CONDITIONAL COMMUTATION OF JOSEPH SCOTT WHARTON

To All to Whom These Presents Shall Come, Greetings:

WHEREAS, Joseph Scott Wharton was convicted on April 22, 1997, of five counts of Robbery in the Second Degree in King County Superior Court Cause Number 97-1-00657- 7 and sentenced to serve Life without the Possibility of Parole under Washington's persistent offender law, otherwise known as the "Three Strikes" law.

WHEREAS, according to the court record, the crimes leading to Mr. Wharton's third strike occurred in December of 1996 and January of 1997. Over the course of a month, Mr. Wharton approached clerks in ten stores and banks in the Kent area and demanded money from the registers. He often held his hand in his pocket to suggest that he had a gun. Mr. Wharton was charged with ten total counts, including charges of Attempted Robbery Second Degree, Robbery Second Degree, and Robbery First Degree, under King County Cause Number 97-1-00657-7. At a bench trial held in early 1997, Mr. Wharton was found guilty of five counts of Robbery in the Second Degree. King County Superior Court Judge Michael J. Fox dismissed the remaining five counts, including the Robbery in the First Degree charge, with the agreement of the Prosecutor's Office.

WHEREAS, Mr. Wharton received his second strike when he was convicted of three counts of Robbery in the Second Degree for the robbery of a Costless store on September 25, 1989. Mr. Wharton entered the store and asked one of the employees in the back for some help in finding some syringes. When told that the store didn't carry those types of syringes, Mr. Wharton approached clerk Julia Zimmerman and ordered her to "give me all the money in the till." Ms. Zimmerman handed over a large amount of cash, and Mr. Wharton exited the store and sped away in a car. Police later linked the car to Mr. Wharton. Two of the three employees in the store positively identified Mr. Wharton from photo montages. Mr. Wharton was arrested and pled guilty in January of 1990. He was sentenced to 72 months in prison.

WHEREAS, Mr. Wharton was convicted of his first strike offense of one count of Robbery in the Second Degree for the robbery of William Chen on June 11, 1987. Mr. Chen was working as a store clerk at the Jack Pot grocery store in South Seattle when Mr. Wharton entered the store, approached Mr. Chen and demanded the money from the cash register. Mr. Wharton held his hand in his pocket as if he had a gun. Mr. Chen gave Mr. Wharton the money and Mr. Wharton then left. Mr. Chen gave a good description of the man and the vehicle he left in to the police, who eventually linked the car used in the robbery back to Mr. Wharton. Mr. Wharton's parents were later shown the video of the robbery and identified Mr. Wharton as the robber. Mr. Wharton pled guilty to the robbery charge and was sentenced to 15 months in prison in 1988.

WHEREAS, Mr. Wharton was also convicted of Theft in the First Degree in February 1988, and sentenced to three years of probation. He was sentenced to four months each for two counts of Taking a Motor Vehicle Without Permission, served concurrently, and a five-year suspended sentence for an additional count of Taking a Motor Vehicle Without Permission in 1985. In 1983, he received a deferred sentence for Burglary in the Second Degree.

WHEREAS, Mr. Wharton submitted a petition to the Washington State Clemency and Pardons Board in 2012, requesting that his Life Sentence without the Possibility of Parole on Cause Number 97-1-00657-7 be commuted by Governor Christine Gregoire.

WHEREAS, at the time of his conviction, the standard range for Mr. Wharton's offense was 33 to 43 months. The maximum sentence for Second Degree Robbery in the state of Washington, without the three strikes law, is 84 months.

WHEREAS, Mr. Wharton unequivocally accepted responsibility and expressed remorse for all of his past crimes and deeply apologized for his actions to his victims, his family, and the state of Washington at his December 2012 Clemency and Pardons Board hearing.

WHEREAS, prior to that hearing, King County Prosecutor Daniel Satterberg reviewed Mr. Wharton's clemency request in the context of other early Three Strikes cases prosecuted by the King County Prosecutor's Office. In the course of that review, Mr. Satterberg observed that the King County Prosecutor's Office had charged and prosecuted the lowest ranking strike-eligible offenses differently than they do today.

WHEREAS, Mr. Wharton has shown considerable rehabilitation during his period of incarceration. Even though Mr. Wharton had no reason to believe he would ever be released from prison, Mr. Wharton has proactively sought out and participated in whatever classes or programs were available to improve his life skills and enhance his education, in addition to counseling and treatment for his previous substance abuse and his ongoing recovery from addiction.

