SPEAKER'S REMARKS

Speaker Chopp: "Welcome back to the People's House. Please join me in recognizing a number of people new to this Chamber and new to their positions. Let us start by giving a very warm and great welcome to the new Republican leaders - Richard DeBolt and Bruce Chandler. Let's also give a friendly welcome to the newest members of the House - Timm Ormsby and David Simpson. And join me in a warm welcome to another member who is newly elected by the people of his district, Brian Blake.

I would also like to recognize my family – my wife, Nancy, my daughter, Ellie and my mother, Anne Brozovich."
This is the first day of a sixty-day session. On the last day of this session, we all want to go home and say we worked hard on the bread and butter issues that the people want us to address. At their kitchen tables, people talk about what concerns them – getting a job or keeping it or moving on to the next one. Making sure their kids or grandkids are getting a good education. And dealing with the rising cost of health care. We have to make our agenda the people’s agenda, and the people’s agenda our agenda. We here must work to build a better economy for all of our people. And to do that our most fundamental, our most important responsibility is to provide a better education for our people. In just four years, in 2008, students will need to meet academic standards and pass a test to graduate from high school. Those standards were mandated by this body ten years ago. Meeting those standards is not just the job of students – we here have to make sure that those in the classrooms have what it takes to make all children successful. If we don’t, the standards will set thousands of kids apart from good jobs and higher education. The people of this State have told us they don’t want that to happen. They want small classes, better pay for teachers and better funding for schools. Who among us wants to look back four years from now and say our kids failed to achieve those standards that we set and that we failed as legislators to help them become a success. None of us do. So fair is fair – if we are going to hold our kids to higher standards, then we should hold ourselves to higher standards. As we work to unlock the potential of our people, let us remember the promises we have made to our people.

So at the end of this sixty-day session, let us be able to say a few things:

We refined our high academic standards and helped more students achieve them.

We worked to turn struggling schools into success stories by reforming the learning assistance program.

We provided local school boards with more capacity in their local funding and programs.

We helped communities support their levies in schools by passing the legislation for simple majority votes on school levies.

We rededicated ourselves to expanding college opportunities for young people all across this State whether they be Huskies or Cougars or Warriors or Tritons or Penguins or Geoducks.

We worked with the citizens of our State to create an education trust fund.

Let us find a way to invest in education, to carry out what our people want and what our growing population needs. Education is the future of our economy. Knowledge and wisdom are our aim. Information and innovation are the keys, and ideas and ideals will be our guide.

One of the goals of education is to open minds. One of the requirements of the WASL test is to solve problems and to show your work. Let us have an open mind and show how we can solve different aspects of a particular problem. For example, how can a child be ready to learn and able to succeed if his health is neglected. To help every student achieve high standards by 2008, let us set the goal of insuring that every child in our State can have affordable health care by that same year – 2008.

Let’s be clear, folks, we cannot make real the shared goal of leaving no child behind if we leave tens of thousands of Washington children without decent health care. We can make a significant start this year – by lowering the premiums of children’s health care insurance. Something we have to attend to. When we do this, it will not only make health care more affordable for young families, it will help make academic success more achievable for young students.

Health care for kids is very important but there will be many more important issues to tackle this session – for all of them, I implore you – I ask you – let us not only have an open mind but a constructive approach that finds win-win ways to move our State forward.

Sixty days may seem like a short time to accomplish these goals but think about where we were just one year ago today. We were staring at the worst State budget crisis in about 20 years. Transportation problems were strangling job creation. Medications that alleviated pain, cured infections and quelled depression were out of reach of many. And the skeptics were saying "Boeing is going, Boeing is going". Well, today, one year later we can truthfully say we made the most progress for transportation in decades, we made the largest investment for construction of schools, colleges and housing in State history. We made prescription drugs more affordable for seniors and other citizens. We made great progress in helping create jobs throughout the economy and across the State. And today we can say truthfully the "Dreamliner" is landing in Everett. I believe "Rosie the Riveter" would be very proud today.

So, let’s keep this extraordinary sense of what is possible in mind as we work to carry out the noble dreams of our people for a better future – of education, of jobs and health care for all. That’s a lot to do. We’ve got sixty days, the clock is ticking, let’s get to work.

Thank you very much."
POINT OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Representative DeBolt: "Thank you, Mr. Speaker. Ladies and Gentlemen of the House, I welcome everyone back to Olympia. It seems like just last month, we were in Session.

I wanted to remind us that a healthy economy makes our education system strong. We have to do what we can in Washington State that makes sure everyone has the opportunity to get back to work. Washington State has suffered in many areas where it has never suffered before. One of the things that separated the 1970's and the downturns of Boeing from today was the environment in which those businesses thrived. The environment for small businesses to succeed today in Washington State needs help. We have to find someway we can work as a team to pass regulatory reform.

We look forward to working hard with you on the education system. We know that you are enthusiastic about reforming the health care system because the premiums are just too high. We want to be here to solve problems and work with those who want to work with us. We will give you our knowledge; we will give you our time, and we will do whatever is necessary to bring Washington State out of this crisis. We know that we won't always be ideologically linked but we do think that we share something – a drive for Washington State to be successful; to stop the doldrums we have been in; to reverse the negative tide that has been coming on our State for the last fifteen years; to move forward in the right direction; to say that each and every child is important but so are their parents. That their children can be raised in a family with people working, not unemployed and not third generation unemployed in rural communities. We want to be successful. We also know we have to replace revenue. So to do that, we need to put everybody back to work and get those taxes flowing again. That's the way we need to fix the revenue situation in Washington State.

As we came out of the budget last year, it was a tough budget, it was hard but we don't want to create another 1.6 million dollar bow wave that we have to work through. We don't want to create another deficit. We want to learn from what we did last year as a body and make sure that our spending reflects the amount of revenue we have. And so as we move forward, we want to make sure that Washington State is prosperous, that our budget is balanced and that we have the opportunity to put problem solving on the table and not partisan politics.

Thank you."

The flags were escorted to the Rostrum by the Washington State Patrol Color Guard. The prayer was offered by Bishop William 'Chris' Boerger, Northwest Washington Synod of the Evangelical Lutheran Church in America.

Bishop Boerger: "Let us pray. God, our Creator, we rejoice at the beauty You have made and given us in the State of Washington. We marvel at the power and serenity of all that You have made and have given to us to steward for ourselves and to those who come after us. Bless those gathered in this place with wise counsel as they lead us in caring for Your creation and in the building of community for all people. We give thanks for the many talents and gifts You have given those who have been elected to lead the State. Grant them an extra measure of compassion, wisdom, creativity and courage. Use them to guide us in creating a strong, healthy and dynamic society that supports and encourages its people to risk becoming what You have created us to be. Use our differences to challenge each other and bring to light new solutions to the needs which Your people bring to this government.

We thank You for those who have gone before us in service to this State. Grant that these leaders may build on that heritage. We know that the challenges You have placed before us and, we trust Your faithfulness to provide all that we need to care for Your creation and Your people. Amen."

President Owen: "The purpose of the Joint Session is to receive the Governor's State of the State message. Governor Locke is beginning his 22nd year in public service, first serving as a member of the House of Representatives, then as King County Executive and for the last seven years as Governor of the finest state in the nation in which to live, work and raise a family.

Governor Locke has served during very good economic times and very difficult economic times. I for one want to thank you governor for staying healthy during those very difficult times being available to make the tough choices our state was faced with.

I might say you rose to the occasion and found ways to maintain your commitment to education while establishing your priorities of a state budgeting approach that balanced the budget with existing state revenues.

I would also like to take advantage of this moment to thank Emily and Dylan for the exceptional job that they have done teaching the governor and our extraordinary first lady how to be great parents. Governor Locke and Mrs. Locke you are fine examples of caring and loving parents that truly embrace strong family values.

Ladies and gentlemen it is with great pride and respect that I present to you His Excellency, Governor Gary Locke."

GOVERNOR'S STATE OF THE STATE

Governor Locke: "Mr. President, Mr. Speaker, Honorable Chief Justice, distinguished Justices of the Supreme Court, members of the Consular Association, statewide elected officials, members of the Washington State Legislature, people of our great state of Washington:

It is fitting that we gather here at Olympia High School. Like all schools in every community across our state, this is a place of learning. It is also a source of hope. And a symbol of our profound responsibility to future generations.

We have worked hard to honor that responsibility. During the past seven years together, and through your leadership and the leadership of your predecessors, we've established considerable momentum.

Years of education reform are paying off. Our classes are smaller, our schools are safe, and our kids are learning better than ever.

And our homeland security measures place our state among the nation’s leaders in protecting our citizens and our borders.

Our economic initiatives have created jobs and hope for unemployed workers who still need our help.

Last year we faced tremendous challenges. Together, we made tough decisions—and we made 2003 a session to remember.

We avoided a general tax increase during tough economic times.

After years of stalemate, we moved ahead on new funding for vital transportation projects.

We have improved our business climate. Seven national companies chose our state in the past two years, creating thousands new of jobs.

And by being resourceful, decisive, and bold, we landed the Boeing 7E7. "Built by Boeing" will continue to mean "Made in Washington by the best aerospace workers in the world."

Washington state is rebounding. Our tough decisions are paying off. Our state government is on solid footing. Let’s continue this progress. This session, I am proposing to extend our gains in key areas:

Creating jobs through tax incentives for R&D and jobs in rural areas, and tools for all communities to accelerate economic growth.

Improving education by refining the new 2008 high school graduation requirements, by redesigning assistance programs for struggling students, and by allowing more students to attend our colleges and universities.

Keeping health care affordable and available by lowering insurance premiums for low- and middle-income families and small businesses, by helping doctors stay in rural communities, and by controlling medical malpractice insurance costs.

And ensuring abundant water for our state.

These, and supplemental budget proposals were publicly presented last month, have been delivered to the members of the Legislature, and have been available in detail on the state’s Web site.
So I won’t go into the specifics here.
And in the days ahead there will be ample time to further discuss and debate these proposals and issues. There will be time for the dialogue, negotiations and compromise that make our legislative process work.

As we begin the session, let’s instead consider the future that we have been shaping for the people of Washington.

The progress and momentum we have achieved in key areas is powerful and promising. Because of it, our state is on a changed course. A better course. A course toward a future filled with the prosperity, opportunity and security our citizens deserve. We must continue this momentum.

We will achieve that promising future if we remain disciplined, creative, and committed. But an even better Washington is within our grasp. A Washington that is defined by certain fundamental rights. Fundamental rights that have been the basis of our efforts the last seven years and our proposals this year. I believe we must continue to work for a future that ensures these rights for successive generations.

If the decisions and actions we take are guided by these rights and continue to be powered by the momentum we have created, we will achieve an even more respectful, more decent, and more caring society in our state.

What are these fundamental rights?

The first is the right to a quality education and opportunities for lifelong learning. A quality education is a universal right. Our children deserve no less, and we can provide them nothing more important. I’m sure you’re all familiar with my mantra. Education is the great equalizer. Education offers opportunity and hope to all it touches. It makes real the American Dream: that anything is possible if we set our minds to it.

When I was growing up, my parents taught me this important lesson, and instilled in me a passion for learning. School always came first. So I would like to take this opportunity to introduce my mother and father, Julie and Jimmy Locke. Also with my parents are my sister Marian and her husband Peter Monwai.

Education is the great equalizer, and also a great economic engine. It prepares our workforce of the future, and roots our economic destiny in knowledge and resourcefulness. Every person in our state must have opportunities at any point in life to seek further education. For basic skills, for occupational advancement, or for personal development and fulfillment.

Quality education and lifelong learning demand a world-class education system.

We’ve made great strides in raising academic achievement the past several years. Our students now exceed the national average in many subjects, and lead the nation in numerous categories. More importantly, we’ve made great progress as measured against even our own higher state standards.

We are proud of this improvement. But we must intensify our efforts.

Learning begins at birth. But thousands of our kids start kindergarten without the basic skills to succeed in school. That means they start out behind. And many will never catch up to their peers. More early education programs—and improvements to those programs—give children the chance they need and deserve.

The person who has convinced me on the profound benefits of early learning and has spent all of her years as First Lady promoting early learning—not just in our state, but around the nation—my wife, Mona Locke.

We must help our children by giving them the early foundation they need. We must also help our teachers. In our K-12 system, too many of our teachers still struggle with large class sizes, antiquated facilities, impersonal learning environments, and inadequate learning materials.

Class sizes must be smaller . . . . Teachers must be paid what they deserve . . . and professional development opportunities must be plentiful. More assistance is needed for at-risk students struggling with reading, writing, math and science.

Too many teachers and schools lack the resources to do their best. We must do our best to help them succeed. That’s the only way every student will have a fair chance to meet today’s higher academic standards.
Standing here in this high school, I wonder: How many of the students here have dreams of a college education? Will we help those dreams come true?

Our community colleges and universities are struggling to keep up with "the Baby Boom Echo." People already in the workforce are looking for opportunities to improve their skills and employability. More people than ever before are seeking a college education. But there aren’t enough professors and classrooms at our universities to meet that demand.

Meanwhile, employers are looking for more graduates in high-demand fields like nursing, computer sciences and engineering. Our high-tech companies will be hiring thousands of people each year. But our colleges and universities can’t even meet half the need. If our state can’t provide the necessary training and education opportunities for these jobs, businesses will hire people from outside our state.

What do we tell those who are waiting for college opportunities? We can’t just say "be patient and wait a few years until the state invests more in education." We can’t expect them to wait until the economic recovery is 100% complete. We can’t ask them to stand by helplessly while those good family-wage jobs go to people from out of state. How can anyone consider giving tax breaks to businesses to create more jobs without also giving our students a chance to land those jobs?

That’s why we must make higher education more accessible. The dreams of hardworking students here at Olympia High School and others across our state are worth honoring. The doors of opportunity must be kept open.

And those who are qualified to attend our colleges and universities should not be barred by impossibly high costs. Promise Scholarships and other financial aid programs can make the difference between a dream fulfilled and an impossible dream.

Building a world-class education system requires funding. The investment required to take our education system to the world-class level is significant—but absolutely necessary.

The funding source must be dedicated, permanent and stable. That’s why I’ve challenged the education community to develop the Washington Education Trust Fund. And that’s why I will champion this effort.

It’s time for our state to properly fund education. The right to a quality education is an integral part of our vision for our state.

A second fundamental right that is also central to our vision for Washington is the right to opportunities for family-wage jobs in a vibrant and expanding economy.

Everyone deserves the opportunity to make a decent living doing meaningful work. Family-wage work that puts food on the table, provides decent housing, and offers a sense of dignity.

Such a goal requires a comprehensive approach to economic development. We must use the tools that create jobs.

Tools like targeted tax incentives for job expansion. We know tax incentives work. The Boeing 7E7 decision safeguarded some 200,000 direct and indirect jobs all across our state. That’s a lot of opportunity for the people of Washington.

Opportunities for good jobs must be available throughout the state. We must provide local governments with the tools to finance infrastructure to attract businesses and bring more good jobs to those communities.

America has always prospered through innovation, and we are an innovation state. We are home to some of the top technology companies in the world. Our universities enjoy stellar reputations as leading research institutions. They have pioneered such globally known and life-changing innovations as bone marrow transplants, ultrasound, and kidney dialysis.

Our colleges and universities are powerful engines of economic development. They have spawned industries of the future in advanced computing, biotechnology, advanced materials, and environmental technology. Industries that have created thousands of jobs already. And will provide thousands more in the future.

The investments we make in these technology areas through targeted tax incentives will fuel this growth. We must play to our strengths in these areas with initiatives like Bio 21. Bio 21 is a public-private, non-profit partnership that will further fund our state’s outstanding research capacity in biotechnology and information technology. This initiative merges and builds on these two great strengths to cure diseases and promote medical breakthroughs. It establishes Washington as a global leader in computer and biological sciences. Bio 21 has enormous potential to create new industries and thousands of good-paying jobs for our state.
I believe every person in our state has the right to opportunities for family-wage jobs in a vibrant and expanding economy. As we support existing industries, encourage new development, and invest in the industries of the future, we are delivering on the promise of that right.

A third fundamental right that defines our vision for the state is the right to comprehensive health care that is affordable and available.

We all know there is a national crisis that requires a national solution. But for people in desperate need of health care now, this sad knowledge doesn’t help. Nobody should have to suffer just because they are poor, powerless, unheard or unknown.

We in the state of Washington have never waited for federal action. Nor should we wait now. In spite of tough economic times, our state is still a national leader in providing medical care to vulnerable children and adults. We must continue to do all we can for our citizens, and make sure those most in need will always be helped.

Low- and middle-income families struggling to keep their health insurance deserve our efforts to reduce their premiums.

Citizens in rural areas deserve enough doctors and nurses to help the sick and injured. We must never allow clinics and hospitals to close because of rising costs, leaving medical professionals little choice but to move away, never to return. A seriously ill or injured person should not have to drive a hundred miles to reach medical care.

The quality of care should be the same whether you live in a rural or urban area. Technology can bridge distances, enabling doctors and patients in remote areas to consult with leading medical experts around the country.

Doctors struggling with high costs while serving mostly low-income patients deserve increased Medicaid reimbursements for critical services like childbirth. We must help family doctors continue to serve these patients, especially in rural areas.

And the people of Washington deserve our tireless efforts to pressure Congress and the Administration in the other Washington to step up to this national crisis and give all Americans the right to accessible, affordable health care.

The fourth component of our vision for Washington is the right to a clean, healthy environment.

Everyone should care about the condition of this planet that we leave to our children. Future generations deserve to enjoy the same natural beauty and precious natural resources that we enjoy. We need abundant, clean and cold water in our rivers and streams for people, fish and farms. Our wild salmon—a sacred symbol of Native people and an icon for our state—are indicators of environmental quality. As we restore wild salmon runs, we will be enhancing the pristine environment we so much cherish.

And when we protect ourselves from greenhouse gases, toxins like mercury, unsafe pipelines and oil spills, we are preserving a legacy of environmental health for our children’s children.

When we seek and encourage renewable energy sources, we are preserving a legacy of sustainability, and passing along the right to live in and enjoy a clean and healthy environment.

Fifth and finally, I believe we have a fundamental right to live in a respectful, fair and safe society.

When we invest in education, jobs, health care and the environment, our choices reflect our values: respect . . . opportunity . . . equality . . . diversity . . . and community. As leaders, we should consider these values in all of our decisions.

Though we have differences, a respectful society values these differences. When we embrace our rich diversity, we reach for the highest, best potential of enlightened civilization.

And a respectful society means safe and secure communities. We all deserve to feel safe from danger and protected from harm in our neighborhoods.

We all deserve to enjoy daily life knowing that our civil and human rights are safeguarded. The quality of our society can be measured by how we treat one another.

Whether we choose cooperation over adversity, civility over cruelty, and inclusiveness over intolerance. We owe it to ourselves, and to future generations, to work toward a society that keeps us safe, dignifies the individual, and works tirelessly for the common good.

These five fundamental rights I have identified today light the path to and serve as the foundation for an even better Washington. All of our citizens deserve these rights. And all of our citizens expect us to create and provide a Washington that guarantees them.

Can we achieve that guarantee? Yes, we can. And we must.
I have dedicated my entire life in public service to it. During my last year as governor I will spend every moment working toward that guarantee. And those who come after me should do no less. I ask you to join me in this effort. Working together, I believe we can build on the momentum of today to secure these rights for our citizens tomorrow. To serve the people of our state is a great and humbling responsibility. Let us honor it together. Thank you very much, and God bless you all."

President Owen: "Once again, Governor Locke, thank you for being with us today, and for your stirring remarks. Will the committee of honor please come forward and escort Governor and Mrs. Locke from the dais?"

PART 1
CERTIFICATE OF ACADEMIC ACHIEVEMENT

NEW SECTION. Sec. 101. A new section is added to chapter 28A.655 RCW to read as follows:

CERTIFICATE REQUIREMENTS. (1) The high school assessment system shall include but need not be limited to the Washington assessment of student learning, opportunities for a student to retake the content areas of the assessment in which the student was not successful, and one or more alternative means for a student to demonstrate achievement of state academic standards. The alternative means for each content area shall be comparable in rigor to the Washington assessment of student learning for each content area.

(2) Subject to the conditions in this section, beginning with the graduating class of 2008, successful completion of the reading, writing, and mathematics content areas of the high school Washington assessment of student learning, or of an approved alternative means in those content areas as provided in subsection (10) of this section, shall lead to a certificate of academic achievement. The certificate of academic achievement shall be obtained by most students at about the age of sixteen, and is evidence that the students have successfully met the state standard in the content areas included in the certificate. The certificate of academic achievement is required for graduation from a public high school but is not the only requirement for graduation.

(3) Beginning with the graduating class of 2010, successful completion of the reading, writing, mathematics, and science content areas of the high school Washington assessment of student learning, or of an approved alternative means in those content areas, is required for graduation from a public high school in the state of Washington and shall lead to a certificate of academic achievement.

(4) The state board of education may not require the acquisition of the certificate of academic achievement for students in home-based instruction under chapter 28A.200 RCW, for students enrolled in private schools under chapter 28A.195 RCW, or for students satisfying the provisions of section 104 of this act.

(5) A student may retain and use the highest result from each successfully completed content area of the high school assessment.

(6) Beginning with the graduating class of 2005, the highest scale score and level achieved in each content area on the high school Washington assessment of student learning shall be displayed on a student’s transcript. In addition, beginning with the graduating class of 2008, each student shall receive a scholar’s designation on his or her transcript for each content area in which the student achieves level four.

(7) Beginning with the graduating class of 2008, if a student takes the high school assessment but is not successful in one or more content areas required for the certificate of academic achievement, the student may retake the assessment in that content area one or more times at no cost to the student. School districts must make available to students the following options:

(a) To retake the assessment in that content area at least twice a year if the student is enrolled in a public school;

(b) To retake the assessment in that content area if the student is enrolled in a high school completion program at a community or technical college. The superintendent of public instruction and the state board for community and technical colleges shall jointly identify means by which students in these programs can be assessed;

(c) To use an alternative means developed and approved by the superintendent of public instruction and authorized pursuant to subsection (10) of this section to demonstrate achievement of the standards for that content area if the student has retaken the assessment in that content area at least once.

(8) Students who achieve the standard in a content area of the high school assessment of student learning but who wish to improve their results shall pay for retaking the assessment, using a uniform cost determined by the superintendent of public instruction.

(9) Subject to available funding, the superintendent shall pilot opportunities for retaking the high school assessment beginning in the 2005-06 school year. Beginning no later than September 2006, opportunities to retake the assessment at least twice a year shall be available to each school district.

(10) Beginning no later than spring 2007, subject to formal legislative approval of the alternative means, alternative means shall be in place to demonstrate achievement of the state standards in a content area in which the student was unsuccessful on the Washington assessment of student learning. Through the omnibus appropriations act, or by statute or concurrent resolution, the legislature shall formally approve the use of any alternative means, including appeals, before its implementation as part of the high school assessment system.

(11) To help assure continued progress in academic achievement as a foundation for high school graduation and to assure that students are on track for high school graduation, each school district shall prepare plans for students as provided in this subsection.

(a) Plans are required for eighth through twelfth grade students who were not successful on any or all of the content areas of the Washington assessment for student learning during the previous school year. The plan shall include the courses, competencies, and other steps needed to be taken by the student to meet state academic standards and stay on track for graduation. This requirement shall be phased in as follows:

(i) Beginning no later than the 2005-06 school year ninth grade students as described in (a) of this subsection shall have a plan.
(ii) Beginning no later than the 2005-06 school year and every year thereafter eighth grade students as described in (a) of this subsection shall have a plan.

(iii) The parent or guardian shall be notified, preferably through a parent conference, of the student’s results on the Washington assessment of student learning, actions the school intends to take to improve the student’s skills in any content area in which the student was unsuccessful, strategies to help them improve their student’s skills, and the content of the student’s plan.

(iv) Progress made on the student plan shall be reported to the student’s parents or guardian at least annually and adjustments to the plan made as necessary.

(b) Beginning with the 2005-06 school year and every year thereafter, all fifth grade students who were not successful in one or more of the content areas of the fourth grade Washington assessment of student learning shall have a plan.

(i) The parent or guardian of a student described in (b) of this subsection shall be notified, through a parent conference, of the student’s results on the Washington assessment of student learning, actions the school intends to take to improve the student’s skills in any content area in which the student was unsuccessful, and provide strategies to help them improve their student’s skills.

(ii) Progress made on the student plan shall be reported to the student’s parents or guardian at least annually and adjustments to the plan made as necessary.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 102. CERTIFICATE REPORTS REQUIRED ON THE CUT SCORES REQUIRED TO ACHIEVE THE CERTIFICATE, ALTERNATIVE MEANS, AND ISSUES RELATED TO VALIDITY AND RELIABILITY. (1) Before the results of the 2004 high school assessment of student learning are reported to school districts, the academic achievement and accountability commission shall review and adjust, if necessary, the performance standards needed to meet the high school standards and obtain a certificate of academic achievement as provided in section 101 of this act. The commission shall include in its review consideration of various conjunctive and compensatory score models, including the use of the standard error of measurement, into the decision regarding the award of the certificate of academic achievement. To assist in its deliberations, the commission shall seek advice from a committee that includes parents, practicing classroom teachers and principals, administrators, staff, and other interested parties.

