The House was called to order at 12:00 Noon by Chief Clerk Barbara Baker.

The flags were escorted to the rostrum by the Washington State Patrol Color Guard. The National Anthem was sung by Sergeant Patti Lankford. The Chief Clerk led the Chamber in the Pledge of Allegiance. The prayer was offered by Rabbi Seth Goldstein, Temple Beth Hatfiloh, Olympia.

Rabbi Goldstein: Rabono Shel Olam Source of all Life, we ask for your blessing upon this assembly. These men and women assembled here have gathered to fulfill your sacred purpose of earth, to care for their fellow human beings, to do the work of the community, to pursue justice, righteousness and peace. The people of the State of Washington have entrusted the affairs of our state to their hands. May they be worthy of that trust, and may they find support and blessing in the light of your Presence so they can, together, build a better society for all of us.

For those new to this body, may the spirit of service which motivated you to pursue this office and brought you here to this hall continue to inspire you in the work ahead. May you adapt quickly to your duty, and flourish in your new role. May you be open to learn and to grow.

To those returning to this body, may you continue to ascend in wisdom as you recommit to the tasks at hand. May the experience gained from past service inform your work ahead, and may you share your knowledge with those around you. And may you be open to learn and to grow.

And as we gather, we remember those who are no longer with us. We call to mind Representative Bill Grant and Representative Steve Hailey. While they are no longer with us in body, may their dedication to public service continue to inspire us and animate our lives. May their memories be a blessing always.

To all assembled, may you have the strength to stand by your principles, and humility to bend and compromise when necessary. May you have the fortitude to face the many challenges which confront us, and the creativity to find solutions to them. May you have the clarity to recognize where brokenness exists in our world, and the vision to work to repair that brokenness.

Therefore, God, may it be your will that we never forget that we are all created in your image, deserving of respect, equality and honor and that we are commanded to love our fellow human beings as ourselves, both those like and different from us. May any hatred and enmity be replaced with love and fellowship, so that we may earn your blessing.

We offer our blessings and thanks for this ability to come together again in sacred service. As we begin a new journey of governance and leadership, we offer gratitude to You for giving us life, sustaining us and allowing us to reach this important occasion.

As we face the work ahead, may we remember and be inspired by the words of Your prophet Micah: He has told you, humanity, what is good, and what God requires of you: only to do justice, to love goodness, and to walk humbly with your God.

Amen."

The Chief Clerk requested that Representatives Probst and Priest escort Justice Charles Johnson of the Supreme Court of the State of Washington to the rostrum.

Once decided, no motion to postpone to a day certain, to commit, or to postpone indefinitely shall again be allowed on the same day and at the same stage of the proceedings. When a question has been postponed indefinitely, it shall not again be introduced during the session. The motion to postpone indefinitely may be made at any stage of the bill except when on first reading.

(D) MOTIONS DECIDED WITHOUT DEBATE. A motion to adjourn, to recess, to lay on the table and to call for the previous question shall be decided without debate.

All incidental motions shall be decided without debate, except that members may speak to points of order and appeal as provided in Rule 22.

A motion for suspension of the rules shall not be debatable except that the mover of the motion may briefly explain the purpose of the motion and one member may briefly state the opposition to the motion.

(E) MOTION TO ADJOURN. A motion to adjourn shall always be in order, except when the house is voting or is working under the call of the house; but this rule shall not authorize any member to move for adjournment when another member has the floor.

Rule 16. The methods by which a member may exercise his or her right to debate are as follows:

(A) RECOGNITION OF MEMBER. When any member desires to speak in debate or deliver any matter to the house, the member shall rise and respectfully address the speaker and pause until recognized.

(B) ORDER OF SPEAKING. When two or more members arise at once, the speaker shall name the one who is to speak.

(C) LIMITATION OF DEBATE. No member shall speak longer than ten (10) minutes without consent of the house: PROVIDED, That on and after the fifth day prior to the day of adjournment sine die of any session, as determined pursuant to Article II, Section 12 of the state Constitution or concurrent resolution, or on and after the third day prior to the day a bill must be reported from the house as established by concurrent resolution, no member shall speak more than three (3) minutes without the consent of the house. No member shall speak more than twice on the same question without leave of the house: PROVIDED, That the chair of the committee or the mover of the question may close debate if it is consistent with Rule 18 (Previous Question).

Rules of Debate

Rule 17. The rules for debate in the house are as follows:

(A) QUESTION OF PRIVILEGE. Any member may rise to a question of privilege and explain a personal matter, by leave of the speaker, but the member shall not discuss any pending question in such explanations.

(B) WITHDRAWAL OF MOTION, BILL, ETC. After a motion is stated by the speaker or a bill, memorial, resolution, petition, or remonstrance is read by the clerk, it shall be deemed to be in possession of the house, but may be withdrawn by consent of the house at any time before decision or amendment.

(C) READING OF A PAPER. When the reading of any paper is called for and is objected to by any member, it shall be determined by a vote of the house.

(D) DISTRIBUTION OF MATERIALS. Any materials of any nature distributed to the members' desks on the floor shall be subject to approval by the speaker and shall bear the name of at least one member granting permission for the distribution. This shall not apply to materials normally distributed by the chief clerk.

(E) ORDER OF QUESTIONS. All questions, whether in committee or in the house, shall be propounded in the order in which they are named except that in filling blanks, the largest sum and the longest time shall be put first.

(F) DIVISION OF POINTS OF DEBATE. Any member may call for a division of a question which shall be divided if it embraces subjects so distinct that one being taken away a substantive proposition shall remain for the decision of the house; but a motion to strike out and to insert shall not be divided. The rejection of a motion to strike out and to insert one proposition shall not prevent a motion to strike out and to insert a different proposition.

(G) DECORUM OF MEMBERS. While the speaker is putting the question, no member shall walk across or out of the house; nor when a member is speaking shall any member entertain private discourse or pass between the speaking member and the rostrum.

(H) REMARKS CONFINED. A member shall confine all remarks to the question under debate and avoid personalities. No member shall impugn the motive of any member's vote or argument.

(I) EXCEPTION TO WORDS SPOKEN IN DEBATE. If any member be called to order for words spoken in debate, the person calling the member to order shall repeat the words excepted to and they shall be taken down in writing at the clerk's table. No member shall be held in answer or be subject to the censure of the house for words spoken in debate if any other member has spoken before exception to them shall have been taken.

(J) TRANSGRESSION OF RULES - APPEAL. If any member, in speaking or otherwise, transgresses the rules of the house the speaker shall, or any member may, call the member to order, in which case the member so called to order shall immediately sit down unless permitted to explain; and the house shall, if appealed to, decide the case without debate; if there be no appeal, the decision of the chair shall prevail.

If the decision be in favor of the member called to order, the member shall be at liberty to proceed; if otherwise, the case shall require it, the member shall be liable to the censure of the house.

Ending of Debate - Previous Question

Rule 18. The previous question may be ordered by a two-thirds (2/3) vote of the members present on all recognized motions or amendments which are debatable.

The previous question is not debatable and cannot be amended.

The previous question shall be put in this form: "Representative ___________ demands the previous question. As many as are in favor of ordering the previous question will say 'Aye'; as many as are opposed will say 'No'."

The results of the motion are as follows: If determined in the negative, the consideration goes on as if the motion had never been made; if decided in the affirmative it shall have the effect of cutting off all debate and bringing the house to a direct vote upon the motion or amendment on which it has been ordered: PROVIDED HOWEVER, That when a bill is on final passage or when the motion to postpone indefinitely is pending, one of the sponsors of the bill or the chair of the committee may have the privilege of closing debate after the previous question has been ordered.

If an adjournment is had after the previous question is ordered, the motion or proposition on which the previous question was ordered shall be put to the house immediately following the approval of the journal on the next working day, thus making the main question privileged over all other business, whether new or unfinished.

Voting

Rule 19. (A) PUTTING OF QUESTION. The speaker shall put the question in the following form: "The question before the house is (state the question). As many as are in favor say 'Aye'; and after the affirmative vote is expressed, "as many as are opposed say 'No.'" (B) ALL MEMBERS TO VOTE. Every member who was in the house when the question was put shall vote unless, for special reasons, excused by the house.

All motions to excuse a member shall be made before the house divides or before the call for yeas and nays is commenced; and any member requesting to be excused from voting may make a brief and verbal statement of the reasons for making such request, and the question shall then be taken without further debate.

Upon a division and count of the house on the question, only members at their desks within the bar of the house shall be counted.

(C) CHANGE OF VOTE. When the electric roll call machine is used, no member shall be allowed to vote or change a vote after the speaker has locked the roll call machine. When an oral roll call is taken, no member shall be allowed to vote or change a vote after the result has been announced.

(D) PRIVATE INTEREST. No member shall vote on any question which affects that member privately and particularly. A member who has a private interest in any bill or measure proposed or pending before the legislature shall disclose the fact to the house of which he is a member, and shall not vote thereon. (Art. II § 30)

(E) INTERRUPTION OF ROLL CALL. Once begun, the roll call may not be interrupted. No member or other person shall visit or remain at the clerk's desk while the yeas and nays are being called.

(F) YEAS AND NAYS - RECORDED VOTES. Upon the final passage of any bill, the vote shall be taken by yeas and nays and shall be recorded by the electric voting system. PROVIDED, HOWEVER, That an oral roll call shall be ordered when demanded by one-sixth (1/6) of the members present. (Art. II § 21)

The speaker may vote last when the yeas and nays are called. When the vote is by electric voting machine or by oral roll call on any question, it shall be entered upon the journal of the house. A recorded vote may be compelled by one-sixth (1/6) of the members present. A request for a recorded vote must be made before the vote is commenced.

(G) TIE VOTE, QUESTION LOSES. In case of an equal division, the question shall be lost.

(H) DIVISION. If the speaker is in doubt, or if division is called for by any member, the house shall divide.

Reconsideration

Rule 20. Notice of a motion for reconsideration on the final passage of bills shall be made on the day the vote to be reconsidered was taken and before the house has voted to transmit the bill to the senate.

Reconsideration of the votes on the final passage of bills must be taken on the next working day after such vote was taken: PROVIDED, That on and after the fifth day prior to the day of adjournment sine die of any session, as determined pursuant to Article II, Section 12 of the state Constitution, or concurrent resolution, or on and after the third day prior to the day a bill must be reported from the house as established by concurrent resolution, then reconsideration of votes on the final passage of bills must be taken on the same day as the original vote was taken.

A motion to reconsider an amendment may be made at any time the bill remains on second reading.

Any member who voted on the prevailing side may move for reconsideration or give notice thereof.

A motion to reconsider can be decided only once when decided in the negative.

When a motion to reconsider has been carried, its effect shall be to place the original question before the house in the exact position it occupied before it was voted upon.

Call of the House

Rule 21. One-sixth (1/6) of the members present may demand a call of the house at any time before the house has divided or the voting has commenced by yeas and nays.

(A) DOORS TO BE CLOSED. When call of the house has been ordered, the sergeant at arms shall close and lock the doors, and no member shall be allowed to leave the chamber: PROVIDED, That the rules committee shall be allowed to meet, upon request of the speaker, while the house stands at ease: AND PROVIDED FURTHER, That the speaker may permit members to use such portions of the fourth floor as may be properly secured.

(B) SERGEANT AT ARMS TO BRING IN THE ABSENTEES. The clerk shall immediately call a roll of the members and note the absentees, whose names shall be read and entered upon the journal in such manner as to show who are excused and who are absent without leave.

The clerk shall furnish the sergeant at arms with a list of those who are absent without leave, and the sergeant at arms shall proceed to bring in such absentees; but arrests of members for absence shall not be made unless ordered by a majority of the members present.

(C) HOUSE UNDER CALL. While the house is under a call, no business shall be transacted except to receive and act on the report of the sergeant at arms; and no other motion shall be in order except a motion to proceed with business under the call of the house, a motion to excuse absentees, or a motion to dispense with the call of the house. The motion to proceed with business under the call of the house and the motion to excuse absent members shall not be adopted unless a majority of the members elected vote in favor thereof. The motion to dispense with the call of the house may be adopted by a majority of the members present.

Appeal from Decision of Chair

Rule 22. The decision of the chair may be appealed from by any member, on which appeal no member shall speak more than once unless by leave of the house. In all cases of appeal, the question shall be: "Shall the decision of the chair stand as the judgment of the house?"

Standing Committees

Rule 23. The standing committees of the house and the number of members that shall serve on each committee shall be as follows:

All public hearings held by committees shall be scheduled at least five (5) days in advance and shall be given adequate publicity. PROVIDED, That when less than eight (8) days remain for action on a bill, the Speaker may authorize a reduction of the five-day notice period when required by the circumstances, including but not limited to the time remaining for action on the bill, the nature of the subject, and the number of prior hearings on the subject.

(B) COMMITTEE QUORUM. A majority of any committee shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business.

(C) SESSION MEETINGS. No committee shall sit while the house is in session without special leave of the speaker.

(D) DUTIES OF STANDING COMMITTEES.

(1) Only such bills as are included on the written notice of a committee meeting may be considered at that meeting except upon the vote of a majority of the entire membership of the committee to consider another bill.

(2) A majority recommendation of a committee must be signed by a majority of the entire membership of the committee in a regularly called meeting before a bill, memorial, or resolution may be reported out: PROVIDED, That by motion under the eighth order of business, a majority of the members elected to the house may relieve a committee of a bill and place it on the second reading calendar.

Majority recommendations of a committee can only be "do pass," "do pass as amended," or that "the substitute bill be substituted therefor and that the substitute bill do pass."

(3) Members of the committee not concurring in the majority report may prepare a written minority report containing a recommendation of "do not pass" or "without recommendation," which shall be signed by those members of the committee subscribing thereto, and submitted with the majority report.

(4) All committee reports shall be spread upon the journal. The journal of the house shall contain an exact copy of all committee reports, together with the names of the members signing such reports.

(5) Every vote to report a bill out of committee shall be taken by yeas and nays, and the names of the members voting for and against, as well as the names of members absent, shall be recorded on the committee report. Any member may call for a recorded vote, which shall include the names of absent members, on any substantive question before the committee. A copy of all recorded committee votes shall be kept by the chief clerk and shall be available for public inspection.

(6) All bills having a direct appropriation shall be referred to the appropriate fiscal committee before their final passage. ((For purposes of this subsection, fiscal committee means the appropriations, capital budget, finance, and transportation committees))

(7) No standing committee shall vote by secret written ballot on any issue.

(8) During its consideration of or vote on any bill, resolution, or memorial, the deliberation of any standing committee of the house of representatives shall be open to the public.

(9) A standing committee to which a bill was originally referred shall, prior to voting the bill out of committee, consider whether the bill authorizes rule-making powers or requires the exercise of rule-making powers and, if so, consider:

(a) The nature of the new rule-making powers; and

(b) To which agencies the new rule-making powers would be delegated and which agencies, if any, may have related rule-making powers.

Standing Committees - Expenses - Subpoena Power

Rule 25. Regardless of whether the legislature is in session, members of the house may receive from moneys appropriated for the legislature, reimbursement for necessary travel expenses, and payments in lieu of subsistence and lodging for conducting official business of the house.

The standing committees of the house may have the powers of subpoena, the power to administer oaths, and the power to issue commissions for the examination of witnesses in accordance with the provisions of chapter 44.16 RCW. Before a standing committee of the house may issue any process, the committee chairperson shall submit for approval of the executive rules committee a statement of purpose setting forth the name or names of those subject to process. The process shall not be issued prior to approval by the executive rules committee. The process shall be limited to the named individuals.

Vetoed Bills

Rule 26. Veto messages of the governor shall be read in the house and entered upon the journal. It shall then be in order to proceed to reconsider the bill, refer it, lay it on the table, or postpone its consideration to a day certain.

The merits of the bill may be debated before the vote is taken, but the vote on a vetoed bill cannot be reconsidered.

In case of a bill containing several sections or items, one or more of which has been objected to by the governor, each section or item so objected to shall be voted upon separately by the house. Action by the house upon all vetoed bills shall be endorsed upon the bill and certified by the speaker.

Vetoed bills originating in the house, which have not been passed notwithstanding the veto of the governor, shall remain in the custody of the officers of the house until the close of the term, after which they shall be filed with the secretary of state.

Any member convicted of a felony and sentenced therefor under any federal law or the law of any other state shall, as of the time of sentencing, be similarly denied such salary, per diem, expenses, facilities, and assistance if either (a) such crime would also constitute a crime punishable under the laws of Washington by death or by imprisonment in a state penal institution, or (b) the conduct resulting in the conviction and sentencing would also constitute a crime punishable under the laws of Washington by death or by imprisonment in a state penal institution.
(2) At any time, the house may vote by a constitutional majority to restore the salary, per diem, expenses, facilities, and assistance denied a member under subsection (1). If the conviction of a member is reversed, then the salary, per diem, and expense amounts denied the member since sentencing shall be forthwith paid, and the member shall thereafter have the rights and privileges of other members.

HOUSE RESOLUTION NO. 4600 was adopted.

ELECTION OF THE SPEAKER

Representative Cody: "Thank you, Madam Chief Clerk. I would like to place the name of Frank Vana Chopp in nomination for Speaker of the House.

Well, as all of you know we all know and love Frank. We've all heard and have discussed his many virtues for many years. So it is hard for me to actually expound on that. So I decided this time instead of really trying to tell everybody about how he takes care of the poor and all of the good things he has done and work on children's health, that this time I would come up with the top ten reasons for why Frank Chopp so be re-elected Speaker of the House.

With apologies to David Letterman and his writers:

Number ten: He tries to make sure that everyone has a title.
Number nine: Who else would shave his moustache for a good cause even though our caucus won the bet?
Number eight: He has already created every committee he has come up with.
Number seven: He needs to clear the name of the Croatian politicians everywhere.
Number six: After ten years on the job, he is finally getting it down.
Number five: He roasts a mean lamb.
Number four: We will all be able to say 'we've served with the longest serving speaker in the history of Washington State.
Number three: Who else would cry when you give him a trip to Spain?
Number two: It's the only way we will get another lesson in Croatian folk dancing.

And the number one reason Frank Chopp should be re-elected speaker — after fourteen years he still hasn't passed a bill.

I urge your support. Thank you."

SPEAKER'S REMARKS

Mr. Speaker: "Welcome to the People's House. Thank you Eileen, for your nomination. And thank all of you for the opportunity to serve as your Speaker.

Doing the people's business requires a constructive dialogue between representatives of both parties, as well as with the Senate and the Governor. We need the creativity and perspective of all House members. So please join me in recognizing our Republican Leader, Richard DeBoit.

I also want to thank our Majority Leader, Lynn Kessler, for her leadership.

All of us here -- ready to serve -- thanks to the support and sacrifices of our families. I would like to recognize my wife, Nancy Long. Nancy helps me keep the long view when daily pressures start to crowd out that perspective. You have many family members here today, and more watching at home. Please rise to honor them and thank them for their support.

With the recent passing of two members of our legislative family, Representatives Steve Hailey and Bill Grant, these are sad days for us. Please join me in a moment of silence to remember Representative Steve Hailey, who served his country, his community, and our state with honor. Thank you.

I want to take a few minutes to talk about our Democratic Caucus Chair, Bill Grant. As he was for many of you, Bill was my friend, and my mentor. He was the only person outside of my immediate family who could call me Frankie. I am sure he called me some other things too, but I won't repeat them here. I was Frankie to him and he was Uncle Bill to so many of us. He was wise and generous. He was fun… and he was funny. He loved the legislature.
Bill Grant never forgot what the word Representative really means. He worked tirelessly for his district. As a wheat farmer, he made sure that we understood the importance of agriculture to everyone in Washington State. To Bill, agriculture meant the food on our table, tough but good jobs, and pride. His love of the land and the Walla Walla community brought him to Olympia, where his knowledge and straight-forward style built understanding about the importance of agriculture to our state.

Ten years ago, we were considering suggestions that would summarize our philosophy and agenda. When we went down the list and came to the words “One Washington,” Bill said, “that’s it!” And that was that. Since then, we have been working to give life to that philosophy: to look at the needs all across the state, work to unify our people, and to move everyone in Washington forward! With Bill gone, we will all need to work harder to truly see the needs of our communities, and to move everyone forward together! Please take a moment of silence to remember Bill Grant.

As we begin our work this session, I am heartened to see a new approach emerging in our nation’s capital. During the campaign, President-elect Obama spoke of “One Nation”. We have great hope for a partnership with the other Washington! We are One Washington! And we are…One Nation! We have to be very careful this year, not to tell a budget problem into our vision and values.

Thurmond said: “In the long run, men hit only what they aim at.” We can choose to react to this economic downturn by shrinking our hopes for our state, or we can keep our eyes on the horizon and direct our attention and resources to what is truly important. There is no doubt that these are difficult times for many families. To get through these troubled times, it is best to have a clear vision of the future.

This year, I have seen glimpses of that future as I have travelled all across our state. We can see the future in the investments we have already made:

- In the classrooms of the community college in Walla Walla
- In the improving test scores of our students
- In affordable nonprofit housing for working families in Spokane
- In the new nonprofit transit station in Burien

We can continue to make these investments by creating jobs today and better communities for tomorrow.

We can see our future in the processing plant that I visited in Wenatchee, where highly sophisticated technology helps to sort and crate the best apples in the world. At that plant, the manager told me that one of his priorities is housing for farmworkers.

We can respond to this and other needs of our agricultural communities. We see a promising future for our state in the U.S. News and World Report naming Washington as the best state to start a business and the state with the most productive workers in the nation. That is why we will act on an economic stimulus program, creating jobs now that have lasting benefits for years to come.

We can see our future in the improving test scores of our students, in the revitalized downtown and new transit station in Burien, in the towers for new wind turbines -- part of the first wave of green jobs.

We learn this lesson many times over: good stewardship of our environment is good for communities and for business. That is why we will continue our Evergreen Agenda to enhance our environment and our economy.

We see a better future in the commitment of citizen activists across the state, advocating populist and progressive reforms. By taking action on these reforms, and by utilizing our new Audit Review and Oversight Committee, we will encourage the contributions of other citizens, for ideas that will help us use state resources more efficiently.

We can see our future in the faces of the 5th graders in Tacoma who are being taught about civic involvement through their efforts to create the Zina Linnick Park, next to their school.

Despite our budget limitations, we must remember: the most effective investment in our economy is the education of our people, beginning with Head Start and extending to Opportunity Grants. Basic education is both a constitutional imperative and a popular mandate. Let us re-dedicate ourselves to funding the fundamentals of education, and supporting quality teaching, inspiring students, and involving parents and communities.

I have seen our future in the eyes of the children in Yakima, who are among the hundreds of thousands of children enrolled in our Apple Health program. Values are what guide us when we have to make difficult decisions and we will keep our promise that all our children will have health care.

