The president of the Senate appointed Senator Warburton and Representatives Child and Dilling to escort Governor McBride within the bar of the House.

The following is the Governor's address:

State of Washington, Executive Department, Olympia, January 13, 1903.

Gentlemen of the Senate and of the House of Representatives:

Since the adjournment of the last session of the Legislature the people have been called upon to mourn the loss of their Chief Executive. In the death of Governor John R. Rogers the state sustained a severe loss. Even those who differed from him in his views upon public questions admit that he was honest, conscientious, and faithful in the performance of his duties, and that he gave the best there was in him to the service of the state. More than this can not be asked for from any man. He was poor in worldly goods, the chief heritage left to his family being his name. In accordance with his own request he was buried with military honors. The funeral expenses, borne by his widow, amounted to $539.55. This, in view of her circumstances, was a heavy burden. I would recommend that she be reimbursed this sum by the state and that a relief bill be passed for that purpose.

Interest and Redemption Tax.

By the terms of the Enabling Act the state was required to assume and pay the indebtedness of the territory. To liquidate this indebtedness the sum of $300,000 was borrowed, in accordance with the provisions of an act of the Legislature (Session Laws 1899-90, page 33), upon state bonds payable at any time after five years and within fifteen years from date of issue, at the option of the state. This act also provided for the levy, for five consecutive years, of an annual tax not exceeding one-tenth of one mill (to pay interest upon these bonds), and, beginning in 1895, for the levy of an annual tax not exceeding one-fifth of one mill for the purpose of their redemption. Upon this indebtedness the sum of $240,000 has been paid, leaving outstanding $60,000. The one-fifth of one mill tax for the year 1902 will bring in something over $55,000. This, together with the tax on hand and delinquent taxes belonging to this fund, will amount to something over $83,000—a sum more than sufficient to redeem the outstanding bonds. I would, therefore, recommend the discontinuance of this tax.

MILITARY FUND.

Section 176, Laws 1895, page 252, is as follows:

“For the purpose of raising revenue for the National Guard, there is hereby levied, and the proper officers shall collect, a tax of one-fifth of one mill upon all the property in the State subject to taxation for the present fiscal year and for each fiscal year hereafter.”

From the report of the State Auditor it appears that, adding to the cash in the treasury the delinquent taxes for the years 1896 to 1901 inclusive, and the proceeds to be derived from the 1902 levy, there will be in this fund the sum of $152,545. This is over and above the unexpended balance of the 1901 appropriation. Of that appropriation at least $12,000 will not be needed and will be covered back into the military fund, thus increasing it to something over $164,000 without any further levy. This should be amply sufficient to pay all expenses connected with the National Guard for the period of four years.

Therefore, I would suggest that the tax levy for the support of the National Guard be discontinued for the present, unless the Legislature in its wisdom should see fit to authorize the building of armories in accordance with the recommendations of the Adjutant General. Should it be deemed best to authorize the building of armories, and should a reasonable appropriation be made for that purpose, yet this tax could with perfect safety be reduced from one-fifth to one-tenth of one mill. Or, if the building of armories at this time should not be deemed wise, and, in view of the fact that the state has interest charges to meet, it should not be considered good policy to have the money in this fund remain idle, at least $75,000 might be transferred to the general fund and the tax be continued but reduced from one-fifth of one mill to one-tenth of one mill.

THE REVOLVING FUND.

In 1891 (Session Laws, page 202) the Legislature appropriated $30,000 to provide and maintain a permanent revolving fund for the purchase and delivery at the State Penitentiary of jute, clay and other materials. In 1893 (Session Laws, page 212) a further appropriation of $50,000 was made for the same purpose. The act of 1893 also provided that the proceeds derived from the sale of jute and other fabrics, and brick manufactured at the penitentiary, should be placed in the revolving fund. There is now in this fund about $150,000, with sufficient manufactured material on hand, when sold, to raise it to at least $175,000. A revolving fund of $95,000 would be ample for the purpose intended. When the state is paying interest upon its indebtedness, I can see no good reason for retaining money in any fund where it is not needed. I would, therefore, recommend that the sum of $80,000 be transferred from the revolving fund to the general fund—the latter fund being the fund out of which the state indebtedness is paid.

PERMANENT SCHOOL FUND.

The proper investment of the permanent school fund is a matter of great importance. The Board of State Land Commissioners, consisting of the Commissioner of Public Lands, the Secretary of State and the Superintendent of Public Instruction; is authorized (Session Laws 1897, Sec. 69, page 262) to invest this fund in national, state, county or municipal bonds, at par, bearing not less than five per cent interest per annum, or in warrants drawn upon the State of Washington.

Section 1 of an act approved March 8, 1899 (Session Laws, pages 67 and 68), is as follows:

"Section 1. Whenever there shall be in the hands of the State Treasurer, belonging to the State Permanent School Fund, money to the amount of five thousand dollars or more, of which no investment can be made in the securities now or hereafter authorized by law, and the State shall have an outstanding general fund warrant indebtedness in an amount equal to or greater than the amount of five thousand dollars ($5,000), the Governor of the State and the State Auditor are hereby authorized, and it shall be their duty, to issue the bonds of the State of Washington in an amount equal to that amount, and sell and deliver such bond to the State Treasurer for the account of the State Permanent School Fund at the face or par value thereof."

Section 2 of said act as amended in 1901 (Session Laws, page 388) is as follows:

"Section 2. Such bonds shall bear date of issue and be issued in denominations of five thousand dollars ($5,000), and shall bear interest at the rate of three and one-half per cent. per annum, payable semi-annually on the first day of May and November of each year until paid, payable out of the State General Fund, and the State Treasurer is hereby authorized and directed to transfer from the said State General Fund to the said Current School Fund sufficient money to pay said interest as the same falls due, and certify the same to the State Auditor, which certificate shall be authority to said Auditor to make the necessary and proper entries in the books and records of his office to show such transfer. The principal of said bond shall be payable, any or all of them, on or before twenty years from the date of issue, to the State Treasurer for the account of the State Permanent School Fund, out of the State General Fund, to which the proceeds thereof shall have been credited, and when paid the principal thereof shall be credited to the State Permanent School Fund."

September 30, 1902, according to the report of the State Treasurer, the permanent school fund account stood as follows:
Invested in State bonds ........................................... $1,165,000.00
Invested in County and School District bonds............... 429,104.35
Cash on hand ....................................................... 320,027.90

The reason for such a large sum being on hand, belonging to this fund, is that the Board of State Land Commissioners could not invest it in such securities as are authorized by the Constitution and the laws of the state at so high a rate of interest as five per cent. Counties, cities and school districts desirous of borrowing money could obtain it elsewhere at a lower rate.

It is estimated by the Commissioner of Public Lands that his office will turn over to the State Treasurer, to be placed in this fund, at least $600,000 in the next two years. It is to be hoped that the appropriations made at this session of the Legislature from the general fund may not exceed the anticipated revenues, and that there may be no necessity of further borrowing from the permanent school fund for the benefit of that fund. Should this hope be realized, there will be in the permanent school fund, during the next fiscal term, in the neighborhood of one million dollars looking for investment. To find investments for this sum, in such securities as our Constitution and laws permit, it seems absolutely essential that the rate of interest be made less than five per cent. In the opinion of the Board of State Land Commissioners the rate should be reduced to three and one-half per cent. Others, somewhat versed in financial matters, seem to think a reduction to four per cent would serve the desired purpose. These funds should not remain idle. On the other hand, as high a rate of interest as can be obtained should be demanded. The question is submitted to your wisdom.

STATE CAPITAL FUND.

Against the state capitol fund warrants amounting to $77,004.16, bearing interest at the rate of eight per cent per annum, were issued during the years 1893-4-5. The interest upon these warrants, on the first of January of this year, amounted to, approximately, the sum of $58,150; making the total sum, principal and interest due thereon, on said date, about $135,154.16. There are also outstanding against this fund warrants amounting to the sum of $350,000, drawing interest at the rate of five per cent per annum, issued in accordance with the provision of the act of 1901 for the purchase and completion of a State Capitol building. The interest upon the last mentioned warrants is guaranteed by the state, but there is no such guarantee as to the other warrants. These warrants first mentioned, however, together with the interest thereon, are a first lien upon the proceeds to be derived from the sale of lands granted to the state for public buildings at the capital. Of this grant, which was 132,000 acres in the first instance, over 120,000 acres remain. Some of this land, in the opinion of the Commissioner of Public Lands, is worth, today, at least twenty dollars per acre; and he deems it conservative to say that, on an average, they are worth ten dollars per acre. If he is anywhere nearly right—and, in my judgment, I am prepared to say he is not very far wrong—why should we continue to pay eight per cent interest on these $77,004.16 of outstanding warrants? These warrants, the principal and interest of which amount to about $135,154.16, being a first lien upon property which, in the not distant future, will sell for at least one million dollars, would be considered a safe investment by any one. The permanent school fund has hundreds of thousands of dollars idle in the treasury. The capitol building fund has outstanding against it warrants drawing eight per cent interest per annum. Why not invest a portion of the permanent school fund at, say, three and one-half per cent, the same rate paid to that fund by the general fund, in the warrants of the capitol building fund, thus finding a safe investment for the permanent school fund, and, at the same time, saving to the capitol building fund four and one-half per cent per annum? The method of procedure would be this: Transfer from the permanent school fund to the capitol building fund a sufficient sum to take up the eight per cent interest bearing warrants outstanding against the latter fund. Issue state bonds to that amount, and deliver to the State Treasurer, for the account of the permanent school fund, said bonds to draw interest at the rate of three and one-half per cent per annum, interest payable semi-annually. Provide for the payment of the interest upon these bonds from the general fund. The permanent school fund and the general fund would be amply protected by a first lien upon the proceeds derived from the sale of lands granted to the state for public buildings at the capital. I would commend this subject to your careful consideration.

STATE NORMAL SCHOOL FUND.

On the first of October, 1902, there was in the State Normal School fund the sum of $8,809.74. Against this fund there are outstanding warrants to the amount of $108,810.07, issued between July 12, 1895, and April 16, 1899. These warrants bear interest at the rate of seven per cent per annum; and it may be held, under section 5, page 57, Session Laws of 1895, that the interest upon them is to be compounded. By the terms of the Enabling Act the state was granted one hundred thousand acres of land for State Normal Schools. Of these lands, selected and approved, more than ninety-five thousand acres remain unsold. A question has arisen as to whether, under the terms of the grant, the proceeds derived from the sale of these lands can be used in the payment of outstanding warrants, or whether these proceeds must be placed in a permanent fund to be invested, and the interest only be used for that purpose. The proceeds derived from the sale of lands granted to the state for the support of common schools must constitute a permanent fund, the interest upon which only can be expended in their support. It is thought by some the same holds true of the proceeds derived from the sale of lands granted to the state for the Agricultural College, for Normal Schools, for the Scientific School, and for the state charitable, educational, penal and reformatory institutions. But such is not the Legislative construction that has been given the Enabling Act. In 1893 the Legislature made appropriations for buildings at the Western Washington Hospital for the Insane, at the Eastern Washington Hospital for the Insane, at the State Penitentiary, at the State Reform School and at the Soldiers' Home—each of these appropriations being coupled with the express provision that the amount of the appropriation should be returned to the general fund of the state treasury from the first proceeds of the sale of lands granted to the state for state charitable, educational, penal and reformatory institutions. At the same session appropriations were made for buildings at the Agricultural College and for the Normal School at Ellensburg, coupled, in the first instance, with the proviso that the general fund should be reimbursed from the first proceeds derived from the sale of lands granted to the state for a scientific school, and, in the second, from the first proceeds derived from the sale of lands granted to the state for normal schools.

By the terms of an act approved March 7, 1895 (Session Laws, pages 55-67), a fund to be known as the "state normal school fund" was established and provision made that all proceeds derived from the sale of lands granted to the state for normal schools be paid into that fund, and that no appropriations for the erection of normal school buildings be made from any other fund. By the same act an appropriation of $60,000 was made for buildings at the Cheney Normal School, and an appropriation of $40,000 for buildings at the Whatcom Normal School, with directions to draw warrants upon said state normal school fund to pay for the erection of such buildings. October 1, 1902, the scientific school fund contained $29,062.19; the agricultural college fund, $16,936.30; the charitable, educational, penal and reformatory institutions fund, $22,080.08, and the normal school fund, $8,809.74. These several funds may, and probably will be, very materially increased during the next fiscal term. If they are permanent and irreducible, and the interest only can be expended, then the Legislature should make provision for their investment. If, on the other hand, the legislative construction placed upon the Enabling Act is correct, then such of these funds as have no warrants outstanding against them should be transferred to the general fund; and where warrants are outstanding, the money on hand should be applied upon their payment. A test case has been brought in the supreme court of this state to determine this question and a decision will probably be handed down in time for you to deal with this subject in such manner as your judgment approves. If it should be held that the proceeds from the sale of lands granted for normal schools do not constitute a permanent and irreducible fund, then the warrants outstanding against the state normal school fund are a first lien upon something over 95,000 acres of land. Here may be found an opportunity for a safe investment of a portion of the permanent school fund. These warrants, principal and interest, on the first of January of this year, amounted to, approximately, the sum of $146,000. The normal school lands in value certainly far exceed this sum. Should you look with favor upon this suggestion, the method of procedure might be the same as pointed out in what has been said in reference to outstanding warrants against the capitol building fund.