WHEREAS, Mr. Wharton has attended Alcoholics Anonymous and Narcotics Anonymous classes on a weekly basis. He has interacted positively with his counselors and sponsors. He has attended chemical dependency classes and completed "Smart Recovery" substance abuse programs. He has completed "Victim Awareness" courses and programs conducted by Walla Walla Community College. He has completed "Anger Management" courses. He has completed "Consulting for Success" programs while at the prison in Monroe. He participated in the Freedom Project's "Nonviolent Communication and Mindfulness Training" programs. He also completed educational programs in "Basic Custodial Services Operations" as well as courses in marriage and family life, medic, and first aid programs. He received good marks in all of these programs.

WHEREAS, following Mr. Wharton's Clemency and Pardons Board hearing on December 7, 2012, the Board issued a unanimous recommendation in support of a commutation of Mr. Wharton's Life without the Possibility of Parole sentence.

WHEREAS, King County Prosecutor Daniel Satterburg has reviewed the facts and circumstances of Mr. Wharton's prior convictions and supports his release back into the community, subject to the conditions below.

WHEREAS, the sentencing judge for his "third strike" offense, retired Judge Michael J. Fox, took it upon himself to seek out Mr. Wharton and encourage him to apply for a commutation in light of how unsettled Judge Fox was in having to direct such a sentence in the case of a non-violent offender.

WHEREAS, Mr. Wharton has applied and been accepted into the Seadrunar program for treatment for chemical dependency in Seattle and will participate in this residential program for nine to 12 months following his release.

WHEREAS, Section 5 of Initiative 593 indicated that "[n]othing in this act shall ever be interpreted or construed as to reduce or eliminate the power of the governor to grant a pardon or clemency to any offender on an individual case-by-case basis."

WHEREAS, I have reviewed all pertinent facts and circumstances surrounding this matter, the circumstances of Mr. Wharton's previous crimes and his efforts towards rehabilitation, comments favoring release of Mr. Wharton, and the favorable recommendations of retired King County Superior Judge Michael J. Fox, and the King County Prosecutor's Office, and in light of the foregoing, I have determined that the best interests of justice will be served by this action.

If Mr. Wharton is taken into custody following any alleged violation, the Department shall hold a Community Custody Hearing. The Department may also require Mr. Wharton to perform affirmative acts deemed appropriate to monitor compliance with the conditions and may issue warrants or detain Mr. Wharton if he violates a condition.

ADDITIONALLY PROVIDED that in the event Mr. Wharton violates any of the conditions of this Conditional Commutation, as determined by the Governor, this Conditional Commutation may be revoked or amended and the sentence of the court reinstated, whereupon Mr. Wharton will be immediately returned to the Washington Corrections Center or any such facility as the Secretary of the Department of Corrections deems appropriate. ADDITIONALLY PROVIDED that (Mr. Wharton may be detained pending judicial disposition of any new criminal charge or a final determination of whether a condition of this Conditional Commutation has been violated, if the Governor determines there are reasonable grounds to believe he has violated the above conditions of this Conditional Commutation, reason to be concerned that he would pose a risk to any person or to the community, or that there is a possibility that Mr. Wharton may abscond if not detained. If detained, Mr. Wharton will be provided a preliminary hearing, as promptly as convenient after arrest, to determine whether there are reasonable grounds to believe he has violated the above conditions.

FULL AND UNCONDITIONAL PARDON OF MEBRAT WORKU TESHOME

To All to Whom These Presents Shall Come, Greetings:

WHEREAS, on March 26, 2002, Mebrat Worku Teshome was arrested for assault. Her domestic partner, Habtamu Bayleyegn, called the police after Ms. Teshome left for work and asserted that she had attacked him with a knife. The responding officer noted that Mr. Bayleyegn 's shirt was ripped and he had a scratch on his stomach. Ms. Teshome was adamant that she had not assaulted him. On February 14, 2003, Ms. Teshome entered an Alford plea with the assistance of an interpreter because she was told it was the best way to make the issue "go away." She was convicted of Assault in the Third Degree - Domestic Violence, in King County Superior Court Case No. 02-1-03676-3 SEA. She was sentenced to 30 days of community service and 12 months of community custody.

