Representative Bush moved the adoption of amendment (855):

"NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. The legislature finds that the volume of commercial electronic mail is growing, and the consumer protection division of the attorney general’s office reports an increasing number of consumer complaints about commercial electronic mail. Interactive computer service providers indicate that their systems sometimes cannot handle the volume of commercial electronic mail being sent and that filtering systems fail to screen out unsolicited commercial electronic mail messages when senders use a third party’s internet domain name without the third party’s permission, or otherwise misrepresent the message’s point of origin. The legislature seeks to provide some immediate relief to interactive computer service providers by prohibiting the sending of commercial electronic mail messages that use a third party’s internet domain name without the third party’s permission, misrepresent the message’s point of origin, or contain untrue or misleading information in the subject line.

The legislature also finds that the utilization of electronic mail messages for commercial purposes merits further study. A select task force should be created to explore technical, legal, and cost issues surrounding the usage of electronic mail messages for commercial purposes and to recommend to the legislature any potential legislation needed for regulating commercial electronic mail messages.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. The definitions in this section apply throughout this chapter unless the context clearly requires otherwise.

(1) "Commercial electronic mail message" means an electronic mail message sent for the purpose of promoting real property, goods, or services for sale or lease.

(2) "Electronic mail address" means a destination, commonly expressed as a string of characters, to which electronic mail may be sent or delivered.
(3) "Initiate the transmission" refers to the action by the original sender of an electronic mail message, not to the action by any intervening interactive computer service that may handle or retransmit the message.

(4) "Interactive computer service" means any information service, system, or access software provider that provides or enables computer access by multiple users to a computer server, including specifically a service or system that provides access to the internet and such systems operated or services offered by libraries or educational institutions.

(5) "Internet domain name" refers to a globally unique, hierarchical reference to an internet host or service, assigned through centralized internet naming authorities, comprising a series of character strings separated by periods, with the right-most string specifying the top of the hierarchy.

NEW SECTION.  Sec. 3.  (1) No person, corporation, partnership, or association may initiate the transmission of a commercial electronic mail message from a computer located in Washington or to an electronic mail address that the sender knows, or has reason to know, is held by a Washington resident that:

(a) Uses a third party's internet domain name without permission of the third party, or otherwise misrepresents any information in identifying the point of origin or the transmission path of a commercial electronic mail message; or
(b) Contains false or misleading information in the subject line.

(2) For purposes of this section, a person, corporation, partnership, or association knows that the intended recipient of a commercial electronic mail message is a Washington resident if that information is available, upon request, from the registrant of the internet domain name contained in the recipient's electronic mail address.

NEW SECTION.  Sec. 4.  (1) It is a violation of the consumer protection act, chapter 19.86 RCW, to initiate the transmission of a commercial electronic mail message that:

(a) Uses a third party's internet domain name without permission of the third party, or otherwise misrepresents any information in identifying the point of origin or the transmission path of a commercial electronic mail message; or
(b) Contains false or misleading information in the subject line.

(2) The legislature finds that the practices covered by this chapter are matters vitally affecting the public interest for the purpose of applying the consumer protection act, chapter 19.86 RCW. A violation of this chapter is not reasonable in relation to the development and preservation of business and is an unfair or deceptive act in trade or commerce and an unfair method of competition for the purpose of applying the consumer protection act, chapter 19.86 RCW.

NEW SECTION.  Sec. 5.  (1) Damages to the recipient of a commercial electronic mail message sent in violation of this chapter are five hundred dollars, or actual damages, whichever is greater.

(2) Damages to an interactive computer service resulting from a violation of this chapter are one thousand dollars, or actual damages, whichever is greater.

NEW SECTION.  Sec. 6.  (1) An interactive computer service may, upon its own initiative, block the receipt or transmission through its service of any commercial electronic mail that it reasonably believes is, or will be, sent in violation of this chapter.

(2) No interactive computer service may be held liable for any action voluntarily taken in good faith to block the receipt or transmission through its service of any commercial electronic mail which it reasonably believes is, or will be, sent in violation of this chapter.

NEW SECTION.  Sec. 7.  Sections 1 through 6 of this act constitute a new chapter in Title 19 RCW.

NEW SECTION.  Sec. 8.  (1) The select task force on commercial electronic mail messages is hereby created. The select task force shall:

(a) Identify technical, legal, and cost issues in relation to the transmission and receipt of commercial electronic mail messages over the internet;
(b) Evaluate whether existing laws are sufficient to resolve any technical, legal, or financial problems created by the increasing volume of commercial electronic mail messages;
(c) Review efforts being made by the federal government and other states to regulate the transmission of commercial electronic mail messages; and
(d) Prepare a report identifying policy options and recommendations for any potential legislation needed to regulate commercial electronic mail messages. The report shall be delivered to the house of representatives energy and utilities committee by November 15, 1998.
(2) The select task force shall be composed of three members, consisting of:

(5) This section expires December 31, 1998."

(a) "Business" means the person applying for the tax deferral, credit, or exemption.

(c) "Distressed county" means a county in which the average level of unemployment for the three years before the year in which an application is filed under this chapter exceeds the average state unemployment for those years by twenty percent.

(d) "Employment position" means a position in which a permanent full-time employee is employed in a project during the entire tax year. "The entire tax year" means the full-time position is filled for a period of twelve consecutive months. "Full-time" means at least thirty-five hours a week.

(e) "Equipping and operating" means the acquisition of tangible personal property for use at the manufacturing operation complex, and includes labor and services rendered in respect to the installation of tangible personal property.

The complex includes the buildings, structures, and improvements used to receive, store, and ship raw materials and finished products as well as buildings, structures, and improvements used for the manufacturing production line. In addition, the term includes all administrative offices, employee support facilities, and production support facilities located at the site. The manufacturing operation complex does not include buildings, structures, and improvements located off of the site.

The department shall not allow any credits which would cause the tabulation to exceed five million five hundred thousand dollars in fiscal year 1998 or 1999 or seven million five hundred thousand dollars in any fiscal year thereafter. If all or part of an application for credit is disallowed under this subsection, the disallowed portion shall be carried over for approval the next fiscal year. The tax, together with penalty and interest, is due in accordance with RCW 84.56.020 the year following the year the property no longer qualifies for exemption;

(b) The tax must include interest upon the amount of additional tax at the same statutory rate charged on delinquent property taxes from the dates on which the additional tax could have been paid without penalty if the property had been assessed at a value without regard to this chapter; and

(c) An additional tax unpaid on its due date is delinquent. From the date of delinquency until the additional tax and penalty are paid, interest must be charged at the same rate applied by law to delinquent ad valorem property taxes. The additional tax owed together with interest and penalty become a lien on the land and attach at the time the property or portion of the property no longer meets applicable requirement. The lien has priority to and must be fully paid and satisfied before a recognizance, mortgage, judgment, debt, obligation, or responsibility to or with which the land may become charged or liable. The lien may be foreclosed upon expiration of the same period after delinquency and in the same manner provided by law for foreclosure of liens for delinquent real or personal property taxes.

(2) When a determination has been made that a tax exemption is to be canceled for a reason stated in this section, the department shall notify the owner of the property, shown by the tax rolls, by mail that the exemption will be canceled. Upon receiving the notice that the exemption is to be canceled, the owner may appeal the cancellation to the board of tax appeals in accordance with the rules of practice and procedures of the board. This appeal must be submitted within thirty days of the date the notice of cancellation is received and must specify the factual and legal basis on which the determination of cancellation is alleged to be erroneous.

(3) Upon receiving notice from the department or its authorized representative that an exemption has been canceled, the county officials having possession of the assessment and tax rolls shall correct the rolls and collect additional taxes, interest, and penalty in accordance with this section.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 16. A new section is added to chapter 82.04 RCW to read as follows:

(1) As used in this section:

(a) "Board" means the community economic revitalization board under chapter 43.160 RCW;

(b) "Private-sector business" or "business" means "person" as defined in RCW 82.04.030. "Private-sector business" does not include a public agency. "Public agency" means the state or its agencies, instrumentalities, or political subdivisions, or the United States or any instrumentality thereof, or an Indian tribe or nation; and
(c) "Public facilities" means bridges, roads, domestic and industrial water, sanitary sewer, storm sewer, railroad, electricity, natural gas, buildings or structures, and port facilities, in the state of Washington.

(2) A person shall be allowed a credit against tax due under this chapter or chapter 82.16 RCW as provided in this section. The credit shall equal fifty cents for each dollar of private funds spent on qualifying public facilities. A person may not receive credit for funds spent by another person. Eligible spending is limited to construction, reconstruction, or improvement of the public facility, and includes rights of way and real property acquisition, engineering and design work, environmental assessment and mitigation, and materials acquisition.

(3) The department, subject to the limitations of subsection (4) of this section, shall approve applications for tax credits upon occurrence of the following:

   (a) A written certification is submitted by the board to the department, stating the applicant has been approved for a loan or grant under chapter 43.160 RCW. The tax credit applicant shall provide a written request to the board, requesting the board to provide such certification to the department;

   (b) A written agreement is submitted to the department before the start of the public facility project, signed by the public agency responsible for the public facility and the business spending money on the public facility, establishing the financial obligations of the business and stating that the public facility is to be owned and controlled by the public agency;

   (c) If the facility will be owned by the business until completion, a written agreement is submitted to the department providing a mechanism for transfer of ownership of the facility to the public agency upon completion of the project; and

(4) (a) Tax credits are available on a first-come basis, with priority based on the date an application is received by the department. Upon completion of a public facility, as determined by the department, the department shall certify the business as eligible for tax credits under this section. An applicant is not eligible for tax credits under this section in excess of the amount of tax that would otherwise be due under this chapter. Approved credit may be carried over one calendar year after the year in which the credit is approved. Any unused credit remaining after the one-year carry-over period has elapsed expires. Refunds shall not be given in place of credits.

   (b) The department shall keep a running total of all credits approved. The sum total of credits granted under this section and section 18 of this act shall be no more than five million dollars of credits each fiscal year. If the amount requested for a credit in an application will cause the cap to be exceeded, the department shall give a partial approval of the project, equal to the amount of remaining credit available for the fiscal year.

   (c) The amount of credit taken is not confidential or subject to RCW 82.32.330, and is disclosable by the department as a public record.

   (5) Investments in a public facility do not give the private-sector business a right or privilege, or any other benefit in the public facility.

   (6) An application under this section may not be approved after June 30, 2005.

   (7) Tax credits shall not be granted for spending that occurred before the effective date of this section. Applicants are not eligible based on a loan or grant approved before the effective date of this section.

   (8) If a person has used a credit granted under this section against tax due under chapter 82.16 RCW the person may not use the same credit for tax due under this chapter.

   (9) The tax credit program under this section and section 18 of this act is limited to expenditures for public facilities located in distressed counties. "Distressed county" means a county in which the average level of unemployment for the three years before the year in which an application is filed under this section exceeds the average state unemployment for those years by twenty percent.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 17. A new section is added to chapter 82.16 RCW to read as follows:

The tax credit program under section 17 of this act is available to persons for tax due under this chapter. If a person has used a credit granted under this section against tax due under chapter 82.04 RCW the person may not use the same credit for tax due under this chapter.
NEW SECTION. Sec. 18. It is the intent of the legislature to promote the creation and the retention of jobs. To that end section 20, chapter . . . , Laws of 1998 (section 20 of this act) allows counties to provide public facilities that will attract and retain businesses, thereby creating and maintaining jobs.

Sec. 19. RCW 82.14.370 and 1997 c 366 s 3 are each amended to read as follows:
(1) The legislative authority of a distressed county may impose a sales and use tax in accordance with the terms of this chapter. The tax is in addition to other taxes authorized by law and shall be collected from those persons who are taxable by the state under chapters 82.08 and 82.12 RCW upon the occurrence of any taxable event within the county. The rate of tax shall not exceed \(0.04\) percent of the selling price in the case of a sales tax or value of the article used in the case of a use tax.
(2) The tax imposed under subsection (1) of this section shall be deducted from the amount of tax otherwise required to be collected or paid over to the department of revenue under chapter 82.08 or 82.12 RCW. The department of revenue shall perform the collection of such taxes on behalf of the county at no cost to the county.
(3) Moneys collected under this section shall only be used for the purpose of financing qualifying public facilities in rural counties. The public facility must be listed as an item in the economic development section of the comprehensive plan for those counties planning under RCW 36.70A.040, or, for those counties who do not plan under the growth management act, the public facility must be listed in the county’s capital facilities plan. For the purposes of this section, "public facilities" means bridges, roads, domestic and industrial water, sanitary sewer, storm sewer, railroad, electricity, natural gas, buildings or structures, and port facilities, in the state of Washington.
(4) No tax may be collected under this section before July 1, 1998. No tax may be collected under this section by a county more than twenty-five years after the date that a tax is first imposed under this section.
(5) For purposes of this section, "distressed county" means a county in which the average level of unemployment for the three years before the year in which a tax is first imposed under this section exceeds the average state unemployment for those years by twenty percent.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 20. Sections 9 through 16 of this act constitute a new chapter in Title 84 RCW.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 21. If any provision of this act or its application to any person or circumstance is held invalid, the remainder of the act or the application of the provision to other persons or circumstances is not affected.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 22. This act takes effect July 1, 1998."

House Bill No. 2748 is titled "AN ACT Relating to allowing rural counties to authorized additional industrial development in rural areas". It adds a new section to RCW 36.70A, the statutes that deal with the growth management act.
Amendment 937 by Representative Morris amends Title 82 which deals with the tax laws in this State providing for additional industrial developments making available certain tax benefits for manufacturing projects in distressed counties. The amendment is clearly outside the Scope of the Title of the bill.

Representative Reams, your Point of Order is well taken.

Creating a system of classifying land as agricultural land with long-term commercial significance for tax purposes.

The bill was read the second time. There being no objection, Substitute House Bill No. 2871 was substituted for House Bill No. 2871 and the substitute bill was placed on the second reading calendar.

Substitute House Bill No. 2871 was read the second time.

With the consent of the House, amendment number 928 to Substitute House Bill No. 2871 was withdrawn.

Representative Parlette moved the adoption of amendment (991):

On page 5, after line 20, insert:

As used in this chapter, unless a different meaning is required by the context:

(1) "Open space land" means (a) any land area so designated by an official comprehensive land use plan adopted by any city or county and zoned accordingly, or (b) any land area, the preservation of which in its present use would (i) conserve and enhance natural or scenic resources, or (ii) protect streams or water supply, or (iii) promote conservation of soils, wetlands, beaches or tidal marshes, or (iv) enhance the value to the public of abutting or neighboring parks, forests, wildlife preserves, nature reservations or sanctuaries or other open space, or (v) enhance recreation opportunities, or (vi) preserve historic sites, or (vii) preserve visual quality along highway, road, and street corridors or scenic vistas, or (viii) retain in its natural state tracts of land not less than one acre situated in an urban area and open to public use on such conditions as may be reasonably required by the legislative body granting the open space classification, or (c) any land meeting the definition of farm and agricultural conservation land under subsection (8) of this section. As a condition of granting open space classification, the legislative body may not require public access on land classified under (b)(iii) of this subsection for the purpose of promoting conservation of wetlands.

(2) "Farm and agricultural land" means:

(a) Any parcel of land that is twenty or more acres or multiple parcels of land that are contiguous and total twenty or more acres:
   (i) Devoted primarily to the production of livestock or agricultural commodities for commercial purposes;
   (ii) Enrolled in the federal conservation reserve program or its successor administered by the United States department of agriculture; or
   (iii) Other similar commercial activities as may be established by rule;

(b) Any parcel of land that is five acres or more but less than twenty acres devoted primarily to agricultural uses, which has produced a gross income from agricultural uses equivalent to, as of January 1, 1993:
   (i) One hundred dollars or more per acre per year for three of the five calendar years preceding the date of application for classification under this chapter for all parcels of land that are classified under this subsection or all parcels of land for which an application for classification under this subsection is made with the granting authority prior to January 1, 1993; and
   (ii) On or after January 1, 1993, two hundred dollars or more per acre per year for three of the five calendar years preceding the date of application for classification under this chapter;

(c) Any parcel of land of less than five acres devoted primarily to agricultural uses which has produced a gross income as of January 1, 1993, of:
   (i) One thousand dollars or more per year for three of the five calendar years preceding the date of application for classification under this chapter for all parcels of land that are classified under this subsection or all parcels of land for which an application for classification under this subsection is made with the granting authority prior to January 1, 1993; and
   (ii) On or after January 1, 1993, fifteen hundred dollars or more per year for three of the five calendar years preceding the date of application for classification under this chapter.

Parcels of land described in (b)(i) and (c)(i) of this subsection shall, upon any transfer of the property excluding a transfer to a surviving spouse, be subject to the limits of (b)(ii) and (c)(ii) of this subsection.

Agricultural lands shall also include such incidental uses as are compatible with agricultural purposes, including wetlands preservation, provided such incidental use does not exceed twenty percent of the classified land and the land on which appurtenances necessary to the production, preparation, or sale of the agricultural products exist in conjunction with the lands producing such products.

Agricultural lands shall also include any parcel of land of one to five acres, which is not contiguous, but which otherwise constitutes an integral part of farming operations being conducted on land qualifying under this section as "farm and agricultural lands"; or

(d) The land on which housing for employees and the principal place of residence of the farm operator or owner of land classified pursuant to (a) of this subsection is sited if: The housing or residence is on or contiguous to the classified parcel; and the use of the housing or the residence is integral to the use of the classified land for agricultural purposes;

(e) Any parcel of land designated as agricultural land under RCW 36.70A.170; or

(f) Any parcel of land not within an urban growth area zoned as agricultural land under a comprehensive plan adopted under chapter 36.70A. RCW).
(3) "Timber land" means any parcel of land that is five or more acres or multiple parcels of land that are contiguous and total five or more acres which is or are devoted primarily to the growth and harvest of forest crops for commercial purposes. A timber management plan shall be filed with the county legislative authority at the time (a) an application is made for classification as timber land pursuant to this chapter or (b) when a sale or transfer of timber land occurs and a notice of classification continuance is signed. Timber land means the land only.

(4) "Current" or "currently" means as of the date on which property is to be listed and valued by the assessor.

(5) "Owner" means the party or parties having the fee interest in land, except that where land is subject to real estate contract "owner" shall mean the contract vendee.

(6) "Contiguous" means land adjoining and touching other property held by the same ownership. Land divided by a public road, but otherwise an integral part of a farming operation, shall be considered contiguous.

(7) "Granting authority" means the appropriate agency or official who acts on an application for classification of land pursuant to this chapter.

(8) "Farm and agricultural conservation land" means either:

(a) Land that was previously classified under subsection (2) of this section, that no longer meets the criteria of subsection (2) of this section, and that is reclassified under subsection (1) of this section; or

(b) Land that is traditional farmland that is not classified under chapter 84.33 or 84.34 RCW, that has not been irrevocably devoted to a use inconsistent with agricultural uses, and that has a high potential for returning to commercial agriculture.

Sec. 8. RCW 84.34.065 and 1997 c 429 s 33 are each amended to read as follows:

The true and fair value of farm and agricultural land, including land classified under section 2 of this act, shall be determined by consideration of the earning or productive capacity of comparable lands from crops grown most typically in the area averaged over not less than five years, capitalized at indicative rates. The earning or productive capacity of farm and agricultural lands shall be the "net cash rental", capitalized at a "rate of interest" charged on long term loans secured by a mortgage on farm or agricultural land plus a component for property taxes. The current use value of land under RCW 84.34.020(2)(d) shall be established as: The prior year's average value of open space farm and agricultural land used in the county plus the value of land improvements such as septic, water, and power used to serve the residence. This shall not be interpreted to require the assessor to list improvements to the land with the value of the land.

((In valuing any tract or parcel of real property designated and zoned under a comprehensive plan adopted under chapter 36.70A RCW as agricultural, forest, or open space land, the appraisal shall not be based on similar sales of parcels that have been converted to nonagricultural, nonforest, or nonopen space uses within five years after the sale.))

For the purposes of the above computation:

(1) The term "net cash rental" shall mean the average rental paid on an annual basis, in cash, for the land being appraised and other farm and agricultural land of similar quality and similarly situated that is available for lease for a period of at least three years to any reliable person without unreasonable restrictions on its use for production of agricultural crops. There shall be allowed as a deduction from the rental received or computed any costs of crop production charged against the landlord if the costs are such as are customarily paid by a landlord. If "net cash rental" data is not available, the earning or productive capacity of farm and agricultural lands shall be determined by the cash value of typical or usual crops grown on land of similar quality and similarly situated averaged over not less than five years. Standard costs of production shall be allowed as a deduction from the cash value of the crops.

The current "net cash rental" or "earning capacity" shall be determined by the assessor with the advice of the advisory committee as provided in RCW 84.34.145, and through a continuing internal study, assisted by studies of the department of revenue. This net cash rental figure as it applies to any farm and agricultural land may be challenged before the same boards or authorities as would be the case with regard to assessed values on general property.

(2) The term "rate of interest" shall mean the rate of interest charged by the farm credit administration and other large financial institutions regularly making loans secured by farm and agricultural lands through mortgages or similar legal instruments, averaged over the immediate past five years.

The "rate of interest" shall be determined annually by a rule adopted by the department of revenue and such rule shall be published in the state register not later than January 1 of each year for use in that assessment year. The department of revenue determination may be appealed to the state board of tax appeals within thirty days after the date of publication by any owner of farm or agricultural land or the assessor of any county containing farm and agricultural land.

(3) The "component for property taxes" shall be a figure obtained by dividing the assessed value of all property in the county into the property taxes levied within the county in the year preceding the assessment and multiplying the quotient obtained by one hundred.

Sec. 9. RCW 84.40.030 and 1997 c 429 s 34 (Referendum Bill No. 47), 1997 c 134 s 1, and 1997 c 3 s 104 are each reenacted and amended to read as follows:

All personal property shall be valued at one hundred percent of its true and fair value in money and assessed on the same basis unless specifically provided otherwise by law.

All real property shall be appraised at one hundred percent of its true and fair value in money and assessed as provided in RCW 84.40.0305 unless specifically provided otherwise by law.

Taxable leasehold estates shall be valued at such price as they would bring at a fair, voluntary sale for cash without any deductions for any indebtedness owed including rentals to be paid.

The true and fair value of real property for taxation purposes (including property upon which there is a coal or other mine, or stone or other quarry) shall be based upon the following criteria:

(1) Any sales of the property being appraised or similar properties with respect to sales made within the past five years. The appraisal shall be consistent with the comprehensive land use plan, development regulations under chapter 36.70A RCW, zoning, and any other governmental policies or practices in effect at the time of appraisal that affect the use of property, as well as physical and environmental influences. An assessment may not be determined by a method that assumes a land use not permitted, for that property being appraised, under existing zoning or land use planning ordinances or statutes. The appraisal shall also take into account: (a) In the use of sales by real estate contract as similar sales, the extent, if any, to which the stated selling price has been increased by reason of the down payment, interest rate, or other financing terms; and (b) the extent to which the sale of a similar property actually represents the general effective market demand for property of such type, in the geographical area in which such property is located. Sales involving deed releases or similar seller-developer financing arrangements shall not be used as sales of similar property.

(2) In addition to sales as defined in subsection (1) of this section, consideration may be given to cost, cost less depreciation, reconstruction cost less depreciation, or capitalization of income that would be derived from prudent use of the property. In the case of property of a complex nature, or being used under terms of a franchise from a public agency, or operating as a public utility, or property not having a record of sale within five years and not having a significant number of sales of similar property in the general area, the provisions of this subsection (((2))) shall be the dominant factors in valuation. When provisions of this subsection (((2))) are relied upon for establishing values the property owner shall be advised upon request of the factors used in arriving at such value.

(3) In valuing any tract or parcel of real property, the true and fair value of the land, exclusive of structures thereon shall be determined; also the true and fair value of structures thereon, but the appraised valuation shall not exceed the true and fair value of the total property as it exists. In valuing agricultural land, growing crops shall be excluded.

(4) In valuing any tract or parcel of real property designated and zoned under a comprehensive plan adopted under chapter 36.70A RCW as agricultural, forest, or open space land, the appraisal shall not be based on similar sales of parcels that have been converted to nonagricultural, nonforest, or nonopen space uses within five years after the sale.

On page 3, after line 11, insert the following:

"NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. A new section is added to chapter 82.04 RCW to read as follows:

(1) The definitions in this subsection apply to this section, sections 3 and 4 of this act, RCW 82.62.030, and sections 9 through 16 of this act, unless the context clearly requires otherwise.

(a) "Business" means the person applying for the tax deferral, credit, or exemption.

(b) "Construction" means the construction of a manufacturing operation complex and includes labor and services rendered in respect to construction. "Construction" ends when a project is completed as determined under subsection (2)(c) of this section.

(c) "Distressed county" means a county in which the average level of unemployment for the three years before the year in which an application is filed under this chapter exceeds the average state unemployment for those years by twenty percent.

(d) "Employment position" means a position in which a permanent full-time employee is employed in a project during the entire tax year. "The entire tax year" means the full-time position is filled for a period of twelve consecutive months. "Full-time" means at least thirty-five hours a week."
(e) "Equipping and operating" means the acquisition of tangible personal property for use at the manufacturing operation complex, and includes labor and services rendered in respect to the installation of tangible personal property.

(f) "Finished product" means an article, substance, or commodity that is manufactured at and shipped from the manufacturing operation complex.

(g) "Manufacturing operation complex" means the buildings, structures, and improvements located at the site where the manufacturing activity occurs. The complex includes the buildings, structures, and improvements used to receive, store, and ship raw materials and finished products as well as buildings, structures, and improvements used for the manufacturing production line. In addition, the term includes all administrative offices, employee support facilities, and production support facilities located at the site. The manufacturing operation complex does not include buildings, structures, and improvements located off of the site.

(h) "Person" has the meaning given in RCW 82.04.030.

(i) "Project" means the site preparation, construction, and equipping and operating of a manufacturing operation complex.

(j) "Raw material" means the ingredients, components, substances, articles, or other tangible personal property that is received at the manufacturing operation complex for use as ingredients or components of the finished product.

(k) "Site" means a discrete geographical location.

(l) "Site preparation" means demolition of existing improvements, environmental remediation, earth moving, land clearing, site excavation, and shoring, and includes labor and services rendered in respect to site preparation.

(2) As a condition to receiving initial approval and as a condition of continuing eligibility, the following criteria must be met:

(a) The project must be located in a distressed county and must be owned and operated by a person who meets the definition of "manufacturer" as defined in RCW 82.04.110;

(b) The business must commit to an investment, by the time of completion of the project, in land, structures, and equipment, the value of which must be at least four percent of the total of the equalized assessed value in the county in which the project is located. The total equalized assessed value in the county is as published annually by the department in accordance with RCW 84.48.080. Continuing eligibility is conditioned on this investment having actually occurred;

(c)(i) The business must commit to and must create a minimum of twenty new employment positions at the project within two years of completion of the project.

(ii) The business must commit to and create one new employment position for each two million dollars invested in the project within two years of completion of the project. The twenty minimum positions in (c)(i) of this subsection are part of and not in addition to the positions required to meet the investment to job ratio.

(iii) The individuals in the new employment positions must be the employees of the business and must not have been relocated from other locations of the business within this state. Completion of the project is deemed to have occurred when the project is capable of operating and producing finished products. The department of community, trade, and economic development shall determine when the project is complete;

(d) The business must commit to and must pay an average wage of at least one hundred fifty percent of the average wage in the county. The employment security department shall determine the average wage in the county and shall report this amount to the department of community, trade, and economic development; and

(e) The business must remain operational for a fifteen-year period after the project is completed. "Operational" means that the level of employment at the manufacturing operation complex must not drop below the total employment positions required under (c) of this subsection.

(3)(a) The department of community, trade, and economic development shall determine the eligibility of a business and certify eligibility to the department of revenue.

(b) Approval of the project by a public vote of the governing body of the county or city in which the project is located is a precondition to deferral certification by the department of revenue. If the county or city approves the project, the county or city shall send a written notification of the approval to the department of revenue. If the project is in two jurisdictions, both jurisdictions must approve the project.
(c) When both of the notices under (a) and (b) of this subsection are received, the department of revenue shall issue a sales and use tax deferral certificate for use under sections 3 and 4 of this act.

(4) In addition to the initial certification under subsection (3) of this section, the project must be reviewed by the department of community, trade, and economic development each year for continuing eligibility. The business shall provide an annual report to the department of community, trade, and economic development, in a form as required by the department, of its status relative to the eligibility criteria under subsection (2) of this section. The department of community, trade, and economic development shall review the annual report and determine whether the project continues to meet the eligibility criteria. The department of community, trade, and economic development shall provide a written notice of this determination to the business and to the department of revenue. Annual reapproval by the county or city in which the project is located is not required. If the project fails to meet the eligibility criteria the amount of taxes deferred under sections 3 and 4 of this act are immediately due.

(5) Taxes deferred under sections 3 and 4 of this act need not be repaid if the project maintains its eligibility criteria for a fifteen-year period. The fifteen-year period begins when the deferral certificate is sent under subsection (3)(c) of this section by the department of revenue to the business.

(6) Application for the deferral under sections 3 and 4 of this act may not be accepted before the effective date of this section or after June 30, 2003.

(7) The employment security department shall provide such data to the department of revenue and the department of community, trade, and economic development as is necessary to administer this section wage data shall be updated annually to reflect current state and county conditions.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. A new section is added to chapter 82.08 RCW to read as follows:
(1) A person that has received a certification from the department under section 2(3)(c) of this act may use that certificate for deferral of the state share of taxes due under this chapter on the site preparation, construction, and equipping and operating of the project.
(2) The certificate is not valid for sales that occurred before certification by the department.
(3)(a) The certificate may be used for fifteen years after its issuance.
(b) The deferral under this section is conditioned on the business remaining eligible under section 2 of this act. If the project fails to meet the eligibility criteria, the amount of taxes deferred under this section are immediately due. The department shall assess interest at the rate provided for delinquent excise taxes, but not penalties, retroactively to the date of deferral.
(4) The buyer must keep such records as the department requires for audit and verification purposes.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. A new section is added to chapter 82.12 RCW to read as follows:

(3)(a) The certificate may be used for fifteen years after its issuance.
(b) The deferral under this section is conditioned on the business remaining eligible under section 2 of this act. The department shall assess interest at the rate provided for delinquent excise taxes, but not penalties, retroactively to the date of deferral.
(4) The buyer must keep such records as the department requires for audit and verification purposes.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4. A new section is added to chapter 82.14 RCW to read as follows:
The deferral under sections 3 and 4 of this act is for the state portion of the sales and use tax and does not extend to the tax imposed in this chapter.
Sec. 5. RCW 81.104.170 and 1997 c 450 s 5 are each amended to read as follows:
Cities that operate transit systems, county transportation authorities, metropolitan municipal corporations, public transportation benefit areas, and regional transit authorities may submit an authorizing proposition to the voters and if approved by a majority of persons voting, fix and impose a sales and use tax in accordance with the terms of this chapter, solely for the purpose of providing high capacity transportation service.
The tax authorized pursuant to this section shall be in addition to the tax authorized by RCW 82.14.030 and shall be collected from those persons who are taxable by the state pursuant to chapters 82.08 and 82.12 RCW upon the occurrence of any taxable event within the taxing district. The maximum rate of such tax shall be approved by the voters and shall not exceed one percent of the selling price (in the case of a sales tax) or value of the article used (in the case of a use tax). The maximum rate of such tax that may be imposed shall not exceed nine-tenths of one percent in any county that imposes a tax under RCW 82.14.340, or within a regional transit authority if any county within the authority imposes a tax under RCW 82.14.340. The exemptions in RCW 82.08.820 and 82.12.820 are for the state portion of the sales and use tax and do not extend to the tax authorized in this section.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 6. A new section is added to chapter 82.32 RCW to read as follows:
The department of revenue may develop and institute a tax reporting method whereby the taxpayer uses deductions, credits, or other accounting techniques, as directed by the department, to allow the department to administer, and the taxpayer to report, the deferral in sections 3 and 4 of this act simply and efficiently. Taxpayers who are entitled to this deferral and sellers who receive deferral certificates from buyers shall keep their records in a form and manner as directed by the department so that the department can distinguish between taxable and exempt transactions.

Sec. 7. RCW 82.62.030 and 1997 c 366 s 5 are each amended to read as follows:

project. For an application approved on or after January 1, 1996, the credit shall equal two thousand dollars for each qualified employment position directly created in an eligible business project. For an application approved on or after July 1, 1997, the credit shall equal four thousand dollars for each qualified employment position with wages and benefits greater than forty thousand dollars annually that is directly created in an eligible business. For an application approved on or after July 1, 1997, the credit shall equal two thousand dollars for each qualified employment position with wages and benefits less than or equal to forty thousand dollars annually that is directly created in an eligible business.

(2) The department shall keep a running total of all credits granted under this chapter during each fiscal year. The department shall not allow any credits which would cause the tabulation to exceed five million five hundred thousand dollars in fiscal year 1998 or 1999 or seven million five hundred thousand dollars in any fiscal year thereafter. If all or part of an application for credit is disallowed under this subsection, the disallowed portion shall be carried over for approval the next fiscal year. However, the applicant’s carryover into the next fiscal year is only permitted if the tabulation for the next fiscal year does not exceed the cap for that fiscal year as of the date on which the department has disallowed the application.

(3) No recipient may use the tax credits to decertify a union or to displace existing jobs in any community in the state.

(4) No recipient may receive a tax credit on taxes which have not been paid during the taxable year.

(5) A business that has received certification from the department of revenue under section 2 of this act is eligible for an annual credit of four thousand dollars for each of the positions used to establish project eligibility. Positions created in excess of those required to maintain eligibility are also eligible for the credit under this subsection. The business may apply for the credit once the project is complete, as determined in section 2 of this act. The business may apply each of the successive seven years following its initial application under this subsection and shall receive the credit if the continuing employment requirements of section 2 of this act are met. The credits granted under this subsection do not affect the caps under subsection (2) of this section and the fifteen percent requirement under RCW 82.62.010. Application for the credit under this subsection may not be accepted before the effective date of this section.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 8. (1) All real and personal property belonging to a business and used in connection with a project that qualifies under this chapter is exempt from ad valorem property taxation for fifteen successive years from completion of construction and certification of the project, as determined under section 2 of this act.

(2) The exemption does not include real or personal property acquired or constructed prior to the approval of the application prescribed in this chapter. The exemption provided by this chapter is in addition to any other incentives, tax credits, or grants provided by law.

(3) The definitions in section 2 of this act apply to this chapter, where applicable.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 9. A person making application for exemption under this chapter must meet the requirements of section 2 of this act and must enter into a contract approved by the department and the governing body or bodies of the city or county in which the project is located. In the contract the applicant must agree to the requirements of section 2 of this act and this chapter. The department of revenue may not accept any application for exemption under this chapter after June 30, 2003.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 10. An applicant seeking a tax exemption under this chapter must complete the following procedures:

(1) The applicant shall apply to the department on forms prepared by the department. The application for exemption must contain the following:

(b) A statement that the applicant is aware of the potential tax liability that will be imposed if the property ceases to be eligible for the exemption provided under this chapter.

(2) The applicant must verify the application for exemption by oath or affirmation.

(3) The department may permit the applicant to revise an application for exemption before final action on the application is taken by the department.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 11. The department may approve the application for exemption filed under this chapter if it finds that:

(1) The proposed project is or will be, at the time of completion, in conformance with all applicable local government regulations in effect at the time the application for exemption is approved;

(2) The applicant has complied with all requirements under this chapter;

(3) The site of the project is located in a distressed county, as defined by section 2 of this act; and

(4) The governing body of the county or city in which the project is located has by a public vote approved the project and has sent a written notification of the approval to the department.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 12. (1) The department shall approve or deny an application for exemption filed under this chapter within sixty days after it is received, unless in the discretion of the department additional time is necessary in order to make a decision.

(2) If the application for exemption is approved, the department shall issue the applicant a conditional certificate of tax exemption. The certificate must contain a statement by a duly authorized administrative official of the department that the applicant has complied with the requirements of this chapter.

(3) If the application for exemption is denied by the department, the deciding administrative official shall state in writing the reasons for the denial and mail the notice to the applicant at the applicant’s last known address within ten days of the denial.

(4) Upon receiving a denial of the application for a property tax exemption under this chapter, the applicant may appeal the denial to the board of tax appeals in accordance with the rules of practice and procedure of the board. This appeal must be submitted within thirty days of the date the notice is received. If the exemption is denied, the sixty-day time period for approving the application for exemption regarding the project must be extended to the extent necessary to accommodate the appeal process.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 13. (1) Upon completion of construction of a project for which an application for exemption under this chapter has been approved, the owner of the eligible business shall file with the department the following:
   (a) A statement of the amount of expenditures for land, structures, machinery, and equipment made with respect to the project;
   (b) A description of the work that has been completed and a statement that the owner’s property qualifies the property for exemption under this chapter; and
   (c) A statement that the work has been completed within two years of the issuance of the conditional certificate of tax exemption.

   (2) Within thirty days of the date the statements required under subsection (1) of this section are received, the authorized representative of the department shall determine whether the work completed is consistent with the application for exemption and the contract approved by the legislative authority of the local taxing districts and is qualified for exemption under this chapter. The department shall also determine which completed improvements specifically meet the requirements and required findings.

   (3) The department shall file the certificate of tax exemption with the county assessor within ten days of approval if:
      (a) The construction is completed within two years of the date the conditional certificate of tax exemption was issued or within an authorized extension of this time limit; and
      (b) The authorized representative of the department determines that improvements were constructed consistent with the application for exemption and other applicable requirements and the applicant’s property is qualified for exemption under this chapter.

   (4) The authorized representative of the department shall notify the applicant that a certificate of tax exemption will not be issued if the representative determines that:
      (a) The construction was not completed within two years of the approval date or within any authorized extension of the time limit;
      (b) The improvements were not constructed consistent with the application for exemption or other applicable requirements; or
      (c) The applicant’s property is otherwise not qualified for exemption under this chapter.

   (5) If the authorized representative of the department finds that the project was not completed within the required time period is due to circumstances beyond the control of the applicant and that the applicant has been acting and could reasonably be expected to act in good faith and with due diligence, the department may extend the deadline for completion of the project for a period not to exceed twenty-four consecutive months.

   (6) The decision by the deciding officer that an owner of an eligible business is not entitled to a certificate of tax exemption may be appealed to the board of tax appeals in accordance with the rules of practice and procedure of the board.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 14. (1) Within thirty days of the anniversary of the date the certificate of tax exemption was issued and each year thereafter for a period of fifteen years, the owner of the eligible business shall file with a designated representative of the department of community, trade, and economic development an annual report indicating the following:
   (a) A certification by the owner that the use of the property has not changed since the date the certificate was approved by the department; and
   (b) A description of changes or improvements made after the certificate of tax exemption was issued.

   (2) The department of community, trade, and economic development shall annually determine whether the business meets the requirements of this chapter and shall annually report this determination to the department of revenue.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 15. (1) Land, structures, and machinery and equipment that have been exempted under this chapter shall continue to be exempt if not converted to another use for at least fifteen years from the date of issuance of the certificate of tax exemption. If the owner intends to convert the development to another use, the owner must notify the assessor within sixty days of the change in use. If, after a certificate of tax exemption has been filed with the county assessor, the assessor discovers that the use of a portion of the property has changed or will be changed to a use that no longer meets the requirements as previously approved or agreed upon by contract between the department and the owner and that the eligible business no longer qualifies for the exemption, the tax exemption must be canceled and the following must occur:

(a) Additional property tax must be imposed upon the property in the amount that would normally be imposed, plus a penalty amounting to twenty percent of the additional tax. This additional tax is calculated based upon the difference between the property tax paid and the amount of property tax otherwise due and payable had the property not been granted an exemption. The tax, together with penalty and interest, is due in accordance with RCW 84.56.020 the year following the year the property no longer qualifies for exemption;

(b) The tax must include interest upon the amount of additional tax at the same statutory rate charged on delinquent property taxes from the dates on which the additional tax could have been paid without penalty if the property had been assessed at a value without regard to this chapter; and

(c) An additional tax unpaid on its due date is delinquent. From the date of delinquency until the additional tax and penalty are paid, interest must be charged at the same rate applied by law to delinquent ad valorem property taxes. The additional tax owed together with interest and penalty become a lien on the land and attach at the time the property or portion of the property no longer meets applicable requirement. The lien has priority to and must be fully paid and satisfied before a recognizance, mortgage, judgment, debt, obligation, or responsibility to or with which the land may become charged or liable. The lien may be foreclosed upon expiration of the same period after delinquency and in the same manner provided by law for foreclosure of liens for delinquent real or personal property taxes.

(2) When a determination has been made that a tax exemption is to be canceled for a reason stated in this section, the department shall notify the owner of the property, shown by the tax rolls, by mail that the exemption will be canceled. Upon receiving the notice that the exemption is to be canceled, the owner may appeal the cancellation to the board of tax appeals in accordance with the rules of practice and procedures of the board. This appeal must be submitted within thirty days of the date the notice of cancellation is received and must specify the factual and legal basis on which the determination of cancellation is alleged to be erroneous.

(3) Upon receiving notice from the department or its authorized representative that an exemption has been canceled, the county officials having possession of the assessment and tax rolls shall correct the rolls and collect additional taxes, interest, and penalty in accordance with this section.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 16. A new section is added to chapter 82.04 RCW to read as follows:

(1) As used in this section:
(a) "Board" means the community economic revitalization board under chapter 43.160 RCW;
(b) "Private-sector business" or "business" means "person" as defined in RCW 82.04.030. "Private-sector business" does not include a public agency. "Public agency" means the state or its agencies, instrumentalities, or political subdivisions, or the United States or any instrumentality thereof, or an Indian tribe or nation; and
(c) "Public facilities" means bridges, roads, domestic and industrial water, sanitary sewer, storm sewer, railroad, electricity, natural gas, buildings or structures, and port facilities, in the state of Washington.

(2) A person shall be allowed a credit against tax due under this chapter or chapter 82.16 RCW as provided in this section. The credit shall equal fifty cents for each dollar of private funds spent on qualifying public facilities. A person may not receive credit for funds spent by another person. Eligible spending is limited to construction, reconstruction, or improvement of the public facility, and includes rights of way and real property acquisition, engineering and design work, environmental assessment and mitigation, and materials acquisition.

(3) The department, subject to the limitations of subsection (4) of this section, shall approve applications for tax credits upon occurrence of the following:
(a) A written certification is submitted by the board to the department, stating the applicant has been approved for a loan or grant under chapter 43.160 RCW. The tax credit applicant shall provide a written request to the board, requesting the board to provide such certification to the department;

(b) A written agreement is submitted to the department before the start of the public facility project, signed by the public agency responsible for the public facility and the business spending money on the public facility, establishing the financial obligations of the business and stating that the public facility is to be owned and controlled by the public agency;

(c) If the facility will be owned by the business until completion, a written agreement is submitted to the department providing a mechanism for transfer of ownership of the facility to the public agency upon completion of the project; and

(d) The business, in consultation with the public agency, provides a letter to the department establishing that the public facility will enable the business to create, retain, or expand jobs. The business making the expenditures must be the same business upon which the job criteria is based. A business may not use the jobs upon which an earlier project was based to justify additional projects for which the business is applying for tax credits.

(4)(a) Tax credits are available on a first-come basis, with priority based on the date an application is received by the department. Upon completion of a public facility, as determined by the department, the department shall certify the business as eligible for tax credits under this section. An applicant is not eligible for tax credits under this section in excess of the amount of tax that would otherwise be due under this chapter. Approved credit may be carried over one calendar year after the year in which the credit is approved. Any unused credit remaining after the one-year carry-over period has elapsed expires. Refunds shall not be given in place of credits.

(b) The department shall keep a running total of all credits approved. The sum total of credits granted under this section and section 18 of this act shall be no more than five million dollars of credits each fiscal year. If the amount requested for a credit in an application will cause the cap to be exceeded, the department shall give a partial approval of the project, equal to the amount of remaining credit available for the fiscal year.

(c) The amount of credit taken is not confidential or subject to RCW 82.32.330, and is disclosable by the department as a public record.

(5) Investments in a public facility do not give the private-sector business a right or privilege, or any other benefit in the public facility.

(6) An application under this section may not be approved after June 30, 2005.

(7) Tax credits shall not be granted for spending that occurred before the effective date of this section. Applicants are not eligible based on a loan or grant approved before the effective date of this section.

(8) If a person has used a credit granted under this section against tax due under chapter 82.16 RCW the person may not use the same credit for tax due under this chapter.

(9) The tax credit program under this section and section 18 of this act is limited to expenditures for public facilities located in distressed counties. "Distressed county" means a county in which the average level of unemployment for the three years before the year in which an application is filed under this section exceeds the average state unemployment for those years by twenty percent.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 17. A new section is added to chapter 82.16 RCW to read as follows: The tax credit program under section 17 of this act is available to persons for tax due under this chapter. If a person has used a credit granted under this section against tax due under chapter 82.04 RCW the person may not use the same credit for tax due under this chapter.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 18. It is the intent of the legislature to promote the creation and the retention of jobs. To that end section 20, chapter . . ., Laws of 1998 (section 20 of this act) allows counties to provide public facilities that will attract and retain businesses, thereby creating and maintaining jobs.

Sec. 19. RCW 82.14.370 and 1997 c 366 s 3 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) The legislative authority of a distressed county may impose a sales and use tax in accordance with the terms of this chapter. The tax is in addition to other taxes authorized by law and shall be collected from those persons who are taxable by the state under chapters 82.08 and 82.12 RCW upon the occurrence of any taxable event within the county. The rate of tax shall not exceed ((0.04)) 0.12 percent of the selling price in the case of a sales tax or value of the article used in the case of a use tax.

(2) The tax imposed under subsection (1) of this section shall be deducted from the amount of tax otherwise required to be collected or paid over to the department of revenue under chapter 82.08 or 82.12 RCW. The department of revenue shall perform the collection of such taxes on behalf of the county at no cost to the county.

(3) Moneys collected under this section shall only be used for the purpose of financing qualifying public facilities in rural counties. The public facility must be listed as an item in the economic development section of the comprehensive plan for those counties planning under RCW 36.70A.040, or, for those counties who do not plan under the growth management act, the public facility must be listed in the county's capital facilities plan. For the purposes of this section, "public facilities" means bridges, roads, domestic and industrial water, sanitary sewer, storm sewer, railroad, electricity, natural gas, buildings or structures, and port facilities, in the state of Washington.

(4) No tax may be collected under this section before July 1, 1998. No tax may be collected under this section by a county more than twenty-five years after the date that a tax is first imposed under this section.

(5) For purposes of this section, "distressed county" means a county in which the average level of unemployment for the three years before the year in which a tax is first imposed under this section exceeds the average state unemployment for those years by twenty percent.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 20. Sections 9 through 16 of this act constitute a new chapter in Title 84 RCW.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 21. If any provision of this act or its application to any person or circumstance is held invalid, the remainder of the act or the application of the provision to other persons or circumstances is not affected.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 22. This act takes effect July 1, 1998."

Sec. 8. RCW 74.46.100 and 1985 c 361 s 9 are each amended to read as follows:

The principles inherent within RCW 74.46.105 and 74.46.130 are

(1) The purposes of department audits under this chapter are to ascertain, through department audit of the financial and statistical records of the contractor's nursing facility operation, that:

   (a) Allowable costs for each year for each medicaid nursing facility are accurately reported,

   (b) Cost reports accurately reflect the true financial condition, revenues, expenditures, equity, beneficial ownership, related party status, and records of the contractor, particularly as they pertain to related organizations and beneficial ownership, thereby providing a valid basis for the determination of return as specified by this chapter,

   (c) The contractor's revenues, expenditures, and costs of the building, land, land improvements, building improvements, and movable and fixed equipment are recorded in compliance with department requirements, instructions, and generally accepted accounting principles; and

   (d) The responsibility of the contractor has been met in the maintenance and disbursement of patient trust funds.

(2) The department shall examine the submitted cost report, or a portion thereof, of each contractor for each nursing facility for each report period to determine if the information is correct, complete, reported in conformance with department instructions and generally accepted accounting principles, the requirements of this chapter, and rules as the department may adopt. The department shall determine the scope of the examination.

(3) If the examination finds that the cost report is incorrect or incomplete, the department may make adjustments to the reported information for purposes of establishing payment rates or in determining amounts to be recovered in direct care, therapy care, and support services under section 10(3) and (4) of this act or in any component rate resulting from undocumented or misreported costs. A schedule of the adjustments shall be provided to the contractor, including dollar amount and explanations for the adjustments. Adjustments shall be subject to review if desired by the contractor under the appeals or exception procedure established by the department.

(4) Examinations of resident trust funds and receivables shall be reported separately and in accordance with the provisions of this chapter and rules adopted by the department.

(5) The contractor shall:

   (a) Provide access to the nursing facility, all financial and statistical records, and all working papers that are in support of the cost report, receivables, and resident trust funds. To ensure accuracy, the department may require the contractor to submit for departmental review any underlying financial statements or other records, including income tax returns, relating to the cost report directly or indirectly;

   (b) Prepare a reconciliation of the cost report with (i) applicable federal income and federal and state payroll tax returns; and (ii) the records for the period covered by the cost report;

   (c) Make available to the department's auditor an individual or individuals to respond to questions and requests for information from the auditor. The designated individual or individuals shall have sufficient knowledge of the issues, operations, or functions to provide accurate and reliable information.

(6) If an examination discloses material discrepancies, undocumented costs, or mishandling of resident trust funds, the department may open or reopen one or both of the two preceding cost report or resident trust fund periods, whether examined or unexamined, for indication of similar discrepancies, undocumented costs, or mishandling of resident trust funds.

(7) Any assets, liabilities, revenues, or expenses reported as allowable that are not supported by adequate documentation in the contractor's records shall be disallowed. Documentation must show... both that costs reported were incurred during the period covered by the report and were related to resident care, and that assets reported were used in the provision of resident care.

(8) When access is required at the facility or at another location in the state, the department shall notify a contractor of its intent to examine all financial and statistical records, and all working papers that are in support of the cost report, receivables, and resident trust funds.

(9) The department is authorized to assess civil fines and take adverse rate action if a contractor, or any of its employees, does not allow access to the contractor’s nursing facility records.

(10) RCW 74.46.100 through 74.46.130, and rules adopted by the department pursuant thereto prior to January 1, 1998, shall continue to govern the medicaid nursing facility audit process for periods prior to January 1, 1997, as if these statutes and rules remained in full force and effect.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 9. (1) The department shall reconcile medicaid resident days to billed days and medicaid payments for each medicaid nursing facility for the preceding calendar year, or for that portion of the calendar year the provider’s contract was in effect.

(2) The contractor shall make any payment owed the department, determined by the process of reconciliation, by the process of settlement at the lower of cost or rate in direct care, therapy care, and support services component rates, as authorized in this chapter, within sixty days after notification and demand for payment is sent to the contractor.

(3) The department shall make any payment due the contractor within sixty days after it determines the underpayment exists and notification is sent to the contractor.

(4) Interest at the rate of one percent per month accrues against the department or the contractor on an unpaid balance existing sixty days after notification is sent to the contractor. Accrued interest shall be adjusted back to the date it began to accrue if the payment obligation is subsequently revised after administrative or judicial review.

(5) The department is authorized to withhold funds from the contractor’s payment for services, and to take all other actions authorized by law, to recover amounts due and payable from the contractor, including any accrued interest. Neither a timely filed request to pursue any administrative appeals or exception procedure that the department may establish in rule, nor commencement of judicial review as may be available to the contractor in law, to contest a payment obligation determination shall delay recovery from the contractor or payment to the contractor.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 10. (1) Contractors shall be required to submit with each annual nursing facility cost report a proposed settlement report showing underspending or overspending in each component rate during the cost report year on a per-resident day basis. The department shall accept or reject the proposed settlement report, explain any adjustments, and issue a revised settlement report if needed.

(2) Contractors shall not be required to refund payments made in property, return on investment, and financing allowance component rates, nor shall they be required to refund payments made in operations component rates, in excess of the adjusted costs of providing services corresponding to these components.

(3) The facility will return to the department any overpayment amounts in each of the nursing services, administrative, and operational component rates. The facility will return to the department any overpayment amounts in each of the direct care, therapy care, and support services component rates that the department identifies following the audit and settlement procedures as described in chapter . . ., Laws of 1998 (this act), provided that the contractor may retain any overpayment that does not exceed 1.0% of the facility’s direct care, therapy care, and support services component rate. Facilities that are not in substantial compliance, as defined by federal survey regulations during the period for which settlement is being calculated, will not be allowed to retain any amount of overpayment in the facility’s direct care, therapy care, and support services component rate.

(4) Determination of unused rate funds, including the amounts of direct care, therapy care, and support services to be recovered, shall be done separately for each component rate, and neither costs nor rate payments shall be shifted from one component rate or corresponding service area to another in determining the degree of underspending or recovery, if any.

(5) Total and component payment rates assigned to a nursing facility, as calculated and revised, if needed, under the provisions of this chapter and those rules as the department may adopt, shall represent the maximum payment for nursing facility services rendered to medicaid recipients for the period the rates are in effect. No increase in payment to a contractor shall result from spending above the total payment rate or in any rate component.

(6) RCW 74.46.150 through 74.46.180, and rules adopted by the department prior to the effective date of this section, shall continue to govern the medicaid settlement process for nursing facilities, including refunds, interest obligations, and other rights of the parties, for periods prior to January 1, 1999, as if these statutes and rules remained in full force and effect.

(7) For calendar year 1999, the department shall calculate split settlements covering January 1, 1999, through June 30, 1999, and July 1, 1999, through December 31, 1999. For the first half of calendar year 1999, rules specified in subsection (6) of this section shall apply and for the second half of calendar year 1999, the provisions of this chapter shall apply. The department shall, by rule, determine the division of calendar year 1999 adjusted costs for settlement purposes.

(1) The substance of a transaction will prevail over its form.

(2) All documented costs which are ordinary, necessary, related to care of medical care recipients, and not expressly unallowable under this chapter or department rule, are to be allowable. Costs of providing (ancillary) therapy care are allowable, subject to any applicable (cost center) limit contained in this chapter, provided documentation establishes the costs were incurred for medical care recipients and other sources of payment to which recipients may be legally entitled, such as private insurance or medicare, were first fully utilized.

(3) Costs applicable to services, facilities, and supplies furnished to the provider by related organizations are allowable but at the cost to the related organization, provided they do not exceed the price of comparable services, facilities, or supplies that could be purchased elsewhere.

(4) Beginning January 1, 1985, the payment for property usage is to be independent of ownership structure and financing arrangements.

(5) Beginning July 1, 1995, allowable costs shall not include costs reported by a contractor for a prior period to the extent such costs, due to statutory exemption, will not be incurred by the nursing facility in the period to be covered by the rate.

These expenses shall be limited to start-up and organizational costs incurred prior to the admission of the first patient.

(2) Start-up costs shall include, but not be limited to, administrative and nursing salaries, utility costs, taxes, insurance, repairs and maintenance, and training; except, that they shall exclude expenditures for capital assets. These costs will be allowable in the operations cost center if they are amortized over a period of not less than sixty months beginning with the month in which the first patient is admitted for care.

(3) Organizational costs are those necessary, ordinary, and directly incident to the creation of a corporation or other form of business of the contractor including, but not limited to, legal fees incurred in establishing the corporation or other organization and fees paid to states for incorporation; except, that they do not include costs relating to the issuance and sale of shares of capital stock or other securities. Such organizational costs will be allowable in the operations cost center if they are amortized over a period of not less than sixty months beginning with the month in which the first patient is admitted for care.

(b) Costs are allocated in accordance with benefits received from the resources represented by those costs.

(3) Such disclosure shall be made not later than September 30th for the following calendar year (and not later than September 30th for each year thereafter); except that a new contractor shall submit the first year’s disclosure (together with the submissions required by RCW 74.46.670. Where a contractor will make neither a change in the joint costs to be incurred nor in the allocation methodology, the contractor may certify that no change will be made in lieu of the disclosure required in subsection (1) of this section) at least sixty days prior to the date the new contract becomes effective.

(4) The department shall (approve such methodology not later than) by December 31st, (1980, and not later than December 31st for each year thereafter) for all disclosures that are complete and timely submitted, either approve or reject the disclosure. The department may request additional information or clarification.

(5) Acceptance of a disclosure or approval of a joint cost methodology by the department may not be construed as a determination that the allocated costs are allowable in whole or in part. However, joint facility costs not disclosed, allocated, and reported in conformity with this section and department rules are unallowable.

(6) An approved methodology may be revised or amended subject to approval as provided in rules and regulations adopted by the department.

(2) To be allowable, fees must be for necessary, nonduplicative services.
(3) A management fee paid to or for the benefit of a related organization will be allowable to the extent it does not exceed the lower of the actual cost to the related organization of providing necessary services related to patient care under the agreement or the cost of comparable services purchased elsewhere. Where costs to the related organization represent joint facility costs, the measurement of such costs shall comply with RCW 74.46.270.
(4) A copy of the agreement must be received by the department at least sixty days before it is to become effective. A copy of any amendment to a management agreement must also be received by the department at least thirty days in advance of the date it is to become effective. Failure to meet these deadlines will result in the unallowability of cost incurred more than sixty days prior to submitting a management agreement and more than thirty days prior to submitting an amendment.
(5) The scope of services to be performed under a management agreement cannot be so extensive that the manager or managing entity is substituted for the contractor in fact, substantially relieving the contractor/licensee of responsibility for operating the facility.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 18. (1) Effective July 1, 1999, nursing facility medicaid payment rates shall be facility-specific and shall have six components: Direct care, therapy care, support services, operations, property, and return on investment rate. The department shall establish and adjust each of these components, as provided in this section and elsewhere in this chapter, for each medicaid nursing facility in this state.
(2) All component rates shall be based upon a minimum facility occupancy of eighty-five percent of licensed beds, regardless of how many beds are set up or in use. That portion of a facility’s costs associated with or calculated on an occupancy lower than eighty-five percent shall be unallowable.

(3) Adjustments to direct care, therapy care, support services, and operations component rates for economic trends and conditions shall utilize changes in the nursing home input price index without capital costs published by the health care financing administration of the United States department of health and human services (HCFA index), to be applied as specified in this section. The department is authorized to use alternate indexes as selected by the department if any index specified in this section ceases to be published, is altered or superseded, or if another index is deemed more appropriate by the department.

(4) Information and data sources used in determining medicaid payment rates, including formulas, procedures, cost report periods, resident assessment instrument formats, resident assessment methodologies, and resident classification and case mix weighting methodologies, may be substituted or altered from time to time as determined by the department.

The property and return on investment component rates shall be rebased annually, with no further adjustments, using adjusted cost report data from the prior calendar year covering at least six months of data.

Total payment rates under the nursing facility medicaid payment system shall not exceed facility rates charged to the general public for comparable services.

Medicaid contractors shall pay to all facility staff a minimum wage of the greater of five dollars and fifteen cents per hour or the federal minimum wage.

The department shall establish in rule procedures, principles, and conditions for determining rates for facilities in circumstances not directly addressed by this chapter, including but not limited to: The need to prorate inflation for partial-period cost report data, newly constructed facilities, existing facilities entering the medicaid program for the first time or after a period of absence from the program, existing facilities with expanded new bed capacity, existing medicaid facilities following a change of ownership of the nursing facility business, facilities banking beds or converting beds back into service, facilities having less than six months of either resident assessment, cost report data, or both, under the current contractor prior to rate setting, and other circumstances.

The department shall establish in rule procedures, principles, and conditions, including necessary threshold costs, for adjusting rates to reflect capital improvements or new requirements imposed by the department or the federal government.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 19. The department shall disclose to any member of the public all rate-setting information consistent with requirements of state and federal laws.

Sec. 20. RCW 74.46.475 and 1985 c 361 s 13 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) The department shall analyze the submitted cost report or a portion thereof of each contractor for each report period to determine if the information is correct, complete, and reported in conformance with department instructions and generally accepted accounting principles, the requirements of this chapter, and such rules as the department may adopt. If the analysis finds that the cost report is incorrect or incomplete, the department may make adjustments to the reported information for purposes of establishing reimbursement payment rates. A schedule of such adjustments shall be provided to contractors and shall include an explanation for the adjustment and the dollar amount of the adjustment. Adjustments shall be subject to review and appeal as provided in this chapter.

(2) The department shall accumulate data from properly completed cost reports, in addition to assessment data on each facility’s resident population characteristics, for use in:

(a) Exception profiling; and
(b) Establishing rates.

(3) The department may further utilize such accumulated data for analytical, statistical, or informational purposes as necessary.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 21. (1) The department shall employ the resource utilization group III case mix classification methodology. The department shall use the forty-four group index maximizing model for the resource utilization group III grouper version 5.10, but the department may revise or update the classification methodology to reflect advances or refinements in resident assessment or classification, subject to federal requirements.

(2) A default case mix group shall be established for cases in which the resident dies or is discharged for any purpose prior to completion of the resident’s initial assessment. The default case mix group and case mix weight for these cases shall be designated by the department.

(3) A default case mix group may also be established for cases in which there is an untimely assessment for the resident. The default case mix group and case mix weight for these cases shall be designated by the department.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 22. (1) Each case mix classification group shall be assigned a case mix weight. The case mix weight for each resident of a nursing facility for each calendar quarter shall be based on data from resident assessment instruments completed for the resident and weighted by the number of days the resident was in each case mix classification group. Days shall be counted as provided in this section.
(2) The case mix weights shall be based on the average minutes per registered nurse, licensed practical nurse, and certified nurse aide, for each case mix group, and using the health care financing administration of the United States department of health and human services 1995 nursing facility staff time measurement study stemming from its multistate nursing home case mix and quality demonstration project. Those minutes shall be weighted by state-wide ratios of registered nurse to certified nurse aide, and licensed practical nurse to certified nurse aide, wages, including salaries and benefits, which shall be based on 1995 cost report data for this state.

(3) The case mix weights shall be determined as follows:
(a) Set the certified nurse aide wage weight at 1.000 and calculate wage weights for registered nurse and licensed practical nurse average wages by dividing the certified nurse aide average wage into the registered nurse average wage and licensed practical nurse average wage;
(b) Calculate the total weighted minutes for each case mix group in the resource utilization group III classification system by multiplying the wage weight for each worker classification by the average number of minutes that classification of worker spends caring for a resident in that resource utilization group III classification group, and summing the products;
(c) Assign a case mix weight of 1.000 to the resource utilization group III classification group with the lowest total weighted minutes and calculate case mix weights by dividing the lowest group's total weighted minutes into each group's total weighted minutes and rounding weight calculations to the third decimal place.

(4) The case mix weights in this state may be revised if the health care financing administration updates its nursing facility staff time measurement studies. The case mix weights shall be revised, but only when direct care component rates are cost-rebased as provided in subsection (5) of this section, to be effective on the July 1st effective date of each cost-rebased direct care component rate. However, the department may revise case mix weights more frequently if, and only if, significant variances in wage ratios occur among direct care staff in the different caregiver classifications identified in this section.

(5) Case mix weights shall be revised when direct care component rates are cost-rebased every three years as provided in section 18(5)(a) of this act.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 23. (1) From individual case mix weights for the applicable quarter, the department shall determine two average case mix indexes for each medicaid nursing facility, one for all residents in the facility, known as the facility average case mix index, and one for medicaid residents, known as the medicaid average case mix index.

(2)(a) In calculating a facility's two average case mix indexes for each quarter, the department shall include all residents or medicaid residents, as applicable, who were physically in the facility during the quarter in question (January 1st through March 31st, April 1st through June 30th, July 1st through September 30th, or October 1st through December 31st).

(b) The facility average case mix index shall exclude all default cases as defined in this chapter. However, the medicaid average case mix index shall include all default cases.

(3) Both the facility average and the medicaid average case mix indexes shall be determined by multiplying the case mix weight of each resident, or each medicaid resident, as applicable, by the number of days, as defined in this section and as applicable, the resident was at each particular case mix classification or group, and then averaging.

(4)(a) In determining the number of days a resident is classified into a particular case mix group, the department shall determine a start date for calculating case mix grouping periods as follows:
(i) If a resident's initial assessment for a first stay or a return stay in the nursing facility is timely completed and transmitted to the department by the cutoff date under state and federal requirements and as described in subsection (5) of this section, the start date shall be the later of either the first day of the quarter or the resident's facility admission or readmission date;
(ii) If a resident's significant change, quarterly, or annual assessment is timely completed and transmitted to the department by the cutoff date under state and federal requirements and as described in subsection (5) of this section, the start date shall be the date the assessment is completed;
(iii) If a resident's significant change, quarterly, or annual assessment is not timely completed and transmitted to the department by the cutoff date under state and federal requirements and as described in subsection (5) of this section, the start date shall be the due date for the assessment.
(b) If state or federal rules require more frequent assessment, the same principles for determining the start date of a resident’s classification in a particular case mix group set forth in subsection (4)(a) of this section shall apply.

(c) In calculating the number of days a resident is classified into a particular case mix group, the department shall determine an end date for calculating case mix grouping periods as follows:
(i) If a resident is discharged before the end of the applicable quarter, the end date shall be the day before discharge;
(ii) If a resident is not discharged before the end of the applicable quarter, the end date shall be the last day of the quarter;
(iii) If a new assessment is due for a resident or a new assessment is completed and transmitted to the department, the end date of the previous assessment shall be the earlier of either the day before the assessment is due or the day before the assessment is completed by the nursing facility.

(5) The cutoff date for the department to use resident assessment data, for the purposes of calculating both the facility average and the medicaid average case mix indexes, and for establishing and updating a facility’s direct care component rate, shall be one month and one day after the end of the quarter for which the resident assessment data applies.

(6) A threshold of ninety percent, as described and calculated in this subsection, shall be used to determine the case mix index each quarter. The threshold shall also be used to determine which facilities’ costs per case mix unit are included in determining the ceiling, floor, and price. If the facility does not meet the ninety percent threshold, the department may use an alternate case mix index to determine the facility average and medicaid average case mix indexes for the quarter. The threshold is a count of unique minimum data set assessments, and it shall include resident assessment instrument tracking forms for residents discharged prior to completing an initial assessment. The threshold is calculated by dividing the count of unique minimum data set assessments by the average census for each facility. A daily census shall be reported by each nursing facility as it transmits assessment data to the department. The department shall compute a quarterly average census based on the daily census. If no census has been reported by a facility during a specified quarter, then the department shall use the facility’s licensed beds as the denominator in computing the threshold.

(7)(a) Although the facility average and the medicaid average case mix indexes shall both be calculated quarterly, the facility average case mix index will be used only every three years in combination with cost report data as specified by this section, to establish a facility’s allowable cost per case mix unit. A facility’s medicaid average case mix index shall be used to update a nursing facility’s direct care component rate quarterly.

(b) The facility average case mix index used to establish each nursing facility’s direct care component rate shall be based on an average of calendar quarters of the facility’s average case mix indexes.
(i) For July 1, 1998, direct care component rates, the department shall use an average of facility average case mix indexes from the four calendar quarters of 1997.
(ii) For July 1, 2000, direct care component rates, the department shall use an average of facility average case mix indexes from the four calendar quarters of 1998.

(c) The medicaid average case mix index used to update or recalibrate a nursing facility’s direct care component rate quarterly shall be from the calendar quarter commencing six months prior to the effective date of the quarterly rate. For example, July 1, 1998, through September 30, 1998, direct care component rates shall use medicaid case mix averages from the January 1, 1998, through March 31, 1999, calendar quarter; October 1, 1998, through December 31, 1998, direct care component rates shall utilize case mix averages from the April 1, 1998, through June 30, 1998, calendar quarter, and so forth.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 24. (1) The direct care component rate corresponds to the provision of nursing care for one resident of a nursing facility for one day, including direct care supplies. Therapy services and supplies, which correspond to the therapy care component rate, shall be excluded. The direct care component rate includes elements of case mix determined consistent with the principles of this section and other applicable provisions of this chapter.

(2) Beginning July 1, 1998, the department shall determine and update quarterly for each nursing facility serving medicaid residents a facility-specific per-resident day direct care component rate, to be effective on the first day of each calendar quarter. In determining direct care component rates the department shall utilize, as specified in this section, minimum data set resident assessment data for each resident of the facility, as transmitted to, and if necessary corrected by, the department in the resident assessment instrument format approved by federal authorities for use in this state.

(3) The department may question the accuracy of assessment data for any resident and utilize corrected or substitute information, however derived, in determining direct care component rates. The department is authorized to impose civil fines and to take adverse rate actions against a contractor, as specified by the department in rule, in order to obtain compliance with resident assessment and data transmission requirements and to ensure accuracy.

(4) Cost report data used in setting direct care component rates shall be 1996 and 1999, for rate periods as specified in section 18(5)(a) of this act.

(5) Beginning July 1, 1998, the department shall rebase each nursing facility's direct care component rate as described in section 18 of this act, adjust its direct care component rate for economic trends and conditions as described in section 18 of this act, and update its medicaid average case mix index, consistent with the following:

(a) Reduce total direct care costs reported by each nursing facility for the applicable cost report period specified in section 18(5)(a) of this act to reflect any department adjustments, and to eliminate reported resident therapy costs and adjustments, in order to derive the facility's total allowable direct care cost;

(b) Divide each facility's total allowable direct care cost by its adjusted resident days for the same report period, increased if necessary to a minimum occupancy of eighty-five percent; that is, the greater of actual or imputed occupancy at eighty-five percent of licensed beds, to derive the facility's allowable direct care cost per resident day;

(c) Adjust the facility's per resident day direct care cost by the applicable factor specified in section 18(5) (b) and (c) of this act to derive its adjusted allowable direct care cost per resident day;

(d) Divide each facility's adjusted allowable direct care cost per resident day by the facility average case mix index for the applicable quarters specified by section 23(7)(b) of this act to derive the facility's allowable direct care cost per case mix unit;

(e) Divide nursing facilities into two peer groups: Those located in metropolitan statistical areas as determined and defined by the United States office of management and budget or other appropriate agency or office of the federal government, and those not located in a metropolitan statistical area;

(f) Array separately the allowable direct care cost per case mix unit for all metropolitan statistical area and for all nonmetropolitan statistical area facilities, and determine the median allowable direct care cost per case mix unit for each peer group;

(g) Determine each facility’s allowable direct care cost per case mix unit. For July 1, 1998, through June 30, 2000, direct care component rates:

(i) A facility’s direct care cost per case mix unit shall not be set below the floor of eighty-five percent of the facility's metropolitan statistical area or nonmetropolitan statistical area peer group median cost per case mix unit;

(ii) A facility’s direct care cost per case mix unit shall not be set above the ceiling of one hundred fifteen percent of the facility's metropolitan statistical area or nonmetropolitan statistical area peer group median cost per case mix unit. Except that for those facilities whose cost per case mix unit is above the ceiling described in (g)(ii) of this subsection, the direct care component rate shall be set equal to the nursing services component rate in effect on June 30, 1998, in accordance with RCW 74.46.481 as it existed prior to the effective date of this section, less therapy costs, plus any exceptional care offsets as reported on the cost report, adjusted for economic trends and conditions as described in section 18 of this act; and after June 30, 1999, shall be set equal to the direct care component rate in effect at the end of the immediately preceding fiscal year, adjusted for economic trends and conditions as described in section 18 of this act;

(h) Multiply each nursing facility's allowable direct care cost per case mix unit by that facility's medicaid average case mix index from the applicable quarter specified by section 23(7)(c) of this act to arrive at the facility's quarterly direct care component rate.

(6) For July 1, 2000, through June 30, 2002, direct care component rates, for metropolitan statistical area and nonmetropolitan statistical area facilities, the ceiling for each facility within each peer group shall be one hundred ten percent of the peer group’s median allowable direct care cost per case mix unit, and the floor shall be ninety percent of the peer groups’ median allowable direct care cost per case mix unit; except that for those facilities whose cost per case mix unit is above the ceiling described in this subsection (6), the direct care component rate shall be set equal to the nursing services component rate in effect at the end of the immediately preceding fiscal year, adjusted for economic trends and conditions as described in section 18 of this act.

(7) For July 1, 2002, through June 30, 2004, direct care component rates, for metropolitan statistical area and nonmetropolitan statistical area facilities, the ceiling for each facility within each peer group shall be one hundred five percent of the peer group's median allowable direct care cost per case mix unit, and the floor shall be ninety-five percent of the peer group's median allowable direct care cost per case mix unit; except that for those facilities whose cost per case mix unit is above the ceiling described in this subsection (7), the direct care component rate shall be set equal to the nursing services component rate in effect at the end of the immediately preceding fiscal year, adjusted for economic trends and conditions as described by section 18 of this act.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 25. (1) The therapy care component rate corresponds to the provision of medicaid one-on-one therapy provided by a qualified therapist as defined in this chapter, including therapy supplies and therapy consultation, for one day for one medicaid resident of a nursing facility. The therapy care component rate for July 1, 1998, through June 30, 2001, shall be based on adjusted therapy costs and days from calendar year 1996. The therapy component rate for July 1, 2001, through June 30, 2004, shall be based on adjusted therapy costs and days from calendar year 1999. The therapy care component rate shall be adjusted for economic trends and conditions as specified in section 18(6)(b) of this act, and shall be determined in accordance with this section.

(2) In rebasing, as provided in section 18(6)(a) of this act, the department shall take from the cost reports of facilities the following reported information:
(a) Direct one-on-one therapy charges for all residents by payer including charges for supplies;
(b) The total units or modules of therapy care for all residents by type of therapy provided, for example, speech or physical. A unit or module of therapy care is considered to be fifteen minutes of one-on-one therapy provided by a qualified therapist or support personnel; and
(c) Therapy consulting expenses for all residents.
(3) The department shall determine for all residents the total cost per unit of therapy for each type of therapy by dividing the total adjusted one-on-one therapy expense for each type by the total units provided for that therapy type.
(4) The department shall divide medicaid nursing facilities in this state into two peer groups:
(a) Those facilities located within a metropolitan statistical area; and
(b) Those not located in a metropolitan statistical area.
Metropolitan statistical areas and nonmetropolitan statistical areas shall be as determined by the United States office of management and budget or other applicable federal office. The department shall array the facilities in each peer group from highest to lowest based on their total cost per unit of therapy for each therapy type. The department shall determine the median total cost per unit of therapy for each therapy type and add ten percent of median total cost per unit of therapy. The cost per unit of therapy for each therapy type at a nursing facility shall be the lesser of its cost per unit of therapy for each therapy type or the median total cost per unit plus ten percent for each therapy type for its peer group.
(5) The department shall calculate each nursing facility's therapy care component rate as follows:
(a) To determine the allowable total therapy cost for each therapy type, the allowable cost per unit of therapy for each type of therapy shall be multiplied by the total therapy units for each type of therapy;
(b) The medicaid allowable one-on-one therapy expense shall be calculated taking the allowable total therapy cost for each therapy type times the medicaid percent of total therapy charges for each therapy type;
(c) The medicaid allowable one-on-one therapy expense for each therapy type shall be divided by total adjusted medicaid days to arrive at the medicaid one-on-one therapy cost per patient day for each therapy type;
(d) The medicaid one-on-one therapy cost per patient day for each therapy type shall be multiplied by total adjusted patient days for all residents to calculate the total allowable one-on-one therapy expense. The lesser of the total allowable therapy consultant expense for the therapy type or a reasonable percentage of allowable therapy consultant expense for each therapy type, as established in rule by the department, shall be added to the total allowable one-on-one therapy expense to determine the allowable therapy cost for each therapy type;
(e) The allowable therapy cost for each therapy type shall be added together, the sum of which shall be the total allowable therapy expense for the nursing facility;

(f) The total allowable therapy expense will be divided by the greater of adjusted total patient days from the cost report on which the therapy expenses were reported, or patient days at eighty-five percent occupancy of licensed beds. The outcome shall be the nursing facility’s therapy care component rate.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 26. (1) The support services component rate corresponds to the provision of food, food preparation, dietary, housekeeping, and laundry services for one resident for one day.

(2) Beginning July 1, 1998, the department shall determine each medicaid nursing facility’s support services component rate using cost report data specified by section 18(7) of this act.

(3) To determine each facility’s support services component rate, the department shall:

(a) Array facilities’ adjusted support services costs per adjusted resident day for each facility from facilities’ cost reports from the applicable report year, for facilities located within a metropolitan statistical area, and for those not located in any metropolitan statistical area and determine the median adjusted cost for each peer group;

(b) Set each facility’s support services component rate at the lower of the facility's per resident day adjusted support services costs from the applicable cost report period or the adjusted median per resident day support services cost for that facility's peer group, either metropolitan statistical area or nonmetropolitan statistical area, plus ten percent; and

(c) Adjust each facility’s support services component rate for economic trends and conditions as provided in section 18(7) of this act.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 27. (1) The operations component rate corresponds to the general operation of a nursing facility for one resident for one day, including but not limited to management, administration, utilities, office supplies, accounting and bookkeeping, minor building maintenance, minor equipment repairs and replacements, and other supplies and services, exclusive of direct care, therapy care, support services, and capital return.

(2) Beginning July 1, 1998, the department shall determine each medicaid nursing facility’s operations component rate using cost report data specified by section 18(8)(a) of this act.

(3) To determine each facility’s operations component rate the department shall:

(a) Array facilities’ adjusted general operations costs per adjusted resident day for each facility from facilities’ cost reports from the applicable report year, for facilities located within a metropolitan statistical area and for those not located in a metropolitan statistical area and determine the median adjusted cost for each peer group;

(b) Set each facility’s operations component rate at the lower of the facility's per resident day adjusted operations costs from the applicable cost report period or the adjusted median per resident day general operations cost for that facility's peer group, metropolitan statistical area or nonmetropolitan statistical area; and

(c) Adjust each facility’s operations component rate for economic trends and conditions as provided in section 18(8)(b) of this act.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 28. (1) The property cost center rate for each facility shall be determined by dividing the sum of the reported allowable prior period actual depreciation, subject to RCW 74.46.310 through 74.46.380, adjusted for any capitalized additions or replacements approved by the department, and the retained savings from such cost center, by the greater of a facility’s total resident days for the facility in the prior period or resident days as calculated on ninety or eighty-five percent facility occupancy as applicable. If a capitalized addition or retirement of an asset will result in a different licensed bed capacity during the ensuing period, the prior period total resident days used in computing the property cost center rate shall be adjusted to anticipated resident day level.

(2) A nursing facility’s property rate shall be rebased annually, effective July 1st, in accordance with this section and this chapter.

(3) When a certificate of need for a new facility is requested, the department, in reaching its decision, shall take into consideration per-bed land and building construction costs for the facility which shall not exceed a maximum to be established by the secretary.
(4) For the purpose of calculating a nursing facility’s property component rate, if a contractor elects to bank licensed beds or to convert banked beds to active service, under chapter 70.38 RCW, the department shall use the facility’s anticipated resident occupancy level subsequent to the decrease or increase in licensed bed capacity. However, in no case shall the department use less than ninety percent occupancy of the facility’s licensed bed capacity after banking or conversion.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 29. (1) The department shall establish for each medicaid nursing facility a return on investment rate composed of two parts: A financing allowance and a variable return allowance. The financing allowance portion of a facility’s return on investment component rate shall be rebased annually, effective July 1st, in accordance with the provisions of this section and this chapter.

(a) The financing allowance shall be determined by multiplying the net invested funds of each facility by .085, and dividing by the greater of a nursing facility’s total resident days from the most recent cost report period or resident days calculated on ninety percent or eighty-five percent facility occupancy as applicable. If a capitalized addition or retirement of an asset will result in a different licensed bed capacity during the ensuing period, the prior period total resident days used in computing the financing and variable return allowances shall be adjusted to the anticipated resident day level.

(b) In computing the portion of net invested funds representing the net book value of tangible fixed assets, the same assets, depreciation bases, lives, and methods referred to in RCW 74.46.330, 74.46.350, 74.46.360, 74.46.370, and 74.46.380, including owned and leased assets, shall be utilized, except that the capitalized cost of land upon which the facility is located and such other contiguous land which is reasonable and necessary for use in the regular course of providing resident care shall also be included. Subject to provisions and limitations contained in this chapter, for land purchased by owners or lessors before July 18, 1984, capitalized cost of land shall be the buyer’s capitalized cost. For all partial or whole rate periods after July 17, 1984, if the land is purchased after July 17, 1984, capitalized cost shall be that of the owner of record on July 17, 1984, or buyer’s capitalized cost, whichever is lower. In the case of leased facilities where the net invested funds are unknown or the contractor is unable to provide necessary information to determine net invested funds, the secretary shall have the authority to determine an amount for net invested funds based on an appraisal conducted according to RCW 74.46.360(1).

(c) In determining the variable return allowance:

(i) For all rate setting periods beginning July 1st, the department, without utilizing peer groups, shall first rank all facilities in numerical order from highest to lowest according to their per resident day adjusted or audited, or both, allowable costs for nursing services, food, administrative, and operational costs combined for the 1994 calendar year cost report period.

(ii) The department shall then compute the variable return allowance by multiplying the appropriate percentage amounts, which shall not be less than one percent and not greater than four percent, by the sum of the facility’s nursing services, food, administrative, and operational rate components. The percentage amounts will be based on groupings of facilities according to the rankings prescribed in (c)(i) of this subsection. The percentages calculated and assigned will remain the same for the variable return allowance paid in all July 1, 1996, and July 1, 1997, rates as well. Those groups of facilities with lower per diem costs shall receive higher percentage amounts than those with higher per diem costs.

(d) The sum of the financing allowance and the variable return allowance shall be the return on investment rate for each facility, and shall be added to the prospective rates of each contractor as determined in sections 18 through 27 of this act.

