LETTER OF RESIGNATION

WASHINGTON STATE SENATE
Olympia, Washington 98504

December 23, 1989

The Honorable Booth Gardner
Governor of the State of Washington
Olympia, Washington 98504

Dear Governor Gardner:

Because of my recent election to the King County Council, I am hereby announcing my resignation from the Washington State Senate, effective January 2, 1990, pursuant to the provisions of RCW 42.12.010 and RCW 42.12.020.

I want to take this opportunity to thank the citizens of the 47th Legislative District for electing me to the House in 1972 and to the Senate in 1974, 1978, 1982 and 1986. I am deeply humbled by their trust and greatly honored by the chance to provide them with representation.

I leave the Senate with mixed emotions, because I have truly enjoyed the legislative process, and because I have made so many outstanding friends. I look forward to continuing to work with these friends to defend citizens' constitutional rights and to support the principles of freedom, justice, ethics, and fiscal responsibility.

Sincerely yours,

that wasn't fun and I am hoping that this is going to be fun. I see a lot of old friends here today and looking around the room also some young friends. I've learned one thing that this body is different from the other body. I no longer have a first name. I look forward to working with all of you. Thank you."

The committee of honor escorted Senator Patrick to his seat in the Senate Chamber and the committee was discharged.

REPORT OF SELECT COMMITTEE

STATE OF WASHINGTON
DEPARTMENT OF SOCIAL AND HEALTH SERVICES
Olympia, Washington 98504

October 31, 1989

The Honorable Gordon A. Golob
Secretary
Washington State Senate
Legislative Building
Olympia, Washington 98504
Dear Secretary Golob:

On behalf of the Juvenile Disposition Standards Commission, it is my pleasure to forward to you a report detailing the Commission's recommendations regarding the crime of residential burglary. Engrossed Senate Bill No. 5233 established residential burglary as a class B felony and directed the Commission to consider it a more serious offense than second degree burglary, which is also a class B felony.

In completing its task, the Commission considered four options to differentiate residential burglary from second degree burglary. Three of the options, which are outlined in the enclosed report, involved changes to various schedules within the current sentencing grid. These options were rejected when, (a) it became apparent that disproportionality would be created between residential burglary and other offenses; and (b) little would be accomplished toward making changes in the behavior of this group of offenders, which would result in reduced recidivism.

Commission members then began to consider sanctions currently available to the juvenile court system which could be strengthened and/or augmented to achieve the desired outcome. After an extensive review of the literature and of programs currently being offered in other states, the Commission developed a plan which calls for increased supervision of first time residential burglars; creates a new, intermediate sanction between community supervision and incarceration for the second time residential burglars who are most likely to become repeat offenders; and an equally intensive program for those offenders who reach parole supervision because of a more extensive criminal history. The selected option, SC89-01, appears to be the most effective method of dealing with juvenile residential burglars, who generally respond best to community programming. It holds these offenders highly accountable while, at the same time, it provides treatment programs to both the offender and their families which are known to change behavior.

While considering changes to the sentencing grid, Commission members recognized that the current format is rather compacted, and does not allow much flexibility in managing annual modifications necessitated by legislative action. In light of the sentencing issues presently being considered by other task forces and planning bodies, particularly regarding sex offenses, the Commission has made a commitment to complete a comprehensive review of the sentencing grid during 1990, with a completion date of November 1, 1990.

The enclosed recommendation is respectfully submitted for your consideration. An estimated fiscal impact has been included for all four options which were considered. These figures, however, have not been validated by either the DSHS Budget Office or the Office of Fiscal Management. If you desire to hold hearings on this issue or would like clarification on, or modification to the recommendation, or any other option, please feel free to contact me at (753-7402).

Sincerely,
 JEROME M. WASSON
 Juvenile Disposition Standards Commission

December 1, 1989

Mr. Gordon A. Golob
Secretary of the Senate

Dear Mr. Golob:

The Health Care Authority is pleased to submit the "Study of Insurance Benefits Provided to K-12 School Employees." The study is submitted in response to the request of the Legislature as stated in ESHB 2038.

The study was conducted under the direction of Susan O'Loughlin, the Assistant Administrator for Planning and Program Development. The Health Care Authority contracted with Coopers and Lybrand to provide consulting expertise.

The documents which accompany this letter include: a one-page summary of recommendations; the transmittal report containing the recommendations of the Health Care Authority; and the report from Coopers and Lybrand, which describes their analytic approach and findings.

The study represents the first phase in the Health Care Authority's efforts to study and recommend prudent purchasing approaches for health care services. The Health Care Purchasing Study, which was also requested by the Legislature, is well underway. The results of that study will be submitted to the Legislature in December, 1990.

The various parties which participated in this study--school districts, unions, other state agencies, insurance plans and brokers--were extremely cooperative. They made impressive efforts to provide information and furnish us with the necessary data under a tight time schedule.

Susan O'Loughlin and I would be happy to discuss our recommendations in detail at your convenience. I will contact you during the next several weeks to arrange an appointment.

Thank you for the opportunity to complete this important study.

Sincerely,
MARGARET T. STANLEY Administrator

Gordon Golob
Secretary of the Senate
Washington State Legislature
Legislative Building
Olympia, Washington 98504
Dear Gordon:

On October 18, 1989, the ports of Tacoma and Seattle submitted a report to you as mandated by the Legislature. This report requirement is contained in our Puyallup Tribal Settlement appropriation (current capital budget bill section 901, subsection 5) which states:

"(5) The chief clerk of the house of representatives and the secretary of the senate have certified that the Port of Tacoma, in consultation with the Port of Seattle, has reported to the Legislature on a plan to cooperate with other port districts and other governments in the state in maintaining and increasing the state's share of international trade."

Based on our fulfillment of this requirement, we would now like to request your acknowledgement that you did actually receive the report. Our attorney advises us that this is necessary before any funds can be released. In the interest of keeping this simple, I have prepared the attached form for your signature and have included an extra copy of the report for your reference.

Your consideration of this matter is appreciated. I know this is a very busy time for you and wish you the best for the up-coming session.

THE WASHINGTON ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT FINANCE AUTHORITY ACTIVITIES TO
SENATE ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT AND LABOR COMMITTEE
HOUSE TRADE AND ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT COMMITTEE

The Honorable Eleanor Lee, Chair
Senate Economic Development and Labor Committee

Legislative Building

The Honorable Maria Cantwell, Chair
House Trade and Economic Development Committee
Washington State House of Representatives
Legislative Building
Olympia, Washington 98504

Dear Senator Lee and Representative Cantwell:

I am happy to submit to you the attached report on the activities of the Washington Economic Development Finance Authority (the Authority). The submission of such a report is required by the original statute creating the Authority, Substitute House Bill No. 1553 of the 1989 legislative session. The bill was signed by the Governor on June 8, 1989. It is Chapter 279, Laws of 1989 and codified as RCW 43.163.

You may find this report to be relatively brief, but the history of the Authority itself is short, though constructive and encouraging as to its purposes. I am certain that future reports will be considerably more substantive.

I am happy to respond to any further inquiries you may have regarding the Authority and you should feel free to contact me at any time in regard to the Authority's activities.

Respectfully,
ROD BRISTOL, Chair
Washington Economic Development Finance Authority

MESSAGE FROM GOVERNOR GARDNER
COMMUTATION OF SENTENCE

Office of the Governor

January 8, 1990

TO THE HONORABLE, THE SENATE OF THE STATE OF WASHINGTON
Ladies and Gentlemen:

In compliance with the provision of Section II of Article III of the Constitution of the state of Washington, the Governor hereby submits his report of each case of reprieve, commutation or pardon that he has granted since the adjournment of the 1989 Second Special Session of the Fifty-First Legislature, copy of which is attached.

Respectfully submitted,

TERRY SEBRING, Legal Counsel to the Governor

CONDITIONAL COMMUTATION/CLEMENCY ORDER

DELIA ALANIZ

On December 23, 1988, Delia Alaniz was sentenced by The Superior Court of Skagit County for the state of Washington to a term of 123 months (ten years and three months) in prison after a plea of guilty to Murder in the Second Degree of her husband, Roy Alaniz.

Delia Alaniz has now served approximately one year and ten months of her sentence, having been originally incarcerated on January 28, 1988, and sentenced on December 23, 1988.

Numerous petitions and letters have been received by the Governor on behalf of Delia Alaniz urging that her sentence be commuted. The matter was thoroughly reviewed by the Clemency and Pardons Board which recommended a conditional clemency by a 3 to 2 vote at its September 8, 1989 meeting.

The documents presented indicate that Delia Alaniz and her children were physically, sexually and mentally abused by her husband, Roy Alaniz, throughout their 17 years of marriage; that she was in fear for her life and the physical well-being of her children due to her husband's past actions and threats; that she was later diagnosed as suffering from the battered woman syndrome which explains, in part, why she was unable to successfully use the community and legal resources available to effectively intervene to stop the violence and sexual abuse; that these facts do not relieve Delia Alaniz from the responsibility of her actions, though they do explain her motive and inability to help herself by legal means.

Violence against women and children is all too common and a disturbing problem in our society. Although we have made efforts in our state by passing laws which are intended to provide protection, counseling and shelter to victims of family violence such as Delia Alaniz and her children, no system can guarantee absolute protection. Though I do not condone the action by Delia Alaniz, it is my hope that her story will increase public awareness of the tragic consequences of the battered woman syndrome and will reinforce our determination to continue to provide more effective alternatives to end this destructive cycle of inner family violence.

Delia Alaniz has accepted the responsibility for her actions and admitted her guilt. Due to the unique nature of this crime, it is unlikely that Delia Alaniz will present any future danger to society if released at this time subject to the conditions set forth herein. I further believe that Delia Alaniz and her family have already paid a substantial emotional price as victims of the years of abuse by Roy Alaniz and subsequently as victims due to the criminal action taken by Delia Alaniz.

This is an extraordinary case and justice is served by granting a conditional clemency at this time for the remainder of Delia Alaniz's sentence, subject to the following conditions, with the explicit understanding that Delia Alaniz may be returned to prison to complete the balance of her sentence if the conditions are not fulfilled. The Department of Corrections is hereby directed to supervise the following conditions and to release Delia Alaniz from prison upon final verification that she has employment, a place to reside, and she has signed a copy of this document after advice of counsel indicating she understands the conditions herein and agrees to them in full. The Department of Corrections shall have the responsibility to supervise her and periodically report her progress to the Governor's Office and to also monitor her for any violations of the conditions.

Delia Alaniz's conditional clemency is subject to the following conditions and may be revoked by the Governor for violation of any or all of these conditions:

1. Enter and successfully complete counseling as ordered or approved by the community corrections officer. Seek psychological counseling for her children.

2. Complete five years' of community service in the form of educating the public and the courts about domestic violence as ordered or approved by the community corrections officer.

3. Be employed and/or involved in an educational program acceptable to the community corrections officer and obtain permission from the community corrections officer before changing residence, employment or educational programs.

4. Not use or possess drugs or alcohol without a prescription from a licensed physician and submit to testing for the use of alcohol/drugs as scheduled by the community corrections officer.

5. Possess no deadly weapons on her person and not own or possess a firearm.

6. Obey all laws.

7. Possess a Department of Corrections-issued identification card, a Washington State identification card or a Washington State driver's license at all times.

8. Submit to the search of her person, residence, vehicle, and/or belongings when ordered to do so by the community corrections officer.

9. Obtain written permission from the community corrections officer before traveling outside of Washington State.

10. Repay any monies received from the Crime Victims Fund and other legal financial obligations imposed by the court on a fee schedule set by the community corrections officer. This provision shall also include the obligation to pay supervision fees based upon ability to pay and at the direction of the community corrections officer.

11. Not cohabit with another adult without the prior permission of the community corrections officer.

12. Follow the directions of the community corrections officer in meeting any or all of the conditions imposed by the Department of Corrections to facilitate the carrying out of the conditions herein. These conditions include appearing, when directed, to meet with her community corrections officer, submitting monthly reports on how she's fulfilling the conditions and providing any information needed to assure compliance with the conditions.

VIOLATION PROCEDURE

Should a violation of any of the conditions herein occur, the following process will be followed:

1. The community corrections officer may detain Delia Alaniz in jail or prison and/or issue a warrant for her arrest upon a determination that there is probable cause to believe a violation of any of the conditions has occurred.

2. Detention beyond 48 hours must be reviewed and approved by the Secretary of the Department of Corrections or his/her designee.

3. Within five days of placement in custody, a supervisory level employee of the Department of Corrections will conduct a hearing to review the probable cause determination.

4. Upon a finding of probable cause, the violation(s) will be brought to the attention of a representative appointed by the Governor as his/her designee and that person will schedule a hearing, within 30 days of the probable cause review hearing decision, to determine if a violation has occurred. The Governor's designee shall make findings of fact as to a violation and make a recommendation to the Governor whether to revoke or modify the conditional clemency. This recommendation shall become the final decision within ten (10) days unless the Governor decides to modify it. There shall be no right to appeal or seek further review from the decision of the Governor or the Governor's designee.

TERM OF CONDITIONAL CLEMENCY

The period of this conditional clemency shall be from the date of Delia Alaniz's release from confinement with the State Department of Corrections until the expiration date of her 123 months sentence. If she violates any of the conditions of this clemency, the Governor or his/her designee may sentence her to the remaining unserved portion of the prison term, approximately eight years and five months, which will be remaining upon her release, even though a revocation will extend her new release date beyond her original release date had she remained in prison.

for the whole term without being released on a conditional clemency. Any violation of this conditional clemency must occur prior to the expiration date of the original 123 month sentence for it to be a basis for revoking here conditional clemency.

CONDITIONAL CLEMENCY GRANTED

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Booth Gardner, Governor of the state of Washington, by virtue of the authority vested in me by the laws of the state of Washington, do hereby grant the conditional clemency for Delia Alaniz, Department of Corrections' No. 946488, for her conviction of Murder in the Second Degree of her husband Roy Alaniz, pursuant to the conditions set forth herein.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the state of Washington, to be affixed at Olympia this twenty-seventh day of October, A.D., Nineteen Hundred and Eighty-Nine.

STATE OF THE STATE ADDRESS
BY GOVERNOR BOOTH GARDNER

Governor Gardner: "Mr. President, Mr. Speaker, Mr. Chief Justice, Justices of the Supreme Court, honored elected officials and fellow citizens of the state of Washington. The future has arrived. Washington has celebrated its centennial and begun its second century. The rest of the country is focusing on the decade ahead as a time to prepare for the twenty-first century. But we in Washington, know that a new century of statehood and a promising new age have already begun.

"The evidence of these new beginnings is everywhere. Apathy is giving way to a new wave of activism. Greed has become less fashionable than generosity. There is a new willingness to confront and solve problems rather than to retreat behind cynicism and self-interest. But best of all, the simple human values of kindness, honesty and openness have replaced political dogma as a guide for the way that we govern.

"Nothing underscores the arrival of this new future so eloquently as the day last November when we watched the Berlin wall open. In homes across America, we shared the joy of millions of Germans, as they danced in the streets half a world away from us. Forty years of silence and separation passed suddenly into history. It was a powerful demonstration of the strength of people who are determined to take the future into their own hands.

"As we face the future, we can draw on the lessons of those who dared to dream for more than we thought was possible. We can learn from those who turned barriers into gateways. And we will need to. The countries of Eastern Europe will soon become both our allies and our competitors in the growing community of free-world economies. They will join a growing list of nations all over the world that have challenged American products in world markets. We should rejoice in the prosperity of other nations, just as we celebrate freedom in Eastern Europe. We should recognize that we have problems today not because we have lost our way, but because other countries have found our way. We have helped to create the world in which we now find ourselves.

"Now, we must face the fact that this world demands more of us than ever before. To remain competitive in the century ahead, we must recognize that what was good enough in the past will not be good enough in the future. Just like the athletes at the Goodwill Games, which will put Washington State on the world stage this summer, we need to put on our running shoes and get ourselves in shape. Improving our economic performance will require that we strengthen all of our institutions--our schools and our universities, our state and local governments, our social service systems, our industries and our families. Like the people of Eastern Europe, we must work to tear down the walls between our own people in this state, because for us, they are not walls made of stone or barbed wire. They are the barriers of homelessness, poverty, addiction, illiteracy and fear.

"To make those walls crumble, we must build a state full of healthy families in safe and healthy communities. We must become a state in which every child is learning and where every adult, who is capable, has access to a good job. We must create a state where rural and urban communities alike share prosperity, where the environment is protected, and where all citizens feel safe and secure.

"In this session of the Legislature, we can make substantial progress on this agenda. We have the good fortune of a budget surplus to help us. However, we must ensure that today's windfall does not become tomorrow's debt. Our state's population is growing as fast or faster than our revenues. In times like these, the prudent planner saves a third, spends a third, and invests one-third.

"In the budget I have proposed, one-third of the available surplus is invested in meeting the needs of children. Children can't learn if they can't see well enough to read the blackboard, or if they have a toothache but cannot afford to go to a dentist. Last session of the Legislature, we had the vision to enact a program called First Steps. Now, sixteen thousand more young children are receiving health care. Today it is time to take the second step--to extend that coverage to all school-age kids whose families are in poverty. Let's make sure that all our classrooms are full of healthy learners.

"Let's also continue to invest in excellence in our schools. Let's make sure that our children graduate from high school knowing more than we knew when we graduated. Most important of all, let's ensure that all of our children graduate--not drop out and not be kids who have already decided they are failures when their lives have scarcely begun. We need to restructure schools, as we have begun to do in the Schools for the Twenty-First Century project. We need to return control to local communities, deregulate and diversify our programs, so that we respond to the individual needs of every child. We need parents who are partners with teachers in the education of children. And we need the freedom, as parents, to seek the best educational setting for our children, even if it means crossing school district lines to find it.

"Americans cherish the right to choose. Families choose the day care centers and the colleges their children attend. Now, they would like to choose the public school which is best for them. That is a perfectly reasonable request. No one school can meet the needs of all children. In the last session of the Legislature, we enacted a measure that allows students who have dropped out of school, kids who are returning from drug or alcohol treatment, and teen parents to get a fresh start in the school of their choice. Why should we wait until they fail or get in trouble to give them this choice? Every child can learn, and every child should have the right to learn in the public school where they learn best. If a child is failing in school, it is because we are failing that child, and we cannot afford to let any children fail.

"Every adult can learn, too. The workforce of the future will require constant training and retraining, and we must build the institutional capacity in our community colleges, our vocational institutes, and yes, even in our public schools, for adult job retraining and skills development. Our job training and retraining programs were adequate in the fifties, in the sixties and in the seventies, but they are not adequate now. That is why I am proposing a year-long, intensive review of our job training programs and pilot programs to test new ways of training world class workers for Washington businesses.

"Good workers in good jobs are the foundation of a healthy community, but protecting jobs alone is not enough. We must also protect ourselves and our communities. Protecting our communities means facing problems that are so traumatic that it is still difficult for many of us to talk about them--the problems of sexual predators, child abuse, family violence, and drug and alcohol addiction. The recent past has been full of both despair and dramatic progress on these issues. We despair when we hear of the brutal crimes against the vulnerable. In the Ozzie-and-Harriet fifties, such crimes were not absent; they simple were not discussed. But, those days are over. In the language of the family therapist, we have finally gotten over our denial phase. We have made the painful effort to face these problems, to confront their enormity and to openly express our outrage and our anger.

"This is our version of glasnost, of openness to the truth and to the urgent need to change. Members of the Community Protection Task Force faced these issues with enormous courage and developed recommendations that will be strong medicine in the battle against the disease of violence. When Norm Maleng, Helen Harlow and Ida Balliasotes come to you and ask for your support of the community protection bill, you can only give them one answer. But, this bill is not for them alone. It is for all of us. It is for every woman who has ever been attacked; it is for every child who has ever been abused and for every victim who has suffered at the hands of a criminal. It is for all of us--all the citizens of this state who deserve to feel safe in their homes and their communities.

"The safety of the public must always be the paramount consideration in decisions about who gets out on our streets. But, look at the numbers. Our county jails are bursting at the seams and thousands more violent offenders are headed for prison. We can't put these people back in the streets. That would be the worst crime. We have no choice but to build more prisons, and we'd better get started right now. We know that, in the long run, building prisons is not a solution to the problem of crime, but for the immediate future it is the necessary response. We need to keep criminals behind bars and we need to show more compassion for their victims. Let's all affirm right now that the victims of crime have a right to recovery and to humane treatment that heals the wounds of fear and grief.

"In the long term, ending the scourge of violence requires breaking the cycles of poverty, addiction and family chaos. That's why our budget also calls for more treatment for the addicted and more counseling and mental health services for children and for families that are dysfunctional. All of us need to redouble our efforts to ensure that every child and every family in this state is safe and secure; that every child and every family live in circumstances that promote good health and good values.

"However, protecting ourselves from the symptoms of poverty isn't enough; we must protect ourselves from the economic conditions that make poverty inevitable. We know that we must protect our natural heritage and that some of our forests have been cut at a rate which is no longer sustainable. But, no humane person wants to save the forests by driving the families that depend on those forests into poverty. We cannot solve the timber crisis by confronting one another in court or by organizing angry demonstrations. In the long term, all of us want the same thing--sustainable communities in a sustainable environment.

"To build that essential agreement, I am working closely with the Public Lands Commissioner and our congressional delegation to protect both our forests and the economic health of the communities that depend on those forests. I have also proposed measures to protect our wetlands, to purchase old growth forests from the school trust, and to make a long-term commitment to the strongest possible protection of Puget Sound water quality.

"As more and more people move to Washington State, protecting our environment becomes more and more challenging. We must meet that challenge by managing growth instead of arguing about it. All the doctors in the world won't be able to keep our children healthy if the air is polluted, the drinking water contaminated, or if the land will not sustain our need for food and housing.

"While the needs of our children and grandchildren must remain paramount in our plans for the future, there is something which we can do for ourselves. And that is to fix a transportation system that has kept so many of us stuck for too long on our freeways. Those of us who must show up for work on time every morning and get home to our families at night need a break and we can't wait until the next century. Our new approach to transportation planning recognizes the realities of population growth and the need to plan for it. It makes no sense to keep building more highways when the population is growing faster than we can build on-ramps. It makes even less sense to let our highways and bridges deteriorate, as we have been doing the past few years. We need additional revenue to repair and maintain existing roads and bridges, to develop better our mass transit systems and to coordinate planning, so that growth, environmental protection and transportation fit together like the pieces of a puzzle. To prevent hardening of the arteries of our state's circulatory system, we need to change our transportation diet. That is a problem that will not be solved in a year, but this has to be the year that we begin to solve the problem.

"It also has to be the year that we don't shoot ourselves in the foot just because we have a one-time six hundred million dollar surplus. We know that to maintain existing levels of government, service will cost an additional one and a half billion dollars or more in the next biennium. Every child in Washington needs a school, a home and a street to get from one to the other. Every business in Washington needs skilled workers and managers, a transportation system to get their products to market, and government services that are efficient and accessible.

"That is why I am continuing our efforts to find ways to save money and make state government more efficient. The Efficiency Commission and suggestions from state employees have saved this state millions of dollars. But it is no time to rest on our laurels. We need to save more, and we need to be more productive. To be more productive, we need to attract, train and retrain the very best state employees. You will have legislation before you to address this need. To save more, we need a shared commitment to putting some of this budget surplus away. I am going to be difficult to satisfy on this score, only because I want Washington State to be a national model of prudence and productivity and I want us to have a substantial cushion in the bank. To be as blunt as possible, at least one-third of today's surplus will still be in the bank when this session of the Legislature is over.

"As Washington begins its second century as a state, we are blessed with natural abundance and economic health. We are blessed with people who care about one another and we are blessed with communities that pull together. When we think of what we have achieved here in the last century, it fuels our optimism for the next one. As we begin the next century together, let's embrace the future. Let's take the future into our hands and shape it for the benefit of all the citizens of the state of Washington. We can share in better times if we resolve now to lead rather than follow, to plan rather than react, to conserve rather than squander and to nurture rather than neglect.

"If the events of the past year have taught us only one thing, let it be that we can achieve what used to seem beyond our grasp. Our persistence will pay off, just as it has for the people of Eastern Europe. Moral, political and economic progress is within our reach, if only we have faith in each other and faith in ourselves and a commitment to creating a future that every citizen in this state can share.

"Thank you very much."

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Rasmussen: "This is a very worthwhile effort and I am very much for that, but could you tell me--it says they discontinued the use of styrofoam. What are they using now? Are they going back to dishwashing and crockery?"

Senator Murray: "Some of that and fiberboard."

Senator Rasmussen: "What?"

Senator Murray: "They are washing some and using fiberboard products for the trays."

Senator Rasmussen: "I don't know what that is."

Senator Murray: "You can ask the students. They probably know more than I do."

The President declared the question before the Senate to be the adoption of Senate Resolution 1990-8723.

REPORT OF SELECT COMMITTEE

STATE OF WASHINGTON
DEPARTMENT OF TRADE AND ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT
General Administration Building
Olympia, Washington 98504

Mr. Gordon Golob
Olympia, Washington 98504
Dear Mr. Golob:

In 1989, the Washington State Legislature enacted ESHB 1671, the "Waste Not Washington" Act. The landmark legislation created a comprehensive solid waste management program which indicated waste reduction and recycling as preferred strategies while recognizing the importance of strong markets for recyclables.

ESHB 1671 has helped to make Washington State a national leader in solid waste management with a recycling rate of 29 percent. While there is much to be proud of, there is also much to be done. Cities and counties around the country are now pursuing recycling strategies, and are inundating existing markets with their materials. Market development for these materials must proceed aggressively if the state of Washington is to have a successful recycling program.

The Committee for Recycling Markets, established by the legislation, has been meeting since August of 1989. The committee represents the spectrum of private and public interests involved in the issue and is responsible for developing recommendations to achieve improved markets for recyclables.

In accordance with Sections 101 and 102 of ESHB 1671, the Washington Committee for Recycling Markets herewith submits its Preliminary Report to the Legislature. The Appendix to this preliminary report will be sent under separate cover. A final report will be submitted to the Legislature on November 30, 1990.

The Committee for Recycling Markets will continue its work in the coming year in an ongoing effort to meet its challenge.

Sincerely,
DON KNEASS, Chairman
Washington Committee for Recycling Markets

MOTION

SENATE RESOLUTION 1990-8725

by Senators Hayner, Fleming, Smitherman, Rasmussen, Amondson, Anderson, Bailey, Barr, Bauer, Bender, Benitz, Bluechel, Cantu, Conner, Craswell, DeJarnatt, Gaspard, Hansen, Johnson, Kreidler, Lee, Madsen, Matson, McCaslin, McDonald, McMullen, Metcalf, Moore, Murray, Nelson, Newhouse, Niemi, Owen, Patrick, Patterson, Rinehart, Saling, Sellar, Smith, Stratton, Sutherland, Talmadge, Thorsness, Vognil, von Reichbauer, Warnke, West, Williams and Wojahn

WHEREAS, On this date, we honor the Reverend Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., a man of moral courage, who, in the face of discrimination and injustice, understood the continuing value of America's promise of liberty to all its citizens, just as he understood the urgency of the need to make democracy at long last a reality for all Americans; and

WHEREAS, In a Birmingham jail, Dr. King had a vision - a dream. He wrote, "We will reach the goal of freedom . . . because the goal of America is freedom." And years later, from the steps of the Lincoln Memorial, he reaffirmed his faith in democracy, his faith in the conscience and good will of the American people, and his faith in America itself. On the rock of this faith, Martin Luther King built the edifice of a movement. He said, "Now is the time to make real the promises of democracy. Now is the time to open the doors of opportunity to all God's children. Now is the time to lift our great nation from the quicksands of racial injustice to the solid rock of brotherhood."; and

WHEREAS, While Martin Luther King's faith in God and his fellow Americans was the foundation of his movement, the methods of nonviolence were his tools. He wrote, "Violence ends by defeating itself." "[I]f we succumb to the temptation to use violence in our struggle for freedom, unborn generations will be the recipients of a long desolate night of bitterness, and our chief legacy to them will be a never ending reign of chaos."; and

WHEREAS, Today, people throughout the world - those oppressed because of the color of their skin, because of their religious beliefs, because of their desire to live in a democratic society - dream the dream of Martin Luther King. To us, they should see the continuing struggle for the fulfillment of that dream and vision;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, That together with the people of Washington, the Washington State Senate hereby pauses to reflect upon the self-sacrifice, accomplishments, and contributions of the Reverend Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. We pray that in the 1990's, freedom will ring not only from "Stone Mountain of Georgia" to "Lookout Mountain of Tennessee," but also from Peking to Bucharest and Panama City to Pretoria; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That in celebration of this Martin Luther King Day and as we enter a new decade, the Washington State Senate reaffirms its commitment to the ideals of freedom and justice for all, and rededicates itself to the continuing battle against prejudice and racial intolerance.

Senators Hayner, Fleming and Smitherman spoke to Senate Resolution 1990-8725.

The President Pro Tempore declared the question before the Senate to be the adoption of Senate Resolution 1990-8725.

The motion by Senator Hayner carried and Senate Resolution 1990-8725 was adopted.

SENATE RESOLUTION 1990-8724

by Senators Amondson, Benitz, Warnke, Rasmussen and Lee

WHEREAS, In early January 1990, the forces of nature, including record-breaking winds and rains, tragically joined to cause extensive damage across the state of Washington; and

WHEREAS, As a result of these incidents, communities have been devastated, families have been uprooted and, most sadly, lives have been lost; and

WHEREAS, Destruction from the floods in Western Washington and the winds that primarily affected Eastern Washington is beyond the financial capability of local governments, already burdened by the ongoing public health and safety threats of storm and flood damage, to bear without state and federal assistance; and

WHEREAS, The Governor of the state of Washington has declared a state of emergency in the counties of Benton, Cowlitz, Garfield, Grays Harbor, King, Lewis, Pacific, Pierce, Thurston, Wahkiakum, Walla Walla, Whitman and Yakima, and has applied to the President of the United States for federal disaster relief through the Federal Emergency Management Agency;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, That the Washington State Senate hereby expresses its willingness to vigorously support the application for federal assistance filed on behalf of the state of Washington in this incident, and petitions members of the Washington State Congressional Delegation to join it in actively seeking the expeditious review of such application at the federal level; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That the Washington State Senate respectfully urges the President to declare a state of disaster in the thirteen storm-damaged counties identified in Washington State's application for federal assistance and to secure immediate aid to Lewis County, one of the counties hardest hit; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That the Secretary of the Senate immediately transmit copies of this resolution to the President of the United States, The Honorable George Bush, to the Acting Director of the Federal Emergency Management Agency, and to all members of the Washington State Congressional Delegation.

people notified of that and given the opportunity to reject it and that type of thing? In other words, are they participating in the decision as they go along currently?"

Senator McCaslin: "They were not and my understanding is if you bring in additional property and want to increase the assessment, then you would have to go back through the procedure again, because it wouldn't be fair for you to agree to a cost and to a new installation of a sewer and then I'll put my property in and now you have to pay another thousand dollars. That's the purpose of it and that's what Spokane County has done."

I don't see that in the bill anywhere. I'm not real keen on that provision and I'm glad it is not in the bill, but I'd like to have you reassure me about that."

Senator Smith: "Senator Talmadge, I can't say it isn't, because it came from last year. If you want to set the bill down, it is a department bill--it was their request--and yes, it was to be $50,000. So, if it is missing in this amended draft, I have no trouble with setting the bill down and getting the department to clarify that with us."

Senator Talmadge: "I would be curious about it, because I think I do have some concerns about whether or not we should be pursuing those people who are the recipients of medical costs after they are dead."

Senator Smith: "I think what you did is that you voted on this bill in this form last year and you were one of the 'yes' votes, so if somehow you and I missed it last year and there was a technical error, we would certainly want to fix it, so let's set it down and take a look at it."

Senator Talmadge: "I think it may be a technical error in the bill description."

REPORT OF SELECT COMMITTEE

WASHINGTON BASIC HEALTH PLAN
1220 Eastside Street SE
Olympia, Washington 98504

January, 1990

Honorable Booth Gardner, Governor of the State of Washington
Honorable Members of the Washington State Senate
Honorable Members of the Washington State House of Representatives

Dear Governor Gardner and Members of the 1990 Legislature:

The Washington Basic Health Plan has two primary goals: (1) to deliver health coverage to low-income citizens of our state in an affordable and cost-effective manner, and (2) to help Washington's leaders learn more about the costs and benefits of state-subsidized health care coverage. We take both of these responsibilities very seriously. We want to develop a sound program that has lasting value, both for the citizens who depend on us for their health coverage and for the policymakers who depend on us for information.

It's an exciting time for the Washington Basic Health Plan. We've been lauded on the CBS Evening News and praised in the editorial pages of the New York Times. We've been visited by emissaries from Canada, Holland and Sweden, and we've even been interviewed by Radio Free Moscow. Other states contact us continually, and many are drafting legislation that follows Washington's Health Care Access Act of 1987.

Most important, our own Legislature is looking to us to create a model that can contribute toward decisions about the future of health care policy in Washington state. We appreciate your continuing encouragement of our efforts and we work hard to meet your expectations. I am grateful for your review of this annual report and would welcome any comments you may have.

Sincerely,
THOMAS L. KOBLER
Director

TREATMENT FOR ABUSIVE PERSON REMOVED FROM HOME

Sec. 1301. Section 1, chapter 35, Laws of 1985 as amended by section 3, chapter 190, Laws of 1988 and RCW 26.44.063 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) It is the intent of the legislature to minimize trauma to a child involved in an allegation of sexual or physical abuse. The legislature declares that removing the child from the home often has the effect of further traumatizing the child. It is, therefore, the legislature's intent that the alleged offender, rather than the child, shall be removed from the home and that this should be done at the earliest possible point of intervention in accordance with RCW 10.31.100, 13.34.130, this section, and RCW 26.44.130.

(2) In any judicial proceeding in which it is alleged that a child has been subjected to sexual or physical abuse, if the court finds reasonable grounds to believe that an incident of sexual or physical abuse has occurred, the court may, on its own motion, or the motion of the guardian ad litem or other parties, issue a temporary restraining order or preliminary injunction restraining or enjoining the person accused of committing the abuse from:

(a) Molesting or disturbing the peace of the alleged victim;

(b) Entering the family home of the alleged victim except as specifically authorized by the court; or

(c) Having any contact with the alleged victim, except as specifically authorized by the court.

(3) In issuing a temporary restraining order or preliminary injunction, the court may impose any additional restrictions that the court in its discretion determines are necessary to protect the child from further abuse or emotional trauma pending final resolution of the abuse allegations.

(4) The court shall issue a temporary restraining order prohibiting a person from entering the family home if the court finds that the order would eliminate the need for an out-of-home placement to protect the child's right to nurturance, health, and safety and is sufficient to protect the child from further sexual or physical abuse or coercion.

(5) The court may issue a temporary restraining order without requiring notice to the party to be restrained or other parties only if it finds on the basis of the moving affidavit or other evidence that irreparable injury could result if an order is not issued until the time for responding has elapsed.

(6) A temporary restraining order or preliminary injunction:

(a) Does not prejudice the rights of a party or any child which are to be adjudicated at subsequent hearings in the proceeding; and

(b) May be revoked or modified.

(7) The person having physical custody of the child shall have an affirmative duty to assist in the enforcement of the restraining order including but not limited to a duty to notify the court as soon as practicable of any violation of the order, a duty to request the assistance of law enforcement officers to enforce the order, and a duty to notify the department of social and health services of any violation of the order as soon as practicable if the department is a party to the action. Failure by the custodial party to discharge these affirmative duties shall be subject to contempt proceedings.

(8) A temporary restraining order issued under this section may not be revoked prior to final resolution of the abuse allegations until the person subject to the order has participated in a child abuse treatment program operated under section 1302 of this 1990 act.

(9) Willful violation of a court order entered under this section is a misdemeanor. A written order shall contain the court's directive and shall bear the legend: "Violation of this order is a criminal offense under chapter 26.44 RCW and will subject a violator to arrest."

NEW SECTION. Sec. 1302. A new section is added to chapter 26.44 RCW to read as follows:

(1) Whenever a person has committed a crime or violation against a child resulting in an order removing the person from the home, as a condition to the abusive person returning to the home where the child resides, the person shall participate in an educational program addressing the issue of child abuse and neglect, and, if necessary, family violence.

(2) A crime or violation against the child includes:

(a) Willful abandonment that continues for an extended period of time or substantial refusal to perform parenting functions;

(b) Physical, sexual, or emotional abuse of a child; or

(c) An act of domestic violence which rises to the level of a felony in which the child is either a victim or an observer.

(3)(a) The department of social and health services shall contract with hospitals or medical centers with appropriate facilities for child abuse treatment programs.

(b) The person shall pay for the treatment on the basis of his or her financial ability to pay. Moneys received shall be deposited into the public safety and education account.

(4) The person must prove by substantial evidence that he or she is no longer a threat to the child as demonstrated by:

(a) Successful completion of the treatment program;

(b) A recommendation by a licensed counselor of the program;

(c) Possession of the necessary skills to be able to handle a future occurrence; and

(d) Entering into an agreement to continue treatment if in the future the person finds that he or she feels abusive.

(5) If a person who has been removed from the home as specified under subsection (1) of this section requests visitation rights, the person shall be denied those rights unless such person proves by substantial evidence that he or she meets the factors set out in subsection (4) of this section.

(6) After undergoing treatment, any person who was in a parental role prior to removal shall be allowed to resume the parental role to the child on a probationary status. The person will be required to report to his or her counselor for a period of time as recommended by his or her counselor, for a period of not less than six months."

MESSAGE FROM THE SECRETARY OF STATE

The Honorable
President of the Senate
The Legislature of the State of Washington
Olympia, Washington
Mr. President:

On January 8, 1990, this office certified that we had begun the signature checking process on Initiative to the Legislature No. 109, which was originally filed with this office on April 19, 1989.

We have completed a canvass of 40,538 signatures out of 153,619 signatures submitted in support of this measure. Of the number canvassed, we have determined that 34,912 were signatures of legal voters, 4,655 were either not registered or illegible, and 971 were multiple signatures.

Article II, section 1A of the State Constitution establishes the minimum number of acceptable signatures in order to qualify an initiative measure for the ballot as eight percent of the total votes cast for the office of Governor, or 150,001 signatures. The total number of invalid signatures permissible on Initiative Measure No. 109, therefore is 3,618 (153,619 - 150,001).

Since the total number of invalid signatures discovered during the canvassing procedure was 5,626, which exceeds the permissible number, we have terminated the signature checking process and we are unable to certify the measure to you for your consideration.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have set my hand and affixed the seal of the state of Washington, this 24th day of January, 1990.

(Seal)

RALPH MUNRO, Secretary of State

Senator Vognild: "Senator Newhouse, we have some concerns with this assignment being somewhat out of the ordinary. We would like to have your assurance, as best you can, that this bill will not simply die in the Agricultural Committee, but it will be on this floor for debate and action."

Senator Newhouse: "Thank you for your question, Senator Vognild. This bill, for the information of the members, is the Wetlands Bill. It has a high priority for many people. It will be somewhat controversial. I have the assurance of the committee chairman that he is committed to not killing the bill in committee. It is important, but we have followed the policy, as you know, of water issues being referred to the 380 Agriculture Committee and this is very definitely a water issue."

Senate Bill No. 6799 was referred to the Committee on Agriculture.

MOTIONS

On motion of Senator Newhouse, the Committee on Economic Development and Labor was relieved of further consideration of Senate Bill No. 6597 and Senate Bill No. 6668.

On motion of Senator Newhouse, Senate Bill No. 6597 and Senate Bill No. 6668 were referred to the Committee on Ways and Means.

There being no objection, the President returned the Senate to the fourth order of business.

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Senator Barr: "A point of personal privilege, Mr. President. One of the more senior members of our Senate that always took it upon himself to recognize the first speech on the floor of our new members is no longer with us. We miss him very much, so I would take that opportunity to do this in recognition of Senator Mike Patrick as he passed out his little contribution and obligation to this body for this first speech on the floor a day or two ago."

At 10:31 a.m., on motion of Senator Newhouse, the Senate was declared to be at ease.

The Senate was called to order at 10:50 a.m. by President Pritchard.

There being no objection, the President advanced the Senate to the sixth order of business.

SECOND READING

ENGROSSED SUBSTITUTE HOUSE BILL NO. 2198, by Committee on Energy and Utilities (originally sponsored by Representatives Nelson, Hankins, Cooper, Miller, May, Jacobsen, Brooks, Todd and H. Myers)

Pertaining to energy efficiency and conservation.

The bill was read the second time.

MOTIONS

On motion of Senator Benitz, the following Committee on Energy and Utilities amendment was adopted:

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. The legislature finds that using energy efficiently in housing is one of the lowest cost ways to meet consumer demand for energy; that using energy efficiently helps protect citizens of the state from negative impacts due to changes in energy supply and cost; that using energy efficiently will help mitigate negative environmental impacts of energy use and resource development; and that using energy efficiently will help stretch our present energy resources into the future. The legislature further finds that the electricity surplus in the Northwest is dwindling as the population increases and the economy expands, and that the region will eventually need new sources of electricity generation.

