage (~~(brokerage)~~) broker profession.

(6) The department, in consultation with other applicable agencies of state government, shall conduct a continuing review of the number and type of consumer complaints arising from residential mortgage lending in the state. The department shall report its findings to the senate committee on financial institutions and house of representatives committee on financial institutions and insurance along with recommendations for any changes in the licensing requirements of this chapter, biennially by December 1st of each even-numbered year.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 18. A new section is added to chapter 19.146 RCW to read as follows:

(1) A licensee shall provide the director with an annual report of mortgage broker activity. The director may by rule create a schedule and format for the annual report. The annual report may only include the following for mortgage broker activities in Washington state:

(a) The total number of closed loans originated by the mortgage broker; and

(b) The total dollar volume of closed loans originated by the mortgage broker.

(2) Any information provided by a mortgage broker in an annual report that constitutes a trade secret as defined in RCW 19.108.010 is exempt from the disclosure requirements in chapters 42.17 and 42.56 RCW, unless aggregated with information supplied by other mortgage brokers in such a manner that the mortgage broker's individual information is not identifiable. Any information provided by the mortgage broker that allows identification of the mortgage broker may only be used for purposes reasonably related to the regulation of mortgage brokers to ensure compliance with this chapter.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 19. A new section is added to chapter 19.146 RCW to read as follows:

(1) Application for a loan originator license under this chapter shall be in writing and in the form prescribed by the director. The application shall contain at least the following information:

(a) The name, address, date of birth, and social security number of the loan originator applicant, and any other names, dates of birth, or social security numbers previously used by the loan originator applicant, unless waived by the director; and

(b) Such other information regarding the loan originator applicant's background, experience, character, and general fitness as the director may require by rule.

(2) As part of or in connection with an application for any license under this section, the loan originator applicant shall furnish information concerning his or her identity, including fingerprints for submission to the Washington state patrol, the federal bureau of investigation, and any governmental agency or entity authorized to receive this information for a state and national criminal history background check; personal history; experience; business record; purposes; and other pertinent facts, as the director may reasonably require. As part of or in connection with an application for a license under this chapter, the director is authorized to receive criminal history record information that includes nonconviction data as defined in RCW 10.97.030. The department may only disseminate nonconviction data obtained under this section to criminal justice agencies. This section does not apply to financial institutions regulated under chapters 31.12 and 31.13 RCW and Titles 30, 32, and 33 RCW.

(3) At the time of filing an application for a license under this chapter, each loan originator applicant shall pay to the director the appropriate application fee in an amount determined by rule of the director in accordance with RCW 19.146.228 to cover the cost of processing and reviewing the application. The director shall deposit the moneys in the financial services regulation fund.

(4) The director must establish by rule procedures for accepting and processing incomplete applications.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 20. A new section is added to chapter 19.146 RCW to read as follows:

(1) The director shall issue and deliver a loan originator license if, after investigation, the director makes the following findings:

(a) The loan originator applicant has paid the required license fees;

(b) The loan originator applicant has met the requirements of section 19 of this act;

(c) The loan originator applicant has not had a license issued under this chapter or any similar state statute suspended or revoked within five years of the filing of the present application;

(d) The loan originator applicant has not been convicted of a gross misdemeanor involving dishonesty or financial misconduct or a felony within seven years of the filing of the present application;

(e) The loan originator applicant has passed a written examination whose content shall be established by rule of the director;

(f) The loan originator applicant has not been found to be in violation of this chapter or rules;

(g) The loan originator applicant has demonstrated character and general fitness such as to command the confidence of the community and to warrant a belief that the business will be operated honestly and fairly within the purposes of this chapter; and

(h) The loan originator licensee has completed, during the calendar year preceding a licensee's annual license renewal date, continuing education as established by rule of the director. The director shall establish standards in rule for approval of professional organizations offering continuing education to loan originators. The director may approve continuing education taken by loan originators in other states if the director is satisfied that such continuing education meets the requirements of the continuing education required by this chapter.

(2) If the director does not find the conditions of subsection (1) of this section have been met, the director shall not issue the loan originator license. The director shall notify the loan originator applicant of the denial and return to the loan originator applicant any remaining portion of the license fee that exceeds the department's actual cost to investigate the license.

(3) The director shall issue a new loan originator license under this chapter to any licensee that has a valid license and is otherwise in compliance with this chapter.

(4) A loan originator license issued under this section expires on the date one year from the date of issuance which, for license renewal purposes, is also the renewal date. The director shall establish rules regarding the loan originator license renewal process created under this chapter.

(5) A loan originator licensee may surrender a license by delivering to the director written notice of surrender, but the surrender does not affect the loan originator licensee's civil or criminal liability or any administrative actions arising from acts or omissions occurring before such surrender.

(6) To prevent undue delay in the issuance of a loan originator license and to facilitate the business of a loan originator, an interim loan originator license with a fixed date of expiration may be issued when the director determines that the loan originator has substantially fulfilled the requirements for loan originator licensing as defined by rule.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 21. A new section is added to chapter 19.146 RCW to read as follows:

A loan originator license, or the authority granted under such a license, is not assignable and cannot be transferred, sold, or franchised by contract or any other means.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 22. A new section is added to chapter 19.146 RCW to read as follows:

A loan originator may only take an application on behalf of one mortgage broker at a time, and that mortgage broker must be clearly identified on the application.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 23. The director of the department of financial institutions or the director's designee may take such steps as are necessary to ensure that this act is implemented on the effective date of this section.

"NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. The legislature finds that livestock identification numbers, premise information, and animal movement data are proprietary information that all have a role in defining a livestock producer's position within the marketplace, including his or her competitive advantage over other producers. The legislature therefore finds that exempting certain voluntary livestock identification, premise, and movement information from state public disclosure requirements will foster an environment that is more conducive to voluntary participation, and lead to a more effective livestock identification system.

Sec. 2. RCW 42.17.310 and 2005 c 424 s 16, 2005 c 349 s 1, 2005 c 312 s 6, 2005 c 284 s 1, 2005 c 172 s 13, and 2005 c 33 s 4 are each reenacted and amended to read as follows:

(a) Personal information in any files maintained for students in public schools, patients or clients of public institutions or public health agencies, or welfare recipients.

(b) Personal information in files maintained for employees, appointees, or elected officials of any public agency to the extent that disclosure would violate their right to privacy.

(c) Information required of any taxpayer in connection with the assessment or collection of any tax if the disclosure of the information to other persons would (i) be prohibited to such persons by RCW 84.08.210, 82.32.330, 84.40.020, or 84.40.340 or (ii) violate the taxpayer's right to privacy or result in unfair competitive disadvantage to the taxpayer.

(d) Specific intelligence information and specific investigative records compiled by investigative, law enforcement, and penology agencies, and state agencies vested with the responsibility to discipline members of any profession, the nondisclosure of which is essential to effective law enforcement or for the protection of any person's right to privacy.

(e) Information revealing the identity of persons who are witnesses to or victims of crime or who file complaints with investigative, law enforcement, or penology agencies, other than the public disclosure commission, if disclosure would endanger any person's life, physical safety, or property.
