REMARKS BY THE PRESIDENT

President Owen: "Everybody's telling stories on Norm, well he's a hard core fisherman, I think you might all know. And I've had the privilege fishing with him many times. When we fish, we have a process where you decide whether you're going to take turns when the fish hit; doesn't matter which pole their on or whether you're going to each guard your own rod so I, asked Norm and Norm said 'Well, you just watch your own rod.' So, by the time I had the third fish and he had none he said, 'You know we should be taking turns.' That's a true story by the way."

INTRODUCTION OF SPECIAL GUESTS

The President welcomed and introduced members of the Norm Dicks family, wife, Susie, sons Ryan and David who were seated in the gallery.

REMARKS BY US CONGRESSMAN NORM DICKS

Norm Dicks: "Thank you Mr. President, Nathan, Jeannie and all of you for presenting this resolution. I love the state of Washington and it's been an honor to serve for forty-four years, eight years with Senator Magnuson and thirty-six years in the House of Representatives. The only other time I was here was with my good friend Joel Pritchard when he was President of the Senate. Joel and I worked together on a bi-partisan basis and I just want to say one thing today. It is so important, both in Washington D. C. and here in Olympia, that we work together. Once the elections over you got to work in the best interest of the people of this state and I have always believed that. Last year in the House of Representatives Chairman Rogers and I, we passed eleven appropriations bills through the committee, regular order, record votes. We wanted to prove that Congress could still work. Now that task has been left to others this year and we have some great new people from our state: Derek Kilmer; Denny Heck; Susan DelBene. We have a great delegation led by Senator Murray and Senator Cantwell. So, I just want to thank the people who did all the work, presented the resolution. Nathan, I wish you the best. And again it has been a wonderful honor to serve the people of this state and we look forward to our retirement but we're still going to be active in trying to move forward on Puget Sound, Hood Canal and the major issues. We're going to take care of that National Park over there in Eastern Washington. Again, I just want to thank you for this resolution. Want to thank my family, my wife Suzie, Ryan and David. Kathy Callison is a relative of ours that is here today and all my friends and my staff. I've had a great staff and you can't get this done without good people surrounding you. Tim Thompson, Tom Luis, Kirk Becket are here today, Sarah Crumb and Joe Daccaa and another great friend, Ralph Munro, our Secretary of State. He and I have always had a bi-partisan relationship. We work together on important issues facing our state. Again, I just hope it will be a message that good people can work together to get things done for Washington State. Thank you.”

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Kohl-Welles: "Thank you Mr. President. I am rising just to remind everybody here that today there's a celebration of International Women's Day. We know that it began in the early 1900s in various forms around the world. It's been over a hundred years and we can recognize that there's been a great deal of accomplishments for women in our country and in our state and in the world, since then but there are remaining challenges facing women in our society. National Women's Day was first celebrated in 1909 in the United States and in 1911 a new International Women's Day was celebrated in parts of Europe. However, it was just a week later that in New York City the tragedy that's been known as the Triangle Fire occurred in which one hundred forty women, who were locked in a factory in New York City, perished because they could not escape the fire. They were primarily Italian and Jewish immigrants. There have been different forms of International Women's Day over the last one hundred years in many different countries but in our own country starting in 1981 the United States Congress determined that the week of March 8 would be National Women's History Week and 1987 Congress determined that March would be National Women's History Month. We have challenges. We have accomplishments. Around the world ninety-one countries have greater representation in their parliaments or national assemblies or congresses than we do. We rank seventy seventh in the world. So, I'd like to celebrate this day. Every day we take a lot of it for granted but we know that historically there were enormous efforts with loss of life, women being arrested for protesting that they did not have the right to vote until 1920 in the United States. Thank you."

MOTION

On motion of Senator Fain, Substitute Senate Bill No. 5187 was immediately transmitted to the House of Representatives.

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Keiser: "I also want to acknowledge that this is a day for paying attention to the status of women around the world. I think it's important for us to realize that the status for women in our country is not going forward. In fact, the wage gap between men's and women's wages has actually widened in the last year. It has dropped by a percentage point. In addition, a very concerning health development has occurred in the last few years. Women's longevity is actually dropping in our country. For women under the age of seventy five, the report from the Center for Disease Control now shows that longevity has been reduced in forty three percent of all of the counties in our country. This is a huge reversal in the progress that we had made in both wage gains and health gains and it's a concern. We need to look at what is causing this trend backwards because that's not the way for the future. We should not be having lives that are shorter. We should not be having pay checks that are smaller. It's time to turn around that trend. So, please keep that in mind as we celebrate International Women's Day."

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Fraser: "Thank you Mr. President. I would like to offer a few remarks on the occasion of International Women's Day. We are very fortunate to live in America, in the United States of America. Every woman and every man is very fortunate to live here but on the occasion on a day like this it's worth reflecting on why is it so controversial for women to be alive and live normal lives in so many parts of the world. We've made huge, in terms of our own country, we've made huge advances in the last century but in some other parts of the world, women do not have the right to inherit from their deceased husband and maybe the rest of the family will come in and just take everything and leave her destitute. In many parts of the world, women, girls lack opportunity for education. They lack opportunity for health care. They suffer from institutionally sanctioned violence from which there is really no escape. They often have a lack of job and business opportunities. In some countries they're virtually confined to their homes, can't get around their own communities. In some countries they're prohibited from driving. It's like why is all of this? In the United States, yes, we have lots left to do but we remain a beacon of hope, a beacon of opportunity for so many people around the world. And I think as Americans we should think about the status of women who live with so many troubles in so many parts of the world and we should encourage our, through all the resources that we have, to help and assist and provide models and above all assist in helping women around the world have better living conditions where they need them. Thank you."

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Roach: "Thank you Mr. President, I appreciate asking me to take the floor for a second. I wanted to thank Senator Fraser for bringing this forward and I want to thank Senator Kohl-Welles for bringing this forward and thank Senator Fraser for speaking so eloquently about it. I agree with the comments. I'm glad to see it in front of us. America is the greatest land in the world and we have a great obligation that goes with that. If you're women or men, we need to be looking at what's happening in the rest of the world. And I think a lot of us try to do that. I wanted to report, to let Senator Fraser know and others, last November I was in Zambia and while there met with the women in Parliament; Believe me, there aren't very many. There are just a few and once they get elected, they never get re-elected. Don't know why. They have six year terms. There are reasons for it. I met with women's group and I will be leading a group of women to Zambia within the next year to help them realize how the future can be for them and for Zambia. But, right now, if you're a women in Zambia you can't own property. You can't own any property. You can't own land. You can't own a car. And so imagine, if you're a man in Parliament and you vote to reverse that, do you think you would get re-elected the next time? Probably not. Every man who wouldn't probably like that is not going to vote for you. So, it's politically very difficult to change that custom. And Zambia is just one country around the world where women do not have the same rights let alone some of the atrocities that are done to women just because they are women. And all the trafficking that we've been talking about here and so forth. But even little things, seemingly little things to us, to be able to inherit something. You know? If you're in a family with all girls nothing comes your way. It goes to a distant cousin. So I wanted to thank everyone for this, International Women's Year is an important thing. And I can remember, by the way Senator Fraser, years ago going to the IWY in Houston, I think that was like 1977. Maybe didn't share a lot of similar views at that time but as we've all grown, in these issues we certainly agree. Thank you Mr. President."

FIFTY FOURTH DAY, MARCH 8, 2013

He's been with his partner, Sean, for eighteen years and due to the courage of the people of New York and Washington State and Connecticut and Iowa and Maine and Maryland, and Massachusetts and New Hampshire and Vermont and Washington D. C., all loving couples now have the right to be married in those states. Last year we passed historic legislation out of this body and we had an incredibly respectful dialogue when we did so. Sec. 2. RCW 79.100.100 and 2010 c 161 s 1161 are each amended to read as follows:

(1)(a) The derelict vessel removal account is created in the state treasury. All receipts from RCW 79.100.050 and 79.100.060 and those moneys specified in RCW 88.02.640 must be deposited into the account. The account is authorized to receive fund transfers and appropriations from the general fund, deposits from the derelict vessel removal surcharge under RCW 88.02.640(4), as well as gifts, grants, and endowments from public or private sources as may be made from time to time, in trust or otherwise, for the use and benefit of the purposes of this chapter and expend the same or any income according to the terms of the gifts, grants, or endowments provided those terms do not conflict with any provisions of this section or any guidelines developed to prioritize reimbursement of removal projects associated with this chapter.

(b) Moneys in the account may only be spent after appropriation. Expenditures from the account ~~((must))~~ may only be used by the department for developing and administering the vessel turn-in program created in section 40 of this act and to reimburse authorized public entities for up to ninety percent of the total reasonable and auditable administrative, removal, disposal, and environmental damage costs of abandoned or derelict vessels when the previous owner is either unknown after a reasonable search effort or insolvent. Reimbursement may not be made unless the department determines that the public entity has made reasonable efforts to identify and locate the party responsible for the vessel, or any other person or entity that has incurred secondary liability under section 36 of this act, regardless of the title of owner of the vessel.

(c) Funds in the account resulting from transfers from the general fund or from the deposit of funds from the watercraft excise tax as provided for under RCW 82.49.030 must be used to reimburse one hundred percent of ~~((these))~~ costs and should be prioritized for the removal of large vessels.

(d) Costs associated with the removal and disposal of an abandoned or derelict vessel under the authority granted in RCW 53.08.320 also qualify for reimbursement from the derelict vessel removal account.

(e) In each biennium, up to twenty percent of the expenditures from the derelict vessel removal account may be used for administrative expenses of the department of licensing and department of natural resources in implementing this chapter.

(2) (If the balance of the account reaches one million dollars as of March 1st of any year, exclusive of any transfer or appropriation of funds into the account or funds deposited into the account collected under RCW 88.02.640(5), the department must notify the department of licensing and the collection of any fees associated with this account must be suspended for the following fiscal year.

(3)) Priority for use of this account is for the removal of derelict and abandoned vessels that are in danger of sinking, breaking up, or blocking navigation channels, or that present environmental risks such as leaking fuel or other hazardous substances. The department must develop criteria, in the form of informal guidelines, to prioritize removal projects associated with this chapter, but may not consider whether the applicant is a state or local entity when prioritizing. The guidelines must also include guidance to the authorized public entities as to what removal activities and associated costs are reasonable and eligible for reimbursement.

~~((#))~~ (3) The department must keep all authorized public entities ~~((apprized))~~ apprised of the balance of the derelict vessel removal account and the funds available for reimbursement. The guidelines developed by the department must also be made available to the other authorized public entities. This subsection ~~((#))~~ (3) must be satisfied by utilizing the least costly method, including maintaining the information on the department's internet web site, or any other cost-effective method.

~~((5))~~ (4) An authorized public entity may contribute its ten percent of costs that are not eligible for reimbursement by using in-kind services, including the use of existing staff, equipment, and volunteers.

~~((6))~~ (5) This chapter does not guarantee reimbursement for an authorized public entity. Authorized public entities seeking certainty in reimbursement prior to taking action under this chapter may first notify the department of their proposed action and the estimated total costs. Upon notification by an authorized public entity, the department must make the authorized public entity aware of the status of the fund and the likelihood of reimbursement being available. The department may offer technical assistance and assure reimbursement for up to two years following the removal action if an assurance is appropriate given the balance of the fund and the details of the proposed action.

Sec. 3. RCW 79A.65.020 and 2002 c 286 s 21 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) The commission may take reasonable measures, including but not limited to the use of anchors, chains, ropes, and locks, or removal from the water, to secure unauthorized vessels located at or on a commission facility so that the unauthorized vessels are in the possession and control of the commission. At least ten days before securing any unauthorized registered vessel, the commission shall send notification by registered mail to the last registered owner or registered owners of the vessel at their last known address or addresses.

(2) The commission may take reasonable measures, including but not limited to the use of anchors, chains, ropes, locks, or removal from the water, to secure any vessel if the vessel, in the opinion of the commission, is a nuisance, is in danger of sinking or creating other damage to a commission facility, or is otherwise a threat to the health, safety, or welfare of the public or environment at a commission facility. The costs of any such procedure shall be paid by the vessel's owner.

(3) At the time of securing any vessel under subsection (1) or (2) of this section, the commission shall attach to the vessel a readily visible notice or, when practicable, shall post such notice in a conspicuous location at the commission facility in the event the vessel is removed from the premises. The notice shall be of a reasonable size and shall contain the following information:

(b) A statement that the vessel has been secured by the commission and that if the commission's charges, if any, are not paid and the vessel is not removed by (the thirty-fifth consecutive day following the date of attachment or posting of the notice), the vessel will be considered abandoned and will be sold at public auction to satisfy the charges;

(c) The address and telephone number where additional information may be obtained concerning the securing of the vessel and conditions for its release; and

(d) A description of the owner's or secured party's rights under this chapter.

(4) With respect to registered vessels: Within five days of the date that notice is attached or posted under subsection (3) of this section, the commission shall send such notice, by registered mail, to each registered owner.

(5) If a vessel is secured under subsection (1) or (2) of this section, the owner, or any person with a legal right to possess the vessel, may claim the vessel by:

(a) Making arrangements satisfactory to the commission for the immediate removal of the vessel from the commission's control or for authorized storage or moorage; and

(b) Making payment to the commission of all reasonable charges incurred by the commission in securing the vessel under subsections (1) and (2) of this section and of all moorage fees owed to the commission.

(6) A vessel is considered abandoned if, within the thirty-five day period following the date of attachment or posting of notice in subsection (3) of this section, the vessel has not been claimed under subsection (5) of this section.

(7) If the owner or owners of a vessel are unable to reimburse the commission for all reasonable charges under subsections (1) and (2) of this section within a reasonable time, the commission may seek reimbursement of ~~((seventy-five))~~ ninety percent of all reasonable and auditable costs from the derelict vessel removal account established in RCW 79.100.100.

(2) If a contract is completed under this section, the local government shall serve as the authorized public entity for the removal of ~~((the))~~ a derelict or abandoned vessel from the ~~((marina owner's))~~ property of the private moorage facility owner. The contract must provide for the ~~((marina owner))~~ private moorage facility owner to be financially responsible for the removal and disposal costs that are not reimbursed by the department as provided under RCW 79.100.100, and any additional reasonable administrative costs incurred by the local government during the removal of the derelict or abandoned vessel.

(3) Prior to the commencement of any removal which will seek reimbursement from the derelict vessel removal program, the contract and the proposed vessel removal shall be submitted to the department for review and approval. The local government shall use the procedure specified under RCW 79.100.100(6).

(4) If the private moorage facility owner has already seized the vessel under chapter 88.26 RCW and title has reverted to the moorage facility, the moorage facility is not considered the owner under this chapter for purposes of cost recovery for actions taken under this section.

Sec. 5. RCW 43.19.1919 and 2011 1st sp.s. c 43 s 215 are each amended to read as follows:

(b) Post notice of its intent clearly on the vessel for thirty days and publish its intent at least once, more than ten days but less than twenty days prior to taking custody, in a newspaper of general circulation for the county in which the vessel is located; and

(c) Post notice of its intent on the department's internet web site on a page specifically designated for such notices. If the authorized public entity is not the department, the department must facilitate the internet posting.

(2) All notices sent, posted, or published in accordance with this section must, at a minimum, explain the intent of the authorized public entity to take custody of the vessel, the rights of the authorized public entity after taking custody of the vessel as provided in RCW 79.100.030, the procedures the owner must follow in order to avoid custody being taken by the authorized public entity, the procedures the owner must follow in order to reclaim possession after custody is taken by the authorized public entity, and the financial liabilities that the owner may incur as provided for in RCW 79.100.060.

(3)(a) ~~((#a))~~ Any authorized public entity may tow, beach, or otherwise take temporary possession of a vessel if the owner of the vessel cannot be located or is unwilling or unable to assume immediate responsibility for the vessel and if the vessel ~~((is))~~:

(i) Is in immediate danger of sinking, breaking up, or blocking navigational channels; or

(ii) Poses a reasonably imminent threat to human health or safety, including a threat of environmental contamination~~((; and~~ (iii) the owner of the vessel cannot be located or is unwilling or unable to assume immediate responsibility for the vessel, any authorized public entity may tow, beach, or otherwise take temporary possession of the vessel).

(b) Before taking temporary possession of the vessel, the authorized public entity must make reasonable attempts to consult with the department or the United States coast guard to ensure that other remedies are not available. The basis for taking temporary possession of the vessel must be set out in writing by the authorized public entity within seven days of taking action and be submitted to the owner, if known, as soon thereafter as is reasonable. If the authorized public entity has not already provided the required notice, immediately after taking possession of the vessel, the authorized public entity must initiate the notice provisions in subsection (1) of this section. The authorized public entity must complete the notice requirements of subsection (1) of this section before using or disposing of the vessel as authorized in RCW 79.100.050.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 36. A new section is added to chapter 79.100 RCW to read as follows:

2013 REGULAR SESSION

(1) A vessel owner must obtain a vessel inspection under this section prior to transferring a vessel that is:

(a) More than sixty-five feet in length and more than forty years old; and

(b) Either:

(i) Is registered or required to be registered under chapter 88.02 RCW; or

(ii) Is listed or required to be listed under chapter 84.40 RCW.

(2) Where required under subsection (1) of this section, a vessel owner must provide a copy of the vessel inspection documentation to the transferee and, if the department did not conduct the inspection, to the department prior to the transfer.

(3) Failure to comply with the requirements of subsections (1) and (2) of this section will result in the transferor having secondary liability under RCW 79.100.060 if the vessel is later abandoned by the transferee or becomes derelict prior to a subsequent ownership transfer.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 37. (1) By December 31, 2013, the department shall adopt by rule procedures and standards for the vessel inspections required under section 36 of this act. The procedures and standards must identify the public or private entities authorized to conduct inspections, the required elements of an inspection, and the manner in which inspection results must be documented. The vessel inspection required under this section must be designed to:

(a) Provide the transferee with current information about the condition of the vessel, including the condition of its hull and key operating systems, prior to the transfer;

(b) Provide the department with information under (a) of this subsection for each applicable vessel and, more broadly, to improve the department's understanding of the condition of the larger, older boats in the state's waters;

(c) Discourage the future abandonment or dereliction of the vessel; and

(d) Maximize the efficiency and effectiveness of the inspection process, including with respect to the time and resources of the transferor, transferee, and the state.

(2) The department shall work with appropriate government agencies and stakeholders in designing the inspection process and standards under this section.

(3) This section expires July 31, 2014.

Sec. 38. RCW 79.100.060 and 2006 c 153 s 4 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) The owner of an abandoned or derelict vessel, or any person or entity that has incurred secondary liability under section 36 of this act, is responsible for reimbursing an authorized public entity for all reasonable and auditable costs associated with the removal or disposal of the owner's vessel under this chapter. These costs include, but are not limited to, costs incurred exercising the authority granted in RCW 79.100.030, all administrative costs incurred by the authorized public entity during the procedure set forth in RCW 79.100.040, removal and disposal costs, and costs associated with environmental damages directly or indirectly caused by the vessel. An authorized public entity that has taken temporary possession of a vessel may require that all reasonable and auditable costs associated with the removal of the vessel be paid before the vessel is released to the owner.

(2) Reimbursement for costs may be sought from an owner, or any person or entity that has incurred secondary liability under section 36 of this act, who is identified subsequent to the vessel's removal and disposal.

(3) If the full amount of all costs due to the authorized public entity under this chapter is not paid to the authorized public entity within thirty days after first notifying the responsible parties of the amounts owed, the authorized public entity or the department may bring an action in any court of competent jurisdiction to recover the costs, plus reasonable attorneys' fees and costs incurred by the authorized public entity.

Sec. 39. RCW 88.26.020 and 1993 c 474 s 2 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) Any private moorage facility operator may take reasonable measures, including the use of chains, ropes, and locks, or removal from the water, to secure vessels within the private moorage facility so that the vessels are in the possession and control of the operator and cannot be removed from the facility. These procedures may be used if an owner mooring or storing a vessel at the facility fails, after being notified that charges are owing and of the owner's right to commence legal proceedings to contest that such charges are owing, to pay charges owed or to commence legal proceedings. Notification shall be by two separate letters, one sent by first-class mail and one sent by registered mail to the owner and any lienholder of record at the last known address. In the case of a transient vessel, or where no address was furnished by the owner, the operator need not give notice prior to securing the vessel. At the time of securing the vessel, an operator shall attach to the vessel a readily visible notice. The notice shall be of a reasonable size and shall contain the following information:

(a) The date and time the notice was attached;

(b) A statement that if the account is not paid in full within ninety days from the time the notice is attached the vessel may be sold at public auction to satisfy the charges; and

(c) The address and telephone number where additional information may be obtained concerning release of the vessel.

After a vessel is secured, the operator shall make a reasonable effort to notify the owner and any lienholder of record by registered mail in order to give the owner the information contained in the notice.

(2) A private moorage facility operator, at his or her discretion, may move moored vessels ashore for storage within properties under the operator's control or for storage with a private person under their control as bailees of the private moorage facility, if the vessel is, in the opinion of the operator, a nuisance, in danger of sinking or creating other damage, or is owing charges. The costs of any such procedure shall be paid by the vessel's owner.

(3) If a vessel is secured under subsection (1) of this section or moved ashore under subsection (2) of this section, the owner who is obligated to the private operator for charges may regain possession of the vessel by:

(a) Making arrangements satisfactory with the operator for the immediate removal of the vessel from the facility or for authorized moorage; and

(b) Making payment to the operator of all charges, or by posting with the operator a sufficient cash bond or other acceptable security, to be held in trust by the operator pending written agreement of the parties with respect to payment by the vessel owner of the amount owing, or pending resolution of the matter of the charges in a civil action in a court of competent jurisdiction. After entry of judgment, including any appeals, in a court of competent jurisdiction, or after the parties reach agreement with respect to payment, the trust shall terminate and the operator shall receive so much of the bond or other security as agreed, or as is necessary, to satisfy any judgment, costs, and interest as may be awarded to the operator. The balance shall be refunded immediately to the owner at the last known address.

(4) If a vessel has been secured by the operator under subsection (1) of this section and is not released to the owner under the bonding provisions of this section within ninety days after notifying or attempting to notify the owner under subsection (1) of this section, the vessel is conclusively presumed to have been abandoned by the owner.

(5) If a vessel moored or stored at a private moorage facility is abandoned, the operator may authorize the public sale of the vessel by authorized personnel, consistent with this section, to the highest and best bidder for cash as follows:

(a) Before the vessel is sold, the vessel owner and any lienholder of record shall be given at least twenty days' notice of the sale in the manner set forth in subsection (1) of this section if the name and address of the owner is known. The notice shall contain the time and place of the sale, a reasonable description of the vessel to be sold, and the amount of charges owed with respect to the vessel. The notice of sale shall be published at least once, more than ten but not more than twenty days before the sale, in a newspaper of general circulation in the county in which the facility is located. This notice shall include the name of the vessel, if any, the last known owner and address, and a reasonable description of the vessel to be sold. The operator may bid all or part of its charges at the sale and may become a purchaser at the sale.

(b) Before the vessel is sold, any person seeking to redeem an impounded vessel under this section may commence a lawsuit in the superior court for the county in which the vessel was impounded to contest the validity of the impoundment or the amount of charges owing. This lawsuit must be commenced within sixty days of the date the notification was provided under subsection (1) of this section, or the right to a hearing is deemed waived and the owner is liable for any charges owing the operator. In the event of litigation, the prevailing party is entitled to reasonable attorneys' fees and costs.

(c) The proceeds of a sale under this section shall be applied first to the payment of any liens superior to the claim for charges, then to payment of the charges, then to satisfy any other liens on the vessel in the order of their priority. The balance, if any, shall be paid to the owner. If the owner cannot in the exercise of due diligence be located by the operator within one year of the date of the sale, the excess funds from the sale shall revert to the department of revenue under chapter 63.29 RCW. If the sale is for a sum less than the applicable charges, the operator is entitled to assert a claim for deficiency, however, the deficiency judgment shall not exceed the moorage fees owed for the previous six-month period.

(d) In the event no one purchases the vessel at a sale, or a vessel is not removed from the premises or other arrangements are not made within ten days of sale, title to the vessel will revert to the operator.

(e) Either a minimum bid may be established or a letter of credit may be required from the buyer, or both, to discourage the future abandonment of the vessel.

(6) The rights granted to a private moorage facility operator under this section are in addition to any other legal rights an operator may have to hold and sell a vessel and in no manner does this section alter those rights, or affect the priority of other liens on a vessel.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 40. A new section is added to chapter 79.100 RCW to read as follows:

(1) The department may develop and administer a voluntary vessel turn-in program.

(2) The purpose of the voluntary vessel turn-in program is to allow the department to dismantle and dispose of vessels that pose a high risk of becoming a derelict vessel or abandoned vessel, but that do not yet meet the definition of those terms. The department shall design the program with the goal of dismantling and disposing of as many vessels as available resources allow, particularly those vessels posing the greatest risk of becoming abandoned or derelict in the future.

(3) The department shall disseminate information about the vessel turn-in program, including information about the application process, on its internet site and through appropriate agency publications and information sources as determined by the department. The department shall disseminate this information for a reasonable time as determined by the department prior to accepting applications.

(4) The department shall accept and review vessel turn-in program applications from eligible vessel owners, including private marinas that have gained legal title to a vessel in an advanced state of disrepair, during the time period or periods identified by the department. In order to be eligible for the vessel turn-in program, an applicant must demonstrate to the department's satisfaction that the applicant:

(a) Is a Washington resident or business;

(b) Owns a vessel that is in an advanced state of disrepair, has minimal or no value, and has a high likelihood of becoming an abandoned or derelict vessel; and

(c) Has insufficient resources to properly dispose of the vessel outside of the vessel turn-in program.

(5) Decisions regarding program eligibility and whether to accept a vessel for dismantling and disposal under the turn-in program are within the sole discretion of the department.

(6) The department may take other actions not inconsistent with this section in order to develop and administer the vessel turn-in program.

(7) The department may not spend more than two hundred thousand dollars in any one biennium on the program established in this section.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 41. (1) In compliance with RCW 43.01.036, the department of natural resources must provide a brief summary of the vessel turn-in program authorized under section 40 of this act to the legislature by September 1, 2014, including information about applications for the program, the vessels disposed of, and any recommendations for modification of the program.

(2) This section expires July 31, 2015.

Sec. 42. RCW 43.21B.305 and 2005 c 34 s 2 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) In an appeal that involves a penalty of fifteen thousand dollars or less or that involves a derelict or abandoned vessel under RCW 79.100.120, the appeal may be heard by one member of the board, whose decision shall be the final decision of the board. The board shall define by rule alternative procedures to expedite appeals involving penalties of fifteen thousand dollars or less or involving a derelict or abandoned vessel. These alternatives may include: Mediation, upon agreement of all parties; submission of testimony by affidavit; or other forms that may lead to less formal and faster resolution of appeals.

(2) For appeals that involve a derelict or abandoned vessel under RCW 79.100.120 only, an administrative law judge employed by the board may be substituted for a board member under this section.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 43. A new section is added to chapter 79.100 RCW to read as follows:

(1) An officer or employee of an authorized public entity, or the department of ecology at the request of an authorized public entity, may, consistent with subsection (2) of this section, board any vessel at any reasonable time for the purpose of administering this chapter including identifying ownership of a vessel, assessing the structural integrity of a vessel, and assessing whether a vessel meets the criteria described under RCW 79.100.040(3).

(2)(a) Prior to boarding any vessel under the authority of this section, an officer or employee of an authorized public entity, or the department of ecology at the request of an authorized public entity, must apply for and obtain an administrative search warrant in either Thurston county superior court or the superior court in the county where the vessel is located, unless a warrant is not otherwise required by law. The court may issue an administrative search warrant for purposes consistent with subsection (1) of this section.

(b) Prior to requesting an administrative search warrant under this subsection, the officer or employee must make a reasonable effort to contact the owner or the owner's designee and obtain consent to board the vessel.

(3) Nothing in this section affects actions taken by an authorized public entity under RCW 79.100.040 or by an authorized public entity or other agency under a separate statutory authority.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 44. (1) The department of natural resources must, in consultation with the department of ecology and appropriate stakeholders, evaluate potential changes to laws and rules related to abandoned and derelict vessels that increase vessel owner responsibility and address challenges associated with the economics of removing vessels from the water. This evaluation must include the development and analysis of:

(a) Administrative and legislative vessel owner responsibility options that seek to ensure the prevention and cleanup of derelict and abandoned vessels, including through the development of requirements applicable to the transfer of vessels at high risk of becoming abandoned or derelict by public and private moorage facility operators; and

(b) The identification of challenges and roadblocks to deconstructing derelict vessels and transforming them into a viable scrap metal product.

(2) The department of natural resources may choose which appropriate stakeholders are consulted in the implementation of this section. However, persons with relevant expertise on financial responsibility mechanisms, such as insurance and surety bonds and letters of credit, must be included. The department of natural resources must also seek to ensure opportunities for interested members of the senate and house of representatives to provide input into the work group process and conclusions.

(3) The department of natural resources must provide a summary of the options developed by the work group, or a draft of proposed legislation, to the legislature consistent with RCW 43.01.036 by December 15, 2013.

(4) This section expires June 30, 2014.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 45. Section 33 of this act expires June 30, 2019.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 46. Section 34 of this act takes effect June 30, 2019.

FIFTY SEVENTH DAY, MARCH 11, 2013

SECOND READING

SENATE BILL NO. 5219, by Senators Honeyford, Hatfield, Smith, Schoesler, Delvin and Hewitt

Retaining water resources to assure the vitality of local economies.

MOTION

On motion of Senator Honeyford, Second Substitute Senate Bill No. 5219 was substituted for Senate Bill No. 5219 and the second substitute bill was placed on the second reading and read the second time.

MOTION

Senator Hargrove moved that the following striking amendment by Senators Hargrove and Honeyford be adopted:

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

"NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. The legislature finds that purchase of lands by state agencies for less intensive economic uses may affect the economic vitality of local communities by reducing essential water resources necessary to retain economic activity of the area. The legislature finds that a number of parcels of land purchased by state agencies have water rights appurtenant to them. The legislature continues to support agency efforts to allow continued use of portions of land parcels that contribute to the local economy by actions such as leasing back irrigated parcels to local producers for continued production of food and other agricultural commodities. The legislature finds that the economies in many rural areas of the state have declined and are in need of retaining water resources to prevent further decline.

The purpose of this act is to establish a process to retain water rights when they are no longer used on state purchased lands and to make this resource available for alternate uses to continue to support the local economy, jobs, and the tax base rather than be permanently lost to the economy of the area through relinquishment under chapter 90.14 RCW.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. A new section is added to chapter 90.42 RCW to read as follows:

(1) Within existing appropriations, the department of fish and wildlife, the parks and recreation commission, and the department of natural resources shall each maintain an inventory of water rights appurtenant to each parcel of land purchased by their agencies. Each agency shall seek assistance from the department of ecology in maintaining this inventory. At least once each year, each agency shall review and record whether all or a portion of the water right for each of these lands purchased by the agency has been beneficially used. If the agency does not plan on continuing beneficial use of all or a portion of the water right on the state-owned lands, or if all or a portion of a particular water right has been unused during the prior four-consecutive-year period, the agency shall file a change or transfer application with the department of ecology and commence the process of transferring the unused portion of the water right to the local economy trust water account established in this chapter. Before the end of the fifth year of nonuse of all or a portion of the water rights, the transfer must be completed and the water right shall be temporarily held by the department of ecology as a local economy trust water right until the water right is transferred to another beneficial use as provided in subsection (3) of this section.

(2) If an agency has commenced the process of transferring all or a portion of a water right as required under subsection (1) of this section, but subsequently placed the water right to beneficial use on the state-owned land before the end of the fifth year, and plans to continue to fully use the water right in subsequent years, the agency shall notify the department of ecology to terminate the transfer of the water right to the local economy trust water account.

(3) Water rights temporarily held by the department of ecology under this section shall be available for transfer to a new use or uses within the same WRIA as the original use, consistent with RCW 90.03.380 or 90.44.100, as appropriate. Once a water right is transferred to the local economy trust water account and the department has completed a trust water agreement and identified the area of suitability for transfer consistent with chapter 90.38 or 90.44 RCW, the department must provide notification that a water right may be available to the person who filed an application for a new water right under chapter 90.03 or 90.44 RCW as appropriate, based on whose water right appropriation is next in line for processing within the area of suitability for transfer within the WRIA.

(4)(a) A request to transfer the water right may be processed if:

(i) The applicant responds to the department within thirty calendar days; and

(ii) The applicant agrees to pay the department's costs associated with placing the new water supplies into the local economy trust water account and completing the transfer from the local economy trust water account to the applicant's new use.

(b) If the thirty-day period elapses and an affirmative written response is not received from the applicant by the department, the department shall provide the notice to the next applicant in line in accordance with subsection (3) of this section.

(5) If the department has not issued a permit within three years of the date that the water right was transferred into the local economy trust water account, the department shall submit a written report to the standing committees of the legislature with jurisdiction over water right matters, and to the legislators representing the area in which the original water right was used providing the reasons for the failure to approve a transfer of the water right to a new use.

(6) If a person does not indicate an interest in obtaining a water right from the local economy trust water account, it does not affect the standing of the original water right application.

(7) This section does not apply to properties with deed restrictions in conflict with this section or where application of this section would otherwise violate law.

(8) The provisions of this section and section 3 of this act apply to all WRIsAs in the state.

(9) This section does not apply to nonconsumptive water rights used by fish hatcheries and associated rearing ponds, or to water rights associated with permit-exempt wells established under RCW 90.44.050.

(10) This section does not apply to state lands as defined in RCW 79.02.010, managed by the department of natural resources, or to state forest lands as defined in RCW 79.02.010.

(11) As used in this section and section 3 of this act, "WRIA" means a water resource inventory area established in chapter 173-500 WAC.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. A new section is added to chapter 90.42 RCW to read as follows:

(1) If the agency's nonuse of a water right meets any of the sufficient cause exceptions listed in RCW 90.14.140(1), the agency is not required to place that specific unused water into the local economy trust water account.

(2) Upon the transfer of a water right under section 2(1) of this act, the department shall establish a local economy trust water account for the WRIA in which the water right had been used. The department shall place and hold the water right in the account pending completion of a transfer to another beneficial use as provided in this section and section 2 of this act.

(3) The department may transfer all or a portion of a water right held in the local economy trust water account to a new water use identified through the process in section 2 of this act upon occurrence of all of the following:

(a) The department receives a request from a qualified applicant identified pursuant to section 2 of this act for transfer of a water right or portion thereof; and

(b) The request is reviewed and approved under RCW 90.03.380 or 90.44.100, as applicable, for the new beneficial use or uses. The department may not authorize the use of a water right if it causes detriment or injury to existing rights.

(4) The priority date of the water right or portion thereof transferred by the department from the local economy trust water account shall be the priority date of the underlying water right that had been transferred into the local economy trust water account, but as between the underlying water right and the new transferred right, the underlying water right shall be deemed to be senior in priority unless otherwise specified by agreement between the agency holding the underlying water right and the new water right holder.

(5) The department shall issue documentation for that water right or portion thereof to the new water right holder based on the requirements applicable to the transfer of other water rights from the trust water program, as provided under this chapter or chapter 90.38 RCW, as applicable. Documentation must include a description of the property to which the water right will be appurtenant after the water right or portion thereof is transferred from local economy trust water account to the new water right holder.

(6) The department's decision on the transfer of a water right or portion thereof from the local economy trust water account may be appealed to the pollution control hearings board under RCW 43.21B.230 or to a superior court conducting a general adjudication under RCW 90.03.210.

(7) Notice of application for transfer of a water right under this section must be published by the applicant as provided under RCW 90.03.380. The department must provide electronic notice and opportunity to comment to affected local governments and affected federally recognized tribal governments before initiating use of the local economy trust water account for the first time in a WRIA.

(8) Water rights are not subject to loss by statutory relinquishment under RCW 90.14.130 through 90.14.200 while such water rights are:

(a) Waiting for a final determination from the department on a change or transfer application filed under RCW 90.03.250, 90.03.380, or 90.44.100;

(b) In a local economy trust water account while being held by the department as a trust water right under this chapter or chapter 90.38 RCW; or

(c) Within a construction or development schedule period granted in the approved water right transfer document or any development schedule granted under RCW 90.03.320 for the new water right holder to place the water to beneficial use."

MOTION

On motion of Senator Hatfield, Substitute Senate Bill No. 5200 was substituted for Senate Bill No. 5200 and the substitute bill was placed on the second reading and read the second time.

MOTION

Senator Hatfield moved that the following striking amendment by Senator Hatfield be adopted:

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

"Sec. 1. RCW 90.44.105 and 1997 c 446 s 1 are each amended to read as follows:

(1)(a) Upon the issuance by the department of an amendment to the appropriate permit or certificate of groundwater right, the holder of a valid right to withdraw public groundwaters may consolidate that right with a groundwater right exempt from the permit requirement under RCW 90.44.050, without affecting the priority of either of the water rights being consolidated. Such a consolidation amendment shall be issued only after publication of a notice of the application, a comment period, and a determination made by the department, in lieu of meeting the conditions required for an amendment under RCW 90.44.100, that:

((4)) (i) The exempt well taps the same body of public groundwater as the well to which the water right of the exempt well is to be consolidated;

((2)) (ii) Use of the exempt well shall be discontinued upon approval of the consolidation amendment to the permit or certificate;

((3)) (iii) Legally enforceable agreements have been entered to prohibit the construction of another exempt well to serve the area previously served by the exempt well to be discontinued, and such agreements are binding upon subsequent owners of the land through appropriate binding limitations on the title to the land;

((4)) (iv) The exempt well or wells the use of which is to be discontinued will be properly decommissioned in accordance with chapter 18.104 RCW and the rules of the department; and

((5)) (v) Other existing rights, including ground and surface water rights and minimum stream flows adopted by rule, shall not be impaired.

(b) The notice required by this section shall be published by the applicant in a newspaper of general circulation in the county or counties in which the wells for the rights to be consolidated are located once a week for two consecutive weeks. The applicant shall provide evidence of the publication of the notice to the department. The comment period shall be for thirty days beginning on the date the second notice is published.

(2) The amount of the water to be added to the holder's permit or certificate upon discontinuance of the exempt well or approval of a consolidation under subsection (3) of this section shall be the average withdrawal from the well, in gallons per day, for the most recent five-year period preceding the date of the application, except that the amount shall not be less than eight hundred gallons per day for each residential connection or such alternative minimum amount as may be established by the department in consultation with the department of health, and shall not exceed five thousand gallons per day. The department shall presume that an amount identified by the applicant as being the average withdrawal from the well during the most recent five-year period is accurate if the applicant establishes that the amount identified for the use or uses of water from the exempt well is consistent with the average amount of water used for similar use or uses in the general area in which the exempt well is located. The department shall develop, in consultation with the department of health, a schedule of average household and small-area landscaping water usages in various regions of the state to aid the department and applicants in identifying average amounts used for these purposes. The presumption does not apply if the department finds credible evidence of nonuse of the well during the required period or credible evidence that the use of water from the exempt well or the intensity of the use of the land supported by water from the exempt well is substantially different than such uses in the general area in which the exempt well is located. The department shall also accord a presumption in favor of approval of such consolidation if the requirements of this subsection are met and the discontinuance of the exempt well is consistent with an adopted coordinated water system plan under chapter 70.116 RCW, an adopted comprehensive land use plan under chapter 36.70A RCW, or other comprehensive watershed management plan applicable to the area containing an objective of decreasing the number of existing and newly developed small groundwater withdrawal wells. The department shall provide a priority to reviewing and deciding upon applications subject to this subsection, and shall make its decision within sixty days of the end of the comment period following publication of the notice by the applicant or within sixty days of the date on which compliance with the state environmental policy act, chapter 43.21C RCW, is completed, whichever is later. The applicant and the department may by prior mutual agreement extend the time for making a decision.

