JOURNAL OF THE SENATE
STATE OF WASHINGTON
1993 REGULAR SESSION
FIFTY-THIRD LEGISLATURE

FIRST DAY

NOON SESSION

Senate Chamber, Olympia, Monday, January 11, 1993

Pursuant to law, the Senate of the 1993 Regular Session of the Fifty-third Legislature of the state of Washington was called to order at 12:00 noon by Lieutenant Governor Joel Pritchard, President of the Senate.

The Sergeant at Arms Color Guard, consisting of Pages Adam Magnoni and Christian Mattson, presented the Colors. Reverend Thomas Belleque, pastor of Saint Andrews Catholic Church of Sumner, and a guest of Senator Marcus Gaspard, offered the prayer.

MOMENT OF SILENCE

At the request of the Chaplain, Reverend Thomas Belleque, the members of the Senate stood in memory of Senator A. L. "Slim" Rasmussen who died January 6, 1993.

The President lead the Senate in the Pledge of Allegiance.

PRESIDENT WELCOMES SENATORS TO FIFTY-THIRD LEGISLATURE

President Pritchard: "The President would like to welcome all of you here. This will be a fascinating session and I'm sure you are already keenly aware of that. Each person in this body represents about a hundred thousand people. That is a great responsibility which I know you are aware of. We have a lot of work to do and if we don't get at it, we'll be celebrating the Fourth of July still in this same chamber. I know none of us want that.

"I pledge to you that the Chair will be fair to both the majority and the minority. We want everyone to have their say; we want everything to be out here, so it can be worked on. We want to be sure that the process is as open as is possible and reflects the very best in our society. The challenges are great; the needs are great and I know that you people are up to the task. We will proceed with this session of the Senate, one in which I hope when we look back years later, we can say, 'I was a part of that session which accomplished so much.'"

APPOINTMENT OF SPECIAL COMMITTEE

The President of the Senate appointed a committee of honor consisting of Senators Owen and Amondson to escort the 1993 Lakefair Queen, Jannette Wise, to the Senate Rostrum.

The President introduced Queen Jannette Wise and the visiting dignitaries representing the Lakefair celebration, who were seated in the gallery.

With permission of the Senate, business was suspended for Queen Jannette to welcome the Senators to Olympia.

The committee of honored escorted Queen Jannette Wise from the Senate Chamber.

REMARKS BY SENATOR GASPARD

Senator Gaspard: "Mr. President and members of the Senate. I wish to place in nomination the name of the Senator from the twenty-seventh legislative district, Senator Lorraine Wojahn, as the President Pro Tempore of the Senate.

"She is a long-time friend and colleague and it gives me great honor to place her name in nomination as a presiding President Pro Tempore of our Senate--Senator Lorraine Wojahn. We have known her for a number of years and we have known that long before it became politically fashionable, Senator Wojahn was in the forefront of a number of issues and the forefront of consumer's rights and women's rights. She played a major role in the successful battle to add the Equal Rights Amendment to the State Constitution. Senator Wojahn, also, had a strong hand in making community property and credit laws more fair for all women across this state.

"She has many other interests and those honors and recognitions that she has received over the years just tell part of the story. She has received several honors for her work as the prime sponsor of the legislation creating the State Department of Health, from both medical and hospital groups alike. In addition, The Home Care Association has named her Legislator of the Year. She has also been recognized by the Developmental Disabilities Planning Council, The Washington Coalition for the Homeless and organizations representing displaced homemakers.

REMARKS BY PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE WOJAHN

President Pro Tempore Wojahn: "First, I want to thank all of you for not laughing when I took a flying leap off the podium a few minutes ago. I didn't expect that there were stairs there. I should have remembered after twenty-four years that we have stairs around here.

"As the new year and the new session begins, I think it is going to be an exciting time for all of us. I hope that I can work--and plan to work--with each of you individually and collectively to make this coming session a success and to face the problems that the state of Washington faces with vigor and with enthusiasm and support.

"It is fun to look out over the Senate now, because I see a lot of members of the distaff side. I didn't think this would ever happen, but it is happening and I congratulate you--all who won election--and especially the women. I am delighted to see all of you out there and hope that we can work successfully together. I will do my part. Thank you very much."

ELECTION OF VICE PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE

REMARKS BY SENATOR PELZ

Senator Pelz: "Mr. President, I nominate Senator Al Williams for the office of Vice President Pro Tempore.

"Mr. President and members of the Senate, in rising to nominate Senator Williams to this office, I rise to nominate a friend of mine for many years. I had the honor of serving as Al's secretary in 1976 and we have been close friends ever since. Al Williams has served the thirty-second district of Seattle for twenty-two years in the State Legislature, including the last fourteen years as member of this body. He is known as an architect and a community activist in the Wallingford and Fremont areas.

"Senator Williams is the author of the state's policy and the city of Seattle's policy on historic preservation and has been a leader in this field for two decades. Senator Williams led the battle in 1977 to remove the sales tax on food, which has made our state tax structure more fair for everyone. He has been a leader for many years on energy issues particularly in the late seventies and early eighties, when we faced some very difficult decisions in this area. I think the most important credential that Senator Williams brings to this position is that Senator Williams is a very thoughtful legislator. He is a student of this body, a student of this process and he will serve us well in this position."

On motion of Senator Jesernig, the nominations for Vice President Pro Tempore were closed.

The committee of honor escorted Vice President Pro Tempore Williams to his seat in the Senate Chamber and the committee was discharged.

ELECTION OF SECRETARY OF THE SENATE

The President declared nominations to be open for Secretary of the Senate.

REMARKS BY SENATOR SNYDER

Senator Snyder: "Mr. President, I rise to place the name of Marty Brown as Secretary of the Senate.

"It is indeed with a lot of pride that I rise to nominate Marty Brown for Secretary of the Senate. Our good fortune was when a fellow student of Marty's talked him into coming to Washington and to go to UPS Law School. Marty's fellow student lasted about two weeks and Marty stayed and eventually ended up working for the Senate. He spent a brief time over with the courts and decided that his lot in life was with the Legislature. He came back and has served in several capacities. He was the attorney for the Lieutenant Governor for quite a length of time. He has been the Democratic Caucus Staff Director and now he is going to move up to Secretary of the Senate.

"I know my predecessors in the job always taught me that as Secretary of the Senate or Chief Clerk of the House that you serve all members, regardless of party. I am sure that Marty will carry on that tradition in a very fair manner. He has the background for it; he has the ability and he has the friendliness to do the job.

"I went back and looked through Journals to see what had been said in previous nominating speeches and seconding speeches for the Secretary of the Senate. Marshall Neill was a Senator from Whitman County and his remarks were, 'When it comes to getting the work done and the organization of the Senate, there isn't any room for party politics.' I think that has been the way it has been in the past. I know Gordon Golob has performed his duties very well the last five years and Marty will continue to do that. I also looked a little further back in the Journal and I found that Vic Zednick who was a Senator back in the fifties and a former Secretary of the Senate said, 'Frankly, I think it is more important to be Secretary of the Senate than a Senator.' Now, at one time I may have believed that was correct, but I don't anymore. It is with a great deal of pride and delight that I nominate Marty Brown for Secretary of the Senate."

REMARKS BY SENATOR GASPARD

Senator Gaspard: "Thank you, Mr. President. I would also like to second the nomination of Marty Brown as the Secretary of the Senate.

"While Marty's beginnings may not go back as far as one of his predecessors, namely Senator Snyder now, who started his career as an elevator operator and then became the Secretary of the Senate and has now taken a lesser job as State Senator.

"Marty had his beginnings with his work with the committee services, worked with Lieutenant Governor Cherberg and went then to the Office of Counsel for the Senate and then became our staff director for our caucus. Throughout all that time, Marty has developed a reputation among all of us as a very open, very fair individual and a trusted advisor and in that capacity will now be of benefit to the entire Senate and not just our Democratic Caucus--with the fairness and openness that he will have in his administration following all of his predecessors and doing an outstanding job for all of us."

MOTION

On motion of Senator Jesernig, the nominations for Secretary of the Senate were closed.

ROLL CALL

The Acting Secretary called the roll and Marty Brown was elected Secretary of the Senate by the following vote: Brown, 47; excused, 1.

Voting Brown: Senators Amondson, Anderson, Barr, Bauer, Bluechel, Cantu, Deccio, Drew, Erwin, Fraser, Gaspard, Hargrove, Haugen, Hochstatter, Jesernig, Loveland, McAuliffe, McCaslin, McDonald, Moyer, Nelson, Newhouse, Niemi, Oke, Owen, Pelz, Prentice, Prince, Quigley, Rasmussen, M., Rinehart, Roach, Sellar, Sheldon, Skratek, Smith, A., Smith, L., Snyder, Spanel, Sutherland, Talmadge, Vognil, von Reichbauer, West, Williams, Winsley, Wojahn - 47.

Excused: Senator Moore - 1.

APPOINTMENT OF SPECIAL COMMITTEE

The President appointed Senators Snyder and Anderson as a committee of honor to escort Marty Brown to the rostrum. Justice Richard P. Guy of the Washington State Supreme Court administered the oath of office to Marty Brown.

REMARKS BY SECRETARY BROWN

Secretary Brown: "The first thing, I thank you all for your support. I would like to assure Senator Fraser that I have no intention of elevating to the office of State Senator as one of my predecessors did. I would just like, once again, to thank you for your support and let you all know that the Office of Secretary of Senate is available for each and every one of you. Whatever you need, we will try and be accommodating. I know that is the tradition of my predecessor, Gordon Golob, who has run a wonderful office and we have not made many changes in the office because of the good job that he had done and that Sid had done, and I would just like to say that if I can do half the job that my two predecessors did, I think you will be well served."

The committee of honor escorted Secretary of the Senate Marty Brown to his seat in the Senate Chamber and the committee was discharged.

ELECTION OF SERGEANT AT ARMS

The President declared nominations to be open for Sergeant at Arms of the Senate.

REMARKS BY SENATOR PRENTICE

Senator Prentice: "Mr. President, I rise to place the name of Richard Fisher for the Office of Sergeant at Arms.

"It was in 1969 when I first became acquainted with Richard Fisher when I was a night staffer at Valley Medical Emergency Department and he was a state trooper. The integrity and the courtesy and the cheerfulness that he displayed are qualities that he is going to need getting us through these tough and intense times. I could go on and on about him, but he and I have an agreement. I don't tell all I know about him and he won't tell everything he knows about me. There is a lesson to be learned here and one is that you better be nice to people because you never know when they are going to come and rise and haunt you. It gives me great pleasure to nominate Richard Fisher for the Office of Sergeant at Arms."

REMARKS BY SENATOR GASPARD

Senator Gaspard: "Mr. President and members of the Senate, I, too, would like to second the nomination of Richard Fisher as our Sergeant at Arms. Richard brings with him some outstanding qualities and resumes from a lot of service to state government. He has served two Governors--has been assigned to the Governor's Office from the State Patrol.

"He has had to work with many of us, but more properly put, maybe he has had to put up with a lot of us in the Governor's Office. It is with great pleasure and pride that Richard will serve all of us now as our Sergeant at Arms."

MOTION

On motion of Senator Jesernig, the nominations for Sergeant at Arms of the Senate were closed.

ROLL CALL

The Secretary called the roll and Richard Fisher was elected Sergeant at Arms: Fisher, 47; excused, 1.

Excused: Senator Moore - 1.

APPOINTMENT OF SPECIAL COMMITTEE

The President appointed Senators Prentice and von Reichbauer as a committee of honor to escort Richard Fisher to the rostrum.

Justice Richard P. Guy of the Washington State Supreme Court administered the oath of office to Richard Fisher.

REMARKS BY SERGEANT AT ARMS FISHER

Sergeant at Arms Fisher: "Well, you know when I first asked about this job--was asked about the job--I really didn't know what my title was going to be until I saw my name plate. I always thought it was Sergeant of Arms.

"I want to thank everyone for their support. We are going to make the Sergeant at Arms Office as professional as we can. We are here for everybody. We are in Room 93. My staff and I are here to help you. We can fix almost anything except parking tickets. Thank you very much."

The committee of honor escorted Sergeant at Arms Fisher to his seat in the Senate Chamber and the committee was discharged.

The committee of honor consisting of Senators Adam Smith and Nelson escorted the Honorable Justice Richard P. Guy from the Senate Chamber.

REMARKS BY THE SPEAKER

Speaker Ebersole: "This joint session has more than one purpose. It has been called to hear the State of the State Address of the Governor. This occasion also provides the legislature with the most appropriate opportunity to recognize retired and retiring state officials for their long and distinguished service to the state of Washington. The Joint Session also complies with the constitutional requirement to canvass the vote for the constitutional elective offices of the state of Washington. In view of the election results certified by the Secretary of State, and to which there have been no protests, this joint session now declares the following qualified citizens to be elected in accordance with the constitution of the State of Washington:

MIKE LOWRY, GOVERNOR
JOEL PRITCHARD, LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR
RALPH MUNRO, SECRETARY OF STATE
DAN GRIMM, STATE TREASURER
BRIAN SONNTAG, STATE AUDITOR
CHRISTINE GREGOIRE, ATTORNEY GENERAL
JUDITH BILLINGS, SUPERINTENDENT OF PUBLIC INSTRUCTION
JENNIFER BELCHER, COMMISSIONER OF PUBLIC LANDS
DEBORAH SENN, INSURANCE COMMISSIONER

FURTHER REMARKS BY THE SPEAKER

Speaker Ebersole: "Having discharged the constitutional requirement imposed upon the Speaker of the House, it is now my pleasure to call upon the President of the Senate, Joel Pritchard, to preside over the Joint Session."

The Speaker presented the gavel to President Pritchard.

President Pritchard: "Thank you, Brian. Well it's a joyous occasion. We have a new start; we have a lot of new faces; we have the same old artwork. As the Speaker has announced, this occasion provides all of us with the opportunity to recognize old friends who are leaving office after long and effective service to the state of Washington.

"For this part of the program, I am going to call upon Secretary of State Ralph Munro to join me and the Speaker in making presentations to these distinguished individuals. Secretary Munro, will you please make the first introduction."

INTRODUCTION OF INSURANCE COMMISSIONER DICK MARQUARDT

Secretary of State Munro: "Mr. President and Mr. Speaker, a long-time Insurance Commissioner for our state, Mr. Dick Marquardt is a former Senator from north Seattle and the Director of the Washington State Selective Service Commission. Commissioner Marquardt was first elected in 1976. Under his leadership, Washington became the first state to outlaw low benefit, high-cost life insurance, including the so-called funeral plans. The rule survived all court challenges by insurance companies, even to the State Supreme Court. The Commissioner's crusade against deceptive television advertising and misleading cold-lead insurance mail marketing to get prospect's names has won him national acclaim from consumer groups in 1987 and 1988. The Commissioner's Senior Health Insurance Benefit's Advisors, commonly called SHIBA, is a volunteer program that was the first of its kind in the nation, and is the model for a new federal grant program establishing similar ideas and plans in forty-nine states.

"Mr. President and Mr. Speaker, I give you the Insurance Commissioner of the state of Washington, the Honorable Richard Marquardt."

The President and the Speaker presented Insurance Commissioner Marquardt with a plaque of appreciation.

REMARKS BY INSURANCE COMMISSIONER MARQUARDT

Insurance Commissioner Marquardt: "Well, it's a wonderful thrill to have served the public for these past sixteen years. You folks have been very cooperative with my office, and I thank you. I'd like to ask that same cooperation for my successor. Thank you, again."

INTRODUCTION OF PUBLIC LANDS COMMISSIONER BRIAN BOYLE

Secretary of State Munro: "Mr. President and Mr. Speaker, Brian Boyle studied at the Montana School of Mines and earned his tuition each summer working as a hard rock miner himself. He went on to the University of Portland and the University of Chicago. Mr. Brian Boyle, formerly a Cowlitz County Commissioner, was elected as our Public Lands Commissioner in 1980.

"Under his leadership, the Department of Natural Resources has achieved many milestones, including the Timber, Fish, Wildlife Agreement, The Commission on Old Growth Alternatives and the Olympic Experimental State Forest--establishing a network of natural area preserves and natural resource conservation areas. He created the Aquatic Lands Enhancement Account which gives us aquatic lands lease payments for public access trails, restoration of estuaries, and improvement of beaches and boater access and lastly, a state landscape that will be better because of his work. Mr. President and Mr. Speaker, I present to you our Washington State Commissioner of Public Lands, Mr. Brian Boyle."

The President and the Speaker presented Commissioner of Public Lands Boyle with a plaque of appreciation.

REMARKS BY COMMISSIONER OF PUBLIC LANDS BRIAN BOYLE

Commissioner of Public Lands Boyle: "Thank you, Mr. Speaker and Mr. President. It's interesting to be here twelve years later, and realize how I sat there, kind of in awe of this room, in 1980, as the new state elected officials are today. It's also interesting, and I think it's a mark of progress, that a Commissioner of Public Lands could show up wearing canary yellow. There is a substantial difference in, I suspect, it's obvious in the make-up and I suspect in the temperament of the new elected officials, and I wish you well.

"I think it's a mark of progress that those of us who recognize our time has past, step aside, and make room for other progressive ideas. You should remember that Voltaire, when asked to eulogize someone that he detested, said that he was a great writer, a statesman, a wonderful husband and father, and I'll say that all, presuming he's actually dead.

"We should remember that those of us who claim that we've accomplished things through leadership sometimes have had to step aside, because it's really the followers that provide the leadership, and we've had to step aside to make room for them. One of the things that I have enjoyed, and I hope you as new legislators do, is that the caliber of people in state government, as state employees, is incredibly high and they're terribly dedicated to the quality of living in the state of Washington. Thank you."

INTRODUCTION OF ATTORNEY GENERAL KEN EIKENBERRY

Secretary of State Munro: "Mr. President and Mr. Speaker, Mr. Ken Eikenberry, Washington State's fourteenth Attorney General, was born and educated in the Wenatchee Valley, received a law degree from the University of Washington, was a deputy prosecutor for King County and an agent for the Federal Bureau of Investigation. For three terms, he worked in this room as a member of the House of Representatives. General Eikenberry has now served twelve years as our Attorney General, appointed on numerous occasions by the White House to National Commissions. Ken Eikenberry is known for his consumer protection work. Mr. President and Mr. Speaker, I give you the Attorney General of the state of Washington, the Honorable Ken Eikenberry."

The President and the Speaker presented Attorney General Eikenberry with a plaque of appreciation.

REMARKS BY ATTORNEY GENERAL KEN EIKENBERRY

Attorney General Eikenberry: "Well, thank you for this handsome memento, and this occasion. It's nice of the Legislature and the officers to do this. I should start out by addressing Mr. Speaker, Mr. President, members of this joint session and ladies and gentlemen. I hope Mr. President, you don't mind, I'm not being disrespectful, but as a former House member, I always address the Speaker first.

"It has been a high honor and a privilege to serve as the Attorney General for the people of our state, and to serve with you during the past twelve years. As a former House member, I do appreciate the pressures and the challenges that confront this body as you hammer out legislation designed to benefit the citizens of our state. It's in that spirit that I want to comment and express appreciation for the attention and the amendments you've given to the consumer, and fair business practices laws of our state, to the attention you've given to improving the law on crime, particularly as it relates to sex predators, and to victims of crime, culminating in the Amendment to our Constitution in 1989 on behalf of crime victims.

"I'd like to close on the thought of the authority that was placed in the Office of the Attorney General by this body in 1981, giving it the responsibility of prosecuting certain kinds of crimes and offenses and investigating them. That has been a demonstration project for this body since that time, expanding into especially difficult kinds of prosecutions, such as murder cases in several counties, crimes against government agencies, like the reformatory at Monroe, racketeer influence in corrupt organization prosecutions, Labor and Industries medical provider fraud cases, and that sort of thing. I do suggest to you that this will be an area that you will look at expanding into as criminal activity does become more sophisticated and more difficult to prosecute in the future. But for today, again, my appreciation to you, for the opportunity to work with you in crafting and designing these items of legislation, designed to benefit the citizens of our state. Thank you again for this occasion."

INTRODUCTION OF STATE AUDITOR ROBERT GRAHAM

Secretary of State Munro: "Mr. President and Mr. Speaker, since statehood in 1889, our Washington State has only had seven constitutional auditors. Robert V. Graham is the seventh, and was first elected to this position in November of 1964. Previously, he worked for Labor and Industries and the Budget Office. This is his forty-seventh year of state service. He received his education at Moclips High School on the Pacific Coast and Grays Harbor College. He and his lovely wife, Loydine, have been married for forty-seven years. Among his many accomplishments, Auditor Bob Graham has developed a nationally recognized fraud prevention and investigation program. He has led the states in auditing electronic data processing systems and applying computer assisted audit techniques. He's provided direct leadership in the production of the state's first audited financial statements in 1982. In 1987, and each year since, the state has received a certificate of achievement of excellence in financial reporting from the Government Finance Officer's Association for its comprehensive annual financial report. Mr. Speaker and Mr. President, I present to you our Washington State Auditor for the last twenty-eight years, the Honorable Bob Graham."

The President and the Speaker presented State Auditor Graham with a plaque of appreciation.

REMARKS BY STATE AUDITOR GRAHAM

State Auditor Graham: "Well, Mr. Speaker, Mr. President and all of you esteemed elected officials and citizens here present--and family here present--I just want to say that I can't really believe that I'm hanging up a fifty-year career, at this particular point in time, but they do say that time passes swiftly when you are having fun--and that's been the case. As a matter of fact twenty-eight years ago tomorrow, I stood here and was sworn in as the seventh state auditor of the state of Washington by Judge Ott and that seems phenomenal, being in that position for twenty-eight years. The interesting thing, too, is the first four auditors served for just sixteen years total, so there have been three of us old birds that have served for eighty-eight years, which I think is probably a national precedent or a winning championship, as far as tenure in office.

"I really have a couple of thank you's that I want to make today. One is to the people who have given me the opportunity to fulfill a youthful desire. I wrote in my high school annual that what I hoped to do when I graduated was to go on to college and finish my education in either accounting or law and apply it in government, and nothing could have fit more than the Office of State Auditor in that. So even in my youth, I looked upon the possibility of my vocation being public service. The second thank you should go to the legislative body--the legislative body over a number of years--because I have officed continuously in this building, since May 1 of 1948. The Legislature has been a good host to allow me to office here in this Legislative Building for all those years. I am going to share a little secret with you, not everybody believes that this is the Legislative Building. There are some here today in the gallery over here, mainly my children and my grandchildren, because for a number of years this building was known as Daddy's Capital. In more contemporary history, this building is known as Grandpa's Capital, but you have been good hosts.

"It's been said, in the introduction, that we have really brought accountability and full financial disclosure to the state of Washington during my tenure, and that's true. It was a good thing that we did that with those audited financial statements, because two years after we did that, Standards, Poor and Moody came out with the ruling that unless a state had audited financial statements that they would do one of two things, either they wouldn't rate the state bonds at all or they would rate them down, so that has bode well for us in our bond rating in the state of Washington.

"I've always run the office feeling that I'm responsible to the people of this state who have elected me, but equally responsive to the state legislative body. The audits that we provide have been, I feel, a tool to this body to do the work of managing the public purse and setting the public policy, which is your role. The state has been the beneficiary of what has been said here this morning about the national recognition of the Office of Auditor. We have that strong recognition in the financial audit area.

"There's one area yet to be done, however. In the state of Washington, the Office of Auditor is the only state in the nation where the Office of Auditor is precluded from doing performance audits and I think that is something that the Legislature should look at and actually pass a law to change the law preventing that function in the Office of Auditor.

"The law says that I can give information to this body at any time or to make recommendations at any time, so I'll use this parting shot to say that my recommendation is that you amend the law prohibiting the Office of Auditor to do performance audits, because in so doing you will enhance the tool kit for yourself to do future work in the role that you have to play. You'll also be giving the citizen taxpayer of this state the biggest bang for its buck.

"Let me just say in concluding that my career has been fulfilling. It most certainly has been satisfying and it is satisfying because I think that the citizens of this state, the one thing that they want most is the accountability from their government. That is what the Office of Auditor is all about. The late President, John Kennedy, said something and I'll paraphrase it, he said, 'The most important thing that a government can have is the confidence of our people.' It is my belief that the accountability role that the Office of Auditor plays in this state for clean government has given the citizens of this state some confidence in their government, both at the state and local government level. Therein lies my satisfaction of my career and I just want to thank the people of the state for the opportunity to fill my youthful desire. Finally, I want to thank my family who have borne with me over these years, and particularly my wife, Loydine, to see that I've kept in line and to carry out the role of the Office of State Auditor. It's been a great thing and I've enjoyed it very much. Thank you."

INTRODUCTION OF GOVERNOR BOOTH GARDNER

Secretary of State Munro: "Mr. President and Mr. Speaker, the Governor of the state of Washington, The Honorable Booth Gardner, and his wonderful wife, Jean, have led our state for the last eight years. Governor Gardner will be remembered for strong environmental legislation that will keep Washington livable far into the future--growth management; water resource management; oil-spill prevention; cleaner air; Puget Sound clean-up; Hanford clean-up; hazardous waste clean-up; a plan to save the salmon; improving education, as in early childhood education for all four year-olds; smaller class sizes; improved funding; school choice; leadership towards the educational reform; setting the stage for health care reform; creating the Department of Health to focus on health efforts; establishing the Basic Health Care Plan to expand access; spearheading health care reform at the state and national levels as Chair of the National Governor's Association; making Washington a safer and healthier place for children, as in more health care and better nutrition for poor children; more CPS workers; tougher penalties for child abuse; cracking down on dead-beat dads and the finest of service to our state's disabled and handicapped children; fostering an attitude of openness and cooperation in state government so that it's now more accessible to citizens; more welcoming of women and minorities; on good terms with our Native American tribes--and more efficient and better managed.

"Mrs. Gardner will be remembered for her fine work as the Co-Chair of the state's one hundredth birthday celebration, the 1989 Centennial. She has been an active and involved supporter of our state's heritage programs. Known for her ready smile and warm personality, Jean Gardner has been an absolutely first-rate First Lady. Mr. President and Mr. Speaker, I give you Governor and Mrs. Gardner, affectionately known to the citizens of our state as Booth and Jean."

The President and Speaker presented Governor Gardner with a plaque of appreciation.

INTRODUCTION OF THE GOVERNOR BY SPEAKER EBERSOLE

Speaker Ebersole: It's a great honor for me to join with Secretary of State Munro and President of the Senate Pritchard in introducing one of the most popular Governors this state has ever had and one of the finest human beings many of us have ever known. I know that the press has been full of articles, lately, discussing and dissecting Booth's administration and his achievements, but none of them have really focused on the role that Booth and Jean have played as first citizens of this great state. In that role, both Jean and Booth have set a new standard. They are both people who have lead by example.

"As the chief organizer of this state's centennial celebration, Jean Gardner brought new depth to our understanding of our cultural diversity and history of Washington State. Without preaching, she taught us a lot about who we are as a state and about how important it is to recognize the contributions of every ethnic group in every community. As First Lady, Jean has been independent, involved, willing to take risks, and at the same time fully devoted to her family.

"Booth has been every bit her equal. His openness to people from every walk of life and his ability to make friends are legendary. I am convinced that there are at least ten thousand people across this state who count Booth among their very best friends. What's even more extraordinary, they really are. Booth is a man who can connect with people--genuinely, honestly, and with real concern for their well being. This is a Governor who has had time for every man and women in this state, unless of course there were children around. If you have ever been in a room and watched Booth at a public event, you will know of what I speak. We know that when Booth spots a child, he will snub Supreme Court Justices, political big shots and CEO's of major corporations and make a beeline to that child. When this Governor says children come first; he means it and he lives it.

"We've all learned a great deal from him and we all know that today we are about to learn something more. Please join me in again welcoming the nineteenth Governor of the state of Washington, the Honorable Booth Gardner."

STATE OF THE STATE ADDRESS BY GOVERNOR BOOTH GARDNER

Governor Gardner: "Mr. President, Mr. Speaker, members of the Supreme Court, existing elected officials, newly elected officials, members of the Legislature and citizens of the state of Washington.

"Before I begin my prepared remarks, I would like you to join me in a round of appreciation, first of all--although Ralph mentioned her--for the individual who I have strived to equal. Would you like to give this speech? A person who led this state through a very successful centennial and has been an outstanding First Lady of the state. Jean, would you stand to be recognized by your friends, please?

"Members of our immediate family are here. Our daughter is teaching school and could not get off today, but our son-in-law, son and daughter-in-law are here. Would you please stand, along with my cousins, grandparents, and whoever else is here? Thank you.

"In a strenuous effort to serve the Legislature and the people of the state as effectively as we could, and having made a sincere effort to do so, I would like you now to recognize--and would the staff of the governor's office and the policy office, who are here today, please stand and be thanked for the fine work which you have done?

"Lastly, I would like to recognize the cabinet members who are with us today and to thank you for a tremendous service to the state of Washington. Would you please stand and be recognized?

"I am going to begin my talk today focusing on a particular community in the state of Washington. As I do this, I want you all to keep in mind that for almost everyone of you, you represent a community like the one I am going to be talking about. It just happens that I have picked the town of Hoquiam--a timber town in Grays Harbor. For longer than anyone can remember, the Grays Harbor area has been one of the largest timber producing regions in the United States of America. For several generations, trees meant jobs in Grays Harbor. There are plenty of trees left in those forests, but there are no longer many jobs. Supply, demand and environmental issues have conspired against Hoquiam. I have been there many times--most recently this past fall, just after a permanent mill closure put another nine hundred people out of work.