LOUISIANA PURCHASE EXPOSITION.

An exposition commemorative of the Louisiana purchase will be held at St. Louis, opening on the first day of May, 1904. It seems beyond question that this exposition will be upon a grander scale and will attract a larger number of visitors than any ever before held. I believe our people, quite generally, are in favor of the State of Washington being worthily represented upon that occasion. It was at first supposed this exposition would be held in 1903. Had the original plan been adhered to, and had nothing been done here until after the convening of this Legislature, it is quite evident that sufficient time would not have remained for the assembling of a proper exhibit of the industries and resources of this state. For that reason a meeting, composed of business men and of representatives of various chambers of commerce and boards of trade, was held at the state capital on the 25th of April, 1902, to determine what was best to be done. It was the sense of the meeting that the state should be fittingly represented at the St. Louis exposition, and that the Governor should appoint a commission of seven, and an executive commissioner, to take charge of the preliminary work and to raise funds to defray the necessary expenses, trusting to the Legislature to reimburse those advancing the money for that purpose. Coinciding with the views of the meeting, I appointed Hon. C. J. Lord of Olympia, Hon. George B. Kandle of Tacoma, Hon. Charles L. Denny of Seattle, Hon. T. B. Sumner of Everett, Hon. Miles C. Moore of Walla Walla, Hon. George M. Brown of Spokane and Hon. A. H. Stulfauth of Ellensburg as commissioners, and Hon. Elmer E. Johnston of Everett as executive commissioner. I am informed by the treasurer of the commission, the Hon. C. J. Lord, that the sum of $1,900 will cover all expenses incurred in the preliminary work. The commission, at the time of its appointment, as well as myself, indulged the hope that no more than $50,000, at the very outside, would be required. Under date of December 21, 1902, the commission reported to me what had been done, but owing to a lack of funds that report has not been printed. It is subject, however, to your call, and I would commend it to your careful consideration. From the examination of the report it will be seen that, in the judgment of the Executive Commissioner, the sum of $63,950 could be expended to advantage. I believe, however, a careful examination will disclose that this sum could be reduced several thousand dollars without materially interfering with the benefits to be derived. Experience demonstrates that work entrusted to a few is better and more economically done than when entrusted to many. For that reason I would suggest that the membership of the commission you may provide for to take charge of this matter be made not too large. The expenditure of the appropriation made for this purpose should be under the direction of a few men of practical business training and executive ability. If strictly business methods are pursued, an appropriation of $50,000 would prove more beneficial to the state than double that amount under loose management, or a management permitting favoritism, or politics, to creep in, to the detriment of the work.

LEWIS AND CLARK EXPOSITION.

An exposition is in contemplation to be held at Portland, Oregon, in 1905, commemorative of the Lewis and Clark expedition. If this state is to take part an appropriation should be made for that purpose at this session of the Legislature. While the fact that it follows so closely upon the St. Louis exposition may lessen its value, viewed from a practical standpoint, yet sentiment naturally inclines one in its favor. What other states, including even Oregon, may do, is not yet known. Pursuant to Senate concurrent resolution No. 17, adopted March 4, 1901, Governor Rogers appointed Hon. F. J. Parker of Walla Walla, Hon. J. G. Megler of Brookfield, Hon. W. W. Tolman of Spokane, Hon. E. M. Rands of Vancouver and Hon. George W. Rowan of Castle Rock as members of a commission to represent the State of Washington in the preliminary work connected with this exposition, and to report to this Legislature its recommendation as to what appropriation should be made. The report of this commission will doubtless be laid before you. A company, under the name of "The Lewis and Clark Centennial and American Pacific Exposition and Oriental Fair," has been incorporated, with a capital stock of $500,000. Of this sum $360,000 have been subscribed by the citizens of Portland, and no doubt is entertained but that the full amount of the capital stock will be subscribed. The management expects the Legislature of Oregon to appropriate $500,000, and that other states, especially those upon the Pacific coast, will be adequately represented. Probably you will be in possession of sufficient information before the close of the session to enable you to determine the proper course to pursue.

FURNISHING LEGISLATIVE CHAMBERS.

On the 20th day of June, 1902, arrangements were entered into for furnishing the legislative chambers in the new Capitol, the Commission then still having a strong hope that the building might be completed in time for occupancy at this session. Bids were called for, due notice having been given through the principal newspapers of the state. The lowest and best bids were accepted, but the Commission not having the necessary funds, no attempt was made to bind the state. The successful bidders were simply given the privilege of putting in the necessary furniture, with the understanding that they might remove it unless this Legislature, within thirty days from the opening of the session, made an appropriation to pay for the same. The Commission believes that the price agreed upon between it and the successful bidders is fair and reasonable. I would suggest that each house appoint a committee to consider this matter. The secretary of the Capitol Commission will lay before such committee all information in its possession.

INCREASE IN BUSINESS MEANS INCREASE IN EXPENSE.

Growth in population and increase in volume of business necessarily call for a constantly increasing expenditure for public purposes. The number of inmates in our asylums for the insane and in the penitentiary is steadily growing. September 30, 1893, our asylums for the insane contained 850 persons. September 30, 1900, this number had increased to 1019, and September 30, 1902, to 1146. These unfortunates, together with the inmates for the School for Defective Youth and the Reform school, must be properly cared for. September 30, 1898, there were 320 convicts in the State Penitentiary; September 30, 1900, 405; September 30, 1902, 580.

From September 30, 1898, to September 30, 1902, the membership of the Soldiers’ Home increased from 112 to 168. No one can object to these men, who in the hour of their country’s dire need fought its battles, receiving the necessary support at the hands of the state.

Our higher educational institutions, the State University, the Agricultural College and School of Science, and our three Normal Schools, are supported by appropriations from the general fund. The number in attendance increases with an increasing population, and at each succeeding session of the Legislature it has seemed necessary to make larger appropriations for the support and maintenance of these educational institutions. If it were left to the heads of these institutions, or to their boards of regents or trustees, to say how much money could be spent to advantage in their support, no doubt the aggregate would far exceed the state’s ability to provide the means. I do not say this by way of criticism, for it is undoubtedly true that the field of usefulness of our State University, or of our Agricultural College, or of our Normal Schools, could be greatly enlarged, did the revenues of the state permit. To the Legislature falls the task of squaring the natural desire of those in immediate charge of these institutions with our financial condition. Viewed from this standpoint you will probably feel yourselves compelled to deny them some things that, under different circumstances, you would willingly grant.

In passing, permit me the suggestion that our educational institutions should be kept entirely free from politics, or political influence of any kind. Appropriations for their support should not be made to hinge upon other legislation. In this matter but two considerations should govern—their actual needs, and the ability of the state to meet those needs. I have not caused the removal of any member of the board of regents, or board of trustees, of these institutions, nor have I appointed any such member for political reasons; nor shall I do so. And, whatever contests may face us during this session, I indulge the hope that no one of our educational institutions may be made the football of contending forces, or of aspirants for place.
The increase in the membership of the Legislature means an increase in legislative expenses. And it is probably true that the growing volume of business in other departments may call for heavier appropriations. I mention these things simply for the purpose of showing the necessity for strict economy, for, with the exercise of the wisest economy, the problem of making our revenues keep pace with our increasing expenditures is, at the best, a perplexing one.

True, it is generally supposed that the state is upon a cash basis; and to the extent that warrants now drawn upon the general fund are paid in cash upon presentation, that supposition is correct. But it does not follow from this that the state is out of debt, or even that its finances are in the most healthy condition.

GENERAL FUND INDEBTEDNESS.

October 31, 1896, according to the report of the then State Auditor, the general fund warrant indebtedness, over and above the cash on hand in that fund was $1,777,918.03. This did not include the interest due on the warrants. September 30, 1902, according to the report of the State Treasurer, the general fund indebtedness, not including interest, over and above cash on hand in that fund, was $1,205,579.57. This consisted of two items: General fund warrants outstanding, $45,741.19; state bonds held by the permanent school fund for money borrowed from that fund and transferred to the general fund, $1,165,000. The cash in the general fund at that time was $5,161.62.

From October 31, 1896, to September 30, 1902, the general fund indebtedness decreased $572,308.46. But it is well known that, at the date of the first report above referred to, a large amount of delinquent taxes was outstanding. It is also equally well known that soon thereafter a general revival of business set in, and that delinquent taxes began to flow into the treasury. In 1897, from delinquent taxes for the years 1893-4-5, the general fund received $226,879.37; in 1898, for the years from 1893 to 1896 inclusive, $139,974.87; in 1899, for the years from 1893 to 1896 inclusive, $121,943.58; in 1900, for the years from 1893 to 1896 inclusive, $48,073.50; in 1901, for the years 1894 to 1896 inclusive, $22,602.67; in 1902, for the years 1895 and 1896, $10,681.94; making a total of $570,155.93. During the years 1897 to 1899 inclusive the general fund also received from delinquent taxes for the year 1892 and preceding years, approximately, the sum of $35,000.

Thus it will be seen that from 1897 to 1902 inclusive the general fund received from delinquent taxes of 1896 and preceding years the sum of $605,155.93—a sum in excess of the decrease in the general fund indebtedness during that period.

On October 19, 1897, the Attorney General advised the State Treasurer that the act creating the tide land fund, approved March 26, 1830, had been repealed by section 70 of the General Land Act, approved March 26, 1897 (Session Laws 1897, page 263). The moneys that had accumulated in the tide land fund were transferred to the general fund; and the proceeds derived from the sale of tide lands since that time have been placed in the same fund. From 1897 to September 30, 1902, the general fund received from this source alone the sum of $1,079,051.25. During this period of six years the general fund received from delinquent taxes for the year 1896 and preceding years the sum of $605,155.93, and from the sale of tide lands the sum of $1,079,051.25, making a total of $1,684,207.18, and yet during that period the general fund indebtedness was reduced but $572,308.46. The taxes that became delinquent during the period of depression have nearly all been collected. Our tide lands are at best but a temporary source of revenue.
The proceeds derived from their sale will soon begin to diminish, and, in a very few years, will practically cease.

These facts emphasize the necessity of strict economy, and likewise the necessity of finding some new source of revenue if our income is to keep pace with our expenditures.

TAXATION.

The rate of taxation should not be increased, except as a last resort, for the burden now borne by our people is sufficiently heavy. In some parts of the state the rate of taxation, including the levy for state, school, county, road and city or town purposes is at least forty mills on the dollar. Such a rate, in addition to being a hardship upon the taxpayer, tends to prevent the natural growth and development of any locality. Intending investors inquire closely into the matter of taxation, and, where the rate is found to be abnormally high, they naturally turn to other sections where the burden in this respect is lighter.

There is in this state property that escapes taxation altogether, and other property that is assessed at but a small fractional part of its market value. As an instance of the former, I would call attention to sleeping car companies doing business in this state; of the latter, to our railroads.

From the report of the State Board of Equalization I find that the main track of the railroads in this state is divided into five classes.
The first class, consisting of 965 miles and a fraction, is equalized at $6600 per mile. This, it is believed, is not more than one-tenth of its actual market value. The second class, consisting of 1558 and a fraction miles, is equalized at $5280 per mile; the third class, consisting of 220 and a fraction miles, at $3168 per mile; the fourth class, consisting of 156 and a fraction miles, at $2000 per mile, and the fifth class, consisting of 81 and a fraction miles, at $1320 per mile. The total length of main track is 2981 and a fraction miles, and it is assessed at the insignificant sum of $15,718,512—insignificant, at least, in comparison with its real value. Of sidetrack there is 536 and a fraction miles, assessed at $1,132,561. The average assessed value of main track per mile is $5,271.45. The average assessed value of side track per mile is $2,112.03. The aggregate assessed value of rolling stock and all railroad personal property is $3,753,586. The aggregate assessed value of all railroad property in the state, used for railroad purposes, is $20,-
By those who have inquired into the matter the statement that this property is worth at least $200,000,000 is deemed conservative. But I am not advocating that it should be assessed at the full sum of $200,000,000, for I believe that throughout the state, quite generally, property is assessed something below its real value. But that the disproportion between the real and the assessed value of other property is anywhere nearly so great as the disproportion between the real and the assessed valuation of railroad property, no one can be found to contend.

