MOTION

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

"NEW SECTION. Sec. 35. The legislature finds that:

(1) Teaching first peoples' languages and cultures is a critical factor in successful educational experiences and promoting cultural sensitivity for all students. Experience shows such teaching dramatically raises student achievement. The effect is particularly strong for Native American students;

(2) Native American students have the highest high school dropout rate among all groups of students. Less than one-fourth of Native American students in the class of 2008 are on track to graduate based on the results of the Washington assessment of student learning. Positive and supportive educational experiences are critical for Native American students' success;

(3) The sole expertise of sovereign tribal governments in the transmission of their indigenous languages, heritage, cultural knowledge, customs, and traditions should be honored;

(4) Government-to-government collaboration between the state and the sovereign tribal governments whose traditional lands and territories lie within the borders of the state of Washington serves to implement the spirit of the 1989 centennial accord and other similar government-to-government agreements, including the 2004 accord between the federally recognized Indian tribes with treaty reserved rights in Washington state and the state of Washington;

(5) Establishing a first peoples' language and culture teacher certification program both achieves educational objectives and models effective government-to-government relationships;

(6) Establishing a first peoples' language and culture certification program implements the following policy objectives of P.L. 101-477, the federal Native American languages act of 1990, in a tangible way:

(a) To preserve, protect, and promote the rights and freedom of Native Americans to use, practice, and develop Native American languages;

(b) To allow exceptions to teacher certification requirements for federal programs and programs funded in whole or in part by the federal government, for instruction in Native American languages when such teacher certification requirements hinder the employment of qualified teachers who teach in Native American languages, and to encourage state and territorial governments to make similar exceptions;

(c) To encourage and support the use of Native American languages as a medium of instruction in order to encourage and support Native American language survival, educational opportunity, increased student success and performance, increased student awareness and knowledge of their culture, and increased student and community pride;

(d) To encourage state and local education programs to work with Native American parents, educators, Indian tribes, and other Native American governing bodies in the implementation of programs to put this policy into effect; and

(e) To encourage all institutions of elementary, secondary, and higher education, where appropriate, to include Native American languages in the curriculum in the same manner as foreign languages and to grant proficiency in Native American languages the same full academic credit as proficiency in foreign languages;

(7) Establishing a first peoples' language and culture certification program is consistent with the intent of presidential executive order number 13336 from 2004, entitled "American Indian and Alaska native education," to assist students in meeting the challenging student academic standards of P.L. 107-110, the no child left behind act of 2001, in a manner that is consistent with tribal traditions, languages, and cultures.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 36. A new section is added to chapter 28A.410 RCW to read as follows:

2007 REGULAR SESSION

The professional educator standards board shall adopt rules to implement the program in collaboration with the sovereign tribal governments whose traditional lands and territories lie within the borders of the state of Washington, including the tribal leader congress on education and the first peoples' language and culture committee. The collaboration required under this section shall be defined by a protocol for cogovernance in the first peoples' language and culture teacher certification program developed by the professional educator standards board, the office of the superintendent of public instruction, and the sovereign tribal governments whose traditional lands and territories lie within the borders of the state of Washington.

(2) Any sovereign tribal government whose traditional lands and territories lie within the borders of the state of Washington may participate individually on a government-to-government basis in the program.

(3) Under the first peoples' language and culture teacher certification program:

(a) Only a participating sovereign tribal government may certify individuals who meet the tribe's criteria for certification as a teacher in the Washington state first peoples' language and culture program. Before certification of the individual, the participating sovereign tribal government may conduct a background check through the tribal police departments within Washington state to determine, to the extent possible, whether the individual has been convicted of any crimes that may otherwise disqualify the person from being awarded a teacher certificate and provide the information to the office of the superintendent of public instruction. The office of the superintendent of public instruction shall not authorize or accept a certificate or endorsement in Washington state first peoples' language and culture without certification from a participating sovereign tribal government and without conducting a record check of an individual applying for certification as required under RCW 28A.410.010;

(b) For each teacher to be certified in the program, the participating sovereign tribal government shall submit information and documentation necessary for the issuance of a state certificate, as defined by rule, to the office of the superintendent of public instruction;

(c) A Washington state first peoples' language and culture teacher certificate serves as a subject area endorsement in first peoples' language and culture. The holder of a Washington state first peoples' language and culture teacher certificate who does not also hold an initial, residency, continuing, or professional teaching certificate authorized by the professional educator standards board may be assigned to teach only the languages and cultures designated on the certificate and no other subject;

(d) In order to teach first peoples' language and culture, teachers must hold certificates from both the office of the superintendent of public instruction and from the sovereign tribal government; and

(e) The holder of a Washington state first peoples' language and culture teacher certificate meets Washington state's definition of a highly qualified teacher under P.L. 107-110, the no child left behind act of 2001, for the purposes of teaching first peoples' language and culture, subject to approval by the United States department of education.

(4) First peoples' language/culture teacher certificates issued by the state board of education or the professional educator standards board under a pilot program before the effective date of this section remain valid as certificates under this section, subject to the provisions of this chapter.

(5) Schools and school districts on or near tribal reservations are encouraged to contract with sovereign tribal governments whose traditional lands and territories lie within the borders of the state of Washington and first peoples' language and culture certification programs for in-service teacher training and continuing education in the culture appropriate for their geographic area, as well as suggested pedagogy and instructional strategies.

(1) Certificated personnel shall receive for each ten clock hours of approved in-service training attended the equivalent of a one credit college quarter course on the salary schedule developed by the legislative evaluation and accountability program committee.

(5) Clock hours eligible for application to the salary schedule developed by the legislative evaluation and accountability program committee as described in subsections (1) and (2) of this section, shall be those hours acquired after August 31, 1987. Clock hours eligible for application to the salary schedule as described in subsection (3) of this section shall be those hours acquired after December 31, 1995.

My point would be to suggest that although we appreciate your rulings on many issues the President does not normally rule on constitutional questions."

FIFTY-EIGHTH DAY, MARCH 6, 2007

REPLY BY THE PRESIDENT

President Owen: "Senator Brown, you would be correct except for the cases when there is a rule of the Senate that is in direct relationship to the constitution or in determining the number of votes necessary because of the constitution. So, that therefore there are times when the President does rule. As a rule, the President does not on issues of constitutionality, that could be and would be determined by the courts. The President believes that that's where this ruling would go but we're trying to figure out how exactly, how we get to that answer. not to make that answer come out, but in order to give it to you in the correct fashion, so that's what we're debating up here."

REPLY BY THE PRESIDENT

President Owen: "Senator Hewitt, the President believes that the answer to your question is a point of order would be raised as to whether or not this legislation is appropriately before us because of the prohibitions against special legislation of Article 2, Section 28 of the constitution. Should you raise that question the President would rule that it is a question that would be determined not by the President because it is not parliamentary issue. it is a constitutional issue that would be determined by the courts. So you can raise it if you would like."

POINT OF PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Senator Sheldon: "Since I'd raised this originally, I'd just like to make a quick, if I could, a quick argument. That usually sways you I know....."

REPLY BY THE PRESIDENT

President Owen: "Senator Sheldon, let me make a clarification. You did not raise the point of order. You only raised the issue, so there's not a point of order before us at this time."

POINT OF ORDER

Senator Sheldon: "Mr. President, thinking Article 2, Section 28, the constitution is very clear in delineating that special legislation must not be used, must not be enacted by the Legislature to overturn and to change civil law. It appears, in this case that the State Court of Appeals has ruled in this issue. And I think it's a straight forward case of the Legislature trying to undo a court decision."

REPLY BY THE PRESIDENT

President Owen: "Senator Sheldon has raised the point of order that this legislation would be considered special legislation and conflict prohibited by Article 2, Section 28 and therefore is not properly before us."

REPLY BY THE PRESIDENT

President Owen: "Senator Sheldon, in ruling on your point of order on this issue the President has consistently provided that it is the Legislature's responsibility to determine whether or not they feel an issue is constitutional or is not. It is not the President's place to make that determination, yet the courts. If the Legislature is wrong, then the courts will make that determination but not the President. Therefore, your point of order is not well taken."

The President declared the question before the Senate to be the final passage of Substitute Senate Bill No. 6011.

Bob Compton: "Thank you for this honor. I can't tell you how much I appreciate it and how flattered I am by it but I can only tell you I accept it only as a representative of thousands of other guys who did more or as much as I did in the war. 'A Band of Brothers' have given us some publicity and popularity or whatever you want to call it. Probably far beyond what we deserve except that we hope that we represent madicom or microcosm of all the people who had fought in World War II and that's what we always hold ourselves out to be so. The other thing what we, my buddies at least in the 101st we spend a lot of time talking to the young soldiers of today and what we like to tell them is that we believe to a man that they're fighting a more dangerous enemy and a more difficult enemy than we ever fought against and they deserve our best support but we think it's a war that has to be won, that has to be fought. On behalf of my former brothers of arms, again I thank you for this honor."

The primary responsibility for sexual health education is with parents and guardians. However, this responsibility also extends to schools and other community groups. It is in the public's best interest to ensure that young people are equipped with medically and scientifically accurate, age-appropriate information that will help them avoid unintended pregnancies, remain free of sexually transmitted diseases, and make informed, responsible decisions throughout their lives.

(2) The legislature intends to support and advance the standards established in the January 2005 guidelines for sexual health information and disease prevention developed by the office of the superintendent of public instruction and the department of health. These guidelines are a fundamental tool to help school districts, teachers, guest speakers, health and counseling providers, community groups, parents, and guardians choose, develop, and evaluate sexual health curricula to better meet the health and safety needs of adolescents and young adults in their communities.

NEW SECTION, Sec. 4. A new section is added to chapter 28A.300 RCW to read as follows:

(1) By September 1, 2008, every public school that offers sexual health education must assure that sexual health education is medically and scientifically accurate, age-appropriate, appropriate for students regardless of gender, race, disability status, or sexual orientation, and includes information about abstinence and other methods of preventing unintended pregnancy and sexually transmitted diseases. All sexual health information, instruction, and materials must be medically and scientifically accurate. Abstinence may not be taught to the exclusion of other materials and instruction on contraceptives and disease prevention. Sexual health education must be consistent with the January 2005 guidelines for sexual health information and disease prevention developed by the department of health and the office of the superintendent of public instruction.

(2) As used in this act, "medically and scientifically accurate" means information that is verified or supported by research in compliance with scientific methods, is published in peer-review journals, where appropriate, and is recognized as accurate and objective by professional organizations and agencies with expertise in the field of sexual health including but not limited to the American college of obstetricians and gynecologists, the Washington state department of health, and the federal centers for disease control and prevention.

(3) The superintendent of public instruction and the department of health shall make the January 2005 guidelines for sexual health information and disease prevention available to school districts, teachers, and guest speakers on their web sites. Within available resources, the superintendent of public instruction and the department of health shall make any related information, model policies, curricula, or other resources available as well.

(4) The superintendent of public instruction, in consultation with the department of health, shall develop a list of sexual health education curricula that are consistent with the 2005 guidelines for sexual health information and disease prevention. This list shall be intended to serve as a resource for schools, teachers, or any other organization or community group, and shall be updated no less frequently than annually and made available on the web sites of the office of the superintendent of public instruction and the department of health.

(5) Public schools that offer sexual health education are encouraged to review their sexual health curricula and choose a curriculum from the list developed under subsection (4) of this section. Any public school that offers sexual health education may identify, choose, or develop any other curriculum, if the curriculum chosen or developed complies with the requirements of this section.

(6) Any parent or legal guardian who wishes to have his or her child excused from any planned instruction in sexual health education may do so upon filing a written request with the school district board of directors or its designee, or the principal of the school his or her child attends, or the principal's designee. In addition, any parent or legal guardian may review the sexual health education curriculum offered in his or her child's school by filing a written request with the school district board of directors, the principal of the school his or her child attends, or the principal's designee.

(7) The office of the superintendent of public instruction shall, through its Washington state school health profiles survey or other existing reporting mechanism, ask public schools to application and investigation into the granting thereof(~~PROVIDED FURTHER, That~~). If in a particular case the basic license fee established by the commission for a particular class of license is less than the commission's actual expenses to investigate that particular application, the commission may at any time charge to that applicant such additional fees as are necessary to pay the commission for those costs. The commission may decline to proceed with its investigation and no license shall be issued until the commission has been fully paid therefor by the applicant(~~AND PROVIDED FURTHER, That~~). The commission may establish fees for the furnishing by it to licensees of identification stamps to be affixed to such devices and equipment as required by the commission and for such other special services or programs required or offered by the commission, the amount of each of these fees to be not less than is adequate to offset the cost to the commission of the stamps and of administering their dispersal to licensees or the cost of administering such other special services, requirements or programs;

(7) To require that applications for all licenses contain such information as may be required by the commission(~~PROVIDED, That~~). The commission shall require fingerprinting and national criminal history background checks on any persons seeking licenses, certifications, or permits under this chapter or of any person holding an interest in any gambling activity, building, or equipment to be used therefor, or of any person participating as an employee in the operation of any gambling activity. All national criminal history background checks shall be conducted using fingerprints submitted to the United States department of justice-federal bureau of investigation. The commission must establish rules to delineate which persons named on the application are subject to national criminal history background checks. In identifying these persons, the commission must take into consideration the nature, character, size, and scope of the gambling activities requested by the persons making such applications;

(8) To require that any license holder maintain records as directed by the commission and submit such reports as the commission may deem necessary;

(9) To require that all income from bingo games, raffles, and amusement games be recorded and reported as established by rule (~~or regulation~~) of the commission to the extent deemed necessary by considering the scope and character of the gambling activity in such a manner that will disclose gross income from any gambling activity, amounts received from each player, the nature and value of prizes, and the fact of distributions of such prizes to the winners thereof;

(10) To regulate and establish maximum limitations on income derived from bingo. In establishing limitations pursuant to this subsection the commission shall take into account (i) the nature, character, and scope of the activities of the licensee; (ii) the source of all other income of the licensee; and (iii) the percentage or extent to which income derived from bingo is used for charitable, as distinguished from nonprofit, purposes. However, the commission's powers and duties granted by this subsection are discretionary and not mandatory;

(15) To set forth for the perusal of counties, city-counties, cities and towns, model ordinances by which any legislative authority thereof may enter into the taxing of any gambling activity authorized by this chapter;

However, the commissioner's powers and duties granted by this subsection are discretionary and not mandatory.

In establishing these maximum limits the commission shall take into account the amount of income received, or expected to be received, from the class of activities to which the limits will apply and the amount of money the games could generate for authorized charitable or nonprofit purposes absent such expenses. The commission may also take into account, in its discretion, other factors, including but not limited to, the local prevailing wage scale and whether charitable purposes are benefited by the activities;

(17) To authorize, require, and issue for a period not to exceed one year such licenses or permits, for which the commission may by rule provide, to any person to work for any operator of any gambling activity authorized by this chapter in connection with that activity, or any manufacturer, supplier, or distributor of devices for those activities in connection with such business. The commission shall not require that persons working solely as volunteers in an authorized activity conducted by a bona fide charitable or bona fide nonprofit organization, who receive no compensation of any kind for any purpose from that organization, and who have no managerial or supervisory responsibility in connection with that activity, be licensed to do such work. The commission may require that licensees employing such unlicensed volunteers submit to the commission periodically a list of the names, addresses, and dates of birth of the volunteers. If any volunteer is not approved by the commission, the commission may require that the licensee not allow that person to work in connection with the licensed activity;

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Senator Schoesler: "Madam President, I submit to you that this measure takes a two-thirds vote for final passage under Initiative 601 because it changes what was a dedicated fee into a general tax. Madam President, the speaker or President has consistently ruled that dedicated fees do not trigger the super majority requirements of I-601 but general tax increases do. In this case we have a strange set of circumstances where a bill would change what was a dedicated fee for a specific purpose into a general tax for no specific purpose. Under this bill, half of the funds collected under this bill are to be sent to a general spending account with no limitation or connection to the purpose of the original fee which was waste tire removal. For these reasons I believe it takes a two-thirds vote of this body on final passage and I respectfully ask for a ruling thereon."

Senator Haugen spoke against the parliamentary inquiry.

POINT OF ORDER

Senator Brown: "Thank you Madam President, I believe it customary in these types of, when these types of points are brought forward, that we have one speech on each side."

The President assumed the chair.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Senator Eide: "We are currently on amendments if I'm not mistaken and don't we have this type of ruling on final passage?"

REPLY BY THE PRESIDENT

President Owen: "Senator Schoesler's point was a little early. Although it is the striking amendment it is the same effect as the bill so the President believes that it would be more appropriate if we took it on final passage, that the amendment be dealt with before the point of order. But if you are not willing to wait, I'll do the point of order first. Senator Schoesler, normally your point of order would be taken on final passage so we'll dispose of the amendment first and then I'll take your point of order, if that's agreeable. Thank you."

MOTION

On motion of Senator Eide, further consideration of Substitute Senate Bill No. 5080 was deferred and the bill held its place on the second reading calendar.

As used in this subsection, an "adverse effect" must be more than technical and must be significant to a reasonable person. To establish an adverse effect, the person alleging the breach is not required to prove that the breach renders the new home uninhabitable or unfit for its intended purpose.

(4) "Electrical systems" means all wiring, electrical boxes, switches, outlets, and connections to the public utility system.

(5) "Heating, cooling, and ventilating systems" means all duct work, gas, steam, water and refrigerant lines, registers, convectors, solar panels, radiation elements, and dampers.

Newly constructed private dwelling units include substantial remodels. "Substantial remodel" means a remodel of a residence, for which the total cost exceeds one-half of the assessed value of the improvements for property tax purposes at the time the contract for remodel was made.

(b) "New home" does not include:

(i) A condominium, as defined in RCW 64.34.020, used for residential purposes, as defined in RCW 64.34.020;

(11)(a) "Structural defect" means any defect in the load-bearing portions of a new home that adversely affects its load-bearing function to the extent that the home becomes or is in danger of becoming unsafe, unsanitary, or otherwise not reasonably safely inhabitable.

(b) "Structural defect" also includes damage due to subsidence, expansion, or lateral movement of soil that has been disturbed or relocated by the builder.

(c) "Structural defect" does not include damage caused by movement of the soil:

(i) Resulting from a flood or earthquake; or

(ii) For which compensation has been provided.

(12) "Warranty date" means the first day on which the owner occupies the new home, closes on the new home, makes the final contract payment on the new home, or obtains an occupancy permit for the new home if the home is built on the owner's property, whichever is earlier.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. (1)(a) Except as excluded under (b) of this subsection, every contract for the construction or sale of a new home includes, as a matter of law, a warranty from the residential builder that shall warrant at a minimum that:

(i) For two years, beginning on the warranty date, the new home is free from any defects in materials and workmanship;

(ii) For three years, beginning on the warranty date, the new home is free from any defects in the electrical, plumbing, heating, cooling, and ventilating systems, except that in the case of appliances, fixtures, and items of equipment, the warranty need not exceed the length and scope of the warranty offered by the manufacturer, and the warranty of merchantability, fitness, and all other implied warranties with respect to appliances, fixtures, and items of equipment shall be governed by the Washington uniform commercial code;

(iii) For five years, beginning on the warranty date, the new home is free from any defects that permit or, without repair, will lead to water penetration; and

(iv) For ten years, beginning on the warranty date, the new home is free from any structural defects.

(b) The new home warranty excludes the following:

(i) Damage to real property that is not part of the home covered by the warranty or that is not included in the purchase price of the home;

(ii) Bodily injury or damage to personal property;

(iii) Any defect in materials supplied or work performed by anyone other than the builder or the builder's employees, agents, or subcontractors;

(iv) Any damage that the owner knew or had reason to know existed but has not taken reasonable action to mitigate;

(v) Normal wear and tear or expiration of normal useful life;

(vi) Insect damage, except where the builder has failed to use proper materials or construction methods designed to prevent insect infestation;

(vii) Any loss or damage that arises while the home is being used primarily for nonresidential purposes;

(viii) Any damage to the extent it is caused or made worse by negligence, improper maintenance, or improper operations by anyone other than the builder or its employees, agents, or subcontractors;

SIXTIETH DAY, MARCH 8, 2007

(ix) Any damage to the extent it is caused or made worse by changes of the grading of the ground by anyone other than the builder, its employees, agents, or subcontractors; and

(x) Any loss or damage caused by acts of God.

(2) The warranty created by this section runs from the builder to the owner. This warranty entitles the owner to recover from the builder all costs associated with repairing the defects, including all incidental and consequential damages. The liability of a builder under the new home warranty shall be limited to the fair market value of the home. Absence of privity of contract between the owner and the builder is not a defense to the enforcement of this warranty.

(3) If the defect is the result of work performed by a subcontractor, the builder has a right of contribution from that subcontractor for amounts paid to the owner as a result of the new home warranty.

(4) No action to enforce the new home warranty created by this section may be commenced after six years have passed from the time the defect is discovered or, with reasonable diligence, should have been discovered. However, an action may not be brought under this section more than ten years after the warranty date. Providing written notice and a reasonable description of a defect to the builder has the effect of tolling the limitation periods established by this subsection and subsection (5) of this section. Tolling continues until the builder completes the repair to the owner's satisfaction, or the builder gives the owner written notice that the builder refuses to make the repair or has completed as much of the repair as the builder intends to complete.

(5) Except as provided in subsection (4) of this section, no action to enforce the new home warranty created by this section may be filed later than the time periods described in subsection (1)(a) of this section.

(6) The new home warranty is a cumulative remedy, and shall not have the effect of diminishing or replacing any other remedy or warranty created by law or equity or agreement between the parties.

(7) The new home warranty does not expire on the subsequent sale of a new home by the owner to a subsequent purchaser, but continues to protect later purchasers until the warranties provided in subsection (1)(a) of this section expire.

(8) The new home warranty created in this section may not be omitted, waived, or disclaimed in any way.

(9) All new homes must include in the purchase and sale agreement between the builder and the buyer the following statement: "This home was built in accordance with the statutory warranty set forth in chapter 64.-- RCW (sections 1 and 2 of this act), which representation and warranty may not be omitted, waived, or disclaimed in any way." This subsection is intended to provide notice to owners of their rights under the new home warranty created under sections 1 and 2 of this act and is not intended to create a separate cause of action under this act.

(10) This chapter is not intended to create an independent right to maintain a class action against any builder.

Sec. 3. RCW 4.16.300 and 2004 c 257 s 1 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) Except as provided in subsection (2) of this section, RCW 4.16.300 through 4.16.320 shall apply to all claims or causes of action of any kind against any person, arising from such person having constructed, altered or repaired any improvement upon real property, or having performed or furnished any design, planning, surveying, architectural or construction or engineering services, or supervision or observation of construction, or administration of construction contracts for any construction, alteration or repair of any improvement upon real property. This section is specifically intended to benefit persons having performed work for which the persons must be registered or licensed under RCW 18.08.310, 18.27.020, 18.43.040, 18.96.020, or 19.28.041, and shall not apply to claims or causes of action against persons not required to be so registered or licensed.

(2) RCW 4.16.300 through 4.16.320 shall not apply to chapter 64.--RCW (sections 1 and 2 of this act).

Within this evaluation, the committee shall examine other states that have implemented statutory home warranties including, at a minimum, Maryland and California.

(3) Staff support for the committee must be provided by senate committee services and the house of representatives office of program research.

STATEMENT FOR THE JOURNAL

Earlier this evening, given the enormous volume of bills, amendments, and motions before the Senate, I inadvertently voted "no" on the final passage of Substitute Senate Bill No. 5108, which would create an office of farmland preservation. I recognize how tremendously important farmland is to my district and our state, and any effort to retain farmland has my full support. I regret this mistake, and should have voted "yes" to pass this important measure.

Sincerely,

SENATOR DALE BRANDLAND, 42nd Legislative District

REMARKS BY JUAN PEDRO DE BASTERRECHEA

"Mr. President, honorable members of the Senate: It is a great pleasure and a great honor to be here today in the Senate of the State of Washington representing the Institute of Cervantes. As you know the Institute of Cervantes is a Spanish public, nonprofit organization, part of the Spanish Ministry of Foreign Affairs. It was founded in 1991 with a two-fold objective; to promote world wide the Spanish language; and the culture of the Spanish speaking peoples. The King of Spain is the President of honor of the Board of Institute and the Prime Minister is its Executive President. In order to achieve its goals, the Institute of Cervantes is creating a network of centers in the four continents. We are now present in sixty-seven cities, in forty countries in the world. Yesterday, with the attendance of an impressive representation of academic, political, cultural and economic personalities of Seattle and of Washington State, the Cervantes of the University of Washington was solemnly inaugurated. It was a great moment for us. Now, ambitious Spanish-language teaching programs, teacher-training courses and the organization of cultural activities that we have been defining with a very active department of Spanish and Portuguese of the University of Washington, will become true. We have already been able to see that the demand the support and the opportunities for our activity this state are unique. All this has been made possible thanks to the vision of outstanding men. It all began two and a half years ago when the delegation of the State of Washington visited the Institute of Cervantes in Madrid. Amongst them, the President of the Senate and Lt. Governor, Mr. Brad Owen; he sent the champ, Mr. Antonio Sanchez; Mr. William Gates, Sr.; the head of the department of Spanish and Portuguese of the University of Washington Mr. Anthony Geist and the Spanish Counsel in Seattle, Mr. Luis Fernando Esteban. Thanks to their determination, in remarkably short time, many of our goals have been achieved. On behalf of the Institute of Cervantes, I want to pay tribute to their generosity and enthusiasm. From now on, in close collaboration with the University of Washington, we will be able to fulfill our task. We will be able to promote the Spanish language and the culture of the Spanish-speaking peoples amongst the citizens of state of Washington. Thank you very much for this opportunity and for the very, very warm welcome that you will have given us. Thank you."

SIXTY-FIRST DAY, MARCH 9, 2007

2007 REGULAR SESSION

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Eide: "Well, I would like to also welcome you here to Washington State and it is indeed a privilege to have the Cervantes Institute here in the State of Washington. We have a common goal here and that is to provide quality education and foreign language. Also to increase our cultural understanding across borders and also it enables our students to work with people from different countries and helps build new bridges for international trade. Now, on a personal note, I must say that I had the honor of visiting your country in December and thoroughly enjoyed myself and the culture was, and the history, I just can't tell you, it gives me goose bumps even thinking about it but I am looking forward to the day when I can retire in Spain. Thank you very much, it is a pleasure to see you here today and thanks for all that you do for us here in Washington State."

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Benton: "I too want to thank the Government of Spain and, of course, King Juan Carlos for the wonderful gift. It is such an honor for us to one of only four centers in the United States, right here, at our own University of Washington. I too, like the previous speaker have visited Spain. My son and I spent a wonderful time in Barcelona. We enjoyed it very much. The people of Spain are very gracious and welcomed us and we just loved it and we look forward to going back again soon. So to have this relationship, of course our relationship with your country has been a long relationship. It started many years ago. I remember back in 1995, when we first began to doing business with Talgo for the Talgo train and that has continued, of course, to be a very good relationship. We look forward to a long and fruitful, mutual relationship with your country and our great state of Washington. Thank you very much and I look forward to seeing you at noon today."

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Kohl-Welles: "Muchas gracias, Mr. President. Welcome to Mr. Vice Counsel, I too have traveled to Spain. The first time, forty-two years ago and loved it then and have always loved being there. I am very excited about the Cervantes Center and it is a great tribute to our state and the University of Washington to be selected to have one of the four centers. I'd also like to say that Don Quijote is one of my most favorite novels that I've ever read and as a very young person reading it, and I may be incorrect, I believe that it was one of the first novels ever published in the world. As a public policy-maker who sometimes is probably thought of as chasing windmills and some of the legislation that I introduced. I think there's a lot to be said for that and certainly Don Quijote is a beloved character in fiction but also it brings a lot in real life. Thank you."

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator McAuliffe: "I want to welcome you to our beautiful state to Washington State and I want to thank you for crossing the borders and bringing to us your beautiful language so that we may go online and have the opportunity to be tutored and to improve our Spanish. That will be a great experience for all of us and I also do want to thank you for the gifts that you brought, particularly yourselves as well for coming to visit us. One of my favorite songs in the whole world is, 'The Impossible Dream' and I think as a Legislature we always have to dream and sometimes I do feel that you have to do those kind of things because that is why we are here for the people of the State of Washington as you are here for the people of Spain. So welcome and thank you so much."

REMARKS BY THE PRESIDENT

President Owen: " Just a reminder to the members of the reception at noon today. If you are interested in getting the program and going online and doing as Senator Regala has already from what I understand, contact our office and you will be able to obtain, we'll connect you to get your password and your code and you will be able to access this incredible opportunity.

Gracias. Estamos muy emocionado para esta oportunidad. I should note, by the way, you're going to have to get on and learn that Spanish quick, because the book is in Spanish."

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Rasmussen: "Thank you Mr. President. A good friend of this legislature for the last forty years and a good friend of yours, Mr. President passed away last night. It was Marlyta Deck and I know that you know her and many of you know her but she was lobbyist for the Cattlemen. She worked hard for agriculture, for fairs and for kids. If Senator Deccio was here he would join me along with Senator McCaslin and Senator Newhouse and particularly Tubb Hanson, for those who remember Senator Hanson. Marlyta was the heart and the soul of this legislature. She raised the lobbyist you see outside of our doors, she raised them and she called them her boys. Anybody that went to fairs and had kids in 4H knew Marlyta. Marlyta was a Thurston County, she was a State Fair. She's one of the reasons I'm here. She was involved with me in 4H and Future Farmers of America. We started the fair board for the Future Farmers of America. She served as the first president and then I served as a president after her but she got us all involved in all sorts of things that had to do with youth groups. She was a good friend of Ron Crockett. She was the one that lobbied for Emerald Downs when it was Longacres. She cared about every aspect of agriculture. I know that you'll all join me in wishing her well on her journey to be with our Lord in heaven and she's just been so grand to all of our young people and now I look at those lobbyist that she raised and as we're all getting old when can say, 'Thank you Marlyta, Thank you for what you've done for all of us,' because she, it was a job well done. Could we just have a moment of silence for our friend Marlyta Deck?"

2007 REGULAR SESSION

The senate observed a moment of silence in memory of Mrs. Marlyta Deck who passed away March 8, 2007.

SENATE BILL NO. 6107, having received the constitutional majority, was declared passed. There being no objection, the title of the bill was ordered to stand as the title of the act.

Senator Keiser moved that the following striking amendment by Senators Keiser and Marr be adopted:

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

"NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. It is the public policy of Washington to promote access to medical care for all citizens and to encourage innovative arrangements between patients and providers that will help provide all citizens with a medical home.

Washington needs a multipronged approach to provide adequate health care to many citizens who lack adequate access to it. Direct patient-provider practices, in which patients enter into a direct relationship with medical practitioners and pay a fixed amount directly to the health care provider for primary care services, represent an innovative, affordable option which could improve access to medical care, reduce the number of people who now lack such access, and cut down on emergency room use for primary care purposes, thereby freeing up emergency room facilities to treat true emergencies.

Sec. 2. RCW 48.44.010 and 1990 c 120 s 1 are each amended to read as follows:

For the purposes of this chapter:

(1) "Health care services" means and includes medical, surgical, dental, chiropractic, hospital, optometric, podiatric, pharmaceutical, ambulance, custodial, mental health, and other therapeutic services.

(2) "Provider" means any health professional, hospital, or other institution, organization, or person that furnishes health care services and is licensed to furnish such services.

(3) "Health care service contractor" means any corporation, cooperative group, or association, which is sponsored by or otherwise intimately connected with a provider or group of providers, who or which not otherwise being engaged in the insurance business, accepts prepayment for health care services from or for the benefit of persons or groups of persons as consideration for providing such persons with any health care services. "Health care service contractor" does not include direct patient-provider primary care practices as defined in section 3 of this act.

(4) "Participating provider" means a provider, who or which has contracted in writing with a health care service contractor to accept payment from and to look solely to such contractor according to the terms of the subscriber contract for any health care services rendered to a person who has previously paid, or on whose behalf prepayment has been made, to such contractor for such services.

(5) "Enrolled participant" means a person or group of persons who have entered into a contractual arrangement or on whose behalf a contractual arrangement has been entered into with a health care service contractor to receive health care services.

(6) "Commissioner" means the insurance commissioner.

(7) "Uncovered expenditures" means the costs to the health care service contractor for health care services that are the obligation of the health care service contractor for which an enrolled participant would also be liable in the event of the health care service contractor's insolvency and for which no alternative arrangements have been made as provided herein. The term does not include expenditures for covered services when a provider has agreed not to bill the enrolled participant even though the provider is not paid by the health care service contractor, or for services that are guaranteed, insured or assumed by a person or organization other than the health care service contractor.

(8) "Copayment" means an amount specified in a group or individual contract which is an obligation of an enrolled participant for a specific service which is not fully prepaid.

It provides only the health care services specifically described." The direct agreement may not be sold to a group and may not be entered with a group of subscribers. The amount of the direct fee earned shall be a proration of the monthly fee for the then current month as of the date the notice of termination is received.

(4) A direct practice must designate a contact person to receive and address any patient complaints.

- (iii) Prescribe prescription drugs; and
- (iv) Implement other customary provisions of the contract not dealing with reimbursement of services;

In aggregate such payments per year per direct patient are not to exceed fifteen percent of the total annual direct fee charged that direct patient. Exceptions to this limitation may occur in the event of short-term equipment failure if such failure prevents the provision of care that should not be delayed; and

(c) Charge an additional fee to direct patients for supplies, medications, and specific vaccines provided to direct patients that are specifically excluded under the agreement, provided the direct practice notifies the direct patient of the additional charge, prior to their administration or delivery.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 6. (1) Direct practices may not decline to accept new direct patients or discontinue care to existing patients solely because of the patient's health status. A direct practice may decline to accept a patient if the practice has reached its maximum capacity, or if the patient's medical condition is such that the provider is unable to provide the appropriate level and type of health care services in the direct practice or if the direct practice reasonably determines that the patient would be better served by another health care provider.

(2) Direct practices may accept payment of direct fees directly or indirectly from nonemployer third parties.

The form for the annual statement will be developed in a manner prescribed by the commissioner.

(2) A health care provider may not act as, or hold himself or herself out to be, a direct practice in this state, nor may a direct agreement be entered into with a direct patient in this state, unless the provider submits the annual statement in subsection (1) of this section to the commissioner.

(3) The commissioner shall report annually to the legislature on direct practices. The initial report shall be due December 1, 2009.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 12. A comprehensive disclosure statement shall be distributed to all direct patients with their

The disclosure statement shall include contact information for the office of the insurance commissioner.

On page 8, after line 22 of the amendment, insert the following:

"Sec. 14. RCW 48.14.0201 and 2005 c 405 s 1, 2005 c 223 s 6, and 2005 c 7 s 1 are each reenacted and amended to read as follows:

(1) As used in this section, "taxpayer" means a health maintenance organization as defined in RCW 48.46.020, a health care service contractor as defined in RCW 48.44.010, a direct practice as defined in section 3 of this act, or a self-funded multiple employer welfare arrangement as defined in RCW 48.125.010.

(2) Each taxpayer shall pay a tax on or before the first day of March of each year to the state treasurer through the insurance commissioner's office. The tax shall be equal to the total amount of all premiums and prepayments for health care services received by the taxpayer during the preceding calendar year multiplied by the rate of two percent.

(3) Taxpayers shall prepay their tax obligations under this section. The minimum amount of the prepayments shall be percentages of the taxpayer's tax obligation for the preceding calendar year recomputed using the rate in effect for the current year. For the prepayment of taxes due during the first calendar year, the minimum amount of the prepayments shall be percentages of the taxpayer's tax obligation that would have been due had the tax been in effect during the previous calendar year. The tax prepayments shall be paid to the state treasurer through the commissioner's office by the due dates and in the following amounts:

- (a) On or before June 15, forty-five percent;
- (b) On or before September 15, twenty-five percent;
- (c) On or before December 15, twenty-five percent.

(4) For good cause demonstrated in writing, the commissioner may approve an amount smaller than the preceding calendar year's tax obligation as recomputed for calculating the health maintenance organization's, health care service contractor's, self-funded multiple employer welfare arrangement's, or certified health plan's prepayment obligations for the current tax year.

(5) Moneys collected under this section shall be deposited in the general fund through March 31, 1996, and in the health services account under RCW 43.72.900 after March 31, 1996.

(6) The taxes imposed in this section do not apply to:

(a) Amounts received by any taxpayer from the United States or any instrumentality thereof as prepayments for health care services provided under Title XVIII (medicare) of the federal social security act.

(b) Amounts received by any taxpayer from the state of Washington as prepayments for health care services provided under:

(i) The medical care services program as provided in RCW 74.09.035;

(ii) The Washington basic health plan on behalf of subsidized enrollees as provided in chapter 70.47 RCW; or

(iii) The medicaid program on behalf of elderly or disabled clients as provided in chapter 74.09 RCW when these prepayments are received prior to July 1, 2009, and are associated with a managed care contract program that has been implemented on a voluntary demonstration or pilot project basis.

(c) Amounts received by any health care service contractor, as defined in RCW 48.44.010, as prepayments for health care services included within the definition of practice of dentistry under RCW 18.32.020.

(d) Participant contributions to self-funded multiple employer welfare arrangements that are not taxable in this state.

(7) Beginning January 1, 2000, the state does hereby preempt the field of imposing excise or privilege taxes upon taxpayers and no county, city, town, or other municipal subdivision shall have the right to impose any such taxes upon such taxpayers. This subsection shall be limited to premiums and payments for health benefit plans offered by health care service contractors under chapter 48.44 RCW, health maintenance organizations under chapter 48.46 RCW, direct practices as defined in section 3 of this act, and self-funded multiple employer welfare arrangements as defined in RCW 48.125.010. The preemption authorized by this subsection shall not impair the ability of a county, city, town, or other municipal subdivision to impose excise or privilege taxes upon the health care services directly delivered by the employees of a health maintenance organization under chapter 48.46 RCW.

(8)(a) The taxes imposed by this section apply to a self-funded multiple employer welfare arrangement only in the event that they are not preempted by the employee retirement income security act of 1974, as amended, 29 U.S.C. Sec. 1001 et seq. The arrangements and the commissioner shall initially request an advisory opinion from the United States department of labor or obtain a declaratory ruling from a federal court on the legality of imposing state premium taxes on these arrangements. Once the legality of the taxes has been determined, the multiple employer welfare arrangement certified by the insurance commissioner must begin payment of these taxes.

(b) If there has not been a final determination of the legality of these taxes, then beginning on the earlier of (i) the date the fourth multiple employer welfare arrangement has been certified by the insurance commissioner, or (ii) April 1, 2006, the arrangement shall deposit the taxes imposed by this section into an interest bearing escrow account maintained by the arrangement. 1974, as amended, 29 U.S.C. Sec. 1001 et seq., all funds in the interest bearing escrow account shall be transferred to the state treasurer.

(9) The effect of transferring contracts for health care services from one taxpayer to another taxpayer is to transfer the tax prepayment obligation with respect to the contracts.

(10) On or before June 1st of each year, the commissioner shall notify each taxpayer required to make prepayments in that year of the amount of each prepayment and shall provide remittance forms to be used by the taxpayer. However, a taxpayer's responsibility to make prepayments is not affected by failure of the commissioner to send, or the taxpayer to receive, the notice or forms."

Revising provisions for the Washington state health insurance pool.

MOTION

On motion of Senator Keiser, Second Substitute Senate Bill No. 5712 was substituted for Senate Bill No. 5712 and the second substitute bill was placed on the second reading and read the second time.

MOTION

Senator Parlette moved that the following striking amendment by Senators Parlette and Keiser be adopted:

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

"NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. The legislature finds that the Washington state health insurance pool is a critically important insurance option for people in this state and must reflect health care provisions based on the best available evidence and be financially sustainable over time. The laws governing the Washington state health insurance pool have been read to preclude the program from modifying contracts, and yet coverage needs and options change with time. Everyone in this state benefits when the Washington state health insurance pool is more affordable and higher performing. Changes are needed to the Washington state health insurance pool to increase affordability, offer quality and cost-effective benefits, and enhance the governance and operation of the pool.

Sec. 2. RCW 48.41.110 and 2001 c 196 s 4 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) The pool shall offer one or more care management plans of coverage. Such plans may, but are not required to, include point of service features that permit participants to receive in-network benefits or out-of-network benefits subject to differential cost shares. ~~((Covered persons enrolled in the pool on January 1, 2001, may continue coverage under the pool plan in which they are enrolled on that date. However;))~~ The pool may incorporate managed care features and encourage enrollees to participate in chronic care and disease management and evidence-based protocols into ~~((such))~~ existing plans.

(2) The administrator shall prepare a brochure outlining the benefits and exclusions of ~~((the))~~ pool ~~((policy))~~ policies in plain language. After approval by the board, such brochure shall be made reasonably available to participants or potential participants.

(3) The health insurance ~~((policy))~~ policies issued by the pool shall pay only reasonable amounts for medically necessary eligible health care services rendered or furnished for the diagnosis or treatment of covered illnesses, injuries, and conditions ~~((which are not otherwise limited or excluded))~~. Eligible expenses are the reasonable amounts for the health care services and items for which benefits are extended under ~~((the))~~ a pool policy. ~~((Such benefits shall at minimum include, but not be limited to, the following services or related items:))~~

(4) The pool shall offer at least one policy which at a minimum includes, but is not limited to, the following services or related items:

(a) Hospital services, including charges for the most common semiprivate room, for the most common private room if semiprivate rooms do not exist in the health care facility, or for the private room if medically necessary, but limited to a total of one hundred eighty inpatient days in a calendar year, and limited to thirty days inpatient care for mental and nervous conditions, or alcohol, drug, or chemical dependency or abuse per calendar year;

(b) Professional services including surgery for the treatment of injuries, illnesses, or conditions, other than dental, which are rendered by a health care provider, or at the direction of a health care provider, by a staff of registered or licensed practical nurses, or other health care providers;

(c) The first twenty outpatient professional visits for the diagnosis or treatment of one or more mental or nervous conditions or alcohol, drug, or chemical dependency or abuse rendered during a calendar year by one or more physicians, psychologists, or community mental health professionals, or, at the direction of a physician, by other qualified licensed health care practitioners, in the case of mental or nervous conditions, and rendered by a state certified chemical dependency program approved under chapter 70.96A RCW, in the case of alcohol, drug, or chemical dependency or abuse;

(d) Drugs and contraceptive devices requiring a prescription;

(e) Services of a skilled nursing facility, excluding custodial and convalescent care, for not more than one hundred days in a calendar year as prescribed by a physician;

(f) Services of a home health agency;

(g) Chemotherapy, radioisotope, radiation, and nuclear medicine therapy;

(h) Oxygen;

(i) Anesthesia services;

(j) Prostheses, other than dental;

(k) Durable medical equipment which has no personal use in the absence of the condition for which prescribed;

(l) Diagnostic x-rays and laboratory tests;

(m) Oral surgery limited to the following: Fractures of facial bones; excisions of mandibular joints, lesions of the mouth, lip, or tongue, tumors, or cysts excluding treatment for temporomandibular joints; incision of accessory sinuses, mouth salivary glands or ducts; dislocations of the jaw; plastic reconstruction or repair of traumatic injuries occurring while covered under the pool; and excision of impacted wisdom teeth;

(n) Maternity care services;

(o) Services of a physical therapist and services of a speech therapist;

(p) Hospice services;

(q) Professional ambulance service to the nearest health care facility qualified to treat the illness or injury; and

(r) Other medical equipment, services, or supplies required by physician's orders and medically necessary and consistent with the diagnosis, treatment, and condition.

~~((4))~~ (5) The pool shall offer at least one policy which closely adheres to benefits available in the private, individual market.

~~((6))~~ (6) The board shall design and employ cost containment measures and requirements such as, but not limited to, care coordination, provider network limitations, preadmission certification, and concurrent inpatient review which may make the pool more cost-effective.

~~((5))~~ (7) The pool benefit policy may contain benefit limitations, exceptions, and cost shares such as copayments, coinsurance, and deductibles that are consistent with managed care products, except that differential cost shares may be adopted by the board for nonnetwork providers under point of service plans. ((The pool benefit policy cost shares and limitations must be consistent with those that are generally

2007 REGULAR SESSION

~~included in health plans approved by the insurance commissioner; however, no limitation, exception, or reduction may be used that would exclude coverage for any disease, illness, or injury.~~

~~(6))~~ (8) The pool may not reject an individual for health plan coverage based upon preexisting conditions of the individual or deny, exclude, or otherwise limit coverage for an individual's preexisting health conditions; except that it shall impose a six-month benefit waiting period for preexisting conditions for which medical advice was given, for which a health care provider recommended or provided treatment, or for which a prudent layperson would have sought advice or treatment, within six months before the effective date of coverage. The preexisting condition waiting period shall not apply to prenatal care services. The pool may not avoid the requirements of this section through the creation of a new rate classification or the modification of an existing rate classification. Credit against the waiting period shall be as provided in subsection ~~((7))~~ (9) of this section.

~~((7))~~ (9)(a) Except as provided in (b) of this subsection, the pool shall credit any preexisting condition waiting period in its plans for a person who was enrolled at any time during the sixty-three day period immediately preceding the date of application for the new pool plan. For the person previously enrolled in a group health benefit plan, the pool must credit the aggregate of all periods of preceding coverage not separated by more than sixty-three days toward the waiting period of the new health plan. For the person previously enrolled in an individual health benefit plan other than a catastrophic health plan, the pool must credit the period of coverage the person was continuously covered under the immediately preceding health plan toward the waiting period of the new health plan. For the purposes of this subsection, a preceding health plan includes an employer-provided self-funded health plan.

