RESOLUTION

Resolution by Mr. Ford:

Resolved, That the rules which governed the House of Representatives for the Thirty-first Session of the Legislature be adopted by the House as the permanent rules of this Extraordinary Session of the Thirty-first Legislature.

On motion of Mr. Ford the resolution was adopted.

The Speaker called Mr. S. R. Holcomb, Chief Clerk of the Thirty-first Regular Session of the Legislature to preside.

The Chief Clerk declared that nominations for Speaker of the House of Representatives were in order.

The Chief Clerk recognized Mr. O'Brien.

Mr. O'Brien of King:

"Mr. Chief Clerk, Chief Justice Simpson, Ladies and Gentlemen of the House:

It is my pleasure and privilege at this Extraordinary Session of the Thirty-first Legislature to place in nomination the name of a man who has served the People of the State of Washington well. He first came to the Legislature in 1937, has served five regular sessions plus one special session. We all know him to be fair and impartial in all of his dealings.

"At the last Legislature, he presided over us and we know he is a very capable man. He saw that no one was prejudiced in any way. He is a very keen student of government; in many phases a specialist and an expert.

"Therefore, it is my pleasure to place in nomination the name of Mr. Charles W. Hodde."

On motion of Mr. Comfort, nominations for Speaker were closed.

The Clerk called the roll and Mr. Hodde was elected Speaker of the House of Representatives by the following vote: Mr. Hodde, 94; nays, 0; absent or not voting, 4.

The Speaker addressed the House with the following remarks:

"Mr. Chief Clerk, Chief Justice Simpson:

"I think it's always customary for the Speaker to make a speech after he is elected. In line with the idea that this will be a short session, we'll have a short speech. The only thing I can think of to say, outside of thanking everybody for the privilege of presiding over the House, is to express my regret that, not having been previously informed of the large vote I was going to receive, I was only prepared with sixty-five cigars, and so the best thing I can think of to do now, under the circumstances, is not to pass out any cigars at all.

"I do appreciate the privilege of again presiding over the House of Representatives, and the vote given me."

The Speaker called for nominations for the office of Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives.

The Speaker recognized Mr. Adams.

Mr. Adams of Clallam, Jefferson and Mason:

"Members of the House, Ladies and Gentlemen:

"When I was sitting here listening to my good friend, John O'Brien, I began to realize that I came here, probably, seventy-five years too late. I didn't have the opportunity to learn many of these nice sounding words he used. But, in my own humble way, in the language I speak, and one that you all understand, I want to place in nomination at this time the name of a very good friend of mine, the name I have had the privilege of placing in nomination on several occasions before. Not only is he my friend, but the friend of every person in the Great Northwest. Anyone that wants a service of any kind, legislative or otherwise, has found that he is always willing to give that time if it is for the benefit of the State of Washington.

"I might say, just in these few words, briefly, in placing my nomination for Si Holcomb for Chief Clerk, that Si is a great guy. I don't think we can beat him."

On motion of Mr. Zent, nominations for Chief-Clerk were closed.

MESSAGE OF GOVERNOR ARTHUR B. LANGLIE TO THE LEGISLATURE

Mr. President, Mr. Speaker, Ladies and Gentlemen of the Legislature:

It is with great reluctance that I have called you together in this Extraordinary Session, because I realize the imposition upon your time, particularly at this season of the year.

I have sought, through all possible means, to make the $206 million allocated for welfare by the last legislature do the job. Percentage reductions were made in the allowances to welfare recipients; other governmental units were invited to assist the state in carrying the burden, so that this Extraordinary Session might be avoided. It was only after these alternative efforts had failed that I felt obliged to convene you here today.

The basic problem you and I face is a financial one imposed upon us primarily by Initiative Measure No. 172, known as the Citizens' Security Act of 1948. This measure has caused such a severe drain upon the state's General Fund that the $32 million surplus with which we began this biennium has been exhausted, and the General Fund today stands approximately $30 million in the red.

The General Fund budget adopted by the 1949 legislature, as you know, carried an operating deficit—even assuming the welfare costs could be kept within the $206 million allocation. Unfortunately, these costs could not be so reduced. Certain of the appropriations are on the verge of exhaustion. Additional appropriations must be made immediately to save our physically handicapped, our unemployables, and others, who are in need of immediate medical care, from dire suffering.

It is for this reason we are assembled here.

These obligations were mandated to us on November 2, 1948, when the people of this state, by their vote, indicated their approval of the provisions of Initiative 172. These responsibilities were before us in January, 1949, when this legislature last convened in regular session. At that time careful estimates indicated that allocations totalling $229 million—rather than the $206 million which was finally provided—would be necessary to carry out in full the provisions of the law.

Since January's responsibilities were not met fully at that time, they must be faced again today. To do this and to permit the Department of Social Security to carry on at 100 per cent of the levels prescribed in Initiative 172, additional appropriations totalling $22 1/2 million dollars will be necessary. This sum should carry the program to the end of the biennium.

Out of this $22 1/2 million, $3 million will go for Aid to Dependent Children and Foster Care. The largest appropriation, one of $81 1/4 million, will finance the General Assistance program for unemployable persons. An additional $33 3/4 million will be used to aid the employables. The remaining $71 1/2 million will be needed to carry out the medical program. All of this, as I indicated earlier, is based on following the levels set forth in 172 without ratable reduction. Sufficient funds remain in the appropriations for Old Age Assistance and for Aid to the Blind to carry out the provisions of the initiative. These two categories, therefore, need not claim your attention. Ratable reductions are in effect now in the other categories I have discussed.

Aid to Dependent Children is being supplied at 75 per cent of the levels prescribed in the Initiative. With a very few exceptions, in families where there are small children and food only is being provided, all employable persons have been removed from the General Assistance rolls and only those who cannot be employed are receiving aid at approximately 75 per cent of the Initiative No. 172 level. Should the legislature choose to carry on the program as presently administered, the appropriation would then need be but $15 to $15½ million. The $3 million for Aid to Dependent Children would not be necessary and the total assistance load, primarily for the benefit of unemployables, could be carried on for approximately $8 million. This sum, together with $7 to $7½ million for the medical program, would call for appropriations totalling $15 or $15½ million as compared to the $22½ million mentioned earlier. Other estimates have been prepared for your information by the staff of the Department of Social Security, which stands ready at all times to assist you with such information as you may require.
FIRST DAY, JULY 17, 1950

Since issuing my proclamation, other matters of emergent nature have been called to my attention and I feel that I must suggest them for your action.

The Department of Labor and Industries is in urgent need of an appropriation of $450,000 to carry out pension obligations under Chapter 233, Laws of 1947. The department's original request of $4 million for this purpose was reduced $500,000 at the last regular session, and now an additional $450,000 must be found.

The Supreme Court of the State of Washington, in a recent decision in Columbia Steel Company v. State, has held that the state cannot tax receipts from sales by persons engaging in business in this state wherein the goods were shipped from out-of-state points. In effect, the decision states that taxation of such sales is not invalid, but merely cannot be permitted because other provisions of Title II of the Revenue Act of 1935 discriminate against such interstate sales. This means a serious loss in revenue.
A minor change in the wording of the law will remedy the defect of which our court complained. This remedial action, if taken, will mean a recovery of from $2 to $5 million before the end of this current biennium and thereafter will provide revenue totalling about $10 million each biennium. In view of our urgent need, I commend this also to your attention.

Next, I feel that I should point out a legislative error of our last meeting which has annoyed many of our citizens. I refer to the increased taxes imposed on light trucks and trailers. In the rush and the pull and haul of the last hours of the regular session, these provisions, for various reasons, were not removed from the original and tentative drafts of this legislation. When the measure reached my desk, it was so drawn that I could not veto these provisions without also vetoing others which it was highly desirable to retain. Thèrefore, I signed the measure and the increase became law. I now recommend to you that section 10, Chapter 220, Laws of 1949, be amended to restore the lower level of fees prevailing for such vehicles prior to its enactment.

This matter deserves emergency treatment, in my opinion, because we will start receiving applications for new licenses on November 15 and only confusion and injustice can result, if the matter of this amendment is delayed until the next regular session.

Certain other corrective action to remedy technical and other legal defects in existing law is deserving of your study. The bond issue bills passed at the last regular session are in need of attention at this time, also the question of enlarging eligibility for bonus benefits under certain circumstances should be considered.

In order that we may deal adequately with the problems as they develop in the Puget Sound ferry situation and to insure the ultimate utilization of bridges now being constructed and to be constructed in the future, it is essential that any ferry operation on Puget Sound be under the regulation of the Public Service Commission. There is a decision now pending in Thurston County Superior Court which may resolve this question. But, because of uncertainties of litigation there still remains a strong possibility that the statutory law of the state is not sufficiently broad to cover the situation that has arisen and, therefore, a simple amendment to our existing law has been prepared and is being submitted to you.

In view of the war in Korea and the potentialities it presents, a minor correction in the voter registration laws is in order to permit members of the armed forces who reach their majority after leaving the state to register by mail. Except for this, it appears that there is enough statutory authority to take care of other war emergency problems for the time being.

Numerous other suggestions have been made to me, as they no doubt have been made to you, concerning matters which might receive your consideration. I have refrained from presenting many of them to you for the reason that in my opinion their consideration at the regular session would be more appropriate.

I do not believe it possible for this special session to really come to grips with the basic problem of balancing revenues with outgo in so limited a period. Also the course of future expenditures and the amount of future revenue needs are most uncertain.
Much depends upon the decision of the people in the coming election when they mandate to us their welfare program through their ballot on Initiatives 176 and 178. Their decision, rather than any we can make now, will determine the extent to which this legislative body will have to go in its next regular session to raise additional taxes and plan the long range finances of the state. I expect, of course, that things I have omitted from this message will receive some of your attention and I have no desire to attempt, in any way, to inhibit the deliberations of this free legislative body. I do wish very much to be of assistance to you and I am glad to place the facilities of my office and staff and those of the heads of the code departments at your disposal. (Applause.)

The President of the Senate requested the Sergeant-at-Arms of the Senate to escort the special joint committee to the rostrum.

The special joint committee appeared before the bar of the House, and the President of the Senate requested the committee to escort His Excellency, Governor Arthur B. Langlie, from the Chamber. (Applause.)

On motion of Representative Ford, the Joint Session was dissolved.

The Speaker resumed the Chair, and requested the Sergeant-at-Arms of the Senate and the Sergeant-at-Arms of the House to escort the President of the Senate and the Senators to the Senate Chamber.

The Speaker called the House to order.

"A matter of personal privilege, Mr. Speaker.

"Mr. Speaker, Ladies and Gentlemen of the House:

"I feel, as I have always felt, that when someone, through research, comes upon information of valuable interest to the House, he should inform the House on that subject.

"I wish to point out to you some of the observations I have made of the leader of our minority group, Mr. Comfort.

"Some of his great traits were early recognized, and it has been my good fortune to get ahold of the Annuals from back in North Dakota, wherein they verily prophesy some of his great attainments. I would like permission to read from a couple of those now.

"I am reading from 'The University of Dakota, '08.'

"'Arthur B. Comfort, tell me not that Love was born to die).

"'Barnesville, Minnesota High School. Received his B. A. degree in 1906. Kim was born in Waubay, S. D., but was attracted to the University by the superior advantages here, both intellectually and socially. He is a prominent member of the Band and Glee Club, and has done his finest work in "Duets." Kim will make an honest and conscientious lawyer—a sort of a Lincoln-Roosevelt man in one. His greatest pleasure is in the happiness of others.'

"Also, further on, we have a picture of this gentleman and it says, 'Arthur B. Comfort' and underneath it are these lines: 'None but himself can be his parallel.' Then we find it says, 'Kim, our pretty boy, is a prominent member of the Glee Club and Varsity Band. His laugh is as rosy as his cheeks and he is a living example of what a good complexion can do for a man. He is a persistent worker, faithful and enthusiastic. His one failing is any good-looking girl.'"

House Bill No. 13, having received the constitutional majority, was declared passed.

There being no objection, the title of the bill was ordered to stand as the title of the act.

House Bill No. 14, by Representative Paulsen: Providing an additional Superior Court Judge for Pierce County.

The bill was read the second time by sections.

Mr. Bargreen moved the adoption of the following amendment:

Amend the bill by inserting a new section immediately following section 1 to be known as section 2, to read as follows:

"Sec. 2. There shall be three (3) judges of the Superior Court in Snohomish County."

Amend the bill further by renumbering "Sec. 2." to read "Sec. 3." and "Sec. 3." to read "Sec. 4."

Debate ensued.

POINT OF INFORMATION

Mr. Frayn:

"Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask Mr. Bargreen a question."

Mr. Speaker:

"Does the gentleman yield?"
Mr. Bargreen:
"Yes."

Mr. Frayn:
"The question I want to ask is, why, if the situation in Snohomish County is an emergency, as you stated, why didn't you prepare the item and have it presented as a bill instead of attaching it as an amendment to the bill from Pierce County?

"In other words, there might be half a dozen similar cases like that around the state; but, I think, bringing something in at the last moment like that might jeopardize Pierce's new judgeship."

Mr. Bargreen:
"I appreciate the question very much, but at the present time our judges are so overworked, that, when they were advised that this question was being presented to the Special Legislature, they immediately got ahold of the representatives from our district and that is the feeling that the judges have, and the attorneys. Not being a judge or an attorney, I was not familiar with the situation until it was brought to our attention."

Debate ensued.
The amendment was adopted on a rising vote.

Mr. Bargreen moved the adoption of the following amendment:
Amend section 2, line 3 of the printed bill, after the comma (,) following the words "of Pierce County" insert the following: "and one additional judge for the Superior Court of Snohomish County."

Debate ensued.

Mr. Woodall:
"I would like to ask a question of Mr. Bargreen, if I may."

The Speaker:
"Does the gentleman yield?"

Mr. Bargreen:
"Yes."

Mr. Woodall:
"As I understand it, Snohomish and Island Counties are together in one judicial district, is that correct?"

Mr. Bargreen:
"Yes."

Mr. Woodall:
"Now, by placing the amendment that they appoint an additional judge for Snohomish County, is it the intention of your particular amendment that the newly appointed judge shall have no jurisdiction over judicial matters in Island County?"

Mr. Bargreen:
"Indeed, no. It should have been amended to read both Snohomish and Island Counties. That was overlooked."

Mr. Speaker:
"Do you wish to submit a new amendment?"

Mr. Bargreen:
"Yes."

On motion of Mr. Woodall, consideration of House Bill No. 14 was deferred until after the third reading, and placed at the end of the calendar.

Without objection, the House advanced to the tenth order of business.

POINT OF INFORMATION

Mr. Riley:
"May I ask the gentleman from Lewis a question?"

The Speaker:
"Does the gentleman yield?"

Mr. Cory:
"Yes."

Mr. Riley:
"Mr. Cory, in your factual study, can you state with some assurance that the Territory of Hawaii has sufficient income to maintain itself when and if it is admitted to the Union?"
Mr. Cory:
"I think it has a considerably larger financial income than a number of our present states. It has a population of 550,000 people, and it is one of the largest income tax paying states, or territories to become a state."

Mr. Riley:
"May I ask another question, then?"

Mr. Speaker:
"Does the gentleman yield?"

Mr. Cory:
"Yes."

Mr. Riley:
"On the basis of that, then, you have probably made some study and perhaps have visited there. Is it not true that even in the Territory of Hawaii, business people are split on the matter, as well as all categories of people?
"The laboring people are split on the matter, as well as other categories of citizens?"

Mr. Cory:
"I don't suppose it is unanimous, but things aren't unanimous in this state, I'm sorry to say."

Mr. Riley:
"I just wanted to reassure you, Mr. Cory, they are not of one mind on the matter of statehood."

Mr. Holliday:

Mr. Frayn:
"Mr. Holliday, does this receive the blessing of the Superintendent of Public Instruction?"

Mr. Holliday:
"I might answer the question with a question. If you were Superintendent of Public Instruction, would you feel in a position to okay any contest proposal? That answers the question in itself. No, it doesn't have the blessing of the Department of Public Instruction. However, I am certain there is not much opposition to the program."

"Does the gentleman yield?"

Mr. Bernethy:
"Certainly."

Mr. Woodall:
"Has this matter been taken up with the Office of the Superintendent of Public Instruction as to available funds given her for purposes similar to this?"

Mr. Bernethy:
"Very much so."

Debate ensued.

Mr. Woodall:
"What was the answer of the Superintendent of Public Instruction?"

Mr. Bernethy:
"May I answer you this way? So far we have not been able to get any funds whatsoever."

Mr. Woodall:
"Well, what does the State Superintendent say? Are they out of funds or doesn't she feel it is needed or what?"

Mr. Bernethy:
"I'll answer this way, Mr. Woodall: The Superintendent thinks we should consolidate with Monroe High School which would be a case of some thirty-five miles of transportation for Sultan students. Also, on that, the people have demonstrated very clearly that they will not vote for consolidation. They want to keep the Union High School."

Mr. Blair:
"I have a question, Mr. Speaker."

The Speaker:
"Does the gentleman yield?"

Mr. Bernethy:
"Yes."

Mr. Blair:
"Have they attempted to have a bond issue?"

Mr. Bernethy:
"We have passed a fifty mill levy which will raise forty thousand dollars."

Mr. Blair:
"Well, that's a special levy. Have you tried a bond issue?"

Mr. Bernethy:
"No."

Mr. Blair:
"Why haven't you had a bond issue?"
Mr. Bernethy:
"It wouldn't pass."

Mr. Cory:
"I've been told you have money for a school room but this is for a gymnasium, is that correct?"

MOTION

The Speaker recognized Mr. Woodall.

Mr. Woodall:

"Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be referred to the Appropriations Committee."

Debate ensued.

POINT OF INFORMATION

Mr. Rasmussen:

"Will the Chairman of the Appropriations Committee yield to a question?"

