NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. It is the intent of the legislature to provide the department of ecology with the necessary resources to adequately administer water quality discharge permits issued by the state and to encourage public entities to engage in comprehensive monitoring programs. In doing this, the legislature intends to improve water quality state-wide by enhancing the ability of the department of ecology to adequately inspect dischargers into state ground and surface waters and implement water pollution control laws.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. Beginning in fiscal year 1989, the department shall recover its administrative expenses for operating all aspects of its water quality discharge permit system except adjustments specified in section 4 of this act and those expenses that are directly related to enforcement. Accordingly, for purposes of sections 3 through 7 of this act, 'administrative expenses' means the costs incurred by the department in:

(1) Processing permit applications and modifications;
(2) Monitoring and evaluating compliance with permits;
(3) Conducting inspections;
(4) Securing laboratory analysis of samples taken during inspections;
(5) Reviewing required plans and documents directly related to operations of permittees;
(6) Monitoring compliance with delegated pretreatment programs; and
(7) Supporting the overhead expenses that are directly related to each of the preceding activities.

Administrative expenses shall not include costs related to processing of penalties and notices of violation, inspections that extend beyond routine compliance monitoring, criminal investigations, or the overhead expenses that are directly related to these activities.

The department shall develop a system by January 1, 1989, which will determine administrative expenses.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. (1) The department shall establish an initial fee schedule by February 1, 1988, to be implemented on July 1, 1988.

(2) Except as provided in section 4 of this act, beginning on July 1, 1989, the department shall charge any person or entity holding a permit under RCW 90.48.160, 90.48.162, or 90.48.260, annual fees to recover administrative expenses for each individual permit as defined in section

SIXTY-EIGHTH DAY, MARCH 20, 1987
2 of this act. In no event shall the fee for the most administratively complex permit exceed a total of sixty thousand dollars for any five fiscal year period. This fee limit shall be periodically adjusted by the department to reflect inflation. If administrative expenses exceed the fee limit, additional costs shall not be shifted to other dischargers, but shall be borne by the general fund.

(3) The department shall establish an accounting mechanism to relate administrative expenses incurred in performing activities described in section 2 of this act with fees charged to persons or entities holding permits by January 1, 1989.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4. Fees charged pursuant to section 3 of this act shall be subject to the following conditions:

(1) The department shall consider the economic impact of fees on small dischargers and shall provide appropriate adjustments.

(2) The fee for a permit issued under RCW 90.48.162 for a discharge of less than fifty thousand gallons per day shall not exceed one hundred dollars.

(3) The department shall ensure that indirect dischargers do not pay twice for the administrative expenses of a permit. Accordingly, the department shall not assess fees for permits issued by a city, town, or municipal corporation under RCW 90.48.165.

(4) Fees shall not be charged for any permits for discharges from fish-rearing facilities.

(5) The department shall review applications for credits from any public entity engaging in comprehensive monitoring programs and shall approve or deny such applications, in whole or in part, before assessing permit fees. Credits shall be granted in accordance with a schedule adopted by the department by rule and shall not exceed twenty-five percent of the permit fee assessed over the five-year period of the permit. The total amount of credits granted for the five-year period beginning July 1, 1988, shall not exceed fifty thousand dollars. Permit fee credits granted by the department shall not be recoverable from the water quality permit account.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 5. All fees collected under section 3 of this act shall be deposited in the water quality permit account, which is hereby created in the state treasury, subject to appropriation. Money in the account collected from fees shall be expended exclusively by the department of ecology for the purposes of administering permits issued by the department under RCW 90.48.160, 90.48.162, and 90.48.260. Other funds deposited into this account may be used for the purposes of this chapter.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 6. (1) The department of ecology shall submit a report to the appropriate standing committees of the legislature on January 1, 1990, and on each January 1 thereafter describing the actions it has taken over the prior fiscal year to improve the administrative efficiency of its water quality permit systems. The report shall include information on the fees collected and administrative expenses incurred during the preceding fiscal year. The report shall list the individual permit fees assessed during the prior fiscal year.

(2) Prior to submitting its report on January 1, 1992, the department shall consult with and be advised by representatives of dischargers, recognized environmental organizations, agricultural groups, and other state agencies. The advice received by the department shall be included in the report. The report shall include a justification of the overall level of activity of the program and the level of fees necessary to operate the program.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 7. (1) In determining requirements for monitoring the condition of the waters of the state and of effluent discharged therein to be included in each permit issued by the department under RCW 90.48.160, 90.48.162, and 90.48.260, the department shall ensure that all such monitoring requirements are reasonably related to: (a) Determining compliance with the permit; (b) attaining all known, available, and reasonable treatment; or (c) determining what effects the effluent used for process purposes and regulated by the permit may have on the waters of the state or the biota or sediment in the waters of the state.

(2) Monitoring activities required pursuant to subsection (1)(c) of this section shall be established once within the term of the permit, unless the permit is modified, and shall be structured so that, if monitoring is conducted within the terms of the permit and after an appropriate period of time, the results of such monitoring identify no measurable adverse effects or potentially measurable adverse effects to the waters of the state or biota or sediment in the waters of the state, then only the monitoring requirements of subsection (1)(a) and (b) of this section shall apply. If monitoring identifies measurable adverse effects or potentially measurable adverse effects on the waters of the state or biota or sediment of the waters of the state, continued, more frequent, and/or more comprehensive monitoring shall apply. The department may allow coordinated monitoring activities where discharges from multiple persons or entities holding permits may be causing cumulative effects and where cost savings will result from such coordination.

Sec. 8. Section 4, chapter 249, Laws of 1985 and RCW 90.48.460 are each amended to read as follows:

The department of ecology shall collect administrative expenses from any person or entity requesting action of the department pertaining to the processing of applications for permits provided in RCW 90.48.160, 90.48.162, and 90.48.260. For the purposes of this section, ‘administrative expenses’ shall mean the total actual costs incurred by the department in processing such permit applications.

This section shall expire on June 30, 1988.

Sec. 9. Section 4, chapter 71, Laws of 1955 as amended by section 17, chapter 13, Laws of 1967 and RCW 90.48.190 are each amended to read as follows:

A permit shall be subject to termination upon thirty days’ notice in writing if the commission finds:

(1) That it was procured by misrepresentation of any material fact or by lack of full disclosure in the application;

(2) That there has been a violation of the conditions thereof;

(3) That a material change in quantity or type of waste disposal exists; or

(4) That an applicant or permittee has failed to pay required fees under RCW 90.48.460 or section 3 of this 1987 act.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 10. Sections 2 through 7 of this act are each added to chapter 90.48 RCW.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 11. If any provision of this act or its application to any person or circumstance is held invalid, the remainder of the act or the application of the provision to other persons or circumstances is not affected."

Representatives Rust, Vekich, Walker, Hine and Allen spoke in favor of the amendment.

POINT OF INQUIRY

Mr. Bristow yielded to question by Mr. Braddock.

Mr. Braddock: Representative Bristow, if there has been a fiscal note on this, could you give us an indication of what the costs might be?

Mr. Bristow: There has been no fiscal note prepared on this legislation. We are not aware of the impact on the general fund by this section of the amendment.

POINT OF INQUIRY

Mr. Lux asked Mr. Bristow to yield to question, and Mr. Bristow refused to yield.

The amendment was adopted.

On motion of Ms. Rust, the following amendment to the title of the bill was adopted:

On page 1, beginning on line 1 of the title, after “pollution control:” strike the remainder of the title and insert “amending RCW 90.48.460 and 90.48.190; adding new sections to chapter 90.48 RCW; and creating a new section.”

The bill was ordered engrossed. On motion of Mr. McMullen, the rules were suspended, the second reading considered the third, and the bill was placed on final passage.

Ms. Rust spoke in favor of passage of the bill, and Mr. Chandler spoke against it.

POINT OF INQUIRY

Mr. Bristow yielded to question by Ms. Walker.

Ms. Walker: Representative Bristow, on page 6, lines 29-30 and 37-38, the terms “measurable adverse effect or potentially measurable adverse effect” are used in determining whether more or less monitoring will be required. Does this mean that if any amount whatsoever of a pollutant or substance is found, then more monitoring would be required and vice versa?

Mr. Bristow: No. The finding of a tiny amount of pollutant or substance would not be important unless it also causes a measurable effect. Thus, in order to ask for reduced monitoring, the permittee would not have to show that the effluent is free of every iota of pollutant or substance; rather the permittee would only have to show no measurable adverse effect.

Representatives Walker and Schoon spoke against passage of the bill, and Ms. Allen spoke in favor of it.

Mr. Crane demanded an electric roll call vote and the demand was sustained.
The Clerk called the roll on the final passage of Engrossed Substitute House Bill No. 447, and the bill passed the House by the following vote: Yeas, 51; nays, 46; excused, 1.

Excused: Representative Padden - 1.

Engrossed Substitute House Bill No. 447, having received the constitutional majority, was declared passed. There being no objection, the title of the bill was ordered to stand as the title of the act.

HOUSE BILL NO. 210, by Representatives Rust, Sanders, Unsoeld, Miller, Jacobsen, Valle, Todd, P. King, Pruitt and Brekke

Creating endangered species conservation act.

The bill was read the second time. On motion of Ms. Rust, Second Substitute House Bill No. 210 was substituted for House Bill No. 210, and the second substitute bill was placed on the calendar for second reading.

Second Substitute House Bill No. 210 was read the second time.

Mr. Sutherland moved adoption of the following amendment by Representatives Sutherland and Rust:

On page 6, line 23 after "state:" insert "to enter into management agreements with landowners."

Representatives Sutherland and Rust spoke in favor of the amendment, and it was adopted.

Mr. Sanders moved adoption of the following amendment by Representatives Sanders, Zellinsky, J. Williams, Hargrove, R. King, Sutherland, Miller, Kremen, Padden, Day, Silver and Ferguson:

On page 9, following line 14 insert:

"(5) Nothing in this chapter or any regulations promulgated under it shall apply to privately owned contiguous real property the size of two acres or less or the landowners thereof, with respect to any plant located on such property; however, this chapter or any regulations promulgated under it shall apply to any act committed by a trespasser while on such property."

Representatives Sanders and Rust spoke in favor of the amendment and it was adopted.

Mr. D. Sommers moved adoption of the following amendment by Representatives Sommers, Sanders and Ferguson:

On page 1 strike everything after the enacting clause and insert:

"NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. This chapter shall be known and may be cited as the 'endangered species conservation act of 1987.'

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. The legislature finds and declares that:

(1) The native fauna of the state of Washington is an irreplaceable resource enhancing the quality of life for all of Washington's residents. It is the policy of this state to preserve, protect, and enhance such species of animals and their habitats, to ensure their perpetuation as viable components of their ecosystems for the educational, recreational, aesthetic, spiritual, economic and scientific benefit of the people of this state:

(2) Species of animals within this state that are endangered, threatened, or sensitive shall be accorded such protection as is necessary to maintain and enhance their numbers:

(3) The state shall assist in the protection of endangered or threatened animal species by prohibiting the taking, processing, sale, offer for sale, barter, trade, transportation, exportation from this state, or shipment within this state of such species without required and valid federal and/or state permits; and
NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. As used in this chapter or in the rules of the commission, the following terms have the indicated meaning unless the context clearly requires otherwise:

1. 'Animal' means any native member of the animal kingdom, including any mammal, fish, bird, amphibian, reptile, mollusk, crustacean, arthropod, or other invertebrate, and includes any part, product, egg, or offspring thereof, or the dead body or parts thereof.

2. 'Commercial' means all types of activities, uses, and purposes of an industrial or trade nature including, but not limited to, the buying or selling of commodities and activities conducted for the purpose of such buying or selling and barter and exchange.

3. 'Commission' means the state game commission.

4. 'Conserve', 'conserving', and 'conservation' mean the use of all methods and procedures that are necessary to bring any animal species and its habitat to the point at which the measures provided under this chapter are no longer necessary. Such methods and procedures include, but are not limited to, all activities associated with scientific resource management such as regulation, habitat acquisition, maintenance and restoration, research, census, law enforcement, propagation, and transplantation.

5. 'Endangered species' means any animal species:
   (a) Native to the state of Washington which is in danger of extinction throughout all or a significant portion of its range within the state, other than a pest whose protection would present an overwhelming and overriding risk to humankind; or
   (b) Determined to be an 'endangered species' pursuant to the federal endangered species act.

7. 'Landowner' means the real property owner of habitat lands of species protected under this chapter, and includes the state as trustee of state trust lands.

8. 'Listed species' means any endangered or threatened animal species listed by the commission as protected under this chapter.

9. 'Person' means an individual, corporation, company, association, society, firm, partnership, joint stock company, and any department or instrumentality of the federal government, or of any state or political subdivision thereof, or of any foreign government.

11. 'Sensitive species' means any animal species that is vulnerable or declining, and could become endangered or threatened in the state without active management or removal of threats.

12. 'Species' includes any species, subspecies, or variety of animal native to the state of Washington.

13. 'Take' with respect to animals means an effort to kill, injure, capture, or harass. 'Take' does not include incidental harm resulting from implementation of an authorized land use permit issued in conjunction with section 11 of this act.

14. 'Threatened species' means any animal species:
   (a) Native to the state of Washington that could become an endangered species within the state without active management or removal of threats; or
   (b) Determined to be a 'threatened species' pursuant to the federal endangered species act.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4. (1) In addition to those animal species determined to be endangered or threatened under the federal endangered species act, the commission shall determine, by rule and in accordance with chapter 34.04 RCW, whether any animal species is an endangered, threatened, or sensitive species as a result of any of the following factors:

   (a) The present or threatened destruction, modification, or curtailment of its habitat or range;
   (b) Overuse for commercial, recreational, scientific, educational, or private purpose;
   (c) Disease, predation, or vandalism;
   (d) The inadequacy of existing regulatory mechanisms affecting its continued existence within the state; or
   (e) Other factors, determined by the commission by rule, which affect its continued existence within the state.

(2) The commission shall make the determinations required by this subsection solely on the basis of the best scientific information available, and after consultation, as appropriate, with federal agencies, other state agencies having a common interest in the species, and interested persons and organizations. In determining whether any species is endangered, threatened, or sensitive, the commission shall take into account any actions or proposed actions being performed by the federal government, other state agencies or political subdivisions of the state, or by any other person that may affect the species under consideration.
NEW SECTION. Sec. 5. (1) The commission shall conduct investigations of native species to develop information relating to population, distribution, habitat needs, limiting factors, and other biological and ecological data, and to determine conservation measures and requirements necessary for their survival.

(2) The commission may, at its discretion, withhold from any person information about the distribution, location, or biology of a species if it determines that disclosure of such information may threaten the survival of that or another species.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 6. In order to ensure the protection of sensitive species, the commission shall:

(1) Monitor sensitive animal species to develop information relating to population, distribution, habitat needs, limiting factors, and other biological and ecological data;

(2) Establish programs designed to enhance the voluntary protection of sensitive species; and

(3) Conduct educational programs on the need to protect such sensitive species.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 7. (1) By January 1, 1989, the commission shall issue rules in accordance with chapter 34.04 RCW containing an initial list of all species within the state that it determines, in accordance with sections 4 through 6 of this act, to be endangered, threatened, or sensitive, and shall periodically revise and amend the list. The list shall refer to the species by scientific name, and common name or names, if any.

(2) In accordance with sections 4 through 6 of this act, the commission shall review every five years those species listed as endangered, threatened, or sensitive to determine whether there is any change in the status of any species on the list. Review of species shall, to the maximum extent practicable, be conducted in conjunction with the five-year review process of the United States department of the interior.

(3) Any interested person may petition the commission to add, remove, or change the status of a species on the list, except with respect to those species determined to be endangered or threatened under the federal endangered species act. Such petition shall clearly indicate the action sought, and include scientific information about the biological status of the species and the immediacy of the threat, if any, posed to the species. The commission shall develop, in accordance with chapter 34.04 RCW, the rules and criteria necessary to implement this process.

(4) Notwithstanding sections 4, 5, and 7 of this act, if the commission determines that an emergency situation exists which poses a significant threat to the continued existence of a species, the commission shall add such species to the list of endangered or threatened species by emergency rule. Adoption of such emergency rule shall follow the procedures prescribed in the administrative procedure act, chapter 34.04 RCW.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 8. The commission may, by rule and in accordance with chapter 34.04 RCW, treat any species as an endangered or threatened species even though it is not listed pursuant to section 7 of this act if it find that:

(1) The unlisted species so closely resembles an endangered or threatened species that enforcement personnel would have substantial difficulty differentiating between the listed and unlisted species; and

(2) Allowing collection of the unlisted species could lead to commercial exploitation of the listed species.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 9. In carrying out the purposes and requirements of this chapter, the commission may enter into agreements with federal agencies, Indian tribes, other states, agencies, or political subdivisions of this state, or with individuals or private organizations for the administration and management of any process established under this chapter or utilized for the protection of listed species.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 10. (1) The commission shall protect the habitat of endangered or threatened species and regulate, under the rules issued under subsection (2) of this section, the use of such habitat where necessary for the survival or recovery of a listed species. The commission is authorized, for and on behalf of the state, to acquire land or aquatic habitat, or interests therein by gift, devise, purchase, exchange, lease, transfer or purchase of development rights, or any other method of acquiring real property or any right therein. The commission may acquire the fee simple interest in an area or any one or more lesser estates, interests and rights therein, including a leasehold estate, a covenant, a license, an easement appurtenant or in gross and granting the state specified rights of use or denying the grantor specified rights of use or both, or any other contractual right. Such acquisition shall only occur with the consent of a willing landowner.

(2) The commission may adopt rules pursuant to chapter 34.04 RCW to implement the habitat protection program developed under this section and section 11 of this act. The rules shall provide priorities, guidelines, and programs for compensating landowners where implementation of the rules inhibits the reasonable, traditional economic use of the property. The rules shall also provide incentive programs for habitat protection and shall provide adequate notice to landowners of their options under this section.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 11. (1) All counties, state departments, and agencies, in consultation with the commission, shall:
(a) Utilize their authorities in furtherance of the purposes of this chapter for the protection of endangered or threatened species and their habitats;

(b) Consult with the commission to ensure that any action authorized, funded, or carried out by the county, state department, or agency is not likely to jeopardize the continued existence of any listed species or its habitat; and

(c) Include the information required under this section in the environmental impact analyses required under chapter 43.21C RCW.

The commission shall determine whether the proposed county or agency action could have a significant environmental impact on any listed species or its habitat. To avoid duplication, the commission may adopt an environmental impact analysis prepared under the federal endangered species act if the requirements of this chapter are met. The commission may issue rules pursuant to chapter 34.04 RCW to carry out the provisions and purposes of this section.

(2) Consultation under this section shall be conducted whenever the commission determines that an action of a county or state department or agency may affect a known location of an endangered or threatened species. If the commission finds that the action is likely to jeopardize the survival or recovery of a listed species, the county, state department, or agency proposing the act shall develop, in consultation with the commission, reasonable and prudent alternatives to the proposed project that can be implemented and are consistent with conserving the protected species. The selected alternative shall be implemented unless appealed under this section. If implementation results in a change in land use, the landowner shall also be consulted. The commission shall issue rules pursuant to chapter 34.04 RCW establishing a formal and informal appeals process under this section.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 12. (1) Except as provided in subsections (2), (3), and (4) of this section and by section 13 of this act, it is unlawful for any person to:

(a) Take, possess, process, sell, or offer for sale in this state, interstate, or in foreign commerce, or ship by any means, any endangered or threatened species or products thereof, without required and valid state and/or federal permits and the written permission of the landowner; or

(b) Violate any regulation pertaining to any threatened or endangered species or their habitats.

(2) Nothing in this chapter or any regulations promulgated thereunder, with respect to the importation or exportation of, or the interstate or foreign commerce in, any endangered or threatened species, shall:

(a) Prohibit what is authorized pursuant to an exemption or permit provided for by the federal endangered species act or in any rule implementing that act; or

(b) Permit what is prohibited by the federal endangered species act or any rule promulgated thereunder.

(3) Nothing in this chapter or any rules adopted under it may prohibit entry into, or transportation through, the state of any endangered or threatened species in accordance with the terms of any permit issued under the laws of another state.

(4) The commission may grant waivers to the prohibitions contained in subsection (1) of this section if:

(a) An individual demonstrates that compliance with these provisions creates an unusual and unfair burden; and

(b) A waiver will not significantly increase the danger of extinction for any species.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 13. (1) The commission may permit any act otherwise prohibited under section 12 of this act if such act is conducted for scientific purposes that will enhance the propagation or survival of the listed species. The commission shall develop criteria and permit procedures by rule in accordance with chapter 34.04 RCW.

(2) The commission shall revoke any permit issued under this section if it finds that the permittee is not complying with the terms and conditions of the permit.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 14. Any person who violates the provisions of this chapter or any rules adopted thereunder is guilty of a gross misdemeanor under RCW 9A.20.020. The commission of a prohibited act with respect to each animal shall constitute a separate violation. Each subsequent violation within a five-year period shall be prosecuted and punished as a class C felony under RCW 9A.20.020.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 15. (1) Any person may commence a civil suit on the person's own behalf:

(a) To enjoin any state agency which is alleged to be in violation of any provision of this chapter or any rule adopted under it;

(b) To compel the commission to apply the prohibitions set forth in section 12(1) of this act with respect to the taking of an endangered or threatened species within the state; or

(c) Against the commission where there is an alleged failure of the commission to perform any act or duty that is not discretionary under this chapter.

(2) No action may be commenced under this section prior to ten days after the commission has received written notice of any alleged violation or alleged failure to enforce the provisions of this chapter or any rule adopted thereunder.
NEW SECTION. Sec. 16. The commission or any state or local law enforcement agency, including any natural resource police officer, sheriff, state, county, or municipal police officer, shall have the authority to enforce this chapter and any rule adopted under it. Such enforcement officer may confiscate animals or parts thereof when unlawfully taken, transported, possessed, sold, or otherwise handled in violation of this chapter.

"NEW SECTION. Sec. 20. This chapter may be known and cited as the city and county seed capital pool act."

NEW SECTION. Sec. 21. The legislature finds that the diversification of the state's economy and the creation of new employment opportunities will be enhanced by the development of locally responsive and accountable sources of capital for new enterprises and for new product development. The difference between state economies which provide adequate high-quality employment opportunities for citizens and those which do not is in part a function of the rate of creation of new enterprises and of their ability to sustain themselves. The availability of capital to finance new business enterprises and new product development is a critical factor in increasing the number of successful new enterprises created in the state and thus the ability of the state economy to create employment opportunities. The state has a history of promoting economic health and growth through the creation of development entities which are created locally and which are accountable to local citizens. The state finds it a public purpose to authorize the creation of local seed capital pools by city and county governments, financed by citizen contributions, which may provide capital to new enterprises and which may finance new product development in counties in the state.
NEW SECTION. Sec. 22. As used in this chapter, the following terms have the meanings indicated unless the context clearly requires otherwise.

(1) "Eligible enterprise" means a small business that is primarily located and operated in the city or county and that is or proposes to be engaged in the city or county in research and development, in commercial product development, or in manufacturing, technology, or the production of goods and services with high potential for expansion and trade outside the state's borders.

(2) "Qualified security" means any note, stock, treasury stock bond, debenture, evidence of indebtedness, certificate of interest or participation in any profit-sharing agreement, preorganization certificate or subscription, transferable share, investment contract, certificate of deposit for a security, certificate of interest or participation in a patent or application therefor, or in royalty or other payments under such a patent or application, or, in general, any interest or instrument commonly known as a 'security' or any certificate for, receipt for, guarantee of, or option, warrant, or right to subscribe to or purchase any of the foregoing.

(3) "Seed capital" means financing that is provided for the initial development, refinement, testing, marketing, and commercialization of a product, service, or process to an enterprise with a high potential for long-term commercial sales and that is provided before any substantial commercial sales have been made by the enterprise of the product or service being developed.

(4) "Small business" means any business that has fewer than fifty full-time employees or its equivalent.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 23. A city or county may create a local seed capital pool to operate in the city or county and to provide funds in the form of loans or equity participation to finance new enterprises or to assist in the development of new products in the marketplace. The local seed capital pool shall be governed by a board of directors consisting of seven members appointed by the legislative authority of the city or county. Members of the board of directors shall be citizens of the city or county with expertise in small business, new business development, and business finance and shall include members of the general public. The legislative authorities of two or more contiguous counties may, pursuant to chapter 39.34 RCW, combine to form a multicounty seed capital pool. If a local seed capital pool is created by both a county and a city within the county, only one pool shall operate and it shall be by interlocal agreement pursuant to chapter 39.34 RCW.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 24. A local seed capital pool shall provide funds by purchasing qualified securities of eligible enterprises. A local seed capital pool may not acquire more than forty-five percent of the stated capital of any eligible enterprise, and no seed capital funds may be used for real estate investments.

The legislative authority of the city or county shall provide, by ordinance or resolution, procedures for the determination of which enterprises qualify as eligible and may grant any powers to the board of directors as may be necessary for it to carry out its duties.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 25. Upon request of the legislative authority of a city or county in which a seed capital pool has been created and the board of directors of the local seed capital pool, each utility providing water distribution services and each utility providing sewerage collection services in the city or county shall include in its billings to a utility consumer printed materials which provide the consumer the opportunity to indicate his or her assent to donate a monthly sum of no less than one dollar to finance the local seed capital pool. The materials shall allow the local utility consumer the opportunity to denote the amount of funds to be donated each month to the local seed capital pool. A utility may charge the local seed capital pool a fee of no more than three percent of the funds collected to defray the utility's costs in collecting and processing donations to local seed capital pools.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 26. Sections 20 through 25 of this act shall constitute a new chapter in Title 36 RCW."

POINT OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Ms. Brough: Mr. Speaker and fellow colleagues, I rise on a point of personal privilege basically for two reasons: One is to give notice and the other is to ask for your consideration, basically as peers. You will recall that almost two weeks ago I placed on the bar an amendment to the Rules of the House. It was an amendment addressing the concerns I had, and a number of you also had, concerning the use of the pocket veto. I'm serving notice at this time that I would like to consider formally the rule change on Wednesday and appeal to you not to lock up as a procedural motion, but to discuss the problem that we all agree that we have---

The Speaker (Mr. O'Brien presiding): Representative Brough, I think now that you are going beyond your point of personal privilege. As I understood it, you were just going to serve notice, but when you ask us not to lock up, that's when you are going a little bit too far.
MOTION

On motion of Mr. Crane, the House adjourned until 10:00 a.m., Wednesday, March 25, 1987.

JOSEPH E. KING, Speaker

(3) (No local government shall adopt resolutions, ordinances, rules or regulations concerned with the control of noise which shall be effective prior to adoption of maximum noise levels and the rules adopted by the department pursuant to this chapter or January 31, 1975, whichever occurs sooner. private property without charge or on public property.

Nothing in this section may derogate from the powers of police officers under the common law. For the purposes of this section, a place of safety may include the business location of a registered tow truck operator.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 11. A new section is added to chapter 46.55 RCW to read as follows:
The Washington state patrol, under its authority to remove vehicles from the highway, may remove the vehicles directly, through towing operators appointed by the state commission on equipment and called on a rotational or other basis, through contracts with towing operators, or by a combination of these methods. When removal is to be accomplished through a towing operator on a noncontractual basis, the commission may appoint any towing operator for this purpose upon the application of the operator. Each appointment shall be contingent upon the submission of an application to the commission and the making of subsequent reports in such form and frequency and compliance with such standards of equipment, performance, pricing, and practices as may be required by rule of the commission.

An appointment may be rescinded by the commission at the request of the Washington state patrol upon evidence that the appointed towing operator is not complying with the laws or rules relating to the removal and storage of vehicles from the highway.

Rules adopted under this section are binding only upon those towing operators appointed by the commission for the purpose of performing towing services at the request of the Washington state patrol. Any person aggrieved by a decision of the commission made under this section may appeal the decision under chapter 34.04 RCW.

Sec. 12. Section 12, chapter 377, Laws of 1985 and RCW 46.55.120 are each amended to read as follows:

owner((c)) who produces proof of ownership or written authorization and signs a receipt therefor, may redeem an impounded vehicle.

(b) The vehicle shall be released upon the presentation to any person having custody of the vehicle of commercially reasonable tender sufficient to cover the costs of towing, storage, or other services rendered during the course of towing, removing, impounding, or storing any such (motor) vehicle. Commercially reasonable tender shall include, without limitation, cash, major bank credit cards, or personal checks drawn on in-state banks if accompanied by two pieces of valid identification, one of which may be required by the operator to have a photo-

The ((towing company)) registered tow truck operator shall maintain a record evidenced by the redeeming person’s signature that such notification was provided.

(b) Any person seeking to redeem an impounded vehicle under this section has a right to a hearing in the district court for the jurisdiction in which the vehicle was impounded to contest the validity of the impoundment or the amount of towing and storage charges. The district court has jurisdiction to determine the issues involving all impoundments including those authorized by the state or its agents. Any request for a hearing shall be made in writing on the form provided for that purpose and must be received by the district court within ten days of the date the opportunity was provided for in subsection (2)(a) of this section. If the hearing request is not received by the district court within the ten-day period, the right to a hearing is waived and the registered owner is liable for any towing, storage, or other impoundment charges permitted under this chapter. Upon receipt of a timely hearing request, the district court shall proceed to hear and determine the validity of the impoundment.

(3)(a) The district court, within five days after the request for a hearing, shall notify the registered tow truck operator, the person requesting the hearing if not the owner, and the registered and legal owners of the ((motor)) vehicle and the person or agency authorizing the impound in writing of the hearing date and time.

(b) At the hearing, the person or persons requesting the hearing may produce any relevant evidence to show that the impoundment, towing, or storage fees charged were not proper.

(c) At the conclusion of the hearing, the district court shall determine whether the impoundment was proper, whether the towing or storage fees charged were in compliance with the posted rates, and who is responsible for payment of the ((charges)) fees.

(d) If the impoundment is found proper, the impoundment, towing, and storage fees as permitted under this chapter together with court costs shall be assessed against the person or persons requesting the hearing, unless the operator did not have a signed and valid impoundment authorization from a private property owner or an authorized agent.

(e) If the impoundment is determined to be invalid, then the registered and legal owners of the vehicle shall bear no impoundment, towing, or storage ((costs)) fees, and any bond or other security shall be returned or discharged as appropriate, and the person or agency who authorized the impoundment shall be liable for any towing, storage, or other impoundment ((charges)) fees permitted under this chapter.

(4) Any impounded abandoned vehicle not redeemed within fifteen days of mailing of the notice of custody and sale as required by RCW 46.55.110(2) shall be sold at public auction in accordance with all the provisions and subject to all the conditions of RCW 46.55.130. A vehicle may be redeemed at any time before the start of the auction upon payment of towing and storage ((costs)) fees.

Sec. 13. Section 13. chapter 377, Laws of 1985 and RCW 46.55.130 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) If, after the expiration of fifteen days from the date of mailing of notice of custody and sale required in RCW 46.55.110(2) to the registered and legal owners, the vehicle ((or-hulk)) remains unclaimed and has not been listed as a stolen vehicle, then the registered ((disposer)) tow truck operator having custody of the vehicle ((or-hulk)) shall conduct a sale of the vehicle at public auction after having first published a notice of the date, place, and time of the auction in a newspaper of general circulation in the county in which the vehicle is located not less than three days before the date of the auction. The ((advertisement)) notice shall contain a description of the vehicle including the make, model, year, and license number and a notification that the three-hour public viewing period will be available before the auction. The auction shall be held during daylight hours of a normal business day.

(2) The following procedures are required in any public auction of such abandoned vehicles:

Written bids may be submitted up to five days before the auction and shall clearly state which vehicle is being bid upon, the amount of the bid, and who is submitting the bid;

(c) The open bid process, including all written bids, shall be used so that everyone knows the dollar value that must be exceeded;

(d) The highest two bids received shall be recorded in written form;

(e) In case the high bidder defaults, the next bidder has the right to purchase the vehicle for the amount of his or her bid:
(x) The registered tow truck operator shall post a copy of the auction procedure at the bidding site. If the bidding site is different from the licensed office location, the operator shall post a clearly visible sign at the office location that describes in detail where the auction will be held. At the bidding site a copy of the newspaper advertisement that lists the vehicles for sale shall be posted;

(g) All surplus moneys derived from the auction after satisfaction of the registered tow truck operator's lien shall be remitted within thirty days to the department for deposit in the state motor vehicle fund. A report identifying the vehicles resulting in any surplus shall accompany the remitted funds. If the director subsequently receives a valid claim from the registered owner vehicle owner of record within one year from the date of the auction, the surplus moneys shall be remitted to (the registered) such owner;

(h) If an operator receives no bid, or if the operator is the successful bidder at auction, the operator shall, within thirty days sell the ((unclaimed abandoned)) vehicle to a licensed vehicle wrecker, hulk hauler, or scrap processor by use of the abandoned vehicle report- affidavit of sale, or the operator shall apply for title to the vehicle.

(3) (a) In no case may the accumulation of storage charges exceed fifteen days from the date of receipt of the information by the operator from the department as provided by RCW 46.55.110(2).

(b) The failure of the registered (((disposee)) tow truck operator to comply with the time limits provided in this chapter limits the accumulation of storage charges to five days except where delay is unavoidable. Providing incorrect or incomplete identifying information to the department in the abandoned vehicle report shall be considered a failure to comply with these time limits if correct information is available.

Sec. 14. Section 14, chapter 377, Laws of 1985 and RCW 46.55.140 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) A registered tow truck operator who has a valid and signed impoundment authorization has a lien upon the impounded vehicle for services provided in the towing and storage of the vehicle, unless the impoundment is determined to have been invalid. (However:) The lien does not apply to personal property in or upon the vehicle that is not permanently attached to or is not an integral part of the vehicle. The registered tow truck operator also has a deficiency claim against the (((test))) registered owner of the vehicle for services provided in the towing and storage of the vehicle not to exceed the sum of three hundred dollars less the amount bid at auction, and for vehicles of over ten thousand pounds gross vehicle weight, the operator has a deficiency claim of one thousand dollars less the amount bid at auction, unless the impoundment is determined to be invalid. A registered owner who has completed and filed with the department the seller's report as provided for by RCW 46.12.101 is relieved of liability under this section.

The person making the certification shall record the make and vehicle identification number or license number of the vehicle if available, and shall also describe in detail the damage or missing equipment to verify that the value of the junk vehicle is equivalent only to the value of the scrap in it.

If an application for a license to conduct business as a registered tow truck operator is filed by any person whose license has previously been canceled for cause by the department, or if the department is of the opinion that the application is not filed in good faith or that the application is filed by some person as a subterfuge for the real person in interest whose license has previously been canceled for cause, the department, after a hearing, of which the applicant has been given twenty days' notice in writing and at which the applicant may appear in person or by counsel and present testimony, may refuse to issue such a person a license to conduct business as a registered tow truck operator.

Whenever it appears to the director that any registered tow truck operator or a person offering towing services has engaged in or is about to engage in any act or practice constituting a violation of any provision of this chapter or any rule adopted hereunder, the director may issue an order directing the operator or person to cease and desist from continuing the act or practice. Reasonable notice of and opportunity for a hearing shall be given. The director may issue a temporary order pending a hearing. The temporary order shall remain in effect until ten days after the hearing is held and shall become final if the person to whom notice is addressed does not request a hearing within fifteen days after the receipt of notice.

Sec. 17. Section 21, chapter 377, Laws of 1985 and RCW 46.55.210 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) Notwithstanding any other provision of law, any law enforcement officer having jurisdiction or any person authorized by the director may inspect and certify that a vehicle meets the requirements of a junk vehicle. The person making the certification shall record the make and vehicle identification number or license number of the vehicle if available, and shall also describe in detail the damage or missing equipment to verify that the value of the junk vehicle is equivalent only to the value of the scrap in it.

(2) The law enforcement officer or department representative shall provide information on the vehicle's registered and legal owner to the landowner.

(3) Upon receiving information on the vehicle's registered and legal owner, the landowner shall obtain a junk vehicle notification form from the department. The landowner shall send by certified mail, notification to the registered and legal owners shown on the records of the department. The notification shall describe the redemption procedure and the right to contest the sale of a junk vehicle in a district court hearing.

(4) If the vehicle remains unclaimed more than fifteen days after the landowner has mailed notification to the registered and legal owner, the landowner may sign an affidavit of sale to be used as a title document.

If a violation of any provision of this chapter or any rule adopted hereunder is determined by the director to be a violation by means of a promissory note in lieu of immediate payment, the director may issue an order directing the operator or person to cease and desist from continuing the act or practice. Reasonable notice of and opportunity for a hearing shall be given. The director may issue a temporary order pending a hearing. The temporary order shall remain in effect until ten days after the hearing is held and shall become final if the person to whom notice is addressed does not request a hearing within fifteen days after the receipt of notice.

Sec. 18. Section 22, chapter 377, Laws of 1985 and RCW 46.55.220 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) Notwithstanding any other provision of law, any law enforcement officer having jurisdiction or any person authorized by the director may inspect and certify that a vehicle meets the requirements of a junk vehicle. The person making the certification shall record the make and vehicle identification number or license number of the vehicle if available, and shall also describe in detail the damage or missing equipment to verify that the value of the junk vehicle is equivalent only to the value of the scrap in it.

(2) The law enforcement officer or department representative shall provide information on the vehicle's registered and legal owner to the landowner.

(3) Upon receiving information on the vehicle's registered and legal owner, the landowner shall obtain a junk vehicle notification form from the department. The landowner shall send by certified mail, notification to the registered and legal owners shown on the records of the department. The notification shall describe the redemption procedure and the right to contest the sale of a junk vehicle in a district court hearing.

(4) If the vehicle remains unclaimed more than fifteen days after the landowner has mailed notification to the registered and legal owner, the landowner may sign an affidavit of sale to be used as a title document.

(5) If no information on the vehicle's registered and legal owner is found in the records of the department, the landowner shall place a legal notice of custody and sale in a newspaper of general circulation in the county. The newspaper notice shall include (a) the description of the vehicle; (b) the address of the location of the junk vehicle; (c) the date by which the registered or legal owner must redeem the vehicle; and (d) a telephone number where the landowner can be reached. If the vehicle remains unclaimed more than twenty days after publication of the notice, the landowner may sign an affidavit of sale to be used as a title document.

(6) The landowner of the property upon which the junk vehicle is located is entitled to recover from the vehicle's registered owner any costs incurred in the removal of the junk vehicle.

(7) For the purposes of this section, the term 'landowner' includes a legal owner of private property, a person with possession or control of private property, or a public official having jurisdiction over public property.

Sec. 19. Section 23, chapter 377, Laws of 1985 and RCW 46.55.230 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) A city, town, or county that adopts an ordinance or resolution concerning unauthorized, abandoned, or impounded vehicles shall include the applicable provisions of this chapter.

(a) A city, town, or county may, by ordinance, authorize other impound situations that may arise locally upon the public right-of-way or other publicly owned or controlled property.

(b) A city, town, or county may, by ordinance, provide for release of an impounded vehicle by means of a promissory note in lieu of immediate payment, if at the time of redemption the legal or registered owner requests a hearing on the validity of the impoundment. If the municipal ordinance directs the release of an impounded vehicle before the payment of the impoundment charges, the municipality is responsible for the payment of those charges to the registered tow truck operator within thirty days of the hearing date.

(c) The hearing specified in RCW 46.55.120(2) and in this section may be conducted by an administrative hearings officer instead of in the district court. A decision made by an administrative hearings officer may be appealed to the district court for final judgment.

(2) A city, town, or county may adopt an ordinance establishing procedures for the abatement and removal as public nuisances of unauthorized junk (motor) vehicles or parts thereof from private property. Costs of removal may be assessed against the (first) registered owner of the vehicle (or automobile hulk) if the identity of the owner can be determined, unless the owner in the transfer of ownership of the vehicle (or automobile hulk) has complied with RCW 46.12.101, or the costs may be assessed against the owner of the property on which the vehicle is stored.

(3) Ordinances pertaining to public nuisances shall contain:
(a) A provision requiring notice to the last registered owner of record and the property owner of record that a hearing may be requested and that if no hearing is requested, the vehicle (or automobile hulk) will be removed;
(b) A provision requiring that if a request for a hearing is received, a notice giving the time, location, and date of the hearing on the question of abatement and removal of the vehicle or part thereof as a public nuisance shall be mailed, by certified mail, with a five-day return receipt requested, to the owner of the land as shown on the last equalized assessment roll and to the last registered and legal owner of record unless the vehicle is in such condition that identification numbers are not available to determine ownership;
(c) A provision that the ordinance shall not apply to (i) a vehicle or part thereof that is completely enclosed within a building in a lawful manner where it is not visible from the street or other public or private property or (ii) a vehicle or part thereof that is stored or parked in a lawful manner on private property in connection with the business of a licensed dismantler or licensed vehicle dealer and is fenced according to RCW 46.80.130;

(d) A provision that the owner of the land on which the vehicle is located may appear in person at the hearing or present a written statement in time for consideration at the hearing, and deny responsibility for the presence of the vehicle on the land, with his reasons for the denial. If it is determined at the hearing that the vehicle was placed on the land without the consent of the landowner and that he has not subsequently acquiesced in its presence, then the local agency shall not assess costs of administration or removal of the vehicle against the property upon which the vehicle is located or otherwise attempt to collect the cost from the owner;

(e) A provision that after notice has been given of the intent of the city, town, or county to dispose of the vehicle and after a hearing, if requested, has been held, the vehicle or part thereof shall be removed at the request of a law enforcement officer with notice to the Washington state patrol and the department of licensing that the vehicle has been wrecked. The city, town, or county may operate such a disposal site when its governing body determines that commercial channels of disposition are not available or are inadequate, and it may make final disposition of such vehicles or parts, or may transfer such vehicle or parts to another governmental body provided such disposal shall be only as scrap.

(4) A registered disposer under contract to a city or county for the impounding of vehicles shall comply with any administrative regulations adopted by the city or county on the handling and disposing of vehicles.

ESSB 5180 Prime Sponsor, Committee on Governmental Operations: Raising the maximum dollar amount that may be spent for state purchases without competitive bidding. Reported by Committee on State Government

MAJORITY recommendation: Do pass with the following amendments:

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

"Sec. 1. Section 43.19.1906, chapter 8, Laws of 1965 as last amended by section 1, chapter 342, Laws of 1985 and RCW 43.19.1906 are each amended to read as follows:

Insofar as practicable, all purchases and sales shall be based on competitive bids, and a formal sealed bid procedure shall be used as standard procedure for all purchases and contracts for purchases and sales executed by the state purchasing and material control director and under the powers granted by RCW 43.19.190 through 43.19.1939, as now or hereafter amended. This requirement also applies to purchases and contracts for purchases and sales executed by agencies, including educational institutions, under delegated authority granted in accordance with provisions of RCW 43.19.190 as now or hereafter amended. However, formal sealed bidding is not necessary for:

(1) Emergency purchases made pursuant to RCW 43.19.200 if the sealed bidding procedure would prevent or hinder the emergency from being met appropriately;

(2) Purchases not exceeding ((twenty-five hundred dollars or purchases not exceeding)) five thousand dollars ((when the purchases are made by colleges and universities and are limited to the acquisition of equipment and materials to be used for research purposes)), or subsequent limits as calculated by the office of financial management; PROVIDED, That the state director of general administration shall establish procedures to assure that purchases made by or on behalf of the various state agencies shall not be made so as to avoid the ((twenty-five hundred dollars or the)) five thousand dollar bid limitation, or subsequent bid limitations as calculated by the office of financial management; PROVIDED FURTHER, That the state purchasing and material control director is authorized to reduce the formal sealed bid limits of ((twenty-five hundred dollars and)) five thousand dollars, or subsequent limits as calculated by the office of financial management) to a lower dollar amount for purchases by individual state agencies, including purchases of specialized equipment, instructional, and research equipment and materials by colleges and universities, if considered necessary to maintain full disclosure of competitive procurement or otherwise to achieve overall state efficiency and economy in purchasing and material control. Quotations from four hundred dollars to ((twenty-five hundred dollars or) five thousand dollars, ((whichever is applicable,)) or subsequent limits as calculated by the office of financial management, shall be secured from enough vendors to assure establishment of a competitive price and may be obtained by telephone or written quotations, or both. Immediately after the award is made, the bid quotations obtained shall be recorded and open to public inspection and shall be available by telephone inquiry. A record of competition for all such purchases from four hundred dollars to ((twenty-five hundred dollars or)) five thousand dollars, ((whichever is applicable,)) or subsequent limits as calculated by the office of financial management, shall be documented for audit purposes on a standard state form approved by the forms management center under the provisions of RCW 43.19.510. Purchases up to four hundred dollars may be made without competitive bids based on buyer experience and knowledge of the market in achieving maximum quality at minimum cost: PROVIDED that this four hundred dollar direct buy limit without competitive bids may be increased incrementally as required to a maximum of eight hundred dollars with the approval of at least ten of the members of the state supply management advisory board, if warranted by increases in purchasing costs due to inflationary trends;

(3) Purchases which are clearly and legitimately limited to a single source of supply and purchases involving special facilities, services, or market conditions, in which instances the purchase price may be best established by direct negotiation;

(4) Purchases of insurance and bonds by the risk management office under RCW 43.19.1935 as now or hereafter amended;

(5) Purchases and contracts for vocational rehabilitation clients of the department of social and health services: PROVIDED, That this exemption is effective only when the state purchasing and material control director, after consultation with the director of the division of vocational rehabilitation and appropriate department of social and health services procurement personnel, declares that such purchases may be best executed through direct negotiation with one or more suppliers in order to expeditiously meet the special needs of the state's vocational rehabilitation clients: ((and))

(6) Purchases by universities for hospital operation or biomedical teaching or research purposes made by participating in contracts for materials, supplies, and equipment entered into by cooperative hospital service organizations as defined in section 501(e) of the Internal Revenue Code, or its successor; and

(7) Beginning on July 1, 1989, and on July 1 of each succeeding odd-numbered year, the five thousand dollar limit specified in subsection (2) of this section shall be adjusted as follows: The office of financial management shall calculate such limit by adjusting the previous biennium's limit by the appropriate federal inflationary index reflecting the rate of inflation for the previous biennium. Such amounts shall be rounded to the nearest one hundred dollars."

Prime Sponsor, Senator Hansen: Creating the grain indemnity fund. Reported by Committee on Agriculture & Rural Development

MAJORITY recommendation: Do pass with the following amendment:

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

"Sec. 1. Section 6, chapter 124, Laws of 1963 as last amended by section 24, chapter 305, Laws of 1983 and RCW 22.09.060 are each amended to read as follows:

Except as provided in section 7(2) of this 1987 act, no warehouse or grain dealer license may be issued to an applicant before a bond (or) certificate of deposit, or other security is given to the department as provided in RCW 22.09.090, or in section 3 of this 1987 act. No warehouse license may be issued to an applicant before a certificate of insurance as provided in RCW 22.09.110 has been filed with the department.

Sec. 2. Section 9, chapter 124, Laws of 1963 as last amended by section 27, chapter 305, Laws of 1983 and RCW 22.09.090 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) (Before any person is granted) An applicant for a warehouse or grain dealer license pursuant to the provisions of this chapter (the person) shall give a bond to the state of Washington executed by the applicant as the principal and by a corporate surety licensed to do business in this state as surety.

(2) The bond required under this section for the issuance of a warehouse license shall be in the sum of not less than fifty thousand dollars nor more than seven hundred fifty thousand dollars. The department shall, after holding a public hearing, determine the amount that will be required for the warehouse bond which shall be computed at a rate of not less than fifteen cents nor more than thirty cents per bushel multiplied by the number of bushels of licensed commodity storage capacity of the warehouses of the applicant furnishing the bond. The applicant for a warehouse license may give a single bond meeting the requirements of this chapter, and all warehouses operated by the warehouseman are deemed to be one warehouse for the purpose of the amount of the bond required under this subsection. Any change in the capacity of a warehouse or addition of any new warehouse involving a change in bond liability under this chapter shall be immediately reported to the department.

(3) The bond required under this section for the issuance of a grain dealer license shall be in the sum of not less than fifty thousand dollars nor more than seven hundred fifty thousand dollars. The department shall, after holding a public hearing, determine the amount that will be required for the dealer bond which shall be computed at a rate not less than six percent nor more than twelve percent of the sales of agricultural commodities purchased by the dealer from producers during the dealer's last completed fiscal year or in the case of a grain dealer who has been engaged in business as a grain dealer less than one year, the estimated aggregate dollar amount to be paid by the dealer to producers for agricultural commodities to be purchased by the dealer during the dealer's first fiscal year.

(4) An applicant making application for both a warehouse license and a grain dealer license may satisfy the bonding requirements set forth in subsections (2) and (3) of this section by giving to the state of Washington a single bond for the issuance of both licenses, which bond shall be in the sum of not less than fifty thousand dollars nor more than seven hundred fifty thousand dollars. The department shall, after holding a public hearing, determine the amount of the bond which shall be computed at a rate of not less than fifteen cents nor more than thirty cents per bushel multiplied by the number of bushels of licensed commodity storage capacity of the warehouses of the applicant furnishing the bond, or at the rate of not less than six percent nor more than twelve percent of the gross sales of agricultural commodities of the applicant whichever is greater.

(5) The bonds required under this (section) chapter shall be approved by the department and shall be conditioned upon the faithful performance by the licensee of the duties imposed upon him by this chapter. If a person has applied for warehouse licenses to operate two or more warehouses in this state, the assets applicable to all warehouses, but not the deposits..."
except in case of a station, are subject to the liabilities of each. The total and aggregate liability of the surety for all claims upon the bond (or) is limited to the face amount (specified in) of the bond.

(6) Any person required to submit a bond to the department under this chapter has the option to give the department a certificate of deposit or other security acceptable to the department payable to the director as trustee in lieu of a bond or a portion thereof. The principal amount of the certificate or other security shall be the same as that required for a surety bond under this chapter or may be in an amount which, when added to the (applicant's) bond, will satisfy the licensee's requirements for a surety bond under this chapter, and the interest thereon shall be made payable to the purchaser of the certificate or other security. The certificate of deposit or other security shall remain on deposit until it is released, canceled, or discharged as provided for by rule of the department. The provisions of this chapter that apply to a bond required under this chapter apply to each certificate of deposit or other security given in lieu of such a bond.

(7) The department may, when it has reason to believe that a grain dealer does not have the ability to pay producers for grain purchased, or when it determines that the grain dealer does not have a sufficient net worth to outstanding financial obligations ratio, or when it believes there may be claims made against the bond in excess of the face amount of the bond, require a grain dealer to post an additional bond in a dollar amount deemed appropriate by the department or may require an additional certificate of deposit or other security. The additional bonding or other security may exceed the maximum amount of the bond otherwise required under this (section) chapter. Failure to post the additional bond (or), certificate of deposit, or other security has been obtained.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. (1) Two or more applicants for a warehouseman or grain dealer license may provide a single bond to the state of Washington, executed by a corporate surety licensed to do business in this state and designating each of the applicants as a principal on said bond.

(2) The department shall promulgate rules establishing the amount of the bond required under this section. In no event shall that amount be less than ten percent of the aggregate amount of each of the bonds that would be required of the applicants under RCW 22.09.090 or less than the amount that would be required under RCW 22.09.090 for the applicant having the highest bond requirement under that section.

Sec. 4. Section 10, chapter 124, Laws of 1963 as amended by section 28, chapter 305. Laws of 1983 and RCW 22.09.100 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) Every bond filed with and approved by the department shall without the necessity of periodic renewal remain in force and effect until such time as the warehouseman(s) or grain dealer license of each principal on the bond is revoked (for cause) or otherwise canceled.

(2) The surety on a bond, as provided in this chapter, shall be released and discharged from all liability to the state (accruing on the bond after), as to a principal whose license is revoked or canceled, which liability accrues after the expiration of thirty days from the effective date (a warehouseman's license is revoked for cause or otherwise terminated after the expiration of ninety days from the date upon which the surety lodged with the department a written request to be released and discharged, but this provision shall not) of the revocation or cancellation of the license. The surety on a bond under this chapter shall be released and discharged from all liability to the state accruing on the bond after the expiration of ninety days from the date upon which the surety lodges with the department a written request to be released and discharged. Nothing in this section shall operate to relieve, release, or discharge the surety from any liability (already accrued or that has accrued), which accrues before the expiration of the respective thirty or ninety-day period. In the event of a cancellation by the surety, the surety shall simultaneously send the notification of cancellation in writing to any other governmental agency requesting it. Upon receiving any such request, the department shall promptly notify the principal or principals who furnished the bond, and unless the principal or principals file(s) a new bond on or before the expiration of the respective thirty or ninety-day period, the department shall forthwith cancel the (principal's) license of the principal or principals whose bond has been canceled.

Sec. 5. Section 29, chapter 7, Laws of 1975 1st ex. sess. as amended by section 56, chapter 305. Laws of 1983 and RCW 22.09.570 are each amended to read as follows:

The director may bring action upon the bond of a warehouseman or grain dealer against both principal against whom a claim has been made and the surety in any court of competent jurisdiction to recover the damages caused by any failure to comply with the provisions of this chapter or the rules adopted hereunder. Recovery for damages against a warehouseman or grain dealer on a bond furnished under section 3 of this 1987 act shall be limited to the bond amount that would be required for that warehouseman or grain dealer under RCW 22.09.090.

Sec. 6. Section 33, chapter 7, Laws of 1975 1st ex. sess. as amended by section 60, chapter 305, Laws of 1983 and RCW 22.09.610 are each amended to read as follows:

Upon the refusal of the surety company to pay the demand, the director may thereupon bring an action on the warehouseman's or grain dealer's bond in behalf of the depositor creditors. Upon any action being commenced on the bond, the director may require the filing of a new bond, and immediately upon the recovery in any action on the bond, the new bond shall be filed. The failure to file the new bond or otherwise satisfy the security requirements of this chapter within ten days in either case constitutes grounds for the suspension or revocation of the (warehouseman's or grain dealer's) license of any principal on the bond.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 7. (1) The provisions of this section and sections 9 through 20 of this act constitute the grain indemnity fund program. Sections 9 through 20 of this act shall take effect on a date specified by the director but within ninety days after receipt by the director of a petition seeking implementation of the grain indemnity fund program provided for in this chapter and a determination by the director, following a public hearing on said petition, that a grain indemnity fund program is in the interest of the agricultural industry of this state. The petition shall be signed by licensees of at least thirty-three percent of the grain warehouses and thirty-three percent of the grain dealers. At least sixty days in advance, the director shall notify each licensed warehouse and grain dealer of the effective date of the grain indemnity fund program provisions.

(2) The grain indemnity fund program, if activated by the director, shall be in lieu of the bonding and security provisions of RCW 22.09.090 and section 3 of this act.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 8. (1) There is hereby established a fund to be known as the grain indemnity fund. The grain indemnity fund shall consist of assessments remitted by licensees pursuant to the provisions of sections 9 through 11 of this act and any interest or earnings on the fund balance.

(2) All assessments shall be paid to the department and shall be deposited in the grain indemnity fund. The state treasurer shall be the custodian of the grain indemnity fund. Disbursements shall be on authorization of the director. No appropriation is required for disbursements from this fund.

(3) The grain indemnity fund shall be used exclusively for purposes of paying claimants pursuant to this chapter, and paying necessary expenses of administering the grain indemnity fund, provided however, that one-half of the interest accumulated by the fund may be paid to the department to defray costs of administering the warehouse audit program. The state of Washington shall not be liable for any claims presented against the fund.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 9. (1) Every licensed warehouse and grain dealer and every applicant for any such license shall pay assessments to the department for deposit in the grain indemnity fund according to the provisions of sections 7 through 20 of this act and rules promulgated by the department to implement this chapter.

(2) The rate of the assessments shall be established by rule, provided however, that no single assessment against a licensed warehouse or grain dealer or applicant for any such license shall exceed five percent of the bond amount that would otherwise have been required of such grain dealer, warehouseman, or license applicant under RCW 22.09.090.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 10. (1) The department shall establish the initial assessment within sixty days of the activation of the grain indemnity fund program pursuant to section 7 of this act. Immediately upon promulgation of the rule, the department shall issue notice to each licensed warehouse and grain dealer of the assessment owed. The initial assessment and assessments issued thereafter shall be paid within thirty days of the date posted on the assessment notice.

(2) The surety bond or other security posted by a licensed warehouse or grain dealer in effect immediately preceding the effective date of the grain indemnity fund program, shall remain in full force and effect and shall not be released until thirty days after the initial assessment is paid. A certificate of deposit or other security in effect immediately preceding the effective date of the grain indemnity fund program shall remain on deposit until the initial assessment is paid and until such certificate of deposit or other security is released by the department following a prompt determination that no outstanding claims are pending against the security.

(3) Each new applicant for a warehouse or grain dealer license shall pay the assessment imposed pursuant to section 9 of this act at the time of application. No license to operate as a grain dealer or grain warehouse or both shall be issued until such assessment is paid.

Notwithstanding the provisions of section 9(2) of this act, new applicants shall pay annual assessments into the grain indemnity fund for an equivalent number of years as those participating at the inception of the grain indemnity fund program and who continue to participate in the grain indemnity fund program.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 11. The assessments imposed pursuant to section 9 of this act shall be imposed annually, under rules promulgated by the department, until such time as the grain indemnity fund balance, less any outstanding claims, reaches three million dollars. For any year in which the grain indemnity fund balance, less any outstanding claims, exceeds three million dollars on the annual assessment date, no assessment shall be imposed by the department, except as provided in section 10(3) or 12 of this act.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 12. The department may, when it has reason to believe that a licensee does not have the ability to pay producers for grain purchased, or when it determines that the licensee does not have a sufficient net worth to outstanding financial obligations ratio, require from the licensee the payment of an additional assessment or, at the department’s option, the posting of a bond or other additional security in an amount to be prescribed by rule. The additional assessment or other security may exceed the maximum amount set forth in section 9 of this act. Failure of the licensee to timely pay the additional assessment or post the additional bond or other security constitutes grounds for suspension or revocation of a license issued under this chapter.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 13. (1) There is hereby created a grain indemnity fund advisory committee consisting of six members to be appointed by the director. The director shall make appointments to the committee no later than seven days following the date this section becomes effective pursuant to section 7 of this act. Of the initial appointments, three shall be for two-year terms and three shall be for three-year terms. Thereafter, appointments shall be for three-year terms, each term ending on the same day of the same month as did the term preceding it. Any member appointed to fill a vacancy occurring prior to the expiration of the term for which the member’s predecessor was appointed shall hold office for the remainder of the predecessor’s term.

(2) The committee shall be composed of two producers primarily engaged in the production of agricultural commodities, two licensed grain dealers, and two licensed grain warehousemen.

(3) The committee shall meet at such places and times as it shall determine and as often as necessary to discharge the duties imposed upon it. Each committee member shall be compensated in accordance with RCW 43.03.240 and shall be reimbursed for travel and subsistence expense under RCW 43.03.050 and 43.03.060. The expenses of the committee and its operation shall be paid from the grain indemnity fund.

(4) The committee shall have the power and duty to advise the director concerning assessments, administration of the grain indemnity fund, and payment of claims from the fund.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 14. In the event a grain dealer or warehouseman fails, as defined in RCW 22.09.011(21), or otherwise fails to comply with the provisions of this chapter or rules promulgated hereunder, the department shall process the claims of depositors producing written evidence of ownership disclosing a storage obligation or written evidence of a sale of commodities for damages caused by the failure, in the following manner:

(1) The department shall give notice and provide a reasonable time, not to exceed thirty days, to depositors possessing written evidence of ownership disclosing a storage obligation or written evidence of sale of commodities to file their written verified claims with the department.

(2) The department may investigate each claim and determine whether the claimant’s commodities are under a storage obligation or whether a sale of commodities has occurred. The department shall notify each claimant, the grain warehouseman or grain dealer, and the committee of the department’s determination as to the validity and amount of each claimant’s claim. A claimant, warehouseman, or grain dealer may request a hearing on the department’s determination within twenty days of receipt of written notification and a hearing shall be held by the department pursuant to chapter 34.04 RCW. Upon determining the amount and validity of the claim, the director shall pay the claim from the grain indemnity fund.

(3) The department may inspect and audit a failed warehouseman, as defined by RCW 22.09.011(21) to determine whether the warehouseman has in his possession, sufficient quantities of commodities to cover his storage obligations. In the event of a shortage, the department shall determine each depositor’s pro rata share of available commodities and the deficiency shall be considered as a claim of the depositor. Each type of commodity shall be treated separately for the purpose of determining shortages.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 15. If a depositor or creditor, after notification, refuses or neglects to file in the office of the director his verified claim against a warehouseman or grain dealer as requested by the director within thirty days from the date of the request, the director shall thereupon be relieved of responsibility for taking action with respect to such claim later asserted and no such claim shall be paid from the grain indemnity fund.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 16. Subject to the provisions of sections 17 and 18 of this act and to a maximum payment of seven hundred fifty thousand dollars on all claims against a single licensee, approved claims against a licensed warehouseman or licensed grain dealer shall be paid from the grain indemnity fund in the following amounts:

(1) Approved claims against a licensed warehouseman shall be paid in full:

(2) Approved claims against a licensed grain dealer for payments due within thirty days of transfer of title shall be paid in full for the first twenty-five thousand dollars of the claim. The amount of such a claim in excess of twenty-five thousand dollars shall be paid to the extent of eighty percent;
Approved claims against a licensed grain dealer for payments due between thirty and ninety days of transfer of title shall be paid to the extent of eighty percent;

Approved claims against a licensed grain dealer for payments due after ninety days of transfer of title shall be paid to the extent of seventy-five percent;

In the event that approved claims against a single licensee exceed seven hundred fifty thousand dollars, recovery on those claims shall be prorated.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 17. In addition to the payment limitations imposed by section 16 of this act, payment of any claim approved before the grain indemnity fund first reaches a balance of one million two hundred fifty thousand dollars shall be limited to the following amounts:

(1) For claims against a licensed grain warehouse, payment shall not exceed the lesser of seven hundred fifty thousand dollars or an amount equal to the licensee's total bushels of licensed storage space multiplied by the rate of eighteen cents.

(2) For claims against a licensed grain dealer, payment shall not exceed the lesser of seven hundred fifty thousand dollars or an amount equal to six percent of the gross purchases of the licensee during the licensee's immediately preceding fiscal year.

(3) The unpaid balance of any claim subject to this section shall be paid when the grain indemnity fund first reaches a balance of one million two hundred fifty thousand dollars, provided that the total paid on the claim shall not exceed the limits specified in section 16 of this act.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 18. The requirement that the state of Washington pay claims under this chapter only exists so long as the grain indemnity fund contains sufficient money to pay the claims. Under no circumstances whatsoever may any funds (other than assessment amounts and other money obtained under this chapter) be used to pay claims. In the event that the amount in the grain indemnity fund is insufficient to pay all approved claims in the amount provided for under section 16 or 17 of this act, the claims shall be paid in the order in which they were filed with the department, until such time as sufficient moneys are available in the grain indemnity fund to pay all of the claims.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 19. Amounts paid from the grain indemnity fund in satisfaction of any approved claim shall constitute a debt and obligation of the grain dealer or warehouseman against whom the claim was made. On behalf of the grain indemnity fund, the director may bring suit, file a claim, or intervene in any legal proceeding to recover from the grain dealer or warehouseman the amount of the payment made from the grain indemnity fund, together with costs and attorneys' fees incurred. In instances where the superior court is the appropriate forum for a recovery action, the director may elect to institute the action in the superior court of Thurston county.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 20. The department may deny, suspend, or revoke the license of any grain dealer or warehouseman who fails to timely pay assessments to the grain indemnity fund or against whom a claim has been made, approved, and paid from the grain indemnity fund. Proceedings for the denial, suspension, or revocation shall be subject to the provisions of chapter 34.04 RCW.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 21. Sections 3 and 7 through 20 of this act are each added to chapter 22.09 RCW.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 22. If any provision of this act or its application to any person or circumstance is held invalid, the remainder of the act or the application of the provision to other persons or circumstances is not affected.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 23. This act is necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health, and safety, the support of the state government and its existing public institutions, and shall take effect immediately.

Sec. 13. Section 20, chapter 193, Laws of 1957 as last amended by section 2, chapter 6.

Laws of 1984 and RCW 48.30.260 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) Every debtor or borrower, when property insurance of any kind is required in connection with the debt or loan, shall have reasonable opportunity and choice in the selection of the agent, broker, and insurer through whom such insurance is to be placed; but only if the insurance is properly provided for the protection of the creditor or lender not later than at commencement of risk as to such property as respects such creditor or lender, and in the case of renewal of insurance, only if the renewal policy, or a proper binder therefor containing a brief description of the coverage bound and the identity of the insurer in which the coverage is bound, is delivered to the creditor or lender not later than thirty days prior to the renewal date.

(2) Every person who lends money or extends credit and who solicits insurance on real and personal property must explain to the borrower in prominently displayed writing that the insurance related to such loan or credit extension may be purchased from an insurer or agent of the borrower's choice, subject only to the lender's right to reject a given insurer or agent as provided in subsection (3)(b) of this section.

(3) No person who lends money or extends credit may:

(a) Solicit insurance for the protection of (real estate) property, after a person indicates interest in securing a (real estate) loan or credit extension, until such person has received a commitment from the lender as to a loan or credit extension.

(b) Unreasonably reject a contract of insurance furnished by the borrower for the protection of the property securing the credit or lien. A rejection shall not be deemed unreasonable if it is based on reasonable standards, uniformly applied, relating to the extent of coverage required and the financial soundness and the services of an insurer. Such standards shall not discriminate against any particular type of insurer, nor shall such standards call for rejection of an insurance contract because the contract contains coverage in addition to that required in the credit transaction:

(c) Require that any borrower, mortgagor, purchaser, insurer, broker, or agent pay a separate charge, in connection with the handling of any contract of insurance required as security for a loan ((on real estate)), or pay a separate charge to substitute the insurance policy of one insurer for that of another. This subsection does not include the interest which may be charged on premium loans or premium advancements in accordance with the terms of the loan or credit document:

(d) Use or disclose, without the prior written consent of the borrower, mortgagor, or purchaser taken at a time other than the making of the loan or extension of credit, information relative to a contract of insurance which is required by the credit transaction, for the purpose of replacing such insurance;

(e) Require any procedures or conditions of duly licensed agents, brokers, or insurers not customarily required of those agents, brokers, or insurers affiliated or in any way connected with the person who lends money or extends credit; or

(f) Require property insurance in an amount in excess of the amount which could reasonably be expected to be paid under the policy, or combination of policies, in the event of a loss.

(4) Nothing contained in this section shall prevent a person who lends money or extends credit from placing Insurance on real or personal property in the event the mortgagor, borrower, or purchaser has failed to provide required insurance in accordance with the terms of the loan or credit document.

(5) Nothing contained in this section shall apply to credit life or credit disability Insurance.

MAJORITY recommendation: Do pass with the following amendments:

2) A substantial amount of illness and injury in the workforce is preventable because it results from lifestyle decisions;

3) Illness and injury among state employees can be reduced if employees engage in healthier lifestyles.

The state, as an employer, desires to foster a working environment that promotes the health and well-being of its employees. Therefore, it is the purpose of this act to establish a state employee wellness program. 'Wellness program' means those policies, procedures, and activities that promote the health and well-being of state employees and that contribute to a healthful work environment.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. A new section is added to chapter 41.04 RCW to read as follows:

1) The director of the department of personnel, in consultation with applicable state agencies and employee organizations, may develop and administer a voluntary state employee wellness program.

b) Disseminate wellness educational materials to state agencies and employees;

c) Encourage the establishment of wellness activities in state agencies;

d) Provide technical assistance and training to agencies conducting wellness activities for their employees;

Subject to the above limitations, the amount shall be charged against the allotments pro rata, at a rate to be fixed by the director from time to time which, together with income derived from services rendered under RCW 41.06.080, will provide the department with funds to meet its anticipated expenditures during the allotment period.

The director of personnel shall fix the terms and charges for services rendered by the department of personnel pursuant to RCW 41.06.080, which amounts shall be credited to the department of personnel service fund and charged against the proper fund or appropriation of the recipient of such services on a quarterly basis. E2SSB 5441  Prime Sponsor, Committee on Ways & Means: Authorizing establishment of local reemployment centers. Reported by Committee on Commerce & Labor

MAJORITY recommendation: Do pass with the following amendments:

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. The legislature finds and declares that:

(1) The number of unemployment compensation claimants in the state who have exhausted their benefits has more than doubled in the past seven years;

(2) Many of the unemployed have emotional, medical, and financial problems as a direct result of their unemployment;

(3) Many communities in this state have inadequate and poorly coordinated resources and programs to assist the unemployed in coping with their problems that are associated with unemployment; and

(4) The lack of coordinated and effective services for the unemployed seriously hampers their ability to conduct an effective work search and may have the effect of prolonging their unemployment.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. It is the intent of the legislature to assist in the creation of pilot local reemployment centers which would increase the capacity of local communities to aid their unemployed. The pilot centers are intended to supplement but not supplant the efforts of the local job centers of the employment security department. The legislature intends that the reemployment centers established by this chapter shall give first priority to those unemployed persons who have been unemployed a minimum of fifteen weeks.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. (1) The department of community development shall issue requests for proposals to nonprofit agencies or to local government agencies to serve as the local reemployment centers under this chapter. The requests for proposals shall authorize the selected agencies to receive funds pursuant to this chapter for a two-year period.

(2) The department shall issue requests for proposals for three centers. One center shall be located in Eastern Washington, one center shall be located in King county, and one center shall be located in Western Washington outside King county.

(3) The department shall establish standards to govern the selection of the reemployment centers. At a minimum, each local reemployment center shall raise matching funds in an amount equal to the state grant.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4. The local reemployment centers shall provide direct or referral services to the unemployed. Referral services shall be provided where appropriate programs are reasonably available to the unemployed to avoid duplication of these services by the centers.

The referrals shall be made to agencies which provide any of the following services:

(1) Reemployment assistance;

(2) Medical services;

(3) Social services including marital counseling;

(4) Psychotherapy;

(5) Mortgage foreclosure and utilities problems counseling;

(6) Drug and alcohol abuse services;

(7) Credit counseling; and
(8) Other services as deemed appropriate.

The local reemployment centers shall demonstrate the utilization of the services of volunteers to maximize the effectiveness of the centers' programs, and outreach efforts to encourage the unemployed to seek assistance.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 5. The employment security department and the department of social and health services shall each locate one or more workers on a full or part-time basis at each local reemployment center in an effort to increase the effectiveness of the local reemployment centers.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 6. The department of community development shall require each local center which receives funds under this chapter to submit semiannual reports to the department which document the effectiveness of the center's activities.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 7. The referrals and services provided by the centers shall be confidential. Reporting and recordkeeping necessary to file the required reports with the department of community development shall be conducted in a manner which will maintain the confidentiality of the client-provider relationship.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 8. Each local reemployment center designated by the department pursuant to this chapter shall receive ninety thousand dollars per year for a two-year period.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 9. (1) In one or more of the local reemployment centers established under section 3 of this act, the employment security department shall implement a reemployment bonus demonstration project to provide reemployment incentives for qualified unemployment compensation claimants if federal or private funding is available. The reemployment bonus demonstration project shall provide for the payment of lump sum amounts to qualified unemployment compensation claimants who return to work within the time limits established by the department and who retain employment for a four-month period. For the purposes of this subsection, a qualified unemployment compensation claimant is one who accepts the employment security department's invitation to participate in the reemployment bonus demonstration project and who subsequently fulfills the enrollment requirements established by the department for participation in the project.

(2) The employment security department shall submit a report to the governor and to the commerce and labor committees of the house of representatives and the senate prior to the start of the 1989 legislative session, assessing the effectiveness of the reemployment bonus demonstration project.