(b) The pool shall waive any preexisting condition waiting period for a person who is an eligible individual as defined in section 2741(b) of the federal health insurance portability and accountability act of 1996 (42 U.S.C. 300gg-41(b)).

~~((8))~~ (10) If an application is made for the pool policy as a result of rejection by a carrier, then the date of application to the carrier, rather than to the pool, should govern for purposes of determining preexisting condition credit.

(11) The pool shall contract with organizations that provide care management that has been demonstrated to be effective and shall encourage enrollees who are eligible for care management services to participate.

Sec. 3. RCW 48.41.160 and 1987 c 431 s 16 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) A pool policy offered under this chapter prior to the effective date of this section shall contain provisions under which the pool is obligated to renew the policy until the day on which the individual in whose name the policy is issued first becomes eligible for medicare coverage. At that time, coverage of dependents shall terminate if such dependents are eligible for coverage under a different health plan. Dependents who become eligible for medicare prior to the individual in whose name the policy is issued, shall receive benefits in accordance with RCW 48.41.150.

(2) A pool policy offered after the effective date of this section shall contain a guarantee of the individual's right to continued coverage, subject to the provisions of subsections (4) and (5) of this section.

(3) The guarantee of continuity of coverage required by this section shall not prevent the pool from canceling or nonrenewing a policy for:

- (a) Nonpayment of premium;
- (b) Violation of published policies of the pool;
- (c) Failure of a covered person who becomes eligible for medicare benefits by reason of age to apply for a pool medical supplement plan, or a medicare supplement plan or other similar plan offered by a carrier pursuant to federal laws and regulations;

(d) Failure of a covered person to pay any deductible or copayment amount owed to the pool and not the provider of health care services;

(e) Covered persons committing fraudulent acts as to the pool;

(f) Covered persons materially breaching the pool policy; or

(g) Changes adopted to federal or state laws when such changes no longer permit the continued offering of such coverage.

(4)(a) The guarantee of continuity of coverage provided by this section requires that if the pool replaces a plan, it must make the replacement plan available to all individuals in the plan being replaced. The replacement plan must include all of the services covered under the replaced plan, and must not significantly limit access to the kind of services covered under the replaced plan. The pool may also allow individuals who are covered by a plan that is being replaced an unrestricted right to transfer to a fully comparable plan.

(b) The guarantee of continuity of coverage provided by this section requires that if the pool discontinues offering a plan: (i) The pool must provide notice to each individual of the discontinuation at least ninety days prior to the date of the discontinuation; (ii) the pool must offer to each individual provided coverage under the discontinued plan the option to enroll in any other plan currently offered by the pool for which the individual is otherwise eligible; and (iii) in exercising the option to discontinue a plan and in offering the option of coverage under (b)(ii) of this subsection, the pool must act uniformly without regard to any health status-related factor of enrolled individuals or individuals who may become eligible for this coverage.

(c) The pool cannot replace a plan under this subsection until it has completed an evaluation of the impact of replacing the plan upon:

- (i) The cost and quality of care to pool enrollees;
- (ii) Pool financing and enrollment;
- (iii) The board's ability to offer comprehensive and other plans to its enrollees;
- (iv) The ability of carriers to offer health plans in the individual market;
- (v) Other items identified by the board.

In its evaluation, the board must request input from the constituents represented by the board members.

(d) The guarantee of continuity of coverage provided by this section does not apply if the pool has zero enrollment in a plan.

(5) The pool may not change the rates for pool policies except on a class basis, with a clear disclosure in the policy of the pool's right to do so.

~~((7))~~ (6) A pool policy offered under this chapter shall provide that, upon the death of the individual in whose name the policy is issued, every other individual then covered under the policy may elect, within a period specified in the policy, to continue coverage under the same or a different policy.

Sec. 4. RCW 48.41.200 and 2000 c 79 s 17 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) The pool shall determine the standard risk rate by calculating the average individual standard rate charged for coverage comparable to pool coverage by the five largest members, measured in terms of individual market enrollment, offering such coverages in the state. In the event five members do not offer comparable coverage, the standard risk rate shall be established using reasonable actuarial techniques and shall reflect anticipated experience and expenses for such coverage in the individual market.

(2) Subject to subsection (3) of this section, maximum rates for pool coverage shall be as follows:

(a) Maximum rates for a pool indemnity health plan shall be one hundred fifty percent of the rate calculated under subsection (1) of this section;

SIXTY-FIRST DAY, MARCH 9, 2007

2007 REGULAR SESSION

(b) Maximum rates for a pool care management plan shall be one hundred twenty-five percent of the rate calculated under subsection (1) of this section; and

(c) Maximum rates for a person eligible for pool coverage pursuant to RCW 48.41.100(1)(a) who was enrolled at any time during the sixty-three day period immediately prior to the date of application for pool coverage in a group health benefit plan or an individual health benefit plan other than a catastrophic health plan as defined in RCW 48.43.005, where such coverage was continuous for at least eighteen months, shall be:

(i) For a pool indemnity health plan, one hundred twenty-five percent of the rate calculated under subsection (1) of this section; and

(ii) For a pool care management plan, one hundred ten percent of the rate calculated under subsection (1) of this section.

(3)(a) Subject to (b) and (c) of this subsection:

(i) The rate for any person (~~(aged fifty to sixty-four)~~) whose current gross family income is less than two hundred fifty-one percent of the federal poverty level shall be reduced by thirty percent from what it would otherwise be;

(ii) The rate for any person (~~(aged fifty to sixty-four)~~) whose current gross family income is more than two hundred fifty but less than three hundred one percent of the federal poverty level shall be reduced by fifteen percent from what it would otherwise be;

(iii) The rate for any person who has been enrolled in the pool for more than thirty-six months shall be reduced by five percent from what it would otherwise be.

(b) In no event shall the rate for any person be less than one hundred ten percent of the rate calculated under subsection (1) of this section.

(c) Rate reductions under (a)(i) and (ii) of this subsection shall be available only to the extent that funds are specifically appropriated for this purpose in the omnibus appropriations act.

Sec. 5. RCW 48.41.037 and 2000 c 79 s 36 are each amended to read as follows:

The Washington state health insurance pool account is created in the custody of the state treasurer. All receipts from moneys specifically appropriated to the account must be deposited in the account. Expenditures from this account shall be used to cover deficits incurred by the Washington state health insurance pool under this chapter in excess of the threshold established in this section. To the extent funds are available in the account, funds shall be expended from the account to offset that portion of the deficit that would otherwise have to be recovered by imposing an assessment on members in excess of a threshold of seventy cents per insured person per month. The commissioner shall authorize expenditures from the account, to the extent that funds are available in the account, upon certification by the pool board that assessments will exceed the threshold level established in this section. The account is subject to the allotment procedures under chapter 43.88 RCW, but an appropriation is not required for expenditures.

Whether the assessment has reached the threshold of seventy cents per insured person per month shall be determined by dividing the total aggregate amount of assessment by the proportion of total assessed members. Thus, stop loss members shall be counted as one-tenth of a whole member in the denominator given that is the amount they are assessed proportionately relative to a fully insured medical member.

Sec. 6. RCW 48.41.100 and 2001 c 196 s 3 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) The following persons who are residents of this state are eligible for pool coverage:

(a) Any person who provides evidence of a carrier's decision not to accept him or her for enrollment in an individual health benefit plan as defined in RCW 48.43.005 based upon, and within ninety days of the receipt of, the results of the standard health questionnaire designated by the board and administered by health carriers under RCW 48.43.018;

(b) Any person who continues to be eligible for pool coverage based upon the results of the standard health questionnaire designated by the board and administered by the pool administrator pursuant to subsection (3) of this section;

(c) Any person who resides in a county of the state where no carrier or insurer eligible under chapter 48.15 RCW offers to the public an individual health benefit plan other than a catastrophic health plan as defined in RCW 48.43.005 at the time of application to the pool, and who makes direct application to the pool; and

(d) Any medicare eligible person upon providing evidence of rejection for medical reasons, a requirement of restrictive riders, an up-rated premium, or a preexisting conditions limitation on a medicare supplemental insurance policy under chapter 48.66 RCW, the effect of which is to substantially reduce coverage from that received by a person considered a standard risk by at least one member within six months of the date of application.

(2) The following persons are not eligible for coverage by the pool:

(a) Any person having terminated coverage in the pool unless (i) twelve months have lapsed since termination, or (ii) that person can show continuous other coverage which has been involuntarily terminated for any reason other than nonpayment of premiums. However, these exclusions do not apply to eligible individuals as defined in section 2741(b) of the federal health insurance portability and accountability act of 1996 (42 U.S.C. Sec. 300gg-41(b));

REMARKS BY THE PRESIDENT

President Owen: "While most of the members.... the President would like to make an announcement. As we're getting quite busy at this time and a lot of things are going on, we have some new members, remind members that standing in the wings during the vote and waving at someone to come off or winking at them is still considered 'approaching the bar.' Please do not do that or you may hear the gavel be rapped and one of us will be embarrassed. Just a reminder. Just my annual reminder I guess I should say."

On page 6, after line 24, insert the following:

"New Section. Sec. 5. A new section is added to 28A.155 RCW to read as follows:

(1) To the extent necessary, funds shall be made available for safety net awards for districts with demonstrated needs for special education funding beyond the amounts provided through the special education funding formula. If safety net awards exceed the amount appropriated, then the superintendent shall expend all available federal discretionary funds necessary to meet this need. Safety net funds shall be awarded by the state safety net oversight committee subject to the following conditions and limitations:

(a) The committee shall consider additional funds for districts that can convincingly demonstrate that all legitimate expenditures for special education exceed all available revenues from state funding formulas. In the determination of need, the committee shall also consider additional available revenues from federal sources. Differences in program costs attributable to district philosophy, service delivery choice, or accounting practices are not a legitimate basis for safety net awards.

(b) The committee shall then consider the extraordinary high cost needs of one or more individual special education students. Differences in costs attributable to district philosophy, service delivery choice, or accounting practices are not a legitimate basis for safety net awards.

(c) The committee shall then consider extraordinary costs associated with communities that draw a larger number of families with children in need of special education services.

(d) The maximum allowable indirect cost for calculating safety net eligibility may not exceed the federal restricted indirect cost rate for the district plus one percent.

(e) Safety net awards shall be adjusted based on the percent of potential medicaid eligible students billed as calculated by the superintendent in accordance with chapter 318, Laws of 1999.

(f) Safety net awards must be adjusted for any audit findings or exceptions related to special education funding.

(2) The superintendent of public instruction may adopt such rules and procedures as are necessary to administer the special education funding and safety net award process. Prior to revising any standards, procedures, or rules, the superintendent shall consult with the office of financial management and the fiscal committees of the legislature. In adopting and revising the rules, the superintendent shall ensure the application process to access safety net funding is streamlined, timelines for submission are not in conflict, feedback to school districts is timely and provides sufficient information to allow school districts to know what they need to do to correct any deficiencies in their safety net application, and that there is consistency between awards approved by school districts and by application period. The office of the superintendent of public instruction shall also provide technical assistance to school districts to assist them in preparing and submitting their special education safety net application.

(3) On an annual basis, the superintendent shall survey districts regarding their satisfaction with the safety net process and consider feedback to improve the safety net process. Each year by December 1st, the superintendent shall prepare and submit a report to the office of financial management and the appropriate policy and fiscal committees of the legislature that summarizes the survey results and changes made to the safety net process as a result of the school district feedback.

(4) The safety net oversight committee appointed by the superintendent of public instruction shall consist of:

2007 REGULAR SESSION

(a) One staff from the office of superintendent of public instruction;

(b) Staff of the office of the state auditor who shall be nonvoting members of the committee; and

(c) One or more representatives from school districts or educational service districts knowledgeable of special education programs and funding.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 6.(1) In addition to the responsibilities in section 5 of this act, the state special education safety net oversight committee, with the assistance of the office of the superintendent of public instruction, shall conduct further evaluation of issues raised in the recently completed review of the special education excess cost accounting procedures by the office of the superintendent of public instruction and the 2006 report of the joint legislative audit and review committee report on the accounting of special education excess costs. Specifically, the state special education safety net oversight committee shall evaluate options for modifying or replacing the current accounting methodology in place for the 2005-06 school year in a way that better reflects the special education program funding and spending. By November 1, 2008, the oversight committee shall submit a report to the office of financial management and the appropriate policy and fiscal committees of the legislature outlining the options for replacing the current excess cost method. One of the options will be based on, to the maximum extent appropriate, a full cost accounting.

To the maximum extent possible, school districts participating in the pilot program shall be selected to ensure adequate representation based on school district size and geographic location throughout the state.

(2) Beginning with the 2008-09 school year through the 2012-2013 school year, the legislature shall annually appropriate five million dollars for grants to implement the performance-based incentive pay pilot program. While the performance-based incentive pay pilot grants are intended to be flexible based on local school districts needs, school districts participating in the pilot program created in this section will agree to award the incentive based pay on the criteria developed as a result of subsection 3 of this section.

This includes, but is not limited to, student grades, performance on the Washington assessment of student learning, dropping out of school, and improving student attendance. The criteria will also be based on awarding the performance-based incentive pay on a school wide basis for those schools improving in the objective indicators from a baseline which will also be established by the Washington Institute for Public Policy.

(4) By September 1, 2010, the Washington Institute for Public Policy shall provide a preliminary evaluation of the performance-based incentive pay pilot program to the office of financial management and the appropriate policy and fiscal committees of the legislature. By September 1, 2014, the Washington Institute for Public Policy shall submit a final report on the effectiveness of the performance-based incentive pay pilot program to the office of financial management and the appropriate policy and fiscal committees of the legislature. SECOND SUBSTITUTE SENATE BILL NO. 5955, having received the constitutional majority, was declared passed. There being no objection, the title of the bill was ordered to stand as the title of the act.

RULING BY THE PRESIDENT

President Owen: "Senator Schoesler has a raised the question as to whether Substitute Senate Bill 5080 takes a simple majority or a two-thirds vote on final passage, because it implicates provisions of the law commonly referred to as Initiative 601. The President believes this is an important issue and wants to be clear in his explanation, and therefore asks for the body's patience as he issues this ruling.

The workings of the statutes enacted by I-601 are complex, made more complex by various amendments to the original law enacted by the Legislature over the years. At its heart, though, one of the primary limitations in this collective law is clear: The legislature may not take action which raises state revenue unless the enacting legislation is passed with a two-thirds vote of the Senate.

The key to this ruling, as with many of the President's past rulings, is whether or not the measure before us raises state revenue. The President has a long history of differentiating between taxes and fees when making this analysis. In general, enacting a tax increase requires a supermajority vote, while enacting a fee takes only a simply majority vote. The President has taken guidance from Article VIII, Section 1(c) of our state Constitution in making this determination. In short, a fee is collected for a specific, limited purpose. It is often placed into a specific account. This narrow nexus between the collection of the money and its limitation on being spent for a specific purpose is crucial in classifying a revenue action as a fee and not a more general tax. By contrast, where there is not a specific connection between the collection of money and a limitation as to the purpose for which it will be spent, it is more likely that the revenue action is a tax. In making this analysis, the accounts into which fees are placed are important, but not controlling; more important is the limitation on the funds. The President does believe that the interplay between various accounts is far more controlling with respect to transfers, rainy day funds, and expenditure limits, but not for making the initial determination as to whether the revenue action is a fee or tax increase in the first place. A careful review of all of the President's past rulings will show this to be the overriding factor, and, while the President has never specifically ruled on the matter before us, this ruling is consistent with and continues past precedent.

Applying this analysis to the matter before the body, the President believes a brief recitation of the bill's background is helpful. The waste tire fee is not new to this body or enacted by this bill. As originally implemented, there was a solid nexus between the fee collected and the purpose for which the proceeds could be spent: $1 per tire sold was collected, placed into a dedicated account, and the proceeds were limited to waste tire clean-up and prevention. Under this bill, the amount collected would be unchanged, but its distribution is significantly altered. While half of the money would essentially be deposited and spent as before, the other half would be placed into a more general account, with the only limitation being that it be spent for transportation purposes. And, in 2010, this bill would direct that all of the money would be placed into this more general account, with only the more general limitation. In so doing, the President believes the bill would convert a dedicated fee—which is not subject to I-601's supermajority provisions—into a general tax.

For these reasons, Senator Schoesler's point is well-taken, and passage of this bill will require a two-thirds vote of this body."

MOTION

On motion of Senator Eide, further consideration of Substitute Senate Bill No. 5080 was deferred and the bill held its place on the second reading calendar.

SECOND READING

SENATE BILL NO. 5930, by Senators Keiser, Kohl-Welles, Shin and Rasmussen

Providing high quality, affordable health care to Washingtonians based on the recommendations of the blue ribbon commission on health care costs and access.

MOTION

On motion of Senator Keiser, Second Substitute Senate Bill No. 5930 was substituted for Senate Bill No. 5930 and the second substitute bill was placed on the second reading and read the second time.

MOTION

Senator Keiser moved that the following striking amendment by Senator Keiser be adopted:

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

"USE STATE PURCHASING TO IMPROVE HEALTH CARE QUALITY

NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. The health care authority and the department of social and health services shall, by September 1, 2007, develop a five-year plan to change reimbursement within state purchased health care programs to:

- (1) Reward quality health outcomes rather than simply paying for the receipt of particular services or procedures;
- (2) Pay for care that reflects patient preference and is of proven value;
- (3) Require the use of evidence-based standards of care where available;
- (4) Tie provider rate increases to measurable improvements in access to quality care;
- (5) Direct enrollees to quality care systems;
- (6) Better support primary care and provide a medical home to all enrollees; and
- (7) Pay for e-mail consultations, telemedicine, and telehealth where doing so reduces the overall cost of care.

The plan shall identify any existing barriers and opportunities to support implementation, including needed changes to state or federal law and be submitted to the governor and the legislature upon completion.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. The legislature finds that unwarranted variations in health care, variations not explained by illness, patient preference, or the dictates of evidence-based medicine, are a significant feature of health care in Washington state. There is growing evidence that, for preference-sensitive care involving elective surgery, the quality of patient-practitioner communication about the benefits, harms, and uncertainty of available treatment options can be improved by introducing high-quality decision aids that encourage shared decision making. The international patient decision aid standards collaboration, a network of over one hundred researchers, practitioners, patients, and policy makers from fourteen countries, have developed standards for constructing high-quality decision aids. The legislature declares an intent to focus on improving the quality of patient-practitioner communication and on increasing the extent to which patients make genuinely informed, preference-based treatment decisions. Randomized clinical trial evidence indicates that effective use of well designed decision aids is likely to improve the quality of patient decision making, reduce unwarranted variations in health care, and result in lower health care costs overall. Despite this growing body of evidence, widespread use of decision aids has yet to occur. Barriers include: (1) Lack of awareness of existing, appropriate, high-quality decision aids; (2) poor accessibility to such decision aids; (3) low practitioner acceptance of decision aids in terms of compatibility with their practice, ease of use, and expense to incorporate into practice; (4) lack of incentives for use, such as reduced liability and reimbursement for their use; and (5) lack of a process to certify that a decision aid meets the standards required of a high-quality decision aid. The legislature intends to promote new public/private collaborative efforts to broaden the development, use, evaluation, and certification of effective decision aids and intends to support the collaborative through providing new recognition of the shared decision-making process and patient decision aids in the state's laws on informed consent. The legislature also intends to establish a process for certifying that a given decision aid meets the standards required for a high-quality decision aid.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. The state health care authority shall work in collaboration with the health professions and quality improvement communities to increase awareness of appropriate, high-quality decision aids, and to train physicians and other practitioners in their use. The effort shall focus on one or more of the preference-sensitive conditions with high rates of unwarranted variation in Washington, and can include strategies such as prominent linkage to such decision aids in state web sites, and training/awareness programs in conjunction with professional and quality improvement groups. The state health care authority shall, in consultation with the national committee for quality assurance, identify a certification process for patient decision aids. The state health care authority may accept donations or grants to support such efforts.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4. The state health care authority shall work with contracting health carriers and health care providers, and a nonproprietary public interest research group and/or university-based research group, to implement practical and usable models to demonstrate shared decision making in everyday clinical practice. The demonstrations shall be conducted at one or more multispecialty group practice sites providing state purchased health care in the state of Washington, and may include other practice sites providing state purchased health care. The demonstrations must include the following elements: Incorporation into clinical practice of one or more decision aids for one or more identified preference-sensitive care areas combined with ongoing training and support of involved practitioners and practice teams, preferably at sites with necessary supportive health information technology. The evaluation must include the following elements: (1) A comparison between the demonstration sites and, if appropriate, between the demonstration sites and a control group, of the impact of the shared decision-making process employing the decision aids on: The use of preference-sensitive health care services; and associated costs saved and/or expended; and (2) an assessment of patient knowledge of the relevant health care choices, benefits, harms, and uncertainties; concordance between patient values and care received; and satisfaction with the decision-making process and their health outcomes by patients and involved physicians and other health care practitioners. The health care authority may solicit and accept funding to support the demonstration and evaluation.

Sec. 5. RCW 7.70.060 and 1975-'76 2nd ex.s. c 56 s 11 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) If a patient while legally competent, or his or her representative if he or she is not competent, signs a consent form which sets forth the following, the signed consent form shall constitute prima facie evidence that the patient gave his or her informed consent to the treatment administered and the patient has the burden of rebutting this by a preponderance of the evidence:

((+)) (a) A description, in language the patient could reasonably be expected to understand, of:

((+)) (i) The nature and character of the proposed treatment;

((+)) (ii) The anticipated results of the proposed treatment;

(2) If a patient while legally competent, or his or her representative if he or she is not competent, signs an acknowledgement of shared decision making as described in subsection (3) of this section, such acknowledgement shall constitute prima facie evidence that the patient gave his or her informed consent to the treatment administered and the patient has the burden of rebutting this by clear and convincing evidence. An acknowledgement of shared decision making shall include:

(a) A statement that the patient, or his or her representative, and the health care provider have engaged in shared decision making as an alternative means of meeting the informed consent requirements set forth by laws, accreditation standards, and other mandates;

(b) A brief description of the services that the patient and provider jointly have agreed will be furnished;

(c) A brief description of the patient decision aid or aids that have been used by the patient and provider to address the needs for (i) high-quality, up-to-date information about the condition, including risk and benefits of available options and, if appropriate, a discussion of the limits of scientific knowledge about outcomes; (ii) values clarification to help patients sort out their values and preferences; and (iii) guidance or coaching in deliberation, designed to improve the patient's involvement in the decision process;

(d) A statement that the patient or his or her representative understands: The risk or seriousness of the disease or condition to be prevented or treated; the available treatment alternatives, including nontreatment; and the risks, benefits, and uncertainties of the treatment alternatives, including nontreatment; and

(e) A statement certifying that the patient or his or her representative has had the opportunity to ask the provider questions, and to have any questions answered to the patient's satisfaction, and indicating the patient's intent to receive the identified services.

(3) "Shared decision making" means a process in which the physician or other health care practitioner discusses with the patient or his or her representative the information specified in subsection (1)(a) of this section, with or without the use of a patient decision aid, and the patient shares with the provider such relevant personal information as might make one treatment or side effect more or less tolerable than others. The goal of shared decision making is for the patient and physician or other health care practitioner to feel they appropriately understand the nature of the procedure, the risks and benefits, as well as the individual values and preferences that influence the treatment decision, such that both are willing to sign a statement acknowledging that they have engaged in shared decision making and setting forth the agreed treatment to be furnished.

(4) "Patient decision aid" means a written, audio-visual, or online tool that provides a balanced presentation of the condition and treatment options, benefits, and harms, including, if appropriate, a discussion of the limits of scientific knowledge about outcomes, and that is certified by one or more national certifying organizations approved by the health care authority. In order to be an approved national certifying organization, an organization must use a rigorous evaluation process to assure that decision aids are competently developed, provide a balanced presentation of treatment options, benefits, and harms, and are efficacious at improving decision making.

(5) Failure to use a form or to engage in shared decision making, with or without the use of a patient decision aid, shall not be admissible as evidence of failure to obtain informed consent. There shall be no liability, civil or otherwise, resulting from a health care provider choosing either the signed consent form set forth in subsection (1)(a) of this section or the signed acknowledgement of shared decision making as set forth in subsection (2) of this section.

(b) "Chronic care management" means the department's program that provides care management and coordination activities for medical assistance clients determined to be at risk for high medical costs. "Chronic care management" provides education and training and/or coordination that assist program participants in improving self-management skills to improve health outcomes and reduce medical costs by educating clients to better utilize services.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 7. A new section is added to chapter 43.70 RCW to read as follows:

(e) Identification and use of community resources that are available in the community for patients and their families.

(3) In selecting primary care providers to participate in the program, the department shall consider the number and type of patients with chronic conditions the provider serves, and the provider's participation in the medicaid and medicare programs.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 19. A new section is added to chapter 41.05 RCW to read as follows:

(1) The authority, in collaboration with an advisory board established under subsection (3) of this section, shall design a Washington health insurance connector and submit implementing legislation and supporting information, including funding options, to the governor and the legislature by December 1, 2007. The connector shall be designed to serve as a statewide, public-private partnership, offering maximum value for Washington state residents, through which nonlarge group health insurance may be bought and sold. It is the goal of the connector to:

(a) Ensure that employees of small businesses and other individuals can find affordable health insurance;

(b) Provide a mechanism for small businesses to contribute to their employees' coverage without the administrative burden of directly shopping or contracting for insurance;

(c) Ensure that individuals can access coverage as they change and/or work in multiple jobs;

(d) Coordinate with other state agency health insurance assistance programs, including the department of social and health services medical assistance programs and the authority's basic health program; and

(e) Lead the health insurance marketplace in implementation of evidence-based medicine, data transparency, prevention and wellness incentives, and outcome-based reimbursement.

(2) In designing the connector, the authority shall:

(a) Address all operational and governance issues;

SIXTY-FIRST DAY, MARCH 9, 2007

(b) Consider best practices in the private and public sectors regarding, but not limited to, such issues as risk and/or purchasing pooling, market competition drivers, risk selection, and consumer choice and responsibility incentives; and

(c) Address key functions of the connector, including but not limited to:

(i) Methods for small businesses and their employees to realize tax benefits from their financial contributions;

(ii) Options for offering choice among a broad array of affordable insurance products designed to meet individual needs, including waiving some current regulatory requirements. Options may include a health savings account/high-deductible health plan, a comprehensive health benefit plan, and other benchmark plans;

(iii) Benchmarking health insurance products to a reasonable standard to enable individuals to make an informed choice of the coverage that is right for them;

(iv) Aggregating premium contributions for an individual from multiple sources: Employers, individuals, philanthropies, and government;

(v) Mechanisms to collect and distribute workers' enrollment information and premium payments to the health plan of their choice;

(vi) Mechanisms for spreading health risk widely to support health insurance premiums that are more affordable;

(vii) Opportunities to reward carriers and consumers whose behavior is consistent with quality, efficiency, and evidence-based best practices;

(viii) Coordination of the transmission of premium assistance payments with the department of social and health services for individuals eligible for the department's employer-sponsored insurance program.

(3) The authority shall appoint an advisory board and designate a chair. Members of the advisory board shall receive no compensation, but shall be reimbursed for expenses under RCW 43.03.050 and 43.03.060. Meetings of the board are subject to chapter 42.30 RCW, the open public meetings act, including RCW 42.30.110(1)(1), which authorizes an executive session during a regular or special meeting to consider proprietary or confidential nonpublished information.

(4) The authority may enter into contracts to issue, distribute, and administer grants that are necessary or proper to carry out the requirements of this section.

SUSTAINABILITY AND ACCESS TO PUBLIC PROGRAMS

NEW SECTION. Sec. 20. (1) The department of social and health services shall seek necessary federal waivers and state plan amendments to expand coverage and leverage federal and state resources for the state's basic health program, for the medical assistance program, as codified at Title XIX of the federal social security act, and the state's children's health insurance program, as codified at Title XXI of the federal social security act. The department shall propose options including but not limited to:

(a) Offering alternative benefit designs to promote high quality care, improve health outcomes, and encourage cost-effective treatment options, including benefit designs that discourage the use of emergency rooms for nonemergent care, and redirect savings to finance additional coverage;

(b) Creation of a health opportunity account demonstration program; and

(c) Promoting private health insurance plans and premium subsidies to purchase employer-sponsored insurance wherever possible, including federal approval to expand the department's employer-sponsored insurance premium assistance program to enrollees covered through the state's children's health insurance program.

(2) The department of social and health services, in collaboration with the Washington state health care authority, shall ensure that enrollees are not simultaneously enrolled in the state's basic health program and the medical assistance program or the state's children's health insurance program to ensure coverage for the maximum number of people within available funds. Priority enrollment in the basic health program shall be given to those who disenrolled from the program in order to enroll in medicaid, and subsequently became ineligible for medicaid coverage.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 21. A new section is added to chapter 48.43 RCW to read as follows:

When the department of social and health services determines that it is cost-effective to enroll a person eligible for medical assistance under chapter 74.09 RCW in an employer-sponsored health plan, a carrier shall permit the enrollment of the person in the health plan for which he or she is otherwise eligible without regard to any open enrollment period restrictions.

REINSURANCE

NEW SECTION. Sec. 22. (1) The office of financial management, in collaboration with the office of the insurance commissioner, shall evaluate and design a state-supported reinsurance program to address the impact of high cost enrollees in the individual and small group health insurance markets, and submit implementing legislation and supporting information, including financing options, to the governor and the legislature by December 1, 2007. In designing the program, the office of financial management shall:

(a) Estimate the quantitative impact on premium savings, premium stability over time and across groups of enrollees, individual and employer take-up, number of uninsured, and government costs associated with a government-funded stop-loss insurance program, including distinguishing between one-time premium savings and savings in subsequent years. In evaluating the various reinsurance models, evaluate and consider (i) the reduction in total health care costs to the state and private sector, and (ii) the reduction in individual premiums paid by employers, employees, and individuals;

(b) Identify all relevant design issues and alternative options for each issue. At a minimum, the evaluation shall examine (i) a reinsurance corridor of ten thousand dollars to ninety thousand dollars, and a reimbursement of ninety percent; (ii) the impacts of providing reinsurance for all small group products or a subset of products; and (iii) the applicability of a chronic care program like the approach used by the department of labor and industries with the centers of occupational health and education. Where quantitative impacts cannot be estimated, the office of financial management shall assess qualitative impacts of design issues and their options, including potential disincentives for reducing premiums, achieving premium stability, sustaining/increasing take-up, decreasing the number of uninsured, and managing government's stop-loss insurance costs;

(c) Identify market and regulatory changes needed to maximize the chance of the program achieving its policy goals, including how the program will relate to other coverage programs and markets. Design efforts shall coordinate with other design efforts targeting small group programs that may be directed by the legislature, as well as other approaches examining alternatives to managing risk;

(d) Address conditions under which overall expenditures could increase as a result of a government-funded stop-loss program and options to mitigate those conditions, such as passive versus aggressive use of disease and care management programs by insurers;

(e) Evaluate, and quantify where possible, the behavioral responses of insurers to the program including impacts on insurer premiums and practices for settling legal disputes around large claims; and

SIXTY-FIRST DAY, MARCH 9, 2007

2007 REGULAR SESSION

(f) Provide alternatives for transitioning from the status quo and, where applicable, alternatives for phasing in some design elements, such as threshold or corridor levels, to balance government costs and premium savings.

(2) Within funds specifically appropriated for this purpose, the office of financial management may contract with actuaries and other experts as necessary to meet the requirements of this section.

THE WASHINGTON STATE HEALTH INSURANCE POOL

NEW SECTION. Sec. 23. The legislature finds that the Washington state health insurance pool is a critically important insurance option for people in this state and must reflect health care provisions based on the best available evidence and be financially sustainable over time. The laws governing the Washington state health insurance pool have been read to preclude the program from modifying contracts, and yet coverage needs and options change with time. Everyone in this state benefits when the Washington state health insurance pool is more affordable and higher performing. Changes are needed to the Washington state health insurance pool to increase affordability, offer quality and cost-effective benefits, and enhance the governance and operation of the pool.

Sec. 24. RCW 48.41.110 and 2001 c 196 s 4 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) The pool shall offer one or more care management plans of coverage. Such plans may, but are not required to, include point of service features that permit participants to receive in-network benefits or out-of-network benefits subject to differential cost shares. ~~((Covered persons enrolled in the pool on January 1, 2001, may continue coverage under the pool plan in which they are enrolled on that date. However,))~~ The pool may incorporate managed care features and encourage enrollees to participate in chronic care and disease management and evidence-based protocols into ~~((such))~~ existing plans.

(2) The administrator shall prepare a brochure outlining the benefits and exclusions of ~~((the))~~ pool ~~((policy))~~ policies in plain language. After approval by the board, such brochure shall be made reasonably available to participants or potential participants.

(3) The health insurance ~~((policy))~~ policies issued by the pool shall pay only reasonable amounts for medically necessary eligible health care services rendered or furnished for the diagnosis or treatment of covered illnesses, injuries, and conditions ~~((which are not otherwise limited or excluded))~~. Eligible expenses are the reasonable amounts for the health care services and items for which benefits are extended under ~~((the))~~ a pool policy. ~~((Such benefits shall at minimum include, but not be limited to, the following services or related items:))~~

(4) The pool shall offer at least one policy which at a minimum includes, but is not limited to, the following services or related items:

(a) Hospital services, including charges for the most common semiprivate room, for the most common private room if semiprivate rooms do not exist in the health care facility, or for the private room if medically necessary, but limited to a total of one hundred eighty inpatient days in a calendar year, and limited to thirty days inpatient care for mental and nervous conditions, or alcohol, drug, or chemical dependency or abuse per calendar year;

(b) Professional services including surgery for the treatment of injuries, illnesses, or conditions, other than dental, which are rendered by a health care provider, or at the direction of a health care provider, by a staff of registered or licensed practical nurses, or other health care providers;

(c) The first twenty outpatient professional visits for the diagnosis or treatment of one or more mental or nervous conditions or alcohol, drug, or chemical dependency or abuse rendered during a calendar year by one or more physicians, psychologists, or community mental health professionals, or, at the direction of a physician, by other qualified licensed health care practitioners, in the case of mental or nervous conditions, and rendered by a state certified chemical dependency program approved under chapter 70.96A RCW, in the case of alcohol, drug, or chemical dependency or abuse;

(d) Drugs and contraceptive devices requiring a prescription;

(e) Services of a skilled nursing facility, excluding custodial and convalescent care, for not more than one hundred days in a calendar year as prescribed by a physician;

(f) Services of a home health agency;

(g) Chemotherapy, radioisotope, radiation, and nuclear medicine therapy;

(h) Oxygen;

(i) Anesthesia services;

(j) Prostheses, other than dental;

(k) Durable medical equipment which has no personal use in the absence of the condition for which prescribed;

(l) Diagnostic x-rays and laboratory tests;

(m) Oral surgery limited to the following: Fractures of facial bones; excisions of mandibular joints, lesions of the mouth, lip, or tongue, tumors, or cysts excluding treatment for temporomandibular joints; incision of accessory sinuses, mouth salivary glands or ducts; dislocations of the jaw; plastic reconstruction or repair of traumatic injuries occurring while covered under the pool; and excision of impacted wisdom teeth;

(n) Maternity care services;

(o) Services of a physical therapist and services of a speech therapist;

(p) Hospice services;

(q) Professional ambulance service to the nearest health care facility qualified to treat the illness or injury; and

(r) Other medical equipment, services, or supplies required by physician's orders and medically necessary and consistent with the diagnosis, treatment, and condition.

~~((4))~~ (5) The pool shall offer at least one policy which closely adheres to benefits available in the private, individual market.

~~((6))~~ (6) The board shall design and employ cost containment measures and requirements such as, but not limited to, care coordination, provider network limitations, preadmission certification, and concurrent inpatient review which may make the pool more cost-effective.

~~((5))~~ (7) The pool benefit policy may contain benefit limitations, exceptions, and cost shares such as copayments, coinsurance, and deductibles that are consistent with managed care products, except that differential cost shares may be adopted by the board for nonnetwork providers under point of service plans. ((The pool benefit policy cost shares and limitations must be consistent with those that are generally included in health plans approved by the insurance commissioner; however, no limitation, exception, or reduction may be used that would exclude coverage for any disease, illness, or injury.

~~((6))~~ (8) The pool may not reject an individual for health plan coverage based upon preexisting conditions of the individual or deny, exclude, or otherwise limit coverage for an individual's preexisting health conditions; except that it shall impose a six-month benefit waiting period for preexisting conditions for which medical advice was given, for which a health care provider recommended or provided treatment, or for which a prudent layperson would have sought advice or treatment, within six months before the effective date of coverage. The preexisting condition waiting period shall not apply to prenatal care services. The pool may not avoid the requirements of this section through the creation of a new rate classification or the modification of an existing rate classification. Credit against the waiting period shall be as provided in subsection ~~((7))~~ (9) of this section.

SIXTY-FIRST DAY, MARCH 9, 2007

~~((7))~~ (9)(a) Except as provided in (b) of this subsection, the pool shall credit any preexisting condition waiting period in its plans for a person who was enrolled at any time during the sixty-three day period immediately preceding the date of application for the new pool plan. For the person previously enrolled in a group health benefit plan, the pool must credit the aggregate of all periods of preceding coverage not separated by more than sixty-three days toward the waiting period of the new health plan. For the person previously enrolled in an individual health benefit plan other than a catastrophic health plan, the pool must credit the period of coverage the person was continuously covered under the immediately preceding health plan toward the waiting period of the new health plan. For the purposes of this subsection, a preceding health plan includes an employer-provided self-funded health plan.

(b) The pool shall waive any preexisting condition waiting period for a person who is an eligible individual as defined in section 2741(b) of the federal health insurance portability and accountability act of 1996 (42 U.S.C. 300gg-41(b)).

~~((8))~~ (10) If an application is made for the pool policy as a result of rejection by a carrier, then the date of application to the carrier, rather than to the pool, should govern for purposes of determining preexisting condition credit.

(11) The pool shall contract with organizations that provide care management that has been demonstrated to be effective and shall encourage enrollees who are eligible for care management services to participate.

Sec. 25. RCW 48.41.160 and 1987 c 431 s 16 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) A pool policy offered under this chapter prior to the effective date of this section shall contain provisions under which the pool is obligated to renew the policy until the day on which the individual in whose name the policy is issued first becomes eligible for medicare coverage. At that time, coverage of dependents shall terminate if such dependents are eligible for coverage under a different health plan. Dependents who become eligible for medicare prior to the individual in whose name the policy is issued, shall receive benefits in accordance with RCW 48.41.150.

(2) A pool policy offered after the effective date of this section shall contain a guarantee of the individual's right to continued coverage, subject to the provisions of subsections (4) and (5) of this section.

(3) The guarantee of continuity of coverage required by this section shall not prevent the pool from canceling or nonrenewing a policy for:

- (a) Nonpayment of premium;
- (b) Violation of published policies of the pool;
- (c) Failure of a covered person who becomes eligible for medicare benefits by reason of age to apply for a pool medical supplement plan, or a medicare supplement plan or other similar plan offered by a carrier pursuant to federal laws and regulations;
- (d) Failure of a covered person to pay any deductible or copayment amount owed to the pool and not the provider of health care services;
- (e) Covered persons committing fraudulent acts as to the pool;
- (f) Covered persons materially breaching the pool policy; or
- (g) Changes adopted to federal or state laws when such changes no longer permit the continued offering of such coverage.

(4)(a) The guarantee of continuity of coverage provided by this section requires that if the pool replaces a plan, it must make the replacement plan available to all individuals in the plan being replaced. The replacement plan must include all of the services covered under the replaced plan, and must not significantly limit access to the kind of services covered under the replaced plan. The pool may also allow individuals who are covered by a plan that is being replaced an unrestricted right to transfer to a fully comparable plan.

(b) The guarantee of continuity of coverage provided by this section requires that if the pool discontinues offering a plan:
(i) The pool must provide notice to each individual of the discontinuation at least ninety days prior to the date of the discontinuation; (ii) the pool must offer to each individual provided coverage under the discontinued plan the option to enroll in any other plan currently offered by the pool for which the individual is otherwise eligible; and (iii) in exercising the option to discontinue a plan and in offering the option of coverage under (b)(ii) of this subsection, the pool must act uniformly without regard to any health status-related factor of enrolled individuals or individuals who may become eligible for this coverage.

(c) The pool cannot replace a plan under this subsection until it has completed an evaluation of the impact of replacing the plan upon:

- (i) The cost and quality of care to pool enrollees;
- (ii) Pool financing and enrollment;
- (iii) The board's ability to offer comprehensive and other plans to its enrollees;
- (iv) The ability of carriers to offer health plans in the individual market;
- (v) Other items identified by the board.

In its evaluation, the board must request input from the constituents represented by the board members.

(d) The guarantee of continuity of coverage provided by this section does not apply if the pool has zero enrollment in a plan.

(5) The pool may not change the rates for pool policies except on a class basis, with a clear disclosure in the policy of the pool's right to do so.

~~((7))~~ (6) A pool policy offered under this chapter shall provide that, upon the death of the individual in whose name the policy is issued, every other individual then covered under the policy may elect, within a period specified in the policy, to continue coverage under the same or a different policy.

Sec. 26. RCW 48.41.200 and 2000 c 79 s 17 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) The pool shall determine the standard risk rate by calculating the average individual standard rate charged for coverage comparable to pool coverage by the five largest members, measured in terms of individual market enrollment, offering such coverages in the state. In the event five members do not offer comparable coverage, the standard risk rate shall be established using reasonable actuarial techniques and shall reflect anticipated experience and expenses for such coverage in the individual market.

(2) Subject to subsection (3) of this section, maximum rates for pool coverage shall be as follows:

(a) Maximum rates for a pool indemnity health plan shall be one hundred fifty percent of the rate calculated under subsection (1) of this section;

(b) Maximum rates for a pool care management plan shall be one hundred twenty-five percent of the rate calculated under subsection (1) of this section; and

(c) Maximum rates for a person eligible for pool coverage pursuant to RCW 48.41.100(1)(a) who was enrolled at any time during the sixty-three day period immediately prior to the date of application for pool coverage in a group health benefit plan or an individual health benefit plan other than a catastrophic health plan as defined in RCW 48.43.005, where such coverage was continuous for at least eighteen months, shall be:

(i) For a pool indemnity health plan, one hundred twenty-five percent of the rate calculated under subsection (1) of this section; and

(ii) For a pool care management plan, one hundred ten percent of the rate calculated under subsection (1) of this section.

(3)(a) Subject to (b) and (c) of this subsection:

(i) The rate for any person (~~aged fifty to sixty-four~~) whose current gross family income is less than two hundred fifty-one percent of the federal poverty level shall be reduced by thirty percent from what it would otherwise be;

(ii) The rate for any person (~~aged fifty to sixty-four~~) whose current gross family income is more than two hundred fifty but less than three hundred one percent of the federal poverty level shall be reduced by fifteen percent from what it would otherwise be;

(iii) The rate for any person who has been enrolled in the pool for more than thirty-six months shall be reduced by five percent from what it would otherwise be.

(b) In no event shall the rate for any person be less than one hundred ten percent of the rate calculated under subsection (1) of this section.

(c) Rate reductions under (a)(i) and (ii) of this subsection shall be available only to the extent that funds are specifically appropriated for this purpose in the omnibus appropriations act.

Sec. 27. RCW 48.41.037 and 2000 c 79 s 36 are each amended to read as follows:

The Washington state health insurance pool account is created in the custody of the state treasurer. All receipts from moneys specifically appropriated to the account must be deposited in the account. Expenditures from this account shall be used to cover deficits incurred by the Washington state health insurance pool under this chapter in excess of the threshold established in this section. To the extent funds are available in the account, funds shall be expended from the account to offset that portion of the deficit that would otherwise have to be recovered by imposing an assessment on members in excess of a threshold of seventy cents per insured person per month. The commissioner shall authorize expenditures from the account, to the extent that funds are available in the account, upon certification by the pool board that assessments will exceed the threshold level established in this section. The account is subject to the allotment procedures under chapter 43.88 RCW, but an appropriation is not required for expenditures.

Whether the assessment has reached the threshold of seventy cents per insured person per month shall be determined by dividing the total aggregate amount of assessment by the proportion of total assessed members. Thus, stop loss members shall be counted as one-tenth of a whole member in the denominator given that is the amount they are assessed proportionately relative to a fully insured medical member.

Sec. 28. RCW 48.41.100 and 2001 c 196 s 3 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) The following persons who are residents of this state are eligible for pool coverage:

(a) Any person who provides evidence of a carrier's decision not to accept him or her for enrollment in an individual health benefit plan as defined in RCW 48.43.005 based upon, and within ninety days of the receipt of, the results of the standard health questionnaire designated by the board and administered by health carriers under RCW 48.43.018;

(b) Any person who continues to be eligible for pool coverage based upon the results of the standard health questionnaire designated by the board and administered by the pool administrator pursuant to subsection (3) of this section;

(c) Any person who resides in a county of the state where no carrier or insurer eligible under chapter 48.15 RCW offers to the public an individual health benefit plan other than a catastrophic health plan as defined in RCW 48.43.005 at the time of application to the pool, and who makes direct application to the pool; and

(d) Any medicare eligible person upon providing evidence of rejection for medical reasons, a requirement of restrictive riders, an up-rated premium, or a preexisting conditions limitation on a medicare supplemental insurance policy under chapter 48.66 RCW, the effect of which is to substantially reduce coverage from that received by a person considered a standard risk by at least one member within six months of the date of application.