WHEREAS, Ms. Teshome immediately tried to withdraw her plea once she understood the consequences attached to the conviction. The Court of Appeals subsequently determined that "The interpreter's performance was less than competent, and the trial court did not follow proper procedures to ensure that the interpreter was qualified," but denied the withdrawal of her plea. Ms. Teshome's interpreter was later dismissed for his pattern of inaccuracy.

WHEREAS, Ms. Teshome alleged that she was in an abusive relationship with her partner. Mr. Bayleyegn was arrested for Domestic Violence in 2001, but charges were dropped. In 2004, Ms. Teshome and Mr. Bayleyegn ended their domestic partnership and obtained court orders pertaining to the custody of their two daughters. Part of the order is a permanent restraining order against him, and his contact with the children is limited due to "[a] history of acts of domestic violence as defined in RCW 26.50.010(1) or an assault or sexual assault which causes grievous bodily harm or the fear of such harm." Mr. Bayleyegn was ordered to enroll in and complete Domestic Violence Batterer's Treatment. His visitation with the children was strictly controlled and ordered to be supervised until he had completed certain levels of Domestic Violence Batterer Treatment.

WHEREAS, Ms. Teshome has no other criminal record and she completed all the requirements of her sentencing.

WHEREAS, the testimony before the Clemency and Pardons Board is that Ms. Teshome is a responsible citizen and a dedicated mother. Before her conviction, she worked as a nursing assistant. Now that her daughters are older, she wants to become a good role model by returning to that work. Although she has the certification and necessary experience, her felony conviction prevents her from finding employment. Ms. Teshome would also like to continue her education and become an LPN.

WHEREAS, the Clemency and Pardons Board voted unanimously to recommend that a full pardon be granted to Ms. Teshome.

WHEREAS, I have reviewed all pertinent facts and circumstances surrounding this matter, the circumstances of the crimes, and the favorable recommendation of the Washington State Clemency and Pardons Board and, in light of the foregoing, I have determined that the best interests of justice will be served by this action.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Jay Inslee, by virtue of the power vested in me as Governor of the state of Washington, hereby grant to Mebrat Worku Teshome this FULL AND UNCONDITIONAL pardon of her conviction of Assault in the Third Degree -Domestic Violence in King County Superior Court Case No. 02-1-03676-3 SEA, so that she may find employment as a nursing assistant and fully pursue her career goals without barriers.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the state of Washington to be affixed at Olympia on this 30th day of July, A.D., two thousand and thirteen.

CONDITIONAL COMMUTATION OF MICHAEL RYAN PRITCHARD

To All to Whom These Presents Shall Come, Greetings:

WHEREAS, on December 29, 1992 Michael Ryan Pritchard, age 14, was with a group of friends at a trailer park residence in Port Orchard, Washington. Mr. Pritchard and other members of the group decided to enter a neighbor's home, and, upon doing so, proceeded to harass and violently assault the woman that lived in the home. Over the course of the night and early morning, Mr. Pritchard and others repeatedly assaulted the victim, leaving and returning to the residence on multiple occasions to commit multiple offenses.

WHEREAS, on March 5, 1993, Mr. Pritchard was charged as an adult with Attempted First Degree Murder, First Degree Assault, and two counts of First Degree Burglary in Kitsap County Superior Court Case No. 93-1-60164-7. Mr. Pritchard pled guilty to all of the charges on March 23, 1993, and was sentenced by the court on April 23, 1993. His total sentence included 403.5 months in prison, the high end of the applicable range, and $4,411.25 in fees.

WHEREAS, Mr. Pritchard was a middle school student at the time of the offense and had just turned 14. The court documents filed at the time of the offense described him as the son of a single parent with little contact with his father. He often witnessed physical violence between his mother and the boyfriends that she brought into the home. The documents further described that Mr. Pritchard's mother was unwilling or unable to assume any control over her son, and that leading up to the offense Mr. Pritchard had been a runaway and living on his own.

WHEREAS, prior to being charged as an adult, the court held a declination hearing to determine whether Mr. Pritchard should remain in the juvenile system. While psychologists for both the prosecution and the defense recommended that he remain in the juvenile system, the court decided to treat Mr. Pritchard as an adult.

