On page 2, after line 17, insert the following:

"Sec. 3. RCW 84.55.092 and 1998 c 16 s 3 are each reenacted and amended to read as follows:

(1) The regular property tax levy for each taxing district other than the state may be set at the amount which would be allowed otherwise under this chapter if the regular property tax levy for the district for taxes due in prior years beginning with 1986 had been set at the full amount allowed under this chapter including any levy authorized under RCW 52.16.160 that would have been imposed but for the limitation in RCW 52.18.065, applicable upon imposition of the benefit charge under chapter 52.18 RCW. To set a regular property tax levy at an amount authorized under this section, a taxing district shall submit an authorization proposition to the voters for approval by a majority of the voters of the taxing district voting on the proposition. The proposition shall be voted on at an election held not more than twelve months prior to the date in which the proposed regular property tax is to be levied.

(2) The purpose of this section is to remove the incentive for a taxing district to maintain its tax levy at the maximum level permitted under this chapter, and to protect the future levy capacity of a taxing district that reduces its tax levy below the level that it otherwise could impose under this chapter, by removing the adverse consequences to future levy capacities resulting from such levy reductions."

Renumber the remaining sections consecutively and correct the title.

POINT OF ORDER

Representative Springer requested a Scope and Object ruling on amendment (945) to House Bill No. 2416.

SPEAKER'S RULING

Mr. Speaker (Representative Lovick presiding): "House Bill No. 2416 is titled an act relating to "reinstating the one percent property tax limit factor adopted by the voters under Initiative Measure No. 747." The bill is short and simple. Its purpose is as straightforward as its title. It reinstates the Initiative 747 limitation on regular property tax levy growth that was recently invalidated by the Washington Supreme Court.

The amendment is unrelated to the property tax limit factor and raises issues that were simply not addressed by Initiative 747. The Speaker therefore finds the amendment beyond the scope and object of the bill.

Representative Springer, your point of order is well taken."

There being no objection, the rules were suspended, the second reading considered the third and the bill was placed on final passage.

Representative Simpson spoke against passage of the bill.

The Speaker (Representative Lovick presiding) stated the question before the House to be the final passage of House Bill No. 2416.

SPEAKER'S PRIVILEGE

I tremendously appreciate all the work, time and effort you have put in here on behalf of the entire House. I know how difficult this job is – it is exhausting to stand up here. One time, a couple of years ago, I was up here spelling for John for three hours – you guys were droning on and on – and physically I was exhausted. I reminded me how much John has contributed to this whole effort because not only is his mind and soul with it but also his entire body is involved.

I also want to say that in the tone John has set as a statesman has been absolutely tremendous. I am so glad that gentlelady from the 24th District and the gentleman from the 20th District talked about that. It is incredibly important for us to work together and do the people's business. You have always done it with a sense of confidence, with respect and with a smile. I totally appreciate that.

Will all of you join me in recognizing Sheriff John Lovick."

"Sec. 12. RCW 84.38.030 and 2006 c 62 § 3 are each amended to read as follows: A claimant may defer payment of special assessments and/or real property taxes on up to eighty percent of the amount of the claimant's equity value in the claimant's residence if the following conditions are met:

(1) The claimant must meet all requirements for an exemption for the residence under RCW 84.36.381, other than the age and income limits under RCW 84.36.381.

(2) The claimant must be sixty years of age or older on December 31st of the year in which the deferral claim is filed, or must have been, at the time of filing, retired from regular gainful employment by reason of physical disability: PROVIDED, That any surviving spouse of a person who was receiving a deferral at the time of the person's death shall qualify if the surviving spouse is fifty-seven years of age or older and otherwise meets the requirements of this section.

(4) The claimant must own, at the time of filing, the residence on which the special assessment and/or real property taxes have been imposed. For purposes of this subsection, a residence owned by a marital community or owned by cotenants shall be deemed to be owned by each spouse or cotenant. A claimant who has only a share ownership in cooperative housing, a life estate, a lease for life, or a revocable trust does not satisfy the ownership requirement.

(5) The claimant must have and keep in force fire and casualty insurance in sufficient amount to protect the interest of the state in the claimant's equity value: PROVIDED, That if the claimant fails to keep fire and casualty insurance in force to the extent of the state's interest in the claimant's equity value, the amount deferred shall not exceed one hundred percent of the claimant's equity value in the land or lot only.

(6) In the case of special assessment deferral, the claimant must have opted for payment of such special assessments on the installment method if such method was available."

Correct the title and renumber the remaining sections consecutively.

POINT OF ORDER

Representative Springer requested a Scope and Object ruling on amendment (949) to Substitute Senate Bill No. 6178.

SPEAKER'S RULING

Mr. Speaker (Representative Lovick presiding): "Substitute Senate Bill No. 6178 is titled an act relating to "providing a fifty percent property tax deferral for households with income of fifty seven thousand or less."

The bill creates a new property tax deferral program for households meeting specified eligibility criteria.

Amendment (949) does not address or in any way affect the new property tax deferral program that is the subject of the underlying bill. Instead, it changes eligibility requirements for a different property tax deferral program already in current law. The Speaker therefore finds that the amendment is beyond the scope and object of the bill.

Representative Springer, your point of order is well taken."

ELECTION OF SPEAKER PRO TEMPORE

Representative Linville: "It is my pleasure, Mr. Speaker to put the name of Representative Jeff Morris in nomination as Speaker Pro Tempore. Representative Morris was first elected to the House in 1996. In that time, he has served as Floor Leader, as chair of the Committee on Finance and recently chair of the Committee on Technology, Energy and Communications. I have know Representative Morris for over twenty years and believe that he has the upmost respect for the institution that we all represent here in Olympia. I think he will do wonderful work for the people of the State of Washington.

Let me give you a couple of examples of how Representative Morris will work to represent all the people on the floor of this house. He is past president of the Pacific Northwest Economic Region and also past chair of the Council of State Governments of the West. In both of those capacities Representative Morris worked very strongly for energy issues. He has emerged as a leader in energy. In these capacities he has worked across partisan lines to make very good resolutions to the important energy issues we have in this state.

I think people in this body will benefit from his leadership and I think he will uphold the ideals of human dignity and respect that the House of Representatives has been founded on. Representative Morris is a true friend of mine and a respected and trusted colleague. I ask you support him in this nomination as Speaker Pro Tempore."

MOTIONS

Representative Kessler moved that the nominations for the Office of Speaker Pro Tempore of the House of Representatives be closed. The motion was carried.

Representative Linville escorted Speaker Pro Tempore Jeff Morris to the Rostrum.

OATH OF OFFICE

Justice Owens administered the Oath of Office to Speaker Pro Tempore Morris.

SPEAKER PRO TEMPORE'S REMARKS

Representative Morris: "I am humbled at the privilege of serving you as the seventeenth Speaker Pro Tempore of the Washington State House of Representatives. I thank you for that.

I want to thank my family. I am surprised my wife, Jenny Lay-Flurrie is here because she started back to work last week after maternity leave caring for our daughter Fira. She also had a meeting she just couldn't miss - I understood. So I am very pleased she is here today. We have been married a little under two years and she has been learning firsthand what it is like to be married to an elected official. I know that all the families in here understand as well. It truly is an unique experience and a privilege at the sometime. I want to thank my other children, Miranda, Trevor and Madison who have mostly only known me as an elected official. That has presented a really unique challenge to them as children. I want to thank them.

I came stumbling into my new office this morning which had been moved into my predecessor’s office. I opened the top drawer of the desk. My predecessor had left me a book “What Have You Gotten Yourself Into?” I follow in the footsteps of Speaker Pro Tempore John Lovick – now Sheriff Lovick. He is a friend and a colleague who led this Chamber with fairness and integrity. I pledge to uphold those same standards to you and will wheeled the gavel in an even handed and impartial manner.

I have been fortunate to represent this House and the State of Washington to a few regional organizations. I have gotten to know the Speakers in places like Idaho, Oregon and New Mexico. I have spent a lot of time with the Speakers to the north in British Columbia, in Alberta and even the Yukon Territory. Parliamentary systems are quite different. The Speaker of the House and the Deputy Speaker in those systems are the keepers of the House for the people. They do not work for the majority or minority party in those systems but they are there for the people. Our system here is a little bit different than that but I will strive to be fair and prudent in holding the decorum of debate to the expectations development over the time of democracy.

Washington is the second largest state in the West behind California. If you added Arizona with Washington and California, you would have 80 percent of the entire population in the Rocky Mountain-Pacific time zones. Our prosperous, intellectually engaging and ever-growing population here in the Evergreen State present us with many opportunities in order to learn how to govern more effectively and efficiently. Unfortunately they give us these great opportunities in a very short sixty day session every other year. In our unique mix of natural resources and innovation economies present these challenges under a very intense time limit that tests the limits of our patience and our civility. In those times, however, I ask each of you reflect upon the trust and hope each of you carries as an elected leader in this State. Out of this pressure cooker comes examples for all of our follow state of how to innovate and to create policies that help people regardless of their geographic location, education level or income class. This institution has been here for over one hundred years and will be here for hundreds of more. But we have the duty to uphold the honor of this institution in the tradition that has gone before us and the tradition we will set here everyday. The clock is ticking – tomorrow is day fifty nine. Let's get to work for one Washington.

Thank you very much for your trust in me."

ELECTION OF DEPUTY SPEAKER PRO TEMPORE

Representative Fromhold: "Thank you. I would like to nominate Representative Jim Moeller from the 49th Legislative District for the position of Deputy Speaker Pro Tempore.

When Jim was elected in 2002 to replace then retiring State Representative Val Ogden who also served as Speaker Pro Tempore in this body, he noted that he had "big shoes to fill." It is an honor for me as his seatmate to hopefully give him an opportunity to fill those shoes.

Representative Moeller is known amongst us as being both a responsible and committed legislator. In the time that we have served together, Jim has proven time and time again that he is good to his word and he is seriously committed to his duties as a State Legislator both with regard to the bills that he sponsors and works on as well as communication with his constituents. He is an active and caring member in our community as well. He has been a board member of Big Brothers and Sisters of Southwest Washington for six years, a board member of the Clark County Humane Services Council since 2003 and his past contributions include serving on the city council, chair of the Southwest Washington Health District Board, vice chair of the Association of Washington Cities among many other community activities. He was also one of the founding members of the Vancouver Visitor and Convention Bureau in our community. Jim has received numerous honors for his public service and accomplishments. They include the Glenn Galbreath Spirit Award from the Northwest Paralyzed Veterans of America, the Collaboration for Social Change Award from the Greater Seattle Business Association and a service award from the Governor’s Council on Substance Abuse.

Representative Moeller will bring the same qualities he has demonstrated here in this body as well as in our community to the position of Deputy Speaker Pro Tempore. I am proud to nominate my seatmate and ask for your support."

Representative Fromhold escorted Deputy Speaker Pro Tempore Jim Moeller to the Rostrum.

Justice Owens administered the Oath of Office to Deputy Speaker Pro Tempore Moeller.

DEPUTY SPEAKER PRO TEMPORE’S REMARKS

Representative Moeller: "Thank you very much. I am a little nervous. My mom’s watching. I am honored to be elected Deputy Speaker Pro Tempore for the 2008 session. And before I go any further I need to acknowledge and honor the person who is primarily responsible for that – this lady taught me that whenever I fail I need to try again, a little kindness goes a long way and to never ever give up. The former Marine Corp sergeant, my mom, Gladys Moeller.

It is a great privilege to be asked to keep our legislative wheels rolling forward. Yes, we as legislators in many cases represent fundamentally different districts but we as public servants represent fundamentally the same Washington people. We owe to our constituents to do our best and to say and vote as they would if they were in our shoes. Just as surely we owe it to our fellow citizens and to our State as a whole to conduct ourselves in the most constructive and most cooperative ways possible. I know that Speaker Chopp, Speaker Pro Tempore Morris and Minority Leader DeBolt and other leaders of the caucuses work hard as ever to keep each of their members on message. I also know that they will work as hard as ever to keep the institution on a fair, balanced and productive course. I promise you no less from me.

Election of Chief Clerk

Representative Lantz: "Thank you Mr. Speaker. It is with great pleasure and even greater pride that I nominate Barbara Baker for Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives.

Barbara Baker comes with the attributes of a potentially truly great clerk. I know because I have worked closely with her on judiciary issues for over a decade and have benefited immeasurably from her skills. Members of both sides of aisle have come to appreciate those skills and benefit from them as well. I know her as a consummate professional. She is a lawyer who lives the rule of law. She is a manager and administrator who consistently demonstrates respect of others and how to maintain trust. She exercises discretion, maintaining appropriate and principled confidentiality and respect for privacy. She is organized and delegates confidently. No doubt, she will insure that the House of Representatives functions efficiently, orderly and fairly. And she will do this with an immense respect for the institution we value so much.

All this is true. But here is how I see our friend Barbara Baker. Mr. Speaker, may I please read excerpts from a short poem? 'This is entitled 'To Do of Use' by Marge Piercy.'

The people I love the best jump into work head first without dallying in the shallows and swim off with sure strokes almost out of sight.
They seem to become natives of that element, the black sleek heads of seals bouncing like half submerged balls.

I love people who harness themselves, an ox to a heavy cart, who pull like water buffalo, with massive patience, who strain in the mud and the muck to move things forward, who do what has to be done, again and again.....

The work of the world is common as mud.
Botched, it smears the hands, crumbles to dust.
But the thing worth doing well done has a shape that satisfies, clean and evident.....
The pitcher cries for water to carry and a person for work that is real.

Again, it's my pleasure to nominate Barbara Baker knowing full well she will jump into this new work head first and the do the thing worth doing well. Thank you."

Representative DeBolt: "Thank you, Mr. Speaker. I am pleased to second the nomination of Barbara Baker for Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives. We have had a pleasure working with Barb over the last several years as a policy analyst and also as the Speaker's attorney. Every time we have worked with her, our relationship with her has been one of trust and one of mutual respect. I really appreciate that about her. In fact, if I was going to describe it sometimes as you move through this process, you do need poetry in motion to get there. Barbara brings that because she is so polite, she works with everyone so well. She has a great disposition for the job of Chief Clerk. At times when we get mired down in our cycles that we have, it takes the even hand of the Chief Clerk to help settle some of the disputes that we have. I am confident as is the Republican caucus in her ability to work impartially and to be the administrator we know that we need in the House of Representatives.

I am honored to second the nomination. Thank you."

Motions

Representative Kessler moved that the nominations for the Office of Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives be closed. The motion was carried.

Representative Kessler moved that Barbara Baker elected to the position of Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives. The motion was carried.

Representatives Lantz and De Bolt escorted Chief Clerk Baker to the Rostrum.

Chief Clerk's Remarks

Chief Clerk Baker: "Members and staff of the House – thank you for allowing me the privilege of serving as your Chief Clerk. This is even more of an honor than I first thought when I began the process of deciding for myself whether I was the best person for the job. Since there is no real job description for the chief clerk, I've been studying legislative history and trying to learn as much as possible about those who have been elected to this position in the past. And a wonderful thing about the legislature is that its history is readily accessible because it is one of the few institutions in which its process, as well as its product, has been faithfully recorded in the journals for its entire history.

My excitement in this task led to a long list of items of extreme interest that I just knew would fascinate each and every one of you. I wanted to weave them together to compose this speech – which I thought would conservatively require 30 or so minutes to deliver. Which I was told, to my extreme disappointment, is about 27 minutes more that I am allotted here today. But I do want to take a minute to mention a couple of the 21 men and two women who have so ably served this body as chief clerk in the past.

Our first territorial clerk, Elwood Evans came to Olympia as part of the Stevens survey in 1853. He essentially organized the first Territorial Council in 1854, arranged a loan when there was no money to pay legislative salaries or travel, decided that the coveted position of state printer should be appointed (by the chief clerk) rather than chosen by the legislature – and added insult to injury by appointing a Democrat, even though he was a Republican. He was a successful lawyer, our Territorial Secretary during the Civil war, went on to serve as a member of the First State House in 1889 and then founded and became the first President of the State Bar Association.

And I now get to follow in his footsteps.

Then in a different time, notable for wild political swings, populist uprisings and WW-II, the position of chief clerk was sometimes contested – thewinner often prevailing by just a few votes. Chief clerks of this era anchored the House of Representatives – providing stability in very uncertain times.

Si Holcomb was such a man – barely elected in 1933 and going on to serve this institution for 32 years, until he died in office in 1965. His tenure spanned the two biggest political swings in state history, as well as the odd times in the early ‘60s when the proponents of a single issue, not a party, controlled this body. He was replaced by the legendary Sid Snyder, who served the House until he went on to the Senate in 1969.

Being listed on the pages of history with people such as this is an honor, and probably the most humbling experience of my life.

My grandmother, who had an odd way of looking at life and a saying for every circumstance, used to tell me that when a door opens for you, someone else opened it. For years, I wondered what she was talking about, but like many things, wisdom comes with age and the most important thing I do here today is express my gratitude to each of you for opening this door for me.

I also want to thank my family who has stood by me through 21 years of working in or around this building. Every legislative parent – member or staff - knows the feelings of guilt and inadequacy that comes with the effort to do a good job both at work and at home – especially during the legislative session. My family made it easy for me – Steve, my wonderful husband of 24 years, Clare my daughter who grew up either on her horse or with her nose in a book and is now working in the Timberland library system. My other daughter Tess is watching these proceedings on her computer because she is off in the Caribbean living her dream to work and live on a sailboat. Hi Tess.

And I'd like to thank my friends - several of whom are sitting in the gallery. Together we raised our kids, our spouses and ourselves. It wasn’t always easy.

I can't stop without thanking Bernard Dean, the person who was courageous enough to agree to fill the shoes of our last deputy chief clerk, Bill Wegeleben, who left the House to work for Governor Gregoire. You all no longer get to elect the deputy chief clerk, but as far as I’m concerned, this is a package deal and a vote for me is a vote for us. I think you'll find that we are a good team.

Finally and maybe mostly, I'd like to thank the people who work here – generally referred to as "the staff." As a person who has been a manager for several years, I have to say that my worst problem was always getting people to go home. Their degree of commitment to this process is astounding – even more so because the professional pride, camaraderie and perfectionism of which I speak spans all job classifications and political persuasions.

This is, in part, a tribute to all of you. And at some level it comes down to the fact that we are all working for the same things:

- we all want to feel safe in our homes
- we all want to have homes
- we all want good systems of health care and education
- we all want business to be strong to provide good jobs and
- we all want to live in a healthy environment

Everybody in this state wants these things and more. And we well understand that it is your job to determine the best ways to effectuate these goals and to engage in the tricky balancing of priorities this process entails. But then each of us gets to do our part to help you get there. In that way, your trust in us allows each one of us to feel that we are part of the very important process of governing this great state. There is no better job in the world.

In closing, I'd like to leave a note for anyone who might be sitting in the halls at night as I did, reading musty old journals 25 or 50 or 100 years from now. I'd like you to know that we are thinking about the future as we work to solve the problems of the present. As for me, I hope that my tenure as chief clerk will be viewed as one of fairness and integrity. And I'm sure that every person in this room joins me in the wish that our individual and collective efforts are useful and valuable to you as you set out to work on issues of which we can't even conceive today. Good luck to you in the future.

And a final thanks to all of you in the present - we won't let you down. "Thanks again."

The Speaker thanked Supreme Court Justice Susan Owens for her assistance and asked the special committee to escort Justice Owens from the Chamber.

DELEGATION FROM THE SENATE

The Sergeant at Arms announced that the delegates from the Senate were at the door, were escorted to the Rostrum and Senators McDermott, Kaufman and King reported that the Senate was organized and ready for business.

SPEAKER’S REMARKS
Mr. Speaker: "Well, according to this script, it's now time for a few remarks from me. Once again, welcome back to the people's House. This is a short session, so this speech will be short.

Let's start by recognizing the Republican Leader, Richard DeBolt.

Let's recognize our Majority Leader Lynn Kessler.

And before I go any further, I'd like to recognize the leader in my house, my wife, Nancy Long.

It is altogether fitting in this House of the people, that a major issue before us concerns the homes of our people. There is nothing more fundamental to the American Dream, than the place we call home. It's one of those kitchen table issues that families talk about when they find time to share a meal together. When I was growing up in Bremerton, where my Dad worked in the shipyard and my mom was a homemaker and a cafeteria worker, my parents were able to buy a surplus Navy housing unit for our home. Guess how much they paid? $300 dollars!

My parents moved the small building to a large lot, and the with a lot of sweat equity, proceeded to fix it up as times went by. My Dad insisted on never, ever going more than $2000 in debt to the bank. With the view of the Olympic mountains out our windows, it was a great place to grow up. It was a great place to call home.

Well times have changed. As we keep up with the changing times, and at the beginning of a new session, let us remember why we are here: to represent our people.

Let us remember the farm families contending with the aftermath of floodwaters.

Let us remember the young couple misled by a broker, facing a rising tide of debt and the terror of losing their home.

Let us remember the homeless woman and her kids adrift on a sea of uncertainty.

Let us remember the maid and the janitor, cleaning up our offices and hotel rooms, facing a long ride home to an apartment where they can barely afford to live at the end of each day.

These are not isolated individuals on their own. They are part of our community. The issues they face affect all of us in so many ways. These human stories represent a challenge to our economy, our transportation system, our opportunities for education, and our responsibility to care for one another.

Challenges they are, but opportunities as well. So don't get depressed — let's get energized and organized!

I know you are up to the challenge. When I look at the 227 bills already pre-filed, I have no doubt about your energy levels. As a side note, will the Sergeant at Arms please inform Representative O'Brien that we may have to physically restrain any member from introducing too many bills.

By the way, it's great to have lots of ideas. Our job is to think up, and think through new ideas, consider different points of view, enact legislation, and make investments that will have a lasting, positive impact on the lives of our people.

So let's get on with our ideas in mind for the work at hand. As you might guess, I have a few ideas of my own to share. As part of our Home Security agenda, here's an idea:

Double the Housing Trust Fund to help the victims of the recent floods, as well as homeless families and veterans, and people with developmental disabilities. And we could make sure that our Housing Finance Commission will focus more on non-profit housing development, so that equity could be built in the public interest, and rents kept low for tens of thousands of homes, forever.

This could provide affordable housing so that the workforce could live closer to the workplace. But more importantly, this would help us fulfill our moral responsibility to our fellow human beings and, at the same time, match the dollars being invested by private sources, such as the Gates Foundation. I must say that we are very grateful that the largest charitable foundation in world history decided to make Washington its home. By the way, years ago, Bill Gates Senior lived in Bremerton for a while, so that might explain things.

As part of our early learning agenda, here's an idea: Consolidate the state's ECEAP programs into Head Start. This could lessen government rules as a single program, keep higher standards, and actually be understandable to the general public.

As part of our education agenda, here's an idea: Build on our historic investments in school construction and create a Community Schools focus, that would open up school buildings for community use, co-locate service and recreation programs, like the Boys and Girls Clubs, and dedicate surplus school buildings for community centers, as well as affordable housing for teachers. This could maximize the taxpayer's contribution to our public schools, and bring in partners to help educate our kids. And we could plan ahead for future budgets, to make sure there's greater funding for basic education to meet the needs of our students, and help our teachers and school employees catch up for the two years when we did not fund the salary increases as the voters instructed us to do, through Initiative 732.

As part of our higher education agenda, here's an idea: Pass a "Truth in Tuition" law that would inform students and their parents about how much the taxpayers are helping them out, and what their fair share is. This could be a big eye-opener when people realize that the average University of Washington student is far more subsidized than a TANF recipient. This could help remind students about giving back to society as they go about the rest of their lives, and remind all of us why it's important to invest in our future. Maybe this could build on our effort for Opportunity Grants for students being educated for real jobs in the real world.

As part of our health care agenda, here's an idea: Make sure that the legislation for children's health care, which is clearly one of the best in the nation, is implemented in a cost-effective way, with one director in charge of a streamlined structure, working to ensure a family doctor for every one of our kids. This could remind everyone that passing legislation is only 50% of our job, and that follow-through and oversight is equally important for legislators to get done!

As part of our transportation agenda, here's an idea: Cut the headquarters overhead of the ferry system, and refocus the savings into ferry operations and new boats. This could be a big help for commuters who depend on our state ferries to ride the waves home every night, safe and sound.

As part of our ag and environment agendas, here's an idea: Help local school districts to buy fresh fruits and vegetables produced by local farms across our state. This could be a boost for our economy and our kids, as we continue our partnership with agriculture in our state, so that our farmers can thrive in the global marketplace.

While discussing global issues, here's another idea: We can and must take a lead role in addressing the threat of climate change. From safeguarding water supplies for farms, to protecting coastal communities from floods, we owe it to ourselves and future generations to take action As we move forward on all these ideas and issues, we must always look for win/wins for One Washington. In this Washington, we have been well served by this agenda. I can only hope that at the federal level, there will emerge an agenda for One Nation, under God, with liberty and justice for all.
So in that spirit of working together, I'd like to conclude, by asking the brand new members of our House to please stand. You have the honor and the obligation to represent the people, and the public interest. To help you get a great start, will all the members of the House now please stand and join together to give a resounding welcome to our new members. Welcome aboard!

You are now part of One Washington!"

POINT OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Representative DeBolt: "Thank you, Mr. Speaker. How about a round of applause for the Speaker of the House?

I worked hard writing a speech and I never stick to it. I want to talk about this session and what it represents for our caucus. It is a short session, 60 days with a fevered pitch. We said this two years ago, we could barely keep up. One of the things I know is that we cannot ignore the issues facing Washington State. Those issues are important to each and every citizen of Washington State today. Those issues for us are honoring the promises that we have made on transportation, making sure the dollars that we have committed are spent to help get people out of traffic. Think about it. Are you any better off in the congestion you are in before we passed the gas tax? No, you are not. We have to do something this year. What are we going to do about keeping our families safe and putting families before felons? Are our streets safer today? We need to make sure they are. We need to give choices back to families on health and give them the opportunity to provide affordable health care for their families and themselves.

We have ideas. We want to fund education first. We want to take the politics out of education. We want to have the opportunity to say we should fully fund education and this is what our education budget would like. We need to fund the fundamentals of our schools. We are not doing that. Instead we face more unfunded mandates. We should do that this session.

I think it is important to remember that every dollar that we have in Olympia comes from the taxpayer. I think about the flood in my district and the resiliency showed by the State of Washington. Not only for the people in my district that were digging out of three feet of mud and six feet of water, the thirteen hundred families displaced, but the amount of caring that came from Washington State because the one thing we know, Mr. Speaker, is that we do care about each other. Volunteers came from all over to help us to overcome the tragedy we are facing but it is only begun. Unlike other climates, when you have a tropical storm, it dries out. Not here. We are getting more rain. We have no more ditches left to maintain our infrastructure so the water just keeps coming in. We have to think to ourselves, if Government cannot step up then, when can Government step up to help? We have to make sure we provide a solution that fits for all the communities. All the communities in Washington State that are facing the environmental issues that we are facing. We need to make sure we do what is best for the citizens of Washington State this session.

As long as we are on ideas, I have one idea and maybe you will give it to me, Mr. Speaker. How about for every two bills you pass you give us one? And then I think, Mr. Speaker, we would have 'One Washington'. Thank you very much and I look forward to this session."
Representative Kessler spoke in favor of the adoption of the resolution.

We pray that we will be concerned not only about the haves but the have-nots in society. May we show equal concern for the least and the locked-out and the locked-in and the locked-up and the locked-out in society. May this be a productive session of our Legislature. May the State of Washington signal to the rest of the nation and the world what deliberative bodies can and do be when they come together on one accord with the cause of humanity.

Now grant us wisdom, grant us courage that we fail not man nor Thee. For we pray this prayer in Your Name. Amen."

STATE OF THE STATE

Governor Gregoire: "Mr. President, Mr. Speaker, Mr. Chief Justice, distinguished justices of the court, honored officials, members of the Washington State Legislature, former governors, tribal leaders, local government officials, members of the Consular Association of Washington, my fellow citizens:

Good evening. It is an honor once again to stand before you and talk about the state of this great state. In the past three years, we have tackled tough problems and made great progress to improve the lives of Washingtonians, and we are not done.

I’m mindful tonight that our greatest civil rights leader – Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. – was born 79 years ago today. This is an especially auspicious day for me to share with you the hope and optimism I feel for Washington, a state where we know we are better because of diversity and where we value equality in the same spirit as Dr. King.

Thank you, Reverend McKinney, for starting us off this evening with the opening prayer. We are honored to have you here.
And thank you Sarah (Samuelson) for the outstanding national anthem. I’ve known Sarah since she was a little girl. I’m proud of you, Sarah.

My husband, Mike, is with me tonight. Mike’s not only a great husband, my best friend, and a great dad, he’s been a great partner in the progress we have made. I’d also like to introduce Mike’s mother, Mary Gregoire, his brother Denny, Denny’s wife, Barb, and their family.

Mike has promoted children’s and family literacy by visiting each of our 39 counties to read to third graders in more than 60 schools. The kids enjoy the book Mike reads – "The True Story of the Three Little Pigs". In the book, the Big Bad Wolf puts such a spin on things to defend himself. He explains that all he was doing was trying to borrow a cup of sugar for his dear old Granny’s birthday cake. But the media blew everything out of proportion with all that huff, and puff, and Big Bad Wolf stuff. Next thing you know – the wolf will be opposed to pork barrel politics.

Mike’s other passion is helping veterans. His focus is contagious, and I believe we’ve passed more legislation to assist veterans than at any time in state history. Please give a hand to Mike and yourselves for all we’ve done to serve those who served us so bravely and so well. I’ve also been proud to hear Mike, a Vietnam combat veteran, remind people that it is very important to welcome home our troops, thank them, and show our respect for them. We all know the sacrifices they have made.

Thank you Mike. But most of all, thank you servicemen and women.

Right now, our other job is preparing for Courtney’s August wedding. ‘Preparing for’ doesn’t quite capture it. Did you know, for example, that if you go to a wedding store in Seattle, you will find 70 thick binders to leaf through just to choose the absolutely perfect wedding invitations? I looked at these binders and thought, ‘Couldn’t we just have her text-message her friends instead?’

Being the mother of the bride is hard work, but don’t get me wrong – it’s also fun.

And lest I forget, we don’t have to worry about daughter Michelle during all this. She graduated last spring and is fulfilling every parent’s dream. She has a job!

In the last year, 50,000 Washington men and women served our nation in Afghanistan, Iraq, and other parts of the world. To those who returned home, we welcome you back and we thank you for your service. For those now serving, we pray for your safety and wish you Godspeed on your return home.

Sadly, 95 Washington men and women have died in combat in Afghanistan and Iraq. In the last year, Mike and I attended 16 funerals for our fallen heroes. We share the grief of their families. Please join me in a moment of silence for our servicemen and women who have died or were wounded, and for their families.

Now I would like to introduce you to some very special guests.

In the first dark days of December, the lives and livelihoods of thousands of our Southwest Washington friends and neighbors were literally washed or blown away by floods and hurricane-force winds. Sadly, some lost their lives, despite the best efforts of the first responders, who were nothing short of heroic.

Amid all the pain and suffering, something remarkable happened – something that will forever touch me deeply.

In an outpouring of compassion that amazed even the most experienced emergency workers, people around Washington donated time, money, equipment, and labor to storm-stricken families. To give you an idea of the kindness and generosity in our state, I invited 12 individuals tonight, who represent thousands of our friends and neighbors who responded so well in those dark and troubled times.

Elaine Lawler – a tireless volunteer from Adna;
Lieutenant Scott Barton – United States Coast Guard from Port Angeles;
Debbie Campbell – Executive Director of the United Way of Lewis County;
Doug Jackson – President of TransAlta in Centralia;
Specialist Erik Tollestrup – Army National Guard from Bremerton; Grays Harbor County Sheriff Mike Whelan;
Kim Michel – Washington Emergency Management;
Major Chris Panush – Air National Guard from Boistfort;
Will Keepers – Department of Transportation in Chehalis;
Sergeant Jeffery Speer – Washington State Patrol in Chehalis;
Steve Sheary – Line Foreman from Pacific PUD in Raymond;
Pastor Bob Rorabaugh – Northshore Baptist Church in Bothell.

Let me also thank all the legislators in this chamber who worked so hard to help the people of their districts through this tragedy. Please join me in a heartfelt round of applause for all these Washingtonians, and the thousands just like them, who reached out to help storm victims begin to repair their shattered lives. These special people represent the compassion as well as the special spirit of Washingtonians.