(2) The following persons are not eligible for coverage by the pool:

(a) Any person having terminated coverage in the pool unless (i) twelve months have lapsed since termination, or (ii) that person can show continuous other coverage which has been involuntarily terminated for any reason other than nonpayment of premiums. However, these exclusions do not apply to eligible individuals as defined in section 2741(b) of the federal health insurance portability and accountability act of 1996 (42 U.S.C. Sec. 300gg-41(b));

(b) Any person on whose behalf the pool has paid out ~~((one))~~ two million dollars in benefits;

(c) Inmates of public institutions and persons whose benefits are duplicated under public programs. However, these exclusions do not apply to eligible individuals as defined in section 2741(b) of the federal health insurance portability and accountability act of 1996 (42 U.S.C. Sec. 300gg-41(b));

(d) Any person who resides in a county of the state where any carrier or insurer regulated under chapter 48.15 RCW offers to the public an individual health benefit plan other than a catastrophic health plan as defined in RCW 48.43.005 at the time of application to the pool and who does not qualify for pool coverage based upon the results of the standard health questionnaire, or pursuant to subsection (1)(d) of this section.

(3) When a carrier or insurer regulated under chapter 48.15 RCW begins to offer an individual health benefit plan in a county where no carrier had been offering an individual health benefit plan:

(a) If the health benefit plan offered is other than a catastrophic health plan as defined in RCW 48.43.005, any person enrolled in a pool plan pursuant to subsection (1)(c) of this section in that county shall no longer be eligible for coverage under that plan pursuant to subsection (1)(c) of this section, but may continue to be eligible for pool coverage based upon the results of the standard health questionnaire designated by the board and administered by the pool administrator. The pool administrator shall offer to administer the questionnaire to each person no longer eligible for coverage under subsection (1)(c) of this section within thirty days of determining that he or she is no longer eligible;

(b) Losing eligibility for pool coverage under this subsection (3) does not affect a person's eligibility for pool coverage under subsection (1)(a), (b), or (d) of this section; and

(c) The pool administrator shall provide written notice to any person who is no longer eligible for coverage under a pool plan under this subsection (3) within thirty days of the administrator's determination that the person is no longer eligible. The notice shall: (i) Indicate that coverage under the plan will cease ninety days from the date that the notice is dated; (ii) describe any other coverage options, either in or outside of the pool, available to the person; (iii) describe the procedures for the administration of the standard health questionnaire to determine the person's continued eligibility for coverage under subsection (1)(b) of this section; and (iv) describe the enrollment process for the available options outside of the pool.

(4) The board shall ensure that an independent analysis of the eligibility standards is conducted, with emphasis on those populations identified in subsection (2) of this section and the impacts on the pool and the state budget. The board shall report the findings to the legislature by December 1, 2007.

Demonstration project agencies shall operate employee health programs for their employees in collaboration with the state employee health program. Agency demonstration project employee health programs:

(a) Shall include but are not limited to the following key elements: Outreach to all staff with efforts made to reach the largest percentage of employees possible; awareness-building information that promotes health; motivational opportunities that encourage employees to improve their health; behavior change opportunities that demonstrate and support behavior change; and tools to improve employee health care decisions;

(b) Must have wellness staff with direct accountability to agency senior management;

(c) Shall initiate and maintain employee health programs using current and emerging best practices in the field of health promotion;

(d) May offer employees such incentives as cash for completing health risk assessments, free preventive screenings, training in behavior change tools, improved nutritional standards on agency campuses, bike racks, walking maps, on-site weight reduction programs, and regular communication to promote personal health awareness.

(2) The state employee health program shall evaluate each of the four programs separately and compare outcomes for each of them with the entire state employee population to assess effectiveness of the programs. Specifically, the program shall measure at least the following outcomes in the demonstration population: The reduction in the percent of the population that is overweight or obese, the reduction in risk factors related to diabetes, the reduction in risk factors related to absenteeism, the reduction in tobacco consumption, and the increase in appropriate use of preventive health services. The state employee health program shall report to the legislature in December 2008, 2009, and 2010 on the demonstration project.

(3) This section expires June 30, 2011.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 36. The legislature finds that prescription drug abuse has been on the rise and that often dispensers and prescribing providers are unaware of prescriptions provided by others both in and out of state.

It is the intent of the legislature to establish an electronic database available in real time to dispensers and prescribers of controlled substances. And further, that the department in as much as possible should establish a common dataset with other sets of other states.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 37. The definitions in this section apply throughout this chapter unless the context clearly requires otherwise.

The waiver may permit the dispenser to submit prescription information by paper form or other means, provided all information required in subsection (2) of this section is submitted in this alternative format.

WITHDRAWAL OF AMENDMENT

On motion of Senator Keiser, the striking amendment by Senator Keiser to Second Substitute Senate Bill No. 5930 was withdrawn.

MOTION

Senator Keiser moved that the following striking amendment by Senator Keiser be adopted:

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

"USE STATE PURCHASING TO IMPROVE HEALTH CARE QUALITY

2007 REGULAR SESSION

NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. The health care authority and the department of social and health services shall, by September 1, 2007, develop a five-year plan to change reimbursement within state purchased health care programs to:

- (1) Reward quality health outcomes rather than simply paying for the receipt of particular services or procedures;
- (2) Pay for care that reflects patient preference and is of proven value;
- (3) Require the use of evidence-based standards of care where available;
- (4) Tie provider rate increases to measurable improvements in access to quality care;
- (5) Direct enrollees to quality care systems;
- (6) Better support primary care and provide a medical home to all enrollees; and
- (7) Pay for e-mail consultations, telemedicine, and telehealth where doing so reduces the overall cost of care.

The plan shall identify any existing barriers and opportunities to support implementation, including needed changes to state or federal law and be submitted to the governor and the legislature upon completion.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. The legislature finds that unwarranted variations in health care, variations not explained by illness, patient preference, or the dictates of evidence-based medicine, are a significant feature of health care in Washington state. There is growing evidence that, for preference-sensitive care involving elective surgery, the quality of patient-practitioner communication about the benefits, harms, and uncertainty of available treatment options can be improved by introducing high-quality decision aids that encourage shared decision making. The international patient decision aid standards collaboration, a network of over one hundred researchers, practitioners, patients, and policy makers from fourteen countries, have developed standards for constructing high-quality decision aids. The legislature declares an intent to focus on improving the quality of patient-practitioner communication and on increasing the extent to which patients make genuinely informed, preference-based treatment decisions. Randomized clinical trial evidence indicates that effective use of well designed decision aids is likely to improve the quality of patient decision making, reduce unwarranted variations in health care, and result in lower health care costs overall. Despite this growing body of evidence, widespread use of decision aids has yet to occur. Barriers include: (1) Lack of awareness of existing, appropriate, high-quality decision aids; (2) poor accessibility to such decision aids; (3) low practitioner acceptance of decision aids in terms of compatibility with their practice, ease of use, and expense to incorporate into practice; (4) lack of incentives for use, such as reduced liability and reimbursement for their use; and (5) lack of a process to certify that a decision aid meets the standards required of a high-quality decision aid. The legislature intends to promote new public/private collaborative efforts to broaden the development, use, evaluation, and certification of effective decision aids and intends to support the collaborative through providing new recognition of the shared decision-making process and patient decision aids in the state's laws on informed consent. The legislature also intends to establish a process for certifying that a given decision aid meets the standards required for a high-quality decision aid.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. The state health care authority shall work in collaboration with the health professions and quality improvement communities to increase awareness of appropriate, high-quality decision aids, and to train physicians and other practitioners in their use. The effort shall focus on one or more of the preference-sensitive conditions with high rates of unwarranted variation in Washington, and can include strategies such as prominent linkage to such decision aids in state web sites, and training/awareness programs in conjunction with professional and quality improvement groups. The state health care authority shall, in consultation with the national committee for quality assurance, identify a certification process for patient decision aids. The state health care authority may accept donations or grants to support such efforts.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4. The state health care authority shall work with contracting health carriers and health care providers, and a nonproprietary public interest research group and/or university-based research group, to implement practical and usable models to demonstrate shared decision making in everyday clinical practice. The demonstrations shall be conducted at one or more multispecialty group practice sites providing state purchased health care in the state of Washington, and may include other practice sites providing state purchased health care. The demonstrations must include the following elements: Incorporation into clinical practice of one or more decision aids for one or more identified preference-sensitive care areas combined with ongoing training and support of involved practitioners and practice teams, preferably at sites with necessary supportive health information technology. The evaluation must include the following elements: (1) A comparison between the demonstration sites and, if appropriate, between the demonstration sites and a control group, of the impact of the shared decision-making process employing the decision aids on: The use of preference-sensitive health care services; and associated costs saved and/or expended; and (2) an assessment of patient knowledge of the relevant health care choices, benefits, harms, and uncertainties; concordance between patient values and care received; and satisfaction with the decision-making process and their health outcomes by patients and involved physicians and other health care practitioners. The health care authority may solicit and accept funding to support the demonstration and evaluation.

Sec. 5. RCW 7.70.060 and 1975-'76 2nd ex.s. c 56 s 11 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) If a patient while legally competent, or his or her representative if he or she is not competent, signs a consent form which sets forth the following, the signed consent form shall constitute prima facie evidence that the patient gave his or her informed consent to the treatment administered and the patient has the burden of rebutting this by a preponderance of the evidence:

- ((+)) (a) A description, in language the patient could reasonably be expected to understand, of:
 - ((+)) (i) The nature and character of the proposed treatment;
 - ((+)) (ii) The anticipated results of the proposed treatment;
 - ((+)) (iii) The recognized possible alternative forms of treatment; and
 - ((+)) (iv) The recognized serious possible risks, complications, and anticipated benefits involved in the treatment and in the recognized possible alternative forms of treatment, including nontreatment;

((+)) (b) Or as an alternative, a statement that the patient elects not to be informed of the elements set forth in (a) of this subsection ((+) of this section)).

(2) If a patient while legally competent, or his or her representative if he or she is not competent, signs an acknowledgement of shared decision making as described in subsection (3) of this section, such acknowledgement shall constitute prima facie evidence that the patient gave his or her informed consent to the treatment administered and the patient has the burden of rebutting this by clear and convincing evidence. An acknowledgement of shared decision making shall include:

- (a) A statement that the patient, or his or her representative, and the health care provider have engaged in shared decision making as an alternative means of meeting the informed consent requirements set forth by laws, accreditation standards, and other mandates;
- (b) A brief description of the services that the patient and provider jointly have agreed will be furnished;

2007 REGULAR SESSION

(c) A brief description of the patient decision aid or aids that have been used by the patient and provider to address the needs for (i) high-quality, up-to-date information about the condition, including risk and benefits of available options and, if appropriate, a discussion of the limits of scientific knowledge about outcomes; (ii) values clarification to help patients sort out their values and preferences; and (iii) guidance or coaching in deliberation, designed to improve the patient's involvement in the decision process;

(d) A statement that the patient or his or her representative understands: The risk or seriousness of the disease or condition to be prevented or treated; the available treatment alternatives, including nontreatment; and the risks, benefits, and uncertainties of the treatment alternatives, including nontreatment; and

(e) A statement certifying that the patient or his or her representative has had the opportunity to ask the provider questions, and to have any questions answered to the patient's satisfaction, and indicating the patient's intent to receive the identified services.

(3) "Shared decision making" means a process in which the physician or other health care practitioner discusses with the patient or his or her representative the information specified in subsection (1)(a) of this section, with or without the use of a patient decision aid, and the patient shares with the provider such relevant personal information as might make one treatment or side effect more or less tolerable than others. The goal of shared decision making is for the patient and physician or other health care practitioner to feel they appropriately understand the nature of the procedure, the risks and benefits, as well as the individual values and preferences that influence the treatment decision, such that both are willing to sign a statement acknowledging that they have engaged in shared decision making and setting forth the agreed treatment to be furnished.

(4) "Patient decision aid" means a written, audio-visual, or online tool that provides a balanced presentation of the condition and treatment options, benefits, and harms, including, if appropriate, a discussion of the limits of scientific knowledge about outcomes, and that is certified by one or more national certifying organizations approved by the health care authority. In order to be an approved national certifying organization, an organization must use a rigorous evaluation process to assure that decision aids are competently developed, provide a balanced presentation of treatment options, benefits, and harms, and are efficacious at improving decision making.

(5) Failure to use a form or to engage in shared decision making, with or without the use of a patient decision aid, shall not be admissible as evidence of failure to obtain informed consent. There shall be no liability, civil or otherwise, resulting from a health care provider choosing either the signed consent form set forth in subsection (1)(a) of this section or the signed acknowledgement of shared decision making as set forth in subsection (2) of this section.

PREVENTION AND MANAGEMENT OF CHRONIC ILLNESS

NEW SECTION. Sec. 6. A new section is added to chapter 74.09 RCW to read as follows:

(1) The department of social and health services, in collaboration with the department of health, shall:

(a) Design and implement medical homes for its aged, blind, and disabled clients in conjunction with chronic care management programs to improve health outcomes, access, and cost-effectiveness. Programs must be evidence based, facilitating the use of information technology to improve quality of care, and must improve coordination of primary, acute, and long-term care for those clients with multiple chronic conditions. The department shall consider expansion of existing medical home and chronic care management programs and build on the Washington state collaborative initiative. The department shall use best practices in identifying those clients best served under a chronic care management model using predictive modeling through claims or other health risk information; and

(b) Contract for a study of chronic care management, to include evaluation of current efforts in the health and recovery services administration and the aging and disability services administration, comparison to best practices, and recommendations for future efforts and organizational structure to improve chronic care management.

(2) For purposes of this section:

(a) "Medical home" means a site of care that provides comprehensive preventive and coordinated care centered on the patient needs and assures high quality, accessible, and efficient care.

(b) "Chronic care management" means the department's program that provides care management and coordination activities for medical assistance clients determined to be at risk for high medical costs. "Chronic care management" provides education and training and/or coordination that assist program participants in improving self-management skills to improve health outcomes and reduce medical costs by educating clients to better utilize services.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 7. A new section is added to chapter 43.70 RCW to read as follows:

(1) The department shall conduct a program of training and technical assistance regarding care of people with chronic conditions for providers of primary care. The program shall emphasize evidence-based high quality preventive and chronic disease care. The department may designate one or more chronic conditions to be the subject of the program.

(2) The training and technical assistance program shall include the following elements:

(a) Clinical information systems and sharing and organization of patient data;

(b) Decision support to promote evidence-based care;

(c) Clinical delivery system design;

(d) Support for patients managing their own conditions; and

(e) Identification and use of community resources that are available in the community for patients and their families.

(3) In selecting primary care providers to participate in the program, the department shall consider the number and type of patients with chronic conditions the provider serves, and the provider's participation in the medicaid and medicare programs.

(2) Coordinate the collection of health care quality data among state health care purchasing agencies;

(3) Adopt a set of measures to evaluate and compare health care cost and quality and provider performance;

(4) Identify and disseminate information regarding variations in clinical practice patterns across the state; and

(c) Involve health care consumers in meaningful ways in the design, implementation, oversight, and dissemination of information on the health record bank system; and

(d) Promote adoption of electronic medical records and health information exchange through continuation of the Washington health information collaborative, and by working with private payors and other organizations in restructuring reimbursement to provide incentives for providers to adopt electronic medical records in their practices.

(2) The administrator may establish an advisory board, a stakeholder committee, and subcommittees to assist in carrying out the duties under this section. The administrator may reappoint health information infrastructure advisory board members to assure continuity and shall appoint any additional representatives that may be required for their expertise and experience.

(b) Meetings of the board, stakeholder committee, and any advisory group are subject to chapter 42.30 RCW, the open public meetings act, including RCW 42.30.110(1)(l), which authorizes an executive session during a regular or special meeting to consider proprietary or confidential unpublished information; and

The health care authority shall exclusively expend these funds through contracts with community health centers to provide primary health and dental care services, migrant health services, and maternity health care services. The administrator of the health care authority shall establish requirements necessary to assure community health centers provide quality health care services that are appropriate and effective and are delivered in a cost-efficient manner. (3) Any employee choosing under subsection (1) of this section to cover a dependent with disabilities, developmental disabilities, mental illness, or mental retardation, who is incapable of self-support, may continue enrollment under the same premium and payment structure as for dependents under the age of twenty, irrespective of age.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 15. A new section is added to chapter 48.20 RCW to read as follows:

Any disability insurance contract that provides coverage for a subscriber's dependent must offer the option of covering any unmarried dependent under the age of twenty-five who is a "qualifying child" or "qualifying relative" as defined in section 152 of the internal revenue code.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 16. A new section is added to chapter 48.21 RCW to read as follows:

Any group disability insurance contract or blanket disability insurance contract that provides coverage for a participating member's dependent must offer each participating member the option of covering any unmarried dependent under the age of twenty-five who is a "qualifying child" or "qualifying relative" as defined in section 152 of the internal revenue code.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 17. A new section is added to chapter 48.44 RCW to read as follows:

(2) Any group health care service plan contract that provides coverage for a participating member's dependent must offer each participating member the option of covering any unmarried dependent under the age of twenty-five who is a "qualifying child" or "qualifying relative" as defined in section 152 of the internal revenue code.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 18. A new section is added to chapter 48.46 RCW to read as follows:

(1) Any individual health maintenance agreement that provides coverage for a subscriber's dependent must offer the option of covering any unmarried dependent under the age of twenty-five who is a "qualifying child" or "qualifying relative" as defined in section 152 of the internal revenue code.

(2) Any group health maintenance agreement that provides coverage for a participating member's dependent must offer each participating member the option of covering any unmarried dependent under the age of twenty-five who is a "qualifying child" or "qualifying relative" as defined in section 152 of the internal revenue code.

WASHINGTON HEALTH INSURANCE CONNECTOR

NEW SECTION. Sec. 19. A new section is added to chapter 41.05 RCW to read as follows:

(1) The authority, in collaboration with an advisory board established under subsection (3) of this section, shall design a Washington health insurance connector and submit implementing legislation and supporting information, including funding options, to the governor and the legislature by December 1, 2007. The connector shall be designed to serve as a statewide, public-private partnership, offering maximum value for Washington state residents, through which nonlarge group health insurance may be bought and sold. It is the goal of the connector to:

(a) Ensure that employees of small businesses and other individuals can find affordable health insurance;

(b) Provide a mechanism for small businesses to contribute to their employees' coverage without the administrative burden of directly shopping or contracting for insurance;

(c) Ensure that individuals can access coverage as they change and/or work in multiple jobs;

(d) Coordinate with other state agency health insurance assistance programs, including the department of social and health services medical assistance programs and the authority's basic health program; and

(e) Lead the health insurance marketplace in implementation of evidence-based medicine, data transparency, prevention and wellness incentives, and outcome-based reimbursement.

(2) In designing the connector, the authority shall:

(a) Address all operational and governance issues;

(b) Consider best practices in the private and public sectors regarding, but not limited to, such issues as risk and/or purchasing pooling, market competition drivers, risk selection, and consumer choice and responsibility incentives; and

(c) Address key functions of the connector, including but not limited to:

(i) Methods for small businesses and their employees to realize tax benefits from their financial contributions;

(ii) Options for offering choice among a broad array of affordable insurance products designed to meet individual needs, including waiving some current regulatory requirements. Options may include a health savings account/high-deductible health plan, a comprehensive health benefit plan, and other benchmark plans;

(iii) Benchmarking health insurance products to a reasonable standard to enable individuals to make an informed choice of the coverage that is right for them;

(iv) Aggregating premium contributions for an individual from multiple sources: Employers, individuals, philanthropies, and government;

(v) Mechanisms to collect and distribute workers' enrollment information and premium payments to the health plan of their choice;

(vi) Mechanisms for spreading health risk widely to support health insurance premiums that are more affordable;

SIXTY-FIRST DAY, MARCH 9, 2007

2007 REGULAR SESSION

(vii) Opportunities to reward carriers and consumers whose behavior is consistent with quality, efficiency, and evidence-based best practices;

(viii) Coordination of the transmission of premium assistance payments with the department of social and health services for individuals eligible for the department's employer-sponsored insurance program.

(3) The authority shall appoint an advisory board and designate a chair. Members of the advisory board shall receive no compensation, but shall be reimbursed for expenses under RCW 43.03.050 and 43.03.060. Meetings of the board are subject to chapter 42.30 RCW, the open public meetings act, including RCW 42.30.110(1)(I), which authorizes an executive session during a regular or special meeting to consider proprietary or confidential unpublished information.

(4) The authority may enter into contracts to issue, distribute, and administer grants that are necessary or proper to carry out the requirements of this section.

SUSTAINABILITY AND ACCESS TO PUBLIC PROGRAMS

NEW SECTION. Sec. 20. (1) The department of social and health services shall seek necessary federal waivers and state plan amendments to expand coverage and leverage federal and state resources for the state's basic health program, for the medical assistance program, as codified at Title XIX of the federal social security act, and the state's children's health insurance program, as codified at Title XXI of the federal social security act. The department shall propose options including but not limited to:

(a) Offering alternative benefit designs to promote high quality care, improve health outcomes, and encourage cost-effective treatment options, including benefit designs that discourage the use of emergency rooms for nonemergent care, and redirect savings to finance additional coverage;

(b) Creation of a health opportunity account demonstration program; and

(c) Promoting private health insurance plans and premium subsidies to purchase employer-sponsored insurance wherever possible, including federal approval to expand the department's employer-sponsored insurance premium assistance program to enrollees covered through the state's children's health insurance program.

(2) The department of social and health services, in collaboration with the Washington state health care authority, shall ensure that enrollees are not simultaneously enrolled in the state's basic health program and the medical assistance program or the state's children's health insurance program to ensure coverage for the maximum number of people within available funds. Priority enrollment in the basic health program shall be given to those who disenrolled from the program in order to enroll in medicaid, and subsequently became ineligible for medicaid coverage.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 21. A new section is added to chapter 48.43 RCW to read as follows:

When the department of social and health services determines that it is cost-effective to enroll a person eligible for medical assistance under chapter 74.09 RCW in an employer-sponsored health plan, a carrier shall permit the enrollment of the person in the health plan for which he or she is otherwise eligible without regard to any open enrollment period restrictions.

REINSURANCE

NEW SECTION. Sec. 22. (1) The office of financial management, in collaboration with the office of the insurance commissioner, shall evaluate and design a state-supported reinsurance program to address the impact of high cost enrollees in the individual and small group health insurance markets, and submit implementing legislation and supporting information, including financing options, to the governor and the legislature by December 1, 2007. In designing the program, the office of financial management shall:

(a) Estimate the quantitative impact on premium savings, premium stability over time and across groups of enrollees, individual and employer take-up, number of uninsured, and government costs associated with a government-funded stop-loss insurance program, including distinguishing between one-time premium savings and savings in subsequent years. In evaluating the various reinsurance models, evaluate and consider (i) the reduction in total health care costs to the state and private sector, and (ii) the reduction in individual premiums paid by employers, employees, and individuals;

(b) Identify all relevant design issues and alternative options for each issue. At a minimum, the evaluation shall examine (i) a reinsurance corridor of ten thousand dollars to ninety thousand dollars, and a reimbursement of ninety percent; (ii) the impacts of providing reinsurance for all small group products or a subset of products; and (iii) the applicability of a chronic care program like the approach used by the department of labor and industries with the centers of occupational health and education. Where quantitative impacts cannot be estimated, the office of financial management shall assess qualitative impacts of design issues and their options, including potential disincentives for reducing premiums, achieving premium stability, sustaining/increasing take-up, decreasing the number of uninsured, and managing government's stop-loss insurance costs;

(c) Identify market and regulatory changes needed to maximize the chance of the program achieving its policy goals, including how the program will relate to other coverage programs and markets. Design efforts shall coordinate with other design efforts targeting small group programs that may be directed by the legislature, as well as other approaches examining alternatives to managing risk;

(d) Address conditions under which overall expenditures could increase as a result of a government-funded stop-loss program and options to mitigate those conditions, such as passive versus aggressive use of disease and care management programs by insurers;

(e) Evaluate, and quantify where possible, the behavioral responses of insurers to the program including impacts on insurer premiums and practices for settling legal disputes around large claims; and

(f) Provide alternatives for transitioning from the status quo and, where applicable, alternatives for phasing in some design elements, such as threshold or corridor levels, to balance government costs and premium savings.

(2) Within funds specifically appropriated for this purpose, the office of financial management may contract with actuaries and other experts as necessary to meet the requirements of this section.

THE WASHINGTON STATE HEALTH INSURANCE POOL

NEW SECTION. Sec. 23. The legislature finds that the Washington state health insurance pool is a critically important insurance option for people in this state and must reflect health care provisions based on the best available evidence and be financially sustainable over time. The laws governing the Washington state health insurance pool have been read to preclude the program from modifying contracts, and yet coverage needs and options change with time. Everyone in this state benefits when the Washington state health insurance pool is more affordable and higher performing. Changes are needed to the Washington state health insurance pool to increase affordability, offer quality and cost-effective benefits, and enhance the governance and operation of the pool.

Sec. 24. RCW 48.41.110 and 2001 c 196 s 4 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) The pool shall offer one or more care management plans of coverage. Such plans may, but are not required to, include point of service features that permit participants to receive in-network benefits or out-of-network benefits subject to differential cost shares. ~~((Covered persons enrolled in the pool on January 1, 2001, may continue coverage under the pool plan in which they are enrolled on that date. However,))~~ The pool may incorporate managed care features and encourage enrollees to participate in chronic care and disease management and evidence-based protocols into ~~((such))~~ existing plans.

(2) The administrator shall prepare a brochure outlining the benefits and exclusions of ~~((the))~~ pool ~~((policy))~~ policies in plain language. After approval by the board, such brochure shall be made reasonably available to participants or potential participants.

(3) The health insurance ~~((policy))~~ policies issued by the pool shall pay only reasonable amounts for medically necessary eligible health care services rendered or furnished for the diagnosis or treatment of covered illnesses, injuries, and conditions ~~((which are not otherwise limited or excluded))~~. Eligible expenses are the reasonable amounts for the health care services and items for which benefits are extended under ~~((the))~~ a pool policy. ~~((Such benefits shall at minimum include, but not be limited to, the following services or related items:))~~

(4) The pool shall offer at least one policy which at a minimum includes, but is not limited to, the following services or related items:

(a) Hospital services, including charges for the most common semiprivate room, for the most common private room if semiprivate rooms do not exist in the health care facility, or for the private room if medically necessary, but limited to a total of one hundred eighty inpatient days in a calendar year, and limited to thirty days inpatient care for mental and nervous conditions, or alcohol, drug, or chemical dependency or abuse per calendar year;

(b) Professional services including surgery for the treatment of injuries, illnesses, or conditions, other than dental, which are rendered by a health care provider, or at the direction of a health care provider, by a staff of registered or licensed practical nurses, or other health care providers;

(c) The first twenty outpatient professional visits for the diagnosis or treatment of one or more mental or nervous conditions or alcohol, drug, or chemical dependency or abuse rendered during a calendar year by one or more physicians, psychologists, or community mental health professionals, or, at the direction of a physician, by other qualified licensed health care practitioners, in the case of mental or nervous conditions, and rendered by a state certified chemical dependency program approved under chapter 70.96A RCW, in the case of alcohol, drug, or chemical dependency or abuse;

(d) Drugs and contraceptive devices requiring a prescription;

(e) Services of a skilled nursing facility, excluding custodial and convalescent care, for not more than one hundred days in a calendar year as prescribed by a physician;

(f) Services of a home health agency;

(g) Chemotherapy, radioisotope, radiation, and nuclear medicine therapy;

(h) Oxygen;

(i) Anesthesia services;

(j) Prostheses, other than dental;

(k) Durable medical equipment which has no personal use in the absence of the condition for which prescribed;

(l) Diagnostic x-rays and laboratory tests;

(m) Oral surgery limited to the following: Fractures of facial bones; excisions of mandibular joints, lesions of the mouth, lip, or tongue, tumors, or cysts excluding treatment for temporomandibular joints; incision of accessory sinuses, mouth salivary glands or ducts; dislocations of the jaw; plastic reconstruction or repair of traumatic injuries occurring while covered under the pool; and excision of impacted wisdom teeth;

(n) Maternity care services;

(o) Services of a physical therapist and services of a speech therapist;

(p) Hospice services;

(q) Professional ambulance service to the nearest health care facility qualified to treat the illness or injury; and

(r) Other medical equipment, services, or supplies required by physician's orders and medically necessary and consistent with the diagnosis, treatment, and condition.

~~((4))~~ (5) The pool shall offer at least one policy which closely adheres to benefits available in the private, individual market.

~~((6))~~ (6) The board shall design and employ cost containment measures and requirements such as, but not limited to, care coordination, provider network limitations, preadmission certification, and concurrent inpatient review which may make the pool more cost-effective.

~~((5))~~ (7) The pool benefit policy may contain benefit limitations, exceptions, and cost shares such as copayments, coinsurance, and deductibles that are consistent with managed care products, except that differential cost shares may be adopted by the board for nonnetwork providers under point of service plans. ~~((The pool benefit policy cost shares and limitations must be consistent with those that are generally included in health plans approved by the insurance commissioner; however, no limitation, exception, or reduction may be used that would exclude coverage for any disease, illness, or injury.))~~

~~((6))~~ (8) The pool may not reject an individual for health plan coverage based upon preexisting conditions of the individual or deny, exclude, or otherwise limit coverage for an individual's preexisting health conditions; except that it shall impose a six-month benefit waiting period for preexisting conditions for which medical advice was given, for which a health care provider recommended or provided treatment, or for which a prudent layperson would have sought advice or treatment, within six months before the effective date of coverage. The preexisting condition waiting period shall not apply to prenatal care services. The pool may not avoid the requirements of this section through the creation of a new rate classification or the modification of an existing rate classification. Credit against the waiting period shall be as provided in subsection ~~((7))~~ (9) of this section.

~~((7))~~ (9)(a) Except as provided in (b) of this subsection, the pool shall credit any preexisting condition waiting period in its plans for a person who was enrolled at any time during the sixty-three day period immediately preceding the date of application for the new pool plan. For the person previously enrolled in a group health benefit plan, the pool must credit the aggregate of all periods of preceding coverage not separated by more than sixty-three days toward the waiting period of the new health plan. For the person previously enrolled in an individual health benefit plan other than a catastrophic health plan, the pool must credit the period of coverage the person was continuously covered under the immediately preceding health plan toward the waiting period of the new health plan. For the purposes of this subsection, a preceding health plan includes an employer-provided self-funded health plan.

(b) The pool shall waive any preexisting condition waiting period for a person who is an eligible individual as defined in section 2741(b) of the federal health insurance portability and accountability act of 1996 (42 U.S.C. 300gg-41(b)).

~~((8))~~ (10) If an application is made for the pool policy as a result of rejection by a carrier, then the date of application to the carrier, rather than to the pool, should govern for purposes of determining preexisting condition credit.

(11) The pool shall contract with organizations that provide care management that has been demonstrated to be effective and shall encourage enrollees who are eligible for care management services to participate.

SIXTY-FIRST DAY, MARCH 9, 2007

Sec. 25. RCW 48.41.160 and 1987 c 431 s 16 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) A pool policy offered under this chapter prior to the effective date of this section shall contain provisions under which the pool is obligated to renew the policy until the day on which the individual in whose name the policy is issued first becomes eligible for medicare coverage. At that time, coverage of dependents shall terminate if such dependents are eligible for coverage under a different health plan. Dependents who become eligible for medicare prior to the individual in whose name the policy is issued, shall receive benefits in accordance with RCW 48.41.150.

(2) A pool policy offered after the effective date of this section shall contain a guarantee of the individual's right to continued coverage, subject to the provisions of subsections (4) and (5) of this section.

(3) The guarantee of continuity of coverage required by this section shall not prevent the pool from canceling or nonrenewing a policy for:

- (a) Nonpayment of premium;
- (b) Violation of published policies of the pool;
- (c) Failure of a covered person who becomes eligible for medicare benefits by reason of age to apply for a pool medical supplement plan, or a medicare supplement plan or other similar plan offered by a carrier pursuant to federal laws and regulations;
- (d) Failure of a covered person to pay any deductible or copayment amount owed to the pool and not the provider of health care services;
- (e) Covered persons committing fraudulent acts as to the pool;
- (f) Covered persons materially breaching the pool policy; or
- (g) Changes adopted to federal or state laws when such changes no longer permit the continued offering of such coverage.

(4)(a) The guarantee of continuity of coverage provided by this section requires that if the pool replaces a plan, it must make the replacement plan available to all individuals in the plan being replaced. The replacement plan must include all of the services covered under the replaced plan, and must not significantly limit access to the kind of services covered under the replaced plan. The pool may also allow individuals who are covered by a plan that is being replaced an unrestricted right to transfer to a fully comparable plan.

(b) The guarantee of continuity of coverage provided by this section requires that if the pool discontinues offering a plan: (i) The pool must provide notice to each individual of the discontinuation at least ninety days prior to the date of the discontinuation; (ii) the pool must offer to each individual provided coverage under the discontinued plan the option to enroll in any other plan currently offered by the pool for which the individual is otherwise eligible; and (iii) in exercising the option to discontinue a plan and in offering the option of coverage under (b)(ii) of this subsection, the pool must act uniformly without regard to any health status-related factor of enrolled individuals or individuals who may become eligible for this coverage.

(c) The pool cannot replace a plan under this subsection until it has completed an evaluation of the impact of replacing the plan upon:

- (i) The cost and quality of care to pool enrollees;
- (ii) Pool financing and enrollment;
- (iii) The board's ability to offer comprehensive and other plans to its enrollees;
- (iv) The ability of carriers to offer health plans in the individual market;
- (v) Other items identified by the board.

In its evaluation, the board must request input from the constituents represented by the board members.

(d) The guarantee of continuity of coverage provided by this section does not apply if the pool has zero enrollment in a plan.

2007 REGULAR SESSION

(5) The pool may not change the rates for pool policies except on a class basis, with a clear disclosure in the policy of the pool's right to do so.

~~((3))~~ (6) A pool policy offered under this chapter shall provide that, upon the death of the individual in whose name the policy is issued, every other individual then covered under the policy may elect, within a period specified in the policy, to continue coverage under the same or a different policy.

Sec. 26. RCW 48.41.200 and 2000 c 79 s 17 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) The pool shall determine the standard risk rate by calculating the average individual standard rate charged for coverage comparable to pool coverage by the five largest members, measured in terms of individual market enrollment, offering such coverages in the state. In the event five members do not offer comparable coverage, the standard risk rate shall be established using reasonable actuarial techniques and shall reflect anticipated experience and expenses for such coverage in the individual market.

(2) Subject to subsection (3) of this section, maximum rates for pool coverage shall be as follows:

(a) Maximum rates for a pool indemnity health plan shall be one hundred fifty percent of the rate calculated under subsection (1) of this section;

(b) Maximum rates for a pool care management plan shall be one hundred twenty-five percent of the rate calculated under subsection (1) of this section; and

(c) Maximum rates for a person eligible for pool coverage pursuant to RCW 48.41.100(1)(a) who was enrolled at any time during the sixty-three day period immediately prior to the date of application for pool coverage in a group health benefit plan or an individual health benefit plan other than a catastrophic health plan as defined in RCW 48.43.005, where such coverage was continuous for at least eighteen months, shall be:

(i) For a pool indemnity health plan, one hundred twenty-five percent of the rate calculated under subsection (1) of this section; and

(ii) For a pool care management plan, one hundred ten percent of the rate calculated under subsection (1) of this section.

(3)(a) Subject to (b) and (c) of this subsection:

(i) The rate for any person (~~aged fifty to sixty-four~~) whose current gross family income is less than two hundred fifty-one percent of the federal poverty level shall be reduced by thirty percent from what it would otherwise be;

(ii) The rate for any person (~~aged fifty to sixty-four~~) whose current gross family income is more than two hundred fifty but less than three hundred one percent of the federal poverty level shall be reduced by fifteen percent from what it would otherwise be;

(iii) The rate for any person who has been enrolled in the pool for more than thirty-six months shall be reduced by five percent from what it would otherwise be.

(b) In no event shall the rate for any person be less than one hundred ten percent of the rate calculated under subsection (1) of this section.

(c) Rate reductions under (a)(i) and (ii) of this subsection shall be available only to the extent that funds are specifically appropriated for this purpose in the omnibus appropriations act.

Sec. 27. RCW 48.41.037 and 2000 c 79 s 36 are each amended to read as follows:

The Washington state health insurance pool account is created in the custody of the state treasurer. All receipts from moneys specifically appropriated to the account must be deposited in the account. Expenditures from this account shall be used to cover deficits incurred by the Washington state health insurance pool under this chapter in excess of the threshold established in this section. To the extent funds are available in the account, funds shall be expended from the account to offset that portion of the deficit that would otherwise have to be recovered by imposing an assessment on members in excess of a threshold of seventy cents per insured person per month. The commissioner shall authorize expenditures from the account, to the extent that funds are available in the account, upon certification by the pool board that assessments will exceed the threshold level established in this section. The account is subject to the allotment procedures under chapter 43.88 RCW, but an appropriation is not required for expenditures.

Whether the assessment has reached the threshold of seventy cents per insured person per month shall be determined by dividing the total aggregate amount of assessment by the proportion of total assessed members. Thus, stop loss members shall be counted as one-tenth of a whole member in the denominator given that is the amount they are assessed proportionately relative to a fully insured medical member.

Sec. 28. RCW 48.41.100 and 2001 c 196 s 3 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) The following persons who are residents of this state are eligible for pool coverage:

(a) Any person who provides evidence of a carrier's decision not to accept him or her for enrollment in an individual health benefit plan as defined in RCW 48.43.005 based upon, and within ninety days of the receipt of, the results of the standard health questionnaire designated by the board and administered by health carriers under RCW 48.43.018;

(b) Any person who continues to be eligible for pool coverage based upon the results of the standard health questionnaire designated by the board and administered by the pool administrator pursuant to subsection (3) of this section;

(c) Any person who resides in a county of the state where no carrier or insurer eligible under chapter 48.15 RCW offers to the public an individual health benefit plan other than a catastrophic health plan as defined in RCW 48.43.005 at the time of application to the pool, and who makes direct application to the pool; and

(d) Any medicare eligible person upon providing evidence of rejection for medical reasons, a requirement of restrictive riders, an up-rated premium, or a preexisting conditions limitation on a medicare supplemental insurance policy under chapter 48.66 RCW, the effect of which is to substantially reduce coverage from that received by a person considered a standard risk by at least one member within six months of the date of application.

(2) The following persons are not eligible for coverage by the pool:

(a) Any person having terminated coverage in the pool unless (i) twelve months have lapsed since termination, or (ii) that person can show continuous other coverage which has been involuntarily terminated for any reason other than nonpayment of premiums. However, these exclusions do not apply to eligible individuals as defined in section 2741(b) of the federal health insurance portability and accountability act of 1996 (42 U.S.C. Sec. 300gg-41(b));

(b) Any person on whose behalf the pool has paid out ~~((one))~~ two million dollars in benefits;

(c) Inmates of public institutions and persons whose benefits are duplicated under public programs. However, these exclusions do not apply to eligible individuals as defined in section 2741(b) of the federal health insurance portability and accountability act of 1996 (42 U.S.C. Sec. 300gg-41(b));

(d) Any person who resides in a county of the state where any carrier or insurer regulated under chapter 48.15 RCW offers to the public an individual health benefit plan other than a catastrophic health plan as defined in RCW 48.43.005 at the time of application to the pool and who does not qualify for pool coverage based upon the results of the standard health questionnaire, or pursuant to subsection (1)(d) of this section.

(3) When a carrier or insurer regulated under chapter 48.15 RCW begins to offer an individual health benefit plan in a county where no carrier had been offering an individual health benefit plan:

2007 REGULAR SESSION

(a) If the health benefit plan offered is other than a catastrophic health plan as defined in RCW 48.43.005, any person enrolled in a pool plan pursuant to subsection (1)(c) of this section in that county shall no longer be eligible for coverage under that plan pursuant to subsection (1)(c) of this section, but may continue to be eligible for pool coverage based upon the results of the standard health questionnaire designated by the board and administered by the pool administrator. The pool administrator shall offer to administer the questionnaire to each person no longer eligible for coverage under subsection (1)(c) of this section within thirty days of determining that he or she is no longer eligible;

(b) Losing eligibility for pool coverage under this subsection (3) does not affect a person's eligibility for pool coverage under subsection (1)(a), (b), or (d) of this section; and

(c) The pool administrator shall provide written notice to any person who is no longer eligible for coverage under a pool plan under this subsection (3) within thirty days of the administrator's determination that the person is no longer eligible. The notice shall: (i) Indicate that coverage under the plan will cease ninety days from the date that the notice is dated; (ii) describe any other coverage options, either in or outside of the pool, available to the person; (iii) describe the procedures for the administration of the standard health questionnaire to determine the person's continued eligibility for coverage under subsection (1)(b) of this section; and (iv) describe the enrollment process for the available options outside of the pool.

(4) The board shall ensure that an independent analysis of the eligibility standards for the pool coverage is conducted, including examining eligibility for medicaid enrollees and other publicly sponsored enrollees, and the impacts on the pool and the state budget. The board shall report the findings to the legislature by December 1, 2007.

Sec. 29. RCW 48.41.120 and 2000 c 79 s 14 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) Subject to the limitation provided in subsection ~~((2))~~ (2) of this section, a pool policy offered in accordance with RCW 48.41.110(3) shall impose a deductible. Deductibles of five hundred dollars and one thousand dollars on a per person per calendar year basis shall initially be offered. The board may authorize deductibles in other amounts. The deductible shall be applied to the first five hundred dollars, one thousand dollars, or other authorized amount of eligible expenses incurred by the covered person.

~~(2) ((Subject to the limitations provided in subsection (3) of this section, a mandatory coinsurance requirement shall be imposed at the rate of twenty percent of eligible expenses in excess of the mandatory deductible.~~

~~—(3))~~ The maximum aggregate out of pocket payments for eligible expenses by the insured in the form of deductibles and coinsurance under a pool policy offered in accordance with RCW 48.41.110(3) shall not exceed in a calendar year:

(a) One thousand five hundred dollars per individual, or three thousand dollars per family, per calendar year for the five hundred dollar deductible policy;

(b) Two thousand five hundred dollars per individual, or five thousand dollars per family per calendar year for the one thousand dollar deductible policy; or

(c) An amount authorized by the board for any other deductible policy.

~~((4))~~ (3) Eligible expenses incurred by a covered person in the last three months of a calendar year, and applied toward a deductible, shall also be applied toward the deductible amount in the next calendar year.

(4) The board may modify cost-sharing as an incentive for enrollees to participate in care management services and other cost-effective programs and policies.

Sec. 30. RCW 48.43.005 and 2006 c 25 s 16 are each amended to read as follows:

Unless otherwise specifically provided, the definitions in this section apply throughout this chapter.

On page 45, after line 33 of the amendment, insert the following:

"NEW SECTION. Sec. 46. The legislature finds that many small employers struggle with the cost of providing employer-sponsored health insurance coverage to their employees, while others are unable to offer coverage due to its high cost. It is the intent of the legislature to encourage the availability of less expensive health insurance plans, and expand the flexibility of small employers to purchase less expensive products.

The office of the insurance commissioner under Title 48 RCW shall certify those small employer health benefit plans that are at least actuarially equivalent to the basic health plan benefit; and))~~ Small employers may offer any available health benefit plan including health savings accounts. (c) The small employer will pay at least forty percent of the monthly premium cost for health benefit plan coverage of the eligible employee.

(3) The amount of an eligible employee's premium subsidy shall be determined by applying the sliding scale subsidy schedule developed for subsidized basic health plan enrollees under RCW 70.47.060 to the employee's premium obligation for his or her employer's health benefit plan.

(4) After an eligible individual has enrolled in the program, the program shall issue subsidies in an amount determined pursuant to subsection (3) of this section to either the eligible employee or to the carrier designated by the eligible employee.

(5) An eligible employee must agree to provide verification of continued enrollment in his or her small employer's health benefit plan on a semiannual basis or to notify the administrator whenever his or her enrollment status changes, whichever is earlier. Verification or notification may be made directly by the employee, or through his or her employer or the carrier providing the small employer health benefit plan. When necessary, the administrator has the authority to perform retrospective audits on premium subsidy accounts. The administrator may suspend or terminate an employee's participation in the program and seek repayment of any subsidy amounts paid due to the omission or misrepresentation of an applicant or enrolled employee. The administrator shall adopt rules to define the appropriate application of these sanctions and the processes to implement the sanctions provided in this subsection, within available resources.

(8) The sponsoring local government may only use local infrastructure financing in areas deemed in need of economic development or redevelopment within boundaries of the sponsoring local government.

Sec. 6. RCW 39.102.090 and 2006 c 181 s 207 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) To ~~((create))~~ adopt a revenue development area, a sponsoring local government, and any cosponsoring local government, must adopt an ordinance establishing the revenue development area that:

(b) Describes the boundaries of the revenue development area, subject to the limitations in RCW 39.102.060;

(c) Estimates the cost of the proposed public improvements and the portion of these costs to be financed by local infrastructure financing;

(d) Estimates the time during which local excise tax allocation revenues, local property tax allocation revenues, and other revenues from local public sources are to be used for local infrastructure financing;

(e) Provides the date when the use of local excise tax allocation revenues and local property tax allocation revenues will commence; and

(f) Finds that the conditions in RCW 39.102.070 are met and the findings in RCW 39.102.080 are complete.