(e) In the case of a facility that was leased by the contractor as of January 1, 1980, in an arm’s-length agreement, which continues to be leased under the same lease agreement, and for which the annualized lease payment, plus any interest and depreciation expenses associated with contractor-owned assets, for the period covered by the prospective rates, divided by the contractor’s total resident days, minus the property cost center determined according to section 28 of this act, is more than the return on investment rate determined according to (d) of this subsection, the following shall apply:

(i) The financing allowance shall be recomputed substituting the fair market value of the assets as of January 1, 1982, as determined by the department of general administration through an appraisal procedure, less accumulated depreciation on the lessor’s assets since January 1, 1982, for the net book value of the assets in determining net invested funds for the facility. A determination by the department of general administration of fair market value shall be final unless the procedure used to make such a determination is shown to be arbitrary and capricious.
(i) The sum of the financing allowance computed under (e)(i) of this subsection and the variable allowance associated with contractor-owned assets, for the period covered by the prospective rates, divided by the contractor’s total resident days, minus the property cost center rate determined according to section 28 of this act. The lesser of the two amounts shall be called the alternate return on investment rate.

(ii) The return on investment rate determined according to (d) of this subsection or the alternate return on investment rate, whichever is greater, shall be the return on investment rate for the facility and shall be added to the prospective rates of the contractor as determined in sections 18 through 27 of this act.

(iii) The return on investment rate determined according to (d) of this subsection or the alternate return on investment rate, whichever is greater, shall be the return on investment rate for the facility and shall be added to the prospective rates of the contractor as determined in sections 18 through 27 of this act.

(f) In the case of a facility that was leased by the contractor as of January 1, 1980, in an arm’s-length agreement, if the lease is renewed or extended under a provision of the lease, the treatment provided in (e) of this subsection shall be applied, except that in the case of renewals or extensions made subsequent to April 1, 1985, reimbursement for the annualized lease payment shall be no greater than the reimbursement for the annualized lease payment for the last year prior to the renewal or extension of the lease.

(2) For the purpose of calculating a nursing facility’s return on investment component rate, if a contractor elects to bank beds or to convert banked beds to active service, under chapter 70.38 RCW, the department shall use the facility’s anticipated resident occupancy level subsequent to the decrease or increase in licensed bed capacity. However, in no case shall the department use less than ninety percent occupancy of the facility’s licensed bed capacity after banking or conversion.

(3) Each biennium the secretary shall review the adequacy of return on investment rates in relation to anticipated requirements for maintaining, reducing, or expanding nursing care capacity. The secretary shall report the results of a such review to the legislature and make recommendations for adjustments in the return on investment rates utilized in this section, if appropriate.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 30. (1) The department may adjust component rates for errors or omissions made in establishing component rates and determine amounts either overpaid to the contractor or underpaid by the department.

(2) A contractor may request the department to adjust its component rates because of:
(a) An error or omission the contractor made in completing a cost report; or
(b) An alleged error or omission made by the department in determining one or more of the contractor’s component rates.

(3) A request for a rate adjustment made on incorrect cost reporting must be accompanied by the amended cost report pages prepared in accordance with the department’s written instructions and by a written explanation of the error or omission and the necessity for the amended cost report pages and the rate adjustment.

(4) The department shall review a contractor’s request for a rate adjustment because of an alleged error or omission, even if the time period has expired in which the contractor must appeal the rate when initially issued, pursuant to rules adopted by the department under RCW 74.46.780. If the request is received after this time period, the department has the authority to correct the rate if it agrees an error or omission was committed. However, if the request is denied, the contractor shall not be entitled to any appeals or exception review procedure that the department may adopt under RCW 74.46.780.

(5) The department shall notify the contractor of the amount of the overpayment to be recovered or additional payment to be made to the contractor reflecting a rate adjustment to correct an error or omission. The recovery from the contractor of the overpayment or the additional payment to the contractor shall be governed by the reconciliation, settlement, security, and recovery processes set forth in this chapter and by rules adopted by the department in accordance with this chapter and RCW 74.46.800.

Sec. 31. RCW 74.46.610 and 1983 1st ex.s. c 67 s 33 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) A contractor shall bill the department each month by completing and returning a facility billing statement as provided by the department ((which shall include, but not be limited to:))
(a) Billing by cost center;
(b) Total patient days; and
(c) Patient days for medical care recipients).
The statement shall be completed and filed in accordance with rules ((and regulations)) established by the ((secretary)) department.

(2) A facility shall not bill the department for service provided to a recipient until an award letter of eligibility of such recipient under rules established under chapter 74.09 RCW has been received by the facility. However, a facility may bill and shall be reimbursed for all medical care recipients referred to the facility by the department prior to the receipt of the award letter of eligibility or the denial of such eligibility.

(3) Billing shall cover the patient days of care.

Sec. 32. RCW 74.46.620 and 1980 c 177 s 62 are each amended to read as follows:
(1) The department will ((reimburse)) pay a contractor for service rendered under the facility contract and billed in accordance with RCW 74.46.610.
(2) The amount paid will be computed using the appropriate rates assigned to the contractor.
(3) For each recipient, the department will pay an amount equal to the appropriate rates, multiplied by the number of ((patient)) medicaid resident days each rate was in effect, less the amount the recipient is required to pay for his or her care as set forth by RCW 74.46.630.

Sec. 33. RCW 74.46.630 and 1980 c 177 s 63 are each amended to read as follows:
(1) The department will notify a contractor of the amount each medical care recipient is required to pay for care provided under the contract and the effective date of such required contribution. It is the contractor’s responsibility to collect that portion of the cost of care from the patient, and to account for any authorized reduction from his or her contribution in accordance with rules ((and regulations)) established by the ((secretary)) department.
(2) If a contractor receives documentation showing a change in the income or resources of a recipient which will mean a change in his or her contribution toward the cost of care, this shall be reported in writing to the department within seventy-two hours and in a manner specified by rules ((and regulations)) established by the ((secretary)) department. If necessary, appropriate corrections will be made in the next facility statement, and a copy of documentation supporting the change will be attached. If increased funds for a recipient are received by a contractor, an amount determined by the department shall be allowed for clothing and personal and incidental expense, and the balance applied to the cost of care.
(3) The contractor shall accept the ((reimbursement)) payment rates established by the department as full compensation for all services provided under the contract, certification as specified by Title XIX, and licensure under chapter 18.51 RCW. The contractor shall not seek or accept additional compensation from or on behalf of a recipient for any or all such services.

Sec. 34. RCW 74.46.640 and 1995 1st sp.s. c 18 s 112 are each amended to read as follows:
(1) Payments to a contractor may be withheld by the department in each of the following circumstances:
(a) A required report is not properly completed and filed by the contractor within the appropriate time period, including any approved extension. Payments will be released as soon as a properly completed report is received;
(b) State auditors, department auditors, or authorized personnel in the course of their duties are refused access to a nursing facility or are not provided with existing appropriate records. Payments will be released as soon as such access or records are provided;
(c) A refund in connection with a ((preliminary or final)) settlement or rate adjustment is not paid by the contractor when due. The amount withheld will be limited to the unpaid amount of the refund and any accumulated interest owed to the department as authorized by this chapter;
(d) Payment for the final sixty days of service under a contract will be held in the absence of adequate alternate security acceptable to the department pending ((final)) settlement of all periods when the contract is terminated; and
(e) Payment for services at any time during the contract period in the absence of adequate alternate security acceptable to the department, if a contractor’s net medicaid overpayment liability for one or more nursing facilities or other debt to the department, as determined by ((preliminary settlement, final)) settlement, civil fines imposed by the department, third-party liabilities or other source, reaches or exceeds fifty thousand dollars, whether subject to good faith dispute or not, and for each subsequent increase in liability reaching or exceeding twenty-five thousand dollars. Payments will be released as soon as practicable after acceptable security is provided or refund to the department is made.

(2) No payment will be withheld until written notification of the suspension is provided to the contractor, stating the reason for the withholding, except that neither a timely filed request to pursue ((the)) any administrative appeals or exception procedure that the department may establish((ed)) by ((the department in)) rule nor commencement of judicial review, as may be available to the contractor in law, shall delay suspension of payment.

Sec. 35. RCW 74.46.650 and 1980 c 177 s 65 are each amended to read as follows:
All payments to a contractor will end no later than sixty days after any of the following occurs:
(1) A contract ((expires,)) is terminated ((or is not renewed));
(2) A facility license is revoked; or
(3) A facility is decertified as a Title XIX facility; except that, in situations where the ((secretary)) department determines that residents must remain in such facility for a longer period because of the resident’s health or safety, payments for such residents shall continue.

Sec. 36. RCW 74.46.660 and 1992 c 215 s 1 are each amended to read as follows:
In order to participate in the ((prospective cost-related reimbursement)) nursing facility medicaid payment system established by this chapter, the person or legal ((organization)) entity responsible for operation of a facility shall:

((Until June 1, 1993, the department may grant exemptions from the medicare certification requirements of this subsection to nursing facilities that are making good faith efforts to obtain medicare certification.))

Sec. 37. RCW 74.46.680 and 1985 c 361 s 2 are each amended to read as follows:
(1) On the effective date of a change of ownership the department’s contract with the old owner shall be terminated. The old owner shall give the department sixty days' written notice of such termination. When certificate of need and/or section 1122 approval is required pursuant to chapter 70.38 RCW and Part 100, Title 42 CFR, for the new owner to acquire the facility, and the new owner wishes to continue to provide service to recipients without interruption, certificate of need and/or section 1122 approval shall be obtained before the old owner submits a notice of termination.

(1) When a facility contract is terminated for any reason, ((the old contractor shall submit)) final reports shall be submitted as required by RCW 74.46.040.
(2) Upon notification of a contract termination, the department shall determine by ((preliminary or final settlement calculations)) settlement or reconciliation the amount of any overpayments made to the contractor, including overpayments disputed by the contractor. If ((preliminary or final)) settlements are unavailable for any period up to the date of contract termination, the department shall make a reasonable estimate of any overpayment or underpayments for such periods. The reasonable estimate shall be based upon prior period settlements, available audit findings, the projected impact of prospective rates, and other information available to the department. The department shall also determine and add in the total of all other debts and potential debts owed to the department regardless of source, including, but not limited to, interest owed to the department as authorized by this chapter, civil fines imposed by the department, or third-party liabilities.

(3) The old contractor shall provide security, in a form deemed adequate by the department, equal to the total amount of determined and estimated overpayments and all (other) debts and potential debts from any source, whether or not the overpayments are the subject of good faith dispute including but not limited to, interest owed to the department, civil fines imposed by the department, and third-party liabilities. Security shall consist of one or more of the following:

(6) If the total of withheld payments((, bonds,)) and assignments is less than the total of determined and estimated overpayments and debts, the unsecured amount of ((such)) the overpayments and the debt shall be a debt due the state and shall become a lien against the real and personal property of the contractor from the time of filing by the department with the county auditor of the county where the contractor resides or owns property, and the lien claim has preference over the claims of all unsecured creditors.

(7) ((The contractor shall file)) A properly completed final cost report shall be filed in accordance with the requirements of ((this chapter)) RCW 74.46.040, which shall be ((audited)) examined by the department in accordance with the requirements of RCW 74.46.100. (A final settlement shall be determined within ninety days following completion of the audit process, including completion of any administrative appeals or exception procedure review of the audit requested by the contractor, but not including completion of any judicial review available to and commenced by the contractor.)

(8) ((Following determination of settlement for all periods,)) Security held pursuant to this section shall be released to the contractor after all ((overpayments, erroneous payments, and)) debts
Sec. 39. RCW 74.46.770 and 1995 1st sp. s. c 18 s 114 are each amended to read as follows:
(1) If a contractor wishes to challenge the legal validity of a statute, rule, or contract provision or wishes to bring a challenge based in whole or in part on federal law, the department shall review changes to generally accepted accounting principles that have been paid by the contractor, have been paid by the contractor.

(9) If, after calculation of settlements for any periods, it is determined that overpayments exist in excess of the value of security held by the state, the department may seek recovery of these additional overpayments as provided by law.

(10) Regardless of whether a contractor intends to terminate its medicaid contracts, if a contractor’s net medicaid overpayments and erroneous payments for one or more settlement periods, and for one or more nursing facilities, combined with debts due the department, reaches or exceeds a total of fifty thousand dollars, as determined by settlement, civil fines imposed by the department, third-party liabilities or by any other source, whether such amounts are subject to good faith dispute or not, the department shall demand and obtain security equivalent to the total of such overpayments, erroneous payments, and debts and shall obtain security for each subsequent increase in liability reaching or exceeding twenty-five thousand dollars. Such security shall meet the criteria in subsections (3) and (4) of this section, except that the department shall not accept an assumption of liability. The department shall withhold all or portions of a contractor’s current contract payments or impose liens, or both, if security acceptable to the department is not forthcoming. The department shall release a contractor’s withheld payments or lift liens, or both, if the contractor subsequently provides security acceptable to the department. This subsection shall apply to all overpayments and erroneous payments determined by preliminary or final settlements issued on or after July 1, 1995, regardless of what periods the settlements may cover, and shall apply to all debts owed the department from any source, including interest debts, which become due on or after July 1, 1995.)

(2) If a contractor wishes to challenge the legal validity of a statute, rule, or contract provision or wishes to bring a challenge based in whole or in part on federal law, the department shall establish in rule consistent with federal requirements for nursing facilities participating in the medicaid program, an appeals or exception procedure that establishes the department’s ability to receive prompt administrative review of payment rates with respect to such issues as the department deems appropriate.

Sec. 41. RCW 74.46.800 and 1980 c 177 s 80 are each amended to read as follows:
(1) The department shall have authority to adopt, amend, and rescind such administrative rules and definitions as it deems necessary to carry out the policies and purposes of this chapter and to resolve issues and develop procedures that it deems necessary to implement, update, and improve the case mix elements of the nursing facility medicaid payment system. In addition, at least annually the department shall review changes to generally accepted accounting principles that have been paid by the contractor, have been paid by the contractor.
principles and generally accepted auditing standards as approved by the financial accounting standards board, and the American institute of certified public accountants, respectively. The department shall adopt by administrative rule those approved changes which it finds to be consistent with the policies and purposes of this chapter.)

(2) Nothing in this chapter shall be construed to require the department to adopt or employ any calculations, steps, tests, methodologies, alternate methodologies, indexes, formulas, mathematical or statistical models, concepts, or procedures for medicaid rate setting or payment that are not expressly called for in this chapter.

Sec. 42. RCW 74.46.820 and 1985 c 361 s 14 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) (Cost reports and their final audit) Financial reports filed by the contractor shall be subject to public disclosure pursuant to the requirements of chapter 42.17 RCW. Notwithstanding any other provision of law, (cost) report(s) (schedules) showing information on rental or lease of assets, the facility or corporate balance sheet, schedule of changes in financial position, statement of changes in equity-fund balances, notes to financial statements, and any (accompanying) schedules summarizing (the) adjustments to a contractor's financial records, reports on review of internal control and accounting procedures, and letters of comments or recommendations relating to suggested improvements in internal control or accounting procedures which are prepared pursuant to the requirements of this chapter shall be exempt from public disclosure.

(2) (This) Subsection (1) of this section does not prevent a contractor from having access to its own records or from authorizing an agent or designee to have access to the contractor's records.

(3) Regardless of whether any document or report submitted to the secretary pursuant to this chapter is subject to public disclosure, copies of such documents or reports shall be provided by the secretary, upon written request, to the legislature and to state agencies or state or local law enforcement officials who have an official interest in the contents thereof.

Sec. 43. RCW 74.46.840 and 1983 1st ex.s. c 67 s 42 are each amended to read as follows:

If any part of this chapter (and) or RCW 18.51.145 (and) or 74.09.120 is found by an agency of the federal government to be in conflict with federal requirements (which) that are a prescribed condition to the receipt of federal funds to the state, the conflicting part of this chapter (and) or RCW 18.51.145 (and) or 74.09.120 is (hereby) declared inoperative solely to the extent of the conflict and with respect to the agencies directly affected, and such finding or determination shall not affect the operation of the remainder of this chapter (and) or RCW 18.51.145 (and) or 74.09.120 in its application to the agencies concerned. In the event that any portion of this chapter (and) or RCW 18.51.145 (and) or 74.09.120 is found to be in conflict with federal requirements (which) that are a prescribed condition to the receipt of federal funds, the secretary, to the extent that the secretary finds it to be consistent with the general policies and intent of chapters 18.51, 74.09, and 74.46 RCW, may adopt such rules as to resolve a specific conflict and (which) that do meet minimum federal requirements. In addition, the secretary shall submit to the next regular session of the legislature a summary of the specific rule changes made and recommendations for statutory resolution of the conflict.

Sec. 44. RCW 74.09.120 and 1993 sp.s. c 3 s 8 are each amended to read as follows:

The department shall purchase necessary physician and dentist services by contract or "fee for service." The department shall purchase nursing home care by contract and payment for the care shall be in accordance with the provisions of chapter 74.46 RCW and rules adopted by the department under the authority of RCW 74.46.800. (The department shall establish regulations for reasonable nursing home accounting and reimbursement systems which shall provide that) No payment shall be made to a nursing home which does not permit inspection by the department of social and health services of every part of its premises and an examination of all records, including financial records, methods of administration, general and special dietary programs, the disbursement of drugs and methods of supply, and any other records the department deems relevant to the (establishment of such a system) regulation of nursing home operations, enforcement of standards for resident care, and payment for nursing home services.

The department may purchase nursing home care by contract in veterans' homes operated by the state department of veterans affairs.(The department shall establish rules for reasonable accounting and reimbursement systems for such care) and payment for the care shall be in accordance. with the provisions of chapter 74.46 RCW and rules adopted by the department under the authority of RCW 74.46.800.

The department may purchase care in institutions for the mentally retarded, also known as intermediate care facilities for the mentally retarded. Institutions for the mentally retarded include licensed nursing homes, public institutions, licensed boarding homes with fifteen beds or less, and hospital facilities certified as intermediate care facilities for the mentally retarded under the federal medicaid program to provide health, habilitative, or rehabilitative services and twenty-four hour supervision for mentally retarded individuals or persons with related conditions and includes in the program "active treatment" as federally defined.

The department may purchase care in institutions for mental diseases by contract. The department shall establish rules for reasonable accounting and reimbursement systems for such care.
Institutions for mental diseases are certified under the federal medicaid program and primarily engaged in providing diagnosis, treatment, or care to persons with mental diseases, including medical attention, nursing care, and related services.

The department may purchase all other services provided under this chapter by contract or at rates established by the department.

NEW SECTION.  Sec. 45.  (1) Payment for direct care at the pilot nursing facility in King county designed to meet the service needs of residents living with AIDS, as defined in RCW 70.24.017, and as specifically authorized for this purpose under chapter 9, Laws of 1989 1st ex. sess., shall be exempt from case mix methods of rate determination set forth in this chapter and shall be exempt from the direct care metropolitan statistical area peer group cost limitation set forth in this chapter.

(2) Direct care component rates at the AIDS pilot facility shall be based on direct care reported costs at the pilot facility, utilizing the same three-year, rate-setting cycle prescribed for other nursing facilities, and as supported by a staffing benchmark based upon a department-approved acuity measurement system.

(3) All other rate-setting principles, cost lids, and limits, including settlement at the lower of cost or rate in direct care, therapy care, and support services, shall apply to the AIDS pilot facility.

(4) This section applies only to the AIDS pilot nursing facility.

NEW SECTION.  Sec. 46.  For nursing facilities located in King county that commenced operations in February 1995, the department shall use each such facility's 1996 allowable costs to retroactively adjust and reset the July 1, 1997, nursing services, food, administrative, and operational rate components. In determining 1996 allowable costs for the affected King county facilities, the department shall use 1994 cost limits adjusted to 1996. The 1996 cost report shall be the basis for rates subsequent to July 1, 1997, until such time as the nursing facility payment methodology recognizes a new cost report for all facilities. The 1996 allowable costs used to revise the July 1, 1997, rate components shall be adjusted using an inflation factor of 3.79 percent.

NEW SECTION.  Sec. 47.  (1) The department of social and health services shall study and provide recommendations, by December 12, 1998, to the chairs of the house of representatives health care committee and the senate health and long-term care committee on the appropriateness of extending the case mix principles, described in chapter . . . , Laws of 1998 (this act), to home and community service providers, as defined in chapter 74.39A RCW. The department shall invite stakeholders to participate in this study.

(2) By December 12, 1999, the department of social and health services shall study and provide recommendations to the chairs of the house of representatives appropriations and health care committees, and the senate ways and means and health and long-term care committees, concerning options for changing the method for paying facilities for capital and property related expenses.

(3) The department of social and health services shall contract with an independent and recognized organization to study and evaluate the impacts of chapter . . . , Laws of 1998 (this act) implementation on access, quality of care, quality of life for nursing facility residents, and the wage and benefit levels of all nursing facility employees. The department shall require, and the contractor shall submit, a report with the results of this study and evaluation, including their findings, to the governor and legislature by December 1, 2001.
(4) The department of social and health services shall study and, as needed, specify additional case mix groups and appropriate case mix weights to reflect the resource utilization of residents whose care needs are not adequately identified or reflected in the resource utilization group III grouper version 5.10. At a minimum, the department shall study the adequacy of the resource utilization group III grouper version 5.10, including the minimum data set, for capturing the care and resource utilization needs of residents with AIDS, residents with traumatic brain injury, and residents who are behaviorally challenged. The department shall report its findings to the chairs of the house of representatives health care committee and the senate health and long-term care committee by December 12, 2002.

(5) By December 12, 2002, the department of social and health services shall report to the legislature and provide an evaluation of the fiscal impact of rebasing future payments at different intervals, including the impact of averaging two years' cost data as the basis for rebasing. This report shall include the fiscal impact to the state and the fiscal impact to nursing facility providers.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 48. The department shall not deem tax expenses that have never been incurred by a nursing facility to be a medicaid allowable cost to that facility for the purposes of payment for services, as described in chapter . . . , Laws of 1998 (this act).

Sec. 49. RCW 72.36.030 and 1993 sp.s. c 3 s 5 are each amended to read as follows:
All of the following persons who have been actual bona fide residents of this state at the time of their application, and who are indigent and unable to support themselves and their families may be admitted to a state veterans' home under rules as may be adopted by the director of the department, unless sufficient facilities and resources are not available to accommodate these people:

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

The purpose of this chapter is to develop a (more) thorough and cooperative method (of) that provides local citizens the maximum possible input for: Determining what the current water resource situation is in each water resource inventory area of the state and (to provide local citizens with the maximum possible input concerning their) establishing goals and objectives for water resource management and development; reviewing water quality problems and recommending strategies for achieving compliance with water quality standards; and coordinating with any plans for the protection and enhancement of fish habitat.

It is necessary for the legislature to establish processes and policies that will result in providing state agencies with more specific guidance to manage the water resources of the state consistent with current law and direction provided by local entities and citizens through the process established in accordance with this chapter.

It is the intent of this chapter to provide locally based groups with the opportunity to: Assess local water supplies and needs and develop strategies to provide adequate water for economic prosperity and environmental protection while protecting existing water rights; ensure that adequate water supplies are available for population and economic growth under the requirements of the state's growth management act, chapter 36.70A RCW; review water quality problems and develop a strategy for achieving compliance with water quality standards; and coordinate plans for protection and enhancement of fish habitat.

Chapter . . . Laws of 1998 (this act) is enacted to: Improve the ability of local governments and citizens to be involved in the design and implementation of solutions to water quantity, water quality, and habitat needs for fish species and provide an opportunity for people in all watersheds to be involved in watershed planning if they so desire; provide a flexible mechanism for conducting locally initiated watershed planning on either a single watershed basis or, if more appropriate, on a multiple watershed basis; and allow local people to determine the scope of the watershed planning process while encouraging them to consider comprehensive watershed planning that includes addressing water quantity, water quality, and habitat for fish species in concert with one another.

Thus it is the intent of the legislature for integrated watershed management to help produce: Adequate water quantity for the future, adequate water quality to protect and promote beneficial uses, and sufficient protection and enhancement of habitat so that fish resources thrive to be used and enjoyed by citizens of the state.

It is also the intent of the legislature to encourage collaboration and cooperation between the wide range of interests, and local, state, federal, and tribal governments to develop solutions to watershed problems. The state of Washington wishes to recognize and maintain formal government-to-government relationships, and it also endeavors to work cooperatively with all governmental entities and representatives of citizen groups to foster effective and practical solutions that have broad-based support. It is the intent of the legislature that all of the citizens of the state of Washington work cooperatively to ensure that the management of the state’s economic destiny and environmental heritage remains in the hands of Washington’s citizens as much as possible.

Nothing in this chapter may be construed as affecting or impairing existing water or property rights.

Sec. 2. RCW 90.82.010 and 1997 c 442 s 102 are each amended to read as follows:

The legislature finds that the state’s vital interests are served by the wise management of the state’s water resources, by protecting existing water rights and dependent economies, by protecting and enhancing instream flows and habitat for fish, and by providing for the public health and economic well-being of the state’s citizenry and communities. The legislature finds that many regions of the state are facing challenges relating to water quantity, water quality, and habitat for fish species. There are a number of bodies of water in the state that do not meet federal and state water quality standards. In several areas of the state, there has been a significant decrease in the number of fish returning to state waters and there is a growing sense of urgency to protect and enhance existing fishery resources. The pressures of a growing population and expanding economy have led some local communities to seek additional water supplies for present and future needs and to seek certainty that the supplies will be available for those needs.

The legislature finds that the local development of watershed plans for managing water resources ((and)), for protecting existing water rights and dependent economies, and for protecting and enhancing habitat for fish is vital to both state and local interests. The local development of these plans serves vital local interests by placing it in the hands of people: Who have the greatest knowledge of both the resources and the aspirations of those who live and work in the watershed; and who have the greatest stake in the proper, long-term management of the resources. The development of such plans serves the state’s vital interests by ensuring that the state’s water resources are used wisely, by protecting existing water rights and dependent economies, by protecting instream flows for fish, by protecting or enhancing fish habitat, and by providing for the economic well-being of the state’s citizenry and communities. Therefore, the legislature believes it necessary for units of local government throughout the state to engage in the orderly development of these watershed plans.

The legislature finds that water resource and fish habitat challenges vary from region to region. The legislature also finds that, in many cases, addressing one water resource or fishery habitat issue can cause concerns and have effects in other areas; as a result, integrated watershed management may be needed to address the variety of these challenges simultaneously.

The legislature further recognizes that considerable effort for addressing many of the challenges is represented by the work, planning, projects, and activities that have already been completed by local interests regarding watershed management or have been initiated and are in various stages of completion. The legislature finds that, if new, integrated watershed management is to be initiated, it must begin with a thorough review of these completed or ongoing efforts and should incorporate their products as appropriate so as not to duplicate the work already performed or underway.

Although these challenges may require approaches that are integrated and comprehensive, the legislature finds that considerable authority currently exists to address these issues but that such authority is spread across an array of federal, state, tribal, and local governments. Integration and coordination of such authorities in ways that have support of state, local, and tribal interests will be needed to develop and implement multi-interest and comprehensive solutions. The legislature further finds that new state and federal regulatory regimes are by and large not necessary to develop good watershed management and that local authorities in particular provide a broad array of implementation tools to support good watershed management. However, the legislature finds that the key to meeting existing regulatory objectives is the involvement and support of local citizens and local governments working cooperatively with state, federal, and tribal governments. The legislature recognizes that it is unable to provide all the funding necessary for integrated watershed management to be developed throughout the entire state at once, and that as a result, watershed management will be phased in across the state over time, and that the state has an ongoing responsibility to provide funding for the watershed management described in this chapter.

Sec. 3. RCW 90.82.020 and 1997 c 442 s 103 are each amended to read as follows:

Unless the context clearly requires otherwise, the definitions in this section apply throughout this chapter.

(1) "City" means an incorporated city, code city, or town.
(2) "Department" means the department of ecology.
(3) "Implementing rules" for a WRIA plan or integrated watershed management developed by a planning unit are the rules needed to give force and effect to the parts of the plan integrated watershed management that create rights or obligations for any party including a state agency or that establish water management policy.
(4) "Indian tribe" means any Indian tribe, band, or nation that: (a) is recognized as eligible, by the secretary of the interior, for the special programs and services provided by the United States to Indians because of their status as Indians; and (b) is recognized as possessing powers of self-government.
(5) "Lead agency" means the entity identified under section 9 of this act that makes provision for administrative staff support for and receives grants for a planning unit developing integrated watershed management and is the entity to which a planning unit shall report.
(6) "Management area" means the WRIA or the multiple WRIA area for which integrated watershed management is developed by a planning unit under this chapter.
(7) "Minimum instream flows" means flows that meet the requirements of minimum flows under chapter 90.03 or 90.22 RCW and base flows under chapter 90.54 RCW as adopted by rule.
(8) "Planning unit" means a planning unit established under section 10 of this act.

(11) "WRIA plan" or "plan" means the product of the planning unit and includes the plan of the planning unit approved under section 11 of this act, any rules adopted in conjunction with the plan of the planning unit, and strategies of the planning unit for implementing its plan.

New Section. Sec. 4. Elements of Management--Priority Projects. (1) Counties, cities, and water supply utilities may, at their option, provide for the development of integrated watershed management for watersheds under this chapter. If initiated, such management shall be developed for water quantity components of water resource management under section 5 of this act, water quality components of water resource management under section 7 of this act, and the coordination of protection or enhancement of fish habitat under section 8 of this act. If integrated watershed management is initiated under this chapter, minimum instream flows shall be established for streams in the management area as provided in section 6 of this act. It is anticipated that a planning unit will not await the development of proposals for minimum instream flows under section 6 of this act to begin developing other components of its integrated watershed management for a management area; rather, work on these developments will be undertaken concurrently.
(2) Under this chapter, integrated watershed management may be developed by a planning unit for one or more WRIAs, but may not be developed by a planning unit for less than one WRIA except for those watersheds planned as pilot projects in the Methow and Dungeness/Quilcene areas before the effective date of this section. This chapter may not be construed to prevent or delay any planning, projects, or activities that are commenced under other laws or that are authorized.

(3) Integrated watershed management developed and approved under this chapter shall not contain provisions that (a) are in conflict with state statutes, federal laws, or tribal treaty rights, existing on the effective date of this section; (b) impair or diminish in any manner an existing water right evidenced by a claim filed in the water rights claims registry or a water right certificate or permit; (c) require a modification in the basic operations of a federal reclamation project with a water right the priority date of which is before the effective date of this section or alter in any manner whatsoever the quantity of water available under the water right for the reclamation project, whether the project has or has not been completed before the effective date of this section; (d) affect or interfere with an ongoing general adjudication of water rights; (e) modify or require the modification of any waste discharge permit issued under chapter 90.48 RCW; or (f) modify or require the modification of activities or actions taken to protect or enhance fish habitat if the activities or actions are: (i) Part of a habitat conservation plan and permit, an incidental take permit or statement, a management or recovery plan, or other cooperative or conservation agreement entered into with a federal or state fish and wildlife protection agency under its statutory authority for fish and wildlife protection that addresses the affected habitat, or (ii) part of an agreement regulating forest practices, which is adopted by rule by the forest practices board under the forest practices act, chapter 76.09 RCW, for the affected habitat. This subsection (3)(f) applies as long as the activities or actions continue to be taken in accordance with the plan, agreement, permit, statement, or rules. Any assessment conducted under section 5, 7, or 8 of this act shall take into consideration such activities and actions.

(4) Integrated watershed management developed and approved under this chapter shall not change existing local ordinances or existing state rules, but it may contain recommendations for changing such ordinances or rules.

(5) Once a planning unit has begun developing integrated watershed management under this chapter, the unit shall, as a matter of high priority:
(a) Review the historical geographic characteristics of the management area, and also review the planning, projects, and activities that have already been completed regarding natural resource management or enhancement in the management area and the products or status of those that have been initiated but not completed for such management in the management area, and incorporate their products as appropriate so as not to duplicate the work already performed or underway; and
(b) Identify projects and activities in the management area that the unit believes will likely serve short-term or long-term management goals and that warrant immediate financial assistance from state, federal, or local government. The planning unit shall prioritize these projects and activities in a manner that reflects the degree to which they serve the unit’s goals and the costs and the benefits of undertaking them. The unit shall submit its prioritized list to the local governments with jurisdiction and, through the lead state representative on the planning unit designated under section 10(5)(j) of this act, to the legislature and the appropriate state agencies.

(6) Integrated watershed management planning conducted under sections 5, 7, and 8 of this act shall identify within the management area the actions and activities that are necessary to: Implement the provisions of the integrated watershed management, monitor the effectiveness of the implementation, and provide any needed modifications. It shall also identify the entities responsible for conducting these actions and activities. It shall also identify any entity responsible for the coordinated oversight of these responsibilities.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 5. WATER QUANTITY. Integrated watershed management established for water quantity in the management area shall include an assessment of water supply and use in the management area, including:
(1) An estimate of the surface and ground water present in the management area;
(2) An estimate of the surface and ground water available in the management area, taking into account seasonal and other variations;
(3) An estimate of the water in the management area represented by claims in the water rights claims registry, water use permits, certificated rights, existing minimum instream flow rules, federally reserved rights, and any other rights to water;
(4) An estimate of the surface and ground water actually being used in the management area;
(5) An estimate of the water needed in the future for use in the management area;
(6) An identification of the location areas where aquifers are known to recharge surface bodies of water and areas known to provide for the recharge of aquifers from the surface;

(7) An estimate of the surface and ground water available for further appropriation, taking into account the minimum instream flows adopted by rule or to be adopted by rule for streams in the management area; and

(8) Strategies for increasing water supplies in the management area, which may include, but are not limited to, increasing water supplies through water conservation, water reuse, the use of reclaimed water, voluntary water transfers, aquifer recharge and recovery, additional water allocations, or water storage enhancements. The objective of these strategies is to supply water in sufficient quantities to satisfy the minimum instream flows and to provide water for future out-of-stream uses for water identified in subsection (5) of this section and to ensure that adequate water supplies are available for population and economic growth under the requirements of the state’s growth management act, chapter 36.70A RCW. These strategies shall not be construed to be an allocation of water. If integrated watershed management is established by a planning unit under this section for water quantity components of water resource management in a management area and that management is approved by the counties under section 11 of this act but does not contain the strategies required under this subsection, all components of integrated watershed management established by the planning unit under this chapter are void.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 6. INSTREAM FLOWS. (1)(a) Except as provided in subsection (5) of this section, minimum instream flows shall be established by rule for the principal stream or streams in the WRIA or multiple WRIA area for which integrated watershed management is developed by a planning unit under this chapter. At the time a planning unit is chosen or created under section 10 of this act or initial appointments are made by cities and counties under section 10 of this act, the cities and counties in a management area may decide, as described in section 9(9) of this act, that the planning unit will not participate in identifying such flows in the management area, in which case they shall request the department to adopt rules establishing the minimum instream flows for the principle stream or streams in the management area.

(b) In all other management areas after considering in detail the assessment provided in section 5 of this act, identifying the flow regimes that make up the minimum instream flows shall be a collaborative effort between the department and the members of the planning unit developing the integrated watershed management. As these flows are developed, it shall be the duty of the department to attempt to achieve consensus among all of the members of the planning unit regarding the minimum flows to be adopted by rule by the department. Approval is achieved if:

(i) The members of the planning unit present for a recorded vote on the proposed minimum instream flows who have been appointed to represent the state through the shared ballot process described in section 10(6) and (9) of this act, each appointed to represent tribal governments with federal Indian reservations or federally recognized ceded lands located in whole or in part within the management area or fishing rights recognized under federal case law on lands within the management area, each appointed to represent directly counties, each appointed to represent directly cities, each appointed to represent directly conservation districts, and each appointed to represent directly water supply utilities records his or her support for the proposed minimum instream flows as part of the recorded vote or abstains from voting on the proposal; and

(ii) A majority of the members of the planning unit, other than those who have been appointed to represent the entities identified in (b)(i) of this subsection, who are present for a recorded vote on proposed minimum instream flows, records support for the proposed minimum instream flows as part of the recorded vote on the proposal.

That such a recorded vote will be taken on proposed minimum instream flows shall be announced at the official meeting of the planning unit immediately preceding the official meeting of the unit at which the vote is recorded and a notice regarding voting on proposed minimum instream flows shall be sent to each member appointed to the planning unit as soon as possible following the meeting at which such an announcement is made.

(2) If approval of the planning unit is achieved on minimum instream flows proposed for a management area under subsection (1) of this section, the department shall establish those flows by rule as described in RCW 90.82.040(8).

(3) If approval is not achieved under subsection (1) of this section within four years of the date the planning unit first receives funding from the department under RCW 90.82.040, the department may promptly initiate rule making under chapter 34.05 RCW to establish minimum instream flows for these streams. If the planning unit did not achieve approval on establishing minimum instream flows, the planning unit may submit the vote on instream flows to the department for its consideration. Minimum flows established under this section shall have a priority date of two years after the planning unit first received funding from the department under RCW 90.82.040.

(4) If minimum instream flows have been adopted by rule for a stream in the management area and the cities and counties do not, under section 9 of this act, request the planning unit or the department to modify those flows, minimum instream flows for the stream shall not be modified for the stream under this chapter. If the cities and counties request, under section 9 of this act, that the planning unit modify the minimum instream flows for the stream but approval is not achieved under this section for modifying those flows, minimum instream flows shall not be modified for the stream under this chapter.

(5) Nothing in this chapter either: (a) Affects the department's authority to establish flow requirements or other conditions under RCW 90.48.260 or the federal clean water act (33 U.S.C. Sec. 1251 et seq.) for the licensing or relicensing of a hydroelectric power project under the federal power act (16 U.S.C. Sec. 791 et seq.); or (b) affects or impairs existing instream flow requirements and other conditions in a current license for a hydroelectric power project licensed under the federal power act.

(6) Minimum instream flows shall not be proposed or adopted for the main stem of the Columbia river or the main stem of the Snake river under this chapter.

(7) A planning unit may consider identifying how minimum instream flows could be modified in response to the successful implementation of other elements of the integrated watershed management.

(8) As used in this section, the "principal stream or streams" are, in a management area for which the department is requested by cities and counties to adopt minimum instream flows under subsection (1)(a) of this section, the streams determined by the department to be the principal stream or streams. In any other management area, the "principal stream or streams" are the main stem of the stream with the largest annual average flow in each WRIA in the management area; and the major tributaries to such a main stem and any other streams in the management area that are determined to be principal streams by the planning unit by a majority vote of the planning unit. "Principal stream or streams" does not include streambeds that are used as laterals for irrigation and are nonfish-bearing.

(9) Nothing in this chapter may be construed as affecting or impairing in any manner whatsoever water rights existing before the effective date of this section.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 7. WATER QUALITY. Integrated watershed management established for water quality in the management area shall include the following components:

(1) An examination based on existing studies conducted by federal, state, and local agencies of the degree to which legally established water quality standards are being met in the management area;

(2) An examination based on existing studies conducted by federal, state, and local agencies of the causes of water quality violations in the management area, including an examination of information regarding pollutants, point and nonpoint sources of pollution, and pollution-carrying capacities of water bodies in the management area. The analysis shall take into account seasonal stream flow or level variations, natural events, and pollution from natural sources that occurs independent of human activities;

(3) An examination of the uses of each of the nonmarine bodies of water in the management area and an identification of the beneficial uses of each for water quality classification purposes;

(4) An identification of the class of use for nonmarine bodies of water and for basin-specific water quality standards that may be adopted by rule by the department and recommendations for the water quality standards to be adopted for those bodies of water;

(5) A recommended strategy for achieving compliance with water quality standards for the nonmarine bodies of water in the management area; and

(6) Recommended means of monitoring by appropriate government agencies whether actions taken to implement the strategy bring about improvements in water quality that are sufficient to achieve compliance with water quality standards.

This chapter does not obligate the state to undertake analysis or to develop strategies required under the federal clean water act (33 U.S.C. Sec. 1251 et seq.).
NEW SECTION, Sec. 8. HABITAT. Integrated watershed management shall be coordinated, or as needed, developed to protect or enhance fish habitat in the management area by relying on existing laws and rules adopted under habitat planning processes such as the habitat work plans prepared under chapter . . ., Laws of 1998 (Substitute House Bill No. 2496) and other existing plans created for the purpose of protecting, restoring, or enhancing fish habitat, the shoreline management act, chapter 90.58 RCW, the growth management act, chapter 36.70A RCW, and the forest practices act, chapter 76.09 RCW. Management established under this section shall be integrated with strategies developed under other processes to respond to potential and actual listings of salmon and other fish species as being threatened or endangered under the federal endangered species act, 16 U.S.C. Sec. 1531 et seq. Integrated watershed management developed for such purposes shall include the following components:

1. An analysis of the potential for protecting or enhancing fish habitat in the management area;
2. An identification of fish habitat protection or enhancement activities and projects and voluntary transactions, including but not limited to those providing for the purchase of fish habitat or fish habitat easements, that would provide the greatest benefit to such habitat in the management area. Where habitat work plans developed under chapter . . ., Laws of 1998 (Substitute House Bill No. 2496) are available or are intended to be developed, the planning shall rely on those plans;
3. Recommended means of ensuring that the activities, projects, and transactions identified under subsection (2) of this section will be undertaken. Where habitat work plans developed under chapter . . ., Laws of 1998 (Substitute House Bill No. 2496) are available or are intended to be developed, the planning shall rely on those plans; and
4. Recommended means of monitoring the effect of undertaking the activities, projects, and transactions identified under subsection (2) of this section on protecting or enhancing fish habitat in the management area.

NEW SECTION, Sec. 9. INITIATING INTEGRATED WATERSHED MANAGEMENT. The following is the procedure by which the development of integrated watershed management may be initiated under this chapter.

1. The following entities may decide that integrated watershed management should be considered: (a) The county with the largest area within the boundaries of a single WRIA or multi-WRIA proposed management area; (b) the city, if there is one, within the proposed management area using the largest amount of water from within the proposed management area; (c) the city, if there is one, cumulatively diverting and withdrawing the largest amount of water from within the proposed management area; and (d) the water supply utility, if there is one, that provides the largest quantity of water in the proposed management area. However, the county with the largest area bordering on the main stem of the stream with the largest annual flow, not including the Columbia or Snake rivers, within the boundaries of a WRIA, the city obtaining the largest amount of water from the WRIA, and the largest water supply utility in the WRIA may jointly and unanimously choose to initiate watershed management for the WRIA under this chapter.

2. If entities in subsection (1) of this section decide jointly an unanimously to proceed, they shall invite the Indian tribe, if there is one, with the largest reservation within the proposed management area to participate in integrated watershed management.

3. The entities in subsection (1) of this section, including the tribe if it affirmatively accepts the invitation, constitute the initiating governments for the purposes of this section.

4. On behalf of the initiating governments, the county with the largest area within the boundaries of the proposed management area shall convene a public meeting in the affected area to discuss the appointment of a planning unit for developing integrated watershed management under this chapter. Notices of the meeting shall be sent to:

   a. County governments with territory in the proposed management area;
   b. The cities of each county located in and cities that receive water from the proposed management area;
   c. Tribal governments of federal Indian reservations or federally recognized ceded lands located in whole or in part within the boundaries of the proposed management area;
   d. Water supply utilities located in and water supply utilities that receive water from the proposed management area;
   e. Conservation districts with territory in the proposed management area;
(f) Groups and entities that have been or are currently engaged in public planning processes within the proposed management area that involve water quantity, water quality, or habitat restoration activities. In providing this notice, the county shall make a reasonable attempt to identify and notify groups and entities that within the last five years have been or are currently engaged in such planning; and

(g) The department, which shall notify other appropriate state agencies, appropriate Indian tribes, and appropriate federal agencies.

The notice shall contain the purpose, time, and location of the meeting. The notice shall also be published at least once a week for two consecutive weeks in a newspaper of general circulation in the proposed management area. The notice that is published in the newspaper shall invite members of the general public to participate.

(5) The purpose of the public meeting is to obtain comments regarding initiating the development of integrated watershed management under this chapter, the coordination of that process with ongoing planning processes and activities in the watershed, and the creation of a planning unit to prepare the integrated watershed management.

(6) For developing integrated watershed management under this chapter, the county with the largest area within the boundaries of the proposed management area is the lead agency for the development of the integrated watershed management, unless the cities, counties, and Indian tribes described in subsection (8) of this section approve the designation of another governmental agency as the lead agency. Such a governmental agency shall act as the lead agency for this purpose if it agrees in writing to accept the designation.

(7) At or following the public meeting, the county that convened the meeting shall call for a vote of the cities, counties, and Indian tribes described in subsection (8) of this section as to whether to proceed with the development of integrated watershed management under this chapter in the proposed management area. If these cities, counties, and Indian tribes approve proceeding with the development of such management, the lead agency shall make application to the department for funding to develop integrated watershed management under this chapter.

(8) The cities, counties, and Indian tribes that may make decisions under subsections (6) and (7) of this section may choose the type of planning unit to be used for developing integrated watershed management under this chapter in the proposed management area under section 10 of this act.

(9) At the time a planning unit is chosen or created under section 10 of this act or initial appointments are made by cities and counties under section 10 of this act, the cities and counties in a management area may: (a) Decide that the planning unit will not participate in identifying such flows in the management area, in which case they shall request the department to adopt rules establishing the minimum instream flows for the principal stream or streams in the management area; or (b) if minimum instream flows have been adopted by rule for a stream in the management area, request either the planning unit or the department to modify those flows. To approve an action for these purposes, the cities must approve the action by majority vote, with each city having one vote, and the counties must approve the action by unanimous vote, with each county having one vote. The vote of each city and each county shall be the vote assigned directly, in person or in writing, by the elected officials of the city and directly, in person or in writing, by the members of the legislative authority of the county. For this purpose, the "elected officials" of a city are the members of the city's legislative authority and, if applicable, its elected mayor.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 10. PLANNING UNIT--APPOINTMENT--OPTIONS. (1) If the initiating governments approve proceeding with the development of integrated watershed management for a management area as described in section 9(7) of this act, the development of such management will be conducted under this chapter in the single WRIA or multiple WRIA management area by one planning unit. As provided in subsections (2) and (3) of this section, the cities, counties, and tribe may choose an existing planning group as the basis for local representation on the planning unit or they may identify the composition of a new group as the basis for local representation on the planning unit. Such a choice shall be made as described in section 9(9) of this act. If the cities, counties, and tribe do not choose such an existing or new group in this manner, the planning unit to be used for developing the integrated watershed management for the management area is the planning unit specified in subsection (5) of this section.

before being so chosen. To be considered, the representation of governmental entities and interest groups on such a planning group must be generally similar to the representation identified in subsections (5)(a) through (g) and (12) of this section, or the planning group shall have a statutorily specified membership. If the cities, counties, and tribe find that the existing group has the required composition and find that the scope of the group’s work is or has been appropriate considering the tasks to be given the planning unit under this chapter, the cities, counties, and tribe may designate the group as the basis for local participation on the planning unit. The existing group chosen in this manner plus the membership specified in subsection (5)(j) of this section and any membership provided under subsection (5)(i) of this section, which provide for representation by state and tribal governments, constitute the planning unit for developing integrated watershed management under this chapter in the management area.

(3) The cities, counties, and tribe may choose as the basis for local participation on the planning unit under this chapter a new planning group tailored to the specific geographic area for which integrated watershed management will be developed. The cities, counties, and tribe shall ensure that the members of the planning unit represent diverse interests, and shall include the interests represented by a planning unit that would be appointed under subsections (5)(a) through (g) and (12) of this section. If the cities, counties, and tribe designate a new planning group as the basis for local participation on the planning unit, the new group plus the membership specified in subsection (5)(j) of this section and any membership provided under subsection (5)(i) of this section, which provide for representation by state and tribal governments, constitute the planning unit for developing integrated watershed management under this chapter in the management area.

(4) If an existing or new group is designated under subsection (2) or (3) of this section as the basis for local participation on the planning unit, the group and therefore the planning unit it is a part of: Shall have membership positions that directly represent cities in whole or in part in the management area and these positions shall be clearly identified as such; and shall have membership positions that directly represent counties with territory in the WRIAs that make up the management area and these positions shall be clearly identified as such. The cities, counties, and tribe designating a new group as the basis for local participation on the planning unit may identify a subcommittee structure for the planning unit, but the authorities granted to a planning unit by this chapter may only be exercised by the full planning unit. Any of the cities or counties that are entitled to have a membership position on the planning unit may choose not to participate in the planning unit.

(5) Unless a planning unit is created as provided in subsection (2) or (3) of this section, the planning unit that develops integrated watershed management in a single WRIA management area under this chapter shall be composed of the following:

(a) One member representing each county with territory in the WRIA appointed by the county;
(b) One member representing cities for each county with territory in the WRIA appointed by the cities within that county;
(c) One member representing water supply utilities for each county with territory within the WRIA, appointed jointly by the three largest water supply utilities in the county;
(d) One member representing all conservation districts with territory within the WRIA appointed jointly by those districts;
(e) Three members representing major interests in the WRIA appointed jointly by the cities with territory within the WRIA; three members representing major interests in the WRIA appointed jointly by the counties with territory within the WRIA; and three members representing major interests in the WRIA, appointed jointly by the cities and counties with territory within the WRIA;
(f) One member representing the general citizenry appointed jointly by the cities with territory within the WRIA;
(g) One member representing the general citizenry appointed jointly by the counties with territory in the WRIA;
(h) Two members representing the general citizenry appointed jointly by the cities and counties, one of whom shall be a holder of a water right certificate and one of whom shall be a holder of a water right for which a statement of claim was in the state’s water rights claims registry before January 1, 1997;
(i) If one or more federal Indian reservations, other than the initiating tribe, if there is one, are located in whole or in part within the boundaries of the management area, or if one or more Indian tribes located in this state have federally recognized ceded land within the management area or fishing rights recognized under federal case law on lands within the management area, the planning unit shall promptly extend an invitation to the tribal government of each such reservation to appoint one member representing that tribal government and to the tribal government of each such Indian tribe to appoint one member representing that tribe; and

(j) One member representing each of the following state agencies: The department of transportation, the department of fish and wildlife, the department of ecology, and the department of natural resources.

(6) The four members representing state agencies under subsection (5)(j) of this section shall have a total of two votes in any voting done by the planning unit. One of these votes shall be shared by the department of natural resources and the department of fish and wildlife; the other vote shall be shared by the department of ecology and the department of transportation. Of these members, the governor shall appoint one lead state representative whose duty it is to ensure that state government ultimately speaks with one voice in developing integrated watershed management under this chapter, to coordinate the state’s participation on the planning unit, and to secure and coordinate under section 15 of this act the technical assistance provided by the state to the planning unit.

(7) In addition, for a WRIA located within Pierce, King, Snohomish, or Spokane county, one representative of the water purveyor using the largest amount of water from the WRIA shall be a voting member of the planning unit whether the principal offices of the purveyor are or are not located within the WRIA.

(8) Unless a planning unit is created as provided in subsection (2) or (3) of this section, the planning unit that develops integrated watershed management in a multi-WRIA management area under this chapter shall be composed of the following:

(a) One member representing each county with territory in the multi-WRIA area appointed by that county;
(b) One member representing cities for each county with territory in the multi-WRIA area appointed by the cities within that county;
(c) One member representing water supply utilities for each county with territory within the multi-WRIA area appointed jointly by the three largest water supply utilities in each county;
(d) Up to two members, as that number is determined by the districts, representing all conservation districts with territory within the multi-WRIA area and appointed jointly by those districts;
(e) Three members representing major interests in the management area appointed jointly by the cities with territory within the multi-WRIA area; three members representing major interests in the management area appointed jointly by the counties with territory within the multi-WRIA area; and three members representing major interests in the management area appointed jointly by the cities and counties with territory within the multi-WRIA area;
(f) One member representing the general citizenry appointed jointly by the cities with territory within the multi-WRIA area;
(g) One member representing the general citizenry appointed jointly by the counties with territory in the multi-WRIA area;
(h) Two members representing the general citizenry appointed jointly by the cities and the counties, one of whom shall be a holder of a water right certificate and one of whom shall be a holder of a water right for which a statement of claim was in the state’s water rights claims registry before January 1, 1997;
(i) If one or more federal Indian reservations, other than the initiating tribe if there is one, are located in whole or in part within the boundaries of the management area, or if one or more Indian tribes located in this state have federally recognized ceded land within the management area or fishing rights recognized under federal case law on lands within the management area, the planning unit shall promptly extend an invitation to the tribal government of each such reservation to appoint one member representing that tribal government and to the tribal government of each such Indian tribe to appoint one member representing that tribe; and
(j) One member representing each of the following state agencies: The department of transportation, the department of fish and wildlife, the department of ecology, and the department of natural resources.

(9) The four members representing state agencies under subsection (8)(j) of this section shall have a total of two votes in any voting done by the planning unit. One of these votes shall be shared by the department of natural resources and the department of fish and wildlife; the other vote shall be shared by the department of ecology and the department of transportation. Of these members, the
The planning unit may adopt the recommendation or provide changes to respond to the decisions made under section 6 of this act regarding minimum instream flows.

(2) Decisions regarding setting minimum instream flows shall be made as described in section 6 of this act. Whether the minimum instream flows set for streams in the management area are or are not added as an express component of the planning unit’s integrated watershed management for the management area may be determined by the planning unit, but adding or not adding the component does not affect the decisions made under section 6 of this act regarding minimum instream flows.

(3) As part of its integrated watershed management, the planning unit may choose to develop drafts of state administrative rules and local ordinances that would be needed to give force and effect to the parts of its integrated watershed management that would create rights or obligations for any party. If it so chooses, it may also request the appropriate state agencies, units of tribal government, and units of local government to assist it in drafting the rules and ordinances. If the planning unit requests a state agency to provide such assistance, the state agency shall provide the assistance.

(4) (a) Upon completing its proposed integrated watershed management for the management area, the planning unit shall publish notice of and conduct at least one public hearing in each county in the management area on the proposal. The planning unit shall take care to provide notice of the hearing throughout the management area. As a minimum, the notice shall be published in one or more newspapers of general circulation in the management area. After considering the public comments and making any changes in its proposal, the planning unit may approve the proposal by the process provided for in (b) and (c) of this subsection.

(b)(i) The department and the tribal government with federal Indian reservation land located within the management area shall provide advice as to any specific subsections or sections of the watershed management that the department or tribe believes to be in conflict with state or federal law, and may provide other recommendations regarding the watershed management. The department or tribe shall transmit its advice and recommendations within forty-five days of receiving it for review. The planning unit shall consider each recommendation provided by the department under this subsection. The planning unit may adopt the recommendation or provide changes to respond to the advice of the department or tribe by achieving approval by a vote of the members of the planning unit.

(ii) If the planning unit fails to adopt the department’s or tribal council’s recommendations regarding provisions of the watershed management that conflict with state or federal law, the department and the planning unit shall submit the dispute to mediation. If mediation does not resolve the dispute within forty-five days, the department shall file a petition for declaratory judgment in the superior court of the county with the largest area in the WRIA or multi-WRIA governed by the watershed management. The superior court shall review the dispute under the error of law standard. If the superior court finds that a component of the plan conflicts with state or federal law, that component of the plan is invalid. Decisions on such petitions are reviewable as in other civil cases. This subsection shall not be construed to establish state liability for any other element of the watershed management adopted as rules.

(c) Approval among the members of the planning unit is achieved if the members of the planning unit present for a recorded vote on the proposal appointed to represent the state through the shared ballot process described in section 10 (6) and (9) of this act, each appointed to represent tribal government with federal Indian reservation land located in the WRIA, each appointed to represent directly counties, each appointed to represent water supply utilities, each appointed to represent conservation districts, and each appointed to represent directly cities records his or her support for the proposed integrated watershed management as part of a recorded vote on the proposal.

(d) Approval among the members of the planning unit appointed to represent major interests in the management area and general citizenry components of the planning unit is achieved if a majority of the members of the planning unit, other than those described in (b) of this subsection, present at the recorded vote on the proposal records support for the integrated watershed management as a part of the recorded vote.

(e) If the watershed management is approved by the planning unit, the unit shall submit the watershed management to the counties with territory within the management area.

(f) If the watershed management is not approved by the planning unit following a vote, then the planning unit shall submit the watershed management to mediation in an attempt to achieve agreement between the members of the planning unit. If the unit is unable to reach an agreement that will achieve approval within forty-five days after submitting the dispute to mediation, the planning unit may either submit the components of the watershed management in which agreement was achieved to the county for approval or terminate the process.

(5) The legislative authority of each of the counties with territory within the management area shall provide public notice for and conduct at least one public hearing in each county on the approved watershed management submitted to the county under this section. The counties shall take care to provide notice of the hearings throughout the management area. As a minimum, the notice shall be published in one or more newspapers of general circulation in the management area. After the public hearings, the legislative authorities of these counties shall convene in joint session to consider the watershed management. The counties may approve or reject the watershed management, but may not amend it. Approval of a watershed management or of recommendations for a watershed management that are not approved shall be made by a majority vote of the members of the legislative authorities of each of the counties with territory in the management area.

(6) If the watershed management is not approved by the counties, it shall be returned to the planning unit with recommendations for revisions. If the revisions are approved by the planning unit, the watershed management shall be returned to the county for adoption. Approval of such a revised proposal shall be made in the same manner provided for the original integrated watershed management. If the revisions are not approved by the planning unit, the planning unit and the counties shall submit the revisions to mediation in an attempt to reach an agreement that will achieve approval by the planning unit and the counties. If approval of the planning unit is achieved after mediation, the watershed management shall be returned to the county for adoption. If the planning unit is unable to achieve agreement following mediation, it may either submit the components of the watershed management in which agreement was achieved to the county for approval or terminate the process. The department shall proceed with adopting the approved watershed management through a rules adoption process described in RCW 90.82.040(8).

(7) Before the adoption of the watershed management by the county legislative authority, the county shall transmit a copy of the watershed management to each city located in the WRIA. The cities shall hold a public hearing on the watershed management. The city shall publish notice of the hearing in a newspaper of general circulation in the city at least three days before the hearing. The city has forty-five days after receiving the watershed management from the county to consider passage of a resolution that expresses agreement with the watershed management or express any concerns with the watershed management with the county.

(8) At a minimum, the planning unit shall not add a component to its integrated watershed management that creates an obligation for state government unless the members of the planning unit appointed to represent state government agree to adding the component; it shall not add a component that creates an obligation for a tribal government unless the member or members of the planning unit appointed to represent that tribal government agree to adding the component; it shall not add a component that creates an obligation for a county, city, conservation district, or water supply utility unless the members of the planning unit appointed to represent the county, city, conservation district, or water supply utility agree to adding the component. A member’s agreeing to add a component shall be evidenced by a recorded vote of all members of the planning unit in which the members record support for adding the component. If integrated watershed management is approved by the planning unit and the counties for a management area under this section and that management creates obligations for agencies of state government, the obligations are binding on the state agencies and the agencies shall adopt implementing rules and take other actions to fulfill their obligations as soon as possible.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 12. MEMBERSHIP--OTHER RULES. (1) A vacancy on a planning unit shall be filled by appointment in the same manner prescribed for appointing the position that has become vacant. The planning unit shall not interrupt its work to await additional original appointments or appointments to fill any vacancies that may occur in its membership.

(2) No person who is a member of a planning unit for a management area under this chapter may designate another to act on behalf of the person as a member or to attend as a member a meeting of the unit on behalf of the person. If a member of such a planning unit is absent from more than five meetings of the planning unit that constitute twenty percent or more of the meetings that have been conducted by the planning unit while the person is a member of the unit.

(3) For the purposes of this chapter, a county or conservation district is considered to have territory within a management area only if the territory of the county or district located in one of the WRIA’s in the management area constitutes at least fifteen percent of the area of the WRIA.

Sec. 13. RCW 90.82.040 and 1997 c 442 s 105 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) ((Once a WRIA planning unit has been organized and designated a lead agency, it shall notify the department and may apply to the department for funding assistance for conducting the planning. Funds shall be provided from and to the extent of appropriations made by the legislature to the department expressly for this purpose.)) The department shall develop and administer a grant program to provide direct financial assistance to planning units for the preparation of integrated watershed management under this chapter. Three separate grants may be awarded pursuant to this section. These grants are initial organizing grants, grants for watershed assessments and establishment of instream flows, and grants for the development of integrated watershed management and implementation. The total amount of the grants may not exceed five hundred thousand dollars for each WRIA. The department may not impose any local matching fund requirement as a condition for grant eligibility or as a preference for receiving a grant.

(2) An initial organizing grant of up to fifty thousand dollars may be awarded to a lead agency that applies to the department and indicates that integrated watershed management is to be developed under this chapter. Organizing grants may be expended for any purpose authorized by the department, including but not limited to determining the scope of work to be addressed by the integrated watershed management for the management area; collecting and reviewing relevant studies and plans that already exist for the watershed, including growth management related plans in which critical areas have been designated pursuant to chapter 36.70A RCW; determining how the integrated watershed management for a management area can be coordinated with existing studies and plans; and baseline monitoring of water within the watershed.

(3)(a) A watershed assessment grant of up to two hundred thousand dollars for each WRIA may be awarded to a planning unit that certifies to the department that it adequately represents a broad range of interests within the watershed, and that it is willing to undertake the following as part of its integrated watershed management for its management area: Integrated watershed management for the protection or enhancement of habitat, integrated watershed management for water quantity, or integrated watershed management for water quality. The planning unit must submit a detailed proposed budget that demonstrates the need for the grant.

(b) Grants awarded pursuant to this subsection (3) shall be awarded for a four-year period. The four-year time period shall begin when the lead agency for the planning unit first received the initial organizing grant under subsection (2) of this section. For a planning unit that did not submit an application for an initial organizing grant, the four-year time period shall begin when the planning unit receives a grant under this subsection (3).

(4) A management development, instream flow, and implementation grant in an amount of up to two hundred fifty thousand dollars for each WRIA may be awarded to a planning unit that submits evidence that an assessment of the watershed has been adequately prepared in sufficient detail for the purposes for which the watershed assessment grant was awarded; the integrated watershed management that will be developed for the management area will not be in conflict with federal laws, state statutes, or tribal treaty rights; and its development will be coordinated with adjacent jurisdictions for purposes of minimum instream flows and water quality, if water quality was addressed as part of the watershed assessment. The planning unit must submit a detailed proposed budget that demonstrates the need for the grant. Any moneys awarded from the remaining grant balance for implementation in a management area under this section are available only for implementation that commences after integrated watershed management has been adopted for the area under section 11 of this act.

(5)(a) The department shall use the following eligibility criteria instead of rules when evaluating grant applications at each stage of the grants program:

(i) The application has documented that the planning unit meets all of the requirements of this chapter;

(ii) The application demonstrates a need for state planning funds to accomplish the objectives of the planning process; and

(iii) The application and supporting information evidences a readiness to proceed.

(b) In ranking grant applications submitted at each stage of the grants program except for the initial organizing grant under subsection (2) of this section, the department shall give preference to applications in the following order of priority:

(i) Applications from existing planning groups that have been in existence for at least one year;

(ii) Applications from multi-WRIAs that propose to address protection and enhancement of fish habitat in watersheds that have aquatic species listed as endangered or threatened under the federal endangered species act, 16 U.S.C. Sec. 1531 et seq., and for which there is evidence of an inability to supply adequate water for population and economic growth;

(iii) Applications from single WRIAs that propose to address protection and enhancement of fish habitat in watersheds that have aquatic species listed as endangered or threatened under the federal endangered species act, and for which there is evidence of an inability to supply adequate water for population and economic growth;

(iv) Applications from multi-WRIAs that propose to address protection and enhancement of fish habitat in watersheds that have aquatic species listed as endangered or threatened under the federal endangered species act; and

(v) Applications from single WRIAs that propose to address protection and enhancement of fish habitat in watersheds that have aquatic species listed under the federal endangered species act.

(6) Funding provided under this section shall be considered a contractual obligation against the moneys appropriated for this purpose.

(7) The department may retain up to one percent of funds allocated under this section to defray administrative costs.

(8) The department may adopt its implementing rules for an integrated watershed management that have been approved by counties as part of integrated watershed management and may adopt rules when necessary to implement this section or section 6(2) of this act either by the regular rules adoption process provided in chapter 34.05 RCW, the expedited rules adoption process as set forth in RCW 34.05.230, or through a rules adoption process that uses the public hearings and notice provided by the planning unit and the county legislative authority as a substitute for the rules adoption requirements of chapter 34.05 RCW. If the planning unit and county legislative authority hearings and notice are used as a substitute for the regular rules adoption process, the rules do not take effect until they are published in the Washington state register as provided in chapter 34.05 RCW. Such rules do not constitute significant legislative rules as defined in RCW 34.05.328, and do not require the preparation of small business economic impact statements.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 14. A new section is added to chapter 34.05 RCW to read as follows: Rules adopted by the department of ecology pursuant to RCW 90.82.040(8) are exempt from the requirements of this chapter to the extent provided in RCW 90.82.040(8).

NEW SECTION. Sec. 15. TECHNICAL ASSISTANCE. (1) The lead state representative on a planning unit designated under section 10(5)(j) of this act shall establish a program to provide technical assistance to planning units and local governments to encourage and facilitate the adoption and implementation of integrated watershed management for management areas developed under this chapter. The program shall use existing requirements or standards that must be satisfied by the integrated watershed management developed under this chapter and no part of the program may have the effect of a rule adopted under chapter 34.05 RCW.

(2) The program shall use any staff assigned by the governor for this task, the staff of state agencies, and staff from institutions of higher education to assist in the development of integrated watershed management under this chapter, including but not limited to assistance in determining and explaining how best available science will be incorporated into integrated watershed management for a management area, developing methods for effectively monitoring performance, providing the criteria that represents acceptable performance for key elements of the integrated watershed management for a management area, and the method of reporting performance to the public, local communities, and the state. In providing assistance under this section, the lead state representative shall recognize regional and local variations that exist in different parts of the state.

(3) The lead state representative on a planning unit shall assist planning units in ensuring that integrated watershed management developed under this chapter is coordinated with, and consistent with, the integrated watershed management of other planning units that share common borders or major stream basins. The state shall provide mediation services to resolve disputes between planning units.

(4) The department may contract out technical assistance if the lead state representative finds that it is cost-effective and will assist in implementing the intent of this chapter.

(5) The department shall conduct an annual workshop for planning units to share successful approaches, as well as difficulties, in addressing specific problems within watersheds.

(6) All state agencies with rule-making authority for programs that affect the development and implementation of integrated watershed management developed under this chapter shall review those rules and programs for consistency with this chapter and make recommendations to the legislature for any necessary statutory changes.

Sec. 16. RCW 90.03.345 and 1979 ex.s. c 216 s 7 are each amended to read as follows: (1) The establishment of reservations of water for agriculture, hydroelectric energy, municipal, industrial, and other beneficial uses under RCW 90.54.050(1) or minimum flows or levels under RCW 90.22.010 or 90.54.040 shall constitute appropriations within the meaning of this chapter with priority dates as of the effective dates of their establishment. Whenever an application for a permit to make beneficial use of public waters embodied in a reservation, established after September 1, 1979, is filed with the department of ecology after the effective date of such reservation, the priority date for a permit issued pursuant to an approval by the department of ecology of the application shall be the effective date of the reservation.

(2) Minimum flows established under section 6 of this act shall have a priority date as specified in that section.

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

"Sec. 1. RCW 90.82.005 and 1997 c 442 s 101 are each amended to read as follows:
The purpose of this chapter is to develop a (more) thorough and cooperative method ((of)) that provides local citizens the maximum possible input for: Determining what the current water resource situation is in each water resource inventory area of the state and ((to provide local citizens with the maximum possible input concerning their)) establishing goals and objectives for water resource management and development; reviewing water quality problems and recommending strategies for achieving compliance with water quality standards; and coordinating with any plans for the protection and enhancement of fish habitat.

It is necessary for the legislature to establish processes and policies that will result in providing state agencies with more specific guidance to manage the water resources of the state consistent with current law and direction provided by local entities and citizens through the process established in accordance with this chapter.

It is the intent of this chapter to provide locally based groups with the opportunity to: Assess local water supplies and needs and develop strategies to provide adequate water for economic prosperity and environmental protection while protecting existing water rights; ensure that adequate water supplies are available for population and economic growth under the requirements of the state’s growth management act, chapter 36.70A RCW; review water quality problems and develop a strategy for achieving compliance with water quality standards; and coordinate plans for protection and enhancement of fish habitat.

Chapter ..., Laws of 1998 (this act) is enacted to: Improve the ability of local governments and citizens to be involved in the design and implementation of solutions to water quantity, water quality, and habitat needs for fish species and provide an opportunity for people in all watersheds to be involved in watershed planning if they so desire; provide a flexible mechanism for conducting locally initiated watershed planning on either a single watershed basis or, if more appropriate, on a multiple watershed basis; and allow local people to determine the scope of the watershed planning process while encouraging them to consider comprehensive watershed planning that includes addressing water quantity, water quality, and habitat for fish species in concert with one another.

Thus it is the intent of the legislature for integrated watershed management to help produce:
Adequate water quantity for the future, adequate water quality to protect and promote beneficial uses, and sufficient protection and enhancement of habitat so that fish resources thrive to be used and enjoyed by citizens of the state.

It is also the intent of the legislature to encourage collaboration and cooperation between the wide range of interests, and local, state, federal, and tribal governments to develop solutions to watershed problems. The state of Washington wishes to recognize and maintain formal government-to-government relationships, and it also endeavors to work cooperatively with all governmental entities and representatives of citizen groups to foster effective and practical solutions that have broad-based support. It is the intent of the legislature that all of the citizens of the state of Washington work collaboratively to ensure that the management of the state’s economic destiny and environmental heritage remains in the hands of Washington’s citizens as much as possible.
Nothing in this chapter may be construed as affecting or impairing existing water or property rights.

Sec. 2. RCW 90.82.010 and 1997 c 442 s 102 are each amended to read as follows:
The legislature finds that the state’s vital interests are served by the wise management of the state’s water resources, by protecting existing water rights and dependent economies, by protecting and enhancing instream flows and habitat for fish, and by providing for the public health and economic well-being of the state’s citizenry and communities. The legislature finds that many regions of the state are facing challenges relating to water quantity, water quality, and habitat for fish species. There are a number of bodies of water in the state that do not meet federal and state water quality standards. In several areas of the state, there has been a significant decrease in the number of fish returning to state waters and there is a growing sense of urgency to protect and enhance existing fishery resources. The pressures of a growing population and expanding economy have led some local communities to seek additional water supplies for present and future needs and to seek certainty that the supplies will be available for those needs.

The legislature finds that the local development of watershed plans for managing water resources, for protecting existing water rights and dependent economies, and for protecting and enhancing habitat for fish is vital to both state and local interests. The local development of these plans serves vital local interests by placing it in the hands of people: Who have the greatest knowledge of both the resources and the aspirations of those who live and work in the watershed; and who have the greatest stake in the proper, long-term management of the resources. The development of such plans serves the state’s vital interests by ensuring that the state’s water resources are used wisely, by protecting existing water rights and dependent economies, by protecting instream flows for fish, by protecting or enhancing fish habitat, and by providing for the economic well-being of the state’s citizenry and communities. Therefore, the legislature believes it necessary for units of local government throughout the state to engage in the orderly development of these watershed plans.

The legislature finds that water resource and fish habitat challenges vary from region to region. The legislature also finds that, in many cases, addressing one water resource or fishery habitat issue can cause concerns and have effects in other areas; as a result, integrated watershed management may be needed to address the variety of these challenges simultaneously.

The legislature further recognizes that considerable effort for addressing many of the challenges is represented by the work, planning, projects, and activities that have already been completed by local interests regarding watershed management or have been initiated and are in various stages of completion. The legislature finds that, if new, integrated watershed management is to be initiated, it must begin with a thorough review of these completed or ongoing efforts and should incorporate their products as appropriate so as not to duplicate the work already performed or underway.

Although these challenges may require approaches that are integrated and comprehensive, the legislature finds that considerable authority currently exists to address these issues but that such authority is spread across an array of federal, state, tribal, and local governments. Integration and coordination of such authorities in ways that have support of state, local, and tribal interests will be needed to develop and implement multi-interest and comprehensive solutions. The legislature further finds that new state and federal regulatory regimes are by and large not necessary to develop good watershed management and that local authorities in particular provide a broad array of implementation tools to support good watershed management. However, the legislature finds that the key to meeting existing regulatory objectives is the involvement and support of local citizens and local governments working cooperatively with state, federal, and tribal governments. The legislature recognizes that it is unable to provide all the funding necessary for integrated watershed management to be developed throughout the entire state at once, and that as a result, watershed management will be phased in across the state over time, and that the state has an ongoing responsibility to provide funding for the watershed management described in this chapter.

Sec. 3. RCW 90.82.020 and 1997 c 442 s 103 are each amended to read as follows:
Unless the context clearly requires otherwise, the definitions in this section apply throughout this chapter.

(1) "City" means an incorporated city, code city, or town.
(2) "Department" means the department of ecology.
((2)) (3) "Implementing rules" for ((a WRIA plan)) integrated watershed management developed by a planning unit are the rules needed to give force and effect to the parts of the ((plan)) integrated watershed management that create rights or obligations for ((any party including)) a state agency ((or that establish water management policy)).

((4)) (4) "Indian tribe" means any Indian tribe, band, or nation that: (a) is recognized as eligible, by the secretary of the interior, for the special programs and services provided by the United States to Indians because of their status as Indians; and (b) is recognized as possessing powers of self-government.

(5) "Lead agency" means the entity identified under section 9 of this act that makes provision for administrative staff support for and receives grants for a planning unit developing integrated watershed management under this chapter.

(6) "Management area" means the WRIA or the multiple WRIA area for which integrated watershed management is developed by a planning unit under this chapter.

(7) "Minimum instream flows" means ((e minimum)) flows that meet the requirements of minimum flows under chapter 90.03 or 90.22 RCW ((or a)) and base flows under chapter 90.54 RCW as adopted by rule.

((5)) (11) "Integrated watershed management" means the product of the planning unit ((including)) and includes the plan of the planning unit approved under section 11 of this act, any rules adopted in conjunction with the ((product)) plan of the planning unit, and strategies of the planning unit for implementing its plan.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4. ELEMENTS OF MANAGEMENT--PRIORITY PROJECTS. (1) Counties, cities, and water supply utilities may, at their option, provide for the development of integrated watershed management for watersheds under this chapter. If initiated, such management shall be developed for water quantity components of water resource management under section 5 of this act, water quality components of water resource management under section 7 of this act, and the coordination of protection or enhancement of fish habitat under section 8 of this act. If integrated watershed management is initiated under this chapter, minimum instream flows shall be established for streams in the management area as provided in section 6 of this act. It is anticipated that a planning unit will not await the development of proposals for minimum instream flows under section 6 of this act to begin developing other components of its integrated watershed management for a management area; rather, work on these developments will be undertaken concurrently.

(2) Under this chapter, integrated watershed management may be developed by a planning unit for one or more WRIAs, but may not be developed by a planning unit for less than one WRIA except for those watersheds planned as pilot projects in the Methow and Dungeness/Quilcene areas before the effective date of this section. This chapter may not be construed to prevent or delay any planning projects, or activities that are commenced under other laws or that are authorized.

(3) Integrated watershed management developed and approved under this chapter shall not contain provisions that (a) are in conflict with state statutes, federal laws, or tribal treaty rights, existing on the effective date of this section; (b) impair or diminish in any manner an existing water right evidenced by a claim filed in the water rights claims registry or a water right certificate or permit; (c) require a modification in the basic operations of a federal reclamation project with a water right the priority date of which is before the effective date of this section or alter in any manner whatsoever the quantity of water available under the water right for the reclamation project, whether the project has or has not been completed before the effective date of this section; (d) affect or interfere with an ongoing general adjudication of water rights; (e) apply in an area with an acreage expansion program in effect on the effective date of this section that is an element of a ground water area or subarea management program as provided in RCW 90.44.445; (f) in any way delay the processing of requests for changes in place of water use, purpose of use, or point of diversion; (g) modify or require the modification of any waste discharge permit issued under chapter 90.48 RCW; or (h) modify or require the modification of activities or actions taken to protect or enhance fish habitat if the activities or actions are: (i) Part of a habitat conservation plan and permit, an incidental take permit or statement, a management or recovery plan, or other cooperative or conservation agreement entered into with a federal or state fish and wildlife protection agency under its statutory authority for fish and wildlife protection that addresses the affected habitat; or (ii) part of an agreement regulating forest practices, which is adopted by rule by the forest practices board under the forest practices act, chapter 76.09 RCW, for the affected habitat. This subsection (3)(h) applies as long as the activities or actions continue to be taken in accordance with the plan, agreement, permit, statement, or rules. Any assessment conducted under section 5, 7, or 8 of this act shall take into consideration such activities and actions.

(4) Integrated watershed management developed and approved under this chapter shall not change existing local ordinances or existing state rules, but it may contain recommendations for changing such ordinances or rules.

(5) Once a planning unit has begun developing integrated watershed management under this chapter, the unit shall, as a matter of high priority:

(a) Review the historical geographic characteristics of the management area, and also review the planning, projects, and activities that have already been completed regarding natural resource management or enhancement in the management area and the products or status of those that have been initiated but not completed for such management in the management area, and incorporate their products as appropriate so as not to duplicate the work already performed or underway; and

(b) Identify projects and activities in the management area that the unit believes will likely serve short-term or long-term management goals and that warrant immediate financial assistance from state, federal, or local government. The planning unit shall prioritize these projects and activities in a manner that reflects the degree to which they serve the unit’s goals and the costs and the benefits of undertaking them. The unit shall submit its prioritized list to the local governments with jurisdiction and, through the lead state representative on the planning unit designated under section 10(5)(j) of this act, to the legislature and the appropriate state agencies.

(6) Integrated watershed management planning conducted under sections 5, 7, and 8 of this act shall identify within the management area the actions and activities that are necessary to: Implement the provisions of the integrated watershed management, monitor the effectiveness of the implementation, and provide any needed modifications. It shall also identify the entities responsible for conducting these activities and actions. It shall also identify any entity responsible for the coordinated oversight of these responsibilities.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4. WATER QUANTITY. Integrated watershed management established for water quantity in the management area shall include an assessment of water supply and use in the management area, including:

(1) An estimate of the surface and ground water present in the management area;

(2) An estimate of the surface and ground water available in the management area, taking into account seasonal and other variations;

(3) An estimate of the water in the management area represented by claims in the water rights claims registry, water use permits, certificated rights, rights granted under section 17 of this act, existing minimum instream flow rules, federally reserved rights, and any other rights to water;

(4) An estimate of the surface and ground water actually being used in the management area;

(5) An estimate of the water needed in the future for use in the management area;

(6) An identification of the location areas where aquifers are known to recharge surface bodies of water and areas known to provide for the recharge of aquifers from the surface;

(7) An estimate of the surface and ground water available for further appropriation, taking into account the minimum instream flows adopted by rule or to be adopted by rule for streams in the management area; and

(8) Strategies for increasing water supplies in the management area, which may include, but are not limited to, increasing water supplies through water conservation, water reuse, the use of reclaimed water, voluntary water transfers, aquifer recharge and recovery, additional water allocations, or water storage enhancements. The objective of these strategies is to supply water in sufficient quantities to satisfy the minimum instream flows and to provide water for future out-of-stream uses for water identified in subsection (5) of this section and to ensure that adequate water supplies are available for population and economic growth under the requirements of the state’s growth management act, chapter 36.70A RCW. These strategies shall not be construed to be an allocation of water. If integrated watershed management is established by a planning unit under this section for water quantity components of water resource management in a management area and that management is approved by the counties under section 11 of this act but does not contain the strategies required under this subsection, all components of integrated watershed management established by the planning unit under this chapter are void.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 5. INSTREAM FLOWS. (1)(a) Except as provided in subsection (5) of this section, minimum instream flows shall be established by rule for the principal stream or streams in the WRIA or multiple WRIA area for which integrated watershed management is developed by a planning unit under this chapter. At the time a planning unit is chosen or created under section 10 of this act or initial appointments are made by cities and counties under section 10 of this act, the cities and counties in a management area may decide, as described in section 9(9) of this act, that the planning unit will not participate in identifying such flows in the management area, in which case they shall request the department to adopt rules establishing the minimum instream flows for the principal stream or streams in the management area.

(b) In all other management areas after considering in detail the assessment provided in section 5 of this act, identifying the flow regimes that make up the minimum instream flows shall be a collaborative effort between the department and the members of the planning unit developing the integrated watershed management. As these flows are developed, it shall be the duty of the department to attempt to achieve consensus among all of the members of the planning unit regarding the minimum flows to be adopted by rule by the department. Approval is achieved if:

(i) The members of the planning unit present for a recorded vote on the proposed minimum instream flows who have been appointed to represent the state through the shared ballot process described in section 10 (6) and (9) of this act, each appointed to represent tribal governments with federal Indian reservations or federally recognized ceded lands located in whole or in part within the management area or fishing rights recognized under federal case law on lands within the management area, each appointed to represent directly counties, each appointed to represent directly cities, each appointed to represent directly conservation districts, and each appointed to represent directly water supply utilities records his or her support for the proposed minimum instream flows as part of the recorded vote or abstains from voting on the proposal; and

(ii) A majority of the members of the planning unit, other than those who have been appointed to represent the entities identified in (b)(i) of this subsection, who are present for a recorded vote on proposed minimum instream flows, records support for the proposed minimum instream flows as part of the recorded vote on the proposal.

That such a recorded vote will be taken on proposed minimum instream flows shall be announced at the official meeting of the planning unit immediately preceding the official meeting of the unit at which the vote is recorded and a notice regarding voting on proposed minimum instream flows shall be sent to each member appointed to the planning unit as soon as possible following the meeting at which such an announcement is made.

(2) If approval of the planning unit is achieved on minimum instream flows proposed for a management area under subsection (1) of this section, the department shall establish those flows by rule as described in RCW 90.82.040(8).

(3) If approval is not achieved under subsection (1) of this section within four years of the date the planning unit first receives funding from the department under RCW 90.82.040, the department may promptly initiate rule making under chapter 34.05 RCW to establish minimum instream flows for these streams. If the planning unit did not achieve approval on establishing minimum instream flows, the planning unit may submit the vote on instream flows to the department for its consideration. Minimum flows established under this section shall have a priority date of two years after the planning unit first received funding from the department under RCW 90.82.040.