2013 REGULAR SESSION

(3) An existing publicly owned and operated group A or group B water system, as those terms are defined in RCW 70.119A.020, may serve a proposed new development with a quantity of water that otherwise would be withdrawn for beneficial use under the permit exemption in RCW 90.44.050. However, not more than five thousand gallons per day may be provided in this manner by any water system. The existing water rights for a water system will be increased by the amount of water beneficially used for that purpose if the following conditions are met:

(a) A determination is made under RCW 58.17.110 or 19.27.097 that potable water is legally available for single or group domestic use under the permit exemption in RCW 90.44.050 and that provision of this water by the existing water system would comply with water resource rules adopted by the department under chapter 90.54 RCW;

(b) The existing water system does not have water rights in sufficient quantities to serve the proposed new development and withdraws water from the same body of public groundwater as would a new well constructed to serve the proposed new development;

(c) The water system is in compliance with the water use efficiency requirements of RCW 70.119A.180(4), drinking water rules adopted by the department of health under RCW 43.70.040, and rules adopted by the state board of health under RCW 43.20.050(2)(a); and

(d) Within five years of providing a water supply under this subsection, the water system complies with the applicable requirements of subsections (1) and (2) of this section and, at such time, provides the department with metered water use information for the new development to serve as the basis for quantifying the consolidation."

SECOND READING

SENATE BILL NO. 5389, by Senators Billig, Fain, Hargrove, Litzow, Murray, Tom, Kohl-Welles, Rolfes, Harper and Chase

Concerning sibling visitation for children in foster care.
Revised for 2nd Substitute: Concerning sibling visitation and sibling contact for children in foster care.

MOTION

On motion of Senator Billig, Second Substitute Senate Bill No. 5389 was substituted for Senate Bill No. 5389 and the second substitute bill was placed on the second reading and read the second time.

MOTION

Senator Billig moved that the following striking amendment by Senators Billig and Carrell be adopted:

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

"NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. The Washington state legislature recognizes the importance of frequent and meaningful contact for siblings separated due to involvement in the foster care system. The legislature also recognizes that children and youth in foster care have not always been provided adequate opportunities for visitation with their siblings. It is the intent of the legislature to encourage appropriate facilitation of sibling visits.

Sec. 2. RCW 13.34.136 and 2011 c 309 s 29 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) Whenever a child is ordered removed from the home, a permanency plan shall be developed no later than sixty days from the time the supervising agency assumes responsibility for providing services, including placing the child, or at the time of a hearing under RCW 13.34.130, whichever occurs first. The permanency planning process continues until a permanency planning goal is achieved or dependency is dismissed. The planning process shall include reasonable efforts to return the child to the parent's home.

(2) The agency supervising the dependency shall submit a written permanency plan to all parties and the court not less than fourteen days prior to the scheduled hearing. Responsive reports of parties not in agreement with the department's or supervising agency's proposed permanency plan must be provided to the department or supervising agency, all other parties, and the court at least seven days prior to the hearing.

The permanency plan shall include:

(a) A permanency plan of care that shall identify one of the following outcomes as a primary goal and may identify additional outcomes as alternative goals: Return of the child to the home of the child's parent, guardian, or legal custodian; adoption, including a tribal customary adoption as defined in RCW 13.38.040; guardianship; permanent legal custody; long-term relative or foster care, until the child is age eighteen, with a written agreement between the parties and the care provider; successful completion of a responsible living skills program; or independent living, if appropriate and if the child is age sixteen or older. The department or supervising agency shall not discharge a child to an independent living situation before the child is eighteen years of age unless the child becomes emancipated pursuant to chapter 13.64 RCW;

(b) Unless the court has ordered, pursuant to RCW 13.34.130(~~(6)~~) (8), that a termination petition be filed, a specific plan as to where the child will be placed, what steps will be taken to return the child home, what steps the supervising agency or the department will take to promote existing appropriate sibling relationships and/or facilitate placement together or contact in accordance with the best interests of each child, and what actions the department or supervising agency will take to maintain parent-child ties. All aspects of the plan shall include the goal of achieving permanence for the child.

(i) The department's or supervising agency's plan shall specify what services the parents will be offered to enable them to resume custody, what requirements the parents must meet to resume custody, and a time limit for each service plan and parental requirement.

(ii) Visitation is the right of the family, including the child and the parent, in cases in which visitation is in the best interest of the child. Early, consistent, and frequent visitation is crucial for maintaining parent-child relationships and making it possible for parents and children to safely reunify. The supervising agency or department shall encourage the maximum parent and child (~~and sibling~~) contact possible, when it is in the best interest of the child, including regular visitation and participation by the parents in the care of the child while the child is in placement. Visitation shall not be limited as a sanction for a parent's failure to comply with court orders or services where the health, safety, or welfare of the child is not at risk as a result of the visitation. Visitation may be limited or denied only if the court determines that such limitation or denial is necessary to protect the child's health, safety, or welfare. The court and the department or supervising agency should rely upon community resources, relatives, foster parents, and other appropriate persons to provide transportation and supervision for visitation to the extent that such resources are available, and appropriate, and the child's safety would not be compromised.

(iii)(A) The department, court, or caregiver in the out-of-home placement may not limit visitation or contact between a child and sibling as a sanction for a child's behavior or as an incentive to the child to change his or her behavior.

(B) Any exceptions, limitation, or denial of contacts or visitation must be approved by the supervisor of the department caseworker and documented. The child, parent, department, guardian ad litem, or court-appointed special advocate may challenge the denial of visits in court.

(iv) A child shall be placed as close to the child's home as possible, preferably in the child's own neighborhood, unless the court finds that placement at a greater distance is necessary to promote the child's or parents' well-being.

~~((iv))~~ (v) The plan shall state whether both in-state and, where appropriate, out-of-state placement options have been considered by the department or supervising agency.

~~((v))~~ (vi) Unless it is not in the best interests of the child, whenever practical, the plan should ensure the child remains enrolled in the school the child was attending at the time the child entered foster care.

~~((vi))~~ (vii) The supervising agency or department shall provide all reasonable services that are available within the department or supervising agency, or within the community, or those services which the department has existing contracts to purchase. It shall report to the court if it is unable to provide such services; and

(c) If the court has ordered, pursuant to RCW 13.34.130~~((6))~~ (8), that a termination petition be filed, a specific plan as to where the child will be placed, what steps will be taken to achieve permanency for the child, services to be offered or provided to the child, and, if visitation would be in the best interests of the child, a recommendation to the court regarding visitation between parent and child pending a fact-finding hearing on the termination petition. The department or supervising agency shall not be required to develop a plan of services for the parents or provide services to the parents if the court orders a termination petition be filed. However, reasonable efforts to ensure visitation and contact between siblings shall be made unless there is reasonable cause to believe the best interests of the child or siblings would be jeopardized.

(3) Permanency planning goals should be achieved at the earliest possible date. If the child has been in out-of-home care for fifteen of the most recent twenty-two months, the court shall require the department or supervising agency to file a petition seeking termination of parental rights in accordance with RCW 13.34.145(3)(b)(vi). In cases where parental rights have been terminated, the child is legally free for adoption, and adoption has been identified as the primary permanency planning goal, it shall be a goal to complete the adoption within six months following entry of the termination order.

(4) If the court determines that the continuation of reasonable efforts to prevent or eliminate the need to remove the child from his or her home or to safely return the child home should not be part of the permanency plan of care for the child, reasonable efforts shall be made to place the child in a timely manner and to complete whatever steps are necessary to finalize the permanent placement of the child.

(5) The identified outcomes and goals of the permanency plan may change over time based upon the circumstances of the particular case.

(6) The court shall consider the child's relationships with the child's siblings in accordance with RCW 13.34.130~~((4))~~ (6). Whenever the permanency plan for a child is adoption, the court shall encourage the prospective adoptive parents, birth parents, foster parents, kinship caregivers, and the department or other supervising agency to seriously consider the long-term benefits to the child adoptee and his or her siblings of providing for and facilitating continuing postadoption contact between the siblings.

To the extent that it is feasible, and when it is in the best interests of the child adoptee and his or her siblings, contact between the siblings should be frequent and of a similar nature as that which existed prior to the adoption. If the child adoptee or his or her siblings are represented by an attorney or guardian ad litem in a proceeding under this chapter or in any other child custody proceeding, the court shall inquire of each attorney and guardian ad litem regarding the potential benefits of continuing contact between the siblings and the potential detriments of severing contact. This section does not require the department of social and health services or other supervising agency to agree to any specific provisions in an open adoption agreement and does not create a new obligation for the department to provide supervision or transportation for visits between siblings separated by adoption from foster care.

(7) For purposes related to permanency planning:

(a) "Guardianship" means a dependency guardianship or a legal guardianship pursuant to chapter 11.88 RCW or equivalent laws of another state or a federally recognized Indian tribe.

(b) "Permanent custody order" means a custody order entered pursuant to chapter 26.10 RCW.

(c) "Permanent legal custody" means legal custody pursuant to chapter 26.10 RCW or equivalent laws of another state or a federally recognized Indian tribe."

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

"NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. The legislature finds that Western Governors University-Washington, recognized by the state of Washington under RCW 28B.77.240, serves a student population that is nontraditional and geographically diverse. Enrollment in Western Governors University-Washington has grown steadily since 2011 reaching over four thousand three hundred students. These students represent an average age of thirty-seven, sixty-nine percent of whom are classified as underserved, including low-income, ethnic minority, rural, and first-generation students.

The legislature also finds that tuition at Western Governors University-Washington has remained static since 2008 at five thousand seven hundred eighty dollars per year.

Further, the legislature finds that the population served by Western Governors University-Washington deserves to have access to affordable postsecondary education, including baccalaureate degree-granting institutions. Therefore, the legislature intends to provide access to the state need grant program for eligible students attending Western Governors University-Washington.

The legislature also intends that Western Governors University-Washington comply with all reporting requirements established by the student achievement council for state need grant participation, including financial information about students, enrollment, graduation and placement rates, and the institution's standing with its accrediting agency, the Northwest Commission on Colleges and Universities, and the United States department of education.

Sec. 2. RCW 28B.92.030 and 2012 c 229 s 557 are each amended to read as follows:

As used in this chapter:

(1) "Council" means the student achievement council.

(2) "Disadvantaged student" means a posthigh school student who by reason of adverse cultural, educational, environmental, experiential, familial or other circumstances is unable to qualify for enrollment as a full-time student in an institution of higher education, who would otherwise qualify as a needy student, and who is attending an institution of higher education under an established program designed to qualify the student for enrollment as a full-time student.

(3) "Financial aid" means loans and/or grants to needy students enrolled or accepted for enrollment as a student at institutions of higher education.

(4) "Institution" or "institutions of higher education" means:

(a) Any public university, college, community college, or technical college operated by the state of Washington or any political subdivision thereof; or

(b) Any other university, college, school, or institute in the state of Washington offering instruction beyond the high school level (~~which~~) that is a member institution of an accrediting association recognized by rule of the council for the purposes of this section (~~(= PROVIDED, That)) and that agrees to and complies with program rules adopted pursuant to RCW 28B.92.150. However, any institution, branch, extension or facility operating within the state of Washington~~ (~~which~~) that is affiliated with an institution operating in another state must be:

(i) A separately accredited member institution of any such accrediting association (~~(=or)~~);

(ii) A branch of a member institution of an accrediting association recognized by rule of the council for purposes of this section, that is eligible for federal student financial aid assistance and has operated as a nonprofit college or university delivering on-site classroom instruction for a minimum of twenty consecutive years within the state of Washington, and has an annual enrollment of at least seven hundred full-time equivalent students (~~(= PROVIDED FURTHER, That no institution of higher education shall be eligible to participate in a student financial aid program unless it agrees to and complies with program rules and regulations adopted pursuant to RCW 28B.92.150))~~; or

(iii) A nonprofit institution recognized by the state of Washington as provided in RCW 28B.77.240.

(5) "Needy student" means a posthigh school student of an institution of higher education who demonstrates to the office the financial inability, either through the student's parents, family and/or personally, to meet the total cost of board, room, books, and tuition and incidental fees for any semester or quarter. "Needy student" also means an opportunity internship graduate as defined by RCW 28C.18.162 who enrolls in a postsecondary program of study as defined in RCW 28C.18.162 within one year of high school graduation.

(6) "Office" means the office of student financial assistance.

(7) "Placebound student" means a student who (a) is unable to complete a college program because of family or employment commitments, health concerns, monetary inability, or other similar factors; and (b) may be influenced by the receipt of an enhanced student financial aid award to complete a baccalaureate degree at an eligible institution.

Sec. 3. RCW 28B.105.020 and 2011 1st sp.s. c 11 s 183 are each amended to read as follows:

The definitions in this section apply throughout this chapter unless the context clearly requires otherwise.

(1) "GET units" means tuition units under the advanced college tuition payment program in chapter 28B.95 RCW.

(2) "Institution of higher education" has the same meaning as in RCW 28B.92.030(4) (a) and (b) (i) and (ii).

(5) "Qualified program" or "qualified major" means a mathematics, science, or related degree program or major line of study offered by an institution of higher education that is included on the list of programs or majors selected by the (~~board~~) office and the program administrator under RCW 28B.105.100.

Sec. 4. RCW 28B.133.010 and 2004 c 275 s 72 are each amended to read as follows:

The educational assistance grant program for students with dependents is hereby created, subject to the availability of receipts of gifts, grants, or endowments from private sources. The program is created to serve financially needy students with dependents eighteen years of age or younger, by assisting them directly through a grant program to pursue a degree or certificate at public or private institutions of higher education, as defined in RCW 28B.92.030(4) (a) and (b) (i) and (ii), that participate in the state need grant program.

Sec. 5. RCW 28B.133.050 and 2011 1st sp.s. c 11 s 238 are each amended to read as follows:

The educational assistance grant program for students with dependents grants may be used by eligible participants to attend any public or private college or university in the state of Washington as defined in RCW 28B.92.030(4) (a) and (b) (i) and (ii). Each participating student may receive an amount to be determined by the office of student financial assistance, with a minimum amount of one thousand dollars per academic year, not to exceed the student's documented financial need for the course of study as determined by the institution.

Educational assistance grants for students with dependents are not intended to supplant any grant scholarship or tax program related to postsecondary education. If the office of student financial assistance finds that the educational assistance grants for students with dependents supplant or reduce any grant, scholarship, or tax program for categories of students, then the office shall adjust the financial eligibility criteria or the amount of the grant to the level necessary to avoid supplanting.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 6. The legislature finds that many American youth arrive in this country and this state through the decision of their parents to relocate in search of opportunities to improve their lives and futures.

On June 15, 2012, President Obama introduced the deferred action for childhood arrivals process. Building on this directive, this section and section 7 of this act are intended to provide a more affordable and attainable route to college for children granted deferred action for childhood arrival status who reside in Washington state. While extending in-state tuition to these youth has helped them better afford higher education in this state, financial aid is necessary to extend to them the full American dream. The extension of financial aid to these aspiring young Americans is also necessary to position everyone for economic success and strengthen Washington state's competitive edge in the world economy.

Sec. 7. RCW 28B.92.010 and 2004 c 275 s 34 are each amended to read as follows:

The purposes of this chapter are to establish the principles upon which the state financial aid programs will be based and to establish the state of Washington state need grant program, thus assisting financially needy or disadvantaged students domiciled in Washington to obtain the opportunity of attending an accredited institution of higher education. State need grants under this chapter are available only to students who are resident students as defined in RCW 28B.15.012(2) (a) through (d) or any person who has completed the full senior year of high school and obtained a high school diploma, either at a Washington public high school or private high school approved under chapter 28A.195 RCW, or a person who has received the equivalent of a diploma; who has lived in Washington state for at least three years immediately before receiving the diploma or its equivalent; who has continuously lived in the state of Washington after receiving the diploma or its equivalent and until such time as the individual is admitted to an eligible institution of higher education and has been granted deferred action for childhood arrival status pursuant to the rules and regulations adopted by the United States citizenship and immigration services.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 8. Sections 1 through 5 of this act take effect August 1, 2013."

On page 1, line 1 of the title, after "to" strike the remainder of the title and insert "expanding access to the state need grant; amending RCW 28B.92.030, 28B.105.020, 28B.133.010, 28B.133.050, and 28B.92.010; creating new sections; and providing an effective date."

POINT OF ORDER

Senator Bailey: "That the striking amendment 189 to Substitute Senate Bill No. 5195 is beyond the scope and object of the bill. The bill was introduced into the Senate, allows one non-profit institution recognized by Washington State under current law to be eligible to participate in the state need grant program, Western Washington Governor's University. Thus, the same student receiving a state need grant award while attending a Washington Community College would also be eligible to receive a state need grant award if he or she is attending WGU-Washington. By contrast, the striking amendment does not address the type of higher education institution that is eligible to participate in the state need grant program but rather it expands the class of eligible students by attempting to hang, verbatim, a bill that was introduced in the House, Substitute House Bill No. 1817. Specifically the striking amendment expands the class by allowing undocumented immigrants to be eligible for the state need grant award. Because the striking amendment exceeds the scope and object of the underlying bill I respectfully request a ruling accordingly."

Senator Frockt spoke against the point of order.

MOTION

On motion of Senator Fain, further consideration of Substitute Senate Bill No. 5195 was deferred and the bill held its place on the second reading calendar.

MOTION

At 9:07 p.m., on motion of Senator Fain, the Senate adjourned until 9:00 a.m. Tuesday, March 12, 2013.

MOTION

MOTION

Senator Becker moved that the following striking amendment by Senators Becker and Keiser be adopted:

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. The legislature finds that Washington state is a provider friendly state within which to practice medicine. As part of health care reform, Washington state endeavors to establish and operate a state-based health benefits exchange wherein insurance products will be offered for sale and add potentially three hundred thousand patients to commercial insurance, and to expand access to medicaid for potentially three hundred thousand new enrollees. Such a successful and new insurance market in Washington state will require the willing participation of all categories of health care providers. The legislature further finds that principles of fair contracting apply to all contracts between health care providers and health insurance carriers offering insurance within Washington state and that fair dealings and transparency in expectations should be present in interactions between all third-party payors and health care providers.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. The definitions in this section apply throughout this chapter unless the context clearly requires otherwise.

(1) "Health care provider" or "provider" has the same meaning as in RCW 48.43.005 and, for the purposes of this chapter, includes facilities licensed under chapter 70.41 RCW.

(2) "Payor" or "third-party payor" means carriers licensed under chapters 48.20, 48.21, 48.44, and 48.46 RCW, and managed health care systems as defined in RCW 74.09.522.

(3) "Material amendment" means an amendment to a contract between a payor and health care provider that would result in requiring a health care provider to participate in a health plan, product, or line of business with a lower fee schedule in order to continue to participate in a health plan, product, or line of business with a higher fee schedule. A material amendment does not include any of the following:

(a) A decrease in payment or compensation resulting from a change in a fee schedule published by the payor upon which the payment or compensation is based and the date of applicability is clearly identified in the contract, compensation addendum, or fee schedule notice;

(b) A decrease in payment or compensation that was anticipated under the terms of the contract, if the amount and date of applicability of the decrease is clearly identified in the contract; or

(c) Changes unrelated to compensation so long as reasonable notice of not less than sixty days is provided.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. (1) A third-party payor shall provide no less than sixty days' notice to the health care provider of any proposed material amendments to a health care provider's contract with the third-party payor.

(2) Any material amendment to a contract must be clearly defined in a notice to the provider from the third-party payor as being a material change to the contract before the provider's notice period begins. The notice must also inform the providers that they may choose to reject the terms of the proposed material amendment through written or electronic means at any time during the notice period and that such rejection may not affect the terms of the health care provider's existing contract with the third-party payor.

(3) A health care provider's rejection of the material amendment does not affect the terms of the health care provider's existing contract with the third-party payor.

(4) A failure to comply with the terms of subsections (1), (2), and (3) of this section shall void the effectiveness of the material amendment.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4. A payor may not, without the express written agreement of the health care provider, require a health care provider to extend the payor's medicaid rates, or some percentage above the payor's medicaid rates, that govern a health benefit program administered by a public purchaser to a commercial plan or line of business offered by a payor that is not administered by a public purchaser. For the purposes of this section, "administered by a public purchaser" does not include commercial coverage offered through the Washington health benefit exchange.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 5. A new section is added to chapter 18.130 RCW to read as follows:

No licensee subject to this chapter may be required to participate in any public or private third-party reimbursement program or any plans or products offered by a payor as a condition of licensure.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 6. Sections 1 through 4 of this act constitute a new chapter in Title 48 RCW."

Sec. 104. RCW 35.102.160 and 2006 c 301 s 6 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) The provision of professional employer services by a professional employer organization is taxable under a city's service and other business activities classification. A city that imposes its business and occupation tax on professional employer services performed by a professional employer organization (~~regardless of the tax classification applicable to such services, shall~~) must provide a deduction identical to the deduction in RCW 82.04.540(2).

(2) For the purposes of this section, "professional employer organization" and "professional employer services" have the same meanings as in RCW 82.04.540.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 105. A new section is added to chapter 35.102 RCW to read as follows:

Beginning on the effective date of this section, the department may adopt rules and issue interpretive and policy statements in accordance with the administrative procedure act, chapter 34.05 RCW, as it considers necessary or useful in enhancing uniformity between state and city business and occupation taxes and in carrying out the department's duties under this chapter. Such rules and interpretive and policy statements take precedence over any conflicting rules and interpretive or policy guidance issued by the cities. The department must seek input from affected cities before issuing any rules and interpretive and policy statements concerning city business and occupation taxes to the extent required by chapter 34.05 RCW.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 106. A new section is added to chapter 35.102 RCW to read as follows:

For purposes of city business and occupation taxes, a person may meet its burden of proving that a sale is a wholesale sale rather than a retail sale as provided in RCW 82.04.470. Upon request of a city, the department must assist the city in determining whether a person has met the requirements of RCW 82.04.470(6).

PART II REDUCING STATE B&O TAX CLASSIFICATIONS

NEW SECTION. Sec. 201. (1) The legislature finds that there are currently over fifty tax classifications for purposes of the state business and occupation tax. Most of these tax classifications were created to provide a reduced tax rate to certain business activities.

(2) The legislature further finds that the considerable number of state business and occupation tax classifications creates complexity for taxpayers, increases opportunities for disputes between taxpayers and the department of revenue, and is a major barrier to achieving significant uniformity between state and local business and occupation tax systems.

(3) Therefore, the legislature intends Part II of this act to significantly reduce state business and occupation tax classifications by:

(a) Consolidating the extracting and extracting for hire classifications;

(b) Consolidating the public road construction and government contracting classifications into the wholesaling classification; and

(c) Consolidating the public and nonprofit hospital and real estate broker classifications into the catch-all service and other business activities classification.

(4) Parts II and III of this act is not intended to materially affect the tax burden of any person. If any provision of part II or III of this act would, under a plain meaning analysis, materially impact a person's tax liability, the legislature expresses its intent that such provision should be deemed a mistake and interpreted to achieve a result that is consistent with the legislature's intent as described in this section.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 202. A new section is added to chapter 82.04 RCW to read as follows:

(1) Except as provided otherwise in subsection (2) of this section, for purposes of reporting the tax due under this chapter in a way that provides taxpayers with more consistency between state and city-imposed business and occupation taxes or for ease of administration for the department or taxpayers, the department may classify business activities other than as provided in RCW 82.04.230 through 82.04.298. However, new classifications created under the authority of this section do not affect the tax rates applicable to the activities that come within the new classifications.

(2) The department may not consolidate the manufacturing and processing for hire classifications.

2013 REGULAR SESSION

(B) The denominator of the fraction is the total taxable amount subject to the tax imposed under all manufacturing classifications in chapter 82.04 RCW.

(C) For purposes of both the numerator and denominator of the fraction, the total taxable amount refers to the total taxable amount required to be reported on the person's returns for the calendar year before the calendar year in which the credit under this section is earned. The department may provide for an alternative method for calculating the numerator in cases where the tax rate provided in RCW 82.04.260(~~((40))~~) (7) for manufacturing was not in effect during the full calendar year before the calendar year in which the credit under this section is earned.

(D) No credit is available under (b)(i)(A) or (B) of this subsection (2) if either the numerator or the denominator of the fraction is zero. If the fraction is greater than or equal to nine-tenths, then the fraction is rounded to one.

(E) As used in (b)(ii)(C) of this subsection (2), "returns" means the tax returns for which the tax imposed under this chapter is reported to the department.

(3) The definitions in this subsection apply throughout this section, unless the context clearly indicates otherwise.

(a) "Aerospace product development" has the same meaning as provided in RCW 82.04.4461.

(b) "Aerospace services" has the same meaning given in RCW 82.08.975.

(c) "Commercial airplane" and "component" have the same meanings as provided in RCW 82.32.550.

(4) A credit earned during one calendar year may be carried over to be credited against taxes incurred in a subsequent calendar year, but may not be carried over a second year. No refunds may be granted for credits under this section.

(5) In addition to all other requirements under this title, a person claiming the credit under this section must file a complete annual report with the department under RCW 82.32.534.

(6) This section expires July 1, 2024.

Sec. 221. RCW 82.04.460 and 2011 c 174 s 203 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) Except as otherwise provided in this section, any person earning apportionable income taxable under this chapter and also taxable in another state must, for the purpose of computing tax liability under this chapter, apportion to this state, in accordance with RCW 82.04.462, that portion of the person's apportionable income derived from business activities performed within this state.

(2) The department must by rule provide a method of apportioning the apportionable income of financial institutions, where such apportionable income is taxable under RCW 82.04.290. The rule adopted by the department must, to the extent feasible, be consistent with the multistate tax commission's recommended formula for the apportionment and allocation of net income of financial institutions as existing on June 1, 2010, or such subsequent date as may be provided by the department by rule, consistent with the purposes of this section, except that:

(a) The department's rule must provide for a single factor apportionment method based on the receipts factor; and

(b) The definition of "financial institution" contained in appendix A to the multistate tax commission's recommended formula for the apportionment and allocation of net income of financial institutions is advisory only.

(3) The department may by rule provide a method or methods of apportioning or allocating gross income derived from sales of telecommunications service and competitive telephone service taxed under this chapter, if the gross proceeds of sales subject to tax under this chapter do not fairly represent the extent of the taxpayer's income attributable to this state. The rule must provide for an equitable and constitutionally permissible division of the tax base.

(4) For purposes of this section, the following definitions apply unless the context clearly requires otherwise:

(a) "Apportionable income" means gross income of the business generated from engaging in apportionable activities, including income received from apportionable activities performed outside this state if the income would be taxable under this chapter if received from activities in this state, less the exemptions and deductions allowable under this chapter. For purposes of this subsection, "apportionable activities" means only those activities taxed under:

(i) ~~((RCW 82.04.255;~~

(ii) ~~RCW 82.04.260~~ ~~((3), (4), (5), (6), (7), (8), (9), and (12)))~~ ~~(2) through (7) and (10);~~

~~((iii))~~ (ii) RCW 82.04.280(1)~~((e))~~ (c);

~~((x))~~ (ix) RCW 82.04.260(~~((13))~~) (10) and 82.04.280(1)(a), but only with respect to advertising.

(b)(i) "Taxable in another state" means that the taxpayer is subject to a business activities tax by another state on its income received from engaging in apportionable activities; or the taxpayer is not subject to a business activities tax by another state on its income received from engaging in apportionable activities, but any other state has jurisdiction to subject the taxpayer to a business activities tax on such income under the substantial nexus standards in RCW 82.04.067(1).

(ii) For purposes of this subsection (4)(b), "business activities tax" and "state" have the same meaning as in RCW 82.04.462.

Sec. 222. RCW 82.08.806 and 2011 c 174 s 204 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) The tax levied by RCW 82.08.020 does not apply to sales, to a printer or publisher, of computer equipment, including repair parts and replacement parts for such equipment, when the computer equipment is used primarily in the printing or publishing of any printed material, or to sales of or charges made for labor and services rendered in respect to installing, repairing, cleaning, altering, or improving the computer equipment. This exemption applies only to computer equipment not otherwise exempt under RCW 82.08.02565.

(2) A person taking the exemption under this section must keep records necessary for the department to verify eligibility under this section. This exemption is available only when the purchaser provides the seller with an exemption certificate in a form and manner prescribed by the department. The seller must retain a copy of the certificate for the seller's files.

If computer equipment is used simultaneously for administrative and nonadministrative purposes, the administrative use must be disregarded during the period of simultaneous use for purposes of determining whether the computer equipment is used primarily for administrative purposes.

Sec. 223. RCW 82.32.045 and 2010 1st sp.s. c 23 s 1103 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) Except as otherwise provided in this chapter, payments of the taxes imposed under chapters 82.04, 82.08, 82.12, 82.14, and 82.16 RCW, along with reports and returns on forms prescribed by the department, are due monthly within twenty-five days after the end of the month in which the taxable activities occur.

(2) The department of revenue may relieve any taxpayer or class of taxpayers from the obligation of remitting monthly and may require the return to cover other longer reporting periods, but in no event may returns be filed for a period greater than one year. For these taxpayers, tax payments are due on or before the last day of the month next succeeding the end of the period covered by the return.

(3) The department of revenue may also require verified annual returns from any taxpayer, setting forth such additional information as it may deem necessary to correctly determine tax liability.

(4) Notwithstanding subsections (1) and (2) of this section, the department may relieve any person of the requirement to file returns if the following conditions are met:

For program year 2016 and all subsequent program years, the department shall determine the total equivalent share for each manufacturer in the standard plan or an independent plan by dividing the market share percentage for each manufacturer by one hundred, then multiplying the quotient by the total weight in pounds of covered electronic products collected for that program year, allowing as needed for the additional credit authorized in subsection (3) of this section.

All fees charged must be based on factors relating to administering this chapter and be based on a sliding scale that is representative of annual sales of covered electronic products in the state, either by weight or unit, or by representative market share. Fees must be established in amounts to fully recover and not to exceed expenses incurred by the department to implement this chapter.

(3) The department shall establish an annual process for local governments and local communities to report their satisfaction with the services provided by plans under this chapter. This information must be used by the department in reviewing plan updates and revisions.

Sec. 12. RCW 70.95N.290 and 2008 c 79 s 1 are each amended to read as follows:

(1)(a) The authority is governed by a board of directors. The board of directors is comprised of eleven participating manufacturers, appointed by the director of the department. For program years 2009 through 2014, five board positions are reserved for representatives of the top ten brand owners by return share of covered electronic products, and six board positions are reserved for representatives of other brands, including at least one board position reserved for a manufacturer who is also a retailer selling their own private label. The return share of covered electronic products used to determine the top ten brand owners for purposes of electing the board must be determined by the department by January 1, 2007. For program years 2015 and beyond, five board positions are reserved for representatives of the top ten brand owners by market share of covered electronic products, and six board positions are reserved for representatives of other brands, including at least one board position reserved for a manufacturer who is also a retailer selling its own private label. The market share of covered electronic products used to determine the top ten brand owners for purposes of electing the board must be determined by the department by October 1, 2015.

(b) The board must have representation from both television and computer manufacturers.

(2) The board shall select from its membership the chair of the board and such other officers as it deems appropriate.

(3) A majority of the board constitutes a quorum.

(4) The directors of the department of ~~((community, trade, and economic development))~~ commerce and the department of ecology serve as ex officio members. The state agency directors serving in ex officio capacity may each designate an employee of their respective departments to act on their behalf in all respects with regard to any matter to come before the authority. Ex officio designations must be made in writing and communicated to the authority director.

(5) The board shall create its own bylaws in accordance with the laws of the state of Washington.

(6) Any member of the board may be removed for misfeasance, malfeasance, or willful neglect of duty after notice and a public hearing, unless the notice and hearing are expressly waived in writing by the affected member.

(7) The members of the board serve without compensation but are entitled to reimbursement, solely from the funds of the authority, for expenses incurred in the discharge of their duties under this chapter.

Sec. 13. RCW 70.95N.300 and 2006 c 183 s 31 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) Manufacturers participating in the standard plan shall pay the authority to cover all administrative and operational costs associated with the collection, transportation, and recycling of covered electronic products within the state of Washington incurred by the standard program operated by the authority to meet the standard plan's equivalent share obligation as described in RCW 70.95N.280(5).

(2) The authority shall assess charges on each manufacturer participating in the standard plan and collect funds from each participating manufacturer for the manufacturer's portion of the costs in subsection (1) of this section. For program years 2009 through 2015, such apportionment ((shall)) must be based on return share, market share, any combination of return share and market share, or any other equitable method. For the 2016 program year and all subsequent program years, such apportionment must be based on market share. The authority's apportionment of costs to manufacturers participating in the standard plan may not include nor be based on electronic products imported through the state and subsequently exported outside the state. Charges assessed under this section must not be formulated in such a way as to create incentives to divert imported electronic products to ports or distribution centers in other states. The authority shall adjust the charges to manufacturers participating in the standard plan as necessary in order to ensure that all costs associated with the identified activities are covered.

(3) The authority may require financial assurances or performance bonds for manufacturers participating in the standard plan, including but not limited to new entrants and white box manufacturers, when determining equitable methods for apportioning costs to ensure that the long-term costs for collecting, transporting, and recycling of a covered electronic product are borne by the appropriate manufacturer in the event that the manufacturer ceases to participate in the program.

(4) Nothing in this section authorizes the authority to assess fees or levy taxes directly on the sale or possession of electronic products.

(5) If a manufacturer has not met its financial obligations as determined by the authority under this section, the authority shall notify the department that the manufacturer is no longer participating in the standard plan.

(6) For program years 2009 through 2015, the authority shall submit its plan for assessing charges and apportioning cost on manufacturers participating in the standard plan to the department for review and approval along with the standard plan as provided in RCW 70.95N.060.

(7)(a) Any manufacturer participating in the standard plan may appeal an assessment of charges or apportionment of costs levied by the authority under this section by written petition to the director of the department. The director of the department or the director's designee shall review all appeals within timelines established by the department and shall reverse any assessments of charges or apportionment of costs if the director finds that the authority's assessments or apportionment of costs was an arbitrary administrative decision, an abuse of administrative discretion, or is not an equitable assessment or apportionment of costs. The director shall make a fair and impartial decision based on sound data. If the director of the department reverses an assessment of charges, the authority must redetermine the assessment or apportionment of costs.

(b) Disputes regarding a final decision made by the director or director's designee may be challenged through arbitration. The director shall appoint one member to serve on the arbitration panel and the challenging party shall appoint one other. These two persons shall choose a third person to serve. If the two persons cannot agree on a third person, the presiding judge of the Thurston county superior court shall choose a third person. The decision of the arbitration panel shall be final and binding, subject to review by the superior court solely upon the question of whether the decision of the panel was arbitrary or capricious.

Concerning the labeling of certain asbestos-containing building materials.

MOTION

Senator Billig moved that the following striking amendment by Senator Billig be adopted:

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. Asbestos is a known human carcinogen that causes painful, premature deaths due to diseases such as asbestosis, mesothelioma, lung and gastrointestinal cancers, and other diseases and cancers. Activities that can lead to the release of asbestos fibers include installation, use, maintenance, repair, removal, and disposal of asbestos-containing building materials.

Many people are unaware that asbestos-containing building materials are still imported, sold, and used in the United States. Because few regulations exist that require the disclosure of asbestos in building materials, people can unknowingly be exposed to asbestos. Asbestos is generally invisible, odorless, very durable, and highly aerodynamic. Exposure can occur well after it has been disturbed and long distances from where the asbestos release occurred.

The purpose of this chapter is to allow people to make informed decisions regarding whether or not they purchase or use building materials containing asbestos. More specifically, building materials that contain asbestos must be clearly labeled as such by manufacturers, wholesalers, and distributors.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. The definitions in this section apply throughout this chapter unless the context clearly requires otherwise.

(1) "Asbestos" includes the asbestiform varieties of actinolite, amosite (cummingtonite-grunerite), tremolite, chrysotile (serpentine), crocidolite (riebeckite), anthophyllite, and any of these minerals that have been chemically treated or altered. The chemical abstracts service registry number for each is as follows: Asbestos (1332-21-4), actinolite (13768-00-8), amosite (12172-73-5), tremolite (14567-73-8), chrysotile (12001-29-5), crocidolite (12001-28-4), and anthophyllite (17068-78-9).

(2) "Asbestos-containing building material" means any building material to which asbestos is deliberately added in any concentration or that contains more than one percent asbestos by weight or area as determined using the United States environmental protection agency method for the determination of asbestos in building materials, EPA/600/R-93/116, July 1993.

(3) "Building material" includes materials designed for, or used in, construction, renovation, repair, or maintenance of institutional, commercial, public, industrial, or residential buildings and structures. The term does not include automobiles, recreational vehicles, boats, or other mobile means of transportation.

(4) "Consumer" means any person that acquires a building material for direct use or ownership, rather than for resale or use in production and manufacturing.

(5) "Department" means the department of ecology.

(6) "Person" means any individual, firm, public or private corporation, association, partnership, political subdivision, municipality, or government agency.

(7) "Retailer" means any person that sells goods or commodities directly to consumers.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. (1) Effective January 1, 2014, it is unlawful to manufacture, wholesale, or distribute for sale an asbestos-containing building material that is not labeled as required by section 4 of this act or as required under federal law, 40 C.F.R. part 763, subpart I, Sec. 173.171 (1994). The labeling requirement also applies to stock-on-hand, meaning any asbestos-containing building material in their possession or control after December 31, 2013, must be labeled. Retailers that do not manufacture, wholesale, or distribute asbestos-containing building materials are exempt from this chapter.

(2)(a) Subsection (1) of this section does not apply to asbestos-containing building materials that have already been installed, applied, or used by the consumer.

(b) Subsection (1) of this section does not apply to asbestos-containing building materials used solely for United States military purposes.

(3) Any manufacturer, wholesaler, or distributor may submit a written request for an exemption from the labeling requirements of this chapter, and the department may grant such an exemption if it determines that the labeling requirements are technically infeasible or create an undue economic hardship. Each exemption is in effect for a period not to exceed three years from the date issued and is subject to the terms and conditions prescribed by the department.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4. (1) A label must be placed in a prominent location adjacent to the product name or description on the exterior of the wrapping and packaging in which the asbestos-containing building material is placed for storage, shipment, and sale.

(2) A label must also be placed on the exterior surface of the asbestos-containing building material itself unless it is sold as a liquid or paste, is sand or gravel, or an exemption is granted pursuant to section 3(3) of this act.

(3) Asbestos-containing building materials must have a legible label that clearly identifies it as containing asbestos. The department may adopt rules regarding the implementation of this chapter. At a minimum, the label must state the following:

CAUTION!

This product contains ASBESTOS which is known to cause cancer and lung disease. Avoid creating dust. Intentionally removing or tampering with this label is a violation of state law.

(4) It is unlawful for any person to remove, deface, cover, or otherwise obscure or tamper with a label or sticker that has been applied in compliance with this section, unless the asbestos-containing building material is in the possession of the end user.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 5. (1) The provisions of this chapter may be enforced by the department, local air authorities, or their designees.

(2) A person found in violation of this chapter is subject to the penalties provided under RCW 70.94.431.

(2) Penalties incurred but not paid shall accrue interest, beginning on the ninety-first day following the date that the penalty becomes due and payable, at the highest rate allowed by RCW 19.52.020 on the date that the penalty becomes due and payable. (4) All penalties recovered under this section by the department shall be paid into the state treasury and credited to the air pollution control account established in RCW 70.94.015 or, if recovered by the authority, shall be paid into the treasury of the authority and credited to its funds. If a prior penalty for the same violation has been paid to a local authority, the penalty imposed by the department under subsection (1) of this section shall be reduced by the amount of the payment.

(5) To secure the penalty incurred under this section, the state or the authority shall have a lien on any vessel used or operated in violation of this chapter which shall be enforced as provided in RCW 60.36.050.

(6) Public or private entities that are recipients or potential recipients of department grants, whether for air quality related activities or not, may have such grants rescinded or withheld by the department for failure to comply with provisions of this chapter.