(1) The following are exempt from public inspection and copying:
(a) Personal information in any files maintained for students in public schools, patients or clients of public institutions or public health agencies, welfare recipients, prisoners, probationers, or parolees.
(b) Personal information in files maintained for employees, appointees, or elected officials of any public agency to the extent that disclosure would violate their right to privacy.
(c) Information required of any taxpayer in connection with the assessment or collection of any tax if the disclosure of the information to other persons would be prohibited to such persons by RCW 82.32.330 or violate the taxpayer's right to privacy or result in unfair competitive disadvantage to the taxpayer.
(d) Specific intelligence information and specific investigative records compiled by investigative, law enforcement, and penology agencies, and state agencies vested with the responsibility to discipline members of any profession, the nondisclosure of which is essential to effective law enforcement or for the protection of any person's right to privacy.
(e) Information revealing the identity of persons who file complaints with investigative, law enforcement, or penology agencies, other than the public disclosure commission, if disclosure would endanger any person's life, physical safety, or property: PROVIDED, That if at the time the complaint is filed the complainant indicates a desire for disclosure or nondisclosure, such desire shall govern: PROVIDED, FURTHER, That all complaints filed with the public disclosure commission about any elected official or candidate for public office must be made in writing and signed by the complainant under oath.
(f) Test questions, scoring keys, and other examination data used to administer a license, employment, or academic examination.
(g) Except as provided by chapter 8.26 RCW, the contents of real estate appraisals, made for or by any agency relative to the acquisition or sale of property, until the project or prospective sale is abandoned or until such time as all of the property has been acquired or the property to which the sale appraisal relates is sold, but in no event shall disclosure be denied for more than three years after the appraisal.
(h) Valuable formulae, designs, drawings, and research data obtained by any agency within five years of the request for disclosure when disclosure would produce private gain and public loss.
(i) Preliminary drafts, notes, recommendations, and intra-agency memorandums in which opinions are expressed or policies formulated or recommended except that a specific record shall not be exempt when publicly cited by an agency in connection with any agency action.

(j) Records which are relevant to a controversy to which an agency is a party but which records would not be available to another party under the rules of pretrial discovery for causes pending in the superior courts.

(k) Records, maps, or other information identifying the location of archaeological sites in order to avoid the looting or depredation of such sites.

(l) Any library record, the primary purpose of which is to maintain control of library materials, or to gain access to information, which discloses or could be used to disclose the identity of a library user.

(m) Financial information supplied by or on behalf of a person, firm, or corporation for the purpose of qualifying to submit a bid or proposal for (a) a ferry system construction or repair contract as required by RCW 47.60.680 through 47.60.750 or (b) highway construction or improvement as required by RCW 47.28.070.

(2) Except for information described in subsection (l)(c)(i) of this section and confidential income data exempted from public inspection pursuant to RCW 84.40.020, the exemptions of this section are inapplicable to the extent that information, the disclosure of which would violate personal privacy or vital governmental interests, can be deleted from the specific records sought. No exemption may be construed to permit the nondisclosure of statistical information not descriptive of any readily identifiable person or persons.

(3) Inspection or copying of any specific records exempt under the provisions of this section may be permitted if the superior court in the county in which the record is maintained finds, after a hearing with notice thereof to every person in interest and the agency, that the exemption of such records is clearly unnecessary to protect any individual's right of privacy or any vital governmental function.

(4) Agency responses refusing, in whole or in part, inspection of any public record shall include a statement of the specific exemption authorizing the withholding of the record (or part) and a brief explanation of how the exemption applies to the record withheld.

MAJORITY recommendation: Do pass with the following amendments:

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

"Sec. 1. Section 1, chapter 21, laws of 1979 ex. sess. and RCW 64.04.130 are each amended to read as follows:

A development right, easement, covenant, restriction, or other right, or any interest less than the fee simple, to protect, preserve, maintain, improve, restore, limit the future use of, or conserve for open space purposes, any land or improvement on the land, whether the right or interest be appurtenant or in gross, may be held or acquired by any state agency, federal agency, county, city, town, or metropolitan municipal corporation, nonprofit historic preservation corporation, or nonprofit nature conservancy corporation. Any such right or interest shall constitute and be classified as real property. All instruments for the conveyance thereof shall be substantially in the form required by law for the conveyance of any land or other real property.

As used in this section, 'nonprofit nature conservancy corporation' means an organization which qualifies as being tax exempt under 26 U.S.C. section 501(c)(3) of the United States Internal Revenue Code of 1954, as amended as it existed on June 25, 1976, and which has as one of its principal purposes the conducting or facilitating of scientific research; the conserving of natural resources, including but not limited to biological resources, for the general public; or the conserving of natural areas including but not limited to wildlife or plant habitat.

As used in this section, 'nonprofit historic preservation corporation' means an organization which qualifies as being tax exempt under 26 U.S.C. section 501(c)(3) of the United States Internal Revenue Code of 1954, as amended, and which has as one of its principal purposes the conducting or facilitating of historic preservation activities within the state, including conservation or preservation of historic sites, districts, buildings, and artifacts.

Sec. 2. Section 2, chapter 243, Laws of 1971 ex. sess. as amended by section 1, chapter 22, Laws of 1975–76 2nd ex. sess. and RCW 84.34.210 are each amended to read as follows:

Any county, city, town, metropolitan municipal corporation, nonprofit historic preservation corporation as defined in RCW 64.04.130, or nonprofit nature conservancy corporation or association, as such are defined in RCW 84.34.250, may acquire by purchase, gift, grant, bequest, devise, lease, or otherwise, except by eminent domain, the fee simple or any lesser interest, development right, easement, covenant, or other contractual right necessary to protect, preserve, maintain, improve, restore, limit the future use of, or otherwise conserve, selected open space land, farm and agricultural land, and timber land as such are defined in chapter 84.34 RCW for public use or enjoyment. Among interests that may be so acquired are mineral rights. Any county, city, town, metropolitan municipal corporation, nonprofit historic preservation corporation as defined in RCW 64.04.130, or nonprofit nature conservancy corporation or association, as such are defined in RCW 84.34.250, may acquire such property for the purpose of conveying or leasing the property back to its original owner or other person under such covenants or other contractual arrangements as will limit the future use of the property in accordance with the purposes of this 1971 amendatory act.

Sec. 3. Section 3, chapter 243, Laws of 1971 ex. sess. as amended by section 2, chapter 22, Laws of 1975–76 2nd ex. sess. and RCW 84.34.220 are each amended to read as follows:

In accordance with the authority granted in RCW 84.34.210, a county, city, town, metropolitan municipal corporation, nonprofit historic preservation corporation as defined in RCW 64.04.130, or nonprofit nature conservancy corporation or association, as such are defined in RCW 84.34.250, may acquire by purchase or otherwise acquire, except by eminent domain, rights in perpetuity to future development of any open space land, farm and agricultural land, and timber land which are so designated under the provisions of chapter 84.34 RCW and taxed at current use assessment as provided by that chapter. For the purposes of this 1971 amendatory act, such developmental rights shall be termed 'conservation futures'. The private owner may retain the right to continue any existing open space use of the land, and to develop any other open space use, but, under the terms of purchase of conservation futures, the county, city, town, metropolitan municipal corporation, nonprofit historic preservation corporation as defined in RCW 64.04.130, or nonprofit nature conservancy corporation or association, as such are defined in RCW 84.34.250, may forbid or restrict building thereon, or may require that improvements cannot be made without county, city, town, metropolitan municipal corporation, nonprofit historic preservation corporation as defined in RCW 64.04.130, or nonprofit nature conservancy corporation or association, as such are defined in RCW 84.34.250, permission. The land may be alienated or sold and used as formerly by the new owner, subject to the terms of the agreement made by the county, city, town, metropolitan municipal corporation, nonprofit historic preservation corporation as defined in RCW 64.04.130, or nonprofit nature conservancy corporation or association, as such are defined in RCW 84.34.250, with the original owner.

(1) Within seven days of an agency hearing held after notification of the agency by the rules review committee pursuant to RCW 34.04.220 or 34.04.230, the affected agency shall notify the committee of its action on a proposed or existing rule to which the committee objected or on a failure to adopt rules. If the rules review committee determines, by a majority vote of its members, that the agency has failed to provide for the required hearings or notice of its action to the committee, the committee may file notice of its objections, together with a concise statement of the reasons therefor, with the code reviser within thirty days of such determination.

(2) If the rules review committee finds, by a majority vote of its members, that the proposed or existing rule in question or the failure to adopt a rule has not been modified, amended, withdrawn, or repealed by the agency so as to conform with the intent of the legislature, the rules review committee may, within thirty days from notification by the agency of its action, file with the code reviser notice of its objections together with a concise statement of the reasons therefor. Such notice and statement shall also be provided to the agency by the rules review committee.

(3) If the rules review committee makes an adverse finding under subsection (2) of this section, the committee may, by a two-thirds vote of its members, recommend suspension of an existing rule. Within seven days of such vote the committee shall transmit to the governor, the code reviser, and the agency written notice of its objection and recommended suspension and the concise reasons therefor. Within thirty days of receipt of the notice, the governor shall transmit to the committee, the code reviser, and the agency written approval or disapproval of the recommended suspension. If the suspension is approved by the governor, it is effective from the date of that approval and continues until ninety days after the expiration of the next legislative session.

(4) The code reviser shall publish transmittals from the rules review committee('s notice of objection and statement of the reasons therefor) or the governor issued pursuant to subsection (1) ((or), (2), or (3)) of this section in the Washington state register and shall publish in the next supplement and compilation of the Washington Administrative Code a reference to the committee's objection or recommended suspension and the governor's action on it and to the issue of the Washington state register in which the full text thereof appears.

SSB 5632 Prime Sponsor, Committee on Ways & Means: Establishing the learning assistance program. Reported by Committee on Education

MAJORITY recommendation: Do pass with the following amendments:

"NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. The legislature finds that an important and effective means of improving the educational performance of many students with special needs is to improve the general education program. The legislature also finds that there is a continuum of educational program needs among students with learning problems or poor academic performance. The legislature wants to encourage school districts to serve students with special needs within the regular classroom. Therefore, the legislature intends to replace the remediation program with a broader range of program options, without reducing special instructional programs when those services are both necessary and appropriate. The legislature intends to enhance the ability of basic education teachers to identify and address learning problems within the regular classroom. The legislature further intends to stimulate development by local school districts of innovative and effective means of serving students with special needs. The goal is to increase the achievement of students with special needs in a shorter period of time using processes that are more timely, appropriate and effective in producing better outcomes.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. There is hereby created a state-wide program designed to enhance educational opportunities for public school students who are deficient in basic skills achievement. This program shall be known as the learning assistance program.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. Unless the context clearly indicates otherwise the definitions in this section apply throughout sections 1 through 11 of this act.

(1) 'Basic skills' means reading, mathematics, and language arts as well as readiness activities associated with such skills.

(2) 'Placement testing' means the administration of objective measures by a school district for the purposes of diagnosing the basic skills achievement levels, determining the basic skills areas of greatest need, and establishing the learning assistance needs of individual students in conformance with instructions established by the superintendent of public instruction for such purposes.

(3) 'Approved program' means a program conducted pursuant to a plan submitted by a district and approved by the superintendent of public instruction under section 4 of this act.

(4) 'Participating student’ means a student in kindergarten through grade nine who scores below grade level in basic skills, as determined by placement testing, and who is identified under section 5 of this act to receive additional services or support under an approved program.

(5) 'Basic skills tests' means state-wide tests at the fourth and eighth grade levels established pursuant to RCW 28A.03.360.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4. Each school district which applies for state funds distributed pursuant to section 7 of this act shall conduct a needs assessment and, on the basis of its findings, shall develop a plan for the use of these funds. Districts are encouraged to place special emphasis on addressing the needs of students in the early grades. The needs assessment and plan shall be updated at least biennially, and shall be determined in consultation with an advisory committee including but not limited to members of the following groups: Parents, including parents of students served by the program; teachers; principals; administrators; and school directors. The district shall submit a biennial application specifying this plan to the office of the superintendent of public instruction for approval. Plans shall include:

(1) The means which the district will use to identify participating students to receive additional services or support under the proposed program;

(2) The specific services or activities which the funds will be used to support, and their estimated costs;

(3) A plan for annual evaluation of the program by the district, based on performance objectives related to basic skills achievement of participating students, and a plan for reporting the results of this evaluation to the superintendent of public instruction;

(4) Procedures for recordkeeping or other program documentation as may be required by the superintendent of public instruction; and

(5) The approval of the local school district board of directors.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 5. Identification of participating students for an approved program of learning assistance shall be determined in each district through the implementation of the findings of the district's needs assessment and through placement testing. School districts are encouraged to coordinate the use of funds from federal, state, and local sources in serving students who are below grade level in basic skills, and to make efficient use of these resources in meeting the needs of students with the greatest academic deficits.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 6. Services or activities which may be supported under an approved program of learning assistance shall include but not be limited to:

1. Consultant teachers to assist classroom teachers in meeting the needs of participating students;
2. Instructional support staff to assist classroom teachers in meeting the needs of participating students;
3. In-service training for classroom teachers in the identification of learning problems or in instructional methods for teaching students with learning problems;
4. Special instructional programs for participating students, of sufficient size, scope, and quality to address the needs of these students and to give reasonable promise of substantial progress towards meeting their educational objectives.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 7. Each school district which has established an approved program shall be eligible, as determined by the superintendent of public instruction, for state funds made available for the purposes of such programs. The superintendent of public instruction shall make use of data derived from the basic skills tests in determining the amount of funds for which a district may be eligible. Funds shall be distributed according to the district’s total full-time equivalent enrollment in kindergarten through grade nine and the percentage of the district’s students taking the basic skills tests who scored in the lowest quartile as compared with national norms. In making this calculation, the superintendent of public instruction may use an average over the immediately preceding five or fewer years of the district’s percentage scoring in the lowest quartile. The superintendent of public instruction shall also deduct the number of students at these age levels who are identified as specific learning disabled and are generating state funds for special education programs conducted pursuant to chapter 28A.13 RCW, in distributing state funds for learning assistance. The distribution formula in this section is for allocation purposes only.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 8. In order to insure that school districts are meeting the requirements of an approved program, the superintendent of public instruction shall monitor such programs no less than once every three years. The results of the evaluations required by section 4 of this act shall be transmitted to the superintendent of public instruction annually. Individual student records shall be maintained at the school district.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 9. The superintendent of public instruction shall promulgate rules pursuant to chapter 34.04 RCW which he or she deems necessary to implement sections 1 through 8 of this act.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 10. The following acts or parts of acts are each repealed:

1. Section 1, chapter 149, Laws of 1979 and RCW 28A.41.400;
2. Section 2, chapter 149, Laws of 1979 and RCW 28A.41.402;

NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. Unless the context clearly requires otherwise, the definitions in this section apply throughout sections 1 through 6 of this act.

(1) 'Applicant' means either:

(a) Any prospective employee who will or may have unsupervised access to children under sixteen years of age or developmentally disabled persons during the course of his or her employment or involvement with the business or organization. However, for school districts and educational service districts, prospective employee includes only noncertificated personnel; or

(b) Any prospective volunteer who will have regularly scheduled unsupervised access to children under sixteen years of age or developmentally disabled persons during the course of his or her employment or involvement with the business or organization under circumstances where such access will or may involve groups of (I) five or fewer children under twelve years of age, (II) three or fewer children between twelve and sixteen years of age, or (III) developmentally disabled persons.

(2) 'Business or organization' means a business or organization licensed in this state, any agency of the state, or other governmental entity, that educates, trains, treats, supervises, or provides recreation to developmentally disabled persons or children under sixteen years of age, including school districts and educational service districts.

(3) 'Civil adjudication' means a specific court finding of sexual abuse or exploitation or physical abuse in a dependency action under RCW 13.34.030(2)(b) or in a domestic relations action under Title 26 RCW. It does not include administrative proceedings. The term 'civil adjudication' is further limited to court findings that identify as the perpetrator of the abuse a named individual, over the age of eighteen years, who was a party to the dependency or dissolution proceeding in which the finding was made.

(4) 'Conviction record' means criminal history record information as defined in RCW 10.97-0.030 relating to a crime against persons committed by either an adult or a juvenile. It does not include a conviction for an offense that has been the subject of an expungement, pardon, annulment, certificate of rehabilitation, or other equivalent procedure based on a finding of the rehabilitation of the person convicted, or a conviction that has been the subject of a pardon, annulment, or other equivalent procedure based on a finding of innocence. It does include convictions for offenses for which the defendant received a deferred or suspended sentence, unless the record has been expunged according to law.

(5) 'Disciplinary board final decision' means any final decision issued by the disciplinary board or the director of the department of licensing for the following business or professions:

(b) Any relative or guardian of any of the children or developmentally disabled persons to which the applicant has access during the course of his or her employment or involvement with the business or organization.
NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. (1) The legislature finds that businesses and organizations providing services to children or developmentally disabled persons need adequate information to determine which employees or licensees to hire or engage. Therefore, the Washington state patrol criminal identification system may disclose, upon the request of a business or organization as defined in section 1 of this act, a prospective employee's record for convictions of offenses against persons, adjudications of child abuse in a civil action, and disciplinary board final decisions. When necessary, applicants may be employed on a conditional basis pending completion of such a background investigation.

(2) The legislature also finds that the state board of education may request of the Washington state patrol criminal identification system information regarding a certificate applicant's record for convictions under subsection (1) of this section.

(3) The legislature also finds that law enforcement agencies, the office of the attorney general, prosecuting authorities, and the department of social and health services may request this same information to aid in the investigation and prosecution of child and adult abuse cases and to protect children and adults from further incidents of abuse.

(4) The legislature further finds that the department of social and health services, when considering persons for state positions directly responsible for the care, supervision, or treatment of children or the developmentally disabled or when licensing or authorizing such persons or agencies pursuant to its authority under chapter 74.15 RCW, must consider the information listed in subsection (1) of this section. However, when necessary, persons may be employed on a conditional basis pending completion of the background investigation. The state personnel board shall adopt rules to accomplish the purposes of this subsection as it applies to state employees.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. (1) A business or organization shall not make an inquiry to the Washington state patrol under section 2 of this act or an equivalent inquiry to a federal law enforcement agency unless the business or organization has notified the applicant who has been offered a position as an employee or volunteer that an inquiry may be made.

(2) A business or organization shall require each applicant to disclose to the business or organization whether the applicant has been:
   (a) Convicted of any crime against persons;
   (b) Found in any dependency action under RCW 13.34.030(2)(b) to have sexually assaulted or exploited any minor or to have physically abused any minor;
   (c) Found by a court in a domestic relations proceeding under Title 26 RCW to have sexually abused or exploited any minor or to have physically abused any minor; or
   (d) Found in any disciplinary board final decision to have sexually abused or exploited any minor or to have physically abused any minor.

The disclosure shall be made in writing and signed by the applicant and sworn under penalty of perjury. The disclosure sheet shall specify all crimes against persons as defined in section 1 of this act.

(3) The business or organization shall pay such reasonable fee for the records check as the state patrol may require under section 5 of this act.

(4) The business or organization shall notify the applicant of the state patrol's response within ten days after receipt by the business or organization. The employer shall provide a copy of the response to the applicant and shall notify the applicant of such availability.

(5) The business or organization shall use this record only in making the initial employment or engagement decision. Further dissemination or use of the record is prohibited. A business or organization violating this subsection is subject to a civil action for damages.

(6) An insurance company shall not require a business or organization to request background information on any employee before issuing a policy of insurance.

(7) The business and organization shall be immune from civil liability for failure to request background information on a prospective employee or volunteer unless the failure to do so constitutes gross negligence.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4. An individual may contact the state patrol to ascertain whether that individual has a civil adjudication, disciplinary board final decision, or conviction record. The state patrol shall disclose such information, subject to the fee established under section 5 of this act.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 5. (1) After January 1, 1988, and notwithstanding any provision of RCW 43.43.700 through 43.43.810 to the contrary, the state patrol shall furnish a transcript of the conviction record, disciplinary board final decision, or conviction adjudication record pertaining to any person for whom the state patrol or the federal bureau of investigation has a record upon the written request of:
   (a) The subject of the inquiry;
   (b) Any business or organization for the purpose of conducting evaluations under section 2 of this act;
   (c) The department of social and health services;
   (d) Any law enforcement agency, prosecuting authority, or the office of the attorney general; or
(e) The department of social and health services for the purpose of meeting responsibilities set forth in chapter 74.15 RCW. However, access to conviction records pursuant to this subsection (1)(e) does not limit or restrict the ability of the department to obtain additional information regarding conviction records and pending charges as set forth in RCW 74.15.030(2)(b).

After processing the request, if the conviction record, disciplinary board final decision, or adjudication record shows no evidence of a crime against persons, an identification declaring the showing of no evidence shall be issued to the applicant by the state patrol and shall be issued within fourteen days of the request. Possession of such identification shall satisfy future background check requirements for the applicant.

(2) The state patrol shall by rule establish fees for disseminating records under this section to recipients identified in subsection (1)(a) and (b) of this section. The state patrol shall also by rule establish fees for disseminating records in the custody of the national crime information center. The fees shall cover, as nearly as practicable, the direct and indirect costs to the state patrol of disseminating the records: PROVIDED. That no fee shall be charged to a nonprofit organization, including school districts and educational service districts, for the records check.

(4) 'Community supervision' means a period of time during which a convicted offender is subject to crime-related prohibitions and other sentence conditions imposed pursuant to this chapter by a court. For first-time offenders, the supervision may include crime-related prohibitions and other conditions imposed pursuant to RCW 9.94A.120(5).

(5) 'Confinement' means total or partial confinement as defined in this section.

(6) 'Conviction' means an adjudication of guilt pursuant to Titles 10 or 13 RCW and includes a verdict of guilty, a finding of guilty, and acceptance of a plea of guilty.

(7) 'Crime-related prohibition' means an order of a court prohibiting conduct that directly relates to the circumstances of the crime for which the offender has been convicted, and shall not be construed to mean orders directing an offender affirmatively to participate in rehabilitative programs or to otherwise perform affirmative conduct.

Prime Sponsor, Committee on Parks & Ecology: Reestablishing the winter recreation commission. Reported by Committee on Trade & Economic Development
NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. The legislature recognizes that:

1. Interest in outdoor recreation has been steadily increasing, and that the facilities that now exist are inadequate to meet the growing demands of the people of Washington and the out-of-state tourist trade;

2. The state is becoming a popular winter recreation area and has not fully developed its winter tourism industry adequately to respond to the increasing demand, as has been successfully done in the mountain states, Idaho, and British Columbia;

3. The state of Washington presently has a flourishing winter recreation industry which adds more than twenty-five thousand new skiers each year. Far greater potential exists for year-round resort development which should include an emphasis on all winter recreation activities. Expansion of the winter recreation industry will attract tourist trade from other states and countries and will have a substantial positive impact on both the state and national economies; and

4. The economic well-being of the state will be improved upon the introduction of new industry to provide employment, income to the state, and revenue for government.

The legislature recognizes the need to identify areas appropriate for recreational development on state lands or on federal lands which can be exchanged for state lands under state and federal laws.

Therefore, the legislature hereby establishes the Washington state winter recreation commission which shall be composed as follows: Two members of the senate appointed by the president of the senate, including one member from each caucus; two members of the house of representatives appointed by the speaker of the house of representatives, including one member from each caucus; one representative to be appointed by the governor from each of the following state departments: The parks and recreation commission, department of trade and economic development, and department of natural resources; two representatives of industry appointed by the governor; two representatives of the environmental community appointed by the governor; one representative of cities appointed by the governor; and one representative of counties appointed by the governor. The commission shall choose one of its legislative members as chair.

Commission members and legislative staff shall be reimbursed for travel expenses under RCW 43.03.050 and 43.03.060. Members of the legislature serving on the commission shall be reimbursed for travel expenses under RCW 44.04.120.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. The Washington state winter recreation commission shall:

1. Study and identify potential sites for new winter recreation development, with consideration of the availability and suitability of the land, local interests, environmental impact, and established roads and transportation access.

2. Facilitate trades of land for existing or new winter recreation areas with the federal government, the United States Department of Agriculture, the United States Forest Service, the United States Bureau of Land Management, and other agencies which could be involved in exchanges of land.

3. Recommend the supervisory management structure at the state level which would oversee the lease, maintenance, and development of lands for recreational projects.

4. Utilize legislative staff assistance which shall be provided by the appropriate legislative committees and conduct such studies as are necessary for the performance of its duties. State agencies may assign to the commission such personnel as are necessary to assist the commission in the performance of its duties.

5. Consult with federal and state agencies and representatives of science, industry, agriculture, labor, conservation organizations, state and local governments, concerned citizens, and other groups.

6. Hold such public hearings as are necessary to insure early, meaningful, and continuous public input and involvement in the commission's work.

7. Propose changes in state law and rules of state agencies. If considered necessary, to carry out the purpose of this chapter.

8. Establish advisory committees to advise the commission in the performance of its duties. The membership of the advisory committees shall be balanced in terms of the points of view and interests represented. Members of the advisory committees shall serve without compensation of any sort.

9. Submit a biennial report to the legislature beginning in 1989 on the progress of the commission.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. The commission created under section 1 of this act shall be considered a continuation of the prior commission, and members of the prior commission shall continue to be members of the new commission except that the legislative membership of the commission shall be subject to reappointment.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4. The legislature recognizes that winter recreational activities are part of the folk tradition of the state of Washington. Winter recreational activities serve to turn the darkness of a northwest winter into the dawn of renewed vitality. As the winter snows dissolve into the torrents of spring, the Columbia river is nourished. The Columbia river is the pride of the northwest and the unifying geographic element of the state. In order to celebrate the river which ties the winter recreation playground of snowcapped mountains and the Yakima, Snake, and the Klickitat rivers to the ocean so blue, the legislature declares that the official state folk song is 'Roll On Columbia, Roll On,' composed by Woody Guthrie.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 5. A new section is added to chapter 1.20 RCW to read as follows: 'Roll On Columbia, Roll On,' composed by Woody Guthrie, is hereby designated as the official folk song of the state of Washington.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 6. The following acts or parts of acts are each repealed:

(1) Section 1, chapter 27, Laws of 1982 1st ex. sess., chapter 466, Laws of 1985 and RCW 67.34.010;
(2) Section 2, chapter 27, Laws of 1982 1st ex. sess. and RCW 67.34.020;
(3) Section 3, chapter 27, Laws of 1982 1st ex. sess. and RCW 67.34.900; and
(4) Section 4, chapter 27, Laws of 1982 1st ex. sess. and RCW 67.34.905.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 7. Sections 1 and 2 of this act are each added to chapter 67.34 RCW.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 8. This act is necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health, and safety, the support of the state government and its existing public institutions, and shall take effect immediately."

On page 1, line 1 of the title, after "recreation:" strike the remainder of the title and insert "adding a new section to chapter 1.20 RCW; adding new sections to chapter 67.34 RCW; creating new sections; repealing RCW 67.34.010, 67.34.020, 67.34.900, and 67.34.905; and declaring an emergency."

3. Any federal or out-of-state conviction for an offense that under the laws of this state would be a felony classified as a violent offense under subsection (((26))) (27)(a) or (b) of this section.

Sec. 3. Section 12, chapter 137, Laws of 1981 as last amended by section 20, chapter 257, Laws of 1986 and by section 4, chapter 301, Laws of 1986 and RCW 9.94A.120 are each reenacted and amended to read as follows:

When a person is convicted of a felony, the court shall impose punishment as provided in this section.

1. Except as authorized in subsections (2), (5), and (7) of this section, the court shall impose a sentence within the sentence range for the offense.

2. The court may impose a sentence outside the standard sentence range for that offense if it finds, considering the purpose of this chapter, that there are substantial and compelling reasons justifying an exceptional sentence.

3. Whenever a sentence outside the standard range is imposed, the court shall set forth the reasons for its decision in written findings of fact and conclusions of law. A sentence outside the standard range shall be a determinate sentence.

4. An offender convicted of the crime of murder in the first degree shall be sentenced to a term of total confinement not less than twenty years. An offender convicted of the crime of assault in the first degree where the offender used force or means likely to result in death or intended to kill the victim shall be sentenced to a term of total confinement not less than five years. An offender convicted of the crime of rape in the first degree shall be sentenced to a term of total confinement not less than three years, and shall not be eligible for furlough, work release or other authorized leave of absence from the correctional facility during such minimum three year term except for the purpose of commitment to an inpatient treatment facility. The foregoing minimum terms of total confinement are mandatory and shall not be varied or modified as provided in subsection (2) of this section.

5. In sentencing a first-time offender the court may waive the imposition of a sentence within the sentence range and impose a sentence which may include up to ninety days of confinement in a facility operated or utilized under contract by the county and a requirement that the offender refrain from committing new offenses. The sentence may also include up to two years of community supervision, which, in addition to crime-related prohibitions, may include requirements that the offender perform any one or more of the following:

   a. Devote time to a specific employment or occupation;

   b. Undergo available outpatient treatment for up to two years, or inpatient treatment not to exceed the standard range of confinement for that offense;

   c. Pursue a prescribed, secular course of study or vocational training;

   d. Remain within prescribed geographical boundaries and notify the court or the community corrections officer of any change in the offender's address or employment;

   e. Report as directed to the court and a community corrections officer; or

   f. Pay a fine and/or accomplish some community service work.

6. If a sentence range has not been established for the defendant's crime, the court shall impose a determinate sentence which may include not more than one year of confinement, community service work, a term of community supervision not to exceed one year, and/or a fine. The court may impose a sentence which provides more than one year of confinement if the court finds, considering the purpose of this chapter, that there are substantial and compelling reasons justifying an exceptional sentence.

7. (a) When an offender is convicted of a sex offense other than a violation of RCW 9A.44.040 or RCW 9A.44.050 and has no prior convictions for a sex offense or any other felony sexual offenses in this or any other state, the sentencing court, on its own motion or the motion of the state or the defendant, may order an examination to determine whether the defendant is amenable to treatment.
After receipt of the reports, the court shall then determine whether the offender and the community will benefit from use of this special sexual offender sentencing alternative. If the court determines that both the offender and the community will benefit from use of this provision, the court shall then impose a sentence within the sentence range and, if this sentence is less than six years of confinement, the court may suspend the execution of the sentence and place the offender on community supervision for up to two years. As a condition of the suspended sentence, the court may impose other sentence conditions including up to six months of confinement, not to exceed the sentence range of confinement for that offense, crime-related prohibitions, and requirements that the offender perform any one or more of the following:

(i) Devote time to a specific employment or occupation;
(ii) Undergo available outpatient sex offender treatment for up to two years, or inpatient sex offender treatment not to exceed the standard range of confinement for that offense. A community mental health center may not be used for such treatment unless it has an appropriate program designed for sex offender treatment;
(iii) Remain within prescribed geographical boundaries and notify the court or the community corrections officer of any change in the offender's address or employment;
(iv) Report as directed to the court and a community corrections officer;
(v) Pay a fine, accomplish some community service work, or any combination thereof; or
(vi) Make recoupment to the victim for the cost of any counseling required as a result of the offender's crime.

If the offender violates these sentence conditions the court may revoke the suspension and order execution of the sentence. All confinement time served during the period of community supervision shall be credited to the offender if the suspended sentence is revoked.

(b) When an offender (who is convicted of) commits any felony sexual offense and is sentenced on or after July 1, 1987, and is sentenced to a term of confinement of more than one year but less than six years, the sentencing court may, on its own motion or on the motion of the offender or the state, request the department of corrections to evaluate whether the offender is amenable to treatment and the department may place the offender in a treatment program within a correctional facility operated by the department. If the offender completes the treatment program before the expiration of his term of confinement, the department of corrections may request the court to convert the balance of confinement to community ((supervision and) to place conditions on the offender including crime-related prohibitions and requirements that the offender perform any one or more of the following:

(i) Devote time to a specific employment or occupation;
(ii) Remain within prescribed geographical boundaries and notify the court or the community corrections officer of any change in the offender's address or employment;
(iii) Report as directed to the court and a community corrections officer;
(iv) Undergo available outpatient treatment); custody with the same conditions as placed on the offender by the court at the original imposition of sentence pursuant to subsection (8)(a) of this section.

If the offender violates any of the terms of his community ((supervision)) custody, the court may order the offender to serve out the balance of his ((community supervision)) term in confinement in the custody of the department of corrections.

Nothing in (b) of this subsection shall confer eligibility for such programs for offenders convicted and sentenced for a sexual offense committed prior to July 1, 1987.

After June 30, 1993, (b) of this subsection shall cease to have effect.

(c) Whenever a court sentences a person convicted of a sex offense committed after July 1, 1986, to a term of confinement of more than one year, including a sentence under (b) of this subsection, the court may also order, in addition to the other terms of the sentence, that the offender, upon release from confinement, serve up to two years of community supervision. The conditions of supervision shall be limited to:

(i) Crime-related provisions;
(ii) A requirement that the offender report to a community corrections officer at regular intervals; and
(iii) A requirement to remain within or without stated geographical boundaries.

The length and conditions of supervision shall be set by the court at the time of sentencing. However, within thirty days prior to release from confinement and throughout the period of supervision, the length and conditions of supervision may be modified by the sentencing court upon motion of the department of corrections, the offender, or the prosecuting attorney. The period of supervision shall be tolled during any time the offender is in confinement for any reason. In no case may the period of supervision, in combination with the other terms of the offender's sentence, exceed the statutory maximum term for the offender's crime, as set forth in RCW 9A:20.921.

If the offender violates any condition of supervision, the sentencing court, after a hearing conducted in the same manner as provided for in RCW 9A:20.920, may order the offender to be confined for up to sixty days in the county jail at state expense from funds provided for this purpose to the department of corrections. Reimbursement rates for such purposes shall be established based on a formula determined by the office of financial management and reestablished each even-numbered year. An offender may be held in jail at state expense pending the hearing, and any time served while awaiting the hearing shall be credited against confinement imposed for a violation. Even after the period of supervision has expired, an offender may be confined for a violation occurring during the period of supervision. The court shall retain jurisdiction for the purpose of holding the violation hearing and imposing a sanction.

(b) When a court sentences a person to a term of total confinement to the custody of the department of corrections for a sex offense or serious violent offense committed on or after July 1, 1987, the court shall order that the offender shall be transferred from confinement to community custody when the offender is eligible for community custody status in lieu of earned early release time pursuant to RCW 9.94A.150(1), as computed by the department of corrections. An offender shall be released from community custody after serving the total sentence imposed by the court or one year, whichever is less.

(c) The court may also order any of the following special community custody conditions:

(i) The offender shall remain within, or outside of, a specified geographical boundary;
(ii) The offender shall not have direct or indirect contact with the victim of the crime;
(iii) The offender shall not consume alcohol;
(iv) The residence location and living arrangements of a sex offender shall be subject to the prior approval of the department of corrections; or
(v) The offender shall comply with any crime-related prohibitions.

(1) The offender shall submit to a search and seizure of the offender’s person, residence, automobile, or other personal property.

If the court imposes a sentence requiring confinement of thirty days or less, the court may, in its discretion, specify that the sentence be served on consecutive or intermittent days. A sentence requiring more than thirty days of confinement shall be served on consecutive days.
Local jail administrators may schedule court-ordered intermittent sentences as space permits.

(10) If a sentence imposed includes a fine or restitution, the sentence shall specify a reasonable manner and time in which the fine or restitution shall be paid. In any sentence under this chapter the court may also require the offender to make such monetary payments.
    on such terms as it deems appropriate under the circumstances, as are necessary (a) to pay court costs, including reimbursement of the state for costs of extradition if return to this state by extradition was required. (b) to make recoupment of the cost of defense attorney’s fees if counsel is provided at public expense. (c) to contribute to a county or interlocal drug fund. and
    (d) to make such other payments as provided by law. All monetary payments shall be ordered paid by no later than ten years after the date of the judgment of conviction.

(11) Except as provided under RCW 9.94A.140(1), a court may not impose a sen-corrections or such person as the secretary may designate and shall follow implicitly the instructions of the secretary including reporting as directed to a community corrections officer, remaining within prescribed geographical boundaries, and notifying the community corrections officer of any change in the offender’s address or employment.

(13) The sentencing court shall give the offender credit for all confinement time served before the sentencing if that confinement was solely in regard to the offense for which the offender is being sentenced.

(14) A departure from the standards in RCW 9.94A.400(1) and (2) governing whether sentences are to be served consecutively or concurrently is an exceptional sentence subject to the limitations in subsections (2) and (3) of this section, and may be appealed by the defendant or the state as set forth in RCW 9.94A.210(2) through (6).

(15) The court shall order restitution whenever the offender is convicted of a felony that results in injury to any person or damage to or loss of property, whether the offender is sentenced to confinement or placed under community supervision, unless extraordinary circumstances exist that make restitution inappropriate in the court's judgment. The court shall set forth the extraordinary circumstances in the record if it does not order restitution.

Sec. 4. Section 15, chapter 137, Laws of 1981 as last amended by section 8, chapter 209, Laws of 1984 and RCW 9.94A.150 are each amended to read as follows:

No person serving a sentence imposed pursuant to this chapter shall leave the confines of the correctional facility or be released prior to the expiration of the sentence except as follows:

(1) Except for sex offenders and serious violent offenders, the terms of the sentence may be reduced by earned early release time in accordance with procedures developed and promulgated by the department. The earned early release time shall be for good behavior and good performance, as determined by the department. In no case shall the aggregate earned early release time exceed one-third of the sentence. Sex offenders and serious violent offenders may become eligible for community custody in lieu of earned early release time in accordance with the program developed and promulgated by the department:

(2) When a sex offender or serious violent offender is eligible for transfer to community custody status in lieu of earned early release time pursuant to RCW 9.94A.150(1), as computed by the department of corrections, the offender shall be transferred from confinement to community custody. (((7))) (6) The governor may pardon any offender;

NEW SECTION. Sec. 5. A new section is added to chapter 9.94A RCW to read as follows:

If an offender is accused of violating any condition or requirement of community custody, he or she is entitled to a hearing before sanctions may be imposed. The department shall promulgate rules governing such hearing procedures and sanctions. Detention of an offender pursuant to section 6 of this act shall not be considered a sanction.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 6. A new section is added to chapter 9.94A RCW to read as follows:

(1) The secretary may issue warrants for the arrest of any offender who violates a condition of community custody. The arrest warrants shall authorize any law enforcement or peace officer or community corrections officer of this state or any other state where such offender may be located, to arrest the offender and place him or her in total confinement pending return to confinement in a state correctional institution. The department shall compensate the local jurisdiction at the office of financial management's adjudicated rate, in accordance with RCW 70.48.440. A community corrections officer, if he or she has reasonable cause to believe an offender in community custody has violated a condition of community custody, may suspend the person's community custody status and arrest or cause the arrest and detention in total confinement of the offender in a state facility, pending the determination of the secretary as to whether the violation has occurred. The community corrections officer shall report to the secretary all facts and circumstances and the reasons for the action of suspending community custody status.

(2) Inmates, as defined in RCW 72.09.020, who have been transferred to community custody and who are detained in a local correctional facility are the financial responsibility of the department of corrections. The community custody inmate shall be removed from the local correctional facility not later than eight days, excluding weekends and holidays, following admittance to the local correctional facility and notification that the inmate is available for movement to a state correctional institution. However, if good cause is shown, the department may negotiate with local correctional authorities for an additional period of detention.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 7. A new section is added to chapter 72.09 RCW to read as follows:

An offender in community custody who willfully fails to report to the assigned community corrections officer at the time specified by the department of corrections shall be deemed an escapee and fugitive from justice, and upon conviction shall be guilty of a class C felony under chapter 9A.20 RCW.

For purposes of this chapter, 'inmate' means any person committed to the custody of the department, including but not limited to persons residing in a correctional institution or facility and persons released on furlough ((or)) work release, or community custody.

Sec. 10. Section 17, chapter 137, Laws of 1981 and RCW 9.94A.170 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) A term of confinement ordered in a sentence pursuant to this chapter shall be tolled by any period of time during which the offender has absented him or herself from supervision without the prior approval of the entity in whose custody the offender has been placed.

(2) The period of community custody shall be tolled during any period of time the offender is in confinement for any reason. However, if an offender is detained pursuant to section 6 of this act and is later found not to have violated a condition or requirement of community custody, time spent in total confinement due to such detention shall not toll the period of community custody. The period of community custody shall be tolled by any period of time during which the offender has absented himself or herself from monitoring without prior approval of the entity under whose supervision the offender has been placed. For the period of a sentence during which an offender is placed in community custody, the date for the tolling of the sentence shall be established by the department of corrections.

Prime Sponsor, Committee on Judiciary: Providing protection from unlawful harassment. Reported by Committee on Judiciary

MAJORITY recommendation: Do pass with the following amendments:
Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:
NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. The legislature finds that serious, personal harassment through repeated invasions of a person’s privacy by acts and words showing a pattern of harassment designed to coerce, intimidate, or humiliate the victim is increasing. The legislature further finds that the prevention of such harassment is an important governmental objective. This chapter is intended to provide victims with a speedy and inexpensive method of obtaining civil antiharassment protection orders preventing all further unwanted contact between the victim and the perpetrator.
NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. Unless the context clearly requires otherwise, the definitions in this section apply throughout this chapter.
(1) ‘Unlawful harassment’ means a knowing and willful course of conduct directed at a specific person which seriously alarms, annoys, or harasses such person, and which serves no legitimate or lawful purpose. The course of conduct shall be such as would cause a reasonable person to suffer substantial emotional distress, and shall actually cause substantial emotional distress to the petitioner.

(2) 'Course of conduct' means a pattern of conduct composed of a series of acts over a period of time, however short, evidencing a continuity of purpose. Constitutionally protected activity is not included within the meaning of "course of conduct."

NEW SECTION, Sec. 3. In determining whether the course of conduct serves any legitimate or lawful purpose, the court should consider whether:

1. Any current contact between the parties was initiated by the respondent only or was initiated by both parties;
2. The respondent has been given clear notice that all further contact with the petitioner is unwanted;
3. The respondent's course of conduct appears designed to alarm, annoy, or harass the petitioner;
4. The respondent is acting pursuant to any statutory authority, including but not limited to acts which are reasonably necessary to:
   a. Protect property or liberty interests;
   b. Enforce the law; or
   c. Meet specific statutory duties or requirements;
5. The respondent's course of conduct has the purpose or effect of unreasonably interfering with the petitioner's privacy or the purpose or effect of creating an intimidating, hostile, or offensive living environment for the petitioner;
6. Contact by the respondent with the petitioner or the petitioner's family has been limited in any manner by any previous court order.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4. There shall exist an action known as a petition for an order for protection in cases of unlawful harassment.

1. A petition for relief shall allege the existence of harassment and shall be accompanied by an affidavit made under oath stating the specific facts and circumstances from which relief is sought.
2. A petition for relief may be made regardless of whether or not there is a pending lawsuit, complaint, petition, or other action between the parties.
3. All court clerks' offices shall make available simplified forms and instructional brochures. Any assistance or information provided by clerks under this section does not constitute the practice of law and clerks are not responsible for incorrect information contained in a petition.
4. No filing fee may be charged for a petition filed in an existing action or under an existing cause number brought under this chapter in the jurisdiction where the relief is sought. Forms and instructional brochures shall be provided free of charge.
5. A person is not required to post a bond to obtain relief in any proceeding under this section.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 5. The administrator for the courts shall develop and prepare, in consultation with interested persons, model forms and instructional brochures required under section 4(3) of this act.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 6. Persons seeking relief under this chapter may file an application for leave to proceed in forma pauperis on forms supplied by the court. If the court determines that a petitioner lacks the funds to pay the costs of filing, the petitioner shall be granted leave to proceed in forma pauperis and no filing fee or any other court related fees shall be charged by the court to the petitioner for relief sought under this chapter. If the petitioner is granted leave to proceed in forma pauperis, then no fees for service may be charged to the petitioner.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 7. Upon receipt of the petition, the court shall order a hearing which shall be held not later than fourteen days from the date of the order. Personal service shall be made upon the respondent not less than five court days before the hearing. If timely service cannot be made, the court may set a new hearing date.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 8. (1) Upon filing a petition for a civil antiharassment protection order under this chapter, the petitioner may obtain an ex parte temporary antiharassment protection order. An ex parte temporary antiharassment protection order may be granted with or without notice upon the filing of an affidavit which, to the satisfaction of the court, shows reasonable proof of unlawful harassment of the petitioner by the respondent and that great or irreparable harm will result to the petitioner if the temporary antiharassment protection order is not granted.

2. An ex parte temporary antiharassment protection order shall be effective for a fixed period not to exceed fourteen days, but may be reissued. A full hearing, as provided in this chapter, shall be set for not later than fourteen days from the issuance of the temporary order. The respondent shall be personally served with a copy of the ex parte order along with a copy of the petition and notice of the date set for the hearing.

3. At the hearing, if the court finds by a preponderance of the evidence that unlawful harassment exists, a civil antiharassment protection order shall issue prohibiting such unlawful harassment. An order issued under this chapter shall be effective for not more than one year.
At any time within the three months before the expiration of the order, the petitioner may apply for a renewal of the order by filing a new petition under this chapter.

(4) The court, in granting an ex parte temporary antiharassment protection order or a civil antiharassment protection order, shall have broad discretion to grant such relief as the court deems proper, including an order:

(a) Restraining the respondent from making any attempts to contact the petitioner;
(b) Restraining the respondent from making any attempts to keep the petitioner under surveillance, and
(c) Requiring the respondent to stay a stated distance from the petitioner’s residence and workplace.

(5) A petitioner may not obtain an ex parte temporary antiharassment protection order against a respondent if the petitioner has previously obtained two such ex parte orders against the same respondent but has failed to obtain the issuance of a civil antiharassment protection order unless good cause for such failure can be shown.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 9. Nothing in this chapter shall preclude either party from representation by private counsel or from appearing on his or her own behalf.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 10. (1) An order issued under this chapter shall be personally served upon the respondent, except as provided in subsection (5) of this section.

(2) The sheriff of the county or the peace officers of the municipality in which the respondent resides shall serve the respondent personally unless the petitioner elects to have the respondent served by a private party.

(3) If the sheriff or municipal peace officer cannot complete service upon the respondent within ten days, the sheriff or municipal peace officer shall notify the petitioner.

(4) Returns of service under this chapter shall be made in accordance with the applicable court rules.

(5) If an order entered by the court recites that the respondent appeared in person before the court, the necessity for further service is waived and proof of service of that order is not necessary.

(6) Except in cases where the petitioner is granted leave to proceed in forma pauperis, municipal police departments serving documents as required under this chapter may collect the same fees for service and mileage authorized by RCW 36.18.040 to be collected by sheriffs.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 11. A copy of an antiharassment protection order granted under this chapter shall be forwarded by the clerk of the court on or before the next judicial day to the appropriate law enforcement agency specified in the order.

Upon receipt of the order, the law enforcement agency shall forthwith enter the order for one year into any computer-based criminal intelligence information system available in this state used by law enforcement agencies to list outstanding warrants. Entry into the law enforcement information system constitutes notice to all law enforcement agencies of the existence of the order. The order is fully enforceable in any county in the state.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 12. Any willful disobedience by the respondent of any temporary antiharassment protection order or civil antiharassment protection order issued under this chapter shall subject the respondent to criminal penalties under this chapter. Any respondent who willfully disobeys the terms of any order issued under this chapter may also, in the court’s discretion, be found in contempt of court and subject to penalties under chapter 7.20 RCW.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 13. Protection orders authorized under this chapter shall not be issued for any action specifically covered by chapter 10.99 or 26.50 RCW.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 14. Nothing in this chapter shall preclude a petitioner’s right to utilize other existing civil remedies.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 15. The superior courts shall have jurisdiction and cognizance of any civil actions and proceedings brought under this chapter. The municipal and district courts shall have jurisdiction and cognizance of any criminal actions brought under sections 12 and 17 of this act.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 16. For the purposes of this chapter an action may be brought in:

(1) Any county in which the alleged acts of unlawful harassment occurred:
(2) Any county where any respondent resides at the time the petition is filed; or
(3) Any county where a respondent may be served if it is the same county where a respondent resides.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 17. Any respondent who willfully disobeys any civil antiharassment protection order issued pursuant to this chapter shall be guilty of a gross misdemeanor.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 18. Upon application with notice to all parties and after a hearing, the court may modify the terms of an existing order under this chapter. In any situation where an order is terminated or modified before its expiration date, the clerk of the court shall forward on or before the next judicial day a true copy of the modified order or the termination order to the appropriate law enforcement agency specified in the modified order or termination order. Upon receipt of the order, the law enforcement agency shall promptly enter it in the law enforcement information system.
NEW SECTION. Sec. 19. Nothing in this chapter shall be construed to infringe upon any constitutionally protected rights including, but not limited to, freedom of speech and freedom of assembly.

Sec. 20. Section 1, chapter 198, Laws of 1969 ex. sess. as last amended by section 3, chapter 267, Laws of 1985 and by section 9, chapter 303, Laws of 1985 and RCW 10.31.100 are each reenacted and amended to read as follows:

A police officer having probable cause to believe that a person has committed or is committing a felony shall have the authority to arrest the person without a warrant. A police officer may arrest a person without a warrant for committing a misdemeanor or gross misdemeanor only when the offense is committed in the presence of the officer, except as provided in subsections (1) through (5) of this section.

(1) Any police officer having probable cause to believe that a person has committed or is committing a misdemeanor or gross misdemeanor, involving physical harm or threats of harm to any person or property or the unlawful taking of property or involving the use or possession of cannabis shall have the authority to arrest the person.

(2) A police officer shall arrest and take into custody, pending release on bail, personal recognizance, or court order, a person without a warrant when the officer has probable cause to believe that:

(a) An order has been issued of which the person has knowledge under RCW 10.99.040(2), 10.99.050, 26.09.060, chapter 26.26 RCW, or chapter 26.50 RCW restraining the person and the person has violated the terms of the order restraining the person from acts or threats of violence or excluding the person from a residence; or

(b) The person is eighteen years or older and within the preceding four hours has assaulted that person’s spouse, former spouse, or a person eighteen years or older with whom the person resides or has formerly resided and the officer believes: (i) A felonious assault has occurred; (ii) an assault has occurred which has resulted in bodily injury to the victim, whether the injury is observable by the responding officer or not; or (iii) that any physical action has occurred which was intended to cause another person reasonably to fear imminent serious bodily injury or death. Bodily injury means physical pain, illness, or an impairment of physical condition. When the officer has probable cause to believe that spouses, former spouses, or other persons who reside together or formerly resided together have assaulted each other, the officer is not required to arrest both persons. The officer shall arrest the person whom the officer believes to be the primary physical aggressor. In making this determination, the officer shall make every reasonable effort to consider: (i) The intent to protect victims of domestic violence under RCW 10.99.010; (ii) the comparative extent of injuries inflicted or serious threats creating fear of physical injury; and (iii) the history of domestic violence between the persons involved.

(3) Any police officer having probable cause to believe that a person has committed or is committing a violation of any of the following traffic laws shall have the authority to arrest the person:

(a) RCW 46.52.010, relating to duty on striking an unattended car or other property;

(b) RCW 46.52.020, relating to duty in case of injury to or death of a person or damage to an attended vehicle;

(d) RCW 46.61.502 or 46.61.504, relating to persons under the influence of intoxicating liquor or drugs;

(e) RCW 46.20.342, relating to driving a motor vehicle while operator’s license is suspended or revoked;

(f) RCW 46.61.525, relating to operating a motor vehicle in a negligent manner.

(4) A law enforcement officer investigating at the scene of a motor vehicle accident may arrest the driver of a motor vehicle involved in the accident if the officer has probable cause to believe that the driver has committed in connection with the accident a violation of any traffic law or regulation.

(5) Any police officer having probable cause to believe that a person has committed or is committing a violation of RCW 88.02.095 shall have the authority to arrest the person.

(6) A police officer may arrest and take into custody, pending release on bail, personal recognizance, or court order, a person without a warrant when the officer has probable cause to believe that an order has been issued of which the person has knowledge under chapter 10.99.040 RCW (sections 1 through 19 of this 1987 act) and the person has violated the terms of that order.

(7) Except as specifically provided in subsections (2), (3), and (4) of this section, nothing in this section extends or otherwise affects the powers of arrest prescribed in Title 46 RCW.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 21. Sections 1 through 19 of this act shall constitute a new chapter in Title 10 RCW.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 22. If any provision of this act or its application to any person or circumstance is held invalid, the remainder of the act or the application of the provision to other persons or circumstances is not affected.

MAJORITY recommendation: Do pass with the following amendments:

"Sec. 1. Section 2, chapter 53, Laws of 1981 and RCW 18.50.005 are each amended to read as follows:

Unless the context clearly requires otherwise, the definitions in this section apply throughout this chapter:

(1) ‘Department’ means the department of licensing.
(2) ‘Director’ means the director of licensing.
(3) ‘Midwife’ means a midwife licensed under this chapter.
(4) ‘Physician’ means a physician licensed under chapter 18.57 or 18.71 RCW."
Sec. 2, Section 8, chapter 160, Laws of 1917 as amended by section 5, chapter 53, Laws of 1981 and RCW 18.50.010 are each amended to read as follows:

Any person shall be regarded as practicing midwifery within the meaning of this chapter who shall render medical aid for a fee or compensation to a woman during prenatal, intrapartum, and postpartum stages or who shall advertise as a midwife by signs, printed cards, or otherwise. Nothing shall be construed in this chapter to prohibit gratuitous services. It shall be the duty of a midwife to consult with a (legally qualified) physician whenever there are significant deviations from normal in either the mother or the infant.

A study shall be conducted by the department of licensing in consultation with the department of social and health services and the midwifery advisory committee to determine material and neonatal outcome data by type of practitioner, including an analysis of births attended by nonlicensed practitioners. The study shall also determine the role of nonlicensed practitioners in the provision of maternity services in the state of Washington. The results of the study shall be reported to the legislature in January, 1989.

Sec. 3, Section 2, chapter 160, Laws of 1917 as last amended by section 24, chapter 399, Laws of 1986 and RCW 18.50.040 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) Any person seeking to be examined shall present to the director, at least forty-five days before the commencement of the examination, a written application on a form or forms provided by the director setting forth under affidavit such information as the director may require and proof the candidate has received a high school degree or its equivalent; that the candidate is twenty-one years of age or older; that the candidate has received a certificate or diploma from a midwifery program accredited by the director and licensed under chapter 28C.10 RCW, when applicable, or a certificate or diploma in a foreign institution on midwifery of equal requirements conferring the full right to practice midwifery in the country in which it was issued. The diploma must bear the seal of the institution from which the applicant was graduated. Foreign candidates must present with the application a translation of the foreign certificate or diploma made by and under the seal of the consulate of the country in which the certificate or diploma was issued.

(2) The candidate shall meet the following conditions:

(a) Obtaining a minimum period of midwifery training for at least three years including the study of the basic nursing skills that the department shall prescribe by rule. However, if the applicant is a registered nurse under chapter 18.88 RCW, a licensed practical nurse under chapter 18.78 RCW, or has had previous nursing education or practical midwifery experience, the required period of training may be reduced depending upon the extent of the candidate’s qualifications as determined under rules adopted by the department. In no case shall the training be reduced to a period of less than two years.

(b) Meeting minimum educational requirements which shall include studying obstetrics; neonatal pediatrics; basic sciences; female reproductive anatomy and physiology; behavioral sciences; childbirth education; community care; obstetrical pharmacology; epidemiology; gynecology; family planning; genetics; embryology; neonatology; the medical and legal aspects of midwifery; nutrition during pregnancy and lactation; breast feeding; nursing skills, including but not limited to injections, administering intravenous fluids, catheterization, and aseptic technique; and such other requirements prescribed by rule.

(c) For a student midwife during training, undertaking the care of not less than fifty women in each of the prenatal, intrapartum, and early postpartum periods, but the same women need not be seen through all three periods. A student midwife may be issued a permit upon the satisfactory completion of the requirements in (a), (b), and (c) of this subsection and the satisfactory completion of the licensure examination required by RCW 18.50.060. The permit permits the student midwife to practice under the supervision of a midwife licensed under this chapter, a physician (licensed under chapter 18.97 or 18.91 RCW) or a certified nurse-midwife licensed under the authority of chapter 18.88 RCW. The permit shall expire within one year of issuance and may be extended as provided by rule.

(d) Observing an additional fifty women in the intrapartum period before the candidate qualifies for a license.

The training required under this section shall include training in either hospitals or alternative birth settings or both with particular emphasis on learning the ability to differentiate between low-risk and high-risk pregnancies.

(1) The director of licensing is hereby authorized and empowered to execute the provisions of this chapter and shall offer examinations in midwifery at least twice a year at such times and places as the director may select. The examinations shall be written and shall be in the English language.

(2) The director, with the assistance of the midwifery advisory committee, shall develop or approve a licensure examination in the subjects that the director determines are within the scope of and commensurate with the work performed by a licensed midwife. The examination shall be sufficient to test the scientific and practical fitness of candidates to practice midwifery.
All application papers shall be deposited with the director and there retained for at least one year, when they may be destroyed.

(3) If the examination is satisfactorily completed, the director shall issue to such candidate a license entitling the candidate to practice midwifery in the state of Washington.

(4) A midwife licensed under this chapter may obtain and administer prophylactic ophthalmic medication, postpartum oxytocic and local anesthetic, and may administer such other drugs or medications as prescribed by a licensed physician. A pharmacist who dispenses such drugs to a licensed midwife shall not be liable for any adverse reactions caused by any method of utilization by the midwife.)

The committee shall be composed of one (licensed) physician who is a practicing obstetrician; one practicing (licensed) physician; one certified nurse midwife licensed under chapter 18.88 RCW; three midwives licensed under this chapter; and one public member, who shall have no financial interest in the rendering of health services. The committee may seek other consultants as appropriate, including persons trained in childbirth education and perinatology or neonatology.

The members are appointed by the director and serve at the pleasure of the director but may not serve more than (three consecutive) five years (or more than five years in total) consecutively. The terms of office shall be staggered. Members of the committee shall be reimbursed for travel expenses as provided in RCW 43.03.050 and 43.03.060 as now or hereafter amended.

The director, after consultation with representatives of the midwife advisory committee, the board of pharmacy, and the board of medical examiners, may issue regulations which authorize licensed midwives to purchase and use legend drugs and devices in addition to the drugs authorized in this chapter.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 7. The following acts of parts of acts are each repealed:

MAJORITY recommendation: Do pass with the following amendments:

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

(b) Child abuse and neglect has tragic consequences for the child and clear social implications since studies reveal that individuals who were abused or neglected as children are eighty percent more likely to abuse or neglect their own children;

(c) School districts and public preschool programs are appropriate environments in which education and training relating to the prevention of child abuse and neglect can be provided to students, particularly at the preschool through early elementary grade levels, parents, and all school district employees;

(d) Primary child abuse and neglect prevention programs provided in school districts are an effective and cost-efficient method for reducing the incidence of child abuse and neglect, and for promoting positive family environments and relationships by making available to students, their parents, and school employees information and guidance about the social, physical, and educational developmental stages and behavior of children;

(e) Child abuse and neglect is a serious social problem which requires an appropriate and meaningful state-level response, including establishing the prevention of child abuse and neglect as a social priority of the state.

(2) It is the intent of the legislature to make available to children, including preschool age children, parents, school employees, and licensed day care providers the provision of child abuse and neglect primary prevention education and training.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. (1) A task force on education on the problems of child sexual abuse is created. The task force shall consist of not less than twelve members. The governor shall appoint the members of the task force choosing one person each representing: Child protective service workers, law enforcement officers, judges, health care providers, prosecutors, defense attorneys, counselors working with abusers, counselors working with abused children, school counselors, educators, citizens interested and involved in child sexual abuse prevention, and citizens interested and involved in supporting parents' rights. Members of the task force shall serve without compensation but shall be reimbursed for travel expenses as provided in RCW 43.03.050 and 43.03.060.

(2) The task force shall develop a course to educate child protective service workers, law enforcement officers, judges, health care providers, prosecutors, defense attorneys, counselors working with abusers, counselors working with abused children, school counselors, educators, citizens interested and involved in child sexual abuse prevention, and citizens interested and involved in supporting parents' rights about the profile of an offender who sexually abuses children and the short-term and long-term effects of sexual abuse on a child and the child's family. An outline of the prospective course shall be developed within six months after the effective date of this section. The course shall be completed by June 30, 1988.

(3) The task force shall develop a plan for the distribution of the course throughout the state and shall include in the plan methods to encourage the use of the course.

(4) This section shall expire June 30, 1988.

(5) If Substitute House Bill No. 813 is enacted by July 1, 1987, and creates a governor's commission on children, the task force on education on the problems of child sexual abuse established by this section shall not be established and the powers and duties of the task force shall be assumed by the governor's commission.

ESSB 5377 Prime Sponsor, Committee on Human Services & Corrections: Creating a department of public health and environment. Reported by Committee on Health Care

MAJORITY recommendation: Do pass with the following amendments:

NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. The legislature finds and declares that the economic and social vitality of the state are dependent on a healthy and productive population. It further finds that preservation of health requires action by government to promote healthful ways of life, to prevent disease and injury, and to preserve the environment and reduce or eliminate risks and hazards to health. It recognizes that while the activities and policies of many state and local governmental agencies have an impact upon public health and the environment, there is a need for a single department of state government with primary responsibility for the preservation of the public health and the environment. The legislature further declares it to be the policy of this state, that it is a fundamental and inalienable right of the people of the state of Washington to live in a healthful and pleasant environment. The legislature further recognizes that as the population of our state grows, the need to provide for our increasing industrial, agricultural, residential, social, recreational, economic and other needs will place an increasing responsibility on all segments of our society to plan, coordinate, restore and regulate the utilization of our natural resources in a manner that will protect and conserve our clean air, our pure and abundant waters, and the natural beauty of the state.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. In recognition of the responsibility of state government to carry out the policies set forth in section 1 of this act, it is the purpose of this chapter to establish a single state agency with the authority to manage and develop our air and water resources in an orderly, efficient, and effective manner and to carry out a coordinated program of pollution control involving these and related land resources. It is the further purpose of this chapter to focus state policy and mobilize and coordinate state efforts to preserve and promote the health of the people of the state, and a safe and nurturing environment in which to live. The department shall provide leadership and coordination in identifying and resolving threats to the environment and public health by:

(1) Developing intervention strategies;

(2) Strengthening the state and local governmental partnership in providing public and environmental protection;

(3) Providing expert advice to the executive and legislative branches of state government;

(4) Providing active and fair enforcement of regulation;

(5) Working with other federal, state, and local agencies and facilitating their involvement in planning and implementing health preservation measures; and

(6) Carrying out such other actions as may be appropriate to this purpose.

To this end a department of public health and environment is created by this chapter to undertake, in an integrated manner, the various water regulation, management, planning and development programs now authorized to be performed by the department of water resources and the water pollution control commission, the air regulation and management program now performed by the state air pollution control board, the solid waste regulation and management program authorized to be performed by state government as provided by chapter 70.95 RCW, and such other environmental, management protection and development programs as may be authorized by the legislature.

chapter shall receive, as the pension portion of that retirement allowance, less than thirteen dollars and fifty cents per month for each year of service creditable to the person whose service is the basis of the pension. Portions of a year shall be treated as fractions of a year and the decimal equivalent shall be multiplied by thirteen dollars and fifty cents. Where the pension payable was adjusted at the time benefit payments to the beneficiary commenced, the minimum pension provided in this section shall be adjusted in a manner consistent with that adjustment.

(2) Notwithstanding any provision of law to the contrary, effective July 1, 1979, the retirement allowance of each beneficiary who either is receiving benefits pursuant to RCW 41.32.520 or 41.32.550 as of December 31, 1978, or commenced receiving a monthly retirement allowance under this chapter as of a date no later than July 1, 1974, shall be permanently increased by a post-retirement adjustment. This adjustment shall be in lieu of any adjustments provided under RCW 41.32.499(6) as of July 1, 1979, or July 1, 1980, for the affected beneficiaries. Such adjustment shall be calculated as follows:

(a) Retirement allowances to which this subsection and subsection (1) of this section are both applicable shall be determined by first applying subsection (1) and then applying this subsection. The department shall determine the total years of creditable service and the total dollar benefit base accrued as of December 31, 1978, except that this determination shall take into account only those beneficiaries to whom this subsection applies;

(b) The department shall multiply the total benefits determined in (a) of this subsection by six percent and divide the dollar value thus determined by the total service determined in (a) of this subsection. The resultant figure shall then be a post-retirement increase factor which shall be applied as specified in (c) of this subsection;

(c) Each beneficiary to whom this subsection applies shall receive an increase which is the product of the factor determined in (b) of this subsection multiplied by the years of creditable service.

(3) The provisions of subsections (1) and (2) of this section shall not be applicable to those receiving benefits pursuant to RCW 41.32.540 or 41.32.760 through 41.32.825.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. Section 1, chapter 96, Laws of 1979 ex. sess. as amended by section 3, chapter 306, Laws of 1986 and RCW 41.40.198 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) Notwithstanding any provision of law to the contrary, effective July 1, 1986, as a cost-of-living adjustment, no beneficiary receiving a retirement allowance pursuant to this chapter shall receive, as the pension portion of that retirement allowance, less than thirteen dollars and fifty cents per month for each year of service creditable to the person whose service is the basis of the pension. Portions of a year shall be treated as fractions of a year and the decimal equivalent shall be multiplied by thirteen dollars and fifty cents. Where the pension payable was adjusted at the time benefit payments to the beneficiary commenced, the minimum pension provided in this section shall be adjusted in a manner consistent with that adjustment.

(2) The provisions of subsection (1) of this section shall not be applicable to those receiving benefits pursuant to RCW 41.40.220(1), 41.44.170(5), or 41.40.610 through 41.40.740. For persons who served as elected officials and whose accumulated employee contributions and credited interest was less than seven hundred dollars at the time of retirement, the minimum benefit under subsection (1) of this section shall be ten dollars per month for each year of creditable service.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. A new section is added to chapter 41.32 RCW to read as follows:

Beginning July 1, 1988, and every year thereafter, the department shall determine the following information for the minimum retirement allowance provided by RCW 41.32.485(1):

(1) The dollar amount of the minimum retirement allowance as of July 1, 1988;

(2) The index for the 1986 calendar year, to be known as 'index A';

(3) The index for the calendar year prior to the date of determination, to be known as 'index B'; and

(4) The ratio obtained when index B is divided by index A.

The value of the ratio obtained shall be the annual adjustment to the minimum retirement allowance and shall be applied beginning with the July payment. In no event, however, shall the annual adjustment:

(a) Produce a retirement allowance which is lower than the minimum retirement allowance as of July 1, 1987;

(b) Exceed three percent in the initial annual adjustment; or

(c) Differ from the previous year's annual adjustment by more than three percent.

For the purposes of this section, 'index' means, for any calendar year, that year's average consumer price index — Seattle, Washington area for urban wage earners and clerical workers, all items, compiled by the bureau of labor statistics, United States department of labor.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4. A new section is added to chapter 41.40 RCW to read as follows:

(a) Produce a retirement allowance which is lower than the minimum retirement allowance as of July 1, 1987;

(b) Exceed three percent in the initial annual adjustment; or

(c) Differ from the previous year's annual adjustment by more than three percent.

Persons who served as elected officials and whose accumulated employee contributions and credited interest were less than seven hundred fifty dollars at the time of retirement shall not receive the benefit provided by this section.

For the purposes of this section, 'index' means, for any calendar year, that year's average consumer price index—Seattle, Washington area for urban wage earners and clerical workers, all items, compiled by the bureau of labor statistics, United States department of labor.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 5. The legislature reserves the right to amend or repeal sections 3 and 4 of this act in the future and no member or retiree has a contractual right to receive any cost-of-living adjustments not granted prior to that time.

The legislature finds that minority and women-owned businesses are significantly under-represented and have been denied equitable competitive opportunities in contracting. It is the intent of this chapter to mitigate societal discrimination and other factors in participating in public works and in providing goods and services and to delineate a policy that an increased level of participation by minority and women-owned and controlled businesses is desirable at all levels of state government. The purpose and intent of this chapter are to provide the maximum practicable opportunity for increased participation by minority and women-owned and controlled businesses in participating in public works and the process by which goods and services are procured by state agencies and educational institutions from the private sector.

Sec. 2. Section 2, chapter 120, Laws of 1983 and RCW 39.19.020 are each amended to read as follows:

Unless the context clearly requires otherwise, the definitions in this section apply throughout this chapter.

(2) 'Director' means the director of the office of minority and women's business enterprises.

(3) 'Educational institutions' means the state universities, the regional universities, The Evergreen State College, and the community colleges.

(4) 'Goals' means annual overall agency goals, expressed as a percentage of dollar volume, for participation by minority and women-owned and controlled businesses and shall not be construed as a minimum goal for any particular contract or for any particular geographical area. It is the intent of this chapter that such overall agency goals shall be achievable and shall be met on a contract-by-contract or class-of-contract basis.

(5) 'Goods and/or services' includes professional services and all other goods and services.

(6) 'Office' means the office of minority and women's business enterprises.

(7) 'Person' includes one or more individuals, partnerships, associations, organizations, corporations, cooperatives, legal representatives, trustees and receivers, or any group of persons.

Sec. 3. Section 3, chapter 120, Laws of 1983 and RCW 39.19.030 are each amended to read as follows:

There is hereby created the office of minority and women's business enterprises. The governor shall appoint a director for the office, subject to confirmation by the senate. The director may employ a deputy director and a confidential secretary, both of which shall be exempt under chapter 41.06 RCW, and such staff as are necessary to carry out the purposes of this chapter.

The office, with the advice and counsel of the advisory committee on minority and women's business enterprises, shall:

(1) Develop, plan, and implement programs to provide an opportunity for participation by qualified minority and women-owned and controlled businesses in public works and the process by which goods and services are procured by state agencies and educational institutions from the private sector;

However, the power which may be exercised by the office under this subsection permits investigation and imposition of sanctions only if the investigation relates to a possible violation of chapter 39.19 RCW, and not to violation of local ordinances, rules, regulations, however denominated, adopted by political subdivisions of the state.

Sec. 4. Section 7, chapter 120, Laws of 1983 and RCW 39.19.070 are each amended to read as follows:

It is the intent of this chapter that the goals established under this chapter for participation by minority and women-owned and controlled businesses be achievable. If necessary to accomplish this intent, contracts shall be awarded to the next lowest bidder, or all bids may be rejected and new bids obtained, if the lowest bidder does not meet the goals established for a particular contract under this chapter. The dollar value of the total contract used for the calculation of the specific contract goal may be increased or decreased to reflect executed change orders. An apparent low-bidder must be in compliance with the contract provisions required under this chapter as a condition precedent to the granting of a notice of award by any state agency or educational institution.

Sec. 5. Section 8, chapter 120, Laws of 1983 and RCW 39.19.080 are each amended to read as follows:

((8)) (1) A person, firm, corporation, business, union, or other organization shall not:
   (a) Prevent((s)) or interfere((s)) with a contractor’s or subcontractor’s compliance with this chapter; or any rule adopted under this chapter((--or));
   (b) Submit((s)) false or fraudulent information to the state concerning compliance with this chapter or any such rule((--violates this chapter or any rule adopted under this chapter; the person or entity shall be subject to a fine not to exceed one thousand dollars; in addition to any other penalty or sanction prescribed by law))

(2) Any person or entity violating this chapter or any rule adopted under this chapter shall be subject to the penalties in RCW 39.19.090. Nothing in this section prevents the state agency or educational institution from pursuing such procedures or sanctions as are otherwise provided by statute, rule, or contract provision.

Sec. 6. Section 9, chapter 120, Laws of 1983 and RCW 39.19.090 are each amended to read as follows:

If a person, firm, corporation, or business does not comply with any provision of this chapter or with a contract (required) requirement established under this chapter, the state may withhold payment, debar the contractor, suspend, or terminate the contract and subject the contractor to civil penalties of up to ten percent of the amount of the contract or up to five thousand dollars (whichever is less) for each violation. The office shall adopt, by rule, criteria for the imposition of penalties under this section. Wilful repeated violations, exceeding a single violation, may disqualify the contractor from further participation in state contracts for a period of (one year) up to three years. An apparent low-bidder must be in compliance with the contract provisions required under this chapter as a condition precedent to the granting of a notice of award by any state agency or educational institution.