(4) If minimum instream flows have been adopted by rule for a stream in the management area and the cities and counties do not, under section 9 of this act, request the planning unit or the department to modify those flows, minimum instream flows for the stream shall not be modified for the stream under this chapter. If the cities and counties request, under section 9 of this act, that the planning unit modify the minimum instream flows for the stream but approval is not achieved under this section for modifying those flows, minimum instream flows shall not be modified for the stream under this chapter.
Nothing in this chapter either: (a) Affects the department's authority to establish flow requirements or other conditions under RCW 90.48.260 or the federal clean water act (33 U.S.C. Sec. 1251 et seq.) for the licensing or relicensing of a hydroelectric power project under the federal power act (16 U.S.C. Sec. 791 et seq.); or (b) affects or impairs existing instream flow requirements and other conditions in a current license for a hydroelectric power project licensed under the federal power act.

Minimum instream flows shall not be proposed or adopted for the main stem of the Columbia river or the main stem of the Snake river under this chapter.

A planning unit may consider identifying how minimum instream flows could be modified in response to the successful implementation of other elements of the integrated watershed management.

As used in this section, the "principal stream or streams" are, in a management area for which the department is requested by cities and counties to adopt minimum instream flows under subsection (1)(a) of this section, the streams determined by the department to be the principal stream or streams. In any other management area, the "principal stream or streams" are the main stem of the stream with the largest annual average flow in each WRIA in the management area; and the major tributaries to such a main stem and any other streams in the management area that are determined to be principal streams by the planning unit by a majority vote of the planning unit. "Principal stream or streams" does not include streambeds that are used as laterals for irrigation and are nonfish-bearing.

Nothing in this chapter may be construed as affecting or impairing in any manner whatsoever water rights existing before the effective date of this section.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 6. WATER QUALITY. Integrated watershed management established for water quality in the management area shall include the following components:

1. An examination based on existing studies conducted by federal, state, and local agencies of the degree to which legally established water quality standards are being met in the management area;
2. An examination based on existing studies conducted by federal, state, and local agencies of the causes of water quality violations in the management area, including an examination of information regarding pollutants, point and nonpoint source pollutants, and pollution-carrying capacities of water bodies in the management area. The analysis shall take into account seasonal stream flow or level variations, natural events, and pollution from natural sources that occur independent of human activities;
3. An examination of the uses of each of the nonmarine bodies of water in the management area and an identification of the beneficial uses of each for water quality classification purposes;
4. An identification of the class of use for nonmarine bodies of water and for basin-specific water quality standards that may be adopted by rule by the department and recommendations for the water quality standards to be adopted for those bodies of water;
5. A recommended strategy for achieving compliance with water quality standards for the nonmarine bodies of water in the management area; and
6. Recommended means of monitoring by appropriate government agencies whether actions taken to implement the strategy bring about improvements in water quality that are sufficient to achieve compliance with water quality standards.

This chapter does not obligate the state to undertake analysis or to develop strategies required under the federal clean water act (33 U.S.C. Sec. 1251 et seq.).

NEW SECTION. Sec. 7. HABITAT. Integrated watershed management shall be coordinated, or as needed, developed to protect or enhance fish habitat in the management area by relying on existing laws and rules adopted under habitat planning processes such as the habitat work plans prepared under chapter ... Laws of 1998 (Substitute House Bill No. 2496) and other existing plans created for the purpose of protecting, restoring, or enhancing fish habitat, the shoreline management act, chapter 90.58 RCW, the growth management act, chapter 36.70A RCW, and the forest practices act, chapter 76.09 RCW. Management established under this section shall be integrated with strategies developed under other processes to respond to potential and actual listings of salmon and other fish species as being threatened or endangered under the federal endangered species act, 16 U.S.C. Sec. 1531 et seq. Integrated watershed management developed for such purposes shall include the following components:

1. An analysis of the potential for protecting or enhancing fish habitat in the management area;
(2) An identification of fish habitat protection or enhancement activities and projects and voluntary transactions, including but not limited to those providing for the purchase of fish habitat or fish habitat easements, that would provide the greatest benefit to such habitat in the management area. Where habitat work plans developed under chapter . . ., Laws of 1998 (Substitute House Bill No. 2496) are available or are intended to be developed, the planning shall rely on those plans;

(3) Recommended means of ensuring that the activities, projects, and transactions identified under subsection (2) of this section will be undertaken. Where habitat work plans developed under chapter . . ., Laws of 1998 (Substitute House Bill No. 2496) are available or are intended to be developed, the planning shall rely on those plans; and

(4) Recommended means of monitoring the effect of undertaking the activities, projects, and transactions identified under subsection (2) of this section on protecting or enhancing fish habitat in the management area.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 8. INITIATING INTEGRATED WATERSHED MANAGEMENT.
The following is the procedure by which the development of integrated watershed management may be initiated under this chapter.

(1) The following entities may decide that integrated watershed management should be considered:
(a) The county with the largest area within the boundaries of a single WRIA or multi-WRIA proposed management area; (b) the city, if there is one, within the proposed management area using the largest amount of water from within the proposed management area; (c) the city, if there is one, cumulatively diverting and withdrawing the largest amount of water from within the proposed management area; and (d) the water supply utility, if there is one, that provides the largest quantity of water in the proposed management area. However, the county with the largest area bordering on the main stem of the stream with the largest annual flow, not including the Columbia or Snake rivers, within the boundaries of a WRIA, the city obtaining the largest amount of water from the WRIA, and the largest water supply utility in the WRIA may jointly and unanimously choose to initiate watershed management for the WRIA under this chapter.

(2) If entities in subsection (1) of this section decide jointly an unanimously to proceed, they shall invite the Indian tribe, if there is one, with the largest reservation within the proposed management area to participate in integrated watershed management.

(3) The entities in subsection (1) of this section, including the tribe if it affirmatively accepts the invitation, constitute the initiating governments for the purposes of this section.

(4) On behalf of the initiating governments, the county with the largest area within the boundaries of the proposed management area shall convene a public meeting in the affected area to discuss the appointment of a planning unit for developing integrated watershed management under this chapter. Notices of the meeting shall be sent to:
(a) County governments with territory in the proposed management area;
(b) The cities of each county located in and cities that receive water from the proposed management area;
(c) Tribal governments of federal Indian reservations or federally recognized ceded lands located in whole or in part within the boundaries of the proposed management area;
(d) Water supply utilities located in and water supply utilities that receive water from the proposed management area;
(e) Conservation districts with territory in the proposed management area;
(f) Groups and entities that have been or are currently engaged in public planning processes within the proposed management area that involve water quantity, water quality, or habitat restoration activities. In providing this notice, the county shall make a reasonable attempt to identify and notify groups and entities that within the last five years have been or are currently engaged in such planning; and

(g) The department, which shall notify other appropriate state agencies, appropriate Indian tribes, and appropriate federal agencies.

The notice shall contain the purpose, time, and location of the meeting. The notice shall also be published at least once a week for two consecutive weeks in a newspaper of general circulation in the proposed management area. The notice that is published in the newspaper shall invite members of the general public to participate.

(5) The purpose of the public meeting is to obtain comments regarding initiating the development of integrated watershed management under this chapter, the coordination of that process with ongoing planning processes and activities in the watershed, and the creation of a planning unit to prepare the integrated watershed management.

(6) For developing integrated watershed management under this chapter, the county with the largest area within the boundaries of the proposed management area is the lead agency for the development of the integrated watershed management, unless the cities, counties, and Indian tribes described in subsection (8) of this section approve the designation of another governmental agency as the lead agency. Such a governmental agency shall act as the lead agency for this purpose if it agrees in writing to accept the designation.

(7) At or following the public meeting, the county that convened the meeting shall call for a vote of the cities, counties, and Indian tribes described in subsection (8) of this section as to whether to proceed with the development of integrated watershed management under this chapter in the proposed management area. If these cities, counties, and Indian tribes approve proceeding with the development of such management, the lead agency shall make application to the department for funding to develop integrated watershed management under this chapter.

(8) The cities, counties, and Indian tribes that may make decisions under subsections (6) and (7) of this section may choose the type of planning unit to be used for developing integrated watershed management under this chapter in the proposed management area under section 10 of this act.

(9) At the time a planning unit is chosen or created under section 10 of this act or initial appointments are made by cities and counties under section 10 of this act, the cities and counties in a management area may: (a) Decide that the planning unit will not participate in identifying such flows in the management area, in which case they shall request the department to adopt rules establishing the minimum instream flows for the principal stream or streams in the management area; or (b) if minimum instream flows have been adopted by rule for a stream in the management area, request either the planning unit or the department to modify those flows. To approve an action for these purposes, the cities must approve the action by majority vote, with each city having one vote, and the counties must approve the action by unanimous vote, with each county having one vote. The vote of each city and each county shall be the vote assigned directly, in person or in writing, by the elected officials of the city and directly, in person or in writing, by the members of the legislative authority of the county. For this purpose, the "elected officials" of a city are the members of the city's legislative authority and, if applicable, its elected mayor.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 9. PLANNING UNIT--APPOINTMENT--OPTIONS. (1) If the initiating governments approve proceeding with the development of integrated watershed management for a management area as described in section 9(7) of this act, the development of such management will be conducted under this chapter in the single WRIA or multiple WRIA management area by one planning unit. As provided in subsections (2) and (3) of this section, the cities, counties, and tribe may choose an existing planning group as the basis for local representation on the planning unit or they may identify the composition of a new group as the basis for local representation on the planning unit. Such a choice shall be made as described in section 9(9) of this act. If the cities, counties, and tribe do not choose such an existing or new group in this manner, the planning unit to be used for developing the integrated watershed management for the management area is the planning unit specified in subsection (5) of this section.

(2) If the cities, counties, and tribe choose an existing planning group as the basis for local representation on a planning unit, the planning group shall have been in existence for at least one year before being so chosen. To be considered, the representation of governmental entities and interest groups on such a planning group must be generally similar to the representation identified in subsections (5)(a) through (g) and (12) of this section, or the planning group shall have a statutorily specified membership. If the cities, counties, and tribe find that the existing group has the required composition and find that the scope of the group's work is or has been appropriate considering the tasks to be given the planning unit under this chapter, the cities, counties, and tribe may designate the group as the basis for local participation on the planning unit. The existing group chosen in this manner plus the membership specified in subsection (5)(j) of this section and any membership provided under subsection (5)(i) of this section, which provide for representation by state and tribal governments, constitute the planning unit for developing integrated watershed management under this chapter in the management area.

(3) The cities, counties, and tribe may choose as the basis for local participation on the planning unit under this chapter a new planning group tailored to the specific geographic area for which integrated watershed management will be developed. The cities, counties, and tribe shall ensure that the members of the planning unit represent diverse interests, and shall include the interests represented by a planning unit that would be appointed under subsections (5)(a) through (g) and (12) of this section. If the cities, counties, and tribe designate a new planning group as the basis for local participation on the planning unit, the new group plus the membership specified in subsection (5)(j) of this section and any membership provided under subsection (5)(i) of this section, which provide for representation by state and tribal governments, constitute the planning unit for developing integrated watershed management under this chapter in the management area.

(4) If an existing or new group is designated under subsection (2) or (3) of this section as the basis for local participation on the planning unit, the group and therefore the planning unit it is a part of: Shall have membership positions that directly represent cities in whole or in part in the management area and these positions shall be clearly identified as such; and shall have membership positions that directly represent counties with territory in the WRIAs that make up the management area and these positions shall be clearly identified as such. The cities, counties, and tribe designating a new group as the basis for local participation on the planning unit may identify a subcommittee structure for the planning unit, but the authorities granted to a planning unit by this chapter may only be exercised by the full planning unit. Any of the cities or counties that are entitled to have a membership position on the planning unit may choose not to participate in the planning unit.

(5) Unless a planning unit is created as provided in subsection (2) or (3) of this section, the planning unit that develops integrated watershed management in a single WRIA management area under this chapter shall be composed of the following:

(a) One member representing each county with territory in the WRIA appointed by the county;
(b) One member representing cities for each county with territory in the WRIA appointed by the cities within that county;
(c) One member representing water supply utilities for each county with territory within the WRIA appointed jointly by the three largest water supply utilities in the county;
(d) One member representing all conservation districts with territory within the WRIA appointed jointly by those districts;
(e) Three members representing major interests in the WRIA appointed jointly by the cities with territory within the WRIA; three members representing major interests in the WRIA appointed jointly by the counties with territory within the WRIA; and three members representing major interests in the WRIA, appointed jointly by the cities and counties with territory within the WRIA;
(f) One member representing the general citizenry appointed jointly by the cities with territory within the WRIA;
(g) One member representing the general citizenry appointed jointly by the counties with territory in the WRIA;
(h) Two members representing the general citizenry appointed jointly by the cities and counties, one of whom shall be a holder of a water right certificate and one of whom shall be a holder of a water right for which a statement of claim was in the state’s water rights claims registry before January 1, 1997;
(i) If one or more federal Indian reservations, other than the initiating tribe, if there is one, are located in whole or in part within the boundaries of the management area, or if one or more Indian tribes located in this state have federally recognized ceded land within the management area or fishing rights recognized under federal case law on lands within the management area, the planning unit shall promptly extend an invitation to the tribal government of each such reservation to appoint one member representing that tribal government and to the tribal government of each such Indian tribe to appoint one member representing that tribe; and
(j) One member representing each of the following state agencies: The department of transportation, the department of fish and wildlife, the department of ecology, and the department of natural resources.

(6) The four members representing state agencies under subsection (5)(j) of this section shall have a total of two votes in any voting done by the planning unit. One of these votes shall be shared by the department of natural resources and the department of fish and wildlife; the other vote shall be shared by the department of ecology and the department of transportation. Of these members, the governor shall appoint one lead state representative whose duty it is to ensure that state government ultimately speaks with one voice in developing integrated watershed management under this chapter, to coordinate the state’s participation on the planning unit, and to secure and coordinate under section 15 of this act the technical assistance provided by the state to the planning unit.

(7) In addition, for a WRIA located within Pierce, King, Snohomish, or Spokane county, one representative of the water purveyor using the largest amount of water from the WRIA shall be a voting member of the planning unit whether the principal offices of the purveyor are or are not located within the WRIA.

(8) Unless a planning unit is created as provided in subsection (2) or (3) of this section, the planning unit that develops integrated watershed management in a multi-WRIA management area under this chapter shall be composed of the following:

(a) One member representing each county with territory in the multi-WRIA area appointed by that county;
(b) One member representing cities for each county with territory in the multi-WRIA area appointed by the cities within that county;
(c) One member representing water supply utilities for each county with territory within the multi-WRIA area appointed jointly by the three largest water supply utilities in each county;
(d) Up to two members, as that number is determined by the districts, representing all conservation districts with territory within the multi-WRIA area and appointed jointly by those districts;
(e) Three members representing major interests in the management area appointed jointly by the cities with territory within the multi-WRIA area; three members representing major interests in the management area appointed jointly by the counties with territory within the multi-WRIA area; and three members representing major interests in the management area appointed jointly by the cities and counties with territory within the multi-WRIA area;
(f) One member representing the general citizenry appointed jointly by the cities with territory within the multi-WRIA area;
(g) One member representing the general citizenry appointed jointly by the counties with territory in the multi-WRIA area;
(h) Two members representing the general citizenry appointed jointly by the cities and the counties, one of whom shall be a holder of a water right certificate and one of whom shall be a holder of a water right for which a statement of claim was in the state’s water rights claims registry before January 1, 1997;
(i) If one or more federal Indian reservations, other than the initiating tribe if there is one, are located in whole or in part within the boundaries of the management area, or if one or more Indian tribes located in this state have federally recognized ceded land within the management area or fishing rights recognized under federal case law on lands within the management area, the planning unit shall promptly extend an invitation to the tribal government of each such reservation to appoint one member representing that tribal government and to the tribal government of each such Indian tribe to appoint one member representing that tribe; and
(j) One member representing each of the following state agencies: The department of transportation, the department of fish and wildlife, the department of ecology, and the department of natural resources.

(9) The four members representing state agencies under subsection (8)(j) of this section shall have a total of two votes in any voting done by the planning unit. One of these votes shall be shared by the department of natural resources and the department of fish and wildlife; the other vote shall be shared by the department of ecology and the department of transportation. Of these members, the governor shall appoint one lead state representative whose duty it is to ensure that state government ultimately speaks with one voice in developing integrated watershed management under this chapter, to coordinate the state’s participation on the planning unit, and to secure and coordinate under section 15 of this act the technical assistance provided by the state to the planning unit.

(10) In addition, for a multi-WRIA planning unit located within Pierce, King, Snohomish, or Spokane county, one representative of the water purveyor using the largest amount of water from the multi-WRIA area shall be a voting member of the planning unit whether the principal offices of the purveyor are or are not located within the multi-WRIA area.

(11) Each planning unit may invite representatives of federal agencies with jurisdiction over the subject matter for which integrated watershed management is being developed by the unit and the managers of major federal lands located within the management area to assist the planning unit by participating in the development of integrated watershed management by the unit under this chapter. Such representatives shall not be considered to be voting members of the planning unit.

(12) In appointing persons to a planning unit representing major interests in the management area, the cities and counties shall ensure that economic and environmental interests and instream and out-of-stream interests in water, in the management area are represented. In doing so, the cities and counties shall consult with each other regarding the representation each is providing and may consider industrial water users, general businesses, hydroelectric and thermal power producers, and irrigated agriculture, nonirrigated agriculture, forestry, recreation, environmental, and recreational and commercial fisheries interest groups, and other groups with interests in the management area.

(13) If a single WRIA or multi-WRIA management area does not contain a city within its boundaries, the county shall make all the appointments that a city would make under this section.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 10. DECISIONS--HEARINGS--APPROVAL. (1) The planning unit shall attempt to achieve consensus among the members of the planning unit in developing the components of its proposed integrated watershed management under section 5, 7, or 8 of this act.

(2) Decisions regarding setting minimum instream flows shall be made as described in section 6 of this act. Whether the minimum instream flows set for streams in the management area are or are not added as an express component of the planning unit’s integrated watershed management for the management area may be determined by the planning unit, but adding or not adding the component does not affect the decisions made under section 6 of this act regarding minimum instream flows.

(3) As part of its integrated watershed management, the planning unit may choose to develop drafts of state administrative rules and local ordinances that would be needed to give force and effect to the parts of its integrated watershed management that would create rights or obligations for any party. If it so chooses, it may also request the appropriate state agencies, units of tribal government, and units of local government to assist it in drafting the rules and ordinances. If the planning unit requests a state agency to provide such assistance, the state agency shall provide the assistance.

(4)(a) Upon completing its proposed integrated watershed management for the management area, the planning unit shall publish notice of and conduct at least one public hearing in each county in the management area on the proposal. The planning unit shall take care to provide notice of the hearing throughout the management area. As a minimum, the notice shall be published in one or more newspapers of general circulation in the management area. After considering the public comments and making any changes in its proposal, the planning unit may approve the proposal by the process provided for in (b) and (c) of this subsection.

(b)(i) The department and the tribal government with federal Indian reservation land located within the management area shall provide advice as to any specific subsections or sections of the watershed management that the department or tribe believes to be in conflict with state or federal law, and may provide other recommendations regarding the watershed management. The department or tribe shall transmit its advice and recommendations within forty-five days of receiving it for review. The planning unit shall consider each recommendation provided by the department under this subsection. The planning unit may adopt the recommendation or provide changes to respond to the advice of the department or tribe by achieving approval by a vote of the members of the planning unit.

(ii) If the planning unit fails to adopt the department’s or tribal council’s recommendations regarding provisions of the watershed management that conflict with state or federal law, the department and the planning unit shall submit the dispute to mediation. If mediation does not resolve the dispute within forty-five days, the department shall file a petition for declaratory judgment in the superior court of the county with the largest area in the WRIA or multi-WRIA governed by the watershed management. The superior court shall review the dispute under the error of law standard. If the superior court finds that a component of the plan conflicts with state or federal law, that component of the plan is invalid. Decisions on such petitions are reviewable as in other civil cases. This subsection shall not be construed to establish state liability for any other element of the watershed management adopted as rules.

(c) Approval among the members of the planning unit is achieved if the members of the planning unit present for a recorded vote on the proposal appointed to represent the state through the shared ballot process described in section 10 (6) and (9) of this act, each appointed to represent tribal government with federal Indian reservation land located in the WRIA, each appointed to represent directly counties, each appointed to represent water supply utilities, each appointed to represent conservation districts, and each appointed to represent directly cities records his or her support for the proposed integrated watershed management as part of a recorded vote on the proposal.

(d) Approval among the members of the planning unit appointed to represent major interests in the management area and general citizenry components of the planning unit is achieved if a majority of the members of the planning unit, other than those described in (b) of this subsection, present at the recorded vote on the proposal records support for the integrated watershed management as a part of the recorded vote.

(e) If the watershed management is approved by the planning unit, the unit shall submit the watershed management to the counties with territory within the management area.

(f) If the watershed management is not approved by the planning unit following a vote, then the planning unit shall submit the watershed management to mediation in an attempt to achieve agreement between the members of the planning unit. If the unit is unable to reach an agreement that will achieve approval within forty-five days after submitting the dispute to mediation, the planning unit may either submit the components of the watershed management in which agreement was achieved to the county for approval or terminate the process.

(5) The legislative authority of each of the counties with territory within the management area shall provide public notice for and conduct at least one public hearing in each county on the approved watershed management submitted to the county under this section. The counties shall take care to provide notice of the hearings throughout the management area. As a minimum, the notice shall be published in one or more newspapers of general circulation in the management area. After the public hearings, the legislative authorities of these counties shall convene in joint session to consider the watershed management. The counties may approve or reject the watershed management, but may not amend it. Approval of a watershed management or of recommendations for a watershed management that are not approved shall be made by a majority vote of the members of the legislative authorities of each of the counties with territory in the management area.

(6) If the watershed management is not approved by the counties, it shall be returned to the planning unit with recommendations for revisions. If the revisions are approved by the planning unit, the watershed management shall be returned to the county for adoption. Approval of such a revised proposal shall be made in the same manner provided for the original integrated watershed management. If the revisions are not approved by the planning unit, the planning unit and the counties shall submit the revisions to mediation in an attempt to reach an agreement that will achieve approval by the planning unit and the counties. If approval of the planning unit is achieved after mediation, the watershed management shall be returned to the county for adoption. If the planning unit is unable to achieve agreement following mediation, it may either submit the components of the watershed management in which agreement was achieved to the county for approval or terminate the process. The department shall proceed with adopting the approved watershed management through a rules adoption process described in RCW 90.82.040(8).

(7) Before the adoption of the watershed management by the county legislative authority, the county shall transmit a copy of the watershed management to each city located in the WRIA. The cities shall hold a public hearing on the watershed management. The city shall publish notice of the hearing in a newspaper of general circulation in the city at least three days before the hearing. The city has forty-five days after receiving the watershed management from the county to consider passage of a resolution that expresses agreement with the watershed management or express any concerns with the watershed management with the county.

(8) At a minimum, the planning unit shall not add a component to its integrated watershed management that creates an obligation for state government unless the members of the planning unit appointed to represent state government agree to adding the component; it shall not add a component that creates an obligation for a tribal government unless the member or members of the planning unit appointed to represent that tribal government agree to adding the component; it shall not add a component that creates an obligation for a county, city, conservation district, or water supply utility unless the members of the planning unit appointed to represent the county, city, conservation district, or water supply utility agree to adding the component. A member’s agreeing to add a component shall be evidenced by a recorded vote of all members of the planning unit in which the members record support for adding the component. If integrated watershed management is approved by the planning unit and the counties for a management area under this section and that management creates obligations for agencies of state government, the obligations are binding on the state agencies and the agencies shall adopt implementing rules and take other actions to fulfill their obligations as soon as possible.
The department shall develop and administer a grant program to provide direct financial assistance to planning units for the preparation of integrated watershed management under this chapter. Three separate grants may be awarded pursuant to this section. These grants are initial organizing grants, grants for watershed assessments and establishment of instream flows, and grants for the development of integrated watershed management and implementation. The total amount of the grants may not exceed five hundred thousand dollars for each WRIA. The department may not impose any local matching fund requirement as a condition for grant eligibility or as a preference for receiving a grant.

(2) An initial organizing grant of up to fifty thousand dollars may be awarded to a lead agency that applies to the department and indicates that integrated watershed management is to be developed under this chapter. Organizing grants may be expended for any purpose authorized by the department, including but not limited to determining the scope of work to be addressed by the integrated watershed management for the management area; collecting and reviewing relevant studies and plans that already exist for the watershed, including growth management related plans in which critical areas have been designated pursuant to chapter 36.70A RCW; determining how the integrated watershed management for a management area can be coordinated with existing studies and plans; and baseline monitoring of water within the watershed.

(3)(a) A watershed assessment grant of up to two hundred thousand dollars for each WRIA may be awarded to a planning unit that certifies to the department that it adequately represents a broad range of interests within the watershed, and that it is willing to undertake the following as part of its integrated watershed management for its management area: Integrated watershed management for the protection or enhancement of habitat, integrated watershed management for water quantity, or integrated watershed management for water quality. The planning unit must submit a detailed proposed budget that demonstrates the need for the grant.

(4) Grants awarded pursuant to this subsection (3) shall be awarded for a four-year period. The four-year time period shall begin to run when the lead agency for the planning unit first received the initial organizing grant under subsection (2) of this section. For a planning unit that did not submit an application for an initial organizing grant, the four-year time period shall begin to run when the planning unit receives a grant under this subsection (3).

(4) A management development, instream flow, and implementation grant in an amount of up to two hundred fifty thousand dollars for each WRIA may be awarded to a planning unit that submits evidence that an assessment of the watershed has been adequately prepared in sufficient detail for the purposes for which the watershed assessment grant was awarded; the integrated watershed management that will be developed for the management area will not be in conflict with federal laws, state statutes, or tribal treaty rights; and its development will be coordinated with adjacent jurisdictions for purposes of minimum instream flows and water quality, if water quality was addressed as part of the watershed assessment. The planning unit must submit a detailed proposed budget that demonstrates the need for the grant. Any moneys awarded from the remaining grant balance for implementation in a management area under this section are available only for implementation that commences after integrated watershed management has been adopted for the area under section 11 of this act.

(5)(a) The department shall use the following eligibility criteria instead of rules when evaluating grant applications at each stage of the grants program:

(i) The application has documented that the planning unit meets all of the requirements of this chapter;

(ii) The application demonstrates a need for state planning funds to accomplish the objectives of the planning process; and

(iii) The application and supporting information evidences a readiness to proceed.

(b) In ranking grant applications submitted at each stage of the grants program except for the initial organizing grant under subsection (2) of this section, the department shall give preference to applications in the following order of priority:

(i) Applications from existing planning groups that have been in existence for at least one year;

(ii) Applications from multi-WRIAs that propose to address protection and enhancement of fish habitat in watersheds that have aquatic species listed as endangered or threatened under the federal endangered species act, 16 U.S.C. Sec. 1531 et seq., and for which there is evidence of an inability to supply adequate water for population and economic growth;

(iii) Applications from single WRIAs that propose to address protection and enhancement of fish habitat in watersheds that have aquatic species listed as endangered or threatened under the federal endangered species act, and for which there is evidence of an inability to supply adequate water for population and economic growth;

(iv) Applications from multi-WRIAs that propose to address protection and enhancement of fish habitat in watersheds that have aquatic species listed as endangered or threatened under the federal endangered species act; and

(v) Applications from single WRIAs that propose to address protection and enhancement of fish habitat in watersheds that have aquatic species listed under the federal endangered species act.

(6) Funding provided under this section shall be considered a contractual obligation against the moneys appropriated for this purpose.

(3) Preference shall be given to planning units requesting funding for conducting multi-WRIA planning under section 108 of this act.

(4) The department may retain up to one percent of funds allocated under this section to defray administrative costs.

(8) The department may adopt its implementing rules for an integrated watershed management that have been approved by counties as part of integrated watershed management and may adopt rules when necessary to implement this section or section 6(2) of this act either by the regular rules adoption process provided in chapter 34.05 RCW, the expedited rules adoption process as set forth in RCW 34.05.230, or through a rules adoption process that uses the public hearings and notice provided by the planning unit and the county legislative authority as a substitute for the rules adoption requirements of chapter 34.05 RCW. If the planning unit and county legislative authority hearings and notice are used as a substitute for the regular rules adoption process, the rules do not take effect until they are published in the Washington state register as provided in chapter 34.05 RCW. Such rules do not constitute significant legislative rules as defined in RCW 34.05.328, and do not require the preparation of small business economic impact statements.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 13. A new section is added to chapter 34.05 RCW to read as follows: Rules adopted by the department of ecology pursuant to RCW 90.82.040(8) are exempt from the requirements of this chapter to the extent provided in RCW 90.82.040(8).

NEW SECTION. Sec. 14. TECHNICAL ASSISTANCE. (1) The lead state representative on a planning unit designated under section 10(5)(j) of this act shall establish a program to provide technical assistance to planning units and local governments to encourage and facilitate the adoption and implementation of integrated watershed management for management areas developed under this chapter. The program shall use existing requirements or standards that must be satisfied by the integrated watershed management developed under this chapter and no part of the program may have the effect of a rule adopted under chapter 34.05 RCW.

(2) The program shall use any staff assigned by the governor for this task, the staff of state agencies, and staff from institutions of higher education to assist in the development of integrated watershed management under this chapter, including but not limited to assistance in determining and explaining how best available science will be incorporated into integrated watershed management for a management area, developing methods for effectively monitoring performance, providing the criteria that represents acceptable performance for key elements of the integrated watershed management for a management area, and the method of reporting performance to the public, local communities, and the state. In providing assistance under this section, the lead state representative shall recognize regional and local variations that exist in different parts of the state.

(3) The lead state representative on a planning unit shall assist planning units in ensuring that integrated watershed management developed under this chapter is coordinated with, and consistent with, the integrated watershed management of other planning units that share common borders or major stream basins. The state shall provide mediation services to resolve disputes between planning units.

(4) The department may contract out technical assistance if the lead state representative finds that it is cost-effective and will assist in implementing the intent of this chapter.

(5) The department shall conduct an annual workshop for planning units to share successful approaches, as well as difficulties, in addressing specific problems within watersheds.

(6) All state agencies with rule-making authority for programs that affect the development and implementation of integrated watershed management developed under this chapter shall review those rules and programs for consistency with this chapter and make recommendations to the legislature for any necessary statutory changes.

Sec. 15. RCW 90.03.345 and 1979 ex.s. c 216 s 7 are each amended to read as follows:
(1) The establishment of reservations of water for agriculture, hydroelectric energy, municipal, industrial, and other beneficial uses under RCW 90.54.050(1) or minimum flows or levels under RCW 90.22.010 or 90.54.040 shall constitute appropriations within the meaning of this chapter with priority dates as of the effective dates of their establishment. Whenever an application for a permit to make beneficial use of public waters embodied in a reservation, established after September 1, 1979, is filed with the department of ecology after the effective date of such reservation, the priority date for a permit issued pursuant to an approval by the department of ecology of the application shall be the effective date of the reservation.

(2) Minimum flows established under section 6 of this act shall have a priority date as specified in that section.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 16. A new section is added to chapter 90.03 RCW to read as follows:
If a person placed surface or ground water to beneficial use for irrigation or stock watering purposes before January 1, 1993, for which a permit or certificate was not issued by the department or its predecessors, the person or the person’s successor holds a water right for that use in the amount beneficially used and with a priority date that is the date a statement of claim is filed for the right under this section if:

(1) The person or the person’s successor files with the department a statement of claim for the right during the period beginning September 1, 1998, and ending midnight June 30, 1999, using the standard form prescribed by RCW 90.14.051;

(2) The person or the person’s successor has used the water to the full extent stated in the statement of claim during at least each of three of the five years preceding the date the statement is filed and the person attests to having done so on the statement; and

(3) The person or the person’s successor files with the statement of claim evidence that the water described in the claim was used beneficially before January 1, 1993, in the form of any two of the following:

(a) A statement signed by two persons other than the person filing the statement of claim verifying that the water was beneficially used by the claimant before January 1, 1993, as described in the statement of claim;

(b) A copy of a dated photograph clearly demonstrating the presence of grass or a crop requiring irrigation in the amounts asserted in the statement of claim or of livestock requiring water in such amounts; or records of receipts of the sale of crops by the person or the person’s successor indicating that irrigation in the amount claimed was required to produce the crops;
(c) Receipts or records of irrigation or stockwatering equipment purchases or repairs associated with the water use specified in the statement of claim;
(d) Water well construction records identifying the date the well specified in the statement of claim as the point of withdrawal was constructed;
(e) Records of electricity bills directly associated with the withdrawal of water as specified in the statement of claim;
(f) Personal records such as photographs, journals, or correspondence indicating the use of water as asserted in the statement of claim.
A right granted under this section shall not affect or impair in any respect whatsoever a water right existing prior to September 1, 1998. A right granted under this section shall be junior in every respect to a right with a more senior date of priority. No right granted under this section may be exercised in a manner that impairs or interferes with a water right that is senior to it. The filling of a statement of claim under this section does not constitute an adjudication of any claim to the right to the use of waters as between the claimant and the state, or as between one or more water use claimants and another or others. A statement of claim filed under this section shall be admissible in a general adjudication of water rights as prima facie evidence of the times of use and the quantity of water the claimant was withdrawing or diverting to the same extent as is provided by RCW 90.14.081 for a statement of claim in the water rights claims registry on the effective date of this section.
The department shall establish a registry of claims for rights conferred under this section. Statements of claim filed under this section shall be filed in the registry alphabetically, consecutively by date of filing, and by such other manner as the department deems appropriate.
This section does not apply to ground water withdrawn in an area that is, during the period established by subsection (3) of this section, the subject of a general adjudication proceeding for water rights in superior court under RCW 90.03.110 through 90.03.245 and the proceeding applies to ground water rights. This section does not apply to surface water withdrawn in an area that is, during the period established by subsection (3) of this section, the subject of a general adjudication proceeding for water rights in superior court under RCW 90.03.110 through 90.03.245 and the proceeding applies to surface water rights.
This section does not apply to rights embodied in a water right permit or certificate issued by the department or its predecessors, a water right represented by a claim in the water rights claims registry, created under RCW 90.14.111, prior to September 1, 1998, or a water right exempted from permit and application requirements by RCW 90.44.050.
This section does not apply to claims for the use of water in a ground water area or subarea for which a management program adopted by the department by rule and in effect on the effective date of this section establishes acreage expansion limitations for the use of ground water.

Sec. 17. RCW 90.03.380 and 1997 c 442 s 801 are each amended to read as follows:
(1) The right to the use of water which has been applied to a beneficial use in the state shall be and remain appurtenant to the land or place upon which the same is used. PROVIDED, HOWEVER, that the right may be transferred to another or to others and become appurtenant to any other land or place of use without loss of priority of right theretofore established if such change can be made without detriment or injury to existing rights. The point of diversion of water for beneficial use or the purpose of use may be changed, if such change can be made without detriment or injury to existing rights. A change in the place of use, point of diversion, and/or purpose of use of a water right to enable irrigation of additional acreage or the addition of new uses may be permitted if such change results in no increase in the annual consumptive quantity of water used under the water right. For purposes of this section, "annual consumptive quantity" means the estimated or actual annual amount of water diverted pursuant to the water right, reduced by the estimated annual amount of return flows, averaged over the most recent five-year period of continuous beneficial use of the water right. Before any transfer of such right to use water or change of the point of diversion of water or change of purpose of use can be made, any person having an interest in the transfer or change, shall file a written application therefor with the department, and the application shall not be granted until notice of the application is published as provided in RCW 90.03.280. If it shall appear that such transfer or such change may be made without injury or detriment to existing rights, the department shall issue to the applicant a certificate in duplicate granting the right for such transfer or for such change of point of diversion or of
use. The certificate so issued shall be filed and be made a record with the department and the duplicate certificate issued to the applicant may be filed with the county auditor in like manner and with the same effect as provided in the original certificate or permit to divert water.

(2) If an application for change proposes to transfer water rights from one irrigation district to another, the department shall, before publication of notice, receive concurrence from each of the irrigation districts that such transfer or change will not adversely affect the ability to deliver water to other landowners or impair the financial or operational integrity of either of the districts.

(3) A change in place of use by an individual water user or users of water provided by an irrigation district need only receive approval for the change from the board of directors of the district if the use of water continues within the irrigation district, and when water is provided by an irrigation entity that is a member of a board of joint control created under chapter 87.80 RCW, approval need only be received from the board of joint control if the use of water continues within the area of jurisdiction of the joint board and the change can be made without detriment or injury to existing rights. The board of directors of an irrigation district may approve such a change if the board determines that the change: Will not adversely affect the district’s ability to deliver water to other landowners; will not require the construction by the district of diversion or drainage facilities unless the board finds that the construction by the district is in the interest of the district; will not impair the financial or operational integrity of the district; and is consistent with the contractual obligations of the district.

(4) Subsections (1), (2), and (3) of this section do not apply to a transfer or change governed by section 19 of this act.

(5) This section shall not apply to trust water rights acquired by the state through the funding of water conservation projects under chapter 90.38 RCW or RCW 90.42.010 through 90.42.070.

(6) Any right represented by an application for a water right for which a permit for water use has not been issued by the time a transfer or change is approved under this section may not be construed as being injured or detrimentally affected by the transfer or change.

(7) The department may not initiate relinquishment proceedings under chapter 90.14 RCW regarding a water right for which an application for a transfer or change is filed under this section during the period beginning on the date the department receives the application and ending two years after the date the department approves or denies the application.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 18. A new section is added to chapter 90.03 RCW to read as follows:

(1)(a) If a portion of the water governed by a water right is made surplus to the beneficial uses exercised under the right through the implementation of practices or technologies, including but not limited to conveyance practices or technologies, which are more efficient or more water-use efficient than those under which the right was perfected, the right to use the surplus water may be changed as provided by subsection (2), (3), (4), or (5) of this section.

(b) If a portion of the water governed by a water right is made surplus to the beneficial uses exercised under the right through a change in the crops grown under the water right, the right to use the surplus water may be changed as provided by subsection (3) of this section. This subsection (1)(b) does not apply to water supplied by an irrigation district.

(c) This section applies only to a change of an agricultural use or portion of an agricultural use of water to an agricultural use of water.

(2) The use within an irrigation district of water supplied by the district and made surplus as provided in subsection (1)(a) of this section shall be regulated solely as provided by the board of directors of the irrigation district. Such a use requires the approval of the board of directors of the irrigation district or must otherwise be authorized by the board. The board may approve or authorize such a use only if the use does not impair the financial or operational integrity of the district. Water supplied by an irrigation district and made surplus as provided in subsection (1)(a) of this section through actions taken by an individual water user served by the district is not available for use as a matter of right by that individual water user, but may be used by the board for the benefit of the district generally. The district’s board of directors may approve or otherwise authorize under this subsection uses of such surplus water that result in the total irrigated acreage within the district exceeding the irrigated acreage recorded with the department for the district’s water right if the board notifies the department of the change in the irrigated acreage within the district. Except as provided in subsection (5) of this section, such a notification provides a change in the district’s water right and, upon receiving the notification, the department shall revise its records for the district’s right to reflect the change.
If an irrigation district is within a federal reclamation project and the district's board of directors approves or otherwise authorizes under this subsection uses of such surplus water that result in the total irrigated acreage within the federal project exceeding the irrigated acreage recorded with the department for the federal project's water right, the board shall notify the department of the change in the irrigated acreage within the federal project. Except as provided by this subsection and subsection (5) of this section, such a notification provides a change in the federal reclamation project's water right and, upon receiving the notification, the department shall revise its records for the federal project's right to reflect the change except that the total irrigable acreage for a water right for a federal reclamation project may not exceed the total irrigable acreage authorized for the project by the United States and related repayment contracts.

(3) The right to use water made surplus as provided in subsection (1)(a) or (b) of this section but not supplied by an irrigation district may be changed to use on other parcels of land owned by the holder of the water right that are contiguous to the parcel or parcels of land upon which the use of the water was authorized by the right before such a change. The holder of the water right shall notify the department of such a change. Except as provided in subsection (5) of this section, the notification provides a change in the holder's water right and, upon receiving the notification, the department shall revise its records for the water right to reflect the change.

(4) If a notification is provided to the department under subsection (2) or (3) of this section with regard to water made surplus and subsequently used before the effective date of this section, the change in the water right shall be made without loss of priority of the right.

(5) If a notification is provided to the department under subsection (2) or (3) of this section with regard to water made surplus and subsequently used, and that use begins after the effective date of this section, the priority date for the use of the water made surplus under this section is the date the notification is filed with the department. When the department is notified regarding such a use under this subsection (5), the notification does not automatically provide a change in the water right holder's, irrigation district's, or reclamation project's water right. The department shall issue the holder, district, or project a temporary water use permit for the use. The term of the permit shall be for fifteen years. It is presumed that the use of water under the temporary water use permit does not impair or interfere with water rights that are senior to the water right represented by the permit. However, if at any time during the term of the permit the department determines that the change would impair or interfere with the use of such a senior water right, the department shall notify the holder of the temporary permit and shall file a notice of its decision with the superior court of the county in which the withdrawal of water under the right takes place. The notice provided by the department shall not stay the use of water under the temporary permit. The superior court shall review the determination of the department de novo. In such a review, the burden of proof in overcoming the presumption provided by this subsection is on the department. The presumption can be overcome only through the application of scientific data supporting the department’s determination. At the conclusion of its review, the superior court shall enter a ruling canceling the temporary permit, modifying the conditions of water use under the permit, or affirming that the use of water under the permit does not interfere with water rights senior to the water rights represented by the permit. The decision of the superior court may be appealed as provided for other decisions of the court. If a court’s decision modifies the conditions of water use under the permit or affirms that the use of water under the permit does not interfere with senior water rights or if the department does not provide a notice under this subsection within the fifteen-year term of the permit, the use of the water is changed as provided by the temporary permit or the court's decision and the department shall revise its records regarding the right.

The presumption provided by this subsection does not apply with regard to a claim made by any person with a water right in superior court or on appeal of a decision of the superior court that a temporary permit or change in a water right made under this subsection impairs or interferes with the use of the person's senior water right.

(6) If a notification is filed with the department regarding the use of water made surplus under subsection (2) or (3) of this section and that use begins after the effective date of this section, the notification shall identify the date that the use of the water made surplus begins.

(7) The authority provided by this section to change a water right shall not be construed as authorizing the use of a junior water right in a manner that impairs or interferes with the use of a senior water right.
(8) If a water right changed under this section is a right represented by a statement of claim in the water rights claims registry, the department’s obligation to revise its records to reflect the change shall be accomplished by providing an amendment to the statement of claim to reflect the change.

(9) This section does not apply in an area with an acreage expansion program in effect on the effective date of this section that is an element of a ground water area or subarea management program as provided in RCW 90.44.445.

(10) Nothing in this section authorizes a change in a water right or a portion of a water right that has not been perfected through beneficial use before the change.

Sec. 19. RCW 90.44.100 and 1997 c 316 s 2 are each amended to read as follows:
(1) After an application to, and upon the issuance by the department of an amendment to the appropriate permit or certificate of ground water right, the holder of a valid right to withdraw public ground waters may, without losing the holder’s priority of right, construct wells or other means of withdrawal at a new location in substitution for or in addition to those at the original location, or the holder may change the manner or the place of use of the water.

(2) An amendment to construct replacement or a new additional well or wells at a location outside of the location of the original well or wells or to change the manner or place of use of the water shall be issued only after publication of notice of the application and findings as prescribed in the case of an original application. Such amendment shall be issued by the department only on the conditions that: (a) The additional or replacement well or wells shall tap the same body of public ground water as the original well or wells; (b) where a replacement well or wells is approved, the use of the original well or wells shall be discontinued and the original well or wells shall be properly decommissioned as required under chapter 18.104 RCW; (c) where an additional well or wells is constructed, the original well or wells may continue to be used, but the combined total withdrawal from the original and additional well or wells shall not enlarge the right conveyed by the original permit or certificate; and (d) other existing rights shall not be impaired. The department may specify an approved manner of construction and shall require a showing of compliance with the terms of the amendment, as provided in RCW 90.44.080 in the case of an original permit.

(3) The construction of a replacement or new additional well or wells at the location of the original well or wells shall be allowed without application to the department for an amendment. However, the following apply to such a replacement or new additional well: (a) The well shall tap the same body of public ground water as the original well or wells; (b) if a replacement well is constructed, the use of the original well or wells shall be discontinued and the original well or wells shall be properly decommissioned as required under chapter 18.104 RCW; (c) if a new additional well is constructed, the original well or wells may continue to be used, but the combined total withdrawal from the original and additional well or wells shall not enlarge the right conveyed by the original water use permit or certificate; (d) the construction and use of the well shall not interfere with or impair water rights with an earlier date of priority than the water right or rights for the original well or wells; (e) the replacement or additional well shall be located no closer than the original well to a well it might interfere with; (f) the department may specify an approved manner of construction of the well; and (g) the department shall require a showing of compliance with the conditions of this subsection (3).

(4) This section does not apply to a transfer or change governed by section 19 of this act.

(5) Any right represented by an application for a water right for which a permit for water use has not been issued by the time an amendment is approved under this section may not be construed as being impaired by the amendment.

(6) The department may not initiate relinquishment proceedings under chapter 90.14 RCW regarding a water right for which an application for an amendment is filed under this section during the period beginning on the date the department receives the application and ending two years after the date the department makes a decision on the application.

(7) As used in this section, the "location of the original well or wells" is the area described as the point of withdrawal in the original public notice published for the application for the water right for the well.

Sec. 20. RCW 90.03.290 and 1994 c 264 s 84 are each amended to read as follows:
When an application complying with the provisions of this chapter and with the rules ((and regulations)) of the department has been filed, the same shall be placed on record with the department, and it shall be its duty to investigate the application, and determine what water, if any, is available for appropriation, and find and determine to what beneficial use or uses it can be applied. If it is proposed to appropriate water for irrigation purposes, the department shall investigate, determine and find what lands are capable of irrigation by means of water found available for appropriation. If it is proposed to appropriate water for the purpose of power development, the department shall investigate, determine and find whether the proposed development is likely to prove detrimental to the public interest, having in mind the highest feasible use of the waters belonging to the public. If the application does not contain, and the applicant does not promptly furnish sufficient information on which to base such findings, the department may issue a preliminary permit, for a period of not to exceed three years, requiring the applicant to make such surveys, investigations, studies, and progress reports, as in the opinion of the department may be necessary. If the applicant fails to comply with the conditions of the preliminary permit, it and the application or applications on which it is based shall be automatically canceled and the applicant so notified. If the holder of a preliminary permit shall, before its expiration, fail to comply with the conditions of the preliminary permit. The department shall make and file as part of the record in the matter, written findings of fact concerning all things investigated, and if it shall find that there is water available for appropriation for a beneficial use, and the appropriation thereof as proposed in the application will not impair existing rights or be detrimental to the public welfare, it shall issue a permit stating the amount of water to which the applicant shall be entitled and the beneficial use or uses to which it may be applied: PROVIDED. That where the water applied for is to be used for irrigation purposes, it shall become appurtenant only to such land as may be reclaimed thereby to the full extent of the soil for agricultural purposes. But where there is no unappropriated water in the proposed source of supply, or where the proposed use conflicts with existing rights, or threatens to prove detrimental to the public interest, having due regard to the highest feasible development of the use of the waters belonging to the public, it shall be duty of the department to reject such application and to refuse to issue the permit asked for. If the permit is refused because of conflict with existing rights and such applicant shall acquire same by purchase or condemnation under RCW 90.03.040, the department may thereupon grant such permit. Any application may be approved for a less amount of water than that applied for, if there exists substantial reason therefor, and in any event shall not be approved for more water than can be applied to beneficial use for the purposes named in the application. In determining whether or not a permit shall issue upon any application, it shall be the duty of the department to investigate all facts relevant and material to the application. If the applicant is a public water system that is a party to an existing intertie agreement, the department shall also consider the existence, nature, economics, and terms of the agreement between the intertied public water systems when making a determination on the application for new water rights by the public water system. After the department approves (as said) the application in whole or in part and before any permit shall be issued thereon to the applicant, such applicant shall pay the fee provided in RCW 90.03.470: PROVIDED FURTHER, That in the event a permit is issued by the department upon any application, it shall be its duty to notify the director of fish and wildlife of such issuance.

This section does not apply to transfers or changes made under section 19 of this act or to applications for transfers or changes made under RCW 90.03.380 or 90.44.100.

Sec. 21. RCW 90.44.445 and 1993 c 99 s 1 are each amended to read as follows:

In any acreage expansion program adopted by the department as an element of a ground water management program, the authorization for a water right certificate holder to participate in the program shall be on an annual basis for the first two years. After the two-year period, the department may authorize participation for ten-year periods. The department may authorize participation for ten-year periods for certificate holders who have already participated in an acreage expansion program for two years. The department may require annual certification that the certificate holder has complied with all requirements of the program. The department may terminate the authority of a certificate holder to participate in the program for one calendar year if the certificate holder fails to comply with the requirements of the program.

This section applies only in an area with an acreage expansion program in effect on the effective date of this amendatory section that has been adopted by the department as an element of a ground water area or subarea management program. The provisions of section 19 of this act, RCW 90.03.380, and 90.44.100 apply to transfers, changes, and amendments to permits or rights for the beneficial use of ground water in any other area.

Sec. 22. RCW 90.03.383 and 1991 c 350 s 1 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) The legislature recognizes the value of interties for improving the reliability of public water systems, enhancing their management, and more efficiently utilizing the increasingly limited resource. Given the continued growth in the most populous areas of the state, the increased complexity of public water supply management, and the trend toward regional planning and regional solutions to resource issues, interconnections of public water systems through interties provide a valuable tool to ensure reliable public water supplies for the citizens of the state. Public water systems have been encouraged in the past to utilize interties to achieve public health and resource management objectives. The legislature finds that it is in the public interest to recognize interties existing and in use as of January 1, 1991, and to have associated water rights modified by the department of ecology to reflect current use of water through those interties, pursuant to subsection (3) of this section. The legislature further finds it in the public interest to develop a coordinated process to review proposals for interties commencing use after January 1, 1991.

(2) For the purposes of this section, the following definitions shall apply:

(a) "Interties" are interconnections between public water systems permitting exchange, acquisition, or delivery of wholesale and/or retail water between those systems for other than emergency supply purposes, where such exchange, acquisition, or delivery is within established instantaneous and annual withdrawal rates specified in the (system's) supplying system's existing water right permits or certificates, or contained in claims filed pursuant to chapter 90.14 RCW, and which results in better management of public water supply consistent with existing rights and obligations. Interties include interconnections between public water systems permitting exchange, acquisition, or delivery of water to serve as primary or secondary sources of supply, but do not include development of new sources of supply to meet future demand requiring new water right applications and appropriations by the department of ecology. Interties also include the development of new sources of supply to meet future demands if the water system or systems receiving water through such an intertie make efficient use of existing sources of water supply and the provision of water through such an intertie is consistent with local land use plans. For this purpose, a system's full compliance with the state department of health's conservation guidelines for such systems is deemed efficient use. As referred to in this section, changes of points of use for existing water right permits, certificates, or claims are not within the meaning of a development of new sources of supply.

(b) "Service area" is the area designated as the wholesale and/or retail area in a water system plan or a coordinated water system plan pursuant to chapter 43.20 or 70.116 RCW respectively. When a public water system does not have a designated service area subject to the approval process of those chapters, the service area shall be the designated place of use contained in the water right permit or certificate, or contained in the claim filed pursuant to chapter 90.14 RCW.

3(a) Public water systems with interties existing and in use as of January 1, 1991, or that have received written approval from the department of health prior to that date, shall file written notice of those interties with the department of health and the department of ecology. The notice may be incorporated into the public water system's five-year update of its water system plan, but shall be filed no later than June 30, 1996. The notice shall identify the location of the intertie; the dates of its first use; the purpose, capacity, and current use; the intertie agreement of the parties and the service areas assigned; and other information reasonably necessary to modify the public water system's water right ((permit)). Notwithstanding the provisions of RCW 90.03.380 and 90.44.100, for public water systems with interties existing and in use or with written approval as of January 1, 1991, the department of ecology, upon receipt of notice meeting the requirements of this subsection, shall, as soon as practicable, modify the place of use descriptions in the water right permits, certificates, or claims to reflect the actual use through such interties, provided that the place of use is within service area designations established in a water system plan approved pursuant to chapter 43.20 RCW, or a coordinated water system plan approved pursuant to chapter 70.116 RCW, and further provided that the water used is within the instantaneous and annual withdrawal rates specified in the water rights ((permit)) and that no outstanding complaints of impairment to existing water rights have been filed with the department of ecology prior to September 1, 1991. Where such complaints of impairment have been received, the department of ecology shall make all reasonable efforts to resolve them in a timely manner through agreement of the parties or through available administrative remedies.
(b) An intertie meeting the requirements of this subsection (3) for modifying the place of use description in a water right permit, certificate, or claim may be used to its full design or built capacity within the most recently approved retail or wholesale or retail and wholesale service area, without further approval under this section and without regard to the capacity actually used before January 1, 1991. Any intertie meeting the requirements of this section, however, must be reviewed, analyzed, and approved by the department of health in collaboration with the department of ecology, and in accordance with coordinated water system plan requirements under chapter 70.116 RCW. In addition, any intertie meeting the requirements of this subsection must undergo environmental review in accordance with chapter 43.21C RCW.

(4) Notwithstanding the provisions of RCW 90.03.380 and 90.44.100, exchange, acquisition, or delivery of water through interties approved by the department of health commencing use after January 1, 1991, shall be permitted when the intertie improves overall system reliability, enhances the manageability of the systems, provides opportunities for conjunctive use, or delays or avoids the need to develop new water sources, and otherwise meets the requirements of this section, provided that ((each)) a supplying public water system’s water use shall not exceed the instantaneous or annual withdrawal rate specified in its water right authorization, shall not adversely affect existing water rights, and shall not be inconsistent with state-approved plans such as water system plans or other plans which include specific proposals for construction of interties. A receiving public water system’s use may exceed its water right authorization if the receiving public water system’s withdrawal does not exceed the instantaneous or annual withdrawal rate specified in the receiving public water system’s water right authorization. Interties commencing use after January 1, 1991, (((shall not be inconsistent))) must be deemed consistent with regional water resource plans developed pursuant to chapter 90.54 RCW or chapter 90.82 RCW.

(5) For public water systems subject to the approval process of chapter 43.20 RCW or chapter 70.116 RCW, proposals for interties commencing use after January 1, 1991, shall be incorporated into water system plans pursuant to chapter 43.20 RCW or coordinated water system plans pursuant to chapter 70.116 RCW and submitted to the department of health and the department of ecology for review and approval as provided for in subsections (5) through (9) of this section. The plan shall state how the proposed intertie will improve overall system reliability, enhance the manageability of the systems, provide opportunities for conjunctive use, or delay or avoid the need to develop new water sources.

(6) The department of health shall be responsible for review and approval of proposals for new interties. In its review the department of health shall determine whether the intertie satisfies the criteria of subsection (4) of this section, with the exception of water rights considerations, which are the responsibility of the department of ecology, (((and))) shall determine whether the intertie is necessary to address emergent public health or safety concerns associated with public water supply, and shall determine whether long-term supply is addressed in the intertie agreement between the systems.

(7) If the intertie is determined by the department of health to be necessary to address emergent public health or safety concerns associated with public water supply, the public water system shall amend its water system plan as required and shall file an application with the department of ecology to change its existing water right to reflect the proposed use of the water as described in the approved water system plan. The department of ecology shall process the application for change pursuant to RCW 90.03.380 or 90.44.100 as appropriate, except that, notwithstanding the requirements of those sections regarding notice and protest periods, applicants shall be required to publish notice one time, and the comment period shall be fifteen days from the date of publication of the notice. Within sixty days of receiving the application, the department of ecology shall issue findings and advise the department of health if existing water rights are determined to be adversely affected. If no determination is provided by the department of ecology within the sixty-day period, the department of health shall proceed as if existing rights are not adversely affected by the proposed intertie. The department of ecology may obtain an extension of the sixty-day period by submitting written notice to the department of health and to the applicant indicating a definite date by which its determination will be made. No additional extensions shall be granted, and in no event shall the total review period for the department of ecology exceed one hundred eighty days.

(8) If the department of health determines the proposed intertie appears to meet the requirements of subsection (4) of this section but is not necessary to address emergent public health or safety concerns associated with public water supply, the department of health shall instruct the applicant to submit to the department of ecology an application for change to the underlying water right or claim as necessary to reflect the new place of use. The department of ecology shall consider the applications pursuant to the provisions of RCW 90.03.380 and 90.44.100 as appropriate. The department of ecology shall not deny or limit a change of place of use for an intertie on the grounds that the holder of a permit has not yet put all of the water authorized in the permit to beneficial use. If in its review of proposed interties and associated water rights the department of ecology determines that additional information is required to act on the application, the department may request applicants to provide information necessary for its decision, consistent with agency rules and written guidelines.
Parties disagreeing with the decision of the department of ecology (on) to approve or deny the application for change in place of use may appeal the decision to the pollution control hearings board.

(9) The department of health may approve plans containing intertie proposals prior to the department of ecology’s decision on the water right application for change in place of use. However, notwithstanding such approval, construction work on the intertie shall not begin until the department of ecology issues the appropriate water right document to the applicant consistent with the approved plan.

(10) An intertie shall not be used to deliver a primary or secondary supply of water to a receiving system on a temporary basis unless the terms of the intertie agreement specify the source of the water that will be used by the receiving system to replace the water delivered on the temporary basis and provide that replacement water will be available for delivery to or use by the receiving system before delivery by the supplying system under the agreement is terminated. However, if a primary or secondary supply of water is delivered to a receiving system on a temporary basis by means of an intertie on the effective date of this subsection and the agreement between the supplying system and receiving system does not contain such provision for such a replacement supply of water for the receiving system, the delivery of the water by the supplying system to the receiving system shall not be terminated until the agreement is modified to establish such provisions and such replacement water is available for delivery to or use by the receiving system.

the same, be by the department transmitted to the county auditor of the county or counties where the distributing system or any part thereof is located, and be recorded in the office of such county auditor,

POINT OF ORDER

Representative Johnson requested a Scope and Object ruling on amendment number 825 to Substitute House Bill No. 2300. (For amendment, see Journal 29th Day, February 9, 1998.)

SPEAKER’S RULING

Representative Johnson, the Speaker is prepared to rule on your Point of Order which challenges the Scope and Object on amendment 825 to Substitute House Bill No. 2300.

The Title of Substitute House Bill No. 2300 is "AN ACT Relating to educational pathways" the bill amends RCW 28A.630.885 which is part of the Commission on Student Learning law.

Amendment 825 would add a 1.5 million dollar appropriation to the bill to fund the school to work program not found in the RCW sections dealing with the Commission on Student Learning.

The amendment does not in any manner provide funding for the purposes of implementing Substitute House Bill No. 2300 and in fact specifically would dedicate all of its revenues to a program that is not part of Substitute House Bill No. 2300.

The Speaker finds that amendment 825 is beyond the Scope and Object of Substitute House Bill No. 2300.

Representative Johnson, your Point of Order is well taken.
With the consent of the House, amendment number 984 to Substitute House Bill No. 2300 was withdrawn.

The President introduced Secretary of State Ralph Munro who listed past recipients of the Medal of Merit.

MEDAL OF MERIT AWARDS

Mr. President: "The purpose of today's joint session is to present the Medal of Merit awards for the sixth time, honoring four deserving Washington state citizens. It is now my pleasure to present His Excellency, Governor Gary Locke."

Mr. Governor: "Thank you. It is indeed an honored occasion that we gather here today. I am very proud and honored to be governor of the State of Washington. There are times such as this when it is an especially humbling experience. For today we bestow the State's highest honor on four individuals who by anyone's standard have truly excelled. It is especially humbling to be in their presence to hear their individual stories. They have not only had successful careers but they have selflessly given of themselves to improve the lives of others. They have made a positive difference in the lives of the people in the State of Washington, all across America and all across the world.

Dr. Donnell Thomas helped develop the life-saving bone marrow transplant technique, and for that he won the Nobel Prize in 1990.

Grady Auvil is an orchardist who is a key leader and visionary in developing our State's renowned apple industry. He helped establish a research program focusing on alternatives to the use of pesticides, and long before it was fashionable, he shared his company's profits with his employees.

Jacob Lawrence, University of Washington professor emeritus, uses his artistic gift to communicate to the world about American culture and history and particularly the experiences of the African American people. His paintings are hanging in major museums like the Smithsonian and the Metropolitan Museum of Arts. His art has inspired us to reflect on everyday and personal struggles that make us stronger as a people.

And the late Stanley O. McNaughton, CEO of PEMCO, was a pillar of the Seattle community with his civic contributions and his decision that PEMCO donate 5% of its profits to charitable causes. This includes 1000 scholarships for students pursuing a career in education. He passed away just four days after he was selected to receive the Medal of Merit.

Donnell Thomas, Jacob Lawrence, Grady Auvil and Stan McNaughton are the types of Washingtonians that the forty-ninth legislature had in mind in 1986 when it created the Medal of Merit. And since then Medals of Merit have been bestowed upon only fourteen individuals, the last time in 1995.

Typically, a legislative session focuses on fixing what's wrong -- imposing tougher sentences on criminals, curbing pollution of the environment or reducing poverty and child abuse. But our quality of life equally depends on celebrating what's right or making examples of the most generous, the wisest, the most insightful and the kindest among us all. When we draw special attention to the people who embody these virtues, we encourage people from every walk of life, in every part of our State to emulate them.

So it is truly an honor to be here to be part of this momentous occasion as we celebrate four Washingtonians who are making the State of Washington, America and the world a better place to live, work and raise a family.

Thank you."

The President introduced Secretary of State Ralph Munro.

Mr. Munro: Our award winners today will join only a dozen plus two other Washingtonians who have received this high honor. They include:

The late Warren G. Magnuson, a member of this body, who was elected to the United States House of Representatives and member of the Senate of the United States.

Dorothy Bullit, a pioneer in the new communications medium of television, is a long time Washington philanthropist.

Orval Vogel, Washington State University, a cougar through and true, the man who fed the world with the famous Vogel super wheat.

Dr. Lester Sauvage, world-renowned heart surgeon and scientist who now leads the Hope Heart Clinic in Seattle.

Edward Carlson, who went from bellhop at the Olympic Hotel in Seattle to become the president of Western Hotels, United Airlines and the Seattle World Fair.

Dr. William Hutchinson, who in his Brother Fred’s name, became a world leader in medical research.

Senator Henry M. Jackson, known to all of us as ‘Scoop’, was elected to the United States Senate in 1952.

Senator Julia Butler Hansen was the fiery filibuster from Kathlament and the first woman to chair the House Appropriations Committee and member of the Interior Committee.

Dr. Beldine Skribbner was a physician and inventor who researched and developed kidney dialysis equipment.

Dr. Charles O’dgard was the longest serving president at the University of Washington.

James Reed Ellis, a Seattle advocate and attorney, founder of Metro, cleaned up western Washington waters and was the forward thinker of “forward thrust”.

Francis Penrose Owen, a civil leader, a business executive, the organizer of numerous charitable activities was a long time regent at Washington State University.

Dr. Kathleen Ross is the founder of Heritage College and a respected educator.

Dr. Michael Copass, was the former director of the Harborview Emergency Center and medical director of the King County Medic One Program.
So there is no doubt today, that our recipients stand in fine company and we are fortunate to know them.

JACOB LAWRENCE

Secretary of State Ralph Munro introduced and honored Jacob Lawrence.

"On the rarest of occasions, someone comes into our mist who inspires us, who challenges us, who warns us of struggles past and who demands that we think of the future. Such of a man is Jacob Lawrence. Mr. Lawrence’s career as a painter and educator has spanned the greater part of this century. In his six major historical series (Toussaint L’Ouverture, Frederick Douglass, Harriet Tubman, Migration, John Brown and Struggle), as well as individual works focusing on scenes of community life, Mr. Lawrence acts a chronicler of both the American and the African-American scene, rendering the situation in human rather than heroic terms. His work has been the subject of three major retrospectives since 1960 and has been collected in many major museums and corporations throughout the world.

Mr. Lawrence began teaching in the late 1940s at Black Mountain College in North Carolina. He worked at the Pratt Institute in New York during the 50’s and 60’s. He was appointed full professor at the University of Washington in 1971 and continued to teach there until 1983. At the University, Jacob Lawrence was known for his ability to offer critiques of work that were both to the point and respectful of students’ or colleagues’ feelings. He painted in his studio in the art building, sharing his works in progress with students and providing an example of how a professional artists goes about his or her job. Mr. Lawrence continues to meet with students both at local events and in his travels. Jacob Lawrence is a man with a strong sense of community and a modest sense of self, and these beliefs have shaped the content of his work and tenor of his teaching style.

Ladies and Gentlemen, may I present painter Jacob Lawrence."

COMMENTS OF JACOB LAWRENCE

"This is great occasion for me. To realize your struggles, how you have struggle that you continue to go through to make a better life for all of us. The reason I mention struggle is because of a theme I have been involved in throughout my career. I think struggle is a very beautiful thing to go through. As I sat here looking at your faces and I read about you and what your accomplishments and what you are striving to accomplish, I have a great deal of appreciation for this struggle. I continue to try to fully portray in my work. This is a great country and I think of people like Washington, Fredrick Douglas, Lincoln, John Brown and people who have contributed so much to our growth and to our development. A few years ago we had a great controversy in regards to art for the Capitol. I think out of this came a great deal of appreciation of we the artists try to do in our works. Many of you supported us in this. It was a few years prior to that time I served on the Washington State Arts Commission, and I know what the Commission had to do to prompt and to achieve something of value to the community. I want to thank you for this award. It is an honor I shall always appreciate and value throughout my life.

Thank you very much."

Justice Gerry Alexander introduced and honored Dr. E. Donnell Thomas.

"In the course of my public and private life, I have introduced many individuals that many events but I must say that in all that time, I have never been so in awe of a person I was about to introduce as I am today. Neither have I ever felt more honored than I do now in being permitted the privilege to introduce such a distinguished recipient of the Washington State Medal of Merit as Dr. E. Donnell Thomas.

Dr. Thomas’ curriculum vita listed so many achievements, awards and honors that one hardly knows where to begin the introduction. I am tempted as a loyal alumnus of the University of Washington to tell you first that Dr. Thomas is a professor emeritus at the University of Washington School of Medicine. Or perhaps I could begin by telling you he was elected to the Washington Statehood Centennial Hall of Honor. Or that he had been presented with the nation’s highest scientific honor, the National Medal of Science at ceremonies at the White House.

But all of those great honors pale in comparison to one he received in 1990 in Stockholm Sweden, directly from the hand of the King of Sweden. It was of course the Nobel Prize for Medicine. This award was given to Dr. Thomas in recognition of his pioneering work in the use of bone marrow transplantation to treat certain cancers and other blood related and genetic diseases. Appropriately, his Nobel Prize is inscribed with these words: ‘For paving the way for transplantation in men.

Incidentally, Governor, this morning Dr. Thomas told me that when one receives the Nobel Prize from the King of Sweden they are expected to bow. I told him that was not required here. However, in the event that he should do that, he told me that the King also in that very democratic nation bows back to the recipient.

Like many of our state citizens, Dr. Thomas is not a native Washingtonian. Our honoree hails from the State of Texas where he received his Bachelors and Masters degrees from the University of Texas. It was also there that he met his future wife, Dorothy. She is here today with their son, Jeffrey Thomas, who is involved in the real estate in Seattle. The Thomas’ son Jeffrey, and his wife Debbie and son Alex are here with them. Dr. and Mrs. Thomas also have two other children, both of whom are physicians. One is in private practice of medicine in the State of Montana and the other, a daughter is a professor of medicine at the University of New Mexico and is doing AIDS research at that institution. Dr. Thomas received his medical degree from Harvard University in 1946. After completing his internship and residency in Boston, he stayed in that city to do post-doctoral work at MIT. It was at MIT that he began to investigate marrow transplantation. In 1956 while serving as physician and chief at a hospital in Cooperstown, New York, he began the first person to demonstrate that marrow could be safely infused into a human patient. It was at that hospital that he and his team first treated patients that were effected with acute leukemia or aplastic enema with marrow transplants.

Good fortune smiled on the State of Washington in 1963 when Dr. Thomas moved to Seattle to become the first head of the division of Oncology at the University of Washington School of Medicine. It was there that he created the original Seattle Marrow Transplant team that continued to refine the transplantation procedure he had early developed in the State of New York. When the University’s program moved to the world-famous Fred Hutchinson Center in 1974, Dr. Thomas became the director of the Center’s division of clinical research, a position he maintained until he stepped down from the administrative post in 1989 to become director emeritus of that division. To this day he continues to pursue his research at the Hutchinson Center and indeed he is writing a book on marrow transplantation.

The Washington State Medal of Merit is awarded to a person who has been distinguished by exceptionally meritorious conduct in performing outstanding services to the people and the state of Washington. Dr. Thomas fills that bill perfectly. For fifteen years, Dr. Thomas headed the largest marrow transplant center in the world at the Hutchinson Center. The clinical team he assembled resolved many of the problems surrounding the complex transplantation procedure and because of his work, and that of his colleagues, tens of thousands of transplants are performed world-wide each year. At the Hutchinson Center, over seven thousand have been performed. He told me that for some diseases the transplant success rate exceeds eighty percent and is approaching ninety percent. This is just the beginning of this work.

Governor Locke, it is my great privilege to present to you and to all of those assembled here today Dr. E. Donnell Thomas, a citizen of our state who in a brilliant career has harnessed science to better the lot of the citizens of this state, our nation and indeed the whole world.”
The Governor presented the Medal of Merit and Certificate to Dr. Thomas.

COMMENTS OF DR. E. DONNELL THOMAS

"Thank you very much for this honor. I thank Governor Locke, Secretary of State Munro, Judge Alexander, and all the members of the House and Senate for honoring me and my colleagues from the Fred Hutchinson Cancer Research Center. The Center opened twenty-two years ago and largely through the efforts of Senator Warren G. Magnuson and Dr. Bill Hutchinson. I am really pleased to follow them in receiving this honor from the State of Washington.

This is an exciting time in medical research. It has been an exciting time over the last twenty two years that has seen the Hutchinson Center become one of the leading cancer research centers in the world under the leadership of Dr. Robert Day who I think is here this morning. But the progress we have seen in the last twenty years is nothing like what we will see in the next twenty years. We are now understanding so much about cell behavior and cell operations at the molecular level that we must continue this work.

As you may know, we compete nationally for much of our funding from the Federal Government. I would like to thank Senator Gorton for his efforts on our behalf. At the same time, we have had support of the people from the State of Washington, beginning in a small way and increasing steadily. On behalf of all the faculty and workers at the Hutchinson Center, I would like to thank the people of Washington for their support of the Cancer Center in the past twenty years and their growing support in the next twenty years.

Thank you very much."

GRADY AUVin

Speaker of the House Clyde Ballard introduced and honored Mr. Grady Auvil.

"We have spent many hours here in the last few days and at times we did not all agree. What a wonderful privilege it is today to be able to take part in something that quite frankly is overwhelming to me. We are blessed with these individuals in the State of Washington and the incredible impact they have had, not only on our lives but upon the lives of everyone in the United States and throughout the world. This is a great honor.

Grady Auvil is known throughout North Central Washington and all of Washington as a leader in fruit production. At age ninety-two, he and his wife Lillian still spend time in the orchard working and caring for the fruit and their employees He is truly a pillar in the fruit industry. I was given a little history on Grady this morning. I was not aware that in 1923, George Munro, the father of our current Secretary of State, Ralph Munro, and Grady Auvil were roommates at Washington State University.

Grady started farming in 1928. His first major success was in 1940 with the introduction of Red Haven peaches. He then followed with Red Gold Nectarines in the 1960’s, Rainier Cherries in the 1970’s and has led the way in the apple industry with production of Granny Smiths, Washington’s third leading apple. Although, they too will soon be replaced by another Auvil innovation, the Fuji.

Grady is known for his success in agriculture but his expertise is not limited to just apples. As a founding member of the Washington State Tree Fruit Research Commission, Grady has invented and introduced new approaches and ideas involving grafting, irrigation, variety and harvest. His profit sharing plans for his employees have not only enhanced his success they have created a solid working relationship with the most important people in his business – his employees. It cannot be stated clearly enough that Washington State would not be the World leader in apple production today without Grady Auvil. His foresight, his knowledge and his dedication have enabled Washington fruit to compete on a global market and our State’s economy has felt his impact.
Throughout his years of success, Grady has remained humble, dedicated and caring. In fact, when I called Grady to invite him here to this ceremony today, he asked me in the typical "Grady" fashion, "Is it okay if I bring Lillian?"

Named Grower of the Year in 1954, 1981 and 1990, it is my pleasure to introduce one of Washington State's 1998 Medal of Merit recipients, Grady Auvil.

COMMENTS OF GRADY AUVIL

Mr. Auvil: "I am very honored to receive this medal and will always appreciate it. I'm not a good speaker. I'm not sure I can read. Since I've grown fruit all my life I would like to talk a little about farmers.

When man was plowing with horses, less than a hundred years ago, everyone was an organic farmer as there where no farm chemicals at that time. The problem was it took half the citizens to grow enough food for themselves and the other half. Some increase in production was realized and machinery began to replace horses. Real production increase came with chemical use. The main use of chemicals began after World War II and was prevalent in the 1950’s and 60’s. Probably the greatest food researcher in the world is Bruce Aimes, the food expert at UCLA. He found progenisin to be a cause of cancer and originally it was found in farm chemicals. With further exploration, he found that over 98 percent of carcinogenic material consumed by people are found in the fruits and vegetables themselves. Plants had developed toxic materials over thousands of years to protect themselves from insects. Now why would people who eat a diet high in fruits and vegetables less apt to have cancer? The next discovery was that fruits and vegetables also contain antioxidants and flavonoids, which circulate through the bloodstream and tend to knockout cancer as it begins. There is no question that those of us who eat more fruits and vegetables have less cancer and are healthier.

Farmers deserve a word in their favor. There are now less than one percent of our citizens producing over 90 percent of our fruit while constantly being deprived of chemicals. Farmers are also being buried in rules and regulations of how they should be conducting their farming. A recent cancer research project gave apples a boost. This project tested on nine thousand citizens over twenty five years showed that those eating the most apples have less than half as much lung cancer as those eating the fewest apples.

I thank you for giving me a few minutes of your time and would remind you that behind every good man is a better woman. I wish to introduce my wife Lillian."

STANLEY O. McNAUGHTON

The President of the Senate, Brad Owen introduced Mrs. Clare McNaughton and Stan W. McNaughton, and honored Stanley O. McNaughton.

Mr. President: "Our next presentation of the Medal of Merit is exceptional because it is the first time that the award will be presented posthumously. We did not have the opportunity to tell Stanley O. McNaughton that he was among the recipients. His untimely death came just four days after the award committee had officially approved his nomination. We are honored to have twenty-four members of Stanley O. McNaughton’s immediate family with us today.

Chief among the family is Stanley’s gracious wife Clare. It has been Clare’s choice through fifty-five years of marriage to make her first commitment to home and family including three sons, three daughters and eleven grandchildren. Throughout she supported Stanley O.’s dedication to community, to business and to charitable endeavors.

Before I introduce Stanley W. McNaughton, who with his mother will accept the Medal of Merit for his father, I would like to say a few words about my personal debt to Stanley O. He was a chief supporter of my efforts to stamp out the tragedy of drug abuse in Washington State. Stanley O. was also an enthusiastic partner with Norm Maleng and myself in opposing Initiative 685, the proposal that would effectively legalize drugs in our State. His support against such efforts was indicative of his aborrence of drugs and anything that threatened the safety and the welfare of our children. I cannot thank him enough for his leadership in supporting his community, education and safety of our children.

It is now my great pleasure to tell you about Stan W. McNaughton who recently became President and Chief Operating Officer of PEMCO Insurance Companies. As a young businessman, he served six years as a CPA with Price Waterhouse. For the next seven years, he distinguishes himself in the world of newspapers as corporate treasurer for the Everett Herald, a subsidiary of the Washington Post. Then in 1986, he joined PEMCO Financial Services as Executive Assistant to the President and later became Executive Vice President.

As I had the pleasure of visiting PEMCO I was totally impressed with the very position which permeated throughout and each and every employee. This was truly representative of Stanley O.'s corporate philosophy and is carried on by my good friend Stanley W. In addition to PEMCO, Stanley W. is a devoted family man. He too is deeply involved in education and other children issues. His wife Cathy and his two children are here today.

It is my great pleasure to introduce to you Mrs. Clare McNaughton and Stanley W. McNaughton to accept the award posthumously for the great Stanley O. McNaughton."

Mr. McNaughton: "Thank you, Brad. I thank the members of the award committee and the Legislative body. The timing was not ideal but something positive came of it. We found out about this award several days after Dad’s passing and we had gone through that lowest point. Finding out about this and the number of others things said about our father has allowed us to replace a lot of that loss with pride. This was very well received. Thank you.

It is appropriate that I am up here speaking on behalf of my mother because she delegated to him for about fifty-five years. Dad was a complex individual. He was really bigger than life. A lot of people said he was "Stanley O." He was Stan. I think those who knew him knew what that were about. He had four families: he had his immediate family, my brothers and sisters and my mother, six kids plus Mom. He had his immediate family – eleven brothers and sisters and his mother who are almost ninety-eight, still alive. He had his PEMCO family with over one thousand individuals, most of whom he knew by first name, he knew something about their histories and he would always stop and take time to talk with them. And then he had his community family and that’s what I think is represented here today.

He believed in free enterprise. There was no doubt he was a professor of it, he consistently professed it but he didn’t necessarily defend every institution it spawned. He also had a simple business philosophy, and you stand back and watch what it is about. It is somewhat unique but it does seem to make sense. Your customer is first. And to take care of that customer you take care of your employee. And then you reinvest in your community because that is where your customers and employees live. And if you do that, then the owners are rewarded with more than money. That was Dad’s business philosophy. He followed that throughout his life.

I worked with him for eleven years. It didn’t take long to recognize that he too had a struggle, a theme as Jacob mentioned for quest. His quest was to consistently help take care of people who were disadvantaged for no fault of their own. And that theme consistently prevailed everywhere we went. He also believed that corporations should raise the quality of life in the communities they served. Dad and I went to a lot of conferences together. We traveled around the country and even if he was a speaker or at the end of the session when there was a chance to speak off the floor, he always raised that issue. I would just wait for him to raise it. He would raise his hand and say he wanted to raise one more item today. He would leave those closing thoughts with those people.

PEMCO has giving since the sixties, five percent of its pre-tax profits back to the community and I assure you it will continue that legacy.

Many wonderful commits have been said about Dad and I am going to share a couple with you. One friend said, "He was not one of a million. He was one of a kind.” Another said, "He treated everyone with dignity. He listened." A close family friend gave me this advice after Dad’s passing. "Those who live by principles and who have courage, have critics. Those who compromise, don’t. Your dad had many critics. Occasionally you should look over your shoulder and decide if your critics are the ones you are proud of. Your father was proud of his."

On behalf of my father and my family, thank you."

Mr. President: "It is obvious that the State of Washington is truly blessed by its people and exceptionally so by the ones we have an opportunity to recognize here today. We truly appreciate what you have done for the State of Washington and our whole country. You are very much appreciated."

The President asked the special committees to come forward and escort the medal of merit recipients, Senator Gorton, Governor Locke, the State Elected Officials and the Supreme Court Justices to the State Reception Room.

MOTION

On motion of Representative Lisk, the Joint Session was dissolved.

The President returned the gavel to the Speaker of the House. The Speaker requested the Sergeant-at-Arms to escort the President of the Senate and members of the Senate from the House Chamber.

There being no objection, the House reverted to the fourth order of business.

On page 3, beginning on line 5, strike all material through line 14.

On page 3, after line 14, insert the following:

"Sec. 2. RCW 13.34.130 and 1997 c 280 § 1 are each amended to read as follows:
If, after a fact-finding hearing pursuant to RCW 13.34.110, it has been proven by a preponderance of the evidence that the child is dependent within the meaning of RCW 13.34.030; after consideration of the predisposition report prepared pursuant to RCW 13.34.110 and after a disposition hearing has been held pursuant to RCW 13.34.110, the court shall enter an order of disposition pursuant to this section.
(1) The court shall order one of the following dispositions of the case:
(a) Order a disposition other than removal of the child from his or her home, which shall provide a program designed to alleviate the immediate danger to the child, to mitigate or cure any damage the child has already suffered, and to aid the parents so that the child will not be endangered in the future. In selecting a program, the court should choose those services that least interfere with family autonomy, provided that the services are adequate to protect the child.
(b) Order that the child be removed from his or her home and ordered into the custody, control, and care of a relative or the department of social and health services or a licensed child placing agency for placement in a foster family home or group care facility licensed pursuant to chapter 74.15 RCW or in a home not required to be licensed pursuant to chapter 74.15 RCW. Unless there is reasonable cause to believe that the safety or welfare of the child would be jeopardized or that efforts to reunite the parent and child will be hindered, such child shall be placed with a person who is related to the child as defined in RCW 74.15.020(4)(a) and with whom the child has a relationship and is comfortable, and who is willing and available to care for the child. Placement of the child with a relative under this subsection shall be given preference by the court. An order for out-of-home placement may be made only if the court finds that reasonable efforts have been made to prevent or eliminate the need for removal of the child from the child’s home and to make it possible for the child to return home, specifying the services that have been provided to the child and the child’s parent, guardian, or legal custodian, and that preventive services have been offered or provided and have failed to prevent the need for out-of-home placement, unless the health, safety, and welfare of the child cannot be protected adequately in the home, and that:
(i) There is no parent or guardian available to care for such child;
(ii) The parent, guardian, or legal custodian is not willing to take custody of the child; or
(iii) The court finds, by clear, cogent, and convincing evidence, a manifest danger exists that the child will suffer serious abuse or neglect if the child is not removed from the home and an order under RCW 26.44.063 would not protect the child from danger((i) or (v)), or

(iv) The extent of the child's disability is such that the parent, guardian, or legal custodian is unable to provide the necessary care for the child and the parent, guardian, or legal custodian has determined that the child would benefit from placement outside of the home).