(2) The sponsoring local government, and any cosponsoring local government, must hold a public hearing on the proposed financing of the public improvements in whole or in part with local infrastructure financing ~~((at least thirty days))~~ before passage of the ordinance establishing the revenue development area. The public hearing may be held by either the governing body of the sponsoring local government and the governing body of any cosponsoring local government, or by a committee of those governing bodies that includes at least a majority of the whole governing body or bodies. The public hearing is subject to the notice requirements in RCW 39.102.100.

(3) The sponsoring local government, and any cosponsoring local government, shall deliver a certified copy of the adopted ordinance to the county treasurer, the governing body of each participating local government and participating taxing district within which the revenue development area is located, the board, and the department.

Sec. 7. RCW 39.102.110 and 2006 c 181 s 301 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) A sponsoring local government or participating local government that has received approval by the board to use local infrastructure financing may use annually its local excise tax allocation revenues to finance public improvements in the revenue development area financed in whole or in part by local infrastructure financing. The use of local excise tax allocation revenues dedicated by participating local governments must cease ~~((when such allocation revenues are no longer necessary or obligated to pay bonds issued to finance the public improvements in the revenue development area))~~ on the date specified in the written agreement required in RCW 39.102.080(1), or if no date is specified then the date when the local tax under RCW 82.14.475 expires. revenues to the sponsoring local government as authorized in RCW 39.102.080(1).

(2) A sponsoring local government shall provide the board accurate information describing the geographical boundaries of the revenue development area at the time of application. The information shall be provided in an electronic format or manner as prescribed by the department. The sponsoring local government shall ensure that the boundary information provided to the board and department is kept current.

(3) In the event a city annexes a county area located within a county-sponsored revenue development area, the city shall remit to the county the portion of the local excise tax allocation revenue that the county would have received had the area not been annexed to the county. The city shall remit such revenues until such time as the bonds issued under RCW 39.102.150 are retired.

Sec. 8. RCW 39.102.120 and 2006 c 181 s 302 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) Commencing in the second calendar year following ~~(the passage of the ordinance creating a revenue development area and authorizing the use of local infrastructure financing)~~ board approval of a revenue development area, the county treasurer shall distribute receipts from regular taxes imposed on real property located in the revenue development area as follows:

(a) Each participating taxing district and the sponsoring local government shall receive that portion of its regular property taxes produced by the rate of tax levied by or for the taxing district on the property tax allocation revenue base value for that local infrastructure financing project in the taxing district, or upon the total assessed value of real property in the taxing district, whichever is smaller; and

(b) The sponsoring local government shall receive an additional portion of the regular property taxes levied by it and by or for each participating taxing district upon the property tax allocation revenue value within the revenue development area. However, if there is no property tax allocation revenue value, the sponsoring local government shall not receive any additional regular property taxes under this subsection (1)(b). The sponsoring local government may agree to receive less than the full amount of the additional portion of regular property taxes under this subsection (1)(b) as long as bond debt service, reserve, and other bond covenant requirements are satisfied, in which case the balance of these tax receipts shall be allocated to the participating taxing districts that levied regular property taxes, or have regular property taxes levied for them, in the revenue development area for collection that year in proportion to their regular tax levy rates for collection that year. The sponsoring local government may request that the treasurer transfer this additional portion of the property taxes to its designated agent. The portion of the tax receipts distributed to the sponsoring local government or its agent under this subsection (1)(b) may only be expended to finance public improvement costs associated with the public improvements financed in whole or in part by local infrastructure financing.

(2) The county assessor shall allocate any increase in the assessed value of real property occurring in the revenue development area to the property tax allocation revenue value and property tax allocation revenue base value as appropriate. This section does not authorize revaluations of real property by the assessor for property taxation that are not made in accordance with the assessor's revaluation plan under chapter 84.41 RCW or under other authorized revaluation procedures.

(3) The apportionment of increases in assessed valuation in a revenue development area, and the associated distribution to the sponsoring local government of receipts from regular property taxes that are imposed on the property tax allocation revenue value, must cease when property tax allocation revenues are no longer ~~(necessary or)~~ obligated to pay the costs of the public improvements. Any excess local property tax allocation revenues derived from regular property taxes and earnings on these tax allocation revenues, remaining at the time the allocation of tax receipts terminates, must be returned to the county treasurer and distributed to the participating taxing districts that imposed regular property taxes, or had regular property taxes imposed for it, in the revenue development area for collection that year, in proportion to the rates of their regular property tax levies for collection that year.

(4) The allocation to the revenue development area of portions of the local regular property taxes levied by or for each taxing district upon the property tax allocation revenue value within that revenue development area is declared to be a public purpose of and benefit to each such taxing district.

(5) The allocation of local property tax allocation revenues pursuant to this section shall not affect or be deemed to affect the rate of taxes levied by or within any taxing district or the consistency of any such levies with the uniformity requirement of Article VII, section 1 of the state Constitution.

(6) This section does not apply to those revenue development areas that include any part of an increment area created under chapter 39.89 RCW.

Sec. 9. RCW 82.14.475 and 2006 c 181 s 401 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) A sponsoring local government, and any cosponsoring local government, that has been approved by the board to use local infrastructure financing may impose a sales and use tax in accordance with the terms of this chapter and subject to the criteria set forth in this section. Except as provided in this section, the tax is in addition to other taxes authorized by law and shall be collected from those persons who are taxable by the state under chapters 82.08 and 82.12 RCW upon the occurrence of any taxable event within the taxing jurisdiction of the sponsoring local government or cosponsoring local government. The rate of tax shall not exceed the rate provided in RCW 82.08.020(1), less the aggregate rates of any other local sales and use taxes imposed on the same taxable events that are credited against the state sales and use taxes imposed under chapters 82.08 and 82.12 RCW. The rate of tax may be changed only on the first day of a fiscal year as needed. Notice of rate changes must be provided to the department on the first day of March to be effective on July 1st of the next fiscal year.

(2) The tax authorized under subsection (1) of this section shall be credited against the state taxes imposed under chapter 82.08 or 82.12 RCW. The department shall perform the collection of such taxes on behalf of the sponsoring local government or cosponsoring local government at no cost to the sponsoring local government or cosponsoring local government and shall remit the taxes as provided in RCW 82.14.060.

(3)(a) No tax may be imposed under the authority of this section:

(i) Before July 1, 2008;

(ii) Before approval by the board under RCW 39.102.040; and

(iii) ~~((Except as provided in (b) of this subsection, unless))~~ Before the sponsoring local government has received ~~((and dedicated to the payment of bonds authorized in RCW 39.102.150, in whole or in part, both))~~ local excise tax allocation revenues ~~((and))~~ local property tax allocation revenues, ~~or both~~, during the preceding calendar year.

(b) ~~((The requirement to receive local property tax allocation revenues under (a) of this subsection is waived if the revenue development area coincides with or is contained entirely within the boundaries of an increment area adopted by a local government under the authority of chapter 39.89 RCW for the purposes of utilizing community revitalization financing.~~

~~((c))~~ The tax imposed under this section shall expire when the bonds issued under the authority of RCW 39.102.150 are retired, but not more than twenty-five years after the tax is first imposed.

(4) An ordinance adopted by the legislative authority of a sponsoring local government or cosponsoring local government imposing a tax under this section shall provide that:

(a) The tax shall first be imposed on the first day of a fiscal year;

(b) The cumulative amount of tax received by the sponsoring local government, and any cosponsoring local government, in any fiscal year shall not exceed the amount of the state contribution;

(c) The tax shall cease to be distributed for the remainder of any fiscal year in which either:

SIXTY-SECOND DAY, MARCH 10, 2007

(i) The amount of tax received by the sponsoring local government, and any cosponsoring local government, equals the amount of the state contribution;

(ii) The amount of revenue from taxes imposed under this section by all sponsoring and cosponsoring local governments equals the annual state contribution limit; or

(iii) The amount of tax received by the sponsoring local government equals the amount of project award granted in the approval notice described in RCW 39.102.040;

~~(d) (Except when the requirement to receive local property tax allocation revenues is waived as provided in subsection (3)(b) of this section, neither the local excise tax allocation revenues nor the local property tax allocation revenues can be more than eighty percent of the total local funds as described in RCW 39.102.020(29)(c);~~

~~(e))~~ The tax shall be distributed again, should it cease to be distributed for any of the reasons provided in (c) of this subsection, at the beginning of the next fiscal year, subject to the restrictions in this section; and

~~((f))~~ (e) Any revenue generated by the tax in excess of the amounts specified in (c) of this subsection shall belong to the state of Washington.

(5) If a county and city cosponsor a revenue development area, the combined rates of the city and county tax shall not exceed the rate provided in RCW 82.08.020(1), less the aggregate rates of any other local sales and use taxes imposed on the same taxable events that are credited against the state sales and use taxes imposed under chapters 82.08 and 82.12 RCW. The combined amount of distributions received by both the city and county may not exceed the state contribution.

(6) The department shall determine the amount of tax receipts distributed to each sponsoring local government, and any cosponsoring local government, imposing sales and use tax under this section and shall advise a sponsoring or cosponsoring local government when tax distributions for the fiscal year equal the amount of state contribution for that fiscal year as provided in subsection (8) of this section. Determinations by the department of the amount of tax distributions attributable to each sponsoring or cosponsoring local government are final and shall not be used to challenge the validity of any tax imposed under this section. The department shall remit any tax receipts in excess of the amounts specified in subsection (4)(c) of this section to the state treasurer who shall deposit the money in the general fund.

(7) If a sponsoring or cosponsoring local government fails to comply with RCW 39.102.140, no tax may be distributed in the subsequent fiscal year until such time as the sponsoring or cosponsoring local government complies and the department calculates the state contribution amount for such fiscal year.

(8) Each year, the amount of taxes approved by the department for distribution to a sponsoring or cosponsoring local government in the next fiscal year shall be equal to the state contribution and shall be no more than the total local funds as described in RCW 39.102.020(29)(c). The department shall consider information from reports described in RCW 39.102.140 when determining the amount of state contributions for each fiscal year. A sponsoring or cosponsoring local government shall not receive, in any fiscal year, more revenues from taxes imposed under the authority of this section than the amount approved annually by the department. The department shall not approve the receipt of more distributions of sales and use tax under this section to a sponsoring or cosponsoring local government than is authorized under subsection (4) of this section.

(9) The amount of tax distributions received from taxes imposed under the authority of this section by all sponsoring and cosponsoring local governments is limited annually to not more than ~~((five))~~ ten million dollars. ~~((The tax distributions shall be available to the sponsoring local government, and any cosponsoring local government, imposing a tax under this section only as long as the sponsoring local government has outstanding indebtedness under RCW 39.102.150.))~~

(10) The definitions in RCW 39.102.020 apply to this section unless the context clearly requires otherwise.

(11) If a sponsoring local government is a federally recognized Indian tribe, the distribution of the sales and use tax authorized under this section shall be authorized through an interlocal agreement pursuant to chapter 39.34 RCW.

(12) Subject to section 15 of this act, the tax imposed under the authority of this section may be applied either to provide for the payment of debt service on bonds issued under RCW 39.102.150 by the sponsoring local government or to pay public improvement costs on a pay-as-you-go basis, or both.

(13) The tax imposed under the authority of this section shall cease to be imposed if the sponsoring local government or cosponsoring local government fails to issue bonds under the authority of RCW 39.102.150 by June 30th of the fifth fiscal year in which the local tax authorized under this section is imposed.

Sec. 10. RCW 39.102.140 and 2006 c 181 s 403 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) A sponsoring local government shall provide a report to the board and the department by March 1st of each year. The report shall contain the following information:

(a) The amount of local excise tax allocation revenues, ~~((and))~~ local property tax allocation revenues, other revenues from local public sources, and taxes under RCW 82.14.475((and revenues from local public sources)) received by the sponsoring local government during the preceding calendar year that were dedicated to pay the public improvements financed in whole or in part with local infrastructure financing, and a summary of how these revenues were expended;

(b) The names of any businesses locating within the revenue development area as a result of the public improvements undertaken by the sponsoring local government and financed in whole or in part with local infrastructure financing;

(2) The board shall make a report available to the public and the legislature by June 1st of each year. The report shall include a list of public improvements undertaken by sponsoring local governments and financed in whole or in part with local infrastructure financing and it shall also include a summary of the information provided to the department by sponsoring local governments under subsection (1) of this section.

(1) A sponsoring local government that has designated a revenue development area and been authorized the use of local infrastructure financing may incur general indebtedness, and issue general obligation bonds, to finance the public improvements and retire the indebtedness in whole or in part from local excise tax allocation revenues, local property tax allocation revenues, and sales and use taxes imposed under the authority of RCW 82.14.475 that it receives, subject to the following requirements:

(a) The ordinance adopted by the sponsoring local government and authorizing the use of local infrastructure financing indicates an intent to incur this indebtedness and the maximum amount of this indebtedness that is contemplated; and

MOTION

On motion of Senator Kohl-Welles, Substitute Senate Bill No. 5317 was substituted for Senate Bill No. 5317 and the substitute bill was placed on the second reading and read the second time.

MOTION

Senator Kohl-Welles moved that the following striking amendment by Senators Kohl-Welles, Hargrove and Stevens be adopted:

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

(1) The legislature recognizes that:

(a) Parents are their children's first and most important teachers and decision makers;

(b) Research across disciplines now demonstrates that what happens in the earliest years makes a critical difference in children's readiness to succeed in school and life;

(c) Washington's competitiveness in the global economy requires a world-class education system that starts early and supports life-long learning;

(d) Washington state currently makes substantial investments in voluntary child care and early learning services and supports, but because services are fragmented across multiple state agencies, and early learning providers lack the supports and incentives needed to improve the quality of services they provide, many parents have difficulty accessing high quality early learning services;

(e) A more cohesive and integrated voluntary early learning system would result in greater efficiencies for the state, increased partnership between the state and the private sector, improved access to high quality early learning services, and better employment and early learning outcomes for families and all children.

(2) The legislature finds that the early years of a child's life are critical to the child's healthy brain development and that the quality of caregiving during the early years can significantly impact the child's intellectual, social, and emotional development.

(3) The purpose of this chapter is:

(a) To establish the department of early learning;

(b) To coordinate and consolidate state activities relating to child care and early learning programs;

(c) To safeguard and promote the health, safety, and well-being of children receiving child care and early learning assistance;

(d) To provide tools to promote the hiring of suitable providers of child care by:

(i) Providing parents with access to information regarding child care providers;

(ii) Providing child care providers with known information regarding applicants' sexual misconduct or other abusive conduct;

(iii) Providing parents with child care licensing complaint histories regarding child care providers; and

(iv) Requiring background checks of applicants for employment in any child care facility licensed or regulated under current law;

(e) To promote linkages and alignment between early learning programs and elementary schools and support the transition of children and families from prekindergarten environments to kindergarten;

~~((e))~~ (f) To promote the development of a sufficient number and variety of adequate child care and early learning facilities, both public and private; and

~~((f))~~ (g) To license agencies and to assure the users of such agencies, their parents, the community at large and the agencies themselves that adequate minimum standards are maintained by all child care and early learning facilities.

(4) This chapter does not expand the state's authority to license or regulate activities or programs beyond those licensed or regulated under existing law.

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

"NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. The people of the state of Washington expect to live in safe communities in which the threat of crime is minimized. Attempting to keep communities safe by building more prisons and paying the costs of incarceration has proven to be expensive to taxpayers. Incarceration is a necessary consequence for some offenders, however, the vast majority of those offenders will eventually return to their communities. Many of these former offenders will not have had the opportunity to address the deficiencies that may have contributed to their criminal behavior. Persons who do not have basic literacy and job skills, or who are ill-equipped to make the behavioral changes necessary to successfully function in the community, have a high risk of reoffense. Recidivism represents serious costs to victims, both financial and nonmonetary in nature, and also burdens state and local governments with those offenders who recycle through the criminal justice system.

The legislature believes that recidivism can be reduced and a substantial cost savings can be realized by utilizing evidence-based, research-based, and promising programs to address offender deficits, developing and better coordinating the reentry efforts of state and local governments and local communities. Research shows that if quality assurances are adhered to, implementing an optimal portfolio of evidence-based programming options for offenders who are willing to take advantage of such programs can have a notable impact on recidivism.

While the legislature recognizes that recidivism cannot be eliminated and that a significant number of offenders are unwilling or unable to work to develop the tools necessary to successfully reintegrate into society, the interests of the public overall are better served by better preparing offenders while incarcerated, and continuing those efforts for those recently released from prison or jail, for successful, productive, and healthy transitions to their communities. Educational, employment, and treatment opportunities should be designed to address individual deficits and ideally give offenders the ability to function in society. In order to foster reintegration, this act recognizes the importance of a strong partnership between the department of corrections, local governments, law enforcement, social service providers, and interested members of communities across our state.

PART I - COMMUNITY TRANSITION COORDINATION NETWORKS

NEW SECTION. Sec. 101. The definitions in this section apply throughout this chapter unless the context clearly requires otherwise.

(1) A "community transition coordination network" is a system of coordination that facilitates partnerships between supervision and service providers. It is anticipated that an offender who is released to the community will be able to utilize a community transition coordination network to be connected directly to the supervision and/or services needed for successful reentry.

(2) "Evidence-based" means a program or practice that has had multiple-site random controlled trials across heterogeneous populations demonstrating that the program or practice is effective in reducing recidivism for the population.

(3) An "individual reentry plan" means the plan to prepare an offender for release into the community. A reentry plan is developed collaboratively between the supervising authority and the offender and based on an assessment of the offender using a standardized and comprehensive tool to identify the offenders' risks and needs. An individual reentry plan describes actions that must occur to prepare individual offenders for release from jail and specifies the supervision and/or services he or she will experience in the community, taking into account no contact provisions of the judgment and sentence. An individual reentry plan must be updated throughout the period of an offender's incarceration and supervision to be relevant to the offender's current needs and risks.

(4) "Local community policing and supervision programs" include probation, work release, jails, and other programs operated by local police, courts, or local correctional agencies.

(5) "Promising practice" means a practice that presents, based on preliminary information, potential for becoming a research-based or consensus-based practice.

(6) "Research-based" means a program or practice that has some research demonstrating effectiveness, but that does not yet meet the standard of evidence-based practices.

(7) "Supervising authority" means the agency or entity that has the responsibility for supervising an offender.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 102. (1) Each county or group of counties shall conduct an inventory of the services and resources available in the county or group of counties to assist offenders in reentering the community.

(2) In conducting its inventory, the county or group of counties should consult with the following:

(a) The department of corrections, including community corrections officers;

(b) The department of social and health services in applicable program areas;

(c) Representatives from county human services departments and, where applicable, multicounty regional support networks;

(d) Local public health jurisdictions;

(e) City and county law enforcement;

(f) Local probation/supervision programs;

(g) Local community and technical colleges;

(h) The local worksorce center operated under the statewide workforce investment system;

(i) Faith-based and nonprofit organizations providing assistance to offenders;

(j) Housing providers;

(k) Crime victims service providers; and

(l) Other community stakeholders interested in reentry efforts.

(3) The inventory must include, but is not limited to:

(a) A list of programs available through the entities listed in subsection (2) of this section and services currently available in the community for offenders including, but not limited to, housing assistance, employment assistance, education, vocational training, parenting education, financial literacy, treatment for substance abuse, mental health, anger management, life skills training, specialized treatment programs such as batterers treatment and sex offender treatment, and any other service or program that will assist the former offender to successfully transition into the community; and

(b) An indication of the availability of community representatives or volunteers to assist the offender with his or her transition.

(4) No later than January 1, 2008, each county or group of counties shall present its inventory to the policy advisory committee convened in section 103(8) of this act.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 103. (1) The department of community, trade, and economic development shall establish a community transition coordination network pilot program for the purpose of awarding grants to counties or groups of counties for implementing coordinated reentry efforts for offenders returning to the community. Grant awards are subject to the availability of amounts appropriated for this specific purpose.

(2) By September 1, 2007, the Washington state institute for public policy shall, in consultation with the department of community, trade, and economic development, develop criteria for the counties in conducting its evaluation as directed by subsection (6)(c) of this section.

(3) Effective February 1, 2008, any county or group of counties may apply for participation in the community transition coordination network pilot program by submitting a proposal for a community transition coordination network.

(4) A proposal for a community transition coordination network initiated under this section must be collaborative in nature and must seek locally appropriate evidence-based or research-based solutions and promising practices utilizing the participation of public and private entities or programs to support successful, community-based offender reentry.

(5) In developing a proposal for a community transition coordination network, counties or groups of counties and the department of corrections shall collaborate in addressing:

(a) Efficiencies that may be gained by sharing space or resources in the provision of reentry services to offenders;

(b) Mechanisms for communication of information about offenders, including the feasibility of shared access to databases;

(c) When an offender who is subject to requirements of the sentence in addition to the payment of legal financial obligations either is not subject to supervision by the department or does not complete the requirements while under supervision of the department, it is the offender's responsibility to provide the court with verification of the completion of the sentence conditions other than the payment of legal financial obligations. When the offender satisfies all legal financial obligations under the sentence, the county clerk shall notify the sentencing court that the legal financial obligations have been satisfied. When the court has received both notification from the clerk and adequate verification from the offender that the sentence requirements have been completed, the court shall discharge the offender and provide the offender with a certificate of discharge by issuing the certificate to the offender in person or by mailing the certificate to the offender's last known address.

(2) The court shall send a copy of every signed certificate of discharge to the auditor for the county in which the court resides and to the department. The department shall create and maintain a database containing the names of all felons who have been issued certificates of discharge, the date of discharge, and the date of conviction and offense.

(3) An offender who is not convicted of a violent offense or a sex offense and is sentenced to a term involving community supervision may be considered for a discharge of sentence by the sentencing court prior to the completion of community supervision, provided that the offender has completed at least one-half of the term of community supervision and has met all other sentence requirements.

(4) Except as provided in subsection (5) of this section, the discharge shall have the effect of restoring all civil rights (~~lost by operation of law upon conviction~~) not already restored by RCW 29A.08.520, and the certificate of discharge shall so state. Nothing in this section prohibits the use of an offender's prior record for purposes of determining sentences for later offenses as provided in this chapter. Nothing in this section affects or prevents use of the offender's prior conviction in a later criminal prosecution either as an element of an offense or for impeachment purposes. A certificate of discharge is not based on a finding of rehabilitation.

(5) Unless otherwise ordered by the sentencing court, a certificate of discharge shall not terminate the offender's obligation to comply with an order issued under chapter 10.99 RCW that excludes or prohibits the offender from having contact with a specified person or coming within a set distance of any specified location that was contained in the judgment and sentence. An offender who violates such an order after a certificate of discharge has been issued shall be subject to prosecution according to the chapter under which the order was originally issued.

(6) Upon release from custody, the offender may apply to the department for counseling and help in adjusting to the community. This voluntary help may be provided for up to one year following the release from custody.

Sec. 805. RCW 9.96.050 and 2002 c 16 s 3 are each amended to read as follows:

When a prisoner on parole has performed all obligations of his or her release, including any and all legal financial obligations, for such time as shall satisfy the indeterminate sentence review board that his or her final release is not incompatible with the best interests of society and the welfare of the paroled individual, the board may make a final order of discharge and issue a certificate of discharge to the prisoner. The certificate of discharge shall be issued to the offender in person or by mail to the prisoner's last known address.

The board shall send a copy of every signed certificate of discharge (~~to the auditor for the county in which the offender was sentenced and~~) to the department of corrections. The department shall create and maintain a database containing the names of all felons who have been issued certificates of discharge, the date of discharge, and the date of conviction and offense.

The board retains the jurisdiction to issue a certificate of discharge after the expiration of the prisoner's or parolee's maximum statutory sentence. If not earlier granted, the board shall make a final order of discharge three years from the date of parole unless the parolee is on suspended or revoked status at the expiration of the three years. Such discharge, regardless of when issued, shall have the effect of restoring all civil rights (~~lost by operation of law upon conviction~~) not already restored by RCW 29A.08.520, and the certification of discharge shall so state. This restoration of civil rights shall not restore the right to receive, possess, own, or transport firearms.

The discharge provided for in this section shall be considered as a part of the sentence of the convicted person and shall not in any manner be construed as affecting the powers of the governor to pardon any such person.

Sec. 806. RCW 10.64.140 and 2005 c 246 s 1 are each amended to read as follows:

When a person is convicted of a felony, the court shall require the defendant to sign a statement acknowledging that:

(1) The defendant's right to vote has been lost due to the felony conviction;

(2) (~~If the defendant is registered to vote, the voter registration will be canceled~~) The right to vote is provisionally restored as long as the defendant is not under the jurisdiction of the department of corrections;

(3) The provisional right to vote may be revoked if the defendant fails to comply with all the terms of his or her legal financial obligations or an agreement for the payment of legal financial obligations;

(~~(3)~~) (4) The right to vote may be permanently restored by one of the following for each felony conviction:

(a) A certificate of discharge issued by the sentencing court, as provided in RCW 9.94A.637;

(b) A court order issued by the sentencing court restoring the right, as provided in RCW 9.92.066;

(c) A final order of discharge issued by the indeterminate sentence review board, as provided in RCW 9.96.050; or

(d) A certificate of restoration issued by the governor, as provided in RCW 9.96.020; and

(~~(4)~~) (5) Voting before the right is restored is a class C felony under RCW 29A.84.660.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 807. The following acts or parts of acts are each repealed:

(1) RCW 10.64.021 (Notice of conviction) and 1994 c 57 s 1; and

(2) RCW 29A.08.660 (Felony offender--Completion of sentence) and 2005 c 246 s 12.

PART IX - OVERSIGHT COMMITTEE

NEW SECTION. Sec. 901. A new section is added to chapter 72.09 RCW to read as follows:

(4) The committee will receive the necessary staff support from both the senate and house of representatives staff resources.

(5) The members of the committee shall serve without additional compensation, but will be reimbursed for their travel expenses, in accordance with RCW 44.04.120, incurred while attending sessions of the committee or meetings of a subcommittee of the committee, while engaged on other committee business authorized by the committee, and while going to and coming from committee sessions or committee meetings.

(6) This section expires July 1, 2012.

PART X - MISCELLANEOUS

NEW SECTION. Sec. 1001. Part headings used in this act are not any part of the law.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 1002. If any provision of this act or its application to any person or circumstance is held invalid, the remainder of the act or the application of the provision to other persons or circumstances is not affected.

MOTION

Senator Hargrove moved that the following amendment by Senators Hargrove, Carrell and Regala to the striking amendment be adopted.

On page 27, after line 5 of the amendment, insert the following:

"Sec. 405. RCW 9.94A.737 and 2005 c 435 s 3 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) If an offender violates any condition or requirement of community custody, the department may transfer the offender to a more restrictive confinement status to serve up to the remaining portion of the sentence, less credit for any period actually spent in community custody or in detention awaiting disposition of an alleged violation and subject to the limitations of subsection ~~((2))~~ (3) of this section.

(2) If an offender has not completed his or her maximum term of total confinement and commits a third violation of any condition of community custody, the department shall return the offender to total confinement in a state correctional facility to serve up to the remaining portion of his or her sentence, unless it is determined that returning the offender to a state correctional facility would substantially interfere with the offender's ability to maintain necessary community supports or to participate in necessary treatment or programming and would substantially increase the offender's likelihood of reoffending. At the completion of any term of total confinement under this subsection, an offender shall be subject to not less than twelve months of community custody if the offender was originally sentenced on or after the effective date of this section.

(3)(a) For a sex offender sentenced to a term of community custody under RCW 9.94A.670 who violates any condition of community custody, the department may impose a sanction of up to sixty days' confinement in a local correctional facility for each violation. If the department imposes a sanction, the department shall submit within seventy-two hours a report to the court and the prosecuting attorney outlining the violation or violations and the sanctions imposed.

(b) For a sex offender sentenced to a term of community custody under RCW 9.94A.710 who violates any condition of community custody after having completed his or her maximum term of total confinement, including time served on community custody in lieu of earned release, the department may impose a sanction of up to sixty days in a local correctional facility for each violation.

(c) For an offender sentenced to a term of community custody under RCW 9.94A.505(2)(b), 9.94A.650, or 9.94A.715, or under RCW 9.94A.545, for a crime committed on or after July 1, 2000, who violates any condition of community custody after having completed his or her maximum term of total confinement, including time served on community custody in lieu of earned release, the department may impose a sanction of up to sixty days in total confinement for each violation. The department may impose sanctions such as work release, home detention with electronic monitoring, work crew, community restitution, inpatient treatment, daily reporting, curfew, educational or counseling sessions, supervision enhanced through electronic monitoring, or any other sanctions available in the community.

(d) For an offender sentenced to a term of community placement under RCW 9.94A.705 who violates any condition of community placement after having completed his or her maximum term of total confinement, including time served on community custody in lieu of earned release, the department may impose a sanction of up to sixty days in total confinement for each violation. The department may impose sanctions such as work release, home detention with electronic monitoring, work crew, community restitution, inpatient treatment, daily reporting, curfew, educational or counseling sessions, supervision enhanced through electronic monitoring, or any other sanctions available in the community.

~~((3))~~ (4) If an offender has been arrested for a new felony offense, the department shall hold the offender in total confinement until a hearing before the department as provided in this section or until the offender has been formally charged for the new felony offense, whichever is earlier. Nothing in this subsection shall be construed as to permit the department to hold an offender past his or her maximum term of total confinement if the offender has not completed the maximum term of total confinement or to permit the department to hold an offender past the offender's term of community custody.

(5) Any offender sanctioned to total confinement under this section shall serve the entire term of the sanction in total confinement as defined in RCW 9.94A.030.

(6) The department shall be financially responsible for any portion of the sanctions authorized by this section that are served in a local correctional facility.

(7) If an offender is accused of violating any condition or requirement of community custody, he or she is entitled to a hearing before the department prior to the imposition of sanctions. The hearing shall be considered as offender disciplinary proceedings and shall not be subject to chapter 34.05 RCW. The department shall develop hearing procedures and a structure of graduated sanctions.

~~((4))~~ (8) The hearing procedures required under subsection ~~((3))~~ (7) of this section shall be developed by rule and include the following:

(a) Hearing officers shall report through a chain of command separate from that of community corrections officers;

(b) The department shall provide the offender with written notice of the violation, the evidence relied upon, and the reasons the particular sanction was imposed. The notice shall include a statement of the rights specified in this subsection, and the offender's right to file a personal restraint petition under court rules after the final decision of the department;

(c) The hearing shall be held unless waived by the offender, and shall be electronically recorded. For offenders not in total confinement, the hearing shall be held within fifteen working days, but not less than twenty-four hours, after notice of the violation. For offenders in total confinement, the hearing shall be held within five working days, but not less than twenty-four hours, after notice of the violation;

(d) The offender shall have the right to: (i) Be present at the hearing; (ii) have the assistance of a person qualified to assist the offender in the hearing, appointed by the hearing officer if the offender has a language or communications barrier; (iii) testify or remain silent; (iv) call witnesses and present documentary evidence; and (v) question witnesses who appear and testify; and

(e) The sanction shall take effect if affirmed by the hearing officer. Within seven days after the hearing officer's decision, the offender may appeal the decision to a panel of three reviewing officers designated by the secretary or by the secretary's designee. The sanction shall be reversed or modified if a majority of the panel finds that the sanction was not reasonably related to any of the following: (i) The crime of conviction; (ii) the violation committed; (iii) the offender's risk of reoffending; or (iv) the safety of the community.

~~((5))~~ (9) For purposes of this section, no finding of a violation of conditions may be based on unconfirmed or unconfirmable allegations.

~~((6))~~ (10) The department shall work with the Washington association of sheriffs and police chiefs to establish and operate an electronic monitoring program for low-risk offenders who violate the terms of their community custody. Between January 1, 2006, and December 31, 2006, the department shall endeavor to place at least one hundred low-risk community custody violators on the electronic monitoring program per day if there are at least that many low-risk offenders who qualify for the electronic monitoring program.

~~((7))~~ (11) Local governments, their subdivisions and employees, the department and its employees, and the Washington association of sheriffs and police chiefs and its employees shall be immune from civil liability for damages arising from incidents involving low-risk offenders who are placed on electronic monitoring unless it is shown that an employee acted with gross negligence or bad faith."

SIXTY-SECOND DAY, MARCH 10, 2007
MOTION

2007 REGULAR SESSION

Senator Pridemore moved that the following striking amendment by Senator Pridemore be adopted:

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

"NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. (1) The legislature finds that:

(a) Washington is especially vulnerable to climate change because of the state's dependence on snow pack for summer stream flows and because the expected rise in sea levels threatens our coastal communities. Extreme weather, a warming Pacific Northwest, reduced snow pack, and sea level rise are four major ways that climate change is disrupting Washington's economy, environment, and communities;

(b) Washington's greenhouse gas emissions are continuing to increase, despite international scientific consensus that worldwide emissions must be reduced significantly below current levels to avert catastrophic climate change;

(c) Washington has been a leader in actions to reduce the increase of emissions, including the adoption of clean car standards, stronger appliance energy efficiency standards, increased production and use of renewable liquid fuels, and increased renewable energy sources by electrical utilities;

(d) Washington has participated with other Western states in designing regional approaches to reduce greenhouse gas emissions, and a regional cap and trade mechanism will be more effective than if implemented separately in each state;

(e) While these actions are significant, there is a need to assess the trend of emissions statewide over the next several decades, and to take sufficient actions so that Washington meets its responsibility to contribute to the global actions needed to reduce the impacts and the pace of global warming;

(f) Actions to reduce greenhouse gas emissions will spur technology development and increase efficiency, thus resulting in benefits to Washington's economy and businesses; and

(g) Numerous states and nations have adopted emission reduction goals to assist emission sources with planning for changes in practices and technologies.

(2) The legislature further finds that companies that generate greenhouse gas emissions or manufacture products that generate such emissions are purchasing carbon credits from landowners and from other companies in order to provide carbon credits. Companies that are purchasing carbon credits would benefit from a program to trade and to bank carbon credits. Washington forests are one of the most effective resources that can absorb carbon dioxide from the atmosphere. Forests, and other planted lands and waters, provide carbon storage and mitigate greenhouse gas emissions. Washington contains the most productive forests in the world and both public and private landowners could benefit from a carbon storage trading and banking program. The legislature further finds that catastrophic forest fires are a major source of greenhouse gas emissions, and that federal and state forest land management should seek to manage forests to reduce the risk of such fires.

(3) The legislature intends by this act to establish goals for the statewide reduction in greenhouse gas emissions and reduction in petroleum use, and to adopt the governor's mechanism in Executive Order No. 07-02 to design and recommend a comprehensive set of measures to accomplish the goals. The legislature further intends by this act to authorize immediate actions in the electric power generation sector for the reduction of greenhouse gas emissions and to accelerate efficiency in the transportation sector.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. The following greenhouse gas emissions reduction and clean energy economy goals are established for Washington state:

(1) By 2020, reduce greenhouse gas emissions in the state to 1990 levels;

(2) By 2035, reduce greenhouse gas emissions in the state to twenty-five percent below 1990 levels;

(3) By 2050, the state will do its part to reach global climate stabilization levels by reducing emissions to fifty percent below 1990 levels or seventy percent below the state's expected emissions that year;

(4) By 2020, increase the number of clean energy sector jobs to twenty-five thousand from the eight thousand four hundred jobs the state had in 2004; and

(5) By 2020, reduce expenditures by twenty percent on fuel imported into the state by developing Washington resources and supporting efficient energy use.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. Executive Order No. 07-02 shall provide the mechanisms for identifying the policies and strategies necessary to achieve the economic and emission reduction goals of section 2 of this act.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4. By December 31st of each even-numbered year beginning in 2010, the departments of ecology and community, trade, and economic development shall report to the governor and the appropriate committees of the senate and house of representatives the total greenhouse gas emissions for the preceding two years, and totals in each major source sector.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 5. (1) The legislature finds that:

(a) The United Nation's intergovernmental panel on climate change report, released February 2, 2007, states that evidence of the climate's warming "is unequivocal, as is now evident from observations of increases in global average air and ocean temperatures, widespread melting of snow and ice, and rising global mean sea level";

(b) Global warming will have serious adverse consequences on the economy, health, and environment of Washington;

(c) During the last several years, the state has taken significant strides towards implementing an environmentally and economically sound energy policy through reliance on energy efficiency, conservation, and renewable energy resources in order to promote a sustainable energy future that ensures an adequate and reliable energy supply at reasonable and stable prices;

(d) The governor, in Executive Order No. 07-02, has called for the reduction of Washington's emission of greenhouse gases to 1990 levels by 2020;

(e) To the extent energy efficiency and renewable resources are unable to satisfy increasing energy and capacity needs, the state will rely on clean and efficient fossil fuel fired generation and will encourage the development of cost-effective, highly efficient, and environmentally sound supply resources to provide reliability and consistency with the state's energy priorities;

(f) It is vital to ensure all electric utilities internalize the significant and underrecognized cost of emissions and to reduce Washington's exposure to costs associated with future regulation of these emissions;

(g) A greenhouse gases emissions performance standard for new long-term financial commitments to electric generating resources will reduce potential exposure of Washington's consumers to future reliability problems in electricity supplies;

(h) The state of California recently enacted a law establishing a greenhouse gases emissions performance standard for electric utility procurement of baseload electric generation that is based on the emissions of a combined-cycle thermal electric generation facility fueled by natural gas;

(i) The legislature recognizes that state or federal legislation may be enacted and federal regulation may occur that would provide standards or programs that would preempt, make inconsistent, or render unnecessary emission standards or schedules established in this act; and

(j) The state of Washington has an obligation to provide clear guidance for the procurement of baseload electric generation to alleviate regulatory uncertainty while addressing risks that can affect the ability of electric utilities to make necessary and timely investments to ensure an adequate, reliable, and cost-effective supply of electricity.

(2) The legislature declares that:

(a) A greenhouse gases emissions performance standard for new long-term financial commitments for baseload electric generation should reduce financial risk to electric utilities and their customers from future pollution-control costs, without jeopardizing the state's commitment to lowest reasonable cost resources and the need to maintain a reliable regional electric system.

SIXTY-SECOND DAY, MARCH 10, 2007

2007 REGULAR SESSION

(b) A greenhouse gases emissions performance standard will complement the state's carbon dioxide mitigation policy for fossil-fueled thermal electric generation facilities under chapter 80.70 RCW.

(c) The need for long-term financial commitments for new baseload electric generation can be reduced over time through the deployment by electric utilities of technologies that improve the efficiency of electricity production, transmission, distribution, and consumption.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 6. The definitions in this section apply throughout this chapter unless the context clearly requires otherwise.

(1) "Attorney general" means the Washington state office of the attorney general.

(2) "Auditor" means: (a) The Washington state auditor's office or its designee for qualifying utilities under its jurisdiction that are not investor-owned utilities; or (b) an independent auditor selected by a qualifying utility that is not under the jurisdiction of the state auditor and is not an investor-owned utility.

(3) "Baseload electric generation" means electric generation from a power plant that is designed and intended to provide electricity at an annualized plant capacity factor of at least sixty percent.

(4) "Cogeneration facility" means a power plant in which the heat or steam is also used for industrial or commercial heating or cooling purposes and that meets federal energy regulatory commission standards for qualifying facilities under the public utility regulatory policies act of 1978 (16 U.S.C. Sec. 824a-3), as amended.

(5) "Combined-cycle natural gas thermal electric generation facility" means a power plant that employs a combination of one or more gas turbines and steam turbines in which electricity is produced in the steam turbine from otherwise lost waste heat exiting from one or more of the gas turbines.

(6) "Commission" means the Washington utilities and transportation commission.

(7) "Consumer-owned utility" means a municipal utility formed under Title 35 RCW, a public utility district formed under Title 54 RCW, an irrigation district formed under chapter 87.03 RCW, a cooperative formed under chapter 23.86 RCW, a mutual corporation or association formed under chapter 24.06 RCW, or port district within which an industrial district has been established as authorized by Title 53 RCW, that is engaged in the business of distributing electricity to more than one retail electric customer in the state.

(8) "Department" means the department of ecology.

(9) "Electrical company" means a company owned by investors that meets the definition of RCW 80.04.010.

(10) "Electric utility" means an electrical company or a consumer-owned utility.

(11) "Governing board" means the board of directors or legislative authority of a consumer-owned utility.

(12) "Greenhouse gases" includes carbon dioxide, methane, nitrous oxide, hydrofluorocarbons, perfluorocarbons, and sulfur hexafluoride.

(13) "Long-term financial commitment" means:

(a) Either a new ownership interest in baseload electric generation or an upgrade to a baseload electric generation facility; or

(b) A new or renewed contract for baseload electric generation with a term of five or more years for the provision of retail power or wholesale power to end-use customers in this state.

(14) "Output-based methodology" means a greenhouse gases emissions performance standard that is expressed in pounds of greenhouse gases emitted per net megawatt-hour produced, factoring in the electrical equivalent of useful thermal energy employed for purposes other than the generation of electricity.

(15) "Plant capacity factor" means the ratio of the electricity produced during a given time period, measured in kilowatt-hours, to the electricity the unit could have produced if it had been operated at its rated capacity during that period, expressed in kilowatt-hours.

(16) "Power plant" means a facility for the generation of electricity that includes one or more generating units at the same location.

(17) "Upgrade" means any modification made for the primary purpose of increasing the electric generation capacity of a baseload electric generation facility. "Upgrade" does not include routine or necessary maintenance, installation of emission control equipment, installation, replacement, or modification of equipment that improves the heat rate of the facility, or installation, replacement, or modification of equipment for the primary purpose of maintaining reliable generation output capability that does not increase the heat input or fuel usage as specified in existing generation air quality permits but may result in incidental increases in generation capacity.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 7. (1) Beginning July 1, 2008, the greenhouse gases emissions performance standard for all baseload electric generation for which electric utilities enter into long-term financial commitments on or after such date is the lower of one thousand one hundred pounds of greenhouse gases per megawatt-hour or the rate of emissions of greenhouse gases for a commercially available combined-cycle natural gas thermal electric generation facility that provides baseload electric generation. Even if their actual emissions are higher than the greenhouse gas emissions performance standard, all baseload electric generation facilities in operation as of June 30, 2008, are deemed to be in compliance with the greenhouse gas emissions performance standard established under this section until the facilities are the subject of long-term financial commitments. All electric generating facilities or power plants powered by renewable resources, as defined in RCW 19.285.030, are deemed to be in compliance with the greenhouse gas emissions performance standard established under this section. For the purposes of this subsection, "commercially available" means that at least one hundred plants of substantially the same design, specifications, and performance characteristics have been in commercial operation for at least three years. In determining the rate of emissions of greenhouse gases for baseload electric generation, the net emissions resulting from the production of electricity by the baseload electric generation shall be included.

(2) The department shall establish an output-based methodology to ensure that the calculation of emissions of greenhouse gases for a cogeneration facility recognizes the total usable energy output of the process, and includes all greenhouse gases emitted by the facility in the production of both electrical and thermal energy. In developing and implementing the greenhouse gases emissions performance standard, the department shall consider and act in a manner consistent with any rules adopted pursuant to the public utilities regulatory policy act of 1978 (16 U.S.C. Sec. 824a-3), as amended.

(3) Carbon dioxide that is injected permanently in geological formations, so as to prevent releases into the atmosphere, in compliance with applicable laws and regulations may not be counted as emissions of the power plant in determining compliance with the greenhouse gases emissions performance standard.

(4) In adopting and implementing the greenhouse gases emissions performance standard, the department, in consultation with the commission, the Bonneville power administration, the western electricity coordination council, electric utilities, public interest representatives, and consumer representatives shall consider the effects of the greenhouse gases emissions performance standard on system reliability and overall costs to electricity customers.

(5) In developing and implementing the greenhouse gases emissions performance standard, the department shall, with assistance of the commission and electric utilities, and to the extent practicable, address long-term purchases of electricity from unspecified sources in a manner consistent with this chapter.

(6) The department shall adopt the greenhouse gases emissions performance standard by rule pursuant to chapter 34.05 RCW, the administrative procedure act. The department shall adopt rules to enforce the requirements of this section, and adopt procedures to verify the emissions of greenhouse gases from any baseload electric generation supplied directly or under a contract subject to the greenhouse gases emissions performance standard to ensure compliance with the standard. Enforcement of the greenhouse gases emissions performance standard must begin immediately upon the establishment of the standard.

(7) In adopting the rules for implementing this section, the department shall include criteria to be applied in evaluating the carbon sequestration plan. The rules shall include:

(a) Provisions for financial assurances, as a condition of plant operation, sufficient to ensure successful implementation of the carbon sequestration plan, including construction and operation of necessary equipment, and any other significant costs;

(b) Provisions for geological sequestration to commence within five years of plant operation;

(c) Provisions for monitoring the effectiveness of the implementation of the sequestration plan;

(d) Penalties for failure to achieve implementation of the plan on schedule; and

(e) Provisions for public notice and comment on the carbon sequestration plan.

(8) A project under consideration by the energy facility site evaluation council before the adoption of rules in subsection (7) of this section is required to include all of the requirements of subsection (7) of this section in its carbon sequestration plan submitted to the department as part of the energy facility site evaluation council process. The department shall provide for timely hearings and public comment on the carbon sequestration plan.

(9) The department shall adopt the rules necessary to implement this section by June 30, 2008.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 8. (1) No electrical company may enter into a long-term financial commitment unless the baseload electric generation supplied under such a long-term financial commitment complies with the greenhouse gases emissions performance standard established under section 7 of this act.

(2) In order to enforce the requirements of this chapter, the commission shall review in a general rate case or as provided in subsection (5) of this section any long-term financial commitment entered into by an electrical company after June 30, 2008, to determine whether the baseload electric generation to be supplied under that long-term financial commitment complies with the greenhouse gases emissions performance standard established under section 7 of this act.