It is declared policy of the state of Washington that energy be used efficiently. It is the intent of this act to establish residential building standards that bring about the common use of energy efficient building methods, and to assure that such methods remain economically feasible and affordable to purchasers of newly constructed housing.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. A new section is added to chapter 19.27A RCW to read as follows:

Except as provided in RCW 19.27A.020(7), the Washington state energy code for residential buildings shall be the maximum and minimum energy code for residential buildings in each city, town, and county and shall be enforced by each city, town, and county no later than July 1, 1991. The Washington state energy code for nonresidential buildings shall be the minimum energy code for nonresidential buildings enforced by each city, town, and county.

Sec. 3. Section 3, chapter 76, Laws of 1979 ex. sess. as amended by section 2, chapter 144, Laws of 1985 and RCW 19.27A.020 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) No later than January 1, 1991, the state building code ((~~advisory~~)) council shall promulgate rules((~~pursuant to chapter 34.04 RCW, for the purpose of adopting a revised~~)) to be known as the Washington state energy code as part of the state building code. ((~~The revised code shall be designed to achieve reductions in energy consumption relative to buildings constructed to comply with the state energy code, June 30, 1980 edition, as amended.~~))

(2) The council shall follow the legislature's ((~~guidelines~~)) standards set forth in this section to ((~~design a revised~~)) promulgate rules to be known as the Washington state energy code ((~~which requires~~)). The Washington state energy code shall be designed to require new buildings to meet a certain level of energy efficiency, but allow ((s)) flexibility in building design ((~~and~~), construction, and heating equipment efficiencies within that framework. The Washington state energy code shall be designed to allow space heating equipment efficiency to offset or substitute for building envelope thermal performance.

(3) The ((~~revised~~)) Washington state energy code shall take into account regional climatic conditions ((~~and shall be designed according to the following guidelines~~)). Climate zone 1 shall include all counties not included in climate zone 2. Climate zone 2 includes: Adams, Chelan, Douglas, Ferry, Grant, Kittitas, Lincoln, Okanogan, Pend Oreille, Spokane, Stevens, and Whitman counties.

(4) The Washington state energy code for residential buildings shall require:

(a) ~~((For new electric resistance heated residential buildings, the code shall be designed))~~

New residential buildings that are space heated with electric resistance heating systems to achieve energy ~~((savings))~~ use equivalent to ~~((savings achieved))~~ that used in typical buildings constructed with:

(i) Ceilings insulated to a level of R-38~~((-except))~~. The code shall contain an exception which permits single rafter or joist vaulted ceilings ~~((may be))~~ insulated to a level of R-30 (R value includes insulation only);

(ii) In zone 1, walls insulated to a level of R-19 ~~((total assembly))~~ (R value includes insulation only), or constructed with two by four members, R-13 insulation batts, R-3.2 insulated sheathing, and other normal assembly components; in zone 2 walls insulated to a level of R-24 (R value includes insulation only), or constructed with two by six members, R-22 insulation batts, R-3.2 insulated sheathing, and other normal construction assembly components; for the purpose of determining equivalent thermal performance, the wall U-value shall be 0.058 in zone 1 and 0.044 in zone 2;

(iii) Below grade walls, insulated on the interior side, to a level of R-19 or, if insulated on the exterior side, to a level of R-10 in zone 1 and R-12 in zone 2 (R value includes insulation only);

~~((iv))~~ (v) Slab on grade floors insulated to a level of R-10 at the perimeter;

(vi) Double glazed windows with ~~((tested R))~~ values not ~~((less))~~ more than ~~((1.79 when tested according to the procedures of the American architectural manufacturers association))~~ U-0.4; ~~((and~~

~~((v) in areas with more than six thousand annual heating degree days a maximum of seventeen percent of the floor area in glazing; in areas with six thousand or less annual heating degree days a maximum of twenty-one percent of the floor area in glazing))~~ (vii) In zone 1 the glazing area may be up to twenty-one percent of floor area and in zone 2 the glazing area may be up to seventeen percent of floor area where consideration of the thermal resistance values for other building components and solar heat gains through the glazing result in thermal performance equivalent to that achieved with thermal resistance values for other components determined in accordance with the equivalent thermal performance criteria of (a) of this subsection and glazing area equal to fifteen percent of the floor area. Throughout the state for the purposes of determining equivalent thermal performance, the maximum glazing area shall be fifteen percent of the floor area; and

(viii) Exterior doors insulated to a level of R-5; or an exterior wood door with a thermal resistance value of less than R-5 and values for other components determined in accordance with the equivalent thermal performance criteria of (a) of this subsection.

(b) ~~((For))~~ New residential buildings which are space-heated with ~~((other fuels, the code shall be designed))~~ all other forms of space heating to achieve energy ~~((savings))~~ use equivalent to ~~((savings achieved))~~ that used in typical buildings constructed with:

(i) Ceilings insulated to a level of R-30 in zone 1 and R-38 in zone 2 the code shall contain an exception which permits single rafter or joist vaulted ceilings insulated to a level of R-30 (R value includes insulation only);

(vii) Double glazed windows with ~~((tested R))~~ values not ~~((less))~~ more than ~~((1.46 when tested according to the procedures of the American architectural manufacturers association))~~ U-0.65 in zone 1 and U-0.60 in zone 2. The state building code council, in consultation with the state energy office, shall review these U-values, and, if economically justified for consumers, shall amend the Washington state energy code to improve the U-values by December 1, 1993. The amendment shall not take effect until July 1, 1994; and

~~((v) in areas with more than six thousand annual heating degree days a))~~ (viii) In zone 1, the maximum ~~((of seventeen))~~ glazing area shall be twenty-one percent of the floor area ~~((in glazing; in areas with six thousand or less annual heating degree days a maximum of twenty-~~ one percent of the floor area in glazing)). In zone 2 the maximum glazing area shall be seven-teen percent of the floor area. Throughout the state for the purposes of determining equivalent thermal performance, the maximum glazing area shall be fifteen percent of the floor area.

(c) For ((new nonresidential buildings;)) log built homes with space heat other than electric resistance, the building code council shall establish equivalent thermal performance standards consistent with the standards and maximum glazing areas of (b) of this subsection.

(d) The state building code council may approve an energy code for pilot projects of residential construction that use innovative energy efficiency technologies intended to result in savings that are greater than those realized in the levels specified in this section.

(5) U-values for glazing shall be determined using the area weighted average of all glazing in the building. U-values for glazing are the tested values for thermal transmittance due to conduction resulting from either the American architectural manufacturers' association (AAMA) 1503.1 test procedure or the American society for testing materials (ASTM) C236 or C976 test procedures. Testing shall be conducted under established winter horizontal heat flow test conditions using the fifteen miles per hour wind speed perpendicular to the exterior surface of the glazing as specified under AAMA 1503.1 and product sample sizes specified under AAMA 1503.1. The AAMA 1503.1 testing must be conducted by an AAMA certified testing laboratory. The ASTM C236 or C976 testing U-values include any tested values resulting from a future revised AAMA 1503.1 test procedure. Sealed insulation glass, where used, shall conform to ASTM E-774-81 level A or better. The state building code council shall maintain a list of the tested U-values for glazing products available in the state.

(6) The minimum state energy code for new nonresidential buildings shall be ((designed to achieve a ten-percent reduction in energy consumption relative to buildings constructed to comply with)) the Washington state energy code, ((June 30-1986)) 1986 edition, as amended.

((2) in developing the revised code, the council shall consider possible health and respiratory problems caused by insulating buildings so tightly that the rate of air exchange is significantly retarded, thereby concentrating toxic pollutants at unhealthy high levels.

(3) The council shall publish the revision as proposed rules pursuant to chapter 34.04 RCW and provide for the rules to become effective January 1, 1986. All cities, towns, and counties shall enforce the revised state energy code not later than April 1, 1986;))

(7)(a) Except as provided in (b) of this subsection, the Washington state energy code for residential structures shall preempt the residential energy code of each city, town, and county in the state of Washington.

(b) The state energy code for residential structures does not preempt a city, town, or county's energy code for residential structures which exceeds the requirements of the state energy code and which was adopted by the city, town, or county prior to the effective date of this section. Such cities, towns, or counties may not subsequently amend their energy code for residential structures to exceed the requirements adopted prior to the effective date of this section.

(8) The state building code council shall consult with the state energy office as provided in RCW 34.05.310 prior to publication of proposed rules. The state energy office shall review the proposed rules for consistency with the guidelines adopted in subsection (4) of this section. The director of the state energy office shall recommend to the state building code council any changes necessary to conform the proposed rules to the requirements of this section.

(9) The state building code council shall conduct a study of county and city enforcement of energy codes in the state. In conducting the study, the council shall conduct public hearings at designated council meetings to seek input from interested individuals and organizations, and to the extent possible, hold these meetings in conjunction with adopting rules under this section. The study shall include recommendations as to how code enforcement may be improved. The findings of the study shall be submitted in a report to the legislature no later than January 1, 1991.

(10) If any electric utility providing electric service to customers in the state of Washington purchases at least one percent of its firm energy load from a federal agency, pursuant to section 5.(b)(1) of the pacific northwest electric power planning and conservation act (P.L. 96-501), and such utility is unable to obtain from that agency at least fifty percent of the funds for payments required by section 4 of this act, the amendments to this section by this 1990 act shall be null and void, and the 1986 state energy code shall be in effect, except that a city, town, or county may enforce a local energy code with more stringent energy requirements adopted prior to the effective date of this section. This subsection shall expire June 30, 1995.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4. A new section is added to chapter 19.27A RCW to read as follows:

(1) Electric utilities shall make payments to the owner at the time of construction of a newly constructed residential building with electric resistance space heat built in compliance with the requirements of the Washington state energy code adopted pursuant to RCW 19.27A.020 or a residential energy code in effect pursuant to RCW 19.27A.020(7). All or a portion of the funds for payments may be accepted from federal agencies or other sources. Payments are required for residential buildings on which construction has begun on or after July 1, 1991, and prior to July 1, 1995. Payments in an amount equal to a fixed sum of at least nine hundred dollars per single family residence are required for such buildings so constructed which are single family residences having two thousand square feet or less of finished floor area. Payments in an amount equal to a fixed sum of at least three hundred ninety dollars per multifamily residential unit, are required for such buildings so constructed which are multifamily residential units. For purposes of this section, a zero lot line home and each unit in a duplex and each attached housing unit in a planned unit development shall each be considered a single family residence.

(2) Electric utilities which provide electrical service in jurisdictions in which the local government has adopted an energy code not preempted by RCW 19.27A.020(7)(b) shall make payments as provided in subsection (1) of this section for residential buildings on which construction has begun on or after the effective date of this section and prior to July 1, 1991.

(3) Nothing in this section shall prohibit an electric utility from providing incentives in excess of the payments required by this section or from providing additional incentives for energy efficiency measures in excess of those required under RCW 19.27A.020.

(4) This section is null and void if any electric utility providing electric service to its customers in the state of Washington purchases at least one percent of its firm energy load from a federal agency, pursuant to section 5.(b)(1) of the Pacific Northwest Electric Power Planning and Conservation Act (P.L. 96-501), and if such electric utility is unable to obtain from the agency at least fifty percent of the funds to make the payments required by this section. This subsection shall expire June 30, 1995.

(5) The utilities and transportation commission shall provide an appropriate regulatory mechanism which allows a utility regulated by the commission to recover expenses incurred by the utility in making payments under this section.

(6) Subsections (1) through (3) of this section shall expire July 1, 1996.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 5. A new section is added to chapter 19.27A RCW to read as follows:

The state building code council shall maintain the state energy code for residential structures in a status which is consistent with the state's interest as set forth in section 1 of this act. In maintaining the Washington state energy code for residential structures, beginning in 1996 the council shall review the Washington state energy code every three years. After January 1, 1996, by rule adopted pursuant to chapter 34.05 RCW, the council may amend any provisions of the Washington state energy code to increase the energy efficiency of newly constructed residential buildings. Decisions to amend the Washington state energy code for residential structures shall be made prior to December 1 of any year and shall not take effect before the end of the regular legislative session in the next year.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 6. A new section is added to chapter 19.27A RCW to read as follows:

There is hereby created in the state treasury the energy code training account. The Washington state energy office shall administer expenditures from this account for the purpose of providing training for the inspection and training for the enforcement by local governments of the Washington state energy code in effect pursuant to RCW 19.27A.020. The revenues into this account shall derive from assessments by the state energy office on all investor-owned and publicly owned gas and electric utilities in the state of Washington in proportion to the number of housing starts served by a utility in 1989, based on an amount of one hundred fifty dollars per energy code inspection or enforcement official that is within the service area of the utility. Assessments may be made between January 1, 1991, and July 1, 1991. Federal funds available to qualifying utilities for code inspection retraining shall be used before obtaining funds from utilities under this section. Additional funds may be deposited in the account from federal agencies or other sources. All or a portion of the funds for the cost of local government inspection and enforcement may be accepted from federal agencies or other sources.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 7. A new section is added to chapter 19.27 RCW to read as follows:

(1)(a) Not later than January 1, 1991, the state building code council, in consultation with the state energy office, shall establish interim requirements for the maintenance of indoor air quality in newly constructed residential buildings. In establishing the interim requirements, the council shall take into consideration differences in heating fuels and heating system types. These requirements shall be in effect July 1, 1991, through June 30, 1993.

(b) The interim requirements for new electrically space heated residential buildings shall include ventilation standards which provide for mechanical ventilation in areas of the residence where water vapor or cooking odors are produced. The ventilation shall be exhausted to the outside of the structure. The ventilation standards shall further provide for the capacity to supply outside air to each bedroom and the main living area through dedicated supply air inlet locations in walls, or in an equivalent manner. At least one exhaust fan in the home shall be controlled by a dehumidistat or clock timer to ensure that sufficient whole house ventilation is regularly provided as needed.

(c)(i) For new single family residences with electric space heating systems, zero lot line homes, each unit in a duplex, and each attached housing unit in a planned unit development, the ventilation standards shall include fifty cubic feet per minute of effective installed ventilation capacity in each bathroom and one hundred cubic feet per minute of effective installed ventilation capacity in each kitchen.

(ii) For other new residential units with electric space heating systems the ventilation standards may be satisfied by the installation of two exhaust fans with a combined effective installed ventilation capacity of two hundred cubic feet per minute.

(iii) Effective installed ventilation capacity means the capability to deliver the specified ventilation rates for the actual design of the ventilation system. Natural ventilation and infiltration shall not be considered acceptable substitutes for mechanical ventilation.

(d) For new residential buildings that are space heated with other than electric space heating systems, the interim standards shall be designed to result in indoor air quality equivalent to that achieved with the interim ventilation standards for electric space heated homes.

(e) The interim requirements for all newly constructed residential buildings shall include standards for indoor air quality pollutant source control, including the following requirements: All structural panel components of the residence shall comply with appropriate standards for the emission of formaldehyde; the back-drafting of combustion by-products from combustion appliances shall be minimized through the use of dampers, vents, outside combustion air sources, or other appropriate technologies; and, in areas of the state where monitored data indicate action is necessary to inhibit indoor radon gas concentrations from exceeding appropriate health standards, entry of radon gas into homes shall be minimized through appropriate foundation construction measures.

(2) No later than January 1, 1993, the state building code council, in consultation with the state energy office, shall establish final requirements for the maintenance of indoor air quality in newly constructed residences to be in effect beginning July 1, 1993. For new electrically space heated residential buildings, these requirements shall maintain indoor air quality equivalent to that provided by the mechanical ventilation and indoor air pollutant source control requirements included in the February 7, 1989, Bonneville power administration record of decision for the environmental impact statement on new energy efficient homes programs (DOE/EIS-0127F) built with electric space heating. In residential units other than single family, zero lot line, duplexes, and attached housing units in planned unit developments, ventilation requirements may be satisfied by the installation of two exhaust fans with a combined effective installed ventilation capacity of two hundred cubic feet per minute. For new residential buildings that are space heated with other than electric space heating systems, the standards shall be designed to result in indoor air quality equivalent to that achieved with the ventilation and source control standards for electric space heated homes. In establishing the final requirements, the council shall take into consideration differences in heating fuels and heating system types.

NEW SECTION, Sec. 8. A new section is added to chapter 4.24 RCW to read as follows:

It is a defense in a civil action brought for damages for injury caused by indoor air pollutants in a residential structure on which construction was begun on or after July 1, 1991, that the builder or design professional complied in good faith, without negligence or misconduct, with:

- (1) Building product safety standards, including labeling;
- (2) Restrictions on the use of building materials known or believed to contain substances that contribute to indoor air pollution; and
- (3) The ventilation requirements adopted under section 7 of this act.

NEW SECTION, Sec. 9. A new section is added to chapter 80.28 RCW to read as follows:

(1) The commission shall adopt a policy allowing an incentive rate of return on investment (a) for payments made under section 4 of this act and (b) for programs that improve the efficiency of energy end use if priority is given to senior citizens and low-income citizens in the course of carrying out such programs. The incentive rate of return on investments set forth in this subsection is established by adding an increment of two percent to the rate of return on common equity permitted on the company's other investments.

(2) The commission shall consider and may adopt a policy allowing an incentive rate of return on investment in additional programs to improve the efficiency of energy end use or other incentive policies to encourage utility investment in such programs.

(3) The commission shall consider and may adopt other policies to protect a company from a reduction of short-term earnings that may be a direct result of utility programs to increase the efficiency of energy use. These policies may include allowing a periodic rate adjustment for investments in end use efficiency or allowing changes in price structure designed to produce additional new revenue.

(4) The commission may adopt a policy allowing the recovery of a utility's expenses incurred under section 6 of this act.

NEW SECTION, Sec. 10. A new section is added to chapter 82.16 RCW to read as follows:

(1) In computing tax under this chapter there shall be deducted from the gross income:

- (a) Payments made under section 4 of this act; and
- (b) Those amounts expended on additional programs that improve the efficiency of energy end use if priority is given to senior citizens and low-income citizens in the course of carrying out such programs.

(2) The department, after consultation with the utilities and transportation commission in the case of investor-owned utilities and the governing bodies of locally regulated utilities, shall determine the eligibility of individual programs for deductions under this section.

(3) Until July 1, 1992, utilities may deduct from the amount of tax paid under this chapter fifty percent of the payments made under section 6 of this act, excluding any federal funds that are passed through to a utility for the purpose of retraining local code officials.

(4) This section shall expire January 1, 1996.

Sec. 11. Section 4, chapter 96, Laws of 1974 ex. sess. as last amended by section 8, chapter 360, Laws of 1985 and RCW 19.27.040 are each amended to read as follows:

The governing body of each county or city is authorized to amend the state building code as it applies within the jurisdiction of the county or city. The minimum performance standards of the codes and the objectives enumerated in RCW 19.27.020 shall not be diminished by any county or city amendments. (~~Amendments to RCW 19.27A.010 shall not result in structures that exceed the overall structural heat loss characteristics that would have resulted from conforming to RCW 19.27A.010;~~)

Nothing in this chapter shall authorize any modifications of the requirements of chapter 70.92 RCW.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 12. The following acts or parts of acts are each repealed:

(1) Section 3, chapter 96, Laws of 1974 ex. sess., section 8, chapter 110, Laws of 1975 1st ex. sess., section 11, chapter 14, Laws of 1977 ex. sess., section 1, chapter 76, Laws of 1979 ex. sess., section 1, chapter 8, Laws of 1980, section 1, chapter 101, Laws of 1984, section 1, chapter 144, Laws of 1985 and RCW 19.27A.010;

(2) Section 3, chapter 144, Laws of 1985, section 1, chapter 204, Laws of 1988 and RCW 19.27A.030; and

(3) Section 4, chapter 144, Laws of 1985, section 2, chapter 204, Laws of 1988 and RCW 19.27A.040.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 13. If any provision of this act or its application to any person or circumstance is held invalid, the remainder of the act or the application of the provision to other persons or circumstances is not affected.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 14. Sections 1 through 4, 6, 7, 9, and 10 of this act are necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health, or safety, or support of the state government and its existing public institutions, and shall take effect March 1, 1990. Sections 11 and 12 of this act shall take effect January 1, 1991. Section 8 of this act shall take effect July 1, 1991."

On motion of Senator Benitz, the following title amendment was adopted:

On page 1, line 1 of the title, after "conservation;" strike the remainder of the title and insert "amending RCW 19.27A.020 and 19.27.040; adding new sections to chapter 19.27A RCW; adding a new section to chapter 19.27 RCW; adding a new section to chapter 4.24 RCW; adding a new section to chapter 80.28 RCW; adding a new section to chapter 82.16 RCW; creating a new section; repealing RCW 19.27A.010, 19.27A.030, and 19.27A.040; providing effective dates; and declaring an emergency."

REMARKS BY THE SPEAKER PRO TEMPORE

The Speaker (Representative O'Brien presiding): "The purpose of the Joint Session is to present Medal of Merit awards, for the fourth time, to two deserving Washington State citizens who have been distinguished by exceptionally meritorious conduct in performing outstanding services to the people and state of Washington. Ladies and gentlemen, the Speaker has the honor to present to you Lieutenant Governor Joel Pritchard for the purpose of introducing and honoring James Reed Ellis."

REMARKS BY THE PRESIDENT INTRODUCTION OF JAMES REED ELLIS

President Pritchard: "In introducing James Ellis to you here in the Chamber, rather than go through a long litany of all of the things he has accomplished and all the awards he has been given, I would like to talk about his characteristics and how I would hope other people would emulate those characteristics in order that they, too, can make an impact on their community.

"The first thing about Jim is that he is truly a modest person. He gives credit to other people. When I think of him, I think of him driving an old car and generally wearing a suit that looks like it just came through a rain storm. He has had this habit for many years. When I was far younger, I heard my mother one day say, 'Somebody should talk to Jim Ellis' parents.' The other person said, 'What's wrong?' She said, 'Well, he's out there, going through law school, and all he does is wear his old army clothes.' And someone else said, 'Jim is so stubborn, he won't take help from anyone, and you can't tell him a thing.' He truly is a modest man.

"He is a great motivator. His enthusiasm is contagious and his persuasion is deadly. When he asks you to do something--I don't know how many times I have heard someone say--'I really shouldn't be on this committee,' or 'I really shouldn't be taking the time to work on this thing,' but how do you say 'no' to Jim Ellis?

"He is an original thinker. When he devised the idea of using that space over the freeway for the Freeway Park, this was the first time in America that the air space over a freeway was used. Now, it has been copied all over America. Before he put together the Forward Thrust Program, ideas generally came from the top down in the old days in Seattle. There were some very good people who used to sit around in the Rainier Club, and they did some pretty good things, but times changed, and Jim devised the Forward Thrust Program in which over two hundred people were on committees all over our county. They held hearings and meetings all over the county. The Forward Thrust Program came from the bottom up. It is the way things have to be done today. Jim was ahead of his time.

"He has another characteristic--he refuses to give up. Somebody said that there are lots of people who are starters in the world, but Jim Ellis is a finisher. From cleaning up Lake Washington or the Forward Thrust Program that built parks--he helped the zoo, put in swimming pools and made an enormous change in our community. In every one of those cases, it was hard going. And, in almost every situation, there was a time when conventional wisdom said that it couldn't be done. I can think of the times when people said, 'It is a good idea he has, but it'll never get through.' Sometimes the idea was put to a vote of the people; then the committees had to put it back up to the vote of the people; there had to be changes and more effort, but eventually those programs went through. Our community is better off because of those efforts. He is dogged in how he works.

"He is a sensitive person. I think the best example is when we were having the racial unrest in the sixties, when Jim was a new person on the Board of Regents. That was an explosive situation and he took command, because he was the only one whom all sides trusted and felt understood the problem. He got through that period. I think that was Jim Ellis' finest hour. He is sensitive to other people, and he understands how the other person feels.

"He has had some failures. He tried to put a rapid transit system into Seattle. What a foolish idea--a rapid transit system. The sad thing was that he had the funding worked out, working with Scoop and Maggie and elected officials on both sides of the aisle, but we failed.

"So, he hasn't had a perfect record. He also tried to do some community-wide planning. Think of that. Planning all over the county--thirty years ago. He was ahead of his time. When he was thirty-three, he went before the business community of Seattle, the Seattle Rotary Club. He did not represent a corporation and he did not represent a person of great wealth and he did not hold a public office, but he stood up there and made a clarion call to do something about Lake Washington. This gem, this wonderful resource we had, was becoming a point for sewage. If you swam there, you couldn't see the bottom, and the fish were leaving. He rallied the troops and turned that around. It didn't get passed the first time, but you remember he was thirty-three years old and the force of his ideas and the force of his personality prevailed. Today, we have Lake Washington. People for years will get the benefit of that effort.

"He has had some tragedies. He lost a brother in war. He lost a daughter in an accident. Several years ago he lost his wife. He always dedicates himself even more so to their memories, as he goes out to work.

"He has given more of his time and a higher percentage of his assets to other people than any person I have known in my life. At this point I would like to read something that I think fits him. Many of you have heard this before:

'It is not the critic who counts; not the man who points out how the strong man stumbles or where the doer of deeds could have done them better. The credit belongs to the man who is actually in the arena, whose face is marred by dust and sweat and blood; who strives valiantly; who errs and comes short again and again, because there is no effort without error and shortcomings; but who does actually strive to do the deed; who knows the great enthusiasms, the great devotions; who spends himself in worthy cause; who at the best knows in the end the triumph of high achievement and who, at the worst if he fails, at least fails while daring greatly, so that his place shall never be with those cold and timid souls who know neither victory nor defeat.'

"Teddy Roosevelt wrote that many years ago. It is fitting now and today. It certainly fits our nominee. I am not going to go into what he has done on the national scene or all the other things. I am going to stop here and just say what a privilege it is for me--a high honor--to introduce James Reed Ellis as one of our recipients."

President Pritchard presented the Medal of Merit to Mr. James Reed Ellis.

REMARKS BY JAMES REED ELLIS

Mr. Ellis: "Thank you, Governor Pritchard, for those extraordinarily kind and personal remarks. I also appreciate greatly, Governor Gardner, Speaker King, Justice Callow, Secretary of State Munro, for giving me the honor to stand with Frances Owen, before you today, and to be in the company of the great Washingtonians who have received this award. I am a little bit, more than a little bit, embarrassed. My history is one of civic activist. One of the ironies of civic activity is a public focus of credit and blame upon a single individual for what is almost always the work of many people. Every effort, in which Mary Lou and I were involved, had dozens of co-authors, co-organizers and co-leaders. Without them, none of those things could have happened.

"I am pleased that my family is here today. Last November, Lynn and Mark, who have lived here for some time where Mark is a city attorney, somehow got me invited to speak to the Olympia Chamber of Commerce. My eight-year-old grandson Matthew, who lives here, came to the luncheon, accompanied by his dad to keep him under control. After lunch, Matt was invited to go up to the podium and draw out of the bowl for the door prize. At his height, when he got to the podium, he disappeared completely behind it. You couldn't see him. And, when someone in the audience questioned whether or not there really was in fact a drawing going on, Matt reached up from behind the podium with his arm and waved it back and forth with a white slip of paper. This brought down the house. I remember thinking, 'At least one more citizen politician will come from the next generation.'

"Of course, the process of building communities extends from one generation to another. Our family roots go deep in this state, and Mary Lou and I often marveled at the tremendous achievements of the pioneers. They created parks we take for granted and took for granted. They plowed rich farms out of stump land and sage brush. They developed the schools that shaped our values. They created great universities. They established a tradition of honest government, caring families and caring neighbors. We knew that we were building upon the shoulders of people who had gone before, and we believed that in a later time other men and women would build on what they found--good and bad.

"Today's challenges are as great in their own way as anything that faced people who came before. Will we spread the benefits of economic growth to people and places that have been passed by? Will we let the Puget Sound basin fill up with smog and sprawl? Will I-5 become a strip city clogged with cars? Will we bring effective education to a changing work force? Will we respect our ethnic differences and draw strength from each other? Can we build humane cities and save precious pieces of the natural environment? If you say these questions sound a lot like the problems we have been working on for the last thirty years, you are right. Much was done in that time, but a great deal remains unfinished.

"New conditions, unforeseen problems, continue to emerge. By the time our grandchildren assume their stewardship of the state some of the things, that we thought were so great and that our generation worked on so hard, will either seem like they were always part of the landscape or will have been changed or improved, possibly beyond recognition. Still others will have been torn down and replaced by something different. The institutions we helped to shape may be serving well, or they may have grown tired and be ready for reform. No physical improvement can be truly permanent, and there will never be an end to civic work that needs doing. A community that is alive is never completed. It is a work that is always in progress. Each generation--ours, those that came before, and those that will follow--touch the state in their own way. New causes replace old causes. It is a sign of strength in democracy. We know intuitively that the processes that nurture freedom and build places that people love cannot go forward, unwatched and untended. Every so often states and communities, like families and nations, need surges of effort to show what they can do. The real value of this effort is not so much the people that it helped, the land then preserved, the water cleaned, or the buildings built, but rather that people cared enough to do it.

"Caring citizens are the seedbed of community. This seed was planted long before we came. It has grown by examples familiar to all of us and with which I grew up. For me, it's value was found at home and at school. Awareness became commitment in 1945, when my brother Bob was killed in action. My wife, Mary Lou, inspired me to make my life count for his. This commitment was encouraged by my law partners and shared by my family and co-workers for almost forty years. I am grateful for loving parents and grandparents, who believed in the value of service to others. I owe a debt to my grade school teachers who indelibly marked their students with the ideals of John Muir. I am grateful to all of you for this unforgettable day. And I am grateful to Mary Lou for inspiring my life. Thank you."

The Speaker (Representative O'Brien presiding) introduced Booth Gardner, Governor of the state of Washington.

REMARKS BY GOVERNOR GARDNER
INTRODUCTION OF FRANCES PENROSE OWEN

Governor Gardner: "John Ellis, as he always does so eloquently, gave us a formula that all in this state appreciate, when he said that what he has done so well was supported by what he called 'co-workers and co-leaders.' We all know them in this state by the word 'volunteers.' I have the honor of introducing to you this morning the dean of volunteers. How much we, as legislators, appreciate the importance of volunteers, as do all of you. The dean of volunteers in the state of Washington, for many, many years and for as long as most of us have lived, is a person who will be hard to outdo by any one who comes behind her--Frances Penrose Owen.

"I am going to share with you some of the longevity and importance of what she has volunteered for, but give most of this time to her, so that you can hear her fine words. Understand that when you look at her when she gets up here, you are looking at a woman who has touched many lives and many organizations. Her leadership, while broad-based, has been specifically directed toward children and youth in the state of Washington. For more than thirty-six years, she has dedicated her time and her energy to serving Children's Orthopedic Hospital and, during those thirty-six years, she served for a period as President of that organization's Board of Trustees. For twenty-two years, she served as a member of the Seattle School Board, including four terms as President of the Seattle School Board. Thirty-six years with Children's Orthopedic, twenty-two years with the Seattle School Board and yet she had time to serve for eighteen years as a member of the Board of Regents of Washington State University, twice elected as President of that Board of Regents. As a postscript, she was also the first woman to be appointed to the WSU Board of Regents. To this day she continues to volunteer her time and her energy, concentrating now on serving the needs of senior citizens.

"Today, we recognize and truly thank Frances Penrose Owen with the Medal of Merit. I think you would agree from what you have just heard, that she has truly earned the title of 'Dean of Volunteers in the State of Washington.' Ladies and gentlemen, Frances Penrose Owen."

Governor Gardner presented the Medal of Merit to Mrs. Frances Penrose Owen.

REMARKS BY FRANCES PENROSE OWEN

Mrs. Owen: "Governor Gardner, distinguished guests and members of the Legislature: I am particularly proud of having received this very great honor, because I am first and last and always a citizen of the state of Washington. It means more to me to have received this from my state than almost any other organization that I can think of. One of the things that I have been most proud of is that I was born in the State of Washington. Many worthy Washingtonians cannot claim that privilege. I have always felt myself fortunate.

"I have been fortunate in another regard. I have lived on both sides of the state. Born and brought up in Eastern Washington, my roots go deep into that side of the state. I appreciate its history, particularly, its economy, its culture and its beauty. But I have spent several decades on the west side of the state, where I thoroughly appreciate the quality of life that we have here and the beauty in which we live. As I have lived in the state and worked around the state, I have made a discovery, which as a citizen of the State of Washington, I abhor. And that is that the Cascade Mountains seem to cloud our vision of the state as a whole. We naturally are loyal to the community in which we live, but I know a number of citizens on both sides of the state to whom the state of Washington is only the half of the state that they live in. If you are going to be a citizen of the state, I think you have to concern yourself with all of the differences and the difficulties and the special needs and the possible solutions. They may not be yours to make, but we need, as citizens of the state, to be interested and involved in them.

"I am proud of the fact that the state of Washington stands in the forefront of good legislation in many fields. My particular field was that of education on the national level, state level and local level and in both higher education and in the public schools. I will always be a concerned citizen, whether I am active any more or not--a concerned citizen--and a doubly concerned citizen--when I learned through federal statistics recently that the state of Washington ranks below the national average in its contribution to the expenditure per pupil in the common schools. Washington State ranks lower than the national average in its expenditures for public schools. In this day and age we need a strong educational system--strong for the children in the public schools, strong for the young men and women who are going to our colleges and universities. It is one of the best investments we can make for the future of Washington State and its future citizens.

"Thank you again for this medal of recognition. I am tremendously pleased. As a citizen of the state of Washington, it gives me a great deal of satisfaction. Thank you very much."

The Speaker (Representative O'Brien presiding) presented the gavel to President Pritchard.

Voting yea: Senators Amondson, Anderson, Bailey, Barr, Bauer, Bender, Benitz, Bluechel, Cantu, Craswell, DeJarnatt, Gaspard, Hansen, Hayner, Johnson, Kreidler, Lee, Madsen, Matson, McCaslin, McDonald, Metcalf, Moore, Murray, Nelson, Newhouse, Niemi, Owen, Patrick, Patterson, Rasmussen, Rinehart, Saling, Sellar, Smith, Smitherman, Stratton, Sutherland, Talmadge, Thorsness, Vogndil, von Reichbauer, Warnke, West, Williams, Wojahn - 46.

Debate ensued.

Vice President Pro Tempore Craswell assumed the Chair.

Further debate ensued.

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Rasmussen: "Senator Benitz, when we originally started, we were drilling holes in the houses and pouring stuff in between the walls and that caused rot. I guess that is discontinued now, but that was all the bad in those days. Then, we went from there to heat exchangers--heat to air exchangers--and they found out that was causing Legionnaires Disease. That was in the first bill; everybody had to have that.

"Then now, I understand, in reading this bill, that no longer do we need to seal the homes against Radon. The envelope seal is no longer required for heat conservation. In some areas, that does seal the Radon in that is prevalent in the ground. Are all these matters corrected now and this will be a healthful bill and a cost effective bill now that we've weeded out all the things that were in the first conservation bill?"

Senator Benitz: "Senator Rasmussen and members of the Senate, we think we have improved. There is no question about it, but to say we have cured the Radon problem--in some areas--to say that we have cured that totally remains to be seen. To say that we have cured the ventilation problem--where you have a particular problem--we think we have made improvement, but to guarantee this is the perfect answer, as Senator Williams said, I doubt that we can say that and stand on it. We may have to make changes, but at least we got it started"

Further debate ensued.

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Williams: "Senator Benitz, as I understand, the assessments referred to in Section 6 of the bill are intended to be based on a fee for each inspection official and enforcement official. Is that correct?"

Senator Benitz: "The answer is 'yes.'"

Senator Williams: "Also, are the assessments in Section 6 to be based on whether a utility provided heat for new housing starts?"

Senator Benitz: "The answer again is 'yes.'"

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Smitherman: "Senator Benitz, I notice here that we have divided the state into two zones and the requirements are a bit different in terms of information and so on in those two zones. Therefore, I think the cost would be different. Is there a difference in the amount of subsidy that is given to builders in zone one, as opposed to zone two? Can you explain that to me?"

Senator Benitz: "It would take a lot of explanation. The subsidies have been changed in this bill over the previous bill. Actually, it has been raised a little bit. In each category, I'm sure the subsidy itself--in each category--remains the same for the different zones."

Further debate ensued.

The Vice President Pro Tempore declared the question before the Senate to be the roll call on the final passage of Engrossed Substitute House Bill No. 2198, as amended by the Senate.

THIRD READING

SUBSTITUTE SENATE BILL NO. 5146, by Committee on Environment and Natural Resources (originally sponsored by Senators Owen, Craswell, Kreidler, Lee, Stratton, Sellar and Conner)

Providing a Hood Canal marine fish preservation area.

The bill was read the third time and placed on final passage.

Debate ensued.

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Smitherman: "Senator Owen, as you know, I have a large group of fishermen in a portion of my district in Gig Harbor and they are always concerned about their opportunity for commercial fishing. Does this preclude, then, the opportunity of fishing in the Hood Canal area?"

Senator Owen: "Thank you, Senator Smitherman. When I said that this was a moderate approach to establishing a preservation area, that's one of the reasons that it is. What we do is, we gradually phase out commercial fishing from the front end of the fishery and allow all recreational fishing to take place first, but as the fish start backing up at the hatcheries and the mouths of the rivers and the streams, then the department has the authority to open up the commercial fishing and let the nets in, so that we don't waste the fish and have a bunch of dead fish laying all over the hatcheries and the canal and rivers.

"We recognize the need to allow the commercial fisherman in and it does not totally eliminate the commercial fisherman out of the canal, but it does set up a management scheme that is more compatible with preserving the fishery in that area."

Further debate ensued.

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Talmadge: "Would you please explain, Senator Owen, why we decided in this bill to ban commercial fishery, but not commercial aquaculture in Hood Canal? Are we setting aside Hood Canal as a commercial aquaculture zone?"

Senator Owen: "Senator Talmadge, are you referring to shell fish aquaculture or fin fish aquaculture or sea-weed aquaculture?"

Senator Talmadge: "On page 1 of the bill, Senator, it says, 'The director of fisheries shall incrementally reduce the commercial fishery harvest of all food fish, but not food fish produced by private aquaculture or herring used as fishing bait, within the Hood Canal recreational fishing waters to achieve a significant reduction in the commercial fishery within four years of the effective date of this act.' It appears to suggest that anything that relates to food fishery that is of an aquaculture nature would be exempted from the provisions of this bill."

Senator Owen: "I believe that the reason that language is in there, Senator Talmadge, is that there are some aquacultural facilities in that area that don't necessarily contribute to the recreational fishery. For instance, off of Hoodspout--near Hoodspout--there is a trout aquacultural facility. There is also a shell fish aquacultural facility in that area that we're trying not to affect either."

The President Pro Tempore declared the question before the Senate to be the roll call on the final passage of Substitute Senate Bill No. 5146.

Senator Rasmussen: "Senator von Reichbauer, let me say a majority of these accidents are caused by that car that stops. He sees a pedestrian as he is going across the pedestrian lane. The car behind him can't see the pedestrian and goes full bore and usually the pedestrian comes up over the windshield. What can we do to solve that? There have been several close escapes and I hate to stop for pedestrians and have them in front of my car and the guy comes along the side and flips him. It makes a very dangerous situation. I suspect the Transportation Committee has studied that. It isn't bad at a light, because you know that, but you don't know it at a marked pedestrian crossing."

Senator von Reichbauer: "Senator Rasmussen, I've been in consultation with our chairman of the Senate Committee on Transportation and that is one of the issues that we will be reviewing in the interim. You've raised a very valid consideration and concern and that is something we definitely need to work more on."

MOTION

On motion of Senator Metcalf, Senate Bill No. 6583 was advanced to third reading, the second reading considered the third, and the bill was placed on final passage.

Debate ensued.

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Rasmussen: "Senator McDonald, this will allow them to collect some more money, but that's not what is bothering me. It is only money. When they declare a ban, state-wide, on the burning of stoves, fireplaces and so forth, including certified stoves, that is getting beyond reason. What do you do if you have a fire going and they declare a ban? You hear it on the radio that there is a ban on, state-wide. Do you dump water on it? That creates steam and that creates more pollution and it all goes up the chimney."

Senator McDonald: "Senator Rasmussen, you always have a way of putting things that are hard to answer, but that is not the subject of this bill. I would join with you in taking a look at this. Let me tell you what Section 2 has to do with the Condominium Association. A constituent in my district brought my attention to the fact that if you have one person that was burning and it is coming out of a chimney that has multiple condominium owners on it, then the Air Pollution Control Authority would fine the Association, which is everybody in the Condominium Association, for one person, and you have no idea who it was. This has a procedure whereby the Condominium Association will work together with the Air Pollution Control Authority, but they will not be able to fine everybody, if one person pollutes."

Senator Rasmussen: "Well, all the condo owners may be in the one condo that has the fire in it in order to stay warm. We should be doing something to protect the people that are spending thousands of dollars on their certified stoves--and I imagine that is all they handle now. If you have any suggestions, we would be glad to offer an amendment."

Senator McDonald: "I would be more than happy to join with you in that, but I don't believe that this is probably the vehicle to solve the problem, although your thought about all of them squeezed in one condo is intriguing."

Senator Rasmussen: "I see Senator Patterson has an answer."

REMARKS BY SENATOR PATTERSON

Senator Patterson: "Thank you, Mr. President. I really don't have an answer, except we do have a bill that is working through the process here, addressing the state-wide ban situation. It came out through Senator Metcalf's Environment Committee, also, dealing with the certified stoves. They will be on the approved list. You can burn those if this bill passes, so I think this issue is being addressed currently through other legislation."