(2) The office of the superintendent of public instruction shall develop options for implementing alternative means for students to demonstrate achievement of the state academic standards, one of which shall be an appeals option. The alternative means shall be comparable in rigor to the Washington assessment of student learning and be objective in its determination of student competency.

(a) By July 1, 2004, the office of the superintendent of public instruction shall report its recommendations for alternative means, including the use of appeals, to the governor, the state board of education, and the house of representatives and senate education committees.

(b) In its deliberations, the office of the superintendent of public instruction shall consult with parents, administrators, practicing classroom teachers including teachers in career and technical education, practicing principals, appropriate agencies, professional organizations, assessment experts, and other interested parties.

(c) Through the omnibus appropriations act, or by statute or concurrent resolution, the legislature shall formally approve the use of any alternative means, including any appeals process, before its implementation as a part of the high school assessment system.

(3) By November 30, 2004, the superintendent of public instruction and the state board of education shall provide to the house of representatives and senate education committees all available pertinent studies, information, and independent third-party analyses on the validity and reliability of the high school assessment system, especially as it pertains to the use of the system for individual student decisions.

(c) Any decision on whether a student has met the state board’s high school graduation requirements for a high school and beyond plan shall remain at the local level.

(2) In recognition of the statutory authority of the state board of education to establish and enforce minimum high school graduation requirements, the state board shall periodically reevaluate the graduation requirements and shall report such findings to the legislature in a timely manner as determined by the state board.

(3) Pursuant to any requirement for instruction in languages other than English established by the state board of education or a local school district, or both, for purposes of high school graduation, students who

(4) If requested by the student and his or her family, a student who has completed high school courses before attending high school shall be given high school credit which shall be applied to fulfilling high school graduation requirements if:
   (a) The course was taken with high school students, if the academic level of the course exceeds the requirements for seventh and eighth grade classes, and the student has successfully passed by completing the same course requirements and examinations as the high school students enrolled in the class; or
   (b) The academic level of the course exceeds the requirements for seventh and eighth grade classes and the course would qualify for high school credit, because the course is similar or equivalent to a course offered at a high school in the district as determined by the school district board of directors.

(5) Students who have taken and successfully completed high school courses under the circumstances in subsection (4) of this section shall not be required to take an additional competency examination or perform any other additional assignment to receive credit. When assessments other than the high school Washington assessment of student learning are used, the assessments shall be in agreement with the appropriate educational opportunity provided for the student as required by this chapter.

When assessments other than the high school Washington assessment of student learning are used for high school graduation purposes, the student’s high school diploma shall state that the student has completed required high school assessments appropriate for the student.

Nothing in this section shall be construed to deny a student the right to participation in the program of assessment known as the high school Washington assessment of student learning, and, upon successfully meeting the high school standard, receipt of the certificate of academic achievement.

NEW SECTION  Sec. 105. RCW 28A.195.010 and 1993 c 336 s 1101 are each amended to read as follows:

Transcripts are also important to students who will seek employment upon or prior to graduation from high school. It is recognized that student transcripts may be the only record available to employers in their decision-making processes regarding prospective employees. The superintendent of public instruction shall require school districts to inform annually all high school students that prospective employers may request to see transcripts and that the prospective employee’s decision to release transcripts can be an important part of the process of applying for employment.

To the maximum extent possible, the superintendent shall integrate goal four and the knowledge and skill areas in the other goals in the essential academic learning requirements; and

(b) Review and prioritize the essential academic learning requirements and identify, with clear and concise descriptions, the grade level content expectations to be assessed on the Washington assessment of student learning and used for state or federal accountability purposes. The review, prioritization, and identification shall result in a focus and targeting with an emphasis on depth over breadth in the number of grade level content expectations assessed at each grade level. Grade level content expectations shall be articulated over the grades as a sequence of expectations and performances that are logical, build with increasing depth after foundational knowledge and skills are acquired, and reflect, where appropriate, the sequential nature of the discipline. The office of the superintendent of public instruction, within seven working days, shall post on its website any grade level content expectations provided to an assessment vendor for use in constructing the Washington assessment of student learning.

(3) In consultation with the academic achievement and accountability commission, the superintendent of public instruction shall maintain and continue to develop and revise a statewide academic assessment system in the content areas of reading, writing, mathematics, and science for use in the elementary, middle, and high school years designed to determine if each student has mastered the essential academic learning requirements identified in subsection (1) of this section. School districts shall administer the assessments under guidelines adopted by the superintendent of public instruction. The academic assessment system shall include a variety of assessment methods, including criterion-referenced and performance-based measures.

(4) If the superintendent proposes any modification to the essential academic learning requirements or the statewide assessments, then the superintendent shall, upon request, provide opportunities for the education committees of the house of representatives and the senate to review the assessments and proposed modifications to the essential academic learning requirements before the modifications are adopted.

(5)(a) The assessment system shall be designed so that the results under the assessment system are used by educators as tools to evaluate instructional practices, and to initiate appropriate educational support for students who have not mastered the essential academic learning requirements at the appropriate periods in the student’s educational development.

((5)(b)) (b) Assessments measuring the essential academic learning requirements in the content area of science shall be available for mandatory use in middle schools and high schools by the 2003-04 school year and for mandatory use in elementary schools by the 2004-05 school year unless the legislature takes action to delay or prevent implementation of the assessment.

(6) By September 2006, the results for reading and mathematics shall be reported in a format that will allow parents and teachers to determine the academic gain a student has acquired in those content areas from one school year to the next.

(7) To assist parents and teachers in their efforts to provide educational support to individual students, the superintendent of public instruction shall provide as much individual student performance information as possible within the constraints of the assessment system’s item bank. The superintendent shall also provide to school districts information on classroom-based and other assessments that may provide additional achievement information for individual students.

(8) To the maximum extent possible, the superintendent shall integrate knowledge and skill areas in development of the assessments.

(9) Assessments for goals three and four of RCW 28A.150.210 shall be integrated in the essential academic learning requirements and assessments for goals one and two.

(11) The superintendent shall consider methods to address the unique needs of special education students when developing the assessments under this section.

(12) The superintendent shall consider methods to address the unique needs of highly capable students when developing the assessments under this section.

(13) The superintendent shall post on the superintendent’s web site lists of resources and model assessments in social studies, the arts, and health and fitness.

Once assessments in these subjects are required statewide. The goals shall be consistent with student privacy protection provisions of RCW 28A.655.090(7) and shall not conflict with requirements contained in Title I of the federal elementary and secondary education act of 1965, as amended. The goals may be established for all students, economically disadvantaged students, limited English proficient students, students with disabilities, and students from disproportionately academically underachieving racial and ethnic backgrounds. The commission shall consider the incorporation of the standard error of measurement into the decision regarding the award of the certificate of academic achievement. The commission shall set such performance standards and levels in consultation with the superintendent of public instruction and after consideration of any recommendations that may be developed by any advisory committees that may be established for this purpose.

Beginning in 2005, if the commission makes any adjustment of the student performance standards, then the commission shall present the recommended performance standard to the education committees of the house of representatives and the senate for the committees’ review and comment in a time frame that will permit the legislature to take statutory action on the goal if such action is deemed warranted by the legislature.

(b) Identify the scores students must achieve in order to meet the standard on the Washington assessment of student learning and, for high school students, obtain a certificate of academic achievement. The commission shall also determine student scores that identify levels of student performance below and beyond the standard. The commission shall consider the incorporation of the standard error of measurement into the decision regarding the award of the certificate of academic achievement. The commission shall set such performance standards and levels in consultation with the superintendent of public instruction and after consideration of any recommendations that may be developed by any advisory committees that may be established for this purpose.

Beginning in 2005, if the commission makes any adjustment of the student performance standards, then the commission shall present the recommended performance standard to the education committees of the house of representatives and the senate by November 30th of the year before the school year in which the changes will take place to permit the legislature to take statutory action before the changes are implemented if such action is deemed warranted by the legislature. Any new or revised performance standard the commission plans to use for 2004 assessments shall be presented to the legislature by January 1, 2004.

(c) Adopt objective, systematic criteria to identify successful schools and school districts and recommend to the superintendent of public instruction schools and districts to be recognized for two types of accomplishments, student achievement and improvements in student achievement. Recognition for improvements in student achievement shall include consideration of one or more of the following accomplishments:

(i) An increase in the percent of students meeting standards. The level of achievement required for recognition may be based on the achievement goals established by the legislature (under RCW 28A.655.050) and by the commission under (a) of this subsection;
(ii) Positive progress on an improvement index that measures improvement in all levels of the assessment; and
(iii) Improvements despite challenges such as high levels of mobility, poverty, English as a second language learners, and large numbers of students in special populations as measured by either the percent of students meeting the standard, or the improvement index.

When determining the baseline year or years for recognizing individual schools, the commission may use the assessment results from the initial years the assessments were administered, if doing so with individual schools would be appropriate;

(d) Adopt objective, systematic criteria to identify schools and school districts in need of assistance and those in which significant numbers of students persistently fail to meet state standards. In its deliberations, the commission shall consider the use of all statewide mandated criterion-referenced and norm-referenced standardized tests;

(e) Identify schools and school districts in which state intervention measures will be needed and a range of appropriate intervention strategies, beginning no earlier than June 30, 2001, and after the legislature has authorized a set of intervention strategies. Beginning no earlier than June 30, 2001, and after the legislature has authorized a set of intervention strategies, at the request of the commission, the superintendent shall intervene in the school or school district and take corrective actions. This chapter does not provide additional authority for the commission or the superintendent of public instruction to intervene in a school or school district;

(f) Identify performance incentive systems that have improved or have the potential to improve student achievement;

(g) Annually review the assessment reporting system to ensure fairness, accuracy, timeliness, and equity of opportunity, especially with regard to schools with special circumstances and unique populations of students, and a recommendation to the superintendent of public instruction of any improvements needed to the system;

(h) Annually report by December 1st to the legislature, the governor, the superintendent of public instruction, and the state board of education on the progress, findings, and recommendations of the commission. The report may include recommendations of actions to help improve student achievement;

(i) By December 1, 2000, and by December 1st annually thereafter, report to the education committees of the house of representatives and the senate on the progress that has been made in achieving (the reading goal under RCW 28A.655.050 and any additional) goals adopted by the commission;

(j) Coordinate its activities with the state board of education and the office of the superintendent of public instruction;

(k) Seek advice from the public and all interested educational organizations in the conduct of its work; and

(1) Establish advisory committees, which may include persons who are not members of the commission;
(2) Holding meetings and public hearings, which may include regional meetings and hearings;
(3) Hiring necessary staff and determining the staff’s duties and compensation. However, the office of the superintendent of public instruction shall provide staff support to the commission until the commission has hired its own staff, and shall provide most of the technical assistance and logistical support needed by the commission thereafter. The office of the superintendent of public instruction shall be the fiscal agent for the commission. The commission may direct the office of the superintendent of public instruction to enter into subcontracts, within the commission’s resources, with school districts, teachers, higher education faculty, state agencies, business organizations, and other individuals and organizations to assist the commission in its deliberations; and

(4) Receiving per diem and travel allowances as permitted under RCW 43.03.050 and 43.03.060.

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

"NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. (1) The legislature finds that the voters of Washington state expressed their strong support for home-based long-term care services through their overwhelming approval of Initiative Measure
No. 775 in 2001. With passage of the initiative, the state has been directed to increase the quality of state-funded long-term care services provided to elderly and disabled persons in their own homes through recruitment and training of in-home individual providers, referral of qualified individual providers to seniors and persons with disabilities seeking a provider, and stabilization of the individual provider work force. The legislature further finds that the quality of care our elders and people with disabilities receive is highly dependent upon the quality and stability of the individual provider work force, and that the demand for the services of these providers will increase as our population ages.

(2) The legislature intends to stabilize the state-funded individual provider work force by providing funding to implement the collective bargaining agreement between the home care quality authority and the exclusive bargaining representative of individual providers. The agreement reflects the value and importance of the work done by individual providers to support the needs of elders and people with disabilities in Washington state.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. The sum of seven million one hundred twenty-nine thousand dollars, or as much thereof as may be necessary, is appropriated for the fiscal year ending June 30, 2005, from the general fund--state, and the sum of six million nine hundred eighteen thousand dollars, or as much thereof as may be necessary, is appropriated for the biennium ending June 30, 2005, from the general fund--federal to the department of social and health services solely to increase the wages of state-funded individual providers from the current hourly rate of eight dollars and forty-three cents per hour to eight dollars and ninety-three cents per hour beginning October 1, 2004.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. The sum of ten million six hundred four thousand dollars, or as much thereof as may be necessary, is appropriated for the fiscal year ending June 30, 2005, from the general fund--state, and the sum of ten million two hundred ninety-four thousand dollars, or as much thereof as may be necessary, is appropriated for the biennium ending June 30, 2005, from the general fund--federal to the department of social and health services solely to provide contributions of up to four hundred dollars per month for each eligible state-funded individual provider for health insurance coverage pursuant to the terms of the collective bargaining agreement between the home care quality authority and the exclusive bargaining representative of individual providers.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4. The sum of five million seven hundred thirteen thousand dollars, or as much thereof as may be necessary, is appropriated for the fiscal year ending June 30, 2005, from the general fund--state, and the sum of five million four hundred thirty thousand dollars, or as much thereof as may be necessary, is appropriated for the biennium ending June 30, 2005, from the general fund--federal to the department of social and health services solely to provide workers' compensation benefits to state-funded individual providers beginning October 1, 2004, through a third-party administrator under contract with the home care quality authority.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 5. The sum of one million three hundred twenty-four thousand dollars, or as much thereof as may be necessary, is appropriated for the fiscal year ending June 30, 2005, from the general fund--state, and the sum of one million two hundred eighty-four thousand dollars, or as much thereof as may be necessary, is appropriated for the biennium ending June 30, 2005, from the general fund--federal to the department of social and health services solely for costs associated with administrative, labor, and employment relations costs determined by the terms of the collective bargaining agreement between the home care quality authority and the exclusive bargaining representative of individual providers.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 6. The appropriations to the department of social and health services in this act may be transferred among programs within the department or to the home care quality authority to implement the collective bargaining agreement between the home care quality authority and the exclusive bargaining representative of individual providers.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 7. This act takes effect July 1, 2004."

Correct the title.

POINT OF ORDER

Representative Chandler requested a ruling on scope and object of amendment (754) to House Bill No. 1777.

SPEAKER'S RULING
Mr. Speaker: "The title of House Bill No. 1777 is an act relating to 'implementing the collective bargaining agreement between the home care quality authority and individual home care providers.'

The bill contains provisions implementing the collective bargaining agreement reached in 2002. That agreement was not implemented by the Legislature in the 2003 session, and therefore lapsed. A new agreement was then negotiated. Amendment 754 implements that agreement.

While the bill and the amendment address different agreements they are identical in purpose – to implement the collective bargaining agreement between the home care quality authority and individual home care providers. The Speaker therefore finds that the amendment is within the scope and object of the bill.

Representative Chandler, your point of order is not well taken."

Representative Morrell spoke in favor of the adoption of the amendment.

Representative Chandler spoke against the adoption of the amendment.

The amendment was adopted. The bill was ordered engrossed.

There being no objection, the rules were suspended, the second reading considered the third and the bill was placed on final passage.

Representatives Morrell, Simpson, Cody, Hudgins, Benson, Wallace and Campbell spoke in favor of passage of the bill.

Representatives Sehlin, Alexander, Clements, Holmquist, Boldt, McDonald, Mastin and Anderson spoke against the passage of the bill.

POINT OF ORDER

Representative Kirby: "Thank you, Mr. Speaker. The question before the House is related to the House bill not whether or not to send it back to committee. We have already decided that question."

SPEAKER'S RULING

Mr. Speaker: "The Speaker reminds the members to restrain remarks to the issue itself which is final passage."

Representative Anderson continued speaking against the passage of the bill.

The Speaker stated the question before the House to be the final passage of Engrossed House Bill No. 1777.

ROLL CALL

The Clerk called the roll on the final passage of Engrossed House Bill No. 1777 and the bill passed the House by the following vote: Yeas - 57, Nays - 40, Absent - 0, Excused - 1.

(1) Unless the context clearly requires otherwise, the definitions in this section apply throughout this chapter."
(a) "Prior tax collection year" means the year immediately preceding the year in which the local effort assistance shall be allocated.

(b) "Statewide average twelve percent levy rate" means twelve percent of the total levy bases as defined in RCW 84.52.0531(3) and (4) summed for all school districts, and divided by the total assessed valuation for excess levy purposes in the prior tax collection year for all districts as adjusted to one hundred percent by the county indicated ratio established in RCW 84.48.075.

(c) The "district’s twelve percent levy amount" means the school district’s maximum levy authority after transfers determined under RCW 84.52.0531(2) (a) through (c) divided by the district’s maximum levy percentage determined under RCW 84.52.0531((4))(5) multiplied by twelve percent.

(d) The "district’s twelve percent levy rate" means the district’s twelve percent levy amount divided by the district’s assessed valuation for excess levy purposes for the prior tax collection year as adjusted to one hundred percent by the county indicated ratio.

(e) "Districts eligible for local effort assistance" means those districts with a twelve percent levy rate that exceeds the statewide average twelve percent levy rate.

(2) Unless otherwise stated all rates, percents, and amounts are for the calendar year for which local effort assistance is being calculated under this chapter.

Sec. 2. RCW 84.52.0531 and 1997 c 259 s 2 are each amended to read as follows:

The maximum dollar amount which may be levied by or for any school district for maintenance and operation support under the provisions of RCW 84.52.053 shall be determined as follows:

1. For excess levies for collection in calendar year 1997, the maximum dollar amount shall be calculated pursuant to the laws and rules in effect in November 1996.

2. For excess levies for collection in calendar year 1998 and thereafter, the maximum dollar amount shall be the sum of (a) plus or minus (b) and (c) of this subsection minus (d) of this subsection:
   (a) The district’s levy base as defined in subsections (3) and (4) of this section multiplied by the district’s maximum levy percentage as defined in subsection ((4))(5) of this section;
   (b) For districts in a high/nonhigh relationship, the high school district’s maximum levy amount shall be reduced and the nonhigh school district’s maximum levy amount shall be increased by an amount equal to the estimated amount of the nonhigh payment due to the high school district under RCW 28A.545.030(3) and 28A.545.050 for the school year commencing the year of the levy;
   (c) For districts in an interdistrict cooperative agreement, the nonresident school district’s maximum levy amount shall be reduced and the resident school district’s maximum levy amount shall be increased by an amount equal to the per pupil basic education allocation included in the nonresident district’s levy base under subsection (3) of this section multiplied by:
      (i) The number of full-time equivalent students served from the resident district in the prior school year; multiplied by:
      (ii) The serving district’s maximum levy percentage determined under subsection ((4))(5) of this section; increased by:
      (iii) The percent increase per full-time equivalent student as stated in the state basic education appropriation section of the biennial budget between the prior school year and the current school year divided by fifty-five percent;
   (d) The district’s maximum levy amount shall be reduced by the maximum amount of state matching funds for which the district is eligible under RCW 28A.500.010.

3. For excess levies for collection in calendar year 1998 and thereafter, a district’s levy base shall be the sum of allocations in (a) through (c) of this subsection received by the district for the prior school year, including allocations for compensation increases, plus the sum of such allocations multiplied by the percent increase per full time equivalent student as stated in the state basic education appropriation section of the biennial budget between the prior school year and the current school year and divided by fifty-five percent. A district’s levy base shall not include local school district property tax levies or other local revenues, or state and federal allocations not identified in (a) through (c) of this subsection:
   (a) The district’s basic education allocation as determined pursuant to RCW 28A.150.250, 28A.150.260, and 28A.150.350;
   (b) State and federal categorical allocations for the following programs:

      (iv) Compensatory education, including but not limited to learning assistance, migrant education, Indian education, refugee programs, and bilingual education;
      (v) Food services; and
      (vi) Statewide block grant programs; and
   (c) Any other federal allocations for elementary and secondary school programs, including direct grants, other than federal impact aid funds and allocations in lieu of taxes.
(4) For excess levies for collection in calendar years 2005 through 2008, in addition to the allocations included under subsection (3)(a) through (c) of this section, a district’s levy base shall also include the difference between the state allocations under subsection (3)(a) and (b) of this section and the allocations the district would have received if (a) the district’s base salary for certificated instructional staff for purposes of determining state basic education allocations had been the same as the highest base salary for that school year on the supporting LEAP salary document referenced in the omnibus appropriations act; and (b) the district’s salaries for certificated administrators and classified staff for purposes of determining state basic education allocations had been the same as the highest certificated administrator and classified staff salaries for that school year on the supporting LEAP salary document referenced in the omnibus appropriations act. For calendar year 2005, the additional amounts provided under this subsection shall not be used in the calculation of levy base for the purpose of determining local effort assistance allocations under chapter 28A.500 RCW.

(5) A district’s maximum levy percentage shall be twenty-two percent in 1998 and twenty-four percent in 1999 and every year thereafter; plus, for qualifying districts, the grandfathered percentage determined as follows:

(a) For 1997, the difference between the district’s 1993 maximum levy percentage and twenty percent; and

(b) For 1998 and thereafter, the percentage calculated as follows:

(i) Multiply the grandfathered percentage for the prior year times the district’s levy base determined under subsection (3) of this section;

(ii) Reduce the result of (b)(i) of this subsection by any levy reduction funds as defined in subsection 6 of this section that are to be allocated to the district for the current school year;

(iii) Divide the result of (b)(ii) of this subsection by the district’s levy base; and

(iv) Take the greater of zero or the percentage calculated in (b)(iii) of this subsection.

“Levy reduction funds” shall mean increases in state funds from the prior school year for programs included under subsections (3) and (4) of this section: (a) That are not attributable to enrollment changes, compensation increases, or inflationary adjustments; and (b) that are or were specifically identified as levy reduction funds in the appropriations act.

If levy reduction funds are dependent on formula factors which would not be finalized until after the start of the current school year, the superintendent of public instruction shall estimate the total amount of levy reduction funds by using prior school year data in place of current school year data. Levy reduction funds shall not include moneys received by school districts from cities or counties.

For the purposes of this section, "prior school year" means the most recent school year completed prior to the year in which the levies are to be collected.

For the purposes of this section, "current school year" means the year immediately following the prior school year.

Funds collected from transportation vehicle fund tax levies shall not be subject to the levy limitations in this section.

The superintendent of public instruction shall develop rules and regulations and inform school districts of the pertinent data necessary to carry out the provisions of this section.

(1) School district employees shall be provided an annual salary cost-of-living increase in accordance with this section.
(a) The cost-of-living increase shall be calculated by applying the rate of the yearly increase in the cost-of-living index to any state-funded salary base used in state funding formulas for teachers and other school district employees. Beginning with the 2001-02 school year, and for each subsequent school year, except for the 2003-04 and 2004-05 school years, each school district shall be provided a cost-of-living allocation sufficient to grant this cost-of-living increase, except as provided in subsection (3) of this section.
(b) A school district shall distribute its cost-of-living allocation for salaries and salary-related benefits in accordance with the district's salary schedules, collective bargaining agreements, and compensation policies. No later than the end of the school year, each school district shall certify to the superintendent of public instruction that it has spent funds provided for cost-of-living increases on salaries and salary-related benefits.

For teachers and other certificated instructional staff, the rate of the annual cost-of-living increase funded for certificated instructional staff shall be applied to the base salary used with the statewide salary allocation schedule established under RCW 28A.150.410 and to any other salary models used to recognize school district personnel costs.
(2) For the purposes of this section, "cost-of-living index" means, for any school year, the previous calendar year's annual average consumer price index, using the official current base, compiled by the bureau of labor statistics, United States department of labor for the state of Washington. If the bureau of labor statistics develops more than one consumer price index for areas within the state, the index covering the greatest number of people, covering areas exclusively within the boundaries of the state, and including all items shall be used for the cost-of-living index in this section.
(3) For districts that have historically received teacher salary allocations in excess of the statewide salary schedule included in the appropriations act pursuant to RCW 28A.150.410, the legislature shall decline to provide a cost-of-living increase allocation, or shall provide a cost-of-living increase allocation at a lower rate than otherwise required by this section, in order to bring these districts' general apportionment allocations down to or closer to the statewide salary schedule.

(e) "Districts eligible for local effort assistance" means those districts with a ((twelve)) fifteen percent levy rate that exceeds the statewide average ((twelve)) fifteen percent levy rate.

(2) Unless otherwise stated all rates, percents, and amounts are for the calendar year for which local effort assistance is being calculated under this chapter.

Correct the title.

POINT OF ORDER

Representative Hunt requested a ruling on scope and object of the amendment (753) to amendment (752) to House Bill No. 2044.
SPEAKER'S RULING

Mr. Speaker: "The title of House Bill No. 2044 is an act relating to 'school district levy based calculations.' The bill increases a school district's levy base by the difference between the amount received and the amount that would have been received by using a higher salary formula. The bill also changes current law by establishing different levy bases for calculating levy lids and levy equalization.