Our communities in Southwest Washington have suffered a tragedy, so I’m asking this Legislature to reach out to them with some much-needed help on their road to recovery. And I’m asking all Washingtonians to keep them in their thoughts and prayers, and keep up the help and support.

Of all the wonderful things I’ve learned as Governor, the most important is that you – the people of Washington – make our state what it is today. You have this spirit – this knack for problem solving and innovation. You don’t just talk about problems; you get things done to build a better future for our families. I see it everywhere. I see it now in the rain and mud of Lewis County and the wind-ravaged landscapes of Grays Harbor.

You know, our work here in Olympia isn’t nearly as hard as the work of our families at home. Raising a family. Running a business. Protecting the environment. Farming the land. Keeping loved ones safe. Getting a good job. Providing health care to the family and helping a neighbor. Those are the tough jobs. Our job here in Olympia is to offer help where needed to allow the spirit of our people to flourish.

And we are doing our job! We have rejected politics-as-usual, we have knocked down government barriers, and we have provided real change to help people. As a result, the state of our state is strong. By unleashing the strength of our people and staying true to our values, we will make Washington even stronger in 2008. Tonight I want to share with you and the people of Washington the successes we’ve had, the doors we have opened, and the work still to be done.

Just three years ago, when I came to office, Washington was struggling with a $2.2 billion shortfall that threatened to halt any progress on needs from education to health care. Those were tough times, indeed. But we have met the challenges head-on, made the tough decisions, and adopted fiscally prudent and economically sound policies for our families, our communities, and our future. Today, I am proud to stand before you and report that we have turned things around and made real progress.
In the past three years, we have spent wisely and carefully to give our kids a better education, make families healthier and safer, and helped bring family wage jobs to this state. And we have done all that while turning a huge budget deficit into a huge surplus. Here in Washington, I’m proud to say our state has taken steps to equip our economy to face whatever the future holds.

The collapse of the housing market in other states is affecting the market here, too. But I’d say to those folks wanting to buy a house -- our economy is strong. For those Washingtonians who are in fear of losing their homes, I’d say, let’s do something about it now, and come up with ways to help keep you in your homes! And watch out for the scam artists. I know of a Federal Way family who recently learned this the hard way. They were approached by a so-called mortgage rescue company, and wound up with even higher payments and eventually lost their home. The couple was suddenly homeless, living in their car, and they had to send their three kids to relatives in another state because they couldn’t care for them. Let’s not leave this session without helping them and others like them.

I’ll say it again. Our families have a tough job, and I am proud of the fact that we have forced government to behave just as families must do to manage their households. We have recorded a very important first – the first constitutionally protected Rainy Day Fund in Washington history. And in 2006, we set aside one of the largest budget reserves in state history. Speaking of the Rainy Day Fund – partly because of it, our bond rating was just raised. Our higher rating can lower borrowing costs for such things as schools and prisons. National rating agencies are seeing what we already know. We are making progress by spending wisely and prudently.

Speaking of our hard working families, after the Supreme Court overturned the one-percent cap on annual property tax increases, I asked you to come back in special session to reinstate the cap. Thank you for your prompt action. We helped preserve the American Dream of home ownership for families all across this state!

Washington’s good business climate is one of the main reasons that Fortune magazine just recently declared Washington the fourth-best state in the nation to start a small business. The fact is, we have made the changes needed to dramatically turn our state’s economy around and make it one of the strongest in the nation. My supplemental budget takes care to maintain our solid financial condition. I propose to spend $266 million to make people safer, protect our most vulnerable, help people pull their lives back together after the December storms, and preserve the dream of home ownership for more families. At the same time, I ask you to leave $1.2 billion in savings. Media across the state have called my budget frugal. It is. Just like families, we are making wise investments for the future and saving for less prosperous times. For too long, state government spent in the good times, and then made painful cuts when the economy slowed. We are getting off that roller coaster, and we’re making progress!

I know first hand what Washington families want. When I was growing up, the restaurant where my Mom worked was going through hard times. The owner said he couldn’t pay Mom – but said if she would just keep working, things would turn around and he would pay her. After a few weeks, Mom showed up for work and found the front door padlocked. The restaurant was out of business and she was out two-weeks pay and unemployed. That was a hard time for us because we were living paycheck-to-paycheck.

So I understand! I know what a steady paycheck means for Washington’s hardworking families. Here in Olympia, we have helped working families by making sure government is a partner, not a barrier, to creating more good jobs in this state. Forbes magazine, the flagship of American business media, recently highlighted how we are breaking down barriers by cutting red tape and paperwork, starting one-stop licensing, and providing small business help. That’s just one of the reasons Forbes now ranks us among the five best states to do business in the country!

You know, sometimes that means something as simple as talking to people in plain English. Let me give you an example. Imagine you’re sitting at your kitchen table reading the following letter from the Department of Labor and Industries: ‘We have been notified that you did not receive the State of Washington warrant listed on the attached Affidavit of Lost or Destroyed Warrant Request for Replacement form F242.’ Does anyone know what that means? Today that letter has been rewritten, and here’s what it says: ‘Have you cashed your L&I check yet?’ That’s an example of our Plain Talk program where we are making government communicate in a way you and I can understand. What a concept!

Sometimes Washington businesses need a helping hand with foreign trade. I have traveled thousands of miles on trade missions to help open up markets for our products and recruit new businesses. I’ve put on aprons in stores from Mexico to South Korea to sell Washington cherries, French fries, and apples, and I’ve hoisted a glass of Washington wine to promote tourism in our wine country. Working together, we’ve increased exports from Washington by 50 percent. In the past 12 months, we have exported $47 billion worth of great Washington products. Here at home, I not only see our creative spirit, but we are busy nurturing it, from green industries to global health. We have thrown out the old economic-development model and moved it into communities where the next big thing just might be born tomorrow. We are seeing exciting new growth in innovative businesses – from solar energy components in Moses Lake to medical technology in Seattle and Spokane, to carbon dioxide-free motors made in Kennewick. In Grays Harbor, local people are writing a story of innovation and regeneration with the birth of new industries. Tell me this – back in the 1980s when the timber industry faced multiple challenges – who would have imagined Grays Harbor County would pick itself up and make itself a center for clean energy solutions that will transform our world?

Now that’s the special spirit of Washington! Washington entrepreneurs also need skilled workers. We’re providing those workers through greater training and education opportunities. The bottom line: we’ve created 218,000 new jobs in the last three years. That, my friends, is the population of Tacoma and Moses Lake combined. The unemployment rate this year was the lowest in Washington state history. That’s right – we’ve gone from one of the highest unemployment rates to the lowest in just three years.

How’s that for progress? To continue our progress, we must never accept the status quo. That’s why I appreciated your bipartisan support in breaking a 30-year stalemate to supply water to farms, fish and communities in Eastern Washington. Thank you, folks, on both sides of the aisle. A new solution to protect the Odessa aquifer is the first major result of our work. Water tables have been dropping seven feet a year – putting at dire risk $600 million a year in revenue and 7,500 jobs. A month ago, I reached an agreement that will provide the first significant delivery of new water in the Columbia Basin in 30 years. That’s progress, and we did it together through bipartisan cooperation for the sake of Washingtonians!
I hear from working moms and dads all the time that without health care, they fear their families are just one serious injury or illness away from bankruptcy. And they’re right! The wealthiest nation in the world must relieve some of this fear and suffering. But since we aren’t getting the help we need from Washington, D.C., we are doing what we can ourselves – the Washington Way. Like providing health insurance to kids. Three years ago we were cutting health insurance for kids. We now cover 84,000 more kids and are on our way to covering all children by 2010. Thank you for your continued support to provide health insurance to kids.

Why is this so important? Because as any mom or dad knows, healthy kids do better in school and in life. And health insurance helps keep kids out of emergency rooms where costs are much higher to taxpayers. Fundamentally, it’s our moral obligation to provide health care to the children of our state when their families can’t provide it! Last session you approved a package of health-care bills I sent to you. I am pleased to say we are seeing real results. The state’s new, free drug-discount card has saved more than 70,000 people an average of $33 per prescription, and an overall savings for them of more than $2 million. I hear from people all around the state about what a difference this discount card makes. People like Valerie Questad of Wenatchee are benefitting. Here is what Valerie wrote:

"Thank you, Thank you, Thank you. I got the card quickly and had to use it for another round of antibiotics today. It would have cost me $92.08 -- more than I had. But with the card I paid $13.72! I feel better already!"

When our loved ones are sick and vulnerable, we need to know they are in good hands. I am asking you to provide funding and legislation to protect our loved ones and ensure competent, qualified health-care professionals are serving them. We need national criminal background checks for all out-of-state applicants who want to be licensed health-care providers in Washington. We need more timely investigations of complaints against health care providers to make sure our loved ones are in safe hands. Almost 30 percent of hospitalizations among senior citizens could be prevented if you approve a new, on-line data base so doctors and pharmacists know all prescription drugs the patient is receiving. And we can address the nursing shortage in our state this year by training more nurses in hospitals to help patients and create more good, skilled nursing jobs.

Indeed, one of our biggest jobs is to make our people safe, and we’re making real progress.

All of us were deeply saddened by the murder of 12-year-old Zena Linnik from Tacoma last summer. I promised her parents we would act to prevent future tragedies. And act I did, in several ways.

I launched Operation Crackdown. For the first time, the state provided funding so that local law enforcement can partner with the Department of Corrections and track down and arrest sex offenders in violation of their parole. In the first two weeks alone, we arrested 50 sex offenders. I used my emergency fund to implement electronic monitoring for Level 3 sex offenders because I believe strongly that law enforcement must know where high-risk offenders are at all times. And by next year, we will have built nearly 4,000 prison beds, which represent the biggest prison expansion in state history.

At the same time, we are working very hard to keep former inmates from returning to prison through our Offender Re-entry Initiative of last year. We need to better inform Washington families about where sex offenders are living, and automatically e-mail families if a sex offender moves into their neighborhood.

We also need to expand and continue Operation Crackdown and require DNA samples from every single sex offender in our state. As Kitsap County Prosecutor Russ Hauge said, we will never be entirely free from the scourge of sexual predators. But we must – and we will – do everything in our power to provide law enforcement and prosecutors the support they need to protect children like 12-year-old Zena Linnik and their families.

I’m counting on approval of my proposal to improve safety on our college campuses. If we need more convincing, it came with the severe beating of a young woman on the University of Washington’s Greek Row last week.

I also urge you to approve my proposal authorizing law enforcement to set up court-approved checkpoints to prevent fatalities like the 251 lives lost in 2006 to drunken driving. That’s 251 preventable deaths. We can protect privacy rights and prevent drunk driving. We can join 39 other states, some of which have seen as much as a 24 percent decline in drunken-driving deaths with sobriety checkpoints.

Wouldn’t it be great if we could build more schools, not prisons?

Every child in Washington should have a chance at a good, rewarding life. And that has to start with a good education. Talk about progress! We are creating a world-class, learner-focused, seamless education system that gives our kids a chance to get a good job. Three years ago, voter-approved initiatives to cut class sizes and increase teacher pay were shelved. But when I took office, we took them off the shelf, and we’re investing in smaller classes, paying more to keep and attract our great teachers, and setting high standards for our schools. The chance of a better life shouldn’t be limited to those lucky or rich enough to have early learning opportunities. We’ve helped thousands more children attend preschool and all-day kindergarten so they get the foundation needed to succeed in school, the job, their community, and life. As parents, we already know that the most important influence on student learning is the quality of the teacher. We’ve invested in teacher-excellence and it’s working. More than 1,800 Washington teachers now have national certification, which is recognized as the best measure of teacher effectiveness. Only four other states had more new certified teachers than Washington last year. A record number will go through the certification process this year, and next year we expect a near doubling of national certified teachers.

Speaking of excellence, did you know the 2007 National Teacher of the Year is Andrea Peterson, a music teacher at Monte Cristo Elementary in Granite Falls? Andrea’s success isn’t only about making great music. She uses music to help kids learn English, math and other skills. She uses rap music to help students learn about the Constitution. Now, there’s a teacher! And there’s a woman who has Washington’s special spirit of innovation!

Not everyone wants to go to college, and we are providing the opportunity for these students to flourish. Our Running Start for the Trades Program is working. By connecting motivated high-school kids to the trades, we are increasing graduation rates, preparing kids for a good career, and meeting the need for these high-demand, good-paying jobs. Kids like Ricardo Rodriguez. During high school he started attending the New Market Skills Center in Tumwater with an eye toward an apprenticeship in the building trades. Ricardo says he hated high school, but all he knew how to do was flip burgers. Now he’s learning to be a builder to earn a family wage! We are helping thousands more kids succeed and making our workforce strong. In the last three years we have nearly doubled the number of apprenticeships to 14,500.

Now, that’s progress!

For college-bound kids, we’re opening the doors wider. We’re making room. And we are making college more affordable by increasing the number of scholarships, and offering financial aid to more students. Let’s make sure every young person in Washington knows that if they work hard, they will have the chance to compete with anyone, anywhere in the world, for jobs in the new global economy found right here in Washington.

As we commute to those jobs, we know our highways have big challenges. But we are making progress. At the end of 2004, just 12 highway construction projects were completed. Three years later, we have completed 128 highway construction projects – from the Tacoma Narrows Bridge to the widening project on I-405, and from a new State Route 17 Interchange in Moses Lake to new lanes to speed up traffic on State Route 543 at the Canadian Border in Bellingham. Ninety-one percent of them were on time and nearly as many on budget.

It might not get the ink, but that’s real progress!

The tragic bridge collapse in Minneapolis was a wake-up call to this nation. Prime exhibits in Washington are the viaduct in Seattle and the 520 bridge. We need to take them down, not leave it to Mother Nature! We have begun construction on the most vulnerable portion of the viaduct and we expect removal of the south structure within three years. I announced our plan last week to build a new 520 Bridge. It’s there. There is nothing to it but to do it. And do it we will. In Spokane, people have been waiting for a new North-South Corridor. With the people of Spokane, I’m committed to finding a new way to fund that project and make it happen. And I’m working closely with Oregon Governor Ted Kulongoski to jointly build a new Columbia River Crossing between Vancouver and Portland. And we are on our way to building new ferries to ensure the safety of our ferry passengers. With our robust growth and employment, we won’t solve our transportation problems overnight. Sometimes we forget that in the old days the federal government paid for 90 percent of our roads and bridges. Those days are gone.

But we’re making progress to address congestion, to maintain the roads we have, and to do it all with safety utmost in mind. As we witnessed with the flooding and recent closure of I-5, we know about the dire threats posed by global warming. I believe we have a moral responsibility to protect our planet, and provide a cleaner, more sustainable world. The federal government continues to drag its feet, but we will lead. We’re already driving private investment in renewable energy, energy efficiency, alternative fuels, and green buildings. We’re among the fastest growing wind-power generators in the country, behind only California and Texas, and we have the largest biofuels plant in the country in Hoquiam. We are witnessing significant investments in solar manufacturing – particularly in our rural communities. Renewable Energy Corporation in Moses Lake makes a component of solar technology and employs 250 people! We’re saving our planet and creating green-collar jobs. Now that’s progress in a state and world that need to reduce greenhouse gases and save our planet for our children and grandchildren.

Each of us can do our part. Small steps by a lot of people mean big change. To many of us, Puget Sound is quality of life. It’s why we live here. It’s also a $20 billion economic engine for our state. But toxic hot spots, stormwater, leaking septic tanks and other pollution sources are threatening it. Today we have something we didn’t have three years ago -- a results-driven effort already working on the ground, and now the federal government as a new partner to begin the clean up of Puget Sound. Thank you to our delegation, especially Congressman Norm Dicks for securing $20 million in federal funding to help restore the Sound.

As I look back, and more importantly, as I look forward -- I know we are making tremendous progress to keep Washington the place to thrive and raise a family. Jack Farris, President of the Washington Biomedical and Biotechnical Association, once said, “I’m working on the most exciting issues, in the most exciting place in the world, at the best time in history.” I share Jack’s optimism and enthusiasm, but I’d change his quote just a bit. Washington has the most remarkable people, ready for the most exciting opportunities, at any time in state history. We’re come a long way, from tough times and dour prophecies, to put our state back on track toward a safe, prosperous, healthy future.

But believe me, we’re not done yet! Claiming victory now would diminish the challenges ahead, and we are not going to turn back. Let’s continue to work as partners with and for the great people of this state. Let’s give a well-deserved rest to partisanship and politics and replace them with progress and prosperity. Let’s build on the spirit of Washington’s people. God Bless you all, and God Bless the Great State of Washington.”

HOUSE RESOLUTION NO. 4675, By Representatives Liias, Sells, Sullivan, Conway and Hankins

WHEREAS, Today, January 21, 2008, communities and neighborhoods all across our state and nation remember, celebrate, and honor the life and work of the Reverend Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr.; and

WHEREAS, Dr. King's ardent quest for knowledge brought him from humble beginnings in Atlanta, Georgia to Boston University from which he earned a doctorate degree in Systematic Theology; and

WHEREAS, Dr. King sought to change longstanding laws by executing a successful boycott of the Montgomery bus system, thus, in effect, ending Jim Crow and government-sanctioned segregation; and

WHEREAS, He faced endless persecution from people who did not want a shift in the status quo, Dr. King stood strong in his convictions and kept an unwavering commitment to his beliefs; and

WHEREAS, The Reverend Dr. King followed the nonviolent dogma of Mahatma Gandhi and Jesus Christ, and truly welcomed those who opposed him with open arms, instead of spurning them or their misgivings; and

WHEREAS, Dr. King etched "Civil Disobedience" into the modern American lexicon, suggesting that we are justified in disobeying the laws when they are unjust and it is our moral obligation to do so; and

WHEREAS, Other activists fought to simply recognize the African-American struggle in America, Dr. King striving to end the race and class divisions of all Americans; and

WHEREAS, Dr. King was taken from this planet in an act of violence – the sort that he vowed to not subscribe to. His work has left an everlasting mark and his image, in itself, is synonymous with peace and change; and

WHEREAS, this year, 2008, marks the 40th anniversary of the assassination of Dr. King, and while several generations have passed since his death we still face many of the same issues. With that said, we should not forget the commitments that this great man made: Nonviolence, peace, and a world in which we are all able to call each other "friend" without prejudice; and

WHEREAS, We, as Americans, must make it our duty to continue the effort of our friend, Dr. Martin Luther King, and break down all racial, social, and class barriers; and

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, That the House of Representatives, on behalf of the people of our state, recognize the importance of the life and work of the Reverend Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. to the civil society and freedoms of the United States of America and of the state of Washington; and

WHEREAS, Children are the responsibility of their parents and all the citizens of the state of Washington should help them by setting an example of what it means to be a good neighbor, lawabiding citizen, productive worker, and helpful friend; and

WHEREAS, The children of the state of Washington should have access to quality education, wholesome recreation, and a safe community; and

WHEREAS, Children are valued members of society who bring joy, pride, and hope to this nation and its future; and

NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. This chapter applies to an anatomical gift or amendment to, revocation of, or refusal to make an anatomical gift, whenever made.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4. Subject to section 8 of this act, an anatomical gift of a donor's body or part may be made during the life of the donor in the manner provided in section 5 of this act by:

(1) The donor, if the donor is an adult or if the donor is a minor and is:

(a) Emancipated; or

(b) Authorized under state law to apply for a driver's license because the donor is at least fifteen and one-half years old;

(2) An agent of the donor, unless the power of attorney for health care or other record prohibits the agent from making an anatomical gift;

(3) A parent of the donor, if the donor is an emancipated minor; provided, however, that an anatomical gift made pursuant to this subsection shall cease to be valid once the donor becomes either an emancipated minor or an adult; or

(4) The donor's guardian.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 5. (1) A donor may make an anatomical gift:

(a) By authorizing a statement or symbol indicating that the donor has made an anatomical gift to be imprinted on the donor's driver's license or identification card;

(b) In a will;

(c) During a terminal illness or injury of the donor, by any form of communication addressed to at least two adults, at least one of whom is a disinterested witness; or

(d) As provided in subsection (2) of this section.

(2) A donor or other person authorized to make an anatomical gift under section 4 of this act may make a gift by a donor card or other record signed by the donor or other person making the gift or by authorizing that a statement or symbol indicating that the donor has made an anatomical gift be included on a donor registry. If the donor or other person is physically unable to sign a record, the record may be signed by another individual at the direction of the donor or other person and must:

(a) Be witnessed by at least two adults, at least one of whom is a disinterested witness, who have signed at the request of the donor or the other person; and

(b) State that it has been signed and witnessed as provided in (a) of this subsection.

(3) Revocation, suspension, expiration, or cancellation of a driver's license or identification card through which an anatomical gift has been made does not invalidate the gift.

(4) An anatomical gift made by will takes effect upon the donor's death whether or not the will is probated. Invalidation of the will after the donor's death does not invalidate the gift.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 6. (1) Subject to section 8 of this act, a donor or other person authorized to make an anatomical gift under section 4 of this act may amend or revoke an anatomical gift by:

(a) A record signed by:

(i) The donor;

(ii) The other person; or

(iii) Subject to subsection (2) of this section, another individual acting at the direction of the donor or the other person if the donor or other person is physically unable to sign; or

(b) A late-executed document of gift that amends or revokes a previous anatomical gift or portion of an anatomical gift, either expressly or by inconsistency.

(2) A record signed pursuant to subsection (1)(a)(iii) of this section must:

(a) Be witnessed by at least two adults, at least one of whom is a disinterested witness, who have signed at the request of the donor or the other person; and

(b) State that it has been signed and witnessed as provided in (a) of this subsection.

(3) Subject to section 8 of this act, a donor or other person authorized to make an anatomical gift under section 4 of this act may revoke an anatomical gift by the destruction or cancellation of the document of gift, or the portion of the document of gift used to make the gift, with the intent to revoke the gift. The donor or other person shall notify the Washington organ procurement organization of the destruction or cancellation of the document of gift for the purpose of removing the individual's name from the organ and tissue donor registry created in RCW 68.50.635 (as recodified by this act). If the Washington state organ procurement organization that is notified does not maintain a registry for Washington residents, it shall notify all Washington state procurement organizations that do maintain such a registry.

(4) A donor may amend or revoke an anatomical gift that was not made in a will by any form of communication during a terminal illness or injury addressed to at least two adults, at least one of whom is a disinterested witness.

(5) A donor who makes an anatomical gift in a will may amend or revoke the gift in the manner provided for amendment or revocation of wills or as provided in subsection (1) of this section.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 7. (1) An individual may refuse to make an anatomical gift of the individual's body or part by:

(a) A record signed by:

(i) The individual; or

(ii) Subject to subsection (2) of this section, another individual acting at the direction of the individual if the individual is physically unable to sign;

(b) The individual's will, whether or not the will is admitted to probate or invalidated after the individual's death; or

(c) Any form of communication made by the individual during the individual's terminal illness or injury addressed to at least two adults, at least one of whom is a disinterested witness.

(2) A record signed pursuant to subsection (1)(a)(ii) of this section must:

(a) Be witnessed by at least two adults, at least one of whom is a disinterested witness, who have signed at the request of the individual; and

(b) State that it has been signed and witnessed as provided in (a) of this subsection.

(3) An individual who has made a refusal may amend or revoke the refusal:

(a) In the manner provided in subsection (1) of this section for making a refusal;

(b) By subsequently making an anatomical gift pursuant to section 5 of this act that is inconsistent with the refusal;

(c) By destroying or canceling the record evidencing the refusal, or the portion of the record used to make the refusal, with the intent to revoke the refusal.

(4) Except as otherwise provided in section 8(8) of this act, in the absence of an express, contrary indication by the individual set forth in the refusal, an individual's unrevoked refusal to make an anatomical gift of the individual's body or part bars all other persons from making an anatomical gift of the individual's body or part.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 8. (1) Except as otherwise provided in subsection (7) of this section and subject to subsection (6) of this section, in the absence of an express, contrary indication by the donor, a person other than the donor is barred from making, amending, or revoking an anatomical gift of a donor's body or part if the donor made an anatomical gift of the donor's body or part under section 5 of this act or an amendment to an anatomical gift of the donor's body or part under section 6 of this act.

(2) A donor's revocation of an anatomical gift of the donor's body or part under section 6 of this act is not a refusal and does not bar another person specified in section 4 or 9 of this act from making an anatomical gift of the donor's body or part under section 5 or 10 of this act.

(3) If a person other than the donor makes an unrevoked anatomical gift of the donor's body or part under section 5 of this act or an amendment to an anatomical gift of the donor's body or part under section 6 of this act, another person may not make, amend, or revoke the gift of the donor's body or part under section 10 of this act.

(4) A revocation of an anatomical gift of a donor's body or part under section 6 of this act by a person other than the donor does not bar another person from making an anatomical gift of the body or part under section 5 or 10 of this act.

(5) In the absence of an express, contrary indication by the donor or other person authorized to make an anatomical gift under section 4 of this act, an anatomical gift of a part for one or more of the permitted purposes is not a limitation on the making of an anatomical gift of another part at a later time by the donor or another person.

(6) In the absence of an express, contrary indication by the donor, another person authorized to make an anatomical gift under section 4 of this act, an anatomical gift of a part for one or more of the permitted purposes is not a limitation on the making of an anatomical gift of the part for any of the other purposes by the donor or any other person under section 5 or 10 of this act.

(7) If a donor who is an emancipated minor dies, a parent of the donor who is reasonably available may revoke or amend an anatomical gift of the donor's body or part.

(8) If an emancipated minor who signed a refusal dies, a parent of the minor who is reasonably available may revoke the minor's refusal.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 9. (1) Subject to subsections (2) and (3) of this section and unless barred by section 7 or 8 of this act, an anatomical gift of a decedent's body or part may be made by any member of the following classes of persons who is reasonably available, in the order of priority listed:

(a) An agent of the decedent at the time of death who could have made an anatomical gift under section 4(2) of this act immediately before the decedent's death;

(b) The spouse, or domestic partner registered as required by state law, of the decedent;

(c) Adult children of the decedent;

(d) Parents of the decedent;

(e) Adult siblings of the decedent;

(f) Adult grandchildren of the decedent;

(g) Grandparents of the decedent;
(h) The persons who were acting as the guardians of the person of the decedent at the time of death; and

(1) Any other person having the authority under applicable law to dispose of the decedent's body.

(2) If there is more than one member of a class listed in subsection (1)(a), (c), (d), (e), (f), (g), or (h) of this section entitled to make an anatomical gift, an anatomical gift may be made by a member of the class unless that member or a person to whom the gift may be made under subsection (1) of this act knows of an objection by another member of the class. If an objection is known, the gift may be made only by a majority of the members of the class who are reasonably available.

(3) A person may not make an anatomical gift if, at the time of the decedent's death, a person in a prior class under subsection (1) of this section is reasonably available to make or to object to the making of an anatomical gift.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 10. (1) A person authorized to make an anatomical gift under section 9 of this act may make an anatomical gift by a document or gift signed by the person making the gift or by that person's oral communication that is electronically recorded or is contemporaneously reduced to a record and signed by the individual receiving the oral communication.

(2) Subject to subsection (3) of this section, an anatomical gift by a person authorized under section 9 of this act may be amended or revoked orally or in a record by any member of a prior class who is reasonably available. If more than one member of the prior class is reasonably available, the gift made by a person authorized under section 9 of this act may be:

(a) Amended only if a majority of the reasonably available members agree to the amending of the gift; or

(b) Revoked only if a majority of the reasonably available members agree to the revoking of the gift if they are equally divided as to whether to revoke the gift.

(3) A revocation under subsection (2) of this section is effective only if, before an incision has been made to remove a part from the donor's body or before transplant procedures have begun on the recipient, the procurement organization, transplant hospital, or physician or technician knows of the revocation.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 11. (1) An anatomical gift may be made to the following persons named in the document of gift:

(a) For research or education: A hospital; an accredited medical school, dental school, college, or university; an organ procurement organization;

(b) Subject to subsection (2) of this section, an individual designated by the person making the anatomical gift if the individual is the recipient of the part;

(c) An eye bank or tissue bank.

(2) If an anatomical gift to an individual under subsection (1)(b) of this section cannot be transplanted into the individual, the part passes in accordance with subsection (7) of this section in the absence of an express, contrary indication by the person making the anatomical gift.

(3) If an anatomical gift of one or more specific parts or of all parts is made in a document of gift that does not name a person described in subsection (1) of this section but identifies the purpose for which an anatomical gift may be used, the following rules apply:

(a) If the part is an eye and the gift is for the purpose of transplantation or therapy, the gift passes to the appropriate eye bank.

(b) If the part is tissue and the gift is for the purpose of transplantation or therapy, the gift passes to the appropriate tissue bank.

(c) If the part is an organ and the gift is for the purpose of transplantation or therapy, the gift passes to the appropriate organ procurement organization.

(d) If the part is an organ, an eye, or tissue and the gift is for the purpose of research or education, the gift passes to the appropriate procurement organization.

(4) For the purpose of subsection (3) of this section, if there is more than one purpose of an anatomical gift set forth in the document of gift but the purposes are not set forth in any priority, the gift must be used for transplantation or therapy, if suitable. If the gift cannot be used for transplantation or therapy, the gift may be used for research or education.

(5) If an anatomical gift of one or more specific parts is made in a document of gift that does not name a person described in subsection (1) of this section and does not identify the purpose of the gift, the gift may be used only for transplantation or therapy, and the gift passes in accordance with subsection (7) of this section.

(6) If a document of gift specifies only a general intent to make an anatomical gift by words such as "donor," "organ donor," or "body donor," or by a symbol or statement of similar import, the gift may be used only for transplantation or therapy, and the gift passes in accordance with subsection (7) of this section.

(7) For purposes of subsections (2), (5), and (6) of this section the following rules apply:

(a) If the part is an eye, the gift passes to the appropriate eye bank.

(b) If the part is tissue, the gift passes to the appropriate tissue bank.

(c) If the part is an organ, the gift passes to the appropriate organ procurement organization.

(8) An anatomical gift of an organ for transplantation or therapy, other than an anatomical gift under subsection (1)(b) of this section, passes to the organ procurement organization as custodian of the organ.

(9) If an anatomical gift does not pass pursuant to subsections (1) through (8) of this section or the decedent's body or part is not used for transplantation, therapy, research, or education, custody of the body or part passes to the person under obligation to dispose of the body or part.

(10) A person may not accept an anatomical gift if the person knows that the gift was not effectively made under section 5 or 10 of this act or if the person knows that the decedent made a refusal under section 7 of this act that was revoked. For purposes of this subsection (10), if a person knows that an anatomical gift was made on a document of gift, the person is deemed to know of any amendment or revocation of the gift or any refusal to make an anatomical gift on the same document of gift.

(11) Except as otherwise provided in subsection (1)(b) of this section, nothing in this chapter affects the allocation of organs for transplantation or therapy.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 12. (1) A document of gift need not be delivered during the donor's lifetime to be effective.

(2) Upon or after an individual's death, a person in possession of a document of gift or a refusal to make an anatomical gift with respect to the individual shall allow examination and copying of the document of gift or refusal by a person authorized to make or object to the making of an anatomical gift with respect to the individual or by a person to which the gift could pass under section 11 of this act.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 13. (1) When a hospital refers an individual at or near death to a procurement organization, the organization shall make a reasonable search of the records of the department of licensing and any donor registry that it knows exists for the geographical area in which the individual resides to ascertain whether the individual has made an anatomical gift.

(2) A procurement organization must be allowed reasonable access to information in the records of the department of licensing to ascertain whether an individual at or near death is a donor.

(3) When a hospital refers an individual at or near death to a procurement organization, the organization may conduct any reasonable examination necessary to ensure the medical suitability of a part that is or could be the subject of an anatomical gift for transplantation, therapy, research, or education from a donor or a prospective donor. During the examination period, measures necessary to ensure the medical suitability of the part may not be withdrawn unless the hospital or procurement organization knows that the individual expressed a contrary intent.