Is there any good reason why you should permit the continuance of such a state of affairs? Property now escaping taxation altogether, as well as that assessed at a figure ridiculously low, certainly receives a benefit in the protection afforded it by our laws. The cost to the state of affording protection to railroad property, dollar for dollar in value, is, probably, greater than the cost of affording similar protection to any other class of property in the state. Why, then, should these great corporations be permitted to shift their fair share of the public burden to the shoulders of others? The present system of assessing railroad property at a figure merely nominal is not without its advocates. They urge that all taxes paid by the railroad companies must be collected from the people in the shape of passenger and freight rates; and that, therefore, the valuation placed upon railroad property for purposes of taxation is a matter of no particular concern to the people. This argument, if it can be dignified by that name, would apply with equal force to any and all kinds of merchandise. The owner might say: "Do not assess my property. If you do, what I pay in taxes will be added to the selling price, and it will not be I, but the purchaser, who will have to pay the taxes." By this line of reasoning, carried to its logical end, the state would be shorn of its revenues and rendered powerless to afford protection to person and property—the purpose for which government is called into being, and the only ground upon which it can justify its existence. If property now escaping taxation should be placed upon the assessment roll, and all property should be fairly assessed, the revenues of the state would be ample, without any increase in the rate of taxation. Indeed, should this be done, we might, with the exercise of a wise economy, reasonably look, in a short time, for a material reduction in the rate of taxation. This, besides affording relief to the individual taxpayer, would be an element in attracting hither the homeseeker and the capitalist in search of investments.

The State Board of Equalization, consisting of the Secretary of State, the Commissioner of Public Lands and the State Auditor, is powerless to afford relief in the matter of the proper assessment of railroad property. This board simply apportions among the several counties the amount of tax to be raised in the state for state purposes. It does not determine the rate of taxation, but the total sum to be paid by each county to the state for state purposes. Section 1717, 1 Bal., is as follows:
“When the State Board complete their equalization, the Auditor of State shall transmit to each County Auditor a transcript of the proceedings of the board, within ten days after said board adjourns, specifying the amount to be levied and collected on said assessment books for State purposes for each year, and the County Auditor shall compute the required per centum on the valuation thereof as it stands after the same has been equalized by the County Board of Equalization, and shall extend such taxes in the proper columns of such books.”

The valuation placed upon railroad property by County Assessors, as equalized by the Boards of County Commissioners, is the basis upon which the tax levy is made for both state and county purposes. If railroads should be assessed in any particular country at, say $5280 per mile, the state board could not change that valuation even for state purposes. If it should be of the opinion that the road is worth, say, $30,000, instead of $5280 per mile, it could take that fact in consideration only for the purpose of determining the total sum to be paid to the state by that particular county—the levy would have to be made by the County Auditor upon the basis of $5280 per mile; should the state board, believing the property to be worth $30,000 per mile, instead of $5280, by reason of that fact demand a larger sum from the county, the increased burden would not fall upon railroad property, where of right it should fall, but, in the main, upon other property in the county assessed at a fair valuation. To do this would be inflicting a penalty upon the taxpayer whose property is properly assessed for the action of county officials in assessing railroad property too low.

Considering the powerful influence exerted by the railroads, and the peculiar methods resorted to by some of their agents, it would be expecting almost too much to look for any marked improvement under the law as it now stands. The state board should be a Board of Equalization in fact instead of in name only, as at present. Upon it should be conferred the power to change valuations as equalized by county boards, and such changes as it directs in this respect should be made upon the books of the several counties. In other words, the valuation of property as equalized by the state board, instead of the valuation as equalized by county boards, should be the basis upon which taxes are levied for both state and county purposes. The state board, then instead of simply determining the sum total to be paid by each county for state purposes, as now, would determine the rate of taxation for state purposes. It should also have the power to place upon the assessment rolls any property omitted by County Assessors. With these changes, the responsibility for property escaping taxation, or being assessed at but a small fraction of its real value, would rest upon the state board, instead of being divided, as now, among the Assessors and the Commissioners of the several counties.

Any person or corporation so desiring should have the right to appear before the state board, but the decision of that board upon all questions relating to valuations should be final. No person or corporation should be permitted to bring an action in any court to reduce the assessed valuation of property as determined by the state board, or to reduce or interfere in any way with the collection of taxes based upon such assessment, unless such action is based upon fraud. No such action should be permitted unless commenced prior to the time the taxes complained of become delinquent, and the amount of such taxes should be deposited in court at the time the action is commenced. In any action brought by a corporation doing business in more than one county, the state should be made a party, and it should be the duty of the Attorney General to defend the same. No compromise of an action should be permitted. In the event of it being determined that the assessed valuation, by reason of fraud, is too high, the court should be required to find the amount of taxes that should be paid and to direct in its decree that such amount should be turned over to the proper officials from the moneys deposited in court.

In this connection I would also call attention to the fact that each of the gentlemen upon the State Board of Equalization, as now constituted—the Secretary of State, the State Auditor and the State Land Commissioner—is busy with the affairs of his own office, and has not the time to enter upon an exhaustive study of values. But even if the board had the time, it has not the right to call for and examine books, papers, vouchers, and other documents, nor to send for and examine under oath witnesses—powers especially essential in arriving at a just determination as to the value of railroad property. In the event of the passage of a railway commission bill, the commissioners selected would necessarily have to ascertain the value of all the railroad property in the state. They might be required to certify such values to the State Board of Equalization for its information and guidance; or, what would perhaps be better, they might be made ex-officio members of the board.

FILING AND LICENSE FEES OF CORPORATIONS.

Our laws provide that every corporation incorporated under the laws of this state, having a capital stock divided into shares, shall pay to the Secretary of State, for the use of the state, a fee of ten dollars, payable upon the filing of the articles of incorporation. Every corporation incorporated under the laws of any state or territory of the United States, or of any foreign state, is also required to pay a like fee upon the filing of a certified copy of its articles of incorporation. In some of the states the fee payable upon the filing of such articles is made to depend upon the amount of the capital stock of the corporation. In Iowa, for instance, a fee of twenty-five dollars, and an additional fee of one dollar per thousand upon all authorized stock in excess of ten thousand dollars, is required; with the provision, however, that in no event shall a fee in excess of three hundred and fifty dollars be charged.

Our laws also provide for the payment of an annual license fee of ten dollars by domestic and foreign corporations doing business in this state. The provisions above referred to do not apply to "corporations not for pecuniary profit, or to corporations organized for religious, social, fraternal, charitable, benevolent or educational purposes, nor to such insurance companies as are required to pay an annual license under the insurance laws of this state."

In some states the annual license fee paid by corporations is also made to depend upon the capital stock. Nor would this seem to be unjust. Why should a corporation for carrying on the shingle business on a small scale, or conducting a creamery, with a capital stock of $10,000, pay the same annual license as a corporation with a capital stock of a million, or of several million, dollars?

Such a measure would tend to discourage the formation of corporations with a large capital stock and a small amount of cash, or tangible property—corporations based, in the main, upon roseate expectations.

Small as our license fee is, it is not always paid. Thousands of dollars are outstanding. But this disposition to evade its payment could be readily overcome. Colorado, at least, seems to have found an effective remedy in the following provision:

"Every corporation which shall have failed to pay the tax provided for in Sections 64 and 65 (the annual license fee tax), shall, by reason of such failure, forfeit its right to do business within the limits of this State until such tax is paid, and shall be absolutely and wholly deprived of all such rights and privileges, and the fact of such failure may be pleaded and maintained as an absolute defense to any and all actions, suits or proceedings, in law or equity, brought or maintained by or on behalf of such corporation, in any court of competent jurisdiction within the limits of this State, until such tax is paid."

Where the payment of a just and reasonable license fee is required of a corporation, and such payment is refused, there certainly can be no injustice in saying to such corporation: "You shall not use the courts of this state to enforce your just demands or claims against others, until such time as the state's just claim against you is liquidated." I would, therefore, recommend that the fees for filing articles of incorporation, or certified copies thereof, in the office of the Secretary of State, as well as the annual license fees required of corporations for the privilege of doing business in this state, be made to bear some relation to the capital stock of such corporations; and that some method be adopted insuring the payment of such license fees when they fall due. Between the corporations themselves such a measure would be eminently fair—and not unfair as between the corporations and the people. The former would simply be making some return for privileges granted. Our revenues would be materially increased, and the people, indirectly at least, afforded some slight protection against watered concerns.

THE MERGER.

Sections 14, 16 and 22, Article XII, of our State Constitution, are as follows:

"Section 14. No railroad company or other common carrier shall combine or make any contract with the owners of any vessel that leaves port or makes port in this State, or with any common carrier, by which combination or contract the earnings of one doing the carrying are to be shared by the other not doing the carrying."

"Section 16. No railroad corporation shall consolidate its stock, property, or franchise with any other railroad corporation owning a competing line."

"Section 22. Monopolies and trusts shall never be allowed in this State, and no incorporated company, copartnership, or association of persons in the State shall directly or indirectly combine or make any contract with any other incorporated company, foreign or domestic, through their stockholders, or the trustees, or assignees of such stockholders, or with any copartnership or association of persons, or in any manner whatever, for the purpose of fixing the price or limiting the production or regulating the transportation of any product or commodity. The legislature shall pass laws for the enforcement of this section by adequate penalties, and in case of incorporated companies, if necessary for that purpose, may declare a forfeiture of their franchise."

It is evident that these constitutional provisions were aimed against the throttling of competition by trusts or monopolies, and against combinations having for their purpose the elimination of competition in regulating transportation charges. Prior to the formation of the Northern Securities Company, the Northern Pacific Railway Company and the Great Northern Railway Company, both operating in this state, were competing lines. Since that time competition between them has practically ceased. Believing that the formation of the Northern Securities Company and the taking over by it of the stock of the Northern Pacific and Great Northern Railway Companies were in violation of our constitutional provision; and believing that the enunciation, by those interested, of the doctrine that the people's best protection is to be found in "the enlightened self-interest of the captains of industry" had not repealed those provisions, nothing was left to be done, as viewed by the Attorney General of the state and myself, but to bring a suit to test the question. Accordingly, suit was brought in the name of the State of Washington against the Northern Securities Company and the Northern Pacific and Great Northern Railway Companies, and the action is now pending in the supreme court of the United States. An appropriation to defray the expenses of this action will be necessary.
As each of you, as well as myself, have sworn to support the Constitution of the state; and as we are informed by the head of the legal department of the state that there is reason to believe the Constitution is being violated, there should be no hesitancy in making the necessary appropriation. I would recommend an appropriation of $10,000, or so much thereof as may be necessary. You may rest assured the Attorney General will not permit the expenditure of a single dollar not absolutely necessary for the proper presentation of the case on the part of the state.

FREE PASSES.

In regard to free passes the language of our State Constitution is as follows:

"Section 39, Article II. It shall not be lawful for any person holding public office in this State to accept or use a pass, or to purchase transportation from any railroad, or other corporation, other than as the same may be purchased by the general public, and the legislature shall pass laws to enforce this provision."

"Section 20, Article XII. No railroad or other transportation company shall grant free passes or sell tickets or passes at a discount other than as sold to the public generally, to any member of the legislature or to any person holding public office in this State. The legislature shall pass laws to carry this provision into effect."

The Republican state platform says:

"We are in favor of the passage by the next legislature of an anti-pass bill in compliance with the provisions of our State Constitution."

The Democratic party in its state platform makes this declaration:

"We favor legislation to carry out the imperative mandate of the Constitution of the State forbidding the giving to or receiving by public officers of free passes on railways and transportation lines."

The practice of giving free passes has been highly detrimental to the public service. Not a single valid argument can be adduced in its favor. Free passes in the hands of an unscrupulous lobby have been a potent instrument in seducing public officials from their allegiance to the people, and in throttling legislation not satisfactory to the railroads. The mandate of the Constitution—the pledges of both political parties—the personal honor and integrity of members of the Legislature, all unite in urging the passage of a stringent anti-pass bill.

RAILWAY COMMISSION.

The most important matter to come before you at this session is the question of establishing a railway commission. The Republican state platform contains the following plank:

"We are in favor of the passage of a bill by the next legislature establishing a railroad commission to consist of three members to be appointed by the Governor, no more than two to be taken from the dominant political party, said commission to be clothed with power to regulate freight and passenger rates, to determine the value of railroad property for purposes of assessment and taxation, to prevent unjust discriminations, and to inquire into and remedy such abuses as may be found to exist."

This plank was inserted in the platform after a full, fair and free discussion of its merits. After a majority of the convention had declared themselves in favor of it, it was unanimously adopted upon motion made by the leader of the railway forces, and seconded by a prominent opponent of the commission idea. The policy of the Democratic party upon this question, as outlined in its state platform, is, substantially, in accord with the declaration of the Republican party. If it seems strange that the two political parties are in accord upon this question, an explanation can readily be found in the overwhelming public sentiment in favor of a railway commission. Neither of the political parties, in its platform utterances, was actuated by any spirit of hostility against railway corporations, nor are any of the advocates of a commission in any part of the state actuated by any such feeling. The right of the state to regulate railroad corporations is unquestioned. That the only effective way to do this is through the medium of a commission clothed with the necessary power is undisputed. The claim that such a commission would be a menace to the state is wholly unfounded—is contradicted; in fact, by the experience of every state in the Union having a regulative commission. The history of these commissions conclusively proves the following propositions: They serve to equalize and reduce rates; to do away with discrimination and to correct other abuses; to bring about a better understanding and feeling between the people and the railroads. They in no way interfere with the development of a state, or the building of new railroads, or the extension of those already in operation. On the contrary, they have very materially assisted in the development of the states in which they have been established.