(7) In addition to other penalties provided by this chapter, persons knowingly under-reporting emissions or other information used to set fees, or persons required to pay emission or permit fees who are more than ninety days late with such payments may be subject to a penalty equal to three times the amount of the original fee owed.

(8) By January 1, 1992, the department shall develop rules for excusing excess emissions from enforcement action if such excess emissions are unavoidable. The rules shall specify the criteria and procedures for the department and local air authorities to determine whether a period of excess emissions is excusable in accordance with the state implementation plan.

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator McAuliffe: "Thank you Mr. President. Governor Jay Inslee signed a proclamation honoring Washington State Classified School Employees declaring March 11 through March 15 as Classified School Employee Week so, today I would like to recognize these dedicated individuals. They deserve our recognition and thanks for the work they do in our public schools. There are nearly fifty thousand classified school employees in our state and they are crucial partners with teachers, parents and administrators in supporting the learning environment for our children. They are the bus driver, first person to greet our children in the morning and to welcome them to school; they are the staff in our cafeterias, they prepare our students healthy meals with a caring smile and sometimes children end up working in the kitchens and learning how to cook; they are staff in the class rooms assisting and tutoring our students and they give care and concern to assist our special education children with their needs. They are the custodians and they keep our schools clean and orderly. I would like to share with you my son's story. When he was in fourth grade he was struggling with school. He didn't feel like he belonged. He wasn't being very successful academically and a grounds keeper, a classified employee, began exchanging drawings with my son and recognized his talent as an artist and that made my son feel like somebody cared about him at school. So, today I'd like to recognize the contribution our classified employees make and thank them for the outstanding work they do in our schools on behalf of our children. Thank you so much Mr. President."

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Shin: "I would like to express my profound thank you to Senator McAuliffe for the job well done especially all the folks and employees working in schools and cafeteria to nursing and all the things they do. They are doing for the benefit of our children, so, thank you so much. Appreciate it."

MOTION

2013 REGULAR SESSION

At 11:56 p.m., on motion of Senator Fain, the Senate was declared to be at ease subject to the call of the President.

participants in the program do not have the legal authority to provide spirits sampling without this bill.

AFTERNOON SESSION

The Senate was called to order at 2:18 p.m. by President Owen.

Substitute Senate Bill No. 5396 does not directly alter any of the language found in I-1183, and only refers to the initiative's provisions by reference. However, the President has previously acknowledged that a 2/3 vote may be required even without a direct change to an initiative, and that he will look to the substance of the bill, rather than its form, in determining whether a bill amends an initiative. (SSB 5929, 1999.)

MOTION

On motion of Senator Fain, the Senate advanced to the seventh order of business.

In this instance, although in its form the bill does not directly amend the words found in the initiative, the bill has only one effect: it grants sampling authority to participants in the responsible vendor program, a program that exists only because of the initiative. The inescapable conclusion is that a program established by initiative less than two years ago would be altered by this bill. Had a limited spirits sampling program been established independent of the responsible vendor program, the initiative would not be impacted.

THIRD READING

CONFIRMATION OF GUBERNATORIAL APPOINTMENTS

MOTION

Senator Hill moved that Bruce Reid, Gubernatorial Appointment No. 9063, be confirmed as a member of the Board of Trustees, Lake Washington Technical College District No. 26. Senator Hill spoke in favor of the motion.

For these reasons, the President finds that SB 5396 would amend Initiative 1183, and will require a two-thirds constitutional supermajority for final passage as required by Article II, Section 1 of the Washington state constitution. Senator Darneille's point is well-taken."

APPOINTMENT OF BRUCE REID

The President declared the question before the Senate to be the confirmation of Bruce Reid, Gubernatorial Appointment No. 9063, as a member of the Board of Trustees, Lake Washington Technical College District No. 26.

Substitute Senate Bill No. 5396 allows certain vendors of alcoholic spirits to provide limited sampling of those spirits. The responsible vendor program participants must provide ongoing training to employees, accept only certain forms of identification for alcohol sales, adopt policies on alcohol sales and checking identification, post specific signs in the business, and keep records verifying compliance with the program's requirements. Two additional factors are most significant: the program itself was created in Initiative 1183, and

(1) Except as otherwise provided in this chapter, the matters subject to bargaining include wages, hours, and other terms and conditions of employment, and the negotiation of any question arising under a collective bargaining agreement.

(2) The employer is not required to bargain over matters pertaining to:

(a) Health care benefits or other employee insurance benefits, except as required in subsection (3) of this section;

(b) Any retirement system or retirement benefit; or

(c) Rules of the human resources director, the director of enterprise services, or the Washington personnel resources board adopted under RCW 41.06.157.

(3) Matters subject to bargaining include the number of names to be certified for vacancies, promotional preferences, and ~~((the dollar amount expended on behalf of each employee for health care benefits))~~ the employer's percentage contribution of the total weighted average of the projected health care premium for each employee eligible for insurance. The projected health care premium is the weighted average across all health care benefit plans and tiers. However, except as provided otherwise in this subsection for institutions of higher education, negotiations regarding the number of names to be certified for vacancies, promotional preferences, and the ~~((dollar amount expended on behalf of each employee for health care benefits))~~ employer's percentage contribution of the total weighted average of the projected health care premium for each employee eligible for insurance shall be conducted between the employer and one coalition of all the exclusive bargaining representatives subject to this chapter. The exclusive bargaining representatives for employees that are subject to chapter 47.64 RCW shall bargain the ~~((dollar amount expended on behalf of each employee for health care benefits))~~ employer's percentage contribution of the total weighted average of the projected health care premium for each employee eligible for insurance with the employer as part of the coalition under this subsection. (5) The employer and the exclusive bargaining representative shall not bargain over matters pertaining to management rights established in RCW 41.80.040.

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

"NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. (1) The legislature finds that the federal fostering connections to success and increasing adoptions act of 2008 provides important new opportunities to increase the impact of state funding through maximizing the amount of federal funding available to promote permanency and positive outcomes for dependent youth.

(2) The legislature also finds that children and adolescents who are legal dependents of Washington state have experienced significant trauma and loss, putting them at increased risk for poor life outcomes. Longitudinal research on the adult functioning of former foster youth indicates a disproportionate likelihood that youth aging out of foster care and those who spent several years in care will experience poor outcomes in a variety of areas, including limited human capital upon which to build economic security and inability to fully take advantage of secondary and postsecondary educational opportunities, untreated mental or behavioral health problems, involvement in the criminal justice and corrections systems, and early parenthood combined with second-generation child welfare involvement.

(3) The legislature further finds that research also demonstrates that access to adequate and appropriate supports during the period of transition from foster care to independence can have significant positive impacts on adult functioning and can improve outcomes relating to educational attainment and postsecondary enrollment, employment and earnings, and reduced rates of teen pregnancies.

Sec. 2. RCW 13.34.030 and 2011 1st sp.s. c 36 s 13 are each reenacted and amended to read as follows:

For purposes of this chapter:

(1) "Abandoned" means when the child's parent, guardian, or other custodian has expressed, either by statement or conduct, an intent to forego, for an extended period, parental rights or responsibilities despite an ability to exercise such rights and responsibilities. If the court finds that the petitioner has exercised due diligence in attempting to locate the parent, no contact between the child and the child's parent, guardian, or other custodian for a period of three months creates a rebuttable presumption of abandonment, even if there is no expressed intent to abandon.

(2) "Child," "juvenile," and "youth" means:

(a) Any individual under the age of eighteen years; or

(b) Any individual age eighteen to twenty-one years who is eligible to receive and who elects to receive the extended foster care services authorized under RCW 74.13.031. A youth who remains dependent and who receives extended foster care services under RCW 74.13.031 shall not be considered a "child" under any other statute or for any other purpose.

(3) "Current placement episode" means the period of time that begins with the most recent date that the child was removed from the home of the parent, guardian, or legal custodian for purposes of placement in out-of-home care and continues until: (a) The child returns home; (b) an adoption decree, a permanent custody order, or guardianship order is entered; or (c) the dependency is dismissed, whichever occurs first.

(4) "Department" means the department of social and health services.

(5) "Dependency guardian" means the person, nonprofit corporation, or Indian tribe appointed by the court pursuant to this chapter for the limited purpose of assisting the court in the supervision of the dependency.

(6) "Dependent child" means any child who:

(a) Has been abandoned;

(b) Is abused or neglected as defined in chapter 26.44 RCW by a person legally responsible for the care of the child;

(c) Has no parent, guardian, or custodian capable of adequately caring for the child, such that the child is in circumstances which constitute a danger of substantial damage to the child's psychological or physical development; or

(d) Is receiving extended foster care services, as authorized by RCW 74.13.031.

(7) "Developmental disability" means a disability attributable to intellectual disability, cerebral palsy, epilepsy, autism, or another neurological or other condition of an individual found by the secretary to be closely related to an intellectual disability or to require treatment similar to that required for individuals with intellectual disabilities, which disability originates before the individual attains age eighteen, which has continued or can be expected to continue indefinitely, and which constitutes a substantial limitation to the individual.

(8) "Extended foster care services" means residential and other support services the department is authorized to provide under RCW 74.13.031. These services may include placement in licensed, relative, or otherwise approved care, or supervised independent living settings; assistance in meeting basic needs; independent living services; medical assistance; and counseling or treatment.

(9) "Guardian" means the person or agency that: (a) Has been appointed as the guardian of a child in a legal proceeding, including a guardian appointed pursuant to chapter 13.36 RCW; and (b) has the legal right to custody of the child pursuant to such appointment. The term "guardian" does not include a "dependency guardian" appointed pursuant to a proceeding under this chapter.

(10) "Guardian ad litem" means a person, appointed by the court to represent the best interests of a child in a proceeding under this chapter, or in any matter which may be consolidated with a proceeding under this chapter. A "court-appointed special advocate" appointed by the court to be the guardian ad litem for the child, or to perform substantially the same duties and functions as a guardian ad litem, shall be deemed to be guardian ad litem for all purposes and uses of this chapter.

(11) "Guardian ad litem program" means a court-authorized volunteer program, which is or may be established by the superior court of the county in which such proceeding is filed, to manage all aspects of volunteer guardian ad litem representation for children alleged or found to be dependent. Such management shall include but is not limited to: Recruitment, screening, training, supervision, assignment, and discharge of volunteers.

(12) "Housing assistance" means appropriate referrals by the department or other supervising agencies to federal, state, local, or private agencies or organizations, assistance with forms, applications, or financial subsidies or other monetary assistance for housing. For purposes of this chapter, "housing assistance" is not a remedial service or time-limited family reunification service as described in RCW 13.34.025(2).

(13) "Indigent" means a person who, at any stage of a court proceeding, is:

(a) Receiving one of the following types of public assistance: Temporary assistance for needy families, aged, blind, or disabled assistance benefits, medical care services under RCW 74.09.035, pregnant women assistance benefits, poverty-related veterans' benefits, food stamps or food stamp benefits transferred electronically, refugee resettlement benefits, medicaid, or supplemental security income; or

(b) Involuntarily committed to a public mental health facility; or

(c) Receiving an annual income, after taxes, of one hundred twenty-five percent or less of the federally established poverty level; or

(d) Unable to pay the anticipated cost of counsel for the matter before the court because his or her available funds are insufficient to pay any amount for the retention of counsel.

(14) "Out-of-home care" means placement in a foster family home or group care facility licensed pursuant to chapter 74.15 RCW or placement in a home, other than that of the child's parent, guardian, or legal custodian, not required to be licensed pursuant to chapter 74.15 RCW.

(15) "Preventive services" means preservation services, as defined in chapter 74.14C RCW, and other reasonably available services, including housing assistance, capable of preventing the need for out-of-home placement while protecting the child.

(16) "Shelter care" means temporary physical care in a facility licensed pursuant to RCW 74.15.030 or in a home not required to be licensed pursuant to RCW 74.15.030.

(17) "Sibling" means a child's birth brother, birth sister, adoptive brother, adoptive sister, half-brother, or half-sister, or as defined by the law or custom of the Indian child's tribe for an Indian child as defined in RCW 13.38.040.

(18) "Social study" means a written evaluation of matters relevant to the disposition of the case and shall contain the following information:

(a) A statement of the specific harm or harms to the child that intervention is designed to alleviate;

(b) A description of the specific services and activities, for both the parents and child, that are needed in order to prevent serious harm to the child; the reasons why such services and activities are likely to be useful; the availability of any proposed services; and the agency's overall plan for ensuring that the services will be delivered. The description shall identify the services chosen and approved by the parent;

(c) If removal is recommended, a full description of the reasons why the child cannot be protected adequately in the home, including a description of any previous efforts to work with the parents and the child in the home; the in-home treatment programs that have been considered and rejected; the preventive services, including housing assistance, that have been offered or provided and have failed to prevent the need for out-of-home placement, unless the health, safety, and welfare of the child cannot be protected adequately in the home; and the parents' attitude toward placement of the child;

(d) A statement of the likely harms the child will suffer as a result of removal;

(e) A description of the steps that will be taken to minimize the harm to the child that may result if separation occurs including an assessment of the child's relationship and emotional bond with any siblings, and the agency's plan to provide ongoing contact between the child and the child's siblings if appropriate; and

(f) Behavior that will be expected before determination that supervision of the family or placement is no longer necessary.

(19) "Supervising agency" means an agency licensed by the state under RCW 74.15.090, or licensed by a federally recognized Indian tribe located in this state under RCW 74.15.190, that has entered into a performance-based contract with the department to provide case management for the delivery and documentation of child welfare services as defined in RCW 74.13.020.

(20) "Medical condition" means, for the purpose of qualifying for extended foster care services, a short-term or long-term physical or mental health condition as verified and documented by a health care provider.

(21) "Nonminor dependent" means any individual age eighteen to twenty-one years for whom there was an open dependency proceeding at the time that he or she reached the age of eighteen years, or who is released from the juvenile rehabilitation administration and had an open dependency proceeding at the time of his or her commitment, and who meets the eligibility requirements for extended foster care services authorized under RCW 74.13.031.

(22) "Supervised independent living" includes, but is not limited to, apartment living, room and board arrangements, college or university dormitories, and shared roommate settings.

Sec. 3. RCW 13.34.145 and 2011 c 330 s 6 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) The purpose of a permanency planning hearing is to review the permanency plan for the child, inquire into the welfare of the child and progress of the case, and reach decisions regarding the permanent placement of the child.

(a) A permanency planning hearing shall be held in all cases where the child has remained in out-of-home care for at least nine months and an adoption decree, guardianship order, or permanent custody order has not previously been entered. The hearing shall take place no later than twelve months following commencement of the current placement episode.

(b) Whenever a child is removed from the home of a dependency guardian or long-term relative or foster care provider, and the child is not returned to the home of the parent, guardian, or legal custodian but is placed in out-of-home care, a permanency planning hearing shall take place no later than twelve months, as provided in this section, following the date of removal unless, prior to the hearing, the child returns to the home of the dependency guardian or long-term care provider, the child is placed in the home of the parent, guardian, or legal custodian, an adoption decree, guardianship order, or a permanent custody order is entered, or the dependency is dismissed. Every effort shall be made to provide stability in long-term placement, and to avoid disruption of placement, unless the child is being returned home or it is in the best interest of the child.

(c) Permanency planning goals should be achieved at the earliest possible date, preferably before the child has been in out-of-home care for fifteen months. In cases where parental rights have been terminated, the child is legally free for adoption, and adoption has been identified as the primary permanency planning goal, it shall be a goal to complete the adoption within six months following entry of the termination order.

(2) No later than ten working days prior to the permanency planning hearing, the agency having custody of the child shall submit a written permanency plan to the court and shall mail a copy of the plan to all parties and their legal counsel, if any.

(3) Subject to the availability of amounts appropriated for this specific purpose, when the youth is at least age seventeen years but not older than seventeen years and six months, the department shall provide the youth with written documentation which explains the availability of extended foster care services and detailed instructions regarding how the youth may access such services after he or she reaches age eighteen years.

(4) At the permanency planning hearing, the court shall conduct the following inquiry:

(a) If a goal of long-term foster or relative care has been achieved prior to the permanency planning hearing, the court shall review the child's status to determine whether the placement and the plan for the child's care remain appropriate.

(b) In cases where the primary permanency planning goal has not been achieved, the court shall inquire regarding the reasons why the primary goal has not been achieved and determine what needs to be done to make it possible to achieve the primary goal. The court shall review the permanency plan prepared by the agency and make explicit findings regarding each of the following:

(i) The continuing necessity for, and the safety and appropriateness of, the placement;

(ii) The extent of compliance with the permanency plan by the department or supervising agency and any other service providers, the child's parents, the child, and the child's guardian, if any;

(iii) The extent of any efforts to involve appropriate service providers in addition to department or supervising agency staff in planning to meet the special needs of the child and the child's parents;

(iv) The progress toward eliminating the causes for the child's placement outside of his or her home and toward returning the child safely to his or her home or obtaining a permanent placement for the child;

(v) The date by which it is likely that the child will be returned to his or her home or placed for adoption, with a guardian or in some other alternative permanent placement; and

(vi) If the child has been placed outside of his or her home for fifteen of the most recent twenty-two months, not including any period during which the child was a runaway from the out-of-home placement or the first six months of any period during which the child was returned to his or her home for a trial home visit, the appropriateness of the permanency plan, whether reasonable efforts were made by the department or supervising agency to achieve the goal of the permanency plan, and the circumstances which prevent the child from any of the following:

(A) Being returned safely to his or her home;

(B) Having a petition for the involuntary termination of parental rights filed on behalf of the child;

(C) Being placed for adoption;

(D) Being placed with a guardian;

(E) Being placed in the home of a fit and willing relative of the child; or

(F) Being placed in some other alternative permanent placement, including independent living or long-term foster care.

At this hearing, the court shall order the department or supervising agency to file a petition seeking termination of parental rights if the child has been in out-of-home care for fifteen of the last twenty-two months since the date the dependency petition was filed unless the court makes a good cause exception as to why the filing of a termination of parental rights petition is not appropriate. Any good cause finding shall be reviewed at all subsequent hearings pertaining to the child. For purposes of this section, "good cause exception" includes but is not limited to the following: The child is being cared for by a relative; the department has not provided to the child's family such services as the court and the department have deemed necessary for the child's safe return home; or the department has documented in the case plan a compelling reason for determining that filing a petition to terminate parental rights would not be in the child's best interests.

(c)(i) If the permanency plan identifies independent living as a goal, the court shall make a finding that the provision of services to assist the child in making a transition from foster care to independent living will allow the child to manage his or her financial, personal, social, educational, and nonfinancial affairs prior to approving independent living as a permanency plan of care. The court will inquire whether the child has been provided information about extended foster care services.

(ii) The permanency plan shall also specifically identify the services, including extended foster care services, where appropriate, that will be provided to assist the child to make a successful transition from foster care to independent living.

(iii) The department or supervising agency shall not discharge a child to an independent living situation before the child is eighteen years of age unless the child becomes emancipated pursuant to chapter 13.64 RCW.

(d) If the child has resided in the home of a foster parent or relative for more than six months prior to the permanency planning hearing, the court shall:

(i) Enter a finding regarding whether the foster parent or relative was informed of the hearing as required in RCW 74.13.280, 13.34.215(6), and 13.34.096; and

(ii) If the department or supervising agency is recommending a placement other than the child's current placement with a foster parent, relative, or other suitable person, enter a finding as to the reasons for the recommendation for a change in placement.

~~((4))~~ (5) In all cases, at the permanency planning hearing, the court shall:

(a)(i) Order the permanency plan prepared by the supervising agency to be implemented; or

(ii) Modify the permanency plan, and order implementation of the modified plan; and

(b)(i) Order the child returned home only if the court finds that a reason for removal as set forth in RCW 13.34.130 no longer exists; or

(ii) Order the child to remain in out-of-home care for a limited specified time period while efforts are made to implement the permanency plan.

~~((5))~~ (6) Following the first permanency planning hearing, the court shall hold a further permanency planning hearing in accordance with this section at least once every twelve months until a permanency planning goal is achieved or the dependency is dismissed, whichever occurs first.

~~((6))~~ (7) Prior to the second permanency planning hearing, the agency that has custody of the child shall consider whether to file a petition for termination of parental rights.

~~((7))~~ (8) If the court orders the child returned home, casework supervision by the department or supervising agency shall continue for at least six months, at which time a review hearing shall be held pursuant to RCW 13.34.138, and the court shall determine the need for continued intervention.

~~((8))~~ (9) The juvenile court may hear a petition for permanent legal custody when: (a) The court has ordered implementation of a permanency plan that includes permanent legal custody; and (b) the party pursuing the permanent legal custody is the party identified in the permanency plan as the prospective legal custodian. During the pendency of such proceeding, the court shall conduct review hearings and further permanency planning hearings as provided in this chapter. At the conclusion of the legal guardianship or permanent legal custody proceeding, a juvenile court hearing shall be held for the purpose of determining whether dependency should be dismissed. If a guardianship or permanent custody order has been entered, the dependency shall be dismissed.

~~((9))~~ (10) Continued juvenile court jurisdiction under this chapter shall not be a barrier to the entry of an order establishing a legal guardianship or permanent legal custody when the requirements of subsection ~~((8))~~ (9) of this section are met.

~~((10))~~ (11) Nothing in this chapter may be construed to limit the ability of the agency that has custody of the child to file a petition for termination of parental rights or a guardianship petition at any time following the establishment of dependency. Upon the filing of such a petition, a fact-finding hearing shall be scheduled and held in accordance with this chapter unless the department or supervising agency requests dismissal of the petition prior to the hearing or unless the parties enter an agreed order terminating parental rights, establishing guardianship, or otherwise resolving the matter.

~~((11))~~ (12) The approval of a permanency plan that does not contemplate return of the child to the parent does not relieve the supervising agency of its obligation to provide reasonable services, under this chapter, intended to effectuate the return of the child to the parent, including but not limited to, visitation rights. The court shall consider the child's relationships with siblings in accordance with RCW 13.34.130.

~~((12))~~ (13) Nothing in this chapter may be construed to limit the procedural due process rights of any party in a termination or guardianship proceeding filed under this chapter.

Sec. 4. RCW 13.34.267 and 2012 c 52 s 4 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) In order to facilitate the delivery of extended foster care services, the court shall postpone for six months the dismissal of a dependency proceeding for any ~~((child))~~ youth who is a dependent child in foster care at the age of eighteen years and who, at the time of his or her eighteenth birthday, is:

(a) Enrolled in a secondary education program or a secondary education equivalency program; ~~((or))~~

(c) Participating in a program or activity designed to promote employment or remove barriers to employment;

(d) Engaging in employment for eighty hours or more per month; or

(e) Incapable of engaging in any of the activities described in (a) or (d) of this subsection due to a medical condition that is supported by regularly updated information.

(2)(a) ~~((The six-month postponement under this subsection is intended to allow a reasonable window of opportunity for an eligible youth who reaches the age of eighteen to request extended foster care services from the department or supervising agency. The court shall dismiss the dependency if the youth:~~

(i) Has not requested extended foster care services from the department by the end of the six-month period; or

(ii) Is no longer eligible for extended foster care services under RCW 74.13.031(10) at any point during the six-month period.

(b) Until the youth requests to participate in the extended foster care program, the department is relieved of any supervisory responsibility for the youth.

(3) A youth who participates in extended foster care while completing a secondary education or equivalency program may continue to receive extended foster care services for the purpose of participating in a postsecondary academic or postsecondary vocational education program if, at the time the secondary education or equivalency program is completed, the youth has applied to and can demonstrate that he or she intends to timely enroll in a postsecondary academic or vocational education program. The dependency shall be dismissed if the youth fails to timely enroll or continue in the postsecondary program, or reaches age twenty-one, whichever is earlier.

(4) A youth receiving extended foster care services is a party to the dependency proceeding. The youth's parent or guardian shall be dismissed from the dependency proceeding when the youth reaches the age of eighteen years.

(5)) If the court maintains the dependency proceeding of a youth pursuant to subsection (1)(a) or (b) of this section, the youth is eligible to receive extended foster care services pursuant to RCW 74.13.031, subject to the youth's continuing eligibility and agreement to participate.

SPECIAL ORDER OF BUSINESS

The hour fixed for the consideration of the special order of business having arrived, the President called the Senate to order. The Senate immediately considered Substitute Senate Bill No. 5195.

RULING BY THE PRESIDENT

President Owen: “In ruling on the Point of Order raised by Senator Bailey as to whether Amendment 189 fits within the scope and object of Substitute Senate Bill 5195, the President finds and rules as follows.

In general, a bill with a single subject can be challenging to amend without raising issues of scope and object, particularly when the amendment raises issues of controversy. The underlying bill expands the use of the state needs grant by allowing students who are currently eligible for the grant to use it if enrolled at Western Governors University – Washington. Currently, those students may be eligible for the state need grant, but may not use it at their institution, because the institution does not meet the statutory criteria. The underlying bill does not alter the eligibility standards of students.

Simply put, the bill determines the institutions at which eligible students may use the grant; the amendment changes the eligibility standards for all students regardless of the institution they attend.

For these reasons, the President finds that Amendment 189 is beyond the scope and object of the underlying bill, and Senator Bailey’s point is well-taken.”

The business of the Senate was suspended to allow for remarks by Rear Admiral Keith Taylor, commander, District 13, U.S. Coast Guard.

REMARKS BY REAR ADMIRAL KEITH TAYLOR

Rear Admiral Keith Taylor: "Thank you Mr. President, members of the Senate. Thank you so much for having us here today. It's great to see so many people that we work so closely with and that support our men and women so well. On behalf of the men and women of the United States Navy, the United States Marine Corps, the United States Merchant Marine and the United States Coast Guard, we collectively thank you for what you're doing in this state. The resolution you just passed is very meaningful to us. 'Whereas; Washington State has both a strong maritime heritage and a contemporary reliance on the sea.' That is a very important set of thoughts. We are a maritime nation. Our safety comes from the sea and by the sea. We need to make sure that our economic vitality is strong and the sea plays an important part in that. We need to do everything we can to protect the sea because it is fragile and we must make sure that our children and their children have the opportunity to enjoy it. All of us in the sea services whether it's the big Navy across the globe making sure that America's interest are upheld; your United States Coast Guard here locally making sure that take care of all the maritime traffic. We take care of mariners who are in distress. We make sure that water is available for everyone to enjoy. We all thank you for what you're doing to help us to our job. And as many of you spoke, it's all about our youngest men and women. They give so much and we need, to everyday, thank them for their service. Thank you very much."

REMARKS BY ADMIRAL MARK RICH

Admiral Mark Rich: "Thank you Mr. President and thank you Senators for allowing me this opportunity and honor to speak to you today. I'll just say on behalf of more than forty thousand active duty reserve service members and government civilians in the state of Washington as well as their eighty thousand plus retirees and family members, I want to thank you for the honor of being here today and for the resolution you just passed. Just before they deployed last summer then Secretary of State, Secretary of Defense Leon Panetta told the crew of the USS John Stennis that when the world calls we have to respond and you're the best that I have. I can tell you that the Sea Services have been here in the Northwest ready to respond for more than one hundred sixty years now and we're proud to make our home ports in what we call the 'Better Washington'. Now we have ensured peace through deterrence, forward presence and engagement and when deterrence's fail, we responded to those crisis and we fought the nations wars. Here in the Puget Sound we built and repair the country's fleet. That fleet has maintained the sea lines of communication that today have made this region into a global hub of commerce and innovation. So, I don't want to talk a whole lot about the budget crisis, because that is a big issue for us, but I will tell that locally here in the state of Washington out of 5.3 billion dollar annual economic impact some of the austerity measures that the Navy is implementing to deal with the three fold crisis that we're facing right now, they're going to total up to about two hundred eighty million dollars. I don't want to short shrift that because the biggest impact of all I think is the fact that we have sixteen thousand civilians, navy civilian's almost all whom will be furloughed. And that is taking a twenty percent pay cut every week for the next twenty two weeks beginning in late April in all likelihood as things stand right now with the budget. So, that's obviously a big deal and a big concern to us. Additionally we're looking at budget cuts on the order of one hundred fifty eight million dollars to our facilities, sustainment and restoration and modernization program that we use to maintain our buildings, utilities systems and major infrastructure. We've cancelled eighty three million dollars' worth of depot level air craft maintenance at Whidbey Island and another thirty million dollars from our base operating support accounts that does things like funds the cleanliness and upkeep of our roads, grounds and buildings as well as operate our ports, air fields and provides security, fire and emergency services. Under these conditions I think we need to think about having a national discussion about U. S. strategy and what the, what role we want our military to play in the security of our nation. As for me Navy Region Northwest provides shore installations support to our operational tenants so that they're trained, ready and able to respond when called. To accomplish that mission we have long collaborated with Washington's transportation system, private businesses, NGO's, schools, political leadership and Native American tribes and we're proud to do so. We literally couldn't do our job without you. So, I want to thank you for your support. Some of that support is in the form of legislation. Legislation such as what provides quicker state residency tuition requirements for new veterans, keeps activated reservists from losing college credit and that helps the children of deployed service members. Time precludes me from naming them all but I just want to say thank you for that. So as I said earlier there's been a long standing symbiotic relationship between America's Sea Services and Washington State. And I can think of no better testament than something that I experienced just yesterday that you referred to Senator. I went to the memorial service for Lt. Commander Patterson and Lt. J. G. s Delaney and Will McIlvaine and to see the community out pouring and the support of that event. Those young aviators were known personally to very, very few people in that community but they turned out remarkably strong and it made me proud to be here in Washington. So, thank you."

SIXTY SIXTH DAY, MARCH 20, 2013

REMARKS BY REAR ADMIRAL KUHLMANN

Admiral Kuhlmann: "Thank you again for recognizing the great service of the Sea Services here and for especially for those young men and women who serve every day. It is my distinct pleasure to be back here in Washington again. This is my fourth tour here. I've also done multiple tours in DC and I can confirm this is 'the better Washington.' So, it is truly a pleasure to be back here in charge of the submarines in the largest submarine base in the United States and the only submarine base that has all three types of submarines. No other base in the country has our ballistic missile, guided missile, and fast attack submarines that you folks support and I appreciate the support represented by this resolution today and we will get that word out to the troops, the strong support this state has, they do feel privileged to serve you. Thank you."

REMARKS BY THE PRESIDENT

President Owen: "The President would like to recognize, we didn't get a chance to say thank you to the incredible vocalist that sang the National Anthem from the Navy, Musician Second Class Stephanie Brainard. Now, I don't see her here but she was here. Not in the wings? Well, please make sure that you express to her our appreciation and thanks to her for it."

JOINT SESSION

Pursuant to Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 8403, the President called the Joint Session to order. The Secretary called the roll of the members of the Senate. The Secretary called the roll of the members of the House of Representatives. The President declared that a quorum of the Legislature was present.

The President welcomed and introduced the statewide elected officials: The Honorable Jay Inslee, Governor; The Honorable Kim Wyman, Secretary of State; The Honorable Jim McIntire, State Treasurer; The Honorable Troy Kelley, State Auditor; The Honorable Randy Dorn, State Superintendent of Public Instruction; and Justice Sheryl Gordon McCloud of the Washington State Supreme Court, who were present and seated at the rostrum.

The Washington Youth Academy Honor Guard consisting of Cadet Jacob Hamilton; Cadet Jeremiah Mealeanga; Cadet Nash Muraya; Cadet Keenan Doane and Cadet Cody Dagget presented the Colors. Cadet Jaenora Olive of the Washington Youth Academy performed the National Anthem.

The prayer was offered by Senator Bruce Dammeier.

Senator Dammeier: "So, as we come together today we're honoring a tremendous servant leader from community. He started in these chambers, went on to serve as the leader of my home county and ultimately came back here as our state's leader. As I reflected upon Booth Gardner's life there's some key biblical principles of servant leadership that were very apparent to me. The first is, everybody's familiar I think with Mathew 25 which talks about the parable of the talent. The key element of that is: 'To whom much is given, much is expected.' Booth Gardner lived that. Additionally, in the book of Philippians it talks a lot about putting other interests first, ahead of your own. He was known as kind of an anti-politician and he, you know, shunned the limelight and was always looking out for others certainly before himself. Lastly, in the book of James it talks about the role that trials play in our lives and how they can be used to perfect our character. Booth Gardner had more than his share of trials and he came through it with very, very strong character. If you would bow your head.

"Dear Heavenly Father, we come before You today honoring Booth Gardner. Lord, he was a tremendous example to us all. May all the elected officials in this room be challenged by that example and live to emulate those standards. Lord, I hope You welcomed him with: 'Well done my good and faithful servant. Enter in to the joy of Your Master' because he labored hard on this earth, Lord, and did good work. Lastly, Lord, I lift up his family. I pray that You continue to comfort them, that You would bless them, that they would remember all the wonderful things that Booth did through his life and the wonderful memories, the father, the son, the grandfather that he was, the brother, that those would be first and foremost in their minds as they go through this grieving process. Thank You Lord for this time. May You use this to Your glory. Amen."

REMARKS BY THE PRESIDENT

President Owen: "This Joint Session has been convened for the purpose of remembering and honoring the life and service of former Governor Booth Gardner. The President believes it was totally appropriate that we had all of this beginning of the ceremony with young people. If you knew Booth as he lived, he was a coach of girls' soccer, he was very strong advocate for young people. And I think we should recognize these young people for the great job that they did. It is a great honor for the President to be able to preside over this important and very serious memorial for Booth Gardner having had the opportunity to serve with him and considering him a friend."

The President introduced Ms. Erica Peterson of Saint Michael Parish, Olympia, who performed "On Eagles' Wings."

The President called upon the Secretary to read House Concurrent Resolution No. 4404, celebrating the life and legacy of William Booth Gardner, which had been adopted by the Senate earlier in the day and the House of Representatives previously and the resolution was again read, in full.

REMARKS BY THE PRESIDENT

President Owen: "The President will recognize members of the Senate and House of Representatives to make Points of Personal Privilege. It is not necessary to request the Point of Personal Privilege."

REMARKS BY SENATOR TOM

Senator Tom: "Thank you Mr. President. You know there are a lot of different words to describe Governor Booth Gardner. You could say 'compassionate.' You could say 'warm.' His home town paper called him 'cuddly,' – not too many people here get that reference – 'humble,' 'frugal,' 'funny,' and he always offered 'hope.' But I think the one thing that really stands out with Governor Gardner was 'leadership.' And it wasn't the kind of leadership where you went and you took a public poll. It was the kind of leadership where you did what you did because it was the right thing to do. If you look at where he did and some of his initiatives he really was a front runner and way ahead of his times in a lot of cases. He banned smoking in state work places; if you look at the Growth Management Act; if you look at banning discrimination based upon sexual orientation; Running Start, which is a phenomenal program we have today; and then his signature initiative, the 'Death with Dignity.' In talking with members who worked with Booth, it's always interesting how much they adored him. How much they respected him and what he really brought to them in making them better individuals. Jim Kneeland, his press secretary, said that Booth created an atmosphere where people could grow, where people could thrive, where people could succeed, where they could experiment with new ideas and new thoughts. And I think that's why he was such a leader. You know Booth was, his life was not without challenges or what he calls curve balls. His mom and sister died when he was fourteen. You know, he lived the end of his life with Parkinson's. I did not have the privilege of working with him but I still remember once when him and I sat down over in the Pritchard Building and had lunch and the thing that I remember so much about him was he was like the funniest guy I ever met. I mean it was like a Johnny Carson-type humor. He was an incredible funny man but I think what stands out, although he was funny, he was serious in his approach. He was serious in his intent but he was always soft in his approach. I think he gives us a great lesson and those lessons are hope, humility, and graciousness. You know he's really left us a great legacy. He's left us a great example. He's left us a great pathway for all of us who are in this state to make sure that we continue that legacy of greatness of sharing, of caring and do it a humble manner. Thank you Mr. President."

REMARKS BY REPRESENTATIVE HUNT

Representative Hunt: "Thank you Mr. President. Well, it is indeed an honor to be able to help memorialize one of our outstanding governors, Booth Gardner. I had the privilege of working with for a couple of years as his education person when we were working on education issues and trying reform, as we always have been it seems in education. If I could Mr. President, I'd like to start with a couple of quotations my some of my fellow people who worked with the Governor? Thank you Mr. President. Denny Heck, who was Chief of Staff and is now a Congressman representing the Tenth District. I took this off Facebook, just so you know. How times change. 'My heart is at half-mast. Booth Gardner will be remembered for many things. He will be remembered for his impish sense of humor and never failing common touch. He will be remembered as the original turnaround expert for a then troubled Pierce County Government. He will be remembered as a Governor who guided an historic amount of progress while never tooting his own horn. Mostly though, he will be remembered as a leader whose natural style of civility, respectfulness and collaboration served our state very well. We could certainly use more Booth Gardeners today.' And from Ann Ryherd, Ann Daley in those days, 'He was so wonderful with children. In fact there were times staff couldn't get him back on schedule because he was taking his time with whatever group of school children stopped by his office. All these years later the schedule seems incredibly unimportant but the way Booth touched all those young lives hopefully lives on.' The Olympian headline this morning called Booth a beloved Governor with a lasting legacy. He governed during a time of relative prosperity in our state which helped but he tackled many policy issues with courage and vision: education reform; health care; and good management throughout state government. We know that he was a state senator. He was an education Governor. He even tackled the difficult subject of tax reform. I know I got sent once on a cold winter day on a plane to Eastern Washington in a snow storm to advocate for Governor Gardner's tax reform. The weather and reception was probably equally as chilling. We heard Frisco Freeze but he was also known as a manager by walking around, that's what he called it management by walking around and he had town halls throughout the state. We were in Wenatchee one day and there were several vans of us after town hall and he said, 'I need to go to a state office.' So we went to this state office in Wenatchee. It was really neat because the road was up on a hill and the office was just down below the grade so we all stayed in the cars looking out the windows as the Governor walked in. There was nobody at the front desk. He stood there. He looked around. And, like many state offices, there were cubicles everywhere. And finally a head shot up, looked around went back down. And then three or four more heads shot up and somebody came running out to the side. And we never know what was said but he got to meet a bunch of the state employees there and make his little tour of the office. After that we went to lunch. Where? At a hamburger place of course. And his impish style, which Denny Heck referred to, Congressman Heck, there were a group of young people behind the counter and he walks up. He's looking at the menu and he said to the kids; 'Do you know who I am?' And they looked at him and they actually formed a huddle behind the counter and they kept looking at him and finally one of the kids turns around and looks at him and says, 'Yes, we know. You're Brock Adams.' He corrected himself and we had a good meal and everything. I thought that was a great experience. And being an avid Cougar and he was just about as avid as Husky and now we know why Harvard won last night. He was up there coaching I think. But he had a great tie. One side was purple and gold, the other side was crimson and gray. So, whenever he went to the Apple Cup, he could say he always, after the game, had the tie of the winning team. I watched some excerpts last night of the movie, The Last Campaign of Booth Gardner. If I could close with a couple quotations from Governor Gardner? Thank you Mr. President. And something that we all think of, he says, 'I automatically thought I had control over the rest of my life.' Goes on to say, 'I won't kid you, not a day goes by that I don't think about death. I kid myself, is this the day? Is this the day when I'm going to be found dead in the bathroom? So I take shorter showers. I just get in and get out.' And finally, he says, in talking about the Death with Dignity Initiative, 'I think I ought to have to make, to have the right to make the last decision. I should decide when it's time for me to go and how to go.' Certainly Booth Gardner went with quality and with leadership and with love for us all and from us to him. Thank you Mr. President."