(4) Unless prohibited by law other than this chapter, at any time after a donor's death, the person to which a part passes under section 11 of this act may conduct any reasonable examination necessary to ensure the medical suitability of the body or part for its intended purpose. of this act relating to the individual's relationship to the donor or prospective donor unless the person knows that the representation is untrue.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 19. (1) A document of gift is valid if executed in accordance with:
(a) This chapter;
(b) The laws of the state or country where it was executed; or
(c) The laws of the state or country where the person making the anatomical gift was domiciled, has a place of residence, or was a national at the time the document of gift was executed.
(2) If a document of gift is valid under this section, the law of this state governs the interpretation of the document of gift.
(3) A person may presume that a document of gift or amendment of an anatomical gift is valid unless that person knows that it was not validly executed or was revoked.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 20. (1) The definitions in this subsection apply throughout this section unless the context clearly requires otherwise:
(a) "Advance health care directive" means a power of attorney for health care or a "directive" as defined in RCW 70.122.020.
(b) "Declaration" means a record signed by a prospective donor specifying the circumstances under which a life support system may be withheld or withdrawn from the prospective donor.
(c) "Health care decision" means any decision made regarding the health care of the prospective donor.
(2) If a prospective donor has a declaration or advance health care directive, and the terms of the declaration or directive and the express or implied terms of a potential anatomical gift are in conflict with regard to the administration of measures necessary to ensure the medical suitability of a part for transplantation or therapy, the prospective donor's attending physician and the prospective donor shall confer to resolve the conflict. If the prospective donor is incapable of resolving the conflict, an agent acting under the prospective donor's declaration or directive, or, if none or the agent is not reasonably available, another person authorized by law other than this chapter to make health care decisions on behalf of the prospective donor, shall act for the donor to resolve the conflict. The conflict must be resolved as expeditiously as possible. Information relevant to the resolution of the conflict may be obtained from the appropriate procurement organization and any other person authorized to make an anatomical gift for the prospective donor under section 9 of this act. Before resolution of the conflict, measures necessary to ensure the medical suitability of the part may not be withheld or withdrawn from the prospective donor if withholding or withdrawing the measures is not contraindicated by appropriate end-of-life care.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 21. (1)(a) A coroner or medical examiner shall cooperate with procurement organizations, to the extent that such cooperation does not prevent, hinder, or impede the timely investigation of death, to facilitate the opportunity to recover anatomical gifts for the purpose of transplantation or therapy. However, a coroner or medical examiner may limit the number of procurement organizations with which he or she cooperates.
(b) The coroner or medical examiner may release the initial investigative information to the tissue or organ procurement organization for the purpose of determining the suitability of the potential donor by those organizations. The information released for this purpose shall remain confidential. The coroner or medical examiner is not liable for any release of confidential information by the procurement organization.
(2)(a) Procurement organizations shall cooperate with the coroner or medical examiner to ensure the preservation of and timely transfer of the coroner or medical examiner any physical or biological evidence from a prospective donor that the procurement organization may have contact with or access to that is required by the coroner or medical examiner for the investigation of death.
(b) If the coroner or medical examiner or a designee releases a part for donation under subsection (4) of this section, the procurement organization, upon request, shall cause the physician or technician who removes the part to provide the coroner or medical examiner with a record describing the condition of the part, biopsies, residual tissue, photographs, and any other information and observations requested by the coroner or medical examiner that would assist in the investigation of death.

(3) A part may not be removed from the body of a decedent under the jurisdiction of a coroner or medical examiner for transplantation, therapy, research, or education unless the part is the subject of an anatomical gift, and has been released by the coroner or medical examiner. The body of a decedent under the jurisdiction of the coroner or medical examiner may not be delivered to a person for research or education unless the body is the subject of an anatomical gift. This subsection does not preclude a coroner or medical examiner from performing the medicolegal investigation upon the body or relevant parts of a decedent under the jurisdiction of the coroner or medical examiner.

(4) If an anatomical gift of a part from the decedent under the jurisdiction of the coroner or medical examiner has been or might be made, but the coroner or medical examiner initially believes that the recovery of the part could interfere with the postmortem investigation into the decedent's cause or manner of death, the collection of evidence, or the description, documentation, or interpretation of injuries on the body, the coroner or medical examiner may consult with the procurement organization or physician or technician designated by the procurement organization about the proposed recovery. After consultation, the coroner or medical examiner may release the part for recovery.

NEW SECTION.  Sec. 22. This chapter is subject to the laws of this state governing the jurisdiction of the coroner or medical examiner.

NEW SECTION.  Sec. 23. In applying and construing this uniform act, consideration must be given to the need to promote uniformity of the law with respect to its subject matter among states that enact it.

NEW SECTION.  Sec. 24. This chapter modifies, limits, and supersedes the federal electronic signatures in global and national commerce act (15 U.S.C. Sec. 7001 et seq.) with respect to electronic signatures and anatomical gifts, but does not modify, limit, or supersede section 101(a) of that act (15 U.S.C. Sec. 7001), or authorize electronic delivery of any of the notices described in section 103(b)(1) of that act (15 U.S.C. Sec. 7003(b))(1).

Sec. 25. RCW 1.50.010 and 1998 c 59 s 2 are each amended to read as follows:

Unless the context clearly requires otherwise, the definitions in this section apply throughout this chapter.

(1) "Organ donor" means an individual who makes an anatomical gift as specified in (((RCW 68.50.530)))) chapter 68. -- RCW (sections 1 through 24 of this act).

(2) "Organ procurement organization" (means any accredited or certified organ or eye bank) has the same meaning as in section 2 of this act.

(3) "Person" means a person specified in (((RCW 68.50.550))) section 9 of this act.

Sec. 26. RCW 46.12.510 and 2003 c 94 s 6 are each amended to read as follows:

An applicant for a new or renewed registration for a vehicle required to be registered under this chapter or chapter 46.16 RCW may make a donation of one dollar or more to the organ and tissue donation awareness account to promote the donation of organs and tissues under the provisions of the uniform anatomical gift act, (((RCW 68.50.520 through 68.50.530))) chapter 68. -- RCW (sections 1 through 24 of this act). The department shall collect the donations and credit the donations to the organ and tissue donation awareness account, created in RCW 68.50.640 (as recodified by this act). At least quarterly, the department shall transmit donations made to the organ and tissue donation awareness account to the foundation established for organ and tissue donation awareness purposes by the Washington state organ procurement organizations. All Washington state organ procurement organizations will have proportional access to these funds to conduct public education in their service areas. The donation of one or more dollars is voluntary and may be refused by the applicant. The department shall make available informational booklets or other informational sources on the importance of organ and tissue donations to applicants.

The department shall inquire of each applicant at the time the completed application is presented whether the applicant is interested in making a donation of one dollar or more and shall also specifically inform the applicant of the option for organ and tissue donations as required by RCW 46.20.113. The department shall also provide written information to each applicant volunteering to become an organ and tissue donor. (3) The commissioner may not disapprove or otherwise impede the implementation of the filed rates.

(4) By the last day of May each year any insurer issuing or renewing individual health benefit plans in this state during the preceding calendar year shall file for review by the commissioner supporting documentation of its actual loss ratio and its actual declination rate for its individual health benefit plans offered or renewed in the state in aggregate for the preceding calendar year. (a) At the expiration of a thirty-day period beginning with the date the filing is received by the commissioner, the filing shall be deemed approved unless prior thereto the commissioner contests the calculation of the actual loss ratio.

(b) If the commissioner contests the calculation of the actual loss ratio, the commissioner shall state in writing the grounds for contesting the calculation to the insurer.

(c) Any dispute regarding the calculation of the actual loss ratio shall, upon written demand of either the commissioner or the insurer, be arbitrated by a panel of three persons who shall be agreed upon by the American academy of actuaries, or other person approved by the commissioner, who have experience in the field.

(a) The insurer shall calculate a percentage of premium to be remitted to the Washington state health insurance pool by subtracting the actual loss ratio for the preceding year from the loss ratio established in subsection (4) of this section.

(b) The remittance to the Washington state health insurance pool is the percentage calculated in (a) of this subsection, multiplied by the premium earned from each enrollee in the previous calendar year. Interest shall be added to the remittance due at a five percent annual rate calculated from the end of the calendar year for which the remittance is due, provided the payment is made by the date the remittance is due.

(c) All remittances shall be aggregated and such amounts shall be remitted to the Washington state high risk pool to be used as directed by the pool board of directors.

(d) Any remittance required to be issued under this section shall be issued within thirty days after the actual loss ratio is deemed approved under subsection (4) of this section or the determination by an administrative law judge under subsection (5) of this section.

(6) The loss ratio applicable to this section shall be (seventy-four percent) the percentage set forth in the following schedule that correlates to the health care service contractor's actual declination rate in the preceding year, minus the premium tax rate applicable to the insurer's individual health benefit plans under RCW 48.14.020.

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

"NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. The legislature finds that Washington, state, from its inception, has recognized the importance of maintaining individual privacy. The legislature further finds that protecting the confidentiality and privacy of an individual's personal information, especially when collected from the individual without his or her knowledge or consent, is critical to maintaining the safety and well-being of its citizens. The legislature recognizes that inclusion of identification devices that broadcast data or enable data or information to be collected or scanned either secretly or remotely, or both, will greatly magnify the potential risk to individual privacy, safety, and economic well-being that can occur from unauthorized interception and use of personal information. The legislature further recognizes that these types of technologies, whether offered by the private sector or issued by the government, can be pervasive.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. The definitions in this section apply throughout this chapter unless the context clearly requires otherwise.

(1) "Identification device" means an item that uses radio frequency identification technology or facial recognition technology.

(2) "Person" means a natural person.

(3) "Personal information" has the same meaning as in RCW 19.255.010.

(4) "Data" means personal information, numerical values associated with a person's facial features, or unique personal identifier numbers stored on an identification device.

(5) "Radio frequency identification" means a technology that uses radio waves to transmit data remotely to readers.

(6) "Facial recognition" means a technology that attaches numerical values to a person's different facial features, creating a unique faceprint, which can be checked against a database of existing persons' faceprints.

(7) "Reader" means a scanning device that is capable of using radio waves to communicate with an identification device and read the data transmitted by that identification device.

(8) "Remotely" means that no physical contact between the identification device and the reader is necessary in order to transmit data.

(9) "Unique personal identifier number" means a randomly assigned string of numbers or symbols that is encoded on the identification device and is intended to identify the identification device.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. (1) Except as provided in section 5 of this act, a person that intentionally scans another person's identification device remotely, without that person's prior knowledge and prior consent, for the purpose of fraud, identity theft, or for any other illegal purpose, shall be guilty of a class C felony.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4. (1) Except as provided in section 5 of this act, a person, governmental or business entity may not intentionally scan a person's identification device remotely for any purpose without that person's prior knowledge and consent.

(2) The legislature finds that the practices covered by this section are matters vitally affecting the public interest for the purpose of applying the consumer protection act, chapter 19.86 RCW. A violation of this chapter is not reasonable in relation to the development and preservation of business and is an unfair or deceptive act in trade or commerce and an unfair method of competition for the purpose of applying the consumer protection act, chapter 19.86 RCW.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 5. Sections 3 and 4 of this act shall not apply to the following:

(1) The scanning of an identification device for triage or medical care during a disaster and immediate hospitalization or immediate outpatient care directly relating to a disaster.

(2) The scanning of an identification device by an emergency responder or health care professional for reasons relating to the health or safety of that person;
(3) The scanning of a person's identification device issued to a patient for emergency purposes;
(4) The scanning of an identification device of a person pursuant to court-ordered electronic monitoring;
(5) The scanning of an identification device of a person who is incarcerated in a correctional institution, juvenile detention facility, or mental health facility;

(7) The scanning of an identification device by law enforcement personnel who need to read a person's identification device after an accident in which the person is unavailable for notice, knowledge, or consent;
(8) The scanning of an identification device by a person or entity that in the course of operating its own identification device system collects data from another identification device, provided that the inadvertently received data complies with all of the following:
   (a) The data is not disclosed to any other party;
   (b) The data is not used for any purpose; and
   (c) The data is not stored or is promptly destroyed;
   (9) The scanning of a person's identification device in the course of an act of good faith security research, experimentation, or scientific inquiry, including, but not limited to, activities useful in identifying and analyzing security flaws and vulnerabilities; and
   (10) The scanning of an identification device by law enforcement personnel who need to scan a person's identification device pursuant to a search warrant.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 6. (1) A governmental or business entity may collect, use, and store data associated with a person for the purposes of completing a sales transaction or providing a service.
   (2) If a governmental or business entity intends to collect, use, or retain the data associated with a person after a sales transaction or service has been completed, the governmental or business entity first must obtain express, opt-in consent from the person associated with the data. The person's consent must be obtained either in writing or electronically. In obtaining the person's consent, the governmental or business entity shall unambiguously disclose that, by consenting, the person agrees to have the governmental or business entity collect, use, or retain data associated with them.
   (3) A person may, at any time, opt out of the collection of data through either written or electronic means.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 8. The office of the attorney general shall, on an annual basis, make recommendations to the legislature on other personally invasive technologies that may warrant further legislative action.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 9. If any provision of this act is found to be in conflict with federal law or regulations, the conflicting provision of this act is declared to be inoperative solely to the extent of the conflict, and that finding or determination shall not affect the operation of the remainder of this act.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 10. Sections 2 through 8 of this act are each added to a new chapter in Title 19 RCW."

Representative Williams moved the adoption of amendment (1013):

"Sec. 1. RCW 59.18.312 and 1992 c 38 s 8 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) A landlord ((may)) shall, upon the execution of a writ of restitution by the sheriff, enter and take possession of any property of the tenant found on the premises ((and store the property in any reasonably secure place)). The landlord may store the property in any reasonably secure place, including the premises, and sell or dispose of the property as provided under subsection (3) of this section. The landlord must store the property if the tenant serves a written request to do so on the landlord or the landlord's representative by any of the methods described in RCW 59.18.365 no later than three days after service of the writ. A landlord may elect to store the property without such a request unless the tenant or the tenant's representative objects to the storage of the property. If((however)) the tenant or the tenant's representative objects to the storage of the property or the landlord elects not to store the property because the tenant has not served a written request on the landlord to do so, the property shall be deposited upon the nearest public property and may not be ((moved and)) stored by the landlord. ((If)) If the tenant is not present at the time the writ of restitution is executed, it shall be presumed that the tenant does not object to the storage of the property as provided in this section. RCW 59.18.310 shall apply to the moving and storage of a tenant's property when the premises are abandoned by the tenant. If the landlord knows that the tenant is a person with a disability as defined in RCW 49.60.040 (as amended by chapter 317, Laws of 2007) and the disability impairs or prevents the tenant or the tenant's representative from making a written request for storage, it must be presumed that the tenant has requested the storage of the property as provided in this section unless the tenant objects in writing.

(2) Property ((moved and)) stored under this section shall be returned to the tenant after the tenant has paid the actual or reasonable drainage and storage costs, whichever is less, or until it is sold or disposed of by the landlord in accordance with subsection (3) of this section.

(3) Prior to the sale ((or disposal)) of property stored pursuant to this section with a cumulative value of over ((fifty)) one hundred dollars, the landlord shall notify the tenant of the pending sale ((or disposal)). After ((forty-five)) thirty days from the date the notice of the sale ((or disposal)) is mailed or personally delivered to the tenant's last known address, the landlord may sell ((or dispose of)) the property, including personal papers, family pictures, and keepsakes, and dispose of any property not sold.

If the property that is being stored has a cumulative value of ((fifty)) one hundred dollars or less, then the landlord may sell or dispose of the property in the manner provided in this section, except for personal papers, family pictures, and keepsakes. Prior to the sale or disposal of property stored pursuant to this section with a cumulative value of ($50) one hundred dollars or less, the landlord shall notify the tenant of the pending sale or disposal. The notice shall either be mailed to the tenant's last known address or personally delivered to the tenant. After seven days from the date the notice is mailed or delivered to the tenant, the landlord may sell or dispose of the property.

The landlord may apply any income derived from the sale of the tenant's property against moneys due the landlord for drainage and storage of the property. The amount of sale proceeds that the landlord may apply towards such costs may not exceed the actual or reasonable costs for drainage and storage of the property, whichever is less. Any excess income derived from the sale of such property shall be held by the landlord for the benefit of the tenant for a period of one year from the date of the sale. If no claim is made or action commenced by the tenant for the recovery of the excess income prior to the expiration of that period of time, then the balance shall be treated as abandoned property and deposited by the landlord with the department of revenue pursuant to chapter 63.29 RCW.

(4) Nothing in this section shall be construed as creating a right of distress for rent.

(5) When serving a tenant with a writ of restitution pursuant to RCW 59.12.100 and 59.18.410, the sheriff shall provide written notice to the tenant that: (a) Upon execution of the writ, the landlord ("owner") must store the tenant's property only if the tenant serves a written request on the landlord to do so no later than three days after service of the writ; (b) the notice to the landlord requesting storage may be served by personally delivering or mailing a copy of the request to the landlord at the address identified in, or by facsimile to the facsimile number listed on, the form described under subsection (6) of this section; (c) If the tenant has not made such a written request to the landlord, the landlord may elect to either store the tenant's property or place the tenant's property on the nearest public property unless the tenant objects; ((6)) (d) if the property is stored, it may not be returned to the tenant unless the tenant pays the actual or reasonable costs of drainage and storage, whichever is less, within thirty days; ((7)) (e) if the tenant or the tenant's representative objects to storage of the property, it will not be stored but will be placed on the nearest public property; and ((6) if the tenant is not present at the time of the execution of the writ, it shall be presumed the tenant does not object to storage of the property)) (f) the landlord may sell or otherwise dispose of the property as provided in subsection (5) of this section if the landlord provides written notice to the tenant first.

(6) When serving a tenant with a writ of restitution under subsection (5) of this section, the sheriff shall also serve the tenant with a form provided by the landlord that can be used to request the landlord to store the tenant's property, which must be substantially in the following form:

REQUEST FOR STORAGE OF PERSONAL PROPERTY

I/we hereby request the landlord to store my personal property. I/we understand that I/we am/are responsible for the actual or reasonable costs of moving and storing the property, whichever is less. In addition, the option to repurchase should be recorded in the real property records of the county where the property is located. Failure to so record the option will have the same effect as failure to record any other interest in real property. In any condemnation proceeding to determine just compensation for the taking of property in which the owner has retained an option to repurchase, the amount of just compensation to be paid shall be reduced by the value of the repurchase option. No repurchase option shall be provided if the amount of just compensation paid by the acquiring entity is not reduced by the value of the repurchase option.

1) Any entity seeking to acquire real property through condemnation or under the threat of condemnation must notify the owner in writing of the right under this section to retain a repurchase option. The notice must be given:

(a) In the case of the state or other entity operating under the procedures of chapter 8.04 RCW, with the notice given under RCW 8.04.020;

(b) In the case of a county or other entity operating under the procedures of chapter 8.08 RCW, with the notice given under RCW 8.08.030;

(c) In the case of a city, town, or other entity operating under the procedures of chapter 8.12 RCW, with the summons served under RCW 8.12.070;

(d) In the case of a school district or other entity operating under the procedures of chapter 8.16 RCW, with the notice given under RCW 8.16.030;

(e) In the case of a corporation or other entity operating under the procedures of chapter 8.20 RCW, with the notice given under RCW 8.20.020; and

(f) In the case of any other entity, with the service of process commencing the action for condemnation.

2) If real property that was transferred to an acquiring entity through or under the threat of condemnation has not been or will not be put to use for a public purpose within five years after the date the property was transferred to the acquiring entity, the acquiring entity must provide a written notice to a former owner who elected to retain a repurchase option in the property certifying that the acquiring entity is making reasonable progress toward the project for which the property was condemned. The acquiring entity must provide the written notice no later than five years, and no sooner than four years, after the date the property was transferred to the acquiring entity.

3) If, within seven years after the date real property was transferred to an acquiring entity through or under the threat of condemnation, the acquiring entity determines that all or a portion of the property or an interest in the property is no longer necessary for a public purpose and should be sold, a former owner who elected to retain a repurchase option may exercise that option in accordance with this section. "Former owner" means the person or persons from whom the acquiring entity acquired title or that person's or those persons' successors or assigns to the property or property interest that is subject to the repurchase right.

(a) At least ninety days prior to the date on which the acquiring entity will announce a public process for property disposition or, if the sale is to be negotiated, at least ninety days prior to the date on which a purchase and sale agreement or similar document is to be signed, the acquiring entity shall (i) publish notice of its determination to sell the property or a portion of the property in a legal newspaper of general circulation in the area where the property to be sold is located, (ii) describe generally any easements, other restrictions, or reserved rights the acquiring entity intends to retain upon sale, and (iii) mail notice of the determination to the former owner of the property at the former owner's last known address or to a forwarding address if that owner has provided the acquiring entity with a forwarding address.

(b) If the former owner notifies the acquiring entity in writing within thirty days of the date of notice provided under (a) of this subsection that the former owner intends to exercise the repurchase right granted by this section, the acquiring entity shall, unless it already has a completed current independent appraisal for the property, immediately arrange for an independent appraisal to determine the fair market value of the property or portion of property subject to repurchase, adjusted to reflect the value of any physical changes to the property, such as improvements or removal of structures. Within thirty days of receipt of the former owner's notice of intent to exercise the repurchase right or following the acquiring entity's receipt of the appraisal, the acquiring entity shall provide the former owner with a written copy of the appraisal. All costs of appraisal shall be paid by the acquiring entity. If the former owner does not provide timely written notice to the acquiring entity of the intent to exercise a repurchase right, that right is extinguished and the acquiring entity is relieved of any further obligation under this section.

(c) Within thirty days of the date the acquiring entity provides a written copy of the appraisal to the former owner under (b) of this subsection, the former owner may exercise the repurchase right granted by this section by delivering to the acquiring entity earnest money or a deposit in a form determined by the acquiring entity in an amount equal to five percent of the appraised value, together with a written promise to pay, within thirty days, the following:

(i) The lesser of (A) the appraised value less the earnest money or deposit, or (B) an amount equal to the compensation received from the acquiring entity when the property or portion of property was condemned or sold under threat of condemnation, with interest accrued at the market rate, and with the amount adjusted to reflect the value of any physical changes to the property, such as improvements or removal of structures, as determined by the independent appraisal, less the earnest money or deposit; and

(ii) All required fees and costs otherwise required for the transfer of real property.

(d) Upon receipt of the full payment required in (c) of this subsection, the acquiring entity shall transfer title to the former owner, subject to any easements, other restrictions, or reserved rights retained by the acquiring entity. If the former owner fails to complete the sale, the earnest money or deposit is forfeited to the acquiring entity, the former owner's repurchase right is extinguished, and the acquiring entity is relieved of any further obligation under this section.

(e) In the event that the acquiring entity and the former owner cannot agree on the amount of compensation paid for a portion of the property under (c)(ii) of this subsection, the acquiring entity and the former owner shall each arrange for an independent appraisal of the just compensation allocation to the portion of the property to be sold. If the acquiring entity and the former owner cannot then agree on the amount, either party may initiate a lawsuit to determine the amount, or they may agree to binding arbitration in which case the appraisals shall be submitted to a third, independent appraiser. The third appraiser shall sit as an arbitrator and determine the amount of just compensation under (c)(ii)(B) of this subsection. The arbitrator's decision shall be final and binding. The acquiring entity and former owner shall bear their own costs and fees, and pay equally the costs and fees of the arbitrator.

(f) The acquiring entity may reject a notice of intent under subsection (2)(b) of this section received from a person claiming to be a successor or assignee that is not accompanied by evidence sufficient to demonstrate that the person is the successor or assignee of the person from whom the acquired entity acquired title.

(5) The obligations imposed on an acquiring entity in this section are in addition to any provided by law for the surplusing or sale of public property to private parties. Nothing in this section precludes an acquiring entity from retaining the property and determining not to surpluse and sell the property.

Sec. 4. RCW 28A.335.120 and 2006 c 263 s 913 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) The board of directors of any school district of this state may:

(a) Sell for cash, at public or private sale, and convey by deed all interest of the district in or to any of the real property of the district which is no longer required for school purposes; and

(b) Purchase real property for the purpose of locating thereon and affixing thereto any house or houses and appurtenant buildings removed from school sites owned by the district and sell for cash, at public or private sale, and convey by deed all interest of the district in or to such acquired and improved real property.

(2) When the board of directors of any school district proposes a sale of school district real property pursuant to this section and the value of the property exceeds seventy thousand dollars, the board shall publish a notice of its intention to sell the property. The notice shall be published at least once each week during two consecutive weeks in a legal newspaper with a general circulation in the area in which the school district is located. The notice shall describe the property and designate the place and the day and hour when a hearing will be held. The board shall hold a public hearing upon the proposal to dispose of the school district property at the place and the day and hour fixed in the notice and admit evidence offered for and against the propriety and advisability of the proposed sale.

(3) The board of directors of any school district desiring to sell surplus real property shall publish a notice in a newspaper of general circulation in the school district. School districts shall not sell the property for at least forty-five days following the publication of the newspaper notice.

(4) Private schools shall have the same rights as any other person or entity to submit bids for the purchase of surplus real property and to have such bids considered along with all other bids.

(5) Any sale of school district real property authorized pursuant to this section shall be preceded by a market value appraisal by a professionally designated real estate appraiser as defined in RCW 74.46.020 or a general real estate appraiser certified under chapter 18.140 RCW selected by the board to appraise the market value of the property and designate the place and the day and hour when a hearing will be held. The board shall hold a public hearing upon the proposal to dispose of the school district property at the place and the day and time fixed in the notice and admit evidence offered for and against the propriety and advisability of the proposed sale.

(6) The board of directors of any district the sale of real property of the district not needed for school purposes would be facilitated and greater value realized through use of the services of licensed real estate brokers, a contract for such services may be negotiated and concluded: PROVIDED, That the use of a licensed real estate broker will not eliminate the obligation of the board of directors to provide the notice described in this section: PROVIDED FURTHER, That the fee or commissions charged for any broker services shall not exceed seven percent of the resulting sale value for a single parcel: PROVIDED FURTHER, That any professionally designated real estate appraiser as defined in RCW 74.46.020 or a general real estate appraiser certified under chapter 18.140 RCW selected by the board to appraise the market value of a parcel of property to be sold may not be a party to any contract with the school district to sell such parcel of property for a period of three years after the appraisal.

(7) If in the judgment of the board of directors of any district the sale of real property of the district not needed for school purposes would be facilitated and greater value realized through sale on contract terms, a real estate sales contract may be executed between the district and buyer.

(8) This section is subject to and operates only to the extent its application is not inconsistent with the operation of section 3 of this act with respect to property acquired through or under the threat of condemnation.

Sec. 5. RCW 35.58.340 and 1993 c 240 s 9 are each amended to read as follows:

Except as otherwise provided herein, a metropolitan municipal corporation may sell, or otherwise dispose of any real or personal property acquired in connection with any authorized metropolitan function and which is no longer required for the purposes of the metropolitan municipal corporation in the same manner as provided for cities. When the metropolitan council determines that a metropolitan facility or any part thereof which has been acquired from a component city or county without compensation is no longer required for metropolitan purposes, but is required as a local facility by the city or county from which it was acquired, the metropolitan council shall by resolution transfer it to such city or county. This section is subject to and operates only to the extent its application is not inconsistent with the operation of section 3 of this act with respect to property acquired through or under the threat of condemnation.

Sec. 6. RCW 35.80A.030 and 1989 c 271 s 241 are each amended to read as follows:

A county, city, or town may dispose of real property acquired pursuant to this section to private persons only under such reasonable, competitive procedures as shall be prescribed by the county, city, or town. The county, city, or town may accept such proposals as it deems to be in the public interest and in furtherance of the purposes of this chapter. Thereafter, the county, city, or town may execute and deliver contracts, deeds, leases, and other instruments of transfer. This section is subject to and operates only to the extent its application is not inconsistent with the operation of section 3 of this act with respect to property acquired through or under the threat of condemnation.

Sec. 7. RCW 35.94.040 and 1973 1st ex.s. c 95 s 1 are each amended to read as follows:

Whenever a city shall determine, by resolution of its legislative authority, that any lands, property, or equipment originally acquired for public utility purposes is surplus to the city's needs and is not required for providing continued public utility service, then such legislative authority by resolution and after a public hearing may cause such lands, property, or equipment to be leased, sold, or conveyed. Such resolution shall state the fair market value or the rent or consideration to be paid and such other terms and conditions for such disposition as the legislative authority deems to be in the best public interest.

The provisions of RCW 35.94.020 and 35.94.030 shall not apply to dispositions authorized by this section.

This section is subject to and operates only to the extent its application is not inconsistent with the operation of section 3 of this act with respect to property acquired through or under the threat of condemnation.

recognition fund to be used for capital purposes. This section is subject to and operates only to the extent its application is not inconsistent with the operation of section 3 of this act with respect to property acquired through or under the threat of condemnation.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 9. A new section is added to chapter 39.35 RCW to read as follows:

This chapter is subject to and operates only to the extent its application is not inconsistent with the operation of section 3 of this act with respect to property acquired through or under the threat of condemnation.

Sec. 10. RCW 43.43.115 and 1993 c 438 s 1 are each amended to read as follows:

Whenever real property owned by the state of Washington and under the jurisdiction of the Washington state patrol is no longer required, it may be sold at fair market value. All proceeds received from the sale of real property, less any real estate broker commissions, shall be deposited into the state patrol highway account.

PROVIDED, That if accounts or funds other than the state patrol highway account have contributed to the purchase or improvement of the real property, the office of financial management shall determine the proportional equity of each account or fund in the property and improvements, and shall direct the proceeds to be deposited proportionally therein. This section is subject to and operates only to the extent its application is not inconsistent with the operation of section 3 of this act with respect to property acquired through or under the threat of condemnation.

(1) The director of general administration, on behalf of the agency involved and after consultation with the office of financial management, shall purchase, lease, lease purchase, rent, or otherwise acquire all real estate, improved or unimproved, as may be required by elected state officials, institutions, departments, commissions, boards, and other state agencies, or federal agencies where joint state and federal activities are undertaken and may grant easements and transfer, exchange, sell, lease, or sublease all or part of any surplus real estate for those state agencies which do not otherwise have the specific authority to dispose of real estate. This section does not transfer financial liability for the acquired property to the department of general administration.

(2) Except for real estate occupied by federal agencies, the director shall determine the location, size, and design of any real estate to be acquired, and all its application to subsection (1) of this section. Facilities acquired or held pursuant to this chapter, and any improvements thereon, shall conform to standards adopted by the director and approved by the office of financial management governing facility efficiency unless a specific exemption from such standards is provided by the director of general administration. The director of general administration shall report to the office of financial management and the appropriate committees of the legislature annually on any exemptions granted pursuant to this subsection.

(3) The director of general administration may fix the terms and conditions of each lease entered into under this chapter, except that no lease shall extend greater than twenty years in duration. The director of general administration may enter into a long-term lease greater than ten years in duration upon a determination by the director of the office of financial management that the long-term lease provides a more favorable rate than would otherwise be available, it appears to a substantial certainty that the facility is necessary for use by the state for the full length of the lease term, and the facility meets the standards adopted pursuant to subsection (2) of this section. The director of general administration may enter into a long-term lease greater than ten years in duration if an analysis shows that the life-cycle cost of leasing the facility is less than the life-cycle cost of purchasing or constructing a facility in lieu of leasing the facility.

(4) Except as permitted under chapter 39.94 RCW, no lease for or on behalf of any state agency may be used or referred to as collateral or security for the payment of securities offered for sale through a public offering. Except as permitted under chapter 39.94 RCW, no lease for or on behalf of any state agency may be used or referred to as collateral or security for the payment of securities offered for sale through a private placement without the prior written approval of the state treasurer. However, this limitation shall not prevent a lessor from assigning or encumbering its interest in a lease as security for the repayment of a promissory note provided that the transaction would otherwise be an exempt transaction under RCW 41.81.320. The state treasurer shall adopt rules that establish the criteria under which any such approval may be granted. In establishing such criteria the state treasurer shall give primary consideration to the protection of the state's credit rating and the integrity of the state's debt management program. If it appears to the state treasurer that any lease has been used or referred to in violation of this subsection or rules adopted under this subsection, he or she may recommend that the governor cause such lease to be terminated. The department of general administration shall promptly notify the state treasurer whenever it may appear to the department that any lease has been used or referred to in violation of this subsection or rules adopted under this subsection.

(5) It is the policy of the state to encourage the colocation and consolidation of state services into single or adjacent facilities, whenever appropriate, to improve public service delivery, minimize duplication of facilities, increase efficiency of operations, and promote sound growth management planning.

(6) The director of general administration shall provide coordinated long-range planning services to identify and evaluate opportunities for colocation and consolidating state facilities. Upon the renewal of any lease, the inception of a new lease, or the purchase of a facility, the director of general administration shall determine whether an opportunity exists for locating the agency or agencies in a single facility with other agencies located in the same geographic area. If a colocation opportunity exists, the director of general administration shall consult with the affected state agencies and the office of financial management to evaluate the impact colocation would have on the cost and delivery of agency programs, including whether program delivery would be enhanced due to the centralization of services. The director of general administration, in consultation with the office of financial management, shall develop procedures for implementing colocation and consolidation of state facilities.