"As we drove into Hoquiam, through the falling rain that afternoon, the town looked like one of those Fisher Price creations--neat rows of homes with churches and schools and stores, side-by-side, all surrounded by an endless landscape of growing trees. As I watched the rain fall, I thought of the generations of men and women who had grown up, worked, married, raised their families, lived and died, surrounded by trees. It was and it is a good life. Working in the woods is not easy, but it's an honest day's work and it is a good wage. It was something solid to pass from father to son and from mother to daughter. It was something solid upon which to build a community. The strength of that community was evident at Hoquiam High School, home of the Grizzlies, where I spoke at an assembly.

"When I looked at those young women and men, just about to embark upon adulthood, full of hope for their future, but perplexed and scared by what was happening to their parents, I was moved. I dug deep and I told them that nothing is permanent, not even the town where they had been born, or the woods and mills that gave that town its life. I told them that while their parents and their grandparents have lived a good life and productive life in Hoquiam, that same life may not be available to all of them. I advised them to look ahead and not cling to the past. I urged them to continue their education and to look, perhaps, beyond Hoquiam--beyond the mills which they could see and the trees which surrounded them--toward the more prosperous economies on I-5.

"I thought it was a pretty good speech. It was honest; it made sense; it had hope; and it was doable. Apparently it was heard, because at least one student went home and told her parents about that talk. At a community forum that evening, one of the parents asked me to share what I had told the students. When I finished, a man rose from the crowd. You could see twenty-five years of working in the woods on his face and on his hands--twenty five years which had ended a month before with a pink slip. He said, 'Governor,' and then more ominously, he said, 'Booth, what you say is all right for my kids, but what about me? I'm forty-five years old; I have four children; my mother is sick. Do you really think that I can start over again?'

"I didn't have much of an answer. Since that evening, I have thought a lot about that man and I have thought a lot about what I could say to you that would be useful--to the many new legislators who are here for the first time--to the many veterans of this body who have risen to positions of leadership--and something that could be useful to the people of the state of Washington.

"For the past eight years, I have had a perspective that has been shared by only seventeen other people. The view from the Governor's office is different from any other view. From that corner office, you inevitably come to see the big picture--the distant horizon on the future and the oncoming rush of history. It is a pinnacle of power, but it is also a daily lesson in humility. It is a daily lesson in the limits of what government can do, the inevitability of change and the challenge of passing democratic values from one generation to the next.

"Here's what I've seen from this perspective. First, and most important, I have seen that everybody matters. That man in Hoquiam matters; his children matter; his sick mother matters. Every student in our public schools matter; every teenager's dream is essential to our future and every adult of this state is an important citizen. There are no 'little people' in the state of Washington--perhaps little minds that fail to grasp the basic truth of our common humanity and our common future.

"Secondly, I have seen that change is a double-edged sword. Change is constructive; it is desirable. In a dynamic, free-market economy, it is inevitable, but it can also be painful, frightening and often terribly unfair. Government doesn't have much control over a great deal of it, but we are required to respond to it, to try to shape and direct it where we can, and to protect those who suffer from its effects.

"In some cases, we are called upon to promote change and to overcome the enormous obstacles and entrenched resistance in order to achieve it. For example, when we discover that change in other countries has resulted in their students learning more than our children, we are called upon to move heaven and earth to change the way we educate our young people. When our health care system spins out of control and devours both family and government budgets, we are called upon to change the way which we organize and deliver our medical services--and to do it quickly.

"The essential point about change is this: Our ability to sustain a stable, democratic and prosperous society depends on our capacity to change. It depends upon us having the courage to change--even when change is uncomfortable--even when there is resistance to change--and even when some of the consequences of change are unknown. In a democratic society, the status quo is the enemy of stability--not its friend.

"The final truth I have come to see in the past eight years is that we are all pretty ignorant. We never have enough information to make our decisions, but we have to make them anyway. Our power to predict the future is extremely imperfect and our knowledge of our own constituents is constantly overtaken by social and cultural changes which we barely comprehend.

"So, for all of us--everyone of us on this floor--to lead is to learn. To be Governor is simply to be the premier student in the state of Washington. To be Governor is to know that the more we differ from one another, the more we have to learn from each other. And to be Governor is to know that if the state is to prosper, all of us--of every age and in every community--must become more diligent students.

"I leave this office after eight years with a profound affection and respect for the people of this state, and for the thousands of public servants who make our state government work. I am genuinely grateful to you in the Legislature and to the citizens of this state for all that you have taught me and I will never forget that which I have learned.

"Thank you and goodbye."

REPORT OF SELECT COMMITTEE

WASHINGTON STATE
CHILD CARE COORDINATING COMMITTEE

January 12, 1993

Mr. Legislator:

Attached is a copy of the Child Care Coordinating Committee's 4th Annual Report to the Legislature. In compiling the data and generating the recommendations outlined in this report, the Child Care Coordinating Committee (CCCC) held frequent meetings and solicited input from business representatives, community groups and affected public agencies. We hope that you will rely upon this developmental work as you struggle with the difficult policy and fiscal choices facing you this legislative session.

The CCCC was established by the Legislature in 1988 to serve as a vehicle for coordination and communication among non-governmental entities concerned with child care and state agencies responsible for child care and early childhood education services. The Committee is also responsible for proposing changes to improved child care systems in Washington State. Statute mandates that the thirty-one members of the CCCC represent the broad spectrum of child care providers, parents who use child care, and the supporting agencies and community-based organizations.

This report is designed to assist the Governor and the Legislature in developing priorities which integrate child care with the overall needs of Washington's families. If you have any questions or wish further information, please contact Maggie Edgar, DSHS staff to the Committee, at (206) 753-5088.

Sincerely,
STACEY GRAVILLE
Chair

MOTION

On motion of Senator Jesernig, the Messages from the Governor concerning Gubernatorial Appointments were held on the desk.

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR

January 11, 1993

TO THE HONORABLE, THE SENATE AND HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES OF THE STATE OF WASHINGTON
Ladies and Gentlemen:

In compliance with the provision of Section 11 of Article III of the Constitution of the state of Washington, the Governor hereby submits his report of each case of reprieve, commutation, or pardon that he has granted since the adjournment of the 1992 Regular Session of the Fifty-Second Legislature, copies of which are attached.

Respectfully submitted,
KALEEN COTTINGHAM
Legal Counsel to the Governor

COMMUTATION OF SENTENCE for Tamera Schoen (a.k.a. Kristy Williams)

TO ALL TO WHOM THESE PRESENTS SHALL COME, GREETING:

On January 17, 1992, Tamera Schoen was sentenced by the Superior Court for King County for the state of Washington to a term of 43 months in prison after being found guilty on December 9, 1991, of numerous counts of Possessing Stolen Property.

Ms. Schoen is terminally ill. She has been diagnosed with adenocarcinoma (cancer) of unknown primary origin which has metastasized to the liver. As of October 30, 1992, her medical oncologist and primary physician indicated that she is not a surgical candidate and that the goal of therapy is to preserve the quality of her life as long as possible with analgesics and chemotherapy. Ms. Schoen is tentatively scheduled for chemoembolization of her adenocarcinoma at Tacoma General Hospital on December 7, 1992. This hospitalization will require a three to four-day stay at Tacoma General Hospital.

On December 3, 1992, the Clemency and Pardons Board met to review the clemency petition presented on behalf of Ms. Tamera Schoen. The Board voted unanimously to recommend that the Governor grant clemency to Ms. Schoen so that she can be transferred to a hospice situation immediately following her hospitalization at Tacoma General Hospital.

A hospice arrangement has been made in the home of Ms. Cynthia Locke. Ms. Locke is a resident of Snohomish County and presently resides at 19918 Damson Road, Lynnwood, Washington. Ms. Locke is a registered nurse and is licensed in the state of Washington. Ms. Locke has been providing adult in-home hospice care.

Because of the medical condition of Ms. Schoen, this is an extraordinary case and justifies granting clemency at this time for the remainder of Ms. Schoen's sentence.

The period of this clemency shall begin from the time of release from the hospital following the tentatively scheduled chemoembolization on or following December 7, 1992. If the necessary hospitalization is delayed, this clemency shall be effective in a delayed fashion to coincide with her release from the hospital following the medical procedure. In the event that her physician certifies that she is unable to receive the chemoembolization at any point in the foreseeable future due to her medical condition, she shall be released from the Department of Corrections to the hospice in-home care provided by Ms. Cynthia Locke no later than December 14, 1992.

During the pendency of this placement, a community corrections officer will monitor the placement on a periodic basis.

NOW THEREFORE, I, Booth Gardner, Governor of the state of Washington, by virtue of the authority vested in me by the laws of the state of Washington, do hereby grant the clemency for Tamera Schoen, Department of Corrections No. 940821, for her conviction for several counts of Possession of Stolen Property, pursuant to the conditions set forth herein.

(SEAL) IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the state of Washington to be affixed at Olympia, this 4th day of December, A.D., nineteen hundred and ninety-two.

BOOTH GARDNER, Governor

BY THE GOVERNOR:

DONALD WHITING
Assistant Secretary of State

CONDITIONAL COMMUTATION ORDER

Arlyn Davis

On September 30, 1981, Arlyn Davis, and his co-defendant, John Wright, entered pleas of guilty to the crime of First Degree Murder. The crime occurred on March 22, 1981. Arlyn Davis was 15 years old at the time, having turned 15 years old on March 20, 1981. John Wright, the co-defendant, was 16 years old.

The victim was a 36 year-old man who had offered Mr. Davis a ride when Mr. Davis was hitchhiking several months prior to the date of this offense. The victim offered to give Mr. Davis drugs and assistance at any time he needed them, as Mr. Davis was running away from home. Mr. Davis subsequently contacted the victim who did supply him with drugs. This eventually led to Mr. Davis' involvement in homosexual activity with the victim, and ultimately the victim became Mr. Davis' pimp. The victim encouraged Mr. Davis to recruit other young men, one of which was John Wright. Mr. Wright and Mr. Davis concluded that they needed to get out of the situation and made the decision to steal money from the victim, buy plane tickets, and go to Florida. During the robbery attempt, the victim resisted and was choked with an electrical cord by Mr. Wright. Both defendants planned and executed the robbery, although there had been no plan to take the life of the victim. The two boys received $11,000 as a result of the robbery, but were apprehended at SeaTac Airport before they could leave for Florida. The $11,000 was fully recovered.

Mr. Davis was sentenced to life in prison. The Thurston County prosecuting attorney, Patrick Sutherland, and the sentencing judge, Gerry Alexander, both recommended to the parole board that the minimum term be set at its lowest possible level, which was 20 years at the time of sentencing. Mr. Davis' Sentencing Reform Act guideline range is 240 to 320 months. He has jail time credits of 191 days, and therefore, has an adjusted guideline range of 233 to 313 months. The Indeterminate Sentence Review Board set Mr. Davis' duration of confinement at 240 months, as mandated by statute.

From the time that Mr. Davis arrived at the Walla Walla State Penitentiary in 1987 to the present time, he has been free of any infractions. Prior to being sent to Walla Walla, Mr. Davis married his girlfriend, Patty, in 1985. From that time on, Mr. Davis began to rehabilitate himself. Mr. Davis was involved with and completed both mental health counseling and drug treatment counseling. He completed his high school diploma and has taken various college classes. He is employed as the inventory manager and purchaser for Institutional Industries at Walla Walla.

A psychological evaluation of Mr. Davis was completed on September 29, 1992, by Dr. Ronald D. Page, clinical psychologist. Dr. Page is supportive of clemency for Mr. Davis.

The Thurston County prosecuting attorney, Patrick Sutherland, investigated Mr. Davis' progress at Walla Walla thoroughly by both conferring with Mr. Davis' counselor at Walla Walla and examining his institutional file. Prosecutor Sutherland recommends that Mr. Davis be considered for clemency.

At the request of the Clemency and Pardons Board, the Indeterminate Sentence Review Board conducted an investigation into Mr. Davis' "paroleability" and conducted a hearing on that issue on October 23, 1992. At that hearing, the Department of Corrections was represented and took the position that it has no objection to clemency. After its investigation, the Indeterminate Sentence Review Board supported and encouraged a grant of clemency to Mr. Davis who is now 26 years of age.

The parents of Mr. Davis, Edward and Nicolette Davis, have been supportive of their son since the time of his arrest. They reside in Honolulu, Hawaii, and run two businesses.

Mr. Davis has accepted the responsibility for his actions and admitted his guilt. He has shown appropriate remorse and his chances for re-offending are low. Mr. Davis has completed all of the programming possible with the Department of Corrections. During this process, he has matured a great deal and has taken advantage of every opportunity to improve himself. It is unlikely that Mr. Davis will present any future danger to society if released at this time, subject to the conditions set forth herein.

The Clemency and Pardons Board, at its December 3, 1992, meeting, reviewed and discussed the petition of Mr. Davis. A presentation was made on his behalf by his attorney, Mr. Ed Schaller. After deliberation, the Board voted 3-2 to recommend to the governor that clemency be granted.

This is an extraordinary case and justice is served by granting a conditional clemency at this time for the remainder of Mr. Davis' sentence. By this order, I hereby waive the 20-year mandatory minimum term set by RCW 9.95.115, and direct the Indeterminate Sentence Review Board to parole Mr. Davis. The Indeterminate Sentence Review Board shall impose, at a minimum, the following conditions in its parole order:

1. Upon release from the institution, report as instructed to a community corrections officer and thereafter make a correct report as often as directed.
2. Secure written permission of a community corrections officer before leaving the state of Washington.
3. Obey all laws and abide by any special conditions imposed by the Indeterminate Sentence Review Board or any written instructions issued by a community corrections officer of the Department of Corrections.
4. At no time, purchase, own, possess, or control any firearm or deadly weapon.
5. Submit to a search of person, residence, vehicle, and possessions whenever requested by a community corrections officer.
6. Obey all court orders.
7. Reside in a residence approved by the assigned community corrections officer and secure permission of the community corrections officer before changing residences.
8. Do not use or possess controlled substances of any kind.
9. Submit to drug or alcohol monitoring, if directed by the community corrections officer, through an agency approved by the community corrections officer. As a condition of clemency, sign a full release of information allowing the treatment or monitoring agency to release information to the community corrections officer and the Indeterminate Sentence Review board. This release of information must be effective until Mr. Davis is granted a final discharge.
10. Do not consume any alcoholic beverages.
11. Enter into full-time employment or an education program within 30 days of release.
12. An inter-state compact investigation of transfer of parole to Hawaii must be submitted for final approval to the Indeterminate Sentence Review Board in the event that Mr. Davis desires to move to Hawaii.

The Indeterminate Sentence Review Board may, in its discretion, amend these conditions if the situation so warrants.

NOW THEREFORE, I, Booth Gardner, Governor of the state of Washington, by virtue of the authority vested in me by the laws of the state of Washington do hereby grant the conditional clemency for Arlyn Davis, Department of Corrections No. 279242, for his conviction of Murder in the First Degree, pursuant to the conditions set forth herein.

(SEAL) IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the state of Washington to be affixed at Olympia, this 7th day of January, A.D., nineteen hundred and ninety-three.

TO ALL WHO TO WHOM THESE PRESENTS SHALL COME, GREETING:

Sherwood J. Trulson was found guilty of assault in the third degree by the Superior Court of the state of Washington for King County on January 25, 1985, and he was thereupon sentenced to a term of two years community supervision by the Department of Corrections (reduced to one year after one year completed) and 240 hours of community service and attendance at an alcohol treatment program. Since this time, Sherwood Trulson has maintained a record free of further felony convictions and has involved himself in the creation of a new company, Environmental Waste of America, Inc. He has also shown his commitment to rehabilitation through his recovery from alcohol abuse. For these reasons, the Clemency and Pardons Board recommended that a pardon be granted in order to further the role of Mr. Trulson as an active member of the business community, his family and the state of Washington.

NOW THEREFORE, I, Booth Gardner, Governor of the state of Washington, do hereby pardon Sherwood J. Trulson from the judgment and sentence of assault in the second degree entered January 25, 1985, by the Superior Court of the state of Washington for King County.

(SEAL) IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the state of Washington to be affixed at Olympia, this 24th day of August, A.D., nineteen hundred and ninety-two.

TO ALL TO WHOM THESE PRESENTS SHALL COME, GREETING:

Gordon H. Graham was found guilty of forgery, robbery, and numerous parole violations by the Superior Courts of the state of Washington for Chelan, Spokane, and King Counties during the years 1949 to 1972. He served many years in jails. With the exception of an occasional parole violation during that same time period, 1949 to 1972, Mr. Graham has maintained a record free of further felony convictions and has involved himself commendably in community and professional activities, and has shown his rehabilitation. He petitioned for a pardon to clear his good name.

NOW THEREFORE, I, Booth Gardner, Governor of the state of Washington, do hereby pardon Gordon A. Graham from the judgment and sentences imposed in Chelan, Spokane, and King Counties during the period 1949 to 1972.

(SEAL) IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the state of Washington to be affixed at Olympia, this 11th day of January, A.D., nineteen hundred and ninety-three.

TO ALL TO WHOM THESE PRESENTS SHALL COME, GREETING:

Mark Nelson plead guilty to Simple Assault in the state of Washington, a crime which was committed on February 15, 1980, and he was sentenced with a deferred finding followed by a dismissal one year later.

This is the only assault in Mr. Nelson's background. Since that point in time, Mr. Nelson has enrolled in a nurse training program at Shoreline Community College. In the course of that training, both he and the school's administration have asked that this simple assault be removed from his criminal background record. For the reason of furthering his educational pursuits, and the relationship of that educational pursuit to his rehabilitation, the Clemency and Pardons Board recommended to the Governor that a pardon be granted.

NOW THEREFORE, I, Booth Gardner, Governor of the state of Washington, do hereby pardon Mark Nelson from the sentence imposed for simple assault committed on February 15, 1980.

(SEAL) IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the state of Washington to be affixed at Olympia, this 24th day of August, A.D., nineteen hundred and ninety-two.

Jamaal D. Kiah-el was found guilty of petty larceny, contributing to delinquency of a minor, and grand larceny by the Superior Court of the state of Washington for King County during the years 1958 and 1959. He served several months of time in the King County jail. During the early 1960's, Mr. Kiah-el was also convicted of similar crimes in the state of Pennsylvania. With these exceptions, Jamaal D. Kiah-el has since maintained a record free of further felony convictions and has involved himself commendably in community activities and has shown his rehabilitation. MESSAGE FROM THE SECRETARY OF STATE

The Honorable President of the Senate
Legislature of the State of Washington
Olympia, Washington
Mr. President:

We herewith respectfully transmit for your consideration a copy of Initiative to the Legislature Number 141, originally filed with this office on June 11, 1992. On December 31, 1992, the sponsor of the proposed initiative filed 9,665 signature petition sheets in support of the measure. We have completed our preliminary canvass of these petitions and have determined that they contain 159,308 signatures.

Accordingly, pursuant to the provisions of Article 2, section 1 of the State Constitution, we are provisionally certifying Initiative to the Legislature Number 141 to you at this time. We expect to complete verification of signatures no later than February 14, 1993, and we will provide the Legislature with a final certification as soon as possible thereafter.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have set my hand and affixed the seal of the state of Washington, this eleventh day of January, 1993.

(Seal) RALPH MUNRO,

Secretary of State

INITIATIVE MEASURE NUMBER 141

AN ACT Relating to health reform; and adding a new chapter to Title 48 RCW.

BE IT ENACTED BY THE PEOPLE OF THE STATE OF WASHINGTON:

NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. FINDINGS. We the people of the state of Washington find that our health and financial security are jeopardized by current health insurance and health system practices. These practices result in unaffordable costs and cost increases that far exceed ordinary inflation. Current total health care expenditures are more than sufficient to provide access to all within a reformed, efficient system.

We find that too many of our state's residents are without health insurance, that each year many individuals and families are forced into poverty because of serious illness and that many must leave gainful employment to be eligible for publicly funded health services. Additionally, thousands of us are at risk of losing adequate health insurance, or have had insurance canceled in the past year, or cannot afford to renew existing coverage.

We find that businesses can no longer afford to pay for health insurance and remain competitive in a global economy, and that individuals and small businesses bear an inequitable insurance burden.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. PURPOSES, GOALS, AND INTENT. Be it enacted by the people of the state of Washington that we intend that the state government establish health care policy that will reduce and stabilize costs, assure access for all residents, improve the public's health, and ensure that health care cost increases do not endanger business viability.

We intend that total health care costs be stabilized and kept within increases similar to the rates of general economic inflation by encouraging consumers, providers, and insurers to make more cost-effective health care decisions.

We intend that all state residents be enrolled in an insurance plan of their choice so long as the plan offers affordable, accessible, cost-effective, and comprehensive health services.

We intend that individuals and businesses have the option to purchase any health services they may choose in addition to those defined in the benefits package referenced in this chapter.

We intend that all state residents, all businesses, employees, and government participate in payment for health services, and that individual premium costs and access to service fees be on a sliding scale based on income with the lowest-income citizens exempt from premium payments.

We intend that these goals be accomplished within a reformed system using available private providers and facilities, and that consumers be free to choose among competing plans operating within total budget limits.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. ENROLLMENT IN A CERTIFIED INSURANCE PLAN REQUIRED. By November 1, 1997, all Washington state residents, as defined by the governor in rule, shall be enrolled in the certified insurance plan of their choice.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4. POWERS OF THE GOVERNOR AND THE INSURANCE COMMISSIONER. The governor, in consultation with the insurance commissioner, shall:

(1) By January 1, 1995, determine in rule a comprehensive package of cost-effective health and long-term care services that shall be known as "the benefits package." In determining the benefits package, the health services offered to Washington state employees through the state health care authority during 1992 shall be used as an example, and the benefits package recommendations of the health care commission shall also be considered. The benefits package shall include, but not be limited to, inpatient services, outpatient services, preventive services, and community residential services for physical, mental, and developmental illnesses and disabilities.

(2) By July 1, 1996, establish and make public the maximum total funds that a certified insurance plan may receive per enrollee during each year for the benefits package. In establishing these maximum levels, all Washington state residents must be considered as a single community. However, regional variations may be allowed in total funds received by a certified insurance plan based on documented demographic factors, or other factors established by rule that predict utilization within a community. The annual increase in the per enrollee costs of the benefits package may not exceed one and one-half times the percentage increase in the annual average wage in the state for the previous year. Annual average wage shall mean that wage calculated by the employment security department for unemployment insurance contributions purposes as defined in RCW 50.04.355.

(3) By July 1, 1997, establish and implement requirements according to section 5 of this act.

(4) Establish by rule requirements for all residents, all businesses, and government to make payments that shall be received by certified insurance plans and that will be sufficient to implement this chapter while providing the comprehensive benefits package to all state residents. The payment requirements must result in as little change in current aggregate payment levels for health services as is possible within each of these groups. The payment levels must give consideration to the financial viability of small low-wage businesses and to low-income families and individuals. Payment requirements established under this subsection may be modified or replaced by an alternative set of payment requirements that fulfills the intent of this chapter, and that is approved by two-thirds of each house of the state legislature.

(5) Reorganize state government as needed to implement this chapter; however no more than fifty new, full-time equivalent employees shall be hired for this purpose. Additional employees who may be needed must be added by reassigning personnel employed by the state on the effective date of this act.

(6) Determine, in conjunction with the medical community, practice parameters and peer review mechanisms for reducing malpractice. Also, apply the malpractice reform recommendations of the health care commission, as appropriate, to reform the system.

(7) Ensure that an amount equal to at least five percent of total funds received by certified insurance plans for the benefits package is allocated to state and local public health departments to provide public health status assessment, policy development, and other services to protect the public health, including vital records, infectious and contagious disease control, assurance of the safety of food and drinking water, and protection from contamination by pollutants or toxic substances.

(8) Negotiate with congress and federal agencies to obtain waivers or exemptions from federal rules or statutes as needed to implement this chapter without losing federal funds that now come to the state.

(9) Establish rules, appoint advisory commissions, conduct research, receive grants or gifts, convene task forces, or engage in any other actions that may be needed to implement this chapter.

(10) Establish, if certified plans are insufficient or unable to meet a population's health service needs, contracts with local health departments, community or migrant health centers, or other nonprofit health service entities for all or part of the benefits package, and recognize the unique ability of community and migrant health centers to serve populations within their communities.

(11) Apply all mechanisms as necessary, including those recommended by the health care commission, to control costs and assure quality of care consistent with this chapter.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 5. REQUIREMENTS FOR CERTIFIED INSURANCE PLANS. A health maintenance organization, health care service contractor, group disability insurer, or other entity is qualified to be a certified insurance plan if they meet requirements established by the governor in consultation with the insurance commissioner.

These requirements must include that a certified insurance plan:

(1) Accept enrollment from any Washington state resident regardless of preexisting health condition, employment, or income.

(2) Provide the benefits package to all of its enrollees.

(3) Receive payments for the benefits package only in the form of fixed, prepaid, per capita payments, and access to service fees so long as these limited fees do not become a barrier to appropriate and timely access.

(4) Receive from all sources no more than the maximum funding levels per enrollee established by the state for the benefits package and prohibit balance billing or unauthorized cost sharing.

(5) Comply with uniform billing, reporting, and inspection requirements, monitoring processes and standards for continuous quality improvement and total quality management as determined by rule.

(6) Promote community health education to increase awareness of injury and illness prevention; encourage enrollees to take responsibility for protecting their own health; and stimulate community discussion about the use and limits of medical care in improving the health of individuals and communities.

(7) Comply with rules established by the governor, consistent with this chapter, for freedom of choice of plans and providers, consumer participation in policy development, portability of benefits, enrollee grievance procedures, uniform billing procedures, avoidance or elimination of barriers to access, and other rules, all of which shall be established through an open, public process.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 6. PROHIBITIONS AGAINST NONCERTIFIED ENTITIES RECEIVING PAYMENT FOR BENEFITS PACKAGE SERVICES.--NO RESTRICTION ON SERVICES NOT INCLUDED WITHIN THE BENEFITS PACKAGE. It is unlawful for a person or corporation to receive payments for services for an enrollee covered within the benefits package unless they are within a certified plan or qualify as an exception, established in rule, under section 4(10) of this act. However nothing in this chapter precludes an entity from insuring, providing, contracting, or receiving payment for health services not included in the benefits package, nor does anything in this chapter restrict an employer from offering, and an employee representative from negotiating for, or an individual from purchasing, services not included in the benefits package.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 7. PUBLIC REPORTS AND DETAILED PLAN REQUIRED; MORE SWIFT ACTION NOT PROHIBITED. Quarterly, beginning in January 1994, the governor and insurance commissioner or their designees, shall report to the people on progress in implementing this chapter by making presentations to local boards of health in public meetings. Local boards may convene joint, regional meetings for this purpose.

By July 1994, the governor and the insurance commissioner shall present to the public a detailed plan to implement this chapter. All rules proposed for implementation of this chapter must be adopted in accordance with statutes that ensure public scrutiny and an ability for public response and must conform to the requirements of chapter 34.05 RCW. Nothing in this chapter prevents the government from taking action to contain health care costs, or to expand access more quickly than required in this chapter, or to adopt recommendations of the health care commission, so long as these actions are consistent with sections 3 through 6 of this act, and do not conflict with the intent of this chapter.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 8. SEVERABILITY. If any provision of this act or its application to any person or circumstance is held invalid, the remainder of the act or the application of the provision to other persons or circumstances is not affected.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 9. CAPTIONS NOT LAW. Captions as used in this act constitute no part of the law.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 10. Sections 1 through 9 of this act shall constitute a new chapter in Title 48 RCW.

MESSAGE FROM THE SECRETARY OF STATE

The Honorable President of the Senate
Legislature of the State of Washington
Olympia, Washington
Mr. President:

We herewith respectfully transmit for your consideration the following bills which were vetoed by the Governor, together with the official veto messages of the Governor setting forth his objections to the bills as required by Article III, section 12, of the Washington State Constitution:

Substitute Senate Bill No. 6146,
Senate Bill No. 6270,
Engrossed Senate Bill No. 6273.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand, and affixed the seal of the state of Washington, at Olympia, this eleventh day

VETOED BILLS

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR VETO MESSAGE ON SUBSTITUTE SENATE BILL NO. 6146

March 31, 1992

To the Honorable, the Senate
of the State of Washington
Ladies and Gentlemen:

I am returning herewith, without my approval, Substitute Senate Bill No. 6146 entitled:
"AN ACT Relating to appropriations for projects recommended by the public works board."

Substitute Senate Bill No. 6146 approves local public works projects recommended by the Public Works Board for low-interest loan financing from the dedicated Public Works Assistance Account.

Today, I signed Substitute House Bill No. 2302, which is identical to Substitute Senate Bill No. 6146.

For this reason, I have vetoed Substitute Senate Bill No. 6146 in its entirety.

Respectfully submitted,
BOOTH GARDNER, Governor

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR VETO MESSAGE ON SENATE BILL NO. 6270

March 26, 1992

To the Honorable, the Senate
of the State of Washington
Ladies and Gentlemen:

I am returning herewith, without my approval Senate Bill No. 6270, entitled:
"AN ACT Relating to municipal criminal justice account distributions based on city crime rates."

Senate Bill No. 6270 modifies the current statute related to municipal criminal justice account distributions by reducing funding eligibility criteria for high crime cities. The bill also clearly specifies that excess funds shall be distributed to cities with crime rates of one hundred twenty-five percent of the state-wide average.

Today, I signed House Bill No. 2655, which is identical to this legislation.
For this reason, I have vetoed Senate Bill No. 6270 in its entirety.

Respectfully submitted,
BOOTH GARDNER, Governor

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR
VETO MESSAGE ON ENGROSSED SENATE BILL NO. 6273

April 1, 1992

To the Honorable, the Senate
of the State of Washington
Ladies and Gentlemen:

I am returning herewith, without my approval Engrossed Senate Bill No. 6273, entitled:
"AN ACT Relating to clarifying the department of agriculture's authority to regulate pesticides."