REMARKS BY SENATOR MURRAY

Senator Murray: "Thank you Mr. President, Governor, members of the Gardner family, On behalf of the Senate Democratic Caucus where Governor Gardner served it's an honor to speak. Let me thank my colleagues in the House for coming to this chamber today, a chamber that meant so much to Governor Gardner. You know Senator Dammeier caught I think in the scripture quotes much of the Booth Gardner we knew. I want to say something about him along those lines as a person and as a public servant. First, on a very personal note, I got to know Governor Gardner, the first time I met him, I was campaign manager for a newly appointed legislator from my district, Cal Anderson and I met Booth and I was just stunned at this casual guy would talk to this sort of kid, kind of nobody but I was more surprised in the 90s when we were working on transportation that he remembered who I was, remembered where he met me and he remembered what I'd been doing in the years between and I think that's an experience people had again and again about Booth Gardner. You know Booth as a person the stories I have heard as well, as the person I got to know over the years, the person who would call me on Christmas Eve and wish me Merry Christmas is also the person Wayne Ehlers, former Speaker of the House, talked about whom his last year in office they were at a restaurant in Chelan County and Booth spent his time, instead of actually eating dinner, going around and talking to everybody else in the restaurant, going back into the kitchen and meeting all the staff. Coming out, the former Speaker asked him 'So do you actually know those people back in the kitchen?' and Booth Gardner replied, 'Yes, those are my friends.' Back when he was at the University of Washington he was coaching a, I think it was a baseball team. Yes, it was a baseball team in the international district. They didn't have any uniforms. They didn't have any equipment. One day the equipment showed up, the uniforms showed up. They didn't know it but it was Governor Gardner who paid for them or, you know, a student named Booth Gardner who paid for it. So, that's the person that Booth Gardner was. The statesman that Booth Gardner was you've already heard a little bit about but I think it's worth mentioning. The State Senator, a County Executive, a Governor of the State and what an incredible legacy he left behind — Running Start; the Basic Health Plan; the Growth Management Act; First Steps; and, yes, beginning the process of education reforms by instituting standards — an incredible achievement on the part of Booth Gardner as Governor of this state. Finally, we've heard about his final struggle. I had an opportunity to spend some time with him during those last years and he was in pain but, once again, the person that Senator Dammeier mentioned showed those same qualities, those same scripture qualities. He took that pain and he thought about how he could help other people. How he could make death, the process of dying, be a process of dignity. He really, not just as Governor, but, again, as a person. The person who handed out uniforms, the person who helped people find dignity as they die. That was the same person. In closing, when I think of him I think of a quote of Robert Kennedy that Robert Kennedy often said, and somebody that Governor Gardner admired, Robert Kennedy said, 'Some people see things and say, Why? I dream things that never were and say, Why not?' Certainly whether it was a team that needed equipment, the Basic Health Plan or people who needed the ability to die with dignity. Booth Gardner represented those words. He saw things that never were and said, 'Why not.'"

REMARKS BY REPRESENTATIVE ANGEL

Representative Angel: "Thank you Mr. President, Governor Insee, distinguished guest, ladies and gentleman of the House and the Senate and family. It is my honor today to stand here to celebrate and honor and give thanks to a very influential gentleman and yet very humble, that was a citizen that became a part of the history of our wonderful state, serving as the nineteenth Governor of the State of Washington, Booth Gardner. It is among the greatest honors that I have had and to come here today and to pay tribute to him for the difference he made in our state in the lives of our people. From his advocacy for better public education including early learning, from his love for the environment and our beautiful Puget Sound and to the snowcapped Cascades and his work to protect the waters from the pollution. From the leadership and making sure that Washington citizens had access to affordable health care and from his dedication to civil rights and his belief that at the end of our life, people could ensure that their life could end with dignity. Booth Gardner was a distinguished leader and he was full of compassion, as you've already heard today. The most challenging part for me was in determining what part of Booth's life did we talk about today? You've heard about him being a public servant and in talking and going through his biography that you heard entitled 'Booth who?' after his 1983 campaign slogan that was written by John Hughes — that's over two hundred twenty pages long in itself, and then the movie that Representative Hunt referred to on HBO that was titled 'The Last Campaign of Governor Booth Gardner' which was about his efforts to pass the Death with Dignity law here in our state. Everyone that met him, that came in contact with this Governor probably had their own fond memories and stories about him but today I want to talk about the man who was the Senator of the Twenty Sixth District the district which I am proud to represent as well and I want to share a story with you about a helicopter. Yes, a helicopter. Booth's father sent him on an errand to go to the grocery store. They had a vacation home on Vashon Island, which is just across the water from where I live, and he was coming home when a helicopter buzzed right over his head and he ran to follow it. The tide was out, the helicopter lands on the beach, out of it gets Al Rossellini and Al walks into his home. So Booth goes up to his dad and he said 'Who is John's dad?' He said, 'Well, John's dad is the Governor.' Well, Booth thought that this was pretty cool because this helicopter lands and the Governor gets to get out of it and Booth said to his father, 'I'm going to ride in that helicopter one day.' Well, little did we know that helicopter story gave inspiration to a young fifteen year old that ended up doing just that and becoming our Governor. You know he ran for the Senate, as you know in the Twenty Sixth District, and it was a very hard fought campaign. It was back in 1970 and he ran against an incumbent Republican about the same age as Booth. They were both in their thirties but Booth was elected to the Twenty Sixth District by a fifty six percent vote. When he arrived here in the Olympia in January of 1971, a reporter wrote this about him and Mr. President, may I quote that? Thank you. And I quote: 'Conversing with this thirty-four year old freshman, Tacoma Democrat is akin to filling your lungs with fresh air after spending a day in the smoggiest section of an urban area.' End of quote. During the time that he served as our Twenty Sixth District Senator, he became Chairman of the Manufacturing and Development Committee. He co-sponsored legislation to diversify the state's industrial base and to create more jobs in the rural area — a man after my own heart. He signed onto a bill in the legislature that brought the legislature under the Open Public Meetings Act and he became Chairman of the Senate Education Committee. In the summer of 1971, Senator Gardner was offered a job that he just couldn't turn down and that was President of the Laird Norton Company which owns a network of enterprises of lumber yards to shopping centers. In 1973, he resigned from the Twenty-Sixth District Senate position because he felt pressured with meeting the business and the family responsibilities that he had at that time and he felt that those responsibilities were too great for him to do the justice that he needed to the Senate seat. Back in 1981 he's back to do more public service and, as you heard, serving as our Pierce County Executive and then, of course, he served us as Governor from 1985 to 1993. I want to talk though about the man that people really loved. You know I moved to the state just shortly after, just shortly before actually, he became Governor and he was the very first Governor of the State of Washington that I had the opportunity to meet and when I met him, of course, I'm very intimidated but he made me feel comfortable. He was so easy to be around. And boy he had a great smile. I remember that, and he had a humble nature. He loved to connect with ordinary people. And as you heard he loved children and often when children were visiting in his office, yes, he was delayed because he would be telling stories and he would ruffle up their hair and they too enjoyed him. He loved to laugh. He loved people and, as you heard, his home town paper described him as 'cuddly.' Pretty neat, huh? Booth Gardner inherited a fortune when he was a young man but he never flaunted it. In fact, he was very frugal and he was known to enjoy the very simple things of life. One of his favorite places as you heard was Frisco Freeze in Tacoma. It's a classic 1950's drive in and it's over by the Mary Bridge Hospital. His favorite thing was to go there and get a double burger, a medium sized coke — hold the cheese but put lots of mustard. Governor Gardner could afford to eat at the fanciest restaurant in the State of Washington. However, it was the simple things that tells the story about this man, that he enjoyed a burger and a drink for $5.25. But in being frugal and in his personal life he was one of the most generous, compassionate people that walked on the Capitol Campus here. He was generous to charities. He gave his heart and his compassion to the state of Washington. When asked how he would like to be remembered

Governor Gardner said, 'I tried to help people and I tried to make a difference.' Well, Governor, you did help people and you did make a difference. And we will miss you as well, the citizens of the State of Washington. Thank you."

REMARKS BY SENATOR HARGROVE

Senator Hargrove: "Thank you Mr. President. Well, actually I have been serving ever since Booth was elected to be Governor of the State of Washington. I was elected in 1984 also running on the same ticket as Booth Who?, didn't meet him during the election time but got to know him a little bit right afterwards. He was the first of five governors I have now served under, Governor Inslee being the fifth. I just have a couple of striking memories of Booth. The first one, and I will never forget this one, was I was a freshman legislator in the House and there was his bill on Puget Sound cleanup and I had an amendment that would limit Puget Sound back to where the basically the Keystone Ferry line is because I didn't want it to affect my district and they were very concerned that that amendment might pass so I was invited down to the Governor's office. Well, you could imagine a freshman legislator, never been in any elected office before, and I go down to the Governor's office where they still have the chairs where Dixy Lee Ray cut off so you can sit next to the floor while the Governor and all his staff look over at you and say, 'We really would like you not to introduce that amendment.' I could still remember looking back up at him and saying 'No, I'm going to introduce the amendment.' It was just the start of a career here where I've been a little bit difficult to deal with but, the point is that, I have that striking memory but then, back then, and this is an issue that nobody has mentioned so far. We had very distressed timber counties back in that point and time. I know the Lieutenant Governor worked on that with me and with Booth back in that point in time so even though I was a little difficult to deal with and the fact that we disagreed on some issues he still worked with us on that distressed areas legislation and we still passed things that at the time really helped our area. So, that is something that was striking to me is that, you know, you didn't just have to go along with Booth all the time for him to reach out and say, 'I'm a Governor for the whole state.' The other striking remember that I have is when we signed one of those distressed area bills, my oldest son who is now thirty, was at the bill signing and his head in the picture barely stuck above the edge of the table. And I've still got that picture of me and Booth and my son's head just barely above the edge of the table. But you know another thing that I remember when I came to the legislature in 1985 here's some of the characters that were here from Pierce County: Wayne Ehlers was the Speaker of the House; Ted Bottiger was the Majority Leader of the Senate; Dan Grimm was the Ways & Means Chairman in the House; and George Walk was the Transportation Chair – and I probably missed a few – and Booth Gardner was the head of the 'Pierce County mafia.' So Pierce County carried an incredible amount of weight back then, if you could imagine, all of those different positions being filled by Pierce County legislators – all of whom put their mark on the state and Booth was the head of that group. So, I just wanted to give you those few thoughts and memories that I had of him and, like I said, the biggest thing from my perspective was that he was the Governor for the whole state. He was the Governor for us rural mice as well as for the people who lived in the urban areas and, even though he headed up the 'Pierce County mafia,' he reached out and helped a freshman legislator from Grays Harbor so I'm going to miss him."

REMARKS BY SENATOR SHIN

Senator Shin: "Thank you Mr. President. 1988 I was just an ordinary college teacher. I got a phone call in my office, said, 'This is Booth Gardner, can I see you?' I hadn't the foggiest idea who he was and he came to my office at Shoreline Community College. He said, 'We are leading a trade mission to Asia. I understand you understand Asia. Can you come help us?' 'I'd be honored to help you, Governor.' I was shaking all over. We went to Japan. We went to Korea. We went to China. And all the places he went to – I have never seen white person, Governor of a state, hugging and shaking the hands of the Japanese and Koreans and Chinese, even the ladies. And that really touched me so much, impressed. On top of that, 1988 on the way home from China on a trade mission he came to my economy class, he said, 'Paul, you helped us a lot. I want you to run for state legislature.' 'Governor, are you telling me a story or a joke?' He said, 'I'm serious as can be. You run, I'll help you.' I haven't the foggiest idea what the state legislature was and run for an office but, you know what? He came doorbelled for me and walked with me. I cannot tell you ... man, if a Governor come doorbelling for a very guy like me. And I remember Governor Gardner and, well, because of his influence of love and fairness, I'm here serving in the state legislature. Ladies and Gentleman and members of the Senate and House of Representatives, I just want to say he's one of the greatest persons I have ever met in my life, not only in the United States but also in Asia. Japan, China and Korea, wherever we went to, he was loved and cared for. He goes to the marketplace carrying cherries, Wenatchee-grown cherries, selling to the marketplace. Can you imagine a Governor doing such things? This is a man of humanity. With his just leadership but he's a man of love, dignity and respect and I'm so proud to call him my Governor and it is due to his love for me – and I learned so much here – I'm still learning and if I had one wish I'd like to become almost like Governor Booth Gardner. Thank you Mr. President."

Recognizing a welcome home Vietnam veterans day.

The measure was read the second time.

MOTION

On motion of Senator Roach, the rules were suspended, House Bill No. 1319 was advanced to third reading, the second reading considered the third and the bill was placed on final passage.

REMARKS BY SENATOR ROACH

Senator Roach: "Thank you Mr. President, members of the Senate, This bill comes to us, it's a very special one. We're very pleased it's before us at this time, it's the only order of consideration of bills today. More than eleven hundred Washingtonians gave their lives in the service of our country during the Vietnam conflict. At that time it's widely known in all the history books and in the memories of us here that veterans who came back, who returned from that conflict, were not welcomed home in a positive way, and not to dwell on that, but to say that it's time that they have a bit more recognition in a very positive way here in Washington State. What this bill does, it would declare that March 30th be the 'Welcome Home Vietnam Veterans Day' to be recognized by the state of Washington on March 30th or, if it falls on a weekend, that it be the Friday before March 30th by the posting of the POW/MIA and Missing in Action flag that we see today on several other holidays. In fact, we see that flag on Armed Forces Day. We see it at Memorial Day. We see that special flag, MIA, POW/MIA flag, on Flag Day. We see it Independence Day, National Korean War Veterans Armistice Day. And this, and we also have the National POW/MIA Recognition Day which falls on the 3rd Friday in September. This bill would allow the state of Washington to recognize our Vietnam Veterans on the 30th of March and I think it's a good idea. You know, those of us who have not served in battle or in the service and I'm one of those, I have a husband who served, my son is currently serving in the Air Force, but I think that if you've been in the service and you see that flag, you in your heart remember the sacrifices that were made. If just for a brief moment when you see it as you're driving and you see the flags posted. That's the way all of can feel and should be able to feel when we see the flag. And the more often we see and if we see it on March 30th in our minds we should be thinking of the fact that we have had so many people across the United States of America could give their lives in the service of their country. So, I would commend this bill to you, thank the maker of the bill and the other body for bringing it to us. And I urge your passage of the bill. Thank you."

REMARKS BY SENATOR CONWAY

Senator Conway: "Thank you Mr. President. Standing in support of the bill, you know we are really in the period of celebrating the fiftieth anniversary of the Vietnam War. Actually, President Obama has declared this next almost decade as a celebration of this war. With your permission, I'd like to read a little statement from President Obama that he addressed at his second Memorial address where he was speaking to the unjust blame that was heaped on Vietnam vets on their return from that war?"

REPLY BY THE PRESIDENT

President Owen: "Senator Conway."

REMARKS BY SENATOR CONWAY

Senator Conway: 'It was national shame, a disgrace that should never have happened. That's why we're here to resolve that it will not happen again.' Now, that speaks to why this bill is important because it's a reminder of us. Of this critical feature of welcoming our veterans home, Not only patting them on the back but taking care of them, alright? We all know that we've had a lot of great issues, discussions about our veterans coming back from Afghanistan and Iraq and how we need to provide services to them. That was missing after the Vietnam War. And we are doing better now but naming of this day is a way of remembering that disgrace that happened and making sure that it never happens again to our veterans. Thank you."

REMARKS BY SENATOR BENTON

Senator Benton: "Well, thank you Mr. President, I too rise to this excellent bill and I thank the gentleman from the House that introduced it. Both of my older brothers are Vietnam veterans. And I recall very vivid ally when my oldest brother a Whidbey Island aviator who I thought of often when the Navy was here last week, was actually shot down in Vietnam. He was missing in action on the ground for about seventeen hours. I remember how my folks felt when we were waiting to find out. Of course, my brother told me that he always had a lot of inside rivalry for the Marines but after that Marine chopper came in and picked him up, under fire, and got him and his co-pilot out, after they'd been on the ground running from the VietCong through the jungle for seventeen hours, he always thought, after that, the Marines were ok. So, that ended the rivalry between the Navy and Marines for my brother, Navy combat pilot who flew ninety three missions over Vietnam. My other brother who was in the Army. He wanted to be different than my dad so he didn't want to go in Navy, he went in the Army and he was a platoon Sergeant, -Senator Hobbs, you'd like this,- he was platoon sergeant for the 101st Airborne Division. Those are those crazy guys that jump out of helicopters under fire. And he was awarded the Bronze Star with the 'V' for Valor by the President of the United States for his service in Vietnam and both of those boys came home, thank goodness, but my one brother was killed in a car wreck a few months after he arrived home and this, unfortunately, Senator Conway as you well know, was the fate of many of those young boys who were in the adrenaline rush of war and came home and nothing was really quite like that because they'd never experienced anything like it and many of them was depicted in the famous movie 'The Fourth of July' and many others were looking for that same kind of adrenaline rush that they got from walking in the jungle. And it just wasn't here. That need took a lot of their lives, whether it was speed in a car, whether it was drugs, but a lot of those boys were killed by that war after they came home. And part of it was because of the way they were received when they came. I can remember my brother the pilot saying he came home after being shot down and people at the airport spit on him when he came in in his uniform. Now, how do you think that makes you feel after putting your life on the line for your country? It's not a very good feeling. So, today, we have a chance to honor these young men and women that answered the call. Regardless of the political aspects of that call, the young men and women of this country answered that call. And they did us all very proud. They were fighting for a cause that their government told them was a just cause. And they answered that call and they served us well and they did us all proud. Today I think is a very important day for the Vietnam veteran here in Washington State. That we all recognize that every man and woman that answered that call and served in that war did so because their country called on them and their country needed them and they answered that call. They should be recognized today and every day for the rest of their lives for what they've done for us and our country. Thank you Mr. President."

REMARKS BY SENATOR BECKER

Senator Becker: "Thank you Mr. President. Well, I too stand up and support this resolution. You know I grew up in the time when Vietnam became quite an item, thing in school. You know the draft occurred, the shootings of people at Kent State, etc. And you know, I lost one of my very best friends. We rode horses together as kids and I got word that as he was getting onto the helicopter he got shot and he died. I never believed that he was dead. It was something that you just couldn't accept and I went back to D. C and went to the wall, visited the wall, if you want to call it the wall because so many people were named on that wall. I found his name there and I stood there and cried like a baby because at that point the realization was he was really dead to me but, you know, I think of Senator Swecker. He would be standing up right now and talking about being a helicopter pilot in Vietnam and some of the things that he encountered while in Vietnam. I look at my husband, who didn't get to go to Vietnam, that wanted to go to Vietnam but he was an air traffic controller in Lynden Johnson's, on his ranch. He had it pretty easy but my brother-in-law still suffers from some of the effects of what he went through when he was in Vietnam. And you know it's a real trying time. Now, during the time that I was a stewardess I volunteered. I wanted so badly to fly the MAC (Military Airlift Command) flights. And that meant you'd go to Vietnam pick up the folks, coming home. And I was kind of laughed at because I was way to junior to do that. You probably had to be flying fifteen, twenty years to get those flights so I made a vow that any of the military guys coming back from Vietnam would never have to buy a drink on my airplane. I thank you for the airline because they actually supported that vow. I ran into people from all over the states and people from my home town coming back. They were changed and they were changed for not such a good thing. And I can't tell you how much I still appreciate everything that they did for us in that country. That war generated a lot of talk and a lot of fights in between families and a lot of commotion and disruptions in everyone's lives and it's something that I hope we never forget. How important that was. And I stand here and feel very strongly we should honor everybody coming back or came back from Vietnam and those that didn't. Thank you."

SEVENTY FIRST DAY, MARCH 25, 2013

2013 REGULAR SESSION

REMARKS BY SENATOR HASEGAWA

Senator Hasegawa: "Thank you Mr. President. Speaking as the ranking member of the Governmental Operations Committee, first I want to thank the Chair of the Committee and the committee members, the Rules Committee and this body for expediting the passage of this bill which is we're hoping we'll give full recognition to this coming Friday in a more appropriate ceremony. But in thinking about the times, back then, during Vietnam, that was such a troubled time in our countries history. We were going through so much social change at that time. And it reminds me a story that Senator Daniel told once. You'll recall that during Day of Remembrance, I spoke about the 442 and Senator Inouye told a story about when he was charging machine gun nest in one of those engagements. And he approached the nest and when he reached the nest he saw young German soldiers with terror in their eyes and he came to this epiphany that these are just people. They're doing their duty for their country but it was really a failure of the political leadership at that time and they, in their innocence and in their wanting to support their country and do their duty, were willing to die for that. In thinking about the Vietnam veterans, regardless what you think about the political leadership at that time and the political motivations behind that war, those people, the soldiers were unjustly bearing the burden of the failure of our political leadership. So, the lesson we need to learn, in my opinion, is that we need to challenge that political leadership when issues of conscience demand that we stand up and challenge that political leadership. I hope that this resolution brings some solace to those who unjustly bore that burden for our whole country during that time of change and I whole heartedly support this bill. Thank you Mr. President."

REMARKS BY SENATOR SHIN

Senator Shin: "Thank you Mr. President. Forgive me if this sounds like too much like nepotism but during the Vietnam War in 1974 United States government asked Korean troops to be sent there as joint partner. And three hundred twenty five thousand soldiers sent. And they fought there from 1974 until the end of the war. After the war, those soldiers in Korea returned home out of which about two thousand have immigrated to the United States sponsored the U. S. Defense Department to show gratitude for what we did as an ally of the country. And for this reason, not only for Vietnam, but also those veterans who fought the Vietnam War, should be commented and recognized. Thought you'd be interested to know that, Mr. President. Thank you."

REMARKS BY SENATOR HOBBS

Senator Hobbs: "Mr. President obviously, I rise in support of House Bill No. 1319. I think what's great about this bill is it honors those men and women that paved the way for future generations of soldiers, Sailors, Airmen, Marines that served in the current war and the war that I served in. When I came home, my family was there to greet me. My youngest son, whom I not seen for several months, just ran right up to me. He just learned how to walk and I missed that. I missed his first steps. I got to wear my uniform when we went from Atlanta Georgia to Fort Benning, we even stopped at a restaurant to eat. Someone paid for my meal because they were thankful for what I'd done. I wasn't ashamed of what I did but, back then, it was a totally different story. Senator Benton even talked about how his brother was spat on. I've heard of stories, I'm sure you have too, of soldiers back then who came back from the war, they took their uniform off before deplaning. I can't image going through that, having to go through a war and being ashamed of what you did. You know, I know that the American public, when it comes to the Iraq war, a majority I saw the polling said that wasn't a just war, we shouldn't have went. You know regardless of what you feel about it it's tough. It's tough for me because I served in that war. I did exactly what I was told to do and I'm proud and I would have done it again. I just hate to think I went there for no reason but imagine those men and women that served in Vietnam where the majority of the country was against them and when they came home they were rejected. At least I know when I came home, though, the American public might of said. 'You know we're not sure about this war,' at least they welcomed home our veterans with open arms and because of those men and women that suffered during Vietnam that came home, We have great programs now. When I was in Iraq, just before I left, I got to talk to psychiatrists just like all the other soldiers did. You know, 'How are you feeling? What's going on? Dealing with PTSD. When I came home I got to see one another. Several months later, I had another visit and every soldier and every service member goes through that now. That didn't happen back then. Imagine an eighteen year old infantry man going battle after battle seeing their buddies die not having any of that when they came home. The culture was totally different back then. You were taught to keep it in. You're not a man if you don't toughen up. You can't talk about it. What was great coming home for me, for my brothers and sisters that came home? You talk to a fellow Legionnaire, you could talk about it. It was ok. It was encouraged to talk about your experiences. So, I have no doubt that this bill is probably going to go out unanimously but I'm really glad that we're doing this to really let our veterans, our Vietnam veterans know because of what you did and some of the pain you went through and because you're talking about it now you're helping the young men and women of today's war cope. So thank you."

REMARKS BY SENATOR HONEYFORD

Senator Honeyford: “Well thank you Mr. President. It’s an honor to stand up in support of this piece of legislation to honor those that are still living that survived this war and have come home but that’s also important for us to remember those that did not come back. One of the things that I do is walk through all our war memorials during the lunch hours to try to visit each one and say a silent prayer of thanks for those that did not come home. Also wanted to remember those that are MIA. Just recently, well, in the last six or seven years, I found out a young man that I used to play tennis with never came home from Vietnam. His name was Joe Echanis, from Ontario, Oregon (Joseph Yanacio “Joe” Echanis, Major U. S. Air Force) I didn’t know that and I’d just like to mention his name too. Thank you Sir.”

We hope you all get your signatures on that resolution. What we’ll do immediately after, I know it’s a pro forma day, but the House and the Senate are both considering this resolution at the same time and we are inviting down the Vietnam vets for that purpose and hopefully we’ll be here to honor them. I think there’s some very personal moving statements here today. I also point out that after we’re through with our floor action we’re going down to the Vietnam Memorial for a recognition of this particular day, which is I know the 29th but this as said earlier we will be celebrating on Friday and we’ll have a program down there with the Department of Veterans Affairs and others to officially begin this recognition of this day. HUNTER GOODMAN, Secretary of the Senate

SEVENTY FIFTH DAY

Senate Chamber, Olympia, Friday, March 29, 2013

The Senate was called to order at 10:00 a.m. by President Owen. The Secretary called the roll and announced to the President that all Senators were present with the exception of Senators Baumgartner, Billig, Brown Carrell, Darneille, Eide, Ericksen, Hargrove, Hewitt, Kohl-Welles, Litzow, McAuliffe, Nelson, Padden, Parlette, Ranker, Rivers, Rolfes, Schlicher, Sheldon, Smith and Tom.

The Sergeant At Arms Color Guard consisting of Pages Ryan Oda and Kayla Ramez, presented the Colors. In recognition of Senate Resolution No. 8643 and passage and signing of House Bill No. 1319 establishing "Welcome Home Vietnam Veterans Day," the Color Guard was joined by flag bearers representing the Yakama Warriors Association. Page Brittany Cartwright performed the National Anthem.

Present at the rostrum, wearing full traditional war bonnets, were U.S. Air Force veteran and Yakama Elder Mr. Corky Ambrose and U.S. Marine Corps veteran and Yakama Elder Mr. Jake Mann and Miss Jeannetta Garcia, Yakama Nation Treaty Days Pow Wow Queen. A Yakama song of gratitude was performed by Mr. Mike Squeochs, Wanapum Spiritual Leader of Priest Rapids. Mr. Squeochs presented Mr. Ambrose to the Senate.

REMARKS BY MR. CORKY AMBROSE

Mr. Ambrose: "Good Morning everybody in the Senate. You know, when we sing that song, we sing it, when our men got on, they went around the whole encampment. They sang, sent them off to the war. And when they come back, there was one or two horses that didn't have a rider. We sang the same song to welcome them back. And the maidens knew who was missing by what was painted on the horses and what was brought back. They had passed on with the Creator and had gone up to a better world. We honor all our veterans. Don't make much difference who they are. We started our organization as tribal members. We opened it up. As long as you have an honorable discharge and a two-fourteen, we honor you to come to join us. We have traveled many places. We have honored the women veterans in Wisconsin. We have went, down Arizona, to honor our heritage, World War II vets that raised the American flag with the other veterans, the Navy and them. We go down, quickly, every year to honor our native people that have traveled and have been deceased. Thank you. Jake."

REMARKS BY MR. JAKE MANN

Mr. Mann: "Corky told you about the places we've traveled but he failed to mention that we've been back to Washington, D.C. twice to honor the Vietnam vets. We stood honor guard at the wall. We pulled three shifts each trip and that was a real honor. Like he said, we opened our organization to everybody. At first it was just the Yakama members but we had so many brothers coming home from Vietnam and other wars that wanted to join us. So we opened our organization to where we honored everybody, give them the honor they deserve. Thank you."

A traditional tribal prayer was offered by Mr. Mike Squeochs, Wanapum Spiritual Leader of Priest Rapids.

REMARKS BY THE PRESIDENT

President Owen: "The President would like to thank the veterans from the Yakama Warriors Association for being with us today."

INTRODUCTION OF SPECIAL GUESTS

The President welcomed and introduced veterans of various organizations including: the Vietnam Veterans of America; the Governor's Veterans Affairs Advisory Committee; the Veterans Legislative Coalition; and Korean veterans of the Vietnam War who were present in the gallery and recognized by the Senate.

REMARKS BY THE PRESIDENT

President Owen: "And, once again, Brittany Cartwright from Lacey who sang our National Anthem demonstrates what amazing talent these young Americans we have in the state of Washington. And thank you to Brittany for such a wonderful job."

MOTION

On motion of Senator Fain, the reading of the Journal of the previous day was dispensed with and it was approved.

MOTION

There being no objection, the Senate advanced to the first order of business.

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR
GUBERNATORIAL APPOINTMENTS

By Senators Conway, Schlicher, Hobbs, Shin, Bailey, Honeyford, Hewitt, Harper, Litzow, Tom, Chase, King, Murray,

March 25, 2013

Hasegawa, Roach, Becker, Rolfes, Hatfield, Ericksen, Keiser, Kohl-Welles, Nelson, Pearson, Braun, Holmquist Newbry, and Sheldon

WHEREAS, The Second Indochina War, also known as the Vietnam War, was predominantly fought in Vietnam from 1959-1973, involving the North Vietnamese in armed conflict with United States forces, the South Vietnamese Army, and allies from many other nations; and

WHEREAS, The United States Armed Forces became involved in Vietnam in order to provide direct military support for the government of South Vietnam in defending itself against the encroachment of Communism; and

WHEREAS, United States combat troops, primarily comprised of volunteers, arrived in Vietnam on a peacekeeping mission in 1965, and by 1968 reached a peak of nearly 543,000 troops, including significant numbers of draftees; and

WHEREAS, American armed forces fought with characteristic courage, honor, and valor on unfamiliar terrain, against escalating odds, under hostile conditions, and often outnumbered; and

WHEREAS, On January 27, 1973, the Treaty of Paris was signed, requiring the release of all United States prisoners-of-war held in North Vietnam and the withdrawal of all United States Armed Forces from South Vietnam; and

WHEREAS, The United States Armed Forces completed the withdrawal of combat units from South Vietnam by March 30, 1973; and

WHEREAS, North Vietnamese regular forces captured Saigon, the capital of South Vietnam, marking the end of the Vietnam War and establishing Communist rule on April 30, 1975; and

WHEREAS, More than 58,000 American service men and women lost their lives in Vietnam, and more than 300,000 were wounded in combat; and

WHEREAS, 1,653 Americans are still listed as missing and unaccounted for by the United States Department of Defense, and their families, friends, and fellow veterans yet endure uncertainty concerning their ultimate fate; and

WHEREAS, The State of Washington counts from among her sons and daughters some tens of thousands of those brave souls deployed to Vietnam in defense of our great nation; and

WHEREAS, The State of Washington will forever remember those who served so honorably, with great personal sacrifice; and

WHEREAS, The Washington State Senate recognizes that the Vietnam War was a war of great debate and an issue of deep division among the people of the United States, and that members of the United States Armed Forces who served bravely and faithfully were often wrongly criticized for policy decisions beyond their control;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, That the Washington State Senate, in recognition and gratitude for the service of American fighting men and women, invite all citizens to acknowledge and thank our Vietnam Veterans, both at home and abroad, for their many sacrifices and selfless contributions to their nation, their state, and their communities, and celebrate the date of March 30, 2013, as

WELCOME HOME VIETNAM VETERANS DAY

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That a copy of this resolution be immediately transmitted by the Secretary of the Senate to the Veterans of Foreign Wars #10018 the Narrows Bridge Post and Auxiliary.

REMARKS BY SENATOR CONWAY

Senator Conway: "Thank you Mr. President. I am really deeply humbled to be offering this resolution today. I, this resolution has a very concise message, it says, 'Welcome home Vietnam Veterans' and I only wish, we have, that the veterans who are here could have been here on Monday when we actually passed House Bill No. 1319 establishing March 30 as 'Welcome Home Vietnam Veterans Day.' The speeches that were given that day I think for all of us will be memorable. And, in fact, were put by resolution permanently into the journals of the Senate. I think the reason for that is that we are beginning to awake to trying once again trying to revisit the Vietnam War. And, of course, we recognize that we are truly, under President Obama has established the next decade and half as Veterans History or Vietnam War remembrance period. Surprising to me those of you, some of us, many of us were down signing House Bill No. 1319 and it was a huge crowd down there. I've been to a lot of bill signing in my years but never quite as big as that signing. It reflects a simple fact and this is what the Department of Veterans Affairs shared with us, we have two hundred twenty thousand Vietnam Veterans in this state. Two hundred twenty thousand and you know I think with this day incidentally that was recognized, eight others states have already recognize this and three other states are considering it. So, there's a kind of an awakening in the land here about the Vietnam War and its meaning and I think one of the very important pieces of that was what I shared with you, with your permission Mr. President, from President Obama second memorial address if I could share that language again?"

REPLY BY THE PRESIDENT

President Owen: "Senator Conway."

REMARKS BY SENATOR CONWAY

Senator Conway: "It was a National, in speaking to the wrong that was given Vietnam veterans upon their return he said, 'It was national shame. A disgrace that never should of happened. That's why today we resolve that it will not happen again. You were blamed for a war you didn't start when you should have been commended for serving your country with valor.' You know, I am hoping, when the Governor signed House Bill No. 1319 our state now officially has March 30th as 'Welcome home Veterans Day.' I was, the axillary that brought me this resolution is in the gallery here, the Veterans of Foreign Wars, and its mentioned in the resolution at Narrows Bridge. I went down there on Saturday for their celebration and what is witnessed was a gathering of about I would say, about one hundred families and they were talking about their experiences in the Vietnam War and they were beginning to revisit their experiences. I think you know that this kind of change that I see coming across our land with this 'Welcome Home Vietnam Veterans Day' is a recognition that many of our veterans who served in that war are now willing to start talking about it and start revisiting it. You know, and that is important because as we know it is a healing process. Today after this event I invite all of you to come down to the Vietnam War Memorial because the Department of Veterans Affairs will be meeting with all the veterans who are here to commemorate this 'Welcome Home Veterans Day.' You know, we all know that war memorial was a healing process, right, for so many families and so I kind of see this 'Welcome Home Veterans Day' as a healing process for those who served in the war and their families. I think that President Obama said something that was critically important here and that was let us resolve that we never again treat our veterans like we did after the Vietnam War. I believe that I see us trying hard with our veterans coming back from Afghanistan and Iraq to do that. Although we could do more. So, I am very humbled to be here offering this resolution and offering the Senate maybe annually be able to come back and remember this date, March 30th as ‘Welcome home Vietnam Veterans Day.’ Thank you.”

REMARKS BY SENATOR SHIN

Senator Shin: “Thank you Mr. President. I too rise in support of this resolution. There is a reason for that, between 1955 and 1975, United States was the first nation to send 2.3 million Americans soldiers to Vietnam. In defense of freedom, fight for their freedom however small the nation may be. I tip my hats to them. As a result Vietnam is a free country today. American’s have traditionally been very small but make it great and we was very small too. Myself, it was 1950, I was drafted into the U. S. Army, went to Germany, then 1950 Lebanon crisis, I was sent to Lebanon sitting on a duffle bag for six months. It was horrible but let me tell you looking back was so humbling. The gratitude to serve the country that I have been blessed with. I was adopted in this country, this is my country as well and I love this country. The veterans of the Vietnam War, thank you so much. Welcome home Vietnam Veterans. We welcome you and we don’t know what’s going to happen in the future. Whatever happens we’re there in the front line to defend on behalf of freedom. Governor, if I may say, there is Korean Veterans serving the Vietnam War. They fought side by side with the American soldiers at the request of the U. S. Government, three hundred twenty eight thousand Korean soldiers went to Vietnam, fought side by side against communism and I’m proud to introduce them to you and proud to say that my birth country, even though a small country, they remember the blessings that they have received from the United States. Therefore they were really happy to send troops and many died and didn’t come home. Over fifty thousand did not come home. This is the fact of life and I offer congratulations to this Veterans Memorial Day and welcome home day and join with you and this is a happy day today. Thank you.”

REMARKS BY SENATOR BAILEY

Senator Bailey: “Thank you Mr. President. I rise in support of this resolution and I thank the good gentleman for bringing this resolution forward. There are a couple of things that I could say, ‘It’s about time.’ Many of us that have experienced various things that relate back to that era when we were in a war that was not a popular war. In fact it was one of those things that many of us at that time, some of on this floor was probably in college or just starting our lives, I remember distinctly when my husband at that time was just completing some of his preliminary training and about to go to Vietnam. The last minute he had a change of orders and was sent a different command but still his next set of orders was to Vietnam. I remember during that period of time when the word came that the war was ending and how everyone felt a sigh of relief. However, for many the sigh of relief was those that were there and those that were coming back and those that would not go, such as my husband. He has since fought in several wars since then but the thing that struck me most was when people started coming home and how they were treated. So, I’ll say again ‘It’s about time.’ I saw that repeated because of the leftover disdain for war and what was going on during that period of time. I saw that carried over several times in conflicts since then and working with many colleagues in the private sector that had never experienced military or war was a real eye opening experience as a young military wife. I saw the great, the things that were given at that time. The sacrifice of families of people who didn’t come home, men and women who gave their lives and children that never knew their mother or their father. I saw all of those things and yet those that came home were rewarded with sometimes with utter disdain. It was a sad moment in our country. One that most of us would like to forget. For those, some of those that are here today, can’t forget. It will still be in their memories. The bill that we passed earlier I hope will be of significance in this state and we will constantly remember those that are still missing in action and those that were taken prisoner. Many of our friends were in the POW group. Only now some of those things are being shared but make no mistake those of us here today and many around this country want to make sure that the men and women that served bravely during this time will always be remembered for their bravery and this is a very small token of our appreciation for what they have done in service to our country but I say to everybody today I wish it would have been sooner and it’s about time. Thank you Mr. President.”

REMARKS BY SENATOR HOBBS

Senator Hobbs: “Mr. President, I would like to thank the prime sponsor for putting this resolution here today. I know he asked me to say a few words and if the members would forgive me I’m basically going to repeat what I said on Monday. But I rise to thank those Vietnam veterans that paved the way for future veterans like myself who served in the Iraq War and those that served in the war at Afghanistan. I don’t know you did it. I mean in terms of both wars, Iraq and Vietnam, both relatively unpopular, I know that I saw a poll just recently that said fifty five percent of the American public think that the Iraq war wasn’t even worth it. And as a Veteran of that war that’s pretty hard to take in because I served in that war. I did what I believe is right and I think I made the place a little better. What is really difficult to fathom, and I really don’t know how you did it, is not only was it unpopular when you came home there were no parades, not really any thank yous and even disdain. My experience coming home from the Iraq War is completely different. I was greeted when I came off the plane, I saw my family there. I actually wore my uniform from the airport drove all the way to Fort Binning Georgia, which is about you know forty five to an hour drive, stopped at a restaurant in my uniform, somebody bought my meal and my families meal and thanked me. You didn’t have that but you paved the way for others. And even though it was a painful experience for you, know that you helped your sons and daughters and your grandchildren that fought and are fighting in this war. When I was in Iraq and ready to leave I got to see a psychiatrist. I got to see a doctor. You got on a plane and went home. When I came home, again interviewed again by a doctor and a psychiatrist. This is to every soldier. Things have changed so much. PTSD is treated immediately and searched out. Soldiers should not be ashamed and are encouraged to talk about their experiences. You couldn’t, you wouldn’t. TBI is being addressed. You know, most people here know what TBI is. You know I’m pretty sure is was around Vietnam too. There were mortars, rocket fire, there were mines. That was never addressed. Way better conditions for Veterans now, the benefits much improved. VA hospitals, if a VA hospital is not servicing their veterans there is a public outcry and immediate correction. The previous speaker is right. It’s about time and I hope that we can always remember this day and thank our Vietnam veterans for paving the way for the veterans of today who are serving in your nations military, defending our country. Again, I want to thank you, my hats off to you. You made my life and my brothers and sisters lives better for your sacrifice. Thank you.”

INTRODUCTION OF SPECIAL GUESTS

The President welcomed and introduced Queen Brett Rountree, Central Valley High School, the City of Spokane's 2013 Lilac Festival Queen who was seated at the rostrum.