The President Pro Tempore declared the question before the Senate to be the roll call on the final passage of Senate Bill No. 6583.

MOTION

Senator McMullen moved that the following amendment to the amendments be adopted:

On page 13, line 14, after "state" insert "provided that such payment by the state shall not exceed ninety percent of the salary of a superior court judge"

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Newhouse: "Senator McMullen, I understand that the County Legislative Authority sets the level of salaries of these officials and in many counties--the small counties--it is not really a full time job and yet you would allow the county officials to set that salary at ninety percent of the level of the Superior Court Judge and the state would have to pick up the tab. Is that the proper interpretation of your amendment?"

Senator McMullen: "Yes, Senator Newhouse, and if I might explain. Your discussion goes primarily to the main amendment itself. The purpose of this amendment that we are discussing at this moment--in the main amendment, the state would now pay half of the elected prosecutors salaries and then would pay all the elected prosecutors salaries as set by the local county level. The purpose of this amendment is to say that no more than ninety percent of the Superior Court Judge salary will the state pay for."

Further debate ensued.

The President Pro Tempore declared the question before the Senate to be the adoption of the amendment by Senator McMullen on page 13, line 14, to the amendments by Senators McMullen, Talmadge and Niemi on page 2, line 15; page 5, line 8 and beginning on line 32; and page 8, after line 10; to Substitute Senate Bill No. 6547.

SENATE BILL NO. 6250, by Senators Owen, Metcalf, Amondson, Sutherland, Conner, DeJarnatt, Stratton, Warnke, Bauer, Bender and Kreidler

Providing complimentary fishing licenses.

The bill was read the second time.

MOTION

Senator Owen moved that the following amendment be adopted:

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

NEW SECTION, Sec. 1. The legislature finds that the Goodwill Games that will be held in the summer of 1990 in Washington state are an international event with the potential to improve the relations of mankind on a global scale. To further the spirit of goodwill the legislature wishes to provide an opportunity to the participating athletes to fish recreationally in Washington state waters by authorizing a procedure for complimentary fishing.

NEW SECTION, Sec. 2. The director of fisheries shall grant authorization, by rule, for any athlete who has been granted Goodwill Games participant credentials to use those credentials in lieu of a fishing license for the period of July 15, 1990, through August 15, 1990.

NEW SECTION, Sec. 3. The director of wildlife shall grant authorization, by rule, for any athlete who has been granted Goodwill Games participant credentials to use those credentials in lieu of a fishing license for the period of July 15, 1990, through August 15, 1990.

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Rasmussen: "Senator Owen, I think this is an excellent proposal. The question I have is that these are visitors from out of our country. No. 1, will they be allowed to fish as they do in their native country or will they have to fish by our rules?"

Senator Owen: "They will have to comply with all of our rules."

Senator Rasmussen: "The second question has to do with barbless hooks. Most of these countries, in fact, all of them that I know of don't require barbless hooks. We recently had a case--last summer--when a Department of Fisheries enforcement agent descended on a tourist boat and they fined the skipper two thousand dollars and fined each one of the people fishing with barbed hooks, five hundred dollars. There were tourists that were here--were guests in the state of Washington. I guess it wouldn't have taken very much to haul them off to jail and I'm wondering if maybe we should have an amendment saying that they may fish with the same type of tackle that they are used to in their native country. The reason that I'm asking that, I'd hate to have our Fisheries Department go again down there and sock them with five hundred dollar fines."

Senator Owen: "If you are asking me if I think that we should do that, the answer is, 'No, I don't think that we should do that.' It might create a few problems with the bill and cause it to slow down and disappear. They'll have to comply with all the rules that we have to comply with."

Senator Rasmussen: "This could be worse than the use of steroids as far as good will. I'll talk to the House and see if we can get an amendment adopted."

Further debate ensued.

Senator Nelson moved that the following amendment by Senators Nelson and Talmadge be adopted:

On page 11, after line 2, insert the following:

*Sec. 11. Section 59, chapter 165, Laws of 1989 and RCW 23B.06.400 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) A board of directors may authorize and the corporation may make distributions to its shareholders subject to restriction by the articles of incorporation and the limitation in subsection (2) of this section.

(2) No distribution may be made if, after giving it effect:

(a) The corporation would not be able to pay its debts as they become due in the usual course of business; or

(b) The corporation's total assets would be less than the sum of its total liabilities plus, unless the articles of incorporation permit otherwise, the amount that would be needed, if the corporation were to be dissolved at the time of the distribution, to satisfy the preferential rights upon dissolution of shareholders whose preferential rights are superior to those receiving the distribution.

(3) For purposes of determinations under subsection (2) of this section:

(a) The board of directors may base a determination that a distribution is not prohibited under subsection (2) of this section either on financial statements prepared on the basis of accounting practices and principles that are reasonable in the circumstances or on a fair valuation or other method that is reasonable in the circumstances; and

(b) Indebtedness of a corporation, including indebtedness issued as a distribution, is not considered a liability if its terms provide that payment of principal and interest are made only if and to the extent that payment of a distribution to shareholders could then be made under this section.

(4) The effect of a distribution under subsection ~~((3)(b))~~ (2) of this section is measured:

(a) In the case of a distribution of indebtedness, the terms of which provide that payment of principal and interest are made only if and to the extent that payment of a distribution to shareholders could then be made under this section, each payment of principal or interest is treated as a distribution, the effect of which is measured on the date the payment is actually made; or

(b) In the case of any other distribution:

(i) If the distribution is by purchase, redemption, or other acquisition of the corporation's shares, the effect of the distribution is measured as of the earlier of the date any money or other property is transferred or debt incurred by the corporation, or the date the shareholder ceases to be a shareholder with respect to the acquired shares;

(ii) If the distribution is of indebtedness other than that described in subsection (4) (a) and (b)(i) of this section, the effect of the distribution is measured as of the date the indebtedness is distributed; and

(iii) In all other cases, the effect of the distribution is measured as of the date the distribution is authorized if payment occurs within one hundred twenty days after the date of authorization, or the date the payment is made if it occurs more than one hundred twenty days after the date of authorization.

(5) A corporation's indebtedness to a shareholder incurred by reason of a distribution made in accordance with this section is at parity with the corporation's indebtedness to its general, unsecured creditors except to the extent provided otherwise by agreement.

(6) In circumstances to which this section and related sections of this title are applicable, such provisions supersede the applicability of any other statutes of this state with respect to the legality of distributions.

Sec. 12. Section 75, chapter 165, Laws of 1989 and RCW 23B.07.270 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) The articles of incorporation may provide for a greater or lesser quorum, but not less than one-third of the votes entitled to be cast, for shareholders, or voting groups of shareholders, than is provided for by this title.

(2) The articles of incorporation may provide for a greater voting requirement for shareholders, or voting groups of shareholders, than is provided for by this title.

(3) Under RCW 23B.10.030, 23B.11.030, 23B.12.020, and 23B.14.020, the articles of incorporation may provide for a lesser vote than is otherwise prescribed in those sections or for a lesser vote by separate voting groups, so long as the vote provided for each voting group entitled to vote separately on the plan or transaction is not less than a majority of all the votes entitled to be cast on the plan or transaction by that voting group.

(4) Except as provided in subsection (5) of this section, an amendment to the articles of incorporation that adds, changes, or deletes a greater or lesser quorum or voting requirement for a particular corporate action must meet the same quorum requirement and be adopted by the same vote and voting groups required to take action under the quorum and voting requirements then in effect for the corporate action.

(5) An amendment to the articles of incorporation that adds, changes, or deletes a greater or lesser quorum or voting requirement for a merger, share exchange, sale of substantially all assets, or dissolution must be adopted by the same vote and voting groups required to take action under the quorum and voting requirements then in effect for the particular corporate action, or the quorum and voting requirements then in effect for amendments to articles of incorporation, whichever is greater.

Sec. 13. Section 138, chapter 165, Laws of 1989 and RCW 23B.12.010 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) A corporation may on the terms and conditions and for the consideration determined by the board of directors:

(b) Mortgage, pledge, dedicate to the repayment of indebtedness, whether with or without recourse, or otherwise encumber any or all of its property whether or not in the usual and regular course of business.

(2) Unless the articles of incorporation require it, approval by the shareholders of a transaction described in subsection (1) of this section is not required.

Renumber the sections consecutively.

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Vognild: "I notice that the Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee is just coming on the floor and I would like to ask if he would explain to me why this bill was exempt from the otherwise rigid rule of a $50,000 impact it must go through the Ways and Means Committee. The fiscal note is $75,668 for a year and a $465,124 six-year projection."

Senator McDonald: "Well, Senator Vognild, this is the first time that it has been brought to my attention. I think that it is not a rigid rule, as you know, and as you reminded me when you were on the Rules Committee that it is only a yardstick, one that you measured against and on occasions decided it ought to go. The plain facts of the matter are, Senator Vognild, that the consensus of the Ways and Means Committee right now is that this bill would be dead and I don't think that is an issue that ought to be given that kind of treatment, so if that is what your notion was I would think that would not be a good idea."

Senator Vognild: "Well, thank you, Senator McDonald. I have observed on the floor that it has been a pretty rigid rule."

Further debate ensued.

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Patterson: "Senator Nelson, I asked earlier about the fiscal note on this particular bill. There has to be some cost involved to the Department of Licensing when they become engaged in this kind of enterprise. Do you have that fiscal note yet--what those charges are?"

Senator Nelson: "Senator Patterson, it has been estimated that the transactional costs of having any one of the sixty-two drivers license facilities, in the state, carry out the voter registration is approximately fifty to sixty cents per transaction, so that the fiscal note is really not determined very accurately, because we don't know how many people will, in fact, take advantage of this particular need. Two years ago, when we had this measure, we were looking at some $380,000 or something in the way of a fiscal note. I believe that the Department of Licensing and the Secretary of State will be working to drive those costs down by the implementation of the data base--to be talking to one another--the one dealing with voter registration that we have today and the one dealing with personal drivers licenses, so we do not have what might be the long-term fiscal note on this bill."

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Rasmussen: "Senator Rinehart, you have a line here that bothers me. It goes, 'Whereas, sports and fitness activity contributes to the emotional and physical well-being, and women need both strong minds and strong bodies.' In mens' athletics, they kind of say you have strong bodies and weak minds and you have reversed that."

Senator Rinehart: "Senator Rasmussen, that's progress."

Senator Rasmussen: "Well, I wanted to ask you specifically if you refer only to the women that are engaged in athletics. Are you excluding all the fiddle players and those that take the arts and things like that? They deserve some sort of commendation, too."

Senator Rinehart: "Speaking as a classical pianist, no, we are not excluding anyone."

Senator Rasmussen: "That's all right then. I wanted to get that cleared up. I didn't believe the weak minds and strong bodies in the men either. I think they are equal--both of them--the men and women."

On page 1, beginning on line 6, strike everything through "program." on line 9, and insert the following:

"Bicycling is popular for all ages. Almost all families now have bicycles. Bicycling takes more skill than most people realize. Since bicyclists have a low profile in traffic and are unprotected, they need more defensive riding skills than motorists do.

A bicycle awareness program is created within the Washington state patrol. The patrol shall conduct the program in conjunction with the safety education officer program and may use other law enforcement personnel and volunteers to implement the program for children in grades kindergarten through six."

Debate ensued.

The Vice President Pro Tempore declared the question before the Senate to be the adoption of the amendment by Senators Warnke, Hayner, Bender, Patterson and Gaspard on page 1, line 6, to Substitute Senate Bill No. 6434.

The motion by Senator Warnke carried and the amendment was adopted.

MOTION

On page 1, after line 9, insert the following:

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. A new section is added to chapter 46.61 RCW to read as follows:

(1) It is unlawful:

(a) For any person under the age of sixteen years to operate or ride upon a bicycle not powered by motor on a state highway, county road, city street, or any public sidewalk adjacent to the foregoing unless wearing a protective helmet of a type certified to meet the requirements of standard Z-90.4 of the American National Standards Institute or such subsequent nationally recognized standard for bicycle helmet performance as the state patrol may adopt by rule. The helmet must be equipped with either a neck or chin strap which shall be fastened securely while the cycle is in motion:

(b) For any person to transport a person under the age of sixteen years upon a bicycle or any other cycle not powered by motor on a state highway, county road, city street, or any public sidewalk adjacent to the foregoing unless the person transported is wearing a helmet which meets the requirements in (a) of this subsection:

(c) For the guardian of any person under the age of sixteen years to knowingly allow that person to operate or ride upon a bicycle or any other cycle not powered by motor on a state highway, county road, city street, or any public sidewalk adjacent to the foregoing unless that person is wearing a helmet which meets the requirements in (a) of this subsection. For the purpose of this subsection, "guardian" shall mean any parent, legal guardian, temporary guardian including a babysitter, or any other person who maintains responsibility, whether voluntary or otherwise, for the safety and welfare of any person under the age of sixteen years:

(d) For any person to sell or offer for sale a bicycle helmet which does not meet the requirements established by the state patrol:

(e) For any person to rent a bicycle or cycle not powered by motor for use by a person known by the one renting to be under the age of sixteen years unless the person is in possession of a helmet which meets the requirements of (a) of this subsection, and the one renting is reasonably satisfied that the person will operate or ride upon the cycle while wearing such a helmet in the manner described in (a) of this subsection. For purposes of this subsection, it shall be the affirmative duty of persons renting bicycles or any other cycle not driven by motor to inquire concerning the age of persons who will operate or ride upon such cycles.

(2) Failure to comply with the requirements of this section does not constitute negligence. Neither failure to wear a bicycle helmet nor the permission of such failure to occur shall be admissible as evidence of negligence in any civil action.

(3) The state patrol shall adopt rules to implement this section.

Sec. 3. Section 79, chapter 155, Laws of 1965 ex. sess. as last amended by section 6, chapter 55, Laws of 1982 and RCW 46.61.750 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) It is a traffic infraction for any person to do any act forbidden or fail to perform any act required in RCW 46.61.750 through 46.61.780 or section 2 of this 1990 act.

(2) These regulations applicable to bicycles apply whenever a bicycle is operated upon any highway or upon any bicycle path, subject to those exceptions stated herein."

Renumber the remaining sections consecutively and correct any internal references accordingly.

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Rasmussen: "Senator Warnke, I think it is an excellent idea, but I have a question. I do see people taking their young children along with them--babies--on the bicycles. I don't know if they have helmets for people that size and this would require anybody under the age of sixteen to have helmets. Now, what would that do to those who wanted to take their children along with them either carrying them on their back or riding them in the basket?"

Senator Warnke: "Senator, there are various sizes of helmets. In fact, I think there is one that is size toddler that they could use."

Senator Rasmussen: "They are available then? I wasn't aware of that. Thank you."

Further debate ensued.

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Cantu: "Senator Warnke, I need my memory refreshed as to what is the penalty for a traffic infraction as identified in Section 3?"

Senator Warnke: "I couldn't tell you, Senator. This is Senator Hayner's language, I believe."

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Cantu: "Senator Talmadge, I'm just asking the sponsors of the bill or anyone--it says in Section 3 that it is a traffic infraction for any person to do any act forbidden by this act and I was curious as to what the penalty is for a traffic infraction?"

Senator Talmadge: "Senator, as you may recall, the Legislature decriminalized traffic offenses a number of years ago and left it to the Supreme Court of the state of Washington, to develop by rule and regulation the fiscal penalties for traffic infractions. These carry no jail time consequences and simply result in a fiscal financial penalty or fine being imposed against someone under a schedule developed by the Supreme Court by rule."

Senator Cantu: "So, would that be then up to each city--for example--a city could have one penalty and another city--"

Senator Talmadge: "No, it would be a standard penalty for the traffic infractions according to the Supreme Court rule, as we do now for a variety of traffic related offenses. The only place where the local governments have some discretion still, by my recollection, is for parking fines."

Further debate ensued.

REMARKS BY SENATOR CANTU

Senator Cantu: "Thank you, Madam President. The Sergeant at Arms just gave me a slip of paper. For the member's information, the Washington State Patrol infraction for this would be twenty-eight dollars."

Further debate ensued.

Senator Warnke demanded a roll call and the demand was sustained.

On motion of Senator Metcalf, Substitute Senate Bill No. 6698 was advanced to third reading, the second reading considered the third, and the bill was placed on final passage.

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Rasmussen: "Senator Metcalf, in the previous floor discussion on Senate Bill No. 6583, I asked how local air pollution control authorities enforce the wood burning bans. I am concerned that citizens get a chance to let their stove fires go out within a reasonable time before getting a violation notice for illegal burning. The question directly is--I understand they have a three hour delay, but a delay from what? When I hear the radio or the newspaper, it just says there is a ban on and it doesn't say whether it is six o'clock or twelve o'clock or whatever. I don't know whether I have three hours from that time or not, because there is no time stated."

Senator Metcalf: "Senator Rasmussen, thank you for this question, because I think this does need to be cleared up and put in the record. There are specific rules on this issue and both the state and local air officials assure me that there is common sense application of these rules. Under the administrative rules implementing the wood stove laws, all persons using old uncertified or new certified stoves shall extinguish the fire by not putting in new fuel into the fire when a no-burn--meaning an air pollution episode or an impaired air quality--declaration is issued.

"The regulations also require three hours to elapse after the no-burn declaration before any enforcement action can be taken. Any smoke coming out of a chimney, flue or exhaust duct after the three hour period shall be considered evidence of an unlawful operation of a solid fuel burning devise.

"Substitute Senate Bill No. 6698 is not intended to alter these rules requiring a reasonable period of time to elapse after a ban is declared before enforcement action is taken."

Senator Rasmussen: "I didn't hear any answer to the question of when they put the ban on, when is the specific hour stated? When it is in effect? That is the key question. I don't know whether I have three hours from what?"

Senator Metcalf: "In other words, what you are asking is that whenever the burn ban goes out, the time should go with it--the time of the burn ban should be put on it?"

Senator Rasmussen: "The time that you have three hours from that time to let your fire die out."

Senator Metcalf: "OK, that is not covered in the bill, Senator Rasmussen--to be sure that the ban warnings have a time certain on them. I think that is something that we should take up with the department and I did not understand that part of the question, so it isn't in the bill."

Senator Rasmussen: "Maybe we can get the House to correct it."

Senator Metcalf: "I think that probably is a good idea."

Further debate ensued.

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Nelson: "Senator Williams, I have a two part question, the first one being that in this measure where we've now defined public markets, I find that we're including property within the area or the district that may be used for such purposes as human services and low income or moderate income housing and I'm wondering if because of that definition we include other properties or so called public markets beyond that of the Pike Place Market in Seattle. Perhaps you can expand on why we've included such things under public markets to include retail activities beyond that of marketing of foods."

Senator Williams: "I'm not sure, Senator Nelson, that I can give you a good answer to that. This is the language that the city attorneys for the city of Seattle prepared for us in the contingency, if the contingency should occur, that no resolution could be made and it looks like we in the city might be losing control of the market and seeing an irreversible change in it. So, the specifics of the language, I don't claim to be author for, nor do I know in detail exactly why certain wording is in there, but it is wording that the city of Seattle attorneys brought to us, and I have a fair amount of confidence in their rational for that within their own minds. I don't know if anyone else has an answer."

"(6)The committee shall not accept any project application unless accompanied by a statement of support from a majority of the members of the local governing body."

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Saling: "Senator Anderson, I don't find a definition in the section in the bill dealing with definitions of a local governing body. I do find local agencies. Do you have a definition of what that is?"

Senator Anderson: "Senator Saling, I do not have a definition. It was my understanding that if it was a city entity, that government was to apply. If it was a county entity, it would be county government."

Senator Saling: "Well, all cities are in counties. What if one body says one thing, another body says the other, or what if the property in question lies in both the city and the county, what agency would rule? What would the local governing body be?"

Senator Anderson: "Senator Saling, from my discussions on this amendment, if the property were located solely within the county, then it would be the county agency. If the property were located solely within the city, it would be the city government and I would think that if you would have a joint property, then it would be the majority of the members from the joint governing bodies."

Senator Saling: "Thank you."

MOTION

On motion of Senator McDonald, Engrossed Substitute Senate Bill No. 6412 was advanced to third reading, the second reading considered the third, and the bill was placed on final passage.

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Rasmussen: "Senator McDonald, when the Evans-Lowry team went through here like a whirlwind, I thought it was four hundred seventy-five million that they were talking about?"

Senator McDonald: "Actually, it's four hundred and fifty million, Senator Rasmussen. The coalition that put together--hopefully a referendum that would be approved by the Legislature--and sent on to the voters for their approval. It was the determination of the Governor that he would wish that instead that we would go this route and then take a look at the entire appropriations or the entire capital funding scheme for the many things that are before us. The coalition said that they would join with him in doing that overall evaluation, but in the meantime that this sixty-two million would be for lands that could be purchased that are not going to be available a year from now. So, that's basically the genesis. I think that you will see a proposal that would be a referendum for the remainder of that money."

Senator Rasmussen: "Let me ask one further question, if I may. This is sixty-one million and then there will be four hundred and fifty million more?"

Senator McDonald: "No, I would think that it would be whatever the difference is--three hundred and ninety million for a referendum."

Senator Rasmussen: "And then one more question, if I may? This is to buy a habitat where the deer and the antelope and the elk can play? Are we going to have a bond issue for a habitat for the homeless?"

Senator McDonald: "Certainly, Senator Rasmussen, that would be subject, I think, of other bills, and I think we've actually passed one today that would make a real difference for people that are homeless."

Senator Rasmussen: "Maybe we should consider amending this in the House to provide a place for the homeless to camp. They have new cardboard boxes they are making for them and they can live in the wilderness now. I read about that in Popular Mechanics someplace."

Further debate ensued.

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Sutherland: "Senator Smith, is it correct to say this bill merely clarifies what public utility districts may already lawfully undertake, namely negotiating competitive 'fair market' terms of employment between the district and its general manager, just as any school district or port district or, for that matter, any competing private utility, may do?"

Senator Smith: "Yes."

Senator Sutherland: "And this is because a public utility district acts in its proprietary or business capacity when it negotiates the terms of employment with its general manager and because of the express mandate for liberal construction of public utility district powers found in the public utility district initiative originally enacted by the voters in 1931, and also found in RCW 54.44.900?"

Senator Smith: "Yes."

Senator Rasmussen: "Senator Talmadge, I'm not sure from what we heard in the committee--it seemed that it was a potential tax, not something that they'd been collecting. If they were able to put it in force, they would have the potential of collecting in the future. Then the committee decided that maybe it wasn't a very fair approach. I don't know if it's a direct loss, but I think a potential. If we can collect it, maybe we will get it."

Senator Talmadge: "Senator, my understanding is that they are, in fact, collecting the B&O Tax now on these individuals."

Senator Rasmussen: "Well, I understood they have assessed it, but they were challenging it."

Senator Talmadge: "I just point out, Senator, that when we talk about independent contractors and people who are performing in that capacity, we're not talking just about these agents, but we are talking about a variety of people who perform their work under independent contractors. If we're going to engage in a policy of exempting individuals who perform under an independent contract from the Business and Occupation Tax, we're going to be talking about a large number of people in the state of Washington."

Further debate ensued.

(14) Upon every person engaging within this state as an insurance agent, insurance broker, or insurance solicitor licensed under chapter 48.17 RCW; as to such persons, the amount of the tax with respect to such licensed activities shall be equal to the gross income of such business multiplied by the rate of one percent. The measure of tax on insurance commissions earned by an insurance agent, insurance broker, or insurance solicitor shall be the gross commission retained by that particular agent, broker, or solicitor after the particular agent, broker, or solicitor has paid any other agent, broker, or solicitor a portion of the gross commission which the agent, broker, or solicitor was legally required to pay pursuant to a contract or other agreement in existence prior to the transaction on which the commission was earned.

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Vognild: "Senator von Reichbauer, I understand what you're doing with the amendment, and I have no real quarrel with it, but I'd like to know how it relates to Senate Bill No. 6433? If we pass both of these measures into law, then what happens? Have we not destroyed the amnesty that we're trying to create in Second Substitute Senate Bill No. 6440?"

Senator von Reichbauer: "That is not the intention, Senator Vognild. Specifically, what is your concern? That is not the intention of the amendment or the proposal in Second Substitute Senate Bill No. 6440."

Senator Vognild: "My concern is, whether it's the intention or not, but that is effectively what happens. I'm a friend of the bill, but I'm afraid that that is what will happen."

SENATE BILL NO. 6667, by Senators McDonald, Bailey and Hayner

Transferring power and duty to enforce cigarette and tobacco laws to the liquor control board.

MOTIONS

On motion of Senator McDonald, Substitute Senate Bill No. 6667 was substituted for Senate Bill No. 6667 and the substitute bill was placed on second reading and read the second time.

On motion of Senator McDonald, Substitute Senate Bill No. 6667 was advanced to third reading, the second reading considered the third, and the bill was placed on final passage.

Debate ensued.

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Smitherman: "Senator McDonald, I've not seen that LBC Report and I guess I'm curious. Did they recommend any procedures that might be carried out by the Department of Revenue to enhance the collections or did they just say that the process should be transferred? I'm trying to get a grip on this. In other words, did they talk about process or did they just talk about a transfer of --?"

Senator McDonald: "I can't answer that--whether they said they have recommendations as to what the Department of Revenue can do. Let me just reiterate, Senator Smitherman, in our deliberations in the Ways and Means Committee, which has spanned two years, the Department of Revenue first claimed that we were only losing less than a million dollars. When it finally came out from an internal memo, within the department, that the estimate was really about eighteen million dollars per year--thirty-six million dollars a biennium. They were a bit embarrassed, I guess, by the revelation of that memo.

"Things have not gotten any better in the last couple of years and the projections that they have--projections that they give to the Economic and Revenue Forecast Council--indicate that they feel that there will not be any additional revenue gains. So, I think that the indications are pretty clear that the Liquor Control Board can do it. The Department of Revenue can't."

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Rasmussen: "You kind of lost me someplace, Senator McDonald, and I would like to know or understand clearly. We have a Governor that's dedicated to efficiency. Who appoints the director of the Department of Revenue?"

Senator McDonald: "I believe the Governor does, Senator Rasmussen."

Senator Rasmussen: "He must be misdirected then. He had high praise for the former director, Wilkerson, doing a wonderful job and he lost thirty-seven million. Do you anticipate that the new director is going to be as lax in his operations?"

Senator McDonald: "Well, Senator Rasmussen, since we only have an acting director, and we don't know who that new director will be, I guess I don't know. If you sat in on the Ways and Means Committee over at Spokane and the one we had some two years ago, I think that we indicated to the Department of Revenue and Wilkerson, at that time--Director Wilkerson--that while he may enjoy a reputation as being pretty efficient in a lot of areas, that is one that he definitely was not."

The President declared the question before the Senate to be the roll call on the final passage of Substitute Senate Bill No. 6667.

Providing a tax credit for certain real property.

MOTIONS

On motion of Senator Lee, Substitute Senate Bill No. 6232 was substituted for Senate Bill No. 6232 and the substitute bill was placed on second reading and read the second time.

On motion of Senator Lee, Substitute Senate Bill No. 6232 was advanced to third reading, the second reading considered the third, and the bill was placed on final passage.

Debate ensued.

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Talmadge: "Senator Lee, my recollection of the Efficiency Commission Report was not that the amount be increased from one to five percent, but they suggested that the range was in the two to three percent area. Is that your recollection as well?"

Senator Lee: "Senator Talmadge, my recollection is from the actual study that the department did to see where that range should be and indeed, in my opinion, the rather flawed report that they had--very few returns--the department did see where they thought the range should be--is that it should be more than one percent, but the department did put it at an indicated ratio far below what even their own report indicated."

Further debate ensued.

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Murray: "Senator Lee, if five percent of this becomes attributable to personal property, will then we have to pay sales tax on that five percent when we sell property?"

Senator Lee: "Senator Murray, the five percent we are talking about is what is calculated as far as the actual sales that go on out there in the public when--if I sell a house, for example, and I sell it for a certain price and if I'm a wise taxpayer, when I pay the real estate excise tax on that selling price, I look and see what personal property went along with that sale--the stove, the range, the refrigerator, the curtains--I can deduct that from the sales price in calculating my real estate excise tax. The Department of Revenue has been using a factor of five percent as a deduction from that sales price in order to determine what portion of it is really real property for determining its state ratio. I know this sounds complex and we don't have a blackboard and so on, but the reasons for being able to deduct a certain amount from their sales price and not pay real estate excise tax on it is the fact that you've already paid sales tax on things like the stove, the refrigerator and the curtains that are part of the total price that you charged the buyer of that home, so it's already been paid. It does not mean you need to pay any additional sales tax."

Senator Murray: "Senator Lee, if I can continue. I guess I'm just not quite clear, because the purchaser who is buying your property is buying--if you leave your range, your refrigerator and all those there--the sales tax is seven or eight percent, so I guess I don't quite follow you. I want to know if this passes and we're declaring that five percent of it is personal property, then are we going to require somebody who is buying a house to pay the sales tax of seven or eight percent on that remaining personal property?"

Senator Lee: "The answer to that question is 'no.'"

The President declared the question before the Senate to be the roll call on the final passage of Substitute Senate Bill No. 6232.

ROLL CALL

The Secretary called the roll on the final passage of Substitute Senate Bill No. 6232 and the bill passed the Senate by the following vote: Yeas, 41; nays, 3; absent, 1; excused, 4.

SECOND READING

SENATE BILL NO. 6501, by Senators Barr, Hansen, Bailey, Newhouse, Gaspard and Bauer

Creating a central filing system for security interests in farm crops.

MOTIONS

On motion of Senator Barr, Substitute Senate Bill No. 6501 was substituted for Senate Bill No. 6501 and the substitute bill was placed on second reading and read the second time.

On motion of Senator Barr, the following amendment by Senators Barr, Bailey, Anderson, Hansen, Newhouse and Madsen was adopted:

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

"NEW SECTION, Sec. 1. The availability of credit is vital for agriculture. For that reason, the legislature has traditionally promoted the availability of agricultural credit. The legislature finds that lenders lack a uniformly effective means of providing notice of a lender's security interest in farm products to purchasers of the products. The legislature further finds that purchasers lack any practical method for discovering the existence of security interests in farm products.

Accordingly, it is the intent of the legislature to promote the development of a central filing system as provided in 7 U.S.C. Sec. 1631(c)(11) and to encourage private businesses to provide for expeditious discovery of liens and security interests in farm products.

NEW SECTION, Sec. 2. Unless the context clearly requires otherwise, the definitions in this section apply throughout this chapter.

(1) "Department" means the department of licensing of the state of Washington.

(2) "Director" means the director of the department or a duly authorized representative.

(3) "Person" means a natural person, individual, firm, partnership, corporation, company, society, association, cooperative, or any organized group of persons whether incorporated or not, and every officer, agent, or employee thereof. This term shall import either the singular or the plural as the case may be.

(4) "Buyer of farm products" means a person who in the ordinary course of business, buys farm products from a person engaged in farming operations who is in the business of selling farm products or a person who acts as a commission merchant or selling agent dealing in products purchased from a person engaged in farming operations who is in the business of selling farm products.

(5) "Central filing system" means a system for filing effective financing statements or notice of such financing statements on a state-wide basis and which has been certified by the secretary of the United States department of agriculture.

(6) "Central filing system operator" means the department of licensing or a person licensed under this chapter to operate a central filing system for any or all farm products.

(7) "Effective financing statement" means a financing statement for farm products described in RCW 62A.9-402(9) and shall include amendments as set forth under RCW 62A.9-

402(10). Effective financing statements filed pursuant to this chapter are not subject to the effective financing statement requirements under chapter 62A.9 RCW, except as provided in RCW 62A.9-409(1) and this chapter.

(8) "Subscriber" means a person utilizing the services of a central filing system operator.

(9) "Registrant" means a subscriber indicating an interest in receiving information in writing by farm product category according to the method described in section 7 (6)(b) of this act.

(10) "Farm product" means any product defined as such for purposes of this chapter by the director.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. The director shall administer and enforce the provisions of this chapter and the necessary rules. The director shall adopt rules:

(1) Governing the licensing of central filing system operators. Such rules shall include the requirements enumerated in section 7 (1) through (7) of this act;

(2) Providing that licensees keep records as required;

(3) Defining time periods within which registrants will receive notice of information for which they have registered an interest, if more frequently than provided for in section 7 (6)(b) of this act;

(4) Defining the categories of farm products for central filing; and

(5) Defining provisions in agreements between central filing system operators and holders of security interests regarding the timeliness of notice of termination of effective financing statements filed pursuant to this chapter. Operators shall make no charge for filing terminations. If the affected secured party fails to file such a termination statement as required by this subsection within ten days after proper demand therefor, the secured party shall be liable to the debtor for one hundred dollars, and in addition any loss caused to the debtor by such failure.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4. All rules adopted under the provisions of this chapter shall be subject to the provisions of chapter 34.05 RCW as enacted or as hereafter amended, concerning the adoption of rules. The department shall issue regulations requiring notice of statutory crop liens with the master lists distributed to registrants.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 5. It is unlawful for any person to engage in the business of filing effective financing statements or providing information about effective financing statements without a central filing system operator license. Applications shall be made on or before the first day of each January and shall be accompanied by a fee of five thousand dollars.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 6. Application for a central filing system operator license provided for in section 5 of this act shall be on a form prescribed by the director and shall include the following:

(1) The full name of the person applying for the license;

(2) If the applicant is an individual, receiver, trustee, firm, partnership, association, corporation, cooperative or any other organized group of persons whether incorporated or not, the full name of each member of the firm or partnership, or the names of the officers of the association, corporation, cooperative, or group;

(3) The principal business address of the applicant in the state and elsewhere;

(4) The name of the person whose domicile is in the state and who is authorized to receive and accept services of summons and legal notice of all kinds for the applicant;

(5) The license being applied for; and

(6) Any other necessary information prescribed by the director.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 7. The director shall not issue a central filing system operator license until the director has obtained certification by the secretary of the United States department of agriculture and the applicant or the person managing the business has demonstrated the capacity to comply with the following requirements:

(1) Receive effective financing statements from subscribers who are secured parties in farm crops;

(2) Submit each effective financing statement received from subscribers for filing with the department of licensing within one full business day and furnish each subscriber with proof of such filing;

(3) Maintain a list of registrants by farm product category interest;

(4) Provide service to all persons wishing to be registrants for each farm product category for which the applicant shall have registrants;

(5) Operate an automated electronic data system which integrates and makes available by remote electronic access information filed on effective financing statements maintained under RCW 62A.9-407(3) by the department of licensing. This information shall be provided on each farm product category for which the applicant or the person managing the business has registrants;

(6) Provide information maintained under RCW 62A.9-407(3) by the department of licensing to be organized and distributed to registrants according to the following method:

(a) The information shall be compiled into a master list organized according to categories of farm products for which there are registrants. The list shall be organized within each farm product category in alphabetical order according to the last name of the debtor or, in the case of debtors doing business other than as individuals, the first word in the name of such debtor.

The list shall be further organized according to and contain information required by federal law and regulation; and

(b) The complete master list for each farm product category for which there are registrants shall be distributed for each farm products category at least quarterly to each buyer registered under subsection (3) of this section. Buyers shall receive either complete lists or cumulative supplements, which supplements shall be issued not less frequently than twice monthly, of financing statements for farm products filed subsequent to the last date of filing for effective financing statements on the last preceding quarterly master list, which the buyer has requested. The buyer shall be deemed to have received the lists and supplements no later than the third calendar day following the date of mailing by the licensed central filing system operator or in the event the mail is not delivered on that day, the first day thereafter on which mail is regularly delivered; and

(7) Provide upon the request of any person not registered under subsection (3) of this section, within twenty-four hours, an oral confirmation of the filing of the form described in RCW 62A.9-402(9) followed by a written confirmation.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 8. (1) Central filing system operators licensed under the provisions of this chapter shall keep records on a form prescribed by the director which shall include the following:

(a) Number of effective financing statements received and filed according to farm product categories, the name of the subscriber, and the time of receipt and filing;

(b) Names and addresses of registrants and type of service requested by each;

(c) Amount of fees collected from subscribers for receiving and filing effective financing statements;

(d) Amount of fees collected from subscribers registering as buyers;

(e) Number of modes of disseminating information from the central filing system to subscribers;

(f) Number of units of service in each mode provided to subscribers and dates of service;

(g) Any other reasonable information required by the director.

(2) These records shall be kept for a period of five years from the date of application for a central filing system operator license and the director shall be provided a copy of the records immediately by the licensee upon request or upon cessation of business operations.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 9. (1) Any license provided for in this chapter may be revoked or suspended by the director for cause.

(2) The director may deny, suspend, or revoke a license provided for in this chapter if he determines that an applicant or licensee has committed any of the following acts, each of which is declared to be a violation of this chapter:

(a) Failed to file effective financing statements for subscribers with the department of licensing within one business day of receipt;

(b) Failed to provide subscribers who are registrants information requested in a timely fashion as prescribed by rule under section 7(3) of this act;

(c) Operated in a faulty, careless, or negligent manner;

(d) Refused or neglected to keep and maintain records required by this chapter, or to make reports when and as required;

(e) Refused or neglected to comply with the provisions of this chapter, the rules adopted, or any lawful order of the director;

(f) Made false or fraudulent records, invoices, or reports;

(g) Used fraud or misrepresentation in making an application for a license or a renewal of a license; or

(h) Any other act or omission in violation of this chapter or regulation of the department.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 10. (1) The director shall not issue a central filing system operator license until the applicant has furnished the director with evidence of financial responsibility consisting of either a surety bond, a liability insurance policy, or certification of either. The director shall only accept a surety bond or liability insurance policy from authorized insurers in this state, unless procured as a surplus line under RCW 48.15.040.

(2) The amount of the surety bond or liability insurance shall not be less than an amount necessary to continue operation of central filing system services operations through the current calendar year in case of business failure. It shall not be less than fifty thousand dollars. The surety bond or liability insurance shall be maintained at not less than these amounts at all times during the licensing period. The director shall be notified ten days before any reduction at the request of the applicant or cancellation of the surety bond or liability insurance by the surety or insurer. The total and aggregate liability of the surety or insurer for all claims is limited to the face of the bond or liability insurance policy. The director may accept a liability insurance policy or surety bond in the proper sum which has a deductible clause in an amount not exceeding twenty thousand dollars. If the applicant has not satisfied the requirement of the deductible amount in any prior legal claim, the deductible clause will not be accepted by the director unless the applicant furnishes the director with a surety bond or liability insurance which satisfies the amount of the deductible as to all claims that may arise in the operation of a central filing system.

(3) The central filing system operator license will, whenever the surety bond or insurance policy of the licensee is reduced below the requirements of subsection (2) of this section, be summarily suspended until such time as the surety bond or insurance policy is restored.

NEW SECTION, Sec. 11. (1) Any person suffering loss or damage resulting from the operation of a central filing system must file with the director a verified report of loss, setting forth, so far as is known, the following:

- (a) The name and address of the claimant;
- (b) The type and kind of loss or damage;
- (c) The name of the central filing system operator causing the loss; and
- (d) The name of the person making the report.

(2) The report must be filed within sixty days from the time that the loss or damage becomes known to the claimant. The failure to file a report shall not be considered a bar to the prosecution of any criminal or civil action. Failure to file such a report shall not be a violation of this chapter.

NEW SECTION, Sec. 12. The central filing system program fund is created in the custody of the state treasurer. All receipts from the fees collected by the director under this chapter and RCW 62A.9-409(1) shall be deposited into the fund. Expenditures from the fund may be used only for the purposes of this act. Only the director of licensing or the director's designee may authorize expenditures from the fund. The fund is subject to allotment procedures under chapter 43.88 RCW, but no appropriation is required for expenditures.

NEW SECTION, Sec. 13. The director is authorized to cooperate with and enter into agreements with any other agency of the state, the United States, and any other state or agency for the purpose of carrying out the provisions of this chapter and securing uniformity of regulations.

NEW SECTION, Sec. 14. Every person who fails to comply with this chapter or the rules adopted under it may be subjected to a civil penalty, as determined by the director, in an amount of not more than five thousand dollars for every violation. Each and every violation shall be a separate and distinct offense. Every person who, through an act of commission or omission, procures, aids, or abets in the violation shall be considered to have violated this chapter and may be subject to the civil penalty.

NEW SECTION, Sec. 15. The director may bring an action to enjoin the violation or threatened violation of any provision of this chapter or any rule made under this chapter in the superior court of the county in which the violation occurs or is about to occur.

NEW SECTION, Sec. 16. No suit or action shall ever be commenced or prosecuted against the director or the state of Washington by reason of any act done or omitted to be done by any licensed central filing system operator in the administration of the duties and responsibilities of the operator.

Sec. 17. Section 9-307, chapter 157, Laws of 1965 ex. sess. as last amended by section 15, chapter 393, Laws of 1987 and RCW 62A.9-307 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) A buyer in ordinary course of business (subsection (9) of RCW 62A.1-201) other than a person buying farm products from a person engaged in farming operations takes free of a security interest created by his seller even though the security interest is perfected and even though the buyer knows of its existence.