While part of amendment (753) indirectly changes school district levy base calculations for 34 districts, other provisions of the amendment do not relate to school district levy base calculations, but rather with the maximum levy percentage used to calculate levy lids and the percentage used to determine levy equalization.

The Speaker therefore finds that amendment (753) is outside the scope and object of the bill. Representative Hunt, your point of order is well taken."

Representative Fromhold spoke in favor of the adoption of amendment (752).

The amendment was adopted. The bill was ordered engrossed.

There being no objection, the rules were suspended, the second reading considered the third and the bill was placed on final passage.

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

"Sec. 1. RCW 82.63.005 and 1994 sp.s. c 5 s 1 are each amended to read as follows: The legislature finds that high-wage, high-skilled jobs are vital to the economic health of the state’s citizens, and that targeted tax incentives will encourage the formation of high-wage, high-skilled jobs. The legislature also finds that tax incentives should be subject to the same rigorous requirements for efficiency and accountability as are other expenditure programs, and that tax incentives should therefore be focused to provide the greatest possible return on the state’s investment. The legislature also finds that high-technology businesses are a vital and growing source of high-wage, high-skilled jobs in this state, and that the high-technology sector is a key component of the state’s effort to encourage economic diversification. However, the legislature finds that many high-technology businesses incur significant costs associated with research and development and pilot scale manufacturing many years before a marketable product can be produced, and that current state tax policy discourages the growth of these companies by taxing them long before they become profitable.

The legislature further finds that stimulating growth of high-technology businesses early in their development cycle, when they are turning ideas into marketable products, will build upon the state’s established high-technology base, creating additional research and development jobs and subsequent manufacturing facilities."
For these reasons, the legislature hereby establishes a program of business and occupation tax credits for qualified research and development expenditures. The legislature also hereby establishes a tax deferral program for high-technology research and development and pilot scale manufacturing facilities. The legislature declares that these limited programs serve the vital public purposes of incenting expenditures in research and development, supporting, and sustaining as they develop new technologies and products, and creating quality employment opportunities in this state. The legislature further declares its intent to create a contract within the meaning of Article I, section 23 of the state Constitution as to those businesses that make capital investments in consideration of the tax deferral program established in this chapter.

Sec. 2. RCW 82.04.4452 and 2000 c 103 s 7 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) In computing the tax imposed under this chapter, a credit is allowed for each person whose research and development spending during the year in which the credit is claimed exceeds 0.92 percent of the person’s taxable amount during the same calendar year.

(2) The credit (equal to) shall be calculated as follows: (a) Determine the greater of the amount of qualified research and development expenditures of a person or eighty percent of amounts received by a person other than a public educational or research institution in compensation for the conduct of qualified research and development (multiplied); (b) subtract 0.92 percent of the person’s taxable amount from the amount determined under (a) of this subsection; (c) multiply the amount determined under (b) of this subsection by the rate provided in RCW 82.04.260(3) in the case of a nonprofit corporation or nonprofit association engaging within this state in research and development, and the person’s average tax rate (provided in RCW 82.04.290(2)) for every other person.

(3) Any person entitled to the credit provided in subsection (2) of this section as a result of qualified research and development conducted under contract may assign all or any portion of the credit to the person contracting for the performance of the qualified research and development.

(4) The credit, including any credit assigned to a person under subsection (3) of this section, shall be taken against taxes due for the same calendar year in which the qualified research and development expenditures are incurred. The credit, including any credit assigned to a person under subsection (3) of this section, for each calendar year shall not exceed the lesser of two million dollars or the amount of tax otherwise due under this chapter for the calendar year.

(5) Any person taking the credit, including any credit assigned to a person under subsection (3) of this section, whose research and development spending during the calendar year in which the credit is claimed fails to exceed 0.92 percent of the person’s taxable amount during the same calendar year shall be liable for payment of the additional taxes represented by the amount of credit taken together with interest, but not penalties. Interest shall be due at the rate provided for delinquent excise taxes retroactively to the date the credit was taken until the taxes are paid. Any credit assigned to a person under subsection (3) of this section that is disallowed as a result of this section may be taken by the person who performed the qualified research and development subject to the limitations set forth in subsection (4) of this section.

(6) Any person claiming the credit, and any person assigning a credit as provided in subsection (3) of this section, shall file an annual report in a form prescribed by the department which shall include the amount of the credit claimed, an estimate of the qualified research and development expenditures during the calendar year for which the credit is claimed, and the taxable amount during the calendar year for which the credit is claimed, and such additional information as the department may prescribe. The report is due by March 31st following any year a credit is taken.

(7) (a) The legislature finds that accountability and effectiveness are important aspects of setting tax policy. In order to make policy choices regarding the best use of limited state resources the legislature needs information on how a tax incentive is used.

(b) A person claiming the credit shall agree to (supply the department with information necessary to measure the results of the tax credit program for qualified research and development expenditures) complete an annual survey. The annual survey is in addition to the annual report due under subsection (6) of this section. The survey is due by March 31st following any year in which a credit is taken. The survey shall include the amount of the tax credit taken, the number of new products or research projects by general classification, and the number of trademarks, patents, and copyrights associated with the research and development activities for which a credit was taken. The survey shall also include the following information for employment positions in Washington:

(i) The number of total employment positions;

(ii) Full-time, part-time, and temporary employment positions as a percent of total employment;

A wage band containing fewer than three individuals may be combined with another wage band; and

(iv) The number of employment positions that have employer-provided medical, dental, and retirement benefits, by each of the wage bands.
(c) The department may request additional information necessary to measure the results of the tax credit program, to be submitted at the same time as the survey.

(d) All information collected under this subsection, except the amount of the tax credit taken, is deemed taxpayer information under RCW 82.32.330 and is not disclosable. Information on the amount of tax credit taken is not subject to confidentiality provisions of RCW 82.32.330 and may be disclosed to the public upon request except that persons taking less than ten thousand dollars of credit during the period covered by the survey may request the department to treat the tax credit amount as confidential under RCW 82.32.330.

(e) If a person fails to complete the survey required under this subsection by the due date, the person entitled to the credit provided in subsection (2) of this section is not entitled to take or assign the credit provided in subsection (2) of this section in the year the person failed to complete the survey.

(8) The department shall use the information from subsection (7) of this section to prepare summary descriptive statistics by category. No fewer than three taxpayers shall be included in any category. The department shall report these statistics to the legislature each year by September 1st.

(9) The department shall use the information (required under) from subsection (7) of this section to perform three assessments on study the tax credit program authorized under this section. The department shall prepare reports on each assessment and deliver their reports by September 1, 1997, September 1, 2000, and September 1, 2003. The department shall report to the legislature by December 1, 2009, and December 1, 2013. The reports shall measure the effect of the program on job creation, the number of jobs created for Washington residents, company growth, the introduction of new products, the diversification of the state’s economy, growth in research and development investment, the movement of firms or the consolidation of firms’ operations into the state, and such other factors as the department selects.

(d) Before adopting the final work plan, the board shall consult with the legislative auditor and other appropriate oversight and audit entities to coordinate work plans and avoid duplication of effort in their planned performance audits of state government agencies. The board shall defer to the joint legislative audit and review committee work plan if a similar audit is included on both work plans for auditing.

(e) The state auditor shall contract with qualified independent evaluators to conduct the performance audits included in the final work plan approved by the board. In conducting the audits, the independent evaluator may consult with agency front-line employees and internal auditors.

As part of this program, the board shall:

(1) Consult with and seek input from elected officials, state employees, and professionals with a background in performance management for establishing the grading standards. In developing the criteria, the board shall consider already developed best practices and audit criteria used by government or nongovernment organizations. Before the assessment, the agencies shall be given the criteria for the assessment and the standards for grading; and

(2) Contract or partner with public or private entities that have expertise in public sector reviews and/or technical expertise in individual assessment areas to perform the assessments and grading of all state agencies. The board may contract or partner with more than one entity for different assessment areas.

The audited agency’s plan for addressing each audit finding and recommendation shall be included in the final audit report. The plan shall provide the name of the contact person responsible for each action, the action planned, and the anticipated completion date. If the audited agency does not agree with the audit findings and recommendations or believes action is not required, then the action plan shall include an explanation and specific reasons.

Agencies under the authority of or appointed by the governor, the governor shall submit periodic progress reports to the governor and the board until all resolution has occurred. "NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. The legislature finds that: Congress has preempted the regulation by the states of manufactured housing construction standards through adoption of construction standards for manufactured housing (42 U.S.C. Sec. 5401-5403); and this federal regulation is equivalent to the state’s uniform building code. The legislature also finds that congress has declared that: (1) Manufactured housing plays a vital role in meeting the housing needs of the nation; and (2) manufactured homes provide a significant resource for affordable homeownership and rental housing accessible to all Americans (42 U.S.C. Sec. 5401-5403). The legislature intends to protect the consumers’ rights to choose among a number of housing construction alternatives without restraint of trade or discrimination by local governments.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. A new section is added to chapter 35.21 RCW to read as follows:

A city or town may not enact any statute or ordinance that has the effect, directly or indirectly, of discriminating against consumers’ choices in the placement or use of a home in such a manner that is not equally applicable to all homes. Homes built to 42 U.S.C. Sec. 5401-5403 standards (as amended in 2000) must be regulated in the same manner as site built homes, factory built homes, or homes built to any other state construction standard. However, any city or town may require that (1) a manufactured home be a new manufactured home, (2) the manufactured home be set upon a permanent foundation, as specified in the state manufactured housing installation standard, (3) if the manufactured home is to be located in a designated historic neighborhood, the manufactured home comply with all design standards that apply to all other homes within the designated historic neighborhood, (4) the home is thermally equivalent to the state energy code, and (5) the manufactured home otherwise meets all other requirements for a designated manufactured home as defined in RCW 35.63.160. A city with a population of one hundred thirty-five thousand or more may choose to designate its building official as the person responsible for issuing all permits for alterations, remodeling, or expansion of manufactured housing located within the city limits under this section.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. A new section is added to chapter 35A.21 RCW to read as follows:

A code city may not enact any statute or ordinance that has the effect, directly or indirectly, of discriminating against consumers’ choices in the placement or use of a home in such a manner that is not equally applicable to all homes. Homes built to 42 U.S.C. Sec. 5401-5403 standards (as amended in 2000) must be

A code city with a population of one hundred thirty-five thousand or more may choose to designate its building official as the person responsible for issuing all permits for alterations, remodeling, or expansion of manufactured housing located within the city limits under this section.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4. A new section is added to chapter 36.01 RCW to read as follows:

A county may not enact any statute or ordinance that has the effect, directly or indirectly, of discriminating against consumers' choices in the placement or use of a home in such a manner that is not equally applicable to all homes. Homes built to 42 U.S.C. Sec. 5401-5403 standards (as amended in 2000) must be regulated in the same manner as site built homes, factory built homes, or homes built to any other state construction standard. However, any county may require that (1) a manufactured home be a new manufactured home, (2) the manufactured home be set upon a permanent foundation, as specified in the state manufactured housing installation standard, (3) if the manufactured home is to be located in a designated historic neighborhood, the manufactured home comply with all design standards that apply to all other homes within the designated historic neighborhood, (4) the home is thermally equivalent to the state energy code, and (5) the manufactured home otherwise meets all other requirements for a designated manufactured home as defined in RCW 35.63.160.

Sec. 5. RCW 35.63.160 and 1988 c 239 s 1 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) (((Each comprehensive plan which does not allow for the siting of manufactured homes on individual lots shall be subject to a review by the city of the need and demand for such homes. The review shall be completed by December 31, 1990.))) A "designated manufactured home" is a manufactured home constructed after June 15, 1976, in accordance with state and federal requirements for manufactured homes, which:

(c) Has exterior siding similar in appearance to siding materials commonly used on conventional site-built uniform building code single-family residences.

(2) "New manufactured home" means any manufactured home required to be titled under Title 46 RCW, which has not been previously titled to a retail purchaser, and is not a "used mobile home" as defined in RCW 82.45.032(2).

(3) Nothing in this section precludes cities from allowing any manufactured home from being sited on individual lots through local standards which differ from the designated manufactured home or new manufactured home as described in this section, except that the term "designated manufactured home" and "new manufactured home" shall not be used except as defined in subsections (1) and (2) of this section.

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

"NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. The legislature finds that quantities of ephedrine, pseudoephedrine, and phenylpropanolamine continue to be sold at the wholesale and retail levels far in excess of legitimate consumer needs. The excess quantities being sold are most likely used in the criminal manufacture of methamphetamine. It is therefore necessary for the legislature to further regulate the sales of these drugs, including sales from out-of-state sources, in order to reduce the threat that methamphetamine presents to the people of the state.

Sec. 2. RCW 18.64.044 and 1989 1st ex.s. c 9 s 401 and 1989 c 352 s 1 are each reenacted and amended to read as follows:

(1) A shopkeeper registered as provided in this section may sell nonprescription drugs, if such drugs are sold in the original package of the manufacturer.

(2) Every shopkeeper not a licensed pharmacist, desiring to secure the benefits and privileges of this section, is hereby required to register as a shopkeeper through the master license system, and he or she shall pay the fee determined by the secretary for registration, and on a date to be determined by the secretary thereafter the fee determined by the secretary for renewal of the registration; and shall at all times keep said registration or the current renewal thereof conspicuously exposed in the location to which it applies. In event such shopkeeper’s registration is not renewed by the master license expiration date, no renewal or new registration shall be issued except upon payment of the registration renewal fee and the master license delinquency fee under chapter 19.02 RCW. This registration fee shall not authorize the sale of legend drugs or controlled substances.

(3) The registration fees determined by the secretary under subsection (2) of this section shall not exceed the cost of registering the shopkeeper."
Any shopkeeper who shall vend or sell, or offer to sell to the public any such nonprescription drug or preparation without having registered to do so as provided in this section, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and each sale or offer to sell shall constitute a separate offense.

A shopkeeper who is not a licensed pharmacy may purchase ephedrine, pseudoephedrine, or phenylpropanolamine, or their salts, isomers, or salts of isomers, only from a wholesaler licensed by the department under RCW 18.64.046 or from a manufacturer licensed by the department under RCW 18.64.045. A person violating this subsection is guilty of a gross misdemeanor, and each purchase in violation of this subsection constitutes a separate offense.

No wholesaler who is not a licensed pharmacy may sell any quantity of ephedrine, pseudoephedrine, or phenylpropanolamine, or their salts, isomers, or salts of isomers, if the total monthly sales of these products exceed ten percent of the shopkeeper’s total prior monthly sales of nonprescription drugs in March through October. In November through February, no shopkeeper may sell any quantity of ephedrine, pseudoephedrine, or phenylpropanolamine, or their salts, isomers, or salts of isomers, if the total monthly sales of these products exceed twenty percent of the shopkeeper’s total prior monthly sales of nonprescription drugs. For purposes of this section, monthly sales means total dollars paid by buyers. The board may suspend or revoke the registration of a shopkeeper who violates this subsection.

No wholesaler may sell any quantity of drug products containing ephedrine, pseudoephedrine, phenylpropanolamine, or their salts, isomers, or salts of isomers, if the total monthly sales of these products at wholesale at the location specified for the period ending on a date to be determined by the secretary, and each such owner shall at the time of payment of such fee file with the department, a declaration of ownership and location, which declaration of ownership and location so filed as aforesaid shall be deemed presumptive evidence of the ownership of such place of business mentioned therein. It shall be the duty of the owner to notify immediately the department of any change of location and ownership and to keep the license of the location or the renewal thereof properly exhibited in such place of business.

Shopkeepers who are not licensed pharmacies shall maintain inventory records of the receipt and disposition of nonprescription drugs, utilizing existing inventory controls if an auditor or investigator can determine compliance with subsection (6) of this section, and otherwise in the form and manner required by the board. The records shall be available for inspection by the board or any law enforcement agency and shall be maintained for two years. The board may suspend or revoke the registration of a shopkeeper who violates this subsection. For purposes of this subsection, “disposition” means the return of product to the wholesaler or distributor.

For purposes of this section, monthly sales means total dollars paid by buyers. The board may suspend or revoke the license of any wholesaler that violates this section.

(5) The board may exempt a wholesaler from the limitations of subsection (4) of this section if it finds that the wholesaler distributes nonprescription drugs only through transactions between divisions, subsidiaries, or related companies when the wholesaler and the retailer are related by common ownership, and that neither the wholesaler nor the retailer has a history of suspicious transactions in precursor drugs as defined in RCW 69.43.035.

This registration shall not authorize the sale of legend drugs or controlled substances.
(4) An itinerant vendor may purchase ephedrine, pseudoephedrine, or phenylpropanolamine, or their salts, isomers, or salts of isomers only from a wholesaler licensed by the department under RCW 18.64.046 or from a manufacturer licensed by the department under RCW 18.64.045.
(5) No itinerant vendor may sell any quantity of ephedrine, pseudoephedrine, or phenylpropanolamine, or their salts, isomers, or salts of isomers, if the total monthly sales of these products exceed ten percent of the itinerant vendor’s total prior monthly sales of nonprescription drugs in March through October. (1) It is unlawful for a pharmacy licensed by, or shopkeeper or itinerant vendor registered with, the department of health under chapter 18.64 RCW, or an employee thereof, or a practitioner as defined in RCW 18.64.011, knowingly to sell, transfer, or to otherwise furnish, in a single transaction:

(3) It is unlawful for any person to sell or distribute any of the substances specified in subsection (1) of this section unless the person is licensed by or registered with the department of health under chapter 18.64 RCW, or is a practitioner as defined in RCW 18.64.011.

Sec. 6. RCW 69.43.035 and 2001 c 96 s 4 are each amended to read as follows:
(1) Any manufacturer or wholesaler who sells, transfers, or otherwise furnishes any substance specified in RCW 69.43.010(1) to any person in a suspicious transaction shall report the transaction in writing to the state board of pharmacy.
(2) Any person specified in subsection (1) of this section who does not submit a report as required by subsection (1) of this section is guilty of a gross misdemeanor.
(3) For the purposes of this section, "suspicious transaction" means a sale or transfer to which any of the following applies:
(a) The circumstances of the sale or transfer would lead a reasonable person to believe that the substance is likely to be used for the purpose of unlawfully manufacturing a controlled substance under chapter 69.50 RCW, based on such factors as the amount involved, the method of payment, the method of delivery, and any past dealings with any participant in the transaction. The state board of pharmacy shall adopt by rule criteria for determining whether a transaction is suspicious, taking into consideration the recommendations in appendix A of the report to the United States attorney general by the suspicious orders task force under the federal comprehensive methamphetamine control act of 1996.
(b) The transaction involves payment for any substance specified in RCW 69.43.010(1) in cash or money orders in a total amount of more than two hundred dollars.

(2) Pediatric liquid products primarily intended for administration to children under two years of age for which the recommended dosage does not exceed two milliliters and the total package content does not exceed one fluid ounce; ((or))

(3) Products that the state board of pharmacy, upon application of a manufacturer, exempts by rule from RCW 69.43.110 and 69.43.120 because the product has been formulated in such a way as to effectively prevent the conversion of the active ingredient into methamphetamine, or its salts or precursors; or

(4) Products, as packaged, that the board of pharmacy, upon application of a manufacturer, exempts from RCW 69.43.110(1)(b) and 69.43.120 because:

(b) The product is a salt, isomer, or salts of isomers of pseudoephedrine and, as packaged, has a total weight of more than three grams but the net weight of the pseudoephedrine base is equal to or less than three grams; and

(c) The board of pharmacy determines that the value to the people of the state of having the product, as packaged, available for sale to consumers outweighs the danger, and the product, as packaged, has not been used in the illegal manufacture of methamphetamine.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 8. If any provision of this act or its application to any person or circumstance is held invalid, the remainder of the act or the application of the provision to other persons or circumstances is not affected.

Representative Clibborn moved the adoption of amendment (828):

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

"NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. The legislature finds that recent increases in property and liability insurance premiums experienced by some nonprofit organizations have the potential to negatively impact the ability of these organizations to continue to offer the level of service they provide in our communities. The legislature finds that nonprofit organizations are distinct from private for-profit businesses. By their very nature, nonprofit organizations are formed for purposes other than generating a profit, and are restricted from distributing any part of the organization's income to its directors or officers. Because of these characteristics, nonprofit organizations provide a unique public good to the residents in our state. The legislature finds that in order to sustain the financial viability of nonprofit organizations, they should be provided with alternative options for insuring against risks. The legislature further finds that local government entities and nonprofit organizations share the common goal of providing services beneficial to the public interest. The legislature finds that allowing nonprofit organizations and local government entities to pool risk in self-insurance risk pools may be of mutual benefit for both types of entities. Therefore, it is the intent of the legislature to allow nonprofit organizations to form or participate in self-insurance risk pools with other nonprofit organizations or with local government entities where authority for such risk pooling arrangements does not currently exist in state or federal law.

Sec. 2. RCW 48.62.021 and 2002 c 332 s 24 are each amended to read as follows: Unless the context clearly requires otherwise, the definitions in this section apply throughout this chapter.

(1) "Local government entity" or "entity" means every unit of local government, both general purpose and special purpose, and includes, but is not limited to, counties, cities, towns, port districts, public utility districts, water-sewer districts, school districts, fire protection districts, irrigation districts, metropolitan municipal corporations, conservation districts, and other political subdivisions, governmental subdivisions, municipal corporations, and quasi-municipal corporations.

(2) "Risk assumption" means a decision to absorb the entity's financial exposure to a risk of loss without the creation of a formal program of advance funding of anticipated losses.

(3) "Self-insurance" means a formal program of advance funding and management of entity financial exposure to a risk of loss that is not transferred through the purchase of an insurance policy or contract.

(4) "Health and welfare benefits" means a plan or program established by a local government entity or entities for the purpose of providing its employees and their dependents, and in the case of school districts, its district employees, students, directors, or any of their dependents, with health care, accident, disability, death, and salary protection benefits.

(5) "Property and liability risks" includes the risk of property damage or loss sustained by a local government entity and the risk of claims arising from the tortious or negligent conduct or any error or omission of the local government entity, its officers, employees, agents, or volunteers as a result of which a claim may be made against the local government entity.

(6) "State risk manager" means the risk manager of the risk management division within the office of financial management.

(7) "Nonprofit corporation" or "corporation" has the same meaning as defined in RCW 24.03.005(3).

NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. A new section is added to chapter 48.62 RCW to read as follows:

(1) A nonprofit corporation may form or join a self-insurance risk pool with one or more nonprofit corporations or with a local government entity or entities for property and liability risks.

(2) A nonprofit corporation that participates in or forms a self-insurance risk pool with one or more nonprofit corporations or with a local government entity or entities, as provided in subsection (1) of this section, is subject to the same rules and regulations that apply to a local government entity or entities under this chapter.

(3) This section does not apply to a nonprofit corporation that:

(a) Individually self-insures for property and liability risks;
(b) Participates in a risk pooling arrangement, including a risk retention group or a risk purchasing group, regulated under chapter 48.92 RCW, or is a captive insurer authorized in its state of domicile; or
(c) Is a hospital licensed under chapter 70.41 RCW or an entity owned, operated, controlled by, or affiliated with such a hospital that participates in a self-insurance risk pool or other risk pooling arrangement, unless the self-insurance pool or other risk pooling arrangement for property and liability risks includes a local government entity.

On page 1, after line 13, insert: "(2) The board and department shall not purchase productive agriculture land in this state unless the land has been advertised for at least ninety days through a Washington state real estate brokerage firm."

POINT OF ORDER

Representative Hunt requested a scope and object ruling on amendment (867) to House Bill No. 3045.
SPEAKER'S RULING

Mr. Speaker (Representative Lovick presiding): "House Bill No. 3045 is entitled "AN ACT relating to public lands". The bill requires the exchange of the "Hats and Boots" parcel with other trust land of equal value, and requires that the "Hats and Boots" parcel be leased to the State Board for Community and Technical Colleges for $1 a year.

Amendment (867) places restrictions on the Department’s purchase of agricultural land.

While the title of the bill is broad, its purpose is limited solely to the exchange and lease rate of a specific parcel of land.

The amendment is unrelated to that parcel and is therefore beyond the scope and object of the bill.

Representative Hunt, your point is well taken."

"NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. The legislature finds that criminal history record information background checks for employment purposes are rapidly increasing in Washington state. While the demand for criminal history record information background checks is growing, the existing criminal history record information background check data transmission infrastructure and processes are not adequate to keep pace with the growing demand. Furthermore, employers are concerned with the current system's ability to quickly secure results. Without adequate data transmission infrastructure and processes to encourage efficient criminal history record information background checks and to receive results quickly, a public safety risk is created. This is especially true when new or prospective employees will be working with children.

