The House was called to order at 12:00 Noon by Chief Clerk Nafziger.

The flag was escorted to the rostrum by the Joint Service Color Guard. The Chief Clerk led the Chamber in the Pledge of Allegiance. The House observed a moment of silence for the victims of the Southeast Asian tsunami. Prayer was offered by Father Bob Kenney, St. Michael's Parish, Olympia.

"Almighty and eternal God, we ask you to bless the people of the State of Washington with security, prosperity, generosity and peace.

We pray for the members of this legislature, who are entrusted to guard our political welfare. May they be enabled to discharge their duties with honesty and ability. May the light of divine wisdom direct the deliberations of these men and women, and be evident in all of their proceedings.

We pray that these representatives will be blessed with wisdom and strength of purpose in the exercise of their high office. May they provide clear direction and a sound ethical foundation for building a society marked by authentic justice and freedom, with unfailing respect for the dignity and rights of each individual.

We pray for these men and women; may they serve faithfully, and with personal integrity, the people who have chosen them as their representatives. May they remember the words of President Lyndon B. Johnson: "We are one nation and one people. Our fate as a nation and our future as a people rest not upon one citizen, but upon all citizens." We also pray that these representatives may remember the words of President Franklin D. Roosevelt: "Our strength is our unity of purpose."

Almighty and eternal God, bless these representatives with tranquility in the face of storms, encouragement in the face of frustration, and humility in the face of success.

We likewise commend to your unbounded mercy all citizens of the State of Washington. May we be preserved in union and in peace.

We pray to you, who are Lord and God, for ever and ever, Amen."

The Apollo Club Choir of Wenatchee sang "Washington My Home" and "Roll On Columbia".

The Chief Clerk requested Representatives Kenney and McCune escort Chief Justice Gerry Alexander of the Supreme Court of the State of Washington to the Rostrum.

After the first reading the bill shall be referred to an appropriate committee.

A motion to reconsider an amendment may be made at any time the bill remains on second reading.

Any member who voted on the prevailing side may move for reconsideration or give notice thereof.

A motion to reconsider can be decided only once when decided in the negative.

When a motion to reconsider has been carried, its effect shall be to place the original question before the house in the exact position it occupied before it was voted upon.

The motion to proceed with business under the call of the house and the motion to excuse absent members shall not be adopted unless a majority of the members elected vote in favor thereof. The motion to dispense with the call of the house may be adopted by a majority of the members present.

ELECTION OF THE SPEAKER

MOTIONS

Representative Morrell: "Thank you, Mr. Chief Clerk. Members of the House, honored guests, I am privileged to stand before you today to place the name of Representative Frank Chopp in nomination for Speaker of the Washington State House of Representatives.

In the six years since he was first nominated – and elected – as Speaker, Representative Chopp has exercised leadership by challenging us, both sides of the aisle, all the members of the House of Representatives to strive not only for common ground but for higher ground. Higher ground does not come easily and happens only when all voices and ideas are heard.

I spend time observing people. What are their values? Do their values match their actions? What is it in a person that drives their passion? I watch what happens when the going gets tough, people are angry at you, what do you do? Do you really listen to opposing views and try to come to an understanding of those views and how do you make your final decisions. After working with and watching Representative Chopp as a leader for the past several years I have concluded that his passion comes from his love of this State and its people. He listens to all sides trying to find the common ground to build upon and make final decisions. It is messy, not always perfect and sometimes it takes a lot more time than we may like but this exchange of ideas is what democracy is all about.

Whether in the minority, in the tie, or in the majority, he has always believed that the best way to make public policy is not by pitting one group of Washington citizens against another, but by building on the values and ideals that we all share and Representative Chopp holds dearly—health, prosperity, hope, security, strong families and communities, freedom, faith, knowledge, a bright future for our children, resourcefulness, dignity, respecting diversity, integrity, opportunity for all.

While recognizing that the differences we have are often very real and often very deep, Representative Chopp believes that we share more than we don’t; that we have more in common than we don’t; that whether we are from urban areas, suburban areas, rural areas, whether we’re from Aberdeen or from Zillah, the best public policy we make is when we work together for a strong, unified Washington.

So it is with great pride and respect in this great House that I nominate Representative Frank Chopp to be Speaker of the House of Representatives.

Thank you Mr. Chief Clerk."

Representative Armstrong: "Thank you, Mr. Chief Clerk. I would like to nominate my good friend, the gentleman from the 15th Legislative District, Representative Bruce Chandler for the position of Speaker of the House of Representatives.
It is always good to return home, isn’t it? This is a great place to be and I think that we have important work to do while in this great building. The reason I nominate or ask for your support for Representative Chandler is because we have a big job ahead of us and takes a big, big person to fill the shoes of Speaker in the House of Representatives.