(2) A buyer who in the ordinary course of business buys farm products from a person engaged in farming operations buys and takes free of a security interest created by his or her seller, and a commission merchant or selling agent who in the ordinary course of business sells farm products for a person engaged in farming operations buys, takes, and sells free of a security interest created by his or her seller, even though the security interest is perfected and the buyer, commission merchant, or selling agent knows of the existence of such interest if:

(a) The buyer, commission merchant, or selling agent has registered with a central filing system operator licensed under chapter 19.-- RCW (sections 1 through 16 of this act); and

(i) The secured party has not filed an effective financing statement with the department of licensing through a central filing system operator licensed under chapter 19.-- RCW (sections 1 through 16 of this act); or

(ii) The buyer, commission merchant, or selling agent does not receive from a central filing system operator licensed under chapter 19.-- RCW (sections 1 through 16 of this act) written notice that specifies the seller and farm product; or

(b) The secured party has not filed an effective financing statement through a central filing system operator licensed under chapter 19.-- RCW (sections 1 through 16 of this act) and the buyer, commission merchant, or selling agent has not received, within one year before the sale from the secured party or seller, written notice of the security interest containing:

(i) The name and address of the secured party;

(ii) The name and address of the debtor;

(iii) The social security number of the debtor or, in the case of a debtor doing business other than as an individual, the debtor's federal internal revenue service taxpayer identification number;

(iv) A description by category of the farm products subject to the security interest, including the amount of the products, if applicable;

(v) The crop year:

(vi) The county or counties where the farm products are produced or located and, if less than all of such farm products in a county are claimed, a reasonable description of the real property; and

(vii) Any payment obligations imposed by the secured party as a condition for waiver or release of the security interest.

The notice described in this subsection (b) must be amended in writing within three months and similarly signed and transmitted, to reflect material changes; or

(c) The buyer, commission merchant, or selling agent has obtained a waiver from the secured party by performing any payment obligation or otherwise.

(3) In the case of consumer goods, a buyer takes free of a security interest even though perfected if he buys without knowledge of the security interest, for value and for his own personal, family or household purposes unless prior to the purchase the secured party has filed a financing statement covering such goods.

((3)) (4) A buyer other than a buyer in ordinary course of business (subsection (1) of this section) takes free of a security interest to the extent that it secures future advances made after the secured party acquires knowledge of the purchase, unless made pursuant to a commitment entered into without knowledge of the purchase.

Sec. 18. Section 9-402, chapter 157, Laws of 1965 ex. sess. as last amended by section 2, chapter 251, Laws of 1989 and RCW 62A.9-402 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) Except as provided in subsection (9) of this section, a financing statement is sufficient if it gives the names of the debtor and the secured party, is signed by the debtor, gives an address of the secured party from which information concerning the security interest may be obtained, gives a mailing address of the debtor and contains a statement indicating the types, or describing the items, of collateral. A financing statement may be filed before a security agreement is made or a security interest otherwise attaches. When the financing statement covers timber to be cut or covers minerals or the like (including oil and gas) or accounts subject to subsection (5) of RCW 62A.9-103, or when the financing statement is filed as a fixture filing (RCW 62A.9-313) and the collateral is goods which are or are to become fixtures, the statement must also comply with subsection (5). A copy of the security agreement is sufficient as a financing statement if it contains the above information and is signed by the debtor. A carbon, photographic or other reproduction of a security agreement or a financing statement is sufficient as a financing statement if the security agreement so provides or if the original has been filed in this state.

(2) A financing statement which otherwise complies with subsection (1) is sufficient when it is signed by the secured party instead of the debtor if it is filed to perfect a security interest in

(a) collateral already subject to a security interest in another jurisdiction when it is brought into this state or when the debtor's location is changed to this state. Such a financing statement must state that the collateral was brought into this state or that the debtor's location was changed to this state under such circumstances; or

(b) proceeds under RCW 62A.9-306 if the security interest in the original collateral was perfected. Such a financing statement must describe the original collateral; or

(c) collateral as to which the filing has lapsed; or

(d) collateral acquired after a change of name, identity or corporate structure of the debtor (subsection (7)).

(3) A form substantially as follows is sufficient to comply with subsection (1):

Address

Name of secured party (or assignee)

Address

1. This financing statement covers the following types (or items) of property:
(Describe)

2. (If applicable) The above goods are to become fixtures on* and this financing statement is to be filed for record in the real estate records. (If the debtor does not have an interest of record) The name of a record owner is

*Where appropriate substitute either "The above timber is standing on

" or "The above minerals or the like (including oil and gas) or accounts will be financed at the wellhead or minehead of the well or mine located on"

3. (If products of collateral are claimed)

Products of the collateral are also covered whichever Signature of Debtor (or Assignor)

applicable) Signature of Secured Party (or Assignee)

(4) A financing statement may be amended by filing a writing signed by both the debtor and the secured party: PROVIDED, That a secured party may amend a financing statement without the signature of the debtor when the amendment is to change the address or name of the secured party. An amendment does not extend the period of effectiveness of a financing statement. If any amendment adds collateral, it is effective as to the added collateral only from the filing date of the amendment. In this Article, unless the context otherwise requires, the term "financing statement" means the original financing statement and any amendments. The fee for filing an amendment shall be the same as the fee for filing a financing statement.

(5) A financing statement covering timber to be cut or covering minerals or the like (including oil and gas) or accounts subject to subsection (5) of RCW 62A.9-103, or a financing statement filed as a fixture filing (RCW 62A.9-313) where the debtor is not a transmitting utility, must show that it covers this type of collateral, must recite that it is to be filed for record in the real estate records, and the financing statement must contain a description of the real estate sufficient if it were contained in a mortgage of the real estate to give constructive notice of the mortgage under the law of this state. If the debtor does not have an interest of record in the real estate, the financing statement must show the name of a record owner.

(6) A mortgage is effective as a financing statement filed as a fixture filing from the date of its recording if (a) the goods are described in the mortgage by item or type, (b) the goods are or are to become fixtures related to the real estate described in the mortgage, (c) the mortgage complies with the requirements for a financing statement in this section other than a recital that it is to be filed in the real estate records, and (d) the mortgage is duly recorded. No fee with reference to the financing statement is required other than the regular recording and satisfaction fees with respect to the mortgage.

(7) A financing statement sufficiently shows the name of the debtor if it gives the individual, partnership or corporate name of the debtor, whether or not it adds other trade names or the names of partners. Where the debtor so changes his name or in the case of an organization its name, identity or corporate structure that a filed financing statement becomes seriously misleading, the filing is not effective to perfect a security interest in collateral acquired by the debtor more than four months after the change, unless a new appropriate financing statement or an amendment is filed before the expiration of that time. A filed financing statement remains effective with respect to collateral transferred by the debtor even though the secured party knows of or consents to the transfer.

(8) A financing statement substantially complying with the requirements of this section is effective even though it contains minor errors which are not seriously misleading.

(9) A financing statement for farm products is sufficient for purposes of being filed as described in RCW 62A.9-407 (3) and (4) and shall be called an "effective financing statement" if it contains the following information:

(a) The name and address of the debtor;

(b) The debtor's signature;

(c) The name, address, and signature of the secured party;

(d) The social security number of the debtor, or in the case of a debtor doing business other than as an individual, the debtor's federal internal revenue service taxpayer identification number;

(e) A description by category of the farm products subject to the security interest including the amount of such products if applicable; and

(f) A reasonable description of the real estate where the farm products are produced or located. This provision may be satisfied by a designation of the county or counties, and a legal description shall not be required.

(10) A financing statement described in subsection (9) of this section must be amended in writing within three months, and similarly signed and filed, to reflect any material changes.

Sec. 19. Section 9-407, chapter 157, Laws of 1965 ex. sess. as last amended by section 5, chapter 189, Laws of 1987 and RCW 62A.9-407 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) If the person filing any financing statement, termination statement, statement of assignment, or statement of release, furnishes the filing officer a copy thereof, the filing officer shall upon request note upon the copy the file number and date and hour of the filing of the original and deliver or send the copy to such person.

(2) Upon request of any person following payment of the required fees, the department of licensing shall issue its certificate showing whether there is on file with the department of licensing on the date and hour stated therein, any presently effective financing statement naming a particular debtor and any statement of assignment thereof and if there is, giving the date and hour of filing of each such statement and the names and addresses of each secured party therein. Upon request and following payment of the required fees, the department of licensing shall issue its certificate and shall furnish a copy of any filed financing statements or statements of assignment.

(3) The department of licensing shall maintain effective financing statements as described in RCW 62A.9-402 (9) and (10) filed with it by a central filing system operator licensed under chapter 19.-- RCW (sections 1 through 16 of this act). The department of licensing shall record the date and time of such filing. A filing of an effective financing statement is deemed to take effect on the fifth business day subsequent to the recording date, but the same time of day as the recording.

(4) The department of licensing shall make facsimiles of effective financing statements and any amendments, continuations, or notices of termination filed with it available for purchase by licensed central filing system operators within four business days of recording.

NEW SECTION, Sec. 20. (1) Prior to the 1992 legislative session, the director of the department of agriculture, on the advice of the senate committee on agriculture and the house of representatives committee on agriculture and rural development, shall evaluate in accordance with the objectives of this chapter:

(a) Whether the costs associated with the proposed activities of operators licensed under this chapter are reasonable and just; and

(b) Whether the department of licensing can operate a central filing system substantially more efficiently than private operators licensed under this chapter. If so, then the department of licensing shall be authorized to act as a central filing system operator.

The department of licensing shall submit a bid as set forth in subsection (2) of this section.

(2) The department of agriculture shall develop specifications and performance standards for a central filing system which meets the requirements of this chapter and RCW 62A.9-307, 62A.9-402, and 62A.9-407 by October 1, 1990, and obtain bids pursuant to the competitive bid requirements set forth in chapter 43.19 RCW by April 1, 1991.

NEW SECTION, Sec. 21. Sections 1 through 16, 20, and 21 of this act may be known and cited as the Washington central filing system act.

NEW SECTION, Sec. 22. Sections 1 through 16, 20, and 21 of this act shall constitute a new chapter in Title 19 RCW.

NEW SECTION, Sec. 23. The sum of forty-nine thousand five hundred dollars, or as much thereof as may be necessary, is appropriated for the biennium ending June 30, 1991, from the general fund to the department of agriculture for the purposes of developing specifications and obtaining bids for a central filing system.

NEW SECTION, Sec. 24. If any provision of this act or its application to any person or circumstance is held invalid, the remainder of the act or the application of the provision to other persons or circumstances is not affected."

SENATE BILL NO. 6239, by Senators Nelson, Talmadge, Madsen and Moore

Authorizing service of process by mail in district courts.

MOTIONS

On motion of Senator Nelson, Substitute Senate Bill No. 6239 was substituted for Senate Bill No. 6239 and the substitute bill was placed on second reading and read the second time.

On motion of Senator Nelson, Substitute Senate Bill No. 6239 was advanced to third reading, the second reading considered the third, and the bill was placed on final passage.

Debate ensued.

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Fleming: "Senator Nelson, this says, 'may be conducted by registered mail or certified mail.' Were there any reasons or situations given in the testimony where once this law was passed that registered or certified mail wouldn't be used? It says, 'may' but isn't that just saying it 'shall be' or are there situations--they're talking about lowering costs, etc. Was that described in the hearing?"

Senator Nelson: "We did talk about that, Senator Fleming, and it does have to be at the request of the plaintiff, so that's why it's 'may' and the arguments presented here on the floor--it really doesn't make any difference in which fashion the summons is delivered--in person or by certified mail. If the correct recipient doesn't get served, they're not served--period. Either way, the entire process being made here is an alternative intended to save the people money who are litigates. That's where the issue comes into play where the process servers, and they have a reasonable argument, are saying, 'Wait a minute here folks--you have now cut into my business if you are going to permit the plaintiff to issue the summons by registered or certified mail--I've cut the costs from twenty to thirty dollars down to two dollars.'

"There's where the arguments really are coming from in these chambers. Are we, in fact, making an inroad on a profession and the issue of whether the service is made or not is irrelevant. In either case, if the person is not served, they're not served."

Senator Fleming: "What you're saying is that from here on in, we we will not have any process servers. It will all be registered or certified mail?"

Senator Nelson: "No, Senator Fleming, that is not correct."

Senator Fleming: "Oh, OK."

Senator Nelson: "The certified or registered mail is an option only. If the plaintiff wishes to have it served by a process server, they will have it made by a process server."

Senator Fleming: "Under what circumstances would I choose since this is going to be cost saving, under what circumstances would I choose to due process rather than certified mail?"

Senator Nelson: "Excellent question. The normal situation of serving by certified mail is where you know specifically that the person is at that given household or in that particular business and that they have been continual recipients of regular mail and there is not going to be a major problem in now having this done by certified or registered mail. In the case of process servers, who do their job exceptionally well, they're sent out to serve the summons when there is a problem of knowing specifically of where the person might be."

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Wojahn: "Senator Nelson, have you ever heard of a service called 'sewer service'? If you haven't, I perhaps should ask Senator Niemi or Senator McMullen."

Senator Niemi: "Yes, Senator Wojahn, I have heard of 'sewer service.'"

Senator Wojahn: "And isn't that the service in which a process server is supposed to serve a person, but, in fact, he doesn't serve the person? He dumps it somewhere along the way and that person never gets the service from the server and isn't that called 'sewer service?'"

Senator Niemi: "That's very true, Senator Wojahn, and then those people come into court and get that set aside and that's done very commonly. My argument was that we would have two or three times that kind of court costs if we did it by registered mail."

Senator Wojahn: "Well, it seems to me that, in fact, this can still occur, and the person who's supposed to be served it never is served, then there would still be a default judgment and the person would still be liable and it seems to me that this bill is appropriate."

The President declared the question before the Senate to be the roll call on the final passage of Substitute Senate Bill No. 6239.

ROLL CALL

The Secretary called the roll on the final passage of Substitute Senate Bill No. 6239 and the bill passed the Senate by the following vote: Yeas, 25; nays, 20; excused, 4.

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Rasmussen: "Senator Metcalf, I don't think Senator Talmadge was listening when you mentioned that this would open up--could open up--right-of-ways under fifty thousand and one hundred thousand volt power lines. There's a question that they are going to study on emissions from power lines. Would this open the state up to liability if they rode horses underneath the power lines?"

Senator Metcalf: "Senator Rasmussen, in my estimation, it would not, because it is strictly permissive. I'm sure that they will take anything like that into consideration before they do it. This just allows them to do it."

On motion of Senator Bender, Senator DeJarnatt, Hansen and Stratton were excused.

The President declared the question before the Senate to be the roll call on the final passage of Senate Bill No. 6334.

Senator Talmadge moved that the following amendment by Senators Talmadge, Bender, Rinehart, Murray, Fleming and Niemi be adopted:

On page 3, after line 15, add new sections as follows:

"Sec. 8. Section 1, chapter 451, Laws of 1985 and RCW 90.70.001 are each amended to read as follows:

The legislature finds that Puget Sound and related inland marine waterways of Washington state represent a unique and unparalleled resource. A rich and varied range of marine organisms, composing an interdependent, sensitive communal ecosystem reside in these sheltered waters. Residents of this region enjoy a way of life centered around the waters of Puget Sound, featuring accessible recreational opportunities, world-class port facilities and water transportation systems, harvest of marine food resources, shoreline-oriented life styles, water-dependent industries, tourism, irreplaceable aesthetics and other activities, all of which to some degree depend upon a clean and healthy marine resource.

The legislature further finds that the consequences of careless husbanding of this resource have been dramatically illustrated in inland waterways associated with older and more extensively developed areas of the nation. Recent reports concerning degradation of water quality within this region's urban embayments raise alarming possibilities of similar despoliation of Puget Sound and other state waterways. These examples emphasize that the costs of restoration of aquatic resources, where such restoration is possible, greatly exceed the costs of responsible preservation.

The legislature declares that utilization of the Puget Sound resource carries a custodial obligation for preserving it. The people of the state have the unique opportunity to preserve this gift of nature, an understanding of the results of inattentive stewardship, the technical knowledge needed for control of degradation, and the obligation to undertake such control.

The legislature further finds that the large number of governmental entities that now affect the water quality of Puget Sound have diverse interests and limited jurisdictions which cannot adequately address the cumulative, wide-ranging impacts which contribute to the degradation of Puget Sound. It is therefore the policy of the state of Washington to create a single entity with adequate resources to develop a comprehensive plan for water quality protection in Puget Sound ((to)) and to provide oversight of the plan's implementation, including periodic reporting to the legislature and the governor. It is further the policy of the state of Washington that the plan be implemented by ((existing)) other state and local government agencies by using their existing regulatory and other authorities consistently with the plan and this chapter.

Sec. 9. Section 3, chapter 451, Laws of 1985 and RCW 90.70.011 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) There is established the Puget Sound water quality authority composed of ~~((seven)) eleven members ((who are)).~~ Nine members shall be appointed by the governor and confirmed by the senate. In addition, the commissioner of public lands or the commissioner's designee and the director of ecology or the director's designee shall serve as ex officio members. The members shall include a representative from the counties, a representative from the cities, a representative of business interests, a marine scientist with Puget Sound research experience, and a tribal representative. The governor shall select one of the ~~((seven))~~ members other than an ex officio member to act as chair of the authority and be the presiding officer of the authority. In making these appointments, the governor shall seek to include representation of the variety of interested parties concerned about Puget Sound water quality. ~~((The commissioner of public lands and the director of ecology shall serve as ex officio nonvoting members of the authority. The six))~~ Of the appointed members, at least one shall be selected from each of the six congressional districts surrounding Puget Sound, who may also be a representative of cities, counties, business, the tribes, or a marine scientist as specified in this subsection. All members other than ex officio members shall serve four-year terms. Of the initial members appointed to the authority, two shall serve for two years, two shall serve for three years, and two shall serve for four years. Thereafter members shall be appointed to four-year terms. Members representing cities, counties, and the tribes shall also serve four-year terms. Vacancies shall be filled by appointment for the remainder of the unexpired term of the position being vacated. The chair of the authority shall serve at the pleasure of the governor.

(3) The ~~((chair-of))~~ executive director shall be hired by the authority and shall be a full-time employee responsible for the administration of all functions of the authority, including hiring and terminating staff, contracting, coordinating with the governor, the legislature, and other state and local entities, and the delegation of responsibilities as deemed appropriate. The salary of the ((chair)) executive director shall be fixed by the governor, subject to RCW 43.03.040. Not more than four employees of the authority may be exempt from chapter 41.06 RCW.

(4) The ~~((chair))~~ authority shall prepare a budget and a work plan ((which are subject to review and approval by the authority)).

Sec. 10. Section 7, chapter 451, Laws of 1985 as amended by section 72, chapter 36, Laws of 1988 and RCW 90.70.045 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) The ~~((chair))~~ executive director shall hire staff for the authority. In so doing, the ((chair)) executive director shall recognize the many continuing planning and research activities concerning Puget Sound water quality and shall seek to acquire competent and knowledgeable staff from state, federal, and local government agencies that are currently involved in these activities.

(2) As deemed appropriate, the ~~((chair))~~ executive director may request the state departments of ecology, community development, fisheries, wildlife, agriculture, natural resources, and social and health services to each assign at least one employee to the authority. The ((chair)) executive director shall enter into an interagency agreement with agencies assigning employees to the authority. Such agreement shall provide for reimbursement, by the authority to the assigning agency, of all work-related expenditures associated with the assignment of the employees. During the term of their assignment, the ((chair shall have)) executive director has full authority and responsibility for the activities of these employees.

The plan adopted by the authority shall be a positive document prescribing the needed actions for the maintenance and enhancement of Puget Sound water quality. The plan shall address all the waters of Puget Sound, the Strait of Juan de Fuca, and, to the extent that they affect water quality in Puget Sound, all waters flowing into Puget Sound, and adjacent lands. The authority may define specific geographic boundaries within which the plan applies. The plan shall coordinate and incorporate existing planning and research efforts of state agencies and local government related to Puget Sound, and shall avoid duplication of existing efforts. The plan shall include:

Where lack of funding prevents full implementation, a state agency or local government shall use its best efforts to implement the plan in a timely manner. In conducting such actions, state agencies and local governments shall use their existing authorities consistent with fiscal considerations of the plan and this chapter. This subsection applies only to state agencies and local governments.

(3) Each state or local agency or person with responsibilities for implementing the Puget Sound ambient monitoring program, as specified in the plan, shall participate in the program.

NEW SECTION, Sec. 16. A new section is added to chapter 90.70 RCW to read as follows:

The following factors shall be considered in determining whether an adopted plan is substantially different from the published proposal:

(a) The extent to which a reasonable person affected by the adopted plan would have understood that the published proposal would affect his or her interests;

NEW SECTION, Sec. 17. A new section is added to chapter 90.70 RCW to read as follows:

In addition to other powers and duties specified in this chapter, the authority may form a public nonprofit corporation in the same manner as a private nonprofit corporation is formed under chapter 24.03 RCW, the Washington Nonprofit Corporation Act. The public corporation shall be known as the Puget Sound Foundation. The purposes of the foundation shall be to:

(1) Receive, disburse, and administer gifts, grants, endowments, or other funds from any source that support a comprehensive and coordinated program of research and education activities connected with Puget Sound water quality, consistent with the purposes of this chapter;

(3) Assist in making the results of research available and useful to the decision-making process.

Sec. 18. Section 6, chapter 243, Laws of 1983 as amended by section 11, chapter 451, Laws of 1985 and RCW 90.70.900 are each amended to read as follows:

The Puget Sound water quality authority shall cease to exist and this chapter shall expire on June 30, ((1991)) 1997."

POINT OF ORDER

Senator Newhouse: "Mr. President, a point of order. I respectfully raise the scope and object of the amendment as expanding that of the bill."

Further debate ensued.

MOTION

On motion of Senator Newhouse, further consideration of Substitute Senate Bill No. 6326 was deferred.

Vice President Pro Tempore Craswell assumed the Chair.

SECOND READING

SENATE BILL NO. 6726, by Senators Owen, Metcalf and Patrick

Providing funds for firearm range facilities.

MOTIONS

On motion of Senator Metcalf, Substitute Senate Bill No. 6726 was substituted for Senate Bill No. 6726 and the substitute bill was placed on second reading and read the second time.

Senator Owen moved that the following amendment by Senators Owen and Metcalf be adopted:

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. Firearms are collected, used for hunting, recreational shooting, and self-defense, and firearm owners as well as bow users need safe, accessible areas in which to shoot their equipment. Approved shooting ranges provide that opportunity, while at the same time, promote public safety. Interest in all shooting sports has increased while safe locations to shoot have been lost to the pressures of urban growth.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. The firearms range account is hereby created in the state general fund. Any funds remaining in the firearm range account established by RCW 77.12.195, at the time of its repeal by section 6 of this act, shall be transferred to the firearms range account established in this section. Moneys in the account shall be subject to legislative appropriation and shall be used for purchase and development of land, construction or improvement of range facilities, including fixed structure construction or remodeling, equipment purchase, safety or environmental improvements, noise abatement, and liability protection for public and nonprofit firearm range training and practice facilities.

Grant funds shall not be used for expendable shooting supplies, or normal operating expenses. Grant funds shall not supplant funds for other organization programs.

The funds will be available to nonprofit shooting organizations, school districts, and state, county, or local governments on a match basis. All ranges receiving matching funds must be open on a regular basis and usable by law enforcement personnel or the general public who possess Washington concealed carry permits or Washington hunting licenses.

Applicants for a grant from the firearms range account shall provide matching funds in either cash or in-kind contributions. The match must represent one dollar in value for each one dollar of the grant. In-kind contributions include but are not limited to labor, materials, and new property. Existing assets and existing development may not apply to the match.

Applicants other than school districts or local or state government must be registered as a nonprofit or not-for-profit organization with the Washington secretary of state and the United States internal revenue service. The organization's articles of incorporation must contain provisions for the organization's structure, officers, legal address, and registered agent.

Organizations requesting grants must provide the hours of range availability for public and law enforcement use. The fee structure will be submitted with the grant application.

Any nonprofit organization or agency accepting a grant under this program will be required to pay back the entire grant amount to the firearms range account if the use of the range facility is discontinued less than ten years after the grant is accepted.

Facilities receiving grants must be open for hunter safety education classes on a regular basis for no fee.

Government units or school districts applying for grants must open their range facility on a regular basis for hunter safety education training.

The interagency committee for outdoor recreation shall adopt rules to implement this act pursuant to chapter 34.05 RCW.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. A new section is added to chapter 77.12 RCW to read as follows:

(1) A ten-member firearms range advisory committee is hereby created to provide advice and counsel to the interagency committee for outdoor recreation. The members shall be appointed by the director of the interagency committee for outdoor recreation from the following groups:

- (a) Law enforcement;
- (b) Washington military department;
- (c) Black powder shooting sports;
- (d) Rifle shooting sports;
- (e) Pistol shooting sports;
- (f) Shotgun shooting sports;

- (g) Archery shooting sports;
- (h) Hunter education;
- (i) Hunters; and
- (j) General public.

(2) The firearms range advisory committee members shall serve two-year terms with five new members being selected each year beginning with the third year of the committee's existence. The firearms range advisory committee members shall not receive compensation from the firearms range account. However, travel and per diem costs shall be paid consistent with regulations for state employees.

(3) The interagency committee for outdoor recreation shall provide administrative, operational, and logistical support for the firearms range advisory committee. Expenses directly incurred for supporting this program may be charged by the interagency committee for outdoor recreation against the firearms range account. Expenses shall not exceed ten percent of the yearly income for the range account.

(4) The interagency committee for outdoor recreation shall in cooperation with the firearms range advisory committee:

- (a) Develop an application process;
- (b) Develop an audit and accountability program;
- (c) Screen, prioritize, and approve grant applications; and
- (d) Monitor compliance by grant recipients.

(5) The department of natural resources, the department of wildlife, and the Washington military department are encouraged to provide land, facilitate land exchanges, and support the development of shooting range facilities.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4. A new section is added to chapter 77.12 RCW to read as follows:

The interagency committee for outdoor recreation may accept gifts and grants upon such terms as the committee shall deem proper. All monetary gifts and grants shall be deposited in the firearms range account of the general fund.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 5. The interagency committee for outdoor recreation, with advice and counsel from the firearms range advisory committee shall prepare an evaluation of the program and make recommendations to the governor and legislature by December 1, 1991.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 6. Section 9; chapter 263, Laws of 1988 and RCW 77.12.195 are each repealed.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 7. The sum of four hundred fifty thousand dollars, or as much thereof as may be necessary, is appropriated for the biennium ending June 30, 1991, from the firearms range account of the general fund to the interagency committee for outdoor recreation for the purposes of providing grants for firearms range facilities."

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator McDonald: "Senator Owen, I notice that you have four hundred and fifty thousand from a--what the heck is it--general fund firearms range account. I'm kind of a student of this, but I've never heard of that one. What the heck is that?"

Senator Owen: "The firearms range account? That's the account that was created last year or the year before--I can't remember exactly which year--which takes an assessment from the concealed weapons permit and it is a dedicated account specifically for firearms ranges. I believe the amount of revenue that's there is the anticipated amount that would be available by that time."

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Nelson: "Senator Owen, I really have a couple of questions here. I notice that any non-profit organization, any government entity, any school district can be the applicant for the money to establish a range. I'm asking specifically on page 3, lines 14 down through 30, that any of these entities who now receive these monies must keep their ranges open on a 'regular basis' for such things as hunter safety education training. Nowhere do I see what it means by 'regular basis.' Can you explain what that means?"

Senator Owen: "Well, our objective is that these ranges be readily available. If they are going to use public funds for it, that they should be readily available for public use and for hunter safety courses regularly. I don't know how else to say that other than if there's going to be a hunter safety course, which goes on every year, those ranges should be available for that purpose at reasonable hours throughout the year."

Senator Nelson: "The second question is on page 4, where we now establish this firearms range advisory committee made up of lots of sporting groups and law enforcement, and military and the rest. It says that travel and per diem costs are going to be paid to all of these people who are part of this firearms range committee the same as would be state employees, but I notice that their per diem is coming out of the general fund and that no expenses are paid out of the firearms range account. Now you just explained to Senator McDonald that we were establishing the account to take care of all of the expenses, but we have all the people on the firearms range committee dipping into the general fund. I don't think that Senator McDonald understands that. Can you explain it?"

Senator Owen: "It's our intent, Senator Nelson, that this committee be handled as any other committee that is appointed in the state. I don't see where that is inconsistent with what we're doing with the other committees that are appointed to carry out advisory functions for the state."

The Vice President Pro Tempore declared the question before the Senate to be the adoption of the striking amendment by Senators Owen and Metcalf to Substitute Senate Bill No. 6726.

The motion by Senator Owen carried and the amendment was adopted on a standing vote.

MOTIONS

On motion of Senator Owen, the following title amendment was adopted:

On page 1, line 1 of the title, after "facilities;" strike the remainder of the title and insert "adding new sections to chapter 77.12 RCW; creating new sections; repealing RCW 77.12.195; and making an appropriation."

RULING BY THE PRESIDENT

President Pritchard: "In ruling upon the point of order raised by Senator Newhouse, the President finds that Substitute Senate Bill No. 6326 is a measure providing for water quality field agents in South Puget Sound jointly administered by the Washington Sea Grant Program and the Cooperative Extension Service.

"The amendment proposed by Senators Talmadge, Bender, Rinehart, Murray, Fleming and Niemi continues the Puget Sound Water Quality Authority, amends sections relating to water quality plans and extends the termination date for the Authority from 1991 to 1997.

"The President, therefore, finds that the amendment does change the scope and object of the bill and that the point of order is well taken."

The amendment by Senators Talmadge, Bender, Rinehart, Murray, Fleming and Niemi to Substitute Senate Bill No. 6326 was ruled out of order.

MOTION

On motion of Senator Metcalf, Substitute Senate Bill No. 6326 was advanced to third reading, the second reading considered the third, and the bill was placed on final passage.

Senator Metcalf moved that the following amendment by Senators Metcalf, Anderson, Smitherman, Craswell, McMullen, Conner and von Reichbauer be adopted:

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. A new section is added to Title 79 RCW to read as follows:

No state authority may permit the siting of a floating salmon net pen that a county legislative authority has denied.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. A new section is added to Title 79 RCW to read as follows:

The motion by Senator Metcalf carried and the amendment to the striking amendment was adopted.

POINT OF ORDER

Senator Sutherland: "Thank you, Mr. President, a point of order. I request a ruling on scope and object on the amended striking amendment to Substitute Senate Bill No. 5020. I might add that I think the scope of the title is broad enough--An Act relating to Aquaculture--however, I believe, it is outside the object of the bill. Quite honestly, the bill requested additional reports such as they just issued last month on the environmental impact statement and other things for aquaculture. This just does ignore it and gives it back to the county."

Debate ensued.

MOTION

On motion of Senator Newhouse, further consideration of Substitute Senate Bill No. 5020 was deferred.

President Pro Tempore Bluechel assumed the Chair.

SECOND READING

SECOND READING

SENATE BILL NO. 6639, by Senators McDonald, McMullen, Bluechel, Niemi, Patrick, Warnke, Metcalf, Vognild, Bailey, Conner, Talmadge, Rinehart, Williams, Murray, Moore and von Reichbauer

Authorizing a real estate excise tax for the acquisition of conservation areas.

MOTIONS

On motion of Senator McDonald, Substitute Senate Bill No. 6639 was substituted for Senate Bill No. 6639 and the substitute bill was placed on second reading and read the second time.

On motion of Senator McDonald, Substitute Senate Bill No. 6639 was advanced to third reading, the second reading considered the third, and the bill was placed on final passage.

Debate ensued.

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Rasmussen: "Senator McDonald, does this replace that excise tax that we promised the people we wouldn't reinstitute after a two-year period?"

Senator McDonald: "Senator Rasmussen, I guess I'm not tracking."

Senator Rasmussen: "This increases the excise tax on real estate."

Senator McDonald: "That is correct. It's a local option. If Pierce County decided by a vote of the people to do it, then it would be instituted."

Senator Rasmussen: "So, five thousand people who wouldn't be buying any house, it wouldn't impose a tax, because it doesn't affect them, but it would affect those people--young people--that want to buy. Is that the end result?"

Senator McDonald: "If they purchased it, yes--and if Pierce County imposed it by a vote of the people, then, yes, that would be the effect."

Further debate ensued.

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Barr: "Senator McDonald, maybe I heard you wrong, but I thought you said that they would purchase development rights and no one has said exactly what they're buying. Are they taking title of the land or is it like I thought you said, development rights?"

Senator McDonald: "In Section 2, it says, 'The legislative authority of each county may acquire a fee simple interest, or lesser interest, in conservation areas.' It goes on to say, 'the term conservation area means land and water that has environmental, agricultural aesthetic, cultural, scientific, historic, and scenic.' I think you could either buy the development rights or you could buy the land out right. It's up to the county."

Senator Barr: "OK, thank you. If this is imposed, it would be a tax increase. That's correct, isn't it?"

Senator McDonald: "For those counties which decided to do that, yes it would be, but it is not a tax increase per se."

MOTION

On motion of Senator Anderson, Senator Smith was excused.

The President Pro Tempore declared the question before the Senate to be the roll call on the final passage of Substitute Senate Bill No. 6639.

ROLL CALL

The Secretary called the roll on the final passage of Substitute Senate Bill No. 6639 and the bill passed the Senate by the following vote: Yeas, 29; nays, 16; excused, 4.

Voting yea: Senators Anderson, Bailey, Bender, Benitz, Bluechel, Conner, Fleming, Hansen, Johnson, Kreidler, Lee, McDonald, McMullen, Metcalf, Moore, Murray, Nelson, Niemi, Patrick, Rinehart, Smitherman, Sutherland, Talmadge, Vognild, von Reichbauer, Warnke, West, Williams, Wojahn - 29.

Voting nay: Senators Amondson, Barr, Bauer, Cantu, Craswell, Gaspard, Hayner, Madsen, Newhouse, Owen, Patterson, Rasmussen, Saling, Sellar, Stratton, Thorsness - 16.

Excused: Senators DeJarnatt, Matson, McCaslin, Smith - 4.

SUBSTITUTE SENATE BILL NO. 6639, having received the constitutional majority, was declared passed. There being no objection, the title of the bill was ordered to stand as the title of the act.

SECOND READING

SENATE BILL NO. 6506, by Senators McCaslin, Amondson, Nelson, Johnson, Barr, Saling, Anderson, Bailey, West, Stratton, Rasmussen and von Reichbauer

Clarifying use of wood pellet burning stoves during periods of local impaired air quality.

The bill was read the second time.

MOTION

Senator Metcalf moved that the following Committee on Environment and Natural Resources amendment not be adopted:

On page 1, line 20, strike "1990" and insert "(1990) 1991"

The President Pro Tempore declared the question before the Senate to be the motion by Senator Metcalf that the Committee on Environment and Natural Resources amendment on page 1, line 20, to Senate Bill No. 6506 not be adopted.

The motion by Senator Metcalf carried and the committee amendment was not adopted.

MOTION

Senator Metcalf moved that the following amendments by Senators Metcalf, Rasmussen and Amundson be considered simultaneously and be adopted:

On page 1, line 20, after "contamination," strike all material through "RCW 70.94.457," on line 25 and insert ~~"(if, after July 1, 1990, the department determines that there is quantitative evidence that wood stoves meeting the requirements of RCW 70.94.457 are contributing to impaired air quality, the department or any authority may prohibit burning of all solid fuel burning devices as provided by this section including those meeting the requirements of RCW 70.94.457:))"~~

On page 1, after line 25, add a new subsection as follows:

"(3) The department or authority shall publicly announce the effective date and time when issuing a declaration of an episode of impaired air quality."

POINT OF ORDER

Senator Talmadge: "Mr. President, I rise to a point of order. I believe the amendment--both amendments--expand the scope and object of the bill. It appears that this is a bill that deals solely with wood pellet burning stoves. The two amendments delete language relating to the authority of the department to determine whether or not wood burning stoves add quantitatively to air pollution problems, while the second amendment deals with the time and circumstances under which the department may publicly announce bans on wood burning because of episodes of impaired air quality. I believe that the amendments are beyond the scope and object of the bill that had originally been calculated to deal only with wood pellet stoves."

Further debate ensued.

MOTION

On motion of Senator Newhouse, further consideration of Senate Bill No. 6506 was deferred.

President Pritchard assumed the Chair.

There being no objection, the Senate resumed consideration of Substitute Senate Bill No. 5020 and the pending striking amendment, as amended, by Senators Metcalf, Anderson, Smitherman, McMullen, Craswell, Conner and von Reichbauer, deferred earlier today.

RULING BY THE PRESIDENT

President Pritchard: "In ruling upon the point of order raised by Senator Sutherland, the President finds that Substitute Senate Bill No. 5020 is a measure regulating aquacultural practices providing for, among other things, requirements that local governments incorporate state aquaculture regulations in local shorelines plans.

"The amendment, as amended, proposed by Senators Metcalf, Anderson, Smitherman, McMullen, Craswell, Conner and von Reichbauer prohibits the state from granting certain aquaculture permits denied by county legislative authorities.

"The President, therefore, finds that the amendment, as amended, does not change the scope and object of the bill and that the point of order is not well taken."

The striking amendment, as amended, by Senators Metcalf, Anderson, Smitherman, McMullen, Craswell, Conner and von Reichbauer to Substitute Senate Bill No. 5020 was ruled in order.

The President declared the question before the Senate to be the adoption of the striking amendment, as amended, by Senators Metcalf, Anderson, Smitherman, McMullen, Craswell, Conner and von Reichbauer to Substitute Senate Bill No. 5020.

Debate ensued.

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Rasmussen: "Senator Metcalf, it says here that the effect of the proposed substitute bill would be, 'Aquaculture is limited by definition to saltwater salmon, net pens, herring culture and seaweed culture.' All of this has to do with salt water pens?"

Senator Metcalf: "Aquaculture is many things and some of them you mentioned. All this bill deals with is floating salmon net pens, period. Nothing else."

Senator Rasmussen: "Thank you. There were some of the other fish farmers that were worried."

Senator Metcalf: "Yes, this should relieve their concern."

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Nelson: "Senator Metcalf, with the amendment, I noticed we moved totally away from Chapter 90 that the original bill addressed. It strikes all of that and inserts everything into Chapter 79. Frankly, I don't recall what all those two chapters deal with. It becomes a big surprise why we're moving it to a completely different set of RCWs to address this particular local government denial. Can you explain that?"

Senator Metcalf: "No, I cannot, Senator Nelson. I had staff draw the amendments and I will try to get an answer for you if you're concerned. Vic Moon is out there. He's the one who drew the amendment. No, I cannot answer that."

The President declared the question before the Senate to be the adoption of the striking amendment, as amended, by Senators Metcalf, Anderson, Smitherman, McMullen, Craswell, Conner and von Reichbauer to Substitute Senate Bill No. 5020.

The motion by Senator Metcalf carried and the striking amendment, as amended, to Substitute Senate Bill No. 5020 was adopted.

MOTIONS

On motion of Senator Metcalf, the following title amendment was adopted:

On page 1, line 1 of the title, after "aquaculture," strike the remainder of the title and insert "and adding new section to Title 79 RCW."

On motion of Senator Metcalf, Engrossed Substitute Senate Bill No. 5020 was advanced to third reading, the second reading considered the third, and the bill was placed on final passage.

SENATOR PHIL TALMADGE, 34th District

STATEMENT FOR THE JOURNAL

February 15, 1990

Gordon Golob, Secretary of the Senate
Legislative Building
Olympia, Washington 98504

Dear Gordon:

On Monday, February 12, 1990, I missed the following Senate floor votes on the following bills: Gubernatorial Appointment No. 9019, Gubernatorial Appointment No. 9127, Gubernatorial Appointment No. 9156, Second Substitute Senate Bill No. 5307, Senate Bill No. 5705, Substitute Senate Bill No. 6573, Substitute Senate Bill No. 6575, Senate Bill No. 6786 and Substitute Senate Bill No. 6713.

This memo serves to let you know, for the record, the circumstances which surrounded my late arrival that morning.

Thank you.

MOTION

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. The legislature finds that sex offenders have a high probability of reoffending. Studies have shown that offenders who are castrated are less likely to reoffend. The legislature also finds that voluntary surgical castration is not cruel and unusual punishment.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. (1) At any time between the conviction of a sex offense and the time of sentencing, the offender may file a motion with the court requesting a hearing on the voluntary surgical castration sentencing option provided in this section.

(2) No castration shall be performed on any person, pursuant to this section, unless the person knowingly and voluntarily requests, in writing, that the surgery be performed.

(3) Subsequent to receiving the motion and written request of the person convicted of a sex offense the court shall hold a hearing to ensure that the offender has requested the surgery knowingly and voluntarily. The court shall ensure that the offender fully understands and comprehends the legal, medical, emotional and psychological consequences of castration.

(4) If surgical castration is performed pursuant to this section, the court shall not impose a sentence greater than twenty-five percent of the presumptive sentence; provided that an offender who is surgically castrated must serve no less than one year in confinement."

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Senator Vognild: "Thank you, Mr. President. I rise to a point of parliamentary inquiry. The striking amendment by Senator Craswell was placed before the body prior to the striking amendment by Senator Gaspard. I believe that Senator Gaspard's striking amendment should be properly before the body at this time."

REPLY BY THE PRESIDENT

President Pritchard: "Well, we thought one was a perfecting amendment and so we made the decision on that basis, Senator."

Senator Vognild: "Mr. President, I would question and ask you to reconsider your decision. Basically, from the standpoint they are both striking amendments and, therefore, one is not a perfecting amendment. It is, in fact, a striking amendment and I believe the procedure before the body has been to give precedence to the amendment which was submitted first."