(2) If the court has ordered a child removed from his or her home pursuant to subsection (1)(b) of this section, the court may order that a petition seeking termination of the parent and child relationship be filed if the court finds it is recommended by the supervising agency, that it is in the best interests of the child and that it is not reasonable to provide further services to reunify the family because the existence of aggravated circumstances make it unlikely that services will effectuate the return of the child to the child’s parents in the near future. In determining whether aggravated circumstances exist, the court shall consider one or more of the following:

(a) Conviction of the parent of rape of the child in the first, second, or third degree as defined in RCW 9A.44.073, 9A.44.076, and 9A.44.079;
(b) Conviction of the parent of criminal mistreatment of the child in the first or second degree as defined in RCW 9A.42.020 and 9A.42.030;
(c) Conviction of the parent of one of the following assault crimes, when the child is the victim: Assault in the first or second degree as defined in RCW 9A.36.011 and 9A.36.021 or assault of a child in the first or second degree as defined in RCW 9A.36.120 or 9A.36.130;
(d) Conviction of the parent of murder, manslaughter, or homicide by abuse of the child’s other parent, sibling, or another child;
(e) A finding by a court that a parent is a sexually violent predator as defined in RCW 71.09.020;
(f) Failure of the parent to complete available treatment ordered under this chapter or the equivalent laws of another state, where such failure has resulted in a prior termination of parental rights to another child and the parent has failed to effect significant change in the interim.

(3) Whenever a child is ordered removed from the child’s home, the agency charged with his or her care shall provide the court with:

(a) A permanency plan of care that shall identify one of the following outcomes as a primary goal and may identify additional outcomes as alternative goals: Return of the child to the home of the child's parent, guardian, or legal custodian; adoption; guardianship; or long-term relative or foster care, until the child is age eighteen, with a written agreement between the parties and the care provider; and independent living, if appropriate and if the child is age sixteen or older. Whenever a permanency plan identifies independent living as a goal, the plan shall also specifically identify the services that will be provided to assist the child to make a successful transition from foster care to independent living. Before the court approves independent living as a permanency plan of care, the court shall make a finding that the provision of services to assist the child in making a transition from foster care to independent living will allow the child to manage his or her financial affairs and to manage his or her personal, social, educational, and nonfinancial affairs. The department shall not discharge a child to an independent living situation before the child is eighteen years of age unless the child becomes emancipated pursuant to chapter 13.64 RCW.

(b) Unless the court has ordered, pursuant to subsection (2) of this section, that a termination petition be filed, a specific plan as to where the child will be placed, what steps will be taken to return the child home, and what actions the agency will take to maintain parent-child ties. All aspects of the plan shall include the goal of achieving permanence for the child.

(i) The agency plan shall specify what services the parents will be offered in order to enable them to resume custody, what requirements the parents must meet in order to resume custody, and a time limit for each service plan and parental requirement.

(ii) The agency shall be required to encourage the maximum parent-child contact possible, including regular visitation and participation by the parents in the care of the child while the child is in placement. Visitation may be limited or denied only if the court determines that such limitation or denial is necessary to protect the child’s health, safety, or welfare.

(iii) A child shall be placed as close to the child’s home as possible, preferably in the child’s own neighborhood, unless the court finds that placement at a greater distance is necessary to promote the child’s or parents’ well-being.
The agency charged with supervising a child in placement shall provide all reasonable services that are available within the agency, or within the community, or those services which the department of social and health services has existing contracts to purchase. It shall report to the court if it is unable to provide such services.

(c) If the court has ordered, pursuant to subsection (2) of this section, that a termination petition be filed, a specific plan as to where the child will be placed, what steps will be taken to achieve permanency for the child, services to be offered or provided to the child, and, if visitation would be in the best interests of the child, a recommendation to the court regarding visitation between parent and child pending a fact-finding hearing on the termination petition. The agency shall not be required to develop a plan of services for the parents or provide services to the parents.

(4) If there is insufficient information at the time of the disposition hearing upon which to base a determination regarding the suitability of a proposed placement with a relative, the child shall remain in foster care and the court shall direct the supervising agency to conduct necessary background investigations as provided in chapter 74.15 RCW and report the results of such investigation to the court within thirty days. However, if such relative appears otherwise suitable and competent to provide care and treatment, the criminal history background check need not be completed before placement, but as soon as possible after placement. Any placements with relatives, pursuant to this section, shall be contingent upon cooperation by the relative with the agency case plan and compliance with court orders related to the care and supervision of the child including, but not limited to, court orders regarding parent-child contacts and any other conditions imposed by the court. Noncompliance with the case plan or court order shall be grounds for removal of the child from the relative’s home, subject to review by the court.

(5) Except for children whose cases are reviewed by a citizen review board under chapter 13.70 RCW, the status of all children found to be dependent shall be reviewed by the court at least every six months from the beginning date of the placement episode or the date dependency is established, whichever is first, at a hearing in which it shall be determined whether court supervision should continue. The review shall include findings regarding the agency and parental completion of disposition plan requirements, and if necessary, revised permanency time limits.

(a) A child shall not be returned home at the review hearing unless the court finds that a reason for removal as set forth in this section no longer exists. The parents, guardian, or legal custodian shall report to the court the efforts they have made to correct the conditions which led to removal. If a child is returned, casework supervision shall continue for a period of six months, at which time there shall be a hearing on the need for continued intervention.

(b) If the child is not returned home, the court shall establish in writing:

(i) Whether reasonable services have been provided to or offered to the parties to facilitate reunion, specifying the services provided or offered;

(ii) Whether the child has been placed in the least-restrictive setting appropriate to the child’s needs, including whether consideration and preference has been given to placement with the child’s relatives;

(iii) Whether there is a continuing need for placement and whether the placement is appropriate;

(iv) Whether there has been compliance with the case plan by the child, the child’s parents, and the agency supervising the placement;

(v) Whether progress has been made toward correcting the problems that necessitated the child’s placement in out-of-home care;

(vi) Whether the parents have visited the child and any reasons why visitation has not occurred or has been infrequent;

(vii) Whether additional services are needed to facilitate the return of the child to the child’s parents; if so, the court shall order that reasonable services be offered specifying such services; and

(viii) The projected date by which the child will be returned home or other permanent plan of care will be implemented.

(c) The court at the review hearing may order that a petition seeking termination of the parent and child relationship be filed."

POINT OF ORDER

Representative B. Thomas requested a Scope and Object ruling on amendment 1015 to Substitute House Bill No. 1276.

SPEAKER'S RULING

Mr. Speaker: Representative B. Thomas, the Speaker is prepared to rule on your Point of Order which challenges the Scope and Object on amendment 1015 to Substitute House Bill No. 1276.
The Title of House Bill No. 1276 is "AN ACT Relating to the taxation of physical fitness services." As explained in the bill report, the object of the bill is to remove just three words which were added to RCW 82.04.050 in 1993 - physical fitness services. The effect of the 1993 law was to make those services subject to the sales tax. The object of House Bill No. 1276 is to take the sales tax off of those services.

Amendment 1015 seeks to remove the sales tax from activities that were made subject to the sales tax prior to 1993 and which would remain subject to the tax even if the 1993 language were to be removed by House Bill No. 1276.

The Speaker finds that since the Scope of House Bill No. 1276 is to remove the taxation of physical fitness services and the removal of such taxation would not result in a tax cuts proposed by amendment 1015 it is clear that amendment 1015 is beyond the Scope of House Bill No. 1276.

Representative B. Thomas, your Point of Order is well taken.

Representative B. Thomas moved the adoption of amendment (1019):
On page 5, beginning on line 30, strike section 2.

HOUSE BILL NO. 2335, by Representatives B. Thomas, Mulliken, Thompson, Morris, Gardner, Linville, Backlund, Cooke, Carrell, Kastama, Schoesler, Van Luven, Dunn and Lambert; by request of Department of Revenue

Consolidating business and occupation tax rates into fewer categories.

The bill was read the second time.

Representative Morris moved the adoption of amendment (1024):

On page 7, after line 3, insert the following:

"NEW SECTION. Sec. 7. A new section is added to chapter 82.04 RCW to read as follows:
Notwithstanding the rates of taxation provided in RCW 82.04.240 through 82.04.290, inclusive, upon every person taxable under this chapter whose value of products, gross proceeds of sales, or gross income of the business from all business activities taxable under this chapter is less than one hundred fifty thousand dollars per tax year, as to such persons, the amount of tax with respect to such business shall be equal to the value of the products, gross proceeds of sales, or gross income of the business, multiplied by the rate of 0.138 percent."

Renumber the remaining sections consecutively and correct any internal references and the title accordingly.

POINT OF ORDER

Representative B. Thomas requested a Scope and Object ruling on amendment 1024 to House Bill No. 2335.

SPEAKER’S RULING

Representative Thomas, the Speaker is prepared to rule on your Point of Order which challenges amendment 1024 as being beyond the Scope and Object of House Bill No. 2335.

The title of House Bill No. 2335 is "AN ACT Relating to consolidating business and occupation tax rates into fewer categories." Under current law B&O taxes are levied in one of ten categories, House Bill No. 2355 reduces the number of categories to six by consolidating rates and in the instance of the lowest rate, eliminating the tax entirely.

Amendment 1024 provides that businesses with gross proceeds from sales of less than $150,000 per year should pay a lower B&O tax rate than businesses that sell the same products but gross more than $150,000 per year from such sales. The effect of the amendment is to create a new category of B&O taxes for certain smaller businesses.

House Bill No. 2335 consolidates and eliminates categories. Amendment 1024 creates a new category of taxpayers.

The Speaker finds that amendment 1024 is beyond the Scope of the title of House Bill No. 2335.

Representative Thomas, Your Point of Order is well taken.

Representative Morris moved the adoption of amendment (1017):

On page 8, after line 25, insert the following:

"NEW SECTION. Sec. 8. A new section is added to chapter 82.04 RCW to read as follows:
(1) This chapter shall not apply to the gross sales or the gross income received by a new small business located in an eligible area as defined in RCW 82.62.010.

(2) As used in this section:

(a) "New small business" means a business that: (i) Obtained or was required to obtain a registration certificate under RCW 82.32.030 for the first time during the thirty-six months immediately preceding the date in which an exemption is claimed under this section; and (ii) for the business, the value of products, gross proceeds of sales, or gross income of the business, from all business activities, is less than five million dollars per year.

(b) For out-of-state entities first engaging in business in this state, "new small business" means a person or company, as defined in RCW 82.04.030, located outside this state that: (i) Obtained or was required to obtain registration with any state, federal, or foreign agency for the first time during the thirty-six months immediately preceding the date in which an exemption is claimed under this section; and (ii) for the business, the value of products, gross proceeds of sales, or gross income of the business, from all business activities, is less than five million dollars per year.

(c) "New small business" does not include:

(i) A business that has been restructured, reorganized, or transferred, unless the majority of the activities to be conducted after restructuring, reorganization, or transferral are significantly different from the activities previously conducted;

(ii) A new branch location or other facility; or

(iii) A business that is substantially similar to a business currently operated, or operated within the past twelve years, by the same principals."

Renumber the remaining sections consecutively and correct any internal references and the title accordingly.

POINT OF ORDER

Representative B. Thomas requested a Scope and Object ruling on amendment 1017 to House Bill No. 2335.

SPEAKER’S RULING

Representative Thomas, the Speaker is prepared to rule on your Point of Order which challenges amendment 1017 as being beyond the Scope and Object of House Bill No. 2335.

The title of House Bill No. 2335 is "AN ACT Relating to consolidating business and occupation tax rates into fewer categories." Under current law B&O taxes are levied in one of ten categories, House Bill No. 2355 reduces the number of categories to six by consolidating rates and in the instance of the lowest rate, eliminating the tax entirely.

Amendment 1017 would provide that certain businesses located in certain places would be exempt from paying B&O taxes for three years. The amendment would not result in any consolidation of B&O tax categories, the amendment would not eliminate any B&O tax categories. The amendment would simply provide that some businesses would not have to pay B&O taxes while other businesses conducting the same sales would have to pay such taxes.

The Speaker finds that amendment 1017 is beyond the Scope of the title.

Representative Thomas, Your Point of Order is well taken.

Representative Gardner moved the adoption of amendment (1021):

On page 8, after line 25, insert the following:

"Sec. 8. RCW 82.04.4451 and 1997 c 238 s 2 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) In computing the tax imposed under this chapter, a credit is allowed against the amount of tax otherwise due under this chapter, as provided in this section. The maximum credit for a taxpayer for a reporting period is (thirty-five) fifty dollars multiplied by the number of months in the reporting period, as determined under RCW 82.32.045.

(2) When the amount of tax otherwise due under this chapter is equal to or less than the maximum credit, a credit is allowed equal to the amount of tax otherwise due under this chapter.

(3) When the amount of tax otherwise due under this chapter exceeds the maximum credit, a reduced credit is allowed equal to twice the maximum credit, minus the tax otherwise due under this chapter, but not less than zero.

(4) The department may prepare a tax credit table consisting of tax ranges using increments of no more than five dollars and a corresponding tax credit to be applied to those tax ranges. The table shall be prepared in such a manner that no taxpayer will owe a greater amount of tax by using the table than would be owed by performing the calculation under subsections (1) through (3) of this section. A table prepared by the department under this subsection shall be used by all taxpayers in taking the credit provided in this section.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 9. Section 8 of this act applies to the entire period of reporting periods ending after the effective date of this section."

Renumber the remaining sections consecutively and correct any internal references and the title accordingly.

POINT OF ORDER

Representative B. Thomas requested a Scope and Object ruling on amendment 1021 to House Bill No. 2335.

SPEAKER’S RULING

Representative Thomas, the Speaker is prepared to rule on your Point of Order which challenges amendment 1021 as being beyond the Scope and Object of House Bill No. 2335.

The title of House Bill No. 2335 is "AN ACT Relating to consolidating business and occupation tax rates into fewer categories." Under current law B&O taxes are levied in one of ten categories, House Bill No. 2355 reduces the number of categories to six by consolidating rates and in the instance of the lowest rate, eliminating the tax entirely.

Amendment 1021 would increase the small business credit for the B&O tax from $420 per year to $600 per year. The amendment would not result in any consolidation of B&O tax categories, the amendment would not eliminate any B&O tax categories, the amendment would simply provide that some businesses, but not all businesses, would receive a credit against B&O tax liability.

The Speaker finds that amendment 1021 is beyond the Scope of the title of House Bill No. 2335.

Representative Thomas, Your Point of Order is well taken.

With the consent of the House, amendment number 1012 to House Bill No. 2335 was withdrawn.

There being no objection, the rules were suspended, the second reading considered the third and the bill was placed on final passage.

SB 5164 Prime Sponsor, Senator Haugen: Removing certain tenants and occupants from a mobile home park. Reported by Committee on Trade & Economic Development

MAJORITY recommendation: Do pass as amended.

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

"Sec. 1. RCW 59.20.030 and 1993 c 66 s 15 are each amended to read as follows:
For purposes of this chapter:
(1) "Abandoned" as it relates to a mobile home owned by a tenant in a mobile home park, mobile home park cooperative, or mobile home park subdivision or tenancy in a mobile home lot means the tenant has defaulted in rent and by absence and by words or actions reasonably indicates the intention not to continue tenancy;
(2) "Landlord" means the owner of a mobile home park and includes the agents of a landlord;
(3) "Mobile home lot" means a portion of a mobile home park designated as the location of one mobile home and its accessory buildings, and intended for the exclusive use as a primary residence by the occupants of that mobile home;
(4) "Mobile home park" means any real property which is rented or held out for rent to others for the placement of two or more mobile homes for the primary purpose of production of income, except where such real property is rented or held out for rent for seasonal recreational purpose only and is not intended for year-round occupancy;
(5) "Mobile home park cooperative" means real property consisting of common areas and two or more lots held out for placement of mobile homes in which both the individual lots and the common areas are owned by an association of shareholders which leases or otherwise extends the right to occupy individual lots to its own members;
(6) "Mobile home park subdivision" means real property, whether it is called a subdivision, condominium, or planned unit development, consisting of common areas and two or more lots held for placement of mobile homes in which there is private ownership of the individual lots and common, undivided ownership of the common areas by owners of the individual lots;"
(7) "Recreational vehicle" means a travel trailer, motor home, truck camper, or camping trailer that is primarily designed and used as temporary living quarters, is either self-propelled or mounted on or drawn by another vehicle, is transient, is not occupied as a primary residence, and is not immobilized or permanently affixed to a mobile home lot;

(8) "Tenant" means any person, except a transient, who rents a mobile home lot;

(9) "Transient" means a person who rents a mobile home lot for a period of less than one month for purposes other than as a primary residence;

(10) "Occupant" means any person, including a live-in care provider, other than a tenant, who occupies a mobile home and mobile home lot.

Sec. 2. RCW 59.20.080 and 1993 c 66 s 19 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) A landlord shall not terminate or fail to renew a tenancy of a tenant or the occupancy of an occupant, of whatever duration except for one or more of the following reasons:

(a) Substantial violation, or repeated or periodic violations of the rules of the mobile home park as established by the landlord at the inception of the tenancy or as assumed subsequently with the consent of the tenant or for violation of the tenant’s duties as provided in RCW 59.20.140. The tenant shall be given written notice to cease the rule violation immediately. The notice shall state that failure to cease the violation of the rule or any subsequent violation of that or any other rule shall result in termination of the tenancy, and that the tenant shall vacate the premises within fifteen days: PROVIDED, That for a periodic violation the notice shall also specify that repetition of the same violation shall result in termination: PROVIDED FURTHER, That in the case of a violation of a "material change" in park rules with respect to pets, tenants with minor children living with them, or recreational facilities, the tenant shall be given written notice under this chapter of a six month period in which to comply or vacate;

(b) Nonpayment of rent or other charges specified in the rental agreement, upon five days written notice to pay rent and/or other charges or to vacate;

(c) Conviction of the tenant of a crime, commission of which threatens the health, safety, or welfare of the other mobile home park tenants. The tenant shall be given written notice of a fifteen day period in which to vacate;

(d) Failure of the tenant to comply with local ordinances and state laws and regulations relating to mobile homes or mobile home living within a reasonable time after the tenant’s receipt of notice of such noncompliance from the appropriate governmental agency;

(e) Change of land use of the mobile home park including, but not limited to, conversion to a use other than for mobile homes or conversion of the mobile home park to a mobile home park cooperative or mobile home park subdivision: PROVIDED, That the landlord shall give the tenants twelve months’ notice in advance of the effective date of such change, except that for the period of six months following April 28, 1989, the landlord shall give the tenants eighteen months’ notice in advance of the proposed effective date of such change;

(f) Engaging in "criminal activity." "Criminal activity" means a criminal act defined by statute or ordinance that threatens the health, safety, or welfare of the tenants. A park owner seeking to evict a tenant or occupant under this subsection need not produce evidence of a criminal conviction, even if the alleged misconduct constitutes a criminal offense. Notice from a law enforcement agency of criminal activity constitutes sufficient grounds, but not the only grounds, for an eviction under this subsection. Notification of the seizure of illegal drugs under RCW 59.20.155 is evidence of criminal activity and is grounds for an eviction under this subsection. The requirement that any tenant or occupant register as a sex offender under RCW 9A.44.130 is grounds for eviction under this subsection. If criminal activity is alleged to be a basis of termination, the park owner may proceed directly to an unlawful detainer action;

(g) The tenant’s application for tenancy contained a material misstatement that induced the park owner to approve the tenant as a resident of the park, and the park owner discovers and acts upon the misstatement within one year of the time the resident began paying rent;

(h) If the landlord serves a tenant three fifteen-day notices within a twelve-month period to comply or vacate for failure to comply with the material terms of the rental agreement or park rules. The applicable twelve-month period shall commence on the date of the first violation;

(i) Failure of the tenant to comply with obligations imposed upon tenants by applicable provisions of municipal, county, and state codes, statutes, ordinances, and regulations, including chapter 59.20 RCW. The landlord shall give the tenant written notice to comply immediately. The notice must state that failure to comply will result in termination of the tenancy and that the tenant shall vacate the premises within fifteen days;

(j) The tenant engages in disorderly or substantially annoying conduct upon the park premises that results in the destruction of the rights of others to the peaceful enjoyment and use of the premises. The landlord shall give the tenant written notice to comply immediately. The notice must state that failure to comply will result in termination of the tenancy and that the tenant shall vacate the premises within fifteen days;

(k) The tenant creates a nuisance that materially affects the health, safety, and welfare of other park residents. The landlord shall give the tenant written notice to cease the conduct that constitutes a nuisance immediately. The notice must state that failure to cease the conduct will result in termination of the tenancy and that the tenant shall vacate the premises in five days;

(l) Any other substantial just cause that materially affects the health, safety, and welfare of other park residents. The landlord shall give the tenant written notice to comply immediately. The notice must state that failure to comply will result in termination of the tenancy and that the tenant shall vacate the premises within fifteen days; or

(m) Failure to pay rent by the due date provided for in the rental agreement three or more times in a twelve-month period, commencing with the date of the first violation, after service of a five-day notice to comply or vacate.

(2) Within five days of a notice of eviction as required by subsection (1)(a) of this section, the landlord and tenant shall submit any dispute to mediation. The parties may agree in writing to mediation by an independent third party or through industry mediation procedures. If the parties cannot agree, then mediation shall be through industry mediation procedures. A duty is imposed upon both parties to participate in the mediation process in good faith for a period of ten days for an eviction under subsection (1)(a) of this section. It is a defense to an eviction under subsection (1)(a) of this section that a landlord did not participate in the mediation process in good faith.

(3) Chapters 59.12 and 59.18 RCW govern the eviction of recreational vehicles from mobile home parks.

Sec. 3. RCW 59.20.090 and 1980 c 152 s 2 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) Unless otherwise agreed rental agreements shall be for a term of one year. Any rental agreement of whatever duration shall be automatically renewed for the term of the original rental agreement, unless:

(a) a different specified term is agreed upon;

(b) The landlord serves notice of termination without cause upon the tenant prior to the expiration of the rental agreement: PROVIDED, That under such circumstances, at the expiration of the prior rental agreement the tenant shall be considered a month-to-month tenant upon the same terms as in the prior rental agreement until the tenancy is terminated.

(2) A landlord seeking to increase the rent upon expiration of the term of a rental agreement of any duration shall notify the tenant in writing three months prior to the effective date of any increase in rent: PROVIDED, That if a landlord serves a tenant with notice of a rental increase at the same time or subsequent to serving the tenant with notice of termination without cause, such rental increase shall not become effective until the date the tenant is required to vacate the leased premises pursuant to the notice of termination or three months from the date notice of rental increase is served, whichever is later).

(3) A tenant shall notify the landlord in writing one month prior to the expiration of a rental agreement of an intention not to renew.

(4)(a) The tenant may terminate the rental agreement upon thirty days written notice whenever a change in the location of the tenant’s employment requires a change in his residence, and shall not be liable for rental following such termination unless after due diligence and reasonable effort the landlord is not able to rent the mobile home lot at a fair rental. If the landlord is not able to rent the lot, the tenant shall remain liable for the rental specified in the rental agreement until the lot is rented or the original term ends;

(b) Any tenant who is a member of the armed forces may terminate a rental agreement with less than thirty days notice if he receives reassignment orders which do not allow greater notice.”

E3SSB 5278 Prime Sponsor, Senate Committee on Ways & Means: Requiring dependency investigations for infants born drug affected. Reported by Committee on Children & Family Services

MAJORITY recommendation: Do pass as amended.

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

"NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. The legislature finds that all children have the right to be born healthy and free of the consequences of the nonprescription use of controlled substances and/or the abuse of alcohol by the mother during pregnancy. Individuals who have a drug or alcohol addiction are unable to make reasoned decisions that help ensure the birth of a healthy infant. The availability of long-term pharmaceutical birth control, when combined with other treatment regimens, may allow women to regain control of their lives and make long-term decisions in the best interest of themselves and their children. The legislature further finds that a third or subsequent drug-affected infant being born to the same mother means it may be unreasonable to attempt to continue efforts to reunify the family and that all reasonable reunification efforts that have previously been made have proven futile and there is no likelihood that future efforts will produce a different outcome.

(1) A physician licensed under chapter 18.71 or 18.57 RCW, an advanced registered nurse practitioner licensed under chapter 18.79 RCW, or a midwife licensed under chapter 18.50 RCW, primarily responsible for the care of a newborn infant, who has reasonable cause to believe an infant has been exposed to nonprescription use of controlled substances or alcohol must notify the department of the name and address of the parent or parents of an infant who is drug-affected.

(2) The physician or advanced registered nurse practitioner or midwife responsible for the delivery of the infant must, as soon as practical, inform the mother of a drug-affected infant of: (a) Her right to publicly funded tubal ligation surgery as provided under section 12 of this act; (b) available drug treatment and counseling; and (c) birth control counseling and education. The mother may accept the offer of a tubal ligation up to six months following its tender.

(3) A physician who makes any determination under this section shall not be liable in any cause of action as a result of his or her determination except for acts of gross negligence or intentional misconduct.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. A new section is added to chapter 13.34 RCW to read as follows:

(1) The department, upon receipt of a report under section 2 of this act, shall investigate and, if the department has reasonable cause to believe that the infant is drug-affected, is in need of treatment for conditions related to the infant’s exposure to nonprescription use of controlled substances or alcohol including withdrawal, and the parents of the child cannot adequately care for the child’s conditions, the department shall take custody of the child for the purpose of obtaining treatment for the child. Where medically indicated, the department may place the infant in an appropriate birth facility or pediatric care program, and access services for the treatment of the child’s drug-affected condition. The child’s withdrawal shall be under the supervision of appropriate health care professionals. The department shall retain custody of the child until the court assumes custody, until the department upon a documented and substantiated record determines that the child’s parents can adequately care for the infant’s condition, or until the department decides not to file a dependency petition under subsection (2) of this section.

(2) After an investigation in response to a receipt of a report under section 2 of this act, the department shall, in appropriate cases, file a dependency petition under this chapter. In the event the department does not file a petition, it shall refer the mother to available chemical dependency treatment programs or a model project.

(3) The department and the mother may enter an agreement in which the mother agrees to chemical dependency treatment on an inpatient or outpatient basis or be referred to a model project created under section 10 of this act.

(4) If the department and mother enter an agreement under subsection (3) of this section, the department shall, if a dependency petition has been filed, request the court to defer the entry of an order of dependency for as long as the mother remains in treatment or enrolled in the model project, subject to the department’s monitoring for compliance. As a condition of deferral of the order of dependency, the parents, if both are available and known, shall stipulate to facts sufficient to constitute a dependency and the court shall order treatment or enrollment in a model project and prohibit nonprescription use of controlled substances. In the event that an available parent unreasonably refuses to stipulate to facts constituting a dependency, the court may proceed with the hearing on the petition.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4. A new section is added to chapter 13.34 RCW to read as follows:

(1) If the department receives a report under section 2 of this act of a mother who has given birth to a second drug-affected infant, the department:

(a) May request the court to proceed immediately with the entry of a dependency for the first drug-affected infant; and

(b) Shall investigate and, unless there are compelling reasons to the contrary, file a dependency petition on the second drug-affected infant. If the department does not file a petition, it shall refer the woman to available chemical dependency treatment programs or a model project.
(2) The department and the mother may enter an agreement in which the mother agrees to: (a) Enter chemical dependency inpatient treatment or a model project, together with an aftercare program that includes participation in a model project when feasible; and (b) medically appropriate pharmaceutical pregnancy prevention. The selection of the pregnancy prevention method shall be based on an evaluation of the medical and physical consequences to the mother and shall remain in effect until the dependency petition is dismissed or the court determines it is no longer medically appropriate.

(3) If the department and the mother enter an agreement under subsection (2) of this section, the department shall request the court to defer the entry of an order of dependency on the second drug-affected infant for as long as the mother remains in treatment or enrolled in the model project, subject to the department’s monitoring for compliance. As a condition of deferral of the order of dependency, the parents, if both are available and known, shall stipulate to facts sufficient to constitute a dependency and the court shall order treatment or enrollment in a model project and prohibit nonprescription use of controlled substances. In the event that an available parent unreasonably refuses to stipulate to facts constituting a dependency, the court may proceed with the hearing on the petition.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 5. A new section is added to chapter 13.34 RCW to read as follows:
The department may request the court to dismiss the petition deferred under section 3 or 4 of this act at any time, but a petition may not be vacated or dismissed unless the mother demonstrates by clear and convincing evidence that she has not used controlled substances in a nonprescription manner for at least twelve consecutive months and can safely provide for the child’s welfare without continuing supervision by the department or court.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 6. A new section is added to chapter 13.34 RCW to read as follows:
If the department receives a report under section 2 of this act of a mother who has given birth to a third or subsequent drug-affected infant, the department shall:
(1) Request the court to proceed immediately with the entry of a finding of dependency on all drug-affected children born before the third or subsequent birth unless an order of dependency has been vacated or dismissed; and
(2) File a dependency petition on any drug-affected infant subject to this section as well as any other child born before the third or subsequent birth of a drug-affected infant.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 7. A new section is added to chapter 13.34 RCW to read as follows:
Following a filing of a petition under section 6 of this act:
(1) The court shall order evaluation by a designated chemical dependency specialist, as defined in RCW 70.96A.020 who shall undertake the processes described in RCW 70.96A.140.
(2) A court may order removal of a child or children from the home and placed out-of-home under RCW 13.34.130 without finding that reasonable efforts have been made to prevent or eliminate the need for removal and to make it possible for the child to return home.
(3) If the court has ordered removal of a child or children, the out-of-home placement order shall remain in effect until the petition is dismissed or the mother has successfully completed inpatient treatment and any aftercare program for controlled substances ordered by the court.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 8. By July 1, 1999, the department of social and health services, in consultation with the department of health, shall adopt rules to implement this act, including a definition of “drug-affected infant,” which shall include infants who are affected by a mother’s abuse of alcohol during pregnancy.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 9. The department shall operate a model project to provide services to women who give birth to infants exposed to the nonprescription use of controlled substances by the mother during pregnancy. The project shall be offered in one site in each of three of the department’s administrative regions which have the highest incidence of drug-affected babies annually. The project shall accept women referred to it by the department following the birth of a drug-affected infant. The model project shall be concluded by July 1, 2003.
NEW SECTION. Sec. 10. A new section is added to chapter 70.96A RCW to read as follows:

Any treatment program or model project in which a mother is enrolled under sections 3 through 5 of this act shall provide family planning, education, counseling, information, and services other than pregnancy termination. "Family planning services" means the process of limiting or spacing the birth of children. The process may include the provision of acceptable and effective education, counseling, reproductive health care, and testing.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 11. A new section is added to chapter 74.09 RCW to read as follows:

The department shall make available, or cause to be made available, pharmaceutical birth control services, information, and counseling to any person who enters chemical dependency treatment under section 3 or 4 of this act. The department shall pay for any tubal ligations requested under section 2 of this act if the mother's income is less than two hundred percent of the federal poverty level. The department shall report by December 1st of each year to the governor and legislature: (1) The number of tubal ligations performed as a result of chapter . . . , Laws of 1998 (this act); (2) the number of women who decline to undergo the surgery; (3) the number of women who obtain pharmaceutical birth control, by type of birth control; and (4) the number of women who are reported to the department.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 12. The department of social and health services shall study the costs and benefits associated with including mothers of children born affected by alcohol or with fetal alcohol syndrome in the services and responsibilities established in this act. The study shall include a review of appropriate medical and social science research. The department shall report to the governor and legislature by December 1, 1998.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 13. A new section is added to chapter 18.71 RCW to read as follows:

Nothing in section 2 of this act imposes any additional duties or responsibilities on, or removes any duties or responsibilities from, a physician licensed under this chapter, except as specifically included in chapter 13.34 RCW and sections 10 and 11 of this act.

Sec. 14. RCW 13.34.070 and 1993 c 358 § 1 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) Upon the filing of the petition, the clerk of the court shall issue a summons, one directed to the child, if the child is twelve or more years of age, and another to the parents, guardian, or custodian, and such other persons as appear to the court to be proper or necessary parties to the proceedings, requiring them to appear personally before the court at the time fixed to hear the petition. If the child is developmentally disabled and not living at home, the notice shall be given to the child's custodian as well as to the child's parent. The developmentally disabled child shall not be required to appear unless requested by the court. Where the custodian is summoned, the parent or guardian or both shall also be served with a summons. The fact-finding hearing on the petition shall be held no later than seventy-five days after the filing of the petition, unless exceptional reasons for a continuance are found. Execution of an agreement under section 3 and 4 of this act shall constitute exceptional reasons for a continuance. The party requesting the continuance shall have the burden of proving by a preponderance of the evidence that exceptional circumstances do exist. To ensure that the hearing on the petition occurs within the seventy-five day time limit, the court shall schedule and hear the matter on an expedited basis.

(2) A copy of the petition shall be attached to each summons.

(3) The summons shall advise the parties of the right to counsel. The summons shall also inform the child's parent, guardian, or legal custodian of his or her right to appointed counsel, if indigent, and of the procedure to use to secure appointed counsel.

(4) The summons shall advise the parents that they may be held responsible for the support of the child if the child is placed in out-of-home care.

(5) The judge may endorse upon the summons an order directing any parent, guardian, or custodian having the custody or control of the child to bring the child to the hearing.

(6) If it appears from affidavit or sworn statement presented to the judge that there is probable cause for the issuance of a warrant of arrest or that the child needs to be taken into custody pursuant to RCW 13.34.050, the judge may endorse upon the summons an order that an officer serving the summons shall at once take the child into custody and take him to the place of shelter designated by the court.

(7) If the person summoned as provided in this section is subject to an order of the court pursuant to subsection (5) or (6) of this section, and if the person fails to abide by the order, he may be proceeded against as for contempt of court. The order endorsed upon the summons shall conspicuously display the following legend:

NOTICE: VIOLATION OF THIS ORDER IS SUBJECT TO PROCEEDING FOR CONTEMPT OF COURT
PURSUANT TO RCW 13.34.070.

(8) If a party to be served with a summons can be found within the state, the summons shall be served upon the party personally as soon as possible following the filing of the petition, but in no case later than fifteen court days before the fact-finding hearing, or such time as set by the court. If the party is within the state and cannot be personally served, but the party’s address is known or can with reasonable diligence be ascertained, the summons may be served upon the party by mailing a copy thereof by certified mail as soon as possible following the filing of the petition, but in no case later than fifteen court days before the hearing, or such time as set by the court. If a party other than the child is without the state but can be found or the address is known, or can with reasonable diligence be ascertained, service of the summons may be made either by delivering a copy thereof to the party personally or by mailing a copy thereof to the party by certified mail at least ten court days before the fact-finding hearing, or such time as set by the court.

(9) Service of summons may be made under the direction of the court by any person eighteen years of age or older who is not a party to the proceedings or by any law enforcement officer, probation counselor, or department of social and health services social worker.

(10) In any proceeding brought under this chapter where the court knows or has reason to know that the child involved is a member of an Indian tribe, notice of the pendency of the proceeding shall also be sent by registered mail, return receipt requested, to the child’s tribe. If the identity or location of the tribe cannot be determined, such notice shall be transmitted to the secretary of the interior of the United States.

Sec. 15. RCW 13.34.130 and 1997 c 280 § 1 are each amended to read as follows:

If, after a fact-finding hearing pursuant to RCW 13.34.110, it has been proven by a preponderance of the evidence that the child is dependent within the meaning of RCW 13.34.030; after consideration of the predisposition report prepared pursuant to RCW 13.34.110 and after a disposition hearing has been held pursuant to RCW 13.34.110, the court shall enter an order of disposition pursuant to this section.

(1) The court shall order one of the following dispositions of the case:

(a) Order a disposition other than removal of the child from his or her home, which shall provide a program designed to alleviate the immediate danger to the child, to mitigate or cure any damage the child has already suffered, and to aid the parents so that the child will not be endangered in the future. In selecting a program, the court should choose those services that least interfere with family autonomy, provided that the services are adequate to protect the child.

(b) Order that the child be removed from his or her home and ordered into the custody, control, and care of a relative or the department of social and health services or a licensed child placing agency for placement in a foster family home or group care facility licensed pursuant to chapter 74.15 RCW or in a home not required to be licensed pursuant to chapter 74.15 RCW. Unless there is reasonable cause to believe that the safety or welfare of the child would be jeopardized or that efforts to reunite the parent and child will be hindered, such child shall be placed with a person who is related to the child as defined in RCW 74.15.020(4)(a) and with whom the child has a relationship and is comfortable, and who is willing and available to care for the child. Placement of the child with a relative under this subsection shall be given preference by the court. An order for out-of-home placement may be made only if the court finds that reasonable efforts have been made to prevent or eliminate the need for removal of the child from the child’s home and to make it possible for the child to return home, specifying the services that have been provided to the child and the child’s parent, guardian, or legal custodian, and that preventive services have been offered or provided and have failed to prevent the need for out-of-home placement, unless the health, safety, and welfare of the child cannot be protected adequately in the home, and that:

(i) There is no parent or guardian available to care for such child;
(ii) The parent, guardian, or legal custodian is not willing to take custody of the child;
(iii) The court finds, by clear, cogent, and convincing evidence, a manifest danger exists that the child will suffer serious abuse or neglect if the child is not removed from the home and an order under RCW 26.44.063 would not protect the child from danger; or
(iv) The extent of the child’s disability is such that the parent, guardian, or legal custodian is unable to provide the necessary care for the child and the parent, guardian, or legal custodian has determined that the child would benefit from placement outside of the home.

(2) If the court has ordered a child removed from his or her home pursuant to subsection (1)(b) of this section, the court may order that a petition seeking termination of the parent and child relationship be filed if the court finds it is recommended by the supervising agency, that it is in the best interests of the child and that it is not reasonable to provide further services to reunify the family because the existence of aggravated circumstances make it unlikely that services will effectuate the return of the child to the child’s parents in the near future. In determining whether aggravated circumstances exist, the court shall consider one or more of the following:

(a) Conviction of the parent of rape of the child in the first, second, or third degree as defined in RCW 9A.44.073, 9A.44.076, and 9A.44.079;
(b) Conviction of the parent of criminal mistreatment of the child in the first or second degree as defined in RCW 9A.42.020 and 9A.42.030;
(c) Conviction of the parent of one of the following assault crimes, when the child is the victim: Assault in the first or second degree as defined in RCW 9A.36.011 and 9A.36.021 or assault of a child in the first or second degree as defined in RCW 9A.36.120 or 9A.36.130;
(d) Conviction of the parent of murder, manslaughter, or homicide by abuse of the child’s other parent, sibling, or another child;
(e) A finding by a court that a parent is a sexually violent predator as defined in RCW 71.09.020;
(f) Failure of the parent to complete available treatment ordered under this chapter or the equivalent laws of another state, where such failure has resulted in a prior termination of parental rights to another child and the parent has failed to effect significant change in the interim;
(g) The mother has given birth to three or more drug-affected infants, resulting in the department filing a petition under section 6 of this act.

(3) Whenever a child is ordered removed from the child’s home, the agency charged with his or her care shall provide the court with:

(a) A permanency plan of care that shall identify one of the following outcomes as a primary goal and may identify additional outcomes as alternative goals: Return of the child to the home of the child’s parent, guardian, or legal custodian; adoption; guardianship; or long-term relative or foster care, until the child is age eighteen, with a written agreement between the parties and the care provider; and independent living, if appropriate and if the child is age sixteen or older. Whenever a permanency plan identifies independent living as a goal, the plan shall also specifically identify the services that will be provided to assist the child to make a successful transition from foster care to independent living. Before the court approves independent living as a permanency plan of care, the court shall make a finding that the provision of services to assist the child in making a transition from foster care to independent living will allow the child to manage his or her financial affairs and to manage his or her personal, social, educational, and nonfinancial affairs. The department shall not discharge a child to an independent living situation before the child is eighteen years of age unless the child becomes emancipated pursuant to chapter 13.64 RCW.

(b) Unless the court has ordered, pursuant to subsection (2) of this section, that a termination petition be filed, a specific plan as to where the child will be placed, what steps will be taken to return the child home, and what actions the agency will take to maintain parent-child ties. All aspects of the plan shall include the goal of achieving permanence for the child.

(i) The agency plan shall specify what services the parents will be offered in order to enable them to resume custody, what requirements the parents must meet in order to resume custody, and a time limit for each service plan and parental requirement.

(ii) The agency shall be required to encourage the maximum parent-child contact possible, including regular visitation and participation by the parents in the care of the child while the child is in placement. Visitation may be limited or denied only if the court determines that such limitation or denial is necessary to protect the child’s health, safety, or welfare.

(iii) A child shall be placed as close to the child’s home as possible, preferably in the child’s own neighborhood, unless the court finds that placement at a greater distance is necessary to promote the child’s or parents’ well-being.

(iv) The agency charged with supervising a child in placement shall provide all reasonable services that are available within the agency, or within the community, or those services which the department of social and health services has existing contracts to purchase. It shall report to the court if it is unable to provide such services.

(c) If the court has ordered, pursuant to subsection (2) of this section, that a termination petition be filed, a specific plan as to where the child will be placed, what steps will be taken to achieve permanency for the child, services to be offered or provided to the child, and, if visitation would be in the best interests of the child, a recommendation to the court regarding visitation between parent and child pending a fact-finding hearing on the termination petition. The agency shall not be required to develop a plan of services for the parents or provide services to the parents.

(4) If there is insufficient information at the time of the disposition hearing upon which to base a determination regarding the suitability of a proposed placement with a relative, the child shall remain in foster care and the court shall direct the supervising agency to conduct necessary background investigations as provided in chapter 74.15 RCW and report the results of such investigation to the court within thirty days. However, if such relative appears otherwise suitable and competent to provide care and treatment, the criminal history background check need not be completed before placement, but as soon as possible after placement. Any placements with relatives, pursuant to this section, shall be contingent upon cooperation by the relative with the agency case plan and compliance with court orders related to the care and supervision of the child including, but not limited to, court orders regarding parent-child contacts and any other conditions imposed by the court. Noncompliance with the case plan or court order shall be grounds for removal of the child from the relative’s home, subject to review by the court.

(5) Except for children whose cases are reviewed by a citizen review board under chapter 13.70 RCW, the status of all children found to be dependent shall be reviewed by the court at least every six months from the beginning date of the placement episode or the date dependency is established, whichever is first, at a hearing in which it shall be determined whether court supervision should continue. The review shall include findings regarding the agency and parental completion of disposition plan requirements, and if necessary, revised permanency time limits.

(a) A child shall not be returned home at the review hearing unless the court finds that a reason for removal as set forth in this section no longer exists. The parents, guardian, or legal custodian shall report to the court the efforts they have made to correct the conditions which led to removal. If a child is returned, casework supervision shall continue for a period of six months, at which time there shall be a hearing on the need for continued intervention.

(b) If the child is not returned home, the court shall establish in writing:

(i) Whether reasonable services have been provided to or offered to the parties to facilitate reunion, specifying the services provided or offered;

(ii) Whether the child has been placed in the least-restrictive setting appropriate to the child’s needs, including whether consideration and preference has been given to placement with the child’s relatives;

(iii) Whether there is a continuing need for placement and whether the placement is appropriate;

(iv) Whether there has been compliance with the case plan by the child, the child’s parents, and the agency supervising the placement;

(v) Whether progress has been made toward correcting the problems that necessitated the child’s placement in out-of-home care;

(vi) Whether the parents have visited the child and any reasons why visitation has not occurred or has been infrequent;

(vii) Whether additional services are needed to facilitate the return of the child to the child’s parents; if so, the court shall order that reasonable services be offered specifying such services; and

(viii) The projected date by which the child will be returned home or other permanent plan of care will be implemented.
(c) The court at the review hearing may order that a petition seeking termination of the parent and child relationship be filed.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 16. The policy of the state of Washington is to make every effort to detect as early as feasible and to prevent where possible preventable disorders resulting from parental use of alcohol and drugs.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 17. The department of health, in consultation with appropriate medical professionals, shall develop screening criteria for use in identifying pregnant or lactating women addicted to drugs or alcohol who are at risk of producing a drug-affected baby. The department shall also develop training protocols for medical professionals related to the identification and screening of women at risk of producing a drug-affected baby.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 18. The department of health shall investigate the feasibility of medical protocols for laboratory testing or other screening of newborn infants for exposure to alcohol or drugs. The department of health shall consider how to improve the current system with respect to testing, considering such variables as whether such testing is available, its cost, which entity is currently responsible for ordering testing, and whether testing should be mandatory or targeted.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 19. The department of health shall report to the appropriate legislative committees on its findings under sections 17 and 18 of this act by December 1, 1998.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 20. The services to be provided by the plan will include those defined in RCW 74.09.790. The plan shall provide for the coordination of services between the department’s divisions, between other state agencies, and through community based programs. The plan shall further provide recommendations to the legislature for implementing the plan and any alternative methods for addressing the needs of these mothers and their children.

(2) In developing the plan, the department of health shall inventory the community based programs that may be accessed to provide services to these mothers and their children; evaluate implementing services for these mothers through extension of the maternity care access system; and evaluate the fiscal impact of the plan. In performing the fiscal evaluation, the department will calculate potential long-term cost savings to the state resulting from reduce use of the medical, juvenile justice, public assistance, and dependency systems by children and mothers receiving services under the plan.

(3) The department shall submit a report describing the plan to the appropriate committees of the house of representatives and senate by November 1, 1998.

Unless the context clearly requires otherwise, the definitions in this section apply throughout this chapter.

(1) "Collect," or any derivative thereof, "collect and remit," or "collect and deliver," when used with reference to the department of corrections, means that the department is responsible for monitoring and enforcing the offender's sentence with regard to the legal financial obligation, receiving payment thereof from the offender, and, consistent with current law, delivering daily the entire payment to the superior court clerk without depositing it in a departmental account.

(2) "Commission" means the sentencing guidelines commission.

(3) "Community corrections officer" means an employee of the department who is responsible for carrying out specific duties in supervision of sentenced offenders and monitoring of sentence conditions.

(4) "Community custody" means that portion of an inmate's sentence of confinement in lieu of earned early release time or imposed pursuant to RCW 9.94A.120 (6), (8), or (10) served in the community subject to controls placed on the inmate's movement and activities by the department of corrections.

(5) "Community placement" means that period during which the offender is subject to the conditions of community custody and/or postrelease supervision, which begins either upon completion of the term of confinement (postrelease supervision) or at such time as the offender is transferred to community custody in lieu of earned early release. Community placement may consist of entirely community custody, entirely postrelease supervision, or a combination of the two.
"Community service" means compulsory service, without compensation, performed for the benefit of the community by the offender.

"Community supervision" means a period of time during which a convicted offender is subject to crime-related prohibitions and other sentence conditions imposed by a court pursuant to this chapter or RCW 16.52.200(6) or 46.61.524. For first-time offenders, the supervision may include crime-related prohibitions and other conditions imposed pursuant to RCW 9.94A.120(5). For purposes of the interstate compact for out-of-state supervision of parolees and probationers, RCW 9.95.270, community supervision is the functional equivalent of probation and should be considered the same as probation by other states.

"Confinement" means total or partial confinement as defined in this section.

"Conviction" means an adjudication of guilt pursuant to Titles 10 or 13 RCW and includes a verdict of guilty, a finding of guilty, and acceptance of a plea of guilty.

"Court-ordered legal financial obligation" means a sum of money that is ordered by a superior court of the state of Washington for legal financial obligations which may include restitution to the victim, statutorily imposed crime victims' compensation fees as assessed pursuant to RCW 7.68.035, court costs, county or interlocal drug funds, court-appointed attorneys' fees, and costs of defense, fines, and any other financial obligation that is assessed to the offender as a result of a felony conviction. Upon conviction for vehicular assault while under the influence of intoxicating liquor or any drug, RCW 46.61.522(1)(b), or vehicular homicide while under the influence of intoxicating liquor or any drug, RCW 46.61.520(1)(a), legal financial obligations may also include payment to a public agency of the expense of an emergency response to the incident resulting in the conviction, subject to the provisions in RCW 38.52.430.

"Crime-related prohibition" means an order of a court prohibiting conduct that directly relates to the circumstances of the crime for which the offender has been convicted, and shall not be construed to mean orders directing an offender affirmatively to participate in rehabilitative programs or to otherwise perform affirmative conduct. However, affirmative acts necessary to monitor compliance with the order of a court may be required by the department.

"Criminal history" means the list of a defendant's prior convictions and juvenile adjudications, whether in this state, in federal court, or elsewhere. The history shall include, where known, for each conviction (a) whether the defendant has been placed on probation and the length and terms thereof; and (b) whether the defendant has been incarcerated and the length of incarceration.

"Day fine" means a fine imposed by the sentencing judge that equals the difference between the offender's net daily income and the reasonable obligations that the offender has for the support of the offender and any dependents.

"Day reporting" means a program of enhanced supervision designed to monitor the defendant’s daily activities and compliance with sentence conditions, and in which the defendant is required to report daily to a specific location designated by the department or the sentencing judge.

"Determinate sentence" means a sentence that states with exactitude the number of actual years, months, or days of total confinement, of partial confinement, of community supervision, the number of actual hours or days of community service work, or dollars or terms of a legal financial obligation. The fact that an offender through "earned early release" can reduce the actual period of confinement shall not affect the classification of the sentence as a determinate sentence.

"Disposable earnings" means that part of the earnings of an individual remaining after the deduction from those earnings of any amount required by law to be withheld. For the purposes of this definition, "earnings" means compensation paid or payable for personal services, whether denominated as wages, salary, commission, bonuses, or otherwise, and, notwithstanding any other provision of law making the payments exempt from garnishment, attachment, or other process to satisfy a court-ordered legal financial obligation, specifically includes periodic payments pursuant to pension or retirement programs, or insurance policies of any type, but does not include payments made under Title 50 RCW, except as provided in RCW 50.40.020 and 50.40.050, or Title 74 RCW.

NOTE: References in the grid to days or weeks mean periods of confinement.

(1) The vertical axis of the grid is the current offense category. The current offense category is determined by the offense of adjudication.

(2) The horizontal axis of the grid is the number of prior adjudications included in the juvenile’s criminal history. Each prior felony adjudication shall count as one point. Each prior violation, misdemeanor, and gross misdemeanor adjudication shall count as 1/4 point. Fractional points shall be rounded down.

(3) The standard range disposition for each offense is determined by the intersection of the column defined by the prior adjudications and the row defined by the current offense category.

(4) RCW 13.40.180 applies if the offender is being sentenced for more than one offense.

(5) A current offense that is a violation is equivalent to an offense category of E. However, a disposition for a violation shall not include confinement.

ESSB 5347 Prime Sponsor, Senate Committee on Natural Resources & Park: Creating a program for juvenile fishing only waters. Reported by Committee on Natural Resources

MAJORITY recommendation: Do pass as amended.

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

"NEW SECTION.  Sec. 1. The legislature finds that providing young fishers with increased opportunity to fish with recreational gear will provide wholesome activities that will better their lives and instill an appreciation for the state's natural resources. Society as a whole will gain from these positive, youthful experiences, and an important tradition of Northwest life will be perpetuated. Many youthful fishers will be exposed to a natural experience that will teach them self-confidence and respect for the resource, and that will remain with them for the rest of their lives.

NEW SECTION.  Sec. 2. (1) The fish and wildlife commission shall institute a program to identify, establish, and expand fishing opportunities for young anglers.
(2) In instituting this program, the department:
(a) Shall direct the program at young anglers less than eighteen years of age;
(b) May establish specific areas throughout the state where only young anglers are allowed to fish;

ESSB 5527 Prime Sponsor, Senate Committee on Agriculture & Environment: Providing incentives for water-efficient irrigation systems. Reported by Committee on Agriculture & Ecology

MAJORITY recommendation: Do pass as amended.

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

"NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. The legislature finds that significant water savings may be realized through the installation and use of more efficient irrigation systems and techniques. The legislature also finds that positive economic incentives, establishment of necessary legal procedures, and removal of legal barriers are needed to stimulate the development of workable technologies and farming systems that rely on lesser quantities of water.

The purpose of this act is to foster the use of water-efficient irrigation systems by allowing the saved water to be voluntarily transferred by the water right holder to other uses or other places of use. Additionally, the purpose is to establish incentives through enabling self-funded, private capital or public funds to provide improved market-based incentives for adopting water saving technologies and to allow the benefits of the conserved water to be fully realized. It is the intent of this act that sufficient protections be provided to assure that existing water users are not adversely affected by transfers approved under this act.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. The definitions in this section apply throughout this chapter unless the context clearly requires otherwise.
(1) "Contract" means a written legal instrument that provides for the transfer of a portion of a water right from an existing water right holder to another person for consideration.
(2) "Department" means the department of ecology.
(3) "Net water savings" has the same meaning as defined in RCW 90.42.020.
(4) "Person" means a person, corporation, quasi-municipal corporation, municipal corporation, or state agency.
(5) "Reduction in evaporative loss" means the amount of water that is no longer lost to further use as a result of changing from a conventional irrigation system to a water-efficient irrigation system. "Reduction in evaporative loss" includes the reduction in the amount of water consumed through evaporation during the conveyance and/or the application of water to crops and through transpiration by nonproductive plants such as cover crops, but does not include any water that contributed to return flows used to satisfy existing rights.
(6) "Transfer" means a transfer of, change in, or amendment to a surface or ground water right described in RCW 90.03.380 and 90.44.100 or to transfer, change, or amend such a right.

(7) "Trust water right" means a water right transferred to and managed by the department for the benefit of instream flows or for the allocation to new uses as provided in chapter 90.38 or 90.42 RCW.

(8) "Water-efficient irrigation system" means a system, the use of which results in a water savings when compared to the use or loss of water experienced in conveying water and/or applying water to a crop or crops before the installation of the system.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. (1) A person holding a valid water right who installs a water-efficient irrigation system for use under the right may apply to the department for a transfer of the use of the water resulting from the reduction in evaporative loss plus any additional net water savings resulting from the installation. The water use may be transferred:

(a) To other land owned by the person with less senior water rights or that lacks a full and sufficient supply of water or for the irrigation of an additional parcel or parcels of land owned by the person. The application for such a transfer must be processed based upon the same criteria as if the transfer were to be made to another person; or

(b) To another person for use on other land.

In the latter case, the person holding the valid water right may enter into a contract with another person for the transfer of water saved through installation of the water-efficient irrigation system. A contract may allow for a permanent transfer of a portion of the original water right, or for lease agreements with set expiration dates. The applicant shall state that the contract is not permanent in the application if the contract is not permanent. Such a contract shall be filed with the department with or as a supplement to the application and the department shall maintain a record of such a contract with the certificate of water right for the transferred water.

(2) In determining the amount that is transferrable as a result of the installation of a water-efficient irrigation system, the department shall allow the transfer of an amount equal to the reduction in evaporative loss. The reduction in evaporative loss is a readily transferrable component of net water savings.

In addition, the department shall evaluate whether there are additional net water savings that result directly from installation of the water-efficient irrigation system that could be transferred without detriment to other existing water users. The department may not delay because of decisions on the determination of additional net water savings the approval of the transfer of the water that constitutes the reduction in evaporative loss.

(3) The use of water supplied by an irrigation district that is saved through installation of a water-efficient irrigation system as described in this section shall be regulated solely as provided by the board of directors of the irrigation district.

(4) A person wishing to make application for a transfer of a water right under this chapter, whether for surface or ground water, shall comply with RCW 90.03.380. The transferred portion of the water right has the same date of priority as the water right from which it originated, but between them the transferred portion of the right is inferior in priority unless otherwise provided by the parties by contract filed with the department.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4. The department may adopt rules, in accordance with chapter 34.05 RCW, for procedures to be used to facilitate the processing of requests for water right transfers made under this chapter and to establish a streamlined procedure to quantify the reduction in the evaporative loss. The methods used by the department for calculating reductions in evaporative loss, including but not limited to those for determining the exposure of water to evaporative loss using various irrigation systems, and the pan evaporation data to be used shall be the methods and data recommended by the Washington state cooperative extension service.

The rules may establish procedures for the department to make preliminary findings that can be used as an initial basis for developing contracts by applicants.
NEW SECTION. Sec. 5. An applicant shall accompany an application for a water right transfer under this chapter with a fee established in RCW 90.03.470.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 6. In processing applications for transfers of portions of water rights under this chapter, if the department is unable to conclusively determine the validity of the original water right, the department may include a presumption of validity in the certificate of water rights. The presumption must provide to the contract purchaser the same right to the use of water embodied in the original water right.

The presumption of validity may not be used as evidence as to the existence or nonexistence in a water right adjudication conducted under chapter 90.03 RCW.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 7. A holder of a water right may voluntarily enter into a contract with the department. The department may utilize funds that are now or hereafter authorized for the purchase of water savings made available under this chapter. The department shall utilize the same methods of calculating water that is transferrable to another party under this chapter in determining the amount of water that is transferrable to the state. If additional net water saved is available for the benefit of only a stream segment, the calculations may be made on a case-by-case basis while assuring no detriment to existing water users occurs.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 8. This chapter may be known and cited as the agricultural water conservation incentives act.

Sec. 9. RCW 90.03.380 and 1997 c 442 s 801 are each amended to read as follows:

1. The right to the use of water which has been applied to a beneficial use in the state shall be and remain appurtenant to the land or place upon which the same is used: PROVIDED, HOWEVER, that the point of diversion of water for beneficial use or the purpose of use may be changed, if such change can be made without detriment or injury to existing rights. A change in the place of use, point of diversion, and/or purpose of use of a water right to enable irrigation of additional acreage or the addition of new uses may be permitted if such change results in no increase in the annual consumptive quantity of water used under the water right. For purposes of this section, "annual consumptive quantity" means the estimated or actual annual amount of water diverted pursuant to the water right, reduced by the estimated annual amount of return flows, averaged over the most recent five-year period of continuous beneficial use of the water right. Before any transfer of such right to use water or change of the point of diversion of water or change of purpose of use can be made, any person having an interest in the transfer or change, shall file a written application therefor with the department, and the application shall not be granted until notice of the application is published as provided in RCW 90.03.280. If it shall appear that such transfer or such change may be made without injury or detriment to existing rights, the department shall issue to the applicant an authorization to make the change or transfer. When the applicant has completed the change or transfer, the department shall issue to the applicant a certificate in duplicate granting the right for such transfer or for such change of point of diversion or of use. The certificate so issued shall be filed and made a record with the department and the duplicate certificate issued to the applicant may be filed with the county auditor in like manner and with the same effect as provided in the original certificate or permit to divert water.

2. If an application for change proposes to transfer water rights from one irrigation district to another, the department shall, before publication of notice, receive concurrence from each of the irrigation districts that such transfer or change will not adversely affect the ability to deliver water to other landowners or impair the financial integrity of either of the districts.

3. A change in place of use by an individual water user or users of water provided by an irrigation district need only receive approval for the change from the board of directors of the district if the use of water continues within the irrigation district, and when water is provided by an irrigation entity that is a member of a board of joint control created under chapter 87.80 RCW, approval need only be received from the board of joint control if the use of water continues within the area of jurisdiction of the joint board and the change can be made without detriment or injury to existing rights. The board of directors of an irrigation district may approve such a change if the board determines that the change: Will not adversely affect the district’s ability to deliver water to other landowners; will not require the construction by the district of diversion or drainage facilities unless the board finds that the construction by the district is in the interest of the district; will not impair the financial or operational integrity of the district; and is consistent with the contractual obligations of the district.

(4) This section shall not apply to trust water rights acquired by the state through the funding of water conservation projects under chapter 90.38 RCW or RCW 90.42.010 through 90.42.070.

ESSB 6117 Prime Sponsor, Senate Committee on Ways & Means: Creating a salmon license buyback program. Reported by Committee on Natural Resources

MAJORITY recommendation: Do pass as amended.

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

"NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. The legislature finds that recovery plans for salmon stocks listed as threatened or endangered under the federal endangered species act will require large scale restrictions, or complete fishing closures, for the commercial and charter boat fishery. To ensure that Canadian fishers continue to honor current restrictions on intercepting Washington coho and chinook as provided in annexes under the Pacific salmon treaty between the United States and Canada, it is essential that nontribal fishers from Washington reduce their harvest of Fraser river sockeye to below their full allocation as allowed under U.S. v. Washington, 384 F. Supp. 31 (1974). In addition, in order to successfully conclude negotiations on a new Pacific salmon treaty, it is essential to demonstrate the state’s resolve in reducing harvests. This reduction of fishers depends upon federal funding and the implementation of a program to permanently retire a number of commercial salmon fishing licenses in Washington to a level commensurate with proposed harvest reductions.

It is the intent of the legislature to provide a source of funds to compensate commercial fishers and charter boat licensees for the loss of their livelihood by purchasing the commercial salmon fisher’s license or charter boat license. Federal funds appropriated for the purchase of such licenses may only be available to the state of Washington if the state provides a matching share.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. A new section is added to chapter 75.44 RCW to read as follows:
The department, in consultation with representatives of commercial salmon license holders, shall develop a program of license purchase from persons holding a valid license under RCW 75.30.120. The objective of this program is to achieve the greatest license reduction at the lowest cost and in a minimum amount of time. In addition, priority for license purchase shall be based upon participation in and economic dependence on salmon fisheries harvested by commercial fleets from Canada or the United States. The department may purchase charter boat licenses from owners that hold valid charter boat licenses under RCW 75.30.065.

Purchase of the licenses is authorized only under the condition that the license is purchased for a one time price and that the license is permanently canceled and removed from the fishery. The department is not authorized to purchase vessels, fishing gear, or salmon delivery licenses. Charter boat licensees who participate in the license buyback program shall not be eligible to transfer all or a part of angler permits issued under RCW 75.30.070.

The department shall not exceed a state-funded share of twenty-five percent for each license purchased under the buyback program.

Sec. 3. RCW 75.44.140 and 1995 c 269 s 3201 are each amended to read as follows:
The director shall adopt rules for the administration of the program. (To assist the department in the administration of the program, the director may contract with persons not employed by the state and may enlist the aid of other state agencies.)

Sec. 4. RCW 75.44.150 and 1983 1st ex.s. c 46 s 160 are each amended to read as follows:
The director is responsible for the administration and disbursement of all funds((—goods, commodities, and services)) received by the state under the program.

There is created within the state treasury a fund to be known as the "(vessel, gear, license, and permit) salmon commercial fishing license and charter boat reduction fund". This fund shall be used for purchases under (RCW 75.44.110) section 2 of this act and for the administration of the program. This fund shall be credited with federal or other funds received to carry out the purposes of the program ((and the proceeds from the sale or other disposition of property purchased under RCW 75.44.110)).

(1) Merge or consolidate with another water-sewer district; or

(2) Take any action that would establish different contractual obligations, requirements for retiring indebtedness, authority to issue debt in parity with the district’s existing outstanding indebtedness, rates of compensation, or terms of employment contracts, if a city assumes jurisdiction of all or a portion of the district.

SSB 6161 Prime Sponsor, Senate Committee on Agriculture & Environment: Creating a dairy nutrient management program. Reported by Committee on Agriculture & Ecology

MAJORITY recommendation: Do pass as amended.

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

"Sec. 1. RCW 90.64.005 and 1993 c 221 s 1 are each amended to read as follows:

The legislature finds that there is a need to establish a clear and understandable process that provides for the proper and effective management of dairy waste nutrients that affect the quality of surface or ground waters in the state of Washington. The legislature finds that there is a need for a program that will provide a stable and predictable business climate upon which dairy farms may base future investment decisions.

The legislature finds that federal regulations require a permit program for dairies with over seven hundred head of mature cows and, other specified dairy farms that directly discharge into waters or are otherwise significant contributors of pollution. The legislature finds that significant work has been ongoing over a period of time and that the intent of this chapter is to take the consensus that has been developed and place it into statutory form.

It is also the intent of this chapter to establish an inspection and technical assistance program for dairy farms to address the discharge of pollution to surface and ground waters of the state that will lead to water quality compliance by the industry. A further purpose is to create a balanced program involving technical assistance, regulation, and enforcement with coordination and oversight of the program by a committee composed of industry, agency, and other representatives. Furthermore, it is the objective of this chapter to maintain the administration of the water quality program as it relates to dairy operations at the state level.

It is also the intent of this chapter to recognize the existing working relationships between conservation districts, the conservation commission, and the department of ecology in protecting water quality of the state. A further purpose of this chapter is to provide statutory recognition of the coordination of the functions of conservation districts, the conservation commission, and the department of ecology pertaining to development of dairy waste management plans for the protection of water quality.

Sec. 2. RCW 90.64.010 and 1993 c 221 s 2 are each amended to read as follows:

Unless the context clearly requires otherwise, the definitions in this section apply throughout this chapter.

(1) "Advisory and oversight committee" means a balanced committee of agency, dairy farm, and interest group representatives convened to provide oversight and direction to the dairy nutrient management program.

(2) "Bypass" means the intentional diversion of waste streams from any portion of a treatment facility.

(3) "Catastrophic" means a tornado, hurricane, earthquake, flood, or other extreme condition that causes an overflow from a required waste retention structure.

(4) "Certification" means:

(a) The acknowledgment by a local conservation district that a dairy producer has constructed or otherwise put in place the elements necessary to implement his or her dairy nutrient management plan; and

(b) The acknowledgment by a dairy producer that he or she is managing dairy nutrients as specified in his or her approved dairy nutrient management plan.

(5) "Chronic" means a series of wet weather events that precludes the proper operation of a dairy nutrient management system that is designed for the current herd size.

(6) "Conservation commission" or "commission" means the conservation commission under chapter 89.08 RCW.

((44)) (7) "Conservation districts" or "district" means a subdivision of state government organized under chapter 89.08 RCW.

((44)) (8) "Concentrated dairy animal feeding operation" means a dairy animal feeding operation subject to regulation under this chapter which the director designates under RCW 90.64.020 or meets the following criteria:

(a) Has more than seven hundred mature dairy cows, whether milked or dry cows, that are confined; or

(b) Has more than two hundred head of mature dairy cattle, whether milked or dry cows, that are confined and either:

(i) From which pollutants are discharged into navigable waters through a manmade ditch, flushing system, or other similar manmade device; or

(ii) From which pollutants are discharged directly into surface or ground waters of the state that originate outside of and pass over, across, or through the facility or otherwise come into direct contact with the animals confined in the operation.

((44)) (9) "Dairy animal feeding operation" means a lot or facility where the following conditions are met:

(a) Dairy animals that have been, are, or will be stabled or confined and fed for a total of forty-five days or more in any twelve-month period; and

(b) Crops, vegetation forage growth, or postharvest residues are not sustained in the normal growing season over any portion of the lot or facility. Two or more dairy animal feeding operations under common ownership are considered, for the purposes of this chapter, to be a single dairy animal feeding operation if they adjoin each other or if they use a common area for land application of wastes.

((44)) (10) "Dairy farm" means any farm that is licensed to produce milk under chapter 15.36 RCW.
(11) "Dairy nutrient" means any organic waste produced by dairy cows or a dairy farm operation.

(12) "Dairy nutrient management plan" means a plan meeting the requirements established under section 6 of this act.

(13) "Dairy nutrient management technical assistance team" means one or more professional engineers and local conservation district employees convened to serve one of up to four distinct geographic areas in the state.

(14) "Dairy producer" means a person who owns or operates a dairy farm.

(15) "Department" means the department of ecology under chapter 43.21A RCW.

(16) "Director" means the director of the department of ecology, or his or her designee.

(17) "Upset" means an exceptional incident in which there is an unintentional and temporary noncompliance with technology-based permit effluent limitations because of factors beyond the reasonable control of the dairy. An upset does not include noncompliance to the extent caused by operational error, improperly designed treatment facilities, inadequate treatment facilities, lack of preventive maintenance, or careless or improper operation.

(18) "Violation" means the following acts or omissions:

(a) A discharge of pollutants into the waters of the state, except those discharges that occur when:

(i) A dairy producer has a current national pollutant discharge elimination system permit with a wastewater system designed, operated, and maintained for the current herd size and that contains all process-generated wastewater plus average annual precipitation minus evaporation plus contaminated storm water runoff from a twenty-five year, twenty-four hour rainfall event for that specific location, and the discharge is due to a chronic or catastrophic event, or to an upset as provided in 40 C.F.R. Sec. 122.41, or to a bypass as provided in 40 C.F.R. Sec. 122.41; or

(ii) The dairy producer has complied with the national pollutant discharge elimination system permit conditions or all of the elements, including appropriate land application practices, of a dairy nutrient management plan that prevents the discharge of pollutants to waters of the state, that is commensurate with the dairy producer's current herd size, and that is approved under section 6 of this act;

(b) Failure to register as required under section 3 of this act; or

(c) The lack of an approved dairy nutrient management plan by July 1, 2002; or

NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. (1) Every dairy producer licensed under chapter 15.36 RCW shall register with the department by September 1, 1998, and shall reregister with the department by September 1st of every even-numbered year. Every dairy producer licensed after September 1, 1998, shall register with the department within sixty days of licensing. The purpose of registration is to provide and update baseline information for the dairy nutrient management program.

(2) To facilitate registration, the department shall obtain from the food safety and animal health division of the department of agriculture a current list of all licensed dairy producers in the state and mail a registration form to each licensed dairy producer no later than July 15, 1998.

(3) At a minimum, the form shall require the following information as of the date the form is completed:

(a) The name and address of the operator of the dairy farm;

(b) The name and address of the dairy farm;

(c) The telephone number of the dairy farm;

(d) The number of cows in the dairy farm;

(e) The number of young stock in the dairy farm;

(f) The number of acres owned and rented in the dairy farm;

(g) Whether the dairy producer, to the best of his or her knowledge, has a plan for managing dairy nutrient discharges that is commensurate with the size of his or her herd, and whether the plan is being fully implemented; and
(h) If the fields where dairy nutrients are being applied belong to someone other than the dairy producer whose farm operation generated the nutrients, the name, address, and telephone number of the owners of the property accepting the dairy nutrients.

(4) In the mailing to dairy producers containing the registration form, the department shall also provide clear and comprehensive information regarding the requirements of this chapter.

(5) The department shall require the registrant to provide only information that is not already available from other sources accessible to the department, such as dairy licensing information.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4. Before October 1, 1998, the department and conservation commission shall jointly sponsor and hold an educational workshop for conservation districts from around the state. The purpose of the workshop is to inform local conservation districts about the requirements of this chapter, and for local conservation districts, the conservation commission, and the department to clearly understand their respective roles and responsibilities in carrying out these requirements.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 5. (1) By October 1, 1998, the department shall initiate an inspection program of all dairy farms in the state. The purpose of the inspections is to:

(a) Survey for evidence of violations;

(b) Identify corrective actions for actual or imminent discharges that violate or could violate the state’s water quality standards;

(c) Monitor the development and implementation of dairy nutrient management plans; and

(d) Identify dairy producers who would benefit from technical assistance programs.

(2) Local conservation district employees may, at their discretion, accompany department inspectors on any scheduled inspection of dairy farms except random, unannounced inspections.

(3) Follow-up inspections shall be conducted by the department to ensure that corrective and other actions as identified in the course of initial inspections are being carried out. The department shall also conduct such additional inspections as are necessary to ensure compliance with state and federal water quality requirements, provided that all licensed dairy farms shall be inspected once within two years of the start of this program. The department, in consultation with the advisory and oversight committee established in section 8 of this act, shall develop performance-based criteria to determine the frequency of inspections.

(4) Dairy farms shall be prioritized for inspection based on the development of criteria that include, but are not limited to, the following factors:

(a) Existence or implementation of a dairy nutrient management plan;

(b) Proximity to impaired waters of the state; and

(c) Proximity to all other waters of the state. The criteria developed to implement this subsection (4) shall be reviewed by the advisory and oversight committee.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 6. (1) Except for those producers who already have a certified dairy nutrient management plan as required under the terms and conditions of an individual or general national pollutant discharge elimination system permit, all dairy producers licensed under chapter 15.36 RCW, regardless of size, shall prepare a dairy nutrient management plan. If at any time a dairy nutrient management plan fails to prevent the discharge of pollutants to waters of the state, it shall be required to be updated.

(2) By January 1, 1999, the conservation commission, in conjunction with the advisory and oversight committee shall develop a document clearly describing the elements that a dairy nutrient management plan must contain to gain local conservation district approval.

(3) In developing the elements that an approved dairy nutrient management plan must contain, the commission may authorize the use of methods and technologies other than those developed by the natural resources conservation service. Such methods and technologies shall meet the standards and specifications of:

(a) The natural resources conservation service as modified by the geographically based standards developed under section 10 of this act; or
(b) A professional engineer with expertise in the area of dairy nutrient management, if the use of any of the standards developed under this subsection (3) would not cause a violation of water quality standards.

(4) In evaluating alternative technologies and methods, the principal objectives of the committee’s evaluation shall be determining:

(a) Whether there is a substantial likelihood that, once implemented, the alternative technologies and methods would not violate water quality requirements;

(b) Whether more cost-effective methods can be successfully implemented in some or all categories of dairy operations; and

(c) Whether the technologies and methods approved or provided by the natural resources conservation service for use by confined animal feeding operations are necessarily required for other categories of dairy operations.

In addition, the committee shall encourage the conservation commission and the conservation districts to apply in dairy nutrient management plans technologies and methods that are appropriate to the needs of the specific type of operation and the specific farm site and to avoid imposing requirements that are not necessary for the specific dairy producer to achieve compliance with water quality requirements.

(5) Such plans shall be submitted for approval to the local conservation district where the dairy farm is located, and shall be approved by conservation districts no later than by July 1, 2002. The conservation commission, in conjunction with conservation districts, shall develop a state-wide schedule of plan development and approval to ensure adequate resources are available to have all plans approved by July 1, 2002.

(6) If a plan meets the requirements identified in subsection (2) of this section, a conservation district shall approve the plan no later than ninety days after receiving the plan. If the plan does not meet the requirements identified in subsection (2) of this section, the local conservation district shall notify the dairy producer in writing of modifications needed in the plan no later than ninety days after receiving the plan. The dairy producer shall provide a revised plan that includes the needed modifications within ninety days of the date of the local conservation district notification. If the dairy producer does not agree with, or otherwise takes exception to, the modifications requested by the local conservation district, the dairy producer may initiate the appeals process described in section 7 of this act within thirty days of receiving the letter of notification.

(7) An approved plan shall be certified by a conservation district and a dairy producer when the elements necessary to implement the plan have been constructed or otherwise put in place, and are being used as designed and intended. A certification form shall be developed by the conservation commission for use state-wide and shall provide for a signature by both a conservation district representative and a dairy producer. Certification forms shall be signed by December 31, 2003, and a copy provided to the department for recording in the data base established in section 9 of this act.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 7. (1) Conservation district decisions pertaining to denial of approval or denial of certification of a dairy nutrient management plan; modification or amendment of a plan; conditions contained in a plan; application of any dairy nutrient management practices, standards, methods, and technologies to a particular dairy farm; and the failure to adhere to plan review and approval timelines identified in section 6 of this act are appealable under this chapter. Department actions pertaining to water quality violations are appealable under chapter 90.48 RCW.

In addition, a dairy producer who is constrained from complying with the planning requirements of this chapter because of financial hardship or local permitting delays may request a hearing before the conservation commission and may request an extension of up to one year beyond the approval and certification dates prescribed in this chapter for plan approval and certification.

(2) Within thirty days of receiving a local conservation district notification regarding any of the decisions identified in subsection (1) of this section, a dairy producer who disagrees with any of these decisions may request an informal hearing before the conservation commission or may appeal directly to the pollution control hearings board. The commission shall issue a written decision no later than thirty days after the informal hearing.
If the conservation commission upholds the decision of the local conservation district at the informal hearing, the decision of the local conservation district may be appealed to the pollution control hearings board according to the procedure in chapter 43.21B RCW within thirty days of receipt of the commission’s decision.

When an appeals process is initiated under this section, the length of time extending from the start of the appeals process to its conclusion shall be added onto the timelines provided in this chapter for plan development, approval, and certification only if an appeal is heard by the pollution control hearings board.

NEW SECTION.  Sec. 8.  (1) A dairy nutrient management program advisory and oversight committee is established. The committee shall be cochaired by the executive director of the conservation commission and a dairy industry representative. The purpose of the committee is to provide direction to and oversight of the dairy nutrient management inspection program, as well as to encourage the use of appropriate alternative technologies and methods for managing dairy nutrients.

(2) The committee shall include no less than eleven, and no more than thirteen members, including one representative from the department, one representative of the dairy industry from each of up to four geographic areas as referenced in section 10 of this act, one representative from the conservation commission, two representatives from local conservation districts, one representative from a local health department, one representative of an environmental organization, and one representative from the shellfish industry. In addition, the natural resources conservation service and the federal environmental protection agency shall each be invited to appoint a representative to the committee.

(3) The conservation commission shall contact agencies and organizations representing the interests identified in subsection (2) of this section and request that they notify their employees and membership of the opportunity to serve on the advisory and oversight committee. The commission shall also extend invitations to the two persons representing the natural resources conservation service and the federal environmental protection agency. An association representing the dairy industry shall solicit interest broadly from both within and outside of the association. Persons interested in serving on the advisory and oversight committee shall submit their names to the conservation commission no later than May 1, 1998. By June 1, 1998, the commission shall appoint the required number of members from the nominations received.

(4) Commission members shall be compensated according to the provisions for part-time boards established in RCW 43.03.250.

(5) The committee shall perform the following functions:
   (a) Meet at least four times per calendar year;
   (b) Maintain meeting minutes and account for the resolution of issues jointly identified by the committee chairs as needing to be addressed;
   (c) Review the development of the data base, the quarterly data base summary, and the annual report provided by the department under section 9 of this act and RCW 90.64.050;
   (d) Act as a forum to hear suggestions from any interested parties, including dairy farmers, regarding implementation of the dairy nutrient management program;
   (e) Review and recommend standardized dairy farm inspection procedures, prioritization criteria, and frequencies and a reporting format to be used by the department;
   (f) Assist the department and the conservation commission in developing reports to the legislature as required in section 18 of this act; and
   (g) Review and recommend dairy nutrient management technologies and methods other than those approved or provided by the natural resources conservation service for use as components of nutrient management plans under this chapter.

NEW SECTION.  Sec. 9.  (1) By October 1, 1998, the department, in consultation with the advisory and oversight committee, shall develop and maintain a data base to account for the implementation of this chapter.

(2) The data base shall track registrations; inspection dates and results, including findings of violations; regulatory and enforcement actions; and the status of dairy nutrient management plans. In addition, the number of dairy farm inspections by inspector shall be tallied by month. A summary of data base information shall be provided quarterly to the advisory and oversight committee.

(3) Any information entered into the data base by the department about any aspect of a particular dairy operation may be reviewed by the affected dairy producer upon request. The department shall correct any information in the data base upon a showing that the information is faulty or inaccurate. Complaints that have been filed with the department and determined to be unfounded, invalid, or without merit shall not be recorded in the data base. Appeals of decisions related to dairy nutrient management plans to the pollution control hearings board or to any court shall be recorded, as well as the decisions of those bodies.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 10. (1) The conservation commission shall establish up to four dairy nutrient management technical assistance teams by June 1, 1998. The teams shall be geographically located throughout the state. Each team shall consist of one or more professional engineers, local conservation district employees, and dairy nutrient management experts from the Washington State University cooperative extension. The purpose of the teams is to:

(a) Actively develop and promote new cost-effective approaches for managing dairy nutrients; and

(b) Assist dairy farms in developing dairy nutrient management plans.

The ability of dairy producers to comply with the planning requirements of this chapter is acknowledged, in many cases, to depend upon the availability of federal and state funding to support technical assistance provided by local conservation districts. Dairy producers shall not be held responsible for noncompliance with the planning requirements of this chapter if conservation districts are unable to perform their duties under this chapter because of insufficient funding.

(2) By November 1, 1998, each team shall develop one or more initial sets of standards and specifications to assist dairy producers in developing and implementing dairy nutrient management plans. Standards and specifications developed by a technical assistance team shall be appropriate to the soils and other conditions within that geographic area and shall be reviewed by the advisory and oversight committee.

Sec. 11. RCW 90.64.030 and 1993 c 221 s 4 are each amended to read as follows:

((Upon receiving a complaint or upon its own determination that a dairy animal feeding operation is a likely source of water quality degradation,)) (1) Under the inspection program established in section 5 of this act, the department may investigate a dairy (animal feeding operation) farm to determine whether the operation is discharging (directly) pollutants or (recently) has discharged directly) a record of discharging pollutants into surface or ground waters of the state. Upon concluding an investigation, the department shall make a written report of its findings, including the results of any water quality measurements, photographs, or other pertinent information, and provide a copy of the report to the dairy producer within twenty days of the investigation.

(2) The department shall investigate a written complaint filed with the department within (ten) three working days and shall make a written report of its findings including the results of any water quality measurements, photographs, or other pertinent information. A copy of the findings shall be provided (upon request) to the dairy (animal feeding operation) producer subject to the complaint within twenty days. Only findings of violations shall be entered into the data base identified in section 9 of this act.

((Those dairy animal feeding operations that are)) (3) A dairy farm that is determined to be a significant contributor of pollution based on actual water quality tests, photographs, or other pertinent information (if immediate corrective actions are not possible, shall be designated as a concentrated dairy animal feeding operation and shall be)) is subject to the provisions of this chapter and to the enforcement provisions of chapters 43.05 and 90.48 RCW, including civil penalties levied under RCW 90.48.144.

(4) For a violation of water quality laws that is a first offense for a dairy producer, the penalty may be waived to allow the producer to come into compliance with water quality laws. The department shall record all legitimate violations and subsequent enforcement actions.
(5) A discharge, including a storm water discharge, to surface waters of the state shall not be considered a violation of this chapter, chapter 90.48 RCW, or chapter 173-201A WAC, and shall therefore not be enforceable by the department of ecology or a third party, if at the time of the discharge, the conditions in RCW 90.64.010(18) are met. In addition, a dairy producer shall not be held liable for violations of this chapter, chapter 90.48 RCW, chapter 173-201A WAC, or the federal clean water act due to the discharge of dairy nutrients to waters of the state resulting from spreading these materials on lands other than where the nutrients were generated, when the nutrients are spread by persons other than the dairy producer or the dairy producer’s agent.