The legislature has learned that some states have recently developed comprehensive criminal history record information background check programs. These programs focus on making criminal history record information background checks easily accessible to employers and prospective employees and have eliminated long response times.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. (1) A joint task force on criminal background check processes is established. The joint task force shall consist of the following members:

(a) Two members from each of the two largest caucuses of the senate, appointed by the president of the senate; at least one member from each caucus shall be a member of the senate children and family services and corrections committee;

(b) Two members from each of the two largest caucuses of the house of representatives, appointed by the speaker of the house of representatives; at least one member from each caucus shall be a member of the house criminal justice and corrections committee;

(c) The chief of the Washington state patrol, or the chief's designee;

(d) The secretary of the department of social and health services, or the secretary's designee;

(e) The state superintendent of public instruction, or the superintendent's designee;

(f) An elected sheriff or police chief, selected by the Washington association of sheriffs and police chiefs; and

(g) The following seven members, jointly appointed by the speaker of the house of representatives and the president of the senate:

(i) A representative from a nonprofit service organization that serves primarily children under sixteen years of age;

(ii) A health care provider as defined in RCW 7.70.020;
(iii) A representative from a business or organization that serves primarily developmentally disabled persons or vulnerable adults;
(iv) A representative from a local youth athletic association;
(v) A representative from the insurance industry; and
(vi) Two representatives from a local parks and recreation program; one member shall be selected by the association of Washington cities and one member shall be selected by the Washington association of counties.

(2) The task force shall choose two cochairs from among its membership.

(3) The task force shall review and make recommendations to the legislature and the governor regarding the criminal background check process. In preparing the recommendations, the committee shall, at a minimum, review the following issues:
(a) What state and federal statutes require regarding criminal background checks;
(b) What criminal offenses are currently reportable through the criminal background check program;
(c) What information is available through the Washington state patrol and the federal bureau of investigation criminal background check systems;
(d) What are the best practices among organizations for obtaining criminal background checks on their employees and volunteers;
(e) What is the feasibility and costs for businesses and organizations to do periodic background checks;
(f) What is the feasibility of requiring all businesses and organizations, including nonprofit entities, to conduct criminal background checks for all employees, contractors, agents, and volunteers who have regularly scheduled supervised or unsupervised access to children, developmentally disabled persons, or vulnerable adults; and
(g) A review of the benefits and obstacles of implementing a criminal history record information background check program created by the national child protection act of 1993. The national child protection act of 1993 increases the availability of criminal history record information background checks for employers who have employees or volunteers who work with children, elderly persons, or persons with disabilities.

(4) The task force, where feasible, may consult with individuals from the public and private sector.

(5) The task force shall use legislative facilities and staff from senate committee services and the house office of program research.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. (1) In consultation with the Washington state patrol, the Washington association of sheriffs and police chiefs shall conduct a study on criminal history record information background check technology and process. The study shall focus on how Washington state can reduce delays in the criminal history record information background check processing time and how Washington state can make criminal history record information background checks more accessible and efficient.
(2) The study shall include, but is not limited to:
(a) A review and analysis of the criminal history record information background check programs in states that have recently implemented or are soon to implement comprehensive criminal history record information background check programs;
(b) Recommendations on how a comprehensive criminal history record information background check program should be designed in Washington state, and how much a comprehensive program would cost to implement in Washington state;
(c) A review of how a comprehensive criminal history record information background check program could be paid for in Washington state, which includes a determination on whether the program could be funded solely by user fees.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4. (1) The findings and recommendations from the Washington association of sheriffs and police chiefs shall be presented to the joint task force no later than November 30, 2004.
(2) The joint task force on criminal background check processes shall report its findings and recommendations to the legislature by December 31, 2004.

POINT OF ORDER

Representative Hunt requested a scope and object ruling on amendment (859) to House Bill No. 2511.

SPEAKER'S RULING

Mr. Speaker (Representative Lovick presiding): "House Bill No. 2511 is entitled an act relating to 'clarifying motor vehicle safety belt requirements by replacing references to the federal code.' The bill clarifies which vehicles are subject to motor vehicle safety belt requirements by replacing references to the federal safety standard with vehicle model years.

Amendment (859) eliminates primary enforcement of most seat belt law violations. It is unrelated to clarifying application of the law by replacing references to the vehicles subject to motor vehicle safety belt requirements.

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

"Sec. 1. RCW 70.38.105 and 1996 c 50 s 1 are each amended to read as follows:
(1) The department is authorized and directed to implement the certificate of need program in this state pursuant to the provisions of this chapter."
(2) There shall be a state certificate of need program which is administered consistent with the requirements of federal law as necessary to the receipt of federal funds by the state.

(3) No person shall engage in any undertaking which is subject to certificate of need review under subsection (4) of this section without first having received from the department either a certificate of need or an exception granted in accordance with this chapter.

(4) The following shall be subject to certificate of need review under this chapter:

(a) The construction, development, or other establishment of a new health care facility;

(b) The sale, purchase, or lease of part or all of any existing hospital as defined in RCW 70.38.025;

(c) Any capital expenditure for the construction, renovation, or alteration of a nursing home which substantially changes the services of the facility after January 1, 1981, provided that the substantial changes in services are specified by the department in rule;

(d) Any capital expenditure for the construction, renovation, or alteration of a nursing home which exceeds the expenditure minimum as defined by RCW 70.38.025. However, a capital expenditure which is not subject to certificate of need review under (a), (b), (c), or (e) of this subsection and which is solely for any one or more of the following is not subject to certificate of need review:

(i) Communications and parking facilities;

(ii) Mechanical, electrical, ventilation, heating, and air conditioning systems;

(iii) Energy conservation systems;

(iv) Repairs to, or the correction of, deficiencies in existing physical plant facilities which are necessary to maintain state licensure, however, other additional repairs, remodeling, or replacement projects that are not related to one or more deficiency citations and are not necessary to maintain state licensure are not exempt from certificate of need review except as otherwise permitted by (d)(vi) of this subsection or RCW 70.38.115(13);

(v) Acquisition of equipment, including data processing equipment, which is not or will not be used in the direct provision of health services;

(vi) Construction or renovation at an existing nursing home which involves physical plant facilities, including administrative, dining areas, kitchen, laundry, therapy areas, and support facilities, by an existing licensee who has operated the beds for at least one year;

(vii) Acquisition of land; and

(viii) Refinancing of existing debt;

(e) A change in bed capacity of a health care facility which increases the total number of licensed beds or redistributes beds among acute care, nursing home care, and boarding home care if the bed redistribution is to be effective for a period in excess of six months, or a change in bed capacity of a rural health care facility licensed under RCW 70.175.100 that increases the total number of nursing home beds or redistributes beds from acute care or boarding home care to nursing home care if the bed redistribution is to be effective for a period in excess of six months. A health care facility certified as a critical access hospital under 42 U.S.C. 1395i-4 may increase its total number of licensed beds to the total number of beds permitted under 42 U.S.C. 1395i-4 for acute care and may redistribute beds permitted under 42 U.S.C. 1395i-4 among acute care and nursing home care without being subject to certificate of need review. If there is a nursing home licensed under chapter 18.51 RCW within twenty-seven miles of the critical access hospital, the critical access hospital is subject to certificate of need review except for:

(i) Critical access hospitals which had designated beds to provide nursing home care, in excess of five swing beds, prior to December 31, 2003; or

(ii) Up to five swing beds.

Critical access hospital beds not subject to certificate of need review under this subsection (4)(e) will not be counted as either acute care or nursing home care for certificate of need review purposes. If a health care facility ceases to be certified as a critical access hospital under 42 U.S.C. 1395i-4, the hospital may revert back to the type and number of licensed hospital beds as it had when it requested critical access hospital designation.

(f) Any new tertiary health services which are offered in or through a health care facility or rural health care facility licensed under RCW 70.175.100, and which were not offered on a regular basis by, in, or through such health care facility or rural health care facility within the twelve-month period prior to the time such services would be offered;

(g) Any expenditure for the construction, renovation, or alteration of a nursing home or change in nursing home services in excess of the expenditure minimum made in preparation for any undertaking under subsection (4) of this section and any arrangement or commitment made for financing such undertaking. Expenditures of preparation shall include expenditures for architectural designs, plans, working drawings, and specifications. The department may issue certificates of need permitting predevelopment expenditures, only, without authorizing any subsequent undertaking with respect to which such predevelopment expenditures are made; and

(h) Any increase in the number of dialysis stations in a kidney disease center.

(5) The department is authorized to charge fees for the review of certificate of need applications and requests for exemptions from certificate of need review. The fees shall be sufficient to cover the full cost of review and exemption, which may include the development of standards, criteria, and policies.

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

"NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. Although manufacturing has long been subject to the ups and downs of regular market cycles, the increasing pace of globalization and the ability of the world’s new manufacturing floor to export deflation has caused United States manufacturers to lose all pricing power. Despite the development of good cost control practices such as lean manufacturing, domestic manufacturers cannot compete on price alone.

As our economy continues to evolve through changes to our existing manufacturing base, our manufacturers need assistance to continue to provide high quality products at a low cost. In order to make a radical change to an innovation focus, there must be a public and private partnership.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. A new section is added to chapter 43.31 RCW to read as follows:

(1) Provided the conditions in subsections (2) and (3) of this section are met, a center for advanced manufacturing may be created to provide the necessary resources for the state’s manufacturing industry.

(2) A feasibility study and economic analysis for the creation of a center for advanced manufacturing must be conducted by a qualified organization chosen by the department of community, trade and economic development and should include, but is not limited to, a center for advanced manufacturing that offers:

(a) A research institution to transfer technology for commercial applications in small and mid-market manufacturers;

(b) A clearinghouse and national research library that locates best practices information, disseminates national research, and provides a publicly accessible research library; and

(c) On-going training, and curriculum and courses to develop a skilled work force, with a focus on quality efficiency practices.

(3) The feasibility study and economic analysis must be delivered to the appropriate committees of the legislature by December 31, 2005.

(4) For the purposes of this section, a qualified organization must be:
(a)(i) Designated as a nonprofit organization under section 501(c)(3) of the internal revenue code, or (ii) a partnership between a designated nonprofit organization under section 501(c)(3) of the internal revenue code and a government or quasi-government agency; and

(b) Focused on developing or supporting small, medium, and large manufacturing businesses;

(c) Structured around a sound business plan;

(d) Able to demonstrate that it has the resources to complete the feasibility study and economic analysis in a timely manner and the state is not the sole source of funding for the feasibility study and economic analysis; and

(e) Compliant with the standards developed by the department of community, trade and economic development and included in the application.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. If specific funding for the purposes of this act, referencing this act by bill or chapter number, is not provided by June 30, 2004, in the omnibus appropriations act, this act is null and void."

(1) The county treasurer shall be the receiver and collector of all taxes extended upon the tax rolls of the county, whether levied for state, county, school, bridge, road, municipal or other purposes, and also of all fines, forfeitures or penalties received by any person or officer for the use of his or her county. All taxes upon real and personal property made payable by the provisions of this title shall be due and payable to the treasurer on or before the thirtieth day of April and, except as provided in this section, shall be delinquent after that date.

(7) For purposes of this chapter, "interest" means both interest and penalties.

(8) All collections of interest on delinquent taxes shall be credited to the county current expense fund; but the cost of foreclosure and sale of real property, and the fees and costs of distraint and sale of personal property, for delinquent taxes, shall, when collected, be credited to the operation and maintenance fund of the county treasurer prosecuting the foreclosure or distraint or sale; and shall be used by the county treasurer as a revolving fund to defray the cost of further foreclosure, distraint and sale for delinquent taxes without regard to budget limitations.

On page 1, beginning on line 6, strike all of section 1 and insert the following:

“Sec. 2. RCW 74.39A.270 and 2002 c 3 s 6 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) Solely for the purposes of collective bargaining and as expressly limited under subsections (2) and (3) of this section, the authority is the public employer, as defined in chapter 41.56 RCW, of individual providers, who, solely for the purposes of collective bargaining, are public employees, as defined in chapter 41.56 RCW, of the authority. To accommodate the role of the state as payor for the community-based services provided under this chapter and to ensure the coordination necessary to implement RCW 74.39A.300(1) and (2), bargaining under this section shall be conducted by the governor’s designee appointed under chapter 41.80 RCW. The governor’s designee shall consult with the authority before any agreement is reached under this section.

(2) Chapter 41.56 RCW governs the employment collective bargaining relationship between the authority and individual providers, except as otherwise expressly provided in chapter 3, Laws of 2002 and except as follows:

(a) The only unit appropriate for the purpose of collective bargaining under RCW 41.56.060 is a statewide unit of all individual providers;

(b) The showing of interest required to request an election under RCW 41.56.060 is ten percent of the unit, and any intervener seeking to appear on the ballot must make the same showing of interest;

(c) The mediation and interest arbitration provisions of RCW 41.56.430 through 41.56.470 and 41.56.480 apply, except that:

(i) Negotiations shall be commenced by May 1 of any year prior to the year in which an existing collective bargaining agreement expires;

(ii) With respect to factors to be taken into consideration by an interest arbitration panel, the panel shall consider the financial ability of the state to pay for the compensation and fringe benefit provisions of a collective bargaining agreement; and

(iii) The decision of the arbitration panel is not binding on the legislature and, if the legislature does not approve the request for funds necessary to implement the compensation and fringe benefit provisions of the arbitrated collective bargaining agreement, is not binding on the authority or the state;

(d) Individual providers do not have the right to strike; and
(e) Individual providers who are related to, or family members of, consumers or prospective consumers are not, for that reason, exempt from chapter 3, Laws of 2002 or chapter 41.56 RCW.

(3) Individual providers who are public employees ((of the authority)) solely for the purposes of collective bargaining under subsection (1) of this section are not, for that reason, employees of the state, its political subdivisions, or an area agency on aging for any purpose. Chapter 41.56 RCW applies only to the governance of the collective bargaining relationship between the authority and individual providers as provided in subsections (1) and (2) of this section.

(4) Consumers and prospective consumers retain the right to select, hire, supervise the work of, and terminate any individual provider providing services to them. Consumers may elect to receive long-term in-home care services from individual providers who are not referred to them by the authority.

(5) In implementing and administering chapter 3, Laws of 2002, neither the authority nor any of its contractors may reduce or increase the hours of service for any consumer below or above the amount determined to be necessary under any assessment prepared by the department or an area agency on aging.

(6) Except as expressly limited in this section and RCW 74.39A.300, the wages, hours, and working conditions of individual providers are determined solely through collective bargaining as provided in this section. No agency or department of the state, other than the authority, may establish policies or rules governing the wages or hours of individual providers. However, to recognize the obligation of the department to comply with Title XIX of the federal social security act and with the terms and conditions of any community-based waiver granted by the federal department of health and human services, including those related to client safety and quality of care, and to ensure federal financial participation in the provision of these services, the department retains authority to:

(a) Establish a plan of care for each consumer and to determine the hours of care that each consumer is eligible to receive;

(b) Terminate its contracts with individual providers who are not adequately meeting the needs of a particular consumer; and

(c) Deny a contract under RCW 74.39A.095(8).

(7)(a) The authority, the area agencies on aging, or their contractors under chapter 3, Laws of 2002 may not be held vicariously liable for the action or inaction of any individual provider or prospective individual provider, whether or not that individual provider or prospective individual provider was included on the authority’s referral registry or referred to a consumer or prospective consumer.

(b) The members of the board are immune from any liability resulting from implementation of chapter 3, Laws of 2002.

((7)(8)) (8) Nothing in this section affects the state’s responsibility with respect to the state payroll system or unemployment insurance for individual providers. However, individual providers are not to be considered, as a result of the state assuming this responsibility, employees of the state."

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

"NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. Washington has a rich variety of birds, wildlife and fish that its citizens and visitors enjoy. With over three hundred sixty-five bird species, Washington can use this natural asset to attract nature tourists and sportsmen from all over the country and the world. According to a United States fish and wildlife service report, thirty-six percent of Washington's residents currently participate in bird watching, and the watchable wildlife industry brings nearly one billion dollars per year into the state's economy. The economic benefits delivered to rural economies in Washington by those choosing to recreate by hunting waterfowl or upland game birds is equally as impressive.

The legislature has long recognized the important role of waterfowl and upland game bird hunting and other sporting pursuits in both the state's economy and the quality of life for Washington residents. Additionally, the 2003 legislature recognized the economic value of promoting watchable wildlife and nature tourism when it required the departments of fish and wildlife and community, trade, and economic development to host a watchable wildlife and nature tourism conference and write a statewide strategic plan. The 2002 legislature recognized the value of identifying and conserving our state's biodiversity for future generations when it created the biodiversity task force and required a plan be developed to recommend ways to conserve biodiversity. Furthermore, over the past fifteen years, the legislature has recognized the important contributions volunteers and nonprofit organizations have made in restoring and monitoring salmon and wildlife habitat. Therefore, it is the goal of the legislature to promote: Partnerships with volunteers; rural economic development; nature tourism; and conservation of biodiversity by encouraging partnerships between state government agencies, volunteers, and nonprofit organizations to designate and conserve natural assets that attract nature tourists and bird watchers to Washington's rural areas.

To accomplish this goal, the legislature recognizes the scientific work by volunteer organizations to use internationally recognized scientific criteria and protocols to identify, conserve, and monitor areas of the state that are important for migrating and resident birds. Scientists, ornithologists, and qualified volunteers have identified important bird areas. Wildlife conservation organizations and their volunteers are working to develop mutually agreed-upon bird conservation plans and monitoring plans in cooperation with public land managers and private landowners. Volunteers and scientists in more than one hundred countries around the world have already completed identification of fourteen thousand two hundred sixty sites that qualify as important bird areas."
Qualified volunteers and scientists have already successfully used the international criteria to identify fifty-three sites important for birds in Washington. Following the final round of site selection, volunteer organizations plan to work with landowners, businesses, and local and state governments to develop plans to maintain or enhance sites that will then become destinations for nature tourists to promote rural economic development. Therefore, it is the intent of the legislature to have Washington participate in the recognition portion of the important bird area program by directing the natural heritage program at the department of natural resources to officially recognize important bird areas.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. A new section is added to chapter 79.70 RCW to read as follows:

(1) The program may use information collected by a qualifying nonprofit organization to recognize important bird areas. The program should, to the greatest extent possible, coordinate with and use internationally agreed-upon, scientific criteria and protocols developed by a qualifying nonprofit organization to officially recognize these sites throughout Washington. Prior to using information collected by a qualifying nonprofit organization, the program must verify that the information was collected by individuals trained in scientific data collection, wildlife biology, or ornithology.

(2) When the program recognizes an important bird area, that information will be included in the program’s data bank. An important bird area shall not be designated as a natural area or a natural area preserve unless that area satisfies the substantive and procedural requirements for becoming a natural area or natural area preserve under this chapter.

(3) The qualifying nonprofit organization that collected the information used to recognize important bird areas should be available to work with interested landowners, businesses, and state and local governments to identify ways to maintain or enhance the important bird areas.

(4) The recognition of private property as an important bird area under this chapter, or the inclusion of private property in the program’s data bank, does not confer nor imply any rights of access or trespass onto the important bird area without full knowledge and consent of the owner pursuant to any state statutory and common laws dealing with trespass and access to private property.

(5) Recognition of an important bird area does not require nor preclude critical area designation under chapter 36.70A RCW.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. A new section is added to chapter 79.70 RCW to read as follows:

Prior to recognizing an important bird area under this chapter, the department must:

(1) Publish notice of the proposed important bird area in the Washington state register; and

(2) Conduct at least one public hearing in the county where the proposed important bird area is located; and

(3) The program may use information collected by a qualifying nonprofit organization to recognize important bird areas.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4. RCW 79.70.020 and 2003 c 334 s 548 are each amended to read as follows:

The definitions in this section apply throughout this chapter unless the context clearly requires otherwise.

(1) "Department" means the department of natural resources.

(2) "Natural areas" and "natural area preserves" include such public or private areas of land or water which have retained their natural character, although not necessarily completely natural and undisturbed, or which are important in preserving rare or vanishing flora, fauna, geological, natural historical or similar features of scientific or educational value and which are acquired or voluntarily registered or dedicated by the owner under this chapter.

(7) "Instrument of dedication" means any written document intended to convey an interest in real property pursuant to chapter 64.04 RCW.

Representative Romero moved adoption of amendment (876):

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

"NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. The people of the state of Washington deserve decent, safe, and sanitary housing. Certain tenants in the state of Washington have remained in rental housing that does not meet the state’s minimum standards for health and safety because they cannot afford to pay the costs of relocation in advance of occupying new, safe, and habitable housing. In egregious cases, authorities have been forced to condemn property when landlords have failed to remedy building code or health code violations after repeated notice, and, as a result, families with limited financial resources have been displaced and left with nowhere to go.

The purpose of this act is to establish a process, consistent throughout the state, by which low-income tenants would receive funds for relocation from landlords who fail to provide safe and sanitary housing after due notice of building code or health code violations. It is also the purpose of this act to provide enforcement mechanisms to cities, towns, counties, or municipal corporations including the ability to advance relocation funds to tenants who are displaced as a result of a landlord’s failure to remedy building code or health code violations and later to collect the full amounts of these relocation funds, along with interest and penalties, from landlords.

Sec. 2. RCW 59.18.085 and 1989 c 342 s 13 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) If a governmental agency responsible for the enforcement of a building, housing, or other appropriate code has notified the landlord that a dwelling is condemned or unlawful to occupy due to the existence of conditions that violate applicable codes, statutes, ordinances, or regulations, a landlord shall not enter into a rental agreement for the dwelling unit until the conditions are corrected.

(2) If a landlord knowingly violates subsection (1) of this section, the tenant shall recover either three months’ periodic rent or up to treble the actual damages sustained as a result of the violation, whichever is greater, costs of suit, or arbitration and reasonable attorneys’ fees. If the tenant elects to terminate the tenancy as a result of the conditions leading to the posting, or if the appropriate governmental agency requires that the tenant vacate the premises, the tenant also shall recover:

(a) The entire amount of any deposit prepaid by the tenant; and
(b) All prepaid rent.

(3) If a governmental agency responsible for the enforcement of a building, housing, or other appropriate code has notified the landlord that a dwelling will be condemned or will be unlawful to occupy due to the existence of conditions that violate applicable codes, statutes, ordinances, or regulations, a landlord shall be required to pay relocation assistance to the displaced low-income tenants, except that a landlord shall not be required to pay relocation assistance to any displaced tenant in a case in which the condemnation or no occupancy order affects one or more units and results from conditions arising from a tenant’s illegal conduct without the landlord’s knowledge.

(a) Relocation assistance provided to low-income tenants under this subsection shall be the greater amount of two thousand dollars per dwelling unit or three times the monthly rent. The amount of relocation assistance shall be adjusted annually by the percentage change in the housing component of the consumer price index as published by the United States department of labor, bureau of labor statistics. In addition to relocation assistance, the landlord shall be required to pay to the displaced tenants the entire amount of any deposit prepaid by the tenant and all prepaid rent.

(b) "Low-income tenants" means tenants whose combined total income per dwelling unit is at or below fifty percent of the median income, adjusted for family size, in the county where the tenants reside.

The department of community, trade, and economic development shall adopt rules defining county median income in accordance with the definitions promulgated by the federal department of housing and urban development.

(c) The landlord shall pay relocation assistance to eligible tenants within seven days of the governmental agency sending notice of the condemnation, eviction, or displacement order to the landlord. The landlord shall pay relocation assistance either by making individual payments by certified check to eligible tenants or by providing a certified check to the governmental agency ordering condemnation, eviction, or displacement, for distribution to tenants. If the landlord fails to complete payment of relocation assistance within the period required under this subsection, the city, town, county, or municipal corporation may advance the cost of the relocation assistance payments to the eligible tenants.

(d) During the period from the date that a governmental agency responsible for the enforcement of a building, housing, or other appropriate code first notifies the landlord of conditions that violate applicable codes, statutes, ordinances, or regulations to the time that relocation assistance payments are paid to eligible tenants, or the conditions leading to the notification are corrected, the landlord may not:

(i) Evict, harass, or intimidate tenants into vacating their units for the purpose of avoiding or diminishing application of this section;
(ii) Reduce services to any tenant; or
(iii) Materia[lly increase or change the obligations of any tenant.

(e) If, after thirty days from the date that the city, town, county, or municipal corporation first advanced relocation assistance funds to the displaced tenants, a landlord has failed to repay the amount of relocation assistance advanced by the city, town, county, or municipal corporation under this section, then the city, town, county, or municipal corporation shall assess civil penalties in the amount of fifty dollars per day for each tenant to whom the city, town, county, or municipal corporation has advanced a relocation assistance payment.

(f) In addition to the penalties set forth in (e) of this subsection, interest will accrue on the amount of relocation assistance paid by the city, town, county, or municipal corporation for which the property owner has not reimbursed the city, town, county, or municipal corporation. The rate of interest shall be the maximum legal rate of interest permitted under RCW 19.52.020, commencing thirty days after the date that the city first advanced relocation assistance funds to the displaced tenants.

(g) If the city, town, county, or municipal corporation must initiate legal action in order to recover the amount of relocation assistance payments that it has advanced to low-income tenants, including any interest and penalties under (e) and (f) of this subsection, the city, town, county, or municipal corporation shall be entitled to attorneys’ fees and costs arising from its legal action.