(7) The director of general administration is authorized to purchase, lease, rent, or otherwise acquire improved or unimproved real estate as owner or lessee and to lease or sublet all or a part of such real estate to state or federal agencies. The director of general administration shall appraise or have appraised any state property which shall include an amount sufficient to pay all costs, including, but not limited to, those for utilities, janitorial and accounting services, and sufficient to provide for contingencies; which shall not exceed five percent of the average annual rental, to meet unforeseen expenses incident to management of the real estate.

(8) If the director of general administration determines that it is necessary or advisable to undertake any work, construction, alteration, repair, or improvement on any real estate acquired pursuant to subsection (1) or (7) of this section, the director shall cause plans and specifications thereof and an estimate of the cost of such work to be made and filed in his or her office and the state agency benefiting thereby is hereby authorized to pay for such work or improvements. PROVIDED, That the cost of executing such work shall not exceed the sum of twenty-five thousand dollars. Work, construction, alteration, repair, or improvement in excess of twenty-five thousand dollars, other than that done by the owner of the property if other than the state, shall be performed in accordance with the public works law of this state.

(9) In order to obtain maximum utilization of space, the director of general administration shall make space utilization studies, and shall establish standards for use of space by state agencies. Such studies shall include the identification of opportunities for colocation and consolidation of state agency office and support facilities.

(10) The director of general administration may construct new buildings on, or improve existing facilities, and furnish and equip, all real estate under his or her management. Prior to the construction of new buildings or major improvements to existing facilities or acquisition of facilities using a lease purchase contract, the director of general administration shall conduct an evaluation of the facility design and budget using life-cycle cost analysis, value-engineering, and other techniques to maximize the long-term effectiveness and efficiency of the facility or improvement.

(11) All conveyances and contracts to purchase, lease, rent, transfer, exchange, or sell real estate and to grant and accept easements shall be approved as to form by the attorney general, signed by the director of general administration or the director's designee, and recorded with the county auditor of the county in which the property is located.

(12) The director of general administration may delegate any or all of the functions specified in this section to any agency upon such terms and conditions as the director deems advisable. By January 1 of each year, beginning January 1, 2008, the department shall submit an annual report to the office of financial management and the appropriate committees of the legislature on all delegated leases.

(13) This section does not apply to the acquisition of real estate by:

(a) The state college and universities for research or experimental purposes;
(b) The state liquor control board for liquor stores and warehouses; and
(c) The department of natural resources, the department of fish and wildlife, the department of transportation, and the state parks and recreation commission for purposes other than the leasing of offices, warehouses, and real estate for similar purposes.

(14) Notwithstanding any provision in this chapter to the contrary, the department of general administration may negotiate ground leases for public lands on which property is to be acquired under a financing contract pursuant to chapter 39.94 RCW under terms approved by the state finance committee.

(15) The department of general administration shall report annually to the office of financial management and the appropriate fiscal committees of the legislature on facility leases executed for all state agencies for the preceding year, lease terms, and annual lease costs. The report must include leases executed under RCW 43.82.045 and subsection (12) of this section.

(16) This section is subject to and operates only to the extent its application is not inconsistent with the operation of section 3 of this act with respect to property acquired through or under the threat of condemnation.

Sec. 12. RCW 47.12.063 and 2006 c 17 s 2 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) It is the intent of the legislature to continue the department's policy of giving priority consideration to abutting property owners in agricultural areas when disposing of property through its surplus property program under this section.

(2) Whenever the department determines that any real property owned by the state of Washington and under the jurisdiction of the department is no longer required for transportation purposes and that it is in the public interest to do so, the department may sell the property or exchange it in full or part consideration for land or improvements or for construction of improvements at fair market value to any of the following governmental entities or persons:

(a) Any other state agency;
(b) The city or county in which the property is situated;
(c) Any other municipal corporation;
(d) Regional transit authorities created under chapter 81.112 RCW;
(e) The former owner of the property from whom the state acquired title;
(f) In the case of residentially improved property, a tenant of the department who has resided thereon for not less than six months and who is not delinquent in paying rent to the state;
(g) Any abutting private owner but only after each other abutting private owner (if any), as shown in the records of the county assessor, is notified in writing of the proposed sale. If more than one abutting private owner requests in writing the right to purchase the property within fifteen days after receiving notice of the proposed sale, the property shall be sold at public auction in the manner provided in RCW 47.12.283;
(h) To any person through the solicitation of written bids through public advertising in the manner prescribed by RCW 47.28.050;
(i) To any other owner of real property required for transportation purposes;
(j) In the case of property suitable for residential use, any nonprofit organization dedicated to providing affordable housing to very low-income, low-income, and moderate-income households as defined in RCW 43.63A.510 and is eligible to receive assistance through the Washington housing trust fund created in chapter 43.185 RCW; or
(k) A federally recognized Indian tribe within whose reservation boundary the property is located.

(3) Sales to purchasers may at the department's option be for cash, by real estate contract, or exchange of land or improvements. Transactions involving the construction of improvements must be conducted pursuant to chapter 47.28 RCW or Title 39 RCW, as applicable, and must comply with all other applicable laws and rules.

(4) Conveyances made pursuant to this section shall be by deed executed by the secretary of transportation and shall be duly acknowledged.

(5) Unless otherwise provided, all moneys received pursuant to the provisions of this section less any real estate broker commissions paid pursuant to RCW 47.12.320 shall be deposited in the motor vehicle fund.

(6) This section is subject to and operates only to the extent its application is not inconsistent with the operation of section 3 of this act with respect to property acquired through or under the threat of condemnation.

Sec. 13. RCW 47.12.283 and 1979 ex.s. c 189 s 1 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) Whenever the department of transportation determines that any real property owned by the state of Washington and under the jurisdiction of the department is no longer required for highway purposes and that it is in the public interest to do so, the department may, in its discretion, sell the property under RCW 47.12.063 or under subsections (2) through (6) of this section.

(2) Whenever the department determines to sell real property under its jurisdiction at public auction, the department shall first give notice thereof by publication on the same day of the week for two consecutive weeks, with the first publication at least two weeks prior to the date of the auction, in a legal newspaper of general circulation in the area where the property to be sold is located. The notice shall be placed in both the legal notices section and the real estate classified section of the newspaper. The notice shall contain a description of the property, the time and place of the auction, and the terms of the sale. The sale may be for cash or by real estate contract.

(3) The department shall sell the property at the public auction, in accordance with the terms set forth in the notice, to the highest and best bidder providing the bid is equal to or higher than the appraised fair market value of the property.

(4) If no bids are received at the auction or if all bids are rejected, the department may, in its discretion, enter into negotiations for the sale of the property or may list the property with a licensed real estate broker. No property shall be sold by negotiations or through a broker for less than the property's appraised fair market value. Any offer to purchase real property pursuant to this subsection shall be in writing and may be rejected at any time prior to written acceptance by the department.

(5) Before the department shall approve any offer for the purchase of real property having an appraised value of more than ten thousand dollars, pursuant to subsection (4) of this section, the department shall first publish a notice of the proposed sale in a local newspaper of general circulation in the area where the property is located. The notice shall include a description of the property, the selling price, the terms of the sale, including the price and interest rate if sold by real estate contract, and the name and address of the department employee or the real estate broker handling the transaction. The notice shall further state that any person may, within ten days after the publication of the notice, deliver to the designated state employee or real estate broker a written offer to purchase the property for not less than ten percent more than the negotiated sale price, subject to the same terms and conditions. A subsequent offer shall not be considered unless it is accompanied by a deposit of twenty percent of the offer in the form of cash, money order, cashier’s check, or certified check payable to the Washington state treasurer, to be forfeited to the state (or deposit in the motor vehicle fund) if the offeror fails to complete the sale if the offeror’s offer is accepted. If a subsequent offer is received, the first offeror shall be informed by registered or certified mail sent to the address stated in his offer. The first offeror shall then have ten days, from the date of mailing the notice of the increased offer, in which to file with the designated state employee or real estate broker a higher offer than that of the subsequent offeror. After the expiration of the ten day period, the department shall approve in writing the highest and best offer which the department then has on file.

(6) All moneys received pursuant to this section, less any real estate broker’s commissions paid pursuant to RCW 47.12.320, shall be deposited in the motor vehicle fund.

(7) This section is subject to and operates only to the extent its application is not inconsistent with the operation of section 3 of this act with respect to property acquired through or under the threat of condemnation.

Sec. 14. RCW 47.52.050 and 1971 ex.s. c 39 s 1 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) For the purpose of this chapter the highway authorities of the state, counties and incorporated cities and towns, respectively, or in cooperation one with the other, may acquire private or public property and property rights for limited access facilities and service roads, including rights of access, air, view and light, by gift, devise, purchase, or condemnation, in the same manner as such authorities are now or hereafter may be authorized by law to acquire property or property rights in connection with highways and streets within their respective jurisdictions. Except as otherwise provided in subsection (2) of this section all property rights acquired under the provisions of this chapter shall be in fee simple. In the acquisition of property or property rights for any limited access facility or portion thereof, or for any service road in connection therewith, the state, county, incorporated city and town authority may, in its discretion, acquire an entire lot, block or tract of land, if by so doing the interest of the public will be best served, even though said entire lot, block or tract is not immediately needed for the limited access facility. This subsection is subject to and operates only to the extent its application is not inconsistent with the operation of section 3 of this act with respect to property acquired through or under the threat of condemnation.

Sec. 15. RCW 53.08.090 and 1994 c 26 s 1 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) A port commission may, by resolution, authorize the managing official of a port district to sell and convey port district property of ten thousand dollars or less in value. The authority shall be in force for not more than one calendar year from the date of resolution and may be renewed from year to year. Prior to any such sale or conveyance the managing official shall itemize and list the property to be sold and make written certification to the commission that the listed property is no longer needed for district purposes. Any large block of the property having a value in excess of ten thousand dollars shall not be broken down into components of ten thousand dollars or less value and sold in the smaller components unless the smaller components be sold by public competitive bid. A port district may sell and convey any of its real or personal property valued at more than ten thousand dollars when the port commission has, by resolution, declared the property to be no longer needed for district purposes, but no property which is a part of the comprehensive plan of improvement or modification thereof shall be disposed of until the comprehensive plan has been modified to find the property surplus to port needs. The comprehensive plan shall be modified only after public notice and hearing provided by RCW 53.20.010.

Nothing in this section shall be deemed to repeal or modify procedures for property sales within industrial development districts as set forth in chapter 53.25 RCW.

(2) The ten thousand dollar figures in subsection (1) of this section shall be adjusted annually based upon the governmental price index established by the department of revenue under RCW 82.14.200.

(3) This section is subject to and operates only to the extent its application is not inconsistent with the operation of section 3 of this act with respect to property acquired through or under the threat of condemnation.

Sec. 16. RCW 53.25.040 and 1989 e 167 s 1 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) A port commission may, after a public hearing thereon, of which at least ten days' notice shall be published in a newspaper of general circulation in the port district, create industrial development districts within the district and define the boundaries thereof, if it finds that the creation of the industrial development district is proper and desirable in establishing and developing a system of harbor improvements for industrial development in the port district.

(2) The boundaries of an industrial development district created by subsection (1) of this section may be revised from time to time by resolution of the port commission, to delete land area therefrom, if the land area to be deleted was acquired by the port district with its own funds or by gift or transfer other than pursuant to RCW 53.25.050 or 53.25.060.

As to any land area to be deleted under this subsection that was acquired or improved by the port district with funds obtained through RCW 53.36.100, the port district shall deposit funds equal to the fair market value of the lands and improvements into the fund for future use described in RCW 53.36.100 and such funds shall be thereafter subject to RCW 53.36.100. The fair market value of the land and improvements shall be determined as of the effective date of the port commission action deleting the land from the industrial development district and shall be determined by an average of at least two independent appraisals by professionally designated real estate appraisers as defined in RCW 74.46.020 or licensed real estate appraisers. The funds shall be deposited into the fund for future use described in RCW 53.36.100 within ninety days of the effective date of the port commission action deleting the land area from the industrial district. Land areas deleted from an industrial development district under this subsection shall not be further subject to the provisions of this chapter. This subsection shall apply to presently existing and future industrial development districts.

Sec. 17. RCW 70.44.300 and 1997 c 332 s 17 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) The board of commissioners of any public hospital district may sell and convey at public or private sale real property of the district if the board determines by resolution that the property is no longer required for public hospital district purposes or determines by resolution that the sale of the property will further the purposes of the public hospital district.

(2) Any sale of district real property authorized pursuant to this section shall be preceded, not more than one year prior to the date of sale, by market value appraisals by three licensed real estate brokers or professionally designated real estate appraisers as defined in RCW 74.46.040 or independent experts in valuing health care property, selected by the board of commissioners, and no sale shall take place if the sale price would be less than ninety percent of the average of such appraisals.

(3) When the board of commissioners of any public hospital district proposes a sale of district real property pursuant to this section and the value of the property exceeds one hundred thousand dollars, the board shall publish a notice of its intention to sell the property. The notice shall be published at least once each week during two consecutive weeks in a legal newspaper of general circulation within the public hospital district. The notice shall describe the property to be sold and designate the place where and the day and hour when a hearing will be held. The board shall hold a public hearing upon the proposal to dispose of the public hospital district property at the place and the day and hour fixed in the notice and consider evidence offered for and against the propriety and advisability of the proposed sale.

(4) If in the judgment of the board of commissioners of any district the sale of any district real property not needed for public hospital district purposes would be financially and greater values realized through use of the services of licensed real estate brokers, a contract for such services may be negotiated and concluded. The fee or commissions charged for any broker service shall not exceed seven percent of the resulting sale price for a single parcel. No licensed real estate broker or professionally designated real estate appraisers as defined in RCW 74.46.020 or independent expert in valuing health care property selected by the board to appraise the market value of a parcel of property to be sold may be a party to any contract with the public hospital district to sell such property for a period of three years after the appraisal.

(5) This section is subject to and operates only to the extent its application is not inconsistent with the operation of section 3 of this act with respect to property acquired through or under the threat of condemnation.

Sec. 18. RCW 79.36.330 and 2004 c 199 s 217 are each amended to read as follows:

The department shall determine that the property interests acquired under the authority of this chapter are no longer necessary for the purposes for which they were acquired, the department shall dispose of the same in the following manner, when in the discretion of the department it is to the best interests of the state of Washington to do so, except that property purchased with educational funds or held in trust for educational purposes shall be sold only in the same manner as state lands:

(1) Where the state property necessitating the acquisition of private property interests for access purposes under authority of this chapter is sold or exchanged, the acquired property interests may be sold or exchanged as an appurtenance of the state property when it is determined by the department that sale or exchange of the state property necessitating the acquired property interests as one parcel is in the best interests of the state.

(2) If the acquired property interests are not sold or exchanged as provided in subsection (1) of this section, the department shall notify the person or persons from whom the property interest was acquired, stating that the property interests are to be sold, and that the person or persons shall have the right to purchase the same at the appraised price. The notice shall be given by registered letter or certified mail, return receipt requested, mailed to the last known address of the person or persons. If the address of the person or persons is unknown, the notice shall be published twice in an official newspaper of general circulation in the county where the lands or a portion thereof is located. The second notice shall be published not less than ten nor more than thirty days after the notice is first published. The person or persons shall have thirty days after receipt of the registered letter or five days after the last date of publication, as the case may be, to notify the department, in writing, of their intent to purchase the offered property interest. The purchaser shall include with his or her notice of intention to purchase, cash payment, certified check, or money order in an amount not less than one-third of the appraised price. No instrument conveying property interests shall issue from the department until the full price of the property is received by the department. All costs of publication required under this section shall be added to the appraised price and collected by the department upon sale of the property interests.

(3) If the property interests are not sold or exchanged as provided in subsections (1) and (2) of this section, the department shall notify the owners of land abutting the property interests in the same manner as provided in subsection (2) of this section and their notice of intent to purchase shall be given in the manner and in accordance with the same time limits as are set forth in subsection (2) of this section. However, if more than one abutting owner gives notice of intent to purchase the property interests, the department shall apportion them in relation to the linear footage bordering each side of the property interests to be sold, and apportion the costs to the interested purchasers in relation thereto. Further, no sale is authorized by this section unless the department is satisfied that the amounts to be received from the several purchasers will equal or exceed the appraised price of the entire parcel plus any costs of publishing notices.

(4) If no sale or exchange is consummated as provided in subsections (1) through (3) of this section, the department shall sell the property interests for public hospital district funds or held in trust for educational purposes as an appurtenance of the state property when it is determined by the department that the sale of the property interests is necessary for the public hospital district. Any disposal of property interests authorized by this chapter shall be subject to any existing rights previously granted by the department.

(5) Any disposal of property interests authorized by this chapter shall be subject to and operates only to the extent its application is not inconsistent with the operation of section 3 of this act with respect to property acquired through or under the threat of condemnation.

Sec. 19. RCW 80.28.230 and 1961 c 14 s 80.28.230 are each amended to read as follows:

Any property or interest acquired as provided in RCW 80.28.220 shall be used exclusively for the purposes for which it was acquired: PROVIDED, HOWEVER, That if any such property be sold or otherwise disposed of by said corporations, such sale or disposition shall be by public sale or disposition and advertised in the manner of public sales in the county where such property is located. This section is subject to and operates only to the extent its application is not inconsistent with the operation of section 3 of this act with respect to property acquired through or under the threat of condemnation.

Sec. 20. RCW 80.40.030 and 1963 c 201 s 4 are each amended to read as follows:

Any natural gas company having received an order under RCW 80.40.040 shall have the right of eminent domain to be exercised in the manner provided in and subject to the provisions of chapter 8.20 RCW to acquire for its use for the underground storage of natural gas any underground reservoir, as well as such other property or interests in property as may be required to adequately maintain and utilize the underground reservoir for the underground storage of natural gas, including easements and appurtenances for access thereto, for the underground storage reservoir. The right of eminent domain granted hereby shall apply to property or property interests held in private ownership, provided condemning has exercised good faith in negotiations for private sale or lease. No property shall be taken or damaged until the compensation to be made therefor shall have been ascertained and paid. Any property or interest therein so acquired by any natural gas company shall be used exclusively for the purposes for which it was acquired. Any decree of appropriation hereunder shall define and limit the rights conditioned and shall provide for the reversion of such rights to the defendant or defendants or their successors in interest upon abandonment of the underground storage reservoir project. Good faith exploration work or development work relative to the storage reservoir is conclusive evidence that its use has not been abandoned. The court may include in such decree such other relevant conditions, covenants and restrictions as it may deem fair and equitable. This section is subject to and operates only to the extent its application is not inconsistent with the operation of section 3 of this act with respect to property acquired through or under the threat of condemnation.

Sec. 21. RCW 81.112.080 and 1992 c 101 s 8 are each amended to read as follows:

An authority shall have the following powers in addition to the general powers granted by this chapter:

1. To carry out the planning processes set forth in RCW 81.104.100;
2. To acquire by purchase, condemnation, gift, or grant and to lease, construct, add to, improve, replace, repair, maintain, operate, and regulate the use of high capacity transportation facilities and properties within authority boundaries including surface, underground, or overhead railways, tramways, busways, buses, bus sets, entrained and linked buses, ferries, or other means of local transportation except taxis, and including escalators, moving sidewalks, personal rapid transit systems or other people-moving systems, passenger terminal and parking facilities and properties, and such other facilities and properties as may be necessary for passenger, vehicular, and vessel access to and from such people-moving systems, terminal and parking facilities and properties, together with all lands, rights of way, property, equipment, and accessories necessary for such high capacity transportation systems. When developing specifications for high capacity transportation system operating equipment, an authority shall take into account efforts to establish or sustain a domestic manufacturing capacity for such equipment. The right of eminent domain shall be exercised by an authority in the same manner and by the same procedure as or may be provided by law for cities of the first class, except insofar as such laws may be inconsistent with the provisions of this chapter. Public transportation facilities and properties which are owned by any city, county, county transportation authority, public transportation benefit area, or metropolitan municipal corporation may be acquired or used by an authority only with the consent of the agency owning such facilities. Such agencies are hereby authorized to convey or lease such facilities to an authority or to contract for their joint use on such terms as may be fixed by agreement between the agency and the authority.

The facilities and properties of an authority whose vehicles will operate primarily within the rights of way of public streets, roads, or highways, may be acquired, developed, and operated without the corridor and design hearings that are required by RCW 35.58.273 for many public facilities operating on a separate right of way.

3. To dispose of any real or personal property acquired in connection with any authority function and that is no longer required for the purposes of the authority, in the same manner as provided for cities of the first class. When an authority determines that a facility or any part thereof that has been acquired from any public agency without compensation is no longer required for authority purposes, but is required by the agency from which it was acquired, the authority shall by resolution transfer it to such agency. This subsection is subject to and operates only to the extent its application is not inconsistent with the operation of section 3 of this act with respect to property acquired through or under the threat of condemnation.

4. To fix rates, tolls, fares, and charges for the use of such facilities and to establish various routes and classes of service. Fares or charges may be adjusted or eliminated for any distinguishable class of users.

On page 2, beginning on line 13, strike all of section 3 and insert the following:

"NEW SECTION, Sec. 3. A new section is added to chapter 8.25 RCW to read as follows:

When real property is acquired through condemnation or under the threat of condemnation, the owner of the property may retain an option to repurchase the property or to receive proceeds from the sale of the property in accordance with this section. If the owner elects to retain such an option, it shall be a part of the purchase and sale agreement or other agreement for the transfer of the property to the acquiring entity. In addition, the option should be recorded in the real property records of the county where the property is located. Failure to so record the option will have the same effect as failure to record any other interest in real property. In any condemnation proceeding to determine just compensation for the taking of property the owner has retained an option to repurchase or to receive proceeds from the sale of the property, the amount of just compensation to be paid shall be reduced by the value of the option. No option shall be provided if the amount of just compensation paid by the acquiring entity is not reduced by the value of the option.

(1) Any entity seeking to acquire real property through condemnation or under the threat of condemnation must notify the owner in writing of the right under this section to retain a repurchase option or an option to receive proceeds from the sale of the property. The notice must be given:

(a) In the case of the state or other entity operating under the procedures of chapter 8.04 RCW, with the notice given under RCW 8.04.020;
(b) In the case of a county or other entity operating under the procedures of chapter 8.08 RCW, with the notice given under RCW 8.08.030;
(c) In the case of a city, town, or other entity operating under the procedures of chapter 8.12 RCW, with the summons served under RCW 8.12.070;
(d) In the case of a school district or other entity operating under the procedures of chapter 8.16 RCW, with the notice given under RCW 8.16.030;
(e) In the case of a corporation or other entity operating under the procedures of chapter 8.20 RCW, with the notice given under RCW 8.20.020; and

(f) In the case of any other entity, with the service of process commencing the action for condemnation.

(2) If real property that was transferred to an acquiring entity through or under the threat of condemnation has not been or will not be put to use for a public purpose within five years after the date the property was transferred to the acquiring entity, the acquiring entity must provide a written notice to a former owner who elected to retain a repurchase option in the property or an option to receive proceeds from the sale of the property certifying that the acquiring entity is making reasonable progress towards the project for which the property was condemned. The acquiring entity must provide the written notice no later than five years, and no sooner than four years, after the date the property was transferred to the acquiring entity.

(3) If, within seven years after the date real property was transferred to an acquiring entity through or under the threat of condemnation, the acquiring entity determines that all or a portion of the property or an interest in the property is no longer necessary for a public purpose and should be sold, a former owner who elected to retain a repurchase option or an option to receive proceeds may exercise that option in accordance with this section. "Former owner" means the person or persons from whom the acquiring entity acquired title or that person's or those persons' successors or assigns to the property or property interest that is subject to the repurchase right or right to receive proceeds.

(a) At least ninety days prior to the date on which the acquiring entity will announce a public process for property disposition or, if the sale is to be negotiated, at least ninety days prior to the date on which a purchase and sale agreement or similar document is to be signed, the acquiring entity shall (i) publish notice of its determination to sell the property or a portion of the property in a legal newspaper of general circulation in the area where the property to be sold is located, (ii) describe generally any easements, other restrictions, or reserved rights the acquiring entity intends to retain upon sale, and (iii) mail notice of the determination to the former owner of the property at the former owner's last known address or to a forwarding address if that owner has provided the acquiring entity with a forwarding address.

(b) If the former owner notifies the acquiring entity in writing within thirty days of the date of notice provided under (a) of this subsection that the former owner intends to exercise the repurchase right or the right to receive proceeds granted by this section, the acquiring entity shall, unless it already has a completed current independent appraisal for the property, immediately forward an independent appraisal to determine the fair market value of the property or portion of property subject to repurchase or to the right to receive proceeds, adjusted to reflect the value of any physical changes to the property, such as improvements or removal of structures. Within thirty days of receipt of the former owner's notice of intent to exercise the repurchase right or right to receive proceeds, or following the acquiring entity's receipt of the appraisal, the acquiring entity shall provide the former owner with a written copy of the appraisal. All costs of appraisal shall be paid by the acquiring entity. If the former owner does not provide timely written notice to the acquiring entity of the intent to exercise a repurchase right or the right to receive proceeds, that right is extinguished and the acquiring entity is relieved of any further obligation under this section.

(c) Within thirty days of the date the acquiring entity provides a written copy of the appraisal to the former owner under (b) of this subsection, the former owner shall notify the acquiring entity whether the former owner wishes to repurchase the property or receive proceeds from the sale of the property.

(d) The former owner may exercise the repurchase right granted by this section by delivering to the acquiring entity earnest money or a deposit in a form determined by the acquiring entity in an amount equal to five percent of the appraised value, together with a written promise to pay, within thirty days, the following:

(i) The lesser of (A) the appraised value less the earnest money or deposit, or (B) an amount equal to the compensation received from the acquiring entity when the property or portion of property was condemned or sold under threat of condemnation, with interest accrued at the market rate, and with the amount adjusted to reflect the value of any physical changes to the property, such as improvements or removal of structures, as determined by the independent appraisal, less the earnest money or deposit; and
(ii) All required fees and costs otherwise required for the transfer of real property.

(c) Upon receipt of the full payment required in (d) of this subsection, the acquiring entity shall transfer title to the former owner, subject to any easements, other restrictions, or reserved rights retained by the acquiring entity. If the former owner fails to complete the sale, the earnest money or deposit is forfeited to the acquiring entity, the former owner’s repurchase right is extinguished, and the acquiring entity is relieved of any further obligation under this section.

(i) In the event that the acquiring entity and the former owner cannot agree on the amount of compensation paid for a portion of the property under (d)(i)(B) of this subsection, the acquiring entity and the former owner shall each arrange for an independent appraisal of the just compensation allocation to the portion of the property to be sold. If the acquiring entity and the former owner cannot then agree on the amount, either party may initiate a lawsuit to determine the amount, or they may agree to binding arbitration in which case the appraisals shall be submitted to a third, independent appraiser. The third appraiser shall sit as an arbitrator and determine the amount of just compensation under (d)(i)(B) of this subsection. The arbitrator’s decision shall be final and binding. The acquiring entity and former owner shall bear their own costs and fees, and pay equally the costs and fees of the arbitrator.

(g) If the former owner elects to receive the proceeds of the sale of the property, the amount of proceeds shall be the difference between: (i) the price at which the property is sold; and (ii) the amount of the compensation received from the acquiring entity when the property was condemned or sold under threat of condemnation, with interest accrued at the market rate, and with the amount adjusted to reflect the value of any physical changes to the property, such as improvements or removal of structures, as determined by the independent appraisal.

(4) The acquiring entity may reject a notice of intent under subsection (3)(b) of this section received from a person claiming to be a successor or assignee that is not accompanied by evidence sufficient to demonstrate that the person is the successor or assignee of the person from whom the acquiring entity acquired title.

(5) The obligations imposed on an acquiring entity in this section are in addition to any provided by law for the surplusing or sale of public property to private parties. Nothing in this section precludes an acquiring entity from retaining the property and determining not to surplus and sell the property.

On page 1, beginning on line 5, strike all of section 1 and insert the following:

"NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. The legislature recognizes that schools and their health personnel are important elements in ensuring the health of Washington's youth. Allowing school personnel to focus their efforts on providing the best care is essential for continued success.

Schools are currently required to screen students for scoliosis, which affects approximately two to three percent of the general population. Detection and identification of cases that require medical attention is vital. However, the legislature finds that schools are not the ideal setting for these screenings, nor are they the best use of school health personnel resources. The lack of a simple and rapid test that provides reliable diagnoses results in referrals to unnecessary care, which is limited in effectiveness for mild to moderate cases. This may lead to financial and emotional hardship for the student and family. Scoliosis screening is more appropriately provided as part of preventive care by a student's primary care provider.

Removing scoliosis screening as a responsibility of school districts will result in more reliable diagnoses, and allow school health personnel to focus their efforts on improving the health of their unique student populations."

HOUSE BILL NO. 2613, By Representatives Simpson, Hudgins, Ormsby, Hunt, Wood, Campbell and Chase

Reducing the environmental impact of cleaning state facilities.

The bill was read the second time.

Representative Simpson moved the adoption of amendment (1083):

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

"NEW SECTION, Sec. 1. The legislature finds that cleaning products are necessary for creating and maintaining sanitary conditions in state facilities and workplaces. However, chemicals contained in cleaning products can be released to the environment during normal use by evaporation of volatile components or by leaving residue on cleaned surfaces. Choosing less hazardous cleaning products for use in our workplaces and facilities and taking steps to reduce exposure can minimize harmful impacts to office and custodial workers, improve indoor air quality, and reduce water and ambient air pollution. Purchasing and appropriate use of products that perform well and that have positive environmental attributes such as biodegradability, low toxicity, low volatile organic compound content, reduced packaging, and low life cycle energy use can reduce the environmental impact of routine cleaning activities while also ensuring cleaning effectiveness. Therefore, the legislature finds that the adoption of practices to select, procure, and use environmentally preferred products will benefit the environment and the health and safety of workers and visitors to state facilities.

NEW SECTION, Sec. 2. (1) All state agencies that purchase cleaning products or services must ensure that cleaning products have properties that minimize potential impacts to human health and the environment consistent with maintenance of the effectiveness of these products for the protection of public health and safety. For purposes of this chapter, "state agency" means any office, department, division, bureau, board, commission, or other agency of the state of Washington or of any subdivision thereof.

(2) The department of general administration, in consultation with the department of health and the department of ecology, shall recognize environmentally preferred products' accrediting information from multiple sources including, but not limited to, the United States environmental protection agency design for the environment program and greensense, and provide consultation and guidance to state agencies to:

(a) Select and procure products and use practices that reduce or minimize the risks of harmful effects to employees, custodial workers, visitors, and other building occupants and to the environment;

(b) Promote adoption of practices endorsed by this chapter;

(c) Recognize state agencies that adopt and implement environmentally beneficial facility and workplace management policies and practices;

(d) Encourage contractors supplying goods and services to state agencies to select and procure such products; and

(e) Encourage lessors and building managers who provide leased space to state agencies to select and procure such products.

NEW SECTION, Sec. 3. (1) When procuring cleaning products, state agencies shall purchase environmentally preferred products or document the reasons for selecting nonpreferred products. The products must conform to guidance for environmentally preferred purchasing of cleaning products that may be provided under section 2 of this act, or must be products that have been identified by the department of general administration as compliant with this chapter.

(2) The use of nonpreferred products must be in accordance with responsible cleaning procedure requirements, including:

(a) Controlled and efficient use;
(b) Proper dilution, mixing, and handling;
(c) Following label instructions;
(d) Monitoring of chemical quantities used; and
(e) Compliance with chemical hazard communication and personal protective equipment use requirements under chapter 296-800 WAC.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4. Local governments and school districts are encouraged to review their purchasing and use of cleaning products and select those having properties that minimize potential impacts to human health and the environment consistent with section 2 of this act. The department of general administration shall encourage local governments and school districts that are members of the department of general administration's state purchasing cooperative to achieve the goals of this chapter.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 5. State agencies shall transition to cleaning products having properties that minimize potential impacts to human health and the environment within six months of the effective date of this section in a manner that avoids waste of existing inventories, accommodates establishment of supply chains for new products, enables the training of personnel in appropriate work practices, and allows the phase out of products and practices inconsistent with this chapter.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 6. Nothing in this chapter prohibits the use of disinfectants, disinfecting cleaners, sanitizers, or any other antimicrobial product regulated by the federal insecticide, fungicide, and rodenticide act (7 U.S.C. Sec. 136 et seq.), provided that the use of these products is in accordance with responsible cleaning procedure requirements.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 7. Sections 1 through 6 of this act constitute a new chapter in Title 70 RCW.*

"NEW SECTION. Sec. 101. The legislature has declared that this state has a compelling state interest in reaffirming its historical commitment to the institution of marriage as a union between a man and a woman as husband and wife and in protecting that institution. The legislature has further declared its intent to establish public policy against same-sex marriage in statutory law that clearly and definitively declares same-sex marriages will not be recognized in Washington, even if they are made legal in other states. The legislature has enacted statutory law that prohibits marriages when the parties are persons other than a male and a female and provides that marriages between two persons other than a male and a female that are recognized as valid in another jurisdiction are not valid in this state. This act shall not be construed to endorse any specific belief, practice, behavior, or orientation. Nothing in chapter 26.60 RCW or chapter 156, Laws of 2007 or this act is intended to or shall be construed to promote or endorse same-sex marriage or to modify or supersede state law related to marriage."