The Speaker:

"Does the gentleman yield?"

Mr. Riley:

"Yes."

Mr. Rasmussen:

"Mr. Riley, do you feel the amounts of this bill are justified?"

Mr. Riley:

"I would be inclined to say they are, but there may be questions which our committee would like to ask for this reason: We had about fifteen minutes to hear the presentation, which I would say is a reasonable presentation. I believe the figures are reasonably accurate. But everyone knows it's human nature not to go on record in public with questions we would sometimes like to ask in executive sessions."

Mr. Rasmussen:

"Your objection, then, is not to the bill itself, but to form of procedure?"

Mr. Riley:

"I wouldn't say that it's entirely to the form of procedure. That is one objection. The second is for fair treatment, because there are other deficiency appropriation bills in the Appropriations Committee for consideration; and, this is the only one so far that has not gone through as I enumerated."

Mr. Gallagher (Bernard J.), demanded the previous question and the demand was sustained.

The Speaker declared the question before the House was the motion to refer House Bill No. 29 to the Appropriations Committee.

"Yes."

Mr. Rasmussen:
"How do your Indians vote—Democrat or Republican?"

Mr. Adams:
"Oh, I can answer that."

Mr. Woodall:
"Mr. Speaker, I'd like to answer that question. One of our local Indian Chiefs tells me that he is a Republican, but every time he gets around George Adams, George tries to make a Democrat out of him."

"Mr. Speaker, I deny the right of Representatives Woodall and Adams to vote on this measure as contrary to Rule 52."

"'No member shall vote on any question in which he is immediately or particularly interested.' Now, both of these members were elected by Indian votes and I don't think we should be persuaded by them at all."

"Well, your point is not well taken."

PROPOSITIONS, MOTIONS AND RESOLUTIONS

Resolution by Mr. Olson (Ole H.):

Resolved, That the rules which governed the House of Representatives during the thirty-first session of 1949 be adopted by this House as temporary rules until permanent rules be adopted and that the Committee on Rules and Order be authorized and directed to formulate the permanent rules of the House for the present session, and that the Committee on Rules and Order act jointly with a like committee from the Senate to formulate joint rules.

On motion of Mr. Olson (Ole H.), the resolution was adopted.
Nominations for Speaker of the House were declared in order.
The Chief Clerk recognized Mr. Ford.
Mr. Ford of Kitsap:

"Mr. Chairman, Members of the House:

"It is my privilege to place in nomination for the office of Speaker of the House the name of a man we all highly respect, a man of the highest intellectual and moral integrity. This man has served several sessions in the House. Many of us have served with him. We know him as a man we can trust, a man truly a leader and a statesman. It is my privilege to nominate for the office of Speaker, Mr. Charles W. Hodde."

The Chief Clerk recognized Mr. Comfort.
Mr. Comfort of Pierce:

"Mr. Chairman, Members of the House:

"I have in mind a gentleman, also from this side of the House, whom I think you should give consideration to in electing a Speaker. I have in mind also that there are certain qualifications that a Speaker should have. He should have honesty and integrity of purpose. He should have mental and physical fitness and alertness. He should have experience and intelligence. He should have tolerance and fairness and, above all, he should have understanding and loyalty to our institutions.

"Now, in enumerating them, I do not want it to be inferred that any other candidate who may be nominated does not likewise have those qualifications, but I mentioned them for the reason we are operating under a two-party system and the Republican Party has within its ranks men who meet those qualifications and who are capable of filling the position of Speaker.

"We have one here among us who has been with us for quite some time. He has shown his ability as a leader among our group. We know from experience that he has gained tolerance and understanding; and it gives me great pleasure at this time to nominate for this position Mr. Perry Woodall of Yakima County."

The Chief Clerk recognized Mr. O'Brien.
Mr. O'Brien of King:

"Justice Beals, Mr. Chief Clerk, Ladies and Gentlemen of the House:

"It is my pleasure and privilege to second the nomination of Mr. Charles W. Hodde as Speaker of the House at this thirty-second session of the Washington state legislature. We are fortunate indeed to have a man of Mr. Hodde's ability and experience and integrity to direct us in these most perplexing days with which we are confronted. We know our state is faced with a most serious financial problem. We know we have a problem of civilian defense that has to be met by this session of the legislature. The war in Korea caught our state very much involved in the world situation. We are at a spot where this session of the legislature has to do something definite in regard to our own civilian defense problem.

"Therefore, it is important we have a man who understands and has a high respect for the multitude of problems we have before us; so, it is my pleasure to second the nomination of Mr. Charles W. Hodde as our Speaker for this session of the legislature."

The Chief Clerk recognized Mr. Rasmussen.
Mr. Rasmussen of Pierce:

"Justice Beals, Mr. Chief Clerk, Fellow Members of the Legislature:

"I, too, rise to second the nomination of our former Speaker, Charles W. Hodde, a man those of us who have served with have found to be a fair man, a student of political government, a man who has shown, both in his services and in sitting here with us, that he realizes the problems of business. He is a business man—a farmer, and therefore a business man. He is a success in that. His honesty is unquestionable. So, I say, truly, Charles Hodde will again make a good Speaker for the House of Representatives."

The Chief Clerk recognized Mr. Sisson.

Mr. Sisson of San Juan and Skagit:

"Ladies and Gentlemen of the House:

"It is very rarely that I get on my feet to speak in legislative sessions but, having been here longer than I care to admit, I believe that I am a pretty good judge of human nature and men. I come from an entirely different part of the state than the man I wish to second. Also, I am interested not only in the man who may be Speaker of this assembly but interested from a Party standpoint.

"It has been my personal privilege to have been very closely identified in the work of the Republican Party with this brilliant young man. It was my pleasure in 1947 to be his seat-mate and to assist him in his position as floor leader. It gives me a great deal of personal pride to be able to second the nomination of Mr. Perry Woodall for Speaker of the House."

The Clerk called the roll and Mr. Hodde was elected Speaker of the House of Representatives by the following vote: Mr. Hodde, 53; Mr. Woodall, 45; absent or not voting, 0.

The Speaker addressed the House with the following remarks:

"It has always been customary for the Speaker-elect to make a few remarks and it's always the most difficult undertaking to try to express your appreciation. I'm sure that to those members who have served with me a number of sessions, or even just one, you know that I do say it sincerely. I appreciate the cooperation that has been extended to me in the past and the best gift that you can ever make to me is that when there is a difference of opinion, you will come to me and we can try to straighten out that difference of opinion and work in harmony irrespective of whether you belong to the party in control or the minority.

"I think in the past we have had a very harmonious group in the House. There is a certain spirit of fraternity that is built up in a session. There are rough spots we have to get over but we'll make it over these rough spots and when we meet after leaving this session of the legislature, we'll meet with a smile and spirit of friendliness irrespective of what differences we may have had during session.

"I trust the feeling of admiration I have for the work and respect I have for the opinions of the members of the House will also prevail between the members as well as the Speaker during this session.

"I thank you very much."

The Speaker called for nominations for the office of Chief Clerk.

The Speaker recognized Mr. Adams.

Mr. Adams of Clallam, Jefferson and Mason:

"Mr. Speaker, Justice Beals, Ladies and Gentlemen:

"This one little privilege I have always rather reserved for myself. I feel that I am the only one who can properly place in nomination the name of this gentleman and tell you all the kind things that should be said of him. I loaned my speech to Brother Ford here because he was unaware until a few moments ago that he was to make a nomination speech. So I repeat again everything that he has said about his candidate as also applying to mine. I might add a little bit more and borrow some of Mr. Comfort's remarks. I don't think that they would be out of order to apply to this gentleman.

"He is honest, most patient, has been most kind and always has been very considerate of the wishes and desires of each member of the House in giving them his time, his counsel and his consideration at any time they came to him for help or advice. He has served very well for many, many sessions as Chief Clerk of this House and it is with a great deal of satisfaction and pleasure I again place in nomination the name of my dear friend—your friend; and to the newcomers particularly, I'll say, 'You'll leave here with the memory of Si Holcomb and the wonderful work he has done in helping you in many ways'. It is indeed a great privilege to have this opportunity of placing Mr. Si Holcomb's name in nomination for Chief Clerk of the House."

The Speaker recognized Mr. Zent.

Mr. Zent of Spokane:

"Mr. Speaker, Justice Beals, Members of the House:

"I could put everything together that has been said about the previous candidates who have been chosen and add more to it. It seems that a session of the legislature, at least in the House, is not complete without Si. For those of you who have served with Si, you know that he is probably one of the best there is. It is my personal privilege and pleasure to have met and have been raised with Si in a small town on the eastern side of the state. I knew him when he was a boy. He was a fine boy and he's a fine man now. The State of Washington would lose if Si were not here to direct the work of the House. It is a personal privilege for me to second the name of Si Holcomb in nomination for Chief Clerk."

The Speaker recognized Mr. Smith.

Mr. Smith of King:

MESSAGE OF GOVERNOR ARTHUR B. LANGLIE TO THE LEGISLATURE

Mr. President, Mr. Speaker, Ladies and Gentlemen of the Legislature:

Again we meet in a time of great national emergency.

All of us had fervently hoped for a long respite from the waste and sacrifice of war and preparation for war. Our country had placed chief reliance in the United Nations to maintain world peace and order. We had disbanded our armies, decommissioned our fleets of ships and planes, dismantled our war plants, and turned our attention to the pressing problems of our civilian economy.

But the evil menace of expanding communism would not have it so. While the rest of the world pursued a peaceful path, the forces of communism, bent upon a wholly different course, were gathering vast strength and power. Their method was regimentation, suppression, infiltration, intimidation and aggression. Their purpose was to push the frontiers of that ideology so deeply into the territory and institutions of free nations, that all the world would fall an easy prey. Then came the day when the principles and authority of the United Nations were openly defied in the halls at Lake Success, and physically challenged on the Korean fields of battle.

This nation and the world are now awake to the danger. We still hope to avert World War III. But it is so perilously close that our nation has already come virtually to a war footing. This is bringing with it a fundamental change in our civilian economy, with resulting burdens and sacrifices for all of us. If the emergency becomes more acute, developing into a global war, we all face the risk, of great loss and suffering. We face these possibilities, not cheerfully, but with the determination to do what must be done to preserve, for our children, the way of life all of us so deeply cherish.

It is in this setting that theThirty-second Legislature of the State of Washington meets to discharge its legislative duties.

Our state occupies a position of great importance in this emergency, as it did throughout World War II. It is a tremendous arsenal for military might. Its strategic geographical location, moreover, has special military significance in any war with communism.

These facts must be constantly borne in mind as we work together in Olympia these next sixty days. Whatever may be done, through legislation, to implement our state's part in the national effort, must be adequately and courageously done. Whatever legislative proposals would tend to impair our state's effectiveness must be rejected with equal forthrightness. Our constant purpose must be to meet the special emergency legislative requirements; insure a smooth-running, economical, serviceable state government; cut out governmental frills; find a sound financial basis for our operations; and do whatever else is needed to clear the decks for action.

Many plans and programs will have to be subordinated to the major issues that will promote the well-being of our country, no matter how close to our hearts some of the matters before us may be. A basic virtue of our free system of government is free discussion of all issues. We realize its value and we should not feel any compunction about expressing criticisms. But we must not overlook one of the great weaknesses of our system of government, and that is too much talk, too much disunity borne of carping criticism, and a limiting thereby of action, destructive of unity on major and important proposals that must be accepted.

Certainly, we may all be complimented that the people of our state have entrusted us with the responsibility of facing the difficulties that now confront us, and I sincerely hope that all of us may measure up in these difficult times to the full measure of statesmanship that these days are demanding.

It will be my purpose in this message to outline to you the key problems confronting us, and report to you fully the condition of our state. Recommendations will be made which, I believe, will facilitate a long-range solution to current problems, as well as advance in every way possible the strengthening and support of our national government.

The underlying and basic problem that confronts us is, of course, financial. We have reached a time when we can no longer engage in vast expenditures without consideration for the continuing revenues of the state to meet the obligations that we create.
You are aware that we have been operating on a deficit for many, many months—adding continuously to our indebtedness. At the present time the general fund deficit is $34,000,000. It is estimated that by the end of the biennium we will have used up the $32,700,000 balance in the general fund and have a deficit of $47,300,000, including obligated expenditures that will be made in the next biennium. This rate of expenditure, exceeding income by more than $3,000,000 per month, cannot continue. The banks of the state and some of our own trust funds have made it possible for many months to finance ourselves on an emergency basis. There is no practical or legal way to continue such deficit financing operations.

The assumption by the federal government of innumerable services, not only in this country but all over the globe, together with a vast defense program, has accelerated the inflationary cycle, and thereby magnified our problems. Enormous amounts of money are being expended in rebuilding and arming foreign lands. These expenditures in money, material and manpower make it imperative that we restrict our domestic programs to the most essential services. The federal government has increased taxes and will raise them further in the near future. That imposes a duty on us to use the utmost restraint in adding to the burden of our people.

The present situation of our general fund is unprecedented, if not unexpected. The 1949 legislature appropriated $93,000,000 more than existing sources of revenue produce, and did not see fit to provide for additional sources to cover the balance. Through pre-audit, through the postponement of projects that seemed desirable but not essential, through economies, there will be reverted from the present general fund budget approximately $13,000,000—so that the next operating deficit of the current biennium will approximate $80,000,000.

Social Security and Education accounted for 86 per cent of the general fund expenditures in the first nineteen months of the current biennium. This high percentage of expenditures for these two activities of government is completely out of line with what is expended in these categories by other states. It is a result of the assumption of responsibilities by the state government over a period of years that should properly be carried in a larger measure by local government. A recently published report by the U. S. Department of Commerce, Bureau of Census, on state government finances in 1949, placed Washington at the top of the list in per capita expenditures—when you combine the expenditures of schools and public welfare. Our per capita expenditure was $74.20. The average of all states was $32.06. The next highest per capita expenditure of any state in these combined categories was $64.89, or almost $10 per capita less than we spend in the State of Washington. Only nine states in the Union spent more than $40 per capita on these two functions of state government. It does not follow that these services are getting more money than they need, although in the case of welfare under Initiative 172 in 1949 that was undoubtedly true. But it does mean that in a solution of our problem serious consideration must be given to ways and means of adjusting the responsibility for the raising of money for these purposes so that more of it can be collected by local government under their supervision, and tied in with the spending of the funds more directly.

Our citizens approved in November, 1948, a vastly expanded public assistance program under Initiative 172 that required appropriations totaling $223,000,000 or roughly $76,000,000 more than in the previous biennium. The Department of Social Security tried its best to keep assistance payments under control and stop abuses but was hamstrung in its efforts by the overly generous provisions of the law and liberal interpretations of the Federal Security Agency. Throughout the biennium, our grants in all categories were among the highest in the nation, as were our case loads. Federal matching funds were percentage-wise next to the lowest of all states because of the size of our grants. The Social Security program would have cost over $240,000,000 had Initiative 172 remained in effect for the next biennium. But the people realized that things had gone too far, and the program had to be brought into line with our ability to pay for it. They approved Initiative 178—giving all of us as public officials a clear mandate to hold the cost of welfare to a maximum of $175,000,000.

The budget that the administration recommends to you carries a state appropriation of $148,000,000 for the Department of Social Security and $25,000,000 for the medical program now administered by the Department of Health—a total of $173,000,000. Both departments have taken the necessary steps to put the provisions of the law into effect without delay.

Such substantial reductions in expenditures for welfare will involve a change in thinking about the benefits that people can derive from government. There is no question but that the people of the State of Washington want to meet the basic needs of those who really are entitled to help. The Department of Social Security will make every effort—with the funds available—to administer the program in such a way that those who really need assistance will get it. But a determined effort must and will be made to get into productive activity large numbers of people who, instead of being dependent upon public assistance, should be making their contribution to the well-being of this country. The need exists to use every kind of manpower that can contribute to the productive capacity of America.

A number of requests for amendatory legislation will be made to you from the Department of Social Security and from the Legislative Council. It will be up to you, after you have reviewed these legislative suggestions, to strengthen and implement Initiative 178 as you feel conditions warrant.

SCHOOLS

The Superintendent of Public Instruction has asked for state support of common schools totaling $173,000,000 or an increase of $46,000,000 over the appropriations of the present biennium. In our expanding and growing state, adequate financing of our schools has been and will continue to be a very serious problem. Over a period of years we have built up the standards of education in this state to a relatively high level as we rate our per capita expenditures for schools with other states; as we rate our teachers' income and our pension program. However, these are standards that it is well that we maintain, if at all possible, for in an effective educational system lies our hope of building stronger and better citizens.

As indicated, combined expenditures for education and welfare take 86 per cent of the total general fund budget of our state. Other states similarly situated finance their public schools mostly from local funds, and contribute about 35 per cent to 40 per cent of school costs from state funds. We now provide 77 per cent of the revenues of our school districts. To further increase state support would accentuate our unique position among the forty-eight states. I believe this to be an unhealthy trend. The state's responsibility in the school field lies largely in the setting of standards and assisting in the general supervision. If school districts are to maintain their authority, they must be enabled to assume commensurate responsibility. No independence can be maintained in the long run, if 77 per cent of the funds are handed out by a higher level of government.

The tendency to shift responsibility from the local level to the state, and from the state to the federal government, is leading toward centralization of power, reliance on handouts and will, unless checked, bring about complete surrender of local autonomy. Free government, to survive, must be kept close to the people.

The Superintendent of Public Instruction has repeatedly requested in her biennial reports that steps be taken to permit greater local initiative and fiscal responsibility for the support of the schools.

For these reasons it is our duty to assist local government in every way possible to find the means to raise the necessary revenue for their operations. In that way we can bring our state in line with the system that has enabled other states to maintain high educational standards without undermining the financial stability of state government.