In the next 105 days we will pour over thousands of line items in the state budget. But the budget is not just a financial book of numbers. Behind the acronyms in the budget, there are real people, facing a real struggle for survival. So, we must ensure the survival of our state’s safety net. As we build our future, we also remember our past.

This past week, I’ve asked myself: if Bill Grant were with us today, what would he say? He would probably say: ‘Listen to people all across the state. Remember: One Washington!’ …… and then he would say…‘Ah… enough words. Let’s go run some bills!’

So, let’s get to work! Thank you very much!”

POINT OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Representative DeBolt: "Thank you, Mr. Speaker. It is with real respect that I rise today for this institution and for you, Mr. Speaker as we head into this session.

I want to say that our family did shrink by two members this year. And I don't think that everyone understands the bond that we share as legislators. We see the things on which we disagree all the time. We read about them in the papers but the eighty or ninety percent of things that we do agree upon pass by quietly. We had two legislators that helped us with that process who showed courage. They were always willing to work with each other. And it was a great opportunity to serve with them. We will miss them dearly in our family.

And it is also, Mr. Speaker, an opportunity now for us to think about redefining ‘One Washington’. What does ‘One Washington’ mean? We need to solve the big problem that we are facing together. There is no time to point blame for the past on how we got to this situation we are in today. Whether you like it or not, we are facing a huge budget crisis. There are ideas on this side of the aisle that can help solve those problems, Mr. Speaker. And we would like to be a part of the solution.

Normally, as we go through this process, we have some ceremonies in here. One of them normally is that the minority nominates a speaker. This year we didn't do that, Mr. Speaker. I didn't have the votes anyway but that's okay. But the main reason was because this year we can't afford the games and the partisanship. Our problems are too big. We have problems that we have to solve. We have to get them done. And as we solve these problems we have to think of the people back home, the taxpayers and what they are going through and how they are struggling. Every time we pass a bill this year we should think of the implication it has on them. Sometimes ideals are fantastic but sometimes real solutions are necessary. This is a session of real solutions, Mr. Speaker. We have to dig deep: we have to think about the economy; we have to think about the promises we make because if we promise people something and we can't deliver it, it makes them even more disenfranchised today than they ever were. We cannot afford in our nation today to disenfranchise any more people. We have done that. We can't do that anymore. So as I see this great opportunity for change and with our new nation evolving in a new direction, it gives us in Washington an opportunity to evolve in a new direction too. And we are looking forward to the challenge ahead of us this year. We will provide input.

We will work with you diligently. We have our commitment to solve a problem that we are really extremely concerned about.

Thank you very much, Mr. Speaker.”

ELECTION OF SPEAKER PRO TEMPORE

Representative Qualt: "Thank you, Mr. Speaker. It is my pleasure to nominate my colleague, my seatmate and my friend, Representative Jeff Morris for Speaker Pro Tempore. I think we learned last year that Representative Morris has the capacity of being very fair, to be knowledgeable and to have an enormous amount of concentration. That's what impresses my wife. And Representative Morris has great respect for the institution.

Since Representative Morris was elected twelve years ago, he has demonstrated his leadership in this body over and again – as a floor leader, as the chairman of the Finance Committee and also the chairman of the Energy Committee.

Representative Morris is not only respected in this institution in this State, he is actually respected regionally and internationally. Jeff was the chair of the Pacific Northwest Economic Organization which includes the Western States and Canada. The person who helped form that organization, a senator from this State told me one time that Representative Morris has done more to advance the cause of PNWER than any man in history.

Also Representative Morris was the president of the Council of State Government - West, these are thirteen western States – I saw him operate in that capacity. I was blown away. He was better than I thought he was.

Getting back to that fairness issue, I need to point out that he did gavel me down one time last year.

But finally we realize that there is going to be a lot of tense debate this year on the floor. And I can think of no better person than Representative Morris, who has that cool hand and has the capability of directing the discussion on this floor. So it is with great pride that I stand here today to nominate my friend for Speaker Pro Tempore."

SPEAKER PRO TEMPORE’S REMARKS

Speaker Pro Tempore Morris: ‘I want to ask you all to smile for a second. Say ‘economic recovery’. Thank you very much. We are going to be blogging from the rostrum this session and that will be the first photo I’m going to publish online is of all of you looking at us up here.

I want to thank you very much for your vote to be your Speaker Pro Tempore. I want to thank my children, Miranda, Trevor, Madison and Fira for understanding my wanting to serve the public by being down here in Olympia and away from them. I would also like to thank my wife Jenny for trying to understand American politics. And I particularly want to thank TVW for providing closed captioning so our hearing impaired can also join her in trying to understand it as well.

Together we have a daunting 105-day journey that lays before us. The days will be long and the decisions will be hard. Here on this floor, we’ll decide what support Washington State government gives our people in their pursuit of happiness – the education our children shall have, the roots to conduct commerce, the minimum amount of health care we shall have, the cost to stay warm and dry, the basic safety of our homes and the quality of the environment in which our citizens will pursue their ambitions. Our ideas will be many on these subjects and our ideas will differ. Many times we will have strong feelings on why we should pursue these ideals in different ways. As one of your presiding officers, it is my duty to ensure that those differences are expressed in ways that promote discussion and discourse on this floor. Comments that direct us away from that goal will be out of order. My commitment to you is that I will be impartial and equal enforcing the rules of the House. When your passions stray away from the decorum of this institution, I will point out in what way that happened and ask that you return to promoting debate on this floor.

Having grown up on an island in the San Juan Islands, I learned quite young that you can have vigorous disagreements with your neighbors but that you do indeed have to live next to each other the next day. The Pig War might be the best example of that principle gone wrong. Tired of a marauding British pig, an American decided to shoot the pig. Tensions rose, frigates and brigades were dispatched, and forts were built all because they didn’t want to live next to each other the next day. In the end, instead of the third American-British war, Kaiser Wilhelm determined that San Juan Island should belong to the United States and the British were asked to leave.

At a lunch this past December with some of our incoming legislators, I shared my view – that being in the Legislature is a lot like our Thanksgiving, a day when a lot of extended family come together and not all those family members are people that we necessarily chose to be with. That day you see people that have formed the character of who you are today and you also see some people that you don’t want to be in the same room along with for very long. Thanksgiving is that day where all our extended family drama, mourning, celebrations and tensions of life are lived together. Session is a 105-day Thanksgiving of sorts. We ask to be here; we didn’t realize it was a packaged deal when we signed up.

As noted by the Speaker, this session has already started with much mutual mourning as we have lost members who have made us better people by just knowing them. An individual who mentored me also passed away in the last few weeks. His name was Andy Anderson. Andy received respect and admiration in two different professions. I watched him growing up as an anchor on KVOS TV in Bellingham. But I met him when he interviewed me for an internship on the staff of Congressman Al Swift. I would not be here today had Andy not picked this puppies out of a pack of puppy at the pound. Even at remembrances last Saturday, he left something that I want to share with you. He was a fan of William O. Douglas and I want to leave you with this passage from Douglas that was shared with us.

'I am reminded of many canoe trips I have taken in my lifetime. Those that start down a water course may be strangers at the beginning but almost friends at the end. There were strong head winds to overcome, and there were rainy as well as sun drenched days to travel. The portages were long and many and some were very strenuous but there was always a pleasant camp and a stand of white birchbark and water concerts held at night to the music of the loons. Inevitably, there came that last campfire, the last breakfast over last night's fire and the parting was always sad. And yet in fact there was no parting because in each happy memory of the choice parts of the journey and of the end of journey was a harmonious unified effort filled with fulfilling and beautiful hours as well as dull and dreary ones. The greatest journey I've made has been with you, my brethren who were strangers at the start but warm and fast friends at the end.' Thank you."

ELECTION OF DEPUTY SPEAKER PRO TEMPORE

Representative Williams: "I nominate Jim Moeller for the office of Deputy Speaker Pro Tempore, Mr. Speaker.

It was a year ago that we lost to the Office of Snohomish County Sheriff an iron man so inexhaustible in his assistance to you, Mr. Speaker that we actually replaced his role with two people. I cannot think of any better person to serve in the capacity of Deputy Speaker Pro Tempore than my friend Jim Moeller – the pride of America’s Vancouver; the senior representative from the 49th District; someone who conducts himself and this body with dignity and grace; truly deserves to have the "honorable" prefacing his name; as active today in his home community of Vancouver as he was when he was a Vancouver city council member; a real progressive social conscience and a leader on a great many issues including veterans' affairs. Mr. Speaker, it is with considerable pride that I nominate Jim Moeller."

OATH OF OFFICE

DEPUTY SPEAKER PRO TEMPORE'S REMARKS
Deputy Speaker Pro Tempore Moeller: "Thank you. Before I get started I would like to thank my family who was not able to join me today. My mom is watching from America's Vancouver -- hi, Mom. I was going to bring my notes up here in a big three ring binder but I didn't want to scare everybody.

President Truman is a fan of mine -- I mean I am a fan of President Truman; I'm starting this off really well. Actually he pointed out that if Moses had taken a poll he would probably still be sitting by the waters of Egypt. In other words, there are times to lead, and times to let others lead. And my fellow members of the House, this is the time to lead.

I am privileged today to be among you and to be chosen by you for this important office. I thank all of you for your support and your confidence in me. This office would be high honor on its own but because of you, the members of the House, this office is very special.

Many of you here have actually distinguished yourself in leadership of a profession, in business, in the fine arts and science and teaching, as well as in public office and other offices. Some of you have already made history in this House. This is not a regular time. All by itself and even before we begin, this session is already historic. Whether you were looking for it or not, everyone here just found their way in to the history and lore of this State. The only question before us is what type of memory will that be and how will it be made. I know that this session can be and will be and already is a new one for the House and this is the time to lead.

Just a few moments ago, we walked into this great assembly from different doors, from different caucuses, from different parts of the State, from different parties, from the right and from the left, from urban and from rural. But now we walk here together linked forever for what we do and what we do not do. We already have enough common ground to get the job done. Everybody here can name at least ten businesses once bedrocks of the community we represent that have fallen or are teetering. We can name a hundred families and probably many more that know unemployment, income loss, foreclosure or worst.

Everyone here without exception to region has heard from our constituents you never thought who would need our help. Families, businesses, cities, school districts, community colleges, hospitals, you name it, the problems are everywhere except this time we are all hurting from the same crisis.

It is in that spirit that I pledge to work for everyone in this House just as hard as everyone in the House works for the people of this State. In my work with you I will not forget that the people, this State and this Nation come before all things. These may not be the easiest 105 days of our lives but I think they can turn out to be our best.

God bless you and may God bless this honorable House. Thank you."

ELECTION OF CHIEF CLERK
Representative Simpson: "Thank you, Mr. Speaker. I rise to place the name of Barbara Baker in nomination for Chief Clerk of the Washington State House of Representatives.

There are a lot of new freshman on the floor today and they are probably wondering what does the Chief Clerk of the State House of Representatives do. So all I can tell you is that I'm not really sure what she does. I've been here eight years and so I looked it up this morning. I looked at the Washington State Constitution and it is nowhere to be found in there. It is not in the Washington State Constitution. It is in the rules that we adopted earlier. The Chief Clerk's roles and responsibilities – there are a lot of them there.

You'll see Barbara and her colleagues pushing papers up there all session long and it says in the Rules that nobody will attach an amendment to a bill unless it is first drawn up in the proper manner and presented to the Chief Clerk. It has lots of flowery words in there. And actually one time I got summoned to the Chief Clerk's Office because somebody in the other party thought I'd done something wrong in a committee – I know Maureen, my legislative Walsh, that's shocking. The Chief Clerk wanted me to apologize. But it is not really important to me what the Chief Clerk does. I think that we have all seen what Barbara Baker is capable of doing and this place runs smoothly because of her. And if you want you can go home and read the rules of the House which apparently eight years later I've never done and figure out exactly what she is supposed to do but what matters to me is how she does it. I think we have all been witness to the fact that Barbara Baker has been a Chief Clerk that has held a certain set of values that we all find to be valuable in a Chief Clerk and those are honesty, compassion, fairness, integrity, respect for this institution, respect for other people and the people she works with, the people who work for her, wisdom and spirit of service and humility.

Like I said, it doesn't matter to me so much the nuts and bolts of what she does. I really think the world of her values. I hope you will join me today in electing Barbara Baker the Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives."

Representative Hinkle: "Thank you, Mr. Speaker. I rise in support of the nomination of Barbara Baker for Chief Clerk. I've actually watched what she does since I've been here for six years. She reminds me of this guy I played football with in high school. He was like one of those utility players. This guy could do anything. He was a flanker normally and he played middle linebacker and if we needed somebody to play wide receiver, he could do that. I watched him come into the lineman's drill one day and knock every lineman down except me. I was the only bigger guy than him. The guy was the toughest guy in the world. We loved him because he could do anything, play any spot.

I have watched Barbara Baker be a policy person, policy analyst. I've watched her be counsel to the Speaker. I've watched her sit up there where Cathy is sitting. I've watched her sit down as Chief Clerk now. And I've watched her solve problems in this House. I've watched her solve problems between members when there were some of us that think we were more important than we are. If you think you are really important stick your finger in a glass of water and pull it out and see how fast the hole is filled. She remembers that but she also maintains the integrity of this place as the people's House. She makes sure that one we know what to do, where we are going, where we are parking and many other issues, and that we have furniture but most of all as we go through the zillions of bills here every year, that we put on the table, she and her staff do a fantastic job for us. I think of three words, the good gentleman from District No. 47 already used these words, fair is most of all and as you know this is a partisan appointment. The majority gets to nominate the person and usually they win but in reality we all vote and this is one of those that we all would probably nominate – each one of us because we've watched her work. She is fair, she is honest, she is hard working, she is smart and she is really classy. And so it is my pleasure to again support Barbara Baker for Chief Clerk. Thank you, Mr. Speaker."

CHIEF CLERK REMARKS
Chief Clerk Baker: "Thank you. My acceptance remarks will be limited to two quick points:

First, as many of you know, the first election to a new and big job is fun and exciting and a little scary. But the second election is more personally rewarding because it is a validation. And this year that means everything to me because it is a difficult time and we have here in the House, like all Washingtonians, have had to make changes and choices regarding the uses of scarce resources. Thank you for electing me even though our office hasn't been able to say "yes" as often as we have in the past. And to thank you in advance for your indulgence in whatever is to come.

Second and obviously, this is a package deal. A vote for me is a vote for our deputy chief clerk, Bernard Dean, and every other staff person here in the House. They commit their hearts and souls to make this session as productive and painless as possible.

Thanks again."

Speaker Chopp thanked Justice Johnson and called upon Representatives Probst and Priest to escort the Justice from the Chamber.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have set my hand and affixed the official seal of the State of Washington, this 4th day of December, 2008.

SAM REED
Secretary of State
The Speaker (Representative Morris presiding): "In view of the election results previously read, certified to by the Secretary of State, the Joint Session now declares the following qualified citizens to be the duly elected constitutional officers of the State of Washington:

Christine Gregoire Governor
Brad Owen Lieutenant Governor
Sam Reed Secretary of State
Jim Mchintire State Treasurer
Brian Sonntag State Auditor
Rob McKenna Attorney General
Randy Dorn Superintendent of Public Instruction
Mike Kreidler Insurance Commissioner
Peter Goldmark Commissioner of Public Lands

The Speaker and the President of the Senate signed the Certificates of Election for the duly elected constitutional officers. The Speaker (Representative Morris presiding) called upon President Owen to preside.

The President introduced the State elected officials seated on the rostrum:

Christine Gregoire Governor
Sam Reed Secretary of State
Mike Murphy State Treasurer
Brian Sonntag State Auditor
Terry Bergeson Superintendent of Public Instruction
Doug Sutherland Commissioner of Public Lands

The flags were escorted to the rostrum by a Sergeant at Arms Color Guard, Pages Phoebe Sinclair and Erik Anderson. The President led the Chamber in the Pledge of Allegiance. The prayer was offered by Reverend Jim Erlandson, Community of Christ, Olympia.

Reverend Erlandson: "Gracious Lord, I come to you on behalf of this assembly, offering both praise and thanksgiving. Also to pause and ask you, the creator of all things to be spiritually present in today's tasks.

I offer You thanks for all of the gift of freedom; the freedom to speak, the freedom to travel, the freedom to object or to agree with those around us, the freedoms hard won by patriots who have preceded us and freedoms which are now, in part, the responsibility of those here.

I also offer You thanks for the wonderful natural resources with which you have given this State. Not only the mineral, agricultural and geographic blessings we enjoy, but also the people and their talents that give identity and character to our culture. Thank you especially for those who are being honored today. They have given service to the people of this State that is above and beyond expectation. Bless them in their ongoing public and private lives.

Please provide your continued blessing in the endeavors of this day and this session. Bless this body in its process of decision making, that the results may provide equity and prosperity. Bless the members and their staff who have all made significant sacrifices of time and energy to serve their fellow citizens. Bless the families of the many members separated from home and hearth in order to do the work of governance. And, may You bless the process of legislation that the result may be well crafted laws that improve the quality of life for the residents of this great State.

Amen."

HONORING STATE ELECTED OFFICIALS LEAVING OFFICE

The President: "As the Speaker has announced, this occasion provides all of us with the opportunity to recognize our friends who are leaving office."

"Ladies and gentlemen, the President has the great privilege of being able to share some information about these distinguished public servants we are honoring today. They have served with great distinction over the years.

I am going to start with Commissioner of Public Lands, Doug Sutherland.

As our state's twelfth Lands Commissioner, Doug Sutherland has overseen the management of our state's 5.6 million acres of forest, range, agricultural, and grazing, aquatic and commerce lands. Throughout his tenure, these resources have generated more than 200 million dollars a year in revenue, much of which has gone to support public schools, state institutions and county services. Doug was the first Commissioner of Public Lands to permanently protect the growth forest. He led development and the signing of the forest practices habitat conservation plan, improved and diversified management of Washington's trust land portfolio by completing major land exchanges that resulted in the creation of two new State forests, the Ahutan Multiple Use Area west of Yakima and the Naneum Ridge State Forest north of Ellensburg. He eliminated environmental and public safety hazards from state-owned aquatic lands by removing more than 200 sinking or sunken vessels plus nearly 11 million pounds of toxic creosote-laden materials from the beaches and waters of Puget Sound and from other bodies of water in Washington State.

I was privileged to serve with Commissioner Sutherland for many years on the State Capitol Committee which provides oversight of buildings and grounds projects on our splendid capitol campus and I will miss the keen perspectives and insights he provided to this group.

Prior to these impressive accomplishments as Public Lands Commissioner, Doug was a city council member, a mayor of Tacoma, the first city manager for the City of SeaTac and the Pierce County Executive. He has also been active on a wide variety of local boards, commissions and charities including the Pierce County Chapter of the American Heart Association, the Tacoma Youth Symphony and the Tacoma Urban League.

Commissioner, thank you very much for your incredible service to the people of the State of Washington. I hope we will still see you around working with us in the future."

Doug Sutherland: "Madam Governor, Mr. President, Mr. Speaker of the House, members of the House and Senate, I am delighted to be here and to enjoy today's celebrations.

I have over the past eight years been blessed with significant and incredible opportunities. Opportunities to be able to serve the people of this State and to be able to serve it in such a way that not only were we able to provide significant financial, ecological, environmental and social opportunities and benefits but also to be able to serve with an incredible group of people who work in the Department of Natural Resources. This group of people, and they are only just part of the 1500 who work in and day out, are like no other agency that I have ever been associated with. The successes that the President has outlined are not because of the things that I have done necessarily but because of the strength and the vision and the capabilities of the people who work in the Department of Natural Resources.

You folks have an incredible challenge in front of you. The lands that we manage are under your trusteeship. You have this incredible 8 to 10 billion dollar asset in which every year we are able to provide significant benefits to the people of this State – financially, socially, ecologically and environmentally. These benefits come as a result of the recognition of the historical nature of these trust lands. Do not lose the vision of the people that wrote our state constitution and those who developed the enabling acts of this State. Those legislatures which were here before, have continually provided significant direction. You must maintain that valuable vision that has been created and developed. As this State continues to grow, the demands on these lands are going to continue to grow as well. I see that as a most critical part of being able to maintain the financial, ecological, environmental and social benefits that can accrue from these lands.

This State has a great future. You have a great challenge. This year is going to be very difficult for you. And I wish you all the very best luck. God's speed and thank you very much for your support and help in making my career here in these past years successful. We didn't always agree but in the end the decisions that were made were made based on good information, based on what and how does it benefit the people of this State. I appreciate the support you have given me and members of our staff.

Thank you."

The President: "Next I have the privilege of introducing Superintendent of Public Instruction, Terry Bergeson. During her twelve years as Washington Superintendent of Public Instruction, Dr. Terry Bergeson has striven to transform the teaching profession in our state and to ensure all students achieve a diploma which prepares them for success in the twenty first century.

Terry Bergeson's distinguished career has covered every aspect of the education profession during which she worked tirelessly to build a partnership between legislators, educators, parents and community leaders. She has been active as a classroom teacher and counselor in public schools. Within the National Education Association and Washington Education Association she has been active. She has served as the Executive Director of the Central Kitsap School District and then the Washington State Commission on Student Learning.

As our Superintendent of Public Instruction, Dr. Bergeson worked to strengthen standards and accountability, and to improve student achievement and make Washington a national leader in its professional support for our teachers. Under her leadership, students in Washington have arrived at higher academic goals and improved their academic performance with the most notable improvements coming from students in traditionally underperforming populations. For the sixth consecutive year, Washington has the highest SAT scores for states where more than half of all students take the test.

We have worked closely with Superintendent Bergeson in recent years on the Legislative Youth Advisory Council. The young men and women in that program are a very active group and will serve as an important voice in the proceedings of the Legislature especially as legislative proposals relate to young people.

She has also been very supportive and an advocate for international teacher and student exchange programs especially with Spain. Dozens of Washington teachers have gone to the University of Castilla-La Mancha in Spain to improve their Spanish language teaching skills as well as to immerse themselves and learn more about the Spanish culture. Many of our schools have welcomed teachers from Spain as well under her leadership. Students of the State of Washington have truly been the beneficiaries of these exchanges.

So I would like to thank you, Terry Bergeson, for your incredible service to our state and most importantly for your dedication to our kids."

Terry Bergeson: "Thank you very much, Lieutenant Governor, Speaker Pro Tem, our wonderful Governor Gregoire, all of my fellow elected officials – those who will be staying, and my congratulations to Kris Dowling and to the other newly elected officials taking the new roles they are taking. And to those of you who are here in the House and the Senate – thank you. Congratulations to the people who just arrived. There are some wonderful new additions to the group. To those of you who are continuing to serve I wish you well this year.