When confronted with this evidence, some of the opponents of the measure are driven to the statement that three honest men, competent to administer such a law, can not be found in the state of Washington. This is an insult to the manhood of the state. Such a charge marks the civic debasement of those making it—calls attention to their straying from the paths of good citizenship as nothing else could. We need not be surprised, therefore, to find that this tender solicitude for the public weal—this haunting fear that the commissioners selected may prove false to their trust—is directly traceable to the railroad lobby. Another charge sometimes made is that those in favor of a regulative commission for this state are not honest in their advocacy of such a measure, but are endeavoring to build up a political machine. I do not believe any one takes this charge seriously. But if you suspect there is any truth in it, the threatened danger is easily guarded against. Pass the bill with the emergency clause and make the appointees under it subject to confirmation by the Senate. The names of the commissioners will then be sent in before the Legislature adjourns, and the Senate can pass upon their fitness. Whatever distrust those raising the cry of “Political machine” may have of the Executive, certainly that distrust can not extend to the Senate.

But the time for discussing the question seems to me to be past. There is before you, properly speaking, no issue of commission or anti-commission. With the depositing of the last ballot on the 4th of November the discussion was closed. The question has become one of political honesty. Do platform pledges mean anything? A political party that refuses to live up to its pledges deserves defeat at the hands of the people. An individual who betrays his party is deserving of political oblivion. On the one hand we have the solemn pledges of the two great political parties; on the other an unscrupulous and corrupt lobby—a lobby that has become a stench in the nostrils of the people of the state. Which will have the greater weight? This lobby insolently boasts that a majority of the members of this Legislature are its creatures, ready to do its bidding. I repel this infamous charge. I do not believe it to be true, nor will I believe it, unless forced to do so by the record of the vote taken upon the final passage of the measure to which both the political parties of this state are committed.
Stripped of all of its disguises, the question simply resolves itself into a choice between political honesty and political perfidy. The choice rests with you.

CONCLUSION.

In conclusion, permit me to express the hope that your sessions may be characterized by a feeling of mutual good will, and that your labors may redound to the honor of the state. You will find me ready to cooperate with you in any measure that is deemed for the public good.

On motion of Representative Easterday the joint session dissolved.

If the speaker is in doubt, or if division is called for, the house shall divide. Those in the affirmative on the question shall rise in their seats, and the number being announced, those in the negative shall rise.

Rule 13. When any member is about to speak in debate or deliver any matter to the house, he shall rise from his seat and respectfully address himself to Mr. Speaker, and shall confine himself to the question under debate, and avoid personalities; and no member shall impeach the motive of any other member's vote or argument.

Rule 14. If any member in speaking or otherwise, transgress the rules of the house, the speaker shall, or any member may, call him to order, in which case the member so called to order, shall immediately sit down, unless permitted to explain; and the house shall, if appealed to, decide the case without debate; if there be no appeal, then the decision of the chair shall be submitted to. If the decision be in favor of the member called to order, he shall be at liberty to proceed; if otherwise, and the case require it, he shall be liable to the censure of the house.

Rule 16. When two or more members rise at once, the speaker shall name who is first to speak.

Rule 18. When a motion is made and seconded it shall be stated by the speaker, or, being in writing, it shall be handed to the chair and read aloud before debate.

PREVIOUS QUESTION AND RECONSIDERATION.

Rule 26. The previous question shall be put in this form: "Mr.____ demands the previous question. As many as are in favor of ordering the previous question will say aye; as many as are opposed will say no." This question is not debatable and cannot be amended. The results of the motion are as follows: If determined in the negative, the consideration goes on as if the motion had never been made; if decided in the affirmative, then the presiding officer at once and without debate proceeds to put, first, the amendments pending and then the main question as amended. If an adjournment is had after the previous question is ordered the subject comes up the first thing after the reading of the journal the next day, and the previous question still operates, making the main question privileged over all other business, whether new or unfinished. It shall only be admitted when demanded by two-thirds of the members present, and until it is decided shall preclude all amendments and further debate on the main question. On a motion for the previous question, and prior to the seconding of the same, a call of the House shall be in order, but after a majority shall have seconded such motion, no call shall be in order prior to the decision of the main question.

DIVISION OF QUESTIONS.

RULE 27. A division cannot be demanded as a right by any member. It must be made pursuant to a motion stating precisely the division asked for, which motion can be amended. RULE 29. No amendment shall be received to a bill on its third reading, but it may be referred or recommitted for the purpose of amendment: A bill may be recommitted at any time before its passage.

PETITIONS, MEMORIALS AND RESOLUTIONS.

RULE 30. Petitions, memorials and other papers addressed to the House may be presented by the speaker or any member, and shall not be debated or decided on the day of their being first read unless the House shall direct otherwise, but they may be referred to the committee having the subject-matter thereof under consideration, or may lie on the table, to be taken up in the order in which they are presented.

BILLS, JOINT AND CONCURRENT RESOLUTIONS.

RULE 31. Any member desiring to introduce a bill shall first obtain the floor and state that he desires to introduce a bill, and if entitled to do so, the bill shall be sent to the clerk's desk to be numbered, and all bills shall be read in the order in which they are numbered by the clerk, but no bill shall be read a first time until every member present entitled to introduce a bill has had an opportunity to do so unless otherwise ordered by the House.

RULE 32. All bills introduced in this House, which are intended to amend existing statutes, shall have the words which are amendatory to such existing statute underlined or underscored, so that in the printed bills which are presented for the perusal of the members, such new or amendatory matter shall be easily discerned.
RULE 33. Every bill shall be read on three several days unless the House shall deem it expedient to suspend this rule. The first reading shall be by title only, unless a majority of the members present demand a reading in full. All bills shall be printed unless otherwise ordered by the house, and be referred to committee after first reading. Bills shall pass to second reading when reported back by the committee, unless there shall be a unanimous report against the bill, in which case the vote shall be immediately called for upon the indefinite post­ponement of the bill. Each amendment made by a committee to a bill shall be in writing on a separate slip of paper, and shall be securely attached to the original bill by a paper fastener. The report of the committee shall also contain a statement of all amendments agreed to by the com­mittee. Any committee report on a bill not conforming with this rule shall be returned by the chief clerk of the house to the committee for a compliance with this rule without further order by the House. Upon second reading, bills shall be read section by section in full, and be subject to amendment. No amendment shall be considered by the House until it shall have been sent to the desk in writing and have been read by the clerk. All amendments adopted on second reading shall be se­curely attached to the original bill by a paper fastener.

Amendments rejected by the House shall be passed to the journal clerk, and the Journal shall show the disposition of such amendments. When no further amendments shall be offered, the speaker shall declare that the bill has passed its second reading. The bill, with the amendments, if there be any attached thereto, shall be sent to the Com­mittee on Engrossed Bills, which committee shall see that all amend­ments are properly engrossed upon the original bill, and the bill returned to the chief clerk before the opening of the house on the next succeeding day, and the bill shall then come up in the regular order for a third reading. Bills on third reading shall be read in full by sec­tions. The only question on the third reading of a bill shall be upon its passage, and no amendment shall be entertained. No bill introduced "by request" shall be printed until after the committee to which said bill has been referred has acted and reported upon the same.

RULE 34. A bill may be advanced on the calendar by a vote of three­fifths of all members present voting in the affirmative; and the ques­tion shall be, "Shall the bill be advanced on the calendar?"

RULE 35. All joint or concurrent resolutions shall be acted upon the same as bills, unless otherwise ordered by a majority of the House.

RULE 36. When a bill shall pass, it shall be certified to by the clerk, together with the vote upon final passage, noting the day of its passage at the foot thereof.

RULE 37. On the final passage of every bill the ayes and noes shall be taken and entered upon the Journal.

RULE 38. No engrossed bill, memorial or joint resolution shall be sent to the senate until one day after its passage without special instructions by the house. That in the event of committees having a number of bills on the same subject, of which none can be agreed upon by the committee, and it is their wish to present a different bill upon the same subject, such bill must be reported to the House and accepted before any of the other bills can be recommended for indefinite postponement.

AYES AND NOES.

Rule 39. Upon the passage of any question the vote shall be taken by ayes and noes and shall be entered upon the journal of the House, when demanded by one-sixth of the members present. The speaker shall vote when the ayes and noes are called for, his name being called last, and in case of an equal division the question shall be lost.

VOTING.

Rule 40. No member shall vote on any question in the event of which he is immediately or particularly interested, or in any case when he was not within the bar of the House before the last name was called, unless by unanimous consent; and when any member shall ask leave to vote, the speaker shall propound to him the question, "Were you within the bar when the last name was called?"

Rule 41. Upon a division and a count of the House on any question, no member without the bar shall be counted.

DUTIES OF MEMBERS.

Rule 42. While the speaker is putting the question no member shall walk across or out of the House; nor when a member is speaking shall any member entertain private discourse or pass between him and the chair.

Rule 43. Every member who shall be in the House when the question was put shall give his vote unless the House for special reasons shall excuse him. All motions to excuse a member shall be made before the House divides or before the call for ayes and nays is commenced; and any member requesting to be excused from voting may make a brief and verbal statement of the reasons for making such request, and the question shall then be taken without further debate.

Rule 44. No member shall absent himself from the service of the House unless he shall have leave or be sick and unable to attend.

Rule 45. No person shall be allowed to smoke in the hall or lobby thereof during the session or recess.

COMMITTEE OF THE WHOLE HOUSE.

Rule 46. In forming a committee of the whole House the speaker having the chair shall call upon some member to preside, who shall be addressed as "Mr. Chairman."

Rule 47. Upon a bill committed to a committee of the whole House, the bill shall be read and debated by clauses, leaving the preamble to be last considered. The body of the bill shall not be defaced or interlined, but all amendments (noting the page and line) shall be duly entered by the clerk on a separate paper, as the same shall be agreed to by the committee, and so reported to the House. After a report, the bill shall again be subject to be debated and amended by clauses before a question to engross it be taken.

RULE 48. The rules of proceeding in the House shall be observed in a committee of the whole House, so far as they may be applicable, but no member shall be recognized a second time until every member choosing to speak shall have spoken.

VETOES.

RULE 49. The veto message of the Governor accompanying any bill passed by the House of Representatives, other than as provided in joint rule No. 9, shall be immediately read, together with the bill vetoed. It shall then be in order to proceed to the reconsideration of the bill, or to postpone its consideration to a day certain. A veto message and a bill, or the message alone, may be referred, and the bill may be laid on the table. The main question in the reconsideration of a vetoed bill is, "Shall the bill pass notwithstanding the veto of the governor?" If two-thirds of the members present vote aye, the bill shall be sent to the Senate, together with the message of the Governor, for its action. The merits of the bill may be debated before the vote is taken, but the vote on a vetoed bill cannot be reconsidered.

Gentlemen of the Senate and House of Representatives:

Last June it became apparent that the doors of the Agricultural College and School of Science would have to be closed or else the appropriation made for its support at the last session of the Legislature be exceeded. After full consultation with the board of regents I agreed with them that the closing of the institute would be inadvisable. I make this statement because I believe it to be due the board of regents that I should publicly assume my full share of the responsibility for creating a deficiency.

I would invite your attention to this matter, and recommend that you give it your early consideration.

HENRY McBRIDE, Governor.

Referred to the Committee on appropriations.

Mr. President: I desire to explain my vote. On last Friday
I joined all the other King county members of the Legislature in a written agreement with Mr. Preston not to go into a senatorial caucus until he should consent thereto. This consent never having been given, I did not take part in the republican caucus of last evening and do not feel bound by its action. I shall therefore continue to follow the instructions of my county convention and vote for Harold Preston.

Mr. Jones explained his vote as follows:

Mr. President: I owe it to myself, my constituents, the people of King county, the members of this House of Representatives, to say a word of explanation. I stated in nominating Harold Preston (and was warmly greeted and congratulated by my King county colleagues) that "we unitedly and loyally" presented the name of Harold Preston. I regret to confess that I was in error, but every instruction and pledge of honorable men warranted me in confidently making that statement.
As I view it on behalf of truth, right, justice, absolutely certain I am performing my representative and my republican duty, I cast my last vote, as has been my first and every other vote, for Hon. Harold Preston.

Mr. Lewis explained his vote as follows:

Mr. President: For the reasons stated so ably by my colleagues Mr. Cole and Mr. Jones, I vote for Harold Preston.