(3) In determining whether a long-term financial commitment is for baseload electric generation, the commission shall consider the design of the power plant and its intended use, based upon the electricity purchase contract, if any, permits necessary for the operation of the power plant, and any other matter the commission determines is relevant under the circumstances.

(4) Upon application by an electric utility, the commission may provide a case-by-case exemption from the greenhouse gases emissions performance standard to address: (a) Unanticipated electric system reliability needs; or (b) catastrophic events or threat of significant financial harm that may arise from unforeseen circumstances.

(5) Upon application by an electrical company, the commission shall make a determination regarding the company's proposed decision to acquire electric generation or enter into a power purchase agreement for electricity that complies with the greenhouse gases emissions performance standard established under section 7 of this act, as to the need for the resource, and the appropriateness of the specific resource selected. The commission shall take into consideration factors such as the company's forecasted loads, need for energy, power plant technology, expected costs, and other associated investment decisions. In addition, the commission shall provide for recovery of the prudently incurred capital and operating cost of these resources and may impose such conditions as it finds necessary to ensure that rates are fair, just, reasonable, and sufficient, coincident with the in-service date of the project or the effective date of the power purchase agreement.

(6) An electrical company may account for and defer for later consideration by the commission costs incurred in connection with the long-term financial commitment, including operating and maintenance costs, depreciation, taxes, and cost of invested capital. The deferral begins with the date on which the power plant begins commercial operation or the effective date of the power purchase agreement and ends on the effective date of the final decision by the commission regarding recovery in rates of these deferred costs. Creation of such a deferral account does not by itself determine whether recovery of any or all of these costs is appropriate.

(7) In establishing rates for each electrical company regulated under chapter 80.28 RCW, the commission shall adopt policies allowing an additional return on investments to encourage meeting energy requirements through distributed generation as defined in RCW 19.285.030, and to accelerate efficiencies in electric transmission and distribution systems that increase reliability and reduce energy losses or otherwise increase the efficiency of energy delivery to end-use consumers. These policies shall include but are not limited to adding an increment of two percent to the rate of return on common equity permitted on an electrical company's other investments for prudently incurred investments in distributed generation, and in measures that improve, as measured in kilowatt-hour savings, the overall efficiency of transmission, distribution, and end-use consumption of electricity through energy efficiency technologies, including any device, instrument, machine, appliance, or process related to the transmission, distribution, and consumption of electricity to increase energy efficiency, including but not limited to smart grid technology, smart meters, and demand response technologies. The rate of return increment must be allowed for a period, at the commission's discretion, of at least seven but not more than thirty years after the investment is first placed in the rate base. Measures or projects encouraged under this section are those for which construction or installation is begun after July 1, 2007, and before January 1, 2017, and which, at the time they are placed in the rate base, are reasonably expected to save, produce, or generate energy at a total incremental system cost per unit of energy delivered to end use that is less than or equal to the incremental system cost per unit of energy delivered to end use from new baseload or peaking electric generation and that the electrical company could acquire to meet energy demand in the same time period.

(8) The commission shall apply the procedures adopted by the department to verify the emissions of greenhouse gases from baseload electric generation under section 7 of this act.

(9) The commission shall adopt rules for the enforcement of this section with respect to electrical companies and adopt procedural rules for approving costs incurred by an electrical company under subsection (4) of this section.

(10) The commission shall adopt the rules necessary to implement this section by June 30, 2008.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 9. (1) No consumer-owned utility may enter into a long-term financial commitment unless the baseload electric generation supplied under such a long-term financial commitment complies with the greenhouse gases emissions performance standard established under section 7 of this act.

(2) The governing board of a consumer-owned utility shall review and make a determination on any long-term financial commitment by the utility, pursuant to this chapter, to determine whether the baseload electric generation to be supplied under that long-term financial commitment complies with the greenhouse gases emissions performance standard established under section 7 of this act. No consumer-owned utility may enter into a long-term financial commitment unless the baseload electric generation to be supplied under that long-term financial commitment complies with the greenhouse gases emissions performance standard established under section 7 of this act.

(3) In confirming that a long-term financial commitment is for baseload electric generation, the governing board shall consider the design of the power plant and the intended use of the power plant based upon the electricity purchase contract, if any, permits necessary for the operation of the power plant, and any other matter the governing board determines is relevant under the circumstances.

(4) The governing board may provide a case-by-case exemption from the greenhouse gases emissions performance standard to address: (a) Unanticipated electric system reliability needs; or (b) catastrophic events or threat of significant financial harm that may arise from unforeseen circumstances.

(5) The governing board shall apply the procedures adopted by the department to verify the emissions of greenhouse gases from baseload electric generation pursuant to section 7 of this act, and may request assistance from the department in doing so.

(6) For consumer-owned utilities, the auditor is responsible for auditing compliance with this chapter and rules adopted under this chapter that apply to those utilities and the attorney general is responsible for enforcing that compliance.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 10. A new section is added to chapter 43.19 RCW to read as follows:

(1) During the biennium ending June 30, 2009, the department of general administration is authorized to purchase at least one hundred plug-in electric hybrid vehicles for state agency light duty vehicle uses, when commercially available at comparable life costs to other vehicles. The department of general administration shall assign these vehicles to departments and job functions that on average log the most miles driving light duty vehicles. The vehicles must bear a prominent designation as a plug-in electric hybrid vehicle. The department of general administration shall develop a purchasing contract under which state agencies and local governments may purchase plug-in electric hybrid vehicles.

(2) By December 31, 2009, the department of general administration shall provide a report to the transportation and energy committees of the senate and house of representatives on the acquisition of these vehicles and their operational and maintenance performance.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 11. The legislature finds and declares that greenhouse gases offset contracts, credits, and other greenhouse gases mitigation efforts are a recognized utility purpose that confers a direct benefit on the utility's ratepayers. The legislature declares that sections 1 and 2 of this act are intended to reverse the result of Okeson v. City of Seattle, No. 77888-4 (January 18, 2007), by expressly granting municipal utilities, public utility districts, and counties the statutory authority to engage in mitigation activities to offset their utility's impact on the environment from electric generation.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 12. A new section is added to chapter 35.92 RCW to read as follows:

(1) A city or town authorized to acquire and operate utilities for the purpose of furnishing the city or town and its inhabitants and other persons with water, with electricity for lighting and other purposes, or with service from sewerage, storm water, surface water, or solid waste handling facilities, may develop and make publicly available a plan to reduce its greenhouse gases emissions or achieve no-net emissions from all sources of greenhouse gases resulting from power generation that the utility owns, leases, uses, contracts for, or otherwise controls.

(2) A city or town authorized to acquire and operate utilities for the purpose of furnishing the city or town and its inhabitants and other persons with water, with electricity for lighting and other purposes, or with service from sewerage, storm water, surface water, or solid waste handling facilities, may, as part of its power generating operation, mitigate the environmental impacts, such as greenhouse gases emissions, of its operation, including any power purchases. The mitigation may include, but is not limited to, those greenhouse gases mitigation mechanisms recognized by independent, qualified organizations with proven experience in emissions mitigation activities. Mitigation mechanisms may include the purchase, trade, and banking of greenhouse gases offsets or credits. If a state greenhouse gases registry is established, a utility that has purchased, traded, or banked greenhouse gases mitigation mechanisms under this section shall receive credit in the registry.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 13. A new section is added to chapter 36.01 RCW to read as follows:

(1) A county may develop and make publicly available a plan for the county to reduce its greenhouse gases emissions or achieve no-net emissions from all power generating sources of greenhouse gases it owns, operates, leases, uses, contracts for, or otherwise controls.

(2) Any county may reduce or mitigate the environmental impacts of its power generating operations, such as emissions of greenhouse gases. The mitigation may include, but is not limited to, all greenhouse gases mitigation mechanisms recognized by independent, qualified organizations with proven experience in emissions mitigation activities. Mitigation mechanisms may include the purchase, trade, and banking of carbon offsets or credits. Ratepayer funds, fees, or other revenue dedicated to a power generating function performed by a county may be spent to reduce or mitigate the environmental impact of greenhouse gases emitted as a result of that function. If a state greenhouse gases registry is established, the county that has purchased, traded, or banked greenhouse gases mitigation mechanisms under this section shall receive credit in the registry.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 14. A new section is added to chapter 54.04 RCW to read as follows:

(1) A public utility district may develop and make publicly available a plan for the district to reduce its greenhouse gases emissions or achieve no-net emissions from all sources of greenhouse gases resulting from power generation that the district owns, leases, uses, contracts for, or otherwise controls.

(2) A public utility district may, as part of its utility power generating operation, mitigate the environmental impacts, such as greenhouse gases emissions, of its power generating operation and any power purchases. Mitigation may include, but is not limited to, those greenhouse gases mitigation mechanisms recognized by independent, qualified organizations with proven experience in emissions mitigation activities. Mitigation mechanisms may include the purchase, trade, and banking of greenhouse gases offsets or credits. If a state greenhouse gases registry is established, a public utility district that has purchased, traded, or banked greenhouse gases mitigation mechanisms under this section shall receive credit in the registry.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 15. For the purposes of sections 5 through 9 of this act, the department and the commission shall review the greenhouse gases emission performance standard established in this chapter to determine need, applicability, and effectiveness no less than every five years following the effective date of this section, or upon implementation of a federal or state law or rule regulating carbon dioxide emissions of electrical utilities, and report to the legislature.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 16. (1) The office of Washington state climatologist is created.

(2) The office of Washington state climatologist consists of the director of the office, who is the state climatologist, and appropriate staff and administrative support as necessary to carry out the powers and duties of the office as enumerated in section 17 of this act.

(3) The director of the office of Washington state climatologist must be appointed jointly by the president of Washington State University and the president of the University of Washington. The office of Washington state climatologist is administered as determined jointly by these two presidents.

Senator Parlette: "Mr. President, if this amendment has been read by the Secretary, as it says by Senate Rule 64, because it's an important issue, not just on this bill, but on all the bills that we consider that have major policy decision. We had a big hold up yesterday on the Governor's Blue Ribbon Commission bill because the Code Reviser could not keep caught up with the strikers. Those of us who were making amendments couldn't stay caught up so it slowed us down here in this process so, something to discuss in the future about rules of the Senate. Anyway, I just wondered if the Secretary of the Senate had read it? Thank you very much."

REPLY BY THE PRESIDENT

President Owen: "Senator Parlette, in responding to your point of inquiry. The issue of the Secretary reading is relevant to reading in the amendment to you. Any member can ask amendment to be read in full. The customary procedure is for the amendment to be read. When it is long, for the President to go to last line. SECOND READING

SENATE BILL NO. 6117, by Senators Fraser, Poulsen, Rockefeller, Marr, Kohl-Welles and Kline

Regarding reclaimed water.

MOTION

On motion of Senator Fraser, Second Substitute Senate Bill No. 6117 was substituted for Senate Bill No. 6117 and the second substitute bill was placed on the second reading and read the second time.

MOTION

Senator Fraser moved that the following striking amendment by Senators Fraser and Poulsen be adopted:

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

"NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. (1) Since the 1992 enactment of the reclaimed water act, the value of reclaimed water as a new source of supply has received increasing recognition across the state and across the nation. New information on the matters in this section has increased awareness of the need to better manage, protect, and conserve water resources and to use reclaimed water in that process. The legislature now finds the following:

(a) Global warming and climate change. Global warming has reduced the volume of glaciers in the North Cascade mountains to between eighteen to thirty-two percent since 1983, and up to seventy-five percent of the glaciers are at risk of disappearing under projected temperatures for this century. Mountain snow pack has declined at virtually every measurement location in the Pacific Northwest, reducing the proportion of annual river flow to Puget Sound during summer months by eighteen percent since 1948. Global warming has also shifted peak stream flows earlier in the year in watersheds covering much of Washington state, including the Columbia river basin, jeopardizing the state's salmon fisheries. The state's recent report on the economic impacts of climate change indicate that water resources will be one of the areas most affected, and that many utilities may need to invest major resources in new supply and conservation measures. Developing and implementing adaptation strategies, such as water conservation that includes the use of reclaimed water, can extend existing water supply systems to help address the global warming impacts. In particular, because reclaimed water uses existing sources of supply and fairly constant base flows of wastewater, it has year-round dependability, without regard to any given year's climate variability. This is particularly important during summer months, when outdoor demands peak and stream flows are critical for fish.

(b) Puget Sound. The governor has initiated a Puget Sound partnership, with a request for an initial strategy to address high priority problems. In December, the partnership delivered a strategy that includes expanded use of reclaimed water both in order to improve the Puget Sound's water quality by reducing wastewater discharges and by replacing current sources of supply for nonpotable uses that detrimentally affect stream flows and habitat.

(c) Salmon recovery. The federal fisheries services recently approved a salmon recovery plan for the Puget Sound, which was developed across multiple watersheds by numerous local governments, tribal governments, and other parties to achieve sustainable populations of salmon and other species. That plan includes an adaptive management component where continued efforts will be made to address issues, including problems with instream flows, identified as a limiting factor in virtually all the watersheds, through strategies that will be developed by regional and watershed implementation groups. A potentially significant strategy may be the substitution of reclaimed water for nonpotable uses where it will benefit streams and habitat.

(d) Water quality. Increasingly stringent federal standards for water quality are forcing a number of communities to develop strategies for wastewater treatment that, in addition to providing higher treatment levels, will reduce the quantity of discharges. For many of those communities, facilities to produce reclaimed water will be a necessary approach to achieve both water quality and water supply objectives.

(e) Watershed plans. Under the watershed planning act of 1997, approximately two-thirds of the watersheds in the state have used a bottoms-up approach to developing collaborative plans for meeting future water supply needs. Many of those plans include the use of reclaimed water for meeting those needs.

(f) Columbia river water management. Pursuant to legislation and funding provided in 2006, federal, state, and local governments and agencies, along with tribal governments, user groups, environmental organizations, and others are developing a comprehensive strategy for the mainstem Columbia that will ensure supplies for future growth while protecting stream flows and fish habitat. The strategy will include multiple tools that may include the potential development of new storage, conservation measures, and water use efficiency. One pathway toward conservation and efficiency is likely to be identification and implementation of reclaimed water opportunities.

(g) Development schedule. The time frame required to plan, design, construct, and begin use of reclaimed water can be extensive due to the public information and acceptance efforts required in addition to planning, design, and environmental assessment required for infrastructure projects. This extended time frame necessitates the initiation of reclaimed water projects as soon as possible.

(2) It is therefore the intent of the legislature to:

(a) Effectuate and reinvigorate the original intent behind the reclaimed water act to expand the use of reclaimed water for nonpotable uses throughout the state;

(b) Restate and emphasize the use of reclaimed water as a matter of water resource management policy;

(c) Address current barriers to the use of reclaimed water, where changes in state law will resolve such issues;

(d) Develop information from the state agencies responsible for promoting the use of reclaimed water and address regulatory, financial, planning, and other barriers to the expanded use of reclaimed water, relying on state agency expertise and experience with reclaimed water;

(e) Facilitate achieving state, regional, and local objectives through use of reclaimed water for water supply purposes in high priority areas of the state, and in regional and local watershed and water planning;

(f) Provide planning tools to local governments to incorporate reclaimed water and related water conservation into land use plans, consistent with water planning;

(g) Expand the scope of work of the advisory committee established under chapter 279, Laws of 2006 to identify other reclaimed water issues that should be addressed; and

(h) Provide initial funding, and evaluate options for providing additional direct state funding, for reclaimed water projects.

Sec. 2. RCW 90.46.005 and 2001 c 69 s 1 are each amended to read as follows:

The legislature finds that by encouraging the use of reclaimed water while assuring the health and safety of all Washington citizens and the protection of its environment, the state of Washington will continue to use water in the best interests of present and future generations.

To facilitate the immediate use of reclaimed water (~~as soon as is practicable, the legislature encourages the cooperative efforts of the public and private sectors and the use of pilot projects~~) for uses approved by the departments of ecology and health, the state shall expand both direct financial support and financial incentives for capital investments in water reuse and reclaimed water to effectuate the goals of this chapter. The legislature further directs the department of health and the department of ecology to coordinate efforts towards developing an efficient and streamlined process for creating and implementing processes for the use of reclaimed water.

It is hereby declared that the people of the state of Washington have a primary interest in the development of facilities to provide reclaimed water to replace potable water in nonpotable applications, to supplement existing surface and ground water supplies, and to assist in meeting the future water requirements of the state.

The legislature further finds and declares that the utilization of reclaimed water by local communities for domestic, agricultural, industrial, recreational, and fish and wildlife habitat creation and enhancement purposes, including wetland enhancement, will contribute to the peace, health, safety, and welfare of the people of the state of Washington. To the extent reclaimed water is appropriate for beneficial uses, it should be so used to preserve potable water for drinking purposes, contribute to the restoration and protection of instream flows that are crucial to preservation of the state's salmonid fishery resources, contribute to the restoration of Puget Sound by reducing wastewater discharge, provide a drought resistant source of water supply for nonpotable needs, and be a source of supply integrated into state, regional, and local strategies to respond to population growth and global warming. Use of reclaimed water constitutes the development of new basic water supplies needed for future generations and local and regional water management planning should consider coordination of infrastructure, development, storage, water reclamation and reuse, and source exchange as strategies to meet water demands associated with population growth and impacts of global warming.

The legislature further finds and declares that the use of reclaimed water is not inconsistent with the policy of antidegradation of state waters announced in other state statutes, including the water pollution control act, chapter 90.48 RCW and the water resources act, chapter 90.54 RCW.

The legislature finds that other states, including California, Florida, and Arizona, have successfully used reclaimed water to supplement existing water supplies without threatening existing resources or public health.

It is the intent of the legislature that the department of ecology and the department of health undertake the necessary steps to encourage the development of water reclamation facilities so that reclaimed water may be made available to help meet the growing water requirements of the state.

The legislature further finds and declares that reclaimed water facilities are water pollution control facilities as defined in chapter 70.146 RCW and are eligible for financial assistance as provided in chapter 70.146 RCW. The legislature finds that funding demonstration projects will ensure the future use of reclaimed water. The demonstration projects in RCW 90.46.110 are varied in nature and will provide the experience necessary to test different facets of the standards and refine a variety of technologies so that water purveyors can begin to use reclaimed water technology in a more cost-effective manner. This is especially critical in smaller cities and communities where the feasibility for such projects is great, but there are scarce resources to develop the necessary facilities.

The legislature further finds that the agricultural processing industry can play a critical and beneficial role in promoting the efficient use of water by having the opportunity to develop and reuse agricultural industrial process water from food processing.

Sec. 3. RCW 90.46.120 and 2003 1st sp.s. c 5 s 13 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) The owner of a wastewater treatment facility that is reclaiming water with a permit issued under this chapter has the exclusive right to any reclaimed water generated by the wastewater treatment facility. Use ~~(and)~~ distribution ~~(of the)~~ and the recovery from aquifer storage of reclaimed water by the owner of the wastewater treatment facility is exempt from the permit requirements of RCW 90.03.250 and 90.44.060. Revenues derived from the reclaimed water facility shall be used only to offset the cost of operation of the wastewater utility fund or other applicable source of system-wide funding.

(2) If the proposed use or uses of reclaimed water are intended to augment or replace potable water supplies or create the potential for the development of additional potable water supplies, such use or uses shall be considered in the development of ~~(the)~~ any regional water supply plan or plans addressing potable water supply service by multiple water purveyors. Such water supply plans include plans developed by multiple jurisdictions under the relevant provisions of chapters 43.20, 70.116, 90.44, and 90.82 RCW, and the water supply provisions under the utility element of chapter 36.70A RCW. The method by which such plans are approved shall remain unchanged. The owner of a wastewater treatment facility that proposes to reclaim water shall be included as a participant in the development of such regional water supply plan or plans.

(3) Where opportunities for the use of reclaimed water exist within the period of time addressed by a water system plan, a water supply plan, or a coordinated water system plan developed under chapters 43.20 ~~(or)~~, 70.116, 90.44, and 90.82 RCW, and the water supply provisions under the utility element of chapter 36.70A RCW, these plans must be developed and coordinated to ensure that opportunities for reclaimed water are evaluated. The requirements of this subsection (3) do not apply to water system plans developed under chapter 43.20 RCW for utilities serving less than one thousand service connections.

Sec. 4. RCW 90.46.130 and 2002 c 329 s 5 are each amended to read as follows:

(1)(a) Except as provided in subsection (2) of this section, facilities that reclaim water under this chapter shall not impair any existing water right downstream from any freshwater discharge points of such facilities unless there is compensation or mitigation for such impairment (~~(is agreed to by the holder of the affected water right)~~). For purposes of this section, there is no impairment in the following circumstances: (i) There is recovery and use of reclaimed water in lieu of discharge of wastewater, which leads to return flows to the water body in substantially the same quantity and location as a wastewater discharge previously authorized by a national pollutant discharge elimination system wastewater discharge permit or state permit; (ii) there is discharge of reclaimed water or recovery and use of reclaimed water in lieu of the discharge of wastewater into marine water; and (iii) proposals to replace failing or inadequate septic facilities with a reclaimed water facility or project that is part of a new or expanded wastewater treatment and reclaimed water facility. This presumption only applies if there is no claim of impairment by an existing downstream water right after compliance with the requirements in subsection (3) of this section.

(b) Nothing in this section may be construed as affecting or diminishing the right to use reclaimed water or the exemption from water right permit requirements provided to the owner of the wastewater treatment facility in RCW 90.46.120. Further, nothing in this section may be construed as affecting or diminishing the ability of the owner of a wastewater treatment facility to modify its facilities or discharges in order to comply with state or federal water quality standards or permit requirements under chapter 90.48 RCW.

(2) Agricultural water use of agricultural industrial process water and use of industrial reuse water under this chapter shall not impair existing water rights within the water source that is the source of supply for the agricultural processing plant or the industrial processing and, if the water source is surface water, the existing water rights are downstream from the agricultural processing plant's discharge points existing on July 22, 2001, or from the industrial processing's discharge points existing on June 13, 2002.

(3) For purposes of determining a claim of impairment under subsection (1)(a) and (b) of this section, of a downstream water right existing August 18, 1997, the applicant for a reclaimed water permit shall publish notice of an application for a permit for a reclaimed water facility in the same manner as provided for in RCW 90.48.170. If the department receives a claim of impairment within thirty days of the last publication of notice, the department shall investigate the claim of impairment and issue a written decision. The decision shall include any conditions the department finds necessary to mitigate any impairment. The decision shall be issued within one hundred eighty days and shall be appealable by any party pursuant to RCW 43.21B.310 upon the issuance of the decision or as part of the overall reclaimed water permit upon the issuance of a reclaimed water permit. This section shall not be construed as exempting a reclaimed water project from the provisions of chapter 43.21C RCW.

Sec. 5. 2006 c 279 s 3 (uncodified) is amended to read as follows:

(1) In order to identify and pursue other measures to facilitate achieving the objectives in RCW 90.46.005 for expanded, appropriate, and safe use of reclaimed water, the department of ecology and the department of health shall provide the legislature with relevant information through periodic progress reports, as provided in this section.

(2) The department of ecology (~~(must present)~~) shall provide interim reports to the appropriate committees of the legislature by January 1, 2008, and January 1, 2009, that summarize the steps taken to that date towards the final rule making required by ~~(section 1 of this act)~~ RCW 90.46.015. The reports (~~(must)~~) shall include, at a minimum, a summary of participation in the rule advisory (~~(group and)~~) committee, the topics considered by the department, and issues identified by the rule advisory committee as barriers to expanded use of reclaimed water that may not be addressed within the rules to be adopted by the department.

(3) In addition to subsection (2) of this section, the department shall form a subtask force consisting of not more than ten members chosen from the existing rule advisory committee to further identify and recommend actions to increase the promotion of reclaimed water as a water supply and water resource management option. At a minimum, the subtask force shall consider (a) issues assigned by the rule advisory committee; (b) staffing levels, resources, and roles within both state agencies; (c) optimizing organizational structure; and (d) unresolved legal issues specific to reclaimed water use. Information regarding these topics shall be appended to the required interim reports as the topics are considered by the advisory group.

Sec. 6. RCW 90.82.043 and 2003 1st sp.s. c 4 s 3 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) Within one year of accepting funding under RCW 90.82.040(2)(e), the planning unit must complete a detailed implementation plan. Submittal of a detailed implementation plan to the department is a condition of receiving grants for the second and all subsequent years of the phase four grant.

(2) Each implementation plan must contain strategies to provide sufficient water for: (a) Production agriculture; (b) commercial, industrial, and residential use; and (c) instream flows. Each implementation plan must contain timelines to achieve these strategies and interim milestones to measure progress.

(3) The implementation plan must clearly define coordination and oversight responsibilities; any needed interlocal agreements, rules, or ordinances; any needed state or local administrative approvals and permits that must be secured; and specific funding mechanisms.

(4) In developing the implementation plan, the planning unit must consult with other entities planning in the watershed management area and identify and seek to eliminate any activities or policies that are duplicative or inconsistent.

(5)(a) By December 1, 2003, and by December 1st of each subsequent year, the director of the department shall report to the appropriate legislative standing committees regarding statutory changes necessary to enable state agency approval or permit decision making needed to implement a plan approved under this chapter.

(b) Beginning with the December 1, 2007, report, and then every two years thereafter, the director shall include in each report the extent to which reclaimed water has been identified in the watershed plans as potential sources or strategies to meet future water needs, and provisions in any watershed implementation plans that discuss barriers to implementation of the water reuse elements of those plans. The department's report shall include an estimate of the potential cost of reclaimed water facilities and identification of potential sources of funding for them.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 7. (1) By January 1, 2008, the department of health shall file a brief report with the appropriate committees of the legislature on the general status of:

(a) Development of permit fees for industrial and commercial uses of reclaimed water as required by RCW 90.46.030;

(b) Development of standards and guidelines for greywater use as required by RCW 90.46.140; and

(c) Permitting of greywater use by local health officers and plumbing officials in accordance with standards and guidelines developed pursuant to RCW 90.46.140.

(2) The report shall also identify:

(a) A general description of the number, type, and location of reclaimed water opportunities included in water supply and coordinated water system plans since 2003, as required by RCW 90.46.140;

SIXTY-SECOND DAY, MARCH 10, 2007

(b) The best information currently available regarding potential public health risks associated with reclaimed water, if any, any known occurrences of any public health incidents associated with reclaimed water use, the approaches to reclaimed water-related public health issues taken in other states, and resource needs of the department to evaluate any known public health risks; and

(c) A description of a basic public information and public acceptance program necessary to generate public support for the beneficial use of reclaimed water.

(3) In order to ensure brevity of the report, the department should include references to existing documents, reports, internet sites, and other sources of detailed information on the foregoing issues.

Sec. 8. RCW 90.54.020 and 1997 c 442 s 201 are each amended to read as follows:

Utilization and management of the waters of the state shall be guided by the following general declaration of fundamentals:

(1) Uses of water for domestic, stock watering, industrial, commercial, agricultural, irrigation, hydroelectric power production, mining, fish and wildlife maintenance and enhancement, recreational, and thermal power production purposes, and preservation of environmental and aesthetic values, and all other uses compatible with the enjoyment of the public waters of the state, are declared to be beneficial.

(2) Allocation of waters among potential uses and users shall be based generally on the securing of the maximum net benefits for the people of the state. Maximum net benefits shall constitute total benefits less costs including opportunities lost.

(3) The quality of the natural environment shall be protected and, where possible, enhanced as follows:

(a) Perennial rivers and streams of the state shall be retained with base flows necessary to provide for preservation of wildlife, fish, scenic, aesthetic and other environmental values, and navigational values. Lakes and ponds shall be retained substantially in their natural condition. Withdrawals of water which would conflict therewith shall be authorized only in those situations where it is clear that overriding considerations of the public interest will be served.

(b) Waters of the state shall be of high quality. Regardless of the quality of the waters of the state, all wastes and other materials and substances proposed for entry into said waters shall be provided with all known, available, and reasonable methods of treatment prior to entry. Notwithstanding that standards of quality established for the waters of the state would not be violated, wastes and other materials and substances shall not be allowed to enter such waters which will reduce the existing quality thereof, except in those situations where it is clear that overriding considerations of the public interest will be served. Technology-based effluent limitations or standards for discharges for municipal water treatment plants located on the Chehalis, Columbia, Cowlitz, Lewis, or Skagit river shall be adjusted to reflect credit for substances removed from the plant intake water if:

(i) The municipality demonstrates that the intake water is drawn from the same body of water into which the discharge is made; and

(ii) The municipality demonstrates that no violation of receiving water quality standards or appreciable environmental degradation will result.

(4) The development of multipurpose water storage facilities shall be a high priority for programs of water allocation, planning, management, and efficiency. The department, other state agencies, local governments, and planning units formed under section 107 or 108 of this act shall evaluate the potential for the development of new storage projects and the benefits and effects of storage in reducing damage to stream banks and property, increasing the use of land, providing water for municipal, industrial, agricultural, power generation, and other beneficial uses, and improving stream flow regimes for fisheries and other instream uses.

(5) Adequate and safe supplies of water shall be preserved and protected in potable condition to satisfy human domestic needs.

(6) Multiple-purpose impoundment structures are to be preferred over single-purpose structures. Due regard shall be given to means and methods for protection of fishery resources in the planning for and construction of water impoundment structures and other artificial obstructions.

(7) Federal, state, and local governments, individuals, corporations, groups and other entities shall be encouraged to carry out practices of conservation as they relate to the use of the waters of the state. In addition to traditional development approaches, improved water use efficiency ~~(and)~~, conservation, and use of reclaimed water shall be emphasized in the management of the state's water resources and in some cases will be a potential new source of water with which to meet future needs throughout the state. Use of reclaimed water should be employed through state and local planning and programs with incentives for state financial assistance recognizing programs and plans that encourage the use of conservation and reclaimed water use, and state agencies shall continue to review and reduce regulatory barriers and streamline permitting for the use of reclaimed water where appropriate.

(8) Development of water supply systems, whether publicly or privately owned, which provide water to the public generally in regional areas within the state shall be encouraged. Development of water supply systems for multiple domestic use which will not serve the public generally shall be discouraged where water supplies are available from water systems serving the public.

(9) Full recognition shall be given in the administration of water allocation and use programs to the natural interrelationships of surface and ground waters.

(10) Expressions of the public interest will be sought at all stages of water planning and allocation discussions.

(11) Water management programs, including but not limited to, water quality, flood control, drainage, erosion control and storm runoff are deemed to be in the public interest.

Sec. 9. RCW 90.54.180 and 1989 c 348 s 5 are each amended to read as follows:

Consistent with the fundamentals of water resource policy set forth in this chapter, state and local governments, individuals, corporations, groups and other entities shall be encouraged to carry out water use efficiency and conservation programs and practices consistent with the following:

(1) Water efficiency and conservation programs should utilize an appropriate mix of economic incentives, cost share programs, regulatory programs, and technical and public information efforts. Programs which encourage voluntary participation are preferred.

(2) Increased water use efficiency and reclaimed water should receive consideration as a potential source of water in state and local water resource planning processes. In determining the cost-effectiveness of alternative water sources, consideration should be given to the benefits of conservation, waste water recycling, and impoundment of waters. Where reclaimed water is a feasible replacement source of water, it shall be used by state agencies and state facilities for nonpotable water uses in lieu of the use of potable water. For purposes of this requirement, feasible replacement source means (a) the reclaimed water is of adequate quality and quantity for the proposed use; (b) the proposed use is approved by the departments of ecology and health; (c) the reclaimed water can be reliably supplied by a local public agency or public water system; and (d) the cost of the reclaimed water is reasonable relative to the costs of conservation or other potentially available supplies of potable water, after taking into account all costs and benefits, including environmental costs and benefits.

(3) In determining the cost-effectiveness of alternative water sources, full consideration should be given to the benefits of storage which can reduce the damage to stream banks and property, increase the utilization of land, provide water for municipal, industrial, agricultural, and other beneficial uses, provide for the generation of electric power from renewable resources, and improve stream flow regimes for fishery and other instream uses.

(4) Entities receiving state financial assistance for construction of water source expansion or acquisition of new sources shall develop, and implement if cost-effective, a water use efficiency and conservation element of a water supply plan pursuant to RCW 43.20.230(1).

(5) State programs to improve water use efficiency should focus on those areas of the state in which water is overappropriated; areas that experience diminished streamflows or aquifer levels; regional areas that the governor has identified as high priority for investments in improved water quality and quantity, including the Spokane river, the Columbia river basin, and the Puget Sound; areas most likely to be affected by global warming; and areas where projected water needs, including those for instream flows, exceed available supplies.

(6) Existing and future generations of citizens of the state of Washington should be made aware of the importance of the state's water resources and the need for wise and efficient use and development of this vital resource. In order to increase this awareness, state agencies should integrate public ((education)) information programs on increasing water use efficiency into existing public information efforts. This effort shall be coordinated with other levels of government, including local governments and Indian tribes.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 10. A new section is added to chapter 58.17 RCW to read as follows:

In determining whether a proposed short plat, short subdivision, or subdivision meets the requirements for potable water supplies as required under RCW 58.17.060 or 58.17.110, and otherwise serves the public use and interest, the city, town, or county may require:

(1) Conformance to any water conservation ordinances or plans adopted by the city, town, or county;

(2) Use of water conservation measures consistent with any regional watershed plan adopted under chapter 90.82 RCW, or any regional water supply plan as described in RCW 90.46.120 if the city or county determines that the measures contained within such a regional supply plan conform to its respective conservation ordinances and water, sewer, and comprehensive land use plan; and

(3) Use of reclaimed water where potable water is not required, if it is consistent with any applicable local ordinance adopted for water reuse or use of reclaimed water.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 11. A new section is added to chapter 90.46 RCW to read as follows:

(1) The department of ecology shall establish a subtask force from the existing rule advisory committee by July 31, 2007, composed of no more than ten members including a representative from the department of ecology, who shall serve as chair, a representative from the department of health, and representatives from city, county, and water-sewer district utilities, and the environmental and business communities. By January 1, 2008, the subtask force shall submit to the appropriate legislative committees a recommendation for a long-term dedicated funding program to construct reclaimed water facilities. To minimize the administrative burden, the subtask force shall work toward a coordinated effort with the current clean water state revolving fund and centennial clean water fund integrated program under which reclaimed water projects with a water quality benefit are currently eligible and shall review the "2006 Inventory of State Infrastructure Programs" produced by the joint legislative audit and review committee. The subtask force shall also review current existing conservation and water reuse plans or programs for cities, counties, and districts and provide a report to the appropriate legislative committees regarding the number, general nature, and extent that conservation and reclaimed water use is identified or incorporated into such plans. The subtask force also shall consider, and recommend, provisions on the inclusion of reclaimed water use criteria or requirements as an element of water use efficiency requirements required under RCW 70.119A.180 and for water system, public water system, and/or regional water plans as required under chapters 43.20 and 70.119 RCW.

(2) The recommendation shall provide a comprehensive funding, loan, and grant program that includes the following:

(a) Eligibility requirements: Eligible components should include the additional water reclamation components to treat wastewater effluent to reclaimed water standards, distribution pump stations, storage, trunk lines, and distribution lines, and multiple-purpose projects in proportion to the costs allocated to reclaimed water;

(b) Competitive process for funding: The funding should be competitive and establish a maximum percentage or maximum funding amount available to any applicant;

(c) Priorities for funding that target reclaimed water projects ready to proceed, local support for the project, projects in areas that have adopted mandatory use ordinances or letters of intent to execute user contracts, projects providing broader public benefits to environmental water quality or water resource needs such as Puget Sound restoration, Columbia river water management strategies, water quality improvements, wetlands habitat, and instream flows, projects with benefits that clearly extend to citizens other than the utility ratepayers; and

(d) A proposed grant program for projects in identified high priority areas.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 12. A new section is added to chapter 90.46 RCW to read as follows:

(1) The legislature finds that the state should take a lead in increasing the visibility of the use of reclaimed water.

(2) The department of general administration shall develop a proposal to provide a comprehensive campus-wide plan for the use of nonpotable water in lieu of the use of potable water for irrigation and related outdoor uses, to serve as a demonstration project for the use of reclaimed water. The department of general administration shall work with the city of Olympia to provide a report to the legislature by December 1, 2007, of the needed infrastructure, cost, and potential funding sources for the project."

Senator Fraser spoke in favor of adoption of the striking amendment.

MOTION

On motion of Senator Eide, further consideration of Second Substitute Senate Bill No. 6117 was deferred and the bill held its place on the second reading calendar.

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Stevens: "I just would like to pass the word on to the members. Senator Roach, I know, would appreciate your prayers. She is on her way to her father. He is dying so I just thought it would be nice if all you would remember her in your prayers over the weekend. They don't know the time of course but it is imminent. Thank you."

"PART 1

SIXTY-SECOND DAY, MARCH 10, 2007

PUGET SOUND PARTNERSHIPNEW SECTION. Sec. 101. FINDINGS AND INTENT.

(1) The legislature finds that Puget Sound and related inland marine waterways, such as the Strait of Juan de Fuca and Hood Canal, and the lakes, rivers, and streams that flow to them represent a unique and unparalleled resource to the state of Washington with a rich and varied range of freshwater and marine organisms, comprising an interdependent, sensitive communal ecosystem. Residents of this region enjoy a way of life centered around these waters, featuring accessible recreational opportunities, world-class port facilities and water transportation systems, harvest of marine food resources, shoreline-oriented life styles, water-dependent industries, tourism, irreplaceable aesthetics, water for domestic, agricultural, and industrial uses, and other activities, all of which depend upon clean and healthy marine and freshwater resources.

(2) The legislature finds that Puget Sound is in serious decline. Symptoms include the decline of some of our most revered species, such as salmon and orcas; increase in aquatic nuisance species; and the conversion of forest lands to cityscapes, which has negatively impacted many birds and mammals, along with altering the flow of rivers and streams. These flow changes begin from land and run to sea, carrying polluted runoff from human development. Closures of beaches to shellfish harvest due to the risk of disease have become more frequent and widespread. In places such as Hood Canal, the Sound's circulatory system is failing, and its inability to maintain sufficient oxygen levels has led to devastating fish kills and the death of other marine life. If left unchecked, these conditions will increase in frequency and will spread to other areas of Puget Sound.

(3) The legislature finds that the current system of governance for protection and restoration of Puget Sound is highly fragmented. Twelve counties, more than one hundred cities, seventeen tribes, numerous state and federal agencies, as well as hundreds of special purpose governmental units have responsibilities for managing land use and other actions that benefit or diminish the quality of the environment. Private organizations, business, and citizens are also taking actions that both benefit and harm the rich natural resources of the region. The legislature recognizes that all levels of government need to work together in partnership with the public, tribes, nongovernmental organizations, and the private sector to ensure that Puget Sound will be a thriving natural system, with clean marine and freshwaters; clean sediments; healthy and abundant native species; natural shorelines and places for public enjoyment; and a vibrant economy that prospers in productive harmony with a healthy Puget Sound.

(4) The legislature intends for the Puget Sound partnership to define a strategic, basin-wide plan that prioritizes necessary actions, and create an approach that addresses all of the complex connections among the land, water, web of species, and human needs.

(5) The legislature finds that immediate and concerted action is needed to save the national treasure that is Puget Sound, and that we must fundamentally change our approach toward restoring the health of Puget Sound. To this end, the Puget Sound partnership is tasked with using, supporting, building upon, and unifying the existing efforts from organizations and from all levels of government.

(6) The legislature finds that leadership, accountability, government transparency, thoughtful and responsible spending of public funds, and public involvement are integral to success. To achieve this success, the legislature intends to task the Puget Sound partnership with coordinating and leading the Puget Sound restoration effort, determining accountability for performance, overseeing the efficiency and effectiveness of money spent, educating and engaging the public, and tracking and reporting results to the legislature, the governor, and the public.

(7) The legislature intends that the Puget Sound partnership not have regulatory authority, nor authority to transfer the responsibility for, or implementation of, any state regulatory program, unless otherwise specifically authorized by the legislature. The legislature further recognizes that adequate funding is necessary to ensure Puget Sound restoration and protection. The Puget Sound partnership is tasked with supporting local governments and organizations by aiding, funding, and improving upon their existing efforts, by respecting local governments' authorities, and by identifying, funding, and closing the gaps in the collective efforts.

(8) The legislature intends the Puget Sound partnership to create an action agenda based on science that includes clear, measurable goals for the recovery of Puget Sound by 2020. The action agenda will prioritize necessary actions, both across the Sound and within specific geographical areas, such as Hood Canal.

(9) To this end, it is the goal of the state of Washington that the health of Puget Sound be restored by 2020.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 105. PUGET SOUND SCIENCE PANEL. (1) The Puget Sound science panel is created. The panel consists of the scientists selected as provided in subsection (2) of this section. The principal purpose of the panel is to provide independent, nonrepresentational scientific expertise in developing environmental indicators and benchmarks for incorporation into the 2020 plan.

(2) By November 1, 2007, the council shall solicit nominations of candidate scientists with recognized expertise in the fields essential to Puget Sound recovery, including water quality, wetlands, species recovery, environmental toxicology, geology, ecology, biology, limnology, wildlife management, environmental engineering, civil engineering, hydrology, oceanography, environmental economics, and social sciences. The solicitation should be to all sectors, and candidates may be from all public and private sectors. Candidates must disclose any financial relationship with any leadership council member, and disclose sources of current financial support and contracts relating to Puget Sound recovery.

(3) The council shall submit the nominations to the Washington state academy of sciences created in chapter 70.220 RCW for screening. The academy shall review the nominations and report its findings and recommendations to the council.

(4) Thereafter, the council shall select not more than fifteen candidates to serve on the panel. The council shall complete the selection of the panel members by January 1, 2008.

(5) The panel shall select a chair and a vice-chair. Panel members shall serve four-year terms, except that the panel shall determine initial terms of two, three, four, and five years to provide for staggered terms. The panel shall determine reappointments and select replacements or additional members of the panel. No panel member may serve longer than twelve years.

(6) The executive director of the partnership shall provide staff to the panel at least until July 1, 2009. It is the intent of the legislature to ensure ongoing funding for staffing of the panel as an independent entity. The panel shall provide to the council a proposal for the structure and funding of the staffing and administration of the panel independent from that of the partnership, by October 1, 2008. The council shall forward to the governor for inclusion in the 2009-2011 biennial budget a proposal for staffing and administration of the panel that is independent of the partnership.

(7) The executive director of the partnership and the science panel shall explore a shared state and federal responsibility for the staffing and administration of the panel. In the event that a federally sponsored office of Puget Sound recovery is created, the council may propose that such office provide for staffing and administration of the panel.

(8) The panel to the maximum extent possible should seek to integrate the state-sponsored Puget Sound science program with the Puget Sound science activities of federal agencies, including working toward an integrated research agenda and Puget Sound science work plan.

(9) By July 31, 2008, the panel shall identify environmental indicators of the health of Puget Sound, and shall establish environmental benchmarks that need to be achieved to meet the goals of a healthy Puget Sound by 2020. The council shall confer with the panel on incorporating the benchmarks into the 2020 plan.

(10) The panel shall assist the council in developing and revising the action agenda, including making recommendations to the council for updates or revisions.

(11) The panel shall develop an ecosystem level strategic science program for incorporation by the council into the 2020 plan and biennial action agenda. The program should include:

(a) Continuation of the Puget Sound assessment and monitoring program established in the Puget Sound management plan, as provided in RCW 90.71.060, and cooperation with other entities in other regional monitoring programs;

(b) Additional provisions of the research and modeling program to be included as an element of the action agenda;

(c) A monitoring program, including baselines, protocols, guidelines, and quantifiable performance measures.

(12) The panel shall assist the executive director in preparing a biennial science work plan for inclusion in the action agenda. The plan shall include but not be limited to:

(a) Identification of recommendations from scientific and technical reports relating to Puget Sound;

(b) A description of the Puget Sound-related activities being conducted in the region;

(c) Identification of specific biennial science work to be done over the course of the work plan; and

(d) Recommendations for improvements to the ongoing science work in Puget Sound.

(13) The panel shall prepare a Puget Sound science update. The update shall describe the current scientific understanding of the physical attributes of Puget Sound. The update shall serve as the scientific basis for the refinement of environmental indicators of the health of Puget Sound and the status and trends of those indicators within an ecosystem framework.

(14) Members of the panel shall be reimbursed for travel expenses under RCW 43.03.050 and 43.03.060, and based upon the availability of funds, the council may contract with members of the panel for compensation for their services under chapter 39.29 RCW. If appointees to the committee are employed by the federal, state, tribal, or local governments, the council may enter into interagency personnel agreements.

Sec. 106. RCW 90.71.060 and 1996 c 138 s 7 are each amended to read as follows:

In addition to other powers and duties specified in this chapter, the ~~((action team))~~ executive director, under guidance from the panel, shall ensure implementation and coordination of the Puget Sound ambient monitoring program established in the Puget Sound management plan. The program shall include, at a minimum:

(1) A research program, including but not limited to methods to provide current research information to managers and scientists, and to establish priorities based on the needs of the action team;

(2) A monitoring program, including baselines, protocols, guidelines, and ~~((quantifiable performance measures. In consultation with state agencies, local and tribal governments, and other public and private interests, the action team shall develop and track quantifiable performance measures))~~ environmental indicators. The environmental indicators and benchmarks established by the council and the panel shall be monitored and evaluated in a manner that can be used by the governor and the legislature to assess the effectiveness over time of programs and actions initiated under the plan to improve and protect Puget Sound water quality and biological resources.