For me, thank you for doing this today. It's a wonderful thing to recognize our service to the people of the State of Washington. There has been nothing that has been a more exciting challenge and a greater honor in my life than to be the State Superintendent of Public Instruction. To be the constitutional officer who oversees the paramount duty of the State of Washington, which is in our wonderful constitution, the strongest language in the United States of America. To protect the able education of children regardless of where they live in our state, regardless of their background. I have tremendously enjoyed the partnership which I have had with the House and the Senate, with you, Chris and with Gary Locke and the governors before you. In joining forces to improve the opportunities for the children of this State. We have done a great job. I have many people in the audience who I have worked with in the House and Senate who have a deep caring for children with disabilities, for the gifted children who sometimes are forgotten because we think they are so strong. But they are only strong if they have the opportunity to fly, to find their way in this world. We need to get access for those children – particularly poor children and children of color. I used to run the gifted program in Central Kitsap. At first I didn't like gifted education because the kids I had always taught never got into the programs. Well today they do. Today we have hundreds of young people in advanced placement programs because of the grants you have helped me get from the Federal government and because of the money which you have invested in advanced placement. We have children from our migrant communities and children from rural and intercity poverty taking and passing advanced placement exams because they are getting access to strong academic programs. They are going to soar. We have children from military families and children who are in foster care who we have worked so hard to make sure they have an equal opportunity to have the same chance as other students in schools by changing some of our rules and providing transportation and support. The new building bridges program that we just passed is really for the first time concentrating on ways to find the early warning systems of children who are beginning to disengage in our schools, catch them before we lose them and intervene in ways that are powerful. There are consortia all across the State of wonderful people from the Social and Health Services community and school people working together to keep these kids, to educate them well and to keep them engaged and interested, and knowing that we love them, that we care about them in our schools.

There are so many things that come through the State Superintendent's Office that affect the students to children backgrounds, their safety, the schools that they are in, the capital construction. We have wonderful new career and technical legislation which you passed last year which is going to change the face of education and open pathways for young people who need a rigorous future but they need a hands-on learning environment. We have done miracles in our state in the last decade and a half. It has been our partnership together which has made that happen. I want to thank you for the support that you have given me and the strength that you have had to stay with our standards because as I talk about all these different groups of children, the big thing we have done is to take our school system from a place where many kids fell through the cracks because everyone taught what they thought they wanted. We have the most rigorous standards, we have a really good attitude about math and science. And we have revised those standards and now we have great math and science standards. They are going to take kids to a whole new level of heights. Over 93% of our kids met the reading and writing standards, and you had the courage to stay with me and with the educators on the graduation requirements that people thought would be very difficult and were very challenging. But children made it. And kids made it that no one thought would make it. We had three thousand teachers this week at the yearly conference I started when I was with the Commission on Student Learning. A young woman from Selah came up to me. She told me her school district had fifty children last fall who were not going to make it. The teachers started working with those children and they made all of those children graduated. She had a child who could not read or write at all. They worked together for eight weeks after school and during the school day, and it just popped. He learned to read and he learned to write. It was in there and this young man connected. No one knew how bad off he was, he passed both the tests and now he is on his way to college. You have helped me and everyone in the State make that happen. I thank you for that because we are better because of it. Our future is brighter because of it.

Doug said it, and I love my work with Doug on the Board of Natural Resources but as we look into the future that this is going to be such a challenging year for you. I hate to leave the work and the people but I don't miss having to make some of the decisions you are going to be struggling with, with the budget crisis which we are in. But we are going to come out of the crisis because we are Americans. We are going to have something new at the national level. We have dug a hole for ourselves and we cannot leave our kids in that hole. We are going to find our way out of it. This State is strong and together, and we will come back. As you make your decisions about education funding, we have good information now about how to fund schools. A group of your colleagues have helped to create that new structure. There will not be a lot of money to do anything about it at this point other than to get the policy direction set. But our schools need to remain an island of safety and stability and place of learning for every child in our state. The most vulnerable families are going to have the most difficulty in the times which we face. So as you struggle with your decisions, I would urge you to keep your hearts where I believe they always are for the children and their education in the State of Washington.

Thank you for giving me the opportunity to serve this State. I'm not done, I don't have a Plan B because I didn't plan to lose. But I am making my Plan B. I would love to help our new president fix 'No Child Left Behind'. He says 'mend it, don't end it'. I don't know where I'm going but I will still be involved with children and education. I will never forget you.

Thank you. And thank you for doing this for all of us today."

The President introduced Teri Murphy, wife of retiring State Treasurer Mike Murphy.

Mr. President: "Mike Murphy's distinguished career of public service began with a tour of duty in the military after which he was hired by the Office of the State Treasurer where he served in various capacities for fifteen years. He was appointed to the position of Thurston County Treasurer in the Spring of 1987 and was subsequently elected and re-elected to that office where he served until he was elected Washington's twenty-first State Treasurer in 1996. As State Treasurer, Mike Murphy has been responsible for our state's treasury portfolio and the local government investment pool.

As the chair of the State Finance Committee, he has been responsible for the management of the State's outstanding debt and has served as one of ten voting members of the State Investment Board which manages more than 81.9 billion dollars in investments.

Treasurer Murphy helped institute innovative new ways to help local governments take advantage of the services of the State Treasurer for their debt issuance. He also oversaw the development of the Guaranteed Education Tuition or GET program which is the fastest growing pre-paid college tuition program in the nation. During the last twelve years, Mike has proposed smart financing packages for projects like the new Tacoma Narrows Bridge where the State saved over 416 million dollars by using bond insurance rather than concession financing through a public-private partnership.

He also spoke out strongly against the public financing proposals which he felt were unsound. In fact, he has been more than willing to take on politicians and issues, myself included, and not think twice about it. When Treasurer Murphy felt the financing being considered was not in the best interest of the State, he was often the first to speak up. In the case against me he was wrong. Whether constituent, reporter, lobbyist or politician - they knew that with Mike Murphy what you see is what you get and what you get is straight talk.

Since I also sit on the Finance Committee and have had the opportunity over the years to work with Treasurer Murphy, I know firsthand that he keeps things very interesting despite what can be some dry topics. You might say he puts a little fire in finance. Taking the boring out of bond sales. I think he wrote this. In fact no one moves money like Mike Murphy and we owe him a great deal of gratitude. Actually in truth, Mike, you've done an incredible job; your integrity and innovative style and your dedication to service is second to none."

Mike Murphy: "Thank you, Brad. I am not going to do the normal protocol thing. I am just going to say 'dear friends'. I started in these halls in 1972. And true to the 'Murphy Tradition' I'm about ready to cry so please bear with me. I have had a really fun time here. I must thank my wife, Teri. And most importantly the staff of the State Treasurer's Office. These are the folks who invest billions, borrow hundred of millions for all of us. We just recently had a bond issued last week. We were wanting to issue 860 million dollars. You had already authorized that amount. After evaluating where the markets are today, we had to issue a smaller number. So we issued 400 million dollars instead of the 860 million dollars. We did get you a good rate though. And our bond rating was reaffirmed. I was very pleased to see that, because given the future budget deficit issues, they could very well have downgraded our state. But we worked very hard to ensure we are a strong AA State. We are good so far.

I wanted to give a special thank you to the Speaker, Mr. Chopp. When I came in office in 1997, the Legislature had already decided what you were going to do with the Tacoma Narrows Bridge. I got a briefing by the DOT and they said 'Murphy, it's not your deal'. I said 'thanks, I have other things to do'. So I went about my business until I started getting sued. I don't know why they were suing me because it was somebody else's deal. Well, as it turned out, I didn't like being sued, whether as an individual or as an elected official. So I went to a number of my colleagues in the Legislative branch and said 'okay I can do this a little cheaper than what you planned'. And they said 'Murphy, the train left town a long time ago, you weren't on it, forget it'. But I said 'I can save you a whole lot of money'. They said 'we don't care, we are not revisiting that issue. That issue has been done. We're over it'. So finally I got to thinking about what was the next mega-project coming down the road. That's probably the 520 highway, who's district is on the western end of that? Frank Chopp. So I went up and had a chat with Frank and I was prohibited by SEC regulations from speaking publicly about that because I act as an issuer for the State. So we helped Frank, we gave him the numbers and we were so pleased to be able to help with that financing because by going publicly funded, we saved you 416 million dollars. That was a whole lot of fun, and Frank, thank you so much for leadership. I have had a very fun time working in government. We are leaving this afternoon. I'm taking the afternoon off. Head up through California to our home in Arizona. I wish you all very much luck during this session. I thank you much for your kindness. I think I have friends wherever I look out here. We have tried to disagree without being disagreeable. We hope we have succeeded. Thank you."

The President invited everyone to the State reception room to greet the honorees.

Father Ryan: "My sisters and brothers, generous and compassionate God, You have revealed Your glory to all the nations. God of power and might, wisdom and justice, through You authority is rightly administered, laws enacted and judgment is decreed. We pray today for Christine Gregoire, the governor of the great State of Washington, for the members of the Legislature, the judges and the elected civil officials and all others who are entrusted to guard our political welfare. May they be enabled by Your powerful protection to discharge their responsibilities with honesty and ability. And like Solomon of old, who was faced with the opportunity to enjoy unmediated power, he elected instead to ask of Heaven the gift of an understanding heart that he might discern between good and evil, and that the judge might rightly amongst the various demands and expectations of his people. No leader could ask for more but only a foolish one would ask for less.

And so as these newly elected officials begin their challenging times ahead, we ask You, God our Creator, to bless them with courage, with understanding hearts and we pray that all of the citizens of this State take the responsibility in the care of our human family. We are all one human family. Life is not about us, we are about life. So may we drop today any negative attitudes, cynicism and come together in the care and the concern of one human family. Together we can do this. Apart we cannot.

And so we pray to You our Lord and God forever and ever. Amen."

GOVERNOR’S INAUGURAL ADDRESS

Governor Gregoire: "Thank you, Father Ryan, for that beautiful prayer and blessing. And thank you, Kate Elwanger, for your wonderful performance of the National Anthem. Mr. President, Mr. Speaker, Mr. Chief Justice, distinguished justices of the court, honored officials, members of the Washington State Legislature, former governors, tribal leaders, local government officials, members of the Consular Association of Washington, my fellow citizens: Good afternoon.

I first want to express my condolences at the passing of Representative Steve Hailey of the 9th District. His career ended much too soon. I also want to share my personal sadness at the passing last week of Representative Bill Grant. All of us, this chamber, Bill’s beloved 16th District, Bill’s family — and the people of Washington — are the poorer for his loss. Bill brought to this chamber a sense of bipartisanship, humor and compassion that we will sorely miss.

I am deeply honored to stand before you in the first moments of my second term as governor of the Great State of Washington. I am grateful and humbled that the people of Washington have chosen me to lead this state through the most difficult and trying times maybe since the Great Depression.

I know all of us in this chamber are honored to be here, and are ready to take on a crisis the likes of which our generation has never seen, let alone imagined. All of us, Democrats and Republicans — the newly elected and the seasoned — have a huge opportunity — the opportunity to bring Washington more firmly into the 21st century. For us — and for all Washingtonians — there are two words that will define us as we confront the challenge and seize the opportunity. Those words are Courage and Generosity.

The people of Washington are looking to us to act with remarkable courage. In turn, I believe Washingtonians will respond with very personal compassion and generosity for their neighbors. And more than ever, the people of Washington do not want partisan politics! They want us to work together to build a better state for them and their children. So I will challenge all of us today — and throughout the session — to join together. Let’s use this crisis! Let’s summon the courage to make the hard decisions. And let’s make sure Washington emerges better positioned to create jobs, prepare our kids for the future and provide affordable health care. Let’s make sure we improve our ranking from third best place to do business to number one!

With me today is my family: My husband Mike, who plans to continue his work on behalf of veterans and children’s literacy; our daughter Courtney, and, of course, our brand-new son-in-law Scott; and our daughter Michelle. My family is here not only to share this improvement, but to remind us of what we have at stake this legislative session — and it’s the well-being of all Washington families. Too many of our families are struggling just to put food on the table and a roof over their heads. They are worried about keeping a job or finding one. They lose sleep wondering if they can save the business where they have poured their sweat and their savings. And last week, Mother Nature laid on another layer of misery, forcing thousands of people from their homes when our rivers rose and hillsides came down. Our highway transportation system and the commerce that depends on it ground to a halt. But it could have been worse if Washingtonians had not responded so quickly and wisely to the warnings and evacuated by the hundreds. For that, we owe a huge debt of thanks to our professionals, local agencies and federal agencies. I also want to thank the hundreds of Washingtonians who stepped up to help their suffering neighbors and friends. But the misery continues, and we’re working very hard to help with recovery.

Last fall, a different kind of storm rolled over the nation’s incredibly mismanaged mortgage and credit markets. That financial storm is now panned over Washington, and almost every other state, and it’s raining buckets of hardship for families and businesses. We’ve all worked to create a world-class education system and affordable, accessible health care, and to rapidly build our already amazing, diverse economy. I promise you we cannot and will not forget that work. But today, our work is even more critical. Our work is to help our families and businesses survive at a time when they are forced to juggle bills and cut back spending ... when too many stores, restaurants and car dealerships are struggling for customers ... and last month, when 75 percent more Washington workers filed for unemployment benefits than a year ago.

We all know our state didn’t make this economic crisis, and we all know we can’t unilaterally solve it. But we cannot just ride out the hard times and then go back to business as usual. Instead, we must renew hope for Washingtonians who are suffering today, and lay — for them — a platform for a better tomorrow.

First, we can and must quickly create new jobs for working families by rebuilding roads and schools, and creating a green economy for the 21st century — all in partnership with President-elect Barack Obama’s “American Recovery and Reinvestment” plan.

Second, like our struggling families and businesses, we can and will tighten our belts, balance our budget and focus on basic needs — protection of our children, our schools and colleges, our public safety, our environment and our economy. Third, we won’t waste this crisis! We can and must reform state government. In this moment of clarity, we must grab the opportunity to reform so we can respond to the evolving needs of this century.

Fourth, we can and must approach all our challenges as a computer engineer might. Let’s build a new platform that makes Washington unique — that can support the exciting possibilities of the 21st century rather than the fading possibilities of the last. And finally, this is the time for generosity among all Washingtonians.

Real solutions to many of our problems will come from partnerships with our families, our communities, our faith-based organizations and our service groups. This is our time. A time like no other. Our time to show courage. Our time to reach across the aisle. Our time to show Republicans — to help our people. Our time for all to light the lamp of generosity.

And if we need an example of this can-do spirit, we can reach back 76 years to an even worse time — the Great Depression — a time of breadlines, massive unemployment, despair and hope for a better day. The first thing President Franklin Roosevelt did was get people back to work, and by the way, so did Governor Clarence Martin right here in Washington. Indeed, the most visible Northwest project built under Roosevelt’s jobs plan was the world-famous Grand Coulee Dam. Tomorrow, I will introduce the “Washington Jobs Now” plan. It is nowhere near as big as the Grand Coulee Dam project back in the 20th century, but it will leave a legacy of roads, schools and green-collar jobs to thrust our state firmly into the 21st century! And I urge you to help me do it — and in the first days of this new session.

This is our moment to act with courage — boldly and urgently — as our President-elect is doing — to speed up a recovery. We can quickly create thousands of new jobs this year and next by accelerating nearly $1 billion in public works projects. These projects will build new roads and schools, and create green-collar jobs to lay more groundwork for the prosperity to come.

The time to act is now! My “Washington Jobs Now” plan will stretch over the next two years — even as we undertake the largest transportation construction cycle in state history! We now have 1,400 transportation projects under way, or about to start, worth $3 billion. By combining this historic transportation package with my “Washington Jobs Now” plan, we will provide nearly 20,000 jobs in the next two years.

Franklin Roosevelt did more than create jobs. And so must we. The why? I’m urging our state to also act on an unemployment insurance proposal I’ll soon introduce to help laid-off workers and struggling businesses. Our state has the wealthiest Unemployment Trust Fund in the country. We need to put these funds to work through a temporary increase in benefits for workers and a temporary tax cut for businesses. Unemployment benefits are a uniquely powerful tool to benefit our economy. Benefits go directly to folks who need help and they are spent locally to boost business. Every dollar of benefits results in another $1.64 of buying power in our economy. And the tax break will help businesses weather the downturn.

And we must help ease the suffering of families struggling to feed their kids. Last fall, we greatly expanded eligibility for food stamps, which brings to our state $225 million in funding this year. Every $5 spent in food stamps ultimately means $9.20 circulating through our economy.

And finally, I have an urgent proposal to keep families in their homes. We helped homeowners last year, and this year, I’m asking you to approve legislation to help struggling homeowners work out ways to avoid foreclosure with time extensions. My “Washington Jobs Now” plan and the recovery proposals address some short-term needs, but they amount to more than a short-term fix. They help us build that new foundation to prepare Washington for the future.

I welcome a new dawn in Washington, D.C. — where Barack Obama and the new Congress are ready to create jobs, rebuild our nation, and help working people and businesses. Next week President-elect Obama will host his plan to make America work. His plan includes funding for schools, infrastructure and expansion of a green economy. I am working with the President-elect to make sure his plan includes ready-to-go projects here in Washington. The President-elect’s plan will double our commitment to renewable energy production — a huge opportunity for Washington, which is already leading in renewable energy production.

Let’s join that new dawn with our own plan to accelerate jobs and economic recovery. I know many of you have ideas for an economic recovery plan. I want to work with you, and with everyone else, for an effective package that will quickly pass. There is no reason to delay. The sooner we do it, the better it will be for working Washington families and businesses. When this recession ends, and it will end, we must be ready for a new economy. We need to preserve our education system to make sure we provide workers skilled in science, math, engineering and technology. We need to nurture and cultivate our growing life sciences and global health sectors. We need to deliver on the promise of a green economy and thousands of green collar-jobs. This is the economic future for our children and our state. Economic recovery also means tightening our belts and living within our means. We must do what the people who sent us here are doing.

There is a growing number of Washington families out there right now who suddenly find themselves living on an unemployment check. They know what it means to tighten their belts. I have proposed a two-year spending plan that addresses the largest budget gap in state history. This budget contains as much care and compassion as we could muster. But it still hurts real people, and with each cut I chose, I saw their faces. I don’t like this budget, but I proposed it for one simple reason—I must.

Let’s face it. We were dealt a terrible hand by forces beyond our control. We are forced to make unprecedented and difficult choices.

Ladies and gentlemen, this is a time for real courage! I sent you a budget that rests on our basic values. And we lay the foundation to reach the recovery they weigh. Because in a combat base at Ramadi, I let you describe their lives to you.

Democrats and Republicans—working together to make the wisest, most compassionate decisions. I’m ready to work with all of you. This is what the people expect.

And one thing we have to do together is reform state government to bring it into the 21st century, and soon. At very basic levels, businesses are struggling to reform, to change the way they do business because they simply must to survive. And our business leaders tell me that American companies, large and small, will emerge from this recession forever changed.

We have to do the same. And that's government reform. This is our chance to reform state government to make it a more nimble agency partner in a new state economy. Ladies and gentlemen, we need to reboot! Over the decades, state government has evolved—layer upon layer upon layer. But too much of what served the people well in 1940 or 1960 or 1990 does not serve the people well in the 21st century. There are sacred cows standing in the way. There are political roadblocks. But let’s step up to the challenge for the people who sent us here. For example, we have some 470 separate boards and commissions across numerous agencies.

Is there anybody in this chamber, or this state, who believes we need any more than half of 470 boards and commissions to serve the people of Washington? There are almost 60 involved with the Department of Social and Health Services alone.

And that’s not the only issue we face. For instance, we have three goals: to manage natural resources, each with its own scientist standing in the same Washington stream. We need to reform, and we will. We need a lean, nimble state government serving our people in the 21st century.

We know we can do it because in some cases we already have.

Today, almost 40 percent of license tabs are renewed online, saving hassles and gas. We can close 26 licensing offices across the state while extending hours of operation at the 10 most popular locations. We are finding new ways to serve our customers. And customer service is what it’s all about.

Today, 18,000 full-time students at our community and technical colleges are earning course credits online. It would take an additional four community colleges to offer all those classes the old way. Thousands of people—people with jobs and families—can learn on their own time and from their own homes. Letters and numbers to help the working poor.

Finally, I issued an urgent call to all Washingtonians—each and every one of you—to come together to help our neighbors in a spirit of shared generosity.

First, please join me by recognizing the men and women, who, for the past five years, have sacrificed by putting their lives on hold to fight in distant wars—and who, in some cases, have sacrificed their very lives. In Iraq last week, I met, among others, Sergeant First Class Gerald Frazier of the Washington National Guard’s Heavy Brigade Combat Team. Jerry is typical of the Washington men and women helping Iraq rebuild into a democracy—focused, committed and above all, generous. Jerry and his fellow soldiers ran the American combat base at Ramadi. Let me describe their lives to you.

They live in a dusty, barren desert, and they work 12 to 14-hour days, seven days a week. Jerry and his fellow soldiers definitely don’t come home to home-cooked meals—one of the seasonings on their food is dust, a lot of it. They live in retro-fitted shipping containers, and for recreation, they have a little temporary building with a TV and Trophy so we won’t go outside the camp. They were tickled pink when I gave them a Washington state flag to hang alongside their 12th Man flag. Let us thank them for their generosity—to the people of Iraq and to all of us.

So today, I am honored to introduce to you Jerry Frazier’s wife Val, and their two children, Caitlin and Jerry Junior, who are here to represent all the families of the dedicated men and women of the 81st Brigade. These families care enough about this world to see their spouses and parents off to a dangerous war in order to help others, and us, maintain the freedoms we have. Val and your children, please stand for a well-deserved round of applause.

Thank you, each of you, for your generosity to our country and our community. Let your spirit of giving be our spirit too. Let’s help our neighbors in need, as the Frazier family has, and as our grandparents and great-grandparents did during the Great Depression so long ago. We must find and embrace the generous spirit of those times. Let’s recognize the suffering of our neighbors.

With the terrible flooding last week, we saw once again the spark of generosity in the hearts of Washingtonians. We saw it from the people of Spokane, who turned out in huge numbers to help the city clear storm drams to ease flooding. We saw it in Snohomish where neighbors are still helping neighbors clean up, in Orting where townspeople packed sandbags, and in Lewis County where a hotel cut its room rates in half to accommodate people fleeing their homes.

Today, I want to issue a challenge generally to our country and our community. Let your spirit of giving be our spirit too. Let’s help our neighbors in need, as the Frazier family has, and as our grandparents and great-grandparents did during the Great Depression so long ago. We must find and embrace the generous spirit of those times. Let’s recognize the suffering of our neighbors.

We call on Your insight for the Judiciary especially the State Supreme Court and Chief Justice Gerry Alexander as they meet with us today. Support them in their difficult task of interpreting the law with grace and mercy.