Because the problem of shifting this obligation from the state government to the local government is one that cannot be solved easily and quickly, I feel that the state must, during this next two-year period, carry some of the additional requests for financing the schools that have been made in the budget submitted. I am aware that most of the requests have real merit. The expanding school population, the inflationary cycle that leaves our educators with inadequate compensation, a rising demand for manpower at wages substantially above those paid in the teaching profession, all will present problems in the next two years that will undoubtedly affect the standards of education. But these matters can be taken care of by local government, if they will really make the effort. It is, therefore, my recommendation to you that we allocate to the common schools for support and equalization $14,500,000 over the amount they received, in the 1949-51 biennial budget. While this may not be adequate to do the over-all job, it will afford some relief to local agencies who in turn must make a diligent effort to raise sufficient funds to meet the needs that they can evaluate much more effectively than we can. Legislation will be submitted to you to broaden the opportunities for local government to meet its financial obligations.

INSTITUTIONS OF HIGHER LEARNING

Enrollments at the University of Washington and the State College of Washington are declining, and will decrease still more as the national mobilization program progresses. Somewhat smaller appropriations than they have requested would therefore seem justified. Since a bond issue for buildings at the institutions of higher learning failed to get the necessary majority at the recent election, it appears inappropriate and not in accord with the wishes of the people to finance such a building program at this time from state funds. The projects desirable as they are must be postponed.

The three teachers' colleges do not expect a sharp decline in enrollment. To provide our growing school system with a sufficient supply of teachers, we need an expanded teacher-training program, and I am recommending increases in their appropriations above the amounts allotted two years ago.

PUBLIC INSTITUTIONS

During the past biennium the Department of Public Institutions has been confronted with the task of raising standards of performance and, at the same time, conserving expenditures despite rising material costs and wage rates.

During the period of World War II institutional programs in practically every division were curtailed in the interests of the country's defense program. As a result, many important needs were disregarded to further the all-out war effort. Physical betterments ordinarily considered most essential were deferred, with the resultant deterioration of many facilities due to lack of proper maintenance. Personnel staffs in many of our divisions in institutions were stripped of professionally qualified people. That resulted in many instances in lowered standards of performance.

During the current biennium substantial progress has been made in reestablishing higher standards of performance, and in building new and much needed programs as, for example, those for the care and treatment of delinquent, underprivileged and psychopathic youth committed to the state's care. An extensive program of maintenance and repairs has improved many of the institutions' properties.

To fulfill our moral obligations towards the over 13,000 inmates in our charitable, penal and correctional institutions will require higher appropriations for the next biennium. I have been advised that these appropriations can be kept at a more moderate level, if a contingency fund of $500,000 could be placed at the disposal of the director to be used in those institutions where the need seems most urgent. That fund is included in the budget.

A $20,000,000 bond issue, approved by the electorate at the November 7 election, will make available monies for much needed capital outlay. Whether or not the $20,000,000 so approved is adequate will be determined by the purchasing power of the dollar at the time expenditures are made and by the availability of funds from federal sources which may be used as matching funds in state hospital construction. A carefully planned building program is presently being laid out, and is designed to insure that the state shall receive maximum value through provident expenditures, and that prompt action be taken to meet the most urgent and immediate building needs. The availability of additional space will play an important part in raising the standards of services rendered at our various state institutions.

The proceeds of the bonds can be used for buildings only, according to a ruling of the Attorney General. Furnishings and equipment for the new buildings must be paid for from general fund appropriations. Because it is impossible to know at this time which buildings will be constructed during the next two years, I recommend to you that an amount of $1,000,000 be appropriated for equipment and minor capital outlays to be expended in any or all of the new structures.

In addition to caring for increased costs and increased population, it is also urgent that we replace certain inadequate institutional programs with types of programs more suited to present day needs. I shall not attempt to present these programs in detail here except to say that they represent long overdue reforms approved by the Washington Council for Children and Youth, the superior court judges and civic and legislative leaders. Such independent authorities as Mr. Carl Holton, head of the Youth Authority in California, and Mr. Austin MacCormack, nationally known authority on penal and correctional school operation, have likewise approved these programs. In all this the Department of Public Institutions has played a very active part. I am fully in accord with the progressive program worked out by these various leaders in and outside the scope of our state government and, although our present national and state defense emergencies may dictate that some reductions must be made in the appropriations requested for these plans, I feel strongly that satisfactory administration of our institutions will not come until they are realized.
Several recommendations will come to you from the State Board of Prison Terms and Paroles for amendment of House Bill No. 12, Laws of 1947. This measure, known as the "Inmates Bill" at the time of its enactment, contains certain loopholes which I think should be remedied to prevent, for example, the release of a first degree murderer within three years of his conviction which, under certain conditions, is possible under the present law. Other recommendations will include authority to reduce downward the minimum terms of certain categories of inmates who will be accepted and inducted by the armed services. A request is included that the Board be given jurisdiction to parole prisoners convicted and sentenced to the Washington State Reformatory, provided there is no prior felony, just as the Board is presently authorized to parole inmates under the age of 21 years. I commend these suggestions for your consideration.

The Department of Public Institutions is also charged with many of the housekeeping responsibilities for state government. I commend to your attention the need for additional office space for departments here in Olympia. It is my recommendation that a new building be constructed adjacent to the present grounds to house the Public Printer, the state library, and certain other operations of state government presently occupying rented space in private buildings. This building should be a modern office-type building of reinforced concrete construction, but devoid of stone facing or other expensive or decorative features. It should be designed for the purpose of utility rather than as a monumental structure and should not be a part of the present capitol group. The building should provide upward of 100,000 square feet of floor space, with provision for adding an additional wing when necessary, and also with provision for adequate garage and parking facilities. It is anticipated that this matter will appear on the agenda of the State Capitol Committee which, in turn, will seek legislative appropriation from the proceeds of sale of state timber. Should the legislature provide the funds and authorize the construction of such a building, may I urge that in doing so the director of the Department of Public Institutions be given sufficient voice in the planning and general arrangement of such a building so that the space thus provided will be well coordinated with the over-all office space needs of the various state departments.

RESOURCES

Because of the importance of the resources of this state to its future, to the war effort and to the expanding economy of our people, I have submitted to you substantially increased budget items for the Department of Fisheries and the Division of Forestry. The forests of this state are its primary natural resource. Protection and management of this resource is absolutely essential. This will become evident should the present precarious world situation develop into a major war. This threat poses new problems in finance, manpower and equipment replacements. An enemy would find our forests a primary target. The potential for obstruction of our war effort is tremendous. Adequate measures must be taken to prepare for this danger.

Our forests cannot be well-managed and protected without adequate financing. Costs have gone up. Coupled with this has been a serious reduction of revenue under the federal cooperative Clarke-McNary Act, amounting to more than $200,000 annually. These facts have made it necessary to spend heavily from emergency funds, bringing them to a dangerously low level. Such deficit spending cannot continue. Maintenance of the Division of Forestry on its present level will necessitate increases both in state appropriations and in private contributions through the Forest Patrol assessment. I strongly urge the legislature to consider these facts seriously so that sufficient money will be made available to ensure the future of forestry in this state.

I have approved a budget in the Forestry Division that is increased from $870,000 in the 1949-51 biennium to $1,464,670. This will accomplish during the next few years the continuation of the present fine organization, the maintenance of sound forest practices on state and private lands, and adequate protection of the resource underwriting a most important segment of the future economy of this state. It is important that the amount requested not be reduced. Any reduction will mean a cutback in personnel and equipment of the present field force with its consequent risk of disastrous conflagrations.

FISHERIES

For years the problem of rehabilitation of the state's waning salmon resources has received inadequate attention. Industrial, agricultural and residential development has been a major factor in salmon depletion, and has caused a shift in emphasis in fisheries rehabilitation to the area known as habitat where the basic causes of fish depletion are. Dams, pollution, irrigation, deforestation, all have taken their toll. Unless the crucial role of environment is recognized in dealing with this problem, and an adequate program of research, habitat management, hatchery propagation and patrol enforcement is provided, the future of this great economic and recreational asset must be regarded pessimistically.

During the two years past, the Department of Fisheries has given much study to this problem and has prepared and put into partial operation a long-range plan which will protect and increase this vital resource. In 1949 the wholesale value of Washington fish products exceeded $100,000,000. Value of the recreational fishery, including expenditures by the fishermen and capital investment, amounted to approximately $32,000,- 000. The value of salmon fishery and the crab and clam beaches, as a tourist attraction, is estimated at an additional $200,000,000. As a part of its long-range program, the Department of Fisheries has constructed one new hatchery on the Chehalis River watershed, and has liberated more than 45,000,000 fish to augment the natural spawning in Western Washington. In conjunction with the Federal Government, a schedule of hatchery construction and stream clearance has been started on the Lower Columbia River watershed, to compensate for loss of upstream spawning grounds caused by hydroelectric-development, but much more remains to be done. The Department has set as its objectives, the further expansion of hatchery rearing output; a vastly increased amount of stream laddering and clearing work to reclaim areas now blocked to the passage of fish; a broadened scope of research on salmon and other fish which have been neglected in the past; and a more than doubled fisheries patrol.

The merit of this expanded program lies in the fact that the monies invested are returned to the state many fold in the form of taxes, payrolls and recreational benefits.
We cannot afford to neglect expending the necessary money in this department for if we do, we will be contributing to the depletion of revenues for the state that will be so badly needed in the years ahead to maintain a sound and progressive economy.
This budget, including capital outlays, has been increased from $1,940,000 for the 1949-51 biennium to $3,600,000 for the ensuing biennium.

AGRICULTURE

This will be the sixth consecutive year that the State of Washington has exceeded the half billion dollar mark in the value of all agricultural production, including livestock and its products. It is expected that 1950 will exceed $600,000,000. During the past ten years the annual volume of farm production in the state has averaged approximately a million tons more than the output for the preceding decade. While these figures clearly indicate that farming is big business in the State of Washington, they do not tell the whole story. It is evident that our agriculture actually supports a billion dollar economy when to the crop value we add the value of all the processed commodities—the flour and cereals, the canned and frozen fruits and vegetables, the meat, the dairy and poultry products.

Most encouraging from the long-range point of view, in the development of agriculture in this state, is the splendid progress being made in soil conservation. The era of exhaustive soil mining in Washington is now in the past and the future is bright for the continued prosperity of our farmers. But despite this bright outlook, our farmers are constantly faced with serious problems.

One of the most serious of these problems, one which constantly besets our agricultural industry, is the problem of marketing. In order that the state may aid our farming industry to prevent loss after a quality crop has been produced—in order that more efficient and equitable methods in marketing may be developed—and to assist this important segment of our economy in maintaining purchasing power at adequate, equitable and reasonable levels, I recommend that the legislature pass enabling legislation which will be submitted to you to permit commodity groups to set up state marketing agreements.

POWER

There has been much discussion recently regarding the shortage of power in the Pacific Northwest. Some constructive steps are being taken by both public and private agencies to correct a condition that could be serious. Tied in with this problem is the necessity of fully developing our hydroelectric potential without destruction of resources equally important to the future of the Pacific Northwest.

At the last regular session of the legislature, House Bill No. 561, Chapter 227, Session Laws of 1949, was passed, setting up among other things a state power commission.
Since that time this law has been before the courts concerning its constitutionality, and on Friday of last week a decision was rendered by the Supreme Court upholding the law. I deferred appointing the members of the commission until this determination had been made, and plan to activate this commission soon. I firmly believe that such a commission can be of real assistance in bringing a closer working relationship between private power companies and public agencies in the generation and marketing of electric energy.

I am confident there is a place for the state in the field of power supply. A power commission can help to maintain low cost power and give some assurance that sufficient power will be available in low water years to supply much of the requirements of industry and commerce. A state power commission can be of real value in coordinating the several elements of power supply, thus assuring our public utility districts and municipalities sufficient electric energy to serve the new demands for power within their particular areas.

As in any industrial enterprise, feasibility of development for either stream or hydroelectric generation is dependent upon contracts for the sale of the electric power produced in such projects. It is my opinion, after discussions with all leaders of the power industry, that such contracts can be arranged.

It may be desirable, in the protection of both private and public power distributors against power deficiencies, to erect standby steam generating plants. Plans are under discussion to distribute a portion of the annual costs over the total electric energy consumption of the state. Under such a plan the charges would be relatively insignificant yet sufficient to enable the state to finance by revenue bonds such plants as needed, and great benefits would accrue to all power distributing agencies and the public as well.

A bill to clarify the present act is being prepared for submission to you. It will accomplish the proposals made. I believe it will receive the wholehearted support of leaders in the power field of our state, both public and private. It will supplement the efforts now being made to insure an adequate power supply, and, at the same time, assure for us the great industrial growth that is ours if abundance of low cost power is available.

I urge your support of the bill which can, if proceeded on promptly, help alleviate power shortage in the near future and support public leadership of resource development.

CIVIL DEFENSE

The pressure of world conditions has made civil defense planning imperative and urgent. Under the Civil Defense Law of 1949 a disaster relief plan was formulated to meet emergencies resulting from natural causes. As the world situation became more critical, and a war emergency became a real possibility, I reactivated the State Defense Council which was first created by law in 1941. For all practical purposes, we have now merged the State Defense Council and the Civil Defense Committee under one head. A broad plan of action for civil defense has now been worked out and approved by the State Defense Council. It is a plan that will meet problems peculiar to this state but, at the same time, is sufficiently uniform to enable us to cooperate fully with neighboring states in an emergency.

For several weeks, planning officers from the Sixth Army have been consulting with us and advising us on the best methods of procedure. This assistance has also been given to the other western states so that we can be sure we are all working toward the same common objectives.

Under the present plan a relatively small state civil defense administrative agency is anticipated. It will, however, be a key agency with broad responsibility and authority in four vitally important fields—the fields of public information, training, operations and administration. The state agency also will coordinate law enforcement, fire protection, medical assistance, welfare, engineering, transportation and utilities.

Before going further, I think I should emphasize a basic principle which I feel we all must accept as fundamental in civil defense. This principle is that the primary responsibility for meeting any emergency resulting from natural or other causes must rest upon the local unit of government. In recognition of this, local defense councils at the county level have been created. In order to expedite our planning and to complete the civil defense organization, legislative recognition of the tempo of modern warfare and the speed with which an attack can be delivered is necessary. Such legislation has been prepared for your consideration. It encompasses present needs as well as the possible expansion which may be dictated by coming events. It also recognizes the strategic and geographic location of Washington. It authorizes this state to cooperate with other states in mutual aid agreements, and gives the Chief Executive sufficient authority to act when occasion demands. It is obvious to us all that civil defense requires an immediate grant of funds. We have estimated the administrative costs of the program at the lowest possible minimum commensurate with sound planning, and have placed in the budget the sum of $258,376 to support this program during the next biennium. This sum is for the purpose of meeting administrative costs only.

The Congress passed a Civil Defense Act only last week. The act provides for appropriations for civil defense purposes on a matching basis with state and local governments. The measures needed to take advantage of these matching funds will be submitted to you later during the session.

This is no temporary program. The state plan that has been drafted is available for your review and constructive criticism. We are dealing with a hazard that is long-range in scope and, in all likelihood, will call for continuous and careful action on the part of state and local government for some years to come.

To further strengthen our civil defense program, we also must be mindful of that small group of traitors within our citizenry who would destroy our freedom from within. In this connection I strongly urge that the legislature give thought to enactment of appropriate provisions for the curbing of subversive activity, and to protect our free institutions from perversion into weapons of aggression against us in the hands of our enemies.

By Concurrent Resolution No. 10, the Thirtieth Legislature created the Joint Legislative Fact Finding Committee on Un-American Activities. Through the labors of this committee much was learned of the degree to which disloyal groups had infiltrated into organizations of our senior citizens, into various economic and educational groups. As the result of these disclosures, some remedial action was taken but in the light of the grave emergency which we now face, additional action must be taken immediately. Therefore a bill is being prepared calculated to give support at the state level to the efforts of our various federal agencies charged with the responsibility of combating these forces of tyranny and enslavement.

PERSONNEL ADMINISTRATION

Personnel administration in the State of Washington has undergone many changes since the first Merit System Law was established by the legislature in 1937. This law set up the State Personnel Board to administer a merit system of employment for certain departments based upon the principle that the best qualified personnel should serve the state, and gain advancement through competitive examination open to any qualified citizen. Today we find the following under the direct supervision of the State Personnel Board:

<table>

<tr>
<th>Department</th>
<th>Employees</th>

<td>Health</td>
<td>155</td>

</tbody>
</table>

Other major state departments, through legislation and executive order, have been designated as separate merit system agencies to administer personnel within their respective offices.

The State Patrol has a merit system of employment based upon competitive examination for uniformed personnel. However, civilian employees of the Patrol are not covered.

A similar situation exists in the Highway Department. This department was directed by the 1949 legislature to establish a merit system. Under the Highway Department system, the professional engineers, the administrative personnel and the supervisory personnel are subject to the merit system requirements of selection, placement, transfers and promotions. However, an equally large force responsible for maintaining equipment, roads and the other continuing activities, is excluded.

Merit system regulations for employees of the thirteen institutions (hospitals, training schools, reformatory and penitentiary) in the Department of Public Institutions have been established by executive order. Not covered, however, are the administrative, clerical and technical staff of the Central Office, Banking Division, Savings and Loan Division, Purchasing Division and Buildings and Grounds Division of the department.
THIRD DAY, JANUARY 10, 1951

There are approximately 10,082 total employees in executive branch departments of which 6,198 are participating in some form of merit system.

Representatives of labor organizations and management associations have recently called on the Governor's office regarding the possibility of establishing another separate merit system for the Department of Labor and Industries. Equal pressures have been exerted by farm groups and associations to establish separate career services for employees of the Department of Agriculture and the Parks Commission.

With the emergence of the extended national defense program, dependence upon sound personnel practice has become increasingly necessary. Most striking in this respect is the obvious fact that it is not enough merely to establish other merit systems of limited scope.