WHEREAS, the Clemency and Pardons Board held an original hearing on March 11, 2005, and reviewed Mr. Pritchard's petition for a commutation. The Board continued the hearing, however, in order to retrieve access to files necessary for their deliberations. The Board then held a second hearing in Mr. Pritchard's case on September 11, 2008, and took testimony from multiple witnesses. Much of the testimony during the hearing focused on the horrific nature of the offenses, as well as that Mr. Pritchard had just turned 14 prior to the offenses. During this 2008 hearing, the Kitsap County Prosecutor's Office wrote a letter to the Board opposing Mr. Pritchard's petition. At the conclusion of the hearing the Board voted unanimously to deny the petition, and Governor Christine Gregoire subsequently denied the request.

WHEREAS, on September 7, 2012, the Clemency and Pardons Board held a new hearing on a new petition filed by Mr. Pritchard. The testimony before the Board focused on the personal growth Mr. Pritchard had demonstrated between the time he was incarcerated at age 14 and the present as a 33 year-old man, the positive impact of his family, and the fact that Mr. Pritchard was barely 14 when the offenses were committed.

WHEREAS, the Kitsap County Prosecutor's Office wrote a letter to the Clemency and Pardons Board regarding Mr. Pritchard' petition. While the Prosecutor's Office had previously opposed Mr. Pritchard's petitions, they did not do so in this instance. The Prosecuting Attorney wrote to the Board and noted that Mr. Pritchard appeared to have followed the admonishments of the sentencing judge, committed no violent infractions, and taken advantage of the opportunities in the prison system. He further stated that "we recognize and encourage the positive change and growth that committed individuals may make, and support the grant of clemency to those who have made that commitment and for who the sentence once imposed no longer serves a justifiable purpose. If this board determines that a recommendation of clemency is warranted, we will not object."

WHEREAS, at the conclusion of the hearing, the Clemency and Pardons Board voted unanimously to recommend that a conditional commutation be granted to Mr. Pritchard.

WHEREAS, Mr. Pritchard is now 34 years old. To date, he has been incarcerated on Kitsap County Superior Court Cause No. 93-1-60164-7 for over 20 years.

WHEREAS, Mr. Pritchard has shown considerable commitment to change and rehabilitation during his period of incarceration. Mr. Pritchard has taken advantage of positive programming opportunities offered in prison. While in custody he has obtained his General Education Diploma, participated in Anger Management, Victims Awareness, and Chemical Dependency course, and been consistently employed.

WHEREAS, Mr. Pritchard accepted responsibility and expressed remorse for all of his past crimes and apologized for his actions to his victims and the state of Washington at his Clemency Board hearing.

WHEREAS, Section 5 of Initiative 593 indicates that "[n]othing in this act shall ever be interpreted or construed as to reduce or eliminate the power of the governor to grant a pardon or clemency to any offender on an individual case-by-case basis."

WHEREAS, I have reviewed all pertinent facts and circumstances surrounding this matter, the circumstances of the crimes, comments favoring release of Mr. Pritchard, and the statements of the Kitsap County Prosecutor and the Washington State Clemency and Pardons Board and, in light of the foregoing, I have determined that the best interests of justice will be served by this action.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Jay Inslee, by virtue of the power vested in me as Governor of the state of Washington under Article III Section 9 of the Washington State Constitution, RCW 9.94A.885 and RCW 9.95.260, hereby grant to Michael Ryan Pritchard a Conditional Commutation of his sentence, subject to him indicating in writing that he accepts the terms of this Conditional Commutation. If Mr. Pritchard accepts the terms of this Conditional Commutation, his sentence is commuted to an ending date of November 1, 2014. The Department of Corrections shall consider an appropriate re-entry planning process that could lead to confinement in lower levels of custody over the next 12 months. After the expiration of 12 months, if Mr. Pritchard has met the re-entry plan programming and behavioral expectations, the Department of Corrections is not required to maintain Mr. Pritchard in total confinement, but may transition Mr. Pritchard to an assignment to a work release facility and, upon successful completion of any assignment to a work release facility, to serve a term of community custody. If and when Mr. Pritchard is released from confinement to serve a term of community custody, he shall be required to comply with the following conditions. Mr. Pritchard shall:

1. Report regularly to a community corrections officer as directed by the Department of Corrections;
2. Pay a monthly supervision fee as directed by the community corrections officer;
3. Participate in Department of Corrections approved education, employment and/or community service;
4. Receive prior approval from the Department of Corrections for living arrangements and residence location;
5. Allow community corrections officers to conduct such home visits as the community corrections officers deem appropriate;
6. Notify the Department of Corrections prior to any changes of address or employment;
7. Remain in the geographic area as directed by the community corrections officer;
8. Have no direct contact with any of his victims or their families, unless requested by the victim and approved by his community corrections officer;
9. Remain employed or actively seeking employment, as directed by the community corrections officer;
10. Not possess, receive, ship, or transport a firearm, ammunition, or explosives;
11. Not use, possess, or consume alcohol;
12. Not possess or use any controlled substances without a prescription;
13. Not associate with any drug users or dealers;
14. Submit to regular and random urinalysis and breathalyzer testing, as directed by the community corrections officer;
15. Participate in substance abuse and/or chemical dependency evaluation as directed by the community corrections officer and complete any recommendations from such evaluation;
16. Participate in any mental health evaluation as recommended by the community corrections officer and complete any recommendations from such evaluation;
17. Participate in a Cognitive Behavioral Intervention program or similar program as directed by the community corrections officer;
18. Participate in the Youth At Risk or other similar community service program, as directed by the community corrections officer; and
19. Comply with all standard conditions, recommendations, and instructions of community placement as directed by the community corrections officer.

PROVIDED that Mr. Pritchard shall remain under the supervision of the Department of Corrections and explicitly follow the conditions established by that agency during the term of his Community Custody. Violation of any of the above conditions shall result in sanctions as deemed appropriate by the Department of Corrections and may result in the termination of this Conditional Commutation as provided below. If Mr. Pritchard is taken into custody following any alleged violation, the Department shall hold a Community Custody Hearing. The Department may also require Mr. Pritchard to perform affirmative acts deemed appropriate to monitor compliance with the conditions and may issue warrants or detain Mr. Pritchard if he violates a condition.