(6) Agricultural activities associated with the management of dairy nutrients are presumed to be reasonable and shall not be found to constitute a nuisance unless the activity has a substantial adverse effect on public health and safety.

(7) This section specifically acknowledges that if a holder of a general or individual national pollutant discharge elimination system permit complies with the permit and the dairy nutrient management plan conditions for appropriate land application practices, the permit provides compliance with the federal clean water act and acts as a shield against citizen or agency enforcement for any additions of pollutants to waters of the state or of the United States as authorized by the permit.

(8) A dairy producer who fails to have an approved dairy nutrient management plan by July 1, 2002, or a certified dairy nutrient management plan by December 31, 2003, and for which no appeals have been filed with the pollution control hearings board, is in violation of this chapter. Each month beyond these deadlines that a dairy producer is out of compliance with the requirement for either plan approval or plan certification shall be considered separate violations of chapter 90.64 RCW that may be subject to penalties. Such penalties may not exceed one hundred dollars per month for each violation up to a combined total of five thousand dollars. Failure to register as required in section 3 of this act shall subject a dairy producer to a maximum penalty of one hundred dollars. Penalties shall be levied by the department upon request of the conservation commission.

Sec. 12. RCW 90.64.050 and 1993 c 221 s 6 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) The department has the following duties:
(a) Identify existing or potential water quality problems resulting from dairy farms through implementation of the inspection program in section 5 of this act;
(b) Inspect a dairy farm upon the request of a dairy producer;
(c) Receive, process, and verify complaints concerning discharge of pollutants from all dairy farms (regardless of size);
(d) Determine if a dairy-related water quality problem requires immediate corrective action under the Washington state water pollution control laws, chapter 90.48 RCW, or the Washington state water quality standards adopted under chapter 90.48 RCW (or other authorities). The department shall maintain the lead enforcement responsibility:
(e) Administer and enforce national pollutant discharge elimination system permits for operators of concentrated dairy animal feeding operations, where required by federal regulations and state laws or upon request of a dairy producer;
(f) Appoint representatives, including dairy industry representatives, to participate in the compliance review committee that will annually review and update policy and disseminate information as needed;
(g) Participate on the advisory and oversight committee;
(h) Encourage communication and cooperation between local department personnel and the appropriate conservation district personnel;
(i) Require the use of federal soil conservation service standards and specifications in designing best management practices for dairy waste nutrient management plans (to protect water quality) as required in sections 6, 8, and 10 of this act for entities required to plan under this chapter; and
(j) Provide to the commission and the advisory and oversight committee an annual report of dairy waste nutrient management planning, inspection, and enforcement activities.
(2) The department may not delegate its responsibilities in enforcement.
Sec. 13. RCW 90.64.060 and 1993 c 221 s 7 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) If the department determines that the operator of a dairy animal feeding operation has the means to correct a water quality problem in a manner that will prevent future contamination and does so promptly and such correction is maintained, the department shall cease pursuit of the complaint.

(2) If the department determines that an unresolved water quality problem from a dairy farm requires immediate corrective action, the department shall notify the producer and the district in which the problem is located. When corrective actions are required to address such unresolved water quality problems, the department shall provide copies of all final dairy farm inspection reports and documentation of all formal regulatory and enforcement actions taken by the department against that particular dairy farm to the local conservation district and to the appropriate dairy farm within twenty days.

(3) If immediate action is not necessary by the department, the handling of complaints will differ depending on the amount of information available and the compliance option selected by the conservation district involved.

(a) When the name and address of the party against whom the complaint was registered are known:

(i) Districts operating at levels 1 and 2 will receive a copy of complaint information, and compliance letter if one was sent out.

(ii) Districts operating at levels 3 and 4 will receive a copy of complaint information and the letter sent by the department to the operator informing the operator of the complaint and providing the operator with the opportunity to work with the conservation district on a voluntary basis.

(b) The department and the conservation district will work together at the local level to resolve complaints when the name and address of the party against whom the complaint was registered are unknown.

Sec. 14. RCW 90.64.070 and 1993 c 221 s 8 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) The conservation district has the following duties:

(a) (Adopt and annually update the water quality section in the conservation district dairy waste management plan) Provide technical assistance to the department in identifying and correcting existing water quality problems resulting from dairy farms through implementation of the inspection program in section 5 of this act;

(b) (As part of the district annual report, include a water quality progress report on dairy waste management activities conducted that are related to this chapter) Immediately refer complaints received from the public regarding discharge of pollutants to the department;

(c) Encourage communication and cooperation between the conservation district personnel and local department personnel;

(d) (Adopt and carry out a compliance option from level 1, level 2, level 3, or level 4) Provide technical assistance to dairy producers in developing and implementing a dairy nutrient management plan; and

(e) Review, approve, and certify dairy nutrient management plans that meet the minimum standards developed under this chapter.

(2) The district’s capability to carry out its responsibilities (in the four levels of compliance) under this chapter is contingent upon the availability of funding and resources to implement a dairy waste nutrient management program.

Sec. 15. RCW 90.64.080 and 1993 c 221 s 9 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) The conservation commission has the following duties:

(a) (Forward to the department the dairy waste management plan progress reports;

(b) Provide assistance as may be appropriate to the conservation districts in the discharge of their responsibilities as management agencies in dairy nutrient management program implementation;

(c)) (b) Provide coordination for conservation district programs at the state level through special arrangements with appropriate federal and state agencies, including oversight of the review, approval, and certification of dairy nutrient management plans;
((d))) (c) Inform conservation districts of activities and experiences of other conservation districts relative to agricultural water quality protection, and facilitate an interchange of advice, experience, and cooperation between the districts;

(d) Provide an informal hearing for disputes between dairy producers and local conservation districts pertaining to: (i) Denial of approval or denial of certification of dairy nutrient management plans; (ii) modification or amendment of plans; (iii) conditions contained in plans; (iv) application of any dairy nutrient management practices, standards, methods, and technologies to a particular dairy farm; and (v) the failure to adhere to the plan review and approval timelines identified in section 6 of this act. An informal hearing may also provide an opportunity for dairy producers who are constrained from timely compliance with the planning requirements of this chapter because of financial hardship or local permitting delays to petition for additional time to comply.

(e) Encourage communication between the conservation district personnel and local department personnel;

(f) Accept nominations and appoint (conservation district representatives) members to serve on the advisory and oversight committee with advice of the Washington association of conservation districts and the department;

(g) Appoint a commission representative to participate on the compliance review committee that will annually review and update policy and disseminate information as needed) Provide a cochair to the advisory and oversight committee;

(h) Report to the legislature by December 1st of each year until 2003 on the technical assistance provided to dairy producers in carrying out the requirements of this chapter; and

(i) Work with the department to provide communication outreach to representatives of agricultural and environmental organizations to receive feedback on implementation of this chapter.

(2) The commission’s capability to carry out its responsibilities under this chapter is contingent upon the availability of funding and resources to implement a dairy nutrient management program.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 16. The dairy waste management account is created in the custody of the state treasurer. All receipts from monetary penalties levied pursuant to violations of this chapter must be deposited into the account. Expenditures from the account may be used only for the commission to provide grants to local conservation districts for the sole purpose of assisting dairy producers to develop and fully implement dairy nutrient management plans. Only the chairman of the commission or the chairman’s designee may authorize expenditures from the account. The account is subject to allotment procedures under chapter 43.88 RCW, but an appropriation is not required for expenditures.

Sec. 17. RCW 90.48.465 and 1997 c 398 s 2 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) The department shall establish annual fees to collect expenses for issuing and administering each class of permits under RCW 90.48.160, 90.48.162, and 90.48.260. An initial fee schedule shall be established by rule within one year of March 1, 1989, and thereafter the fee schedule shall be adjusted no more often than once every two years. This fee schedule shall apply to all permits, regardless of date of issuance, and fees shall be assessed prospectively. All fees charged shall be based on factors relating to the complexity of permit issuance and compliance and may be based on pollutant loading and toxicity and be designed to encourage recycling and the reduction of the quantity of pollutants. Fees shall be established in amounts to fully recover and not to exceed expenses incurred by the department in processing permit applications and modifications, monitoring and evaluating compliance with permits, conducting inspections, securing laboratory analysis of samples taken during inspections, reviewing plans and documents directly related to operations of permittees, overseeing performance of delegated pretreatment programs, and supporting the overhead expenses that are directly related to these activities.

(2) The annual fee paid by a municipality, as defined in 33 U.S.C. Sec. 1362, for all domestic wastewater facility permits issued under RCW 90.48.162 and 90.48.260 shall not exceed the total of a maximum of fifteen cents per month per residence or residential equivalent contributing to the municipality’s wastewater system. The department shall adopt by rule a schedule of credits for any municipality engaging in a comprehensive monitoring program beyond the requirements imposed by the department, with the credits available for five years from March 1, 1989, and with the total amount of all credits not to exceed fifty thousand dollars in the five-year period.

(3) The department shall ensure that indirect dischargers do not pay twice for the administrative expense of a permit. Accordingly, administrative expenses for permits issued by a municipality under RCW 90.48.165 are not recoverable by the department.

(4) In establishing fees, the department shall consider the economic impact of fees on small dischargers and the economic impact of fees on public entities required to obtain permits for storm water runoff and shall provide appropriate adjustments.

(5) The fee for an individual permit issued for a dairy farm as defined under chapter 90.64 RCW shall be capped at fifty cents per animal unit covered by the permit up to two thousand three hundred thirty-four animal units for fiscal year 1998, and two thousand four hundred twenty-eight animal units for fiscal year 1999. The fee for a general permit issued for a dairy farm as defined under chapter 90.64 RCW shall be capped at fifty cents per animal unit covered by the permit up to one thousand six hundred thirty-four animal units for fiscal year 1998, and one thousand seven hundred animal units for fiscal year 1999. For animal units in excess of these numbers, the fees shall be as prescribed in WAC 173-224-040.

(6) All fees collected under this section shall be deposited in the water quality permit account hereby created in the state treasury. Moneys in the account may be appropriated only for purposes of administering permits under RCW 90.48.160, 90.48.162, and 90.48.260.

(7) Beginning with the biennium ending June 30, 1997, the department shall present a biennial progress report on the use of moneys from the account to the legislature. The report will be due December 31st of odd-numbered years. The report shall consist of information on fees collected, actual expenses incurred, and anticipated expenses for the current and following fiscal years.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 18. The department, in conjunction with the conservation commission and advisory and oversight committee, shall report to the legislature by December 1st of each year until 2002, on progress made in implementing chapter . . . , Laws of 1998 (this act). At a minimum, the reports shall include data on inspections, the status of dairy nutrient planning, compliance with water quality standards, and enforcement actions. The report shall also provide recommendations on how implementation of chapter . . . , Laws of 1998 (this act) could be facilitated for dairy producers and generally improved.

Sec. 19. RCW 43.21B.110 and 1993 c 387 s 22 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) The hearings board shall only have jurisdiction to hear and decide appeals from the following decisions of the department, the director, local conservation districts, the administrator of the office of marine safety, and the air pollution control boards or authorities as established pursuant to chapter 70.94 RCW, or local health departments:

(5) An offender punishable under this section is subject to the alcohol assessment and treatment provisions of RCW 46.61.5056.

(6) After expiration of any period of suspension or revocation of the offender’s license, permit, or privilege to drive required by this section, the department shall place the offender’s driving privilege in probationary status pursuant to RCW 46.20.355.

(7)(a) In addition to any nonsuspendable and nondeferrable jail sentence required by this section, whenever the court imposes less than one year in jail, the court shall also suspend but shall not defer a period of confinement for a period not exceeding two years. The court shall impose conditions of probation that include: (i) Not driving a motor vehicle within this state without a valid license to drive and proof of financial responsibility for the future; (ii) not driving a motor vehicle within this state while having an alcohol concentration of 0.08 or more within two hours after driving; and (iii) not refusing to submit to a test of his or her breath or blood to determine alcohol concentration upon request of a law enforcement officer who has reasonable grounds to believe the person was driving or was in actual physical control of a motor vehicle within this state while under the influence of intoxicating liquor. The court may impose conditions of probation that include nonrepetition, installation of an ignition interlock or other biological or technical device on the probationer’s motor vehicle, alcohol or drug treatment, supervised probation, or other conditions that may be appropriate. The sentence may be imposed in whole or in part upon violation of a condition of probation during the suspension period.

(b) For each violation of mandatory conditions of probation under (a)(i) and (ii) or (a)(i) and (iii) of this subsection, the court shall order the convicted person to be confined for thirty days, which shall not be suspended or deferred.

(c) For each incident involving a violation of a mandatory condition of probation imposed under this subsection, the license, permit, or privilege to drive of the person shall be suspended by the court for thirty days or, if such license, permit, or privilege to drive already is suspended, revoked, or denied at the time the finding of probation violation is made, the suspension, revocation, or denial then in effect shall be extended by thirty days. The court shall notify the department of any suspension, revocation, or denial or any extension of a suspension, revocation, or denial imposed under this subsection.

(2) For persons convicted of the anticipatory offenses of criminal attempt, solicitation, or conspiracy under chapter 9A.28 RCW, the presumptive sentence is determined by locating the sentencing grid sentence range defined by the appropriate offender score and the seriousness level of the completed crime, and multiplying the range by 75 percent.

(3) The following additional times shall be added to the presumptive sentence for felony crimes committed after July 23, 1995, if the offender or an accomplice was armed with a firearm as defined in RCW 9.41.010 and the offender is being sentenced for one of the crimes listed in this subsection as eligible for any firearm enhancements based on the classification of the completed felony crime. If the offender or an accomplice was armed with a firearm as defined in RCW 9.41.010 and the offender is being sentenced for an anticipatory offense under chapter 9A.28 RCW to commit one of the crimes listed in this subsection as eligible for any firearm enhancements, the following additional times shall be added to the presumptive sentence determined under subsection (2) of this section based on the felony crime of conviction as classified under RCW 9A.28.020:

(a) Five years for any felony defined under any law as a class A felony or with a maximum sentence of at least twenty years, or both, and not covered under (f) of this subsection.

(b) Three years for any felony defined under any law as a class B felony or with a maximum sentence of ten years, or both, and not covered under (f) of this subsection.

(c) Eighteen months for any felony defined under any law as a class C felony or with a maximum sentence of five years, or both, and not covered under (f) of this subsection.

(d) If the offender is being sentenced for any firearm enhancements under (a), (b), and/or (c) of this subsection and the offender has previously been sentenced for any deadly weapon enhancements after July 23, 1995, under (a), (b), and/or (c) of this subsection or subsection (4)(a), (b), and/or (c) of this section, or both, any and all firearm enhancements under this subsection shall be twice the amount of the enhancement listed.

(e) Notwithstanding any other provision of law, any and all firearm enhancements under this section are mandatory, shall be served in total confinement, and shall not run concurrently with any other sentencing provisions.

(f) The firearm enhancements in this section shall apply to all felony crimes except the following: Possession of a machine gun, possessing a stolen firearm, drive-by shooting, theft of a firearm, unlawful possession of a firearm in the first and second degree, and use of a machine gun in a felony.

(g) If the presumptive sentence under this section exceeds the statutory maximum for the offense, the statutory maximum sentence shall be the presumptive sentence unless the offender is a persistent offender as defined in RCW 9.94A.030.

(4) The following additional times shall be added to the presumptive sentence for felony crimes committed after July 23, 1995, if the offender or an accomplice was armed with a deadly weapon as defined in this chapter other than a firearm as defined in RCW 9.41.010 and the offender is being sentenced for one of the crimes listed in this subsection as eligible for any deadly weapon enhancements based on the classification of the completed felony crime. If the offender or an accomplice was armed with a deadly weapon other than a firearm as defined in RCW 9.41.010 and the offender is being sentenced for an anticipatory offense under chapter 9A.28 RCW to commit one of the crimes listed in this subsection as eligible for any deadly weapon enhancements, the following additional times shall be added to the presumptive sentence determined under subsection (2) of this section based on the felony crime of conviction as classified under RCW 9A.28.020:

(a) Two years for any felony defined under any law as a class A felony or with a maximum sentence of at least twenty years, or both, and not covered under (f) of this subsection.

(b) One year for any felony defined under any law as a class B felony or with a maximum sentence of ten years, or both, and not covered under (f) of this subsection.

(c) Six months for any felony defined under any law as a class C felony or with a maximum sentence of five years, or both, and not covered under (f) of this subsection.

(d) If the offender is being sentenced under (a), (b), and/or (c) of this subsection for any deadly weapon enhancements and the offender has previously been sentenced for any deadly weapon enhancements after July 23, 1995, under (a), (b), and/or (c) of this subsection or subsection (3)(a), (b), and/or (c) of this section, or both, any and all deadly weapon enhancements under this subsection shall be twice the amount of the enhancement listed.

(e) Notwithstanding any other provision of law, any and all deadly weapon enhancements under this section are mandatory, shall be served in total confinement, and shall not run concurrently with any other sentencing provisions.

(f) The deadly weapon enhancements in this section shall apply to all felony crimes except the following: Possession of a machine gun, possessing a stolen firearm, drive-by shooting, theft of a firearm, unlawful possession of a firearm in the first and second degree, and use of a machine gun in a felony.

(5) The following additional times shall be added to the presumptive sentence if the offender or an accomplice committed the offense while in a county jail or state correctional facility as that term is defined in this chapter and the offender is being sentenced for one of the crimes listed in this subsection. If the offender or an accomplice committed one of the crimes listed in this subsection while in a county jail or state correctional facility as that term is defined in this chapter, and the offender is being sentenced for an anticipatory offense under chapter 9A.28 RCW to commit one of the crimes listed in this subsection, the following additional times shall be added to the presumptive sentence determined under subsection (2) of this section:

(a) Eighteen months for offenses committed under RCW 69.50.401(a)(1) (i) or (ii) or 69.50.410;
(b) Fifteen months for offenses committed under RCW 69.50.401(a)(1) (iii), (iv), and (v);
(c) Twelve months for offenses committed under RCW 69.50.401(d).

For the purposes of this subsection, all of the real property of a state correctional facility or county jail shall be deemed to be part of that facility or county jail.

(6) An additional twenty-four months shall be added to the presumptive sentence for any ranked offense involving a violation of chapter 69.50 RCW if the offense was also a violation of RCW 69.50.435.

(7) An additional two years shall be added to the presumptive sentence for vehicular homicide committed while under the influence of intoxicating liquor or any drug as defined by RCW 46.61.502 for each prior offense as defined in RCW 46.61.5055.

Sec. 4. RCW 9.94A.360 and 1997 c 338 s 5 are each amended to read as follows:

The offender score is measured on the horizontal axis of the sentencing grid. The offender score rules are as follows:

The offender score is the sum of points accrued under this section rounded down to the nearest whole number.

(1) A prior conviction is a conviction which exists before the date of sentencing for the offense for which the offender score is being computed. Convictions entered or sentenced on the same date as the conviction for which the offender score is being computed shall be deemed “other current offenses” within the meaning of RCW 9.94A.400.

(2) Class A and sex prior felony convictions shall always be included in the offender score. Class B prior felony convictions other than sex offenses shall not be included in the offender score, if since the last date of release from confinement (including full-time residential treatment) pursuant to a felony conviction, if any, or entry of judgment and sentence, the offender had spent ten consecutive years in the community without committing any crime that subsequently results in a conviction. Class C prior felony convictions other than sex offenses shall not be included in the offender score if, since the last date of release from confinement (including full-time residential treatment) pursuant to a felony conviction, if any, or entry of judgment and sentence, the offender had spent five consecutive years in the community without committing any crime that subsequently results in a conviction. Serious traffic convictions shall not be included in the offender score if, since the last date of release from confinement (including full-time residential treatment) pursuant to a felony conviction, if any, or entry of judgment and sentence, the offender spent five years in the community without committing any crime that subsequently results in a conviction. This subsection applies to both adult and juvenile prior convictions.

(3) Out-of-state convictions for offenses shall be classified according to the comparable offense definitions and sentences provided by Washington law. Federal convictions for offenses shall be classified according to the comparable offense definitions and sentences provided by Washington law. If there is no clearly comparable offense under Washington law or the offense is one that is usually considered subject to exclusive federal jurisdiction, the offense shall be scored as a class C felony equivalent if it was a felony under the relevant federal statute.

(4) Score prior convictions for felony anticipatory offenses (attempts, criminal solicitations, and criminal conspiracies) the same as if they were convictions for completed offenses.

(5)(a) In the case of multiple prior convictions, for the purpose of computing the offender score, count all convictions separately, except:

(i) Prior offenses which were found, under RCW 9.94A.400(1)(a), to encompass the same criminal conduct, shall be counted as one offense, the offense that yields the highest offender score. The current sentencing court shall determine with respect to other prior adult offenses for which sentences were served concurrently or prior juvenile offenses for which sentences were served consecutively, whether those offenses shall be counted as one offense or as separate offenses using the "same criminal conduct" analysis found in RCW 9.94A.400(1)(a), and if the court finds that they shall be counted as one offense, then the offense that yields the highest offender score shall be used. The current sentencing court may presume that such other prior offenses were not the same criminal conduct from sentences imposed on separate dates, or in separate counties or jurisdictions, or in separate complaints, indictments, or informations;

(ii) In the case of multiple prior convictions for offenses committed before July 1, 1986, for the purpose of computing the offender score, count all adult convictions served concurrently as one offense, and count all juvenile convictions entered on the same date as one offense. Use the conviction for the offense that yields the highest offender score.

(b) As used in this subsection (5), "served concurrently" means that: (i) The latter sentence was imposed with specific reference to the former; (ii) the concurrent relationship of the sentences was judicially imposed; and (iii) the concurrent timing of the sentences was not the result of a probation or parole revocation on the former offense.

(6) If the present conviction is one of the anticipatory offenses of criminal attempt, solicitation, or conspiracy, count each prior conviction as if the present conviction were for a completed offense.

(7) If the present conviction is for a nonviolent offense and not covered by subsection (11) or (12) of this section, count one point for each adult prior felony conviction and one point for each juvenile prior violent felony conviction and 1/2 point for each juvenile prior nonviolent felony conviction.

(8) If the present conviction is for a violent offense and not covered in subsection (9), (10), (11), or (12) of this section, count two points for each prior adult and juvenile violent felony conviction, one point for each prior adult nonviolent felony conviction, and 1/2 point for each prior juvenile nonviolent felony conviction.

(9) If the present conviction is for Murder 1 or 2, Assault 1, Assault of a Child 1, Kidnapping 1, Homicide by Abuse, or Rape 1, count three points for prior adult and juvenile convictions for crimes in these categories, two points for each prior adult and juvenile violent conviction (not already counted), one point for each prior adult nonviolent felony conviction, and 1/2 point for each prior juvenile nonviolent felony conviction.

(10) If the present conviction is for Burglary 1, count prior convictions as in subsection (8) of this section; however count two points for each prior adult Burglary 2 or residential burglary conviction, and one point for each prior juvenile Burglary 2 or residential burglary conviction.

(11) If the present conviction is for a felony traffic offense count two points for each adult or juvenile prior conviction for Vehicular Homicide or Vehicular Assault; for each felony offense or serious traffic offense, count one point for each adult and 1/2 point for each juvenile prior conviction. This subsection shall not apply when additional time is added to a sentence pursuant to RCW 46.61.520(2).

(12) If the present conviction is for a drug offense count three points for each adult prior felony drug offense conviction and two points for each juvenile drug offense. All other adult and juvenile felonies are scored as in subsection (8) of this section if the current drug offense is violent, or as in subsection (7) of this section if the current drug offense is nonviolent.

(13) If the present conviction is for Willful Failure to Return from Furlough, RCW 72.66.060, Willful Failure to Return from Work Release, RCW 72.65.070, or Escape from Community Custody, RCW 72.09.310, count only prior escape convictions in the offender score. Count adult prior escape convictions as one point and juvenile prior escape convictions as 1/2 point.

(14) If the present conviction is for Escape 1, RCW 9A.76.110, or Escape 2, RCW 9A.76.120, count adult prior convictions as one point and juvenile prior convictions as 1/2 point.

(15) If the present conviction is for Burglary 2 or residential burglary, count priors as in subsection (7) of this section; however, count two points for each adult and juvenile prior Burglary 1 conviction, two points for each adult prior Burglary 2 or residential burglary conviction, and one point for each juvenile prior Burglary 2 or residential burglary conviction.

(16) If the present conviction is for a sex offense, count priors as in subsections (7) through (15) of this section; however count three points for each adult and juvenile prior sex offense conviction.

(17) If the present conviction is for an offense committed while the offender was under community placement, add one point.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 5. A new section is added to chapter 46.61 RCW to read as follows:

(1) Immediately before the court defers prosecution under RCW 10.05.020, dismisses a charge, or orders a sentence for any offense listed in subsection (2) of this section, the court and prosecutor shall verify the defendant’s criminal history and driving record. The order shall include specific findings as to the criminal history and driving record. For purposes of this section, the criminal history shall include all previous convictions and orders of deferred prosecution, as reported through the judicial information system or otherwise available to the court or prosecutor, current to within the period specified in subsection (3) of this section before the date of the order. For purposes of this section, the driving record shall include all information reported to the court by the department of licensing.

(2) The offenses to which this section applies are violations of: (a) RCW 46.61.502 or an equivalent local ordinance; (b) RCW 46.61.504 or an equivalent local ordinance; (c) RCW 46.61.520 committed while under the influence of intoxicating liquor or any drug; (d) RCW 46.61.522 committed while under the influence of intoxicating liquor or any drug; and (e) RCW 46.61.5249, 46.61.500, or 9A.36.050, or an equivalent local ordinance, if the conviction is the result of a charge that was originally filed as a violation of RCW 46.61.502 or 46.61.504 or an equivalent local ordinance, or of RCW 46.61.520 or 46.61.522.

(3) The periods applicable to previous convictions and orders of deferred prosecution are: (a) One working day, in the case of previous actions of courts that fully participate in the state judicial information system; and (b) seven calendar days, in the case of previous actions of courts that do not fully participate in the judicial information system. For purposes of this subsection, "fully participate" means regularly providing records to and receiving records from the system by electronic means on a daily basis."

   (a) The temporary worker building code shall provide construction standards for shelter and associated facilities that are safe, secure, and capable of withstanding the stresses and loads associated with their designated use, and to which they are likely to be subjected by the elements;
   (b) The temporary worker building code shall permit and facilitate designs and formats that allow for maximum affordability, consistent with the provision of decent, safe, and sanitary housing;
   (c) In developing the temporary worker building code the department shall consider:
      (i) The need for dormitory type housing for groups of unrelated individuals; and
      (ii) The need for housing to accommodate families;
   (d) The temporary worker building code shall incorporate the opportunity for the use of construction alternatives and the use of new technologies that meet the performance standards required by law; and
   (e) The temporary worker building code shall include standards for heating and insulation appropriate to the type of structure and length and season of occupancy.
(2) In adopting the temporary worker building code, the department shall make exceptions to the codes listed in RCW 19.27.031 and chapter 19.27A RCW, in keeping with the guidelines set forth in this section. The initial temporary worker building code adopted by the department shall be substantially equivalent with the temporary worker building code developed by the state building code council as directed by section 8, chapter 220, Laws of 1995.
(3) The temporary worker building code authorized and required by this section shall be enforced by the department.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. A new section is added to chapter 49.17 RCW to read as follows:
By December 1, 1998, the department of labor and industries shall adopt rules requiring electricity in all temporary worker housing and establishing minimum requirements to ensure the safe storage, handling, and preparation of food in these camps, regardless of whether individual or common cooking facilities are in use.

Sec. 4. RCW 43.22.480 and 1995 c 289 s 2 are each amended to read as follows:
(1) The department shall adopt and enforce rules that protect the health, safety, and property of the people of this state by assuring that all factory built housing or factory built commercial structures are structurally sound and that the plumbing, heating, electrical, and other components thereof are reasonably safe. The rules shall be reasonably consistent with recognized and accepted principles of safety and structural soundness, and in adopting the rules the department shall consider, so far as practicable, the standards and specifications contained in the uniform building, plumbing, and mechanical codes, including the barrier free code and the Washington energy code as adopted by the state building code council pursuant to chapter 19.27A RCW, and the national electrical code, including the state rules as adopted pursuant to chapter 19.28 RCW and published by the national fire protection association or, when applicable, the temporary worker building code adopted under section 2 of this act.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 5. A new section is added to chapter 43.70 RCW to read as follows:

(1) Any person providing temporary worker housing as defined in chapter 70.114A RCW shall secure an annual operating license prior to occupancy and shall pay a fee according to RCW 43.70.340. The license shall be conspicuously displayed on site.

(2) Licenses issued under this chapter may be suspended or revoked upon the failure or refusal of the person providing temporary worker housing to comply with the provisions of RCW 70.54.110, or of any rules adopted under this section by the department. All such proceedings shall be governed by the provisions of chapter 34.05 RCW.

(3) The department may assess a civil fine in accordance with RCW 43.70.095 for failure or refusal to obtain a license prior to occupancy of temporary worker housing. The department may refund all or part of the civil fine collected once the operator obtains a valid operating license. Civil fines under this section shall not exceed seven thousand dollars for the first violation of this section, and shall not exceed seventy thousand dollars for second and subsequent violations within any five-year period.

(4) The department shall adopt rules as necessary to assure compliance with this section.

(5) For the purpose of this section, "temporary worker housing" has the same meaning as provided in chapter 70.114A RCW.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 6. A new section is added to chapter 43.70 RCW to read as follows:

This section applies to operators of temporary worker housing as defined in chapter 70.114A RCW who are providing temporary worker housing on farm except the provisions of RCW 70.114A.030 shall not apply to the requirements of this section.

(1) Any person who constructs, alters, or makes an addition to temporary worker housing shall:

(a) Submit plans and specifications for the alteration, addition, or new construction of this housing prior to beginning any alteration, addition, or new construction on this housing;

(b) Apply for and obtain a temporary worker housing building permit from the department prior to construction or alteration of this housing; and

(4) For the purpose of this section, "temporary worker housing" has the same meaning as provided in chapter 70.114A RCW except the provisions of RCW 70.114A.030 shall not apply to the requirements of this section.

Sec. 7. RCW 43.70.340 and 1990 c 253 s 3 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) The temporary worker housing fund is established in the custody of the state treasury. The department shall deposit all funds received under subsections (2) and (3) of this section and from the legislature to administer a temporary worker housing permitting, licensing, and inspection program conducted by the department. Disbursement from the fund shall be on authorization of the secretary of health or the RCW, but no appropriation is required for disbursements.

(2) There is imposed a fee on each operating license issued by the department ((of health)) to

(4) The department shall conduct a fee study for:

(b) On-site inspections; and
(c) A plan review and building permit for new construction.
After completion of the study, the department shall adopt these fees by rule by no later than rule, by the department ((of health)).

NEW SECTION. Sec. 8. A new section is added to chapter 43.330 RCW to read as follows:

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

"PART I--TESTAMENTARY DISPOSITION OF NONPROBATE ASSETS

NEW SECTION. Sec. 101. SHORT TITLE. This chapter may be known and cited as the testamentary disposition of nonprobate assets act."
NEW SECTION.  Sec. 102. PURPOSES. The purposes of this chapter are to:
(1) Enhance and facilitate the power of testators to control the disposition of assets that pass outside their wills;
(2) Provide simple procedures for resolution of disputes regarding entitlement to such assets; and
(3) Protect any financial institution or other third party having possession of or control over such an asset and transferring it to a beneficiary duly designated by the testator, unless that third party has been provided notice of a testamentary disposition as required in this chapter.

NEW SECTION.  Sec. 103. CONSTRUCTION--JURISDICTION. (1) When construing sections and provisions of this chapter, the sections and provisions must:
(a) Be liberally construed and applied to promote the purposes of this chapter;
(b) Be considered part of a general act that is intended as unified coverage of the subject matter, and no part of this chapter may be deemed impliedly repealed by subsequent legislation if the construction can be reasonably avoided;
(c) Not be held invalid because of the invalidity of other sections or provisions of this chapter as long as the section or provision in question can be given effect without regard to the invalid section or provision, and to this end the sections or provisions of this chapter are severable;
(d) Not be construed by reference to section or subsection headings as used in this chapter, since these do not constitute any part of the law;
(e) Not be deemed to alter the community or separate property nature of any asset passing outside a testator’s will or any individual’s community or separate rights to the asset, and a testator’s community or separate property rights to the asset are not affected by whether it passes outside the will or, under this chapter, by disposition under the will; and
(f) Not be construed as authorizing or extending the authority of any financial institution or other third party to sell or otherwise create assets that would pass outside a testator’s will upon such terms as would contravene any other applicable federal or state law.

(2) The sections and provisions of this chapter apply to an owner who dies while a resident of this state on or after the effective date of this section and to a nonprobate asset the disposition of which on the death of the owner would otherwise be governed by the law of this state.

NEW SECTION.  Sec. 104. DEFINITIONS. The definitions in this section apply throughout this chapter unless the context clearly requires otherwise.
(1)(a) "Actual knowledge" means:
(i) For a financial institution, whether acting as personal representative or otherwise, or other third party in possession or control of a nonprobate asset, receipt of written notice that: (A) Complies with section 109 of this act; (B) pertains to the testamentary disposition or ownership of a nonprobate asset in its possession or control; and (C) is received by the financial institution or third party after the death of the owner in a time sufficient to afford the financial institution or third party reasonable opportunity to act upon the notice; and
(ii) For a personal representative that is not a financial institution, personal knowledge or possession of documents relating to the testamentary disposition or ownership of a nonprobate asset of the owner sufficient to afford the personal representative reasonable opportunity to act upon the knowledge, including reasonable opportunity to provide the written notice under section 109 of this act.
(b) For the purposes of (a) of this subsection, notice of more than thirty days is presumed to be notice that is sufficient to afford the party a reasonable opportunity to act upon the knowledge, but notice of less than five business days is presumed not to be a sufficient notice for these purposes. These presumptions may be rebutted only by clear and convincing evidence to the contrary.
(2) "Beneficiary" means the person designated to receive a nonprobate asset upon the death of the owner by means other than the owner’s will.
(3) "Broker" means a person defined as a broker or dealer under the federal securities laws.
(4) "Date of will" means, as to any nonprobate asset, the date of signature of the will or codicil that refers to the asset and disposes of it.
(5) "Designate" means a written means by which the owner selects a beneficiary, including but not limited to instruments under contractual arrangements and registration of accounts, and "designation" means the selection.

(6) "Financial institution" means: A bank, trust company, mutual savings bank, savings and loan association, credit union, broker, or issuer of stock or its transfer agent.

(7) (a) "Nonprobate asset" means a nonprobate asset within the meaning of RCW 11.02.005, but excluding the following:
   (i) A right or interest in real property passing under a joint tenancy with right of survivorship;
   (ii) A deed or conveyance for which possession has been postponed until the death of the owner;
   (iii) A right or interest passing under a community property agreement; and
   (iv) An individual retirement account or bond.
   (b) For the definition of "nonprobate asset" relating to revocation of a provision for a former spouse upon dissolution of marriage or declaration of invalidity of marriage, see RCW 11.07.010(5).

(8) "Owner" means a person who, during life, has beneficial ownership of the nonprobate asset.

(9) "Request" means a request by the beneficiary for transfer of a nonprobate asset after the death of the owner, if it complies with all conditions of the arrangement, including reasonable special requirements concerning necessary signatures and regulations of the financial institution or other third party, or by the personal representative of the owner’s estate or the testamentary beneficiary, if it complies with the owner’s will and any additional conditions of the financial institution or third party for such transfer.

(10) "Testamentary beneficiary" means a person named under the owner’s will to receive a nonprobate asset under this chapter, including but not limited to the trustee of a testamentary trust.

(11) "Third party" means a person, including a financial institution, having possession of or control over a nonprobate asset at the death of the owner, including the trustee of a revocable living trust and surviving joint tenant or tenants.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 105. DISPOSITION OF NONPROBATE ASSETS UNDER WILL.
(1) Subject to community property rights, upon the death of an owner the owner’s interest in any nonprobate asset specifically referred to in the owner’s will belongs to the testamentary beneficiary named to receive the nonprobate asset, notwithstanding the rights of any beneficiary designated before the date of the will.

(2) A general residuary gift in an owner’s will, or a will making general disposition of all of the owner’s property, does not entitle the devisees or legatees to receive nonprobate assets of the owner.

(3) A disposition in a will of the owner’s interest in "all nonprobate assets" or of all of a category of nonprobate asset under section 104(7) of this act, such as "all of my payable on death bank accounts" or similar language, is deemed to be a disposition of all the nonprobate assets the beneficiaries of which are designated before the date of the will.

(4) If the owner designates a beneficiary for a nonprobate asset after the date of the will, the will does not govern the disposition of that nonprobate asset. If the owner revokes the later beneficiary designation, the prior will does not govern the disposition of the nonprobate asset. A beneficiary designation with respect to an asset that renews without the signature of the owner is deemed to have been made on the date on which the account was first opened.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 106. WAIVER OF RIGHT TO DISPOSE OF A NONPROBATE ASSET UNDER WILL. An owner may waive the right to dispose of a specific nonprobate asset by will under this chapter, with or without consideration, by a written instrument signed by the owner and delivered to the financial institution or other third party, including but not limited to signature cards or deposit agreements. The waiver is revocable by written instrument delivered to the financial institution or other third party unless the owner has stated that the waiver is to be irrevocable.
NEW SECTION. Sec. 107. CONTROVERSIES BETWEEN BENEFICIARIES AND TESTAMENTARY BENEFICIARIES. This chapter is intended to establish ownership rights to nonprobate assets upon the death of the owner, as between beneficiaries and testamentary beneficiaries. This chapter is relevant only as to controversies between these persons, and has no bearing on the right of a person to transfer a nonprobate asset under its terms in the absence of a testamentary provision under this chapter.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 108. RIGHT TO RELY ON FORM OF NONPROBATE ASSET--DISCHARGE OF FINANCIAL INSTITUTION OR OTHER THIRD PARTY. In transferring nonprobate assets, a financial institution or other third party may rely conclusively and entirely upon the form of the nonprobate asset and the terms of the nonprobate asset arrangement in effect on the date of death of the owner, unless the financial institution or other third party has actual knowledge of the existence of a claim by a testamentary beneficiary. A financial institution or other third party is not required to inquire as to either the source or ownership of any nonprobate asset in its possession or under its control, or as to the proposed application of an asset so transferred. A transfer of a nonprobate asset in accordance with this section constitutes a complete release and discharge of the financial institution or other third party from all claims relating to the nonprobate asset, regardless of whether or not the transfer is consistent with the actual ownership of the nonprobate asset.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 109. NOTICE--FORM--LIMITATION ON LIABILITY FOR FAILURE TO PROVIDE NOTICE. (1) Written notice under this chapter must be served personally or by certified mail, return receipt requested and postage prepaid, on the financial institution or other third party having the nonprobate asset in its possession or control, on the beneficiary, on the testamentary beneficiary, and on the personal representative, and proof of the mailing or service must be made by affidavit and filed under the cause number assigned to the owner’s estate. Notice to a financial institution must include notice delivered as follows:
   (a) If the nonprobate asset was maintained at a specific office of the financial institution, notice must be delivered to the office at which the nonprobate asset was maintained, which notice must be directed to the manager of the office;
   (b) If the nonprobate asset was held in a trust administered by a financial institution, notice must be delivered to the office at which the trust was administered, which notice must be directed to a named officer responsible for the administration of the trust; and
   (c) In all cases, notice must be delivered to any other location and in any other manner specifically designated in a written agreement signed by the owner and the financial institution, including but not limited to a signature card or deposit agreement.

   (2) Written notice to a financial institution or other third party of the testamentary disposition of a nonprobate asset under this chapter must be in a form substantially similar to the following:

   NOTICE OF TESTAMENTARY DISPOSITION OF NONPROBATE ASSET

   The undersigned personal representative, petitioner for appointment as personal representative, attorney for the personal representative or petitioner, or testamentary beneficiary under the will of the decedent named above (as that term is defined in section 104 of this act) hereby notifies you that the decedent named above died on (DATE MUST BE SUPPLIED) and left a will dated (DATE OF WILL MUST BE SUPPLIED) disposing of the following nonprobate asset or assets in your possession or control:

Under chapter 11.-- RCW (sections 101 through 116 of this act), you may not transfer, deliver, or otherwise dispose of the asset or assets listed above in accordance with the beneficiary designation, account registration, or other arrangement made with you by the decedent. You may transfer, deliver, or otherwise dispose of the asset or assets listed above only upon receipt of the written direction of the personal representative or of the testamentary beneficiary, if the personal representative consents.

(CAPACITY OF SIGNER)

(3) The personal representative of the estate of the owner, a petitioner for appointment as personal representative, or the testamentary beneficiary may provide written notice under this section. The personal representative has no duty to provide written notice under this section and has no liability for failing or refusing to give the notice.

(4) Written notice under this section may be provided at any time after the death of the owner and before discharge of the personal representative on closing of the estate, and may be provided before admission to probate of the will.

NEW SECTION.  Sec. 110.  VESTING OF RIGHTS AND POWERS UNDER CHAPTER.
The right to provide notice under section 109 of this act and the entitlement of the testamentary beneficiary to the nonprobate asset vest immediately upon death of the owner. The power of the personal representative to direct the financial institution or other third party having the nonprobate asset in its possession or under its control to transfer or otherwise dispose of the asset arises upon the later of appointment of the personal representative or admission of the will to probate.

NEW SECTION.  Sec. 111.  OWNERSHIP RIGHTS AS BETWEEN INDIVIDUALS PRESERVED--TESTAMENTARY BENEFICIARY MAY RECOVER NONPROBATE ASSET FROM BENEFICIARY--LIMITATION ON ACTION TO RECOVER.

(1) The protection accorded to financial institutions and other third parties under section 108 of this act has no bearing on the actual rights of ownership to nonprobate assets as between beneficiaries and testamentary beneficiaries, and their heirs, successors, personal representatives, and assigns.

(2) A testamentary beneficiary entitled to a nonprobate asset otherwise transferred to a beneficiary not so entitled, and a personal representative of the owner's estate on behalf of the testamentary beneficiary, may petition the superior court having jurisdiction over the owner's estate for an order declaring that the testamentary beneficiary is so entitled, the hearing of the petition to be held in accordance with chapter 11.96 RCW.

(3) A testamentary beneficiary claiming a nonprobate asset who has not filed such a petition within the earlier of: (a) Six months from the date of admission of the will to probate; and (b) one year from the date of the owner's death, shall be forever barred from making such a claim or commencing such an action.

NEW SECTION.  Sec. 112.  NONPROBATE ASSETS NOT PROPERTY OF ESTATE.

Notwithstanding any provision of this chapter, a nonprobate asset disposed of under the owner's will may not be treated as a part of the owner's probate estate for any other purpose under this title, unless:

(a) The nonprobate asset is subject to liabilities and claims, estate taxes, and expenses of administration under RCW 11.18.200; or

(b) Any section of this title directs otherwise, by specifically referring to this section.

(2) Provision of notice under this chapter has no effect on the administration of other assets of the estate of the owner. The personal representative has no duty to administer upon a nonprobate asset because of providing the notice, unless specifically required by this chapter or under RCW 11.18.200.

(3) RCW 11.12.110, regarding death of a devisee or legatee before the testator, does not apply to disposition of a nonprobate asset under a will.

NEW SECTION.  Sec. 113.  TRANSFER OF NONPROBATE ASSET TO TESTAMENTARY BENEFICIARY.

(1) A financial institution's or third party's obligation to transfer a nonprobate asset to a testamentary beneficiary arises only after it has actual knowledge of the claim of the testamentary beneficiary, and after receiving written direction from the personal representative of the owner’s estate, or if the personal representative consents in writing, from the testamentary beneficiary, to make the transfer. The financial institution may also require that its customary procedures be followed in effectuating a transfer of the nonprobate asset.

(2) Subject to subsection (1) of this section, financial institutions and other third parties may transfer a nonprobate asset that has not already been distributed to the testamentary beneficiary entitled to the nonprobate asset under the owner’s will, subject to liabilities and claims, estate taxes, and expenses of administration under RCW 11.18.200.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 114. AUTHORITY TO WITHHOLD TRANSFER. (1) This chapter does not require any financial institution or other third party to transfer a nonprobate asset to a beneficiary, testamentary beneficiary, or other person claiming an interest in the nonprobate asset if the financial institution or third party has actual knowledge of the existence of a dispute between beneficiaries, testamentary beneficiaries, or other persons concerning rights or ownership to the nonprobate asset under this chapter, or if the financial institution or third party is otherwise uncertain as to who is entitled to receive the nonprobate asset under this chapter. In any such case, the financial institution or third party may, without liability, notify in writing all beneficiaries, testamentary beneficiaries, or other persons claiming an interest in the nonprobate asset of either its uncertainty as to who is entitled to transfer of the nonprobate asset or the existence of any dispute, and it may also, without liability, refuse to transfer a nonprobate asset to a beneficiary or a testamentary beneficiary until such time as either:

(a) All the beneficiaries, testamentary beneficiaries, and other interested persons have consented in writing to the transfer; or
(b) The transfer is authorized or directed by a court of proper jurisdiction.

(2) The expense of obtaining the written consent or court authorization or direction may, by order of the court, be paid by the personal representative as an expense of administration.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 115. ADVERSE CLAIM BOND. Notwithstanding section 114 of this act, a financial institution or other third party having actual knowledge of the existence of a dispute between beneficiaries, a testamentary beneficiary, or other persons concerning rights to a nonprobate asset under this chapter may condition transfer of the nonprobate asset on execution, in form and with security acceptable to the financial institution or other third party, of a bond in an amount that is double the fair market value of the nonprobate asset on the date of the owner’s death or the amount of any adverse claim, whichever is the lesser, indemnifying the financial institution or other third party from any and all liability, loss, damage, costs, and expenses, for and on account of transfer of the nonprobate asset.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 116. APPLICATION OF CHAPTER. This chapter applies to any will of an owner who dies while a resident of this state on or after the effective date of this section, regardless of whether the will was executed or republished before or after the effective date of this section and regardless of whether the beneficiary of the nonprobate asset was designated before or after the effective date of this section.

Sec. 117. RCW 11.02.005 and 1997 c 252 s 1 are each amended to read as follows:
When used in this title, unless otherwise required from the context:
(1) "Personal representative" includes executor, administrator, special administrator, and guardian or limited guardian and special representative.
(2) "Net estate" refers to the real and personal property of a decedent exclusive of homestead rights, exempt property, the family allowance and enforceable claims against, and debts of, the deceased or the estate.
(3) "Representation" refers to a method of determining distribution in which the takers are in unequal degrees of kinship with respect to the intestate, and is accomplished as follows: After first determining who, of those entitled to share in the estate, are in the nearest degree of kinship, the estate is divided into equal shares, the number of shares being the sum of the number of persons who survive the intestate who are in the nearest degree of kinship and the number of persons in the same degree of kinship who died before the intestate but who left issue surviving the intestate; each share of a deceased person in the nearest degree shall be divided among those of the deceased person’s issue who survive the intestate and have no ancestor then living who is in the line of relationship between them and the intestate, those more remote in degree taking together the share which their ancestor would have taken had he or she survived the intestate. Posthumous children are considered as living at the death of their parent.

(4) "Issue" includes all the lawful lineal descendants of the ancestor and all lawfully adopted children.

(5) "Degree of kinship" means the degree of kinship as computed according to the rules of the civil law; that is, by counting upward from the intestate to the nearest common ancestor and then downward to the relative, the degree of kinship being the sum of these two counts.

(6) "Heirs" denotes those persons, including the surviving spouse, who are entitled under the statutes of intestate succession to the real and personal property of a decedent on the decedent’s death intestate.

(7) "Real estate" includes, except as otherwise specifically provided herein, all lands, tenements, and hereditaments, and all rights thereto, and all interest therein possessed and claimed in fee simple, or for the life of a third person.

(8) "Will" means an instrument validly executed as required by RCW 11.12.020.

(9) "Codicil" means a will that modifies or partially revokes an existing earlier will. A codicil need not refer to or be attached to the earlier will.

(10) "Guardian" or "limited guardian" means a personal representative of the person or estate of an incompetent or disabled person as defined in RCW 11.88.010 and the term may be used in lieu of "personal representative" wherever required by context.

(11) "Administrator" means a personal representative of the estate of a decedent and the term may be used in lieu of "personal representative" wherever required by context.

(12) "Executor" means a personal representative of the estate of a decedent appointed by will and the term may be used in lieu of "personal representative" wherever required by context.

(13) "Special administrator" means a personal representative of the estate of a decedent appointed for limited purposes and the term may be used in lieu of "personal representative" wherever required by context.

(14) "Trustee" means an original, added, or successor trustee and includes the state, or any agency thereof, when it is acting as the trustee of a trust to which chapter 11.98 RCW applies.

(15) "Nonprobate asset" means those rights and interests of a person having beneficial ownership of an asset that pass on the person’s death under a written instrument or arrangement other than the person’s will. "Nonprobate asset" includes, but is not limited to, a right or interest passing under a joint tenancy with right of survivorship, joint bank account with right of survivorship, payable on death or trust bank account, transfer on death security or security account, deed or conveyance if possession has been postponed until the death of the person, for the definition of "nonprobate asset" relating to revocation of a provision for a former spouse upon dissolution of marriage or declaration of invalidity of marriage, see RCW 11.07.010(5). For the definition of "nonprobate asset" relating to testamentary disposition of nonprobate assets, see section 104(7) of this act.

Words that import the singular number may also be applied to the plural of persons and things. Words importing the masculine gender only may be extended to females also.

1. This section applies to all nonprobate assets, wherever situated, held at the time of entry by a superior court of this state of a decree of dissolution of marriage or a declaration of invalidity.

2(a) If a marriage is dissolved or invalidated, a provision made prior to that event that relates to the payment or transfer at death of the decedent’s interest in a nonprobate asset in favor of or granting an interest or power to the decedent’s former spouse is revoked. A provision affected by this section must be interpreted, and the nonprobate asset affected passes, as if the former spouse failed to survive the decedent, having died at the time of entry of the decree of dissolution or declaration of invalidity.

(b) This subsection does not apply if and to the extent that:
(i) The instrument governing disposition of the nonprobate asset expressly provides otherwise;
(ii) The decree of dissolution or declaration of invalidity requires that the decedent maintain a nonprobate asset for the benefit of a former spouse or children of the marriage, payable on the decedent’s death either outright or in trust, and other nonprobate assets of the decedent fulfilling such a requirement for the benefit of the former spouse or children of the marriage do not exist at the decedent’s death; or
(iii) If not for this subsection, the decedent could not have effected the revocation by unilateral action because of the terms of the decree or declaration, or for any other reason, immediately after the entry of the decree of dissolution or declaration of invalidity.

3(a) A payor or other third party in possession or control of a nonprobate asset at the time of the decedent’s death is not liable for making a payment or transferring an interest in a nonprobate asset to a decedent’s former spouse whose interest in the nonprobate asset is revoked under this section, or for taking another action in reliance on the validity of the instrument governing disposition of the nonprobate asset, before the payor or other third party has actual knowledge of the dissolution or other invalidation of marriage. A payor or other third party is liable for a payment or transfer made or other action taken after the payor or other third party has actual knowledge of a revocation under this section.

(b) This section does not require a payor or other third party to pay or transfer a nonprobate asset to a beneficiary designated in a governing instrument affected by the dissolution or other invalidation of marriage, or to another person claiming an interest in the nonprobate asset, if the payor or third party has actual knowledge of the existence of a dispute between the former spouse and the beneficiaries or other persons concerning rights of ownership of the nonprobate asset as a result of the application of this section among the former spouse and the beneficiaries or among other persons, or if the payor or third party is otherwise uncertain as to who is entitled to the nonprobate asset under this section. In such a case, the payor or third party may, without liability, notify in writing all beneficiaries or other persons claiming an interest in the nonprobate asset of either the existence of the dispute or its uncertainty as to who is entitled to payment or transfer of the nonprobate asset. The payor or third party may also, without liability, refuse to pay or transfer a nonprobate asset in such a circumstance to a beneficiary or other person claiming an interest until the time that either:
(i) All beneficiaries and other interested persons claiming an interest have consented in writing to the payment or transfer; or
(ii) The payment or transfer is authorized or directed by a court of proper jurisdiction.

(c) Notwithstanding subsections (1) and (2) of this section and (a) and (b) of this subsection, a payor or other third party having actual knowledge of the existence of a dispute between beneficiaries or other persons concerning rights to a nonprobate asset as a result of the application of this section may condition the payment or transfer of the nonprobate asset on execution, in a form and with security acceptable to the payor or other third party, of a bond in an amount that is double the fair market value of the nonprobate asset at the time of the decedent’s death or the amount of an adverse claim, whichever is the lesser, or of a similar instrument to provide security to the payor or other third party.
party, indemnifying the payor or other third party for any liability, loss, damage, costs, and expenses for and on account of payment or transfer of the nonprobate asset.

(d) As used in this subsection, "actual knowledge" means, for a payor or other third party in possession or control of the nonprobate asset at or following the decedent’s death, written notice to the payor or other third party, or to an officer of a payor or third party in the course of his or her employment, received after the decedent’s death and within a time that is sufficient to afford the payor or third party a reasonable opportunity to act upon the knowledge. The notice must identify the nonprobate asset with reasonable specificity. The notice also must be sufficient to inform the payor or other third party of the revocation of the provisions in favor of the decedent’s spouse by reason of the dissolution or invalidation of marriage, or to inform the payor or third party of a dispute concerning rights to a nonprobate asset as a result of the application of this section. Receipt of the notice for a period of more than thirty days is presumed to be received within a time that is sufficient to afford the payor or third party a reasonable opportunity to act upon the knowledge, but receipt of the notice for a period of less than five business days is presumed not to be a sufficient time for these purposes. These presumptions may be rebutted only by clear and convincing evidence to the contrary.

(4)(a) A person who purchases a nonprobate asset from a former spouse or other person, for value and without actual knowledge, or who receives from a former spouse or other person payment or transfer of a nonprobate asset without actual knowledge and in partial or full satisfaction of a legally enforceable obligation, is neither obligated under this section to return the payment, property, or benefit nor is liable under this section for the amount of the payment or the value of the nonprobate asset. However, a former spouse or other person who, with actual knowledge, not for value, or not in satisfaction of a legally enforceable obligation, receives payment or transfer of a nonprobate asset to which that person is not entitled under this section is obligated to return the payment or nonprobate asset, or is personally liable for the amount of the payment or value of the nonprobate asset, to the person who is entitled to it under this section.

(b) As used in this subsection, "actual knowledge" means, for a person described in (a) of this subsection who purchases or receives a nonprobate asset from a former spouse or other person, personal knowledge or possession of documents relating to the revocation upon dissolution or invalidation of marriage of provisions relating to the payment or transfer at the decedent’s death of the nonprobate asset, received within a time after the decedent’s death and before the purchase or receipt that is sufficient to afford the person purchasing or receiving the nonprobate asset reasonable opportunity to act upon the knowledge. Receipt of the personal knowledge or possession of the documents for a period of more than thirty days is presumed to be received within a time that is sufficient to afford the payor or third party a reasonable opportunity to act upon the knowledge, but receipt of the notice for a period of less than five business days is presumed not to be a sufficient time for these purposes. These presumptions may be rebutted only by clear and convincing evidence to the contrary.

(5) As used in this section, "nonprobate asset" means those rights and interests of a person having beneficial ownership of an asset that pass on the person’s death under only the following written instruments or arrangements other than the decedent’s will:

(a) A payable-on-death provision of a life insurance policy, employee benefit plan, annuity or similar contract, or individual retirement account;

(b) A payable-on-death, trust, or joint with right of survivorship bank account;

(c) A trust of which the person is a grantor and that becomes effective or irrevocable only upon the person’s death; or

(d) Transfer on death beneficiary designations of a transfer on death or pay on death security, if such designations are authorized under Washington law.

(However, for the general definition of "nonprobate asset" in this title, RCW 11.02.005 applies.) For the general definition in this title of "nonprobate asset," see RCW 11.02.005(15) and for the definition of "nonprobate asset" relating to testamentary disposition of nonprobate assets, see section 104(7) of this act.

(6) This section is remedial in nature and applies as of July 25, 1993, to decrees of dissolution and declarations of invalidity entered after July 24, 1993, and this section applies as of January 1, 1995, to decrees of dissolution and declarations of invalidity entered before July 25, 1993.
PART II--PROBATE

Sec. 201. RCW 11.54.070 and 1997 c 252 s 54 are each amended to read as follows:
(1) Except as provided in ((subsection)) RCW 11.54.060((2) (of this section)), property awarded and cash paid under this chapter is immune from all debts, including judgments and judgment liens, of the decedent and of the surviving spouse existing at the time of death.
(2) Both the decedent’s and the surviving spouse’s interests in any community property awarded to the spouse under this chapter are immune from the claims of creditors.

Sec. 202. RCW 11.68.110 and 1997 c 252 s 68 are each amended to read as follows:
(1) If a personal representative who has acquired nonintervention powers does not apply to the court for either of the final decrees provided for in RCW 11.68.100 as now or hereafter amended, the personal representative shall, when the administration of the estate has been completed, file a declaration that must state as follows:
   (a) The date of the decedent’s death and the decedent’s residence at the time of death;
   (b) Whether or not the decedent died testate or intestate;
   (c) If the decedent died testate, the date of the decedent’s last will and testament and the date of the order probating the will;
   (d) That each creditor’s claim which was justly due and properly presented as required by law has been paid or otherwise disposed of by agreement with the creditor, and that the amount of estate taxes due as the result of the decedent’s death has been determined, settled, and paid;
   (e) That the personal representative has completed the administration of the decedent’s estate without court intervention, and the estate is ready to be closed;
   (f) If the decedent died intestate, the names, addresses (if known), and relationship of each heir of the decedent, together with the distributive share of each heir; and
   (g) The amount of fees paid or to be paid to each of the following: (i) Personal representative or representatives; (ii) lawyer or lawyers; (iii) appraiser or appraisers; and (iv) accountant or accountants; and that the personal representative believes the fees to be reasonable and does not intend to obtain court approval of the amount of the fees or to submit an estate accounting to the court for approval.
(2) Subject to the requirement of notice as provided in this section, unless an heir, devisee, or legatee of a decedent petitions the court either for an order requiring the personal representative to obtain court approval of the amount of fees paid or to be paid to the personal representative, lawyers, appraisers, or accountants, or for an order requiring an accounting, or both, within thirty days from the date of filing a declaration of completion of probate, the personal representative will be automatically discharged without further order of the court and the representative’s powers will cease thirty days after the filing of the declaration of completion of probate, and the declaration of completion of probate shall, at that time, be the equivalent of the entry of a decree of distribution in accordance with chapter 11.76 RCW for all legal intents and purposes.
(3) Within five days of the date of the filing of the declaration of completion, the personal representative or the personal representative’s lawyer shall mail a copy of the declaration of completion to each heir, legatee, or devisee of the decedent, who: (a) Has not waived notice of the filing, in writing, filed in the cause((, or who, not having waived notice,)); and (b) either has not received the full amount of the distribution to which the heir, legatee, or devisee is entitled or has a property right that might be affected adversely by the discharge of the personal representative under this section, together with a notice which shall be substantially as follows:

NOTICE IS GIVEN that the attached Declaration of Completion of Probate was filed by the undersigned in the above-entitled court on the . . . day of . . . . . . . . . 19 . . ; unless you shall file a petition in the above-entitled court requesting the court to approve the reasonableness of the fees, or for an accounting, or both, and serve a copy thereof upon the personal representative or the personal representative’s lawyer, within thirty days after the date of the filing, the amount of fees paid or to be paid will be deemed reasonable, the acts of the personal representative will be deemed approved, the personal representative will be automatically discharged without further order of the court, and the Declaration of Completion of Probate will be final and deemed the equivalent of a Decree of Distribution entered under chapter 11.76 RCW.

If you file and serve a petition within the period specified, the undersigned will request the court to fix a time and place for the hearing of your petition, and you will be notified of the time and place thereof, by mail, or personal service, not less than ten days before the hearing on the petition.

Dated this . . . . day of . . . . . , 19 . .

Personal Representative

(4) If all heirs, devisees, and legatees of the decedent entitled to notice under this section waive, in writing, the notice required by this section, the personal representative will be automatically discharged without further order of the court and the declaration of completion of probate will become effective as a decree of distribution upon the date of filing thereof. In those instances where the personal representative has been required to furnish bond, and a declaration of completion is filed pursuant to this section, any bond furnished by the personal representative shall be automatically discharged upon the discharge of the personal representative.

Sec. 203. RCW 11.68.114 and 1997 c 252 s 70 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) The personal representative retains the powers to: Deal with the taxing authority of any federal, state, or local government; hold a reserve in an amount not to exceed three thousand dollars, for the determination and payment of any additional taxes, interest, and penalties, and of all reasonable expenses related directly or indirectly to such determination or payment; pay from the reserve the reasonable expenses, including compensation for services rendered or goods provided by the personal representative or by the personal representative’s employees, independent contractors, and other agents, in addition to any taxes, interest, or penalties assessed by a taxing authority; receive and hold any credit, including interest, from any taxing authority; and distribute the residue of the reserve to the intended beneficiaries of the reserve; if:

(a) In lieu of the statement set forth in RCW 11.68.110(1)(e), the declaration of completion of probate states that:

The personal representative has completed the administration of the decedent’s estate without court intervention, and the estate is ready to be closed, except for the determination of taxes and of interest and penalties thereon as permitted under this section;

(b) The notice of the filing of declaration of completion of probate must be in substantially the following form:

NOTICE IS GIVEN that the attached Declaration of Completion of Probate was filed by the undersigned in the above-entitled court on the . . . . day of . . . . . . . . ; unless you file a petition in the above-entitled court requesting the court to approve the reasonableness of the fees, or for an accounting, or both, and serve a copy thereof upon the personal representative or the personal representative’s lawyer, within thirty days after the date of the filing:

(i) The schedule of fees set forth in the Declaration of Completion of Probate will be deemed reasonable;
(ii) The Declaration of Completion of Probate will be final and deemed the equivalent of a Decree of Distribution entered under chapter 11.76 RCW;

(iii) The acts that the personal representative performed before the Declaration of Completion of Probate was filed will be deemed approved, and the personal representative will be automatically discharged without further order of the court with respect to all such acts; and

(iv) The personal representative will retain the power to deal with the taxing authorities, together with $. . . . for the determination and payment of all remaining tax obligations. Only that portion of the reserve that remains after the settlement of any tax liability, and the payment of any expenses associated with such settlement, will be distributed to the persons legally entitled to the reserve.

(2) If the requirements in subsection (1) of this section are met, the personal representative is discharged from all claims other than those relating to the settlement of any tax obligations and the actual distribution of the reserve, at the effective date of the declaration of completion. The personal representative is discharged from liability from the settlement of any tax obligations and the distribution of the reserve, and the personal representative’s powers cease, thirty days after the personal representative((a)) has mailed to those persons who would have shared in the distribution of the reserve had the reserve remained intact((e)) and ((((b)))) has filed with the court copies of checks or receipts showing how the reserve was in fact distributed, unless a person with an interest in the reserve petitions the court earlier within the thirty-day period for an order requiring an accounting of the reserve or an order determining the reasonableness, or lack of reasonableness, of distributions made from the reserve. If the personal representative has been required to furnish a bond, any bond furnished by the personal representative is automatically discharged upon the final discharge of the personal representative.

PART III--UNIFORM TRANSFERS TO MINORS ACT

Sec. 301. 1991 c 193 s 3 are each amended to read as follows:
(1) A person having the right to designate the recipient of property transferable upon the occurrence of a future event may revocably nominate a custodian to receive the property for a minor beneficiary upon the occurrence of the event by naming the custodian followed in substance by the words: ". . . . as custodian for . . . . (name of minor) under the Washington uniform transfers to minors act." The nomination may name one or more persons as substitute custodians to whom the property shall be transferred, in the order named, if the first nominated custodian dies before the transfer or is unable, declines, or is ineligible to serve. The nomination may be made in a will, a trust, a deed, an instrument exercising a power of appointment, or in a writing designating a beneficiary of contractual rights which is registered with or delivered to the payor, issuer, or other obligor of the contractual rights.

As an alternative to naming a specific person as custodian, the nomination may provide that the custodian may be designated by the legal representative of, or other person specified by, the person having the right to designate the recipient of the property described in this subsection. The person having the right of designation of the custodian is authorized to designate himself or herself as custodian, if he or she falls within the class of persons eligible to serve as custodian under RCW 11.114.090(1).

(2) A custodian nominated under this section shall be a person to whom a transfer of property of that kind may be made under RCW 11.114.090(1).

(3) Instead of designating one specific minor, the designation may specify multiple persons or a class or classes of persons, but when the custodial property is actually created under subsection (4) of this section, it must be constituted as a separate custodianship for each beneficiary, and each beneficiary’s interest in it must be determined in accordance with the governing instrument and applicable law.

(4) The nomination of a custodian under this section does not create custodial property until the nominating instrument becomes irrevocable or a transfer to the nominated custodian is completed under RCW 11.114.090. Unless the nomination of a custodian has been revoked, upon the occurrence of the future event the custodianship becomes effective and the custodian shall enforce a transfer of the custodial property pursuant to RCW 11.114.090.

The purpose of this chapter is to establish a comprehensive state-wide program for solid waste handling, and solid waste recovery and/or recycling which will prevent land, air, and water pollution and conserve the natural, economic, and energy resources of this state. To this end it is the purpose of this chapter:
(1) To assign primary responsibility for adequate solid waste handling to local government, reserving to the state, however, those functions necessary to assure effective programs throughout the state;
(2) To provide for adequate planning for solid waste handling by local government;
(3) To provide for the adoption and enforcement of basic minimum performance standards for solid waste handling;
(4) To provide technical and financial assistance to local governments in the planning, development, and conduct of solid waste handling programs;
(5) To encourage storage, proper disposal, and recycling of discarded vehicle tires and to stimulate private recycling programs throughout the state; and
(6) To encourage the development and operation of waste recycling facilities and activities needed to accomplish the management priority of waste recycling and to promote consistency in the permitting requirements for such facilities and activities throughout the state.
It is the intent of the legislature that local governments be encouraged to use the expertise of private industry and to contract with private industry to the fullest extent possible to carry out solid waste recovery and/or recycling programs.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. A new section is added to chapter 70.95 RCW to read as follows:
(1) The department may by rule exempt a solid waste from the permitting requirements of this chapter for one or more beneficial uses. In adopting such rules, the department shall specify both the solid waste that is exempted from the permitting requirements and the beneficial use or uses for which the solid waste is so exempted. The department shall consider: (a) Whether the material will be beneficially used or reused; and (b) whether the beneficial use or reuse of the material will present threats to human health or the environment.
(2) The department may also exempt a solid waste from the permitting requirements of this chapter for one or more beneficial uses by approving an application for such an exemption. The department shall establish by rule procedures under which a person may apply to the department for such an exemption. The rules shall establish criteria for providing such an exemption, which shall include, but not be limited to: (a) The material will be beneficially used or reused; and (b) the beneficial use or reuse of the material will not present threats to human health or the environment. Rules adopted under this subsection shall identify the information that an application shall contain. Persons seeking such an exemption shall apply to the department under the procedures established by the rules adopted under this subsection.
(3) After receipt of an application filed under rules adopted under subsection (2) of this section, the department shall review the application to determine whether it is complete, and forward a copy of the completed application to all jurisdictional health departments for review and comment. Within forty-five days, the jurisdictional health departments shall forward to the department their comments and any other information they deem relevant to the department's decision to approve or
Every complete application shall be approved or disapproved by the department within ninety days of receipt. If the application is approved by the department, the solid waste is exempt from the permitting requirements of this chapter when used anywhere in the state in the manner approved by the department. If the composition, use, or reuse of the solid waste is not consistent with the terms and conditions of the department’s approval of the application, the use of the solid waste remains subject to the permitting requirements of this chapter.

(4) The department shall establish procedures by rule for providing to the public and the solid waste industry notice of and an opportunity to comment on each application for an exemption under subsection (2) of this section.

(5) Any jurisdictional health department or applicant may appeal the decision of the department to approve or disapprove an application under subsection (3) of this section. The appeal shall be made to the pollution control hearings board by filing with the hearings board a notice of appeal within thirty days of the decision of the department. The hearings board’s review of the decision shall be made in accordance with chapter 43.21B RCW and any subsequent appeal of a decision of the board shall be made in accordance with RCW 43.21B.180.

(6) This section shall not be deemed to invalidate the exemptions or determinations of nonapplicability in the department’s solid waste rules as they exist on the effective date of this section, which exemptions and determinations are recognized and confirmed subject to the department’s continuing authority to modify or revoke those exemptions or determinations by rule.

Sec. 3. RCW 70.95.170 and 1997 c 213 s 2 are each amended to read as follows:

Except as provided otherwise in section 5 or 6 of this act, after approval of the comprehensive solid waste plan by the department no solid waste handling facility or facilities shall be maintained, established, or modified until the county, city, or other person operating such site has obtained a permit (from the jurisdictional health department) pursuant to the provisions of RCW 70.95.180 or 70.95.190.

Sec. 4. RCW 70.95.190 and 1997 c 213 s 4 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) Every permit for an existing solid waste handling facility issued pursuant to RCW 70.95.180 shall be renewed at least every five years on a date established by the jurisdictional health department having jurisdiction of the site and as specified in the permit. If a permit is to be renewed for longer than one year, the local jurisdictional health department may hold a public hearing before making such a decision. Prior to renewing a permit, the health department shall conduct a review as it deems necessary to assure that the solid waste handling facility or facilities located on the site continues to meet minimum functional standards of the department, applicable local regulations, and are not in conflict with the approved solid waste management plan. A jurisdictional health department shall approve or disapprove a permit renewal within forty-five days of conducting its review. The department shall review and may appeal the renewal as set forth for the approval of permits in RCW 70.95.185.

(2) The jurisdictional board of health may establish reasonable fees for permits reviewed under this section. All permit fees collected by the health department shall be deposited in the treasury and to the account from which the health department’s operating expenses are paid.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 5. A new section is added to chapter 70.95 RCW to read as follows:

(1) Notwithstanding any other provision of this chapter, the department may by rule exempt from the requirements to obtain a solid waste handling permit any category of solid waste handling facility that it determines to:

(a) Present little or no environmental risk; and

(b) Meet the environmental protection and performance requirements required for other similar solid waste facilities.

(2) This section does not apply to any facility or category of facilities that:

(a) Receives municipal solid waste destined for final disposal, including but not limited to transfer stations, landfills, and incinerators;

(b) Applies putrescible solid waste on land for final disposal purposes;
(c) Handles mixed solid wastes that have not been processed to segregate solid waste materials destined for disposal from other solid waste materials destined for a beneficial use;
(d) Receives or processes organic waste materials into compost in volumes that generally far exceed those handled by municipal park departments, master gardening programs, and households; or
(e) Receives solid waste destined for recycling or reuse, the operation of which is determined by the department to present risks to human health and the environment.

(3) Rules adopted under this section shall contain such terms and conditions as the department deems necessary to ensure compliance with applicable statutes and rules. If a facility does not operate in compliance with the terms and conditions established for an exemption under subsection (1) of this section, the facility is subject to the permitting requirements for solid waste handling under this chapter.

(4) This section shall not be deemed to invalidate the exemptions or determinations of nonapplicability in the department’s solid waste rules as they exist on the effective date of this section, which exemptions and determinations are recognized and confirmed subject to the department’s continuing authority to modify or revoke those exemptions or determinations by rule.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 6. A new section is added to chapter 70.95 RCW to read as follows:
(1) Notwithstanding any other provisions of this chapter, the department shall adopt rules:
(a) Describing when a jurisdictional health department may, at its discretion, waive the requirement that a permit be issued for a facility under this chapter if other air, water, or environmental permits are issued for the same facility. As used in this section, a jurisdictional health department’s waiving the requirement that a permit be issued for a facility under this chapter based on the issuance of such other permits for the facility is the health department’s “deferring” to the other permits; and
(b) Allowing deferral only if the applicant and the jurisdictional health department demonstrate that other permits for the facility will provide a comparable level of protection for human health and the environment that would be provided by a solid waste handling permit.
(2) This section does not apply to any transfer station, landfill, or incinerator that receives municipal solid waste destined for final disposal.
(3) If, before the effective date of this section, either the department or a jurisdictional health department has deferred solid waste permitting or regulation of a solid waste facility to permitting or regulation under other environmental permits for the same facility, such deferral is valid and shall not be affected by the rules developed under subsection (1) of this section.
(4) Rules adopted under this section shall contain such terms and conditions as the department deems necessary to ensure compliance with applicable statutes and rules.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 7. A new section is added to chapter 70.95 RCW to read as follows:
The department may assess a civil penalty in an amount not to exceed one thousand dollars per day per violation to any person exempt from solid waste permitting in accordance with section 2 or 5 of this act who fails to comply with the terms and conditions of the exemption. Each such violation shall be a separate and distinct offense, and in the case of a continuing violation, each day's continuance shall be a separate and distinct violation.

Sec. 8. RCW 43.21B.110 and 1993 c 387 s 22 are each amended to read as follows:

The failure of the registered owner to pay the renewal fee by the date required by rule shall cause such owner’s brand to revert to the ((department)) board. The ((director)) board may for a period of one year following such reversion, reissue such brand only to the prior registered owner upon payment of the registration fee and a late filing fee (((to be prescribed by the director by rule subsequent to a hearing under chapter 34.05 RCW and in conformance with RCW 16.57.015))) of twenty dollars for renewal subsequent to the regular renewal

Any person holding a classified position subject to the provisions of this chapter shall, when and if such position is subsequently exempted from the application of this chapter, be afforded the following rights: If such person previously held permanent status in another classified position, such person shall have a right of reversion to the highest class of position previously held, or to a position of similar nature and salary.

16.57 and 16.58 RCW and rules adopted thereunder after the effective date of this section. Any enforcement action taken by the department of agriculture under chapter 16.57, 16.58, or 16.65 RCW regarding authorities transferred to the board by this act, or the rules adopted thereunder and not

(2) The secretary of social and health services shall reimburse a county upon presentation and approval of a valid claim pursuant to this chapter based on actual performance in meeting the terms and conditions of the approved plan and contract. Funds received by participating counties under this chapter shall not be used to replace local funds for existing programs.

(4) Offer, on a voluntary basis, family reconciliation services to families who are in conflict.

(5) Monitor out-of-home placements, on a timely and routine basis, to assure the safety, well-being, and quality of care being provided is within the scope of the intent of the legislature as defined in RCW 74.13.010 and 74.15.010, and annually submit a report measuring the extent to which the department achieved the specified goals to the governor and the legislature.

(6) Have authority to accept custody of children from parents and to accept custody of children from juvenile courts, where authorized to do so under law, to provide child welfare services including placement for adoption, and to provide for the physical care of such children and make payment of maintenance costs if needed. Except where required by Public Law 95-608 (25 U.S.C. (7) Have authority to provide temporary shelter to children who have run away from home and who are admitted to crisis residential centers.

(8) Have authority to purchase care for children; and shall follow in general the policy of using properly approved private agency services for the actual care and supervision of such children insofar as they are available, paying for care of such children as are accepted by the department as eligible for support at reasonable rates established by the department.

(12) Provide funding for counties to operate treatment facilities and provide treatment services to children who have been ordered placed in a staff secure facility under RCW 13.32A.197.

Notwithstanding any other provision of RCW 13.32A.170 through 13.32A.200 and 74.13.032 through 74.13.036, or of this section all services to be provided by the department of social and health services under subsections (4), (6), and (7) of this section, or counties under subsection (12) of this section, subject to the limitations of these subsections, may be provided by any program offering such services funded pursuant to Titles II and III of the federal juvenile justice and delinquency prevention act of 1974.

(1) The department shall establish, by contracts with private or public vendors, regional crisis residential centers with semi-secure facilities. These facilities shall be structured group care facilities licensed under rules adopted by the department and shall have an average of at least four adult staff members and in no event less than three adult staff members to every eight children.

(2) Within available funds appropriated for this purpose, the department shall establish, by contracts with private or public vendors, regional crisis residential centers with secure facilities. These facilities shall be facilities licensed under rules adopted by the department. These centers may also include semi-secure facilities and to such extent shall be subject to subsection (1) of this section.

(3) The department shall, in addition to the facilities established under subsections (1) and (2) of this section, establish additional crisis residential centers pursuant to contract with licensed private group care facilities.
(4) The staff at the facilities established under this section shall be trained so that they may effectively counsel juveniles admitted to the centers, provide treatment, supervision, and structure to the juveniles that recognize the need for support and the varying circumstances that cause children to leave their families, and carry out the responsibilities stated in RCW 13.32A.090. The responsibilities stated in RCW 13.32A.090 may, in any of the centers, be carried out by the department.

(5) The secure facilities located within crisis residential centers shall be operated to conform with the definition in RCW 13.32A.030. The facilities shall have an average of no ((more)) less than ((three)) one adult staff member((s)) to every ((eight)) ten children. The staffing ratio shall continue to ensure the safety of the children.

(6) ((The center with secure facilities created under this section may not be located within, or on the same grounds as, other secure structures including jails, juvenile detention facilities operated by the state, or units of local government. However, the secretary may, following consultation with the appropriate county legislative authority, make a written finding that location of a center with secure facilities on the same grounds as another secure structure is the only practical location for a secure facility. Upon the written finding a secure facility may be located on the same grounds as the secure structure. Where)) If a secure crisis residential center located in or adjacent to a secure juvenile detention facility, the center shall be operated in a manner that prevents in-person contact between the residents of the center and the persons held in such facility.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 5. A new section is added to chapter 74.13 RCW to read as follows:

(1) A county or group of counties operating a staff-secure facility under sections 1 and 2 of this act shall establish, by contracts with private or public vendors, treatment centers with staff secure facilities. These facilities shall be structured group care facilities licensed under rules adopted by the department.

(2) The staff at the facilities established under RCW 13.32A.197 shall be trained so that they may effectively counsel, supervise, provide treatment for behavioral difficulties or needs, and provide structure to the juveniles admitted to treatment facilities. The treatment, supervision, and counseling must recognize the need for support and the varying circumstances that cause children to leave their families.

(3) The legislature finds it is necessary to provide parents a statutory process, other than the petition process provided in chapters 70.96A and 71.34 RCW, to obtain treatment for their minor children without the consent of the children.

PART II - MENTAL HEALTH AND CHEMICAL DEPENDENCY TREATMENT

NEW SECTION. Sec. 6. The legislature finds it is often necessary for parents to obtain mental health or chemical dependency treatment for their minor children prior to the time the child’s condition presents a likelihood of serious harm or the child becomes gravely disabled. The legislature finds that treatment of such conditions is not the equivalent of incarceration or detention, but is a legitimate act of parental discretion, when supported by decisions of credentialed professionals. The legislature finds that, consistent with Parham v. J.R., 442 U.S. 584 (1979), state action is not involved in the determination of a parent and professional person to admit a minor child to treatment and finds this act provides sufficient independent review by the department of social and health services, as a neutral fact-finder, to protect the interests of all parties. The legislature intends and recognizes that children affected by the provisions of this act are not children whose mental or substance abuse problems are adequately addressed by chapters 70.96A and 71.34 RCW. Therefore, the legislature finds it is necessary to provide parents a statutory process, other than the petition process provided in chapters 70.96A and 71.34 RCW, to obtain treatment for their minor children without the consent of the children.

The legislature finds that differing standards of admission and review in parent-initiated mental health and chemical dependency treatment for their minor children are necessary and the admission standards and procedures under state involuntary treatment procedures are not adequate to provide safeguards for the safety and well-being of all children. The legislature finds the timeline for admission and reviews under existing law do not provide sufficient opportunities for assessment of the mental health and chemically dependent status of every minor child and that additional time and different standards will facilitate the likelihood of successful treatment of children who are in need of assistance but unwilling to obtain it voluntarily. The legislature finds there are children whose behavior presents a clear need of medical treatment but is not so extreme as to require immediate state intervention under the state involuntary treatment procedures.

PART II-A - MENTAL HEALTH

It is the purpose of this chapter to (ensure) assure that minors in need of mental health care and treatment receive an appropriate continuum of culturally relevant care and treatment, (from) including prevention and early intervention (to), self-directed care, parent-directed care, and involuntary treatment. To facilitate the continuum of care and treatment to minors in out-of-home placements, all divisions of the department that provide mental health services to minors shall jointly plan and deliver those services.

It is also the purpose of this chapter to protect the rights of minors against needless hospitalization and deprivations of liberty and to enable treatment decisions to be made in response to clinical needs in accordance with sound professional judgment. The mental health care and treatment providers shall encourage the use of voluntary services and, whenever clinically appropriate, the providers shall offer less restrictive alternatives to inpatient treatment. Additionally, all mental health care and treatment providers shall (ensure) assure that minors' parents are given an opportunity to participate in the treatment decisions for their minor children. The mental health care and treatment providers shall, to the extent possible, offer services that involve minors' parents or family.

It is also the purpose of this chapter to assure the ability of parents to exercise reasonable, compassionate care and control of their minor children when there is a medical necessity for treatment and without the requirement of filing a petition under this chapter.

Sec. 8. RCW 71.34.020 and 1985 c 354 s 2 are each amended to read as follows:

Unless the context clearly requires otherwise, the definitions in this section apply throughout this chapter.

(1) "Child psychiatrist" means a person having a license as a physician and surgeon in this state, who has had graduate training in child psychiatry in a program approved by the American Medical Association or the American Osteopathic Association, and who is board eligible or board certified in child psychiatry.

(2) "Children's mental health specialist" means:

(a) A mental health professional who has completed a minimum of one hundred actual hours, not quarter or semester hours, of specialized training devoted to the study of child development and the treatment of children; and

(b) A mental health professional who has the equivalent of one year of full-time experience in the treatment of children under the supervision of a children's mental health specialist.