A recent United States Supreme Court decision (Casey v. Mortier) clarified that local governments are permitted under the federal Insecticide, Fungicide, and Rodenticide Act to regulate the use of pesticides. This court decision did not alter the ability of state government to limit local government's ability to regulate pesticide use. Engrossed Senate Bill No. 6273 seeks to address the Supreme Court decision by pre-empting, to a limited extent, the ability of local government to regulate pesticide use.

The concern giving rise to this legislation was that local regulation of pesticides could, over time, become complex, unreasonable or oppressive and could burden vital segments of Washington's timber and agricultural economy. I, too, want to avoid this outcome. However, the Supreme Court's action occurred only last June. Few examples of local pesticide regulations of concern exist.

I believe that insufficient information exists to conclude the degree to which pre-emption of local authority, if any, is necessary to ensure pesticide use is regulated in a balanced manner to meet agricultural, forest products and other economic needs as well as the needs of the environment. For this reason, it is not clear that the level of pre-emption set forth in Engrossed Senate Bill No. 6273, is a sufficient or appropriate interim measure.

To address my concern, I am hereby directing the Department of Agriculture to lead an inter-agency group including the Departments of Labor and Industries, Community Development, Health and Ecology. This group shall coordinate, among all affected interests, a process to review the issue of local pesticide regulation and develop a timely recommendation on the degree of pesticide regulation appropriate for state and local governments.

For the reasons stated above, I have vetoed Engrossed Senate Bill No. 6273 in its entirety.

Respectfully submitted,
BOOTH GARDNER, Governor

Legislature of the State of Washington
Olympia, Washington
Mr. President:

PARTIALLY VETOED BILLS

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR
PARTIAL VETO MESSAGE ON SUBSTITUTE SENATE BILL NO. 5116

March 26, 1992

To the Honorable, the Senate
of the State of Washington
Ladies and Gentlemen:

I am returning herewith, without my approval as to section 4, Substitute Senate Bill No. 5116 entitled:
"AN ACT Relating to transportation safety."

Substitute Senate Bill No. 5116 is the product of work by the task force on school bus safety. It includes several excellent provisions to assist law enforcement personnel in enforcing school bus stop laws and enhancing school bus safety. I applaud and fully support these provisions.

However, section 4 would change current Washington State Patrol rules to allow school buses to utilize their hazard strobe lamps regardless of whether it is warranted by hazardous conditions. Studies indicate that overuse of hazard warning lights ultimately diminishes their effectiveness. For this reason, I have vetoed section 4 of Substitute Senate Bill No. 5116.

With the exception of section 4, Substitute Senate Bill No. 5116 is approved.

Respectfully submitted,
BOOTH GARDNER, Governor

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR
PARTIAL VETO MESSAGE ON SUBSTITUTE SENATE BILL NO. 5557

March 31, 1992

To the Honorable, the Senate
of the State of Washington
Ladies and Gentlemen:

I am returning herewith, without my approval as to section 2, Substitute Senate Bill No. 5557 entitled:
"AN ACT Relating to recording of surveys."

Section 1 of Substitute Senate Bill No. 5557 amends the Survey Recording Act of 1973 (RCW 58.09) by clearly specifying when a record of survey is not required. Section 2 requires the Department of Natural Resources to adopt rules and regulations limiting the exemptions when the public interest will be served.

I support the Legislature's desire to protect the public interest in matters related to land surveys. I am concerned, however, that section 2 authorizes the Department of Natural Resources to override policies established in statute by the adoption of rules. This provision not only creates the potential for confusion among the surveying community, but also raises questions about the appropriateness of requiring a state agency to adopt rules which negate statutory exemptions to land survey recording requirements. I am satisfied that the public interest is sufficiently protected through the provisions of section 1.

For this reason, I have vetoed section 2 of Substitute Senate Bill No. 5557.
With the exception of section 2, Substitute Senate Bill No. 5557 is approved.

Respectfully submitted,
BOOTH GARDNER, Governor

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR
PARTIAL VETO MESSAGE ON ENGROSSED SENATE BILL NO. 5675

March 26, 1992

To the Honorable, the Senate
of the State of Washington
Ladies and Gentlemen:

I am returning herewith, without my approval as to section 2, Engrossed Senate Bill No. 5675 entitled:
"AN ACT Relating to Skagit river salmon."

Engrossed Senate Bill No. 5675 calls for the Department of Fisheries to prepare a salmon recovery plan for the Skagit River. Section 2 directs that the plan be completed by December 31, 1992.

No funding was provided for the development of the salmon recovery plan. Therefore, the time-frame established in section 2 cannot be met. I am, however, directing the Department of Fisheries, within its budget, to complete a salmon recovery plan for the Skagit River by December 31, 1993.

For this reason, I have vetoed section 2 of Engrossed Senate Bill No. 5675.

With the exception of section 2, Engrossed Senate Bill No. 5675 is approved.

BOOTH GARDNER, Governor

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR
PARTIAL VETO MESSAGE ON SUBSTITUTE SENATE BILL NO. 5953

April 1, 1992

To the Honorable, the Senate
of the State of Washington
Ladies and Gentlemen:

I am returning herewith, without my approval as to subsection 1 of section 202, Substitute Senate Bill No. 5953 entitled:
"AN ACT Relating to education."

Substitute Senate Bill No. 5953 sets our public education system on a new course by moving to a system that emphasizes excellence in student performance. It creates the Commission on Student Learning to establish the capacity to immediately begin implementation of the recommendations of the Governor's Council on Education Reform and Funding. Simultaneously, it creates a mechanism to waive a number of existing state rules that impede local restructuring activities. I strongly support these and other provisions in the bill and congratulate the Legislature for its far-sightedness in setting the stage for these important changes.

Section 202 establishes the Commission on Student Learning and defines its activities and timelines. Subsection 1 of section 202 creates a procedure which may eliminate not only the commission, but major revisions to the Basic Education Act as well. The continued viability of these sections of law rests on the passage or failure to pass a joint resolution in the future. This process is a legislative veto that violates basic constitutional checks and balances. Through this mechanism, one House of the Legislature is given the power to nullify constitutionally enacted legislation. Furthermore, the Legislature is given the power to amend the law by resolution without presenting it to the executive.

I have vetoed this subsection solely because it is an infringement on the constitutional doctrine of separation of powers. The Legislature is an equal partner in the creation of education policy, including student learning goals. This veto protects the integrity of the legislative process and assures adequate bicameral review, including public scrutiny and executive approval, before future enactments or amendments can occur. Notwithstanding this veto, it is important that the Legislature affirm the student learning goals put forward by the Governor's Council on Education Reform and Funding during the 1993 Legislature. I encourage you to do so.

For the reasons stated above, I have vetoed subsection 1 of section 202 of Substitute Senate Bill No. 5953.

With the exception of subsection 1 of section 202, Substitute Senate Bill No. 5953 is approved.

Respectfully submitted,
BOOTH GARDNER, Governor

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR
PARTIAL VETO MESSAGE ON ENGROSSED SENATE BILL NO. 6054

April 3, 1992

To the Honorable, the Senate
of the State of Washington
Ladies and Gentlemen:

I am returning herewith, without my approval as to section 5, Engrossed Senate Bill No. 6054 entitled:
"AN ACT Relating to Chiropractic."

Section 5 of Engrossed Senate Bill No. 6054 implements this bill immediately. The language in the bill is ambiguous concerning the ability of chiropractors to treat problems originating in the extremities. The proponents of the bill assure me that the expansion in the scope of practice does not include disorders that originate in the extremities. I have asked the Chiropractic Disciplinary Board to clarify this issue in rule.

For these reasons, I have vetoed section 5 of Engrossed Senate Bill No. 6054.

With the exception of section 5, Engrossed Senate Bill No. 6054 is approved.

Respectfully submitted,
BOOTH GARDNER, Governor

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR
PARTIAL VETO MESSAGE ON ENGROSSED SENATE BILL NO. 6184

March 26, 1992

To the Honorable, the Senate

of the State of Washington
Ladies and Gentlemen:

I am returning herewith, without my approval as to sections 2, 3, and 4, Engrossed Senate Bill No. 6184 entitled:
"AN ACT Relating to real estate brokers and salespersons."

Engrossed Senate Bill No. 6184 provides greater specificity for the use of funds for real estate education activities. Several sections would create a nonappropriated account and as such would reduce budget oversight of the real estate education program. There has been an acceleration of the trend to create special funds, dedicated accounts and other budgetary techniques that reduce the ability to adapt resources to meet changing or emerging priorities. Despite my general concern with these types of special funds, I am willing to support the specific revenues being dedicated as long as there is adequate oversight. As written, there is inadequate oversight.

I have vetoed the sections referring to the nonappropriated account. I have retained the language that clearly defines the Department of Licensing's real estate education program and the director's role. I am directing the Department of Licensing to submit proposed legislation to the 1993 Legislature that would permanently dedicate for real estate education purposes the fund sources specified in the vetoed sections of Engrossed Senate Bill No. 6184. Such a dedication must, however, still be subject to legislative appropriation and budgetary oversight.

For this reason, I have vetoed sections 2, 3, and 4 of Engrossed Senate Bill No. 6184.
With the exception of sections 2, 3, and 4, Engrossed Senate Bill No. 6184 is approved.

Respectfully submitted,
BOOTH GARDNER, Governor

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR
PARTIAL VETO MESSAGE ON ENGROSSED SENATE BILL NO. 6319

April 2, 1992

To the Honorable, the Senate
of the State of Washington
Ladies and Gentlemen:

I am returning herewith, without my approval as to sections 4 and 7, Engrossed Senate Bill No. 6319 entitled:
"AN ACT Relating to the placement of people with disabilities."

Existing law mandates that regional support networks receive a portion of state mental hospital funds when they assume new responsibilities for short-term involuntary commitments. The Department of Social and Health Services and the regional support networks have been working for months to establish a formula to implement this funding change.

The language in section 4 creates a right to "any savings" achieved through reduction in use of hospital beds. This is not feasible to administer since it would require constant readjustment according to bed day use or some other factor. Neither regional support networks nor the state would retain any certainty as to their budgets. Unfair allocations between regions would be created. The effect would be a potential for ongoing litigation and tension between mental health regional support networks and the Department of Social and Health Services.

I am pleased with the remarkable achievements of the regional support networks and the Department of Social and Health Services in implementing mental health reform. The type of mandate contained in section 4 of this bill could interfere with that collaborative effort.

Section 7 of the bill would repeal statutes intended to be addressed in section 4.
For these reasons, I have vetoed sections 4 and 7 of Engrossed Senate Bill No. 6319.
With the exception of sections 4 and 7, Engrossed Senate Bill No. 6319 is approved.

Respectfully submitted,
BOOTH GARDNER, Governor

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR
PARTIAL VETO MESSAGE ON SUBSTITUTE SENATE BILL NO. 6327

March 26, 1992

To the Honorable, the Senate
of the State of Washington
Ladies and Gentlemen:

I am returning herewith, without my approval as to section 5, Substitute Senate Bill No. 6327 entitled:
"AN ACT Relating to the award for excellence in education program."

Substitute Senate Bill No. 6327 adds classified school employees to those eligible to receive recognition, and a stipend or tuition reimbursement, for outstanding performance and contribution to our public education system. The work of classified school staff is vital to an effective school program. They are deserving of this recognition.

Section 5 puts this recognition in jeopardy by providing that if specific funding is not included in the 1993 Appropriations Act, the act will become null and void. In recognition of the important service rendered by classified school employees, I am eliminating this "null and void" provision to ensure full participation in the award for excellence in education program. For this reason, I have vetoed section 5 of Substitute Senate Bill No. 6327.

With the exception of section 5, Substitute Senate Bill No. 6327 is approved.

Respectfully submitted,
BOOTH GARDNER, Governor

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR
PARTIAL VETO MESSAGE
ON ENGROSSED SECOND SUBSTITUTE SENATE BILL NO. 6347

March 31, 1992

To the Honorable, the Senate
of the State of Washington

Ladies and Gentlemen:

I am returning herewith, without my approval as to sections 3, 5, and 13, Engrossed Second Substitute Senate Bill No. 6347 entitled:

"AN ACT Relating to domestic violence."

Sections 2 and 3 of Engrossed Second Substitute Senate Bill No. 6347 require the Office of the Administrator for the Courts to develop standardized forms, instructions, and informational brochures for persons petitioning for protection under the state's Domestic Violence Protection Act. Section 5 requires records of incidents of domestic violence to be submitted to the Washington Association of Sheriffs and Police Chiefs for the purpose of collecting statewide crime data.

Section 13 declares sections 2, 3, and 5, null and void if funding is not provided in the Omnibus Appropriations Act referencing these sections by number.

Although funding has not been specifically provided in the 1992 Supplemental Appropriations Act, the Office of the Administrator for the Courts can accomplish the provisions of section 2 within available resources. In order to allow section 2 to go into effect without placing additional burdens on state agencies, I am vetoing section 3, which contains the date for completion, and section 13 which contains the null and void language.

I am further troubled by the lack of funding for the domestic violence incident reporting contained in section 5. The broad coverage of section 5 to include all reports of incidents of domestic violence (rather than just reports of felony incidents) is a cost which cannot be absorbed within the current budget of the Criminal Justice Training Commission. However, because RCW 10.99.030(7) and (8) require law enforcement agencies to maintain records of all domestic violence incidents reported, and to maintain such records identifiable by a specific code, I believe greater cooperation and coordination between law enforcement records of the various state and local jurisdictions is possible.

Many felonies (for which records are kept) characterized as rape, homicide, assault, arson, robbery, burglary, larceny and motor vehicle theft originate as acts of domestic violence. The lack of coordinated documentation tends to de-emphasize the explosion in domestic violence incidents. Failure to document will continue to impair our ability to control, prevent or adequately respond to such violence.

Despite the veto of section 5, I am directing the Office of Financial Management to work toward obtaining funding, through available grants or applicable federal or state funds, to assist the improvement of domestic violence data through coordinated reporting of domestic violence incidents pursuant to RCW 10.99.030(7). In the event such funding cannot be found, I encourage the Washington State Association of Sheriffs and Police Chiefs to work with interested groups to develop a request for funding to the 1993 Legislature.

With the exception of sections 3, 5, and 13, Engrossed Second Substitute Senate Bill No. 6347 is approved.

Respectfully submitted,
BOOTH GARDNER, Governor

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR
PARTIAL VETO MESSAGE ON SUBSTITUTE SENATE BILL NO. 6428

April 2, 1992

To the Honorable, the Senate
of the State of Washington

Ladies and Gentlemen:

I am returning herewith, without my approval as to sections 12 and 13, Substitute Senate Bill 6428 entitled:

"AN ACT Relating to at-risk families."

Section 12 directs the Juvenile Issues Task Force to determine whether a network of local consortia may administer the program funds from state agencies serving children and families at-risk. Section 401 of Engrossed Substitute House Bill No. 2466 (the juvenile issues omnibus bill) directs the Joint Select Committee of Juvenile Issues to undertake a similar study of community-based services to children and families. Therefore, I have vetoed section 12 of Substitute Senate Bill No. 6428.

Section 13 requires that "implementation of council, consortia and the children's institute" be included in all federal and state plans affecting children, youth, and families. I believe there was an error in drafting this section because it is not clear what is meant by this requirement. To avoid confusion, I have vetoed section 13.

For the reasons stated above, I have vetoed sections 12 and 13 of Substitute Senate Bill No. 6428.

With the exception of sections 12 and 13, Substitute Senate Bill No. 6428 is approved.

Respectfully submitted,
BOOTH GARDNER, Governor

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator West: "A point of personal privilege. We are indeed honored and blessed to have so many new members joining us this year. They joined a Senate that is steeped in deep tradition that has many honored traditions of which I am sure our new members will want to learn of and will want to perpetuate and continue. These traditions are such that they give this body some dignity and give this body a living legacy.

"Yesterday, three of our new members made very glowing remarks on the floor of the Senate. They made what is called their 'maiden speech.' As a time-honored tradition that goes back to when this Senate was founded, they now owe a tribute to the body for their maiden speech. The distinguished gentle woman from the second district, Senator Rasmussen; the distinguished gentle woman from the twenty-eighth, Senator Winsley; and the distinguished gentleman from the fourteenth, Senator Deccio, should, on the next day that we meet, make a tribute to the Senate and tradition would have it--that in the olden days they used to provide chocolate and cigars, but very few people smoke and so now it somewhat--"

POINT OF ORDER

Senator Deccio: "Was that really my maiden speech? It seems to me that I hear my voice rolling around--"

Senator West: "Freshmen are freshmen."

Senator Deccio: "I'm going to withdraw my name from that list."

Senator West: "We will expect a tribute of a consumable nature unique to each member in the Senate at the next meeting of the session--perhaps next week. We will give them some time. The other new members might think of what their opportunities--for when they make their maiden speech and the tribute that they may provide to the entire body."

REMARKS BY SENATOR SKRATEK

Senator Skratek: "Thank you, Mr. President. I completely concur with Senator West. However, I must add a name to his list. Our gentle woman from the eleventh district, Senator Prentice, made her maiden speech in her nomination of the Sergeant at Arms. So, we must add her as well."

REMARKS BY SENATOR PRENTICE

Senator Prentice: "Thank you, Mr. President. I also am acknowledging the changes that have occurred in this room and they are about to continue to change. I would suggest that perhaps we use a different term besides 'maiden.'"

REMARKS BY THE SPEAKER

Speaker Ebersole: "Thank you Mr. President, this is indeed an honor.

"This is a week for sharp contrasts. Yesterday, we said goodbye to a Governor who was known to be soft-spoken, quiet, and often perplexed by the twists and turns of legislative politics. He was a man of many interests--a serious tennis player, a regular at the local gym, a diligent piano student, and a soccer coach.

"Today, we welcome a new Governor--a man who eats, breathes and sleeps politics and public policy. Our new Governor is a man who revels in the rough and tumble of the legislative arena--a man whose passionate and vocal devotion to the democratic process is legendary. Among our new Governor's passions are health care reform, education reform, and the creation of state budgets that invest in opportunity and promote economic vitality. We, in the Legislature, look forward to working closely with the new Governor to achieve these goals. But, Mike's overriding concern is bringing people together across all the lines of difference of color, of gender, of geography, and partisan loyalty.

"He devotes every ounce of his considerable energy to these tasks. In fact, when our new Governor needs a thorough aerobic workout, he doesn't go to the gym--he gives a speech. So, let me clear away the water pitchers and get out of harm's way. We ask all of you to join me in giving a joyous and rousing welcome to the twentieth Governor of the state of Washington, the Honorable Mike Lowry."

INAUGURAL ADDRESS BY GOVERNOR MIKE LOWRY

Governor Lowry: "Mr. President, Mr. Speaker, Mr. Chief Justice, distinguished Justices of the Supreme Court, distinguished members of the Legislature and my distinguished fellow elected officials, Reverend McKinney--my pastor, our distinguished congressional delegation, other honored guests, dedicated public employees, and fellow citizens of the state of Washington.

"Before I begin, I did hear just from news people who contacted me, only moments ago, news that you may have heard that there is air bombing going on in Iraq. Each and every one of us offer our prayers and our hope to all people involved. I know that is true of all the people of the state of Washington. Our hopes and our prayers go to everyone involved.

"Before I begin, I also want to acknowledge two people again as this room and body and state did yesterday and that is Governor Booth Gardner and Jean Gardner--for the tremendous contribution that they have made to our state over this last eight years. It is my honor as Governor to say 'Thank you, Booth, and thank you, Jean.'

"I stand here today because of the tremendous support of literally thousands of friends and people across the state of Washington. I wish I could name each and everyone of them. That, of course, is not possible at this time, but please extend to me the privilege of acknowledging my best friend, my closest advisor, the person that has meant the most to getting me to this place today--Mary Lowry. Extend to me the privilege of introducing other members of my family who are here--that mean so very much to me and have been so supportive. Our daughter, Diane, who is an absolute inspiration to us; my sister, Suellen Lowry Hibschman; my niece, Ann Ventress; Mary's father, Elmer Carlson; and my mother, Helen Lowry.

"It is a great honor to be elected Governor of the state of Washington and I want to thank each and every person in the state for that honor. There have been those who have questioned why I am so optimistic about the future of the state of Washington. The answer to that is simple. I am optimistic because the people of the state of Washington are saying that they want to all work together--Democrats, Republicans, Independents--one state all working together for the good of all. That is why I am optimistic that we will have a great future for this state. I've seen that in so many places in the last few months and I have a transition task force, the number of which is more than the people in this room. This is actually a small meeting for me. They have done an absolutely fantastic job. They are made up of business and labor and conservationists from all over the state--people of all ethnic origins--all working together because they want us to work together to meet the challenges and the opportunities of our state. It is so clear watching those wonderful, dedicated people working together, just how easy it is going to be to do this job. I am especially optimistic about the future of the state of Washington, because exactly that same attitude is with the elected officials in this room--with the legislators in this room, with all the elected officials in this room, who I know from what they have been showing and you have been showing and been working together, saying, 'We are going to work together to get the job done.' Thank you for that attitude; it is because of that this state has a great future.

"Certainly, we have a difficult budget situation, but we will handle that budget situation and not with gimmicks, not with smoke and mirrors, not with IOU's, but with good, sound fiscal policy that understands the importance of sound fiscal policy to the future of our state, to our economic vitality and to the quality of life of our people. We will handle that, because of you.

"So, let's look at some of the most important components of the work we will be doing--working together--with your leadership--the foundations for a great future for this state. Health care, the dual crisis of escalating, out of control health care costs and uncovered people in our state is an absolute crisis for everyone--from the family to every business to, yes, our state budget. We will spend for the same level of health care, five hundred and fifty million dollars more this next biennium for health care in the state budget than this biennium. If we had passed meaningful health care reform in 1981, we wouldn't have a budget deficit in 1993. For the vitality of this state, to be able to move ahead and get at fundamentals so that we can have good sound fiscal policies, we must and we will pass meaningful health care reform this year.

"Education--Education--I have often said that I think we could hold a press conference and perhaps answer every question put before us on a challenge of our problem in one word, 'Education.' It is the key to our economic vitality. In the real world of today, to maintain the outstanding firms that we have in this state and to attract the type of firms that we have in this state that will provide for good, high-paying jobs--the key to that is to have the best educated workforce. That is what attracts, keeps, draws, the businesses that we need. The key to our economic future--the key to our economic vitality is education--having that highest quality educated workforce.

"So, from preschool through K-12 through our community colleges and our technical institutes and our four-year universities and our research universities, we must put the priority to have an education system second to none, because it is the key to the future of this state. It would be penny wise and pound foolish to, at this time, make deep cuts in education. It would critically hurt and cripple our economy for the future. We are not going to make that mistake.

"Allow me to talk more about education. One of the most important things to us as people is to benefit and appreciate the importance of our culture, of our arts, and of our hysterical heritage--our historical heritage--and for some of us hysterical heritage. It is so key; it seems so easy that when we get into the crunch that the importance of culture and art and history--it is so easy for us to cut those out. That is a tremendous mistake for us as people. As we move through our education component, let's remember that. Let's remember what a tremendous thing arts and our culture are to us.

"Continuing on education, I believe the most important education issue of all is the health and the condition of the child when they come to the classroom--readiness for learning. It seems to me that it would be impossible to learn if you were hungry or if you were sick or if you were homeless. Yet we have thousands of children in our state who are hungry and sick and homeless and it does not have to be that way. We can change that; we must commit ourselves to programs in this state that eliminate hunger, get health care that we need and eliminate homeless, so that child can come to that classroom ready to learn--key education issues.

"Let me mention one last area that I am still going to place under the broad umbrella of education, although there are many things that go into that. We have got to get to the root causes of why we are having this burgeoning, bursting at the seams, increase in our prison population. We have got to get to that--to what are the root causes and why is that happening. We are spending twenty-seven thousand dollars a person a year in prisons. We spend six times more on prisoners than we do on community college students, per student. I mean, can that work? I can think the answer to it all is obviously, 'No.' So, what we need to do is one, get more judgment back into the justice system and two, get at the roots of why these crimes are going on.

"I believe that a great number of our people who are now on their way to prison or in a place in their life, that if it doesn't change, they are going to be on their way to prison--that if they had the opportunity and the hope to have a good job then they would be going a different path. What we need to do is give hope and opportunity and education a chance and I think we will get a great return with that understanding of that investment.

"While all of these elements of education have many important components in them, because of your work, because of the work of Governor Gardner and many dedicated people across the state, we are in a position to, in this year, make a giant step forward on improving our education process--on putting us in the place to be competitive in the real world of today. I'm referring, of course, to the work that has been done by the Governor's Council on Education Reform and Funding and all of the work of all the people across the state that have gone into that, that have put us in the position of this year of doing something very meaningful. We must and we will pass education reform this year. Let's do that.

"I think it is true all across our country, but it is certainly true in the beautiful state of Washington that good environmental policy is good economic policy. As we move through these next four years and as we work on the policies of economic vitality of the things that really count of making sure that our people have the opportunity for a good paying job, we must remember that a key component of a strong economy--of a real economy--is good environmental policy, good agricultural policy, good forest policy. Those go hand in hand--good fisheries policy--those go hand in hand with a good environment, because if we are approaching our natural resources directly, then we are going to have a solid fisheries and a solid forestry and solid agriculture.

"High technology goes hand in hand with a good environment. As a matter of fact, we have a great opportunity in this state to be the world's leader for environmental cleanup. We have a tremendously, highly educated workforce and high technology abilities in so many of our different industries around the state. Of course, a perfect example is to look at that wonderful workforce in the Tri-Cities where we have an opportunity working there as is also true of working many other places around our state--to become the world leader in environmental cleanup technology. Now, talk about something that, unfortunately, there is a real market for, that is something there is a real market for. Let's make sure that we see that relationship and we work our way towards that.

"Let's also make sure as we go through our policies over the next four years that we understand the importance of the great beauty of this state as a wonderful economic job opportunity. Tourists--I mean we simply are not doing as much as we should be doing in this most beautiful of all places, in the whole world, of attracting and bringing in and getting those tourism dollars. We can be working that with film institutes and all types of things.

"So, again, protecting our environment, enhancing our natural resources, those just move forward as great economic opportunities for the people of our state. One last item on the environment--the importance of that within our economy. We must build a infrastructure that handles our needs for the remainder of this decade and carries us into the twenty-first century. We must have water quality and water policy, and transportation policy--state-wide integrated transportation policies that meet the needs of this decade and the twenty-first century. We must dedicate ourselves to make that happen. Those things all will work together, for that key, most important component of quality of life, the opportunity to have a good paying job--it all comes together in that.

"One last area I would like to talk about within that is we need and we will make state government more efficient and more effective and more streamlined to provide better services in partnership with the private sector in this state. We will do that. Streamlining regulations, streamlining over-lapping duplicating regulations, so that we apply those correctly will both be a great enhancement as a partner with the private sector for our economy in this state and we'll do a better job of protecting our environment and the health and the safety of our people. So, regulatory reform--making our government work more efficiently and more effectively is good from every standpoint. We can and we will do that. A key component within that is recognizing the wonderful contribution that the public employees make to the state of Washington. We have excellent, hard working public employees.

"As we move to making our government more efficient, more effective through consolidation and elimination of duplication and making all the agencies of state government accountable to the people--as we do that--the key to how we will make that happen is because of the dedication of our excellent public employees. An important component of management and the employees, to be able to do their job, is that we would be much better off at that if we have collective bargaining and civil service reform. Let's get those so that we can move ahead with a streamlined effective government, so that we can do the job we are all here to do.

"All of these things that I mentioned are, of course, because they all relate together for the future of our economy and the future of our quality of life. I think we will have great success in accomplishing those fundamentals that are so key to that.

"Let me mention before I end this speech--and it will end. I was looking for an applause line from over here with the Republicans. Yes, thank you! The most important issue in America and in the state of Washington--the most important political issue is to rebuild the credibility of our political system. That is the most important. I want to thank many of the elected officials in this room for the job that you have done in this last election cycle of working on rebuilding that credibility. It is the key issue to our wonderful democracy.

"That is why in the Governor's campaign that I just went through, that I set two very strong rules for my campaign. First, that it would be a totally, positive campaign and would not employ any negative politics. I had confidence that the wonderful people of the state of Washington wanted that type of a campaign. You and I together have a fantastic opportunity for all of us to work together and say, 'Let's end the blight of negative campaigning.' Will you all join me and commit in making that happen? It will be a wonderful thing for our democracy.

"The second rule I set for the campaign is that we would have strict campaign contribution limits. I believe that the people of the state of Washington would really participate within their political system if given the opportunity, if knowing that their small contribution and their grass roots work could really make a difference and not be off set by huge contributions from financial special interests.

"Of course, the people of the state of Washington showed that that was absolutely true. They participated in response to that opportunity in record-setting ways. As a matter of fact, by the end of the campaign, it wasn't possible to open the small envelopes coming in to make the calculation to know how many funds we had to purchase ads and so my staff developed a means by which they weighed the mail and calculated what it was. Why did that work? Because this is a political system that is owned by the people of the state of Washington. Given the opportunity to participate, in that political system, they said, 'Yes, we do want to do that.'

"We can make a tremendous change for the remainder of our political system if we will continue the road on campaign finance reform and continue it until the job is done. Will you join with me to pass campaign finance reform that will get the job done?