(4) The government agency that has notified the landlord that a dwelling will be condemned or will be unlawful to occupy shall notify the displaced tenants that they may be entitled to relocation assistance under this section.

Sec. 3. RCW 35.80.030 and 1989 c 133 s 3 are each amended to read as follows:

(h) That the amount of the cost of such repairs, alterations or improvements; or vacating and closing; or removal or demolition by the board or officer, shall be assessed against the real property upon which such cost was incurred unless such amount is previously paid. For purposes of this subsection, the cost of the removal or demolition and if there be any balance remaining, it shall be paid to the parties entitled thereto, as determined by the board or officer, after deducting the costs incident thereto.

In all such proceedings the court is authorized to affirm, reverse, or modify the order and such trial shall be heard de novo.

(3) An ordinance adopted by the local governing body of the municipality may authorize the board or officer to exercise such powers as may be necessary or convenient to carry out and effectuate the purposes and provisions of this section. These powers shall include the following in addition to others (herein) granted in this section: (a)(i) To determine which dwellings within the municipality are unfit for human habitation; (ii) to determine which buildings, structures, or premises are unfit for other use; (b) to administer oaths and affirmations, examine witnesses, and receive evidence; and (c) to investigate the dwelling and other property conditions in the municipality or county and to enter upon premises for the purpose of making examinations when the board or officer has reasonable ground for believing they are unfit for human habitation, or for other use: PROVIDED, That such entries shall be made in such manner as to cause the least possible inconvenience to the persons in possession, and to obtain an order for this purpose after submitting evidence in support of an application which is adequate to justify such an order from a court of competent jurisdiction in the event entry is denied or resisted.

(4) The local governing body of any municipality adopting an ordinance pursuant to this chapter may appropriate the necessary funds to administer such ordinance.
(5) (Nothing in) This section ((shall be construed to)) does not abrogate or impair the powers of the courts or of any department of any municipality to enforce any provisions of its charter or its ordinances or regulations, nor to prevent or punish violations thereof; and the powers conferred by this section shall be in addition and supplemental to the powers conferred by any other law.

(6) (Nothing in) This section ((shall be construed to)) does not impair or limit in any way the power of the municipality to define and declare nuisances and to cause their removal or abatement, by summary proceedings or otherwise.

During the fiscal biennium ending June 30, 2001, the remaining amount reappropriated from the fiscal biennium ending June 30, 1999, may be allocated for matching grants for riparian zone habitat protection projects that implement watershed plans under the program established in section 329(6), chapter 235, Laws of 1997) restoration and enhancement projects on state lands. Only the department of natural resources and the department of fish and wildlife may apply for these funds to be used on existing habitat and natural area lands.

(2) In distributing these funds, the committee retains discretion to meet the most pressing needs for critical habitat, natural areas, and urban wildlife habitat, and is not required to meet the percentages described in subsection (1) of this section in any one biennium.

(3) Only state agencies may apply for acquisition and development funds for (critical habitat and) natural areas projects under subsection (1)((a)) (b) ((c)) ((and (d)) of this section.

(4) State and local agencies may apply for acquisition and development funds for critical habitat and urban wildlife habitat projects under subsection (1)(a), and (c) ((and (d)) of this section.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 5. A new section is added to chapter 79A.15 RCW to read as follows:

(1) The riparian protection account is established in the state treasury. The committee must administer the account in accordance with chapter 79A.25 RCW and this chapter, and hold it separate and apart from all other money, funds, and accounts of the committee.

(2) Moneys appropriated for this chapter to the riparian protection account must be distributed for the acquisition and enhancement or restoration of riparian habitat. All enhancement or restoration projects, except those qualifying under subsection (9)(a) of this section, must include the acquisition of a real property interest in order to be eligible. At least fifty percent of riparian protection account funds must be used for the acquisition of real property interests.

(3) State and local agencies and lead entities under chapter 77.85 RCW may apply for acquisition and enhancement or restoration funds for riparian habitat projects under subsection (1) of this section. Other state agencies not defined in RCW 79A.15.010, such as the department of transportation and the department of corrections, may enter into interagency agreements with state agencies to apply in partnership for funds under this section.

(4) The committee may adopt rules establishing acquisition policies and priorities for distributions from the riparian protection account.

(5) Except as provided in RCW 79A.15.030(7), moneys appropriated for this section may not be used by the committee to fund staff positions or other overhead expenses, or by a state, regional, or local agency to fund operation or maintenance of areas acquired under this chapter.

(6) Moneys appropriated for this section may be used by grant recipients for costs incidental to restoration and acquisition, including, but not limited to, surveying expenses, fencing, and signing.

(7) The committee may not approve a local project where the local agency share is less than the amount to be awarded from the riparian protection account. In-kind contributions, including contributions of a real property interest in land may be used to satisfy the local agency’s share.

(8) State agencies receiving grants for acquisition of land under this section must pay an amount in lieu of real property taxes equal to the amount of tax that would be due if the land were taxable as open space land under chapter 84.34 RCW, plus an additional amount for control of noxious weeds equal to that which would be paid if such lands were privately owned. The county assessor and county legislative authority shall assist in determining the appropriate calculation of the amount of tax that would be due under chapter 84.34 RCW.

(9) In determining acquisition priorities with respect to the riparian protection account, the committee must consider, at a minimum, the following criteria:

a. Whether the project continues the conservation reserve enhancement program. Applications that extend the duration of leases of riparian areas that are currently enrolled in the conservation reserve enhancement program shall be highly considered in the process. Such applications are also eligible for an additional conservation lease of at least twenty-five years of duration.

b. Whether the projects are identified or recommended in a watershed planning process under chapter 247, Laws of 1998, salmon recovery planning under chapter 77.85 RCW, or other local plans, such as habitat conservation plans, and these must be highly considered in the process;

c. Whether there is community support for the project;

d. Whether there is an immediate threat to the site;

e. Whether the quality of the habitat is improved or, for projects including restoration or enhancement, the potential for restoring quality habitat including linkage of the site to other high quality habitat;

f. Whether the project is consistent with a local land use plan, or a regional or statewide recreational or resource plan. The projects that assist in the implementation of local shoreline master plans updated according to RCW 90.58.080 or local comprehensive plans updated according to RCW 36.70A.130 must be highly considered in the process; and

g. Whether the site has educational or scientific value.
(10) Before November 1st of each even-numbered year, the committee will recommend to the governor a prioritized list of projects to be funded under this section. The governor may remove projects from the list recommended by the committee and will submit this amended list in the capital budget request to the legislature. The list must include, but not be limited to, a description of each project and any particular match requirement.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 6. A new section is added to chapter 79A.15 RCW to read as follows:

1. The farmlands preservation account is established in the state treasury. The committee will administer the account in accordance with chapter 79A.25 RCW and this chapter, and hold it separate and apart from all other money, funds, and accounts of the committee. Moneys appropriated for this chapter to the farmlands preservation account must be distributed for the acquisition and preservation of farmlands in order to maintain the opportunity for agricultural activity upon these lands.

2. Moneys appropriated for this chapter to the farmlands preservation account must be distributed for the fee simple or less than fee simple acquisition of farmlands, and for the enhancement or restoration of ecological functions on those properties. In order for a farmland preservation grant to provide for an environmental enhancement or restoration project, the project must include the acquisition of a real property interest in perpetuity. If a city or county acquires a property through this program in fee simple, the city or county shall endeavor to secure preservation of the property through placing a conservation easement, or other form of deed restriction, on the property which dedicates the land to agricultural use and retains one or more property rights in perpetuity. Once an easement or other form of deed restriction is placed on the property, the city or county shall seek to sell the property, at fair market value, to a person or persons who will maintain the property in agricultural production. Any moneys from the sale of the property shall either be used to purchase interests in additional properties which meet the criteria in subsection (8) of this section, or to repay the grant from the state which was originally used to purchase the property.

3. Cities and counties may apply for acquisition and enhancement or restoration funds for farmland preservation projects within their jurisdictions under subsection (1) of this section.

4. The committee may adopt rules establishing acquisition and enhancement or restoration policies and priorities for distributions from the farmlands preservation account.

5. Except as provided in RCW 79A.15.030(7), moneys appropriated for this section may not be used by the committee to fund staff positions or other overhead expenses, or by a city or county to fund operation or maintenance of areas acquired under this chapter.

6. Moneys appropriated for this section may be used by grant recipients for costs incidental to restoration and acquisition, including, but not limited to, surveying expenses, fencing, and signing.

7. The committee may not approve a local project where the local agency’s share is less than the amount to be awarded from the farmlands preservation account. In-kind contributions, including contributions of a real property interest in land, may be used to satisfy the local agency’s share.

8. In determining the acquisition priorities, the committee must consider, at a minimum, the following criteria:

   a. Community support for the project;
   b. A recommendation as part of a limiting factors or critical pathways analysis, a watershed plan or habitat conservation plan, or a coordinated regionwide prioritization effort;
   c. The likelihood of the conversion of the site to nonagricultural or more highly developed usage;
   d. Consistency with a local land use plan, or a regional or statewide recreational or resource plan. The projects that assist in the implementation of local shoreline master plans updated according to RCW 90.58.080 or local comprehensive plans updated according to RCW 36.70A.130 must be highly considered in the process;
   e. Benefits to salmonids;
   f. Benefits to other fish and wildlife habitat;
   g. Integration with recovery efforts for endangered, threatened, or sensitive species;
   h. The viability of the site for continued agricultural production, including, but not limited to:
      i. Soil types;
      ii. On-site production and support facilities such as barns, irrigation systems, crop processing and storage facilities, wells, housing, livestock sheds, and other farming infrastructure;
      iii. Suitability for producing different types or varieties of crops;
      iv. Farm-to-market access;
      v. Water availability; and
      i. Other community values provided by the property when used as agricultural land, including, but not limited to:

     i. Viewshed;
     ii. Aquifer recharge;
     iii. Occasional or periodic collector for storm water runoff;
     iv. Agricultural sector job creation;
     v. Migratory bird habitat and forage area; and
     vi. Educational and curriculum potential.
(9) In allotting funds for environmental enhancement or restoration projects, the committee will require the projects to meet the following criteria:
(a) Enhancement or restoration projects must further the ecological functions of the farmlands;
(b) The projects, such as fencing, bridging watercourses, replanting native vegetation, replacing culverts, clearing of waterways, etc., must be less than fifty percent of the acquisition cost of the project including any in-kind contribution by any party;
(c) The projects should be based on accepted methods of achieving beneficial enhancement or restoration results; and
(d) The projects should enhance the viability of the preserved farmland to provide agricultural production while conforming to any legal requirements for habitat protection.
(10) Before November 1st of each even-numbered year, the committee will recommend to the governor a prioritized list of all projects to be funded under this section. The governor may remove projects from the list recommended by the committee and must submit this amended list in the capital budget request to the legislature. The list must include, but not be limited to, a description of each project and any particular match requirement.

(3) On or before December 31, 2001, the department shall adjust by rule under chapter 34.05 RCW, the forest land values contained in subsection (2) of this section in accordance with this subsection, and shall certify the adjusted values to the assessor who will use these values in preparing the assessment roll as of January 1, 2002. For the adjustment to be made on or before December 31, 2001, for use in the 2002 assessment year, the department shall:

(a) Divide the aggregate value of all timber harvested within the state between July 1, 1996, and June 30, 2001, by the aggregate harvest volume for the same period, as determined from the harvester excise tax returns filed with the department under RCW 84.33.074; and

(b) Divide the aggregate value of all timber harvested within the state between July 1, 1995, and June 30, 2000, by the aggregate harvest volume for the same period, as determined from the harvester excise tax returns filed with the department under RCW 84.33.074; and

(c) Adjust the forest land values contained in subsection (2) of this section by a percentage equal to one-half of the percentage change in the average values of harvested timber reflected by comparing the resultant values calculated under (a) and (b) of this subsection.

(4) For the adjustments to be made on or before December 31, 2002, and each succeeding year thereafter, the same procedure described in subsection (3) of this section shall be followed using harvester excise tax returns filed under RCW 84.33.074. However, this adjustment shall be made to the prior year’s adjusted value, and the five-year periods for calculating average harvested timber values shall be successively one year more recent.

(5) Land graded, assessed, and valued as forest land shall continue to be so graded, assessed, and valued until removal of designation by the assessor upon the occurrence of any of the following:

(a) Receipt of notice from the owner to remove the designation;

(b) Sale or transfer to an ownership making the land exempt from ad valorem taxation;

(c) Sale or transfer of all or a portion of the land to a new owner, unless the new owner has signed a notice of forest land designation continuance, except transfer to an owner who is an heir or devisee of a deceased owner, shall not, by itself, result in removal of designation. The signed notice of continuance shall be attached to the real estate excise tax affidavit provided for in RCW 82.45.150. The notice of continuance shall be on a form prepared by the department. If the notice of continuance is not signed by the new owner and attached to the real estate excise tax affidavit, all compensating taxes calculated under subsection (11) of this section shall become due and payable by the seller or transferor at time of sale. The auditor shall not accept an instrument of conveyance regarding designated forest land for filing or recording unless the new owner has signed the notice of continuance or the compensating tax has been paid, as evidenced by the real estate excise tax stamp affixed thereto by the treasurer. The seller, transferor, or new owner may appeal the new assessed valuation calculated under subsection (11) of this section to the county board of equalization in accordance with the provisions of RCW 84.40.038. Jurisdiction is hereby conferred on the county board of equalization to hear these appeals;

(d) Determination by the assessor, after giving the owner written notice and an opportunity to be heard, that:

(i) The land is no longer primarily devoted to and used for growing and harvesting timber. However, land shall not be removed from designation if a governmental agency, organization, or other recipient identified in subsection (13) or (14) of this section as exempt from the payment of compensating tax has manifested its intent in writing or by other official action to acquire a property interest in the designated forest land by means of a transaction that qualifies for an exemption under subsection (13) or (14) of this section. The governmental agency, organization, or recipient shall annually provide the assessor of the county in which the land is located reasonable evidence in writing of the intent to acquire the designated land as long as the intent continues or within sixty days of a request by the assessor. The assessor may not request this evidence more than once in a calendar year;

(ii) The owner has failed to comply with a final administrative or judicial order with respect to a violation of the restocking, forest management, fire protection, insect and disease control, and forest debris provisions of Title 76 RCW or any applicable rules under Title 76 RCW; or

(iii) Restocking has not occurred to the extent or within the time specified in the application for designation of such land.
(6) Land shall not be removed from designation if there is a governmental restriction that prohibits, in whole or in part, the owner from harvesting timber from the owner's designated forest land. If only a portion of the parcel is impacted by governmental restrictions of this nature, the restrictions cannot be used as a basis to remove the remainder of the forest land from designation under this chapter. For the purposes of this section, "governmental restrictions" includes: (a) Any law, regulation, rule, ordinance, program, or other action adopted or taken by a federal, state, county, city, or other governmental entity; or (b) the land's zoning or its presence within an urban growth area designated under RCW 36.70A.110.

(7) The assessor shall have the option of requiring an owner of forest land to file a timber management plan with the assessor upon the occurrence of one of the following:
   (a) An application for designation as forest land is submitted; or
   (b) Designated forest land is sold or transferred and a notice of continuance, described in subsection (5)(c) of this section, is signed.

(8) If land is removed from designation because of any of the circumstances listed in subsection (5)(a) through (c) of this section, the removal shall apply only to the land affected. If land is removed from designation because of subsection (5)(d) of this section, the removal shall apply only to the actual area of land that is no longer primarily devoted to the growing and harvesting of timber, without regard to any other land that may have been included in the application and approved for designation, as long as the remaining designated forest land meets the definition of forest land contained in RCW 84.33.035.

(9) Within thirty days after the removal of designation as forest land, the assessor shall notify the owner in writing, setting forth the reasons for the removal. The seller, transferor, or owner may appeal the removal to the county board of equalization in accordance with the provisions of RCW 84.40.038.

(10) Unless the removal is reversed on appeal a copy of the notice of removal with a notation of the action, if any, upon appeal, together with the legal description or assessor's parcel numbers for the land removed from designation shall, at the expense of the applicant, be filed by the assessor in the same manner as deeds are recorded and a notation of removal from designation shall immediately be made upon the assessment and tax rolls. The assessor shall revalue the land to be removed with reference to its true and fair value as of January 1st of the year of removal from designation. Both the assessed value before and after the removal of designation shall be listed. Taxes based on the value of the land as forest land shall be assessed and payable up until the date of removal and taxes based on the true and fair value of the land shall be assessed and payable from the date of removal from designation.

(11) Except as provided in subsection (5)(c), (13), or (14) of this section, a compensating tax shall be imposed on land removed from designation as forest land. The compensating tax shall be due and payable to the treasurer thirty days after the owner is notified of the amount of this tax. As soon as possible after the land is removed from designation, the assessor shall compute the amount of compensating tax and mail a notice to the owner of the amount of compensating tax owed and the date on which payment of this tax is due. The amount of compensating tax shall be equal to the difference between the amount of tax last levied on the land as designated forest land and an amount equal to the new assessed value of the land multiplied by the dollar rate of the last levy extended against the land, multiplied by a number, in no event greater than nine, equal to the number of years for which the land was designated as forest land, plus compensating taxes on the land at forest land values up until the date of removal and the prorated taxes on the land at true and fair value from the date of removal to the end of the current tax year.

(12) Compensating tax, together with applicable interest thereon, shall become a lien on the land which shall attach at the time the land is removed from designation as forest land and shall have priority to and shall be fully paid and satisfied before any recognizance, mortgage, judgment, debt, obligation, or responsibility to or with which the land may become charged or liable. The lien may be foreclosed upon expiration of the same period after delinquency and in the same manner provided by law for foreclosure of liens for delinquent real property taxes as provided in RCW 84.64.050. Any compensating tax unpaid on its due date shall thereupon become delinquent. From the date of delinquency until paid, interest shall be charged at the same rate applied by law to delinquent ad valorem property taxes.

(13) The compensating tax specified in subsection (11) of this section shall not be imposed if the removal of designation under subsection (5) of this section resulted solely from:
   (a) Transfer to a government entity in exchange for other forest land located within the state of Washington;
   (b) A taking through the exercise of the power of eminent domain, or sale or transfer to an entity having the power of eminent domain in anticipation of the exercise of such power;
   (c) A donation of fee title, development rights, or the right to harvest timber, to a government agency or organization qualified under RCW 84.34.210 and 64.04.130 for the purposes enumerated in those sections, or the sale or transfer of fee title to a governmental entity or a nonprofit nature conservancy corporation, as defined in RCW 64.04.130, exclusively for the protection and conservation of lands recommended for state natural area preserve purposes by the natural heritage council and natural heritage plan as defined in chapter 79.70 RCW or approved for state natural resources conservation area purposes as defined in chapter 79.71 RCW. At such time as the land is not used for the purposes enumerated, the compensating tax specified in subsection (11) of this section shall be imposed upon the current owner;
(d) The sale or transfer of fee title to the parks and recreation commission for park and recreation purposes;

(e) Official action by an agency of the state of Washington or by the county or city within which the land is located that disallows the present use of the land;

(g) The creation, sale, or transfer of a fee interest or a conservation easement for the riparian open space program under RCW 76.09.040;

(h) The sale or transfer of land within two years after the death of the owner of at least a fifty percent interest in the land if the land has been assessed and valued as classified forest land, designated as forest land under this chapter, or classified under chapter 84.34 RCW continuously since 1993. The date of death shown on a death certificate is the date used for the purposes of this subsection (13)(h); or

(i) The sale or transfer of land after the death of the owner of at least a fifty percent interest in the land if the land has been assessed and valued as classified forest land, designated as forest land under this chapter, or classified under chapter 84.34 RCW continuously since 1993 and the sale or transfer takes place after July 22, 2001, and on or before July 22, 2003, and the death of the owner occurred after January 1, 1991. The date of death shown on a death certificate is the date used for the purposes of this subsection (13)(i).

(14) In a county with a population of more than one million inhabitants, the compensating tax specified in subsection (11) of this section shall not be imposed if the removal of designation as forest land under subsection (5) of this section resulted solely from:

(a) An action described in subsection (13) of this section; or

(b) A transfer of a property interest to a government entity, or to a nonprofit historic preservation corporation or nonprofit nature conservancy corporation, as defined in RCW 64.04.130, to protect or enhance public resources, or to preserve, maintain, improve, restore, limit the future use of, or otherwise to conserve for public use or enjoyment, the property interest being transferred. At such time as the property interest is not used for the purposes enumerated, the compensating tax shall be imposed upon the current owner.

(2) Upon motion of a party, the court may waive the requirements of subsection (1) of this section and allow an expert who does not meet those requirements to testify at trial or execute a certificate of merit required under this chapter if the court finds that:

(a) Extensive efforts were made by the party to locate an expert who meets the criteria under subsection (1) of this section, but none was willing and available to testify; and
(b) The proposed expert is qualified to be an expert witness by virtue of the person’s training, experience, and knowledge.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. A new section is added to chapter 7.70 RCW to read as follows:
   An expert opinion provided in the course of an action against a health care provider under this chapter must be corroborated by admissible evidence, such as, but not limited to, treatment or practice protocols or guidelines developed by medical specialty organizations, objective academic research, clinical trials or studies, or widely accepted clinical practices.

The testimony that an expert witness may present at trial is limited in nature to the opinions disclosed to the court as part of the pretrial expert report. The legislature respectfully requests that the supreme court adopt rules to implement the provisions of this section.

   (2) The certificate of merit must be executed by a health care provider who meets the qualifications of an expert under section 8 of this act. If there is more than one defendant in the action, the person commencing the action must file a certificate of merit for each defendant.
   (3) The certificate of merit must contain a statement that the person executing the certificate of merit believes, based on the information known at the time of executing the certificate of merit, that there is a reasonable probability that the defendant’s conduct did not follow the accepted standard of care required to be exercised by the defendant.

(1) In all actions involving fault of more than one entity, the trier of fact shall determine the percentage of the total fault which is attributable to every entity which caused the claimant’s damages except entities immune from liability to the claimant under Title 51 RCW. The entities whose fault shall be determined include the claimant or person suffering personal injury or incurring property damage, defendants, third-party defendants, entities released by the claimant, entities with any other individual defense against the claimant, and entities immune from liability to the claimant, but shall not include those entities immune from liability to the claimant under Title 51 RCW. (2) In all actions for damages under chapter 7.70 RCW, the entities to whom fault may be attributed shall be limited to the claimants, defendants, and third-party defendants who are parties to the action, any entities released by the claimant, and entities immune from liability to the claimant.

(3) If a defendant is jointly and severally liable under one of the exceptions listed in subsections (1)(a) or (1)(b) of this section, such defendant’s rights to contribution against another jointly and severally liable defendant, and the effect of settlement by either such defendant, shall be determined under RCW 4.22.040, 4.22.050, and 4.22.060.

(b) Nothing in this section shall affect a cause of action arising from the tortious interference with contracts or business relations.

(c) Nothing in this section shall affect any cause of action arising from the manufacture or marketing of a fungible product in a generic form which contains no clearly identifiable shape, color, or marking.

Any party may present evidence to the trier of fact that the ((patient)) plaintiff has already been compensated for the injury complained of from any source except the assets of the ((patient, his)) plaintiff, the plaintiff’s representative, or ((his)) the plaintiff’s immediate family((insurance purchased with such assets)). In the event such evidence is admitted, the plaintiff may present evidence of an obligation to repay such compensation and evidence of any amount paid by the plaintiff, or his or her representative or immediate family, to secure the right to the compensation. "NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. It is the intent of the legislature by enacting sections 4 and 5 of this act that health care providers should remain personally liable for their own negligent or wrongful acts or omissions in connection with the provision of health care services, but that their vicarious liability for the negligent or wrongful acts or omissions of others should be curtailed. To that end, it is the intent of the legislature that Adamski v. Tacoma General Hospital, 20 Wn. App. 98, 579 P.2d 970 (1978), and its holding that hospitals may be held liable for a physician’s acts or omissions under so-called “apparent agency” or "ostensible agency" theories should be reversed, so that hospitals will not be liable for the act or omission of a health care provider granted hospital privileges unless the health care provider is an actual agent or employee of the hospital. It is further the intent of the legislature that, notwithstanding any generally applicable principle of vicarious liability to the contrary, individual health care professionals will not be liable for the negligent or wrongful acts of others, except those who were acting under their direct supervision and control.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4. A new section is added to chapter 7.70 RCW to read as follows: A public or private hospital shall be liable for an act or omission of a health care provider granted privileges to provide health care at the hospital only if the health care provider is an actual agent or employee of the hospital and the act or omission of the health care provider occurred while the health care provider was acting within the course and scope of the health care provider’s agency or employment with the hospital.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 5. A new section is added to chapter 7.70 RCW to read as follows: A person who is a health care provider under RCW 7.70.020 (1) or (2) shall not be personally liable for any act or omission of any other health care provider who was not the person's actual agent or employee or who was not acting under the person's direct supervision and control at the time of the act or omission."