(3) "Commitment" means a determination by a judge or court commissioner, made after a commitment hearing, that the minor is in need of inpatient diagnosis, evaluation, or treatment or that the minor is in need of less restrictive alternative treatment.

(4) "County-designated mental health professional" means a mental health professional designated by one or more counties to perform the functions of a county-designated mental health professional described in this chapter.

(5) "Department" means the department of social and health services.

(6) "Evaluation and treatment facility" means a public or private facility or unit that is certified by the department to provide emergency, inpatient, residential, or outpatient mental health evaluation and treatment services for minors. A physically separate and separately-operated portion of a state hospital may be designated as an evaluation and treatment facility for minors. A facility which is part of or operated by the department or federal agency does not require certification. No correctional institution or facility, juvenile court detention facility, or jail may be an evaluation and treatment facility within the meaning of this chapter.
(7) "Evaluation and treatment program" means the total system of services and facilities coordinated and approved by a county or combination of counties for the evaluation and treatment of minors under this chapter.

(8) "Gravely disabled minor" means a minor who, as a result of a mental disorder, is in danger of serious physical harm resulting from a failure to provide for his or her essential human needs of health or safety, or manifests severe deterioration in routine functioning evidenced by repeated and escalating loss of cognitive or volitional control over his or her actions and is not receiving such care as is essential for his or her health or safety.

(9) "Inpatient treatment" means twenty-four-hour-per-day mental health care provided within a general hospital, psychiatric hospital, or residential treatment facility certified by the department as an evaluation and treatment facility for minors.

(10) "Less restrictive alternative" or "less restrictive setting" means outpatient treatment provided to a minor who is not residing in a facility providing inpatient treatment as defined in this chapter.

(11) "Likelihood of serious harm" means either: (a) A substantial risk that physical harm will be inflicted by an individual upon his or her own person, as evidenced by threats or attempts to commit suicide or inflict physical harm on oneself; (b) a substantial risk that physical harm will be inflicted by an individual upon another, as evidenced by behavior which has caused such harm or which places another person or persons in reasonable fear of sustaining such harm; or (c) a substantial risk that physical harm will be inflicted by an individual upon the property of others, as evidenced by behavior which has caused substantial loss or damage to the property of others.

(12) "Medical necessity" for inpatient care means a requested service which is reasonably calculated to: (a) Diagnose, correct, cure, or alleviate a mental disorder; or (b) prevent the worsening of mental conditions that endanger life or cause suffering and pain, or result in illness or infirmity or threaten to cause or aggravate a handicap, or cause physical deformity or malfunction, and there is no adequate less restrictive alternative available.

(13) "Mental disorder" means any organic, mental, or emotional impairment that has substantial adverse effects on an individual's cognitive or volitional functions. The presence of alcohol abuse, drug abuse, juvenile criminal history, antisocial behavior, or mental retardation alone is insufficient to justify a finding of "mental disorder" within the meaning of this section.

(14) "Mental health professional" means a psychiatrist, psychologist, psychiatric nurse, or social worker, and such other mental health professionals as may be defined by rules adopted by the secretary under this chapter.

(15) "Minor" means any person under the age of eighteen years.

(16) "Outpatient treatment" means any of the nonresidential services mandated under chapter 71.24 RCW and provided by licensed services providers as identified by RCW 71.24.025(3).

(17) "Parent" means:
   (a) A biological or adoptive parent who has legal custody of the child, including either parent if custody is shared under a joint custody agreement; or
   (b) A person or agency judicially appointed as legal guardian or custodian of the child.

(18) "Professional person in charge" or "professional person" means a physician or other mental health professional empowered by an evaluation and treatment facility with authority to make admission and discharge decisions on behalf of that facility.

(19) "Psychiatric nurse" means a registered nurse who has a bachelor's degree from an accredited college or university, and who has had, in addition, at least two years' experience in the direct treatment of mentally ill or emotionally disturbed persons, such experience gained under the supervision of a mental health professional. "Psychiatric nurse" shall also mean any other registered nurse who has three years of such experience.

(1) The admission of any child under RCW 71.34.030 may be reviewed by the county-designated mental health professional between fifteen and thirty days following admission. The county-designated mental health professional may undertake the review on his or her own initiative and may seek reimbursement from the parents, their insurance, or medicaid for the expense of the review.

(2)) The department shall (ensure) assure that, for any minor admitted to inpatient treatment under section 18 of this act, a review is conducted ((no later than sixty days)) by a physician or other mental health professional who is employed by the department, or an agency under contract with the department, and who neither has a financial interest in continued inpatient treatment of the minor nor is affiliated with the facility providing the treatment. The physician or other mental health professional shall conduct the review not less than seven nor more than fourteen days following (admission) the date the minor was brought to the facility under section 18(1) of this act to determine whether it is (medically appropriate) a medical necessity to continue the (child’s) minor’s treatment on an inpatient basis. (The department may, subject to available funds, contract with a county for the conduct of the review conducted under this subsection and may seek reimbursement from the parents, their insurance, or medicaid for the expense of any review conducted by an agency under contract.

If the county-designated mental health professional determines that continued inpatient treatment of the child is no longer medically appropriate, the professional shall notify the facility, the child, the child’s parents, and the department of the finding within twenty-four hours of the determination.

(3) For purposes of eligibility for medical assistance under chapter 74.09 RCW, children in inpatient mental health or chemical dependency treatment shall be considered to be part of their parent’s or legal guardian’s household, unless the child has been assessed by the department of social and health services or its designee as likely to require such treatment for at least ninety consecutive days, or is in out-of-home care in accordance with chapter 13.34 RCW, or the child’s parents are found to not be exercising responsibility for care and control of the child. The department shall consult with the parent in advance of making its determination.

(3) If, after any review conducted by the department under this section, the department determines it is no longer a medical necessity for a minor to receive inpatient treatment, the department shall immediately notify the parents and the facility. The facility shall release the minor to the parents within twenty-four hours of receiving notice. If the professional person in charge and the parent believe that it is a medical necessity for the minor to remain in inpatient treatment, the minor shall be released to the parent on the second judicial day following the department’s determination in order to allow the parent time to file an at-risk youth petition under chapter 13.32A RCW. If the department determines it is a medical necessity for the minor to receive outpatient treatment and the minor declines to obtain such treatment, such refusal shall be grounds for the parent to file an at-risk youth petition.

Payment for such care by the department shall be made only in accordance with rules, guidelines, and clinical criteria applicable to inpatient treatment of minors established by the department.

PART II-B - VOLUNTARY MENTAL HEALTH OUTPATIENT TREATMENT

Sec. 11. RCW 71.34.030 and 1995 c 312 s 52 are each amended to read as follows:

((4))) Any minor thirteen years or older may request and receive outpatient treatment without the consent of the minor’s parent. Parental authorization is required for outpatient treatment of a minor under the age of thirteen.

When in the judgment of the professional person in charge of an evaluation and treatment facility there is reason to believe that a minor is in need of inpatient treatment because of a mental disorder, and the facility provides the type of evaluation and treatment needed by the minor, and it is not feasible to treat the minor in any less restrictive setting or the minor’s home, the minor may be admitted to an evaluation and treatment facility in accordance with the following requirements:

(a) A minor may be voluntarily admitted by application of the parent. The consent of the minor is not required for the minor to be evaluated and admitted as appropriate.

(b) A minor thirteen years or older may, with the concurrence of the professional person in charge of an evaluation and treatment facility, admit himself or herself without parental consent to the evaluation and treatment facility, provided that notice is given by the facility to the minor’s parent in accordance with the following requirements:

(i) Notice of the minor’s admission shall be in the form most likely to reach the parent within twenty-four hours of the minor’s voluntary admission and shall advise the parent that the minor has been admitted to inpatient treatment; the location and telephone number of the facility providing such treatment; and the name of a professional person on the staff of the facility providing treatment who is designated to discuss the minor’s need for inpatient treatment with the parent.

(ii) The minor shall be released to the parent at the parent’s request for release unless the facility files a petition with the superior court of the county in which treatment is being provided setting forth the basis for the facility’s belief that the minor is in need of inpatient treatment and that release would constitute a threat to the minor’s health or safety.

(iii) The petition shall be signed by the professional person in charge of the facility or that person’s designee.

(iv) The parent may apply to the court for separate counsel to represent the parent if the parent cannot afford counsel.

(v) There shall be a hearing on the petition, which shall be held within three judicial days from the filing of the petition.

(vi) The hearing shall be conducted by a judge, court commissioner, or licensed attorney designated by the superior court as a hearing officer for such hearing. The hearing may be held at the treatment facility.

(vii) At such hearing, the facility must demonstrate by a preponderance of the evidence presented at the hearing that the minor is in need of inpatient treatment and that release would constitute a threat to the minor’s health or safety. The hearing shall not be conducted using the rules of evidence, and the admission or exclusion of evidence sought to be presented shall be within the exercise of sound discretion by the judicial officer conducting the hearing.

(c) Written renewal of voluntary consent must be obtained from the applicant no less than once every twelve months.

(d) The minor’s need for continued inpatient treatments shall be reviewed and documented no less than every one hundred eighty days.

(3) A notice of intent to leave shall result in the following:
(a) Any minor under the age of thirteen must be discharged immediately upon written request of the parent.
(b) Any minor thirteen years or older voluntarily admitted may give notice of intent to leave at any time. The notice need not follow any specific form so long as it is written and the intent of the minor can be discerned.
(c) The staff member receiving the notice shall date it immediately, record its existence in the minor’s clinical record, and send copies of it to the minor’s attorney, if any, the county-designated mental health professional, and the parent.
(d) The professional person in charge of the evaluation and treatment facility shall discharge the minor, thirteen years or older, from the facility within twenty-four hours after receipt of the minor’s notice of intent to leave, unless the county-designated mental health professional or a parent or legal guardian files a petition or an application for initial detention within the time prescribed by this chapter.

(4) The ability of a parent to apply to a certified evaluation and treatment program for the involuntary admission of his or her minor child does not create a right to obtain or benefit from any funds or resources of the state. However, the state may provide services for indigent minors to the extent that funds are available therefor.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 12. For the purpose of gathering information related to parental notification of outpatient mental health treatment of minors, the department of health shall conduct a survey of providers of outpatient treatment, as defined in chapter 71.34 RCW. The survey shall gather information from a statistically valid sample of providers. In accordance with confidentiality statutes and the physician-patient privilege, the survey shall secure information from the providers related to:

(1) The number of minors receiving outpatient treatment;
(2) The number of parents of minors in treatment notified of the minor’s treatment;
(3) The average number of outpatient visits prior to parental notification;
(4) The average number of treatments with parental notification;
(5) The average number of treatments without parental notification;
(6) The percentage of minors in treatment who are prescribed medication;
(7) The medication prescribed;
(8) The number of patients terminating treatment due to parental notification; and

If the minor is not released as a result of the petition filed under section 31 of this act, he or she shall be released not later than thirty days following the later of: (1) The date of the department’s determination under RCW 70.96A.097(2); or (2) the filing of a petition for judicial review under section 31 of this act, unless a professional person or the designated chemical dependency specialist initiates proceedings under this chapter.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 31. A new section is added to chapter 70.96A RCW to read as follows:

For purposes of eligibility for medical assistance under chapter 74.09 RCW, minors in inpatient chemical dependency treatment shall be considered to be part of their parent’s or legal guardian’s household, unless the minor has been assessed by the department or its designee as likely to require such treatment for at least ninety consecutive days, or is in out-of-home care in accordance with chapter 13.34 RCW, or the parents are found to not be exercising responsibility for care and control of the minor. Payment for such care by the department shall be made only in accordance with rules, guidelines, and clinical criteria applicable to inpatient treatment of minors established by the department.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 32. It is the purpose of sections 28 and 30 of this act to assure the ability of parents to exercise reasonable, compassionate care and control of their minor children when there is a medical necessity for treatment and without the requirement of filing a petition under chapter 70.96A RCW.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 33. The department of social and health services shall adopt rules defining "appropriately trained professional person" for the purposes of conducting mental health and chemical dependency evaluations under sections 18(3), 19(1), 28(3), and 30(1) of this act.

PART III - MISCELLANEOUS

NEW SECTION. Sec. 34. The legislature finds that an essential component of the children in need of services, dependency, and truancy laws is the use of juvenile detention. As chapter 7.21 RCW is currently written, courts may not order detention time without a criminal charge being filed. It is the intent of the legislature to avoid the bringing of criminal charges against youth who need the guidance of the court rather than its punishment. The legislature further finds that ordering a child placed in detention is a remedial action, not a punitive one. Since the legislature finds that the state is required to provide instruction to children in detention, use of the courts' contempt powers is an effective means for furthering the education and protection of these children. Thus, it is the intent of the legislature to authorize a limited sanction of time in juvenile detention independent of chapter 7.21 RCW for failure to comply with court orders in truancy, child in need of services, at-risk youth, and dependency cases for the sole purpose of providing the courts with the tools necessary to enforce orders in these limited types of cases because other statutory contempt remedies are inadequate.

Sec. 35. RCW 7.21.030 and 1989 c 373 s 3 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) The court may initiate a proceeding to impose a remedial sanction on its own motion or on the motion of a person aggrieved by a contempt of court in the proceeding to which the contempt is related. Except as provided in RCW 7.21.050, the court, after notice and hearing, may impose a remedial sanction authorized by this chapter.

(2) If the court finds that the person has failed or refused to perform an act that is yet within the person’s power to perform, the court may find the person in contempt of court and impose one or more of the following remedial sanctions:

(a) Imprisonment if the contempt of court is of a type defined in RCW 7.21.010(1) (b) through (d). The imprisonment may extend only so long as it serves a coercive purpose.

(b) A forfeiture not to exceed two thousand dollars for each day the contempt of court continues.

(c) An order designed to ensure compliance with a prior order of the court.
Any other remedial sanction other than the sanctions specified in (a) through (c) of this subsection if the court expressly finds that those sanctions would be ineffectual to terminate a continuing contempt of court.

(e) In cases under chapters 13.32A, 13.34, and 28A.225 RCW, commitment to juvenile detention for a period of time not to exceed seven days. This sanction may be imposed in addition to, or as an alternative to, any other remedial sanction authorized by this chapter. This remedy is specifically determined to be a remedial sanction.

(3) The court may, in addition to the remedial sanctions set forth in subsection (2) of this section, order a person found in contempt of court to pay a party for any losses suffered by the party as a result of the contempt and any costs incurred in connection with the contempt proceeding, including reasonable attorney’s fees.

Sec. 36. RCW 13.32A.250 and 1996 c 133 s 28 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) In all child in need of services proceedings and at-risk youth proceedings, the court shall verbally notify the parents and the child of the possibility of a finding of contempt for failure to comply with the terms of a court order entered pursuant to this chapter. Except as otherwise provided in this section, the court shall treat the parents and the child equally for the purposes of applying contempt of court processes and penalties under this section.

(2) Failure by a party to comply with an order entered under this chapter is a civil contempt of court as provided in ((chapter 7.21)) RCW 7.21.030(2)(e), subject to the limitations of subsection (3) of this section.

(3) The court may impose remedial sanctions including a fine of up to one hundred dollars and confinement for up to seven days, or both for contempt of court under this section.

(4) A child placed in confinement for contempt under this section shall be placed in confinement only in a secure juvenile detention facility operated by or pursuant to a contract with a county.

(5) A motion for contempt may be made by a parent, a child, juvenile court personnel, or by any public agency, organization, or person having custody of the child under a court order adopted pursuant to this chapter.

(6) Whenever the court finds probable cause to believe, based upon consideration of a motion for contempt and the information set forth in a supporting declaration, that a child has violated a placement order entered under this chapter, the court may issue an order directing law enforcement to pick up and take the child to detention. The order may be entered ex parte without prior notice to the child or other parties. Following the child’s admission to detention, a detention review hearing must be held in accordance with RCW 13.32A.065.

Sec. 37. RCW 13.34.165 and 1996 c 133 s 29 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) Failure by a party to comply with an order entered under this chapter is civil contempt of court as provided in ((chapter 7.21)) RCW 7.21.030(2)(e).

(2) The maximum term of imprisonment that may be imposed as a ((punitive)) remedial sanction for contempt of court under this section is confinement for up to seven days.

(3) A child imprisoned for contempt under this section shall be confined only in a secure juvenile detention facility operated by or pursuant to a contract with a county.

(4) A motion for contempt may be made by a parent, juvenile court personnel, or by any public agency, organization, or person having custody of the child under a court order entered pursuant to this chapter.

(5) Whenever the court finds probable cause to believe, based upon consideration of a motion for contempt and the information set forth in a supporting declaration, that a child has violated a placement order entered under this chapter, the court may issue an order directing law enforcement to pick up and take the child to detention. The order may be entered ex parte without prior notice to the child or other parties. Following the child’s admission to detention, a detention review hearing must be held in accordance with RCW 13.32A.065.

Sec. 38. RCW 28A.225.090 and 1997 c 68 s 2 are each amended to read as follows:
(1) A court may order a child subject to a petition under RCW 28A.225.035 to:
   (a) Attend the child’s current school;
   (b) If there is space available and the program can provide educational services appropriate for the child, order the child to attend another public school, an alternative education program, center, a skill center, dropout prevention program, or another public educational program;
   (c) Attend a private nonsectarian school or program including an education center. Before ordering a child to attend an approved or certified private nonsectarian school or program, the court shall: (i) Consider the public and private programs available; (ii) find that placement is in the best interest of the child; and (iii) find that the private school or program is willing to accept the child and will not charge any fees in addition to those established by contract with the student’s school district.
       If the court orders the child to enroll in a private school or program, the child’s school district shall contract with the school or program to provide educational services for the child. The school district shall not be required to contract for a weekly rate that exceeds the state general apportionment dollars calculated on a weekly basis generated by the child and received by the district. A school district shall not be required to enter into a contract that is longer than the remainder of the school year. A school district shall not be required to enter into or continue a contract if the child is no longer enrolled in the district;
   (d) Be referred to a community truancy board, if available; or
   (e) Submit to testing for the use of controlled substances or alcohol based on a determination that such testing is appropriate to the circumstances and behavior of the child and will facilitate the child’s compliance with the mandatory attendance law.
   (2) If the child fails to comply with the court order, the court may order the child to be punished by detention, as provided in RCW 7.21.030(2)(e), or may impose alternatives to detention such as community service. Failure by a child to comply with an order issued under this subsection shall not be punishable by detention for a period greater than that permitted pursuant to a civil contempt proceeding against a child under chapter 13.32A RCW.
(3) Any parent violating any of the provisions of either RCW 28A.225.010 or 28A.225.080 shall be fined not more than twenty-five dollars for each day of unexcused absence from school. It shall be a defense for a parent charged with violating RCW 28A.225.010 to show that he or she exercised reasonable diligence in attempting to cause a child in his or her custody to attend school or that the child’s school did not perform its duties as required in RCW 28A.225.020. The court may order the parent to provide community service instead of imposing a fine. Any fine imposed pursuant to this section may be suspended upon the condition that a parent charged with violating RCW 28A.225.010 shall participate with the school and the child in a supervised plan for the child’s attendance at school or upon condition that the parent attend a conference or conferences scheduled by a school for the purpose of analyzing the causes of a child’s absence.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 39. The legislature finds that predatory individuals, such as drug dealers, sexual marauders, and panderers, provide shelter to at-risk youth as a means of preying upon them. The legislature further finds that at-risk youth are vulnerable to the influence of these individuals. Thus, the legislature finds that it is important to the safety of Washington’s youth that they be prevented from coming in contact with these predatory individuals. The legislature further finds that locating runaway children is the first step to preventing individuals from preying on these youth and to achieving family reconciliation. Therefore, the legislature intends to use punitive measures to create a clear disincentive for predatory individuals intending to take advantage of at-risk youth. The legislature further intends that all persons be required to report the location of a runaway minor, but that those individuals who fail to make such a report because they wish to have the minor remain unlocated as a means of preying upon them be punished for their failure to report the child’s location.

Sec. 40. RCW 13.32A.080 and 1994 sp.s. c 7 s 507 are each amended to read as follows:
(1)(a) A person commits the crime of unlawful harboring of a minor if the person provides shelter to a minor without the consent of a parent of the minor and after the person knows that the paragraphs

minor is away from the home of the parent, without the parent’s permission, and if the person intentionally:

(i) Fails to release the minor to a law enforcement officer after being requested to do so by the officer; or

(ii) Fails to disclose the location of the minor to a law enforcement officer after being requested to do so by the officer, if the person knows the location of the minor and had either taken the minor to that location or had assisted the minor in reaching that location; or

(iii) Obstructs a law enforcement officer from taking the minor into custody; or

(iv) Assists the minor in avoiding or attempting to avoid the custody of the law enforcement officer; or

(v) Engages the child in a crime; or

(vi) Engages in a clear course of conduct that demonstrates an intent to contribute to the delinquency of a minor or the involvement of a minor in a sex offense as defined in RCW 9.94A.030.

(b) It is a defense to a prosecution under this section that the defendant had custody of the minor pursuant to a court order.

(2) Harboring a minor is punishable as a gross misdemeanor.

(3) Any person who provides shelter to a child, absent from home, may notify the department’s local community service office of the child’s presence.

(4) An adult responsible for involving a child in the commission of an offense may be prosecuted under existing criminal statutes including, but not limited to:

(a) Distribution of a controlled substance to a minor, as defined in RCW 69.50.406;

(b) Promoting prostitution as defined in chapter 9A.88 RCW; and

(c) Complicity of the adult in the crime of a minor, under RCW 9A.08.020.

Sec. 41. RCW 13.32A.082 and 1996 c 133 s 14 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) Any person who, without legal authorization, provides shelter to a minor and who knows at the time of providing the shelter that the minor is away from the parent’s home, or other lawfully prescribed residence, without the permission of the parent, shall promptly report the location of the child to the parent, the law enforcement agency of the jurisdiction in which the person lives, or the department. The report may be made by telephone or any other reasonable means.

(2) Unless the context clearly requires otherwise, the definitions in this subsection apply throughout this section.

(a) "Shelter" means the person’s home or any structure over which the person has any control.

(b) "Promptly report" means to report within eight hours after the person has knowledge that the minor is away from home without parental permission.

(3) When the department receives a report under subsection (1) of this section, it shall make a good faith attempt to notify the parent that a report has been received and offer services designed to resolve the conflict and accomplish a reunification of the family.

(4) A person who does not report a child’s location in violation of subsection (1) of this section with the intent to contribute to the delinquency of a minor or engage the child in a crime is guilty of a misdemeanor.

2SSB 6214 Prime Sponsor, Senate Committee on Ways & Means: Revising provisions relating to commitment of mentally ill persons. Reported by Committee on Criminal Justice & Corrections

MAJORITY recommendation: Do pass as amended.

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

"NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. It is the intent of the legislature to: (1) Clarify that it is the nature of a person’s current conduct, current mental condition, history, and likelihood of committing future acts that pose a threat to public safety or himself or herself, rather than simple categorization of offenses, that should determine treatment procedures and level; (2) improve and clarify the sharing of information between the mental health and criminal justice systems; and (3) provide additional opportunities for mental health treatment for persons whose conduct threatens himself or herself or threatens public safety and has led to contact with the criminal justice system.

The legislature recognizes that a person can be incompetent to stand trial, but may not be gravely disabled or may not present a likelihood of serious harm. The legislature does not intend to create a presumption that a person who is found incompetent to stand trial is gravely disabled or presents a likelihood of serious harm requiring civil commitment.

Sec. 2. RCW 71.05.010 and 1997 c 112 s 2 are each amended to read as follows:"
The provisions of this chapter are intended by the legislature:
(1) To prevent inappropriate, indefinite commitment of mentally disordered persons and to eliminate legal disabilities that arise from such commitment;
(2) To provide prompt evaluation and timely and appropriate treatment of persons with serious mental disorders;
(3) To safeguard individual rights;
(4) To provide continuity of care for persons with serious mental disorders;
(5) To encourage the full use of all existing agencies, professional personnel, and public funds to prevent duplication of services and unnecessary expenditures;
(6) To encourage, whenever appropriate, that services be provided within the community;
(7) To protect the public safety.

Sec. 3. RCW 71.05.020 and 1997 c 112 s 3 are each amended to read as follows:
For the purposes of this chapter:
(1) "Antipsychotic medications, also referred to as "neuroleptics,"" means that class of drugs primarily used to treat serious manifestations of mental illness associated with thought disorders (and currently includes phenothiazines, thioxanthenes, butyrophenone, dihydroindolone, and dibenzoxazipine);

Sec. 4. RCW 71.05.030 and 1985 c 354 s 31 are each amended to read as follows:

Persons suffering from a mental disorder may not be involuntarily committed for treatment of such disorder except pursuant to provisions of this chapter, chapter 10.77 RCW (or its successor), chapter 71.06 RCW, chapter 71.34 RCW, transfer pursuant to RCW 72.68.031 through 72.68.037, or pursuant to court ordered evaluation and treatment not to exceed ninety days pending a criminal trial or sentencing.

Sec. 5. RCW 71.05.035 and 1989 c 420 s 2 are each amended to read as follows:

(With respect to chapter 420, Laws of 1989.) The legislature finds that among those persons who endanger the safety of others by committing (felony) crimes are a small number of persons with developmental disabilities. While their conduct is not typical of the vast majority of persons with developmental disabilities who are responsible citizens, for their own welfare and for the safety of others the state may need to exercise control over those few dangerous individuals who are developmentally disabled, have been charged with (felony) crimes that involve a threat to public safety or security, and have been found either incompetent to stand trial or not guilty by reason of insanity. The legislature finds, however, that the use of civil commitment procedures under chapter 71.05 RCW to effect state control over dangerous developmentally disabled persons has resulted in their commitment to institutions for the mentally ill. The legislature finds that existing programs in mental institutions may be inappropriate for persons who are developmentally disabled because the services provided in mental institutions are oriented to persons with mental illness, a condition not necessarily associated with developmental disabilities. Therefore, the legislature believes that, where appropriate, and subject to available funds, persons with developmental disabilities who have been charged with (felony) crimes that involve a threat to public safety or security and have been found incompetent to stand trial or not guilty by reason of insanity should receive state services addressing their needs, that such services must be provided in conformance with an individual habilitation plan, and that their initial treatment should be separate and discrete from treatment for persons involved in any other treatment or habilitation program in a manner consistent with the needs of public safety.

Sec. 6. RCW 71.05.050 and 1997 c 112 s 5 are each amended to read as follows:

Nothing in this chapter shall be construed to limit the right of any person to apply voluntarily to any public or private agency or practitioner for treatment of a mental disorder, either by direct application or by referral. Any person voluntarily admitted for inpatient treatment to any public or private agency shall be released immediately upon his or her request. Any person voluntarily admitted for inpatient treatment to any public or private agency shall orally be advised of the right to immediate release and further advised of such rights in writing as are secured to them pursuant to this chapter and their rights of access to attorneys, courts, and other legal redress. Their condition and status shall be reviewed at least once each one hundred eighty days for evaluation as to the need for further treatment and/or possible release, at which time they shall again be advised of their right to release upon request: PROVIDED HOWEVER, That if the professional staff of any public or private agency or hospital regards a person voluntarily admitted who requests release as presenting, as a result of a mental disorder, an imminent likelihood of serious harm, or is gravely disabled, they may detain such person for sufficient time to notify the (designated) county designated mental health professional of such person's condition to enable (such) the county designated mental health professional to authorize such person being further held in custody or transported to an evaluation and treatment center pursuant to the provisions of this chapter, which shall in ordinary circumstances be no later than the next judicial day: PROVIDED FURTHER, That if a person is brought to the emergency room of a public or private agency or hospital for observation or treatment, the person refuses voluntary admission, and the professional staff of the public or private agency or hospital regard such person as presenting as a result of a mental disorder an imminent likelihood of serious harm, or as presenting an imminent danger because of grave disability, they may detain such person for sufficient time to notify the county designated mental health professional of such person's condition to enable the county designated mental health professional to authorize such person being further held in custody or transported to an evaluation treatment center pursuant to the conditions in this chapter, but which time shall be no more than six hours from the time the professional staff determine that an evaluation by the county designated mental health professional is necessary.

Sec. 7. RCW 71.05.130 and 1991 c 105 s 3 are each amended to read as follows:

In any judicial proceeding for involuntary commitment or detention, or in any proceeding challenging such commitment or detention, the prosecuting attorney for the county in which the proceeding was initiated shall represent the individuals or agencies petitioning for commitment or detention and shall defend all challenges to such commitment or detention: PROVIDED, That the attorney general shall represent and provide legal services and advice to state hospitals or institutions with regard to all provisions of and proceedings under this chapter except in proceedings initiated by such hospitals and institutions seeking fourteen day detention.

Sec. 8. RCW 71.05.150 and 1997 c 112 s 8 are each amended to read as follows:

(1)(a) When a county designated mental health professional receives information alleging that a person, as a result of a mental disorder: (i) Presents a likelihood of serious harm or (ii) is gravely disabled; the county designated mental health professional may, after investigation and evaluation of the specific facts alleged, and of the reliability and credibility of any person providing information to initiate detention, if satisfied that the allegations are true and that the person will not voluntarily seek appropriate treatment, file a petition for initial detention. Before filing the petition, the county designated mental health professional must personally interview the person, unless the person refuses an interview, and determine whether the person will voluntarily receive appropriate evaluation and treatment at an evaluation and treatment facility.

(b) Whenever it appears, by petition for initial detention, to the satisfaction of a judge of the superior court that a person presents, as a result of a mental disorder, a likelihood of serious harm, or is gravely disabled, and that the person has refused or failed to accept appropriate evaluation and treatment voluntarily, the judge may issue an order requiring the person to appear within twenty-four hours after service of the order at a designated evaluation and treatment facility for not more than a seventy-two hour evaluation and treatment period. The order shall state the address of the evaluation and treatment facility to which the person is to report and whether the required seventy-two hour evaluation and treatment services may be delivered on an outpatient or inpatient basis and that if the person named in the order fails to appear at the evaluation and treatment facility at or before the date and time stated in the order, such person may be involuntarily taken into custody for evaluation and treatment. The order shall also designate retained counsel or, if counsel is appointed from a list provided by the court, the name, business address, and telephone number of the attorney appointed to represent the person.

(c) The county designated mental health professional shall then serve or cause to be served on such person, his or her guardian, and conservator, if any, a copy of the order to appear together with a notice of rights and a petition for initial detention. After service on such person the county designated mental health professional shall file the return of service in court and provide copies of all papers in the court file to the evaluation and treatment facility and the designated attorney. The county designated mental health professional shall notify the court and the prosecuting attorney that a probable cause hearing will be held within seventy-two hours of the date and time of outpatient evaluation or admission to the evaluation and treatment facility. The person shall be permitted to remain in his or her home or other place of his or her choosing prior to the time of evaluation and shall be permitted to be accompanied by one or more of his or her relatives, friends, an attorney, a personal physician, or other professional or religious advisor to the place of evaluation. An attorney accompanying the person to the place of evaluation shall be permitted to be present during the admission evaluation. Any other individual accompanying the person may be present during the admission evaluation. The facility may exclude the individual if his or her presence would present a safety risk, delay the proceedings, or otherwise interfere with the evaluation.

(d) If the person ordered to appear does appear on or before the date and time specified, the evaluation and treatment facility may admit such person as required by RCW 71.05.170 or may provide treatment on an outpatient basis. If the person ordered to appear fails to appear on or before the date and time specified, the evaluation and treatment facility shall immediately notify the county designated mental health professional (designated by the county) who may notify a peace officer to take such person or cause such person to be taken into custody and placed in an evaluation and treatment facility. Should the county designated mental health professional notify a peace officer authorizing him or her to take a person into custody under the provisions of this subsection, he or she shall file with the court a copy of such authorization and a notice of detention. At the time such person is taken into custody there shall commence to be served on such person, his or her guardian, and conservator, if any, a copy of the original order together with a notice of detention, a notice of rights, and a petition for initial detention.

(2) When a county designated mental health professional (designated by the county) receives information alleging that a person, as the result of a mental disorder, presents an imminent likelihood of serious harm, or is in imminent danger because of being gravely disabled, after investigation and evaluation of the specific facts alleged and of the reliability and credibility of the person or persons providing the information if any, the county designated mental health professional may take such person, or cause by oral or written order such person to be taken into emergency custody in an evaluation and treatment facility for not more than seventy-two hours as described in RCW 71.05.180.

(3) A peace officer may take such person or cause such person to be taken into custody and placed in an evaluation and treatment facility pursuant to subsection (1)(d) of this section.

(4) A peace officer may, without prior notice of the proceedings provided for in subsection (1) of this section, take or cause such person to be taken into custody and immediately delivered to an evaluation and treatment facility or the emergency department of a local hospital:

(a) Only pursuant to subsections (1)(d) and (2) of this section; or

(b) When he or she has reasonable cause to believe that such person is suffering from a mental disorder and presents an imminent likelihood of serious harm or is in imminent danger because of being gravely disabled.

(5) Persons delivered to evaluation and treatment facilities by peace officers pursuant to subsection (4)(b) of this section may be held by the facility for a period of up to twelve hours: PROVIDED, That they are examined by a mental health professional within three hours of their arrival. Within twelve hours of their arrival, the county designated mental health professional must file a supplemental petition for detention, and commence service on the designated attorney for the detained person.

Sec. 9. RCW 71.05.160 and 1997 c 112 s 10 are each amended to read as follows:

Any facility receiving a person pursuant to RCW 71.05.150 shall require a petition for initial detention stating the circumstances under which the person’s condition was made known and stating that such officer or person has evidence, as a result of his or her personal observation or investigation, that the actions of the person for which application is made constitute a likelihood of serious harm, or that he or she is gravely disabled, and stating the specific facts known to him or her as a result of his or her personal observation or investigation, upon which he or she bases the belief that such person should be detained for the purposes and under the authority of this chapter.

If a person is involuntarily placed in an evaluation and treatment facility pursuant to RCW 71.05.150, on the next judicial day following the initial detention, the county designated mental health professional (designated by the county) shall file with the court and serve the designated attorney of the detained person the petition or supplemental petition for initial detention, proof of service of notice, and a copy of a notice of emergency detention.

Sec. 10. RCW 71.05.170 and 1997 c 112 s 11 are each amended to read as follows:
Whenever the ((designated)) county designated mental health professional petitions for detention of a person whose actions constitute a likelihood of serious harm, or who is gravely disabled, the facility providing seventy-two hour evaluation and treatment must immediately accept on a provisional basis the petition and the person. The facility shall then evaluate the person’s condition and admit or release such person in accordance with RCW 71.05.210. The facility shall notify in writing the court and the ((designated)) county designated mental health professional of the date and time of the initial detention of each person involuntarily detained in order that a probable cause hearing shall be held no later than seventy-two hours after detention.

The duty of a state hospital to accept persons for evaluation and treatment under this section shall be limited by chapter 71.24 RCW.

(1) Whenever any person is detained for evaluation and treatment pursuant to this chapter, both the person and, if possible, a responsible member of his or her immediate family, guardian, or conservator, if any, shall be advised as soon as possible in writing or orally, by the officer or person taking him or her into custody or by personnel of the evaluation and treatment facility where the person is detained that unless the person is released or voluntarily admits himself or herself for treatment within seventy-two hours of the initial detention:
(a) That a judicial hearing in a superior court, either by a judge or court commissioner thereof, shall be held not more than seventy-two hours after the initial detention to determine whether there is probable cause to detain the person after the seventy-two hours have expired for up to an additional fourteen days without further automatic hearing for the reason that the person is a mentally ill person whose mental disorder presents a likelihood of serious harm or that the person is gravely disabled;
(b) That the person has a right to communicate immediately with an attorney; has a right to have an attorney appointed to represent him or her before and at the probable cause hearing if he or she is indigent; and has the right to be told the name and address of the attorney the mental health professional has designated pursuant to this chapter;
(c) That the person has the right to remain silent and that any statement he or she makes may be used against him or her;
(d) That the person has the right to present evidence and to cross-examine witnesses who testify against him or her at the probable cause hearing; and
(e) That the person has the right to refuse psychiatric medications, including antipsychotic medication beginning twenty-four hours prior to the probable cause hearing.
(2) When proceedings are initiated under RCW 71.05.150 (2), (3), or (4)(b), no later than twelve hours after such person is admitted to the evaluation and treatment facility the personnel of the evaluation and treatment facility or the county designated mental health professional shall serve on such person a copy of the petition for initial detention and the name, business address, and phone number of the designated attorney and shall forthwith commence service of a copy of the petition for initial detention on the designated attorney.
(3) The judicial hearing described in subsection (1) of this section is hereby authorized, and shall be held according to the provisions of subsection (1) of this section and rules promulgated by the supreme court.

Sec. 12. RCW 71.05.210 and 1997 c 112 s 15 are each amended to read as follows:
Each person involuntarily admitted to an evaluation and treatment facility shall, within twenty-four hours of his or her admission, be examined and evaluated by a licensed physician who may be assisted by a physician assistant according to chapter 18.71A RCW or an advanced registered nurse practitioner according to chapter 18.79 RCW and a mental health professional ((as defined in this chapter)), and shall receive such treatment and care as his or her condition requires including treatment on an outpatient basis for the period that he or she is detained, except that, beginning twenty-four hours prior to a trial or hearing pursuant to RCW 71.05.215, 71.05.240, 71.05.310, 71.05.320, 71.05.340, or 71.05.370, the individual may refuse psychiatric medications, but may not refuse: (1) Any other medication previously prescribed by a person licensed under Title 18 RCW; or (2) emergency lifesaving treatment, and the individual shall be informed at an appropriate time of his or her right of such refusal. The person shall be detained up to seventy-two hours, if, in the opinion of the professional person in charge of the facility, or his or her professional designee, the person presents a likelihood of serious harm, or is gravely disabled. A person who has been detained for seventy-two hours shall no later than the end of such period be released, unless referred for further care on a voluntary basis, or detained pursuant to court order for further treatment as provided in this chapter.

If, after examination and evaluation, the licensed physician and mental health professional determine that the initial needs of the person would be better served by placement in a chemical dependency treatment facility, then the person shall be referred to an approved treatment program defined under RCW 70.96A.020.

An evaluation and treatment center admitting any person pursuant to this chapter whose physical condition reveals the need for hospitalization shall assure that such person is transferred to an appropriate hospital for treatment. Notice of such fact shall be given to the court, the designated attorney, and the county designated mental health professional and the court shall order such continuance in proceedings under this chapter as may be necessary, but in no event may this continuance be more than fourteen days.

Sec. 13. RCW 71.05.230 and 1997 c 112 s 18 are each amended to read as follows:

A person detained for seventy-two hour evaluation and treatment may be detained for not more than fourteen additional days of involuntary intensive treatment or ninety additional days of a less restrictive alternative to involuntary intensive treatment if the following conditions are met:

(1) The professional staff of the agency or facility providing evaluation services has analyzed the person’s condition and finds that the condition is caused by mental disorder and either results in a likelihood of serious harm, or results in the detained person being gravely disabled and are prepared to testify those conditions are met; and

(2) The person has been advised of the need for voluntary treatment and the professional staff of the facility has evidence that he or she has not in good faith volunteered; and

(3) The facility providing intensive treatment is certified to provide such treatment by the department; and

(4) The professional staff of the agency or facility or the county designated mental health professional has filed a petition for fourteen day involuntary detention or a ninety day less restrictive alternative with the court. The petition must be signed either by two physicians or by one physician and a mental health professional who have examined the person. If involuntary detention is sought the petition shall state facts that support the finding that such person, as a result of mental disorder, presents a likelihood of serious harm, or is gravely disabled and that there are no less restrictive alternatives to detention in the best interest of such person or others. The petition shall state specifically that less restrictive alternative treatment was considered and specify why treatment less restrictive than detention is not appropriate. If an involuntary less restrictive alternative is sought, the petition shall state facts that support the finding that such person, as a result of mental disorder, presents a likelihood of serious harm, or is gravely disabled and shall set forth the less restrictive alternative proposed by the facility; and

(5) A copy of the petition has been served on the detained person, his or her attorney and his or her guardian or conservator, if any, prior to the probable cause hearing; and

(6) The court at the time the petition was filed and before the probable cause hearing has appointed counsel to represent such person if no other counsel has appeared; and

(7) The court has ordered a fourteen day involuntary intensive treatment or a ninety day less restrictive alternative treatment after a probable cause hearing has been held pursuant to RCW 71.05.240; and
At the conclusion of the initial commitment period, the professional staff of the agency or facility or the county designated mental health professional (designated by the county) may petition for an additional period of either ninety days of less restrictive alternative treatment or ninety days of involuntary intensive treatment as provided in RCW 71.05.290; and

If the hospital or facility designated to provide outpatient treatment is other than the facility providing involuntary treatment, the outpatient facility so designated has agreed to assume such responsibility.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 14. A new section is added to chapter 71.05 RCW to read as follows: In making a determination of whether there is a likelihood of serious harm in a hearing conducted under RCW 71.05.240 or 71.05.320, the court shall give great weight to whether the person has: (1) A recent history of one or more violent acts; or (2) a recent history of one or more commitments under this chapter or its equivalent provisions under the laws of another state which were based on a likelihood of serious harm. The existence of prior violent acts or commitments under this chapter or its equivalent shall not be the sole basis for determining whether a person presents a likelihood of serious harm.

For the purposes of this section "recent" refers to the period of time not exceeding three years prior to the current hearing.

Sec. 15. RCW 71.05.280 and 1997 c 112 s 22 are each amended to read as follows:

At the expiration of the fourteen-day period of intensive treatment, a person may be confined for further treatment pursuant to RCW 71.05.320 if:

(1) Such person after having been taken into custody for evaluation and treatment has threatened, attempted, or inflicted: (a) Physical harm upon the person of another or himself or herself, or substantial damage upon the property of another, and (b) as a result of mental disorder presents a likelihood of serious harm; or

(2) Such person was taken into custody as a result of conduct in which he or she attempted or inflicted physical harm upon the person of another or himself or herself, or substantial damage upon the property of others, and continues to present, as a result of mental disorder, a likelihood of serious harm; or

(3) Such person has been determined to be incompetent and criminal charges have been dismissed pursuant to RCW 10.77.090((3)) (4), and has committed acts constituting a felony, and as a result of a mental disorder, presents a substantial likelihood of repeating similar acts. In any proceeding pursuant to this subsection it shall not be necessary to show intent, willfulness, or state of mind as an element of the ((felony)) crime; or

(4) Such person is gravely disabled.

Sec. 16. RCW 71.05.290 and 1997 c 112 s 24 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) At any time during a person’s fourteen day intensive treatment period, the professional person in charge of a treatment facility or his or her professional designee or the county designated mental health professional may petition the superior court for an order requiring such person to undergo an additional period of treatment. Such petition must be based on one or more of the grounds set forth in RCW 71.05.280.

(2) The petition shall summarize the facts which support the need for further confinement and shall be supported by affidavits signed by two examining physicians, or by one examining physician and examining mental health professional. The affidavits shall describe in detail the behavior of the detained person which supports the petition and shall explain what, if any, less restrictive treatments which are alternatives to detention are available to such person, and shall state the willingness of the affiant to testify to such facts in subsequent judicial proceedings under this chapter.

(3) If a person has been determined to be incompetent pursuant to RCW 10.77.090((3)) (4), then the professional person in charge of the treatment facility or his or her professional designee or the county designated mental health professional may directly file a petition for one hundred eighty day treatment under RCW 71.05.280(3). No petition for initial detention or fourteen day detention is required before such a petition may be filed.
Sec. 17. RCW 71.05.300 and 1997 c 112 s 25 are each amended to read as follows:

The petition for ninety day treatment shall be filed with the clerk of the superior court at least three days before expiration of the fourteen-day period of intensive treatment. At the time of filing such petition, the clerk shall set a time for the person to come before the court on the next judicial day after the day of filing unless such appearance is waived by the person’s attorney, and the clerk shall notify the (designated) county designated mental health professional. The (designated) county designated mental health professional shall immediately notify the person detained, his or her attorney, if any, and his or her guardian or conservator, if any, and the prosecuting attorney, and provide a copy of the petition to such persons as soon as possible.

At the time set for appearance the detained person shall be brought before the court, unless such appearance has been waived and the court shall advise him or her of his or her right to be represented by an attorney and of his or her right to a jury trial. If the detained person is not represented by an attorney, or is indigent or is unwilling to retain an attorney, the court shall immediately appoint an attorney to represent him or her. The court shall, if requested, appoint a reasonably available licensed physician, psychologist, or psychiatrist, designated by the detained person to examine and testify on behalf of the detained person.

The court may, if requested, also appoint a professional person as defined in RCW 71.05.020 to seek less restrictive alternative courses of treatment and to testify on behalf of the detained person. In the case of a developmentally disabled person who has been determined to be incompetent pursuant to RCW 10.77.090(3), then the appointed professional person under this section shall be a developmental disabilities professional.

The court shall also set a date for a full hearing on the petition as provided in RCW 71.05.310.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 18. A new section is added to chapter 71.05 RCW to read as follows:

(1) If an individual is referred to a county designated mental health professional under RCW 10.77.090(1)(d)(iii)(A), the county designated mental health professional shall examine the individual within forty-eight hours. If the county designated mental health professional determines it is not appropriate to detain the individual or petition for a ninety-day less restrictive alternative under RCW 71.05.230(4), that decision shall be immediately presented to the superior court for hearing. The court shall hold a hearing to consider the decision of the county designated mental health professional not later than the next judicial day. At the hearing the superior court shall review the determination of the county designated mental health professional and determine whether an order should be entered requiring the person to be evaluated at an evaluation and treatment facility. No person referred to an evaluation and treatment facility may be held at the facility longer than seventy-two hours.

(2) If an individual is placed in an evaluation and treatment facility under RCW 10.77.090(1)(d)(iii)(B), a professional person shall evaluate the individual for purposes of determining whether to file a ninety-day inpatient or outpatient petition under chapter 71.05 RCW. Immediately following completion of the evaluation, the professional person shall file a petition or, if the recommendation of the professional person is to release the individual, present his or her recommendation to the court. The superior court shall review the recommendation not later than the next judicial day. For an individual subject to this subsection, the professional person may directly file a petition for ninety-day inpatient or outpatient treatment and no petition for initial detention or fourteen-day detention is required before such a petition may be filed.

(3) If a county designated mental health professional or the professional person and prosecuting attorney or attorney general, as appropriate, stipulate that the individual does not present a likelihood of serious harm or is not gravely disabled, the hearing under this section is not required and the individual, if in custody, shall be released.

(4) The individual shall have the rights specified in RCW 71.05.250.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 19. A new section is added to chapter 71.05 RCW to read as follows:

Whenever a county designated mental health professional or professional person is conducting an evaluation under this chapter, consideration shall include all reasonably available information and records regarding: (1) Prior recommendations for evaluation of the need for civil commitments when the recommendation is made pursuant to an evaluation conducted under chapter 10.77 RCW; (2) history of one or more violent acts; (3) prior determinations of incompetency or insanity under chapter 10.77 RCW; and (4) prior commitments under this chapter.

Sec. 20. RCW 71.05.330 and 1997 c 112 s 27 are each amended to read as follows:
(1) Nothing in this chapter shall prohibit the superintendent or professional person in charge of the hospital or facility in which the person is being involuntarily treated from releasing him or her prior to the expiration of the commitment period when, in the opinion of the superintendent or professional person in charge, the person being involuntarily treated no longer presents a likelihood of serious harm.

Whenever the superintendent or professional person in charge of a hospital or facility providing involuntary treatment pursuant to this chapter releases a person prior to the expiration of the period of commitment, the superintendent or professional person in charge shall in writing notify the court which committed the person for treatment.

(2) Before a person committed under grounds set forth in RCW 71.05.280(3) or 71.05.320(2)(c) is released under this section, the superintendent or professional person in charge shall in writing notify the prosecuting attorney of the county in which the criminal charges against the committed person were dismissed, of the release date. Notice shall be provided at least thirty days before the release date. Within twenty days after receiving notice, the prosecuting attorney may petition the court in the county in which the person is being involuntarily treated for a hearing to determine whether the person is to be released. The prosecuting attorney shall provide a copy of the petition to the superintendent or professional person in charge of the hospital or facility providing involuntary treatment, the attorney, if any, and the guardian or conservator of the committed person. The court shall conduct a hearing on the petition within ten days of filing the petition. The committed person shall have the same rights with respect to notice, hearing, and counsel as for an involuntary treatment proceeding, except as set forth in this subsection and except that there shall be no right to jury trial. The issue to be determined at the hearing is whether or not the person may be released without substantial danger to other persons, or substantial likelihood of committing (felonious) criminal acts jeopardizing public safety or security. If the court disapproves of the release, it may do so only on the basis of substantial evidence. Pursuant to the determination of the court upon the hearing, the committed person shall be released or shall be returned for involuntary treatment subject to release at the end of the period for which he or she was committed, or otherwise in accordance with the provisions of this chapter.

Sec. 21. RCW 71.05.340 and 1997 c 112 s 28 are each amended to read as follows:
(1)(a) When, in the opinion of the superintendent or the professional person in charge of the hospital or facility providing involuntary treatment, the committed person can be appropriately served by outpatient treatment prior to or at the expiration of the period of commitment, then such outpatient care may be required as a condition for early release for a period which, when added to the inpatient treatment period, shall not exceed the period of commitment. If the hospital or facility designated to provide outpatient treatment is other than the facility providing involuntary treatment, the outpatient facility so designated must agree in writing to assume such responsibility. A copy of the conditions for early release shall be given to the patient, the county designated mental health professional in the county in which the patient is to receive outpatient treatment, and to the court of original commitment.

(b) Before a person committed under grounds set forth in RCW 71.05.280(3) or 71.05.320(2)(c) is conditionally released under (a) of this subsection, the superintendent or professional person in charge of the hospital or facility providing involuntary treatment shall in writing notify the prosecuting attorney of the county in which the criminal charges against the committed person were dismissed, of the decision to conditionally release the person. Notice and a copy of the conditions for early release shall be provided at least thirty days before the person is released from inpatient care. Within twenty days after receiving notice, the prosecuting attorney may petition the court in the county that issued the commitment order to hold a hearing to determine whether the person may be conditionally released and the terms of the conditional release. The prosecuting attorney shall provide a copy of the petition to the superintendent or professional person in charge of the hospital or facility providing involuntary treatment, the attorney, if any, and the guardian or conservator of the committed person. The court shall conduct a hearing on the petition within ten days of filing the petition. The committed person shall have the same rights with respect to notice, hearing, and counsel as for an involuntary treatment proceeding, except as set forth in this subsection and except that there shall be no right to jury trial. The issue to be determined at the hearing is whether or not the person may be released without substantial danger to other persons, or substantial likelihood of committing (felonious) criminal acts jeopardizing public safety or security. If the court disapproves of the release, it may do so only on the basis of substantial evidence. Pursuant to the determination of the court upon the hearing, the committed person shall be released or shall be returned for involuntary treatment subject to release at the end of the period for which he or she was committed, or otherwise in accordance with the provisions of this chapter.
attorney shall provide a copy of the petition to the superintendent or professional person in charge of the hospital or facility providing involuntary treatment, the attorney, if any, and guardian or conservator of the committed person, and the court of original commitment. If the county in which the committed person is to receive outpatient treatment is the same county in which the criminal charges against the committed person were dismissed, then the court shall, upon the motion of the prosecutor, transfer the proceeding to the court in that county. The court shall conduct a hearing on the petition within ten days of the filing of the petition. The committed person shall have the same rights with respect to notice, hearing, and counsel as for an involuntary treatment proceeding, except as set forth in this subsection and except that there shall be no right to jury trial. The issue to be determined at the hearing is whether or not the person may be conditionally released without substantial danger to other persons, or substantial likelihood of committing (felonious) criminal acts jeopardizing public safety or security. If the court disapproves of the conditional release, it may do so only on the basis of substantial evidence. Pursuant to the determination of the court upon the hearing, the conditional release of the person shall be approved by the court on the same or modified conditions or the person shall be returned for involuntary treatment on an inpatient basis subject to release at the end of the period for which he or she was committed, or otherwise in accordance with the provisions of this chapter.

(2) The hospital or facility designated to provide outpatient care or the secretary may modify the conditions for continued release when such modification is in the best interest of the person. Notification of such changes shall be sent to all persons receiving a copy of the original conditions.

(3)(a) If the hospital or facility designated to provide outpatient care, the designated mental health professional, or the secretary determines that:

(i) A conditionally released person is failing to adhere to the terms and conditions of his or her release;

(ii) Substantial deterioration in a conditionally released person’s functioning has occurred;

(iii) There is evidence of substantial decompensation with a reasonable probability that the decompensation can be reversed by further inpatient treatment; or

(iv) The person poses a likelihood of serious harm.

Upon notification by the hospital or facility designated to provide outpatient care, or on his or her own motion, the county designated mental health professional or the secretary may order that the conditionally released person be apprehended and taken into custody and temporarily detained in an evaluation and treatment facility in or near the county in which he or she is receiving outpatient treatment.

(b) The hospital or facility designated to provide outpatient treatment shall notify the secretary or county designated mental health professional when a conditionally released person fails to adhere to terms and conditions of his or her release or experiences substantial deterioration in his or her condition and, as a result, presents an increased likelihood of serious harm. The county designated mental health professional or secretary shall order the person apprehended and temporarily detained in an evaluation and treatment facility in or near the county in which he or she is receiving outpatient treatment.

(c) A person detained under this subsection (3) shall be held until such time, not exceeding five days, as a hearing can be scheduled to determine whether or not the person should be returned to the hospital or facility from which he or she had been conditionally released. The county designated mental health professional or the secretary may modify or rescind such order at any time prior to commencement of the court hearing.

(d) The court that originally ordered commitment shall be notified within two judicial days of a person’s detention under the provisions of this section, and the county designated mental health professional or the secretary shall file his or her petition and order of apprehension and detention with the court and serve them upon the person detained. His or her attorney, if any, and his or her guardian or conservator, if any, shall receive a copy of such papers as soon as possible. Such person shall have the same rights with respect to notice, hearing, and counsel as for an involuntary treatment proceeding, except as specifically set forth in this section and except that there shall be no right to jury trial. The issues to be determined shall be: (i) Whether the conditionally released person did or did not adhere to the terms and conditions of his or her release; (ii) that substantial deterioration in the person’s functioning has occurred; (iii) there is evidence of substantial decompensation with a (reasonable) probability that the decompensation can be reversed by further inpatient treatment; or (iv) there is a likelihood of serious harm; and, if any of the conditions listed in this subsection (3)(d) have occurred, whether the conditions of release should be modified or the person should be returned to the facility.

Pursuant to the determination of the court upon such hearing, the conditionally released person shall either continue to be conditionally released on the same or modified conditions or shall be returned for involuntary treatment on an inpatient basis subject to release at the end of the period for which he or she was committed for involuntary treatment, or otherwise in accordance with the provisions of this chapter. Such hearing may be waived by the person and his or her counsel and his or her guardian or conservator, if any, but shall not be waivable unless all such persons agree to waive, and upon such waiver the person may be returned for involuntary treatment or continued on conditional release on the same or modified conditions.

The proceedings set forth in subsection (3) of this section may be initiated by the county designated mental health professional or the secretary on the same basis set forth therein without requiring or ordering the apprehension and detention of the conditionally released person, in which case the court hearing shall take place in not less than five days from the date of service of the petition upon the conditionally released person. Upon expiration of the period of commitment, or when the person is released from outpatient care, notice in writing to the court which committed the person for treatment shall be provided.

The grounds and procedures for revocation of less restrictive alternative treatment shall be the same as those set forth in this section for conditional releases.

In the event of a revocation of a conditional release, the subsequent treatment period may be for no longer than the actual period authorized in the original court order.

Sec. 22. RCW 71.05.390 and 1993 c 448 s 6 are each amended to read as follows:

Except as provided in this section, the fact of admission and all information and records compiled, obtained, or maintained in the course of providing services to either voluntary or involuntary recipients of services at public or private agencies shall be confidential. Information and records may be disclosed only:

(1) In communications between qualified professional persons to meet the requirements of this chapter, in the provision of services or appropriate referrals, or in the course of guardianship proceedings. The consent of the patient, or his or her guardian, shall be obtained before information or records may be disclosed by a professional person employed by a facility unless provided to a professional person (employed by the facility (who does not have the)): (a) who has medical responsibility for the patient’s care (or who is not); (c) who is a county designated mental health professional (or who is not involved in): (d) who is providing services under (the community mental health services act, ) chapter 71.24 RCW; or (e) who is employed by a state or local correctional facility where the person is confined.

(2) When the communications regard the special needs of a patient and the necessary circumstances giving rise to such needs and the disclosure is made by a facility providing outpatient services to the operator of a care facility in which the patient resides.

(3) When the person receiving services, or his or her guardian, designates persons to whom information or records may be released, or if the person is a minor, when his or her parents make such designation.

(4) To the extent necessary for a recipient to make a claim, or for a claim to be made on behalf of a recipient for aid, insurance, or medical assistance to which he or she may be entitled.

(5) For either program evaluation or research, or both: PROVIDED, That the secretary of social and health services adopts rules for the conduct of the evaluation or research, or both. Sec. 23. RCW 71.05.530 and 1973 1st ex.s. c 142 s 58 are each amended to read as follows: Evaluation and treatment facilities authorized pursuant to this chapter may be part of the comprehensive community mental health services program conducted in counties pursuant to ((the Community Mental Health Services Act,)) chapter 71.24 RCW, and may receive funding pursuant to the provisions thereof.

Sec. 24. RCW 71.05.560 and 1973 1st ex.s. c 142 s 61 are each amended to read as follows: The department ((of social and health services)) shall adopt such rules ((and regulations)) as may be necessary to effectuate the intent and purposes of this chapter, which shall include but not be limited to evaluation of the quality of the program and facilities operating pursuant to this chapter, evaluation of the effectiveness and cost effectiveness of such programs and facilities, and procedures and standards for certification and other action relevant to evaluation and treatment facilities.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 25. A new section is added to chapter 71.05 RCW to read as follows: In any judicial proceeding in which a professional person has made a recommendation regarding whether an individual should be committed for treatment under this chapter, and the court does not follow the recommendation, the court shall enter findings that state with particularity its reasoning, including a finding whether the state met its burden of proof in showing whether the person presents a likelihood of serious harm.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 26. A new section is added to chapter 71.05 RCW to read as follows: The department shall develop state-wide protocols to be utilized by professional persons and county designated mental health professionals in administration of this chapter and chapter 10.77 RCW. The protocols shall be updated at least every three years. The protocols shall provide uniform development and application of criteria in evaluation and commitment recommendations, of persons who have, or are alleged to have, mental disorders and are subject to this chapter. The initial protocols shall be developed not later than September 1, 1999. The department shall develop and update the protocols in consultation with representatives of county designated mental health professionals, local government, law enforcement, county and city prosecutors, public defenders, and groups concerned with mental illness. The protocols shall be submitted to the governor and legislature upon adoption by the department.

Sec. 27. RCW 10.77.005 and 1989 c 420 s 1 are each amended to read as follows: ((With respect to this act,)) The legislature finds that among those persons who endanger the safety of others by committing ((felony)) crimes are a small number of persons with developmental disabilities. While their conduct is not typical of the vast majority of persons with developmental disabilities who are responsible citizens, for their own welfare and for the safety of others the state may need to exercise control over those few dangerous individuals who are developmentally disabled, have been charged with ((felony)) crimes that involve a threat to public safety or security, and have been found either incompetent to stand trial or not guilty by reason of insanity. The legislature finds, however, that the use of civil commitment procedures under chapter 71.05 RCW to effect state control over dangerous developmentally disabled persons has resulted in their commitment to institutions for the mentally ill. The legislature finds that existing programs in mental institutions may be inappropriate for persons who are developmentally disabled because the services provided in mental institutions are oriented to persons with mental illness, a condition not necessarily associated with developmental disabilities. Therefore, the legislature believes that, where appropriate, and subject to available funds, persons with developmental disabilities who have been charged with ((felony)) crimes that involve a threat to public safety or security and have been found incompetent to stand trial or not guilty by reason of insanity should receive state services addressing their needs, that such services must be provided in conformance with an individual habilitation plan, and that their initial treatment should be separate and discrete from treatment for persons involved in any other treatment or habilitation program in a manner consistent with the needs of public safety.

A person may waive his or her right to counsel; but such waiver shall only be effective if a court makes a specific finding that he or she is or was competent to so waive. (1) Whenever any person has been: (a) Committed to a correctional facility or inpatient treatment under any provision of this chapter; or (b) ordered to undergo alternative treatment following his or her acquittal by reason of insanity of a crime charged, such commitment or treatment cannot exceed the maximum possible penal sentence for any offense charged for which the person was committed, or was acquitted by reason of insanity.

(2) Whenever any person committed under any provision of this chapter has not been finally discharged within seven days of the maximum possible penal sentence under subsection (1) of this section, and the professional person in charge of the facility believes it more likely than not that the person will not be finally discharged, the professional person shall, prior to the person’s release from the facility, notify the appropriate county designated mental health professional of the impending release and provide a copy of all relevant information regarding the person, including the likely release date and shall indicate why final discharge was not made.

3. If your answer to number 2 is yes, is the defendant a substantial danger to other persons unless kept under further control by the court or other persons or institutions? . . . .

4. If your answer to number 2 is yes, does the defendant present a substantial likelihood of committing felonious criminal acts jeopardizing public safety or security unless kept under further control by the court or other persons or institutions? . . . .

5. If your answers to either number 3 or number 4 is yes, is it in the best interests of the defendant and others that the

At the hearing upon the motion the defendant shall have the burden of proving by a preponderance of the evidence that he or she was insane at the time of the offense or offenses with which he or she is charged. If the court finds that the defendant should be acquitted by reason of insanity, it shall enter specific findings in substantially the same form as set forth in RCW 10.77.040 (as now or hereafter amended). If the motion is denied, the question may be submitted to the trier of fact in the same manner as other issues of fact.

Sec. 37. RCW 10.77.090 and 1989 c 420 s 5 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) (a) If at any time during the pendency of an action and prior to judgment the court finds, following a report as provided in RCW 10.77.060, (as now or hereafter amended, that the) a defendant is incompetent the court shall order the proceedings against the defendant be stayed except as provided in subsection (5) (7) of this section.

(b) If the defendant is charged with a felony and determined to be incompetent, the court shall commit the defendant to the custody of the secretary, who shall place such defendant in an appropriate facility of the department for evaluation and treatment, or the court may alternatively order the defendant to undergo evaluation and treatment at some other facility as determined by the department, or under the guidance and control of a professional person, until he or she has regained the competency necessary to understand the proceedings against him or her and assist in his or her own defense, but in any event, for no longer than a period of ninety days.

(c) A defendant found incompetent shall be evaluated at the direction of the secretary and a determination made whether the defendant is developmentally disabled. Such evaluation and determination shall be accomplished as soon as possible following the court’s placement of the defendant in the custody of the secretary. When appropriate, and subject to available funds, if the defendant is determined to be developmentally disabled, he or she may be placed in a program specifically reserved for the treatment and training of persons with developmental disabilities where the defendant shall have the right to habilitation according to an individualized service plan specifically developed for the particular needs of the defendant. The program shall be separate from programs serving persons involved in any other treatment or habilitation program. The program shall be appropriately secure under the circumstances and shall be administered by developmental disabilities professionals who shall direct the habilitation efforts. The program shall provide an environment affording security appropriate with the charged criminal behavior and necessary to protect the public safety. The department may limit admissions of such persons to this specialized program in order to ensure that expenditures for services do not exceed amounts appropriated by the legislature and allocated by the department for such services. The department may establish admission priorities in the event that the number of eligible persons exceeds the limits set by the department. A copy of the report shall be sent to the facility.

(d)(i) If the defendant is:
(A) Charged with a nonfelony crime and has: (I) A history of one or more violent acts, or a pending charge of one or more violent acts; or (II) been previously acquitted by reason of insanity or been previously found incompetent under this chapter with regard to an alleged offense involving actual, threatened, or attempted physical harm to a person; and
(B) Found by the court to be not competent; then
(C) The court shall order the secretary to place the defendant: (I) At a secure mental health facility in the custody of the department or an agency designated by the department for mental health treatment and restoration of competency. The placement shall not exceed fourteen days in addition to any unused time of the evaluation under RCW 10.77.060. The fourteen-day period shall be considered to include only the time the defendant is actually at the facility and shall be in addition to reasonable time for transport to or from the facility; (II) on conditional release for up to ninety days for mental health treatment and restoration of competency; or (III) any combination of (d)(i)(C)(I) and (II) of this subsection.

(ii) At the end of the mental health treatment and restoration period in (d)(i) of this subsection, or at any time a professional person determines competency has been, or is unlikely to be, restored the defendant shall be returned to court for a hearing. If, after notice and hearing, competency has been restored, the stay entered under (a) of this subsection shall be lifted. If competency has not been restored, the proceedings shall be dismissed. If the court concludes that competency has not been restored, but that further treatment within the time limits established by (d)(i) of this subsection is likely to restore competency, the court may order that treatment for purposes of competency restoration be continued. Such treatment may not extend beyond the combination of time provided for in (d)(i)(C)(I) and (II) of this subsection.

(iii)(A) If the proceedings are dismissed under (d)(ii) of this subsection and the defendant was on conditional release at the time of dismissal, the court shall order the county designated mental health professional within that county to evaluate the defendant pursuant to chapter 71.05 RCW. The evaluation may be conducted in any location chosen by the professional.
(B) If the defendant was in custody and not on conditional release at the time of dismissal, the defendant shall be detained and sent to an evaluation and treatment facility for up to seventy-two hours for evaluation for purposes of filing a petition under chapter 71.05 RCW.
(iv) If at any time during the proceeding the court finds, following notice and hearing, a defendant is not likely to regain competency, the proceedings shall be dismissed and the defendant shall be evaluated as provided in (d)(iii) of this subsection.
(e) If the defendant is charged with a crime that is not a felony and the defendant does not meet the criteria under (d) of this subsection, the court may stay or dismiss proceedings and detain the defendant for sufficient time to allow the county designated mental health professional to evaluate the defendant and consider initial detention proceedings under chapter 71.05 RCW. The court must give notice to all parties at least twenty-four hours before the dismissal of any proceeding under this subsection (1)(e), and provide an opportunity for a hearing on whether to dismiss the proceedings.
(2) On or before expiration of the initial ninety-day period of commitment under subsection (1)(b) of this section the court shall conduct a hearing, at which it shall determine whether or not the defendant is incompetent. (If the defendant is charged with a crime which is not a felony, the court may stay or dismiss proceedings and detain the defendant for sufficient time to allow the county mental health professional to evaluate the defendant and commence proceedings under chapter 71.05 RCW if appropriate; and subsections (2) and (3) of this section shall not be applicable. PROVIDED, That, upon order of the court, the prosecutor may directly petition for fourteen days of involuntary treatment under chapter 71.05 RCW.

(3) If the court finds by a preponderance of the evidence that ((the)) a defendant charged with a felony is incompetent, the court shall have the option of extending the order of commitment or alternative treatment for an additional ninety-day period, but it must at the time of extension set a date for a prompt hearing to determine the defendant’s competency before the expiration of the second ninety-day period. The defendant, the defendant’s attorney, or the prosecutor((or the judge)) shall have the right to demand that the hearing ((on or before the expiration of the second ninety-day period)) be before a jury. No extension shall be ordered for a second ninety-day period, nor for any subsequent period as provided in subsection (((4))) (4) of this section if the defendant’s incompetence has been determined by the secretary to be solely the result of a developmental disability which is such that competence is not reasonably likely to be regained during an extension. ((If no demand is made, the hearing shall be before the court. The court or jury shall determine whether or not the defendant has become competent.)

(4) For persons charged with a felony, at the hearing upon the expiration of the second ninety-day period or at the end of the first ninety-day period, in the case of a developmentally disabled defendant, if the jury or court((, as the case may be,)) finds that the defendant is incompetent, the charges shall be dismissed without prejudice, and either civil commitment proceedings shall be instituted((, if appropriate,)) or the court shall order the release of the defendant: PROVIDED, That the criminal charges shall not be dismissed if ((at the end of the second ninety-day period, or at the end of the first ninety-day period, in the case of a developmentally disabled defendant,)) the court or jury finds that: (a) The defendant (i) is a substantial danger to other persons((, or (ii) presents a substantial likelihood of committing (felonious) criminal acts jeopardizing public safety or security; and (that) (b) there is a substantial probability that the defendant will regain competency within a reasonable period of time. In the event that the court or jury makes such a finding, the court may extend the period of commitment for an additional six months. At the end of ((said)) the six-month period, if the defendant remains incompetent, the charges shall be dismissed without prejudice and either civil commitment proceedings shall be instituted((, if appropriate,)) or the court shall order release of the defendant.

(5) If the defendant is referred to the county designated mental health professional for consideration of initial detention proceedings under chapter 71.05 RCW pursuant to this chapter, the county designated mental health professional shall provide prompt written notification of the results of the determination whether to commence initial detention proceedings under chapter 71.05 RCW, and whether the person was detained. The notification shall be provided to the court in which the criminal action was pending, the prosecutor, the defense attorney in the criminal action, and the facility that evaluated the defendant for competency.

(6) The fact that the defendant is unfit to proceed does not preclude any pretrial proceedings which do not require the personal participation of the defendant.

(7) A defendant receiving medication for either physical or mental problems shall not be prohibited from standing trial, if the medication either enables the defendant to understand the proceedings against him or her and to assist in his or her own defense, or does not disable him or her from so understanding and assisting in his or her own defense.

(8) At or before the conclusion of any commitment period provided for by this section, the facility providing evaluation and treatment shall provide to the court a written report of examination which meets the requirements of RCW 10.77.060(3).

Sec. 38. RCW 10.77.110 and 1989 c 420 s 6 are each amended to read as follows:
(1) If a defendant is acquitted of a felony crime by reason of insanity, and it is found that he or she is not a substantial danger to other persons, and does not present a substantial likelihood of committing a felonious criminal acts jeopardizing public safety or security, unless kept under further control by the court or other persons or institutions, the court shall direct the defendant’s final discharge. If it is found that such defendant is a substantial danger to other persons, or presents a substantial likelihood of committing a felonious criminal acts jeopardizing public safety or security, unless kept under further control by the court or other persons or institutions, the court shall order his or her hospitalization, or any appropriate alternative treatment less restrictive than detention in a state mental hospital, pursuant to the terms of this chapter.

(2) If the defendant has been found not guilty by reason of insanity and a substantial danger, or presents a substantial likelihood of committing a felonious criminal acts jeopardizing public safety or security, so as to require treatment then the secretary shall immediately cause the defendant to be evaluated to ascertain if the defendant is developmentally disabled. When appropriate, and subject to available funds, the defendant may be committed to a program specifically reserved for the treatment and training of developmentally disabled persons. A person so committed shall receive habilitation services according to an individualized service plan specifically developed to treat the behavior which was the subject of the criminal proceedings. The treatment program shall be administered by developmental disabilities professionals and others trained specifically in the needs of developmentally disabled persons. The treatment program shall provide physical security to a degree consistent with the finding that the defendant is dangerous and may incorporate varying conditions of security and alternative sites when the dangerousness of any particular defendant makes this necessary. The department may limit admissions to this specialized program in order to ensure that expenditures for services do not exceed amounts appropriated by the legislature and allocated by the department for such services. The department may establish admission priorities in the event that the number of eligible persons exceeds the limits set by the department.

(3) If it is found that such defendant is not a substantial danger to other persons, and does not present a substantial likelihood of committing a felonious criminal acts jeopardizing public safety or security, but that he or she is in need of control by the court or other persons or institutions, the court shall direct the defendant’s conditional release. If the defendant is acquitted by reason of insanity of a crime which is not a felony, the court shall order the defendant’s release or order the defendant’s continued custody only for a reasonable time to allow the county-designated mental health professional to evaluate the individual and to proceed with civil commitment pursuant to chapter 71.05 RCW, if considered appropriate.)

Sec. 39. RCW 10.77.140 and 1989 c 420 s 8 are each amended to read as follows:
Each person committed to a hospital or other facility or conditionally released pursuant to this chapter shall have a current examination of his or her mental condition made by one or more experts or professional persons at least once every six months. (Said) The person may retain, or if the person is indigent and so requests, the court may appoint a qualified expert or professional person to examine him or her, and such expert or professional person shall have access to all hospital records concerning the person. In the case of a committed or conditionally released person who is developmentally disabled, the expert shall be a developmental disabilities professional. The secretary, on receipt of the periodic report, shall provide written notice to the court of commitment of compliance with the requirements of this section.

Sec. 40. RCW 10.77.150 and 1993 c 31 s 6 are each amended to read as follows:
(1) Persons examined pursuant to RCW 10.77.140(as now or hereafter amended) may make application to the secretary for conditional release. The secretary shall, after considering the reports of experts or professional persons conducting the examination pursuant to RCW 10.77.140, forward to the court of the county which ordered the person’s commitment the person’s application for conditional release as well as the secretary’s recommendations concerning the application and any proposed terms and conditions upon which the secretary reasonably believes the person can be conditionally released. Conditional release may also contemplate partial release for work, training, or educational purposes.
The court of the county which ordered the person’s commitment, upon receipt of an application for conditional release with the secretary’s recommendation for conditional release, shall within thirty days schedule a hearing. The court may schedule a hearing on applications recommended for disapproval by the secretary. The prosecuting attorney shall represent the state at such hearings and shall have the right to have the patient examined by an expert or professional person of the prosecuting attorney’s choice. If the committed person is indigent, and he or she so requests, the court shall appoint a qualified expert or professional person to examine the person on his or her behalf. The issue to be determined at such a hearing is whether or not the person may be released conditionally without substantial danger to other persons, or substantial likelihood of committing (felonious) criminal acts jeopardizing public safety or security. The court, after the hearing, shall rule on the secretary’s recommendations, and if it disapproves of conditional release, may do so only on the basis of substantial evidence. The court may modify the suggested terms and conditions on which the person is to be conditionally released. Pursuant to the determination of the court after hearing, the committed person shall thereupon be released on such conditions as the court determines to be necessary, or shall be remitted to the custody of the secretary. If the order of conditional release includes a requirement for the committed person to report to a community corrections officer, the order shall also specify that the conditionally released person shall be under the supervision of the secretary of corrections or such person as the secretary of corrections may designate and shall follow explicitly the instructions of the secretary of corrections including reporting as directed to a community corrections officer, remaining within prescribed geographical boundaries, and notifying the community corrections officer prior to making any change in the offender’s address or employment.

(3) If the court determines that receiving regular or periodic medication or other medical treatment shall be a condition of the committed person's release, then the court shall require him or her to report to a physician or other medical or mental health practitioner for the medication or treatment. In addition to submitting any report required by RCW 10.77.160, the physician or other medical or mental health practitioner shall immediately upon the released person’s failure to appear for the medication or treatment report the failure to the court, to the prosecuting attorney of the county in which the released person was committed, and to the supervising community corrections officer.

(4) Any person, whose application for conditional release has been denied, may reapply after a period of six months from the date of denial.

Sec. 41. RCW 10.77.180 and 1993 c 31 s 9 are each amended to read as follows:

Each person conditionally released pursuant to RCW 10.77.150( as now or hereafter amended) shall have his or her case reviewed by the court which conditionally released him or her no later than one year after such release and no later than every two years thereafter, such time to be scheduled by the court. Review may occur in a shorter time or more frequently, if the court, in its discretion, on its own motion, or on motion of the person, the secretary of social and health services, the secretary of corrections, medical or mental health practitioner, or the prosecuting attorney, so determines. The sole question to be determined by the court is whether the person shall continue to be conditionally released. The court in making its determination shall be aided by the periodic reports filed pursuant to RCW 10.77.140( as now or hereafter amended) and ( RCW) 10.77.160, and the opinions of the secretary ( of social and health services) and other experts or professional persons.

Sec. 42. RCW 10.77.190 and 1993 c 31 s 10 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) Any person submitting reports pursuant to RCW 10.77.160, the secretary, or the prosecuting attorney may petition the court to, or the court on its own motion may schedule an immediate hearing for the purpose of modifying the terms of conditional release if the petitioner or the court believes the released person is failing to adhere to the terms and conditions of his or her conditional release or is in need of additional care and treatment.

(2) If the prosecuting attorney, the secretary of social and health services, the secretary of corrections, or the court, after examining the report filed with them pursuant to RCW 10.77.160, or based on other information received by them, reasonably believes that a conditionally released person is failing to adhere to the terms and conditions of his or her conditional release the court or secretary of social and health services or the secretary of corrections may order that the conditionally released person is failing to adhere to the terms and conditions of his or her conditional release.
person be apprehended and taken into custody until such time as a hearing can be scheduled to determine the facts and whether or not the person's conditional release should be revoked or modified. The court shall be notified before the close of the next judicial day of the apprehension. Both the prosecuting attorney and the conditionally released person shall have the right to request an immediate mental examination of the conditionally released person. If the conditionally released person is indigent, the court or secretary of social and health services or the secretary of corrections or their designees shall, upon request, assist him or her in obtaining a qualified expert or professional person to conduct the examination.

(3) If the hospital or facility designated to provide outpatient care determines that a conditionally released person presents a threat to public safety, the hospital or facility shall immediately notify the secretary of social and health services or the secretary of corrections or their designees. The secretary shall order that the conditionally released person be apprehended and taken into custody.

(4) The court, upon receiving notification of the apprehension, shall promptly schedule a hearing. The issue to be determined is whether the conditionally released person did or did not adhere to the terms and conditions of his or her release, or whether the person presents a threat to public safety. Pursuant to the determination of the court upon such hearing, the conditionally released person shall either continue to be conditionally released on the same or modified conditions or his or her conditional release shall be revoked and he or she shall be committed subject to release only in accordance with provisions of this chapter.

Sec. 43. RCW 10.77.200 and 1993 c 31 s 11 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) Upon application by the committed or conditionally released person, the secretary shall determine whether or not reasonable grounds exist for final discharge. In making this determination, the secretary may consider the reports filed under RCW 10.77.060, 10.77.110, 10.77.140, and 10.77.160, and other reports and evaluations provided by professionals familiar with the case. If the secretary approves the final discharge he or she then shall authorize (said) the person to petition the court.

(2) The petition shall be served upon the court and the prosecuting attorney. The court, upon receipt of the petition for final discharge, shall within forty-five days order a hearing. Continuance of the hearing date shall only be allowed for good cause shown. The prosecuting attorney shall represent the state, and shall have the right to have the petitioner examined by an expert or professional person of the prosecuting attorney's choice. If the petitioner is indigent, and the person so requests, the court shall appoint a qualified expert or professional person to examine him or her. If the petitioner is developmentally disabled, the examination shall be performed by a developmental disabilities professional. The hearing shall be before a jury if demanded by either the petitioner or the prosecuting attorney. The burden of proof shall be upon the petitioner to show by a preponderance of the evidence that the petitioner no longer presents, as a result of a mental disease or defect, a substantial danger to other persons, or a substantial likelihood of committing (felonious) criminal acts jeopardizing public safety or security, unless kept under further control by the court or other persons or institutions.

(3) Nothing contained in this chapter shall prohibit the patient from petitioning the court for final discharge or conditional release from the institution in which he or she is committed. The issue to be determined on such proceeding is whether the petitioner, as a result of a mental disease or defect, is a substantial danger to other persons, or presents a substantial likelihood of committing (felonious) criminal acts jeopardizing public safety or security, unless kept under further control by the court or other persons or institutions.

Nothing contained in this chapter shall prohibit the committed person from petitioning for release by writ of habeas corpus.

Sec. 44. RCW 10.77.210 and 1993 c 31 s 12 are each amended to read as follows:

The person who has custody of the patient or is in charge of treatment shall keep records detailing all medical, expert, and professional care and treatment received by a committed person, and shall keep copies of all reports of periodic examinations of the patient that have been filed with the secretary pursuant to this chapter. Except as provided in RCW 10.77.205 and 4.24.550 regarding the release of information concerning insane offenders who are acquitted of sex offenses and subsequently committed pursuant to this chapter, all records and reports made pursuant to this chapter, shall be made available only upon request, to the committed person, to his or her attorney, to his or her personal physician, to the supervising community corrections officer, to the prosecuting attorney, to the court, to the protection and advocacy agency, or other expert or professional persons who, upon proper showing, demonstrates a need for access to such records. All records and reports made pursuant to this chapter shall also be made available, upon request, to the department of corrections or the indeterminate sentence review board if the person was on parole, probation, or community supervision at the time of detention, hospitalization, or commitment or the person is subsequently convicted for the crime for which he or she was detained, hospitalized, or committed pursuant to this chapter.

The secretary shall inquire of the treatment provider if he or she wishes to be notified of the release of the person from confinement, for purposes of offering treatment upon the inmate’s release. If the treatment provider wishes to be notified of the inmate’s release, the secretary shall attempt to provide such notice at least seven days prior to release.

At the time of an inmate’s release if the secretary is unable to locate the treatment provider, the secretary shall notify the regional support network in the county the inmate will most likely reside following release.

If the secretary has, prior to the release from the facility, evaluated the inmate and determined he or she requires postrelease mental health treatment, a copy of relevant records and reports relating to the inmate’s mental health treatment or status shall be promptly made available to the offender’s present or future treatment provider. The secretary shall determine which records and reports are relevant and may provide a summary in lieu of copies of the records.

Within three days of the later of the actual service or filing of the guardian ad litem’s statement, any party may set a hearing and file and serve a motion for an order to show cause why the guardian ad litem should not be removed for one of the following three reasons: (i) Lack of expertise necessary for the proceeding; (ii) an hourly rate higher than what is reasonable for the particular proceeding; or (iii) a conflict of interest. Notice of the hearing shall be provided to the guardian ad litem and all parties. If, after a hearing, the court enters an order replacing the guardian ad litem, findings shall be included, expressly stating the reasons for the removal. If the guardian ad litem is not removed, the court has the authority to assess to the moving party, attorneys’ fees and costs related to the motion. The court shall assess attorneys’ fees and costs for frivolous motions.