Dear God, You have given these bodies responsibility to govern this State. Grant them patience and wisdom to discern the best action to take among the competing claims that are present. As many in our state struggle with economics, some with flooding, inspire us to find ways to help one another.

Oh God, you made us in Your image. At this time of economic uncertainty and war, look with compassion on the whole human family. Break down the walls that separate us. STATE OF THE JUDICIARY

Chief Justice Alexander: "Thank you President Owen. Governor Gregoire, Speaker Chopp, state elected officials, members of the House and Senate, fellow justices and judges, ladies and gentlemen. Good morning.

Let me first extend my thanks to the members of the legislature for the warm welcome you have accorded me and my fellow justices of the Washington Supreme Court on this and other occasions. We are very honored to be here for the purpose of allowing me to present, on behalf of our court and Washington's judiciary, the biennial State of the Judiciary address. This is the fifth time I have been accorded the privilege of presenting such an address since I was first elected chief justice in January 2001.

My judicial colleagues and I are aware that time is precious to the Legislature during sessions, and we are most grateful for this opportunity to speak to you as well as to our state's elected officials and the people of the state of Washington. While the halls of this Legislature are in close proximity to the offices of our statewide elected officials and the home of the Supreme Court, our respective branches of government have very different functions and we do not have many opportunities like this to gather together. While some may feel that this is as it should be under the doctrine of separation of powers, it is my view that occasions like this, the various oath taking sessions and the Governor's inaugural address, can lead us all to better appreciate the important role that each branch performs in our democracy.

Before I speak to you about the state of the Judiciary as a whole, allow me to say a word about the court on which I now sit, the State Supreme Court. I can tell you that I am very proud of all of my colleagues and very honored to have been elected by them as chief justice of our state. All of our courts are unified in our desire to work with our judicial colleagues around the state to deliver equal and quality justice to all in a system that is administered, in the words of our state constitution, "openly". Our court is currently very experienced. Each of us practiced public or private law in this state earlier in our careers and collectively we have over 135 years of judicial service. I am pleased to say also that the relationship between all of the justices is collegial. At the same time, though, we are all free thinking individuals who come from a variety of backgrounds. Thus, it is not surprising that we are not unanimous on every issue that comes before us.

Although most of you are somewhat familiar with the veteran members of the panel, I would like to say a word about the actual newest member, Justice Debra Stephens. Justice Stephens was appointed to our court by Governor Gregoire in December 2007 and she was sworn in at a ceremony at our court on the 7th of January 2008. Justice Stephens, of course, had to stand for election to that position in the fall of 2008, and, happily, she was unopposed. Justice Stephens is a Spokane native, who obtained her B.A. degree from Gonzaga University, magna cum laude, and then went on to law school at the same university as a Thomas More Scholar, graduating summa cum laude. Following graduation, she practiced law in Spokane with primary emphasis on appellate practice. She appeared before our court over 125 times, which is remarkable, and she did all of this while also serving as an adjunct member of the law school faculty at Gonzaga. Justice Stephens' judicial career actually began earlier in 2007 when Governor Gregoire appointed her to the Court of Appeals, Division Three, in Spokane. When Justice Stephens came to our court early in 2008, she obtained the double distinction of being the first judge of Division Three and the first woman from Eastern Washington to serve on the Washington Supreme Court. We are delighted to have Justice Stephens as a colleague and look forward to working with her in the years to come.

Let me now, in my capacity as chief justice, speak to you more directly about our state's justice system. As you all know, Washington's justice system is present in every county in our state as well as in most of our cities and towns. The system is presided over by nine justices of the Supreme Court, 22 judges of the state court of appeals, the court of appeal judges, and 294 full and part-time justices of our district and municipal courts. These justices and judges can't, of course, manage the system alone and, fortunately, they have the assistance of dedicated court commissioners, county clerks, and court staff that work hard managing caseloads that collectively total more than two million filings each year--more than one filing for every three citizens of our state. I can tell you that from my perspective, as one who has served as a judge in this state for over 35 years, that our judiciary and its staff has never been more skilled and hardworking than it is right now.

I wish I could have invited every judicial officer in the state to be here today, but, as you can tell from my remarks, they have plenty of work to do at home. I did, though, ask a few judges to be present in the gallery--allow me to introduce them to you. Representing the district and municipal court judges of our state is Judge Marilyn Paja of the Kitsap County District Court. Judge Paja is a veteran judge and is currently president of the District and Municipal Court Judges' Association. Representing the superior courts, we have the very able Richard McDermott, president of the Superior Court Judges' Association. Judge McDermott sits on our state's largest court, the King County Superior Court. Representing the 22 judges of our Court of Appeals, we have Judge C.C. Bridgewater. Judge Bridgewater, who hails from Castle Rock in Cowlitz County, is the chief presiding judge of the Court of Appeals. We also have other judges in the audience who are here to attend this afternoon's monthly meeting of the Board for Judicial Administration. These judges represent Washington's judiciary and I am immensely proud of them all.

Each level of court that these judges represent has a direct affect on the lives of individuals. This is particularly true of our trial courts--the superior courts, district courts, and municipal courts. At the superior court, judges determine child custody issues, protect victims of domestic violence from harm, preside over felony criminal cases and all manner of significant civil disputes. At the limited jurisdiction level, judges handle misdemeanor and gross misdemeanor cases, traffic infractions, and a myriad of other matters, including, at the district court, small claims cases and other civil actions where $75,000 or less is sought. Our limited jurisdiction trial court judges see huge numbers of persons in their courts each year and these courts can truly be called our "people's courts."

When reflecting upon the important work of each level of court in our state, and the challenges they face, I am reminded of the old saying that, "If we do not maintain justice, justice will not maintain us." These words go to the very essence of our great republic and contribute to the pride we feel about our nation, our state, and our system of government. Americans have always revered justice, and we demonstrate that when we face our nation's flag and recite those well known words: "Justice for all."

Maintaining a strong and fair justice system is, I believe, of great consequence, our trial courts being the first line of our citizen's defense against the effects of life's injustices. Unfortunately, we have not done the best job as a state government in maintaining our justice system at the trial level. Many of you have heard me say before that since we first became a state in 1889, our trial courts have been funded almost entirely by local governments--our counties and cities. This means of funding our trial courts was not problematic in earlier times because our state's court system was relatively small and local governments did not have huge demands placed on their resources. But as the years have been the number of cases flowing into our courts has risen dramatically as our population has increased and a variety of new laws and regulations have been enacted at the state and local level. At the same time local governments have assumed financial obligations that were unknown to their predecessors. As a consequence, our trial courts have been severely challenged as they have endeavored to keep up with their increasing and more complex caseloads. In some jurisdictions, particularly in our metropolitan areas, we have seen delays in getting cases to trial due to crowded court calendars, difficulties in obtaining qualified interpreters for non-English speakers, criminal defense attorneys and prosecutors with caseloads that are too large, and large numbers of persons going without representation in civil cases, particularly in family court matters. I must add that these problems always become more pronounced as the budgets of local government are affected adversely by an economic downturn, such as the one we are currently experiencing.

A few years ago, our state's Board for Judicial Administration addressed the funding crisis our state was facing in our trial courts in what we called the Justice in Jeopardy Initiative. We first presented the initiative to you in 2005. The initiative flowed out of the hard work of the Court Funding Task Force, a body that was formed in 2002 by the Board for Judicial Administration. This effort engaged more than 100 persons from across the state and from all backgrounds--significantly, it included five members of the Legislature.

Some of you will recall that when we first spoke to you about the Justice in Jeopardy Initiative, we relayed a startling statistic from the task force's report--that Washington State ranked last among the state's of the union, in terms of state government participation in the funding of trial courts, indigent defense and prosecution.

Today, despite the advent of additional and much needed state funding in the last four years, Washington is still in last place in the nation in terms of state funding, with budget-strapped local governments still bearing more than 80 percent of the costs of maintaining our trial courts. Although state government funds the rest, less than one percent of the state budget goes to maintain our state's court system and our courts. Clearly, the key component of that system, courts that are provided for in our state constitution--a constitution that says that justice is to be administered "without unnecessary delay."

The report of the Court Funding Task Force and the other studies that have been done over the years have recommended that optimally, the State should pay 50 percent of the cost of trial court operations and indigent criminal defense, and it should assume a substantially greater role in funding civil legal aid services for Washington's low-income residents. We think that this "partnership approach" between state and local government makes more sense than a complete state takeover of the cost of our trial courts, a path that states like California and Oregon have followed. We say this because we believe that local jurisdictions should have a stake in how the courts operate within their jurisdictions. We recognized, however, that obtaining an increase in state funding of the magnitude we envisioned would be a major change, and, thus, we opted for a research project.

I must tell you that the Judiciary has been immensely gratified by the support that the Legislature has provided since we first approached you with the Justice in Jeopardy Initiative. In the legislative sessions of 2005, 2006, and 2007, you recognized by your action that state government has a responsibility to pay a higher proportion of the costs of the state's justice system than it has in the past. In those sessions, you appropriated significant funds, much of which were derived from higher user fees, and you applied it to the support of our trial courts, public defense and civil legal aid. We are most grateful for that show of support.

Let me be more specific about what you have done: In 2005, you provided for the first time, state funding for a portion of the salaries of district court judges and elected municipal court judges, and for trial court improvement accounts. You also appropriated funds to provide legal representation for indigent parents in termination and dependency cases as well as funding for indigent criminal defense at the trial level. You also created the Office of Civil Legal Aid as an independent agency of the judicial branch and increased the amount of dollars going to civil legal aid. This was truly historic action by the Legislature. In the 2006 session, you maintained the momentum established in the previous session by funding a pilot jury pay research project and expanding the parents' representation program. Again you provided additional funds for civil legal aid programs. In 2007, you appropriated supplemental funds to do so and in addition to providing funds for court interpreters at the trial level. At the same time you provided additional funds for CASA representatives, civil legal aid, criminal indigent defense, and parental representation. Although we did not ask for any new funding in 2008, a supplemental budget year, it was our intention to ask you to continue the march toward implementation of the goals of the Justice in Jeopardy Initiative in this session. Specifically, we anticipated requesting additional state funding to assist local governments in covering the ever burgeoning costs of providing court interpreters at the trial level. We also planned to seek additional funding for civil legal aid, public defense, parental representation, the Commission on Children in Foster Care, and the Washington Family and Juvenile Plan— an ambitious agenda.

We took this action because we recognized the problems you face in the Legislature this year as a consequence of the current economic crisis that faces our state and the nation. Bottom line, we concluded that this is not a propitious time to seek enlargement of the budget of the judicial branch. That does not mean that we have lost our zeal for the goals we set forth in the Justice in Jeopardy Initiative. It simply means that we have taken a time out. We want you to know, though, that we strongly urge you to not dismantle the progress we have made since 2005. I can also promise you that we will be back seeking your support for the goals of the initiative when the economic situation in our state and nation is rosier. Relevant to the current fiscal situation, I wish to point out that we have endeavored in the last several months to cut back our spending in the remaining months of the current biennium and it appears that we have done so to the tune of about $672,000. Because of this effort we will be able to leave a much greater amount of money in the treasury at the end of the biennium than we otherwise would have.

Since we are not asking for any funding of new programs, I suppose I could stand down now and head back across the street. But I don't want to do that without addressing a familiar issue that we believe deserves attention by this Legislature. It is an issue that I have highlighted in each of the previous State of the Judiciary addresses I have presented to you. It concerns Washington's low rate of pay for our jurors. Let me quickly add that we have not set forth any amount in our proposed budget to fund an increase in the attendance fee for the reasons I have already given. We will, though, seek introduction of a bill that would provide for an increase in the fee.

To refresh your memory, the daily attendance fee for jury service is set by statute at no less that $10 per day and no more than $25. Significantly, almost every jurisdiction in the state pays the minimum of $10. That fee was established in 1958, a time when $10 was roughly equivalent to the minimum wage for a day's work. It is clear that today the fee is woefully inadequate and its meagerness is evidenced by the fact that for a five-day trial, Washington ranks 45th out of 50 states in terms of jury compensation.

To the Legislature's great credit, you did fund the pilot project that allowed us to raise the fee in three jurisdictions to an amount akin to the current minimum wage. You also underwrote the cost of a study of the effect of the fee increase on the response to the jury summons by persons called for jury duty, juror satisfaction, and the diversity of our jury panels. While the study, a copy of which you should have received this week, does reveal greater juror satisfaction on the part of those who received the higher fee, it was not entirely clear what effect the increase had on responses to the jury summons— that may have been due, in part, to the fact that many, if not most, prospective jurors were not entirely aware of the fact that the attendance fee had been increased.

But regardless of whether an increase in the fee will get more citizens to fulfill this important responsibility of American citizenship, the fee should be increased as a matter of equity. Even though we are getting jurors to serve, we believe that it is simply not fair to pay them such a low fee, particularly those who devote more than one day to jury service.

In light of the current economic situation, the proposed legislation, which will be before you, is much more modest than what we were initially inclined to propose. Basically, we are suggesting that the fee stay at $10 for the first day of jury service, on the theory that everyone should be willing to give one day of service at little or no cost to the government, but that it should increase on the second and subsequent days of jury service and that the State, as opposed to local government, should bear the cost of the increase. Again, with a view toward the current economic situation, we are asking that the proposed increase be phased in over a period of about four years. We recognize that obtaining an increase in the jury fee is a tough sell in this session. We believe, though, that this issue needs to be kept at the forefront and, thus, we will strongly advocate support for the proposal in this session.

I am about to close, but before I do I want you to know that we in the Judiciary fully appreciate the immense challenges the 61st Legislature faces. As Governor Gregoire pointed out in her address on Wednesday, we are facing an economic upheaval of proportions unprecedented for many years. As a consequence, this Legislature is going to have to make some tough and painful decisions about how the State's smaller revenue pie will be divided. I know that you will receive much advice on how to do that, and I am hesitant as the spokesperson for the Judiciary to kibitz, other than to say just a couple of things.

First, I implore you to resist the temptation to reduce the appropriation for civil legal services for the poor and criminal public defense below current levels. I make this plea because it is our view that the demand for the services that our legal aid attorneys and public defenders provide is almost certainly going to increase in the hard economic times we are likely to experience in the coming biennium. The persons who benefit from these services, including the increasing numbers of our citizens who face foreclosure, eviction, or debt collection, are among the most vulnerable in our population and they are often without a voice in the halls of government—so we wish to speak for them.

The other thing I would say is that when you are looking for possible ways to reduce the cost of government, you should take a look at Washington's current sentencing regime. I say that because even the most ardent fan of our current determinate sentencing scheme would have to concede that under this system, which is very rigid and inflexible and vests very little discretion in the sentencing judge, the number of persons in our state prisons and county jails has increased. substantially and it would appear that this increase will continue for the foreseeable future.

As you know, the costs attendant to housing this large number of persons in our jails and prisons is huge. Let me just briefly give you some numbers. Right now, we have 18,000 inmates in Washington's prisons, state-supervised work release, or rented space in county jails or prisons outside the state. This compares to 16,000 in confinement just five years ago, and approximately 14,000 ten years ago. Those numbers are, of course, in addition to the thousands who are confined on any one day in our county and city jails. Significantly, the increase in our prison population, which exceeds the state's population growth during the same period, has occurred during a period in which Washington's overall crime rate and violent crime rate has declined substantially.

Although most of the persons who are confined within our prisons need and deserve to be there, most judges will tell you, if asked, that there are a significant number of persons in our prisons who could be treated outside of the prison walls at a cost much lower than the cost of imprisonment, and that this could be done without jeopardizing the public's safety and security.

Having said that, I hasten to add that we in the Judiciary are not proposing at this time a wholesale revision of our state's determinate sentencing scheme for those convicted of felonies. We do think, though, that it is time for the Legislature to take a close look at this system that came out of the so-called Sentencing Reform Act of 1981 to see if these massive costs of incarceration cannot be reduced. I want you to know that if you undertake such a long-term project, the Judiciary stands ready to assist you in any way that we can.

In the short run, we ask you to give favorable consideration to some proposed legislation that is being advocated by our superior court judges, the persons who impose the sentences in felony cases and who know a bit about the subject. They propose that you increase the number of community-based DOSA beds. DOSA stands for the Drug Offender Sentencing Alternative, for defendants who would otherwise be sent to prison. Experience shows this alternative to imprisonment, like drug courts, works and has the effect of reducing crime and saving dollars.

The superior court judges will also propose that you restore to sentencing judges something we could do when I was a young superior court judge, and that is the ability to suspend, in appropriate cases, part or all of a felony sentence of a defendant facing a determinate jail sentence and no imprisonment. This would not apply to persons charged with a sex or violent offense. Such a step, we believe, would be of great value to fiscally strapped counties and would not impinge on public safety.

Although these are relatively modest proposals, they are ones that make sense. We hope, also, that confronting them in this session will serve as a catalyst to open dialogue which could lead to broader sentencing reform in the future. We are aware that reform of our sentencing practices would not be popular with everyone, but these are challenging times and such times call for boldness and innovation.

Let me close where I began by thanking all of you for allowing me to speak to you today and for the graciousness with which you have received me and my colleagues. Please accept our very best wishes for a successful legislative session."

The Speaker (Representative Morris presiding) recognized members of the Washington National Guard and asked the members to acknowledge them for their service to the State of Washington.

SPEAKER’S RULING

The Speaker (Representative Morris presiding): “The rules for House protocol have been handed out to your desks. In particular, I want to mention two or three items that will be monitored a bit closer this session than in past sessions.

When you are speaking on the floor, the protocol is to address the Speaker at the rostrum. Through the pomp and circumstance of the first week and half a lot of people were looking up at the galleries and so forth. This is against the House Rules as is applauding after speeches.

The most notable change – we will be monitoring the reading from the House Floor during speeches. The rule is you are not supposed to read. I am going to be looking for about 50% eye contact as the benchmark we are looking for up here when you are making your remarks on the floor before we call you out of order and try to bring you into the proper protocol.”

HOUSE FLOOR PROTOCOL

A Summary of Significant Precepts

House Rule 4(B): The Speaker shall preserve order and decorum ... and may order the sergeant-at-arms to remove any person creating a disturbance within the House chamber ...

(1) Debate rules (to ensure that debate provides for a comparison of views and does not degenerate into a dispute):

- When wishing to speak, stand and wait until recognized by the Speaker. If another member is recognized first, sit and wait for the next opportunity. If recognized, respond "Thank you, Mister/Madam Speaker." (If two or more members stand, the Speaker determines the order.)
- Remarks are addressed to the Speaker.
- Request permission from the Speaker before reading any material (and, if objected to by any member, the question is determined by a vote of the House).
- Confine remarks to the debate at hand and avoid personalities.
- Attack arguments, not persons.
- Do not impute or impugn the motive of any member's vote or argument.
- Refrain from harsh expressions or expressions of disrespect.
- Allude to other members by description (e.g., the lady from the Xth District).
- Do not refer to the Senate.
- Refrain from applause.
- No conversations at your desk when a member is speaking. Please retire to the wings.
- Do not interrupt the member speaking, except to address the Speaker for the purpose of raising a point of order.
- Do not read newspapers or use the computer for unrelated purposes.
- No cell phones.
- Do not pass between the Speaker and the member speaking. When the Speaker is putting the question, do not walk across or out of the House.
- Enter and leave the chamber quietly.
- Be aware of the TVW cameras.

(2) A member may speak no more than twice and no longer than 10 minutes on a question, except with consent of the House or when allowed by rules to close debate after the previous question has been ordered. (During the last six days of session and the last four days before floor cutoff, the time limit is reduced to three minutes.)

(3) Except for materials normally distributed by the Chief Clerk, distribution of materials to members' desk on the floor requires the signature of the "sponsoring" member and the approval of the Speaker (through the Chief Clerk's office).

(4) Once begun, a roll call may not be interrupted. Do not approach the rostrum during a roll call.

(5) All members within the chamber when a vote is commenced are required to vote, unless excused for special reasons.

(6) While the House is in session:

- Only members, pages, sergeants-at-arms, and clerks are permitted on the floor.
- Lobbying is prohibited in the House chamber and wings.
- Guests are not permitted in the House chamber or wings, with some exceptions. Only the Speaker may introduce and recognize guests in the galleries. A dress code applies, and proper dress requirements are enforced.”

There being no objection, the House advanced to the fourth order of business.

(F) DIVISION OF POINTS OF DEBATE. Any member may call for a division of a question which shall be divided if it embraces subjects so distinct that one being taken away a substantive proposition shall remain for the decision of the house; but a motion to strike out and to insert shall not be divided. The results of the motion are as follows: If determined in the negative, the consideration goes on as if the motion had never been made; if decided in the affirmative it shall have the effect of cutting off all debate and bringing the house to a direct vote upon the motion or amendment on which it has been ordered: PROVIDED HOWEVER, That when a bill is on final passage or when the motion to postpone indefinitely is pending, one of the sponsors of the bill or the chair of the committee may have the privilege of closing debate after the previous question has been ordered.

If an adjournment is had after the previous question is ordered, the motion or proposition on which the previous question was ordered shall be put to the house immediately following the approval of the journal on the next working day, thus making the main question privileged over all other business, whether new or unfinished.

A motion to reconsider an amendment may be made at any time the bill remains on second reading.

Any member who voted on the prevailing side may move for reconsideration or give notice thereof.

A motion to reconsider can be decided only once when decided in the negative.

When a motion to reconsider has been carried, its effect shall be to place the original question before the house in the exact position it occupied before it was voted upon.

Call of the House

Rule 21. One-sixth (1/6) of the members present may demand a call of the house at any time before the house has divided or the voting has commenced by yeas and nays.

The motion to proceed with business under the call of the house and the motion to excuse absentees shall not be adopted unless a majority of the members present vote in favor thereof. The motion to dispense with the call of the house may be adopted by a majority of the members present.

Appeal from Decision of Chair

Rule 22. The decision of the chair may be appealed from by any member, on which appeal no member shall speak more than once unless by leave of the house. In all cases of appeal, the question shall be: "Shall the decision of the chair stand as the judgment of the house?"

TOTAL APPROPRIATION ................................................................. ($8,376,598,000)

The appropriations in this section are subject to the following conditions and limitations:

(1) Based on quarterly expenditure reports and caseload forecasts, if the department estimates that expenditures for the medical assistance program will exceed the appropriations, the department shall take steps including but not limited to reduction of rates or elimination of optional services to reduce expenditures so that total program costs do not exceed the annual appropriation authority.

(2) In determining financial eligibility for medicare-funded services, the department is authorized to disregard recoveries by Holocaust survivors' insurance proceeds or other assets, as defined in RCW 48.104.030.

(3) Sufficient amounts are appropriated in this section for the department to continue podiatry services for medicaid-eligible adults.