(2) Any program performing certification functions prior to January 1, 1988, which are similar in purpose to the certification program of the office and which are operated by any state agency, public corporation created by the state, city, county, town, special purpose district, municipal corporation, or quasi-municipal corporation within the state of Washington.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 7. A new section is added to chapter 39.19 RCW to read as follows:

If a person, firm, corporation, or business does not comply with any provision of this chapter or with a contract (required) requirement established under this chapter, the state may withhold payment, debar the contractor, suspend, or terminate the contract and subject the contractor to civil penalties of up to ten percent of the amount of the contract or up to five thousand dollars (whichever is less) for each violation. The office shall adopt, by rule, criteria for the imposition of penalties under this section. Wilful repeated violations, exceeding a single violation, may disqualify the contractor from further participation in state contracts for a period of (one year) up to three years. An apparent low-bidder must be in compliance with the contract provisions required under this chapter as a condition precedent to the granting of a notice of award by any state agency or educational institution.

The office shall follow administrative procedures under chapter 34.04 RCW in determining a violation and imposing penalties under this chapter.

The procedures and sanctions in this section are not exclusive; nothing in this section prevents the state agency or educational institution administering the contracts from pursuing such procedures or sanctions as are otherwise provided by statute, rule, or contract provision.

(2) The petitioner shall carry the burden of persuasion. The affected minority or women's business enterprise shall receive notice of the petition and an opportunity to respond.

(3) After reviewing the information presented in support of and in opposition to the petition, the office shall issue a written decision, granting or denying the petition. If the office grants the petition, it may revoke, suspend, or refuse to renew the certification or impose sanctions under this chapter as appropriate.

ESSB 5639 Prime Sponsor, Committee on Commerce & Labor: Authorizing the acquisition, stabilization, and sale of landmark buildings by the department of community development. Reported by Committee on State Government

MAJORITY recommendation: Do pass with the following amendments:

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

"NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. The legislature finds and declares that the spirit and direction of Washington state are founded on the values, traditions, and accomplishments of past generations, and further, that the future of Washington's children will depend in part upon their ability to understand and appreciate the importance of their heritage. Landmark buildings are a source of pride and inspiration for the citizens of Washington and can serve as valuable working assets for Washington communities, yet these irreplaceable assets are easily lost or destroyed. The legislature finds that the 1989 Centennial Celebration of Washington Statehood is an especially appropriate occasion for committing to the preservation of buildings important in Washington's history.

It is the purpose of this chapter to establish a permanent fund, known as the endangered landmarks preservation fund, to be used by the department to purchase and hold for brief periods landmark buildings which might otherwise be lost or altered, and to resell those buildings, with the proceeds of sale deposited in the fund, at prices which preserve or increase the overall balance and assets of the fund, and to authorize the director to take all necessary actions consistent with applicable law to identify, acquire, stabilize, and resell such buildings while maintaining or increasing the value of the fund. The legislature recognizes that it may from time to time be necessary to dispose of properties acquired under this chapter at prices which do not fully recover associated costs.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. Unless the context clearly requires otherwise, the definitions in this section apply throughout this chapter:

(1) "Department" means the department of community development.
(2) "Director" means the director of community development.
(3) "Fund" means the endangered landmarks preservation fund.
(4) "Landmark building" means a structure and the land on which it is located that is on a local, state, or national historic register, or that is eligible to be included on a local, state, or national historic register.
(5) "Property" means landmark buildings, including limited interests in such buildings, acquired and sold under this chapter.
(6) "Stabilization" means the minimum degree of rehabilitation necessary to protect a property from further deterioration.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. (1) Money appropriated for the purposes of this chapter shall be deposited in the endangered landmarks preservation fund hereby established in the state treasury. The department shall deposit in the fund any proceeds from the sale of property acquired with money from the fund or by gift or grant, and any other money designated by law for deposit therein. Interest accruing from money in the fund shall be retained by the fund. Money in the fund shall be used by the department for the purposes of this chapter. The department may use other funds available by law for such purposes to administer the fund. Proceeds from the sale of property acquired with money from the fund may be expended without appropriation to the extent that state-appropriated and matching funds were used in the original purchase of such property by the department. Any amounts representing profits on such sales shall be retained in the fund. Disbursements from the fund shall be on authorization of the director, or the director's designee.

(2) It is the intent of the legislature that the appropriation to the fund for the 1987-89 biennium shall act as a challenge to private and public donors. The treasurer shall not disburse from the fund any state-appropriated money until at least one hundred thousand dollars has been received from the sale of donated property or from other sources and deposited in the fund. The treasurer shall then disburse from money appropriated by the state for this purpose an equal amount and, thereafter, the treasurer shall disburse an amount equal to each cash donation received or to the proceeds of sale of each donated property until the total amount appropriated has been disbursed.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4. The department may acquire, maintain, stabilize, resell, and hold title to and may acquire and resell, or exercise options to purchase or to acquire and resell, other limited ownership interests in endangered landmarks. It is the intent of the legislature that any property acquired shall be promptly offered for sale at fair market value.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 5. Criteria to be considered by the department in selecting among properties under section 4 of this act shall include:

(1) The importance of the property to the state and to the community within which it is located;
(2) The threat of demolition, of substantial alteration, or other factors that might result in the loss of the historic character of the property;
(3) The suitability of the property for re-use as a commercial, community, or residential property within local ordinances while retaining its historic character;
(4) A determination through the use of prudent and knowledgeable judgment, as well as current market and real estate valuation information, that the capital investment can be substantially recovered when the property is resold;
(5) The representation of diverse historic themes in different areas of the state and in different types of buildings;
(6) The accessibility of the property for public visitation or the visual prominence of the property as an historic landmark; and
(7) The ability of the state to obtain title to the property.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 6. If application of the criteria in section 5 of this act results in two or more properties being considered of equal value for the purposes of this chapter, the property which has the potential for providing the greatest return to the fund shall be purchased.
NEW SECTION. Sec. 7. If the director determines that the sale of a property purchased under this chapter would promote historic preservation or preserve the assets of the fund, the director may approve the sale.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 8. In offering properties for sale under this chapter, the department shall select buyers by applying the following criteria:

(1) The extent to which the buyer agrees to maintain, and to cause future owners to maintain, the historic character of the property;

(2) The extent to which the proposed uses of the property conform to local ordinances and published plans;

(3) The estimated ability of the buyer to achieve the proposed use of the property; and

(4) Other public benefits of the proposed use, including accessibility to the public, interpretive or other facilities, and related development of other properties.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 9. In no case may the director accept an offer for purchase of property under this chapter when:

(1) The offer does not provide for payment in cash to the state of the full purchase price prior to possession of the property; or

(2) Another offer more consistent with the purposes of this chapter has been made and received under the announced terms of sale.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 10. The director may sell any property acquired through the fund without regard to the criteria of section 8 of this act if he or she finds after public offer for sale and a public hearing that no buyer can be found who will agree to the requirements of section 8 of this act at a price that will substantially preserve the assets of the fund.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 11. Nothing in this chapter gives the department any right of condemnation or eminent domain.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 12. The director shall adopt such rules as are necessary to implement this chapter.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 13. A new section is added to chapter 43.82 RCW to read as follows:

This chapter shall not apply to property acquired under sections 1 through 12 of this act.

Sec. 14. Section 1, chapter 255, Laws of 1927 and RCW 79.01.004 are each amended to read as follows:

Institutional lands, that is, lands held in trust for state charitable, educational, penal and reformatory institutions; and

All public lands of the state, except tidelands, shorelands, harbor areas and the beds of navigable waters.

Sec. 15. Section 154, chapter 255, Laws of 1927 as amended by section 13, chapter 222, Laws of 1984 and RCW 79.01.612 are each amended to read as follows:

The department of natural resources shall manage and control all lands acquired by the state by escheat or under chapter 79.66 RCW and all lands acquired by the state by deed or gift or by devise, except such lands which are conveyed or devised to the state to be used for a particular purpose, and property acquired by the state under sections 1 through 12 of this 1987 act. The department shall lease the lands in the same manner as school lands.

When the department determines to sell the lands, they shall be initially offered for sale at public auction as provided in this chapter. If the lands are not sold at public auction, the department may, with approval of the board of natural resources, market the lands through persons licensed under chapter 18.85 RCW or through other commercially feasible means at a price not lower than the land's appraised value and pay necessary marketing costs from the sale proceeds. Necessary marketing costs includes reasonable costs associated with advertising the property and paying commissions. The proceeds of the lease or sale of all such lands shall be deposited into the appropriate fund in the state treasury in the manner prescribed by law: PROVIDED, That if the grantor in any such deed or the testator in case of a devise specifies that the proceeds of the sale or lease of such lands be devoted to a particular purpose such proceeds shall be so applied. The department may employ agents to rent any escheated, deeded, or devised lands, or lands acquired under chapter 79.66 RCW, for such rental and time and in such manner as the department directs, but the property shall not be rented by such agent for a longer period than one year and no tenant is entitled to compensation for any improvement which he makes on such property. The agent shall cause repairs to be made to the property as the department directs, and shall deduct the cost thereof, together with such compensation and commission as the department authorizes, from the rentals of such property and the remainder which is collected shall be transmitted monthly to the department of natural resources.

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

“Sec. 1. Section 7, chapter 125, Laws of 1984 and RCW 43.63A.078 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) The department shall develop and administer a local development matching fund program. To be eligible to receive funds under this program, an organization must be a local government or a nonprofit local development entity. Any local government or entity requesting funds must demonstrate the participation of a cross-section of the local community in the economic development project, including business, labor, education and training, and the public sector. Under this program, the department shall provide matching funds which shall be used for the formulation of local economic development strategies, including the technical analysis necessary to designate and carry out the strategies. A technical analysis can include, but is not limited to, the development and dissemination of data on local markets, demographics, comparative business costs, site availability, labor force characteristics, and local incentives. Funds are to be used primarily to foster new developments and expansions which result in the trading of goods and services outside of the state’s borders. Funds may be made available for assisting local businesses in utilizing state and federal programs in exporting, training, and financing. Funds may also be used to provide technical assistance to businesses in the areas of land use, transportation, site location, and manpower training. Matching funds cannot be used for entertainment, capital expenses, hosting, or marketing. Funds granted for economic development projects must be matched by local resources on a dollar-for-dollar basis. Not more than fifty thousand dollars of state matching funds as provided by this section may be used for any one project.

(2) The department shall conduct feasibility studies, planning, and program development for small business incubator projects. The department may also coordinate the delivery of management, technical, and financial assistance to small businesses both within and outside such incubator projects.

(3) The department shall report annually on December 31 to the governor and the legislature on funds expended and projects developed using matching funds.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. The legislature finds that the growth of small and young businesses will have a favorable impact on the Washington economy by creating jobs, increasing competition in the market place, and expanding tax revenues. Access to financial markets by entrepreneurs is vital to this process. Without reasonable access to financing, talented and aggressive entrepreneurs are cut out of the economic system and the state’s economy suffers. It is the purpose of sections 2 through 6 of this act to guarantee that entrepreneurs and investors have an institutionalized means of meeting their respective needs for access to capital resources and information about promising business investments in Washington state.
NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. As used in sections 2 through 6 of this act, the term:

(1) 'Entrepreneur' means an individual, proprietorship, joint venture, partnership, trust, business trust, syndicate, association, joint stock company, cooperative, corporation, or any other organization operating in this state, engaged in manufacturing or traded services, with fewer than two hundred fifty employees and paying more than fifty percent of its contributions or payments for the purposes of unemployment insurance to this state.

(2) 'Manufacturing' means all activities of a commercial or industrial nature wherein labor or skill is applied, by hand or machinery, to materials so that as a result thereof a new, different, or useful substance or article of tangible personal property is produced for sale or commercial or industrial use and shall include the production or fabrication of specially made or custom made articles. 'Manufacturing' also includes computer programming, the production of computer software, and other computer-related services, and the activities performed by research and development laboratories and commercial testing laboratories.

(3) 'Traded services' means those commercial and professional services that are developed for sale outside the state.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4. There is created in the department of trade and economic development the Washington investment opportunities office. An exempt position is hereby created within the department for the managing director of the Washington investment opportunities office. The managing director of the office shall be appointed by the director of trade and economic development.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 5. The Washington investment opportunities office shall:

(1) Maintain a list of all entrepreneurs engaged in manufacturing or traded services throughout the state seeking capital resources and interested in the services of the investment opportunities office.

(2) Maintain a file on each entrepreneur which shall include the entrepreneur's business plan and any other information which the entrepreneur offers for review by potential investors.

(3) Assist entrepreneurs in procuring the managerial and technical assistance necessary to attract potential investors. Such assistance shall include the automatic referral to the small business innovators opportunity program of any entrepreneur with a new product meriting the services of the program.

(4) Provide entrepreneurs with information about potential investors and provide investors with information about those entrepreneurs which meet the investment criteria of the investor.

(5) Remain informed about investment trends in capital markets and preferences of individual investors or investment firms throughout the nation through literature surveys, conferences, and private meetings.

(6) Publicize the services of the investment opportunities office through public meetings throughout the state, appropriately targeted media, and private meetings. Whenever practical, the office shall use the existing services of local associate development organizations in outreach and identification of entrepreneurs and investors.

(7) Report to the ways and means committees and commerce and labor committees of the senate and the house of representatives by December 1, 1988, and each year thereafter, on the accomplishments of the office. Such reports shall include:

(a) The number of entrepreneurs on the list referred to in subsection (1) of this section, segregated by standard industrial classification codes;

(b) The number of investments made in entrepreneurs, segregated as required by (c) of this subsection, as a result of contact with the investment opportunities office, the dollar amount of each such investment, the source, by state or nation, of each investment, and the number of jobs created as a result of each investment;

(c) The number of entrepreneurs on the list referred to in subsection (1) of this section segregated by counties, the number of investments, the dollar amount of investments, and the number of jobs created through investments in each county as a result of contact with the investment opportunities office;

(d) A categorization of jobs created through investments made as a result of contact with the investment opportunities office, the number of jobs created in each such category, and the average pay scale for jobs created in each such category;

(e) The results of client satisfaction surveys distributed to entrepreneurs and investors using the services of the investment opportunities office; and

(f) Such other information as the managing director finds appropriate.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 6. The managing director, after consultation with the directors of the department of trade and economic development and the department of community development, schools of business administration, chambers of commerce, local associate development organizations, and local investment firms, shall form an advisory panel to assist in directing the services of the investment opportunities office toward meeting the finance and investment needs of entrepreneurs and investors. Advisory panel members shall serve without pay but shall be entitled to reimbursement for travel expenses incurred in serving on the advisory panel in accordance with RCW 43.03.050 and 43.03.060.
NEW SECTION. Sec. 7. The director may, after consultation with the managing director, enter into contracts with nongovernmental agencies to provide any of the services under section 5 of this act.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 8. A new section is added to chapter 42.17 RCW to read as follows: Notwithstanding the provisions of RCW 42.17.260 through 42.17.340, no financial or proprietary information supplied by investors or entrepreneurs under chapter 43.63A RCW shall be made available to the public.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 9. Sections 2 through 7 of this act are each added to chapter 43.63A RCW.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 10. A new section is added to chapter 43.170 RCW to read as follows: Any innovation or inventor receiving assistance under this program shall be referred to the investment opportunities office operated by the department of trade and economic development.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 11. The legislature finds and declares that:

1. Expansion of small businesses will have a favorable impact on the Washington economy by creating jobs, increasing competition in the marketplace, and expanding tax revenues. Small business expansion is a major source of new employment opportunities for economically distressed communities, for economically disadvantaged individuals, and for individuals of low and moderate income generally; and

2. There is an unmet need to provide long-term capital to rapidly growing small businesses whose growth exceeds their ability to generate internal earnings to finance that growth; and

3. Under traditional standards used by banks many well-operated small businesses cannot provide security adequate to qualify for normal bank loans; and

4. This problem is especially severe in its effects on economically distressed communities and on economically disadvantaged individuals; and

5. It is desirable to address this problem by creating an efficient, nonbureaucratic form of state assistance to encourage banks to make many such loans which are not now made; and

6. Assistance and encouragement of small business development to provide, maintain, and expand employment and tax revenues is an important function of the state; and

7. The modest state expenditure to encourage such loans will be returned to the people of the state of Washington in the form of increased tax revenues based on business expansion and reduction in the number of unemployed persons.

In order to accomplish these goals, the legislature creates the Washington small business loan program. The intent of the legislature is to provide sufficient incentives to financial institutions and credit unions to make small business loans that would otherwise not be made to worthy small businesses. Further, it is the intent of the legislature to provide incentives which will result in greater availability of small business financing to economically distressed communities and to economically disadvantaged individuals to promote the creation of new employment opportunities and the retention of existing employment in the state.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 12. As used in this chapter, the term:

1. ‘Lender participant’ means such financial institutions and credit unions as are approved by the executive director to make loans under this chapter.

2. ‘Eligible loan’ means a loan to a person under the conditions set forth in this chapter.

3. ‘Amount of loss’ means an amount equal to the unpaid balance of the principal amount, less any amounts realized by perfecting rights under a security agreement, together with such interest as the executive director shall allow, to a maximum of such interest as may be allowed by rule. The amount of loss is subject to the limitations contained in section 19(2)(c) of this act.

4. ‘Default’ includes only such defaults as have existed for at least ninety days.

5. ‘Premium charge’ means the percent of the loan which shall be deposited in the small business loan reserve fund by the lender and the borrower on loans made pursuant to this chapter.

6. ‘Executive director’ means the executive director of the small business loan program.

7. ‘Fund’ means the small business loan reserve fund.

8. ‘State match’ means the percent of the loan which shall be deposited in the small business loan reserve fund by the state on loans made pursuant to this chapter.

9. ‘Manufacturing’ means all activities of a commercial or industrial nature wherein labor or skill is applied, by hand or machinery, to materials so that as a result thereof a new, different, or useful substance or article of tangible personal property is produced for sale or commercial or industrial use and shall include the production or fabrication of specially made or custom made articles. ‘Manufacturing’ also includes computer programming, the production of computer software, and other computer-related services, and the activities performed by research and development laboratories and commercial testing laboratories.

10. ‘Traded services’ means those commercial and professional services that are developed for sale outside the state.

11. ‘Supervisor’ means the state supervisor of banking.
NEW SECTION. Sec. 13. In addition to the powers and duties prescribed under this chapter, the state supervisor of banking may exercise all the powers necessary or convenient for the administration and enforcement of this chapter. The supervisor may adopt such rules as he or she finds necessary or appropriate in carrying out this chapter after consultation with representatives of small businesses and lender participants. The supervisor may examine the loans made under this chapter at any participating bank to ascertain compliance with this chapter and any rules adopted under this chapter, and to ascertain whether a bank is exercising reasonable care and diligence in the making and collection of loans made under this chapter.

An exempt position is hereby created within the banking and consumer finance division of the department of general administration for the executive director of the small business loan program. The executive director shall be appointed by the state supervisor of banking. The supervisor shall delegate to the executive director such duties as the supervisor deems appropriate. The supervisor may employ such other employees as may be needed to carry out the powers and duties imposed under this chapter.

The supervisor shall report to the governor and the house and senate ways and means and commerce and labor committees by December 1 of each year and shall include in the report the following:

1. The names of all financial institutions certified to participate in the small business loan program;
2. The names and locations by county of all borrowers under the program;
3. The number of employees by county of all borrowers under the program;
4. The total amount of funds lent under the program by county;
5. The total amount of funds lent under the program reported separately by categories of uses made by borrowers of the proceeds;
6. The amount paid out of the fund for loans in default, by lender, and by county;
7. The financial condition of the fund;
8. An evaluation of the extent to which the results of the program meet the objectives of the program;
9. The expenditure of funds under section 15 of this act; and
10. Such other information as in the supervisor's judgment may be desirable.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 14. (1) The small business loan reserve fund is hereby established in the custody of the state treasurer. The fund shall consist of appropriations made to the fund and any other public or private money received under this chapter. Moneys in the fund may be used only to secure loans made under this chapter. Disbursements from the fund shall be on authorization of the executive director of the small business loan program, or the director's designee. The fund is subject to the allotment procedure provided under chapter 43.88 RCW, but no appropriation is required for disbursements.

The state shall not be liable or obligated for any amount exceeding its appropriations to the small business loan reserve fund.

(2) The state shall not be liable or obligated for any amount exceeding its appropriations to the small business loan reserve fund.

(3) Funds held in the small business loan reserve fund which are attributable to the lender participant's portion of the premium charge shall be accounted for on a lender-by-lender basis and shall include the matching premium charge paid by the borrowers and the state match paid by the state.

(4) Upon authorization by the executive director, disbursements from the small business loan reserve fund shall be made to financial institutions by the state treasurer in warrants drawn by the controller pursuant to this chapter.

(5) Funds in the small business loan reserve fund shall be invested in time certificates of deposit with lender participants in proportion to each lender participant's participation in the small business loan reserve program. Such funds shall be offered on a right of first refusal to lender participants. Should a lender participant refuse to receive such funds for investment, the funds shall then be offered other lender participants in proportion to their participation in the small business loan reserve program.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 15. (1) All income from funds invested pursuant to section 14 of this act shall be deposited in the small business loan reserve fund, and shall be used exclusively for the support of the small business loan reserve program.

(2) Whenever the executive director determines that the income from funds invested pursuant to section 14 of this act exceeds amounts necessary to support the small business loan reserve program pursuant to subsection (1) of this section, the executive director may order any excess funds transferred into the general fund, but not to exceed the amount appropriated to the small business loan reserve fund.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 16. (1) The executive director shall certify those financial institutions whose experience, financial capability, and such other criteria as the supervisor may establish under rules adopted under this chapter, qualify them to participate in the small business loan reserve program.

(2) Any financial institution may be disqualified from further participation in the small business loan reserve program on a finding, by the supervisor, as specified by rule, that such institution has violated any provision of this chapter, or any rule adopted under this chapter, or that such institution is insolvent.
(3) A loan made by a lender participant shall be recorded under this section if made to a corporation, partnership, sole proprietorship, cooperative, or other association doing business primarily in Washington, whether nonprofit or organized for profit.

(4) The supervisor shall adopt by rule eligibility criteria for loans made under this chapter. Such criteria shall be consistent with the intent of this chapter to assist small businesses with strong potential for growth and job creation and, to that end, such loans shall be primarily devoted to businesses engaging in manufacturing or traded services. Such criteria shall include, but shall not be limited to: The potential for benefiting economically distressed communities; the potential for benefiting economically disadvantaged individuals; the potential for retaining existing employment, especially stable high-wage employment; the potential for creating new employment opportunities, especially opportunities for stable high-wage employment; the potential for retaining existing employment, especially stable high-wage employment; the potential for local economic diversification; the impact on the stabilization, modernization, and long-term growth potential of mature industries; and the size and types of businesses which shall be eligible to receive loans, which may be based on the standard industrial classification code. Absence of a classification within the standard industrial classification code for a type of business shall not preclude it from being established as an eligible business.

(5) No more than twenty-five percent of the proceeds of any loans made under this chapter may be used by the borrowing business for the payment of existing loans to that business.

(6) Upon default by the borrower on any loan made under this chapter, the executive director may require from the lender a showing as to how the proceeds of the loan were disbursed.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 17. The lender and borrower shall negotiate the premium charge for each loan made pursuant to this chapter. Such charge shall be from three percent to seven percent of the loan. The lender and borrower shall contribute an equal amount to the premium charge. The state match made under this chapter shall be equal in amount to the premium charge. When a loan is participated in by two or more lender participants, the premium charge shall be a single rate, applicable to the entire loan. The lender's portion of the premium charge shall be apportioned among the lenders in proportion to each lender's participation in the loan.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 18. (1)(a) An application to record a loan made under this chapter shall be made by an eligible lender on such form as the executive director may require. The application shall set forth the amount of the loan, its maturity, interest rate, and amortization. In addition, the supervisor may require on a form provided by the supervisor other information relating to job creation.

(b) If, upon application by a lender participant, the executive director finds that the lender has made an eligible loan, the director shall cause the loan to be recorded.

(2)(a) The lender shall submit, together with the application under subsection (1) of this section, the following premium charges determined by the lender under section 17 of this act: (i) The percent premium charge payable by the lender; and (ii) the percent premium charge payable by the borrower.

(b) Premium charges collected under this section shall be deposited in the small business loan reserve fund.

(c) Upon recording a loan, the executive director shall allocate, from appropriated funds, the state match payable by the state in the small business loan reserve fund.

(3) All loans made under this chapter shall be recorded in a register to be maintained by the supervisor. The registration shall set forth the information contained in the application.

(4) At least annually, and more frequently at the direction of the supervisor, a summary of the information contained in the register maintained pursuant to subsection (3) of this section, shall be provided to each lender participant.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 19. (1) Upon default by the borrower on any loan made under this chapter, the lender, if a secured party, shall take steps, and avail itself of such rights and remedies as may be provided for in the security agreement and by virtue of chapter 62A.9 RCW except when, in the determination of the supervisor, special circumstances exist which do not warrant taking such action.

(b) In addition to the amount of loss, the lender may claim five hundred dollars for collection expenses incurred in the attempted collection of the loan. Such collection expense shall be a charge against that portion of the small business loan reserve fund attributable to the lender who made the loan, and shall be subject to the limitation contained in (c) of this subsection.

(c) Payments made to a lender pursuant to this section shall not exceed the amount retained in the small business loan reserve fund attributable to the lender who made the loan.

(3) Amounts recovered by a lender's collection efforts subsequent to presenting a claim for loss pursuant to this section shall first be paid into the small business loan reserve fund to the credit of the lender to reimburse the fund for amounts paid to the lender pursuant to subsection (2)(a) of this section.

(4) Nothing in this section may be construed to excuse the lender from exercising reasonable care and diligence in the making and collection of loans under this chapter.

If the supervisor, after reasonable notice and opportunity for hearing to an eligible lender, finds that it has substantially failed to exercise such care and diligence required under this section, the supervisor shall disqualify the lender for further loans under this chapter until the supervisor is satisfied that its failure has ceased and finds that there is reasonable assurance that the lender will in the future exercise necessary care and diligence.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 20. A new section is added to chapter 42.17 RCW to read as follows:

5. A copy of the petition has been served on the detained person, his or her attorney and his or her guardian or conservator, if any, prior to the probable cause hearing; and

6. The court at the time the petition was filed and before the probable cause hearing has appointed counsel to represent such person if no other counsel has appeared; and

7. The court has ordered a fourteen day involuntary intensive treatment or a ninety day less restrictive alternative treatment after a probable cause hearing has been held pursuant to RCW 71.05.240; and

   (a) Participation with the court in the formulation of the conditions of the less restrictive or conditional release order;
   (b) Participation in the development of an individualized treatment plan with the treatment team;
   (c) Providing the person assistance with access to housing, financial management, medication management, nutrition, system advocacy, and mental health services;
   (d) Monitoring the person who is receiving treatment to ensure that the person abides by the requirements of his or her individualized treatment plan. If, in the opinion of the case manager, substantial deterioration in the person's functioning has occurred, then the case manager shall request the county designated mental health professional to initiate revocation proceedings.
   (4) The community mental health agency shall assure that the case manager being assigned is a mental health professional, as defined in RCW 71.05.020(11), or is supervised by a mental health professional.
(5) The plan for the pilot program shall be developed by the department in cooperation with the pilot and other counties, mental health providers, and other interested members of the community and submitted to the legislature within sixty days of the effective date of this section.
(6) The plan shall assure that case management services are administered in a manner which recognizes client needs within availability of funds provided for the plan. The implementation of the plan shall begin on January 1, 1988, and terminate on June 30, 1989.
(7) By January 1, 1989, the legislative budget committee shall submit a report to the legislature on the progress of the pilot program, along with its recommendations.
(8) The department shall adopt those rules necessary to carry out this section.
Sec. 5. Section 29, chapter 142, Laws of 1973 1st ex. sess. as amended by section 13, chapter 215, Laws of 1979 ex. sess. and RCW 71.05.240 are each amended to read as follows:
If a petition is filed for fourteen day involuntary treatment or ninety days of less restrictive alternative treatment, the court shall hold a probable cause hearing within seventy-two hours of the initial detention of such person as determined in RCW 71.05.180, as now or hereafter amended. If requested by the detained person or his or her attorney, the hearing may be postponed for a period not to exceed forty-eight hours. The hearing may also be continued subject to the conditions set forth in RCW 71.05.210 or subject to the petitioner's showing of good cause for a period not to exceed twenty-four hours.
At the conclusion of the probable cause hearing, if the court finds by a preponderance of the evidence that such person, as the result of mental disorder, presents a likelihood of serious harm to others or himself or herself, or is gravely disabled, and, after considering less restrictive alternatives to involuntary detention and treatment, finds that no such alternatives are in the best interests of such person or others, the court shall order that such person be detained for involuntary treatment to exceed fourteen days in a facility certified to provide treatment by the department of social and health services. If the court finds that such person, as the result of a mental disorder, presents a likelihood of serious harm to others or himself or herself, or is gravely disabled, but that treatment in a less restrictive setting than detention is in the best interest of such person or others, the court shall order an appropriate less restrictive course of treatment for not to exceed ((fourteen)) ninety days.
The court shall specifically state to such person and give such person notice in writing that if involuntary treatment beyond the fourteen day period or beyond the ninety days of less restrictive treatment is to be sought, such person will have the right to a full hearing or jury trial as required by RCW 71.05.310.
Sec. 6. Section 30, chapter 142, Laws of 1973 1st ex. sess. as amended by section 17, chapter 145, Laws of 1974 ex. sess. and RCW 71.05.250 are each amended to read as follows:
At the probable cause hearing the detained person shall have the following rights in addition to the rights previously specified:
(1) To present evidence on his or her behalf;
(2) To cross-examine witnesses who testify against him or her;
(3) To be proceeded against by the rules of evidence;
(4) To remain silent.
(5) To view and copy all petitions and reports in the court file.

The physician-patient privilege or the psychologist-client privilege shall be deemed waived in proceedings under this chapter when a court of competent jurisdiction in its discretion determines that ((it is unreasonable for the petitioner seeking fourteen-day involuntary treatment to obtain a sufficient evaluation of the detained person by a psychiatrist or psychologist or other health professional and)) such waiver is necessary ((in the opinion of the court)) to protect either the detained person or the public.

(Whenever the physician-patient privilege is deemed waived pursuant to this section, the waiver shall be limited to the introduction of relevant and competent medical records or testimony of an evaluation or treatment facility or its staff, a facility of the department of social and health services or its staff, or a facility certified for ninety-day treatment by the department of social and health services or its staff for the purpose of meeting evaluation requirements contained in chapter 10.77 RCW and chapter 71.12 RCW. PROVIDED HOWEVER, that the physician-patient privilege shall not be waived if the physician specifically identifies himself to the detained person as one who is communicating with that person for treatment only: AND PROVIDED FURTHER, that the privilege shall not extend to incident reports involving the detained person.))

The waiver of a privilege under this section is limited to records or testimony reasonably related to evaluation of the detained person for purposes of a proceeding under this chapter. Upon motion by the detained person or on its own motion, the court shall examine a record or testimony sought by a petitioner to determine whether it is within the scope of the waiver.

The record maker shall not be required to testify in order to introduce medical or psychological records of the detained person so long as the requirements of RCW 5.45.020 are met except that portions of the record which contains opinions as to the detained person's mental state must be deleted from such records unless the person making such conclusions is available for cross-examination.

Sec. 7, Section 31, chapter 142, Laws of 1973 1st ex. sess. as amended by section 18, chapter 145, Laws of 1974 1st ex. sess. and RCW 71.05.260 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) Involuntary intensive treatment ordered at the time of the probable cause hearing shall be for no more than fourteen days, and shall terminate sooner when, in the opinion of the professional person in charge of the facility or his or her professional designee, (a) the person no longer constitutes a likelihood of serious harm to himself or herself or others, or (b) no longer is gravely disabled, or (c) is prepared to accept voluntary treatment upon referral, or (d) is to remain in the facility providing intensive treatment on a voluntary basis.

(2) A person who has been detained for fourteen days of intensive treatment shall be released at the end of the fourteen days unless one of the following applies: (a) Such person agrees to receive further treatment on a voluntary basis; or (b) such person is a patient to whom RCW 71.05.280 is applicable.

Sec. 8, Section 35, chapter 142, Laws of 1973 1st ex. sess. as last amended by section 7, chapter 199, Laws of 1975 1st ex. sess. and RCW 71.05.300 are each amended to read as follows:

The petition for ninety day treatment shall be filed with the clerk of the superior court at least three days before expiration of the fourteen-day period of intensive treatment. At the time of filing such petition, the clerk shall set a time for the person to come before the court on the next judicial day after the day of filing unless such appearance is waived by the person's attorney, and the clerk shall notify the designated county mental health professional. The designated county mental health professional shall immediately notify the person detained, his or her attorney, if any, and his or her guardian or conservator, if any, and the prosecuting attorney, and provide a copy of the petition to such persons as soon as possible.

At the time set for appearance the detained person shall be brought before the court, unless such appearance has been waived and the court shall advise him or her of his or her right to be represented by an attorney and of his or her right to a jury trial. If the detained person is not represented by an attorney, or is indigent or is unwilling to retain an attorney, the court shall immediately appoint an attorney to represent him or her. The court shall, if requested, appoint a reasonably available licensed physician, psychologist, or psychiatrist, designated by the detained person to examine and testify on behalf of the detained person.

The court may, if requested, also appoint a professional person as defined in RCW 71.05.020(12) to seek less restrictive alternative courses of treatment and to testify on behalf of the detained person.

The court shall also set a date for a full hearing on the petition as provided in RCW 71.05.310.

Sec. 9, Section 36, chapter 142, Laws of 1973 1st ex. sess. as last amended by section 8, chapter 199, Laws of 1975 1st ex. sess. and RCW 71.05.310 are each amended to read as follows:

The court shall conduct a hearing on the petition for ninety day treatment within five judicial days of the first court appearance after the probable cause hearing ((unless the person...)) named in the petition requests a jury trial, in which case trial shall commence within ten judicial days of the filing of the petition for ninety day treatment. The court may continue the hearing upon the written request of the person named in the petition or his attorney, which continuance shall not exceed ten additional judicial days). The court may continue the hearing upon the written request of the person named in the petition or the person's attorney for good cause shown, which continuance shall not exceed five additional judicial days. If the person named in the petition requests a jury trial, the trial shall commence within ten judicial days of the first court appearance after the probable cause hearing. The burden of proof shall be by clear, cogent, and convincing evidence and shall be upon the petitioner. The person shall be present at such proceeding, which shall in all respects accord with the constitutional guarantees of due process of law and the rules of evidence pursuant to RCW 71.05.250.

During the proceeding, the person named in the petition shall continue to be treated until released by order of the superior court. If no order has been made within thirty days after the filing of the petition, not including extensions of time requested by the detained person or his or her attorney, the detained person shall be released.

Sec. 10. Section 39, chapter 412, Laws of 1973 1st ex. sess. as last amended by section 6, chapter 67, Laws of 1986 and RCW 71.05.340 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) (a) When, in the opinion of the superintendent or the professional person in charge of the hospital or facility providing involuntary treatment, the committed person can be appropriately served by outpatient treatment prior to or at the expiration of the period of commitment, then such outpatient care may be required as a condition for early release for a period which, when added to the inpatient treatment period, shall not exceed the period of commitment. If the hospital or facility designated to provide outpatient treatment is other than the facility providing involuntary treatment, the outpatient facility so designated must agree in writing to assume such responsibility. A copy of the conditions for early release shall be given to the patient, the designated county mental health professional in the county in which the patient is to receive outpatient treatment, and to the court of original commitment.

(b) Before a person committed under grounds set forth in RCW 71.05.280(3) or 71.05.320(2)(c) is conditionally released under (a) of this subsection, the superintendent or professional person in charge of the hospital or facility providing involuntary treatment shall in writing notify the prosecuting attorney of the county in which the criminal charges against the committed person were dismissed, of the decision to conditionally release the person. Notice and a copy of the conditions for early release shall be provided at least thirty days before the person is released from inpatient care. Within twenty days after receiving notice, the prosecuting attorney may petition the court in the county that issued the commitment order to hold a hearing to determine whether the person may be conditionally released and the terms of the conditional release. The prosecuting attorney shall provide a copy of the petition to the superintendent or professional person in charge of the hospital or facility providing involuntary treatment, the attorney, if any, and guardian or conservator of the committed person, and the court of original commitment. If the county in which the committed person is to receive outpatient treatment is the same county in which the criminal charges against the committed person were dismissed, then the court shall, upon the motion of the prosecuting attorney, transfer the proceeding to the court in that county. The court shall conduct a hearing on the petition within ten days of the filing of the petition. The committed person shall have the same rights with respect to notice, hearing, and counsel as for an involuntary treatment proceeding, except as set forth in this subsection and except that there shall be no right to jury trial. The issue to be determined at the hearing is whether or not the person may be conditionally released without substantial danger to other persons, or substantial likelihood of committing felonious acts jeopardizing public safety or security. If the court disapproves the conditional release, it may do so only on the basis of substantial evidence. Pursuant to the determination of the court upon hearing, the conditional release of the person shall be approved by the court on the same or modified conditions or the person shall be returned for involuntary treatment on an inpatient basis subject to release at the end of the period for which he or she was committed, or otherwise in accordance with the provisions of this chapter.

(2) The hospital or facility designated to provide outpatient care or the secretary may modify the conditions for continued release when such modification is in the best interest of the person. Notification of such changes shall be sent to all persons receiving a copy of the original conditions.

(3) If the hospital or facility designated to provide outpatient care, the designated county mental health professional or the secretary determines that a conditionally released person is failing to adhere to the terms and conditions of his or her release, or that substantial deterioration in the person's functioning has occurred, then, upon notification by the hospital or facility designated to provide outpatient care, or on his or her own motion, the designated county mental health professional or the secretary may order that the conditionally released person be apprehended and taken into custody and temporarily detained in an evaluation and treatment facility in or near the county in which he or she is receiving outpatient treatment until such time, not exceeding five days, as a hearing can be scheduled to determine whether or not the person should be returned to the hospital or facility from which he or she had been conditioned for involuntary treatment proceeds, except as specifically set forth in this section and except that there shall be no right to jury trial. The issues to be determined shall be whether the conditionally released person did or did not adhere to the terms and conditions of his or her release or that substantial deterioration in the person’s functioning has occurred; and, if he or she failed to adhere to such terms and conditions, or that substantial deterioration in the person’s functioning has occurred whether the conditions of release should be modified or the person should be returned to the facility. Pursuant to the determination of the court upon such hearing, the conditionally released person shall either continue to be conditionally released on the same or modified conditions or shall be returned for involuntary treatment on an inpatient basis subject to release at the end of the period for which he or she was committed for involuntary treatment, or otherwise in accordance with the provisions of this chapter. Such hearing may be waived by the person and his or her counsel and his or her guardian or conservator, if any, but shall not be waivable unless all such persons agree to waive, and upon such waiver the person may be returned for involuntary treatment or continued on conditional release on the same or modified conditions.

4. The proceedings set forth in subsection (3) of this section may be initiated by the designated county mental health professional or the secretary on the same basis set forth therein without requiring or ordering the apprehension and detention of the conditionally released person, in which case the court hearing shall take place in not less than (fifteen) five days from the date of service of the petition upon the conditionally released person.

Upon expiration of the period of commitment, or when the person is released from outpatient care, notice in writing to the court which committed the person for treatment shall be provided.

5. The grounds and procedures for revocation of less restrictive alternative treatment shall be the same as those set forth in this section for conditional releases.

6. In the event of a revocation of a conditional release, the subsequent treatment period may be for no longer than the actual period authorized in the original court order. In the event of a revocation of a less restrictive alternative treatment, the subsequent treatment period may be for no longer than fourteen days.

Sec. 11, Section 294, page 187. Laws of 1854 as last amended by section 101, chapter 305, Laws of 1986 and RCW 5.60.060 are each amended to read as follows:

1. A husband shall not be examined for or against his wife, without the consent of the wife, nor a wife for or against her husband without the consent of the husband; nor can either during marriage or afterward, be without the consent of the other, examined as to any communication made by one to the other during marriage. But this exception shall not apply to a civil action or proceeding by one against the other, nor to a criminal action or proceeding for a crime committed by one against the other, nor to a criminal action or proceeding against a spouse if the marriage occurred subsequent to the filing of formal charges against the defendant, nor to a criminal action or proceeding for a crime committed by said husband or wife against any child of whom said husband or wife is the parent or guardian, nor to a proceeding under chapter 71.05 RCW; PROVIDED, That the spouse of a person sought to be detained under chapter 71.05 RCW may not be compelled to testify and shall be so informed by the court prior to being called as a witness.

2. An attorney or counselor shall not, without the consent of his or her client, be examined as to any communication made by the client to him or her, or his or her advice given thereon in the course of professional employment.

3. A (clergyman) member of the clergy or a priest shall not, without the consent of a person making the confession, be examined as to any confession made to him or her in his or her professional character, in the course of discipline enjoined by the church to which he or she belongs.

4. Subject to the limitations under RCW 71.05.250, a physician or surgeon or osteopathic physician or surgeon shall not, without the consent of his or her patient, be examined in a civil action as to any information acquired in attending such patient, which was necessary to enable him or her to prescribe or act for the patient, except as follows:

(a) In any judicial proceedings regarding a child’s injury, neglect, or sexual abuse or the cause thereof; and

(b) Within ninety days of filing an action for personal injuries or wrongful death, the claimant shall elect whether or not to waive the physician-patient privilege. If the claimant does not waive the physician-patient privilege, the claimant may not put his or her mental or physical condition or that of his or her decedent or beneficiaries in issue and may not waive the privilege later in the proceedings. Waiver of the physician-patient privilege for any one physician or condition constitutes a waiver of the privilege as to all physicians or conditions, subject to such limitations as a court may impose pursuant to court rules.

(5) A public officer shall not be examined as a witness as to communications made to him or her in official confidence, when the public interest would suffer by the disclosure.

Sec. 12. Section 11, chapter 305, Laws of 1955 as amended by section 11, chapter 70, Laws of 1966 and RCW 18.83.110 are each amended to read as follows:

Confidential communications between a client and a psychologist shall be privileged against compulsory disclosure to the same extent and subject to the same conditions as confidential communications between attorney and client, but this exception is subject to the limitations under RCW 71.05.250.

Sec. 13. Section 12, chapter 122, Laws of 1972 ex. sess. as last amended by section 1, chapter 62, Laws of 1977 ex. sess. and RCW 70.96A.120 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) An intoxicated person may come voluntarily to an approved treatment facility for treatment. A person who appears to be intoxicated in a public place and to be in need of help, if he or she consents to the proffered help, may be assisted to his or her home, an approved treatment facility or other health facility.

(2) Except for a person who may be apprehended for possible violation of laws not relating to alcoholism or intoxication and except for a person who may be apprehended for possible violation of laws relating to driving or being in physical control of a vehicle while intoxicated and except for a person who may wish to avail himself or herself of the provisions of RCW 46.20.308, a person who appears to be incapacitated by alcohol and who is in a public place or who has threatened, attempted, or inflicted physical harm on another, shall be taken into protective custody by the police or the emergency service patrol and as soon as practicable, but in no event beyond eight hours brought to an approved treatment facility for treatment. If no approved treatment facility is readily available he or she shall be taken to an emergency medical service customarily used for incapacitated persons. The police or the emergency service patrol, in detaining the person and in taking him or her to an approved treatment facility, is taking him or her into protective custody and shall make every reasonable effort to protect his or her health and safety. In taking the person into protective custody, the detaining officer or member of an emergency patrol may take reasonable steps including reasonable force if necessary to protect himself or herself or effect the custody. A taking into protective custody under this section is not an arrest. No entry or other record shall be made to indicate that the person has been arrested or charged with a crime.

(3) A person who comes voluntarily or is brought to an approved treatment facility shall be examined by a qualified person. He or she may then be admitted as a patient or referred to another health facility, which provides emergency medical treatment, where it appears that such treatment may be necessary. The referring approved treatment facility shall arrange for his or her transportation.

(4) A person who is found to be incapacitated by alcohol at the time of his or her admission or to have become incapacitated at any time after his or her admission, may not be detained at the facility (a) once he is no longer incapacitated by alcohol, and (b) if he remains incapacitated by alcohol)) for more than ((forty-eight)) seventy-two hours after admission as a patient, unless a petition is filed under RCW 70.96A.140, as now or hereafter amended: PROVIDED, That the treatment personnel at the facility are authorized to use such reasonable physical restraint as may be necessary to retain a person incapacitated by alcohol at such facility for up to ((forty-eight)) seventy-two hours from the time of admission. The seventy-two hour periods specified in this section shall be computed by excluding Saturdays, Sundays, and holidays. A person may consent to remain in the facility as long as the physician in charge believes appropriate.

(5) A person who is not admitted to an approved treatment facility, is not referred to another health facility, and has no funds, may be taken to his or her home, if any. If he or she has no home, the approved treatment facility shall assist him or her in obtaining shelter.

(6) If a patient is admitted to an approved treatment facility, his or her family or next of kin shall be notified as promptly as possible. If an adult patient who is not incapacitated requests that there be no notification, his or her request shall be respected.

(7) The police, members of the emergency service, or treatment facility personnel, who in good faith act in compliance with this chapter are performing in the course of their official duty and are not criminally or civilly liable therefor.

(8) If the person in charge of the approved treatment facility determines it is for the patient's benefit, the patient shall be encouraged to agree to further diagnosis and appropriate voluntary treatment.

Sec. 14. Section 14, chapter 122, Laws of 1972 ex. sess. as last amended by section 1, chapter 129, Laws of 1977 ex. sess. and RCW 70.96A.140 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) When the person in charge of a treatment facility, or his or her designee, receives information alleging that a person is incapacitated as a result of alcoholism, the person in charge, or his or her designee, after investigation and evaluation of the specific facts alleged and of the reliability and credibility of the information, may file a petition for commitment of such person with the superior court or district court. If the person in charge, or his or her designee, finds that the initial needs of such person would be better served by placement within the mental health system, the person shall be referred to an evaluation and treatment facility as defined in RCW 71.05.020. If placement in an alcohol treatment facility is deemed appropriate, the petition shall allege that the person is an alcoholic who is incapacitated by alcohol, or that the person has twice before in the preceding twelve months been admitted for the voluntary treatment for alcoholism pursuant to RCW 70.96A.110 and is in need of a more sustained treatment program, or that the person is an alcoholic who has threatened, attempted, or inflicted physical harm on another and is likely to inflict physical harm on another unless committed. A refusal to undergo treatment does not constitute evidence of lack of judgment as to the need for treatment. The petition shall be accompanied by a certificate of a licensed physician who has examined the person within two days before submission of the petition, unless the person whose commitment is sought has refused to submit to a medical examination, in which case the fact of refusal shall be alleged in the petition. The certificate shall set forth the physician's findings in support of the allegations of the petition. A physician employed by the petitioning facility or the department is not eligible to be the certifying physician.

(2) Upon filing the petition, the court shall fix a date for a hearing no less than (fifty) three and no more than (ten) seven days after the date the petition was filed unless the person petitioned against is presently being detained by the facility, pursuant to RCW 70.96A.120, as now or hereafter amended, in which case the hearing shall be held within (forty-eight) seventy-two hours of the filing of the petition: PROVIDED, HOWEVER, That the above specified (forty-eight) seventy-two hours shall be computed by (including) excluding Saturdays (but excluding), Sundays, and holidays: PROVIDED FURTHER, That the court may, upon motion of the person whose commitment is sought, or upon motion of petitioner with written permission of the person whose commitment is sought, or his or her counsel and, upon good cause shown, extend the date for the hearing. A copy of the petition and of the notice of the hearing, including the date fixed by the court, shall be served by the treatment facility on the person whose commitment is sought, his or her next of kin, a parent or his or her legal guardian if he or she is a minor, and any other person the court believes advisable. A copy of the petition and certificate shall be delivered to each person notified.

(3) At the hearing the court shall hear all relevant testimony, including, if possible, the testimony of at least one licensed physician who has examined the person whose commitment is sought. The person shall be present unless the court believes that his or her presence is likely to be injurious to him or her; in this event the court may deem it appropriate to appoint a guardian ad litem to represent him or her throughout the proceeding. If deemed advisable, the court may examine the person out of courtroom. If the person has refused to be examined by a licensed physician, he or she shall be given an opportunity to be examined by a court appointed licensed physician. If he or she refuses and there is sufficient evidence to believe that the allegations of the petition are true, or if the court believes that more medical evidence is necessary, the court may make a temporary order committing him or her to the department for a period of not more than five days for purposes of a diagnostic examination.

(4) If after hearing all relevant evidence, including the results of any diagnostic examination, the court finds that grounds for involuntary commitment have been established by clear, cogent, and convincing proof, it shall make an order of commitment to an approved treatment facility. It shall not order commitment of a person unless it determines that an approved treatment facility is able to provide adequate and appropriate treatment for him or her and the treatment is likely to be beneficial.

(5) A person committed under this section shall remain in the facility for treatment for a period of thirty days unless sooner discharged. At the end of the thirty day period, he or she shall be discharged automatically unless the facility, before expiration of the period, files a petition for his or her recommitment upon the grounds set forth in subsection (1) of this section for a further period of ninety days unless sooner discharged. A person has been committed because he or she is an alcoholic likely to inflict physical harm on another, the facility shall apply for recommitment if after examination it is determined that the likelihood still exists. Only two recommitment orders under subsections (5) and (6) of this section are permitted.

(6) A person recommitted under subsection (5) of this section who has not been discharged by the facility before the end of the ninety day period shall be discharged at the expiration of that period unless the facility, before expiration of the period, obtains a court order on the grounds set forth in subsection (1) of this section for recommitment for a further period not to exceed ninety days. If a person has been committed because he or she is an alcoholic likely to inflict physical harm on another, the facility shall apply for recommitment if after examination it is determined that the likelihood still exists. Only two recommitment orders under subsections (5) and (6) of this section are permitted.

(7) Upon the filing of a petition for recommitment under subsections (5) or (6) of this section, the court shall fix a date for hearing no less than (five) three and no more than (ten) seven days after the date the petition was filed: PROVIDED, That, the court may, upon motion of the person whose commitment is sought and upon good cause shown, extend the date for the hearing. A copy of the petition and of the notice of hearing, including the date fixed by the court. shall be served by the treatment facility on the person whose commitment is sought, his or her next of kin, the original petitioner under subsection (1) of this section if different from the petitioner for recommitment, one of his or her parents or his or her legal guardian if he or she is a minor, and his or her attorney and any other person the court believes advisable. At the hearing the court shall proceed as provided in subsection (3) of this section.

(8) The facility shall provide for adequate and appropriate treatment of a person committed to its custody. A person committed under this section may be transferred from one approved public treatment facility to another if transfer is medically advisable.

(9) A person committed to the custody of a facility for treatment shall be discharged at any time before the end of the period for which he or she has been committed and he or she shall be discharged by order of the court if either of the following conditions are met:

(a) In case of an alcoholic committed on the grounds of likelihood of infliction of physical harm upon another, that he or she is no longer an alcoholic or the likelihood no longer exists; or further treatment will not be likely to bring about significant improvement in the person's condition, or treatment is no longer adequate or appropriate.

(b) In case of an alcoholic committed on the grounds of the need of treatment and incapacity, that the incapacity no longer exists.

(10) The court shall inform the person whose commitment or recommitment is sought of his or her right to contest the application, be represented by counsel at every stage of any proceedings relating to his or her commitment and recommitment, and have counsel appointed by the court or provided by the court, if he or she wants the assistance of counsel and is unable to obtain counsel. If the court believes that the person needs the assistance of counsel, the court shall require, by appointment if necessary, counsel for him or her regardless of his or her wishes. The person shall, if he or she is financially able, bear the costs of such legal service; otherwise such legal service shall be at public expense. The person whose commitment or recommitment is sought shall be informed of his or her right to be examined by a licensed physician at his or her choice. If the person is unable to obtain a licensed physician and requests examination by a physician, the court shall employ a licensed physician.

(11) A person committed under this chapter may at any time seek to be discharged from commitment by writ of habeas corpus in a court of competent jurisdiction.

(12) The venue for proceedings under this section is the county in which person to be committed resides or is present.

"PART I.

GENERAL PROVISIONS

NEW SECTION, Sec. 1. DEFINITIONS. The definitions set forth in this section apply throughout this chapter unless the context clearly requires otherwise.

(1) 'Agency' means each board, commission, department, institution of higher education, officer, or other administrative unit of this state, including the agency head, and one or more members of the agency head or agency employees or other persons directly or indirectly acting under the authority of the agency head. The term does not include the legislative branch, the judicial branch, the governor, or the attorney general except to the extent otherwise required by law. To the extent it exercises authority subject to any provision of this chapter, an administrative unit otherwise qualifying as an 'agency' shall be treated as a separate agency even if the unit is located within or subordinate to another agency.

(2) 'Agency action' means any of the following:

(a) The whole or part of a rule or an order;
(b) The agency's performance of, or failure to perform any other duty, function, or activity that is required by law; or
(c) Subject to review only under section 81(3)(k) and (l) of this act, the exercise of agency discretion.

Agency action, for purposes of this chapter, does not include an agency decision regarding (i) contracting or procurement of goods, services, public works, and the purchase, lease, or acquisition by eminent domain of real estate, as well as all activities necessarily related to those functions, or (ii) determinations as to the sufficiency of a showing of interest filed in support of a representation petition, or mediation or conciliation of labor disputes or arbitration of labor disputes under a collective bargaining law or similar statute, or (iii) any sale, lease, contract, or other proprietary decision of the department of natural resources in the management of public lands, or (iv) the granting of a license, franchise, or permission for the use of trademarks, symbols, and similar property owned or controlled by the agency.

(3) 'Agency head' means the individual or body of individuals in whom the ultimate legal authority of the agency is vested by any provision of law. If the agency head is a body of individuals, a majority of those individuals constitutes the agency head.

(4) 'Entry' of an order means the signing of the order by all persons who are to sign the order, as an official act indicating that the order is to be effective.

(5) 'Filing' of a document that is required to be filed with an agency means delivery of the document to the place designated by the agency by rule for receipt of official documents, or in the absence of such designation, at the office of the agency head.

(6) 'Institutions of higher education' are the University of Washington, Washington State University, Central Washington University, Eastern Washington University, Western Washington University, The Evergreen State College, the various community colleges, and the governing boards of each of the above, and the various colleges, divisions, departments, or offices authorized by the governing board of the institution involved to act for the institution, all of which are sometimes referred to in this chapter as "institutions."

(7) 'Interpretive statement' means a written expression of the opinion of an agency, so designated by the agency head or its designee, as to the meaning of a statute or other provision of law, of a court decision, or of an agency order.

(8) (a) 'License' means a franchise, permit, certification, approval, registration, charter, or similar form of authorization required by law, but does not include (i) a license required solely for revenue purposes, or (ii) a certification of an exclusive bargaining representative, or similar status, under a collective bargaining law or similar statute, or (iii) a license, franchise, or permission for use of trademarks, symbols, and similar property owned or controlled by the agency.

(b) 'Licensing' includes the agency process respecting the grant, denial, renewal, revocation, suspension, annulment, withdrawal, or modification of a license.

(9) (a) 'Order,' without further qualification, means a written statement of particular applicability that finally determines the legal rights, duties, privileges, immunities, or other legal interests of a specific person or persons.

(b) Order of adoption means the official written statement by which an agency adopts, amends, or repeals a rule.

(10) 'Party in agency proceedings' or 'party' in a context so indicating, means:

(a) A person to whom the agency action is specifically directed; or
(b) A person named as a party to the agency proceeding or allowed to intervene or participate as a party in the agency proceeding.
NEW SECTION. Sec. 4. OPERATION OF CHAPTER IF IN CONFLICT WITH FEDERAL LAW. If any part of this chapter is found to be in conflict with federal requirements that are a condition precedent to the allocation of federal funds to the state, the conflicting part of this chapter is inoperative solely to the extent of the conflict and with respect to the agencies directly affected. The conflicting part of this chapter takes precedence over all other statutes now in existence or subsequently enacted that appear to diminish a right created or duty imposed by this chapter.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 5. WAIVER. Except to the extent precluded by another provision of law, a person may waive any right conferred upon that person by this chapter.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 6. SETTLEMENTS. Except to the extent precluded by another provision of law and subject to approval by agency order, settlement of matters that may make unnecessary more elaborate proceedings under this chapter is strongly encouraged. Agencies may establish by rule specific procedures for attempting and executing settlement of matters. This section does not require any party or other person to settle a matter.
NEW SECTION. Sec. 7. CONVERSION OF PROCEEDINGS. (1) When, during the course of an adjudicative or rule-making proceeding undertaken pursuant to this chapter, it becomes apparent that another form of proceeding under this chapter is necessary, in the public interest, or more appropriate to resolve issues affecting the participants, the presiding officer or other official responsible for the original proceeding, shall, on his or her own motion or on the motion of any party, advise the parties of necessary steps for conversion and, if within the official’s power, commence the new proceeding. Commencement of the new proceeding shall be accomplished pursuant to the procedural rules of the new proceeding, except that elements already performed need not be repeated.

(2) Where appropriate, a new proceeding may be commenced independently of the original proceeding or may replace the original proceeding.

(3) Conversion to a replacement proceeding shall not be undertaken where doing so would substantially prejudice the rights of any party.

(4) The record of the original proceeding shall be included in the record of a replacement proceeding to the extent feasible.

(5) The time of commencement of a replacement proceeding shall be considered to be the time of commencement of the original proceeding.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 8. VARIATION FROM TIME LIMITS. (1) The time limits set forth in this chapter for the taking of action by an agency or other person may be increased or decreased only as set forth in this section. Subsections (2), (3), (4), and (5) of this section are alternative standards.

(2) The time limits set forth in this chapter may be increased or decreased for an agency by rule of the agency or by rule of the chief administrative law judge if:

(a) The agency has an agency head composed of a body of individuals serving part time who do not regularly meet on a schedule that would allow compliance with the time limits of this chapter in the normal course of agency affairs;

(b) The agency does not have a permanent staff who could arrange agency affairs to comply with the time limits set forth in this chapter without substantial loss of efficiency and economy; and

(c) The rights of persons dealing with the agency are not substantially impaired.

(3) The time limits set forth in this chapter may be increased or decreased by agency rule if the agency determines that the change is necessary to the performance of its statutory duties. Agency rule may provide for emergency variation when required in a specific case.

(4) Time limits may be changed pursuant to section 2 of this act.

(5) Time limits may be waived pursuant to section 5 of this act.

(6) Any increase or decrease in the time limits set forth in this chapter shall be to new time limits that are reasonable under the specific circumstances.

(7) In any rule-making or adjudicative proceeding, any agency whose time limits vary from those set forth in this chapter shall provide reasonable and adequate notice of the pertinent time limits to persons affected. In an adjudicative proceeding, such notice may be given by the presiding or reviewing officer involved in the proceeding. In a rule-making proceeding, the notice may be given in the notice of proposed rule-making.

(8) Two years after the effective date of this section, the chief administrative law judge shall cause a survey to be made of variations by agencies from the time limits set forth in other sections of this chapter, and shall prepare a written report of the results of the survey to the office of the governor. The report shall be made immediately available to the public.

PART II.

PUBLIC ACCESS TO AGENCY RULES

NEW SECTION. Sec. 9. PUBLICATION OF REGISTER AND ADMINISTRATIVE CODE. (1) The requirements of this section are in addition to any publication requirements of chapter 42.17 RCW.

(2) Subject to the provisions of this chapter, the code reviser shall prescribe a uniform numbering system, form, and style for all proposed and adopted rules, and has authority to edit the rules for clarity and accuracy and to correct ministerial mistakes, but without changing the meaning of any rule.

(3) The code reviser shall publish a register in which the text of all rule-making actions filed during the appropriate register publication period shall appear.

(4) The code reviser shall cause the Washington Administrative Code to be compiled, indexed by subject, and published. All of the current, permanently effective rules of each agency shall be published and indexed in that publication. The code reviser shall also cause supplements to be published at least annually in a form compatible with the main compilation.

(5) The code reviser may omit from the register or the code any rules, the publication of which would be unduly cumbersome, expensive, or otherwise inexpedient, if such rules are made available on application to the adopting agency, and if the register or the code contains a notice stating the general subject matter of the rules that have been omitted and stating how copies of the record of the original proceeding may be obtained.

(6) The code reviser shall supply registers and codes upon request and without charge to state elected officials whose offices are created by Article II or Article III of the state Constitution... or by RCW 48.02.010, and without request or charge to county boards of law library trustees. Other persons may purchase these materials at a price fixed by the code reviser.

(7) Judicial notice shall be taken of rules filed and published as provided in this section.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 10. PUBLIC ACCESS TO INTERPRETIVE AND POLICY STATEMENTS. (1) The requirements of this section are subject to any publication or access requirements of chapter 42.17 RCW.

(2) Each agency and each branch, office, or subdivision of each agency shall maintain a current and dated compilation that is indexed by subject, containing all interpretive and policy statements of the agency, branch, office, or other subdivision that are so designated after the effective date of this section. Each compilation shall be available for public inspection and copying. Each agency shall maintain an interested persons roster, consisting of persons who have requested in writing to be notified of all interpretive and policy statements issued by that agency. The agencies shall update their interested person rosters once each year and eliminate persons who do not indicate a desire to continue on the interested persons roster. Whenever an agency issues an interpretive or policy statement, it shall send a copy of such statement to each person listed on the interested persons roster. The agency may charge a nominal fee to the interested persons for this service.

(3) Each agency may adopt rules designating the employees or classes of employees of the agency and of each branch, office, or subdivision who have the authority to make interpretive and policy statements.

(4) This section shall not be construed to require that interpretive and policy statements be uniform between branches, offices, or subdivisions of the same agency where uniformity is impracticable.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 11. PUBLIC INSPECTION AND COPYING OF AGENCY ORDERS. (1) Subject to the provisions of chapter 42.17 RCW, each agency shall:

(a) Make available for public inspection and copying all written final orders. An agency shall delete from those orders material to the extent required by any provision of law or necessary to prevent a clearly unwarranted invasion of privacy or release of trade secrets. In each case, the justification for the deletion must be explained in writing and attached to the order.

(b) Maintain and make available for public inspection and copying an index by name and subject of written final orders, issued after the effective date of this section, that the agency considers as a guide to future decision making.

(2) A written final order may not be relied on as precedent by an agency to the detriment of any person until it has been made available for public inspection and indexed in the manner described in subsection (1)(b) of this section. This provision is inapplicable to any person who has actual knowledge of the order. The agency has the burden of proving that knowledge, but may meet that burden by proving that the person has been properly served with a copy of the order.

(3) An agency may use an outside service to prepare the index specified in subsection (1)(b) of this section. Use of an outside service does not relieve the agency of the requirement to make the index available for public inspection and copying.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 12. DECLARATORY ORDERS. (1) Any person may petition an agency for a declaratory order as to the applicability to specified circumstances of a statute, rule, or order within the primary jurisdiction of the agency. The petition shall set forth facts and reasons on which the petitioner relies to show:

(a) That uncertainty necessitating resolution exists;

(b) That there is actual controversy arising from the uncertainty such that a declaratory order will not be merely an advisory opinion;

(c) That the uncertainty adversely affects petitioner;

(d) That the adverse effect of uncertainty on the petitioner outweighs any adverse effects on others or on the general public that may likely arise from the order requested; and

(e) That the petition complies with any additional requirements established by the agency under subsection (2) of this section.

The petition shall be verified by the petitioner.

(2) Each agency may adopt rules that provide for: (a) The form, contents, and filing of petitions for a declaratory order; (b) the procedural rights of persons in relation thereto; and (c) the disposition of those petitions. These rules may include a description of the classes of circumstances in which the agency will not enter a declaratory order, and shall be consistent with the public interest and with the general policy of this chapter to facilitate and encourage agencies to provide reliable advice.

(3) Within fifteen days after receipt of a petition for a declaratory order, the agency shall give notice of the petition to all persons to whom notice is required by law, and may give notice to any other person it deems desirable.

(4) Provisions of Part IV of this chapter apply to agency proceedings for declaratory orders only to the extent an agency so provides by rule or order.

(5) Within thirty days after receipt of a petition for a declaratory order an agency, in writing, shall do one of the following:
(a) Enter an order declaring the applicability of the statute, rule, or order in question to the specified circumstances;
(b) Set the matter for specified proceedings to be held no more than ninety days after receipt of the petition;
(c) Set a specified time no more than ninety days after receipt of the petition by which it will enter a declaratory order; or
(d) Decline to enter a declaratory order, stating the reasons for its action.
(e) An agency may decline to enter a declaratory order for reasons including, but not limited to, the following:
   (a) The plaintiff is not an interested party;
   (b) The lack of uncertainty necessitating resolution;
   (c) The lack of an actual controversy;
   (d) The lack of an adverse effect of uncertainty on the petitioner;
   (e) The adverse effects of a declaratory order on others or on the public, including the agency's costs in undertaking to reach a decision, outweighs any adverse effect of uncertainty on the petitioner;
   (f) The declaratory order requested is outside established budget constraints and agency priorities;
   (g) Any reason established by the agency pursuant to subsection (2) of this section; or
   (h) Any other proper reason.
(7) The time limits of subsection (b) and (c) of this section may be extended by the agency for good cause.
(8) An agency may not enter a declaratory order that would substantially prejudice the rights of a person who would be a necessary party and who does not consent in writing to the determination of the matter by a declaratory order proceeding.
(9) A copy of all orders entered in response to a petition for a declaratory order shall be mailed promptly to the petitioner and any other parties.
(10) A declaratory order has the same status as any other order entered in an agency adjudicative proceeding. Each declaratory order shall contain the names of all parties to the proceeding on which it is based, the particular facts on which it is based, and the reasons for its conclusions.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 13. REQUIRED RULE MAKING. (1) In addition to other rule-making requirements imposed by any provision of law, each agency shall, as soon as feasible and to the extent practicable for general application, adopt rules to set forth principles of law or policy that have been lawfully declared by the agency as the basis for its decisions in particular cases.
(2) Any person who claims that an agency has failed to adopt rules as required by this section may petition the agency to request the adoption of rules pursuant to section 34 of this act. An agency's failure to adopt rules as required by this section shall not invalidate an agency order or other action that is otherwise lawful.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 14. USE OF INTERPRETIVE AND POLICY STATEMENTS. In all situations where the adoption of rules is not feasible and practicable, an agency is encouraged to advise the public of its current opinions, approaches, and likely courses of action by means of interpretive and policy statements. Current interpretive and policy statements are advisory and shall not bind an agency to any particular future action or course of action in any particular case. However, agency actions shall be consistent with interpretive and policy statements unless there is a fair and rational basis for deviation which, in the public interest outweighs any hardship to a person from deviation. An agency is encouraged to convert long-standing interpretive and policy statements into rules.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 15. MODEL RULES OF PROCEDURE. The chief administrative law judge shall adopt model rules of procedure appropriate for use by as many agencies as possible. The model rules shall deal with all general functions and duties performed in common by the various agencies. Each agency shall adopt as much of the model rules as is practicable under its circumstances. Any agency adopting a rule of procedure that differs from the model rules shall include in the order of adoption a finding stating the reasons why the relevant portions of the model rules were impracticable under the circumstances.

PART III.
RULE-MAKING PROCEDURES

NEW SECTION. Sec. 16. SOLICITATION OF COMMENTS BEFORE NOTICE PUBLICATION. (1) In addition to seeking information by other methods, an agency may, before publication of a notice of a proposed rule adoption under section 18 of this act, solicit comments from the public on a subject of possible rule making under active consideration within the agency, by causing notice to be published in the state register of the subject matter and indicating where, when, and how persons may comment.
(2) Each agency may appoint committees to comment, before publication of a notice of proposed rule adoption under section 18 of this act, on the subject of a possible rule-making action under active consideration within the agency.
(3) Each agency shall designate a rules coordinator, who shall have knowledge of the subjects of rules being proposed or prepared within the agency for proposal, maintain the records of any such action, and respond to public inquiries about possible or proposed rules and the identity of agency staff persons working, reviewing, or commenting on them. The office and mailing address of the rules coordinator shall be published in the state register at the time of designation and in the first issue of each calendar year thereafter for the duration of the designation.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 17. RULE-MAKING DOCKET. (1) Each agency shall maintain a current public rule-making docket. The rule-making docket shall contain a listing of the subject of each rule currently being prepared by the agency for proposal under section 18 of this act, the name and address of agency personnel with whom persons may communicate with respect to the proposal, and an indication of the present status of that possible rule.

(2) The rule-making docket shall contain a listing of each pending rule-making proceeding. A rule-making proceeding is pending from the time it is commenced by publication of a notice of proposed rule adoption under section 18 of this act until it is terminated under section 20(3) of this act.

(3) For each rule-making proceeding, the docket shall indicate all of the following:
   (a) The subject of the proposed rule;
   (b) A citation to all notices relating to the proceeding that have been published in the state register under section 18 of this act;
   (c) The place where written submissions about the proposed rule may be inspected;
   (d) The time during which written submissions will be accepted;
   (e) The current timetable established for the agency proceeding, including the time and place of any rule-making hearing, the date of the rule's adoption, filing, indexing, publication, and its effective date.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 18. NOTICE OF PROPOSED RULE MAKING. (1) At least twenty days before the rule-making hearing at which the agency receives public comment regarding adoption of a rule, the agency shall cause notice of the hearing to be published in the state register. The publication constitutes the proposal of a rule. The notice shall include all of the following:
   (a) A short explanation of the purpose of the rule, including, in the case of a proposal that would modify existing rules, a short description of the changes that the proposal would make;
   (b) The specific legal authority for the proposed rule;
   (c) Subject to sections 9(5) and 26 of this act, the text of the proposed rule;
   (d) Where, when, and how persons may present their views on the proposed rule;
   (e) The time and place of adoption of the proposed rule;
   (f) A brief analysis describing the expected effects of the proposed rule, and identifying the classes of persons believed by the agency to be substantially affected by the proposal; and
   (g) A written analysis of the proposed rule, including but not limited to background information and the effects of the rule, and any anticipated changes in state revenues and state expenditures; and
   (h) A small business economic impact statement if required by chapter 19.85 RCW.

(2) No later than three days after its publication in the state register, the agency shall cause a copy of the notice of proposed rule adoption to be mailed to each person who has made a timely request to the agency for a mailed copy of such notices. An agency may charge persons for the actual cost of providing them individual mailed copies of those notices.

(3) In addition to the notices required by subsections (1) and (2) of this section, an institution of higher education shall cause the notice to be published in the campus or standard newspaper of the institution and in a newspaper of general circulation in the area at least seven days before the rule-making hearing.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 19. PUBLIC PARTICIPATION IN RULE MAKING. (1) Written comment about the proposed rule, including supporting data, shall be accepted by the agency if received no later than the time and date specified in the notice, or such later time and date established at the rule-making hearing to afford interested persons the opportunity to present comments.

(2) The agency shall provide an opportunity for oral comment to be received by the agency in a rule-making hearing.

(3) The agency head, a member of the agency head, or a presiding officer designated by the agency head shall preside at the rule-making hearing. Rule-making hearings shall be open to the public. The agency shall cause a record to be made of the hearing by stenographic, mechanical, or electronic means. Unless the agency head presides or is present at substantially all the hearings, the presiding official shall prepare a memorandum for consideration by the agency head, summarizing the contents of the presentations made at the rule-making hearing. The summarizing memorandum is a public document and shall be made available to any person in accordance with chapter 42.17 RCW.

(4) Rule-making hearings are legislative in character and shall be reasonably conducted by the presiding official to afford interested persons the opportunity to present comment. Rule-
NEW SECTION. Sec. 20. TIME AND MANNER OF RULE ADOPTION. (1) Before adopting a rule, an agency shall consider the written and oral submissions, or any memorandum summarizing oral submissions.

(2) An agency may not adopt a rule before the time established in the published notice, or such later time established on the record or by publication in the state register.

(3) A rule-making proceeding terminates upon the adoption or rejection of a proposed rule by the agency or, if no action is taken, upon the expiration of one hundred eighty days after publication in the register of the text as last proposed.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 21. VARIANCE BETWEEN PROPOSED AND FINAL RULE. (1) An agency may not adopt a rule that is substantially different from the rule proposed in the published notice of proposed rule adoption or a supplemental notice in the proceeding. When an agency contemplates making a substantial variance from a proposed rule described in a published notice, it may file a supplemental notice with the code reviser meeting the requirements of section 18 of this act and reopen the proceedings for public comment on the proposed variance, or the agency may reject the proposed rule and commence a new rule-making proceeding to adopt a substantially different rule. If a new rule-making proceeding is commenced, relevant public comment received regarding the initial proposed rule shall be considered in the new proceeding.