Renumber the remaining sections consecutively, correct any internal references accordingly, and correct the title.

POINT OF ORDER

Representative Springer requested a scope and object ruling on amendment (1075) to Second Substitute House Bill No. 3104.

SPEAKER'S RULING

Mr. Speaker (Representative Moeller presiding): "A point of order has been raised under House Rule 11 (e) with respect to amendment (1075); the question being whether the amendment would change the Scope and Object of Second Substitute House Bill No. 3104. The bill has a narrow title, "expanding rights and responsibilities of all couples recognized as domestic partners under chapter 26.20 RCW." Not surprisingly the bill's object is to expand the rights and responsibilities of all couples recognized as domestic partners under chapter 26.20 RCW.

Amendment (1075) would add an intent section to this bill declaring that the state has a compelling interest in reaffirming its commitment to the institution of marriage.

The Speaker finds that no couple whose rights and responsibilities as domestic partners under chapter 26.20 RCW, are included in the amendment's stated intent, and further, that no persons currently married under Washington law, have any rights or responsibilities under the domestic partnership law.

The bill and the amendment share no common purpose.

The Speaker finds that amendment (1075) is out of order under House Rule 11 (e) in that it violates the Scope and Object of the bill.

While the objection was not raised, the Speaker would further note that the amendment would also be out of order under House Rule 11 (d) which requires that amendments be germane.

The Speaker (Representative Moeller presiding): Representative Springer, your point of order is well taken. Amendment (1075) is out of order."
Representative Rodne moved the adoption of amendment (1062):

On page 195, after line 9, insert the following:

"NEW SECTION. Sec. 1301. The secretary of state shall submit this act to the people for their adoption and ratification, or rejection, at the next general election to be held in this state, in accordance with Article II, section 1 of the state Constitution and the laws adopted to facilitate its operation."

Renumber the remaining sections consecutively and correct the title.

POINT OF ORDER

Representative Springer requested a scope and object ruling on the amendment (1165) to House Bill No. 2650.

SPEAKER'S RULING

Mr. Speaker (Representative Morris presiding): "House Bill No. 2650 is titled An Act Relating to authorizing a cigarette tax agreement between the State of Washington and the Yakama Nation". The bill simply permits the Governor to enter into an agreement with the Yakama Nation that provides for a tribal tax on cigarettes that phases up to 87.6 percent of the state cigarette tax rate.

Amendment (1165) prohibits the Governor from accepting contributions, campaign or otherwise, during any period of negotiation and the subsequent four years to any agreement.

The underlying bill is drafted narrowly to accomplish one specific purpose. The restrictions imposed by the amendment amount to changes in substantive law. These changes well exceed the purpose of the bill.

With the consent of the House, amendment (1104) was withdrawn.

Representative Jarrett moved the adoption of amendment (1123):

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

"NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. The legislature finds that meeting the needs of vulnerable children who enter the child welfare system requires a continuum of services available to meet the child's current needs and to promote and support the child's long-term well-being. Children who enter foster care and subsequently achieve permanency through adoption will have ongoing developmental needs relating, in part, to the length of time they spent in care. The legislature intends to encourage a greater focus on children's developmental needs by promoting closer adherence to timeliness standards in the resolution of dependency cases and by elevating the importance of permanency for children.

Sec. 2. RCW 13.34.136 and 2007 c 413 s 7 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) A permanency plan shall be developed no later than sixty days from the time the supervising agency assumes responsibility for providing services, including placing the child, or at the time of a hearing under RCW 13.34.130, whichever occurs first. The permanency planning process continues until a permanency planning goal is achieved or dependency is dismissed. The planning process shall include reasonable efforts to return the child to the parent's home.

(2) The agency supervising the dependency shall submit a written permanency plan to all parties and the court not less than fourteen days prior to the scheduled hearing. Responsive reports of dependency not in agreement with the supervising agency's proposed permanency plan must be provided to the supervising agency, all other parties, and the court at least seven days prior to the hearing.

The permanency plan shall include:

(a) A permanency plan of care that shall identify one of the following outcomes as a primary goal and may identify additional outcomes as alternative goals: Return of the child to the home of the child's parent, guardian, or legatee; adoption; guardianship; permanent legal custody; long-term relative or foster care, until the child is age eighteen, with a written agreement between the parties and the care provider; successful completion of a responsible living skills program; or independent living, if appropriate and if the child is age sixteen or older. The department shall not discharge a child to an independent living situation before the child is eighteen years of age unless the child becomes emancipated pursuant to chapter 13.64 RCW;

(b) Unless the court has ordered, pursuant to RCW 13.34.130(())(4)), (5), that a termination petition be filed, a specific plan for where the child will be placed, what steps will be taken to return the child home, what steps the agency will take to promote existing appropriate sibling relationships and/or facilitate placement together or contact in accordance with the best interests of each child, and what actions the agency will take to maintain parent-child ties. All aspects of the plan shall include the goal of achieving permanence for the child.

(g) The agency plan shall specify what services the parents will be offered to enable them to resume custody, what requirements the parents must meet to resume custody, and a time limit for each service plan and parental requirement.

(ii) Visitation is the right of the family, including the child and the parent, in cases in which visitation is in the best interest of the child. Early, consistent, and frequent visitation is crucial for maintaining parent-child relationships and making it possible for parents and children to safely reunify. The agency shall encourage the maximum parent and child and sibling contact possible, when it is in the best interest of the child, including regular visitation and participation by the parents in the care of the child while the child is in placement. Visitation shall not be limited as a sanction for a parent's failure to comply with court orders or services where the health, safety, or welfare of the child is not at risk as a result of the visitation. Visitation may be limited or denied only if the court determines that such limitation or denial is necessary to protect the child's health, safety, or welfare. The court and the agency should rely upon community resources, relatives, foster parents, and other appropriate persons to provide transportation and supervision for visitation to the extent that such resources are available, and appropriate, and the child's safety would not be compromised.

(iii) A child shall be placed as close to the child's home as possible, preferably in the child's own neighborhood, unless the court finds that placement at a greater distance is necessary to promote the child's or parents' well-being."
(iv) The plan shall state whether both in-state and, where appropriate, out-of-state placement options have been considered by the department.

(v) Unless it is not in the best interests of the child, whenever practical, the plan should ensure the child remains enrolled in the school the child was attending at the time the child entered foster care.

(vi) The agency charged with supervising a child in placement shall provide all reasonable services that are available within the agency, or within the community, or those services which the department has existing contracts to purchase. It shall report to the court if it is unable to provide such services; and

(c) If the court has ordered, pursuant to RCW 13.34.130((4)) (5), that a termination petition be filed, a specific plan as to where the child will be placed, what steps will be taken to achieve permanency for the child, services to be offered or provided to the child, and, if visitation would be in the best interests of the child, a recommendation to the court regarding visitation between parent and child pending a fact-finding hearing on the termination petition. The agency shall not be required to develop a plan of services for the parents or provide services to the parents if the court orders a termination petition be filed. However, reasonable efforts to ensure visitation and contact between siblings shall be made unless there is reasonable cause to believe the best interests of the child or siblings would be jeopardized.

3) Permanency planning goals should be achieved at the earliest possible date. (preferably before). If the child has been in out-of-home care for the most recent twenty-two months, the court shall require the filing of a petition seeking termination of parental rights in accordance with RCW 13.34.145((2)). In cases where parental rights have been terminated, the child is legally free for adoption, and adoption has been identified as the primary permanency planning goal, it shall be a goal to complete the adoption within six months following entry of the termination order.

4) If the court determines that the continuation of reasonable efforts to prevent or eliminate the need to remove the child from his or her home or to safely return the child home should not be part of the permanency plan of care for the child, reasonable efforts shall be made to place the child in a timely manner and to complete whatever steps are necessary to finalize the permanent placement of the child.

5) The identified outcomes and goals of the permanency plan may change over time based upon the circumstances of the particular case.

6) The court shall consider the child’s relationships with the child’s siblings in accordance with RCW 13.34.130(3).

7) For purposes related to permanency planning:

(a) “Guardianship” means a dependency guardianship or a legal guardianship pursuant to chapter 11.88 RCW or equivalent laws of another state or a federally recognized Indian tribe.

(b) “Permanent custody order” means a custody order entered pursuant to chapter 26.10 RCW.

(c) “Permanent legal custody” means legal custody pursuant to chapter 26.10 RCW or equivalent laws of another state or a federally recognized Indian tribe.

Sec. 3. RCW 13.34.145 and 2007 c 413 s 9 are each amended to read as follows:

1) The purpose of a permanency planning hearing is to review the permanency plan for the child, assure the welfare of the child and progress of the case, and reach decisions regarding the permanent placement of the child.

(a) A permanency planning hearing shall be held in all cases where the child has remained in out-of-home care for at least nine months and an adoption decree, guardianship order, or permanent custody order has not previously been entered. The hearing shall take place no later than twelve months following commencement of the current placement episode.

(b) Whenever a child is removed from the home of a dependency guardian or long-term relative or foster care provider, and the child is not returned to the home of the parent, guardian, or legal custodian but is placed in out-of-home care, a permanency planning hearing shall take place no later than twelve months, as provided in this section, following the date of removal unless, prior to the hearing, the child returns to the home of the dependency guardian or long-term care provider, the child is placed in the home of the parent, guardian, or legal custodian, an adoption decree, guardianship order, or a permanent custody order is entered, or the dependency is dismissed.

(c) Permanency planning goals should be achieved at the earliest possible date, preferably before the child has been in out-of-home care for fifteen months. In cases where parental rights have been terminated, the child is legally free for adoption, and adoption has been identified as the primary permanency planning goal, it shall be a goal to complete the adoption within six months following entry of the termination order.

2) When a child has been in out-of-home care for fifteen of the most recent twenty-two months, the court shall require the filing of a petition seeking termination of parental rights. The court may make a good cause written finding as to why filing a petition for termination of parental rights is not appropriate at this time. Any such good cause finding shall be reviewed at all subsequent motion and review hearings pertaining to the child.

3) No later than ten working days prior to the permanency planning hearing, the agency having custody of the child shall submit a written permanency plan to the court and shall mail a copy of the plan to all parties and their legal counsel, if any.

4) At the permanency planning hearing, the court shall conduct the following inquiry:

(a) If a goal of long-term foster or relative care has been achieved prior to the permanency planning hearing, the court shall inquire regarding the reasons why and the plan for the child’s care remain appropriate.

(b) In cases where the primary permanency planning goal has not been achieved, the court shall inquire regarding the reasons why the primary goal has not been achieved and determine whether the placement and the plan for the child’s care remain appropriate.

(iii) The extent of compliance with the permanency plan by the agency and any other service providers, the child’s parents, the child, and the child’s guardian, if any;

(ii) The extent of any efforts to involve appropriate service providers in addition to agency staff in planning to meet the special needs of the child and the child’s parents;

(iv) The progress toward eliminating the causes for the child’s placement outside of his or her home and toward returning the child safely to his or her home or obtaining a permanent placement for the child;

(v) The date by which it is likely that the child will be returned to his or her home or placed for adoption, with a guardian or in some other alternative permanent placement; and

(vi) If the child has been placed outside of his or her home for fifteen of the most recent twenty-two months, not including any period during which the child was a runaway from the out-of-home placement or the first six months of any period during which the child was returned to his or her home for a trial home visit, the appropriateness of the permanency plan, whether reasonable efforts were made by the agency to achieve the goal of the permanency plan, and the circumstances which prevent the child from any of the following:

(A) Being returned safely to his or her home; (B) Having a petition for the involuntary termination of parental rights filed on behalf of the child; (C) Being placed for adoption; (D) Being placed with a guardian; (E) Being placed in the home of a fit and willing relative of the child; or (F) Being placed in some other alternative permanent placement, including independent living or long-term foster care.

(c)(i) If the permanency plan identifies independent living as a goal, the court shall make a finding that the provision of services to assist the child in making a transition from foster care to independent living will allow the child to manage his or her financial, personal, social, educational, and nonfinancial affairs prior to approving independent living as a permanency plan of care.
(ii) The permanency plan shall also specifically identify the services that will be provided to assist the child to make a successful transition from foster care to independent living.

(iii) The department shall not discharge a child to an independent living situation before the child is eighteen years of age unless the child becomes emancipated pursuant to chapter 13.64 RCW.

(d) If the child has resided in the home of a foster parent or relative for more than six months prior to the permanency planning hearing, the court shall also enter a finding regarding whether the foster parent or relative was informed of the hearing as required in RCW 74.13.280 (((amend 13.34.138)), 13.34.215(5), and 13.34.096. (4)(a) In all cases, at the permanency planning hearing, the court shall:

(a)(i) Order the permanency plan prepared by the agency to be implemented; or

(ii) Modify the permanency plan, and order implementation of the modified plan; and

(b)(i) Order the child returned home only if the court finds that a reason for removal as set forth in RCW 13.34.130 no longer exists; or

(ii) Order the child to remain in out-of-home care for a limited specified time period while efforts are made to implement the permanency plan.

(((55)) (6) Following the first permanency planning hearing, the court shall hold a further permanency planning hearing in accordance with this section at least once every twelve months until a permanent planning goal is achieved or the dependency is dismissed, whichever occurs first.

(((66)) (7) Prior to the second permanency planning hearing, the agency that has custody of the child shall consider whether to file a petition for termination of parental rights.

(((62)) (8) If the court orders the child returned home, casework supervision shall continue for at least six months, at which time a review hearing shall be held pursuant to RCW 13.34.138, and the court shall determine the need for continued intervention.

(((63)) (9) The juvenile court may hear a petition for permanent legal custody when: (a) The court has ordered implementation of a permanency plan that includes permanent legal custody; and (b) the party pursuing the permanent legal custody is the party identified in the permanency plan as the prospective legal custodian. During the pendency of such proceeding, the court shall conduct review hearings and further permanency planning hearings as provided in this chapter. At the conclusion of the legal guardianship or permanent legal custody proceeding, a juvenile court hearing shall be held for the purpose of determining whether dependency should be dismissed. If a guardianship or permanent custody order has been entered, the dependency shall be dismissed.

(((64)) (10) Continued juvenile court jurisdiction under this chapter shall not be a barrier to the entry of an order establishing a legal guardianship or permanent legal custody when the requirements of subsection (((63)))(2) of this section are met.

(((65)) (11) Nothing in this chapter may be construed to limit the ability of the agency that has custody of the child to file a petition for termination of parental rights or a guardianship petition at any time following the establishment of dependency. Upon the filing of such a petition, a fact-finding hearing shall be scheduled and held in accordance with this chapter unless the agency requests dismissal of the petition prior to the hearing or unless the parties enter an agreed order terminating parental rights, establishing guardianship, or otherwise resolving the matter.

(((66)) (12) The approval of a permanency plan that does not contemplate return of the child to the parent does not relieve the supervising agency of its obligation to provide reasonable services, under this chapter, intended to effectuate the return of the child to the parent, including but not limited to, visitation rights. The court shall consider the child's relationships with siblings in accordance with RCW 13.34.130.

(((67)) (13) Nothing in this chapter may be construed to limit the procedural due process rights of any party in a termination or guardianship proceeding filed under this chapter.

Sec. 4. RCW 13.34.020 and 1998 c 314 s 1 are each amended to read as follows:

The legislation declares that the family unit is a fundamental resource of American life which should be nurtured. Toward the continuance of this principle, the legislature declares that the family unit should remain intact unless a child's right to conditions of basic nurture, health, or safety is jeopardized. When the rights of basic nurture, physical and mental health, and safety of the child and the legal rights of the parents are in conflict, the rights and safety of the child should prevail. In making reasonable efforts under this chapter, the child's health (((smd)), safety, and long-term well-being shall be the paramount concern. The right of a child to basic nurturing includes the right to a safe, stable, and permanent home and a speedy resolution of any proceeding under this chapter.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 5. Subject to the availability of funds appropriated for this purpose, the department shall contract for an information and referral services provider to support families with children adopted out of foster care. The contract shall include components for statewide support of families who may be seeking adoption-specific resources and information, including referrals for individual or family counseling, support groups, or community services; and relevant training programs. The information and referrals must be provided by an entity knowledgeable and experienced in adoption issues. The contract shall specify that the service provider must serve as the central point of contact for Washington families seeking adoption-related information and referral services. The department also shall develop a simple process for voluntary sharing of contact information for adoptive parents for the purpose of facilitating periodic surveys by the contracted information and referral services provider about the service and support needs of families who have adopted children from foster care.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 6. (1) The definitions in this subsection apply throughout this section unless the context clearly requires otherwise:

(a) "Adopted" means that a valid decree of the adoption regarding the child and parent was entered and remains intact in Washington or in another jurisdiction.

(b) "Child" means any child under the age of eighteen who was found to be dependent, placed in out-of-home care, and subsequently was adopted from an out-of-home placement.

(c) "Licensed facility" means a facility licensed under chapter 74.15 RCW to provide residential evaluation and treatment services for children.

(d) "Parent" means the adoptive and legal parent of a child according to the terms of a valid decree of the adoption, or the legal guardian of an adopted child.

(e) "Voluntary placement agreement" means a written agreement between the department and a child's parent authorizing the department to place the child in a licensed facility for the purpose of receiving mental health or behavioral health treatment intended to stabilize the child's functioning and support the child's return home. Under the terms of a voluntary placement agreement, the parent retains legal custody of the child while the department temporarily assumes responsibility for the child's placement and care.

(2) A parent may request and the department may agree to enter into a voluntary placement agreement whenever the following conditions are met:

(a) The child resides in Washington state;

(b) Less intensive and traditional family preservation services, community resources, and/or adoption supports have been unsuccessful or are not likely to be successful in stabilizing the child's behavior and functioning; and

(c) The parent has no reasonable alternative to access the level of care necessary to meet the child's needs and preserve the adoption.

(3)(a) Whenever the department assumes responsibility for the placement and care of a child under this section, the department, in consultation with the child, the child's parent, and a mental health professional, shall develop a plan for the child's eventual return home. If the plan anticipates the child will remain in out-of-home care one hundred eighty days or longer, or if at any time it appears...
the child will remain in out-of-home care longer than one hundred eighty days, the department and the parent shall jointly seek a judicial determination that the agreement is in the child's best interests. If the child exits the out-of-home placement before one hundred eighty days have elapsed, no judicial determination is required.

(b) To obtain the judicial determination required under this section, the department and the parent shall file a joint petition alleging there is located or residing within the county a child who was placed from the foster care system whose current behavioral health or mental health needs cannot be met adequately by the child's parent, and that as a result the child has been placed in out-of-home care pursuant to this section. The petition shall request that the court conduct periodic reviews of the child's placement and make a determination whether continued placement is in the best interests of the child. The petition shall contain the name, date of birth, and residence of the child and the names and residences of the child's parent or legal guardian who has consented to the voluntary placement agreement. The department shall make reasonable attempts to ascertain and set forth in the petition the identity, location, and custodial status of any parent who is not a party to the placement agreement and reasons why that parent cannot assume placement and care authority of the child.

(c) Permanency planning for the child shall be the joint responsibility of the department and the parent.

(4) A written agreement under this section must specify the legal status of the child and the rights and obligations of the parent, the child, and the department while the child is in the licensed facility. Any modification to the agreement may terminate the agreement at any time by providing advance notice to the other party and to the child if he or she is thirteen years of age or older. Upon termination of the agreement, the child must be returned to the care of his or her parent unless the child has been taken into custody pursuant to RCW 13.34.050 or 26.44.050, placed in shelter care pursuant to RCW 13.34.060, or placed in foster care pursuant to RCW 13.34.130.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 7. A new section is added to chapter 13.34 RCW to read as follows:

(1) The legislature finds that as a condition of the state's receipt of federal funds for foster care under Title IV-B and Title IV-E of the social security act, all children in foster care must be subjected to periodic court review. Unfortunately, this requirement includes children who were adopted out of foster care and who subsequently are temporarily returned to a foster care placement solely because their parents have determined that the child's mental health or behavioral health service needs require an out-of-home placement. Exempting providers of such needed services, the parents of these children are completely competent to care for the children. The legislature intends that court review of out-of-home placements pursuant to section 6 of this act be structured to minimize the stress and inconvenience to families caused by complying with these federal requirements.

(2) Upon filing of the petition required under section 6 of this act, the clerk of the court shall schedule the petition for a hearing to be held no later than fourteen calendar days after the petition has been filed. The department shall provide notification of the time, date, and purpose of the hearing to the parent or legal guardian who has agreed to the child's placement in out-of-home care. The department shall also make reasonable attempts to notify any parent who is not a party to the placement agreement, if the parent's identity and location are known. Notification under this section may be given by the most expedient means, including but not limited to mail, personal service, and telephone.

Sec. 8. RCW 74.13.080 and 1987 c 170 s 11 are each amended to read as follows:

Except as provided in RCW 74.13.350 and section 6 of this act, the department shall not make payment for any child in group care placement unless the group home is licensed and the department has the ((custody of)) placement and care authority for the child under a court order or a voluntary placement agreement and the authority to remove the child in a cooperative manner after at least seventy-two hours notice to the child care provider; such notice may be waived in emergency situations. However, this requirement shall not be construed to prohibit the department from making or mandate the department to make payment for Indian children placed in facilities licensed by federally recognized Indian tribes pursuant to chapter 74.15 RCW.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 9. Sections 5 and 6 of this act are each added to chapter 74.13 RCW.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 10. If specific funding for the purposes of sections 2 and 3 of this act, referencing sections 2 and 3 of this act by bill or chapter number and section number, is not provided by June 30, 2008, in the omnibus appropriations act, sections 2 and 3 of this act are null and void.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 11. If specific funding for the purposes of section 5 of this act, referencing section 5 of this act by bill or chapter number and section number, is not provided by June 30, 2008, in the omnibus appropriations act, section 5 of this act is null and void.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 12. If specific funding for the purposes of sections 6, 7, and 8 of this act, referencing sections 6, 7, and 8 of this act by bill or chapter number and section number, is not provided by June 30, 2008, in the omnibus appropriations act, sections 6, 7, and 8 of this act are null and void."

(3) The department may designate area agencies in cities of not less than twenty thousand population or in regional areas within the state. For area plans prepared for submission in 2009, and thereafter, the area agencies may include the findings and recommendations of area-wide planning initiatives that they may undertake with appropriate local and regional partners regarding the changing age demographics of their area and the implications of this demographic change for public policies and public services. However, if the determination is that such eligible person is nonlow income, the provision of RCW 74.38.050 shall be applied as of the date of such determination."

Representative Kagi moved the adoption of amendment (1195):

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

"NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. A new section is added to chapter 74.13 RCW to read as follows:

The legislature finds that foster parents are an essential partner in the child welfare system, with responsibility for the care of vulnerable children whose families are unable to meet their needs. Because children who enter the foster care system have experienced varying degrees of stress and trauma before placement, foster parents sometimes are called upon to provide care for children with significant behavioral challenges and intensive developmental needs. Other children who enter foster care may require extraordinary care due to health care needs or medical fragility. The legislature also finds that foster parents with specialized skills and experience, or professional training and expertise, can contribute significantly to a child's well-being by promoting placement stability and supporting the child's developmental growth while in foster care. The legislature intends to implement a specialized foster home program to enhance the continuum of care options and to promote permanency and positive outcomes for children served in the child welfare system by authorizing the department to contract for specialized foster home services.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. A new section is added to chapter 74.13 RCW to read as follows:

(1) The department shall select two or more geographic areas with high concentrations of children with significant needs in foster care for the implementation of phase one of a specialized foster home program. In determining the scope of the first phase of the program, the department shall: (a) Examine areas where there are concentrations of children with significant behavioral challenges and intensive developmental or medical needs who are being served in family foster homes; (b) consider areas of appropriate size that will allow for careful analysis of the impact of the specialized foster home program on the array of out-of-home care providers, including providers of behavioral rehabilitation services; and (c) determine the number of children to be served in these selected areas. During phase one of the implementation of the program, only licensed foster parents under the supervision of the department shall be eligible to participate in the program. Implementation of the program at the phase one sites also shall be structured to support the long-term goal of eventual expansion of the program statewide.

(2) Based on the information gathered by the work group convened under chapter 413, Laws of 2007, and the additional information gathered pursuant to this section, the department shall actively:

(a) Seek recommendations from foster parents and other out-of-home service providers in the program sites regarding the qualifications and requirements of specialized foster home providers to meet the needs of the children to be served, and the desired outcomes to be measured or monitored at the respective program sites;

(b) Consult with experts in child welfare, children's mental health, and children's health care to identify the evidence-based or promising practice models to be employed in the program and the appropriate supports to ensure program fidelity, including, but not limited to, the necessary training and clinical consultation and oversight to be provided to specialized foster homes.

(3) Using the recommendations from foster parents, the consultations with professionals from appropriate disciplines, and the information provided in the report to the legislature under chapter 413, Laws of 2007, including the information presented to the work group convened to prepare and present the report, the department shall implement the program through contracts with foster parents who are determined by the department to meet the eligibility criteria for the specialized foster home program. The department shall:

(a) Define the criteria for specialized foster home providers, which shall include a requirement that the foster parent be licensed by the department as a foster parent, as well as meet additional requirements relating to relevant experience, education, training, and professional expertise necessary to meet the high needs of children identified as eligible for this program;

(b) Define criteria for identifying children with high needs who may be eligible for placement in a specialized foster home provider. Such criteria shall be based on the best interests of the child and include an assessment of the child's past and current level of functioning as well as a determination that the child's treatment plan and developmental needs are consistent with the placement plan;

(c) Establish a policy for placement of children with high needs in specialized foster homes, including a process for matching the child's needs with the foster parent's skills and expertise;

(d) Establish a limit on the number and ages of children with high needs that may be placed in a specialized foster home pursuant to the specialized foster home program contract. Such limitation shall recognize that children with externalizing behaviors are most likely to experience long-term improvements in their behavior when care is provided in settings that minimize exposure to peers with challenging behaviors;

(e) Identify one or more approved models of skill building for use by specialized foster home providers;

(f) Specify the training and consultation requirements that support the models of service;

(g) Establish a system of supports, including clinical consultation and oversight for specialized foster homes;

(h) Establish a level of stipend payments to specialized foster home providers that is not tied to deficits in the child's level of functioning;

(i) Establish clearly defined responsibilities of specialized foster home providers, who have a specialized foster home contract including responsibilities to promote permanency and connections with birth parents; and

(j) Develop a process for annual performance reviews of specialized foster home providers.

(4) Contracts between the department and a specialized foster home provider shall include a statement of work focusing on achieving stability in placement and measuring improved permanency outcomes shall specify at least the following elements:

(a) The model of treatment and care to be provided;

(b) The training and ongoing professional consultation to be provided;

(c) The method for determining any additional supports to be provided to an eligible child or the specialized foster home provider;

(d) The desired outcomes to be measured;

(e) A reasonable and efficient process for seeking a modification of the contract;

(f) The rate and terms of payment under the contract; and

(g) The term of the contract and the processes for an annual performance review of the specialized foster home provider and an annual assessment of the child.

(5) Beginning on or before October 1, 2008, the department shall begin the selection of, and negotiation of contracts with, specialized foster home providers in the phase one areas selected for implementation.

Nothing in this act gives an eligible foster parent the right to a contract under the specialized foster home program, and nothing in this act gives a specialized foster home provider that has a contract under the program a right to have a child or children placed in the home pursuant to the contract.

(7) "Specialized foster home providers" means foster parents who are determined by the department to be eligible foster parents, who have a specialized foster home program contract with the department.

(8) The department shall provide an implementation status update to the governor and the legislature by January 30, 2009. Based on the experiences and lessons learned from implementation of the program during phase one, the department shall recommend a process and timeline for expanding the program and implementing it statewide. The department shall report to the governor and the appropriate members of the legislature by September 1, 2009, and shall identify the essential elements of the specialized foster home program that should be addressed or replicated as the program is expanded to the next phase.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. A new section is added to chapter 41.56 RCW to read as follows:

(1) In addition to the entities listed in RCW 41.56.020, this chapter applies to the governor with respect to specialized foster home providers. Solely for the purposes of collective bargaining and as expressly limited under sections (2) and (3) of this section, the governor is the employer of specialized foster home providers who, solely for the purposes of collective bargaining, are public employees. The public employer shall be represented for bargaining purposes by the governor or the governor's designee.

(2) There shall be collective bargaining between the governor and specialized foster home providers, except as follows:

(a) A statewide unit of all specialized foster home providers is the only unit appropriate for purposes of collective bargaining. The commission shall adopt reasonable rules providing for the inclusion of unrepresented specialized foster home providers when, after implementation of phase one of the specialized foster home program described in section 2 of this act: (i) The labor organization certified as the exclusive bargaining representative of the specialized foster home providers petitions to represent one or more new groups of specialized foster home providers and demonstrates that it has majority support among those groups; or (ii) when any labor organization petitions to represent the entire bargaining unit of specialized foster home providers, and demonstrates that it has at least a thirty percent showing of interest to warrant an election.

(b) The exclusive bargaining representative of specialized foster home providers in the unit specified in (a) of this subsection shall be the representative chosen in an election conducted pursuant to RCW 41.56.070. Bargaining authorization cards furnished as the showing of interest in support of any representation petition or motion for intervention filed under this section shall be exempt from disclosure under chapter 42.56 RCW.
(c) Notwithstanding the definition of "collective bargaining" in RCW 41.56.030(4), the scope of collective bargaining for specialized foster home providers under this section shall be limited solely to: (i) Economic compensation for enhanced services provided by specialized foster home providers in the form of a stipend; (ii) health and welfare benefits; (iii) labor management committees; and (iv) grievance procedures. Retirement benefits shall not be subject to collective bargaining. By such obligation, neither party shall be compelled to agree to a proposal or be required to make a concession unless otherwise provided in this chapter.

(d) In addition to the entities listed in the mediation and interest arbitration provisions of RCW 41.56.430 through 41.56.470 and 41.56.480, the provisions apply to the governor or the governor's designee and the exclusive bargaining representative of specialized foster home providers, except that:

(i) In addition to the factors to be taken into consideration by an interest arbitration panel under RCW 41.56.465, the panel shall consider the financial ability of the state to pay for the compensation and benefit provisions of a collective bargaining agreement.

(ii) The decision of the arbitration panel is not binding on the legislature and, if the legislature does not approve the request for funds necessary to implement the compensation and benefit provisions of the arbitrated collective bargaining agreement, the decision is not binding on the state.

(iii) Specialized foster home providers do not have the right to strike.

(iv) Specialized foster home providers who are public employees solely for the purposes of collective bargaining under subsection (1) of this section are not, for that reason, employees of the state for any other purpose. This section applies only to the governance of the collective bargaining relationship between the employer and specialized foster home providers as provided in subsections (1) and (2) of this section.

(v) This section does not create or modify:

(a) The department's authority to establish a plan of care for each foster child or its core responsibility to manage foster care services, including determination of the level of care that each foster child is eligible to receive. This subsection shall not be interpreted to require collective bargaining over an individual foster child's plan of care;

(b) The department's obligation to comply with the federal funding statutes and regulations, including but not limited to the social security act and the terms of any state plan or waiver granted by the federal government to ensure federal financial participation in the provision of the services;

(c) The department's right to make programmatic modifications to the delivery of state services including standards of eligibility of children in foster care and specialized foster home providers participating in the programs and the nature of services provided. The governor shall not enter into, extend, or renew any agreement under this chapter that does not expressly reserve the legislative rights described in this subsection (4)(c);

(d) The right of the court, the department, or any other agency or individual acting with proper legal authority, to remove a child from the care of a specialized foster home provider. The right or action of the court, the department, or any other agency or individual acting with proper legal authority to remove a child from the care of a specialized foster home provider shall not constitute an unfair labor practice;

(e) The department's authority to set minimum licensing standards for foster parents, to establish a method for determining foster care maintenance payment rates that will be paid for the benefit of foster children, and to determine the foster care maintenance rate for each child in care;

(f) The department's authority to establish, pursuant to statute, the nature and means of taking or resolving licensing action against any foster parent, or investigations and actions involving allegations of abuse or neglect made against a foster parent;

(g) The department's ability to meet and consult with foster parents, including meetings with specialized foster home providers, as required under RCW 74.13.031;

(h) The department's authority to define the criteria for specialized foster homes, including training, education, relevant experience, and professional expertise, and the department's authority to define the criteria for identifying high needs children who may be eligible for placement in a specialized foster home;

(i) RCW 43.43.832, 43.20A.205, or 74.15.130.

(5) Nothing in this section is intended to imply that the state, the department, or its contractors agree to any additional vicarious, joint, or several liability for the action or inaction of a specialized foster home provider or prospective specialized foster home provider.

(6) Upon meeting the requirements of subsection (7) of this section, the governor must submit, as a part of the proposed biennial or supplemental operating budget submitted to the legislature under RCW 43.88.030, a request for funds necessary to implement the stipend and benefit provisions of a collective bargaining agreement entered into under this section or for legislation necessary to implement such agreement.

(7) A request for funds necessary to implement the stipend and benefit provisions of a collective bargaining agreement entered into under this section shall not be submitted by the governor to the legislature unless such request has been:

(a) Submitted to the director of financial management by July 1, 2009; and

(b) Certified by the director of financial management as being feasible financially for the state or reflects the binding decision of an arbitration panel reached under this section.

(8) The legislature must approve or reject the submission of the request for funds as a whole. If the legislature rejects or fails to act on the submission, any such agreement will be reopened solely for the purpose of renegotiating the funds necessary to implement the agreement.

(9) The governor shall periodically consult with the joint committee on employment relations established by RCW 41.80.010 regarding appropriate necessary to implement the stipend and benefit provisions of any collective bargaining agreement and, upon completion of negotiations, advise the committee on the elements of the agreement and on any legislation necessary to implement such agreement.

(10) After the expiration date of any collective bargaining agreement entered into under this section, all of the terms and conditions specified in any such agreement remain in effect until the effective date of a subsequent agreement, not to exceed one year from the expiration date stated in the agreement, except as provided in subsection (4)(c) of this section.

(11) If, after the stipend and benefit provisions of an agreement are approved by the legislature, a significant revenue shortfall occurs resulting in reduced appropriations, as declared by proclamation of the governor or by resolution of the legislature, both parties shall immediately enter into collective bargaining for a mutually agreed upon modification of the agreement.

(12) In enacting this section, the legislature intends to provide state action immunity under federal and state antitrust laws for the joint activities of specialized foster home providers and their exclusive bargaining representative to the extent such activities are authorized by this chapter.

(13) For purposes of chapter 41.56 RCW, "specialized foster home providers" means specialized foster home providers as defined in section 2 of this act, but not providers who are related to, or family members of, the children with extraordinary behavioral, developmental, or medical needs for whom they provide care.

Sec. 4. RCW 41.04.810 and 2007 c 184 s 4 are each amended to read as follows:

Individual providers, as defined in RCW 74.39A.240, family child care providers, as defined in RCW 41.56.030, and specialized foster home providers, as defined in RCW 41.56.030, and specialized foster home providers, as defined in section 3 of this act, are not employees of the state or any of its political subdivisions and are specifically and entirely excluded from all provisions of this title, except as provided in RCW 74.39A.270, 41.56.028, and section 3 of this act.

Sec. 5. RCW 41.56.113 and 2007 c 184 s 3 are each amended to read as follows:
(1) Upon the written authorization of an individual provider, a family child care provider, ((ee)) an adult family home provider, or a specialized foster home provider within the bargaining unit and after the certification or recognition of the bargaining unit's exclusive bargaining representative, the state as payor, but not as the employer, shall, subject to subsection (3) of this section, deduct from the payments to an individual provider, a family child care provider, ((ee)) an adult family home provider, or from the stipends paid to a specialized foster home provider the monthly amount of dues as certified by the secretary of the exclusive bargaining Representative shall transmit the same to the treasurer of the exclusive bargaining representative.

(2) If the governor and the exclusive bargaining representative of a bargaining unit of individual providers, family child care providers, ((ee)) adult family home providers, or specialized foster home providers enter into a collective bargaining agreement that:

(a) Includes a union security provision authorized in RCW
41.56.122, the state as payor, but not as the employer, shall, subject to subsection (3) of this section, enforce the agreement by deducting from the payments or stipends, as applicable, to bargaining unit members the dues required for membership in the exclusive bargaining representative, or, for nonmembers thereof, a fee equivalent to the dues; or
(b) Includes requirements for deductions of payments other than the deduction under (a) of this subsection, the state, as payor, but not as the employer, shall, subject to subsection (3) of this section, make such deductions upon written authorization of the individual provider, family child care provider, ((ee)) adult family home provider, or the specialized foster home provider.

(3)(a) The initial additional costs to the state in making deductions ((from the payments to individual providers, family child care providers, and adult family home providers)) under this section shall be negotiated, agreed upon in advance, and reimbursed to the state by the exclusive bargaining representative.
(b) The allocation of ongoing additional costs to the state in making deductions ((from the payments to individual providers, family child care providers, or adult family home providers)) under this section shall be an appropriate subject of collective bargaining between the exclusive bargaining Representative the governor unless prohibited by another statute. If no collective bargaining agreement containing a provision allocating the ongoing additional cost is entered into between the exclusive bargaining Representative the governor, or if the legislature does not approve funding for the collective bargaining agreement as provided in RCW 74.39A.300, 41.56.028, (ee) 41.56.029, or section 3 of this act, as applicable, the ongoing additional costs to the state in making deductions ((from the payments to individual providers, family child care providers, or adult family home providers)) under this section shall be negotiated, agreed upon in advance, and reimbursed to the state by the exclusive bargaining representative.

(4) The governor and the exclusive bargaining representative of a bargaining unit of family child care providers may not enter into a collective bargaining agreement that contains a union security provision unless the agreement contains a process, to be administered by the exclusive bargaining representative of a bargaining unit of family child care providers, for hardship dispensation for license-exempt family child care providers who are also temporary assistance beneficiaries.

(1) An owner of a contaminated property who desires to have the property decontaminated, demolished, or disposed of shall use the services of an authorized contractor unless otherwise authorized by the local health officer. The contractor and property owner shall prepare and submit a written work plan for decontamination, demolition, or disposal to the local health officer. The local health officer may charge a reasonable fee for review of the work plan. If the work plan is approved and the decontamination, demolition, or disposal is completed and the property is retested according to the plan and properly documented, then the health officer shall allow reuse of the property. A release for reuse document shall be recorded in the real property records indicating the property has been decontaminated, demolished, or disposed of in accordance with rules of the state department of health. The property owner is responsible for:
(a) The costs of any property testing which may be required to demonstrate the presence or absence of hazardous chemicals; and
(b) the costs of the property's decontamination, demolition, and disposal expenses, as well as costs incurred by the local health officer resulting from the enforcement of this chapter.

(2)(a) In a case where the contaminated property is a motor vehicle as defined in RCW 46.04.320, a vehicle as defined in RCW 46.04.670, or a vessel as defined in RCW 88.02.010, and methamphetamine or any of its salts, isomers, and salts of isomers were found inside, and the local health officer has issued an order declaring the property unfit and prohibiting its use, the city or county in which the property is located shall take action to prohibit use, occupancy, or removal, and shall require demolition, disposal, or decontamination of the property. The city, county, or local law enforcement agency may impound the vehicle or vessel to enforce this chapter.

(b) The property owner shall have the property demolished, disposed of, or decontaminated by an authorized contractor, or under a written work plan approved by the local health officer, within thirty days of receiving the order declaring the property unfit and prohibited from use. After all procedures granting the right of notice and the opportunity to appeal in RCW 64.44.030 have been exhausted, if the property owner has not demolished, disposed of, or decontaminated the property using an authorized contractor, or under a written work plan approved by the local health officer within thirty days, then the local health officer or the local law enforcement agency may demolish, dispose of, or decontaminate the property. The property owner is responsible for the costs of the property's demolition, disposal, or decontamination, as well as all costs incurred by the local health officer or the local law enforcement agency resulting from the enforcement of this chapter, except as otherwise provided for under this subsection.

(c) The legal owner of a motor vehicle as defined in RCW 46.04.320, a vehicle as defined in RCW 46.04.670, or a vessel as defined in RCW 88.02.010 whose sole basis of ownership is a bona fide security interest is responsible for costs under this subsection if the legal owner had knowledge of or consented to any act or omission that caused contamination of the vehicle or vessel.

(d) If the vehicle or vessel has been stolen and the property owner neither had knowledge of nor consented to any act or omission that contributed to the theft and subsequent contamination of the vehicle or vessel, the owner is not responsible for costs under this subsection, except if the registered owner is insured, the registered owner shall within fifteen calendar days of receiving an order declaring the property unfit and prohibiting its use, submit a claim to his or her insurer for reimbursement of costs of the property's demolition, disposal, or decontamination, as well as all costs incurred by the local health officer or the local law enforcement agency resulting from the enforcement of this chapter, and shall provide proof of claim to the local health officer or the local law enforcement agency.

(3) This subsection may not be construed to limit the authority of a city, county, local law enforcement agency, or local health officer to take action under this chapter to require the owner of the real property upon which the contaminated vehicle or vessel is located to comply with the requirements of this chapter, including provisions for the right of notice and opportunity to appeal as provided in RCW 64.44.030.

(4) Except as provided in subsection (2) of this section, the local health officer has thirty days from the issuance of an order declaring a property unfit and prohibiting its use to establish a reasonable timeline for decontamination. The department of health shall establish the factors to be considered by the local health officer in establishing the appropriate amount of time.

The local health officer shall notify the property owner of the proposed time frame by United States mail to the last known address. Notice shall be postmarked no later than the thirtieth day from the issuance of the order. (iii) A school district with an enrollment of at least five thousand students.

(k) “Community school” means both a place and a set of partnerships between entities including, but not limited to, public schools, postsecondary institutions, local governments, nonprofit early learning providers, and other nonprofit community resources with an integrated focus on academics, health and social services, youth and community development, and community engagement.

(3)(a) Except as provided in subsection (5) of this section, surplus property for sale by the department, and the departments of natural resources, transportation, social and health services, corrections, and general administration, the state parks and recreation commission, and by local governments, which is suitable for the development of affordable housing or for housing for special needs populations, must be offered, for at least the first one hundred eighty days after its availability for sale, exclusively to eligible organizations, for the purpose of developing affordable housing or housing for special needs populations. Eligible organizations have the right of first opportunity to purchase these surplus properties, under reasonable option and purchase conditions, in return for a commitment to provide affordable housing or housing for special needs populations for at least thirty years. Agencies, commissions, and local governments subject to this section have the sole authority to determine: (i) Whether or not property is surplus; (ii) whether or not the property is suitable for the development of affordable housing for very low-income and low-income households or for housing for special needs populations; and (iii) what constitutes reasonable option and purchase conditions.

(b)(i) Any eligible organization interested in purchasing surplus property described in this section must present to the agency, commission, or local government that is selling the property, an affordable housing or special needs housing project description, including:

(A) The number of affordable housing units to be created and a description of the income-level populations that may occupy the units;

(B) The number of special needs units to be created;

(C) The number, estimated square footage, and description of the purpose of other facilities to be created;

(D) The number of years the purchasing entity intends to (1) retain the affordable housing units as affordable housing or (II) retain housing units for special needs populations, which must be at least thirty years;

(E) A proposed development schedule indicating that the development will either be placed into service or be substantially completed and available for occupation within eight years of the date on which the purchasing entity formally purchases the property.

(ii) Individual local governments, state agencies, and commissions may establish additional requirements for purchase offers by eligible organizations.

(c) Each agency, commission, and local government subject to this section must establish criteria to use if more than one eligible organization is interested in purchasing a single piece of surplus property and presents a proposed project description during the required initial offer period. The criteria may give preference to eligible organizations that propose to develop affordable housing or housing for special needs populations that:

(i) Serve the lowest income populations or special needs populations;

(ii) Create the greatest number of affordable housing units or units for special needs populations;

(iii) Preserve the affordability of the affordable housing units or commit to retain the units for special needs populations for the longest periods of time;

(iv) Integrate or cause the provision of appropriate supportive services in the proposed project description; and

(v) Are most likely to place affordable housing or housing for special needs populations into service by the earliest date;

(d) If an eligible organization does not present a proposed project description that meets the requirements of (c) of this subsection, during the required initial offer period, local governments, state agencies, and commissions may consider offers from the general public. However, these entities are encouraged to market surplus properties to other entities interested in developing affordable housing or housing for special needs populations.

(4) State agencies, commissions, and local governments subject to this section must maintain records of all properties listed in the inventory required under subsection (1) of this section for at least ten years. Records must include the documentation of sales to eligible organizations and information regarding affordable housing planned or produced on the properties sold to eligible organizations.

(5) School districts, in addition to offering suitable surplus property exclusively to eligible organizations for the purpose of developing affordable housing or housing for special needs populations for at least the first one hundred eighty days after its availability for sale, as required in subsection (3) of this section, must also offer such property, if deemed suitable for such purposes, to eligible organizations for the development of community schools during the same one hundred eighty-day period. School districts may prioritize a community school development project over projects to develop affordable housing or housing for special needs populations. Eligible organizations interested in developing a community school must provide the school district with a development plan describing the services to be provided, the target populations to be served, and the anticipated date of operation.

(6) The following property is exempt from this chapter:

(a) Real property designated or previously acquired as state lands as defined in RCW 79.02.010; and

(b) Lands acquired under restrictive covenants.

(7) This section is not intended to limit the powers granted in chapters 35.81, 35.82, and 35.83 RCW, or to prevent a selling entity from using alternative processes for the sale or disposition of surplus land for affordable housing or special needs housing purposes as long as those alternative processes require that surplus land be used for affordable housing or for housing for special needs populations, meeting, at a minimum, the standards required under this section.

Representative McCoy moved the adoption of amendment (1217):

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

"NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. It is the policy of the state to encourage the joint use of utility poles and to promote competition for the provision of telecommunications and information services. In order to achieve these two objectives, the legislature intends to establish a consistent formula for calculating pole attachment rates, which will ensure greater predictability and consistency in pole attachment rates statewide. The legislature further intends to continue working through issues related to pole attachments with interested parties in an open and collaborative process in order to minimize the potential for disputes going forward.

Sec. 2. RCW 54.04.045 and 1996 c 32 s 5 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) As used in this section:
(a) "Attachment" means the affixation or installation of any wire, cable, or other physical material capable of carrying electronic impulses or light waves for the carrying of intelligence for telecommunications or television, including, but not limited to cable, and any related device, apparatus, or auxiliary equipment upon any pole owned or controlled in whole or in part by one or more locally regulated utilities where the installation has been made with the necessary consent.
(b) "Licensee" means any person, firm, corporation, partnership, company, association, joint stock association, or cooperatively organized association, which is authorized to construct attachments upon, along, under, or across public ways.
(c) "Locally regulated utility" means a public utility district not subject to rate or service regulation by the utilities and transportation commission.

((1))) (d) "Nondiscriminatory" means that pole owners may not arbitrarily differentiate among or between similar classes of licensees approved for attachments.
(2) All rates, terms, and conditions made, demanded, or received by a locally regulated utility for attachments to its poles must be just, reasonable, nondiscriminatory, and sufficient. A locally regulated utility shall levy attachment space rental rates that are uniform for the same class of service within the locally regulated utility service area.
(3) A just and reasonable rate must be calculated as follows:
   (a) One-half of the rate consists of the additional costs of procuring and maintaining pole attachments, but may not exceed the actual capital and operating expenses of the locally regulated utility attributable to that portion of the pole, duct, or conduit used for the pole attachment, including a share of the required support and clearance space, in proportion to the space used for the pole attachment, as compared to all other uses made of the subject facilities and uses that remain available to the owner or owners of the subject facilities and
   (b) One-half of the rate consists of the additional costs of procuring and maintaining pole attachments, but may not exceed the actual capital and operating expenses of the locally regulated utility attributable to the share of the required support and clearance space, divided equally among all attachers, which sum is divided by the height of the pole.

(4) The locally regulated utility may establish a rate according to the calculation outlined in subsection (3) of this section or it may establish a rate according to the cable formula set forth by the federal communications commission by rule as it existed on the effective date of this section, or such subsequent date as may be provided by the federal communications commission by rule, consistent with the purposes of this section.

(5) Except in extraordinary circumstances, a locally regulated utility must respond to a licensee's application to enter into a new pole attachment contract or renew an existing pole attachment contract within forty-five days of receipt, stating either:
   (a) The application is complete; or
   (b) The application is incomplete, including a statement of what information is needed to make the application complete.

(6) Within sixty days of an application being deemed complete, the locally regulated utility shall notify the applicant as to whether the application has been accepted for licensing or rejected. If the application is rejected, the locally regulated utility must provide reasons for the rejection. A request to attach may only be denied on a nondiscriminatory basis (a) where there is insufficient capacity; or
(b) for reasons of safety, reliability, and generally applicable engineering purposes.

(7) Nothing in this section shall be construed or is intended to confer upon the utilities and transportation commission any authority to exercise jurisdiction over locally regulated utilities."

ENGROSSED HOUSE BILL NO. 3142, By Representatives Lias, Chase, Walsh, Ericks, Loomis, Miloscia, Rolles, Linville, Dickerson, Green, Morrell, Kelley, Wood, Nelson, Santos and Ormsby

Creating the affordable housing and community facilities rapid response loan program.

The bill was read the second time.

"Sec. 1. RCW 43.185A.110 and 2007 c 428 s 2 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) The affordable housing land acquisition revolving loan fund program is created in the department to assist eligible organizations, described under RCW 43.185A.040, to purchase land for affordable housing development. The department shall contract with the Washington state housing finance commission to administer the affordable housing land acquisition revolving loan fund program. Within this program, the Washington state housing finance commission shall establish and administer the Washington state housing finance commission land acquisition revolving loan fund.

(2) As used in this chapter, "market rate" means the current average market interest rate that is determined at the time any individual loan is closed upon using a widely recognized current market interest rate measurement to be selected for use by the Washington state housing finance commission with the department's approval. This interest rate must be noted in an attachment to the closing documents for each loan.

(3) Under the affordable housing land acquisition revolving loan fund program:

(a) Loans may be made to purchase land on which to develop affordable housing. In addition to affordable housing, facilities intended to provide supportive services to affordable housing residents and low-income households in the nearby community may be developed on the land.

(b) Eligible organizations applying for a loan must include in the loan application a proposed affordable housing development plan indicating the number of affordable housing units planned, a description of any other facilities being considered for the property, and an estimated timeline for completion of the development. The Washington state housing finance commission may require additional information from loan applicants and may consider the efficient use of land, project readiness, organizational capacity, and other factors as criteria in awarding loans.

(c) Forty percent of the loans shall go to eligible applicants operating homeownership programs for low-income households in which the households participate in the construction of their homes. Sixty percent of loans shall go to other eligible organizations. If the entire forty percent for applicants operating self-help homeownership programs cannot be lent to these types of applicants, the remainder shall be lent to other eligible organizations.

(d) Within five years of receiving a loan, a loan recipient must present the Washington state housing finance commission with an updated development plan, including a proposed development design, committed and anticipated financial resources to be dedicated to the development, and an estimated development schedule, which indicates completion of the development within eight years of loan receipt. This updated development plan must be substantially consistent with the development plan submitted as part of the original loan application as required in (b) of this subsection.

(e) Within eight years of receiving a loan, a loan recipient must develop affordable housing on the property for which the loan was made and place the affordable housing into service.
A loan recipient must preserve the affordable rental housing developed on the property acquired under this section as affordable housing for a minimum of thirty years.

If a loan recipient does not place affordable housing into service on a property for which a loan has been received under this section within the eight-year period specified in subsection (3)(e) of this section, or if a loan recipient fails to use the property for the intended affordable housing purpose consistent with the loan recipient's original affordable housing development plan, then the loan recipient must pay to the Washington state housing finance commission an amount consisting of the principal of the original loan plus compounded interest calculated at the current market rate. The Washington state housing finance commission shall develop guidelines for the time period in which this repayment must take place, which must be noted in the original loan agreement. The Washington state housing finance commission may grant a partial or total exemption from this repayment requirement if it determines that a development is substantially complete or that the property has been substantially used in keeping with the original affordable housing purpose of the loan. Any repayment funds received as a result of noncompliance with loan requirements shall be deposited into the Washington state housing finance commission land acquisition revolving loan fund for the purposes of the affordable housing land acquisition revolving loan fund program.

The Washington state housing finance commission, with approval from the department, may adopt guidelines and requirements that are necessary to administer the affordable housing land acquisition revolving loan fund program.

Interest rates on property loans granted under this section may not exceed one percent. All loan repayment moneys received shall be deposited into the Washington state housing finance commission affordable housing land acquisition revolving loan fund for the purposes of the affordable housing land acquisition revolving loan fund program.

The Washington state housing finance commission must develop performance measures for the program, which must be approved by the department, including, at a minimum, measures related to:

(a) The ability of eligible organizations to access land for affordable housing development;
(b) The total number of dwelling units by housing type and the total number of ((less)) low-income households and persons served; and
(c) The financial efficiency of the program as demonstrated by factors, including the cost per unit developed for affordable housing units in different areas of the state and a measure of the effective use of funds to produce the greatest number of units for low-income households.

By December 1st of each year, beginning in 2007, the Washington state housing finance commission shall report to the department and the appropriate committees of the legislature, at a minimum, the performance measures developed under subsection (7) of this section.

A new section is added to chapter 43.185A RCW to read as follows:

1. The affordable housing and community facilities rapid response loan program is created in the department to assist eligible organizations described under RCW 43.185A.040, which includes nonprofit organizations comprised of residents of manufactured/mobile home communities, to purchase land or real property for affordable housing and community facilities preservation or development in rapidly gentrifying neighborhoods or communities with a significant low-income population that is threatened with displacement by such gentrification.

2. Loans or grants may be made through the affordable housing and community facilities rapid response loan program to purchase land or real property for the preservation or development of affordable housing or community facilities, including reasonable costs and fees.

3. The department may adopt guidelines and requirements that are necessary to administer the affordable housing and community facilities rapid response loan program.

4. A loan recipient must preserve affordable rental housing acquired or developed under this section as affordable housing for a minimum of thirty years.

5. Interest rates on loans made under this section may be as low as zero percent but may not exceed three percent. All loan repayment moneys received must be deposited into a program account established by the department for the purpose of making new loans and grants under this section.

6. By December 1st of each year, beginning in 2008, the department shall report to the appropriate committees of the legislature: The number of loans and grants that were made in the program; for what purposes the loans and grants were made; to whom the loans and grants were made; and when the loans are expected to be paid back.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. If specific funding for the purposes of section 2 of this act, referencing this act by bill or chapter number and section number, is not provided by June 30, 2008, in the omnibus appropriations act, section 2 of this act is null and void.

"NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. (1) The legislature finds and declares that meeting the state's future energy needs through conservation efforts, both large and small, is a priority. Small changes on the part of Washington consumers, such as switching from conventional, incandescent light bulbs to more efficient compact fluorescent bulbs, has the potential to save thousands of kilowatts of electricity each year. The legislature further finds that compact fluorescent bulbs are more efficient, last longer, emit less heat, and draw less current than conventional incandescent bulbs, which make them a safer and more cost-effective option for use in the home. The legislature finds that compact fluorescent bulbs and other types of general purpose lights contain quantities of hazardous substances that may pose a threat to the health of citizens and to the environment if not handled and recycled properly.

(2) It is the intent of the legislature to encourage citizens to use energy efficient bulbs such as compact fluorescent bulbs and properly dispose of these bulbs at the end of their useful life. The legislature intends to establish a work group to make recommendations on how to recycle end-of-life general purpose lights generated in the state and educate consumers about proper management of general purpose lights.

(g) The long-term care workforce has variable learning styles, and can benefit from flexibility in training settings, modalities, accessibility, and methods;

Sec. 4. A new section is added to chapter 74.39A RCW to read as follows:

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4. The department shall develop qualification requirements for trainers and criteria for the approval of basic training programs under section 3 of this act. Only training curricula approved by the department may be used to fulfill the requirements of section 3 of this act.

(b)(i) The department shall develop criteria for reviewing and approving trainers and training materials that are substantially similar to or better than the materials developed by the department. The department may approve a curriculum based upon attestation by a boarding home administrator, an adult family home provider or resident manager, a home care agency administrator, or the administrator of the training partnership designated in RCW 74.39A.360 that the facility's, agency's, or training partnership's training curriculum addresses required training competencies identified by the department, and shall review a curriculum to verify that it meets these requirements. The department, or the department of health, as applicable, may conduct the review as part of the regularly scheduled inspection and investigation required under RCW 18.20.110, 70.128.090, or 70.127.100. The department shall rescind approval of any curriculum if it determines that the curriculum does not meet these requirements.

(b)(ii) A facility, agency, or the training partnership with an approved curriculum must provide reports as required by the department on the long-term care workers who began training and those who completed training, and verifying that all long-term care workers required to do so have complied with all training requirements.

(c) Boarding homes, adult family homes, home care agencies, or other entities employing long-term care workers that desire to deliver facility or agency-based required basic training with facility or agency designated trainers, or facilities and agencies that desire to pool their resources to create shared training systems, must be encouraged by the department in their efforts.

(d) The department shall consult with the state board for community and technical colleges, the superintendent of public instruction, and the training partnership to ensure, to the extent possible, that long-term care worker training programs approved by the department assist with opportunities to articulate to relevant degree or skills programs offered in community colleges, vocational-technical institutes, skill centers, and secondary schools, as defined in chapter 28B.50 RCW.

(2) The department shall adopt rules by September 1, 2009, necessary to implement the training provisions of section 3 of this act. In developing rules, the department shall consult with the department of health, the nursing care quality assurance commission, adult family home providers, boarding homes, persons who are personal care providers, affected labor organizations, community and technical colleges, and long-term care consumers and other interested organizations. who completed training and verifying that all individual providers required to do so have complied with all training requirements. The exclusive bargaining representative shall designate the training partnership.

(2) The training partnership shall offer persons who are acting as unpaid informal caregivers for family members or friends the opportunity to attend training offered through the partnership at no cost to the individual caregiver or the state. Attendance opportunities may be limited to the extent that:

(a) There is fixed maximum seating or participation capacity for a training module that satisfies long-term care worker basic training or continuing education requirements under this chapter; and

(b) The maximum capacity for a particular training module is fully reserved twenty-four hours in advance of the scheduled date and time of the module.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 7. (1) The legislature finds that:

(a) It is in the public interest to promote quality long-term care services through registration for long-term care workers; and

(b) An additional level of credentialing for those long-term care workers who seek to increase their skills and knowledge or enter a health care professional career track will increase, stabilize, and enhance the long-term care workforce and further promote quality long-term care services.

(2) The legislature, therefore, intends to provide opportunities to increase skills and knowledge or to pursue a career track through certification and specialty endorsements, and potential articulation from long-term care worker certification to other health care credentialing or degrees.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 8. The definitions in this section apply throughout this chapter unless the context clearly requires otherwise.

(1) "Department" means the department of health.

(2) "Secretary" means the secretary of health.

(3) "Long-term care worker" has the same meaning as in RCW 74.39A.009. There are two levels of credentialing long-term care workers:

(a) "Registered long-term care worker" is an individual registered under this chapter; and

(b) "Certified long-term care worker" is an individual certified under this chapter.

(4) "Individual provider" has the same meaning as in RCW 74.39A.240.

(5) "Personal care services" has the same meaning as in RCW 74.39A.009.

(6) "Approved training program" means a program of not less than eighty-five hours of training that is approved by the secretary in consultation with the department of social and health services, the state board for community and technical colleges, and the superintendent of public instruction. The department shall ensure, to the extent possible, that long-term care worker training programs approved by the department assist with opportunities to articulate to relevant degree or skill programs offered in community colleges, vocational-technical institutes, skill centers, and secondary schools as defined in chapter 28B.50 RCW. A training program approved under this section may include, but is not limited to, the following elements:

(a) Basic training under section 3 of this act, which is a required element of an approved training program. For purposes of this subsection, a person who successfully challenges the competency test for basic training shall be deemed to have completed the relevant hours of basic training other than worker orientation training;

(b) Hours that individual providers spend with peer mentors under RCW 74.39A.330;

(c) Advanced training offered under RCW 74.39A.350;

(d) Up to ten hours spent being trained by the person to whom a worker is providing care regarding the person's caregiving preferences and needs;

(e) On-the-job training provided by the worker's employer, including specialty training required under RCW 18.20.270(5) and 70.120(20)(5);

(g) Attendance at relevant conferences sponsored by national or state professional associations, governmental agencies, or institutions of higher education; and

(h) Other structured or documented training approved by the secretary. For the purposes of this subsection, "documented training" means a written training program that describes the subject covered by the training, the methods by which the training is conducted, and the qualifications of the instructor.

(7) "Certification examination" means the measurement of an individual's knowledge and skills as related to safe, competent performance as a long-term care worker.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 9. (1) Registration under this chapter commences January 1, 2010. If the department determines that administrative capacities essential to implementation of long-term care worker registration under this chapter will not be fully functional by January 1, 2010, the department may defer the implementation date to no later than July 1, 2010.

(b) Except as provided otherwise in this chapter, long-term care workers contracted or employed on or after January 1, 2010, must register within one hundred twenty days after the date of the long-term care worker's initial contracting or employment as a long-term care worker, except that workers initially contracted or employed before January 1, 2010, must register within one hundred twenty days after January 1, 2010. However, the department, for good cause, may extend the one hundred twenty day time period by up to sixty days.

(2) Beginning January 1, 2012, long-term care workers may elect to be certified, with or without a specialty endorsement under section 14 of this act.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 10. (1) A registered or certified long-term care worker may provide direct, hands-on personal care services to persons with functional disabilities requiring long-term care services.

(2) No person may practice or, by use of any title or description, represent himself or herself as:

(a) A registered long-term care worker without being registered pursuant to this chapter; or

(b) A certified long-term care worker without applying for certification, meeting the qualifications, and being certified pursuant to this chapter.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 11. In addition to any other authority provided by law, the secretary has the authority to:

(1) Set all certification, registration, and renewal fees in accordance with RCW 43.70.250 and to collect and deposit all such fees in the health professions account established under RCW 43.70.320;

(3) Hire clerical, administrative, and investigative staff as needed to implement this chapter;

(4) Issue a registration to any applicant who has met the requirements for registration;

(5) Issue a certificate to any applicant who has met the education, training, and conduct requirements for certification;

(6) Maintain the official record for the department of all applicants and persons with registrations and certificates;

(7) Exercise disciplinary authority as authorized in chapter 18.130 RCW;

(8) Deny registration to any applicant who fails to meet requirement for registration; and

      (b) The applicant has completed any required background check; and
   (c) There are no grounds for denial of registration or issuance of a conditional registration under this chapter or chapter 18.130 RCW.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 14. (1) A long-term care worker certified under this chapter may apply for a specialty endorsement in the specialty areas identified by the secretary in consultation with the department of social and health services. The secretary shall issue an endorsement to an applicant who:
   (a) Completes the hours of training and practical experience required in rules adopted by the secretary for the relevant specialty endorsement;
   (b) Pays any applicable fee; and
   (c) Submits any other information as determined by the secretary.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 15. An applicant holding a credential in another state may be certified in this state without examination if the secretary determines that the other state's credentialing standards for long-term care workers are substantially equivalent to the standards in this state.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 16. (1) Registrations and certifications shall be renewed according to administrative procedures, administrative requirements, and fees determined by the secretary under RCW 43.70.250 and 43.70.280.

(2) Completion of continuing education as required in RCW 74.39A.340 is a prerequisite to renewing a registration or certification under this chapter.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 17. (1) This chapter does not apply to:
   (a) Registered nurses, licensed practical nurses, certified nursing assistants, medicare certified home health aides, or other persons who hold a similar health credential, as determined by the secretary, or persons with special education training and an endorsement granted by the superintendent of public instruction that is recognized by the secretary as appropriate to specified personal care services circumstances;
   (b) Biological, step, or adoptive parents who are the individual provider, for only their son or daughter who is developmentally disabled or functionally disabled, and persons who provide respite care on an intermittent basis to such son or daughter of a biological, step, or adoptive parent who is either an individual provider or an unpaid caregiver. As used in this subsection, "intermittent basis" means the same as the definition in section 3(3)(d) of this act.

(2) Nothing in this chapter may be construed to prohibit or restrict:
   (a) The practice by an individual licensed, certified, or registered under the laws of this state and performing services within their authorized scope of practice;
   (b) The practice by an individual employed by the government of the United States while engaged in the performance of duties prescribed by the laws of the United States;

   (e) A long-term care worker exempt under subsection (1) of this section from applying for registration or certification, subject to meeting the requirements for such application.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 18. (1) The uniform disciplinary act, chapter 18.130 RCW, governs unregistered or uncertified practice, issuance of certificates and registrations, and the discipline of persons registered or with certificates under this chapter. The secretary shall be the disciplinary authority under this chapter.

(a) The secretary may take action to immediately suspend the registration or certification of a long-term care worker upon finding that conduct of the long-term care worker has caused or presents an imminent threat of harm to a functionally disabled person in his or her care.

(b) If the secretary imposes suspension or conditions for continuation of a registration or certification, the suspension or conditions for continuation are effective immediately upon notice and shall continue in effect pending the outcome of any hearing.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 19. (1) The department shall adopt rules by September 1, 2009, necessary to implement the registration provisions of this chapter. (2)(a) The department shall also consult with these parties on a plan to implement the voluntary certification program under this chapter by January 1, 2012, in a cost-effective manner considering the following:

(i) The certification program should assist a long-term care worker to enter, if desired, a career path to other health care or allied health professions, including articulation, to the maximum extent possible under federal law, from long-term care worker certification to nursing assistant certification under chapter 18.88A RCW;

(ii) The department should consider the relative merits of certification and/or specialty endorsement examinations and of practical work experience for certification and/or specialty endorsements. If recommendations are made for practical work experience requirements, the department's plan should include recommendations on the hours and type of practical work experience that would be appropriate for the credential sought.

(b) The department shall report on the certification plan to the appropriate committees of the legislature by December 1, 2009.

Sec. 24. RCW 74.39A.050 and 2004 c 140 s 6 are each amended to read as follows:

The department's system of quality improvement for long-term care services shall use the following principles, consistent with applicable federal laws and regulations:

(1) The system shall be client-centered and promote privacy, independence, dignity, choice, and a home or home-like environment for consumers consistent with chapter 392, Laws of 1997.
(2) The goal of the system is continuous quality improvement with the focus on consumer satisfaction and outcomes for consumers. This includes that when conducting licensing or contract inspections, the department shall interview an appropriate percentage of residents, family members, resident case managers, and advocates in addition to interviewing providers and staff.
(3) Providers should be supported in their efforts to improve quality and address identified problems initially through training, consultation, technical assistance, and case management.
(4) The emphasis should be on problem prevention both in monitoring and in screening potential providers of service.
(5) Monitoring should be outcome based and responsive to consumer complaints and based on a clear set of health, quality of care, and safety standards that are easily understandable and have been made available to providers, residents, and other interested parties.
(6) Prompt and specific enforcement remedies shall also be implemented without delay, pursuant to RCW 74.39A.080, RCW 70.128.160, chapter 18.51 RCW, or chapter 74.42 RCW, for providers found to have delivered care or failed to deliver care resulting in problems that are serious, recurring, or uncorrected, or that create a hazard that is causing or likely to cause death or serious harm to one or more residents. These enforcement remedies may also include, when appropriate, reasonable conditions on a contract or license. In the selection of remedies, the safety, health, and well-being of residents shall be of paramount importance.

(7) To the extent funding is available, all long-term care staff directly responsible for the care, supervision, or treatment of vulnerable persons shall be screened through background checks in a uniform and timely manner to ensure that they do not have a criminal history that would disqualify them from working with vulnerable persons. Whenever a state conviction record check is required by state law, persons may be employed or engaged as volunteers or independent contractors on a conditional basis according to law and rules adopted by the department.

(8) No provider or staff, or prospective provider or staff, with a stipulated finding of fact, conclusion of law, or final order issued by a disciplining authority, a court of law, or entered into a state registry finding him or her guilty of abuse, neglect, exploitation, or abandonment of a minor or a vulnerable adult as defined in chapter 74.34 RCW shall be employed in the care of and have unsupervised access to vulnerable adults.

(9) The department shall establish, by rule, a state registry which contains identifying information about personal care aides identified under this chapter who have substantiated findings of abuse, neglect, financial exploitation, or abandonment of a vulnerable adult as defined in RCW 74.34.020. The rule must include disclosure, disposition of findings, notification, findings of fact, appeal rights, and law and rules adopted by the department. The department shall disclose, upon request, substantiated findings of abuse, neglect, financial exploitation, or abandonment to any person so requesting this information.

(10) [(The department shall by rule develop training requirements for individual providers and home care agency providers. Effective March 1, 2002, individual providers and home care agency providers must satisfactorily complete department-approved orientation, basic training, and continuing education within the time period specified by the department in rule. The department shall adopt rules by March 1, 2002, for the implementation of this section based on the recommendations of the community long-term care training and education steering committee established in RCW 74.39A.190. The department shall deny payment to an individual provider or a home care provider who does not complete the training requirements within the time limit specified by the department by rule.)

(11) In an effort to improve access to training and education and reduce costs, especially for rural communities, the coordinated system of long-term care training and education must include the use of innovative types of learning strategies such as internet resources, videotapes, and distance learning using satellite technology coordinated through community colleges or other entities, as defined by the department.

(12) The department shall create an approval system by March 1, 2002, for those seeking to conduct department-approved training. In the rule-making process, the department shall adopt rules based on the recommendations of the community long-term care training and education steering committee established in RCW 74.39A.190.

(13)] The department shall establish, by rule, [(training)] background checks(1) and other quality assurance requirements for persons providing in-home services funded by Medicaid personal care as described in RCW 74.09.250, community options program entry system waiver services as described in RCW 74.39A.030, or chore services as described in RCW 74.39A.110 that are equivalent to requirements for individual providers.

[(8)(1)] Under existing funds the department shall establish internally a quality improvement standards committee to monitor the development of standards and to suggest modifications.

[(8)(5)] Within existing funds, the department shall design, develop, and implement a long-term care training program that is flexible, relevant, and qualified towards the requirements for a nursing assistant certificate as established under chapter 18.88A RCW. This subsection does not require completion of the nursing assistant certificate program before providers may use that same module, or modules, and a range of other available relevant training modules that provide the capacity with appropriate options that maintain meeting the resident’s care needs. Some of the training modules may include, but are not limited to, specific training on the special care needs of persons with developmental disabilities, dementia, mental illness, and the care needs of the elderly. No less than one training module must be dedicated to workplace violence prevention. The nursing care quality assurance commission shall work together with the department to develop the curriculum modules. The nursing care quality assurance commission shall direct the nursing assistant training programs to accept some or all of the skills and competencies from the curriculum modules towards meeting the requirements for a nursing assistant certificate as defined in chapter 18.88A RCW. A process may be developed to test persons completing modules from a care orientation class to verify that they have the transferable skills and competencies for entry into a nursing assistant training program. The department may review whether facilities can develop their own related long-term care training programs. The department may develop a review process for determining what previous experience and training may be used to waive some or all of the mandatory training. The department of social and health services and the nursing care quality assurance commission shall work together to develop an implementation plan by December 12, 1998.)

A license issued under this chapter shall not be transferred or assigned without thirty days prior notice to the department and the department’s approval. A license, unless suspended or revoked, is effective for a period of two years, however an initial license is only effective for twelve months. The department shall conduct a survey within each licensure period, and may conduct a licensure survey after ownership transfer, to assure compliance with this chapter and the rules adopted under this chapter and under section 3 of this act, and to enforce section 23(4) of this act.

(1) The department shall make or cause to be made, at least every eighteen months with an annual average of fifteen months, an inspection and investigation of all boarding homes. However, the department may delay an inspection to twenty-four months if the boarding home has had three consecutive inspections with no written notice of violations and has received no written notice of violations resulting from complaint investigation during that same time period. The department may at any time make an unannounced inspection of a licensed home to assure that the licensee is in compliance with this chapter.

(2) The department may make an inspection of a licensed home required under this chapter or the rules adopted under this chapter and section 3 of this act, and to enforce section 23(4) of this act. Every inspection shall focus primarily on actual or potential resident outcomes, and may include an inspection of every part of the premises and an examination of all records, methods of administration, the general and special dietary, and the stores and methods of supply; however, the department shall not have access to financial records or to other records or reports described in RCW 18.20.390. Financial records of the boarding home may be examined when the department has reasonable cause to believe that a financial obligation related to resident care or services will not be met, such as a complaint that staff wages or utility costs have not been paid, or when necessary for the department to investigate alleged financial exploitation of a resident.

(3) Following such an inspection or investigations, written notice of any violation of this law or the rules adopted hereunder shall be given to the applicant or licensee and the department.

(a) “Caregiver” includes any ((person)) long-term care worker who provides hands-on personal care on behalf of a boarding home, except volunteers who are directly supervised.

(b) “Direct supervision” means oversight by a person who has demonstrated competency in the core areas or has been fully exempted from the training requirements pursuant to this section, is on the premises, and is quickly and easily available to the caregiver.

(c) “Long-term care worker” has the same meaning as defined in RCW 74.39A.009(11).

(2) Training must have the following components: Orientation, basic training, specialty training as appropriate, and continuing education. Basic training must be completed by caregivers within one hundred twenty days of the date on which they begin to provide hands-on care or within one hundred twenty days of September 1, 2002, whichever is later.

(5)(a) For boarding homes that serve residents with special needs such as dementia, developmental disabilities, or mental illness, specialty training is required of administrators, or designees, and caregivers. Specialty training consists of modules on the core knowledge and skills that caregivers need to effectively and safely provide care to residents with special needs. Specialty training should be integrated into basic training wherever appropriate.

(b) Specialty training must be completed by caregivers within one hundred twenty days of the date on which they begin to provide hands-on care to a resident having special needs or within one hundred twenty days of September 1, 2002, whichever is later. However, if specialty training is not integrated with basic training, the specialty training must be completed within ninety days of completion of basic training. Until competency in the core specialty areas has been demonstrated, caregivers shall not provide hands-on personal care to residents with special needs without direct supervision.

(6) Continuing education consists of ongoing delivery of information to caregivers on various topics relevant to the care setting and care needs of residents. Competency testing is not required for continuing education. Continuing education is not required in the same calendar year in which basic or modified basic training is successfully completed. Continuing education is required in each calendar year thereafter. If specialty training is completed, the specialty training applies toward any continuing education requirement for up to two years following the completion of the specialty training.

(7) Persons who successfully challenge the competency test for basic training are fully exempt from the basic training requirements of this section. Persons who successfully challenge the specialty training competency test are fully exempt from the specialty training requirements of this section.

(9) The department shall develop criteria for the approval of orientation, basic training, and specialty training programs.

(10) Boarding homes that desire to deliver facility-based training with facility designated trainers, or boarding homes that desire to pool their resources to create shared training systems, must be encouraged by the department in their efforts. The department shall develop criteria for reviewing and approving trainers and training materials that are substantially similar to or better than the materials developed by the department. The department may approve a curriculum based upon attestation by a boarding home administrator that the boarding home’s training curriculum addresses basic training, specialty training, and continuing education competencies identified by the department, and shall review a curriculum to verify that it meets these requirements. The department may conduct the review as part of the next regularly scheduled yearly inspection and investigation required under RCW 18.20.110. The department shall extend approval of any curriculum if it determines that the curriculum does not meet these requirements.

(11)(1) The department shall adopt rules by September 1, 2002, for the implementation of this section.

(2) The department shall adopt rules by September 1, 2002, for the current training requirements under RCW 74.39A.010 or 74.39A.020. The department shall extend approval of any curriculum if it determines that the curriculum does not meet these requirements.

The personal records of the provider are not subject to department inspection nor is the separate bedroom of the provider, not used in direct care of a client, subject to review. The department may inspect all rooms during the initial licensing of the home. However, during a complaint investigation, the department shall have access to the entire premises and all pertinent records when necessary to conduct official business. The department shall also have the authority to interview the provider and residents of an adult family home.

(2) Whenever an inspection is conducted, the department shall prepare a written report that summarizes all information obtained during the inspection, and if the home is in violation of this chapter or the rules adopted under this chapter or under section 3 of this act, or the department is enforcing section 23(4) of this act, serve a copy of the inspection report upon the provider at the same time as a notice of violation. This notice shall be mailed to the provider within ten working days of the completion of the inspection process. If the home is not in violation of this chapter, a copy of the inspection report shall be mailed to the provider within ten calendar days of the inspection of the home. All inspection reports shall be made available to the public at the department during business hours.

(3) The provider shall develop corrective measures for any violations found by the department's inspection. The department shall upon request provide consultation and technical assistance to assist the provider in developing effective corrective measures. The director, pursuant to rules adopted in accordance with the procedures provided in the administrative procedure act, chapter 34.05 RCW, may exercise his discretion to waive, in whole or in part, the amount of any such payments due to a self-insured employer, the employer shall be reimbursed the amount waived from the employer overpayment reimbursement fund. The department shall forward the amounts collected to the self-insured employer to whom the payment is owed. The department may provide information as needed to any self-insurers from whom payments may be collected on behalf of the department or self-insurer. Notwithstanding RCW 51.32.040, any self-insurer requested by the department to forward payments to the department pursuant to this subsection shall pay the department directly. (i) Willful false statement; or

(ii) Willful misrepresentation, omission, or concealment of any material fact.

(c) Willful misrepresentation, omission, or concealment of a material fact which would result in additional, increased, or continued benefits, including but not limited to facts about physical restrictions, or work-type activities which either result in wages or income or would be reasonably expected to do so. Wages or income include the receipt of any goods or services. For a work-type activity to be reasonably expected to result in wages or income, a pattern of repeated activity must exist. For those activities that would reasonably be expected to result in wages or produce income, but for which actual wage or income information cannot be reasonably determined, the department shall impute wages pursuant to RCW 51.08.178(4).

(d) The worker, beneficiary, or other person affected thereby shall have the right to contest an order assessing an overpayment pursuant to this section in the same manner and to the same extent as provided under RCW 51.52.050 and 51.52.060. In the event such an order becomes final under chapter 51.52 RCW and notwithstanding the provisions of subsections (1) through (5) of this section, the director, director's designee, or self-insurer may file with the clerk in the county in which the worker resides or, in the case of a self-insurer, the self-insured employer to whom the overpayment was paid, a notice of the overpayment and/or penalty plus interest accruing from the date the order became final. The clerk of the county in which the warrant is filed shall immediately designate a superior court cause number for such warrant and the clerk shall cause to be entered in the judgment docket under the superior court cause number assigned to the warrant, the name of the worker, beneficiary, or other person mentioned in the warrant, the amount of the unpaid overpayment and/or penalty plus interest accrued, and the date the warrant was filed. The amount of the warrant as docketed shall become a lien upon the title to and interest in all real and personal property of the worker, beneficiary, or other person against whom the warrant is issued, the same as a judgment in a civil case docketed in the office of such clerk. The sheriff shall then proceed in the same manner and with like effect as prescribed by law with respect to execution or other process issued against rights or property upon judgment in the superior court. Such warrant so docketed shall be sufficient to support the issuance of writs of garnishment in favor of the department or self-insurer in the manner provided by law in the case of judgment, wholly or partially unsatisfied. The clerk of the court shall be entitled to a filing fee under RCW 36.18.012(10), which shall be added to the amount of the warrant. A copy of such warrant shall be mailed to the worker, beneficiary, or other person within three days of filing with the clerk.

The director, director's designee, or self-insurer may issue to any person, firm, corporation, municipal corporation, political subdivision of the state, public corporation, or agency of the state, a notice to withhold and deliver property of any kind if there is reason to believe that there is in the possession of such person, firm, corporation, municipal corporation, political subdivision of the state, public corporation, or agency of the state, property that is due, owing, or belonging to any worker, beneficiary, or other person upon whom a warrant has been served for payments due the department or self-insurer. The notice and order to withhold and deliver shall be served by certified mail accompanied by an affidavit of service by mailing or served by the sheriff of the county, or by the sheriff's deputy, or by any authorized representative of the director, director's designee, or self-insurer. Any person, firm, corporation, municipal corporation, political subdivision of the state, public corporation, or agency of the state upon whom service has been made shall answer the notice within twenty days exclusive of the day of service, under oath and in writing, and shall make true answers to the matters inquired of in the notice and order to withhold and deliver. In the event there is in the possession of the party named and served with such notice and order, property that may be attached to the claim to which the warrant is issued, or to the worker, beneficiary, or other person upon whom a warrant has been served for payments due the department or self-insurer, such property shall be delivered forthwith to the director, the director's authorized representative, or self-insurer upon demand.
If the party served and named in the notice and order fails to answer the notice and order within the time prescribed in this section, the court may, after the time to answer such order has expired, render judgment by default against the party named in the notice for the full amount, plus costs, claimed by the director, director's designee, or self-insurer in the notice. In the event that a notice to withhold and deliver is served upon an employer and the property found to be subject thereto is wages, the employer may assert in the answer all exceptions permitted by chapter 6.27 RCW to which the wage earner may be entitled.

This subsection shall only apply to orders assessing an overpayment which are issued on or after July 28, 1991: PROVIDED, That this subsection shall apply retroactively to all orders assessing an overpayment resulting from fraud, civil or criminal.

(7) Orders assessing an overpayment which are issued on or after July 28, 1991, shall include a conspicuous notice of the collection methods available to the department or self-insurer.

Sec. 2. RCW 51.52.050 and 2004 c 243 s 8 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) Whenever the department has made any order, decision, or award, it shall promptly serve the worker, beneficiary, employer, or other person affected thereby, with a copy thereof by mail, which shall be addressed to such person at his or her last known address as shown by the records of the department. The copy, in case the same is a final order, decision, or award, shall bear on the same side of the same page on which is found the amount of the award, a statement set in black faced type of at least ten point body or size, that such final order, decision, or award shall become final within sixty days from the date the order is communicated to the parties unless a written request for reconsideration is filed with the department of labor and industries, Olympia, or an appeal is filed with the board of industrial insurance appeals, Olympia((state apprenticeship council)). However, a department order or decision making demand, whether with or without penalty, for repayment of sums paid to a provider of medical, dental, vocational, or other health services rendered to an industrially injured worker, shall state that such order or decision shall become final within twenty days from the date the order or decision is communicated to the parties unless a written request for reconsideration is filed with the department of labor and industries, Olympia, or an appeal is filed with the board of industrial insurance appeals, Olympia.

(2)(a) Whenever the department has taken any action or made any decision relating to any phase of the administration of this title the worker, beneficiary, employer, or other person aggrieved thereby, may request reconsideration of the decision or may appeal to the board. In an appeal before the board, the appellant shall have the burden of proceeding with the evidence to establish a prima facie case for the relief sought in such appeal((provided, That)).

(b) An employer appeal of a department order shall operate as a stay of the order except:

(i) An employer appeal of an awarding temporary total disability benefits shall not operate as a stay of temporary total disability benefits, and such temporary total disability benefits shall be paid no later than fifteen days after the board grants the appeal, unless an employer moves for a stay of the department's order within fifteen days after the board grants the appeal. Any employer may move for a stay of the order, in whole or in part. The board shall review the department's file as it existed as of the date of the order on appeal, and issue a written order granting or denying the stay within fifteen days of receipt of the motion. The board shall grant the motion if the department's file demonstrates the issues on appeal are debatable or if the hardship to the moving party if the stay were not granted is greater than the hardship to the nonmoving party if the stay were granted. If the board denies the motion for stay, the board shall reconsider the motion one hundred eighty days after issuance of the order denying the stay if a proposed decision and order on the merits of the appeal has not been issued. If the board denies a motion to stay payment of benefits, the board shall refer the appeal for scheduling of hearings and shall not place the case in mediation, pursuant to RCW 51.52.095, unless requested and agreed by the parties. Notwithstanding the denial of a stay, temporary total disability benefits shall be terminated if changed circumstances indicate the worker is not totally disabled.

(ii) If a self-insured employer prevails in the appeal on the merits, any benefits paid may be recouped pursuant to RCW 51.32.240.

(iii) If a self-insured employer appeals a department order only setting the basis or rate of monthly compensation to a worker, the appeal shall not be a stay of benefits not in dispute. The appeal shall operate as a stay of payment of benefits in dispute, and such benefits shall not be paid unless so ordered after the appeal on the merits has been finally determined, or unless agreed by the parties.

(c) In an appeal from an order of the department that alleges willful misrepresentation, the department or self-insured employer shall initially introduce all evidence in its case in chief. Any such person aggrieved by the decision and order of the board may thereafter appeal to the superior court, as prescribed in this chapter.

Sec. 3. RCW 51.52.090 and 1971 ex.s c 289 s 70 are each amended to read as follows: If the appeal is not denied within thirty days after the notice is filed with the board, the appeal shall be deemed to have been granted((provided, That the board may extend the time within which it may act upon such appeal, not exceeding thirty days)).

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4. A new section is added to chapter 51.32 RCW to read as follows:

(1) Except as provided in subsection (2) of this section, each employer shall retain from the earnings of each worker that amount as shall be fixed from time to time by the director, the basis for measuring said amount to be determined by the director. The money so retained shall be remitted to the department in such manner and at such intervals as the department directs and shall be placed in the employer overpayment reimbursement fund. However, the state apprenticeship council shall pay the entire amount into the employer overpayment reimbursement fund for registered apprentices or trainees during their participation in supplemental and related instruction classes. The moneys so collected shall be used exclusively for reimbursement to the accident fund, medical aid fund, reserve fund, and to self-insured employers for benefits overpaid to injured workers during the pendency of board or court appeals in which the department or self-insured employer prevails, and shall be no more than necessary to make such payments on a current basis.

(2) None of the amount assessed for the employer overpayment reimbursement fund under RCW 51.16.210 may be retained from the earnings of workers covered under RCW 51.16.210.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 5. A new section is added to chapter 51.44 RCW to read as follows: The employer overpayment reimbursement fund is created in the custody of the state treasurer. Expenditures from the account may be used only for reimbursing the accident fund, medical aid fund, reserve fund, and self-insured employers for benefits overpaid to injured workers during the pendency of board or court appeals in which the department or self-insured employer prevails. Only the director or the director's designee may authorize expenditures from the account. The account is subject to allotment procedures under chapter 43.88 RCW, but an appropriation is not required for expenditures.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 6. This act applies to orders issued on or after the effective date of this act.

RESOLUTION

HOUSE RESOLUTION NO. 4688. By Representatives Santos, Hasegawa, Rollés, Campbell, Hankins and Skinner

WHEREAS, On February 19, 1942, President Franklin D. Roosevelt issued Executive Order 9066, which authorized the forced assembly, evacuation, and internment of approximately 12,000 Japanese-Americans residing in the state of Washington; and

WHEREAS, The order for assembly and detention at Camp Harmony in Puyallup, Washington, prior to evacuation and subsequent internment, caused Japanese-Americans from the state of Washington to lose millions of dollars in property and assets, to suffer immeasurable physical and psychological damage, and to be deprived of their constitutional liberties without due process of law; and

WHEREAS, The alleged purpose of this drastic course of action was to prevent Japanese-Americans, all of whom were deemed disloyal and untrustworthy, from committing acts of espionage and sabotage against the United States during its involvement in World War II; and

WHEREAS, An overwhelming number of Japanese-Americans from the state of Washington responded to questions of their loyalty and patriotism by volunteering from within barbed wire camps to serve in the United States Military Intelligence Service and the United States Army's 442nd Regimental Combat Team, the latter of which became the most decorated unit of its size in American history with seven Presidential Unit Citations, 21 Congressional Medals of Honor, 52 Distinguished Service Crosses, 1 Distinguished Service Medal, 588 Silver Stars, 4,000 Bronze Stars, 9,486 Purple Hearts, and a total of 18 decorations from France and Italy; and

WHEREAS, A few equally patriotic Japanese-Americans, such as Gordon Hirabayashi, then a student at the University of Washington, were willing to face imprisonment to seek justice by challenging the constitutionality of the evacuation and internment orders; and

WHEREAS, Through the fact-finding work of the Commission on Wartime Relocation and Internment of Civilians, the United States Congress later found that "there was no military or security reason for the internment" of individuals of Japanese ancestry and that the internment "was caused by racial prejudice, war hysteria, and a failure of political leadership"; and

WHEREAS, Japanese-American internees from the state of Washington endured economic, physical, and psychological hardship and suffered in silence for more than forty years before the state of Washington provided monetary redress and reparations to municipal and state employees;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, That the House of Representatives, along with the people of Washington, pause to acknowledge the sixty-sixth anniversary of the signing of Executive Order 9066, to recognize the Japanese-American internees and WWII veterans from the state of Washington, to honor their patience, heroism, sacrifice, and patriotic loyalty, and to remember the lessons and blessings of liberty and justice for all; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That copies of this resolution be immediately transmitted by the Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives to the Nisei Veterans Committee, the Military Intelligence Service - Northwest Association, the Japanese-American Citizens League, and the Japanese-American Cultural & Community Center.

Representative Santos moved the adoption of the resolution.

Representative Santos: "Thank you, Mr. Speaker. Two-thousand-eight marks the 30th anniversary of this nation's first Day of Remembrance. It also marks the 20th anniversary of the signing of the United States Civil Liberties Act. Today I want to take a moment of your time, Mr. Speaker, to remind you of the local roots of both of those occasions. In 1978, I was a high-school student and I had the opportunity to engage in one of the most important lessons of my young life. It was a project of civic engagement: helping to organize the very first Day of Remembrance. At that time, we, as a Japanese-American community had long learned to bury our feelings and bury our memories of that tragic chapter in our community's history and in fact in our nation's history.

And so, when we began to talk up the idea of pulling our community together to reenact the assembly of Japanese Americans during World War II and the caravan to Camp Harmony, which is how we euphemistically referred to the Puyallup Fair Grounds, we did not know what to expect, but we continued with our efforts. And to our surprise, more than two thousand members of our community descended on Sicks' Stadium in the Rainier Valley. It was, according to some reports, the largest gathering of Japanese Americans since the war began, and since the government banned the Japanese-American community from assembling. This could not have taken place without a lot of local community leadership, including people like Henry Miyatake, Shosuke Sasaki, Cherry Kinoshita, Sam Shoji, our churches, the Japanese-American Citizens League, and the Nisei Veterans Committee."
As a result of that very first Day of Remembrance, Japanese-American communities all across this nation took heart that "Yes, maybe we should do something to honor and remember this terrible point in our nation's history. And maybe we should petition our government for an official apology to those whose civil liberties were violated."

In 1979, the very first bill was introduced into Congress that would eventually lead to that official apology, and to reparations for all those living and who experienced the internment. A new congressman by the name of Mike Lowry, our former governor, and his legislative aide, Ruth Anne Kurose, were the authors of that very first bill which became the United State Civil Liberties Act.

Mr. Speaker, it's very tempting to view this day only as a textbook lesson in history. And yet, the importance of this day weighs heavily on my mind and on my heart as we find that those who actually experienced the Japanese-American internment are diminishing in numbers. In fact, I dare say that maybe members of this House were not even alive during World War II. And our warriors are fading, our warriors who fought both in the armed forces as members of the proud 4-4-2 and the military intelligence service and those who fought as civilians to protect our most cherished rights and freedoms.

Mr. Speaker, it is right that today we pause and recognize the valor and the courage and the determination and the spirit of those who fought on our behalf. In the words of President Truman, "The warriors fought not only the enemy, but they fought prejudice, and they won." I am so proud to live in a country and to be part of a people that are able to admit to and apologize for our mistakes. Indeed, it is a mark of our character and of our greatness. Are we big enough and great enough to learn from our mistakes and to, more important, never repeat them again? History alone will be our judge, and that is why we must pause, even on this most time-sensitive day of the session, to remember how easily our civil liberties can be overturned by fear and passion, by discrimination and demagoguery, and by the unchecked and unquestioned exercise of power.

Mr. Speaker, the president who signed Executive Order 9066, that lead to the exclusion and incarceration of 120,000 Japanese Americans, noted toward the end of this experience his mistake. And he commended the Japanese Americans, and particularly those who fought on the fronts, both in Europe and in the Pacific theaters, by saying, and if I may quote Mr. Speaker, "The principle on which this country was founded and by which it has always governed is that Americanism is a matter of the mind, and heart. Americanism is not and never was a matter of race and ancestry." Yes, Mr. Speaker, we must pause; we must pause today and support this resolution recognizing the Day of Remembrance. Thank you.

Representative Skinner: "Thank you Mr. Speaker, ladies and gentlemen of the House. Sixty-six years ago... on February 19, 1942, President Franklin Delano Roosevelt signed Executive Order 9066. The order authorized the United States military to remove "any or all persons" from the West Coast. However, it was targeted specifically to Japanese Americans and Japanese resident aliens. Following the signing of that order, more than 120 thousand persons of Japanese ancestry living on the West Coast were forced to leave their homes, jobs and businesses. That is more than the entire combined populations of my hometown of Yakima and my adopted town of Olympia. They were relocated to military internment camps. It was the largest single forced relocation in our American history.

Mr. Speaker, I would like to read a quote from one of these citizens. Mary Tsukamoto was in her late 20s when she was relocated to an internment camp with her husband and daughter. Here she described her arrival to the camp: "We saw all these people behind the fence, looking out, hanging onto the wire, and looking out because they were anxious and curious as to who was coming in. But I will never forget the shocking feeling that human beings were behind this fence like animals. And we were going to also lose our freedom and walk inside of the gate and find ourselves... cooped up. When the gates were shut, we knew that we had lost something that was very precious... we were no longer free."

Every one of us in this room is a citizen of the United States of America, the greatest country on Earth – the greatest experiment. Just as they were, imagine yourself at that moment. Can you even begin to imagine what it was like when the door closed behind you?

There were many people back then who realized the injustice of such a forced relocation, including a woman in my hometown we knew as Mrs. Boyd. Esther Short Boyd came from New York City in the early 1900s with her family. She was a businesswoman, a community leader, and a role model. She testified on behalf of the Japanese before the U.S. House Investigating Committee. "It's a mistake and unnecessary to evacuate the Japanese farmers," Mrs. Boyd told them. The many Japanese that she knew were good citizens, hard-working, thrifty, and law abiding. She also said if they were evacuated, she judged it would take four White farmers to raise the amount of truck crops as one Japanese farmer. Japanese-Americans in the Yakima area entrusted their church, their altar, their possessions and their lands to her. A woman from my community. She took care of their properties... and when they returned, she gave the lands and the property back to them... just as they had left it. Others were not so fortunate. Many lost their farms, homes and property, coming back to nothing. N-O-T-H-I-N-G. Nothing!

Years later, the guilt weighed heavily on those involved in this injustice. Milton S. Eisenhower, the younger brother of President Eisenhower, was appointed to the board of directors responsible for the relocation project. He said: "How could such a tragedy have occurred in a democratic society that prides itself on individual rights and freedoms? I have brooded about this whole episode on and off for the past three decades."

Mr. Speaker, I am proud to live in a country of liberty and justice for all. It took 40 years, but eventually justice prevailed. Congress issued an apology to our Japanese-American citizens and approved reparations to those interned. Mary Tsukamoto said at that time "Only in a democracy can we correct mistakes. I am proud to be an American."

Mr. Speaker, as a woman from Eastern Washington, a citizen, a state representative, I'm proud to live in a nation of the free – a country of diverse cultures and beliefs. A nation where we can work together to correct the mistakes of the past and know as Ronald Reagan knew – our best days are ahead of us. Let us always remember the past that we will never repeat this history. Remember when good men and good women are silent, evil prevails. Let us vow to fight prejudice in all forms. Let us honor today all of our Japanese-American citizens – loyal to our nation just as you and I are - - for their sacrifice as true American citizens.

I commend and I request for your support of this resolution. Thank you!"
HOUSE RESOLUTION NO. 4688 was adopted.

Upon receipt of such request by the civil service commission, the transfer of employment shall be made. (The employee so transferring will (a) be on probation for the same period as are new employees of the city, code city, or town fire department in the position filled, but if the transferring employee has already completed a probationary period as the right prior to the transfer, then the employee may only be terminated during the probationary period for failure to adequately perform assigned duties, not meeting the minimum qualifications of the position, or behavior that would otherwise be subject to disciplinary action; (b) be eligible for promotion no later than after completion of the probationary period; (c) receive a salary at least equal to that of other new employees of the city, code city, or town fire department in the position filled, and (d) in all other matters, such as retirement, sick leave, and vacation, have, within the city, code city, or town civil service system, all the rights, benefits, and privileges to which he or she would have been entitled as a member of the city, code city, or town fire department from the beginning of employment with the fire protection district. All accrued benefits are transferable provided that the recipient agency provides comparable benefits. All benefits shall then accrue based on the combined seniority of each employee in the recipient agency.

(2) As many of the transferring employees shall be placed upon the payroll of the city, code city, or town fire department as the department determines are needed to provide service. These needed employees shall be taken in order of seniority and the remaining employees who transfer as provided in this section and RCW 35.13.215 and 35.13.235 shall head the list for employment in the civil service system in order of their seniority, to the end that they shall be the first to be reemployed in the city, code city, or town fire department when appropriate positions become available. PROVIDED, That employees who are not immediately hired by the city, code city, or town shall be placed on a reemployment list for a period of six months. Provided, however, that all reemployment offers are subject to the approval of its collective bargaining representatives. Transfers under this section shall be made in order of seniority.

(2) Upon transfer, unless an agreement for different terms of transfer is reached between the collective bargaining representatives of the transferring employees and the participating fire protection jurisdictions, an employee is entitled to the employee rights, benefits, and privileges to which he or she would have been entitled as an employee of the fire protection district, including rights to:

(a) Compensation at least equal to the level at the time of transfer;

Requiring the use of alternatives to lead wheel weights.

The bill was read the second time.

There being no objection, Substitute House Bill No. 2143 was substituted for House Bill No. 2143 and the substitute bill was placed on the second reading calendar.

SUBSTITUTE HOUSE BILL NO. 2143 was read the second time.

Representative Campbell moved the adoption of amendment (1164):

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

"NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. The legislature finds that:
(1) Lead hazards associated with lead wheel weights represent a preventable environmental health problem. Lead wheel weights fall off of vehicle wheels along Washington’s roadways and people are exposed to fragments and dust generated when lead wheel weights are abraded and pulverized by traffic. Lead wheel weights that come to be located on and alongside roadways can contribute to soil, surface, and groundwater contamination, and pose a hazard to downstream aquatic life.
(2) Lead negatively affects every system of the body. It is harmful to individuals of all ages and is especially harmful to children, fetuses, and adults of childbearing age. The effects of lead on a child’s cognitive, behavioral, and developmental abilities may necessitate large expenditures of public funds for health care and special education. The irreversible damage to children and subsequent expenditures could be avoided if exposure to lead is reduced.
(3) There are no federal regulatory controls governing the use of lead wheel weights. The legislature recognizes the state’s need to protect the public from exposure to lead hazards.
(4) This chapter is intended to work in concert with the persistent, bioaccumulative toxins rule, chapter 173-333 WAC, administered by the department. The rule describes a requirement for the department, in consultation with the department of health, to develop a multiyear schedule for the preparation of chemical action plans. The department anticipates completion of a chemical action plan for lead by June 2008. While the formal process for the chemical action plan moves forward, the legislature believes it is prudent to act in an accelerated manner on known and readily available opportunities to reduce the environmental health impacts of lead.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. The definitions in this section apply throughout this chapter unless the context clearly requires otherwise.
(1) "Department" means the department of ecology.
(2) "Environmentally preferred wheel weights" means wheel weights used for the purpose of balancing motor vehicle wheels that are listed by the department as approved alternatives for lead wheel weights and that have less of an impact on human health and the environment.
(3) "Lead wheel weight" means any externally affixed or attached wheel weight for the purpose of balancing motor vehicle wheels and composed of greater than 0.1 percent lead by weight.
(4) "Person" includes any individual, firm, association, partnership, corporation, governmental entity, organization, or joint venture.
(5) "Vehicle" means any motor vehicle registered in Washington with a wheel diameter less than 19.5 inches or a gross vehicle weight of 14,000 pounds or less.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. (1) The department shall establish an advisory committee, in consultation with the department of health, the traffic safety commission, and the department of general administration, to identify and make readily available to tire distributors, wholesalers, retailers, and auto manufacturers, by January 1, 2009, an approved list of environmentally preferred alternatives to lead wheel weights that are available for purchase.
(2) The approved list of environmentally preferred alternatives to lead wheel weights must be updated by the department every two years starting July 1, 2009.
(3) If an alternative is removed from the approved list of environmentally preferred alternatives, the tire distributors, retailers, and auto manufacturers will have two years to use existing stock and to phase in other listed alternatives.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4. Use of environmentally preferred alternative wheel weights is required at the time of the first tire replacement or the first tire balancing after:
(1) January 1, 2010, for all state-owned vehicles;
(2) January 1, 2011, for all used vehicles registered in Washington state; and
(3) January 1, 2012, for all new vehicles registered in Washington state.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 5. Lead wheel weights removed and collected by tire retailers and distributors shall be recycled.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 6. (1) Enforcement of this chapter shall rely on notification and information exchange between the department and tire distributors, wholesalers, retailers, and auto manufacturers. The department shall achieve compliance with this chapter using the following enforcement sequence:
(a) At least ninety days prior to the implementation dates for vehicles identified in section 4 of this act, the department shall prepare and distribute information to persons in the tire and wheel weight manufacturing, distribution, wholesale, retail, and auto manufacturing industries, to the maximum extent practicable, to assist them in identifying environmentally preferred alternative products for lead wheel weights.
(b) The department shall issue a warning letter to a person in the tire distribution, wholesale, retail, auto manufacturing, or associated industries that violates the requirements of this chapter.
(c) The department shall offer information or other appropriate assistance to the person in (b) of this subsection. If, after one year, compliance is not achieved, penalties may be assessed under subsection (2) of this section.
(2) Failure of a person that installs wheel weights to comply with this chapter is punishable by a civil penalty not to exceed five hundred dollars for each violation in the case of a first offense. Persons who are repeat violators are liable for a civil penalty not to Correct the title.

Representatives Bailey and Miloscia spoke in favor of the adoption of the amendment.

The amendment was adopted.

Representative Liias moved the adoption of amendment (1173):

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

"NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. The legislature finds that:
(1) Manufactured/mobile homes provide a significant source of homeownership opportunities for Washington state residents.
However, the increasing number of closures and conversions to other uses of manufactured housing communities and mobile home parks, combined with low vacancy rates in existing parks and communities and the extremely high cost of moving homes when these parks and communities close, make this type of affordable housing option increasingly insecure for the tenants who reside in these parks and communities.
(2) Many tenants who reside in these parks and communities are senior citizens or low-income households and are, therefore, the residents most in need of reasonable security or permanency in the siting of their home because of the adverse impacts on the health, safety, and welfare of tenants forced to move due to closure or conversion to another use of the manufactured housing community or mobile home park.
(3) Manufactured/mobile home tenants have a reasonable expectation of long-term security when they move their home into a community or park. Some tenants have been forced to relocate due to a closure or conversion soon after the tenant has moved into the community or park. The legislature finds that unless a park owner sells the park to resident homeowners or another entity with the purpose of preservation or justly compensates the homeowners for the loss of their homes, a minimum notification period of two years before the closure or conversion of a community or park is a reasonable balancing of the rights and interests of both community and park owners and the manufactured/mobile home owners.
(4) Given the effort and expense involved in moving a manufactured/mobile home and the imbalance of economic power in this type of landlord-tenant relationship, it is the intent of the legislature to provide an opportunity for manufactured/mobile home tenants to remain in manufactured housing communities and mobile home parks for at least two years.

Sec. 2. RCW 59.20.060 and 2006 c 296 s 2 are each amended to read as follows:
(1) Any mobile home space tenancy regardless of the term, shall be based upon a written rental agreement, signed by the parties, which shall contain:
(a) The terms for the payment of rent, including time and place, and any additional charges to be paid by the tenant. Additional charges that occur less frequently than monthly shall be itemized in a billing to the tenant;
(b) Reasonable rules for guest parking which shall be clearly stated;
(c) The rules and regulations of the park;
(d) The name and address of the person who is the landlord, and if such person does not reside in the state there shall also be designated by name and address a person who resides in the county where the mobile home park is located who is authorized to act as agent for the purposes of service of notices and process. If no designation is made of a person to act as agent, then the person to whom rental payments are to be made shall be considered the agent;
(e) The name and address of any party who has a secured interest in the mobile home, manufactured home, or park model;
(f) A forwarding address of the tenant or the name and address of a person who would likely know the whereabouts of the tenant in the event of an emergency or an abandonment of the mobile home, manufactured home, or park model;
(g) (i) A covenant by the landlord that, except for acts or events beyond the control of the landlord, the mobile home park will not be converted to a land use that will prevent the space that is the subject of the lease from continuing to be used for a period of three years after the beginning of the term of the rental agreement;

(ii) A rental agreement may, in the alternative, contain a statement that: "The park may be sold or otherwise transferred at any time with the result that subsequent owners may close the mobile home park, or that the landlord may close the park at any time after the required two-year closure notice as provided in RCW 59.20.080." The covenant or statement required by this subsection must: (A) Appear in print that is in bold face and is larger than the other text of the rental agreement; (B) be set off by means of a box, blank space, or comparable visual device; and (C) be located directly above the tenant's signature on the rental agreement((i));

(h) A copy of a closure notice, as required in RCW 59.20.080, if such notice is in effect

(i) The terms and conditions under which any deposit or portion thereof may be withheld by the landlord upon termination of the rental agreement if any moneys are paid to the landlord by the tenant as a deposit or as security for performance of the tenant's obligations in a rental agreement;

((h)) (i) A listing of the utilities, services, and facilities which will be available to the tenant during the tenancy and the nature of the fees, if any, to be charged;

((h)) (k) A description of the boundaries of a mobile home space sufficient to inform the tenant of the exact location of the tenant's space in relation to other tenants' spaces;

((h)) (l) A statement of the current zoning of the land on which the mobile home park is located; and

((h)) (m) A statement of the expiration date of any conditional use, temporary use, or other land use permit subject to a fixed expiration date that is necessary for the continued use of the land as a mobile home park.

(2) Any rental agreement executed between the landlord and tenant shall not contain any provision:

(a) Which allows the landlord to charge a fee for guest parking unless a violation of the rules for guest parking occurs: PROVIDED, That a fee may be charged for guest parking which covers an extended period of time as defined in the rental agreement;

(b) Which authorizes the towing or impounding of a vehicle except upon notice to the owner thereof or the tenant whose guest is the owner of the vehicle;

(c) Which allows the landlord to alter the due date for rent payment or increase the rent: (i) During the term of the rental agreement if the term is less than one year, or (ii) more frequently than annually if the term is for one year or more: PROVIDED, That a rental agreement may include an escalation clause for a pro rata share in the increase in the mobile home park's real property taxes or utility assessments or charges, over the base taxes or utility assessments or charges of the year in which the rental agreement took effect, if the clause also provides for a pro rata reduction in rent or other charges in the event of a reduction in real property taxes or utility assessments or charges, below the base year: PROVIDED FURTHER, That a rental agreement for a term exceeding one year may provide for annual increases in rent in specified amounts or by a formula specified in such agreement;

(d) By which the tenant agrees to waive or forego rights or remedies under this chapter;

(e) Allowing the landlord to charge an "exit fee" or an "exit fee". However, an entrance fee may be charged as part of a continuing care contract as defined in RCW 70.38.025;

(f) Which allows the landlord to charge a fee for guests: PROVIDED, That a landlord may establish rules charging for guests who remain on the premises for more than fifteen days in any sixty-day period;

(g) By which the tenant agrees to waive or forego homestead rights provided by chapter 6.13 RCW. This subsection shall not prohibit such waiver after a default in rent so long as such waiver is in writing signed by the husband and wife or by an unmarried claimant and in consideration of the landlord's agreement not to terminate the tenancy for a period of time specified in the waiver if the landlord would be otherwise entitled to terminate the tenancy under this chapter;

(h) By which, at the time the rental agreement is entered into, the landlord and tenant agree to the selection of a particular arbitrator.

Sec. 3. RCW 59.20.080 and 2003 c 127 s 4 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) A landlord shall not terminate or fail to renew a tenancy of a tenant or the occupancy of an occupant, of whatever duration except for one or more of the following reasons:

(a) Substantial violation, or repeated or periodic violations of the rules of the mobile home park as established by the landlord at the inception of the tenancy or as assumed subsequently with the consent of the tenant or for violation of the tenant's duties as provided in RCW 59.20.140. The tenant shall be given written notice to cease the rule violation immediately. The notice shall state that failure to cease the violation of the rule or any subsequent violation of that or any other rule shall result in termination of the tenancy, and that the tenant shall vacate the premises within fifteen days. PROVIDED, That for a periodic violation the notice shall also specify that repetition of the same violation shall result in termination: PROVIDED FURTHER, That in the case of a violation of a "material change" in park rules with respect to pets, tenants with minor children living with them, or recreational facilities, the tenant shall be given written notice under this chapter of a six month period in which to comply or vacate;

(b) Nonpayment of rent or other charges specified in the rental agreement, upon five days written notice to pay rent and/or other charges or to vacate;

(c) Conviction of the tenant of a crime, commission of which threatens the health, safety, or welfare of the other mobile home park tenants. The tenant shall be given written notice of a fifteen day period in which to vacate;

(d) Failure of the tenant to comply with local ordinances and state laws and regulations relating to mobile homes, manufactured homes, or park models or mobile home, manufactured homes, or park model living within a reasonable time after the tenant's receipt of notice of such noncompliance from the appropriate governmental agency;

(e) Change of land use of the mobile home park or manufactured housing community including, but not limited to, conversion to a use other than for mobile homes, manufactured homes, or park models or conversion of the mobile home park or manufactured housing community to a mobile home park cooperative or mobile home park subdivision: PROVIDED, That the landlord shall give the tenants ((twelve months)) two years' notice, which may be referred to as a closure notice meeting the requirements of RCW 59.21.030, in advance of the effective date of such change; except that for the period of six months following April 28, 1999, the landlord shall give the tenants eighteen months' notice in advance of the proposed effective date of such change; The two-year closure notice requirement does not apply if:

(i) The mobile home park or manufactured housing community, or part of the park or community, has been acquired or is under imminent threat of condemnation;

(ii) The mobile home park or manufactured housing community is sold to an organization comprised of park or community tenants, to a nonprofit organization, to a local government, or to a housing authority for the purpose of preserving the park or community;

(iii) The landlord compensates the tenants for the loss of their homes at their assessed value prior to a change of use or sale of the property; or

(iv) A tenant is an employee of the landlord;

(f) Engaging in "criminal activity." "Criminal activity" means a criminal act defined by statute or ordinance that threatens the health, safety, or welfare of the tenants. A park owner seeking to evict a tenant or occupant under this subsection need not produce evidence of a criminal conviction, even if the alleged misconduct constitutes a criminal offense. Notice from a law enforcement agency of criminal activity constitutes sufficient grounds, but not the only grounds, for an eviction under this subsection. Notification of the seizure of illegal drugs under RCW 59.20.155 is evidence of criminal activity and is grounds for an eviction under this subsection. The requirement that any tenant or occupant register as a sex offender under RCW 9A.44.130 is grounds for eviction under this subsection. If criminal activity is alleged to be a basis of termination, the park owner may proceed directly to an unlawful detainer action;
(g) The tenant's application for tenancy contained a material misstatement that induced the park owner to approve the tenant as a resident of the park, and the park owner discovers and acts upon the misstatement within one year of the time the resident began paying rent;

(h) If the landlord serves a tenant three fifteen-day notices within a twelve-month period to comply or vacate for failure to comply with the material terms of the rental agreement or park rules. The applicable twelve-month period shall commence on the date of the first violation;

(i) Failure of the tenant to comply with obligations imposed by an interview of the provisions of this section. The tenant shall vacate the premises immediately. The notice must state that failure to comply will result in termination of the tenancy and that the tenant shall vacate the premises within fifteen days;

(j) The tenant engages in disorderly or substantially annoying conduct upon the park premises that results in the destruction of the rights of others to the peaceful enjoyment and use of the premises. The landlord shall give the tenant written notice to cease the conduct that constitutes a nuisance immediately. The notice must state that failure to cease the conduct will result in termination of the tenancy and that the tenant shall vacate the premises in five days;

(k) Any other substantial just cause that materially affects the health, safety, and welfare of other park residents. The landlord shall give the tenant written notice to cease the conduct that constitutes a nuisance immediately. The notice must state that failure to cease the conduct will result in termination of the tenancy and that the tenant shall vacate the premises in five days;

(l) Any other substantial just cause that materially affects the health, safety, and welfare of other park residents. The landlord shall give the tenant written notice to cease the conduct that constitutes a nuisance immediately. The notice must state that failure to cease the conduct will result in termination of the tenancy and that the tenant shall vacate the premises in five days;

(m) Failure to pay rent by the due date provided for in the rental agreement three or more times in a twelve-month period, commencing with the date of the first violation, after service of a five-day notice to comply or vacate.

(2) Within five days of a notice of eviction as required by subsection (1)(a) of this section, the landlord and tenant shall submit any dispute to mediation. The parties may agree in writing to mediation by an independent third party or through industry mediation procedures. If the parties cannot agree, then mediation shall be through industry mediation procedures. A duty is imposed upon both parties to participate in the mediation process in good faith for a period of ten days for an eviction under subsection (1)(a) of this section. It is a defense to an eviction under subsection (1)(a) of this section that a landlord did not participate in the mediation process in good faith.

(3) Chapters 59.12 and 59.18 RCW govern the eviction of recreational vehicles, as defined in RCW 59.20.030, from mobile home parks. This chapter governs the eviction of mobile homes, manufactured homes, park models, and recreational vehicles used as a primary residence from a mobile home park.

Sec. 4. RCW 59.21.030 and 2006 c 296 s 1 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) The closure notice required by RCW 59.20.080 before park closure or conversion of the park(whether twelve months or longer) shall be given to the director and all tenants in writing, and posted at all park entrances. The closure notice required by RCW 59.20.080 must also meet the following requirements:

(a) A copy of the closure notice must be provided with all ((month-to-month)) rental agreements signed after the original park closure notice date as required under RCW 59.20.060;

(b) Notice to the director must include: (i) A good faith estimate of the timetable for removal of the mobile homes; (ii) the reason for closure; and (iii) a list of the names and mailing addresses of the current registered park tenants. Notice required under this subsection must be sent to the director within ten business days of the date notice was given to all tenants as required by RCW 59.20.080; and

(e) Notice must be recorded in the office of the county auditor for the county where the mobile home park is located.

(2) The department must mail every tenant an application and information on relocation assistance within ten business days of receipt of the notice required in subsection (1) of this section.

Sec. 5. RCW 59.20.073 and 2003 c 127 s 3 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) Any rental agreement shall be assignable by the tenant to any person to whom he or she sells or transfers title to the mobile home, manufactured home, or park model.

(2) A tenant who sells a mobile home, manufactured home, or park model within a park must provide the buyer with a copy of any closure notice provided by a landlord, as required under RCW 59.20.080, at least seven days in advance of the intended sale and transfer.

(3) A tenant who sells a mobile home, manufactured home, or park model within a park shall notify the landlord in writing of the date of the intended sale and transfer of the rental agreement at least fifteen days in advance of such intended transfer and shall notify the buyer in writing of the provisions of this section. The tenant shall verify in writing to the landlord payment of all taxes, rent, and reasonable expenses due on the mobile home, manufactured home, or park model and mobile home lot.

(4) The landlord shall notify the selling tenant, in writing, of a refusal to permit the transfer of the rental agreement at least seven days in advance of such intended transfer.

(5) The landlord may require the mobile home, manufactured home, or park model to meet applicable fire and safety standards if a state or local agency responsible for the enforcement of fire and safety standards has issued a notice of violation of those standards to the tenant and those violations remain uncorrected. Upon correction of the violation to the satisfaction of the state or local agency responsible for the enforcement of that notice of violation, the landlord's refusal to permit the transfer is deemed withdrawn.

(6) The landlord shall approve or disapprove of the assignment of a rental agreement on the same basis that the landlord approves or disapproves of any new tenant, and any disapproval shall be in writing. Consent to an assignment shall not be unreasonably withheld.

(7) Failure to ((notify the landlord in writing)) provide notice as required under subsection (2) or (3) of this section; or failure of the new tenant to make a good faith attempt to arrange an interview with the landlord to discuss assignment of the rental agreement; or failure of the current or new tenant to obtain written approval of the landlord for assignment of the rental agreement, shall be grounds for disapproval of such transfer.

Sec. 6. RCW 59.21.070 and 1995 c 122 s 10 are each amended to read as follows:

If the rental agreement includes a covenant by the landlord as described in RCW 59.20.060(1)(g)(i)((4)), the covenant runs with the land and is binding upon the purchasers, successors, and assigns of the landlord.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 7. This act is necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health, or safety, or support of the state government and its existing public institutions, and takes effect immediately."

(i) Shorelines designated as a high-intensity shoreline environment under the applicable master plan; or
(ii) Shorelines consistent with a high-intensity shoreline environment designation under the applicable master plan.

(b) For purposes of this section, a "restoration area" is an area that:
(i) Was created by a landward shift in the ordinary high water mark that resulted from a voluntary habitat restoration project; and

(ii) Was not subject to regulation under this chapter prior to the restoration project.

(i) The shift in shoreline jurisdiction resulting from the voluntary habitat restoration project causes hardship in the area within and adjacent to the restoration area. "Hardship" under this subsection means that a reasonable use of the property is precluded or significantly diminished in the area within and adjacent to the restoration area due to requirements of the applicable master program; and

(ii) The variance includes measures to ensure that allowable uses of the property under this section result in no net loss of shoreline ecological functions within the restoration area.

(b) Variances issued under this subsection (2):
(i) Must be limited to only the minimum approvals necessary to afford relief;
(ii) May not cause the public interest to suffer substantial detriment; and
(iii) Must be processed according to the same procedures used for other shoreline variances.

SECOND SUBSTITUTE HOUSE BILL NO. 2815 was read the second time.

Representative Upthegrove moved the adoption of amendment (1234):

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

"NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. (1) The legislature finds that Washington has long been a national and international leader on energy conservation and environmental stewardship, including air quality protection, renewable energy development and generation, emission standards for fossil-fuel based energy generation, energy efficiency programs, natural resource conservation, vehicle emission standards, and the use of biofuels. Washington is also unique among most states in that in addition to its commitment to reduce emissions of greenhouse gases, it has established goals to grow the clean energy sector and reduce the state's expenditures on imported fuels.

(2) The legislature further finds that Washington should continue its leadership on climate change policy by creating accountability for achieving the emission reductions established in section 3 of this act, participating in a regional multisector market-based system to help achieve those emission reductions, assessing other market strategies to reduce emissions of greenhouse gases, and ensuring the state has a well trained workforce for our clean energy future.

(3) It is the intent of the legislature that the state will: (a) Limit and reduce emissions of greenhouse gas consistent with the emission reductions established in section 3 of this act; (b) minimize the potential to export pollution, jobs, and economic opportunities; and (c) reduce emissions at the lowest cost to Washington's economy, consumers, and businesses.

(4) In the event the state elects to participate in a regional multisector market-based system, it is the intent of the legislature that the system will become effective by January 1, 2012, after authority is provided to the department for its implementation. By acting now, Washington businesses and citizens will have adequate time and opportunities to be well positioned to take advantage of the low-carbon economy and to make necessary investments in low-carbon technology.

(5) It is also the intent of the legislature that the regional multisector market-based system recognize Washington's unique emissions portfolio, including the state's hydroelectric system, the opportunities presented by Washington's abundant forest resources and agriculture land, and the state's leadership in energy efficiency and the actions it has already taken that have reduced its generation of greenhouse gas emissions and that entities receive appropriate credit for early actions to reduce greenhouse gases.

(6) If the state pursues an alternative market system using direct price signals, it is the intent of the legislature that the system preserve Washington's existing competitive advantages, recognize the state's unique emissions portfolio, and acknowledge the actions the state has already taken to reduce its generation of emissions of greenhouse gases.

(7) If any revenues that accrue to the state are created by a market system, they must be used to further the state's efforts to achieve the goals established in section 3 of this act, address the impacts of global warming on affected habitats, species, and communities, and increase investment in the clean energy economy particularly for communities and workers that have suffered from heavy job losses and chronic unemployment and underemployment.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. The definitions in this section apply throughout this chapter unless the context clearly requires otherwise.

(1) "Carbon dioxide equivalents" means a metric measure used to compare the emissions from various greenhouse gases based upon their global warming potential.

(2) "Climate advisory team" means the stakeholder group formed in response to executive order 07-02.

(3) "Climate impacts group" means the University of Washington's climate impacts group.

(4) "Department" means the department of ecology.

(5) "Direct emissions" means emissions of greenhouse gases from sources of emissions, including stationary combustion sources, mobile combustion emissions, process emissions, and fugitive emissions.

(6) "Director" means the director of the department.

(7) "Greenhouse gas" and "greenhouse gases" includes carbon dioxide, methane, nitrous oxide, hydrofluorocarbons, perfluorocarbons, and sulfur hexafluoride.

(8) "Indirect emissions" means emissions of greenhouse gases associated with the purchase of electricity, heating, cooling, or steam.

(9) "Person" means an individual, partnership, franchise holder, association, corporation, a state, a city, a county, or any subdivision or instrumentality of the state.

(10) "Program" means the department's climate change program.

(11) "Total emissions of greenhouse gases" means all direct emissions and all indirect emissions."
(12) "Western climate initiative" means the collaboration of states, Canadian provinces, Mexican states, and tribes to design a multisector market-based mechanism as directed under the western regional climate action initiative signed by the governor on February 22, 2007.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. (1)(a) The department shall use its existing statutory authority and any additional authority granted by the legislature to limit emissions of greenhouse gases to achieve the following emission reductions for Washington state:
   (i) By 2020, reduce overall emissions of greenhouse gases in the state to 1990 levels;
   (ii) By 2035, reduce overall emissions of greenhouse gases in the state to twenty-five percent below 1990 levels;
   (iii) By 2050, the state will do its part to reach global climate stabilization levels by reducing overall emissions to fifty percent below 1990 levels, or seventy percent below the state's expected emissions that year.
   (b) Consistent with this directive, the department shall take the following actions:
      (i) Develop and implement a system for monitoring and reporting emissions of greenhouse gases as required under RCW 70.94.151; and
      (ii) Track progress toward meeting the emission reductions established in this subsection, including the results from policies currently in effect that have been previously adopted by the state and policies adopted in the future, and report on that progress.
   (2) By December 31st of each even-numbered year beginning in 2010, the department and the department of community, trade, and economic development shall report to the governor and the appropriate committees of the senate and house of representatives the total emissions of greenhouse gases for the preceding two years, and totals in each major source sector. The department shall ensure the reporting rules adopted under RCW 70.94.151 allow it to develop a comprehensive inventory of emissions of greenhouse gases from all significant sectors of the Washington economy.
   (3) Except for purposes of reporting, emissions of carbon dioxide from industrial combustion of biomass in the form of fuel wood, wood waste, wood byproducts, and wood residuals shall not be considered a greenhouse gas as long as the region's silvicultural sequestration capacity is maintained or increased.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4. (1)(a) The director shall develop, in coordination with the western climate initiative, a design for a regional multisector market-based system to limit and reduce emissions of greenhouse gases consistent with the emission reductions established in section 3(1) of this act.
   (b) By December 1, 2008, the director and the director of the department of community, trade, and economic development shall deliver to the legislature specific recommendations for approval and request for authority to implement the preferred design of a regional multisector market-based system in (a) of this subsection. These recommendations must include:
      (i) Proposed legislation, necessary funding, and the schedule necessary to implement the preferred design by January 1, 2012;
      (ii) Any changes determined necessary to the reporting requirements established under RCW 70.94.151; and
      (iii) Actions that the state should take to prevent manipulation of the regional market-based system designed under this section.
   (2) In developing the design for the regional multisector market-based system under subsections (1) and (3) of this section, the department shall consult with the affected state agencies, and provide opportunity for public review and comment.
   (3) In addition to the requirements of section 3(1) of this act, the department and the department of revenue shall provide by December 1, 2008, a report to the legislature on the potential design and implementation of other strategies to achieve the greenhouse gas emissions reductions required in section 3 of this act. Strategies must include, but not be limited to, direct price signals that may be implemented in ways that are integrated with the program developed under section 3(1) of this act. The report shall address the point at which the direct price signal should be applied, how businesses and consumers would be affected, how strategies could be designed and implemented to maximize efficiency and simplicity, and how strategies using direct price signals could be implemented with a similar regional or national direct price signal should one be authorized.
   (4) In addition to the information required under subsection (1)(b) of this section, the director and the director of the department of community, trade, and economic development shall submit the following to the legislature by December 1, 2008:
      (a) Information on progress to date in achieving the requirements of this act;
      (b) The final recommendations of the climate advisory team, including recommended most promising actions to reduce emissions of greenhouse gases or otherwise respond to climate change. These recommendations must include strategies to reduce the quantity of emissions of greenhouse gases per distance traveled in the transportation sector;
      (c) A request for additional resources and statutory authority needed to limit and reduce emissions of greenhouse gas consistent with this act including implementation of the most promising recommendations of the climate advisory team;
      (d) Recommendations on how local governments could participate in the multisector market-based system designed under subsection (1) of this section;
      (e) Recommendations regarding the circumstances under which generation of electricity or alternative fuel from landfill gas and gas from anaerobic digesters may receive an offset or credit in the regional multisector market-based system or other strategies developed by the department; and
      (f) Recommendations developed in consultation with the department of natural resources and the department of agriculture with the climate advisory team and the college of forest resources at the University of Washington and a nonprofit consortium involved in research on renewable industrial materials, regarding how and agricultural lands and practices may participate voluntarily as an offset or other credit program in the regional multisector market-based system. The recommendations must ensure that the baseline for this offset or credit program does not disadvantage this state in relation to another state or states. These recommendations shall address:
         (i) Commercial and other working forests, including accounting for site-class specific forest management practices;
         (ii) Agricultural and forest products, including accounting for substitution of wood for fossil intensive substitutes;
         (iii) Agricultural land and practices;
         (iv) Forest and agricultural lands set aside or managed for conservation as of, or after, the effective date of this section; and
         (v) Reforestation and afforestation projects.

Sec. 5. RCW 70.94.151 and 2005 c 138 s 1 are each amended to read as follows:
(1) The board of any activated authority or the department, may classify air contaminant sources, by ordinance, resolution, rule or regulation, which in its judgment may cause or contribute to air pollution, according to levels and types of emissions and other characteristics which cause or contribute to air pollution, and may require registration or reporting or both for any such class or classes. Classifications made pursuant to this section may be for application to the area of jurisdiction of such authority, or the state as a whole or to any designated area within the jurisdiction, and shall be made with special reference to effects on health, economic and social factors, and physical effects on property.
(2) Except as provided in subsection (3) of this section, any person operating or responsible for the operation of air contaminant sources of any class for which the ordinances, resolutions, rules or regulations of the department or board of the authority, require registration (Sec. 4) or reporting shall register therewith and make reports containing information as may be required by such department or board concerning location, size and height of contaminant outlets, processes employed, nature of the contaminant emission and such other information as is relevant to air pollution and available or reasonably capable of being assembled. In the case of emissions of greenhouse gases as defined in section 2 of this act the department shall adopt rules requiring reporting of those emissions. The department or board may require that such registration or reporting be accompanied by a fee, and may determine the amount of such fee for such class or classes; PROVIDED, That the amount of the fee shall only be to compensate for the costs of administering such registration or reporting program which shall be defined as initial registration and annual or other periodic reports from the source owner providing information directly related to air pollution registration, on-site inspections necessary to verify compliance with registration requirements, data storage and retrieval systems necessary for support of the registration program, emission inventory reports and emission reduction credits computed from information provided by sources pursuant to registration program requirements, staff review, including engineering or other reliable analysis for accuracy and currentness, of information provided by sources pursuant to registration program requirements, clerical and other office support provided in direct furtherance of the registration program, and administrative support provided in directly carrying out the registration program: PROVIDED FURTHER, That any such registration made with either the board or the department shall preclude a further registration and reporting with any other board or the department, except that emissions of greenhouse gases as defined in section 2 of this act must be reported as required under subsection (5) of this section. All registration program and reporting fees collected by the department shall be deposited in the air pollution control account. All registration program fees collected by the local air authorities shall be deposited in their respective treasuries.