"So, today, we begin the work of the next four years. I have talked of high standards and challenging goals, but I know those will be met. I know those will be met because of you. There is fantastic dedication and leadership within this room. I think that four years from now, when we look back at what has been accomplished, we can, with pride, look at these goals that were achieved. We will know that we had earned the faith that was placed in us by the voters. The people of the state of Washington will be able to say, 'They did the job that we elected them to do.' That, for a public servant, is the highest possible praise.

"Thank you and let's get to work."

MOTION

On motion of Senator Talmadge, the rules were suspended, Senate Bill No. 5000 was advanced to third reading, the second reading considered the third and the bill was placed on final passage.

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Prince: "Senator Gaspard, I am a little reluctant to vote for this bill, because this bill only deals with a part of this state. I represent a district that needs this program very badly. I would find it much easier to vote for this if I felt that if the intent was, in continuing this program, that maybe some other people could be brought in to the program as well."

Senator Gaspard: "Senator Prince, the purpose for this legislation is to eliminate the termination of our Basic Health Care Plan that was scheduled to take place at the end of this biennium, June 30. As I mentioned earlier in our comments, and Senator Talmadge has also mentioned it, it will probably be a major part of the improvements that we would like to make to health care in a health care reform program that we will be looking at later this session.

"Certainly, when we improve access, we would like to make the improvements to health care that would go to other parts of our state, and so we look forward to making this program available throughout the state of Washington and look forward to working with you to make that happen."

Senator Prince: "O.K., that reassures me; it is easier for me to cast a vote for it."

Further debate ensued.

The President declared the question before the Senate to be the roll call on the final passage of Senate Bill No. 5000.

ROLL CALL

The Secretary called the roll on the final passage of Senate Bill No. 5000 and the bill passed the Senate by the following vote: Yeas, 48; Nays, 0; Absent, 0; Excused, 0.

Voting yea: Senators Amondson, Anderson, Barr, Bauer, Bluechel, Cantu, Deccio, Drew, Erwin, Fraser, Gaspard, Hargrove, Haugen, Hochstatter, Jesernig, Loveland, McAuliffe, McCaslin, McDonald, Moore, Moyer, Nelson, Newhouse, Niemi, Oke, Owen, Pelz, Prentice, Prince, Quigley, Rasmussen, M., Rinehart, Roach, Sellar, Sheldon, Skratek, Smith, A., Smith, L., Snyder, Spanel, Sutherland, Talmadge, Vognild, von Reichbauer, West, Williams, Winsley and Wojahn - 48.

SENATE BILL NO. 5000, having received the constitutional majority, was declared passed. There being no objection, the title of the bill was ordered to stand as the title of the act.

Rule 57. Bills introduced in the senate intended to amend existing statutes shall have the words which are amendatory to such existing statutes underlined. Any matter to be deleted from the existing statutes shall be indicated by setting such matter forth in full, enclosed by double parentheses, and such deleted matter shall be lined out with hyphens. No bill shall be printed or acted upon until the provisions of this rule shall have been complied with.

Sections added by amendatory bill to an existing act, or chapter of the official code, need not be underlined but shall be designated "NEW SECTION" in upper case type and such designation shall be underlined. New enactments need not be underlined.

Joint Resolutions and Memorials

Rule 58. Joint resolutions and joint memorials, up to the signing thereof by the president of the senate, shall be subject to the rules governing the course of bills.

Senate Concurrent Resolutions

Rule 59. Concurrent resolutions shall be subject to the rules governing the course of bills and may be adopted without a roll call. Concurrent resolutions authorizing investigations and authorizing the expenditure or allocation of any money must be adopted by roll call and the yeas and nays recorded in the journal. Concurrent resolutions are subject to final passage on the day of the first reading without regard to Senate Rule 62.

Committee Bills

Rule 60. Committee bills introduced by a standing committee during a legislative session may be filed with the secretary of the senate and introduced, and the signature of each member of the committee shall be endorsed upon the cover of the original bill.

Committee bills shall be read the first time by title, ordered printed, and referred to the committee on rules for second reading.

Committee Reference

Rule 61. When a motion is made to refer a subject, and different committees are proposed, the question shall be taken in the following order:

- FIRST: A standing committee.
- SECOND: A select committee.

Reading of Bills

Rule 62. Every bill shall be read on three separate days unless the senate deems it expedient to suspend this rule. On and after the tenth day preceding adjournment sine die of any session, or three days prior to any cut-off date for consideration of bills, as determined pursuant to Article 2, Section 12 of the Constitution or concurrent resolution, this rule may be suspended by a majority vote. (See also Rule 59).

First Reading

Rule 63. The first reading of a bill shall be by title only, unless a majority of the members present demand a reading in full.

After the first reading, bills shall be referred to an appropriate committee pursuant to Rule 61.

Upon being reported back by committee, all bills shall be referred to the committee on rules for second reading, unless otherwise ordered by the senate. (See Rule 49.)

A bill shall be reported back by the committee chairman upon written petition therefor signed by a majority of its members. The petition shall designate the recommendation as provided in Rule 45, Sub. 4.

No committee chairman shall exercise a pocket veto of any bill.

Should there be a two-thirds majority report of the committee membership against the bill, a vote shall be immediately ordered for the indefinite postponement of the bill.

Second Reading/Amendments

Rule 64. Upon second reading, the bill shall be read section by section, in full, and be subject to amendment.

Any member may, if sustained by three members, remove a bill from the consent calendar as constituted by the committee on rules. A bill removed from the consent calendar shall take its place as the last bill in the order of consideration of bills on the second reading calendar.

No amendment shall be considered by the senate until it shall have been sent to the secretary's desk in writing and read by the secretary.

All amendments adopted on the second reading shall then be securely fastened to the original bill.

All amendments rejected by the senate shall be spread upon the journal, and the journal shall show the disposition of all amendments.

When no further amendments shall be offered, the president shall declare the bill has passed its second reading, and shall be referred to the committee on rules for third reading.

Third Reading

Rule 65. Bills on third reading shall be read in full by sections, and no amendment shall be entertained.

When a bill shall pass, it shall be certified to by the secretary, together with the vote upon final passage, noting the day of its passage thereon.

The vote must be taken by yeas and nays, the names of the senators voting for and against the same to be entered upon the journal and the majority of the members elected to the senate must be recorded thereon as voting in its favor to secure its passage by the senate.

Scope and Object of Bill Not to be Changed

Rule 66. No amendment to any bill shall be allowed which shall change the scope and object of the bill. (See also Art. 2, Sec. 38, State Constitution.) Substitute bills shall be considered amendments for the purposes of this rule.

Matters Related to Disagreement Between the Senate and House

Rule 67. When there is a disagreement between the senate and house on a measure before the senate, the senate may act upon the measure with the following motions which have priority in the following order:

To concur
To non-concur

To recede
To insist
To adhere

These motions are in order as to any single amendment or to a series of amendments. (See Reed's Rules 247 through 254.)

A senate bill, passed by the house with amendment or amendments which shall change the scope and object of the bill, upon being received in the senate, shall be referred to an appropriate committee and shall take the same course as for original bills, unless a motion to ask the house to recede, to insist or to adhere is made prior to the measure being referred to committee.

Bills Committed for Special Amendment

Rule 68. A bill may be committed with or without special instructions to amend at any time before taking the final vote.

Confirmation of Gubernatorial Appointees

Rule 69. When the names of appointees to state offices are transmitted to the Secretary of the Senate for senate confirmation, the communication from the governor shall be recorded and referred to the appropriate standing committee.

The standing committee, or subcommittee, pursuant to rule 42, shall require each appointee referred to the committee for consideration to complete the standard questionnaire to be used to ascertain the appointee's general background and qualifications. The committee may also require the appointee to complete a supplemental questionnaire related specifically to the qualifications for the position to which he has been appointed.

The standing committee, or subcommittees, pursuant to rule 42, shall hold a public hearing on the appointment. The appointee may be required to appear before the committee on request. When appearing, the appointee shall be required to testify under oath or affirmation. The chairman of the committee or the presiding member shall administer the oath or affirmation in accordance with RCW 44.16. (See also Article 2, Sec. 6 of the State Constitution.)

Nothing in this rule shall be construed to prevent a standing committee, or subcommittee, pursuant to rule 42, upon a two-thirds vote of its members, from holding executive sessions when considering an appointment.

When the committee on rules presents the report of the standing committee before the senate, the question shall be the confirmation of the name proposed, and the roll shall then be called and the yeas and nays entered upon the journal. In the event a message is received from the governor requesting return of an appointment or appointments to the office of the governor prior to confirmation, the senate shall vote upon the governor's request and the appointment or appointments shall be returned to the governor if the request is approved by a majority of the senators elected. REPORT OF SELECT COMMITTEE

WASHINGTON TRAFFIC SAFETY COMMISSION
100 S. Cherry Street, PO Box 40944
Olympia, Washington 98504-0944

January 12, 1993

Dear Legislator:

Welcome! As the 1993 legislative session gets underway, I want to take a moment to introduce our agency to you. The Washington Traffic Safety Commission (WTSC) is directed under RCW 43.59 to plan and supervise programs for the prevention of traffic collisions and to coordinate activities at the state and local level in the development of traffic safety programs.

The WTSC is funded primarily with federal highway safety funds, normally a little over $5 million a biennium in federal gas tax dollars returned to the state for traffic safety uses. We also receive match dollars from the state highway safety fund to qualify for the federal funds, normally about $360 thousand a biennium, and since 1989 we have received funding from the state Public Safety and Education Account (PSEA) to help support the statewide network of community DWI Task Forces. PSEA funding for the DWI Task Forces in the 1991-93 biennium was $900 thousand.

I have enclosed two documents that may help you understand the Traffic Safety Commission a little better.

The first is our Highway Safety Plan for 1993. Although this plan only addresses programs funded with federal section 402 dollars, and does not cover projects financed with federal incentive or state funds, it is helpful in understanding our processes and the type of projects we typically support. You might find the Data Summary and Problem Analysis section, pages 13 through 98, helpful in determining what the most serious traffic safety problems are in Washington State.

The second document enclosed is a copy of our FY 1992 Highway Safety Plan Annual Report. According to federal rules, this report is submitted annually to the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration and covers all our federally funded projects.

One of our most important missions is to provide policy makers with the data, studies and information needed to make good decisions. The WTSC legislative liaison, Steve Lind, can be reached at 753-6538. Steve is available to provide testimony at a hearing, research questions you may have about proposed traffic safety legislation, work with your staff on preparing legislation, or assist you in many other ways. Through our Traffic Records Data Center (TRDC), Steve can make some excellent resources available to you, including an extensive document library containing many traffic safety studies and research documents in addition to a powerful computer based query system that can access many different state traffic safety related data bases.

Our goal is to provide the best information available so that you can make good policy decisions. My commitment to you is that the data will be accurate and reliable, the studies and research will be scientific, and in all our dealings we will be prompt and nonpartisan.

Again, welcome aboard! We look forward to working with you during what promises to be an exciting and challenging session.

Sincerely,
CHARLES F. HAYES, Director

The Select Committee Report is on file in the Office of the Secretary of the Senate.

REPORT OF SELECT COMMITTEE

WASHINGTON STATE BOARD OF EDUCATION

January 1, 1993

TO: Members of Washington State Legislature
FROM: Kathleen Anderson, President
 Judith A. Billings, Chief Executive Officer
SUBJECT: 1993 Report to the Legislature on the Schools for the 21st Century Program

In May of 1987, the Legislature passed Chapter 525, Laws of 1987 (Substitute Senate Bill No. 5479), authorizing the Schools for the 21st Century Program. Included in the provisions of that act was the requirement that the Washington State Board of Education report to the Legislature on the progress of the program on a biennial basis, with the first report being due in January 1989. Attached is the Executive Summary of the Board's third report to satisfy that requirement.

The State Board of Education is pleased to share with you information about the progress and results of the program to date. The first twenty-one projects have completed four of their six years, while the second twelve will reach the midpoint of their projects in June of this year. Included in the Executive Summary is background information about the program, data on what we have learned, barriers to implementing change, and staff recommendations. Also included are contacts for each project so that legislators may obtain additional information about projects located in their area or those of special interest to them.

We believe that the Schools for the 21st Century Program has played a key role in educational restructuring throughout the state and has been a catalyst for significant changes, such as the movement towards outcome-based education, site-based management, and the passage of the Education Reform Bill of 1992. We also believe that continued review and analysis of the program during the six years authorized for each of the projects can assist the Legislature in its efforts to promote school improvement and increased student performance.

For copies of the full 1993 Report to the Legislature on the Schools for the 21st Century Program or for additional copies of this report, please contact: John Anderson, Coordinator, Schools for the 21st Century; Office of Superintendent of Public Instruction, Old Capitol Building, PO Box 47200, Olympia, WA 98504; (206) 586-4512, SCAN 321-4512

DEPARTMENT OF INFORMATION SERVICES
Olympia, Washington 98504-2440

January 19, 1993

Dear Colleague:

It is my pleasure to submit for your review Washington State's first "Strategic Information Technology Plan," as required by RCW 43.105.160. This plan will serve as the foundation for state government information technology planning. It was developed by the Department of Information Services' (DIS) Policy and Regulation Division after discussions with and recommendations from numerous state agency executives and information technology professionals. The plan was adopted by the Information Services Board in December, 1992.

Information technology supports core organizational goals, and is a tool that helps agencies meet their goals and serve their clients. The strategic plan is a call to action to use information technology to improve government effectiveness.

The plan is designed to optimize, coordinate, and deploy state of Washington information technology resources to support and enable effective government operations and public service. It establishes four goals:

1. Improve service delivery to the public through the use of information technology.
2. Make information more accessible through an affordable and widely-available communications infrastructure.
3. Use information technology to respond quickly to changing business requirements.
4. Invest in people, tools, methods, and partnerships that support agency missions through information technology in government.

The state strategic plan guides individual agency strategic information technology plans. These plans will be reviewed by DIS' Policy and Regulation Division to ensure compliance with the state strategic plan.

State government now has a high level focus towards strategic planning that will improve this important segment of state government. It will help ensure that we work together to make the best and most cost-effective use of information technology.

If you have any questions or comments about this plan, please feel free to contact me at 753-0400.

Sincerely,
CLARE DONAHUE, Deputy Director

REPORT OF SELECT COMMITTEE

OFFICE OF THE GOVERNOR
P. O. Box 40002

January 14, 1993

Marty Brown, Secretary of the Senate
Washington State Senate

Legislative Building
Olympia, Washington 98504-0400

Dear Mr. Brown:

RE: ANNUAL EFFICIENCY COMMISSION REPORT

The original legislation enacting the Efficiency Commission directed the Commission to develop a four-year work plan to be presented to the Legislature by December 31, 1987. The Commission was directed to present an annual report to the Legislature annually, no later than December 31, on its progress toward completing the four-year plan and on its recommendations for operational and organizational improvements in state government. The reenacting legislation only changed the expiration date of the Commission, and did not specifically address whether an annual report was still required.

The Efficiency Commission has submitted an annual report since 1987. The Governor is the chair of the Commission. With the transition occurring, the Commission has deferred preparing the report in order to incorporate any changes a new chair might suggest in operations or focus. The Commission hopes to have these decisions made in the next few months.

Please accept our request to delay submittal of the Efficiency Commission annual report until March 31, 1993.

Sincerely,
CAROLE CHEATLE, Executive Director
Efficiency and Accountability Commission

SENATE RESOLUTION 1993-8604

By Senators Franklin, Oke, Sellar, Haugen, M. Rasmussen, Bauer, Wojahn, Talmadge, Owen, Snyder, Pelz, Sutherland, Williams, Winsley and Quigley

WHEREAS, Equality of all human beings is the fundamental principle upon which our nation was founded; and

WHEREAS, Equal protection of the law is guaranteed to all people by our Constitution; and
WHEREAS, Thurgood Marshall pursued the fight for equality and justice throughout his life with persistence, intelligence, and dignity; and

WHEREAS, Thurgood Marshall, as general counsel for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People and director of the NAACP Legal Defense and Education Fund for twenty-five years, was the principal architect of the strategy of using the courts to assure African-Americans the full rights of citizenship and in so doing strengthened the rights of all citizens; and

WHEREAS, Thurgood Marshall successfully argued that a racially segregated system of "separate but equal" public education was inherently unequal in the case of Brown v. Board of Education before the United States Supreme Court in 1954, which signaled the beginning of the end of segregation and created new educational opportunity for many in our country; and

WHEREAS, Thurgood Marshall compiled an unparalleled record of success as an advocate and as a judge, including twenty-nine victories in thirty-two cases argued before the United States Supreme Court, and one hundred fifty federal court decisions of which not one was overturned on appeal; and

WHEREAS, Thurgood Marshall served with distinction as a member of the 2nd United States Circuit Court of Appeals from 1961-1965, as Solicitor General of the United States from 1965 until his appointment to the United States Supreme Court in 1967, and as the first African-American Justice of the highest court in the land until his retirement in 1991; and

WHEREAS, Mr. Justice Thurgood Marshall died on Sunday, January 24, 1993, at the age of eighty-four; and

WHEREAS, In his passing our nation and its people have lost a true American hero for the causes of freedom, liberty, and equality;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, That the Washington State Senate hereby honors the life and work of Mr. Justice Thurgood Marshall and recognizes his contribution to the continuing struggle for civil rights; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That the Washington State Senate joins with the people of our state in remembering Thurgood Marshall and his legacy.

Senators Jesernig, Franklin, Talmadge and Wojahn spoke to Senate Resolution 1993-8604.

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Deccio: "A point of personal privilege, Mr. President. I was admonished by Senator West a few days ago, along with some of the other freshmen, that we needed to do something for the members. On your desk, you have a little can of Tree Top apple juice. The reason why this gift is so significant for me is that the world headquarters for Tree Top, one of the world's largest producers of apple juice is in Selah, a bedroom district of Yakima.

"I need to explain to you that the contents of this can of apple juice--these are made from apples--not the kind you find in the store that are extra fancy and fancy, they are made of C-grade apples. Interestingly enough, these apples don't come from the Yakima Valley, because the Yakima Valley only grows fancies and extra fancies. Wenatchee, for years, has tried to grow fancy and extra fancy apples, but all they can come up with are C-grades. While these world headquarters are in Yakima, the apples are very fine C-grades and come from Wenatchee. Thank you."

Debate ensued.

MESSAGE FROM THE SECRETARY OF STATE

The Honorable President of the Senate
Legislature of the State of Washington
Olympia, Washington 98504

Mr. President:

On January 11, 1993, this office certified that we had begun the signature checking process on Initiative to the Legislature #141 which was originally filed with this office on June 11, 1992.

We have completed a canvass of 101,875 signatures out of 159,308 signatures submitted in support of this measure. Of the number canvassed, we have determined that 86,656 were signatures of legal voters, 15,219 were either not registered, illegible or were multiple signatures.

Article II, section 1A of the State Constitution establishes the minimum number of acceptable signatures in order to qualify an initiative measure for the ballot as eight percent of the total votes cast for the office of Governor, or 150,001 signatures. The total number of invalid signatures permissible on Initiative Measure #141, therefore is 9,307 (159,308 - 150,001).

Since the total number of invalid signatures discovered during the canvassing procedure was 15,219, which exceeds the permissible number, we have terminated the signature checking process and we are unable to certify the measure to you for your consideration.

(Seal) IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have set my hand and affixed the seal of the state of Washington this 5th day of February, 1993.

RALPH MUNRO
Secretary of State

This was an agreement between the chairs when this bill came up that both committees would be reviewing this measure. Renumber the remaining sections consecutively.

On page 2, line 28, after "through" strike "4" and insert "5"

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Anderson: "Senator Fraser, before I vote on these amendments, which is an enforcement, I think we should maybe talk about the underlying substitute bill that is in our books. This is putting into effect, in the state of Washington, a percent limit of phosphorus on dishwasher and laundry soaps sold. Not having been in on the committee discussion, I really wanted to have a discussion if things like the commercial Tide laundry detergent and Bold laundry detergent and Cascade dishwasher liquid that we buy now would meet these limits, because if things that are on the shelf now would be outlawed, then I am hesitant to vote for an enforcement of that, not understanding how this is going to change our current system as a purchaser."

Senator Fraser: "Thank you for your question. I am pleased to clarify that these limitations do not preclude the sale of any current dishwasher soap in the state. In fact, the limit is slightly above soaps that I know of that are being sold. The main effect is on laundry soap. Those are sold interchangeable and so the main effect of the entire bill is on laundry soap."

Senator Anderson: "So, in following through with that, the laundry soap that you are talking about, the commercial brands like Tide laundry soap, that's what I use--I don't know what everyone else uses--Bold and those types of things, they would have to change in this state from the current on-the-shelf that the consumers can go buy right now?"

Senator Fraser: "Both types are sold now in the state and they are sold interchangeable. You have to look very, very carefully on the box to determine which kind you are buying. With the passage of this bill, the distributors and purchasers who sell at retail would need to be sure that they order only the very low phosphate soap for laundry. In terms of your use of the word commercial, commercial and industrial uses are specifically exempted from the bill."

Further debate ensued.

The President declared the question before the Senate to be the adoption of the amendments by Senators Fraser, Barr, Talmadge and Hargrove on page 2, after line 27 and line 28 to Substitute Senate Bill No. 5320.

The motion by Senator Fraser carried and the amendments were adopted.

MOTION

On motion of Senator Fraser, Engrossed Substitute Senate Bill No. 5320 was advanced to third reading, the second reading considered the third and the bill was placed on final passage.

REPORT OF SELECT COMMITTEE

HIGHER EDUCATION COORDINATING BOARD

917 Lakeridge Way - PO Box 43430
Olympia, Washington 98504-3430

February 12, 1993

Marty Brown
Secretary of the Senate
306 Legislative Building
Olympia, Washington 98504-0482

Dear Mr. Brown:

The 52nd Legislature passed Substitute House Bill No. 1196 which directed Washington State University to prepare a proposal to establish a Center for Environmental and Molecular Sciences at the Tri-Cities branch campus. The bill also directed the Higher Education Coordinating Board to review the proposal and make a recommendation to the Governor and Legislature regarding a) whether to establish the Center, and, if so, b) what the long-term development of the Center should be.

On January 22, 1992, the Higher Education Coordinating Board adopted Resolution 92-7 which found that the Center required a strategic plan. The Board encouraged WSU to submit a revised proposal including a strategic plan in conjunction with its biennial budget request.

On January 28, 1993, the Board adopted the enclosed report reviewing the WSU revised proposal, which incorporated additional information but did not include a strategic plan. Therefore, the Board has requested that WSU convene a Policy Council, prepare a strategic plan for the Center by Fall 1994, and pursue opportunities for federal funding of hazardous waste research.

The Board supports the establishment of a Center for Environmental and Molecular Sciences at WSU Tri-Cities. If you have any questions about the report, please contact Katrina Meyer, HECB staff, at 586-2520, SCAN 321-2520.

Sincerely,
JAMES C. SAINSBURY, Acting Executive Director

The Select Committee Report is on file in the Office of the Secretary of the Senate.

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Anderson: "Senator Jesernig, Senate Bill No. 5928 signed by Senator Anderson and then Senator Rasmussen, the chair of the Agriculture Committee--Protecting agricultural lands from flood damage--is going to the Committee on Natural Resources?"

Senator Jesernig: "Yes, Senator Anderson, this is exactly the same bill that was introduced earlier and went to Natural Resources with about three words changed, to take out relative lands to agricultural lands. It is essentially the same bill that is already in Natural Resources."

Senator Anderson: "Senator Jesernig, the intent section focused in on agriculture and at the request of the chairman, we had hoped that this would go to Agriculture."

Senator Jesernig: "This is the decision of the caucus, the decision of leadership, that this bill would go to Natural Resources as the other bill is, and that is where it is going to be going."

Senator Anderson: "Thank you for that clarification, Senator Jesernig."

MOTION

At 12:04 p.m., on motion of Senator Jesernig, the Senate adjourned until 12:00 noon, Monday, March 1, 1993.

- GA 9263, DALE BRIGHTON, Member, Board of Trustees for Wenatchee Valley Community College District No. 15.

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Newhouse: "Senator Bauer, this is a new procedure and rather unusual. If a member wished to record a negative vote for anyone of these, could they notify the desk of that?"

Senator Bauer: "Senator Newhouse, I think that would be a decision of the President."

REPLY BY THE PRESIDENT

President Pritchard: "The Chair believes that if someone wants to vote a negative vote, we will take that name off the list."

Senator Newhouse: "Thank you."

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator McCaslin: "Senator Bauer, this is a good idea, I think. I recommended it years ago, but my question is if a member is absent, is he absent for thirteen votes or for one vote?"

Senator Bauer: "That's another decision of the Chair."

Senator McCaslin: "Well then I'll ask the President. Mr. President, could you rule on that?"

REPLY BY THE PRESIDENT

President Pritchard: "They are all recorded separately, so it would be thirteen votes."

Senator McCaslin: "Then, I think that is unfair."

President Pritchard: "But everybody is here, Senator McCaslin."

Senator McCaslin: "Thank you very much. I am not talking about today. There is a future, I hope, for all of us and if this comes up again, then I don't think it would be fair that if an individual member was inadvertently absent, that he would have thirteen absent votes counted against him. As you and I both know, occasionally this gets into the political arena. I think that would be totally unfair."

President Pritchard: "Senator McCaslin, let the President assure you that I will only allow this to go on when all the members are here."

Senator McCaslin: "Thank you, could you spread that on the Journal?"

President Pritchard: "I think it is in the Journal, right here."

Further debate ensued.

The President declared the question before the Senate to be the motion by Senator Bauer that the listed gubernatorial appointments be confirmed by a single vote and each name recorded as if voting on each appointment separately.

Washington State Biotechnology Committee

Releases Annual Report

Seattle (March 2) -- George Rathmann, co-chair of the state's Biotechnology Targeted Sector Advisory Committee, today released the committee's annual report on biotechnology in Washington. The committee is an advisory body to the Washington State Department of Trade and Economic Development.

The committee's top priorities are strengthening math, science and technology education at the K-12 levels, the creation of a biotechnology job training program and supporting biotechnology curricula development at our state's institutions of higher education. Citing the need for legislative support for biotechnology, Rathmann, who is also President and CEO of Bothell's ICOS Corp., said biotechnology will continue to be one of the most dynamic and rapidly growing sectors of the state's economy into the next decade.

The state currently has more than 60 biotechnology companies. The state's biotechnology workforce grew 26 percent from 1990-1992 to nearly 5,000 employees, according to the latest survey of the state's biotech firms by the Department of Trade and Economic Development. This growth rate is more than twelve times the state's total employment growth rate for the same period. Biotechnology revenue totalled more than $200 million, an increase of more than 30 percent from 1990-1992. Using conservative growth rates the biotechnology industry will have more than 90 companies, employ nearly 10,000 people and bring in revenue of more than $1 billion by the end of the decade.

These numbers exclude biotechnology employment at Batelle's Pacific Northwest Laboratory, Weyerhaeuser and at the state's universities, which are the source of most of the state's biotechnology firms. Biotechnology employees at these organizations are excluded from sector employment totals because of the difficulty in collecting and separating biotech employment from the organizations' total employment.

The average base salary on the West Coast for a starting level research associate with a 4-year college degree and no experience ranges from $19,800 to $29,100; starting scientists with a Ph.D. degree and no experience receive $35,500 to $55,000.

Washington State, without any strategic planning or targeted investment, has become a focus of biotechnology research and development. This is due in large part to the high quality of research being done at the University of Washington, Washington State University, Eastern Washington University, and the Fred Hutchinson Cancer Research Center.

The University of Washington, which has one of the premier health sciences centers on the West Coast, receives more federal research and training money than any other public university in the country--$385 million. The Fred Hutchinson Cancer Research Center performs more bone marrow transplants than any other institution in the world and has the nations' largest research program on causes and prevention of cancer.

Biotechnology, as defined by the state's study, is any modern technology that uses living organisms--or parts of organisms--to produce or modify products, to improve plants or animals, or to develop microorganisms for specific uses. Some experts predict biotechnology will be worth tens of billions by the turn of the century.

There are six main biotechnology centers in the United States: the San Francisco Bay area, the New York/Tri-State area, the Boston area, the Washington D.C. area, the San Diego/Los Angeles area. The Seattle area contains the sixth largest biotech center in total number of companies.

The state's report, prepared by the Washington State Department of Trade and Economic Development's Advisory Committee under authority of a law passed by the 1989 Legislature, was assigned three objectives:

- 1) Assess the status of biotechnology in Washington.
- 2) Develop a program to increase biotechnology employment, capital investment and product sales.
- 3) Develop an evaluation process to measure the program's effectiveness.

The Advisory Committee members appointed by Governor Gardner conducted numerous surveys of the state's biotech firms. Additionally, subcommittees studied labor availability, employment training, regulation and legislation, tax structure, capital availability, technology transfer and industrial recruitment.

The committee, and the Washington State Biotechnology Association (WSBA), are taking a number of steps to support education during the current year, including:

1. Supporting the Washington Systemic Initiative for Mathematics, Science and Technology Education. This is a statewide, private-public sector effort for reform of elementary mathematics, science and technology education. A $10 million, five-year grant proposal was submitted to the National Science Foundation in October 1992. Notification of the award is expected in May 1993.
2. Complete an annual survey (follow-up to the 1990 advisory committee survey) focusing on human resource issues, education (curricula development), job training needs, financing requirements, facility needs, in-state technology transfer relationships and current product development stage, all based on 10-year projections.
3. Establish an informational biotechnology clearinghouse of "existing and proposed" higher education student internship programs, higher education, private biotech firm and other K-12 teacher education programs, like the Fred Hutchinson Cancer Research Center/Immunex Corporation "Education Partnership Program" to train junior high school teachers. This information will be used to strengthen and improve existing biotechnology education and to develop a long-term plan to further enhance science education in the state.
4. Develop and implement a higher education curricula development plan and expand existing internship programs.
5. Organize a consortium of biotechnology firms and community colleges to develop a state funded biotechnology training program.

