

MEMBER TENURE IN THE SENATE AND HOUSE

The Senate has 49 members and there are 98 representatives in the House. Districts from which legislators are elected are subject to redistricting and reapportionment on the basis of population after each decennial census.

State Representatives are elected to a two-year term and all Representatives stand for re-election at the general election held in even-numbered years. Members of the State Senate are elected for four-year staggered terms with about one half of the membership being up for reelection at general election in even-numbered years. As provided by the State Constitution, each house is the judge of the election and qualifications of its own members.