(4) Sufficient amounts are appropriated in this section for the department to provide an adult dental benefit that is at least equivalent to the benefit provided in the 2003-05 biennium.

(5) In accordance with RCW 74.46.625, $6,000,000 of the general fund--federal appropriation is provided solely for supplemental payments to nursing homes operated by public hospital districts. The public hospital district shall be responsible for providing the required nonfederal match for the supplemental payment, and the payments shall not exceed the maximum allowable under federal rules. It is the legislature's intent that the payments shall be supplemental to and shall not in any way offset or reduce the payments calculated and provided in accordance with part E of chapter 74.46 RCW. It is the legislature's further intent that costs otherwise allowable for rate-setting and settlement against payments under chapter 74.46 RCW shall not be disallowed solely because such costs have been paid by revenues retained by the nursing home from these supplemental payments. The supplemental payments are subject to retrospective interim and final cost settlements based on the nursing homes' as-filed and final medicare cost reports. The timing of the interim and final cost settlements shall be at the department's discretion. During either the interim cost settlement or the final cost settlement, the department shall recoup from the public hospital districts the supplemental payments that exceed the medicare cost limit and/or the medicare upper payment limit.

(6) $1,111,000 of the health services account appropriation for fiscal year 2008, $1,110,000 of the health services account appropriation for fiscal year 2009, $5,402,000 of the general fund--federal appropriation, $1,590,000 of the general fund--state appropriation for fiscal year 2008, and $1,591,000 of the general fund--state appropriation for fiscal year 2009 are provided solely for grants to rural hospitals.

The department shall distribute the funds under a formula that provides a relatively larger share of the available funding to hospitals that (a) serve a disproportionate share of low-income and medically indigent patients and (b) have relatively smaller net financial margins, to the extent allowed by the federal medicaid program.

(7) $10,546,000 of the health services account appropriation for fiscal year 2008, $10,546,000 of the health services account--state appropriation for fiscal year 2009, and $197,725,000 of the general fund--federal appropriation are provided solely for grants to nonrural hospitals. The department shall distribute the funds under a formula that provides a relatively larger share of the available funding to hospitals that (a) serve a disproportionate share of low-income and medically indigent patients and (b) have relatively smaller net financial margins, to the extent allowed by the federal medicaid program.

(8) The department shall continue the inpatient hospital certified public expenditures program for the 2007-2009 biennium. The program shall apply to all public hospitals, including those owned or operated by the state, except those classified as critical access hospitals or state psychiatric institutions. The department shall submit reports to the governor and legislature by November 1, 2007, and by November 1, 2008, that evaluate whether savings continue to exceed costs for this program. If the certified public expenditures (CPE) program in its current form is no longer cost-effective to maintain, the department shall submit a report to the governor and legislature detailing cost-effective alternative uses of local, state, and federal resources as a replacement for this program. During fiscal year 2008 and fiscal year 2009, hospitals in the program shall be paid and shall retain (a) one hundred percent of the federal portion of the allowable hospital cost for each medicaid inpatient fee-for-service claim payable by medical assistance; and (b) one hundred percent of the federal portion of the maximum disproportionate share hospital payments allowable under federal regulations. Inpatient medicaid payments shall be established using an allowable methodology that approximates the cost of claims submitted by the hospitals. Payments made to each hospital in the program in each fiscal year of the biennium shall be compared to a baseline amount. The baseline amount will be determined by the total of (a) the inpatient claim payment amounts that would have been paid during the fiscal year had the hospital not been in the CPE program, and (b) disproportionate share hospital payment amounts paid to and retained by each hospital during fiscal year 2005 that pertain to fiscal year 2005. If payments during the fiscal year exceed the hospital's baseline amount, no additional payments will be made to the hospital except the federal portion of allowable disproportionate share hospital payments for which the hospital can certify allowable match. If payments during the fiscal year are less than the baseline amount, the hospital will be paid a state grant equal to the difference between payments during the fiscal year and the applicable baseline amount. Payment of the state grant shall be made in the applicable fiscal year and distributed in monthly payments. The grants will be recalculated and redistributed as the baseline is updated during the fiscal year. The grant payments are subject to an interim settlement within eleven months after the end of the fiscal year. A final settlement shall be performed within two years after the end of the related fiscal year. To the extent that either settlement determines that a hospital has received funds in excess of what it would have received as described in this subsection, the hospital must repay the excess amounts to the state when requested. $61,728,000 of the general fund--state appropriation for fiscal year 2009, of which $6,570,000 is appropriated in section 204(1) of this act and the balance in this section, and $57,894,000 of the general fund--state appropriation for fiscal year 2009, of which $6,570,000 is appropriated in section 204(1) of this act and the balance in this section, are provided solely for state grants for the participating hospitals.

The amounts are conditioned on the department satisfying the requirements of section 902 of this act.

(10) When a person is ineligible for medicaid solely by reason of residence in an institution for mental diseases, the department shall provide the person with the same benefits as he or she would receive if eligible for medicaid, using state-only funds to the extent necessary.

(11) The department is authorized to use funds appropriated in this section to purchase goods and supplies through direct contracting with vendors when the department determines it is cost-effective to do so.

(12) The legislature affirms that it is in the state's interest for Harborview medical center to remain an economically viable component of the state's health care system. The mental health service component may include care coordination, mental health services, and integrated medical and mental health service delivery for general assistance clients with mental health disorders, as well as primary care provider training and education. The department shall provide a report to the appropriate committees of the legislature by January 1, 2009, on costs, savings, and any outcomes or quality measures associated with the pilot projects during calendar year 2007 and 2008. (1) The savings incentive account is created in the custody of the state treasurer. The account shall consist of all moneys appropriated to the account by the legislature. The account is subject to the allotment procedures under chapter 43.88 RCW, but no appropriation is required for expenditures from the account.

(2) Within the savings incentive account, the state treasurer may create subaccounts to be credited with incentive savings attributable to individual state agencies, as determined by the office of financial management in consultation with the legislative fiscal committees. Moneys deposited in the subaccounts may be expended only on the authorization of the agency's executive head or designee and only for the purpose of one-time expenditures to improve the quality, efficiency, and effectiveness of services to customers of the state, such as one-time expenditures for employee training, employee incentives, technology improvements, new work processes, or performance measurement. Funds may not be expended from the account to establish new programs or services, expand existing programs or services, or incur ongoing costs that would require future expenditures.

(3) For purposes of this section, "incentive savings" means state general fund appropriations that are unspent as of June 30th of a fiscal year, excluding any amounts included in across-the-board reductions under RCW 43.88.110 and excluding unspent appropriations for:

(a) Caseload and enrollment in entitlement programs, except to the extent that an agency has clearly demonstrated that efficiencies have been achieved in the administration of the entitlement program. "Entitlement program," as used in this section, includes programs for which specific sums of money are appropriated for pass-through to third parties or other entities;

(b) Enrollments in state institutions of higher education;

(c) A specific amount contained in a condition or limitation to an appropriation in the biennial appropriations act, if the agency did not achieve the specific purpose or objective of the condition or limitation;

(d) Debt service on state obligations; and

(e) State retirement system obligations.

(4) The office of financial management, after consulting with the legislative fiscal committees, shall report to the state treasurer the amount of savings incentives achieved. By December 1, 1998, and each December 1st thereafter, the office of financial management shall submit a report to the fiscal committees of the legislature on the implementation of this section. The report shall (a) evaluate the impact of this section on agency reversions and end-of-biennium expenditure patterns, and (b) itemize agency expenditures from the savings recovery account. The office of financial management is relieved from having to submit a report by December 1, 2008.

(5) For fiscal year 2009, the legislature may transfer from the savings incentive account to the state general fund such amounts as reflect the fund balance of the account attributable to unspent state general fund appropriations for fiscal year 2008.

Sec. 903. RCW 43.79.465 and 2004 c 275 s 64 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) The reading achievement account is created in the custody of the state treasurer. The purposes of the account are to establish a depository for state and other funds made available for reading achievement, and to ensure that unspent amounts appropriated for reading achievement continue to be available for that purpose in future biennia.

(2) The director of early learning shall deposit in the account all appropriated funds to the department for reading achievement, including reading foundations and implementation of research-based reading models.

(3) Expenditures from the account may be used only for reading achievement, including reading foundations, implementation of research-based reading models, and grants to school districts. During the 2007-2009 fiscal biennium, the legislature may transfer from the reading achievement account to the state general fund such amounts as reflect the excess fund balance of the account.

(4) Only the director of early learning or the director's designee may authorize expenditures from the account. The account is subject to allotment procedures under chapter 43.88 RCW, but an appropriation is not required for expenditures.

Sec. 905. RCW 49.86.170 and 2007 c 357 s 19 are each amended to read as follows:

If levy reduction funds are dependent on formula factors which would not be finalized until after the start of the current school year, the superintendent of public instruction shall estimate the total amount of levy reduction funds by using prior school year data in place of current school year data. Levy reduction funds shall not include moneys received by school districts from cities or counties.

"PART I - BENEFITS"

Sec. 1. RCW 50.04.030 and 1991 c 117 s 1 are each amended to read as follows:

ELIGIBILITY. "Benefit year" with respect to each individual, means the fifty-two consecutive week period beginning with the first day of the calendar week in which the individual files an application for an initial determination and thereafter the fifty-two consecutive week period beginning with the first day of the calendar week in which the individual next files an application for an initial determination after the expiration of the individual's last preceding benefit year. PROVIDED, HOWEVER, That the foregoing limitation shall not be deemed to preclude the establishment of a new benefit year under the laws of another state pursuant to any agreement providing for the interstate combining of employment and wages at the interstate payment of benefits or shall this limitation be deemed to preclude the commissioner from backdating an initial application at the request of the claimant for the convenience of the department of employment security or for any other reason deemed by the commissioner to be good cause.

An individual's benefit year shall be extended to be fifty-three weeks when at the expiration of fifty-two weeks the establishment of a new benefit year would result in the use of a quarter of wages in the new base year that had been included in the individual's prior base year.

Before July 4, 2010, no benefit year will be established unless it is determined that the individual earned wages in "employment" in not less than six hundred eighty hours of the individual's base year. On or after July 4, 2010, no benefit year will be established unless it is determined that the individual earned wages in "employment" in not less than one thousand three hundred hours of the individual's base year. (C. PROVIDED, HOWEVER, That)) However, a benefit year cannot be established if the base year wages include wages earned prior to the establishment of a prior benefit year unless the individual worked and earned wages since the last separation from employment immediately before the application for initial determination in the previous benefit year if the applicant was an unemployed individual at the time of application, or since the initial separation from employment and the separation from employment if the applicant was not an unemployed individual at the time of filing an application for initial determination for the previous benefit year, of not less than six times the weekly benefit amount computed for the individual's new benefit year.

If an individual's prior benefit year was based on the last four completed calendar quarters, a new benefit year shall not be established until the new base year does not include any hours used in the establishment of the prior benefit year.

If the wages of an individual are not based upon a fixed duration of time or if the individual's wages are paid at irregular intervals or in such manner as to not extend regularly over the period of employment, the wages for any week shall be determined in such manner as the commissioner may by regulation prescribe. Such regulation shall, so far as possible, secure results reasonably similar to those which would prevail if the individual were paid his or her wages at regular intervals.

Sec. 2. RCW 50.04.310 and 2007 c 146 s 5 are each amended to read as follows:

CORPORATE OFFICER ELIGIBILITY. (1) An individual is "unemployed" in any week during which the individual performs no services and with respect to which no remuneration is payable to the individual, or in any week of less than full time work, if the remuneration payable to the individual with respect to such week is less than one and one-third times the individual's weekly benefit amount plus five dollars. The commissioner shall prescribe regulations applicable to unemployed individuals making such distinctions in the procedures as to such types of unemployment as the commissioner deems necessary.

(2) An individual is not "unemployed" during any week which falls totally within a period during which the individual, pursuant to a collective bargaining agreement or individual employment contract, is employed full time in accordance with a definition of full time contained in the agreement or contract, and for which compensation for full time work is payable. This subsection may not be applied retroactively to an individual who had no guarantee of work at the start of such period and subsequently is provided additional work by the employer.

(3)(a) An officer of a corporation who owns ten percent or more of the outstanding stock of the corporation, or a corporate officer who is a family member of an officer who owns ten percent or more of the outstanding stock of the corporation, whose claim for benefits is based on any wages with that corporation, is:

((Not "unemployed" in any week during the individual's term of office or ownership in the corporation, even if wages are not being paid; (ii) "Unemployed" in any week upon dissolution of the corporation or if the officer permanently resigns or is permanently removed from their appointment and responsibilities with that corporation in accordance with its articles of incorporation or bylaws.

(b) This subsection does not apply to officers of corporations with annual revenues of less than two million five hundred thousand dollars.

(4) As used in this section, "family member" means persons who are members of a family by blood or marriage as parents, stepparents, grandparents, spouses, children, brothers, sisters, stepchildren, adopted children, or grandchildren.

Sec. 3. RCW 50.20.099 and 2000 c 2 s 10 are each amended to read as follows:

VERIFICATION. (1) To ensure that unemployment insurance benefits are paid in accordance with RCW 50.20.098, the employment security department shall verify that an individual is eligible to work in the United States and has a social security account number before the individual receives (((training)) unemployement benefits under ((RCW 50.22.150)) this title. The department may use the e-verify program administered by the United States citizenship and immigration services for this purpose.

(2) By July 1, 2002, the employment security department shall:

(a) Develop and implement an effective method for determining, where appropriate, eligibility to work in the United States for individuals applying for unemployment benefits under this title;

(b) Review verification systems developed by federal agencies for verifying a person’s eligibility to receive unemployment benefits under this title and evaluate the effectiveness of these systems for use in this state; and

(c) Report its initial findings to the legislature by September 1, 2000, and its final report by July 1, 2002.

(3) Where federal law prohibits the conditioning of unemployment benefits on a verification of an individual's status as a qualified or authorized alien, the requirements of this section shall not apply.

Sec. 4. RCW 50.20.050 and 2008 c 323 s 1 are each amended to read as follows:

LEAVING WORK VOLUNTARILY. (1) With respect to claims that have an effective date before January 4, 2004:

(a) An individual shall be disqualified from benefits beginning with the first day of the calendar week in which he or she has left work voluntarily without good cause and thereafter for seven calendar weeks and until he or she has obtained bona fide work in employment covered by this title and earned wages in that employment equal to seven times his or her weekly benefit amount. The disqualification shall continue if the work obtained is not bona fide work. In determining whether work is of a bona fide nature, the commissioner shall consider factors including but not limited to the following:

(i) The duration of the work;

(ii) The extent of direction and control by the employer over the work; and
(iii) The level of skill required for the work in light of the individual's training and experience.

(b) An individual shall not be considered to have left work voluntarily without good cause when:

(i) He or she has left work to accept a bona fide offer of bona fide work as described in (a) of this subsection;

(ii) The separation was because of the illness or disability of the claimant or the death, illness, or disability of a member of the claimant's immediate family if the claimant took all reasonable precautions, in accordance with any regulations that the commissioner may prescribe, to prevent such separation by having promptly notified the employer of the reason for the absence and by having promptly requested reemployment when again able to assume employment: PROVIDED, That these precautions need not have been taken when they would have been a futile act, including those instances when the futility of the act was a result of a recognized labor-management dispatch system;

(iii) He or she has left work to relocate for the spouse's employment that is due to an employer-initiated mandatory transfer that is outside the existing labor market area if the claimant remained employed as long as was reasonable prior to the move; or

(iv) The separation was necessary to protect the claimant or the claimant's immediate family members from domestic violence as defined in RCW 26.50.010, or stalking, as defined in RCW 9A.46.110.

(c) In determining under this subsection whether an individual has left work voluntarily without good cause, the commissioner shall only consider work-connected factors such as the degree of risk involved to the individual's health, safety, and morals, the individual's physical fitness for the work, the individual's ability to perform the work, and such other work connected factors as the commissioner may deem pertinent, including state and national emergencies. Good cause shall not be established for voluntarily leaving work because of its distance from an individual's residence where the distance was known to the individual at the time he or she accepted the employment and where, in the judgment of the department, the distance is customarily traveled by workers in the individual's job classification and labor market, nor because of any other significant work factor which was generally known and present at the time he or she accepted employment, unless the related circumstances have so changed as to amount to a substantial involuntary deterioration of the work factor or unless the commissioner determines that other related circumstances would work an unreasonable hardship on the individual were he or she required to continue in the employment.

(d) Subsection (1)(a) and (c) of this section shall not apply to an individual whose marital status or domestic responsibilities cause him or her to leave employment. Such an individual shall not be eligible for unemployment insurance with the first day of the calendar week in which he or she left work and thereafter for seven calendar weeks and until he or she has requalified, either by obtaining bona fide work in employment covered by this title and earning wages in that employment equal to seven times his or her weekly benefit amount or by reporting in person to the department during ten different calendar weeks and certifying on each occasion that he or she is ready, able, and willing to immediately accept any suitable work which may be offered, is actively seeking work pursuant to customary trade practices, and is utilizing such employment counseling and placement services as are available through the department. This subsection does not apply to individuals covered by (b)(ii) or (iii) of this subsection.

(2) With respect to claims that have an effective date on or after January 4, 2004, and before July 4, 2010:

(a) An individual shall be disqualified from benefits beginning with the first day of the calendar week in which he or she has left work voluntarily without good cause and thereafter for seven calendar weeks and until he or she has obtained bona fide work in employment covered by this title and earned wages in that employment equal to seven times his or her weekly benefit amount.

The disqualification shall continue if the work obtained is a mere sham to qualify for benefits and is not bona fide work. In determining whether work is of a bona fide nature, the commissioner shall consider factors including but not limited to the following:

(i) The duration of the work;

(ii) The extent of direction and control by the employer over the work; and

(iii) The level of skill required for the work in light of the individual's training and experience.

(b) An individual is not disqualified from benefits under (a) of this subsection when:

(i) He or she has left work to accept a bona fide offer of bona fide work as described in (a) of this subsection;

(ii) The separation was necessary because of the illness or disability of the claimant or the death, illness, or disability of a member of the claimant's immediate family if:

(A) The claimant pursued all reasonable alternatives to preserve his or her employment status by requesting a leave of absence, by having promptly notified the employer of the reason for the absence, and by having promptly requested reemployment when again able to assume employment. These alternatives need not be pursued, however, when they would have been a futile act, including those instances when the futility of the act was a result of a recognized labor-management dispatch system; and

(B) The claimant terminated his or her employment status, and is not entitled to be reinstated to the same position or a comparable or similar position;

(iii) (A) With respect to claims that have an effective date before July 2, 2006, he or she: (I) Left work to relocate for the spouse's employment that, due to a mandatory military transfer: (I) Is outside the existing labor market area; and (II) is in Washington or another state that, pursuant to statute, does not consider such an individual to have left work voluntarily without good cause; and (II) remained employed as long as was reasonable prior to the move;

(B) With respect to claims that have an effective date on or after July 2, 2006, and before July 4, 2010, he or she: (I) Left work to relocate for the spouse's employment that, due to a mandatory military transfer, is outside the existing labor market area; and (II) remained employed as long as was reasonable prior to the move;

(iv) The separation was necessary to protect the claimant or the claimant's immediate family members from domestic violence, as defined in RCW 26.50.010, or stalking, as defined in RCW 9A.46.110;

(v) The individual's usual compensation was reduced by twenty-five percent or more;

(vi) The individual's usual hours were reduced by twenty-five percent or more;

(vii) The individual's worksite changed, such change caused a material increase in distance or difficulty of travel, and, after the change, the commute was greater than is customary for workers in the individual's job classification and labor market;

(viii) The individual's worksite safety deteriorated, the individual reported such safety deterioration to the employer, and the employer failed to correct the hazards within a reasonable period of time;

(ix) The individual left work because of illegal activities in the individual's worksite, the individual reported such activities to the employer, and the employer failed to end such activities within a reasonable period of time;

(x) The individual's usual work was changed to work that violates the individual's religious convictions or sincere moral beliefs; or

(xi) The individual left work to enter an apprenticeship program approved by the Washington state apprenticeship training council. Benefits are payable beginning Sunday of the week prior to the week in which the individual begins active participation in the apprenticeship program.

(3) With respect to claims that have an effective date on or after July 4, 2010, an individual shall be disqualified from benefits beginning with the first day of the calendar week in which he or she has left work voluntarily and thereafter for seven calendar weeks and until he or she has obtained bona fide work in employment covered by this title and earned wages in that employment equal to seven times his or her weekly benefit amount.

The disqualification shall continue if the work obtained is a mere sham to qualify for benefits and is not bona fide work. In determining whether work is of a bona fide nature, the commissioner shall consider factors including but not limited to the following: (a) The duration of the work; (b) the extent of direction and control by the employer over the work; and (c) the level of skill required for the work.

Sec. 5. RCW 50.20.006 and 2006 c 13 s 13 are each amended to read as follows:

GROSS MISCONDUCT. With respect to claims that have an effective date on or after January 4, 2004:

(1) An individual shall be disqualified from benefits beginning with the first day of the calendar week in which he or she has been discharged for misconduct occurring with his or her work and thereafter for the period specified in subsection (i) if he or she has not obtained bona fide work in employment covered by this title and earned wages in that employment equal to ten times his or her weekly benefit amount. Beginning July 1, 2001, the assessment of demand for the individual's occupation or skill sets must be substantially based on declining occupation or skill sets identified in local labor market areas by the local workforce development councils, in cooperation with the employment security department and its local labor market information division, under subsection (10) of this section;

(f) Is enrolled in training approved under this section on a full-time basis determined by the educational institution, and is making satisfactory progress in the training as certified by the educational institution.

(b) Has a definite recall date that is within six months of the date he or she is laid off, or

(c) Is unemployed due to a regular seasonal layoff ((which demonstrates a pattern of unemployment consistent with the provisions of RCW 50.22.0145)). Regular seasonal layoff does not include layoff due to permanent structural downsizing or structural changes in the individual's labor market.

(B) That is likely to enhance the individual's marketable skills and earning power; and

(C) That meets the criteria for performance developed by the workforce training and education coordinating board for the purpose of determining those training programs eligible for funding under Title I of P.L. 105-220.

“Training program” does not include any course of education primarily intended to meet the requirements of a baccalaureate or higher degree, unless the training meets specific requirements for certification, licensing, or for specific skills necessary for the occupation.

(5) Benefits shall be paid as follows:

(a)(i) Except as provided in (a)(iii) of this subsection, for exhaustees who are eligible under subsection (1) of this section, the total training benefit amount shall be fifty-two times the individual's weekly benefit amount, reduced by the total amount of regular benefits and extended benefits paid, or deemed paid, with respect to the benefit year, or

(ii) For exhaustees who are eligible under subsection (2) of this section, for claims filed before June 30, 2002, the total training benefit amount shall be seventy-four times the individual's weekly benefit amount, reduced by the total amount of regular benefits and extended benefits paid, or deemed paid, with respect to the benefit year; or

(b) The weekly benefit amount shall be the same as the regular weekly amount payable during the applicable benefit year and shall be paid under the same terms and conditions as regular benefits. The training benefits shall be paid before any extended benefits but not before any similar federally funded program.

(c) Training benefits are not payable for weeks more than two years beyond the end of the benefit year of the regular claim.

(6) The requirement under RCW 50.22.010(10) relating to exhausting regular benefits does not apply to an individual otherwise eligible for training benefits under this section when the individual's benefit year ends before his or her training benefits are exhausted and the individual is eligible for a new benefit year. These individuals will have the option of remaining on the original claim or filing a new claim.

(7)(a) Except as provided in (b) of this subsection, individuals who receive training benefits under this section or under any previous additional benefits program for training who are not eligible for training benefits under this section for five years from the last receipt of training benefits under this section or under any previous additional benefits program for training.

(b) With respect to claims that are filed before January 5, 2003, an individual in the aerospace industry assigned the standard industrial code "372" or the North American industry classification system code "336411" who received training benefits under this section, and who had been making satisfactory progress in a training program but did not complete the program, is eligible, without regard to the five-year limitation of this section and without regard to the requirement of subsection (1)(b) of this section, if applicable, to receive training benefits under this section in order to complete that training program. The total training benefit amount that applies to the individual is seventy-four times the individual's weekly benefit amount, reduced by the total amount of regular benefits paid, or deemed paid, with respect to the benefit year in which the training program resumed and, if applicable, reduced by the amount of training benefits paid, or deemed paid, with respect to the benefit year in which the training program commenced.

An individual eligible to receive emergency unemployment compensation, so called, under any federal law, shall not be eligible to receive benefits under this section for each week the individual receives such compensation.

(9) All base year employers are interested parties to the approval of training and the granting of training benefits.

(10) By July 1, 2001, each local workforce development council, in cooperation with the employment security department and its labor market information division, must identify occupations and skill sets that are declining and occupations and skill sets that are in high demand. For the purposes of RCW 50.22.130 through 50.22.150 and section 9, chapter 2, Laws of 2000, "high demand" means demand for employment that exceeds the supply of qualified workers for occupations or skill sets in a labor market area. Local workforce development councils must use state and locally developed labor market information. Thereafter, each local workforce development council shall update this information annually or more frequently if needed.

(11) The commissioner shall adopt rules as necessary to implement this section.

Sec. 8. RCW 50.29.021 and 2008 c 323 s 2 are each amended to read as follows:

EXPERIENCE RATING. (1) This section applies to benefits charged to the experience rating accounts of employers for claims that have an effective date on or after January 4, 2004.

(2)(a) An experience rating account shall be established and maintained for each employer, except employers as described in RCW 50.44.010, 50.44.030, and 50.50.030 who have properly elected to make payments in lieu of contributions, taxable local government employers as described in RCW 50.44.035, and those employers who are required to make payments in lieu of contributions, based on existing records of the employment security department.

(b) Benefits paid to an eligible individual shall be charged to the experience rating accounts of each of such individual's employers during the individual's base year in the same ratio that the wages paid by each employer to the individual during the base year bear to the wages paid by all employers to that individual during that base year, except as otherwise provided in this section.

(c) When the eligible individual's separating employer is a covered contribution paying base year employer, benefits paid to the eligible individual shall be charged to the experience rating account of only the individual's separating employer if the individual qualifies for benefits under:

(i) RCW 50.20.050(2)(b)(i), as applicable, and became unemployed after having worked and earned wages in the bona fide work; or

(ii) RCW 50.20.050(2)(b)(v) through (x).

(3) The legislature finds that certain benefit payments, in whole or in part, should not be charged to the experience rating accounts of employers except those employers described in RCW 50.44.010, 50.44.030, and 50.50.030 who have properly elected to make payments in lieu of contributions, taxable local government employers described in RCW 50.44.035, and those employers who are required to make payments in lieu of contributions, as follows:

(a) Benefits paid to any individual later determined to be ineligible shall not be charged to the experience rating account of any contribution paying employer. However, if the benefit claim becomes invalid due to an amendment or adjustment of a report where the employer failed to report or inaccurately reported hours worked or remuneration paid, or both, all benefits paid will be charged to the experience rating account of the contribution paying employer or employers that originally filed the incomplete or inaccurate report or reports. An employer who reimburses the trust fund for benefits paid to workers and who fails to report or inaccurately reported hours worked or remuneration paid, or both, shall reimburse the trust fund for all benefits paid that are based on the originally filed incomplete or inaccurate report or reports.

(b) Benefits paid to an individual filing under the provisions of chapter 50.06 RCW shall not be charged to the experience rating account of any contribution paying employer only if:

(i) The individual files under RCW 50.06.020(1) after receiving crime victims' compensation for a disability resulting from a nonwork-related occurrence; or

(ii) The individual files under RCW 50.06.020(2).

(c) Benefits paid which represent the state's share of benefits payable as extended benefits defined under RCW 50.22.010(6) shall not be charged to the experience rating account of any contribution paying employer.

(d) In the case of individuals who requalify for benefits under RCW 50.20.050 or 50.20.060, benefits based on wage credits earned prior to the disqualifying separation shall not be charged to the experience rating account of the contribution paying employer from whom that separation took place.

(e) Benefits paid to an individual who qualifies for benefits under RCW 50.20.050(2)(b) (iv) or (xi), as applicable, shall not be charged to the experience rating account of any contribution paying employer.

(f) With respect to claims with an effective date on or after the first Sunday following April 22, 2005, benefits paid that exceed the benefits that would have been paid if the weekly benefit amount for the claim had been determined as one percent of the total wages paid in the individual's base year shall not be charged to the experience rating account of any contribution paying employer. This subsection does not apply with respect to the calculation of contribution rates for rate year 2010 and thereafter.

(4)(a) A contribution paying base year employer, not otherwise eligible for relief of charges for benefits under this section, may receive such relief if the benefit charges result from payment to an individual who:

(i) Last left the employ of such employer voluntarily for reasons not attributable to the employer;

(ii) Was discharged for misconduct or gross misconduct connected with his or her work not a result of inability to meet the minimum job requirements;

(iii) Is unemployed as a result of closure or severe curtailment of operation at the employer's plant, building, worksite, or other facility. This closure must be for reasons directly attributable to a catastrophic occurrence such as fire, flood, or other natural disaster; or

(iv) Continues to be employed on a regularly scheduled permanent part-time basis by a base year employer and who at some time during the base year was concurrently employed and subsequently separated from at least one other base year employer. Benefit charge relief ceases when the employment relationship between the employer requesting relief and the claimant is terminated. This subsection does not apply to shared work employers under chapter 50.06 RCW.

(b) The employer requesting relief of charges under this subsection must request relief in writing within thirty days following mailing to the last known address of the notice of the validity determination of such claim, stating the date and reason for the separation or the circumstances of continued employment. The commissioner, upon investigation of the request, shall determine whether relief should be granted.

Sec. 9. RCW 50.29.025 and 2007 c 51 s 1 are each amended to read as follows:

CONTRIBUTION RATES. (1) Except as provided in subsections (2) and (3) of this section, the contribution rate for each employer subject to contributions under RCW 50.24.010 shall be determined under this section.

(a) A fund balance ratio shall be determined by dividing the balance in the unemployment compensation fund as of the September 30th immediately preceding the rate year by the total remuneration paid by all employers subject to contributions during the second calendar year preceding the rate year and reported to the department by the following March 31st. The division shall be carried to the fourth decimal place with the remaining fraction, if any, disregarded. The fund balance ratio shall be expressed as a percentage.

(b) The interval of the fund balance ratio, expressed as a percentage, shall determine which tax schedule in (e) of this subsection shall be in effect for assigning tax rates for the rate year. The intervals for determining the effective tax schedule shall be:

(c) An array shall be prepared, listing all qualified employers in ascending order of their benefit ratios. The array shall show for each qualified employer: (i) Identification number; (ii) benefit ratio; (iii) taxable payrolls for the four calendar quarters immediately preceding the computation date and reported to the department by the cut-off date; (iv) a cumulative total of taxable payrolls consisting of the employer's taxable payroll plus the taxable payrolls of all other employers preceding him or her in the array; and (v) the percentage equivalent of the cumulative total of taxable payrolls.

(d) Each employer in the array shall be assigned to one of twenty rate classes according to the percentage intervals of cumulative taxable payrolls set forth in (e) of this subsection: PROVIDED, That if an employer's taxable payroll falls within two or more rate classes, the employer and any other employer with the same benefit ratio shall be assigned to the lowest rate class which includes any portion of the employer's taxable payroll.

(e) Except as provided in RCW 50.29.026, the contribution rate for each employer in the array shall be the rate specified in the following tables for the rate class to which he or she has been assigned, as determined under (d) of this subsection, within the tax schedule which is to be in effect during the rate year:

(f) The contribution rate for each employer not qualified to be in the array shall be as follows:

(i) Employers who do not meet the definition of "qualified employer" by reason of failure to pay contributions when due shall be assigned a contribution rate two-tenths higher than that in rate class 20 for the applicable rate year, except employers who have an approved agency-deferred payment contract by September 30 of the previous rate year. If any employer with an approved agency-deferred payment contract fails to make any one of the succeeding deferred payments or fails to submit any succeeding tax report and payment in a timely manner, the employer's tax rate shall immediately revert to a contribution rate two-tenths higher than that in rate class 20 for the applicable rate year; and

(ii) For all other employers not qualified to be in the array, the contribution rate shall be a rate equal to the average industry rate as determined by the commissioner; however, the rate may not be less than one percent.

(2) (Beginning with) For contributions assessed for rate years 2005 through 2009, the contribution rate for each employer subject to contributions under RCW 50.24.010 shall be the sum of the array calculation factor rate and the graduated social cost factor rate determined under this subsection, and the solvency surcharge determined under RCW 50.29.041, if any.

(a) The array calculation factor rate shall be determined as follows:

(i) An array shall be prepared, listing all qualified employers in ascending order of their benefit ratios. The array shall show for each qualified employer: (A) Identification number; (B) benefit ratio; and (C) taxable payrolls for the four consecutive calendar quarters immediately preceding the computation date and reported to the employment security department by the cut-off date.

(ii) Each employer in the array shall be assigned to one of forty rate classes according to his or her benefit ratio as follows, and, except as provided in RCW 50.29.026, the array calculation factor rate for each employer in the array shall be the rate specified in the rate class to which the employer has been assigned:

(b) The graduated social cost factor rate shall be determined as follows:

(i) (A) Except as provided in (b)(i)(B) and (C) of this subsection, the commissioner shall calculate the flat social cost factor for a rate year by dividing the total social cost by the total taxable payroll. The division shall be carried to the second decimal place with the remaining fraction disregarded unless it amounts to five hundredths or more, in which case the second decimal place shall be rounded to the next higher digit. The flat social cost factor shall be expressed as a percentage.

(B) If, on the cut-off date, the balance in the unemployment compensation fund is determined by the commissioner to be an amount that will provide more than ten months of unemployment benefits, the commissioner shall calculate the flat social cost factor for the rate year immediately following the cut-off date by reducing the total social cost by the dollar amount that represents the number of months for which the balance in the unemployment compensation fund on the cut-off date will provide benefits above ten months and dividing the result by the total taxable payroll. However, the calculation under this subsection (2)(b)(i)(B) for a rate year may not result in a flat social cost factor that is more than four-tenths lower than the calculation under (b)(i)(A) of this subsection for that rate year.

For the purposes of this subsection, the commissioner shall determine the number of months of unemployment benefits in the unemployment compensation fund using the benefit cost rate for the average of the three highest calendar benefit cost rates in the twenty consecutive completed calendar years immediately preceding the cut-off date or a period of consecutive calendar years immediately preceding the cut-off date that includes three recessions, if longer.

(C) The minimum flat social cost factor calculated under this subsection (2)(b) shall be six-tenths of one percent, except that if the balance in the unemployment compensation fund is determined by the commissioner to be an amount that will provide:

(I) At least twelve months but less than fourteen months of unemployment benefits, the minimum shall be five-tenths of one percent; or

(II) At least fourteen months of unemployment benefits, the minimum shall be five-tenths of one percent, except that, for employers in rate class 1, the minimum shall be forty-five hundredths of one percent.

(ii)(A) Except as provided in (b)(ii)(B) of this subsection, the graduated social cost factor rate for each employer in the array is the flat social cost factor multiplied by the percentage specified as follows for the rate class to which the employer has been assigned in (a)(ii) of this subsection, except that the sum of an employer's array calculation factor rate and the graduated social cost factor rate may not exceed six and five-tenths percent or, for employers whose North American industry classification system code is within "111," "112," "114," "115," "3114," "3117," "42448," or "49312," may not exceed six percent through rate year 2007 and may not exceed five and seven-tenths percent for rate year 2008 and thereafter:

(I) Rate class 1 - 78 percent;

(II) Rate class 2 - 82 percent;

(III) Rate class 3 - 86 percent;

(IV) Rate class 4 - 90 percent;

(V) Rate class 5 - 94 percent;

(VI) Rate class 6 - 98 percent;

(VII) Rate class 7 - 102 percent;
(VIII) Rate class 8 - 106 percent;
(IX) Rate class 9 - 110 percent;
(X) Rate class 10 - 114 percent;
(XI) Rate class 11 - 118 percent; and
(XII) Rate classes 12 through 40 - 120 percent.

(B) For contributions assessed beginning July 1, 2005, through December 31, 2007, for employers whose North American industry classification system code is "111," "112," "1141," "115," "3114," "3117," "42448," or "49312," the graduated social cost factor rate is zero.

(iii) For the purposes of this section:

(A) "Total social cost" means the total amount calculated by subtracting the array calculation factor contributions paid by all employers with respect to the four consecutive calendar quarters immediately preceding the computation date and paid to the employment security department by the cut-off date from the total unemployment benefits paid to claimants in the same four consecutive calendar quarters. To calculate the flat social cost factor for rate year 2005, the commissioner shall calculate the total social cost using the array calculation factor contributions that would have been required to be paid by all employers in the calculation period if (a) of this subsection had been in effect for the relevant period.

(B) "Total taxable payroll" means the total amount of wages subject to tax, as determined under RCW 50.24.010, for all employers in the four consecutive calendar quarters immediately preceding the computation date and reported to the employment security department by the cut-off date.

(c) For employers who do not meet the definition of "qualified employer" by reason of failure to pay contributions when due:

(i) The array calculation factor rate shall be two-tenths higher than that in rate class 40, except employers who have an approved agency-deferred payment contract by September 30th of the previous rate year. If any employer with an approved agency-deferred payment contract fails to make any one of the succeeding deferred payments or fails to submit any succeeding tax report and payment in a timely manner, the employer's tax rate shall immediately revert to an array calculation factor rate two-tenths higher than that in rate class 40; and

(ii) The social cost factor rate shall be the social cost factor rate assigned to rate class 40 under (b)(ii) of this subsection.

(d) For all other employers not qualified to be in the array:

(i) For rate years 2005, 2006, and 2007:

(A) The array calculation factor rate shall be a rate equal to the average industry array calculation factor rate as determined by the commissioner, plus fifteen percent of that amount; however, the rate may not be less than one percent or more than the array calculation factor rate in rate class 40; and

(B) The social cost factor rate shall be a rate equal to the average industry social cost factor rate as determined by the commissioner, plus fifteen percent of that amount, but not more than the social cost factor rate assigned to rate class 40 under (b) of this subsection.

(ii) Beginning with contributions assessed for rate year 2008:

(A) The array calculation factor rate shall be a rate equal to the average industry array calculation factor rate as determined by the commissioner, multiplied by the history factor, but not less than one percent or more than the array calculation factor rate in rate class 40; and

(B) The social cost factor rate shall be a rate equal to the average industry social cost factor rate as determined by the commissioner, multiplied by the history factor, but not more than the social cost factor rate assigned to rate class 40 under (b)(ii) of this subsection; and

(C) The history factor shall be based on the total amount of benefits charged and contributions paid in the three fiscal years ending prior to the computation date by employers not qualified to be in the array, other than employers in (c) of this subsection, who were first subject to contributions in the calendar year ending three years prior to the computation date. The commissioner shall calculate the history ratio by dividing the total amount of benefits charged by the total amount of contributions paid in this three-year period by these employers. The division shall be carried to the second decimal place with the remaining fraction disregarded unless it amounts to five one-hundredths or more, in which case the second decimal place shall be rounded to the next higher digit. The commissioner shall determine the history factor according to the history ratio as follows:

(3) For contributions assessed for rate year 2010 and thereafter, the contribution rate for each employer subject to contributions under RCW 50.24.010 shall be the sum of the array calculation factor rate and the solvency surcharge determined under RCW 50.29.041, if any.

(a) The array calculation factor rate shall be determined as follows:

(i) An array shall be prepared, listing all qualified employers in ascending order of their benefit ratios. The array shall show for each qualified employer: (A) Identification number; (B) benefit ratio; and (C) taxable payroll for the four consecutive calendar quarters immediately preceding the computation date and reported to the employment security department by the cut-off date.

(ii) Each employer in the array shall be assigned to one of forty rate classes according to his or her benefit ratio as follows, and, except as provided in RCW 50.29.026, the array calculation factor rate for each employer in the array shall be the rate specified in the rate class to which the employer has been assigned:

(c) For employers who do not meet the definition of "qualified employer" by reason of failure to pay contributions when due:

(i) The array calculation factor rate shall be two-tenths higher than that in rate class 40, except employers who have an approved agency-deferred payment contract by September 30th of the previous rate year. If any employer with an approved agency-deferred payment contract fails to make any one of the succeeding deferred payments or fails to submit any succeeding tax report and payment in a timely manner, the employer's tax rate shall immediately revert to an array calculation factor rate two-tenths higher than that in rate class 40.

(d) For all other employers not qualified to be in the array, the contribution rate shall be the contribution rate specified in this subsection, but not less than one percent:

(i) In the first two consecutive rate years in which an employer is not qualified, the array calculation factor rate shall be a rate equal to fifty percent of the average industry array calculation factor rate as determined by the commissioner;

(ii) In the second two consecutive rate years in which an employer is not qualified, the array calculation factor rate shall be a rate equal to seventy-five percent of the average industry array calculation factor rate as determined by the commissioner.

(4) Assignment of employers by the commissioner to industrial classification, for purposes of this section, shall be in accordance with established classification practices found (in the "Standard Industrial Classification Manual" issued by the federal office of management and budget to the third digit provided in the standard industrial classification system code).
class attributable to the predecessor is transferred to the successor. Beginning with the January 1st following the transfer, the successor's contribution rate shall be based on a combination of the transferred experience of the acquired business and the successor's experience after the transfer, or:

(B) The contribution rate equal to the average industry rate as determined by the commissioner, but not less than one percent, and continuing until the successor qualifies for a different rate in its own right. Assignment of employers by the commissioner to industrial classification, for purposes of this subsection, must be in accordance with established classification practices found in the North American industry classification system issued by the federal office of management and budget to the fourth digit provided in the North American industry classification system.

(ii) If the successor simultaneously acquires the business or a portion of the business of two or more employers in different rate classes, its rate from the date of the transfer occurred until the end of that rate year and until it qualifies in its own right for a new rate, shall be the rate of the highest rate class applicable at the time of the acquisition to any predecessor employer who is a party to the acquisition, but not less than one percent.

(b) For transfers on or after January 1, 2005:

(i) Except as provided in (ii) and (iii) of this subsection (2)(b), the successor shall pay contributions:

(A) At the contribution rate assigned to the predecessor employer at the time of the transfer and not the new employer rate for the remainder of that rate year, so long as the successor retains at least sixty percent of the predecessor's employees. Any experience attributable to the predecessor relating to the assignment of the predecessor's rate class is transferred to the successor.

(B) Beginning January 1st following the transfer, the successor's contribution rate for each rate year shall be based on an array calculation factor rate that is a combination of the following: The successor's experience with payrolls and benefits; and any experience assigned to the predecessor involved in the transfer. If only a portion of the predecessor's business is transferred, then the experience attributable to the acquired portion is assigned to the successor if qualified under RCW 50.29.010(6) by including the transferred experience. If not qualified under RCW 50.29.010(6), the contribution rate shall equal the sum of the rates determined by the commissioner under RCW 50.29.025(((i) and (ii))) (d)(i), and 50.29.041, if applicable, and continuing until the successor qualifies for a different rate, including the transferred experience.

(ii) If there is a substantial continuity of ownership, control, or management by the successor of the business of the predecessor, the successor shall pay contributions at the contribution rate determined for the predecessor employer at the time of the transfer for the remainder of that rate year. Any experience attributable to the predecessor relating to the assignment of the predecessor's rate class is transferred to the successor. Beginning January 1st following the transfer, the successor's array calculation factor rate shall be based on a combination of the transferred experience of the acquired business and the successor's experience after the transfer.

(iii) If the successor simultaneously acquires the business or a portion of the business of two or more employers with different contribution rates, the successor's rate from the date the transfer occurred until the end of that rate year and until it qualifies in its own right for a new rate, shall be the sum of the rates determined by the commissioner under RCW 50.29.025(2) (a) and (b), and 50.29.041, applicable at the time of the acquisition, to the predecessor employer who, among the parties to the acquisition, had the largest total payroll in the completed calendar quarter immediately preceding the date of transfer, but not less than the sum of the rates determined by the commissioner under RCW 50.29.025(2) ((i) and (ii))) (d)(i), and 50.29.041, if applicable.

(3) With respect to predecessor employers:

(a) The contribution rate on any payroll retained by a predecessor employer shall remain unchanged for the remainder of the rate year in which the transfer occurs.

(b) In all cases, beginning January 1st following the transfer, the predecessor's contribution rate or the predecessor's array calculation factor for each rate year shall be based on its experience with payrolls and benefits as of the regular computation date for that rate year excluding the experience of the transferred business or transferred portion of business as that experience has transferred to the successor; PROVIDED, That if all of the predecessor's business is transferred to a successor or successors, the predecessor shall not be a qualified employer until it satisfies the requirements of a "qualified employer" as set forth in RCW 50.29.010.

(4) For purposes of this section, "transfer of a business" means the same as RCW 50.29.063(4)(c).

Sec. 12. RCW 50.16.010 and 2008 c 329 s 915 are each amended to read as follows:

FUMDS. PART IV - MISCELLANEOUS

NEW SECTION. Sec. 15. FEDERAL SEVERABILITY. If any part of this act is found to be in conflict with federal requirements that are a prescribed condition to the allocation of federal funds to the state or the eligibility of employers in this state for federal unemployment tax credits, the conflicting part of this act is inoperable solely to the extent of the conflict, and the finding or determination does not affect the operation of the remainder of this act. Rules adopted under this act must meet federal requirements that are a necessary condition to the receipt of federal funds by the state or the granting of federal unemployment tax credits to employers in this state.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 16. STATE SEVERABILITY. If any provision of this act or its application to any person or circumstance is held invalid, the remainder of the act or the application of the provision to other persons or circumstances is not affected.

Correct the title.

POINT OF ORDER
Representative Hudgins requested a scope and object ruling on amendment (009) to Substitute House Bill No. 1906.

SPEAKER'S RULING
Mr. Speaker (Representative Morris presiding): "Representative Hudgins has raised a point of order requesting a scope and object ruling on amendment (009) to Substitute House Bill No. 1906.

The substitute bill before the House is titled an act relating to "improving economic security through unemployment compensation". It amends and creates new sections to Chapter 50 of the Revised Code of Washington, relating to unemployment compensation.

The substitute bill provides for a temporary increase in unemployment benefits for unemployed workers and expands eligibility for training benefits to low-wage workers, honorably discharged military personnel and workers who are disabled. It also eliminates restrictions on shared work programs and provides that employers will not be charged in unemployment compensation tax rates for the benefits provided in the bill.

The scope of the bill, as expressed in the title, is the unemployment compensation system. The object of the bill is to assist unemployed workers under the unemployment compensation system.

While portions of Amendment (009) relate to unemployed worker benefits under the unemployment compensation system, other provisions relate to business and occupation tax rates under RCW 82.04 and housing programs under the direction of the Department of Community, Trade and Economic Development.

The amendment clearly exceeds both the scope and object of the bill.
Representative Hudgins, your point of order is well taken."

The bill was ordered engrossed.

There being no objection, the rules were suspended, the second reading considered the third and the bill was placed on final passage.

Representatives Conway, Ross, Newhouse, Kenney, Condotta, Seaquist and Walsh spoke in favor of passage of the bill.

Representative Chandler spoke against passage of the bill.

The Speaker (Representative Morris presiding) stated the question before the House to be the final passage of Engrossed Substitute House Bill No. 1906.

MOTIONS
On motion of Representative Santos, Representatives Driscoll and Hunter were excused. On motion of Representative Walsh, Representatives Herrera and Hinkle were excused.

ROLL CALL
The Clerk called the roll on the final passage of Engrossed Substitute House Bill No. 1906 and the bill passed the House by the following vote: Yeas, 91; Nays, 2; Absent, 0; Excused, 4.

Voting yea: Representatives Alexander, Angel, Appleton, Armstrong, Bailey, Blake, Campbell, Carlyle, Chase, Clibborn, Cody, Condotta, Conway, Cox, Crouse, Dammeyer, Darnell,
The House was called to order at 11:30 a.m. by the Speaker (Representative Morris presiding). The Clerk called the roll and a quorum was present.

The flags were escorted to the rostrum by a Sergeant at Arms Color Guard, Pages Rose Hopper and Emily Hunter. The Speaker (Representative Morris presiding) led the Chamber in the Pledge of Allegiance. The prayer was offered by Randy McKown, Christian Science Church, Olympia.

President Owen: "The purpose of this Joint Session is to present the Washington State Medal of Merit Awards to very deserving individuals. It is now my pleasure to present Governor Chris Gregoire."

Governor Gregoire: "Good afternoon. I’m privileged and I’m touched to be part of this ceremony. Today we are honoring not just four truly generous Washingtonians, we are honoring the spirit of generosity itself. And if ever we, the people of Washington, need to renew that spirit, it’s now.

We’re in tough times, and they’re getting tougher. We need to find ways to help our neighbors. We need to find ways to help the stranger down the street. We need to find ways to lean a little more on each other, and more ways to be generous.

As Winston Churchill put it, you make a living by what you get, but you make a life by what you give. The four Washingtonians we are honoring today have given so much to their fellow human beings in so many ways. They did it with important ideas to make this State and this world a better place. They did it with material resources to ease suffering, and they did it with something all too rare, a strong belief that their work is not all about them, but all about their fellow human beings. These are, and were, incredibly generous Washingtonians!

Bill Gates Sr., through his work as co-chair of the Bill and Melinda Gates Foundation to ease the suffering of people all around the globe. Wilfred Woods, through his newspaper, "The Wenatchee World", and his tireless activism to promote economic development in North-Central Washington from public power to highways. The late Emma Smith DeVoe, and May Arkwright Hutton, who gave Washington a great gift, Women’s Suffrage, and empowered the movement for women’s rights that continues even today.

I want to thank these four Washingtonians, and their families. We’re honoring them at an especially significant time, a time unseen since the Great Depression. These four Washingtonians exemplify the kind of spirit that we very much need to get through these times. Thank you, and congratulations to the medal honorees."

Secretary of State Sam Reed: "It is indeed an honor and privilege that the Legislature has placed the Medal of Merit program into the Office of Secretary of State. I am grateful to all of you attending today, and to the families and friends of the recipients.

The medal is awarded by a committee consisting of the Governor, the Lieutenant Governor, the Speaker of the House of Representatives and the Chief Justice of the Washington State Supreme Court. The Deputy Speaker Pro Tempore represented the Speaker and did an outstanding job. I want to thank the four of them because they took very strong personal interest in this and helped make this happen.

Along with choosing the recipients, the committee also chose the design and layout of the medal and the accompanying certificates. The Medal of Merit was produced and designed by the Washington State-based Territorial Mint in Auburn using guidelines laid out in the Revised Code of Washington. They are of the highest quality and are testaments to the professionalism and attention to detail of the people who made them.

The Medal of Merit is solid bronze displaying the seal of the State of Washington, surrounded by a raised laurel wreath and suspended from a ring attached by a dark green ribbon. The reverse of the decoration within the raised laurel wreath is inscribed with the recipient’s name and the words: "For exceptionally meritorious conduct in performing outstanding services to the people of the State of Washington."

The certificate, accompanying the medals, are signed by each committee member representing three branches of our government: Executive, Judicial and Legislative. It is my honor as the Keeper of the State Seal to affix the Seal of the State of Washington along with my signature to each of the certificates. Like the medals, each certificate bears the name of the recipient and why they have been awarded this prestigious honor.

I wish to thank all of those who made this auspicious occasion possible – the staff of the Secretary of State’s Office, particularly Megan Moreno and the Legislative staff, especially Patty Moore. I really appreciate the efforts that were made. And a special thanks to all of those who had a hand in making the event a success from the Washington State Patrol and the State Capitol Tours Office.

I especially want to thank and congratulate each recipient being nominated and chosen for this honor."
Finally, I want to thank their family and their friends who traveled to Olympia to be here today for their support and consideration.

Thank you very much."

MEDAL OF MERIT

Mr. President: "We will now honor the Medal of Merit recipients. The Medal of Merit is to honor those who have been distinguished by exceptionally meritorious conduct in performing outstanding service to the people and State of Washington."

EMMA SMITH DeVOE AND MAY ARKWRIGHT HUTTON

Deputy Speaker Pro Tempore Moeller: "It's a great honor and privilege for me to introduce and express our respect and recognition for Emma Smith DeVoe and May Arkwright Hutton. And thank you very much, to Corky Mattingly, for being here today to receive this award on behalf of two of our state's most courageous and forward-thinking pioneers.

You, yourself, Mr. Mattingly, are certainly to be commended for the time you take from your work as Yakima County Auditor to serve on the Advisory Board of the Women's History Consortium. Thank you for your selfless service in guarding the interests of Washingtonians today and tomorrow as well as celebrating the lives of yesterday's Washingtonians.

Suffragists Emma Smith DeVoe and May Arkwright Hutton were the paramount champions in the struggle toward securing the ballot for Washington women. It was through the unflagging perseverance of these two women that we lay claim to the status of being the fifth of the then forty six states to establish women's suffrage. In representing the two geographic halves of our Evergreen State, these two women led the historic enterprise that culminated in our 1910 enactment of women's suffrage. That our state is a national leader today in electing women to local, statewide, and national offices is a testament to the perseverance and farsightedness of Emma Smith DeVoe and May Arkwright Hutton.

In 2000, Emma Smith DeVoe was named to the National Women's Hall of Fame, a fitting recognition for her achievements in the fight for women's suffrage. Newspaper headlines mourned her passing in 1927 as the death of a "Mother of Woman's Suffrage."

Before she and her family moved to the State of Washington in the early 1900's, May Arkwright Hutton had in fact already helped win the ballot for women in Idaho. A tireless philanthropist on top of her great standing in the suffrage movement, she passed in 1915 — a wonderful life wonderfully led.

We stand today just a year ahead of the centennial of women's suffrage in the State of Washington. How very appropriate that the 2009 Medal of Merit be awarded to two Washington suffragettes whose lives were dedicated to a just, historic and rightful cause."

The Governor presented to Corky Mattingly, on behalf of May Arkwright Hutton and Emma Smith DeVoe, the Medals of Merit and certificates.

Corky Mattingly: "As Washington approaches the 2010 centennial of women's suffrage, it seems fitting that the two women who spearheaded the victory be recognized with the Washington Medal of Merit. As a voting woman and elected official, I am pleased to accept these medals as a proud descendant of their work and ideals of equal rights for women.

As leaders in the final suffrage victory in 1910, May Arkwright Hutton of Spokane and Emma Smith DeVoe of Tacoma, embody the single minded efforts of Washington women to achieve the vote. Hutton and DeVoe were the outstanding figures of the 1909-1910 campaign which employed the strategies of appealing to western women for justice for their wives, mothers, and sisters while forming coalitions and conducting a modern media campaign. After authorization from the legislature in 1909, Washington women campaigned for the ratification of the amendment to the Washington Constitution which culminated in a wide majority vote on November 8, 1910. As the fifth state and the first state in the 20th century to enact women's suffrage, Washington's stunning victory in 1910 is widely credited with re-invigorating the national movement.

These two women, May Arkwright Hutton and Emma Smith DeVoe, did not always agree on tactics but they used their own political savvy to organize women east and west of the Cascades.

Born in Ohio, May Arkwright Hutton came to Northern Idaho in the 1880s and married Levi Hutton, a railroad engineer. Together they purchased a minor interest in a mine that paid off when they struck high grade silver ore in 1901 and they moved to Spokane in 1906. At first aligned with Emma Smith DeVoe, Hutton later formed the Washington Political Equality League during the 1909-10 ratification campaign. Hutton had a distinctive, direct, democratic style and approach, believing in the power of the vote for working women and equality for women taxpayers. In 1912, she was one of the first women delegates to the Democratic National Convention. She died in 1915 at the age of 55. Levi Hutton continued the Hutton's charitable legacy, establishing the Hutton Settlement for children in Spokane in 1919, which endures today.

Emma Smith DeVoe was born in Illinois and when she was eight years old, she attended a speech by Susan B. Anthony on women's suffrage and when the crowd was asked who was for women voting, she rose to her feet. Well educated, DeVoe worked as a Organizer for the National Women's Suffrage Association and was instrumental in many states. She came to Washington and began organizing in earnest in 1906. She headed the Washington Equal Suffrage Association. Emma Smith DeVoe was the great organizer for the Washington campaign and has been credited with its victory in 1910 but not without controversy because of her sometimes autocratic style.

She was appointed to a position on the Republican National Committee in the early 1920s. At the age of seventy six, Emma Smith DeVoe was elected to the National Women's Hall of Fame in 2000. The Washington State Historical Society and Washington Women's History Consortium cordially invites everyone to attend the opening of the Women's Suffrage Centennial Exhibit, Women's Votes, Women's Voices, Saturday, February 28th, 11:30am, at the Tacoma Washington State History Museum. The exhibit will travel and features rare women's history, documents and artifacts from across the United States."

WILFRED WOODS

Mr. President: "Retired publisher Wilfred Woods hails from North Central Washington, the region that for many years his newspaper has boldly proclaimed as the "Apple Capital of the World and the Buckle of the Power Belt of the Great Northwest." The accomplishments of our honoree today are nearly as grand, even if he has been quiet about touting them. So we are doing that today. This lifetime Wenatchee resident has been a grand champion of civic and economic concerns of North Central Washington.

His father, Rufus Woods, was publisher of the "Wenatchee Daily World" from 1907 until his death in 1950 and forever made his mark as the chief proponent of the Grand Coulee Dam. Following his father’s passing, Wilfred became editor and publisher of that newspaper, which shortened its name to the "Wenatchee World" in 1971. During his 47 years as the newspaper's publisher, Wilfred Woods continued his father’s efforts to promote economic development. Wilfred dedicated many stories and personal columns to the public power, highways, port districts and the history of natural resources in North Central Washington. In 1997, Mr. Woods retired as publisher, giving control of the newspaper to his son, Rufus.

Mr. Woods has been a dedicated historian and community educator and has written many articles informing readers of resource development, agriculture and orchard growth, geography, climate, archaeology, Native American history, education and environmental concerns. The Woods family helped found Wenatchee Valley College, where Mr. Woods is married to his wife, Kathy. Kry, 28th, 11:30am and attended and participated in many educational lectures and forums by scholars, activists and influential leaders. He has been a philanthropic leader in the region, especially with the arts. He helped to establish the Woods Conservatory of Music, and he was part of a group of local business people, artists and government representatives that led the drive for a Performing Arts Center of Wenatchee.
Mr. Woods has been involved in many statewide projects, serving several years on the State Parks Commission and the State Centennial Commission, and 10 years on the board of the American Forestry Association. He is a former trustee of the Washington State Historical Society.

Wilfred and Kathleen Woods have been married for 56 years. They have one son, Rufus, and two daughters, Gretchen Woods and Kara Hunnicutt, and three grandchildren. I'm told that at nearly 89, Mr. Woods hasn't really slowed down at all. He is truly a powerhouse of the region and of Washington State, and is very deserving of this Medal of Merit. On behalf of the committee, I would like to thank you, Wilfred Woods, for your lifetime of public service.”

The Governor presented Wilfred Woods with the Medal of Merit and certificate.

Wilfred Woods: "Thank you. I had this opportunity thanks to a business that allowed me the opportunity to help serve Central Washington, and the State of Washington. And all with the help of my wife Kathy.

We looked for opportunities for state and local people to participate. I thank my stars I came along at a time when I was able to participate. I hope that our future generations have the same opportunity, and the education and cultural advantages which help make the State of Washington the great state it is today.

Thank you very much."

WILLIAM H. GATES, SR.

Chief Justice Gerry Alexander: "Thank you, President Owen. The Washington State Medal of Merit is not awarded very frequently, and as you've heard it goes only to a person who has displayed exceptionally meritorious conduct in performing outstanding service to the people of the State of Washington. Today, I have the very great honor and privilege of presenting to you, Governor Gregoire, and all those present today, such a person, William H. Gates Sr.

Bill Gates is truly a man for all seasons – patriot, distinguished attorney at law, bar and civic leader, philanthropist, and exemplary husband and parent. In the time allotted to me I can only skim the surface in describing the career accomplishments of this outstanding Washingtonian, and knowing Bill Gates, he would probably be very uncomfortable if I went on too long in doing that, but let me just tell you a little about this man.

Bill Gates was raised in Bremerton and went to high school there. During his school years, he was active in scouting, achieving the Eagle Scout award in 1941. Like many of his generation, the generation Tom Brokaw called the "Greatest American Generation", Bill Gates realized his education were put on a serious hold after graduation of high school and one year of college. They were put on hold due to the advent of World War II. Indeed, in 1943 after graduating high school and attending the University of Washington for one year, Bill enlisted in the United States Army and fought in that war until it ended. Upon receiving his discharge from the Army in 1946, Bill Gates returned to the University of Washington and like many of his contemporaries, he received help in completing his education from the GI Bill. Bill's re-enrollment at the University of Washington resumed a long association with that University, one which benefitted him, and as I will explain in a minute, greatly benefitted the University of Washington and the State of Washington.

Bill obtained his B.A. degree in 1949 and his law degree, also from the University of Washington, in 1950.

Upon graduating and passing the state bar examination, Bill entered the private practice of law in Seattle with a firm he co-founded and which was known for many years as Preston, Gates and Ellis. Today it is one of the Nation's largest law firms currently known as K and L Gates. During the years in which Bill Gates actively practiced law, he was one of the State's foremost leaders of the Bar serving a term as the president of the Seattle/King County Bar Association followed by service as governor and president of the Washington State Bar association. In addition, Bill Gates headed up numerous committees and commissions that were devoted to and succeeded in improving the administration of justice in this State. Notably he served on the Board for Judicial Administration of the State of Washington, and the Board for the National Center for State Courts.

On top of his bar activities, Bill Gates has, to put it mildly, been very active in the broader community, serving on boards and as officer of numerous charitable organizations such as the Chief Seattle Council of the Boy Scouts of America, and the board of the United Way for King County. His service for the United Way included the challenging task of heading up the United Way's King County fund raising campaign of 1989.

In recent years, particularly since his retirement from the active practice of law in 1998, Bill has devoted huge amounts of his time to two institutions that mean a great deal to him, institutions which have had a great impact on our state, our Nation, and the World.

The first is his alma mater, the University of Washington. As I mentioned, Bill's relationship with the University of Washington began actually in the early 1940s and continued in 1946 when he re-enrolled there. It has continued and it has flourished over the years. Bill has served the university in many ways including service as a member of the Board of Regents of the University of Washington. As an alum of the University of Washington myself, I am proud that Bill was named a distinguished alumus of the University of Washington Law School and that the Law School is now named William Gates Hall. In my opinion, Bill's most notable service to the University of Washington has been through his work with the University of Washington Foundation and particularly his chairing of a fund raising campaign that raised 2.6 billion – not million – 2.6 billion dollars for the University of Washington. If that was not the largest fund raising campaign ever for a publicly funded university it came awfully close I'm sure. In a letter to the Medal of Merit Committee, University of Washington President Mark Emmert said this about Bill's effort, and I quote, "Bill's contributions to the University of Washington are simply unparalleled. He has witnessed and influenced all phases of the University's history over the last 65 years, from his days of student activism to his selfless service on numerous committees and boards. A regent since 1985, he recently chaired 'Campaign UW Creating Futures', the University's largest fundraising campaign ever. The campaign was a phenomenal success, exceeding its original goal and raising more than 2.6 billion over eight years. While this is an impressive amount by any standards, its true value lies in the impact it has on our students, faculty and staff, and their ability to make our state and our world a better place."

The other institution that has benefitted immeasurably from Bill's time and talent has been the Gates Foundation. As most of you know, the largesse for this foundation has been provided by Bill's son and daughter-in-law. But much of the vision and strategic direction for the Foundation has been provided by the man we are honoring here today. How this came about is described in a letter by former Governor Daniel Evans, and I'm glad he is here today. Governor Evans himself is a recipient of the Washington Medal of Merit as you will remember. Governor Evans says this in his letter about Bill Gates, and I quote, "at the age when most of us think about retiring, Bill began a demanding new career in philanthropy. Years ago when his son Bill said to his dad in exasperation, "what do I do with all these requests for charity?" Bill Sr. said 'let me help you out' and took a cardboard box full of the requests. That was the birth of the Bill and Melinda Gates Foundation. He has built the Foundation into the largest charitable foundation in the world. But not just from the head office; he has traveled the world to see for himself where needs exist and how the Gates Foundation can use its resources most effectively. From Bangladesh to Central Africa, he has traipsed through poverty stricken villages at a pace few can match." Governor Evans goes on to say, "I think I am pretty active, but I am merely trotting while Bill Gates still runs at full speed." While the Gates Foundation is famous for its work to improve health and education for millions of the world's poorest people, it is also at work in our state. Just a few examples: Sound Families a partnership with agencies in Pierce, King and Snohomish counties, that provides transitional housing and support services to almost 1500 homeless families; Thrive by Five the Washington Early Learning Fund; a public-private partnership to ensure that children in our state have the greatest chance at success in school and life. Washington"
State Achievers Scholarship, a partnership with high schools that serve low income populations to re-design the high school experience, create early college awareness in students, and provide scholarships to successful students.

The last hallmark of Bill Gates' life that I would like to mention, and I'll close with this. This is one I noted at the outset of my remarks -- the fact that he has been an exemplary husband and parent. Bill and his late wife Mary Maxwell Gates, met at the University of Washington. They raised three children, Kristianne, Bill and Libby. Mary Gates died in 1994, and in 1996 Bill married Mimi Gardner Gates, who is the director of the Seattle Art Museum. I know that Bill and Mimi and Mary, during her life, have been very proud of their children, just as their children and the entire community of the State of Washington are proud of William Gates Sr.

Governor Gregoire, I am very honored to present William H. Gates Sr. to you to receive the Washington State Medal of Merit."

The Governor presented William H. Gates Sr. with the Medal of Merit and certificate.

William H. Gates Sr.: "Thank you, Governor for those very kind words, and Chief Justice for the very wonderful introduction. It's really quite humbling, but of course I have a lot to be humble about. This morning was such a perfect icon for my life, seated behind and located in the shadow of a great woman, who is my life. Thank you, Mimi.

I thought that the most admirable impulse of human kind was our desire to change things for the better. Lord knows we haven't got it all figured out yet, but we keep trying. The impulse to make improvements is what motivated me to become active in civic affairs and I'm really pleased and proud to be recognized for the small things I've done in the last 60 years. Looking back, I'm confident in the fact, besides my family, the one factor that made it possible for me to develop such abilities I may have had, is the public education I received from the State of Washington. My father left school in the 8th grade. I grew up in Bremerton during the Great Depression. Even so, I received an excellent public education -- from first grade all the way through law school. Without it, I could not have done any of the things I am being recognized for today.

Poor kids nowadays, they don't get that chance. I just learned this fact from my son, who is in the Chamber with us today, that low income young people are more likely to go to jail than to earn a four year college degree. That is a gross violation of the values that make this country so great. For the past decade I have been working with my son and daughter-in-law to advance their foundation's mission in guaranteeing that all students get the high quality education they deserve. Our society as a whole should set the same goal. If we succeed, then that success, that success, will be the really meritorious thing any of us could accomplish. Thank you."