Rathmann explained that the state of Washington was fortunate during the 1970s' to have farsighted individuals who seized opportunities to capitalize on the state's education and economic base, which resulted in increased federal research, and training funds to our research universities, and the creation of the Fred Hutchinson Cancer Research Center. We now have similar opportunities which strengthen the state's economic foundation, in particular the newly established Department of Molecular Biotechnology at the University of Washington, the Environmental and Molecular Science Laboratory in the Tri-Cities, the state's systemic initiative for math, science and technology education and the proposed federal shifting of funds from defense to industrial research and development. The question is--will our state's business, educational, state and federal leaders act upon these opportunities? Supporting biotechnology development can strengthen Washington's traditional forest products, agricultural and fishing industries. Perhaps of greater importance is the impact supporting biotechnology will have in enhancing the chances of success for the state's emerging biotechnology industry. This encompasses the human therapeutic, diagnostic, medical device and environmental waste cleanup and management companies, which will ultimately improve and reduce the cost of healthcare and improve the quality of life for our citizens.

The Select Committee Report is on file in the Office of the Secretary of the Senate.

(a) The date and time the sticker was attached;

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

Sec. 1. RCW 15.36.115 and 1989 c 354 s 18 and 1989 s 175 s 48 are each reenacted and amended to read as follows:

(1) If the results of an antibiotic, pesticide, or other drug residue test under RCW 15.36.110 are above the actionable level established in the pasteurized milk ordinance published by the United States public health service and determined using procedures set forth in the current edition of "Standard Methods for the Examination of Dairy Products," a producer holding a grade A permit is subject to a civil penalty. The penalty shall be in an amount equal to one-half the value of the sum of the volumes of milk equivalent produced under the permit on the day prior to and the day of the adulteration. The value of the milk shall be computed by the weighted average price for the federal market order under which the milk is delivered.

(2) The penalty is imposed by the department giving a written notice which is either personally served upon or transmitted by certified mail, return receipt requested, to the person incurring the penalty. The notice of the civil penalty shall be a final order of the department unless, within fifteen days after the notice is received, the person incurring the penalty appeals the penalty by filing a notice of appeal with the department. If a notice of appeal is filed in a timely manner, a hearing shall be conducted on behalf of the department by the office of administrative hearings in accordance with chapters 34.05 and 34.12 RCW and, to the extent they are not inconsistent with this subsection, the provisions of RCW 15.36.580. At the conclusion of the hearing, the department shall determine whether the penalty should be affirmed, and, if so, shall issue a final order setting forth the civil penalty assessed, if any. The order may be appealed to superior court in accordance with chapter 34.05 RCW. Tests performed for antibiotic, pesticide, or other drug residues by a state or certified industry laboratory of a milk sample drawn by a department official or a licensed dairy technician shall be admitted as prima facie evidence of the presence or absence of an antibiotic, pesticide, or other drug residue.

(3) Any penalty imposed under this section is due and payable upon the issuance of the final order by the department. The penalty shall be deducted by the violator's marketing organization from the violator's final payment for the month following the issuance of the final order. The department shall promptly notify the violator's marketing organization of any penalties contained in the final order.

(4) All penalties received or recovered from violations of this section shall be remitted monthly by the violator's marketing organization to the Washington state dairy products commission and deposited in a revolving fund to be used solely for the purposes of education and research. No appropriation is required for disbursements from this fund.

(5) In case of a violation of the antibiotic, pesticide, or other drug residue test requirements, an investigation shall be made to determine the cause of the residue which shall be corrected. Additional samples shall be taken as soon as possible and tested as soon as feasible for antibiotic, pesticide, or other drug residue by the department or a certified laboratory. After the notice has been received by the producer and the results of a test of such an additional sample indicate that residues are above the actionable level or levels referred to in subsection (1) of this section, the producer's milk may not be sold until a sample is shown to be below the actionable levels established for the residues.

Sec. 2. RCW 69.07.040 and 1992 c 160 s 3 are each amended to read as follows:

It shall be unlawful for any person to operate a food processing plant or process foods in the state without first having obtained an annual license from the department, which shall expire on a date set by rule by the director. License fees shall be prorated where necessary to accommodate staggering of expiration dates. Application for a license shall be on a form prescribed by the director and accompanied by the license fee. The license fee is determined by computing the gross annual sales for the accounting year immediately preceding the license year. If the license is for a new operator, the license fee shall be based on an estimated gross annual sales for the initial license period.

If gross annual sales are: The license fee is:

$0 to $50,000	$50.00
$50,001 to $500,000	$100.00
$500,001 to $1,000,000	$200.00

$5,000,001 to $10,000,000	$500.00
Greater than $10,000,000	$750.00

Such application shall include the full name of the applicant for the license and the location of the food processing plant he or she intends to operate. If such applicant is an individual, receiver, trustee, firm, partnership, association or corporation, the full name of each member of the firm or partnership, or names of the officers of the association or corporation shall be given on the application. Such application shall further state the principal business address of the applicant in the state and elsewhere and the name of a person domiciled in this state authorized to receive and accept service of summons of legal notices of all kinds for the applicant. The application shall also specify the type of food to be processed and the method or nature of processing operation or preservation of that food and any other necessary information. Upon the approval of the application by the director and compliance with the provisions of this chapter, including the applicable regulations adopted hereunder by the department, the applicant shall be issued a license or renewal thereof.

Licenses shall be issued to cover only those products, processes, and operations specified in the license application and approved for licensing. Whenever a license holder wishes to engage in processing a type of food product that is different than the type specified on the application supporting the licensee's existing license and processing that type of food product would require a major addition to or modification of the licensee's processing facilities or has a high potential for harm, the licensee shall submit an amendment to the current license application. In such a case, the licensee may engage in processing the new type of food product only after the amendment has been approved by the department.

If upon investigation by the director, it is determined that a person is processing food for retail sale and is not under permit, license, or inspection by a local health authority, then that person may be considered a food processor and subject to the provisions of this chapter. An entity licensed under chapter 15.32 or 15.36 RCW is not required to obtain a license under this chapter."

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Talmadge: "Senator Rasmussen, I didn't have an idea from your explanation what this amendment is designed to do. The original bill that you substituted, as I understood it at least, was in some respects an implementation of last year's effort to set prices for milk products and that was disturbing to a number of members of the Senate. The amendment that is before us exempts somebody from licensure; I don't know who it is. Could you explain precisely who it is we are exempting from licensure and what this first section does relating to antibiotics, pesticides and other drug testing--what that is designed to do?"

Senator Rasmussen: "Senator Talmadge, what the amendment does, and I am not sure who we are talking about exempting unless it is the one grade B dairy that produces the cheese products. That may be the one that is exempted in this bill. However, the Department of Ag and the milk industry wants to fix this whole issue and they wanted some time in order to do that, so the amendment just takes care of the technical things that need to be done in the meantime. It is an agreed-upon amendment."

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Anderson: "Senator Moore, just in reading the summary, the sentence is 'the remedy for churning victims is also available for clients who have been placed in unsuitable investments.' In reading the text, it says the recommendation is suitable. Anywhere in here, is there a definition of 'suitable or unsuitable?'"

Senator Moore: "No, but in the National Association of Securities Dealer's Manual, it is discussed in some length and one of the problems is, of course, in this business, that everything is done on a phone call or a hand shake and oftentimes misunderstandings arise as the result of what is proper. But, if a person says, 'I want to be in Triple A bonds,' and they end up in Microsoft--successful as it has been--there has been a violation of their trust. The question of 'unsuitable' is covered by the NASD. Now, as to each individual firm, I can only say that with the firms that I was with, we did have directives from those firms telling us what was 'suitable' or what was 'unsuitable.'"

- (a) Presents a real and substantial potential for repetition of the harm inflicted; or

As used in this section, the term "procedure" does not include acts or procedures by licensed professionals acting within the scope of their licenses.

(2) Except as provided in this section, no court shall enter an order or judgment which has the purpose or effect of concealing a public hazard or any relevant information or material concerning a public hazard, nor shall the court enter an order or judgment that has the purpose or effect of concealing any information or material that is relevant to the public's knowledge or understanding of a public hazard.

(3) Any portion of an agreement or contract that has the purpose or effect of concealing a public hazard, relevant information or material concerning a public hazard, or information or material that is relevant to the public's knowledge or understanding of a public hazard, is void, contrary to public policy, and may not be enforced. A party to the agreement or contract may bring a declaratory action pursuant to this section to determine whether an agreement or contract conceals a public hazard and is void.

(4)(a) In any declaratory or other civil action, a party may bring a motion for a temporary order restraining disclosure to the public or to third parties information or material about the party making the motion which is known to another party or which is sought from the party making the motion by another party. Upon good cause shown the court shall examine in camera the information or material sought to be protected. The third party may challenge the motion by intervention during the court action or the third party may bring a declaratory action pursuant to this section to determine whether the agreement, contract, order, or judgment conceals a public hazard.

(b) The third party must (i) establish the existence of a public hazard; (ii) establish that the public hazard was a subject within the agreement, contract, order, or judgment; and (iii) establish a basis for a reasonable belief by the third party that the agreement, contract, order, or judgment concealed the public hazard in violation of sections 1 through 3 of this act.

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Nelson: "Senator Smith, in dealing with this subject matter, we've oftentimes talked about Civil Rule 26 that covers the same type of procedure where the plaintiff attorney and the defense attorney agree to a motion to the judge to seal a portion or all of a record involved in a liability lawsuit of one sort or another. To what extent now does this bill, as amended, Senate Bill No. 5362, affect Civil Rule 26, in so far, as being either complementary or actually overturning Civil Rule 26 that we have in our judiciary?"

Senator Adam Smith: "I think it adds something to Civil Rule 26. First of all, Civil Rule 26 only has to do with the process of discovery. During the course of discovery, the judge can determine what can be sealed. This law has to do with a situation when the lawsuit is settled and what can be sealed at that point. Simply, it adds, I guess, the discovery rule with the notion that--I guess it can be concealed during the course of discovery. It doesn't change Rule 26 at all in that respect. When you get to an actual settlement, this says that the judge can't seal it for a public hazard. So, it is really a different issue, but one way of looking at it is it makes it clear to the judge that one of the factors that he must consider in determining whether or not to seal a record is whether or not it would seal public hazard, in essence."

Senator Nelson: "So, I am led to believe that this is discretionary in some fashion with the judge as to whether or not it, in the judge's opinion, the lawsuit involves a public hazard to be now set aside and to not conform to Rule 26, as to what might be agreed upon between the plaintiff attorney and the defense attorney?"

Senator Adam Smith: "That is correct. We have a definition of public hazard in there that the judge is supposed to follow. As I mentioned, Rule 26 really covers a different part of the lawsuit."

Further debate ensued.

The President declared the question before the Senate to be the roll call on the final passage of Engrossed Senate Bill No. 5362.

All notices required by this subsection shall be mailed simultaneously with the notice to the owner of record of the property on which the proposed wetland is located.

(3) No final determination regarding a wetland designation, or a classification of a wetland may be made by any county or city less than sixty days after mailing of the notices required by this section.

(4) Failure of a county or city to provide notice required by this section may be considered in any action brought in which the existence, character, or nature of a wetland is an issue but failure to provide notice is not the basis for a determination by any agency or court that a wetland does not exist on a parcel."

Renumber the remaining sections consecutively and correct any internal references accordingly.

POINT OF ORDER

Senator Skratek: "A point of order, Mr. President. I challenge this amendment on a scope basis. The underlying bill in this particular situation refers to growth management deadlines. It is simply an extension of the various deadlines as appealed to us by the bodies that have to prepare these particular acts. The amendment addresses an issue totally unrelated to that, which is the issue of wetlands. Wetlands has nothing to do with the extension of the deadlines. It is a very difficult issue to address. It is expensive in establishing the record, etc. It is an issue that has been before this body in several other forms and has been subject to debate, but it is not appropriate to be included within a bill for deadlines."

Further debate ensued.

MOTION

On motion of Senator Jesernig, further consideration of Substitute Senate Bill No. 5230 was deferred.

RULING BY THE PRESIDENT

President Pritchard: "In ruling upon the point of order raised by Senator Skratek, the President finds that Substitute Senate Bill No. 5230 is a measure which extends certain deadlines for compliance with provisions of the State Growth Management Act.

"The amendment proposed by Senators McCaslin, Anderson and Amondson would provide that certain property owners be notified of proposals to designate lands as wetlands and outline the procedures for such notification.

POINT OF ORDER

Senator Niemi: "I rise to a point of order. Mr. President, I would like to challenge the amendment on the basis of its scope and object. To begin with the title of the bill is an act relating to imposing the death penalty upon the mentally retarded. It is very narrow. The bill has two or three sections that it relates to. The first section is 10.95.030 which defines mentally retarded in some detail. The second section is 10.95.070 which adds mental retardation specifically as to not getting the death penalty to mitigating circumstances. The amendment is to 10.95.020 which are aggravating circumstances. The amendment deals with an entirely different part of the death penalty statute."

DEFINITION OF A BASIC HEALTH CARE BENEFIT PACKAGE. Carriers regulated under chapters 48.20, 48.21, 48.44, and 48.46 RCW may collectively design a basic health care benefit package. The health services in the benefit package shall not be less than those provided through the basic health plan under chapter 70.47 RCW. Each carrier shall submit a schedule of premiums periodically for the basic benefit package to the commissioner. The insurance commissioner shall review each carrier's schedule of premiums periodically to determine whether they are reasonable in relation to the basic benefit package. Only when the commissioner determines that rates are reasonable shall the carriers offer the basic benefit package.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 102. HEALTH INSURANCE REFORMS. Basic benefit plans authorized under section 101 of this act should be offered subject to the following provisions:

(1) Should not deny, exclude, or limit benefits for a covered individual for losses incurred more than six months following the effective date of the eligible individual's coverage due to a preexisting condition.

(2) Should not modify, decrease, exclude, or restrict benefits through riders, conditions, restrictions, endorsements, or otherwise, on the basis of sex, age, or health status or health condition of the eligible individual.

(3) Should not modify, decrease, or restrict coverage through riders, conditions, restrictions, endorsements, or otherwise, on the basis of category of business trade, employment skill, or vocation or profession of the eligible individual.

(4) Should guarantee renewability of coverage except for nonpayment of premium unless the insurer has obtained the prior written approval of the commissioner who may, at his or her discretion, permit nonrenewal when renewal would impair the carrier's ability to perform its contractual duties.

(5) Entities offering health benefit plans should assume the full financial risk of providing the health benefit plan to all enrollees or participate in risk distribution methods authorized under section 103 of this act.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 103. A new section is added to Title 48 RCW to read as follows:

MEDICAL RISK DISTRIBUTION. The insurance commissioner shall establish methods to assure the fair distribution of high medical risk enrollees among carriers subject to section 101 of this act or fair financial compensation for basic benefit plans that have a disproportionately large number of high medical risk enrollees. This shall be done in a manner to assure that costs associated with providing services to high medical risk enrollees is fairly distributed among the regulated carriers.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 104. A new section is added to Title 48 RCW to read as follows:

INSURANCE COMMISSIONER AUTHORITY. If the insurance commissioner determines that less than one hundred percent of the regulated carriers in the state have not complied with sections 101 through 103 of this act by July 1, 1995, the commissioner shall exercise duties and responsibilities under chapter ---, Laws of 1993 (this act).

NEW SECTION. Sec. 105. Sections 101 through 103 of this act are necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health, or safety, or support of the state government and its existing public institutions, and shall take effect immediately.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 106. Sections 202 through 215, 229 through 252, 271 through 283, 301 through 308, 317 through 339, 346 through 351, 354 through 363, and 366 of this act shall take effect July 1, 1995, only if the insurance commissioner determines and certifies to the governor that less than one hundred percent of the regulated carriers in the state have not complied with sections 101 through 103 of this act."

Group disability insurance is that form of disability insurance, including stop loss insurance as defined in RCW 48.11.030, provided by a master policy issued to an employer, to a trustee appointed by an employer or employers, or to an association of employers formed for purposes other than obtaining such insurance, except as may be authorized in sections 101 through 103 of this act, covering, with or without their dependents, the employees, or specified categories of the employees, of such employers or their subsidiaries or affiliates, or issued to a labor union, or to an association of employees formed for purposes other than obtaining such insurance, covering, with or without their dependents, the members, or specified categories of the members, of the labor union or association, or issued pursuant to RCW 48.21.030. Group disability insurance shall also include such other groups as qualify for group life insurance under the provisions of this code.

Sec. 368. RCW 48.21.050 and 1947 c 79 s .21.05 are each amended to read as follows:

Except as provided for in sections 101 through 103 of this act, every policy of group or blanket disability insurance shall contain in substance the provisions as set forth in RCW 48.21.060 to 48.21.090, inclusive, or provisions which in the opinion of the commissioner are more favorable to the individuals insured, or at least as favorable to such individuals and more favorable to the policyholder. No such policy of group or blanket disability insurance shall contain any provision relative to notice or proof of loss, or to the time for paying benefits, or to the time within which suit may be brought upon the policy, which in the opinion of the commissioner is less favorable to the individuals insured than would be permitted by the standard provisions required for individual disability insurance policies.

Sec. 369. RCW 48.30.300 and 1975-'76 2nd ex.s. c 119 s 7 are each amended to read as follows:

No person or entity engaged in the business of insurance in this state shall refuse to issue any contract of insurance or cancel or decline to renew such contract because of the sex or marital status, or the presence of any sensory, mental, or physical handicap of the insured or prospective insured. The amount of benefits payable, or any term, rate, condition, or type of coverage shall not be restricted, modified, excluded, increased or reduced on the basis of the sex or marital status, or be restricted, modified, excluded or reduced on the basis of the presence of any sensory, mental, or physical handicap of the insured or prospective insured. Except as provided for in sections 101 through 103 of this act, these provisions shall not prohibit fair discrimination on the basis of sex, or marital status, or the presence of any sensory, mental, or physical handicap when bona fide statistical differences in risk or exposure have been substantiated.

Sec. 370. RCW 48.44.220 and 1983 c 154 s 4 are each amended to read as follows:

No health care service contractor shall deny coverage to any person solely on account of race, religion, national origin, or the presence of any sensory, mental, or physical handicap. Except as provided for in sections 101 through 103 of this act, nothing in this section shall be construed as limiting a health care service contractor's authority to deny or otherwise limit coverage to a person when the person because of a medical condition does not meet the essential eligibility requirements established by the health care service contractor for purposes of determining coverage for any person.

No health care service contractor shall refuse to provide reimbursement or indemnity to any person for covered health care services for reasons that the health care services were provided by a holder of a license under chapter 18.22 RCW.

Sec. 371. RCW 48.46.370 and 1983 c 106 s 15 are each amended to read as follows:

No health maintenance organization may deny coverage to a person solely on account of the presence of any sensory, mental, or physical handicap. (1) All persons covered under this chapter shall have a choice of purchasing an employee benefit plan or a medical care savings account.

MOTION

Senator Bluechel moved that the question be divided.

POINT OF ORDER

Senator Talmadge: "Mr. President, a point of order. If Senator Bluechel wants to do what he is attempting to accomplish by requesting a division, there is, I believe, a subsequent amendment by Senator Anderson that does precisely as Senator Bluechel requests. If he wishes to proceed in that fashion, he can vote to turn down Senator Moore's amendment and take up Senator Anderson's amendment at that time. I think the division excessively complicates matters."

RULING BY THE PRESIDENT

President Pritchard: "Well, let me answer his question first. The Chair rules that Senator Bluechel is right and he is entitled to divide the question. The vote will be on the first of the three amendments."

The President declared the question before the Senate to be the adoption of the amendment by Senator Moore on page 63, beginning on line 17, to Second Substitute Senate Bill No. 5304.

The motion by Senator Moore failed and the amendment was not adopted.

On page 94, line 37, strike "Provides" and insert "Provide"

Debate ensued.

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Barr: "Senator McDonald, what would be the effect if we don't pass these amendments?"

Senator McDonald: "Well, essentially, the people that will be under this, Senator Barr, would be the state employees, the teachers and those who are uninsured. Those would be the ones that we would control. What has been proposed is that we have over fifty percent and we would have that if we get the ERISA waiver for those who are self-insured or those who are insured with insurance companies. That will only happen, however, if you do get those ERISA waivers. That's why these amendments are needed, Senator Barr."

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Gaspard: "Senator Talmadge, I would like you to address the issue of whether or not ERISA waivers can be secured--would be secured."

Senator Talmadge: "Senator Gaspard, Governor Lowry has already spoken with President Clinton at the time of the inauguration. An indication from the President was that he was strongly in support of permitting states to secure changes in the ERISA law, so that they could proceed with their kind of experimentation. He has already, also, addressed the issue of Medicaid waivers before the National Governor's Association, indicating the administration's strong support for additional waivers of Medicaid requirements under this law. I note that the one example we have is the situation where, although Hawaii had its program in place prior to the enactment of ERISA, when ERISA came into effect, there was a court challenge to Hawaii's program and the challenge was successful in federal court. Thereafter, the Hawaii congressional delegation secured a change in ERISA and that is what is presently reflected in law. I think the track record of success for securing an ERISA waiver is a good one."

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Franklin: "Senator Hargrove, in the Basic Health Plan, remember last year when we served together across the rotunda, maternal health was taken out of the Basic Health Plan and put into First Steps. Now, will this be brought back? What concerns me is a lot of young families out there would not be able to--they would be excluded. Can you answer that question?"

Senator Hargrove: "I'd love to if I had the answer. I believe we did change some of the requirements of the Basic Health Plan in the bill. Not that one? O.K., now we are getting different signals. Nonetheless, I think the issue here--we're getting mixed signals as to whether that was changed in the Basic Health Plan or not. Dr. Moyer says, 'yes,' but Dr. Talmadge says, 'no.'

"Nonetheless, what we are going to be doing--these people have no health care now--all of these people have no health care now--except what they would get through, either Medicaid, First Steps or something like that. These are the working poor that can't qualify for that. They will be getting a lot of health care covered. We have three children; we'd paid for one of our children on our own and we were willing to save and make that investment. The point is that if our other health care was covered, it would make it a lot easier to go through with that. I guess we can determine by reading the bill whether or not--"

Senator Franklin: "That really is a concern, because I do remember distinctly that maternal child health was taken out of the Basic Health Plan and run into First Steps and that is, to me, unacceptable if you are going to have a Basic Health Plan without that service provided. That is so necessary for our pregnant mothers and our children."

Further debate ensued.

The President declared the question before the Senate to be the roll call on the adoption of the amendments by Senators Hargrove and Owen on page 82, line 6; page 84, line 30; and beginning on page 111, line 10; to Second Substitute Senate Bill No. 5304.

(2) That a health care provider promised the patient or his representative that the injury suffered would not occur;

Unless otherwise provided in this chapter, the plaintiff shall have the burden of proving each fact essential to an award by a preponderance of the evidence."

Renumber the remaining sections consecutively and correct internal references accordingly.

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Talmadge: "Senator Moyer, my question, and it is the same question that I raised in the committee, when this issue came up. I think you have a legitimate point. My concern is that under the law of medical malpractice, if a general practitioner engages in activities that would be within the sphere of confidence of a specialist--if the general practitioner fails to do what should be done--that general practitioner is ordinarily held to the standard of care that a specialist would be held to if a specialist were doing that task?"

Senator Moyer: "He's held to the same standard, yes."

Senator Talmadge: "Yes, does your amendment intend to affect that kind of principle in the law at all?"

Senator Moyer: "Not in any way."

Senator Talmadge: "Thank you, Senator. Mr. President, with that assurance from Senator Moyer, I can certainly support this amendment."

The President declared the question before the Senate to be the adoption of the amendment by Senator Moyer on page 92, after line 34, to Second Substitute Senate Bill No. 5304.

The motion by Senator Moyer carried and the amendment was adopted.

MOTION

Judgment shall be entered against each defendant except those who have been released by the claimant or are immune from liability to the claimant or have prevailed on any other individual defense against the claimant in an amount that represents that party's proportionate share of the claimant's total damages. The liability of each defendant shall be several only and shall not be joint except:

(a) A party shall be responsible for the fault of another person or for payment of the proportionate share of another party where both were acting in concert or when a person was acting as an agent or servant of the party.

(b) If the trier of fact determines that the claimant or party suffering bodily injury was not at fault, the defendants against whom judgment is entered shall be jointly and severally liable for the sum of their proportionate shares of the claimant's economic damages.

(3) If a defendant is jointly and severally liable under one of the exceptions listed in subsection (2)(a) or (b) of this section, such defendant's rights to contribution against another jointly and severally liable defendant, and the effect of settlement by either such defendant, shall be determined under RCW 4.22.040, 4.22.050, and 4.22.060."

On page 114, line 14, after "(3)" insert "A resident of the state of Washington is exempt from the participation requirements in this chapter upon the presentation of one of the following, on a form prescribed by the health care commission: (a) A written certification signed by an adult resident that the religious beliefs of the signator and his or her dependents are contrary to the participation requirements in this section; (b) a written certification signed by an adult resident that the signator and his or her dependents have either a philosophical or personal objection to the participation requirements in this section.

Debate ensued.

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Roach: "Senator Talmadge, I was just wondering, you raised the issue of those that belonged to the Christian Science faith. If there was a court-ordered medical treatment for a child, a dependent, and that was carried out, who would pay for that?"

Senator Talmadge: "Court-ordered medical treatment for what purpose, Senator?"

Senator Roach: "I have heard of some cases where the religious affiliation of the parents is sometimes overridden by a court order. Who would pay for the medical care? It would be, assumably, an expensive proposition."

Senator Talmadge: "Senator, I don't know. I presume if the individuals involved had health insurance, their health insurer would. If they did not, it might be the subject of detailing in the court's order. The court might order the people involved to pay. I don't know what the court would do in an individual case."

Senator Roach: "Even though, they had opted out of a plan?"

Senator Talmadge: "I don't know."

Senator Roach: "O.K., thank you."

Further debate ensued.

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Williams: "Senator Talmadge, I have an amendment following which changes the language of this section from mandatory participation to the offering by the state of programs that people, then, have the option of participating in. I am wondering if my amendment would satisfy Senator Cantu and other's problem? My concern is that if we adopt Senator Cantu's amendment, then my amendment strikes the whole section and would then take his amendment, so I have a concern about how we work this out and whether my amendment would satisfy his problem?"

Senator Talmadge: "My sense, Senator, is that probably the people at the rostrum could alter the place in the bill that you would find your new section to make it possible for both--the first amendment Senator Cantu has offered and your own to be adopted."

POINT OF ORDER

Senator Owen: "Well, I can give you some assurances that the bill as it reads right now has the Wildlife Commission in it. It also has the dedicated funds in tact for Wildlife and it is well. I don't know how I would give you the assurance of what the Governor is going to do, but I will assure that there are several of us on this floor who will be meeting with the Governor to insure that the Wildlife Commission is in tact. As you well know, we had dozens and dozens of people in our committee meeting that expressed an interest in merging the two departments, but only if, in fact, the commission was left in tact. So, that is what our endeavor will be."

Senator Erwin: "Your assurance that you will be meeting with the Governor is sufficient. Thank you, I'll be supporting this bill."

ENGROSSED SUBSTITUTE SENATE BILL NO. 5940, having received the constitutional majority, was declared passed. There being no objection, the title of the bill was ordered to stand as the title of the act.

MOTION

At 8:44 a.m., on motion of Senator Jesernig, the Senate was declared to be at ease.

The Senate was called to order at 9:59 a.m. by President Pritchard.

RULING BY THE PRESIDENT

President Pritchard: "In ruling upon the point of order raised by Senator Haugen, the President finds that Senate Bill No. 5638 is a measure which specifies one of the criteria to be used in appraisals of real property for taxation purposes.

"The amendment proposed by Senators Snyder, Anderson, Hargrove, Bluechel, Amondson, Cantu and Owen would define one of the circumstances which creates an unconstitutional taking of property without compensation.

"The President, therefor, finds that the proposed amendment does change the scope and object of the bill and the point of order is well taken."

The amendment by Senators Snyder, Anderson, Hargrove, Bluechel, Amondson, Cantu and Owen on page 2, line 11, to Senate Bill No. 5638 was ruled out of order.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Senator Snyder: "A point of parliamentary inquiry, Mr. President. Does that ruling apply to the other amendments that I have submitted as prime sponsor along with other members? I was just trying to save some time if it does."

REPLY BY THE PRESIDENT

President Pritchard: "Yes, Senator it appears--"

Senator Snyder: "Why don't I go ahead and move the amendments and you make the ruling on them individually? That may be better."

MOTION

Senator Snyder moved that the following amendment by Senators Snyder, Anderson, Hargrove, Bluechel, Amondson, Cantu and Owen be adopted:

On page 3, after line 2, insert the following:

"(4) Whenever implementation by the state or any of its political subdivisions of a policy or practice directly or indirectly regulating the use of land operates to reduce the value of a parcel of real property immediately prior to such implementation, the parcel is deemed to be taken for public use."

POINT OF ORDER

Senator Skratek: "I challenge the scope and object of this particular amendment on the similar lines that were previously argued by Senator Haugen on the previous amendment."

RULING BY THE PRESIDENT

President Pritchard: "The President would make the same analysis on this amendment as was made on the last one. The President would rule that the amendment is outside the scope and object of the bill."

The amendment by Senators Snyder, Anderson, Hargrove, Bluechel, Amondson, Cantu and Owen on page 3, after line 2, to Senate Bill No. 5638 was ruled out of order.