President Pritchard: "Well, I made the decision, Senator, that one is a striking amendment--strikes the whole bill--and the other is a perfecting amendment. Even though it's striking, it perfects the measure."

Senator Vognild: "Well, Mr. President, I guess I have to state that both amendments start out with the words, 'strike everything after the enacting clause.' Mr. President, this will become a very important matter a little later on and that's why I raised the point at this time. I would request of the President that the striking amendment by Senator Gaspard be considered at this point in time as the proper amendment before the body."

President Pritchard: "If you want to speak to it, we will set it aside."

MOTION

At 10:16 a.m., on motion of Senator Newhouse, the Senate was declared to be at ease.

The Senate was called to order at 10:26 a.m. by President Pritchard.

There being no objection, the Senate resumed consideration of Substitute Senate Bill No. 6332 and the pending striking amendment by Senator Craswell, which was being debated before the Senate went at ease.

MOTION

Senator Gaspard moved that the following amendment by Senators Gaspard, Patrick, Wojahn and Vognild to the striking amendment by Senator Craswell be adopted:

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. A new section is added to chapter 9.94A RCW to read as follows:

The commission shall consult with the University of Washington school of medicine and department of community psychiatry in reviewing the research literature and experiments on this subject from the United States, Canada, and Europe. The commission shall review the experiences of other states and legal rulings on the constitutionality of these methods as a sentencing option. POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Wojahn: "Senator Lee, in doing this on those pilot programs that you're stating, are you going to split the tuition or the fee for the students, so that the K-12 would get a portion and the colleges would get a portion--or how would that work?"

Senator Lee: "Senator Wojahn, the portion of the enrollment in the community college that is to be attributed to the high school diploma, that is to come from the regular K-12 money that the high school gets anyway. Now, if that student is also enrolled in some other courses at the community college in addition to those for their high school diploma, they would have to pay the regular tuition just like anyone else and that would come under the regular fee, so you could very well have students taking most of their high school completion at the community college.

"In fact, Walla Walla Community College does this with the Walla Walla School District. In that particular case, half a day is spent at the community college, so they get half of the K-12 money."

Senator Wojahn: "Then, that would diminish the amount that the K-12 would get. Is that correct?"

Senator Lee: "That's correct and they feel that's an equitable arrangement."

Senator Patterson: "No, Senator. I knew you were going to ask. No, this bill has nothing to do with triples. This bill is strictly the same kind of carriers that we have in hauling most of the materials that are on the highways today. This has nothing to do with authorizing triple trailers on the highways of the state of Washington."

On motion of Senator Newhouse, Substitute Senate Bill No. 6710 was substituted for Senate Bill No. 6710 and the substitute bill was placed on second reading and read the second time.

Senator West moved that the following amendment by Senators West and Nelson be adopted:

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

NEW SECTION, Sec. 1. The legislature finds that:

(1) Death and injury from alcohol or drug-related traffic accidents are a serious epidemic and one of the most threatening and pressing public health problems in the state, especially for our youth.

(a) Alcohol-related traffic fatalities are the number one cause of death in the sixteen to twenty-four year old age group.

(b) There are more deaths from drunk driving than the combined total of deaths for murder and nonnegligent homicide. In 1986 seven hundred fourteen people died in Washington from motor vehicle accidents, and in 1988 seven hundred eighty-five people died from similar accidents; half of these deaths were alcohol related. By comparison the number of deaths from homicide in 1986 was two hundred twenty.

(c) In 1988 thirteen thousand seven hundred twenty-four people were injured in alcohol-related traffic accidents, of which two thousand six hundred sixty-five were disabling injuries.

(d) Drug-related impairment causes a large number of traffic fatalities and injuries in addition to those documented for alcohol-related accidents.

(e) The social and financial costs from alcohol and drug-related traffic accidents are tremendous.

(2) A major concern of public health is the prevention of death and injury. Public health efforts must be reoriented to focus on the major causes of public death and injury in contemporary society.

(3) The state must take positive steps in the public health tradition to drastically cut back the root causes of the epidemic by a comprehensive public health program of education, prevention, and treatment. Because of the nature of this social epidemic, this public health effort must be conducted in large part by law enforcement agencies in conjunction with public health officials, trained health care providers, and the public.

(4) The legislature declares that the primary goal of this effort is to reduce the number of people killed and injured from drunk driving on our roads each year and remove alcohol-related traffic fatalities as the leading cause of death of our youth. The primary educational goal of this public health effort is to change the prevailing attitude that drinking and driving are socially acceptable, and to protect our youth now and in the future from alcoholic beverage advertising that is targeted at them.

NEW SECTION, Sec. 2. The legislature recognizes the governor's role in the state's response to the current public health crisis from alcohol and substance abuse. This includes the governor's support and assistance in passage of the omnibus drug act of 1989 and the creation of the governor's substance abuse council by executive order in 1989. The legislature intends to affirm the governor's leadership and coordinating function and strengthen current structures in state government as they relate to these efforts.

NEW SECTION, Sec. 3. A new section is added to Title 43 RCW to read as follows:

(1) The governor shall establish and update at least annually a comprehensive state strategy to reduce substance abuse through prevention, treatment, and enforcement efforts.

(2) The governor shall appoint an interdepartmental coordinating committee on substance abuse which shall be composed of the director of the department of community development, the secretary of corrections, the commissioner of the employment security department, the secretary of health, the director of the department of labor and industries, the secretary of social and health services, the superintendent of public instruction, the chief of the Washington state patrol, the director of the traffic safety commission, and a member of the board of health, or their designees. Additional members of the committee shall be appointed by the governor and shall represent additional state agencies or commissions as the governor deems appropriate.

The committee shall meet at least four times annually at the call of the governor, or his or her designee, who shall be its chair. The committee shall provide for the coordination of, and exchange of information on, all programs relating to alcoholism and other drug addiction, and shall act as a permanent liaison among the departments engaged in activities affecting alcoholics and other drug addicts, persons incapacitated by alcohol or other psychoactive chemicals, and intoxicated persons. The committee shall report its findings of the current state of the substance abuse problem to the governor and the legislature by September 1, 1990, and biennially thereafter based on current agency data, and advise the governor on developing and updating the comprehensive strategy.

(3) The governor may appoint a council on substance abuse. Members shall represent education, treatment, law enforcement, local government, community groups, students, private industry, labor, and others as deemed appropriate by the governor.

The council's primary responsibilities shall include:

(a) Advise the governor on issues and programs relating to substance abuse including the development and review of the comprehensive strategy;

(b) Advise and assist the governor with implementation strategies to support community efforts to reduce substance abuse; and

(c) Promote public awareness and education regarding substance abuse and actions individuals can use in response to substance abuse.

The primary thrust of the council's local efforts shall be to emphasize Washington communities working in partnership with government, labor, private industry, schools, treatment, and law enforcement so that each can identify their role and complement the roles of the others in working to minimize the causes and impacts of substance abuse through coordinated and innovative strategies.

(4) The governor may transfer or delegate any of his or her duties under this section to any operating agency deemed appropriate by the governor.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4. A new section is added to chapter 36.28A RCW to read as follows:

(1) The Washington association of sheriffs and police chiefs shall establish and maintain a central repository for the collection of information on alcohol and drug related crimes and incidents. Upon establishing such a repository, the association shall develop a procedure to monitor, record, and classify information relating to alcohol and drug related crimes and incidents. The procedure may be established within the association's incident-based reporting program where such programs exist within local law enforcement agencies.

(2) The Washington association of sheriffs and police chiefs shall collect information on alcohol and drug related crimes and incidents reported by law enforcement agencies in such form and manner as prescribed by rules adopted by the association. Agency participation in the incident-based reporting program, with regard to the specific data requirements associated with alcohol and drug-related crimes and incidents, shall be deemed to meet agency reporting requirements.

(3) The Washington association of sheriffs and police chiefs shall submit an annual report to the senate law and justice and health and long-term care committees and the house of representatives judiciary and health committees by December 1 of each year beginning in 1990 summarizing the statistical results of the alcohol and drug related crimes and incidents data received.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 5. A new section is added to chapter 46.04 RCW to read as follows:

"Alcohol concentration" means (1) the grams of alcohol per two hundred ten liters of a person's breath, or (2) the percent by weight of alcohol in a person's blood.

Sec. 6. Section 46.04.580, chapter 12, Laws of 1961 and RCW 46.04.580 are each amended to read as follows:

"Suspend," in all its forms, means invalidation for any period less than one calendar year and thereafter until reinstatement. However, under RCW 46.61.515 and section 8 of this act the invalidation may last for more than one calendar year.

Sec. 7. Section 1, chapter 22, Laws of 1987 as amended by section 8, chapter 337, Laws of 1989 and RCW 46.20.308 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) Any person who operates a motor vehicle within this state is deemed to have given consent, subject to the provisions of RCW 46.61.506, to a test or tests of his or her breath or blood for the purpose of determining the alcoholic content of his or her breath or blood if arrested for any offense where, at the time of the arrest, the arresting officer has reasonable grounds to believe the person had been driving or was in actual physical control of a motor vehicle while under the influence of intoxicating liquor.

(2) The test or tests of breath shall be administered at the direction of a law enforcement officer having reasonable grounds to believe the person to have been driving or in actual physical control of a motor vehicle within this state while under the influence of intoxicating liquor. However, in those instances where: ~~((a))~~ The person is incapable due to physical injury, physical incapacity, or other physical limitation, of providing a breath sample; or ~~((b)) as a result of a traffic accident~~) the person is being treated for a medical condition in a hospital, clinic, doctor's office, or other similar facility in which a breath testing instrument is not present, a blood test shall be administered by a qualified person as provided in RCW 46.61.506(4). The officer shall inform the person of his or her right to refuse the breath or blood test, and of his or her right to have additional tests administered by any qualified person of his or her choosing as provided in RCW 46.61.506. The officer shall warn the driver that (a) his or her privilege to drive will be revoked or denied if he or she refuses to submit to the test. ~~((and))~~ (b) that his or her privilege to drive will be suspended, revoked, or denied if the test is administered and the test indicates the alcohol concentration of the person's breath or blood is 0.10 or more, and (c) that his or her refusal to take the test may be used in a criminal trial.

(3) Except as provided in this section, the test administered shall be of the breath only. If an individual is unconscious or is under arrest for the crime of vehicular homicide as provided in RCW 46.61.520 or vehicular assault as provided in RCW 46.61.522, or if an individual is under arrest for the crime of driving while under the influence of intoxicating liquor or drugs as provided in RCW 46.61.502, which arrest results from an accident in which another person has been injured and there is a reasonable likelihood that such other person may die as a result of injuries sustained in the accident, a breath or blood test may be administered without the consent of the individual so arrested.

(4) Any person who is dead, unconscious, or who is otherwise in a condition rendering him or her incapable of refusal, shall be deemed not to have withdrawn the consent provided by subsection (1) of this section and the test or tests may be administered, subject to the provisions of RCW 46.61.506, and the person shall be deemed to have received the warnings required under subsection (2) of this section.

(5) If, following his or her arrest and receipt of warnings under subsection (2) of this section, the person arrested refuses upon the request of a law enforcement officer to submit to a test or tests of his or her breath or blood, no test shall be given except as authorized under subsection (3) or (4) of this section.

(6) If, after arrest and after the other applicable conditions and requirements of this section have been satisfied, a person submits to a test or tests of his or her blood or breath, or such a test has been administered without that person's express consent as permitted by subsection (3) or (4) of this section, and the test results indicate that the alcohol concentration of the person's breath or blood is 0.10 or more, or the person refuses to submit to a test, the arresting officer or other law enforcement officer at whose direction any test has been given, or the department if the arrest is the result of a blood test, shall:

(a) Serve notice in writing on the person on behalf of the department of its intention to suspend, revoke, or deny the person's license, permit, or privilege to drive as required by subsection (7) of this section;

(b) Serve notice in writing on the person on behalf of the department of his or her right to a hearing, specifying the steps he or she must take to obtain a hearing. Within five days after the notice has been given, the person may, in writing, request a formal hearing as provided by subsection (8) of this section. If such request is made by mail it must be postmarked within five days after the notice has been given;

(c) Confiscate the person's Washington state license or permit to drive, if any;

(d) Issue a temporary license to be effective twelve hours after the time of arrest and valid for thirty days from the date of arrest or until the suspension, revocation, or denial of the person's license, permit, or privilege to drive is sustained at a hearing pursuant to subsection (8) of this section, whichever occurs first. No temporary license is valid to any greater degree than the license or permit that it replaces;

(e) Immediately notify the department of licensing of the arrest and transmit to the department of licensing any confiscated license or permit, a copy of any blood test results and a printout of any test from the breath test instrument, and a sworn report that states:

(i) That the officer had reasonable grounds to believe the arrested person had been driving or was in actual physical control of a motor vehicle within this state while under the influence of intoxicating liquor or drugs, or both; and

(ii) That after receipt of the warnings required by subsection (2) of this section the person refused to submit, or submitted to a test or tests, or that a test was administered without the person's express consent as permitted under subsection (3) or (4) of this section; and

(iii) That the results of any test administered indicated that the alcohol concentration of the person's breath or blood was 0.10 or more; and

(iv) Any other information that the director may require by rule or regulation.

(7) The department of licensing, upon the receipt of a sworn report of the law enforcement officer that the officer had reasonable grounds to believe the arrested person had been driving or was in actual physical control of a motor vehicle within this state while under the influence of intoxicating liquor and that (a) the person had refused to submit to the test or tests upon the request of the law enforcement officer after being informed that refusal would result in the revocation of the person's privilege to drive, or (b) the person submitted to a test or tests, or such a test was administered without that person's express consent as permitted by subsection (3) or (4) of this section, and the results indicated that the alcohol concentration of the person's breath or blood was 0.10 or more, shall suspend, revoke, or deny the person's license or permit to drive or any nonresident operating privilege, such suspension, revocation, or denial to be effective thirty days from the date of arrest or when sustained at a hearing pursuant to subsection (8) of this section, whichever occurs first.

((7) Upon revoking the license or permit to drive or the nonresident operating privilege of any person, the department shall immediately notify the person involved in writing by personal service or by certified mail of its decision and the grounds therefor, and of the person's right to a hearing, specifying the steps he or she must take to obtain a hearing. Within fifteen days after the notice has been given, the person may, in writing, request a formal hearing;))

(8) Upon timely receipt of ((such)) a request for a formal hearing, the department shall afford the person an opportunity for a hearing as provided in RCW 46.20.329 and 46.20.332. The hearing shall be conducted in the county of the arrest, except that all or part of the hearing may, at the discretion of the department, be conducted by telephone or other electronic means. For the purposes of this section, the scope of ((such)) the hearing shall cover the issues of whether a law enforcement officer had reasonable grounds to believe the person had been driving or was in actual physical control of a motor vehicle within this state while under the influence of intoxicating liquor, whether the person was placed under arrest, and whether (a) the person refused to submit to the test or tests upon request of the officer after having been informed that such refusal would result in the revocation of the person's privilege to drive or, (b) if a test was administered, whether the applicable requirements of this section were satisfied before the administration of the test or tests, whether the person submitted to the test or tests, or whether a test was administered without express consent as permitted under this section, and whether the test or tests indicated that the alcohol concentration of the person's breath or blood was 0.10 or more. The sworn report submitted by a law enforcement officer shall be prima facie evidence that the officer had reasonable grounds to believe the person had been driving or was in actual physical control of a motor vehicle within this state while under the influence of intoxicating liquor, that the officer complied with the requirements of this section, and that the testing instrument was in proper working condition. ((The department shall order that the revocation either be rescinded or sustained. Any decision by the department revoking a person's driving privilege shall be stayed and shall not take effect while a formal hearing is pending as provided in this section or during the pendency of a subsequent appeal to superior court so long as there is no conviction for a moving violation or no finding that the person has committed a traffic infraction that is a moving violation during pendency of the hearing and appeal:

(9)) (9) Failure of the person to request a hearing within the time limit established by subsection (6) of this section, or failure to attend or participate in such a hearing, constitutes a default and results in the loss of that person's right to a hearing.

(10) If the suspension, revocation, or denial is sustained after such a hearing, the person whose license, privilege, or permit is suspended, revoked, or denied has the right to file a petition in the superior court of the county of arrest to review the final order of suspension, revocation, or denial by the department in the manner provided in RCW 46.20.334. The filing of the appeal does not stay the effective date of the suspension, revocation, or denial. A petition filed under this subsection must include the petitioner's grounds for requesting review. Upon granting petitioner's request for review, the court shall review the department's final order of suspension, revocation, or denial as expeditiously as possible. If judicial relief is sought for a stay or other temporary remedy from the department's action, the court shall not grant such relief unless the court finds that:

(a) The petitioner is likely to prevail when the court finally disposes of the matter;

(b) Without relief the petitioner will suffer irreparable injury; and

(c) The threat to the safety of persons on the public highways is not sufficiently serious to justify the department's action in the circumstances.

((9)) (11) When it has been finally determined under the procedures of this section that a nonresident's privilege to operate a motor vehicle in this state has been suspended, revoked, or denied the department shall give information in writing of the action taken to the motor vehicle administrator of the state of the person's residence and of any state in which he or she has a license.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 8. A new section is added to chapter 46.20 RCW to read as follows:

(1) Pursuant to RCW 46.20.308, the department shall suspend, revoke, or deny the arrested person's license, permit to drive, driving privilege, or any nonresident privilege as follows:

(a) In the case of a person who has refused a test or tests:

(i) Revocation or denial for one year for a first refusal within the five-year period preceding the date of the refusal;

(ii) Revocation or denial for two years for a second or subsequent refusal within the five-year period preceding the date of the refusal.

(b) In the case of an incident where a person has submitted to or been administered a test or tests indicating that the alcohol concentration of the person's breath or blood was 0.10 or more:

(i) Suspension or denial until the person reaches age nineteen or for thirty days, whichever is longer, for a first incident within five years where there has been no previous conviction of RCW 46.61.502 or 46.61.504 within the five-year period preceding the current incident. If the department suspends or revokes a person's license because of a criminal conviction arising from the same incident, the period the license was suspended under this subsection shall be credited against the time period of the license revocation or suspension;

(ii) Revocation or denial for one year for a second incident within five years. A previous conviction under RCW 46.61.502 or 46.61.504, within the five-year period preceding the current incident, that did not result in a suspension or denial under this subsection shall be considered a previous incident for purposes of this subsection;

(iii) Revocation or denial for two years for a third or subsequent incident within five years. Previous convictions under RCW 46.61.502, 46.61.504, 46.61.520, or 46.61.522, within the five-year period preceding the current incident, that did not result in a suspension, revocation, or denial under this subsection shall be considered previous incidents for purposes of this subsection.

(2) The department shall not grant or reinstate a person's privilege to drive that has been suspended, revoked, or denied under subsection (1) of this section until it has determined the person is eligible for reinstatement under RCW 46.20.031 and is otherwise qualified.

Sec. 9. Section 9, chapter 148, Laws of 1988 and RCW 46.20.311 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) The department shall not suspend a driver's license or privilege to drive a motor vehicle on the public highways for a fixed period of more than one year, except as permitted under RCW 46.20.342 or 46.61.515. Whenever the license or driving privilege of any person is suspended by reason of a conviction, a finding that a traffic infraction has been committed, pursuant to chapter 46.29 RCW, or pursuant to RCW 46.20.291, the suspension shall remain in effect and the department shall not issue to the person any new, duplicate, or renewal license until the person pays a reinstatement fee of twenty dollars and gives and thereafter maintains proof of financial responsibility for the future as provided in chapter 46.29 RCW. If the suspension is the result of a violation of RCW 46.61.502 or 46.61.504, the reinstatement fee shall be ~~((fifty))~~ one hundred dollars.

(2) Any person whose license or privilege to drive a motor vehicle on the public highways has been revoked, unless the revocation was for a cause which has been removed, is not entitled to have the license or privilege renewed or restored until: (a) After the expiration of one year from the date ~~((on which the revoked license was surrendered to and received by the department))~~ the license or privilege to drive was revoked; (b) after the expiration of the applicable revocation period provided by RCW 46.61.515(3) (b) or (c); (c) after the expiration of two years for persons convicted of vehicular homicide; (d) after the expiration of one year in cases of revocation for the first refusal within five years to submit to a chemical test under RCW 46.20.308; (e) after the expiration of two years in cases of revocation for the second refusal within five years to submit to a chemical test under RCW 46.20.308; or (f) after the expiration of the applicable revocation period provided by RCW 46.20.265. After the expiration of the appropriate period, the person may make application for a new license as provided by law together with a reinstatement fee in the amount of twenty dollars, but if the revocation is the result of a violation of RCW 46.20.308, 46.61.502, or 46.61.504, the reinstatement fee shall be ~~((fifty))~~ one hundred dollars. Except for a revocation under RCW 46.20.265, the department shall not then issue a new license unless it is satisfied after investigation of the driving ability of the person that it will be safe to grant the privilege of driving a motor vehicle on the public highways, and until the person gives and thereafter maintains proof of financial responsibility for the future as provided in chapter 46.29 RCW. For a revocation under RCW 46.20.265, the department shall not issue a new license unless it is satisfied after investigation of the driving ability of the person that it will be safe to grant that person the privilege of driving a motor vehicle on the public highways. ~~((A resident without a license or permit whose license or permit was revoked under RCW 46.20.308(6) shall give and thereafter maintain proof of financial responsibility for the future as provided in chapter 46.29 RCW.))~~

(3) Whenever the driver's license of any person is suspended pursuant to Article IV of the nonresident violators compact or RCW 46.23.020, the suspension shall remain in effect and the department shall not issue to the person any new or renewal license until the person pays a reinstatement fee of twenty dollars. If the suspension is the result of a violation of the laws of another state, province, or other jurisdiction involving (a) the operation or physical control of a motor vehicle upon the public highways while under the influence of intoxicating liquor or drugs, or (b) the refusal to submit to a ~~((chemical))~~ test or tests of the driver's breath or blood alcohol content, the reinstatement fee shall be ~~((fifty))~~ one hundred dollars.

Sec. 10. Section 9, chapter 148, Laws of 1988 as amended by section 9 of this act and RCW 46.20.311 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) The department shall not suspend a driver's license or privilege to drive a motor vehicle on the public highways for a fixed period of more than one year, except as permitted under RCW 46.20.342 ~~((or)),~~ 46.61.515, or section 8 of this act. Whenever the license or driving privilege of any person is suspended by reason of a conviction, a finding that a traffic infraction has been committed, pursuant to chapter 46.29 RCW, or pursuant to RCW 46.20.291 or 46.20.308, the suspension shall remain in effect and the department shall not issue to the person any new, duplicate, or renewal license until the person pays a reinstatement fee of twenty dollars and gives and thereafter maintains proof of financial responsibility for the future as provided in chapter 46.29 RCW. If the suspension is the result of a violation of RCW 46.61.502 or 46.61.504 or was imposed under RCW 46.20.308, the reinstatement fee shall be one hundred dollars.

(2) Any person whose license or privilege to drive a motor vehicle on the public highways has been revoked, unless the revocation was for a cause which has been removed, is not entitled to have the license or privilege renewed or restored until: (a) After the expiration of one year from the date the license or privilege to drive was revoked; (b) after the expiration of the applicable revocation period provided by RCW 46.61.515(3) (b) or (c); (c) after the expiration of two years for persons convicted of vehicular homicide; (d) after the expiration of ~~((one year in cases of revocation for the first refusal within five years to submit to a chemical test under RCW 46.20.308; (e) after the expiration of two years in cases of revocation for the second refusal within five years to submit to a chemical test under RCW 46.20.308; or (f))~~ the applicable revocation period provided by section 8 of this act; or (e) after the expiration of the applicable revocation period provided by RCW 46.20.265. After the expiration of the appropriate period, the person may make application for a new license as provided by law together with a reinstatement fee in the amount of twenty dollars, but if the revocation is the result of a violation of RCW 46.20.308, 46.61.502, or 46.61.504 or was imposed under RCW 46.20.308, the reinstatement fee shall be one hundred dollars. Except for a revocation under RCW 46.20.265, the department shall not then issue a new license unless it is satisfied after investigation of the driving ability of the person that it will be safe to grant the privilege of driving a motor vehicle on the public highways, and until the person gives and thereafter maintains proof of financial responsibility for the future as provided in chapter 46.29 RCW. For a revocation under RCW 46.20.265, the department shall not issue a new license unless it is satisfied after investigation of the driving ability of the person that it will be safe to grant that person the privilege of driving a motor vehicle on the public highways.

(3) Whenever the driver's license of any person is suspended pursuant to Article IV of the nonresident violators compact or RCW 46.23.020, the suspension shall remain in effect and the department shall not issue to the person any new or renewal license until the person pays a reinstatement fee of twenty dollars. If the suspension is the result of a violation of the laws of another state, province, or other jurisdiction involving (a) the operation or physical control of a motor vehicle upon the public highways while under the influence of intoxicating liquor or drugs, or (b) the refusal to submit to a test or tests of the driver's breath or blood alcohol content, the reinstatement fee shall be one hundred dollars.

Sec. 11. Section 37, chapter 121, Laws of 1965 ex. sess. as amended by section 2, chapter 29, Laws of 1972 ex. sess. and RCW 46.20.332 are each amended to read as follows:

At a formal hearing the department shall consider its records and may receive sworn testimony and may issue subpoenas for the attendance of witnesses and the production of relevant books and papers in the manner and subject to the conditions provided in chapter 5.56 RCW relating to the issuance of subpoenas. A subpoena may be issued with like effect by the attorney of record for the party on whose behalf the witness is required to appear. Witnesses in a hearing shall be paid the same fees and allowances, in the same manner and under the same conditions, as provided for witnesses in the courts of this state by chapter 2.40 RCW and by RCW 5.56.010, except that the department shall have the power to fix the allowance for meals and lodgings in like manner as provided in RCW 5.56.010 as to courts. The person initiating a hearing or the party requesting issuance of a subpoena shall pay fees and allowances and the cost of producing records required to be produced by subpoena. A party may impeach any witness, regardless of which party called the witness. In addition the department may require a reexamination of the licensee or applicant. Proceedings at a formal hearing shall be recorded stenographically or by mechanical device. Upon the conclusion of a formal hearing, if not heard by the director or a person authorized by him or her to make final decisions regarding the issuance, denial, suspension or revocation of licenses, the referee or board shall make findings on the matters under consideration and may prepare and submit recommendations to the director or such person designated by the director who is authorized to make final decisions regarding the issuance, denial, suspension, or revocation of licenses.

Sec. 12. Section 46.20.380, chapter 12, Laws of 1961 as last amended by section 6, chapter 1, Laws of 1985 ex. sess. and RCW 46.20.380 are each amended to read as follows:

No person may file an application for an occupational driver's license as provided in RCW 46.20.391 unless he or she first pays to the director or other person authorized to accept applications and fees for driver's licenses a fee of ~~((twenty-five))~~ fifty dollars. The applicant shall receive upon payment an official receipt for the payment of such fee. All such fees shall be forwarded to the director who shall transmit such fees to the state treasurer in the same manner as other driver's license fees.

Sec. 13. Section 1, chapter 5, Laws of 1973 as last amended by section 5, chapter 407, Laws of 1985 and RCW 46.20.391 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) Any person licensed under this chapter whose driving privilege has been suspended under section 8(1)(b)(i) of this act or who is convicted of an offense relating to motor vehicles for which suspension or revocation of the driver's license is mandatory, other than vehicular homicide or vehicular assault, may submit to the department an application for an occupational driver's license. The department, upon receipt of the prescribed fee and upon determining that the petitioner is engaged in an occupation or trade that makes it essential that the petitioner operate a motor vehicle, may issue an occupational driver's license and may set definite restrictions as provided in RCW 46.20.394. No person may petition for, and the department shall not issue, an occupational driver's license that is effective during the first thirty days of any suspension or revocation imposed under RCW 46.61.515 or section 8(1)(b)(i) of this act. A person aggrieved by the decision of the department on the application for an occupational driver's license may request a hearing as provided by rule of the department.

(2) An applicant for an occupational driver's license is eligible to receive such license only if:

(a) Within one year immediately preceding the present conviction or administrative action, the applicant has not been convicted of any offense relating to motor vehicles for which suspension or revocation of a driver's license is mandatory; and

(b) Within five years immediately preceding the present conviction or administrative action, the applicant has not been convicted of driving or being in actual physical control of a motor vehicle while under the influence of intoxicating liquor under RCW 46.61.502 or 46.61.504, of vehicular homicide under RCW 46.61.520, or of vehicular assault under RCW 46.61.522, or had a license administratively suspended or revoked under section 8(1)(b)(i) of this act; and

(c) The applicant is engaged in an occupation or trade that makes it essential that he or she operate a motor vehicle; and

(d) The applicant files satisfactory proof of financial responsibility pursuant to chapter 46.29 RCW.

(3) The director shall cancel an occupational driver's license upon receipt of notice that the holder thereof has had a driver's license administratively suspended or revoked under RCW 46.20.308 or has been convicted of operating a motor vehicle in violation of its restrictions, or of an offense that pursuant to chapter 46.20 RCW would warrant suspension or revocation of a regular driver's license. The cancellation is effective as of the date of the conviction, suspension, or revocation, and continues with the same force and effect as any suspension or revocation under this title.

Sec. 14. Section 62, chapter 155, Laws of 1965 ex. sess. as last amended by section 1, chapter 352, Laws of 1985 and RCW 46.61.515 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) Every person who is convicted of a violation of RCW 46.61.502 or 46.61.504 shall be punished by imprisonment for not less than twenty-four consecutive hours nor more than one year, and by a fine of not less than two hundred fifty dollars and not more than one thousand dollars. Unless the judge finds the person to be indigent, two hundred fifty dollars of the fine shall not be suspended or deferred. Twenty-four consecutive hours of the jail sentence shall not be suspended or deferred unless the judge finds that the imposition of the jail sentence will pose a risk to the defendant's physical or mental well-being. Whenever the mandatory jail sentence is suspended or deferred, the judge must state, in writing, the reason for granting the suspension or deferral and the facts upon which the suspension or deferral is based. The court may impose conditions of probation that may include nonrepetition, alcohol or drug treatment, supervised probation, or other conditions that may be appropriate. The convicted person shall, in addition, be required to complete a course in an alcohol information school approved by the department of social and health services or more intensive treatment in a program approved by the department of social and health services, as determined by the court. A diagnostic evaluation and treatment recommendation shall be prepared under the direction of the court by an alcoholism agency approved by the department of social and health services or a qualified probation department approved by the department of social and health services. A copy of the report shall be forwarded to the department of licensing. Based on the diagnostic evaluation, the court shall determine whether the convicted person shall be required to complete a course in an alcohol information school approved by the department of social and health services or more intensive treatment in a program approved by the department of social and health services. Standards for approval for alcohol treatment programs shall be prescribed by rule under the administrative procedure act, chapter 34.05 RCW. The courts shall periodically review the costs of alcohol information schools and treatment programs within their jurisdictions.

(2) On a second or subsequent conviction for driving or being in physical control of a motor vehicle while under the influence of intoxicating liquor or drugs within a five-year period a person shall be punished by imprisonment for not less than seven days nor more than one year and by a fine of not less than five hundred dollars and not more than two thousand dollars. District courts and courts organized under chapter 35.20 RCW are authorized to impose such fine. Unless the judge finds the person to be indigent, five hundred dollars of the fine shall not be suspended or deferred. The jail sentence shall not be suspended or deferred unless the judge finds that the imposition of the jail sentence will pose a risk to the defendant's physical or mental well-being. Whenever the mandatory jail sentence is suspended or deferred, the judge must state, in writing, the reason for granting the suspension or deferral and the facts upon which the suspension or deferral is based. If, at the time of a second or subsequent conviction, the driver is without a license or permit because of a previous suspension or revocation, the minimum mandatory sentence shall be ninety days in jail and a two hundred dollar fine. The penalty so imposed shall not be suspended or deferred. The person shall, in addition, be required to complete a diagnostic evaluation by an alcoholism agency approved by the department of social and health services or a qualified probation department approved by the department of social and health services. The report shall be forwarded to the department of licensing. If the person is found to have an alcohol or drug problem requiring treatment, the person shall complete treatment at an approved alcoholism treatment facility or approved drug treatment center.

In addition to any nonsuspendable and nondeferrable jail sentence required by this subsection, the court shall sentence a person to a term of imprisonment not exceeding one hundred eighty days and shall suspend but shall not defer the sentence for a period not exceeding two years. The suspension of the sentence may be conditioned upon nonrepetition, alcohol or drug treatment, supervised probation, or other conditions that may be appropriate. The sentence may be imposed in whole or in part upon violation of a condition of suspension during the suspension period.

(3) The license or permit to drive or any nonresident privilege of any person convicted of driving or being in physical control of a motor vehicle while under the influence of intoxicating liquor or drugs shall:

(a) On the first conviction under either offense, where there has been no previous suspension or denial imposed under section 8(1)(b) of this act for the incident upon which the conviction is based, or where there has been no previous incident resulting in a suspension, revocation, or denial under section 8(1)(b) of this act within the five-year period preceding the current conviction, be suspended by the department until the person reaches age nineteen or for ninety days, whichever is longer. The department of licensing shall determine the person's eligibility for licensing based upon the reports provided by the designated alcoholism agency, drug treatment center, or probation department and shall deny reinstatement until enrollment and participation in an approved program has been established and the person is otherwise qualified;

(b) On a second conviction under either offense within a five-year period, where there has been no previous revocation or denial imposed under section 8(1)(b) of this act for the incident upon which the conviction is based, be revoked by the department for one year. A previous incident resulting in a suspension, revocation, or denial under section 8(1)(b) of this act within the five-year period preceding the current conviction shall be considered a previous conviction for purposes of this subsection. The department of licensing shall determine the person's eligibility for licensing based upon the reports provided by the designated alcoholism agency, drug treatment center, or probation department and shall deny reinstatement until satisfactory progress in an approved program has been established and the person is otherwise qualified;

(c) On a third or subsequent conviction of driving or being in physical control of a motor vehicle while under the influence of intoxicating liquor or drugs, vehicular homicide, or vehicular assault, or any combination thereof within a five-year period, where there has been no previous revocation or denial imposed under section 8(1)(b) of this act for the incident upon which the conviction is based, be revoked by the department for two years. Previous incidents resulting in suspension, revocation, or denial under section 8(1)(b) of this act within the five-year period preceding the current conviction shall be considered previous convictions for purposes of this subsection.

(4) In any case provided for in this section, where a driver's license is to be revoked or suspended, the revocation or suspension shall be stayed and shall not take effect until after the determination of any appeal from the conviction which may lawfully be taken, but in case the conviction is sustained on appeal the revocation or suspension takes effect as of the date that the conviction becomes effective for other purposes.

If the suspension is the result of a violation of RCW 46.61.502 or 46.61.504, the reinstatement fee shall be (~~(fifty)~~) one hundred fifty dollars.

(2) Any person whose license or privilege to drive a motor vehicle on the public highways has been revoked, unless the revocation was for a cause which has been removed, is not entitled to have the license or privilege renewed or restored until: (a) After the expiration of one year from the date on which the revoked license was surrendered to and received by the department; (b) after the expiration of the applicable revocation period provided by RCW 46.61.515(3) (b) or (c); (c) after the expiration of two years for persons convicted of vehicular homicide; (d) after the expiration of one year in cases of revocation for the first refusal within five years to submit to a chemical test under RCW 46.20.308; (e) after the expiration of two years in cases of revocation for the second refusal within five years to submit to a chemical test under RCW 46.20.308; or (f) after the expiration of the applicable revocation period provided by RCW 46.20.265. Except for a revocation under RCW 46.20.265, the department shall not then issue a new license unless it is satisfied after investigation of the driving ability of the person that it will be safe to grant the privilege of driving a motor vehicle on the public highways, and until the person gives and thereafter maintains proof of financial responsibility for the future as provided in chapter 46.29 RCW. For a revocation under RCW 46.20.265, the department shall not issue a new license unless it is satisfied after investigation of the driving ability of the person that it will be safe to grant that person the privilege of driving a motor vehicle on the public highways. A resident without a license or permit whose license or permit was revoked under RCW 46.20.308(6) shall give and thereafter maintain proof of financial responsibility for the future as provided in chapter 46.29 RCW.

(3) Whenever the driver's license of any person is suspended pursuant to Article IV of the nonresident violators compact or RCW 46.23.020, the suspension shall remain in effect and the department shall not issue to the person any new or renewal license until the person pays a reinstatement fee of (~~(twenty)~~) fifty dollars. If the suspension is the result of a violation of the laws of another state, province, or other jurisdiction involving (a) the operation or physical control of a motor vehicle upon the public highways while under the influence of intoxicating liquor or drugs, or (b) the refusal to submit to a chemical test of the driver's blood alcohol content, the reinstatement fee shall be (~~(fifty)~~) one hundred fifty dollars.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 25. The legislature recognizes the unique risks that foster parents face in taking children into their care. Third parties may file claims against foster parents for property losses and damage caused by foster children, nearly all of whom "act out" their emotional pain. The legislature finds that some potential foster parents are unwilling to subject themselves to such liability without insurance protection. The legislature further finds that to encourage those people to serve as foster parents, it is necessary to assure that such insurance is available to them.

Sec. 26. Section 7, chapter 159, Laws of 1963 as last amended by section 4, chapter 419, Laws of 1989 and RCW 4.92.130 are each amended to read as follows:

A liability account in the custody of the treasurer is hereby created as a nonappropriated account to be used solely and exclusively for the payment of liability settlements and judgments against the state under 42 U.S.C. Sec. 1981 et seq. or for the tortious conduct of its officers, employees, and volunteers; or for payment of liability settlements and judgments against foster parents licensed under chapter 74.15 RCW.

(1) The purpose of the liability account is to: (a) Expediently pay legal liabilities of the state and foster parents resulting from tortious conduct; (b) promote risk control through a cost allocation system which recognizes agency loss experience, levels of self-retention, and levels of risk exposure; and (c) establish an actuarially sound system to pay incurred losses, within defined limits.

(2) The liability account shall be used to pay claims for injury and property damages exclusive of legal defense costs and agency-retained expenses otherwise budgeted.

(3) No money shall be paid from the liability account unless all proceeds available to the claimant from any valid and collectible liability insurance shall have been exhausted and unless:

(a) The claim shall have been reduced to final judgment in a court of competent jurisdiction; or

(b) The claim has been approved for payment.

(4) Earnings on the account's assets shall be credited to the account, notwithstanding RCW 43.84.090.

(5) The liability account shall be financed through annual premiums assessed to state agencies, based on sound actuarial principles, and shall be for liability coverage in excess of agency-budgeted self-retention levels.

(6) Annual premium levels shall be determined by the risk manager, with the consultation and advice of the risk management advisory committee and concurrence from the office of financial management. An actuarial study shall be conducted to assist in determining the appropriate level of funding.

(7) Disbursements from the liability account shall be made to the claimant, or to the clerk of the court for judgments, upon written request to the state treasurer from the risk manager.

(8) The director of the office of financial management may direct agencies to transfer moneys from other funds and accounts to the liability account if premiums are delinquent.

(9) The liability account shall not exceed fifty percent of the actuarial value of the outstanding liability as determined annually by the office of risk management. If the account exceeds the maximum amount specified in this section, premiums may be adjusted by the office of risk management in order to maintain the account balance at the maximum limits. If, after adjustment of premiums, the account balance remains above the limits specified, the excess amount will be prorated back to the appropriate funds.

NEW SECTION, Sec. 27. A new section is added to chapter 74.14B RCW to read as follows:

(1) If sufficient funding to cover foster parents' liability is not provided for in appropriations for the liability account in RCW 4.92.130, the secretary of social and health services shall provide liability insurance to foster parents licensed under chapter 74.15 RCW. Unless the foster parent has professional liability insurance which shall be primary to the insurance provided herein, the coverage shall be primary, with no deductible, in an amount not to exceed one million dollars for bodily injury and property damage alleged to have occurred within their capacity as foster parents. However, such insurance may not cover illegal conduct, gross negligence, or bad faith acts taken in providing foster care on the part of the foster parents.

(2) The secretary of social and health services may purchase the insurance required in subsection (1) of this section or may choose a self-insurance method.

(3) Nothing in this section is intended to modify the foster parent reimbursement plan in place on the effective date of this act.

(4) The liability insurance program shall be available by July 1, 1990."

Renumber the sections consecutively and correct internal references accordingly.

On page 1, line 3 of the title, after "13.34 RCW;" insert "adding a new section to chapter 74.14B RCW;"

On motion of Senator Smith, Engrossed Second Substitute Senate Bill No. 6537 was advanced to third reading, the second reading considered the third, and the bill was placed on final passage.

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Stratton: "Senator Smith, in committee, when we heard this bill, you were so very sure that there would be funding for this bill as it went through the process and now the money has been taken out. Do you still feel as confident that this bill will be funded--or should I direct that question to Senator McDonald?"

Senator Smith: "I think you can direct it to me. I think this bill is a high priority in this Senate and as evidenced by the one hundred percent vote out of Ways and Means, you have a lot of strong support. I know that when that has happened before, we have found funding in the budget, so I would believe that it would be in the budget."

The bill was read the second time.