REMARKS BY MISS BRETT ROUNTREE

Miss Brett Rountree: "Good morning, Mr. President, members of the Washington State Senate, guests, family and friends. My name is Brett Rountree and I have the distinct privilege of being the 2013 Spokane Lilac Festival Queen. It's a huge honor to be here today on behalf of the Spokane Lilac Festival. So far in my brief time as queen I've learned that my job goes so far deeper than just wearing a crown and waving in a parade. Every event in which the Royal Court and I participate reflects some portion of the Lilac Festival mission statement: Honoring our military; Recognizing our youth; and Showcasing Spokane in our region throughout the Northwest and beyond. Yes, we do have a parade. As you heard earlier it's the largest Armed Forces Torchlight Parade in the country. But what sets our festival apart is our commitment to the military and this commitment, it doesn't begin and end on the third Saturday in May. This past Christmas, for example, we bagged hundreds of cookies for 'Operation Cookie Drop.' These bags were given to Fairchild Airmen who wouldn't be going home for the holidays. We spent time talking to Fairchild Air Force Base officers and enlisted airmen, reading to first and second graders at Michael Anderson Elementary, touring the maintenance and medical facility as well as the base tower. We were also given the opportunity to see a static display of K-135 and, later, discover what it felt like to fly that plane while refueling another plane in the flight simulator. And most recently we attended 92nd Air Refueling Wing Command Chief Rudy Lopez's retirement ceremony. At every turn we saw the men and women of Fairchild giving of themselves to offer us the freedoms that we take for granted every day. Now, early on in our Royal journey we were challenged to reflect on the quote by James Fraude, 'The essence of true nobility is neglect itself.' This statement has become our personal guide. We have done a lot of volunteering around Spokane including serving with Santa Express which is the fundraising arm of the Vanessa Behan Crisis Nursery. We helped underprivileged children pick out clothing during Salvation Army Cloth a Child. We served dinner at the Union Gospel Mission. We've read to elementary schools everywhere in Spokane during 'Read Across America.' We've also been given the opportunity to sing the National Anthem at the Spokane Veterans Home as well as all four State B National Boys Basketball Games. But my favorite, a little while ago we teamed up with Make A Wish Foundation and we were able to fulfill a little girl with a terminally ill disease, to fulfill her princess dreams and she was granted a trip to Walt Disney World. The Spokane Lilac Festival and the Royal Court are Spokane's ambassadors as we travel during the parade season but most of our parades are right here in Washington and we would love it to see most of you at one of those parades and for a second year in a row, our role as ambassadors is taking us wide and far. After last year's successful trip to Jilin City in China, this year we are going to be joining the 2013 Lilac President Christine Leva as well as Mayor David Condon on a trip to Limerick Ireland. But, before we do any traveling we have a parade to do so now I would like to personally invite all of you to the Spokane Lilac Festival Parade, Seventy Fifty Diamond Anniversary, Saturday, May 18 to experience the Lilac legacy for yourself. Alive at seventy five. Thank you so much for this amazing opportunity today and for the recognition and honor of the Spokane Lilac Festival."

INTRODUCTION OF SPECIAL GUESTS

The President welcomed and introduced the members of the Lilac Festival Royal Court: Princess Devyn Russell, Northwest Christian High School; Princess Hailey Hyde, Saint George's High School; and Princess Savannah Sundseth, Mead High School and representatives of the Spokane Lilac Festival Association: Mrs. Christine Leva, 2013 President; Mrs. Claire Patton, 2012 First Lady and Chaperone; Ms. Shelley Sholl, Chaperone; Ms. Keisha Rountree, Queen Mum and Chaperone who were present in the gallery and recognized by the Senate.

INTRODUCTION OF SPECIAL GUESTS

The President welcomed and introduced His Excellency Claudio Bisogniero, Ambassador of the Republic of Italy to the United States; Consul General of Italy in San Francisco, the Honorable Mauro Battocchi; and Honorary Consul of Italy in Seattle, the Honorable Franco Tesorieri who were present at the rostrum. With the permission of the Senate, business was suspended to allow Ambassador Bisogniero to address the Senate.

REMARKS BY AMBASSADOR CLAUDIO BISOGNIERO

Ambassador Claudio Bisogniero: "Thank you so much Mr. Lt. Governor General. It's a great pleasure and a great honor for me to be here today in this great building. It happens to be the first time that an Italian Ambassador visits state of Washington since 1978 and that is really too long. I think that we have great opportunities to work together. I think here about the trade and investment area. There's some great companies in this state and high tech areas. We in Italy have a major industrial bases and we want to do more. We want to work together to find ways in which companies in this state, Italian companies can develop more business and more investments in important areas. Aerospace is one that comes to my mind but also IT and also for instance bio tech and clean energy. These are all areas of which we have a huge potential and that's what it's all about at the end of the day, stimulating the economy and job creation which is something very important I guess for my country but also for this great state. Another issue I'd like to mention very briefly is that we have designated 2013 as 'the Year of the Italian Culture in the United States' so we are organizing many events throughout the nation, many American cities with American museums, universities, opera houses and so on and so forth. We want, through this great initiative, 2013 the Year of the Italian Culture in the United States to showcase the great Italian artistic and culture tradition that we're all familiar with, painting, sculptures and opera and music but also at the same time to showcase the Italy of today and the Italy of tomorrow, Italy's creativity and innovations so we will do events in science, design and technology. So, once again, I believe we have some great potential and I think that we can, through trade and investment, through culture, build some much stronger relationship between this great state of Washington and the Republic of Italy. Thank you very much for your attention. It's a pleasure to be here."

REMARKS BY QUEEN EMILY ABBOTT

Miss Abbott: "Hello, thank you for having us here today. The opportunity to speak here today is a great honor. Along with Princesses Maggie Chvilicek and Madi Still, I would like to thank you for so warmly welcoming us to our state's capitol. As Ambassadors of the 2013 Apple Blossom Festival we are delighted and privileged to be here representing our beautiful home. Wenatchee's Apple Blossom Festival truly showcases our valley's natural beauty. As the sun rises over the magnificent Cascade Mountains which surround our valley, the Columbia River glistens like diamonds, the bikers and joggers happily begin their morning workout on the Loop Trail which encircles the river and the smell and sight of newly bloomed apple blossoms is fresh in the air. In addition to being fortunate enough to live in the apple capital of the world, an area rich with natural beauty and three hundred days of sunshine, we are also privileged to experience what truly makes this place so wonderful, our people. For as long as I can remember I have always been touched by the kindness, generosity, and support the Wenatchee Valley citizens have for one another. As one of the premier festivals in the state of Washington, the ninety-fourth Apple Blossom Festival celebrates in a family-friendly manor, our civic pride, our people and of course the fruit industry that helped found this wonderful valley. This year's festival themes 'Lets Rock this Town' begins on April 25 and runs through May 5. This eleven day festival is filled with exciting and diverse activities for people of all ages and interests. Whether it's the impressive food fair, first class entertainment or the grand parade with the region's best or and urnate floats and marching bands. There's something for everyone to enjoy at Apple Blossom 2013. From our special youth weekend and parade, evoking the joys of childhood, to the arts and crafts festival, premier golf tournament and Apple Blossom Musical 'Happy Days,' there are a multitude of fun opportunities for people of all ages. With assistance from our web page Appleblossom.org, please make your way to Wenatchee this spring to take part in this year's Apple Blossom Festival. As you have warmly welcomed us to your home we in turn invite you to ours. I look forward seeing you and hope you will join and 'Let's Rock this Town.' Thank you."

RELATIONSHIP TO ELECTRONIC FUND TRANSFER ACT. (a) Except as provided in subsection (b) of this section, this Article does not apply to a funds transfer any part of which is governed by the Electronic Fund Transfer Act of 1978 (Title XX, P.L. 95-630, 92 Stat. 3728, 15 U.S.C. Sec. 1693 et seq.) (~~as amended from time to time~~).

(b) This Article applies to a funds transfer that is a remittance transfer as defined in the Electronic Fund Transfer Act (15 U.S.C. Sec. 1693o-1), unless the remittance transfer is an electronic fund transfer as defined in the Electronic Fund Transfer Act (15 U.S.C. Sec. 1693a).

(c) In a funds transfer to which this Article applies, in the event of an inconsistency between an applicable provision of this Article and an applicable provision of the Electronic Fund Transfer Act, the provision of the Electronic Fund Transfer Act governs to the extent of the inconsistency.

Sec. 2. RCW 62A.4A-103 and 1991 sp.s. c 21 s 4A-103 are each amended to read as follows:

((+)) (a) In this Article:

((+)) (1) "Payment order" means an instruction of a sender to a receiving bank, transmitted orally, electronically, or in writing, to pay, or to cause another bank to pay, a fixed or determinable amount of money to a beneficiary if:

(i) The instruction does not state a condition ~~(of)~~ to payment to the beneficiary other than time of payment;

(ii) The receiving bank is to be reimbursed by debiting an account of, or otherwise receiving payment from, the sender; and

(iii) The instruction is transmitted by the sender directly to the receiving bank or to an agent, funds-transfer system, or communication system for transmittal to the receiving bank.

((+)) (2) "Beneficiary" means the person to be paid by the beneficiary's bank.

((+)) (3) "Beneficiary's bank" means the bank identified in a payment order in which an account of the beneficiary is to be credited pursuant to the order or which otherwise is to make payment to the beneficiary if the order does not provide for payment to an account.

((+)) (4) "Receiving bank" means the bank to which the sender's instruction is addressed.

((+)) (5) "Sender" means the person giving the instruction to the receiving bank.

((2)) (b) If an instruction complying with subsection ~~((1)(a))~~ (a)(1) of this section is to make more than one payment to a beneficiary, the instruction is a separate payment order with respect to each payment.

((4)) (a) The time of receipt of a payment order or communication canceling or amending a payment order is determined by the rules applicable to receipt of a notice stated in RCW 62A.1-202. A receiving bank may fix a cut-off time or times on a funds-transfer business day for the receipt and processing of payment orders and communications canceling or amending payment orders. Different cut-off times may apply to payment orders, cancellations, or amendments, or to different categories of payment orders, cancellations, or amendments. A cut-off time may apply to senders generally or different cut-off times may apply to different senders or categories of payment orders. If a payment order or communication canceling or amending a payment order is received after the close of a funds-transfer business day or after the appropriate cut-off time on a funds-transfer business day, the receiving bank may treat the payment order or communication as received at the opening of the next funds-transfer business day.

((2)) (b) If this Article refers to an execution date or payment date or states a day on which a receiving bank is required to take action, and the date or day does not fall on a funds-transfer business day, the next day that is a funds-transfer business day is treated as the date or day stated, unless the contrary is stated in this Article.

Sec. 6. RCW 62A.4A-202 and 1991 sp.s. c 21 s 4A-202 are each amended to read as follows:

((+)) (a) A payment order received by the receiving bank is the authorized order of the person identified as sender if that person authorized the order or is otherwise bound by it under the law of agency.

((2)) (b) If a bank and its customer have agreed that the authenticity of payment orders issued to the bank in the name of the customer as sender will be verified pursuant to a security procedure, a payment order received by the receiving bank is effective as the order of the customer, whether or not authorized, if ((+)) (i) the security procedure is a commercially reasonable method of providing security against unauthorized payment orders, and ((+)) (ii) the bank proves that it accepted the payment order in good faith and in compliance with the security procedure and any written agreement or instruction of the customer restricting acceptance of payment orders issued in the name of the customer. The bank is not required to follow an instruction that violates a written agreement with the customer or notice of which is not received at a time and in a manner affording the bank a reasonable opportunity to act on it before the payment order is accepted.

((3)) (c) Commercial reasonableness of a security procedure is a question of law to be determined by considering the wishes of the customer expressed to the bank, the circumstances of the customer known to the bank, including the size, type, and frequency of payment orders normally issued by the customer to the bank, alternative security procedures offered to the customer, and security procedures in general use by customers and receiving banks similarly situated. A security procedure is deemed to be commercially reasonable if ((+)) (i) the security procedure was chosen ((+)) by the customer after the bank offered, and the customer refused, a security procedure that was commercially reasonable for that customer, and ((+)) (ii) the customer expressly agreed in writing to be bound by any payment order, whether or not authorized, issued in its name, and accepted by the bank in compliance with the security procedure chosen by the customer.

((4)) (d) The term "sender" in this Article includes the customer in whose name a payment order is issued if the order is the authorized order of the customer under subsection ((+)) (a) of this section, or it is effective as the order of the customer under subsection ((2)) (b) of this section.

((5)) (e) This section applies to amendments and cancellations of payment orders to the same extent it applies to payment orders.

((6)) (f) Except as provided in this section and RCW 62A.4A-203((+)(a)) (a)(1), rights and obligations arising under this section or RCW 62A.4A-203 may not be varied by agreement.

Sec. 7. RCW 62A.4A-203 and 1991 sp.s. c 21 s 4A-203 are each amended to read as follows:

((+)) (a) If an accepted payment order is not, under RCW ((62A.4A-201(+)) 62A.4A-202(a), an authorized order of a customer identified as sender, but is effective as an order of the customer pursuant to RCW 62A.4A-202((2)) (b), the following rules apply.

((+)) (1) By express written agreement, the receiving bank may limit the extent to which it is entitled to enforce or retain payment of the payment order.

((+)) (2) The receiving bank is not entitled to enforce or retain payment of the payment order if the customer proves that the order was not caused, directly or indirectly, by a person (i) entrusted at any time with duties to act for the customer with respect to payment orders or the security procedure, or (ii) who obtained access to transmitting facilities of the customer or who obtained, from a source controlled by the customer and without authority of the receiving bank, information facilitating breach of the security procedure, regardless of how the information was obtained or whether the customer was at fault. Information includes any access device, computer software, or the like.

~~(2)~~ (b) This section applies to amendments of payment orders to the same extent it applies to payment orders.

Sec. 8. RCW 62A.4A-204 and 2012 c 214 s 1203 are each amended to read as follows:

~~(1)~~ (a) If a receiving bank accepts a payment order issued in the name of its customer as sender which is ~~(1)~~ (i) not authorized and not effective as the order of the customer under RCW 62A.4A-202, or ~~(b)~~ (ii) not enforceable, in whole or in part, against the customer under RCW 62A.4A-203, the bank shall refund any payment of the payment order received from the customer to the extent the bank is not entitled to enforce payment and shall pay interest on the refundable amount calculated from the date the bank received payment to the date of the refund. However, the customer is not entitled to interest from the bank on the amount to be refunded if the customer fails to exercise ordinary care to determine that the order was not authorized by the customer and to notify the bank of the relevant facts within a reasonable time not exceeding ninety days after the date the customer received notification from the bank that the order was accepted or that the customer's account was debited with respect to the order. The bank is not entitled to any recovery from the customer on account of a failure by the customer to give notification as stated in this section.

~~(2)~~ (b) Reasonable time under subsection ~~(1)~~ (a) of this section may be fixed by agreement as stated in RCW 62A.1-302(b), but the obligation of a receiving bank to refund payment as stated in subsection ~~(1)~~ (a) of this section may not otherwise be varied by agreement.

Sec. 9. RCW 62A.4A-205 and 1991 sp.s. c 21 s 4A-205 are each amended to read as follows:

~~(1)~~ (a) If an accepted payment order was transmitted pursuant to a security procedure for the detection of error and the payment order ~~(1)~~ (i) erroneously instructed payment to a beneficiary not intended by the sender, ~~(b)~~ (ii) erroneously instructed payment in an amount greater than the amount intended by the sender, or ~~(c)~~ (iii) was an erroneously transmitted duplicate of a payment order previously sent by the sender, the following rules apply:

~~(1)~~ (1) If the sender proves that the sender or a person acting on behalf of the sender pursuant to RCW 62A.4A-206 complied with the security procedure and that the error would have been detected if the receiving bank had also complied, the sender is not obliged to pay the order to the extent stated in ~~(1)~~ paragraphs (2) and (3) of this subsection.

~~(2)~~ (2) If the funds transfer is completed on the basis of an erroneous payment order described in ~~(b)~~ clause (i) or ~~(c)~~ (iii) of this subsection (a), the sender is not obliged to pay the order and the receiving bank is entitled to recover from the beneficiary any amount paid to the beneficiary to the extent allowed by the law governing mistake and restitution.

~~(3)~~ (3) If the funds transfer is completed on the basis of a payment order described in ~~(b)~~ clause (ii) of this subsection (a), the sender is not obliged to pay the order to the extent the amount received by the beneficiary is greater than the amount intended by the sender. In that case, the receiving bank is entitled to recover from the beneficiary the excess amount received to the extent allowed by the law governing mistake and restitution.

~~(2)~~ (b) If ~~(1)~~ (i) the sender of an erroneous payment order described in subsection ~~(1)~~ (a) of this section is not obliged to pay all or part of the order, and ~~(b)~~ (ii) the sender receives notification from the receiving bank that the order was accepted by the bank or that the sender's account was debited with respect to the order, the sender has a duty to exercise ordinary care, on the basis of information available to the sender, to discover the error with respect to the order and to advise the bank of the relevant facts within a reasonable time, not exceeding ninety days, after the bank's notification was received by the sender. If the bank proves that the sender failed to perform that duty, the sender is liable to the bank for the loss the bank proves it incurred as a result of the failure, but the liability of the sender may not exceed the amount of the sender's order.

~~(3)~~ (c) This section applies to amendments to payment orders to the same extent it applies to payment orders.

Sec. 10. RCW 62A.4A-206 and 1991 sp.s. c 21 s 4A-206 are each amended to read as follows:

~~(1)~~ (a) If a payment order addressed to a receiving bank is transmitted to a funds-transfer system or other third-party communication system for transmittal to the bank, the system is deemed to be an agent of the sender for the purpose of transmitting the payment order to the bank. If there is a discrepancy between the terms of the payment order transmitted to the system and the terms of the payment order transmitted by the system to the bank, the terms of the payment order of the sender are those transmitted by the system. This section does not apply to a funds-transfer system of the federal reserve banks.

~~(2)~~ (b) This section applies to cancellations and amendments of payment orders to the same extent it applies to payment orders.

Sec. 11. RCW 62A.4A-207 and 1991 sp.s. c 21 s 4A-207 are each amended to read as follows:

~~(1)~~ (a) Subject to subsection ~~(2)~~ (b) of this section, if, in a payment order received by the beneficiary's bank, the name, bank account number, or other identification of the beneficiary refers to a nonexistent or unidentifiable person or account, no person has rights as a beneficiary of the order and acceptance of the order cannot occur.

~~(2)~~ (b) If a payment order received by the beneficiary's bank identifies the beneficiary both by name and by an identifying or bank account number and the name and number identify different persons, the following rules apply:

~~(1)~~ (1) Except as otherwise provided in subsection ~~(3)~~ (c) of this section, if the beneficiary's bank does not know that the name and number refer to different persons, it may rely on the number as the proper identification of the beneficiary of the order. The beneficiary's bank need not determine whether the name and number refer to the same person.

~~(b)~~ (2) If the beneficiary's bank pays the person identified by name or knows that the name and number identify different persons, no person has rights as beneficiary except the person paid by the beneficiary's bank if that person was entitled to receive payment from the originator of the funds transfer. If no person has rights as beneficiary, acceptance of the order cannot occur.

~~(3)~~ (c) If ~~(1)~~ (i) a payment order described in subsection ~~(2)~~ (b) of this section is accepted, ~~(b)~~ (ii) the originator's payment order described the beneficiary inconsistently by name and number, and ~~(c)~~ (iii) the beneficiary's bank pays the person identified by number as permitted by subsection ~~(2)~~ (a) (b)(1) of this section, the following rules apply:

~~(1)~~ (1) If the originator is a bank, the originator is obliged to pay its order.

~~(2)~~ (2) If the originator is not a bank and proves that the person identified by number was not entitled to receive payment from the originator, the originator is not obliged to pay its order unless the originator's bank proves that the originator, before acceptance of the originator's order, had notice that payment of a payment order issued by the originator might be made by the beneficiary's bank on the basis of an identifying or bank account number even if it identifies a person different from the named beneficiary. Proof of notice may be made by any admissible evidence. The originator's bank satisfies the burden of proof if it proves that the originator, before the payment order was accepted, signed a writing stating the information to which the notice relates.

~~((4))~~ (d) In a case governed by subsection ~~((2)(a))~~ (b)(1) of this section, if the beneficiary's bank rightfully pays the person identified by number and that person was not entitled to receive payment from the originator, the amount paid may be recovered from that person to the extent allowed by the law governing mistake and restitution as follows:

~~((a))~~ (1) If the originator is obliged to pay its payment order as stated in subsection ~~((3))~~ (c) of this section, the originator has the right to recover.

~~((b))~~ (2) If the originator is not a bank and is not obliged to pay its payment order, the originator's bank has the right to recover.

Sec. 12. RCW 62A.4A-208 and 1991 sp.s. c 21 s 4A-208 are each amended to read as follows:

~~((+))~~ (a) This subsection applies to a payment order identifying an intermediary bank or the beneficiary's bank only by an identifying number.

~~((a))~~ (1) The receiving bank may rely on the number as the proper identification of the intermediary or beneficiary's bank and need not determine whether the number identifies a bank.

~~((b))~~ (2) The sender is obliged to compensate the receiving bank for any loss and expenses incurred by the receiving bank as a result of its reliance on the number in executing or attempting to execute the order.

~~((2))~~ (b) This subsection applies to a payment order identifying an intermediary bank or the beneficiary's bank both by name and an identifying number if the name and number identify different persons.

~~((a))~~ (1) If the sender is a bank, the receiving bank may rely on the number as the proper identification of the intermediary or beneficiary's bank if the receiving bank, when it executes the sender's order, does not know that the name and number identify different persons. The receiving bank need not determine whether the name and number refer to the same person or whether the number refers to a bank. The sender is obliged to compensate the receiving bank for any loss and expenses incurred by the receiving bank as a result of its reliance on the number in executing or attempting to execute the order.

~~((b))~~ (2) If the sender is not a bank and the receiving bank proves that the sender, before the payment order was accepted, had notice that the receiving bank might rely on the number as the proper identification of the intermediary or beneficiary's bank even if it identifies a person different from the bank identified by name, the rights and obligations of the sender and the receiving bank are governed by subsection ~~((2)(a))~~ (b)(1) of this section, as though the sender were a bank. Proof of notice may be made by any admissible evidence. The receiving bank satisfies the burden of proof if it proves that the sender, before the payment order was accepted, signed a writing stating the information to which the notice relates.

~~((e))~~ (3) Regardless of whether the sender is a bank, the receiving bank may rely on the name as the proper identification of the intermediary or beneficiary's bank if the receiving bank, at the time it executes the sender's order, does not know that the name and number identify different persons. The receiving bank need not determine whether the name and number refer to the same person.

~~((d))~~ (4) If the receiving bank knows that the name and number identify different persons, reliance on either the name or the number in executing the sender's payment order is a breach of the obligation stated in RCW 62A.4A-302~~((1)(a))~~ (a)(1).

Sec. 13. RCW 62A.4A-209 and 1991 sp.s. c 21 s 4A-209 are each amended to read as follows:

~~((4))~~ (a) Subject to subsection ~~((4))~~ (d) of this section, a receiving bank other than the beneficiary's bank accepts a payment order when it executes the order.

~~((2))~~ (b) Subject to subsections ~~((3) and (4))~~ (c) and (d) of this section, a beneficiary's bank accepts a payment order at the earliest of the following times:

~~((a))~~ (1) When the bank (i) pays the beneficiary as stated in RCW 62A.4A-405 ~~((1) or (2))~~ (a) or (b) or (ii) notifies the beneficiary of receipt of the order or that the account of the beneficiary has been credited with respect to the order unless the notice indicates that the bank is rejecting the order or that funds with respect to the order may not be withdrawn or used until receipt of payment from the sender of the order;

~~((b))~~ (2) When the bank receives payment of the entire amount of the sender's order pursuant to RCW 62A.4A-403~~((1)(a) or (b))~~ (a) (1) or (2); or

~~((e))~~ (3) The opening of the next funds-transfer business day of the bank following the payment date of the order if, at that time, the amount of the sender's order is fully covered by a withdrawable credit balance in an authorized account of the sender or the bank has otherwise received full payment from the sender, unless the order was rejected before that time or is rejected within (i) one hour after that time, or (ii) one hour after the opening of the next business day of the sender following the payment date if that time is later. If notice of rejection is received by the sender after the payment date and the authorized account of the sender does not bear interest, the bank is obliged to pay interest to the sender on the amount of the order for the number of days elapsing after the payment date to the day the sender receives notice or learns that the order was not accepted, counting that day as an elapsed day. If the withdrawable credit balance during that period falls below the amount of the order, the amount of interest payable is reduced accordingly.

~~((3))~~ (c) Acceptance of a payment order cannot occur before the order is received by the receiving bank. Acceptance does not occur under subsection ~~((2)(b) or (e))~~ (b) (2) or (3) of this section if the beneficiary of the payment order does not have an account with the receiving bank, the account has been closed, or the receiving bank is not permitted by law to receive credits for the beneficiary's account.

~~((4))~~ (d) A payment order issued to the originator's bank cannot be accepted until the payment date if the bank is the beneficiary's bank, or the execution date if the bank is not the beneficiary's bank. If the originator's bank executes the originator's payment order before the execution date or pays the beneficiary of the originator's payment order before the payment date and the payment order is subsequently canceled pursuant to RCW 62A.4A-211~~((2))~~ (b), the bank may recover from the beneficiary any payment received to the extent allowed by the law governing mistake and restitution.

Sec. 14. RCW 62A.4A-210 and 1991 sp.s. c 21 s 4A-210 are each amended to read as follows:

~~((+))~~ (a) A payment order is rejected by the receiving bank by a notice of rejection transmitted to the sender orally, electronically, or in writing. A notice of rejection need not use any particular words and is sufficient if it indicates that the receiving bank is rejecting the order or will not execute or pay the order. Rejection is effective when the notice is given if transmission is by a means that is reasonable in the circumstances. If notice of rejection is given by a means that is not reasonable, rejection is effective when the notice is received. If an agreement of the sender and receiving bank establishes the means to be used to reject a payment order, ~~((a))~~ (i) any means complying with the agreement is reasonable and ~~((b))~~

EIGHTY NINTH DAY, APRIL 12, 2013

2013 REGULAR SESSION

~~(ii)~~ any means not complying is not reasonable unless no significant delay in receipt of the notice resulted from the use of the noncomplying means.

~~((2))~~ ~~(b)~~ This subsection applies if a receiving bank other than the beneficiary's bank fails to execute a payment order despite the existence on the execution date of a withdrawable credit balance in an authorized account of the sender sufficient to cover the order. If the sender does not receive notice of rejection of the order on the execution date and the authorized account of the sender does not bear interest, the bank is obliged to pay interest to the sender on the amount of the order for the number of days elapsing after the execution date to the earlier of the day the order is canceled pursuant to RCW 62A.4A-211~~((4))~~ ~~(d)~~ or the day the sender receives notice or learns that the order was not executed, counting the final day of the period as an elapsed day. If the withdrawable credit balance during that period falls below the amount of the order, the amount of interest is reduced accordingly.

~~((3))~~ ~~(c)~~ If a receiving bank suspends payments, all unaccepted payment orders issued to it are deemed rejected at the time the bank suspends payments.

~~((4))~~ ~~(d)~~ Acceptance of a payment order precludes a later rejection of the order. Rejection of a payment order precludes a later acceptance of the order.

Sec. 15. RCW 62A.4A-211 and 1991 sp.s. c 21 s 4A-211 are each amended to read as follows:

~~((1))~~ ~~(a)~~ A communication of the sender of a payment order canceling or amending the order may be transmitted to the receiving bank orally, electronically, or in writing. If a security procedure is in effect between the sender and the receiving bank, the communication is not effective to cancel or amend the order unless the communication is verified pursuant to the security procedure or the bank agrees to the cancellation or amendment.

~~((2))~~ ~~(b)~~ Subject to subsection ~~((1))~~ ~~(a)~~ of this section, a communication by the sender canceling or amending a payment order is effective to cancel or amend the order if notice of the communication is received at a time and in a manner affording the receiving bank a reasonable opportunity to act on the communication before the bank accepts the payment order.

~~((3))~~ ~~(c)~~ After a payment order has been accepted, cancellation or amendment of the order is not effective unless the receiving bank agrees or a funds-transfer system rule allows cancellation or amendment without agreement of the bank.

~~((4))~~ ~~(1)~~ With respect to a payment order accepted by a receiving bank other than the beneficiary's bank, cancellation or amendment is not effective unless a conforming cancellation or amendment of the payment order issued by the receiving bank is also made.

~~((5))~~ ~~(2)~~ With respect to a payment order accepted by the beneficiary's bank, cancellation or amendment is not effective unless the order was issued in execution of an unauthorized payment order, or because of a mistake by a sender in the funds transfer which resulted in the issuance of a payment order (i) that is a duplicate of a payment order previously issued by the sender, (ii) that orders payment to a beneficiary not entitled to receive payment from the originator, or (iii) that orders payment in an amount greater than the amount the beneficiary was entitled to receive from the originator. If the payment order is canceled or amended, the beneficiary's bank is entitled to recover from the beneficiary any amount paid to the beneficiary to the extent allowed by the law governing mistake and restitution.

~~((4))~~ ~~(d)~~ An unaccepted payment order is canceled by operation of law at the close of the fifth funds-transfer business day of the receiving bank after the execution date or payment date of the order.

~~((5))~~ ~~(e)~~ A canceled payment order cannot be accepted. If an accepted payment order is canceled, the acceptance is nullified and no person has any right or obligation based on the acceptance. Amendment of a payment order is deemed to be cancellation of the original order at the time of amendment and issue of a new payment order in the amended form at the same time.

~~((6))~~ ~~(f)~~ Unless otherwise provided in an agreement of the parties or in a funds-transfer system rule, if the receiving bank, after accepting a payment order, agrees to cancellation or amendment of the order by the sender or is bound by a funds-transfer system rule allowing cancellation or amendment without the bank's agreement, the sender, whether or not cancellation or amendment is effective, is liable to the bank for any loss and expenses, including reasonable attorneys' fees, incurred by the bank as a result of the cancellation or amendment or attempted cancellation or amendment.

~~((7))~~ ~~(g)~~ A payment order is not revoked by the death or legal incapacity of the sender unless the receiving bank knows of the death or of an adjudication of incapacity by a court of competent jurisdiction and has reasonable opportunity to act before acceptance of the order.

~~((8))~~ ~~(h)~~ A funds-transfer system rule is not effective to the extent it conflicts with subsection ~~((3)(b))~~ ~~(c)(2)~~ of this section.

Sec. 16. RCW 62A.4A-212 and 1991 sp.s. c 21 s 4A-212 are each amended to read as follows:

If a receiving bank fails to accept a payment order that ~~((1))~~ ~~(i)~~ it is obliged by express agreement to accept, the bank is liable for breach of the agreement to the extent provided in the agreement or in this Article, but does not otherwise have any duty to accept a payment order or, before acceptance, to take any action, or refrain from taking action, with respect to the order except as provided in this Article or by express agreement. Liability based on acceptance arises only when acceptance occurs as stated in RCW 62A.4A-209, and liability is limited to that provided in this Article. A receiving bank is not the agent of the sender or beneficiary of the payment order it accepts, or of any other party to the funds transfer, and the bank owes no duty to any party to the funds transfer except as provided in this Article or by express agreement.

Sec. 17. RCW 62A.4A-301 and 1991 sp.s. c 21 s 4A-301 are each amended to read as follows:

~~((1))~~ ~~(a)~~ A payment order is "executed" by the receiving bank when it issues a payment order intended to carry out the payment order received by the bank. A payment order received by the beneficiary's bank can be accepted but cannot be executed.

~~((2))~~ ~~(b)~~ "Execution date" of a payment order means the day on which the receiving bank may properly issue a payment order in execution of the sender's order. The execution date may be determined by instruction of the sender but cannot be earlier than the day the order is received and, unless otherwise determined, is the day the order is received. If the sender's instruction states a payment date, the execution date is the payment date or an earlier date on which execution is reasonably necessary to allow payment to the beneficiary on the payment date.

~~((1))~~ ~~(a)~~ Except as provided in subsections ~~((2) through (4))~~ ~~(b) through (d)~~ of this section, if the receiving bank accepts a payment order pursuant to RCW 62A.4A-209~~((1))~~ ~~(a)~~, the bank has the following obligations in executing the order.

~~((1))~~ ~~(1)~~ The receiving bank is obliged to issue, on the execution date, a payment order complying with the sender's order and to follow the sender's instructions concerning (i) any intermediary bank or funds-transfer system to be used in carrying out the funds transfer, or (ii) the means by which payment orders are to be transmitted in the funds transfer. If the originator's bank issues a payment order to an intermediary bank, the originator's bank is obliged to instruct the intermediary bank according to the instruction of the originator. An intermediary bank in the funds transfer is similarly bound by an instruction given to it by the sender of the payment order it accepts.

~~((b))~~ (2) If the sender's instruction states that the funds transfer is to be carried out telephonically or by wire transfer or otherwise indicates that the funds transfer is to be carried out by the most expeditious means, the receiving bank is obliged to transmit its payment order by the most expeditious available means, and to instruct any intermediary bank accordingly. If a sender's instruction states a payment date, the receiving bank is obliged to transmit its payment order at a time and by means reasonably necessary to allow payment to the beneficiary on the payment date or as soon thereafter as is feasible.

~~((2))~~ (b) Unless otherwise instructed, a receiving bank executing a payment order may ~~((a))~~ (i) use any funds-transfer system if use of that system is reasonable in the circumstances, and ~~((b))~~ (ii) issue a payment order to the beneficiary's bank or to an intermediary bank through which a payment order conforming to the sender's order can expeditiously be issued to the beneficiary's bank if the receiving bank exercises ordinary care in the selection of the intermediary bank. A receiving bank is not required to follow an instruction of the sender designating a funds-transfer system to be used in carrying out the funds transfer if the receiving bank, in good faith, determines that it is not feasible to follow the instruction or that following the instruction would unduly delay completion of the funds transfer.

~~((3))~~ (c) Unless subsection ~~((1)(b))~~ (a)(2) of this section applies or the receiving bank is otherwise instructed, the bank may execute a payment order by transmitting its payment order by first ~~((-))~~ class mail or by any means reasonable in the circumstances. If the receiving bank is instructed to execute the sender's order by transmitting its payment order by a particular means, the receiving bank may issue its payment order by the means stated or by any means as expeditious as the means stated.

~~((4))~~ (d) Unless instructed by the sender, ~~((a))~~ (i) the receiving bank may not obtain payment of its charges for services and expenses in connection with the execution of the sender's order by issuing a payment order in an amount equal to the amount of the sender's order less the amount of the charges, and ~~((b))~~ (ii) may not instruct a subsequent receiving bank to obtain payment of its charges in the same manner.

Sec. 19. RCW 62A.4A-303 and 1991 sp.s. c 21 s 4A-303 are each amended to read as follows:

~~((1))~~ (a) A receiving bank that ~~((a))~~ (i) executes the payment order of the sender by issuing a payment order in an amount greater than the amount of the sender's order, or ~~((b))~~ (ii) issues a payment order in execution of the sender's order and then issues a duplicate order, is entitled to payment of the amount of the sender's order under RCW 62A.4A-402~~((3))~~ (c) if that subsection is otherwise satisfied. The bank is entitled to recover from the beneficiary of the erroneous order the excess payment received to the extent allowed by the law governing mistake and restitution.

~~((2))~~ (b) A receiving bank that executes the payment order of the sender by issuing a payment order in an amount less than the amount of the sender's order is entitled to payment of the amount of the sender's order under RCW 62A.4A-402~~((3))~~ (c) if ~~((a))~~ (i) that subsection is otherwise satisfied and ~~((b))~~ (ii) the bank corrects its mistake by issuing an additional payment order for the benefit of the beneficiary of the sender's order. If the error is not corrected, the issuer of the erroneous order is entitled to receive or retain payment from the sender of the order it accepted only to the extent of the amount of the erroneous order. This subsection does not apply if the receiving bank executes the sender's payment order by issuing a payment order in an amount less than the amount of the sender's order for the purpose of obtaining payment of its charges for services and expenses pursuant to instruction of the sender.

~~((3))~~ (c) If a receiving bank executes the payment order of the sender by issuing a payment order to a beneficiary different from the beneficiary of the sender's order and the funds transfer is completed on the basis of that error, the sender of the payment order that was erroneously executed and all previous senders in the funds transfer are not obliged to pay the payment orders they issued. The issuer of the erroneous order is entitled to recover from the beneficiary of the order the payment received to the extent allowed by the law governing mistake and restitution.

Sec. 20. RCW 62A.4A-304 and 1991 sp.s. c 21 s 4A-304 are each amended to read as follows:

If the sender of a payment order that is erroneously executed as stated in RCW 62A.4A-303 receives notification from the receiving bank that the order was executed or that the sender's account was debited with respect to the order, the sender has a duty to exercise ordinary care to determine, on the basis of information available to the sender, that the order was erroneously executed and to notify the bank of the relevant facts within a reasonable time not exceeding ninety days after the notification from the bank was received by the sender. If the sender fails to perform that duty, the bank is not obliged to pay interest on any amount refundable to the sender under RCW 62A.4A-402~~((4))~~ (d) for the period before the bank learns of the execution error. The bank is not entitled to any recovery from the sender on account of a failure by the sender to perform the duty stated in this section.

Sec. 21. RCW 62A.4A-305 and 1991 sp.s. c 21 s 4A-305 are each amended to read as follows:

~~((1))~~ (a) If a funds transfer is completed but execution of a payment order by the receiving bank in breach of RCW 62A.4A-302 results in delay in payment to the beneficiary, the bank is obliged to pay interest to either the originator or the beneficiary of the funds transfer for the period of delay caused by the improper execution. Except as provided in subsection ~~((3))~~ (c) of this section, additional damages are not recoverable.

~~((2))~~ (b) If execution of a payment order by a receiving bank in breach of RCW 62A.4A-302 results in ~~((a))~~ (i) noncompletion of the funds transfer, ~~((b))~~ (ii) failure to use an intermediary bank designated by the originator, or ~~((c))~~ (iii) issuance of a payment order that does not comply with the terms of the payment order of the originator, the bank is liable to the originator for its expenses in the funds transfer and for incidental expenses and interest losses, to the extent not covered by subsection ~~((1))~~ (a) of this section, resulting from the improper execution. Except as provided in subsection ~~((3))~~ (c) of this section, additional damages are not recoverable.

~~((3))~~ (c) In addition to the amounts payable under subsections ~~((1) and (2))~~ (a) and (b) of this section, damages, including consequential damages, are recoverable to the extent provided in an express written agreement of the receiving bank.

~~((4))~~ (d) If a receiving bank fails to execute a payment order it was obliged by express agreement to execute, the receiving bank is liable to the sender for its expenses in the transaction and for incidental expenses and interest losses resulting from the failure to execute. Additional damages, including consequential damages, are recoverable to the extent provided in an express written agreement of the receiving bank, but are not otherwise recoverable.

~~((5))~~ (e) Reasonable attorneys' fees are recoverable if demand for compensation under subsection ~~((1) or (2))~~ (a) or (b) of this section is made and refused before an action is brought on the claim. If a claim is made for breach of an agreement under subsection ~~((4))~~ (d) of this section and the agreement does not provide for damages, reasonable attorneys' fees are recoverable if demand for compensation under subsection ~~((4))~~ (d) of this section is made and refused before an action is brought on the claim.

2013 REGULAR SESSION

~~((6))~~ ~~(f)~~ Except as stated in this section, the liability of a receiving bank under subsections ~~((1) and (2))~~ (a) and (b) of this section may not be varied by agreement.

Sec. 22. RCW 62A.4A-402 and 1991 sp.s. c 21 s 4A-402 are each amended to read as follows:

~~((+))~~ (a) This section is subject to RCW 62A.4A-205 and 62A.4A-207.

~~((2))~~ (b) With respect to a payment order issued to the beneficiary's bank, acceptance of the order by the bank obliges the sender to pay the bank the amount of the order, but payment is not due until the payment date of the order.