MOTION

Senator Roach moved that the following amendment be adopted:

On page 2, line 14, after "influences." insert "Counties, cities and towns shall be responsible for notifying county assessors concerning comprehensive plans, development regulations, zoning, and any other governmental policies or practices that affect the use of the appraised property."

Debate ensued.

Senator Roach demanded a roll call and the demand was sustained.

The President declared the question before the Senate to be the roll call on the adoption of the amendment by Senator Roach on page 2, line 14, to Senate Bill No. 5638.

ROLL CALL

The Secretary called the roll and the amendment was not adopted by the following vote: Yeas, 19; Nays, 27; Absent, 0; Excused, 3.

Voting yea: Senators Amondson, Anderson, Barr, Bluechel, Cantu, Erwin, Hochstatter, McDonald, Moyer, Nelson, Newhouse, Oke, Prince, Roach, Sellar, Smith, L., von Reichbauer, West and Winsley - 19.

Voting nay: Senators Bauer, Drew, Franklin, Fraser, Gaspard, Hargrove, Haugen, Jesernig, Loveland, McAuliffe, Moore, Owen, Pelz, Prentice, Quigley, Rasmussen, M., Rinehart, Sheldon, Skratek, Smith, A., Snyder, Spanel, Sutherland, Talmadge, Vognild, Williams and Wojahn - 27.

Excused: Senators Deccio, McCaslin and Niemi - 3.

MOTIONS

Senator Snyder moved that the following amendment by Senators Snyder, Anderson, Hargrove, Bluechel, Amondson, Cantu and Owen be adopted:

On page 3, after line 2, insert the following:

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. The value of property is directly affected by the regulations, policies, and actions of state and local government. If affected, the property assessment for tax purposes must be reduced because of the taking and the compensation required by the state Constitution must be paid. The criteria established in RCW 84.40.030 (1) through (3) are clarified by sections 3 through 11 of this act.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. (1)(a) Whenever implementation by the state or any of its political subdivisions of a scheme directly or indirectly regulating the use of land operates to reduce the value of a parcel of real property immediately prior to such implementation, the parcel is deemed to be taken for public use.

(b) The following definitions apply throughout sections 2 through 11 of this act:

(i) "Compensation" means cash or in-kind payment, if the affected property owner agrees to in-kind payment and then agrees to the in-kind payment actually offered, including but not limited to clustering; transfer of development rights; staging of concurrency; land trades; environmental mitigation credits for prior activity of owners; density bonuses; or adjustments to restrictions on lot size, number of units, or building dimensions.

(ii) "Parcel" means one or more contiguous tax lots of an owner.

(iii) "Owner" includes one or more natural or legal persons who own the parcel, whether as sole owner, marital community, cotenants, or tenants in partnership or as a corporation.

(iv) "Scheme regulating the use of land" means one regulation or government action affecting the use of land; or more than one such regulation or action, though occurring at different times or by different governmental entities, with the same or similar policy objectives, such as development moratoria, zoning, health regulations, safety regulations, aesthetic regulations, fish and wildlife regulations, sensitive-area regulations, and environmental regulations, whether such regulation or action is interim or permanent. A scheme regulating the use of land does not include any regulation or government action of the federal government or regulation or government action of the state or any local governmental entity taken to comply with the minimum requirements of federal law or regulation.

(2)(a) When a parcel of real property has been taken for public use as provided in sections 2 through 11 of this act, the governmental unit or units that implement the scheme regulating the use of land shall be liable to the owner for compensation, and the owner shall have an action at law to recover such compensation. When more than one governmental unit is involved, the court shall determine the proportion each unit is required to contribute to the compensation.

(b) The compensation shall be for the full amount of the decrease in assessed value. In addition, an owner who prevails either through settlement or verdict in an action for the recovery of such compensation shall be entitled to reasonable costs, expenses of litigation, and sums for attorneys' fees.

(3) Governmental units subject to sections 2 through 11 of this act shall not make waiver of the provisions of sections 2 through 11 of this act a condition for approval of the use of real property or the issuance of any permit or other entitlement. Plaintiffs may accept an approval of use, permit, or other entitlement granted by the governmental unit without compromising their rights under sections 2 through 11 of this act if:

(a) A written reservation of their rights is made at the time of acceptance of the authorization, permit, or other entitlement;

(b) An oral statement reserving their rights is made before the governmental unit granting the authorization, permit, or other entitlement at a public meeting at which the governmental unit renders its decision.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4. Compensation is required by sections 2 through 11 of this act unless the scheme regulating the use of land is an exercise of the police power solely to prevent or abate a public nuisance as defined at common law or an application of the public trust doctrine as it relates to navigable water only.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 5. (1) The statute of limitations for actions brought under sections 2 through 11 of this act is the statute of limitations for actions for recovery of real property. The statute of limitations begins to run upon the enactment of the scheme regulating the use of land; or the final administrative decision implementing the scheme regulating the use of land affecting plaintiffs' property or by a showing by the plaintiff that application for administrative decision is futile.

(2) A scheme regulating the use of land is implemented with respect to an owner's or user's property when actually applied to that property unless the enactment of the scheme by itself operates to reduce the fair market value of real property for the uses permitted at the time the owner acquired title, without further governmental action and the scheme contains no provision allowing for just relief from the scheme's operation.

(3) Sections 2 through 11 of this act apply to schemes regulating the use of land, all or some part of which is implemented after the effective date of this act. No part of a scheme shall be considered for purposes of sections 2 through 11 of this act if the part was implemented more than ten years before the effective date of this act.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 6. If a natural event or condition threatens to deprive an owner of land of the land's use or to cause serious damage to the land, and immediate corrective action is required to prevent this deprivation or damage, but this action will violate a state or local law or regulation unless official waiver or permission is obtained, the owner may either:

(1) Apply to the governmental unit charged with enforcing such regulation to take, or to permit the owner to take, the required corrective action. If the governmental unit wrongfully denies waiver or permission or fails to take reasonably timely action upon the application, so that such deprivation or damage occurs, the governmental unit shall be liable to the owner for the diminution in value of the land which occurs unless the natural event or condition was the fault of the owner; or

(2) Without notifying the governmental unit under subsection (1) of this section, take such corrective action as is reasonably necessary to prevent the threatened deprivation or damage. However, the owner shall notify the governmental unit that he or she has undertaken the corrective action within five days after commencing such action and shall give a general description of the action undertaken. Thereafter, in a legal action brought by the governmental unit, the owner shall be liable for violation of the regulation if a court determines that there was a violation and that an owner would not have qualified for any available waiver or exemption.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 7. (1) If a governmental unit is found by a court of competent jurisdiction to have committed a regulatory taking under section 3 of this act, such unit shall be liable for compensation, measured by the owner's diminution in value caused by such taking from the time the scheme that regulated the use of the owner's land became effective until the unit may grant an exemption or choose to repeal such scheme. However, if the governmental unit does not grant an exemption or choose to repeal the regulatory scheme within a reasonable period of time, to be fixed by the court, then the unit shall be liable for compensation for a permanent taking, measured by the diminution of fair market sale value caused by the taking, valued as of the date of trial. This section shall not affect any further remedy that is constitutionally required.

(2) Any permit, authorization, or other entitlement granted under a scheme repealed under subsection (1) of this section shall continue to be valid.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 8. Sections 2 through 11 of this act do not preclude any action at law or equity that an owner would have had if sections 2 through 11 of this act had not been enacted.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 9. If the state or any of its political subdivisions imposes, changes, or implements any scheme regulating the use of land in such a way as to reduce the previous assessed value of a taxpayer's property, the county assessor shall, on or before the ensuing April 1, adjust the property's assessed value downward by an amount equal to the difference between the assessed value of the property under the new scheme, and the previous assessed value.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 10. Whenever any compensation is paid to a property owner by the state or by any local governmental entity pursuant to a judgment or agreement to compensate for a regulatory taking under sections 2 through 11 of this act, the payor shall cause to be recorded with the county auditor for the county in which the real property is located a notice of compensation for regulatory taking. This notice shall contain a legal description of the affected parcel of real estate, a statement of the reason for compensation, the name of the payor, the name of the owner, and the amount paid.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 11. If a county, city, or health district is found by a court to have committed a regulatory taking under section 3 of this act, the court shall require that the compensation owed be paid by the state if the scheme regulating the use of land was adopted or implemented by the county or city in order to effectuate a policy or requirement of state or federal law.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 12. Sections 2 through 11 of this act are each added to chapter 84.40 RCW."

Senator Haugen moved that the following amendment to the amendment be adopted:

On page 5, after line 12, insert the following:

"NEW SECTION. Sec. 12. An additional excise tax is imposed beginning January 1, 1994, on each sale of real property in the state at a rate of one-half of one percent of the selling price. The proceeds of the tax shall be used exclusively for compensation as provided for in this act, the acquisition of a fee simple or lesser interest in conservation areas by counties and for the acquisition of a less than fee simple interest in conservation areas by the state.

(1) The tax must be imposed and collected in the same manner and under the same conditions as the tax under RCW 82.45.060 is imposed and collected, except that the additional tax does not apply to the acquisition of an interest in conservation areas by the state or a county, city, town, or park district.

(2) The treasurer of a county shall place fifty percent of the receipts from the additional tax imposed under this section into an account established for the county for compensation as provided for in this act or to acquire and maintain conservation areas.

A plan for the expenditure of the county's portion of the excise tax proceeds shall be prepared by the county legislative authority and periodically updated. Prior to the adoption or alteration of this plan, the elected officials of cities and towns located within the county shall be consulted and a public hearing shall be held to obtain public input. The first priority for any funds not used for compensation as required in this act must be the acquisition of interests in conservation areas that are wetlands or agricultural lands. The proceeds of this excise tax that are retained by a county must be expended in conformance with this plan.

(3) The treasurer of each county shall distribute the remaining fifty percent of the receipts from the additional tax imposed under this section to the state treasurer who shall place the moneys into the takings and conservation lands account created under section 13 of this act.

(4) As used in this section, "conservation area" has the meaning given under RCW 36.32.570.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 13. A new section is added to chapter 43.99 RCW to read as follows:

The takings and conservation lands account is created in the state treasury. Moneys received by the state treasurer from collections of the additional excise tax on real estate sales, authorized under section 12 of this act, shall be deposited into the takings and conservation lands account. Moneys in this account will be used to provide compensation as provided for in this act.

(1) At the end of each biennium, unspent funds in the takings and conservation account shall be used by the interagency committee for outdoor recreation only for preparing a conservation areas plan and administering and awarding grants to state agencies or counties to acquire less than fee simple interest in conservation areas, as defined in RCW 36.32.570, except that not more than one percent of amounts administered by the committee may be used for planning and program administration.

(2) The interagency committee for outdoor recreation shall adopt and periodically update a plan identifying conservation areas in which the state is to acquire interests, and shall award grants for the acquisition of interests in these identified conservation areas to counties and state agencies, including, but not limited to, the department of wildlife, department of fisheries, department of natural resources, and the state parks and recreation commission. The first priority for these expenditures shall be to acquire interests in conservation areas that are wetlands or agricultural lands.

(3) The interagency committee for outdoor recreation shall coordinate its efforts with counties acquiring and maintaining conservation areas under section 12 of this act.

Sec. 14. RCW 82.46.070 and 1990 1st ex.s. c 5 s 3 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) Subject to subsection (2) of this section, the legislative authority of any county may impose an additional excise tax on each sale of real property in the county at a rate not to exceed one percent of the selling price. The proceeds of the tax shall be used exclusively for the acquisition and maintenance of conservation areas.

The taxes imposed under this subsection shall be imposed in the same manner and on the same occurrences, and are subject to the same conditions, as the taxes under chapter 82.45 RCW, except((:

~~(a) The tax shall be the obligation of the purchaser; and~~

~~(b)) the tax does not apply to the acquisition of conservation areas by the county.~~

The county may enforce the obligation through an action of debt against the purchaser or may foreclose the lien on the property in the same manner prescribed for the foreclosure of mortgages.

The tax shall take effect thirty days after the election at which the taxes are authorized.

(2) No tax may be imposed under subsection (1) of this section unless approved by a majority of the voters of the county voting thereon for a specified period and maximum rate after:

(a) The adoption of a resolution by the county legislative authority of the county proposing this action; or

(b) The filing of a petition proposing this action with the county auditor, which petition is signed by county voters at least equal in number to ten percent of the total number of voters in the county who voted at the last preceding general election.

The ballot proposition shall be submitted to the voters of the county at the next general election occurring at least sixty days after a petition is filed, or at any special election prior to this general election that has been called for such purpose by the county legislative authority.

(3) A plan for the expenditure of the excise tax proceeds shall be prepared by the county legislative authority at least sixty days before the election if the proposal is initiated by resolution of the county legislative authority, or within six months after the tax has been authorized by the voters if the proposal is initiated by petition. Prior to the adoption of this plan, the elected officials of cities located within the county shall be consulted and a public hearing shall be held to obtain public input. The proceeds of this excise tax must be expended in conformance with this plan.

(4) As used in this section, "conservation area" has the meaning given under RCW 36.32.570.

(5) This section shall apply only to counties that have imposed the tax authorized by this section before January 1, 1994."

Renumber the remaining sections consecutively and correct internal references accordingly.

Senator Haugen demanded a roll call and the demand was sustained.

Debate ensued.

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Snyder: "Senator Haugen, is this local option?"

Senator Haugen: "This would have to go to a vote of the people."

Senator Snyder: "In each county--county by county?"

Senator Haugen: "No, it would be voted on state-wide."

Senator Snyder: "State-wide."

Further debate ensued.

POINT OF ORDER

Senator Anderson: "Mr. President, I would like to raise the challenge of scope and object on the amendment by Senator Haugen on page 5, after line 11, to the Snyder amendment on page 3, after line 2."

POINT OF ORDER

Senator Skratek: "A point of order, Mr. President, I don't believe it is appropriate to challenge the scope and object of an amendment to an amendment. Rule 66 states that scope and object of a bill can be challenged, but we are not within the bill itself and this is not an amendment to a bill, but it is an amendment to an amendment and I find no rule that basically indicates that you can challenge the scope of an amendment to an amendment. It would be appropriate to challenge the total amendment when we finally amend the amendment, but there is no challenge to the scope and object of an amendment to an amendment."

REPLY BY THE PRESIDENT

President Pritchard: "Senator Skratek, you can raise a scope and object on an amendment to the amendment."

Senator Skratek: "May I inquire which rule that is in the Senate Rules?"

President Pritchard: "Rule 66 provides that no amendment may be offered that changes the scope and object of the bill."

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Barr: "Senator Fraser, on the amendment that we adopted on page 2, line 30, where we took out the words, 'caused by forest practices,' is that what made it a state-wide, all-encompassing bill?"

Senator Fraser: "No, Senator Barr, the bill is state-wide because of the section that deals with what the funds in the account would be used for. The funds could be used for water shed restoration in forested areas anywhere in the state. That would be one-third of the funds; another third of the funds would be water shed restoration and enhancement in the Puget Sound Basin; and one-third of the funds would be for water shed restoration and enhancement in water sheds anywhere in the state outside the Puget Sound Basin. The amendment we previously adopted merely eliminated reference to only one of the reasons why water sheds can be degraded. We eliminated specific reference to the reason of forest practices, but there are many other reasons because there are many other reasons why a water shed can be degraded including through urban practices and many other types of practices. So, I think this is a fair bill for the state."

SECOND READING

SENATE BILL NO. 5307, by Senators Pelz, A. Smith, McAuliffe, Bauer, Talmadge, Spanel, Haugen and Moyer (by request of Washington State School Directors Association, Board of Education and Superintendent of Public Instruction)

On page 1, line 7, after "person" insert ", except a person who holds a valid concealed weapons permit,"

Debate ensued.

Senator Amondson demanded a roll call and the demand was sustained.

Further debate ensued.

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Oke: "Senator Pelz, when we started, I thought you said that you would approve of an amendment that would allow the individual that has a concealed weapons permit to leave that weapon in his car. Is that correct?"

Senator Pelz: "No, that is already in the bill. There is an amendment put forth by Senator Quigley that allows a parent, grandparent or legal guardian with a concealed weapons permit to drop off or pick up their child, which is to go into the building, pick up their child and come back out of the building. That would be an amendment to my bill that I would find acceptable.

"The bill, currently, allows a person with a concealed weapons permit to drive up, stay in the car, get the child, or to leave the car and leave the weapon locked in the vehicle."

Senator Oke: "If I may continue, Senator Pelz, with your knowledge of how easily it is to take radios out of cars, do you feel that leaving a weapon in a car is a safe place for a weapon?"

Senator Pelz: "Again, Senator Oke, I have to confess that was an amendment I put in in response to concern raised by gun advocates, frankly, to try to make the bill more acceptable to them."

Senator Oke: "Thank you."

Further debate ensued.

The President declared the question before the Senate to be the roll call on the adoption of the amendment by Senators Hochstatter, Amondson, Erwin and Hargrove on page 1, line 7, to Substitute Senate Bill No. 5307.

ROLL CALL

The Secretary called the roll and the amendment was not adopted by the following vote: Yeas, 21; Nays, 25; Absent, 0; Excused, 3.

MOTIONS

On motion of Senator Vognild, the following Committee on Transportation amendments were considered simultaneously and were adopted:

On motion of Senator Vognild, the rules were suspended, Engrossed Senate Bill No. 5544 was advanced to third reading, the second reading considered the third and the bill was placed on final passage.

Debate ensued.

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Cantu: "Senator Vognild, under current law, that utility tax could be applied against both the business per employee and residential and this bill doesn't change that, it only changes the rate? Am I correct?"

Senator Vognild: "That is correct."

Senator Cantu: "I'm getting a 'no.' I am just not clear; I'm sorry."

Senator Vognild: "Under the amendment, the ability to totally exempt the business from the utility tax was removed from the bill. So, it would still be applied--if it is applied--it would be applied to business and residence, both, but they would be able to apply the tax to the business at as low a rate as they felt was necessary, so it didn't harm the business."

Senator Cantu: "O.K., I did understand that the rate could be from one penny to two dollars or whatever. That flexibility was not there, but the application to residences was there before. It is still there. The application of businesses was there and it is still there. The only difference is the rates?"

Senator Vognild: "Basically, that is correct."

Senator Cantu: "And that would be for both the homes and the businesses--the variable rate?"

Senator Vognild: "No, Senator, that affects only the business. The reason for that was that the business that was trying to hang on with fifty employees, being suddenly imposed with an additional one hundred dollar per month charge might put them under, but the benefit would still be there for all the residences at the same level. Constitutionally, we are also told that you have to have an application within class. That is why we used the business approach we used."

Senator Cantu: "Thank you."

MOTION

On motion of Senator Spanel, Senator Skratek was excused.

The President declared the question before the Senate to be the roll call on the final passage of Engrossed Senate Bill No. 5544.

(1) Upon the filing of the petition, the clerk of the court shall issue a summons, one directed to the child, if the child is twelve or more years of age, and another to the parents, guardian, or custodian, and such other persons as appear to the court to be proper or necessary parties to the proceedings, requiring them to appear personally before the court at the time fixed to hear the petition. If the child is developmentally disabled and not living at home, the notice shall be given to the child's custodian as well as to the child's parent. The fact-finding hearing on the petition shall be held no later than seventy-five days after the filing of the petition, unless exceptional reasons for a continuance are found. The party requesting the continuance shall have the burden of proving by a preponderance of the evidence that exceptional circumstances do exist. To ensure that the hearing on the petition occurs within the seventy-five day time limit, the court shall schedule and hear the matter on an expedited basis.

(2) A copy of the petition shall be attached to each summons.

(3) The summons shall advise the parties of the right to counsel. The summons shall also inform the child's parent, guardian, or legal custodian of his or [her] right to appointed counsel, if indigent, and of the procedure to use to secure appointed counsel.

(4) The summons shall advise the parents that they may be held responsible for the support of the child if the child is placed in out-of-home care.

~~((6))~~ ~~(7)~~ If the person summoned as provided in this section is subject to an order of the court pursuant to subsection ~~((4- or))~~ (5) or (6) of this section, and if the person fails to abide by the order, he may be proceeded against as for contempt of court. The order endorsed upon the summons shall conspicuously display the following legend:

If the party is within the state and cannot be personally served, but the party's address is known or can with reasonable diligence be ascertained, the summons may be served upon the party by mailing a copy thereof by certified mail as soon as possible following the filing of the petition, but in no case later than fifteen court days before the hearing, or such time as set by the court. If a party other than the child is without the state but can be found or the address is known, or can with reasonable diligence be ascertained, service of the summons may be made either by delivering a copy thereof to the party personally or by mailing a copy thereof to the party by certified mail at least ten court days before the fact-finding hearing, or such time as set by the court.

~~((8))~~ (9) Service of summons may be made under the direction of the court by any person eighteen years of age or older who is not a party to the proceedings or by any law enforcement officer, probation counselor, or department of social and health services social worker.

If the identity or location of the tribe cannot be determined, such notice shall be transmitted to the secretary of the interior of the United States.

Sec. 2. RCW 13.34.160 and 1987 c 435 s 14 are each amended to read as follows:

In ~~((any case in which))~~ an action brought under this chapter, the court ~~((shall find the child dependent, it may in the same or subsequent proceeding upon the parent or parents, guardian, or other person having custody of said child, being duly summoned or voluntarily appearing, proceed to))~~ may inquire into the ability of ~~((such persons or person able))~~ the parent or parents of the child to pay child support ~~((the child or contribute thereto, the court))~~ and may enter ~~((such))~~ an order ~~((or decree as shall be according to equity in the premises, and))~~ of child support as set forth in chapter 26.19 RCW. The court may enforce the same by execution, or in any way in which a court of equity may enforce its decrees. All child support orders entered pursuant to this chapter shall be in compliance with the provisions of RCW 26.23.050.

Sec. 3. RCW 13.34.180 and 1990 c 246 s 7 are each amended to read as follows:

A petition seeking termination of a parent and child relationship may be filed in juvenile court by any party to the dependency proceedings concerning that child. Such petition shall conform to the requirements of RCW 13.34.040, shall be served upon the parties as provided in RCW 13.34.070~~((7))~~(8), and shall allege:

- (1) That the child has been found to be a dependent child under RCW 13.34.030(2); and
- (2) That the court has entered a dispositional order pursuant to RCW 13.34.130; and
- (3) That the child has been removed or will, at the time of the hearing, have been removed from the custody of the parent for a period of at least six months pursuant to a finding of dependency under RCW 13.34.030(2); and
- (4) That the services ordered under RCW 13.34.130 have been offered or provided and all necessary services, reasonably available, capable of correcting the parental deficiencies within the foreseeable future have been offered or provided; and
- (5) That there is little likelihood that conditions will be remedied so that the child can be returned to the parent in the near future; and
- (6) That continuation of the parent and child relationship clearly diminishes the child's prospects for early integration into a stable and permanent home;
- (7) In lieu of the allegations in subsections (1) through (6) of this section, the petition may allege that the child was found under such circumstances that the whereabouts of the child's parent are unknown and no person has acknowledged paternity or maternity and requested custody of the child within two months after the child was found.

Notice of rights shall be served upon the parent, guardian, or legal custodian with the petition and shall be in substantially the following form:

Sec. 4. RCW 26.19.071 and 1991 sp.s. c 28 s 5 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) Consideration of all income. All income and resources of each parent's household shall be disclosed and considered by the court when the court determines the child support obligation of each parent. Only the income of the parents of the children whose support is at issue shall be calculated for purposes of calculating the basic support obligation. Income and resources of any other person shall not be included in calculating the basic support obligation.

(2) Verification of income. Tax returns for the preceding two years and current paystubs shall be provided to verify income and deductions. Other sufficient verification shall be required for income and deductions which do not appear on tax returns or paystubs.

(3) Income sources included in gross monthly income. Except as specifically excluded in subsection (4) of this section, monthly gross income shall include income from any source, including:

- (a) Salaries;
- (b) Wages;
- (c) Commissions;
- (d) Deferred compensation;
- (e) Overtime;
- (f) Contract-related benefits;
- (g) Income from second jobs;
- (h) Dividends;
- (i) Interest;
- (j) Trust income;
- (k) Severance pay;
- (l) Annuities;
- (m) Capital gains;
- (n) Pension retirement benefits;
- (o) Workers' compensation;
- (p) Unemployment benefits;
- (q) Spousal maintenance actually received;
- (r) Bonuses;
- (s) Social security benefits; and
- (t) Disability insurance benefits.

(4) Income sources excluded from gross monthly income. The following income and resources shall be disclosed but shall not be included in gross income:

- (a) Income of a new spouse or income of other adults in the household;
- (b) Child support received from other relationships;
- (c) Gifts and prizes;
- (d) Aid to families with dependent children;
- (e) Supplemental security income;
- (f) General assistance; and
- (g) Food stamps.

Receipt of income and resources from aid to families with dependent children, supplemental security income, general assistance, and food stamps shall not be a reason to deviate from the standard calculation.

(5) Determination of net income. The following expenses shall be disclosed and deducted from gross monthly income to calculate net monthly income:

- (a) Federal and state income taxes;
- (b) Federal insurance contributions act deductions;
- (c) Mandatory pension plan payments;
- (d) Mandatory union or professional dues;

- (e) State industrial insurance premiums;
- (f) Court-ordered spousal maintenance to the extent actually paid;
- (g) Up to two thousand dollars per year in voluntary pension payments actually made if the contributions were made for the two tax years preceding the earlier of the (i) tax year in which the parties separated with intent to live separate and apart or (ii) tax year in which the parties filed for dissolution; and

(h) Normal business expenses and self-employment taxes for self-employed persons. Justification shall be required for any business expense deduction about which there is disagreement.

Items deducted from gross income under this subsection shall not be a reason to deviate from the standard calculation.

(6) Imputation of income. The court shall impute income to a parent when the parent is voluntarily unemployed or voluntarily underemployed. The court shall determine whether the parent is voluntarily underemployed or voluntarily unemployed based upon that parent's work history, education, health, and age, or any other relevant factors. A court shall not impute income to a parent who is gainfully employed on a full-time basis, unless the court finds that the parent is voluntarily underemployed and finds that the parent is purposely underemployed to reduce the parent's child support obligation. Income shall not be imputed for an unemployable parent or to a parent of a child in foster care or other out-of-home placement if that parent's availability for employment is significantly reduced by family reunification efforts. In the absence of information to the contrary, a parent's imputed income shall be based on the median income of year-round full-time workers as derived from the United States bureau of census, current populations reports, or such replacement report as published by the bureau of census.

Sec. 5. RCW 26.19.075 and 1991 sp.s. c 28 s 6 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) Reasons for deviation from the standard calculation include but are not limited to the following:

(a) Sources of income and tax planning. The court may deviate from the standard calculation after consideration of the following:

- (i) Income of a new spouse if the parent who is married to the new spouse is asking for a deviation based on any other reason. Income of a new spouse is not, by itself, a sufficient reason for deviation;
- (ii) Income of other adults in the household if the parent who is living with the other adult is asking for a deviation based on any other reason. Income of the other adults in the household is not, by itself, a sufficient reason for deviation;
- (iii) Child support actually received from other relationships;
- (iv) Gifts;
- (v) Prizes;
- (vi) Possession of wealth, including but not limited to savings, investments, real estate holdings and business interests, vehicles, boats, pensions, bank accounts, insurance plans, or other assets;
- (vii) Extraordinary income of a child; or
- (viii) Tax planning considerations. A deviation for tax planning may be granted only if the child would not receive a lesser economic benefit due to the tax planning.

(b) Nonrecurring income. The court may deviate from the standard calculation based on a finding that a particular source of income included in the calculation of the basic support obligation is not a recurring source of income. Depending on the circumstances, nonrecurring income may include overtime, contract-related benefits, bonuses, or income from second jobs. Deviations for nonrecurring income shall be based on a review of the nonrecurring income received in the previous two calendar years.

(c) Debt and high expenses. The court may deviate from the standard calculation after consideration of the following expenses:

- (i) Extraordinary debt not voluntarily incurred;
- (ii) A significant disparity in the living costs of the parents due to conditions beyond their control;
- (iii) Special needs of disabled children; ~~((e))~~
- (iv) Special medical, educational, or psychological needs of the children; or
- (v) Costs anticipated to be incurred by the parents in compliance with court-ordered reunification efforts under chapter 13.34 RCW or under a voluntary placement agreement with an agency supervising the child.

(d) Residential schedule. The court may deviate from the standard calculation if the child spends a significant amount of time with the parent who is obligated to make a support transfer payment. The court may not deviate on that basis if the deviation will result in insufficient funds in the household receiving the support to meet the basic needs of the child or if the child is receiving aid to families with dependent children. When determining the amount of the deviation, the court shall consider evidence concerning the increased expenses to a parent making support transfer payments resulting from the significant amount of time spent with that parent and shall consider the decreased expenses, if any, to the party receiving the support resulting from the significant amount of time the child spends with the parent making the support transfer payment.

(e) Children from other relationships. The court may deviate from the standard calculation when either or both of the parents before the court have children from other relationships to whom the parent owes a duty of support.

(i) The child support schedule shall be applied to the mother, father, and children of the family before the court to determine the presumptive amount of support.

(ii) Children from other relationships shall not be counted in the number of children for purposes of determining the basic support obligation and the standard calculation.

(iii) When considering a deviation from the standard calculation for children from other relationships, the court may consider only other children to whom the parent owes a duty of support. The court may consider court-ordered payments of child support for children from other relationships only to the extent that the support is actually paid.

(iv) When the court has determined that either or both parents have children from other relationships, deviations under this section shall be based on consideration of the total circumstances of both households. All child support obligations paid, received, and owed for all children shall be disclosed and considered.