(2) The following factors shall be considered in determining whether an adopted rule is substantially different from the rule proposed in the published notice of proposed rule adoption or amendment:

(a) The extent to which a reasonable person affected by the adopted rule would have understood that the published proposed rule would affect his or her interests;

(b) The extent to which the subject of the adopted rule or the issues determined in it are different from the subject or issues determined in the published proposed rule; and

(c) The extent to which the effects of the adopted rule differ from the effects of the published proposed rule.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 22. FAILURE TO GIVE TIMELY NOTICE. Except for emergency rules adopted under section 23 of this act, when twenty days' notice of an agency's intended action to adopt, amend, or repeal a rule has not been published in the state register as required in section 18 of this act, the code reviser shall not publish such rule and such rule shall not be effective for any purpose.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 23. EMERGENCY RULES. (1) Where an agency for good cause finds that the immediate adoption, amendment, or repeal of a rule is necessary for the preservation of the public health, safety, or general welfare, and that observing the requirements of notice and opportunity to present comment would be contrary to the public interest, the agency may dispense with those requirements and may adopt, amend, or repeal the rule on an emergency basis. The agency shall incorporate the required finding and a brief statement of the reasons therefore in the order of adoption for the emergency rule. If contested, the burden is upon the party urging the validity of the rule to establish the condition for action under this section.

(2) A rule or amendment adopted under this section takes effect upon filing with the code reviser and shall not remain in effect longer than ninety days after filing.

(3) This section does not relieve the agency from the requirements of conforming to appropriate sections of the Regulatory Fairness Act, RCW 19.85.030 and 19.85.040.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 24. CONCISE EXPLANATORY STATEMENT. (1) At the time it files an adopted rule with the code reviser or within thirty days thereafter, an agency shall place into the rule-making record maintained under section 27 of this act a concise explanatory statement about the rule, identifying (a) the agency's reasons for adopting the rule, and (b) a description of any difference between the text of the proposed rule as published in the register and the text of the rule as adopted, stating the reasons for change.

(2) Upon the request of any interested person within thirty days after adoption of a rule, the agency shall issue a concise statement of the principal reasons for overruling the considerations urged against its adoption.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 25. ORDER ADOPTING RULE. CONTENTS. The order of adoption by which each rule is adopted by an agency shall contain all of the following:

(1) The date the agency adopted the rule;

(2) A concise statement of the purpose of the rule;

(3) A reference to all rules repealed, amended, or suspended by the rule;

(4) A reference to the specific statutory or other authority authorizing adoption of the rule;

(5) Any findings required by any provision of law as a precondition to adoption or effectiveness of the rule; and

(6) The effective date of the rule if other than that specified in section 30(1) of this act.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 26. INCORPORATION BY REFERENCE. An agency may incorporate by reference and without publishing the incorporated matter in full, all or any part of a code, standard, rule, or regulation that has been adopted by an agency of the United States, of this state, or of another state, by a political subdivision of this state, or by a generally recognized organization or association if incorporation of the full text in the agency rules would be unduly cumbosme, expensive, or otherwise inexpedient. The reference in agency rules shall fully identify the incorporated matter. An agency may incorporate by reference such matter in its rules only if the agency, organization, or association originally issuing that matter makes copies readily available to the public. The incorporating agency shall have, maintain, and make available for public inspection a copy of the incorporated matter. The rule must state where copies of the incorporated matter are available.

NEW SECTION, Sec. 27. RULE-MAKING RECORD. (1) Each agency shall maintain an official rule-making record for each rule that it (a) proposes by publication in the state register, or (b) adopts. The record, and materials incorporated by reference, shall be available for public inspection.

(2) The agency rule-making record shall contain all of the following:

(a) Copies of all publications in the state register with respect to the rule or the proceeding upon which the rule is based;

(b) Copies of any portions of the agency's public rule-making docket containing entries relating to the rule or the proceeding on which the rule is based;

(c) All written petitions, requests, submissions, and comments received by the agency and all other written material regarded by the agency as important to adoption of the rule or the proceeding on which the rule is based;

(d) Any official transcript of oral presentations made in the proceeding on which the rule is based or, if not transcribed, any tape recording or stenographic record of them, and any memorandum prepared by a presiding official summarizing the contents of those presentations:

(e) The explanatory statement required by section 24 of this act;

(f) All petitions for exceptions to, amendment of, or repeal or suspension of, the rule; and

(g) Any other material placed in the record by the agency.

(3) Internal agency documents are exempt from inclusion in the rule-making record under subsection (2) of this section to the extent they constitute preliminary drafts, notes, recommendations, and intra-agency memoranda in which opinions are expressed or policies formulated or recommended, except that a specific document is not exempt from inclusion when it is publicly cited by an agency in connection with its decision.

(4) Upon judicial review, the record required by this section constitutes the official agency rule-making record with respect to that rule. Unless otherwise required by another provision of law, the official agency rule-making record need not be the exclusive basis for agency action on that rule.

NEW SECTION, Sec. 28. SUBSTANTIAL COMPLIANCE WITH PROCEDURES. No rule proposed after the effective date of this act is valid unless it is adopted in substantial compliance with sections 16 through 33 of this act. Inadvertent failure to mail notice of a proposed rule adoption' to any person as required by section 18(2) of this act does not invalidate a rule. No action brought based upon this section may be maintained to contest the validity of any rule unless it is commenced within two years after the effective date of the rule.

NEW SECTION, Sec. 29. FILING OF RULES. Each agency shall file in the office of the code reviser each rule that it adopts under this chapter, except for rules contained in tariffs filed with or published by the Washington utilities and transportation commission. The code reviser shall place upon each rule a notation of the time and date of filing and keep a permanent register open to public inspection of all filed rules. In filing a rule, each agency shall use the standard form prescribed for this purpose by the code reviser.

NEW SECTION, Sec. 30. EFFECTIVE DATE OF RULES. (1) Except as otherwise provided in this section or section 23 of this act, each rule adopted after the effective date of this act, becomes effective thirty days after its filing with the code reviser.

(2) A rule may become effective on a date later than specified in subsection (1) of this section if a later date is required by the state or federal Constitution, a statute, or court order, or is specified in the order adopting the rule.

(3) A rule may become effective immediately upon its filing with the code reviser or on any subsequent date earlier than that established by subsection (1) of this section, if the agency establishes that effective date and finds that:

(a) Such action is required by the state or federal Constitution, a statute, or court order;

(b) The rule only delays the effective date of another rule that is not yet effective; or

(c) The earlier effective date is necessary because of imminent peril to the public health, safety, or welfare.

The finding and a brief statement of the reasons therefor required by this subsection shall be made a part of the order adopting the rule.

(4) With respect to a rule made effective pursuant to subsection (3) of this section, each agency shall make reasonable efforts to make the effective date known to persons who may be affected by it.

NEW SECTION, Sec. 31. RULES ON DRAFTING, FILING, AND PUBLICATION OF RULES. The code reviser may adopt rules to implement the provisions of this chapter relating to the filing and publication of rules and notices of intention to adopt rules, including the form and style to be employed by the various agencies in the drafting of rules and notices.
NEW SECTION. Sec. 32. COMPLIANCE WITH WAC STYLE, FORMAT, AND NUMBERING SYSTEM. After the rules of an agency have been published by the code reviser:
(1) All agency orders amending or rescinding such rules, or creating new rules, shall be formulated in accordance with the style, format, and numbering system of the Washington Administrative Code;
(2) Amendments of previously adopted rules shall incorporate any editorial corrections made by the code reviser; and
(3) Any subsequent printing or reprinting of such rules shall be printed in the style and format (including the numbering system) of such code.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 33. FORMAT AND STYLE OF AMENDATORY AND NEW RULES—EFFECT OF FAILURE TO COMPLY. (1) Rules proposed or adopted by an agency under this chapter that amend existing sections of the administrative code shall have the words that are amendatory to the existing sections underlined. Any matter to be deleted from an existing section shall be indicated by setting forth the matter in full, enclosed by double parentheses, and the deleted matter shall be lined out with hyphens. A new section shall be designated "NEW SECTION" in upper case type, and the designation shall be underlined, but the text of the new section shall not be underlined. No rule may be forwarded by any agency to the code reviser, nor may the code reviser accept for filing any rule unless the format of the rule complies with this section.
(2) Once the rule has been formally adopted by the agency the code reviser need not, except with regard to the register published under section 9(3) of this act, include the items enumerated in subsection (1) of this section in the official code.
(3) Any addition to or deletion from an existing code section that is not filed by the agency in the style prescribed by subsection (1) of this section is in all respects ineffectual, and shall not be shown in subsequent publications or codifications of that section unless the ineffectual portion of the rule is clearly distinguished and an explanatory note is appended to it by the code reviser in accordance with section 9(2) of this act.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 34. PETITION FOR ADOPTION OF RULE. Any person may petition an agency to request the adoption, amendment, or repeal of a rule. Each agency may prescribe by rule the form of the petition and the procedure for its submission, consideration, and disposition. Within sixty days after submission of a petition, the agency shall either (1) deny the petition in writing, stating the reasons for the denial, or (2) initiate rule-making proceedings in accordance with the provisions of this chapter.

PART IV. ADJUDICATIVE PROCEEDINGS

NEW SECTION. Sec. 35. ADJUDICATIVE PROCEEDINGS. (1) Adjudicative proceedings under section 36 of this act are governed by sections 36 through 64 of this act, except as otherwise provided:
(a) By a rule that adopts the procedures for brief adjudicative proceedings in accordance with the standards provided in section 61 of this act for those proceedings;
(b) By section 59 of this act pertaining to emergency adjudicative proceedings; or
(c) By section 12 of this act pertaining to declaratory proceedings.
(2) Sections 35 through 64 of this act do not apply to rule-making proceedings unless another statute expressly so requires.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 36. ADJUDICATIVE PROCEEDINGS—COMMENCEMENT—WHEN REQUIRED. (1) Within the scope of its authority, an agency may commence an adjudicative proceeding at any time with respect to a matter within the agency’s jurisdiction.
(2) When required by law or constitutional right, and upon the timely application of any person an agency shall commence an adjudicative proceeding before the entry of an order unless the agency lacks authority to conduct the proceeding or lacks jurisdiction of the subject matter.
(3) An agency may require by rule that an application for an adjudicative proceeding be in writing and that it be filed at a specific address and in a specified manner.
(4) An application for an agency to enter an order includes an application for the agency to conduct appropriate adjudicative proceedings, whether or not the applicant expressly requests those proceedings.
(5) An adjudicative proceeding commences when the agency or a presiding officer:
(a) Notices a party that a prehearing conference, hearing, or other stage of an adjudicative proceeding will be conducted; or
(b) Begins to take action on a matter that appropriately may be determined by an adjudicative proceeding unless this action is:
(I) An investigation for the purpose of determining whether an adjudicative proceeding should be conducted; or
(II) A decision that, under section 38(1) of this act, the agency may make without conducting an adjudicative proceeding.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 37. DECISION NOT TO CONDUCT AN ADJUDICATION. If an agency decides not to conduct an adjudicative proceeding in response to an application, the agency shall furnish the applicant a copy of its decision in writing, with a brief statement of the agency’s reasons and of any administrative review available to the applicant.
NEW SECTION. Sec. 38. AGENCY ACTION ON APPLICATIONS FOR ADJUDICATION. After receipt of an application for an adjudicative proceeding, other than a declaratory order, an agency shall proceed as follows:

(1) Except in situations governed by subsection (2) or (3) of this section, within ninety days after receipt of the application or of the response to a timely request made by the agency under subsection (2) of this section, the agency shall do one of the following:

(a) Approve or deny the application, in whole or in part, on the basis of brief or emergency adjudicative proceedings, if those proceedings are available under this chapter for disposition of the matter;

(b) Commence an adjudicative proceeding in accordance with this chapter; or

(c) Dispose of the application in accordance with section 37 of this act:

(2) Within thirty days after receipt of the application, the agency shall examine the application, notify the applicant of any obvious errors or omissions, request any additional information the agency wishes to obtain and is permitted by law to require, and notify the applicant of the name, mailing address, and telephone number of an office that may be contacted regarding the application:

(3) If the application seeks relief that is not available when the application is filed but may be available in the future, the agency may proceed to make a determination of eligibility within the time limits provided in subsection (1) of this section. If the agency determines that the applicant is eligible, the agency shall maintain the application on the agency’s list of eligible applicants as provided by law and, upon request, shall notify the applicant of the status of the application.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 39. LICENSES AND LICENSING. (1) Unless otherwise provided by law, applications for rate changes and uncontested applications for licenses may, in the agency’s discretion, be conducted as adjudicative proceedings. Applications for licenses that are contested by a person having standing to contest under law and review of denials of applications for licenses or rate changes, except as specified in RCW 66.08.150, shall be conducted as adjudicative proceedings.

(2) An agency may not revoke, suspend, modify, annul, withdraw, or amend a license unless the agency gives notice of an opportunity for an appropriate adjudicative proceeding in accordance with this chapter or other statute.

(3) This section does not preclude an agency from (a) taking immediate action to protect the public interest in accordance with section 59 of this act or in accordance with a provision of law that expressly authorizes the agency to issue a cease and desist order or (b) adopting rules, otherwise within the scope of its authority, pertaining to a class of licensees, including rules affecting the existing licenses of a class of licensees.

(4) When a licensee has made timely and sufficient application for the renewal of a license or a new license with reference to any activity of a continuing nature, an existing full, temporary, or provisional license does not expire until the application has been finally determined by the agency.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 40. PRESIDING OFFICERS—DISQUALIFICATION, SUBSTITUTION. (1) Except as provided in subsection (2) of this section, the agency head, one or more members of the agency head, a person designated to make the final decision and enter the final order, or one or more administrative law judges assigned by the office of administrative hearings in accordance with chapter 34.12 RCW may, in the discretion of the agency head, be the presiding officer in an adjudicative proceeding.

(2) An agency expressly exempted under RCW 34.12.020(4) or other statute from the provisions of chapter 34.12 RCW shall designate a presiding officer as provided by rules adopted by the agency.

(3) Any individual serving or designated to serve alone or with others as presiding officer is subject to disqualification for bias, prejudice, interest, or any other cause provided in this chapter or for which a judge is disqualified.

(4) Any party may petition for the disqualification of an individual promptly after receipt of notice indicating that the individual will preside or, if later, promptly upon discovering facts establishing grounds for disqualification.

(5) The individual whose disqualification is requested shall determine whether to grant the petition, stating facts and reasons for the determination.

(6) If a substitute is required for an individual who becomes unavailable as a result of disqualification or any other reason, the substitute must be appointed by the appropriate appointing authority.

(7) Any action taken by a duly appointed substitute for an unavailable individual is as effective as if taken by the unavailable individual.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 41. REPRESENTATION. (1) Any party may participate personally or, if the party is a corporation or other artificial person, by a duly authorized representative.

(2) Whether or not participating in person, any party may be advised and represented at the party’s own expense by counsel or, if permitted by provision of law, other representative.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 42. CONFERENCE—PROCEDURE AND ORDER. (1) Agencies are authorized to hold prehearing or other conferences for the settlement or simplification of issues.
Every agency shall by rule describe the conditions under which and the manner in which conferences are to be held.

(2) In the discretion of the presiding officer, and where the rights of the parties will not be prejudiced thereby, all or part of the conference may be conducted by telephone, television, or other electronic means. Each participant in the conference must have an opportunity to participate effectively in, to hear, and, if technically and economically feasible, to see the entire proceeding while it is taking place.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 43. NOTICE OF HEARING. (1) The agency or the office of administrative hearings shall set the time and place of the hearing and give not less than seven days advance written notice to all parties and to all persons who have filed written petitions to intervene in the matter.

(2) The notice shall include:

(a) Unless otherwise ordered by the presiding officer, the names and mailing addresses of all parties to whom notice is being given and, if known, the names and addresses of their representatives;

(b) Where the agency intends to appear, the mailing address and telephone number of the office designated to represent the agency in the proceeding;

(c) The official file or other reference number and the name of the proceeding;

(d) A statement of the date, time, place, and nature of the hearing;

(e) A statement of the legal authority and jurisdiction under which the hearing is to be held;

(f) The name, official title, mailing address, and telephone number of the presiding officer, if known;

(g) A short and plain statement of matters asserted by the agency; and

(h) A statement that a party who fails to attend or participate in a hearing or other stage of an adjudicative proceeding may be held in default in accordance with this chapter.

(3) If the agency, pursuant to subsection (2)(g) of this section, is unable to state the matters asserted in detail at the time the notice is served, the initial notice may be limited to a statement of the issues involved, or, where the proceeding is initiated by other than the agency, to the inclusion of a copy of the initiating document. Thereafter, upon request, a more definite and detailed statement shall be furnished.

(4) The notice may include any other matters considered desirable.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 44. PLEADINGS, BRIEFS, MOTIONS, SERVICE. (1) The presiding officer, at appropriate stages of the proceedings, shall give all parties full opportunity to submit and respond to pleadings, motions, objections, and offers of settlement.

(2) At appropriate stages of the proceedings, the presiding officer may give all parties full opportunity to file briefs, proposed findings of fact and conclusions of law, and proposed initial or final orders.

(3) A party that files a pleading, brief, or other paper with the agency or presiding officer shall serve copies on all other parties, unless a different procedure is specified by agency rule.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 45. DEFAULT. (1) If a party fails to attend or participate in a hearing or other stage of an adjudicative proceeding, the presiding officer may serve upon all parties a default or other dispositive order, which shall include a statement of the grounds for the order.

(2) Within seven days after service of a default order, or such longer period as provided by agency rule, the party against whom it was entered may file a written motion requesting that the order be vacated, and stating the grounds relied upon. During the time within which a party may file a written motion under this subsection, the presiding officer may adjourn the proceedings or conduct them without the participation of that party, having due regard for the interests of justice and the orderly and prompt conduct of the proceedings.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 46. INTERVENTION. (1) The presiding officer may grant a petition for intervention at any time, upon determining that the petitioner qualifies as an intervenor under any provision of law and that the intervention sought is in the interests of justice and will not impair the orderly and prompt conduct of the proceedings.

(2) If a petitioner qualifies for intervention, the presiding officer may impose conditions upon the intervenor's participation in the proceedings, either at the time that intervention is granted or at any subsequent time. Conditions may include:

(a) Limiting the intervenor's participation to designated issues in which the intervenor has a particular interest demonstrated by the petition; and

(b) Limiting the intervenor's use of discovery, cross-examination, and other procedures so as to promote the orderly and prompt conduct of the proceedings; and

(c) Requiring two or more intervenors to combine their presentations of evidence and argument, cross-examination, discovery, and other participation in the proceedings.

(3) The presiding officer shall timely grant or deny each pending petition for intervention, specifying any conditions, and briefly stating the reasons for the order. The presiding officer may modify the order at any time, stating the reasons for the modification. The presiding officer shall promptly give notice of the decision granting, denying, or modifying intervention to the petitioner for intervention and to all parties.
NEW SECTION. Sec. 47. SUBPOENAS, DISCOVERY, AND PROTECTIVE ORDERS. (1) The presiding officer may issue subpoenas and may enter protective orders. A subpoena may be issued with like effect by the agency or the attorney of record in whose behalf the witness is required to appear.

(2) An agency may by rule determine whether or not discovery is to be available in adjudicative proceedings and, if so, which forms of discovery may be used.

(3) Except as otherwise provided by agency rules, the presiding officer may decide whether to permit the taking of depositions, the requesting of admissions, and all other procedures authorized by rules 26 through 36 of the superior court civil rules. The presiding officer may condition use of discovery on a showing of necessity and unavailability by other means. In exercising such discretion, the presiding officer shall consider: (a) Whether all parties are represented by counsel; (b) whether undue expense or delay in bringing the case to hearing will result; (c) whether the discovery will promote the orderly and prompt conduct of the proceeding; and (d) whether the interests of justice will be promoted.

(4) Subpoenas issued and discovery orders and protective orders entered under this section may be enforced under the provisions of this chapter on civil enforcement of agency action.

(5) Witnesses shall be paid the same fees and allowances, in the same manner and under the same conditions, as provided for witnesses of the courts of this state by chapter 2.40 RCW and RCW 5.56.010. The agency may fix the allowance for meals and lodging in a like manner as the courts as provided in RCW 5.56.010. The person initiating an adjudicative proceeding or the party requesting issuance of the subpoena shall pay the fees and allowances and the cost of producing records required to be produced by subpoena.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 48. PROCEDURE AT HEARING. At a hearing:

(1) The presiding officer shall regulate the course of the proceedings, in conformity with the prehearing order, if any.

(2) To the extent necessary for full disclosure of all relevant facts and issues, the presiding officer shall afford to all parties the opportunity to respond, present evidence and argument, conduct cross-examination and submit rebuttal evidence, except as restricted by a limited grant of intervention or by the prehearing order.

(3) In the discretion of the presiding officer, and where the rights of the parties will not be prejudiced thereby, all or part of the hearing may be conducted by telephone, television, or other electronic means. Each party in the hearing must have an opportunity to participate effectively in, to hear, and, if technically and economically feasible, to see the entire proceeding while it is taking place.

(4) The presiding officer shall cause the hearing to be recorded by a method chosen by the agency. The agency is not required, at its expense, to prepare a transcript, unless required to do so by a provision of law. Any party, at the party’s expense, may cause a reporter approved by the agency to prepare a transcript from the agency’s record, or cause additional recordings to be made during the hearing if the making of the additional recording does not cause distraction or disruption.

(5) The hearing is open to public observation, except for the parts that the presiding officer states to be closed under a provision of law expressly authorizing closure or under a protective order issued by the presiding officer pursuant to rules adopted by the chief administrative law judge. A presiding officer may order the exclusion of witnesses upon a showing of good cause. To the extent that the hearing is conducted by telephone, television, or other electronic means, and is not closed, the availability of public observation is satisfied by giving members of the public an opportunity, at reasonable times, to hear or inspect the agency’s record, and to inspect any transcript obtained by the agency.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 49. EVIDENCE. OFFICIAL NOTICE. (1) Evidence, including hearsay evidence, is admissible if in the judgment of the presiding officer it is the kind of evidence on which reasonably prudent persons are accustomed to rely in the conduct of their serious affairs. The presiding officer shall exclude evidence that is excludable on constitutional or statutory grounds or on the basis of evidentiary privilege recognized in the courts of this state. The presiding officer may exclude evidence that is irrelevant, immaterial, or unduly repetitious.

(2) Where not inconsistent with subsection (1) of this section, the presiding officer shall refer to the Washington Rules of Evidence as guidelines for evidentiary rulings. Notwithstanding subsection (1) of this section, an agency may provide by rule that the Washington Rules of Evidence are applicable in adjudicative proceedings that, by express provision of statute, are made subject to de novo jury review of the administrative record of the adjudicative proceeding.

(3) All testimony of parties and witnesses shall be made under oath or affirmation.

(4) Any part of the evidence may be received in written form if doing so will expedite the hearing without substantial prejudice to the interests of any party.

(5) Documentary evidence may be received in the form of a copy or excerpt. Upon request, parties must be given an opportunity to compare the copy with the original if available.
(6) Official notice may be taken of (a) any fact that could be judicially noticed in the courts of this state, (b) technical or scientific matters within the agency's specialized knowledge, and (c) codes or standards that have been adopted by an agency of the United States, of this state or of another state, or by a nationally recognized organization or association. Parties shall be notified either before or during hearing, or by reference in preliminary reports or otherwise, of the specific facts or material so noticed and the sources thereof, including any staff memorandum and data, and they shall be afforded an opportunity to contest the facts and material so noticed. A party proposing that official notice be taken may be required to produce a copy of the material to be noticed.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 50. EX PARTE COMMUNICATIONS. (1) A presiding officer may not communicate, directly or indirectly, regarding any issue in the proceeding other than communications necessary to procedural aspects of maintaining an orderly process, with any person employed by the agency without notice and opportunity for all parties to participate, except as provided in this subsection:

(a) Where the ultimate legal authority of an agency is vested in a multimember body, and where that body presides at an adjudication, members of the body may communicate with one another regarding the proceeding:

(b) Any presiding officer may receive aid from legal counsel, or from staff assistants who are subject to the presiding officer's supervision; and

(c) Presiding officers may communicate with other employees or consultants of the agency who have not participated in the proceeding in any manner, and who are not engaged in any investigative or prosecutorial functions in the same or a factually related case.

(d) This subsection does not apply to communications required for the disposition of ex parte matters specifically authorized by statute.

(2) Unless required for the disposition of ex parte matters specifically authorized by statute or unless necessary to procedural aspects of maintaining an orderly process, a presiding officer may not communicate, directly or indirectly, regarding any issue in the proceeding, with any person not employed by the agency who has a direct or indirect interest in the outcome of the proceeding, without notice and opportunity for all parties to participate.

(3) Unless necessary to procedural aspects of maintaining an orderly process, persons to whom a presiding officer may not communicate under subsections (1) and (2) of this section may not communicate with presiding officers without notice and opportunity for all parties to participate.

(4) If, before serving as presiding officer in an adjudicative proceeding, a person receives an ex parte communication of a type that could not properly be received while serving, the person, promptly after starting to serve, shall disclose the communication in the manner prescribed in subsection (5) of this section.

(5) A presiding officer who receives an ex parte communication in violation of this section shall place on the record the pending matter all written communications received, all written responses to the communications, and a memorandum stating the substance of all oral communications received, all responses made, and the identity of each person from whom the presiding officer received an ex parte communication. The presiding officer shall advise all parties that these matters have been placed on the record. Upon request made within ten days after notice of the ex parte communication, any party desiring to rebut the communication shall be allowed to place a written rebuttal statement on the record. Portions of the record pertaining to ex parte communications or rebuttal statements do not constitute evidence of any fact at issue in the matter unless a party moves the admission of any portion of the record for purposes of establishing a fact at issue and that portion is admitted pursuant to section 48 of this act.

(6) If necessary to eliminate the effect of an ex parte communication received in violation of this section, a presiding officer who receives the communication may be disqualified, and the portions of the record pertaining to the communication may be sealed by protective order.

(7) The agency shall, and any party may, report any violation of this section to appropriate authorities for any disciplinary proceedings provided by law. In addition, each agency by rule may provide for appropriate sanctions, including default, for any violations of this section.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 51. SEPARATION OF FUNCTIONS. (1) A person who has served as investigator, prosecutor, or advocate in an adjudicative proceeding or in its prejudicative stage, or one who is subject to the authority, direction, or discretion of such a person, may not serve as a presiding officer in the same proceeding.

(2) A person, including an agency head, who has participated in a determination of probable cause or other equivalent preliminary determination in an adjudicative proceeding may serve as presiding officer or assist or advise a presiding officer in the same proceeding unless a party demonstrates grounds for disqualification in accordance with section 40 of this act.

(3) A person may serve as presiding officer at successive stages of the same adjudicative proceeding unless a party demonstrates grounds for disqualification in accordance with section 40 of this act.
NEW SECTION. Sec. 52. FINAL ORDER, INITIAL ORDER. (1) The presiding officer, as authorized by law, shall:
(a) Enter a final order; or
(b) Enter an initial order; or
(c) With respect to agencies exempt from chapter 34.12 RCW, transmit a full and complete record of the proceedings, including such comments upon demeanor of witnesses as the presiding officer deems relevant, to each agency official who is to enter a final or initial order after considering the record and evidence so transmitted.
(2) Each final or initial order shall include a statement of findings and conclusions, and the reasons and bases therefor, on all the material issues of fact, law, or discretion presented on the record, including the remedy or sanction and, if applicable, the action taken on a petition for a stay of effectiveness. Any findings based substantially on credibility of evidence or demeanor of witnesses shall be so identified. Findings set forth in language that is essentially a repetition or paraphrase of the relevant provision of law shall be accompanied by a concise and explicit statement of the underlying evidence of record to support the findings. The order shall also include a statement of the available procedures and time limits for seeking reconsideration or other administrative relief. An initial order shall include a statement of any circumstances under which the initial order, without further notice, may become a final order.
(3) Findings of fact shall be based exclusively on the evidence of record in the adjudicative proceeding and on matters officially noticed in that proceeding. Findings shall be based on the kind of evidence on which reasonably prudent persons are accustomed to rely in the conduct of their serious affairs. Unless an agency has adopted a rule under section 49(2) of this act, findings may be based on such evidence even if it would be inadmissible in a civil trial, but any such findings shall be based on the best evidence reasonably obtainable in order that the parties' opportunities to confront witnesses and rebut evidence are not unduly abridged.
(4) Where it bears on the issues presented, the agency's experience, technical competency, and specialized knowledge may be used in the evaluation of evidence.
(5) If a person serving or designated to serve as presiding officer becomes unavailable for any reason before entry of the final order or initial order, a substitute presiding officer shall be appointed as provided in section 40 of this act. The substitute presiding officer shall use any existing record and may conduct any further proceedings appropriate in the interests of justice.
(6) The presiding officer may allow the parties a designated time after conclusion of the hearing for the submission of memos, briefs, or proposed findings.
(7) A final or initial order under this section shall be served in writing within ninety days after conclusion of the hearing or after submission of memos, briefs, or proposed findings in accordance with subsection (6) of this section unless this period is waived or extended for good cause shown.
(8) The presiding officer shall cause copies of the final order or initial order to be delivered to each party and to the agency head.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 53. FINAL ORDERS. (1) As authorized by law, an agency may by rule provide that initial orders in specified classes of cases may become final without further agency action unless, within a specified period, (a) the agency head upon its own motion determines that the initial order should be reviewed, or (b) a party to the proceedings files exceptions to the initial order. Upon occurrence of either event, notice shall be given to all parties to the proceeding.
(2) As provided by law, an agency head may appoint a person to review initial orders and to prepare and enter final agency orders.
(3) Sections 40 and 50 of this act apply to any person reviewing an initial order on behalf of an agency as part of the decision process, and to persons communicating with them, to the same extent that it is applicable to presiding officers.
(4) The officer reviewing the initial order (including the agency head reviewing an initial order) is, for the purposes of this chapter, termed the reviewing officer. The reviewing officer shall exercise all the decision-making power that the reviewing officer would have had to decide and enter the final order had the reviewing officer presided over the hearing, except to the extent that the issues subject to review are limited by a provision of law or by the reviewing officer upon notice to all the parties. In reviewing findings of fact by presiding officers, the reviewing officers shall give due regard to the presiding officer's opportunity to observe the witnesses.
(5) The reviewing officer shall personally consider the whole record or such portions of it as may be cited by the parties.
(6) The reviewing officer shall afford each party an opportunity to present written argument and may afford each party an opportunity to present oral argument.
(7) The reviewing officer shall enter a final order disposing of the proceeding or remand the matter for further proceedings, with instructions to the presiding officer who entered the initial order. Upon remanding a matter, the reviewing officer shall order such temporary relief as is authorized and appropriate.
(8) A final order shall include, or incorporate by reference to the initial order, all matters required by section 52(2) of this act.

(9) The reviewing officer shall cause copies of the final order or order remanding the matter for further proceedings to be served upon each party.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 54. STAY. A party may submit to the presiding or reviewing officer, as is appropriate to the stage of the proceeding, a petition for stay of effectiveness of a final order without relating to the stay of any order, unless otherwise provided by statute or stated in the final order. Disposition of the petition for stay shall be made by the presiding officer, reviewing officer, or agency head as provided by agency rule. Disposition may be made either before or after the effective date of the final order. Disposition denying a stay is not subject to judicial review.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 55. RECONSIDERATION. (1) Within ten days of the service of a final order, any party may file a petition for reconsideration, stating the specific grounds upon which relief is requested. The place of filing shall be specified by agency rule.

(2) The petition shall be disposed of by the same person or persons who entered the order, if reasonably available. The disposition shall be in the form of a written order denying the petition, granting the petition and dissolving or modifying the final order, or granting the petition and setting the matter for further hearing. The petition shall be deemed to have been denied if not disposed of within twenty days.

(3) No petition for reconsideration may stay the effectiveness of an order.

(4) The agency head may extend the time limits in this section for good cause, with due consideration that the rights of the parties will not be prejudiced by the extension and that extension will be in the public interest.

(5) The filing of a petition for reconsideration is not a prerequisite for seeking judicial review. An order denying reconsideration, or an extension of time limits pursuant to subsection (4) of this section is not subject to judicial review.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 56. REVIEW BY SUPERIOR AGENCY. Unless otherwise provided by statute, if an agency is authorized to review the final order of another agency, the review is deemed to be a continuous proceeding as if before a single agency. The final order of the first agency is treated as an initial order and the second agency functions as though it were reviewing an initial order in accordance with section 53 of this act. This section does not apply if another statute expressly provides for a de novo adjudication before the second agency.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 57. EFFECTIVENESS OF ORDERS. (1) Unless a later date is stated in an order or a stay is granted, an order is effective when signed, but:

(a) A party may not be required to comply with a final order unless the party has been served with or has actual knowledge of the final order;

(b) A nonparty may not be required to comply with a final order unless the agency has made the final order available for public inspection and copying or the nonparty has actual knowledge of the final order;

(c) For purposes of determining time limits for further administrative procedure or for judicial review, the determinative date is the date of service of the order.

(2) Unless a later date is stated in the initial order or a stay is granted, the time when an initial order becomes a final order in accordance with section 52 of this act is determined as follows:

(a) When the initial order is entered, or administrative review is unavailable; or

(b) When the agency head with such authority enters an order stating, after a petition for administrative review has been filed, that review will not be exercised.

(3) This section does not preclude an agency from taking immediate action to protect the public interest in accordance with section 59 of this act.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 58. AGENCY RECORD. (1) An agency shall maintain an official record of each adjudicative proceeding under this chapter.

(2) The agency record shall include:

(a) Notices of all proceedings;

(b) Any prehearing order;

(c) Any motions, pleadings, briefs, petitions, requests, and intermediate rulings;

(d) Evidence received or considered;

(e) A statement of matters officially noticed;

(f) Proffers of proof and objections and rulings thereon;

(g) Proposed findings, requested orders, and exceptions;

(h) The recording prepared for the presiding officer at the hearing, together with any transcript of all or part of the hearing considered before final disposition of the proceeding;

(i) Any final order, initial order, or order on reconsideration;

(j) Staff memoranda or data submitted to the presiding officer, unless prepared and submitted by personal assistants and not inconsistent with section 50 of this act; and

(k) Matters placed on the record after an ex parte communication.

(3) Except to the extent that this chapter or another statute provides otherwise, the agency record constitutes the exclusive basis for agency action in adjudicative proceedings under this chapter and for judicial review of adjudicative proceedings.
NEW SECTION. Sec. 59. EMERGENCY ADJUDICATIVE PROCEEDINGS. (1) Unless otherwise provided by law, an agency may use emergency adjudicative proceedings in a situation involving an immediate danger to the public health, safety, or welfare requiring immediate agency action.

(2) The agency may take only such action as is necessary to prevent or avoid the immediate danger to the public health, safety, or welfare that justifies use of emergency adjudication.

(3) The agency shall enter an order, including a brief statement of findings of fact, conclusions of law, and policy reasons for the decision if it is an exercise of the agency’s discretion, to justify the determination of an immediate danger and the agency’s decision to take the specific action.

(4) The agency shall give such notice as is practicable to persons who are required to comply with the order. The order is effective when entered.

(5) After entering an order under this section, the agency shall proceed as quickly as feasible to complete any proceedings that would be required if the matter did not involve an immediate danger.

(6) The agency record consists of any documents regarding the matter that were considered or prepared by the agency. The agency shall maintain these documents as its official record.

(7) Unless otherwise required by a provision of law, the agency record need not constitute the exclusive basis for agency action in emergency adjudicative proceedings or for judicial review thereof.

(8) This section shall not apply to agency action taken pursuant to a provision of law that expressly authorizes the agency to issue a cease and desist order. The agency may proceed, alternatively, under that independent authority.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 60. BRIEF ADJUDICATIVE PROCEEDINGS—APPLICABILITY. An agency may use brief adjudicative proceedings if:

(1) The use of those proceedings in the circumstances does not violate any provision of law;

(2) The protection of the public interest does not require the agency to give notice and an opportunity to participate to persons other than the parties;

(3) The matter is entirely within one or more categories for which the agency by rule has adopted this section and sections 61 through 64 of this act; and

(4) The issue and interests involved in the controversy do not warrant use of the procedures of sections 56 through 59 of this act.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 61. BRIEF ADJUDICATIVE PROCEEDINGS—PROCEDURE. (1) Where no designation of the presiding officer has been made, and where not prohibited by law, a person exercising authority over the matter is the presiding officer. Where not prohibited by law, the following persons may be designated as the presiding officer:

(a) The agency head;

(b) One or more members of the agency head;

(c) One or more administrative law judges;

(d) One or more other persons designated by the agency head;

(2) The presiding officer, before taking action, shall give each party an opportunity to be informed of the agency’s view of the matter and to explain the party’s view of the matter; and

(3) The presiding officer, at the time any unfavorable action is taken, shall give each party a brief statement of the reasons for the decision. Within ten days, the presiding officer shall give the parties a brief written statement of the reasons for the decision and information about any internal administrative review available.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 62. BRIEF PROCEEDINGS—ADMINISTRATIVE REVIEW—APPLICABILITY. Unless prohibited by any provision of law, an agency, on its own motion, may conduct administrative review of an order resulting from brief adjudicative proceedings. An agency shall conduct this review upon the written or oral request of a party if the agency receives the request within ten days after furnishing the written statement required by section 61(3) of this act.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 63. BRIEF PROCEEDINGS—ADMINISTRATIVE REVIEW—PROCEDURES. Unless otherwise provided by statute:

(1) Where the parties have not requested review, the agency may review an order resulting from a brief adjudicative proceeding on its own motion and without notice to the parties, but it may not take any action on review less favorable to any party than the original order without giving that party notice and an opportunity to explain that party’s view of the matter.

(2) The reviewing officer may be any person who could have presided at the brief proceeding, but the reviewing officer must be one who is authorized to grant appropriate relief upon review.

(3) The reviewing officer shall give each party an opportunity to explain the party’s view of the matter and shall make any inquiries necessary to ascertain whether the proceeding must be converted to a formal adjudicative hearing.
(4) The order on review must be in writing, must include a brief statement of the reasons for the decision, and must be entered within twenty days after the date of the initial order or of the request for review, whichever is later. The order shall include a description of any further available administrative review or, if none is available, a notice that judicial review may be available.

(5) A request for administrative review is deemed to have been denied if the agency does not make a disposition of the matter within twenty days after the request is submitted.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 64. AGENCY RECORD IN BRIEF PROCEEDINGS. (1) The agency record consists of any documents regarding the matter that were considered or prepared by the presiding officer for the brief adjudicative proceeding or by the reviewing officer for any review.
The agency shall maintain these documents as its official record.

(2) Unless otherwise required by a provision of law, the agency record need not constitute the exclusive basis for agency action in brief adjudicative proceedings or for the judicial review of brief adjudicative proceedings.

PART V.
JUDICIAL REVIEW AND CIVIL ENFORCEMENT

NEW SECTION. Sec. 66. AGENCY ACTION REVIEWABLE. Only a person who qualifies under this chapter regarding (1) standing (section 71 of this act), (2) exhaustion of administrative remedies (section 72 of this act), and (3) the time for filing the petition for review (section 74 of this act), and other applicable provisions of law regarding bond, compliance, and other preconditions is entitled to judicial review of agency action.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 67. PETITION FOR REVIEW—WHERE FILED. Except as provided in section 73 of this act, proceedings for review under this chapter shall be instituted by filing a petition in the superior court, at the petitioner's option, for (1) Thurston county, (2) the county of the petitioner's residence or principal place of business, or (3) in any county where the property owned by the petitioner and affected by the contested decision is located.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 68. ADJUDICATIVE PROCEEDINGS—DIRECT REVIEW BY COURT OF APPEALS: The final decision of an administrative agency in an adjudicative proceeding under this chapter may be directly reviewed by the court of appeals upon certification by the superior court under this section. An application for direct review must be filed with the superior court within thirty days of the filing of the petition for review in superior court. The superior court may certify a case for direct review only if the judicial review is limited to the record of the agency proceeding and the court finds that:

(1) Fundamental and urgent issues affecting the future administrative process or the public interest are involved which require a prompt determination;

(2) Delay in obtaining a final and prompt determination of such issues would be detrimental to any party or the public interest;

(3) An appeal to the court of appeals would be likely regardless of the determination in superior court; and

(4) The appellate court's determination in the proceeding would have significant prece-dential value.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 69. ADJUDICATIVE PROCEEDINGS—REFUSAL OF REVIEW BY COURT OF APPEALS. The court of appeals may refuse to accept review of a case certified under section 68 of this act. The refusal to accept the review is not subject to further appellate review, notwithstanding anything in Rule 13.3 of the Rules of Appellate Procedure to the contrary.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 70. APPEAL TO SUPREME COURT OR COURT OF APPEALS. An aggrieved party may secure a review of any final judgment of the superior court under this chapter by appeal to the supreme court or the court of appeals. The appeal shall be taken in the manner provided by law for appeals from the superior court in other civil cases.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 71. STANDING. A person has standing to obtain judicial review of agency action if that person is aggrieved or adversely affected by the agency action. A person is aggrieved or adversely affected within the meaning of this section only when all three of the following conditions are present:

(1) The agency action has prejudiced or is likely to prejudice that person;

(2) That person's asserted interests are among those that the agency was required to consider when it engaged in the agency action challenged; and
(3) A judgment in favor of that person would substantially eliminate or redress the prejudice to that person caused or likely to be caused by the agency action.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 72. EXHAUSTION OF ADMINISTRATIVE REMEDIES. A person may file a petition for judicial review under this chapter only after exhausting all administrative remedies available within the agency whose action is being challenged, or available within any other agency authorized to exercise administrative review, except:

(1) A petitioner for judicial review of a rule need not have participated in the rule-making proceeding upon which that rule is based, or have petitioned for its amendment or repeal;

(2) A petitioner for judicial review need not exhaust administrative remedies to the extent that this chapter or any other statute states that exhaustion is not required; or

(3) The court may relieve a petitioner of the requirement to exhaust any or all administrative remedies upon a showing that:
   (a) The exhaustion of such remedies would not affect the agency action; or
   (b) It appears likely that the petitioner will qualify for judicial review of the agency action, and postponement of judicial review would result in grave and irreparable harm to the petitioner without substantial public benefit.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 73. DECLARATORY JUDGMENT ON VALIDITY OF RULE. (1) The validity of any rule may be determined upon petition for a declaratory judgment addressed to the superior court of Thurston county, when it appears that the rule, or its threatened application, interferes with or impairs or immediately threatens to interfere with or impair the legal rights or privileges of the petitioner. The agency shall be made a party to the proceeding. The declaratory judgment order may be entered whether or not the petitioner has first requested the agency to pass upon the validity of the rule in question.

(2) In a proceeding under subsection (1) of this section the court shall declare the rule invalid only if it finds that it violates constitutional provisions or exceeds the statutory authority of the agency or was adopted without compliance with statutory rule-making procedures.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 74. TIME FOR FILING PETITION FOR REVIEW. Subject to other requirements of this chapter or of another statute:

(1) A petition for judicial review of a rule may be filed at any time, except as limited by section 28 of this act.

(2) A petition for judicial review of an order is not timely unless filed and served on the agency and all parties of record within thirty days after service of the order.

(3) A petition for judicial review of agency action other than the adoption of a rule or the entry of an order is not timely unless filed and served on the agency and all other parties of record within thirty days after the agency action, but the time is extended during any period that the petitioner did not know and was under no duty to discover or could not reasonably have discovered that the agency had taken the action or that the agency action had a sufficient effect to confer standing upon the petitioner to obtain judicial review under this chapter.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 75. PETITION FOR REVIEW—CONTENTS. A petition for review must set forth:

(1) The name and mailing address of the petitioner;

(2) The name and mailing address of the petitioner’s attorney, if any;

(3) The name and mailing address of the agency whose action is at issue;

(4) Identification of the agency action at issue, together with a duplicate copy, summary, or brief description of the agency action;

(5) Identification of persons who were parties in any adjudicative proceedings that led to the agency action;

(6) Facts to demonstrate that the petitioner is entitled to obtain judicial review;

(7) The petitioner’s reasons for believing that relief should be granted; and

(8) A request for relief, specifying the type and extent of relief requested.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 76. STAY AND OTHER TEMPORARY REMEDIES. (1) Unless precluded by law, the agency may grant a stay, in whole or in part, or other temporary remedy during the pendency of judicial review.

(2) Agency action denying a stay or other temporary remedy is not judicially reviewable.

(3) Agency action granting stay or other temporary remedy is judicially reviewable for reasonableness, but agency action based on public health, safety, or welfare grounds may not be set aside unless the court finds that:
   (a) The applicant is likely to prevail when the court finally disposes of the matter;
   (b) Without relief the applicant will suffer irreparable injury;
   (c) The grant of relief to the applicant will not substantially harm other parties to the proceedings; and
   (d) The threat to the public health, safety, or welfare relied on by the agency is not sufficiently serious to justify the agency action in the circumstances.

(4) If the court determines that relief should be granted from the agency’s action granting a stay or other temporary remedies, the court may remand the matter or may enter an order denying a stay or granting a stay on appropriate terms.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 77. LIMITATION ON NEW ISSUES. (1) Issues not raised before the agency may not be raised on appeal, except to the extent that:
(a) The person did not know and was under no duty to discover or could not have rea­sonably discovered facts giving rise to the issue;

(b) The agency action subject to judicial review is a rule and the person has not been a party in adjudicative proceedings that provided an adequate opportunity to raise the issue;

(c) The agency action subject to judicial review is an order and the person was not notified of the adjudicative proceeding in substantial compliance with this chapter; or

(d) The interests of justice would be served by resolution of an issue arising from:

(i) A change in controlling law occurring after the agency action; or

(ii) Agency action occurring after the person exhausted the last feasible opportunity for seeking relief from the agency.

(2) The court shall remand to the agency for determination any issue that is properly raised pursuant to subsection (1) of this section.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 78. JUDICIAL REVIEW OF FACTS CONFINED TO RECORD. Judicial review of disputed issues of fact shall be conducted by the court without a jury and must be confined to the agency record for judicial review as defined by this chapter, supplemented by additional evidence taken pursuant to this chapter.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 79. NEW EVIDENCE TAKEN BY COURT OR AGENCY. (1) The court may receive evidence in addition to that contained in the agency record for judicial review, only if it relates to the validity of the agency action at the time it was taken and is needed to decide disputed issues regarding:

(a) Improper constitution as a decision-making body or grounds for disqualification of those taking the agency action;

(b) Unlawfulness of procedure or of decision-making process; or

(c) Material facts in rule making, brief adjudications, or other proceedings not required to be determined on the agency record.

(2) The court may remand a matter to the agency, before final disposition of a petition for review, with directions that the agency conduct fact-finding and other proceedings the court considers necessary and that the agency take such further action on the basis thereof as the court directs, if:

(a) The agency was required by this chapter or any other provision of law to base its action exclusively on a record of a type reasonably suitable for judicial review, but the agency failed to prepare or preserve an adequate record;

(b) The court finds that (I) new evidence has become available that relates to the validity of the agency action at the time it was taken, that one or more of the parties did not know and was under no duty to discover or could not have reasonably been discovered until after the agency action, and (II) the interests of justice would be served by remand to the agency;

(c) The agency improperly excluded or omitted evidence from the record; or

(d) A relevant provision of law changed after the agency action and the court determines that the new provision may control the outcome.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 80. AGENCY RECORD FOR REVIEW—COSTS. (1) Within thirty days after service of the petition, or within further time allowed by the court or by other provision of law, the agency shall transmit to the court the original or a certified copy of the agency record for judicial review of the agency action. The record shall consist of any agency documents expressing the agency action, other documents identified by the agency as having been considered by it before its action and used as a basis for its action, and any other material described in this chapter as the agency record for the type of agency action at issue, subject to the provisions of this section.

(2) If part of the record has been preserved without a transcript, the agency shall prepare a transcript for inclusion in the record transmitted to the court, except for portions that the parties stipulate to omit in accordance with subsection (4) of this section.

(3) The agency may charge a nonindigent petitioner with the reasonable costs of preparing any necessary copies and transcripts for transmittal to the court. A failure by the petitioner to pay any of this cost to the agency relieves the agency from the responsibility for timely preparation of the record and transmittal to the court.

(4) The record may be shortened, summarized, or organized temporarily or, by stipulation of all parties, permanently.

(5) The court may tax the cost of preparing transcripts and copies for the record:

(a) Against a party who unreasonably refuses to stipulate to shorten, summarize, or organize the record;

(b) As provided by section 81 of this act; or

(c) In accordance with any other provision of law.

(6) Additions to the record pursuant to section 79 of this act must be made as ordered by the court.

(7) The court may require or permit subsequent corrections or additions to the record.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 81. SCOPE OF REVIEW. (1) Except to the extent that this chapter or another statute provides otherwise:

(a) The burden of demonstrating the invalidity of agency action is on the party asserting invalidity; and
(b) The validity of agency action shall be determined in accordance with the standards of review provided in this section, as applied to the agency action at the time it was taken.
(2) The court shall make a separate and distinct ruling on each material issue on which the court’s decision is based.
(3) The court shall grant relief only if it determines that a person seeking judicial relief has been substantially prejudiced by any one or more of the following:
(a) The agency action, or the statute or rule on which the agency action is based, is unconstitutional on its face or as applied;
(b) The agency has acted beyond its statutory authority or jurisdiction conferred by any provision of law;
(c) The agency action is outside the range of discretion delegated to the agency by any
provision of law;
(d) The agency has not decided all issues requiring resolution in an adjudicative proceeding;
(e) The agency has erroneously interpreted or applied the law;
(f) The agency has engaged in unlawful procedure or decision-making process, or has failed to follow prescribed procedure;
(g) The persons taking the agency action were improperly constituted as a decision­ making body or were subject to disqualification;
(h) The agency action, other than a rule, is not supported by evidence that is substantial when viewed in light of the whole record before the court, which includes the agency record for judicial review, supplemented by any additional evidence received by the court under this chapter;
(i) The agency action, other than a rule, is inconsistent with a rule of the agency unless the agency explains the inconsistency by stating facts and reasons to demonstrate a rational basis for inconsistency;
(j) The agency action, other than a rule or the imposition of a sanction or penalty, is substantially inconsistent with the agency’s prior established practice unless the agency explains the inconsistency by stating facts and reasons to demonstrate a rational basis for the inconsistency;
(k) The agency action, other than a rule, is arbitrary or capricious; or
(l) The agency action is an abuse of discretion.
NEW SECTION. Sec. 82. TYPE OF RELIEF. (1) The court may order agency action required by law, order agency exercise of discretion required by law, affirm or set aside agency action, enjoin or stay the agency action, remand the matter for further proceedings, or enter a declaratory judgment order. In reviewing matters within agency discretion, the court shall limit its function to assuring that the agency has exercised its discretion in accordance with law, and shall not itself undertake to exercise the discretion that the legislature has placed in the agency. The court shall remand to the agency for modification of agency action, unless remand is impracticable or would cause unnecessary delay.
(2) The court may award damages, compensation, or ancillary relief only to the extent expressly authorized by another provision of law.
(3) If the court sets aside or modifies agency action or remands the matter to the agency for further proceedings, the court may make any interlocutory order it finds necessary to preserve the interests of the parties and the public, pending further proceedings or agency action.
NEW SECTION. Sec. 83. PETITION BY AGENCY FOR ENFORCEMENT. (1) In addition to other remedies provided by law, an agency may seek enforcement of its rule or order by filing a petition for civil enforcement in the superior court.
(2) The petition must name as respondent each alleged person against whom the agency seeks to obtain civil enforcement.
(3) Venue is determined as in other civil cases.
(4) A petition for civil enforcement filed by an agency may request, and the court may grant, declaratory relief, temporary or permanent injunctive relief, any other civil remedy provided by law, or any combination of the foregoing.
NEW SECTION. Sec. 84. PETITION BY OTHERS FOR ENFORCEMENT. (1) Any person who would qualify under this chapter as having standing to obtain judicial review of an agency’s failure to enforce an order directed to another person may file a petition for civil enforcement of that order, but the action may not be commenced:
(a) Until at least sixty days after the petitioner has given notice of the alleged violation and of the petitioner’s intent to seek civil enforcement to the head of the agency concerned, to the attorney general, and to each person against whom the petitioner seeks civil enforcement;
(b) If the agency has filed and is diligently prosecuting a petition for civil enforcement of the same order against the same person; or
(c) If a petition for review of the same order has been filed and a stay is in effect.
(2) The petition shall name, as respondents, the agency whose order is sought to be enforced and each person against whom the petitioner seeks civil enforcement.
(3) The agency whose order is sought to be enforced may move to dismiss the petition on the grounds that it fails to qualify under this section or that the enforcement would be contrary to the policy of the agency. The court shall grant the motion to dismiss the petition unless the petitioner demonstrates that (a) the petition qualifies under this section and (b) the agency's failure to enforce its order is based on an exercise of discretion that is arbitrary or capricious.

(4) Except to the extent expressly authorized by law, a petition for civil enforcement may not request, and the court may not grant, any monetary payment apart from taxable costs.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 85. DEFENSES—LIMITATION ON NEW ISSUES. A respondent may assert, in a proceeding for civil enforcement:

(1) That the rule or order sought to be enforced is invalid on any of the grounds stated in section 81(3) (a) and (b) of this act. If a defense under that section is raised, the court may consider issues and receive evidence only within the limitations provided by sections 77, 78, and 79 of this act; and

(2) Any of the following defenses on which the court, to the extent necessary for the determination of the matter, may consider new issues or take new evidence:

(a) The rule or order does not apply to the party;
(b) The party has not violated the rule or order; or
(c) Any other defense allowed by law.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 86. INCORPORATION OF OTHER JUDICIAL REVIEW PROVISIONS. Proceedings for civil enforcement are governed by the following provisions of this chapter on judicial review, as modified where necessary to adapt them to those proceedings:

(1) Section 65(2) of this act (ancillary procedural matters); and
(2) Section 80 of this act (agency record for judicial review).

NEW SECTION. Sec. 87. REVIEW BY HIGHER COURT. Decisions on petitions for civil enforcement are reviewable as in other civil cases.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 92. SEVERABILITY. If any provision of this act or its application to any person or circumstance is held invalid, the remainder of the act or the application of the provision to other persons or circumstances is not affected.
NEW SECTION. Sec. 93. EFFECTIVE DATE—APPLICATION. Sections 1 through 92 of this act shall take effect on July 1, 1989, and shall apply to all rule-making actions and agency proceedings begun on or after that date. Rule-making actions or other agency proceedings begun before July 1, 1989, shall be completed under the applicable provisions of chapter 28B.19 or 34.04 RCW existing immediately before that date in the same manner as if they were not repealed by this act. Sections 94 through 98 of this act shall take effect as provided by Article II, section 1(c) of the state Constitution.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 94. The legislature finds and declares that rules are often imposed without an assessment of their practical impact in the workplace and the marketplace. This often leads to anecdotes describing absurd regulation, which in turn lead to unnecessary loss of confidence in state agencies and a decline in business enthusiasm. Therefore it is the purpose of sections 95 and 96 of this act to ensure that when agencies make rules, proper analysis is conducted on the relevancy of the rule and that this analysis is made public, and when agencies adopt emergency rules that the impact on small businesses is considered.

Sec. 95. Section 3, chapter 237, Laws of 1967 as last amended by section 1, chapter 221, Laws of 1982 and RCW 34.04.025 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) Prior to the adoption, amendment, or repeal of any rule, each agency shall:

(a) File notice thereof with the code reviser in accordance with RCW 34.08.020(1) for publication in the state register, and with the rules review committee, and mail such notice to all persons who have made timely request of the agency for advance notice of its rule-making proceedings. Such notice shall also include (1) reference to the authority under which the rule is proposed, (2) a statement of ((either)) the terms or substance of the proposed rule ((or)) and a description of the subjects and issues involved, ((and)) (iii) the time when, the place where, and the manner in which interested persons may present their views thereon, (iv) the time and place of adoption of the proposed rule, (v) a written analysis of the proposed rule, including but not limited to background information and the effects of the rule, and any anticipated changes in state revenues and state expenditures;

(b) Afford all interested persons reasonable opportunity to submit data, views, or arguments, orally or in writing. In case of substantive rules, opportunity for oral hearing must be granted if requested by twenty-five persons, by a governmental subdivision or agency, by the rules review committee, or by an association having not less than twenty-five members.

(2) The agency shall make every effort to ensure that the information on the proposed rule circulated pursuant to subsection (1)(a) of this section accurately reflects the rule to be presented and discussed at any oral hearing on such rule. Where substantial changes in the draft of the proposed rule are made after publication of notice in the register which would render it difficult for interested persons to properly comment on the rule without further notice, new notice of the agency's intended action as provided in subsection (1)(a) of this section shall be required.

(3) The agency shall consider fully all written and oral submissions respecting the proposed rule including those addressing the question of whether the proposed rule is within the intent of the legislature as expressed by the statute which the rule implements, and may amend the proposed rule at the oral hearing or adopt the proposed rule. If there are no substantial changes, without retiming the notice required by this section. Upon adoption of a rule, the agency, if requested to do so by an interested person either prior to adoption or within thirty days thereafter, shall issue a concise statement of the principal reasons for and against its adoption, incorporating therein its reasons for overruling the considerations urged against its adoption.

(4) No proceeding may be held on any rule until twenty days have passed from the distribution date of the register in which notice thereof was contained. The code reviser shall make provisions for informing an agency giving notice under subsection (1) of this section of the distribution date of the register in which such notice will be published.

(5) No rule hereafter adopted is valid unless adopted in substantial compliance with this section, unless it is an emergency rule designated as such and is adopted in substantial compliance with RCW 34.04.030, as now or hereafter amended. In any proceeding a rule cannot be contested on the ground of noncompliance with the procedural requirements of RCW 34.08.020(1), of this section, or of RCW 34.04.030, as now or hereafter amended, after two years have elapsed from the effective date of the rule.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 96. The legislature finds that over time rules can become detached from their original intent. Those rules which remain relevant become part of an ever-larger body of law, since the tendency is to add new rules without deleting old ones. Old rules may not apply to a modern economy yet may still be a constraint on small businesses throughout the state. The drain of time and energy required to comply with this mass of rules is in itself a major burden on small business operations. Therefore it is the purpose of section 97 of this act to initiate an agency review process to ensure that rules which are several years old are still applicable to the constantly evolving economy within this state.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 97. A new section is added to chapter 34.04 RCW to read as follows:
Any rule adopted under this chapter after July 1, 1987, must be reviewed after five years from the date of adoption. If no review has occurred by seven years after the date of adoption, the rule will expire.

The agency review shall include an evaluation of the effectiveness of the rule in relation to the original intent of the rule and an evaluation of whether the rule continues to apply at the time the review is conducted.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 98. The legislature recognizes that the substantial revisions in administrative procedure which are enacted by this act will make some significant changes in agency practice and procedure. In addition, the legislature recognizes that there may need to be modifications in this act before its effective date to take into account the various statutes implementing agency practice and procedure.

There is established a joint select committee on administrative procedure to be composed of eight legislators, two appointed by the president of the senate from each caucus of the senate and two appointed by the speaker of the house of representatives from each caucus of the house of representatives, and four nonlegislative members to be appointed by the governor. The chair of the committee shall rotate annually among the legislative members of the majority parties in the senate and house of representatives. A house member of the committee shall be the first chair. It is the function of the committee to review the implementation of this act and consider agency and public comment on provisions of this act which need further revision. The committee shall review all recommendations to determine if they will assist in providing more uniformity in agency procedure, enhance public access to the administrative process, and enable agencies to accomplish their responsibilities. The committee shall seek the advice of the governor's office, the agencies affected by this act, and members of the public, including the Washington state bar association task force on administrative procedure. The legislature does not intend that the committee shall review the merits of this act, but only that it determine the provisions needing improvement.

The committee shall make a report to the legislature not later than January 1, 1988. The staff of the senate and house judiciary committees shall provide assistance to the committee.

Sec. 5. Section 20, chapter 14, Laws of 1986 and RCW 21.30.190 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) Every applicant for registration under this chapter or person filing a claim of exempt-on under RCW 21.30.030(7) shall file with the administrator in such form as the administrator by rule prescribes, an irrevocable consent appointing the administrator or successor in office to be his or her attorney to receive service of any lawful process in any noncriminal suit, action, or proceeding against the applicant or successor executor or administrator which arises under this chapter or any rule or order hereunder after the consent has been filed, with the same force and validity as if served personally on the person filing the consent. Service may be made by leaving a copy of the process in the office of the administrator, but it is not effective unless (a) the plaintiff, who may be the administrator in a suit, action, or proceeding instituted by the administrator, forthwith sends notice of the service and a copy of the process by registered mail to the defendant or respondent at the last address on file with the administrator, and
(b) the plaintiff's affidavit of compliance with this subsection is filed in the case on or before the return day of the process, if any, or within such further time as the court allows.

(2) If a person, including a nonresident of this state, engages in conduct prohibited or made actionable by this chapter or any rule or order of the director, the engaging in the conduct shall constitute the appointment of the administrator as the person's attorney to receive service of any lawful process in a noncriminal proceeding against the person, a successor, or personal representative, which arises out of that conduct and which is brought under this chapter or any rule or order of the director with the same force and validity as if served personally.

on granted under RCW 21.30.030(7), limit the activities which an applicant or licensed person may perform in this state, conserve any applicant or licensed person, or bar any applicant or licensed person from association with a licensed commodity broker-dealer, if the administrator finds that (a) the order is in the public interest and (b) that the applicant or licensed person or, in the case of a commodity broker-dealer any partner, officer, or director, any person occupying a similar status or performing similar functions, or any person directly or indirectly controlling the commodity broker-dealer:

(i) Has filed an application for licensing with the administrator or the designee of the administrator which, as of its effective date, or as of any date after filing in the case of an order denying effectiveness, was incomplete in any material respect or contained any statement which was, in light of the circumstances under which it was made, false or misleading with respect to any material fact;

(ii) (A) Has violated or failed to comply with a provision of this chapter, a predecessor act, or a rule or order under this chapter or a predecessor act. (B) is the subject of an adjudication or determination within the last five years by a securities agency or administrator or court of competent jurisdiction that the person has willfully violated the federal securities act of 1933, the securities exchange act of 1934, the investment advisers act of 1940, the investment company act of 1940, or the commodity exchange act, or the securities law of any other state (but only if the acts constituting the violation of that state's law would constitute a violation of this chapter had the acts taken place in this state):

(iii) Has, within the last ten years, pled guilty or nolo contendere to, or been convicted of any crime indicating a lack of fitness to engage in the investment commodities business:

(iv) Is permanently or temporarily enjoined by any court of competent jurisdiction from engaging in, or continuing, any conduct or practice indicating a lack of fitness to engage in the investment commodities business:

(v) Is the subject of an order of the administrator denying, suspending, or revoking the person's license as a commodity or securities broker-dealer, securities salesperson or commodity sales representative, or investment adviser or investment adviser salesperson:

(vi) Is the subject of any of the following orders which are currently effective and which were issued within the last five years:

(A) An order by a securities agency or administrator of another state, Canadian province or territory, or the federal securities and exchange commission, entered after notice and opportunity for hearing, denying, suspending, or revoking the person's license as a commodities or securities broker-dealer, sales representative, or investment adviser, or the substantial equivalent of those terms;

(B) A suspension or expulsion from membership in or association with a self-regulatory organization registered under the securities exchange act of 1934 or the commodity exchange act;

The administrator shall not institute a suspension or revocation proceeding on the basis of a fact or transaction disclosed in the license application unless the proceeding is instituted within the next ninety days following issuance of the license.

(2) If the public interest or the protection of investors so requires, the administrator may, by order, summarily suspend a license or postpone the effective date of a license. Upon the entry of the order, the administrator shall promptly notify the applicant or licensed person, as well as the commodity broker-dealer with whom the person is or will be associated if the applicant or licensed person is a commodity sales representative, that an order has been entered and of the reasons therefore and that within twenty days after the receipt of a written request the matter will be set down for hearing. The provisions of RCW 21.30.200 and 21.30.210 apply with respect to all subsequent proceedings.

(3) If the administrator finds that any applicant or licensed person is no longer in existence or has ceased to do business as a commodity broker-dealer or commodity sales representative or is subject to an adjudication of mental incompetence or to the control of a committee, conservator, or guardian, or cannot be located after reasonable search, the administrator may, by order, cancel the application or license.

MAJORITY recommendation: Do pass with the following amendments:

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

"Sec. 1. Section 3, chapter 35, Laws of 1945 as amended by section 1, chapter 2, Laws of 1970 ex. sess. and RCW 50.04.020 are each amended to read as follows:

'Base year' with respect to each individual, shall mean either the first four of the last five completed calendar quarters or the last four completed calendar quarters immediately preceding the first day of the individual's benefit year.

For the purposes of establishing a benefit year, the department shall initially use the first four of the last five completed calendar quarters as the base year. If a benefit year is not established using the first four of the last five calendar quarters as the base year, the department shall use the last four completed calendar quarters as the base year.

Computations using the last four completed calendar quarters shall be based on available wage items processed as of the close of business on the day preceding the date of application. Wage items not processed at the time of application shall become available to the claim as they are added to department systems. The department shall not be required to make employer contacts or take other actions that would not be applicable to claims based on the first four of the last five completed calendar quarters.

Sec. 2. Section 4, chapter 35, Laws of 1945 as last amended by section 1, chapter 33, Laws of 1977 ex. sess. and RCW 50.04.030 are each amended to read as follows:

'Benefit year' with respect to each individual, means the fifty-two consecutive week period beginning with the first day of the calendar week in which the individual files an application for an initial determination and thereafter the fifty-two consecutive week period beginning with the first day of the calendar week in which the individual next files an application for an initial determination after the expiration of the individual's last preceding benefit year: PROVIDED, HOWEVER, that the foregoing limitation shall not be deemed to preclude the establishment of a new benefit year under the laws of another state pursuant to any agreement providing for the interstate combining of employment and wages and the interstate payment of benefits nor shall this limitation be deemed to preclude the commissioner from backdating an initial application at the request of the claimant either for the convenience of the department of employment security or for any other reason deemed by the commissioner to be good cause.

An individual's benefit year shall be extended to be fifty-three weeks when at the expiration of fifty-two weeks the establishment of a new benefit year would result in the use of a quarter of wages in the new base year that had been included in the individual's prior base year.

No benefit year will be established unless it is determined that the individual earned wages in 'employment' in not less than six hundred eighty hours of the individual's base year: PROVIDED, HOWEVER, that a benefit year cannot be established if the base year wages include wages earned prior to the establishment of a prior benefit year unless the individual earned wages in 'employment' during the last two quarters of the new base year of not less than six times the weekly benefit amount computed for the individual's new benefit year.
If an individual's prior benefit year was based on the last four completed calendar quarters, a new benefit year shall not be established until the new base year does not include any hours used in the establishment of the prior benefit year.

If the wages of an individual are not based upon a fixed duration of time or if the individual's wages are paid at irregular intervals or in such manner as not to extend regularly over the period of employment, the wages for any week shall be determined in such manner as the commissioner may by regulation prescribe. Such regulation shall, so far as possible, secure results reasonably similar to those which would prevail if the individual were paid his or her wages at regular intervals.

Sec. 3. Section 9, chapter 228, Laws of 1975 1st ex. sess. as amended by section 3, chapter 65, Laws of 1984 and RCW 50.06.030 are each amended to read as follows:

An application for initial determination made pursuant to this chapter, to be considered timely, must be filed in writing with the employment security department within twenty-six weeks following the week in which the period of temporary total disability commenced. Notice from the department of labor and industries shall satisfy this requirement. The records of the agency supervising the award of compensation shall be conclusive evidence of the fact of temporary disability and the beginning date of such disability. The employment security department shall process and issue an initial determination of entitlement or nonentitlement as the case may be.

For the purposes of this chapter, a special base year is established for an individual consisting of either the first four of the last five completed calendar quarters or the last four completed calendar quarters immediately prior to the first day of the calendar week in which the individual's temporary total disability commenced, and a special individual benefit year is established consisting of the entire period of disability and a fifty-two consecutive week period commencing with the first day of the calendar week immediately following the week or part thereof with respect to which the individual received his final temporary total disability compensation under the applicable industrial insurance or crime victims compensation laws except that no special benefit year shall have a duration in excess of three hundred twelve calendar weeks: PROVIDED HOWEVER. That such special benefit year will not be established unless the criteria contained in RCW 50.04.030 has been met, except that an individual meeting the disability and filing requirements of this chapter and who has an unexpired benefit year established which would overlap the special benefit year provided by this chapter, notwithstanding the provisions in RCW 50.04.030 relating to the establishment of a subsequent benefit year and RCW 50.40.010 relating to waiver of rights, may elect to establish a special benefit year under this chapter: PROVIDED FURTHER. that the unexpired benefit year shall be terminated with the beginning of the special benefit year if the individual elects to establish such special benefit year.

For the purposes of establishing a benefit year, the department shall initially use the first four of the last five completed calendar quarters as the base year. If a benefit year is not established using the first four of the last five calendar quarters as the base year, the department shall use the last four completed calendar quarters as the base year.

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

Any worker entitled to receive any benefits or claiming such under this title shall, if requested by the department or self-insurer, submit himself or herself for medical examination, at a time and from time to time, at a place reasonably convenient for the worker and as may be provided by the rules of the department. If the worker refuses to submit to medical examination, or obstructs the same, or, if any injured worker shall persist in unsanitary or injurious practices which tend to imperil or retard his or her recovery, or shall refuse to submit to such medical or surgical treatment as is reasonably essential to his or her recovery or refuse or obstruct evaluation or examination for the purpose of vocational rehabilitation or does not cooperate in reasonable efforts at such rehabilitation, the department, with notice to the worker, or the self-insurer, with notice to the worker and the department may suspend any further action on any claim of such worker so long as such refusal, obstruction, noncooperation, or practice continues and reduce, suspend, or deny any compensation for such period: PROVIDED, That the department or the self-insurer shall not suspend any further action on any claim of a worker or reduce, suspend, or deny any compensation if a worker has good cause for refusing to submit to or to obstruct any examination, evaluation, treatment or practice requested by the department or the self-insurer, or required under this section. When a self-insured employer reduces, suspends or denies any compensation under this section, the self-insurer shall enter a written order, communicated to the worker and the department's self-insurance section. The order shall contain the following statement clearly set forth in bold face type: "This order constitutes notification that your compensation benefits are being reduced, suspended or denied for failure to cooperate in accordance with RCW 51.32.110. If, for any reason, you disagree with this determination, you may protest in writing to the Department of Labor and Industries, Self-Insurance Section, within sixty days of the date you received this order." In the event the department receives such a protest, the department shall investigate and review the claim evidence and enter a determinative order as provided for in RCW 51.32.050; PROVIDED, That the worker must be advised in writing by the self-insurer of the consequences for failure to cooperate prior to the effective date of the reduction, suspension or denial of compensation and be allowed a reasonable time for compliance: PROVIDED FURTHER, That if the department determines that the self-insurer has improperly reduced, suspended or denied benefits as they became due or such reduction, suspension or denial is not in compliance with this section then, upon order of the department, the self-insurer shall pay to the worker an additional amount equal to the greater of five hundred dollars or the amount of the benefits otherwise due. If the worker necessarily incurs traveling expenses in attending ([for]) examination (pursuant to the request of the department), such traveling expenses shall be repaid to him or her out of the accident fund upon proper voucher and audit or shall be repaid by the self-insurer, as the case may be.

If the medical examination required by this section causes the worker to be absent from his or her work without pay he or she shall be paid for such time lost in accordance with the schedule of payments provided in RCW 51.32.090 as amended.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. A new section is added to chapter 51.32 RCW to read as follows:

Whenever an application for benefits is filed that requires a determination of whether benefits shall be paid pursuant to the reopening of an accepted claim under RCW 51.32.160 or by allowance of a claim for new injury or occupational disease, the department shall make the determinations in a single order. Pending entry of the order, benefits shall be paid promptly pursuant to this title by either the department or the self-insurer, as the case may be, as determined by the department.