~~((3))~~ (c) This subsection is subject to subsection ~~((5))~~ (e) of this section and to RCW 62A.4A-303. With respect to a payment order issued to a receiving bank other than the beneficiary's bank, acceptance of the order by the receiving bank obliges the sender to pay the bank the amount of the sender's order. Payment by the sender is not due until the execution date of the sender's order. The obligation of that sender to pay its payment order is excused if the funds transfer is not completed by acceptance by the beneficiary's bank of a payment order instructing payment to the beneficiary of that sender's payment order.

~~((4))~~ (d) If the sender of a payment order pays the order and was not obliged to pay all or part of the amount paid, the bank receiving payment is obliged to refund payment to the extent the sender was not obliged to pay. Except as provided in RCW 62A.4A-204 and 62A.4A-304, interest is payable on the refundable amount from the date of payment.

~~((5))~~ (e) If a funds transfer is not completed as stated in ~~(this subsection)~~ (c) of this section and an intermediary bank is obliged to refund payment as stated in subsection ~~((4))~~ (d) of this section but is unable to do so because not permitted by applicable law or because the bank suspends payments, a sender in the funds transfer that executed a payment order in compliance with an instruction, as stated in RCW 62A.4A-302~~((1)(a))~~ (a)(1), to route the funds transfer through that intermediary bank is entitled to receive or retain payment from the sender of the payment order that it accepted. The first sender in the funds transfer that issued an instruction requiring routing through that intermediary bank is subrogated to the right of the bank that paid the intermediary bank to refund as stated in subsection ~~((4))~~ (d) of this section.

~~((6))~~ (f) The right of the sender of a payment order to be excused from the obligation to pay the order as stated in subsection ~~((3))~~ (c) of this section or to receive refund under subsection ~~((4))~~ (d) of this section may not be varied by agreement.

Sec. 23. RCW 62A.4A-403 and 1991 sp.s. c 21 s 4A-403 are each amended to read as follows:

~~((+))~~ (a) Payment of the sender's obligation under RCW 62A.4A-402 to pay the receiving bank occurs as follows:

~~((a))~~ (1) If the sender is a bank, payment occurs when the receiving bank receives final settlement of the obligation through a federal reserve bank or through a funds-transfer system.

~~((b))~~ (2) If the sender is a bank and the sender (i) credited an account of the receiving bank with the sender, or (ii) caused an account of the receiving bank in another bank to be credited, payment occurs when the credit is withdrawn or, if not withdrawn, at midnight of the day on which the credit is withdrawable and the receiving bank learns of that fact.

~~((c))~~ (3) If the receiving bank debits an account of the sender with the receiving bank, payment occurs when the debit is made to the extent the debit is covered by a withdrawable credit balance in the account.

~~((2))~~ (b) If the sender and receiving bank are members of a funds-transfer system that nets obligations multilaterally among participants, the receiving bank receives final settlement when settlement is complete in accordance with the rules of the system.

The obligation of the sender to pay the amount of a payment order transmitted through the funds-transfer system may be satisfied, to the extent permitted by the rules of the system, by setting off and applying against the sender's obligation the right of the sender to receive payment from the receiving bank of the amount of any other payment order transmitted to the sender by the receiving bank through the funds-transfer system. The aggregate balance of obligations owed by each sender to each receiving bank in the funds-transfer system may be satisfied, to the extent permitted by the rules of the system, by setting off and applying against that balance the aggregate balance of obligations owed to the sender by other members of the system. The aggregate balance is determined after the right of setoff stated in the second sentence of this subsection has been exercised.

~~((3))~~ (c) If two banks transmit payment orders to each other under an agreement that settlement of the obligations of each bank to the other under RCW 62A.4A-402 will be made at the end of the day or other period, the total amount owed with respect to all orders transmitted by one bank shall be set off against the total amount owed with respect to all orders transmitted by the other bank. To the extent of the setoff, each bank has made payment to the other.

~~((4))~~ (d) In a case not covered by subsection ~~((+))~~ (a) of this section, the time when payment of the sender's obligation under RCW 62A.4A-402 ~~((2) or (3))~~ (b) or (c) occurs is governed by applicable principles of law that determine when an obligation is satisfied.

Sec. 24. RCW 62A.4A-404 and 1991 sp.s. c 21 s 4A-404 are each amended to read as follows:

~~((+))~~ (a) Subject to RCW 62A.4A-211~~((5))~~ (e), 62A.4A-405~~((4))~~ (d), and 62A.4A-405~~((5))~~ (e), if a beneficiary's bank accepts a payment order, the bank is obliged to pay the amount of the order to the beneficiary of the order. Payment is due on the payment date of the order, but if acceptance occurs on the payment date after the close of the funds-transfer business day of the bank, payment is due on the next funds-transfer business day. If the bank refuses to pay after demand by the beneficiary and receipt of notice of particular circumstances that will give rise to consequential damages as a result of nonpayment, the beneficiary may recover damages resulting from the refusal to pay to the extent the bank had notice of the damages, unless the bank proves that it did not pay because of a reasonable doubt concerning the right of the beneficiary to payment.

~~((2))~~ (b) If a payment order accepted by the beneficiary's bank instructs payment to an account of the beneficiary, the bank is obliged to notify the beneficiary of receipt of the order before midnight of the next funds-transfer business day following the payment date. If the payment order does not instruct payment to an account of the beneficiary, the bank is required to notify the beneficiary only if notice is required by the order. Notice may be given by first-class mail or any other means reasonable in the circumstances. If the bank fails to give the required notice, the bank is obliged to pay interest to the beneficiary on the amount of the payment order from the day notice should have been given until the day the beneficiary learned of receipt of the payment order by the bank. No other damages are recoverable. Reasonable attorneys' fees are also recoverable if demand for interest is made and refused before an action is brought on the claim.

~~((3))~~ (c) The right of a beneficiary to receive payment and damages as stated in subsection (a) ~~(subsection (1) of this section)~~ of this section may not be varied by agreement or a funds-transfer system rule. The right of a beneficiary to be notified as stated in subsection ~~((2))~~ (b) of this section may be varied by agreement of the beneficiary or by a funds-transfer system rule if the beneficiary is notified of the rule before initiation of the funds transfer.

Sec. 25. RCW 62A.4A-405 and 1991 sp.s. c 21 s 4A-405 are each amended to read as follows:

((4)) (a) If the beneficiary's bank credits an account of the beneficiary of a payment order, payment of the bank's obligation under RCW 62A.4A-404((4)) (a) occurs when and to the extent ((4)) (i) the beneficiary is notified of the right to withdraw the credit, ((4)) (ii) the bank lawfully applies the credit to a debt of the beneficiary, or ((4)) (iii) funds with respect to the order are otherwise made available to the beneficiary by the bank.

((2)) (b) If the beneficiary's bank does not credit an account of the beneficiary of a payment order, the time when payment of the bank's obligation under RCW 62A.4A-404((4)) (a) occurs is governed by principles of law that determine when an obligation is satisfied.

((3)) (c) Except as stated in subsections ((4) and (5)) (d) and (e) of this ~~(act section)~~ section, if the beneficiary's bank pays the beneficiary of a payment order under a condition to payment or agreement of the beneficiary giving the bank the right to recover payment from the beneficiary if the bank does not receive payment of the order, the condition to payment or agreement is not enforceable.

((4)) (d) A funds-transfer system rule may provide that payments made to beneficiaries of funds transfers made through the system are provisional until receipt of payment by the beneficiary's bank of the payment order it accepted. A beneficiary's bank that makes a payment that is provisional under the rule is entitled to refund from the beneficiary if ((4)) (i) the rule requires that both the beneficiary and the originator be given notice of the provisional nature of the payment before the funds transfer is initiated, ((4)) (ii) the beneficiary, the beneficiary's bank and the originator's bank agreed to be bound by the rule, and ((4)) (iii) the beneficiary's bank did not receive payment of the payment order that it accepted. If the beneficiary is obliged to refund payment to the beneficiary's bank, acceptance of the payment order by the beneficiary's bank is nullified and no payment by the originator of the funds transfer to the beneficiary occurs under RCW 62A.4A-406.

((5)) (e) This subsection applies to a funds transfer that includes a payment order transmitted over a funds-transfer system that ((4)) (i) nets obligations multilaterally among participants, and ((4)) (ii) has in effect a loss-sharing agreement among participants for the purpose of providing funds necessary to complete settlement of the obligations of one or more participants that do not meet their settlement obligations. If the beneficiary's bank in the funds transfer accepts a payment order and the system fails to complete settlement pursuant to its rules with respect to any payment order in the funds transfer, (i) the acceptance by the beneficiary's bank is nullified and no person has any right or obligation based on the acceptance, (ii) the beneficiary's bank is entitled to recover payment from the beneficiary, (iii) no payment by the originator to the beneficiary occurs under RCW 62A.4A-406, and (iv) subject to RCW 62A.4A-402((5)) (c), ~~((each sender in the funds transfer is excused from its obligation to pay its payment order under RCW 62A.4A-402(5);))~~ each sender in the funds transfer is excused from its obligation to pay its payment order under RCW 62A.4A-402((5)) (c) because the funds transfer has not been completed.

((4)) (a) Subject to RCW 62A.4A-211((5)) (e), 62A.4A-405((4)) (d), and 62A.4A-405((5)) (e), the originator of a funds transfer pays the beneficiary of the originator's payment order ((4)) (i) at the time a payment order for the benefit of the beneficiary is accepted by the beneficiary's bank in the funds transfer and ((4)) (ii) in an amount equal to the amount of the order accepted by the beneficiary's bank, but not more than the amount of the originator's order.

((2)) (b) If payment under subsection ((4)) (a) of this section is made to satisfy an obligation, the obligation is discharged to the same extent discharge would result from payment to the beneficiary of the same amount in money, unless ((4)) (i) the payment under subsection ((4)) (a) of this section was made by a means prohibited by the contract of the beneficiary with respect to the obligation, ((4)) (ii) the beneficiary, within a reasonable time after receiving notice of receipt of the order by the beneficiary's bank, notified the originator of the beneficiary's refusal of the payment, ((4)) (iii) funds with respect to the order were not withdrawn by the beneficiary or applied to a debt of the beneficiary, and ((4)) (iv) the beneficiary would suffer a loss that could reasonably have been avoided if payment had been made by a means complying with the contract. If payment by the originator does not result in discharge under this section, the originator is subrogated to the rights of the beneficiary to receive payment from the beneficiary's bank under RCW 62A.4A-404((4)) (a).

((3)) (c) For the purpose of determining whether discharge of an obligation occurs under subsection ((2)) (b) of this section, if the beneficiary's bank accepts a payment order in an amount equal to the amount of the originator's payment order less charges of one or more receiving banks in the funds transfer, payment to the beneficiary is deemed to be in the amount of the originator's order unless upon demand by the beneficiary the originator does not pay the beneficiary the amount of the deducted charges.

((4)) (d) Rights of the originator or of the beneficiary of a funds transfer under this section may be varied only by agreement of the originator and the beneficiary.

Sec. 27. RCW 62A.4A-501 and 1991 sp.s. c 21 s 4A-501 are each amended to read as follows:

((4)) (a) Except as otherwise provided in this Article, the rights and obligations of a party to a funds transfer may be varied by agreement of the affected party.

((2)) (b) "Funds-transfer system rule" means a rule of an association of banks ((4)) (i) governing transmission of payment orders by means of a funds-transfer system of the association or rights and obligations with respect to those orders, or ((4)) (ii) to the extent the rule governs rights and obligations between banks that are parties to a funds transfer in which a federal reserve bank, acting as an intermediary bank, sends a payment order to the beneficiary's bank. Except as otherwise provided in this Article, a funds-transfer system rule governing rights and obligations between participating banks using the system may be effective even if the rule conflicts with ~~((the))~~ this Article and indirectly affects another party to the funds transfer who does not consent to the rule. A funds-transfer system rule may also govern rights and obligations of parties other than participating banks using the system to the extent stated in RCW 62A.4A-404((3)) (c), 62A.4A-405((4)) (d), and 62A.4A-507((3)) (c).

Sec. 28. RCW 62A.4A-502 and 1991 sp.s. c 21 s 4A-502 are each amended to read as follows:

((4)) (a) As used in this section, "creditor process" means levy, attachment, garnishment, notice of lien, sequestration, or similar process issued by or on behalf of a creditor or other claimant with respect to an account.

((2)) (b) This subsection applies to creditor process with respect to an authorized account of the sender of a payment order if the creditor process is served on the receiving bank. For the purpose of determining rights with respect to the creditor process, if the receiving bank accepts the payment order the balance in the authorized account is deemed to be reduced by the amount of the payment order to the extent the bank did not otherwise receive payment of the order, unless the creditor process is served at ~~((the))~~ a time and in a manner affording the bank a reasonable opportunity to act on it before the bank accepts the payment order.

2013 REGULAR SESSION

~~((3))~~ (c) If a beneficiary's bank has received a payment order for payment to the beneficiary's account in the bank, the following rules apply:

~~((a))~~ (1) The bank may credit the beneficiary's account. The amount credited may be set off against an obligation owed by the beneficiary to the bank or may be applied to satisfy creditor process served on the bank with respect to the account.

~~((b))~~ (2) The bank may credit the beneficiary's account and allow withdrawal of the amount credited unless creditor process with respect to the account is served at ~~(the)~~ a time and in a manner affording the bank a reasonable opportunity to act to prevent withdrawal.

~~((e))~~ (3) If creditor process with respect to the beneficiary's account has been served and the bank has had a reasonable opportunity to act on it, the bank may not reject the payment order except for a reason unrelated to the service of process.

~~((4))~~ (d) Creditor process with respect to a payment by the originator to the beneficiary pursuant to a funds transfer may be served only on the beneficiary's bank with respect to the debt owed by that bank to the beneficiary. Any other bank served with the creditor process is not obliged to act with respect to the process.

Sec. 29. RCW 62A.4A-503 and 1991 sp.s. c 21 s 4A-503 are each amended to read as follows:

For proper cause and in compliance with applicable law, a court may restrain ~~((+))~~ (i) a person from issuing a payment order to initiate a funds transfer, ~~((2))~~ (ii) an originator's bank from executing the payment order of the originator, or ~~((3))~~ (iii) the beneficiary's bank from releasing funds to the beneficiary or the beneficiary from withdrawing the funds. A court may not otherwise restrain a person from issuing a payment order, paying or receiving payment of a payment order, or otherwise acting with respect to a funds transfer.

Sec. 30. RCW 62A.4A-504 and 1991 sp.s. c 21 s 4A-504 are each amended to read as follows:

~~((+))~~ (a) If a receiving bank has received more than one payment order of the sender or one or more payment orders and other items that are payable from the sender's account, the bank may charge the sender's account with respect to the various orders and items in any sequence.

~~((2))~~ (b) In determining whether a credit to an account has been withdrawn by the holder of the account or applied to a debt of the holder of the account, credits first made to the account are first withdrawn or applied.

Sec. 31. RCW 62A.4A-506 and 1991 sp.s. c 21 s 4A-506 are each amended to read as follows:

~~((+))~~ (a) If, under this Article, a receiving bank is obliged to pay interest with respect to a payment order issued to the bank, the amount payable may be determined ~~((a))~~ (i) by agreement of the sender and receiving bank, or ~~((b))~~ (ii) by a funds-transfer system rule if the payment order is transmitted through a funds-transfer system.

~~((2))~~ (b) If the amount of interest is not determined by an agreement or rule as stated in subsection ~~((+))~~ (a) of this section, the amount is calculated by multiplying the applicable federal funds rate by the amount on which interest is payable, and then multiplying the product by the number of days for which interest is payable. The applicable federal funds rate is the average of the federal funds rates published by the federal reserve bank of New York for each of the days for which interest is payable divided by three hundred sixty. The federal funds rate for any day on which a published rate is not available is the same as the published rate for the next preceding day for which there is a published rate. If a receiving bank that accepted a payment order is required to refund payment to the sender of the order because the funds transfer was not completed, but the failure to complete was not due to any fault by the bank, the interest payable is reduced by a percentage equal to the reserve requirement on deposits of the receiving bank.

Sec. 32. RCW 62A.4A-507 and 1991 sp.s. c 21 s 4A-507 are each amended to read as follows:

~~((+))~~ (a) The following rules apply unless the affected parties otherwise agree or subsection ~~((3))~~ (c) of this section applies~~(s)~~:

~~((a))~~ (1) The rights and obligations between the sender of a payment order and the receiving bank are governed by the law of the jurisdiction in which the receiving bank is located.

~~((b))~~ (2) The rights and obligations between the beneficiary's bank and the beneficiary are governed by the law of the jurisdiction in which the beneficiary's bank is located.

~~((e))~~ (3) The issue of when payment is made pursuant to a funds transfer by the originator to the beneficiary is governed by the law of the jurisdiction in which the beneficiary's bank is located.

~~((2))~~ (b) If the parties described in each paragraph of subsection ~~((+))~~ (a) of this section have made an agreement selecting the law of a particular jurisdiction to govern rights and obligations between each other, the law of that jurisdiction governs those rights and obligations, whether or not the payment order or the funds transfer bears a reasonable relation to that jurisdiction.

~~((3))~~ (c) A funds-transfer system rule may select the law of a particular jurisdiction to govern ~~((a))~~ (i) rights and obligations between participating banks with respect to payment orders transmitted or processed through the system, or ~~((b))~~ (ii) the rights and obligations of some or all parties to a funds transfer any part of which is carried out by means of the system. A choice of law made pursuant to ~~((a))~~ clause (i) of this subsection is binding on participating banks. A choice of law made pursuant to ~~((b))~~ clause (ii) of this subsection is binding on the originator, other sender, or a receiving bank having notice that the funds-transfer system might be used in the funds transfer and of the choice of law by the system when the originator, other sender, or receiving bank issued or accepted a payment order. The beneficiary of a funds transfer is bound by the choice of law if, when the funds transfer is initiated, the beneficiary has notice that the funds-transfer system might be used in the funds transfer and of the choice of law by the system. The law of a jurisdiction selected pursuant to this subsection may govern, whether or not that law bears a reasonable relation to the matter in issue.

~~((+))~~ (d) In the event of inconsistency between an agreement under subsection ~~((2))~~ (b) of this section and a choice-of-law rule under subsection ~~((3))~~ (c) of this section, the agreement under subsection ~~((2))~~ (b) of this section prevails.

~~((5))~~ (e) If a funds transfer is made by use of more than one funds-transfer system and there is inconsistency between choice-of-law rules of the systems, the matter in issue is governed by the law of the selected jurisdiction that has the most significant relationship to the matter in issue.

Sec. 33. RCW 62A.9A-502 and 2000 c 250 s 9A-502 are each amended to read as follows:

(a) Sufficiency of financing statement. Subject to subsection (b) of this section, a financing statement is sufficient only if it:

- (1) Provides the name of the debtor;
- (2) Provides the name of the secured party or a representative of the secured party; and
- (3) Indicates the collateral covered by the financing statement.

(b) Real-property-related financing statements. Except as otherwise provided in RCW 62A.9A-501(b), to be sufficient, a financing statement that covers as-extracted collateral or timber to be cut, or which is filed as a fixture filing and covers goods that are or are to become fixtures, must satisfy subsection (a) of this section and also:

- (1) Indicate that it covers this type of collateral;

(2) Indicate that it is to be filed for record in the real property records;

(2) The goods are or are to become fixtures related to the real property described in the record or the collateral is related to the real property described in the record and is as-extracted collateral or timber to be cut;

~~(A) The record need not indicate that it is to be filed in the real property records; and~~

(B) The record sufficiently provides the name of a debtor who is an individual if it provides the individual name of the debtor or the surname and first personal name of the debtor, even if the debtor is an individual to whom RCW 62A.9A-503(a)(4) applies; and

(4) The record is recorded.

(d) Filing before security agreement or attachment. A financing statement may be filed before a security agreement is made or a security interest otherwise attaches.

Sec. 34. RCW 62A.9A-503 and 2011 c 74 s 401 are each amended to read as follows:

(a) Sufficiency of debtor's name. A financing statement sufficiently provides the name of the debtor:

(1) Except as otherwise provided in (3) of this subsection (a), if the debtor is a registered organization or the collateral is held in a trust that is a registered organization, only if the financing statement provides the name that is stated to be the registered organization's name on the public organic record most recently filed with or issued or enacted by the registered organization's jurisdiction of organization which purports to state, amend, or restate the registered organization's name;

(c) Debtor's trade name insufficient. A financing statement that provides only the debtor's trade name does not sufficiently provide the name of the debtor.

(d) Representative capacity. Failure to indicate the representative capacity of a secured party or representative of a secured party does not affect the sufficiency of a financing statement.

(e) Multiple debtors and secured parties. A financing statement may provide the name of more than one debtor and the name of more than one secured party.

(f) Name of decedent. The name of the decedent indicated on the order appointing the personal representative of the decedent issued by the court having jurisdiction over the collateral is sufficient as the "name of the decedent" under subsection (a)(2) of this section.

(g) Multiple driver's licenses. If this state has issued to an individual more than one driver's license or identification card of a kind described in subsection (a)(4) of this section, the one that was issued most recently is the one to which subsection (a)(4) of this section refers.

(h) Definition. In this section, the "name of the settlor or testator" means:

(1) If the settlor is a registered organization, the name that is stated to be the settlor's name on the public organic record most recently filed with or issued or enacted by the settlor's jurisdiction of organization which purports to state, amend, or restate the settlor's name; or Authorizing alternative assessments of basic skills for teacher certification.

The measure was read the second time.

MOTION

Senator Litzow moved that the following committee striking amendment by the Committee on Early Learning & K-12 Education be adopted:

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

"NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. The legislature finds that the use of a basic skills test as an entrance requirement to teacher certification programs has unintentionally created a barrier to the effective recruitment of candidates from underrepresented populations who are otherwise qualified for the program. Therefore, the legislature intends to expand the pool of potential teacher candidates by expanding the types of testing instruments and assessments that may be used to measure basic skills. The legislature intends to review any alternative assessments to ensure that candidates must continue to meet the established standards for admission to a teacher certification program.

Sec. 2. RCW 28A.410.220 and 2008 c 176 s 2 are each amended to read as follows:

(1)(a) Beginning not later than September 1, 2001, the Washington professional educator standards board shall make available and pilot a means of assessing an applicant's knowledge in the basic skills. For the purposes of this section, "basic skills" means the subjects of at least reading, writing, and mathematics.

Beginning September 1, 2002, except as provided in (c) and (d) of this subsection and subsection (4) of this section, passing this assessment shall be required for admission to approved teacher preparation programs and for persons from out-of-state applying for a Washington state residency teaching certificate.

(b) On an individual student basis, approved teacher preparation programs may admit into their programs a candidate who has not achieved the minimum basic skills assessment score established by the Washington professional educator standards board. Individuals so admitted may not receive residency certification without passing the basic skills assessment under this section.

(c) The Washington professional educator standards board may establish criteria to ensure that persons from out-of-state who are applying for residency certification and persons applying to master's degree level teacher preparation programs can demonstrate to the board's satisfaction that they have the requisite basic skills based upon having completed another basic skills assessment acceptable to the Washington professional educator standards board or by some other alternative approved by the Washington professional educator standards board.

(d) The Washington professional educator standards board may identify and accept other tests and test scores as long as the tests are comparable in rigor to the basic skills assessment and candidates meet or exceed the basic skills requirements established by the board. The board must set the acceptable score for admission to teacher certification programs at no lower than the average national scores for the SAT or ACT.

(2) The Washington professional educator standards board shall set performance standards and develop, pilot, and implement a uniform and externally administered professional-level certification assessment based on demonstrated teaching skill. In the development of this assessment, consideration shall be given to changes in professional certification program components such as the culminating seminar.

(3) Beginning not later than September 1, 2002, the Washington professional educator standards board shall provide for the initial piloting and implementation of a means of assessing an applicant's knowledge in the subjects for which the applicant has applied for an endorsement to his or her residency or professional teaching certificate. The assessment of subject knowledge shall not include instructional methodology. Beginning September 1, 2005, passing this assessment shall be required to receive an endorsement for certification purposes.

(4) The Washington professional educator standards board may permit exceptions from the assessment requirements under subsections (1), (2), and (3) of this section on a case-by-case basis.

(5) The Washington professional educator standards board shall provide for reasonable accommodations for individuals who are required to take the assessments in subsection (1), (2), or (3) of this section if the individuals have learning or other disabilities.

(6) With the exception of applicants exempt from the requirements of subsections (1), (2), and (3) of this section, an applicant must achieve a minimum assessment score or scores established by the Washington professional educator standards board on each of the assessments under subsections (1), (2), and (3) of this section.

(7) The Washington professional educator standards board and superintendent of public instruction, as determined by the Washington professional educator standards board, may contract with one or more third parties for:

(a) The development, purchase, administration, scoring, and reporting of scores of the assessments established by the Washington professional educator standards board under subsections (1), (2), and (3) of this section;

(b) Related clerical and administrative activities; or

(c) Any combination of the purposes in this subsection.

(8) Applicants for admission to a Washington teacher preparation program and applicants for residency and professional certificates who are required to successfully complete one or more of the assessments under subsections (1), (2), and (3) of this section, and who are charged a fee for the assessment by a third party contracted with under subsection (7) of this section, shall pay the fee charged by the contractor directly to the contractor. Such fees shall be reasonably related to the actual costs of the contractor in providing the assessment.

(9) The superintendent of public instruction is responsible for supervision and providing support services to administer this section.

(10) The Washington professional educator standards board shall collaboratively select or develop and implement the assessments and minimum assessment scores required under this section with the superintendent of public instruction and shall provide opportunities for representatives of other interested educational organizations to participate in the selection or development and implementation of such assessments in a manner deemed appropriate by the Washington professional educator standards board.

(11) The Washington professional educator standards board shall adopt rules under chapter 34.05 RCW that are reasonably necessary for the effective and efficient implementation of this section."

HOUSE BILL NO. 1471, by Representatives Riccelli, Schmick, Cody, Clibborn, Ross, Short, Rodne, Green, Angel and Morrell

Updating and aligning with federal requirements hospital health care-associated infection rate reporting.

The measure was read the second time.

MOTION

Senator Becker moved that the following committee striking amendment by the Committee on Health Care be adopted:

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

"Sec. 1. RCW 43.70.056 and 2010 c 113 s 1 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) The definitions in this subsection apply throughout this section unless the context clearly requires otherwise.

(a) "Health care-associated infection" means a localized or systemic condition that results from adverse reaction to the presence of an infectious agent or its toxins and that was not present or incubating at the time of admission to the hospital.

(b) "Hospital" means a health care facility licensed under chapter 70.41 RCW.

(2)(a) A hospital shall collect data related to health care-associated infections as required under this subsection (2) on the following:

(i) ((Beginning July 1, 2008, central line-associated bloodstream infection in the intensive care unit;

(ii) Beginning January 1, 2009, ventilator-associated pneumonia; and

(iii) Beginning January 1, 2010,)) Central line-associated bloodstream infection in all hospital inpatient areas where patients normally reside at least twenty-four hours;

(ii) Surgical site infection for the following procedures:

(A) Deep sternal wound for cardiac surgery, including coronary artery bypass graft;

(B) Total hip and knee replacement surgery; and

2013 REGULAR SESSION

~~(C) (Hysterectomy, abdominal and vaginal. (b)(i) Except as required under (b)(ii) and (c) of this subsection.)~~ Colon and abdominal hysterectomy procedures.

(b) The department shall, by rule, delete, add, or modify categories of reporting when the department determines that doing so is necessary to align state reporting with the reporting categories of the centers for medicare and medicaid services. The department shall begin rule making forty-five calendar days, or as soon as practicable, after the centers for medicare and medicaid services adopts changes to reporting requirements.

(c) A hospital must routinely collect and submit the data required to be collected under (a) and (b) of this subsection to the national healthcare safety network of the United States centers for disease control and prevention in accordance with national healthcare safety network definitions, methods, requirements, and procedures.

((ii) Until the national health care safety network releases a revised module that successfully interfaces with a majority of computer systems of Washington hospitals required to report data under (a)(iii) of this subsection or three years, whichever occurs sooner, a hospital shall monthly submit the data required to be collected under (a)(iii) of this subsection to the Washington state hospital association's quality benchmarking system instead of the national health care safety network. The department shall not include data reported to the quality benchmarking system in reports published under subsection (3)(d) of this section. The data the hospital submits to the quality benchmarking system under (b)(ii) of this subsection:

(A) Must include the number of infections and the total number of surgeries performed for each type of surgery; and

(B) Must be the basis for a report developed by the Washington state hospital association and published on its web site that compares the health care-associated infection rates for surgical site infections at individual hospitals in the state using the data reported in the previous calendar year pursuant to this subsection. The report must be published on December 1, 2010, and every year thereafter until data is again reported to the national health care safety network.

(c)(i) With respect to any of the health care-associated infection measures for which reporting is required under (a) of this subsection, the department must, by rule, require hospitals to collect and submit the data to the centers for medicare and medicaid services according to the definitions, methods, requirements, and procedures of the hospital compare program, or its successor, instead of to the national healthcare safety network, if the department determines that:

(A) The measure is available for reporting under the hospital compare program, or its successor, under substantially the same definition; and

(B) Reporting under this subsection (2)(c) will provide substantially the same information to the public.

(ii) If the department determines that reporting of a measure must be conducted under this subsection (2)(c), the department must adopt rules to implement such reporting. The department's rules must require reporting to the centers for medicare and medicaid services as soon as practicable, but not more than one hundred twenty days, after the centers for medicare and medicaid services allow hospitals to report the respective measure to the hospital compare program, or its successor. However, if the centers for medicare and medicaid services allow infection rates to be reported using the centers for disease control and prevention's national healthcare safety network, the department's rules must require reporting that reduces the burden of data reporting and minimizes changes that hospitals must make to accommodate requirements for reporting.) If the centers for medicare and medicaid services changes reporting from the national healthcare safety network to another database or through another process, the department shall review the new reporting database or process and consider whether it aligns with the purposes of this section.

(d) Data collection and submission required under this subsection (2) must be overseen by a qualified individual with the appropriate level of skill and knowledge to oversee data collection and submission.

(e)(i) A hospital must release to the department, or grant the department access to, its hospital-specific information contained in the reports submitted under this subsection (2), as requested by the department consistent with RCW 70.02.050.

(ii) The hospital reports obtained by the department under this subsection (2), and any of the information contained in them, are not subject to discovery by subpoena or admissible as evidence in a civil proceeding, and are not subject to public disclosure as provided in RCW 42.56.360.

(3) The department shall:

(a) Provide oversight of the health care-associated infection reporting program established in this section;

(b) By January 1, ((2011)) 2014, and biennially thereafter, submit a report to the appropriate committees of the legislature ((based on the recommendations of the advisory committee established in subsection (5) of this section for additional reporting requirements related to health care-associated infections, considering the methodologies and practices of the United States centers for disease control and prevention, the centers for medicare and medicaid services, the joint commission, the national quality forum, the institute for healthcare improvement, and other relevant organizations)) that contains: (i) Categories of reporting currently required of hospitals under subsection (2)(a) of this section; (ii) categories of reporting the department plans to add, delete, or modify by rule; and (iii) a description of the evaluation process used under (f) of this subsection;

(c) ((Delete, by rule, the reporting of categories that the department determines are no longer necessary to protect public health and safety;

(d)) By December 1, 2016, report to the appropriate committees of the legislature with an update on the categories of reporting required under subsection (2)(a) of this section, any plans for federal reporting requirements on the categories, and recommendations for an expiration of the reporting requirements;

(d) By rule, delete, add, or modify categories of reporting when the department determines that it is necessary to align state reporting with the reporting categories of the centers for medicare and medicaid services. The department shall begin rule making forty-five calendar days, or as soon as practicable, after the centers for medicare and medicaid services adopts changes to reporting requirements;

(e) By December 1, 2009, and by each December 1st thereafter, prepare and publish a report on the department's web site that compares the health care-associated infection rates at individual hospitals in the state using the data reported in the previous calendar year pursuant to subsection (2) of this section. The department may update the reports quarterly. In developing a methodology for the report and determining its contents, the department shall consider the recommendations of the advisory committee established in subsection (5) of this section. The report is subject to the following:

(i) The report must disclose data in a format that does not release health information about any individual patient; and

(ii) The report must not include data if the department determines that a data set is too small or possesses other characteristics that make it otherwise unrepresentative of a hospital's particular ability to achieve a specific outcome; (~~and~~

—(e)) (f) Evaluate, on a regular basis, the quality and accuracy of health care-associated infection reporting required under subsection (2) of this section and the data collection, analysis, and reporting methodologies; and

(g) Provide assistance to hospitals with the reporting requirements of this chapter including definitions of required reporting elements.

(4) The department may respond to requests for data and other information from the data required to be reported under subsection (2) of this section, at the requestor's expense, for special studies and analysis consistent with requirements for confidentiality of patient records.

(5)(a) The department shall establish an advisory committee which may include members representing infection control professionals and epidemiologists, licensed health care providers, nursing staff, organizations that represent health care providers and facilities, health maintenance organizations, health care payers and consumers, and the department. The advisory committee shall make recommendations to assist the department in carrying out its responsibilities under this section, including making recommendations on allowing a hospital to review and verify data to be released in the report and on excluding from the report selected data from certified critical access hospitals. ~~((Annually, beginning January 1, 2011, the advisory committee shall also make a recommendation to the department as to whether current science supports expanding presurgical screening for methicillin-resistant staphylococcus aureus prior to open chest cardiac, total hip, and total knee elective surgeries.))~~

(b) In developing its recommendations, the advisory committee shall consider methodologies and practices related to health care-associated infections of the United States centers for disease control and prevention, the centers for medicare and medicaid services, the joint commission, the national quality forum, the institute for healthcare improvement, and other relevant organizations.

(6) The department shall adopt rules as necessary to carry out its responsibilities under this section."

Creating initiatives in high schools to save lives in the event of cardiac arrest.

The measure was read the second time.

MOTION

Senator Litzow moved that the following committee striking amendment by the Committee on Early Learning & K-12 Education be adopted:

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

"NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. The legislature finds that more than three hundred sixty thousand people in the United States experience cardiac arrest outside of a hospital every year, and only ten percent survive because the remainder do not receive timely cardiopulmonary resuscitation. When administered immediately, cardiopulmonary resuscitation doubles or triples survival rates from cardiac arrest. Sudden cardiac arrest can happen to anyone at any time. Many victims appear healthy and have no known heart disease or other risk factors. The legislature finds that schools are the hearts of our community, and preparing students to help with a sudden cardiac arrest emergency could save the life of a child, parent, or teacher. Washington state has a longstanding history of training members of the public in cardiopulmonary resuscitation with community-based training programs. The legislature finds that training students will continue the legacy of providing high quality emergency cardiac care to its citizens. Therefore, the legislature intends to create a generation of lifesavers by putting cardiopulmonary resuscitation skills in the hands of all high school graduates and providing schools with a flexible framework to prepare for an emergency.

2013 REGULAR SESSION

Sec. 2. RCW 79.100.100 and 2010 c 161 s 1161 are each amended to read as follows:

(1)(a) The derelict vessel removal account is created in the state treasury. All receipts from RCW 79.100.050 and 79.100.060 and those moneys specified in RCW 88.02.640 must be deposited into the account. The account is authorized to receive fund transfers and appropriations from the general fund, deposits from the derelict vessel removal surcharge under RCW 88.02.640(4), as well as gifts, grants, and endowments from public or private sources as may be made from time to time, in trust or otherwise, for the use and benefit of the purposes of this chapter and expend the same or any income according to the terms of the gifts, grants, or endowments provided those terms do not conflict with any provisions of this section or any guidelines developed to prioritize reimbursement of removal projects associated with this chapter.

(b) Moneys in the account may only be spent after appropriation. Expenditures from the account ~~((must))~~ may only be used by the department for developing and administering the vessel turn-in program created in section 42 of this act and to reimburse authorized public entities for up to ninety percent of the total reasonable and auditable administrative, removal, disposal, and environmental damage costs of abandoned or derelict vessels when the previous owner is either unknown after a reasonable search effort or insolvent. Reimbursement may not be made unless the department determines that the public entity has made reasonable efforts to identify and locate the party responsible for the vessel, or any other person or entity that has incurred secondary liability under section 38 of this act, regardless of the title of owner of the vessel.

(c) Funds in the account resulting from transfers from the general fund or from the deposit of funds from the watercraft excise tax as provided for under RCW 82.49.030 must be used to reimburse one hundred percent of ~~((these))~~ costs and should be prioritized for the removal of large vessels.

(d) Costs associated with the removal and disposal of an abandoned or derelict vessel under the authority granted in RCW 53.08.320 also qualify for reimbursement from the derelict vessel removal account.

(e) In each biennium, up to twenty percent of the expenditures from the derelict vessel removal account may be used for administrative expenses of the department of licensing and department of natural resources in implementing this chapter.

(2) ((If the balance of the account reaches one million dollars as of March 1st of any year, exclusive of any transfer or appropriation of funds into the account or funds deposited into the account collected under RCW 88.02.640(5), the department must notify the department of licensing and the collection of any fees associated with this account must be suspended for the following fiscal year.

(3))) Priority for use of this account is for the removal of derelict and abandoned vessels that are in danger of sinking, breaking up, or blocking navigation channels, or that present environmental risks such as leaking fuel or other hazardous substances. The department must develop criteria, in the form of informal guidelines, to prioritize removal projects associated with this chapter, but may not consider whether the applicant is a state or local entity when prioritizing. The guidelines must also include guidance to the authorized public entities as to what removal activities and associated costs are reasonable and eligible for reimbursement.

~~((4))~~ (3) The department must keep all authorized public entities ~~((apprized))~~ apprised of the balance of the derelict vessel removal account and the funds available for reimbursement. The guidelines developed by the department must also be made available to the other authorized public entities. This subsection ~~((4))~~ (3) must be satisfied by utilizing the least costly method, including maintaining the information on the department's internet web site, or any other cost-effective method.

~~((5))~~ (4) An authorized public entity may contribute its ten percent of costs that are not eligible for reimbursement by using in-kind services, including the use of existing staff, equipment, and volunteers.

~~((6))~~ (5) This chapter does not guarantee reimbursement for an authorized public entity. Authorized public entities seeking certainty in reimbursement prior to taking action under this chapter may first notify the department of their proposed action and the estimated total costs. Upon notification by an authorized public entity, the department must make the authorized public entity aware of the status of the fund and the likelihood of reimbursement being available. The department may offer technical assistance and assure reimbursement for up to two years following the removal action if an assurance is appropriate given the balance of the fund and the details of the proposed action.

(5) If a vessel is secured under subsection (1) or (2) of this section, the owner, or any person with a legal right to possess the vessel, may claim the vessel by:

The local government shall use the procedure specified under RCW 79.100.100(6).

(4) If the private moorage facility owner has already seized the vessel under chapter 88.26 RCW and title has reverted to the moorage facility, the moorage facility is not considered the owner under this chapter for purposes of cost recovery for actions taken under this section.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 35. A new section is added to chapter 79.100 RCW to read as follows:

(1) An officer or employee of an authorized public entity, or the department of ecology at the request of an authorized public entity, may, consistent with subsection (2) of this section, board any vessel at any reasonable time for the purpose of:

(a) Administering this chapter, including identifying ownership of a vessel, assessing the structural integrity of a vessel, and assessing whether a vessel meets the criteria described under RCW 79.100.040(3); or

(b) For the department of ecology only, mitigating a potential threat to health, safety, or the environment under the authority provided in chapter 90.56 RCW.

(2)(a) Prior to boarding any vessel under the authority of this section, an officer or employee of an authorized public entity or the department of ecology must apply for and obtain an administrative search warrant in either Thurston county superior court or the superior court in the county where the vessel is located, unless a warrant is not otherwise required by law. The court may issue an administrative search warrant where the court has reasonable cause to believe it is necessary to achieve the purposes of this section.

(b) Prior to requesting an administrative search warrant under this subsection, the officer or employee must make a reasonable effort to contact the owner or the owner's designee and obtain consent to board the vessel.