To accomplish a state program of lasting and beneficial personnel management, patterned after the recommendations of the Hoover Commission Task Force Report on Personnel, several specialists in public personnel management were engaged. These specialists were instructed to study all four existing state personnel merit systems and to recommend objective measures designed to improve the quality and standards of the state personnel service.

After final studies of state personnel management and practices were completed, Louis J. Kroeger was selected to draft legislation which would correct the current discrepancies and provide for a statewide merit system of departmentalized personnel administration under centralized control and supervision. Mr. Kroeger was selected because he is nationally recognized as a public administrator of personnel and not a party to any controversial policy, issue or politics existing in this state.

The proposed legislation creates a State Personnel Department to be headed by a Director of Personnel to be appointed by the Governor after competitive examination. It provides for a three-member personnel board appointed for six-year overlapping terms, and incorporates the recommendations of modern personnel practices as prepared by the Task Force Report on Personnel (the Hoover Commission Report).

This act would include the employees of all present state merit systems, and the employees of all other elective and appointive state departments, boards and commissions except for key administrators, departmental supervisory policy makers, their assistants, faculties and principal administrators of state educational institutions and employees of the legislature and judiciary. I commend it to your careful study.

The twenty-seventh legislature passed an act, Chapter 205, Laws of 1941, intended to enable state employees to be covered by Federal Old Age and Survivors Insurance. However, the Federal Social Security Act did not permit inclusion of public employees until the passage of Public Law 734 in August 1950. That law stipulates that employees of states or their political subdivisions can be covered only if they do not belong to another retirement system on the day their federal coverage becomes operative. It would therefore require a partial or total liquidation of our State Employees' Retirement System. This in itself poses many legal, actuarial and financial problems which we have not been able to solve in the short time available. Yet there is a persistent demand from many political subdivisions to have their employees covered under Federal Old Age and Survivors Insurance. The federal plan requires substantially lower contributions from employers and employees and offers many advantages over the present state plan, particularly regarding pensions for widows and children. I intend to submit proposals to you later in the session, provided a practical solution can be found.

SAFETY

Two years ago, at my invitation and with the assistance of the State Patrol, the Department of Highways, the Safety Division of the Department of Labor and Industries leading representatives of management and labor from all parts of the state met here in this chamber for the purpose of planning a broader and more effective safety program for the State of Washington. As a result of that first safety conference, a comprehensive action program was worked out and immediately put into effect through the cooperation of labor and management.

A few weeks ago a second annual safety conference was held here, and the policies and practices resulting from the first conference were re-examined in the light of a year's experience with them. The results of this re-examination were most gratifying, and it was the consensus of the conference that this important program of industrial and highway accident prevention should be given a more permanent sponsorship. Accordingly, a committee was appointed to draft legislation authorizing and giving state assistance to a Safety Council. There will be numerous proposals submitted to you as the result of the meetings that have been held and the studies carried on since, and I commend these proposals to your careful attention as various representative leaders of labor and industry bring in the carefully considered measures that they have developed to make our state a safer place in which to live.

HIGHWAYS

I am glad to advise you that the State Highway Department has been revitalized and again ranks among the foremost highway organizations in the nation. Our desire and yours that the department concentrate on engineering and maintenance of the 6,500 miles of the state system free from political influence and pressure has been happily fulfilled, and it is our purpose to continue this policy. The merit system has improved morale and efficiency among the engineering and clerical employees under its coverage. It is the expectation, based on its accomplishments thus far, that the system will bring about a more selective employment of technical help.

No subject under scrutiny of legislative bodies has more appeal or intelligent understanding than that of highways. We all know that legitimate highway expenditures pay dividends in cash and safety to the highway users who alone, in payment of gas tax and license fees, bear the entire cost of these arteries of travel. Highways affect the social, recreational and economic pattern of the life of every citizen of the state, and adequate highways are indispensable to our industries and to the imminent mobilization of the nation.

Where the cry in past years has been to get the state out of the mud, a matter already well accomplished, the insistent demand now is to provide sufficient capacity, free from the obstructions which endanger vehicle movement upon those sections of the highway that have become inadequate for heavy volumes of through traffic. Vehicle miles have almost doubled since 1940. The record of motor vehicle accidents and fatalities despite intensified law enforcement is appalling. It has thrust upon us the urgent task of expanding existing roads or providing new routes to relieve congestions that amount to little less than actual stagnation of traffic. Some sections of highway, notably on Primary State Highway No. 1, also designated as U. S. 99, have become so clogged with traffic at peak periods as to present veritable bottlenecks, slowing travel, causing innumerable accidents, and resulting in much loss of life, property and time.

Additional construction funds derived from the increase of gasoline tax and license fees authorized by the 1949 legislature will, despite some erosion of the dollar, contribute toward a rehabilitation program for portions of these congested highways. Highway funds cannot all be concentrated upon a single one or upon a few of our highways because equity requires a fair division of money for many other worthy highway and bridge projects elsewhere in the state. It is necessary therefore, that henceforth the millions of dollars we allocate to the rehabilitation of routes of extremely heavy through traffic be expended on modern designs within the framework of our limited access highway statute enacted in 1947. This act should be amended, however, to make it applicable to existing highways and relocations and revisions of existing highways. Clarification of the 1947 law is also necessary to correct deficiencies, emphasized in a recent opinion of the State Supreme Court, which nullify the practical application of the law to its intended purpose, and to facilitate controlled access construction upon existing highways, relocations and revisions with the least possible legal impediment.

The state must not further engage in makeshift expansions which will require repeated reconstruction without opportunity to provide the safety features and controlled access which the volume of through traffic justifies. We must not lag behind those many states which already have successfully overcome the problem of congestion by means of controlled access highways, variously known as freeways, expressways or parkways. There is no other means of handling the tremendous volumes of through traffic adequately with expedition and safety.

The Joint Fact-Finding Committee on Highways, Streets and Bridges, comprised of members of both Houses of the 1949 Legislature, has spent many laborious days in hearings over the state to report needed legislation to you. The committee has performed a task of great magnitude at much personal sacrifice to its membership, and I commend its studies to your careful attention.

FERRY PROGRAM

Two years ago the legislature broadened the authority of the administration to deal with the problems of water transportation on Puget Sound—with the idea that a constructive, long-range solution should be worked out to terminate, if possible, the conflict between the state and the company operating ferry facilities. Many difficulties have been encountered in working out a good solution to this problem. I am happy to report to you that I believe the state has now laid the foundation for an effective, permanent, long-range program that can ultimately give us a system of bridges and ferries that will make the Olympic Peninsula readily accessible eventually at very low cost. It will open up a section of our state that has been held back for years by excessive transportation costs. We will need to carry forward as rapidly as possible our bridge engineering studies and be prepared, as materials and manpower are available, to advance this program for the development of our state at every opportunity. Some minor matters of legislation concerning ferry operations will be submitted to you.

A number of other matters will be submitted to you from various departments of state government. The Department of Labor and Industries will recommend several changes in the Workmen's Compensation Act and laws affecting labor.
Numerous recommendations will be presented by the Department of Employment Security.

The regents and alumni of the University of Washington have been giving consideration to legislation dealing with the Metropolitan Tract, and will submit proposals to you.

The Department of Health has some recommendations and will report on the advance made in the fight against tuberculosis. The department is recommending an effective law for the licensing of nursing homes and a maternity home licensing law, and will submit other minor amendments.

The Department of Licenses will have legislation to present to you that will provide for the renewal of vehicle licenses on a staggered basis, a new law to license and regulate motor vehicle dealers, and a new motor vehicle caravan law, as well as other miscellaneous amendments to existing law.

Our efforts at effecting administrative savings have been sharply limited by statutory restrictions. The Legislative Council submitted to the legislature two years ago recommendations for the simplification of administrative procedures and internal management facilities. It was proposed among other things to change the end of the fiscal year to June 30; that we modernize our antiquated payroll procedure; that we extend pre-audit; that we eliminate considerable duplication through centralized accounting and segregation of pre-audit and post-audit. These measures failed of passage. They are almost identical with reorganizations adopted by a number of states during the last few years. I commend these measures to your earnest consideration.

The Director of Budget will recommend simplification of the state's financial system and amendment of existing laws relative to the destruction of public records, as well as other administrative improvements.

The Department of Conservation and Development will report to you on the success of the advertising program in the past two years on the limited budget provided to them.

We have placed in the budget $1,500,000 matching money for the Eagle Gorge Dam in the event that important program can be undertaken in the next two years.

I have submitted to the legislature on previous occasions a Grand Jury law, which would empower our superior courts to convene such a jury on their own motion at least once a year. Our present law enforcement procedures offer too few alternative courses in seeking redress against public crimes. Justice can be thwarted and the corruption continued when a key enforcement officer is himself a party to the wrongful act. I again ask your favorable consideration of legislation giving effect to this recommendation.

BUDGET SUMMARY

I am submitting to you a budget for 1951-53 that will lay the foundation for a long-range correction of our difficulties. The general fund deficit of the current biennium could not be repaid without imposing serious hardships upon our taxpayers.

I am, therefore, proposing that the deficit be funded, and retired over the next twenty years. The bonds would not be issued to the general public but could be used as an interest bearing investment by various state funds. An opinion of the Attorney General has found this course of action to be legal. In order that the Supreme Court may have an opportunity to rule on this proposal prior to the end of the legislative session, I recommend to you that you consider it at an early date.
You will find statements outlining the financial picture attached to this message. The appropriations recommended in the Governor’s revised budget for 1951-53 exceed anticipated income from existing sources of revenue by $35,000,000. To provide additional revenue, we have again reviewed all possible tax sources. We find only one that I can commend to your serious study. Congress imposed last week a 77 per cent excess profits tax on corporations, and it appears that a state corporation franchise tax measured by profits would effect only a slight increase in the burden upon our corporations. It would at the same time provide much needed revenue for our state.

In making this suggestion, I am mindful of the questions that may be raised concerning the constitutionality of a corporate franchise tax measured by net profits. However, in view of the more recent decisions on this point, it now appears that an opportunity exists for us to employ such a tax. Thirty-two other states, including eight of the western states, are now imposing this levy. Many of these states have constitutional provisions that are similar to or identical with our own. Their courts have consistently sustained such taxes. The authorization of such a levy in Washington not only would do much to bring our state into conformity with the practices of these other states, but it would also mean substantial savings to our individual taxpayers in meeting the acute financial problems we now face.

Washington corporations are at this time paying higher federal taxes than the corporations in any of our neighboring states, because a corporation tax is not imposed here. A four per cent franchise tax on corporations measured by profits would yield—it is estimated—in the next biennium something between $35,000,000 to $40,000,000. In cases where excess profits tax applies, about two and one-half per cent or more than half of the state tax would actually come out of federal taxes the corporation would otherwise pay, and only one and one-half per cent would be added to the corporate burden. The collection of such a tax patterned after the federal tax would be relatively inexpensive.

I recommend that you consider this tax proposal early in the session. By doing so you will enable the Supreme Court to review the law and render its decision possibly prior to the end of the legislative session.

We are encouraging local units of government to become more self-sufficient; therefore, we must find ways and means to enable them to raise money for their own purposes. It is self-evident that to keep them from becoming subordinate divisions of the state government, they must be made self-supporting, instead of depending to an ever increasing degree upon handouts from the state.

A number of states have in the last three years opened new sources of taxes to their political subdivisions—particularly mercantile and severance taxes, taxes on real estate transfers, hotel and tourist rooms, non-residential rents, and other sources of revenue. Counties and cities that levy additional taxes could make part of their present millage available to school districts.

In order to keep local government as free as possible, responsible to local citizens and competent to perform greatly increased tasks, I recommend to you that counties and cities be authorized to levy sufficient taxes to provide for the services which their people demand and are prepared to pay for. Such a step would stimulate intensive citizen participation in and control of their government.

We have prepared and attached to this message for your convenience three plans for dealing with the alternate fiscal programs of the State of Washington. One is the expansive program providing expenditures far beyond our present ability to pay and listing tax revenues that will be needed to support such a program. Two is the moderate plan and the one that I have recommended to you in the budget. The third is limiting the expenditures of state government to the amount of revenue now available or to be made available without additional taxes. You will note that program number three involves drastic reduction in the operations of schools and other services. This plan in my judgment cannot be justified under all the circumstances.

It is my recommendation that the moderate plan number two be adopted as the logical and feasible method of dealing with our present situation. It is your privilege to modify or expand it. If you expand it, however, you must provide the necessary revenues to meet the increased expenditures.

Gradually, local government must assume a greater responsibility for the raising of revenues to deal with local problems, and as they do, the bonded debt that has been created these last few years can then be systematically retired and the needed services that state government should legitimately support can be forthcoming.
All divisions of state government will be available to assist you in dealing with these many vexing problems that will be presented to you at this time. May we all be guided in our deliberations, faithful to our trust and devoted to building the spiritual strength of America. (Applause.)

The President announced that the special committee would escort His Excellency, Governor Arthur B. Langlie, to the governor’s chambers. The special committee thereupon escorted the governor from the House chamber.

On motion of Mr. Adams, the joint session was dissolved.

The Speaker requested the Sergeants-at-Arms of the House and of the Senate to escort the President of the Senate and the Senators to the Senate chambers.

The House resumed its session at 12:15 p.m. and returned to the fifth order of business.

House of Representatives,
Olympia, Wash., January 9, 1951.

REPORTS OF SPECIAL COMMITTEES

REPORT OF THE INTERIM COMMITTEE ON PUBLIC INSTITUTIONS

To the Members of the Legislature of the State of Washington:

By joint resolution in the final days of the Thirty-first Legislative Session, the Senate and House authorized an interim committee on State Institutions composed of Senators Zednick, Sears and Hutchinson, and Representatives Knoblauch, Hoopingarner and Cory. This group elected Representative Reuben Knoblauch as its chairman and Representative Cory as secretary. In the resolution was an $3,000 appropriation which was vetoed by the governor. Mr. Cory and Mr. Knoblauch made a trip to Olympia a few days after the session adjourned asking him to appropriate that sum of money from his emergency fund. The request was denied by Governor Langlie. The committee members were then forced to work with no funds and it very definitely lessened the effectiveness of their work. We are proud to present this report to you and feel that our work these past two years has been successful.

It was the agreed policy of the committee to hold public hearings only when some constructive proposal appeared likely of accomplishment. As a result of newspaper publicity concerning the alleged mismanagement at the state reformatory at Monroe, our committee held a formal hearing at that institution with all members present. All witnesses were sworn and their testimony was recorded. The employee who accused Superintendent Lee of mismanagement was given a fair hearing. After said hearing, the committee made a thorough inspection of the institution and we found a great many things which we thought should be improved. We especially felt that the lack of a vocational training program was a distinct draw-back to the attitude of the men there because many of them were idle, and idle hands breed trouble. Many of those who would like to learn a vocation while inmates at Monroe cannot do so because there simply is not the room for such a program. We are most anxious that an increased vocational training program be established at once; and also, that an educational guidance and rehabilitation program should be instituted.

The following statement was issued to the press upon the completion of our day spent at Monroe Reformatory:

"We have concluded there is a great need at the reformatory for an increased vocational training, education, guidance, and rehabilitation program. And further that there exists inadequate facilities for segregation of inmates as to age, seriousness and type of crime.

"It is the finding of this joint committee that the inadequacy of vocational training, education, rehabilitation and proper segregation is not due to any fault of the administration of the reformatory, past or present, but follows directly from lack of funds, equipment and buildings.

"The committee recommends that the only solution of the above problem presented at Monroe Reformatory and other state institutions is the passage of the $20 million dollar bond issue to be voted upon in the November general elections, and more adequate appropriations by the next legislature for salaries and operations."

The next morning the committee made the trip on up to the Northern State Hospital at Sedro Woolley where we again found many conditions that we thought should be improved. However, we are not blaming the superintendent of Northern State for those conditions. Dr. Jones appears to be a promising young superintendent and the committee felt that he was doing a wonderful job. As in all other institutions, buildings are over-crowded at Northern State and many of them should be replaced. Incicidentally, our committee worked hard for the passage of the bond issue and we know that this is going to bring improvements in all of our thirteen state institutions. An increasing population in the State of Washington has been reflected by all-time peaks in nearly all the institutional programs. In the 1947-1949 biennium the average population in all of our thirteen state institutions was 12,145. The average population for the first year of the 1949-1951 biennium was 12,553. As of August, 1950, the population of these same institutions was 13,180. The estimated population average for 1951-1953 biennium is 14,197. This estimated population increase is conservative. It is obvious, therefore, that we must plan in the neighborhood of a thirteen per cent increase in appropriations for food and clothing just to take care of the population increase. (We would appreciate it if you would give this last sentence careful study.)

As of April 1, at the start of the present biennium, Dunn and Bradstreet, commodity price index was $5.868. As of August, 1950 this same price was $6.568 (increase of twelve per cent). As of December 19, this commodity index was $6.80 or an increase over the start of the present biennium of approximately 15.8 per cent. It is obvious that current appropriations for food stuffs must be increased by 15.8 per cent to be on a basis with present day costs, leaving out any consideration for future price increases. The Department is requesting $5,642,775 increased appropriations from the general fund, which increase is to take care of thirteen per cent increase in population and 15.8 per cent commodity price increase to date for cost of feeding and clothing institutional inmates, plus some necessary increase in employee wage scales, plus some improvements essential to bringing some of our institutional standards to a higher level. Appropriation increases are essential if we are to achieve reasonably high standards.

Your committee held a hearing at the Rainier State School at Buckley immediately after the resignation of Dr. Rudolph Depner had been submitted to the governor. Dr. Depner informed the committee that because of insecurity on the job and because of political implications he decided to accept a position in Washington, D. C., which would put him under civil service. We felt as though Dr. Depner had done a fine job the few months he was with us and commended him for his work. Similar hearings were held at my home when the prior superintendent, Dr. Frederick M. Lash had apparently resigned the position he had held at Rainier State School since its inception. The committee went on record asking the governor not to accept the resignation of Dr. Lash, feeling that his work had been outstanding and support came in behalf of Dr. Lash from many fine organizations. Because the governor, in the final analysis, has complete control over whom he appoints as superintendents of the thirteen institutions, the matter was dropped by our committee.