Mr. Raine explained his vote as follows:

Mr. President: I most heartily indorse the sentiments so ably expressed by my colleagues from King, Messrs. Jones and Cole, and like them I propose to stand, true to my own conscience and my party principles. Gentlemen, without any further remarks, I desire to cast my vote as heretofore for Harold Preston.

Levi Ankeny, having received the majority necessary to election, was declared by the president to be duly elected United States Senator from the State of Washington.

ORDERS OF THE DAY.

The election contest case of Ehrlich vs. McCoy, et al., was called at 2:30 p. m.

Mr. Thompson moved that the majority report recommending that the ballots be opened and counted be adopted.

On motion of Mr. Cole the following minority report was substituted for the majority report and was adopted:

FRANK O. EHRLICH, Contestant, vs. PATRICK McCOY, N. J. MOLDSTAD and E. E. BUTLER, Contestees.

To the Honorable the House of Representatives of the State of Washington:

Now comes a minority of your Committee on Privileges and Elections, and respectfully submit the following report:

That, pursuant to proceedings regularly had in the above entitled case, the parties thereto, with their respective counsel, appeared before your committee on the 23d and 24th of January, 1903, whereupon the following proceedings were had and done:

The pleadings in the above entitled cause were settled by sustaining, by unanimous vote, the demurrer of Patrick McCoy, and the overruling of the demurrer filed by the Contestees Moldstad and Butler, whereupon the Contestees Moldstad and Butler filed their answer denying any illegal counting of ballots as alleged in his said petition or at all.

We recommend that the unanimous action of this committee in sustaining the demurrer of Patrick McCoy be ratified by this House, and the contest as to him dismissed. And your committee further recommends that, in view of the fact that it appears upon the face of the pleadings that the Contestee Butler received only eight (8) votes less than said Patrick McCoy, and more than sufficient votes to entitle him to a seat, as against Contestant Ehrlich, the proceedings should also be dismissed as to the said Butler.

After the settlement of the proceedings as aforesaid, Fred Blumberg, being duly sworn, testified, as will appear from the typewritten transcript of evidence submitted herewith, or with the majority report herein, that he is now, and was at the time of the last general election, the auditor of Skagit county, Washington, and, as such, received the ballots and election supplies between the date of the last general election and the time fixed by law for the canvassing board to canvass said votes.

That a number of the packages purporting to contain ballots cast in various precincts in Skagit county, Washington, were at the time of their receipt by him unsealed, open and exposed in such a way and manner as to afford ample opportunity for the substitution of fraudulent ballots, or the remarking or tampering with same, and that in one case the ballots were delivered to the said auditor in such an open, careless and negligent condition, unstrung and unsealed, and the envelope containing the same unmarked, so that, as a result, the said auditor was compelled to examine the contents of such envelope and to check over the said ballots for the purpose of ascertaining, if possible, from what precinct said ballots came.

The auditor further testified that in still another instance the election returns were delivered to him by a party who was not a judge, inspector or clerk of the election board or any person authorized by law to deliver the same to the auditor of said county, and is unable to state from which precinct such ballots came. That in numerous instances the returns were brought in by the judges, and even clerks of election, unsealed and open, others coming through the mail without any mark or indication of what said envelopes contained, and were opened by the said auditor and discovered by him to be ballots of election precincts, and the said auditor is now unable to designate from what precinct or precincts said ballots were received. It further appears, in still other instances, the judges and clerks of election disregarded the law and enclosed the poll books with the ballots, in the same envelope, so that to get the poll books the canvassing board was obliged to open said envelopes. That it appears from the testimony of the said auditor that about one-half of the envelopes and packages containing the ballots supposed to have been cast at the last general election in said county are now open and unsealed, and have been in that condition some time prior to the time they were received by the said auditor and others from since the canvassing board canvassed said ballots on the day as prescribed by law, to-wit: November 14th, 1902. That said packages, thus open and unsealed, were by the auditor placed in an ordinary dry goods box, which said box has at all times since said November 14th, 1902, been open and standing in the general vault of the office of said auditor. That the auditor has four deputies in his office, two of whom have the combination of the said vault. That in addition to his office force, abstracters and county employees and other persons have daily access to the records contained in the vault of said auditor between the hours of 8 a. m. and 5 p. m. That it further appears that other persons than said auditor and his deputies have and know the combination of said safe, the auditor himself receiving the combination from a deputy of a former auditor of Skagit county, and that the said combination has not been changed within the last eight years.

That said auditor testified that, owing to illness, he was absent from his office many days during the month of November, and after the said ballots had been delivered to him, and that there were many opportunities for persons to have access to said ballots and remove, remark and replace the same. That in some instances unused ballots were returned to said auditor, instead of being destroyed, as provided by law, and kept in the box with the official ballots.

That no evidence whatever has been submitted to your committee as to how said ballots were kept or cared for from the time they were cast until delivered to the auditor, and particularly as to the ballots from the several precincts that were not strung or enclosed in sealed envelopes.

By reason of the foregoing facts, and especially because it appears that about one-half of the packages and envelopes were and still are open, torn, mutilated, unsealed, and without any address, endorsement or mark of identification whatsoever to indicate the several precincts from which they came and what were contained in said packages, and because, furthermore, said ballots were so opened and exposed to the handling of the same by the said auditor and his deputies and others not connected with his office, so that the same could easily have been tampered with if so desired, we, the undersigned, conclude that the said ballots were not sealed, kept and preserved as required by law, and that, furthermore, it is impossible now to determine with reasonable certainty whether the ballots now in the possession of said auditor and now offered here in evidence are the identical ballots, or in the identical condition with respect to marks thereon as and when cast at said election, and we are, therefore, of the opinion that said ballots are wholly inadmissible, incompetent and worthless as evidence in this case.

In view of this fact, we respectfully recommend that further proceedings in this case be discontinued, and that the same be altogether dismissed.

IRVING T. COLE.
J. E. HOWARD.
R. W. JONES.

Section 1. That section 221 of an act entitled "an act to regulate the practice and proceedings in civil actions," approved December 1, 1881 (the same being section 4993 of Ballinger's code and section 607 of Pierce's code), be and the same is hereby amended so as to read as follows:

Section 221. When the jury has been sworn the trial shall proceed in the following order:

1. The plaintiff must briefly state the cause of action and the evidence by which he expects to sustain it. The defendant may in like manner state the defense and the evidence he expects to offer in support thereof, but nothing in the nature of comments or argument shall be allowed in opening the case. It shall be optional with the defendant where he states his case before or after the close of the plaintiff's testimony.

2. The plaintiff, or the party upon whom rests the burden of proof in the whole action, must first produce his evidence; the adverse party will then produce his evidence.

3. The parties will then be confined to rebutting evidence, unless the court, for good reasons, in furtherance of justice, permits them to offer evidence in their original case.

4. When the evidence is concluded, either party may request the judge to charge the jury in writing, in which event no other charge or instruction shall be given, except the same be contained in the said written charge; or either party may request instructions to the jury on points of law, and if the court refuse to give the same, the party requesting may except. Either party shall also be entitled to require of the judge that all interlocutory orders, instructions or rulings upon the evidence during the progress of the trial of a cause, shall be reduced to writing, together with any exceptions that may be made thereto, and the same shall be made a part of the record of the case, and any refusal on the part of the judge trying the cause or making the order to comply with all or any of the provisions of this section shall be regarded error, and entitle the party whose request shall have been refused to a reversal of the judgment on a writ of error; provided, always, that the instruction or ruling so requested is pertinent and consistent with the law and evidence of the case, and that such refusal has worked an injury to the party requesting the same; Provided, further, that whenever in the trial of any cause, a stenographic report of the evidence and the charge and instructions of the court is taken, the taking of such charge or instructions by the stenographic reporter shall be considered as a charge or instruction in writing within the meaning of this section.

5. After the conclusion of the evidence and the filing of request for charge in writing or instructions, the plaintiff or party having the burden of proof may, by himself or one counsel, address the court and jury upon the law and facts of the case, after which the adverse party may address the court and jury in like manner by himself and one counsel, or by two counsel, and be followed by the party or counsel of the party first addressing the court. No more than two speeches on behalf of plaintiff or defendant shall be allowed.

6. The court shall then charge the jury upon the law in the case. If no request has been made for said charge to be in writing, or if no instructions have been requested, such charge may be oral, but either party at any time before the jury return their verdict, may except to the same or any part thereof; but no exception shall be regarded by the Supreme court unless the same shall embody the specific parts of said charge to which exception is taken. In charging the jury the court shall state to them all matters of law necessary for the information of the jury in finding a verdict; and if it become necessary to allude to the evidence, it shall also inform the jury that they are the exclusive judges of all questions of fact.”

SECOND READING OF BILLS.

Mr. Lewis appealed from the chair's ruling, which he understood was made by the chair at the last session at which House bill No. 94 was under consideration.

Mr. Lewis: As I understand, the journal says that the speaker has ruled on the point of order that I made.

The Speaker: The ruling was passed over until this morning, and the chair has made a brief on this point of order, which he will ask the reading clerk to read.

Mr. Lewis: Would the chair permit me to withdraw my point at this time, and save the time of the House from discussion?

I desire to say, as a question of privilege, that I do not desire to take the time of the House to argue an appeal from the speaker's decision. While I believe the point of order is well taken, I do not believe it is wise to attempt to appeal from the speaker's ruling just now, and I am willing, if the House consent, that my point of order be withdrawn at this time.

The Speaker: Does the gentleman from King want a ruling as to the status of bill No. 94?

Mr. Lewis: As I understand it, the chair gave his opinion.

Mr. Speaker: The chair gave no opinion.

Mr. Lewis: Then I withdraw my point of order.

Mr. Speaker: Do you withdraw your appeal?

Mr. Lewis: I will wait until the decision is read.

At this time the reading clerk read the decision of the speaker, as follows:

"With the indulgence of the House, the speaker will explain that the authorities are as one in deciding the status of a bill committed to the committee of the whole for consideration, and not reported back to the House. Manifestly, to rise and report progress in the consideration of a bill, is not to report the bill. As the House, by a majority vote can resolve itself into committee of the whole, the right to sit again rests with the majority, and not in the formula of a request when the committee rises to report progress on unfinished business. The contention that no leave having been asked or granted to sit again, the committee is therefore dissolved, has no force or effect in the premises. This point, we shall presently note, has been decided by the highest authorities on parliamentary practice in the United States.

"The only way to stop a committee of the whole from considering a bill that has been submitted by it to the assembly is by a motion to discharge the committee of the whole from the consideration of the bill before the committee. But it is never in order to move to discharge a committee of the whole from the consideration of a bill, before the committee has reported a recommendation respecting it, viz: That the House adopt amendments to the bill; that the bill do pass or be indefinitely postponed or some such similar motion. House Congressional "In section 98 of Reed's Parliamentary Rules, it is provided: 'An assembly may determine upon the future sitting of the committee of the whole, and in some assemblies it is in order, when the committee arises without finishing its work, to report progress and ask leave to sit again, and to have the time then appointed, but this is not customary in this country. Whenever the assembly sees fit to resolve itself into a committee of the whole—if no subject be specified—then the unfinished business of the former meeting becomes a first subject on the calendar previously committed, if there is any.'

"It clearly appears from the examination of the foregoing section of Reed's Rules under which this House is acting, and from all the works on parliamentary law, that the mere rising of a committee does not dissolve it, nor does it bring the bill back into the House, but it remains in the committee of the whole to be considered whenever the House resolves itself into a committee.

"The following is quoted from Mr. Ascher C. Hinds on the parliamentary procedure of the House of Representatives, p. 259: 'It is not in order to move in the House to postpone the consideration of a bill which is still in committee of the whole.

"'On July 22nd, 1892, during the call of committees for reports, when the committee on public lands was called, Mr. Thomas C. McRae of Arkansas, from that committee, submitted the question, of order, whether it was not in order to move to postpone the bill (H. R. 9079) until the 6th of December next. The speaker (Mr. Crisp) held that the motion was not in order, inasmuch as the bill was in committee of the whole house on the state of the Union, and must have its first consideration in that committee. Upon motion of Mr. McRae the House resolved itself into the committee of the whole house on the state of the Union; and after some time spent therein, the speaker resumed the chair, and the chairman reported that the committee having had under consideration the bill (H. R. 9072) etc., had come to no resolution thereon.

"'Mr. McRae then moved that the further consideration of the said bill be postponed until December 6, next.

"'Mr. Nelson Dingley, Jr., of Maine, made the point of order that the motion was not in order, for the reason that the bill was still in the committee of the whole.

"'The speaker sustained the point of order, holding that the bill having been referred to the committee of the whole house, and not having been reported back, it was not now in order to postpone or otherwise consider it in the House.'

"The following rule is laid down in Crutchfield on the rules and practice of the House of Representatives, p. 338, 2nd session 53rd Congress: 'It is never in order to move to discharge a committee of the whole from the consideration of a bill before the committee has reported a recommendation respecting it, unless possibly in case of an erroneous reference to the committee of the whole.