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

"NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. The legislature finds that:
(1) The protection of the health and safety of the people of Washington state is a paramount responsibility entrusted to the state. One of the means for achieving such protection is through regulation of health professionals and effective discipline of those health care professionals who engage in unprofessional conduct. The vast majority of health professionals are dedicated to their profession, and provide quality services to those in their care. However, effective mechanisms are needed to ensure that the small minority of health professionals who engage in unprofessional conduct are reported and disciplined in a timely and effective manner.
(2) Jurisdiction for health professions disciplinary processes is divided between the secretary of health and fourteen independent boards and commissions. While the presence of a board or commission consisting of members of the profession that they regulate may add value to some steps of the disciplinary process, in other instances their involvement may be unnecessary, or even an impediment, to safeguarding the public’s health and safety. It is in the interests of both public health and safety and credentialed health care professionals that the health professions disciplinary system operate effectively and appropriately.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. (1) The task force on improvement of health professions discipline is established. The governor must appoint its members, and shall include:
(a) A representative of a medicare contracted professional review organization in Washington state;
(b) One or more representatives of the University of Washington school of health sciences or school of public health with expertise in health professions regulation;
(c) A representative of the foundation for health care quality;
(d) Two representatives of health care professionals, including one physician, neither of whom currently serve, or have served in the past, on a health professions disciplinary board or commission;
(e) A representative of hospital-based continuous quality improvement programs under RCW 70.41.200;
(f) A representative of a hospital peer review committee;
(g) The secretary of the department of health;"
(h) A representative of the superior court judges association;
(i) A representative of the Washington state bar association who is an attorney with expertise in defending health professionals in health professions disciplinary proceedings in Washington;
(j) A representative of health care consumers, who does not currently serve and has not in the past served, on a health professions disciplinary board or commission;
(k) The attorney general or his or her designee; and
(l) A current or former public member of a disciplining authority included in chapter 18.130 RCW.

(2) The task force shall conduct an independent review of the funding of the health professions and all phases of the current health professions disciplinary process, from report intake through final case closure, and shall, at a minimum, examine and address the following issues:
(a) The ability of the disciplining authorities identified in RCW 18.130.040 to effectively safeguard the public from potentially harmful health care practitioners while also ensuring the due process rights of credentialed health care practitioners;
(b) The feasibility of developing a uniform performance measurement system for health professions discipline;
(c) Whether there are components to the current health professions discipline system that serve as impediments to improving the quality of health professions discipline, including consideration of:
   (i) The value of boards and commissions in the health professions disciplinary process; and
   (ii) The respective roles of the secretary and boards and commissions in health professions disciplinary functions;
(d) The feasibility of allowing law enforcement agencies to share information from criminal investigations of credentialed health care providers regardless of whether the provider was not ultimately convicted;
(e) The extent to which investigation, charging, and sanctioning decisions are consistently applied across and within each of the disciplining authorities;
(f) The merits of limiting the public disclosure of certain information related to the health professions disciplinary process including complaint closure without investigation, complaint closure after investigation, and findings after adjudication of no violation of the uniform disciplinary act;
(g) The extent to which sanctions deviate from advisory guidelines regarding sanctions and the circumstances behind those deviations; and
(h) Alternative fee structures for health care professionals to simplify funding and the use of those funds across all health care professions.

(3) The task force may establish technical advisory committees to assist in its efforts, and shall provide opportunities for interested parties to comment upon the task force’s findings and recommendations prior to being finalized.

(4) Staff support to the task force shall be provided by the department of health and the office of financial management.

(5) The task force shall submit its report and recommendations for improvement of health professions discipline to the relevant committees of the legislature and the governor by October 1, 2005.

(6) Nothing in this act limits the secretary of health’s authority to modify the internal processes or organizational framework of the department.

(7) Members of the task force shall be reimbursed for travel expenses as provided in RCW 43.03.050 and 43.03.060.

Sec. 3. RCW 4.24.260 and 1994 sp.s. c 9 s 701 are each amended to read as follows:
(Physicians licensed under chapter 18.71 RCW, dentists licensed under chapter 18.32 RCW, and pharmacists licensed under chapter 18.64 RCW.) Any member of a health profession listed under RCW 18.130.040 who, in good faith, makes a report, files charges, or presents evidence against another member of ((their)) a health profession based on the claimed ((incompetency or gross misconduct)) unprofessional conduct as provided in RCW 18.130.180 or inability to practice with reasonable skill and safety to consumers by reason of any physical or mental condition as provided in RCW 18.130.170 of such person before the ((medical quality assurance commission established under chapter 18.71 RCW, in a proceeding under chapter 18.32 RCW, or to the board of pharmacy under RCW 18.64.160)) agency, board, or commission responsible for disciplinary activities for the person’s profession under chapter 18.130 RCW, shall be immune from civil action for damages arising out of such activities. A person prevailing upon the good faith defense provided for in this section is entitled to recover expenses and reasonable attorneys’ fees incurred in establishing the defense.

Sec. 4. RCW 18.71.0193 and 1994 sp.s. c 9 s 327 are each amended to read as follows:
(1) A ((licensed health care professional)) physician licensed under this chapter shall report to the commission when he or she has personal knowledge that a practicing physician has either committed an act or acts which may constitute statutorily defined unprofessional conduct or that a practicing physician may be unable to practice medicine with reasonable skill and safety to patients by reason of illness, drunkenness, excessive use of drugs, narcotics, chemicals, or any other type of material, or as a result of any mental or physical conditions.

(8) Members of the task force shall be reimbursed for travel expenses as provided in RCW 43.03.050 and 43.03.060.
(2) Reporting under this section is not required by:
(a) An appropriately appointed peer review committee member of a licensed hospital or by an appropriately designated professional review committee member of a county or state medical society during the investigative phase of their respective operations if these investigations are completed in a timely manner; or
(b) A treating licensed health care professional of a physician currently involved in a treatment program as long as the physician patient actively participates in the treatment program and the physician patient’s impairment does not constitute a clear and present danger to the public health, safety, or welfare.
(3) The commission may impose disciplinary sanctions, including license suspension or revocation, on any ((health care professional subject to the jurisdiction of the commission)) physician licensed under this chapter who has failed to comply with this section.
(4) Every physician licensed under this chapter who reports to the commission as required under subsection (1) of this section in good faith is immune from civil liability for damages arising out of the report, whether direct or derivative. A person prevailing upon the defense provided for in this section is entitled to recover expenses and reasonable attorneys’ fees incurred in establishing the defense.

Sec. 5. RCW 18.130.010 and 1994 sp.s c 9 s 601 are each amended to read as follows:
It is the intent of the legislature to strengthen and consolidate disciplinary and licensure procedures for the licensed health and health-related professions and businesses by providing a uniform disciplinary act with standardized procedures for the licensure of health care professionals and the enforcement of laws the purpose of which is to ((assure the public of the adequacy of professional competence and conduct in the healing arts)) reduce unprofessional conduct and unsafe practices in health care, protect the public health, safety, and welfare, and promote patient safety.
It is also the intent of the legislature that all health and health-related professions newly credentialed by the state come under the Uniform Disciplinary Act.
Further, the legislature declares that the addition of public members on all health care commissions and boards can give both the state and the public, which it has a paramount statutory responsibility to protect, assurances of accountability and confidence in the various practices of health care.

Sec. 6. RCW 18.130.180 and 1995 c 336 s 9 are each amended to read as follows:
The following conduct, acts, or conditions constitute unprofessional conduct for any license holder or applicant under the jurisdiction of this chapter:
(1) The commission of any act involving moral turpitude, dishonesty, or corruption relating to the practice of the person’s profession, whether the act constitutes a crime or not. If the act constitutes a crime, conviction in a criminal proceeding is not a condition precedent to disciplinary action. Upon such a conviction, however, the judgment and sentence is conclusive evidence at the ensuing disciplinary hearing of the guilt of the license holder or applicant of the crime described in the indictment or information, and of the person’s violation of the statute on which it is based. For the purposes of this section, conviction includes all instances in which a plea of guilty or nolo contendere is the basis for the conviction and all proceedings in which the sentence has been deferred or suspended. Nothing in this section abrogates rights guaranteed under chapter 9.96A RCW;
(2) Misrepresentation or concealment of a material fact in obtaining a license or in reinstatement thereof;
(3) All advertising which is false, fraudulent, or misleading;
(4) Incompetence, negligence, or malpractice which results in injury to a patient or which creates an unreasonable risk that a patient may be harmed. The use of a nontraditional treatment by itself shall not constitute unprofessional conduct, provided that it does not result in injury to a patient or create an unreasonable risk that a patient may be harmed;
(5) Suspension, revocation, or restriction of the individual’s license to practice any health care profession by competent authority in any state, federal, or foreign jurisdiction, a certified copy of the order, stipulation, or agreement being conclusive evidence of the revocation, suspension, or restriction. Full faith and credit will be extended to the action by the competent authority, even if procedures or standards of proof vary in the other jurisdiction;
(6) The possession, use, prescription for use, or distribution of controlled substances or legend drugs in any way other than for legitimate or therapeutic purposes, diversion of controlled substances or legend drugs, the violation of any drug law, or prescribing controlled substances for oneself;
(7) Violation of any state or federal statute or administrative rule regulating the profession in question, including any statute or rule defining or establishing standards of patient care or professional conduct or practice;
(8) Failure to cooperate with the disciplining authority by:
(a) Not furnishing any papers or documents;
(b) Not furnishing in writing a full and complete explanation covering the matter contained in the complaint filed with the disciplining authority;
(c) Not responding to subpoenas issued by the disciplining authority, whether or not the recipient of the subpoena is the accused in the proceeding; or
(d) Not providing reasonable and timely access for authorized representatives of the disciplining authority seeking to perform practice reviews at facilities utilized by the license holder;
(9) Failure to comply with an order issued by the disciplining authority or a stipulation for informal disposition entered into with the disciplining authority;

(10) Aiding or abetting an unlicensed person to practice when a license is required;

(11) Violations of rules established by any health agency;

(12) Practice beyond the scope of practice as defined by law or rule;

(13) Misrepresentation or fraud in any aspect of the conduct of the business or profession;

(14) Failure to adequately supervise auxiliary staff to the extent that the consumer’s health or safety is at risk;

(15) Engaging in a profession involving contact with the public while suffering from a contagious or infectious disease involving serious risk to public health;

(16) Promotion for personal gain of any unnecessary or inefficacious drug, device, treatment, procedure, or service;

(17) Conviction of any gross misdemeanor or felony relating to the practice of the person’s profession. For the purposes of this subsection, conviction includes all instances in which a plea of guilty or nolo contendere is the basis for conviction and all proceedings in which the sentence has been deferred or suspended. Nothing in this section abrogates rights guaranteed under chapter 9.96A RCW;

(18) The procuring, or aiding or abetting in procuring, a criminal abortion;

(19) The offering, undertaking, or agreeing to cure or treat disease by a secret method, procedure, treatment, or medicine, or the treating, operating, or prescribing for any health condition by a method, means, or procedure which the licensee refuses to divulge upon demand of the disciplining authority;

(20) The willful betrayal of a practitioner-patient privilege as recognized by law;

(21) Violation of chapter 19.68 RCW;

(22) Interference with an investigation or disciplinary proceeding by willful misrepresentation of facts before the disciplining authority or its authorized representative, or by the use of threats or harassment against any patient or witness to prevent them from providing evidence in a disciplinary proceeding or any other legal action, or by the use of financial inducements to any patient or witness to prevent or attempt to prevent him or her from providing evidence in a disciplinary proceeding;

(23) Current misuse of:

(a) Alcohol;

(b) Controlled substances; or

(c) Legend drugs;

(24) Abuse of a client or patient or sexual contact with a client or patient;

(25) Acceptance of more than a nominal gratuity, hospitality, or subsidy offered by a representative or vendor of medical or health-related products or services intended for patients, in contemplation of a sale or for use in research publishable in professional journals, where a conflict of interest is presented, as defined by rules of the disciplining authority, in consultation with the department, based on recognized professional ethical standards.

Sec. 7. RCW 18.130.900 and 1986 c 259 s 14 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) This chapter shall be known and cited as the uniform disciplinary act.

(2) This chapter applies to any conduct, acts, or conditions occurring on or after June 11, 1986.

(3) This chapter does not apply to or govern the construction of and disciplinary action for any conduct, acts, or conditions occurring prior to June 11, 1986. Such conduct, acts, or conditions must be construed and disciplinary action taken according to the provisions of law existing at the time of the occurrence in the same manner as if this chapter had not been enacted.

(4) The amendments to chapter 18.130 RCW in sections 5 and 6 of this act are clarifying amendments and should not be construed as a change in the construction and application of chapter 18.130 RCW."

ENGROSSED SUBSTITUTE HOUSE BILL NO. 2736, having received the necessary constitutional majority, was declared passed.

HOUSE BILL NO. 2808, By Representatives Murray, Jarrett, Hankins, Wallace, Hudgins, Cooper, Hunter, Moeller, Sullivan and Dickerson

Authorizing a pilot project for high-occupancy toll lanes.
NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. LEGISLATIVE INTENT. The legislature recognizes that the Puget Sound region is faced with growing traffic congestion and has limited ability to expand freeway capacity due to financial, environmental, and physical constraints. Freeway high-occupancy vehicle lanes have been an effective means of providing transit, vanpools, and carpools with a fast trip on congested freeway corridors, but in many cases, these lanes are themselves getting crowded during the peak commute times, while some are being underused at off-peak times.

It is the intent of the legislature to maximize the effectiveness and efficiency of the freeway system. To evaluate methods to accomplish this, it is beneficial to evaluate alternative approaches to managing the use of freeway high-occupancy vehicle lanes, including pilot projects to determine and demonstrate the effectiveness and benefits of implementing high-occupancy toll lanes. The legislature acknowledges that state route 167 provides an ideal test of the high-occupancy toll lane concept because it is a congested corridor, it has underused capacity in the high-occupancy vehicle lane, and it has adequate right of way for improvements needed to test the concept. Therefore, it is the intent of this act to direct that the department of transportation, as a pilot project, develop and operate a high-occupancy toll lane on state route 167 in King county and to conduct an evaluation of that project to determine impacts on freeway efficiency, effectiveness for transit, feasibility of financing improvements through tolls, and the impacts on freeway users.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. A new section is added to chapter 47.56 RCW to read as follows:

DEFINITION OF HIGH-OCCUPANCY TOLL LANES. For the purposes of RCW 46.61.165 and sections 3 and 4 of this act, "high-occupancy toll lanes" means one or more lanes of a highway that charges tolls as a means of regulating access to or the use of the facility, to maintain travel speed and reliability. Supporting facilities include, but are not limited to, approaches, enforcement areas, improvements, buildings, and equipment.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. A new section is added to chapter 47.56 RCW to read as follows:

AUTHORITY TO DESIGNATE STATE ROUTE 167 HIGH-OCCUPANCY TOLL LANE PILOT PROJECT. (1) The department shall provide for the establishment, construction, and operation of a pilot project of high-occupancy toll lanes on state route 167 high-occupancy vehicle lanes within King county. The department may issue, buy, and redeem bonds, and deposit and expend them; secure and remit financial and other assistance in the construction of high-occupancy toll lanes, carry insurance, and handle any other matters pertaining to the high-occupancy toll lane pilot project.

(2) Tolls for high-occupancy toll lanes will be established as follows:

(a) The schedule of toll charges for high-occupancy toll lanes must be established by the transportation commission and collected in a manner determined by the commission.

(b) The department shall establish performance standards for the state route 167 high-occupancy toll lane pilot project. The department must automatically adjust the toll charge, using dynamic tolling, to ensure that toll-paying single-occupant vehicle users are only permitted to enter the lane to the extent that average vehicle speeds in the lane remain above forty-five miles per hour at least ninety percent of the time during the peak hour. The toll charge may vary in amount by time of day, level of traffic congestion within the highway facility, vehicle occupancy, or other criteria, as the commission may deem appropriate. The commission may also vary toll charges for single-occupant inherently low-emission vehicles such as those powered by electric batteries, natural gas, propane, or other clean burning fuels.

(c) The commission shall periodically review the toll charges to determine if the toll charges are effectively maintaining travel time, speed, and reliability on the highway facilities.

(3) The department shall monitor the state route 167 high-occupancy toll lane pilot project and shall annually report to the transportation commission and the legislature on operations and findings. At a minimum, the department shall provide facility use data and review the impacts on:

(a) Freeway efficiency and safety;
(b) Effectiveness for transit;

Representative Orcutt moved the adoption of amendment (905):

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

"NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. The legislature finds that the department of natural resources manages state forests consistent with the forest practices rules, habitat conservation plans, and under a sustained yield harvest plan. The forest management required by these constraints necessarily means that wood products originating from state forests are managed consistent with advanced principles of sustainable forestry stewardship that meet or exceed the environmental and social standards of most public and private timber growing operations in both the nation and the world. As such, the state of Washington should aggressively market its wood products to end consumers and product manufacturers that are concerned with the forest practices used to grow the timber they are choosing to purchase.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. The definitions in this section apply throughout this chapter unless the context clearly requires otherwise.
(1) "Board" means the board of natural resources.
(2) "Council" means the evergreen sustainable forestry council created in section 3 of this act.
(3) "Department" means the department of natural resources.
(4) "Small forest landowner" has the same meaning as defined in RCW 76.09.450.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. (1) The evergreen sustainable forestry council is created.
(2) The council is comprised of:
(a) The commissioner of public lands, or the commissioner’s designee;
(b) The governor, or the governor’s designee;
(c) The superintendent of public instruction, or the superintendent’s designee;
(d) A designee representing the state university system, appointed by the governor;
(e) A designee representing those counties that contain state forest lands, appointed by the governor;
(f) Two owners or operators of private commercial timberland, appointed by the governor, one being a small forest landowner;
(g) Two members of the house of representatives from different political parties, appointed by the speaker of the house of representatives; and
(h) Two members of the senate from different political parties, appointed by the president of the senate.
(3) Staff to the council shall be provided by the department.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4. (1) The council shall designate timber that satisfies the standards of this chapter as "evergreen certified."
(2) The council shall develop and implement a marketing plan for evergreen certified wood products. The goal of this plan is to:
(a) Educate wood purchasers about the environmental stewardship and sustainable forest practices involved in the planting, growing, and harvesting of evergreen certified wood;
(b) Promote evergreen certified wood in the marketplace as an alternative to the recognition of other third-party sustainable forestry certification organizations; and
(c) Develop a niche market for evergreen certified wood that will bring a premium price to the producers of evergreen certified wood.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 5. (1) Timber produced on public lands in Washington shall be designated as "evergreen certified" by the council if the timber satisfies the following criteria:
(a) The timber was managed in compliance with the forest practices rules adopted under chapter 76.09 RCW;
(b) The timber was managed in compliance with any habitat conservation plan agreed to by the department and the federal government; and
(c) The timber was harvested pursuant to a sustainable harvest plan adopted by the board under RCW 79.10.320.
Timber produced on private lands in Washington must be designated as "evergreen certified" by the council if the timber was managed under the forest practices rules adopted under chapter 76.09 RCW.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 6. Sections 1 through 5 of this act constitute a new chapter in Title 76 RCW."

"NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. The legislature finds that trust beneficiaries, rural communities, and sustainable forest harvest management may benefit if wood produced on state-owned forests can be certified as sustainable and marketed as such. It is the intent of this legislation to provide the legislature, the board of natural resources, and other interested parties with the information that will allow for an informed decision on this policy question prior to the final adoption of a sustainable harvest calculation by the board of natural resources.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. (1) The department of natural resources shall prepare a report for the legislature and the board of natural resources that identifies:
(a) What changes to the current state forest management practices, including the provisions of any applicable habitat conservation plans, need to be implemented for state-managed forests to achieve third-party sustainable forestry certification under the standards of major sustainable forestry certification organizations;
(b) What added changes in operational costs would be associated with the changes in management practices necessary to achieve certifications;
(c) Whether and how the preferred sustainable harvest level alternative identified by the board of natural resources would satisfy the state’s responsibilities under any applicable habitat conservation plans; and
(d) How the preferred sustainable harvest level calculation identified by the board of natural resources increases or decreases the cost of compliance with the standards of major sustainable forestry certification organizations.
(2) The department of natural resources shall complete its report and submit it to the board of natural resources and the appropriate standing committees of the legislature no later than September 14, 2004. The department shall include in its report sufficient detail on its calculations to facilitate the review and comment process established in subsection (3) of this section.
(3) The department of natural resources shall make copies of the report available to any interested party who wishes to review and comment on the report. Comments should be addressed to the chairs of the appropriate standing committees of the legislature.

Sec. 1. RCW 79.10.320 and 2003 c 334 s 538 are each amended to read as follows:
(1) The department shall manage the state-owned lands under its jurisdiction which are primarily valuable for the purpose of growing forest crops on a sustained yield basis insofar as compatible with other statutory directives. To this end, the department shall periodically adjust the acreages designated for inclusion in the sustained yield management program and calculate a sustainable harvest level.
(2) For the final sustainable harvest level intended to be adopted by the board during calendar year 2004, the board may identify a single preferred harvest level alternative, and may only adopt a sustainable harvest level after:
(a) The report required in section 2 of this act has been produced and delivered to the appropriate standing committees of the legislature;
(b) A legislative review of the report has been conducted by the appropriate standing committees of the legislature; and
(c) At least one hearing has been held by the board of natural resources on the findings in the report and the results of the legislative review.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. This act is necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health, or safety, or support of the state government and its existing public institutions, and takes effect immediately.
NEW SECTION.  Sec. 4. This act expires on July 1, 2005."

Therefore, the legislature finds that the department of ecology shall work with electronic product stakeholders to evaluate existing projects, encourage new pilot projects as needed, and develop recommendations for implementing and financing the collection, recycling, and reuse of electronic products throughout the state.

HOUSE BILL NO. 3036, By Representatives Hunter, Cairnes, Roach and Nixon

Modifying unclaimed property laws for gift certificates.
The bill was read the second time.

Representative Hunter moved the adoption of amendment (975):

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

"NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. It is the intent of the legislature to relieve businesses from the obligation of reporting gift certificates as unclaimed property. In order to protect consumers, the legislature intends to prohibit acts and practices of retailers that deprive consumers of the full value of gift certificates, such as expiration dates, service fees, and dormancy and inactivity charges, on gift certificates. The legislature does not intend that this act be construed to apply to cards or other payment instruments issued for payment of wages or other intangible property. To that end, the legislature intends that this act should be liberally construed to benefit consumers and that any ambiguities should be resolved by applying the uniform unclaimed property act to the intangible property in question.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. The definitions in this section apply throughout this chapter unless the context clearly requires otherwise.