A few months ago a meeting of the committee was called for an investigation of the many escapes at the Chehalis State Training School. This investigation would have been held except for the fact that the then superintendent, Mr. A. E. Murphy, was replaced by his assistant, Robert Venemon. Your chairman decided that in all fairness to Mr. Venemon, the investigation should be called off in order to give him a chance to install a new security system and attempt to better conditions at that institution. Because of the bond issue which was to be voted on at the November 7 election, your chairman felt it unwise to bring forward any unfavorable publicity which might tend towards the defeat of the all-important bond issue. Since Mr. Venemon has taken over the state training school your committee has received many fine pieces of correspondence from him and feel that he is sincerely trying to do an excellent job. We feel that he surely deserves a fair chance. Mr. Hoopingarner and Mr. Cory made inspections at the Eastern State Hospital at Medical Lake and at Lakeland Village and reported back their findings to the entire committee. Again, it was the same old thing; over-crowded conditions and dilapidated buildings.

Though the bond issue will probably take care of the two institutions in most dire need of new construction, you might be interested to know that there is a waiting list of over 700 children at the Rainier State School at Buckley and at Lakeland Village. Your committee has been informed that these two institutions will receive priority for new construction and we are in complete agreement with the decision of the Director of State Institutions.

One question oftentimes asked is "How do State of Washington institutions stand in comparison with other like institutions in the matter of per capita cost of operations?" The Council of State Governments has just this year made a survey of annual expenditures for maintenance per resident patient in state hospitals for the mentally ill.

It will be noted that in the year 1939, Washington ranked 25th in the nation; in 1949, 20th; and in 1950, 21st. The 1951 reports are as yet incomplete. Many of those states ranking below Washington in per capita expenditures are southern states having low cost operation and in many instances sub-standard programs, some of which are referred to as of the "snake pit" variety. By comparison, our penal and correctional school programs do not begin to rank with our mental hospital programs. Therefore, it is quite obvious that our institutional programs in the State of Washington, on the basis of per capita expenditure, are substantially below those of other states maintaining reasonably high standards. The point is that standards of institutional operation in the State of Washington have in some programs been sub-standard for so long that any effort to bring them to a reasonable basis appears to bring a substantial increase in budgeted expenditures. So long as we fail to recognize this fact and provide for some reasonable increase in cost—so long will we continue to be bedeviled by the discontent, dissatisfaction and demand to set up new commissions and other agencies to try to rectify the situation. It is more economical in the long run to provide more adequately for doing a better job.

The committee recommends to this session that the salaries of state institutional employees should be raised in accordance with increased cost of living standards, responsibilities and duties. You will be surprised to know that 1,022 out of the 2,400 employees in the Department of Institutions receive from $150 to $200 per month and in many cases the employee must take out of that sum money for food costs while he is on his job. How we can secure the best of employees at this low wage schedule is beyond our own imaginations. Some of our guards at the state penitentiary at Walla Walla are paid $190 per month, with a deduction to be taken out of that sum for their food and maintenance costs. We feel that a raise in salary for these employees is a MUST at this time.

Along with a raise in salary for institutional employees our committee is recommending a merit system for all employees in these institutions. We feel that it is not good government for the administration in power to make a political football out of those who are residing in our institutions. We are making this recommendation because we have given this close study for the past two years. We are dealing with human beings and must give them the best supervision and treatment possible. We feel that the merit system and salary increases go hand in hand.

Your committee is recommending a change in the mental hygiene law that was passed in the 1949 session. Without going into further detail, the new measure will be submitted very shortly. We ask that it be given your very careful consideration. These recommendations came out of our meeting that was held at the Western State Hospital a few weeks ago.

Your chairman received a letter dated December 28, 1950 from Harold Van Eaton, Director of Public Institutions, and I would like to quote you one paragraph from his communication:

"I want to take this opportunity to express appreciation to the Interim Committee for their very sincere and excellent cooperation in the consideration of the needs of our institutional program."

The committee strongly recommends the creation of another Interim Committee on State Institutions, with an adequate appropriation to do the necessary work.

May I express our appreciation to Senator Tom Hall. Though Senator Hall was not a member of our Interim Committee, he took part in nearly every one of our investigations and inspections and was a fine addition to our group. Also, may I thank Mrs. Vincent F. Jones and Mr. R. E. (Ray) Morris, both members of the House, for their assistance. We, of the committee, appreciate the transportation that was furnished by the Department of Institutions and thank them for their cooperation.

We also appreciate very much the close cooperation of Senator Albert Rosellini, Chairman of the Legislative Council on Juvenile Delinquency, and Representative Max Wedekind. They aided greatly during the investigation at Monroe and inspection at the Northern State Hospital.

We, of the committee, hope that you will give this report your most earnest consideration. We have been sincere in our duties and feel that our findings should receive favorable action.

Reuben A. Knoblauch, Chairman,
Arthur S. Cory, Secretary.

Concurred in by: Senators Ray J. Hutchinson, Carlton I. Sears and Victor Zednick, and Representative Russell T. Hoopingarner.

DEAR SIR:

In carrying out an assignment regarding fees charged by the various county offices it became apparent to the Subcommittee on State and Local Government that a great deal of work had been done in the 1949 legislature when House Bill No. 512, revising the 1907 act, was introduced. The subcommittee therefore, made House Bill No. 512 the starting point in the study, which resulted in the principle of the bill, with certain changes, being approved by the subcommittee. When presented to the Legislative Council at its last meeting the council's recommendations was that this bill, carrying certain changes which it considered desirable, be referred to the appropriate committee of the legislature. Accordingly, copy of the bill, with amendments, is hereby transmitted for referral to the appropriate committee of the House.

Respectfully yours,

CHAS. W. HODDE, Chairman.

SECOND READING OF BILLS

MOTION

On motion of Mr. Olson (Ole H.), the rules were suspended and House Bill No. 15 was advanced to second reading and placed on the calendar.

House Bill No. 15, by Representatives Comfort and King:
An Act making a deficiency appropriation to the state department of health, and declaring an emergency.

Mr. Comfort moved the adoption of the following amendment:
Amend section 1, line 2 of the printed bill, being line 7 of the original bill, after the word "for" and before the words "the current", strike the words "the remainder of"

POINT OF INFORMATION

Mr. Beierlein:
"Mr. Speaker, question."

The Speaker:
"Mr. Beierlein would like to ask a question. Does the gentleman yield?"

Mr. Beierlein:
"I was wondering if that appropriation is the same amount, in other words, the unexpended balance from Initiative 172."

Mr. Comfort:
"It's a trifle more than the unexpended portion."

Mr. Henry (Edward E.):
"You used the word 'trifle.' As a matter of fact, it is about three million more."

Mr. Comfort:
"There is something like over three million remaining, as I understand it, in the fund at the present time that has not been expended for medical care out of the appropriation that was made for the 1949 biennium. Now, we do have this provision here for salaries and wages. Salaries and wages under the former program for the most part were paid by the counties out of the two mill levy. The law up to that time did not take care of the medical care for the injured; and the injured workmen are those who do not qualify for public assistance, and yet do not have enough money on hand to take care of their medical care. That has been transferred under Initiative 178, which became effective last December, from the State of Washington and the counties to the State Department of Health; then to that extent there has been that much of an increase. Likewise, the overhead, the administrative costs, which were taken care of by the counties, are now being transferred to the State Department and they must have funds with which to operate."

POINT OF INFORMATION

Mr. Carty:
"I'd like to ask a question."

The Speaker:
"Does the gentleman yield?"

Mr. Carty:
"Is this the first dividend under Initiative 178?"

Mr. Comfort:
"If you want to call it a dividend, I assume that is correct."

The amendment was adopted.

On motion of Mr. Olson (Ole H.), the following amendment was adopted:
Amend section 1, line 3 of the printed bill, being line 10 of the original bill, after the figures "1949" insert a comma (.) and add the following: "as amended by Chapter 1, Laws of 1951"

On motion of Mr. Olson (Ole H.), the following amendment was adopted:
Amend section 1, line 5 of the printed bill, being line 13 of the original bill, after the figures "1949" insert a comma (.) and add the following: "as amended by Chapter 1, Laws of 1951"

On motion of Mr. Olson (Ole H.), the rules were suspended, Engrossed House Bill No. 15 was advanced to third reading, the second reading considered the third, and the bill was placed on final passage.
The Clerk called the roll on the final passage of Engrossed House Bill No. 15, and the bill passed the House by the following vote: Yeas, 94; nays, 1; absent or not voting, 3.

Those voting yea were: Representatives Adams, Anderson (B. Roy), Anderson (Eva), Bailey, Ball, Bassett, Beierlein, Bernethy, Brown (Gordon J.), Brown (Henry A.), Carmichael, Carty, Clark, Comfort, Connor, Cooney, Cory, Donohue, Dootson, Eldridge, Ford, Forrest, Frayn, Giboney, Gordon, Griffith, Hallauer, Hansen, Hawley, Henry (Al), Henry (Edward E.), Hess, Hillyer, Hoefel, Hoff, Hofmeister, Holliday, Hoopingarner, Huhta, Jeffreys, Johnson (Charlie), Johnston (Elmer E.), Jones (John R.), Jones (Mrs. Vincent F.), Jones (W. Kenneth), King, Kirk, Knoblauch, Kupka, Lennart, Lester, Loney, Lorimer, Mardesich, Mayes, Miller (Clyde J.), Miller (Floyd C.), Morris, Neill, Nunamaker, O'Brien, Olsen (Ray), Olson (Ole H.), Orndorff, Ovenell, Paulsen, Pedersen, Phillips, Powell, Rasmussen, Ridgway, Riemcke, Roderick, Sandison, Savage, Schumann, Shadbolt, Siler, Sisson, Smith, Sorensen, Stokes, Stonecipher, Strom, Testu, Timm, Vane, Wedekind, Wenberg, Wintler, Woodall, Young, Zent, Mr. Speaker—94.

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

The Speaker recognized Mr. Cory.

Mr. Cory:

"In the committee report given by Representative Knoblauch and the talks given by Mr. Hoopingarner and myself, relative to our report of the Interim Committee on State Institutions, we failed to give credit to the Legislative Council's Committee on Juvenile Delinquency, of which Mr. Max Wedekind of this Body is a member. They gave us very, very valuable assistance in our work and we neglected to mention that in our report. We do want to express our appreciation to the Subcommittee on Juvenile Delinquency which aided us the last month or two in our work, and we are sincerely sorry this was not mentioned in our written report which we made. We failed to mention it and I hope that that will be the only mistake we'll ever be accused of making."

ALFRED S. HILLYER, Chairman.

On motion of Mr. Hillyer, the committee report was adopted.

SECOND READING OF BILLS

House Bill No. 35, by Representatives Johnson (Charlie) and Zent:
Relating to new office building for the state in Olympia.
The bill was read the second time by sections.
Mr. Ford moved that the following amendment be adopted:

In section 7, line 27 of the original bill, being line 15 of the printed bill, after the period (.) following the word "committee" and before the word "such" insert the following sentence: "A portion of the proceeds may be expended by the committee for alterations to the existing legislative building."

Debate ensued.

POINT OF INFORMATION

Mr. Johnson (Charlie):
"Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman yield to a question?"

The Speaker:
"Does the gentleman yield?"

Mr. Ford:
"Yes."
Mr. Johnson (Charlie):
"Isn't it true that there is space available in the basement now when the offices move into the new building?"

Mr. Ford:
"Well, we would actually have to make provisions to construct an auditorium. This bill isn't set up for that purpose. The original plan called for it, but they were not actually constructed. This is merely to allow the Capitol Committee to make whatever alterations necessary to provide for it."

Mr. Johnson (Charlie):
"But the basement was for that purpose?"

Mr. Ford:
"That's right. They did not intend to have those offices in the legislative building."

POINT OF INFORMATION

Mr. Holliday:
"Mr. Speaker, will Mr. Ford yield to another question?"

The Speaker:
"Will the gentleman yield?"

Mr. Ford:
"Yes."

Mr. Holliday:
"Mr. Ford, would the present amount appropriated in this bill be sufficient?"

Mr. Ford:
"It is anticipated it will be. Of course we don't know exactly what the new building is going to cost, inasmuch as costs are rising rather rapidly, but this figure gives a little allowance in case the cost goes up faster than we presently anticipate."

The motion by Mr. Ford was carried and the amendment was adopted.

On motion of Mr. Ford, the following amendment was adopted:

In section 7, line 27 of the original bill, being line 15 of the printed bill, after the word "Such" and before the word "shall" strike the word "project" and insert in lieu thereof the word "projects"

Mr. Ford moved the following amendment be adopted:

In section 7, page 2, following line 31 of the original bill, being line 18 of the printed bill, insert the following paragraph:

The motion by Mr. Ford was carried and the amendment was adopted.

Mr. Riemcke moved the adoption of the following amendment:

In section 7, line 29 of the original bill, being line 17, page 2 of the printed bill, strike all of lines 29 and 30 of the original bill, being line 17 of the printed bill.

Mr. O'Brien moved the amendment by Mr. Riemcke be laid on the table without taking the bill with it, but the Speaker ruled the motion out of order.

The motion by Mr. Riemcke was lost and the amendment was not adopted.

POINT OF INFORMATION

Mr. Hurley:
"Does the gentleman, Mr. O'Brien, yield to a question?"

The Speaker:
"Does the gentleman yield?"

Mr. O'Brien:
"Yes."

Mr. Hurley:
"On what basis do you suggest that we include in the original bill $4,200,000, rather than the Senate figure of $2,793,500? Why do you suggest one figure rather than the other?"

Mr. O'Brien:
"I probably could answer that with, 'Why do you advocate the lesser figure?'"

Mr. Hurley:
"Because it is a lesser figure."

Mr. O'Brien:
"That, Mr. Speaker, is no basis. We arrived at this figure because experts came in and told us that this is what they needed. We asked them many pointed questions on whether or not they needed that money and the answer was that they absolutely did need it. That is why we are for it."

Mr. Adams (B. Roy) demanded the previous question.
The demand was sustained and the previous question was ordered.
The motion by Mr. Hurley was lost and the House refused to concur in the Senate amendments to Engrossed House Bill No. 15, and asked the Senate to recede therefrom.

SECOND READING OF BILLS

House Bill No. 61, by Representatives Carty, Orndorff and Ovenell:
Relating to fraud in the sale of dairy products.
The bill was read the second time by sections.

Mr. Hurley moved that the following amendment be adopted:
In section 3, page 2, line 19 of the printed bill, strike the semicolon (;) following the word "product" and add the following: "unless such product is labeled as a filled dairy product;"

Debate ensued.

POINT OF INFORMATION

Mr. Hurley:
"I have a question. Does the gentleman, Mr. Cory, yield?"

The Speaker:
"Does the gentleman yield?"

Mr. Cory:
"Yes,"

Mr. Hurley:
"These substitutes that are put into these filled products —"

Mr. Cory:
"Yes, cocoanut oil, and things of that sort."

Mr. Hurley:
"Do they contain less nutrients than butter-fat?"

Mr. Cory:
"I'm simply accepting the statements made by members of the medical association. I'm not a doctor."

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. Vane:
"Mr. Speaker."

The Speaker:
"A point of order?"

Mr. Vane:
"Yes. I'm always glad to listen to Mr. Lennart. His talks are always very enlightening. But I do not believe he is talking quite on the motion. He's going pretty far afield."

RULING BY THE SPEAKER

The Speaker:
"I think the gentleman is in order. You may proceed, Mr. Lennart."
Mr. Simmons:
"Point of order, Mr. Speaker. Rule 54 provides that there shall be no other conversations while a member is speaking. Now, I can hear eighty-three conversations, and I can't hear Mr. Lennart."

The Speaker:
"The point is well taken and the Speaker will attempt to maintain order."

Mr. Ford moved that the following amendment to Mr. Hurley's amendment be adopted:

Amend the amendment, strike Mr. Hurley's amendment, and in section 3, line 26 of the printed bill, strike the period (.) following the word "ingredient", insert in lieu thereof a colon (:) and add the following: "Provided, That the acts set forth in this section shall not be unlawful if prominently printed upon the label of any packaged product notice is given that the product contains filled dairy products and which notice shall further state the composition and percentage of such filling. In the event that such products are sold in an unpackaged state, there shall be displayed in a conspicuous place upon the premises of the vendor, a prominent sign which shall list the products there to be sold which contain filled dairy products, and declare the composition of such filled dairy products and the percentage of such filling. Such labels or signs shall be approved by the director of agriculture."

Debate ensued.

Mr. Woodall:
"Does the gentleman yield to a question?"

The Speaker:
"Does the gentleman yield?"

Mr. Ford:
"Certainly."

Mr. Woodall:
"In hearing your amendment read, I did not understand whether that portion on approving applied to the matter of printing of the label on the container."

Mr. Ford:
"The last line of the amendment said, 'Such labels or signs must be approved', referring to the labels on the containers. That is the purpose of the amendment."

Mr. Comfort:
"Mr. Speaker, I'd like to have it clarified as to where this amendment to the amendment fit in. As I read Mr. Ford's amendment, it says, 'after the word "ingredient"', and that is the end of section three. I'm wondering where the amendment of the gentleman would apply."

Mr. Woodall:
"Mr. Speaker."

The Speaker:
"Are you rising to a point of order?"

Mr. Woodall:
"Mr. Ford's alleged amendment to an amendment is out of order because the amendment does not apply to the amendment which is before the house."

Mr. Ford:
"Mr. Speaker, it applies to the same language."