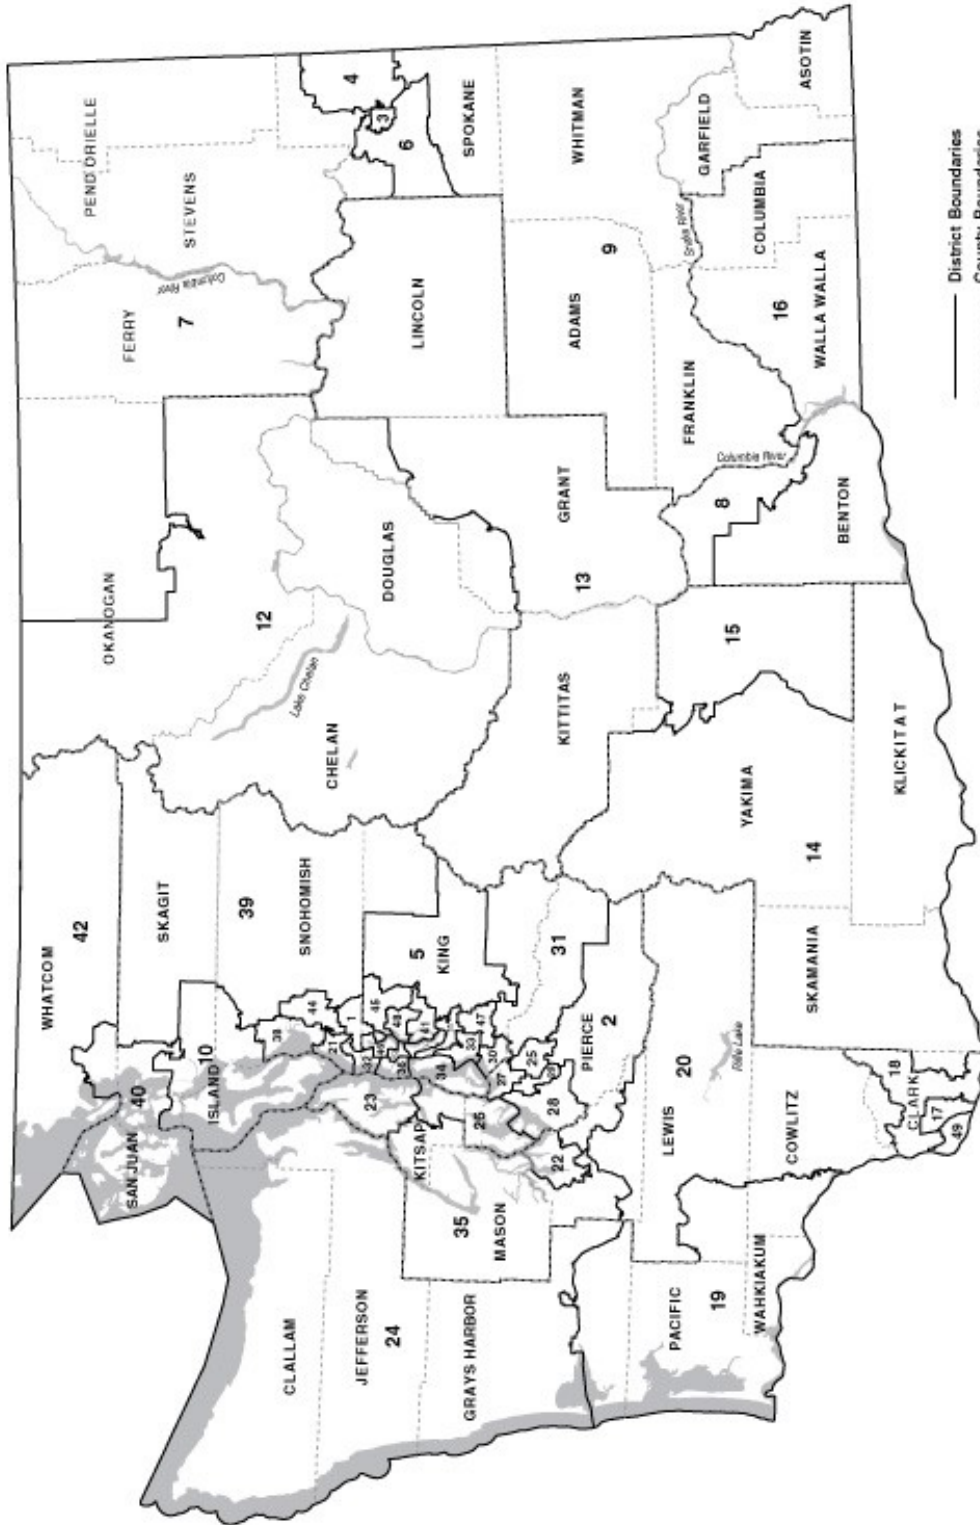

ADDITIONALLY PROVIDED that in the event Mr. Pritchard violates any of the conditions of this Conditional Commutation, as determined by the Governor, this Conditional Commutation may be revoked or amended and the sentence of the court reinstated, whereupon Mr. Pritchard will be immediately returned to the Washington Corrections Center or any such facility as the Secretary of the Department of Corrections deems appropriate. If any such violation occurs, the Department of Corrections shall provide a written report to the Governor regarding the violation. A written notice of the Governor's intent to review the alleged violations and revoke or amend the Conditional Commutation will then be mailed to the most recent address Mr. Pritchard has provided to the Office of the Governor or, if Mr. Pritchard is in custody, to his place of detention. If within 14 calendar days of the mailing of the notice, Mr. Pritchard submits a sworn • statement made under penalty of perjury that he has in fact complied with all conditions of this Conditional Commutation, the Governor shall appoint a hearing officer. The hearing officer will provide Mr. Pritchard an opportunity to be heard and to present witnesses and documentary evidence that he has met all conditions upon which the Conditional Commutation is granted. The hearing officer shall present findings of fact and a transcript of the hearing to the Governor for the Governor's final and conclusive determination on whether Mr. Pritchard has violated the conditions of this Conditional Commutation.

ADDITIONALLY PROVIDED that in the event Mr. Pritchard is convicted anywhere at any time of any offense the elements of which would classify the crime as a gross misdemeanor or felony in the state of Washington, this Conditional Commutation may be revoked and the sentence of the court reinstated, whereupon Mr. Pritchard will be immediately returned to the Washington Corrections Center or any such facility that the Secretary of the Department of Corrections deems appropriate.

ADDITIONALLY PROVIDED that Mr. Pritchard may be detained pending judicial disposition of any new criminal charge or a final determination of whether a condition of this Conditional Commutation has been violated, if the Governor determines there are reasonable grounds to believe he has violated the above conditions of this Conditional Commutation, reason to be concerned that he would pose a risk to any person or to the community, or that there is a possibility that Mr. Pritchard may abscond if not detained. If detained, Mr. Pritchard will be provided a preliminary hearing, as promptly as convenient after arrest, to determine whether there are reasonable grounds to believe he has violated the above conditions.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the state of Washington to be affixed at Olympia on this 8th day of November, A.D., two thousand and thirteen.