(1) "Artistic and cultural organization" has the same meaning as in RCW 82.04.4328.
(2) "Charitable organization" means an organization exempt from tax under section 501(c)(3) of the internal revenue code of 1986 (26 U.S.C. Sec. 501(c)(3)).
(3) "Fund-raising activity" has the same meaning as in RCW 82.04.3651.
(4) "Gift card" means a record as described in subsection (5) of this section in the form of a card, or a stored value card or other physical medium, containing stored value primarily intended to be exchanged for consumer goods and services.
(5) "Gift certificate" means an instrument evidencing a promise by the seller or issuer of the record that consumer goods or services will be provided to the bearer of the record to the value or credit shown in the record and includes gift cards.
(6) "Bearer" means a person with a right to receive consumer goods and services under the terms of a gift certificate, without regard to any fee, expiration date, or dormancy or inactivity charge.
(7) "Issue" means to sell or otherwise provide a gift certificate to any person, and includes reloading or adding value to an existing gift certificate.
(8) "Stored value" has the same meaning as in RCW 19.230.010.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. (1) Except as provided in sections 4 through 8 of this act, it is unlawful for any person or entity to issue, or to enforce against a bearer, a gift certificate that contains:
(a) An expiration date;
(b) Any fee, including a service fee; or
(c) A dormancy or inactivity charge.
(2) If a gift certificate is issued with the sale of tangible personal property or services, the gift certificate is subject to subsection (1) of this section.
(3) If a purchase is made with a gift certificate for an amount that is less than the value of the gift certificate, the issuer must make the remaining value available to the bearer in cash or as a gift certificate at the option of the issuer. If after the purchase the remaining value of the gift certificate is less than five dollars, the gift certificate must be redeemable in cash for its remaining value on demand of the bearer. A gift certificate is valid until redeemed or replaced.
(4) This section does not require, unless otherwise required by law, the issuer of a gift certificate to replace a lost or stolen gift certificate.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4. (1) It is lawful to issue, and to enforce against the bearer, a gift certificate containing an expiration date if:
(a) The gift certificate is issued pursuant to an awards or loyalty program or in other instances where no money or other thing of value is given in exchange for the gift certificate.
(b) The gift certificate is donated to a charitable organization without any money or other thing of value being given in exchange for the gift certificate if the gift certificate is used by a charitable organization solely to provide charitable services.
(2) The expiration date must be disclosed clearly and legibly on any gift certificate described in subsection (1) of this section.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 5. It is lawful to issue, and to enforce against the bearer, a gift card containing a dormancy or inactivity charge if:
(1) A statement is printed on the gift card in at least six-point font stating the amount of the charge, how often the charge will occur, and that the charge is triggered by inactivity of the gift card. The statement may appear on the front or back of the gift card, but shall appear in a location where it is visible to any purchaser before the purchase of the gift card;
(2) The remaining value of the gift card is five dollars or less each time the charge is assessed;
(3) The charge does not exceed one dollar per month;
(4) The charge can only be assessed when there has been no activity on the gift card for twenty-four consecutive months, including but not limited to, purchases, the adding of value, or balance inquiries;
(5) The bearer may reload or add value to the gift card; and
(6) After a dormancy or inactivity charge is assessed, the remaining value of the gift certificate is redeemable in cash on demand.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 6. It is lawful to issue, and to enforce against the bearer, a gift certificate containing an expiration date if:

(2) The expiration date is clearly and legibly printed on the front or face of the gift certificate, or printed on the back of the certificate in at least ten-point font; and
(3) The expiration date is at least one year from the date the gift certificate is issued by the charitable organization.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 7. It is lawful to issue, and to enforce against the bearer, a gift certificate containing an expiration date if:
(1) The gift certificate is redeemable solely for goods or services provided in the state of Washington by artistic and cultural organizations;
(2) The expiration date is clearly and legibly printed on the front or face of the gift certificate, or printed on the back of the certificate in at least ten-point font;
(3) The expiration date is at least three years from the date the gift certificate is issued by the artistic and cultural organizations; and
(4) The unused value of the gift certificate at the time of expiration accrues solely to the benefit of artistic and cultural organizations.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 8. A requirement under sections 4 through 7 of this act that a statement or expiration date be printed on a gift certificate is satisfied if the statement appears as otherwise required on a sticker permanently affixed to the gift certificate.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 9. An issuer is not required to honor a gift certificate presumed abandoned under RCW 63.29.110, reported, and delivered to the department of revenue in the dissolution of a business association.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 10. (1) A gift certificate constitutes value held in trust by the issuer of the gift certificate on behalf of the beneficiary of the gift certificate. The value represented by the gift certificate belongs to the beneficiary, or to the legal representative of the beneficiary to the extent provided by law, and not to the issuer.
(2) An issuer of a gift certificate who is in bankruptcy shall continue to honor a gift certificate issued before the date of the bankruptcy filing on the grounds that the value of the gift certificate constitutes trust property of the beneficiary.
(3) The terms of a gift certificate may not make its redemption or other use invalid in the event of a bankruptcy.
(4) This section does not require, unless otherwise required by law, the issuer of a gift certificate to:
(a) Redeem a gift certificate for cash;
(b) Replace a lost or stolen gift certificate; or
(c) Maintain a separate account for the funds used to purchase the gift certificate.
(5) This section does not create an interest in favor of the beneficiary of the gift certificate in any specific property of the issuer.
(6) This section does not create a fiduciary or quasi-fiduciary relationship between the beneficiary of the gift certificates and the issuer unless otherwise provided by law.
(7) The issuer of a gift certificate has no obligation to pay interest on the value of a gift certificate held in trust under this section, unless otherwise provided by law.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 12. An agreement made in violation of the provisions of this chapter is contrary to public policy and is void and unenforceable against the bearer.

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

"NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. A new section is added to chapter 43.88 RCW to read as follows:
The legislature finds that agency missions, goals, and objectives should focus on statewide results. It is the intent of the legislature to focus the biennial budget on how state agencies produce real results that reflect the goals of statutory programs. Specifically, budget managers and the legislature must have the data to move toward better statewide results that produce the intended public benefit. This data must be supplied in an impartial, quantifiable form, and demonstrate progress toward statewide results. With a renewed focus on achieving true results, state agencies, the office of financial management, and the legislature will be able to prioritize state resources.

Sec. 2. RCW 43.88.090 and 1997 c 372 s 1 are each amended to read as follows:
(1) For purposes of developing budget proposals to the legislature, the governor shall have the power, and shall be the governor’s duty, to require from proper agency officials such detailed estimates and other information in such form and at such times as the governor shall direct. The governor shall communicate statewide priorities to agencies for use in development. The governor shall recommend for their agency and shall seek public involvement and input on these priorities. The estimates for the legislature and the judiciary shall be transmitted to the governor and shall be included in the budget without revision. The estimates for state pension contributions shall be based on the rates provided in chapter 41.45 RCW. Copies of all such estimates shall be transmitted to the standing committees on ways and means of the house and senate at the same time as they are filed with the governor and the office of financial management.

The estimates shall include statements or tables which indicate, by agency, the state funds which are required for the receipt of federal matching revenues. The estimates shall be revised as necessary to reflect legislative enactments and adopted appropriations and shall be included with the initial biennial allotment submitted under RCW 43.88.110. The estimates must reflect that the agency considered any alternatives to reduce costs or improve service delivery identified in the findings of a performance audit of the agency by the joint legislative audit and review committee. Nothing in this subsection requires performance audit findings to be published as part of the budget.

(2) Each state agency shall define its mission and establish measurable goals for achieving desirable results for those who receive its services and the taxpayers who pay for those services. Each agency shall also develop clear strategies and timelines to achieve its goals. This section does not require an agency to develop a new mission or goals in place of identifiable missions or goals that meet the intent of this section. The mission and goals of each agency must conform to statutory direction and limitations.

(3) For the purpose of assessing program performance, each state agency shall establish program.
goals, and productivity objectives for each major program in its budget. The objectives must be consistent with the missions and goals developed under this section. The objectives must be expressed in outcome-based, objective, and measurable form unless an exception to adopt a different standard is granted by the office of financial management and approved by the legislative committee on performance review. Objectives must specifically address the statutory purpose of the program and shall focus on data that measure whether the agency is achieving or making progress toward the purpose of the program and toward statewide priorities. The office of financial management shall provide necessary professional and technical assistance to assist state agencies in the development of strategic plans that include the mission of the agency and its programs, measurable goals, strategies, and performance measurement systems.

(4) Each state agency shall adopt procedures for and perform continuous self-assessment of each program and activity, using the mission, goals, objectives, and measurements required under subsections (2) and
(3) of this section. Agencies’ progress toward the mission, goals, objectives, and measurements required by subsections (2) and (3) of this section is subject to review as set forth in this subsection.

(a) The office of financial management shall regularly conduct reviews of selected programs to analyze whether the objectives and measurements submitted by agencies demonstrate progress toward statewide results.

(b) The office of financial management shall consult with the higher education coordinating board, and the state board for community and technical colleges in those reviews that involve institutions of higher education.

(c) The goal is for all programs to receive at least one review each biennium.

(5) It is the policy of the legislature that each agency’s budget (proposals) recommendations must be directly linked to the agency’s stated mission and program, quality, and productivity goals and objectives.
Consistent with this policy, agency budget proposals must include integration of performance measures that allow objective determination of a program’s success in achieving its goals. When a review under subsection (4) of this section or other analysis determines that the agency’s objectives demonstrate that the agency is making insufficient progress toward the goals of any particular program or is otherwise underachieving or inefficient, the agency’s budget request shall contain proposals to remedy or improve the selected programs. The office of financial management shall develop a plan to merge the budget development process with agency performance assessment procedures. The plan must include a schedule to integrate agency strategic plans and performance measures into agency budget requests and the governor’s budget proposal over three fiscal biennia. The plan must identify those agencies that will implement the revised budget process in the 1997-1999 biennium, the 1999-2001 biennium, and the 2001-2003 biennium. In consultation with the legislative fiscal committees, the office of financial management shall recommend statutory and procedural modifications to the state’s budget, accounting, and reporting systems to facilitate the performance assessment procedures and the merger of those procedures with the state budget process. The plan and recommended statutory and procedural modifications must be submitted to the legislative fiscal committees by September 30, 1996.

(6) In reviewing agency budget requests in order to prepare the governor’s biennial budget request, the office of financial management shall consider the extent to which the agency’s programs demonstrate progress toward the statewide priorities, identified by the governor and the legislature, along with any specific review conducted under subsection (4) of this section.

(7) In the year of the gubernatorial election, the governor shall invite the governor-elect or the governor-elect’s designee to attend all hearings provided in RCW 43.88.100; and the governor shall furnish the governor-elect or the governor-elect’s designee with such information as will enable the governor-elect or the governor-elect’s designee to gain an understanding of the state’s budget requirements. The governor-elect or the governor-elect’s designee may ask such questions during the hearings and require such information as the governor-elect or the governor-elect’s designee deems necessary and may make recommendations in connection with any item of the budget which, with the governor-elect’s reasons therefor, shall be presented to the legislature in writing with the budget document. Copies of all such estimates and other required information shall also be submitted to the standing committees on ways and means of the house and senate.

Sec. 3. RCW 43.88.030 and 2002 c 371 s 911 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) The director of financial management shall provide all agencies with a complete set of instructions for submitting biennial budget requests to the director at least three months before agency budget documents are due into the office of financial management. The director shall provide agencies and committees that are required under RCW 44.40.070 to develop comprehensive six-year program and financial plans with a complete set of instructions for submitting these program and financial plans at the same time that instructions for submitting other budget requests are provided. The budget document or documents shall consist of the governor’s budget message which shall be explanatory of the budget and shall contain an outline of the proposed financial policies of the state for the ensuing fiscal period, as well as an outline of the proposed six-year financial policies where applicable, and shall describe in connection therewith the important features of the budget. The biennial budget document or documents shall also describe accountability indicators that demonstrate measurable progress towards priority results. The message shall set forth the reasons for salient changes from the previous fiscal period in expenditure and revenue items and shall explain any major changes in financial policy. Attached to the budget message shall be such supporting schedules, exhibits and other explanatory material in respect to both current operations and capital improvements as the governor shall deem to be useful to the legislature. The budget document or documents shall set forth a proposal for expenditures in the ensuing fiscal period, or six-year period where applicable, based upon the estimated revenues and caseloads as approved by the economic and revenue forecast council and caseload forecast council or upon the estimated revenues and caseloads of the office of financial management for those funds, accounts, sources, and programs for which the forecast councils do not prepare an official forecast, including those revenues anticipated to support the six-year programs and financial plans under RCW 44.40.070. In estimating revenues to support financial plans under RCW 44.40.070, the office of financial management shall rely on information and advice from the transportation revenue forecast council. Revenues shall be estimated for such fiscal period from the source and at the rates existing by law at the time of submission of the budget document, including the supplemental budgets submitted in the even-numbered years of a biennium. However, the estimated revenues and caseloads for use in the governor’s budget document may be adjusted to reflect budgetary revenue transfers and revenue and caseload estimates dependent upon budgetary assumptions of enrollments, workloads, and caseloads. All adjustments to the approved estimated revenues and caseloads must be set forth in the budget document. The governor may additionally submit, as an appendix to each supplemental, biennial, or six-year agency budget or to the budget document or documents, a proposal for expenditures in the ensuing fiscal period from revenue sources derived from proposed changes in existing statutes.

Supplemental and biennial documents shall reflect a six-year expenditure plan consistent with estimated revenues from existing sources and at existing rates for those agencies required to submit six-year program and financial plans under RCW 44.40.070. Any additional revenue resulting from proposed changes to existing statutes shall be separately identified within the document as well as related expenditures for the six-year period.

The budget document or documents shall also contain:

(a) Revenues classified by fund and source for the immediately past fiscal period, those received or anticipated for the current fiscal period, those anticipated for the ensuing biennium, and those anticipated for the ensuing six-year period to support the six-year programs and financial plans required under RCW 44.40.070;

(f) ((A delineation of each agency’s activities, including those activities funded from nonbudgeted, nonappropriated sources, including funds maintained)) The expenditures that include nonbudgeted, nonappropriated accounts outside the state treasury;

(g) Identification of all proposed direct expenditures to implement the Puget Sound water quality plan under chapter 90.71 RCW, shown by agency and in total; and

(2) The budget document or documents shall include detailed estimates of all anticipated revenues applicable to proposed operating or capital expenditures and shall also include all proposed operating or capital expenditures. The total of beginning undesignated fund balance and estimated revenues less working capital and other reserves shall equal or exceed the total of proposed applicable expenditures. The budget document or documents shall further include:

(b) Payments of all reliefs, judgments, and claims;

(c) Other statutory expenditures;

(d) Expenditures incident to the operation for each agency;

(e) Revenues derived from agency operations;

(f) Expenditures and revenues shall be given in comparative form showing those incurred or received for the immediately past fiscal period and those anticipated for the current biennium and next ensuing biennium, as well as those required to support the six-year programs and financial plans required under RCW 44.40.070;

(g) A showing and explanation of amounts of general fund and other funds obligations for debt service and any transfers of moneys that otherwise would have been available for appropriation;

(3) The governor’s operating budget document or documents shall reflect the statewide priorities as required by RCW 43.88.090.

(4) The governor’s operating budget document or documents shall identify programs that are not addressing the statewide priorities.

(5) A separate capital budget document or schedule shall be submitted that will contain the following:

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:
Sec. 1. RCW 48.21.045 and 1995 c 265 s 14 are each amended to read as follows:

(1)(a) An insurer offering any health benefit plan to a small employer ("shall") may offer and actively market to the small employer a health benefit plan ("providing benefits identical to the schedule of covered health services that are required to be delivered to an individual enrolled in the basic health plan") featuring a limited schedule of covered health care services. Nothing in this subsection shall preclude an insurer from offering, or a small employer from purchasing, other health benefit plans that may have more ("or less") comprehensive benefits than ((the basic health plan, provided such plans are in accordance with this chapter)) those included in the product offered under this subsection. An insurer offering a health benefit plan ("that does not include benefits in the basic health plan") under this subsection shall clearly disclose ("these differences") all covered benefits to the small employer in a brochure ("approved by") filed with the commissioner.

(b) A health benefit plan offered under this subsection shall provide coverage for hospital expenses and services rendered by a physician licensed under chapter 18.57 or 18.71 RCW but is not subject to the requirements of RCW ((48.21.130, 48.21.140, 48.21.141, 48.21.142, 48.21.144, 48.21.146, 48.21.160 through 48.21.197, 48.21.200, 48.21.220, (48.21.225, 48.21.230, 48.21.235,)) 48.21.240, 48.21.244, 48.21.250, 48.21.300, 48.21.310, or 48.21.320 ((ii: (i) The health benefit plan is the mandatory offering under (a) of this subsection that provides benefits identical to the basic health plan, to the extent these requirements differ from the basic health plan; or (ii) the health benefit plan is offered to)) for employers with not more than ((twenty-five)) fifty employees.

(2) Nothing in this section shall prohibit an insurer from offering, or a purchaser from seeking, health benefit plans with benefits in excess of the ((basic health plan services)) health benefit plan offered under subsection (1) of this section. All forms, policies, and contracts shall be submitted for approval to the commissioner, and the rates of any plan offered under this section shall be reasonable in relation to the benefits thereto.

(3) Premium rates for health benefit plans for small employers as defined in this section shall be subject to the following provisions:
   (a) The insurer shall develop its rates based on an adjusted community rate and may only vary the adjusted community rate for:
      (i) Geographic area;
      (ii) Family size;
      (iii) Age; and
      (iv) Wellness activities.
   (b) The adjustment for age in (a)(iii) of this subsection may not use age brackets smaller than five-year increments, which shall begin with age twenty and end with age sixty-five. Employees under the age of twenty shall be treated as those age twenty.
   (c) The insurer shall be permitted to develop separate rates for individuals age sixty-five or older for coverage which medicare is the primary payer and coverage for which medicare is not the primary payer. Both rates shall be subject to the requirements of this subsection (3).
   (d) The permitted rates for any age group shall be no more than four hundred twenty-five percent of the lowest rate for all age groups on January 1, 1996, four hundred percent on January 1, 1997, and three hundred seventy-five percent on January 1, 2000, and thereafter.
   (e) A discount for wellness activities shall be permitted to reflect actuarially justified differences in utilization or cost attributed to such programs ((not to exceed twenty percent)).
   (f) The rate charged for a health benefit plan offered under this section may not be adjusted more frequently than annually except that the premium may be changed to reflect:
      (i) Changes to the enrollment of the small employer;
      (ii) Changes to the family composition of the employee;
      (iii) Changes to the health benefit plan requested by the small employer; or
      (iv) Changes in government requirements affecting the health benefit plan.
   (g) Rating factors shall produce premiums for identical groups that differ only by the amounts attributable to plan design, with the exception of discounts for health improvement programs.
   (h) For the purposes of this section, a health benefit plan that contains a restricted network provision shall not be considered similar coverage to a health benefit plan that does not contain such a provision, provided that the restrictions of benefits to network providers result in substantial differences in claims costs. A carrier may develop its rates based on claims costs due to network provider reimbursement schedules or type of network. This subsection does not restrict or enhance the portability of benefits as provided in RCW 48.43.015. (i) Adjusted community rates established under this section shall pool the medical experience of all small groups purchasing coverage including the development of allowable factors under (a) and (h) of this subsection. The development of these factors or benefit relativities must be based on the carrier's company-wide credible study or a large study developed by an actuarial consultant or other method accepted by the commissioner.
   (4) ((Nothing in this section shall require the health benefit plan to collectively bargain for insurance providing benefits in excess of those provided herein.))
(5) (a) Except as provided in this subsection, requirements used by an insurer in determining whether to provide coverage to a small employer shall be applied uniformly among all small employers applying for coverage or receiving coverage from the carrier.

(b) An insurer shall not require a minimum participation level greater than:

(i) One hundred percent of eligible employees working for groups with three or less employees; and

(ii) Seventy-five percent of eligible employees working for groups with more than three employees.

(c) In applying minimum participation requirements with respect to a small employer, a small employer shall not consider employees or dependents who have similar existing coverage in determining whether the applicable percentage of participation is met.

(d) An insurer may not increase any requirement for minimum employer participation or modify any requirement for minimum employer contribution applicable to a small employer at any time after the small employer has been accepted for coverage.

(6) An insurer must offer coverage to all eligible employees of a small employer and their dependents. An insurer may not offer coverage to only certain individuals or dependents in a small employer group or to only part of the group. An insurer may not modify a health plan with respect to a small employer or any eligible employee or dependent, through riders, endorsements or otherwise, to restrict or exclude coverage or benefits for specific diseases, medical conditions, or services otherwise covered by the plan.

(7) As used in this section, "health benefit plan," "small employer," ("basic health plan,")) "adjusted community rate," and "wellness activities" mean the same as defined in RCW 48.43.005.

(b) If a person is seeking an individual health benefit plan:

(ii) His or her health care provider is part of another carrier’s provider network; and

(c) If a person is seeking an individual health benefit plan due to his or her having exhausted continuation coverage provided under 29 U.S.C. Sec. 4. RCW 48.43.035 and 2000 c 79 s 24 are each amended to read as follows:

For group health benefit plans, the following shall apply:

1. All health carriers shall accept for enrollment any state resident within the group to whom the plan is offered and within the carrier’s service area and provide or assure the provision of all covered services regardless of age, sex, family structure, ethnicity, race, health condition, geographic location, employment status, socioeconomic status, other condition or situation, or the provisions of RCW 49.60.174(2). The insurance commissioner may grant a temporary exemption from this subsection if, upon application by a health carrier, the commissioner finds that the clinical, financial, or administrative capacity to serve existing enrollees will be impaired if a health carrier is required to continue enrollment of additional eligible individuals.

2. Except as provided in subsection (5) of this section, all health plans shall contain or incorporate by endorsement a guarantee of the continuity of coverage of the plan. For the purposes of this section, a plan is "renewed" when it is continued beyond the earliest date upon which, at the carrier’s sole option, the plan could have been terminated for other than nonpayment of premium. The carrier may consider the group’s anniversary date as the renewal date for purposes of complying with the provisions of this section.

3. The guarantee of continuity of coverage required in health plans shall not prevent a carrier from canceling or nonrenewing a health plan for:

   a. Nonpayment of premium;
   b. Violation of published policies of the carrier approved by the insurance commissioner;
   c. Covered persons entitled to become eligible for medicare benefits by reason of age who fail to apply for a medicare supplement plan or medicare cost, risk, or other plan offered by the carrier pursuant to federal laws and regulations;
   d. Covered persons who fail to pay any deductible or copayment amount owed to the carrier and not the provider of health care services;
   e. Covered persons committing fraudulent acts as to the carrier;
   f. Covered persons who materially breach the health plan; or
   g. Change or implementation of federal or state laws that no longer permit the continued offering of such coverage.

4. The provisions of this section do not apply in the following cases:

   a. A carrier has zero enrollment on a product; ((or))
   b. A carrier replaces a product and the replacement product is provided to all covered persons within that class or line of business, includes all of the services covered under the replaced product, and does not significantly limit access to the kind of services covered under the replaced product. The health plan may also allow unrestricted conversion to a fully comparable product; ((or))
   c. No sooner than January 1, 2005, a carrier discontinues offering a particular type of health benefit plan offered for groups of up to two hundred if: (i) The carrier provides notice to each group of the discontinuation at least ninety days prior to the date of the discontinuation; (ii) the carrier offers to each group provided coverage of this type the option to enroll, with regard to small employer groups, in any other small employer group plan, or with regard to groups of up to two hundred, in any other applicable group plan, currently being offered by the carrier in the applicable group market; and (iii) in exercising the option to discontinue coverage of this type and in offering the option of coverage under (c)(ii) of this subsection, the carrier acts uniformly without regard to any health status-related factor of enrolled individuals or individuals who may become eligible for this coverage.

(d) A carrier discontinues offering all health coverage in the small group market or for groups of up to two hundred, or both markets, in the state and discontinues coverage under all existing group health benefit plans in the applicable market involved if: (i) The carrier discontinues offering all such coverage in the state and its intent to discontinue coverage under all such existing health benefit plans at least one hundred eighty days prior to the date of the discontinuation of coverage under all such existing health benefit plans; and (ii) the carrier provides notice to the commissioner of its intent to discontinue the existing health benefit plan at least one hundred eighty days prior to the date of discontinuation.

In the case of discontinuation under this subsection, the carrier may not issue any group health coverage in this state in the applicable group market involved for a five-year period beginning on the date of the discontinuation of the last health benefit plan not so renewed. This subsection (4) does not require a carrier to provide notice to the commissioner of its intent to discontinue offering a health benefit plan to new applicants when the carrier does not discontinue coverage of existing enrollees under that health benefit plan; or

(e) A carrier is withdrawing from a service area or from a segment of its service area because the carrier has demonstrated to the insurance commissioner that the carrier’s clinical, financial, or administrative capacity to serve enrollees would be exceeded.

(5) The provisions of this section do not apply to health plans deemed by the insurance commissioner to be unique or limited or have a short-term purpose, after a written request for such classification by the carrier and subsequent written approval by the insurance commissioner.

(6) Notwithstanding any other provision of this section, the guarantee of continuity of coverage applies to a group of one only if: (a) The carrier continues to offer any other small employer group plan in which the group of one was eligible to enroll on the day prior to the effective date of this section; and (b) the person continues to qualify as a group of one under the criteria in place on the day prior to the effective date of this section.

Sec. 5. RCW 48.43.038 and 2000 c 79 s 25 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) Except as provided in subsection (4) of this section, all individual health plans shall contain or incorporate by endorsement a guarantee of the continuity of coverage of the plan. For the purposes of this section, a plan is "renewed" when it is continued beyond the earliest date upon which, at the carrier’s sole option, the plan could have been terminated for other than nonpayment of premium.

(2) The guarantee of continuity of coverage required in individual health plans shall not prevent a carrier from canceling or nonrenewing a health plan for:

(a) Nonpayment of premium;
(b) Violation of published policies of the carrier approved by the commissioner;
(c) Covered persons entitled to become eligible for medicare benefits by reason of age who fail to apply for a medicare supplement plan or medicare cost, risk, or other plan offered by the carrier pursuant to federal laws and regulations;
(d) Covered persons who fail to pay any deductible or copayment amount owed to the carrier and not the provider of health care services;
(e) Covered persons committing fraudulent acts as to the carrier;
(f) Covered persons who materially breach the health plan; or
(g) Change or implementation of federal or state laws that no longer permit the continued offering of such coverage.