(2) All income and resources of the parties before the court, new spouses, and other adults in the households shall be disclosed and considered as provided in this section. The presumptive amount of support shall be determined according to the child support schedule. Unless specific reasons for deviation are set forth in the written findings of fact and are supported by the evidence, the court shall order each parent to pay the amount of support determined by using the standard calculation.

(3) The court shall enter findings that specify reasons for any deviation or any denial of a party's request for any deviation from the standard calculation made by the court. The court shall not consider reasons for deviation until the court determines the standard calculation for each parent.

(4) When reasons exist for deviation, the court shall exercise discretion in considering the extent to which the factors would affect the support obligation.

(5) Agreement of the parties is not by itself adequate reason for any deviations from the standard calculation.

The following provisions shall apply to the issue of firearm civil rights on school premises:

(a) A person shall be guilty of the crime of denial of firearm civil rights if he or she is a public official or public employee and he or she prevents or obstructs a person from carrying a firearm in a lawful manner on school premises; denies or causes denial of the right of a person to possess a firearm in a lawful manner on school premises; prevents or obstructs a person from possessing a firearm on school premises at such locations, at such times, or under such conditions as may be allowed by law; or confiscates a person's firearm on school premises without lawful authority of due process of law or sets a policy for such confiscation.

(b) The crime of denial of firearm civil rights applies both to employees who violate a provision of this subsection and to any employers or supervisors who require or order an employee to violate a provision of this subsection. The fact or claim that a public official or public employee was acting under the direction of a supervisor is not a defense to an action under this subsection.

(c) Denial of firearm civil rights is a gross misdemeanor.

(d) A person whose firearm civil rights have been denied under this subsection shall be awarded civil damages equal to ten thousand dollars for each violation plus attorney fees and compensation for loss of income, loss of wages, loss of fringe benefits, transportation expenses, communication expenses, and all other costs associated with efforts to regain the person's firearm civil rights and ask civil remedies. The civil remedies may be sought regardless of whether or not criminal charges have been filed, and the petitioner's case shall not be prejudiced by the fact that criminal charges were not filed. The civil action may be brought in the county where the violation occurred or in Thurston county at the discretion of the petitioner."

POINT OF ORDER

Senator Pelz: "A point of order, Mr. President. I rise to question the scope and object of this amendment. The underlying bill deals with a limited subject of firearm possession while entering or being in school property. The amendment creates an entirely new crime dealing with firearm transactions and also civil liability relating to firearm transactions. The amendment has nothing to do with the unlawful possession of firearms."

Debate ensued.

MOTIONS

On motion of Senator Talmadge, Substitute Senate Bill No. 5948 was substituted for Senate Bill No. 5948 and the substitute bill was placed on second reading and read the second time.

POINT OF INFORMATION

Senator Deccio: "May I ask a question, Mr. President? Is this the striking amendment that we are looking at?"

REPLY BY THE PRESIDENT

President Pritchard: "We don't have an amendment here at the desk."

Senator Deccio: "We have a striking amendment; could we hold this down until we get it over here?"

There being no objection, the President deferred further consideration of Substitute Senate Bill No. 5948.

The demand for a roll call by Senator Haugen had been sustained on the adoption of the amendment by Senator Haugen on page 5, after line 12, to the amendment by Senators Snyder, Anderson, Hargrove, Bluechel, Amondson, Cantu and Owen on page 3, after line 2.

POINT OF ORDER

Senator Skratek: "A point of order, Mr. President. I rise to challenge the scope and object of this particular amendment. This amendment is the takings bill. At a minimum, it goes far beyond the scope and object of the original bill which dealt with the basis for appraisal for taxes and amends only a section of Title 84. This amendment deals with compensation of landowners for any type of government action which may reduce the value of the property. It originally was written as an addition of Titles 8, 35, 35A and 36, none of which are contained within the current bill before us. I urge you to agree with me."

Debate ensued.

RULING BY THE PRESIDENT

President Pritchard: "In ruling upon the point of order raised by Senator Skratek, the President finds that Senate Bill No. 5638 is a measure which specifies one of the criteria to be used in appraisals of real property for taxation purposes.

"The amendment by Senators Snyder, Anderson, Hargrove, Bluechel, Amondson, Cantu and Owen defines circumstances under which a taking of property for public use has occurred and provides procedures for obtaining compensation.

"The President, therefore, finds that the proposed amendment does change the scope and object of the bill and the point of order if well taken."

The amendment by Senators Snyder, Anderson, Hargrove, Bluechel, Amondson, Cantu and Owen on page 3, after line 2, to Senate Bill No. 5638 was ruled out of order.

MOTION

On motion of Senator Drew, the rules were suspended, Senate Bill No. 5638 was advanced to third reading, the second reading considered the third and the bill was placed on final passage.

The President declared the question before the Senate to be the roll call on the final passage of Senate Bill No. 5638.

ROLL CALL

Any person who is injured in his or her business or property by a violation of RCW 19.86.020, 19.86.030, 19.86.040, 19.86.050, or 19.86.060, or any person so injured because he or she refuses to accede to a proposal for an arrangement which, if consummated, would be in violation of RCW 19.86.030, 19.86.040, 19.86.050, or 19.86.060, may bring a civil action in the superior court to enjoin further violations, to recover the actual damages sustained by him or her, or both, together with the costs of the suit, including a reasonable attorney's fee, and the court may in its discretion, increase the award of damages to an amount not to exceed three times the actual damages sustained: PROVIDED, That such increased damage award for violation of RCW 19.86.020 may not exceed ~~(ten)~~ twenty-five thousand dollars: PROVIDED FURTHER, That such person may bring a civil action in the district court to recover his or her actual damages, except for damages which exceed the amount specified in RCW 3.66.020, and the costs of the suit, including reasonable attorney's fees. The district court may, in its discretion, increase the award of damages to an amount not more than three times the actual damages sustained, but such increased damage award shall not exceed the amount specified in RCW 3.66.020. For the purpose of this section "person" shall include the counties, municipalities, and all political subdivisions of this state.

Whenever the state of Washington is injured by reason of a violation of RCW 19.86.030, 19.86.040, 19.86.050, or 19.86.060, it may sue therefor in the superior court to recover the actual damages sustained by it and to recover the costs of the suit including a reasonable attorney's fee.

When an action is brought under this section the court shall take all reasonable steps, including transfer and consolidation of actions, to protect against duplicative recoveries for the same injury.

Proof of injury to the public interest shall not be required in any action brought under this section, except that the court shall require proof of injury to the public interest prior to any award above actual damages relating to an unfair or deceptive act or practice in violation of RCW 19.86.020. In addition, where injury to the public interest is not proven, the court shall award to the prevailing party costs of the suit, including reasonable attorney fees.

Sec. 2. RCW 19.86.920 and 1985 c 401 s 1 are each amended to read as follows:

The legislature hereby declares that the purpose of this act is to complement the body of federal law governing restraints of trade, unfair competition and unfair, deceptive, and fraudulent acts or practices in order to protect the public and foster fair and honest competition. It is the intent of the legislature that, in construing this act, the courts be guided by final decisions of the federal courts and final orders of the federal trade commission interpreting the various federal statutes dealing with the same or similar matters and that in deciding whether conduct restrains or monopolizes trade or commerce or may substantially lessen competition, determination of the relevant market or effective area of competition shall not be limited by the boundaries of the state of Washington. To this end this act shall be liberally construed that its beneficial purposes may be served.

It is, however, the intent of the legislature that this act shall not be construed to prohibit acts or practices which are reasonable in relation to the development and preservation of business (~~(or which are not injurious to the public interest)~~), nor be construed to authorize those acts or practices which unreasonably restrain trade or are unreasonable per se."

On motion of Senator Adam Smith, the following title amendment was adopted:

On page 1, line 1 of the title, after "protection;" strike the remainder of the title and insert "and amending RCW 19.86.090 and 19.86.920."

MOTION

On motion of Senator Adam Smith, the rules were suspended, Engrossed Senate Bill No. 5120 was advanced to third reading, the second reading considered the third and the bill was placed on final passage.

Debate ensued.

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Barr: "Senator Nelson, to help me understand this, maybe you could help me. It says, 'proof of injury to the public interest shall not be required in any action brought under this section.' That doesn't mean too much to me. When it talked about that in this description on our calendar, I was inclined not to like this bill, but this is even more vague than that, so could you describe what we are doing here?"

Senator Nelson: "Well, Senator Barr, the following phrase may clear up the intent of the measure in that it says, 'except that the court shall require proof of injury to the public interest prior to any award above actual damage relating to an unfair or deceptive act or practice.' It may not be immediately aware to the court, when the action starts, but before the court concludes its action, it would require that proof of injury be determined."

The President declared the question before the Senate to be the roll call on the final passage of Engrossed Senate Bill No. 5120.

There being no objection, the Senate resumed consideration of Substitute Senate Bill No. 5307 and the pending amendment by Senator Roach on page 2, after line 26, deferred March 13, 1993.

RULING BY THE PRESIDENT

President Pritchard: "In ruling upon the point of order raised by Senator Pelz, the President finds that Substitute Senate Bill No. 5307 is a measure which extends the crime of firearms possession on school premises to all persons and to related areas, defines exceptions to the crime, adds violations as a basis for expulsion, adds schools and related areas to the list of firearm restricted areas, allows municipalities to pass ordinances, and adds an exception to the limits on release of student permanent records.

"The amendment by Senator Roach would recognize a state constitutional right to bear arms and apply it specifically to school premises. The amendment also creates a crime of denial of firearm civil rights for the prevention or obstruction of lawful possession of firearms on school premises.

"The President, therefore, finds that the proposed amendment does not change the scope and object of the bill and the point of order is not well taken."

The amendment by Senator Roach on page 2, after line 26, to Substitute Senate Bill No. 5307 was ruled in order.

The President declared the question before the Senate to be the adoption of the amendment by Senator Roach on page 2, after line 26, to Substitute Senate Bill No. 5307.

The superintendent shall compile the data and report it to the house of representatives, the senate, and the governor."

"Sec. 4. RCW 10.31.100 and 1988 c 190 s 1 are each amended to read as follows:

A police officer having probable cause to believe that a person has committed or is committing a felony shall have the authority to arrest the person without a warrant. A police officer may arrest a person without a warrant for committing a misdemeanor or gross misdemeanor only when the offense is committed in the presence of the officer, except as provided in subsections (1) through ~~((9))~~ (9) of this section.

(1) Any police officer having probable cause to believe that a person has committed or is committing a misdemeanor or gross misdemeanor, involving physical harm or threats of harm to any person or property or the unlawful taking of property or involving the use or possession of cannabis, or involving the acquisition, possession, or consumption of alcohol by a person under the age of twenty-one years under RCW 66.44.270 shall have the authority to arrest the person.

(2) A police officer shall arrest and take into custody, pending release on bail, personal recognizance, or court order, a person without a warrant when the officer has probable cause to believe that:

(b) The person is eighteen years or older and within the preceding four hours has assaulted that person's spouse, former spouse, or a person eighteen years or older with whom the person resides or has formerly resided and the officer believes: (i) A felonious assault has occurred; (ii) an assault has occurred which has resulted in bodily injury to the victim, whether the injury is observable by the responding officer or not; or (iii) that any physical action has occurred which was intended to cause another person reasonably to fear imminent serious bodily injury or death. Bodily injury means physical pain, illness, or an impairment of physical condition. When the officer has probable cause to believe that spouses, former spouses, or other persons who reside together or formerly resided together have assaulted each other, the officer is not required to arrest both persons. In making this determination, the officer shall make every reasonable effort to consider: (i) The intent to protect victims of domestic violence under RCW 10.99.010; (ii) the comparative extent of injuries inflicted or serious threats creating fear of physical injury; and (iii) the history of domestic violence between the persons involved.

(3) Any police officer having probable cause to believe that a person has committed or is committing a violation of any of the following traffic laws shall have the authority to arrest the person:

(a) RCW 46.52.010, relating to duty on striking an unattended car or other property;

(b) RCW 46.52.020, relating to duty in case of injury to or death of a person or damage to an attended vehicle;

(c) RCW 46.61.500 or 46.61.530, relating to reckless driving or racing of vehicles;

(e) RCW 46.20.342, relating to driving a motor vehicle while operator's license is suspended or revoked;

(f) RCW 46.61.525, relating to operating a motor vehicle in a negligent manner.

(4) A law enforcement officer investigating at the scene of a motor vehicle accident may arrest the driver of a motor vehicle involved in the accident if the officer has probable cause to believe that the driver has committed in connection with the accident a violation of any traffic law or regulation.

(5) Any police officer having probable cause to believe that a person has committed or is committing a violation of RCW 88.12.100 shall have the authority to arrest the person.

(6) An officer may act upon the request of a law enforcement officer in whose presence a traffic infraction was committed, to stop, detain, arrest, or issue a notice of traffic infraction to the driver who is believed to have committed the infraction. The request by the witnessing officer shall give an officer the authority to take appropriate action under the laws of the state of Washington.

(7) Any police officer having probable cause to believe that a person has committed or is committing any act of indecent exposure, as defined in RCW 9A.88.010, may arrest the person.

(8) A police officer may arrest and take into custody, pending release on bail, personal recognizance, or court order, a person without a warrant when the officer has probable cause to believe that an order has been issued of which the person has knowledge under chapter 10.14 RCW and the person has violated the terms of that order.

(9) A police officer having probable cause to believe that a person illegally possesses or illegally has possessed a firearm or other dangerous weapon on private or public elementary or secondary school premises shall have the authority to arrest the person.

~~((10))~~ (11) No police officer may be held criminally or civilly liable for making an arrest pursuant to RCW 10.31.100(2) or (8) if the police officer acts in good faith and without malice."

POINT OF ORDER

Senator Jesernig: Mr. President, a point of order on this amendment. I think I am correct on this. This is Senator Sutherland's bill which is presently on the calendar, actually. Is it 5107, Senator Sutherland? Yes, 5107. My question is, is it appropriate to have an amendment which is exactly like a separate bill that is before the Legislature?"

REPLY BY THE PRESIDENT

President Pritchard: "There is no law against it unless the members object."

Senator Jesernig: "O.K."

President Pritchard: "There is no law or rule against it. I'll put it that way."

Senator Jesernig: "Thank you, Mr. President."

Further debate ensued.

The President declared the question before the Senate to be the adoption of the amendment by Senator Roach on page 5, after line 15, to Substitute Senate Bill No. 5307.

The motion by Senator Roach carried and the amendment was adopted.

MOTION

Senator Erwin moved that the following amendment by Senators Erwin and von Reichbauer be adopted:

On page 2, after line 26, insert the following new subsection:

"(4) The legislature recognizes that the right to keep and bear arms in defense of oneself as guaranteed by Article I, section 24 of the state Constitution is a fundamental freedom, and that this basic civil right is extended to school premises to at least the level of possession allowed pursuant to this act. The following provisions shall apply to the issue of firearm civil rights on school premises:

(a) The crime of denial of firearm civil rights applies both to employees who violate a provision of this subsection and to any employers or supervisors who require or order an employee to violate a provision of this subsection. The fact or claim that a public official or public employee was acting under the direction of a supervisor is not a defense to an action under this subsection.

(b) Denial of firearm civil rights is a gross misdemeanor.

(c) A person whose firearm civil rights have been denied under this subsection shall be awarded civil damages equal to ten thousand dollars for each violation plus attorney fees and compensation for loss of income, loss of wages, loss of fringe benefits, transportation expenses, communication expenses, and all other costs associated with efforts to regain the person's firearm civil rights and ask civil remedies. The civil remedies may be sought regardless of whether or not criminal charges have been filed, and the petitioner's case shall not be prejudiced by the fact that criminal charges were not filed. The civil action may be brought in the county where the violation occurred or in Thurston county at the discretion of the petitioner."

POINT OF ORDER

Senator Talmadge: "A point of order, Mr. President. I believe this amendment is exactly the same amendment that was offered by Senator Roach and rejected by the body. I don't believe the amendment is properly before the Senate."

REPLY BY THE PRESIDENT

President Pritchard: "We're looking at it. It appears that way. We are looking at it. Senator Talmadge, there are some differences."

Senator Erwin demanded a roll call and the demand was sustained.

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Talmadge: "Senator Erwin, when the previous amendment that Senator Roach sponsored was up, I indicated in floor remarks that there was a section in here that created a new civil claim and the opportunity to recover a whole variety of new types of damages. Can you explain for me what some of these things are, like what would be communication expenses associated with a civil claim for violation of a firearms civil right?"

Senator Erwin: "Senator Talmadge, thanks for your question. I can tell you that this is similar and perhaps Senator Roach would like to answer some of those. The intent is similar; the language is different and--"

Senator Talmadge: "Transportation expenses, do you have an idea of what that was meant to be?"

Senator Erwin: "I have my own ideas about what those things could be, but I don't wish to divulge them on this floor of the Senate here. Thank you."

Further debate ensued.

POINT OF ORDER

Senator Pelz: "A point of order, is this the second time that Senator Roach has spoken to this issue--this amendment?"

REPLY BY THE PRESIDENT

President Pritchard: "This is the first time on this issue."

Senator Pelz: "On this amendment?"

President Pritchard: "On this amendment, yes, first time."

Senator Pelz: "First time?"

President Pritchard: "Senator Erwin moved the amendment. This is Senator Roach."

MOTION

On motion of Senator Oke, Senator Anderson was excused.

The President declared the question before the Senate to be the roll call on the adoption of the amendment by Senators Erwin and von Reichbauer to Substitute Senate Bill No. 5307.

ROLL CALL

The Secretary called the roll and the amendment was not adopted by the following vote: Yeas, 10; Nays, 38; Absent, 0; Excused, 1.

Voting yea: Senators Amondson, Barr, Erwin, Hochstatter, Nelson, Roach, Sellar, Smith, L., von Reichbauer and West - 10.

Voting nay: Senators Bauer, Bluechel, Cantu, Deccio, Drew, Franklin, Fraser, Gaspard, Hargrove, Haugen, Jesernig, Loveland, McAuliffe, McCaslin, McDonald, Moore, Moyer, Newhouse, Niemi, Oke, Owen, Pelz, Prentice, Prince, Quigley, Rasmussen, M., Rinehart, Sheldon, Skratek, Smith, A., Snyder, Spanel, Sutherland, Talmadge, Vognild, Williams, Winsley and Wojahn - 38.

Excused: Senator Anderson - 1.

MOTION

Senator Nelson moved that the following amendment be adopted:

On page 2, after line 26, insert the following:

"(i) Pursuant to 18 USC 922, "GUN-FREE ZONE" signs shall be posted around school facilities giving warning of the prohibition of the possession of firearms on school grounds."

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Pelz: "Senator Nelson, what is the financial impact of this? Who is going to pay to put these signs up?"

Senator Nelson: "Senator Pelz, the federal law dealing with gun-free zone signs indicates that there is a cooperative effort among federal, state and local authorities to cause these signs to be placed. In some cases, they will be signs that will be on school premises and in other cases, they will be adjacent to school premises. I felt that no cost is prohibitive of reaching the solution that we are trying to get here. This particular issue of putting up signs is, in my opinion, one step forward toward making these grounds safe for everyone. If you give proper notification, then you have no excuse whether it be school personnel or law enforcement fulfilling the existing law, let alone the extension of the law that we are now placing in this bill."

Further debate ensued.

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator West: "Senator Pelz, is the underlying purpose of this bill to prevent guns in schools and on school property?"

Senator Pelz: "Yes it is, Senator West."

Senator West: "Thank you."

Further debate ensued.

The President declared the question before the Senate to be the adoption of the amendment by Senator Nelson on page 2, after line 26, to Substitute Senate Bill No. 5307.

The motion by Senator Nelson carried and the amendment was adopted:

MOTION

Senator Roach moved that the following amendment be adopted:

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

Any person who carries a firearm onto a school premise pursuant to RCW 9.41.070 shall, immediately upon entry onto the premises, proceed directly to the administrative office of the school and notify the highest-ranking available administrative official of the fact that the firearm is on school premises. Violation of the requirement to notify the appropriate official is a violation of this section.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. A new section is added to chapter 4.24 RCW to read as follows:

In any civil action brought against a minor for recovery of damages for actions which violate RCW 9.41.280, any parent or parents or legal guardian or guardians of such minor, with whom such minor resides shall notwithstanding any other provisions of RCW 4.24.190, be liable for all harm caused by the violation, unless such firearm, dangerous weapon, or other device was obtained unlawfully and the parent or guardian had no knowledge thereof.

Sec. 3. RCW 28A.635.060 and 1989 c 269 s 6 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) Any pupil who shall deface or otherwise injure any school property, shall be liable to suspension and punishment. Any school district whose property has been lost or willfully cut, defaced, or injured, may withhold the grades, diploma, and transcripts of the pupil responsible for the damage or loss until the pupil or the pupil's parent or guardian has paid for the damages, unless the student is transferring to another elementary or secondary educational institution, in which case the student's permanent record shall be released promptly to the receiving school. When the pupil and parent or guardian are unable to pay for the damages, the school district shall provide a program of voluntary work for the pupil in lieu of the payment of monetary damages. Upon completion of voluntary work the grades, diploma, and transcripts of the pupil shall be released. The parent or guardian of such pupil shall be liable for damages as otherwise provided by law.

(2) Before any penalties are assessed under this section, a school district board of directors shall adopt procedures which insure that pupils' rights to due process are protected.

(3) If the department of social and health services or a child-placing agency licensed by the department has been granted custody of a child, that child's records, if requested by the department or agency, are not to be withheld for nonpayment of school fees or any other reason."

POINT OF ORDER

Senator Adam Smith: "A point of order, Mr. President. This amendment was offered and then it was withdrawn with the consent of the body and now we are offering it again. I thought we withdrew it and everyone said o.k. Can we just bring it back up and offer it again since it is the exact same amendment--just out of curiosity?"

RULING BY THE PRESIDENT

President Pritchard: "Senator Smith, it was not decided before; it was not debated. The Chair feels that it is proper to have it and make a determination."

Senator Roach demanded a roll call and the demand was sustained.

Debate ensued.

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Hargrove: "Senator Pelz, the amendment offered by Senator Quigley and adopted which referred to 'a parent, a grandparent or legal guardian who has been issued a license would be an exception while picking up or dropping off a student,' would it be the legislative intent that if this parent coming to pick up a student didn't find the student there for some reason, they would be included in the exemption? In other words, if the intent was to pick up--"

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Franklin: "Senator Sutherland, is this organization equivalent to a benevolent type organization such as say the fraternal organization of the Elks and do you classify it as, perhaps, missionary work as done by the churches?"

Senator Sutherland: "The bill only authorizes companies that are on record with the federal government with what is considered a 501-C3 non-profit organization. I don't believe that they would be considered fraternal organizations like the Elks, the Moose, those other kinds of lodges in the state of Washington. In fact, to the best of my knowledge, those fraternal organizations are currently exempt or for the most part, exempt, in state law from any kind of regulatory review even if they provide full health care benefits.

"The particular company that has been discussed this afternoon, the Christian Brotherhood Newsletter, with the administrative fee that they receive in addition to the salaries that they pay, as Senator Wojahn has mentioned, they do support two other entities. One of those is a drug/alcohol rehabilitation center and the second are six missions in Haiti. Those six missions and the drug rehab center are all paid out of the subscriber fee for the newsletter, not out of anything that individual subscribers would send to each other."

On page 2, line 26, after "roster." insert "Contractors on the small works roster submitting quotations under this subsection are exempt from RCW 39.12.020 and 39.12.021."

POINT OF ORDER

Senator Vognild: "Mr. President, I'd raise the point of order that these amendments expand the scope and object of the bill. This bill is a bill that is very narrowly drawn. It is a bill that simply changes the dollar figures by which they must go to bid. The amendments attempt to amend the prevailing wage law and, as a matter of fact, the amendments do not carry a title amendment, but it would require a title amendment before it could be added to this bill."

Further debate ensued.

MOTION

On motion of Senator Jesernig, further consideration of Substitute Senate Bill No. 5405 was deferred.

President Pro Tempore Wojahn assumed the Chair.

SECOND READING

Absent: Senators Roach and Smith, L. - 2.

MOTION

On motion of Senator Pelz, the rules were suspended, Substitute Senate Bill No. 5357 was advanced to third reading, the second reading considered the third and the bill was placed on final passage.

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Erwin: "Senator Pelz, does this include pensions?"

Senator Pelz: "Yes, it does."

Senator Erwin: "So, as a small business person, I will have to match whatever the school district does, as far as pensions for their employees?"

Senator Pelz: "If you are submitting a bid to subcontract out work, previously paid for--provided by school employees--you would have to match benefits. However, you would not have to match wages, which I would contend is far and away the larger block of total costs you would be incurring."

Senator Erwin: "Thank you, Senator Pelz."

Further debate ensued.

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Moyer: "Senator Pelz, if a contractor were to attempt to go along with this, who would measure whether the health care benefits, for example, are commensurate? How would you go about doing that?"

Senator Pelz: "The bill states, 'The contract shall require the health care and retirement benefits to be commensurate with the health care and retirement benefits provided by the school district to classified employees performing services similar to those services being performed in other contracts.'"

Senator Moyer: "But, my question is, how then would you go about doing that? Let's say that the health care benefits, as you said, are eighty-two dollars, or something, and then they work for five days, do they have to renegotiate another contract to make that commensurate and who then decides if, indeed, it is commensurate?"

Senator Pelz: "Obviously, in the case where there are services currently being provided by the district and they are about to be contracted out, you could just extend the benefit level across, because the time nexus is so appropriate. You would pay the same benefits, once the contract kicked in as were currently being paid by the school district to its employees. In a case where there had been some lapse of time, where say it had been maybe a three or four year period that these services had been contracted out, you would have to conduct a survey of similar job classifications within the school district at the time and pay benefits then commensurate with similar job classifications currently working--classified people currently working for the school district."

Senator Moyer: "In the case of the eighty dollar benefit, then, let's say that the school district is three hundred dollars, would the contractor then make up the difference in cash or would he renegotiate a new contract?"

Senator Pelz: "The next time the contract comes up for renewal is the way the bill reads."

Senator Moyer: "If he is only on the job for seven days, how does he do that?"

Senator Pelz: "If he is subcontracting to perform services to a school district, I assume that is an ongoing contract. If it is a seven day contract and it has expired, I take it that he is not coming in to renew that contract. In which case, it wouldn't be appropriate."

Senator Moyer: "Would the same thing apply to pensions?"

Senator Pelz: "Benefits, yes."

Senator Moyer: "So, if there were pension benefits--let's say that the contractor's pension benefit was higher than the state, then how would he handle that?"

Senator Pelz: "He might be eligible for a rebate. I don't know."

Senator Moyer: "It seems to me that it is nearly impossible to administer."

Senator Pelz: "That is your opinion."

Further debate ensued.

The President declared the question before the Senate to be the roll call on the final passage of Substitute Senate Bill No. 5357.

President Pritchard: "In ruling upon the point of order raised by Senator Vognilid, the President finds that Substitute Senate Bill No. 5405 is a measure which is limited to raising the minimum dollar amount requiring competitive bidding by school districts.

RULING BY THE PRESIDENT

President Pritchard: "In ruling upon the point of order raised by Senator Haugen, the President finds that Substitute Senate Bill No. 5372 is a measure which makes several changes in the laws governing the assessment and collection of various state and local taxes.

"The amendment by Senators Snyder, Anderson, Hargrove, Amondson, Owen, Newhouse, McCaslin, Sellar, West and Bluechel would define one of the circumstances which creates a taking of property for public use.

"The President, therefore, finds that the proposed amendment does change the scope and object of the bill and the point of order is well taken."

The amendment by Senators Snyder, Anderson, Hargrove, Amondson, Owen, Newhouse, McCaslin, Sellar, West and Bluechel on page 34, after line 6, to Substitute Senate Bill No. 5372 was ruled out of order.

MOTION

Senator Snyder moved that the following amendments by Senators Snyder, Anderson, Hargrove, Amondson, Owen, Newhouse, McCaslin, Sellar, West and Bluechel be considered simultaneously and be adopted:

On page 34, line 12, after "16" strike "and 17" and insert ", 17, and 45 through 59"

On page 34, after line 15, insert the following:

"NEW SECTION. Sec. 45. (1)(a) Whenever implementation by the state or any of its political subdivisions of a scheme directly or indirectly regulating the use of land operates to reduce the assessed value of a parcel of real property immediately prior to such implementation, the parcel is deemed to be taken for public use.

(b) The following definitions apply throughout this chapter:

(i) "Compensation" means cash or in-kind payment, if the affected property owner agrees to in-kind payment and then agrees to the in-kind payment actually offered, including but not limited to clustering; transfer of development rights; staging of concurrency; land trades; environmental mitigation credits for prior activity of owners; density bonuses; or adjustments to restrictions on lot size, number of units, or building dimensions.

(ii) "Parcel" means one or more contiguous tax lots of an owner.

(iii) "Owner" includes one or more natural or legal persons who own the parcel, whether as sole owner, marital community, cotenants, or tenants in partnership or as a corporation.

(iv) "Scheme regulating the use of land" means one regulation or government action affecting the use of land; or more than one such regulation or action, though occurring at different times or by different governmental entities, with the same or similar policy objectives, such as development moratoria, zoning, health regulations, safety regulations, aesthetic regulations, fish and wildlife regulations, sensitive-area regulations, and environmental regulations, whether such regulation or action is interim or permanent. A scheme regulating the use of land does not include any regulation or government action of the federal government or regulation or government action of the state or any local governmental entity taken to comply with the minimum requirements of federal law or regulation.

(2)(a) When a parcel of real property has been taken for public use as provided in this chapter, the governmental unit or units that implement the scheme regulating the use of land shall be liable to the owner for compensation under this chapter, and the owner shall have an action at law to recover such compensation. When more than one governmental unit is involved, the court shall determine the proportion each unit is required to contribute to the compensation.