MOTION

Senator Lee moved that the following amendment by Senators Bailey Lee and Saling be adopted:

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

NEW SECTION, Sec. 1. The legislature finds that demographic and economic changes are causing an increasing shortage of well trained workers within Washington. The working age population is growing at a decreasing rate due to the aging of the post World War II baby boom generation and due to a lower rate of birth. The current economic boom in the state is aggravating this long-term trend by lowering the rate of unemployed individuals seeking work. Because of the developing labor shortage, Washington businesses increasingly need to employ individuals from demographic groups which have been traditionally underrepresented among the employed population. Many of these and other individuals need training in order to have the skills required by employers. Despite economic growth, significant unemployment remains a serious and persistent problem in many areas of the state. By making first rate training available to individuals who lack suitable skills for employment in well-paying careers, the state will enhance employment opportunities for low-income individuals, unemployed persons, dislocated workers, and others enabling more citizens of the state to enjoy our economic prosperity.

The legislature further finds that our state's businesses have a growing need for highly trained workers because of the increasing technological complexity of occupations and due to increasing world market competition. Because of these technical and economic changes, businesses in the future will need to fully utilize the capacities of their workers for skilled, flexible, and intelligent work.

The legislature further finds that the vast majority of the work force for the year 2000 and beyond is already of the age eighteen years or older. For the work force of the future to be well trained will require a first-rate adult training system. This system will need to train those individuals who are entering and reentering the labor market and those individuals already employed who need new or updated skills to meet changing technological and economic conditions. For the training system to be first rate will require a system that is well coordinated between service providers, is accountable for its performance, and is responsive to the needs of businesses and the work force. The training system must emphasize training in broad-based skills with long-term career potential. For the state to have a first rate training system requires a thorough study of our present and future training needs; experimentation in new ways of providing training; and leadership and recommendations from representatives of business, workers, and training providers.

The legislature further finds that adults without the basic skills needed for training in job skills are more likely to need unemployment compensation and welfare payments, and to fill our state's correctional institutions. The legislature intends to assess adult educational opportunities in the state for adults lacking basic literacy skills, for adults who have not received a high school diploma, and for adults who have received a high school diploma but whose level of achievement, based on standard measures, indicates that additional basic skills are necessary in order to enter a job training program.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. Unless the context clearly requires otherwise, the definitions in this section apply throughout this chapter.

(1) "Basic literacy" means achievement at a tenth grade educational level as measured by standardized tests.

(2) "Council" means the advisory council on investment in human capital.

(3) "Training" means any education, literacy, or skill training or retraining activity that is needed by an individual to begin or continue full participation in the Washington work force.

(4) "Training system" means the network of public and private providers of training, and includes secondary vocational education programs for gainful employment upon completion of a designated program sequence, but not other programs of primary or secondary education.

(5) "Training providers" includes agencies and institutions of secondary vocational education programs for gainful employment upon completion of a designated program sequence, adult education, vocational technical institutes, community colleges, apprenticeship programs, private and public nonprofit organizations that are representative of communities or significant segments of communities and provide job training services, and private for-profit organizations that provide training as their primary service.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. There is created the advisory council on investment in human capital. The council shall consist of six voting members, twelve nonvoting members, and a nonvoting chairperson. The speaker of the house of representatives shall appoint two of the nonvoting members, one from each caucus of the house of representatives; and the president of the senate shall appoint two of the nonvoting members, one from each caucus of the senate. The governor shall appoint the remaining members of the council. Three of the voting members shall be representatives of business, and three of the voting members shall be representatives of labor. Four of the nonvoting members shall be the state superintendent of public instruction, the executive director of the state board for community college education, the commissioner of the department of employment security, and the director of the department of labor and industries. Four of the nonvoting members shall be a representative of the general public, a representative of a broad-based coalition of groups providing literacy services, a representative of private or public nonprofit organizations that are representative of communities or significant segments of communities and provide job training services, and a representative of private for-profit organizations that provide job training services as their primary service. The governor or the governor's designee shall serve as the nonvoting chairperson of the council. The council shall meet as necessary to carry out its purposes. Travel expenses shall be reimbursed in accordance with RCW 43.03.050 and 43.03.060 for council members who are not legislators, and in accordance with RCW 44.04.120 for council members who are legislators.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4. (1) The council shall advise the office of financial management concerning the study of training authorized under section 5 of this act.

(2) The council shall advise the office of financial management and other appropriate state agencies concerning the pilot programs established under sections 6 through 8 of this act.

(3) The council shall make recommendations on changes necessary in state policies for training to the legislature, the office of financial management, and the governor by December 1, 1990.

(4) The office of financial management and the office of the governor shall provide staff to the council as necessary to carry out the purposes of sections 4 through 8 of this act.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 5. The office of financial management shall, with the advice of the council, administer a study of the training needs of the state's work force, businesses, and the economy, including an evaluation and inventory of the training system. The office of financial management shall complete the study by December 1, 1990, and present the study to the council and the governor. For purposes of the study, the office of financial management shall use already existing data whenever appropriate. As necessary, the labor market and economic analysis unit of the department of employment security shall assist the office of financial management with labor market and economic data, and state agencies that provide training shall assist the office of financial management with data on their training programs. The office of financial management shall request assistance in obtaining information on training programs, labor markets, and employment data from federal and local agencies and private institutions. The director of the office of financial management may contract for services necessary for the completion of the study, and shall contract for services as necessary to ensure objectivity in evaluating the training system. The study shall include:

(1) An assessment of the employment competency needs of the present and emerging Washington work force, including regional and demographic subgroups of the state work force, and projections of these competencies to the year 2010. Employment competency needs shall include, but not be limited to, literacy, basic skills, and vocational skills;

(2) An assessment of the current work force skill needs of Washington businesses and public employers, including subgroups by region, industry, and firm size, and projections of these needs to the year 2010. Work force skill needs shall include, but not be limited to, literacy, basic skills, and vocational skills;

(3) An assessment of the gaps which may exist between the competencies of the work force and the work force skill needs of Washington businesses between now and the year 2010 given current training policies;

(4) An assessment of the characteristics, size, and geographic distribution of Washington population groups which are in need of training between now and the year 2010;

(5) An inventory and analysis of alternative training programs, policies, and funding mechanisms including, but not limited to, financial contributions from businesses, workers, and trainees, which have been proposed or are in use in other states or other nations;

(6) An assessment of current data, information, monitoring, and evaluation systems so that training needs and training providers may be assessed on an ongoing, systematic, objective, and comprehensive basis. This assessment shall include integrating an evaluation component into each of the pilot programs authorized under sections 6 through 8 of this act;

(7) An inventory and analysis of the current training system in terms of organization, coordination, responsiveness, accountability, effectiveness, resources, support services for trainees, and access, including access for subgroups of the population, including but not limited to subgroups by gender, race, ethnicity, and income level, and including an analysis of the job readiness of students graduating from the state's K-12 system, particularly students who have completed a vocational education designated program sequence for gainful employment, and an inventory of training provided by employers whose primary product is not training;

(8) Recommendations for reducing the percentage of the adult population lacking basic literacy skills to five percent by the year 2010. The recommendations shall provide a framework for interagency collaboration and include:

(a) Recommendations on state policies and objectives to guide the adult literacy activities of the state;

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Rasmussen: "Senator Lee, on page seven, on line seven and on down, it says, 'The Office of Financial Management shall complete the study by December 1, 1990, and present the study to the council and the Governor.' You indicated that report was to come to the Legislature, also. Would you mind an amendment putting the Legislature in there, also?"

Senator Lee: "Senator Rasmussen, the study itself is to be done by OFM and then it goes to the council and the council is to make recommendations. The council is to submit--it says over on the preceding page--on page six--about line twenty-four, 'The council shall make recommendations on changes necessary in state policies for training to the Legislature, the Office of Financial Management, and the Governor by December 1, 1990.' So, we just didn't think we needed all of the data to start with. It will certainly be available to us, but I think we are more interested in the conclusions, than all of the raw data, but it would be available. We didn't think they wanted to have to reprint several thousand of pages and send it to every one of us, so we put it in subsection 3 of Section 4, rather than in Section 5."

Senator Rasmussen: "Senator Lee, if I may, I wouldn't think there'd be several thousand pages if the Office of Financial Management would report on a study. I would think they they would be able to keep that down. That's what they're supposed to be good at."

Senator Lee: "Except that Section 5 is the raw data as opposed to the recommendations."

Senator Rasmussen: "Sometimes we like to get those unwashed reports. After they massage them, they don't look the same."

Senator Lee: "And it will be available to us."

Senator Rasmussen: "Will it?"

Senator Lee: "Yes."

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

"Sec. 1. Section 15, chapter 189, Laws of 1967 as last amended by section 7, chapter 477, Laws of 1987 and RCW 36.93.150 are each amended to read as follows:

The board, upon review of any proposed action, shall take such of the following actions as it deems necessary to best carry out the intent of this chapter:

(1) Approval of the proposal as submitted;

(2) Subject to RCW 35.02.170, modification of the proposal by adjusting boundaries to add or delete territory: PROVIDED, That any proposal for annexation by the board shall be subject to RCW 35.21.010 and shall not add additional territory, the amount of which is greater than that included in the original proposal: PROVIDED FURTHER, That such modifications shall not interfere with the authority of a city, town, or special purpose district to require or not require preannexation agreements, covenants, or petitions; AND PROVIDED FURTHER, That a board shall not modify the proposed incorporation of a city with an estimated population of seven thousand five hundred or more by removing territory from the proposal, or adding territory to the proposal, that constitutes ten percent or more of the total area included within the proposal before the board, but shall not reduce the territory in such a manner as to reduce the population below seven thousand five hundred;

(3) Determination of a division of assets and liabilities between two or more governmental units where relevant;

(4) Determination whether, or the extent to which, functions of a special purpose district are to be assumed by an incorporated city or town, metropolitan municipal corporation, or another existing special purpose district; or

(5) Disapproval of the proposal except that the board shall not have jurisdiction: (a) To disapprove the dissolution or disincorporation of a special purpose district which is not providing services but shall have jurisdiction over the determination of a division of the assets and liabilities of a dissolved or disincorporated special purpose district (~~PROVIDED, That a board shall not have jurisdiction~~); (b) over the division of assets and liabilities of a special purpose district that is dissolved or disincorporated pursuant to chapter 36.96 RCW; nor (c) to disapprove the incorporation of a city with an estimated population of seven thousand five hundred or more, but the board may recommend against the proposed incorporation of a city with such an estimated population.

Unless the board shall disapprove a proposal, it shall be presented under the appropriate statute for approval of a public body and, if required, a vote of the people. A proposal that has been modified shall be presented under the appropriate statute for approval of a public body and if required, a vote of the people. If a proposal, other than that for a city, town, or special purpose district annexation, after modification does not contain enough signatures of persons within the modified area, as are required by law, then the initiating party, parties or governmental unit has thirty days after the modification decision to secure enough signatures to satisfy the legal requirement. If the signatures cannot be secured then the proposal may be submitted to a vote of the people, as required by law.

The addition or deletion of property by the board shall not invalidate a petition which had previously satisfied the sufficiency of signature provisions of RCW 35.13.130 or 35A.14.120. When the board, after due proceedings held, disapproves a proposed action, such proposed action shall be unavailable, the proposing agency shall be without power to initiate the same or substantially the same as determined by the board, and any succeeding acts intended to or tending to effectuate that action shall be void, but such action may be reinitiated after a period of twelve months from date of disapproval and shall again be subject to the same consideration.

The board shall not modify or deny a proposed action unless there is evidence on the record to support a conclusion that the action is inconsistent with one or more of the objectives under RCW 36.93.180. Every such determination to modify or deny a proposed action shall be made in writing pursuant to a motion, and shall be supported by appropriate written findings and conclusions, based on the record.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. A new section is added to chapter 36.93 RCW to read as follows:

The action of a boundary review board to disapprove the proposed incorporation of a city with a population of seven thousand five hundred or more, that had the notice of proposed action under RCW 36.93.090 filed with the boundary review board after July 1, 1989, shall be deemed to be a recommendation against the proposed incorporation, and a ballot proposition to authorize the incorporation shall be submitted to voters at the next November general election date specified under RCW 29.13.020 occurring after the effective date of this section.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. If any provision of this act or its application to any person or circumstance is held invalid, the remainder of the act or the application of the provision to other persons or circumstances is not affected.

MOTION

On motion of Senator Nelson, Engrossed Substitute Senate Bill No. 6536 was advanced to third reading, the second reading considered the third, and the bill was placed on final passage.

Debate ensued.

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Hansen: "Senator Gaspard, what are doing? Are we taking the money that's raised by DNR and the timberlands? Isn't that dedicated for the building of schools and things? What are we doing, taking that dedication off? That fund is already--we're so far behind on it that we can't build schools. What are we doing, taking the rest of the money out now?"

Senator Gaspard: "Senator Hansen, in response, the measure before us does not change, in any way, the Department of Revenue's responsibility to trust lands that it is currently responsible in managing and that we do receive, off of the timber sales and harvesting, the money that goes into the common school construction fund in order to fund the capital projects for the K through 12 public school program.

"This is enacting a new procedure--a new category of timberland--which we have never had before and putting it into a different type of category than what we are doing right now. It is contingent on state general fund dollars in the budget. It has nothing to do, of taking away from the current system that we hold--school trust lands and the common school construction funds. This, in no way, eliminates or deteriorates their position. This is a new fund, a new procedure, and the revenue from the harvesting of these particular trees, or the selling of these trees, would go into a new fund established for the community college system. It does not at all affect the K through 12 system."

Further debate ensued.

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Patterson: "Senator Gaspard, a few years ago the DNR was here asking us to address the issue of transitional lands, encroachment of the cities on the traditional lands that were being used for reforestation and what have you. Is this a replacement for that program, to your knowledge?"

Senator Gaspard: "No, it is not. It is a new program. As a matter of fact, Senator Patterson, in the bill, we mention that the timberlands that they will be purchasing have to be manageable timberlands. There has been a concern that the department would buy transitional lands in urban areas and would never be able to be harvested in order to have funds going into the account. That is not the case. The language states that they have to be manageable timberlands--and it is a new program. It is not now in statute. This will put it in statute, but again I must have one caveat here. It will not operate unless there are funds out of the state general fund budget in order to buy these types of timberlands."

Senator Patterson: "So, this becomes dedicated lands like all of the trust funds that we have for the institutions of higher learning? Now, this would be dedicated to community colleges?"

Senator Gaspard: "Yes, the proceeds of the sales on these timberlands will be dedicated to community colleges."

Further debate ensued.

The President declared the question before the Senate to be the roll call on the final passage of Engrossed Substitute Senate Bill No. 6536.

ROLL CALL

The Secretary called the roll on the final passage of Engrossed Substitute Senate Bill No. 6536 and the bill passed the Senate by the following vote: Yeas, 42; nays, 6; excused, 1.

Renumber the remaining subsections accordingly

MOTION

On motion of Senator Smith, Engrossed Second Substitute Senate Bill No. 6538 was advanced to third reading, the second reading considered the third, and the bill was placed on final passage.

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Talmadge: "Senator Smith, as you may recall, in the Ways and Means Committee, I raised the question about whether or not when we speak in terms of a conviction under the bill that we're talking about the jury's finding and the judge's sentence or whether we're waiting until the whole-time period of the appeal of the offender goes forth. I'd like to make sure for the record, that we're just talking about the jury's determination and the judge's sentence and we're not going to wait that whole year or more period for these individuals before this kind of speedy termination of rights could occur."

Senator Smith: "The intent--that is the intent, Senator Talmadge, and I had felt that if I didn't reach that intent, I would certainly see an amendment from you. So, that is the intent of the measure."

The President declared the question before the Senate to be the roll call on the final passage of Engrossed Second Substitute Senate Bill No. 6538.

*NEW SECTION. Sec. 12. (1) When a proper at-risk youth petition is filed by a child's parent under RCW 13.32A.120 or 13.32A.150, the juvenile court shall:

- (a) Schedule a fact-finding hearing and notify the parent and the child of such date;
- (b) Notify the parent of the right to be represented by counsel at the parent's own expense;
- (c) Appoint legal counsel for the child;
- (d) Inform the child and his or her parent of the legal consequences of the court finding the child to be an at-risk youth; and
- (e) Notify the parent and the child of their rights to present evidence at the fact-finding hearing.

(2) Unless out-of-home placement of the child is otherwise authorized or required by law, the child shall reside in the home of his or her parent or in an alternative residential placement approved by the parent. Upon request by the parent, the court may enter a court order requiring the child to reside in the home of his or her parent or an alternative residential placement approved by the parent.

(3) If a child has been absent from the home of the parent for more than seventy-two consecutive hours without parental consent and the parent has made unsuccessful attempts to have the child return home, the parent may request law enforcement to take the child into custody and place the child in detention or in a crisis residential center licensed by the department and established pursuant to chapter 74.13 RCW. If the child is placed in detention, a review shall be held as provided in RCW 13.32A.065.

(4) If both an alternative residential placement petition and an at-risk youth petition have been filed with regard to the same child, the proceedings shall be consolidated for purposes of fact-finding. Pending a fact-finding hearing regarding the petition, the child may be placed, if not already placed, in an alternative residential placement as provided in RCW 13.32A.160 unless the court has previously entered an order requiring the child to reside in the home of his or her parent. The child or the parent may request a review of the child's placement including a review of any court order requiring the child to reside in the parent's home. At the review the court, in its discretion, may order the child placed in the parent's home or in an alternative residential placement pending the hearing."

Renumber the sections consecutively and correct internal references accordingly.

On page 16, after line 16, insert the following:

*NEW SECTION. Sec. 20. If any provision of this act or its application to any person or circumstance is held invalid, the remainder of the act or the application of the provision to other persons or circumstances is not affected.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 21. Section 13 of this act shall take effect only if section 12 of this act is found to be invalid or inoperative."

Renumber the sections consecutively and correct internal references accordingly.

MOTIONS

On motion of Senator Smith, Engrossed Second Substitute Senate Bill No. 6610 was advanced to third reading, the second reading considered the third, and the bill was placed on final passage.

Debate ensued.

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Murray: "Mr. President, I have some concerns with this bill and I'm trying to read through it quickly and understand. Perhaps somebody can respond to them. If this bill passes, the way I read it, it would essentially take DSHS out of the circle. If we do that I have a concern that no one will be funding the people's placement into the alternative residential placement centers. Perhaps the sponsor of that bill could answer that question. It seems to me if we take DSHS out of this circle--before they were subsidizing many of the placements--therefore who will be paying for the placements in each center?"

Senator Craswell: "Senator Murray, that was the original bill. The substitute version does not take DSHS out of the circle. It just allows the parents to petition the court and put the child into the DSHS Family Reconciliation Services. Mainly, that probably won't change that part of the law--I mean--probably that part of the law will still function and the main difference is that DSHS, through the courts, can assist them in keeping the child at home. Now, they can provide the services if they want, but it's a parent paid service, so there should be very little additional cost and I think we will have everybody working together this time."

Further debate ensued.

The President declared the question before the Senate to be the roll call on the final passage of Engrossed Second Substitute Senate Bill No. 6610.

MOTION

On motion of Senator Smith, Substitute Senate Bill No. 6475 was advanced to third reading, the second reading considered the third, and the bill was placed on final passage.

Debate ensued.

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Murray: "Senator Anderson, I think that the intent of this is really good. I just have a question on the definition of 'one family.' I'm concerned that 'one family'--I have six brothers and sisters and if all of their kids got together in one room, we'd have twenty-four kids. Does this mean two parents or one parent and their children or does it extend throughout that whole definition?"

Senator Anderson: "Senator Murray, 'one family' is a relative and your concern about six brothers and sisters getting together and caring for one family, if that's the choice of the parent and they are comfortable with the arrangement, that arrangement between families--and everybody's comfortable--I think that the state has no role in stepping into that."

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Rinehart: "Senator Anderson, is there any limit on the number of children who might be involved in this kind of an arrangement?"

Senator Anderson: "No."

Senator Rinehart: "There is no limit and--"

Senator Anderson: "As many as a family could have, I guess, that's how many a family could arrange for."

Senator Rinehart: "So, there's no limit on the number of children? If I might ask one further question. Did you actually give us a definition of 'family?'"

Senator Anderson: "No, I did not."

Senator Rinehart: "Is there a definition of family? As I read it, one person could bring three of their children, three of their neighbor's children, three of the children down the street, and if the provider didn't advertise, you could have an unlimited number of children receiving unregulated care."

Senator Anderson: "Senator Rinehart, this recommendation came from the FIP Child Care Initiative Steering Committee. The intent was to make it easier for one family to make arrangements with another family for their child care."

Further debate ensued.

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Talmadge: "Senator Smith, I guess I'm something at a loss, because I've been reading the bill--the existing language--and on page two, line seventeen through the bottom of the page, it talks about people who are already exempt from the law. It already exempts from the definition of agency for purposes of registration, persons related by blood or marriage to the child, etc.; persons who are legal guardians; persons who care for a neighbor's or friend's child or children, with or without compensation, where the person does not engage in such activity on a regular basis, or where parents on a mutually cooperative basis exchange care of one another's children, etc. What is this language intending to accomplish beyond that which is already exempted under the existing law?"

Senator Smith: "Thank you, Senator Talmadge, it is a very good question. The exemption that says on a regular basis has been determined to mean that if you get compensation on a regular basis whether it be every Saturday night while the parents go bowling or whether it be daily, that they would have to come under the licensing and when finding those people that are baby sitting on a regular basis, they are considering them to have to be compensated or have to be licensed."

Further debate ensued.

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Vognild: "Senator Smith, the bill apparently does not properly define 'families.' Was it your intent that the definition of 'one family' be the immediate children of the family involved?"

Senator Smith: "Yes."

The President Pro Tempore declared the question before the Senate to be the roll call on the final passage of Substitute Senate Bill No. 6475.

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Rasmussen: "Senator McDonald, what type of search and rescue is this going to be? Is it going to be all encompassing or is it going to just be those people that crash in an airplane up on a mountain or something?"

Senator McDonald: "No, I believe that--it says, 'incurred during search and rescue missions for licensed hunters, fishers and those who are contributing to the fund.'"

Senator Rasmussen: "We will only search then for those who have bought a hunting or fishing license or combination?"

Senator McDonald: "I suspect that we will search for all of them. Perhaps if we find them and they don't have a fishing license, we'll make them buy one, but I think we'll be out there looking for them."

Senator Rasmussen: "Let me ask a further question. It is my understanding that if they use a helicopter or other devices that they charge that cost to the person if they have the ability to pay."

Senator McDonald: "Could you repeat the question one more time, Senator Rasmussen?"

Senator Rasmussen: "Well, I'd have to go back to the main question. If the hunters and fishermen are going to pay the search and rescue for everybody, that's one thing. The other thing is I think that they charge back the cost on these search and rescues if the people have the ability to pay."

Senator McDonald: "I believe that is correct and they also will have a surcharge of twenty-five cents to hunting and fishing licenses, but they can also come back to the state for search and rescue missions that were exceptionally costly."

Senator Rasmussen: "There's no provision in the bill saying you'll charge it to the stupid people that are out there that get lost?"

Senator McDonald: "Well, I think that the agency--the department--can promulgate rules and regulations to recover funds. I think--"

Senator Rasmussen: "I wouldn't put you on the spot--I know you read your compass."

Senator McDonald: "Well, as a matter of fact, Senator Rasmussen, just for your information, I was one of those stupid people out stumbling around through the forest one night. Fortunately, I found my way out, but I sure as heck would have been willing to pay for a fishing license if somebody would have come up and got me, so I'll look forward to doing that."

Senator Rasmussen: "I don't know what you had at the camp fire, but you wouldn't get lost ordinarily."

The President declared the question before the Senate to be the roll call on the final passage of Senate Bill No. 6038.

*Sec. 1. Section 46.64.020, chapter 12, Laws of 1961 as last amended by section 1, chapter 38, Laws of 1988 and RCW 46.64.020 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) The legislature finds that:

(a) Traffic laws are necessary for the safe and expeditious flow of motor vehicle traffic.

(b) For traffic laws to be effective, they must be judiciously and fairly enforced. This enforcement includes the issuance of notices of infraction and citations and the assessment of fines and penalties.

(c) The adjudication of notices of infraction through a written and signed promise to respond, and of citations through a written and signed promise to appear, as provided in this title is an integral and important part of the traffic law system.

(d) Approximately twenty percent of all people issued notices of infraction and citations violate their written and signed promise to respond or appear and obtain notices of failure to respond or appear on their driving records. Through their actions, these people are destroying the effectiveness of the traffic law system and undermining the department of licensing regulatory control of drivers' licenses.

(e) Notices of failure to respond or appear accumulated on a person's driving record shall be considered if they were issued after July 25, 1987.

(2) Any person violating his or her written and signed promise to appear in court or his or her written and signed promise to respond to a notice of traffic infraction, as provided in this title, is guilty of a misdemeanor regardless of the disposition of the charge upon which he or she was originally arrested or the disposition of the notice of infraction: PROVIDED, That a written promise to appear in court or a written promise to respond to a notice of traffic infraction may be complied with by an appearance by counsel: PROVIDED FURTHER, That a person charged under RCW 46.20.021 with driving with an expired driver's license may respond by mailing to the court within fifteen days of the violation, a copy of the person's currently valid driver's license. Any person who has been issued a notice of infraction pursuant to RCW 46.63.030(3) and who fails to respond as provided in this title is guilty of a misdemeanor regardless of the disposition of the notice of infraction.

(3) Any person who drives a motor vehicle within the state and has accumulated two or more notices of failure to appear or respond on his or her driving record maintained by the department of licensing in any five-year period as a result of noncompliance with the traffic ((infraction)) laws in any jurisdiction or court within Washington, or in any jurisdiction or court within other states which are signatories with Washington in a nonresident violator compact or reciprocal agreement under chapter 46.23 RCW, shall be guilty of failure to comply, a gross misdemeanor. A person is not subject to this subsection for failure to pay a fine for any pedestrian, bicycling, or parking offense.

Probable cause for arrest under this subsection is established by the officer obtaining, orally or in writing, information from the department of licensing that two or more notices of failure to appear or respond are on the person's driving record. For purposes of this chapter, failure to satisfy any penalties imposed under this title is considered equivalent to failure to appear or respond.

Venue for prosecution shall be in the court with jurisdiction in the area of apprehension."

On motion of Senator Patterson, Substitute Senate Bill No. 5554 was advanced to third reading, the second reading considered the third, and the bill was placed on final passage.

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Vognild: "Senator Patterson, I apparently do not have this bill in my bill book, at least I can't locate it in the bill book, but looking at the digest, it says, 'The responsibility for providing facilities to test track scales and all costs of the program are apportioned among all track scale owners benefiting from the test facilities.' My concern is, does that pass on otherwise unknown costs to the shippers, particularly when you are dealing with bulk, be it bulk grain or wheat or something like that? Could you, somehow incur costs that you didn't anticipate when you made the shipping contract?"

Senator Patterson: "Well, that is not my understanding, Senator, that there are any hidden costs or charges. Currently, there is a pro-ratio. The railroads only own about six of some thirty some testing facilities and they currently pro-rate those charges and, to my knowledge, the transfer of the function from one agency to the other will not impact the charges for the shipper. That is the way I understand it."

Senator Vognild: "I guess, Senator, what bothers me was that there was such a small number that were owned, if the department required others to be put in place, who has to pay for them? That is where my concern was."

Senator Patterson: "It is not contemplated that there will be a requirement for additional scales to be put in place. Maybe Senator Hansen can respond to this. He is quite familiar with the operation."

REMARKS BY SENATOR HANSEN

Senator Hansen: "Thank you, Mr. President and ladies and gentlemen. The essence of this bill is to move the liability to the Department of Agriculture, which is responsible for the weights and measures in the state. The costs, I think, Senator Vognild, are assessed against the railroad, but assessed against the price of the commodities that they are hauling. That will pay for this weights and measures. Now, the UTCC isn't the weights and measures people, so we have the UTCC controlling something that the Department of Agriculture and weights and measures controls, so this is merely moving back to the Department of Agriculture and weights and measures to do the checking of these railroad scales into the right department."

The President declared the question before the Senate to be the roll call on the final passage of Substitute Senate Bill No. 5554.

MOTION

On motion of Senator Bluechel, Engrossed Senate Bill No. 6654 was advanced to third reading, the second reading considered the third, and the bill was placed on final passage.

Debate ensued.

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Smitherman: "Senator Talmadge, the way it is constructed now with this amendment, it seems to me that the only thing 501 (c) (3) could do is something that is related to its operations and that type of thing. Therefore, you would be saying they could do something like build a building for themselves. I would wonder how that would fit in with the idea of them having to levy the potential for paying off the facility, if it is just for an internal operation."

Senator Talmadge: "In response to your question, Senator Smitherman, I think this was language that was recommended to us by the staff of the Senate Ways and Means Committee. This would be for the purpose of the entity so, for an example, if it were a facility that was designed to provide services to children, they could build buildings that might be necessary to carry out that purpose. Say, for example, a group care facility or whatever. The concern would be that they would get a little bit expensive and to use the authority to issue bonds to build facilities other than those that were specifically necessary to the tax exempt purpose of the entity. That is why this is tied down the way it is."

Senator Smitherman: "I guess I wondered because some of the non-profit mentioned specifically in the bill--you have the ones that deal with housing and you've excused them. Does this intend to include CDOs as well? For example, they might want to build a marketplace. Would they be included now with this amendment?"

Senator Talmadge: "It depends on what the stated corporate purpose of the enterprise was. If it was within the articles of incorporation of that entity and had been part of the basic purpose for which 501 (c)(3) tax exempt status had been conferred, it would be possible to use the bonds for that purpose."

Further debate ensued.

On motion of Senator West, Engrossed Senate Bill No. 6834 was advanced to third reading, the second reading considered the third, and the bill was placed on final passage.

Debate ensued.

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Talmadge: "Senator West, the one question I had about this bill. With Senator Fleming's amendment in the bill, it would preclude someone from altering a health insurance policy that presently existed with respect to a group of employees--twenty-five employees or less. There would be no ability to impair the right to collectively bargain. Is there anything, in your judgment, in this legislation that would preclude an employer at the time of the next renewal of the policy from deciding to eliminate whatever policy that employer had at that time which may provide for all of these mandated benefits and go to this level of coverage? In other words, to drop down at the time of the renewal of the policy?"

Senator West: "Senator Talmadge, the real world is employers do that today, but the result is that they go to zero. This would give them an opportunity to go someplace above zero, because frankly there are employers out there with rising costs of health care insurance, that when it comes to renewal time, they call their employees in--it is tough to do--the sad thing to do and they look at their employees and they say, 'Guys, I only got so much money in the till and I haven't got enough to buy your health care this time around.'"

MOTION

On motion of Senator Lee, Second Substitute Senate Joint Resolution No. 8212, on reconsideration, was advanced to third reading, the second reading considered the third, and the joint resolution was placed on final passage.

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Rasmussen: "Does this require five or more units?"

Senator Lee: "Senator Rasmussen, yes, and that would be part of the constitutional amendment. In order to qualify, it would have to have at least five or more units to be considered low-income housing. It does not apply to an individual home or duplex or triplex."

Senator Rasmussen: "If I had two or three homes and I desired to provide for low-income housing, I would not be permitted to do so and get a tax credit?"

Senator Lee: "Not unless it was part of a total comprehensive development. For example, a low-income mobile home park would qualify, because it is under one ownership and in that case it would."

Senator Rasmussen: "If I had very valuable property that sits in the middle of--say Sixth and Pike or Broadway or whatever--and it had five units, I could get this tax exemption?"

Senator Lee: "Only if it was all devoted to low-income housing. You couldn't have five little apartments up on the sixth floor and everything else devoted--"

Senator Rasmussen: "If I want to hold that property for ten years and it was increasing in value during that ten years, it still maintains that low value of taxes? If I was at Broad and Wall in New York, I could hold my property right in the middle of very valuable million dollar property for ten years and then sell it at the increased value under this proposal?"

Senator Lee: "The proposal we have before us doesn't address that question at all, Senator Rasmussen. However, the implementing bill does address it and I can answer that question probably more properly when we come to that measure."

Further debate ensued.

ROLL CALL

The Secretary called the roll on the final passage of Second Substitute Senate Joint Resolution No. 8212, on reconsideration, and the joint resolution passed the Senate by the following vote: Yeas, 46; nays, 3.

SECOND SUBSTITUTE SENATE JOINT RESOLUTION NO. 8212, on reconsideration, having received the constitutional majority, was declared passed.

SECOND READING

SENATE BILL NO. 5550, by Senators Lee, Williams and Fleming

Providing a procedure for the classification and valuation of property devoted primarily to low-income housing.

MOTIONS

On motion of Senator Lee, Third Substitute Senate Bill No. 5550 was substituted for Senate Bill No. 5550 and the third substitute bill was placed on second reading and read the second time.

On motion of Senator Lee, Third Substitute Senate Bill No. 5550 was advanced to third reading, the second reading considered the third, and the bill was placed on final passage.

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Madsen: "Senator Lee, I am a supporter of this concept of current use and always have been, but I would like to ask you how does this work? On page four, it deals with the mobile home park. If I buy five acres and create spaces with pads and bring the water in and etc. but I own no mobile homes and fifty people move in, five of which are low-income, can I get the current use assessment on my land?"

Senator Lee: "No."

Senator Madsen: "But where does it say I can't do that?"

Senator Lee: "It says that the mobile home park is devoted to low-income housing and that is on line twenty-eight."

Senator Madsen: "If everyone in the mobile home park are senior citizens--in my area--military kids that are low-income--do I just hang a shingle out and say that I am low-income now and I have five people who are low-income--they own the homes, but I own the land and I want the current use applied to the land?"

Senator Lee: "The mobile home park, itself, has to be devoted to that kind of housing."

Senator Madsen: "How is that done? I guess the question is, do I just hang out a shingle? If I hang a shingle out and say, 'This is a low-income park,' then am I a low-income park?"

Senator Lee: "No, it is up to--there are two persons who determine whether or not that advertising that you are putting out is true or false. One is the local government; it has to have given you that designation in the first place. You have to go in and apply for it and you have to satisfy the local county or city that, indeed, that is the kind of park that you are running, before you can hang out such a sign. Secondly, the determination of what is low-income is made according to a state standard, so you could just not hang out a sign, because you want to. You have to have approval from your local government to satisfy them."

Further debate ensued.

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Rasmussen: "Senator Lee, does this cover 208 housing--federal housing?"

Senator Lee: "I'm not familiar enough with those--"

Senator Rasmussen: "Subsidized--"

Senator Lee: "I'm not familiar enough with those regulations to be able to tell you."

Senator Rasmussen: "You've already said that the constitutional amendment does not cover individual housing and I think that is my problem. We have a large number of people that have one or two houses and are renting to low-income people. They do not have the benefit of getting this tax exemption and I would hope that the House would take a look at both the constitutional amendment and I know that there are a large number of people that have section 208 houses that are rent-subsidized for low-income and they would not be covered under this. The House should make the change in that--cover it under the constitutional amendment and also in the bill, so that you give equal treatment and equal rights to those people that want to provide low income housing and they are not going to get it under either one of these proposals the way they are now."

Further debate ensued.

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator McCaslin: "Senator Madsen, is a mobile home a building?"

Senator Madsen: "Well, a mobile home really is personal property, so it is not considered real property except when you are trying to apply the senior citizen exemption, which only applies to real property and we jerry-rigged the law so it can apply to personal property."

Senator McCaslin: "Have they jerry-rigged it enough so that we will now not count that as personal property, but as real property attached to the land?"

Senator Madsen: "As far as I know, mobile homes will be personal property."

The President declared the question before the Senate to be the roll call on the final passage of Third Substitute Senate Bill No. 5550.

SECOND READING

SENATE BILL NO. 6767, by Senators Niemi, Nelson, Talmadge, Newhouse and Rasmussen

Creating a juvenile justice review commission.

MOTIONS

On motion of Senator Nelson, Second Substitute Senate Bill No. 6767 was substituted for Senate Bill No. 6767 and the second substitute bill was placed on second reading and read the second time.

On motion of Senator Niemi, the following amendment by Senators Niemi and Nelson was adopted:

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. In 1977, the legislature created an innovative and comprehensive juvenile justice system to establish special sanctions and procedures for juveniles who engage in criminal activity, while at the same time recognizing the existence and unique needs of dependent children. During the past thirteen years, the legislature has amended the juvenile justice act numerous times to improve its effectiveness in providing punishment and rehabilitation for juveniles who commit criminal acts, and also to improve the procedures and programs for assisting dependent children. While such amendments have generally improved the operation of the juvenile justice system, often the amendments did not address the juvenile justice system in a comprehensive manner to provide accountability, treatment, and rehabilitation.

The legislature finds and declares that it has been thirteen years since the enactment of the juvenile justice act, and it is appropriate and timely that a comprehensive study be conducted to review the sanctions, programs, and operation of the act in light of the changing needs of juveniles and society. The legislature finds that a commission should be created consisting of persons with experience and expertise in juvenile justice issues to ensure that the state of Washington continues to have a progressive and effective juvenile justice statute.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. (1) A juvenile justice act review commission is created. It shall consist of:

(a) Four legislators who shall serve on the executive committee, one from each of the two largest caucuses in the house of representatives and the senate. The members shall be selected by the president of the senate and the speaker of the house of representatives;

(b) Two superior court judges, who shall have experience in juvenile court proceedings. The members shall be selected from different geographical areas of the state by the Washington state superior court judges association;

(c) Two prosecuting attorneys, or their designees, selected from different geographical areas of the state by the Washington association of prosecuting attorneys;

(d) Two members, selected by the executive committee, one of whom shall represent cities and one of whom shall represent counties;

(e) One member, selected by the secretary of corrections, to represent the department of corrections, who shall be familiar with confinement and treatment of criminal offenders;

(f) One member, selected by the secretary of social and health services, to represent the department of social and health services, who has experience and training with the confinement and treatment services offered by the division of juvenile rehabilitation;

(g) Two juvenile court administrators, selected by the juvenile court administrators' association;

(h) One mental health specialist, selected by the executive committee, who shall be familiar with mental health issues commonly affecting juvenile offenders;

(i) Two attorneys, selected by the Washington state bar association, whose practice involves the representation of juvenile offenders. At least one member shall be an attorney who represents a public defender organization; and

(j) Two members, selected by the governor, to represent the governor, who shall serve on the executive committee.

(2) The legislative members shall select a chair from the membership of the commission.

(3) The commission shall be staffed by the department of social and health services.

(4) The commission members shall receive no compensation, but shall, to the extent funds are available, be reimbursed for their expenses while attending any meetings in the same manner as legislators engaged in interim committee business as specified in RCW 44.04.120.

(5) The commission may receive appropriations, grants, gifts, and other payments from any governmental or other public or private entity or person and such funds may be used to defray the costs of its operations or to contract for technical services, with the approval of the senate committee on facilities and operations and the house of representatives executive rules committee.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. (1) The juvenile justice act review commission shall conduct a comprehensive review of the juvenile justice act of 1977 and dependency provisions in chapter 13.34 RCW. In reviewing the juvenile justice system, the commission shall give particular attention to disposition alternatives, including but not limited to emphasis on early intervention, rehabilitation, community resources, and providing for special sanctions and programs for violent offenders who are sixteen and seventeen years of age.

(2) The legislature hereby reaffirms its intent that the overall goals and policies of the juvenile justice act of 1977 will continue to be followed and that any disposition alternatives or dependency provisions proposed by the commission will adhere to the following purposes:

- (a) Protect the citizenry from criminal behavior;
- (b) Make the juvenile offender accountable for his or her criminal behavior;
- (c) Provide punishment commensurate with the age, maturity level, crime, criminal history of the juvenile offender, and any other relevant considerations;
- (d) Provide necessary treatment, supervision, and custody for juvenile offenders;
- (e) Provide for the handling of juvenile offenders by communities whenever consistent with public safety;
- (f) Provide for restitution to victims of crime; and
- (g) Provide for a clear policy to determine what types of offenders shall receive punishment, treatment, or both.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4. This act shall expire June 30, 1992.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 5. If specific funding for the purposes of this act, referencing this act by bill number, is not provided by June 30, 1990, in the omnibus appropriations act, this act shall be null and void."

MOTIONS

On motion of Senator Nelson, the following title amendment was adopted:

On page 1, line 1 of the title, after "justice," strike the remainder of the title and insert "creating new sections; and providing an expiration date."

On motion of Senator Nelson, Engrossed Second Substitute Senate Bill No. 6767 was advanced to third reading, the second reading considered the third, and the bill was placed on final passage.

The President declared the question before the Senate to be the roll call on the final passage of Engrossed Second Substitute Senate Bill No. 6767.

ROLL CALL

Voting yea: Senators Amondson, Anderson, Bailey, Barr, Bauer, Bender, Benitz, Bluechel, Cantu, Conner, Craswell, DeJarnatt, Fleming, Gaspard, Hansen, Hayner, Johnson, Kreidler, Lee, Madsen, Matson, McCaslin, McDonald, McMullen, Metcalf, Moore, Murray, Nelson, Newhouse, Niemi, Owen, Patrick, Patterson, Rasmussen, Rinehart, Saling, Sellar, Smith, Smitherman, Stratton, Sutherland, Talmadge, Thorsness, Vognild, von Reichbauer, Warnke, West, Williams, Wojahn - 49.