Representative Chandler and I first met four years ago when I first came to the Legislature. It was then that I learned that he had lived and worked in my district up at 25 Mile Creek; he worked as an orchard worker in an orchard up there. That is on Lake Chelan if any of you are familiar with Lake Chelan. From those humble roots, Representative Chandler moved to Granger and evidently married his wife Julie and bought a farm of his own and has farmed and worked hard ever since.

Representative Chandler knows what it is like to pay taxes and knows what it is like to sign the front of a check and knows what it is like to have people depending on you to fulfill their obligations and to make a living with your assistance.

Representative Chandler was born in Everett and lived in Snohomish County until he was 10 years old. His family moved to Louisiana. When you talked to Representative Chandler you will notice there is a little southern twinge in his voice. That Southern gentleman, I think comes through many times as you visit with him. He is truly a Southern gentleman and if you have ever heard the expression 'still waters run deep', that holds true from Representative Chandler.

He has the foresight to see that we as a State need to work together and great things can be accomplished when both sides of the aisle meet in the middle and do the work of the State.

After he attended school in Louisiana, he moved back to Washington State where he married his wife Julie. They bought a farm in Granger. Not many people know where Granger is, I'm not sure Representative Chandler knows.

A couple of things I like about him – I have already mentioned his Southern twinge. I also like his dry sense of humor. For the new people in this Chamber right now, if you do not have a sense of humor, it’s been great knowing you.

I think we need a man with some business experience, with common sense and leadership abilities and the background to move our State ahead. Representative Chandler fits that bill. We need a man who is respected, who has integrity and who can bring us all together. I think Representative Chandler fits that bill.

Please join me in supporting Bruce Chandler as our next Speaker of the Washington State House of Representatives.”

POINT OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Representative Chandler: "It is a great honor to be considered for one of the highest positions in the House of Representatives – Speaker. I truly appreciate the remarks of my good friend from the 12th District. In the interest of moving on to the urgent and important business of this Session, I would respectfully withdraw from the nomination. Thank you."

MOTIONS

Representative Kessler moved that Representative Frank Chopp be elected Speaker of the House of Representatives. The motion was carried.

Representative Morrell escorted Speaker-elect Frank Chopp to the Rostrum. Chief Justice Alexander administered the Oath of Office to Speaker Chopp.

SPEAKER'S COMMENTS

Speaker Chopp: "Thank you. Thank you for your kind words, and for your support. I’m proud to be the Speaker of a House of Representatives that includes many leaders. Let’s recognize one of those leaders – Representative Chandler. Congratulations on your election as the Republican leader. I look forward to working with you.

I also would like to recognize the Majority Leader, Lynn Kessler, who is not only a great partner with me, but who brings elegance and excellence to her position.

Ladies and gentlemen, members of the House. For years, House Democrats have pledged to be a constructive majority, building solutions to challenges that people in our state face every day. We’ve pledged to work constructively with leaders from both parties and from all parts of Washington. Look up at the roster of the 39 counties that surround our ceiling. That ring of counties was meant as a permanent reminder that each of us has been sent here by the people of this state to work together for the common good of all.

We have all come through a difficult election season. But people expect us to be partners, not partisans! They want us to focus on their problems and not on narrow politics.

Today, in this renewed House Chamber, a symbol of unity, House Democrats renew our pledge and we ask our colleagues to join us in working together for One Washington. Amid the flurry of ideas, differences of opinions, and crush of details, we must do our best to stay focused on what matters most to the people we serve. And they want us to see the challenges from their point of view.

We will focus on improving our schools so the potential of every child is recognized. It is not fair to ask students to reach high standards if we have not built the ladder for their success. We must help them succeed!

We will focus on revving up the state’s economic engine so Washington’s workers have good jobs with good benefits.

We will focus on extending the reach of health care so every child, worker and senior can get the health care they need.

And we must set the example for a more efficient and accountable government."
That is why we will do what the people have asked us to do for a long time: independent, performance audits for state government.

Each time I have come before you to open the Legislative Session I have spoken about three issues: education, jobs and health care. These issues remain the foundation of our agenda for the 59th Legislative Session.

EDUCATION

We need to invest in our public schools like our future depended on it ... because it does. Recent national studies have put us at 42nd out of 50 states in per-student spending. Our high school drop-out rate is close to 25%. And when students must meet the new standards to graduate, that rate could soar. Clearly, we need to do better than this if our children are to receive the education they need to get the jobs they want.

To help meet this challenge, I ask each of you to join together to move our school system forward, and to take this issue out of the partisan arena. Why is that? Well, it doesn’t matter if a student is a Democrat or a Republican when it comes to passing tests at school. In a few years, for the first time in state history, students will be required to pass the WASL tests in order to graduate from high school.