If, upon final determination, the entity that paid benefits under this title is determined to be not responsible for payment of the benefits, such entity shall be reimbursed by the responsible entity for all amounts paid. If neither the department nor a self-insurer is determined to be responsible for the benefits, the recipient of benefits shall repay the entity having paid the benefits and recoupment may be made from any future payments due the recipient on any claim with the state fund or self-insurer, as the case may be. The director may exercise his or her discretion to waive, in whole or in part, the amount of any such repayments where the recovery would be against equity and good conscience.

(f) The majority of the members of boundary review boards concur with a request for review when a petition requesting the review is filed by five percent of the registered voters who deem themselves affected by the action and reside within one-quarter mile of the proposed action but not within the jurisdiction proposing the action.

If a review of a proposal is requested, the board shall make a finding as prescribed in RCW 36.93.150 within one hundred twenty days after the filing of such a request for review. If this period of one hundred twenty days shall elapse without the board making a finding as prescribed in RCW 36.93.150, the proposal shall be deemed approved unless the board and the person who submitted the proposal agree to an extension of the one hundred twenty day period.

Sec. 5, Section 11, chapter 189. Laws of 1967 as amended by section 42, chapter 195. Laws of 1973 1st ex. sess. and RCW 36.93.110 are each amended to read as follows:

In case of annexation to a city or a town: Where (the) an area proposed for annexation is less than ten acres and less than (eight-hundred thousand) two million dollars in assessed valuation, the chairman of the review board may by written statement declare that review by the board is not necessary for the protection of the interest of the various parties, in which case the board shall not review such annexation.

Sec. 6, Section 12, chapter 189. Laws of 1967 as amended by section 6, chapter 111. Laws of 1969 ex. sess. and RCW 36.93.120 are each amended to read as follows:

Sec. 7, Section 13, chapter 189. Laws of 1967 as amended by section 7, chapter 111. Laws of 1969 ex. sess. and RCW 36.93.130 are each amended to read as follows:

The notice of intention shall contain the following information:

(1) The nature of the action sought;
(2) A brief statement of the reasons for the proposed action;
(3) The legal description of the boundaries proposed to be created, abolished or changed by such action, PROVIDED, That the legal description may be altered, with concurrence of the initiators of the proposed action, if a person designated by the county legislative authority as one who has expertise in legal descriptions makes a determination that the legal description is erroneous; and
(4) A county assessor's map on which the boundaries proposed to be created, abolished or changed by such action are designated: PROVIDED, That at the discretion of the boundary review board a map other than the county assessor's map may be accepted.
Sec. 8. Section 15, chapter 189, Laws of 1967 as last amended by section 13, chapter 5, Laws of 1979 ex. sess. and RCW 36.93.150 are each amended to read as follows:

The board, upon review of any proposed action, shall take such of the following actions as it deems necessary to best carry out the intent of this chapter:

(1) Approval of the proposal as submitted;

(2) Subject to RCW 35.02.170, modification of the proposal by adjusting boundaries to add or delete territory: PROVIDED, That any proposal for annexation by the board shall be subject to RCW 35.21.010 and shall not add additional territory, the amount of which is greater than that included in the original proposal: PROVIDED FURTHER, That such modifications shall not interfere with the authority of a city, town, or special purpose district to require or not require preannexation agreements, covenants, or petitions;

(3) Determination of a division of assets and liabilities between two or more governmental units where relevant;

(4) Determination whether, or the extent to which, functions of a special purpose district are to be assumed by an incorporated city or town, metropolitan municipal corporation, or another existing special purpose district; or

(5) Disapproval of the proposal except that the board shall not have jurisdiction to disapprove the dissolution or disincorporation of a special purpose district which is not providing services but shall have jurisdiction over the determination of a division of the assets and liabilities of a dissolved or disincorporated special purpose district: PROVIDED, That a board shall not have jurisdiction over the division of assets and liabilities of a special purpose district that is dissolved or disincorporated pursuant to chapter 36.96 RCW.

Unless the board shall disapprove a proposal, it shall be presented under the appropriate statute for approval of a public body and, if required, a vote of the people. A proposal that has been modified shall be presented under the appropriate statute for approval of a public body and if required, a vote of the people. If a proposal, other than that for a city, town, or special purpose district annexation, after modification does not contain enough signatures of persons within the modified area, as are required by law, then the initiating party, parties or governmental unit has thirty days after the modification decision to secure enough signatures to satisfy the legal requirement. If the signatures cannot be secured then the proposal may be submitted to a vote of the people, as required by law.

The addition or deletion of property by the board shall not invalidate a petition which had previously satisfied the sufficiency of signature provisions of RCW 35.13.130 or 35A.14.120. When the board, after due proceedings held, disapproves a proposed action, such proposed action shall be unavailable, the proposing agency shall be without power to initiate the same or substantially the same as determined by the board, and any succeeding acts intended to or tending to effectuate that action shall be void, but such action may be reinitiated after a period of twelve months from date of disapproval and shall again be subject to the same consideration.

The board shall not modify or deny a proposed action unless there is evidence on the record to support a conclusion that the action is inconsistent with one or more of the objectives under RCW 36.93.180. Every such determination to modify or deny a proposed action shall be made in writing pursuant to a motion, and shall be supported by appropriate written findings and conclusions, based on the record.

Sec. 9. Section 16, chapter 189, Laws of 1967 as last amended by section 97, chapter 81, Laws of 1971 and RCW 36.93.160 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) When the jurisdiction of the boundary review board has been invoked, the board shall set the date, time and place for a public hearing on the proposal. The board shall give at least thirty days' advance written notice of the date, time and place of the hearing to the governing body of each governmental unit having jurisdiction within the boundaries of the territory proposed to be annexed, formed, incorporated, disincorporated, dissolved or consolidated, or within the boundaries of a special district whose assets and facilities are proposed to be assumed by a city or town, and to the governing body of each city within three miles of the exterior boundaries of such area and to the proponent of such change. Notice shall also be given by publication in any newspaper of general circulation in the area of the proposed boundary change at least three times, the last publication of which shall be not less than five days prior to the date set for the public hearing. Notice shall also be posted in ten public places in the area affected for five days when the area is ten acres or more. When the area affected is less than ten acres, five notices shall be posted in five public places for five days. (If the board after such hearing shall determine to modify the proposal by adding territory, then the board shall set a date, time and place for an additional hearing on the modification, for which notice shall be given as provided in this subsection.) Notice as provided in this subsection shall include any territory which the board has determined to consider adding in accordance with RCW 36.93.150(2).

(2) A verbatim record shall be made of all testimony presented at the hearing and upon request and payment of the reasonable costs thereof, a copy of the transcript of such testimony shall be provided to any person or governmental unit.
The chairman upon majority vote of the board or a panel may direct the chief clerk of the boundary review board to issue subpoenas to any public officer to testify, and to compel the production by him of any records, books, documents, public records or public papers.

Within forty days after the conclusion of the final hearing on the proposal, the board shall file its written decision, setting forth the reasons therefor, with the board of county commissioners and the clerk of each governmental unit directly affected. The written decision shall indicate whether the proposed change is approved, rejected or modified and, if modified, the terms of such modification. The written decision need not include specific data on every factor required to be considered by the board, but shall indicate that all standards were given consideration. Dissenting members of the board shall have the right to have their written dissents included as part of the decision.

Unanimous decisions of the hearing panel or a decision of a majority of the members of the board shall constitute the decision of the board and shall not be appealable to the whole board. Any other decision shall be appealable to the entire board within ten days. Appeals shall be on the record, which shall be furnished by the appellant, but the board may, in its sole discretion, permit the introduction of additional evidence and argument. Decisions shall be final and conclusive unless within ten days from the date of said action a governmental unit affected by the decision or any person owning real property or residing in the area affected by the decision files in the superior court a notice of appeal.

The filing of such notice of appeal within such time limit shall stay the effective date of the decision of the board until such time as the appeal shall have been adjudicated or withdrawn. On appeal the superior court shall not take any evidence other than that contained in the record of the hearing before the board.

The superior court may affirm the decision of the board or remand the case for further proceedings; or it may reverse the decision if any substantial rights may have been prejudiced because the administrative findings, inferences, conclusions, or decisions are:

(a) In violation of constitutional provisions, or
(b) In excess of the statutory authority or jurisdiction of the board, or
(c) Made upon unlawful procedure, or
(d) Affected by other error of law, or
(e) Unsupported by material and substantial evidence in view of the entire record as submitted, or Arbitrary or capricious.

An aggrieved party may secure a review of any final judgment of the superior court by appeal to the supreme court in the manner provided by law for appeals from the superior court in other civil cases.

MAJORITY recommendation: Do pass with the following amendment:

On page 2, line 6, after "benefit" strike "year" and insert "year's waiting period under RCW 50.20.010(4)"
The legislature finds that adult persons have the fundamental right to control the decisions relating to the rendering of their own (medically) health care, including the decision to have life-sustaining (procedures) treatment withheld or withdrawn in instances of a terminal condition.

The legislature further finds that modern medical technology has made possible the artificial prolongation of human life beyond natural limits.

The legislature further finds that, in the interest of protecting individual autonomy, such (prolongation of life) postponement of the moment of death for persons with a terminal condition may cause loss of patient dignity, and unnecessary pain and suffering, while providing nothing medically necessary or beneficial to the patient.

The legislature further finds that there exists considerable uncertainty in the medical and legal professions as to the legality of terminating the use or application of life-sustaining (procedures) treatment where the patient has voluntarily and in sound mind evidenced a desire that such (procedures) treatment be withheld or withdrawn.

In recognition of the dignity and privacy which patients have a right to expect, the legislature hereby declares that the laws of the state of Washington shall recognize the right of an adult person to make a written directive, commonly known as a living will, instructing such person's physician to withhold or withdraw life-sustaining (procedures) treatment in the event of a terminal condition.

The legislature further recognizes that a person in a terminal condition may not have executed such a written directive and that therefore there is a need to establish a means of authorizing the withholding or withdrawing of life-sustaining treatment in the absence of a written directive.

The legislature further recognizes that in the absence of controversy, the court is normally not the proper forum in which to make decisions regarding life-sustaining treatment.

To avoid needless suffering and loss of dignity and to avoid treatment that is not desired by a person in a terminal condition, the legislature declares this chapter to be in the interest of the public health and welfare.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. A new section is added to chapter 70.122 RCW to read as follows:

This chapter shall not be construed as providing the exclusive means by which individuals, their legal representatives or next of kin as identified in section 5(2) of this act, may make decisions regarding their health treatment nor limiting the means provided by existing case law.

Sec. 3. Section 3, chapter 112, Laws of 1979 and RCW 70.122.020 are each amended to read as follows:

Unless the context clearly requires otherwise, the definitions contained in this section shall apply throughout this chapter.

(1) 'Attending physician' means the physician selected by, or assigned to, the patient who has primary responsibility for the treatment and care of the patient.

(2) 'Directive' means a written document voluntarily executed by the declarer in accordance with the requirements of RCW 70.122.030.

(3) 'Health facility' means a hospital as defined in RCW (70.41.020(7) or) 70.41.020(2), a nursing home as defined in RCW (76.36.008) 18.51.010, or a home health agency or hospice agency as defined in RCW 70.126.010.

(4) 'Life-sustaining (procedure) treatment' means any medical or surgical (procedure or intervention which utilizes) care that uses mechanical or other artificial means to sustain, restore, or (supplant) replace a vital function, which, when applied to a qualified patient, would serve only to (artificially prolong) postpone the moment of death (and where, in the judgment of the attending physician, death is imminent whether or not such procedures are utilized). 'Life-sustaining (procedure) treatment' shall not include the administration of medication or the performance of any medical (procedure or surgical care) deemed necessary solely to alleviate pain.

(5) 'Physician' means a person licensed under chapters 18.71 or 18.57 RCW.

(6) 'Qualified patient' means a patient diagnosed and certified in writing to be afflicted with a terminal condition by two physicians one of whom shall be the attending physician.
who have personally examined the patient. If no family member is involved, three physicians shall diagnose and certify in writing that the patient is afflicted with a terminal condition.

(8) "Adult person" means a person ((attaining)) who has attained the age of majority as defined in RCW 26.28.010 and 26.28.015.

(b) In the absence of my ability to give directions regarding the use of such life-sustaining procedures treatment, it is my intention that this directive shall be honored by my family and physician(s) as the final expression of my legal right to refuse medical or surgical treatment care and I accept the consequences ((from)) of such refusal.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 5. A new section is added to chapter 70.122 RCW to read as follows:

(1) Life-sustaining treatment as defined in RCW 70.122.020 that would otherwise be applied to a qualified patient may be withheld or withdrawn according to subsections (2), (3), and (4) of this section if:

(a) The qualified patient is incapable of expressing his or her wishes as to the withholding or withdrawal of life-sustaining treatment;

(b) It is determined by the attending physician that the qualified patient has a terminal condition as defined in RCW 70.122.020(7); and
There is certification in writing of such qualified patient's terminal condition by at least one additional physician with relevant qualifications, consulting specifically to assess the terminal condition after having personally examined the patient.

If a qualified patient's condition has been determined to meet the conditions set forth in subsection (1) of this section and no directive has been executed according to RCW 70.122.030, life-sustaining treatment may be withheld or withdrawn upon the direction and under the supervision of the attending physician after the physician has obtained authorization from a member of one of the following classes of persons in the following order of priority:

(a) The appointed guardian of the qualified patient, if any;

(b) The individual, if any, to whom the qualified patient has given a durable power of attorney that encompasses the authority to make health care decisions pursuant to section 13 of this act;

(c) The qualified patient's spouse;

(d) Children of the qualified patient who are at least eighteen years of age;

(e) Parents of the qualified patient;

(f) Adult brother(s) and sister(s) of the qualified patient;

(g) Adult niece(s) and nephew(s) of the qualified patient.

If the physician seeking authority to withhold or withdraw life-sustaining treatment from a qualified patient makes reasonable efforts to locate and secure authorization from a competent person in the first or succeeding class and finds no such person available, authorization may be given by any person in the next class in the order of descending priority. However, no person under this section shall have the power to authorize the withholding or withdrawal of life-sustaining treatment from a qualified patient, (i) if a person of higher priority under this section has refused to give such authorization, or (ii) if there are two or more individuals in the same class and the decision is not unanimous among all available members of that class.

Before any person described in subsection (2) of this section authorizes the physician to withhold or withdraw life-sustaining treatment from a qualified patient, he or she must first determine in good faith that the qualified patient, if competent, would choose to forego life-sustaining treatment. If such a determination cannot be made, the decision to authorize the withholding or withdrawal of life-sustaining treatment from a qualified patient is in the qualified patient's best interests.

If none of the persons described in subsection (2) of this section are available, then life-sustaining treatment may be withheld or withdrawn from a qualified patient upon the direction and under the supervision of the attending physician only after the attending physician determines in good faith that the conditions set forth in subsections (1) and (3) of this section have been met.

New Section. Sec. 6. If any terminally ill hospitalized patient indicates by words, actions or in writing that he or she wishes to die at home in dignity with his or her family and the family concurs, the patient shall be discharged immediately. There shall be no liability for claims arising from such discharge.

Sec. 7. Section 6, chapter 112, Laws of 1979 and RCW 70.122.050 are each amended to read as follows:

No family member or physician or health facility (which) that, acting in good faith in accordance with the requirements of this chapter, (causes the withholding or withdrawal of) and having documentation by two physicians of a terminal condition or three physicians where no family members are involved, withholds or withdraws life-sustaining (procedures) treatment from a qualified patient, shall be subject to civil liability (therefrom) unless otherwise negligent. No (licensed) health personnel, acting under the direction of a physician, who participates in good faith in the withholding or withdrawal of life-sustaining (procedures) treatment in accordance with the provisions of this chapter shall be subject to any civil liability unless otherwise negligent. No physician, or health facility or its agents, or (licensed) health personnel acting under the direction of a physician, who participates in good faith in the withholding or withdrawal of life-sustaining (procedures) treatment in accordance with the provisions of this chapter shall be guilty of any criminal act or of unprofessional conduct. No person who acts in good faith in accordance with the requirements of this chapter and participates in a decision to withhold or withdraw life-sustaining treatment from a qualified patient shall be subject to criminal or civil liability.

Sec. 8. Section 7, chapter 112, Laws of 1979 and RCW 70.122.050 are each amended to read as follows:

Prior to (effectuating) the withholding or withdrawal of life-sustaining (procedures) treatment from a qualified patient pursuant to the directive, the attending physician shall make a reasonable effort to determine that the directive complies with RCW 70.122.030 and, if the patient is mentally competent, that the directive and all steps proposed by the attending physician to be undertaken are currently in accord with the desires of the qualified patient.

The directive shall be conclusively presumed, unless revoked, to be the directions of the patient regarding the withholding or withdrawal of life-sustaining (procedures) treatment. No physician, and no (licensed) health personnel acting in good faith under the direction of a physician, shall be criminally or civilly liable for failing to effectuate the directive of the qualified patient pursuant to this subsection. (If the physician refuses to effectuate the directive, such physician shall make a good faith effort to transfer the qualified patient to another physician who will effectuate the directive of the qualified patient.) Any person or health facility that chooses not to comply with the directive shall immediately take all reasonable steps to transfer care of the qualified patient to another physician, health care provider, or health facility that will effectuate the directive. Any person whose conscience does not allow them to participate in the withholding or withdrawal of life-sustaining treatment shall be unconditionally protected for non-negligent acts against any disciplinary action including, but not limited to, licensing, hiring, promotion, health facility privileges, and transfers.

3. The attending physician or health facility shall inform a patient or patient’s surrogate of the existence of any policy or practice which would preclude the honoring of the patient’s directive at the time the physician or facility becomes aware of such a directive.

Sec. 9. Section 8, chapter 112, Laws of 1979 and RCW 70.122.070 are each amended to read as follows:

1. The withholding or withdrawal of life-sustaining \((\text{procedures})\) treatment from a qualified patient pursuant to the patient’s directive in accordance with the provisions of this chapter shall not, for any purpose, constitute a suicide.

2. The making of a directive pursuant to RCW 70.122.030 shall not restrict, inhibit, or impair in any manner the sale, procurement, or issuance of any policy of life insurance, nor shall it be deemed to modify the terms of an existing policy of life insurance. No policy of life insurance shall be legally impaired or invalidated in any manner by the withholding or withdrawal of life-sustaining \((\text{procedures})\) treatment from an insured qualified patient, notwithstanding any term of the policy to the contrary.

3. No physician, health facility, or other health provider, and no health care service plan, insurer issuing disability insurance, self-insured employee welfare benefit plan, or nonprofit hospital service plan, shall require any person to execute a directive as a condition for being insured for, or receiving, health care services.

Sec. 10. Section 10, chapter 112, Laws of 1979 and RCW 70.122.080 are each amended to read as follows:

The act of withholding or withdrawing life-sustaining \((\text{procedures})\) treatment from a qualified patient, when done pursuant to a directive described in RCW 70.122.030 \((\text{and which causes the death of the declarer})\) or the procedures authorized in this chapter, shall not be construed to be an intervening force or to affect the chain of proximate cause between the conduct of \((\text{any person})\) anyone that placed the declarer in a terminal condition and the death of the declarer.

Sec. 11. Section 9, chapter 112, Laws of 1979 and RCW 70.122.090 are each amended to read as follows:

Any person who wilfully conceals, cancels, defaces, obliterates, or damages the directive of another without such declarer’s consent shall be guilty of a gross misdemeanor. Any person who falsifies or forges the directive with the intent to cause a withholding or withdrawal of life-sustaining \((\text{procedures})\) treatment shall be subject to prosecution for murder in the first degree as defined in RCW 9A.32.030.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 12. A new section is added to chapter 70.122 RCW to read as follows:

Prime Sponsor, Committee on Commerce & Labor: Creating enforcement provisions for new motor vehicle warranties. Reported by Committee on Commerce & Labor

MAJORITY recommendation: Do pass with the following amendments:

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

"NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. The legislature recognizes that a new motor vehicle is a major consumer purchase and that a defective motor vehicle is likely to create hardship for, or may cause injury to, the consumer. The legislature further recognizes that good cooperation and communication between a manufacturer and a new motor vehicle dealer will considerably Increase the likelihood that a new motor vehicle will be repaired within a reasonable number of attempts.

It is the intent of the legislature to ensure that the consumer is made aware of his or her rights under this chapter and is not refused information, documents, or service that would otherwise obstruct the exercise of his or her rights.

In enacting these comprehensive measures, it is the intent of the legislature to create the proper blend of private and public remedies necessary to enforce this chapter, such that a manufacturer will be sufficiently induced to take necessary steps to improve quality control at the time of production or provide better warranty service for the new motor vehicles that it sells in this state.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. Unless the context clearly requires otherwise, the definitions in this section apply throughout this chapter:

(1) 'Board' means new motor arbitration vehicle board.

(2) 'Collateral charges' means any sales-related charges including but not limited to sales tax, arbitration service fees, license fees, registration fees, title fees, finance charges, insurance costs, transportation charges, dealer preparation charges, or any other charges for service contracts, undercoating, rustproofing, or factory installed options.

(4) "Consumer" means any person who has entered into an agreement or contract for the transfer, lease, or purchase of a new motor vehicle, other than for purposes of resale or sublease, during the duration of the warranty period defined under this section.

(5) "Court" means the superior court in the county where the consumer resides, except if the consumer does not reside in this state, then the superior court in the county where an arbitration hearing or determination was conducted or made pursuant to this chapter.

(6) "Incidental costs" means any reasonable expenses incurred by the consumer in connection with the repair of the new motor vehicle, including any towing charges and the costs of obtaining alternative transportation.

(7) "Manufacturer" means any person engaged in the business of constructing or assembling new motor vehicles or engaged in the business of importing new motor vehicles into the United States for the purpose of selling or distributing new motor vehicles to new motor vehicle dealers.

(8) "New motor vehicle" means any new self-propelled vehicle primarily designed for the transportation of persons or property over the public highways that was leased or purchased in this state and registered in this state, but does not include vehicles purchased or leased by a business as part of a fleet of ten or more vehicles. If the motor vehicle is a motor home, this chapter shall apply to the self-propelled vehicle and chassis, but does not include those portions of the vehicle designated, used, or maintained primarily as a mobile dwelling, office, or commercial space. The term "new motor vehicle" does not include motorcycles or trucks with nineteen thousand pounds or more gross vehicle weight rating. The term "new motor vehicle" includes a demonstrator or lease-purchase vehicle as long as a manufacturer's warranty was issued as a condition of sale.

(9) "New motor vehicle dealer" means a person who holds a dealer agreement with a manufacturer for the sale of new motor vehicles, who is engaged in the business of purchasing, selling, servicing, exchanging, or dealing in new motor vehicles, and who is licensed as a dealer by the state of Washington.

(10) "Nonconformity" means a defect, serious safety defect, or condition that substantially impairs the use, value, or safety of a new motor vehicle, but does not include a defect or condition that is the result of abuse, neglect, or unauthorized modification or alteration of the new motor vehicle.

(11) "Purchase price" means the cash price of the new motor vehicle appearing in the sales agreement or contract, including any allowance for a trade-in vehicle.

(12) "Reasonable offset for use" means an amount directly attributable to use by the consumer before repurchase or replacement by the manufacturer. The reasonable offset for use shall be computed by the number of miles that the vehicle traveled before the manufacturer's acceptance of the vehicle upon repurchase or replacement multiplied by the purchase price, and divided by one hundred thousand.

(13) "Reasonable number of attempts" means the definition provided in section 4 of this act.

(14) "Replacement motor vehicle" means a new motor vehicle that is identical or reasonably equivalent to the motor vehicle to be replaced, as the motor vehicle to be replaced existed at the time of purchase.

(15) "Serious safety defect" means a life-threatening malfunction or nonconformity that impedes the consumer's ability to control or operate the new motor vehicle for ordinary use or reasonable intended purposes or creates a risk of fire or explosion.

(16) "Substantially impair" means to render the new motor vehicle unreliable, or unsafe for ordinary use, or to diminish the resale value of the new motor vehicle below the average resale value for comparable motor vehicles.

(17) "Warranty" means any implied warranty, any written warranty of the manufacturer, or any affirmation of fact or promise made by the manufacturer in connection with the sale of a new motor vehicle that becomes part of the basis of the bargain. The term "warranty" pertains to the obligations of the manufacturer in relation to materials, workmanship, design defects, and fitness of a new motor vehicle for ordinary use or reasonably intended purposes throughout the duration of the warranty period as defined under this section.

(18) "Warranty period" means the period ending two years after the date of the original delivery to the consumer of a new motor vehicle, or the first twenty-four thousand miles of operation, whichever occurs first.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. (1) Each new motor vehicle dealer shall provide an owner's manual which shall be published by the manufacturer and include a list of the addresses and phone numbers for its zone or regional offices for this state.

(2) At the time of purchase, the new motor vehicle dealer shall provide the consumer with a written statement that explains the consumer's rights under this chapter. The written statement shall be prepared and supplied by the attorney general and shall contain a toll-free number that the consumer can contact for information regarding the procedures and remedies under this chapter.

(3) For the purposes of this chapter, if a new motor vehicle does not conform to the warranty and the consumer reports the nonconformity to the manufacturer, its agent, or the new motor vehicle dealer who sold the new motor vehicle during the term of the warranty period, the manufacturer, its agent, or the new motor vehicle dealer shall make repairs as are necessary to conform the vehicle to the warranty, regardless of whether such repairs are made after the expiration of the warranty period. Any corrections or attempted repairs undertaken by a new motor vehicle dealer under this chapter shall be treated as warranty work and billed by the dealer to the manufacturer in the same manner as other work under the manufacturer’s written warranty is billed.

(4) Upon request from the consumer, the manufacturer or new motor vehicle dealer shall provide a copy of any report or computer reading compiled by the manufacturer’s field or zone representative regarding inspection, diagnosis, or test-drive of the consumer’s new motor vehicle, or shall provide a copy of any technical service bulletin issued by the manufacturer regarding the year and model of the consumer’s new motor vehicle as it pertains to any material, feature, component, or the performance thereof.

(5) The new motor vehicle dealer shall provide to the consumer each time the consumer’s vehicle is returned from being diagnosed or repaired under the warranty, a fully itemized, legible statement or repair order indicating any diagnosis made, and all work performed on the vehicle including but not limited to, a general description of the problem reported by the consumer or an identification of the defect or condition, parts and labor, the date and the odometer reading when the vehicle was submitted for repair, and the date when the vehicle was made available to the consumer.

(6) No manufacturer, its agent, or the new motor vehicle dealer may refuse to diagnose or repair any nonconformity covered by the warranty for the purpose of avoiding liability under this chapter.

(7) For purposes of this chapter, the consumers shall have the rights and remedies, including a cause of action, against manufacturers as provided in this chapter.

(8) The warranty period and thirty-day out-of-service period shall be extended by any time that repair services are not available to the consumer as a direct result of a strike, war, invasion, tire, flood, or other natural disaster.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4. (1) If the manufacturer, its agent, or the new motor vehicle dealer is unable to conform the new motor vehicle to the warranty by repairing or correcting any nonconformity after a reasonable number of attempts, the manufacturer, within forty calendar days of a consumer’s written request shall, at the option of the consumer, replace or repurchase the new motor vehicle.

The replacement motor vehicle shall be identical or reasonably equivalent to the motor vehicle to be replaced. Compensation for a reasonable offset for use shall be paid by the consumer to the manufacturer in the event that the consumer accepts a replacement motor vehicle.

When repurchasing the new motor vehicle, the manufacturer shall refund to the consumer the purchase price, all collateral charges, and incidental costs, less a reasonable offset for use. Refunds shall be made to the consumer and lienholder of record, if any, as his or her interests may appear.

(2) Reasonable number of attempts shall be deemed to have been undertaken by the manufacturer, its agent, or the new motor vehicle dealer to conform the new motor vehicle to the warranty within the warranty period. If: (a) A serious safety defect has been subject to repair two or more times and the defect continues to exist; (b) the same nonconformity has been subject to diagnosis or repair four or more times; or (c) the new motor vehicle is out-of-service by reason of diagnosis or repair of one or more nonconformities for a cumulative total of thirty calendar days.

(3) No new motor vehicle dealer may be held liable by the manufacturer for any collateral charges, incidental costs, purchase price refunds, or vehicle replacements. Manufacturers shall not have a cause of action against dealers under this chapter, but may pursue rights and remedies in other proceedings in accordance with the manufacturer-dealer franchise agreement. Consumers shall not have a cause of action against dealers under this chapter, but a violation of any responsibilities imposed upon dealers under this chapter is a per se violation of chapter 19.86 RCW. Consumers may pursue rights and remedies against dealers under any other law, including chapters 46.70 and 46.71 RCW. Manufacturers and consumers may not make dealers parties to arbitration board proceedings under this chapter.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 5. (1) A manufacturer shall be prohibited from reselling any motor vehicle determined or adjudicated as having a serious safety defect unless the serious safety defect has been repaired.

(2) After the replacement or repurchase of a motor vehicle with a nonconformity uncorrected pursuant to this chapter, the manufacturer shall notify the attorney general and the department of licensing, by certified mail, upon receipt of the manufacturer’s motor vehicle.

(3) Upon the resale, either at wholesale or retail, or transfer of title of such motor vehicle previously returned after a final determination, adjudication, or settlement under this chapter or under a similar statute of any other state, the manufacturer, its agent, or the new motor vehicle dealer shall execute and deliver to the buyer before sale an instrument in writing setting forth information identifying the nonconformity in a manner to be specified by the attorney.
general, and the department of licensing shall place on the certificate of title information indicating the vehicle was returned under this chapter.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 6. (1) Except as provided in section 15 of this act, the attorney general shall contract with one or more private entities experienced in consumer arbitration to establish new motor vehicle arbitration boards to settle disputes between consumers and manufacturers as provided in this chapter. The entities shall not be affiliated with any manufacturer or new motor vehicle dealer. Payment to the entities for the arbitration services shall be made from the new motor vehicle arbitration account.

(2) The attorney general shall adopt rules for the uniform conduct of the arbitrations by the boards, which rules shall include but not be limited to the following procedures:

(a) At all arbitration proceedings, the parties are entitled to present oral and written testimony; to present witnesses and evidence relevant to the dispute, to cross-examine witnesses, and to be represented by counsel.

(b) Records of the board proceedings shall be open to the public. The hearings shall be open to the public to the extent practicable.

(3) A consumer shall exhaust the new motor vehicle arbitration board remedy before filing any superior court action.

(4) The attorney general shall maintain records of each dispute submitted to the new motor vehicle arbitration board, including an index of new motor vehicles by year, make, and model.

(5) The attorney general shall compile aggregate annual statistics for all disputes submitted to, and decided by, the new motor vehicle arbitration board, as well as annual statistics for each manufacturer that include, but shall not be limited to, the number and percent of: (a) Replacement motor vehicle requests; (b) purchase price refund requests; (c) replacement motor vehicles awarded in prehearing settlements; (d) purchase price refunds obtained in prehearing settlements; (e) replacement motor vehicles awarded in arbitration; (f) purchase price refunds awarded in arbitration; (g) board decisions neither complied with during the forty calendar day period nor petitioned for appeal within the thirty calendar day period; (h) board decisions appealed categorized by consumer or manufacturer; (i) the nature of the court decisions and who the prevailing party was; (j) appeals that were held by the court to be brought without good cause; and (k) appeals that were held by the court to be brought solely for the purpose of harassment. The statistical compilations shall be public information.

(6) The attorney general shall submit biennial reports of the information in this section to the senate and house of representatives committees on commerce and labor, with the first report due January 1, 1990.

(7) The attorney general shall adopt rules to implement this chapter. Such rules shall include uniform standards by which the boards shall make determinations under this chapter, including but not limited to rules which provide:

(a) A board shall find that a nonconformity exists if it determines that the consumer’s new motor vehicle has a defect, serious safety defect, or condition that substantially impairs the use, value, or safety of the vehicle.

(b) A board shall find that a reasonable number of attempts to repair a nonconformity have been undertaken when (i) a serious safety defect has been subject to repair two or more times and the defect continues to exist; (ii) the same nonconformity has been subject to diagnosis or repair four or more times; or (iii) the vehicle has been out-of-service by reason of diagnosis or repair of one or more nonconformities for a total of thirty calendar days.

(c) A board shall find that a manufacturer has failed to comply with section 4 of this act if it finds that the manufacturer, its agent, or the new motor vehicle dealer has failed to correct a nonconformity after a reasonable number of attempts and the manufacturer has failed, within forty days of the consumer’s written request, to repurchase the vehicle or replace the vehicle with a vehicle identical or reasonably equivalent to the vehicle being replaced.

(8) The attorney general shall provide consumers with information regarding the procedures and remedies under this chapter.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 7. (1) A consumer may request arbitration under this chapter by submitting the request to the attorney general. Within ten days after receipt of an arbitration request, the attorney general shall make a reasonable determination of the cause of the request for arbitration and provide necessary information to the consumer regarding the consumer’s rights and remedies under this chapter. The attorney general shall assign the dispute to a board, except that if it clearly appears from the materials submitted by the consumer that the dispute is not eligible for arbitration, the attorney general may refuse to assign the dispute and shall explain any required procedures to the consumer.

(2) Manufacturers shall submit to arbitration if such arbitration is requested by the consumer within thirty months from the date of original delivery of the new motor vehicle to the consumer and if the consumer’s dispute is deemed eligible for arbitration by the board.

(3) The new motor vehicle arbitration board may reject for arbitration any dispute that it determines to be frivolous, fraudulent, filled in bad faith, res judicata or beyond its authority.
Any dispute deemed by the board to be ineligible for arbitration due to insufficient evidence may be reconsidered by the board upon the submission of other information or documents regarding the dispute that would allegedly qualify for relief under this chapter. Following a second review, the board may reject the dispute for arbitration if evidence is still insufficient to qualify the dispute for relief under this chapter. A rejection by the board is subject to review by the attorney general or may be appealed under section 8 of this act.

A decision to reject any dispute for arbitration shall be sent by certified mail to the consumer and the manufacturer, and shall contain a brief explanation as to the reason thereof.

(4) The arbitration board shall award the remedies under section 4 of this act if it finds a nonconformity and that a reasonable number of attempts have been undertaken to correct the nonconformity.

(5) It is an affirmative defense to any claim under this chapter that: (a) The alleged nonconformity does not substantially impair the use, value, or safety of the new motor vehicle; or (b) the alleged nonconformity is the result of abuse, neglect, or unauthorized modifications or alterations of the new motor vehicle.

(6) The board shall have thirty calendar days from the date the board receives the consumer’s request for arbitration to hear the dispute. If the board determines that additional information is necessary, the board may continue the arbitration proceeding on a subsequent date within ten calendar days of the initial hearing. The board shall decide the dispute within sixty calendar days from the date the board receives the consumer’s request for arbitration.

The decision of the board shall be sent by certified mail to the consumer and the manufacturer, and shall contain a written finding of whether the new motor vehicle meets the standards set forth under this chapter.

(7) The consumer may accept the arbitration board decision or appeal to superior court, pursuant to section 8 of this act. Upon acceptance by the consumer, the arbitration board decision shall become final. The consumer shall send written notification of acceptance to the arbitration board who shall immediately send a copy of the consumer’s acceptance to the manufacturer by certified mail. return receipt requested.

(8) Upon receipt of the consumer’s acceptance, the manufacturer shall have forty calendar days to comply with the arbitration board decision or thirty calendar days to file a petition of appeal in superior court. At the time the petition of appeal is filed, the manufacturer shall send, by certified mail, a conformed copy of such petition to the attorney general. If the attorney general receives no notice of petition of appeal after forty calendar days, the attorney general shall contact the consumer to verify compliance.

(9) If, at the end of the forty calendar day period, neither compliance with, nor a petition to appeal the board’s decision has occurred, the attorney general shall impose a fine of one thousand dollars per day until compliance occurs or a maximum penalty of one hundred thousand dollars accrues unless the manufacturer can provide clear and convincing evidence that any delay or failure was beyond its control or was acceptable to the consumer as evidenced by a written statement signed by the consumer. If the manufacturer fails to provide such evidence or fails to pay the fine, the attorney general shall initiate proceedings against the manufacturer for failure to pay any fine that accrues until compliance with the board’s decision occurs or the maximum penalty of one hundred thousand dollars results.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 8. (1) The consumer or the manufacturer may appeal the arbitration board decision, including a rejection, to superior court and not to the office of administrative hearings.

(2) Grounds for the manufacturer to appeal a decision by the arbitration board shall be limited to clear and convincing evidence that: (a) The award was procured by corruption, fraud, or other misconduct; or (b) the board refused to postpone a hearing upon sufficient cause or refused to hear evidence pertinent and material to the dispute; or (c) the board exceeded its powers; or (d) the board conducted the hearing contrary to the provisions of this chapter or rules adopted under it so as to prejudice substantially the rights of the manufacturer.

In a written petition to appeal a decision by the board, the manufacturer or consumer shall state the action requested and the grounds relied upon.

(3) If the consumer prevails, recovery shall include the monetary value of the award, attorneys’ fees and costs incurred in the superior court action, and continuing damages in the amount of twenty-five dollars per day for all days beyond the forty calendar day period following the manufacturer’s receipt of the consumer’s acceptance of the board’s decision where the manufacturer did not provide the consumer with the free use of a comparable loaner replacement motor vehicle. If it is determined by the court that the manufacturer acted without good cause in bringing the appeal or brought the appeal solely for the purpose of harassment, the court may triple, but at least shall double, the amount of the total award.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 9. A five-dollar arbitration fee shall be collected by the new motor vehicle dealer from the consumer at completion of sale. The fee shall be forwarded to the department of licensing for deposit in the new motor vehicle arbitration account hereby created in the state treasury. Moneys in the account shall be used for the purposes of this chapter, subject to appropriation.
At the end of each fiscal year, the attorney general shall prepare a report listing the annual revenue generated and the expenses incurred in implementing and operating the arbitration program under this chapter.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 10. A violation of this chapter shall constitute an unfair or deceptive trade practice within the public interest under chapter 19.86 RCW. All public and private remedies provided under that chapter shall be available to enforce this chapter.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 11. Any agreement entered into by a consumer for the purchase of a new motor vehicle that waives, limits, or disclaims the rights set forth in sections 2 through 12 of this act shall be void contrary to public policy. Said rights shall extend to a subsequent transferee of such new motor vehicle.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 12. Nothing in this chapter shall be construed as limiting the consumer from pursuing other rights or remedies under any other law.

Sec. 13. Section 5, chapter 240, Laws of 1983 and RCW 19.118.050 are each amended to read as follows:

It shall be presumed that a reasonable number of attempts have been undertaken to conform a motor vehicle to the applicable express warranties if during the term of such express warranties or during the period of one year following the date of original delivery of the motor vehicle to a buyer: (1) The same nonconformity has been subject to diagnosis or repair four or more times by the manufacturer or its agents; (2) ((the vehicle is out of service by reason of repair for a cumulative total of more than thirty days since the delivery of the vehicle to the buyer)) a serious safety defect has been subject to repair two or more times, and the defect continues to exist; or (3) the new motor vehicle is out-of-service by reason of diagnosis or repair of one or more nonconformities for a cumulative total of thirty calendar days. The thirty-day period includes each calendar day or portion thereof during which the service shop is open for business, but does not include periods during which repairs cannot be made due to ((conditions beyond the control of the service facility and does not include periods during which the buyer has been provided with a comparable replacement vehicle by the dealer or manufacturer)) reasons specified in section 3(8) of this 1987 act.

This section shall expire December 31, 1988.

Sec. 14. Section 6, chapter 240, Laws of 1983 and RCW 19.118.060 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) If a manufacturer has established an informal dispute resolution settlement procedure which substantially complies with the applicable provision of Title 16, Code of Federal Regulations, Part 703, as from time to time amended, the provisions of RCW 19.118.040 concerning reimbursements do not apply unless the buyer has resorted to such procedure. After the new motor vehicle arbitration board has been established and is operational and until December 31, 1988, consumers who have a pending case in the informal dispute resolution settlement procedure in this section may choose to transfer the case to be heard before the new motor vehicle arbitration board.

This subsection shall expire December 31, 1988.

(2) Except as provided in subsection (1) of this section, after the boards have been established and are operational, the boards shall be the only arbitration available in this state to settle disputes as described in this chapter.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 15. If the attorney general is unable, or will be unable, to contract with private entities to conduct arbitrations under the procedures and standards in this chapter, by January 1, 1988, the attorney general shall establish one or more new motor vehicle arbitration boards. Each such board shall consist of three members appointed by the attorney general, one of whom may be directly involved in the manufacture, distribution, sale, or service of any motor vehicle. Board members shall be reimbursed for travel expenses in accordance with RCW 43.03.050 and 43.03.060 and shall be compensated pursuant to RCW 43.03.240.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 16. Sections 2 through 12 and 15 of this act are each added to chapter 19.118 RCW.

(2) Before January 1, 1988, the attorney general may expend funds appropriated under this section to establish the new motor vehicle arbitration boards.

ESB 5570 Prime Sponsor, Committee on Parks & Ecology: Providing for regulation of incinerator residues. Reported by Committee on Environmental Affairs

"NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. The legislature recognizes that raw garbage poses significant environmental and public health risks. The legislature has recognized that mixed municipal solid waste incineration constitutes a higher waste management priority than the land disposal of untreated mixed municipal solid waste due to its reduction of waste volumes and environmental health risks. The legislature further recognizes that incineration serves as an intermediate technology to further enable implementation of the other higher management priorities of waste reduction and recycling.

Sec. 2. Section 1, chapter 101, Laws of 1975-'76 2nd ex. sess. as amended by section 1, chapter 448, Laws of 1985 and RCW 70.105.010 are each amended to read as follows:

(b) Are corrosive, explosive, flammable, or may generate pressure through decomposition or other means.

'Extremely hazardous waste' means any dangerous waste which

(a) will persist in a hazardous form for several years or more at a disposal site and which in its persistent form

(a) Identify procedures for all aspects relating to the management of the special wastes that are necessary to protect employees, public health, and the environment;

(b) Identify procedures for source control for the purpose of (i) reducing the toxicity of the special waste; (ii) reducing the quantity of the special waste; or (iii) providing opportunities for reuse or recycling;

Any person aggrieved by the department decision may appeal the decision to the pollution control hearings board pursuant to the provisions of chapter 43.21B RCW, except that such appeal shall be expedited by the board to the maximum extent possible.

SSB 5654 Prime Sponsor, Committee on Ways & Means: Revising provisions relating to criminal sentencing. Reported by Committee on Judiciary

MAJORITY recommendation: Do pass with the following amendments:
Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:
"Sec. 1. Section 11, chapter 137, Laws of 1981 as last amended by section 34, chapter 257, Laws of 1986 and RCW 9.94A.110 are each amended to read as follows:
Before imposing a sentence upon a defendant, the court shall conduct a sentencing hearing. The sentencing hearing shall be held within forty court days following conviction. Upon the motion of either party for good cause shown, or on its own motion, the court may extend the time period for conducting the sentencing hearing. The court shall order the department to complete a presentence report for the purpose of offender management before imposing a sentence upon a defendant who has been convicted of a felony sex offense. The department shall give priority to presentence investigations for sex offenders. The court shall consider the presentence reports, if any, including any victim impact statement and criminal history, and allow arguments from the prosecutor, the defense counsel, the offender, the victim, the survivor of the victim, or a representative of the victim or survivor, and an investigative law enforcement officer as to the sentence to be imposed. If the court is satisfied by a preponderance of the evidence that the defendant has a criminal history, the court shall specify the convictions it has found to exist. All of this information shall be part of the record. Copies of all presentence reports presented to the sentencing court and all written findings of fact and conclusions of law as to sentencing entered by the court shall be sent to the department by the clerk of the court at the conclusion of the sentencing and shall accompany the offender if the offender is committed to the custody of the department. Court clerks shall provide, without charge, certified copies of documents relating to criminal convictions requested by prosecuting attorneys.

Sec. 2. Section 12, chapter 137, Laws of 1981 as last amended by section 20, chapter 257, Laws of 1986 and by section 4, chapter 301, Laws of 1986 and RCW 9.94A.120 are each reenacted and amended to read as follows:

When a person is convicted of a felony, the court shall impose punishment as provided in this section.

(1) Except as authorized in subsections (2), (5), and (7) of this section, the court shall impose a sentence within the sentence range for the offense.

(2) The court may impose a sentence outside the standard sentence range for that offense if it finds, considering the purpose of this chapter, that there are substantial and compelling reasons justifying an exceptional sentence.

(3) Whenever a sentence outside the standard range is imposed, the court shall set forth the reasons for its decision in written findings of fact and conclusions of law. A sentence outside the standard range shall be a determinate sentence.

(4) An offender convicted of the crime of murder in the first degree shall be sentenced to a term of total confinement not less than twenty years. An offender convicted of the crime of assault in the first degree where the offender used force or means likely to result in death or intended to kill the victim shall be sentenced to a term of total confinement not less than five years. An offender convicted of the crime of rape in the first degree shall be sentenced to a term of total confinement not less than three years, and shall not be eligible for furlough, work release or other authorized leave of absence from the correctional facility during such minimum three year term except for the purpose of commitment to an inpatient treatment facility. The foregoing minimum terms of total confinement are mandatory and shall not be varied or modified as provided in subsection (2) of this section.

(5) In sentencing a first-time offender the court may waive the imposition of a sentence within the sentence range and impose a sentence which may include up to ninety days of confinement in a facility operated or utilized under contract by the county and a requirement that the offender refrain from committing new offenses. The sentence may also include up to two years of community supervision, which, in addition to crime-related prohibitions, may include requirements that the offender perform any one or more of the following:

(a) Devote time to a specific employment or occupation;
(b) Undergo available outpatient treatment for up to two years, or inpatient treatment not to exceed the standard range of confinement for that offense;
(c) Pursue a prescribed, secular course of study or vocational training;
(d) Pay a fine and/or accomplish some community service work.
(e) Report as directed to the court and a community corrections officer; or
(f) Pay a fine and/or accomplish some community service work.

(6) If a sentence range has not been established for the defendant's crime, the court shall impose a determinate sentence which may include not more than one year of confinement, community service work, a term of community supervision not to exceed one year, and/or a fine. The court may impose a sentence which provides more than one year of confinement if the court finds, considering the purpose of this chapter, that there are substantial and compelling reasons justifying an exceptonal sentence.

(7) (a) When an offender is convicted of a sex offense other than a violation of RCW 9A.44.040 or RCW 9A.44.050 and has no prior convictions for a sex offense or any other felony sexual offenses in this or any other state, the sentencing court, in its own motion or the motion of the state or the defendant, may order an examination to determine whether the defendant is amenable to treatment.

After receipt of the reports, the court shall then determine whether the offender and the community will benefit from use of this special sexual offender sentencing alternative. If the court determines that both the offender and the community will benefit from use of this provision, the court shall then impose a sentence within the sentence range and, if this sentence is less than six years of confinement, the court may suspend the execution of the sentence and place the offender on community supervision for up to two years. As a condition of the suspended sentence, the court may impose other sentence conditions including up to six months of confinement, not to exceed the sentence range of confinement for that offense, crime-related prohibitions, and requirements that the offender perform any one or more of the following:

(i) Devote time to a specific employment or occupation;
(ii) Undergo available outpatient sex offender treatment for up to two years, or inpatient sex offender treatment not to exceed the standard range of confinement for that offense. A community mental health center may not be used for such treatment unless it has an appropriate program designed for sex offender treatment;
(iii) Remain within prescribed geographical boundaries and notify the court or the community corrections officer ((of)) prior to any change in the offender's address or employment;
(iv) Report as directed to the court and a community corrections officer;
(v) Pay a fine, accomplish some community service work, or any combination thereof; or
(vi) Make recoupment to the victim for the cost of any counseling required as a result of the offender's crime.

If the offender violates these sentence conditions the court may revoke the suspension and order execution of the sentence. All confinement time served during the period of community supervision shall be credited to the offender if the suspended sentence is revoked.

(b) When an offender ((tr-convicted-of)) commits any felony sexual offense ((end is sentenced)) on or after July 1, 1987, and is sentenced to a term of confinement of more than one year but less than six years, the sentencing court may, on its own motion or on the motion of the offender or the state, request the department of corrections to evaluate whether the offender is amenable to treatment and the department may place the offender in a treatment program within a correctional facility operated by the department.

If the offender completes the treatment program before the expiration of his term of confinement, the department of corrections may request the court to convert the balance of confinement to community supervision and to place conditions on the offender including crime-related prohibitions and requirements that the offender perform any one or more of the following:

(i) Devote time to a specific employment or occupation;
(ii) Undergo available outpatient treatment.

When an offender ((c, convicted of)) commits any felony sexual offense ((end is sentenced)) on or after July 1, 1987, and is sentenced to a term of confinement of more than one year but less than six years, the sentencing court may, on its own motion or on the motion of the offender or the state, request the department of corrections to evaluate whether the offender is amenable to treatment and the department may place the offender in a treatment program within a correctional facility operated by the department.

If the offender violates any of the terms of his community supervision, the court may order the offender to serve out the balance of his community supervision term in confinement in the custody of the department of corrections.

Nothing in (b) of this subsection shall confer eligibility for such programs for offenders convicted and sentenced for a sexual offense committed prior to July 1, 1987.

After June 30, 1993, (b) of this subsection shall cease to have effect.

(c) Whenever a court sentences a person convicted of a sex offense committed after July 1, 1986, to a term of confinement of more than one year, including a sentence under (b) of this subsection, the court may also order, in addition to the terms of the sentence, that the offender, upon release from confinement, serve up to two years of community supervision. The conditions of supervision shall be limited to:

(i) Crime-related provisions;
(ii) A requirement that the offender report to a community corrections officer at regular intervals; and
(iii) A requirement to remain within or without stated geographical boundaries.

The length and conditions of supervision shall be set by the court at the time of sentencing. However, within thirty days prior to release from confinement and throughout the period of supervision, the length and conditions of supervision may be modified by the sentencing court, upon motion of the department of corrections, the offender, or the prosecuting attorney. The period of supervision shall be tolled during any time the offender is in confinement for any reason. In no case may the period of supervision, in combination with the other terms of the offender's sentence, exceed the statutory maximum term for the offender's crime, as set forth in RCW 9.94A.031.

If the offender violates any condition of supervision, the sentencing court, after a hearing conducted in the same manner as provided for in RCW 9.94A.200, may order the offender to be confined for up to sixty days in the county jail at state expense from funds provided for this purpose to the department of corrections. Reimbursement rates for such purposes shall be established based on a formula determined by the office of financial management and reestablished each even-numbered year. An offender may be held in jail at state expense pending the hearing, and any time served while awaiting the hearing shall be credited against confinement imposed for a violation. Even after the period of supervision has expired, an offender may be confined for a violation occurring during the period of supervision. The court shall retain jurisdiction for the purpose of holding the violation hearing and imposing a sanction.

(8) If the court imposes a sentence requiring confinement of thirty days or less, the court may, in its discretion, specify that the sentence be served on consecutive or intermittent days. A sentence requiring more than thirty days of confinement shall be served on consecutive days. Local jail administrators may schedule court-ordered intermittent sentences as space permits.

(9) If a sentence imposed includes a fine or restitution, the sentence shall specify a reasonable manner and time in which the fine or restitution shall be paid. In any sentence under this chapter the court may also require the offender to make such monetary payments, on such terms as it deems appropriate under the circumstances, as are necessary (a) to pay court costs, including reimbursement of the state for costs of extradition if return to this state by extradition was required, (b) to make recoupment of the cost of defense attorney’s fees if counsel is provided at public expense, (c) to contribute to a county or interlocal drug fund, and (d) to make such other payments as provided by law. All monetary payments shall be ordered paid by no later than ten years after the date of the conviction (or conviction and sentence). The offender’s compliance with payment of monetary obligations shall be supervised by the department. The rate of payment shall be determined by the court or, in the absence of a rate determined by the court, the rate shall be set by the department.

An offender’s default in the payment of restitution, fines, and other monetary obligations imposed under this chapter, or any installment thereof, may be collected by any means authorized by law for the enforcement of a judgment. Judgments for monetary obligations under this chapter are and may be made liens upon the property of the offender in the same manner and with like effect as judgments in civil actions.

(10) Except as provided under RCW 9.94A.140(1), a court may not impose a sentence providing for a term of confinement or community supervision which exceeds the statutory maximum for the crime as provided in chapter 9A.20 RCW.

(11) All offenders sentenced to terms involving community supervision, community service, ((restitution or fines)) or court-imposed monetary obligations shall be under the supervision of the secretary of the department of corrections or such person as the secretary may designate and shall follow implicitly the instructions of the secretary ((including)) related to reporting as directed to a community corrections officer, remaining within prescribed geographical boundaries, ((and)) notifying the community corrections officer ((of)) prior to any change in the offender’s address or employment.

(12) The sentencing court shall give the offender credit for all confinement time served before the sentencing if that confinement was solely in regard to the offense for which the offender is being sentenced.

(13) A departure from the standards in RCW 9.94A.400(1) and (2) governing whether sentences are to be served consecutively or concurrently is an exceptional sentence subject to the limitations in subsections (2) and (3) of this section, and may be appealed by the defendant or the state as set forth in RCW 9.94A.210(2) through (6).

(14) The court shall order restitution whenever the offender is convicted of a felony that results in injury to any person or damage to or loss of property, whether the offender is sentenced to confinement or placed under community supervision, unless extraordinary circumstances exist that make restitution inappropriate in the court’s judgment. The court shall set forth the extraordinary circumstances in the record if it does not order restitution.

Sec. 3. Section 15, chapter 137, Laws of 1981 as last amended by section 8, chapter 209, Laws of 1984 and RCW 9.94A.150 are each amended to read as follows:

No person serving a sentence imposed pursuant to this chapter shall leave the confines of the correctional facility or be released prior to the expiration of the sentence except as follows:

(1) The terms of the sentence may be reduced by earned early release time in accordance with procedures developed and promulgated by the department. The earned early release time shall be for good behavior and good performance, as determined by the department. In no case shall the aggregate earned early release time exceed one-third of the sentence;

(2) An offender may leave a correctional facility pursuant to an authorized furlough or leave of absence. In addition, offenders may leave a correctional facility when in the custody of a corrections officer or officers;

(3) The governor, upon recommendation from the clemency and pardons board, may grant an extraordinary release for reasons of serious health problems, senility, advanced age, extraordinary meritorious acts, or other extraordinary circumstances;

(4) ((If the sentence of confinement is in excess of twelve months but not in excess of three years)) No more than the final ((three)) six months of the sentence may be served in partial confinement designed to aid the qualified offender, as determined by the department of corrections, in finding work and reestablishing him or herself in the community; ((If the sentence of confinement is in excess of three years, no more than the final six months of the sentence may be served in such partial confinement));

(5) The governor may pardon any offender;

(6) The department of corrections may release an offender from confinement any time within ten days before a release date calculated under this section; and

(7) An offender may leave a correctional facility prior to completion of his sentence if the sentence has been reduced as provided in RCW 9.94A.160.
Sec. 4. Section 17, chapter 137, Laws of 1981 and RCW 9.94A.170 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) A term of confinement ordered in a sentence pursuant to this chapter shall be tolled by any period of time during which the offender has absented himself or herself from (supervision) confinement without the prior approval of the entity in whose custody the offender has been placed. A term of partial confinement shall be tolled during any period of time spent in total confinement pursuant to a new conviction or pursuant to sanctions for violation of sentence conditions on a separate felony conviction.

(2) A term of supervision ordered in a sentence pursuant to this chapter shall be tolled by any period of time during which the offender has absented himself or herself from supervision without prior approval of the entity under whose supervision the offender has been placed.

(3) For confinement sentences, the date for the tolling of the sentence shall be established by the entity responsible for the confinement. For sentences involving supervision, the date for the tolling of the sentence shall be established by the court, based on reports from the entity responsible for the supervision.

Sec. 5. Section 20, chapter 137, Laws of 1981 as amended by section 12, chapter 209. Laws of 1984 and RCW 9.94A.200 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) If an offender violates any condition or requirement of a sentence, the court may modify its order of judgment and sentence and impose further punishment in accordance with this section.

(2) If an offender fails to comply with any of the requirements or conditions of a sentence the following provisions apply:

(a) The court, upon the motion of the state, or upon its own motion, shall require the offender to show cause why the offender should not be punished for the noncompliance. The court may issue a summons or a warrant of arrest for the offender's appearance;

(b) If the court finds that the violation has occurred, it may order the offender to be confined for a period not to exceed sixty days for each violation, and may (i) convert a term of partial confinement to total confinement, (ii) convert community service obligation to total or partial confinement, or (iii) convert monetary obligations, except restitution and the crime victim penalty assessment, to community service hours at the rate of the state minimum wage for each hour of community service. Any time served in confinement awaiting a hearing on noncompliance shall be credited against any confinement order by the court; and

(c) If the court finds that the violation was not willful, the court may modify its previous order regarding payment of fines or other monetary payments and regarding community service obligations.

Sec. 6. Section 9, chapter 115, Laws of 1983 as amended by section 21, chapter 209. Laws of 1984 and RCW 9.94A.380 are each amended to read as follows:

For sentences of nonviolent offenders for one year or less, the court shall consider and give priority to available alternatives to total confinement and shall state its reasons if they are not used.

These alternatives include the following sentence conditions that the court may order as substitutes for total confinement: (1) One day of partial confinement or eight hours of community service may be substituted for one day of total confinement; (2) the community service conversion is limited to two hundred forty hours or thirty days. The conversion of total confinement to partial confinement may be applied to all sentences of one year or less, including those for violent offenses. Community service hours must be completed within the period of community supervision or a time period specified by the court, which shall not exceed twenty-four months, pursuant to a schedule determined by the department.

Sec. 7. Section 22, chapter 209, Laws of 1984 and RCW 9.94A.383 are each amended to read as follows:

On all sentences of confinement for one year or less the court may impose up to one year of community supervision. (For confinement sentences, unless otherwise ordered by the court: the period of community supervision begins at the date of release from confinement. For nonconfinement sentences: the period of community supervision begins at the date of entry of the judgment and sentence.) An offender shall be on community supervision as of the date of sentencing. However, during the time for which the offender is in total or partial confinement pursuant to the sentence or a violation of a sentence, the period of community supervision shall toll.

Sec. 8. Section 11, chapter 115, Laws of 1983 as last amended by section 28, chapter 257, Laws of 1986 and RCW 9.94A.400 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) (a) Except as provided in (b) of this subsection, whenever a person is to be sentenced for two or more current offenses, the sentence range for each current offense shall be determined by using all other current and prior convictions as they were prior convictions for the purpose of the offender score: PROVIDED, That if the court enters a finding that some or all of the current offenses encompass the same criminal conduct then those current offenses shall be counted as one crime. Sentences imposed under this subsection shall be served concurrently.
Consecutive sentences may only be imposed under the exceptional sentence provisions of RCW 9.94A.120 and 9.94A.390(2)(e) or any other provision of RCW 9.94A.390.

(b) Whenever a person is convicted of three or more serious violent offenses, as defined in RCW 9.94A.330, arising from separate and distinct criminal conduct, the sentence range for the offense with the highest seriousness level under RCW 9.94A.320 shall be determined using the offender's criminal history in the offender score and the sentence range for other serious violent offenses shall be determined by using an offender score of zero. The sentence range for any offenses that are not serious violent offenses shall be determined according to (a) of this subsection. All sentences imposed under (b) of this subsection shall be served consecutively to each other and concurrently with sentences imposed under (a) of this subsection.

(2) Whenever a person while under sentence of felony commits another felony and is sentenced to another term of imprisonment, the latter term shall not begin until expiration of all prior terms.

(3) Subject to subsections (1) and (2) of this section, whenever a person is sentenced for a felony that was committed while the person was not under sentence of a felony, the sentence shall run concurrently with any felony sentence which has been imposed by any court in this or another state or by a federal court subsequent to the commission of the crime being sentenced unless the court pronouncing the current sentence expressly orders that they be served consecutively.

(4) Whenever any person granted probation under RCW 9.95.210 or 9.92.060, or both, has the probationary sentence revoked and a prison sentence imposed, that sentence shall run consecutively to any sentence imposed pursuant to this chapter, unless the court pronouncing the subsequent sentence expressly orders that they be served concurrently.

(5) However, in the case of consecutive sentences, all periods of total confinement shall be served before any partial confinement, community service, community supervision, or any other requirement or conditions of any of the sentences. If two or more sentences that run consecutively include periods of community supervision, the aggregate of the community supervision period shall not exceed twenty-four months.

Sec. 9. Section 1, chapter 6, Laws of 1973 2nd ex. sess. and RCW 9.91.120 are each amended to read as follows:

Any person who resells food stamps manufactured under the food stamp program established pursuant to RCW 74.04.500, 74.04.505 and 74.04.510, or food purchased therewith, and any person who knowingly purchases such resold stamps or food, shall (1) if the face value of the stamps or food transferred is two hundred and fifty dollars or more, be guilty of a ((gross misdemeanor)) class C felony as defined in RCW 9A.20.021 and (2) if the face value of the stamps or food transferred is less than two hundred dollars, shall be guilty of a ((gross misdemeanor)) gross misdemeanor as defined in RCW 9A.20.021.

Sec. 10. Section 3, chapter 115, Laws of 1983 as last amended by section 23, chapter 257, Laws of 1986 and RCW 9.94A.320 are each amended to read as follows:

Prime Sponsor. Committee on Ways & Means: Providing for services for the protection of children. Reported by Committee on Human Services

MAJORITY recommendation: Do pass with the following amendments:

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

"Sec. 1. Section 31, chapter 155, Laws of 1979 as last amended by section 10, chapter 257, Laws of 1985 and RCW 13.32A.170 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) The court shall hold a fact-finding hearing to consider a proper petition and may approve or deny alternative residential placement giving due weight to the intent of the legislature that families((absent compelling reasons to the contrary, shall remain together and that parents have the right to place reasonable rules and restrictions upon their children)) have the right to place reasonable restrictions and rules upon their children, appropriate to the individual child's developmental level. The court may appoint legal counsel and/or a guardian ad litem to represent the child and advise parents of their right to be represented by legal counsel. The court may approve an order stating that the child shall be placed in a residence other than the home of his or her parent only if it is established by a preponderance of the evidence that:

(a) The petition is not capricious;
(b) The petitioner, if a parent or the child, has made a reasonable effort to resolve the conflict;
(c) The conflict which exists cannot be resolved by delivery of services to the family during continued placement of the child in the parental home; and
(d) Reasonable efforts have been made to prevent or eliminate the need for removal of the child from the child's home and to make it possible for the child to return home.
The court may not grant a petition filed by the child or the department if it is established that the petition is based only upon a dislike of reasonable rules or reasonable discipline established by the parent.

(2) The order approving out-of-home placement shall direct the department to submit a disposition plan for a three-month placement of the child that is designed to reunite the family and resolve the family conflict. Such plan shall delineate any conditions or limitations on parental involvement. In making the order, the court shall further direct the department to make recommendations, as to which agency or person should have physical custody of the child, as to which parental powers should be awarded to such agency or person, and as to parental visitation rights. The court may direct the department to consider the cultural heritage of the child in making its recommendations.

(3) The hearing to consider the recommendations of the department for a three-month disposition plan shall be set no later than fourteen days after the approval of the court of a petition to approve alternative residential placement. Each party shall be notified of the time and place of such disposition hearing.

(4) If the court approves or denies a petition for an alternative residential placement, a written statement of the reasons shall be filed. If the court denies a petition requesting that a child be placed in a residence other than the home of his or her parent, the court shall enter an order requiring the child to remain at or return to the home of his or her parent.

(5) If the court denies the petition, the court shall impress upon the party filing the petition of the legislative intent to restrict the proceedings to situations where a family conflict is so great that it cannot be resolved by the provision of in-home services.

(6) A child who fails to comply with a court order directing that the child remain at or return to the home of his or her parent shall be subject to contempt proceedings, as provided in this chapter. but only if the noncompliance occurs within ninety calendar days after the day of the order.

Sec. 2. Section 30, chapter 291, Laws of 1977 ex. sess. and RCW 13.34.020 are each amended to read as follows:

The legislature declares that the paramount goal of the juvenile court is the best interests of the child. For purposes of this section, "the best interests of the child" include but are not limited to considerations of safety, but do not include factors relating to socioeconomic status. The legislature further declares that the family unit is a fundamental resource of American life which should be nurtured. Toward the continuance of this principle, the legislature declares that the family unit should remain intact (in the absence of compelling evidence to the contrary) unless a child's right to conditions of basic nurture, health, or safety is jeopardized. When the rights of basic nurture, physical and mental health, and safety of the child and the legal rights of the parents are in conflict, the rights and best interests of the child should prevail.

For purposes of this chapter:

(a) 'Child' and 'juvenile' means any individual under the age of eighteen years;

(b) 'Dependent child' means any child:

(1) 'Child' and 'juvenile' means any individual under the age of eighteen years;

(c) Who has no parent, guardian, or custodian capable of adequately caring for the child, such that the child is in circumstances which constitute a danger of substantial damage to the child's psychological or physical development: or

(d) Who is developmentally disabled, as defined in RCW 71.20.016 and whose parent, guardian, or legal custodian together with the department determines that services appropriate to the child's needs can not be provided in the home. However, (a), (b), and (c) of this subsection may still be applied if other reasons for removal of the child from the home exist.

Sec. 3. Section 31, chapter 291, Laws of 1977 ex. sess. as last amended by section 2, chapter 311, Laws of 1983 and RCW 13.34.030 are each amended to read as follows:

For purposes of this chapter:

(1) 'Child' and 'juvenile' means any individual under the age of eighteen years;

(2) 'Dependent child' means any child:

(a) Who has been abandoned; that is, where the child's parent, guardian, or other custodian has evidenced either by statement or conduct, a settled intent to forego, for an extended period, all parental rights or all parental responsibilities despite an ability to do so;

(b) Who is abused or neglected as defined in chapter 26.44 RCW by a person legally responsible for the care of the child;

(c) Who has no parent, guardian, or custodian capable of adequately caring for the child, such that the child is in circumstances which constitute a danger of substantial damage to the child's psychological or physical development: or

(d) Who is developmentally disabled, as defined in RCW 71.20.016 and whose parent, guardian, or legal custodian together with the department determines that services appropriate to the child's needs can not be provided in the home. However, (a), (b), and (c) of this subsection may still be applied if other reasons for removal of the child from the home exist.

Sec. 4. Section 34, chapter 291, Laws of 1977 ex. sess. as last amended by section 5, chapter 95, Laws of 1984 and by section 3, chapter 188, Laws of 1984 and RCW 13.34.060 are each reenacted and amended to read as follows:

(1) A child taken into custody pursuant to RCW 13.34.050 or 26.44.050 shall be immediately placed in shelter care. A child taken by a relative of the child in violation of RCW 9A.40.060 or 9A.40.070 shall be placed in shelter care only when permitted under RCW 13.34.055. "Shelter care" means temporary physical care in a facility licensed pursuant to RCW 74.15.030 or in a home not required to be licensed pursuant to that section. Whenever a child is taken into such custody pursuant to this section, the supervising agency may authorize evaluations of the child's physical or emotional condition, routine medical and dental examinations and care, and all necessary emergency care. In no case may a child who is taken into custody pursuant to RCW 13.34.055, 13.34.050, or 26.44.050 be detained in a secure detention facility. No child may be held longer than seventy-two hours, excluding Saturdays, Sundays and holidays, after such child is taken into custody unless a court order has been entered for continued shelter care. The child and his or her parent, guardian, or custodian shall be informed that they have a right to a shelter care hearing. The court shall hold a shelter care hearing if one is requested.

(2) The juvenile court counselor assigned to the matter shall make all reasonable efforts to advise the parents, guardian, or legal custodian of the time and place of any shelter care hearing, request that they be present, and inform them of their basic rights as provided in RCW 13.34.090.

(3) At the commencement of the shelter care hearing the court shall advise the parties of their basic rights as provided in RCW 13.34.090 and shall appoint counsel pursuant to RCW 13.34.090 if counsel has not been retained by the parent or guardian and if the parent or guardian is indigent, unless the court finds that the right to counsel has been expressly and voluntarily waived.

(4) The court shall examine the need for shelter care. All parties have the right to present testimony to the court regarding the need or lack of need for shelter care.

(5) The juvenile court probation counselor shall submit a recommendation to the court as to the further need for shelter care, except that such recommendation shall be submitted by the department of social and health services in cases where the petition alleging dependency has been filed by the department of social and health services, unless otherwise ordered by the court.

(6) The court shall release a child alleged to be dependent to the care, custody, and control of the child's parent, guardian, or legal custodian unless the court finds there is reasonable cause to believe that:

(a) Reasonable efforts have been made to prevent or eliminate the need for removal of the child from the child's home and to make it possible for the child to return home; and

(b)(i) The child has no parent, guardian, or legal custodian to provide supervision and care for such child; or

(ii) The release of such child would present a serious threat of substantial harm to such child; or

((i))) (iii) The parent, guardian, or custodian to whom the child could be released is alleged to have violated RCW 9A.40.060 or 9A.40.070. If the court does not release the child to his or her parent, guardian, or legal custodian, the court shall order continued shelter care or order placement with another suitable person, and the court shall set forth its reasons for the order.

(7) An order releasing the child on any conditions specified in this section may at any time be amended, with notice and hearing thereon, so as to return the child to shelter care for failure of the parties to conform to the conditions originally imposed.

(8) A shelter care order issued pursuant to this section may be amended at any time with notice and hearing thereon. The shelter care decision of placement shall be modified only upon a showing of change in circumstances. No child may be detained for longer than thirty days without an order, signed by the judge, authorizing continued shelter care.

Sec. 5. Section 40, chapter 291, Laws of 1977 ex. sess. as amended by section 45, chapter 155. Laws of 1979 and RCW 13.34.120 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) To aid the court in its decision on disposition, a social study, consisting of a written evaluation of matters relevant to the disposition of the case, shall be made by the person or agency filing the petition. The study shall include all social records and may also include facts relating to the child's cultural heritage, and shall be made available to the court. The court shall consider the social file and social study at the disposition hearing in addition to evidence produced at the fact-finding hearing. At least ten working days before the disposition hearing, the department shall mail to the parent and his or her attorney a copy of the agency's social study and proposed service plan, which shall be in writing or in a form understandable to the parents or custodians. In addition, the department shall provide an opportunity for parents to review and comment on the plan at the community service office. If the parents disagree with the agency's plan or any part thereof, the parents shall submit to the court at least twenty-four hours before the hearing, in writing, or signed oral statement, an alternative plan to correct the problems which led to the finding of dependency. This section shall not interfere with the right of the parents or custodians to submit oral arguments regarding the disposition plan at the hearing.

(2) In addition to the requirements set forth in subsection (1) of this section, a predisposition study to the court in cases of dependency alleged pursuant to RCW 13.34.030(2), (b) or (c) shall contain the following information:

(a) A statement of the specific harm or harms to the child that intervention is designed to alleviate;

(b) A description of the specific programs, for both the parents and child, that are needed in order to prevent serious harm to the child; the reasons why such programs are likely to be useful; the availability of any proposed services; and the agency's overall plan for ensuring that the services will be delivered;

(c) If removal is recommended, a full description of the reasons why the child cannot be protected adequately in the home, including a description of any previous efforts to work with the parents and the child in the home; the in-home treatment programs which have been considered and rejected; and the parents’ attitude toward placement of the child;

(d) A statement of the likely harms the child will suffer as a result of removal. This section should include an exploration of the nature of the parent-child attachment and the meaning of separation and loss to both the parents and the child;

(e) A description of the steps that will be taken to minimize harm to the child that may result if separation occurs; and

(f) Behavior that will be expected before determination that supervision of the family or placement is no longer necessary.