(3) Nothing in this section affects an authorized public entity's authority to carry out actions under RCW 79.100.040 or any agency's existing authority to enter onto vessels under any other statute.

Sec. 36. RCW 90.56.410 and 1990 c 116 s 23 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) The department, through its duly authorized representatives, shall have the power to enter upon any private or public property, including the boarding of any ship, at any reasonable time, and the owner, managing agent, master, or occupant of such property shall permit such entry for the purpose of investigating conditions relating to violations or possible violations of this chapter, and to have access to any pertinent records relating to such property, including but not limited to operation and maintenance records and logs. The authority granted ~~((herein))~~ in this section shall not be construed to require any person to divulge trade secrets or secret processes. The director may issue subpoenas for the production of any books, records, documents, or witnesses in any hearing conducted pursuant to this chapter.

(2) The department may utilize the authority granted to it in section 35 of this act for the purposes of mitigating a potential threat to health, safety, or the environment from a vessel.

Sec. 37. RCW 79.100.040 and 2007 c 342 s 2 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) Prior to exercising the authority granted in RCW 79.100.030, the authorized public entity must first obtain custody of the vessel. To do so, the authorized public entity must:

(a) Mail notice of its intent to obtain custody, at least twenty days prior to taking custody, to the last known address of the previous owner to register the vessel in any state or with the federal government and to any lien holders or secured interests on record. A notice need not be sent to the purported owner or any other person whose interest in the vessel is not recorded with a state or federal agency;

(b) Post notice of its intent clearly on the vessel for thirty days and publish its intent at least once, more than ten days but less than twenty days prior to taking custody, in a newspaper of general circulation for the county in which the vessel is located; and

(c) Post notice of its intent on the department's internet web site on a page specifically designated for such notices. If the authorized public entity is not the department, the department must facilitate the internet posting.

(2) All notices sent, posted, or published in accordance with this section must, at a minimum, explain the intent of the authorized public entity to take custody of the vessel, the rights of the authorized public entity after taking custody of the vessel as provided in RCW 79.100.030, the procedures the owner must follow in order to avoid custody being taken by the authorized public entity, the procedures the owner must follow in order to reclaim possession after custody is taken by the authorized public entity, and the financial liabilities that the owner may incur as provided for in RCW 79.100.060.

(3)(a) ~~((#-a))~~ Any authorized public entity may tow, beach, or otherwise take temporary possession of a vessel if the owner of the vessel cannot be located or is unwilling or unable to assume immediate responsibility for the vessel and if the vessel ~~((#s))~~:

(i) Is in immediate danger of sinking, breaking up, or blocking navigational channels; or

(ii) Poses a reasonably imminent threat to human health or safety, including a threat of environmental contamination(; and (iii) the owner of the vessel cannot be located or is unwilling or unable to assume immediate responsibility for the vessel, any authorized public entity may tow, beach, or otherwise take temporary possession of the vessel)).

(b) Before taking temporary possession of the vessel, the authorized public entity must make reasonable attempts to consult with the department or the United States coast guard to ensure that other remedies are not available. The basis for taking temporary possession of the vessel must be set out in writing by the authorized public entity within seven days of taking action and be submitted to the owner, if known, as soon thereafter as is reasonable. If the authorized public entity has not already provided the required notice, immediately after taking possession of the vessel, the authorized public entity must initiate the notice provisions in subsection (1) of this section. The authorized public entity must complete the notice requirements of subsection (1) of this section before using or disposing of the vessel as authorized in RCW 79.100.050.

(4) An authorized public entity may invite the department of ecology to use the authority granted to it under RCW 90.56.410 prior to, or concurrently with, obtaining custody of a vessel under this section. However, this is not a necessary prerequisite to an authorized public entity obtaining custody.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 38. A new section is added to chapter 79.100 RCW to read as follows:

(1) A vessel owner must obtain a vessel inspection under this section prior to transferring a vessel that is:

(a) More than sixty-five feet in length and more than forty years old; and

(b) Either:

(i) Is registered or required to be registered under chapter 88.02 RCW; or

(ii) Is listed or required to be listed under chapter 84.40 RCW.

(2) Where required under subsection (1) of this section, a vessel owner must provide a copy of the vessel inspection documentation to the transferee and, if the department did not conduct the inspection, to the department prior to the transfer.

(3) Failure to comply with the requirements of subsections (1) and (2) of this section will result in the transferor having secondary liability under RCW 79.100.060 if the vessel is later abandoned by the transferee or becomes derelict prior to a subsequent ownership transfer.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 39. (1) By December 31, 2013, the department of natural resources shall adopt by rule procedures and standards for the vessel inspections required under section 38 of this act. The procedures and standards must identify the public or private entities authorized to conduct inspections, the required elements of an inspection, and the manner in which inspection results must be documented. The vessel inspection required under this section must be designed to:

(a) Provide the transferee with current information about the condition of the vessel, including the condition of its hull and key operating systems, prior to the transfer;

(b) Provide the department of natural resources with information under (a) of this subsection for each applicable vessel and, more broadly, to improve the department's understanding of the condition of the larger, older boats in the state's waters;

(c) Discourage the future abandonment or dereliction of the vessel; and

(d) Maximize the efficiency and effectiveness of the inspection process, including with respect to the time and resources of the transferor, transferee, and the state.

(2) The department of natural resources shall work with appropriate government agencies and stakeholders in designing the inspection process and standards under this section.

(3) This section expires July 31, 2014.

Sec. 40. RCW 79.100.060 and 2006 c 153 s 4 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) The owner of an abandoned or derelict vessel, or any person or entity that has incurred secondary liability under section 38 of this act, is responsible for reimbursing an authorized public entity for all reasonable and auditable costs associated with the removal or disposal of the owner's vessel under this chapter. These costs include, but are not limited to, costs incurred exercising the authority granted in RCW 79.100.030, all administrative costs incurred by the authorized public entity during the procedure set forth in RCW 79.100.040, removal and disposal costs, and costs associated with environmental damages directly or indirectly caused by the vessel. An authorized public entity that has taken temporary possession of a vessel may require that all reasonable and auditable costs associated with the removal of the vessel be paid before the vessel is released to the owner.

(2) Reimbursement for costs may be sought from an owner, or any person or entity that has incurred secondary liability under section 38 of this act, who is identified subsequent to the vessel's removal and disposal.

(3) If the full amount of all costs due to the authorized public entity under this chapter is not paid to the authorized public entity within thirty days after first notifying the responsible parties of the amounts owed, the authorized public entity or the department may bring an action in any court of competent jurisdiction to recover the costs, plus reasonable attorneys' fees and costs incurred by the authorized public entity.

Sec. 41. RCW 88.26.020 and 1993 c 474 s 2 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) Any private moorage facility operator may take reasonable measures, including the use of chains, ropes, and locks, or removal from the water, to secure vessels within the private moorage facility so that the vessels are in the possession and control of the operator and cannot be removed from the facility. These procedures may be used if an owner mooring or storing a vessel at the facility fails, after being notified that charges are owing and of the owner's right to commence legal proceedings to contest that such charges are owing, to pay charges owed or to commence legal proceedings. Notification shall be by two separate letters, one sent by first-class mail and one sent by registered mail to the owner and any lienholder of record at the last known address. In the case of a transient vessel, or where no address was furnished by the owner, the operator need not give notice prior to securing the vessel. At the time of securing the vessel, an operator shall attach to the vessel a readily visible notice. The notice shall be of a reasonable size and shall contain the following information:

(a) The date and time the notice was attached;

(b) A statement that if the account is not paid in full within ninety days from the time the notice is attached the vessel may be sold at public auction to satisfy the charges; and

(c) The address and telephone number where additional information may be obtained concerning release of the vessel.

After a vessel is secured, the operator shall make a reasonable effort to notify the owner and any lienholder of record by registered mail in order to give the owner the information contained in the notice.

(2) A private moorage facility operator, at his or her discretion, may move moored vessels ashore for storage within properties under the operator's control or for storage with a private person under their control as bailees of the private moorage facility, if the vessel is, in the opinion of the operator, a nuisance, in danger of sinking or creating other damage, or is owing charges. The costs of any such procedure shall be paid by the vessel's owner.

(3) If a vessel is secured under subsection (1) of this section or moved ashore under subsection (2) of this section, the owner who is obligated to the private operator for charges may regain possession of the vessel by:

(a) Making arrangements satisfactory with the operator for the immediate removal of the vessel from the facility or for authorized moorage; and

(b) Making payment to the operator of all charges, or by posting with the operator a sufficient cash bond or other acceptable security, to be held in trust by the operator pending written agreement of the parties with respect to payment by the vessel owner of the amount owing, or pending resolution of the matter of the charges in a civil action in a court of competent jurisdiction. After entry of judgment, including any appeals, in a court of competent jurisdiction, or after the parties reach agreement with respect to payment, the trust shall terminate and the operator shall receive so much of the bond or other security as agreed, or as is necessary, to satisfy any judgment, costs, and interest as may be awarded to the operator. The balance shall be refunded immediately to the owner at the last known address.

(4) If a vessel has been secured by the operator under subsection (1) of this section and is not released to the owner under the bonding provisions of this section within ninety days after notifying or attempting to notify the owner under subsection (1) of this section, the vessel is conclusively presumed to have been abandoned by the owner.

(5) If a vessel moored or stored at a private moorage facility is abandoned, the operator may authorize the public sale of the vessel by authorized personnel, consistent with this section, to the highest and best bidder for cash as follows:

(a) Before the vessel is sold, the vessel owner and any lienholder of record shall be given at least twenty days' notice of the sale in the manner set forth in subsection (1) of this section if the name and address of the owner is known. The notice shall contain the time and place of the sale, a reasonable description of the vessel to be sold, and the amount of charges owed with respect to the vessel. The notice of sale shall be published at least once, more than ten but not more than twenty days before the sale, in a newspaper of general circulation in the county in which the facility is located. This notice shall include the name of the vessel, if any, the last known owner and address, and a reasonable description of the vessel to be sold. The operator may bid all or part of its charges at the sale and may become a purchaser at the sale.

(b) Before the vessel is sold, any person seeking to redeem an impounded vessel under this section may commence a lawsuit in the superior court for the county in which the vessel was impounded to contest the validity of the impoundment or the amount of charges owing. This lawsuit must be commenced within sixty days of the date the notification was provided under subsection (1) of this section, or the right to a hearing is deemed waived and the owner is liable for any charges owing the operator. In the event of litigation, the prevailing party is entitled to reasonable attorneys' fees and costs.

(c) The proceeds of a sale under this section shall be applied first to the payment of any liens superior to the claim for charges, then to payment of the charges, then to satisfy any other liens on the vessel in the order of their priority. The balance, if any, shall be paid to the owner. If the owner cannot in the exercise of due diligence be located by the operator within one year of the date of the sale, the excess funds from the sale shall revert to the department of revenue under chapter 63.29 RCW. If the sale is for a sum less than the applicable charges, the operator is entitled to assert a claim for deficiency, however, the deficiency judgment shall not exceed the moorage fees owed for the previous six-month period.

(d) In the event no one purchases the vessel at a sale, or a vessel is not removed from the premises or other arrangements are not made within ten days of sale, title to the vessel will revert to the operator.

(e) Either a minimum bid may be established or a letter of credit may be required from the buyer, or both, to discourage the future abandonment of the vessel.

(6) The rights granted to a private moorage facility operator under this section are in addition to any other legal rights an operator may have to hold and sell a vessel and in no manner does this section alter those rights, or affect the priority of other liens on a vessel.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 42. A new section is added to chapter 79.100 RCW to read as follows:

(1) The department may develop and administer a voluntary vessel turn-in program.

(2) The purpose of the vessel turn-in program is to allow the department to dismantle and dispose of vessels that pose a high risk of becoming a derelict vessel or abandoned vessel, but that do not yet meet the definition of those terms. The department shall design the program with the goal of dismantling and disposing of as many vessels as available resources allow, particularly those vessels posing the greatest risk of becoming abandoned or derelict in the future.

(3) The department shall disseminate information about the vessel turn-in program, including information about the application process, on its internet site and through appropriate agency publications and information sources as determined by the department. The department shall disseminate this information for a reasonable time as determined by the department prior to accepting applications.

(4) The department shall accept and review vessel turn-in program applications from eligible vessel owners, including private marinas that have gained legal title to a vessel in an advanced state of disrepair, during the time period or periods identified by the department. In order to be eligible for the vessel turn-in program, an applicant must demonstrate to the department's satisfaction that the applicant:

(a) Is a Washington resident or business;

(b) Owns a vessel that is in an advanced state of disrepair, has minimal or no value, and has a high likelihood of becoming an abandoned or derelict vessel; and

(c) Has insufficient resources to properly dispose of the vessel outside of the vessel turn-in program.

(5) Decisions regarding program eligibility and whether to accept a vessel for dismantling and disposal under the turn-in program are within the sole discretion of the department.

(6) The department may take other actions not inconsistent with this section in order to develop and administer the vessel turn-in program.

(7) The department may not spend more than two hundred thousand dollars in any one biennium on the program established in this section.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 43. (1) In compliance with RCW 43.01.036, the department of natural resources must provide a brief summary of the vessel turn-in program authorized under section 42 of this act to the legislature by September 1, 2014, including

(2) This section expires July 31, 2015.

Sec. 44. RCW 43.21B.305 and 2005 c 34 s 2 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) In an appeal that involves a penalty of fifteen thousand dollars or less or that involves a derelict or abandoned vessel under RCW 79.100.120, the appeal may be heard by one member of the board, whose decision shall be the final decision of the board. The board shall define by rule alternative procedures to expedite appeals involving penalties of fifteen thousand dollars or less or involving a derelict or abandoned vessel. These alternatives may include: Mediation, upon agreement of all parties; submission of testimony by affidavit; or other forms that may lead to less formal and faster resolution of appeals.

(2) For appeals that involve a derelict or abandoned vessel under RCW 79.100.120 only, an administrative law judge employed by the board may be substituted for a board member under this section.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 45. (1) The department of natural resources must, in consultation with the department of ecology and appropriate stakeholders, evaluate potential changes to laws and rules related to derelict and abandoned vessels that increase vessel owner responsibility and address challenges associated with the economics of removing vessels from the water. This evaluation must include the development and analysis of:

(a) Administrative and legislative vessel owner responsibility options that seek to ensure the prevention and cleanup of derelict and abandoned vessels, including the development of mandatory processes for public and private moorage facility operators to employ in an effort to appropriately limit the transfer of high risk vessels; and

(b) The identification of challenges and roadblocks to deconstructing derelict vessels and transforming them into a viable scrap metal product.

(2) The department of natural resources may choose which appropriate stakeholders are consulted in the implementation of this section. However, persons with relevant expertise on financial responsibility mechanisms, such as insurance and surety bonds and letters of credit, must be included. The department of natural resources must also seek to ensure opportunities for interested members of the senate and house of representatives to provide input into the work group process and conclusions.

(3) The department of natural resources must provide a summary of the options developed by the work group, or a draft of proposed legislation, to the legislature consistent with RCW 43.01.036 by December 15, 2013.

(4) This section expires June 30, 2014.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 46. Section 33 of this act expires June 30, 2019.

staff who interact with students daily are in a prime position to recognize the signs of emotional or behavioral distress and make appropriate referrals. School personnel need effective training to help build the skills and confidence to assist youth in seeking help;

(c) Educators are not necessarily trained to address significant social, emotional, or behavioral issues exhibited by youth. Rather, best practices guidelines suggest that school districts should form partnerships with qualified health, mental health, and social services agencies to provide support; and

(d) Current safe school plans prepared by school districts tend to focus more on natural disasters and external threats and less on how to recognize and respond to potential crises among the students inside the school.

(2) Therefore, the legislature intends to increase the capacity for school districts to recognize and respond to youth in need through additional training, more comprehensive planning, and emphasis on partnerships between schools and communities.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. A new section is added to chapter 28A.410 RCW to read as follows:

(1) As provided under subsections (2) and (3) of this section, individuals certified by the professional educator standards board as a school nurse, school social worker, school psychologist, or school counselor must complete a training program on youth suicide screening and referral as a condition of certification. The training program must be at least three hours in length. The professional educator standards board must adopt standards for the minimum content of the training in consultation with the office of the superintendent of public instruction and the department of health. In developing the standards, the board must consider training programs listed on the best practices registry of the American foundation for suicide prevention and the suicide prevention resource center.

(2) This section applies to the following certificates if the certificate is first issued or is renewed on or after July 1, 2015:

- (a) Continuing certificates for school nurses;
- (b) Continuing certificates for school social workers;
- (c) Continuing and professional certificates for school psychologists; and
- (d) Continuing and professional certificates for school counselors.

(3) A school counselor who holds or submits a school counseling certificate from the national board for professional teaching standards or a school psychologist who holds or submits a school psychologist certificate from the national association of school psychologists in lieu of a professional certificate must complete the training program under subsection (1) of this section by July 1, 2015, or within the five-year period before the certificate is first submitted to the professional educator standards board, whichever is later, and at least once every five years thereafter in order to be considered certified by the professional educator standards board.

(4) The professional educator standards board shall consider the training program under subsection (1) of this section as approved continuing education under RCW 28A.415.020 and shall count the training program toward meeting continuing education requirements for certification as a school nurse, school social worker, school psychologist, or school counselor.

Sec. 3. RCW 28A.410.035 and 1990 c 90 s 1 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) To receive initial certification as a teacher in this state after August 31, 1991, an applicant shall have successfully completed a course on issues of abuse. The content of the course shall discuss the identification of physical, emotional, sexual, and substance abuse, information on the impact of abuse on the behavior and learning abilities of students, discussion of the responsibilities of a teacher to report abuse or provide assistance to students who are the victims of abuse, and methods for teaching students about abuse of all types and their prevention.

(2) The professional educator standards board shall incorporate into the content required for the course under this section, knowledge and skill standards pertaining to recognition, initial screening, and response to emotional or behavioral distress in students, including but not limited to indicators of possible substance abuse, violence, and youth suicide. To receive initial certification after August 31, 2014, an applicant must have successfully completed a course that includes the content of this subsection. The board shall consult with the office of the superintendent of public instruction and the department of health in developing the standards.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4. A new section is added to chapter 28A.320 RCW to read as follows:

(1) Beginning in the 2014-15 school year, each school district must adopt a plan for recognition, initial screening, and response to emotional or behavioral distress in students, including but not limited to indicators of possible substance abuse, violence, and youth suicide. The school district must annually provide the plan to all district staff.

(2) At a minimum the plan must address:

- (a) Identification of training opportunities in recognition, screening, and referral that may be available for staff;
- (b) How to use the expertise of district staff who have been trained in recognition, screening, and referral;
- (c) How staff should respond to suspicions, concerns, or warning signs of emotional or behavioral distress in students;
- (d) Identification and development of partnerships with community organizations and agencies for referral of students to health, mental health, substance abuse, and social support services, including development of at least one memorandum of understanding between the district and such an entity in the community or region;
- (e) Protocols and procedures for communication with parents;
- (f) How staff should respond to a crisis situation where a student is in imminent danger to himself or herself or others; and
- (g) How the district will provide support to students and staff after an incident of violence or youth suicide.

(3) The plan under this section may be a separate plan or a component of another district plan or policy, such as the harassment, intimidation, and bullying prevention policy under RCW 28A.300.2851 or the comprehensive safe school plan required under RCW 28A.320.125.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 5. A new section is added to chapter 28A.320 RCW to read as follows:

The office of the superintendent of public instruction and the school safety advisory committee shall develop a model school district plan for recognition, initial screening, and response to emotional or behavioral distress in students, including but not limited to indicators of possible substance abuse, violence, and youth suicide. The model plan must incorporate research-based best practices, including practices and protocols used in schools and school districts in other states. The model plan must be posted by February 1, 2014, on the school safety center web site, along with relevant resources and information to support school districts in developing and implementing the plan required under section 4 of this act.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 6. A new section is added to chapter 28A.310 RCW to read as follows:

Each educational service district shall develop and maintain the capacity to offer training for educators and other school district staff on youth suicide screening and referral, and on recognition, initial screening, and response to emotional or behavioral distress in students, including but not limited to indicators of possible substance abuse, violence, and youth suicide. An educational service district may demonstrate capacity by employing staff with sufficient expertise to offer the training or by contracting with individuals or organizations to offer the training. Training may be offered on a fee-for-service basis, or at no cost to school districts or educators if funds are appropriated specifically for this purpose or made available through grants or other sources.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 7. The office of the superintendent of public instruction shall convene a temporary task force to identify best practices, model programs, and successful strategies for school districts to form partnerships with qualified health, mental health, and social services agencies in the community to coordinate and improve support for youth in need. The task force shall identify and develop resource documents to be posted on the school safety center web site, and submit a report with recommendations to the education committees of the legislature by December 1, 2013. The task force shall also explore the potential use of advance online youth emotional health and crisis response systems that have been developed for use in other countries. The task force must include the results of the review in its December 1st report.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 8. (1) The legislature finds that a lack of information about mental health problems among the general public leads to stigmatizing attitudes and prevents people from seeking help early and seeking the best sort of help. It also prevents people from providing support to family members, friends, and colleagues because they might not know what to do. This lack of knowledge about mental health problems limits the initial accessibility of evidence-based treatments and leads to a lack of support for people with a mental disorder from family, friends, and other members of the community.

(2) The focus on training for teachers and educational staff is intended to provide opportunities for early intervention when the first signs of developing mental illness may be recognized in children, teens, and young adults, so that appropriate referrals may be made to evidence-based behavioral health services.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 9. A new section is added to chapter 71.24 RCW to read as follows:

Subject to appropriation for this specific purpose, the department shall provide funds for mental health first-aid training targeted at teachers and educational staff. The training will follow the model developed by the department of psychology in Melbourne, Australia. Instruction provided will describe common mental disorders that arise in youth, their possible causes and risk factors, the availability of evidence-based medical, psychological, and alternative treatments, processes for making referrals for behavioral health services, and methods to effectively render assistance in both initial intervention and crisis situations. The department shall collaborate with the office of the superintendent of public instruction to identify sites and methods of instruction that leverage local resources to the extent possible for the purpose of making the mental health first-aid training broadly available.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 10. This act does not create any civil liability on the part of the state or any state agency, officer, employee, agent, political subdivision, or school district."

MOTION

Senator Padden moved that the following striking amendment by Senators Padden and Kohl-Welles be adopted:

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

"NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. The legislature recognizes there are many state agencies and private organizations that might be called on to provide services to victims of sex trafficking. Victims of human trafficking are often in need of services such as emergency medical attention, food and shelter, vocational and English language training, mental health counseling, and legal support. The state intends to improve the response of state, local, and private entities to incidents of trafficking of humans. Victims would be better served if there is an established, coordinated system of identifying the needs of sex trafficking victims, training of service delivery agencies and staff, timely and appropriate delivery of services, and better investigations and prosecutions of trafficking.

Leadership in providing services to victims of sex trafficking also extends beyond government efforts and is grounded in the work of highly dedicated individuals and community-based groups. Without these efforts the struggle against human trafficking will be very difficult to win. The legislature, therefore, finds that such efforts merit regular public recognition and appreciation. Such recognition and appreciation will encourage the efforts of all persons to end sex trafficking, and provide the public with information and education about the necessity of its involvement in this struggle.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. A new section is added to chapter 43.280 RCW to read as follows:

Measuring performance of the child welfare system.

The measure was read the second time.

MOTION

Senator Pearson moved that the following committee striking amendment by the Committee on Human Services & Corrections be adopted:

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

"NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. (1) The legislature recognizes that the goals of the child welfare system are to protect the safety, permanence, and well-being of the children it serves. The legislature further recognizes the importance of maintaining publicly accessible data that tracks the performance of the child welfare system, leading to transparency and public understanding of the system.

(2) The legislature believes it is important to measure safety, permanence, and well-being such that the public and the legislature may understand how the child welfare system is performing. This information will also serve the legislature in determining priorities for investment of public dollars as well as need for substantive legislative changes to facilitate improvement.

(3) The reports to the legislature under section 2 of this act will be used to provide feedback to the department of social and health services. The agencies referenced in section 2 of this act will not disclose individually identifiable private information except as allowable under federal and state law.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. A new section is added to chapter 74.13 RCW to read as follows:

(1) A university-based child welfare research entity shall develop measurements in the areas of safety, permanency, and well-being, using existing and available data. Measurements must be calculated from data used in the routine work of the state agencies' data and information technology departments. Any new record linkage or data-matching activities required in fulfillment of this section may be performed by the research entity pursuant to agreements developed under subsection (6) of this section.

(2) For the purposes of this section, "state agencies" means any agency or subagency providing data used in the integrated client database maintained by the research and data analysis division of the department. Any exchange of data must be in accordance with applicable federal and state law.

(3) All measurements must use a methodology accepted by the scientific community. All measurements must address any disproportionate racial and ethnic inequality. The initial measurements must be developed by December 1, 2013.

(4) The measurements may not require the state agencies to revise their data collection systems, and may not require the state agencies to provide individually identifiable information.

(5) The state agencies shall provide the research entity with all measurement data related to the measurements developed under this section at least quarterly beginning July 1, 2014. The research entity shall make any nonidentifiable data publicly available. The research entity shall report on the data to the legislature and the governor annually starting December 31, 2014.

(6) By January 1, 2014, the state agencies shall execute agreements with the research entity to enable sharing of data pursuant to RCW 42.48.020 sufficient to comply with this section.

NINETY SECOND DAY, APRIL 15, 2013

2013 REGULAR SESSION

(7) The fact that the research entity has chosen to use a specific measure, use a specific baseline, or compare any measure to a baseline is not admissible as evidence of negligence by the department in a civil action.

Sec. 3. RCW 74.13B.020 and 2012 c 205 s 3 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) No later than ~~((December 1, 2013))~~ July 1, 2014, the department shall enter into performance-based contracts for the provision of family support and related services. The department may enter into performance-based contracts for additional services, other than case management.

(2) ~~((Beginning December 1, 2013,~~ the department may not renew its current contracts with individuals or entities for the provision of the child welfare services included in performance-based contracts under this section for services in geographic areas served by network administrators under such contracts, except as mutually agreed upon between the department and the network administrator to allow for the successful transition of services that meet the needs of children and families.

(3)) The department shall conduct a procurement process to enter into performance-based contracts with one or more network administrators for family support and related services. As part of the procurement process, the department shall consult with department caseworkers, the exclusive bargaining representative for employees of the department, tribal representatives, parents who were formerly involved in the child welfare system, youth currently or previously in foster care, child welfare services researchers, and the Washington state institute for public policy to assist in identifying the categories of family support and related services that will be included in the procurement. The categories of family support and related services shall be defined no later than July 15, 2012. In identifying services, the department must review current data and research related to the effectiveness of family support and related services that mitigate child safety concerns and promote permanency, including reunification, and child well-being. Expenditures for family support and related services purchased under this section must remain within the levels appropriated in the operating budget.

~~((4))~~ (3)(a) Network administrators shall, directly or through subcontract with service providers:

(i) Assist caseworkers in meeting their responsibility for implementation of case plans and individual service and safety plans; and

(ii) Provide the family support and related services within the categories of contracted services that are included in a child or family's case plan or individual service and safety plan within funds available under contract.

(b) While the department caseworker retains responsibility for case management, nothing in chapter 205, Laws of 2012 limits the ability of the department to continue to contract for the provision of case management services by child-placing agencies, behavioral rehabilitation services agencies, or other entities that provided case management under contract with the department prior to July 1, 2005.

~~((5))~~ (4) In conducting the procurement, the department shall actively consult with other state agencies with relevant expertise, such as the health care authority, and with philanthropic entities with expertise in performance-based contracting for child welfare services. The director of the office of financial management must approve the request for proposal prior to its issuance.

~~((6))~~ (5) The procurement process must be developed and implemented in a manner that complies with applicable provisions of intergovernmental agreements between the state of Washington and tribal governments and must provide an opportunity for tribal governments to contract for service delivery through network administrators.

~~((7))~~ (6) The procurement and resulting contracts must include, but are not limited to, the following standards and requirements:

(a) The use of family engagement approaches to successfully motivate families to engage in services and training of the network's contracted providers to apply such approaches;

(b) The use of parents and youth who are successful veterans of the child welfare system to act as mentors through activities that include, but are not limited to, helping families navigate the system, facilitating parent engagement, and minimizing distrust of the child welfare system;

(c) The establishment of qualifications for service providers participating in provider networks, such as appropriate licensure or certification, education, and accreditation by professional accrediting entities;

(d) Adequate provider capacity to meet the anticipated service needs in the network administrator's contracted service area. The network administrator must be able to demonstrate that its provider network is culturally competent and has adequate capacity to address disproportionality, including utilization of tribal and other ethnic providers capable of serving children and families of color or who need language-appropriate services;

(e) Fiscal solvency of network administrators and providers participating in the network;

(f) The use of evidence-based, research-based, and promising practices, where appropriate, including fidelity and quality assurance provisions;

(g) Network administrator quality assurance activities, including monitoring of the performance of providers in their provider network, with respect to meeting measurable service outcomes;

(h) Network administrator data reporting, including data on contracted provider performance and service outcomes; and

(i) Network administrator compliance with applicable provisions of intergovernmental agreements between the state of Washington and tribal governments and the federal and Washington state Indian child welfare act.

~~((8))~~ (7) As part of the procurement process under this section, the department shall issue the request for proposals or request for information no later than December 31, ~~((2012. The department shall notify the apparently successful bidders no later than June 30, 2013))~~ 2013, shall begin implementation of performance-based contracting no later than July 1, 2014, and shall fully implement performance-based contracting no later than July 1, 2015.

~~((9))~~ (8) Performance-based payment methodologies must be used in network administrator contracting. Performance measures should relate to successful engagement by a child or parent in services included in their case plan, and resulting improvement in identified problem behaviors and interactions. For the initial three-year period of implementation of performance-based contracting, the department may transfer financial risk for the provision of services to network administrators only to the limited extent necessary to implement a performance-based payment methodology, such as phased payment for services. However, the department may develop a shared savings methodology through which the network administrator will receive a defined share of any savings that result from improved performance. If the department receives a Title IV-E waiver, the shared savings methodology must be consistent with the terms of the waiver. If a shared savings methodology is adopted, the network administrator shall reinvest the savings in enhanced services to better meet the needs of the families and children they serve.

~~((40))~~ (9) The department must actively monitor network administrator compliance with the terms of contracts executed under this section.

~~((11))~~ (10) The use of performance-based contracts under this section must be done in a manner that does not adversely affect the state's ability to continue to obtain federal funding for child welfare-related functions currently performed by the state and with consideration of options to further maximize federal funding opportunities and increase flexibility in the use of such funds, including use for preventive and in-home child welfare services.

Sec. 4. RCW 74.13.360 and 2012 c 205 s 8 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) No later than December 30, ~~((2015))~~ 2016:

(a) In the demonstration sites selected under RCW 74.13.368(4)(a), child welfare services shall be provided by supervising agencies with whom the department has entered into performance-based contracts. Supervising agencies may enter into subcontracts with other licensed agencies; and

(b) Except as provided in subsection (3) of this section, and notwithstanding any law to the contrary, the department may not directly provide child welfare services to families and children provided child welfare services by supervising agencies in the demonstration sites selected under RCW 74.13.368(4)(a).

(2) No later than December 30, ~~((2015))~~ 2016, for families and children provided child welfare services by supervising agencies in the demonstration sites selected under RCW 74.13.368(4)(a), the department is responsible for only the following:

(b) Ensuring that the services are provided in accordance with federal law and the laws of this state, including the Indian child welfare act;

(c) Providing child protection functions and services, including intake and investigation of allegations of child abuse or neglect, emergency shelter care functions under RCW 13.34.050, and referrals to appropriate providers; and

(d) Issuing licenses pursuant to chapter 74.15 RCW.

(3) No later than December 30, ~~((2015))~~ 2016, for families and children provided child welfare services by supervising agencies in the demonstration sites selected under RCW 74.13.368(4)(a), the department may provide child welfare services only:

(a) For the limited purpose of establishing a control or comparison group as deemed necessary by the child welfare transformation design committee, with input from the Washington state institute for public policy, to implement the demonstration sites selected and defined pursuant to RCW 74.13.368(4)(a) in which the performance in achieving measurable outcomes will be compared and evaluated pursuant to RCW 74.13.370; or

(b) In an emergency or as a provider of last resort. The department shall adopt rules describing the circumstances under which the department may provide those services. For purposes of this section, "provider of last resort" means the department is unable to contract with a private agency to provide child welfare services in a particular geographic area or, after entering into a contract with a private agency, either the contractor or the department terminates the contract.

(4) For purposes of this chapter, on and after September 1, 2010, performance-based contracts shall be structured to hold the supervising agencies accountable for achieving the following goals in order of importance: Child safety; child permanency, including reunification; and child well-being.

(5) A federally recognized tribe located in this state may enter into a performance-based contract with the department to provide child welfare services to Indian children whether or not they reside on a reservation. Nothing in this section prohibits a federally recognized Indian tribe located in this state from providing child welfare services to its members or other Indian children pursuant to existing tribal law, regulation, or custom, or from directly entering into agreements for the provision of such services with the department, if the department continues to otherwise provide such services, or with federal agencies.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 5. RCW 74.13.368 (Performance-based contracts--Child welfare transformation design committee) and 2012 c 205 s 10, 2010 c 291 s 2, & 2009 c 520 s 8 are each suspended as of the effective date of this section until December 1, 2015."

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Murray: "Thank you Mr. President. Over the weekend somebody that many of us knew and worked with passed away and that was Robin Appleford. Robin had worked at OPR for the House, at OFM, she then went to work for Gary Locke when he was County Executive and then came back here as a lobbyist. She retired from lobbying several years ago. She's another example of somebody that we work with everyday whose worked both in the Legislature and then later worked in the private or the non-profit sector on the issues that we cared about. I also think of Greg Pierce, another example of somebody we worked with, who worked both in the House and Senate who we also lost this summer. So, our regards and our prayer and thoughts to her parents who lost their son, Robin's brother, six months earlier. Thank you Mr. President."

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Parlette: "Thank you Mr. President. I too will certainly miss Robin. I remember talking about working with dogs I believe, your dog training them out in the fields but also I would like to speak on behalf of another person we worked with, former Representative Tom Huff. I had the privilege of serving my first year in the House of Representatives under his leadership with the Appropriations Committee is what it was called then and he certainly did a good job of explaining the budget and later Co-Chaired that with Representative Helen Sommers when we had the 49/49 split. Both of those people that we have worked with will be truly missed and we certainly send our thoughts and prayers to all of their families. Thank you Senator Murray for beginning this conversation. Thank you very much."

MOTION

2013 REGULAR SESSION

Senator Litzow moved that the following committee striking amendment by the Committee on Ways & Means be not adopted:

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

"NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. A new section is added to chapter 43.215 RCW to read as follows:

The legislature finds that the first five years of a child's life establish the foundation for educational success. The legislature also finds that children who have high quality early learning opportunities from birth through age five are more likely to succeed throughout their K-12 education and beyond. The legislature further finds that the benefits of high quality early learning experiences are particularly significant for low-income parents and children, and provide an opportunity to narrow the opportunity gap in Washington's K-12 educational system. The legislature understands that early supports for high-risk parents of young children through home visiting services show a high return on investment due to significantly improved chances of better education, health, and life outcomes for children. The legislature further recognizes that, when parents work or go to school, high quality and full-day early learning opportunities should be available and accessible for their children. In order to improve education outcomes, particularly for low-income children, the legislature is committed to expanding high quality early learning opportunities and integrating currently disparate funding streams for all birth-to-five early learning services including, working connections child care and the early childhood education and assistance program, into a single high quality continuum of learning that provides essential services to low-income families and prepares all enrolled children for success in school. The legislature therefore intends to establish the early start program to provide a continuum of high quality and accountable early learning opportunities for Washington's parents and children.

Sec. 2. RCW 28A.150.220 and 2011 1st sp.s. c 27 s 1 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) In order for students to have the opportunity to develop the basic education knowledge and skills under RCW 28A.150.210, school districts must provide instruction of sufficient quantity and quality and give students the opportunity to complete graduation requirements that are intended to prepare them for postsecondary education, gainful employment, and citizenship. The program established under this section shall be the minimum instructional program of basic education offered by school districts.

(2) Each school district shall make available to students the following minimum instructional offering each school year:

(a) For students enrolled in grades one through twelve, at least a district-wide annual average of one thousand hours, which shall be increased to at least one thousand eighty instructional hours for students enrolled in each of grades seven through twelve and at least one thousand instructional hours for students in each of grades one through six according to an implementation schedule adopted by the legislature, but not before the 2014-15 school year; and

(b) For students enrolled in kindergarten, at least four hundred fifty instructional hours, which shall be increased to at least one thousand instructional hours according to the implementation schedule under RCW 28A.150.315.

(3) The instructional program of basic education provided by each school district shall include:

(a) Instruction in the essential academic learning requirements under RCW 28A.655.070;

(b) Instruction that provides students the opportunity to complete twenty-four credits for high school graduation, subject to a phased-in implementation of the twenty-four credits as established by the legislature. Course distribution requirements may be established by the state board of education under RCW 28A.230.090;

(c) If the essential academic learning requirements include a requirement of languages other than English, the requirement may be met by students receiving instruction in one or more American Indian languages;

(d) Supplemental instruction and services for underachieving students through the learning assistance program under RCW 28A.165.005 through 28A.165.065;

(e) Supplemental instruction and services for eligible and enrolled students whose primary language is other than English through the transitional bilingual instruction program under RCW 28A.180.010 through 28A.180.080;

(f) The opportunity for an appropriate education at public expense as defined by RCW 28A.155.020 for all eligible students with disabilities as defined in RCW 28A.155.020; and

(g) Programs for highly capable students under RCW 28A.185.010 through 28A.185.030.

(4) Nothing contained in this section shall be construed to require individual students to attend school for any particular number of hours per day or to take any particular courses.

(5) Each school district's kindergarten through twelfth grade basic educational program shall be accessible to all students who are five years of age, as provided by RCW 28A.225.160, and less than twenty-one years of age and shall consist of a minimum of one hundred eighty school days per school year in such grades as are conducted by a school district, and one hundred eighty half-days of instruction, or equivalent, in kindergarten, to be increased to a minimum of one hundred eighty school days per school year according to the implementation schedule under RCW 28A.150.315. However, schools administering the Washington kindergarten inventory of developing skills may use up to three school days at the beginning of the school year to meet with parents and families as required in the parent involvement component of the inventory. In addition, effective May 1, 1979, a school district may schedule the last five school days of the one hundred and eighty day school year for noninstructional purposes in the case of students who are graduating from high school, including, but not limited to, the observance of graduation and early release from school upon the request of a student, and all such students may be claimed as a full-time equivalent student to the extent they could otherwise have been so claimed for the purposes of RCW 28A.150.250 and 28A.150.260.

(6) Nothing in this section precludes a school district from enriching the instructional program of basic education, such as offering additional instruction or providing additional services, programs, or activities that the school district determines to be appropriate for the education of the school district's students.

(7) The state board of education shall adopt rules to implement and ensure compliance with the program requirements imposed by this section, RCW 28A.150.250 and 28A.150.260, and such related supplemental program approval requirements as the state board may establish.

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

The legislature finds that the first five years of a child's life establish the foundation for educational success. The legislature also finds that children who have high quality early learning opportunities from birth through age five are more likely to succeed throughout their K-12 education and beyond. The legislature further finds that the benefits of high quality early learning experiences are particularly significant for low-income parents and children, and provide an opportunity to narrow the opportunity gap in Washington's K-12 educational system. The legislature understands that early supports for high-risk parents of young children through home visiting services show a high return on investment due to significantly improved chances of better education, health, and life outcomes for children. The legislature further recognizes that, when parents work or go to school, high quality and full-day early learning opportunities should be available and accessible for their children. In order to improve education outcomes, particularly for low-income children, the legislature is committed to expanding high quality early learning opportunities and integrating currently disparate funding streams for all birth-to-five early learning services including, working connections child care and the early childhood education and assistance program, into a single high quality continuum of learning that provides essential services to low-income families and prepares all enrolled children for success in school. The legislature therefore intends to establish the early start program to provide a continuum of high quality and accountable early learning opportunities for Washington's parents and children.