No guardian ad litem need be appointed when a parent is petitioning for a guardian or a limited guardian to be appointed for his or her minor child and the minority of the child, as defined by RCW 11.92.010, is the sole basis of the petition. The order appointing the guardian ad litem shall recite the duties set forth in subsection (4) of this section. The appointment of a guardian ad litem shall have no effect on the legal competency of the alleged incapacitated person and shall not overcome the presumption of competency or full legal and civil rights of the alleged incapacitated person.
(a) The superior court of each county shall develop and maintain a registry of persons who are willing and qualified to serve as guardians ad litem in guardianship matters. The court shall choose as guardian ad litem a person whose name appears on the registry in a system of consistent rotation, except in extraordinary circumstances such as the need for particular expertise. The court shall develop procedures for periodic review of the persons on the registry and for probation, suspension, or removal of persons on the registry for failure to perform properly their duties as guardian ad litem. In the event the court does not select the person next on the list, it shall include in the order of appointment a written reason for its decision.

(b) To be eligible for the registry a person shall:
   (i) Present a written statement outlining his or her background and qualifications. The background statement shall include, but is not limited to, the following information:
      (A) Level of formal education;
      (B) Training related to the guardian ad litem's duties;
      (C) Number of years' experience as a guardian ad litem;
      (D) Number of appointments as a guardian ad litem and the county or counties of appointment;
      (E) Criminal history, as defined in RCW 9.94A.030; and
      (F) Evidence of the person's knowledge, training, and experience in each of the following: Needs of impaired elderly people, physical disabilities, mental illness, developmental disabilities, and other areas relevant to the needs of incapacitated persons, legal procedure, and the requirements of chapters 11.88 and 11.92 RCW.
   The written statement of qualifications shall include ((a statement of the number of times the guardian ad litem has been removed for failure to perform his or her duties as guardian ad litem)) the names of any counties in which the person, pursuant to a founded grievance, was removed from a pending case or a guardian ad litem registry; and
   (ii) Complete the ((model)) training ((program)) and continuing educational requirements as described in (d) of this subsection. The training and continuing education requirements are not applicable to guardians ad litem appointed pursuant to court rule solely for the limited purpose of assessing a personal injury settlement.
   (c) The background and qualification information shall be updated annually.
   (d) The department of social and health services shall convene an advisory group to develop a model guardian ad litem training program and establish training and continuing educational requirements. The department, in consultation with the advisory group, shall update the model training program biennially. The advisory group shall consist of representatives from consumer, advocacy, and professional groups knowledgeable in developmental disabilities, neurological impairment, physical disabilities, mental illness, aging, legal, court administration, the Washington state bar association, and other interested parties.
   (e) The superior court shall require ((utilization of the model program developed by the advisory group as)) that any guardian ad litem appointed pursuant to this chapter comply with the training and continuing education requirements described in (d) of this subsection. ((To assure that candidates applying for registration as a qualified guardian ad litem shall have satisfactorily completed training to attain these essential minimum qualifications to act as guardian ad litem)) unless the guardian ad litem is appointed solely for the limited purposes of assessing a personal injury settlement.

(4) The guardian ad litem appointed pursuant to this section shall have the following duties:
   (a) To meet and consult with the alleged incapacitated person as soon as practicable following appointment and explain, in language which such person can reasonably be expected to understand, the substance of the petition, the nature of the resultant proceedings, the person's right to contest the petition, the identification of the proposed guardian or limited guardian, the right to a jury trial on the issue of his or her alleged incapacity, the right to independent legal counsel as provided by RCW 11.88.045, and the right to be present in court at the hearing on the petition;
   (b) To obtain a written report according to RCW 11.88.045; and such other written or oral reports from other qualified professionals as are necessary to permit the guardian ad litem to complete the report required by this section;
   (c) To meet with the person whose appointment is sought as guardian or limited guardian and ascertain:

(ii) The steps the proposed guardian intends to take or has taken to identify and meet the needs of the alleged incapacitated person;

(e) To investigate alternate arrangements made, or which might be created, by or on behalf of the alleged incapacitated person, such as revocable or irrevocable trusts, or durable powers of attorney, or blocked accounts in cases of personal injury settlements; whether good cause exists for any such arrangements to be discontinued; and why such arrangements should not be continued or created in lieu of a guardianship;

(f) To provide the court with a written report which shall include the following:

(i) A description of the nature, cause, and degree of incapacity, and the basis upon which this judgment was made;

(ii) A description of the needs of the incapacitated person for care and treatment, the probable residential requirements of the alleged incapacitated person and the basis upon which these findings were made;

(iii) An evaluation of the appropriateness of the guardian or limited guardian whose appointment is sought and a description of the steps the proposed guardian has taken or intends to take to identify and meet current and emerging needs of the incapacitated person;

(iv) A description of any alternative arrangements previously made by the alleged incapacitated person or which could be made, and whether and to what extent such alternatives should be used in lieu of a guardianship, and if the guardian ad litem is recommending discontinuation of any such arrangements, specific findings as to why such arrangements are contrary to the best interest of the alleged incapacitated person;

(v) A description of the abilities of the alleged incapacitated person and a recommendation as to whether a guardian or limited guardian should be appointed. If appointment of a limited guardian is recommended, the guardian ad litem shall recommend the specific areas of authority the limited guardian should have and the limitations and disabilities to be placed on the incapacitated person;

(vi) An evaluation of the person's mental ability to rationally exercise the right to vote and the basis upon which the evaluation is made;

(vii) Any expression of approval or disapproval made by the alleged incapacitated person concerning the proposed guardian or limited guardian or guardianship or limited guardianship;

(ix) Unless independent counsel has appeared for the alleged incapacitated person, an explanation of how the alleged incapacitated person responded to the advice of the right to jury trial, to independent counsel and to be present at the hearing on the petition; and

(x) In cases of personal injury settlements, information relevant to the court's analysis of the offered settlement. The information relevant to the court's analysis may be specified by local court rule, and need not include information specified in subsection (4)(f)(i) through (ix) of this section.

Within forty-five days after notice of commencement of the guardianship proceeding has been served upon the guardian ad litem, and at least fifteen days before the hearing on the petition, unless an extension or reduction of time has been granted by the court for good cause, the guardian ad litem shall file its report and send a copy to the alleged incapacitated person and his or her counsel, spouse, all children not residing with a notified person, those persons described in (f)(viii) of this subsection, and persons who have filed a request for special notice pursuant to RCW 11.92.150. If the guardian ad litem needs additional time to finalize his or her report, then the guardian ad litem shall petition the court for a postponement of the hearing or, with the consent of all other parties, an extension or reduction of time for filing the report. If the hearing does not occur within sixty days of filing the petition, then upon the two-month anniversary of filing the petition and on or before the same day of each following month until the hearing, the guardian ad litem shall file interim reports summarizing his or her activities on the proceeding during that time period as well as fees and costs incurred;

(g) To advise the court of the need for appointment of counsel for the alleged incapacitated person within five court days after the meeting described in (a) of this subsection unless (i) counsel has appeared, (ii) the alleged incapacitated person affirmatively communicated a wish not to be represented by counsel after being advised of the right to representation and of the conditions under which court-provided counsel may be available, or (iii) the alleged incapacitated person was unable to communicate at all on the subject, and the guardian ad litem is satisfied that the alleged incapacitated person does not affirmatively desire to be represented by counsel.

(5) If the petition is brought by an interested person or entity requesting the appointment of some other qualified person or entity and a prospective guardian or limited guardian cannot be found, the court shall order the guardian ad litem to investigate the availability of a possible guardian or limited guardian and to include the findings in a report to the court pursuant to subsection (4)(f) of this section.

(6) The parties to the proceeding may file responses to the guardian ad litem report with the court and deliver such responses to the other parties and the guardian ad litem at any time up to the second day prior to the hearing. If a guardian ad litem fails to file his or her report in a timely manner, the hearing shall be continued to give the court and the parties at least fifteen days before the hearing to review the report. At any time during the proceeding upon motion of any party or on the court’s own motion, the court may remove the guardian ad litem for failure to perform his or her duties as specified in this chapter, provided that the guardian ad litem shall have five days’ notice of any motion to remove before the court enters such order. In addition, the court in its discretion may reduce a guardian ad litem’s fee for failure to carry out his or her duties.

(7) The court appointed guardian ad litem shall have the authority, in the event that the alleged incapacitated person is in need of emergency life-saving medical services, and is unable to consent to such medical services due to incapacity pending the hearing on the petition to give consent for such emergency life-saving medical services on behalf of the alleged incapacitated person.

(8) The court-appointed guardian ad litem shall have the authority to move for temporary relief under chapter 7.40 RCW to protect the alleged incapacitated person from abuse, neglect, abandonment, or exploitation, as those terms are defined in RCW 74.34.020, or to address any other emergency needs of the alleged incapacitated person. Any alternative arrangement executed before filing the petition for guardianship shall remain effective unless the court grants the relief requested under chapter 7.40 RCW, or unless, following notice and a hearing at which all parties directly affected by the arrangement are present, the court finds that the alternative arrangement should not remain effective.

(9) The guardian ad litem shall receive a fee determined by the court. The fee shall be charged to the alleged incapacitated person unless the court finds that such payment would result in substantial hardship upon such person, in which case the county shall be responsible for such costs:
PROVIDED, That if no guardian or limited guardian is appointed the court may charge such fee to the petitioner or the alleged incapacitated person, or divide the fee, as it deems just; and if the petition is found to be frivolous or not brought in good faith, the guardian ad litem fee shall be charged to the petitioner. The court shall not be required to provide for the payment of a fee to any salaried employee of a public agency. In cases of personal injury settlements, guardian ad litem fees shall be negotiated among the parties.

(10) Upon the presentation of the guardian ad litem report and the entry of an order either dismissing the petition for appointment of guardian or limited guardian or appointing a guardian or limited guardian, the guardian ad litem shall be dismissed and shall have no further duties or obligations unless otherwise ordered by the court. If the court orders the guardian ad litem to perform further duties or obligations, they shall not be performed at county expense.

(11) The guardian ad litem shall appear in person at all hearings on the petition unless all parties provide a written waiver of the requirement to appear.

(12) At any hearing the court may consider whether any person who makes decisions regarding the alleged incapacitated person or estate has breached a statutory or fiduciary duty.
Sec. 3. RCW 13.34.100 and 1996 c 249 s 13 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) The court shall appoint a guardian ad litem for a child who is the subject of an action under this chapter, unless a court for good cause finds the appointment unnecessary. The requirement of a guardian ad litem may be deemed satisfied if the child is represented by independent counsel in the proceedings.

(2) If the court does not have available to it a guardian ad litem program with a sufficient number of volunteers, the court may appoint a suitable person to act as guardian ad litem for the child under this chapter. Another party to the proceeding or the party’s employee or representative shall not be so appointed.

(3) Each guardian ad litem program shall maintain a background information record for each guardian ad litem in the program. The background file shall include, but is not limited to, the following information:

   (c) Number of years’ experience as a guardian ad litem;
   (d) Number of appointments as a guardian ad litem and the county or counties of appointment;

   (f) Criminal history, as defined in RCW 9.94A.030.

   The background information report shall be updated annually. As a condition of appointment, the guardian ad litem’s background information record shall be made available to the court.    Upon appointment, the guardian ad litem, or guardian ad litem program, shall provide the parties or their attorneys with a statement containing: His or her training relating to the duties as a guardian ad litem; the name of any counties in which, pursuant to a founded grievance, the person was removed from a pending case or a guardian ad litem registry; and his or her criminal history as defined in RCW 9.94A.030 for the period covering ten years prior to the appointment. The background statement shall not include identifying information that may be used to harm a guardian ad litem, such as home addresses and home telephone numbers, and for volunteer guardians ad litem the court may allow the use of maiden names or pseudonyms as necessary for their safety.

(4) The appointment of the guardian ad litem shall remain in effect until the court discharges the appointment or no longer has jurisdiction, whichever comes first. The guardian ad litem may also be discharged upon entry of an order of guardianship.

(5) A guardian ad litem through counsel, or as otherwise authorized by the court, shall have the right to present evidence, examine and cross-examine witnesses, and to be present at all hearings. A guardian ad litem shall receive copies of all pleadings and other documents filed or submitted to the court, and notice of all hearings according to court rules. The guardian ad litem shall receive all notice contemplated for a parent or other party in all proceedings under this chapter.

(6) If the child requests legal counsel and is age twelve or older, or if the guardian ad litem or the court determines that the child needs to be independently represented by counsel, the court may appoint an attorney to represent the child’s position.

Secs. 5101 et seq.) grants to this state under P.L. 93-247, or any related state or federal legislation, a person appointed pursuant to RCW 13.34.100 shall be deemed a guardian ad litem to represent the best interests of the minor in proceedings before the court.

(8) When a court-appointed special advocate or volunteer guardian ad litem is requested on a case, the program shall give the court the name of the person it recommends and the appointment shall be effective immediately. The court shall appoint the person recommended by the program. If a party in a case reasonably believes the court-appointed special advocate or volunteer is inappropriate or unqualified, the party may request a review of the appointment by the program. The program must complete the review within five judicial days and remove any appointee for good cause. If the party seeking the review is not satisfied with the outcome of the review, the party may file a motion with the court for the removal of the court-appointed special advocate on the grounds the advocate or volunteer is inappropriate or unqualified.

Sec. 4. RCW 13.34.102 and 1997 c 41 s 6 are each amended to read as follows:

(b) In judicial districts with a population over one hundred thousand, a list of three names shall be selected from the registry and given to the parties along with the background information as specified in RCW 13.34.100(3), including their hourly rate for services. Each party may, within three judicial days, strike one name from the list. If more than one name remains on the list, the court shall make the appointment from the names on the list. In the event all three names are stricken the person whose name appears next on the registry shall be appointed.

(c) If a party reasonably believes that the appointed guardian ad litem lacks the necessary expertise for the proceeding, charges an hourly rate higher than what is reasonable for the particular proceeding, or has a conflict of interest, the party may, within three judicial days from the appointment, move for substitution of the appointed guardian ad litem by filing a motion with the court.

(d) Upon the motion of any party the court shall, if located in a judicial district with a population over one hundred thousand, remove a compensated guardian ad litem who was not selected from a rotational registry system. E2SSB 6235 Prime Sponsor, Senate Committee on Ways & Means: Creating the community outdoor athletic fields advisory committee. Reported by Committee on Trade & Economic Development

MAJORITY recommendation: Do pass as amended.

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

"NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. (1) The legislature recognizes that coordinated funding efforts are needed to maintain, develop, and improve the state’s community outdoor athletic fields. Rapid population growth and increased urbanization have caused a decline in suitable outdoor fields for community athletic activities and has resulted in overcrowding and deterioration of existing surfaces. Lack of adequate community outdoor athletic fields directly affects the health and well-being of all citizens of the state, reduces the state’s economic viability, and prevents Washington from maintaining and achieving the quality of life that it deserves. Therefore, it is the policy of the state and its agencies to maintain, develop, fund, and improve youth or community athletic facilities, including but not limited to community outdoor athletic fields.
(2) In carrying out this policy, the legislature intends to promote the building of new community outdoor athletic fields, the upgrading of existing community outdoor athletic fields, and the maintenance of existing community outdoor athletic fields across the state of Washington. The purpose of sections 1 through 4 of this act is to create an advisory council to provide information and advice to the interagency committee for outdoor recreation in the distribution of the funds in the youth athletic facility grant account established in RCW 43.99N.060(4).

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. (1) A community outdoor athletic fields advisory council is established within the interagency committee for outdoor recreation. The advisory council shall consist of nine members, from the public at large, appointed as follows: (a) Five members appointed by the chairperson of the interagency committee for outdoor recreation; (b) two members appointed by the house of representatives, one each by the speaker of the house of representatives and the minority leader of the house of representatives; and (c) two members appointed by the senate, one each appointed by the majority leader of the senate and the minority leader of the senate. The appointments must reflect an effort to achieve a balance among the appointed members based upon factors of geographic, racial, ethnic, and gender diversity, and with a sense and awareness of community outdoor athletic field needs.

(2) The advisory council shall provide information to and make recommendations to the interagency committee for outdoor recreation on the award of funds from the youth athletic facility grant account created in RCW 43.99N.060(4), to cities, counties, and qualified nonprofit organizations for acquiring, developing, equipping, maintaining, and improving youth or community athletic facilities, including but not limited to community outdoor athletic fields.

(3) The members shall serve three-year terms. Of the initial members, two shall be appointed for a one-year term, three shall be appointed for a two-year term, and the remainder shall be appointed for three-year terms. Thereafter, members shall be appointed for three-year terms. The chairperson of the interagency committee for outdoor recreation shall appoint one of the members to serve as chairperson of the advisory council for the duration of the member’s term.

(4) Members of the advisory council shall serve without compensation, but shall be reimbursed for travel expenses as provided in RCW 43.03.050 and 43.03.060.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. Subject to available resources, the interagency committee for outdoor recreation, in consultation with the community outdoor athletic fields advisory council may:

(1) Prepare and update a strategic plan for the development, maintenance, and improvement of community outdoor athletic fields in the state. In the preparation of such plan, the interagency committee for outdoor recreation may use available data from federal, state, and local agencies having community outdoor athletic responsibilities, user groups, private sector interests, and the general public. The plan may include, but is not limited to:

(a) An inventory of current community outdoor athletic fields;

(b) A forecast of demand for these fields;

(c) An identification and analysis of actual and potential funding sources; and

(d) Other information the interagency committee for outdoor recreation deems appropriate to carry out the purposes of sections 1 through 4 of this act;

(2) Determine the eligibility requirements for cities, counties, and qualified nonprofit organizations to access funding from the youth athletic facility grant account created in RCW 43.99N.060(4);

(3) Encourage and provide opportunities for interagency and regional coordination and cooperative efforts between public agencies and between public entities and nonprofit organizations involved in the maintenance, development, and improvement of community outdoor athletic fields; and

(4) Create and maintain data, studies, research, and other information relating to community outdoor athletic fields in the state, and to encourage the exchange of this information.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4. The interagency committee for outdoor recreation may receive gifts, grants, or endowments from public and private sources that are made from time to time, in trust or otherwise, for the use and benefit of the purposes of sections 1 through 4 of this act and spend gifts, grants, or endowments or income from the public or private sources according to their terms, unless the receipt of the gifts, grants, or endowments violates RCW 42.17.710.
NEW SECTION. Sec. 5. If any provision of this act or its application to any person or circumstance is held invalid, the remainder of the act or the application of the provision to other persons or circumstances is not affected.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 6. Sections 1 through 4 of this act expire one year after RCW 82.14.0494 expires.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 7. Sections 1 through 6 of this act are each added to chapter 43.99 RCW under the subchapter heading "youth or community athletic facilities."

ESB 6257 Prime Sponsor, Senator Strannigan: Lowering statutory levels for legal alcohol intoxication. Reported by Committee on Law & Justice

MAJORITY recommendation: Do pass as amended.

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

Sec. 1. RCW 46.20.308 and 1995 c 332 s 1 are each amended to read as follows:
(1) Any person who operates a motor vehicle within this state is deemed to have given consent, subject to the provisions of RCW 46.61.506, to a test or tests of his or her breath or blood for the purpose of determining the alcohol concentration or presence of any drug in his or her breath or blood if arrested for any offense where, at the time of the arrest, the arresting officer has reasonable grounds to believe the person had been driving or was in actual physical control of a motor vehicle while under the influence of intoxicating liquor or any drug or was in violation of RCW 46.61.503. (2) The test or tests of breath shall be administered at the direction of a law enforcement officer having reasonable grounds to believe the person to have been driving or in actual physical control of a motor vehicle within this state while under the influence of intoxicating liquor or the person to have been driving or in actual physical control of a motor vehicle while having alcohol in a concentration ((of 0.02 or more)) in violation of RCW 46.61.503 in his or her system and being under the age of twenty-one. However, in those instances where the person is incapable due to physical injury, physical incapacity, or other physical limitation, of providing a breath sample or where the person is being treated in a hospital, clinic, doctor’s office, emergency medical vehicle, ambulance, or other similar facility in which a breath testing instrument is not present or where the officer has reasonable grounds to believe that the person is under the influence of a drug, a blood test shall be administered by a qualified person as provided in RCW 46.61.506(4). The officer shall inform the person of his or her right to refuse the breath or blood test, and of his or her right to have additional tests administered by any qualified person of his or her choosing as provided in RCW 46.61.506. The officer shall warn the driver that:
(a) His or her license, permit, or privilege to drive will be revoked or denied if he or she refuses to submit to the test;
(b) His or her license, permit, or privilege to drive will be suspended, revoked, denied, or placed in probationary status if the test is administered and the test indicates the alcohol concentration of the person’s breath or blood is ((0.08)) 0.08 or more, in the case of a person age twenty-one or over, or ((0.02 or more)) in violation of RCW 46.61.502, 46.61.503, or 46.61.504 in the case of a person under age twenty-one; and
(c) His or her refusal to take the test may be used in a criminal trial.
(3) Except as provided in this section, the test administered shall be of the breath only. If an individual is unconscious or is under arrest for the crime of vehicular homicide as provided in RCW 46.61.520 or vehicular assault as provided in RCW 46.61.522, or if an individual is under arrest for the crime of driving while under the influence of intoxicating liquor or drugs as provided in RCW 46.61.502, which arrest results from an accident in which there has been serious bodily injury to another person, a breath or blood test may be administered without the consent of the individual so arrested.

(4) Any person who is dead, unconscious, or who is otherwise in a condition rendering him or her incapable of refusal, shall be deemed not to have withdrawn the consent provided by subsection (1) of this section and the test or tests may be administered, subject to the provisions of RCW 46.61.506, and the person shall be deemed to have received the warnings required under subsection (2) of this section.

(5) If, following his or her arrest and receipt of warnings under subsection (2) of this section, the person arrested refuses upon the request of a law enforcement officer to submit to a test or tests of his or her breath or blood, no test shall be given except as authorized under subsection (3) or (4) of this section.

(6) If, after arrest and after the other applicable conditions and requirements of this section have been satisfied, a test or tests of the person’s blood or breath is administered and the test results indicate that the alcohol concentration of the person's breath or blood is ((0.10)) 0.08 or more if the person is age twenty-one or over, or is ((0.02 or more)) in violation of RCW 46.61.502, 46.61.503, or 46.61.504 if the person is under the age of twenty-one, or the person refuses to submit to a test, the arresting officer or other law enforcement officer at whose direction any test has been given, or the department, where applicable, if the arrest results in a test of the person’s blood, shall:

(a) Serve notice in writing on the person on behalf of the department of its intention to suspend, revoke, deny, or place in probationary status the person's license, permit, or privilege to drive as required by subsection (7) of this section;

(b) Serve notice in writing on the person on behalf of the department of his or her right to a hearing, specifying the steps he or she must take to obtain a hearing as provided by subsection (8) of this section;

(c) Mark the person's Washington state driver's license or permit to drive, if any, in a manner authorized by the department;

(d) Serve notice in writing that the marked license or permit, if any, is a temporary license that is valid for sixty days from the date of arrest or from the date notice has been given in the event notice is given by the department following a blood test, or until the suspension, revocation, or denial of the person's license, permit, or privilege to drive is sustained at a hearing pursuant to subsection (8) of this section, whichever occurs first. No temporary license is valid to any greater degree than the license or permit that it replaces; and

(e) Immediately notify the department of the arrest and transmit to the department within seventy-two hours, except as delayed as the result of a blood test, a sworn report or report under a declaration authorized by RCW A.72.085 that states:

(i) That the officer had reasonable grounds to believe the arrested person had been driving or was in actual physical control of a motor vehicle within this state while under the influence of intoxicating liquor or drugs, or both, or was under the age of twenty-one years and had been driving or was in actual physical control of a motor vehicle while having an alcohol concentration ((of 0.02 or more)) in violation of RCW 46.61.503;

(ii) That after receipt of the warnings required by subsection (2) of this section the person refused to submit to a test of his or her blood or breath, or a test was administered and the results indicated that the alcohol concentration of the person's breath or blood was ((0.10)) 0.08 or more if the person is age twenty-one or over, or was ((0.02 or more)) in violation of RCW 46.61.502, 46.61.503, or 46.61.504 if the person is under the age of twenty-one; and

(iii) Any other information that the director may require by rule.

(7) The department of licensing, upon the receipt of a sworn report or report under a declaration authorized by RCW A.72.085 under subsection (6)(e) of this section, shall suspend, revoke, deny, or place in probationary status the person’s license, permit, or privilege to drive or any nonresident operating privilege, as provided in RCW 46.20.3101, such suspension, revocation, denial, or placement in probationary status to be effective beginning sixty days from the date of arrest or from the date notice has been given in the event notice is given by the department following a blood test, or when sustained at a hearing pursuant to subsection (8) of this section, whichever occurs first.
(8) A person receiving notification under subsection (6)(b) of this section may, within thirty days after the notice has been given, request in writing a formal hearing before the department. The person shall pay a fee of one hundred dollars as part of the request. If the request is mailed, it must be postmarked within thirty days after receipt of the notification. Upon timely receipt of such a request for a formal hearing, including receipt of the required one hundred dollar fee, the department shall afford the person an opportunity for a hearing. Except as otherwise provided in this section, the hearing is subject to and shall be scheduled and conducted in accordance with RCW 46.20.329 and 46.20.332. The hearing shall be conducted in the county of the arrest, except that all or part of the hearing may, at the discretion of the department, be conducted by telephone or other electronic means. The hearing shall be held within sixty days following the arrest or following the date notice has been given in the event notice is given by the department following a blood test, unless otherwise agreed to by the department and the person, in which case the action by the department shall be stayed, and any valid temporary license marked under subsection (6)(c) of this section extended, if the person is otherwise eligible for licensing. For the purposes of this section, the scope of the hearing shall cover the issues of whether a law enforcement officer had reasonable grounds to believe the person had been driving or was in actual physical control of a motor vehicle within this state while under the influence of intoxicating liquor or any drug or had been driving or was in actual physical control of a motor vehicle within this state while having alcohol in his or her system in a concentration (of 0.02 or more) in violation of RCW 46.61.503 and was under the age of twenty-one, whether the person was placed under arrest, and (a) whether the person refused to submit to the test or tests upon request of the officer after having been informed that such refusal would result in the revocation of the person's license, permit, privilege to drive, or (b) if a test or tests were administered, whether the applicable requirements of this section were satisfied before the administration of the test or tests, whether the person submitted to the test or tests, or whether a test was administered without express consent as permitted under this section, and whether the test or tests indicated that the alcohol concentration of the person's breath or blood was (0.08) or more if the person was age twenty-one or over at the time of the arrest, or was (0.02 or more) in violation of RCW 46.61.502, 46.61.503, or 46.61.504 if the person was under the age of twenty-one at the time of the arrest. The sworn report or report under a declaration authorized by RCW 9A.72.085 submitted by a law enforcement officer is prima facie evidence that the officer had reasonable grounds to believe the person had been driving or was in actual physical control of a motor vehicle within this state while under the influence of intoxicating liquor or drugs, or both, or the person had been driving or was in actual physical control of a motor vehicle within this state while having alcohol in his or her system in a concentration (of 0.02 or more) in violation of RCW 46.61.503 and was under the age of twenty-one and that the officer complied with the requirements of this section.

A hearing officer shall conduct the hearing, may issue subpoenas for the attendance of witnesses and the production of documents, and shall administer oaths to witnesses. The hearing officer shall not issue a subpoena for the attendance of a witness at the request of the person unless the request is accompanied by the fee required by RCW 5.56.010 for a witness in district court. The sworn report or report under a declaration authorized by RCW 9A.72.085 of the law enforcement officer and any other evidence accompanying the report shall be admissible without further evidentiary foundation and the certifications authorized by the criminal rules for courts of limited jurisdiction shall be admissible without further evidentiary foundation. The person may be represented by counsel, may question witnesses, may present evidence, and may testify. The department shall order that the suspension, revocation, denial, or placement in probationary status either be rescinded or sustained.

(9) If the suspension, revocation, denial, or placement in probationary status is sustained after such a hearing, the person whose license, privilege, or permit is suspended, revoked, denied, or placed in probationary status has the right to file a petition in the superior court of the county of arrest to review the final order of revocation by the department in the same manner as an appeal from a decision of a court of limited jurisdiction. The appellant must pay the costs associated with obtaining the record of the hearing before the hearing officer. The filing of the appeal does not stay the effective date of the suspension, revocation, denial, or placement in probationary status. A petition filed under this subsection must include the petitioner's grounds for requesting review. Upon granting petitioner's request for review, the court shall review the department's final order of suspension, revocation, denial, or placement in probationary status as expeditiously as possible. If judicial relief is sought for a stay or other temporary remedy from the department’s action, the court shall not grant such relief unless the court finds that the appellant is likely to prevail in the appeal and that without a stay the appellant will suffer irreparable injury. If the court stays the suspension, revocation, denial, or placement in probationary status it may impose conditions on such stay.

(10) If a person whose driver’s license, permit, or privilege to drive has been or will be suspended, revoked, denied, or placed in probationary status under subsection (7) of this section, other than as a result of a breath test refusal, and who has not committed an offense within the last five years for which he or she was granted a deferred prosecution under chapter 10.05 RCW, petitions a court for a deferred prosecution on criminal charges arising out of the arrest for which action has been or will be taken under subsection (7) of this section, the court may direct the department to stay any actual or proposed suspension, revocation, denial, or placement in probationary status for at least forty-five days but not more than ninety days. If the court stays the suspension, revocation, denial, or placement in probationary status, it may impose conditions on such stay. If the person is otherwise eligible for licensing, the department shall issue a temporary license, or extend any valid temporary license marked under subsection (6) of this section, for the period of the stay. (3) It is an affirmative defense to a violation of subsection (1)(a) of this section which the defendant must prove by a preponderance of the evidence that the defendant consumed a sufficient quantity of alcohol after the time of driving and before the administration of an analysis of the person's breath or blood to cause the defendant's alcohol concentration to be ((0.10) 0.08 or more within two hours after driving. The court shall not admit evidence of this defense unless the defendant notifies the prosecution prior to the omnibus or pretrial hearing in the case of the defendant's intent to assert the affirmative defense.
(4) Analyses of blood or breath samples obtained more than two hours after the alleged driving may be used as evidence that within two hours of the alleged driving, a person had an alcohol concentration of ((0.10) 0.08 or more in violation of subsection (1)(a) of this section, and in any case in which the analysis shows an alcohol concentration above 0.00 may be used as evidence that a person was under the influence of or affected by intoxicating liquor or any drug in violation of subsection (1)(b) or (c) of this section.

(2) It is an affirmative defense to a violation of subsection (1) of this section which the defendant must prove by a preponderance of the evidence that the defendant consumed a sufficient quantity of alcohol after the time of driving and before the administration of an analysis of the person's breath or blood to cause the defendant's alcohol concentration to be ((0.02 or more)) in violation of subsection (1) of this section within two hours after driving. The court shall not admit evidence of this defense unless the defendant notifies the prosecution prior to the earlier of: (a) Seven days prior to trial; or (b) the omnibus or pretrial hearing in the case of the defendant's intent to assert the affirmative defense.

(3) It is an affirmative defense to a violation of subsection (1)(a) of this section which the defendant must prove by a preponderance of the evidence that the defendant consumed a sufficient quantity of alcohol after the time of being in actual physical control of the vehicle and before the administration of an analysis of the person’s breath or blood to cause the defendant’s alcohol concentration to be \((0.10)\ 0.08\) or more within two hours after being in such control. (2) The breath analysis shall be based upon grams of alcohol per two hundred ten liters of breath. The foregoing provisions of this section shall not be construed as limiting the introduction of any other competent evidence bearing upon the question whether the person was under the influence of intoxicating liquor or any drug.

(3) Analysis of the person’s blood or breath to be considered valid under the provisions of this section or RCW 46.61.502 or 46.61.504 shall have been performed according to methods approved by the state toxicologist and by an individual possessing a valid permit issued by the state toxicologist for this purpose. The state toxicologist is directed to approve satisfactory techniques or methods, to supervise the examination of individuals to ascertain their qualifications and competence to conduct such analyses, and to issue permits which shall be subject to termination or revocation at the discretion of the state toxicologist.

   (d) The person is under the combined influence of or affected by intoxicating liquor and any drug.

MAJORITY recommendation: Do pass as amended.

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

"NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. The legislature finds that mass marking of hatchery-raised salmon is an effective tool for implementing selective salmon fisheries in this state. Mass marking of coho salmon is currently underway and holds great promise for maintaining both recreational and commercial fishing opportunities while protecting wild stocks. In view of the anticipated listing of Puget Sound chinook salmon as endangered under the federal endangered species act, the legislature finds that it is essential to expeditiously proceed with implementing a mass marking program for chinook salmon in Puget Sound and elsewhere in the state.

Through a cooperative effort by state and federal agencies and private enterprise, appropriate technologies have been developed for marking chinook salmon. It is the intent of the legislature to use these newly developed tools to implement chinook salmon mass marking beginning in April 1999.

Sec. 2. RCW 75.08.510 and 1995 c 372 s 2 are each amended to read as follows:

The department shall mark appropriate coho salmon that are released from department operated hatcheries and rearing ponds in such a manner that the fish are externally recognizable as hatchery origin salmon by fishers for the purpose of maximized catch while sustaining wild and hatchery reproduction.

The department shall mark all appropriate chinook salmon targeted for contribution to the Washington catch that are released from department operated hatcheries and rearing ponds in such a manner that the fish are externally recognizable as hatchery origin salmon by fishers.

The goal of the marking program is: (1) The annual marking by June 30, 1997, of all appropriate hatchery origin (coho and chinook) coho salmon produced by the department with marking to begin with the 1994 Puget Sound coho brood; and (2) the annual marking by June 30, 1999, of all appropriate hatchery origin chinook salmon produced by the department with marking to begin with the 1998 chinook brood. The department may experiment with different methods for marking hatchery salmon with the primary objective of maximum survival of hatchery marked fish, maximum contribution to fisheries, and minimum cost consistent with the other goals.

The department shall coordinate with other entities that are producing hatchery chinook and coho salmon for release into public waters to enable the broadest application of the marking program to all hatchery produced chinook and coho salmon. The department shall work with the treaty Indian tribes in order to reach mutual agreement on the implementation of the mass marking program. The department shall report to the appropriate legislative committees by January 1, 1999, on the progress made in reaching mutual agreement with the treaty Indian tribes and any Pacific coast state or province to achieve the goal of coast-wide marking of chinook and coho salmon. The ultimate goal of the program is the coast-wide marking of appropriate hatchery origin chinook and coho salmon, and the protection of all wild chinook and coho salmon, where appropriate."

"Sec. 2. RCW 19.118.021 and 1995 c 254 s 1 are each amended to read as follows: Unless the context clearly requires otherwise, the definitions in this section apply throughout this chapter.

(1) "Board" means new motor vehicle arbitration board.

(2) "Collateral charges" means any sales or lease related charges including but not limited to sales tax, use tax, arbitration service fees, unused license fees, unused registration fees, unused title fees, finance charges, prepayment penalties, credit disability and credit life insurance costs not otherwise refundable, any other insurance costs prorated for time out of service, transportation charges, dealer preparation charges, or any other charges for service contracts, undercoating, rustproofing, or factory or dealer installed options.

(3) "Condition" means a general problem that results from a defect or malfunction of one or more parts, or their improper installation by the manufacturer, its agents, or the new motor vehicle dealer.

(4) "Consumer" means any person who has entered into an agreement or contract for the transfer, lease, or purchase of a new motor vehicle, other than for purposes of resale or sublease, during the duration of the warranty period defined under this section.

(5) "Court" means the superior court in the county where the consumer resides, except if the consumer does not reside in this state, then the superior court in the county where an arbitration hearing or determination was conducted or made pursuant to this chapter.

(6) "Incidental costs" means any reasonable expenses incurred by the consumer in connection with the repair of the new motor vehicle, including any towing charges and the costs of obtaining alternative transportation.

(7) "Manufacturer" means any person engaged in the business of constructing or assembling new motor vehicles or engaged in the business of importing new motor vehicles into the United States for the purpose of selling or distributing new motor vehicles to new motor vehicle dealers. "Manufacturer" does not include any person engaged in the business of set-up of motorcycles as an agent of a new motor vehicle dealer if the person does not otherwise construct or assemble motorcycles.

(8) "Motorcycle" means any motorcycle as defined in RCW 46.04.330 which has an engine displacement of at least seven hundred fifty cubic centimeters.

(9) "Motor home" means a vehicular unit designed to provide temporary living quarters for recreational, camping, or travel use, built on or permanently attached to a self-propelled motor vehicle chassis or on a chassis cab or van that is an integral part of the completed vehicle.

(10) "Motor home manufacturer" means the first stage manufacturer, the component manufacturer, and the final stage manufacturer.

(a) "First stage manufacturer" means a person who manufactures incomplete new motor vehicles such as chassis, chassis cabs, or vans, that are directly warranted by the first stage manufacturer to the consumer, and are completed by a final stage manufacturer into a motor home.

(b) "Component manufacturer" means a person who manufactures components used in the manufacture or assembly of a chassis, chassis cab, or van that is completed into a motor home and whose components are directly warranted by the component manufacturer to the consumer.

(c) "Final stage manufacturer" means a person who assembles, installs, or permanently affixes a body, cab, or equipment to an incomplete new motor vehicle such as a chassis, chassis cab, or van provided by a first stage manufacturer, to complete the vehicle into a motor home.

(11) "New motor vehicle" means any new self-propelled vehicle, including a new motorcycle, primarily designed for the transportation of persons or property over the public highways that was originally purchased or leased at retail from a new motor vehicle dealer or leasing company in this state, and that was initially registered in this state or for which a temporary motor vehicle license was issued pursuant to RCW 46.16.460, but does not include vehicles purchased or leased by a business as part of a fleet of ten or more vehicles at one time or under a single purchase or lease agreement. If the motor vehicle is a motor home, this chapter shall apply to the self-propelled vehicle and chassis, but does not include those portions of the vehicle designated, used, or maintained primarily as a mobile dwelling, office, or commercial space. The term "new motor vehicle" does not include trucks with nineteen thousand pounds or more gross vehicle weight rating. The term "new motor vehicle" includes a demonstrator or lease-purchase vehicle as long as a manufacturer's warranty was issued as a condition of sale.

(12) "New motor vehicle dealer" means a person who holds a dealer agreement with a manufacturer for the sale of new motor vehicles, who is engaged in the business of purchasing, selling, servicing, exchanging, or dealing in new motor vehicles, and who is licensed or required to be licensed as a vehicle dealer by the state of Washington.

(13) "Nonconformity" means a defect, serious safety defect, or condition that substantially impairs the use, value, or safety of a new motor vehicle, but does not include a defect or condition that is the result of abuse, neglect, or unauthorized modification or alteration of the new motor vehicle.

(14) "Purchase price" means the cash price of the new motor vehicle appearing in the sales agreement or contract.

(a) "Purchase price" in the instance of a lease means the actual written capitalized cost disclosed to the consumer contained in the lease agreement. If there is no disclosed capitalized cost in the lease agreement the "purchase price" is the manufacturer's suggested retail price including manufacturer installed accessories or items of optional equipment displayed on the manufacturer label,

(b) "Purchase price" in the instance of both a vehicle purchase or lease agreement includes any allowance for a trade-in vehicle but does not include any manufacturer-to-consumer rebate appearing in the agreement or contract that the consumer received or that was applied to reduce the purchase or lease cost.

Where the consumer is a subsequent transferee and the consumer selects repurchase of the motor vehicle, "purchase price" means the consumer's subsequent purchase price. Where the consumer is a subsequent transferee and the consumer selects replacement of the motor vehicle, "purchase price" means the original purchase price.

(15) "Reasonable offset for use" means the definition provided in RCW 19.118.041(1)(c) for a new motor vehicle other than a new motorcycle. The reasonable offset for use for a new motorcycle shall be computed by the number of miles that the vehicle traveled before the manufacturer’s acceptance of the vehicle upon repurchase or replacement multiplied by the purchase price, and divided by twenty-five thousand.

(16) "Reasonable number of attempts" means the definition provided in RCW 19.118.041.

(17) "Replacement motor vehicle" means a new motor vehicle that is identical or reasonably equivalent to the motor vehicle to be replaced, as the motor vehicle to be replaced existed at the time of original purchase or lease, including any service contract, undercoating, rustproofing, and factory or dealer installed options.

(18) "Serious safety defect" means a life-threatening malfunction or nonconformity that impedes the consumer’s ability to control or operate the new motor vehicle for ordinary use or reasonable intended purposes or creates a risk of fire or explosion.

(19) "Subsequent transferee" means a consumer who acquires a motor vehicle, within the warranty period, as defined in this section, with an applicable manufacturer’s written warranty and where the vehicle otherwise met the definition of a new motor vehicle at the time of original retail sale or lease.

(20) "Substantially impair" means to render the new motor vehicle unreliable, or unsafe for ordinary use, or to diminish the resale value of the new motor vehicle below the average resale value for comparable motor vehicles.

(21) "Warranty" means any implied warranty, any written warranty of the manufacturer, or any affirmation of fact or promise made by the manufacturer in connection with the sale of a new motor vehicle that becomes part of the basis of the bargain. The term "warranty" pertains to the obligations of the manufacturer in relation to materials, workmanship, and fitness of a new motor vehicle for ordinary use or reasonably intended purposes throughout the duration of the warranty period as defined under this section.

(22) "Warranty period" means the period ending two years after the date of the original delivery to the consumer of a new motor vehicle, or the first twenty-four thousand miles of operation, whichever occurs first.

Sec. 3. RCW 19.118.031 and 1995 c 254 s 2 are each amended to read as follows:
(1) The manufacturer shall publish an owner’s manual and provide it to the new motor vehicle dealer or leasing company. The owner’s manual shall include a list of the addresses and phone numbers for the manufacturer’s customer assistance division, or zone or regional offices. A manufacturer shall provide to the new motor vehicle dealer or leasing company all applicable manufacturer’s written warranties. The dealer or leasing company shall transfer to the consumer, at the time of original retail sale or lease, the owner’s manual and applicable written warranties as provided by a manufacturer.

(2) At the time of purchase, the new motor vehicle dealer shall provide the consumer with a written statement that explains the consumer’s rights under this chapter. The written statement shall be prepared and supplied by the attorney general and shall contain a toll-free number that the consumer can contact for information regarding the procedures and remedies under this chapter.

(3) For the purposes of this chapter, if a new motor vehicle does not conform to the warranty and the consumer reports the nonconformity during the term of the warranty period or the period of coverage of the applicable manufacturer’s written warranty, whichever is less, to the manufacturer, its agent, or the new motor vehicle dealer who sold the new motor vehicle, the manufacturer, its agent, or the new motor vehicle dealer shall make repairs as are necessary to conform the vehicle to the warranty, regardless of whether such repairs are made after the expiration of the warranty period. Any corrections or attempted repairs undertaken by a new motor vehicle dealer under this chapter shall be treated as warranty work and billed by the dealer to the manufacturer in the same manner as other work under the manufacturer’s written warranty is billed. For purposes of this subsection, the manufacturer’s written warranty shall be at least one year after the date of the original delivery to the consumer of the vehicle or the first twelve thousand miles of operation, whichever occurs first.

(4) Upon request from the consumer, the manufacturer or new motor vehicle dealer shall provide a copy of any report or computer reading compiled by the manufacturer’s field or zone representative regarding inspection, diagnosis, or test-drive of the consumer’s new motor vehicle, or shall provide a copy of any technical service bulletin issued by the manufacturer regarding the year and model of the consumer’s new motor vehicle as it pertains to any material, feature, component, or the performance thereof.

(5) The new motor vehicle dealer shall provide to the consumer each time the consumer’s vehicle is returned from being diagnosed or repaired under the warranty, a fully itemized, legible statement or repair order indicating any diagnosis made, and all work performed on the vehicle including but not limited to, a general description of the problem reported by the consumer or an identification of the defect or condition, parts and labor, the date and the odometer reading when the vehicle was submitted for repair, and the date when the vehicle was made available to the consumer.

(6) No manufacturer, its agent, or the new motor vehicle dealer may refuse to diagnose or repair any nonconformity covered by the warranty for the purpose of avoiding liability under this chapter.

(7) For purposes of this chapter, consumers shall have the rights and remedies, including a cause of action, against manufacturers as provided in this chapter.

(8) The warranty period and thirty-day out-of-service period, and sixty-day out-of-service period in the case of a motor home, shall be extended by any time that repair services are not available to the consumer as a direct result of a strike, war, invasion, fire, flood, or other natural disaster.

Sec. 4. RCW 19.118.041 and 1995 c 254 s 3 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) If the manufacturer, its agent, or the new motor vehicle dealer is unable to conform the new motor vehicle to the warranty by repairing or correcting any nonconformity after a reasonable number of attempts, the manufacturer, within forty calendar days of a consumer’s written request to the manufacturer’s corporate, dispute resolution, zone, or regional office address shall, at the option of the consumer, replace or repurchase the new motor vehicle.

(a) The replacement motor vehicle shall be identical or reasonably equivalent to the motor vehicle to be replaced existed at the time of original purchase or lease, including any service contract, undercoating, rustproofing, and factory or dealer installed options. Where the manufacturer supplies a replacement motor vehicle, the manufacturer shall be responsible for sales tax, license, registration fees, and refund of any incidental costs. Compensation for a reasonable offset for use shall be paid by the consumer to the manufacturer in the event that the consumer accepts a replacement motor vehicle.

(b) When repurchasing the new motor vehicle, the manufacturer shall refund to the consumer the purchase price, all collateral charges, and incidental costs, less a reasonable offset for use. When repurchasing the new motor vehicle, in the instance of a lease, the manufacturer shall refund to the consumer all payments made by the consumer under the lease including but not limited to all lease payments, trade-in value or inception payment, security deposit, all collateral charges and incidental costs less a reasonable offset for use. The manufacturer shall make such payment to the lessor and/or lienholder of record as necessary to obtain clear title to the motor vehicle and upon the lessor’s and/or lienholder’s receipt of that payment and payment by the consumer of any late payment charges, the consumer shall be relieved of any future obligation to the lessor and/or lienholder.

(c) The reasonable offset for use shall be computed by multiplying the number of miles that the vehicle traveled directly attributable to use by the consumer times the purchase price, and dividing the product by one hundred twenty thousand, except in the case of a motor home, in which event it shall be divided by ninety thousand. However, the reasonable offset for use calculation total for a motor home is subject to modification by the board by decreasing or increasing the offset total up to a maximum of one-third of the offset total. The board may modify the offset total in those circumstances where the board determines that the wear and tear on those portions of the motor home designated, used, or maintained primarily as a mobile dwelling, office, or commercial space are significantly greater or significantly less than that which could be reasonably expected based on the mileage attributable to the consumer’s use of the motor home. Where the consumer is a second or subsequent purchaser, lessee, or transferee of the motor vehicle and the consumer selects repurchase of the motor vehicle, "the number of miles that the vehicle traveled" shall be calculated from the date of purchase or lease by the consumer. Where the consumer is a second or subsequent purchaser, lessee, or transferee of the motor vehicle and the consumer selects replacement of the motor vehicle, "the number of miles that the vehicle traveled" shall be calculated from the original purchase, lease, or in-service date.

(2) Reasonable number of attempts, except in the case of a new motor vehicle that is a motor home acquired after June 30, 1998, shall be deemed to have been undertaken by the manufacturer, its agent, or the new motor vehicle dealer to conform the new motor vehicle to the warranty within the warranty period, if: (a) The same serious safety defect has been subject to diagnosis or repair two or more times, at least one of which is during the period of coverage of the applicable manufacturer’s written warranty, and the serious safety defect continues to exist; (b) the same nonconformity has been subject to diagnosis or repair four or more times, at least one of which is during the period of coverage of the applicable manufacturer’s written warranty, and the nonconformity continues to exist; or (c) the vehicle is out-of-service by reason of diagnosis or repair of one or more nonconformities for a cumulative total of thirty calendar days, at least fifteen of them during the period of the applicable manufacturer’s written warranty. For purposes of this subsection, the manufacturer’s written warranty shall be at least one year after the date of the original delivery to the consumer of the vehicle or the first twelve thousand miles of operation, whichever occurs first.

(3)(a) In the case of a new motor vehicle that is a motor home acquired after June 30, 1998, a reasonable number of attempts shall be deemed to have been undertaken by the motor home manufacturers, their respective agents, or their respective new motor vehicle dealers to conform the new motor vehicle to the warranty within the warranty period, if: (i) The same serious safety defect has been subject to diagnosis or repair one or more times during the period of coverage of the applicable motor home manufacturer’s written warranty, plus a final attempt to repair the vehicle as provided for in (b) of this subsection, and the serious safety defect continues to exist; (ii) the same nonconformity has been subject to repair three or more times, at least one of which is during the period of coverage of the applicable motor home manufacturer’s written warranty, plus a final attempt to repair the vehicle as provided for in (b) of this subsection, and the nonconformity continues to exist; or (iii) the vehicle is out of service by reason of diagnosis or repair of one or more nonconformities for a cumulative total of sixty calendar days aggregating all motor home manufacturer days out-of-service, and the motor home manufacturers have had at least one opportunity to coordinate and complete an inspection and any repairs of the vehicle’s nonconformities after receipt of notification from the consumer as provided for in (c) of this subsection. For purposes of this subsection, each motor home manufacturer’s written warranty must be at least one year after the date of the original delivery to the consumer of the vehicle or the first twelve thousand miles of operation, whichever occurs first.
(b) In the case of a new motor vehicle that is a motor home, after one attempt has been made to repair a serious safety defect, or after three attempts have been made to repair the same nonconformity, the consumer shall give written notification of the need to repair the nonconformity to each of the motor home manufacturers at their respective corporate, zone, or regional office addresses to allow the motor home manufacturers to coordinate and complete a final attempt to cure the nonconformity. The motor home manufacturers each have fifteen days, commencing upon receipt of the notification, to respond and inform the consumer of the location of the facility where the vehicle will be repaired. If the vehicle is unsafe to drive due to a serious safety defect, or to the extent the repair facility is more than one hundred miles from the motor home location, the motor home manufacturers are responsible for the cost of transporting the vehicle to and from the repair facility. The motor home manufacturers have a cumulative total of thirty days, commencing upon delivery of the vehicle to the designated repair facility by the consumer, to conform the vehicle to the applicable motor home manufacturer’s written warranty. This time period may be extended if the consumer agrees in writing. If a motor home manufacturer fails to respond to the consumer or perform the repairs within the time period prescribed, that motor home manufacturer is not entitled to a final attempt to cure the nonconformity.

(c) In the case of a new motor vehicle that is a motor home, if the vehicle is out of service by reason of diagnosis or repair of one or more nonconformities by the motor home manufacturers, their respective agents, or their respective new motor vehicle dealers for a cumulative total of thirty or more days aggregating all motor home manufacturer days out of service, the consumer shall so notify each motor home manufacturer in writing at their respective corporate, zone, or regional office addresses to allow the motor home manufacturers, their respective agents, or their respective new motor vehicle dealers an opportunity to coordinate and complete an inspection and any repairs of the vehicle’s nonconformities. The motor home manufacturers have fifteen days, commencing upon receipt of the notification, to respond and inform the consumer of the location of the facility where the vehicle will be repaired. If the vehicle is unsafe to drive due to a serious safety defect, or to the extent the repair facility is more than one hundred miles from the motor home location, the motor home manufacturers are responsible for the cost of transporting the vehicle to and from the repair facility. Once the buyer delivers the vehicle to the designated repair facility, the inspection and repairs must be completed by the motor home manufacturers either (i) within ten days or (ii) before the vehicle is out of service by reason of diagnosis or repair of one or more nonconformities for sixty days, whichever time period is longer. This time period may be extended if the consumer agrees in writing. If a motor home manufacturer fails to respond to the consumer or perform the repairs within the time period prescribed, that motor home manufacturer is not entitled to at least one opportunity to inspect and repair the vehicle’s nonconformities after receipt of notification from the buyer as provided for in this subsection (3)(c).

(4) No new motor vehicle dealer may be held liable by the manufacturer for any collateral charges, incidental costs, purchase price refunds, or vehicle replacements. Manufacturers shall not have a cause of action against dealers under this chapter. Consumers shall not have a cause of action against dealers under this chapter, but a violation of any responsibilities imposed upon dealers under this chapter is a per se violation of chapter 19.86 RCW. Consumers may pursue rights and remedies against dealers under any other law, including chapters 46.70 and 46.71 RCW. Manufacturers and consumers may not make dealers parties to arbitration board proceedings under this chapter.

Sec. 5. RCW 19.118.061 and 1995 c 254 s 4 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) A manufacturer shall be prohibited from reselling any motor vehicle determined or adjudicated as having a serious safety defect unless the serious safety defect has been corrected and the manufacturer warrants upon the first subsequent resale that the defect has been corrected.

(2) Before any sale or transfer of a vehicle that has been replaced or repurchased by the manufacturer that was determined or adjudicated as having a nonconformity or to have been out of service for thirty or more calendar days, or sixty or more calendar days in the case of a motor home, under this chapter, the manufacturer shall:

(a) Notify the attorney general and the department of licensing, by certified mail or by personal service, upon receipt of the motor vehicle;
(b) Attach a resale disclosure notice to the vehicle in a manner and form to be specified by the attorney general. Only the retail purchaser may remove the resale disclosure notice after execution of the disclosure form required under subsection (3) of this section; and
(c) Notify the attorney general and the department of licensing if the nonconformity in the motor vehicle is corrected.
(3) Upon the first subsequent resale, either at wholesale or retail, or transfer of title of a motor vehicle and which was previously returned after a final determination, adjudication, or settlement under this chapter or under a similar statute of any other state, the manufacturer, its agent, or the new motor vehicle dealer who has actual knowledge of said final determination, adjudication or settlement, shall execute and deliver to the buyer before sale an instrument in writing setting forth information identifying the nonconformity in a manner to be specified by the attorney general, and the department of licensing shall place on the certificate of title information indicating the vehicle was returned under this chapter.
(4) Upon receipt of the manufacturer’s notification under subsection (2) of this section that the nonconformity has been corrected and upon the manufacturer’s request and payment of any fees, the department of licensing shall issue a new title with information indicating the vehicle was returned under this chapter and that the nonconformity has been corrected. Upon the first subsequent resale, either at wholesale or retail, or transfer of title of a motor vehicle, as provided under subsection (2)(c) of this section, the manufacturer shall warrant upon the resale that the nonconformity has been corrected, and the manufacturer, its agent, or the new motor vehicle dealer who has actual knowledge of the corrected nonconformity, shall execute and deliver to the buyer before sale an instrument in writing setting forth information identifying the nonconformity and indicating that it has been corrected in a manner to be specified by the attorney general.
(5) After repurchase or replacement and following a manufacturer’s receipt of a vehicle under this section and prior to a vehicle’s first subsequent retail transfer by resale or lease, any intervening transferor of a vehicle subject to the requirements of this section who has received the disclosure, correction and warranty documents, as specified by the attorney general and required under this chapter, shall deliver the documents with the vehicle to the next transferor, purchaser or lessee to ensure proper and timely notice and disclosure. Any intervening transferor who fails to comply with this subsection shall, at the option of the subsequent transferor or first subsequent retail purchaser or lessee: (a) Indemnify any subsequent transferor or first subsequent retail purchaser for all damages caused by such violation; or (b) repurchase the vehicle at the full purchase price including all fees, taxes and costs incurred for goods and services which were included in the subsequent transaction.

Sec. 6. RCW 19.118.090 and 1995 c 254 s 6 are each amended to read as follows:
(1) A consumer may request arbitration under this chapter by submitting the request to the attorney general. Within ten days after receipt of an arbitration request, the attorney general shall make a reasonable determination of the cause of the request for arbitration and provide necessary information to the consumer regarding the consumer’s rights and remedies under this chapter. The attorney general shall assign the dispute to a board, except that if it clearly appears from the materials submitted by the consumer that the dispute is not eligible for arbitration, the attorney general may refuse to assign the dispute and shall explain any required procedures to the consumer.
(2) Manufacturers shall submit to arbitration if such arbitration is requested by the consumer within thirty months from the date of the original delivery of the new motor vehicle to a consumer at retail and if the consumer’s dispute is deemed eligible for arbitration by the board. In the case of a motor home, the thirty-month period will be extended by the amount of time it takes the motor home manufacturers to complete the final repair attempt at the designated repair facility as provided for in RCW 19.118.041(3)(b).
(3) The new motor vehicle arbitration board may reject for arbitration any dispute that it determines to be frivolous, fraudulent, filed in bad faith, res judicata or beyond its authority. Any dispute deemed by the board to be ineligible for arbitration due to insufficient evidence may be reconsidered by the board upon the submission of other information or documents regarding the dispute that would allegedly qualify for relief under this chapter. Following a second review, the board may reject the dispute for arbitration if evidence is still clearly insufficient to qualify the dispute for relief under this chapter. A rejection by the board is subject to review by the attorney general or may be appealed under RCW 19.118.100.

A decision to reject any dispute for arbitration shall be sent by certified mail to the consumer and the manufacturer, and shall contain a brief explanation as to the reason therefor.

(4) The manufacturer shall complete a written manufacturer response to the consumer’s request for arbitration. The manufacturer shall provide a response to the consumer and the board within ten calendar days from the date of the manufacturer’s receipt of the board’s notice of acceptance of a dispute for arbitration. The manufacturer response shall include all issues and affirmative defenses related to the nonconformities identified in the consumer’s request for arbitration that the manufacturer intends to raise at the arbitration hearing.

(5) The arbitration board shall award the remedies under RCW 19.118.041 if it finds a nonconformity and that a reasonable number of attempts have been undertaken to correct the nonconformity. The board shall award reasonable costs and attorneys’ fees incurred by the consumer where the manufacturer has been directly represented by counsel: (a) In dealings with the consumer in response to a request to repurchase or replace under RCW 19.118.041; (b) in settlement negotiations; (c) in preparation of the manufacturer’s statement; or (d) at an arbitration board hearing or other board proceeding.

In the case of an arbitration involving a motor home, the board may allocate liability among the motor home manufacturers.

(6) It is an affirmative defense to any claim under this chapter that: (a) The alleged nonconformity does not substantially impair the use, value, or safety of the new motor vehicle; or (b) the alleged nonconformity is the result of abuse, neglect, or unauthorized modifications or alterations of the new motor vehicle.

(7) The board shall have forty-five calendar days from the date the board receives the consumer’s request for arbitration to hear the dispute. If the board determines that additional information is necessary, the board may continue the arbitration proceeding on a subsequent date within ten calendar days of the initial hearing. The board shall decide the dispute within sixty calendar days from the date the board receives the consumer’s request for arbitration.

The decision of the board shall be delivered by certified mail or personal service to the consumer and the manufacturer, and shall contain a written finding of whether the new motor vehicle meets the standards set forth under this chapter.

(8) The consumer may accept the arbitration board decision or appeal to superior court, pursuant to RCW 19.118.100. Upon acceptance by the consumer, the arbitration board decision shall become final. The consumer shall send written notification of acceptance or rejection to the arbitration board within sixty days of receiving the decision and the arbitration board shall immediately deliver a copy of the consumer’s acceptance to the manufacturer by certified mail, return receipt requested, or by personal service. Failure of the consumer to respond to the arbitration board within sixty calendar days of receiving the decision shall be considered a rejection of the decision by the consumer. SSB 6306 Prime Sponsor, Senate Committee on Ways & Means: Creating the school employees’ retirement system. Reported by Committee on Appropriations

MAJORITY recommendation: Do pass as amended.

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

"NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. The legislature recognizes that teachers and school district employees share the same educational work environment and academic calendar. It is the intent of the legislature to achieve similar retirement benefits for all educational employees by transferring the membership of classified school employees in the public employees’ retirement system plan II to the Washington school employees’ retirement system plan II. The transfer of membership to the Washington school employees’ retirement system plan II is not intended to cause a diminution or expansion of benefits for affected members. It is enacted solely to provide public employees working under the same conditions with the same options for retirement planning.

As members of the Washington school employees’ retirement system plan II, classified employees will have the same opportunity to transfer to the Washington school employees’ retirement system plan III as their certificated coworkers. The ability to transfer to the Washington school employees’ retirement system plan III offers members a new public retirement system that balances flexibility with stability; provides increased employee control of investments and responsible protection of the public’s investment in employee benefits; and encourages the pursuit of public sector careers without creating barriers to other public or private sector employment.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. The definitions in this section apply throughout this chapter, unless the context clearly requires otherwise:

(1) "Retirement system" means the Washington school employees’ retirement system provided for in this chapter.

(2) "Department" means the department of retirement systems created in chapter 41.50 RCW.

(3) "State treasurer" means the treasurer of the state of Washington.

(4) "Employer," for plan II and plan III members, means a school district or an educational service district.

(5) "Member" means any employee included in the membership of the retirement system, as provided for in section 4 of this act.

(6)(a) "Compensation earnable" for plan II and plan III members, means salaries or wages earned by a member during a payroll period for personal services, including overtime payments, and shall include wages and salaries deferred under provisions established pursuant to sections 403(b), 414(h), and 457 of the United States Internal Revenue Code, but shall exclude nonmoney maintenance compensation and lump sum or other payments for deferred annual sick leave, unused accumulated vacation, unused accumulated annual leave, or any form of severance pay.

(b) "Compensation earnable" for plan II and plan III members also includes the following actual or imputed payments, which are not paid for personal services:

(i) Retroactive payments to an individual by an employer on reinstatement of the employee in a position, or payments by an employer to an individual in lieu of reinstatement, which are awarded or granted as the equivalent of the salary or wage which the individual would have earned during a payroll period shall be considered compensation earnable to the extent provided in this subsection, and the individual shall receive the equivalent service credit;

(ii) In any year in which a member serves in the legislature, the member shall have the option of having such member’s compensation earnable be the greater of:

(A) The compensation earnable the member would have received had such member not served in the legislature; or

(B) Such member’s actual compensation earnable received for nonlegislative public employment and legislative service combined. Any additional contributions to the retirement system required because compensation earnable under (b)(ii)(A) of this subsection is greater than compensation earnable under this (b)(ii)(B) of this subsection shall be paid by the member for both member and employer contributions;

(iii) Assault pay only as authorized by RCW 27.04.100, 72.01.045, and 72.09.240;

(iv) Compensation that a member would have received but for a disability occurring in the line of duty only as authorized by RCW 41.40.038;

(v) Compensation that a member receives due to participation in the leave sharing program only as authorized by RCW 41.04.650 through 41.04.670; and

(vi) Compensation that a member receives for being in standby status. For the purposes of this section, a member is in standby status when not being paid for time actually worked and the employer requires the member to be prepared to report immediately for work, if the need arises, although the need may not arise.

(7) "Service" for plan II and plan III members, means periods of employment by a member in an eligible position or positions for one or more employers for which compensation earnable is paid. Compensation earnable earned for ninety or more hours in any calendar month shall constitute one service credit month except as provided in section 19 of this act. Compensation earnable earned for at least seventy hours but less than ninety hours in any calendar month shall constitute one-half service credit month of service. Compensation earnable earned for less than seventy hours in any calendar month shall constitute one-quarter service credit month of service. Time spent in standby status, whether compensated or not, is not service.

Any fraction of a year of service shall be taken into account in the computation of such retirement allowance or benefits.

(a) Service in any state elective position shall be deemed to be full-time service.

(b) A member shall receive a total of not more than twelve service credit months of service for such calendar year. If an individual is employed in an eligible position by one or more employers the individual shall receive no more than one service credit month during any calendar month in which multiple service for ninety or more hours is rendered.

(c) For purposes of plan II and III "forty-five days" as used in RCW 28A.400.300 is equal to two service credit months. Use of less than forty-five days of sick leave is creditable as allowed under this subsection as follows:

(i) Less than eleven days equals one-quarter service credit month;

(ii) Eleven or more days but less than twenty-two days equals one-half service credit month;

(iii) Twenty-two days equals one service credit month;

(iv) More than twenty-two days but less than thirty-three days equals one and one-quarter service credit month; and

(v) Thirty-three or more days but less than forty-five days equals one and one-half service credit month.

"Accumulated contributions" means the sum of all contributions standing to the credit of a member in the member’s individual account, including any amount paid under RCW 41.50.165(2), together with the regular interest thereon.

"Average final compensation" for plan II and plan III members means the member’s average compensation earnable of the highest consecutive sixty months of service credit months prior to such member’s retirement, termination, or death. Periods constituting authorized leaves of absence may not be used in the calculation of average final compensation except under RCW 41.40.710(2).

"Final compensation" means the annual rate of compensation earnable by a member at the time of termination of employment.

"Annuity" means payments for life derived from accumulated contributions of a member. All annuities shall be paid in monthly installments.

"Pension" means payments for life derived from contributions made by the employer. All pensions shall be paid in monthly installments.

"Retirement allowance" for plan II and plan III members means monthly payments to a retiree or beneficiary as provided in this chapter.

"Actuarial equivalent" means a benefit of equal value when computed upon the basis of such mortality and other tables as may be adopted by the director.

"Retirement" means withdrawal from active service with a retirement allowance as provided by this chapter.

"Eligible position" means any position that, as defined by the employer, normally requires five or more months of service a year for which regular compensation for at least seventy hours is earned by the occupant thereof. For purposes of this chapter an employer shall not define "position" in such a manner that an employee's monthly work for that employer is divided into more than one position.

"Leave of absence" means the period of time a member is authorized by the employer to be absent from service without being separated from membership.

(38) "Classified employee" means an employee of a school district or an educational service district who is not eligible for membership in the teachers' retirement system established under chapter 41.32 RCW.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. A retirement system is hereby created for the employees of school districts or educational service districts. The administration and management of the retirement system, the responsibility for making effective the provisions of this chapter, and the authority to make all rules necessary therefor are hereby vested in the department. All such rules shall be governed by the provisions of chapter 34.05 RCW. This retirement system shall be known as the Washington school employees' retirement system.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4. Membership in the retirement system shall consist of all regularly compensated classified employees and appointive and elective officials of employers, as defined in this chapter, with the following exceptions:

(1) Persons in ineligible positions;
(2)(a) Persons holding elective offices or persons appointed directly by the governor: PROVIDED. That such persons shall have the option of applying for membership during such periods of employment:  AND PROVIDED FURTHER, That any persons holding or who have held elective offices or persons appointed by the governor who are members in the retirement system and who have, prior to becoming such members, previously held an elective office, and did not at the start of such initial or successive terms of office exercise their option to become members, may apply for membership to be effective during such term or terms of office and shall be allowed to establish the service credit applicable to such term or terms of office upon payment of the employee contributions therefor by the employee with interest as determined by the director and employer contributions therefor by the employer or employee with interest as determined by the director: AND PROVIDED FURTHER, That all contributions with interest submitted by the employee under this subsection shall be placed in the employee's individual account in the employee's savings fund and be treated as any other contribution made by the employee, with the exception that any contributions submitted by the employee in payment of the employer's obligation, together with the interest the director may apply to the employer's contribution, shall not be considered part of the member's annuity for any purpose except withdrawal of contributions;
(b) A member holding elective office who has elected to apply for membership pursuant to (a) of this subsection and who later wishes to be eligible for a retirement allowance shall have the option of ending his or her membership in the retirement system. A member wishing to end his or her membership under this subsection must file on a form supplied by the department a statement indicating that the member agrees to irrevocably abandon any claim for service for future periods served as an elected official. A member who receives more than fifteen thousand dollars per year in compensation for his or her elective service, adjusted annually for inflation by the director, is not eligible for the option provided by this subsection (2)(b);
(3) Retirement system retirees: PROVIDED. That following reemployment in an eligible position, a retiree may elect to prospectively become a member of the retirement system if otherwise eligible;
(4) Persons enrolled in state-approved apprenticeship programs, authorized under chapter 49.04 RCW, and who are employed by employers to earn hours to complete such apprenticeship programs, if the employee is a member of a union-sponsored retirement plan and is making contributions to such a retirement plan or if the employee is a member of a Taft-Hartley retirement plan;
(5) Persons rendering professional services to an employer on a fee, retainer, or contract basis or when the income from these services is less than fifty percent of the gross income received from the person’s practice of a profession;

(6) Employees who (a) are not citizens of the United States, (b) do not reside in the United States, and (c) perform duties outside of the United States;

(8) Employees who are citizens of the United States and who reside and perform duties for an employer outside of the United States: PROVIDED, That unless otherwise excluded under this chapter or chapter 41.04 RCW, the employee may apply for membership (a) within thirty days after employment in an eligible position and membership service credit shall be granted from the first day of membership service, and (b) after this thirty-day period, but membership service credit shall be granted only if payment is made for the noncredited membership service under RCW 41.50.165(2), otherwise service shall be from the date of application.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 5. Any person who has been employed in a nonelective position for at least nine months and who has made member contributions required under this chapter throughout such period, shall be deemed to have been in an eligible position during such period of employment.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 6. Within thirty days after his or her employment or his or her acceptance into membership each employee or appointive or elective official shall submit to the department a statement of his or her name and such other information as the department shall require. Compliance with the provisions set forth in this section shall be considered to be a condition of employment and failure by an employee to comply may result in separation from service.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 7. (1)(a) If a retiree enters employment with an employer sooner than one calendar month after his or her accrual date, the retiree’s monthly retirement allowance will be reduced by five and one-half percent for every eight hours worked during that month. This reduction will be applied each month until the retiree remains absent from employment with an employer for one full calendar month.

(b) The benefit reduction provided in (a) of this subsection will accrue for a maximum of one hundred sixty hours per month. Any benefit reduction over one hundred percent will be applied to the benefit the retiree is eligible to receive in subsequent months.

(2) A retiree who has satisfied the break in employment requirement of subsection (1) of this section, may work up to five months per calendar year in an eligible position without suspension of his or her benefit.

(3) If the retiree opts to reestablish membership under section 4 of this act, he or she terminates his or her retirement status and becomes a member. Retirement benefits shall not accrue during the period of membership and the individual shall make contributions and receive membership credit. Such a member shall have the right to again retire if eligible in accordance with section 103 or 209 of this act. However, if the right to retire is exercised to become effective before the member has rendered two uninterrupted years of service, the retirement formula and survivor options the member had at the time of the member’s previous retirement shall be reinstated.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 8. Those members subject to this chapter who became disabled in the line of duty and who received or are receiving benefits under Title 51 RCW or a similar federal workers’ compensation program shall receive or continue to receive service credit subject to the following:

(1) No member may receive more than one month’s service credit in a calendar month.

(2) No service credit under this section may be allowed after a member separates or is separated without leave of absence.
(3) Employer contributions shall be paid by the employer at the rate in effect for the period of the service credited.

(4) Employee contributions shall be collected by the employer and paid to the department at the rate in effect for the period of service credited.

(5) Contributions shall be based on the regular compensation which the member would have received had the disability not occurred. If contribution payments are made retroactively, interest shall be charged at the rate set by the director on both employee and employer contributions. No service credit shall be granted until the employee contribution has been paid.

(6) The service and compensation credit shall not be granted for a period to exceed twelve consecutive months.

(7) Should the legislature revoke the service credit authorized under this section or repeal this section, no affected employee is entitled to receive the credit as a matter of contractual right.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 9. The deductions from the compensation of members, provided for in section 104 of this act, shall be made notwithstanding that the minimum compensation provided for by law for any member shall be reduced thereby. Every member shall be deemed to consent and agree to the deductions made and provided for in this chapter and receipt in full for his or her salary or compensation, and payment, less the deductions, shall be a full and complete discharge and acquittance of all claims and demands whatsoever for the services rendered by the person during the period covered by the payment, except as to benefits provided for under this chapter.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 10. (1) The director shall report to each employer the contribution rates required for the ensuing biennium or fiscal year, whichever is applicable.

(2) Beginning September 1, 1990, the amount to be collected as the employer's contribution shall be computed by applying the applicable rates established in chapter 41.45 RCW to the total compensation earnable of employer's members as shown on the current payrolls of the employer. Each employer shall compute at the end of each month the amount due for that month and the same shall be paid as are its other obligations.

(3) In the event of failure, for any reason, of an employer other than a political subdivision of the state to have remitted amounts due for membership service of any of the employer's members rendered during a prior biennium, the director shall bill such employer for such employer's contribution together with such charges as the director deems appropriate in accordance with RCW 41.50.120. Such billing shall be paid by the employer as, and the same shall be, a proper charge against any moneys available or appropriated to such employer for payment of current biennial payrolls.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 11. (1) Subject to subsections (2) and (3) of this section, the right of a person to a pension, an annuity, or retirement allowance, any optional benefit, any other right accrued or accruing to any person under the provisions of this chapter, the various funds created by this chapter, and all moneys and investments and income thereof, are hereby exempt from any state, county, municipal, or other local tax, and shall not be subject to execution, garnishment, attachment, the operation of bankruptcy or insolvency laws, or other process of law whatsoever, and shall be unassignable.

(2) This section does not prohibit a beneficiary of a retirement allowance from authorizing deductions therefrom for payment of premiums due on any group insurance policy or plan issued for the benefit of a group comprised of public employees of the state of Washington or its political subdivisions and which has been approved for deduction in accordance with rules that may be adopted by the state health care authority and/or the department. This section also does not prohibit a beneficiary of a retirement allowance from authorizing deductions therefrom for payment of dues and other membership fees to any retirement association or organization the membership of which is composed of retired public employees, if a total of three hundred or more of such retired employees have authorized such deduction for payment to the same retirement association or organization.

(3) Subsection (1) of this section does not prohibit the department from complying with (a) a wage assignment order for child support issued pursuant to chapter 26.18 RCW, (b) an order to withhold and deliver issued pursuant to chapter 74.20A RCW, (c) a notice of payroll deduction issued pursuant to RCW 26.23.060, (d) a mandatory benefits assignment order issued by the department, (e) a court order directing the department of retirement systems to pay benefits directly to an obligee under a dissolution order as defined in RCW 41.50.500(3) which fully complies with RCW 41.50.670 and 41.50.700, or (f) any administrative or court order expressly authorized by federal law.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 12. A member shall not receive a disability retirement benefit under section 105 or 210 of this act if the disability is the result of criminal conduct by the member committed after April 21, 1997.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 13. Any person who knowingly makes any false statements, or falsifies or permits to be falsified any record or records of this retirement system in any attempt to defraud the retirement system as a result of such act, is guilty of a gross misdemeanor.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 14. (1) Any person who was a member of the state-wide city employees’ retirement system governed by chapter 41.44 RCW and who was never reemployed by an employer as defined in RCW 41.40.010 and who is employed by an employer as defined in section 2 of this act, may, in a writing filed with the director, elect to:

(a) Transfer to this retirement system all service currently credited under chapter 41.44 RCW;
(b) Reestablish and transfer to this retirement system all service which was previously credited under chapter 41.44 RCW but which was canceled by discontinuance of service and withdrawal of accumulated contributions as provided in RCW 41.44.190. The service may be reestablished and transferred only upon payment by the member to the employees’ savings fund of this retirement system of the amount withdrawn plus interest thereon from the date of withdrawal until the date of payment at a rate determined by the director. No additional payments are required for service credit described in this subsection if already established under this chapter; and
(c) Establish service credit for the initial period of employment not to exceed six months, prior to establishing membership under chapter 41.44 RCW, upon payment in full by the member of the total employer’s contribution to the benefit account fund of this retirement system that would have been made under this chapter when the initial service was rendered. The payment shall be based on the first month’s compensation earnable as a member of the state-wide city employees’ retirement system and as defined in RCW 41.44.030(13). However, a person who has established service credit under RCW 41.40.010(13) (c) or (d) shall not establish additional credit under this subsection nor may anyone who establishes credit under this subsection establish any additional credit under RCW 41.40.010(13) (c) or (d). No additional payments are required for service credit described in this subsection if already established under this chapter.

(2) The written election must be filed and the payments must be completed in full within one year after employment by an employer.

(3) Upon receipt of the written election and payments required by subsection (1) of this section from any retiree described in subsection (1) of this section, the department shall recompute the retiree’s allowance in accordance with this section and shall pay any additional benefit resulting from such recomputation retroactively to the date of retirement from the system governed by this chapter.

(4) Any person who was a member of the state-wide city employees’ retirement system under chapter 41.44 RCW and also became a member of the public employees’ retirement system established under chapter 41.40 RCW or the Washington school employees’ retirement system established under this chapter, and did not make the election under RCW 41.40.058 or subsection (1) of this section because he or she was not a member of the public employees’ retirement system prior to July 27, 1987, or did not meet the time limitations of RCW 41.40.058 or subsection (2) of this section, may elect to do any of the following:

(a) Transfer to this retirement system all service currently credited under chapter 41.44 RCW;
(b) Reestablish and transfer to this retirement system all service that was previously credited under chapter 41.44 RCW but was canceled by discontinuance of service and withdrawal of accumulated contributions as provided in RCW 41.44.190; and
(c) Establish service credit for the initial period of employment not to exceed six months, prior to establishing membership under chapter 41.44 RCW.

To make the election or elections, the person must pay the amount required under RCW 41.50.165(2) prior to retirement from this retirement system.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 15. Any person aggrieved by any decision of the department affecting his or her legal rights, duties, or privileges must, before he or she appeals to the courts, file with the director by mail or personally within sixty days from the day the decision was communicated to the person, a notice for a hearing before the director’s designee. The notice of hearing shall set forth in full detail the grounds upon which the person considers the decision unjust or unlawful and shall include every issue to be considered by the department, and it must contain a detailed statement of facts upon which the person relies in support of the appeal. These persons shall be deemed to have waived all objections or irregularities concerning the matter on which the appeal is taken, other than those specifically set forth in the notice of hearing or appearing in the records of the retirement system.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 16. Following its receipt of a notice for hearing in accordance with section 15 of this act, a hearing shall be held by the director or a duly authorized representative, in the county of the residence of the claimant at a time and place designated by the director. Such hearing shall be conducted and governed in all respects by the provisions of chapter 34.05 RCW.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 17. Judicial review of any final decision and order by the director is governed by the provisions of chapter 34.05 RCW.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 18. No bond of any kind shall be required of a claimant appealing to the superior court, the court of appeals, or the supreme court from a finding of the department affecting the claimant’s right to retirement or disability benefits.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 19. (1) Except for any period prior to the member’s employment in an eligible position, a plan II or plan III member who is employed by a school district or districts or an educational service district:

(a) Shall receive a service credit month for each month of the period from September through August of the following year if he or she is employed in an eligible position, earns compensation earnable for eight hundred ten hours or more during that period, and is employed during nine months of that period;

(b) If a member in an eligible position for each month of the period from September through August of the following year does not meet the hours requirements of (a) of this subsection, the member is entitled to one-half service credit month for each month of the period if he or she earns earnable compensation for at least six hundred thirty hours but less than eight hundred ten hours during that period, and is employed nine months of that period;

(c) In all other instances, a member in an eligible position is entitled to service credit months as follows:

(i) One service credit month for each month in which compensation is earned for ninety or more hours;

(ii) One-half service credit month for each month in which compensation is earned for at least seventy hours but less than ninety hours; and

(iii) One-quarter service credit month for each month in which compensation is earned for less than seventy hours.

(2) The department shall adopt rules implementing this section.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 20. RCW 43.01.044 shall not result in any increase in retirement benefits. The rights extended to state officers and employees under RCW 43.01.044 are not intended to and shall not have any effect on retirement benefits under this chapter.
NEW SECTION. Sec. 21. (1) The annual compensation taken into account in calculating retiree benefits under this system shall not exceed the limits imposed by section 401(a)(17) of the federal internal revenue code for qualified trusts.

(2) The department shall adopt rules as necessary to implement this section.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 22. Beginning July 1, 1979, and every year thereafter, the department shall determine the following information for each retired member or beneficiary whose retirement allowance has been in effect for at least one year:

(1) The original dollar amount of the retirement allowance;
(2) The index for the calendar year prior to the effective date of the retirement allowance, to be known as "index A";
(3) The index for the calendar year prior to the date of determination, to be known as "index B"; and
(4) The ratio obtained when index B is divided by index A.

The value of the ratio obtained shall be the annual adjustment to the original retirement allowance and shall be applied beginning with the July payment. In no event, however, shall the annual adjustment:

(a) Produce a retirement allowance which is lower than the original retirement allowance;
(b) Exceed three percent in the initial annual adjustment; or
(c) Differ from the previous year's annual adjustment by more than three percent.

For the purposes of this section, "index" means, for any calendar year, that year's average consumer price index--Seattle, Washington area for urban wage earners and clerical workers, all items, compiled by the bureau of labor statistics, United States department of labor.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 23. (1) Upon retirement for service as prescribed in section 103 or 209 of this act or retirement for disability under section 105 or 210 of this act, a member shall elect to have the retirement allowance paid pursuant to one of the following options, calculated so as to be actuarially equivalent to each other.

(a) Standard allowance. A member electing this option shall receive a retirement allowance payable throughout such member's life. However, if the retiree dies before the total of the retirement allowance paid to such retiree equals the amount of such retiree's accumulated contributions at the time of retirement, then the balance shall be paid to the member's estate, or such person or persons, trust, or organization as the retiree shall have nominated by written designation duly executed and filed with the department; or if there be no such designated person or persons still living at the time of the retiree's death, then to the surviving spouse; or if there be neither such designated person or persons still living at the time of death nor a surviving spouse, then to the retiree's legal representative.

(b) The department shall adopt rules that allow a member to select a retirement option that pays the member a reduced retirement allowance and upon death, such portion of the member's reduced retirement allowance as the department by rule designates shall be continued throughout the life of and paid to a person nominated by the member by written designation duly executed and filed with the department at the time of retirement. The options adopted by the department shall include, but are not limited to, a joint and one hundred percent survivor option and a joint and fifty percent survivor option.

(2)(a) A member, if married, must provide the written consent of his or her spouse to the option selected under this section, except as provided in (b) of this subsection. If a member is married and both the member and the member's spouse do not give written consent to an option under this section, the department shall pay a joint and fifty percent survivor benefit calculated to be actuarially equivalent to the benefit options available under subsection (1) of this section unless spousal consent is not required as provided in (b) of this subsection.