ENGROSSED SECOND SUBSTITUTE SENATE BILL NO. 6767, having received the constitutional majority, was declared passed. There being no objection, the title of the bill was ordered to stand as the title of the act.

SECOND READING

SENATE BILL NO. 6740, by Senator Matson

Regulating medical treatment under the industrial insurance retrospective rating program.

MOTION

Senator Lee moved that Senate Bill No. 6740 not be substituted.

The President declared the question before the Senate to be the motion by Senator Lee that Senate Bill No. 6740 not be substituted.

The motion by Senator Lee carried and Senate Bill No. 6740 was not substituted.

The bill was read the second time.

MOTION

Senator Sutherland moved that the following amendment be adopted:

On page 2, line 22 after "department," strike all material down to and including "court," on line 27, and insert "A medical examination requested by a retrospective rating program employer may only be conducted by a physician or physicians approved by the department."

No worker entitled to benefits or claiming benefits under this title shall be required to submit to a medical examination for the same injury more than four times within any two calendar year period or more than twice within any four month period as a result of any combination of requests from the department or retrospective rating program employer, except as approved by a hearing tribunal, or a court.

Debate ensued.

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Talmadge: "Senator McMullen, I've looked at Senator Sutherland's amendment and the first line of the amendment, the first underlined line, says 'A medical examination requested by retrospective rating program employer may only be conducted by a physician or physicians approved by the department.' My recollection is that an independent medical examination conducted by a panel, if it is a self insured employer, is something that the Department of Labor and Industries, presently approves. Is this new authority to the Department of Labor and Industries to approve individual physicians as well as panels in doing these kinds of examinations?"

Senator McMullen: "The idea is that, currently, independent medical examinations--individual physicians and the panels, which are a private-for profit group. The panels are an entrepreneur business, but the Department approves the physicians that are on those panels as well as the individual doctors that may be selected by the self-insured. We find that this is consistent with the same regulations that apply to self-insuring panels."

The President declared the question before the Senate to be the adoption of the amendment by Senator Sutherland on page 2, line 22, to Substitute Senate Bill No. 6740.

The motion by Senator Sutherland carried and the amendment was adopted.

MOTIONS

On motion of Senator McMullen, the following amendment was adopted:

On page 3, line 23, after "That" insert "at least one week prior to the scheduled examination, the worker has received written notice: (1) Of the date, time, and location of the examination, and (2) that any charges incurred for failure to appear will be deducted from future payments as a penalty for failure to appear without good cause: PROVIDED FURTHER, That"

On motion of Senator McMullen, the following amendment was adopted:

On page 3, line 28, after "section," insert "The worker shall not have "failed to appear" for the purposes of this section if the worker arrives within fifteen minutes after the scheduled time and the examination is not begun within two hours of the scheduled time."

POINT OF ORDER SPECIAL ORDER OF BUSINESS

Senator Newhouse: "Mr. President, I rise to a point of order. We have now reached the time of 4:55 p.m. for the Special Order of Business on Senate Bill No. 6252."

SECOND READING

SENATE BILL NO. 6252, by Senators Patterson, Murray, Wojahn, Barr, Bender and Conner

Enacting a moratorium on siting of hazardous waste disposal facilities.

The bill was read the second time.

MOTIONS

Senator Patterson moved that the following amendment by Senators Patterson, Hayner, Kreidler and Vognild be adopted:

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

"NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. The legislature finds that economic factors considered within the program for permitting the siting and operation of commercial off-site hazardous waste disposal facilities must not be elevated above human health and environmental quality concerns in the eventual siting of such facilities. It is therefore the intent of this act to review the potential siting of such facilities within the agricultural communities and direct the department of ecology to complete a review to determine the impact of such facilities to agricultural lands.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. A new section is added to chapter 70.105 RCW to read as follows:

(1) On or before November 1, 1990, the department shall submit a report to the legislature and governor which includes the following:

(a) An assessment of the risks that airborne contaminants from hazardous waste incineration facilities pose to nearby agricultural lands and their products;

(b) An assessment of the risks that the landfill disposal of the ash from such facilities pose to nearby agricultural lands and their products;

(c) An identification of general areas throughout all geographic regions of the state which may meet the siting criteria for hazardous waste disposal facilities adopted as required by RCW 70.105.210;

(d) An assessment of the origins and quantity of hazardous waste within Washington, Alaska, Oregon, and Idaho which are likely to be disposed at a facility located within Washington. Information pertaining to the origins and quantity of hazardous waste within the region shall be based on information from the Pacific Northwest Hazardous Waste Advisory Council;

(e) The assessment and report shall be based on a review of existing scientific studies and information. Such studies and information collected for assessment on or before June 15, 1990, shall be deemed as "existing scientific studies and information" for the purposes of this section. The assessment and report shall be based on the relative impact on existing background hazardous material levels; and

(f) If the department determines that the siting regulations adopted under RCW 70.105.210 meet the requirements of this subsection (1), then the regulations shall be reported to the legislature in lieu of the report required in this subsection (1).

(2) In preparing the report, the department shall form and incorporate the advice of an advisory committee with balanced representation geographically throughout the state, and which includes representatives of the following interests:

(a) Agriculture;

(b) Local government;

(c) Environmental organizations;

(d) Hazardous waste generators;

(e) Waste management industry, and

(f) The business community.

(3) The department shall also consult with recognized scientific authorities on the environmental and health impacts of the siting and operation of hazardous waste disposal facilities, and review the operational record of such facilities located in other states and countries."

Senator Hansen moved that the following amendment by Senators Hansen and Murray to the striking amendment be adopted:

On page 1, line 19, after "follows:" strike everything down through and including "countries," on page 2, line 26 and insert the following:

"The department shall not issue a permit for the siting and/or operation of a commercial off-site incineration facility to dispose of hazardous wastes on or within ten miles of any farm or agricultural lands, as defined in RCW 84.34.020."

Debate ensued.

The President declared the question before the Senate to be the adoption of the amendment by Senators Hansen and Murray on page 1, line 19, to the striking amendment by Senators Patterson, Hayner, Kreidler and Vognilid.

The motion by Senator Hansen failed and the amendment to the amendment was not adopted.

The President declared the question before the Senate to be the adoption of the striking amendment by Senators Patterson, Hayner, Kreidler and Vognilid to Senate Bill No. 6252.

Debate ensued.

The striking amendment to Senate Bill No. 6252 was adopted.

MOTIONS

On motion of Senator Patterson, the following title amendments were considered simultaneously and were adopted:

On page 1, line 1 of the title, after "to a" strike all material through and including "70.105-.240" on line 2 and insert "study of the impact of hazardous materials on agricultural lands"

On page 1, line 3 of the title, after "adding" strike "new sections" and insert "a new section"

On motion of Senator Patterson, Engrossed Senate Bill No. 6252 was advanced to third reading, the second reading considered the third, and the bill was placed on final passage.

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Sutherland: "Senator Kreidler, with the adoption of the title amendments, you will note that it amended this title--the title of Senate Bill No. 6252, prior to the first semicolon in the bill. After reading both the original title, which is an act relating to a moratorium on siting and hazardous waste disposal facilities near agricultural lands, to the new adopted title which reads, 'an act related to a study of the impact of hazardous waste materials on agricultural land.' I believe that we have now changed the scope and title and object of that title. Is that your understanding?"

Senator Kreidler: "It is, Senator Sutherland."

Senator Sutherland: "I would like to put the body on notice that I will be submitting a letter of protest for the Journal. The reason that I am doing that is because I think it is dangerous practice in this body to be amending bills prior to the first semicolon. I want to give you an example. It could be an act relating to education, it could be an act relating to transportation when it was all done--or an act relating to hazardous incinerators that could end up being an act relating to any other kind of issue. I think it is poor practice to allow this kind of action to occur and I hope that this will not establish a precedent for the future. Thank you."

Further debate ensued.

ROLL CALL

The Secretary called the roll on the final passage of Engrossed Senate Bill No. 6252 and the bill passed the Senate by the following vote: Yeas, 46; nays, 3.

Voting yea: Senators Amondson, Anderson, Bailey, Bauer, Bender, Benitz, Bluechel, Cantu, Conner, Craswell, DeJarnatt, Fleming, Gaspard, Hansen, Hayner, Johnson, Kreidler, Lee, Madsen, McCaslin, McDonald, McMullen, Metcalf, Moore, Murray, Nelson, Newhouse, Owen, Patrick, Patterson, Rasmussen, Rinehart, Saling, Sellar, Smith, Smitherman, Stratton, Sutherland, Talmadge, Thorsness, Vognild, von Reichbauer, Warnke, West, Williams, Wojahn - 46.

Voting nay: Senators Barr, Matson, Niemi - 3.

ENGROSSED SENATE BILL NO. 6252, having received the constitutional majority, was declared passed. There being no objection, the title of the bill was ordered to stand as the title of the act.

NOTICE OF PROTEST

Pursuant to Rule 34, I protest the action of the Senate regarding Senate Bill No. 6252.

Senate Bill No. 6252 was originally 'an act relating to a moratorium on siting hazardous waste disposal facilities near agricultural lands.' However, following a striking amendment and title amendment adopted on the floor, the bill became, 'an act relating to a study of the impact of hazardous materials on agricultural lands.'

Arguably, these amendments changed the scope and object of the bill, but my protest is that changing the subject matter portion of titles sets a very dangerous precedent. This can and will lead to significant changes in the subject matter of bills if left unchecked. I am particularly concerned regarding substitute bills and the wholesale changes which are possible.

The purpose of the title is to call attention to the subject matter of the act so that anyone reading it may know what topic is being covered. This purpose is completely nullified if title amendments such as those allowed on Senate Bill No. 6252 are sanctioned.

I urge the Senate to prohibit subject matter title amendments in order to protect our process, to protect the public and to protect us from ourselves.

Sincerely,
DEAN SUTHERLAND, 17th District

There being no objection, the Senate resumed consideration of Substitute Senate Bill No. 6740, which was being debated on second reading before the Senate went to the Special Order of Business.

MOTION

On motion of Senator Lee, Engrossed Senate Bill No. 6740 was advanced to third reading, the second reading considered the third, and the bill was placed on final passage.

The President declared the question before the Senate to be the roll call on the final passage of Engrossed Senate Bill No. 6740.

ROLL CALL

The Secretary called the roll on the final passage of Engrossed Senate Bill No. 6740 and the bill passed the Senate by the following vote: Yeas, 32; nays, 16; absent, 1.

Voting yea: Senators Amondson, Anderson, Bailey, Barr, Benitz, Bluechel, Cantu, Conner, Craswell, Hayner, Johnson, Lee, Matson, McCaslin, McDonald, McMullen, Metcalf, Nelson, Newhouse, Owen, Patrick, Patterson, Saling, Sellar, Smith, Smitherman, Stratton, Sutherland, Thorsness, Vognild, von Reichbauer, West - 32.

Voting nay: Senators Bauer, Bender, DeJarnatt, Fleming, Gaspard, Hansen, Kreidler, Madsen, Moore, Murray, Rasmussen, Rinehart, Talmadge, Wanke, Williams, Wojahn - 16.

Any person may bring an action to enjoin the release of confidential information or records concerning him or her or his or her ward, in violation of the provisions of this chapter, and may in the same action seek damages as provided in this section.

The court may award to the plaintiff, should he or she prevail in an action authorized by this section, reasonable attorney fees in addition to those otherwise provided by law.

Sec. 115. Section 17, chapter 205, Laws of 1989 and RCW 71.05.670 are each amended to read as follows:

Except as provided in sections 116 through 118 of this 1990 act, any person, including the state or any political subdivision of the state, violating RCW 71.05.610 through 71.05.690 shall be subject to the provisions of RCW 71.05.440.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 116. The legislature finds that sex offenders pose a high risk of engaging in sex offenses even after being released from incarceration or commitment and that protection of the public from sex offenders is a paramount governmental interest. The legislature further finds that the penal and mental health components of our justice system are largely hidden from public view and that lack of information from either may result in failure of both systems to meet this paramount concern of public safety. Overly restrictive confidentiality and liability laws governing the release of information about sexual predators have reduced willingness to release information that could be appropriately released under the public disclosure laws, and have increased risks to public safety. Persons found to have committed a sex offense have a reduced expectation of privacy because of the public's interest in public safety and in the effective operation of government. Release of information about sexual predators to public agencies and under limited circumstances, the general public, will further the governmental interests of public safety and public scrutiny of the criminal and mental health systems so long as the information released is rationally related to the furtherance of those goals.

Therefore, this state's policy as expressed in sections 117 and 118 of this act is to require the exchange of relevant information about sexual predators among public agencies and officials and to authorize the release of necessary and relevant information about sexual predators to members of the general public.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 117. A new section is added to chapter 4.24 RCW to read as follows:

(1) An elected public official, public employee, or public agency as defined in RCW 4.24-.470 is immune as provided in this section from civil liability for damages for any discretionary decision to release information regarding: (a) A person convicted of, or juvenile found to have committed, a sex offense as defined by RCW 9.94A.030; (b) a person found not guilty of a sex offense by reason of insanity under chapter 10.77 RCW; (c) a person found incompetent to stand trial for a sex offense and subsequently committed under chapter 71.05 or 71.34 RCW; (d) a person committed as a sexual psychopath under chapter 71.06 RCW; or (e) a person committed as a sexually violent predator under sections 901 through 912 of this act. The immunity provided under this section applies to the release of information to other employees or officials or to the general public when the agency, official, or employee who releases the information acts without gross negligence and believes in good faith that the release is necessary for the protection of the public. When determining what information is necessary to release and to whom it should be released in order to protect the public, the agency, official, or employee shall consider the factors designated in section 118 of this act.

(2) Except as otherwise provided by statute, nothing in this section shall impose any liability upon a public official, public employee, or public agency for failing to release information as provided in subsection (1) of this section.

(3) Nothing in this section implies that information regarding persons designated in subsection (1) of this section is confidential except as otherwise provided by statute.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 118. Public agencies are authorized to release relevant information regarding sex offenders to the public when the release of the information is necessary for public protection.

When the agency considers what information is relevant and necessary for release, the agency shall consider factors including but not limited to the following: (1) The seriousness of the sex offense for which the offender was adjudicated, convicted, or committed; (2) the offender's criminal history, commitment history for sex offenses, or court-ordered treatment for sexual deviancy; (3) whether any of the offender's known victims were nonfamily members; (4) whether any of the offender's known victims were children, the developmentally disabled, or the elderly; (5) observations of the offender's postconviction or postcommitment behavior, including but not limited to any overt indications such as oral, written, or drawn threats, plans, depictions, or statements regarding the future commission of sex offenses; (6) the most recent risk assessment reports prepared by the department in control or care of the offender; (7) whether the information sought to be released can be released without restrictions or with certain restrictions pursuant to chapter 10.97, 10.98, 43.43, or 42.17 RCW or, as applicable, chapter 13.40, 13.50, 9.94A, 9.95, 71.05, 71.06, 71.34, 10.77, or 70.48 RCW, or sections 901 through 912 of this act; and (8) the length of time, if any, the offender has been in the community without being arrested, charged, or convicted of another sex offense.

The information released must be based in fact and limited in scope to protect the public.

An offender's pending appeal, petition for personal restraint, or writ of habeas corpus shall not restrict the agency's, official's, or employee's authority to release relevant information concerning an offender's prior criminal history. However, the agency must release the latest dispositions of the charges as provided in chapter 10.97 RCW, the Washington state criminal records privacy act.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 119. The governor shall cause a study of federal and state statutes and regulations governing the confidentiality and disclosure of information about dangerous offenders in the criminal justice, juvenile justice, and mental health systems. The governor shall report to the legislature no later than November 1, 1990 with recommendations for a comprehensive policy approach to confidentiality and dissemination of information about offenders who pose a danger to the public and recommendations regarding the immunity and liability of public agencies, officials, and employees when releasing or failing to release that information.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 120. A new section is added to chapter 71.06 RCW to read as follows:

In addition to any other information required to be released under this chapter, the department is authorized, pursuant to sections 116 through 118 of this act, to release relevant information that is necessary to protect the public, concerning a specific sexual psychopath committed under this chapter.

Sec. 121. Section 1, chapter 346, Laws of 1985 as amended by section 1, chapter 30, Laws of 1989 and RCW 9.94A.155 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) At the earliest possible date, and in no event later than ten days before release except in the event of escape or emergency furloughs as defined in RCW 72.66.010, the department of corrections shall send written notice of parole, community placement, work release placement, furlough, or escape~~(-if such notice has been requested in writing)~~ about a specific inmate convicted of a violent offense or a sex offense as defined by RCW 9.94A.030, to all of the following:

(a) The chief of police of the city, if any, in which the inmate will reside~~(-if known)~~ or in which placement will be made in a work release program; and

(b) The sheriff of the county in which the inmate will reside~~(-if known)~~ or in which placement will be made in a work release program~~(:)~~;

~~((c))~~ (2) The same notice as required by subsection (1) of this section shall be sent to the following if such notice has been requested in writing about a specific inmate convicted of a violent offense or a sex offense as defined by RCW 9.94A.030:

(a) The victim~~(-if any)~~ of the crime for which the inmate was convicted or the victim's next of kin if the crime was a homicide;

~~((d))~~ (b) Any witnesses who testified against the inmate in any court proceedings involving the violent offense; and

Information regarding victims, next of kin, or witnesses requesting the notice, information regarding any other person specified in writing by the prosecuting attorney to receive the notice, and the notice are confidential and shall not be available to the inmate.

(6) Notwithstanding any other provision of this chapter, the release, to the juvenile or his or her attorney, of law enforcement and prosecuting attorneys' records pertaining to investigation, diversion, and prosecution of juvenile offenses shall be governed by the rules of discovery and other rules of law applicable in adult criminal investigations and prosecutions.

(20) The person making the motion pursuant to subsection (16) or (18) of this section shall give reasonable notice of the motion to the prosecuting attorney and to any agency whose records are sought to be destroyed.

(21) Any juvenile to whom the provisions of this section may apply shall be given written notice of his or her rights under this section at the time of his or her disposition hearing or during the diversion process.

(22) Nothing in this section may be construed to prevent a crime victim or a member of the victim's family from divulging the identity of the alleged or proven juvenile offender or his or her family when necessary in a civil proceeding.

(23) Any juvenile justice or care agency may, subject to the limitations in subsection (24) of this section and subparagraphs (a) and (b) of this subsection, develop procedures for the routine destruction of records relating to juvenile offenses and diversions.

(1) When the respondent is found to be a serious offender, the court shall commit the offender to the department for the standard range of disposition for the offense, as indicated in option A of schedule D-3, RCW 13.40.0357 except as provided in subsection (5) of this section.

If the court concludes, and enters reasons for its conclusion, that disposition within the standard range would effectuate a manifest injustice the court shall impose a disposition outside the standard range, as indicated in option B of schedule D-3, RCW 13.40.0357. The court's finding of manifest injustice shall be supported by clear and convincing evidence.

A disposition outside the standard range shall be determinate and shall be comprised of confinement or community supervision, or a combination thereof. When a judge finds a manifest injustice and imposes a sentence of confinement exceeding thirty days, the court shall sentence the juvenile to a maximum term, and the provisions of RCW 13.40.030~~((5))~~(2), as now or hereafter amended, shall be used to determine the range. A disposition outside the standard range is appealable under RCW 13.40.230, as now or hereafter amended, by the state or the respondent. A disposition within the standard range is not appealable under RCW 13.40.230 as now or hereafter amended.

(2) Where the respondent is found to be a minor or first offender, the court shall order that the respondent serve a term of community supervision as indicated in option A or option B of schedule D-1, RCW 13.40.0357 except as provided in subsection (5) of this section. If the court determines that a disposition of community supervision would effectuate a manifest injustice the court may impose another disposition under option C of schedule D-1, RCW 13.40.0357. Except as provided in subsection (5) of this section, a disposition other than a community supervision may be imposed only after the court enters reasons upon which it bases its conclusions that imposition of community supervision would effectuate a manifest injustice. When a judge finds a manifest injustice and imposes a sentence of confinement exceeding thirty days, the court shall sentence the juvenile to a maximum term, and the provisions of RCW 13.40.030~~((5))~~(2), as now or hereafter amended, shall be used to determine the range. The court's finding of manifest injustice shall be supported by clear and convincing evidence.

((Any)) Except for disposition ((other than)) of community supervision or a disposition imposed pursuant to subsection (5) of this section, a disposition may be appealed as provided in RCW 13.40.230, as now or hereafter amended, by the state or the respondent. A disposition of community supervision or a disposition imposed pursuant to subsection (5) of this section may not be appealed under RCW 13.40.230 as now or hereafter amended.

(3) Where a respondent is found to have committed an offense for which the respondent declined to enter into a diversion agreement, the court shall impose a term of community supervision limited to the conditions allowed in a diversion agreement as provided in RCW 13.40.080(2) as now or hereafter amended.

(4) If a respondent is found to be a middle offender:

(a) The court shall impose a determinate disposition within the standard range(s) for such offense, as indicated in option A of schedule D-2, RCW 13.40.0357 except as provided in subsection (5) of this section; PROVIDED, That if the standard range includes a term of confinement exceeding thirty days, commitment shall be to the department for the standard range of confinement; or

(b) The court shall impose a determinate disposition of community supervision and/or up to thirty days confinement, as indicated in option B of schedule D-2, RCW 13.40.0357 in which case, if confinement has been imposed, the court shall state either aggravating or mitigating factors as set forth in RCW 13.40.150 as now or hereafter amended.

(c) Only if the court concludes, and enters reasons for its conclusions, that disposition as provided in subsection (4) (a) or (b) of this section would effectuate a manifest injustice, the court shall sentence the juvenile to a maximum term, and the provisions of RCW 13.40.030~~((5))~~(2), as now or hereafter amended, shall be used to determine the range. The court's finding of manifest injustice shall be supported by clear and convincing evidence.

(d) A disposition pursuant to subsection (4)(c) of this section is appealable under RCW 13.40.230, as now or hereafter amended, by the state or the respondent. A disposition pursuant to subsection (4) (a) or (b) of this section is not appealable under RCW 13.40.230 as now or hereafter amended.

(5) When a serious, middle, or minor first offender is found to have committed a sex offense, other than a sex offense that is also a serious violent offense as defined by RCW 9.94A.030, and has no history of a prior sex offense, the court, on its own motion or the motion of the state or the respondent, may order an examination to determine whether the respondent is amenable to treatment.

The report of the examination shall include at a minimum the following: The respondent's version of the facts and the official version of the facts, the respondent's offense history, an assessment of problems in addition to alleged deviant behaviors, the respondent's social, educational, and employment situation, and other evaluation measures used. The report shall set forth the sources of the evaluator's information.

The examiner shall assess and report regarding the respondent's amenability to treatment and relative risk to the community. A proposed treatment plan shall be provided and shall include, at a minimum:

(a) (i) Frequency and type of contact between the offender and therapist;

(ii) Specific issues to be addressed in the treatment and description of planned treatment modalities;

(iii) Monitoring plans, including any requirements regarding living conditions, lifestyle requirements, and monitoring by family members, legal guardians, or others;

(iv) Anticipated length of treatment; and

(v) Recommended crime-related prohibitions.

The court on its own motion may order, or on a motion by the state shall order, a second examination regarding the offender's amenability to treatment. The evaluator shall be selected by the party making the motion. The defendant shall pay the cost of any second examination ordered unless the court finds the defendant to be indigent in which case the state shall pay the cost.

After receipt of reports of the examination, the court shall then consider whether the offender and the community will benefit from use of this special sex offender disposition alternative and consider the victim's opinion whether the offender should receive a treatment disposition under this section. If the court determines that this special sex offender disposition alternative is appropriate, then the court shall impose a determinate disposition within the standard range for the offense, and the court may suspend the execution of the disposition and place the offender on community supervision for up to two years. As a condition of the suspended disposition, the court may impose the conditions of community supervision and other conditions, including up to thirty days of confinement and requirements that the offender do any one or more of the following:

(b) (i) Devote time to a specific education, employment, or occupation;

(ii) Undergo available outpatient sex offender treatment for up to two years, or inpatient sex offender treatment not to exceed the standard range of confinement for that offense. A community mental health center may not be used for such treatment unless it has an appropriate program designed for sex offender treatment. The respondent shall not change sex offender treatment providers or treatment conditions without first notifying the prosecutor, the probation counselor, and the court, and shall not change providers without court approval after a hearing if the prosecutor or probation counselor object to the change;

(iii) Remain within prescribed geographical boundaries and notify the court or the probation counselor prior to any change in the offender's address, educational program, or employment;

(iv) Report to the prosecutor and the probation counselor prior to any change in a sex offender treatment provider. This change shall have prior approval by the court;

(v) Report as directed to the court and a probation counselor;

(vi) Pay all court-ordered legal financial obligations, perform community service, or any combination thereof; or

(vii) Make restitution to the victim for the cost of any counseling reasonably related to the offense.

The sex offender treatment provider shall submit quarterly reports on the respondent's progress in treatment to the court and the parties. The reports shall reference the treatment plan and include at a minimum the following: Dates of attendance, respondent's compliance with requirements, treatment activities, the respondent's relative progress in treatment, and any other material specified by the court at the time of the disposition.

At the time of the disposition, the court may set treatment review hearings as the court considers appropriate.

After July 1, 1991, examinations and treatment ordered pursuant to this subsection shall only be conducted by sex offender treatment providers certified by the department of health pursuant to sections 709 through 717 of this 1990 act.

If the offender violates any condition of the disposition or the court finds that the respondent is failing to make satisfactory progress in treatment, the court may revoke the suspension and order execution of the sentence. The court shall give credit for any confinement time previously served if that confinement was for the offense for which the suspension is being revoked.

For purposes of this section, "victim" means any person who has sustained emotional, psychological, physical, or financial injury to person or property as a direct result of the crime charged. "Victim" may also include a known parent or guardian of a victim who is a minor child unless the parent or guardian is the perpetrator of the offense.

(6) Whenever a juvenile offender is entitled to credit for time spent in detention prior to a dispositional order, the dispositional order shall specifically state the number of days of credit for time served.

((6) in its dispositional order) (7) Except as provided for in subsection (5) of this section, the court shall not suspend or defer the imposition or the execution of the disposition.

~~((7))~~ (8) In no case shall the term of confinement imposed by the court at disposition exceed that to which an adult could be subjected for the same offense.

Sec. 303, Section 65, chapter 291, Laws of 1977 ex. sess. as last amended by section 18, chapter 145, Laws of 1988 and RCW 13.40.110 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) The prosecutor, respondent, or the court on its own motion may, before a hearing on the information on its merits, file a motion requesting the court to transfer the respondent for adult criminal prosecution and the matter shall be set for a hearing on the question of declining jurisdiction. Unless waived by the court, the parties, and their counsel, a decline hearing shall be held where:

(a) The respondent is fifteen, sixteen, or seventeen years of age and the information alleges a class A felony or an attempt, solicitation, or conspiracy to commit a class A felony; or

(b) The respondent is sixteen or seventeen years of age and the information alleges assault in the second degree, extortion in the first degree, indecent liberties, ~~((rape of a child in the second degree;))~~ child molestation in the ~~((first or))~~ second degree, kidnapping in the second degree, ~~((rape in the second degree;))~~ or robbery in the second degree.

(2) The court after a mandatory decline hearing shall order the case be transferred for adult prosecution unless the respondent establishes by a preponderance of the evidence that retaining juvenile court jurisdiction over the juvenile would be in the best interest of the juvenile and the public. After nonmandatory decline hearings the court may order the case transferred for adult criminal prosecution upon a finding that the declination would be in the best interest of the juvenile or the public. The court shall consider the relevant reports, facts, opinions, and arguments presented by the parties and their counsel.

(3) When the respondent is transferred for criminal prosecution or retained for prosecution in juvenile court, the court shall set forth in writing its finding which shall be supported by relevant facts and opinions produced at the hearing.

Sec. 304, Section 75, chapter 291, Laws of 1977 ex. sess. as last amended by section 4, chapter 505, Laws of 1987 and RCW 13.40.210 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) The secretary shall, except in the case of a juvenile committed by a court to a term of confinement in a state institution outside the appropriate standard range for the offense(s) for which the juvenile was found to be guilty established pursuant to RCW 13.40.030, as now or hereafter amended, set a release or discharge date for each juvenile committed to its custody which shall be within the prescribed range to which a juvenile has been committed. Such dates shall be determined prior to the expiration of sixty percent of a juvenile's minimum term of confinement included within the prescribed range to which the juvenile has been committed. The secretary shall release any juvenile committed to the custody of the department within four calendar days prior to the juvenile's release date or on the release date set under this chapter: PROVIDED, That days spent in the custody of the department shall be tolled by any period of time during which a juvenile has absented himself or herself from the department's supervision without the prior approval of the secretary or the secretary's designee.

(2) The secretary shall monitor the average daily population of the state's juvenile residential facilities. When the secretary concludes that in-residence population of residential facilities exceeds one hundred five percent of the rated bed capacity specified in statute, or in absence of such specification, as specified by the department in rule, the secretary may recommend reductions to the governor. On certification by the governor that the recommended reductions are necessary, the secretary has authority to administratively release a sufficient number of offenders to reduce in-residence population to one hundred percent of rated bed capacity. The secretary shall release those offenders who have served the greatest proportion of their sentence. However, the secretary may deny release in a particular case at the request of an offender, or if the secretary finds that there is no responsible custodian, as determined by the department, to whom to release the offender, or if the release of the offender would pose a clear danger to society. The department shall notify the committing court of the release at the end of each calendar year if any such early releases have occurred during that year as a result of excessive in-residence population. In no event shall a serious offender, as defined in RCW 13.40.020(1) be granted release under the provisions of this subsection.

(3) Following the juvenile's release pursuant to subsection (1) of this section, the secretary may require the juvenile to comply with a program of parole to be administered by the department in his or her community which shall last no longer than eighteen months, except that in the case of a juvenile sentenced for rape in the first or second degree, rape of a child in the first or second degree, child molestation in the first degree, or indecent liberties with forcible compulsion, the period of parole shall be twenty-four months. ~~((Such))~~ A parole program ~~((shall be))~~ is mandatory for offenders released under subsection (2) of this section. The secretary shall, for the period of parole, facilitate the juvenile's reintegration into his or her community and to further this goal may require the juvenile to: (a) Undergo available medical or psychiatric treatment; (b) report as directed to a parole officer; (c) pursue a course of study or vocational training; (d) remain within prescribed geographical boundaries and notify the department of any change in his or her address; and (e) refrain from committing new offenses. After termination of the parole period, the juvenile shall be discharged from the department's supervision.

(4) The department may also modify parole for violation thereof. If, after affording a juvenile all of the due process rights to which he or she would be entitled if the juvenile were an adult, the secretary finds that a juvenile has violated a condition of his or her parole, the secretary shall order one of the following which is reasonably likely to effectuate the purpose of the parole and to protect the public: (a) Continued supervision under the same conditions previously imposed; (b) intensified supervision with increased reporting requirements; (c) additional conditions of supervision authorized by this chapter; ~~((and))~~ (d) except as provided in (e) of this subsection, imposition of a period of confinement not to exceed thirty days in a facility operated by or pursuant to a contract with the state of Washington or any city or county for a portion of each day or for a certain number of days each week with the balance of the days or weeks spent under supervision; and (e) the secretary may order any of the conditions or may return the offender to confinement in an institution for the remainder of the sentence range if the offense for which the offender was sentenced is rape in the first or second degree, rape of a child in the first or second degree, child molestation in the first degree, indecent liberties with forcible compulsion, or a sex offense that is also a serious violent offense as defined by RCW 9.94A.030.

(5) A parole officer of the department of social and health services shall have the power to arrest a juvenile under his or her supervision on the same grounds as a law enforcement officer would be authorized to arrest such person.

(6) If so requested and approved under chapter 13.06 RCW, the secretary shall permit a county or group of counties to perform functions under subsections (3) through (5) of this section.

NEW SECTION, Sec. 305. A new section is added to chapter 74.13 RCW to read as follows:

(1) For the purposes of funds appropriated for the treatment of sexually aggressive youth, "sexually aggressive youth" means those juveniles in the care and custody of the state who:

(a) Have been abused;

(b) Have committed a sexually aggressive or other violent act that is sexual in nature; and

(c) Cannot be detained under the juvenile justice system.

(2) In expending these funds, the department of social and health services shall establish in each region a case review committee to review all cases for which the funds are used. In determining whether to use these funds in a particular case, the committee shall consider:

(a) The age of the juvenile;

(b) The extent and type of abuse to which the juvenile has been subjected;

(c) The juvenile's past conduct;

(d) The benefits that can be expected from the treatment; and

(e) The cost of the treatment.

PART IV

REGISTRATION OF SEX OFFENDERS

NEW SECTION, Sec. 401. The legislature finds that sex offenders often pose a high risk of reoffense, and that law enforcement's efforts to protect their communities, conduct investigations, and quickly apprehend offenders who commit sex offenses, are impaired by the lack of information available to law enforcement agencies about convicted sex offenders who live within the law enforcement agency's jurisdiction. Therefore, this state's policy is to assist local law enforcement agencies' efforts to protect their communities by regulating sex offenders by requiring sex offenders to register with local law enforcement agencies as provided in section 402 of this act.

NEW SECTION, Sec. 402. A new section is added to chapter 9A.44 RCW to read as follows:

(1) Any adult or juvenile residing in this state who has been found to have committed or has been convicted of any sex offense shall register with the county sheriff for the county of the person's residence.

(2) The person shall, within forty-five days of establishing residence in Washington, or if a current resident within thirty days of release from confinement, if any, provide the county sheriff with the following information: (a) Name; (b) address; (c) place of employment; (d) crime for which convicted; (e) date and place of conviction; (f) aliases used; and (g) social security number.

(3) If any person required to register pursuant to this section changes his or her residence address within the same county, the person must send written notice of the change of address to the county sheriff within ten days of establishing the new residence. If any person required to register pursuant to this section moves to a new county, the person must register with the county sheriff in the new county within ten days of establishing the new residence. The person must also send written notice within ten days of the change of address in the new county to the county sheriff with whom the person last registered.

(4) The county sheriff shall obtain a photograph of the individual and shall obtain a copy of the individual's fingerprints.

(5) "Sex offense" for the purpose of sections 402 through 406 of this act means any offense defined as a sex offense by RCW 9.94A.030:

(a) Committed on or after the effective date of this section; or

(b) Committed prior to the effective date of this section if the person, as a result of the offense, is under the custody or active supervision of the department of corrections or the department of social and health services on or after the effective date of this section.

(6) A person who knowingly fails to register as required by this section is guilty of a class C felony if the crime for which the individual was convicted was a class A felony or a federal or out-of-state conviction for an offense that under the laws of this state would be a class A felony. If the crime was other than a class A felony or a federal or out-of-state conviction for an offense that under the laws of this state would be a class A felony, violation of this section is a gross misdemeanor.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 403. A new section is added to chapter 43.43 RCW to read as follows:

The county sheriff shall forward the information and fingerprints obtained pursuant to section 402 of this act to the Washington state patrol within five working days. The state patrol shall maintain a central registry of sex offenders required to register under section 402 of this act and shall adopt rules consistent with chapters 10.97, 10.98, and 43.43 RCW as are necessary to carry out the purposes of sections 402 through 408 of this act. The Washington state patrol shall reimburse the counties for the costs of processing the sex offender registration, including taking the fingerprints and the photographs.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 404. A new section is added to chapter 10.01 RCW to read as follows:

The court shall provide written notification to any defendant charged with a sex offense of the registration requirements of section 402 of this act. Such notice shall be included on any guilty plea forms and judgment and sentence forms provided to the defendant.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 405. A new section is added to chapter 72.09 RCW to read as follows:

(1) The department shall provide written notification to an inmate convicted of a sex offense of the registration requirements of section 402 of this act at the time of the inmate's release from confinement and shall receive and retain a signed acknowledgement of receipt.

(2) The department shall provide written notification to an individual convicted of a sex offense from another state of the registration requirements of section 402 of this act at the time the department accepts supervision and has legal authority of the individual under the terms and conditions of the interstate compact agreement under RCW 9.95.270.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 406. A new section is added to chapter 70.48 RCW to read as follows:

A person having charge of a jail shall notify in writing any confined person who is in the custody of the jail for a conviction of a sexual offense as defined in RCW 9.94A.030 of the registration requirements of section 402 of this act at the time of the inmate's release from confinement, and shall obtain written acknowledgment of such notification.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 407. A new section is added to chapter 46.20 RCW to read as follows:

The department, at the time a person renews his or her driver's license or identicard, or surrenders a driver's license from another jurisdiction pursuant to RCW 46.20.021 and makes an application for a driver's license or an identicard, shall provide the applicant with written information on the registration requirements of section 402 of this act.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 408. A new section is added to chapter 9A.44 RCW to read as follows:

(1) The duty to register under section 402 of this act shall end:

(a) For a person convicted of a class A felony: Such person may only be relieved of the duty to register under subsection (2) of this section.

(b) For a person convicted of a class B felony: Fifteen years after the last date of release from confinement, if any, (including full-time residential treatment) pursuant to the conviction, or entry of the judgment and sentence, if the person has spent fifteen consecutive years in the community without being convicted of any new offenses.

(c) For a person convicted of a class C felony: Ten years after the last date of release from confinement, if any, (including full-time residential treatment) pursuant to the conviction, or entry of the judgment and sentence, if the person has spent ten consecutive years in the community without being convicted of any new offenses.

(2) Any person having a duty to register under section 402 of this act may petition the superior court to be relieved of that duty. The petition shall be made to the court in which the petitioner was convicted of the offense that subjects him or her to the duty to register, or, in the case of convictions in other states, to the court in Thurston county. The prosecuting attorney of the county shall be named and served as the respondent in any such petition. The court shall consider the nature of the registerable offense committed, and the criminal and relevant non-criminal behavior of the petitioner both before and after conviction, and may consider other factors. The court may relieve the petitioner of the duty to register only if the petitioner shows, with clear and convincing evidence, that future registration of the petitioner will not serve the purposes of sections 402 through 408 of this act.

(3) Unless relieved of the duty to register pursuant to this section, a violation of section 402 of this act is an ongoing offense for purposes of the statute of limitations under RCW 9A.04.080.

(4) Nothing in RCW 9.94A.220 relating to discharge of an offender shall be construed as operating to relieve the offender of his or her duty to register pursuant to section 402 of this act.

Sec. 409. Section 10, chapter 152, Laws of 1972 ex. sess. as last amended by section 6, chapter 346, Laws of 1985 and RCW 43.43.745 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) It shall be the duty of the sheriff or director of public safety of every county, of the chief of police of each city or town, or of every chief officer of other law enforcement agencies operating within this state, to record the fingerprints of all persons held in or remanded to their custody when convicted of any crime as provided for in RCW 43.43.735 for which the penalty of imprisonment might be imposed and to disseminate and file such fingerprints in the same manner as those recorded upon arrest pursuant to RCW 43.43.735 and 43.43.740.

(2) Every time the secretary authorizes a furlough as provided for in RCW 72.66.012 the department of corrections shall notify, forty-eight hours prior to the beginning of such furlough, the section that the named prisoner has been granted a furlough, the place to which furloughed, and the dates and times during which the prisoner will be on furlough status. For the purposes of this section, an individual will not be required to use his or her assets other than funds recovered as a result of a civil action or criminal restitution, for medical expenses or pain and suffering, in order to qualify for an alternative source of payment.

SEXUAL MOTIVATION IN CRIMINAL OFFENSES

NEW SECTION, Sec. 601. A new section is added to chapter 9.94A RCW to read as follows:

(1) The prosecuting attorney shall file a special allegation of sexual motivation in every criminal case other than sex offenses as defined in RCW 9.94A.030(29) (a) or (c) when sufficient admissible evidence exists, which, when considered with the most plausible, reasonably foreseeable defense that could be raised under the evidence, would justify a finding of sexual motivation by a reasonable and objective fact finder.

(2) In a criminal case wherein there has been a special allegation the state shall prove beyond a reasonable doubt that the accused committed the crime with a sexual motivation. The court shall make a finding of fact of whether or not a sexual motivation was present at the time of the commission of the crime, or if a jury trial is had, the jury shall, if it finds the defendant guilty, also find a special verdict as to whether or not the defendant committed the crime with a sexual motivation. This finding shall not be applied to sex offenses as defined in RCW 9.94A.030(29) (a) or (c).

(3) The prosecuting attorney shall not withdraw the special allegation of sexual motivation without approval of the court through an order of dismissal of the special allegation. The court shall not dismiss this special allegation unless it finds that such an order is necessary to correct an error in the initial charging decision or unless there are evidentiary problems which make proving the special allegation doubtful.

Participation in work release shall be conditioned upon the offender attending work or school at regularly defined hours and abiding by the rules of the work release facility.