In order to truly appreciate what this means, I have asked that a sample WASL test be distributed to your offices later this week. Take some time, take a look at it, and maybe even take the test. I’m not going to grade your answers, but I do want you to see this state requirement from the eyes of students, and their parents.

Now, this is probably the best time to introduce my daughter, Ellie, a sophomore in a public high school, who is taking the WASL tests later this year. And my wife, Nancy Long, who is such a great parental unit and wife. I hope that Nancy and I have done as good a job as my parents did when I was growing up.

My mom and dad raised 4 children in Washington State. Three of them chose a reputable profession and became teachers. My father left school to work in the coal mines in Roslyn after the 6th grade. My mother, Anne Brozovich Chopp, went back to get her high school diploma at Green River Community College when she was 65! And I’m proud to say she’s here today.

My parents knew that education determines our future. This is why we must commit ourselves to making education -- our primary focus in 2005.

JOBS

We will continue our work to promote jobs throughout the state. We can continue to build regional strategies that will energize local economies. We can expand worker training so that the workforce is better aligned with the available jobs. We can help revitalize agriculture by building on our “Heart of Washington” and “Made in Washington” initiatives. We can help workers and products move faster and safer by improving transportation. We can help small businesses by streamlining rules and cutting red tape. Let’s make Washington a job-resource state. Not a job out-sourcing state.

HEALTH CARE

Few issues we grapple with are as complex as health care. State government’s role in health care is primarily as a purchaser. We can use our economic power to expand access to health insurance by allowing small businesses to join our purchasing pool. And we can correct a tremendous disservice to the future of our state --- represented by the 140,000 young people without health insurance. Who of us here would deny any child the health care they need and deserve? None of us would. So all of us should unite to make health care for every child in Washington a reality. Now is the time to start.

Another health care issue we will address in this session is mental health parity. If you or a family member has bipolar disease or other mental illness, your insurance plan covers fewer hospital days, limits your provider visits, imposes higher co-pays and deductibles, and lower annual and lifetime limits than the company would if you had diabetes or heart disease. Ending this discrimination is the fair thing to do, it is the right thing to do. Let’s make parity the law!

Clearly, we have a long session ahead of us, and much work to do. I’m glad we get to do it here, in the true home of the people’s House and not in a trailer in the parking lot where we have been for the past two years. Many of the best leaders Washington ever had did their work right here, in this room. The very desks where you sit were the desks of representatives who became great Washington leaders.

- Warren Magnuson
- Julia Butler Hansen
- Joel Pritchard
- Cal Anderson
- George Fleming

And many others. The Washington we know today is the Washington their choices helped to make. We remember those great leaders with gratitude and pride.

I will close by asking: how do you want to be remembered as leaders – know that if we do our best to work together, make government better, and focus on what matters most, we’ll be remembered as adding to the honor of this great House.

Let’s get to work.”

POINT OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Representative Chandler: “Thank you, Mr. Speaker. We would agree, Mr. Speaker, that this is a watershed moment in the life of Washington State. The decisions made over the next few weeks and months in this Chamber, and in the Chamber across the building, are going to be choices that we all will live with for a long, long time. In the interest of working toward the best future for all the people of Washington, we look forward to working with you, Mr. Speaker and with the other side of the aisle. Let me be the first to congratulate you on your election.”

ELECTION OF SPEAKER PRO TEMPORE

Representative Dunshee: "Thank you, Mr. Speaker. I place in nomination the name of Representative John Lovick.

John Lovick started his life in the house with a dirt floor in Louisiana fifty years ago. Think about what Louisiana looked like fifty years ago. He rose serving in the Coast Guard, thirty years as a State Trooper and the Mill Creek City Council. That is an epic journey to get here. Through that journey he has learned grace, hard work and many other values which he brings to us – class, civility, in the 44th a much better dresser than his seat mate, optimism, and an even hand.

We should be honored to have him – he is a symbol of what is good in America. And what is good in the State of Washington. He is a symbol we should be honored to serve with.

And so as we work on the issues of jobs, on health care and on strengthening our education system, he will guide us with an even hand. I am honored to place in nomination my friend, a good man, John Lovick."

MOTIONS

Representative Kessler moved that the nominations for the Office of Speaker Pro Tempore of the House of Representatives be closed. The motion was carried.

Representative Kessler moved that Representative John Lovick be elected to the position of Speaker Pro Tempore of the House of Representatives. The motion was carried.

Representative Dunshee escorted Speaker Pro Tempore-elect Lovick to the Rostrum. Chief Justice Alexander administered the Oath of Office to Speaker Pro Tempore Lovick.

SPEAKER PRO TEMPORE COMMENTS

Speaker Pro Tempore Lovick: "Thank you to the good representative for those kind words.