(3) This section does not apply in the following cases:

(a) A carrier has zero enrollment on a product;
(b) A carrier is withdrawing from a service area or from a segment of its service area because the carrier has demonstrated to the commissioner that the carrier’s clinical, financial, or administrative capacity to serve enrollees would be exceeded;

c) No sooner than the first day of the month following the expiration of a one hundred eighty-day period beginning on March 23, 2000, a carrier discontinues offering a particular type of health benefit plan offered in the individual market, including conversion contracts, if: (i) The carrier provides notice to each covered individual provided coverage of this type of such discontinuation at least ninety days prior to the date of the discontinuation; (ii) the carrier offers to each individual provided coverage of this type the option, without being subject to the standard health questionnaire, to enroll in any other individual health benefit plan currently being offered by the carrier; and (iii) in exercising the option to discontinue coverage of this type and in offering the option of coverage under (c)(ii) of this subsection, the carrier acts uniformly without regard to any health status-related factor of enrolled individuals or individuals who may become eligible for such coverage; or

(d) A carrier discontinues offering all individual health coverage in the state and discontinues coverage under all existing individual health benefit plans if: (i) The carrier provides notice to the commissioner of its intent to discontinue offering all individual health coverage in the state and its intent to discontinue coverage under all existing health benefit plans at least one hundred eighty days prior to the date of the discontinuation of coverage under all existing health benefit plans; and (ii) the carrier provides notice to each covered individual of the intent to discontinue his or her existing health benefit plan at least one hundred eighty days prior to the date of such discontinuation. In the case of discontinuation under this subsection, the carrier may not issue any individual health coverage in this state for a five-year period beginning on the date of the discontinuation of the last health plan not so renewed. Nothing in this subsection (3) shall be construed to require a carrier to provide notice to the commissioner of its intent to discontinue offering a health benefit plan to new applicants where the carrier does not discontinue coverage of existing enrollees under that health benefit plan.

(4) The provisions of this section do not apply to health plans deemed by the commissioner to be unique or limited or have a short-term purpose, after a written request for such classification by the carrier and subsequent written approval by the commissioner.

Sec. 6. RCW 48.44.022 and 2000 c 79 s 30 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) Premium rates for health benefit plans for individuals shall be subject to the following provisions:

(a) The health care service contractor shall develop its rates based on an adjusted community rate and may only vary the adjusted community rate for:

(i) Geographic area;
(ii) Family size;
(iii) Age;
(iv) Tenure discounts; and
(v) Wellness activities.

(b) The adjustment for age in (a)(iii) of this subsection may not use age brackets smaller than five-year increments which shall begin with age twenty and end with age sixty-five. Individuals under the age of twenty shall be treated as those age twenty.

(c) The health care service contractor shall be permitted to develop separate rates for individuals age sixty-five or older for coverage for which medicare is the primary payer and coverage for which medicare is not the primary payer. Both rates shall be subject to the requirements of this subsection.

(d) The permitted rates for any age group shall be no more than four hundred twenty-five percent of the lowest rate for all age groups on January 1, 1996, four hundred percent on January 1, 1997, and three hundred seventy-five percent on January 1, 2000, and thereafter.

(e) A discount for wellness activities shall be permitted to reflect actuarially justified differences in utilization or cost attributed to such programs (not to exceed twenty percent).

(f) The rate charged for a health benefit plan offered under this section may not be adjusted more frequently than annually except that the premium may be changed to reflect:

(i) Changes to the family composition;
(ii) Changes to the health benefit plan requested by the individual; or
(iii) Changes in government requirements affecting the health benefit plan.

(g) For the purposes of this section, a health benefit plan that contains a restricted network provision shall not be considered similar coverage to a health benefit plan that does not contain such a provision, provided that the restrictions of benefits to network providers result in substantial differences in claims costs. This subsection does not restrict or enhance the portability of benefits as provided in RCW 48.43.015.

(h) A tenure discount for continuous enrollment in the health plan of two years or more may be offered, not to exceed ten percent.

(2) Adjusted community rates established under this subsection shall pool the medical experience of all individuals purchasing coverage, and shall not be required to be pooled with the medical experience of health benefit plans offered to small employers under RCW 48.44.023.

(3) As used in this section, "health benefit plan," "small employer," "adjusted community rates," and "wellness activities" mean the same as defined in RCW 48.43.005.

(1)(a) A health care services contractor offering any health benefit plan to a small employer (shall) may offer and actively market to the small employer a health benefit plan (providing benefits identical to the schedule of covered health services that are required to be delivered to an individual enrolled in the basic health plan), featuring a limited schedule of covered health care services. Nothing in this subsection shall preclude a contractor from offering, or a small employer from purchasing, other health benefit plans that may have more (or less) comprehensive benefits than the basic health plan, provided such plans are in accordance with this chapter.

(b) A health benefit plan offered under this subsection shall provide coverage for hospital expenses and services rendered by a physician licensed under chapter 18.57 or 18.71 RCW but is not subject to the requirements of RCW 48.44.225, 48.44.240, 48.44.245, (48.44.290, 48.44.300), 48.44.310, 48.44.320, (48.44.325, 48.44.330, 48.44.335), 48.44.340, 48.44.344, 48.44.360, 48.44.400, 48.44.440, 48.44.450, and 48.44.460 (if not). The health benefit plan is the mandatory offering under (a) of this subsection that provides... benefits identical to the basic health plan, to the extent these requirements differ from the basic health plan; or (ii) the health benefit plan is offered to employers with not more than ((twenty five)) fifty employees.

(2) Nothing in this section shall prohibit a health care service contractor from offering, or a purchaser from seeking, health benefit plans with benefits in excess of the ((basic health plan services)) health benefit plan offered under subsection (1) of this section. All forms, policies, and contracts shall be submitted for approval to the commissioner, and the rates of any plan offered under this section shall be reasonable in relation to the benefits thereto.

(3) Premium rates for health benefit plans for small employers as defined in this section shall be subject to the following provisions:

(i) Geographic area;
(ii) Family size;

(c) The contractor shall be permitted to develop separate rates for individuals age sixty-five or older for coverage for which medicare is the primary payer and coverage for which medicare is not the primary payer. Both rates shall be subject to the requirements of this subsection (3).

(d) The permitted rates for any age group shall be no more than four hundred twenty-five percent of the lowest rate for all age groups on January 1, 1996, four hundred percent on January 1, 1997, and three hundred seventy-five percent on January 1, 2000, and thereafter.

(e) A discount for wellness activities shall be permitted to reflect actuarially justified differences in utilization or cost attributable to such programs. A carrier may develop its rates based on an adjusted community rate and may only vary the adjusted community rate for:

(i) Geographic area;

(iv) Changes in government requirements affecting the health benefit plan.

(g) Rating factors shall produce premiums for identical groups that differ only by the amounts attributable to plan design, with the exception of discounts for health improvement programs.

(h) For the purposes of this section, a health benefit plan that contains a restricted network provision shall not be considered similar coverage to a health benefit plan that does not contain such a provision, provided that the restrictions of benefits to network providers result in substantial differences in claims costs. A carrier may develop its rates based on claims costs due to network provider reimbursement schedules or type of network. This subsection does not restrict or enhance the portability of benefits as provided in RCW 48.43.015.

(i) Adjusted community rates established under this section shall pool the medical experience of all groups purchasing coverage including the development of allowable factors under (a) and (h) of this subsection. The development of these factors or benefit relativities must be based on the carrier’s company-wide credible study or a large study developed by an actuarial consultant or other method accepted by the commissioner.

(4) ((The health benefit plans authorized by this section that are lower than the required offering shall not supplant or supersede any existing policy for the benefit of employees in this state.)) Nothing in this section shall restrict the right of employees to collectively bargain for insurance providing benefits in excess of those provided herein.

(5)(a) Except as provided in this subsection, requirements used by a contractor in determining whether to provide coverage to a small employer shall be applied uniformly among all small employers applying for coverage or receiving coverage from the carrier.

(i) One hundred percent of eligible employees working for groups with three or less employees; and
(ii) Seventy-five percent of eligible employees working for groups with more than three employees.

(c) In applying minimum participation requirements with respect to a small employer, a small employer shall not consider employees or dependents who have similar existing coverage in determining whether the applicable percentage of participation is met.

(d) A contractor may not increase any requirement for minimum employee participation or modify any requirement for minimum employer contribution applicable to a small employer at any time after the small employer has been accepted for coverage.

(6) A contractor must offer coverage to all eligible employees of a small employer and their dependents. A contractor may not offer coverage to only certain individuals or dependents in a small employer group or to only part of the group. A contractor may not modify a health plan with respect to a small employer or any eligible employee or dependent, through riders, endorsements or otherwise, to restrict or exclude coverage or benefits for specific diseases, medical conditions, or services otherwise covered by the plan.

(7) As used in this section, "health benefit plan," "small employer," and "wellness activities" mean the same as defined in RCW 48.43.005.

(ii) Changes to the health benefit plan requested by the individual; or
(iii) Changes in government requirements affecting the health benefit plan.

(g) For the purposes of this section, a health benefit plan that contains a restricted network provision shall not be considered similar coverage to a health benefit plan that does not contain such a provision, provided that the restrictions of benefits to network providers result in substantial differences in claims costs. This subsection does not restrict or enhance the portability of benefits as provided in RCW 48.43.015.

(a) The health maintenance organization shall develop its rates based on an adjusted community rate and may only vary the adjusted community rate for:

(i) Geographic area;
(ii) Family size;
(iii) Age; and
(iv) Wellness activities.

(b) The adjustment for age in (a)(iii) of this subsection may not use age brackets smaller than five-year increments, which shall begin with age twenty and end with age sixty-five. Employees under the age of twenty shall be treated as those age twenty.

(c) The health maintenance organization shall be permitted to develop separate rates for individuals age sixty-five or older for coverage for which medicare is the primary payer and coverage for which medicare is not the primary payer. Both rates shall be subject to the requirements of this subsection (3).

(d) The permitted rates for any age group shall be no more than four hundred twenty-five percent of the lowest rate for all age groups on January 1, 1996, four hundred percent on January 1, 1997, and three hundred seventy-five percent on January 1, 2000, and thereafter.

(e) A discount for wellness activities shall be permitted to reflect actuarially justified differences in utilization or cost attributed to such programs (not to exceed twenty percent).

(f) The rate charged for a health benefit plan offered under this section may not be adjusted more frequently than annually except that the premium may be changed to reflect:

(i) Changes to the enrollment of the small employer;
(ii) Changes to the family composition of the employee;
(iii) Changes to the health benefit plan requested by the small employer; or
(iv) Changes in government requirements affecting the health benefit plan.

(g) Rating factors shall produce premiums for identical groups that differ only by the amounts attributable to plan design, with the exception of discounts for health improvement programs.

(h) For the purposes of this section, a health benefit plan that contains a restricted network provision shall not be considered similar coverage to a health benefit plan that does not contain such a provision, provided that the restrictions of benefits to network providers result in substantial differences in claims costs. A carrier may develop its rates based on claims costs due to network provider reimbursement schedules or type of network. This subsection does not restrict or enhance the portability of benefits as provided in RCW 48.43.015.

(4) The health benefit plans authorized by this section that are lower than the required offering shall not supplant or supersede any existing policy for the benefit of employees in this state.

(5)(a) Except as provided in this subsection, requirements used by a health maintenance organization in determining whether to provide coverage to a small employer shall be applied uniformly among all small employers applying for coverage or receiving coverage from the carrier.

(b) A health maintenance organization shall not require a minimum participation level greater than:

(i) One hundred percent of eligible employees working for groups with three or less employees; and
(ii) Seventy-five percent of eligible employees working for groups with more than three employees.

(c) In applying minimum participation requirements with respect to a small employer, a small employer shall not consider employees or dependents who have similar existing coverage in determining whether the applicable percentage of participation is met.

(d) A health maintenance organization may not increase any requirement for minimum employee participation or modify any requirement for minimum employer contribution applicable to a small employer at any time after the small employer has been accepted for coverage.

(e) A health maintenance organization must offer coverage to all eligible employees of a small employer and their dependents. A health maintenance organization may not offer coverage to only certain individuals or dependents in a small employer group or to only part of the group. A health maintenance organization may not modify a health plan with respect to a small employer or any eligible employee or dependent, through riders, endorsements or otherwise, to restrict or exclude coverage or benefits for specific diseases, medical conditions, or services otherwise covered by the plan.

(7) As used in this section, "health benefit plan," "small employer," and "wellness activities" mean the same as defined in RCW 48.43.005.

RESOLUTION

HOUSE RESOLUTION NO. 2004-4699. By Representatives Lovick, Pettigrew and D. Simpson

WHEREAS, The strength of America is embodied in its guarantee of life, liberty, equality, justice, and the right to pursue happiness for all its people; a guarantee that is predicated, in part, upon universal education for all children, the right to vote, and the right to fully participate in the civic life of the American community; and

WHEREAS, During the early years of America’s history, under state and local laws in parts of the country, African-American children were enslaved and denied the right to any education, and when those laws were overturned at the end of the civil war, African-American and Caucasian children, through local segregation laws, were denied the right to learn together in the same schools and colleges; and

WHEREAS, 2004 is the fiftieth anniversary of Brown v. Board of Education, a landmark decision in which the Supreme Court unanimously declared that separate was inherently unequal, segregation was illegal, and all American children, regardless of the colors of their skins, had the right to study and learn together in the same schools and colleges; and

WHEREAS, Brown v. Board of Education began to break down the legal structures that denied African-Americans the right to fully participate in the country’s educational system, and paved the way for the African-Americans and other Americans to work together to fulfill the dream so eloquently articulated by Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., that all people would be judged on the content of their characters instead of the color of their skins; and

WHEREAS, Brown v. Board of Education was the first legal victory in almost one hundred years for a civic structure that was based on "One America," a victory that helped inspire African-Americans and other Americans to work together for equality in other aspects of American life, leading to freedom marches, the Civil Rights Law of 1965, and the Voting Rights Act of 1965; and

WHEREAS, While African-Americans and other Americans have made honorable attempts to provide educational equality for all children, an achievement gap in education and higher education is delaying the fulfillment of the dream of "One America" for many children, including children from African-American, Hispanic-American, and American Indian heritages, children from low-income backgrounds, children with disabilities, and immigrant children for whom English is not their families' first language; and
WHEREAS, The achievement gap, which includes lower academic achievement levels, higher school and college dropout rates, lower school and college graduation rates, lower levels of college and graduate school admissions for children from different ethnic, racial, and socio-economic backgrounds, impedes the abilities of these children to fully participate in the economic and civic lives of their communities;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, That the House of Representatives, on behalf of the people of our state, remember with regret the years when the promises of the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution did not apply equally to all Americans and celebrate the fiftieth anniversary of Brown v. Board of Education when the Supreme Court declared that the guarantees of equality in our foundational documents applied equally to all of America’s children; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That as a state and nation, we continue to work together to fulfil the dream of "One America," a land in which all children have equal opportunities to become well educated, to pursue their lives unimpeded by discrimination, and to be judged by the content of their characters instead of the socio-economic circumstances of their families, or the lands of their birth, or the color of their skins; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That a copy of this resolution be immediately transmitted by the Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives to the Governor, the Superintendent of Public Instruction, the members of the superintendent’s multi-ethnic think tank, and the Commission on African-American Affairs.

HOUSE RESOLUTION NO. 4699 was adopted.

(1) Every license shall be issued in the name of the applicant, and the holder thereof shall not allow any other person to use the license.

(2) For the purpose of considering any application for a license, the board may cause an inspection of the premises to be made, and may inquire into all matters in connection with the construction and operation of the premises. For the purpose of reviewing any application for a license and for considering the denial, suspension or revocation of any license, the liquor control board may consider any prior criminal conduct of the applicant including a criminal history record information check. The board may submit the criminal history record information check to the Washington state patrol and to the identification division of the federal bureau of investigation in order that these agencies may search their records for prior arrests and convictions of the individual or individuals who filled out the forms. The board shall require fingerprinting of any applicant whose criminal history record information check is submitted to the federal bureau of investigation. The provisions of RCW 9.95.240 and of chapter 9.96A RCW shall not apply to such cases. The board may, in its discretion, grant or refuse the license applied for. Authority to approve an uncontested or unopposed license may be granted by the board to any staff member the board designates in writing. Conditions for granting such authority shall be adopted by rule. No retail license of any kind may be issued to:

(a) A person who has not resided in the state for at least one month prior to making application, except in cases of licenses issued to dining places on railroads, boats, or aircraft;"
(b) A copartnership, unless all of the members thereof are qualified to obtain a license, as provided in this section;

(c) A person whose place of business is conducted by a manager or agent, unless such manager or agent possesses the same qualifications required of the licensee;

(d) A corporation or a limited liability company, unless it was created under the laws of the state of Washington or holds a certificate of authority to transact business in the state of Washington.

(3)(a) The board may, in its discretion, subject to the provisions of RCW 66.08.150, suspend or cancel any license; and all rights of the licensee to keep or sell liquor thereunder shall be suspended or terminated, as the case may be.

(b) The board shall immediately suspend the license or certificate of a person who has been certified pursuant to RCW 74.20A.320 by the department of social and health services as a person who is not in compliance with a support order. If the person has continued to meet all other requirements for reinstatement during the suspension, reissuance of the license or certificate shall be automatic upon the board’s receipt of a release issued by the department of social and health services stating that the licensee is in compliance with the order.

(c) The board may request the appointment of administrative law judges under chapter 34.12 RCW who shall have power to administer oaths, issue subpoenas for the attendance of witnesses and the production of papers, books, accounts, documents, and testimony, examine witnesses, and to receive testimony in any inquiry, investigation, hearing, or proceeding in any part of the state, under such rules and regulations as the board may adopt.

(d) Witnesses shall be allowed fees and mileage each way to and from any such inquiry, investigation, hearing, or proceeding at the rate authorized by RCW 34.05.446, as now or hereafter amended. Fees need not be paid in advance of appearance of witnesses to testify or to produce books, records, or other legal evidence.

(e) In case of disobedience of any person to comply with the order of the board or a subpoena issued by the board, or any of its members, or administrative law judges, or on the refusal of a witness to testify to any matter regarding which he or she may be lawfully interrogated, the judge of the superior court of the county in which the person resides, on application of any member of the board or administrative law judge, shall compel obedience by contempt proceedings, as in the case of disobedience of the requirements of a subpoena issued from said court or a refusal to testify therein.

(4) Upon receipt of notice of the suspension or cancellation of a license, the licensee shall forthwith deliver up the license to the board. Where the license has been suspended only, the board shall return the license to the licensee at the expiration or termination of the period of suspension. The board shall notify all vendors in the city or place where the licensee has its premises of the suspension or cancellation of the license; and no employee may allow or cause any liquor to be delivered to or for any person at the premises of that licensee.

(5)(a) At the time of the original issuance of a spirits, beer, and wine restaurant license, the board shall prorate the license fee charged to the new licensee according to the number of calendar quarters, or portion thereof, remaining until the first renewal of that license is required.

(b) Unless sooner canceled, every license issued by the board shall expire at midnight of the thirtieth day of June of the fiscal year for which it was issued. However, if the board deems it feasible and desirable to do so, it may establish, by rule pursuant to chapter 34.05 RCW, a system for staggering the annual renewal dates for any and all licenses authorized by this chapter. If such a system of staggered annual renewal dates is established by the board, the license fees provided by this chapter shall be appropriately prorated during the first year that the system is in effect.

(6) Every license issued under this section shall be subject to all conditions and restrictions imposed by this title or by the regulations in force from time to time. All conditions and restrictions imposed by the board in the issuance of an individual license shall be listed on the face of the individual license along with the trade name, address, and expiration date.

(7) Every licensee shall post and keep posted its license, or licenses, in a conspicuous place on the premises.

(8)(a) Unless (b) of this subsection applies, before the board ((shall)) issues a license to an applicant it shall give notice of such application to the chief executive officer of the incorporated city or town, if the application ((be)) is for a license within an incorporated city or town, or to the county legislative authority, if the application ((be)) is for a license outside the boundaries of incorporated cities or towns((and such)).

(b) If the application for a special occasion license is for an event held during a county, district, or area fair as defined by RCW 15.76.120, and the county, district, or area fair is located on property owned by the county but located within an incorporated city or town, the county legislative authority shall be the entity notified by the board under (a) of this subsection. The board shall send a duplicate notice to the incorporated city or town within which the fair is located.

(c) The incorporated city or town((of)) through the official or employee selected by it, or the county legislative authority or the official or employee selected by it, shall have the right to file with the board within twenty days after date of transmittal of such notice, written objections against the applicant or against the premises for which the license is asked((of)).
(d) The written objections shall include (with such objections) a statement of all facts upon which such objections are based, and in case written objections are filed, may request and the liquor control board may in its discretion hold a formal hearing subject to the applicable provisions of Title 34 RCW.

(e) Upon the granting of a license under this title the board shall send a duplicate of the license or written notification to the chief executive officer of the incorporated city or town in which the license is granted, or to the county legislative authority if the license is granted outside the boundaries of incorporated cities or towns. When the license is for a special occasion license for an event held during a county, district, or area fair as defined by RCW 15.76.120, and the county, district, or area fair is located on county-owned property but located within an incorporated city or town, the duplicate shall be sent to both the incorporated city or town and the county legislative authority.

(9) Before the board issues any license to any applicant, it shall give (a) due consideration to the location of the business to be conducted under such license with respect to the proximity of churches, schools, and public institutions and (b) written notice by certified mail of the application to churches, schools, and public institutions within five hundred feet of the premises to be licensed. The board shall issue no beer retailer license for either on-premises or off-premises consumption or wine retailer license for either on-premises or off-premises consumption or spirits, beer, and wine restaurant license covering any premises not now licensed, if such premises are within five hundred feet of the premises of any tax-supported public elementary or secondary school measured along the most direct route over or across established public walks, streets, or other public passageway from the outer property line of the school grounds to the nearest public entrance of the premises proposed for license, and if, after receipt by the school or public institution of the notice as provided in this subsection, the board receives written notice, within twenty days after posting such notice, from an official representative or representatives of the school within five hundred feet of said proposed licensed premises, indicating to the board that there is an objection to the issuance of such license because of proximity to a school. For the purpose of this section, church shall mean a building erected for and used exclusively for religious worship and schooling or other activity in connection therewith. No liquor license may be issued or reissued by the board to any motor sports facility or licensee operating within the motor sports facility unless the motor sports facility enforces a program reasonably calculated to prevent alcohol or alcoholic beverages not purchased within the facility from entering the facility and such program is approved by local law enforcement agencies. It is the intent under this subsection that a retail license shall not be issued by the board where doing so would, in the judgment of the board, adversely affect a private school meeting the requirements for private schools under Title 28A RCW, which school is within five hundred feet of the proposed licensee. The board shall fully consider and give substantial weight to objections filed by private schools. If a license is issued despite the proximity of a private school, the board shall state in a letter addressed to the private school the board’s reasons for issuing the license.

(10) The restrictions set forth in subsection (9) of this section shall not prohibit the board from authorizing the assumption of existing licenses now located within the restricted area by other persons or licenses or relocations of existing licensed premises within the restricted area. In no case may the licensed premises be moved closer to a church or school than it was before the assumption or relocation.

(11) Nothing in this section prohibits the board, in its discretion, from issuing a temporary retail or distributor license to an applicant assuming an existing retail or distributor license to continue the operation of the retail or distributor premises during the period the application for the license is pending and when the following conditions exist:

(a) The licensed premises has been operated under a retail or distributor license within ninety days of the date of filing the application for a temporary license;

(b) The retail or distributor license for the premises has been surrendered pursuant to issuance of a temporary operating license;

(c) The application for the temporary license has filed with the board an application to assume the retail or distributor license at such premises to himself or herself; and

(d) The application for a temporary license is accompanied by a temporary license fee established by the board by rule.

A temporary license issued by the board under this section shall be for a period not to exceed sixty days. A temporary license may be extended at the discretion of the board for an additional sixty-day period upon payment of an additional fee and upon compliance with all conditions required in this section.

Refusal by the board to issue or extend a temporary license shall not entitle the applicant to request a hearing. A temporary license may be canceled or suspended summarily at any time if the board determines that good cause for cancellation or suspension exists. RCW 66.08.130 and chapter 34.05 RCW shall apply to temporary licenses.

Application for a temporary license shall be on such form as the board shall prescribe. If an application for a temporary license is withdrawn before issuance or is refused by the board, the fee which accompanied such application shall be refunded in full.

Sec. 2. RCW 66.24.380 and 1997 c 321 s 24 are each amended to read as follows:

There shall be a retailer’s license to be designated as a special occasion license to be issued to a not-for-profit society or organization to sell spirits, beer, and wine by the individual serving for on-premises consumption at a specified event, such as at picnics or other special occasions, at a specified date and place; fee sixty dollars per day.

(1) The not-for-profit society or organization is limited to sales of no more than twelve calendar days per year. For the purposes of this subsection, special occasion licensees that are "agricultural area fairs" or "agricultural county, district, and area fairs," as defined by RCW 15.76.120, that receive a special occasion license may, once per calendar year, count as one event fairs that last multiple days, so long as alcohol sales are at set dates, times, and locations, and the board receives prior notification of the dates, times, and locations. The special occasion license applicant will pay the sixty dollars per day for this event.

(2) The licensee may sell beer and/or wine in original, unopened containers for off-premises consumption if permission is obtained from the board prior to the event.

(3) Sale, service, and consumption of spirits, beer, and wine is to be confined to specified premises or designated areas only.

(4) Spirituous liquor sold under this special occasion license must be purchased at a state liquor store or agency without discount at retail prices, including all taxes.

(5) Any violation of this section is a class 1 civil infraction having a maximum penalty of two hundred fifty dollars as provided for in chapter 7.80 RCW."