(b) The compensation shall be for the full amount of the decrease in assessed value. In addition, an owner who prevails either through settlement or verdict in an action for the recovery of such compensation shall be entitled to reasonable costs, expenses of litigation, and sums for attorneys' fees.

(3) Governmental units subject to this chapter shall not make waiver of the provisions of this chapter a condition for approval of the use of real property or the issuance of any permit or other entitlement. Plaintiffs may accept an approval of use, permit, or other entitlement granted by the governmental unit without compromising their rights under this chapter if:

(a) A written reservation of their rights is made at the time of acceptance of the authorization, permit, or other entitlement;

or

(b) An oral statement reserving their rights is made before the governmental unit granting the authorization, permit, or other entitlement at a public meeting at which the governmental unit renders its decision.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 46. Compensation is required by this chapter unless the scheme regulating the use of land is an exercise of the police power solely to prevent or abate a public nuisance as defined at common law or an application of the public trust doctrine as it relates to navigable water only.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 47. (1) The statute of limitations for actions brought under this chapter is the statute of limitations for actions for recovery of real property. The statute of limitations begins to run upon the enactment of the scheme regulating the use of land; or the final administrative decision implementing the scheme regulating the use of land affecting plaintiffs' property or by a showing by the plaintiff that application for administrative decision is futile.

(2) A scheme regulating the use of land is implemented with respect to an owner's or user's property when actually applied to that property unless the enactment of the scheme by itself operates to reduce the fair market value of real property for the uses permitted at the time the owner acquired title, without further governmental action and the scheme contains no provision allowing for just relief from the scheme's operation.

(3) This chapter applies to schemes regulating the use of land, all or some part of which is implemented after the effective date of this section. No part of a scheme shall be considered for purposes of this chapter if the part was implemented more than ten years before the effective date of this section.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 48. If a natural event or condition threatens to deprive an owner of land of the land's use or to cause serious damage to the land, and immediate corrective action is required to prevent this deprivation or damage, but this action will violate a state or local law or regulation unless official waiver or permission is obtained, the owner may either:

(1) Apply to the governmental unit charged with enforcing such regulation to take, or to permit the owner to take, the required corrective action. If the governmental unit wrongfully denies waiver or permission or fails to take reasonably timely action upon the application, so that such deprivation or damage occurs, the governmental unit shall be liable to the owner for the diminution in value of the land which occurs unless the natural event or condition was the fault of the owner; or

(2) Without notifying the governmental unit under subsection (1) of this section, take such corrective action as is reasonably necessary to prevent the threatened deprivation or damage. However, the owner shall notify the governmental unit that he or she has undertaken the corrective action within five days after commencing such action and shall give a general description of the action undertaken. Thereafter, in a legal action brought by the governmental unit, the owner shall be liable for violation of the regulation if a court determines that there was a violation and that an owner would not have qualified for any available waiver or exemption.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 49. (1) If a governmental unit is found by a court of competent jurisdiction to have committed a regulatory taking under section 45 of this act, such unit shall be liable for compensation, measured by the owner's diminution in assessed value caused by such taking from the time the scheme that regulated the use of the owner's land became effective until the unit may grant an exemption or choose to repeal such scheme. However, if the governmental unit does not grant an exemption or choose to repeal the regulatory scheme within a reasonable period of time, to be fixed by the court, then the unit shall be liable for compensation for a permanent taking, measured by the diminution of fair market sale value caused by the taking, valued as of the date of trial. This section shall not affect any further remedy that is constitutionally required.

(2) Any permit, authorization, or other entitlement granted under a scheme repealed under subsection (1) of this section shall continue to be valid.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 50. This chapter does not preclude any action at law or equity that an owner would have had if this chapter had not been enacted.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 51. If the state or any of its political subdivisions imposes, changes, or implements any scheme regulating the use of land in such a way as to reduce the previous assessed value of a taxpayer's property, the county assessor shall, on or before the ensuing April 1, adjust the property's assessed value downward by an amount equal to the difference between the assessed value of the property under the new scheme, and the previous assessed value.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 52. Whenever any compensation is paid to a property owner by the state or by any local governmental entity pursuant to a judgment or agreement to compensate for a regulatory taking under this chapter, the payor shall cause to be recorded with the county auditor for the county in which the real property is located a notice of compensation for regulatory taking. This notice shall contain a legal description of the affected parcel of real estate, a statement of the reason for compensation, the name of the payor, the name of the owner, and the amount paid.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 53. If a county, city, or health district is found by a court to have committed a regulatory taking under section 45 of this act, the court shall require that the compensation owed be paid by the state if the scheme regulating the use of land was adopted or implemented by the county or city in order to effectuate a policy or requirement of state or federal law.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 54. This chapter shall be known and may be cited as the private property protection act.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 55. A new section is added to chapter 35.21 RCW to read as follows:

Any city or town subject to the provisions of this title is also subject to sections 45 through 54 of this act.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 56. A new section is added to chapter 35A.21 RCW to read as follows:

Any code city subject to the provisions of this title is also subject to sections 45 through 54 of this act.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 57. A new section is added to chapter 36.01 RCW to read as follows:

Any county subject to the provisions of this title is also subject to sections 45 through 54 of this act.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 58. Sections 45 through 54 of this act shall constitute a new chapter in Title 8 RCW.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 59. If any provision of sections 45 through 54 of this act or its application to any person or circumstance is held invalid, the remainder of the act or the application of the provision to other persons or circumstances is not affected."

POINT OF ORDER

Senator Haugen: "I rise to a point of order. I would ask for a ruling on the scope and object of this amendment. The original bill, again, deals with just local tax procedures and this amendment seeks to create a basis for government compensation for land owners--where the valuable land has been affected by any governmental activity. It drastically changes the takings standards contained in the Washington State Constitution and that is currently defined by the Supreme Court and I think that your ruling on the previous amendment would follow this also. I urge your support."

RULING BY THE PRESIDENT

President Pritchard: "In ruling upon the point of order raised by Senator Haugen, the President finds that Substitute Senate Bill No. 5372 is a measure which makes several changes in the laws governing the assessment and collection of various state and local taxes.

"The amendments by Senators Snyder, Anderson, Hargrove, Amondson, Owen, Newhouse, McCaslin, Sellar, West and Bluechel defines circumstances under which a taking of property for public use has occurred and provides procedures for obtaining compensation.

"The President, therefore, finds that the proposed amendments do change the scope and object of the bill and the point of order is well taken."

MOTIONS

Senator Loveland moved that the following amendment by Senators Loveland and Winsley be adopted:

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

"Sec. 1. RCW 9.46.110 and 1991 c 161 s 1 are each amended to read as follows:

The legislative authority of any county, city-county, city, or town, by local law and ordinance, and in accordance with the provisions of this chapter and rules and regulations promulgated hereunder, may provide for the taxing of any gambling activity authorized by this chapter within its jurisdiction, the tax receipts to go to the county, city-county, city, or town so taxing the same: PROVIDED, That any such tax imposed by a county alone shall not apply to any gambling activity within a city or town located therein but the tax rate established by a county, if any, shall constitute the tax rate throughout the unincorporated areas of such county: PROVIDED FURTHER, That (1) punch boards and pull-tabs, chances on which shall only be sold to adults, which shall have a fifty cent limit on a single chance thereon, shall be taxed on a basis which shall reflect only the gross receipts from such punch boards and pull-tabs; and (2) no punch board or pull-tab may award as a prize upon a winning number or symbol being drawn the opportunity of taking a chance upon any other punch board or pull-tab; and (3) all prizes for punch boards and pull-tabs must be on display within the immediate area of the premises wherein any such punch board or pull-tab is located and upon a winning number or symbol being drawn, such prize must be immediately removed therefrom, or such omission shall be deemed a fraud for the purposes of this chapter; and (4) when any person shall win over twenty dollars in money or merchandise from any punch board or pull-tab, every licensee hereunder shall keep a public record thereof for at least ninety days thereafter containing such information as the commission shall deem necessary: AND PROVIDED FURTHER, That taxation of bingo and raffles shall never be in an amount greater than ten percent of the gross revenue received therefrom less the amount paid for or as prizes. Taxation of amusement games shall only be in an amount sufficient to pay the actual costs of enforcement of the provisions of this chapter by the county, city or town law enforcement agency and in no event shall such taxation exceed two percent of the gross revenue therefrom less the amount paid for as prizes: PROVIDED FURTHER, That no tax shall be imposed under the authority of this chapter on bingo or amusement games when such activities or any combination thereof are conducted by any bona fide charitable or nonprofit organization as defined in this chapter, which organization has no paid operating or management personnel and has gross income from bingo or amusement games, or a combination thereof, not exceeding five thousand dollars per year, less the amount paid for as prizes. No tax shall be imposed on the first ten thousand dollars of net proceeds from raffles conducted by any bona fide charitable or nonprofit organization as defined in this chapter. Taxation of punch boards and pull-tabs shall not exceed five percent of gross receipts, nor shall taxation of social card games exceed twenty percent of the gross revenue from such games.

Taxes imposed under this chapter become a lien upon personal and real property in the same manner as provided for under RCW 84.60.010.

Sec. 2. RCW 28A.315.440 and 1975 1st ex.s. c 275 s 99 are each amended to read as follows:

Upon receipt of the aforesaid certificate, it shall be the duty of the board of county commissioners of each county to levy on all taxable property of that part of the joint school district which lies within the county a tax sufficient to raise the amount necessary to meet the county's proportionate share of the estimated expenditures of the joint district, as shown by the certificate of the educational service district superintendent of the district to which the joint school district belongs. Such taxes shall be levied and collected in the same manner as other taxes are levied and collected, and the proceeds thereof shall be forwarded ~~((quarterly))~~ monthly by the treasurer of each county, other than the county to which the joint district belongs, to the treasurer of the county to which such district belongs and shall be placed to the credit of said district. The treasurer of the county to which a joint school district belongs is hereby declared to be the treasurer of such district.

Sec. 3. RCW 35.49.130 and 1965 c 7 s 35.49.130 are each amended to read as follows:

~~((In county foreclosures for delinquency in the payment of general taxes, the county treasurer shall mail a copy of the published summons to the treasurer of every city and town within which any property involved in the foreclosure proceeding is situated. The copy of the summons shall be mailed within fifteen days after the first publication thereof, but the county treasurer's failure to do so shall not affect the jurisdiction of the court nor the priority of the tax sought to be foreclosed.))~~

If any property situated in a city or town is offered for sale for general taxes by the county treasurer, the city or town shall have power to protect the lien or liens of any local improvement assessments outstanding against the whole or portion of such property by purchase thereof or otherwise.

Sec. 4. RCW 36.21.011 and 1973 1st ex.s. c 11 s 1 are each amended to read as follows:

Any assessor who deems it necessary to enable him or her to complete the listing and the valuation of the property of his or her county within the time prescribed by law, (1) may appoint one or more well qualified persons to act as ~~((his))~~ assistants or deputies who shall not engage in the private practice of appraising within the county ~~((in which he is))~~ where employed without the written permission of the county assessor filed with the county auditor; and each such assistant or deputy so appointed shall, under the direction of the assessor, after taking the required oath, perform all the duties enjoined upon, vested in or imposed upon assessors, and (2) may contract with any persons, firms or corporations, who are expert appraisers, to assist in the valuation of property.

To assist each assessor in obtaining adequate and well qualified assistants or deputies, the state department of personnel, after consultation with the Washington state association of county assessors, the Washington state association of counties, and the department of revenue, shall establish by July 1, 1967, and shall thereafter maintain, a classification and salary plan for those employees of an assessor who act as appraisers. The plan shall recommend the salary range and employment qualifications for each position encompassed by it, and shall, to the fullest extent practicable, conform to the classification plan, salary schedules and employment qualifications for state employees performing similar appraisal functions.

~~((If))~~ An assessor who intends to put such plan into effect ~~((in his county, he))~~ shall inform the department of revenue and the ~~((board of))~~ county ~~((commissioners))~~ legislative authority of this intent in writing. The department of revenue and the ~~((board))~~ authority may thereupon each designate a representative, and such representative or representatives as may be designated by the department of revenue or the ~~((board))~~ legislative authority, or both, shall form with the assessor a committee. The committee so formed may, by unanimous vote only, determine the required number of certified appraiser positions and their salaries necessary to enable the county assessor to carry out the requirements relating to revaluation of property in chapter 84.41 RCW. The determination of the committee shall be certified to the ~~((board of))~~ county ~~((commissioners))~~ legislative authority. The committee provided for herein may be formed only once in a period of four calendar years.

After such determination, the assessor may provide, in each of ~~((his))~~ the four next succeeding annual budget estimates, for as many positions as are established in such determination. Each ~~((board of))~~ county ~~((commissioners))~~ legislative authority to which such a budget estimate is submitted shall allow sufficient funds for such positions. An employee may be appointed to a position covered by the plan only if the employee meets the employment qualifications established by the plan.

Sec. 5. RCW 46.44.175 and 1985 c 22 s 2 are each amended to read as follows:

Failure of any person or agent acting for a person who causes to be moved or moves a mobile home as defined in RCW 46.04.302 upon public highways of this state and failure to comply with any of the provisions of RCW 46.44.170 and 46.44.173 is a traffic infraction for which a penalty of not less than one hundred dollars or more than five hundred dollars shall be assessed. In addition to the above penalty, the department of transportation or local authority may withhold issuance of a special permit or suspend a continuous special permit as provided by RCW 46.44.090 and 46.44.093 for a period of not less than thirty days.

Any person who shall alter, re-use, transfer, or forge the decal required by RCW 46.44.170, or who shall display a decal knowing it to have been forged, re-used, transferred, or altered, shall be guilty of a gross misdemeanor.

Any person or agent who is denied a special permit or whose special permit is suspended may upon request receive a hearing before the department of transportation or the local authority having jurisdiction. The department or the local authority after such hearing may revise its previous action.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 6. A new section is added to chapter 82.03 RCW to read as follows:

In all appeals taken pursuant to RCW 84.08.130 the assessor or taxpayer shall submit evidence of comparable sales to be used in a hearing to the board and to all parties at least ten business days in advance of such hearing. Failure to comply with the requirements set forth in this section shall be grounds for the board, upon objection, to continue the hearing or refuse to consider evidence not timely submitted.

Sec. 7. RCW 84.08.130 and 1992 c 206 s 10 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) Any taxpayer or taxing unit feeling aggrieved by the action of any county board of equalization may appeal to the board of tax appeals by filing with the ~~((county auditor))~~ board of tax appeals a notice of appeal ~~((in duplicate))~~ within thirty days after the mailing of the decision of such board of equalization, which notice shall specify the actions complained of ~~((, and said auditor shall forthwith transmit one of said notices to the board of tax appeals))~~; and in like manner any county assessor may appeal to the board of tax appeals from any action of any county board of equalization. There shall be no fee charged for the filing of an appeal. The petitioner shall ~~((provide))~~ serve a copy of the notice of appeal ~~((to))~~ on all named parties within the same thirty-day time period ~~((provided in the rules of practice and procedure of the board of tax appeals))~~. Appeals which are not filed and served as provided in this section shall be ~~((continued or))~~ dismissed. The board of tax appeals shall require the board appealed from to file a true and correct copy of its decision in such action and all evidence taken in connection therewith, and may receive further evidence, and shall make such order as in its judgment is just and proper. An appeal of an action by a county board of equalization shall be deemed to have been filed and served within the thirty-day period if it is postmarked on or before the thirtieth day after the mailing of the decision of the board of equalization.

(2) The board of tax appeals may enter an order, pursuant to subsection (1) of this section, that has effect up to the end of the assessment cycle used by the assessor, if there has been no intervening change in the assessed value during that time.

Sec. 8. RCW 84.08.140 and 1975 1st ex.s. c 278 s 157 are each amended to read as follows:

Any taxpayer feeling aggrieved by the levy or levies of any taxing district except levies authorized by a vote of the people of the district may appeal therefrom to the department of revenue as hereinafter provided. Such taxpayer, upon the execution of a bond, with two or more sufficient sureties to be approved by the county auditor, payable to the state of Washington, in the penal sum of two hundred dollars and conditioned that if the petitioner shall fail in his appeal for a reduction of said levy or levies ~~((he))~~ the taxpayer will pay the taxable costs of the hearings hereinafter provided, not exceeding the amount of such bond, may file a written complaint with the county auditor wherein such taxing district is located not later than ten days after the making and entering of such levy or levies, setting forth in such form and detail as the department of revenue shall by general rule prescribe, ~~((his))~~ the taxpayer's objections to such levy or levies. Upon the filing of such complaint, the county auditor shall immediately transmit a certified copy thereof, together with a copy of the budget or estimates of such taxing district as finally adopted, including estimated revenues and such other information as the department of revenue shall by rule require, to the department of revenue. The department of revenue shall fix a date for a hearing on said complaint at the earliest convenient time after receipt of said record, which hearing shall be held in the county in which said taxing district is located, and notice of such hearing shall be given to the officials of such taxing district, charged with determining the amount of its levies, and to the taxpayer on said complaint by registered mail at least five days prior to the date of said hearing. At such hearings all interested parties may be heard and the department of revenue shall receive all competent evidence. After such hearing, the department of revenue shall either affirm or decrease the levy or levies complained of, in accordance with the evidence, and shall thereupon certify its action with respect thereto to the county auditor, who, in turn, shall certify it to the taxing district or districts affected, and the action of the department of revenue with respect to such levy or levies shall be final and conclusive.

Sec. 9. RCW 84.12.360 and 1987 c 153 s 3 are each amended to read as follows:

The actual cash value of the operating property assessed to a company, as fixed and determined by the ~~((state board))~~ department of ((equalization)) revenue, shall be apportioned by the department of revenue to the respective counties and to the taxing districts thereof wherein such property is located in the following manner:

(1) Property of steam, suburban, and interurban railroad companies, telegraph companies and pipe line companies--upon the basis of that proportion of the value of the total operating property within the state which the mileage of track, as classified by the department of revenue (in case of railroads), mileage of wire (in the case of telegraph companies), and mileage of pipe line (in the case of pipe line companies) within each county or taxing district bears to the total mileage thereof within the state, at the end of the calendar year last past. For the purpose of such apportionment the department may classify railroad track.

(2) Property of street railroad companies, telephone companies, electric light and power companies, gas companies, water companies, heating companies and toll bridge companies--upon the basis of relative value of the operating property within each county and taxing district to the value of the total operating property within the state to be determined by such factors as the department of revenue shall deem proper.

(3) Planes or other aircraft of airplane companies and watercraft of steamboat companies--upon the basis of such factor or factors of allocation, to be determined by the department of revenue, as will secure a substantially fair and equitable division between counties and other taxing districts.

All other property of airplane companies and steamboat companies--upon the basis set forth in ~~((subdivision))~~ subsection (2) ((hereof)) of this section.

The basis of apportionment with reference to all public utility companies above prescribed shall not be deemed exclusive and the department of revenue in apportioning values of such companies may also take into consideration such other information, facts, circumstances, or allocation factors as will enable it to make a substantially just and correct valuation of the operating property of such companies within the state and within each county thereof.

Sec. 10. RCW 84.12.370 and 1975 1st ex.s. c 278 s 171 are each amended to read as follows:

When the ~~((state board))~~ department of ((equalization)) revenue shall have determined the equalized assessed value of the operating property of each company in each of the respective counties and in the taxing districts thereof, as hereinabove provided, the department of revenue shall certify such equalized assessed value to the county assessor of the proper county. The county assessor shall enter the company's real operating property upon the real property tax rolls and the company's personal operating property upon the personal property tax rolls of ~~((his))~~ the county assessor's county, together with the values so apportioned, and the same shall be and constitute the assessed valuation of the operating property of the company in such county and the taxing districts therein for that year, upon which taxes shall be levied and collected in the same manner as on the general property of such county.

Sec. 11. RCW 84.16.090 and 1975 1st ex.s. c 278 s 181 are each amended to read as follows:

Upon the assessment roll shall be placed after the name of each company a general description of the operating property of the company, which shall be considered sufficient if described in the language of subdivision (3) of RCW 84.16.010 or otherwise, following which shall be entered the actual cash value of the operating property as determined by the department of revenue. No assessment shall be invalid by a mistake in the name of the company assessed, by omission of the name of the owner or by the entry of a name other than that of the true owner. When the department of revenue shall have prepared the assessment roll and entered thereon the actual cash value of the operating property of the company, as herein required, it shall notify the company by mail of the valuation determined by it and entered upon said roll; and thereupon such valuation shall become the actual cash value of the operating property of the company, subject to revision or correction by the ~~((state board))~~ department of ((equalization)) revenue as hereinafter provided; and shall be the valuation upon which, after equalization by the ~~((state board))~~ department of ((equalization)) revenue as hereinafter provided, the taxes of such company shall be based and computed.

Sec. 12. RCW 84.16.120 and 1961 c 15 s 84.16.120 are each amended to read as follows:

The actual cash value of the property of each company as fixed and determined by the ~~((state board))~~ department of ((equalization)) revenue as herein provided shall be apportioned to the respective counties in the following manner:

(1) If all the operating property of the company is situated entirely within a county and none of such property is located within, extends into, or through or is operated into or through any other county, the entire value thereof shall be apportioned to the county within which such property is situate, located and operated.

(2) If the operating property of any company is situated or located within, extends into or is operated into or through more than one county, the value thereof shall be apportioned to the respective counties into or through which its cars are operated in the proportion that the length of main line track of the respective railroads moving such cars in such counties bears to the total length of main line track of such respective railroads in this state.

(3) If the property of any company is of such character that it will not be reasonable, feasible or fair to apportion the value as hereinabove provided, the value thereof shall be apportioned between the respective counties into or through which such property extends or is operated or in which the same is located in such manner as may be reasonable, feasible and fair.

Sec. 13. RCW 84.16.130 and 1975 1st ex.s. c 278 s 183 are each amended to read as follows:

When the ~~((state board))~~ department of ((equalization)) revenue shall have determined the equalized or assessed value of the operating property of each company in the respective counties as hereinabove provided, the department of revenue shall certify such equalized or assessed value to the county assessor of the proper county; and the county assessor shall apportion and distribute such assessed or equalized valuation to and between the several taxing districts of ~~((his))~~ the county assessor's county entitled to a proportionate value thereof in the manner prescribed in RCW 84.16.120 for apportionment of values between counties. The county assessor shall enter such assessment upon the personal property tax rolls of ~~((his))~~ the county assessor's county, together with the values so apportioned, and the same shall be and constitute the assessed valuation of the operating company in such county for that year, upon which taxes shall be levied and collected the same as on general property of the county.

Sec. 14. RCW 84.33.130 and 1986 c 100 s 57 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) An owner of land desiring that it be designated as forest land and valued pursuant to RCW 84.33.120 as of January 1 of any year commencing with 1972 shall make application to the county assessor before such January 1.

(2) The application shall be made upon forms prepared by the department of revenue and supplied by the county assessor, and shall include the following:

- (a) A legal description of or assessor's tax lot numbers for all land the applicant desires to be designated as forest land;
- (b) The date or dates of acquisition of such land;
- (c) A brief description of the timber on such land, or if the timber has been harvested, the owner's plan for restocking;
- (d) Whether there is a forest management plan for such land;
- (e) If so, the nature and extent of implementation of such plan;
- (f) Whether such land is used for grazing;
- (g) Whether such land has been subdivided or a plat filed with respect thereto;
- (h) Whether such land and the applicant are in compliance with the restocking, forest management, fire protection, insect and disease control and forest debris provisions of Title 76 RCW or any applicable regulations thereunder;
- (i) Whether such land is subject to forest fire protection assessments pursuant to RCW 76.04.610;
- (j) Whether such land is subject to a lease, option or other right which permits it to be used for any purpose other than growing and harvesting timber;
- (k) A summary of the past experience and activity of the applicant in growing and harvesting timber;
- (l) A summary of current and continuing activity of the applicant in growing and harvesting timber;
- (m) A statement that the applicant is aware of the potential tax liability involved when such land ceases to be designated as forest land;

(n) An affirmation that the statements contained in the application are true and that the land described in the application is, by itself or with other forest land not included in the application, in contiguous ownership of twenty or more acres which is primarily devoted to and used for growing and harvesting timber.

The assessor shall afford the applicant an opportunity to be heard if the application so requests.

(3) The assessor shall act upon the application with due regard to all relevant evidence and without any one or more items of evidence necessarily being determinative, except that the application may be denied for one of the following reasons, without regard to other items:

(a) The land does not contain either a "merchantable stand of timber" or an "adequate stocking" as defined ~~((in RCW 76.08.010, or any laws or regulations adopted to replace such minimum standards))~~ by rule adopted by the forest practices board, except this reason (a) shall not alone be sufficient for denial of the application (i) if such land has been recently harvested or supports a growth of brush or noncommercial type timber, and the application includes a plan for restocking within three years or such longer period necessitated by unavailability of seed or seedlings, or (ii) if only isolated areas within such land do not meet such minimum standards due to rock outcroppings, swamps, unproductive soil or other natural conditions;

(b) The applicant, with respect to such land, has failed to comply with a final administrative or judicial order with respect to a violation of the restocking, forest management, fire protection, insect and disease control and forest debris provisions of Title 76 RCW or any applicable regulations thereunder;

(c) The land abuts a body of salt water and lies between the line of ordinary high tide and a line paralleling such ordinary high tide line and two hundred feet horizontally landward therefrom, except that if the higher and better use determined by the assessor to exist for such land would not be permitted or economically feasible by virtue of any federal, state or local law or regulation such land shall be assessed and valued pursuant to the procedures set forth in RCW 84.33.110 and 84.33.120 without being designated. The application shall be deemed to have been approved unless, prior to May 1, of the year after such application was mailed or delivered to the assessor, he or she shall notify the applicant in writing of the extent to which the application is denied.

For the purposes of this subsection, "adequate stocking" means a stand of not less than three hundred thirty established live seedlings per acre of commercial species predominant on the area cut of which at least one hundred must be well distributed, or not less than three hundred surviving trees per acre that were established by artificial means.

For the purposes of this subsection, "merchantable stand of timber" means stand of timber consisting of not less than two thousand board feet per acre of currently merchantable live timber as measured by the Scribner Decimal C log rule, or three hundred cubic feet as measured by the Sorenson log rule, or four standard cords.

(4) An owner who receives notice pursuant to subsection (3) of this section that his or her application has been denied may appeal such denial to the county board of equalization.

Sec. 15. RCW 84.34.230 and 1973 1st ex.s. c 195 s 94 are each amended to read as follows:

For the purpose of acquiring conservation futures as well as other rights and interests in real property pursuant to RCW 84.34.210 and 84.34.220, a county may levy an amount not to exceed six and one-quarter cents per thousand dollars of assessed valuation against the assessed valuation of all taxable property within the county, which levy shall be in addition to that authorized by RCW ~~((84.52.050 and))~~ 84.52.043.

Sec. 16. RCW 84.36.381 and 1992 c 187 s 1 are each amended to read as follows:

A person shall be exempt from any legal obligation to pay all or a portion of the amount of excess and regular real property taxes due and payable in the year following the year in which a claim is filed, and thereafter, in accordance with the following:

(1) The property taxes must have been imposed upon a residence which was occupied by the person claiming the exemption as a principal place of residence as of January 1st of the year for which the exemption is claimed: PROVIDED, That any person who sells, transfers, or is displaced from his or her residence may transfer his or her exemption status to a replacement residence, but no claimant shall receive an exemption on more than one residence in any year: PROVIDED FURTHER, That confinement of the person to a hospital or nursing home shall not disqualify the claim of exemption if:

(a) The residence is temporarily unoccupied ~~((or if))~~;

(b) The residence is occupied by a spouse and/or a person financially dependent on the claimant for support; or

(c) The residence is rented for the purpose of paying nursing home or hospital costs;

(2) The person claiming the exemption must have owned, at the time of filing, in fee, as a life estate, or by contract purchase, the residence on which the property taxes have been imposed or if the person claiming the exemption lives in a cooperative housing association, corporation, or partnership, such person must own a share therein representing the unit or portion of the structure in which he or she resides. For purposes of this subsection, a residence owned by a marital community or owned by cotenants shall be deemed to be owned by each spouse or cotenant, and any lease for life shall be deemed a life estate;

(3) The person claiming the exemption must be sixty-one years of age or older on December 31st of the year in which the exemption claim is filed, or must have been, at the time of filing, retired from regular gainful employment by reason of physical disability: PROVIDED, That any surviving spouse of a person who was receiving an exemption at the time of the person's death shall qualify if the surviving spouse is fifty-seven years of age or older and otherwise meets the requirements of this section;

(4) The amount that the person shall be exempt from an obligation to pay shall be calculated on the basis of combined disposable income, as defined in RCW 84.36.383. If the person claiming the exemption was retired for two months or more of the preceding year, the combined disposable income of such person shall be calculated by multiplying the average monthly combined disposable income of such person during the months such person was retired by twelve. If the income of the person claiming exemption is reduced for two or more months of the preceding year by reason of the death of the person's spouse, the combined disposable income of such person shall be calculated by multiplying the average monthly combined disposable income of such person after the death of the spouse by twelve.

(5)(a) A person who otherwise qualifies under this section and has a combined disposable income of twenty-six thousand dollars or less shall be exempt from all excess property taxes; and

(b)(i) A person who otherwise qualifies under this section and has a combined disposable income of eighteen thousand dollars or less but greater than fifteen thousand dollars shall be exempt from all regular property taxes on the greater of thirty thousand dollars or thirty percent of the valuation of his or her residence, but not to exceed fifty thousand dollars of the valuation of his or her residence; or