Sec. 6. Section 46, chapter 291, Laws of 1977 ex. sess. as amended by section 47, chapter 155, Laws of 1979 and RCW 13.34.180 are each amended to read as follows:

A petition seeking termination of a parent and child relationship may be filed in juvenile court. Such petition shall conform to the requirements of RCW 13.34.040 ((as now or hereafter amended)) and shall allege:

(1) That the child has been found to be a dependent child under RCW 13.34.030(2); and

(2) That the court has entered a dispositional order pursuant to RCW 13.34.130; and

(3) That the child has been removed or will, at the time of the hearing, have been removed from the custody of the parent for a period of at least six months pursuant to a finding of dependency under RCW 13.34.030(2); and

(4) That the services ordered under RCW 13.34.130 have been offered or provided and all necessary services, reasonably available, capable of correcting the parental deficiencies within the foreseeable future have been offered or provided; and

(5) That there is little likelihood that conditions will be remedied so that the child can be returned to the parent in the near future; and

(6) That continuation of the parent and child relationship clearly diminishes the child’s prospects for early integration into a stable and permanent home;

(7) In lieu of the allegations in subsections (1) through (6) of this section, the petition may allege that the child was found under such circumstances that the ((identity and)) whereabouts of the child’s parent are unknown and no ((parent has claimed)) person has acknowledged paternity or maternity and requested custody of the child within two months after the child was found.

Sec. 7. Section 47, chapter 291, Laws of 1977 ex. sess. as amended by section 48, chapter 155, Laws of 1979 and RCW 13.34.190 are each amended to read as follows:

After hearings pursuant to RCW 13.34.110, the court may enter an order terminating all parental rights to a child if the court finds that:

(1) (a) The allegations contained in the petition as provided in RCW 13.34.180 (1) through (6)) (2), (3), or (4) are established by clear, cogent, and convincing evidence; or (b) (RCW 13.34.180(5)) may be waived because the allegations under RCW 13.34.180 (1); (2); (4); (5); and (6) are established beyond a reasonable doubt; or (c)) the allegations under RCW 13.34.180((7)) (5) are established beyond a reasonable doubt; and

(2) Such an order is in the best interests of the child.

Sec. 8. Section 1, chapter 13, Laws of 1965 as last amended by section 1, chapter 97, Laws of 1984 and RCW 26.44.010 are each amended to read as follows:

The Washington state legislature finds and declares: The bond between a child and his or her parent, custodian, or guardian is of paramount importance, and any intervention into the life of a child is also an intervention into the life of the parent, custodian, or guardian; however, instances of nonaccidental injury, neglect, death, sexual abuse and cruelty to children by their parents, custodians or guardians have occurred, and in the instance where a child is deprived of his or her right to conditions of minimal nurture, health, and safety, the state is justified in emergency intervention based upon verified information; and therefore the Washington state legislature hereby provides for the reporting of such cases to the appropriate public authorities. It is the intent of the legislature that, as a result of such reports, protective services shall be made available in an effort to prevent further abuses, and to safeguard the general welfare of such children((PROVIDED: That such)). The protective services shall have as its paramount goal the best interests of the child. For purposes of this section, 'the best interests of the child' include but are not limited to considerations of safety, but do not include factors relating to socioeconomic status. When the rights of basic nurture, mental and physical health, and safety of the child and the rights of the parents are in conflict, the rights of the child shall prevail. Reports shall be maintained and disseminated with strictest regard for the privacy of the subjects of such reports and so as to safeguard against arbitrary, malicious or erroneous information or actions: PROVIDED FURTHER, That this chapter shall not be construed to authorize interference with child-raising practices, including reasonable parental discipline, which are not proved to be injurious to the child's health, welfare and safety.

Adult dependent persons not able to provide for their own protection through the criminal justice system shall also be afforded the protection offered children through the reporting and investigation requirements mandated in this chapter.

Sec. 9. Section 2, chapter 13, Laws of 1965 as last amended by section 2, chapter 97, Laws of 1984 and RCW 26.44.020 are each amended to read as follows:

In determining whether protective services should be provided, the department shall not decline to provide such services solely because... of the child’s unwillingness or developmental inability to describe the nature and severity of the abuse or neglect.

Sec. 10. Section 3, chapter 13, Laws of 1965 as last amended by section 1, chapter 145, Laws of 1986 and RCW 26.44.030 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) When any practitioner, professional school personnel, registered or licensed nurse, social ((worker)) service counselor, psychologist, pharmacist, ((cry)) licensed or certified child care providers or their employees, employee of the department, or juvenile probation officer has reasonable cause to believe that a child or adult dependent person has suffered abuse or neglect, he shall report such incident, or cause a report to be made, to the proper law enforcement agency or to the department as provided in RCW 26.44.040. The report shall be made at the first opportunity, but in no case longer than forty-eight hours after there is reasonable cause to believe that the child or adult has suffered abuse or neglect.

(2) Any other person who has reasonable cause to believe that a child or adult dependent person has suffered abuse or neglect may report such incident to the proper law enforcement agency or to the department of social and health services as provided in RCW 26.44.040.

(3) The department, upon receiving a report of an incident of abuse or neglect pursuant to this chapter, involving a child or adult dependent person who has died or has had physical injury or injuries inflicted upon him other than by accidental means or who has been subjected to sexual abuse, shall report such incident in writing to the proper law enforcement agency.

(4) Any law enforcement agency receiving a report of an incident of abuse or neglect pursuant to this chapter, involving a child or adult dependent person who has died or has had physical injury or injuries inflicted upon him other than by accidental means, or who has been subjected to sexual abuse, shall report such incident in writing as provided in RCW 26.44.040 to the proper county prosecutor or city attorney for appropriate action whenever the law enforcement agency’s investigation reveals that a crime may have been committed. The law enforcement agency shall also notify the department of all reports received and the law enforcement agency’s disposition of them.

(5) Any county prosecutor or city attorney receiving a report under subsection (4) of this section shall notify the victim, any persons the victim requests, and the local office of the department, of the decision to charge or decline to charge a crime, within five days of making the decision.

(6) The department may conduct ongoing case planning and consultation with those persons or agencies required to report under this section and with designated representatives of Washington Indian tribes if the client information exchanged is pertinent to cases currently receiving child protective services or department case services for the developmentally disabled. Upon request, the department shall conduct such planning and consultation with those persons required to report under this section, with consultants designated by the department, if the department determines it is in the best interests of the child or developmentally disabled person. Information considered privileged by statute and not directly related to reports required by this section shall not be divulged without a valid written waiver of the privilege.

(7) Any case referred to the department by a physician licensed under chapter 18.57 or 18.71 RCW on the basis of an expert medical opinion that child abuse, neglect, or sexual assault has occurred and that the child’s safety will be seriously endangered if returned home, the department shall file a dependency petition unless a second practitioner believes that such expert medical opinion is incorrect. If a physician finds that a child has suffered abuse or neglect but that such abuse or neglect does not constitute imminent danger to the child’s health or safety, and the department agrees with the physician’s assessment, the child may be left in the parents’ home while the department proceeds with reasonable efforts to remedy parenting deficiencies.

(8) Persons or agencies exchanging information under subsection (6) of this section shall not further disseminate or release the information except as authorized by state or federal statute. Violation of this subsection is a misdemeanor.

(9) Upon receiving reports of abuse or neglect, the department or law enforcement agency may interview children. The interviews may be conducted on school premises, at day-care facilities, at the child’s home, or at other suitable locations outside of the presence of parents. Parental notification of the interview shall occur at the earliest possible point in the investigation that will not jeopardize the safety or protection of the child or the course of the investigation. Prior to commencing the interview the department or law enforcement agency shall determine whether the child wishes a third party to be present for the interview and, if so, shall make reasonable efforts to accommodate the child’s wishes.

(10) Upon receiving a report of incidents, conditions, or circumstances of child abuse and neglect, the department shall have access to all relevant records of the child in the possession of mandated reporters and their employees.

(11) The department shall maintain investigation records and conduct timely and periodic reviews of all cases constituting abuse and neglect. The department shall maintain a log of screened-out nonabusive cases.

(12) The department of social and health services shall, within funds appropriated for this purpose, use a risk assessment tool when investigating child abuse and neglect referrals. The tool shall be used, on a pilot basis, in three local office service areas. The department shall within funds appropriated for this purpose, offer enhanced community-based services to persons who are determined not to require further state intervention.

The department shall report to the ways and means committees of the senate and house of representatives on the use of the tool by December 1, 1988. The report shall include recommendations on the continued use and possible expanded use of the tool.

Sec. 11. Section 8, chapter 217, Laws of 1975 1st ex. sess. and RCW 26.44.053 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) In any judicial proceeding in which it is alleged that a child has been subjected to child abuse or neglect, the court shall appoint a guardian ad litem for the child: PROVIDED, That the requirement of a guardian ad litem shall be deemed satisfied if the child is represented by counsel in the proceeding.

(2) At any time prior to or during a hearing in such a case, (when the court finds upon clear, cogent and convincing evidence that an incident of child abuse or neglect has occurred) the court may, on its own motion, or the motion of the guardian ad litem, or other parties, order the examination by a physician, psychologist or psychiatrist of any parent or child or other person having custody of the child at the time of the alleged child abuse or neglect, if the court finds such an examination is necessary to the proper determination of the case. The hearing may be continued pending the completion of such examination. The physician, psychologist or psychiatrist conducting such an examination may be required to testify (in the dispositional hearing) concerning the results of such examination and may be asked to give his opinion as to whether the protection of the child requires that he not be returned to the custody of his parents or other persons having custody of him at the time of the alleged child abuse or neglect. Persons so testifying shall be subject to cross-examination as are other witnesses. No (testimony) information given at any such examination of the parent or any other person having custody of the child may be used against such person in any subsequent criminal proceedings against such person or custodian concerning the abuse or neglect of the child.

(3) A parent or other person having legal custody of a child alleged to be a child subjected to abuse or neglect shall be a party to any proceeding that may as a practical matter impair or impede such person's interest in custody or control of his or her child.

Sec. 12. Section 6, chapter 35, Laws of 1969 ex. sess. as last amended by section 3, chapter 269. Laws of 1986 and RCW 26.44.070 are each amended to read as follows:

The department shall maintain a central registry of reported cases of child abuse or abuse of an adult dependent person and shall adopt such rules and regulations as necessary in carrying out the provisions of this section. Records in the central registry shall be considered confidential and privileged and will not be available except upon court order to any person or agency except (1) law enforcement agencies as defined in this chapter in the course of an investigation of alleged abuse or neglect; (2) protective services workers or juvenile court personnel who are investigating reported incidents of abuse or neglect; (3) department of social and health services personnel who are investigating the character and/or suitability of an agency and other persons who are applicants for licensure, registration, or certification, or applicants for employment with such an agency or persons under contract to or employed by an agency or persons directly responsible for the care and treatment of children, expectant mothers, or adult dependent persons pursuant to chapter 74.15 RCW; (4) department of social and health services personnel who are investigating the character, suitability, and competence of persons being considered for employment with the department in positions directly responsible for the supervision, care, or treatment of children or developmentally disabled persons pursuant to chapters 43.20A and 41.06 RCW; (5) department of social and health services personnel who are investigating the character or suitability of any persons with whom children may be placed under the interstate compact on the placement of children, chapter 26.34 RCW; (6) physicians who are treating the child or adult dependent person or family; (7) any child or adult dependent person named in the registry who is alleged to be abused or neglected, or his or her guardian ad litem and/or attorney; (8) a parent, guardian, or other person legally responsible for the welfare and safety of the child or adult dependent person named in the registry; (9) any person engaged in a bona fide research purpose, as determined by the department, according to rules and regulations, provided that information identifying the persons of the registry shall remain privileged; and (10) any individual whose name appears on the registry shall have access to his own records. Those persons or agencies exempted by this section from the confidentiality of the records of the registry shall not further disseminate or release such information so provided to them and shall respect the confidentiality of such information, and any violation of this section shall constitute a misdemeanor.

In accordance with procedures and rules developed by the department, the child protective services section may notify any board of licensing or school administration when a member, licensee, or employee has been reported to the central registry as an adjudicated or alleged perpetrator of child abuse or neglect. (1) In consultation with the children's services advisory committee, and with the advice and assistance of persons representative of the various type agencies to be licensed, to designate categories of facilities for which separate or different requirements shall be developed as may be appropriate whether because of variations in the ages, sex and other characteristics of persons served, variations in the purposes and services offered or size or structure of the agencies to be licensed hereunder, or because of any other factor relevant thereto;

(2) In consultation with the children's services advisory committee, and with the advice and assistance of persons representative of the various type agencies to be licensed, to adopt and publish minimum requirements for licensing applicable to each of the various categories of agencies to be licensed.

The minimum requirements shall be limited to:

In consultation with law enforcement personnel, the secretary shall investigate the conviction record or pending charges of each agency and its staff seeking licensure or relicensure. Such investigation shall include an examination of the child abuse and neglect register established under chapter 26.44 RCW on all agencies seeking a license under this chapter. The secretary shall use the information solely for the purpose of determining eligibility for a license and for determining the character, suitability, and competence of those persons or agencies, excluding parents, not required to be licensed who are authorized to care for children, expectant mothers, and developmentally disabled persons, and shall safeguard the information in the same manner as the child abuse registry established in RCW 26.44.070. Criminal justice agencies shall provide the secretary such information as they may have and that the secretary may require for such purpose;

(g) The maintenance of records pertaining to the admission, progress, health and discharge of persons served;

(3) To investigate any person, including relatives by blood or marriage except for parents, for character, suitability and competence in the care and treatment of children, expectant mothers, and developmentally disabled persons prior to authorizing that person to care for children, expectant mothers, and developmentally disabled persons;

(4) On reports of child abuse and neglect, to investigate agencies in accordance with chapter 26.44 RCW, including day care centers and family day care homes, to determine whether the abuse or neglect has occurred, and whether child protective services or referral to a law enforcement agency is appropriate;

"Sec. 1. Section 19.03, chapter 79, Laws of 1947 and RCW 48.19.030 are each amended to read as follows:

Rates shall be used, subject to the other provisions of this chapter, only if made in accordance with the following provisions:

(1) In the case of insurances under standard fire policies and that part of marine and transportation insurances not exempted under RCW 48.19.010, manual, minimum, class or classification rates, rating schedules or rating plans, shall be made and adopted; except as to specific rates on inland marine risks individually rated, which risks are not reasonably susceptible to manual or schedule rating, and which risks by general custom of the business are not written according to manual rates or rating plans.

(2) In the case of casualty and surety insurances:

(a) The systems of expense provisions included in the rates for use by any insurer or group of insurers may differ from those of other insurers or groups of insurers to reflect the requirements of the operating methods of any such insurer or group with respect to any kind of insurance, or with respect to any subdivision or combination thereof for which subdivision or combination separate expense provisions are applicable.

(b) Risks may be grouped by classifications for the establishment of rates and minimum premiums. Classification rates may be modified to produce rates for individual risks in accordance with rating plans which establish standards for measuring variations in hazards or expense provisions, or both. Such standards may measure any differences among risks that can be demonstrated to have a probable effect upon losses or expenses.

(3) Due consideration in making rates for all insurances shall be given to:

(a) Past and prospective loss experience within (and outside) this state((and, and in the case of rates for fire insurance, to the loss experience of insurers as to insurance against fire during a period of not less than the most recent five-year period for which such experience is available)) for a period of not less than five years, except for private passenger auto which shall be for a period of not less than three years. If the information is not available or is not statistically credible, an insurer may use loss experience for those states which the commissioner finds are likely to produce experience similar to that which would reasonably be expected to be produced in this state.

(b) Conflagration and catastrophe hazards, where present.
(c) A reasonable margin for underwriting profit and contingencies.
(d) Dividends, savings and unabsorbed premium deposits allowed or returned by insurers to their policyholders, members, or subscribers.
(e) All other relevant factors within and outside this state.

(4) In addition to other factors required by this section, rates filed by an insurer on its own behalf may also be related to the insurer's plan of operation and plan of risk classification.

(5) Except to the extent necessary to comply with RCW 48.19.020 uniformity among insurers in any matter within the scope of this section is neither required nor prohibited.

Sec. 2. Section 19.04, chapter 79, Laws of 1947 as amended by section 14, chapter 32. Laws of 1983 1st ex. sess. and RCW 48.19.040 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) Every insurer shall, before using, tile with the commissioner every manual of classifications, manual of rules and rates, and every rating schedule, minimum rate, class rate, and rating rule as to other insurances, and every modification of any of the foregoing which it proposes. The insurer need not file any rate on individually rated risks as described in subdivision (1) of RCW 48.19.030: except that any such specific rate made by a rating organization shall be filed.

(2) Every such filing shall state its proposed effective date and shall indicate the character and extent of the coverage contemplated. (When) A filing (is not) shall be accompanied by (the information upon which the insurer supports such filing; and the commissioner does not have sufficient information to determine whether the filing meets the requirements of this chapter; he may require the insurer to furnish the information upon which it supports the filing)) sufficient supporting information to enable the commissioner to determine whether the filing meets the requirements of this chapter. An insurer (may) or rating organization shall offer in support of any filing;

(a) (its) experience (or judgment of the insurer or rating organization making the filing) within the state of Washington;

(b) Its experience in other states reasonably expected to produce results similar to Washington;

(c) Its judgment;

(d) The experience of other insurers or rating organizations(():); or

(e) Any other factors which the insurer or rating organization deems relevant. A filing and any supporting information shall be open to public inspection only after the filing becomes effective.

(3) When a filing is not accompanied by the information upon which the insurer supports the filing, and the commissioner does not have sufficient information to determine whether the filing meets the requirements of this chapter, the commissioner may require the insurer to furnish the information upon which it supports the filing.

(4) Where a filing is required no insurer shall make or issue an insurance contract or policy except in accordance with its filing then in effect, except as is provided by RCW 48.19.090.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. Unless the context clearly requires otherwise, the definitions in this section apply throughout this chapter.

(1) 'Motor vehicle liability insurance policy' means a policy insuring against loss resulting from liability imposed by law for bodily injury, death, or property damage suffered by any person and arising out of the ownership, maintenance, or use of a motor vehicle.

(2) 'Insured' includes:

NEW SECTION. Sec. 5. (1) Personal injury protection benefits need not be provided for general liability policies, commonly known as umbrella policies, or other policies that apply only as excess to the motor vehicle liability policy directly applicable to the insured motor vehicle.

(2) Personal injury protection benefits need not be provided for any insured while the insured is operating or occupying a motorcycle or motor-driven cycle.
NEW SECTION. Sec. 6. (1) Benefits for reasonable and necessary medical and hospital expenses shall include coverage for prosthetic devices, eyeglasses, ambulance services, and professional nursing services. At a minimum, such coverage shall pay the expenses incurred within one year after the date of the insured's injury up to ten thousand dollars.

(3) At a minimum, benefits for loss of income shall be provided in an amount of up to ten thousand dollars.

(2) The personal injury protection coverage may contain a provision that if an insured has other personal injury protection coverage available under other policies, the total limits of liability of all coverages shall not exceed the higher of the applicable limits of the respective personal injury protection coverages.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 8. The commissioner shall adopt all rules necessary to implement the provisions of this chapter including rules governing:

(1) Conditions;

(2) Benefit time periods;

(3) Definitions of benefits;

(4) Benefit levels to be made available in excess of the minimum benefits set forth in section 6 of this act; and

(5) Exclusions.

Prime Sponsor, Senator Vognild: Revising requirements for escrow agents for bonds and errors and omissions policies. Reported by Committee on Financial Institutions & Insurance MAJORITY recommendation: Do pass with the following amendments: Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

"Sec. 1. Section 5, chapter 153, Laws of 1965 as last amended by section 1, chapter 70. Laws of 1979 and RCW 18.44.050 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) Except as otherwise provided in subsection (2) of this section, at the time of filing an application as an escrow agent, or any renewal or reinstatement thereof, the applicant shall satisfy the director that it has obtained ((the following as evidence of financial responsibility:

(1) A fidelity bond providing coverage in the aggregate amount of two hundred thousand dollars covering each corporate officer, partner, escrow officer, and employee of the applicant engaged in escrow transactions; and

(2)) an errors and omissions policy issued to the escrow agent providing coverage in the minimum aggregate amount of fifty thousand dollars or, alternatively, cash or securities in the principal amount of fifty thousand dollars deposited in an approved depository on condition that they be available for payment of any claim payable under an equivalent errors and omissions policy in that amount and pursuant to rules and regulations adopted by the department for that purpose.

(For the purposes of this section, a 'fidelity bond' shall mean a primary commercial blanket bond or its equivalent satisfactory to the director and written by an insurer authorized to transact surety business in the state of Washington. Such bond shall provide fidelity coverage..."
for any fraudulent or dishonest acts committed by any one or more of the employees or officers as defined in the bond, acting alone or in collusion with others. Said bond shall be for the sole ben­efit of the escrow agent and under no circumstances whatsoever shall the bonding com­pany be liable under the bond to any other party. The bond shall name the escrow agent as obli­gatee and shall protect the obligee against the loss of money or other real or personal prop­erty belonging to the obligee, or in which the obligee has a pecuniary interest, or for which the obligee is legally liable or held by the obligee in any capacity whether the obligee is legally liable therefor or not. The bond may be canceled by the insurer upon delivery of thirty days' written notice to the director and to the escrow agent; (2) The director may waive the require­ment that an applicant meet the requirements of subsection (1) of this section, based on a finding pursuant to the guidelines found in section 6 of this act. A waiver of the require­ment to maintain an errors and omissions policy may be granted for a period of one year. A licensed escrow agent who has previously been granted a waiver by the director may petition for a renewal of such waiver by filing written application with the director.

(3) For the purposes of this section, an 'errors and omissions policy' shall mean a group or individual insurance policy satisfactory to the director and issued by an insurer authorized to transact insurance business in the state of Washington. Such policy shall provide coverage for unintentional errors and omissions of the escrow agent and its employees, and may be can­celed by the insurer upon delivery of thirty days' written notice to the director and to the escrow agent.

(4) Except as provided in RCW 18.44.360 and subsection (2) of this section, the fidelity bond and/or the errors and omissions policy required by this section shall be kept in full force and effect as a condition precedent to the escrow agent's authority to transact escrow business in this state, and the escrow agent shall supply the director with satisfactory evidence thereof upon request.

Sec. 2. Section 13, chapter 153, Laws of 1965 as amended by section 9, chapter 156, Laws of 1977 ex. sess. and RCW 18.44.130 are each amended to read as follows:

The revocation, suspension, surrender or expiration of an escrow agent's certificate shall not impair or affect preexisting escrows accepted by the agent prior to such revocation, sus­pension, surrender or expiration; PROVIDED, That the escrow agent shall within five work days provide written notice to all principals of such preexisting escrows of the agent's loss of registr­ation. The notice shall include as a minimum the reason for the loss of registration, the esti­mated date for completing this escrow, the name and address of the escrow agent, and the esti­mated cost to the principal of completing the escrow if such costs are known.

Sec. 3. Section 30, chapter 156, Laws of 1977 ex. sess. and RCW 18.44.360 are each amended to read as follows:

The director shall, within thirty days after the written request of the escrow commission, hold a public hearing to determine whether the fidelity bond and/or the errors and omi­sions policy specified in RCW 18.44.050 as now or hereafter amended is reasonably available to a substantial number of certificated escrow agents. If the director determines and the insurance commissioner concurs that such (bond and/or) policy is not reasonably available, the director shall waive the requirements for such (bond and/or) policy for a (fixed) period of (time not to exceed ninety days after the next regular session of the legislature) one year.

Sec. 4. Section 31, chapter 156, Laws of 1977 ex. sess. and RCW 18.44.370 are each amended to read as follows:

After a written determination by the director, with the consent of the insurance commis­sioner, that the fidelity bond and/or the errors and omissions policy required under RCW 18.44.050 as now or hereafter amended is cost-prohibitive, or after a determination as pro­vided in RCW 18.44.360 that such (bond and/or) policy is not reasonably available, upon the request of an association comprised of certificated escrow agents, the director, with the consent of the insurance commissioner, may authorize such association to organize a mutual corpora­tion pursuant to chapter 24.06 RCW, exempt from the provisions of Title 48 RCW, for the purpose of insuring or self-insuring against claims arising out of escrow transactions, if, in the director's judgment, there is a substantial likelihood that the corporation will operate for the benefit of the public and if the corporation shall have established rules, procedures, and reserves which sat­isfy the director that it will operate in a financially responsible manner which provides a sub­stantial probability that it shall be able to pay any claims made against the corporation, up to the limits of financial responsibility as provided in RCW 18.44.050, as now or hereafter amended. The director, with the consent of the insurance commissioner, may revoke the authority of the corporation to transact insurance or self-insurance if it is determined, pursuant to chapter 34.04 RCW, that the corporation is not acting in a financially responsible manner, or (if such corporation was established pursuant to this section) shall cease to exist except for the payment of incurred claims; ninety days after the next regu­lar session of the legislature unless extended by law for an additional fixed period of time.)

NEW SECTION. Sec. 5. A new section is added to chapter 18.44 RCW to read as follows:
The following criteria will be considered by the director when deciding whether to grant a licensed escrow agent a waiver from the errors and omissions policy requirement under RCW 18.44.050:

(1) Whether the director has determined pursuant to RCW 18.44.360 that an errors and omissions policy is not reasonably available to a substantial number of licensed escrow agents;
(2) Whether purchasing an errors and omissions policy would be cost-prohibitive for the licensed escrow agent requesting the exemption;
(3) Whether a licensed escrow agent has willfully violated the provisions of chapter 18.44 RCW, which violation thereby resulted in the termination of the agent’s certificate, or engaged in any other conduct resulting in the termination of the escrow certificate;
(4) Whether a licensed escrow agent has paid claims directly or through an errors and omissions carrier, exclusive of costs and attorney fees, in excess of ten thousand dollars in the calendar year preceding the year for which the waiver is requested;
(5) Whether a licensed escrow agent has paid claims directly or through an errors or omissions insurance carrier, exclusive of costs and attorney fees, totaling in excess of twenty thousand dollars in the three calendar years preceding the calendar year for which the exemption is requested; and
(6) Whether the licensed escrow agent has been convicted of a crime involving honesty or moral turpitude.

These criteria are not intended to be a wholly inclusive list of factors to be applied by the director when considering the merits of a licensed escrow agent’s request for a waiver of the required errors and omissions policy.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 6. A new section is added to chapter 18.44 RCW to read as follows:

The director shall, within thirty days following submission of a written petition for waiver of the insurance requirements found in RCW 18.44.050, issue a written determination granting or rejecting an applicant’s request for waiver.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 7. A new section is added to chapter 18.44 RCW to read as follows:

Upon granting a waiver of insurance requirements found in RCW 18.44.050, the director shall issue a certificate of waiver, which certificate shall be mailed to the escrow agent who requested the waiver.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 8. A new section is added to chapter 18.44 RCW to read as follows:

Upon determining that a licensed escrow agent is to be denied a waiver of the errors and omissions policy requirements of RCW 18.44.050, the director shall, within thirty days of the denial of an escrow agent’s request for same, provide to the escrow agent a written explanation of the reasons for the director’s decision to deny the requested waiver.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 9. A new section is added to chapter 18.44 RCW to read as follows:

Nothing in RCW 18.44.050 and sections 5 through 8 and 10 of this act shall be construed as prohibiting a person applying for an escrow license from applying for a certificate of waiver of the errors and omissions policy requirement when seeking an escrow license.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 10. A new section is added to chapter 18.44 RCW to read as follows:

ESSB 5838 Prime Sponsor, Committee on Commerce & Labor: Regulating sales of health studio memberships. Reported by Committee on Commerce & Labor

MAJORITY recommendation: Do pass with the following amendments:

"NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. The legislature finds that there exist in connection with a substantial number of contracts for health studio services certain practices and business methods which have worked undue financial hardship upon some of the citizens of the state and that existing legal remedies are inadequate to correct existing problems in the industry. The legislature declares that it is a matter of public interest that the citizens of our state be assured reasonable protection when contracting for health studio services.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. Unless the context clearly requires otherwise, the definitions in this section apply throughout this chapter:

(2) 'Buyer' or 'member' means a person who purchases health studio services.

(3) 'Health studio' includes any person or entity engaged in the sale of instruction, training, assistance or use of facilities which purport to assist patrons to improve their physical condition or appearance through physical exercise, body building, weight loss, figure development, or any other similar activity. (4) 'Health studio services' means instruction, services, privileges, or rights offered for sale by a health studio. 'Health studio services' do not include: (a) Instruction or assistance relating to diet or control of eating habits not involving substantial on-site physical exercise, body building, figure development, or any other similar activity; (b) recreational or social programs which either involve no physical exercise or exercise only incidental to the program; or (c) written agreements which entitle a buyer to instruction or the use of existing facilities for a period of ninety days or less.

(6) 'Special offer or discount' means any offer of health studio services at a reduced price or without charge to a prospective member.
(7) 'Use fees or dues' means fees paid on a regular periodic basis for use of a health stu-

NEW SECTION, Sec. 3. (1) Each health studio shall prepare and provide to each prospecoffered for sale by the health studio. The list shall contain a description and the respective price of each membership plan of health studio services offered.

services, or results obtained through exercise, body building, figure development, or weight loss programs, or the present or maximum number of customers who may contract to use the facilities or services.

NEW SECTION, Sec. 4. A contract for the sale of health studio services shall be in writing. A equipment are to be delivered at a planned facility, at a facility under construction, or through substantial improvements to an existing facility, the description shall include a date for com-twelve months from the date the contract is signed unless the completion of the facility, con-the date of the contract, nor may any contract term be measured by or be tor the Ille of the buyer;

(5) The use fees or dues to be paid by the buyer and if such fees are subject to periodic adjustment. Use fees or dues may not be raised more than once in any calendar year;
(6) A complete statement of the rules of the health studio or an acknowledgement in a conspicuous form that the buyer has received a copy of the rules:
(7) Clauses which notify the buyer of the right to cancel:

ability be confirmed by an examination of a physician agreeable to the buyer and the health studio;
(b) If the buyer moves his or her permanent residence to a location more than twenty-five miles from the health studio or an affiliated health studio offering the same or similar services and facilities at no additional expense to the buyer and the buyer cancels after one year from signing the contract if the contract extends for more than one year. The health studio may require reasonable evidence of relocation;
(c) If a contract extends for more than one year or requires payment of an initiation or membership fee, in which case the buyer may cancel the contract for any reason upon thirty days' written notice to the health studio;
(d) If the health studio facilities are permanently closed and comparable facilities owned facility;

(e) If a facility, construction, or improvement is not completed by the date represented by tions after cancellation of the contract;

(9) A provision under a conspicuous caption in capital letters and boldface type stating

"BUYER'S RIGHT TO CANCEL"

If you wish to cancel this contract without penalty, you may cancel it by delivering or mailing a written notice to the health studio. The notice must say that you do not wish to be bound by the contract and must be delivered or mailed before midnight of the third business day after you sign this contract. The notice must be mailed to the office of the attorney general or to any buyer of a contract for health studio services sold prior to the opening of the facility. If you cancel within the three days, the health studio will return to you within thirty days all amounts you have paid.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 6. After receipt of a written notice of cancellation, the health studio shall provide a refund to the buyer within thirty days. The health studio may require the buyer to return any membership card or other materials which evidence membership in the health studio. The buyer is entitled to a refund and relief from future obligations for payments of initiation or membership fees and use fees or dues as follows:

(1) The buyer is entitled to a refund of the unused portion of any prepaid use fees or dues and relief from future obligations to pay use fees or dues concerning use after the date of cancellation.

(2) If a contract includes a one-time only initiation or membership fee and the buyer cancels pursuant to section 5(7)(a) of this act, the buyer is entitled to a pro rata refund of the fee less a predetermined amount not to exceed one-half of the initial initiation or membership fee if the contract clearly states what percentage of the fee is nonrefundable or refundable.

(3) If a contract includes a one-time only initiation or membership fee and the buyer cancels pursuant to section 5(7) (b) or (c) of this act, the buyer is entitled to a pro rata refund of the fee less a predetermined amount not to exceed one-half of the initial initiation or membership fee unless the contract clearly states that the initiation or membership fee is nonrefundable, and the clause is separately signed by the buyer.

(4) If a contract includes a one-time only initiation or membership fee and the buyer cancels pursuant to section 5(7)(d) of this act, the buyer is entitled to a pro rata refund of the fee.

(5) If a contract includes a one-time only initiation or membership fee and the buyer cancels pursuant to section 5(7) (e) or (f) of this act, the buyer is entitled to a full refund of the fee.

If a buyer is entitled to a pro rata refund under this section, the amount shall be computed by dividing the contract price by the number of weeks in the contract term and multiplying the result by the number of weeks remaining in the contract term.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 7. (1) All moneys paid to a health studio prior to the opening of the facility shall immediately be deposited in a trust account of a federally insured financial institution located in this state. The trust account shall be designated and maintained for the benefit of health studio members. Moneys maintained in the trust account shall be exempt from execution, attachment, or garnishment. A health studio shall not in any way encumber the corpus of the trust account or commingle any other operating funds with trust account funds. Withdrawals from the trust account shall be made no sooner than thirty days after the opening of the entire facility.

(2) The health studio shall within seven days of the first deposit notify the office of the attorney general in writing, of the name, address, and location of the depository and any subsequent change thereof.

(3) The health studio shall provide the buyer with a written receipt for the money and shall provide written notice of the name, address, and location of the depository and any subsequent change thereof.

(4) The health studio shall maintain a record of each trust account deposit, including the name and address of each member whose funds are being deposited, the amount paid and the date of the deposit. Upon request of the attorney general's office, upon five days' notice, such records shall be produced for inspection.

(5) If prior to the opening of the facility the status of the health studio is transferred to another, any sums in the trust account affected by the transfer shall simultaneously be transferred to an equivalent trust account of the successor, and the successor shall promptly notify the buyer and the office of the attorney general of the transfer and of the name, address, and location of the new depository.

(6) The buyer's claim to any money under this section is prior to that of any creditor of the health studio, including a trustee in bankruptcy or receiver.

(7) After the health studio receives a notice of cancellation of the contract, or if the health studio fails to open a facility at the stated date of completion and if the buyer so requests, then the health studio shall provide a refund within thirty days.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 8. The requirements of section 7 of this act do not apply to any health studios which, prior to any preopening sales, have provided a bond guaranteeing the completion or opening of any facility for which contracts for health studio services were sold prior to the opening of the facility. The bond shall be drawn upon a surety in the amount of one hundred fifty thousand dollars, running to the state of Washington. An action on the bond may be brought by the office of the attorney general or by any buyer of a contract for health studio services sold prior to the opening of the facility.
NEW SECTION. Sec. 9. Failure to furnish a bond as required by section 8 of this act or to maintain a trust account as required by section 7 of this act shall constitute a class C felony punishable as provided in chapter 9A.20 RCW.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 10. A health studio shall not request a buyer to waive any provision of this chapter. Any contract for health studio services which does not comply with the provisions of this chapter or in which a buyer waives any provision of this chapter is void and unenforceable as contrary to public policy.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 11. A violation of this chapter constitutes an unfair or deceptive act or practice and is a per se violation of the consumer protection act, chapter 19.86 RCW.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 12. Buyers who prevail in any cause of action under this chapter are entitled to reasonable attorneys' fees.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 13. The provisions of this chapter are cumulative and nonexclusive and do not affect any other remedy available at law.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 14. The provisions of this chapter shall not apply to any contracts for health studio services entered into before the effective date of this act.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 15. Sections 1 through 14 of this act shall constitute a new chapter in Title 19 RCW.

On page 1, line 1 of the title, after "studios:" strike the remainder of the title and insert "adding a new chapter to Title 19 RCW; and prescribing penalties."

SSB 5854 Prime Sponsor, Committee on Financial Institutions: Providing for regulation of retirement care communities. Reported by Committee on Financial Institutions & Insurance

MAJORITY recommendation: Do pass with the following amendments:

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. This chapter shall be known and may be cited as the 'continuing care retirement community act.'

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. The legislature finds that continuing care retirement communities can provide a valued option in meeting long-term residential, social, and health needs for many of Washington’s senior citizens. However, consumers in Washington and nationwide have encountered serious, documented problems in dealing with some retirement communities, generally stemming from long-term financial instability of the community, or insufficient disclosure to consumers. Because existing law does not provide for financial oversight or disclosure, the legislature has determined that any entity offering continuing care contracts should be certified and regulated in accordance with the provisions of this chapter.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. Unless the context clearly requires otherwise, the definitions in this section apply throughout this chapter.

1. 'Commissioner' means the insurance commissioner.

2. 'Continuing care contract' means a contract to provide a person, for the duration of such person's life or for a term in excess of one year, shelter along with nursing, medical, health-related, or personal care services, which is conditioned upon the transfer of property, the payment of an entrance fee to the provider of such services, or the payment of periodic charges for the care and service involved. A continuing care contract is not excluded from this definition because the contract is mutually terminable or because shelter and services are not provided at the same location.

3. 'Department' means the department of social and health services.

4. 'Member' means an individual who has signed a continuing care contract with a retirement community.

5. 'Nursing, medical, health-related, or personal care services' includes, but is not limited to, nursing home care, home health services or assistance with activities of daily living.

6. 'Provider' means a retirement community as defined in subsection (7) of this section.

7. 'Retirement community' means a person, association, or organization of any kind which provides, or proposes to provide, shelter and services pursuant to a continuing care contract.

8. 'Shelter' means lodging with or without meals.

9. 'Waiting list deposit' means a fee, whether refundable or not, which a provider requires of an individual seeking to become a member as a condition of being placed on a waiting list of those seeking a continuing care contract with a provider.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4. (1) After December 30, 1988, no person, association, or organization may enter into a continuing care contract as a provider except pursuant to this chapter.

2. Prior to offering for sale continuing care contracts, a provider must possess a permit to market contracts or a final certificate of authority, which permit or certificate has been issued by the department pursuant to section 10(4) of this act.
NEW SECTION. Sec. 5. (1) There shall be a program for the regulation of retirement communities within the department.

(2) In carrying out responsibilities under this chapter, the department shall have powers of rule-making, investigation, and enforcement including the following:

(a) Adoption of application forms and data requirements for permits to market contracts and for final certificates of authority for continuing care providers;

(b) Subpoena of records and witnesses;

(c) Issuing cease and desist orders, and seeking injunctive action in a court of competent jurisdiction;

(d) Examination and audit of records, including field audits and on-site inspections;

(e) Suspension, limitation, or revocation of any permit to market contracts or final certificate of authority upon written findings of fact by the department that the provider has:

(i) Wilfully violated any provision of this chapter or of any rule, regulation, or order adopted hereunder;

(ii) Failed to file a disclosure statement, continuing care contract, or other document or data as required by this chapter;

(iii) Failed to deliver to current or prospective members the disclosure statements required by this chapter;

(iv) Delivered to current or prospective members a disclosure statement which makes an untrue statement, or omits a material fact, which the provider, at the time of the delivery of the disclosure statement, had actual knowledge or should reasonably have known was a misstatement or omission; or

(v) Failed to comply with the terms of a cease and desist order;

(f) Adoption of such rules as are deemed necessary for the administration of this chapter. In developing initial rules, the department shall seek the advice of representatives of both nonprofit and proprietary retirement communities, organizations, and agencies representing aging consumers including current members of retirement communities, the attorney general’s consumer and fair business practices staff, and others as deemed appropriate;

(g) Any other powers expressly conferred or reasonably inferred from provisions of this chapter.

(3) Findings of fact in support of the suspension, limitation, or revocation of a permit or certificate under subsection (2)(e) of this section shall be accompanied by a concise and explicit statement of the underlying facts supporting the findings.

(4) If the department finds good cause to believe that the provider has been guilty of a violation for which revocation could be ordered under subsection (2)(e) of this section, the department may first issue a cease and desist order. If the cease and desist order is not or cannot be effective in remedying the violation, the department may, after notice and hearing, order that the certificate of authority be revoked and surrendered. Such a cease and desist order may be appealed to a court of competent jurisdiction.

(5) The department shall comply with the provisions of chapter 34.04 RCW in exercising any power authorized by this chapter.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 6. (1) Rules and regulations that determine the form of continuing care contracts, and such matters of content as are specified in subsection (4) of this section, shall be promulgated by the department.

(2)(a) No provider shall enter into or renew a continuing care contract after December 30, 1988, unless the contract form has been approved by the department.

(b) The forms of all continuing care contracts in effect on December 30, 1988, shall be submitted to the department, but do not require approval by the department for the duration of their effective periods.

(3) All contracts shall be written in plain English.

(4) All contracts entered into or renewed following December 30, 1988, shall contain at least the following provisions:

(a) A contract cover sheet which summarizes provisions and facilitates comparisons with other continuing care contracts. The department shall specify by rule the format of the cover sheet and other contract form requirements including size of type;

(b) A list of all services to be provided, including the extent and limitations of all service benefits with particular attention to the nature and duration of health and nursing care benefits, and the boundaries between services provided under the terms of the contract and services which are not covered;

(c) Specification of all fees, charges, and other transfers of property which will be imposed, including the amount of any initial payment(s), and the initial amounts of all periodic payments, and a description of all methods by which the provider may change or add fees;

(d) Specification of the circumstances under which members will be permitted to remain in the retirement community if unable to pay fees, including any use of benevolent funds and any circumstances under which continuation of services would require the member to use public assistance or medicaid funds;

(e) A statement in a prominent location that a continuing care contract may involve significant financial risk;

(f) Identification of the specific living unit initially contracted for, and description of all provisions governing issues of tenancy including transfers among living units, reoccupancy of units after an illness or other absence, and what will happen, in cases of dual tenancy, if one of the two residents dies, withdraws, is dismissed, or needs to be transferred to a health facility;

(g) Description of all procedures by which a member may be evicted or otherwise required to leave a residence unit, or the contract terminated by the provider. Dismissal and contract termination shall be limited to good cause as defined in rule. Eviction or other retaliation against a member due to complaints against the provider shall be contractually prohibited;

(h) A clear statement of all rights of cancellation by the member;

(i) Description of all refund policies, including those pertaining to situations where the member has canceled the contract during the cooling-off period or probationary period, has withdrawn at a later time, has been dismissed, or has died;

(j) A cooling-off period of not under seven days from the date the continuing care contract is signed, during which time the new member may cancel without cause with a full refund, less reasonable costs determined in accordance with rules adopted by the department.

(k) A probationary period of not under ninety days from the date the member is permitted to take occupancy, during which time the new member may cancel without cause with a full refund, less reasonable costs determined in accordance with rules adopted by the department. The provider may require by contract a thirty-day written notice from members requesting cancellation during the probationary period. The contract shall state the date by which notice of cancellation must be received. Additionally, contracts shall provide for a full refund less reasonable costs in the event the member dies before the date the member is permitted to take occupancy;

(l) Specification of whether or not the contract creates a property interest, and, if so, the exact nature of that interest;

(m) A guarantee that members have the right to organize a resident council, including the right to collectively represent the concerns of members in dealings with the retirement community's administration, as provided in section 14 of this act.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 7. (1) Waiting list deposits shall be the subject of a separate formal contract between the retirement community and a person seeking to become a member which specifies at least: The amount of the deposit; the amount refundable in the event the application is withdrawn, rejected, or accepted; the maximum time in which a refund will be made; and what interest will be paid on the applicant's funds, if any.

(2) Waiting list deposit contract forms shall be subject to prior approval by the department. On or after December 30, 1988, a contract form used without the prior approval of the department shall render a contract entered into on such unapproved form voidable at the option of the member seeking to become a member.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 8. The provider shall maintain at the retirement community for inspection by any person, and shall distribute to a prospective member prior to entering into a continuing care or waiting list contract, a document approved by the department pursuant to section 10(4) of this act that discloses the following:

(1) The names, business addresses, legal/corporate forms, experience in establishing or operating retirement communities, nursing homes, or other health facilities, and other existing and proposed retirement community properties, of the provider and of each individual constituting, owning an interest in, serving on the governing board of, or managing the continuing care retirement community. (b) The identity of any business or professional service entity in which such person has a ten percent or greater ownership, or beneficial interest, and which the provider will employ to provide goods, services, or any other thing of value in excess of five hundred dollars within any year, and a description of the goods, services, and other things of value and the anticipated costs thereof to the provider;

(c) A statement as to whether any such person has been convicted of a crime or been a party to any civil action claiming fraud, embezzlement, fraudulent conversion, or misappropriation of property which resulted in a judgment against said person for damages, or enjoining any such activity, and whether any such person has had any state or federal licenses or permits suspended or revoked in connection with any business activities because of fraud, embezzlement, fraudulent conversion, or misappropriation of property.
(3) Whether the provider is, or is affiliated with, a religious, charitable, or other organization, and the extent, if any, to which any such affiliated organization is responsible for any financial service liabilities of the provider.

(4) If the retirement community is to be or is operated by a manager, the following additional information shall be supplied in the disclosure statement:

(a) A copy of the agreement currently in effect or to be entered into between the provider and said manager for the operation of the retirement community;

(b) The fees or any other compensation anticipated to be paid by the provider to the manager for the operation of the retirement community;

(c) The method by which the manager was or will be chosen to manage the retirement community and, if the manager will be or was chosen because of a condition in a mortgage commitment to the provider, the identity of the mortgagee requiring the condition in the commitment.

(5) A description of all services provided or proposed by the retirement community under its continuing care contracts, including the extent to which nursing, medical, health-related, or personal care is furnished, the present or proposed charges of all services, and a description of any services made available by the provider at an additional charge beyond initial and periodic fees in the contract.

(6) A description of how contractually guaranteed services will be provided in the event that the provider's own services or facilities are unavailable or full.

(7) The location and description of both existing and proposed properties and services provided under the continuing care contract. (8) A description of all fees required of residents, including initial and periodic charges, apartment resale fees, and special service fees; all methods by which the provider may adjust fees; the history of fee increases for at least five years for the provider. If in operation, and for any other retirement communities which the provider or manager operates; the circumstances under which members will be permitted to remain in the retirement community. Including any use of benevolent funds, if the member is unable to pay charges; whether continuation of services may in any circumstances require the member to use public assistance or medicaid funds; and the method of calculating fees that will be charged if the member marries while in the retirement community. If it is clear, based upon actuarial review, that fees will need to increase substantially to maintain solvency of the retirement community, the anticipated amounts and timing of such increases shall be disclosed.

(9) A description of health and financial conditions required to be accepted as a member and to continue membership, including provisions for any changes in these conditions between the date the continuing care contract is executed and the date the member occupies a living unit. Disclosure shall include requirements for entry of a spouse to the facility, and the consequences to the member if the spouse does not meet these requirements.

If the provider's fiscal year ended more than ninety days prior to the date the application is filed, an interim uncertified financial statement also shall be included as of a date not more than ninety days prior to the date the disclosure document is filed with the department pursuant to this section or section 9 of this act.

(13) A statement of any changes in operations or management that are expected to substantially affect financial position over the next three years, or a statement that no significant changes in financial position are expected in the next three years.

(14) If operation of the retirement community has not begun, a statement of the anticipated sources and application of funds to be used in the purchase or construction and startup of the retirement community; a description of any mortgage, loan, or other long-term financing and its terms and conditions; an estimate of the total entrance fees to be received from members at or prior to the commencement of operations; and an estimate of any startup losses.

(15) Professional summaries of accounting, audit, and actuarial opinions received by the provider or other developer as part of professional accounting and actuarial studies or reports, and a statement that the full text of such summaries, studies, or reports is available on request.

(16) The general nature of any anticipated cost-shifting and cross-subsidization among members.
(17) A copy of the form or forms of contracts for continuing care used or to be used by the provider, and information on contract term and renewability.

(19) Any other information necessary to understand the nature of the agreement and the risks involved in membership.

(20) A list of the regulatory agencies with responsibility over various aspects of retirement community operation, and their areas of responsibility.

(21) A statement on the cover page of the disclosure statement in a prominent location and type face that certification of the retirement community does not constitute approval, recommendation, or endorsement of the retirement community by the department or the commissioner, nor does such certification evidence the accuracy or completeness of the information set forth in the disclosure statement.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 9. (1) The provider shall annually file with the department, within four months following the end of the provider's fiscal year, unless such time shall be extended by the written consent of the department, an annual disclosure statement which shall contain a statement setting forth, as of the end of such fiscal year, any material changes in the information required by section 8 of this act for initial disclosure.

(2) From the date an annual disclosure statement is filed until the date the next succeeding disclosure form is filed with the department, a copy of the current annual disclosure statement shall be provided to all prospective members prior to the provider accepting part or all of any application or entry fee, or execution of any continuing care contract, whichever first occurs.

(3) In addition to filing the annual disclosure statement, the provider must amend its currently filed disclosure statements at any other time if an amendment is necessary to prevent the initial disclosure statement and annual disclosure statement from containing any material misstatement of fact, or omitting to state a material fact required to be stated therein. The provider may combine the initial and annual disclosure documents into an updated initial disclosure statement subject to approval by the department. Any such amendment or amended disclosure statement must be filed with the department and is subject to all the requirements of this chapter.

(4) Every time a disclosure statement is amended, all members shall be given a summary of the changes and informed of their right to inspect the full document at the retirement community.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 10. (1) The application for a permit to market contracts shall be filed with the department by the provider on forms prescribed by the department and shall include:

(a) Such actuarial, demographic, financial, and other reasonably related information as the department deems necessary in order to demonstrate the likely financial and actuarial feasibility of the project. Such information shall include:

(i) A feasibility study and financial plan based on marketing analysis, relevant literature, experience of other similar retirement communities, and specific actuarial study which meets requirements to be specified by rule by the department; and

(ii) An actuarial opinion, written and signed by a qualified actuary as defined by the department, which indicates the likely feasibility of the project based on the feasibility study and financial plan referenced in (a)(i) of this subsection and the specimen contract referenced in (c) of this subsection.

(b) An escrow plan which:

(i) Identifies escrow agents;

(ii) Includes a copy of executed escrow agreements;

(iii) States the anticipated application of all escrow funds;

(iv) Safeguards all deposits received from members or prospective members, including initial membership fees;

(v) Identifies conditions under which each escrow shall be released; and

(vi) Complies with all requirements established by rule by the department.

(c) A specimen continuing care contract which meets the requirements of section 6 of this act and is actuarially consistent with the feasibility study referenced in (a)(i) of this subsection.

(d) A specimen waiting list deposit contract which meets the requirements of section 7 of this act.

(e) An initial disclosure statement which meets the requirements of section 8 of this act.

(2) The application for a final certificate of authority shall be filed with the department by the provider on forms prescribed by the department and shall include:

(a) A final feasibility study and financial plan which includes such actuarial, demographic, financial, and other reasonably related information as the department deems necessary in order to reach final approval, based on likely actual membership as indicated by individuals who have paid subscription deposits and/or have signed continuing care contracts.

(b) A final escrow plan and initial disclosure statement with any revisions needed to meet all requirements of subsection (1) (a) and (b) of this section.
(c) The continuing care contract form and waiting list deposit contract form, with any revisions needed to meet all requirements of sections 6 and 7 of this act and, in the case of the continuing care contract, to be actuarially consistent with the final feasibility study referenced in (a) of this subsection.

(3) The department may determine that certain of the requirements of subsections (1)(a) and (2)(a) of this section are inapplicable to specific retirement community projects which have demonstrated that they present minimal actuarial risk. Minimal actuarial risk shall be defined by the department and shall include a project without an initial fee which has minimal future obligations not offset by future revenues.

(4) Upon receipt of a complete application for a permit to market contracts, or a final certificate of authority, in proper form, the department shall, within ten business days, issue a notice of filing to the provider-applicant. Within a period ordinarily not to exceed sixty days of the notice of filing, the department shall enter an order issuing the permit or certificate, or rejecting the application. Grounds for rejection include, but are not limited to, failure to demonstrate financial and actuarial feasibility to the satisfaction of the department or failure to submit the information required by the department under this chapter.

(5) If the department determines that any of the requirements of this act have not been met, the department shall notify the applicant that the application must be corrected in such particulars as designated by the department within a period, not under thirty days, to be established by rule. If the requirements are not met within the time allowed, the department may enter an order rejecting the application which shall include the finding of fact upon which the order is based and which shall not become effective until twenty days after the end of the foregoing thirty-day period.

(6) A retirement community in operation on the effective date of this section must obtain a final certificate of authority, but is exempt from the requirement to obtain a permit to market contracts.

(7) If the department determines that a retirement community in operation on the effective date of this section has financial or actuarial problems which preclude issuance of a final certificate of authority, the department may issue a transitional certificate which specifies a plan of correction and which is good for the period of the remedial actions as specified by the department. The plan of correction shall be developed by the retirement community and requires approval by the department.

(8) If the department determines that the plan of correction has been carried out satisfactorily, the department shall issue a final certificate of authority.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 11. The department shall establish by rule application fees for review of applications under section 10 (1) and (2) of this act, and annual review fees for all retirement communities, not to exceed the reasonable costs of carrying out the department's responsibilities under this chapter. The department may establish by rule different fees for varieties of retirement communities requiring different levels of financial and actuarial oversight.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 12. (1) Providers shall not commingle donor-restricted funds, including resident benevolent funds and any personal funds held for individual members, with other funds. Donor-restricted funds shall be used only for the purposes specifically stated.

(2) Providers shall at all times secure their future service obligations not offset by future revenues through some combination of:

(a) Designated reserves;
(b) Reinsurance, such as stop loss insurance;
(c) Bonding;
(d) Escrow accounts;
(e) Contractually mandated purchase by members of group long-term care insurance which has been approved by the commissioner pursuant to section 21 of this act; or

(3) The unencumbered fair market value of the real property on which the retirement community is situated, as determined by the assessor of the county in which such real property is located: PROVIDED, That within ten years of the effective date of this section at least fifty percent of the reserves required by this section are to be in the form of an approved asset as described in (a) through (e) of this subsection.

(3) Providers shall conduct or obtain actuarial review and opinion as necessary pursuant to rules established by the department.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 13. The department shall establish rules to ensure that all refundable waiting list deposits and initial fees, including subscription fees, received by providers are maintained in escrow. These rules shall include conditions for release of escrow funds which distinguish between those funds received prior to completion of construction of facilities, and those funds received after facilities are in operation but prior to the date a member is permitted to occupy a living unit.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 14. (1) Retirement community members have the right to organize a resident council, including the right to collectively represent the concerns of members in dealings with the retirement community administration.
(2) The administration of each operating retirement community shall meet at least quarterly with the resident council, if one exists, or with interested members if there is no resident council.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 15. (1) Retirement communities shall submit copies of all advertising and promotional material to the department. Advance approval of such material by the department is not required. The department shall have the power to order cessation of unfair or deceptive claims.

(2) All written promotional material shall include a statement that the disclosure statements required under sections 8 and 9 of this act are available under request from the retirement community.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 16. The legislature declares that the purchase of continuing care contracts and the exercise of rights under such contracts vitally affect the public interest. Any violation of this act is an unfair method of competition and an unfair or deceptive act or practice in the conduct of a trade or commerce, as specifically contemplated by RCW 19.86.020, and is a violation of the consumer protection act, chapter 19.86 RCW. Any person injured as a result of a violation of a provision of this act shall be entitled to maintain an action pursuant to chapter 19.86 RCW against the provider or other person who violated a provision of this act and shall be entitled to all of the rights and remedies afforded by chapter 19.86 RCW. Any successful claimant under this section shall also be entitled to reasonable attorneys' fees.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 17. The department shall maintain comparable data on retirement community services, benefits, charges, and financial status for use by consumers. The department may require all providers to submit summary information in a consistent form specified by the department. However, the department may withhold from public inspection information on financial status, or any examination or investigation, for so long as the department deems it advisable to protect the financial stability of the retirement community.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 18. (1) Nothing contained in this chapter shall alter any other statutory obligation of the department of social and health services, or any rule or regulation promulgated thereunder, including, but not limited to, obligations under the following:

(b) Chapter 18.51 RCW (nursing homes);
(c) Chapter 43.190 RCW (long-term care ombudsman program);
(d) Chapter 70.38 RCW (health planning and resources development);
(e) Chapter 70.40 RCW (hospital and medical facilities survey and construction act);
(f) Chapter 70.41 RCW (hospital licensing and regulation);
(g) Chapter 70.62 RCW (transient accommodations - licensing - inspections);
(h) Chapter 70.124 RCW (abuse of patients - nursing homes, state hospitals);

(j) Chapter 74.34 RCW (abuse of vulnerable adults);
(k) Chapter 74.42 RCW (nursing homes - resident care, operating standards); and
(l) Chapter 74.46 RCW (nursing home auditing and cost reimbursement act of 1980).

(2) All benefits promised in continuing care contracts must be consistent with state licensing and other regulatory requirements for the facilities and service entities by which these benefits are to be provided.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 19. Criminal penalties:

(1) Any person who, as a provider, willfully and knowingly violates any provision of this chapter, or any rule or order under this chapter, shall, upon conviction, be sentenced to pay a fine of not more than ten thousand dollars, or to imprisonment for not more than two years or both, for each violation.

(2) The department may refer such evidence as is available concerning violations of this chapter or of any rule or order hereunder to the attorney general, or the proper county attorney, who may, with or without such a reference, institute the appropriate criminal proceedings under this chapter.

(3) Nothing in this chapter limits the power of the state to punish any person for any conduct which constitutes a crime under any other statute.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 20. (1) Upon request by the department, the commissioner shall provide the department with actuarial and other technical assistance in carrying out the department's responsibilities under this chapter, including, but not limited to, assistance in reviewing submissions by applicants and making recommendations concerning:

(a) Rules necessary to implement this chapter, including rules related to:
(1) Submission of information by providers pursuant to sections 10 (1) and (2), 12 (2) and (3), and 17 of this act; and
(1) Definitions of "minimal actuarial risk" pursuant to section 10(3) of this act;
(b) Whether applications for permits to market contracts, and certificates of authority, submitted under section 10 (1) and (2) of this act, are sufficiently complete and specific to support actuarial analysis, and if not, what deficiencies exist;
(c) Whether the continuing care contract proposed by a provider is sufficiently specific as to definitions of benefits, fees, charges and refunds to support actuarial analysis, and if not, what areas of ambiguity exist;
(d) The adequacy of reserves and charges, as proposed by a provider, to meet obligations of the retirement community, with respect to the provider's qualifications for a permit to sell continuing care contracts, its qualifications for a certificate of authority, or its continuing operation;

(e) Whether a particular retirement community should undertake a new actuarial financial review pursuant to section 10(3) of this act;

(f) Whether disclosure statements filed by a retirement community pursuant to sections 8 and 9 of this act are consistent with other filings and actuarial findings, with regard to:

(i) Whether there is actuarial need for substantial future price increases;

(ii) Whether professional summaries of actuarial opinions, which have been submitted by the retirement community as part of disclosure statements, are consistent with the full actuarial studies on which they are based; and

(iii) The general nature of future cost-shifting and cross-subsidization among members. Recommendations on this point need not include quantitative analysis of the amounts of such shifts and subsidies;

(g) Whether a specific retirement community presents minimal actuarial risk pursuant to section 10(3) of this act;

(h) Whether a retirement community in operation on the effective date of this section has at that time serious actuarial problems, and, if so, what elements in a plan of correction, pursuant to section 10(6) of this act, are indicated by actuarial problems; and

(i) Whether assumptions underlying studies and other filings submitted to the department by a retirement community are consistent with generally accepted morbidity and mortality experience of that retirement community's own population or of appropriate comparison populations.

(2) The commissioner shall bill the department no less frequently than annually for the actual costs of providing assistance pursuant to this section.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 21. A new chapter is added to Title 48 RCW to read as follows:

(1) Every retirement community shall offer an opportunity to participate in a group long-term care supplementary insurance plan, which has been approved by the commissioner for this purpose, to each member whose continuing care contract has one or more of the following features:

(a) Nursing home care is not a contractual benefit;

(b) Nursing home care is a contractual benefit, but is subject to limitations on duration which are unrelated to medical need;

(c) Nursing home care is a contractual benefit, but the contract specifies a higher fee for members using nursing home care, immediately or after a limited period of coverage at the same fee, than is specified for like members not using nursing home care.

(2) The commissioner shall specify by rule the requirements for group long-term care insurance plans for use as described in subsection (1) of this section. These requirements shall include:

(a) That the plan offer benefits which supplement those of the continuing care contract so that total combined coverage for nursing home care equals or exceeds a level of coverage to be specified by the commissioner in rules. These rules shall include specification of required duration of care, benefit amounts, and any limitations on gate requirements and preexisting condition exclusions which the commissioner deems necessary.

(b) Coordination of benefits to avoid duplication in the group plan of benefits covered by the continuing care contract, by Medicare, or by other coverage.

(c) Provisions to ensure that the amount charged to a member for supplemental long-term care insurance shall not exceed the premiums charged by the insurer, as computed at the time the charge to the member is determined.

(3) The commissioner shall have the authority to waive requirements of this section if it is determined that group supplementary long-term care insurance plans meeting the requirements of subsection (2) of this section are not reasonably available for purchase.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 22. Sections 1 through 20 of this act shall constitute a new chapter in Title 70 RCW.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 23. If any provision of this act or its application to any person or circumstance is held invalid, the remainder of the act or the application of the provision to other persons or circumstances is not affected.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 24. There is appropriated from the general fund to the department of social and health services for the biennium ending June 30, 1989, the sum of $         dollars, or so much thereof as may be necessary, to carry out the purposes of this act.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 25. This act shall take effect on July 1, 1988. By July 1, 1988, the department of social and health services and the insurance commissioner shall have adopted all rules as are necessary to ensure that this act is implemented on its effective date.

ESSB 5885
Prime Sponsor, Committee on Ways & Means: Gathering and disseminating information on earthquake dangers. Reported by Committee on State Government

MAJORITY recommendation: Do pass with the following amendments:
Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. Washington state has been the victim of seismic events of deadly and destructive intensity, and there is scientific consensus that earthquakes capable of causing loss of life and damage to property will continue to occur. Modern design and construction techniques make it possible for structures to withstand earthquakes of greater force than was formerly possible. The legislature believes it is necessary for the health, safety, and welfare of the citizens of the state to inventory public buildings to assess their ability to withstand earthquakes.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. As used in sections 3 through 6 of this act:
(1) 'Department' means the department of community development.
(2) 'Public buildings' means publicly owned or operated schools, universities, colleges, office buildings, hospitals, fire stations, police stations, and correctional facilities.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. Subject to appropriation, the department shall initiate an inventory of public buildings with priority on the seismic zone of highest risk. The inventory shall contain an assessment of the physical condition of the public buildings to determine insofar as possible whether they would be a danger to public safety in the event of an earthquake. As part of the inventory, the department shall also estimate the cost of repair or replacement.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4. If possible, the department shall use existing data and coordinate with federal, state, and local governmental agencies in order to conduct the inventory under section 3 of this act in an efficient manner.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 5. The department may contract with or employ such technical personnel as necessary to implement section 3 of this act.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 6. The department shall report its findings and recommendations under section 3 of this act to the governor and the legislature by May 30, 1989. An interim progress report shall be made by the department to the governor and the legislature by May 30, 1988.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 7. A new section is added to chapter 43.63A RCW to read as follows:

The department shall carry out the following activities, subject to state appropriation, in order to provide current life and property saving information to the citizens of the state:

1. Gather, interpret, and develop material on the impacts of seismic occurrences, relying to the extent possible on existing material, including the 1986 report of the Washington state seismic safety council;

2. Disseminate informational materials targeted to specific user groups on ways they can protect themselves, protect those for whom they are responsible, and protect property in case of a seismic event.

The department shall report its findings and recommendations under this section annually to the governor and the legislature.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 8. A new section is added to chapter 43.63A RCW to read as follows:

In order to carry out chapter 43.63A RCW (sections 1 through 6 of this act) and section 7 of this act, the department may establish an advisory group as a seismic safety task force.

Members of the group shall receive no compensation, but any legislative members shall be reimbursed for travel expenses under RCW 44.04.120 and nonlegislative members shall be reimbursed for travel expenses under RCW 43.03.050 and 43.03.060.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 9. Sections 1 through 6 of this act shall constitute a new chapter in Title 43 RCW.

SSB 5941 Prime Sponsor, Committee on Parks & Ecology: Revising provisions on hazardous waste. Reported by Committee on Environmental Affairs

MAJORITY recommendation: Do pass with the following amendments:

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. The legislature finds that the proper handling and disposal of hazardous waste in the state is of paramount importance and necessary to (1) prevent creation of new contaminated hazardous waste sites and to afford the greatest protection to the citizens of the state, and (2) manage wastes in accordance with state priorities established in chapter 70.105 RCW. The legislature further finds that in order to continue receiving federal moneys for cleanup of the state's worst contaminated sites it is in the state's best interest to begin addressing the need for additional capacity for the disposal, treatment, recycling, reduction, and incineration of hazardous wastes in the state. The legislature recognizes that the federal government has given states until October 17, 1989, to develop adequate capacity to handle hazardous waste generated in the state in the next twenty years or risk losing entitlement to federal superfund moneys which would burden the state with enormous cleanup and cleanup administration costs. The legislature further recognizes that additional hazardous wastes will be created in coming years because of an accelerated federal superfund program, a growing state hazardous waste site cleanup effort and recent changes in federal law. In the interest of insuring that federal funds will not be lost and hazardous waste is disposed of in the safest and most environmentally appropriate way, the legislature finds it necessary for the department of ecology to begin addressing the future hazardous waste disposal needs.
NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. The department of ecology shall identify methods of providing needed hazardous waste capacity. In conducting this task, the agency shall:

(1) Identify the feasibility of disposing of those wastes generated in the state including consideration of types of wastes generated, disposal methods allowed by law, priorities set forth in chapter 70.105 RCW, and the total cost of disposal of Washington wastes;

(2) Identify opportunities to enter into compacts or agreements with other states to handle hazardous waste generated in Washington;

(3) Assess the resources and statutory authority needed to enter into agreements with private contractors to develop hazardous waste management facilities on private and public land;

(4) Identify strategies to expedite permitting of facilities determined to be needed in the state;

(5) Investigate methods used by other states and countries to address hazardous waste disposal issues;

(6) Analyze the feasibility of providing incentives, including financial, for treatment, storage, disposal, recycling, and incineration facility construction; and

(7) Identify other methods to effectively address hazardous waste management capacity.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. In identifying ways of providing needed capacity, the department of ecology shall consult with (1) representatives of the waste treatment and disposal industry; (2) representatives from large and small industries that generate toxic metal solutions and residuals, corrosives, inorganic residuals and sludges, cleanup residuals, and other types of waste the agency deems appropriate; and (3) representatives of the environmental community including recycling organizations and public interest groups.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4. The department of ecology shall base its findings and conclusions on information collected from hazardous waste and moderate-risk waste generators, transporters, and from handlers who reduce, recycle, reuse, store, treat, incinerate, stabilize, and landfill these wastes. The department is hereby authorized to collect this information from such businesses.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 5. The department shall report its conclusions and recommendations to the appropriate standing committees of the legislature by December 15, 1987. The report shall include (1) a recommendation on how the state can best accomplish the requirement to ensure the availability of adequate hazardous waste facilities by October 1989 and (2) a status report of the state and local hazardous waste plans required by chapter 70.105 RCW, including an identification of the assistance the department has provided to local governments in developing these plans.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 6. Nothing in this act shall be construed as interfering with the processing of applications currently underway for siting and constructing of hazardous waste facilities.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 7. A new section is added to chapter 70.105 RCW to read as follows:

The department may charge fees to applicants in an amount sufficient to cover the costs of processing applications for the siting and construction of hazardous waste facilities.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 8. There is appropriated from the general fund to the department of ecology for the biennium ending June 30, 1989, the sum of forty-nine thousand dollars, or so much thereof as may be necessary, to carry out the purposes of section 2 of this act.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 9. This act is necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health, and safety, the support of the state government and its existing public institutions, and shall take effect immediately.

On page 1, line 1 of the title, after "planning;" strike the remainder of the title and insert "adding a new section to chapter 70.105 RCW; creating new sections; making an appropriation; and declaring an emergency."

The service charge shall be inclusive of all charges incident to investigating and making the retail installment contract or charge agreement and for the privilege of making the installment payments thereunder and no other fee, expense or charge whatsoever shall be taken, received, reserved or contracted therefor from the buyer.

(1) Except as provided in subsection (2) of this section, the service charge, in a retail installment contract, shall not exceed the highest of the following:

(a) A rate on outstanding unpaid balances which exceeds six percentage points above the average, rounded to the nearest one-quarter of one percent, of the equivalent coupon issue yields (as published by the Federal Reserve Bank of San Francisco) of the bill rates for twenty-six week treasury bills for the last market auctions conducted during February, May, August, and November of the year prior to the year in which the retail installment contract is executed; or

(2) The service charge in a retail installment contract for the purchase of a motor vehicle shall not exceed the highest of the following:

(a) A rate on outstanding unpaid balances which exceeds six percentage points above the average, rounded to the nearest one-quarter of one percent, of the equivalent coupon issue yield (as published by the Federal Reserve Bank of San Francisco) of the bill rate for twenty-six week treasury bills for the last market auction conducted during February, May, August, or November, as the case may be, prior to the quarter in which the retail installment contract for purchase of the motor vehicle is executed; or

As used in this subsection, 'motor vehicle' means every device capable of being moved upon a public highway and in, upon, or by which any person or property is or may be transported or drawn upon a public highway, except for devices moved by human or animal power or used exclusively upon stationary rails or tracks.

(3) The service charge in a retail charge agreement, revolving charge agreement, lender credit card agreement, or charge agreement, shall not exceed one and one-half percent per month on the outstanding unpaid balances. Prime Sponsor, Senator Bolliger: Limiting liability of persons involved in professional peer review bodies for health care professionals. Reported by Committee on Judiciary

MAJORITY recommendation: Do pass with the following amendments:

NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. The legislature finds the assurance of quality and cost-effectiveness in the delivery of health care can be assisted through the review of health care by health care providers. It also recognizes that some peer review decisions may be based on factors other than competence or professional conduct. Although it finds that peer review decisions based on matters unrelated to quality and utilization review need redress, it concludes that it is necessary to balance carefully the rights of the consuming public who benefit by peer review with the rights of those who are occasionally hurt by peer review decisions based on matters other than competence or professional conduct.

The legislature intends to foreclose federal antitrust actions to the extent Parker v. Brown, 317 U.S. 341 (1943), allows and to permit only those actions in sections 2 and 3 of this act.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. Pursuant to P.L. 99-660 Sec. 411(c)(2), Title IV of that act shall apply in Washington state as of the effective date of this section.
NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. (1) This section shall provide the exclusive remedy for any action taken by a professional peer review body of health care providers as defined in RCW 70.70.020, that is found to be based on matters not related to the competence or professional conduct of a health care provider.

(2) Actions shall be limited to appropriate injunctive relief, and damages shall be allowed only for lost earnings directly attributable to the action taken by the professional review body, incurred between the date of such action and the date the action is functionally reversed by the professional peer review body.

(3) Reasonable attorneys' fees and costs as approved by the court shall be awarded to the prevailing party, if any, as determined by the court.

(4) The statute of limitations for actions under this section shall be one year from the date of the action of the professional review body.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4. Nothing in this chapter limits or repeals any other immunities conferred upon participants in the peer review process contained in any other state or federal law.

Sec. 5. Section 4, chapter 300, Laws of 1986 and RCW 70.41.200 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) Every hospital shall maintain a coordinated program for the identification and prevention of medical malpractice. The program shall include at least the following:

(a) The establishment of a quality assurance committee with the responsibility to review the services rendered in the hospital in order to improve the quality of medical care of patients and to prevent medical malpractice. The committee shall oversee and coordinate the medical malpractice prevention program and shall insure that information gathered pursuant to the program is used to review and to revise hospital policies and procedures. At least one member of the committee shall be a member of the governing board of the hospital who is otherwise affiliated with the hospital in an employment or contractual capacity;

(b) A medical staff privileges sanction procedure through which credentials, physical and mental capacity, and competence in delivering health care services are periodically reviewed as part of an evaluation of staff privileges;

(c) The periodic review of the credentials, physical and mental capacity, and competence in delivering health care services of all persons who are employed or associated with the hospital;

(d) A procedure for the prompt resolution of grievances by patients or their representatives related to accidents, injuries, treatment, and other events that may result in claims of medical malpractice;

(e) The maintenance and continuous collection of information concerning the hospital's experience with negative health care outcomes and incidents injurious to patients, patient grievances, professional liability premiums, settlements, awards, costs incurred by the hospital for patient injury prevention, and safety improvement activities;

(f) The maintenance of relevant and appropriate information gathered pursuant to (a) through (e) of this subsection concerning individual physicians within the physician's personnel or credential file maintained by the hospital;

(g) Education programs dealing with patient safety, injury prevention, staff responsibility to report professional misconduct, the legal aspects of patient care, improved communication with patients, and causes of malpractice claims for staff personnel engaged in patient care activities; and

(h) Policies to ensure compliance with the reporting requirements of this section.