Mr. Woodall:
"It relates to a different section."
RULING BY THE SPEAKER

"It relates to the same section of the law but a different subsection. Therefore, the amendment to the amendment is in order."

MOTIONS

Mr. Jones (John R.) moved that House Bill No. 61 be placed at the foot of today's second reading calendar.

The motion was lost.

Mr. Miller (Floyd C.) moved that House Bill No. 61 be re-referred to the Committee on Agriculture and Livestock.

Debate ensued.

The demand was sustained and the motion by Mr. Miller (Floyd C.) to re-refer the bill was lost.

Mr. Henry (Edward E.) demanded the previous question.

The demand was sustained.

The Speaker declared the question before the House to be the adoption of the amendment to the amendment by Mr. Ford.

The motion by Mr. Ford was carried on a rising vote and the amendment to the amendment was adopted.

The Speaker declared the question before the House to be the adoption of the amendment by Mr. Hurley as amended.

The motion by Mr. Hurley was lost and the amendment was not adopted.

Mr. Ford moved the adoption of the following amendment:

In section 6, line 11 of the printed bill, strike the period (.) following the word "ingredient", and add a new section following section 6 to read:

"Sec. 7. The acts set forth in this act shall not be unlawful if prominently printed upon the label of any packaged product notice is given that the product contains filled dairy products and which notice shall further state the composition and percentage of such filling. In the event that such products are sold in an unpackaged state, there shall be displayed in a conspicuous place upon the premises of the vendor, a prominent sign which shall list the products there to be sold which contain filled dairy products, declare the composition of such filled dairy products and the percentage of such filling. Such labels or signs shall be approved by the director of agriculture." Amend the bill further by renumbering section 7 to read "Sec. 8."

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. Cory:

"Mr. Speaker, I challenge the amendment. We have already voted on identically the same thing."

The Speaker:

"Are you raising a point of order that the amendment has already been voted upon?"

Mr. Cory:

"That is exactly correct."

The Speaker:

"The Speaker will rule that the point is not well taken because the attitude of the assembly can be determined by a vote on this matter, and there is a substantial chance that there would be a different effect by placing the amendment in a different position in the bill. The only way that the will of the House can be accurately determined is by taking a vote on the amendment as it has been offered in this position."

The Speaker declared the question before the House to be the adoption of the amendment by Mr. Ford.
The Speaker observed within the bar of the House, former Representative and Speaker of the House John N. Sylvester of King County, and appointed Mr. Clark and Mr. Frayn to escort him to a seat beside the Speaker.

Mr. Johnston (Elmer E.) demanded the previous question and the demand was sustained.

THIRD READING OF BILLS

Engrossed House Bill No. 68, by Committee on Insurance:
Relating to insurance or contracts on funeral services.
On motion of Mr. Ball, the rules were suspended and the bill was returned to second reading for the purpose of amendment.

SECOND READING OF BILLS

Engrossed House Bill No. 68 was re-read the second time by sections.

Mr. Ball moved the adoption of the following amendment:

In section 1, line 12 of the engrossed bill, being line 4 of the printed bill, after the words "and/or" and before the word "property" insert the word "personal".

The motion by Mr. Ball was carried and the amendment was adopted.
Mr. Hess moved that the following amendment be adopted:

In section 2, line 20 of the engrossed bill, being lines 10 and 11 of the printed bill, after the word "granted" and before the word "membership" strike the words "as an incident to" and insert in lieu thereof the words "by reason of"

Debate ensued.

POINT OF INFORMATION

Mr. Paulsen:

"Will Mr. Ball yield to a question?"

The Speaker:

"Does the gentleman yield?"

Mr. Paulsen:

"Could you tell us in what way this amendment would adversely affect the interests of your bill?"

Mr. Ball:

"The bill is intended not to interfere with fraternal and non-profit organizations who are operating and who wish to offer these facilities to their people. The bill isn't intended to open up a plan whereby little groups can get together and, in the future, for the specific purpose of having a burial contract. The whole intent of this bill is to guarantee that the public, when they make a funeral contract with the funeral director, can have some assurance that this funeral director can later deliver the goods because, remember, no services can be rendered until after death."

POINT OF INFORMATION

Mr. Hurley:

"I would like to know what type organizations Mr. Hess has in mind, cooperative or otherwise, that shouldn't be regulated by the insurance commissioner at the start."

Mr. Hess:

"I'll be very glad to answer insofar as my meager knowledge will permit. The organization I have in mind is known as 'The People's Memorial Association'. It is incorporated under the laws of the State of Washington. It has approximately four hundred members. Each year, all of the members meet and elect, with one vote per member, their officers for the coming year. As near as I can gather, their sole purpose is, through cooperative action, to obtain less expensive post mortem and burial services for members of the family who die. That's all I know of the organization. I know several people who belong to it. They are responsible people."

Debate ensued.

POINT OF INFORMATION

Mr. Hess:

"Will the gentleman, Mr. Orndorff, yield?"

The Speaker:

"Will the gentleman yield?"

Mr. Hess:

"Is it not true that under these specific provisions of the Insurance Code referred to here, any organization, to be allowed to operate, must have access to capital of $50,000.00?"

Mr. Orndorff:

"It is not in the bill."

Mr. Hess:

"That does not answer my question, Mr. Speaker."

The Speaker:

"Is your question answered?"
Mr. Hess:
"No. Would the framer of the bill yield to a question on that point? Will Mr. Ball yield?"

Mr. Ball:
"I talked it over with the insurance commissioner this morning. 'These groups,' he said, 'have no objection to that.' There is no objection to any plan that is in force now."

Mr. Hess:
"That still does not answer my question. My question has not been answered."

Mr. Henry (Edward E.):
"I would like to answer that question. There is a provision in the Insurance Code that an organization must have a very substantial capital of $50,000.00 or more to qualify."

Debate ensued.

Mr. Zent demanded the previous question.

The demand was sustained, the motion by Mr. Hess was carried on a rising vote, and the amendment was adopted.

Mr. Ball moved the adoption of the following amendment:
Amend section 2, line 11 of the printed bill, after the word "fraternal" and before the words "or benevolent" strike the words "or cooperative".

Debate ensued.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. Cory:
"Mr. Speaker, this motion is out of order. That amendment was adopted by the House yesterday."

RULING BY THE SPEAKER

The Speaker:
"Your point is not well taken because another amendment to the bill has been adopted since then."

Debate ensued.

POINT OF INFORMATION

Mr. Hurley:
"I'd like to ask the gentleman, Mr. Henry (Edward E.) a question."

The Speaker:
"Does the gentleman yield?"

Mr. Henry (Edward E.):
"Yes."

Mr. Hurley:
"In this cooperative situation, who is going to take the money, where is it going to be deposited, and who is going to guarantee that the people who give their money to this cooperative are going to get a burial?"

Mr. Henry (Edward E.):
"Well, in this cooperative, each member has one vote. They elect a board of governors. Each person has one vote and no more than one. They form the organization just for that specific purpose: to put money aside for that purpose and all have to shoulder the burden at once."

Debate ensued.

Mr. Knoblauch demanded the previous question.

GENTLEMEN:

An acknowledgment of the receipt of this resolution would be appreciated.

Yours very truly,

ARTHUR H. OHNIMUS,
Chief Clerk.

Assembly Joint Resolution No. 4—Relative to lands beneath the navigable waters adjacent to the coasts of coastal states.

WHEREAS, A recent decision of the Supreme Court of the United States refutes a long recognized claim of the coastal states to the three-mile belt of land beneath the navigable waters adjacent to their coasts; and

WHEREAS, The effect of this decision was to divest those states of valuable oil rights; and

WHEREAS, Ownership of such land by the coastal states would in no way interfere with federal control necessary in the conduct of international affairs and Coast Guard activities; and

WHEREAS, If it is possible for the Federal Government to secure the ownership of such lands on the basis of its contentions before the Supreme Court, there is a danger that the ownership of all state lands in other states as well as in the coastal states will be jeopardized; and

WHEREAS, The Legislature of the State of California has, by resolution, memorialized the Congress of the United States to enact legislation necessary to restore this land to the State; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, By the Assembly and the Senate of the State of California, Jointly, That the Legislatures of each of the states are urged to adopt a resolution similar to that of the California Legislature; and be it further

Resolved, That the Legislature of each of the states is requested to transmit to the Legislature of California copies of any resolutions adopted, or notice of any taken relative to the subject matter of this resolution; and be it further

The sales representative of the International Roll Call Corporation was contacted and met with the committee. He explained the operation of the machine, and said the total cost of the machine, with installation, would be $85,000.00. The price f.o.b. Richmond, Virginia, would be $69,995.00, and we would be permitted to install the machine locally.

In addition to that cost, there would be a $50.00 per day cost for engineers' supervision, plus cost of transportation, meals and hotel. An alternate proposal was offered which would be an installation charge of $40,000.00, and a yearly rental of $6,000.00, with an option to purchase it within one year. A balance of $45,000.00 would be due, making a total of $85,000.00.

The committee believes that the machine would be very efficient and accurate, and would aid in the orderly operation of the Legislature, and recommends that this report be referred to the Committee on Appropriations for their action as to whether or not the appropriation should be made for the purchase.

A. L. Rasmussen,
R. C. Brigham Young,
Harold Zent.

On motion of Mr. Rasmussen, the committee report was adopted and the report was referred to the Committee on Appropriations.

REPORT OF SPECIAL COMMITTEE

We, your special committee appointed to investigate immediately all the conditions surrounding the fire disaster in the McClary Home at Hoquiam, Washington and to report as soon as practicable on what steps must be taken to avoid any possibility of a recurrence of such disaster have made an investigation by visiting the scene of the fire, inspecting the ruined premises, interviewing witnesses and some survivors, consulting officials of the City of Hoquiam, the State Department of Social Security, the State Department of Health and the State Fire Marshall. We reviewed the laws governing the licensing of nursing homes which are referred to in the law as Places of Refuge having in mind the application of the law, to the situation under consideration.

We find that the first state law of Washington governing the operation of Places of Refuge or nursing homes and requiring their being licensed was enacted by the legislature in 1943 and amended in 1945; that the law is now known and designated as Chapter 74.08, Revised Code of Washington.
The statutory regulation of nursing homes in effect requires that all nursing homes, be licensed by the city council in cities having a paid fire department and a building code and outside such cities nursing homes must be licensed by the county commissioners. Boards of County Commissioners are granted rule-making authority regarding sanitary, health, fire protection and building standards. In addition, minimum standards of health, safety and sanitation are specified by the statute. The authority given to the cities is not clear but presumably the cities would have the same authority in regard to licensing homes and prescribing conditions as counties. The responsibility for administration, however, rests wholly with the local authorities concerned. This legislation fails to assure that uniform and effective regulation will be applied on a state-wide basis. Also, it does not assure that reasonably adequate care will be accorded persons residing in the nursing homes.

We further find that the State Department of Social Security under the law has no authority to supervise the nursing homes as to type of care, safety or accommodations. The Department has inspected nursing homes at different times, has made recommendations but has no means of enforcing its recommendations. It has classified nursing homes on the basis of staff and accommodations and has fixed fees for services rendered in accord with the classification of the home. There are four classes. The kind of care required by the welfare recipient is fixed by the recipient's own physician and this determines his budget allowance for care. The Department of Social Security thus has attempted to regulate standards by the amount of compensation allowed for the type of care prescribed by the recipient's physician.

Because of the fire and water damage it was next to impossible to determine with exactness in what respect the premises did not meet local fire and health regulations and state requirements but it was evident that the premises did not meet standards usually observed for a building of frame construction when used for the care of patients who were bed confined and housed above the ground floor.

We find that the City of Hoquiam is an incorporated city of the second class, located in Grays Harbor County, State of Washington; that it has a paid fire department, a building code and a paid health officer; that there was no city ordinance governing the licensing of nursing homes; that the city building code did not provide for such type of structures as nursing homes; that the fire and health regulations were general and not specific as respects nursing homes.

We find that the McClary Nursing Home was a two story frame structure, without basement in which were housed thirty chronically ill persons, about twenty being bed confined and housed above the ground floor.

We find that Harriet A. McClary applied to the Hoquiam City Clerk in September 1945 for a license to operate a nursing home as required by the statutes of the State of Washington; that the city Health Department approved the application June 17, 1946; that the Chief of the Fire Department on June 24, 1946 reported that there was no rear exit in the premises; that on June 29, 1946 Mrs. McClary was notified that her application had been approved; that in November 1946 the Chief of the Fire Department reported that the rear exit which had been required had been installed and was approved by him.

We find that the premises were licensed as provided by law by the City of Hoquiam. We did not find any evidence that regular inspections had been made as contemplated by statute. We find that the operator was not sufficiently aware of hazards existing in use of the drying room where the fire apparently started, nor had the operator been instructed by the city authorities or any other authorities regarding these hazards.

We find that a hazardous condition existed by virtue of the presence of a sheet iron stove in the drying room since the stove was used as an incinerator and was in close proximity to the clothes hung on lines above and along side the stove. We find that the State Department of Social Security was aware of this condition but had no authority to remedy the situation.

RECOMMENDATIONS

We recommend that:

(1) A new licensing law be enacted placing in the State Department of Social Security the responsibility for the establishment of reasonable standards for sanitation, safety, adequacy of accommodations and proper health care.

(2) All nursing homes should be regularly inspected for conformity with these standards.
(3) The State Department of Social Security should be authorized to delegate responsibility for inspection and certification of conformity to cities and counties which it finds to be able to assume this responsibility.

(4) A distinction should be drawn between nursing homes caring for chronically ill persons and boarding homes providing living arrangements for persons able to attend their own personal needs.

(5) The standards applying to nursing homes should as a minimum require that bedfast patients should not be placed above the ground floor unless the building is of fire resistant construction and provision is made for prompt evacuation of inmates.

(6) It seems questionable whether accommodation adequate for the care of the aged chronically ill can be provided on a commercial basis by private nursing homes. Many states are at present operating such homes on a state-wide regional basis as a part of state institutional care.

We recommend that the Legislative Council should during the ensuing interim study the feasibility of establishing a state-wide system of hospitals for chronics and prepare recommendations for the consideration of the next regular session of the legislature.

Your committee is continuing its studies and investigation and will file a further report together with exhibits and a suggested draft of legislation within the next few days.

Respectfully submitted, February 5, 1951.

GEO. N. ADAMS, Chairman.

Debate ensued.

Mr. Paulsen demanded a division and the demand was sustained.

The motion was lost on a rising vote.

RULING BY THE SPEAKER

"The Speaker would like to announce it is his opinion that this vote would require a two-thirds vote because of the fact it takes the bill from third reading and places it back on first reading. The motion would be lost if there is not a two-thirds majority. If anybody desires to change that, I'd be glad to have any authority quoted."
Mr. Paulsen:
"Mr. Speaker, I would like to have your authority that requires a two-thirds majority."

The Speaker:
"It requires a suspension of the rules to move a bill from third reading to second reading and it would seem this motion, if allowed to prevail, would require a two-thirds vote if the effect is returning the bill from third reading to second reading without a suspension of the rules. The Speaker is not particularly concerned with this point, but the problem will probably come up later. Unless someone can show other authority, the move from third reading to second would require a suspension of the rules."

Mr. Roderick:
"A vote to refer to committee takes a majority vote?"

The Speaker:
"That is, if the bill is before the House. The motion could have been made when the bill was on second reading."

Mr. Roderick:
"Well, on the same page, it says, 'A bill may be recommitted at any time before passed', and this is under the heading of 'Committing a Bill'."

Mr. Zent:
"Isn't that under suspension of rules?"

Mr. Ford:
"House Rule 88 states a bill may be recommitted at any time before its final passage. That's all it says."

The Speaker:
"The bill is not before the House. Your contention is, it could be taken from one committee to another?"

Mr. Roderick:
"At any time before its final passage, and it may be committed on a majority vote."

Mr. Henry (Edward E.):
"It is in Rules Committee now. You can always take a bill out of any committee by a majority vote."

The Speaker:
"To take it out of Rules Committee requires fifty votes. I wasn't interested, therefore, in this particular question, except the vote was forty-six to forty to recommit; and, the bill is technically in Rules Committee and it would not be a sufficient vote to take it out of Rules Committee, so the Speaker will rule the motion lost by a vote of yeas, 46; nays, 40. I would be glad to have further advice on this."

Mr. Roderick:
"Mr. Speaker, you are not ruling on those grounds then?"

The Speaker:
"I'll rule in this instance, on this point, that it requires fifty votes to take the bill out of Rules Committee, so the motion is lost. If anybody has further authority to submit later with regard to the suspension of the rules, the Speaker will be glad to consider it. The Speaker will rule, for the record, that it does require a suspension of the rules to recommit a bill that is not before the House."

Mr. Olson (Ole H.):
"Is it not before the Body?"

The Speaker:
"Not in my opinion, after we passed the order of business, and it was passed to third reading."
MOTION

Mr. Ford moved that Engrossed Senate Bill No. 4 be re-referred to the Committee on Revenue and Taxation.

Debate ensued.

Mr. Johnston (Elmer E.) demanded the previous question and the demand was sustained.

MEMORIAL TRIBUTE
Representative Eva Anderson

We pause, in the midst of a busy day—at a time of crisis in state and nation—to honor our recently departed fellow legislators.
Enshrined on the Roll of Memory today, are the names of forty men and one woman. They too, once sat in these legislative halls even as you and I now sit here.
As the clock on the wall ticked and the calendar days flitted past with kaleidoscopic swiftness, they too dreamed of building a better world. But when the Reaper declares that "Life’s session is ended," no mortal can stay the clock for a single instant. No one can say, “Give me a few more minutes; a few more hours. My bill didn’t pass.”

Eventually for all, TIME ITSELF RUNS OUT.

THOSE FIRST STEPS IN IMMORTALITY, WHICH EVERY HUMAN CRAVES, MUST BE TAKEN NOW.