SIXTY-SECOND DAY, MARCH 10, 2007

2007 REGULAR SESSION

~~((The performance measures shall be developed by June 30, 1997. The performance measures shall include, but not be limited to a methodology to track the progress of: Fish and wildlife habitat; sites with sediment contamination; wetlands; shellfish beds; and other key indicators of Puget Sound health. State agencies shall assist the action team in the development and tracking of these performance measures. The performance measures may be limited to a selected geographic area.))~~

NEW SECTION. Sec. 107. 2020 PLAN AND ACTION AGENDA--GOALS AND OBJECTIVES. (1) The Puget Sound 2020 plan and action agenda that are to be implemented under this chapter shall be organized to achieve the following goals:

(a) A healthy human population supported by a healthy Puget Sound that is not threatened by changes in the ecosystem;

(b) A quality of human life that is sustained by a functioning Puget Sound ecosystem;

(c) Healthy and sustaining populations of native species in Puget Sound, including a robust food web;

(d) A healthy Puget Sound where freshwater, estuary, nearshore, marine, and upland habitats are protected, restored, and sustained;

(e) An ecosystem that is supported by ground water levels as well as river and stream flow levels sufficient to sustain people, fish, and wildlife, and the natural functions of the environment;

(f) Fresh and marine waters and sediments that meet state standards and that are of a sufficient quality so that the waters in the region are safe for drinking, swimming, shellfish harvest and consumption, and other human uses and enjoyment, and are not harmful to the native or established marine mammals, fish, birds, shellfish, and other biota of the region.

(2) The following are the essential objectives to be addressed in the 2020 plan and action agenda for achieving the goals in subsection (1) of this section:

(a) Protect existing habitat and prevent further losses;

(b) Restore habitat functions and values;

(c) Significantly reduce toxics entering Puget Sound fresh and marine waters;

(d) Significantly reduce nutrients and pathogens entering Puget Sound fresh and marine waters;

(e) Improve water quality and habitat by managing storm water runoff;

(f) Provide water for people, fish and wildlife, and the environment;

(g) Protect ecosystem biodiversity and recover imperiled species; and

(h) Build and sustain the capacity for action.

(3) The plan and action agenda shall recognize that both population growth in many communities on and near Puget Sound, as well as climate change, will present significant challenges to the recovery of Puget Sound, and the probability of impacts from both should be considered and addressed in the development and implementation of the 2020 plan and action agenda.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 108. 2020 PLAN AND ACTION AGENDA--DEVELOPMENT. In developing the 2020 plan and action agenda, the council shall consider and use appropriate portions of the Puget Sound water quality management plan existing on the effective date of this section. Until the 2020 plan and action agenda are adopted, the existing Puget Sound management plan and the 2007-09 Puget Sound biennial plan shall remain in effect. The existing Puget Sound management plan shall also continue to serve as the comprehensive conservation and management plan for the purposes of the national estuary program described in section 320 of the federal clean water act, until replaced by the 2020 plan and approved by the United States environmental protection agency as the new comprehensive conservation and management plan.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 109. INCORPORATING PLANS AND PROJECTS. (1) The council shall develop the action agenda in part upon the foundation of existing watershed programs and regional plans that contribute to the health of Puget Sound. To ensure a full consideration of these watershed activities in a timely manner to meet the required date for adoption of the agenda provided in section 112 of this act, the council shall rely largely upon local watershed entities, tribes, cities, counties, special purpose districts, and the private sector, engaged in developing and implementing these programs.

(2) The council shall organize the work of incorporating watershed programs into the action agenda by delineating geographic subregions of Puget Sound. One of the subregions shall be the Hood Canal aquatic rehabilitation zone as established in RCW 90.88.010. The subregions collectively shall cover all of Puget Sound and each subregion shall be denominated a Puget Sound action area. The council shall make geographic delineations based upon the characteristics of Puget Sound considering the water flows and the physical structure of the bottom of Puget Sound, as well as the commonality of interests and restoration challenges presented in the various regions of the Sound.

(3) The executive director shall designate a member of the staff to serve as the liaison to each action area. The area liaisons shall work with the sponsors of relevant programs at the watershed and regional level to identify and compile all of the relevant actions from these programs into area action plans for consideration by the council. If recognized by the council under section 110 of this act, the liaison shall work with the area coordinating entity to carry out this compilation. If no entity is recognized, the liaison shall form an inclusive work group to carry out this compilation, and shall request the participation at a minimum of each county, tribe, and each city with a population exceeding fifty thousand people, and any cities discharging storm water or treated municipal waste water to Puget Sound or discharging to a tributary within ten river miles of the Sound.

(4) The compilation shall be assembled to identify the applicable plan elements, projects, and programs, together with estimated budgets, timelines, and proposed funding sources. The compilation may include a prioritization among the plan elements, projects, and programs. In order to provide the council an adequate opportunity to consider the compilation for incorporation into the 2009-11 action agenda, the first compilation should be transmitted to the council by July 1, 2008. These plans shall subsequently be updated and submitted to the council by July 1st of every even-numbered year through 2018.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 110. AREA COORDINATING ENTITIES. (1) The council may recognize an existing entity or an entity formed for the express purpose of collaborating with the Puget Sound partnership and the council in developing and implementing the action agenda. A recognized entity serves as the area coordinating entity within an action area delineated by the council. The Hood Canal coordinating council under chapter 90.88 RCW is recognized as the area coordinating entity for the Hood Canal action area. The council shall work toward recognizing an entity in each action area by December 31, 2009.

(2) The council shall determine whether to recognize an entity based upon:

(a) The evidence of area-wide support for an entity proposed for recognition, such as resolutions or letters of support from the governing bodies of counties, cities, special purpose districts, tribes, nongovernmental organizations, and the private sector, implementing or participating in watershed programs in the area; and

(b) The demonstration of the entity's capacity to assist the council in coordinating and integrating watershed programs in the development and implementation of the action agenda.

(3) The council may provide financial and technical assistance to a recognized entity or to watershed interests working to form an entity proposed to be recognized as an area coordinating entity. The assistance shall be provided through a memorandum of agreement setting forth the activities of the entity in assisting the council in the development and implementation of the action agenda. The council shall include in its biennial budget request the needed funding to support the work of area coordinating entities.

(4) Following compilation of existing watershed plans under section 109 of this act, an area coordinating entity serves to promote coordination and integration of watershed plans that address the same geographic areas and the same watershed health, water quality, species recovery, and environmental restoration needs. The coordinator also serves to advise the council on agenda implementation and revisions, and to coordinate the recommendations of area jurisdictions and interests regarding agenda implementation.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 111. COORDINATING EXISTING PROGRAMS REGARDING PUGET SOUND ECOSYSTEM-LEVEL ACTIONS. (1) The council shall convene a Puget Sound ecosystem work group not later than October 1, 2007. The work group chair shall rotate annually in the following order:

- (a) The commissioner of public lands, or the commissioner's designee;
- (b) The director of the department of ecology, or the director's designee;
- (c) The director of the department of fish and wildlife, or the director's designee; and
- (d) The chair of the salmon recovery funding board, or the chair's designee.

(2) The chair shall invite the following to participate on the work group:

(a) The departments of ecology, natural resources, fish and wildlife, health, and community, trade, and economic development, the conservation commission, and the salmon recovery funding board;

Sec. 203. RCW 43.155.070 and 2001 c 131 s 5 are each amended to read as follows:

2007 REGULAR SESSION

(3) In considering awarding loans for public facilities to special districts requesting funding for a proposed facility located in a county, city, or town planning under RCW 36.70A.040, the board shall consider whether the county, city, or town planning under RCW 36.70A.040 in whose planning jurisdiction the proposed facility is located has adopted a comprehensive plan and development regulations as required by RCW 36.70A.040.

(4) The board shall develop a priority process for public works projects as provided in this section. The intent of the priority process is to maximize the value of public works projects accomplished with assistance under this chapter. The board shall attempt to assure a geographical balance in assigning priorities to projects. The board shall consider at least the following factors in assigning a priority to a project:

(a) Whether the local government receiving assistance has experienced severe fiscal distress resulting from natural disaster or emergency public works needs;

(b) The evaluation of Puget Sound applications under section 204 of this act, and the recommendations of the council regarding Puget Sound applications;

(c) Whether the project is critical in nature and would affect the health and safety of a great number of citizens;

~~((f))~~ (d) The cost of the project compared to the size of the local government and amount of loan money available;

~~((g))~~ (e) The number of communities served by or funding the project;

~~((h))~~ (f) Whether the project is located in an area of high unemployment, compared to the average state unemployment;

~~((j))~~ (h) The relative benefit of the project to the community, considering the present level of economic activity in the community and the existing local capacity to increase local economic activity in communities that have low economic growth; and

~~((k))~~ (i) Other criteria that the board considers advisable.

(5) Existing debt or financial obligations of local governments shall not be refinanced under this chapter. Each local government applicant shall provide documentation of attempts to secure additional local or other sources of funding for each public works project for which financial assistance is sought under this chapter.

(6) Before November 1st of each year, the board shall develop and submit to the appropriate fiscal committees of the senate and house of representatives a description of the loans made under RCW 43.155.065, 43.155.068, and subsection (9) of this section during the preceding fiscal year and a prioritized list of projects which are recommended for funding by the legislature, including one copy to the staff of each of the committees. The list shall include, but not be limited to, a description of each project and recommended financing, the terms and conditions of the loan or financial guarantee, the local government jurisdiction and unemployment rate, demonstration of the jurisdiction's critical need for the project and documentation of local funds being used to finance the public works project. The list shall also include measures of fiscal capacity for each jurisdiction recommended for financial assistance, compared to authorized limits and state averages, including local government sales taxes; real estate excise taxes; property taxes; and charges for or taxes on sewerage, water, garbage, and other utilities.

(7) The board shall not sign contracts or otherwise financially obligate funds from the public works assistance account before the legislature has appropriated funds for a specific list of public works projects. The legislature may remove projects from the list recommended by the board. The legislature shall not change the order of the priorities recommended for funding by the board.

(2) The board shall provide the evaluation team's evaluations and award proposals to the council for review. If the council determines that the award proposals are inconsistent with the priorities and provisions of the Puget Sound 2020 plan, the council shall provide its recommendations to the board for its consideration before adopting a funding list for recommendation to the legislature. If the board determines to fund a proposal that the council has found inconsistent with the priorities of the action agenda, the board shall provide the council its reasons.

Sec. 3. RCW 51.32.090 and 1993 c 521 s 3, 1993 c 299 s 1, and 1993 c 271 s 1 are each reenacted and amended to read as follows:

The physician shall then determine whether the worker is physically able to perform the work described. The worker's temporary total disability payments shall continue until the worker is released by his or her physician for the work, and begins the work with the employer of injury. If the work thereafter comes to an end before the worker's recovery is sufficient in the judgment of his or her physician to permit him or her to return to his or her usual job, or to perform other available work offered by the employer of injury, the worker's temporary total disability payments shall be resumed. Should the available work described, once undertaken by the worker, impede his or her recovery to the extent that in the judgment of his or her physician he or she should not continue to work, the worker's temporary total disability payments shall be resumed when the worker ceases such work.

(b) Once the worker returns to work under the terms of this subsection (4), he or she shall not be assigned by the employer to work other than the available work described without the worker's written consent, or without prior review and approval by the worker's physician.

(c) If the worker returns to work under this subsection (4), any employee health and welfare benefits that the worker was receiving at the time of injury shall continue or be resumed at the level provided at the time of injury. Such benefits shall not be continued or resumed if to do so is inconsistent with the terms of the benefit program, or with the terms of the collective bargaining agreement currently in force.

(d) In the event of any dispute as to the worker's ability to perform the available work offered by the employer, the department shall make the final determination.

(5) No worker shall receive compensation for or during the day on which injury was received or the three days following the same, unless his or her disability shall continue for a period of fourteen consecutive calendar days from date of injury: PROVIDED, That attempts to return to work in the first fourteen days following the injury shall not serve to break the continuity of the period of disability if the disability continues fourteen days after the injury occurs.

(6) Should a worker suffer a temporary total disability and should his or her employer at the time of the injury continue to pay him or her the wages which he or she was earning at the time of such injury, such injured worker shall not receive any payment provided in subsection (1) of this section during the period his or her employer shall so pay such wages.

However, if the monthly payment computed under this subsection (7)(b) is greater than one hundred percent of the wages of the worker as determined under RCW 51.08.178, the monthly payment due to the worker shall be equal to the greater of the monthly wages of the worker or the minimum benefit set forth in this section on June 30, 2008.

(1) For the purposes of RCW 90.14.130 through 90.14.180, "sufficient cause" shall be defined as the nonuse of all or a portion of the water by the owner of a water right for a period of five or more consecutive years where such nonuse occurs as a result of:

- (a) Drought, or other unavailability of water;
- (b) Active service in the armed forces of the United States during military crisis;
- (c) Nonvoluntary service in the armed forces of the United States;

(k) The reduced use of irrigation water resulting from crop rotation. For purposes of this subsection, crop rotation means the temporary change in the type of crops grown resulting from the exercise of generally recognized sound farming practices. (g) If such a right or portion of the right is authorized for a purpose that is satisfied by the use of agricultural industrial process water as authorized under RCW 90.46.150; ~~((or))~~

(i) If such a right or portion of the right is authorized for a purpose that is satisfied by the use of reclaimed water as authorized under the provisions of RCW 90.46.150.

Modifying absentee ballot and related election provisions.

The measure was read the second time.

MOTION

Senator Oemig moved that the following striking amendment by Senator Oemig and others be adopted:

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

"Sec. 14. RCW 29A.40.110 and 2006 c 207 s 4 and 2006 c 206 s 6 are each reenacted and amended to read as follows:

(1) The opening and subsequent processing of return envelopes for any primary or election may begin upon receipt. The tabulation of absentee ballots must not commence until after 8:00 p.m. on the day of the primary or election.

(2) All received absentee return envelopes must be placed in secure locations from the time of delivery to the county auditor until their subsequent opening. After opening the return envelopes, the county canvassing board shall place all of the ballots in secure storage until ((after 8:00 p.m. of)) the day of the primary or election. Absentee ballots that are to be tabulated on an electronic vote tallying system may be taken from the inner envelopes and all the normal procedural steps may be performed to prepare these ballots for tabulation.

(3) Before opening a returned absentee ballot, the canvassing board, or its designated representatives, shall examine the postmark, statement, and signature on the return envelope that contains the security envelope and absentee ballot. All personnel assigned to verify signatures must receive training on statewide standards for signature verification. Personnel shall verify that the voter's signature on the return envelope is the same as the signature of that voter in the registration files of the county. Verification may be conducted by an automated verification system approved by the secretary of state. For any absentee ballot, a variation between the signature of the voter on the return envelope and the signature of that voter in the registration files due to the substitution of initials or the use of common nicknames is permitted so long as the surname and handwriting are clearly the same.

(4) For registered voters casting absentee ballots, the date on the return envelope to which the voter has attested determines the validity, as to the time of voting for that absentee ballot if the postmark is missing or is illegible. For out-of-state voters, overseas voters, and service voters stationed in the United States, the date on the return envelope to which the voter has attested determines the validity as to the time of voting for that absentee ballot.

Sec. 15. RCW 29A.44.090 and 2003 c 111 s 1109 are each amended to read as follows:

~~(A registered voter shall not be allowed to vote in the precinct in which he or she is registered at any election or primary for which that voter has cast an absentee ballot. A registered voter who has requested an absentee ballot for a primary or special or general election but chooses to vote at the voter's precinct polling place in that primary or election shall cast a provisional ballot. The canvassing board shall not count the ballot if it finds that the voter has also voted by absentee ballot in that primary or election.)~~ If a registered voter who was issued an absentee or mail ballot requests to vote at a polling place, the precinct election officer shall attempt to confirm whether the voter has already returned an absentee or mail ballot. Confirmation may be achieved by accessing the county voter registration system by electronic, telephonic, or other means.

(1) If the precinct election officer is able to confirm that the voter has not already returned an absentee or mail ballot, the voter may be issued a regular ballot. In order to prevent multiple voting, the voter must be immediately credited or flagged in the voter registration system as having voted. If an absentee or mail ballot is subsequently returned, the canvassing board may not count the absentee or mail ballot.

(2) If the precinct election officer is unable to confirm whether the voter has already returned a ballot, the voter must be issued a provisional ballot. If the voter has already returned an absentee or mail ballot, the canvassing board may not count the provisional ballot. If the canvassing board counts the provisional ballot and an absentee or mail ballot is subsequently returned, the canvassing board may not count the absentee or mail ballot.

Sec. 16. RCW 29A.60.165 and 2006 c 209 s 4 and 2006 c 208 s 1 are each reenacted and amended to read as follows:

(1) If the voter neglects to sign the ~~(outside envelope of)~~ oath on an absentee or provisional ballot envelope, signs the oath with a mark and fails to have two witnesses attest to the signature, or signs the ballot envelope but the signature on the envelope does not match the signature on the voter registration record, the auditor shall notify the voter by first class mail ~~(and advise the voter)~~ of the correct procedures for ~~(completing the unsigned affidavit)~~ curing the signature. If ~~(the)~~ such an absentee ballot is not received within three business days of the final meeting of the canvassing board, or the voter has been notified by first class mail and has not responded by at least three business days before the final meeting of the canvassing board, ~~(then)~~ the auditor shall attempt to notify the voter by telephone, using information in the voter registration record ~~(information)~~.

~~(In order for the ballot to be counted)~~ (2) If the voter neglects to sign the oath on an absentee or provisional ballot envelope, or signs the oath with a mark and fails to have two witnesses attest to the signature, the voter must either:

(a) Appear in person and sign the envelope no later than the day before ~~(the)~~ certification of the primary or election; or

(b) Sign a copy of the envelope provided by the auditor, and return it to the auditor no later than the day before ~~(the)~~ certification of the primary or election.

2007 REGULAR SESSION

~~((2)(a) If the handwriting of the signature on an absentee or provisional ballot envelope is not the same as the handwriting of the signature on the registration file, the auditor shall notify the voter by first class mail, enclosing a copy of the envelope affidavit, and advise the voter of the correct procedures for updating his or her signature on the voter registration file. If the absentee or provisional ballot is received within three business days of the final meeting of the canvassing board, or the voter has been notified by first class mail and has not responded at least three business days before the final meeting of the canvassing board, then the auditor shall attempt to notify the voter by telephone, using the voter registration record information. In order for the ballot to be counted)~~ (3) If the signature on the oath of an absentee or provisional ballot envelope does not match the signature on the voter registration record, the voter must ~~((either))~~:

~~((i))~~(a) Appear in person and sign a new registration form no later than the day before ~~(the)~~ certification of the primary or election. The updated signature provided on the new registration form becomes the signature on the voter registration record for the current election and future elections; ~~(or~~ ~~((ii))~~ (b) Sign a copy of the affidavit provided by the auditor and ~~(return it to the auditor no later than the day before the certification of the primary or election. The voter may enclose with the affidavit)~~ provide a photocopy of a valid government or tribal issued identification document that includes the voter's current signature. ~~((f))~~ The signatures on ~~(the copy of)~~ the affidavit ~~(does not match the signature on file or the signature on the copy of)~~, the identification ~~(document, the voter must appear in person and sign a new registration form)~~, and the ballot envelope must all match. The voter must return the signed affidavit and the identification to the auditor no later than the day before ~~(the)~~ certification of the primary or election ~~(in order for the ballot to be counted)~~. The county auditor may also send the voter a new registration form to update the signature on the voter registration record for future elections; or

(c) Sign a copy of the affidavit provided by the auditor in front of two witnesses who are registered voters and who attest to the signature. The signature on the affidavit must match the signature on the ballot envelope. The voter must return the signed affidavit to the auditor no later than the day before certification of the primary or election. The county auditor may also send the voter a new registration form to update the signature on the voter registration record for future elections.

~~((b))~~ (4) If the signature on an absentee or provisional ballot envelope is not the same as the signature on the registration ~~(file)~~ record because the name is different, the ballot may be counted as long as the handwriting is clearly the same. The auditor shall send the voter a change-of-name form under RCW 29A.08.440 and direct the voter to complete the form. ~~((c))~~ If the signature on an absentee or provisional ballot envelope is not the same as the signature on the registration ~~(file)~~ record because the voter used initials or a common nickname, the ballot may be counted as long as the surname and handwriting are clearly the same.

~~((d))~~ (6) A record must be kept of all ballots with missing and mismatched signatures. The record must contain the date on which the voter was contacted or the notice was mailed, as well as the date on which the voter signed the envelope, a copy of the envelope, a new registration form, or a change-of-name form. That record is a public record under chapter 42.56 RCW and may be disclosed to interested parties on written request."

NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. HOME INSPECTOR LICENSING BOARD. (1) The state home inspector licensing board is created. The board consists of eight members appointed by the director, who shall advise the director concerning the administration of this chapter. Of the appointments to this board, five shall be actively engaged as home inspectors immediately prior to their appointment to the board, one shall be a licensed real estate broker, one shall be currently teaching in a home inspector certificate program, and one shall be a member of the general public with no family or business connection with the home inspector business or practice. The director may appoint a new member to fill a vacancy on the board for the remainder of the unexpired term. All board members are limited to two consecutive terms.

(4) Each board member is entitled to compensation for each day spent conducting official business and to reimbursement for travel expenses in accordance with RCW 43.03.240, 43.03.050, and 43.03.060.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 7. APPLICATION FOR LICENSING. An application for licensing must be filed with the director and must contain statements made under oath demonstrating the applicant's qualifications. The director with the board's approval may require any information and documentation that reasonably relates to the need to determine whether the applicant meets the criteria for licensing. The application fee for initial licensing shall be determined by the director as provided in RCW 43.24.086. The application, together with the fee, must be submitted to the department prior to the application deadline established by the director. Persons who are performing home inspections as of the effective date of this section may receive up to twenty-five hours of credit towards the one hundred twenty hours of classroom education by proof of experience as determined by the board. In making this determination, the board shall consider the length of time a person has held a structural pest inspection license from the department of agriculture under chapter 15.58 RCW.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 9. LICENSE LENGTH AND RENEWAL. (1) Licenses are issued for a term of two years and expire on the last day of the month the license was issued. Licenses must be in a form prescribed by the board and approved by the director. Licenses that are not renewed are considered to be expired and any home inspection activity which would require a license to perform which occurs after the expiration of the license is a violation of this chapter.

(2) Any person who receives an initial license under section 2(2) of this act must, upon renewal of his or her license, pass the examination required in section 6(4) of this act.

(3) Any licensee who fails to timely renew his or her license may renew his or her license only upon payment of renewal and late fees as set by the director. NEW SECTION. Sec. 13. HOME INSPECTORS AS CORPORATIONS PROHIBITED. A license as a home inspector may not be issued to a corporation, limited liability company, partnership, firm, or group. However, this section does not prevent a licensed home inspector from rendering home inspections for or on behalf of a corporation, limited liability company, partnership, firm, or group, when the home inspection report is performed, prepared, and signed by a licensed home inspector.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 14. WRITTEN REPORTS. (1) A licensed home inspector shall provide a written report of the home inspection to each person for whom the inspector performs a home inspection within seven calendar days from the date of the inspections.

(2) A licensed home inspector shall not, from the time of the inspection until one year from the date of the report, perform any work other than home inspection-related consultation on the home upon which he or she has performed a home inspection.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 15. HOME INSPECTOR'S ACCOUNT. The home inspector's account is created in the custody of the state treasurer. All receipts from fines and fees collected under this chapter must be deposited into the account. Expenditures from the account may be used only to carry out the duties required for the operation and enforcement of this chapter. Only the director may authorize expenditures from the account. The account is subject to allotment procedures under chapter 43.88 RCW, but an appropriation is not necessary.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 16. SUSPENSION OF LICENSE. The director shall immediately suspend the license or practice permit of a person who has been certified pursuant to RCW 74.20A.320 by the department of social and health services as a person who is not in compliance with a child support order. If the person has continued to meet all other requirements for a license under this chapter during the suspension, reissuance of the license is automatic upon the board's receipt of a release issued by the department of social and health services stating that the licensee is in compliance with the child support order. The procedure in RCW 74.20A.320 is the exclusive administrative remedy for contesting the establishment of noncompliance with a child support order, and suspension of a license under this subsection, and satisfies the requirements of RCW 34.05.422.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 17. CIVIL INFRACTIONS. The department has the authority to issue civil infractions under chapter 7.80 RCW in the following instances:

- (1) Conducting or offering to conduct a home inspection without being licensed in accordance with this chapter;
- (2) Presenting or attempting to use as his or her own the home inspector license of another;
- (3) Giving any false or forged evidence of any kind to the director or his or her authorized representative in obtaining a license;
- (4) Falsely impersonating any other licensee; or
- (5) Attempting to use an expired or revoked license.

All fees, fines, and penalties collected or assessed by a court because of a violation of this section must be remitted to the department to be deposited into the home inspector's account created in section 15 of this act.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 18. RELIEF BY INJUNCTION. The director is authorized to apply for relief by injunction without bond, to restrain a person from the commission of any act that is prohibited under section 17 of this act. In such proceedings, it is not necessary to allege or prove either that an adequate remedy at law does not exist, or that substantial or irreparable damage would result from continued violation. The director, individuals acting on the director's behalf, and members of the board are immune from suit in any action, civil or criminal, based on disciplinary proceedings or other official acts performed in the course of their duties in the administration and enforcement of this chapter.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 19. GENERAL EXCLUSIONS. (1) The home inspector is not required to determine the following:

- (a) The condition of systems or components that are not readily accessible;

- (g) The suitability of the property for any specialized use;
- (h) Compliance with regulatory requirements;
- (i) The market value of the property or its marketability; and
- (j) The presence of environmental hazards including, but not limited to, toxins, carcinogens, noise, and contaminants in soil, water, and air.

(2) Home inspectors are not required to enter the following:

- (a) Any area that will likely be dangerous to the inspector or other persons or damage the property or its systems or components; or
- (b) The underfloor crawl spaces or attics that are not readily accessible; however, substructure crawl spaces must be inspected when accessible. Inaccessibility of substructure crawl space areas due to inadequate clearance, the presence of ducting or piping, foundation walls, partitions, or other such conditions that block access must be explained in the inspection report. The report must state that inaccessible substructure crawl space areas may be vulnerable to infestation by wood-destroying organisms and should be made accessible for inspection.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 20. EXEMPTION FROM LICENSING. "PART I DECLARATION OF POLICY AND PURPOSE

NEW SECTION. Sec. 101. FINDINGS AND DECLARATION OF POLICY. The legislature finds that:

2007 REGULAR SESSION

(1) The absence of unified regional transportation governance, planning, funding, and prioritization has resulted in a road and transit system that is inadequate for the current and future needs of the state, particularly in dense urban regions. There is a severe strain on regional transportation systems that is clearly noticeable through several important indicators, including congestion. Continued population and transportation demand growth has created a looming regional transportation crisis caused in part by a history of under funding transportation.

(2) The existing approach to transportation governance has left the state with a struggle to maintain deteriorating transportation infrastructure, insufficient road and transit capacity, an inconsistent system for planning and funding transportation, insufficient cooperation among transportation jurisdictions, and reduced public confidence in governmental ability to solve transportation problems.

(3) An overly localized and insufficient focus on regional needs, particularly on large and multijurisdictional projects, have caused costly delays in constructing new transit and highway systems. Regional transportation projects must be effectively prioritized on a unified basis, but this has not occurred because there is no regional governmental entity responsible for prioritizing regional projects across geographic lines and modes.

(4) There is an inadequate connection between transportation demand, land use planning, and transportation planning, which also causes costly delays in meeting transportation demand. No governmental entity views the systemic needs of the entire region, and prioritization of those needs, as its primary responsibility.

(5) The lack of transportation demand/capacity management, pricing coordination, mass transit, and coordinated transportation governance is limiting the mobility of both people and goods in the state.

(6) Most transit systems were initially developed to provide local service, but are now forced to play a large role in regional transportation networks. Effective transportation planning in urbanized regions requires stronger and clearer lines of responsibility and accountability. Integrated, multimodal transportation planning and prioritization will help reduce transportation congestion and improve security and safety, and that streamlined decision making will help reduce political congestion.

(7) The coordinated planning of, investment in, and operation of transportation systems will have significant benefit to the citizens of Washington, and it is the will of the people to fund regional transportation solutions, including improving transit service in urbanized areas and among multiple transit agencies. Equity considerations must be respected, but transportation problems are broader and deeper than the sum of geographic subareas.

(8) Our current system of transportation governance delivers inadequate results, and requires fundamental systemic change to meet our state's transportation needs.

(9) Accordingly, the policy of the state of Washington is to allow the formation of regional transportation commissions as regional transportation governing entities more directly accountable to the public, to coordinate and prioritize regional transportation planning, to fund regional mobility projects, and to develop and facilitate the implementation of integrated regional transportation demand, capacity, pricing, and operating solutions.

PART II

PART III
REGIONAL TRANSPORTATION COMMISSION

NEW SECTION. Sec. 301. FORMATION AND EXPANSION. (1) A regional transportation commission must be created in an area within the complete boundaries of a county with a population greater than one million five hundred thousand persons and any adjoining counties with a population greater than two hundred thirty thousand persons.

(2) A regional transportation commission must be created by ordinance of the legislative authorities of the contiguous counties referenced in subsection (1) of this section such that the governing body is fully constituted, and the commission is authorized to exercise the powers granted in section 303 of this act, by January 1, 2009. However, a commission may not be created before January 1, 2008.

(3) A regional transportation commission is a municipal corporation and possesses all the usual corporate powers as well as all other powers conferred by statute.

(4) A regional transportation commission is an independent taxing authority within the meaning of Article VII, section 1 of the state Constitution, and a taxing district within the meaning of Article VII, section 2 of the state Constitution. However, solely for the purposes of establishing the regional transportation commission's independent taxing authority and the taxing district boundaries, the taxing district shall not include the following geographic area, and the commission shall not impose or authorize any taxes, fees, tolls, or charges within the geographic area:

(a) Any portion of a county that is located on a peninsula if it is connected to the other portion of the county by a bridge improved under chapter 47.46 RCW; and

(b) The complete boundaries of a county with a population greater than two hundred thirty thousand, but fewer than five hundred thousand.

(5) The state and federal regional planning functions prescribed under this act must apply throughout the complete boundaries of all the counties described in subsection (1) of this section.

(6) A regional transportation commission may be expanded to include the complete boundaries of additional contiguous counties, regardless of population, if the commission and the legislative authority of every county in the proposed expanded commission adopts a resolution authorizing the expanded commission. At least sixty days before adopting a resolution approving expansion, the commission shall adopt policies governing the expansion process and integration of new counties into the existing commission. However, only one regional transportation commission may exist in any county or counties.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 302. GOVERNANCE. (1) The governing body of a regional transportation commission consists of twelve nonpartisan commissioners.

(2) Commissioners are apportioned and elected as follows:

(a) One commissioner appointed by each county executive of the component counties, or by the chair of the component county's legislative authority if the position of county executive is not applicable, and confirmed by the legislative authority of the respective component county. The appointments should include individuals who have experience in regional transportation issues and are experienced in the design, construction, operation, maintenance, or financing of public transportation and mobility projects;

(b) Eight commissioners apportioned to eight geographical districts and elected on a nonpartisan basis. Each commissioner representing a district must be a registered voter residing within that district. Initial apportionment and establishment of district lines must be determined by the component counties within thirty days of the formation of a regional transportation commission according to the requirements in (c) of this subsection. Subsequent reapportionment and drawing of district lines must be conducted by the Washington state redistricting commission during its decennial redistricting operations under Article II, section 43 of the state Constitution;

(c) Each district must contain a population, excluding nonresident military personnel, as equal as practicable to the population of any other district. To a reasonable extent, each district must contain contiguous territory, be compact and convenient, and be separated from adjoining districts by natural geographic barriers, artificial barriers, or political subdivision boundaries. However, commissioners may not be apportioned, and districts may not be established, for the geographic area described in section 301(4) (a) and (b) of this act.

(3) Commissioners shall serve six-year terms of office, except that three of the initially elected commissioners representing a district shall serve a two-year term of office and three of the initially elected commissioners representing a district shall serve four-year terms. The component counties shall designate which districts have commissioners that serve two-year, four-year, and six-year terms. The first election for commissioners must be held at the general election following the formation of a commission, consistent with Title 29A RCW.

(4) The commissioners shall appoint a chair every three years from among the commission membership.

(5) Vacancies in appointed positions must be filled by appointment of the county executive representing the county that the vacating appointee represented, and the appointee filling the vacancy shall serve for the remainder of the unexpired term of the respective office. Vacancies in elected positions must be filled by a person approved by a majority of the remaining commissioners, who shall serve on an interim basis until the vacancy is filled at the next general election held more than one hundred eighty days after the date the vacancy is filled, or for the remainder of the unexpired term of the respective office, whichever comes sooner. A person elected to fill a vacancy shall serve for the remainder of the unexpired term of the respective office.

(6) Commissioners may only be removed for malfeasance or misfeasance in office.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 303. POWERS AND PURPOSES.

A regional transportation commission shall:

(1) Prepare, adopt, and implement a comprehensive and integrated corridor-based multimodal regional mobility investment plan described under section 305 of this act that plans, prioritizes, and finances improvements to highways, streets, roads, and public transportation that will serve the residents of the region, and amend the plan to meet changed conditions and requirements. In implementing the plan, or exercising its authority under this section, the commission may: Levy, impose, collect, and spend taxes, user fees, tolls, and charges; receive and spend state, federal, and private funds; and lend and grant funds to public transportation agencies, cities, counties, other local governments, and the department for the purposes of planning, designing, constructing, operating, or maintaining mobility projects, including, without limitation, public transportation;

(2) Consistent with its functions as a regional transportation planning organization under subsection (7) of this section: Conduct comprehensive and integrated corridor-based multimodal transportation planning and prioritization activities that will improve the mobility of people and goods in the region; reduce transportation congestion, improve security and safety; coordinate and integrate transportation and land use planning, including multimodal transportation improvements and strategies that comply with the transportation concurrency requirements under RCW 36.70A.070(6) and 36.70A.108; improve modal connectivity; and generally assist in providing an efficient regional transportation system. The transportation planning and prioritization activities must provide for, wherever feasible, transportation demand/capacity management, pricing coordination, mass transit, and coordinated transportation governance. Corridor planning should include the full range of strategies available that most efficiently move people and goods consistent with the region's land use goals including, without limitation: Demand management tools, such as congestion pricing, parking pricing, and trip reduction incentives; high capacity transit expansion; increased local transit; investments in regionally significant bicycle paths and pedestrian connections; and expanded roadway capacity;

(3) Establish routes and classes of service, fix rates, tolls, fares, and charges for public transportation services or routes that constitute public transportation of regional significance;

(4) In consultation with local public transportation agencies operating within the region, establish a program for interconnecting fares, schedules, and transfers on trips using public transportation agencies for public transportation or public transportation routes that constitute public transportation of regional significance, and require the participation of public transportation agencies in that program. In developing the program under this subsection (4), the commission shall develop standards for the coordination of capital investment, service standards, and service coordination of public transportation agencies in the region. The goal of these standards is to maximize coordination within and among systems, use resources more effectively, and enhance services to the public. The standards must also address vanpool coordination, fare policies, and transportation demand management programs;

(5) Establish a procedure requiring that bond issues, taxes, user fees, tolls, or charges that (a) require voter approval, for mobility projects located within the commission's geographic boundaries and (b) constitute mobility projects of regional significance, be approved by the commission before placing those bond or revenue measures on a ballot for voter approval. Bond issues, property taxes, and excise taxes for mobility projects that do not constitute mobility projects of regional significance shall not require a commission's approval before being placed on the ballot;

(6) Negotiate with the state and appropriate local jurisdictions to prioritize all state transportation projects within the commission's borders and the order in which state transportation funds for mobility projects within the commission's borders are expended;

(7) Serve as the regional transportation planning organization under chapter 47.80 RCW for the area within the commission's borders and, if designated or redesignated under federal law, serve as the metropolitan planning organization for the commission's geographic area. A commission has all the powers and responsibilities of a regional transportation planning organization described under chapter 47.80 RCW. The commission is the lead planning agency for planning under chapter 47.80 RCW unless the commission designates another lead agency for a specified project. If a commission is fully constituted and authorized to exercise its powers as prescribed in section 301(2) of this act within a geographic area that includes an existing regional transportation planning organization and metropolitan planning organization, the planning organizations dissolve upon the exercise of the commission's powers, and all the obligations of the planning organizations must be transferred to the commission as successor to the planning organizations. However, the existing metropolitan planning organization dissolves, and its obligations transfer to the commission as the successor entity, only if the commission is designated or redesignated under federal law to serve as the metropolitan planning organization. The regional transportation planning organization's powers and responsibilities may be exercised whether the commission has been designated or redesignated under federal law to serve as the metropolitan planning organization;

(8) Employ or contract with engineering, legal, financial, or other employees, specialized personnel, or consultants as necessary to accomplish the purposes of the commission;

(9) Exercise all other powers necessary and appropriate to carry out its responsibilities including, without limitation, the power to sue and be sued, to enter into contracts, and to acquire, own, and transfer real and personal property and property rights by lease, sublease, purchase, or sale. A commission may establish an expert review panel, composed of members with areas of expertise that benefit the commission, to review, analyze, and make recommendations on any aspect of a proposed mobility project of regional significance. A commission may also sell, lease, convey, or otherwise dispose of any real or personal property or property rights no longer necessary or desirable for the conduct of the affairs of the commission. However, unless negotiated and agreed upon by applicable parties, a regional transportation commission may not own, operate, construct, or maintain mobility projects or public transportation assets, but shall contract or otherwise provide for such ownership, operation, construction, or maintenance to be carried out by other public or private entities;

(10) In accordance with section 306 of this act, determine and establish the tolls and charges for mobility projects of regional significance within the commission's geographic area. Any determination and establishment of tolls and charges for bridges, highways, lanes, roads, and other facilities must be consistent with tolling policies adopted by the transportation commission;

(11) If approved by the governor and necessary local parties under 23 U.S.C. Sec. 134, be the metropolitan planning organization for the region to promote consistency between transportation improvements and state and local planned growth and economic development patterns;

SIXTY-FOURTH DAY, MARCH 12, 2007

2007 REGULAR SESSION

(12) Establish an incentives-based process of negotiating cooperative relationships with affected local jurisdictions within the region in order to promote an efficient, comprehensive, and integrated corridor-based multimodal regional transportation system;

(13) Enter into interlocal agreements or agreements with local governments, the state, or the federal government regarding the establishment, composition, and responsibilities of a transportation policy board under section 304 of this act; and

(14) Adopt policies and procedures regarding the reimbursement for expenses incurred by commissioners for activities related to their work as commissioners.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 304. TRANSPORTATION POLICY BOARD. (1) Each commission shall create a transportation policy board to provide a forum for state, regional, and local officials, transportation providers, and private citizens to deliberate issues that affect transportation planning, prioritization, and funding within the commission's boundaries. The commission shall develop procedures governing the transportation policy board's duties, procedures, and formal review of plans and programs.

(2) The commission, along with local governments, the state, and the federal government as required under section 303(13) of this act, shall jointly determine the composition and responsibilities of the transportation policy board, including any functions necessary to comply with federal law as directed by a federal agency. Members should include local elected officials, representatives of public transportation agencies, the secretary of transportation or his or her designee, representatives of private sector transportation and shipping industries, private citizens, and representatives of major employers within the region. Members of a commission may also be appointed as transportation policy board members, and elected commissioners who serve on a transportation policy board are deemed local elected officials for the purposes of this section.

(3) The transportation policy board shall formally review and comment on the regional mobility investment plan, the transportation improvement program prepared to comply with applicable federal law, and other transportation planning documents relevant to the region before adoption and implementation by the commission. The transportation policy board shall hold at least one public hearing in each component county before issuing formal comments on a transportation improvement program.

(4) If required by a federal agency, the commission may provide that a transportation improvement program for federal purposes be approved by the transportation policy board and that the transportation policy board serve as the policy board of a metropolitan planning organization under 23 U.S.C. Sec. 134 and 23 C.F.R. Part 450. However, any transportation improvement program shall not be considered adopted unless it receives final approval from the commission.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 305. REGIONAL MOBILITY INVESTMENT PLAN. (1)(a) The commission shall prepare a comprehensive and integrated corridor-based multimodal regional mobility investment plan for highways and transit improvements that creates a prioritized list of mobility projects of regional significance, or local mobility projects if applicable under subsection (3) of this section, that will be funded in whole or in part by or through the regional transportation commission, the state, the federal government, or private sources. The plan must also identify which funding sources, as authorized by this chapter, will be levied, imposed, or otherwise authorized to carry out the projects identified in the regional mobility investment plan.

(b) Projects in the plan must be evaluated against the following criteria:

(i) Preservation: To maintain, preserve, and extend the life and utility of prior investments in transportation systems and services;

(ii) Safety: To provide for and improve the safety and security of transportation customers and the transportation system;

(iii) Mobility: To improve the predictable movement of goods and people throughout the region;

(iv) Environment: To enhance the region's quality of life through transportation investments that promote energy conservation, enhance healthy communities, and protect the environment; and

(v) Stewardship: To be effective managers of the regional transportation system.

(2) An initial plan must be placed on a general election ballot for elector approval. However, before being submitted for elector approval, the plan must receive unanimous approval of the commission. If a majority of the electors voting on the plan vote in favor of it, the commission may implement measures contained in the plan. The ballot title must reference the regional mobility investment plan. However, if a regional transportation commission is fully constituted and authorized to exercise its powers as prescribed in section 301(2) of this act, after voter approval of a ballot measure under RCW 36.120.070, the commission, without the need for additional voter approval, shall adopt the regional transportation investment district voter-approved plan as part of the commission's regional mobility investment plan. Subject to unanimous approval of the commission, the commission may submit subsequent plans for voter approval at general or special elections that the commission determines as appropriate.

(3) Municipal corporations within a commission's borders, including regional transit authorities, may request that the commission incorporate, in the regional mobility investment plan, any local plans or proposed mobility projects, or both, together with taxes, user fees, tolls, and charges to finance those projects. Voter approval of a regional mobility investment plan that includes local plans or proposed mobility projects, or both, constitutes the necessary voter approval for (a) the local plans and projects and (b) the levy, imposition, or authorization of the local taxes, tolls, charges, and user fees by the municipal corporations. The commission shall establish procedures for the inclusion of local plans, proposed projects, taxes, and user fees in the regional mobility investment plan. The commission may decline to include any local plans, projects, taxes, tolls, charges, or user fees in the regional mobility investment plan.

(4) After a regional mobility investment plan has received voter approval, a two-thirds majority of the commission may amend any aspect of the plan including, without limitation, the regional project list and prioritization of projects included in the plan, and may redirect the expenditure of taxes, user fees, tolls, and charges. The plan may also be amended in any respect by a majority vote of the electors of the commission, if the amendments are proposed to the electors by a majority of the commission. A local jurisdiction or transit agency shall not redirect taxes or fees approved by voters as part of a regional mobility investment plan without the approval of a two-thirds majority of the commission.

(5) Before adoption, approval, or amendment of a regional mobility investment plan, the commission shall review any recommendations of the transportation policy board and hold at least one public hearing in each component county to allow citizens, public agencies, freight shippers, providers of freight and public transportation services, representatives of pedestrian walkway and bicycle facility users, representatives for individuals with disabilities, and agencies for safety/security operations a reasonable opportunity to be involved in the transportation planning process.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 306. TAXES, USER FEES, AND TOLLS. (1) A regional transportation commission may, as part of a regional mobility investment plan, recommend the imposition or authorization of some or all of the following revenue sources, which a regional transportation commission may levy, impose, or authorize if contained in a regional mobility investment plan approved by the electors under section 305 of this act:

(a) A regional sales and use tax, as specified in RCW 82.14.430, of up to one percent of the selling price, in the case of a sales tax, or value of the article used, in the case of a use tax, upon the occurrence of any taxable event in the regional transportation commission's boundaries;

(b) A local option vehicle license fee, as specified under RCW 82.80.100, of up to one hundred dollars per vehicle registered in the commission's boundaries. As used in this subsection, "vehicle" means motor vehicle as defined in RCW 46.04.320. Certain classes of vehicles, as defined under chapter 46.04 RCW, may be exempted from this fee;

(c) A parking tax under RCW 82.80.030;

(d) A local motor vehicle excise tax under RCW 81.100.060;

(e) A local option fuel tax under RCW 82.80.120;

(f) An employer excise tax under RCW 81.100.030; and

(g) Vehicle tolls, including corridor tolling, and demand management charges on mobility projects of regional significance including, without limitation, state or federal highways within the boundaries of the commission, if the following conditions are met:

(i) The regional mobility investment plan must identify the facilities that may be tolled;

(ii) The tolls must be consistent with tolling policies adopted by the transportation commission; and

(iii) Unless otherwise specified by law or by contract between a commission and the department, the department shall administer the collection of vehicle rates, tolls, and charges on designated facilities, which must, if required by the department, be compatible with statewide standards and protocols for intermodal and interfacility charges. For purposes of this section, "vehicle tolls" includes vehicle user fees imposed for capacity/demand management including, but not limited to, high-occupancy lane charges, value pricing, and congestion pricing.

(2) Taxes and vehicle license fees described in this section may not be imposed or authorized without an affirmative vote of the majority of the voters within the boundaries of the regional transportation commission voting on a ballot proposition either as part of the voter approval of a regional mobility investment plan under section 305 of this act or as a separate ballot measure. Vehicle tolls may be imposed or authorized on any project approved by the commission. Revenues from taxes, fees, and tolls may be used only to implement a regional mobility investment plan as set forth in this chapter and to provide for the commission's costs incurred in carrying out its responsibilities under this chapter. A commission may contract with the state department of revenue or other appropriate entities for the administration and collection of any of the taxes, fees, charges, or tolls authorized in this section.

(3) A commission may impose taxes or fees that are substantially similar to those previously imposed or levied by a regional transit authority within the commission's geographic area under chapter 81.104 RCW, only to the extent that the tax or fee does not exceed the statutory limits prescribed under this section.

(4) A commission shall not, unless otherwise negotiated and agreed upon by applicable parties, directly spend, or otherwise control, a local jurisdiction's or transit agency's locally imposed funds.

(5) The taxes, fees, charges, and tolls collected by a commission are not subject to utility, business and occupation, or other excise taxes imposed by municipal corporations located within the commission's boundaries.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 307. TREASURER. (1) A regional transportation commission, by resolution, shall designate a person with experience in financial or fiscal matters as treasurer of the commission. The commission may designate the treasurer of any county within which the commission is located to act as its treasurer. The designated treasurer has all of the powers, responsibilities, and duties the county treasurer has related to investing surplus funds. The commission shall require a bond with a surety company authorized to do business in this state in an amount and under the terms and conditions the commission, by resolution, from time to time finds will protect the commission against loss. The commission shall pay the premium on the bond.

(2) If the treasurer of the commission is also the treasurer of a county, all commission funds must be deposited with a county depository under the same restrictions, contracts, and security as provided for county depositories. If the treasurer of the commission is not the treasurer of a county, all funds must be deposited in a bank or banks that are public depositories as defined in RCW 39.58.010 and are qualified for insured deposits under any federal deposit insurance act as the commission, by resolution, designates, or funds shall be invested in legal investments for counties.

(3) The commission may provide and require a reasonable bond of any other person handling money or securities of the commission, but the commission shall pay the premium on the bond.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 308. PER DIEM COMPENSATION. Each commissioner may receive compensation equal to the salary applicable to a member of the legislative authority of the most populous county within the commission's geographic area. A commissioner may waive all or a portion of his or her compensation under this section during his or her term of office, by a written waiver filed with the regional transportation commission. The compensation provided in this section is in addition to reimbursement for expenses paid to commissioners by the regional transportation commission.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 309. EMPLOYEES, SALARIES, AND BENEFITS. A regional transportation commission may create and fill positions, fix reasonable wages and salaries, pay costs involved in hiring employees, and establish reasonable benefits for employees, including holiday pay, vacations or vacation pay, retirement benefits, and medical, life, accident, or health disability insurance, as approved by the commission.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 310. EXISTING REGIONAL PLANNING STAFFS. (1) If a commission is fully constituted and authorized to exercise its powers as prescribed in section 301(2) of this act in an area with an existing regional transportation planning organization and metropolitan planning organization, the commission shall, as a successor employer, initially hire all employees of the regional transportation planning organization, and the metropolitan planning organization if the commission has been designated or redesignated to serve as the metropolitan planning organization, to continue employment in substantively similar positions and on terms similar to their prior employment.

(2) If a commission is formed in an area with an existing regional transit agency, the commission shall, as a successor employer, initially hire all employees of the regional transit agency engaged in long-range planning, including system plans, to continue employment in substantively similar positions and on terms similar to their prior employment.

(3) This section does not prevent the dismissal of employees that is necessary to meet budget constraints or for other reasons in the ordinary course of business.

(4) The combined staff indicated under this section shall work cooperatively, and in a coordinated fashion, with the administrative region within the department of transportation established under section 316 of this act. The commission shall establish a negotiated process with the department, and other applicable local planning offices, that ensures the respective agencies are planning for a comprehensive and integrated corridor-based multimodal regional transportation system.

2007 REGULAR SESSION

NEW SECTION. Sec. 311. TRANSIT STUDIES. (1) The commission shall submit to the legislature a report and recommendations regarding whether integrating or combining public transit agencies in the central Puget Sound region would facilitate the implementation of a comprehensive and integrated corridor-based multimodal regional transportation system. The report and recommendations must be submitted no later than eighteen months after formation of the commission.

(2) The commission shall submit to the legislature a report and recommendations regarding the application of regional transportation governance to waterways and passenger-only ferries in the central Puget Sound region no later than eighteen months after formation of the commission.

Sec. 312. RCW 47.80.020 and 1990 1st ex.s. c 17 s 54 are each amended to read as follows:

The legislature hereby authorizes creation of regional transportation planning organizations within the state. Each regional transportation planning organization shall be formed through the voluntary association of local governments within a county, or within geographically contiguous counties. Each organization shall:

- (1) Encompass at least one complete county;
- (2) Have a population of at least one hundred thousand, or contain a minimum of three counties; and
- (3) Have as members all counties within the region, and at least sixty percent of the cities and towns within the region representing a minimum of seventy-five percent of the cities' and towns' population.

The state department of transportation must verify that each regional transportation planning organization conforms with the requirements of this section. If a regional transportation commission serves as the regional transportation planning organization under section 303 of this act, it shall be deemed in conformance with the requirements of this section.

In urbanized areas, the regional transportation planning organization is the same as the metropolitan planning organization designated for federal transportation planning purposes. If a regional transportation commission serves as the regional transportation planning organization under section 303 of this act and if required by a federal agency, the transportation policy board of the regional transportation commission may, subject to section 304(4) of this act, take approval actions required of metropolitan planning organizations under 23 U.S.C. Sec. 134 and 23 C.F.R. Part 450.

In order to qualify for state planning funds available to regional transportation planning organizations, the regional transportation planning organizations containing any county with a population in excess of one million shall provide voting membership on its executive board to the state transportation commission, the state department of transportation, and the four largest public port districts within the region as determined by gross operating revenues. It shall further assure that at least fifty percent of the county and city local elected officials who serve on the executive board also serve on transit agency boards or on a regional transit authority. This section does not apply to a regional transportation commission that serves as a regional transportation planning organization under section 303 of this act.

Sec. 314. RCW 81.112.080 and 1992 c 101 s 8 are each amended to read as follows:

An authority shall have the following powers in addition to the general powers granted by this chapter:

(1) To carry out the planning processes set forth in RCW 81.104.100. If an authority is located in the geographic area of a regional transportation commission created under section 301 of this act, the regional transportation commission shall carry out the planning process set forth in RCW 81.104.100;

(2) To acquire by purchase, condemnation, gift, or grant and to lease, construct, add to, improve, replace, repair, maintain, operate, and regulate the use of high capacity transportation facilities and properties within authority boundaries including surface, underground, or overhead railways, tramways, busways, buses, bus sets, entrained and linked buses, ferries, or other means of local transportation except taxis, and including escalators, moving sidewalks, personal rapid transit systems or other people-moving systems, passenger terminal and parking facilities and properties, and such other facilities and properties as may be necessary for passenger, vehicular, and vessel access to and from such people-moving systems, terminal and parking facilities and properties, together with all lands, rights of way, property, equipment, and accessories necessary for such high capacity transportation systems. When developing specifications for high capacity transportation system operating equipment, an authority shall take into account efforts to establish or sustain a domestic manufacturing capacity for such equipment. The right of eminent domain shall be exercised by an authority in the same manner and by the same procedure as or may be provided by law for cities of the first class, except insofar as such laws may be inconsistent with the provisions of this chapter. Public transportation facilities and properties which are owned by any city, county, county transportation authority, public transportation benefit area, or metropolitan municipal corporation may be acquired or used by an authority only with the consent of the agency owning such facilities. Such agencies are hereby authorized to convey or lease such facilities to an authority or to contract for their joint use on such terms as may be fixed by agreement between the agency and the authority(:

~~— The facilities and properties of an authority whose vehicles will operate primarily within the rights of way of public streets, roads, or highways, may be acquired, developed, and operated without the corridor and design hearings that are required by RCW 35.58.273 for mass transit facilities operating on a separate right of way);~~

(3) To dispose of any real or personal property acquired in connection with any authority function and that is no longer required for the purposes of the authority, in the same manner as provided for cities of the first class. When an authority determines that a facility or any part thereof that has been acquired from any public agency without compensation is no longer required for authority purposes, but is required by the agency from which it was acquired, the authority shall by resolution transfer it to such agency;

(4) To fix rates, tolls, fares, and charges for the use of such facilities and to establish various routes and classes of service, subject to approval by and coordination with a regional transportation commission under section 303 of this act. Fares or charges may be adjusted or eliminated for any distinguishable class of users.

Sec. 315. RCW 47.56.030 and 2002 c 114 s 19 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) Except as permitted under chapter 47.46 RCW or sections 301 through 305 of this act:

(a) The department of transportation shall have full charge of the construction of all toll bridges and other toll facilities including the Washington state ferries, and the operation and maintenance thereof.

(b) The transportation commission shall determine and establish the tolls and charges thereon, and shall perform all duties and exercise all powers relating to the financing, refinancing, and fiscal management of all toll bridges and other toll facilities including the Washington state ferries, and bonded indebtedness in the manner provided by law.

(c) The department shall have full charge of design of all toll facilities.

(d) Except as provided in this section, the department shall proceed with the construction of such toll bridges and other facilities and the approaches thereto by contract in the manner of state highway construction immediately upon there being made available funds for such work and shall prosecute such work to completion as rapidly as practicable. The department is authorized to negotiate contracts for any amount without bid under (d)(i) and (ii) of this subsection:

(i) Emergency contracts, in order to make repairs to ferries or ferry terminal facilities or removal of such facilities whenever continued use of ferries or ferry terminal facilities constitutes a real or immediate danger to the traveling public or precludes prudent use of such ferries or facilities; and

(ii) Single source contracts for vessel dry dockings, when there is clearly and legitimately only one available bidder to conduct dry dock-related work for a specific class or classes of vessels. The contracts may be entered into for a single vessel dry docking or for multiple vessel dry dockings for a period not to exceed two years.

(2) The department shall proceed with the procurement of materials, supplies, services, and equipment needed for the support, maintenance, and use of a ferry, ferry terminal, or other facility operated by Washington state ferries, in accordance with chapter 43.19 RCW except as follows:

(a) Except as provided in (d) of this subsection, when the secretary of the department of transportation determines in writing that the use of invitation for bid is either not practicable or not advantageous to the state and it may be necessary to make competitive evaluations, including technical or performance evaluations among acceptable proposals to complete the contract award, a contract may be entered into by use of a competitive sealed proposals method, and a formal request for proposals solicitation. Such formal request for proposals solicitation shall include a functional description of the needs and requirements of the state and the significant factors.

(b) When purchases are made through a formal request for proposals solicitation the contract shall be awarded to the responsible proposer whose competitive sealed proposal is determined in writing to be the most advantageous to the state taking into consideration price and other evaluation factors set forth in the request for proposals. No significant factors may be used in evaluating a proposal that are not specified in the request for proposals. Factors that may be considered in evaluating proposals include but are not limited to: Price; maintainability; reliability; commonality; performance levels; life cycle cost if applicable under this section; cost of transportation or delivery; delivery schedule offered; installation cost; cost of spare parts; availability of parts and service offered; and the following:

(i) The ability, capacity, and skill of the proposer to perform the contract or provide the service required;

(ii) The character, integrity, reputation, judgment, experience, and efficiency of the proposer;

(iii) Whether the proposer can perform the contract within the time specified;

(iv) The quality of performance of previous contracts or services;

(v) The previous and existing compliance by the proposer with laws relating to the contract or services;

(vi) Objective, measurable criteria defined in the request for proposal. These criteria may include but are not limited to items such as discounts, delivery costs, maintenance services costs, installation costs, and transportation costs; and

(vii) Such other information as may be secured having a bearing on the decision to award the contract.

(c) When purchases are made through a request for proposal process, proposals received shall be evaluated based on the evaluation factors set forth in the request for proposal. When issuing a request for proposal for the procurement of propulsion equipment or systems that include an engine, the request for proposal must specify the use of a life cycle cost analysis that includes an evaluation of fuel efficiency. When a life cycle cost analysis is used, the life cycle cost of a proposal shall be given at least the same relative importance as the initial price element specified in the request of proposal documents. The department may reject any and all proposals received. If the proposals are not rejected, the award shall be made to the proposer whose proposal is most advantageous to the department, considering price and the other evaluation factors set forth in the request for proposal.

(d) If the department is procuring large equipment or systems (e.g., electrical, propulsion) needed for the support, maintenance, and use of a ferry operated by Washington state ferries, the department shall proceed with a formal request for proposal solicitation under this subsection (2) without a determination of necessity by the secretary.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 316. A new section is added to chapter 47.01 RCW to read as follows:

(1) The secretary shall reorganize the department's existing administrative regions such that one administrative region is dedicated solely to supporting King, Pierce, and Snohomish counties.

(2) If a regional transportation commission is formed under section 301 of this act, and in accordance with section 310 of this act, the department's administrative region established under this section shall work cooperatively, and in a coordinated fashion, with the planning staff employed by the regional transportation commission. Additionally, the department shall participate in the negotiated planning process provided under section 310 of this act.

Sec. 317. RCW 47.80.040 and 2003 c 351 s 1 are each amended to read as follows:

Each regional transportation planning organization shall create a transportation policy board. Transportation policy boards shall provide policy advice to the regional transportation planning organization and shall allow representatives of major employers within the region, the department of transportation, transit districts, port districts, and member cities, towns, and counties within the region to participate in policy making. Any members of the house of representatives or the state senate whose districts are wholly or partly within the boundaries of the regional transportation planning organization are considered ex officio, nonvoting policy board members of the regional transportation planning organization. This does not preclude legislators from becoming full-time, voting board members. This section does not apply to a regional transportation commission that serves as a regional transportation planning organization under section 303 of this act.

PART IV

Sec. 401. RCW 82.14.430 and 2006 c 311 s 17 are each amended to read as follows:

The tax authorized by this section is in addition to the tax authorized by RCW 82.14.030 and must be collected from those persons who are taxable by the state under chapters 82.08 and 82.12 RCW upon the occurrence of any taxable event within the taxing district. Motor vehicles are exempt from the sales and use tax imposed under this subsection.

(2) If approved by the majority of the voters within its boundaries voting on the ballot proposition, a regional transportation commission or regional transportation investment district may impose a tax on the use of a motor vehicle within a regional transportation commission or regional transportation investment district. The tax applies to those persons who reside within the regional transportation commission or regional transportation investment district. The rate of the tax may not exceed one percent of the value of the motor vehicle, in the case of a regional transportation commission, or 0.1 percent of the value of the motor vehicle, in the case of a regional transportation investment district. The tax authorized by this subsection is in addition to the tax authorized under RCW 82.14.030 and must be imposed and collected at the time a taxable event under RCW 82.08.020(1) or 82.12.020 takes place. ~~((All revenue received under this subsection must be deposited in the local sales and use tax account and distributed to the regional transportation investment district according to RCW 82.14.050.))~~ The following provisions apply to the use tax in this subsection:

(a) Where persons are taxable under chapter 82.08 RCW, the seller shall collect the use tax from the buyer using the collection provisions of RCW 82.08.050.

(b) Where persons are taxable under chapter 82.12 RCW, the use tax must be collected using the provisions of RCW 82.12.045.

(e) The value of a motor vehicle must be determined under RCW 82.12.010.

(f) Except as specifically stated in this subsection (2), chapters 82.12 and 82.32 RCW apply to the use tax. The use tax is a local tax imposed under the authority of chapter 82.14 RCW, and chapter 82.14 RCW applies fully to the use tax.

(3) In addition to fulfilling the notice requirements under RCW 82.14.055(1), and unless waived by the department, a regional transportation commission or regional transportation investment district shall provide the department of revenue with digital mapping and legal descriptions of areas in which the tax will be collected.

(4) All revenue received under this section must be deposited in the local sales and use tax account and distributed to the regional transportation commission or regional transportation investment district according to RCW 82.14.050.

(2) Subject to the conditions of this section, any county may levy, by approval of its legislative body and a majority of the registered voters of the county voting on the proposition at a general or special election, additional excise taxes equal to ten percent of the statewide motor vehicle fuel tax rate under RCW 82.36.025 on each gallon of motor vehicle fuel as defined in RCW 82.36.010 and on each gallon of special fuel as defined in RCW 82.38.020 sold within the boundaries of the county. Vehicles paying an annual license fee under RCW 82.38.075 are exempt from the county fuel excise tax. An election held under this section must be held not more than twelve months before the date on which the proposed tax is to be levied. The contract must provide that a percentage amount, not to exceed one percent of the taxes imposed under this section, will be deposited into the local tax administration account created in the custody of the state treasurer. The department of revenue may spend money from this account, upon appropriation, for the administration of the local taxes imposed under this section.

(7) The state treasurer shall distribute monthly to the levying county and cities contained therein the proceeds of the additional excise taxes collected under this section, after the deductions for payments and expenditures as provided in RCW 46.68.090(1) (a) and (b) and under the conditions and limitations provided in RCW 82.80.080.

(8) The proceeds of the additional excise taxes levied under this section shall be used strictly for transportation purposes in accordance with RCW 82.80.070.

(1) Subject to the conditions of this section, the legislative authority of a county, city, regional transportation commission created under section 301 of this act, or district may fix and impose a parking tax on all persons engaged in a commercial parking business within its respective jurisdiction. A city or county may impose the tax only to the extent that it has not been imposed by the district, and a district may impose the tax only to the extent that it has not been imposed by a city or county. The jurisdiction of a county, for purposes of this section, includes only the unincorporated area of the county. The jurisdiction of a city or district includes only the area within its boundaries.

(2) In lieu of the tax in subsection (1) of this section, a city, a county in its unincorporated area, a regional transportation commission, or a district may fix and impose a tax for the act or privilege of parking a motor vehicle in a facility operated by a commercial parking business.

(5) The county, city, regional transportation commission, or district levying the tax provided for in subsection (1) or (2) of this section may provide for its payment on a monthly, quarterly, or annual basis. Each local government may develop by ordinance or resolution rules for administering the tax, including provisions for reporting by commercial parking businesses, collection, and enforcement.

(6) The proceeds of the commercial parking tax fixed and imposed by a city or county under subsection (1) or (2) of this section shall be used for transportation purposes in accordance with RCW 82.80.070 or for transportation improvements in accordance with chapter 36.73 RCW. The proceeds of the parking tax imposed by a district must be used as provided in chapter 36.120 RCW. (2) The local option vehicle license fee applies only when renewing a vehicle registration, and is effective upon the registration renewal date as provided by the department of licensing.

(3) A regional transportation commission or regional transportation investment district imposing the local option vehicle license fee or initiating an exemption process shall enter into a contract with the department of licensing. The contract must contain provisions that fully recover the costs to the department of licensing for collection and administration of the fee.

(4) A regional transportation commission or regional transportation investment district imposing the local option fee shall delay the effective date of the local option vehicle license fee imposed by this section at least six months from the date of the final certification of the approval election to allow the department of licensing to implement the administration and collection of or exemption from the fee.

In no event may the total taxes imposed under this section exceed two dollars per employee per month for any single employer. The county, regional transportation commission, or investment district imposing the tax authorized in this section may provide for exemptions from the tax to such educational, cultural, health, charitable, or religious organizations as it deems appropriate.

Counties, regional transportation commissions, or investment districts may contract with the state department of revenue or other appropriate entities for administration and collection of the tax. Such contract shall provide for deduction of an amount for administration and collection expenses.

(2) The tax shall not apply to employment of a person when the employer has paid for at least half of the cost of a transit pass issued by a transit agency for that employee, valid for the period for which the tax would otherwise be owed.

(3) A county, regional transportation commission, or investment district shall adopt rules that exempt from all or a portion of the tax any employer that has entered into an agreement with the county, regional transportation commission, or investment district that is designed to reduce the proportion of employees who drive in single-occupant vehicles during peak commuting periods in proportion to the degree that the agreement is designed to meet the goals for the employer's location adopted under RCW 81.100.040.

The agreement shall include a list of specific actions that the employer will undertake to be entitled to the exemption. Employers having an exemption from all or part of the tax through this subsection shall annually certify to the county, regional transportation commission, or investment district that the employer is fulfilling the terms of the agreement. The exemption continues as long as the employer is in compliance with the agreement.

~~((If the tax authorized in RCW 81.100.060 is also imposed, the total proceeds from both tax sources each year shall not exceed the maximum amount which could be collected under RCW 81.100.060.))~~

Sec. 408. RCW 81.100.060 and 2006 c 318 s 2 and 2006 c 311 s 15 are each reenacted and amended to read as follows:

outstanding general indebtedness of the regional transportation commission shall not exceed one and one-half percent of taxable property within its boundaries without the approval of three-fifths of the voters therein voting at an election held for that purpose, and in cases requiring such approval, not exceeding a total of five percent of taxable property within its boundaries. The bonds shall be issued and sold in accordance with chapter 39.46 RCW, and may be in any form, including bearer bonds or registered bonds as provided in RCW 39.46.030.

Any regional transportation commission may pledge any portion of any taxes and any tolls, charges, or user taxes authorized to be levied or imposed by the commission for the payment or security of the principal of and interest on any bonds issued for authorized public transportation purposes.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 502. (1) The commission may at any time borrow money for public transportation and mobility project capital purposes and may issue revenue bonds or other evidences of indebtedness, secured by the pledge of one or more of the taxes, tolls, charges, or user fees authorized to be imposed by the commission. These obligations shall be issued and sold in accordance with chapter 39.46 RCW.

(2) The commission may enter into agreements with public transportation agencies, counties, cities, or the state of Washington, when authorized by the plan, to pledge taxes or other revenues of the commission for the purpose of paying in part or whole principal and interest on bonds issued by any public transportation agency, county, city, or by the state of Washington. The agreements pledging revenues and taxes shall be binding for their terms, but not to exceed forty years, and no tax pledged by an agreement may be eliminated or modified if it would impair the pledge made in any agreement.

PART VI
RTC AND RTID MUTUALLY EXCLUSIVE

NEW SECTION. Sec. 601. If a regional transportation commission, created under section 301 of this act, is fully constituted and authorized to exercise its powers as prescribed in section 301(2) of this act within a geographic area that includes an existing regional transportation investment district, that district dissolves upon the exercise of the commission's powers, and all the obligations of the district and governing board must be transferred to the regional transportation commission as successor to the district. Additionally, the commission, without the need for additional voter approval, shall adopt the regional transportation investment district voter-approved plan as part of the commission's regional mobility investment plan.

PART VII
2007 RTA BALLOT MEASURES

Sec. 701. RCW 81.112.030 and 2006 c 311 s 12 are each amended to read as follows:

Two or more contiguous counties each having a population of four hundred thousand persons or more may establish a regional transit authority to develop and operate a high capacity transportation system as defined in chapter 81.104 RCW.

The authority shall be formed in the following manner:

(1) The joint regional policy committee created pursuant to RCW 81.104.040 shall adopt a system and financing plan, including the definition of the service area. This action shall be completed by September 1, 1992, contingent upon satisfactory completion of the planning process defined in RCW 81.104.100. The final system plan shall be adopted no later than June 30, 1993. In addition to the requirements of RCW 81.104.100, the plan for the proposed system shall provide explicitly for a minimum portion of new tax revenues to be allocated to local transit agencies for interim express services. Upon adoption the joint regional policy committee shall immediately transmit the plan to the county legislative authorities within the adopted service area.

(2) The legislative authorities of the counties within the service area shall decide by resolution whether to participate in the authority. This action shall be completed within forty-five days following receipt of the adopted plan or by August 13, 1993, whichever comes first.

(3) Each county that chooses to participate in the authority shall appoint its board members as set forth in RCW 81.112.040 and shall submit its list of members to the secretary of the Washington state department of transportation. These actions must be completed within thirty days following each county's decision to participate in the authority.

(4) The secretary shall call the first meeting of the authority, to be held within thirty days following receipt of the appointments. At its first meeting, the authority shall elect officers and provide for the adoption of rules and other operating procedures.

(5) The authority is formally constituted at its first meeting and the board shall begin taking steps toward implementation of the system and financing plan adopted by the joint regional policy committee. If the joint regional policy committee fails to adopt a plan by June 30, 1993, the authority shall proceed to do so based on the work completed by that date by the joint regional policy committee. Upon formation of the authority, the joint regional policy committee shall cease to exist. The authority may make minor modifications to the plan as deemed necessary and shall at a minimum review local transit agencies' plans to ensure feeder service/high capacity transit service integration, ensure fare integration, and ensure avoidance of parallel competitive services. The authority shall also conduct a minimum thirty-day public comment period.

(6) If the authority determines that major modifications to the plan are necessary before the initial ballot proposition is submitted to the voters, the authority may make those modifications with a favorable vote of two-thirds of the entire membership. Any such modification shall be subject to the review process set forth in RCW 81.104.110. The modified plan shall be transmitted to the legislative authorities of the participating counties. The legislative authorities shall have forty-five days following receipt to act by motion or ordinance to confirm or rescind their continued participation in the authority.

(7) If any county opts to not participate in the authority, but two or more contiguous counties do choose to continue to participate, the authority's board shall be revised accordingly. The authority shall, within forty-five days, redefine the system and financing plan to reflect elimination of one or more counties, and submit the redefined plan to the legislative authorities of the remaining counties for their decision as to whether to continue to participate. This action shall be completed within forty-five days following receipt of the redefined plan.

(8) The authority shall place on the ballot within two years of the authority's formation, a single ballot proposition to authorize the imposition of taxes to support the implementation of an appropriate phase of the plan within its service area. In addition to the system plan requirements contained in RCW 81.104.100(2)(d), the system plan approved by the authority's board before the submittal of a proposition to the voters shall contain an equity element which:

(a) Identifies revenues anticipated to be generated by corridor and by county within the authority's boundaries;

(b) Identifies the phasing of construction and operation of high capacity system facilities, services, and benefits in each corridor. Phasing decisions should give priority to jurisdictions which have adopted transit-supportive land use plans; and

(c) Identifies the degree to which revenues generated within each county will benefit the residents of that county, and identifies when such benefits will accrue.

SIXTY-FOURTH DAY, MARCH 12, 2007

2007 REGULAR SESSION

A simple majority of those voting within the boundaries of the authority is required for approval. If the vote is affirmative, the authority shall begin implementation of the projects identified in the proposition. However, the authority may not submit any authorizing proposition for voter-approved taxes prior to July 1, 1993; nor may the authority issue bonds or form any local improvement district prior to July 1, 1993.

(9) If the vote on a proposition fails, the board may redefine the proposition, make changes to the authority boundaries, and make corresponding changes to the composition of the board. If the composition of the board is changed, the participating counties shall revise the membership of the board accordingly. The board may then submit the revised proposition or a different proposition to the voters. No single proposition may be submitted to the voters more than twice. Beginning no sooner than the 2007 general election, the authority may place additional propositions on the ballot to impose taxes to support additional phases of plan implementation.

(10) In conjunction with RCW 36.120.070, at the 2007 general election the authority shall submit a proposition to support additional implementation phases of the authority's system and financing plan on the same ballot along with a regional transportation investment plan developed under chapter 36.120 RCW. The proposition shall not be considered approved unless voters also approve the regional transportation investment plan.

(11) A regional transit authority shall submit additional phases of plan implementation ((may include a transportation subarea equity element which (a) identifies the combined authority and regional transportation investment district revenues anticipated to be generated by corridor and by county within the authority's boundaries, and (b) identifies the degree to which the combined authority and regional transportation investment district revenues generated within each county will benefit the residents of that county, and identifies when such benefits will accrue. For purposes of the transportation subarea equity principle established under this subsection, the authority may use the five subareas within the authority's boundaries as identified in the authority's system plan adopted in May 1996)) to the regional transportation commission, if fully constituted and authorized to exercise its powers as prescribed in section 301(2) of this act within the authority's geographic area, for inclusion in the regional mobility investment plan for voter approval under section 305(2) of this act.

(12) If the authority is unable to achieve a positive vote on a proposition within two years from the date of the first election on a proposition, the board may, by resolution, reconstitute the authority as a single-county body. With a two-thirds vote of the entire membership of the voting members, the board may also dissolve the authority.

POINT OF ORDER

Senator Benton: "Thank you Mr. President. In the actual language of the bill it says on page 2, line 5, that, an additional fee of $12.00 shall be charged. $10.00 from the additional fee shall be deposited into the state wildlife account and $2.00 of the fee shall be deposited in the wildlife rehabilitation account. My parliamentary inquiry is as follows: You made a ruling just a few days ago pertaining to the restrictions and the difference between fees and taxes. Since this fee will be assessed on the people of this state that purchase personalize license plates not restricted, by the way, to wildlife license plates but personalized license plates. The way the bill reads then that fee will then be used as a general tax, would be used to fund a new wildlife rehabilitation account which is established or created under section 3 of this act. So, my question to you, Mr. President, is this: It is in fact a fee or is it a tax? I believe that it is a tax because the fee is imposed on personalized license plates purchasers yet it is used for a wider, more general purpose that is not connected and there is no nexus, Mr. President, between a license plate fee and the people that have those license plates and how the fee would actually be used. So, does this require a two-thirds vote for passage or simple majority?"

REPLY BY THE PRESIDENT

President Owen: "Senator Benton, you asked two questions; Whether this was a tax and then, the other part of it, which I think is the bottom line of what your point of order is that whether or not this takes two-thirds or majority vote. So that is way I believe the President will present it. That the point of order raised by Senator Benton is to the number of votes necessary to pass this piece of legislation."

Senator Haugen spoke against the motion.

On motion of Senator Eide, further consideration of Second Substitute Senate Bill No. 5188 was deferred and the bill held its place on the third reading calendar.

(a) Mail notice of its intent to obtain custody, at least twenty days prior to taking custody, to the last known address of the previous owner to register the vessel in any state or with the federal government and to any lien holders or secured interests on record. A notice need not be sent to the purported owner or any other person whose interest in the vessel is not recorded with a state or federal agency;

(b) Post notice of its intent clearly on the vessel for thirty days and publish its intent at least once, more than ten days but less than twenty days prior to taking custody, in a newspaper of general circulation for the county in which the vessel is located; and

(c) Post notice of its intent on the department's internet web site on a page specifically designated for such notices. If the authorized public entity is not the department, the department must facilitate the internet posting.

(2) All notices sent, posted, or published in accordance with this section must, at a minimum, explain the intent of the authorized public entity to take custody of the vessel, the rights of the authorized public entity after taking custody of the vessel as provided in RCW 79.100.030, the procedures the owner must follow in order to avoid custody being taken by the authorized public entity, the procedures the owner must follow in order to reclaim possession after custody is taken by the authorized public entity, and the financial liabilities that the owner may incur as provided for in RCW 79.100.060.

(3)(a) If a vessel is: (i) In immediate danger of sinking, breaking up, or blocking navigational channels(ç); or (ii) poses a reasonably imminent threat to human health or safety, including a threat of environmental contamination; and (iii) the owner of the vessel cannot be located or is unwilling or unable to assume immediate responsibility for the vessel, any authorized public entity may tow, beach, or otherwise take temporary possession of the vessel.

(b) Before taking temporary possession of the vessel, the authorized public entity must make reasonable attempts to consult with the department or the United States coast guard to ensure that other remedies are not available. The basis for taking temporary possession of the vessel must be set out in writing by the authorized public entity within seven days of taking action and be submitted to the owner, if known, as soon thereafter as is reasonable. If the authorized public entity has not already provided the required notice, immediately after taking possession of the vessel, the authorized public entity must initiate the notice provisions in subsection (1) of this section. The authorized public entity must complete the notice requirements of subsection (1) of this section before using or disposing of the vessel as authorized in RCW 79.100.050.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. A new section is added to chapter 79.100 RCW to read as follows:

A marina owner may contract with a local government for the purpose of participating in the derelict vessel removal program. The local government shall serve as the authorized public entity for the removal of the derelict vessel from the marina owner's property. The contract must provide for the marina owner to be financially responsible for the removal costs that are not reimbursed by the department as provided under RCW 79.100.100, and any additional reasonable administrative costs incurred by the local government during the removal of the derelict vessel. Prior to the commencement of any removal which will seek reimbursement from the derelict vessel removal program, the contract and the proposed vessel removal shall be submitted to the department for review and approval. The local government shall use the procedure specified under RCW 79.100.100(6).

2007 REGULAR SESSION

(1) The derelict vessel removal account is created in the state treasury. All receipts from RCW 79.100.050 and 79.100.060 and those moneys specified in RCW 88.02.030 and 88.02.050 must be deposited into the account. The account is authorized to receive fund transfers from the general fund or the state oil spill prevention account created in RCW 90.56.510, deposits from the watercraft excise tax under RCW 82.49.030, deposits from the derelict vessel removal surcharge under section 9 of this act, as well as gifts, grants, and endowments from public or private sources as may be made from time to time, in trust or otherwise, for the use and benefit of the purposes of this chapter and expend the same or any income according to the terms of the gifts, grants, or endowments provided those terms do not conflict with any provisions of this section or any guidelines developed to prioritize reimbursement of removal projects associated with this chapter. Moneys in the account may only be spent after appropriation. Expenditures from the account shall be used by the department to reimburse authorized public entities for up to ninety percent of the total reasonable and auditable administrative, removal, disposal, and environmental damage costs of abandoned or derelict vessels when the previous owner is either unknown after a reasonable search effort or insolvent. Reimbursement shall not be made unless the department determines that the public entity has made reasonable efforts to identify and locate the party responsible for the vessel, regardless of the title of owner of the vessel. Funds in the account resulting from transfers from the general fund, the state oil spill prevention account, or from the deposit of funds from the watercraft excise tax as provided for under RCW 82.49.030 shall be used to reimburse one hundred percent of these costs and should be prioritized for the removal of large vessels. Costs associated with removal and disposal of an abandoned or derelict vessel under the authority granted in RCW 53.08.320 also qualify for reimbursement from the derelict vessel removal account. In each biennium, up to twenty percent of the expenditures from the account may be used for administrative expenses of the department of licensing and department of natural resources in implementing this chapter.

(2) If the balance of the account reaches one million dollars as of March 1st of any year, exclusive of any fund transfers from the general fund or the state oil spill prevention account or any funds deposited into the account collected under RCW 82.49.030 and section 9 of this act, the department must notify the department of licensing and the collection of any fees associated with this account must be suspended for the following fiscal year.

(3) Priority for use of this account is for the removal of derelict and abandoned vessels that are in danger of sinking, breaking up, or blocking navigation channels, or that present environmental risks such as leaking fuel or other hazardous substances. The department must develop criteria, in the form of informal guidelines, to prioritize removal projects associated with this chapter, but may not consider whether the applicant is a state or local entity when prioritizing. The guidelines must also include guidance to the authorized public entities as to what removal activities and associated costs are reasonable and eligible for reimbursement.

(4) The department must keep all authorized public entities apprized of the balance of the derelict vessel removal account and the funds available for reimbursement. The guidelines developed by the department must also be made available to the other authorized public entities. This subsection (4) must be satisfied by utilizing the least costly method, including maintaining the information on the department's internet web site, or any other cost-effective method.

(5) An authorized public entity may contribute its ten percent of costs that are not eligible for reimbursement by using in-kind services, including the use of existing staff, equipment, and volunteers.

(6) This chapter does not guarantee reimbursement for an authorized public entity. Authorized public entities seeking certainty in reimbursement prior to taking action under this chapter may first notify the department of their proposed action and the estimated total costs. Upon notification by an authorized public entity, the department must make the authorized public entity aware of the status of the fund and the likelihood of reimbursement being available. The department may offer technical assistance and assure reimbursement for up to two years following the removal action if an assurance is appropriate given the balance of the fund and the details of the proposed action.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 5. A new section is added to chapter 88.02 RCW to read as follows:

(1) A marina that leases permanent moorage to vessels must require the following information from the lessee as a condition of leasing moorage space: (a) The name of the legal owner of the vessel; (b) a local contact person, if different than the owner; (c) the owner's address and telephone number; (d) the vessel's hull identification number; (e) the vessel's coast guard registration, if applicable; (f) the vessel's home port; (g) the date on which the moorage lease began; and (h) the vessel's country or state of registration and registration number. A marina shall maintain records of this information for at least two years. The marina shall permit any authorized agent of the department of natural resources to inspect these records upon request.

(2) A marina that leases permanent moorage to vessels must require proof of vessel registration or a written statement of intent to register a vessel as a condition of leasing moorage space. If the applicant's vessel is not registered in this state, the marina must inform the moorage applicant of the state law requiring vessel registration and direct the moorage applicant to the appropriate vessel registration forms. Thereafter, it is the moorage applicant's responsibility to register the vessel.

Sec. 6. RCW 82.49.030 and 2000 c 103 s 18 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) The excise tax imposed under this chapter is due and payable to the department of licensing or its agents at the time of registration of a vessel. The department of licensing shall not issue or renew a registration for a vessel until the tax is paid in full.

(2) ~~((The))~~ In calendar year 2007, one million dollars of the watercraft excise tax collected under this chapter shall be deposited into the derelict vessel removal account under RCW 79.100.100. Beginning January 1, 2008, through December 31, 2012, the first one million dollars of watercraft excise tax collected under this chapter shall be deposited in the derelict vessel removal account under RCW 79.100.100. Once one million dollars has been deposited into the derelict vessel removal account the excise tax collected under this chapter shall be deposited into the general fund.

(3) Beginning January 1, 2013, the excise tax collected under this chapter shall be deposited in the general fund.

Sec. 7. RCW 88.02.050 and 2005 c 464 s 2 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) Application for a vessel registration shall be made to the department or its authorized agent in the manner and upon forms prescribed by the department. The application shall state the name and address of each owner of the vessel and such other information as may be required by the department, shall be signed by at least one owner, and shall be accompanied by a vessel registration fee of ten dollars and fifty cents per year and the excise tax imposed under chapter 82.49 RCW.

(2) Five additional dollars must be collected annually from every vessel registration application. These moneys must be distributed in the following manner:

(a) Two dollars must be deposited into the derelict vessel removal account established in RCW 79.100.100. If the department of natural resources indicates that the balance of the derelict vessel removal account, not including any transfer of funds into the account or funds deposited into the account collected under RCW 82.49.030 and section 9 of this act, reaches one million dollars as of March 1st of any year, the collection of the two-dollar fee must be suspended for the following fiscal year.

(b) One dollar and fifty cents must be deposited in the aquatic invasive species prevention account created in RCW 77.12.879.

(c) One dollar must be deposited into the freshwater aquatic algae control account created in RCW 43.21A.667.

(d) Fifty cents must be deposited into the aquatic invasive species enforcement account created in RCW 43.43.400.

(3) Any fees required for licensing agents under RCW 46.01.140 shall be in addition to the ten dollar and fifty cent annual registration fee and the five-dollar fee created in subsection (2) of this section.

(4) Upon receipt of the application and the registration fee, the department shall assign a registration number and issue a decal for each vessel. The registration number and decal shall be issued and affixed to the vessel in a manner prescribed by the department consistent with the standard numbering system for vessels set forth in volume 33, part 174, of the code of federal regulations. A valid decal affixed as prescribed shall indicate compliance with the annual registration requirements of this chapter.

(5) The vessel registrations and decals are valid for a period of one year, except that the director of licensing may extend or diminish vessel registration periods, and the decals therefor, for the purpose of staggered renewal periods. For registration periods of more or less than one year, the department may collect prorated annual registration fees and excise taxes based upon the number of months in the registration period. Vessel registrations are renewable every year in a manner prescribed by the department upon payment of the vessel registration fee, excise tax, and the derelict vessel fee. Upon renewing a vessel registration, the department shall issue a new decal to be affixed as prescribed by the department.

(6) When the department issues either a notice to renew a vessel registration or a decal for a new or renewed vessel registration, it shall also provide information on the location of marine oil recycling tanks and sewage holding tank pumping stations. This information will be provided to the department by the state parks and recreation commission in a form ready for distribution. The form will be developed and prepared by the state parks and recreation commission with the cooperation of the department of ecology. The department, the state parks and recreation commission, and the department of ecology shall enter into a memorandum of agreement to implement this process.

(7) A person acquiring a vessel from a dealer or a vessel already validly registered under this chapter shall, within fifteen days of the acquisition or purchase of the vessel, apply to the department or its authorized agent for transfer of the vessel registration, and the application shall be accompanied by a transfer fee of one dollar.

In addition, two additional dollars must be collected annually from every vessel registration application. These moneys must be deposited into the derelict vessel removal account established in RCW 79.100.100. If the department of natural resources indicates that the balance of the derelict vessel removal account, not including any transfer of funds into the account or funds deposited into the account collected under RCW 82.49.030 and section 9 of this act, reaches one million dollars as of March 1st of any year, the collection of the two-dollar fee must be suspended for the request to the office of financial management and the legislature, and by August 1st each year, the board shall provide a copy of its portfolio of selected projects to the department and the commission. The board shall ensure that projects submitted as part of the portfolio are not more appropriately funded with other federal, state, or local government funding mechanisms or programs. The board shall reject those projects that appear to improve overall general mobility with limited enhancement for freight mobility.

(c) Review and evaluate project applications based on criteria established under this section, and prioritize and select projects comprising a portfolio to be funded in part with grants from state funds appropriated for the freight mobility strategic investment program. In determining the appropriate level of state funding for a project, the board shall ensure that state funds are allocated to leverage the greatest amount of partnership funding possible. After selecting projects comprising the portfolio, the board shall submit them as part of its budget

The department shall consider the portfolio furnished by the board in developing and updating the state's plan for participation in rail infrastructure improvements, and the commission shall consider the portfolio furnished by the board when reviewing the department's plan and making recommendations to the legislature under section 4 of this act. The board shall provide periodic progress reports on its activities to the office of financial management and the senate and house transportation committees.

(2) The board may:

(a) Accept from any state or federal agency, loans or grants for the financing of any transportation project and enter into agreements with any such agency concerning the loans or grants;

(b) Provide technical assistance to project applicants;

(c) Accept any gifts, grants, or loans of funds, property, or financial, or other aid in any form from any other source on any terms and conditions which are not in conflict with this chapter;

(d) Adopt rules under chapter 34.05 RCW as necessary to carry out the purposes of this chapter; and

(e) Do all things necessary or convenient to carry out the powers expressly granted or implied under this chapter.

(3) The board shall designate strategic freight corridors within the state. The board shall update the list of designated strategic corridors not less than every two years, and shall establish a method of collecting and verifying data, including information on city and county-owned roadways.

(4) The board shall utilize threshold project eligibility criteria that, at a minimum, includes the following:

(a) The project must be on a strategic freight corridor;

(b) The project must meet one of the following conditions:

(i) It is primarily aimed at reducing identified barriers to freight movement with only incidental benefits to general or personal mobility; or

(ii) It is primarily aimed at increasing capacity for the movement of freight with only incidental benefits to general or personal mobility; or

(iii) It is primarily aimed at mitigating the impact on communities of increasing freight movement, including roadway/railway conflicts; ~~(and)~~

(c) The project must have a total public benefit/total public cost ratio of equal to or greater than one; and

After June 30, 2001, the board may supplement and refine the initial project priority criteria and scoring framework developed by the freight mobility project prioritization committee as expertise and experience is gained in administering the freight mobility program.

(6) It is the intent of the legislature that each freight mobility project contained in the project portfolio submitted by the board utilize the greatest amount of nonstate funding possible. The board shall adopt rules that give preference to projects that contain the greatest levels of financial participation from nonprogram fund sources. The board shall consider twenty percent as the minimum partnership contribution, but shall also ensure that there are provisions allowing exceptions for projects that are located in areas where minimal local funding capacity exists or where the magnitude of the project makes the adopted partnership contribution financially unfeasible.

(7) The board shall develop and recommend policies that address operational improvements that primarily benefit and enhance freight movement, including, but not limited to, policies that reduce congestion in truck lanes at border crossings and weigh stations and provide for access to ports during nonpeak hours."

Regarding alternative assessments. Revised for 1st Substitute: Concerning the Washington assessment of student learning.

MOTION

On motion of Senator Tom, Substitute Senate Bill No. 6023 was substituted for Senate Bill No. 6023 and the substitute bill was placed on the second reading and read the second time.

MOTION

Senator Tom moved that the following striking amendment by Senators Tom, Holmquist and McAuliffe be adopted:

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

"Sec. 1. RCW 28A.655.061 and 2006 c 115 s 4 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) The high school assessment system shall include but need not be limited to the Washington assessment of student learning, opportunities for a student to retake the content areas of the assessment in which the student was not successful, and if approved by the legislature pursuant to subsection (10) of this section, one or more objective alternative assessments for a student to demonstrate achievement of state academic standards. The objective alternative assessments for each content area shall be comparable in rigor to the skills and knowledge that the student must demonstrate on the Washington assessment of student learning for each content area.

(2) Subject to the conditions in this section, a certificate of academic achievement shall be obtained by most students at about the age of sixteen, and is evidence that the students have successfully met the state standard in the content areas included in the certificate. With the exception of students satisfying the provisions of RCW 28A.155.045 or section 6 of this act, acquisition of the certificate is required for graduation from a public high school but is not the only requirement for graduation.

(3) Beginning with the graduating class of 2008, with the exception of students satisfying the provisions of RCW 28A.155.045, a student who meets the state standards on the reading, writing, and mathematics content areas of the high school Washington assessment of student learning shall earn a certificate of academic achievement. If a student does not successfully meet the state standards in one or more content areas required for the certificate of academic achievement, then the student may retake the assessment in the content area up to four times at no cost to the student. If the student successfully meets the state standards on a retake of the assessment then the student shall earn a certificate of academic achievement. Once objective alternative assessments are authorized pursuant to subsection (10) of this section, a student may use the objective alternative assessments to demonstrate that the student successfully meets the state standards for that content area (~~if the student has retaken the Washington assessment of student learning at least once~~) as provided in this section. If the student successfully meets the state standards on the objective alternative assessments then the student shall earn a certificate of academic achievement.