'The observance of rising, on the part of the committee of the whole, and asking leave to sit again, is obsolete in American legislation and in all bodies, the conduct of which is governed by the rules of Congress.

'Speaker Reed's contention that the rising of the committee to ask leave to sit again is "not customary in this country," as abundantly proved by the former experiences of our own House as recorded in the journal of the last session under the scrutiny of a speaker who is an acknowledged adept in parliamentary practice.

'Mr. Lewis, in his brief, which invokes the authority of Cushing's Manual, long since discarded by American legislators, attempts to prove that the committee of the whole as organized under the rules of this House, is dissolved or discharged as far as further consideration of a bill committed to it is concerned, when upon rising such committee does not ask for leave to sit again at an appointed time.

'Whatever may be the hair-splitting niceties of the 'a' and the 'the' as applied to the organization of committees of the whole, it is a manifest principle as already pointed out, that where there remains the power of the majority to re-resolve itself into a committee of the whole, the formula of asking leave to sit again is superfluous.

'The gentleman from King who raises this point of order, says he has been unable to learn of any measure ever having been retained in the committee of the whole under our rules for a period longer than one sitting. He says of the committee has not completed its work, it has in every case, restored the bill to the House and asked 'leave to sit again' which leave was granted or refused, as the House might direct.

'The gentleman from King was a member of the House last session, and in the case of House bill No. 499, he should have recalled that it was considered four several times during two days. On three occasions the committee of the whole 'rose and reported progress;' on the fourth occasion of rising it reported House bill No. 499 back to the House with the recommendation that as amended it be passed. On every one of the three occasions first named upon which the committee rose, the only journal record is that it reported progress, and did not ask leave to sit again at an appointed time.

'Speaker Albertson, a very careful and considerate parliamentarian, would certainly have cured the record if he thought the worn out formula of asking 'leave to sit again at an appointed time,' was essential to the resumption of consideration of the same bill or subject in the committee of the whole.

'The chair rules that House bill No. 94 is still in committee of the whole, and that the House can only consider it again when it is reported back from the committee of the whole.'
Mr. Lewis: I wish to waive any rights to appeal under that motion but I am in an awkward position in that the speaker puts certain statements by me which I have not stated to the House and I wish to explain my position. In the session of the House two years ago, Mr. Jones, who presided over the committee of the whole, has reported to me that the journal is in error, that in every case where the bill was reported back to the house he asked leave to sit again. I wish to withdraw at this time my appeal from the speaker's decision on my motion to reconsider. On that I think I have the authority of the former sessions of the House. But the members who agree with me on the commission question do not wish to take up the time of the House in discussing it. Therefore move at this time that the House go into the committee of the whole and if I understand correctly the speaker waives the right to appoint a chairman, I move that Mr. Lindsley be given the chair.

The Speaker: By unanimous consent the gentleman will be allowed to withdraw his appeal. Consent given.

The Speaker: The gentleman makes another motion that we now go into the committee of the whole and consider House bill No. 94.

Mr. Roth: I desire to arise to a point of order.

The Speaker: It has been moved and seconded that the House now go into committee of the whole to consider House bill No. 94.

Mr. Roth: The point of order is this: It is necessary to add, in case we desire to go into committee of the whole at this time "that the rules be now suspended."

The Speaker: Does the gentleman raise the point of order of going into committee of the whole at this time?

Mr. Roth: Without suspension of the rules.

The Speaker: The chair will state that under the second reading of bills, by a suspension of the rules, this bill was made a special order. The hour arriving, the House resolved itself into a committee of the whole. That special order still stands, and the House can go into the committee of the whole on a majority vote. This will be the ruling of the chair.

Mr. Gleason: May I be permitted to speak to a point of order?
The Speaker: The point of order has been decided; the gentleman can appeal.

Mr. Gleason: I appeal from the decision of the chair on the point of order.

The Speaker: The decision of the chair is appealed from. The question is, shall the decision of the chair stand as the decision of the house?

Mr. Levy: I rise to a point of order that no two members joined in that appeal.

The Speaker: The chair will decide that the point of order is well taken. The question is whether the House at this time will resolve itself into the committee of the whole.

On viva voce vote the speaker declared the ayes have it. Division being asked, the roll was called and resulted: Yeas 47, nays 37, absent or not voting 10.

Mr. Crandall changed his vote from yea to nay.

Those voting yea were: Allis, Basset, Benn, Butler, Cameron, Child, Cole, Collins, Corliss, Denton, Dickson, Dilling, Dix, Dunn, Durham, Frostad, Field, Gray, Gunderson, Haynes, Henry, Howard, Howell, Jones, Knoblock, Lewis, Lindsley, Mackenzie, Malone, Megler, Moldstad, Muse, Parcel, Philbrick, Dogue, Quinn, Raine, Ranck, Stark, Tibbetts, Veness, Wells, Williams, Wilson (J. The Speaker: "As the chair had decided that a majority vote took the House into a committee of the whole, the motion is carried.

The speaker then called Representative Johnson as chairman of the committee of the whole to the chair. That gentleman not being present, the speaker waived his rights to name the chairman.

Mr. Lewis nominated Mr. Lindsley for chairman of the committee.
Mr. Easterday was also nominated.

The roll was then called and resulted in 43 for Easterday and 42 for Lindsley. Absent or not voting 9.

The following members voted for Mr. Easterday: Allis, Brewer, Brown, Carle, Clark, Coate, Craigie, Crandall, Delanty, Edemiller, Fitzgerald, Gleason, Griffin, Hastings, Hopp, Hunter, Jeffries, Kees, King, Knoblock, Lindsley, Lingerman, Lyons, McCoy, McNicol, Merrill, Morgan, Morrill, Palmer, Philbrick, Roth, Stevenson, Thacker, Veness, Weir, Wells, White, Whitney, Wilson (J. The speaker declared that as Mr. Easterday had the majority he was elected chairman of the committee of the whole.

At 11:15 a. m. the chairman of the committee reported as follows:

Mr. Speaker: We, the committee of the whole House, having under consideration House bill No. 94, had the same under consideration and report the same back to the House with the recommendation that it be indefinitely postponed.

It was moved and seconded that the report of the committee of the whole be adopted.

Mr. Lewis: I move that the further consideration of this motion be made a special order for this afternoon. Ne second.

The Speaker: The question is upon the adoption of the report of the committee of the whole.

Viva voce vote taken. The speaker declared the motion carried.

Mr. Lewis arose to a point of order and stated that his motion was seconded by Mr. Megler.

The Speaker: I heard no second.
Mr. Lewis: I wish to move at this time a call of the House.
The Speaker: The question has been stated and it has been decided.
The House then took a recess at 11:30 a. m.

FORTY-FOURTH DAY

MORNING SESSION.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES,

OLYMPIA, WASHINGTON, Tuesday, February 24, 1903. 10 o'clock a.m.

The House was called to order by the speaker at 10 a.m.

Roll call showed all members present except Messrs. Howard, Lewis, McCoy, Moldstad, Parcel, Roth, Stevenson and Whitney. Messrs. Parcel, Stevenson, Lewis and Roth were excused.

Rev. J. W. Satterthwaite offered prayer.

On motion of Mr. Benn, the complete reading of the minutes of yesterday was dispensed with, and the same were approved as if read.

Mr. Levy rose to a question of personal privilege and said:

"Mr. Speaker: I was appointed by the speaker as chairman of the committee to investigate frauds in state printing. I endeavored to do my duty with all the power that I had at hand. We delved deeply and diligently into the matter. One fault I may have, I speak a great deal and speak without fear. I have attempted to the utmost of my knowledge and ability to act honestly and courageously on this subject.

"I stand here, Mr. Speaker, charged with soliciting a bribe by a newspaper which I have endeavored to investigate,—the very newspaper that has been charged with collusion in the state printing frauds. I will state that I have had one of the people connected with this paper as a witness and put him through a very severe and stringent examination. Another member of the firm has refused to come before that committee and testify.

"Now, Mr. Speaker, I hold in my hand a paper here, which is addressed to you and is one of the most vile and calumnious charges ever uttered against a man who fearlessly did and will do his duty no matter what happens. I fear no ring, I fear no crowd of men, I fear no set of men. I have been appointed an investigator by this House and I have fearlessly gone on and investigated to the best of my ability. Mr. Speaker, I desire to hand to you this paper and demand that an investigating committee be appointed for the purpose of looking into these charges."

The charges against Mr. Levy, signed by A. B. Howe, president of the Pioneer Binding & Printing Co., of Tacoma; by the Metropolitan Press Co., P. L. Allen, manager; by Gwin Hicks, the State Printer, and by the State Printing Co., by Gwin Hicks, were read.

Olympia, Wash., February 20, 1903.

Mr. Speaker:

The undersigned refuse further to recognize the authority of Mr. Louis Levy, chairman of the House investigating committee on printing, to subpœna and question us further upon matters pertaining to the public printing. We base our refusal upon the following reasons:

First—The said Levy insisted upon his selection as said chairman, not for the purpose of making an impartial and honest investigation or of rendering a report in accordance with the resolution of the House creating the said committee.

Second—He has declared that it was his purpose to secure the said chairmanship in order to be in a position to force the undersigned, contractors and state printer, who have deficiencies pending before this Legislature, to pay him a monetary consideration for a favorable report.

Third—In pursuance of that avowed policy he has approached each of us personally and through an accredited agent to pay into his hands or the hands of his said accredited agent the sum of $1500 in consideration of a favorable report, supporting his power to render such a report by the assertion that the other members of the committee could be "fixed" by him.

Fourth—That we have personally refused to entertain his proposal.
in the face of a continued and daily demand upon us made by him and his agent to pay over this money.

Fifth—That he has sought to coerce us into such payment by false accusations, by insinuations, by submitting us to an inquisition outrageous in its implications, by threats, by cajolery, by badgering, by distortion of the records and testimony, in fact by all the methods known to the professional blackmailer.

For these reasons we refuse further to obey his demands upon us for information and most respectfully ask that in order that justice may be done us and that the state secure a true and impartial report in accordance with the resolution that the said Levy be removed from the chairmanship of said committee and that some other member of the House be named in his stead and we pledge you that the fullest scope and the most searching investigation will receive all the knowledge and aid that lies in our power to give.

Respectfully,

AL B. HOWE,
METROPOLITAN PRESS, Inc.,

STATE OF WASHINGTON, EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
OLYMPIA, February 24, 1903.

The Honorable Speaker, House of Representatives, Olympia; Washington.

Sir: I have the honor to inform you that the Governor has this day approved the following:

House bill No. 349, entitled "An act making appropriations for the salaries and expenses of the State Board of Control for the maintenance and sundry expenses of the various state penal, reformatory and charitable institutions for the fiscal term beginning April 1, 1903, and ending March 31, 1905. Truly yours,

J. HOWARD WATSON, Secretary to the Governor.

STATE OF WASHINGTON, EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
OLYMPIA, February 24, 1903.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the State of Washgton, Olympia, Washington.

GENTLEMEN—In accordance with section 11, article 3, of the constitution of this state, I herewith transmit a list of the pardons, commutations and remissions of fines granted during the biennial period since the last report, including those granted by Governor John R. Rogers.

Respectfully yours,

HENRY McBRIDE, Governor of Washington.

PAROONS.

By Governor John R. Rogers:

HENRY SURRY.—Pardon granted and fine remitted January 26, 1901. Surry was convicted in King county upon the charge of assault and battery upon Edward May, and was sentenced January 30, 1899, to two months imprisonment in jail and to pay a fine of $100. Surry had been a peace officer and fired a shot at May while the latter was fleeing under suspicious circumstances, the shot taking effect in the latter’s leg. Intervention was recommended by the trial judge, prosecuting attorney, mayor of Seattle, chief of police of that city and other officials.

MORRIS OLSON.—Sentence commuted to one year, January 28, 1901. Olson was sentenced in Walla Walla county June 26, 1900, to two years in the State Penitentiary for burglary. It was shown that Olson was an ignorant young man under the influence of men older in years and in crime; that at the time of his pardon he was suffering from a severe knife stab in the neck, inflicted by a vicious prisoner, and the sentence was commuted upon recommendation of the trial judge, prosecuting attorney and chief of police of Walla Walla.

SEWARD J. PARKS.—Sentence commuted to six months in jail, February 9, 1901. Parks was sentenced in Spokane county September 21, 1900, to imprisonment in the county jail for one year for embezzlement. He was a young man, of good family connections who had been led astray by fast associations; it was his first offense; the amount embezzled was small, and at the time of the commutation of sentence he was suffering from inflammatory rheumatism.