I’m honored by your confidence in me – and energized by the opportunity to serve. It’s an honor because I stand on the shoulders of my mother and grandmother, who worked hard to give me a chance in life but never expected me to become elected to the House of Representatives or serve as Speaker Pro Tem.

My mother and grandmother taught me lessons more valuable than anything I learned in a classroom. They taught me to work hard and be held to the highest standards.

Each of you should expect no less of me today. And we should expect no less of each other. For new members – and for returning members who’ve been in the temporary House for two years – I want to welcome you back home to the real chamber of the peoples' House.

After a tough election season, it's time to get down to the peoples' work. Citizens hope we work together to solve their common problems. They want better schools, better jobs and better health care. The political rhetoric on this floor can get hot enough to melt steel. But I believe that comes from passion.

We’re here because we want the same things – it’s only HOW we get there that causes fights. No party or person has a monopoly on good ideas. Whenever I talk to another lawmaker, I learn something. So I believe we do our best work for the people when we work together – not as Democrats and Republicans, not as West Siders and East Siders, but as citizen-lawmakers who ran for office to make this a better place to live, work and raise a family.

The honorable gentleman from the Ninth District worked with the good chairwoman from the 46th District to pass Promise Scholarships into law.

The good representative from the Second District joined with the honorable chairwoman from the 34th District to pass our landmark Patients' Bill of Rights.

And the honorable representative from the 8th District was instrumental in helping the good chairman from the 43rd District break through 13 years of political gridlock to pass a transportation package.

We have paved the way in the past. With new leadership in the Senate and governor's office, the House is in the best position to take Washington state forward. We can shape the agenda for the next two years. I believe we should seize that opportunity. Let’s show the Senate and governor’s office how a team gets things done."

ELECTION OF THE CHIEF CLERK

Representative Sommers: "Thank you, Mr. Speaker. I rise to place the name of Rich Nafziger for Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives.

Rich has been with us as Chief Clerk for over a year now. I think that all of us have had a chance to get to know him. He has a wonderful background that he brings to this position. He has a background in a number of agencies of State government, he has a background in education, he has a background in private enterprise. So he understands the many circles and spheres which we also represent.

The job of Chief Clerk is a complex one. In fact, I have occasionally reflected about how inadequate the title of Chief Clerk is for this position. It is much more like CEO and sometimes I think a bit of magician – political magician. These talents, these abilities are what are needed to make this place run. I think Rich knows very well what it takes to make this place run well. It is understanding the institution, understanding the people, understanding the traditions, and also the changes that take place such as technological changes. I believe Rich will be a fine administrator. He has been fair and balanced. And I would hope that you would join me in supporting him for the position of Chief Clerk."

Representative Clements: "Thank you, Mr. Speaker. I'd like to second that nomination. Members of the House, Rich has been a personal friend that goes back to about the time I didn't need hearing aids or glasses for this body. He has worked for different executives, especially governors, and has done a magnanimous job in a personal sense working with me on farm worker housing issues, as well as others. He has always been balanced and fair. But there is something more important that I've seen – this will be his second term as Chief Clerk. You see I'm the kind, compassionate conservative Whip on this side of the aisle and we have to contend with the egos and those things that relate to parking places, office space, the square inches and all of those things that I find not so important. But Mr. Nafziger and I found out that there are members in this body that have a different view.

So with that, and his ability to work around just creature comforts and the organization of this House as we come into this Session, in this beautiful facility that has been renovated, it gives me no greater pleasure than to nominate Rich Nafziger to help us in our duties as we go forth. Thank you."

MOTIONS

Representative Kessler moved that the nominations for the Office of Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives be closed. The motion was carried.

Representative Kessler moved that Richard Nafziger be elected to the position of Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives. The motion was carried.

Representative Dunshee escorted Chief Clerk-elect Nafziger to the Rostrum. Chief Justice Alexander administered the Oath of Office to Chief Clerk Nafziger.

CHIEF CLERK'S COMMENTS

Chief Clerk Nafziger: "Thank you Justice Alexander. Representatives Sommers and Clements, I appreciate very much your nominating comments. You are very kind.

I am truly honored to be here. And I am pleased that my family is here, too. I'd like to thank my wife Kristin Swenddal, and my daughters, Tess and Mia and my Mother-in-Law Dianne Swenddal for coming today, and for their steadfast support.

I also want to thank both the staff and the members of this great House for their hard work, and for sharing the special experience of making Washington history. In particular, I would like to recognize Deputy Chief Clerk Bill Wegeleben and Director of Facilities Sharon Hayward whose dedication enables our institution to function so smoothly.

Thank you very much for entrusting me with the administration of this institution, and for your devotion to the practice of democracy."

The Speaker thanked Chief Justice Alexander for administering the oaths of office and requested Representatives Kenney and McCune escort Chief Justice Alexander from the Chamber.