(b) If a copy of a dissolution order designating a survivor beneficiary under RCW 41.50.790 has been filed with the department at least thirty days prior to a member's retirement:

(i) The department shall honor the designation as if made by the member under subsection (1) of this section; and

(ii) The spousal consent provisions of (a) of this subsection do not apply.
NEW SECTION.  Sec. 24.  (1) Except as provided in section 7 of this act, no retiree under the provisions of plan II shall be eligible to receive such retiree's monthly retirement allowance if he or she is employed in an eligible position as defined in section 2 of this act, RCW 41.40.010 or 41.32.010, or as a law enforcement officer or fire fighter as defined in RCW 41.26.030, except that a retiree who ends his or her membership in the retirement system pursuant to RCW 41.40.023(3)(b) is not subject to this section if the retiree's only employment is as an elective official.

(2) If a retiree's benefits have been suspended under this section, his or her benefits shall be reinstated when the retiree terminates the employment that caused his or her benefits to be suspended. Upon reinstatement, the retiree's benefits shall be actuarially recomputed pursuant to the rules adopted by the department.

(3) The department shall adopt rules implementing this section.

NEW SECTION.  Sec. 25. Sections 1 through 24 of this act apply to members of plan II and plan III.

NEW SECTION.  Sec. 101. A member of the retirement system shall receive a retirement allowance equal to two percent of such member's average final compensation for each service credit year of service.

NEW SECTION.  Sec. 102. (1) The director may pay a member eligible to receive a retirement allowance or the member's beneficiary, subject to the provisions of subsection (5) of this section, a lump sum payment in lieu of a monthly benefit if the initial monthly benefit computed in accordance with section 101 of this act would be less than fifty dollars. The lump sum payment shall be the greater of the actuarial equivalent of the monthly benefits or an amount equal to the individual's accumulated contributions plus accrued interest.

(2) A retiree or a beneficiary, subject to the provisions of subsection (5) of this section, who is receiving a regular monthly benefit of less than fifty dollars may request, in writing, to convert from a monthly benefit to a lump sum payment. If the director approves the conversion, the calculation of the actuarial equivalent of the total estimated regular benefit will be computed based on the beneficiary's age at the time the benefit initially accrued. The lump sum payment will be reduced to reflect any payments received on or after the initial benefit accrual date.

(3) Persons covered under the provisions of RCW 41.40.625 or subsection (1) of this section may upon returning to member status reinstate all previous service by depositing the lump sum payment received, with interest as computed by the director, within two years of returning to service or prior to reretiring, whichever comes first. In computing the amount due, the director shall exclude the accumulated value of the normal payments the member would have received while in beneficiary status if the lump sum payment had not occurred.

(4) If a member fails to meet the time limitations under subsection (3) of this section, reinstatement of all previous service will occur if the member pays the amount required under RCW 41.50.165(2). The amount, however, shall exclude the accumulated value of the normal payments the member would have received while in beneficiary status if the lump sum payment had not occurred.

(5) Only persons entitled to or receiving a service retirement allowance under section 101 of this act or an earned disability allowance under section 105 of this act qualify for participation under this section.

(6) It is the intent of the legislature that any member who receives a settlement under this section shall be deemed to be retired from this system.

NEW SECTION.  Sec. 103. (1) NORMAL RETIREMENT. Any member with at least five service credit years who has attained at least age sixty-five shall be eligible to retire and to receive a retirement allowance computed according to the provisions of section 101 of this act.

(2) EARLY RETIREMENT. Any member who has completed at least twenty service credit years and has attained age fifty-five shall be eligible to retire and to receive a retirement allowance computed according to the provisions of section 101 of this act, except that a member retiring pursuant to this subsection shall have the retirement allowance actuarially reduced to reflect the difference in the number of years between age at retirement and the attainment of age sixty-five.

NEW SECTION.  Sec. 104. The required contribution rates to the retirement system for both members and employers shall be established by the director from time to time as may be necessary upon the advice of the state actuary. The state actuary shall use the aggregate actuarial cost method to calculate contribution rates. The employer contribution rate calculated under this section shall be used only for the purpose of determining the amount of employer contributions to be deposited in the plan II fund from the total employer contributions collected under section 10 of this act.

Contribution rates required to fund the costs of the retirement system shall always be equal for members and employers, except as herein provided. Any adjustments in contribution rates required from time to time for future costs shall likewise be shared equally by the members and employers.

Any increase in the contribution rate required as the result of a failure of an employer to make any contribution required by this section shall be borne in full by the employer not making the contribution.

The director shall notify all employers of any pending adjustment in the required contribution rate and such increase shall be announced at least thirty days prior to the effective date of the change.

Members contributions required by this section shall be deducted from the members compensation earnable each payroll period. The members contribution and the employers contribution shall be remitted directly to the department within fifteen days following the end of the calendar month during which the payroll period ends.

NEW SECTION.  Sec. 105. (1) A member of the retirement system who becomes totally incapacitated for continued employment by an employer as determined by the department upon recommendation of the department shall be eligible to receive an allowance under the provisions of sections 101 through 112 of this act. The member shall receive a monthly disability allowance computed as provided for in section 101 of this act and shall have this allowance actuarially reduced to reflect the difference in the number of years between age at disability and the attainment of age sixty-five.

Any member who receives an allowance under the provisions of this section shall be subject to comprehensive medical examinations as required by the department. If these medical examinations reveal that a member has recovered from the incapacitating disability and the member is offered reemployment by an employer at a comparable compensation, the member shall cease to be eligible for the allowance.

(2) If the recipient of a monthly retirement allowance under this section dies before the total of the retirement allowance paid to the recipient equals the amount of the accumulated contributions at the date of retirement, then the balance shall be paid to the member’s estate, or the person or persons, trust, or organization as the recipient has nominated by written designation duly executed and filed with the director, or, if there is no designated person or persons still living at the time of the recipient's death, then to the surviving spouse, or, if there is no designated person or persons still living at the time of his or her death nor a surviving spouse, then to his or her legal representative.

NEW SECTION.  Sec. 106. Any member or beneficiary eligible to receive a retirement allowance under the provisions of section 103, 105, or 107 of this act shall be eligible to commence receiving a retirement allowance after having filed written application with the department.

(1) Retirement allowances paid to members under the provisions of section 103 of this act shall accrue from the first day of the calendar month immediately following such member's separation from employment.

(2) Retirement allowances paid to vested members no longer in service, but qualifying for such an allowance pursuant to section 103 of this act, shall accrue from the first day of the calendar month immediately following such qualification.

(3) Disability allowances paid to disabled members under the provisions of section 105 of this act shall accrue from the first day of the calendar month immediately following such member’s separation from employment for disability.
(4) Retirement allowances paid as death benefits under the provisions of section 107 of this act shall accrue from the first day of the calendar month immediately following the member's death.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 107. (1) Except as provided in RCW 11.07.010, if a member or a vested member who has not completed at least ten years of service dies, the amount of the accumulated contributions standing to such member's credit in the retirement system at the time of such member's death, less any amount identified as owing to an obligee upon withdrawal of accumulated contributions pursuant to a court order filed under RCW 41.50.670, shall be paid to the member's estate, or such person or persons, trust, or organization as the member shall have nominated by written designation duly executed and filed with the department. If there be no such designated person or persons still living at the time of the member's death, such member's accumulated contributions standing to such member's credit in the retirement system, less any amount identified as owing to an obligee upon withdrawal of accumulated contributions pursuant to a court order filed under RCW 41.50.670, shall be paid to the member's surviving spouse as if in fact such spouse had been nominated by written designation, or if there be no such surviving spouse, then to such member's legal representatives.

(2) If a member who is eligible for retirement or a member who has completed at least ten years of service dies, the surviving spouse or eligible child or children shall elect to receive either:

(a) A retirement allowance computed as provided for in section 103 of this act, actuarially reduced by the amount of any lump sum benefit identified as owing to an obligee upon withdrawal of accumulated contributions pursuant to a court order filed under RCW 41.50.670 and actuarially adjusted to reflect a joint and one hundred percent survivor option under section 23 of this act and if the member was not eligible for normal retirement at the date of death a further reduction as described in section 103 of this act; if a surviving spouse who is receiving a retirement allowance dies leaving a child or children of the member under the age of majority, then such child or children shall continue to receive an allowance in an amount equal to that which was being received by the surviving spouse, share and share alike, until such child or children reach the age of majority; if there is no surviving spouse eligible to receive an allowance at the time of the member's death, such member's child or children under the age of majority shall receive an allowance, share and share alike, calculated as herein provided making the assumption that the ages of the spouse and member were equal at the time of the member's death; or

(b) The member's accumulated contributions, less any amount identified as owing to an obligee upon withdrawal of accumulated contributions pursuant to a court order filed under RCW 41.50.670.

(3) If a member who is eligible for retirement or a member who has completed at least ten years of service dies and is not survived by a spouse or an eligible child, then the accumulated contributions standing to the member's credit, less any amount identified as owing to an obligee upon withdrawal of accumulated contributions pursuant to a court order filed under RCW 41.50.670, shall be paid:

(a) To a person or persons, estate, trust, or organization as the member shall have nominated by written designation duly executed and filed with the department; or

(b) If there is no such designated person or persons still living at the time of the member's death, then to the member's legal representatives.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 108. (1) A member who is on a paid leave of absence authorized by a member’s employer shall continue to receive service credit as provided for under the provisions of sections 101 through 112 of this act.

(2) A member who receives compensation from an employer while on an authorized leave of absence to serve as an elected official of a labor organization, and whose employer is reimbursed by the labor organization for the compensation paid to the member during the period of absence, may also be considered to be on a paid leave of absence. This subsection shall only apply if the member’s leave of absence is authorized by a collective bargaining agreement that provides that the member retains seniority rights with the employer during the period of leave. The compensation earnable reported for a member who establishes service credit under this subsection may not be greater than the salary paid to the highest paid job class covered by the collective bargaining agreement.

(3) Except as specified in subsection (4) of this section, a member shall be eligible to receive a maximum of two years service credit during a member’s entire working career for those periods when a member is on an unpaid leave of absence authorized by an employer. Such credit may be obtained only if:

(a) The member makes both the plan II employer and member contributions plus interest as determined by the department for the period of the authorized leave of absence within five years of resumption of service or prior to retirement whichever comes sooner; or

(b) If not within five years of resumption of service but prior to retirement, pay the amount required under RCW 41.50.165(2).

The contributions required under (a) of this subsection shall be based on the average of the member’s compensation earnable at both the time the authorized leave of absence was granted and the time the member resumed employment.

(4) A member who leaves the employ of an employer to enter the armed forces of the United States shall be entitled to retirement system service credit for up to five years of military service. This subsection shall be administered in a manner consistent with the requirements of the federal uniformed services employment and reemployment rights act.

(a) The member qualifies for service credit under this subsection if:

(i) Within ninety days of the member’s honorable discharge from the United States armed forces, the member applies for reemployment with the employer who employed the member immediately prior to the member entering the United States armed forces; and

(ii) The member makes the employee contributions required under section 104 of this act within five years of resumption of service or prior to retirement, whichever comes sooner; or

(iii) Prior to retirement and not within ninety days of the member’s honorable discharge or five years of resumption of service the member pays the amount required under RCW 41.50.165(2).

(b) Upon receipt of member contributions under (a)(ii) of this subsection, the department shall establish the member’s service credit and shall bill the employer for its contribution required under section 104 of this act for the period of military service, plus interest as determined by the department.

(c) The contributions required under (a)(ii) of this subsection shall be based on the compensation the member would have earned if not on leave, or if that cannot be estimated with reasonable certainty, the compensation reported for the member in the year prior to when the member went on military leave.

NEW SECTION.  Sec. 109. A member who separates or has separated after having completed at least five years of service may remain a member during the period of such member’s absence from service for the exclusive purpose only of receiving a retirement allowance under the provisions of section 103 of this act if such member maintains the member’s accumulated contributions intact.

NEW SECTION.  Sec. 110. A member who ceases to be an employee of an employer except by service or disability retirement may request a refund of the member’s accumulated contributions. The refund shall be made within ninety days following the receipt of the request and notification of termination through the contribution reporting system by the employer; except that in the case of death, an initial payment shall be made within thirty days of receipt of request for such payment and notification of termination through the contribution reporting system by the employer. A member who files a request for refund and subsequently enters into employment with another employer prior to the refund being made shall not be eligible for a refund. The refund of accumulated contributions shall terminate all rights to benefits under sections 101 through 112 of this act.

NEW SECTION.  Sec. 111. (1) A member, who had left service and withdrawn the member’s accumulated contributions, shall receive service credit for such prior service if the member restores all withdrawn accumulated contributions together with interest since the time of withdrawal as determined by the department.
The restoration of such funds must be completed within five years of the resumption of service or prior to retirement, whichever occurs first.

(2) If a member fails to meet the time limitations of subsection (1) of this section, the member may receive service credit destroyed by the withdrawn contributions if the amount required under RCW 41.50.165(2) is paid.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 112. Sections 101 through 111 and 114 of this act apply only to plan II members.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 113. A new section is added to chapter 41.40 RCW to read as follows:

Plan II members who have withdrawn their member contributions for prior plan II service may restore contributions and service credit to the Washington school employees' retirement system plan II as provided under RCW 41.40.740.

(2) The membership and previous service credit of a plan II member not employed in an eligible position on September 1, 2000, will be transferred to the Washington school employees' retirement system plan II when he or she becomes employed in an eligible position. Plan II members not employed in an eligible position on September 1, 2000, who have withdrawn their member contributions for prior plan II service may restore contributions and service credit to the Washington school employees' retirement system plan II as provided under RCW 41.40.740.

(3) Members who restore contributions and service credit under subsection (1) or (2) of this section shall have their contributions and service credit transferred to the Washington school employees' retirement system.

(2) All service credit in plan II shall be transferred to the defined benefit portion of plan III.

(3) Any plan II member who wishes to transfer to plan III after February 28, 2001, may transfer during the month of January in any following year, provided that the member earns service credit for that month.

(4) The accumulated contributions in plan II, less fifty percent of any contributions made pursuant to RCW 41.50.165(2) shall be transferred to the member's account in the defined contribution portion established in chapter 41.34 RCW, pursuant to procedures developed by the department and subject to RCW 41.34.090. Contributions made pursuant to RCW 41.50.165(2) that are not transferred to the member's account shall be transferred to the fund created in RCW 41.50.075(2), except that interest earned on all such contributions shall be transferred to the member's account.

(5) The legislature reserves the right to discontinue the right to transfer under this section.

(6) Anyone previously retired from plan II is prohibited from transferring to plan III.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 201. (1) Sections 201 through 213 of this act apply only to plan III members.

(2) Plan III consists of two separate elements: (a) A defined benefit portion covered under this subchapter; and (b) a defined contribution portion covered under chapter 41.34 RCW.

(3) Unless otherwise specified, all references to "plan III" in this subchapter refer to the defined benefit portion of plan III.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 202. All classified employees who first become employed by an employer in an eligible position on or after September 1, 2000, shall be members of plan III.
NEW SECTION. Sec. 203. (1) A member of the retirement system shall receive a retirement allowance equal to one percent of such member’s average final compensation for each service credit year.

(2) The retirement allowance payable under section 209 of this act to a member who separates after having completed at least twenty service credit years shall be increased by twenty-five one-hundredths of one percent, compounded for each month from the date of separation to the date that the retirement allowance commences.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 204. (1) Anyone who requests to transfer under section 114 of this act before March 1, 2001, and establishes service credit for January 2001, shall have their member account increased by sixty-five percent of:

(a) The member’s public employees’ retirement system plan II accumulated contributions as of January 1, 2000, less fifty percent of any payments made pursuant to RCW 41.50.165(2); or

(b) All amounts withdrawn after January 1, 2000, which are completely restored before March 1, 2001.

(2) If a member who requests to transfer dies before January 1, 2001, the additional payment provided by this section shall be paid to the member’s estate, or the person or persons, trust, or organization the member nominated by written designation duly executed and filed with the department.

(3) The legislature reserves the right to modify or discontinue the right to an additional payment under this section for any plan II members who have not previously transferred to plan III.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 205. Any member or beneficiary eligible to receive a retirement allowance under the provisions of section 209, 210, or 212 of this act is eligible to commence receiving a retirement allowance after having filed written application with the department.

(1) Retirement allowances paid to members shall accrue from the first day of the calendar month immediately following such member’s separation from employment.

(2) Retirement allowances payable to eligible members no longer in service, but qualifying for such an allowance pursuant to section 15 of this act shall accrue from the first day of the calendar month immediately following such qualification.

(3) Disability allowances paid to disabled members shall accrue from the first day of the calendar month immediately following such member’s separation from employment for disability.

(4) Retirement allowances paid as death benefits shall accrue from the first day of the calendar month immediately following the member’s death.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 206. (1) A member who is on a paid leave of absence authorized by a member’s employer shall continue to receive service credit.

(2) A member who receives compensation from an employer while on an authorized leave of absence to serve as an elected official of a labor organization, and whose employer is reimbursed by the labor organization for the compensation paid to the member during the period of absence, may also be considered to be on a paid leave of absence. This subsection shall only apply if the member’s leave of absence is authorized by a collective bargaining agreement that provides that the member retains seniority rights with the employer during the period of leave. The earnable compensation reported for a member who establishes service credit under this subsection may not be greater than the salary paid to the highest paid job class covered by the collective bargaining agreement.

(3) Except as specified in subsection (4) of this section, a member shall be eligible to receive a maximum of two years service credit during a member’s entire working career for those periods when a member is on an unpaid leave of absence authorized by an employer. Such credit may be obtained only if:

(a) The member makes the contribution on behalf of the employer, plus interest, as determined by the department; and

(b) The member makes the employee contribution, plus interest, as determined by the department, to the defined contribution portion.
The contributions required shall be based on the average of the member's earnable compensation at both the time the authorized leave of absence was granted and the time the member resumed employment.

(4) A member who leaves the employ of an employer to enter the armed forces of the United States shall be entitled to retirement system service credit for up to five years of military service if within ninety days of the member's honorable discharge from the United States armed forces, the member applies for reemployment with the employer who employed the member immediately prior to the member entering the United States armed forces. This subsection shall be administered in a manner consistent with the requirements of the federal uniformed services employment and reemployment rights act.

The department shall establish the member's service credit and shall bill the employer for its contribution required under section 213 of this act for the period of military service, plus interest as determined by the department. Service credit under this subsection may be obtained only if the member makes the employee contribution to the defined contribution portion as determined by the department.

The contributions required shall be based on the compensation the member would have earned if not on leave, or if that cannot be estimated with reasonable certainty, the compensation reported for the member in the year prior to when the member went on military leave.

NEW SECTION.  Sec. 207. (1) Contributions on behalf of the employer paid by the employee to purchase plan III service credit shall be allocated to the defined benefit portion of plan III and shall not be refundable when paid to the fund described in RCW 41.50.075(4). Contributions on behalf of the employee shall be allocated to the member account. If the member fails to meet the statutory time limitations to purchase plan III service credit, it may be purchased under the provisions of RCW 41.50.165(2). One-half of the purchase payments under RCW 41.50.165(2), plus interest, shall be allocated to the member's account.

(2) No purchased plan III membership service will be credited until all payments required of the member are made, with interest. Upon receipt of all payments owed by the member, the department shall bill the employer for any contributions, plus interest, required to purchase membership service.

NEW SECTION.  Sec. 208. (1) The director may pay a member eligible to receive a retirement allowance or the member's beneficiary a lump sum payment in lieu of a monthly benefit if the initial monthly benefit would be less than one hundred dollars. The one hundred dollar limit shall be increased annually as determined by the director. The lump sum payment shall be the actuarial equivalent of the monthly benefit.

(2) Persons covered under the provisions of subsection (1) of this section may upon returning to member status reinstate all previous service by depositing the lump sum payment received, with interest as computed by the director, within two years of returning to service or prior to retiring again, whichever comes first. In computing the amount due, the director shall exclude the accumulated value of the normal payments the member would have received while in beneficiary status if the lump sum payment had not occurred.

(3) Any member who receives a settlement under this section is deemed to be retired from this system.

NEW SECTION.  Sec. 209. (1) NORMAL RETIREMENT. Any member who is at least age sixty-five and who has:

(a) Completed ten service credit years; or shall be eligible to retire and to receive a retirement allowance computed according to the provisions of section 203 of this act.

(2) EARLY RETIREMENT. Any member who has attained at least age fifty-five and has completed at least ten years of service shall be eligible to retire and to receive a retirement allowance computed according to the provisions of section 203 of this act, except that a member retiring pursuant to this subsection shall have the retirement allowance actuarially reduced to reflect the difference in the number of years between age at retirement and the attainment of age sixty-five.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 210. (1) A member of the retirement system who becomes totally incapacitated for continued employment by an employer as determined by the department shall be eligible to receive an allowance under the provisions of plan III. The member shall receive a monthly disability allowance computed as provided in section 203 of this act and shall have this allowance actuarially reduced to reflect the difference in the number of years between age at disability and the attainment of age sixty-five.

Any member who receives an allowance under the provisions of this section shall be subject to comprehensive medical examinations as required by the department. If these medical examinations reveal that a member has recovered from the incapacitating disability and the member is offered reemployment by an employer at a comparable compensation, the member shall cease to be eligible for the allowance.

(2) If the recipient of a monthly retirement allowance under this section dies, any further benefit payments shall be conditioned by the payment option selected by the retiree as provided in section 23 of this act.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 211. (1) Any member who elects to transfer to plan III and has eligible unrestored withdrawn contributions in plan II, may restore such contributions under the provisions of section 113 of this act with interest as determined by the department. The restored plan II service credit will be automatically transferred to plan III. Restoration payments will be transferred to the member account in plan III. If the member fails to meet the time limitations of section 113 of this act, they may restore such contributions under the provisions of RCW 41.50.165(2). The restored plan II service credit will be automatically transferred to plan III. One-half of the restoration payments under RCW 41.50.165(2) plus interest shall be allocated to the member’s account.

(2) Any member who elects to transfer to plan III may purchase plan II service credit under section 113 of this act. Purchased plan II service credit will be automatically transferred to plan III. Contributions on behalf of the employer paid by the employee shall be allocated to the defined benefit portion of plan III and shall not be refundable when paid to the fund described in RCW 41.50.075(4). Contributions on behalf of the employee shall be allocated to the member account. If the member fails to meet the time limitations of section 113 of this act, they may subsequently restore such contributions under the provisions of RCW 41.50.165(2). Purchased plan II service credit will be automatically transferred to plan III. One-half of the payments under RCW 41.50.165(2), plus interest, shall be allocated to the member’s account.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 212. If a member dies prior to retirement, the surviving spouse or eligible child or children shall receive a retirement allowance computed as provided in section 203 of this act actuarially reduced to reflect a joint and one hundred percent survivor option and if the member was not eligible for normal retirement at the date of death a further reduction as described in section 209 of this act.

If the surviving spouse who is receiving the retirement allowance dies leaving a child or children under the age of majority, then such child or children shall continue to receive an allowance in an amount equal to that which was being received by the surviving spouse, share and share alike, until such child or children reach the age of majority.

If there is no surviving spouse eligible to receive an allowance at the time of the member’s death, such member’s child or children under the age of majority shall receive an allowance, share and share alike. The allowance shall be calculated with the assumption that the age of the spouse and member were equal at the time of the member’s death.
NEW SECTION.  Sec. 213. The required contribution rates to the retirement system for employers shall be established by the director from time to time as may be necessary upon the advice of the state actuary. The state actuary shall use the aggregate actuarial cost method to calculate contribution rates. The employer contribution rate calculated under this section shall be used only for the purpose of determining the amount of employer contributions to be deposited in the plan II fund from the total employer contributions collected under section 10 of this act.

Any increase in the contribution rate required as the result of a failure of an employer to make any contribution required by this section shall be borne in full by the employer not making the contribution.

The director shall notify all employers of any pending adjustment in the required contribution rate and such increase shall be announced at least thirty days prior to the effective date of the change.

The employer's contribution shall be remitted directly to the department within fifteen days following the end of the calendar month during which the payroll period ends.

Such sum is to be computed in an amount directly proportional to the estimated entire expense of the administration as the ratio of monthly salaries of the employer’s members bears to the total salaries of all members in the entire system. It shall then be the duty of all such employers to include in their budgets or otherwise provide the amounts so required.

(3) The department shall compute and bill each employer, as defined in RCW 41.26.030, 41.32.010, section 2 of this act, or 41.40.010, at the end of each month for the amount due for that month to the department of retirement systems expense fund and the same shall be paid as are its other obligations. However, the department may at its discretion establish a system of billing based upon calendar year quarters in which event the said billing shall be at the end of each such quarter.

The state actuary shall determine the estimated cost using the same method and procedure as is used in preparing fiscal note costs for the legislature. However, the director may in the director’s discretion decline to bill the employer if the amount due is less than fifty dollars.

Accounts unsettled within thirty days of the receipt of the billing shall be assessed an interest penalty of one percent of the amount due for each month or fraction thereof beyond the original thirty-day period.

(1) Nothing in this chapter regarding mandatory assignment of benefits to enforce a spousal maintenance obligation shall abridge the right of an obligee to direct payments of retirement benefits to satisfy a property division obligation ordered pursuant to a court decree of dissolution or legal separation as provided in RCW 2.10.180, 2.12.090, 41.04.310, 41.04.320, 41.04.330, 41.26.053, 41.32.052, section 11 of this act, 41.34.070(3), 41.40.052, 43.43.10, or 26.09.138, as those statutes existed before July 1, 1987, and as those statutes exist on and after July 28, 1991. If the obligor's debt is expressed as a percentage of his or her periodic retirement payment and the obligee does not have a survivorship interest in the obligor's benefit, the amount received by the obligee shall be the percentage of the periodic retirement payment that the obligor would have received had he or she selected a standard allowance.

If . . . . . (the obligor) requests or has requested a withdrawal of accumulated contributions as defined in RCW 41.50.500, or becomes eligible for a lump sum death benefit, the department of retirement systems shall pay to . . . . . (the obligee) . . . . . dollars plus interest at the rate paid by the department of retirement systems on member contributions. (4) A court order under this section may not order the department to pay more than seventy-five percent of an obligor’s periodic retirement payment to an obligee.

(5) Persons whose court decrees were entered between July 1, 1987, and July 28, 1991, shall also be entitled to receive direct payments of retirement benefits to satisfy court-ordered property divisions if the dissolution orders comply or are modified to comply with this section and RCW 41.50.680 through 41.50.720 and, as applicable, RCW 2.10.180, 2.12.090, 41.26.053, 41.32.052, section 11 of this act, 41.34.070, 41.40.052, 43.43.310, and 26.09.138.

(7) A division of benefits pursuant to a dissolution order under this section shall be based upon the obligor’s gross benefit prior to any deductions. If the department is required to withhold a portion of the member’s benefit pursuant to 26 U.S.C. Sec. 3402 and the sum of that amount plus the amount owed to the obligee exceeds the total benefit, the department shall satisfy the withholding requirements under 26 U.S.C. Sec. 3402 and then pay the remainder to the obligee. The provisions of this subsection do not apply to amounts withheld pursuant to 26 U.S.C. Sec. 3402(i).

Sec. 514. RCW 41.50.790 and 1996 c 175 s 1 are each amended to read as follows:

The department’s duty to comply with the dissolution order arises only if the order contains a provision that states in substantially the following form:

When . . . . . . (the obligor) applies for retirement the department shall designate . . . . (the obligee) as survivor beneficiary with a . . . . . . survivor benefit.

The survivor benefit designated in the dissolution order must be consistent with the survivor benefit options authorized by statute or administrative rule.

(2) The obligee’s entitlement to a survivor benefit pursuant to a dissolution order filed with the department in compliance with subsection (1) of this section shall cease upon the death of the obligee.

(3)(a) A subsequent dissolution order may order the department to divide a survivor benefit between a survivor beneficiary and an alternate payee. In order to divide a survivor benefit between more than one payee, the dissolution order must:

(i) Be ordered by a court of competent jurisdiction following notice to the survivor beneficiary;

(ii) Contain a provision that complies with subsection (1) of this section designating the survivor beneficiary;

(iii) Contain a provision clearly identifying the alternate payee or payees; and

(iv) Specify the proportional division of the benefit between the survivor beneficiary and the alternate payee or payees.

(b) The department will calculate actuarial adjustment for the court-ordered survivor benefit based upon the life of the survivor beneficiary.

(c) If the survivor beneficiary dies, the department shall terminate the benefit. If the alternate payee predeceases the survivor beneficiary, all entitlement of the alternate payee to a benefit ceases and the entire benefit will revert to the survivor beneficiary.

(d) For purposes of this section, "survivor beneficiary" means:

(i) The obligee designated in the provision of dissolution filed in compliance with subsection (1) of this section; or

(ii) In the event of more than one dissolution order, the obligee named in the first decree of dissolution received by the department.

(e) For purposes of this section, "alternate payee" means a person, other than the survivor beneficiary, who is granted a percentage of a survivor benefit pursuant to a dissolution order.
The department shall under no circumstances be held liable for not designating an obligee as a survivor beneficiary under subsection (1) of this section if the dissolution order or amendment thereto is not served on the department by registered or certified mail at least thirty days prior to the member’s retirement.

If a dissolution order directing designation of a survivor beneficiary has been previously filed with the department in compliance with this section, no additional obligation shall arise on the part of the department upon filing of a subsequent dissolution order unless the subsequent dissolution order:

(a) Specifically amends or supersedes the dissolution order already on file with the department; and

(b) Is filed with the department by registered or certified mail at least thirty days prior to the member’s retirement.

The department shall designate a court-ordered survivor beneficiary pursuant to a dissolution order filed with the department before June 6, 1996, only if the order:

(a) Specifically directs the member or department to make such selection; and

(b) Specifies the survivor option to be selected; and

(c) The member retires after June 6, 1996.

A new section is added to chapter 41.50 RCW to read as follows:

(1) If the department determines that due to employer error a member of plan III has suffered a loss of investment return, the employer shall pay the department for credit to the member’s account the amount determined by the department as necessary to correct the error.

(2) If the department determines that due to departmental error a member of plan III has suffered a loss of investment return, the department shall credit to the member’s account from the school employees’ retirement system combined plan II and III fund the amount determined by the department as necessary to correct the error.

Sec. 3. RCW 59.21.025 and 1995 c 122 s 6 are each amended to read as follows:
(1) If financial assistance for relocation is obtained from sources other than the mobile home park relocation fund established under this chapter, then the relocation assistance provided to any person under this chapter shall be reduced as necessary to ensure that no person receives from all sources combined more than: (a) That person’s actual cost of relocation; or (b) seven thousand dollars for a double-wide mobile home and three thousand five hundred dollars for a single-wide mobile home.
(2) When a person receives financial assistance for relocation from a source other than the mobile home park relocation assistance fund, then the assistance received from the fund will be the difference between the maximum amount to which a person is entitled under RCW 59.21.021(3) and the amount of assistance received from the outside source.
(3) If the amount of assistance received from an outside source exceeds the maximum amounts of assistance to which a person is entitled under RCW 59.21.021(3), then that person will not receive any assistance from the mobile home park relocation assistance fund.

Sec. 4. RCW 59.21.040 and 1995 c 122 s 8 are each amended to read as follows:
A tenant is not entitled to relocation assistance under this chapter if: (1) The tenant has given notice to the landlord of his or her intent to vacate the park and terminate the tenancy before any written notice of closure pursuant to RCW 59.20.080(1)(e) has been given((a)); (2) the tenant purchased a mobile home already situated in the park or moved a mobile home into the park after a written notice of closure pursuant to RCW 59.20.090 has been given and the person received actual prior notice of the change or closure; or (3) the tenant receives assistance from an outside source that exceeds the maximum amounts of assistance to which a person is entitled under RCW 59.21.021(3).
However, no tenant may be denied relocation assistance under subsection (1) of this section if the tenant has remained on the premises and continued paying rent for a period of ((as far as)) at least six months after giving notice of intent to vacate and before receiving formal notice of a closure or change of use.

Sec. 5. RCW 59.21.050 and 1995 c 122 s 9 are each amended to read as follows:
(1) The existence of the mobile home park relocation fund in the custody of the state treasurer is affirmed. Expenditures from the fund may be used only for relocation assistance awarded under ((RCW 59.21.015 through 59.21.025)) this chapter. Only the director or the director’s designee may authorize expenditures from the fund. All relocation payments to tenants shall be made from the fund. The fund is subject to allotment procedures under chapter 43.88 RCW, but no appropriation is required for expenditures.
(2) A park tenant is eligible for assistance under ((RCW 59.21.015)) this chapter only after an application is submitted by that tenant or an organization acting on the tenant’s account under RCW 59.21.021(4) on a form approved by the director which shall include:
(a) For those persons who maintained ownership of and relocated their homes: (i) A copy of the notice from the park-owner, or other adequate proof, that the tenancy is terminated due to closure of the park or its conversion to another use; (ii) a copy of the rental agreement then in force, or other proof that the applicant was a tenant at the time of notice of closure; (iii) a copy of the contract for relocating the home which includes the date of relocation, or other proof of actual relocation expenses incurred on a date certain; and (iv) a statement of any other available assistance;
(b) For those persons who sold their homes and incurred no relocation expenses: (i) A copy of the notice from the park-owner, or other adequate proof, that the tenancy is terminated due to closure of the park or its conversion to another use; (ii) a copy of the rental agreement then in force, or other proof that the applicant was a tenant at the time of notice of closure; and (iii) a copy of the record of title transfer issued by the department of licensing when the tenant sold the home rather than relocate it due to park closure or conversion.

SSB 6420 Prime Sponsor, Senate Committee on Commerce & Labor: Allowing an application for initial determination to be in writing or in another form determined by the commissioner of the employment security department. Reported by Committee on Commerce & Labor

MAJORITY recommendation: Do pass as amended.

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

"NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. The legislature finds that the shift by the employment security department from in-person written initial applications for unemployment insurance benefits to a call center approach creates opportunities for improved service but also raises serious concerns. Eliminating face-to-face contact may increase the potential for fraud and reduce the probability that claimants will utilize existing reemployment resources. Therefore, it is the intent of the legislature that if the written application process is to be eliminated, the employment security department must ensure that unemployment insurance claimants remain actively involved in reemployment activities and that an independent evaluation be conducted of the call center approach to unemployment insurance.

Sec. 2. RCW 50.20.140 and 1951 c 215 s 4 are each amended to read as follows:

An application for initial determination, a claim for waiting period, or a claim for benefits shall be filed in accordance with such (regulations) rules as the commissioner may prescribe. An application for an initial determination may be made by any individual whether unemployed or not. Each employer shall post and maintain printed statements of such (regulations) rules in places readily accessible to individuals in his or her employment and shall make available to each such individual at the time he or she becomes unemployed, a printed statement of such (regulations) rules and such notices, instructions, and other material as the commissioner may by (regulation) rule prescribe. Such printed material shall be supplied by the commissioner to each employer without cost to (him) the employer.

The term "application for initial determination" shall mean a request in writing, or by other means as determined by the commissioner, for an initial determination. The term "claim for waiting period" shall mean a certification, after the close of a given week, that the requirements stated herein for eligibility for waiting period have been met. The term "claim for benefits" shall mean a certification, after the close of a given week, that the requirements stated herein for eligibility for receipt of benefits have been met.

A representative designated by the commissioner shall take the application for initial determination and for the claim for waiting period credits or for benefits. When an application for initial determination has been made, the employment security department shall promptly make an initial determination which shall be a statement of the applicant's base year wages, his or her weekly benefit amount, his or her maximum amount of benefits potentially payable, and his or her benefit year. Such determination shall fix the general conditions under which waiting period credit shall be granted and under which benefits shall be paid during any period of unemployment occurring within the benefit year fixed by such determination.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. A new section is added to chapter 50.20 RCW to read as follows: The employment security department will ensure that within a reasonably short period of time after the initiation of benefits, all unemployment insurance claimants, except those with employer attachment, union referral, in commissioner approved training, or the subject of antiharassment orders, register for job search in an electronic labor exchange system that supports direct employer access for the purpose of selecting job applicants.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4. A new section is added to chapter 50.20 RCW to read as follows: To ensure that following the initial application for benefits, an individual is actively engaged in searching for work, effective July 1, 1999, the employment security department shall implement a job search monitoring program. Except for those individuals with employer attachment or union referral, and individuals in commissioner-approved training, an individual who has received five or more weeks of benefits under this title must provide evidence of seeking work, as directed by the commissioner or commissioner’s agents, for each week beyond five in which a claim is filed. The evidence must demonstrate contacts with at least three employers per week or documented in-person job search activity at the local reemployment center. In developing the requirements for the job search monitoring program, the commissioner or the commissioner’s agents shall utilize an existing advisory committee having equal representation of employers and workers.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 5. (1) The joint legislative audit and review committee, in consultation with members of the senate and house of representatives commerce and labor committees and the unemployment insurance advisory committee, shall conduct an evaluation of the new call center approach to unemployment insurance. The evaluation shall review the performance of the call center system, including, but not limited to, the: (a) Promptness of payments; (b) number and types of errors; (c) amount and types of fraud; and (d) level of overpayments and underpayments, compared with the current system.

(2) The joint legislative audit and review committee is directed to contract with a private entity consistent with the provisions of chapter 39.29 RCW. The committee shall consult with the unemployment insurance advisory committee in the design of the request for proposals from potential contractors and shall use the advisory committee to evaluate the responses. The joint legislative audit and review committee shall provide a report on its findings and recommendations to the appropriate standing committee of the senate and house of representatives by September 1, 2001.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 6. The employment security department is authorized to expend funds provided under RCW 50.24.014(1)(b) for the purposes of the evaluation provided for in section 5 of this act.

Sec. 7. RCW 50.24.014 and 1994 c 187 s 3 are each amended to read as follows:

(1)(a) A separate and identifiable account to provide for the financing of special programs to assist the unemployed is established in the administrative contingency fund. Contributions to this account shall accrue and become payable by each employer, except employers as described in RCW 50.44.010 and 50.44.030 who have properly elected to make payments in lieu of contributions, taxable local government employers as described in RCW 50.44.035, and those employers who are required to make payments in lieu of contributions, at a basic rate of two one-hundredths of one percent. The amount of wages subject to tax shall be determined under RCW 50.24.010.

(b) For the first calendar quarter of 1994 only, the basic two one-hundredths of one percent contribution payable under (a) of this subsection shall be increased by one-hundredth of one percent to a total rate of three one-hundredths of one percent. The proceeds of this incremental one-hundredth of one percent shall be used solely for the purposes described in section 22, chapter 483, Laws of 1993, and for the purposes ((described in RCW 50.40.060)) of conducting an evaluation of the call center...
approach to unemployment insurance under section 5 of this act. Any surplus from contributions payable under this subsection (b) will be deposited in the unemployment compensation trust fund.

(2)(a) Contributions under this section shall become due and be paid by each employer under rules as the commissioner may prescribe, and shall not be deducted, in whole or in part, from the remuneration of individuals in the employ of the employer. Any deduction in violation of this section is unlawful.

(b) In the payment of any contributions under this section, a fractional part of a cent shall be disregarded unless it amounts to one-half cent or more, in which case it shall be increased to one cent.

(3) If the commissioner determines that federal funding has been increased to provide financing for the services specified in chapter 50.62 RCW, the commissioner shall direct that collection of contributions under this section be terminated on the following January 1st.

MAJORITY recommendation: Do pass as amended.

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

"Sec. 1. RCW 50.04.320 and 1995 c 296 s 1 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) For the purpose of payment of contributions, "wages" means the remuneration paid by one employer during any calendar year to an individual in its employment under this title or the unemployment compensation law of any other state in the amount specified in RCW 50.24.010. If an employer (hereinafter referred to as a successor employer) during any calendar year acquires substantially all the operating assets of another employer (hereinafter referred to as a predecessor employer) or assets used in a separate unit of a trade or business of a predecessor employer, and immediately after the acquisition employs in the individual’s trade or business an individual who immediately before the acquisition was employed in the trade or business of the predecessor employer, then, for the purposes of determining the amount of remuneration paid by the successor employer to the individual during the calendar year which is subject to contributions, any remuneration paid to the individual by the predecessor employer during that calendar year and before the acquisition shall be considered as having been paid by the successor employer.

(2) For the purpose of payment of benefits, "wages" means the remuneration paid by one or more employers to an individual for employment under this title during his base year: PROVIDED, That at the request of a claimant, wages may be calculated on the basis of remuneration payable. The department shall notify each claimant that wages are calculated on the basis of remuneration paid, but at the claimant’s request a redetermination may be performed and based on remuneration payable."
(3) For the purpose of payment of benefits and payment of contributions, the term "wages" includes tips which are received after January 1, 1987, while performing services which constitute employment, and which are reported to the employer for federal income tax purposes.

(4)(a) "Remuneration" means all compensation paid for personal services including commissions and bonuses and the cash value of all compensation paid in any medium other than cash. The reasonable cash value of compensation paid in any medium other than cash and the reasonable value of gratuities shall be estimated and determined in accordance with rules prescribed by the commissioner. Remuneration does not include payments to members of a reserve component of the armed forces of the United States, including the organized militia of the state of Washington, for the performance of duty for periods not exceeding seventy-two hours at a time.

(b) Previously accrued compensation, other than severance pay or payments received pursuant to plant closure agreements, when assigned to a specific period of time by virtue of a collective bargaining agreement, individual employment contract, customary trade practice, or request of the individual compensated, shall be considered remuneration for the period to which it is assigned. Assignment clearly occurs when the compensation serves to make the individual eligible for all regular fringe benefits for the period to which the compensation is assigned.

(c) Settlements or other proceeds received by an individual as a result of a negotiated settlement for termination of an individual written employment contract ((with a public agency)) prior to its expiration date shall be considered remuneration. The proceeds shall be deemed assigned in the same intervals and in the same amount for each interval as compensation was allocated under the contract.

(d) Except as provided in (c) of this subsection, the provisions of this subsection (4) pertaining to the assignment of previously accrued compensation shall not apply to individuals subject to RCW 50.44.050.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. If any part of this act is found to be in conflict with federal requirements that are a prescribed condition to the allocation of federal funds to the state or the eligibility of employers in this state for federal unemployment tax credits, the conflicting part of this act is inoperative solely to the extent of the conflict, and the finding or determination does not affect the operation of the remainder of this act. Rules adopted under this act must meet federal requirements that are a necessary condition to the receipt of federal funds by the state or the granting of federal unemployment tax credits to employers in this state.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. This act is necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health, or safety, or support of the state government and its existing public institutions, and takes effect on the Sunday following the day that the governor signs this act and is effective for initial claims filed on or after that Sunday."

ESSB 6431 Prime Sponsor, Senate Committee on Law & Justice: Providing for impoundment and forfeiture of vehicles operated by persons driving a vehicle or in actual physical control of a vehicle while under the influence of intoxicating liquor. Reported by Committee on Law & Justice

MAJORITY recommendation: Do pass as amended.
Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. The legislature finds that in 1996 drunk drivers were involved in two hundred eighty-five fatal accidents killing three hundred thirty-one people and six thousand four hundred fifty injury accidents injuring ten thousand three hundred twenty-six people. The legislature has increased criminal penalties, including longer mandatory minimum jail sentences and fines, in order to punish and deter drunk driving. In addition to criminal sanctions, however, the legislature finds that authorizing the immediate impoundment of vehicles driven by drunk drivers is reasonably necessary to increase traffic safety and reduce the carnage caused by drunk driving. A number of studies in states that have adopted impound laws have found them effective in reducing drunk driving and related fatalities. Repeat drunk drivers are more likely to continue to reoffend and are substantially more likely to cause a fatal collision than first-time offenders. Temporary impoundment for first-time offenders will reduce drunk drivers’ access to vehicles and help both prevent and deter drunk driving. The impoundment of a vehicle operated in violation of RCW 46.61.502 or 46.61.504, or of RCW 46.61.520 or 46.61.522 if committed while under the influence, is intended to be a civil in rem action against the vehicle in order to remove it from the public highways and reduce the risk posed to traffic safety by a vehicle accessible to a driver who is reasonably believed to have violated these laws.

Sec. 2. RCW 46.55.113 and 1997 c 66 s 7 are each amended to read as follows:
Whenever the driver of a vehicle is arrested for a violation of RCW 46.61.502 or 46.61.504, or of RCW 46.61.520 or 46.61.522 if committed while under the influence, the arresting officer may take custody of the vehicle and provide for its prompt removal to a place of safety. In addition, a police officer may take custody of a vehicle and provide for its prompt removal to a place of safety under any of the following circumstances:
(1) Whenever a police officer finds a vehicle standing upon the roadway in violation of any of the provisions of RCW 46.61.560, the officer may provide for the removal of the vehicle or require the driver or other person in charge of the vehicle to move the vehicle to a position off the roadway;
(2) Whenever a police officer finds a vehicle unattended upon a highway where the vehicle constitutes an obstruction to traffic or jeopardizes public safety;
(3) Whenever a police officer finds an unattended vehicle at the scene of an accident or when the driver of a vehicle involved in an accident is physically or mentally incapable of deciding upon steps to be taken to protect his or her property;
(4) Whenever the driver of a vehicle is arrested and taken into custody by a police officer;
(5) Whenever a police officer discovers a vehicle that the officer determines to be a stolen vehicle;
(6) Whenever a vehicle without a special license plate, card, or decal indicating that the vehicle is being used to transport a disabled person under RCW 46.16.381 is parked in a stall or space clearly and conspicuously marked under RCW 46.61.581 which space is provided on private property without charge or on public property;
(7) Upon determining that a person is operating a motor vehicle without a valid driver’s license in violation of RCW 46.20.005 or with a license that has been expired for ninety days or more, or with a suspended or revoked license in violation of RCW 46.20.342 or 46.20.420.
Nothing in this section may derogate from the powers of police officers under the common law. For the purposes of this section, a place of safety may include the business location of a registered tow truck operator.

Sec. 3. RCW 46.55.120 and 1996 c 89 s 2 are each amended to read as follows:
(1) Vehicles or other items of personal property registered or titled with the department that are impounded by registered tow truck operators pursuant to RCW 46.55.080, 46.55.085, or 46.55.113 may be redeemed only under the following circumstances:
(a) Only the legal owner, the registered owner, a person authorized in writing by the registered owner or the vehicle’s insurer, a person who is determined and verified by the operator to have the permission of the registered owner of the vehicle or other item of personal property registered or titled with the department, or one who has purchased a vehicle or item of personal property registered or titled with the department from the registered owner who produces proof of ownership or written authorization and signs a receipt therefor, may redeem an impounded vehicle or items of personal property registered or titled with the department. In addition, any person redeeming a vehicle impounded because the driver was arrested for a violation of RCW 46.61.502 or 46.61.504, or of RCW 46.61.520 or 46.61.522 if committed while under the influence, must prior to redemption establish with the agency that ordered the vehicle impounded that he or she has a valid driver’s license and is in compliance with RCW 46.30.020. A vehicle impounded because the driver is arrested for a violation of RCW 46.61.502 or 46.61.504, or of RCW 46.61.520 or 46.61.522 if committed while under the influence, may be released only pursuant to a written order from the agency that ordered the vehicle impounded, or pursuant to a provision of an applicable state agency rule or local ordinance authorizing release on the basis of economic or personal hardship to the spouse of the operator, taking into consideration public safety factors, including the operator’s criminal history and driving record. If a vehicle is impounded because the operator is arrested for a violation of RCW 46.61.502 or 46.61.504, or of RCW 46.61.520 or 46.61.522 if committed while under the influence, the vehicle may be released at the written direction of the agency ordering the vehicle impounded for up to thirty days if the operator has no prior offense as defined in RCW 46.61.5055(8), for up to sixty days if the operator has one such prior offense, and for up to ninety days if the operator has two or more such prior offenses. If a vehicle is impounded because the operator is arrested for a violation of RCW 46.61.502 or 46.61.504, or of RCW 46.61.520 or 46.61.522 if committed while under the influence, the vehicle may not be released until a person eligible to redeem it pays all towing, removal, and storage fees, notwithstanding the fact that the impoundment was ordered by a government agency.

(b) The vehicle or other item of personal property registered or titled with the department shall be released upon the presentation to any person having custody of the vehicle of commercially reasonable tender sufficient to cover the costs of towing, storage, or other services rendered during the course of towing, removing, impounding, or storing any such vehicle. Commercially reasonable tender shall include, without limitation, cash, major bank credit cards, or personal checks drawn on in-state banks if accompanied by two pieces of valid identification, one of which may be required by the operator to have a photograph. If the towing firm can determine through the customer’s bank or a check verification service that the presented check would not be paid by the bank or guaranteed by the service, the towing firm may refuse to accept the check. Any person who stops payment on a personal check or credit card, or does not make restitution within ten days from the date a check becomes insufficient due to lack of funds, to a towing firm that has provided a service pursuant to this section or in any other manner defrauds the towing firm in connection with services rendered pursuant to this section shall be liable for damages in the amount of twice the towing and storage fees, plus costs and reasonable attorney’s fees.

(2)(a) The registered tow truck operator shall give to each person who seeks to redeem an impounded vehicle, or item of personal property registered or titled with the department, written notice of the right of redemption and opportunity for a hearing, which notice shall be accompanied by a form to be used for requesting a hearing, the name of the person or agency authorizing the impound, and a copy of the towing and storage invoice. The registered tow truck operator shall maintain a record evidenced by the redeeming person’s signature that such notification was provided.

(b) Any person seeking to redeem an impounded vehicle under this section has a right to a hearing in the district or municipal court for the jurisdiction in which the vehicle was impounded to contest the validity of the impoundment or the amount of towing and storage charges. The district court has jurisdiction to determine the issues involving all impoundments including those authorized by the state or its agents. The municipal court has jurisdiction to determine the issues involving impoundments authorized by agents of the municipality. Any request for a hearing shall be made in writing on the form provided for that purpose and must be received by the district or municipal court within ten days of the date the opportunity was provided for in subsection (2)(a) of this section. At the time of the filing of the hearing request, the petitioner shall pay to the court clerk a filing fee in the same amount required for the filing of a suit in the small claims department of a district court. If the hearing request is not received by the district or municipal court within the ten-day period, the right to a hearing is waived and the registered owner is liable for any towing, storage, or other impoundment charges permitted under this chapter. Upon receipt of a timely hearing request, the ((district)) court shall proceed to hear and determine the validity of the impoundment.

(3)(a) The ((district)) court, within five days after the request for a hearing, shall notify the registered tow truck operator, the person requesting the hearing if not the owner, the registered and legal owners of the vehicle or other item of personal property registered or titled with the department, and the person or agency authorizing the impound in writing of the hearing date and time.

(b) At the hearing, the person or persons requesting the hearing may produce any relevant evidence to show that the impoundment, towing, or storage fees charged were not proper. The court ((may)) shall consider a written report made under oath by the officer who authorized the impoundment in lieu of the officer’s personal appearance at the hearing.

(c) At the conclusion of the hearing, the ((district)) court shall determine whether the impoundment was proper, whether the towing or storage fees charged were in compliance with the posted rates, and who is responsible for payment of the fees. The court may not adjust fees or charges that are in compliance with the posted or contracted rates.

(d) If the impoundment is found proper, the impoundment, towing, and storage fees as permitted under this chapter together with court costs shall be assessed against the person or persons requesting the hearing, unless the operator did not have a signed and valid impoundment authorization from a private property owner or an authorized agent.

(e) If the impoundment is determined to be in violation of this chapter, then the registered and legal owners of the vehicle or other item of personal property registered or titled with the department shall bear no impoundment, towing, or storage fees, and any security shall be returned or discharged as appropriate, and the person or agency who authorized the impoundment shall be liable for any towing, storage, or other impoundment fees permitted under this chapter. The court shall enter judgment in favor of the registered tow truck operator against the person or agency authorizing the impoundment, towing, and storage fees paid. In addition, the court shall enter judgment in favor of the registered and legal owners of the vehicle, or other item of personal property registered or titled with the department, for the amount of the filing fee required by law for the impound hearing petition as well as reasonable damages for loss of the use of the vehicle during the time the same was impounded, for not less than fifty dollars per day, against the person or agency authorizing the impound. However, if an impoundment arising from an alleged violation of RCW 46.61.502 or 46.61.504, or of RCW 46.61.520 or 46.61.522 if committed while under the influence, is determined to be in violation of this chapter, then the law enforcement officer directing the impoundment and the government employing the officer are not liable for damages if the officer had probable cause to believe the driver of the vehicle was in violation of RCW 46.61.502 or 46.61.504, or of RCW 46.61.520 or 46.61.522 if committed while under the influence. If any judgment entered is not paid within fifteen days of notice in writing of its entry, the court shall award reasonable attorneys’ fees and costs against the defendant in any action to enforce the judgment. Notice of entry of judgment may be made by registered or certified mail, and proof of mailing may be made by affidavit of the party mailing the notice. Notice of the entry of the judgment shall read essentially as follows:

(4) Any impounded abandoned vehicle or item of personal property registered or titled with the department that is not redeemed within fifteen days of mailing of the notice of custody and sale as required by RCW 46.55.110(2) shall be sold at public auction in accordance with all the provisions and subject to all the conditions of RCW 46.55.130. A vehicle or item of personal property registered or titled with the department may be redeemed at any time before the start of the auction upon payment of the applicable towing and storage fees.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4. A new section is added to chapter 46.55 RCW to read as follows:

(1) This section applies to any impoundment of a vehicle when a driver is arrested for a violation of RCW 46.61.502 or 46.61.504, or of RCW 46.61.520 or 46.61.522 if committed while under the influence, as provided for in RCW 46.55.113 and 46.55.120.

(2) Any local government ordinance or state agency rule that provides for impoundment and redemption of vehicles may allow for alternative home impoundment of vehicles for all or part of the impoundment periods authorized in RCW 46.55.120. Home impoundment is an alternative to impoundment by a registered tow truck operator. Home impoundment consists of removing a vehicle to the registered owner’s residence or other property, or to another place authorized by the ordinance or rule, and placing a boot or other device on the vehicle to render it immobile. The jurisdiction authorizing home impoundment may charge a reasonable rental fee for the use of the boot or other device during the period of home impoundment. The local government ordinance or state agency rule may provide that the owner or driver of the vehicle may elect whether to be subject to impoundment under RCW 46.55.120 or home impoundment under this section.

(3) Before any home impoundment is begun, the vehicle must be redeemed as provided for in RCW 46.55.120 if any impoundment has occurred under that section, and any towing fee incurred in getting the vehicle to the place of home impoundment must be paid.

(4) At the end of the period of home impoundment, the vehicle may be released only after all rental fees have been paid and only to a person who would qualify to redeem an impounded vehicle under RCW 46.55.120.

(5) A local ordinance or state agency rule may provide for impoundment by a registered tow truck operator if at the end of the period of home impoundment there is no qualified person to whom the vehicle may be released.

(6) A local ordinance or state agency rule may provide that if the boot or other device on a vehicle in home impoundment is tampered with, damaged, removed, or rendered inoperative, the vehicle may be released only upon payment of all applicable rental fees plus payment of a fee equal to the impoundment costs that would have been incurred had the vehicle been impounded under RCW 46.55.120 during the period of home impoundment.

Sec. 5. RCW 46.12.095 and 1969 ex.s. c 170 s 16 are each amended to read as follows:

A security interest in a vehicle other than one held as inventory by a manufacturer or a dealer and for which a certificate of ownership is required is perfected only by compliance with the requirements of section 7 of this act under the circumstances provided for therein or by compliance with the requirements of this section:

(1) A security interest is perfected (only) by the department’s receipt of: (a) The existing certificate, if any, and (b) an application for a certificate of ownership containing the name and address of the secured party, and (c) tender of the required fee.

(2) It is perfected as of the time of its creation: (a) If the papers and fee referred to in (the preceding) subsection (1) of this section are received by this department within (eight department business) twenty calendar days (exclusive) of the day on which the security agreement was created; or (b) if the secured party’s name and address appear on the outstanding certificate of ownership; otherwise, as of the date on which the department has received the papers and fee required in subsection (1) of this section.

(3) If a vehicle is subject to a security interest when brought into this state, perfection of the security interest is determined by the law of the jurisdiction where the vehicle was when the security interest was attached, subject to the following:

(a) If the security interest was perfected under the law of the jurisdiction where the vehicle was when the security interest was attached, the following rules apply:

(b) If the name of the secured party is shown on the existing certificate of ownership issued by that jurisdiction, the security interest continues perfected in this state. The name of the secured party shall be shown on the certificate of ownership issued for the vehicle by this state. The security interest continues perfected in this state upon the issuance of such ownership certificate.

(c) If the security interest was not perfected under the law of the jurisdiction where the vehicle was when the security interest was attached, it may be perfected in this state; in that case, perfection dates from the time of perfection in this state.

Sec. 6. RCW 46.12.101 and 1991 c 339 s 19 are each amended to read as follows:

A transfer of ownership in a motor vehicle is perfected by compliance with the requirements of this section.

(1) If an owner transfers his or her interest in a vehicle, other than by the creation, deletion, or change of a security interest, the owner shall, at the time of the delivery of the vehicle, execute an assignment to the transferee and provide an odometer disclosure statement under RCW 46.12.124 on the certificate of ownership or as the department otherwise prescribes, and cause the certificate and assignment to be transmitted to the transferee. (Within five days, excluding Saturdays, Sundays, and state and federal holidays, the transferee’s driver’s license number if available, and such description of the vehicle, including the vehicle identification number, the license plate number, or both, as may be required in the appropriate form provided or approved for that purpose by the department. The report of sale will be deemed properly filed if all information required in this section is provided on the form and includes a department-authorized notation that the document was received by the department, its agents, or subagents on or before the fifth day after the sale of the vehicle, excluding Saturdays, Sundays, and state and federal holidays. Agents and subagents shall immediately electronically transmit the seller’s report of sale to the department. Reports of sale processed and recorded by the department’s agents or subagents may be subject to fees as specified in RCW 46.01.140 (4)(a) or (5)(b).

(2) The requirements of subsection (1) of this section to provide an odometer disclosure statement apply to the transfer of vehicles held for lease when transferred to a lessee and then to the lessor at the end of the leasehold and to vehicles held in a fleet when transferred to a purchaser.

(3) Except as provided in RCW (46.12.120) 46.70.122 the transferee shall within fifteen days after delivery to the transferee of the vehicle, execute the application for a new certificate of ownership in the same space provided therefor on the certificate or as the department prescribes, and cause the certificates and application to be transmitted to the department.

(4) Upon request of the owner or transferee, a secured party in possession of the certificate of ownership shall, unless the transfer was a breach of its security agreement, either deliver the certificate to the transferee for transmission to the department or, when the secured party receives the owner’s assignment from the transferee, it shall transmit the transferee’s application for a new certificate, the existing certificate, and the required fee to the department. Compliance with this section does not affect the rights of the secured party.

(5) If a security interest is reserved or created at the time of the transfer, the certificate of ownership shall be retained by or delivered to the person who becomes the secured party, and the parties shall comply with the provisions of RCW 46.12.170.

(6) If the purchaser or transferee fails or neglects to make application to transfer the certificate of ownership and license registration within fifteen days after the date of delivery of the vehicle, he or she shall on making application for transfer be assessed a twenty-five dollar penalty on the sixteenth day and two dollars additional for each day thereafter, but not to exceed one hundred dollars. The director may by rule establish conditions under which the penalty will not be assessed when an application for transfer is delayed for reasons beyond the control of the purchaser. Conditions for not assessing the penalty may be established for but not limited to delays caused by:

(a) The department requesting additional supporting documents;
(b) Extended hospitalization or illness of the purchaser;
(c) Failure of a legal owner to release his or her interest;

E2SSB 6509 Prime Sponsor, Senate Committee on Ways & Means: Requiring training for reading instruction. Reported by Committee on Education

MAJORITY recommendation: Do pass as amended.

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

"NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. The legislature finds that the ability to read fluently, accurately, and with comprehension is critical to success in school and in life. Research has found that reading instruction and curriculum in the early grades must consist of a comprehensive program that builds upon the firm foundational skills of phonemic awareness, decoding, and reading comprehension, to provide students with the skills necessary to engage in rich literature activities, and further develop thinking and application skills. Schools and school districts should review their reading programs to verify they are using a comprehensive approach to teaching reading.

The role of professional development in supporting and sustaining a high-quality teaching force is critical. The legislature finds that many primary grade teachers would benefit from additional professional development instruction in beginning reading skills and access to current information regarding research-based, scientifically proven instructional strategies to assist students in meeting the benchmarks established for the essential academic learning requirements.

The legislature also recognizes that when students are experiencing difficulties in advancing their reading skills, the use of volunteers to provide individualized tutoring and mentoring to those
NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. A new section is added to chapter 28A.415 RCW to read as follows:

Schools interested in providing assistance to improve student learning in reading may apply for the following opportunities to provide professional development in beginning reading instructional strategies and related curriculum and to implement volunteer tutoring programs for students throughout their school.

(1) To the extent funds are appropriated in accordance with this section, elementary schools interested in providing professional development and the purchase of related curriculum or materials in accordance with (b) of this subsection for certificated instructional staff that provide direct instructional services to students in kindergarten, first, and second grade may apply for and receive funding from the superintendent of public instruction. The application for funding shall be limited to:

(a) Verification that the school has developed or makes a commitment to develop a comprehensive school-wide reading improvement plan that includes, but is not limited to, a beginning reading-language arts program for use in kindergarten through second grade. In addition to other elements of the comprehensive school-wide reading improvement plan, the primary, but not sole, elements of the beginning reading-language arts program must:

(i) Provide numerous daily opportunities for teachers in kindergarten and first grade to read to students from a variety of printed materials including rich literature and expository text;

(ii) Provide explicit and sequential instruction in phonemic awareness for all students in kindergarten and first grade;

(iii) Provide explicit systematic decoding instruction and practice in using those skills in decodable text materials;

(iv) Provide explicit instruction in reading comprehension skills and opportunities for students to apply them;

(v) Require diagnosis of a student's ability to decode in first and second grade;

(vi) Provide explicit and systematic instruction in spelling; and

(vii) Provide students with structured assistance in learning to write with ample opportunities to engage in writing activities;

(b) Verification that the intended professional development and related curriculum or materials include primary emphasis on the following beginning reading skills:

(i) Phonemic awareness strategies;

(ii) Explicit and systematic decoding instruction and how to assess a student's ability to decode;

(iii) Explicit spelling instruction;

(iv) Explicit instruction in reading comprehension strategies; and

(v) Research findings on the skills needed by beginning and proficient readers, and how beginning reading skills are acquired; and

(c) Verification that grant funds expended in accordance with this section will not be used for staff development, intervention, or remediation programs.

(2) The training in reading instruction shall be provided by public or private nonsectarian contractors that provide training in the methods defined in this section. Priority for reading instruction grants shall be given to those schools in which less than one-quarter of all students tested on the fourth grade assessment in reading met the state-wide standard, or in schools where average performance on the reading component of the state-wide standardized test required in RCW 28A.230.190 were in the bottom quartile for the previous three years. Priority shall then be given to those schools in which less than one-third of all students tested on the fourth grade assessment in reading met the state-wide standard, or in schools where average performance on the reading component of the state-wide standardized test required in RCW 28A.230.190 were in the bottom third for the previous three years. Priority shall then be given to schools in which one-half of all students tested on the fourth grade assessment in reading met the state-wide standard, or in schools where average performance on the
(3) Reading instruction grants provided under subsection (1) of this section may be used to provide additional professional development materials for interested school principals and classroom volunteers providing assistance in kindergarten, first, and second grades, interested in attending the professional development opportunity identified in this section.

(4) An elementary school receiving funding in accordance with this section shall certify and provide documentation to the superintendent of public instruction that funds received were expended for professional development and curriculum and related materials in accordance with this section.

(5) Schools or school districts that received funds under RCW 28A.300.330 are not eligible to apply for funding in accordance with subsection (1) of this section.

(6) The definitions in this section apply throughout this section unless the context clearly requires otherwise.

(a) "Phonemic awareness instruction" means teaching awareness of letter sounds, and segmenting and blending phonemes, syllables, and words in a sequential progression.

(b) "Explicit systematic decoding instruction" means direct, sequential teaching of how to read words fluently and automatically that includes instruction in letter-sound correspondences, letter combinations, multisyllabic words, blending, and structural elements, and initially incorporates the use of decodable text. "Explicit systematic decoding instruction" does not include the use of context and syntax as word identification strategies in teaching beginning reading skills.

(c) "Decodable text" means connected text containing a high percentage of words that provide practice on the letter-sound correspondences and letter combinations previously taught.

(d) "Diagnosis of a student's ability to decode" means regularly assessing the student's mastery of word recognition, fluency and automaticity, and word analysis in order to plan future instructional activities.

(e) "Explicit and systematic instruction in spelling" means teaching a logical scope and sequence of word knowledge, spelling patterns, syllabication, and frequently used words connected to the sequence used in reading and writing instruction.

(f) "Instruction in reading comprehension skills" means explicit, systematic teaching of vocabulary development, text structure, context, syntax, and syntactic patterns, including but not limited to, strategies for higher order thinking skills such as interpretation, summarization, prediction, clarification, and question generation.

(7) To the extent funds are appropriated in accordance with this section, elementary schools interested in providing teacher training in the use of volunteer tutors and mentors to assist struggling readers in kindergarten through fourth grade may apply for grants from the superintendent of public instruction for volunteer tutoring and mentoring programs that are research-based and have proven effectiveness in improving student reading performance. The programs must include the following elements:

(a) Teacher training in program planning and in the use of classroom volunteers;

(b) Training for tutor and mentor volunteers in working with students to overcome reading difficulties before their participation in the program;

(c) An established goal for a minimum number of volunteer contact hours for students to receive individual instruction per week;

(d) An established goal for a minimum number of volunteer contact hours during normal school hours for students to receive individual instruction per week;

(e) Teacher training in recruiting and retaining tutor and mentor volunteers for reading instruction; and

(f) A plan to assess student reading performance before entering the program and upon exit or at the end of the year as appropriate. The results must be compiled and reported to the superintendent of public instruction. The superintendent of public instruction shall provide a preliminary report to the legislature by March 1, 1999, and a final report to the legislature by December 1999 on the effectiveness of the various programs.
By April 15th, the superintendent of public instruction shall notify all school districts that the funds under this section are available. Funding provided must be available to schools no later than June 1, 1998. Elementary schools may apply and become eligible for both funding opportunities.
(9) Teachers participating in the programs will receive a stipend from the funds.
(10) This section expires July 30, 2005.

use of public rights of way. Reported by Committee on Energy & Utilities

MAJORITY recommendation: Do pass as amended.

"NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. The legislature finds that technological developments have made telecommunications evermore important to the health, safety, and welfare of the people of this state and to the efficient and cost-effective conduct of the state’s economy. The pace of technological change is expected to continue and increase in the future. Massive investment in telecommunications infrastructure will be required to make the benefits of technological development available to the people of the state. This is particularly true if the modern infrastructure is to reach all parts of the state, rural as well as urban.

The legislature also finds it necessary to clarify policies on use of public rights of way in order to recognize and foster the changes that are occurring in telecommunications.

The legislature declares that government policies for the use of public rights of way should preserve a safe and efficient transportation system and encourage investment in and development of the infrastructure needed for leading-edge applications in telecommunications. These policies will also serve as an important means of economic development, allowing the state to remain competitive in national and international markets and to attract jobs to, and develop robust economies in, its rural and underdeveloped areas.

The legislature further declares that growth in economic activity resulting from right of way policies that are consistent with the state’s transportation needs and encourage the deployment of telecommunications infrastructure will create new jobs and business opportunities as well as bring better service and lower prices to consumers. State and local government will benefit by the availability of improved services and the creation of a larger and more stable revenue base.
The legislature declares that rights of way are dedicated to and purchased or held by the government for the use of the public in transportation, the delivery of utility services, and commerce; that government is responsible for protecting these rights of way for these public purposes; and that the use of these rights of way by telecommunications facilities is important for the protection and advancement of the public’s welfare.

The legislature intends that governments rely on construction and development regulations that apply generally and uniformly to construction both inside and outside the public right of way to the extent possible in connection with use of the public right of way for telecommunication facilities. It is the intent of the legislature that if franchises are used, they only be used to coordinate construction and development regulations, permits, and the requirements of such other laws as specifically apply to rights of way and that franchises not be used to impose duplicative requirements on authorized users of the rights of way.

It is the intent of the legislature to promote policies that recognize the introduction of competition in telecommunications, and that will result in new entrants into this industry, without needlessly changing or supplanting existing codes, regulations, and standards. As additional companies seek to locate their facilities in public rights of way, it is incumbent on local government to establish uniform, clear, competitively neutral, and nondiscriminatory rules for use of the public right of way. However, the legislature does not intend for any provision of this act to be construed as changing existing authority of counties, cities, or towns to regulate through local zoning authority consistent with these principles.

It is the policy of the legislature that fees and charges levied by local governments on the telecommunications industry for use of public rights of way and for permits and licenses required for construction, repair, maintenance, use, and operation of facilities for telecommunications shall not be a means of raising general revenue. It is the intent of the legislature and the policy of this state that fees for necessary permits and licenses do not exceed the actual costs incurred in receiving, considering, and issuing the permits and licenses, and inspecting work in the right of way. It is the intent of the legislature and the policy of this state that fees for necessary permits and licenses do not exceed the actual costs incurred in receiving, considering, and issuing permits and licenses, in inspecting plans for and construction in the right of way, in maintaining the records necessary to identify facilities located in the right of way and to prevent interferences among facilities, and in preparing a detailed statement under chapter 43.21C RCW. The legislature does not intend this act to change the law governing repair and restoration of the right of way made necessary by construction, repair maintenance, and other work in the right of way by authorized users.

It is the intent of the legislature that no provision of this act be construed as changing existing authority of the state, counties, cities, and towns to regulate by the exercise of local or state police power in the furtherance of the public health, safety, and welfare.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. Unless the context clearly requires otherwise, the definitions in this section apply throughout chapter . . ., Laws of 1998 (this act).

(1) "Authorized facilities" means all of the plant, equipment, fixtures, appurtenances, antennas, and other facilities necessary to furnish and deliver telecommunications services, including but not limited to poles with crossarms, poles without crossarms, wires, lines, conduits, cables, communication and signal lines and equipment, braces, guys, anchors, vaults, and all attachments, appurtenances, and appliances necessary or incidental to the distribution and use of telecommunications services.

(2) "Authorized user" means any person providing telecommunications or cable television service for hire, sale, or resale to the general public, consistent with federal, state, and local law.

(3) "Cable television service" means the one-way broadcast or cable transmission of television or radio signals.

(4) "Public right of way" means roads, streets, and highways, including limited access highways but does not include structures located within the right of way, lands managed by the state parks and recreation commission, federally granted trust lands, or forest board trust lands. "Public right of way" does not include private property except to the extent easement rights have been granted for roads, streets, and highways.
(5) "Telecommunications service" means the transmission of information by wire, radio, optical cable, electromagnetic, or other similar means for the public. For the purpose of this subsection, "information" means knowledge or intelligence represented by any form of writing, signs, signals, pictures, sounds, or any other symbols.

NEW SECTION.  Sec. 3. (1) An authorized user may erect, construct, support, attach, connect, stretch authorized facilities between, maintain, repair, replace, and operate and use authorized facilities in, upon, over, under, along, across, and through public rights of way at its own expense. These authorized facilities shall be installed and maintained within public rights of way in such a manner and at such points as not to incommode the public use of the rights of way, and in accordance with federal and state laws and appropriate and applicable codes, regulations, and standards adopted by the state and by counties, cities, and towns not inconsistent with those laws. In addition, a personal wireless communication facility may not obstruct or otherwise interfere with views of significant features observable from a highway, road, or street. An authorized user shall ensure that its authorized facilities meet, and are maintained in a manner so that the facilities continue to meet, applicable federal and state safety laws and standards including, but not limited to, collision standards.

(2) Nothing in this section amends, repeals, or otherwise modifies any law requiring authorized users to obtain all permits required for the installation of authorized facilities as required by the state and by counties, cities, and towns.

(3) Nothing in this section creates, modifies, or diminishes the priority of use for authorized facilities over other users of the right of way for utility purposes or other purposes subject to local franchise or permit.

(4) Nothing in this section creates a right to attach to or use a facility or structure, or to use public property that is not a public right of way, without the explicit approval of, and under such conditions as may be agreed to by, the owner of such a facility, structure, or property.

(5) Nothing in this section shall be construed as creating or expanding: (a) Liabilities of the state, counties, cities, or towns regarding the construction, installation, maintenance, or removal of authorized facilities; or (b) duties owed by the state, counties, cities, or towns to authorized users to construct, install, maintain, or remove authorized facilities. In addition, nothing in this section shall be construed as extending any liability of the state, counties, cities, or towns to any third party user of authorized facilities.

NEW SECTION.  Sec. 4. (1) Neither the state nor any county, city, or town may adopt or enforce regulations relating to authorized users in public rights of way that:

(a) Discriminate or have the effect of discriminating among similarly situated authorized users or authorized facilities;

(b) Conflict with: (i) Federal and state public service laws; (ii) federal or state laws, rules, and regulations that specifically apply to the design, construction, and operation of authorized facilities; or (iii) federal or state worker safety and public safety laws, rules, and regulations;

(c) Regulate services of authorized users based upon the content or type of signals that are carried or are capable of being carried over the telecommunications facilities, except where specifically authorized in state or federal law;

(d) Impose regulatory requirements that regulate the services and business operations of the authorized user, except where specifically authorized in state or federal law; or

(e) Provide for a period that exceeds one hundred twenty days between filing a complete application for a permit and issuance or denial of the permit, or otherwise unreasonably delay work by authorized users on authorized facilities in the public right of way except that this subsection does not preclude (i) specific procedures to assure cooperation of and among authorized users doing work within the right of way that provide reasonable opportunities for scheduling of work, including advance notice of planned work, and do not impose unreasonable barriers to entry; and (ii) a schedule established with the agreement of the applicant. Before issuing a permit, the state, county, city, or town shall make a finding that approval of the permit is consistent with easement rights, if any, granted for public right of way.
(2) To the maximum extent feasible, if franchises are applicable to telecommunications companies, they shall be used only to coordinate construction and development regulations and permits, and requirements imposed and permits required under other laws relating to streets, roads, and highways. Franchises shall not be used to require additional permits, conditions, or requirements that duplicate those required under other laws.

(3) Counties, cities, and towns are encouraged to develop procedures to provide interim authorizations for the installation of authorized facilities and process a complete permit, where the timeline to complete such a permit or an agreement is expected to exceed one hundred twenty days, but the issuance and renewals of franchises and related permits for cable television service shall be governed by federal law.

(4) Counties, cities, and towns are encouraged to work together with industry, using the experience of the industry and those counties, cities, and towns that have adopted wireless regulations, to develop by January 1, 1999, a model ordinance for the siting of wireless telecommunications facilities.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 5. (1) Except as provided in subsection (2) of this section, neither the state nor any county, city, or town shall place a moratorium on the acceptance and processing of applications, permitting, construction, maintenance, repair, replacement, extension, operation, or use of any personal wireless communication facility that is authorized under sections 2 through 6 of this act following the effective date of this section. An existing moratorium that expires following the effective date of this section shall not be extended in whole or in part.

(2)(a) A city or town incorporated after the effective date of this section shall be permitted to impose one moratorium that shall not exceed one hundred eighty days and shall not be extendable.

(b) Upon the expiration of a moratorium authorized by (a) of this subsection, the authorizing city or town is subject to subsection (1) of this section.

(3) Except as otherwise provided in subsection (2) of this section, this section applies to moratoriums one hundred twenty days after the adoption of a model ordinance under section 4(3) of this act or on April 1, 1999, whichever occurs first.

(4) This section expires April 1, 2004.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 6. (1) Neither the state nor any county, city, or town may impose, demand, or accept any compensation from an authorized user, whether by fee, charge, license, rent, franchise, or use of authorized facilities at other than established, industry standard charges, provision of in-kind services by authorized users without compensation or at below-market rates, or by any other manner for the use or occupancy of public rights of way for authorized facilities.

(2) Except as otherwise provided in this section, no fee, charge, or other compensation permitted for any act authorized by sections 2 through 6 of this act may recover more than the direct administrative expenses actually incurred by the state, county, city, or town in: (a) Receiving and approving a construction or development permit, including notifying adjoining property owners as required by section 7 of this act; (b) inspecting plans and construction; (c) maintaining records of facilities located in the right of way; or (d) preparing a detailed statement under chapter 43.21C RCW.

(3) This section does not diminish, increase, alter, or otherwise affect the authority of the state or of counties, cities, or towns with respect to the repair or restoration of rights of way.

(4) This section does not preclude a county, city, or town from issuing franchises and imposing franchise requirements and fees, and enforcing mutually agreed-upon franchise terms and conditions, for cable services as allowed by federal law.

(5) This section does not amend, repeal, or modify any law governing the taxing authority of cities or towns.

(6) The limitations in this section do not apply to agreements for the use of public property that is not a public right of way or for the use of facilities in the right of way.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 7. A local government by ordinance or resolution shall provide for administrative review and approval and exclude the following project permits from the provisions of RCW 36.70B.060 through 36.70B.090, 36.70B.110, and 36.70B.130: (1) Siting of a personal wireless communication facility in a public right of way, if the facility is a whip antenna of no more than six feet and is to be mounted on an existing utility pole or other existing structure; or (2) siting of an authorized facility as defined in section 2 of this act in a public right of way if that facility will be camouflaged or entirely screened from view.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 8. A county, city, or town shall notify adjoining property owners when an authorized facility is to be erected or constructed in, upon, over, under, along, across, or through a public right of way.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 9. Any person with a concern about an authorized facility located in a public right of way may file a report of the concern with the clerk of the board of county commissioners if the right of way is located in an unincorporated area, with the city clerk, if the right of way is located in a city, or with the town clerk if the right of way is located in a town. If the authorized facility that is the subject of the concern is located in a public right of way managed by a state agency, the clerk shall forward a copy of the report to that agency.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 10. A new section is added to chapter 35.21 RCW to read as follows:
Each city or town is subject to the requirements and restrictions regarding telecommunications services and public rights of way under sections 2 through 9 of this act. 2SSB 6544 Prime Sponsor, Senate Committee on Ways & Means: Providing for adult family home and boarding home training. Reported by Committee on Health Care

MAJORITY recommendation: Do pass as amended.

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

"NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. The legislature finds that many residents of long-term care facilities and recipients of in-home personal care services are exceptionally vulnerable and their health and well-being are heavily dependent on their caregivers. The legislature further finds that the quality of staff in long-term care facilities is often the key to good care. The need for well-trained staff and well-managed facilities is growing as the state’s population ages and the acuity of the health care problems of residents increases. In order to better protect and care for residents, the legislature directs that the minimum training standards be reviewed for management and caregiving staff serving residents with special needs, such as mental illness, dementia, or a developmental disability, that management and caregiving staff receive appropriate training, and that the training delivery system be improved.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. A new section is added to chapter 18.20 RCW to read as follows:
(1) The department of social and health services shall review, in coordination with the department of health, the nursing care quality assurance commission, adult family home providers, boarding home providers, in-home personal care providers, and long-term care consumers and advocates, training standards for administrators and resident caregiving staff. The departments and the commission shall submit to the appropriate committees of the house of representatives and the senate by December 1, 1998, specific recommendations on training standards and the delivery system, including necessary statutory changes and funding requirements. Any proposed enhancements shall be consistent with this section, shall take into account and not duplicate other training requirements applicable to boarding homes and staff, and shall be developed with the input of boarding home and resident representatives, health care professionals, and other vested interest groups. Training standards and the delivery system shall be relevant to the needs of residents served by the boarding home and recipients of long-term in-home personal care services and shall be sufficient to ensure that administrators and caregiving staff have the skills and knowledge necessary to provide high quality, appropriate care.

(2) The recommendations on training standards and the delivery system developed under subsection (1) of this section shall be based on a review and consideration of the following: Quality of care; availability of training; affordability, including the training costs incurred by the department of social and health services and private providers; portability of existing training requirements; competency testing; practical and clinical course work; methods of delivery of training; standards for management and caregiving staff training; and necessary enhancements for special needs populations.
and resident rights training. Residents with special needs include, but are not limited to, residents with a diagnosis of mental illness, dementia, or developmental disability.

(3) The department of social and health services shall report to the appropriate committees of the house of representatives and the senate by December 1, 1998, on the cost of implementing the proposed training standards for state-funded residents, and on the extent to which that cost is covered by existing state payment rates.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. A new section is added to chapter 70.128 RCW to read as follows:

(1) The department of social and health services shall review, in coordination with the department of health, the nursing care quality assurance commission, adult family home providers, boarding home providers, in-home personal care providers, and long-term care consumers and advocates, training standards for providers, resident managers, and resident caregiving staff. The departments and the commission shall submit to the appropriate committees of the house of representatives and the senate by December 1, 1998, specific recommendations on training standards and the delivery system, including necessary statutory changes and funding requirements. Any proposed enhancements shall be consistent with this section, shall take into account and not duplicate other training requirements applicable to adult family homes and staff, and shall be developed with the input of adult family home and resident representatives, health care professionals, and other vested interest groups. Training standards and the delivery system shall be relevant to the needs of residents served by the adult family home and recipients of long-term in-home personal care services and shall be sufficient to ensure that providers, resident managers, and caregiving staff have the skills and knowledge necessary to provide high quality, appropriate care.

(2) The recommendations on training standards and the delivery system developed under subsection (1) of this section shall be based on a review and consideration of the following: Quality of care; availability of training; affordability, including the training costs incurred by the department of social and health services and private providers; portability of existing training requirements; competency testing; practical and clinical course work; methods of delivery of training; standards for management; uniform caregiving staff training; necessary enhancements for special needs populations; and resident rights training. Residents with special needs include, but are not limited to, residents with a diagnosis of mental illness, dementia, or developmental disability. Development of training recommendations for developmental disabilities services shall be coordinated with the study requirements in section 5 of this act.

(3) The department of social and health services shall report to the appropriate committees of the house of representatives and the senate by December 1, 1998, on the cost of implementing the proposed training standards for state-funded residents, and on the extent to which that cost is covered by existing state payment rates.