ISAAC W. ALDDS.—Pardon granted April 10, 1901. Allds was sentenced from Whatcom county to the State Penitentiary June 27, 1898, for the crime of robbery for the period of ten years. A petition for clemency was presented signed by the trial judge, the prosecuting attorney, the sheriff and others, and upon the hearing it was shown that there had been no trial by jury, Allds having entered a plea of guilty; that later developments having indicated that the prosecuting witness was of questionable character—the sum of money claimed to have been lost being greatly in excess of the actual amount, the sentence was therefore more severe than the case warranted.

JAMES ROBINSON.—Pardon granted December 16, 1901. Robinson was sentenced from Snohomish county to 19 years in the State Penitentiary for murder in the second degree, sentence being pronounced February 12, 1896. Robinson was 74 years of age when sent to the penitentiary. After serving nearly six years of his sentence, actual time, a petition was presented signed by the trial judge and numerous citizens asking for his release on account of his feeble condition and his extreme old age.

DANIEL BOYD.—Three months' commutation allowed May 2, 1901. Boyd was sentenced December 16, 1891, from Cowlitz county, to 15 years in the State Penitentiary for manslaughter. Commutation was granted upon the recommendation of the Superintendent of the Penitentiary under the provisions of Chapter LXXIV, Act of 1897, Sec. 2, entitled: "Time Allowance for Good Behavior of Convicts."

L. H. SHAFFER.—One month commutation of sentence allowed May 2, 1901. Shaffer was sentenced February 21, 1899, from Spokane county, to three years in the State Penitentiary for burglary. Commutation was granted upon the recommendation of the Superintendent of the Penitentiary under the provisions of Chapter LXXIV, Act of 1897, Sec. 2, entitled: "Time Allowance for Good Behavior of Convicts."

JOHN F. HURN.—Sentence commuted to 21 years May 6, 1901. Hurn was sentenced in Walla Walla county, May 31, 1888, to be hanged for murder in the first degree; thereafter a respite was granted and on September 13, 1888, the sentence was commuted by the Governor of the Territory to life imprisonment. Hurn's mother was the keeper of a hotel, which was burned and human life destroyed in the fire, Hurn and his mother being convicted of the crime of murder. It was shown that Hurn was a young man when the crime was committed and that undoubtedly he was the tool of older and baser people; that it was his first crime; that he had a wife and a son—the latter now 16 years of age, devotedly awaiting his liberation. Intervention was prayed for by the prosecuting attorney, the Superintendent of the State Penitentiary and numerous citizens of Walla Walla.

JOHN W. HARMON.—Sentence commuted to eight years May 8, 1901. Harmon was sentenced from Spokane county December 5, 1895, to ten years in the State Penitentiary for stealing meat cattle. It was shown in the application that he was young when convicted, and the tool of older men who had since been convicted and punished. Executive clemency was urged by the trial judge and numerous citizens.

Manuel Payne.—Pardon granted July 25, 1901. Payne was sentenced January 13, 1892, from Clarke county, to 20 years in the State Penitentiary for assault with intent to commit rape. He was an old man. Governor Rogers made a personal investigation and was convinced that the prisoner was worthy. Recommendations were made by the trial judge, the prosecuting attorney who conducted the case, and others.

Ladd A. Knapp.—Pardoned August 2, 1901. Knapp was sentenced December 21, 1899, from Walla Walla county, to seven years imprisonment in the State Penitentiary for the crime of rape. From later developments there was grave doubt of his guilt, and the Governor was asked to intervene in behalf of Knapp, the petition being signed by the trial judge, the prosecuting attorney who conducted the case, the sheriff, and eleven of the jurors who returned the verdict.

George A. West.—Pardon granted August 23, 1901. West was sentenced from King county in 1900 to imprisonment in the State Penitentiary for five years for robbery. Pardon was granted after about 13 months’ imprisonment in view of the fact that West rendered valuable aid in the conviction at Dawson, N. W. T., of George O'Brien, the murderer of Linn Relfe and others, and clemency was asked by the trial judge, the prosecuting attorneys who conducted the case, the sheriff, three of the judges of the Superior Court of King county, and many other citizens.

Stephen P. Burns.—Sentence commuted to eleven months August 27, 1901. Burns was sentenced October 4, 1900, to twelve months imprisonment in the Pierce county jail for receiving money under false pretences. Commutation was asked for by the trial judge, the prosecuting attorney who conducted the case, the sheriff and others, there being no good time allowance in county jail sentences.

Frank Gaby.—Pardon granted September 9, 1901. Gaby was sentenced from Snohomish county on December 16, 1897, to ten years imprisonment in the State Penitentiary for manslaughter. Letters were received by the Executive from the trial judge and prosecuting attorney praying for a pardon, the statement being made by the former that the prosecuting attorney had assured him he was convinced “that testimony could and should have been produced on the trial in behalf of the defendant which, had it been, would have resulted in a verdict of acquittal.”

Joseph Tavares, Jr.—Sentence commuted to eight months in county jail September 3, 1901. Tavares was sentenced February 7, 1901, in Adams county, to imprisonment in the State Penitentiary for twelve months for altering brands upon horses with intent to prevent their identification. It was shown the prisoner was but slightly over 16 years old, that he had always borne a good character, but was influenced by a man who had also been convicted for the same crime. Executive clemency was recommended by the trial judge, the prosecuting attorney, the sheriff, the prosecuting witness and others.

Thomas C. Jordan.—Pardon granted and amount of fine remaining remitted December 2, 1901. Jordan was sentenced September 26, 1901, to pay a fine of $25 and costs—amounting to $280—for the crime of assault. He had served over two months in the county jail, being unable to pay the fine, and a pardon was recommended by the presiding judge of Lewis county, the prosecuting attorney, eleven of the jurors, and others.

Albert Silfe.—Pardon granted December 7, 1901. Silfe was sentenced November 12, 1900, from King county, to three years in the State Penitentiary for grand larceny. At the time of the application Slife had been confined in the King county jail since September 27, 1900, a period of over fourteen months. The action granting a pardon was taken upon a presentation that Slife may have been wrongly convicted, the evidence being of a circumstantial character. The petition was signed by the trial judge, the prosecuting attorney, and the prosecuting witness.

Harry Miller.—Sentence commuted to 18 years December 16, 1901. Miller was sentenced March 14, 1890, from Pierce county, to twenty years in the State Penitentiary for murder in the second degree. The evidence was of a circumstantial character and the prisoner always claimed that the man he killed was committing burglary in his room at the time and was a stranger to him. In the opinion of the trial judge, the prosecuting attorney and others there was an element of doubt regarding Miller's guilt of murder, and they therefore joined in a recommendation for commutation of his sentence.

Patrick Dunnigan.—Sentence commuted to nine years May 3, 1901. Dunnigan was sentenced in December, 1895, from Whitman county to a term of 15 years in the State Penitentiary for the crime of murder in the second degree. The petition for commutation was signed by the trial judge, the prosecuting attorney, the Superintendent of the Penitentiary and a large number of citizens of Whitman county.

By Governor Henry M. McBride:

Arthur L. Ferry.—Pardon granted January 29, 1902. Ferry was sentenced in King county April 11, 1901, to a term of one year in the State Penitentiary for the crime of burglary. He was a young man of previous good character, and, while in the King county jail, prior to his transfer to the penitentiary, was a trusty. His record in the State Penitentiary was good. Pardon was granted a few days before the time for his regular release in order to restore to him his civil rights, and was recommended by the trial judge, the prosecuting attorney and other citizens of Seattle.

Allen K. James.—Pardon granted from Thurston county jail March 5, 1902. James was sentenced November 25, 1901, to imprisonment in the Thurston county jail for the term of eight months for the crime of obtaining money under false pretenses. Upon a showing from the county physician and others that James' health had been impaired by confinement in the jail—owing to the poor ventilation and bad sanitation of that prison—and that to remain therein for the full term was a menace to the life of the prisoner, a pardon was granted.

Evans McAfee.—Sentence commuted to 18 years and 10 months March 6, 1902. McAfee was sentenced in Kittitas county April 2, 1900, to a term of 20 years in the State Penitentiary for the crime of murder in the second degree. During all the years of his confinement McAfee had been a well-behaved prisoner, serving a long time as a trusty and never violating the confidence reposed in him. Clemency was recommended by Superintendent Catron and other officers of the prison, members of the State Board of Control, and others.

George Price.—Pardon granted April 16, 1902. Price was an Indian, convicted in Snohomish county November 15, 1901, and sentenced to a term of one year in the State Penitentiary for the crime of manslaughter. Letters and petitions received from the county attorney, sheriff and others, stated that Price had been a sober, and hard-working Indian, that the death of the mother was more an accident than a crime and that in consideration of this the jury recommended the defendant to the leniency of the Court. When Price was taken to the penitentiary the doctor there found him suffering from symptoms of tuberculosis. At the time of the application for pardon Price was in the prison hospital, where he had been since February 15, 1902, suffering from acute pulmonary tuberculosis in an advanced stage. The Superintendent of the State Penitentiary recommended that Price be pardoned and the penitentiary physician gave it as his opinion that the patient would not live 60 days, as he was growing rapidly weak.

Arthur Gager.—Pardon granted May 17, 1902, from King county jail. Gager was sentenced February 17, 1902, to one year in the State Penitentiary for the crime of burglary. He was 18 years old. His crime was the breaking of a lock on a sail boat and taking from the vessel a rudder and sail while going, it is claimed, on a hunting trip. The trial judge and prosecuting attorney recommended the pardon, it being shown that Gager's friends had arranged for him to enlist in the United States Navy. At the time of his arrest Gager held an honorable discharge from the U. S. steamer Pathfinder.

Victor Osborne.—Pardon granted June 25, 1902. Osborne was a young man convicted in Pierce county on the 27th day of March, 1901, and was sentenced to the term of one year and six months in the State Penitentiary for the crime of attempt to commit burglary. He was convicted by reason of having in his possession when arrested a knife that had been broken in an attempt to open a lock, the broken piece being found in the door. After Osborne's conviction a confession was made by a criminal, convicted of other burglaries, that he had attempted to commit the crime for which Osborne had been convicted and had thrown the knife away as it was broken and useless to him. The pardon was issued one day before the expiration of the boy's sentence in order to restore to him his civil rights.

Frank Williams.—Pardon from King county jail, granted August 13, 1902. Williams was sentenced November 23, 1901, in King county, to imprisonment in the jail of that county for the term of one year for the crime of tampering with a witness. Williams was a "trusty" in the jail and at one time disclosed to the sheriff information that a jail delivery had been planned and that a revolver had been smuggled in to one of the desperadoes then in jail. By reason of this information the sheriff was able to frustrate the plans of the prisoners and the revolver was secured without loss of life. The recommendation for Executive clemency came from the sheriff's officers and was concurred in by the trial judge, the prosecuting attorney, sheriff and others.

Frank Vidal.—Pardon granted September 25, 1902. Vidal was sentenced from King county November 8, 1901, for a term of five years in the penitentiary for the crime of burglary. Developments after his conviction showed that while Vidal was convicted of burglary he was merely guilty of petit larceny. A pardon was recommended by the trial judge, the prosecuting attorney and others.

George Rand.—Pardon, from Stevens county jail, granted September 29, 1902. Rand was on May 29, 1902, fined $500 by the judge of the Superior Court of Stevens county, and ordered committed to jail pending payment, for interfering with telephone communications. The trial judge, prosecuting attorney, members of the Board of County Commissioners, various county officials, attorneys and business men petitioned for Rand's pardon as he was unable to pay the fine and had already been severely punished.

John E. Maine.—Pardon granted September 30, 1902. Maine was sentenced from Walla Walla county to two years and nine months in the State Penitentiary for the crime of larceny by embezzlement. He was released under the parole law November 1, 1901, and thereafter lived an upright life in Vancouver. His mother was taken seriously ill and it was necessary that she be removed to Southern California. She was dependent upon the aid and assistance of the prisoner who was prevented from leaving the State of Washington by the parole law. The pastors of several churches, many church workers, the chief of police and many officials of Vancouver asked for a pardon in order that Maines might accompany his mother.

WILLIAM MILBY.--Pardon from Kittitas county jail, granted October 11, 1902. Milby was sentenced March 28, 1901, to a term of six months in the jail of Kittitas county and to pay a fine of $250 for the crime of attempting to influence a voter. He had already served about eight months imprisonment, was old, poor and unable to pay the balance of the fine, and his health was being undermined by close confinement. The pardon was asked for by the trial judge, the prosecuting attorney and a number of leading citizens of Kittitas county who believed that Milby had been sufficiently punished.

FRANK LAVERGNE.--Pardon granted November 19, 1902.--LaVergne was sentenced in October, 1895, from Yakima county, to a term of twenty years in the State Penitentiary for the crime of manslaughter. On May 15, 1900, he was released on parole and took up his residence with his family in Pierce county, where he continued to faithfully observe the parole law and to support his family. A pardon was asked for and recommended by the trial judge, the prosecuting attorney, nine of the jurors and a large number of leading citizens.

STEVE LYTS.--Pardon granted November 20, 1902. Lyts was sentenced January 5, 1900, in Snohomish county, to a term of ten years in the penitentiary for the crime of grand larceny. Executive clemency was recommended by the trial judge, the prosecuting attorney, the sheriff, the prosecuting witness and others. The prosecuting witness under oath stated that he was mistaken in charging Lyts with the crime and that he was entirely innocent of the crime of which he was convicted.

A. P. VANCE. --Sentence commuted December 31, 1902. Vance was sentenced November 13, 1901, by the judge of the Superior Court in and for Pierce county, to the death penalty for the crime of murder in the first degree, and, later, the 9th day of January, 1903, was fixed as the day on which the death penalty should be executed. Executive clemency was asked by the jurors who tried the case and was recommended by about eighty practicing attorneys of Tacoma and by a large number of leading citizens of Pierce county. The sentence of death was commuted to imprisonment for life in the State Penitentiary.

CHARLES J. EDWARDS.--Pardoned January 7, 1903. Edwards was sentenced from King county June 22, 1901, to a term of three years in the State Penitentiary. On January 7 it was reported by the Superintendent of the Penitentiary that Edwards had been in the prison hospital for several months suffering from tuberculosis, and that the prison physician had reported that he could not live. Edwards had friends in California who were willing to take charge of him. A pardon was granted at once, but Edwards began to sink rapidly and died in the prison hospital January 14.

JOHN O'DAY.--Pardoned February 14, 1903. O'Day was sentenced on July 9, 1902, to a term of three years in the State Penitentiary for the crime of robbery. He had previously lived in Wyoming, where he had borne a good character. This was said to be his first offense. He was an engineer, but was unable to secure work, and it was shown that he was driven to the crime by seeing his family in want. The appeal for clemency was made by the wife of O'Day, who was compelled to care for and support four small children, the eldest being six years.

J. M. HOSHER.—Pardon from King county jail, granted February 14, 1903. Hosher was sentenced to one year in the King county jail about April 16, 1902, having been convicted of the crime of embezzlement. Executive clemency was asked by the trial judge, and a large number of reputable citizens of King county.

CIVIL RIGHTS.

Civil rights were restored to the following named persons upon recommendation of the superintendent of the State Penitentiary at the time of their release from custody, their conduct during imprisonment having been such as to inspire the superintendent with a belief in their reformation:

REPORT OF SPECIAL COMMITTEE.

The special committee appointed to investigate the charges against Mr. Levy presented the following report:

OLYMPIA, Wash., February 26, 1903.

To the Speaker of the House of Representatives.

Sir: We, your special committee appointed to investigate the charges made by certain contractors for state printing against Mr. Louis Levy as chairman of the House investigating committee on state printing, beg leave to report that, pursuant to the instructions given in the appointment of this committee, the committee met on Wednesday, February 25, 1903, for the examination of witnesses and the taking of testimony relating to said charges.

There appeared before, and were examined by your committee, all of the parties making and signing said charges, and also Mr. F. T. Houghton, state printing expert, and numerous other persons having knowledge of the facts involved. Witnesses on behalf of Mr. Levy were also produced before the committee, and their testimony taken to refute the charges made.

The hearing before the committee was conducted openly, and the fullest opportunity given to all persons to appear and give testimony bearing upon the subject. The testimony given by certain of the witnesses produced and examined was so directly in conflict, one with another, that their testimony can not be harmonized.

It is the opinion of the committee, from the testimony produced, that certain statements were made by Mr. Levy to certain of the contractors for state printing which caused a misunderstanding and misconstruction to be placed by such contractors upon the acts and statements made to them by Mr. Levy in the course of the investigations of his committee, and which may have led the printing contractors to so misinterpret the acts and statements of Mr. Levy as to give them reason to make these charges in good faith. And it appears to your committee that certain statements were made by Mr. Levy to certain of said contractors which were upon his part at least indiscreet and injudiciously made, but it is the opinion of your committee that any such statements or any demands made by Mr. Levy of said contractors were not with the intent or purpose upon his part of demanding or obtaining from them the payment to him of any money corruptly or as a consideration for any dishonest or improper action by the committee of which he was chairman.

We further find from the testimony that parties signing the charges made probably did not intend or expect that their action in making such charges would be as closely investigated as has been done by this committee, but that their main object and purpose was to withdraw Mr. Levy from the investigation being pursued by his committee and probably shield the state printing contractors from a careful and thorough investigation of the work being done under said contracts.

We further report and find that as to the first and second items of the charges filed, there was absolutely no testimony presented in support of the same, and as to the remaining items of said charges, the testimony of all the witnesses produced was, in the opinion of your committee, insufficient to sustain the charges as true within any degree of probability.

We therefore recommend, upon all the evidence in the case produced before us, that Mr. Levy be exonerated from willful wrong-doing in the matter, and that the charges be dismissed. We return herewith the specifications of charges above referred to.

Respectfully submitted.

From the Tacoma Chamber of Commerce in regard to the inspection of oil.

The following communication from the Attorney General in regard to railroad and tax commissions was received.

STATE OF WASHINGTON, ATTORNEY GENERAL’S OFFICE,
OLYMPIA, Wash., February 27, 1903.

To the Speaker and Members of the House of Representatives of the State of Washington:

Some days ago our office received a resolution submitting the following questions:

“1. Whether a railroad or tax commission can be clothed with any greater power than the fixing of the valuation of property for the purposes of assessments in regard to taxation.

“2. Whether or not the prescribing of a fixed valuation by a state commission upon such corporate property to the local authorities as a basis for the levy of local revenue would be a violation of said Article XI, section 12, or Article VII, section 9, of the state constitution, and whether such valuation could be made mandatory upon the local assessment districts for local taxing purposes.”

These questions are very general in their terms, but I understand the specific question upon which an opinion is desired is whether or not, under our constitution and the general revenue law as it exists, a railway or tax commission could be constitutionally clothed with authority to fix the value of railway property, and the assessors of the various counties be required to accept these values fixed by such commission as the value in money of the railroad property in their respective counties.

Under section 3 of Article VII of the state constitution, I am led to believe that the question must be answered in the negative, for the reason that the methods pursued in ascertaining the value of corporate and individual property do not conform to said section 3. This letter is written without particular reference to the railway or tax commission bills now pending before the legislature, but relates to the question as an abstract proposition.

Very truly,

W. B. STRATTON, Attorney General.

P. S.—Enclosed herewith is a copy of an opinion to the State Senate, dated February 27, 1903.

Referred to the Committee on Revenue and Taxation.

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR.

STATE OF WASHINGTON, EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
OLYMPIA, March 9, 1903.

To the Honorable the Speaker and Members of the House of Representatives of the Eighth Legislature, State of Washington:

GENTLEMEN—I herewith return House bill No. 160, having disapproved section 2 thereof. The reasons constraining me to disapprove said section are as follows: Under the law as it now stands the decisions of the boards of county commissioners of the several counties, sitting as boards of equalization, are final as to the assessable value of property for purposes of taxation. The courts will not interfere with the judgment of county assessors, or county boards of equalization, as to values, when that judgment is honestly exercised. The Supreme Court of this state, after reviewing its own decisions upon this question, says:

"These decisions may be summarized as follows: Fraud on the part of the assessing officer may be presumed from a palpably excessive or exorbitant overvaluation. The court will grant relief for an arbitrary, fraudulent, or malicious excessive valuation by the assessing officer. Where the assessing officer has exercised an honest judgment, and no fraud or arbitrary or capricious action in making the assessment is shown, or can be presumed, the court will not interfere. Where it appears that the assessing officer endeavored honestly to get at the true value, and there is an honest difference of opinion as to the value, the judgment of the officer is conclusive."—Templeton vs. Pierce County, 25 Wash., 381.
Section 2 of House bill No. 160 would change this rule. It would permit the judgment of assessing officers as to the value of property to be called in question in every instance—even when that judgment had been honestly and conscientiously exercised. Any one appearing before a board of county commissioners, sitting as a board of equalization, and asking for a reduction in the assessed value of property, whether real or personal, and failing to obtain the same, could within 30 days bring an action in the Superior Court to determine the value of such property. And an appeal would lie from the Superior Court to the Supreme Court.

The final determination of the values of property must be lodged in some tribunal. At present that duty is within the province of county boards of equalization. Section 2 would impose that burden upon the Supreme Court—would make it the final arbiter of the value of all property, both real and personal, in the state. County Commissioners, as a rule, are engaged in the active duties of life, and are, presumably, well acquainted with values in their several localities. Judges of our courts, from the very necessity of the case, are withdrawn from business affairs and pursuits, and can not be expected to have any great knowledge of property values throughout the entire state.

If assessing officers act fraudulently, or arbitrarily, or capriciously, in making assessments, instead of exercising their honest judgment, the courts will review the actions of such officers upon complaint of any one feeling himself aggrieved. This affords full protection to the property owner. It is with some reluctance that I set up my own judgment in this matter against that of the lawmaking power, but I firmly believe the present rule much preferable to that which would obtain should section 2 be permitted to stand.

Should you not agree with me in this, let us briefly consider the section in question from another point of view. No matter how honestly or conscientiously the board of equalization may perform its duties, any property owner not satisfied with the value placed upon his property may bring an action in the Superior Court to determine its value. Not satisfied with the decision of the Superior Court, he may appeal to the Supreme Court. Overburdened as that court is—and the volume of its business is constantly increasing—it might be at least two years before a decision would be handed down. What would happen in the meantime? Could the auditor extend the taxes upon the tax roll? The value of the property not being determined, how could this be done? After, say two years, a final decision is rendered, but that decision simply determines the value of the property. That is all the court under the section in question can do. It is silent as to the procedure to be followed after the court determines the value. How is the property in question to be subjected to taxation? This section certainly opens the door to confusion and would certainly result in increased litigation.

In some counties in the state a few individuals, or corporations, own a very large proportion of the taxable property. If they, dissatisfied with the judgment of the board of equalization as to values, should take the question into court, what would be the result? Taxes could not be levied upon this property while its value was in dispute. Where would the revenues come from in the meantime? Would the burden be borne by the smaller property holders or would indebtedness have to be incurred? After a decision was finally obtained, how would the property be subjected to taxation for the time intervening between the commencement and the termination of the action? These are some of the questions that naturally present themselves to the mind upon the reading of this section. Rather than face the litigation and confusion resulting therefrom, that would necessarily arise under this section, boards of equalization might be tempted to yield to the importunities of powerful interests at the expense of small property holders. The section in question, as I view it, would be of no benefit to any one except the tax-dodger—and to him it would present an additional avenue of escape from bearing his fair share of the public burden.

Respectfully yours,

HENRY McBRIDE, Governor.

And your committee further recommends that as amended the bill do pass.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES,
OLYMPIA, Wash., February 27, 1903.

Mr. Speaker:

We, your Committee on Judiciary, to whom was referred Senate bill No. 86, entitled “An act relating to electric railroads and railways, and plants for manufacturing and transmitting electric power,” have had the same under consideration, and we respectfully report the same back to the House, with the recommendation that it do pass as amended.

Strike out the entire title, and substitute in lieu thereof the following: “An act relating to electric railroads, street and other electric railways, and corporations incorporated for the construction, ownership or operation thereof, the right of eminent domain therefor, the use of streets and roads thereby and leases and sales thereof heretofore or hereafter made.”
In lines 9 and 10 of the engrossed bill, section 1, after the word "railways," strike out the words "and transmission lines for transmitting electric power."

In lines 18 and 19 of section 1 of the engrossed bill, after the word "railway," strike out the words "or such transmission line."

In line 54 of the engrossed bill, section 1, after the word "interest," substitute a "," for the "." and add the following words: "and shall require such railroad or railway and its appurtenances to be placed in such location on or along the road or street as the board finds will cause the least interference with other uses of the road or street."

In line 55 of section 1 of the engrossed bill, after the word "railway," strike out the words "or transmission line."

In line 65 of section 1 of the engrossed bill, after the word "railway," insert "on or along such county road or county street."

In line 68 of section 1 of the engrossed bill strike out the words "at such crossing."

In lines 5 and 6 of section 2 of the engrossed bill strike out the words "or for manufacturing and transmitting electric power."

In line 18 of section 2 of the engrossed bill, after the word "railway," strike out the words "or transmission line."

In lines 6, 7 and 8 of section 3 of the engrossed bill strike out the words "or for manufacturing and transmitting and selling electric power."

the words "or the whole or any part of the plant for manufacturing and transmitting or distributing electric power or energy."

In lines 22 and 23 of section 3 of the engrossed bill strike out the words "each of the corporations concerned," and insert in lieu thereof the words "the lessor or grantor corporation."

The reason that your committee recommends the striking out of the matters above mentioned is to avoid any question of doubt that might arise from including these matters in the same bill with the other matters conveyed by the bill. Your committee has therefore drafted and reports herewith a supplemental bill, embodying the matters which have been recommended to be stricken out of the original bill. Your committee recommends that the supplemental bill be known as "House