(2) Any person who, in substantial good faith, provides information to further the purposes of the medical malpractice prevention program or who, in substantial good faith, participates on the quality assurance committee shall not be subject to an action for civil damages or other relief as a result of such activity.

(3) Information and documents, including complaints and incident reports, created, collected, and maintained about health care providers arising out of the matters that are (subject to evaluation) under review or have been evaluated by a review committee conducting quality assurance reviews are not subject to discovery or introduction into evidence in any civil action, and no person who was in attendance at a meeting of such committee or board shall be permitted or required to testify in any civil action as to the content of such proceedings. This subsection does not preclude: (a) In any civil action, the testimony of any person concerning the facts which form the basis for the institution of such proceedings of which the person had personal knowledge acquired independently of such proceedings; (b) in any civil action by a health care provider regarding the restriction or revocation of that individual's clinical or staff privileges, introduction into evidence information collected and maintained by quality assurance committees regarding such health care provider; (c) in any civil action, disclosure of the fact that staff privileges were terminated or restricted, including the specific restrictions imposed, if any; or (d) in any civil action, discovery and introduction into evidence of the patient's medical records required by regulation of the department of social and health services to be made regarding the care and treatment received.
(4) The department of social and health services shall adopt such rules as are deemed appropriate to effectuate the purposes of this section.

SPEAKER’S RULING

The Speaker: Representative Brough, I’m going to rule your motion out of order for the following reasons: House Rule 25(D) says “...Provided, That a majority of the members elected to the house may require a committee to report a bill back to the house during the order of business at which it may be considered.” I’m ruling that the “it” refers to the motion. When I look at Rule 15, about orders of business, I suppose that it would be possible to rule that the fourth, fifth and sixth would be proper. However, when I look at the eighth order of business, it says “Floor Resolutions and Motions”. What you’ve done is place a motion. The Speaker is ruling that those motions will be in order during the eighth order of business for reasons of order and certainty in this process.

The House resumed consideration of Substitute Senate Bill No. 5594.

Sec. 14. Section 7, chapter 119, Laws of 1975-'76 2nd ex. sess. and RCW 48.30.300 are each amended to read as follows:

No person or entity engaged in the business of insurance in this state shall refuse to issue any contract of insurance or cancel or decline to renew such contract because of the race, creed, color, national origin, sex ((or)), marital status, or age, or the presence of any sensory, mental, or physical handicap of the insured or prospective insured. The amount of benefits payable, or any term, rate, condition, or type of coverage shall not be restricted, modified, excluded, increased, or reduced on the basis of the race, creed, color, national origin, sex ((or)), marital status, or age, or be restricted, modified, excluded, or reduced on the basis of the presence of any sensory, mental, or physical handicap of the insured or prospective insured. These provisions shall not prohibit fair discrimination on the basis of age, sex, or marital status, or the presence of any sensory, mental, or physical handicap when bona fide statistical differences in risk or exposure have been substantiated.

Sec. 15. Section 4, chapter 115, Laws of 1969 as last amended by section 4, chapter 154. Laws of 1983 and RCW 48.44.220 are each amended to read as follows:

No health care service contractor shall deny coverage to any person solely on account of race, ((religion)) creed, color, national origin, sex, marital status, age, or the presence of any sensory, mental, or physical handicap. Nothing in this section shall be construed as limiting a health care service contractor's authority to deny or otherwise limit coverage to a person when the person because of a medical condition does not meet the essential eligibility requirements established by the health care service contractor for purposes of determining coverage for any person.

No health care service contractor shall refuse to provide reimbursement or indemnity to any person for covered health care services for reasons that the health care services were provided by a holder of a license under chapter 18.22 RCW.

Sec. 16. Section 15, chapter 106. Laws of 1983 and RCW 48.46.370 are each amended to read as follows:

(4) Exclude or limit coverage for preexisting conditions for a period of more than one year prior to the effective date of the policy or contract or more than six months after the effective date of the policy or contract;

(5) Differentiate benefit amounts on the basis of the type or level of nursing home care provided;

(6) Contain a provision establishing any new waiting period in the event an existing policy or contract is converted to a new or other form within the same company;

(7) Contain a provision that conditions the availability or amount of policy or contract benefits upon the insured's or beneficiary's admission and stay in a hospital for a period of time greater than three days. No policy or contract issued or renewed on or after January 1, 1989, may contain a provision that conditions the availability or amount of policy or contract benefits upon the insured's or beneficiary's admission and stay in a hospital unless the insurer, contractor, or health maintenance organization proves to the commissioner's satisfaction that such a provision is actuarily necessary and that alternative methods of controlling benefit utilization are unavailable, impractical, or would result in significant increase in cost to the insured or beneficiary. In no case may the commissioner approve a hospitalization requirement greater than three days.

Representatives Lux and Winsley spoke in favor of adoption of the amendments to the committee amendments, and they were adopted.

Mr. Lux moved adoption of the following amendment by Representatives Lux and Locke to the committee amendments:

On page 22, line 33 of the amendment, after "insurance," insert the following:

"NEW SECTION. Sec. 14. Persons seeking to purchase coverage in various classes of property and casualty insurance have experienced major problems due to the lack of availability of such insurance. The legislature finds that the availability of property and casualty insurance is critical to the economy of the state of Washington and its unavailability threatens to weaken the economy of the state and undermine the financial stability of its citizens.

Sections 15 through 18 of this act are intended to assist in reducing the problems of property and casualty insurance unavailability by authorizing the commissioner to establish joint underwriting associations when the commissioner finds that a class or classes of property and/or casualty insurance is not generally available in the admitted market.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 15. A new section is added to chapter 48.22 RCW to read as follows:

Unless the context requires otherwise, the definitions in this section apply throughout sections 16 through 18 of this act.

(1) 'Association' means a joint underwriting association established under section 16 of this act.

(2) 'Casualty insurance' means those types of insurance set forth in RCW 48.11.070 but does not include liability insurance coverage for day-care operations, private passenger automobiles, environmental pollution hazards, or workers' compensation.

(3) 'Property insurance' means those types of insurance set forth in RCW 48.11.040.

(4) 'Insurer' means those persons set forth in RCW 48.01.050.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 16. A new section is added to chapter 48.22 RCW to read as follows:

If the commissioner finds that a class or classes of property and/or casualty insurance is not reasonably available in this state from insurers possessing certificates of authority to do business in this state, the commissioner may establish such joint underwriting associations as are necessary to provide such class or classes of insurance through policies of insurance affording reasonable coverage.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 17. A new section is added to chapter 48.22 RCW to read as follows:

Any association established by the commissioner under section 16 of this act shall consist of all insurers possessing a certificate of authority permitting the sale in this state of any of the classes of property and/or casualty insurance to be provided by the association. Exclusion or withdrawal from an association may be permitted by the commissioner upon a demonstration by the insurer of hardship threatening the financial solvency of the insurer.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 18. A new section is added to chapter 48.22 RCW to read as follows:

Any plan of operation established by the commissioner under section 16 of this act shall be designed to permit an association to operate as close to a break-even point as is practical. The commissioner may require association members to pay, by reasonable assessments or fees, any costs or expenses of the association, to commence and continue operation, above the amount of premium received by the association.

Mr. Lux spoke in favor of adoption of the amendment to the committee amendment, and Representatives Zellinsky and Chandler spoke against it.

The Speaker resumed the Chair.
POINT OF INQUIRY

Mr. Lux yielded to question by Mr. Sanders.

Mr. Sanders: Representative Lux, in your new Section 18 you say that these joint associations should be designed to permit to operate as close to a break-even point as is possible. Would that include a profit for the insurance companies when you say break-even point?

Mr. Lux: As I understand it, Representative Sanders, the Insurance Commissioner, by prior approval, OK's the rates, and the rates do have to meet certain standards so there are adequate reserves and adequate surpluses to make their commitment. This provides for that, and obviously there is a profit in there. The overhead in the insurance business is about 34-36 percent, and that is all woven into this.

Representatives Sanders and Winsley spoke against adoption of the amendment to the committee amendments, and Mr. Locke spoke in favor of it. Mr. Lux spoke again in favor of adoption.

A division was called.

The Clerk called the roll on the adoption of the amendment by Representatives Lux and Locke to the committee amendments to Senate Bill No. 5195, and the amendment was adopted by the following vote: Yeas, 53; nays, 44; excused, 1.

Unless the context clearly requires otherwise, the definitions in this section apply throughout this chapter.

(1) 'Commission' means the sentencing guidelines commission.
(2) 'Community corrections officer' means an employee of the department who is responsible for carrying out specific duties in supervision of sentenced offenders and monitoring of sentence conditions.
(3) 'Community service' means compulsory service, without compensation, performed for the benefit of the community by the offender. For purposes of the interstate compact for out of state supervision of parolees and probationers, RCW 9.95.270, community supervision is the functional equivalent of probation and should be considered the same as probation by other states.
(4) 'Community supervision' means a period of time during which a convicted offender is subject to crime-related prohibitions and other sentence conditions imposed pursuant to this chapter by a court. For first-time offenders, the supervision may include crime-related prohibitions and other conditions imposed pursuant to RCW 9.94A.120(5).
(5) 'Confinement' means total or partial confinement as defined in this section.
(6) 'Conviction' means an adjudication of guilt pursuant to Titles 10 or 13 and includes a verdict of guilty, a finding of guilty, and acceptance of a plea of guilty.
(7) 'Crime-related prohibition' means an order of a court prohibiting conduct that directly relates to the circumstances of the crime for which the offender has been convicted, and shall not be construed to mean orders directing an offender affirmatively to participate in rehabilitative programs or to otherwise perform affirmative conduct.

(8) (a) 'Criminal history' means the list of a defendant’s prior convictions, whether in this state, in federal court, or elsewhere. The history shall include, where known, for each conviction (i) whether the defendant has been placed on probation and the length and terms thereof; and (ii) whether the defendant has been incarcerated and the length of incarceration.

(b) 'Criminal history' includes a defendant’s prior convictions in juvenile court if: (i) The conviction was for an offense which is a felony and is criminal history as defined in RCW 13.40.020(6)(a); (ii) the defendant was fifteen years of age or older at the time the offense was committed; and (iii) with respect to prior juvenile class B and C felonies, the defendant was less than twenty-three years of age at the time the offense for which he or she is being sentenced was committed.

(9) 'Department' means the department of corrections.

(10) 'Determinate sentence' means a sentence that states with exactitude the number of actual years, months, or days of total confinement, of partial confinement, of community supervision, the number of actual hours or days of community service work, or dollars or terms of a fine or restitution. The fact that an offender through 'earned early release' can reduce the actual period of confinement shall not affect the classification of the sentence as a determinate sentence.

(11) 'Drug offense' means any felony violation of chapter 69.50 RCW except possession of a controlled substance (RCW 69.50.401(d)) or forged prescription for a controlled substance (RCW 69.50.403).

(12) 'Escape' means escape in the first degree (RCW 9A.76.110), escape in the second degree (RCW 9A.76.120), willful failure to return from furlough (RCW 72.66.060), or willful failure to return from work release (RCW 72.65.070).

(15)(a) 'First-time offender' means any person who is convicted of a felony (i) not classified as a violent offense or a sex offense under this chapter, or (ii) that is not the manufacture, delivery, or possession with intent to manufacture or deliver a controlled substance classified in schedule I or II that is a narcotic drug, and except as provided in (b) of this subsection, who previously has never been convicted of a felony in this state, federal court, or another state, and who has never participated in a program of deferred prosecution for a felony offense.

(b) For purposes of (a) of this subsection, a juvenile adjudication for an offense committed before the age of fifteen years is not a previous felony conviction.

(16) 'Nonviolent offense' means an offense which is not a violent offense.

(17) 'Offender' means a person who has committed a felony established by state law and is eighteen years of age or older or is less than eighteen years of age but whose case has been transferred by the appropriate juvenile court to a criminal court pursuant to RCW 13.40.110. Throughout this chapter, the terms 'offender' and 'defendant' are used interchangeably.

(18) 'Partial confinement' means confinement for no more than one year in a facility or institution operated or utilized under contract by the state or any other unit of government, for a substantial portion of each day with the balance of the day spent in the community.

(19) 'Restitution' means the requirement that the offender pay a specific sum of money over a specific period of time to the court as payment of damages. The sum may include both public and private costs. The imposition of a restitution order does not preclude civil redress.

(20) 'Serious traffic offense' means driving while intoxicated (RCW 46.61.502), actual physical control while intoxicated (RCW 46.61.504), reckless driving (RCW 46.61.500), or hit-and-run an attended vehicle (RCW 46.52.020(5)).

(24) 'Total confinement' means confinement inside the physical boundaries of a facility or institution operated or utilized under contract by the state or any other unit of government for twenty-four hours a day, or pursuant to RCW 72.64.050 and 72.64.060.

(25) 'Victim' means any person who has sustained physical or financial injury to person or property as a direct result of the crime charged.

PART IV
ABATEMENT

NEW SECTION. Sec. 401. Every building or unit within a building used for the purpose of unlawfully manufacturing, delivering, selling, storing, or giving away any controlled substance as defined in chapter 69.50 RCW, legend drug as defined in chapter 69.41 RCW, or imitation controlled substances as defined in chapter 69.52 RCW, and every building or unit within a building wherein or upon which such acts take place, is a nuisance which shall be enjoined, abated, and prevented, whether it is a public or private nuisance.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 402. Any complaint filed under this chapter shall be verified or accompanied by affidavit.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 403. Upon a sufficient showing on a motion for a temporary restraining order or a preliminary injunction, the court shall grant such preliminary equitable relief as is necessary to prevent the continuance or recurrence of the nuisance pending final resolution of the matter on the merits.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 404. No temporary restraining order or preliminary injunction may issue under this chapter except upon the giving of security by the applicant, in such sum as the court deems proper, for the payment of such costs and damages as may be incurred or suffered by any party who is found to have been wrongfully restrained or enjoined. No security may be required of the state of Washington, municipal corporations, or political subdivisions of the state of Washington.
NEW SECTION. Sec. 405. An action under this chapter shall have precedence over all other actions, except prior matters of the same character, criminal proceedings, election contests, hearings on temporary restraining orders and injunctions, and actions to forfeit vehicles used in violation of the uniform controlled substances act.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 406. (1) If the complaint under this chapter is filed by a citizen, it shall not be dismissed by the citizen for want of prosecution except upon a sworn statement made by the citizen and the citizen's attorney, if the citizen has one, setting forth the reasons why the action should be dismissed, and by dismissal ordered by the court.

(2) In case of failure to prosecute the action with reasonable diligence, or at the request of the plaintiff, the court, in its discretion, may substitute any other citizen consenting thereto for the plaintiff.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 407. If the existence of the nuisance is established in the action, an order of abatement shall be entered as part of the final judgment in the case. Plaintiff's costs in the action, including those of abatement, are a lien upon the building or unit within a building, except as provided in section 411 of this act. The lien is enforceable and collectible by execution issued by order of the court.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 408. An intentional or willful violation of a restraining order, preliminary injunction, or order of abatement under this chapter is punishable as a contempt of court by a fine of not less than two hundred dollars nor more than one thousand dollars, or by imprisonment for not less than one nor more than six months, or by both.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 409. Any final order of abatement issued under this chapter shall:

(1) Direct the removal of all items subject to seizure and forfeiture pursuant to RCW 69.50-505 from the building or unit within a building, and direct their disposition pursuant to the forfeiture provisions of RCW 69.50.505;

(2) Provide for the immediate closure of the building or unit within a building against its use for any purpose, and for keeping it closed for a period of one year unless released sooner as provided in this chapter; and

(3) State that while the order of abatement remains in effect the building or unit within a building shall remain in the custody of the court.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 410. In all actions brought under this chapter, the proceeds and all moneys forfeited pursuant to the forfeiture provisions of RCW 69.50.505 shall be applied as follows:

(1) First, to the fees and costs of the removal and sale;

(2) Second, to the allowances and costs of closing and keeping closed the building or unit within a building;

(3) Third, to the payment of the plaintiff's costs in the action; and

(4) Fourth, the balance, if any, to the owner of the property.

If the proceeds of the sale of items subject to seizure and forfeiture do not fully discharge all of the costs, fees, and allowances, the building or unit within a building shall then also be sold under execution issued upon the order of the court, and the proceeds of the sale shall be applied in like manner.

No building or unit within a building may be sold pursuant to this section unless the court finds and concludes that the owner of the building or place had actual or constructive knowledge of the existence of the nuisance, or notice of the existence of the nuisance, however, this shall not be construed as limiting or prohibiting the entry of any final order of abatement providing for the immediate closure of the building or unit within a building pursuant to this chapter.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 411. (1) If the court finds and concludes that the owner of the building or unit within a building had no actual or constructive knowledge of the existence of the nuisance, has not been guilty of any contempt of court in the proceedings, will immediately abate any such nuisance that may exist at the building or unit within a building and prevent it from being a nuisance within a period of one year thereafter, the court shall, if satisfied of the owner's good faith, order the building or unit within a building to be delivered to the owner, and the order of abatement cancelled so far as it may relate to the property.

(2) The release of property under this chapter does not release it from any judgment, lien, penalty or liability to which it may be subject, except as provided in subsection (1).

NEW SECTION. Sec. 412. Whenever the owner of a building or unit within a building upon which the act or acts constituting the contempt have been committed, or the owner of any interest therein, has been guilty of a contempt of court, and fined in any proceedings under this chapter, the fine is a lien upon the building or unit within a building to the extent of his or her interest in it. The lien is enforceable and collectible by execution issued by order of the court.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 413. The abatement of a nuisance under this chapter does not prejudice the right of any person to recover damages for its past existence.

Sec. 11. Section 49, chapter 169, Laws of 1963 as last amended by section 6, chapter 117.

Laws of 1980 and RCW 46.29.490 are each amended to read as follows:
(1) Certification. A ‘motor vehicle liability policy’ as said term is used in this chapter means an ‘owner’s policy’ or an ‘operator’s policy’ of liability insurance, certified as provided in RCW 46.29.460 or 46.29.470 as proof of financial responsibility for the future, and issued, except as otherwise provided in RCW 46.29.470, by an insurance carrier duly authorized to transact business in this state, to or for the benefit of the person named in the policy as insured.

(2) Owner’s policy. Such owner’s policy of liability insurance:
(a) Shall designate by explicit description or by appropriate reference all vehicles with respect to which coverage is to be granted by the policy; and
(b) Shall insure the person named therein and any other person, as insured, using any such vehicle or vehicles with the express or implied permission of such named insured, against loss from the liability imposed by law for damages arising out of the ownership, maintenance, or use of such vehicle or vehicles within the United States of America or the Dominion of Can-da, subject to limits exclusive of interest and costs, with respect to each such vehicle as follow:s Twenty-five thousand dollars because of bodily injury to or death of one person in any one accident and, subject to said limit for one person, fifty thousand dollars because of bodily injury to or death of two or more persons in any one accident, and ((ten)) twenty-five thousand dollars because of injury to or destruction of property of others in any one accident.

(3) Operator’s policy. Such operator’s policy of liability insurance shall insure the person named as insured therein against loss from the liability imposed upon him by law for damages arising out of the use by him of any motor vehicle not owned by him, within the same territorial limits and subject to the same limits of liability as are set forth above with respect to an owner’s policy of liability insurance.

(4) Required statements in policies. Such motor vehicle liability policy shall state the name and address of the named insured, the coverage afforded by the policy, the premium charged therefor, the policy period, and the limits of liability, and shall contain an agreement or be endorsed that insurance is provided under the policy in accordance with the coverage defined in this chapter as respects bodily injury and death or property damage, or both, and is subject to all the provisions of this chapter.

(5) Policy need not insure workers’ compensation, etc. Such motor vehicle liability policy need not insure any liability under any workers’ compensation law nor any liability on account of bodily injury or death of an employee of the insured while engaged in the employment, other than domestic, of the insured, or while engaged in the operation, maintenance, or repair of any such vehicle nor any liability for damage to property owned by, rented to, in charge of, or transported by the insured.

(6) Provisions incorporated in policy. Every motor vehicle liability policy is subject to the following provisions which need not be contained therein:
(a) The liability of the insurance carrier with respect to the insurance required by this chapter becomes absolute whenever injury or damage covered by said motor vehicle liability policy occurs; said policy may not be canceled or annulled as to such liability by any agreement between the insurance carrier and the insured after the occurrence of the injury or damage; no statement made by the insured or on his behalf and no violation of said policy defeats or voids said policy;
(b) The satisfaction by the insured of a judgment for such injury or damage shall not be a condition precedent to the right or duty of the insurance carrier to make payment on account of such injury or damage;
(c) The insurance carrier may settle any claim covered by the policy, and if such settlement is made in good faith, the amount thereof is deductible from the limits of liability specified in subdivision (b) of subsection (2) of this section.
(d) The policy, the written application therefor, if any, and any rider or endorsement which does not conflict with the provisions of this chapter constitutes the entire contract between the parties.

(7) Excess or additional coverage. Any policy which grants the coverage required for a motor vehicle liability policy may also grant any lawful coverage in excess of or in addition to the coverage specified for a motor vehicle liability policy, and such excess or additional coverage is not subject to the provisions of this chapter. With respect to a policy which grants such excess or additional coverage the term “motor vehicle liability policy” applies only to that part of the coverage which is required by this section.

(8) Reimbursement provision permitted. Any motor vehicle liability policy may provide that the insured shall reimburse the insurance carrier for any payment the insurance carrier would not have been obligated to make under the terms of the policy except for the provisions of this chapter.

(9) Proration of insurance permitted. Any motor vehicle liability policy may provide for the prorating of the insurance thereunder with other valid and collectible insurance.

(10) Multiple policies. The requirements for a motor vehicle liability policy may be fulfilled by the policies of one or more insurance carrier which policies together meet such requirements.

(11) Binders. Any binder issued pending the issuance of a motor vehicle liability policy is deemed to fulfill the requirements for such a policy.

(2) 'Base salary' means salaries or wages earned by a member of a system during a payroll period for personal services and includes wages and salaries deferred under provisions established pursuant to sections 403(b), 414(h), and 457 of the United States internal revenue code, but shall exclude overtime payments, nonmoney maintenance compensation, and lump sum payments for deferred annual sick leave, unused accumulated vacation, unused accumulated annual leave, any form of severance pay, any bonus for voluntary retirement, any other form of leave, or any similar lump sum payment.

(3) 'Average compensation' means, respectively, 'final compensation' as defined in RCW 41.28.010 and 41.44.030(14), 'average final compensation' as defined in RCW 41.32.010 and 41.40.010, 'average earnable compensation' as used in RCW 41.32.498, and 'average final salary' as defined in RCW 43.43.120.

(4) 'Service retirement allowance' means, respectively, 'retirement allowance' as used or defined in RCW 41.28.130, 41.32.010, 41.40.010, 41.44.030(22), and 43.43.260.

(5) 'Current system average final compensation' means that compensation or average compensation used in the service retirement benefit calculation of the current system with compensation being either that earned in the current system or the base salary earned in a prior system, whichever produces the greater benefit.

(6) 'Prior system average final compensation' means the compensation or average compensation used in the service retirement benefit calculation of the prior system, with compensation being either that earned in the prior system or the base salary earned in any system in which dual membership is held, whichever produces the greater benefit.

(7) 'Compensation' means, respectively, 'compensation earnable' as defined in RCW 41.28.010, 'earnable compensation' as defined in RCW 41.32.010, 'compensation earnable' as defined in RCW 41.40.010, 'compensation earnable' as defined in RCW 41.44.030, and 'average final salary' as used in RCW 43.43.120(15).

(8) 'Current system' means the system in which a member is currently making contributions and accruing service credit.

(9) 'Department' means the department of retirement systems.

(10) 'Director' means the director of retirement systems.

(11) 'Dual member' means a person who (a) is or becomes a member of a system on or after July 1, 1988, (b) has been a member of one or more other systems, and (c) has never been retired for service from a retirement system and is not receiving a disability retirement or disability leave benefit from a prior system.

(12) 'Prior system' means a system in which a person had previous membership but is no longer making member contributions.

(13) 'Service' means the same as it may be defined in each respective system. For the purposes of section 3 of this act, military service granted under RCW 41.40.170(3) or 43.43.260 may only be based on service accrued under chapter 41.40 or 43.43 RCW, respectively.
NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. (1) Those persons who are dual members on or after July 1, 1988, shall not receive a retirement benefit from any prior system while dual members without the loss of all benefits under this chapter. Retroactive retirement in any prior system will cancel membership in any subsequent systems except as allowed under RCW 41.04.270 and will result in the refund of all employee and employer contributions made to such systems.

(2) If a member has withdrawn contributions from a prior system, the member may restore the contributions, together with interest since the date of withdrawal as determined by the system, and recover the service represented by the contributions. Such restoration must be completed within two years of establishing dual membership or prior to retirement, whichever occurs first.

(3) A member of the retirement system under chapter 41.32 RCW who is serving in office pursuant to Article II or III of the state Constitution may, notwithstanding the provisions of RCW 41.40.120(4), within one year from the effective date of this section make an irrevocable election to become a member of the retirement system under chapter 41.40 RCW. A member who makes this election shall receive service credit under chapter 41.32 RCW for all prior and future periods of employment which are, or otherwise would be, credited under chapter 41.32 RCW. Such a member who established membership under chapter 41.32 RCW prior to June 30, 1977, shall be granted membership under chapter 41.40 RCW as if he or she had been a member of that system prior to June 30, 1977.

All contributions credited to such member under chapter 41.32 RCW for service now to be credited in the retirement system under chapter 41.40 RCW shall be transferred to the system and the member shall not receive any credit nor enjoy any rights under chapter 41.32 RCW for those periods of service.

(4) Any service accrued in one system by the member shall not accrue in any other system.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. (1) As used in this section, the percentage factor to be used in calculating a benefit under chapter 41.28 RCW shall be determined using only the service earned in a retirement system created under that chapter.

(2) The service retirement allowances to be paid to a dual member upon retiring from the current system because of service shall be the sum of:

(a) The service retirement allowance received under the current system as a result of multiplying the current system average final compensation by the percentage factor of the current system and the service earned under the current system; and

(b) The sum of the respective service retirement allowances received under prior systems as a result of multiplying each prior system’s average final compensation by the percentage factor of that prior system and the service earned under that prior system.

(3) Eligibility to receive a service benefit under this chapter shall be based on (a) the criteria of any system in which dual membership is held, and (b) the dual member’s combined systems’ service. The service retirement allowances from a system which, but for this chapter, would not be allowed to be paid at this date based on the dual member’s age shall be either actuarially adjusted from the earliest age upon which the combined service would have made such dual member eligible in that system, or the dual member may choose to defer the benefit until fully eligible.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4. (1) The retirement allowances calculated under section 3 of this act shall be paid separately by each respective current and prior system. Any deductions from such separate payments shall be according to the provisions of the respective systems.

(2) Postretirement adjustments, if any, shall be applied by the respective systems based on the payments made under subsection (1) of this section.

(3) If a dual member dies in service in any system, the surviving spouse shall receive the same benefit from each system that would have been received if the member were active in the system at the time of death based on service actually established in that system.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 5. A person who was eligible to establish membership under RCW 41.40.120(3) prior to October 1, 1977, but failed to do so by that date, is authorized to elect to do so as if such election had been made prior to that date. Such an election must be made not later than June 30, 1988, and all other terms and conditions of RCW 41.40.120(3) shall apply.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 6. A system authorized under chapter 41.28 RCW may petition the legislature for coverage under the provisions of this chapter by the adoption of a resolution by majority vote of those elected or appointed to the legislative body of the respective first class city. This resolution may not be adopted until a public hearing has been held on the proposed entry into coverage under this chapter. If adopted, the resolution shall be transmitted prior to January 1, 1988, to the director and to the joint committee on pension policy created in chapter ... (HB 358), Laws of 1987. The system shall be included only after the legislature enacts legislation specifically including the system under the coverage of this chapter.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 7. The benefit granted by this chapter shall not result in a total benefit less than would have been received absent such benefit. The total sum of the retirement allowances received under this chapter shall not exceed the smallest amount the dual member would receive if all the service had been rendered in any one system.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 8. The benefits provided under sections 1 through 7 of this act are not provided to employees as a matter of contractual right and the legislature retains the right to alter or abolish these benefits at any time prior to a member's retirement.

Sec. 9. Section 1, chapter 105, Laws of 1975-76 2nd ex. sess. as amended by section 1, chapter 29, Laws of 1980 and RCW 41.04.270 are each amended to read as follows:

PROVIDED. That (a) and (b) of this subsection((s-1) and (2) of this section)) shall not apply to persons who have accumulated less than fifteen years service credit in any such system.

(2) Nothing in this section is intended to apply to (a) any retirement system except those listed in RCW 41.50.030 and ((the retirement systems of first class cities)) chapter 41.28 RCW, or (b) a dual member as defined in section 1 of this 1987 act.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 10. Sections 1 through 8 of this act shall constitute a new chapter in Title 41 RCW.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 11. (1) Section 5 of this act is necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health, and safety, the support of the state government and its existing public institutions, and shall take effect on July 1, 1987.

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. The legislature finds and declares that the economic and social vitality of the state are dependent on a healthy and productive population. It further finds that preservation of health requires action by government to promote healthful ways of life, to prevent disease and injury, and to preserve the environment and reduce or eliminate risks and hazards to health. It recognizes that while the activities and policies of many state and local governmental agencies have an impact upon health and the environment, there is a need for a single department of state government with primary responsibility for the preservation of health and the environment. The legislature further declares it to be the policy of this state, that
It is a fundamental and inalienable right of the people of the state of Washington to live in a healthful and pleasant environment. The legislature further recognizes that as the population of our state grows, the need to provide for our increasing industrial, agricultural, residential, social, recreational, economic, and other needs will place an increasing responsibility on all segments of our society to plan, coordinate, restore, and regulate the utilization of our natural resources in a manner that will protect and conserve our clean air, our pure and abundant waters, and the natural beauty of the state.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. In recognition of the responsibility of state government to carry out the policies set forth in section 1 of this act, it is the purpose of this chapter to establish a single state agency with the authority to manage and develop our air and water resources in an orderly, efficient, and effective manner and to carry out a coordinated program of pollution control involving these and related land resources. It is the further purpose of this chapter to focus state policy and mobilize and coordinate state efforts to preserve and promote the health of the people of the state, and a safe and nurturing environment in which to live. The department shall provide leadership and coordination in identifying and resolving threats to the environmental health by:

(1) Developing intervention strategies;
(2) Strengthening the state and local governmental partnership in providing public and environmental protection;
(3) Providing expert advice to the executive and legislative branches of state government;
(4) Providing active and fair enforcement of regulation;
(5) Working with other federal, state, and local agencies and facilitating their involvement in planning and implementing environmental health preservation measures; and
(6) Carrying out such other actions as may be appropriate to this purpose.

To this end a department of ecology and environmental health is created by this chapter to undertake, in an integrated manner, the various water regulation, management, planning, and development programs now authorized to be performed by the department of water resources and the water pollution control commission, the air pollution control program, the hazardous waste management program, the state industrial pollution control program, and the state pollution control program as provided by chapter 70.95 RCW, and such other environmental management, protection, and development programs as may be authorized by the legislature.

  NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. The legislature finds that the economy of the state of Washington more than that of any other state in the union is dependent on foreign trade, particularly with Pacific Rim countries. If Washington’s status as a leading state in international trade is to be maintained and strengthened, students of this state need to be better prepared. The legislature also finds that parents and our public education system can work cooperatively to prepare our children as they begin to face complex questions of world order and stability. It is, therefore, the intent of the legislature to provide students with enhanced opportunities to increase their awareness of and understanding about other nations and the relationships of those countries with Washington state.

  NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. (1) The superintendent of public instruction shall establish an advisory committee to advise the superintendent on international education issues as such issues relate to the development of model curriculum or curriculum guidelines for grades kindergarten through twelve. State-level administration and development of such programs shall be conducted using existing staff and resources of the office of the superintendent of public instruction. The grants shall be in such amounts as determined by the superintendent of public instruction. The sum of all grants awarded shall not exceed the amount appropriated by the legislature for such purposes.

(2) The grant program shall center on the use of the international education model curriculum or curriculum guidelines developed in section 2 of this act. Districts may use the international education model curriculum or curriculum guidelines developed under section 2 of this act as a guideline for creating their own model curriculum for participation in the grant program.

(3) School districts may apply singularly or a group of school districts may apply together to participate in the program.

(4) School districts applying for the international education grant program shall submit a plan which includes:
(a) Participation by the school district in both the model curriculum or curriculum guidelines development activities and the grant program activities provided for by this chapter;
(b) The application or intent to conduct a foreign language program including either Japanese or Mandarin Chinese beginning in the ninth grade;
(c) A staff in-service training program addressing the implementation of international education curriculum;
(d) A goal to enlist participation where possible by private enterprise, cultural and ethnic associations, foreign trade or policy organizations, the local community, exchange students and students who have participated in exchange programs, and parents;

NEW SECTION. Sec. 5. The superintendent of public instruction shall submit a report to the legislature, including its findings and specific recommendations evaluating the progress of the grant program, by January 1, 1991.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 6. Sections 1 through 5 of this act shall constitute a new chapter in Title 28A RCW.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 7. If any provision of this act or its application to any person or circumstance is held invalid, the remainder of the act or the application of the provision to other persons or circumstances is not affected.

The legislature intends to establish a framework for teacher and principal preparation programs and to recognize teaching as a profession. The legislature finds that the quality of teacher preparation programs is enhanced when a planned, sequenced approach is used that provides for the application of practice to academic course work.

The legislature supports better integration of the elements of teacher preparation programs including knowledge of subject matter, teaching methods, and actual teaching experiences. The legislature finds that establishing: (1) A teaching internship program; (2) A post-baccalaureate program resulting in a masters degree; (3) Stronger requirements for earning principal credentials; and (4) A review of the preparation standards for school principals and educational staff associates are appropriate next steps in enhancing the quality of educational personnel in Washington.

The state board of education shall develop standards for teacher internship programs. The program shall: (a) Build upon the program of courses required for teacher certification as provided by RCW 28A.04.120 (1) and (2); (b) provide for the application of academic theory to classroom practice, and (c) require an internship which meets the standards established in section 202 of this act.

(2) The initial certificate shall be valid for two years.

(3) Certificate holders may renew the certificate for a three-year period by providing proof of acceptance and enrollment in an approved masters degree program. A second renewal, for a period of two years, may be granted upon recommendation of the degree-granting institution and if the certificate holder can demonstrate substantial progress toward the completion of the masters degree and that the degree will be completed within the two-year extension period. Under no circumstances may an initial certificate be valid for a period of more than seven years.

The state board of education shall review and develop standards which address the minimum professional educational requirements necessary for initial certification for persons entering education from other fields.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 207. A new section is added to chapter 28A.70 RCW to read as follows:

When certification requirements are changed and the effective date for the application of new requirements results in an applicant who has completed the requirements for certification having less time to file and qualify than under the old standard for certification, the applicant shall be allowed to apply and qualify under the old requirements so long as the applicant completes the application process timelines under the old requirements. This section shall apply to all applicants who completed coursework for a continuing certificate prior to December 31, 1986.

(3) Sections 1 through 16 and 26 of this act apply to all dissolution orders incident to a decree of divorce, dissolution, or legal separation whether entered before or after the effective date of this act.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 9. (1) (a) The mandatory benefits assignment order in section 8 of this act directed at periodic retirement benefits shall include:

(c) Except as otherwise required by federal law, fifty percent of the disposable benefits of the obligor are exempt, and may be disbursed by the department to the obligor.

(2)(a) A mandatory benefits assignment order in section 8 of this act directed at a withdrawal of accumulated contributions shall include:

(i) The property division interest, if any, of the obligee in the obligor’s accumulated contributions, established by the dissolution order, which interest shall be stated as either a dollar amount or a percentage amount in the mandatory benefits assignment order;

(ii) The total amount of the arrearage judgments for spousal maintenance payments or property division payments entered by the court, if any, together with interest, if any; and
(iii) The amount to be withheld from the obliger’s withdrawal of accumulated contributions to satisfy the property division interest and the arrearage judgments specified in (a) (i) and (ii) of this subsection;

(b) With respect to such a mandatory benefits assignment order, the total amount to be withheld from the obliger’s withdrawal of accumulated contributions may be up to one hundred percent of the disposable benefits of the obliger.

(3) If an obliger is subject to two or more mandatory benefits assignment orders on account of different obligees and if the nonexempt portion of the obliger’s benefits is not sufficient to respond fully to all the mandatory benefits assignment orders, the department shall apportion the obliger’s nonexempt disposable benefits among the various obligees in equal shares to the extent permitted by federal law.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 10. The mandatory benefits assignment order shall be substantially in the following form:

IN THE SUPERIOR COURT OF THE STATE OF WASHINGTON IN AND FOR THE COUNTY OF

vs.

Obliger

The Department of Retirement Systems of the State of Washington

THE STATE OF WASHINGTON TO: The Department of Retirement Systems

AND TO:

Obliger

The above-named obligee claims that the above-named obliger is more than fifteen days past due in spousal maintenance or property division obligation payments and that the total amount of such past due payments is equal to or greater than one hundred dollars or that the obliger has requested a withdrawal of accumulated contributions from the department of retirement systems. The amount of the accrued past due spousal maintenance or property division obligation debt as of this date is dollars. If the obliger is receiving periodic retirement payments from the department, the amount to be withheld from the obliger’s benefits to satisfy such accrued spousal maintenance or property division obligation is dollars per month and the amount to be withheld from the obliger’s benefits to satisfy current and continuing spousal maintenance or property division obligation is per month. If the obliger has requested a withdrawal of accumulated contributions from the department, the amount to be withheld from the obliger’s benefits to satisfy such accrued spousal maintenance or property division obligation is dollars and the amount to be withheld from theobliger’s benefits to satisfy the obligee’s property division interest in the obliger’s accumulated contributions is percent of the disposable benefits or is dollars.

You are hereby commanded to answer this order by filling in the attached form according to the instructions, and you must mail or deliver the original of the answer to the court, one copy to the obligee or obligee’s attorney, and one copy to the obliger within twenty days after service of this benefits assignment order upon you.

(1) If you are currently paying periodic retirement payments to the obliger, then you shall do as follows:

(a) Withhold from the obliger’s retirement payments each month the lesser of:

(i) The sum of the specified arrearage payment amount plus the specified current spousal maintenance or property division obligation amount; or

(ii) Fifty percent of the disposable benefits of the obliger or the maximum amount allowed by federal law, whichever is less.

(b) The total amount withheld above is subject to the mandatory benefits assignment order, and all other sums may be disbursed to the obliger.

You shall continue to withhold the ordered amounts from nonexempt benefits of the obliger until notified by a court order that the mandatory benefits assignment order has been modified or terminated. You shall promptly notify the court if and when the obliger is no longer receiving periodic retirement payments from the department of retirement systems.

You shall deliver the withheld benefits to the clerk of the court that issued this mandatory benefits assignment order each month, but the first delivery shall occur no sooner than twenty days after your receipt of this mandatory benefits assignment order.

(2) If you are not currently paying periodic retirement payments to the obliger but the obliger has requested a withdrawal of accumulated contributions, then you shall do as follows:

(a) Withhold from the obliger’s benefits the sum of the specified arrearage payment amount plus the specified property division interest amount, up to one hundred percent of the disposable benefits of the obliger.
(b) The total amount withheld above is subject to the mandatory benefits assignment order, and all other sums may be dis­bursed to the obligor.

You shall mail a copy of this order and a copy of your answer to the obligor at the mailing address in the department's files as soon as is reasonably possible. This mandatory benefits assignment order has priority over any assignment or order of execution, garnishment, attachment, levy, or similar legal process authorized by Washington law, except for a wage assignment order for child support under chapter 26.18 RCW or order to withhold or deliver under chapter 74.20A RCW.

NOTICE TO OBLIGOR: YOU HAVE A RIGHT TO REQUEST A HEARING IN THE SUPERIOR COURT THAT ISSUED THIS MANDATORY BENEFITS ASSIGNMENT ORDER. TO REQUEST THAT THE COURT QUASH, MODIFY, OR TERMINATE THE MANDATORY BENEFITS ASSIGNMENT ORDER.

Obligee. Judge/Court Commissioner or obligee's attorney

NEW SECTION. Sec. 11. (1) The director or the director's designee shall answer an order by sworn affidavit within twenty days after the date of service. The answer shall state whether the obligor receives periodic payments from the department of retirement systems, whether the obligor has requested a withdrawal of accumulated contributions from the department, whether the department will honor the mandatory benefits assignment order and if not, the reasons why, and whether there are other current court or administrative orders on file with the department directing the department to withhold all or a portion of the obligor’s benefits.

(2) (a) If any periodic retirement payments are currently payable to the obligor, the funds subject to the mandatory benefits assignment order shall be withheld from the next periodic retirement payment due twenty days or more after receipt of the mandatory benefits assignment order. The withheld amount shall be delivered to the clerk of the court that issued the mandatory benefits assignment order each month, but the first delivery shall occur no sooner than twenty days after receipt of the mandatory benefits assignment order.

(b) The department shall continue to withhold the ordered amount from nonexempt benefits of the obligor until notified by the court that the mandatory benefits assignment order has been modified or terminated. If the department is initially unable to comply, or able to comply only partially, with the withholding obligation, the court’s order shall be interpreted to require the department to comply to the greatest extent possible at the earliest possible date. The department shall notify the court of changes in withholding amounts and the reason for the change. When the obligor is no longer eligible to receive funds from one or more public retirement systems the department shall promptly notify the court.

(3)(a) If no periodic retirement payments are currently payable to the obligor but the obligor has requested a withdrawal of accumulated contributions, the funds subject to the mandatory benefits assignment order shall be withheld from the withdrawal payment. The withheld amount shall be delivered to the clerk of the court that issued the mandatory benefits assignment order.

(b) If the department is unable to comply fully with the withholding obligation, the court’s order shall be interpreted to require the department to comply to the greatest extent possible.

(4) The department may deduct a processing fee from the remainder of the obligor’s funds after withholding under the mandatory benefits assignment order, unless the remainder is exempt under section 9 of this act. The processing fee may not exceed (a) twenty-five dollars for the first disbursement made by the department to the superior court clerk; and (b) six dollars for each subsequent disbursement to the clerk.

(5) A court order for spousal maintenance or a property division obligation governed by sections 1 through 16 or 26 of this act shall have priority over any other assignment or order of execution, garnishment, attachment, levy, or similar legal process authorized under Washington law, except for a mandatory wage assignment for child support under chapter 26.18 RCW, or an order to withhold and deliver under chapter 74.20A RCW.

(6) If the department, without good cause, fails to withhold funds as required by a mandatory benefits assignment order issued under section 8 of this act, the department may be held liable to the obligee for any amounts wrongfully disbursed to the obligor in violation of the mandatory benefits assignment order. However, the department shall under no circumstances be held liable for failing to withhold funds from a withdrawal of accumulated contributions unless the mandatory benefits assignment order was properly served on the department at least thirty days before the department made the withdrawal payment to the obligor. If the department is held liable to an obligee for failing to withhold funds as required by a mandatory benefits assignment order, the department may recover such amounts paid to an obligee by thereafter either withholding such amounts from the available nonexempt benefits of the obligor or filing a legal action against the obligor.

(7) If the department complies with a court order pursuant to sections 1 through 16 of this act, neither the department, its officers, its employees, nor any of the retirement systems listed in RCW 41.50.030 may be liable to the obligor for wrongful withholding.
(8) The department may combine amounts withheld from various obligors into a single payment to the superior court clerk, if the payment includes a listing of the amounts attributable to each obligor and other information as required by the clerk.

(9) The department shall mail to the obligor at the obligor’s last known mailing address appearing in the department’s files copies of the mandatory benefits assignment order and the department’s answer within twenty days after receiving the mandatory benefits assignment order.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 12. The answer of the department shall be made on forms, served on the director with the mandatory benefits assignment order, substantially as follows:

NEW SECTION. Sec. 13. (1) Service of the mandatory benefits assignment order on the department is invalid unless it is served with four answer forms in substantial conformance with section 12 of this act, together with stamped envelopes addressed to, respectively, the clerk of the court where the order was issued, the obligee’s attorney or the obligee, and the obligor at the last mailing address known to the obligee. The obligee shall also include an extra copy of the mandatory benefits assignment order for the department to mail to the obligor. Service on the department shall be in person or by any form of mail requiring a return receipt.

(2) On or before the date of service of the mandatory benefits assignment order on the department, the obligee shall mail or cause to be mailed by certified or registered mail a copy of the mandatory benefits assignment order to the obligor at the obligor’s last mailing address known to the obligee; or, in the alternative, a copy of the mandatory benefits assignment order shall be served on the obligor in the same manner as a summons in a civil action on, before, or within two days after the date of service of the order on the department. This requirement is not jurisdictional, but if the copy is not mailed or served as this subsection requires, or if any irregularity appears with respect to the mailing or service, the superior court, in its discretion, may quash the mandatory benefits assignment order, upon motion of the obligor promptly made and supported by an affidavit showing that the obligor has been prejudiced due to the failure to mail or serve the copy.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 14. In a hearing to quash, modify, or terminate the mandatory benefits assignment order, the court may grant relief only upon a showing that the mandatory benefits assignment order causes extreme hardship or substantial injustice. Satisfaction by the obligor of all past due payments subsequent to the issuance of the mandatory benefits assignment order is not grounds to quash, modify, or terminate the mandatory benefits assignment order. If a mandatory benefits assignment order has been in operation for twelve consecutive months and the obligor’s spousal maintenance or property division obligation is current, the court may terminate the order upon motion of the obligor unless the obligee can show good cause as to why the mandatory benefits assignment order should remain in effect.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 15. In any action to enforce a dissolution order by means of a mandatory benefits assignment pursuant to sections 4 through 14 and 26 of this act, the court may award costs to the prevailing party, including an award for reasonable attorneys’ fees consistent with RCW 26.09.140. An obligor shall not be considered a prevailing party under this section unless the obligee has acted in bad faith in connection with the proceeding in question. This section does not authorize an award of attorneys’ fees against the department of retirement systems or any of the retirement systems listed in RCW 41.50.030.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 16. Notwithstanding RCW 2.10.180(1), 2.12.090(1), 41.26.180(1), 41.32.590(1), 41.40.380(1), and 43.43.310(1), the department of retirement systems may make direct payments of benefits to a spouse or ex spouse pursuant to court orders or decrees entered before the effective date of this act that complied with all the requirements in RCW 2.10.180(1), 2.12.090(2), 41.26.180(3), 41.32.590(3), 41.40.380(3), 43.43.310(2), and 41.04.310 through 41.04.330, as such requirements existed before the effective date of this section.

Sec. 17. Section 18, chapter 267, Laws of 1971 ex. sess. as last amended by section 1, chapter 52, Laws of 1982 1st ex. sess. and RCW 2.10.180 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) Except as provided in subsections (2), (3), and (4) of this section, the right of a person to a retirement allowance, disability allowance, or death benefit, the retirement, disability or death allowance itself, any optional benefit, any other right accrued or accruing to any person under the provisions of this chapter, and the moneys in the fund created under this chapter, are hereby exempt from any state, county, municipal, or other local tax and shall not be subject to execution, garnishment, or any other process of law whatsoever. PROVIDED, that benefits under this chapter shall be payable to a spouse or ex-spouse to the extent expressly provided for in any court decree of dissolution or legal separation or in any court order or court-approved property settlement agreement incident to any court decree of dissolution or legal separation.

(2) Subsection (1) of this section shall not be deemed to prohibit the department of retirement from authorizing deductions therefrom for payment of premiums due on any group insurance policy or plan issued for the benefit of a group comprised of public employees of the state of Washington.

(3) Deductions made in the past from retirement benefits are hereby expressly recognized, ratified, and affirmed. Future deductions may only be made in accordance with this section.

(4) Subsection (1) of this section shall not prohibit the department of retirement systems from complying with (a) a wage assignment order for child support issued pursuant to chapter 26.18 RCW, (b) an order to withhold and deliver issued pursuant to chapter 74.20A RCW, (c) a mandatory benefits assignment order issued pursuant to chapter 41.50 RCW, or (d) any administrative or court order expressly authorized by federal law.

The budget document or documents shall forth set forth a proposal for expenditures in the ensuing fiscal period based upon the estimated revenues as approved by the economic and revenue forecast council for such fiscal period from the source and at the rates existing by law at the time of submission of the budget document. However, the estimated revenues for use in the governor's budget document may be adjusted to reflect budgetary revenue transfers and revenue estimates dependent upon budgetary assumptions of enrollments, workloads, and caseloads. All adjustments to the approved estimated revenues must be set forth in the budget document. The governor may additionally submit, as an appendix to each agency budget or to the budget document or documents, a proposal for expenditures in the ensuing fiscal period from revenue sources derived from proposed changes in existing statutes.

The budget document or documents shall also contain:

(a) Revenues classified by fund and source for the immediately past fiscal period, those received or anticipated for the current fiscal period, and those anticipated for the ensuing biennium:

(b) (Cash surplus) The undesignated fund balance or deficit, by fund((to the extent provided by RCW 43.86.040 and 43.88.050));

(2) The budget document or documents shall include detailed estimates of all anticipated revenues applicable to proposed operating or capital expenditures and shall also include all proposed operating or capital expenditures. The total of (anticipated) beginning undesignated fund balance and estimated revenues less working capital and other reserves shall equal or exceed the total of proposed applicable expenditures. The budget document or documents shall further include:

(a) Interest, amortization and redemption charges on the state debt;

(b) Payments of all reliefs, judgments and claims;

(c) Other statutory expenditures;

(d) Expenditures incident to the operation for each agency;

(e) Revenues derived from agency operations;

(f) Expenditures and revenues shall be given in comparative form showing those incurred or received for the immediately past fiscal period and those anticipated for the current biennium and next ensuing biennium;

(g) Individual itemizations for each major program for wages and salaries, employee benefits, personal services contracts, and travel;

(h) Common school expenditures on a fiscal-year basis;

(i) A separate budget document or schedule may be submitted consisting of:

(a) Expenditures incident to current or pending capital projects and to proposed new capital projects, relating the respective amounts proposed to be raised therefor by appropriations... in the budget and the respective amounts proposed to be raised therefor by the issuance of bonds during the fiscal period:

(b) A capital program consisting of proposed capital projects for at least the two fiscal periods succeeding the next fiscal period. The capital program shall include for each proposed project a statement of the reason or purpose for the project along with an estimate of its cost;

(c) Such other information bearing upon capital projects as the governor shall deem to be useful to the legislature;

(d) Such other information relating to capital improvement projects as the legislature may direct by law or concurrent resolution.

(4) No change affecting the comparability of agency or program information relating to expenditures, revenues, workload, performance and personnel shall be made in the format of any budget document or report presented to the legislature under this section or RCW 43.88.160(1) relative to the format of the budget document or report which was presented to the previous regular session of the legislature during an odd-numbered year without prior legislative concurrence. Prior legislative concurrence shall consist of (a) a favorable majority vote on the proposal by the standing committees on ways and means of both houses if the legislature is in session or (b) a favorable majority vote on the proposal by members of the legislative evaluation and accountability program committee if the legislature is not in session.

Sec. 3. Section 1, chapter 247, Laws of 1984 and RCW 43.88.037 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) The director of financial management shall provide all agencies with a complete set of instructions for preparing a statement of proposed expenditures at least thirty days before the beginning of a fiscal period. The set of instructions need not include specific appropriation amounts for the agency.

(2) Within forty-five days before the beginning of the fiscal period and within forty-five days after the beginning of the fiscal period or within forty-five days after the beginning of a fiscal period, whichever is later, all agencies shall submit to the governor a statement of proposed expenditures at such times and in such form as may be required by the governor. If at any time during the fiscal period the governor shall make across-the-board reductions in allotments so as to prevent exceeding the appropriated amounts for the agency.

(3) An agency shall submit to the governor a statement of proposed expenditures at such times and in such form as may be required by the governor. If at any time during the fiscal period the governor shall make across-the-board reductions in allotments so as to prevent exceeding the appropriated amounts for the agency.

(4) No change affecting the comparability of agency or program information relating to expenditures, revenues, workload, performance and personnel shall be made in the format of any budget document or report presented to the legislature under this section or RCW 43.88.160(1) relative to the format of the budget document or report which was presented to the previous regular session of the legislature during an odd-numbered year without prior legislative concurrence. Prior legislative concurrence shall consist of (a) a favorable majority vote on the proposal by the standing committees on ways and means of both houses if the legislature is in session or (b) a favorable majority vote on the proposal by members of the legislative evaluation and accountability program committee if the legislature is not in session.

Sec. 4. Section 43.88.050, chapter 8, Laws of 1965 and RCW 43.88.050 are each amended to read as follows:

Cash deficit of the current fiscal period is defined for purposes of this chapter as the amount by which the aggregate of estimated disbursements charged to a fund will exceed the aggregate of receipts credited to such fund in the current fiscal period, less the extent to which such deficit may have been provided for from available (reserve-funds) beginning cash surplus.

If, for any applicable fund or account, the estimated receipts for the next ensuing period plus cash (surplus shall be) beginning balances is less than the aggregate of estimated disbursements proposed by the governor for the next ensuing fiscal period, the governor shall include in Part I of the budget document (his) proposals as to the manner in which the anticipated cash deficit shall be met, whether by an increase in the indebtedness of the state, by the imposition of new taxes, by increases in tax rates or an extension thereof, or in any like manner. The governor may (provide for) propose orderly liquidation of the anticipated cash deficit over a period of one or more fiscal periods, if, in (his) the governor's discretion, such manner of liquidation would best serve the public interest.

Sec. 5. Section 43.88.110, chapter 8, Laws of 1965 as last amended by section 4, chapter 215, Laws of 1986 and RCW 43.88.110 are each amended to read as follows:

This section sets forth the expenditure programs and the allotment and reserve procedures to be followed by the executive branch for public funds. Allotments of an appropriation for any fiscal period shall conform to the terms, limits, or conditions of the appropriation.

(1) The director of financial management shall provide all agencies with a complete set of instructions for preparing a statement of proposed expenditures at least thirty days before the beginning of a fiscal period. The set of instructions need not include specific appropriation amounts for the agency.

(2) Within forty-five days after the beginning of the fiscal period or within forty-five days after the governor signs the omnibus biennial appropriations act, whichever is later, all agencies shall submit to the governor a statement of proposed expenditures at such times and in such form as may be required by the governor. If at any time during the fiscal period the governor shall make across-the-board reductions in allotments so as to prevent exceeding the (making of expenditures in excess of estimated-revenues) a cash deficit, unless the legislature has directed the liquidation of the cash deficit over one or more fiscal periods. Except for the legistative and judicial branches and other agencies headed by elective officials, the governor shall review the statement of proposed expenditures for reasonableness and conformance with legislativ­ te intent. Once the governor approves the statements of proposed expenditures, further revisions shall be made only at the beginning of the second fiscal year and must be initiated by the governor. However, changes in appropriation level authorized by the legislature, changes required by across-the-board reductions mandated by the governor, and changes caused by executive increases to spending authority may require additional revisions. Revisions shall not be made retroactively. Revisions caused by executive increases to spending authority shall not be made after June 30, 1987. However, the governor may assign to a reserve status any portion of an agency appropriation withheld as part of across-the-board reductions made by the governor and any portion of an agency appropriation conditioned on a contingent event by the appropriations act. The governor may remove these amounts from reserve status if the across-the-board reductions are subsequently modified or if the contingent event occurs. The director of financial management shall enter approved statements of proposed expenditures into the state budgeting, accounting, and reporting system within forty-five days after receipt of the proposed statements from the agencies. If an agency or the director of financial management is unable to meet these requirements, the director of financial management shall provide a timely explanation in writing to the legislative fiscal committees.

(3) It is expressly provided that all agencies shall be required to maintain accounting records and to report thereon in the manner prescribed in this chapter and under the regulations issued pursuant to this chapter. Within ninety days of the end of the fiscal year, all agencies shall submit to the director of financial management their final adjustments to close their books for the fiscal year. Prior to submitting fiscal data, written or oral, to committees of the legislature, it is the responsibility of the agency submitting the data to reconcile it with the budget and accounting data reported by the agency to the director of financial management.

The director of financial management shall monitor agency expenditures against the approved statement of proposed expenditures and shall provide the legislature with quarterly explanations of major variances.

(4) The director of financial management may exempt certain public funds from the allotment controls established under this chapter if it is not practical or necessary to allot the funds.

Allotment control exemptions expire at the end of the fiscal biennium for which they are granted. The director of financial management shall report any exemptions granted under this subsection to the legislative fiscal committees.

Sec. 6. Section 43.88.120, chapter 8, Laws of 1965 as last amended by section 10, chapter

138, Laws of 1984 and RCW 43.88.120 are each amended to read as follows:

Each agency engaged in the collection of revenues shall prepare (statements of revenue collections and estimates) estimated revenues and estimated receipts for the current and ensuing biennium and shall submit the (estimates and) estimates to the director of financial management and the director of revenue at times and in the form specified by the directors, along with any other information which the directors may request.

A copy of such (collection reports and) revenue estimates shall be simultaneously submitted to the economic and revenue forecast work group when required by the office of the economic and revenue forecast council.

Sec. 7. Section 43.88.140, chapter 8, Laws of 1965 as amended by section 9, chapter 270.

Laws of 1981 and RCW 43.88.140 are each amended to read as follows:

The authority to incur liabilities under all appropriations shall lapse at the end of the fiscal period for which the appropriations are made ((to the extent that they have not been expended or lawfully obligated)). Cash disbursements for liabilities incurred under an appronovation shall not be made later than one month after the end of the fiscal period for which the appropriation is made.

Sec. 8. Section 2, chapter 83, Laws of 1975–76 2nd ex. ses. and RCW 43.88.260 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) It shall be unlawful for any agency head or disbursing officer to incur any cash defi­ cency (and) in any public fund or account during a fiscal period, except as authorized under this section.

(2) The director of financial management may authorize a temporary cash deficiency in a public fund. Each authorization shall distinctly specify the fund, the maximum amount of cash deficiency which may be incurred, and the maximum time period during which the cash defi­ cency may continue. Each authorization shall expire at the end of each fiscal biennium unless renewed by the director of financial management. The director of financial management shall report each authorization and renewal to the legislative fiscal committees. The director of financial management shall provide a timely explanation in writing to the legislative fiscal committees.

(3) Any appointive officer or employee violating the provisions of this section shall be subject to summary removal.

(4) Nothing in this section permits the expenditure of moneys in excess of an applicable appropriation.

Sec. 9. Section 33, chapter 7, Laws of 1983 as last amended by section 85, chapter 57. Laws of 1985 and RCW 82.32.400 are each amended to read as follows:

The revenue accrual account is hereby created in the state treasury. At the close of each fiscal biennium, the state treasurer shall transfer the balance in the basic account of the state general fund, other than amounts reappropriated for the next fiscal biennium, to this account. Moneys in this account may only be spent after appropriation by statute for the purpose of decreasing the unfunded liability of a state retirement system (or, during the 1983-1985 fiscal biennium, for the purpose of discharging obligations which the legislature determines are correctly chargeable to a prior biennium). All earnings of investments of balances in the revenue accrual account shall be credited to the basic account of the general fund.

Sec. 10. Section 82.32.090, chapter 15, Laws of 1961 as last amended by section 23, chapter 3, Laws of 1983 2nd ex. sess. and RCW 82.32.090 are each amended to read as follows:

If payment of any tax due is not received by the department of revenue by the due date, there shall be assessed a penalty of five percent of the amount of the tax; and if the tax is not received within thirty days after the due date, there shall be assessed a total penalty of ten percent of the amount of the tax; and if the tax is not received within sixty days after the due date, there shall be assessed a total penalty of twenty percent of the amount of the tax. No penalty so added shall be less than two dollars.

If a warrant is issued by the department of revenue for the collection of taxes, increases, and penalties, there shall be added thereto a penalty of five percent of the amount of the tax, but not less than five dollars.

Notwithstanding the foregoing, the aggregate of penalties imposed under this chapter for failure to file a return, late payment of any tax, increase, or penalty, or issuance of a warrant shall not exceed twenty-five percent of the tax due, or seven dollars, whichever is greater.

Sec. 11. Section 1, chapter 138, Laws of 1984 as amended by section 2, chapter 112, Laws of 1986 and RCW 82.01.120 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) The director shall employ an economic and revenue forecast supervisor to supervise the preparation of all economic and revenue forecasts. As used in this section and RCW 82.01.125 and 82.01.130, "supervisor" means the economic and revenue forecast supervisor. Approval by an affirmative vote of at least five members of the economic and revenue forecast council is required for any decisions regarding employment of the supervisor. Employment of the supervisor shall terminate after each term of three years, unless the supervisor is reappointed by the director and approved by the economic and revenue forecast council for another three years. The supervisor shall employ staff sufficient to accomplish the purposes of this section.

(2) Four times each year the supervisor shall prepare, subject to the approval of the economic and revenue forecast council under RCW 82.01.130(2):

(a) An official state economic and revenue forecast;
(b) An unofficial state economic and revenue forecast based on optimistic economic and revenue projections; and
(c) An unofficial state economic and revenue forecast based on pessimistic economic and revenue projections.

(3) The supervisor shall submit forecasts prepared under this section, along with any unofficial forecasts provided under RCW 82.01.130(3), to the governor and the legislature on or before November 20th. February 20th in the even-numbered years, March 20th in the odd-numbered years, June 20th, and September 20th. All forecasts shall include both estimated receipts and estimated revenues in conformance with generally accepted accounting principles as provided by RCW 43.88.037.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 12. Section 43.88.040, chapter 8, Laws of 1965 and RCW 43.88.040 are each repealed.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 13. This act is necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health, and safety, the support of the state government and its existing public institutions, and shall take effect immediately.

Sec. 1. Section 11, chapter 137, Laws of 1981 as last amended by section 34, chapter 257, Laws of 1986 and RCW 9.94A.110 are each amended to read as follows:

Before imposing a sentence upon a defendant, the court shall conduct a sentencing hearing. The sentencing hearing shall be held within forty court days following conviction. Upon the motion of either party for good cause shown, or on its own motion, the court may extend the time period for conducting the sentencing hearing. The court shall order the department to complete a presentence report for the purpose of offender management before imposing a sentence upon a defendant who has been convicted of a felony sex offense. The department shall give priority to presentence investigations for sex offenders. The court shall consider the presentence reports, if any, including any victim impact statement and criminal history, and allow arguments from the prosecutor, the defense counsel, the offender, the victim, the survivor of the victim, or a representative of the victim or survivor, and an investigative law enforcement officer as to the sentence to be imposed. If the court is satisfied by a preponderance of the evidence that the defendant has a criminal history, the court shall specify the convictions it has found to exist. All of this information shall be part of the record. Copies of all presentence reports presented to the sentencing court and all written findings of facts and conclusions of law as to sentencing entered by the court shall be sent to the department by the clerk of the court at the conclusion of the sentencing and shall accompany the offender if the offender is committed to the custody of the department. Court clerks shall provide, without charge, certified copies of documents relating to criminal convictions requested by prosecuting attorneys.

Sec. 2. Section 12, chapter 137, Laws of 1981 as last amended by section 20, chapter 257, Laws of 1986 and by section 4, chapter 301, Laws of 1986 and RCW 9.94A.120 are each reenacted and amended to read as follows:

When a person is convicted of a felony, the court shall impose punishment as provided in this section.

(1) Except as authorized in subsections (2), (5), and (7) of this section, the court shall impose a sentence within the sentence range for the offense.
(2) The court may impose a sentence outside the standard sentence range for that offense if it finds, considering the purpose of this chapter, that there are substantial and compelling reasons justifying an exceptional sentence.

(3) Whenever a sentence outside the standard range is imposed, the court shall set forth the reasons for its decision in written findings of fact and conclusions of law. A sentence outside the standard range shall be a determinate sentence.

(4) An offender convicted of the crime of murder in the first degree shall be sentenced to a term of total confinement not less than twenty years. An offender convicted of the crime of assault in the first degree where the offender used force or means likely to result in death or intended to kill the victim shall be sentenced to a term of total confinement not less than five years. An offender convicted of the crime of rape in the first degree shall be sentenced to a term of total confinement not less than three years, and shall not be eligible for furlough, work release or other authorized leave of absence from the correctional facility during such minimum three year term except for the purpose of commitment to an inpatient treatment facility. The foregoing minimum terms of total confinement are mandatory and shall not be varied or modified as provided in subsection (2) of this section.

(5) In sentencing a first-time offender the court may waive the imposition of a sentence within the sentence range and impose a sentence which may include up to ninety days of confinement in a facility operated or utilized under contract by the county and a requirement that the offender refrain from committing new offenses. The sentence may also include up to two years of community supervision, which, in addition to crime-related prohibitions, may include requirements that the offender perform any one or more of the following:

(a) Devote time to a specific employment or occupation;
(b) Undergo available outpatient treatment for up to two years, or inpatient treatment not to exceed the standard range of confinement for that offense;
(c) Pursue a prescribed, secular course of study or vocational training;
(d) Remain within prescribed geographical boundaries and notify the court or the community corrections officer (CFO) prior to any change in the offender's address or employment;
(e) Report as directed to the court and a community corrections officer; or
(f) Pay a fine and/or accomplish some community service work.

(6) If a sentence range has not been established for the defendant's crime, the court shall impose a determinate sentence which may include not more than one year of confinement, community service work, a term of community supervision not to exceed one year, and/or a fine. The court may impose a sentence which provides more than one year of confinement if the court finds, considering the purpose of this chapter, that there are substantial and compelling reasons justifying an exceptional sentence.

(7) (a) When an offender is convicted of a sex offense other than a violation of RCW 9A.44-.040 or RCW 9A.44.050 and has no prior convictions for a sex offense or any other felony sexual offenses in this or any other state, the sentencing court, on its own motion or the motion of the state or the defendant, may order an examination to determine whether the defendant is amenable to treatment.

After receipt of the reports, the court shall then determine whether the offender and the community will benefit from use of this special sexual offender sentencing alternative. If the court determines that both the offender and the community will benefit from use of this provision, the court shall then impose a sentence within the sentence range and, if this sentence is less than six years of confinement, the court may suspend the execution of the sentence and place the offender on community supervision for up to two years. As a condition of the suspended sentence, the court may impose other sentence conditions including up to six months of confinement, not to exceed the sentence range of confinement for that offense, crime-related prohibitions, and requirements that the offender perform any one or more of the following:

(i) Devote time to a specific employment or occupation;
(ii) Undergo available outpatient sex offender treatment for up to two years, or inpatient sex offender treatment not to exceed the standard range of confinement for that offense. A community mental health center may not be used for such treatment unless it has an appropriate program designed for sex offender treatment;
(iii) Remain within prescribed geographical boundaries and notify the court or the community corrections officer (CFO) prior to any change in the offender's address or employment;
(iv) Report as directed to the court and a community corrections officer;
(v) Pay a fine, accomplish some community service work, or any combination thereof; or
(vi) Make recompense to the victim for the cost of any counseling required as a result of the offender's crime.

If the offender violates these sentence conditions the court may revoke the suspension and order execution of the sentence. All confinement time served during the period of community supervision shall be credited to the offender if the suspended sentence is revoked.

(b) When an offender (is convicted of) commits any felony sexual offense (and is sentenced) on or after July 1, 1987, and is sentenced to a term of confinement of more than one year but less than six years, the sentencing court may, on its own motion or on the motion of the offender or the state, request the department of corrections to evaluate whether the offender is...
amenable to treatment and the department may place the offender in a treatment program within a correctional facility operated by the department.

If the offender completes the treatment program before the expiration of his term of confinement, the department of corrections may request the court to convert the balance of confinement to community supervision and to place conditions on the offender including crime-related prohibitions and requirements that the offender perform any one or more of the following:

1. Devote time to a specific employment or occupation;
2. Remain within prescribed geographical boundaries and notify the court or the community corrections officer (c), prior to any change in the offender’s address or employment;
3. Report as directed to the court and a community corrections officer;

If the offender violates any of the terms of his community supervision, the court may order the offender to serve out the balance of his community supervision term in confinement in the custody of the department of corrections.

Nothing in (b) of this subsection shall confer eligibility for such programs for offenders convicted and sentenced for a sexual offense committed prior to July 1, 1987.

After June 30, 1993, (b) of this subsection shall cease to have effect.

If a court sentences a person convicted of a sex offense committed after July 1, 1986, to a term of confinement of more than one year, including a sentence under (b) of this subsection, the court may also order, in addition to the other terms of the sentence, that the offender, upon release from confinement, serve up to two years of community supervision. The conditions of supervision shall be limited to:

1. Crime-related provisions;
2. A requirement that the offender report to a community corrections officer at regular intervals; and
3. A requirement to remain within or without stated geographical boundaries.

The length and conditions of supervision shall be set by the court at the time of sentencing. However, within thirty days prior to release from confinement and throughout the period of supervision, the length and conditions of supervision may be modified by the sentencing court, upon motion of the department of corrections, the offender, or the prosecuting attorney. The period of supervision shall be tolled during any time the offender is in confinement for any reason. In no case may the period of supervision, in combination with the other terms of the offender’s sentence, exceed the statutory maximum term for the offender’s crime, as set forth in RCW 9A.20.020.

If the offender violates any condition of supervision, the sentencing court, after a hearing conducted in the same manner as provided for in RCW 9.94A.200, may order the offender to be confined for up to sixty days in the county jail at state expense from funds provided for this purpose to the department of corrections. Reimbursement rates for such purposes shall be established based on a formula determined by the office of financial management and reestablished each even-numbered year. An offender may be held in jail at state expense pending the hearing, and any time served while awaiting the hearing shall be credited against confinement imposed for a violation. Even after the period of supervision has expired, an offender may be confined for a violation occurring during the period of supervision. The court shall retain jurisdiction for the purpose of holding the violation hearing and imposing a sanction.

(8) If the court imposes a sentence requiring confinement of thirty days or less, the court may, in its discretion, specify that the sentence be served on consecutive or intermittent days. A sentence requiring more than thirty days of confinement shall be served on consecutive days. Local jail administrators may schedule court-ordered intermittent sentences as space permits.

(9) If a sentence imposed includes a fine or restitution, the sentence shall specify a reasonable manner and time in which the fine or restitution shall be paid. In any sentence under this chapter the court may also require the offender to make such monetary payments, on such terms as it deems appropriate under the circumstances, as are necessary (a) to pay court costs, including reimbursement of the state for costs of extradition if return to this state by extradition was required, (b) to make recoupment of the cost of defense attorney’s fees if counsel is provided at public expense, (c) to contribute to a county or interlocal drug fund, and (d) to make such other payments as provided by law. All monetary payments shall be ordered paid by no later than ten years after the date of (the) judgment (of conviction) and sentence. The offender’s compliance with payment of monetary obligations shall be supervised by the department. The rate of payment shall be determined by the court or, in the absence of a rate determined by the court, the rate shall be set by the department.

An offender’s default in the payment of restitution, fines, and other monetary obligations imposed under this chapter, or any installment thereof, may be collected by any means authorized by law for the enforcement of a judgment. Judgments for monetary obligations under this chapter are and may be made liens upon the property of the offender in the same manner and with like effect as judgments in civil actions.
(10) Except as provided under RCW 9.94A.140(1), a court may not impose a sentence providing for a term of confinement or community supervision which exceeds the statutory maximum for the crime as provided in chapter 9A.20 RCW.

(11) All offenders sentenced to terms involving community supervision, community service, community work, restitution, or fines, or court-imposed monetary obligations shall be under the supervision of the secretary, of the department of corrections or such person as the secretary may designate and shall follow implicitly the instructions of the secretary (including those directed to a community corrections officer, remaining within prescribed geographical boundaries, notifying the community corrections officer prior to any change in the offender's address or employment.

(12) The sentencing court shall give the offender credit for all confinement time served before the sentencing if that confinement was solely in regard to the offense for which the offender is being sentenced.

(13) A departure from the standards in RCW 9.94A.400(1) and (2) governing whether sentences are to be served consecutively or concurrently is an exceptional sentence subject to the limitations in subsections (2) and (3) of this section, and may be appealed by the defendant or the state as set forth in RCW 9.94A.210(2) through (6).