Those whom we honor today used some of Life’s shining hours, we know, for Humanity and for the State of Washington. To them, we are deeply grateful.

To you in the galleries, friends and relatives of our comrades, we extend our warmest sympathy. Upon you falls the great burden of this loneliness.

Here and now, may you and I—all of us—rededicate our own lives to perpetuating their dream:

“The dream of a brotherhood coming to birth
The dream of a Christ for a Christlike earth.”

MR. SPEAKER:

May I, for myself, and on behalf of my colleagues on this side of the House, express yesterday provided a beautiful memorial ceremony for our departed friends, a ceremony that could come only from the deep spirituality of an understanding and sympathetic heart.

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. Savage:

"Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of personal privilege."

The Speaker:

"State your point."

Mr. Savage:

"On third reading calendar yesterday, in discussing House Bill No. 143, the lady from Grays Harbor stated that some of the remarks I made about the bill were untrue. She said the bill provided that the cost of drilling wells, even dry wells, could be levied against property and the property confiscated under this act. I feel that my personal integrity is at stake here because her statement is not true, and that type of thing is what I was trying to prevent from becoming law in the Oil Code. I feel it is within the scope of personal privilege to point out the exact provision in the law which proves that it isn't a true statement. I'd like to know if the Speaker will agree that that is a personal privilege."
The Speaker:

"Do you wish to submit in writing the statement showing the section of law to which you refer?"

Mr. Savage:

"Well, it's easily pointed out. I would mention the same section she mentioned—section 26. I think perhaps she confused 'spacing area' with 'spacing unit'. You will notice in what is now section 26, which was formerly marked section 27, that it reads, 'each such combining order shall be made after notice and hearing'. Then in line 30 it reads, 'in the well spacing area' and in lines 31 and 32 it reads, 'operations incident to the drilling of a well upon any portion of a well spacing area'. In other words, a 'well spacing area' being not over forty acres, may be one acre or five acres or whatever is decided upon by the committee to be a 'well spacing area'. That is the area around the space in one well. If the people do not agree, the committee may issue an order to the people in that particular well spacing area, that they shall combine. That is for the purpose of protecting the people who have property in that well spacing area who have no well. But that section does not mention entire pool at all. Section 36 does mention the entire pool. And, if you will notice in line 44, page 6, House Bill No. 143, it reads, 'owners so drilling or operating shall have a lien on the share of production from the well spacing area'; and in lines 2 and 3, page 7, beginning after the period (.), 'such lien shall be only against the said share of production and not against any interest, real estate, equity, * * * * *'.

'I think it is very clear. That is one of the specific things we were guarding against so it could not be placed against anyone's property. The purpose of it was to protect that property. Section 38 says, * * * * * the * * * * * owning interests * * * * * and develop their land as a unit, * * * * *'. That refers to the entire pool. 'They May'. That makes it legal under the Sherman Anti-Trust Act that they can unite and it will be not contrary to the Sherman Anti-Trust Act. They must have the approval of the state committee to make it legal. If they cannot agree, it says, 'When in the judgment of the committee production in any pool or field shall have declined to a point where secondary recovery operations are advisable or necessary'.

"Now, that's what I was talking about yesterday. After ten or fifteen years when the pressure begins to leave and they would have to repressurize the area, you would have to repressurize the whole pool at one time. Then it would be necessary to have a unit."

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. Zent:

"Mr. Speaker, point of order. Are we going to have another discussion of this oil bill or did we dispose of that yesterday?"

Mr. Savage:

"I'm merely pointing out —."

RULING BY THE SPEAKER

The Speaker:

"Pardon me, Mr. Savage, one moment. The Speaker is under the impression that on a point of personal privilege, where a member's integrity is in question, the point must be raised immediately and cannot be raised at a later date, so I believe the member is proceeding out of order."

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. Savage:

"Point of order, Mr. Speaker. I would have furnished rebuttal, except the motion was quickly put for the previous question, and we were in a hurry to get through because of the program and I didn't bother. If it is the rule —."

RULING BY THE SPEAKER

The Speaker:

"The Speaker will rule you can only proceed with the unanimous consent of the House."
PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Miss Phillips:
"Mr. Speaker."

The Speaker:
"The lady from Grays Harbor, Miss Phillips."

Miss Phillips:
"Point of personal privilege."

The Speaker:
"State your point."

Miss Phillips:
"It was not my intention to impugn the integrity of the sponsors of this bill. My remarks were directed solely to the bill and the things I said about the bill yesterday I would say again today, but I don't wish to take the time of the House to do so. My reasons for referring to section 27 I would like to submit in writing so it may be spread on the journal of the House."

The Speaker:
"If no objections, the statement may be submitted."

There being no objections, the following written statement was filed by Miss Phillips to be spread on the Journal:

The day following the passage of House Bill No. 143, the sponsor of that bill, Representative Savage, under personal privilege, made the statement that my remarks, in speaking in opposition to the passage of this bill, and in particular, that part of my remarks dealing with the legal effect of the provisions of sections 27 and 28 (renumbered sections 26 and 27), were not true. The proponents of this bill claimed in committee and in argument on the floor of the House that the bill contained no provision for compulsory unitization except for the purpose of secondary recovery.

In this connection, I pointed out that the section of the bill dealing with compulsory unitization for secondary recovery was section 37, and that in addition thereto the act, in section 27 (renumbered 26) provides for compulsory unitization before the stage of secondary recovery is reached. That this is clearly so, the language of section 27 plainly shows: "Sec. 27. When two or more separately owned tracts are embraced within a well spacing area, or when there are separately owned interests in all or a part of the well spacing area, then the owners and lessees thereof may combine their interests for the development and operation of the well spacing area. In the absence of this voluntary combination, the committee, upon the application of any interested person, shall enter an order combining all interests in the well spacing area for the development and operation thereof."

Obviously, the language above referred to does provide for compulsory unitization before the stage of secondary recovery is reached.

Representative Savage particularly took exception to my statement that under the provisions of sections 27 and 28 (renumbered 26 and 27), it is possible for an owner of property in a well spacing area who does not desire to drill a well or participate in the drilling of a well in the well spacing area to be personally liable for his proportionate share of the cost and expense of drilling such a well.

Section 27 (renumbered 26) beginning at line 31, provides that "Operations incident to the drilling of a well upon any portion of a well spacing area covered by a combining order shall be deemed, for all purposes, the conduct of such operations upon each separately owned tract in the well spacing area by the several owners thereof."

While it is true as the sponsor of the bill stated, that the lien of the owner of a part of the well spacing area who drills a well for the proportionate share of the cost of drilling is only against the other owner's share of production, this limitation obtains only as to the owner who drills and there is no such limitation as to the creditors of the one who drills, those from whom he may have purchased machinery and equipment and those whom he has employed to drill the well.

As I pointed out in my remarks in opposition to the bill, if a commercial well is brought in there will be little danger, but if the well proves to be a dry well and if the owner who drills fails to pay his workmen or fails to pay creditors to whom he is indebted for machinery and equipment used in drilling operations, liability for these obligations is imposed on the other owners of the well spacing area since the act specifically provides that "operations incident to the drilling of a well upon any portion of a well spacing area covered by a combining order shall be deemed, for all purposes, the conduct of such operations upon each separately owned tract in the well spacing area by the several owners thereof." As to creditors and third persons, there is no provision in this act limiting their lien to the oil or gas produced.

REPORT OF SPECIAL COMMITTEE

Mr. Speaker:
We, your special committee appointed to investigate the nursing home fire at Hoquiam and to make a report, have continued our investigation and study and respectfully report as follows:

We find that there are several approaches to the solution of the nursing home problem. This is due to the fact that there are many phases of nursing homes including the care of bed confined patients, the care and custody of semi-confined bed patients, many of whom are ambulatory, the care and custody of those who are senile and perhaps semi-invalids, and the care of those who are just senile and have no particular infirmities but have no place in which to stay.

Under these conditions we feel that the department of social security is the proper agency to have charge of all of the homes so that the welfare of each patient or client will be under the administration of a single agency.
There is involved in this situation the health care, the nursing care, sanitation, safety factors of the institution or home such as dangers that might arise from fire or improper type of construction, adequate stairways and lighting space and space for patients not bed confined, adequate recreational facilities for those who are physically able to enjoy them, and many other incidentals that have to do with the general welfare of the individual and not particularly directed to health or safety. Because there is considerable overlapping in each one of these responsibilities, it is the opinion of the committee that one department of the state should have the direct responsibility of administration. The committee recommends that the department of social security be given the direct responsibility with the authority to call upon the state department of health for setting up health standards, and to call upon the state department of labor and industries to set up the standards for safety, and to call upon the state fire marshal to set up the rules and regulations in regard to fire hazards.

In this connection, we call your attention to the fact that appropriations will be necessary for these departments to carry out the additional responsibilities and functions entailed by this type of operation. Respectfully submitted, (Chet King and Homer O.

Nunamaker did not sign the committee report.)

Geo. N. Adams, Chairman.
A. B. Comfort.
Wesley R. Eldridge.

On motion of Mr. Adams, the special committee report was adopted and referred to the Committee on Social Security.

SENATE AMENDMENTS TO HOUSE BILL

Mr. Speaker:

The Senate has passed: Re-Engrossed House Bill No. 35 with the following amendments:

Amend Re-Engrossed House Bill No. 35 by striking everything following the enacting clause and inserting in lieu thereof the following:

"Section 1. The state capitol committee may issue coupon or registered bonds of the state in an amount not to exceed two million four hundred fifty thousand dollars. The bonds shall bear interest at a rate not to exceed three per cent per annum, both principal and interest to be payable only from revenues hereafter received from leases and contracts of sale heretofore or hereafter made of lands, timber, and other products from the surface or beneath the surface of the lands granted to the state by the United States pursuant to the act of congress approved February 22, 1889, for capitol building purposes.

"Sec. 2. Such bonds may be sold in such manner and in such amount, in such denominations, and at such times as the capitol committee shall determine, at the best price obtainable, but not for a sum so low as to make the net interest return to the purchaser exceed three per cent per annum as computed by standard tables upon such sums."
"Sec. 3. Bonds issued under this act shall mature serially and annually beginning with the second and ending with the tenth year after the date of issue in such amounts as nearly as practicable, as will, together with the interest, require an equal amount of money for the payment of said principal and interest, with the option to redeem any or all of said bonds at par in inverse order of number on any semi-annual interest paying date on and after five years from the date of issue. The principal and interest of said bonds shall be payable at the office of the state treasurer, or at the office of the fiscal agent of the state in New York City at the option of the holder of any such bond or bonds.

"Sec. 4. The bonds shall be signed by the governor and state auditor under the seal of the state. The signature of the governor and that of the state auditor may be a facsimile printed upon the bonds and any coupons attached thereto shall be signed by the same officers whose signatures thereupon may be printed facsimile. Any of such bonds may be registered in the name of the holder upon presentation to the state treasurer, or at the fiscal agency of the state in New York City, as to principal alone, or as to both principal and interest, under such regulations as the treasurer may prescribe.

"Sec. 5. For the purpose of paying the principal and interest of said bonds as the same shall become due, or as said bonds shall become callable at the option of the capitol committee, there is hereby created a fund to be denominated the 'capitol building bond redemption fund.' While any of said bonds remain outstanding and unpaid, it shall be the duty of the capitol committee annually on or before the first day of January of each year to determine the amount that will be required for the redemption of bonds and the payment of interest during the twelve month period next succeeding the date of such determination, and certify said amount to the state treasurer in writing. The state treasurer shall forthwith and thereafter during said twelve month period deposit into the capitol building bond redemption fund all receipts that would otherwise be deposited in the capitol building construction fund until the amount certified to said treasurer by the said capitol committee has accrued to the capitol building bond redemption fund.

"The owner and holder of any of said bonds or the trustee for any of said bonds may by mandamus or other appropriate proceeding require and compel the deposit and payment of funds as directed herein.

"The proceeds from the sale of the bonds hereby authorized shall be paid into the capitol building construction fund.

"Sec. 6. Bonds authorized by this act shall be accepted by the state, counties, cities, towns, school districts, and other political subdivisions as security for the deposit of any of their funds in any banking institution. Any officer of this state, or any county, city, town, school district, or other political subdivision may invest surplus funds, which he is authorized to invest in securities, and where such authorization is not limited or restricted as to the class of securities in which he may invest, in bonds issued under this act.

"Sec. 7. Proceeds of the bonds issued hereunder shall be expended by the state capitol committee in the selection and acquisition, by purchase or condemnation of suitable grounds adjacent to the present capitol grounds in the construction thereof of a modern office-type building and in furnishing the same. Said building shall be of reinforced concrete construction, but devoid of stone facing or decorative features. The building shall contain not less than one hundred ten thousand square feet of floor space and shall include an auditorium or hearing room of reasonable size. Provision shall be made for adequate garage and parking facilities. The plans for the building shall make provision for the later addition if necessary of another wing to the building.

"The public printer, the state library and such other state offices, as may from time to time be assigned by the director of public institutions, shall be housed in said building. In selecting plans for the construction of the building and use of the grounds the committee shall consider recommendations of the director of public institutions for the purpose of coordinating such plans with the overall office space needs of the various state departments.

"Sec. 8. There is hereby appropriated to the state capitol committee from the capitol building construction fund for the biennium ending March 31, 1953, for the purpose of carrying out the provisions of this act, the sum of two million four hundred fifty thousand dollars or so much thereof as may be necessary.

"Sec. 9. This act is necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety, the support of the state government and its existing public institutions, and shall take effect immediately."

The Secretary of the Senate called the roll of the Senate and all members were present except Senators Cowen and Miller.

The Clerk called the roll of the House and all members were present except Representatives Ball, Carmichael, Sandison and Woodall, all having been excused.

The Speaker called upon Representative Loney of Walla Walla County to preside.

Mr. Loney:

"I just want to state, Mr. Governor, Mr. Speaker, Mrs. Langlie, Members of the Legislature—both House and Senate, and friends, that the purpose of this meeting today is to put on a program in memory of the Father of our Country whose birthday is the 22nd of February. And then the second purpose, of course, is the unveiling of the statue of Marcus Whitman, a replica of which—only in a much larger form—will be in Statuary Hall in Washington, D.C.

"I would like to read from the Congressional Record that I have here from the 32nd Congress when the Territory of Washington was created, instead of being the Territory of Columbia as was originally planned. It just so happens that the petition was introduced on Lincoln’s birthday, 1852, and the Territory of Washington was created on Washington’s birthday, February 22, 1853. The matter of record that I will read is in the Congressional Record dated February 8, 1853.

“In 1853, the people of the Territory of Oregon, then comprising the present states of Oregon, Idaho and Montana, and a vast territory north of the Columbia River up into British Columbia, petitioned the Congress to create a new territory to be known as the Territory of Columbia, the boundary of the Columbia River being on the southern boundary. That petition was filed because of the great distance involved in attending the territorial legislature at Salem, Oregon, the capital of Oregon at that time. The Oregon territorial legislature supported this petition. Acting upon this resolution, February 8, 1853, a remarkable debate came about.

“Mr. Stanton from Kentucky moved to amend the bill by striking out the word ‘Columbia’ and inserting the word ‘Washington’.

“We already have a territory of Columbia”, he stated, ‘but we have never dignified a territory by the name of Washington.’

“Mr. Lane in answering this said, ‘I will never object to that name.’

“Mr. Stanton confirmed, ‘I have nothing more to say except that I desire to see that, if I should live so long, at some future date a sovereign state bearing the name of the Father of our Country. I, therefore, move to strike out the word “Columbia” and insert in lieu thereof the word “Washington”.

“Mr. Stanley, another member: ‘Now, sir, I hope the amendment of the gentleman from Kentucky, Mr. Stanton, will be adopted. There is something very appropriate in it and it is a little singular that this same idea should have occurred to others at the same time. It was but a moment ago that, without having any conversation with the gentleman from Kentucky, I made the suggestion to the gentleman on my right that if this territory was to be organized, it should not be done under the name of “Columbia” but under the name of “Washington”. We already have a territory of Columbia, the District of Columbia, but if we were to organize that territory under that title it might lead to trouble, especially if there should be a city of Washington in that state. I hope, at least, insasmuch as we already have a portion of the territory bearing the title of “Columbia”, we shall not give it to another.’

“Mr. Stanton: ‘Well, sir, please congratulate the gentleman from Kentucky upon having made the motion and I hope it will be adopted. I hope the name will be changed as suggested by the gentleman from Kentucky and this territory will be called after the Father of his Country. There has been but one Washington upon earth and there is not likely to be another and, as Providence has sent but one for all time, let us have one state named after that one man and let the name be “Washington”.

“The motion to adopt the amendment was agreed to by 85 yeas and no nays. It was passed by the committee on February 8, 1853, and enacted in Congress on Washington’s birthday, February 22, 1853.

“Now, ladies and gentlemen, we have the honor of having a man who is very familiar with Washington’s biography and he will now tell you something of the Father of our Country. Representative Ernest W. Lennart from Whatcom County.”

Mr. Lennart:

“Mr. President, Mr. Speaker, Americans All:

“Alone in his grandeur stands forth the character of Washington in history, like some peak that has no fellow in the mountain range of greatness. ‘Washington’, said Guizot, the great French historian, ‘did the two greatest things which in politics has been permitted to men to attempt. He maintained by peace the independence of his country which he had conquered by war. He established a new government fashioned on the principles of order and by re-establishing their sway.’ This is a quotation from Guizot. Washington, indeed, did do those things but he did more. Out of disconnected fragments, he molded a whole and made it a country. Finally he re-established both his country and its freedom in an enduring frame of constitutional government fashioned to make liberty and union one and inseparable. Those things together constitute the unequalled achievements of Washington.