(4) Beginning with the graduating class of ~~(2010)~~ 2011, a student must meet the state standards in science in addition to the other content areas required under subsection (3) of this section on the Washington assessment of student learning or the objective alternative assessments in order to earn a certificate of academic achievement.

(5) The state board of education may not require the acquisition of the certificate of academic achievement for students in home-based instruction under chapter 28A.200 RCW, for students enrolled in private schools under chapter 28A.195 RCW, or for students satisfying the provisions of RCW 28A.155.045.

(6) A student may retain and use the highest result from each successfully completed content area of the high school assessment.

(7) ~~((Beginning in 2006,))~~ School districts must make available to students the following options:

(a) To retake the Washington assessment of student learning up to four times in the content areas in which the student did not meet the state standards if the student is enrolled in a public school; or

(b) To retake the Washington assessment of student learning up to four times in the content areas in which the student did not meet the state standards if the student is enrolled in a high school completion program at a community or technical college. The superintendent of public instruction and the state board for community and technical colleges shall jointly identify means by which students in these programs can be assessed.

(8) Students who achieve the standard in a content area of the high school assessment but who wish to improve their results shall pay for retaking the assessment, using a uniform cost determined by the superintendent of public instruction.

(9) ~~((Subject to available funding, the superintendent shall pilot opportunities for retaking the high school assessment beginning in the 2004-05 school year. Beginning no later than September 2006,))~~ Opportunities to retake the assessment at least twice a year shall be available to each school district.

(10)(a) The office of the superintendent of public instruction shall develop options for implementing objective alternative assessments, which may include an appeals process that is separate from the appeals process through the educational service districts established in section 2 of this act, for students to demonstrate achievement of the state academic standards. The objective alternative assessments shall be comparable in rigor to the skills and knowledge that the student must demonstrate on the Washington assessment of student learning and be objective in its determination of student achievement of the state standards. Before any objective alternative assessments in addition to those authorized in RCW 28A.655.065 or (b) of this subsection are used by a student to demonstrate that the student has met the state standards in a content area required to obtain a certificate, the legislature shall formally approve the use of any objective alternative assessments not provided in (b) of this subsection through the omnibus appropriations act or by statute or concurrent resolution.

(b) This subsection (10)(b) provides the only legislatively approved objective alternative assessments for which the state must provide funding.

(i) A student's score on the mathematics, reading or English, or writing portion of the preliminary scholastic assessment test (PSAT), the scholastic assessment test (SAT), or the American college test (ACT) may be used as an objective alternative assessment under this section for demonstrating that a student has met or exceeded the ((mathematics)) state standards for the certificate of academic achievement. The state board of education shall identify the scores students must achieve on the ((mathematics)) relevant portion of the PSAT, SAT, or ACT to meet or exceed the state standard ((for mathematics)) in the relevant content area on the Washington assessment of student learning. The state board of education shall identify the first reading, English, and writing scores by December 1, ((2006)) 2007, and thereafter may increase but not decrease the scores required for students to meet or exceed the state ((standard for mathematics)) standards.

(ii) A student who scores at least a three on the grading scale of one to five for selected advance placement examinations may use the score as an objective alternative assessment under this section for demonstrating that a student has met or exceeded state standards for the certificate of academic achievement. A score of three on the advance placement examinations in calculus or statistics may be used as an alternative assessment for the mathematics portion of the Washington assessment of student learning. A score of three on the advance placement examinations in English language and composition may be used as an alternative assessment for the writing portion of the Washington assessment of student learning. A score of three on the advance placement examinations in English literature and composition, macroeconomics, microeconomics, psychology, United States history, world history, United States government and politics, or comparative government and politics may be used as an alternative assessment for the reading portion of the Washington assessment of student learning.

(iii) The state board of education shall approve three tenth grade-level standardized norm-referenced student achievement tests in each content area to serve as objective alternative assessments under this section for demonstrating that a student has met or exceeded state standards for the certificate of academic achievement. Upon the request of a student who is seeking to use one of the designated tests as an objective alternative, a school district shall obtain and administer the test to the student. By September 1, 2007, the state board of education shall determine the score that a student must obtain on each designated test for the test for the student to obtain a certificate of academic achievement.

(iv) The end-of-course assessments as provided in section 7 of this act may be used as objective alternative assessments.

(11) By December 15, 2004, the house of representatives and senate education committees shall obtain information and conclusions from recognized, independent, national assessment experts regarding the validity and reliability of the high school Washington assessment of student learning for making individual student high school graduation determinations.

~~((12) To help assure continued progress in academic achievement as a foundation for high school graduation and to assure that students are on track for high school graduation, each school district shall prepare plans for students as provided in this subsection (12):~~

~~(a) Student learning plans are required for eighth through twelfth grade students who were not successful on any or all of the content areas of the Washington assessment for student learning during the previous school year. The plan shall include the courses, competencies, and other steps needed to be taken by the student to meet state academic standards and stay on track for graduation. This requirement shall be phased in as follows:~~

~~(i) Beginning no later than the 2004-05 school year ninth grade students as described in this subsection (12)(a) shall have a plan.~~

~~(ii) Beginning no later than the 2005-06 school year and every year thereafter eighth grade students as described in this subsection (12)(a) shall have a plan.~~

~~(iii) The parent or guardian shall be notified, preferably through a parent conference, of the student's results on the Washington assessment of student learning, actions the school intends to take to improve the student's skills in any content area in which the student was unsuccessful, strategies to help them improve their student's skills, and the content of the student's plan.~~

~~(iv) Progress made on the student plan shall be reported to the student's parents or guardian at least annually and adjustments to the plan made as necessary.~~

~~(b) Beginning with the 2005-06 school year and every year thereafter, all fifth grade students who were not successful in one or more of the content areas of the fourth grade Washington assessment of student learning shall have a student learning plan.~~

~~(i) The parent or guardian of a student described in this subsection (12)(b) shall be notified, preferably through a parent conference, of the student's results on the Washington assessment of student learning, actions the school intends to take to improve the student's skills in any content area in which the~~ student was unsuccessful, and provide strategies to help them improve their student's skills.

~~(ii) Progress made on the student plan shall be reported to the student's parents or guardian at least annually and adjustments to the plan made as necessary.)~~

Sec. 2. RCW 28A.655.065 and 2006 c 115 s 1 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) The legislature has made a commitment to rigorous academic standards for receipt of a high school diploma. The primary way that students will demonstrate that they meet the standards in reading(;) and writing(~~(- mathematics, and science)~~) is through the Washington assessment of student learning. Once the end-of-course examinations are developed for mathematics and science, as provided in section 7 of this act, then these end-of-course examinations shall be the primary way that students demonstrate they meet the standards in mathematics and science. Only objective assessments that are comparable in rigor to the state assessment are authorized as an alternative assessment. Before seeking an alternative assessment, the legislature expects students to make a genuine effort to meet state standards, through (~~retaking the Washington assessment of student learning;~~) regular and consistent attendance at school(;) and participation in extended learning and other assistance programs.

(2) Under RCW 28A.655.061, beginning in the 2006-07 school year, the superintendent of public instruction shall implement objective alternative assessment methods as provided in this section for students to demonstrate achievement of the state standards in content areas in which the student has not yet met the standard on the high school Washington assessment of student learning. A student may access an alternative if the student meets applicable eligibility criteria in RCW 28A.655.061 and other eligibility criteria established by the superintendent of public instruction, including but not limited to attendance criteria and participation in the remediation or supplemental instruction contained in the student learning plan developed under RCW 28A.655.061. A school district may waive attendance and/or remediation criteria for special, unavoidable circumstances.

(3) For the purposes of this section, "applicant" means a student seeking to use one of the alternative assessment methods in this section.

(4) One alternative assessment method shall be a combination of the applicant's grades in applicable courses and the applicant's highest score on the high school Washington assessment of student learning, as provided in this subsection. The superintendent of public instruction shall determine which high school courses are applicable to the alternative assessment method and shall issue guidelines to school districts.

(a) Using guidelines prepared by the superintendent of public instruction, a school district shall identify the group of students in the same school as the applicant who took the same high school courses as the applicant in the applicable content area. From the group of students identified in this manner, the district shall select the comparison cohort that shall be those students who met or slightly exceeded the state standard on the Washington assessment of student learning.

(b) The district shall compare the applicant's grades in high school courses in the applicable content area to the grades of students in the comparison cohort for the same high school courses. If the applicant's grades are equal to or above the mean grades of the comparison cohort, the applicant shall be deemed to have met the state standard on the alternative assessment.

(c) An applicant may not use the alternative assessment under this subsection (4) if there are fewer than six students in the comparison cohort.

(5) The superintendent of public instruction shall develop an alternative assessment method that shall be an evaluation of a collection of work samples prepared and submitted by the applicant, as provided in this subsection and, for career and technical applicants, the additional requirements of subsection (6) of this section.

(a) The superintendent of public instruction shall develop guidelines for the types and number of work samples in each content area that may be submitted as a collection of evidence that the applicant has met the state standard in that content area. Work samples may be collected from academic, career and technical, or remedial courses and may include performance tasks as well as written products. The superintendent shall submit the guidelines for approval by the state board of education.

(b) The superintendent shall develop protocols for submission of the collection of work samples that include affidavits from the applicant's teachers and school district that the samples are the work of the applicant and a requirement that a portion of the samples be prepared under the direct supervision of a classroom teacher. The superintendent shall submit the protocols for approval by the state board of education.

(c) The superintendent shall develop uniform scoring criteria for evaluating the collection of work samples and submit the scoring criteria for approval by the state board of education. Collections shall be scored at the state level or regionally by a panel of educators selected and trained by the superintendent to ensure objectivity, reliability, and rigor in the evaluation. An educator may not score work samples submitted by applicants from the educator's school district. If the panel awards an applicant's collection of work samples the minimum required score, the applicant shall be deemed to have met the state standard on the alternative assessment.

(d) Using an open and public process that includes consultation with district superintendents, school principals, and other educators, the state board of education shall consider the guidelines, protocols, scoring criteria, and other information regarding the collection of work samples submitted by the superintendent of public instruction. The collection of work samples may be implemented as an alternative assessment after the state board of education has approved the guidelines, protocols, and scoring criteria and determined that the collection of work samples: (i) Will meet professionally accepted standards for a valid and reliable measure of the grade level expectations and the essential academic learning requirements; and (ii) is comparable to or exceeds the rigor of the skills and knowledge that a student must demonstrate on the Washington assessment of student learning in the applicable content area. The state board shall make an approval decision and determination no later than December 1, 2006, and thereafter may increase the required rigor of the collection of work samples.

(e) By September of 2006, the superintendent of public instruction shall develop informational materials for parents, teachers, and students regarding the collection of work samples and the status of its development as an alternative assessment method. The materials shall provide specific guidance regarding the type and number of work samples likely to be required, include examples of work that meets the state learning standards, and describe the scoring criteria and process for the collection. The materials shall also encourage students in the graduating class of 2008 to begin creating a collection if they believe they may seek to use the collection once it is implemented as an alternative assessment.

(6)(a) For students enrolled in a career and technical education program approved under RCW 28C.04.110, the superintendent of public instruction shall develop additional guidelines for a collection of work samples that evidences that the collection:

(i) Is relevant to the student's particular career and technical program;

(ii) Focuses on the application of academic knowledge and skills within the program;

2007 REGULAR SESSION

(iii) Includes completed activities or projects where demonstration of academic knowledge is inferred; and

(iv) Is related to the essential academic learning requirements and state standards that students must meet to earn a certificate of academic achievement or certificate of individual achievement, but also represents the knowledge and skills that successful individuals in the career and technical field of the approved program are expected to possess.

(b) To meet the state standard on the alternative assessment under this subsection (6), an applicant must also attain the state or nationally recognized certificate or credential associated with the approved career and technical program.

(c) The superintendent shall consult with community and technical colleges, employers, the work force training and education coordinating board, apprenticeship programs, and other regional and national experts in career and technical education to create an appropriate collection of work samples and other evidence of a career and technical student's knowledge and skills on the state academic standards.

(7) The superintendent of public instruction shall study the feasibility of using existing mathematics assessments in languages other than English as an additional alternative assessment option. The study shall include an estimation of the cost of translating the tenth grade mathematics assessment into other languages and scoring the assessments should they be implemented.

(8) The superintendent of public instruction shall implement:

(a) By June 1, 2006, a process for students to appeal the score they received on the high school assessments; and

(b) By January 1, 2007, guidelines and appeal processes for waiving specific requirements in RCW 28A.655.061 pertaining to the certificate of academic achievement and to the certificate of individual achievement for students who: (i) Transfer to a Washington public school in their junior or senior year with the intent of obtaining a public high school diploma, or (ii) have special, unavoidable circumstances.

(9)(a) Each educational service district shall establish an appeals panel comprised of educators of the relevant content areas on the Washington assessment of student learning to review and decide appeals submitted by students who did not meet the state standard on the tenth grade Washington assessment of student learning or an objective alternative assessment. The appeal shall not be an appeal established in subsection (8) of this section, but an appeal by a student to demonstrate that he or she has a level of understanding of a content area assessed on the Washington assessment of student learning to meet the state standard, but due to certain circumstances was unable to demonstrate this level of understanding on the assessment.

(b) The state board of education shall establish criteria for the panels to use to make the determinations.

(c) A student is eligible to access the appeal process if the student has retaken the Washington assessment of student learning or has taken an alternative assessment in the content area in which the student is appealing.

(d) The educational service districts jointly shall annually submit a report to the legislature on the number and types of appeals that are received and the number and type of appeals that are approved.

(10)(a) Except for rules implementing subsection (9) of this section, the superintendent of public instruction ((may)) shall adopt rules to implement this section.

(b) The state board of education shall adopt rules to implement subsection (9) of this section.

SIXTY-FOURTH DAY, MARCH 12, 2007

superintendent of public instruction to assess the English and academic proficiency of English language learners under RCW 28A.180.090, shall not be required to take the Washington assessment of student learning, except as required by federal law. However, these students are still subject to the graduation requirements established in RCW 28A.655.061.

Sec. 4. RCW 28A.155.045 and 2004 c 19 s 104 are each amended to read as follows:

Beginning with the graduating class of 2008, students served under this chapter, who are not appropriately assessed by the high school Washington assessment system as defined in RCW 28A.655.061, even with accommodations, may earn a certificate of individual achievement. The certificate may be earned using multiple ways to demonstrate skills and abilities commensurate with their individual education programs. The determination of whether the high school assessment system is appropriate shall be made by the student's individual education program team. Except as provided in section 6 of this act, for these students, the certificate of individual achievement is required for graduation from a public high school, but need not be the only requirement for graduation. When measures other than the high school assessment system as defined in RCW 28A.655.061 are used, the measures shall be in agreement with the appropriate educational opportunity provided for the student as required by this chapter. The superintendent of public instruction shall develop the guidelines for determining which students should not be required to participate in the high school assessment system and which types of assessments are appropriate to use.

When measures other than the high school assessment system as defined in RCW 28A.655.061 are used for high school graduation purposes, the student's high school transcript shall note whether that student has earned a certificate of individual achievement.

Nothing in this section shall be construed to deny a student the right to participation in the high school assessment system as defined in RCW 28A.655.061, and, upon successfully meeting the high school standard, receipt of the certificate of academic achievement.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 5. A new section is added to chapter 28A.655 RCW to read as follows:

(1)(a) To help assure continued progress in academic achievement as a foundation for high school graduation and to assure that students are on track for high school graduation, each school district shall prepare student success plans for all eighth through twelfth grade students who were not successful on any or all of the content areas of the Washington assessment for student learning during the previous school year. The plan shall be a comprehensive intervention plan to assist the student in continued academic progress and shall include the courses, competencies, and other steps needed to be taken by the student to meet state academic standards and stay on track for graduation.

(b) The plan shall require the school district to offer and the student to take a required class or sequence of classes in the content area in which the student did not meet state standards on the Washington assessment of student learning until the student does meet the state standard or graduates or reaches the age of twenty-one. The plan may require the following:

(i) The school district to offer and the student to take before-or-after school sessions, Saturday school, and/or summer school; and

(ii) A test preparation class to assist the student in preparation for the assessment the student will be taking to earn the certificate of achievement.

(c) The parent or guardian of each student with a student success plan shall be notified, preferably through a parent conference, of the student's results on the Washington assessment of student learning, actions the school intends to take to improve the student's skills in any content area in which the student was unsuccessful, strategies to help them improve their student's skills, and the content of the student's plan.

(d) The student success plan shall include semiannual academic growth benchmarks for the student to meet. Progress made on the plan and any adjustments to be made to maintain or increase the student's academic growth shall be reported to the student's parents or guardian and the superintendent of public instruction at least semiannually.

(e) The school shall develop a more intensive plan for any student who does not meet the semiannual benchmarks in consecutive periods. The student, the student's parent or guardian, the student's classroom teacher or teachers, the counselor, and the principal shall meet to develop the plan.

(f) If at least ten percent of the students with a student success plan within a school district do not meet the semiannual benchmarks established in the plan as required by this section, then the state board of education shall develop a tiered intervention plan for the school district that provides a graduated series of increasingly intensive intervention strategies for the district and the schools in which the benchmarks are not being met.

(2)(a) All fifth and sixth grade students who were not successful in one or more of the content areas of the Washington assessment of student learning shall have a student success plan.

(b) The parent or guardian of a student described in this subsection (2) shall be notified, preferably through a parent conference, of the student's results on the Washington assessment of student learning, actions the school intends to take to improve the student's skills in any content area in which the student was unsuccessful, and provide strategies to help them improve their student's skills.

(c) Progress made on the student plan shall be reported to the student's parents or guardian at least semiannually and adjustments to the plan made as necessary.

(3) All students who are English language learners who score at the intermediate level two or below on the Washington language proficiency test or equivalent level of the evaluation used by the superintendent of public instruction to assess English and academic proficiency shall have a student success plan. The student success plan shall be a comprehensive intervention plan and shall include the courses, competencies, and other steps needed to be taken by the student, school, and school district to assist the student in continued progress towards English and academic proficiency, including obtaining a certificate of academic achievement up to the time the student is age twenty-one. The plan may include before-or-after school sessions, Saturday school, and/or summer school.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 6. A new section is added to chapter 28A.655 RCW to read as follows:

(a) Have not successfully met the mathematics standard on the high school Washington assessment of student learning, an approved objective alternative assessment in mathematics, or an alternate assessment developed for eligible special education students;

(b) Have successfully met the state standard in the other content areas required for a certificate under RCW 28A.655.061 or 28A.155.045;

(c) Have met all other state and school district graduation requirements; and

(2) In addition to the requirements under subsection (1) of this section, for the graduating classes of 2008 and 2009, students must:

and his or her parents or guardians shall meet with one of the student's classroom instructors for the content area in which the student failed to successfully meet the standard and the student's guidance counselor, advisor, or mentor to determine the appropriate coursework and include the information in the student success plan required under RCW 28A.655.061;

(b) Obtain at least the equivalent of a C grade in each of the mathematics courses taken; and

(c) Continue to take the Washington assessment of student learning or appropriate objective alternative mathematics assessment until graduation.

(3) This section expires July 1, 2010.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 7. A new section is added to chapter 28A.655 RCW to read as follows:

Except as provided in (b) of this subsection, the assessments shall be scored outside of the school district at the state level or by a third party chosen by the state board of education.

(b) To facilitate ease of scoring and timely return of results, the assessments may rely on multiple choice questions. The assessments that are multiple choice questions may be administered online and may be scored at the district level.

(c) When making the selection, the state board shall consider that the results and scores should be returned in time for the information to be used when developing the student plans under RCW 28A.655.061.

(d) School districts shall administer the assessments according to a uniform assessment schedule and guidelines adopted by the superintendent to ensure appropriate security of the assessment.

(e) Neither the state board of education nor the office of the superintendent of public instruction shall develop any end-of-course examinations for the purposes of this section.

(2) The legislature's intent is that students receive instruction through credited high school courses in the content areas to be assessed and have their knowledge and skills assessed after they complete the courses. However, school districts shall be responsible for designing and implementing the courses. School districts may provide instruction in the content areas through integrated courses.

(3) The end-of-course assessments in high school mathematics shall cover algebra I and geometry. The superintendent shall make the end-of-course assessments in algebra I available to school districts as an objective alternative assessment to the Washington assessment of student learning in the 2008-09 school year. The superintendent shall make the end-of-course assessments in geometry available to school districts as an objective alternative assessment to the Washington assessment of student learning in the 2009-10 school year. (2)(a) By January 5, 2009, the state board of education shall submit a finding to the governor and the legislature regarding whether the implementation timelines established under section 7 of this act can be feasibly met. The board shall consider the following factors in making such a finding:

(i) The expected validity, reliability, and rigor of the end-of-course assessments for use in making individual student high school graduation determinations, based on information from independent national assessment experts;

(ii) Adequate notice to the graduating class of students who will be required to meet state standards on the end-of-course assessments for purposes of the certificate of academic achievement; and

(iii) Other possible factors that are supported by clear and convincing evidence.

(b) If the state board of education finds that one or more of the timelines cannot be met, the board shall:

RULING BY THE PRESIDENT

President Owen: "In ruling upon the point of order raised by Senator Brown that Amendment 208 is outside the scope and object of the underlying bill, the President finds and rules as follows.

The underlying bill establishes a spirits, beer and wine nightlife liquor license. The amendment at issue would allow certain dogs in certain liquor-serving establishments. Beyond a common reference to liquor, the amendment and bill share nothing in common, as the sections of code, departments charged with implementation, and subject matter differ greatly.

For these reasons, Amendment 208 is beyond the scope and object of the underlying bill and Senator Brown's point is well-taken.

REMARKS BY MISS LAURA DECAMP

Queen Laura DeCamp: "Well, good afternoon everybody. Gee, it kind of chilly in here. Hey, everyone up there. Hey. Well, good afternoon, my name is Laura DeCamp and I'm the Washington State Apple Blossom Queen. This is Princess Courtney Roberts and this is Princess Mikel Stanaway and we are so honored to be here today amongst you elected officials and actually we had the opportunity to meet some of you during the Lincoln Day Dinner held in Wenatchee a few weeks ago. Now, I'm not sure if you know this but to be a Apple Blossom Royalty member you to be a senior and it just so turns out that each of us girls are eighteen and with that comes the opportunity to vote. Now, I must be honest, I didn't know very much about politics when I first started high school so my senior year I signed up for a class called Citizen Washington. What that does is it introduces you to the basic foundation of politics and it also explains the duties that the majority of you in here take on and I must say, the things that you guys have to do are incredibly hard and I applaud you for your strength and representing your communities. Like I said, we're here to represent Wenatchee and the wonderful Apple Blossom Festival and so I extend a warm invitation to all of you and your families to enjoy this great festival. I must say, once you start coming you won't be able to stop because it's a festival unlike any other. Filled with a contagious amount of lasting smiles and, plus, you'll get to see us again and wouldn't that be great? The festival this year will be held from April 26 to May 6 and I hope to see all of you there. Some activities to look forward to are, for all you car buffs out there, on Friday night there's a classy chasse parade and when can all oooo and ahhhh at all the old fashion cars that we wish we could own. Then on Saturday is the grand parade and we can see floats and teams and organizations from all over the state participate. We can also have lunch down at the food fair and a lot of the food down there is made by citizens of Wenatchee. That's really cool. We're proud of that. Then you can end the night by going down, with your children or by yourselves, to the carnival. It's one of my favorites. Wenatchee is a wonderful place to visit and the Apple Blossom Festival is even more incentive to come and I give you my word that if you come to Wenatchee your stay will be forever remembered. Thank you and have a great day."

MOTION

Senator Holmquist moved that the following amendment by Senators Holmquist, Delvin and Sheldon to the striking amendment be adopted.

On page 8, after line 11 of the amendment, insert the following:

"NEW SECTION. Sec. 11. A new section is added to chapter 9.94A RCW to read as follows:

(1) In a prosecution for theft in the first or second degree, the prosecution may file a special allegation of disproportionate impact when sufficient admissible evidence exists, which, when considered with the most plausible, reasonably foreseeable defense that could be raised under the evidence, would justify a finding by a reasonable and objective fact-finder that the damage to the victim greatly exceeds the value of the stolen property.

(2) Once a special allegation has been made under this section, the state has the burden to prove beyond a reasonable doubt that the damage to the victim greatly exceeds the value of the stolen property. If a jury is had, the jury shall, if it finds the defendant guilty, also find a special verdict as to whether the damage to the victim greatly exceeds the value of the stolen property. If no jury is had, the court shall make a finding of fact as to whether the damage to the victim greatly exceeds the value of the stolen property.

(3) For the purposes of this section, damage to the victim greatly exceeds the value of the stolen property when the replacement cost of the stolen item is more than three times the value of the stolen item, or the theft of the item creates a public hazard.

Sec. 13. RCW 9.94A.533 and 2006 c 339 s 301 and 2006 c 123 s 1 are each reenacted and amended to read as follows:

(1) The provisions of this section apply to the standard sentence ranges determined by RCW 9.94A.510 or 9.94A.517.

(2) For persons convicted of the anticipatory offenses of criminal attempt, solicitation, or conspiracy under chapter 9A.28 RCW, the standard sentence range is determined by locating the sentencing grid sentence range defined by the appropriate offender score and the seriousness level of the completed crime, and multiplying the range by seventy-five percent.

(3) The following additional times shall be added to the standard sentence range for felony crimes committed after July 23, 1995, if the offender or an accomplice was armed with a firearm as defined in RCW 9.41.010 and the offender is being sentenced for one of the crimes listed in this subsection as eligible for any firearm enhancements based on the classification of the completed felony crime. If the offender is being sentenced for more than one offense, the firearm enhancement or enhancements must be added to the total period of confinement for all offenses, regardless of which underlying offense is subject to a firearm enhancement. If the offender or an accomplice was armed with a firearm as defined in RCW 9.41.010 and the offender is being sentenced for an anticipatory offense under chapter 9A.28 RCW to commit one of the crimes listed in this subsection as eligible for any firearm enhancements, the following additional times shall be added to the standard sentence range determined under subsection (2) of this section based on the felony crime of conviction as classified under RCW 9A.28.020:

(a) Five years for any felony defined under any law as a class A felony or with a statutory maximum sentence of at least twenty years, or both, and not covered under (f) of this subsection;

(b) Three years for any felony defined under any law as a class B felony or with a statutory maximum sentence of ten years, or both, and not covered under (f) of this subsection;

(e) Notwithstanding any other provision of law, all firearm enhancements under this section are mandatory, shall be served in total confinement, and shall run consecutively to all other sentencing provisions, including other firearm or deadly weapon enhancements, for all offenses sentenced under this chapter. However, whether or not a mandatory minimum term has expired, an offender serving a sentence under this subsection may be granted an extraordinary medical placement when authorized under RCW 9.94A.728(4);

(f) The firearm enhancements in this section shall apply to all felony crimes except the following: Possession of a machine gun, possessing a stolen firearm, drive-by shooting, theft of a firearm, unlawful possession of a firearm in the first and second degree, and use of a machine gun in a felony;

(g) If the standard sentence range under this section exceeds the statutory maximum sentence for the offense, the statutory maximum sentence shall be the presumptive sentence unless the offender is a persistent offender. If the addition of a firearm enhancement increases the sentence so that it would exceed the statutory maximum for the offense, the portion of the sentence representing the enhancement may not be reduced.

(4) The following additional times shall be added to the standard sentence range for felony crimes committed after July 23, 1995, if the offender or an accomplice was armed with a deadly weapon other than a firearm as defined in RCW 9.41.010 and the offender is being sentenced for one of the crimes listed in this subsection as eligible for any deadly weapon enhancements based on the classification of the completed felony crime. If the offender is being sentenced for more than one offense, the deadly weapon enhancement or enhancements must be added to the total period of confinement for all offenses, regardless of which underlying offense is subject to a deadly weapon enhancement. (a) Two years for any felony defined under any law as a class A felony or with a statutory maximum sentence of at least twenty years, or both, and not covered under (f) of this subsection;

(b) One year for any felony defined under any law as a class B felony or with a statutory maximum sentence of ten years, or both, and not covered under (f) of this subsection;

(c) Six months for any felony defined under any law as a class C felony or with a statutory maximum sentence of five years, or both, and not covered under (f) of this subsection;

(e) Notwithstanding any other provision of law, all deadly weapon enhancements under this section are mandatory, shall be served in total confinement, and shall run consecutively to all other sentencing provisions, including other firearm or deadly weapon enhancements, for all offenses sentenced under this chapter. However, whether or not a mandatory minimum term has expired, an offender serving a sentence under this subsection may be granted an extraordinary medical placement when authorized under RCW 9.94A.728(4);

(f) The deadly weapon enhancements in this section shall apply to all felony crimes except the following: Possession of a machine gun, possessing a stolen firearm, drive-by shooting, theft of a firearm, unlawful possession of a firearm in the first and second degree, and use of a machine gun in a felony;

(g) If the standard sentence range under this section exceeds the statutory maximum sentence for the offense, the statutory maximum sentence shall be the presumptive sentence unless the offender is a persistent offender. If the addition of a deadly weapon enhancement increases the sentence so that it would exceed the statutory maximum for the offense, the portion of the sentence representing the enhancement may not be reduced.

All enhancements under this subsection shall run consecutively to all other sentencing provisions, for all offenses sentenced under this chapter.

(8)(a) The following additional times shall be added to the standard sentence range for felony crimes committed on or after July 1, 2006, if the offense was committed with sexual motivation, as that term is defined in RCW 9.94A.030. If the offender is being sentenced for more than one offense, the sexual motivation enhancement must be added to the total period of total confinement for all offenses, regardless of which underlying offense is subject to a sexual motivation enhancement. If the offender committed the offense with sexual motivation and the offender is being sentenced for an anticipatory offense under chapter 9A.28 RCW, the following additional times shall be added to the standard sentence range determined under subsection (2) of this section based on the felony crime of conviction as classified under RCW 9A.28.020:

ENGROSSED SUBSTITUTE SENATE BILL NO. 5312, having received the constitutional majority, was declared passed. There being no objection, the title of the bill was ordered to stand as the title of the act.

RULING BY THE PRESIDENT

President Owen: "Senator Oemig has raised a question as to whether Substitute Senate Bill 5797, as amended, takes a simple majority or a two-thirds vote of this body on final passage, because it implicates provisions of the law commonly referred to as Initiative 601. This is an important issue, and the President thanks the members in advance for their patience as he sets forth his analysis.

The President believes that this is another case where the difference between a state action that raises revenue for a general purpose as opposed to a specific purpose is key to deciding whether the supermajority provisions of I-601 are triggered. This bill would implement a $10 surcharge on special endorsements for motorcycle driver's licenses. This surcharge would be distributed into three different accounts: The bulk would be placed into an account that is used for motorcycle safety and education; another portion would be placed into an account for driver's licensing costs and traffic safety; and the final portion would be placed into an account for use on highway purposes and vehicle safety.

The President reminds the body that neither the term assigned to the revenue action nor the name of the account into which funds are to be deposited is controlling for this analysis. Instead, the President believes it is the nexus between the tax or fee to be charged and the limited purpose or purposes for which the proceeds may be spent. The more direct the connection between the money collected and the narrow purpose for which it may be spent, the more likely it is that this is a specific fee, not a general tax, and the supermajority provisions of I-601 do not come into play. On the other hand, where the purposes for which the proceeds may be spent are broad and the connection between the revenue and its purpose is less direct, it is more likely the action would be a general tax which would need a supermajority vote for final passage.

In a recent ruling, the President determined that a fee collected for waste tire prevention had been converted into a more general tax because the purpose for which the amount was collected had been greatly expanded to the point where the connection to the fee's original purpose was no longer maintained. Despite retaining the name of the fee, the resulting tax would have had little connection to waste tire prevention and could instead be used for any transportation purpose. This broke the direct connection between the collection and the purpose for which it was being used, impermissibly broadening the former limitation on use of proceeds, and therefore put it under the supermajority requirements of I-601.

By contrast, this measure's proposed surcharge can be likened to a user fee, with a fairly direct nexus between the fee to be collected and the purposes for which it may be spent. Although the surcharge will be placed into several accounts, some of which are more limited in their use than others, all have a sufficient connection to the fee collected from motorcycle driver's license applicants: Motorcycle safety is a very direct connection, as is the use of the proceeds to defray the costs of actual license issuance. Likewise, the use for highway purposes and vehicle safety is sufficiently limited and connected to motorcycle drivers, although the President would caution that this final purpose seems to be getting on the outside edge of what could reasonably be included in this analysis.

For these reasons, Senator Oemig's point is not well-taken, and passage of this bill will require a simple majority vote of this body, 25 votes."

The Senate resumed consideration of Engrossed Substitute Senate Bill No. 5797 which had been deferred on March 12, 2007.

Senator Clements spoke in favor of passage of the bill.

Sec. 2. RCW 26.33.190 and 1991 c 136 s 3 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) Any person may at any time request an agency, the department, an individual approved by the court, or a qualified salaried court employee to prepare a preplacement report. A certificate signed under penalty of perjury by the person preparing the report specifying his or her qualifications as required in this chapter shall be attached to or filed with each preplacement report and shall include a statement of training or experience that qualifies the person preparing the report to discuss relevant adoption issues. A person may have more than one preplacement report prepared. All preplacement reports shall be filed with the court in which the petition for adoption is filed.

(2) The preplacement report shall be a written document setting forth all relevant information relating to the fitness of the person requesting the report as an adoptive parent. The report shall be based on a study which shall include an investigation of the home environment, family life, health, facilities, and resources of the person requesting the report. The report shall include a list of the sources of information on which the report is based. The report shall include a recommendation as to the fitness of the person requesting the report to be an adoptive parent. The report shall also verify that the following issues were discussed with the prospective adoptive parents:

(a) The concept of adoption as a lifelong developmental process and commitment;

(b) The potential for the child to have feelings of identity confusion and loss regarding separation from the birth parents;

(c) Disclosure of the fact of adoption to the child;

(d) The child's possible questions about birth parents and relatives; and

(e) The relevance of the child's racial, ethnic, and cultural heritage.

(3) All preplacement reports shall include ~~((an investigation))~~ a background check of the conviction records, pending charges, or disciplinary board final decisions of prospective adoptive parents. The ~~((investigation))~~ background check shall include an examination of state and national criminal identification data provided by the Washington state patrol criminal identification system ~~((as described in chapter 43.43 RCW))~~ including, but not limited to, a fingerprint-based background check of national crime information databases for any person being investigated. It shall also include a review of any child abuse and neglect history of any adult living in the prospective adoptive parents' home. The background check of the child abuse and neglect history shall include a review of the child abuse and neglect registries of all states in which the prospective adoptive parents or any other adult living in the home have lived during the five years preceding the date of the preplacement report.

(4) An agency, the department, or a court approved individual may charge a reasonable fee based on the time spent in conducting the study and preparing the preplacement report. The court may set a reasonable fee for conducting the study and preparing the report when a court employee has prepared the report. An agency, the department, a court approved individual, or the court may reduce or waive the fee if the financial condition of the person requesting the report so warrants. An agency's, the department's, or court approved individual's, fee is subject to review by the court upon request of the person requesting the report.

(5) The person requesting the report shall designate to the agency, the department, the court approved individual, or the court in writing the county in which the preplacement report is to be filed. Sec. 3. RCW 26.44.030 and 2005 c 417 s 1 are each amended to read as follows:

(1)(a) When any practitioner, county coroner or medical examiner, law enforcement officer, professional school personnel, registered or licensed nurse, social service counselor, psychologist, pharmacist, licensed or certified child care providers or their employees, employee of the department, juvenile probation officer, placement and liaison specialist, responsible living skills program staff, HOPE center staff, or state family and children's ombudsman or any volunteer in the ombudsman's office has reasonable cause to believe that a child has suffered abuse or neglect, he or she shall report such incident, or cause a report to be made, to the proper law enforcement agency or to the department as provided in RCW 26.44.040.

(b) When any person, in his or her official supervisory capacity with a nonprofit or for-profit organization, has reasonable cause to believe that a child has suffered abuse or neglect caused by a person over whom he or she regularly exercises supervisory authority, he or she shall report such incident, or cause a report to be made, to the proper law enforcement agency, provided that the person alleged to have caused the abuse or neglect is employed by, contracted by, or volunteers with the organization and coaches, trains, educates, or counsels a child or children or regularly has unsupervised access to a child or children as part of the employment, contract, or voluntary service. No one shall be required to report under this section when he or she obtains the information solely as a result of a privileged communication as provided in RCW 5.60.060.

For the purposes of this subsection, the following definitions apply:

(i) "Official supervisory capacity" means a position, status, or role created, recognized, or designated by any nonprofit or for-profit organization, either for financial gain or without financial gain, whose scope includes, but is not limited to, overseeing, directing, or managing another person who is employed by, contracted by, or volunteers with the nonprofit or for-profit organization.

(ii) "Regularly exercises supervisory authority" means to act in his or her official supervisory capacity on an ongoing or continuing basis with regards to a particular person.

(c) The reporting requirement also applies to department of corrections personnel who, in the course of their employment, observe offenders or the children with whom the offenders are in contact. If, as a result of observations or information received in the course of his or her employment, any department of corrections personnel has reasonable cause to believe that a child has suffered abuse or neglect, he or she shall report the incident, or cause a report to be made, to the proper law enforcement agency or to the department as provided in RCW 26.44.040.

(d) The reporting requirement shall also apply to any adult who has reasonable cause to believe that a child who resides with them, has suffered severe abuse, and is able or capable of making a report. For the purposes of this subsection, "severe abuse" means any of the following: Any single act of abuse that causes physical trauma of sufficient severity that, if left untreated, could cause death; any single act of sexual abuse that causes significant bleeding, deep bruising, or significant external or internal swelling; or more than one act of physical abuse, each of which causes bleeding, deep bruising, significant external or internal swelling, bone fracture, or unconsciousness.

(e) The report must be made at the first opportunity, but in no case longer than forty-eight hours after there is reasonable cause to believe that the child has suffered abuse or neglect. The report must include the identity of the accused if known.

(2) The reporting requirement of subsection (1) of this section does not apply to the discovery of abuse or neglect that occurred during childhood if it is discovered after the child has become an adult. However, if there is reasonable cause to believe other children are or may be at risk of abuse or neglect by the accused, the reporting requirement of subsection (1) of this section does apply.

(3) Any other person who has reasonable cause to believe that a child has suffered abuse or neglect may report such incident to the proper law enforcement agency or to the department of social and health services as provided in RCW 26.44.040.

(4) The department, upon receiving a report of an incident of alleged abuse or neglect pursuant to this chapter, involving a child who has died or has had physical injury or injuries inflicted upon him or her other than by accidental means or who has been subjected to alleged sexual abuse, shall report such incident to the proper law enforcement agency. In emergency cases, where the child's welfare is endangered, the department shall notify the proper law enforcement agency within twenty-four hours after a report is received by the department. In all other cases, the department shall notify the law enforcement agency within seventy-two hours after a report is received by the department. If the department makes an oral report, a written report must also be made to the proper law enforcement agency within five days thereafter.

(5) Any law enforcement agency receiving a report of an incident of alleged abuse or neglect pursuant to this chapter, involving a child who has died or has had physical injury or injuries inflicted upon him or her other than by accidental means, or who has been subjected to alleged sexual abuse, shall report such incident in writing as provided in RCW 26.44.040 to the proper county prosecutor or city attorney for appropriate action whenever the law enforcement agency's investigation reveals that a crime may have been committed. The law enforcement agency shall also notify the department of all reports received and the law enforcement agency's disposition of them. In emergency cases, where the child's welfare is endangered, the law enforcement agency shall notify the department within twenty-four hours. In all other cases, the law enforcement agency shall notify the department within seventy-two hours after a report is received by the law enforcement agency.

(6) Any county prosecutor or city attorney receiving a report under subsection (5) of this section shall notify the victim, any persons the victim requests, and the local office of the department, of the decision to charge or decline to charge a crime, within five days of making the decision.

(7) The department may conduct ongoing case planning and consultation with those persons or agencies required to report under this section, with consultants designated by the department, and with designated representatives of Washington Indian tribes if the client information exchanged is pertinent to cases currently receiving child protective services. Upon request, the department shall conduct such planning and consultation with those persons required to report under this section if the department determines it is in the best interests of the child. Information considered privileged by statute and not directly related to reports required by this section must not be divulged without a valid written waiver of the privilege.

(8) Any case referred to the department by a physician licensed under chapter 18.57 or 18.71 RCW on the basis of an expert medical opinion that child abuse, neglect, or sexual assault has occurred and that the child's safety will be seriously endangered if returned home, the department shall file a dependency petition unless a second licensed physician of the parents' choice believes that such expert medical opinion is incorrect. If the parents fail to designate a second physician, the department may make the selection. If a physician finds that a child has suffered abuse or neglect but that such abuse or neglect does not constitute imminent danger to the child's health or safety, and the department agrees with the physician's assessment, the child may be left in the parents' home while the department proceeds with reasonable efforts to remedy parenting deficiencies.

(9) Persons or agencies exchanging information under subsection (7) of this section shall not further disseminate or release the information except as authorized by state or federal statute. Violation of this subsection is a misdemeanor.

(10) Upon receiving reports of alleged abuse or neglect, the department or law enforcement agency may interview children. The interviews may be conducted on school premises, at day-care facilities, at the child's home, or at other suitable locations outside of the presence of parents. Parental notification of the interview must occur at the earliest possible point in the investigation that will not jeopardize the safety or protection of the child or the course of the investigation. Prior to commencing the interview the department or law enforcement agency shall determine whether the child wishes a third party to be present for the interview and, if so, shall make reasonable efforts to accommodate the child's wishes. Unless the child objects, the department or law enforcement agency shall make reasonable efforts to include a third party in any interview so long as the presence of the third party will not jeopardize the course of the investigation.

(11) Upon receiving a report of alleged child abuse and neglect, the department or investigating law enforcement agency shall have access to all relevant records of the child in the possession of mandated reporters and their employees.

(12) In investigating and responding to allegations of child abuse and neglect, the department may conduct background checks as authorized by state and federal law.

(13) The department shall maintain investigation records and conduct timely and periodic reviews of all cases constituting abuse and neglect. The department shall maintain a log of screened-out nonabusive cases.

~~((+3))~~ (14) The department shall use a risk assessment process when investigating alleged child abuse and neglect referrals. The department shall present the risk factors at all hearings in which the placement of a dependent child is an issue. Substance abuse must be a risk factor. The department shall, within funds appropriated for this purpose, offer enhanced community-based services to persons who are determined not to require further state intervention.

~~((+4))~~ (15) Upon receipt of a report of alleged abuse or neglect the law enforcement agency may arrange to interview the person making the report and any collateral sources to determine if any malice is involved in the reporting.

~~((+5))~~ (16) The department shall make reasonable efforts to learn the name, address, and telephone number of each person making a report of abuse or neglect under this section. The department shall provide assurances of appropriate confidentiality of the identification of persons reporting under this section. If the department is unable to learn the information required under this subsection, the department shall only investigate cases in which: (a) The department believes there is a serious threat of substantial harm to the child; (b) the report indicates conduct involving a criminal offense that has, or is about to occur, in which the child is the victim; or (c) the department has, after investigation, a report of abuse or neglect that has been founded with regard to a member of the household within three years of receipt of the referral.

Sec. 4. RCW 43.43.842 and 1998 c 10 s 4 are each amended to read as follows:

(1)(a) The secretary of social and health services and the secretary of health shall adopt additional requirements for the licensure or relicensure of agencies, facilities, and licensed individuals who provide care and treatment to vulnerable adults, including nursing pools registered under chapter 18.52C RCW. These additional requirements shall ensure that any person associated with a licensed agency or facility having unsupervised access with a vulnerable adult shall not be the respondent in an active protective order under RCW 74.34.130, nor have been: (i) Convicted of a crime against persons as defined in RCW 43.43.830, except as provided in this section; (ii) convicted of crimes relating to financial exploitation as defined in RCW 43.43.830, except as provided in this section; or (iii) found in any disciplinary board final decision to have

The person shall, in the disclosures, specify all crimes against children or other persons, all crimes relating to financial exploitation, and all crimes relating to drugs as defined in RCW 43.43.830, committed by the person.

(2) The rules adopted under this section shall permit the licensee to consider the criminal history of an applicant for employment in a licensed facility when the applicant has one or more convictions for a past offense and:

(a) The offense was simple assault, assault in the fourth degree, or the same offense as it may be renamed, and three or more years have passed between the most recent conviction and the date of application for employment;

(b) The offense was prostitution, or the same offense as it may be renamed, and three or more years have passed between the most recent conviction and the date of application for employment;

(e) The offense was forgery, or the same offense as it may be renamed, and five or more years have passed between the most recent conviction and the date of application for employment.

The offenses set forth in (a) through (e) of this subsection do not automatically disqualify an applicant from employment by a licensee. Nothing in this section may be construed to require the employment of any person against a licensee's judgment.

(3) In consultation with law enforcement personnel, the secretary of social and health services and the secretary of health shall investigate, or cause to be investigated, the conviction record and the protection proceeding record information under this chapter of the staff of each agency or facility under their respective jurisdictions seeking licensure or relicensure. An individual responding to a criminal background inquiry request from his or her employer or potential employer shall disclose the information about his or her criminal history under penalty of perjury. The secretaries shall use the information solely for the purpose of determining eligibility for licensure or relicensure. Criminal justice agencies shall provide the secretaries such information as they may have and that the secretaries may require for such purpose.