(14) The court shall order restitution whenever the offender is convicted of a felony that results in injury to any person or damage to or loss of property, whether the offender is sentenced to confinement or placed under community supervision, unless extraordinary circumstances exist that make restitution inappropriate in the court's judgment. The court shall set forth the extraordinary circumstances in the record if it does not order restitution.

Sec. 3. Section 15, chapter 137, Laws of 1981 as last amended by section 8, chapter 209, Laws of 1984 and RCW 9.94A.150 are each amended to read as follows:

No person serving a sentence imposed pursuant to this chapter shall leave the confines of the correctional facility or be released prior to the expiration of the sentence except as follows:

The earned early release time shall be for good behavior and good performance, as determined by the department. condition or requirement of the sentence, an offender may be required to submit to a search and seizure of the offender's person, residence, automobile, or other personal property. A community corrections officer may also arrest an offender for any crime committed in his or her presence. The facts and circumstances of the conduct of the offender shall be reported by the community corrections officer, with recommendations, to the court.

If the community corrections officer has reasonable cause to believe that an offender has committed a violent offense, an offense involving a deadly weapon, or any felony violation of the uniform controlled substances act, the community corrections officer may arrest and detain or cause the arrest and detention of the offender for up to five working days in order to investigate the facts and circumstances. The department shall compensate the local jurisdiction at the office of financial management's adjudicated rate, in accordance with RCW 70.48.440.

If a community corrections officer arrests or causes the arrest of an offender under this section, the offender shall be confined and detained in the county jail of the county in which the offender was taken into custody, and the sheriff of that county shall receive and keep in the county jail, where room is available, all prisoners delivered to the jail by the community corrections officer, and such offenders shall not be released from custody on bail or personal recognizance, except upon approval of the court, pursuant to a written order.

(b) If the court finds that the violation has occurred, it may order the offender to be confined for a period not to exceed sixty days for each violation, and may (i) convert a term of partial confinement to total confinement, (ii) convert community service obligation to total or partial confinement, or (iii) convert monetary obligations, except restitution and the crime victim penalty assessment, to community service hours at the rate of the state minimum wage for each hour of community service. Any time served in confinement awaiting a hearing on noncompliance shall be credited against any confinement order by the court; and

(c) If the court finds that the violation was not willful, the court may modify its previous order regarding payment of fines or other monetary payments and regarding community service obligations.

(3) Nothing in this section prohibits the filing of escape charges if appropriate.

Sec. 7. Section 9, chapter 115, Laws of 1983 as amended by section 21, chapter 209. Laws of 1984 and RCW 9.94A.380 are each amended to read as follows:

For sentences of nonviolent offenders for one year or less, the court shall consider and give priority to available alternatives to total confinement and shall state its reasons if they are not used.

These alternatives include the following sentence conditions that the court may order as substitutes for total confinement: (1) One day of partial confinement or eight hours of community service may be substituted for one day of total confinement; (2) the community service conversion is limited to two hundred forty hours or thirty days. The conversion of total confinement to partial confinement may be applied to all sentences of one year or less, including those for violent offenses. Community service hours must be completed within the period of community supervision or a time period specified by the court, which shall not exceed twenty-four months, pursuant to a schedule determined by the department.

Sec. 8. Section 22, chapter 209. Laws of 1984 and RCW 9.94A.383 are each amended to read as follows:

On all sentences of confinement for one year or less the court may impose up to one year of community supervision. (For confinement sentences, unless otherwise ordered by the court, the period of community supervision begins at the date of release from confinement. For non-confinement sentences, the period of community supervision begins at the date of entry of the judgment and sentence;) An offender shall be on community supervision as of the date of sentencing. However, during the time for which the offender is in total or partial confinement pursuant to the sentence or a violation of a sentence, the period of community supervision shall toll.

Sec. 9. Section 11, chapter 115. Laws of 1983 as last amended by section 28, chapter 257. Laws of 1986 and RCW 9.94A.400 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) (a) Except as provided in (b) of this subsection, whenever a person is to be sentenced for two or more current offenses, the sentence range for each current offense shall be determined by using all other current and prior convictions as if they were prior convictions for the purpose of the offender score: PROVIDED, That if the court enters a finding that some or all of the current offenses encompass the same criminal conduct then those current offenses shall be counted as one crime. Sentences imposed under this subsection shall be served concurrently. Consecutive sentences may only be imposed under the exceptional sentence provisions of RCW 9.94A.120 and 9.94A.390(2)(e) or any other provision of RCW 9.94A.390.

(b) Whenever a person is convicted of three or more serious violent offenses, as defined in RCW 9.94A.330, arising from separate and distinct criminal conduct, the sentence range for the offense with the highest seriousness level under RCW 9.94A.320 shall be determined using the offender's criminal history in the offender score and the sentence range for other serious violent offenses shall be determined by using an offender score of zero. The sentence range for any offenses that are not serious violent offenses shall be determined according to (a) of this subsection. All sentences imposed under (b) of this subsection shall be served consecutively to each other and concurrently with sentences imposed under (a) of this subsection.

(2) Whenever a person while under sentence of felony commits another felony and is sentenced to another term of imprisonment, the latter term shall not begin until expiration of all prior terms.

(3) Subject to subsections (1) and (2) of this section, whenever a person is sentenced for a felony that was committed while the person was not under sentence of a felony, the sentence shall run concurrently with any felony sentence which has been imposed by any court in this or another state or by a federal court subsequent to the commission of the crime being sentenced unless the court pronouncing the current sentence expressly orders that they be served consecutively.

(4) Whenever any person granted probation under RCW 9.95.210 or 9.92.060, or both, has the probationary sentence revoked and a prison sentence imposed, that sentence shall run consecutively to any sentence imposed pursuant to this chapter, unless the court pronouncing the subsequent sentence expressly orders that they be served concurrently.

(5) However, in the case of consecutive sentences, all periods of total confinement shall be served before any partial confinement, community service, community supervision, or any other requirement or conditions of any of the sentences. If two or more sentences that run consecutively include periods of community supervision, the aggregate of the community supervision period shall not exceed twenty-four months.

Sec. 10. Section 1, chapter 6, Laws of 1973 2nd ex. sess. and RCW 9.91.120 are each amended to read as follows:

Any person who resells food stamps manufactured under the food stamp program established pursuant to RCW 74.04.500, 74.04.505 and 74.04.510, or food purchased therewith, and any person who knowingly purchases such resold stamps or food, shall (1) if the face value of the stamps or food transferred is two hundred and fifty dollars or more, be guilty of a class C felony as defined in RCW 9A.20.021 and (2) if the face value of the stamps or food transferred is less than two hundred and fifty dollars, shall be guilty of a gross misdemeanor as defined in RCW 9A.20.021.

In no event shall the price charged the various state departments, commissions, institutions, boards, and officers exceed those established by the Forte Publishing Company’s Franklin Printing Catalogue for similar and comparable work. All bills for printing, ruling, binding, and other work done or for supplies furnished (by the state printing plant) shall be certified (and sworn to) by the public printer or private enterprise submitting such bills.

POINT OF INQUIRY

Ms. H. Sommers yielded to question by Mr. Lux.

Mr. Lux: Representative Sommers, is it possible that if an agency or the Legislature didn't get its work prepared in a timely manner, then they could use the excuse not to use the state facilities, but to go to private printers if they weren't following good practice in getting their material ready in time?

Ms. Sommers: This amendment would allow any state agency to go directly outside and, although I do not believe it is the mover's intent, I believe that it would also eliminate any competitive process. We don't have a competitive process now when we go to the State Printer, and by making this change, without imposing a competitive process, I am afraid that that is what this amendment does. So it would open the door and I urge rejection of the amendment.

A division was called.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4. A new section is added to chapter 90.48 RCW to read as follows:
Any person who purchases property who had no reason to know of the existence of the hazardous costs on the property is not liable for the costs of cleaning up the hazardous wastes."
POINT OF ORDER

Ms. Rust: Mr. Speaker, I wish that you would make a ruling on the scope and object of this amendment.

SPEAKER’S RULING

The Speaker: The Speaker has examined the original Senate Bill No. 5072 and the proposed amendment. I find that Senate Bill No. 5072 is a bill that gives the Department of Ecology the authority to administer all the provisions of the federal Resource Conservation and Recovery Statute. The amendment which is labelled 341 offered by Representative Day adds a new section that relieves from liability people who have purchased property and would have no idea of the liability. I find that the amendment offered is intended to expand not to perfect the bill. Your point is well taken and the amendment is outside the scope and object of the bill.

Mr. Todd moved adoption of the following amendment by Representatives Todd and Rust:

On page 1, after line 21, insert the following:

"NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. A new section is added to chapter 43.21A RCW to read as follows:

1) The legislature finds that there are a significant number of federal facilities operating within this state which may contribute to environmental contamination such that public health and the economy of this state could be adversely affected. The legislature further finds that state and federal environmental protection programs have not been consistently applied to or complied with by the federal government such that it is now necessary to undertake a special effort to identify those areas where environmental laws and standards should be applied and take actions to ensure that they are.

2) The department shall use all available means consistent with federal law to apply and enforce state and federal environmental laws and standards as to all federal facilities operating within this state.

3) The department shall prepare a written report and submit it to the standing committees on environment and energy of the legislature during January of each year which describes the major federal facilities operating within this state and whether they are in compliance with federal and state environmental laws.

4) For the purposes of this section, "environmental laws" means those laws deemed applicable by the department which shall include at least the National Environmental Policy Act (P.L. 91–190), the Clean Air Act (P.L. 91–604, 95–95), the Federal Water Pollution Control Act (P.L. 92–500, 95–217), the Resource Conservation and Recovery Act (P.L. 94–580), the Toxic Substances Control Act (P.L. 94–469), the Safe Water Drinking Act (P.L. 93–523), the Comprehensive Environmental response, Compensation, and Liability Act (P.L. 96–510), and the concomitant state laws."

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. Lewis: Mr. Speaker, I’d like a ruling on whether or not this amendment violates House Rule 12(E).

SPEAKER’S RULING

The Speaker: Representative Lewis, again having examined the same bill, I find that the bill still deals with authorizing the Department of Ecology to enforce the Resource Conservation and Recovery Act. Amendment 327, while part of it clearly would be in the scope and object of this bill, also includes additional powers for the Department of Ecology to include the National Environmental Policy Act, the Clean Air Act and the Federal Water Pollution Control Act. Again, the amendment does not perfect the bill and goes beyond the original scope and object of the bill. I find your point to be well taken. The amendment is outside the scope and object of the bill.

On motion of Mr. Appelwick, the rules were suspended, the second reading considered the third, and the bill was placed on final passage.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. Madsen: Mr. Speaker, I'd like to ask you to rule on the scope and object of the amendment.

SPEAKER'S RULING

The Speaker: Representative Madsen, the Speaker has examined the bill and the amendment that you have asked me to rule on. The bill is "An Act Relating to distribution of information filed with the utilities and transportation commission...."
The title of the act describes clearly, in this case, the intent of the bill; it limits what the Utilities and Transportation Commission can do with information given to them.
The amendment expands the original scope of the bill to limit utilities, not a governmental agency but utilities, in what they can do with that information. Therefore find the amendment is outside the scope an object of the bill; your point is well taken.

(1) Each applicant shall, at the time of applying for or renewing a certificate of registration, file with the department a surety bond issued by a surety insurer who meets the requirements of chapter 48.28 RCW in a form acceptable to the department running to the state of Washington if a general contractor, in the sum of six thousand dollars; if a specialty contractor, in the sum of four thousand dollars, conditioned that the applicant will pay all persons performing labor, including employee benefits, for the contractor, will pay all taxes and contributions due to the state of Washington, and will pay all persons furnishing labor or material or renting or supplying equipment to the contractor and will pay all amounts that may be adjudged against the contractor by reason of negligent or improper work or breach of contract in the conduct of the contracting business. A change in the name of a business or a change in the type of business entity shall not impair a bond for the purposes of this section so long as one of the original applicants for such bond maintains partial ownership in the business covered by the bond.

(2) Any contractor registered as of the effective date of this 1983 act who maintains such registration in accordance with this chapter shall be in compliance with this chapter until the next annual renewal of the contractor's certificate of registration. At that time, the contractor shall provide a bond, cash deposit, or other security deposit as required by this chapter and comply with all of the other provisions of this chapter before the department shall renew the contractor's certificate of registration.

(3) Any person, firm, or corporation having a claim against the contractor for any of the items referred to in this section may bring suit upon such bond in the superior court of the county in which the work is done or of any county in which jurisdiction of the contractor may be had. The surety issuing the bond shall be named as a party to any suit upon the bond and shall be liable for court costs in the same manner as any other party to the suit. Action upon such bond or deposit shall be commenced by filing the complaint with the clerk of the appropriate superior court within one year from the date of expiration of the certificate of registration in force at the time the claim was performed and benefits accrued, taxes and contributions owing the state of Washington became due, materials and equipment were furnished, or the claimed contract work was completed. Service of process in an action upon such bond shall be exclusively by service upon the department. Three copies of the complaint and a fee of ten dollars to cover the handling costs shall be served by registered or certified mail upon the department at the time suit is started and the department shall maintain a record available for public inspection, of all suits so commenced. Service is not complete until the department receives the ten-dollar fee and three copies of the complaint. Such service shall constitute service on the registrant and the surety for suit upon the bond and the department shall transmit the complaint or a copy thereof to the registrant at the address listed in his application and to the surety within forty-eight hours after it shall have been received.

(4) Except as otherwise provided in subsection (3) of this section, the surety upon the bond shall not be liable in an aggregate amount in excess of the amount named in the bond nor for any monetary penalty assessed pursuant to this chapter for an infraction. The surety upon the bond may, upon notice to the department and the parties, tender to the clerk of the court having jurisdiction of the action an amount equal to the claims thereunder or the amount of the bond less the amount of judgments. If any, previously satisfied therefrom and to the extent of such tender the surety upon the bond shall be exonerated but if the actions commenced and pending at any one time exceed the amount of the bond then unimpaired, claims shall be satisfied from the bond in the following order:

(a) Labor, including employee benefits;

(b) Claims for breach of contract by a party to the construction contract:
(c) Material and equipment;
(d) Taxes and contributions due the state of Washington;
(e) Any court costs, interest, and attorney's fees plaintiff may be entitled to recover.
(5) In the event that any final judgment shall impair the liability of the surety upon the bond so furnished that there shall not be in effect a bond undertaking in the full amount prescribed in this section, the department shall suspend the registration of such contractor until the bond liability in the required amount unimpaired by unsatisfied judgment claims shall have been furnished. If such bond becomes fully impaired, a new bond must be furnished at the increased rates prescribed by this section as now or hereafter amended.
(6) In lieu of the surety bond required by this section the contractor may file with the department a deposit consisting of cash or other security acceptable to the department.
(7) Any person having an unsatisfied final judgment against the registrant for any items referred to in this section may execute upon the security held by the department by serving a certified copy of the unsatisfied final judgment by registered or certified mail upon the department within one year of the date of entry of such judgment. Upon the receipt of service of such certified copy the department shall pay or order paid from the deposit, through the registry of the superior court which rendered judgment, towards the amount of the unsatisfied judgment. The priority of payment by the department shall be the order of receipt by the department, but the department shall have no liability for payment in excess of the amount of the deposit.
(8) The director may promulgate rules necessary for the proper administration of the security.

"NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. A new section is added to chapter 26.16 RCW to read as follows:

(1) Congress has permitted the states to authorize what would otherwise be exempt military pensions to be considered as part of community property settlements. Community property settlements, judgments, or decrees that became final on or after June 25, 1981, and before February 1, 1983, shall, upon the filing of a petition for modification of decree of dissolution to reconsider division of military retirement pay, be reconsidered by the court and may be modified to include a division of military retirement compensation payable on or after February 1, 1983, in a manner consistent with federal law and the law of this state as it existed before June 26, 1981, and as it has existed since February 1, 1983.

(2) Modification of community property settlements, judgments, or decrees under this section may be granted whether the property settlement, judgment, or decree expressly reserved the military retirement pay issue for further determination, omitted any reference to military retirement pay, or assumed in any manner, implicitly or otherwise, that military retirement pay, divisible as community property before June 25, 1981, and on or after February 1, 1983, was not, as of the date the property settlement, judgment, or decree became final, divisible community property. For purposes of a modification of a community property settlement, judgment, or decree under this subsection, military retirement pay may be included in the community property division.

(3) Any proceeding brought pursuant to this section shall be brought before July 1, 1988."

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. Vekich: Mr. Speaker, I believe the amendment is beyond the scope and object of the bill.

SPEAKER'S RULING

The Speaker: Representative Vekich, the Speaker has examined Substitute Senate Bill No. 5212 and the amendment on which you've asked me to rule on scope and object. The original bill allows the liquor control board to issue a temporary retail or wholesale license to a transferee to continue the operation of the premises during the period a transfer application is pending -- a fairly narrow intent of this bill, a fairly narrow problem we're trying to fix. The amendment expands the license activities of those licensees to include food and nontoxic business. The Speaker finds that your point is well taken, that the amendment is outside the scope and object of the original bill.

The Clerk read the following amendment by Representatives Schoon and Vekich:

On page 6, after line 6 insert the following:

'NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. A new section is added to chapter 66.28 RCW to read as follows:

Notwithstanding RCW 66.28.010, persons licensed as wine wholesalers under RCW 66.24-.200 and persons licensed as beer wholesalers under RCW 66.24.250 may sell at wholesale nonliquor food products on thirty-day credit terms to persons licensed as retailers under this title, but complete and separate accounting records shall be maintained on all sales of nonliquor food products to ensure that such persons are in compliance with RCW 66.28.0293.

For the purposes of this section, 'nonliquor food products' shall include bottled water, carbonated beverages and all other food products for human consumption as defined in RCW 82.08.0293.

Sec. 3. Section 1, chapter 182, Laws of 1986 and RCW 82.08.0293 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) The tax levied by RCW 82.08.020 shall not apply to sales of food products for human consumption.

'Food products' include cereals and cereal products, oleomargarine, meat and meat products including livestock sold for personal consumption, fish and fish products, eggs and egg products, vegetables and vegetable products, fruit and fruit products, spices and salt, sugar and sugar products, coffee and coffee substitutes, tea, cocoa and cocoa products.

'Food products' include milk and milk products, milk shakes, malted milks, and any other similar type beverages which are composed at least in part of milk or a milk product and which require the use of milk or a milk product in their preparation.

'Food products' include all fruit juices, vegetable juices, and other beverages except bottled water, spirituous, malt or vinous liquors or carbonated beverages, whether liquid or frozen. For the purposes of section 13 of this 1987 act, 'food products' includes bottled water and carbonated beverages.

'Food products' do not include medicines and preparations in liquid, powdered, granular, tablet, capsule, lozenge, and pill form sold as dietary supplements or adjuncts. The exemption of 'food products' provided for in this subsection shall not apply: (a) When the food products are furnished, prepared, or served for consumption at tables, chairs, or counters or from trays, glasses, dishes, or other tableware whether provided by the retailer or by a person with whom the retailer contracts to furnish, prepare, or serve food products to others, except for food products furnished as meals under a state administered nutrition program for the aged as provided for in the Older Americans Act (P.L. 95-478 Title III) and RCW 74.38.040(6) or (b) which are provided to senior citizens, disabled persons, or low-income persons by a not-for-profit organization organized under chapter 24.03 or 24.12 RCW, or (c) when the food products are ordinarily sold for immediate consumption on or near a location at which parking facilities are provided primarily for the use of patrons in consuming the products purchased at the location, even though such products are sold on a 'takeout' or 'to go' order and are actually packaged or wrapped and taken from the premises of the retailer, or (d) when the food products are sold for consumption within a place, the entrance to which is subject to an admission charge, except for national and state parks and monuments.

(2) Subsection (1) of this section notwithstanding, the retail sale of food products is subject to sales tax under RCW 82.08.020 if the food products are sold through a vending machine, and in this case the selling price for purposes of RCW 82.08.020 is fifty-seven percent of the gross receipts. This subsection does not apply to hot prepared food products, other than food products which are heated after they have been dispensed from the vending machine.

For tax collected under this subsection, the requirements that the tax be collected from the buyer and that the amount of tax be stated as a separate item are waived."

POINT OF ORDER

Ms. Niemi: Mr. Speaker, I request a ruling on scope and object.

SPEAKER'S RULING

The Speaker: The Speaker has examined Engrossed Substitute Senate Bill No. 5401. The bill does several things, but I have turned straight to Section 13 in which certain medical procedures cannot be authorized under a power of attorney, including therapy and other procedures given for the purposes of inducing convulsions, surgeries solely for the purposes of psychosurgery and sterilization. This amendment simply adds the question of abortion to that list of procedures which cannot be authorized by the power of attorney. Representative Niemi, I find that your point is not well taken and that this is within the scope and object of this bill and, in particular, this section of the bill.

Strike everything after line 4 of the amendment and insert the following:

"Sec. 1. Section 2, chapter 112, Laws of 1979 and RCW 70.122.010 are each amended to read as follows:

The legislature finds that adult persons have the fundamental right to control the decisions relating to the rendering of their own (medical) health care, including the decision to have life-sustaining procedures withheld or withdrawn in instances of a terminal condition.

The legislature further finds that modern medical technology has made possible the artificial prolongation of human life beyond natural limits.

The legislature further finds that, in the interest of protecting individual autonomy, such prolongation of life for persons with a terminal condition may cause loss of patient dignity, and unnecessary pain and suffering, while providing nothing medically necessary or beneficial to the patient."
The legislature further finds that there exists considerable uncertainty in the medical and legal professions as to the legality of terminating the use or application of life-sustaining procedures where the patient has voluntarily and in sound mind evidenced a desire that such procedures be withheld or withdrawn.

In recognition of the dignity and privacy which patients have a right to expect, the legislature hereby declares that the laws of the state of Washington shall recognize the right of an adult person to make a written directive, commonly known as a living will, instructing such person's physician to withhold or withdraw life-sustaining procedures in the event of a terminal condition.

The legislature further recognizes that a person in a terminal condition may not have executed such a written directive and that therefore there is a need to establish a means of authorizing the withholding or withdrawing of life-sustaining procedures in the absence of a written directive.

The legislature further recognizes that in the absence of controversy, the court is normally not the proper forum in which to make decisions regarding life-sustaining procedures.

To avoid needless suffering and loss of dignity and to avoid treatment that is not desired by a person in a terminal condition, the legislature declares this chapter to be in the interest of the public health and welfare.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. A new section is added to chapter 70.122 RCW to read as follows:

This chapter shall not be construed as providing the exclusive means by which individuals, their legal representatives or next of kin as identified in section 5(2) of this act, may make decisions regarding their health treatment nor limiting the means provided by existing case law.

(8) "Adult person" means a person (who has attained) who has attained the age of majority as defined in RCW 26.28.010 and 26.28.015.

Sec. 4. Section 4, chapter 112, Laws of 1979 and RCW 70.122.030 are each amended to read as follows:

The directive shall be signed by the declarer in the presence of two witnesses not related to the declarer by blood or marriage and who would not be entitled to any portion of the estate of the declarer upon declarer's decease under any will of the declarer or codicil thereto then existing or, at the time of the directive, by operation of law then existing. (d) I understand the full import of this directive and I am emotionally and mentally competent to make this directive.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 5. A new section is added to chapter 70.122 RCW to read as follows:

(1) Life-sustaining procedures as defined in RCW 70.122.020 that would otherwise be applied to a qualified patient may be withheld or withdrawn according to subsections (2), (3), and (4) of this section if:

(a) The qualified patient is incapable of expressing his or her wishes as to the withholding or withdrawal of life-sustaining procedures;

(b) It is determined by the attending physician that the qualified patient has a terminal condition as defined in RCW 70.122.020(7); and

(c) There is certification in writing of such qualified patient's terminal condition by at least one additional physician with relevant qualifications, consulting specifically to assess the terminal condition after having personally examined the patient.

(2) If a qualified patient's condition has been determined to meet the conditions set forth in subsection (1) of this section and no directive has been executed according to RCW 70.122.030, life-sustaining procedures may be withheld or withdrawn upon the direction and under the supervision of the attending physician after the physician has obtained authorization from a member of one of the following classes of persons in the following order of priority:

(c) The qualified patient's spouse;

(e) Parents of the qualified patient;

(f) Adult brother(s) and sister(s) of the qualified patient;

If the physician seeking authority to withhold or withdraw life-sustaining procedures from a qualified patient makes reasonable efforts to locate and secure authorization from a competent person in the first or succeeding class and finds no such person available, authorization may be given by any person in the next class in the order of descending priority. However, no person under this section shall have the power to authorize the withholding or withdrawal of life-sustaining procedures from a qualified patient. (1) If a person of higher priority under this section has refused to give such authorization, or (ii) if there are two or more individuals in the same class and the decision is not unanimous among all available members of that class.
(3) Before any person described in subsection (2) of this section authorizes the physician to withhold or withdraw life-sustaining procedures from a qualified patient, the or she must first determine in good faith that the qualified patient, if competent, would choose to forego life-sustaining procedures. If such a determination cannot be made, the decision to authorize the physician to withhold or withdraw life-sustaining procedures may be made only after determining that foregoing life-sustaining procedures are in the qualified patient’s best interests.

(4) If none of the persons described in subsection (2) of this section are available, then life-sustaining procedures may be withheld or withdrawn from a qualified patient upon the direction and under the supervision of the attending physician only after the attending physician determines in good faith that the conditions set forth in subsections (1) and (3) of this section have been met.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 6. If any terminally ill hospitalized patient indicates by words, actions or in writing that he or she wishes to die at home in dignity with his or her family and the family concurs, the hospital must discharge him or her immediately. No ((licensed)) health personnel, acting under the direction of a physician, who participates in good faith in the withholding or withdrawal of life-sustaining procedures in accordance with the provisions of this chapter shall be subject to any civil liability unless otherwise negligent. No physician, or health facility or its agents, or ((licensed)) health personnel acting under the direction of a physician, who participates in good faith in the withholding or withdrawal of life-sustaining procedures in accordance with the requirements of this chapter and participates in a decision to withhold or withdraw life-sustaining procedures from a qualified patient shall be subject to criminal or civil liability.

Sec. 8. Section 7, chapter 112, Laws of 1979 and RCW 70.122.060 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) Prior to ((effectuating a)) the withholding or withdrawal of life-sustaining procedures from a qualified patient pursuant to the directive, the attending physician shall make a reasonable effort to determine that the directive complies with RCW 70.122.030 and, if the patient is mentally competent, that the directive and all steps proposed by the attending physician to be undertaken are currently in accord with the desires of the qualified patient.

(2) The directive shall be conclusively presumed, unless revoked, to be the directions of the patient regarding the withholding or withdrawal of life-sustaining procedures. No physician, and no ((licensed)) health personnel acting in good faith under the direction of a physician, shall be criminally or civilly liable for failing to effectuate the directive of the qualified patient pursuant to this subsection. ((If the physician refuses to effectuate the directive, such physician shall make a good faith effort to transfer the qualified patient to another physician who will effectuate the directive of the qualified patient)) Any person or health facility that chooses not to comply with the directive shall immediately take all reasonable steps to transfer care of the qualified patient to another physician, health care provider, or health facility. Any person whose conscience does not allow them to participate in the withholding or withdrawal of life-sustaining procedures shall be unconditionally protected for nonnegligent acts against any disciplinary action including, but not limited to, licensing, hiring, promotion, health facility privileges, and transfers.

Sec. 9. Section 10, chapter 112, Laws of 1979 and RCW 70.122.080 are each amended to read as follows:

The act of withholding or withdrawing life-sustaining procedures from a qualified patient, when done pursuant to a directive described in RCW 70.122.030 ((and which causes the death of the declarer)) or the procedures authorized in this chapter, shall not be construed to be an intervening force or to affect the chain of proximate cause between the conduct of ((any person)) anyone that placed the declarer in a terminal condition and the death of the declarer.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 10. A new section is added to chapter 70.122 RCW to read as follows:

The principal's physicians, the employees of such physicians, or the owners, administrators, or employees of the health facility in which the principal resides, may not act as attorneys-in-fact for the principal unless related to the principal by marriage or family ties.

(2) The authorization in subsection (1) of this section to consent to the withholding or withdrawal of life-sustaining procedures may be exercised only following the unanimous concurrence of the principal's attending physician and at least one other physician, after having personally examined the principal, that the principal has a terminal condition as defined in RCW 70.122.020(7).

JOINT SESSION

The Sergeants at Arms of the Senate and the House announced the arrival of the Senate at the bar of the House.
The Speaker instructed the Sergeants at Arms to escort the President of the Senate, John A. Cherberg to the rostrum.
The Speaker instructed the Sergeants at Arms to escort the Senators to seats on the floor of the House.
The Speaker: It is a pleasure for me to give you the gavel to preside over this joint session, Governor Cherberg. In doing so, I wish to remind all of those present today that the purpose for this occasion originated in the House of Representatives. We are proud that one of our members, Representative John L. O'Brien, originated the idea for the Washington State Medal of Merit and was prime sponsor of the bill establishing this recognition. For that reason all of us in the House feel that it is particularly appropriate that we should be hosts for this initial presentation ceremony. We welcome you, Governor Cherberg, our colleagues from the Senate, state elected officials, members of the Supreme Court, medal recipients and all other guests who are with us today.

The Speaker presented the gavel to President Cherberg.

President Cherberg: The purpose of the Joint Session is to present the first-ever Washington State Medal of Merit to the four most deserving Washington State citizens who have been distinguished by exceptionally meritorious conduct in performing outstanding services to the people and State of Washington.

The President of the Senate appointed Representatives Doty and Wineberry and Senators Wojahn and Newhouse to escort Governor Booth Gardner from the State Reception Room to a seat on the rostrum.

The President of the Senate appointed Representatives Wang and Nealey and Senators Hayner and Warnke to escort Justice James Dolliver from the State Reception Room to a seat on the rostrum.

The President of the Senate introduced Governor Booth Gardner.

Governor Gardner: It is my pleasure to present the Merit Award today to Orville A. Vogel. For almost fifty years Mr. Vogel has been Washington's leading agricultural commodity expert and our leading agricultural commodity has been soft white wheat. For fifty years it has set economic stability in many regions of the state and, in more personal terms, a stable livelihood for countless Washington farmers. One person—one person did more to develop this crop and was a major contributor to our economy than any other single individual—Dr. Orville Vogel. Professor, wheat breeder, research scientist, equipment inventor, through countless scientific and humanitarian endeavors, he has had a huge impact on the quality of life in our state and around the world. Among his many successful projects, he led the U.S. Department of Agriculture in Washington State University research teams to develop the first commercially successful semi-dwarf wheat variety in Washington State and in North America. This breakthrough has boosted Pacific Northwest wheat yield by twenty-five percent, breaking all world wheat yields. His pioneering work made a major contribution to the Green Revolution for which Dr. Norman Borlaug received the Nobel Peace Prize in 1970.

In this case, Dr. Vogel's contributions went beyond wheat breeding. He is also a noted inventor. His special research plot planters and harvesters have automated the cultural practices of plant breeding. His work continues even in retirement. In 1980, Dr. Vogel launched the Orville A. Vogel Wheat Research Fund and has helped to raise more than $500,000 for research to expand crop yields. It has not gone without notice.

In 1977 he received the National Medal of Science from President Ford and in 1977 he received from his alma mater, Washington State University, the Distinguished Alumnus Award. It is appropriate today to honor this man with our state's highest award. Dr. Vogel has done so much for the State of Washington and so much to feed the world that anything that we can give him is, indeed, very small thanks for a job well done. May we have a round of applause for Dr. Vogel.

Governor Gardner presented the Medal of Merit to Dr. Orville A. Vogel.

Dr. Vogel: Mr. Governor, members of the legislature, honored guests, ladies and gentlemen: It is indeed a humbling experience to be a representative of a team effort of the United States Department of Agriculture and Washington State University to grow and develop wheat that is more nearly produced to take the applicability of a climate and soil. This honor has been the result of something we discovered and were cognizant of thirty years ago as a result of twenty-five years of experience and work before this time. This would not have been possible if it had not been for this body, the State Legislature, that provided WSU with the constant upgrading of facilities, technical expertise and a willingness to let us, the team members, experiment through trial and error to come up with the kind of wheat that now represents in practical production nearly as high as our climate and soil will permit.

So much for the past; my concern is for the future. With the reduction of federal support for wheat variety development, it is imperative that Washington, through its representatives, through its growers, through its research staff, through its administration, see to it that there is an ever-continuing research supporting the new development of new varieties to meet the monstrously increased numbers of hazards. These are soil micro biological; they are weather hazards and above all, EPA or people hazards. A wheat grower now, as compared to one fifty years ago, has so many restrictions and so many hazards and such a low price that if this state is going to be profitably producing wheat, it will be the result of new research or technically oriented research in the future and because I believe so firmly in that, my wife and I, as has been pointed out, started an endowment. The endowment presently has a market value of $615,000. It has deferred gifts such as trusts and bonds worth several million more, so maybe twenty years from now the Vogel Wheat Research Fund will be producing $100,000 or more annually for research. This sounds big, but actually, it is a drop in the bucket compared to the kind of research and teaching that is necessary to maintain our level and our leadership in the development of agricultural products. Wheat is only one. Thank you.

The President of the Senate introduced Joseph E. King, Speaker of the House of Representatives.
The Speaker: It is with a great deal of honor that I would like to introduce to you today a native of Washington—Wapato, Washington—Dr. Lester Sauvage, who has so much improved the quality of life in the State of Washington. In 1961, Dr. Sauvage pioneered successfully the coronary bypass surgery, now the most frequently performed heart surgery in the world. A graduate of St. Louis University School of Medicine, Dr. Sauvage entered private practice in Seattle in 1959. He founded the Bob Hope International Heart Research Institute in '61 and has served as the director since that time. Through his work at the Institute, Dr. Sauvage has been instrumental in sharing his micro biological procedure and research with surgeons throughout the world. To date, surgeons from fourteen countries have completed scholarships at the Institute. Dr. Sauvage and the Institute have been credited with advancing cardio-vascular surgery and patient care, advancing the development of artificial heart valves and developing an improved line of artificial arteries. I think we might have a legislator or Senator in the back row that has benefited from some of Dr. Sauvage's techniques. While his interest in surgical research has been a strong motivating force in his life, Dr. Sauvage is also an active well-known cardio-vascular surgeon. His surgical caseload numbers almost 300 people a year.

As is often the case with people with Type A personalities, Dr. Sauvage sharing and time commitments carry over to an extensive community involvement. He is a past Jefferson Award winner; has received awards from the National Conference of Christians and Jews, the Wright Foundation and the Seattle Rotary Club. It is with a great deal of privilege that we honor you today with the Washington Medal of Merit.

The Speaker presented the Medal of Merit to Dr. Sauvage.

Dr. Sauvage: Speaker King, Governor Gardner, Lieutenant Governor Cherberg, Senators and Representatives, honored guests: I think I'm the only one here who wonders the reason why he is here. I know why the other people are here and to be in such company really astounds me. I wasn't going to question, however, because I relish the opportunity to be here. I mean, who wouldn't? I think it might be of some Interest to you wonderful people out here for giving your time and effort to run this state, and most of you do it with relatively little thanks— you can ask the Governor—if it weren't for you folks, nothing would happen. The reason I am here is because of a lot of people. I get the credit for a lot of things that might pass as judge.

As I look back over the years I can remember when we would have been out of business if it hadn't been for this gentleman who is right behind me here, Senator Magnuson. We couldn't get money for research. Senator Magnuson was the one who got money so that our work could continue.

It has gotten today, from the standpoint of The National Institution of Health, that it is very difficult to get money and we've gone more and more toward asking people as opposed to government, but in the early days, there is no question, I would have never been here with you today if it hadn't been for Senator Magnuson. I wish to publicly again thank you, Senator Magnuson.

Also, Dorothy Bullitt has been a strong supporter of our work. I would like to say for just a moment in terms of—people ask me, "Where does Mr. Hope enter into the work that you are connected with?" Mr. Hope is an amazing gentleman. All I can say is: What a man. He has taken a position of leadership with respect to our work and is putting his money behind it; he's putting his prestige behind it and this will become increasingly apparent in the next year. What are the objectives of the Hope Institute? There are two. They are very simple. To help, along with others. The University of Washington is a wonderful example of where marvelous work is going on—Russell Ross and others at the University of Washington.

We have our role to play, too. It's to add to that sum total of human knowledge that's going to help people avoid becoming patients. We're talking about a deadly epidemic. Half of us in this room are going to die of heart and blood vessel disease. That equals that due to all other causes of death put together. We're not talking about something that happens to somebody else out there, we're talking about something that will take half of us in this room. Strokes that kill, you know, late, but they cripple long before they call us in death. Heart attacks account for about a million deaths per year. Aneurysms, difficulty with extremities. We can make a difference. I do believe that by the year 2000, major advances can be made that are going to drop this terrible toll.

The second object of the Hope Heart Institute is to help add to that knowledge that is going to decrease the percentage of people who must have one operation, who have to have another—and another and another. It has become a way of life for a lot of people to have to pay that annual visit to the operating room. At least twenty percent of cardio-vascular surgery being done today is reoperative surgery and it's getting larger all the time. What's the future? The future is in education and if we're going to make a major difference in terms of the instance of people getting heart and blood vessel disease, it's going to have to start in childhood, in instructing children. Take smoking, for example. In our age group there aren't a whole lot of people who are smoking, but you go to the high schools and it's very, very high. The whole cigarette industry is focusing on the high school students. We need education, and I'm sure that with continued research that this battle is going to be won by the year 2000 in terms of heart and blood vessel disease. People think I'm a bit peculiar and they're right. I ask my patients: "What do you want to live longer for?" And I ask each of you that. Why do you want to live longer? I ask myself this and I think it's a pertinent question for all of us in our materialistic society to ask ourselves. I think this is part of the heart too. If we're talking about having people live longer instead of having them die with a nice heart attack when they are age 70, we need to start thinking. If we are going to remove these premature causes of death, either by removing heart disease and removing cancer and if you stop and think of it for a moment, if we got rid of all heart and blood vessel disease, people would live on an average ten years longer. That's all. If you got rid of all cancer, people would live on an average four years longer. You see? We are still going to come to that natural termination. It is a high time that in most other things, we begin to think in terms of how we are going to speak to the inspirational aspects of life that enable people to look down that hallway toward the transition to eternity—I'm speaking from a philosophical standpoint that really embraces the five great religions of mankind because there is more that unites us than separates us—to help people as St. Francis of Assisi said, "Lord, help me to become an instrument of Thine ministry." I think that as we help people live longer, it is my firm conviction that we cannot help people find happiness with advancing years without a sense of generic spirituality. I think in our materialistic society that we need to give importance to that.

I, again, wish to thank you for having honored me in a way that is a high point of my life. Thank you.

The President of the Senate introduced Justice James Dolliver.

Justice Dolliver: There is a charming story told that in the 19th Century a visitor to London inquired about the great architect Wren and looked around and said, "Where are the monuments to Christopher Wren in your city?" And the person responded by looking at him and said, "If you would seek his monument, look around you." Indeed, if one would seek the monuments to Dorothy Bullitt, one would look around the history of the State of Washington nearly since its beginning, because she was born in the family home on Queen Anne Hill in the year 1892 and her career has nearly spanned the statehood of our state. If one looks at the cultural, to the business, to the civic history of the State of Washington, one must indeed see the monument to Dorothy Bullitt.

In 1932 she took over the family's business interests and in 1947 she, with some associates, founded the enterprise which is best known in our community as KING Broadcasting. Since that day, KING has purchased interests all over the state. She has a number of other business interests as well. From all this she has received a substantial number of honors. KING Broadcasting has received the George Foster Peabody Award for Youth and Children, the Thomas A. Edison Award for stations that best serve young people.

Outside of her business interests, she has been an extraordinarily active person in the community. For many years she served on the Board of Regents of the University of Washington and in 1983 she received the University of Washington Recognition Award. She has had a number of honorary degrees and awards from a variety of groups in our community. She was named Seattle's Woman of Achievement by the Seattle Business and Professional Women's Club. She was named Seattle's First Citizen by the Seattle Real Estate Board in 1959 and was named the Pioneer Woman Broadcaster by the state chapter of the American Women in Radio and TV.

Numerous charities which she has endowed throughout the state have made this state the kind of good state it is in which to live. I mention one in particular. Not too many years ago she endowed a Chair in History at the University of Washington, which has been held by such distinguished persons as Professor Commager and Professor Freidel. It is my pleasure today to introduce to you, to receive on behalf of her grandmother, this Award of Merit, her granddaughter and namesake, Dorothy Bullitt.

Dorothy Bullitt: I suspect you all thought I got a facelift. Thank you all. Thank you, Governor and Justice Dolliver. My grandmother regrets being unable to attend today--sort of, because she is relieved she doesn't have to do this sort of thing anymore. She asked me to thank you all and to let you know she appreciates the recognition that this award implies.

The last time I represented my grandmother at an award ceremony was in 1969 when she was awarded the Citizen of the Year Award by the Seattle Board of Realtors. I was four at the time and I crawled under the table. I promise I won't do that today. The four people who are being honored here today have each made a large and valuable contribution to the citizens of the state. Each have led a very different kind of life. My grandmother's life has spanned most of the state's history and her efforts on behalf of the citizens extend back to the early part of this century. An example of her civic contributions in the years before her interest in broadcasting, where most of you are familiar with her achievements, was in the 1930s when she served as the Chairman of the State Relief Commission. Senator Magnuson and I were talking about this beforehand. By coincidence. That commission was set up during the depression to provide federal funds to projects intended to provide work for the unemployed. The commission's responsibility was to determine which projects were appropriate to fund and which were not. In her capacity as Chairman of that commission she signed many documents, one of which authorized something called an Irrigation Project in eastern Washington. That turned out to be the Grand Coulee Dam.

We're not in a depression anymore and we don't need any more dams on the Columbia River, we all know that, but those issues have been replaced by new ones and the communities' needs are ongoing and they are never ending. My grandmother recognized that and she took responsibility seriously as a citizen to help address the communities' needs. By doing so she created a life that is worth emulating and I'm proud to be her granddaughter and I'm proud to share her name and I'm proud to accept this award on her behalf. Thank you.

President Cherberg: I am indeed honored and proud to have the privilege of introducing our good friend, "Maggie." Many of us individuals have served in the Legislature, some going on for laudable careers in public service, but Senator Warren G. Magnuson is truly in a class by himself. His forty-eight years of public service have yet to be equaled. His forty-four years in the Congress is a record only a half-dozen in the history of our nation have achieved. His twenty-five years as Chairman of a major committee in the United States Senate has a record no other member has equaled. A number of laws and programs now in the United States Code with his name, his imprint, is another unequaled record. Behind all those records, there is even more. There is a quality of public service that may never be equaled: What he did to help protect the environment; what he did to help protect consumers in the marketplace; what he did to promote economic development; what he did to reopen trade and commerce with the People’s Republic of China; what he did to bring water to over a million acres of arid land in eastern Washington; what he did to foster educational broadcasting; what he did to preserve television channels for public television; what he did to open college doors with student loans; what he did to help others find the cures to dread diseases; what he did to help others push out the frontiers of basic scientific discovery for what we know it today. That list could go on and on. There are two common threads, protecting the national heritage we all should enjoy while we preserve it for those to come, and compassion for those among us who may need a helping hand. People throughout the world live longer, live better because of the things that Senator Magnuson did during his years of public service. And billions of those people will never know of this champion from the State of Washington and what he did for them. We, in Washington State, have been especially blessed to have had Senator Magnuson serve as long and so well for us. Many of us are even more blessed to have known him as a friend, a true friend for all seasons. The one, the only, "Maggie."

Senator Magnuson: Governor Gardner, distinguished guests, ladies and gentlemen: Thank you, John, for that generous introduction. I sorely wish my mother and father were alive to witness this. My father would have enjoyed it; my mother wouldn't have believed it. It's so true. Dr. (Sauvage). I thank you for your kind remarks, too.

I am unaccustomed to speaking to legislators lately, but this award, of course, has several meanings for me. Fifty-four years ago I sat in this body in an outside seat in the second row. A lot of water has gone over the dam since then. It was the beginning of a long career for me, a career which spanned fifty years and all but two of those years have been as a legislator. I cherish those years and I'm glad for this honor here today. I deeply appreciate it.

In two years this state will celebrate its 100th Anniversary. Governor, I suspect you are making preparations for it now. It's inconceivable to me that I have served in public office one-half of those hundred years—fifty long years and all but two of them in a legislative body. I can understand and I know well the trials and tribulations that legislators go through. That was an historic session in '54 when I served down here. Times were bad all over. This state had a thirty-nine percent unemployment rate. That was just common. There were a lot of marches on Olympia, but they were hunger marches—people actually hungry, coming to the legislature for help. We met that challenge like you folks are meeting the challenge here today. We had a sixty-day session in those days and we tried to run a lot of legislation to work out the problems of the times. We stopped the clock and went on, but the Supreme Court, I guess, caught us at that and we can't do that anymore. It's great pride that I have for this body.

We established—Mrs. Bullitt was instrumental in this—the first WPA project in the whole United States, and we established an old-age pension system and that was the beginning of what is now Social Security. I had the advantage that I introduced the Old Age Pension bill, it's a hard thing to believe, but it's true. In those days there were county poor houses. How many remember county poor houses? The popular song of the day was, "Over the Hill to the Poor House." Well, we abolished the poor houses and made the start of Social Security. I remember Franklin D. Roosevelt once introducing me after I had gone to Congress. He said, "Here's the young man who started the WPA Projects in the United States." It wasn't quite true. And so we move along. I started a career from that second row seat in Washington that lasted half a century.

I think I can speak to you people as friends and colleagues. I sometimes wonder if you think like I thought on many occasions as a legislator. "Is it all worthwhile? Are there any rewards for being a legislator?" You're sort of lost in the shuffle sometimes. Well, there is a great reward. There's a great reward in the satisfaction that you are contributing to the welfare and the community, the state and the nation. You sometimes wonder what's happening now. We had to make some tough decisions in those days and you are asked to make them now. All legislators are important. We don't have hunger marches anymore, but you do have a lot of people who are hungry. You've had some unemployment marches; there are lot of people who are still unemployed. I know you have goals and aims. It's great to be an American as I look at this body. It's great to be a citizen of this country. It's greater to be a resident of the State of Washington and be so honored as I am today. God speed your endeavors, and I know that you have the satisfaction of knowing deep down that you are making a great contribution to the welfare of this state and this nation. I thank you for this award from the bottom of my heart.

Thanks.

Revising provision relating to ferry employees' compensation.

The bill was read the second time. On motion of Mr. Appelwick, the rules were suspended, the second reading considered the third, and the bill was placed on final passage.

POINT OF INQUIRY

Mr. Walk yielded to question by Ms. Schmidt.

Ms. Schmidt: In simple terms, does this language mean that ferry employees will pay for the excess cost of their benefit package out of salaries only once?

Mr. Walk: Yes. If through collective bargaining, ferry employees have given up available salary increases in the amount of the excess cost of their benefits, compared to benefits for other state employees, the foregone salary increase will continue to pay for that excess cost, with no further impact on salaries. If on the other hand, the excess cost of ferry employee benefits increases in the future, the increase in the differential will be deducted from future salary increases.

Ms. Schmidt: Will benefit levels and salary adjustments be calculated for individual employees or by a collective bargaining unit?

Mr. Walk: By collective bargaining unit. The benefit package and the impact on salary base will be consistent within each collective bargaining unit.

Ms. Schmidt: Doesn't this bill just clarify the legislative intent of current law to treat ferry employee compensation in a manner consistent with other state employees?

Mr. Walk: That is correct. This bill changes language in the current law which could be easily misinterpreted to require ferry employees to pay for the excess cost of their benefit packages out of salaries more than once.

POINT OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. Ballard: Thank you, Mr. Speaker. Ladies and gentlemen of the House, this side of the aisle plans on offering a relatively limited number of amendments today. Some of them will be some small additions to the budget, and some will be small take-aways from the budget. However, we wanted to make the point that our objective is that our last amendment will address exactly what our purpose is. And that is, that we have a budget that is within existing revenues. And it is our purpose as we offer the amendatory process today to reach that goal. Thank you.

On motion of Mr. Grimm, Substitute House Bill No. 527 was substituted for House Bill No. 527 and the substitute bill was placed on the calendar for second reading.

The appropriation in this section is subject to the following conditions and limitations: The appropriation is provided solely for the administrator for the courts to contract for the performance of a two-year demonstration project to determine the effectiveness of alternative dispute resolution using the model center approach adopted by the legislature in chapter 7.75 RCW. The project shall be conducted in King and Snohomish counties by centers established under chapter 7.75 RCW as nonprofit corporations having broadly representative boards of directors and which are organized exclusively, as set forth in their articles of incorporation and bylaws, for the resolution of disputes and whose plans of operation have been approved pursuant to RCW 7.75.020 before the effective date of this section. The project shall be conducted in accordance with chapter 7.75 RCW. The focus of the project shall be to provide an alternative forum for the resolution of disputes for the purposes of reducing social tensions which lead to crime, promoting lasting settlements in which all parties to a dispute can be winners, settling disputes more quickly and less expensively than through the judicial process, and helping to reduce congestion in the court systems as contemplated in the court improvement act of 1984. Seventy-five thousand dollars of the appropriation shall be made available for a project in Snohomish county subject to commitments from Snohomish county and the city of Everett to each match the state appropriation. Seventy-five thousand dollars of the appropriation shall be made available for a project in King county subject to commitments from King county and the city of Seattle to each match the state appropriation. INCOME TAX

NEW SECTION. Sec. 501. DEFINITIONS. Unless the context clearly requires otherwise, the definitions in this section apply throughout this chapter.

(1) 'Adjusted gross income' means adjusted gross income as determined under the Internal Revenue Code.

(2) 'Department' means the state department of revenue.

(3) 'Individual' means a natural person.

(5) 'Person' includes individuals, partnerships, firms, companies, fiduciaries, estates, trusts, and any other group or combination acting as a unit, but does not include corporations.

(6) 'Resident' includes:

(a) An individual who is domiciled in this state unless the individual (i) maintains no permanent place of abode in this state, (ii) does maintain a permanent place of abode elsewhere, and (iii) spends in the aggregate not more than thirty days of the taxable year in this state; or

(b) The estate of a decedent who at the time of death was domiciled in this state;

(c) A trust created by a will of a decedent who at the time of death was domiciled in this state; and

(d) An irrevocable trust, the grantor of which was domiciled in this state at the time the trust became irrevocable. For purposes of this subsection (d), a trust is irrevocable to the extent that the grantor is not treated as the owner thereof under sections 671 through 679 of the Internal Revenue Code.

(7) 'S corporation' means an S corporation as defined in section 1361 of the Internal Revenue Code.

(8) 'Taxable income' means federal base income as modified under section 505 of this act.

(9) 'Taxable year' means the taxpayer's taxable year as defined under the Internal Revenue Code.

(10) 'Taxpayer' means a person receiving income subject to tax under this chapter.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 502. TAX IMPOSED. A tax is imposed at the rate of one percent on all taxable income received by individuals, estates, and trusts, for each taxable year.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 503. CREDIT FOR INCOME TAXES DUE ANOTHER JURISDICTION. (1) A resident individual, estate, or trust is allowed a credit against the tax imposed under this chapter for the amount of any income tax imposed by another state, foreign country, or political subdivision thereof on income taxed under this chapter, subject to the following conditions:
(a) The credit is allowed only for taxes imposed by the other jurisdiction on net income from sources within that jurisdiction.

(b) The amount of the credit shall not exceed the smaller of:

(i) The amount of tax paid to the other jurisdiction on net income from sources within the other jurisdiction; or

(ii) The amount of tax due under this chapter multiplied by a fraction. The numerator of the fraction is the portion of the taxpayer's adjusted gross income subject to tax in the other jurisdiction. The denominator of the fraction is the taxpayer's taxable income. The fraction shall never be greater than one.

(2) If, in lieu of a credit similar to the credit allowed under subsection (1) of this section, the laws of the taxpayer's place of residence contain a provision exempting a resident of this state from liability for the payment of income taxes on income earned for personal services performed in that place, then the director is authorized to enter into a reciprocal agreement with that place providing a similar tax exemption for its residents on income earned for personal services performed in this state.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 504. DUAL RESIDENCE. If an individual is regarded as a resident both of this state and another jurisdiction for personal income tax purposes, the department shall reduce the tax on that portion of the taxpayer's income which is subject to tax in both jurisdictions solely by virtue of dual residence. If the other taxing jurisdiction allows a similar reduction, the reduction shall equal the lower of the two taxes applicable to the income taxed twice multiplied by a fraction. The numerator of the fraction is the tax imposed by this state on the income taxed twice. The denominator of the fraction is the tax imposed by both jurisdictions on the income taxed twice. The fraction shall never be greater than one.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 505. TAXABLE INCOME MODIFICATIONS. In computing taxable income, modifications shall be made to the taxpayer's adjusted gross income as required under this section, unless the modification has the effect of duplicating an item of income or deduction.

(1) To adjusted gross income, add income which has been excluded under section 103 of the Internal Revenue Code in computing adjusted gross income, except interest on obligations of the United States which this state is prohibited by federal law from subjecting to a net income tax. However, the amount deducted under this subsection shall be reduced by related expenses not deducted in computing adjusted gross income because of section 266 of the Internal Revenue Code.

(2) To adjusted gross income, add income which has been deducted under sections 404(a)(9) or 408 of the Internal Revenue Code in computing adjusted gross income.

(3) To adjusted gross income, add interest from federal obligations which is exempt from federal income taxation.

(4) From adjusted gross income, deduct, to the extent included in adjusted gross income, income derived from obligations of the United States which this state is prohibited by federal law from subjecting to a net income tax. However, the amount deducted under this section shall be reduced by any expense, including amortizable bond premium, incurred in the production of such income to the extent the expense has been deducted in calculating adjusted gross income.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 506. TAX RETURNS FOR FRACTIONAL YEAR. If the first taxable year of any taxpayer with respect to which a tax is imposed by this chapter ends before December 31st of the calendar year in which this chapter becomes effective (referred to in this section as a fractional taxable year), the taxable income for the fractional taxable year shall be the taxpayer's taxable income for the entire taxable year, adjusted by one of the following methods, at the taxpayer's election:

(1) The taxable income shall be multiplied by a fraction. The numerator of the fraction is the number of days in the fractional taxable year. The denominator of the fraction is the number of days in the entire taxable year.

(2) The taxable income shall be adjusted, in accordance with rules of the department, so as to include only such income and be reduced only by such deductions as can be clearly determined from the permanent records of the taxpayer to be attributable to the fractional taxable year.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 507. APPORTIONMENT AND ALLOCATION OF INCOME. (1) For resident individuals all income shall be apportioned and allocated to this state except income which is apportioned or allocated to another state under RCW 82.56.010.

(2) For nonresident individuals, all income shall be apportioned and allocated to this state if it is not apportioned or allocated to another state under RCW 82.56.010 and is received:

(a) For the rendition of personal services in this state;

(b) As a result of the ownership or disposition of any interest in real or tangible personal property located in this state; or

(c) As a distributive share of the net profits of any unincorporated or S corporation activities conducted in this state.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 508. PARTNERSHIPS AND S CORPORATIONS. (1) Partnerships are not subject to tax under this chapter. Partners are subject to tax in their separate or individual capacities.
S corporations are not subject to tax under this chapter. Shareholders of S corporations are subject to tax in their separate or individual capacities.

The taxable incomes of partners shall be computed by including a share of the modifications under section 505 of this act and the credit allowed under section 503 of this act, if the modification or credit relates to the income of a partnership. Each partner’s share of a modification or credit is the amount of modification or credit multiplied by a fraction. The numerator of the fraction is the partner’s distributive share of partnership income. The denominator of the fraction is the total partnership income. The fraction shall never be greater than one.

The taxable incomes of shareholders shall be computed by including a share of the modifications under section 505 of this act and the credit allowed under section 503 of this act, if the modification or credit relates to the income of the S corporation. Each shareholder’s share of a modification or credit is the amount of modification or credit multiplied by a fraction. The numerator of the fraction is the shareholder’s pro rata share of S corporation income. The denominator of the fraction is the total S corporation income. The fraction shall never be greater than one.

As used in this section:
(a) ‘Shareholder’ means a shareholder of an S corporation.
(b) ‘S corporation income’ includes both distributed and undistributed federal taxable income of the S corporation.
(c) ‘Pro rata share’ means pro rata share as determined under section 1366(a) of the Internal Revenue Code.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 509. ESTATES, TRUSTS, AND BENEFICIARIES. (1) The taxable incomes of estates, trusts, and beneficiaries thereof shall be computed by including a share of the modifications under section 505 of this act and the credit allowed under section 503 of this act, if the modification or credit relates to the income of the estate or trust. Each taxpayer’s share of a modification or credit is the amount of modification or credit multiplied by a fraction. The numerator of the fraction is the taxpayer’s share of the distributable net income of the estate or trust. The denominator of the fraction is the total distributable net income of the estate or trust. The fraction shall never be greater than one.

As used in this section, ‘distributable net income’ means distributable net income as defined in the Internal Revenue Code. If the estate or trust has no federal distributable net income, the term means the income of the estate or trust which is distributed or is required to be distributed during the taxable year under local law or the terms of the estate or trust instrument.

Any portion of a modification which is not included in calculating the taxable incomes of the beneficiaries shall be included in calculating the taxable income of the trust or estate.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 510. EMPLOYER WITHHOLDING—REQUIREMENTS. (1) Every employer making a payment of wages or salaries earned in this state, regardless of the place where the payment is made, shall deduct and withhold a tax as prescribed in tables adopted by the department by rule. The tables shall reasonably reflect the annual tax liability of the employee under this chapter. Every employer making such a deduction and withholding shall furnish to the employee a record of the amount of tax deducted and withheld from the employee on forms provided by the department.

(2) If the employee is a resident of this state and earns income from personal services entirely performed in another state which imposes an income tax on the income, and the employer withholds income taxes under the laws of the state in which the income is earned, the employer is not required to withhold any tax imposed by this chapter on the income if the laws of the state in which the income is earned allow a similar exemption for its residents who earn income in this state.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 511. LIABILITY OF EMPLOYER FOR TAX WITHHELD. Any person required to deduct and withhold the tax imposed by this chapter is liable for the payment of the amount deducted and withheld to the department, and is not liable to any other person for the amount of tax deducted and withheld under this chapter. The amount of tax so deducted and withheld shall be held to be a special fund in trust for this state.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 512. WITHHOLDING BY GOVERNMENTAL ENTITY. If the employer is the United States, a foreign country, or this state or any political subdivision thereof, or an agency or instrumentality of any one or more of the foregoing, then the return of the amount deducted and withheld upon any wages or salaries may be made by any officer of the employer having control of the payment of the wages and salaries or appropriately designated for that purpose.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 513. CREDIT FOR TAX WITHHELD—HOW CLAIMED. The amount deducted and withheld as tax under sections 510 through 512 of this act during any taxable year shall be allowed as a credit against the tax imposed for the taxable year by this chapter. If the tax liability of any individual shown by the return is less than the total amount of the credit which the individual is entitled to claim under this section, the individual is entitled to a refund in the amount of the excess of the credit over the tax otherwise due. If any individual entitled to claim a credit under this section is not otherwise required by this chapter to file a return, a refund may be obtained in the amount of the credit by filing a return, with applicable sections completed, to claim the refund. No credit or refund is allowed under this section unless... the credit or refund is claimed on a return filed for the taxable year for which the amount was deducted and withheld.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 514. METHOD OF ACCOUNTING. (1) A taxpayer's method of accounting for purposes of the tax imposed under this chapter shall be the same as the taxpayer's method of accounting for federal income tax purposes. If no method of accounting has been regularly used by a taxpayer for federal income tax purposes, tax due under this chapter shall be computed by a method of accounting which in the opinion of the department fairly reflects income.

(2) If a person's method of accounting is changed for federal income tax purposes, it shall be similarly changed for purposes of this chapter.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 515. JOINT RETURN. (1) If neither spouse is required to file a federal income tax return for the taxable year, a joint return may be filed under this chapter under the same conditions under which a joint return may be filed for purposes of the federal income tax.

(2) If the federal income tax liabilities of both spouses are determined on a joint federal return for the taxable year, they shall file a joint return under this chapter unless one spouse is a resident and the other is a nonresident.

(3) If the federal income tax liability of either spouse is determined on a separate federal return for the taxable year, they shall file separate returns under this chapter.

(4) If one spouse is a resident and the other is a nonresident, they shall file separate returns under this chapter, unless they elect to determine their tax liabilities under this chapter on a joint return as if they were both residents and:

(a) Their federal tax liability for the taxable year was determined on a joint federal return;

or

(b) Neither spouse has filed a federal income tax return for the taxable year and they would be permitted to file a joint federal return for the taxable year.

(5) In any case in which a joint return is filed under this section, the liability of the husband and wife is joint and several, unless the spouse is relieved of liability under section 6013 of the Internal Revenue Code.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 516. RECORDS—RETURNS. (1) Every taxpayer and every person required to collect the tax imposed under this chapter shall keep records, render statements, make returns, file reports, and perform other acts, as the department requires by rule. Each return shall be made under penalty of perjury and on forms prescribed by the department. The department may require other statements and reports be made under penalty of perjury and on forms prescribed by the department. The department may require any taxpayer and any person required to collect the tax imposed under this chapter to furnish to the department a correct copy of any return or document which the taxpayer has filed with the internal revenue service or received from the internal revenue service.

(2) All books and records and other papers and documents required to be kept under this chapter are subject to inspection by the department at all times during business hours of the day.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 517. SERVICE OF PROCESS. (1) Any person who incurs tax liability under this chapter and who removes from this state or conceals his or her whereabouts shall be considered to appoint the secretary of state of this state as the person's agent for service of process or notice in any judicial or administrative proceeding under this chapter. This process or notice shall be served by the department on the secretary of state by leaving at the office of the secretary of state, at least fifteen days before the return day of the process or notice, a certified copy thereof and by sending to the person, by registered or certified mail, a certified copy with an endorsement thereon of the service upon the secretary of state, addressed to the person at the person's last known address.

(2) Service of process or notice in the manner and under the circumstances provided in this section is of the same force and validity as if served upon the person personally within this state. Proof of this service may be made in any judicial or administrative proceeding by the affidavit of the authorized agent of the department who made the service, with a copy of the process or notice that was so served attached to the affidavit.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 518. ESTIMATION AGREEMENTS. The department may reasonably estimate the items of business or nonbusiness income of a taxpayer having an office within the state and one or more other states or foreign countries which may be apportioned or allocated to the state and may enter into estimation agreements with such taxpayers for the determination of their liability for the tax imposed by this chapter.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 519. PROVISIONS OF INTERNAL REVENUE CODE CONTROL. (1) To the extent possible without being inconsistent with this chapter, all of the provisions of the Internal Revenue Code relating to the following subjects apply to the taxes imposed under this chapter:

(a) Time and manner of payment of tax imposed under this chapter, including tax withheld under sections 510 through 512 of this act.

(b) Periods of limitation upon assessment and collection of taxes. However, if a taxpayer fails to report a change or correction increasing the taxpayer's federal taxable income, or fails to report a change or correction which is treated as if it were a deficiency for federal income tax purposes, an assessment may be made at any time within one year of the date on which the department first learns of the change or correction.
(c) Interest for underpayments and overpayments.
(d) Liability of transferees.
(e) Closing agreements and compromises.
(f) Deficiency procedures, except that the state board of tax appeals shall review deficiencies under chapter 82.03 RCW.
(g) Penalties and additions for failure to timely file returns or pay taxes.
(h) Timing, amount, and manner of payment of estimated tax payments.
(i) Time and manner of making returns, verification of returns, and the time when a return is deemed filed.
(j) Powers of the secretary of the treasury, exercised under this chapter by the department, to prepare and execute returns, to prescribe forms, to enforce collection of the tax through liens and seizure of property, and to impose penalties.
(2) The department by rule may provide modifications and exceptions to the provisions listed in subsection (1) of this section if reasonably necessary to facilitate the prompt, efficient, and equitable collection of tax under this chapter.
NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. RULES. The department may adopt rules under chapter 34.04 RCW for the administration and enforcement of this chapter. The rules, to the extent possible without being inconsistent with this chapter, shall follow the Internal Revenue Code, and the regulations and rulings of the United States treasury department with respect to the federal income tax. The department may adopt as a part of these rules any portions of the Internal Revenue Code and treasury department regulations and rulings, in whole or in part.
NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. REFUNDS OF OVERPAYMENTS--OTHER ADMINISTRATIVE PROVISIONS. (1) The department shall refund all taxes and penalties improperly paid or collected.
(2) RCW 82.32.110, 82.32.120, 82.32.130, 82.32.320, 82.32.330, 82.32.340, and 82.32.380 apply to the administration of the taxes imposed under this chapter.
NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. CRIMES. (1) Any person who knowingly attempts to evade or defeat the tax imposed under this chapter or payment thereof is guilty of a class C felony as provided in chapter 9A.20 RCW.
(2) Any person required to collect tax imposed under this chapter who knowingly fails to collect, truthfully account for, or pay over the tax is guilty of a class C felony as provided in chapter 9A.20 RCW.
(3) Any person who knowingly fails to pay tax, pay estimated tax, make returns, keep records, or supply information, as required under this chapter, is guilty of a gross misdemeanor as provided in chapter 9A.20 RCW.
NEW SECTION. Sec. 4. JUDICIAL REVIEW OF CLAIM FOR REFUND. Any person having filed a claim for refund or credit on any tax, penalty, or other sum collected under this chapter may, within the applicable period of limitation provided in section 519(1)(b) of this act, sue for a refund or credit on the tax, penalty, or other sum in the superior court of Thurston county. All procedures and rights of appeal governing other civil actions apply to these proceedings.
This section does not apply to any tax payment which has been the subject of an appeal to the state board of tax appeals with respect to which a formal hearing has been held.
Sec. 5. Section 1, chapter 32, Laws of 1985 as amended by section 119 of this 1987 act and RCW 82.08.020 are each amended to read as follows:
(1) There is levied and there shall be collected a tax on each retail sale in this state equal to five and four-tenths percent of the selling price.
(2) The tax imposed under this chapter shall apply to successive retail sales of the same property or services.
(3) The rate provided in this section applies to taxes imposed under chapter 82.12 RCW as provided in RCW 82.12.020.
NEW SECTION. Sec. 6. NONSEVERABILITY. If any provision of this act or its application to any person or circumstance is held invalid, the remainder of the act or the application of the provision to other persons or circumstances shall likewise be held invalid.
NEW SECTION. Sec. 7. REPEALER. Sections 101 through 308 of this act, chapter -- (SHB 404), Laws of 1987 are each repealed.
NEW SECTION. Sec. 8. CODIFICATION--CAPTIONS. Sections 501 through 523 of this act shall constitute a new chapter in Title 82 RCW.
Section captions constitute no part of the law.
NEW SECTION. Sec. 9. Sections 501 through 526 of this act shall take effect January 1, 1987.
Renumber the parts and sections accordingly.
On page 37, line 10, strike "This act is" and insert "Sections 101 through 409 of this act are".
On page 37, after line 14, insert the following:
"NEW SECTION. Sec. 605. Sections 501 through 528 of this act shall be submitted to the people for their adoption and ratification, or rejection, at the next succeeding general election to be held in this state, in accordance with Article II, section 1 of the state Constitution, as amended, and the laws adopted to facilitate the operation thereof."
Representatives Nelson, Todd, Barnes and K. Wilson spoke in favor of adoption of the amendments. Mr. S. Wilson spoke against them.
POINT OF PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Ms. Brough: How many votes will it take to confirm these amendments?

The Speaker: Representative Brough, the answer to your question is a majority of those present.

POINT OF INQUIRY

Mr. Nelson yielded to question by Ms. Brough.

Ms. Brough: Representative Nelson, thank you for yielding. Reading the explanation of your proposal, having not had time to read the proposal in its entirety, I see that there’s a statement that you make if the vote of the people fails, the taxes under Substitute House Bill No. 404 remain in place. Could you tell me where in these amendments that is stated?

Mr. Nelson: If you look in Section 526, you’ll find it.

Ms. Brough: I’m sorry, but I don’t find in reading the repealer for Sections 101 through 308, that it has anything to do with the intention of the proposed package if the voters do not support this income tax. I also don’t see a section in here that requires a vote of the public. OK, thank you, on page 37. Could you explain the repealers to me in more detail? Where does it state that the taxes under this proposal stay in place if the public rejects the income tax?

Mr. Nelson: In answer to your question about how the act stays in effect, you have to read Section 526 together with Section 605.

Representative Lewis demanded an oral roll call vote, and the demand was sustained.

Representatives Lux, Allen and Barnes spoke in favor of adoption of the amendments, and Mr. Appelwick spoke against them.

ROLL CALL

The Clerk called the roll on the adoption of the amendments by Representative Nelson and others to Substitute House Bill No. 404, and the amendments were not adopted by the following vote: Yeas, 19; nays, 78; excused, 1.

Excused: Representative Chandler - 1.

The following amendments to the title of the bill were adopted:

On page 1, beginning on line 2 of the title, strike “35.21.710. 35A.82.050.”

On page 1, beginning on line 6 of the title, after “82.62.040,” strike everything through “RCW;” on line 10 and insert “and 82.02.020; adding new sections to chapter 82.08 RCW; adding new sections to chapter 82.12 RCW;”

The bill was ordered engrossed. On motion of Mr. McMullen, the rules were suspended, the second reading considered the third, and the bill was placed on final passage.

Mr. Appelwick spoke in favor of passage of the bill.

Representative Lewis demanded an oral roll call vote, and the demand was sustained.

Mr. B. Williams spoke against passage of the bill, and Mr. Todd spoke in favor of it.
Mr. Appelwick yielded to question by Mr. Todd.

Mr. Todd: Representative Appelwick, you and I have been working on business taxes for the last couple or three years, and what I'd like to ask you is what are your priorities for the interim as it relates to business tax reform and tax reform in general.

Mr. Appelwick: It would be my intention over the interim to address five major policy areas. One, to look for statutory reform that will allow us in a significant way to reduce the sales tax in this state. A second, to prepare a well-thought-out constitutional amendment to give us a better tax system. Thirdly, to articulate a clear policy that would facilitate start-up businesses, so that those who wish to start within the state, or to move in, would have a conducive climate to do so. Fourthly, to get a well-articulated policy on how we would tax trade and interstate commerce to stimulate those ventures. And fifthly, to revisit our policy overall on how we would tax nonprofit organizations to make sure that those that are not taxed are appropriately so.

Representative Todd spoke again in favor of the bill, and Representatives Schoon and Silver spoke against it. Representative Bristow spoke in favor of it.

ROLL CALL

The Clerk called the roll on the final passage of Engrossed Substitute House Bill No. 404, and the bill passed the House by the following vote: Yeas, 55; nays, 42; excused, 1.

Excused: Representative Chandler - 1.

Engrossed Substitute House Bill No. 404, having received the constitutional majority, was declared passed. There being no objection, the title of the bill was ordered to stand as the title of the act.

MOTIONS

On motion of Mr. McMullen, Engrossed Substitute House Bill No. 404 and Engrossed Substitute House Bill No. 527 were ordered immediately transmitted to the Senate.

On motion of Mr. McMullen, the House dispensed with further business under the Call of the House.

MOTION

On motion of Mr. McMullen, the House adjourned until 9:30 a.m., Monday, April 13, 1987.

JOSEPH E. KING, Speaker

ALAN THOMPSON, Chief Clerk

SPEAKER'S RULING

The Speaker: Representative Niemi, the Speaker has examined Substitute Senate Bill No. 5206 and the Ways & Means Committee amendment. The bill deals with the creation of new judgeships. When a new judgeship is created the clerical support is assumed to go with it. I find that the Ways & Means Committee amendment is within the scope and object. Your point of order is not well taken.

(11) Administer programs and standards for the training and education of judicial personnel;

(12) Examine the need for new superior court and district judge positions under a weighted caseload analysis that takes into account the time required to hear all the cases in a particular court and the amount of time existing judges have available to hear cases in that court. The results of the weighted caseload analysis shall be reviewed by the board for judicial administration and the judicial council, both of which shall make recommendations to the legislature by January 1, 1989.