“The world has ratified the profound remarks of Fisher Ames, that Washington changed mankind’s ideal of political greatness. It has supported the opinion of Edward Everett that he was the greatest of good men and the best of the great. It has felt for him, with Erskine, an awful reverence and it has joined with Brougham that he was the greatest of men of his own or of any age.
"Conquerors who have held their scepters over boundless territories; rulers of empires who have held their dominions under their reign of law; reformers who have cried out in a wilderness of oppression and whose brains have throbbed with mighty plans for the amelioration of society; scar-crowned vikings of the northern seas who have borne the standard of siege of battle—none of them can come up to his stature. Statesman, soldier, patriot, sage, achiever and preserver of liberty, savior of his people, father of his country—this he is, solitary and unapproachable in his grandeur.

"High in our national capitol soars the monument erected to the memory of his name. It is more fitting than any statue for in any statue he could only be viewed from one single standpoint, so art has fitly erected a plain, lofty shaft to typify his exalted name. Such was his greatness that only by a symbol could it be represented. As justice must be blind in order to be whole in contemplation, so history must be silent that by this mighty sign she may disclose the amplitude of her story.

"No sum could now be made of Washington and his character that did not exhaust language of its tributes. No sum could be made of his achievements that did not unfold the history of his country and its institution, the history of its age and, as it has progressed, the history of man and his destiny to be free. But whether character or achievements be regarded, the riches before us only expose the poverty of praise. So clear was he in his great office that no ideal of the leader can be found that does not shrink by the side of the reality, and so has he impressed himself upon the minds of men that no one can justly aspire to seek the place of a great, free leader who does not follow his principles or emulate his examples. We have read with amazement of such eccentric characters as Alexander, Caesar, Cromwell, Napoleon and many others, but when Washington's face rises before us on the stage with the great men, immediately mankind exclaims, 'This is the man for nations to trust and leaders to follow!'

"In the production of Washington, there really appears to be some endeavor evident in nature to improve upon herself and that all virtues of the ancient world were but so many preparatory studies for the patriot of the new. Individual instances there were, splendid exemplifications of some single qualification. Caesar was merciful, Scipio was content, Hannibal was patient—but it was left for Washington to blend them all in one blow of associated beauty the pride of every model and the perfection of every master. As a general, he marshaled the peasants into veterans and supplied by discipline the absence of experience. As a statesman, he so enlarged the policy of his cabinet into the most comprehensive policy of a general advantage and such was the wisdom of his views and the philosophy of his counsels, that to the soldier and the statesman, he almost added a character of the sage. A conqueror, he was free from the stain of blood. A revolutionist, he was free from any stains of treason, for aggression commenced the contest and his country called him to command. Had he paused here, history might have doubted what station to assign him, but the last glorious act crowns his career and banishes all hesitation. Who, like Washington, after having emancipated a hemisphere, resigned his crown, preferring retirement and domestic life to the adoration of a land he is almost said to have created?

"Yes, indeed, a true son of nature was George Washington—of nature in her brightest intelligence and noblest mold—and the difficulty, if such there be, in comprehending him, is only that of reviewing from one single standpoint the vast procession of all those great civil and military achievements that occupy nearly half a century of his life and in realizing the magnitude of the qualities requisite to their performance, and the difficulty in fashioning in our minds a pedestal broad enough to bear the towering figure whose greatness can be diminished by nothing but the perfection of its proportions. Indeed, it can never be said that Washington did not have a great and extraordinary genius. I would not say that he could have written a play by Shakespeare or a poem of Milton, handled with Kant the tangled skein of metaphysics, disclosed the secret of mind and matter with Bacon or traveled the pathways of the spheres with Newton, but his genius was of a different order. It was equally rare. It dealt with man in the concrete; his seething passions, his marvelous exertions of mind and of body, and spirit to be free. He knew just where between man and state to erect that monumental mark which divides just reverence for authority from just persistence to its abuse.

"When Marathon had been fought and Greece kept free, each of the victorious generals voted himself first in honor but they all agreed that Miltiades was second. When the most memorable struggle for the rights of human nature was thus happily concluded in the muniments of their preservation, whoever else was second, they all unanimously agreed that Washington was first.
"The two greatest names in the first century of American history are Washington and Lincoln. One is forever associated with the independence of the states and the formation of the federal union; the other with universal freedom and the preservation of the union. Thus, Washington and Lincoln are forever associated in the grandeur of their obsequies. But, may I say this, this association was not accidental and was because of the nature of things and because the things that Washington had commenced were completed by Lincoln. Each was chief of the army during times of successful war; each was the national executive during times of unsurpassing trial—but here the resemblance ends and contrast begins. Washington enforced the Declaration of Independence as against England; Lincoln enforced fulfillment, not only to a downtrodden race in America, but to all people for all times who seek protection under our flag. These two illustrious leaders achieved grander results for mankind within a single century than all other men have accomplished in all the years since first the flight of time began. Washington engaged in no ordinary revolution. With him, it was not who should rule, but what should rule. He drew his sword, not for a change of leaders upon an established throne, but to establish a throne that could have no ruler but the tribune of the people.

"Each lived to see his appointed task completed. Each received the unbounded gratitude of the people of his time, and each is held in ever increasing reverence by posterity. The fame of each will never die—it will grow with the ages because it is founded upon imperishable service to humanity, not only to one country or to one generation, but to the whole human race wherever scattered forever.

"My fellow legislators, and Americans all—A noble manhood nobly consecrated never dies! The father, the savior of the only free government upon earth, the martyr, the emancipator of a race, the great reformer of social ills in our own time—these men may be buried from human sight but their deeds will live on in human gratitude forever.

"Great captains with their guns and drums disturb our judgment for the hour, but at last silence comes. These are all gone, and he stands like a tower and our children shall behold his fame. The silent, honest, brave, farseeing man, sagacious, patient, drawing in place new fame for the new birth of a new soil—The First American."

Representative Loney:

"Thank you very much, Representative Lennart. I'm sure these people all appreciate what you have said and that they now better understand Washington in his greatness.

"Now for the second part of our program, I will call upon Mr. Al McVay of Walla Walla to preside. He is executive secretary of the Chamber of Commerce at Walla Walla and you people know that Walla Walla County has carried the banner of getting this statue back in Statuary Hall in Washington, D. C. for a long time."

Mr. Loney then turned the gavel over to Mr. Al McVay, executive secretary of the Walla Walla Chamber of Commerce.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. Ford:

"Parliamentary inquiry, Mr. Speaker. Is the motion in order at this time?"
The Speaker:

"Similar motions have been entertained under the order of business, 'Other Business to be Considered'.”

Mr. Ford:

"Shouldn't it be considered under the fourth order of business, 'Propositions and Motions'?"

RULING BY THE SPEAKER

The Speaker:

"The Speaker is of the opinion, Mr. Ford, that the motion is in order, and it is agreed by our parliamentarian that it is in order under 'Other Business to be Considered'."

Mr. Ford:

"Do I take that to mean, then, that any motion you wish to make can be considered under that order of business? Could we move to reconsider—to take reconsideration on a question under that particular area?"

The Speaker:

"It is the Speaker's impression, without going into any further research on the matter, that we have entertained motions to discharge a committee from further consideration of a bill under this particular department or order of business. I do not recall if we have entertained motions to reconsider. Notice having been given, it is usually and always, to my knowledge, taken up under 'Propositions and Motions' but I believe we have, in the past, allowed motions to discharge a committee from consideration of a bill under the eleventh order of business."

QUESTION OF CONSIDERATION

Mr. O'Brien raised the question of consideration on Mr. Woodall's motion to relieve the Committee on Elections from further consideration of Senate Joint Resolution No. 8.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. Woodall:

"Point of order, Mr. Speaker. The question of consideration can only go to the main question of the matter and not to any motion relating to the subject matter."

RULING BY THE SPEAKER

The Speaker:

"It is the Speaker's opinion there is no matter before the House except the main question 'Should the House consider the motion that the Committee on Elections be relieved of further consideration of Senate Joint Resolution No. 8'."

Mr. Woodall:

"Then, Mr. Speaker, I demand a roll call."

Mr. Woodall:

"I would like to make a few remarks under the subject of personal privilege, directed principally at the Committee on Elections. I want to point out I have just received a telegram to the effect that thirty-five states have already—"

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. Rasmussen:

"I believe he is impugning the motives of the Committee on Elections."

Mr. Zent:

"I believe that would be perfectly in order, Mr. Speaker."

The Speaker:

"The Speaker is under the impression the member is debating the merits of the bill."

Mr. Woodall:

"I'm not going to debate it. I merely want to make a statement for the information of the Committee on Elections of news I have received. I'm not debating the merits."

The Speaker:

"Does that pertain to anyone having impugned your motives personally?"

Mr. Woodall:

"No, I don't think so, other than that the question of consideration was raised and I was not permitted to state the reason for my motion."

RULING BY THE SPEAKER

The Speaker:

"The particular purpose of refusing to consider is to avoid discussion of the merits of a bill, which the House does not desire to discuss. The Speaker will rule you are out of order."

Mr. Woodall:

"Well, I tried, anyhow."

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. Adams:

"Mr. Speaker, personal privilege. I rather hesitate to make any remarks or try to scold anyone for a particular action which has just taken place here a short time ago, but I think whoever is responsible should be reprimanded. Some say it came from the gallery. If I thought it did, I would ask that the galleries be cleared. Wherever it came from, it has really put this legislature in a very undignified appearance to think someone took the liberty of taking time out from very important proceedings in the legislature to shoot off firecrackers. Up until now, I was very much in sympathy with this firecracker bill. Now, I hope everyone will vote with me to say 'No' on it. I hope we kill it. I think it is the silliest thing I have ever heard of and I can assure you, Mr. Speaker, in a meeting of the redman—in a powwow—or tomahawk dance, such a thing would not be permitted."

In the event that any bonded or warrant indebtedness pledging tax revenue of the district shall be outstanding on April 1, 1951, the directors may, for the sole purpose of retiring such indebtedness, continue to levy a tax upon all taxable property in the district until such bonded or warrant indebtedness shall have been retired.'"

"Sec. 2. A new section is hereby added to chapter 52.04, Revised Code of Washington, to read as follows: 'In the year 1952 and subsequent years no tax levy shall be made by any district except for the purpose of retiring indebtedness outstanding on April 1, 1951, for which tax revenue of the district shall have been pledged. In lieu of all tax levies each district shall annually determine its costs of operation, maintenance and capital improvement and the commissioners shall classify all the property within the district in accordance with the degree of benefit conferred by the operation of the district. In accordance with the classification so made they shall apportion the amount required and shall levy assessments therefor to be collected with the general taxes of the county.'"

"Sec. 3. When such money is collected it shall be placed in a separate fund and paid out on warrants of the county auditor of the county in which the sewer district is situated and authorized by the board of sewer commissioners for the purpose specified in this title. For the year 1952 and subsequent years no further tax levies shall be made by any sewer district except for the retirement of bond or warrant indebtedness outstanding on April 1, 1951, for which tax revenues of the district have been pledged.'"

"1. Subject to other provisions of this chapter, each authorized insurer shall on or before the first day of March of each year pay to the state treasurer through the commissioner's office a tax on premiums. Except as provided in paragraph two of this section, such tax shall be in the amount of two per cent of all premiums, excluding amounts returned to or the amount of reductions in premiums allowed to holders of industrial life policies for payment of premiums directly to an office of the insurer, collected or received by the insurer during the preceding calendar year in the case of foreign and alien insurers, and in the amount of one per cent of all such premiums in the case of domestic insurers, for direct insurances, other than ocean marine and foreign trade insurances, after deducting premiums paid to policyholders as returned premiums, upon risks or property resident, situated, or to be performed in this state. For the purposes of this section the consideration received by an insurer for the granting of an annuity is deemed to be a premium.

"2. In the case of insurers which require the payment by their policyholders at the inception of their policies of the entire premium thereon in the form of premiums or premium deposits which are the same in amount, based on the character of the risks, regardless of the length of term for which such policies are written, such tax shall be in the amount of two per cent of the gross amount of such premiums and premium deposits upon policies on risks resident, located, or to be performed in this state, in force as of the thirty-first day of December next preceding, less the unused or unabsorbed portion of such premiums and premium deposits computed at the average rate thereof actually paid or credited to policyholders or applied in part payment of any renewal premiums or premium deposits on one year policies expiring during such year.

"3. Each authorized insurer shall with respect to all ocean marine and foreign trade insurance contracts written within this state during the preceding calendar year, on or before the first day of March of each year pay to the state treasurer through the commissioner's office a tax of three-quarters of one per cent on its gross underwriting profit. Such gross underwriting profit shall be ascertained by deducting from the net premiums (i.e. gross premiums less all return premiums and premiums for reinsurance) on such ocean marine and foreign trade insurance contracts the net losses paid (i.e. gross losses paid less salvage and recoveries on reinsurance ceded) during such calendar year under such contracts. In the case of insurers issuing participating contracts, such gross underwriting profit shall not include, for computation of the tax prescribed by this paragraph, the amounts refunded, or paid as participation dividends, by such insurers to the holders of such contracts.

"4. The state does hereby preempt the field of imposing excise or privilege taxes upon insurers, other than title insurers and no county, city, town or other municipal subdivision shall have the right to impose any such taxes upon such insurers.

"5. If an authorized insurer collects or receives any such premiums on account of policies in force in this state which were originally issued by another insurer and which other insurer is not authorized to transact insurance in this state on its own account, such collecting insurer shall be liable for and shall pay the tax on such premiums.

"6. This section shall be effective as to and shall govern the payment of all taxes falling due after the effective date of this code."

House Bill No. 498, by Representatives Henry (Al) and Olson (Ole H.): Dividing the sixteenth legislative district into two districts and providing for representation therefor.

House of Representatives,
Olympia, Wash., February 27, 1951.

MR. SPEAKER:
We, a majority of your Committee on Elections, to whom was referred House Bill No. 498, relating to the legislature; creating a legislative reapportionment commission, defining its powers and making an appropriation, have had the same under consideration, and we respectfully report the same back to the House with the recommendation that it do pass with the following amendments:

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert in lieu thereof the following: "Section 1. To carry out the provisions of Article II, section 3 of the state constitution, there is established a bipartisan commission to be known as the legislative reapportionment commission, which shall be composed of seven members as follows:
“(1) Two state senators, one from each major political party, to be appointed by the President of the Senate;
“(2) Two state representatives, one from each major political party, to be appointed by the Speaker of the House of Representatives;
“(3) A judge of the state supreme court, to be appointed by the chief justice; and “(4) Two superior court judges, to be appointed by the president judge of the association of superior court judges.

“The secretary of state and the director of the University of Washington bureau of government research shall be ex officio members of the commission.

“All members shall be appointed for a term which shall expire upon the thirty-first day of the legislative session next succeeding the date of their appointment.

“Sec. 2. The commission shall function in the interim between the thirty-second and thirty-third regular sessions of the legislature and thereafter in the interim following the legislative session which first succeeds the completion of the decennial federal census. In the event that the legislature shall prescribe a state decennial census, the commission shall likewise function in the interim following the legislative session which first succeeds the completion of such census.

“Sec. 3. The commission shall meet at the call of the member appointed by the chief justice, at a date not later than sixty days after the effective date of this act and thereafter not later than sixty days following the close of any session described in section 2 of this chapter. At such first meeting, the commission shall elect from among its members a chairman, vice-chairman, secretary and such other officers as the commission may desire, who shall hold office during their term upon the commission. Members may be removed for cause upon three-fifths vote of the membership. Four members of the commission shall constitute a quorum. Any vacancy in the commission shall not affect its powers, but shall be filled in the same manner in which the original appointment was made.

“Sec. 4. Legislative members of the commission shall receive fifteen dollars per diem when engaged in the performance of duties vested in the commission. All members shall be reimbursed for travel, subsistence, and other necessary expenses incurred by them in the performance of their duties.

“Sec. 5. The commission shall study and investigate the population, geographic and other factors affecting the equitable apportionment of the members of the legislature to the end that the members of the Senate and House of Representatives shall be apportioned and districted anew according to the number of inhabitants, excluding members of United States armed forces on active duty, and shall apportion the membership of the legislature in accordance with its findings.

“Apportionment shall be based upon a Senate composed of not more than forty-nine members and a House of Representatives of not more than ninety-nine members. Senatorial districts shall contain a number of inhabitants, which number shall be computed by dividing the number of proposed senatorial districts into the number of inhabitants of the state as determined by the last enumeration. Representative districts shall contain a number of inhabitants, which number shall be computed by dividing the number of proposed representatives into said number of inhabitants. The districts established may vary in population within limits of thirty per cent over or under the figure derived from such computations.

“Districts shall be as compact as possible and the boundaries thereof shall be reasonably regular. In making any apportionment, the commission shall not disturb the terms of holdover senators.

“Sec. 6. The commission shall complete its work of apportionment at least ninety days prior to the commencement of the regular session of the legislature which follows any session described in section 2 of this chapter. Upon completion of its work, the commission shall file its apportionment with the secretary of state, and, upon organization of the legislature, shall file the apportionment with each house thereof. The legislature may, within thirty days from the commencement of such session, by resolution with two-thirds of the members of each house concurring, reject the apportionment. If no such action shall be taken, the apportionment made and filed by the commission shall, upon the thirty-first day of such session, be and become the districting and apportionment of Senators and Representatives of the legislature of this state.

“Sec. 7. There is appropriated from the general fund the sum of twenty thousand dollars ($20,000), or so much thereof as may be necessary, to carry out the provisions of this act during the biennium ending March 31, 1953. Such moneys shall be expended by warrants issued by the state auditor pursuant to vouchers signed by the chairman and countersigned by the secretary.”
Amend the title—strike the whole thereof and substitute therefor the following: "An Act relating to the legislature; creating a commission to be known as the legislative reapportionment commission, authorizing such commission to reapportion the Senators and Representatives of the state subject to rejection by the legislature, defining its powers and duties, and making an appropriation."