RESOLUTION

HOUSE RESOLUTION NO. 2009-4614, by Representatives Armstrong, Orcutt, Ross, Halter, Hope, Johnson, Appleton, Driscoll, Dammeier, and Green

WHEREAS, Washington is the only state named for an American president, George Washington, the father of our country, and as such, we Washingtonians hold the presidency and presidents in especially high regard; and

WHEREAS, For many years our state and nation have set aside the third Monday in February to celebrate Presidents' Day, which honors President George Washington, President Abraham Lincoln, and other former presidents of the United States of America; and

WHEREAS, It was in 1968 when federal legislation, the "Monday Holidays Act," was passed to install Presidents' Day celebration that we have come to know and respect; and

WHEREAS, Although many Americans celebrate Presidents' Day as a time for specifically honoring the specific legacies of Presidents Washington, the first American president, and Abraham Lincoln, the 16th American president, many other Americans celebrate Presidents' Day as a time for honoring the legacies of former presidents John Adams, Thomas Jefferson, James Madison, John Quincy Adams, Martin Van Buren, Andrew Johnson, Ulysses Grant, James Garfield, and Teddy Roosevelt, as well as the presidents of later decades; and

WHEREAS, In 1985, the Washington state legislature singed out the third Monday in February as a day for commemorating the births of Presidents Washington and Lincoln; and

WHEREAS, It is recognized that this diverse, wonderful land of ours has been fashioned into a land of freedom and opportunity thanks to the tireless efforts of our forefathers, especially Presidents George Washington and Abraham Lincoln; and

WHEREAS, The first eight American presidents, comprising over a fifth of our forty-four presidents to date, did not begin their lives as Americans because there was no America when they were born, thus in a special way our reputation as a land of opportunity was established; and

WHEREAS, Presidents' Day celebration would not be complete without recognizing the invaluable service of the first ladies in our American presidential history; and

WHEREAS, The first ladies of our nation have not only provided citizens with role models who exemplify what it means to be an American but first ladies such as Abigail Adams, Dolly Madison, Eleanor Roosevelt, Jacqueline Kennedy, and Nancy Reagan have served as symbols of strength in times of adversity throughout our history;

(e) Permitting flexible recruitment and hiring procedures that enable agencies to compete effectively with other employers, both public and private, for managers with appropriate skills and training; allowing consideration of all qualified candidates for positions as managers; and achieving affirmative action goals and diversity in the workplace;
(f) Providing that managers may only be reduced, dismissed, suspended, or demoted for cause; and

COMMITTEE APPOINTMENTS

The Speaker (Representative Morris presiding) announced the following committee appointment change:
Representative Roberts was removed from the Committee on Public Safety & Emergency Preparedness.

The House was declared to be at ease for the purpose of Joint Session in the Senate.

JOINT SESSION

The House arrived at the doors of the Senate. The Sergeant at Arms of the Senate and the Sergeant at Arms of the House escorted Speaker Frank Chopp, Speaker Pro Tempore Jeff Morris, Majority Leader Lynn Kessler, and Minority Leader Richard DeBolt to seats on the rostrum. The Representatives were invited to seats within the Chamber.

The President called the Joint Session to order. The Secretary called the roll of the House members. The Secretary called the roll of Senate members. A quorum of the Legislature was present.
The Secretary called the roll of former members present: Del Bausch, Mike Cooper, Wayne Ehlers, Stuart Halsan, Joan Houchen, Dick King, Bill Kiskaddon, R.H. "Bob" Lewis, Gary Nelson, Lena Swanson, Sid Snyder and Joe Taller.

The Secretary introduced the Statewide elected officials: Sam Reed, Secretary of State; Randy Dorn, Superintendent of Public Instruction; and Peter Goldmark, Commissioner of Public Lands.

The Flags were escorted to the rostrum by a Color Guard of members of the Washington State Patrol and the Olympia Detachment of the Marine Corps League. The President led the Chamber in the Pledge of Allegiance.

President Owen: "Honored members of the Legislature, ladies and gentlemen, the purpose of this joint session is to conduct a memorial service in memory of departed former members of the Legislature. This has been our longstanding custom. For more than a century the Senate and House have met as we meet today – to pay special and fitting tribute to the lives and service of these valued public servants, and to express our sympathies to their families and friends. On behalf of the Senate and the House of Representatives, I would like to extend a warm welcome to the family members, friends and colleagues who are with us today."

The President called upon Speaker Pro Tempore Jeff Morris to preside.

The Invocation was offered by Pastor Sandra Kreis of Shelton.

"We gather this day to honor and remember legislators of Washington State who have served these august bodies. We grieve their passing, but we honor them for their service and give thanks for all they have given to the state and to us personally. I believe they may have been familiar with this passage from the Prophet Micah in the Old Testament: "God has told you O mortal, what is good; and what does the Lord require of you, but to do justice, love kindness, and walk humbly with your God?"

Holding the position of lawmaker in this place means that one would be about doing justice, living and acting with compassion and certainly realizing their place as a part of a larger body. We praise these men and women who served in this way understanding that respect and compromise were their greatest gifts.

As we continue to live on this earth, we are reminded by the Old Testament writer of the book of Ecclesiastes that our time here is a gift from our creator and has its season:

"time to be born and a time to die;
A time to plant and a time to pluck which is planted;
A time to break down and a time to build up;
A time to weep and a time to laugh;
A time to mourn and a time to dance;
For everything there is a season,
And a time for every matter under heaven."

So we gather to remember these your servants:

Let us pray: Gracious God, we give thanks for these persons who have toiled with care and diligence in this place of governance. We thank you for guiding them with the love of justice and compassion for all. May their example encourage those gathered here who continue their legacy. May they too find ways to show compassion for those in need and serve the people of this great state with honor. Comfort and bless those here who have lost a colleague, a friend, a family member, may their lives be richer for knowing your child. May we continue to live lives of service and sacrifice emulating those we have lost. May their example encourage and strengthen us in our daily walk. And now o God we ask that you bless these moments as we remember and honor those who have left our side....help us to learn from their lives. Thanks be to God. Amen."

Sergeant Patty Lankford of the Washington State Patrol sang "Ave Maria."

Speaker Pro Tempore Morris: "We gather today to pay tribute to the contributions of the distinguished former members of the Washington State Senate and House of Representatives who have passed from among us. The people of our state are grateful for their service.

The Sixty-First Legislature conveys its respects to these deceased legislators. They once sat in these chambers, answered roll calls on critical bills, attended committee meetings, and through it sought always to make our state a better place to live. While their journey in this life is complete, their achievements, public record, and valued service are recorded in the journals of the Senate and House, and are forever a permanent part of our state's history."

We express our sympathies the families, friends and colleagues of these public servants. We also share with them on this memorable occasion the fond and happy memories of these legislators. They leave a legacy of dedicated service that remains always in our hearts, our memories and the history of our state.

We will now call the roll of the deceased former members of the Senate and House of Representatives."

In other words, for a person to whom life means the pursuit and attainment of material gains, life indeed ceases when the soul departs from the body. But one for whom life is defined in terms of what he does for others, is no less alive after physical death, for their influence continues to uplift and benefit others.

Today we honor the lives, not merely the existence, of the Washington State Legislators who selflessly dedicated themselves to the service of the citizens of this State. These great men and women were not satisfied with merely existing and bettering themselves, but they chose to live and to contribute to the world, dedicating themselves to serving others. Existence can die. But life is eternal. Life is growth and these remarkable men and women sacrificed of themselves to ensure the growth of others. Our gathering here today is testimony to the lives they have lived, and we honor them by following in their footsteps, and living to help others and make this world a better place.

Dear God and God of our fathers, today as we reflect upon the lives of these leaders of our communities, their accomplishments and the lessons in life they passed on, we pray for the strength to emulate their good deeds and their legacy of concern for the welfare of others. May we perpetuate the legacies of the departed and ensure that they also live on through our actions. May their memories be for a blessing and a guiding light for us all. Amen."

An Honor Guard composed of members of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, Olympia and the Marine Corps League, Olympia Detachment performed the "Flag Folding Ceremony" while Taps was played by Gilman Pilkey, Marine Corps League, Olympia Detachment.

Reverend Aaron Williams of Mt. Zion Baptist Church of Seattle gave the Closing Prayer: "Most gracious and everlasting God, we thank you for this day and we thank you for this hour. As we honor those who have gone before us, public servants who have served this country and served you. May they serve father as a beacon light a beacon of hope which we will pursue in light of what they have done. We thank you father for what you've done and may we continue their legacy and move forward in the same spirit. In the name of the father, son and holy spirit. Amen."

Speaker Pro Tempore Morris returned the gavel to President Owen, and thanked the Senate for their hospitality.

President Owen: "Thank you, Speaker Morris. Thank you to the members of our memorial committee. Our deepest gratitude to all who have participated in the service today. Our special thanks to the members of the State Patrol, the Veterans of Foreign Wars, and the Marine Corps League and our participating clergy. The President hopes that the loved ones of those we honor today will draw comfort from today’s observance."

On motion of Senator Eide, the joint session was dissolved.

The Sergeant at Arms of the Senate and the Sergeant at Arms of the House escorted Speaker Frank Chopp, Speaker Pro Tempore Jeff Morris, Majority Leader Lynn Kessler and Minority Leader Richard DeBolt from the rostrum, and the members of the House retired from the Senate Chamber.

RESOLUTION

HOUSE RESOLUTION NO. 2009-4617, by Representatives Hasegawa, Santos, Johnson, Warnick, Kenney, Huddins, Dammeier, Newhouse, Van De Wege, Cox, Sells, Rolfs, and Nelson

WHEREAS, On February 19, 1942, President Franklin D. Roosevelt issued Executive Order 9066, which authorized the forced assembly, evacuation, and internment of approximately 12,000 Japanese-Americans residing in the state of Washington; and

WHEREAS, The order for assembly and detention at Camp Harmony in Puyallup, Washington, prior to evacuation and subsequent internment, caused Japanese-Americans from the state of Washington to lose millions of dollars in property and assets, to suffer immeasurable physical and psychological damage, and to be deprived of their constitutional liberties without due process of law; and

WHEREAS, The alleged purpose of this drastic course of action was to prevent Japanese-Americans, all of whom were deemed disloyal and untrustworthy, from committing acts of espionage and sabotage against the United States during its involvement in World War II; and

WHEREAS, An overwhelming number of Japanese-Americans from the state of Washington responded to questions of their loyalty and patriotism by volunteering from within barbed wire camps to serve in the United States Military Intelligence Service and the United States Army's 442nd Regimental Combat Team, the latter of which became the most decorated unit of its size in American history with seven Presidential Unit Citations, 21 Congressional Medals of Honor, 52 Distinguished Service Crosses, 1 Distinguished Service Medal, 588 Silver Stars, 4,000 Bronze Stars, 9,486 Purple Hearts, and a total of 18 decorations from France and Italy; and

WHEREAS, A few equally patriotic Japanese-Americans, such as Gordon Hirabayashi, then a student at the University of Washington, were willing to face imprisonment to seek justice by challenging the constitutionality of the evacuation and internment orders; and

WHEREAS, Through the fact-finding work of the Commission on Wartime Relocation and Internment of Civilians, the United States Congress later found that "there was no military or security reason for the internment" of individuals of Japanese ancestry and that the internment "was caused by racial prejudice, war hysteria, and a failure of political leadership"; and

WHEREAS, On August 10, 1988, President Ronald Reagan signed H.R. 442, the Civil Liberties Act, which recognized the injustice of the relocation and internment of American citizens of Japanese ancestry and provided token monetary redress; and

WHEREAS, Japanese-American internees from the state of Washington endured economic, physical, and psychological hardship and suffered in silence for more than forty years before the state of Washington provided monetary redbess and reparations to municipal and state employees;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, That the House of Representatives, along with the people of Washington, pause to acknowledge the sixty-seventh anniversary of the signing of Executive Order 9066, to recognize the Japanese-American internees and WWII veterans from the state of Washington, to honor their patience, heroism, sacrifice, and patriotic loyalty, and to remember the lessons and blessings of liberty and justice for all; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That copies of this resolution be immediately transmitted by the Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives to the Nisei Veterans Committee, the Military Intelligence Service - Northwest Association, the Japanese-American Citizens League, and the Japanese-American Cultural & Community Center.

Representative Hasegawa moved adoption of House Resolution No. 4617.

In order to maximize the number of clients served and ensure the cost-effectiveness of the waiver programs, the department will strive to limit new client placement expenditures to 90 percent of the budgeted daily rate. If this can be accomplished, additional clients may be served with excess funds, provided the total projected carry-forward expenditures do not exceed the amounts estimated. The department shall implement the four new waiver programs such that decisions about enrollment levels and the amount, duration, and scope of services maintain expenditures within appropriations. The department shall electronically report to the appropriate committees of the legislature, within 45 days following each fiscal year quarter, the number of persons served with these additional community services, where they were residing, what kinds of services they were receiving prior to placement, and the actual expenditures for all community services to support these clients.

The department shall ensure that the average cost per day for all program services other than start-up costs shall not exceed $349 in fiscal year 2008 and $356 in fiscal year 2009. In order to maximize the number of clients served and ensure the cost-effectiveness of the waiver programs, the department will strive to limit new client placement expenditures to 90 percent of the budgeted daily rate. If this can be accomplished, additional clients may be served with excess funds if the total projected carry-forward expenditures do not exceed the amounts estimated. The department shall implement the four new waiver programs such that decisions about enrollment levels and the amount, duration, and scope of services maintain expenditures within appropriations. The department shall electronically report to the appropriate committees of the legislature, within 45 days following each fiscal year quarter, the number of persons served with these additional community services, where they were residing, what kinds of services they were receiving prior to placement, and the actual expenditures for all community services to support these clients.

(d) $2,399,000 of the general fund--state appropriation for fiscal year 2008, $5,961,000 of the general fund--state appropriation for fiscal year 2009, and $8,849,000 of the general fund--federal appropriation are provided solely for expanded community services for persons with developmental disabilities who also have community protection issues. Funding in this subsection shall be prioritized for (i) clients being diverted or discharged from the state psychiatric hospitals; (ii) clients participating in the dangerous mentally ill offender program; (iii) clients participating in the community protection program; and (iv) mental health crisis diversion outplacements. In order to maximize the number of clients served and ensure the cost-effectiveness of the waiver programs, the department will strive to limit new client placement expenditures to 90 percent of the budgeted daily rate. If this can be accomplished, additional clients may be served with excess funds if the total projected carry-forward expenditures do not exceed the amounts estimated. The department shall implement the four new waiver programs such that decisions about enrollment levels and the amount, duration, and scope of services maintain expenditures within appropriations. The department shall electronically report to the appropriate committees of the legislature, within 45 days following each fiscal year quarter, the number of persons served with these additional community services, where they were residing, what kinds of services they were receiving prior to placement, and the actual expenditures for all community services to support these clients.

Priority consideration for this new funding shall be young adults with developmental disabilities living with their family who need employment opportunities after high school graduation. Services shall be provided for both waiver and nonwaiver clients. The legislature finds that some waiver clients are not receiving employment services that are authorized under their waivers. Within the amounts appropriated in this section, waiver clients must receive services as authorized by their waiver, such as pathway to employment, while waiting for paid employment to be developed. The department shall work with the counties to establish a consistent proposed policy for minimum direct service hours for clients, minimum hours of support, time frames for seeking paid employment, and services provided under pathway to employment while paid employment is sought. This will be in effect until such time as the rates are consistent between adult family homes and boarding homes for delivery of the same patient care levels.

TOTAL APPROPRIATION: $8,377,788,000

The appropriations in this section are subject to the following conditions and limitations:

(1) Based on quarterly expenditure reports and caseload forecasts, if the department estimates that expenditures for the medical assistance program will exceed the appropriations, the department shall take steps including but not limited to reduction of rates or elimination of optional services to reduce expenditures so that total program costs do not exceed the annual appropriation authority.

(2) In determining financial eligibility for medicaid-funded services, the department is authorized to disregard recoveries by Holocaust survivors of insurance proceeds or other assets, as defined in RCW 48.104.030.

(3) Sufficient amounts are appropriated in this section for the department to continue podiatry services for medicaid-eligible adults.

(4) Sufficient amounts are appropriated in this section for the department to provide an adult dental benefit that is at least equivalent to the benefit provided in the 2003-05 biennium.

(5) In accordance with RCW 74.46.625, $6,000,000 of the general fund--federal appropriation is provided solely for supplemental payments to nursing homes operated by public hospital districts. The public hospital district shall be responsible for providing the required nonfederal match for the supplemental payment, and the payments shall not exceed the maximum allowable under federal rules. It is the legislature's intent that the payments shall be supplemental to and shall not in any way offset or reduce the payments calculated and provided in accordance with part E of chapter 74.46 RCW. It is the legislature's further intent that costs otherwise allowable for rate-setting and settlement against payments under chapter 74.46 RCW shall not be disallowed solely because such costs have been paid by revenues retained by the nursing home from these supplemental payments. The supplemental payments are subject to retrospective interim and final cost settlements based on the nursing homes' as-filed and final medicare cost reports. The timing of the interim and final cost settlements shall be at the department's discretion. During either the interim cost settlement or the final cost settlement, the department shall recoup from the public hospital districts the supplemental payments that exceed the medicare cost limit and/or the medicare upper payment limit. The department shall apply federal rules for identifying the eligible incurred medicare costs and the medicare upper payment limit.

(6) $1,111,000 of the health services account appropriation for fiscal year 2008, $1,110,000 of the health services account appropriation for fiscal year 2009, $5,402,000 of the general fund--federal appropriation, $1,590,000 of the general fund--state appropriation for fiscal year 2008, and $1,939,000 of the general fund--state appropriation for fiscal year 2009 are provided solely for grants to rural hospitals. The department shall distribute the funds under a formula that provides a relatively larger share of the available funding to hospitals that (a) serve a disproportionate share of low-income and medically indigent patients and (b) have relatively smaller net financial margins, to the extent allowed by the federal medicaid program.

(7) $10,546,000 of the health services account appropriation for fiscal year 2008, $10,546,000 of the health services account--state appropriation for fiscal year 2009, and $19,725,000 of the general fund--federal appropriation are provided solely for grants to nonural hospitals. The department shall distribute the funds under a formula that provides a relatively larger share of the available funding to hospitals that (a) serve a disproportionate share of low-income and medically indigent patients and (b) have relatively smaller net financial margins, to the extent allowed by the federal medicaid program.

(8) The department shall continue the inpatient hospital certified public expenditures program for the 2007-2009 biennium. The program shall apply to all public hospitals, including those owned or operated by the state, except those classified as critical access hospitals or state psychiatric institutions. The department shall submit reports to the governor and legislature by November 1, 2007, and by November 1, 2008, that evaluate whether savings continue to exceed costs for this program. If the certified public expenditures (CPE) program in its current form is no longer cost-effective to maintain, the department shall submit a report to the governor and legislature detailing cost-effective alternative uses of local, state, and federal resources as a replacement for this program. During fiscal year 2008 and fiscal year 2009, hospitals in the program shall be paid and shall retain (a) one hundred percent of the federal portion of the allowable hospital cost for each medicaid inpatient fee-for-service claim payable by medical assistance; and (b) one hundred percent of the federal portion of the maximum disproportionate share hospital payment allowable under federal regulations. Inpatient medicaid payments shall be established using an allowable methodology that approximates the cost of claims submitted by the hospitals. Payments made to each hospital in the program in each fiscal year of the biennium shall be compared to a baseline amount. The baseline amount will be determined by the total of (a) the inpatient claim payment amounts that would have been paid during the fiscal year had the hospital not been in the CPE program, and (b) disproportionate share hospital payment amounts paid to and retained by each hospital during fiscal year 2005 that pertain to fiscal year 2005. If payments during the fiscal year exceed the hospital's baseline amount, no additional payments will be made to the hospital except the federal portion of allowable disproportionate share hospital payments for which the hospital can certify allowable match. If payments during the fiscal year are less than the baseline amount, the hospital will be paid a state grant equal to the difference between payments during the fiscal year and the applicable baseline amount.
Payment of the state grant shall be made in the applicable fiscal year and distributed in monthly payments. The grants will be recalculated and redistributed as the baseline is updated during the fiscal year. The grant payments are subject to an interim settlement within eleven months after the end of the fiscal year. A final settlement shall be performed within two years after the end of the related fiscal year. To the extent that either settlement determines that a hospital has received funds in excess of what it would have received as described in this subsection, the hospital must repay the excess amounts to the state when requested.

(8) $4,399,000 of the general fund--state appropriation for fiscal year 2008, $6,391,000 of the general fund--state appropriation for fiscal year 2009, and $55,384,000 of the general fund--federal appropriation are provided solely for development and implementation of a replacement system for the existing medicaid management information system. The amounts are conditioned on the department satisfying the requirements of section 902 of this act.

(9) When a person is ineligible for medicaid solely by reason of residence in an institution for mental diseases, the department shall provide the person with the same benefits as he or she would receive if eligible for medicaid, using state-only funds to the extent necessary.

(10) The department is authorized to use funds appropriated in this section to purchase goods and supplies through direct contracting with vendors when the department determines it is cost-effective to do so.

(11) The legislature affirms that it is in the state's interest for Harborview medical center to remain an economically viable component of the state's health care system.

(12) The department shall, within available resources, continue operation of the medical care services care management pilot project for clients receiving general assistance benefits in King and Pierce counties. The project may use a full or partial capitation model that includes a mechanism for shared savings.

(13) The department shall submit its report to the legislative fiscal committees by December 1, 2007.

(14) $1,688,000 of the general fund--state appropriation for fiscal year 2008 and $1,689,000 of the general fund--state appropriation for fiscal year 2009 are provided solely to incorporate a mental health service component to the pilot project established pursuant to subsection (13) of this section. Addition of the mental health service component authorized in this subsection is contingent upon the managed care contractor or the participating counties providing, alone or in combination, matching funds in cash or in kind, in an amount equal to one-ninth of the amounts appropriated in this subsection. The mental health service component may include care coordination, mental health services, and integrated medical and mental health service delivery for general assistance clients with mental health disorders, as well as primary care provider training and education. The department shall provide a report to the appropriate committees of the legislature by January 1, 2009, on costs, savings, and any outcomes or quality measures associated with the pilot projects during calendar year 2007 and 2008. To the extent possible, the report shall address any impact that the mental health services component has had upon clients' use of medical services, including but not limited to primary care physician's visits, emergency room utilization, and prescription drug utilization.

(17) The department shall conduct a study to determine the financial impact associated with continuing to cover brand name medications versus the same medication in its generic form. The study shall account for all rebates paid to the state on each product studied up until the point where the generic form is less expensive, net of federally required rebates. The department shall submit its report to the legislative fiscal committees by December 1, 2007.

(18) $198,000 of the general fund--state appropriation for fiscal year 2008 and ($524,000) $134,000 of the general fund--state appropriation for fiscal year 2009 are provided solely for the first two years of a four-year project by the Seattle-King county health department to improve management of symptoms and reduce complications related to asthma among medicaid eligible children. The department shall contract with the Seattle-King county health department to have trained community health workers visit medicaid eligible children in their homes to identify and reduce exposure to asthma triggers, improve clients' self-management skills, and coordinate clients' care with their primary care and specialty providers. The contract shall include an evaluation of the impact of the services provided under the contract on urgent physician's visits, emergency room utilization, and inpatient hospitalization.