The legislature also finds that children who have high quality early learning opportunities from birth through age five are more likely to succeed throughout their K-12 education and beyond. The legislature further finds that the benefits of high quality early learning experiences are particularly significant for low-income parents and children, and provide an opportunity to narrow the opportunity gap in Washington's K-12 educational system. The legislature further recognizes that, when parents work or go to school, high quality and full-day early learning opportunities should be available and accessible for their children. In order to improve education outcomes, particularly for low-income children, the legislature is committed to expanding high quality early learning opportunities and integrating currently disparate funding streams for all birth-to-five early learning services including, working connections

The legislature therefore intends to establish the early start program to provide a continuum of high quality and accountable early learning opportunities for Washington's parents and children.

MOTION

Senator Padden moved that the following committee striking amendment by the Committee on Ways & Means be adopted:

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

"NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. The legislature recognizes that persons convicted and imprisoned for crimes they did not commit have been uniquely victimized. Having suffered tremendous injustice by being stripped of their lives and liberty, they are forced to endure imprisonment and are later stigmatized as felons. A majority of those wrongly convicted in Washington state have no remedy available under the law for the destruction of their personal lives resulting from errors in our criminal justice system. The legislature intends to provide an avenue for those who have been wrongly convicted in Washington state to redress the lost years of their lives, and help to address the unique challenges faced by the wrongly convicted after exoneration.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. (1) Any person convicted in superior court and subsequently imprisoned for one or more felonies of which he or she is actually innocent may file a claim for compensation against the state.

2013 REGULAR SESSION

(2) For purposes of this chapter, a person is:

(a) "Actually innocent" of a felony if he or she did not engage in any illegal conduct alleged in the charging documents; and

(b) "Wrongly convicted" if he or she was charged, convicted, and imprisoned for one or more felonies of which he or she is actually innocent.

(3)(a) If the person entitled to file a claim under subsection (1) of this section is incapacitated and incapable of filing the claim, or if he or she is a minor, or is a nonresident of the state, the claim may be filed on behalf of the claimant by an authorized agent.

(b) A claim filed under this chapter survives to the personal representative of the claimant as provided in RCW 4.20.046.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. (1) All claims under this chapter must be filed in superior court. The venue for such actions is governed by RCW 4.12.020.

(2) Service of the summons and complaint is governed by RCW 4.28.080.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4. (1) In order to file an actionable claim for compensation under this chapter, the claimant must establish by documentary evidence that:

(a) The claimant has been convicted of one or more felonies in superior court and subsequently sentenced to a term of imprisonment, and has served all or part of the sentence;

(b)(i) The claimant is not currently incarcerated for any offense; and

(ii) During the period of confinement for which the claimant is seeking compensation, the claimant was not serving a term of imprisonment or a concurrent sentence for any crime other than the felony or felonies that are the basis for the claim;

(c)(i) The claimant has been pardoned on grounds consistent with innocence for the felony or felonies that are the basis for the claim; or

(ii) The claimant's judgment of conviction was reversed or vacated and the charging document dismissed on the basis of significant new exculpatory information or, if a new trial was ordered pursuant to the presentation of significant new exculpatory information, either the claimant was found not guilty at the new trial or the claimant was not retried and the charging document dismissed; and

(d) The claim is not time barred by section 9 of this act.

(2) In addition to the requirements in subsection (1) of this section, the claimant must state facts in sufficient detail for the finder of fact to determine that:

(a) The claimant did not engage in any illegal conduct alleged in the charging documents; and

(b) The claimant did not commit or suborn perjury, or fabricate evidence to cause or bring about the conviction. A guilty plea to a crime the claimant did not commit, or a confession that is later determined by a court to be false, does not automatically constitute perjury or fabricated evidence under this subsection.

(3) Convictions vacated, overturned, or subject to resentencing pursuant to In re: Personal Detention of Andress, 147 Wn.2d 602 (2002) may not serve as the basis for a claim under this chapter unless the claimant otherwise satisfies the qualifying criteria set forth in section 2 of this act and this section.

(4) The claimant must verify the claim unless he or she is incapacitated, in which case the personal representative or agent filing on behalf of the claimant must verify the claim.

(5) If the attorney general concedes that the claimant was wrongly convicted, the court must award compensation as provided in section 6 of this act.

(6)(a) If the attorney general does not concede that the claimant was wrongly convicted and the court finds after reading the claim that the claimant does not meet the filing criteria set forth in this section, it may dismiss the claim, either on its own motion or on the motion of the attorney general.

(b) If the court dismisses the claim, the court must set forth the reasons for its decision in written findings of fact and conclusions of law.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 5. Any party is entitled to the rights of appeal afforded parties in a civil action following a decision on such motions. In the case of dismissal of a claim, review of the superior court action is de novo.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 6. (1) In order to obtain a judgment in his or her favor, the claimant must show by clear and convincing evidence that:

(a) The claimant was convicted of one or more felonies in superior court and subsequently sentenced to a term of imprisonment, and has served all or any part of the sentence;

(b)(i) The claimant is not currently incarcerated for any offense; and

(ii) During the period of confinement for which the claimant is seeking compensation, the claimant was not serving a term of imprisonment or a concurrent sentence for any conviction other than those that are the basis for the claim;

(c)(i) The claimant has been pardoned on grounds consistent with innocence for the felony or felonies that are the basis for the claim; or

(ii) The claimant's judgment of conviction was reversed or vacated and the charging document dismissed on the basis of significant new exculpatory information or, if a new trial was ordered pursuant to the presentation of significant new exculpatory information, either the claimant was found not guilty at the new trial or the claimant was not retried and the charging document dismissed;

(d) The claimant did not engage in any illegal conduct alleged in the charging documents; and

(e) The claimant did not commit or suborn perjury, or fabricate evidence to cause or bring about his or her conviction. A guilty plea to a crime the claimant did not commit, or a confession that is later determined by a court to be false, does not automatically constitute perjury or fabricated evidence under this subsection.

(2) Any pardon or proclamation issued to the claimant must be certified by the officer having lawful custody of the pardon or proclamation, and be affixed with the seal of the office of the governor, or with the official certificate of such officer before it may be offered as evidence.

(3) In exercising its discretion regarding the weight and admissibility of evidence, the court must give due consideration to difficulties of proof caused by the passage of time or by release of evidence pursuant to a plea, the death or unavailability of witnesses, the destruction of evidence, or other factors not caused by the parties.

(4) The claimant may not be compensated for any period of time in which he or she was serving a term of imprisonment or a concurrent sentence for any conviction other than the felony or felonies that are the basis for the claim.

(5) If the jury or, in the case where the right to a jury is waived, the court finds by clear and convincing evidence that the claimant was wrongly convicted, the court must order the state to pay the actually innocent claimant the following compensation award, as adjusted for partial years served and to account for inflation from the effective date of this section:

(a) Fifty thousand dollars for each year of actual confinement including time spent awaiting trial and an additional fifty thousand dollars for each year served under a sentence of death pursuant to chapter 10.95 RCW;

(b) Twenty-five thousand dollars for each year served on parole, community custody, or as a registered sex offender pursuant only to the felony or felonies which are grounds for the claim;

(c) Compensation for child support payments owed by the claimant that became due and interest on child support arrearages that accrued while the claimant was in custody on the felony or felonies that are grounds for the compensation claim. The funds must be paid on the claimant's behalf in a lump sum payment to the department of social and health services for disbursement under Title 26 RCW;

(d) Reimbursement for all restitution, assessments, fees, court costs, and all other sums paid by the claimant as required by pretrial orders and the judgment and sentence; and

(e) Attorneys' fees for successfully bringing the wrongful conviction claim calculated at ten percent of the monetary damages awarded under subsection (5)(a) and (b) of this section, plus expenses. However, attorneys' fees and expenses may not exceed seventy-five thousand dollars. These fees may not be deducted from the compensation award due to the claimant and counsel is not entitled to receive additional fees from the client related to the claim. The court may not award any attorneys' fees to the claimant if the claimant fails to prove he or she was wrongfully convicted.

(6) The compensation award may not include any punitive damages.

(7) The court may not offset the compensation award by any expenses incurred by the state, the county, or any political subdivision of the state including, but not limited to, expenses incurred to secure the claimant's custody, or to feed, clothe, or provide medical services for the claimant. The court may not offset against the compensation award the value of any services or reduction in fees for services to be provided to the claimant as part of the award under this section.

(8) The compensation award is not income for tax purposes, except attorneys' fees awarded under subsection (5)(e) of this section.

(9)(a) Upon finding that the claimant was wrongfully convicted, the court must seal the claimant's record of conviction.

(b) Upon request of the claimant, the court may order the claimant's record of conviction vacated if the record has not already been vacated, expunged, or destroyed under court rules. The requirements for vacating records under RCW 9.94A.640 do not apply.

(10) Upon request of the claimant, the court must refer the claimant to the department of corrections or the department of social and health services for access to reentry services, if available, including but not limited to counseling on the ability to enter into a structured settlement agreement and where to obtain free or low-cost legal and financial advice if the claimant is not already represented, the community-based transition programs and long-term support programs for education, mentoring, life skills training, assessment, job skills development, mental health and substance abuse treatment.

(11) The claimant or the attorney general may initiate and agree to a claim with a structured settlement for the compensation awarded under subsection (5) of this section. During negotiation of the structured settlement agreement, the claimant must be given adequate time to consult with the legal and financial advisor of his or her choice. Any structured settlement agreement binds the parties with regard to all compensation awarded. A structured settlement agreement entered into under this section must be in writing and signed by the parties or their representatives and must clearly state that the parties understand and agree to the terms of the agreement.

(12) Before approving any structured settlement agreement, the court must ensure that the claimant has an adequate understanding of the agreement. The court may approve the agreement only if the judge finds that the agreement is in the best interest of the claimant and actuarially equivalent to the lump sum compensation award under subsection (5) of this section before taxation. When determining whether the agreement is in the best interest of the claimant, the court must consider the following factors:

(a) The age and life expectancy of the claimant;

(b) The marital or domestic partnership status of the claimant; and

(c) The number and age of the claimant's dependants.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 7. (1) On or after the effective date of this section, when a court grants judicial relief, such as reversal and vacation of a person's conviction, consistent with the criteria established in section 4 of this act, the court must provide to the claimant a copy of sections 2 through 12 of this act at the time the relief is granted.

(2) The clemency and pardons board or the indeterminate sentence review board, whichever is applicable, upon issuance of a pardon by the governor on grounds consistent with innocence on or after the effective date of this section, must provide a copy of sections 2 through 12 of this act to the individual pardoned.

(3) If an individual entitled to receive the information required under this section shows that he or she was not provided with the information, he or she has an additional twelve months, beyond the statute of limitations under section 9 of this act, to bring a claim under this chapter.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 8. (1) It is the intent of the legislature that the remedies and compensation provided under this chapter shall be exclusive to all other remedies at law and in equity against the state or any political subdivision of the state. As a requirement to making a request for relief under this chapter, the claimant waives any and all other remedies, causes of action, and other forms of relief or compensation against the state, any political subdivision of the state, and their officers, employees, agents, and volunteers related to the claimant's wrongful conviction and imprisonment. This waiver shall also include all state, common law, and federal claims for relief, including claims pursuant to 42 U.S.C. Sec. 1983. A wrongfully convicted person who elects not to pursue a claim for compensation pursuant to this chapter shall not be precluded from seeking relief through any other existing remedy. The claimant must execute a legal release prior to the payment of any compensation under this chapter. If the release is held invalid for any reason and the claimant is awarded compensation under this chapter and receives a tort award related to his or her wrongful conviction and incarceration, the claimant must reimburse the state for the lesser of:

(a) The amount of the compensation award, excluding the portion awarded pursuant to section 6(5) (c) through (e) of this act; or

(b) The amount received by the claimant under the tort award.

(2) A release dismissal agreement, plea agreement, or any similar agreement whereby a prosecutor's office or an agent acting on its behalf agrees to take or refrain from certain action if the accused individual agrees to forgo legal action against the county, the state of Washington, or any political subdivision, is admissible and should be evaluated in light of all the evidence. However, any such agreement is not dispositive of the question of whether the claimant was wrongfully convicted or entitled to compensation under this chapter.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 9. Except as provided in section 7 of this act, an action for compensation under this chapter must be commenced within three years after the grant of a pardon, the grant of judicial relief and satisfaction of other conditions described in section 2 of this act, or release from custody, whichever is later. However, any action by the state challenging or appealing the grant of judicial relief or release from custody tolls the three-year period. Any persons meeting the criteria set forth in section 2 of this act who was wrongly convicted before the effective date of this section may commence an action under this chapter within three years after the effective date of this section.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 10. All payments by the state under this chapter shall be paid from the liability account established under RCW 4.92.130.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 11. A new section is added to chapter 28B.15 RCW to read as follows:

(1) Subject to the conditions in subsection (2) of this section and the limitations in RCW 28B.15.910, the governing boards of the state universities, the regional universities, The Evergreen State College, and the community colleges, must waive all tuition and fees for the following persons:

(a) A wrongly convicted person; and

(b) Any child or stepchild of a wrongly convicted person who was born or became the stepchild of, or was adopted by, the wrongly convicted person before compensation is awarded under section 6 of this act.

(2) The following conditions apply to waivers under subsection (1) of this section:

(a) A wrongly convicted person must be a Washington domiciliary to be eligible for the tuition waiver.

(b) A child must be a Washington domiciliary ages seventeen through twenty-six years to be eligible for the tuition waiver. A child's marital status does not affect eligibility.

(c) Each recipient's continued participation is subject to the school's satisfactory progress policy.

(d) Tuition waivers for graduate students are not required for those who qualify under subsection (1) of this section but are encouraged.

(e) Recipients who receive a waiver under subsection (1) of this section may attend full time or part time. Total credits earned using the waiver may not exceed two hundred quarter credits, or the equivalent of semester credits.

(3) Private vocational schools and private higher education institutions are encouraged to provide waivers consistent with the terms of this section.

(4) For the purposes of this section:

(a) "Child" means a biological child, stepchild, or adopted child who was born of, became the stepchild of, or was adopted by a wrongly convicted person before compensation is awarded under section 6 of this act.

(b) "Fees" includes all assessments for costs incurred as a condition to a student's full participation in coursework and related activities at an institution of higher education.

(c) "Washington domiciliary" means a person whose true, fixed, and permanent house and place of habitation is the state of Washington. In ascertaining whether a wrongly convicted person or child is domiciled in the state of Washington, public institutions of higher education must, to the fullest extent possible, rely upon the standards provided in RCW 28B.15.013.

(d) "Wrongly convicted person" means a Washington domiciliary who was awarded damages under section 6 of this act.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 12. A new section is added to chapter 72.09 RCW to read as follows:

When a court refers a person to the department under section 6 of this act as part of the person's award in a wrongful conviction claim, the department must provide reasonable access to existing reentry programs and services. Nothing in this section requires the department to establish new reentry programs or services.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 13. If any provision of this act or its application to any person or circumstance is held invalid, the remainder of the act or the application of the provision to other persons or circumstances is not affected.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 14. Sections 1 through 10 of this act constitute a new chapter in Title 4 RCW."

MOTION

Senator Hargrove moved that the following amendment by Senators Hargrove and Padden to the committee striking amendment be adopted:

On page 10, after line 5 of the amendment, insert the following:

"Sec. 13. RCW 4.92.130 and 2011 1st sp.s. c 43 s 513 are each amended to read as follows:

A liability account in the custody of the treasurer is hereby created as a nonappropriated account to be used solely and exclusively for the payment of liability settlements and judgments against the state under 42 U.S.C. Sec. 1981 et seq. or for the tortious conduct of its officers, employees, and volunteers and all related legal defense costs.

(1) The purpose of the liability account is to: (a) Expediently pay legal liabilities and defense costs of the state resulting from tortious conduct; (b) promote risk control through a cost allocation system which recognizes agency loss experience, levels of self-retention, and levels of risk exposure, including the payment of compensation awarded by a court under section 6 of this act; and (c) establish an actuarially sound system to pay incurred losses, within defined limits.

(2) The liability account shall be used to pay claims for injury and property damages and legal defense costs exclusive of agency-retained expenses otherwise budgeted.

(3) No money shall be paid from the liability account, except for defense costs, unless all proceeds available to the claimant from any valid and collectible liability insurance shall have been exhausted and unless:

(a) The claim shall have been reduced to final judgment in a court of competent jurisdiction; or

(b) The claim has been approved for payment.

(4) The liability account shall be financed through annual premiums assessed to state agencies, based on sound actuarial principles, and shall be for liability coverage in excess of agency-budgeted self-retention levels.

(5) Annual premium levels shall be determined by the risk manager. An actuarial study shall be conducted to assist in determining the appropriate level of funding.

(6) Disbursements for claims from the liability account shall be made to the claimant, or to the clerk of the court for judgments, upon written request to the state treasurer from the risk manager.

(7) The director may direct agencies to transfer moneys from other funds and accounts to the liability account if premiums are delinquent.

(8) The liability account shall not exceed fifty percent of the actuarial value of the outstanding liability as determined annually by the office of risk management. If the account exceeds the maximum amount specified in this section, premiums may be adjusted by the office of risk management in order to maintain the account balance at the maximum limits. If, after adjustment of premiums, the account balance remains above the limits specified, the excess amount shall be prorated back to the appropriate funds.

(9) The payment of compensation for wrongful conviction awarded by a court under section 6 of this act does not constitute a finding that the wrongful conviction resulted from tortious conduct by the officers or employees of the state or the political subdivisions, municipal corporations, and quasi-municipal corporations of the state."

Modifying who is authorized to redeem an impounded vehicle.

MOTION

Senator Nelson moved that the following striking amendment by Senators Nelson and Benton be adopted:

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

(1)(a) Vehicles or other items of personal property registered or titled with the department that are impounded by registered tow truck operators pursuant to RCW 46.55.080, 46.55.085, 46.55.113, or 9A.88.140 may be redeemed only ~~((under the following circumstances))~~ by the following persons or entities:

~~((a) Only)~~ (i) The legal owner((s));

(ii) The registered owner((s));

(iii) A person authorized in writing by the registered owner ~~((of the vehicle's insurer,));~~

(iv) The vehicle's insurer or a vendor working on behalf of the vehicle's insurer;

(v) A third-party insurer that has a duty to repair or replace the vehicle, has obtained consent from the registered owner or the owner's agent to move the vehicle, and has documented that consent in the insurer's claim file, or a vendor working on behalf of a third-party insurer that has received such consent; provided, however, that at all times the registered owner must be granted access to the vehicle. For the purposes of this subsection, "owner's agent" means the legal owner of the vehicle, a driver in possession of the vehicle with the registered owner's permission, or an adult member of the registered owner's family;

(vi) A person who is determined and verified by the operator to have the permission of the registered owner of the vehicle or other item of personal property registered or titled with the department((;

(vii) A person who has purchased a vehicle or item of personal property registered or titled with the department from the registered owner who produces proof of ownership or written authorization and signs a receipt therefor~~((, may redeem an impounded vehicle or items of personal property registered or titled with the department)).~~

(b) In addition, a vehicle impounded because the operator is in violation of RCW 46.20.342(1)(c) shall not be released until a person eligible to redeem it under (a) of this subsection ~~((1)(a))~~ satisfies the requirements of ~~((e))~~ (f) of this subsection, including paying all towing, removal, and storage fees, notwithstanding the fact that the hold was ordered by a government agency. If the department's records show that the operator has been convicted of a violation of RCW 46.20.342 or a similar local ordinance within the past five years, the vehicle may be held for up to thirty days at the written direction of the agency ordering the vehicle impounded. A vehicle impounded because the operator is arrested for a violation of RCW 46.20.342 may be released only pursuant to a written order from the agency that ordered the vehicle impounded or from the court having jurisdiction. An agency shall issue a written order to release pursuant to a provision of an applicable state agency rule or local ordinance authorizing release on the basis of the following:

(i) Economic or personal hardship to the spouse of the operator, taking into consideration public safety factors, including the operator's criminal history and driving record; or

(ii) The owner of the vehicle was not the driver, the owner did not know that the driver's license was suspended or revoked, and the owner has not received a prior release under this subsection or RCW 46.55.113(3).

In order to avoid discriminatory application, other than for the reasons for release set forth in ~~((a))~~ (b)(i) and (ii) of this subsection, an agency shall, under a provision of an applicable state agency rule or local ordinance, deny release in all other circumstances without discretion.

If a vehicle is impounded because the operator is in violation of RCW 46.20.342(1) (a) or (b), the vehicle may be held for up to thirty days at the written direction of the agency ordering the vehicle impounded. However, if the department's records show that the operator has been convicted of a violation of RCW 46.20.342(1) (a) or (b) or a similar local ordinance within the past five years, the vehicle may be held at the written direction of the agency ordering the vehicle impounded for up to sixty days, and for up to ninety days if the operator has two or more such prior offenses. If a vehicle is impounded because the operator is arrested for a violation of RCW 46.20.342, the vehicle may not be released until a person eligible to redeem it under (a) of this subsection ~~((1)(a))~~ satisfies the requirements of ~~((e))~~ (f) of this subsection, including paying all towing, removal, and storage fees, notwithstanding the fact that the hold was ordered by a government agency.

~~((b))~~ (c) If the vehicle is directed to be held for a suspended license impound, a person who desires to redeem the vehicle at the end of the period of impound shall within five days of the impound at the request of the tow truck operator pay a security deposit to the tow truck operator of not more than one-half of the applicable impound storage rate for each day of the proposed suspended license impound. The tow truck operator shall credit this amount against the final bill for removal, towing, and storage upon redemption. The tow truck operator may accept other sufficient security in lieu of the security deposit. If the person desiring to redeem the vehicle does not pay the security deposit or provide other security acceptable to the tow truck operator, the tow truck operator may process and sell at auction the vehicle as an abandoned vehicle within the normal time limits set out in RCW 46.55.130(1). The security deposit required by this section may be paid and must be accepted at any time up to twenty-four hours before the beginning of the auction to sell the vehicle as abandoned. The registered owner is not eligible to purchase the vehicle at the auction, and the tow truck operator shall sell the vehicle to the highest bidder who is not the registered owner.

~~((e))~~ (d) Notwithstanding ~~((b))~~ (c) of this subsection, a rental car business may immediately redeem a rental vehicle it owns by payment of the costs of removal, towing, and storage, whereupon the vehicle will not be held for a suspended license impound.

~~((d))~~ (e) Notwithstanding ~~((b))~~ (c) of this subsection, a motor vehicle dealer or lender with a perfected security interest in the vehicle may redeem or lawfully repossess a vehicle immediately by payment of the costs of removal, towing, and storage, whereupon the vehicle will not be held for a suspended license impound. A motor vehicle dealer or lender with a perfected security interest in the vehicle may not knowingly and intentionally engage in collusion with a registered owner to repossess and then return or resell a vehicle to the registered owner in an attempt to avoid a suspended license impound. However, this provision does not preclude a vehicle dealer or a lender with a perfected security interest in the vehicle from repossessing the vehicle and then selling, leasing, or otherwise disposing of it in accordance with chapter 62A.9A RCW, including providing redemption rights to the debtor under RCW 62A.9A-623. If the debtor is the registered owner of the vehicle, the debtor's right to redeem the vehicle under chapter 62A.9A RCW is conditioned upon the debtor obtaining and providing proof from the impounding authority or court having jurisdiction that any fines, penalties, and forfeitures owed by the registered owner, as a result of the suspended license impound, have been paid, and proof of the payment must be tendered to the vehicle dealer or lender at the time the debtor tenders all other obligations required to redeem the vehicle. Vehicle dealers or lenders are not liable for damages if they rely in good faith on an order from the impounding agency or a court in releasing a vehicle held under a suspended license impound.

~~((e))~~ (f) The vehicle or other item of personal property registered or titled with the department shall be released upon the presentation to any person having custody of the vehicle of commercially reasonable tender sufficient to cover the costs of towing, storage, or other services rendered during the course of towing, removing, impounding, or storing any such vehicle, with credit being given for the amount of any security deposit paid under ~~((b))~~ (c) of this subsection. In addition, if a vehicle is impounded because the operator was arrested for a violation of RCW 46.20.342 or 46.20.345 and was being operated by the registered owner when it was impounded under local ordinance or agency rule, it must not be released to any person until the registered owner establishes with the agency that ordered the vehicle impounded or the court having jurisdiction that any penalties, fines, or forfeitures owed by him or her have been satisfied. Registered tow truck operators are not liable for damages if they rely in good faith on an order from the impounding agency or a court in releasing a vehicle held under a suspended license impound. Commercially reasonable tender shall include, without limitation, cash, major bank credit cards issued by financial institutions, or personal checks drawn on Washington state branches of financial institutions if accompanied by two pieces of valid identification, one of which may be required by the operator to have a photograph. If the towing firm cannot determine through the customer's bank or a check verification service that the presented check would be paid by the bank or guaranteed by the service, the towing firm may refuse to accept the check. Any person who stops payment on a personal check or credit card, or does not make restitution within ten days from the date a check becomes insufficient due to lack of funds, to a towing firm that has provided a service pursuant to this section or in any other manner defrauds the towing firm in connection with services rendered pursuant to this section shall be liable for damages in the amount of twice the towing and storage fees, plus costs and reasonable attorney's fees.

(2)(a) The registered tow truck operator shall give to each person who seeks to redeem an impounded vehicle, or item of personal property registered or titled with the department, written notice of the right of redemption and opportunity for a hearing, which notice shall be accompanied by a form to be used for requesting a hearing, the name of the person or agency authorizing the impound, and a copy of the towing and storage invoice. The registered tow truck operator shall maintain a record evidenced by the redeeming person's signature that such notification was provided.

(b) Any person seeking to redeem an impounded vehicle under this section has a right to a hearing in the district or municipal court for the jurisdiction in which the vehicle was impounded to contest the validity of the impoundment or the amount of towing and storage charges. The district court has jurisdiction to determine the issues involving all impoundments including those authorized by the state or its agents. The municipal court has jurisdiction to determine the issues involving impoundments authorized by agents of the municipality. Any request for a hearing shall be made in writing on the form provided for that purpose and must be received by the appropriate court within ten days of the date the opportunity was provided for in ~~((subsection (2)))~~ (a) of this subsection and more than five days before the date of the auction. At the time of the filing of the hearing request, the petitioner shall pay to the court clerk a filing fee in the same amount required for the filing of a suit in district court. If the hearing request is not received by the court within the ten-day period, the right to a hearing is waived and the registered owner is liable for any towing, storage, or other impoundment charges permitted under this chapter. Upon receipt of a timely hearing request, the court shall proceed to hear and determine the validity of the impoundment.

(3)(a) The court, within five days after the request for a hearing, shall notify the registered tow truck operator, the person requesting the hearing if not the owner, the registered and legal owners of the vehicle or other item of personal property registered or titled with the department, and the person or agency authorizing the impound in writing of the hearing date and time.

(b) At the hearing, the person or persons requesting the hearing may produce any relevant evidence to show that the impoundment, towing, or storage fees charged were not proper. The court may consider a written report made under oath by the officer who authorized the impoundment in lieu of the officer's personal appearance at the hearing.

(c) At the conclusion of the hearing, the court shall determine whether the impoundment was proper, whether the towing or storage fees charged were in compliance with the posted rates, and who is responsible for payment of the fees. The court may not adjust fees or charges that are in compliance with the posted or contracted rates.

(d) If the impoundment is found proper, the impoundment, towing, and storage fees as permitted under this chapter together with court costs shall be assessed against the person or persons requesting the hearing, unless the operator did not have a signed and valid impoundment authorization from a private property owner or an authorized agent.

(e) If the impoundment is determined to be in violation of this chapter, then the registered and legal owners of the vehicle or other item of personal property registered or titled with the department shall bear no impoundment, towing, or storage fees, and any security shall be returned or discharged as appropriate, and the person or agency who authorized the impoundment shall be liable for any towing, storage, or other impoundment fees permitted under this chapter. The court shall enter judgment in favor of the registered tow truck operator against the person or agency authorizing the impound for the impoundment, towing, and storage fees paid. In addition, the court shall enter judgment in favor of the

"Sec. 1. RCW 48.43.715 and 2012 c 87 s 13 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) Consistent with federal law, the commissioner, in consultation with the board and the health care authority, shall, by rule, select the largest small group plan in the state by enrollment as the benchmark plan for the individual and small group market for purposes of establishing the essential health benefits in Washington state under P.L. 111-148 of 2010, as amended.

(2) If the essential health benefits benchmark plan for the individual and small group market does not include all of the ten benefit categories specified by section 1302 of P.L. 111-148, as amended, the commissioner, in consultation with the board and the health care authority, shall, by rule, supplement the benchmark plan benefits as needed to meet the minimum requirements of section 1302.

(3) A health plan required to offer the essential health benefits, other than a health plan offered through the federal basic health program or medicaid, under P.L. 111-148 of 2010, as amended, may not be offered in the state unless the commissioner finds that it is substantially equal to the benchmark plan. When making this determination, the commissioner (~~must~~):

(a) Must ensure that the plan covers the ten essential health benefits categories specified in section 1302 of P.L. 111-148 of 2010, as amended; (~~and~~)

(b) May consider whether the health plan has a benefit design that would create a risk of biased selection based on health status and whether the health plan contains meaningful scope and level of benefits in each of the ten essential health benefit categories specified by section 1302 of P.L. 111-148 of 2010, as amended;

(c) Notwithstanding the foregoing, for benefit years beginning January 1, 2015, and only to the extent permitted by federal law and guidance, must establish by rule the review and approval requirements and procedures for pediatric oral services when offered in stand-alone dental plans in the nongrandfathered individual and small group markets outside of the exchange; and

(d) Unless prohibited by federal law and guidance, must allow health carriers to also offer pediatric oral services within the health benefit plan in the nongrandfathered individual and small group markets outside of the exchange.

(4) Beginning December 15, 2012, and every year thereafter, the commissioner shall submit to the legislature a list of state-mandated health benefits, the enforcement of which will result in federally imposed costs to the state related to the plans sold through the exchange because the benefits are not included in the essential health benefits designated under federal law. The list must include the anticipated costs to the state of each state-mandated health benefit on the list and any statutory changes needed if funds are not appropriated to defray the state costs for the listed mandate. The commissioner may enforce a mandate on the list for the entire market only if funds are appropriated in an omnibus appropriations act specifically to pay the state portion of the identified costs.

2013 REGULAR SESSION

Sec. 2. RCW 48.46.243 and 2008 c 217 s 56 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) Subject to subsection (2) of this section, every contract between a health maintenance organization and its participating providers of health care services shall be in writing and shall set forth that in the event the health maintenance organization fails to pay for health care services as set forth in the agreement, the enrolled participant shall not be liable to the provider for any sums owed by the health maintenance organization. Every such contract shall provide that this requirement shall survive termination of the contract.

(2) The provisions of subsection (1) of this section shall not apply:

(a) To emergency care from a provider who is not a participating provider(§);

(b) To out-of-area services;

(c) To the delivery of covered pediatric oral services that are substantially equal to the essential health benefits benchmark plan; or(§)

(d) In exceptional situations approved in advance by the commissioner, if the health maintenance organization is unable to negotiate reasonable and cost-effective participating provider contracts.

(3)(a) Each participating provider contract form shall be filed with the commissioner fifteen days before it is used.

(b) Any contract form not affirmatively disapproved within fifteen days of filing shall be deemed approved, except that the commissioner may extend the approval period an additional fifteen days upon giving notice before the expiration of the initial fifteen-day period. The commissioner may approve such a contract form for immediate use at any time. Approval may be subsequently withdrawn for cause.

(c) Subject to the right of the health maintenance organization to demand and receive a hearing under chapters 48.04 and 34.05 RCW, the commissioner may disapprove such a contract form if it is in any respect in violation of this chapter or if it fails to conform to minimum provisions or standards required by the commissioner by rule under chapter 34.05 RCW.

(4) No participating provider, or insurance producer, trustee, or assignee thereof, may maintain an action against an enrolled participant to collect sums owed by the health maintenance organization.

Sec. 3. RCW 48.14.0201 and 2011 c 47 s 8 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) As used in this section, "taxpayer" means a health maintenance organization as defined in RCW 48.46.020, a health care service contractor as defined in (~~RCW 48.44.010~~) chapter 48.44 RCW, or a self-funded multiple employer welfare arrangement as defined in RCW 48.125.010.

(2) Each taxpayer must pay a tax on or before the first day of March of each year to the state treasurer through the insurance commissioner's office. The tax must be equal to the total amount of all premiums and prepayments for health care services collected or received by the taxpayer under RCW 48.14.090 during the preceding calendar year multiplied by the rate of two percent. For tax purposes, the reporting of premiums and prepayments must be on a written basis or on a paid-for basis consistent with the basis required by the annual statement.

(3) Taxpayers must prepay their tax obligations under this section. The minimum amount of the prepayments is the percentages of the taxpayer's tax obligation for the preceding calendar year recomputed using the rate in effect for the current year. For the prepayment of taxes due during the first calendar year, the minimum amount of the prepayments is the percentages of the taxpayer's tax obligation that would have been due had the tax been in effect during the previous calendar year. The tax prepayments must be paid to the state treasurer through the commissioner's office by the due dates and in the following amounts:

(a) On or before June 15, forty-five percent;

(b) On or before September 15, twenty-five percent;

(c) On or before December 15, twenty-five percent.

(4) For good cause demonstrated in writing, the commissioner may approve an amount smaller than the preceding calendar year's tax obligation as recomputed for calculating the health maintenance organization's, health care service contractor's, self-funded multiple employer welfare arrangement's, or certified health plan's prepayment obligations for the current tax year.

(5) Moneys collected under this section are deposited in the general fund.

(6) The taxes imposed in this section do not apply to:

(a) Amounts received by any taxpayer from the United States or any instrumentality thereof as prepayments for health care services provided under Title XVIII (medicare) of the federal social security act.

(b) Amounts received by any taxpayer from the state of Washington as prepayments for health care services provided under:

(i) The medical care services program as provided in RCW 74.09.035; or

(ii) The Washington basic health plan on behalf of subsidized enrollees as provided in chapter 70.47 RCW.

(c) Amounts received by any health care service contractor(§) as defined in (~~RCW 48.44.010~~) chapter 48.44 RCW, or any health maintenance organization as defined in chapter 48.46 RCW, as prepayments for health care services included within the definition of practice of dentistry under RCW 18.32.020, except amounts received for pediatric oral services that qualify as coverage for the minimum essential coverage requirement under P.L. 111-148 (2010), as amended.

(d) Participant contributions to self-funded multiple employer welfare arrangements that are not taxable in this state.

(7) Beginning January 1, 2000, the state preempts the field of imposing excise or privilege taxes upon taxpayers and no county, city, town, or other municipal subdivision has the right to impose any such taxes upon such taxpayers. This subsection is limited to premiums and payments for health benefit plans offered by health care service contractors under chapter 48.44 RCW, health maintenance organizations under chapter 48.46 RCW, and self-funded multiple employer welfare arrangements as defined in RCW 48.125.010. The preemption authorized by this subsection must not impair the ability of a county, city, town, or other municipal subdivision to impose excise or privilege taxes upon the health care services directly delivered by the employees of a health maintenance organization under chapter 48.46 RCW.

(8)(a) The taxes imposed by this section apply to a self-funded multiple employer welfare arrangement only in the event that they are not preempted by the employee retirement income security act of 1974, as amended, 29 U.S.C. Sec. 1001 et seq. The arrangements and the commissioner must initially request an advisory opinion from the United States department of labor or obtain a declaratory ruling from a federal court on the legality of imposing state premium taxes on these arrangements. Once the legality of the taxes has been determined, the multiple employer welfare arrangement certified by the insurance commissioner must begin payment of these taxes.

(b) If there has not been a final determination of the legality of these taxes, then beginning on the earlier of (i) the date the fourth multiple employer welfare arrangement has been certified by the insurance commissioner, or (ii) April 1, 2006, the arrangement must deposit the taxes imposed by this section into an interest bearing escrow account maintained by the arrangement. Upon a final determination that the taxes are not preempted by the employee retirement income security act of 1974, as amended, 29 U.S.C. Sec. 1001 et seq., all funds in the interest bearing escrow account must be transferred to the state treasurer.

(9) The effect of transferring contracts for health care services from one taxpayer to another taxpayer is to transfer the tax prepayment obligation with respect to the contracts.

(10) On or before June 1st of each year, the commissioner must notify each taxpayer required to make prepayments in that year of the amount of each prepayment and must provide remittance forms to be used by the taxpayer. However, a taxpayer's responsibility to make prepayments is not affected by failure of the commissioner to send, or the taxpayer to receive, the notice or forms.

Sec. 4. RCW 48.14.020 and 2009 c 161 s 3 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) Subject to other provisions of this chapter, each authorized insurer except title insurers shall on or before the first day of March of each year pay to the state treasurer through the commissioner's office a tax on premiums. Except as provided in subsection ((2)) (3) of this section, such tax shall be in the amount of two percent of all premiums, excluding amounts returned to or the amount of reductions in premiums allowed to holders of industrial life policies for payment of premiums directly to an office of the insurer, collected or received by the insurer under RCW 48.14.090 during the preceding calendar year other than ocean marine and foreign trade insurances, after deducting premiums paid to policyholders as returned premiums, upon risks or property resident, situated, or to be performed in this state. For tax purposes, the reporting of premiums shall be on a written basis or on a paid-for basis consistent with the basis required by the annual statement. For the purposes of this section the consideration received by an insurer for the granting of an annuity shall not be deemed to be a premium.

(2) The taxes imposed in this section do not apply to amounts received by any life and disability insurer for health care services included within the definition of practice of dentistry under RCW 18.32.020 except amounts received for pediatric oral services that qualify as coverage for the minimum essential coverage requirement under P.L. 111-148 (2010), as amended.

(3) In the case of insurers which require the payment by their policyholders at the inception of their policies of the entire premium thereon in the form of premiums or premium deposits which are the same in amount, based on the character of the risks, regardless of the length of term for which such policies are written, such tax shall be in the amount of two percent of the gross amount of such premiums and premium deposits upon policies on risks resident, located, or to be performed in this state, in force as of the thirty-first day of December next preceding, less the unused or unabsorbed portion of such premiums and premium deposits computed at the average rate thereof actually paid or credited to policyholders or applied in part payment of any renewal premiums or premium deposits on one-year policies expiring during such year.

((3)) (4) Each authorized insurer shall with respect to all ocean marine and foreign trade insurance contracts written within this state during the preceding calendar year, on or before the first day of March of each year pay to the state treasurer through the commissioner's office a tax of ninety-five one-hundredths of one percent on its gross underwriting profit. Such gross underwriting profit shall be ascertained by deducting from the net premiums (i.e., gross premiums less all return premiums and premiums for reinsurance) on such ocean marine and foreign trade insurance contracts the net losses paid (i.e., gross losses paid less salvage and recoveries on reinsurance ceded) during such calendar year under such contracts. In the case of insurers issuing participating contracts, such gross underwriting profit shall not include, for computation of the tax prescribed by this subsection, the amounts refunded, or paid as participation dividends, by such insurers to the holders of such contracts.

((4)) (5) The state does hereby preempt the field of imposing excise or privilege taxes upon insurers or their appointed insurance producers, other than title insurers, and no county, city, town or other municipal subdivision shall have the right to impose any such taxes upon such insurers or these insurance producers.

((5)) (6) If an authorized insurer collects or receives any such premiums on account of policies in force in this state which were originally issued by another insurer and which other insurer is not authorized to transact insurance in this state on its own account, such collecting insurer shall be liable for and shall pay the tax on such premiums."

The President declared the question before the Senate to be the adoption of the committee striking amendment by the Committee on Ways & Means to Engrossed Substitute House Bill No. 1846.

The motion by Senator Becker carried and the committee striking amendment was adopted by voice vote.