~~((34))~~ (35) "Home detention" means a program of partial confinement available to offenders wherein the offender is confined in a private residence subject to electronic surveillance. Home detention may not be imposed for offenders convicted of a violent offense, any sex offense, any drug offense, reckless burning in the first or second degree as defined in RCW 9A.48.040 or 9A.48.050, assault in the third degree as defined in RCW 9A.36.031, unlawful imprisonment as defined in RCW 9A.40.040, or harassment as defined in RCW 9A.46.020. Home detention may be imposed for offenders convicted of possession of a controlled substance (RCW 69.50.401(d)) or forged prescription for a controlled substance (RCW 69.50.403) if the offender fulfills the participation conditions set forth in this subsection and is monitored for drug use by treatment alternatives to street crime (TASC) or a comparable court or agency-referred program. Home detention may be imposed for offenders convicted of burglary in the second degree as defined in RCW 9A.52.030 or residential burglary conditioned upon the offender: (a) Successfully completing twenty-one days in a work release program, (b) having no convictions for burglary in the second degree or residential burglary during the preceding two years and not more than two prior convictions for burglary or residential burglary, (c) having no convictions for a violent felony offense during the preceding two years and not more than two prior convictions for a violent felony offense, (d) having no prior charges of escape, and (e) fulfilling the other conditions of the home detention program. Participation in a home detention program shall be conditioned upon: (a) The offender obtaining or maintaining current employment or attending a regular course of school study at regularly defined hours, or the offender performing parental duties to offspring or minors normally in the custody of the offender, (b) abiding by the rules of the home detention program, and (c) compliance with court-ordered legal financial obligations. The home detention program may also be made available to offenders whose charges and convictions do not otherwise disqualify them if medical or health-related conditions, concerns or treatment would be better addressed under the home detention program, or where the health and welfare of the offender, other inmates, or staff would be jeopardized by the offender's incarceration. Participation in the home detention program for medical or health-related reasons is conditioned on the offender abiding by the rules of the home detention program and complying with court-ordered restitution.

Sec. 603, Section 10, chapter 115, Laws of 1983 as last amended by section 1, chapter 408, Laws of 1989 and RCW 9.94A.390 are each amended to read as follows:

If the sentencing court finds that an exceptional sentence outside the standard range should be imposed in accordance with RCW 9.94A.120(2), the sentence is subject to review only as provided for in RCW 9.94A.210(4).

The following are illustrative factors which the court may consider in the exercise of its discretion to impose an exceptional sentence. The following are illustrative only and are not intended to be exclusive reasons for exceptional sentences.

(1) Mitigating Circumstances

(a) To a significant degree, the victim was an initiator, willing participant, aggressor, or provoker of the incident.

(b) Before detection, the defendant compensated, or made a good faith effort to compensate, the victim of the criminal conduct for any damage or injury sustained.

(c) The defendant committed the crime under duress, coercion, threat, or compulsion insufficient to constitute a complete defense but which significantly affected his or her conduct.

(d) The defendant, with no apparent predisposition to do so, was induced by others to participate in the crime.

(e) The defendant's capacity to appreciate the wrongfulness of his conduct or to conform his conduct to the requirements of the law, was significantly impaired (voluntary use of drugs or alcohol is excluded).

(f) The offense was principally accomplished by another person and the defendant manifested extreme caution or sincere concern for the safety or well-being of the victim.

(g) The operation of the multiple offense policy of RCW 9.94A.400 results in a presumptive sentence that is clearly excessive in light of the purpose of this chapter, as expressed in RCW 9.94A.010.

(h) The defendant or the defendant's children suffered a continuing pattern of physical or sexual abuse by the victim of the offense and the offense is a response to that abuse.

(2) Aggravating Circumstances

(a) The defendant's conduct during the commission of the current offense manifested deliberate cruelty to the victim.

(b) The defendant knew or should have known that the victim of the current offense was particularly vulnerable or incapable of resistance due to extreme youth, advanced age, disability, or ill health.

(c) The current offense was a major economic offense or series of offenses, so identified by a consideration of any of the following factors:

(i) The current offense involved multiple victims or multiple incidents per victim;

(ii) The current offense involved attempted or actual monetary loss substantially greater than typical for the offense;

(iii) The current offense involved a high degree of sophistication or planning or occurred over a lengthy period of time;

(iv) The defendant used his or her position of trust, confidence, or fiduciary responsibility to facilitate the commission of the current offense.

(d) The current offense was a major violation of the Uniform Controlled Substances Act, chapter 69.50 RCW (VUCSA), related to trafficking in controlled substances, which was more onerous than the typical offense of its statutory definition: The presence of ANY of the following may identify a current offense as a major VUCSA:

(i) The current offense involved at least three separate transactions in which controlled substances were sold, transferred, or possessed with intent to do so; or

(ii) The current offense involved an attempted or actual sale or transfer of controlled substances in quantities substantially larger than for personal use; or

(iii) The current offense involved the manufacture of controlled substances for use by other parties; or

(iv) The circumstances of the current offense reveal the offender to have occupied a high position in the drug distribution hierarchy; or

(v) The current offense involved a high degree of sophistication or planning or occurred over a lengthy period of time or involved a broad geographic area of disbursement; or

(vi) The offender used his or her position or status to facilitate the commission of the current offense, including positions of trust, confidence or fiduciary responsibility (e.g., pharmacist, physician, or other medical professional); or

(e) The current offense included a finding of sexual motivation pursuant to section 601 of this 1990 act;

(f) The offense was part of an ongoing pattern of sexual abuse of the same victim under the age of eighteen years manifested by multiple incidents over a prolonged period of time; or

((f)) (g) The operation of the multiple offense policy of RCW 9.94A.400 results in a presumptive sentence that is clearly too lenient in light of the purpose of this chapter, as expressed in RCW 9.94A.010.

NEW SECTION, Sec. 604. A new section is added to chapter 13.40 RCW to read as follows:

(1) The prosecuting attorney shall file a special allegation of sexual motivation in every juvenile offense other than sex offenses as defined in RCW 9.94A.030(29) (a) or (c) when sufficient admissible evidence exists, which, when considered with the most plausible, reasonably consistent defense that could be raised under the evidence, would justify a finding of sexual motivation by a reasonable and objective fact finder.

(2) In a juvenile case wherein there has been a special allegation the state shall prove beyond a reasonable doubt that the juvenile committed the offense with a sexual motivation. The court shall make a finding of fact of whether or not the sexual motivation was present at the time of the commission of the offense. This finding shall not be applied to sex offenses as defined in RCW 9.94A.030(29) (a) or (c).

(3) The prosecuting attorney shall not withdraw the special allegation of "sexual motivation" without approval of the court through an order of dismissal. The court shall not dismiss the special allegation unless it finds that such an order is necessary to correct an error in the initial charging decision or unless there are evidentiary problems which make proving the special allegation doubtful.

Sec. 605. Section 69, chapter 291, Laws of 1977 ex. sess. as last amended by section 12, chapter 299, Laws of 1981 and RCW 13.40.150 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) In disposition hearings all relevant and material evidence, including oral and written reports, may be received by the court and may be relied upon to the extent of its probative value, even though such evidence may not be admissible in a hearing on the information. The youth or the youth's counsel and the prosecuting attorney shall be afforded an opportunity to examine and controvert written reports so received and to cross-examine individuals making reports when such individuals are reasonably available, but sources of confidential information need not be disclosed. The prosecutor and counsel for the juvenile may submit recommendations for disposition.

(2) For purposes of disposition:

- (a) Violations which are current offenses count as misdemeanors;
- (b) Violations may not count as part of the offender's criminal history;
- (c) In no event may a disposition for a violation include confinement.

(3) Before entering a dispositional order as to a respondent found to have committed an offense, the court shall hold a disposition hearing, at which the court shall:

- (a) Consider the facts supporting the allegations of criminal conduct by the respondent;
- (b) Consider information and arguments offered by parties and their counsel;
- (c) Consider any predisposition reports;

(d) Afford the respondent and the respondent's parent, guardian, or custodian an opportunity to speak in the respondent's behalf;

(e) Allow the victim or a representative of the victim and an investigative law enforcement officer to speak;

(f) Determine the amount of restitution owing to the victim, if any;

(g) Determine whether the respondent is a serious offender, a middle offender, or a minor or first offender;

(h) Consider whether or not any of the following mitigating factors exist:

(i) The respondent's conduct neither caused nor threatened serious bodily injury or the respondent did not contemplate that his or her conduct would cause or threaten serious bodily injury;

(ii) The respondent acted under strong and immediate provocation;

(iii) The respondent was suffering from a mental or physical condition that significantly reduced his or her culpability for the offense though failing to establish a defense;

(iv) Prior to his or her detection, the respondent compensated or made a good faith attempt to compensate the victim for the injury or loss sustained; and

(v) There has been at least one year between the respondent's current offense and any prior criminal offense;

(i) Consider whether or not any of the following aggravating factors exist:

(i) In the commission of the offense, or in flight therefrom, the respondent inflicted or attempted to inflict serious bodily injury to another;

(ii) The offense was committed in an especially heinous, cruel, or depraved manner;

(iii) The victim or victims were particularly vulnerable;

(iv) The respondent has a recent criminal history or has failed to comply with conditions of a recent dispositional order or diversion agreement;

(v) The current offense included a finding of sexual motivation pursuant to section 601 of this 1990 act;

(vi) The respondent was the leader of a criminal enterprise involving several persons; and

~~((vii))~~ (vii) There are other complaints which have resulted in diversion or a finding or plea of guilty but which are not included as criminal history.

(4) The following factors may not be considered in determining the punishment to be imposed:

(a) The sex of the respondent;

(b) The race or color of the respondent or the respondent's family;

(c) The creed or religion of the respondent or the respondent's family;

(d) The economic or social class of the respondent or the respondent's family; and

(e) Factors indicating that the respondent may be or is a dependent child within the meaning of this chapter.

(5) A court may not commit a juvenile to a state institution solely because of the lack of facilities, including treatment facilities, existing in the community.

(2) For persons convicted of the anticipatory offenses of criminal attempt, solicitation, or conspiracy under chapter 9A.28 RCW, the presumptive sentence is determined by locating the sentencing grid sentence range defined by the appropriate offender score and the seriousness level of the completed crime, and multiplying the range by 75 percent.

(3) The following additional times shall be added to the presumptive sentence if the offender or an accomplice was armed with a deadly weapon as defined in this chapter and the offender is being sentenced for one of the crimes listed in this subsection. If the offender or an accomplice was armed with a deadly weapon and the offender is being sentenced for an anticipatory offense under chapter 9A.28 RCW to commit one of the crimes listed in this subsection, the following times shall be added to the presumptive range determined under subsection (2) of this section:

(4) The following additional times shall be added to the presumptive sentence if the offender or an accomplice committed the offense while in a county jail or state correctional facility as that term is defined in this chapter and the offender is being sentenced for one of the crimes listed in this subsection. If the offender or an accomplice committed one of the crimes listed in this subsection while in a county jail or state correctional facility as that term is defined in this chapter, and the offender is being sentenced for an anticipatory offense under chapter 9A.28 RCW to commit one of the crimes listed in this subsection, the following times shall be added to the presumptive sentence range determined under subsection (2) of this section:

(a) Eighteen months for offenses committed under RCW 69.50.401(a)(1)(i);

(b) Fifteen months for offenses committed under RCW 69.50.401(a)(1)(ii), (iii), and (iv);

(c) Twelve months for offenses committed under RCW 69.50.401(d).

For the purposes of this subsection, all of the real property of a state correctional facility or county jail shall be deemed to be part of that facility or county jail.

Sec. 703. Section 6, chapter 115, Laws of 1983 and RCW 9.94A.350 are each amended to read as follows:

The offense seriousness level is determined by the offense of conviction. (~~Felony offenses are divided into fourteen levels of seriousness, ranging from low (seriousness level I) to high (seriousness level XIV — see RCW 9.94A.320 (Table 2)):~~)

Sec. 704. Section 11, chapter 115, Laws of 1983 as last amended by section 24, chapter 143, Laws of 1988 and by section 5, chapter 157, Laws of 1988 and RCW 9.94A.400 are each reenacted and amended to read as follows:

(1) (a) Except as provided in (b) of this subsection, whenever a person is to be sentenced for two or more current offenses, the sentence range for each current offense shall be determined by using all other current and prior convictions as if they were prior convictions for the purpose of the offender score: PROVIDED, That if the court enters a finding that some or all of the current offenses encompass the same criminal conduct then those current offenses shall be counted as one crime. Sentences imposed under this subsection shall be served concurrently. Consecutive sentences may only be imposed under the exceptional sentence provisions of RCW 9.94A.120 and 9.94A.390(2)((~~+~~))~~(f)~~ or any other provision of RCW 9.94A.390. "Same criminal conduct," as used in this subsection, means two or more crimes that require the same criminal intent, are committed at the same time and place, and involve the same victim. This definition does not apply in cases involving vehicular assault or vehicular homicide if the victims occupied the same vehicle. However, the sentencing judge may consider multiple victims in such instances as an aggravating circumstance under RCW 9.94A.390.

(b) Whenever a person is convicted of (~~three~~) two or more serious violent offenses, as defined in RCW 9.94A.030, arising from separate and distinct criminal conduct, the sentence range for the offense with the highest seriousness level under RCW 9.94A.320 shall be determined using the offender's prior convictions and other current convictions that are not serious violent offenses in the offender score and the sentence range for other serious violent offenses shall be determined by using an offender score of zero. The sentence range for any offenses that are not serious violent offenses shall be determined according to (a) of this subsection. All sentences imposed under (b) of this subsection shall be served consecutively to each other and concurrently with sentences imposed under (a) of this subsection.

(2) Whenever a person while under sentence of felony commits another felony and is sentenced to another term of confinement, the latter term shall not begin until expiration of all prior terms.

(3) Subject to subsections (1) and (2) of this section, whenever a person is sentenced for a felony that was committed while the person was not under sentence of a felony, the sentence shall run concurrently with any felony sentence which has been imposed by any court in this or another state or by a federal court subsequent to the commission of the crime being sentenced unless the court pronouncing the current sentence expressly orders that they be served consecutively.

(4) Whenever any person granted probation under RCW 9.95.210 or 9.92.060, or both, has the probationary sentence revoked and a prison sentence imposed, that sentence shall run consecutively to any sentence imposed pursuant to this chapter, unless the court pronouncing the subsequent sentence expressly orders that they be served concurrently.

(5) However, in the case of consecutive sentences, all periods of total confinement shall be served before any partial confinement, community service, community supervision, or any other requirement or conditions of any of the sentences. Except for exceptional sentences as authorized under RCW 9.94A.120(2), if two or more sentences that run consecutively include periods of community supervision, the aggregate of the community supervision period shall not exceed twenty-four months.

Sec. 705. Section 4, chapter 252, Laws of 1989 and RCW 9.94A.120 are each amended to read as follows:

When a person is convicted of a felony, the court shall impose punishment as provided in this section.

(1) Except as authorized in subsections (2), (5), and (7) of this section, the court shall impose a sentence within the sentence range for the offense.

(2) The court may impose a sentence outside the standard sentence range for that offense if it finds, considering the purpose of this chapter, that there are substantial and compelling reasons justifying an exceptional sentence.

(3) Whenever a sentence outside the standard range is imposed, the court shall set forth the reasons for its decision in written findings of fact and conclusions of law. A sentence outside the standard range shall be a determinate sentence.

(4) An offender convicted of the crime of murder in the first degree shall be sentenced to a term of total confinement not less than twenty years. An offender convicted of the crime of assault in the first degree where the offender used force or means likely to result in death or intended to kill the victim shall be sentenced to a term of total confinement not less than five years. An offender convicted of the crime of rape in the first degree shall be sentenced to a term of total confinement not less than (~~three~~) five years, and shall not be eligible for furlough, work release or other authorized leave of absence from the correctional facility during such minimum (~~three year~~) five-year term except for the purpose of commitment to an inpatient treatment facility. The foregoing minimum terms of total confinement are mandatory and shall not be varied or modified as provided in subsection (2) of this section.

(5) In sentencing a first-time offender the court may waive the imposition of a sentence within the sentence range and impose a sentence which may include up to ninety days of confinement in a facility operated or utilized under contract by the county and a requirement that the offender refrain from committing new offenses. The sentence may also include up to two years of community supervision, which, in addition to crime-related prohibitions, may include requirements that the offender perform any one or more of the following:

- (a) Devote time to a specific employment or occupation;
- (b) Undergo available outpatient treatment for up to two years, or inpatient treatment not to exceed the standard range of confinement for that offense;
- (c) Pursue a prescribed, secular course of study or vocational training;
- (d) Remain within prescribed geographical boundaries and notify the court or the community corrections officer prior to any change in the offender's address or employment;
- (e) Report as directed to the court and a community corrections officer; or
- (f) Pay all court-ordered legal financial obligations as provided in RCW 9.94A.030 and/or perform community service work.

(6) If a sentence range has not been established for the defendant's crime, the court shall impose a determinate sentence which may include not more than one year of confinement, community service work, a term of community supervision not to exceed one year, and/or other legal financial obligations. The court may impose a sentence which provides more than one year of confinement if the court finds, considering the purpose of this chapter, that there are substantial and compelling reasons justifying an exceptional sentence.

(7)(a) (i) When an offender is convicted of a sex offense other than a violation of (~~RCW 9A.44.040~~ ~~or~~) RCW 9A.44.050 or a sex offense that is also a serious violent offense and has no prior convictions for a sex offense or any other felony (~~sexual~~) sex offenses in this or any other state, the sentencing court, on its own motion or the motion of the state or the defendant, may order an examination to determine whether the defendant is amenable to treatment.

The report of the examination shall include at a minimum the following: The defendant's version of the facts and the official version of the facts, the defendant's offense history, an assessment of problems in addition to alleged deviant behaviors, the offender's social and employment situation, and other evaluation measures used. The report shall set forth the sources of the evaluator's information.

The examiner shall assess and report regarding the defendant's amenability to treatment and relative risk to the community. A proposed treatment plan shall be provided and shall include, at a minimum:

- (A) Frequency and type of contact between offender and therapist;
- (B) Specific issues to be addressed in the treatment and description of planned treatment modalities;
- (C) Monitoring plans, including any requirements regarding living conditions, lifestyle requirements, and monitoring by family members and others;
- (D) Anticipated length of treatment; and
- (E) Recommended crime-related prohibitions.

The court on its own motion may order, or on a motion by the state shall order, a second examination regarding the offender's amenability to treatment. The evaluator shall be selected by the party making the motion. The defendant shall pay the cost of any second examination ordered unless the court finds the defendant to be indigent in which case the state shall pay the cost.

(ii) After receipt of the reports, the court shall (~~then determine~~) consider whether the offender and the community will benefit from use of this special sexual offender sentencing alternative and consider the victim's opinion whether the offender should receive a treatment disposition under this subsection. If the court determines that (~~both the offender and the community will benefit from use of this provision~~) this special sex offender sentencing alternative is appropriate, the court shall then impose a sentence within the sentence range (~~and~~). If this sentence is less than (~~six~~) eight years of confinement, the court may suspend the execution of the sentence and impose the following conditions of suspension:

(A) The court shall place the (~~offender~~) defendant on community supervision for (~~up to two~~) the length of the suspended sentence or three years, whichever is greater; and

(B) The court shall order treatment for any period up to three years in duration. The court in its discretion shall order outpatient sex offender treatment or inpatient sex offender treatment, if available. A community mental health center may not be used for such treatment unless it has an appropriate program designed for sex offender treatment. The offender shall not change sex offender treatment providers or treatment conditions without first notifying the prosecutor, the community corrections officer, and the court, and shall not change providers without court approval after a hearing if the prosecutor or community corrections officer object to the change. In addition, as (~~a~~) conditions of the suspended sentence, the court may impose other sentence conditions including up to six months of confinement, not to exceed the sentence range of confinement for that offense, crime-related prohibitions, and requirements that the offender perform any one or more of the following:

- (~~(i)~~) (I) Devote time to a specific employment or occupation;
- (~~(ii)~~) (~~Undergo available outpatient sex offender treatment for up to two years, or inpatient sex offender treatment not to exceed the standard range of confinement for that offense. A community mental health center may not be used for such treatment unless it has an appropriate program designed for sex offender treatment;~~)
- (~~(iii)~~) (II) Remain within prescribed geographical boundaries and notify the court or the community corrections officer prior to any change in the offender's address or employment;
- (~~(iv)~~) (III) Report as directed to the court and a community corrections officer;

~~((+))~~ (IV) Pay all court-ordered legal financial obligations as provided in RCW 9.94A.030, perform community service work, or any combination thereof; or

~~((+))~~ (V) Make recoupment to the victim for the cost of any counseling required as a result of the offender's crime.

(iii) The sex offender therapist shall submit quarterly reports on the defendant's progress in treatment to the court and the parties. The report shall reference the treatment plan and include at a minimum the following: Dates of attendance, defendant's compliance with requirements, treatment activities, the defendant's relative progress in treatment, and any other material as specified by the court at sentencing.

(iv) At the time of sentencing, the court shall set a treatment termination hearing for three months prior to the anticipated date for completion of treatment. Prior to the treatment termination hearing, the treatment professional and community corrections officer shall submit written reports to the court and parties regarding the defendant's compliance with treatment and monitoring requirements, and recommendations regarding termination from treatment, including proposed community supervision conditions. Either party may request and the court may order another evaluation regarding the advisability of termination from treatment. The defendant shall pay the cost of any additional evaluation ordered unless the court finds the defendant to be indigent in which case the state shall pay the cost. At the treatment termination hearing the court may: (A) Modify conditions of community supervision, and either (B) terminate treatment, or (C) extend treatment for up to the remaining period of community supervision.

(v) The court may revoke the suspended sentence at any time during the period of community supervision and order execution of the sentence if: (A) The ~~((offender))~~ defendant violates ~~((these sentence))~~ the conditions ~~((the court may revoke the suspension and order execution of the sentence))~~ of the suspended sentence, or (B) the court finds that the defendant is failing to make satisfactory progress in treatment. All confinement time served during the period of community supervision shall be credited to the offender if the suspended sentence is revoked.

(vi) After July 1, 1991, examinations and treatment ordered pursuant to this subsection shall only be conducted by sex offender treatment providers certified by the department of health pursuant to sections 709 through 717 of this 1990 act.

For purposes of this subsection, "victim" means any person who has sustained emotional, psychological, physical, or financial injury to person or property as a result of the crime charged. "Victim" also means a parent or guardian of a victim who is a minor child unless the parent or guardian is the perpetrator of the offense.

(b) When an offender is convicted of any felony ~~((sexual))~~ sex offense committed before July 1, 1987, and is sentenced to a term of confinement of more than one year but less than six years, the sentencing court may, on its own motion or on the motion of the offender or the state, order the offender committed for up to thirty days to the custody of the secretary of social and health services for evaluation and report to the court on the offender's amenability to treatment at these facilities. If the secretary of social and health services cannot begin the evaluation within thirty days of the court's order of commitment, the offender shall be transferred to the state for confinement pending an opportunity to be evaluated at the appropriate facility. The court shall review the reports and may order that the term of confinement imposed be served in the sexual offender treatment program at the location determined by the secretary of social and health services or the secretary's designee, only if the report indicates that the offender is amenable to the treatment program provided at these facilities. The offender shall be transferred to the state pending placement in the treatment program. Any offender who has escaped from the treatment program shall be referred back to the sentencing court.

If the offender does not comply with the conditions of the treatment program, the secretary of social and health services may refer the matter to the sentencing court. The sentencing court shall commit the offender to the department of corrections to serve the balance of the term of confinement.

If the offender successfully completes the treatment program before the expiration of the term of confinement, the court may convert the balance of confinement to community supervision and may place conditions on the offender including crime-related prohibitions and requirements that the offender perform any one or more of the following:

(i) Devote time to a specific employment or occupation;

(ii) Remain within prescribed geographical boundaries and notify the court or the community corrections officer prior to any change in the offender's address or employment;

(iii) Report as directed to the court and a community corrections officer;

(iv) Undergo available outpatient treatment.

If the offender violates any of the terms of community supervision, the court may order the offender to serve out the balance of the community supervision term in confinement in the custody of the department of corrections.

After June 30, 1993, this subsection (b) shall cease to have effect.

(c) When an offender commits any felony ~~((sexual))~~ sex offense on or after July 1, 1987, and is sentenced to a term of confinement of more than one year but less than six years, the sentencing court may, on its own motion or on the motion of the offender or the state, request the department of corrections to evaluate whether the offender is amenable to treatment and the department may place the offender in a treatment program within a correctional facility operated by the department.

Except for an offender who has been convicted of a violation of RCW 9A.44.040 or 9A.44.050, if the offender completes the treatment program before the expiration of his term of confinement, the department of corrections may request the court to convert the balance of confinement to community supervision and to place conditions on the offender including crime-related prohibitions and requirements that the offender perform any one or more of the following:

- (i) Devote time to a specific employment or occupation;
- (ii) Remain within prescribed geographical boundaries and notify the court or the community corrections officer prior to any change in the offender's address or employment;
- (iii) Report as directed to the court and a community corrections officer;
- (iv) Undergo available outpatient treatment.

If the offender violates any of the terms of his community supervision, the court may order the offender to serve out the balance of his community supervision term in confinement in the custody of the department of corrections.

Nothing in (c) of this subsection shall confer eligibility for such programs for offenders convicted and sentenced for a (~~sexual~~) sex offense committed prior to July 1, 1987. This subsection (c) does not apply to any crime committed after the effective date of this section.

(d) Offenders convicted and sentenced for a sex offense committed prior to July 1, 1987, may, subject to available funds, request an evaluation by the department of corrections to determine whether they are amenable to treatment. If the offender is determined to be amenable to treatment, the offender may request placement in a treatment program within a correctional facility operated by the department. Placement in such treatment program is subject to available funds.

(8) (a) When a court sentences a person to a term of total confinement to the custody of the department of corrections for an offense categorized as a sex offense(;) or a serious violent offense committed after July 1, 1988, but before July 1, 1990, assault in the second degree, any crime against a person where it is determined in accordance with RCW 9.94A.125 that the defendant or an accomplice was armed with a deadly weapon at the time of commission, or any felony offense under chapter 69.50 or 69.52 RCW, committed on or after July 1, 1988, the court shall in addition to the other terms of the sentence, sentence the offender to a one-year term of community placement beginning either upon completion of the term of confinement or at such time as the offender is transferred to community custody in lieu of earned early release in accordance with RCW 9.94A.150 (1) and (2). When the court sentences an offender under this (section) subsection to the statutory maximum period of confinement then the community placement portion of the sentence shall consist entirely of such community custody to which the offender may become eligible, in accordance with RCW 9.94A.150 (1) and (2). Any period of community custody actually served shall be credited against the community placement portion of the sentence.

(b) (~~When a court sentences a person to a term of total confinement to the custody of the department of corrections for an offense categorized as a sex offense, a serious violent offense, assault in the second degree, any crime against a person where it is determined in accordance with RCW 9.94A.125 that the defendant or an accomplice was armed with a deadly weapon at the time of commission, or any felony offense under chapter 69.50 or 69.52 RCW, committed on or after July 1, 1988;)~~ When a court sentences a person to a term of total confinement to the custody of the department of corrections for an offense categorized as a sex offense or serious violent offense committed on or after July 1, 1990, the court shall in addition to other terms of the sentence, sentence the offender to community placement for two years or up to the period of earned early release awarded pursuant to RCW 9.94A.150 (1) and (2), whichever is longer. The community placement shall begin either upon completion of the term of confinement or at such time as the offender is transferred to community custody in lieu of earned early release in accordance with RCW 9.94A.150 (1) and (2). When the court sentences an offender under this subsection to the statutory maximum period of confinement then the community placement portion of the sentence shall consist entirely of the community custody to which the offender may become eligible, in accordance with RCW 9.94A.150 (1) and (2). Any period of community custody actually served shall be credited against the community placement portion of the sentence. Unless a condition is waived by the court, (~~the sentence shall include, in addition to the other terms of the sentence, a one-year~~) the terms of community placement ((on)) for offenders sentenced pursuant to this section shall include the following conditions:

- (i) The offender shall report to and be available for contact with the assigned community corrections officer as directed;
 - (ii) The offender shall work at department of corrections-approved education, employment, and/or community service;
 - (iii) The offender shall not consume controlled substances except pursuant to lawfully issued prescriptions;
 - (iv) An offender in community custody shall not unlawfully possess controlled substances; and
 - (v) The offender shall pay supervision fees as determined by the department of corrections.
- (c) The court may also order any of the following special conditions:
- (i) The offender shall remain within, or outside of, a specified geographical boundary;
 - (ii) The offender shall not have direct or indirect contact with the victim of the crime or a specified class of individuals;
 - (iii) The offender shall participate in crime-related treatment or counseling services;
 - (iv) The offender shall not consume alcohol;
 - (v) The residence location and living arrangements of a sex offender shall be subject to the prior approval of the department of corrections; or
 - (vi) The offender shall comply with any crime-related prohibitions.

(d) Prior to transfer to, or during, community placement, any conditions of community placement may be removed or modified so as not to be more restrictive by the sentencing court, upon recommendation of the department of corrections.

(9) If the court imposes a sentence requiring confinement of thirty days or less, the court may, in its discretion, specify that the sentence be served on consecutive or intermittent days. A sentence requiring more than thirty days of confinement shall be served on consecutive days. Local jail administrators may schedule court-ordered intermittent sentences as space permits.

(10) If a sentence imposed includes payment of a legal financial obligation, the sentence shall specify the total amount of the legal financial obligation owed, and shall require the offender to pay a specified monthly sum toward that legal financial obligation. Restitution to victims shall be paid prior to any other payments of monetary obligations. Any legal financial obligation that is imposed by the court may be collected by the department, which shall deliver the amount paid to the county clerk for credit. The offender's compliance with payment of legal financial obligations shall be supervised by the department. All monetary payments ordered shall be paid no later than ten years after the last date of release from confinement pursuant to a felony conviction or the date the sentence was entered. Independent of the department, the party or entity to whom the legal financial obligation is owed shall have the authority to utilize any other remedies available to the party or entity to collect the legal financial obligation. Nothing in this section makes the department, the state, or any of its employees, agents, or other persons acting on their behalf liable under any circumstances for the payment of these legal financial obligations. If an order includes restitution as one of the monetary assessments, the county clerk shall make disbursements to victims named in the order.

(11) Except as provided under RCW 9.94A.140(1) and 9.94A.142(1), a court may not impose a sentence providing for a term of confinement or community supervision or community placement which exceeds the statutory maximum for the crime as provided in chapter 9A.20 RCW.

(12) All offenders sentenced to terms involving community supervision, community service, community placement, or legal financial obligation shall be under the supervision of the secretary of the department of corrections or such person as the secretary may designate and shall follow explicitly the instructions of the secretary including reporting as directed to a community corrections officer, remaining within prescribed geographical boundaries, and notifying the community corrections officer of any change in the offender's address or employment.

(13) The sentencing court shall give the offender credit for all confinement time served before the sentencing if that confinement was solely in regard to the offense for which the offender is being sentenced.

(14) A departure from the standards in RCW 9.94A.400(1) and (2) governing whether sentences are to be served consecutively or concurrently is an exceptional sentence subject to the limitations in subsections (2) and (3) of this section, and may be appealed by the defendant or the state as set forth in RCW 9.94A.210(2) through (6).

(15) The court shall order restitution whenever the offender is convicted of a felony that results in injury to any person or damage to or loss of property, whether the offender is sentenced to confinement or placed under community supervision, unless extraordinary circumstances exist that make restitution inappropriate in the court's judgment. The court shall set forth the extraordinary circumstances in the record if it does not order restitution.

(16) As a part of any sentence, the court may impose and enforce an order that relates directly to the circumstances of the crime for which the offender has been convicted, prohibiting the offender from having any contact with other specified individuals or a specific class of individuals for a period not to exceed the maximum allowable sentence for the crime, regardless of the expiration of the offender's term of community supervision or community placement.

(17) In any sentence of partial confinement, the court may require the defendant to serve the partial confinement in work release or in a program of home detention.

(18) All court-ordered legal financial obligations collected by the department and remitted to the county clerk shall be credited and paid where restitution is ordered. Restitution shall be paid prior to any other payments of monetary obligations.

Sec. 706. Section 103, chapter 271, Laws of 1989 and RCW 9.94A.360 are each amended to read as follows:

The offender score is measured on the horizontal axis of the sentencing grid. The offender score rules are as follows:

The offender score is the sum of points accrued under this section rounded down to the nearest whole number.

(1) A prior conviction is a conviction which exists before the date of sentencing for the offense for which the offender score is being computed. Convictions entered or sentenced on the same date as the conviction for which the offender score is being computed shall be deemed "other current offenses" within the meaning of RCW 9.94A.400.

(2) Except as provided in subsection (4) of this section, class A and sex prior felony convictions shall always be included in the offender score. Class B prior felony convictions other than sex offenses shall not be included in the offender score, if since the last date of release from confinement (including full-time residential treatment) pursuant to a felony conviction, if any, or entry of judgment and sentence, the offender had spent ten consecutive years in the community without being convicted of any felonies. Class C prior felony convictions other than sex offenses shall not be included in the offender score if, since the last date of release from confinement (including full-time residential treatment) pursuant to a felony conviction, if any, or entry of judgment and sentence, the offender had spent five consecutive years in the community without being convicted of any felonies. Serious traffic convictions shall not be included in the offender score if, since the last date of release from confinement (including full-time residential treatment), pursuant to a felony conviction, if any, or entry of judgment and sentence, the offender spent five years in the community without being convicted of any serious traffic or felony traffic offenses. This subsection applies to both adult and juvenile prior convictions.

(3) Out-of-state convictions for offenses shall be classified according to the comparable offense definitions and sentences provided by Washington law.

(4) Always include juvenile convictions for sex offenses. Include other class A juvenile felonies only if the offender was 15 or older at the time the juvenile offense was committed. Include other class B and C juvenile felony convictions only if the offender was 15 or older at the time the juvenile offense was committed and the offender was less than 23 at the time the offense for which he or she is being sentenced was committed.

(5) Score prior convictions for felony anticipatory offenses (attempts, criminal solicitations, and criminal conspiracies) the same as if they were convictions for completed offenses.

(6) In the case of multiple prior convictions, for the purpose of computing the offender score, count all convictions separately, except:

(a) Prior adult offenses which were found, under RCW 9.94A.400(1)(a), to encompass the same criminal conduct, shall be counted as one offense, the offense that yields the highest offender score. The current sentencing court shall determine with respect to other prior adult offenses for which sentences were served concurrently whether those offenses shall be counted as one offense or as separate offenses, and if the court finds that they shall be counted as one offense, then the offense that yields the highest offender score shall be used;

(b) Juvenile prior convictions entered or sentenced on the same date shall count as one offense, the offense that yields the highest offender score, except for juvenile prior convictions for violent offenses with separate victims, which shall count as separate offenses; and

(c) In the case of multiple prior convictions for offenses committed before July 1, 1986, for the purpose of computing the offender score, count all adult convictions served concurrently as one offense, and count all juvenile convictions entered on the same date as one offense. Use the conviction for the offense that yields the highest offender score.

(7) If the present conviction is one of the anticipatory offenses of criminal attempt, solicitation, or conspiracy, count each prior conviction as if the present conviction were for a completed offense.

(8) If the present conviction is for a nonviolent offense and not covered by subsection (12) ((σ))₂ (13)₂ or (17) of this section, count one point for each adult prior felony conviction and one point for each juvenile prior violent felony conviction and 1/2 point for each juvenile prior nonviolent felony conviction.

(9) If the present conviction is for a violent offense and not covered in subsection (10), (11), (12), ((σ)) (13), or (17) of this section, count two points for each prior adult and juvenile violent felony conviction, one point for each prior adult nonviolent felony conviction, and 1/2 point for each prior juvenile nonviolent felony conviction.

(10) If the present conviction is for Murder 1 or 2, Assault 1, Kidnaping 1, Homicide by Abuse, or Rape 1, count three points for prior adult and juvenile convictions for crimes in these categories, two points for each prior adult and juvenile violent conviction (not already counted), one point for each prior adult nonviolent felony conviction, and 1/2 point for each prior juvenile nonviolent felony conviction.

(11) If the present conviction is for Burglary 1, count prior convictions as in subsection (9) of this section; however count two points for each prior adult Burglary 2 or residential burglary conviction, and one point for each prior juvenile Burglary 2 or residential burglary conviction.

(12) If the present conviction is for a felony traffic offense count two points for each adult or juvenile prior conviction for Vehicular Homicide or Vehicular Assault; for each felony offense or serious traffic offense, count one point for each adult and 1/2 point for each juvenile prior conviction.

(13) If the present conviction is for a drug offense count three points for each adult prior felony drug offense conviction and two points for each juvenile drug offense. All other adult and juvenile felonies are scored as in subsection (9) of this section if the current drug offense is violent, or as in subsection (8) of this section if the current drug offense is nonviolent.

(14) If the present conviction is for Willful Failure to Return from Furlough, RCW 72.66.060, or Willful Failure to Return from Work Release, RCW 72.65.070, count only prior escape convictions in the offender score. Count adult prior escape convictions as one point and juvenile prior escape convictions as 1/2 point.

(15) If the present conviction is for Escape 1, RCW 9A.76.110, or Escape 2, RCW 9A.76.120, count adult prior convictions as one point and juvenile prior convictions as 1/2 point.

(16) If the present conviction is for Burglary 2 or residential burglary, count priors as in subsection (8) of this section; however, count two points for each adult and juvenile prior Burglary 1 conviction, two points for each adult prior Burglary 2 or residential burglary conviction, and one point for each juvenile prior Burglary 2 or residential burglary conviction.

(17) If the present conviction is for a sex offense, count three points for each adult and juvenile prior sex offense conviction.

(18) If the present conviction is for an offense committed while the offender was under community placement, add one point.

Sec. 707. Section 24, chapter 137, Laws of 1981 as last amended by section 1, chapter 259, Laws of 1989 and RCW 9.95.009 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) On July 1, 1986, the board of prison terms and paroles shall be redesignated as the indeterminate ((sentencing)) sentence review board. The board's membership shall be reduced as follows: On July 1, 1986, and on July 1st of each year until 1998, the number of board members shall be reduced in a manner commensurate with the board's remaining workload as determined by the office of financial management based upon its population forecast for the indeterminate sentencing system and in conjunction with the budget process. To meet the statutory obligations of the indeterminate sentence review board, the number of board members shall not be reduced to fewer than three members, although the office of financial management may designate some or all members as part-time members and specify the extent to which they shall be less than full-time members. Any reduction shall take place by the expiration, on that date, of the term or terms having the least time left to serve.

(2) After July 1, 1984, the board shall continue its functions with respect to persons convicted of crimes committed prior to July 1, 1984, and committed to the department of corrections. When making decisions on duration of confinement, including those relating to persons committed under a mandatory life sentence, and parole release under RCW 9.95.100 and 9.95.110, the board shall consider the purposes, standards, and sentencing ranges adopted pursuant to RCW 9.94A.040 and the minimum term recommendations of the sentencing judge and prosecuting attorney, and shall attempt to make decisions reasonably consistent with those ranges, standards, purposes, and recommendations: PROVIDED, That the board and its successors shall give adequate written reasons whenever a minimum term or parole release decision is made which is outside the sentencing ranges adopted pursuant to RCW 9.94A.040. In making such decisions, the board and its successors shall consider the different charging and disposition practices under the indeterminate sentencing system.

(3) Notwithstanding the provisions of subsection (2) of this section, the indeterminate sentence review board shall give public safety considerations the highest priority when making all discretionary decisions on the remaining indeterminate population regarding the ability for parole, parole release, and conditions of parole.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 708. A new section is added to chapter 72.09 RCW to read as follows:

In making all discretionary decisions regarding supervision of sexually violent offenders, the department of corrections shall set priorities and make decisions based on an assessment of public safety risks rather than the legal category of the sentences.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 709. The legislature finds that sex offender therapists who examine and treat sex offenders pursuant to the special sexual offender sentencing alternative under RCW 9.94A.120(7)(a) and who may treat juvenile sex offenders pursuant to section 302 of this act, play a vital role in protecting the public from sex offenders who remain in the community following conviction. The legislature finds that the qualifications, practices, techniques, and effectiveness of sex offender treatment providers vary widely and that the court's ability to effectively determine the appropriateness of granting the sentencing alternative and monitoring the offender to ensure continued protection of the community is undermined by a lack of regulated practices. The legislature recognizes the right of sex offender therapists to practice, consistent with the paramount requirements of public safety. Public safety is best served by regulating sex offender therapists whose clients are being evaluated and being treated pursuant to RCW 9.94A.120(7)(a) and section 302 of this act. This chapter shall be construed to require only those sex offender therapists who examine and treat sex offenders pursuant to RCW 9.94A.120(7)(a) and section 302 of this act to obtain a sexual offender treatment certification as provided in this chapter.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 710. Unless the context clearly requires otherwise, the definitions in this section apply throughout this chapter:

(1) "Certified sex offender treatment provider" means a licensed, certified, or registered health professional who is certified to examine and treat sex offenders pursuant to RCW 9.94A.120(7)(a) and section 302 of this act.

(2) Only a certified sex offender treatment provider may perform or provide the following services:

(a) Evaluations conducted for the purposes of and pursuant to RCW 9.94A.120(7)(a) and section 302 of this act;

(b) Treatment of convicted sex offenders who are sentenced and ordered into treatment pursuant to RCW 9.94A.120(7)(a) and adjudicated juvenile sex offenders who are ordered into treatment pursuant to section 302 of this act.

After July 1, 1991, the sex offender treatment providers on the committee must be certified pursuant to this chapter.

(6) The committee shall meet at times as necessary to conduct committee business.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 714. The secretary, members of the committee, and individuals acting on their behalf are immune from suit in any action, civil or criminal, based on any acts performed in the course of their duties.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 715. The department shall issue a certificate to any applicant who meets the following requirements:
