Senator Bluechel: "Senator Skratek, what is the difference in this striking amendment that you are proposing with the substitute bill that we passed out of committee?"

Senator Skratek: "The primary difference--what we are trying to accomplish as this particular piece of legislation emerges--is to make sure that there is a balance between the economic and community development aspects of each of the agencies. We are also trying to address the concerns that are being raised by many of the current stakeholders in the existing agencies to make sure that we are not through this legislation essentially saying, 'this should be eliminated, this should be added,' but rather that we allow the agency heads to be making that determination, as they move toward the development of their plan. Then, we do change the title to 'Community and Economic Resources.' In the original version, it was, 'Community and Economic Development.'"

Senator Bluechel: "Senator Skratek, a further question, if you would. Could you give us some specifics other than the name change that are different than what we studied in committee?"

Senator Skratek: "Quite frankly, Senator Bluechel, I don't think substantively there have been major changes. We still maintain the elements that we had in the committee bill--about the economic development perspectives. We have balanced it by including more of the community development perspectives. We still require a strategic plan to be developed by the agencies. We've done some fine-tuning, as to who will participate in the development of that plan, including the stakeholders, which was always intended in the original version of the bill."

Senator Cantu: "Senator Skratek, it is a fairly substantial change, I mean in terms of the volume of the striking amendment. Has that been worked with the, for example, the new appointed director of the Department of Trade and Economic Development and some of the people that are going to be affected by it?"

Senator Skratek: "Yes, the agency heads have been involved in the development of the evolving legislation and actually, although it is a very thick document, the major substantive changes take place in the first few sections of the document. The rest of the document is simply clean-up language, changing the name from the currently existing name to the Community and Economic Resources.”

Senator Cantu: “Thank you. Most of us have had an opportunity to meet with our new director and think we understand what the intent is, and I just wanted to insure myself, at least, that this striking amendment was something that had been worked in cooperation with, and a full understanding, by the appropriate people.”

Senator Skratek: “Absolutely, and they will continue to be involved in the process as this legislation continues to, I am sure evolve, as it moves through the House of Representatives.”

The President declared the question before the Senate to be the adoption of the striking amendment by Senator Skratek to Substitute Senate Bill No. 5868.

The motion by Senator Skratek carried and the striking amendment was adopted.

"Sec. 32. RCW 43.52.374 and 1983 1st ex.s. c 3 s 3 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) With the exception of the powers and duties of the board of directors described in RCW 43.52.370(2), the management and control of an operating agency constructing, operating, terminating, or decommissioning a nuclear power plant under a site certification agreement under chapter 80.50 RCW is vested in an executive board established under this subsection and consisting of eleven members.

(a) Five members of the executive board shall be elected to four-year terms by the board of directors from among the members of the board of directors. The board of directors may provide by rule for the composition of the five members of the executive board elected from among the members of the board of directors so as to reflect the members public utility districts' and cities' participation in the joint operating agency's projects. Members elected to the executive board from the board of directors are ineligible for continued membership on the executive board if they cease to be members of the board of directors. The board of directors may also provide by rule for the removal of a member of the executive board, except for the outside directors. Members of the board of directors may be elected to succeed terms on the executive board. Members elected to the executive board from the board of directors shall receive a salary of one thousand eighty-five dollars per month from the operating agency (at a rate set by the board of directors)). Members of the executive board are entitled to reimbursement for reasonable expenses actually incurred in connection with official business, including subsistence and lodging while away from each member's place of residence, and mileage for use of a privately owned vehicle, in accordance with chapter 42.24 RCW. Due to the additional responsibilities of the chairperson of the executive board, the chairperson shall be entitled to twice the salary and compensation available to other board members.

(b) Six members of the executive board shall be outside directors. Three shall be selected and appointed by the board of directors, and three shall be selected and appointed by the governor and confirmed by the senate. All outside directors shall:

(i) Serve four-year terms on the executive board. However, of the initial members of the executive board, the board of directors and the governor shall each appoint one outside director to serve a two-year term, one outside director to serve a three-year term, and one outside director to serve a four-year term. Thereafter, all outside directors shall be appointed for four-year terms. All outside directors are eligible for reappointment;

(2) Receive travel expenses on the same basis as the five members elected from the board of directors. The outside directors shall also receive a salary from the operating agency (as fixed by the governor) of one thousand eighty-five dollars per month;

(iii) Not be an officer or employee of, or in any way affiliated with, the Bonneville power administration or any electric utility conducting business in the states of Washington, Oregon, Idaho, or Montana;

(iv) Not be involved in the financial affairs of the operating agency as an underwriter or financial adviser of the operating agency or any of its members or any of the participants in any of the operating agency's plants; and

(v) Be representative of policy makers in business, finance, or science, or have expertise in the construction or management of such facilities as the operating agency is constructing or operating, or have expertise in the termination, disposition, or liquidation of corporate assets.

(c) The governor may remove outside directors from the executive board for incompetency, misconduct, or malfeasance in office in the same manner as state appointive officers under chapter 43.06 RCW. For purposes of this subsection, misconduct shall include, but not be limited to, nonfeasance and misfeasance.

(2) In addition to salary, the board of directors of the operating agency may provide by resolution for the payment of per diem compensation to each member of the executive board at a rate of sixty-six dollars for each day or major part thereof devoted to the business of the operating agency and days upon which he or she attends meetings on behalf of the operating agency, but such compensation paid during any one year to a member of the executive board shall not exceed nine thousand nine hundred dollars.

Nothing in this chapter alters or destroys the status of an operating agency as a separate municipal corporation or makes the state liable in any way or to any extent for any preexisting or future debt of the operating agency or any present or future claim against the agency.

((4))) (4) The eleven members of the executive board shall be selected with the objective of establishing an executive board which has the resources to effectively carry out its responsibilities. All members of the executive board shall conduct their business in a manner which in their judgment is in the interest of all ratepayers affected by the joint operating agency and its projects.

((4))) (5) The executive board shall elect from its members a chairman, vice chairman, and secretary, who shall serve at the pleasure of the executive board. The executive board shall adopt rules for the conduct of its meetings and the carrying out of its business. All proceedings shall be by motion or resolution and shall be recorded in the minute book, which shall be a public record.

A majority of the executive board shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business.

((4))) (6) With respect to any operating agency existing on April 20, 1982, to which the provisions of this section are applicable:

(a) The board of directors shall elect five members to the executive board no later than sixty days after April 20, 1982; and

(b) The board of directors and the governor shall select and appoint the initial outside directors and the executive board shall hold its organizational meeting no later than sixty days after April 20, 1982, and the powers and duties prescribed in this chapter shall devolve upon the executive board at that time.

((4))) (7) The executive board shall select and employ a managing director of the operating agency and may delegate to the managing director such authority for the management and control of the operating agency as the executive board deems appropriate.

((4))) (8) Members of the executive board shall be immune from civil liability for mistakes and errors of judgment in the good faith performance of acts within the scope of their official duties involving the exercise of judgment and discretion. Senator Linda Smith demanded a roll call and the demand was sustained.
The President declared the question before the Senate to be the roll call on the adoption of the amendment by Senator Linda Smith on page 20, after line 36, to Substitute Senate Bill No. 5050.

ROLL CALL

The Secretary called the roll and the amendment was not adopted by the following vote: Yeas, 17; Nays, 31; Absent, 1; Excused, 0.

Absent: Senator West - 1.

MOTIONS

On motion of Senator Haugen, the following title amendments were considered simultaneously and were adopted:

On page 1, line 5 of the title, after "41.04.180," insert "43.52.374;" and after "36.17 RCW" insert "; and adding new sections to chapter 36.100 RCW"

On motion of Senator Haugen, the rules were suspended, Engrossed Substitute Senate Bill No. 5050 was advanced to third reading, the second reading considered the third and the bill was placed on final passage.

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Linda Smith: "Senator Haugen, I am going to read to you just a part of a contract that was given to the commissioners in my area and I'll ask you a question about the contract and whether it applies to this bill. 'The three commissioners are provided with extra group term insurance. The amounts are fifty thousand dollars plus cash.' This group insurance coverage is higher than that available to other employees.'

"Now, setting aside the issue of the manager, because we have already decided that he doesn't have to disclose.

Senator Haugen, in Section 37 of your bill, there is language that provides that the amount and type of insurance made available to PUD commissioners may not exceed the insurance made available to employees except for liability insurance. My question is whether or not the language at page 26 of your bill would prevent the extraordinary situation that has occurred in Clark County with the commissioners giving themselves side cash payments?"

Senator Haugen: "Well, first of all, I'm not an attorney. I can't make any judgements on any contracts. Being I haven't seen it, I can't tell you what that contract says. As far as what I can tell you what it says in here, it says that they have to give the same--they cannot give any more insurance than they give employees. I guess my answer to you is that I really can't say that. I would ask that you speak to a counsel, an attorney, who could probably give you a better definition."

Senator Linda Smith: "I would like to clarify the question, Senator Haugen. If I could just ask one more and then maybe it is still the same answer. The commissioners currently have a contract and it is only like the managers, otherwise only the PUD manager has any contract like this where you have a side pocket where you take cash. Given that information, would the manager's one contract that is higher than the rest of the employees qualify as an employee that they would have the same as?"

Senator Haugen: "Well, Senator Smith, again, not being an attorney, I cannot answer that. At this point, it does say 'employees.' It has an 's' on the end and I assume that that is employees. We all know how attorneys interpret things and sometimes they do differently than we do, so I would say just read the bill and it has to be the same as you offer all employees."

Senator Linda Smith: "Thank you, Senator Haugen."

Further debate ensued.

Senator Haugen: "I think we are just trying to make language uniform in the laws, with others."

Senator Roach: "I think if a person is registered to vote, they should be a qualified voter and that there are some people who are registered to vote who are, in fact, not qualified voters. I was wondering if it would be objectionable to you or to the members of the body to change it back?"

SENATE BILL NO. 5910, by Senator Sutherland

Assisting public drinking water systems.

MOTIONS

On motion of Senator Sutherland, Substitute Senate Bill No. 5910 was substituted for Senate Bill No. 5910 and the substitute bill was placed on second reading and read the second time.

On motion of Senator Williams, the following amendment by Senators Williams, Sutherland, Newhouse and Hochstatter was adopted:

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. The legislature finds that a state-wide assessment of water systems has shown that public drinking water systems have a critical need for financial assistance to assure safe, reliable, and viable water supplies, meet the requirements of the federal safe drinking water act, provide for comprehensive planning and regional planning of public water systems, assess the status of the state’s drinking water quality, develop least-cost solutions to public water systems through consolidation of small systems into larger and financially viable utilities, and implement demand management strategies to more effectively use the state’s financial resources and water resources.

The federal government has indicated an intention to provide new funding for water system needs on a national basis within a program of federal investment in infrastructure intended to provide a significant number of jobs nation-wide this year. The state of Washington does not have the broad-based authority and ability to promptly receive and disburse federal assistance to eligible water systems.
It is the intent of the legislature to provide for a system of grants and/or loans, in addition to existing state financial assistance programs, that will: (1) Receive and utilize federal funding to provide assistance for planning, design, acquisition, construction, operation, and improvement of public water systems facilities and activities; (2) meet the short-term and long-term needs identified and prioritized in the state-wide assessment; and (3) encourage responsible and efficient water system management throughout the state.

It is the further intent of the legislature to use existing state funding programs for the administrative and financial mechanisms necessary to ensure prompt and coordinated delivery of the financial assistance to public water systems authorized under this chapter.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. Unless the context clearly requires otherwise, the definitions in this section apply throughout this chapter.

(1) "Board" means the public works board.
(2) "Department" means the department of health.
(3) "Private water purveyor" means a public water system not owned by a governmental body.
(4) "Public water purveyor" means a governmental body, including a public or quasi-public organization, that owns and operates a public water system, or the authorized agent of such an entity.
(5) "Public water system" has the meaning prescribed in the Washington state safe drinking water act, chapter 70.119A RCW.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. The drinking water assistance account is established in the state treasury. Money may be placed in the account from the proceeds of bonds when authorized by the legislature, transfers from other state funds or accounts, federal financial assistance, or any other lawful source. Moneys from the account may be spent only by the secretary of health or the public works board after appropriation. Expenditures from the account may be used only to meet the purposes of this chapter.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4. The department shall, by January 1, 1994, in consultation with the board, purveyors, local health departments, and other interested parties, establish guidelines and requirements for the provision of grants and/or loans to public water systems that are consistent with the findings and intent contained in section 1 of this act. The department shall ensure that guidelines and requirements:

(1) Utilize, to the maximum extent, all available federal financial assistance;
(2) Are consistent with existing water resource planning and management, including coordinated water supply plans, regional water resource plans, and comprehensive plans under the growth management act, chapter 36.70A RCW;
(3) Prioritize least-cost solutions, including consolidation and restructuring of small systems into more economical units and the provision of regional facilities;
(4) Assure implementation of water conservation and other demand management measures consistent with state guidelines for water utilities;
(5) Provide assistance for the necessary planning and engineering to assure that consistency, coordination, and proper professional review are incorporated into projects or activities proposed for funding;
(6) Include minimum standards for financial viability and water system planning;
(7) Provide for testing and evaluation of the water quality of the state's public water systems to assure that priority for financial assistance is provided to systems and areas with threats to public health from contaminated supplies and reduce in appropriate cases the substantial increases in costs and rates that customers of small systems would otherwise incur under the monitoring and testing requirements of the federal safe drinking water act; and
(8) Are coordinated, to the maximum extent possible, with other state programs that provide financial assistance to public water systems and state programs that address existing or potential water quality or drinking water contamination problems.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 5. The board shall develop a financial assistance program using appropriated funds from the drinking water assistance account to meet the purposes and implement the guidelines authorized in this chapter. The board shall consult with the department and water purveyors in developing the financial assistance program. The board shall develop criteria and/or loans to be made to public water systems. The criteria shall emphasize public water systems with the most critical public health needs; the capacity of the water system to effectively manage its resources; the ability to promptly commence the project; and the relative benefit to the community served. Priority shall be given to those systems that are ready to proceed, that will provide water system improvements to the greatest number of people, and any other criteria that the board shall develop in consultation with the department and water system purveyors.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 6. The department and the board shall be entitled to reasonable administrative expenses in developing and implementing the programs authorized under this chapter.

In all cases where the department, board, and any other department, agency, board, or commission of state government interact or provide service under this chapter, the administering government body shall endeavor to provide cost-effective services. The provision of services shall include: (1) The use of policy statements or guidelines instead of administrative rules; (2) using existing management mechanisms rather than creating new administrative structures; (3) investigating the use of service contracts, either with other governmental entities or with nongovernmental service providers; (4) the use of joint or combined financial assistance applications; and (5) any other method or practice designed to streamline the delivery of services.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 7. This act is necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health, or safety, or support of the state government and its existing public institutions, and shall take effect immediately.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 8. Sections 1 through 8 of this act shall constitute a new chapter in Title 70 RCW.

Senator Nelson moved that the following amendment be adopted:

On page 4, after line 12, insert the following:

"NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. The purpose of sections 2 through 16 of this act is:
(1) To provide safety for all persons using the highways of this state by quickly suspending or revoking the driving privilege of those persons who have shown themselves to be safety hazards by driving with an excessive concentration of alcohol in their bodies; and
(2) To guard against the potential for any erroneous deprivation of the driving privilege by providing an opportunity for administration of a test prior to the effective date of the suspension or revocation.

A new section is added to chapter 46.04 RCW to read as follows:

"Alcohol concentration" means (1) the grams of alcohol per two hundred ten liters of a person's breath, or (2) the percent by weight of alcohol in a person's blood.

A new section is added to chapter 46.04 RCW to read as follows:

"Test" means the test of a person's breath for alcohol concentration by infrared test method consisting of the person insufflating deep lung air samples at least twice into the instrument sufficient to allow two separate measurements. There must be sufficient time between the provision of each sample by the person to permit the instrument to measure each sample individually. The two breath samples supplied by the individual shall constitute one test. An accurate test is presumed if the results of each measurement is within plus or minus ten percent of the average of the two measurements.

Sec. 5. RCW 46.04.580 and 1990 c 250 s 22 are each amended to read as follows:
"Suspend," in all its forms, means invalidation for any period less than one calendar year and thereafter until reinstatement. However, under RCW 46.61.515 and section 7 of this act the invalidation may last for more than one calendar year.

Sec. 6. RCW 46.20.308 and 1989 c 357 s 8 are each amended to read as follows:
(1) Any person who operates a motor vehicle within this state is deemed to have given consent, subject to the provisions of RCW 46.61.506, to a test or tests of his or her breath or blood for the purpose of determining the alcoholic content of his or her breath or blood if arrested for any offense where, at the time of the arrest, the arresting officer has reasonable grounds to believe the person had been driving or was in actual physical control of a motor vehicle while under the influence of intoxicating liquor.

(2) The test or tests of breath shall be administered at the direction of a law enforcement officer having reasonable grounds to believe the person to have been driving or in actual physical control of a motor vehicle within this state while under the influence of intoxicating liquor. However, in those instances where: ((a)) the person is incapable due to physical injury, physical incapacity, or other physical limitation, of providing a breath sample; or ((b)) as a result of a traffic accident the person is being treated for a medical condition in a hospital, clinic, doctor's office, or other similar facility in which a breath testing instrument is not present, a blood test shall be administered by a qualified person as provided in RCW 46.61.506(4). The officer shall inform the person of his or her right to refuse the breath or blood test, and of his or her right to have additional tests administered by any qualified person of his or her choosing as provided in RCW 46.61.506. The officer shall warn the driver that (a) his or her privilege to drive will be revoked or denied if he or she refuses to submit to the test, ((and) (b) ((that)) his or her privilege to drive will be suspended, revoked, or denied if the test is administered and the test indicates the alcohol concentration of the person's breath or blood meets or exceeds the limits set forth in RCW 46.61.502 (1) and (2), and (c) his or her refusal to take the test may be used in a criminal trial.

(3) Except as provided in this section, the test administered shall be of the breath only. If an individual is unconscious or is under arrest for the crime of vehicular homicide as provided in RCW 46.61.520 or vehicular assault as provided in RCW 46.61.522, or if an individual is under arrest for the crime of driving while under the influence of intoxicating liquor or drugs as provided in RCW 46.61.502, which arrest results from an accident in which another person has been injured and there is a reasonable likelihood that such other person may die as a result of injuries sustained in the accident, a breath or blood test may be administered without the consent of the individual so arrested.

(4) Any person who is dead, unconscious, or who is otherwise in a condition rendering him or her incapable of refusal, shall be deemed not to have withdrawn the consent provided by subsection (1) of this section and the test or tests may be petitioner's grounds for requesting review. Failure to attend during pendency of the hearing and appeal. Sustained. Upon granting petitioner's request for review, the court shall review the department's final order of suspension, revocation, or denial by the department in the manner provided in RCW 46.20.334. The filing of the appeal does not stay the effective date of the suspension, revocation, or denial. A petition filed under this subsection must include the petitioner's grounds for requesting review. Upon granting petitioner's request for review, the court shall review the department's final order of suspension, revocation, or denial as expeditiously as possible. If judicial relief is sought for a stay or other temporary remedy from the department, the court shall not grant such relief unless the court finds that:

(a) The petitioner is likely to prevail when the court finally disposes of the matter;
(b) Without relief the petitioner will suffer irreparable injury; and
(c) The threat to the safety of persons on the public highways is not sufficiently serious to justify the department’s action in the circumstances.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 7. A new section is added to chapter 46.20 RCW to read as follows:

(1) Pursuant to RCW 46.20.308, the department shall suspend, revoke, or deny the arrested person’s license, permit to drive, driving privilege, or any nonresident privilege as follows:

(a) In the case of a person who has refused a test or tests:
   (i) For a first refusal within five years preceding the date of refusal, revocation or denial for one year;
   (ii) For a second or subsequent refusal within five years preceding the date of refusal, revocation or denial for two years.

(b) In the case of an incident where a person has submitted to or been administered a test or tests indicating that the alcohol concentration of the person’s breath or blood was 0.10 or more:
   (i) For a first incident within five years, where there has been no previous conviction of RCW 46.61.502 or 46.61.504 within the five-year period preceding the current incident, suspension or denial until the person reaches age nineteen or for ninety days, whichever is longer;
   (ii) For a second incident within five years, revocation or denial for one year. A previous conviction under RCW 46.61.502 or 46.61.504 within the five-year period preceding the current incident, that did not result in a suspension or denial under this subsection, shall be considered a previous incident for purposes of this subsection;
   (iii) For a third or subsequent incident within five years, revocation or denial for two years. Previous convictions under RCW 46.61.502, 46.61.504, 46.61.520, or 46.61.522 within the five-year period preceding the current incident, that did not result in a suspension, revocation, or denial under this subsection, shall be considered previous incidents for purposes of this subsection.

A diagnostic evaluation and treatment recommendation shall be prepared by an alcoholism agency approved by the department of social and health services. A copy of the report shall be forwarded to the department of licensing. The department shall not grant or reinstate a person’s privilege to drive that has been suspended, revoked, or denied under subsection (1) of this section until it has determined the person’s eligibility for licensing based upon the report provided by an approved alcoholism agency or probation department and shall deny reinstatement until enrollment and participation in an approved program has been established and the person is otherwise qualified.

Sec. 8. RCW 46.20.311 and 1990 c 250 s 45 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) The department shall not suspend a driver's license or privilege to drive a motor vehicle on the public highways for a fixed period of more than one year, except as permitted under RCW 46.20.342 or 46.61.515. Whenever the license or driving privilege of any person is suspended by reason of a conviction, a finding that a traffic infraction has been committed, pursuant to chapter 46.29 RCW, or pursuant to RCW 46.20.291, the suspension shall remain in effect until the person gives and thereafter maintains proof of financial responsibility for the future as provided in chapter 46.29 RCW. The department shall not issue to the person a new, duplicate, or renewal license until the person pays a reissue fee of twenty dollars. If the suspension is the result of a violation of RCW 46.61.502 or 46.61.504, the reissue fee shall be (115w) one hundred dollars.

(2) Any person whose license or privilege to drive a motor vehicle on the public highways has been revoked, unless the revocation was for a cause which has been removed, is not entitled to have the license or privilege renewed or restored until: (a) After the expiration of one year from the date the license or privilege to drive was revoked; (b) after the expiration of the applicable revocation period provided by RCW 46.61.515(3) (b) or (c); (c) after the expiration of two years for persons convicted of vehicular homicide; (d) after the expiration of one year in cases of revocation for the first refusal within five years to submit to a chemical test under RCW 46.20.308; (e) after the expiration of two years in cases of revocation for the second refusal within five years to submit to a chemical test under RCW 46.20.308; or (f) after the expiration of the applicable revocation period provided by RCW 46.61.265. After the expiration of the appropriate period, the person may make application for a new license as provided by law together with a reissue fee in the amount of twenty dollars, but if the revocation is the result of a violation of RCW 46.20.308, 46.61.502, 46.61.504, or 46.61.504, the reissue fee shall be (115w) one hundred dollars. Except for a revocation under RCW 46.20.265, the department shall not then issue a new license unless it is satisfied after investigation of the driving ability of the person that it will be safe to grant the privilege of driving a motor vehicle on the public highways, and until the person gives and thereafter maintains proof of financial responsibility for the future as provided in chapter 46.29 RCW. For a revocation under RCW 46.20.265, the department shall not issue a new license unless it is satisfied after investigation of the driving ability of the person that it will be safe to grant the privilege of driving a motor vehicle on the public highways.

(3) Whenever the driver’s license of any person is suspended pursuant to Article IV of the nonresident violators compact or RCW 46.23.020, the department shall not issue to the person any new or renewal license until the person pays a reissue fee of twenty dollars. If the suspension is the result of a violation of the laws of another state, province, or other jurisdiction involving (a) the operation or physical control of a motor vehicle upon the public highways while under the influence of intoxicating liquor or drugs, or (b) the refusal to submit to a chemical test or tests of the driver’s breath or blood alcohol content, the reissue fee shall be (115w) one hundred dollars.

Sec. 9. RCW 46.20.311 and 1990 c 250 s 8 (section 8 of this act) are each amended to read as follows:

(1) The department shall not suspend a driver's license or privilege to drive a motor vehicle on the public highways for a fixed period of more than one year, except as permitted under RCW 46.20.342 ((ae), 46.61.515, or section 7 of this act. Except for a suspension under section 7(1)(b)(ii) of this act, whenever the license or driving privilege of any person is suspended by reason of a conviction, a finding that a traffic infraction has been committed, pursuant to chapter 46.29 RCW, or pursuant to RCW 46.20.291 ((ee), 46.20.308), the suspension shall remain in effect until the person gives and thereafter maintains proof of financial responsibility for the future as provided in chapter 46.29 RCW. The department shall not issue to the person a new, duplicate, or renewal license until the person pays a reissue fee of twenty dollars. If the suspension is the result of a violation of RCW 46.61.502 or 46.61.504 or was imposed under RCW 46.20.308, the reissue fee shall be one hundred dollars. If the suspension was imposed under section 7(1)(b)(ii) of this act, the suspension shall remain in effect and the department shall not issue any new, duplicate, or renewal license until the person pays a reinstatement fee of one hundred dollars.
(2) Any person whose license or privilege to drive a motor vehicle on the public highways has been revoked, unless the revocation was for a cause which has been removed, is not entitled to have the license or privilege renewed or restored until: (a) After the expiration of one year from the date the license was revoked; (b) after the expiration of the applicable revocation period provided by RCW 46.61.515(3) (b) or (c); (c) after the expiration of two years for persons convicted of vehicular homicide; (d) after the expiration of (one year in cases of revocation for the first refusal within five years to submit to a chemical test under RCW 46.20.308; (e) after the expiration of two years in cases of revocation for the second refusal within five years to submit to a chemical test under RCW 46.20.308; or (f)) the applicable revocation period provided by section 7 of this act; or (e) after the expiration of the applicable revocation period provided by RCW 46.20.265. After the expiration of the appropriate period, the person may make application for a new license as provided by law together with a reissue fee in the amount of twenty dollars, but if the revocation is the result of a violation of RCW 46.61.504, 46.61.502, or 46.61.304, the reissue fee shall be one hundred dollars. Except for a revocation under RCW 46.20.265, the department shall not then issue a new license unless it is satisfied after investigation of the driving ability of the person that it will be safe to grant the privilege of driving a motor vehicle on the public highways, and until the person gives and thereafter maintains proof of financial responsibility for the privilege as provided in chapter 46.29 RCW. For a revocation under RCW 46.20.265, the department shall not issue a new license unless it is satisfied after investigation of the driving ability of the person that it will be safe to grant that person the privilege of driving a motor vehicle on the public highways.

(3) Whenever the driver's license of any person is suspended pursuant to Article IV of the nonresident violators compact or RCW 46.23.020, the department shall not issue to the person any new or renewal license until the person pays a reissue fee of twenty dollars. If the suspension is the result of a violation of the laws of another state, province, or other jurisdiction involving (a) the operation or physical control of a motor vehicle upon the public highways while under the influence of intoxicating liquor or drugs, or (b) the refusal to submit to a chemical test or tests of the driver's breath or blood alcohol content, the reissue fee shall be one hundred dollars.

Sec. 10. RCW 46.20.391 and 1985 c 407 s 5 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) Any person licensed under this chapter whose driving privilege has been suspended under section 7(1)(b)(i) of this act or who is convicted of an offense relating to motor vehicles for which suspension or revocation of the driver's license is mandatory, other than vehicular homicide or vehicular assault, may submit to the department an application for an occupational driver's license. The department, upon receipt of the prescribed fee and upon determining that the petitioner is engaged in an occupation or trade that makes it essential that the petitioner operate a motor vehicle, may issue an occupational driver's license and may set definite restrictions as provided in RCW 46.20.394. No person may petition for, and the department shall not issue, an occupational driver's license that is effective during the first thirty days of any suspension or revocation imposed under RCW 46.61.515 or section 7(1)(b)(i) of this act. A person aggrieved by the decision of the department on the application for an occupational driver's license may request a hearing as provided by rule of the department.

(2) An applicant for an occupational driver's license is eligible to receive such license only if:
   (a) Within one year immediately preceding the present conviction or administrative action, the applicant has not been convicted of any offense relating to motor vehicles for which suspension or revocation of a driver's license is mandatory; and
   (b) Within five years immediately preceding the present conviction or administrative action, the applicant has not been convicted of driving or being in actual physical control of a motor vehicle while under the influence of intoxicating liquor under RCW 46.61.502 or 46.61.504, of vehicular homicide under RCW 46.61.520, or of vehicular assault under RCW 46.61.522, or had a license administratively suspended or revoked under section 7(1)(b)(i) of this act; and
   (c) The applicant is engaged in an occupation or trade that makes it essential that he or she operate a motor vehicle; and
   (d) The applicant files satisfactory proof of financial responsibility pursuant to chapter 46.29 RCW, unless the suspension was imposed under section 7(1)(b)(i) of this act.

(3) The director shall cancel an occupational driver's license upon receipt of notice that the holder thereof has had a driver's license administratively suspended or revoked under RCW 46.20.308 or has been convicted of operating a motor vehicle in violation of its restrictions, or of an offense that pursuant to chapter 46.20 RCW would warrant suspension or revocation of a regular driver's license. The cancellation is effective as of the date of the conviction, and continues with the same force and effect as any suspension or revocation under this title.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 11. A new section is added to chapter 46.20 RCW to read as follows:

(1) Any person licensed under this chapter or any nonresident granted the privilege of driving a motor vehicle on the highways of this state, whose driver's license or driving privilege has been suspended or revoked, other than for vehicular homicide, vehicular assault, or under section 7(1)(a) of this act, or for a physical or mental disability that would affect that person's ability to operate a motor vehicle with safety upon the highways, may submit to the department an application for a provisional driver's license for purposes of participation in an alcohol or drug abuse treatment program approved by the department of social and health services. The department, upon receipt of the fee prescribed by this section and upon determining that the applicant is engaged in a treatment program approved by the department of social and health services that makes it essential that the applicant operate a motor vehicle, may issue a provisional driver's license. No person may petition for, and the department shall not issue, a provisional driver's license that is effective during the first thirty days of any suspension or revocation imposed under RCW 46.61.515 or section 7 of this act.

(2) An applicant for a provisional driver's license is eligible to receive such license only if:
   (a) The applicant is engaged in a program of treatment that makes it essential that he or she operate a motor vehicle; and
   (b) The applicant files satisfactory proof of financial responsibility pursuant to chapter 46.29 RCW, unless the suspension was imposed under section 7(1)(b)(i) of this act; and
   (c) The applicant pays to the department a treatment assessment fee of twenty-five dollars, such fee to be deposited in a special sober or suspended account, within the department of social and health services, to be administered by the division of alcohol and substance abuse, to be used to pay the cost of the diagnostic evaluation or assessment required under section 7(2) of this act for indigent or low-income individuals.

(3) In issuing a provisional driver's license under this section, the department shall set forth in detail the specific hours of the day during which the person may drive to and from his or her place of treatment; the days of the week during which the license may be used; the general routes over which the person may travel; and the expiration date of the license, such date to correspond to the ending date of any suspension or revocation of the person's driver's license or driving privilege, or the date the person's... treatment program is to be concluded, whichever occurs first. These restrictions shall be prepared in written form by the department, such document to be carried in the vehicle at all times and presented to a law enforcement officer under the same terms as the provisional driver's license. Any violation of the restrictions constitutes a violation of RCW 46.20.342 and subjects the person to all procedures and penalties therefor.

(4) The department shall cancel a provisional driver's license upon receipt of notice that the holder thereof has been convicted of operating a motor vehicle in violation of its restrictions, or of an offense that pursuant to this chapter would warrant suspension or revocation of a regular driver's license, or upon the recommendation of a treatment agency for nonparticipation in a treatment program. The cancellation is effective as of the date of the conviction, or the date a recommendation is accepted from a treatment agency, and continues with the same force and effect as any suspension or revocation under this title.

Sec. 12. RCW 46.61.515 and 1985 c 352 s 1 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) Every person who is convicted of a violation of RCW 46.61.502 or 46.61.504 shall be punished by imprisonment for not less than twenty-four consecutive hours nor more than one year, and by a fine of not less than two hundred fifty dollars and not more than one thousand dollars. Unless the judge finds the person to be indigent, two hundred fifty dollars of the fine shall not be suspended or deferred. Twenty-four consecutive hours of the jail sentence shall not be suspended or deferred unless the judge finds that the imposition of the jail sentence will pose a risk to the defendant's physical or mental well-being. Whenever the mandatory jail sentence is suspended or deferred, the judge must state, in writing, the reason for granting the suspension or deferral and the facts upon which the suspension or deferral is based. The court may impose conditions of probation that may include nonrepetition, alcohol or drug treatment, supervised probation, or other conditions that may be appropriate. The convicted person shall, in addition, be required to complete a course in an alcohol information school approved by the department of social and health services or more intensive treatment in a program approved by the department of social and health services, as determined by the court. A diagnostic evaluation and treatment recommendation shall be prepared under the direction of the court by an alcoholism agency approved by the department of social and health services or a qualified probation program approved by the department of social and health services. A copy of the report shall be forwarded to the department of licensing. Based on the diagnostic evaluation, the court shall determine whether the convicted person shall be required to complete a course in an alcoholism or drug treatment school approved by the department of social and health services or more intensive treatment in a program approved by the department of social and health services. Standards for approval for alcohol treatment programs shall be prescribed by rule under the administrative procedure act, chapter 34.05 RCW. The courts shall periodically review the costs of alcohol information schools and treatment programs within their jurisdictions.

(2) On a second or subsequent conviction for driving or being in physical control of a motor vehicle while under the influence of intoxicating liquor or drugs within a five-year period a person shall be punished by imprisonment for not less than seven days nor more than one year and by a fine of not less than five hundred dollars and not more than two thousand dollars. District courts and courts organized under chapter 35.20 RCW are authorized to impose such fine. Unless the judge finds the person to be indigent, five hundred dollars of the fine shall not be suspended or deferred. The jail sentence shall not be suspended or deferred unless the judge finds that the imposition of the jail sentence will pose a risk to the defendant's physical or mental well-being. Whenever the mandatory jail sentence is suspended or deferred, the judge must state, in writing, the reason for granting the suspension or deferral and the facts upon which the suspension or deferral is based. If, at the time of a second or subsequent conviction, the driver is without a license or permit because of a previous suspension or revocation, the minimum mandatory sentence shall be ninety days in jail and a two hundred dollar fine. The penalty so imposed shall not be suspended or deferred. The person shall, in addition, be required to complete a diagnostic evaluation by an alcoholism agency approved by the department of social and health services or a qualified probation department approved by the department of social and health services. The report shall be forwarded to the department of licensing. If the person is found to have an alcohol or drug problem requiring treatment, the person shall complete treatment at an approved alcoholism treatment facility or approved drug treatment center.

In addition to any nonsuspendable and nondeferrable jail sentence required by this subsection, the court shall sentence a person to a term of imprisonment not exceeding one hundred eighty days and shall suspend but shall not defer the sentence for a period of less than one year. The suspension of the sentence may be conditioned upon nonrepetition, alcohol or drug treatment, supervised probation, or other conditions that may be appropriate. The sentence may be imposed in whole or in part upon violation of a condition of suspension during the suspension period.

(3) The license or permit to drive or any nonresident privilege of any person convicted of driving or being in physical control of a motor vehicle while under the influence of intoxicating liquor or drugs shall:

(a) On the first conviction under either offense, where there has been no previous suspension or denial imposed under section 7(1)(b) of this act for the incident upon which the conviction is based, or where there has been no previous incident resulting in a suspension, revocation, or denial under section 7(1)(b) of this act within the five-year period preceding the current conviction, be suspended by the department until the person reaches age nineteen or for ninety days, whichever is longer. The department of licensing shall determine the person's eligibility for licensing based upon the reports provided by the designated alcoholism agency, drug treatment center, or probation department and shall deny reinstatement until enrollment and participation in an approved program has been established and the person is otherwise qualified;

(b) On a second conviction under either offense within a five-year period, where there has been no previous revocation or denial imposed under section 7(1)(b) of this act for the incident upon which the conviction is based, be revoked by the department for one year. A previous incident resulting in a suspension, revocation, or denial under section 7(1)(b) of this act within the five-year period preceding the current conviction shall be considered a previous conviction for purposes of this subsection. The department of licensing shall determine the person's eligibility for licensing based upon the reports provided by the designated alcoholism agency, drug treatment center, or probation department and shall deny reinstatement until satisfactory progress in an approved program has been established and the person is otherwise qualified;

(c) On a third or subsequent conviction of driving or being in physical control of a motor vehicle while under the influence of intoxicating liquor or drugs, vehicular homicide, or vehicular assault, or any combination thereof within a five-year period, where there has been no previous revocation or denial imposed under section 7(1)(b) of this act for the incident upon which the conviction is based, be revoked by the department for two years. Previous incidents resulting in suspension, revocation, or denial under section 7(1)(b) of this act within the five-year period preceding the current conviction shall be considered previous convictions for purposes of this subsection.
In any case provided for in this section, where a driver's license is to be revoked or suspended, the revocation or suspension shall be stayed and shall not take effect until after the determination of any appeal from the conviction which may lawfully be taken, but in case the conviction is sustained on appeal the revocation or suspension takes effect as of the date that the conviction becomes effective for other purposes.

Sec. 13. RCW 46.68.060 and 1969 c 99 s 11 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) There is hereby created in the state treasury a fund to be known as the highway safety fund to the credit of which shall be deposited all moneys directed by law to be deposited therein. This fund shall be used for carrying out the provisions of law relating to driver licensing, driver improvement, financial responsibility, cost of furnishing abstracts of driving records, maintaining the case records necessary to carry out the purposes set forth in RCW 43.59.010, and as otherwise provided in subsection (2) of this section.

(2) The sum of ten dollars shall be paid from the highway safety fund to law enforcement agencies for each reissue fee collected under RCW 46.20.311 due to a suspension or revocation arising from an arrest under RCW 46.61.502 or 46.61.504 as reimbursement for the required administrative procedures.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 14. The traffic safety commission shall undertake a study of the effectiveness of this act and shall report its findings to the governor and the appropriate legislative committees within thirty months of the effective date of this section.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 15. If any provision of this act or its application to any person or circumstance is held invalid, the remainder of the act or the application of the provision to other persons or circumstances is not affected.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 16. The department of licensing may adopt rules necessary to carry out this act.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 17. Section 8 of this act is necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health, or safety, or support of the state government and its existing public institutions, and shall take effect immediately. Sections 2 through 7 and 9 through 16 of this act shall take effect July 1, 1994. The director of licensing may immediately take such steps as are necessary to insure that all sections of this act are implemented on their respective effective dates.”

Senator Adam Smith moved that the following amendment to the amendment be adopted:

On page 7, line 24 of the amendment, after “(2)” insert the following and renumber the subsections accordingly:

The department shall stay the suspension, revocation, or denial action pursuant to this subsection against any person, for whom it receives evidence of a court order for deferred prosecution, in accordance with chapter 10.05 RCW. The stay shall remain in effect for the term of the order: PROVIDED, That the department shall remove the stay upon receipt of evidence of new charges in violation of section 6 of this act or that the terms of the deferred prosecution order have been violated.”

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Senator Talmadge: “A point of parliamentary inquiry, Mr. President. If I wish to raise a point of order with respect to scope and object of Senator Nelson's amendment, do I waive my right to raise the point of order as to scope and object if Senator Smith’s amendment to the amendment is adopted?”

REPLY BY THE PRESIDENT

President Pritchard: “No.”

The President declared the question before the Senate to be the adoption of the amendment by Senator Adam Smith on page 7, line 24, to the amendment by Senator Nelson on page 4, after line 12, to Substitute Senate Bill No. 5341. The motion by Senator Adam Smith carried and the amendment to the amendment was adopted.

POINT OF ORDER

Senator Talmadge: “Mr. President, a point of order. I believe that the amendment by Senator Nelson expands the scope and object of the bill. The original version of Substitute Senate Bill No. 5341 deals with circumstances of removal of the registration of the vehicle and the plates of the vehicle upon a conviction in court of the individual who is driving while intoxicated. The amendment by Senator Nelson, as he candidly admits, is of the license revocation process to the administrative procedures. I believe that an administrative revocation of a driver's license as opposed to a court revocation of vehicle registration and the plates of the vehicle expands the scope and object of Substitute Senate Bill No. 4351.”

Further debate ensued.

MOTION

On motion of Senator Jesernig, further consideration of Substitute Senate Bill No. 5341 was deferred.

MOTION

On motion of Senator Jesernig, the Senate commenced consideration of Senate Bill No. 5130.

SECOND READING

SENATE BILL NO. 5130, by Senators Talmadge and A. Smith

Clarifying conditions for granting attorneys’ fees.
MOTIONS

On motion of Senator Adam Smith, Substitute Senate Bill No. 5130 was substituted for Senate Bill No. 5130 and the substitute bill was placed on second reading and read the second time.

On motion of Senator Adam Smith, the rules were suspended. Substitute Senate Bill No. 5130 was advanced to third reading, the second reading considered the third and the bill was placed on final passage.

The President declared the question before the Senate to be the roll call on the final passage of Substitute Senate Bill No. 5130.

ROLL CALL

The Secretary called the roll on the final passage of Substitute Senate Bill No. 5130 and the bill passed the Senate by the following vote: Yeas, 38; Nays, 10; Absent, 1; Excused, 0.

Sec. 1. RCW 47.17.001 and 1990 c 233 s 1 are each amended to read as follows:

In considering whether to make additions, deletions, or other changes to the state highway system, the legislature shall be guided by the following criteria as contained in the Road Jurisdiction Committee Phase I report to the legislature dated January 1987:

(1) A rural highway route should be designated as a state highway if it meets any of the following criteria:

(a) Is designated as part of the national system of interstate and defense highways (popularly called the interstate system); or

(b) Is designated as part of the system of numbered United States routes; or

(c) Contains an international border crossing that is open twelve or more hours each day.

(2) A rural highway route may be designated as a state highway if it is part of an integrated system of roads and:

(a) Carries in excess of three hundred thousand tons annually and provides primary access to a rural port or intermodal freight terminal;

(b) Provides a major cross-connection between existing state highways; or

(c) Connects places exhibiting one or more of the following characteristics:

(i) A population center of one thousand or greater;

(ii) An area or aggregation of areas having a population equivalency of one thousand or more, such as, but not limited to, recreation areas, military installations, and so forth;

(iii) A county seat;

(iv) A major commercial-industrial terminal in a rural area with a population equivalency of one thousand or greater.

(d) Is designated as a scenic and recreational highway.
(3) An urban highway route that meets any of the following criteria should be designated as part of the state highway system:

(a) Is designated as part of the interstate system;
(b) Is designated as part of the system of numbered United States routes;
(c) Is an urban extension of a rural state highway into or through an urban area and is necessary to form an integrated system of state highways;
(d) Is a principal arterial that is a connecting link between two state highways and serves regionally oriented through traffic in urbanized areas with a population of fifty thousand or greater, or is a spur that serves regionally oriented traffic in urbanized areas.

(4) The following guidelines are intended to be used as a basis for interpreting and applying the criteria to specific routes:

(a) Any route wholly within one or more contiguous jurisdictions which would be proposed for transfer to the state highway system under these criteria, if local officials prefer, responsibility will remain at the local level.
(b) State highway routes maintain continuity of the system by being composed of routes that join other state routes at both ends or to arterial routes in the states of Oregon and Idaho and the Province of British Columbia.
(c) Public facilities may be considered to be served if they are within approximately two miles of a state highway.
(d) Exceptions may be made to include:
   (i) Rural spurs as state highways if they meet the criteria relative to serving population centers of one thousand or greater population or activity centers with population equivalencies or an aggregated population of one thousand or greater;
   (ii) Urban spurs as state highways that provide needed access to Washington state ferry terminals, state parks, major seaports, and trunk airports; and
   (iii) Urban connecting links as state highways that function as needed bypass routing of regionally oriented through traffic and benefit truck routing, capacity alternative, business congestion, and geometric deficiencies.
(e) In urban and urbanized areas:
   (i) Unless they are significant regional traffic generators, public facilities such as state hospitals, state correction centers, state universities, ferry terminals, and military bases do not constitute a criteria for establishment of a state highway; and
   (ii) There may be no more than one parallel nonaccess controlled facility in the same corridor as a freeway or limited access facility as designated by the metropolitan planning organization.
(f) When there is a choice of two or more routes between population centers, the state route designation shall normally be based on the following considerations:
   (i) The ability to handle higher traffic volumes;
   (ii) The higher ability to accommodate further development or expansion along the existing alignment;
   (iii) The most direct route and the lowest travel time;
   (iv) The route that serves traffic with the most interstate, state-wide, and interregional significance;
   (v) The route that provides the optimal spacing between other state routes; and
   (vi) The route that best serves the comprehensive plan for community development in those areas where such a plan has been developed and adopted.

5. A route designated in chapter 47.39 RCW as a scenic and recreational highway is not eligible for removal from the scenic and recreational system without the prior consent of the local jurisdiction in which the highway is located.

Moneys available in the administrative contingency fund, other than money in the special account created under RCW 50.24.014, shall be expended upon the direction of the commissioner, with the approval of the governor, whenever it appears to him or her that such expenditure is necessary for:

(b) The proper administration of this title for which purpose appropriations from federal funds have been requested but not yet received, provided, the administrative contingency fund will be reimbursed upon receipt of the requested federal appropriation.

Sec. 8. RCW 50.20.050 and 1982 1st ex.s c 18 s 6 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) An individual shall be disqualified from benefits beginning with the first day of the calendar week in which he or she has left the most recent work voluntarily without good cause and thereafter for five calendar weeks and until he or she has obtained bona fide work and earned wages (of not less than his or her suspended weekly benefit amount in each of five calendar weeks) equal to five times his or her weekly benefit amount.

The disqualification shall continue if the work obtained is a mere sham to qualify for benefits and is not bona fide work. In determining whether work is of a bona fide nature, the commissioner shall consider factors including but not limited to the following:

(a) The duration of the work;
(b) The extent of direction and control by the employer over the work; and
(c) The level of skill required for the work in light of the individual's training and experience.

(2) An individual shall not be considered to have left the most recent work voluntarily without good cause when:

(a) He or she has left work to accept a bona fide offer of bona fide work as described in subsection (1) of this section;
(b) The separation was because of the illness or disability of the claimant or the death, illness, or disability of a member of the claimant's immediate family if the claimant took all reasonable precautions, in accordance with any regulations that the commissioner may prescribe, to protect his or her employment status by having promptly notified the employer of the reason for the absence and by having promptly requested reemployment when again able to assume employment; PROVIDED, That these precautions need not have been taken when they would have been a futile act, including those instances when the futility of the act was a result of a recognized labor-management dispatch system; or
(c) He or she has left work to relocate for employment outside the existing labor market area with his or her spouse if the claimant reasonably expected and as long as was reasonable to expect to obtain employment, and is in his or her best interest, and is not for the purpose of avoiding work under good cause.

(3)(a) In determining under this section whether an individual has left the most recent work voluntarily without good cause, the commissioner shall consider work-connected factors such as the degree of risk involved to the individual's health, safety, and morals, the individual's physical fitness for the work, the individual's ability to perform the work, the distance to work and transportation available and such other work connected factors as the commissioner may deem pertinent, including state and national emergencies. (Good cause shall not be established for voluntarily leaving work because of its distance from an individual's residence where the distance was known to the individual at the time he or she accepted the employment and where, in the judgment of the department, the distance is unreasonable in relation to the individual's earnings, the nature of the work, the individual's health, safety, and morals, and the individual's physical fitness for the work, the individual's ability to perform the work, and community standards of living, nor because of any other significant work factor which was generally known and present at the time he or she accepted employment, unless the related circumstances have so changed as to amount to a substantial involuntary deterioration of the work factor or unless the commissioner determines that other related)
(b) Good cause shall be established whenever an individual quits work because of hours of work offered, pay, or any other significant work factor has deteriorated to the detriment of the employee by more than ten percent, unless the reduction has been specifically agreed to in writing by the individual and the employer.

(c) Notwithstanding the requirement for written agreements in (b) of this subsection, good cause may be established when the reduced hours of work related circumstances and would work an unreasonable hardship on the individual were he or she required to continue in the employment.

(4) Subsections (1) and (3) of this section shall not apply to an individual whose marital status or domestic responsibilities cause him or her to leave employment. Such an individual shall not be eligible for unemployment insurance benefits beginning with the first day of the calendar week in which he or she left the most recent work without good cause and thereafter for five calendar weeks and until he or she has requalified, either by obtaining bona fide work and earning wages (of not less than the suspended weekly benefit amount in each of five of his or her weekly calendar weeks) equal to five times his or her benefit amount or by reporting in person to the department during ten different calendar weeks and certifying on each occasion that he or she is ready, able, and willing to immediately accept any suitable work which may be offered, is actively seeking work pursuant to customary trade practices, and is utilizing such employment counseling and placement services as are available through the department. This subsection does not apply to individuals covered by subsection (2) of this section.

Sec. 9. RCW 50.20.060 and 1982 1st ex.s c 18 s 16 are each amended to read as follows:

((24)) An individual shall be disqualified from benefits beginning with the first day of the calendar week in which he or she has been discharged or suspended for misconduct connected with his or her most recent work and thereafter for five calendar weeks and until he or she has obtained work and earned wages (of not less than the suspended weekly benefit amount in each of five calendar weeks) equal to five times his or her benefit amount. Alcoholism shall not constitute a defense to disqualification from benefits due to misconduct.

(2) An individual who has been discharged because of a felony or a gross misdemeanor of which he or she has been convicted, or has admitted committing to a competent authority, and which is connected with his or her work shall be disqualified from receiving any benefits for which base year credits are earned in any employment prior to the discharge. Such disqualification begins with the first day of the calendar week in which he or she has been discharged, and all benefits paid during the period the individual is disqualified shall be recoverable, notwithstanding RCW 50.24.014, 50.24.020, or any other provision of this title.

Sec. 10. RCW 50.20.080 and 1959 c 321 s 1 are each amended to read as follows:

An individual is disqualified for benefits, if the commissioner finds that (a) he or she has left work voluntarily without good cause, either to apply for available, suitable work when so directed by the employment office or the commissioner, or to accept suitable work when offered (b) he or she has left work to relocate for employment outside the existing labor market area with his or her spouse if the claimant reasonably expected and as long as was reasonable to expect to obtain employment, and is in the best interest of the employee by more than ten percent, unless the reduction has been specifically agreed to in writing by the individual and the employer. Notwithstanding the requirement for written agreements in (b) of this subsection, good cause may be established when the reduced hours of work related circumstances and would work an unreasonable hardship on the individual were he or she required to continue in the employment.

(2) An individual shall be disqualified from benefits beginning with the first day of the calendar week in which he or she has been discharged or suspended for misconduct connected with his or her most recent work and thereafter for five calendar weeks and until he or she has obtained work and earned wages (of not less than the suspended weekly benefit amount in each of five calendar weeks) equal to five times his or her benefit amount. Alcoholism shall not constitute a defense to disqualification from benefits due to misconduct.

(2) An individual who has been discharged because of a felony or a gross misdemeanor of which he or she has been convicted, or has admitted committing to a competent authority, and which is connected with his or her work shall be disqualified from receiving any benefits for which base year credits are earned in any employment prior to the discharge. Such disqualification begins with the first day of the calendar week in which he or she has been discharged, and all benefits paid during the period the individual is disqualified shall be recoverable, notwithstanding RCW 50.24.014, 50.24.020, or any other provision of this title.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 11. A new section is added to chapter 50.20 RCW to read as follows:
CANCELLATION OF WAGE/HOUR CREDITS. (1) An individual who has been discharged from his or her most recent work because of a felony or gross misdemeanor of which he or she has been convicted, or has admitted committing to a competent authority, and that is connected with his or her work shall have all hourly wage credits based on that employment canceled.

(2) The employer shall notify the department of such an admission or conviction, not later than six months following the admission or conviction.

(3) The claimant shall disclose any conviction of the claimant of a work-connected felony or gross misdemeanor occurring in the previous two years to the department at the time of application for benefits.

(4) All benefits that are paid in error based on wage/hour credits that should have been removed from the claimant's base year are recoverable, notwithstanding RCW 50.20.190 or 50.24.020 or any other provisions of this title.

Sec. 12. ROW 50.20.120 and 1984 c 205 s 1 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) Subject to the other provisions of this title, benefits shall be payable to any eligible individual during the individual's benefit year in a maximum amount equal to the lesser of thirty times the weekly benefit amount (determined hereinafter) or one-third of the individual's base year wages under this title: PROVIDED, That as to any week beginning on and after March 31, 1981, which falls in an extended benefit period as defined in RCW 50.22.010(1), as now or hereafter amended, an individual's eligibility for maximum benefits in excess of twenty-six times his or her weekly benefit amount will be subject to the terms and conditions set forth in RCW 50.22.020, as now or hereafter amended.

(2) An individual's weekly benefit amount shall be an amount equal to one-twenty-fifth of the average quarterly wages of the individual's total wages during the two quarters of the individual's base year in which such total wages were highest. The maximum and minimum amounts payable weekly shall be determined as of each June 30th to apply to benefit years beginning in the twelve-month period immediately following such June 30th. The maximum amount payable weekly shall be (fifty-five) seventy percent of the "average weekly wage" for the calendar year preceding such June 30th: PROVIDED, That if as of the first December 31st on which the ratio of the balance in the unemployment compensation fund to total remuneration paid by all employers subject to contributions during the calendar year ending on such December 31st and reported to the department by the employers, beginning with the first payroll period beginning in the following calendar year, the ratio of the balance in the unemployment compensation fund to the total remuneration paid by all employers subject to contributions during the calendar year ending on such December 31st and reported to the department by the employers, is forty percent or less (determined for the immediately preceding calendar year), the maximum amount payable weekly shall be sixty percent of the "average weekly wage". The computation for this ratio shall be carried to the fourth decimal place with the remaining fraction, if any, disregarded: PROVIDED FURTHER, That for benefit years beginning before July 1, 1985, the maximum amount payable weekly shall not exceed one hundred eighty-five dollars. The minimum amount payable weekly shall be fifteen percent of the "average weekly wage" for the calendar year preceding such June 30th. If any weekly benefit, maximum benefit, or minimum benefit amount computed herein is not a multiple of one dollar, it shall be reduced to the next lower multiple of one dollar.

(3) RCW 50.20.190 and 1981 c 117 s 3 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) An individual who is paid any amount as benefits under this title to which he or she is not entitled shall, unless otherwise relieved pursuant to this section, be liable for repayment of the amount overpaid. The department shall issue an overpayment assessment setting forth the reasons for and the amount of the overpayment. The amount assessed, to the extent not collected, may be deducted from any future benefits payable to the individual: PROVIDED, That in the absence of fraud, misrepresentation, or willful nondisclosure, every determination of liability shall be mailed or personally served not later than two years after the close of the individual's benefit year in which the purported overpayment was made unless the merits of the claim are subjected to administrative or judicial review in which event the period for serving the determination of liability shall be extended to allow service of the determination of liability during the six-month period following the final decision affecting the claim.

(2) The commissioner may waive an overpayment if the commissioner finds that said overpayment was not the result of fraud, misrepresentation, willful nondisclosure, or fault attributable to the individual and that the recovery thereof would be against equity and good conscience: PROVIDED, HOWEVER, That the overpayment so waived shall be charged against the individual's applicable entitlement for the eligibility period containing the weeks to which the overpayment was attributed as though such benefits had been properly paid.

(3) Any assessment herein provided shall constitute a determination of liability from which an appeal may be had in the same manner and to the same extent as provided for appeals relating to determinations in respect to claims for benefits: PROVIDED, That an appeal from any determination covering overpayment only shall be deemed to be an appeal from the determination which was the basis for establishing the overpayment unless the merits involved in the issue set forth in such determination have already been heard and passed upon by the appeal tribunal. If no such appeal is taken to the appeal tribunal by the individual within thirty days of the delivery of the notice of determination of liability, or within thirty days of the mailing of the notice of determination, whichever is the earlier, said determination of liability shall be deemed conclusive and final. Whenever any such notice of determination of liability becomes conclusive and final, the commissioner, upon giving at least twenty days notice by certified mail return receipt requested to the individual's last known address of the intended action, may file with the superior court clerk of any county within the state a warrant in the amount of the notice of determination of liability plus a filing fee of five dollars. The clerk of the county where the warrant is filed shall immediately designate a superior court cause number for the warrant, and the clerk shall cause to be entered in the judgment docket under the superior court cause number assigned to the warrant, the name of the person(s) mentioned in the warrant, the amount of the notice of determination of liability, and the date when the warrant was filed. The amount of the warrant as docketed shall become a lien upon the title to, and any interest in, all real and personal property of the person(s) against whom the warrant is issued, the same as a judgment in a civil case duly docketed in the office of such clerk. A warrant so docketed shall be sufficient to support the issuance of writs of execution and writs of garnishment in favor of the state in the manner provided by law for a civil judgment. A copy of the warrant shall be mailed to the person(s) mentioned in the warrant by certified mail to the person's last known address within five days of its filing with the clerk.

(4) On request of any agency which administers an employment security law of another state, the United States, or a foreign government and which has found in accordance with the provisions of such law that a claimant is liable to repay benefits received under such law, the commissioner may collect the amount of such benefits from the claimant to be refunded to the agency. In any case in which under this section a claimant is liable to repay any amount to the agency of another state, the United States, or a foreign government, such amounts may be collected without interest by civil action in the name of the commissioner acting as agent for such agency if the other state, the United States, or the foreign government extends such collection rights to the employment security department of the state of Washington, and provided that the court costs be paid by the governmental agency benefiting from such collection.
(5) Any employer who is a party to a back pay award or settlement due to loss of wages shall, within thirty days of the award or settlement, report to the department the amount of the award or settlement, the name and social security number of the recipient of the award or settlement, and the period for which it is awarded. When an individual has been awarded or receives back pay, for benefit purposes the amount of the back pay shall constitute wages paid in the period for which it was awarded. For contribution purposes, the back pay award or settlement shall constitute wages paid in the period in which it was actually paid. The following requirements shall also apply:

(a) The employer shall reduce the amount of the back pay award or settlement by an amount determined by the department based upon the amount of unemployment benefits received by the recipient of the award or settlement during the period for which the back pay award or settlement was awarded;

(b) The employer shall pay to the unemployment compensation fund, in a manner specified by the commissioner, an amount equal to the amount of such reduction;

(c) The employer shall also pay to the department any taxes due for unemployment insurance purposes on the entire amount of the back pay award or settlement notwithstanding any reduction made pursuant to (a) of this subsection;

(d) If the employer fails to reduce the amount of the back pay award or settlement as required in (a) of this subsection, the department shall issue an overpayment assessment against the recipient of the award or settlement in the amount that the back pay award or settlement should have been reduced; and

(e) If the employer fails to pay the department an amount equal to the reduction as required in (b) of this subsection, the department shall issue an assessment of liability against the employer which shall be collected pursuant to the procedures for collection of assessments provided herein and in RCW 50.24.110.

(6) When an individual fails to repay an overpayment assessment that is due and fails to arrange for satisfactory repayment terms, the commissioner shall impose an interest penalty of one percent per month of the outstanding balance ((for each month that payments are not made in a timely fashion))_. Interest shall accrue immediately on overpayments assessed pursuant to RCW 50.20.070 and shall be imposed when the assessment becomes final. For any other overpayment, interest shall accrue when the individual has missed two or more of their monthly payments either partially or in full. The interest penalty shall be used to fund detection and recovery of overpayment and collection activities.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 14. A new section is added to chapter 50.20 RCW to read as follows:

(4) There is an "off" indicator for this state for a week ((if the commissioner determines, in accordance with the regulations of the United States secretary of labor, that for the period consisting of such week and the immediately preceding twelve weeks, the rate of insured unemployment (not seasonally adjusted) was either:

(a) Less than five percent; or

(b) Five percent or more but less than six percent and the rate of insured unemployment was less than one hundred twenty percent of the average of the rates for the corresponding thirteen week period ending in each of the two preceding calendar years. PROVIDED, That the six percent trigger shall apply only until December 31, 1985)) only if, for the period consisting of such week and immediately preceding twelve weeks, none of the options specified in subsection (2) or (3) of this section result in an "on" indicator.

(5) "Regular benefits" means benefits payable to an individual under this title or under any state law (including benefits payable to federal civilian employees and to ex-servicemen pursuant to 5 U.S.C. chapter 85) other than extended benefits or additional benefits.

When the result would not be inconsistent with the other provisions of this chapter, the provisions of this title and commissioner's regulations enacted pursuant thereto, which apply to claims for, or the payment of, regular benefits, shall apply to claims for, and the payment of, extended benefits: PROVIDED, That

(1) Payment of extended compensation under this chapter shall not be made to any individual for any week of unemployment in his or her eligibility period:

(b) During which he or she fails to actively engage in seeking work.

(2) If any individual is ineligible for extended compensation for any week by reason of a failure described in subsections (1)(a) or (1)(b) of this section, the individual shall be ineligible to receive extended compensation for any week which begins during a period which:

(a) Begins with the week following the week in which such failure occurs; and

(b) Does not end until such individual has been employed during at least four weeks which begin after such failure and the total of the remuneration earned by the individual for being so employed is not less than the product of four multiplied by the individual's weekly benefit amount (as determined under RCW 50.20.120) for his or her benefit year.

(3) For purposes of this section, the term "suitable work" means, with respect to any individual, any work which is within such individual's capabilities and which does not involve conditions described in RCW 50.20.110: PROVIDED, That if the individual furnishes evidence satisfactory to the employment security department that such individual's prospects for obtaining work in his or her customary occupation within a reasonably short period are good, the determination of whether any work is suitable work with respect to such individual shall be made in accordance with RCW 50.20.100.

(4) Extended compensation shall not be denied under subsection (1)(a) of this section to any individual for any week by reason of a failure to accept an offer of, or apply for, suitable work if:

(b) The position was not offered to such individual in writing and was not listed with the employment security department;
(c) Such failure would not result in a denial of compensation under the provisions of RCW 50.20.080 and 50.20.100 to the extent such provisions are not inconsistent with the provisions of subsections (3) and (5) of this section; or
(d) The position pays wages less than the higher of--
(i) The minimum wage provided by section (6)(a)(1) of the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938, without regard to any exemption; or

(a) The individual has engaged in a systematic and sustained effort to obtain work during such week; and
(b) The individual provides tangible evidence to the employment security department that he or she has engaged in such an effort during such week.
(6) The employment security department shall refer applicants for benefits under this chapter to any suitable work to which subsections (4)(a) through (4)(d) of this section would not apply.
(7) No provisions of this title which terminates a disqualification for voluntarily leaving employment, being discharged for misconduct, or refusing suitable employment shall apply for purposes of determining eligibility for extended compensation unless such termination is based upon employment subsequent to the date of such disqualification.
(8) The provisions of subsections (1) through (7) of this section shall apply with respect to weeks of unemployment beginning after March 31, 1981. However, the provisions of subsections (1) through (7) of this section shall not apply to those weeks of unemployment beginning after March 6, 1993, and before January 1, 1995.

(1) The total extended benefit amount payable to any eligible individual with respect to his or her applicable benefit year shall be the least of the following amounts:
(a) Fifty percent of the total amount of regular benefits which were payable to him or her under this title in his or her applicable benefit year;
(b) Thirteen times his or her weekly benefit amount which was payable to him or her under this title for a week of total unemployment in the applicable benefit year; or
(c) Thirty-nine times his or her weekly benefit amount which was payable to him or her under this title for a week of total unemployment in the applicable benefit year, reduced by the total amount of regular benefits which were paid (or deemed paid) to him or her under this title with respect to the benefit year.
(2) Notwithstanding any other provision of this chapter, if the benefit year of any eligible individual ends within an extended benefit period, the extended benefits which the individual would otherwise be entitled to receive with respect to weeks of unemployment beginning after the end of the benefit year and within the extended benefit period shall be reduced (but not below zero) by the product of the number of weeks for which the individual received any amount as a trade readjustment allowance within that benefit year, multiplied by the individual's weekly extended benefit amount.
(3) Effective for weeks beginning in a high unemployment period as defined in RCW 50.22.010(3) the total extended benefit amount payable to any eligible individual with respect to his or her applicable benefit year shall be the least of the following amounts:

(c) Forty-six times his or her weekly benefit amount which was payable to him or her under this title for a week of total unemployment in the applicable benefit year, reduced by the total amount of regular benefits which were paid, or deemed paid, to him or her under this title with respect to the benefit year.

Sec. 19. RCW 50.29.020 and 1991 c 129 s 1 are each amended to read as follows:
(1) An experience rating account shall be established and maintained for each employer, except employers as described in RCW 50.44.010 and 50.44.030 who have properly elected to make payments in lieu of contributions, taxable local government employers as described in RCW 50.44.035, and those employers who are required to make payments in lieu of contributions, based on existing records of the employment security department. Benefits paid to any eligible individuals shall be charged to the experience rating accounts of each of such individual's employers during the individual's base year in the same ratio that the wages paid by each employer to the individual during the base year bear to the wages paid by all employers to that individual during that base year, except as otherwise provided in this section.
(2) The legislature finds that certain benefit payments, in whole or in part, should not be charged to the experience rating accounts of employers except those employers described in RCW 50.44.010 and 50.44.030 who have properly elected to make payments in lieu of contributions, taxable local government employers described in RCW 50.44.035, and those employers who are required to make payments in lieu of contributions, as follows:

(a) Benefits paid to any individuals later determined to be ineligible shall not be charged to the experience rating account of any contribution paying employer.

(b) Benefits paid to an individual under the provisions of RCW 50.12.050 shall not be charged to the account of any contribution paying employer if the wage credits earned in this state by the individual during his or her base year are less than the minimum amount necessary to qualify the individual for unemployment benefits.

(c) Benefits paid to an individual filing under the provisions of chapter 50.06 RCW shall not be charged to the experience rating account of any contribution paying employer.

(d) Benefits paid which represent the state's share of benefits payable under chapter 50.22 RCW shall not be charged to the experience rating account of any contribution paying employer.

(e) In the case of individuals who requalify for benefits under RCW 50.20.050 or 50.20.060, benefits based on wage credits earned prior to the disqualifying separation shall not be charged to the experience rating account of the contribution paying employer from whom that separation took place.

(f)(i) Benefits paid to an individual as the result of a determination by the commissioner that no stoppage of work exists, pursuant to RCW 50.20.090, shall not be charged to the experience rating account of any contribution paying employer. (ii) Benefits paid to an individual under RCW 50.20.090((1)) for weeks of unemployment ending before February 20, 1987, shall not be charged to the experience rating account of any base year employer.

(g) In the case of individuals identified under RCW 50.20.015, benefits paid with respect to a calendar quarter, which exceed the total amount of wages earned in the state of Washington in the higher of two corresponding calendar quarters included within the individual's determination period, as defined in RCW 50.20.015, shall not be charged to the experience rating account of any contribution paying employer.

(h) Benefits paid to an individual who does not successfully complete an approved on-the-job training program under RCW 50.12.240 may not be charged to the experience rating account of the contribution-paying employer who provided the approved on-the-job training.

(i) Beginning July 1, 1985, a contribution-paying base year employer, not otherwise eligible for relief of charges for benefits under this section, may receive such relief if the benefit charges result from payment to an individual who:

(1) Was discharged for misconduct connected with his or her work not a result of inability to meet the minimum job requirements.

(3) Continues to be employed on a regularly scheduled part-time basis by a base year employer and who at some time during the base year was concurrently employed and subsequently separated from at least one other base year employer. Benefit charge relief ceases when the employment relationship between that employer and the claimant ends. This subsection does not apply to shared work employers under chapter 50.60 RCW.

(j) Benefits paid to an individual who does not successfully complete an approved on-the-job training program under RCW 50.12.240 shall not be charged to the experience rating account of the contribution paying employer who provided the approved on-the-job training.

(k) Benefits paid resulting from a closure or severe curtailment of operations at the employer's plant, building, work site, or facility due to damage caused by fire, flood, or other natural disaster shall not be charged to the experience rating account of the employer if:

Sec. 20. RCW 50.24.014 and 1987 c 171 s 4 are each amended to read as follows:

A separate and identifiable account to provide for the financing of special programs to assist the unemployed is established in the administrative contingency fund. Contributions to this account shall accrue and become payable by each employer, except employers as described in RCW 50.44.010 and 50.44.030 who have properly elected to make payments in lieu of contributions, taxable local government employers as described in RCW 50.44.035, and those employers who are required to make payments in lieu of contributions, at ((1/100th)) a basic rate of two one-hundredths of one percent. The amount of wages subject to tax shall be determined under RCW 50.24.010.

For the first calendar quarter of 1994 only, this basic two one-hundredths of one percent shall be increased by one hundredth of one percent to a total rate of three one-hundredths of one percent. The proceeds of this incremental one-hundredth of one percent shall be used solely for the purposes described in section 22 of this act. Any surplus will be deposited in the unemployment compensation trust fund.

In the payment of any contributions under this section, a fractional part of a cent shall be disregarded unless it amounts to one-half cent or more, in which case it shall be increased to one cent.

If the commissioner determines that federal funding has been increased to provide financing for the services specified in chapter 50.62 RCW, the commissioner shall direct that collection of contributions under this section be terminated on the following January 1st.

Sec. 21. RCW 50.29.025 and 1990 c 245 s 7 are each amended to read as follows:
The contribution rate for each employer shall be determined under this section.

(1) A fund balance ratio shall be determined by dividing the balance in the unemployment compensation fund as of the June 30th immediately preceding the rate year by the total remuneration paid by all employers subject to contributions during the second calendar year preceding the rate year and reported to the department by the following March 31st. The division shall be carried to the fourth decimal place with the remaining fraction, if any, disregarded. The fund balance ratio shall be expressed as a percentage.

(2) The interval of the fund balance ratio, expressed as a percentage, shall determine which tax schedule (5) of this section shall be in effect for assigning tax rates for the rate year. The intervals for determining the effective tax schedule shall be:

Modifying prosecutions for trespass or waste of public lands.

MOTIONS

On motion of Senator Owen, Substitute Senate Bill No. 5310 was substituted for Senate Bill No. 5310 and the substitute bill was placed on second reading and read the second time.

On motion of Senator Owen, the rules were suspended, Substitute Senate Bill No. 5310 was advanced to third reading, the second reading considered the third and the bill was placed on final passage.

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Anderson: "Senator Owen, I understand that there is a terrible problem right now with the damage and, also, I think another thing that would cover this, is people who dump garbage and create a real problem that way. The part that I am concerned about in reading this bill is on line 7 of the bill, which says, 'Every person who occupies public land is liable to the state,' and then further down it says, 'Damages recoverable under this section include the market value of occupancy.' I guess I am worried if people are camping on public land and, you know, may even bring to mind the people who don't have homes and are homeless—if they are camping on public lands—are they going to be liable to the state and have to pay damages and have to pay, basically, a rent for being there under this language?"

Senator Owen: "Well, they would if they were there without authorization and they did damage. I don't believe that the Department of Natural Resources would hold someone liable if they camped there, however, and did no damage. The purpose of this act is to get at those people who will come and do, as you say, and then damage the Department of Natural Resources facilities, equipment, trees, and cause significant damage."

Senator Anderson: "Thank you, Senator Owen, for that clarification and I certainly hope that this is the way that this is interrupted. It is meant to take care of the damage and not to harass people who are merely on public lands."

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Roach: "Senator Owen, in just looking at this, what is the definition of 'damages?' Is there an exact monetary--the valuation on what damages will be pursuant to this?"

Senator Owen: "The bill does not define what 'damages' are. It could be, I suspect, any amount of damage."

Senator Roach: "I am just wondering if individuals—the children of certain individuals camping were to pull off dead branches or twigs to start fires and whatnot, it could be arguable that that is damage. Could we possibly—would you allow an amendment to this bill to maybe put a set figure? I think I would like to offer one."

Senator Owen: "I am not really sure how we would set a figure on that and the example that you used would not be, I don't think in anybody's estimation, considered damage."

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Roach: "Senator Talmadge, I tried to locate a fiscal note and was unable to do so. Could you tell me what the fiscal impact will be?"
Senator Talmadge: "The fiscal impact, Senator, is the grand sum of twelve thousand five hundred dollars over a biennium."

Senator Roach: "I'm talking about the individuals who will be taxed to use the casual--"
Senator Talmadge: "Senator, that would be up to an advisory committee made up of individuals from the water trail community--the people who do ocean kayaking and ocean canoeing. Your concern, I suspect, is somewhat misplaced. The people who simply go out and kayak or use a canoe on Puget Sound do not need to pay anything. If there are individuals who want to camp someplace where they would need to stop because they are out on the water for a long period of time and actually staying somewhere overnight--for those individuals they would get this permit and have access to a guaranteed place to stop."

Senator Roach: "Well, thank you Senator Talmadge, but I do understand the intent, know it is not to stop people from casual kayaking on the body, but what it is is a fee for anyone who would want to use a campsite--every campsite. I am not sure how you would enforce this. I did inquire of OFM this morning and they said, just this morning, that a fiscal note was not available." Further debate ensued.

They are very nervous that they are never going to get the money that we are promising in this bill. Is there any other language except for in Section 5 of the bill that guarantees that the technical colleges will get some of this workforce training money that we are now talking about them being a part of?"

Senator Skratek: "Well, Senator Anderson, this somewhat deviates from the issue that is in front of us at the moment and I am astonished to hear that your community college has this concern being raised at this late date. The large, and in fact, I thought, indeed, a hundred percent of the community colleges were supporting this particular bill. I would have to say that you would have to take a good look at it, because I think there are appropriate references throughout the bill as to how the money will be delegated to the community colleges and that it will be occurring through the workforce training board and, I think, we have built in the appropriate safeguards.

"We have, also, built in an annual evaluation to make sure that, indeed, this is occurring, because there were people that were concerned about a variety of things within this bill and making sure that we have the check points that were appropriate. I think we have taken care of the concerns if, indeed, there are legitimate concerns being raised. I do not think they have to worry. That money will be coming to them."

‘NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. This act may be known and cited as the performance-based education act.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. (1)(a) The mission of Washington's K-12 education system is to enable people to be responsible citizens, to contribute to their own economic well-being and to that of their families and communities, and to enjoy productive lives. To these ends, schools, together with parents and communities, shall strive to help all students develop the knowledge, skills, and attributes essential to function effectively and lead successful lives. Although schools, parents, and communities shall strive together in this mission, the legislature still believes that the primary functions of school and home differ: Ideally, school is where children learn to learn; home is where they learn to live.

(b) This mission is based on the recognition that our education system needs to keep pace with societal changes, changes in workplace environments, and an ever-changing international community. It recognizes that the state and nation continue to experience a transformation into an information and service-oriented age. Finally, the mission recognizes that the education must be improved to prepare students better to meet the challenges of their future, including acquisition of certain skills and knowledge and the ability to act on information and conclusions once they have assimilated and analyzed information.

(c) This mission recognizes that students must achieve a thorough grounding in the core educational areas, and that the teaching of educational basics is the primary function of schools.

(d) This mission can be accomplished through a restructured system of world-class, performance-based education requiring all the elements in chapter . . ., Laws of 1993 (this act).

(2) The legislature believes that real improvement will come to student achievement when all parties responsible for education evaluate current behavior and modify it according to what is best for students. Creating a performance-based education system will require different ways of making decisions and completing work. Additional improvements envisioned will be brought about through different practices at the local level. Collaboration among parents, students, educators, community members, and elected officials will become a strong part of everyday effort. Parents should be the primary partners in this collaborative effort. All systems and programs will be focused on what is best for increasing student achievement. The purpose is to strive to help all students master the essential learning requirements.

(3) It is the intent of the legislature that all children will have the opportunity to achieve at significantly higher levels. This will require setting high expectations for all students. For all students, learning shall be the constant. Time spent on learning and gaining competence shall be the variable. The education system, from the schoolhouse to the state house, must be responsible and accountable to citizens for meeting specific goals and outcomes.
(4)(a) It is the intent of the legislature that any student, from those at-risk to students who may be developmentally delayed or disabled, who is having difficulty meeting the student learning goals under section 103 of this act be provided with ongoing instructional opportunities to help him or her meet the goals.

(b) Similarly, it is the intent of the legislature that any highly capable student who has met or exceeded the student learning goals under section 103 of this act be provided with instructional opportunities to help him or her advance his or her educational experience.

PART I

STUDENT LEARNING GOALS

NEW SECTION. Sec. 101. The following student learning goals for Washington's primary and secondary students, as recommended by the governor's council on education reform and funding, are supported by the legislature:

The ultimate goal of Washington's K-12 education system is to enable people to be responsible citizens, to contribute to their own economic well-being and to that of their families and communities, and to enjoy productive and satisfying lives. To these ends, schools, together with parents and communities, shall help all students develop the knowledge, skills, and attributes essential to:

1. Communicate effectively and responsibly in a variety of ways and settings;
2. Know and apply the core concepts and principles of mathematics; social, physical, and life sciences; arts; humanities; and health and fitness;
3. Think critically and creatively and integrate experience and knowledge to form reasoned judgments, solve problems, and resolve conflicts;
4. Function as caring and responsible individuals and contributing members of families, work groups, and communities.

Of these goals, goal two shall be primary. The legislature finds that from achievement of goal two, achievement of the others might follow. The legislature finds that students must above all else achieve mastery of knowledge and skills in core areas of reading, writing, speaking, science, history, geography, and mathematics. The legislature also finds that families and communities bear the primary responsibility for seeing that children function as caring and responsible members of families, work groups, and communities.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 102. It is the intent of the legislature that instruction in the broad subject areas of mathematics, social sciences, physical sciences, life sciences, arts, humanities, and health and fitness identified under student learning goal number two under section 101(2) of this act will be offered in ways that emphasize the primary importance of these basic areas of knowledge to the future success of students after they graduate.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 103. The state board of education shall by rule adopt the final student learning goals in section 101 of this act recommended by the governor's council on education reform and funding. The student learning goals shall be effective for all school districts beginning with the 1993-94 school year. The state board shall review the goals at least once every ten years and update them as necessary. Local school districts may add goals to the student learning goals in section 101 of this act.

PART VIII
COORDINATED SOCIAL AND HEALTH SERVICES

NEW SECTION. Sec. 801. (1) The purpose of this section is to enhance the quantity, quality, efficiency, and effectiveness of services for children and families in order to enable children to learn while in school.

(2) Beginning with the 1993-94 school year, the office of the superintendent of public instruction, to the extent funds are appropriated, shall allocate funds for pilot programs in up to ten counties or municipalities to meet the needs of children and families better so that children can achieve in school.

PART IX
TECHNOLOGY
NEW SECTION. Sec. 901. The legislature recognizes the ongoing necessity for public schools to use up-to-date tools for learning to meet goals for education. To participate successfully in the contemporary workplace, students should be able to use technology and be able to get information electronically. Workplace technology requirements will continue to change and students should learn the new requirements.

Furthermore, the legislature finds that the Washington systemic initiative is a broad-based effort to promote widespread public literacy in mathematics, science, and technology. A critical component of the systemic initiative is the electronic access to information by students. It is the intent of the legislature that components of sections 902 through 905 of this act will support the state-wide systemic reform effort in mathematics, science, and technology as planned through the Washington systemic initiative.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 902. Unless the context clearly requires otherwise, the definitions in this section apply throughout sections 901 through 905 of this act.

(1) "Education technology" means the effective use of electronic tools and electronic pathways in meeting goals established for education.

(2) "Network" means integrated linking of education technology systems in schools for transmission of voice, data, video, or imaging, or a combination of these.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 903. (1) The superintendent of public instruction may establish an educational technology section, and through that section develop and implement a Washington state technology program, the coordination and development of which shall be consistent with the applicable provisions of chapter 43.105 RCW. The program shall include:

(a) State-wide support to help school districts plan, implement, and educate staff in the use of technology for educational and administrative purposes;

(b) Grants to school districts to help districts integrate technology into the learning process and to connect to the state-wide and national networks for educational purposes;

(c) Development of on-line information services for Washington state, with links to other services. These links shall provide avenues of communication between all levels of education;

(d) Staff support for on-line educational projects involving students throughout the state and nation; and

(e) Expansion of state-wide networks, including educational video teleconferences.

(2) The superintendent of public instruction shall distribute grants, from moneys appropriated for this purpose, to educational service districts for:

(a) Establishing regional educational technology support centers to provide ongoing educator training, school district cost-benefit analysis, long-range planning, network planning, distance learning access support, and other technical and program support. Each educational service district shall establish an advisory council to advise the educational service district about spending the grant moneys; and

(b) Establishing each educational service district as a site for video conferences on the network.

(3) The superintendent of public instruction shall distribute grants, from moneys appropriated for this purpose, to school districts for:

(a) Support for school district personnel to become trainers on state-wide and national networks;

(b) Incentives to encourage school districts to plan for, implement, and evaluate the effective use of technology in the school curriculum; and

(c) Helping schools connect into the state-wide network for curricular purposes. The criteria for selection of schools to receive grants shall be based on schools’ readiness to use network services and economic need.

(4) The superintendent of public instruction shall adopt rules requiring local districts to provide a twenty-five percent match of grant funds from other sources. However, the superintendent of public instruction shall adopt rules to waive all or part of the match requirement for districts that can demonstrate, based on the district’s relative property tax wealth, that they would not be able to apply for the grant unless all or part of the match requirement was waived. A district capital levy for technology will satisfy the local match requirement under this section.

(5) The superintendent of public instruction shall distribute grants, from moneys appropriated for this purpose, to the Washington school information processing cooperative, for equipment to expand the current state-wide network and to establish a system for video conferences.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 904. The superintendent of public instruction shall appoint an educational technology advisory committee. The committee shall include, but is not limited to, persons representing: The state board of education, the commission on student learning, educational service districts, school directors, school administrators, school principals, teachers, higher education faculty, parents, students, business, labor, scientists and mathematicians, the higher education coordinating board, the work force training and education coordinating board, the state library, and the department of information services.

The committee shall advise the superintendent of public instruction on the implementation of sections 901 through 903 of this act.
NEW SECTION, Sec. 905. (1) The superintendent of public instruction may receive such gifts, grants, and endowments from public or private sources as may be made from time to time, in trust or otherwise, for the use and benefit of the purposes of education technology and expend the same or any income therefrom according to the terms of the gifts, grants, or endowments.

(2) The education technology fund is hereby established in the custody of the state treasurer. The superintendent of public instruction shall deposit in the fund all moneys received from gifts, grants, or endowments for education technology. Moneys in the fund may be spent only for education technology. Disbursements from the fund shall be on authorization of the superintendent of public instruction or the superintendent's designee. The fund is subject to the allotment procedure provided under chapter 43.88 RCW, but no appropriation is required for disbursements.

However, the tests required under RCW 28A.230.190, 28A.230.230, and 28A.230.240 shall be exempt from review and shall not be subject to a recommendation of repeal.

(2) The superintendent and the state board shall conduct the review in a manner that includes a broad representation of citizens, including parents, students, educators, and others, to assist in the review process.

(a) A financial, educational, safety, or health condition affecting the student would likely be reasonably improved as a result of the transfer; or
(b) Attendance at the school in the nonresident district is more accessible to the parent's place of work or to the location of child care; or
(c) There is a special hardship or detrimental condition.

(4) A district may deny the request of a resident student to transfer to a nonresident district if the release of the student would adversely affect the district's existing desegregation plan.

(5) For the purpose of helping a district assess the quality of its education program, a resident school district may request an optional exit interview or questionnaire with the parents or guardians of a child transferring to another district. No parent or guardian may be forced to attend such an interview or complete the questionnaire.

(6) Beginning with the 1993-94 school year, school districts may establish annual transfer fees or tuition for nonresident students enrolled under subsection (3) of this section and RCW 28A.225.225. [(Until rules are adopted under section 202, chapter 9, Laws of 1990 1st ex.s. for the calculation of the transfer fee, the transfer fee shall be calculated by the same formula as the fees authorized under section 10, chapter 130, Laws of 1969. These fees, if applied, shall be applied uniformly for all such nonresident students except as provided in this section. The superintendent of public instruction, from available funds, shall pay any transfer fees for low-income students assessed by districts under this section. All transfer fees must be paid over to the county]

(2) At a minimum, the study shall include an analysis of all K-12 related appropriations to determine which might be classified as being investments in prevention and which might be classified as remedial expenditures. Recognizing that the state is shifting to a performance-based system for its students, the study shall also include an analysis of and recommendations for a performance-based salary schedule for certificated instructional staff, beginning July 1, 1997.

(3) By January 16, 1995, the committee shall report to the full legislature on its findings and any recommendations for a new funding model for the common school system.

The annual report shall be published in a format that can be easily understood and be the basis of informed educational decisions by parents, guardians, and other members of the community who are not professional educators.

(2) Data and descriptive material included in the annual report should enable parents, educators, and school board members to determine whether students in the district's schools are attaining mastery of the student learning goals under section 103 of this act, and other important facts about the schools' performance in assisting students to learn. The annual report shall make comparisons to a school's performance in preceding years and shall project goals in performance categories. As data becomes available it shall include:

(a) The change in the percentage of students, including special education and gifted students, attaining mastery of the student learning goals;
(b) Attendance and completion rates;

(e) A brief description of the strategic restructuring plan for each school.

(3) The office of the superintendent of public instruction shall compile district data and report annually to the governor and the legislature beginning with the 1994-95 school year. The superintendent shall monitor the performance of districts and schools that demonstrate gaps in student learning based on students' gender, racial, and ethnic minority status.

(4) Each school shall have the annual school performance report delivered to the parents or guardians with whom children in attendance at the school reside. In addition to any periodic report concerning an individual student's progress, there shall be included with the annual school performance report delivered to parents and guardians an annual student performance report enabling a parent or guardian to determine whether his or her child is attaining mastery of the essential learning requirements.

PART XII
SCHOOL-TO-WORK TRANSITIONS

NEW SECTION. Sec. 1201. (1) The legislature finds that demonstrated relevancy and practical application of school work is essential to improving student learning and to increasing the ability of students to transition successfully to the world of work. Employers have an increasing need for highly skilled people whether they are graduating from high school, a community college, a four-year university, or a technical college.

(2) The legislature further finds that the school experience must prepare students to make informed career direction decisions at appropriate intervals in their educational progress. The elimination of rigid tracking into educational programs will increase students’ posthigh school options and will expose students to a broad range of interrelated career and educational opportunities.

(3) The legislature further finds that student motivation and performance can be greatly increased by the demonstration of practical application of course work content and its relevancy to potential career directions.

(4) The legislature further finds that secondary schools should provide students with multiple, flexible educational pathways. Each educational pathway should:

(a) Prepare students to demonstrate both core competencies common for all students and competencies in a career or interest area;

(b) Integrate academic and vocational education into a single curriculum; and

(c) Provide both classroom and workplace experience.

(5) The purpose of RCW 28A.630.862 through 28A.630.880 and section 1211 of this act is to equip students with improved school-to-work transition opportunities through the establishment of school-to-work transition model projects throughout the state.

The projects shall combine academic and vocational education into a single instructional system that is responsive to the educational needs of all students in secondary schools and shall provide multiple educational pathway options for all secondary students. Goals of the projects within the program shall include at a minimum:

(1) Integration of vocational and academic instructional curriculum into a single curriculum;

(2) Providing each student with a choice of multiple, flexible educational pathways based on the student's career or interest area;
(3) Emphasis on increased vocational and academic guidance and counseling for students as an essential component of the student's high school experience;

(4) Development of student essential academic learning requirements, methods of accurately measuring student performance, and goals for improved student learning;

(5) Partnership with local employers and employees to incorporate work sites as part of work-based learning experiences;

(6) Active participation of educators in the planning, implementation, and operation of the project, including increased opportunities for professional development and in-service training; and

(7) Active participation by employers, private and public community service providers, parents, and community members in the development and operation of the project.

Sec. 1203. RCW 28A.630.864 and 1992 c 137 s 3 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) The superintendent of public instruction shall develop a process for schools or school districts to apply to participate in the school-to-work transitions program. The office of the superintendent of public instruction shall review and select projects for grant awards, and monitor and evaluate the school-to-work transitions program.

(2) The superintendent of public instruction, in selecting projects for grant awards, shall give additional consideration to schools or school districts whose proposals include collaboration with middle schools or junior high schools to develop school-to-work transition objectives. Middle school or junior high school programs may include career awareness and exploration, preparation for school-to-school transition, and preparation for educational pathway decisions.

(3) The superintendent of public instruction, in selecting projects for grant awards, shall give additional consideration to schools or school districts whose proposals include a tech prep site selected under P.L. 101-392 or other articulation agreements with a community or technical college.

(4) The superintendent of public instruction and the state board of education may develop a process for teacher certification programs to apply to participate in the school-to-work transitions program. The office of the superintendent of public instruction and the state board of education may review and select projects for grant awards. Teacher preparation grants shall be used to improve teacher preparation in school-to-work transitions, including course work related to integrated curriculum, tech prep concepts, updating technical skills, improving school and private sector partnerships, and assessing students.

REMARKS BY SPEAKER EBERSOLE

Speaker Ebersole: “Thank you, Mr. President, there are many points in the life of our state that mark the crossroads of our history. Today is one of those points. Today the Governor will open both a legislative and a public discussion about how we shape our future by balancing our budget. The proposals we are about to hear will set the course of our state for years to come. How we deal with our budget is not just a matter of making the numbers add up. It is a matter of making choices. Choices about what we value most and where we want to go.

“The more difficult the budget—and this budget is extremely difficult—the more important the quality of leadership in the Governor’s office. At this crossroad in our history, we are very fortunate. We have a Governor who is passionately optimistic, a Governor who has immense faith in the goodness of our citizens and a Governor who will work all day and all night to make his vision of our future come true. No matter how difficult the challenge, this Governor will rise to meet it, so now let all of us rise to meet him. Ladies and Gentlemen, the twentieth Governor of the state of Washington, the Honorable Mike Lowry.”

GOVERNOR LOWRY’S BUDGET ADDRESS

Governor Lowry: “Thank you, Mr. Speaker, Mr. President, distinguished members of the Supreme Court, distinguished state elected officials, distinguished members of the Legislature, my family and friends, hard working public employees and citizens of the state of Washington, thank you for this opportunity.

“I wish we met today under happier conditions for both the state government and for the state’s economy. You’ve all read the bad news. In the next biennium, state government will face a shortfall of $1.8 billion and the private sector is not much better off. The national recession saved our state for the last, but not the least. The official estimate for the Washington State revenues for the next biennium dropped six hundred and ten million dollars in just the last four months.

“Washington’s unemployment rate is running over nine percent, and we have over one hundred and fifty thousand of our neighbors out of work and looking for jobs. This is a terrible waste and it is a great challenge, but I am confident that we can meet this challenge and overcome these adversities.

“Let me tell you why I’m so optimistic about the future of this state. I’m optimistic because when you look beyond all the bleak headlines and statistics, you see the tremendous assets of Washington State—assets that we have only begun to tap. First, of course, there is our great beauty, the variety of Washington’s natural resources. In Washington, you can find virtually every kind of environment, from deserts to ocean beaches, from farmlands to forests, from deepest gorges to the highest peaks. And most of it is still unspoiled. Second, there is Washington’s strategic location. We stand literally on the leading edge of the continent. On the Pacific Rim of the global economy, we stand in the best strategic position and we stand physically, intellectually, and economically on the frontier of the future.

“Third, Washington enjoys the great investments made by previous generations—public investments in our schools, and our ports, and our energy systems, and our highways, and our universities, and private investments in new technology and modern factories. These investments have created an infrastructure of opportunity for everything that exists today and is possible tomorrow.

“Fourth, in Washington we enjoy the freedom to think, to create, to experience different cultures and ideas, to apply our energies as we choose. Ours is still a very young state, barely a hundred years old. We are not gripped by the prejudices and intolerances, and rigid interest groups, and hostile classes, and the old elites and cliques that hobble so many other regions and states.

“Fifth, and most importantly, I’m optimistic about the future because of the quality of Washington’s people—because of you—people who are good partners, good workers, good employees, good managers, good professionals, good citizens, good elected officials and a very good Legislature.

“I want to salute this Legislature for the tremendous progress it is making on health care reform, on education reform, on civil service reform, on law and justice reform, on consolidating and streamlining state government and in developing a state wide approach to our infrastructure needs. Each of these high priority items is an important component of getting our fiscal house in order and I thank you for your leadership in making that happen. History will record that the politics of avoidance ended with this Legislature.

“We have a great challenge and a great opportunity with this budget. We face some fundamental choices—not just between cuts and adds, but between reform and stagnation, between action and neglect, between progress and decay. We can choose to balance this budget without any general fund revenues, but the deepness of the cuts required to do that would devastate our state’s future and it would endanger the lives of our people and especially our children. Or we can choose a balanced combination of cuts and new revenues—a responsible budget that will move us to a bright future. That is the budget I have chosen.
*Some argue that projected revenues may grow nine hundred million dollars over the next two years and that should be enough. That sounds reasonable, except that those that argue that fail to note that costs that are out of our immediate control will increase twice that amount, just within four years. K-12 enrollment—the fact that we are going to have to deal with fifty thousand more children in K-12 next biennium over this biennium, that cost alone is seven hundred and ninety-nine million dollars more next biennium than this biennium. That cost alone, K-12 increased enrollment, almost eats up that entire nine hundred million dollars. That seven hundred ninety-nine million dollars is not because of government inefficiency, it is because of the baby boom echo. There are more children--more kids in those schools. A tremendous thing for our state, but that costs that amount of money.

*Health care costs, next biennium, will be five hundred and thirty-four million dollars more than this biennium for the same level of health care as a result of this continuing escalating out-of-control health care costs. Now, you are working on a real solution to that. In the future, ten years from now, the future legislators aren't going to be sitting with that same type of problem, because of your leadership for health care reform, which I know we are going to pass this legislative session. The fact is in the next biennium it is going to cost five hundred and thirty-four million dollars more than this biennium, a cost out of your control.

Corrections--prisons--are going to cost two hundred million dollars more next biennium than this biennium as that prison population continues to go up. Debt service on capital decisions already made before this legislative session got here are going to cost an additional one hundred forty-nine million dollars more next biennium than this biennium. Just add up those four components of what's driving costs of this budget--those four components that are out of your immediate control--and you will see those are double that nine hundred million dollars. That's the answer why that those that say, Hey, you ought to be able to simply use a nine hundred million dollar revenue increase to handle this problem are not telling the full story.

*Then, in addition to that, the fact that the national recession has now reached our state means that the projected growth in state revenues for the coming biennium is less than one-third the thirty-year average for state revenue growth. So we face, at the same time, rapidly escalating costs and significantly slower revenues. This is the challenge that this Legislature and I inherited, but this is the challenge that we ask for the opportunity to meet. I am confident that the fortitude and the courage and the vision that this Legislature has already shown will mean that we will meet this challenge with great success.

In preparing this budget, we have committed to three restructure, we would invest and we would save. We would restructure for the future by consolidating agencies and programs and eliminating functions and reforming civil service and reducing management and improving service delivery and bringing health care costs under control. We would invest in the future by protecting services for children, by reforming education, by expanding work force training, by increasing aid to low income students, by building local economic development capacity and by improving our stewardship of our state lands. We would save for the future by throwing away the old budget tricks and gimmicks and by building up our cash reserve to guard against future economic adversities. Before we achieved a single reform, before you came, before there was one reform, one investment, one saving, we faced a $1.8 billion shortfall over the four components that are out of your immediate control.

In this budget I am presenting to you today, we have eliminated that shortfall. Today I am presenting a balanced general fund budget totaling $16.3 billion for the next biennium. This budget is six hundred and thirty-four million dollars less than the one proposed by Governor Gardner in December--six hundred and thirty-four million dollars less general fund budget than the one proposed by Governor Gardner in December.

We have cut programs and costs by six hundred and forty-two million dollars and many of those are tough cuts. We have identified two hundred and thirty-one million dollars in alternative sources to pay for vital services. We have intensified collections to cover another one hundred and three million dollars in service costs. We have eliminated the equivalent of twenty-one hundred full-time general fund state jobs, including five hundred managers. We have consolidated agencies such as Fisheries and Wildlife and Community Development and Trade and Economic Development. We have asked our hard-working and dedicated public employees to live for two years without a cost-of-living raise, which is really a net pay cut to them. It is a savings of over four hundred million dollars in this budget and we all need to thank our hard-working public employees for, again, shouldering such a large amount of handling this deficit.

We have reduced higher education budgets by one hundred forty-eight million dollars. We have reduced K-12 administration programs by one hundred twenty-three million dollars. We have reduced general fund expenditures for social and health services programs by two hundred sixty-one million dollars. People will complain loudly and, in some cases, legitimately that these cuts to their programs are too deep. If you have a better way, tell me. Others will say I have cut too little. If you have a better way, tell me, but the fact is there are some cuts that cost too much.

While it is important that we cut government spending and streamline operations and make government more efficient, it is also important that we invest for the future. In this budget, we have placed a high priority on investing in the future and in protecting programs for children. We have added funding to feed hungry school kids. We have paid for the first phase of education reform. We have increased spending on children's mental health and prenatal care. While we call for tough management savings in higher education, we refuse to make the penny-wise and pound-foolish mistake of some other states that are presently dismantling their higher education systems.

We realize that the quality of education that's available to our work force is critical to our economic recovery, and we refuse to make the devastating higher education cuts that a 'no new taxes' budget would require. Because no qualified students should be stopped from achieving their education goals because of income limitations, we will double the number of students getting financial aid and significantly expand work study programs. Again, because of the importance to our economic vitality, we will put new money into retraining our work force and we will put new money into employing dislocated workers to help restore and maintain public lands.

Now, no responsible budget would be complete without a saving's plan and I'm sure the people of this state agree with that. That's why I am proposing that we increase the state's 'rainy day' fund to one hundred forty-four million dollars and also to build an additional cash reserve to raise the state's total reserves to three hundred and sixty-six million dollars, which is more than twice the general fund budget. I know the State Treasurer, Dan Grimm, likes that and I suspect that the financial markets will like that, also, and that we will see that that fiscal prudence approach is very good for our state. Unfortunately, however, we cannot set aside this emergency reserve, maintain essential services and pay for new investments without additional revenues.

*After starting with a $1.8 billion shortfall, making significant and tough cuts, tuition increases, and increased fees for special services, we were still short eight hundred forty-eight million dollars. I am proposing to raise that short fall by closing loopholes on those that are exempted from paying sales taxes on services mostly used by the higher-income. I chose this alternative, because it has the least effect on middle-income and low-income people and families in this state. In choosing this alternative, I rejected tax alternatives, such as raising the general sales tax, which is unfair to consumers and very regressive, or raising the B and O tax, which is unfair to employers and hurts our small businesses. In fact, I proposed that we reduce B and O taxes to help small businesses and expand sales tax deferrals to help spur new business and investment.

"By closing loopholes as our choice by which to raise this necessary revenue, we are able to greatly reduce the tax effect on the general public. As a matter of fact, this revenue proposal will cost the average family of four only a little over two dollars a month. Let me repeat that--because we choose to raise this needed revenue by closing the loopholes on the high income, we are able to reduce the revenue impact of raising this money on the forty-five thousand dollar family of four to two dollars a month. In Seattle, that's the price of one latte--there went the Seattle vote. For the rest of us, that's less than the price of one "Grand Slam Breakfast" at Denny's.

"In exchange, we will protect and enhance our most important resource, our children. We will be able to move forward with education reform. We will maintain our excellent higher education system, we will do a better job of stewarding our state lands, we will train and employ dislocated workers and teenagers and we will launch new strategies for economic development. This, I submit, is a grand slam for two dollars a month.

"I know that we will spend the coming weeks debating pennies on the dollar in the budget cuts and new reforms and the size and the fairness of various tax rates. That is part of the job that the people elected us to do, but it is not the whole task entrusted to us. People also expect us to look beyond politics. They ask us to be wise as well as smart; they ask us to be responsible as well as accountable.

"After the gavel falls Sine Die on this session of the Legislature, memory of who won and lost various debates will quickly fade into oblivion, but if we fail to maintain and fund vital services for this state, the people will not forget. If we fail to seize the unique opportunity for reform and investment which faces us today, the generations to come will not forgive us. More than a budget hangs in the balance today. The whole future of our state hangs in the balance. Join with me in this budget. Let's make it a great future. Thank you very much."

SECOND READING

HOUSE JOINT MEMORIAL NO. 4013, by Representatives Kessler, Basich, Riley, Jones, Holm and J. Kohl

Petitioning the federal government for coastal economic recovery investment.

The joint memorial was read the second time.

MOTIONS

On motion of Senator Sheldon, the following Committee on Trade, Technology and Economic Development amendment was adopted:

On page 1, after line 7, strike the remainder of the joint memorial and insert the following:

"WHEREAS, The Washington State House of Representatives and Senate recognize that the permanent loss of jobs in natural resource-based industries has gravely and irreversibly impacted the coastal economies of Pacific and Grays Harbor counties and parts of Jefferson and Clallam counties; and

WHEREAS, The loss of timber-related jobs has created a further erosion of jobs in coastal communities which presently do not have alternative employment opportunities; and

WHEREAS, Hard-working families are losing their homes, automobiles, and other possessions and are going without adequate food, critically needed medical care, educational, and social services previously earned with wages from their jobs; and

WHEREAS, The loss of sales tax, property tax, and other local revenues by local coastal communities resulting from the devastating economic dislocation is accompanied by a heavy additional burden placed on public services provided by local police, prosecutors, public health, and social service providers that manifestly precludes local government from financing an economic recovery program; and

WHEREAS, In 1991 the federal government received an estimated one hundred forty-three million dollars in general tax revenue, exclusive of social security and unemployment insurance taxes, from Pacific and Grays Harbor counties; and

WHEREAS, In 1991 the State of Washington received an estimated seventy-seven million dollars in general fund taxes from the two-county area; and

WHEREAS, Implementation of the Coastal Economic Recovery Plan will provide jobs and improve the coastal economy so that at the end of ten years the federal government tax revenues will increase from one hundred forty-three million dollars a year to two hundred five million dollars and the Washington State general fund revenues will increase from seventy-seven million dollars a year to one hundred thirteen million dollars over the ten-year period; and
WHEREAS, The millions of dollars monthly spent by the federal and state government for public assistance, unemployment compensation, medical assistance, food, retraining, and other social service programs can be sharply reduced through implementation of the coastal economy which emphasizes tourism, outdoor recreation, and commercial and sports fishing;
NOW, THEREFORE, Your Memorialists respectfully pray that the federal government invest, along with the State of Washington, in a Coastal Economic Recovery Plan by funding the following elements of the plan:
(1) Habitat restoration jobs, including Olympic peninsula, Grays Harbor and Willapa Bay drainages. The primary beneficiaries of the work will be wild stocks of salmon: Fifty million dollars;
(2) Federal share of new coastal hatcheries including wild stock supplementation facilities: Seventeen million five hundred thousand dollars;
(3) Federal share of coastal tourism infrastructure facilities: Twelve million dollars;
(4) Federal funding of educational facilities at Grays Harbor College for Dislocated Timber Workers: Five million dollars; and
(5) Federal share of coastal transportation facilities for tourism and outdoor recreation: Ten million dollars.
BE IT RESOLVED, That copies of this Memorial be immediately transmitted to the Honorable Bill Clinton, President of the United States, the President of the Senate, the Speaker of the House of Representatives, and each member of Congress from the State of Washington."

On motion of Senator Fraser, the following Committee on Ecology and Parks amendment was adopted:

Whenever any public service company, other than a railroad company, files with the commission any schedule, classification, rule, or regulation, the effect of which is to change any rate, fare, charge, rental, or toll previously charged, the commission has power, either upon its own motion or upon complaint, upon notice, to hold a hearing concerning the proposed change and the reasonableness and justness of it. Pending the hearing and the decision the commission may suspend the operation of the rate, fare, charge, rental, or toll, if the change is proposed by a common carrier subject to the jurisdiction of the commission, other than a solid waste collection company, for a period not exceeding seven months, and, if proposed by a ((public service company other than such a common carrier)) solid waste collection company, for a period not exceeding ten months from the time the change would otherwise go into effect. After a full hearing the commission may make such order in reference to the change as would be provided in a hearing initiated after the change had become effective.

At any hearing involving any change in any schedule, classification, rule, or regulation the effect of which is to increase any rate, fare, charge, rental, or toll theretofore charged, the burden of proof to show that such increase is just and reasonable is upon the public service company. When any common carrier subject to the jurisdiction of the commission files any tariff, classification, rule, or regulation the effect of which is to decrease any rate, fare, or charge, the burden of proof to show that such decrease is just and reasonable is upon the common carrier.

Sec. 2. RCW 81.28.050 and 1984 c 143 s 5 are each amended to read as follows:

Unless the commission otherwise orders, no change may be made in any classification, rate, fare, charge, rule, or regulation filed and published by a common carrier other than a railroad carrier, except after thirty days' notice to the commission and to the public. In the case of a solid waste collection company, no such change may be made except after forty-five days' notice to the commission and to the public. The notice shall be published as provided in RCW 81.28.040 and shall plainly state the changes proposed to be made in the schedule then in force and the time when the changed rate, classification, fare, or charge will go into effect. All proposed changes shall be shown by printing, filing, and publishing new schedules or shall be plainly indicated upon the schedules in force at the time and kept open to public inspection. In the case of a change proposed by a railroad carrier, except for changes to rail contracts between a railroad carrier and a shipper authorized under RCW 81.34.070, which changes become effective in accordance with that section, a proposal resulting in a rate increase or a new rate shall not become effective for twenty days after the notice is published, and a proposal resulting in a rate decrease shall not become effective for ten days after the notice is published. The commission, for good cause shown, may by order allow changes in rates without requiring the notice and the publication time periods specified in this section. When any change is made in any rate, fare, charge, classification, rule, or regulation, attention shall be directed to the change by some character on the schedule. The character and its placement shall be designated by the commission. The commission may, by order, for good cause shown, allow changes in any rate, fare, charge, classification, rule, or regulation without requiring any character to indicate each and every change to be made.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. A new section is added to chapter 70.95 RCW to read as follows:

To provide solid waste collection companies with sufficient time to prepare and submit tariffs and rate filings for public comment and commission approval, the owner or operator of a transfer station, landfill, or facility used to burn solid waste shall provide seventy-five days' notice to solid waste collection companies of any change in tipping fees and disposal rate schedules. The notice period shall begin on the date individual notice to a collection company is delivered to the company or is postmarked. A collection company may agree to a shorter notice period: PROVIDED, That such agreement by a company shall not affect the notice requirements for rate filings under RCW 81.28.050.

The owner of a transfer station, landfill or facility used to burn solid waste may agree to provide companies with a longer notice period.

POINT OF ORDER

Senator Nelson: "Mr. President, I rise to a point of order. There are amendments preceding the amendment by Senator Rinehart on page 11, after line 2, that are ahead in the bill itself for consideration by the body."

RULING BY PRESIDENT

President Pritchard: "Well, it is the judgment of the body if you want to skip ahead."

Senator Nelson: "Mr. President, the tradition of the body is to take the amendments in order from the beginning of the bill to the end."

President Pritchard: "That is true. If the body wants to go against tradition why then that is a decision that can be made by the body."

Senator Nelson: "Mr. President, it would then be that the members on the floor would have the opportunity to move back to any preceding amendments that now have been by-passed by immediately considering the amendment by Senator Rinehart on page 11, after line 2?"

President Pritchard: "I believe that is right. This does not preclude the body taking up previous amendments or ones that come back in an earlier number."

The President declared the question before the Senate to be the motion by Senator Jesernig to now consider the amendment by Senator Rinehart on page 11, after line 2, to Substitute Senate Bill No. 5967.

The motion by Senator Jesernig carried and the Senate commenced consideration of the amendment by Senator Rinehart on page 11, after line 2.

and regional advertising computed as a standard deduction based on the national average thereof as annually reported by the Federal Communications Commission, or in lieu thereof by itemization by the individual broadcasting station, and excluding that portion of revenue represented by the out-of-state audience computed as a ratio to the station's total audience as measured by the 100 micro-volt signal strength and delivery by wire, if any; (7) engaging in activities which bring a person within the definition of consumer contained in RCW 82.04.190((6), as now or hereafter amended) (7); as to such persons, the amount of tax on such business shall be equal to the gross income of the business multiplied by the rate of forty-four one hundredths of one percent.

POINT OF ORDER

Senator Newhouse: "A point of order, Mr. President. I would like to raise the point of order that this bill and its title says, 'An act relating to taxation.' I would like to raise the point that in part seven, we have statutory law not related to taxation—insurance premium tax credit repeal—and that would violate the article of the Constitution subject to two matters in one bill."

RULING BY PRESIDENT

President Pritchard: "In ruling upon the point of order raised or the question that Senator Newhouse raised, the President believes that Substitute Senate Bill No. 5967 is a broad measure dealing with many areas of taxation and that part seven affects tax liability. The point of order is not well taken."

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator McDonald: "Senator Rinehart, this is taking away the local money--what you are counting on for some local criminal justice. From whence does it come now?"

Senator Rinehart: "It comes from the remainder of the taxes in the bill. The total will be ninety million dollars for criminal justice. The entire package will raise six hundred and eighteen million dollars. That's five hundred twenty-eight to fund the general fund budget and ninety million for criminal justice."

Senator McDonald: "So, the total tax package will now be six hundred and eighteen million?"

Senator Rinehart: "Because we are now funding criminal justice at the state level as opposed to the local level."

Senator McDonald: "Thank you."

The President declared the question before the Senate to be the adoption of the amendment by Senator Rinehart on page 25, after line 9, to Substitute Senate Bill No. 5967.

The Secretary called the roll and the motion to divide the question failed by the following vote:

Yeas, 21; Nays, 28; Absent, 0; Excused, 0.

Voting nay: Senators Bauer, Drew, Franklin, Fraser, Gaspard, Hargrove, Haugen, Jesernig, Loveland, McAuliffe, Moore, Niemi, Owen, Pelz, Prentice, Quigley, Rasmussen, M., Rinehart, Sheldon, Skratek, Smith, A., Snyder, Spanel, Sutherland, Talmadge, Vognild, Williams and Wojahn - 28.

MOTION

Senator Nelson moved that the question be divided and the amendment by Senator Roach on page 5, after line 1, be considered separately.

POINT OF ORDER

Senator Vognild: "Mr. President, I rise to a point of order. Since Senator Nelson brought the motion to consider the following amendments himself, under one motion, and now requests that they be divided, I would ask the President to review Reed's Rules 225 and rule whether this is simply a matter of impeding the business of this body."

At 12:48 a.m., and there being no objection, the President declared the Senate to be at ease.

The Senate was called to order at 1:16 a.m. by President Pritchard.

RULING BY THE PRESIDENT

President Pritchard: "In ruling on the point of order raised by Senator Vognild, the President is reluctant to rule that any member is employing tactics to create disorder and impede business at this point. In ruling on Senator Nelson's motion to divide the question, Senator Nelson's original motion was to consider a number of amendments in a specified order. Senator Jesernig moved to lay Senator Nelson's motion on the table. Senator Nelson then moved to divide the question and consider the amendment by Senator McDonald on page 5, strike all of line 1, separately, which motion failed.

"Senator Nelson then moved a second time to divide the question, as which point Senator Vognild raised a point of order. The President has reviewed Reed's Rules 151, 152 and 153. The President believes that Senator Nelson's motion is not in order. The motion to divide determines into how many parts the question should be divided. In this instance, Senator Nelson moved to divide the question into two parts. That motion having failed, the question before the body is now Senator Jesernig's motion to lay Senator Nelson's motion on the table in its entirety."

Senator von Reichbauer demanded a roll call and the demand was sustained.

POINT OF INFORMATION

Senator Nelson: "Mr. President, I have a point of information. With respect to the President's Ruling, in reading Reed's Rule 153, it appears to the maker of the motion that in Rule 153 it says that if the proposition to be considered by the body consists of two distinct propositions, as in the case of my original motion to take a number of amendments in sequence, we have more than two distinct conditions facing the body. We have each one individually and we don't effectively have an opportunity to now address them individually. You have divided one away from a group of others. There are not two distinct positions."

RULING BY THE PRESIDENT
President Pritchard: "Senator, I think you made the division in dividing one and the others. If you see Rule 152, it states--the thing deals with 151, 152 and 153. It says in 152, 'It must be made pursuant to a motion stating precisely the division asked for.' So, the President does not rule in your favor."

The President declared the question before the Senate to be the roll call on the motion by Senator Jesernig to lay on the table the amendment by Senator Nelson to consider certain amendments in a specified order to Substitute Senate Bill No. 5967.

It was levied in their home state and then the money was distributed on a proportional basis to each of the other states. I’m not sure where the name ‘bingo stamp’ came from, but I think that it came from the fact that some of the states—or some of the truckers had numerous stamps that fit in there and I guess they played a bingo game on their card.”

MOTION

Senator Talmadge moved that the following Committee on Health and Human Services amendment be adopted:

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

(1) When any practitioner, professional school personnel, registered or licensed nurse, social service counselor, psychologist, pharmacist, licensed or certified child care provider or their employees, employee of the department, or juvenile probation officer has reasonable cause to believe that a child or adult dependent or developmentally disabled person, has suffered abuse or neglect, he or she shall report such incident, or cause a report to be made, to the proper law enforcement agency or to the department as provided in RCW 26.44.040. The report shall be made at the first opportunity, but in no case longer than forty-eight hours after there is reasonable cause to believe that the child or adult has suffered abuse or neglect. The report shall include the identity of the accused if known.

(2) The reporting requirement of subsection (1) of this section does not apply to the discovery of abuse or neglect that occurred during childhood if it is discovered after the child has become an adult. However, if there is reasonable cause to believe other children, dependent adults, or developmentally disabled persons are or may be at risk of abuse or neglect by the accused, the reporting requirement of subsection (1) of this section shall apply.

(3) Any other person who has reasonable cause to believe that a child or adult dependent or developmentally disabled person has suffered abuse or neglect may report such incident to the proper law enforcement agency or to the department of social and health services as provided in RCW 26.44.040.

(4) The department, upon receiving a report of an incident of abuse or neglect pursuant to this chapter, involving a child or adult dependent or developmentally disabled person who has died or has had physical injury or injuries inflicted upon him or her other than by accidental means or who has been subjected to sexual abuse, shall report such incident to the proper law enforcement agency. In emergency cases, where the child, adult dependent, or developmentally disabled person's welfare is endangered, the department shall notify the proper law enforcement agency within twenty-four hours after a report is received by the department. In all other cases, the department shall notify the law enforcement agency within seventy-two hours after a report is received by the department. If the department makes an oral report, a written report shall also be made to the proper law enforcement agency within five days thereafter.

(5) Any law enforcement agency receiving a report of an incident of abuse or neglect pursuant to this chapter, involving a child or adult dependent or developmentally disabled person who has died or has had physical injury or injuries inflicted upon him or her other than by accidental means, or who has been subjected to sexual abuse, shall report such incident in writing as provided in RCW 26.44.040 to the proper county prosecutor or city attorney for appropriate action whenever the law enforcement agency's investigation reveals that a crime may have been committed. The law enforcement agency shall also notify the department of all reports received and the law enforcement agency's disposition of them. In emergency cases, where the child, adult dependent, or developmentally disabled person's welfare is endangered, the law enforcement agency shall notify the department within twenty-four hours. In all other cases, the law enforcement agency shall notify the department within seventy-two hours after a report is received by the law enforcement agency.

(6) Any county prosecutor or city attorney receiving a report under subsection (5) of this section shall notify the victim, any persons the victim requests, and the local office of the department, of the decision to charge or decline to charge a crime, within five days of making the decision.

(7) The department may conduct ongoing case planning and consultation with those persons or agencies required to report under this section, with consultants designated by the department, and with designated representatives of Washington Indian tribes if the client information exchanged is pertinent to cases currently receiving child protective services or department case services for the developmentally disabled. Upon request, the department shall conduct such planning and consultation with those persons required to report under this section if the department determines it is in the best interests of the child or developmentally disabled person. Information considered privileged by statute and not directly related to reports required by this section shall not be divulged without a valid written waiver of the privilege.

Any case referred to the department by a physician licensed under chapter 18.57 or 18.71 RCW on the basis of an expert medical opinion that child abuse, neglect, or sexual assault has occurred and that the child's safety will be seriously endangered if returned home, the department shall file a dependency petition unless a second licensed physician of the parents' choice believes that such expert medical opinion is incorrect. If the parents fail to designate a second physician, the department may make the selection. If a physician finds that a child has suffered abuse or neglect but that such abuse or neglect does not constitute imminent danger to the child's health or safety, and the department agrees with the physician's assessment, the child may be left in the parents' home while the department proceeds with reasonable efforts to remedy parenting deficiencies.

Persons or agencies exchanging information under subsection (7) of this section shall not further disseminate or release the information except as authorized by state or federal statute. Violation of this subsection is a misdemeanor.

(10) Upon receiving reports of abuse or neglect, the department or law enforcement agency may interview children. The interviews may be conducted on school premises, at day-care facilities, at the child's home, or at other suitable locations outside of the presence of parents. Parental notification of the interview shall occur at the earliest possible point in the investigation that will not jeopardize the safety or protection of the child or the course of the investigation. Prior to commencing the interview the department or law enforcement agency shall determine whether the child wishes a third party to be present for the interview and, if so, shall make reasonable efforts to accommodate the child's wishes. Unless the child objects, the department or law enforcement agency shall make reasonable efforts to include a third party in any interview so long as the presence of the third party will not jeopardize the course of the investigation.

(11) Upon receiving a report of child abuse and neglect, the department or investigating law enforcement agency shall have access to all relevant records of the child in the possession of mandated reporters and their employees.

(12) The department shall maintain investigation records and conduct timely and periodic reviews of all cases constituting abuse and neglect. The department shall maintain a log of screened-out nonabusive cases.

(13) The department shall use a risk assessment (tool) when investigating child abuse and neglect referrals. The tool shall be used, on a pilot basis, in three local office service areas. The department shall release information on the risk factors at all hearings in which the placement of a dependent child is an issue. The department shall, within funds appropriated for this purpose, offer enhanced community-based services to persons who are determined not to require further state intervention.

The department shall provide annual reports to the appropriate committees of the senate and house of representatives on the effectiveness of the risk assessment process. The report shall include recommendations on the continued use and possible expanded use of the tool.

(14) Upon receipt of a report of abuse or neglect, the law enforcement agency may arrange to interview the person making the report and any collateral sources to determine if any malice is involved in the reporting.

Establishing a procedure for developing local jail industries programs.

The bill was read the second time.

MOTIONS

On motion of Senator Adam Smith, the following Committee on Law and Justice amendment was adopted:

"NEW SECTION, Sec. 1. Cities and counties have a significant interest in ensuring that inmates in their jails are productive citizens after their release in the community. The legislature finds that there is an expressed need for cities and counties to uniformly develop and coordinate jail industries technical information and program and public safety standards state-wide. It further finds that meaningful jail work industries programs that are linked to formal education and adult literacy training can significantly reduce recidivism, the rising costs of corrections, and criminal activities. It is the purpose and intent of the legislature, through this chapter, to establish a state-wide jail industries program designed to promote inmate rehabilitation through meaningful work experience and reduce the costs of incarceration. The legislature recognizes that inmates should have the responsibility for contributing to the cost of their crime through the wages earned while working in jail industries programs and that such income shall be used to offset the costs of implementing and maintaining local jail industries programs and the costs of incarceration.

NEW SECTION, Sec. 2. Unless the context clearly requires otherwise, the definitions in this section apply throughout this chapter.

(1) "Board" means the state-wide jail industries board of directors.
(2) "City" means any city, town, or code city.
(3) "Cost accounting center" means a specific industry program operated under the private sector prison industry enhancement certification program as specified in 18 U.S.C. Sec. 1761.
(4) "Court-ordered legal financial obligation" means a sum of money that is ordered by a superior, district, or municipal court of the state of Washington for payment of restitution to a victim, a statutorily imposed crime victims compensation fee, court costs, a county or interlocal drug fund, court appointed attorneys' fees and costs of defense, fines, and other legal financial obligations that are assessed as a result of a felony or misdemeanor conviction.
(5) "Free venture industries" means types of industries which produce products, goods, or services through two modalities: (a) Employer model: An agreement between city or county and a private sector business or industry or nonprofit organization to produce goods or services to both public and private sectors; (b) customer model: An industry operated and managed to provide Washington state manufacturers or businesses with products or services currently produced, provided, and assembled by out-of-state or foreign suppliers.
(6) "Jail inmate" means a preconviction or postconviction resident of a city or county jail who is determined to be eligible to participate in jail inmate work programs according to the eligibility criteria of the work program.
(7) "Private sector prison industry enhancement certification program" means that program authorized by the United States justice assistance act of 1984, 18 U.S.C. Sec. 1761.

NEW SECTION, Sec. 3. A state-wide jail industries board of directors is established. The board shall consist of the following members:

(1) One sheriff and one police chief, to be selected by the Washington association of sheriffs and police chiefs;
(2) One county commissioner or one county councilmember to be selected by the Washington state association of counties;
(3) One city official to be selected by the association of Washington cities;
(4) Two jail administrators to be selected by the Washington state jail association, one of whom shall be from a county or a city with an established jail industries program;
(5) One prosecuting attorney to be selected by the Washington association of prosecuting attorneys;
(6) One administrator from a city or county corrections department to be selected by the Washington correctional association;
(7) One county clerk to be selected by the Washington association of county clerks;
(8) Three representatives from labor to be selected by the governor. The representatives may be chosen from a list of nominations provided by state-wide labor organizations representing a cross-section of trade organizations;
(9) Three representatives from business to be selected by the governor. The representatives may be chosen from a list of nominations provided by state-wide business organizations representing a cross-section of businesses, industries, and all sizes of employers;
(10) The governor's representative from the employment security department;
(11) One member representing crime victims, to be selected by the governor;

(14) One member representing higher education, vocational education, or adult basic education to be selected by the governor; and
(15) The governor's representative from the correctional industries division of the state department of corrections shall be an ex officio member for the purpose of coordination and cooperation between prison and jail industries and to further a positive relationship between state and local government offender programs.

NEW SECTION, Sec. 4. The board shall, at the request of a city or county, offer advice in developing, promoting, and implementing consistent, safe, and efficient offender work programs.

The board may also develop guidelines and provide technical assistance for the coordination of jail industries programs with basic educational programs.

NEW SECTION, Sec. 5. The board shall require a city or a county that establishes a jail industries program to develop a local advisory group, or to use an existing advisory group of the appropriate composition, to advise and guide jail industries program operations. Such an advisory group shall include an equal number of representatives from labor and business. Representation from a sheltered workshop, as defined in RCW 82.04.385, and a crime victim advocacy group, if existing in the local area, should also be included.

A local advisory group shall have among its tasks the responsibility of ensuring that a jail industry has minimal negative impact on existing private industries or the labor force in the locale where the industry operates and that a jail industry does not negatively affect employment opportunities for people with developmental disabilities contracted through the operation of sheltered workshops as defined in RCW 82.04.385. In the event a conflict arises between the local business community or labor organizations concerning new jail industries programs, products, services, or wages, the city or county must use the arbitration process established pursuant to section 6 of this act.

NEW SECTION, Sec. 6. The board, in accordance with chapter 34.05 RCW, shall:
   (1) Establish an arbitration process for resolving conflicts arising among the local business community and labor organizations concerning new industries programs, products, services, or wages;
   (2) Encourage the development of the collection and analysis of jail industries program data, including long-term tracking information on offender recidivism;
   (3) Determine, by applying established federal guidelines and criteria, whether a city or a county jail free venture industries program complies with the private sector prison industry enhancement certification program. In so doing, also determine if that industry should be designated as a cost accounting center for the purposes of the federal certification program; and
   (4) Provide technical assistance with product marketing.

NEW SECTION, Sec. 7. The board may receive funds from local, county, state, or federal sources and may receive grants to support its activities. The board may establish a reasonable schedule of suggested fees that will support state-wide efforts to promote and facilitate jail industries that would be presented to cities and counties that have established jail industries programs.

NEW SECTION, Sec. 8. The board shall initially convene at the call of the representative of the correctional industries division of the state department of corrections, together with the jail administrator selected from a city or a county with an established jail industries program, no later than six months after the effective date of this act. Subsequent meetings of the board shall be at the call of the board chairperson. The board shall meet at least twice a year. The board shall elect a chairperson and other such officers as it deems appropriate. However, the chairperson may not be the representative of the correctional industries division of the state department of corrections nor any representative from a state executive branch agency.

Members of the board shall serve terms of three years each on a staggered schedule to be established by the first board. For purposes of initiating a staggered schedule of terms, some members of the first board may initially serve two years and some members may initially serve four years.

The members of the board shall serve without compensation but may be reimbursed for travel expenses from funds acquired under this chapter.

NEW SECTION, Sec. 9. A city or a county that implements a jail industries program may establish a separate fund for the operation of the program. This fund shall be a special revenue fund with continuing authority to receive income and pay expenses associated with the jail industries program.

NEW SECTION, Sec. 10. Cities and counties participating in jail industries are authorized to provide for comprehensive work programs using jail inmate workers at worksites within jail facilities or at such places within the city or county as may be directed by the legislative authority of the city or county, as similarly provided under RCW 36.28.100.

NEW SECTION, Sec. 11. When an offender is employed in a jail industries program for which pay is allowed, deductions may be made from these earnings for court-ordered legal financial obligations as directed by the court in reasonable amounts that do not unduly discourage the incentive to work. These deductions shall be disbursed as directed in RCW 9.94A.145.

In addition, inmates working in jail industries programs shall contribute toward costs to develop, implement, and operate jail industries programs. This amount shall be a reasonable amount that does not unduly discourage the incentive to work. The amount so deducted shall be deposited in the jail industries special revenue fund.

Upon request of the offender, family support may also be deducted and disbursed to a designated family member.

NEW SECTION, Sec. 12. A jail inmate who works in a free venture industry shall be considered an employee of that industry only for the purpose of the Washington industrial safety and health act, chapter 49.17 RCW, as long as the public safety is not compromised, and for eligibility for industrial insurance benefits under Title 51 RCW. However, eligibility for benefits for either the inmate or the inmate's dependents or beneficiaries for temporary total disability or permanent total disability under RCW 51.32.090 or 51.32.060, respectively, shall not take effect until the inmate is discharged from custody by order of a court of appropriate jurisdiction. Nothing in this section shall be construed to confer eligibility for any industrial insurance benefits to any jail inmate who is employed in a nonfree venture industry.

NEW SECTION, Sec. 13. In the event of failure or discontinuance of a free venture industry agreement, responsibility for obligations under Title 51 RCW shall be borne by the city or county responsible for establishment of such free venture industry, as if the city or county had been the employing agency.

NEW SECTION, Sec. 14. To the extent possible, jail industries programs shall be augmented by education and training to improve worker literacy and employability skills. Such education and training may include, but is not limited to, basic adult education, work towards a certificate of educational competence following successful completion of the general educational development test, vocational and preemployment work maturity skills training, and apprenticeship classes.

NEW SECTION, Sec. 15. If sufficient funding is secured by the board, to adequately provide staffing, basic staff assistance shall be provided, to the extent possible, by the department of corrections.

NEW SECTION, Sec. 16. Sections 1 through 15 of this act shall constitute a new chapter in Title 36 RCW.

Senator Prentice: “Well, that would be consistent, then, isn't that correct? That argument would be consistent. Therefore, I believe that in order to remain consistent--and there would be the same kind of separation. Providing for registration of transfer on death securities.

MOTIONS

On motion of Senator Adam Smith, the following Committee on Law and Justice amendment was adopted:

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. Unless the context clearly requires otherwise, the definitions in this section apply throughout this chapter.

(1) "Beneficiary form" means a registration of a security that indicates the present owner of the security and the intention of the owner regarding the person who will become the owner of the security upon the death of the owner, referred to as a "beneficiary."

(2) "Deviser" means any person designated in a will to receive a disposition of real or personal property.

(3) "Heirs" means those persons, including the surviving spouse, who are entitled under the statutes of intestate succession to the property of a decedent.

(4) "Person" means an individual, a corporation, an organization, or other legal entity.

(5) "Personal representative" includes executor, administrator, successor personal representative, special administrator, and persons who perform substantially the same function under the law governing their status.

(6) "Property" includes both real and personal property or any interest therein and means anything that may be the subject of ownership.

(7) "Register," including its derivatives, means to issue a certificate showing the ownership of a certificated security or, in the case of an uncertificated security, to initiate or transfer an account showing ownership of securities.

(8) "Registering entity" means a person who originates or transfers a security title by registration, and includes a broker maintaining security accounts for customers and a transfer agent or other person acting for or as an issuer of securities.

(9) "Security" means a share, participation, or other interest in property, in a business, or in an obligation of an enterprise or other issuer, and includes a certificated security, an uncertificated security, and a security account.

(10) "Security account" means (a) a reinvestment account associated with a security; a securities account with a broker; a cash balance in a brokerage account; or cash, interest, earnings, or dividends earned or declared on a security in an account, a reinvestment account, or a brokerage account, whether or not credited to the account before the owner's death; or (b) a cash balance or other property held for or due to the owner of a security as a replacement for or product of an account security, whether or not credited to the account before the owner's death.

(11) "State" includes any state of the United States, the District of Columbia, the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico, and any territory or possession subject to the legislative authority of the United States.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. Only individuals whose registration of a security shows sole ownership by one individual or multiple ownership by two or more with right of survivorship, rather than as tenants in common, may obtain registration in beneficiary form. Multiple owners of a security registered in beneficiary form shall hold the security as joint tenants with right of survivorship either as separate property or as community property, and not as tenants in common.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. A registering entity may register a security in beneficiary form if the form is authorized by this chapter or a substantially identical statute of another state if the state is: (1) The state of organization of the issuer or registering entity, (2) the location of the registering entity's principal office, (3) the location of the office of its transfer agent or its office making the registration, or (4) the location of the owner's listed address at the time of registration. A registration governed by the law of a jurisdiction in which this or substantially identical legislation is not in force or was not in force when a registration in beneficiary form was made is nevertheless presumed to be valid and authorized as a matter of contract law.
NEW SECTION. Sec. 4. A security, whether evidenced by certificate or account, is registered in beneficiary form when the registration includes a designation of a beneficiary to take the ownership at the death of a sole owner or at the death of the last to die of multiple owners.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 5. Registration in beneficiary form may be shown by the words "transfer on death" or the abbreviation "TOD," or by the words "pay on death" or the abbreviation "POD," after the name of the registered owner or owners and before the name of a beneficiary.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 6. The designation of a TOD or POD beneficiary on a registration in beneficiary form has no effect on ownership of the security until the owner's death, or on community property rights and obligations of owners. A registration of a security in beneficiary form may be canceled or changed at any time by the sole owner or all then surviving owners, without the consent of the beneficiary.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 7. On death of a sole owner or the last to die of all multiple owners, ownership of securities registered in beneficiary form passes to the beneficiary or beneficiaries who survive all owners. On proof of death of all owners and compliance with any applicable requirements of the registering entity, a security registered in beneficiary form may be reregistered in the name of the beneficiary or beneficiaries who survived the death of all owners. Until division of the security after the death of all owners, multiple beneficiaries surviving the death of all owners hold their interests as tenants in common. If no beneficiary survives the death of all owners, the security belongs to the estate of the deceased sole owner or the estate of the last to die of all multiple owners.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 8. (1) A registering entity is not required to offer or to accept a request for security registration in beneficiary form. If a registration in beneficiary form is offered by a registering entity, the owner requesting registration in beneficiary form assents to the protections given to the registering entity by this chapter.

(2) By accepting a request for registration of a security in beneficiary form, the registering entity agrees that the registration will be implemented on death of the deceased owner as provided in this chapter.

(3) A registering entity is discharged from all claims to a security by the estate, creditors, heirs, or devisees of a deceased owner if it registers a transfer of a security in accordance with section 7 of this act and does so in good faith reliance (a) on the registration, (b) on this chapter, and (c) on information provided to it by affidavit of the personal representative of the deceased owner, or by the surviving beneficiary or by the surviving beneficiary's representatives, or other information available to the registering entity. The protections of this chapter do not extend to a reregistration or payment made after a registering entity has received written notice from any claimant to any interest in the security objecting to implementation of a registration in beneficiary form. No other notice or other information available to the registering entity affects its right to protection under this chapter.

(4) The protection provided by this chapter to a registering entity does not affect the rights of beneficiaries in disputes between themselves and other claimants to ownership of the security transferred or its value or proceeds.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 9. (1) A transfer on death resulting from a registration in beneficiary form is effective by reason of the contract regarding the registration between the owner and the registering entity and this chapter and is not testamentary.

(2) This chapter does not limit the rights of creditors of security owners against beneficiaries and other transferees under other laws of this state.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 10. (1) A registering entity offering to accept registrations in beneficiary form may establish the terms and conditions under which it will receive requests (a) for registrations in beneficiary form, and (b) for implementation of registrations in beneficiary form, including requests for cancellation of previously registered TOD beneficiary designations and requests for reregistration to effect a change of beneficiary. The terms and conditions so established may provide for proving death, avoiding or resolving any problems concerning fractional shares, and designating beneficiaries. Other rules for providing proofs and assurances needed to satisfy reasonable concerns by registering entities regarding conditions and identities relevant to accurate implementation of registrations in beneficiary form may be contained in a registering entity's terms and conditions.

(2) The following are illustrations of registrations in beneficiary form that a registering entity may authorize:

(a) Sole owner-sole beneficiary: John S. Brown TOD (or POD) John S. Brown Jr.

(b) Multiple owners-sole beneficiary: John S. Brown Mary B. Brown JT TEN TOD John S. Brown Jr.

(2) This chapter shall be liberally construed and applied to promote its underlying purposes and policy and to make uniform the laws with respect to the subject of this chapter among states enacting it.

(3) Unless displaced by the particular provisions of this chapter, the principles of law and equity supplement the provisions of this chapter.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 12. This chapter applies to registrations of securities in beneficiary form made before or after the effective date of this act, by decedents dying on or after the effective date of this act.

HOUSE BILL NO. 1024, as amended by the Senate, having received the constitutional majority, was declared passed.

There being no objection, the title of the bill was ordered to stand as the title of the act.

There being no objection, the Senate resumed consideration of Substitute House Bill No. 1275 and the pending amendment by Senators Owen and Hargrove on page 4, line 22, deferred earlier today.

President Pritchard: "In ruling upon the point of order raised by Senator Fraser, the President finds that Substitute House Bill No. 1275 is a measure which provides that site exploration and investigation activities, as defined, are not subject to the requirements of substantial development permits.

"The amendment by Senators Owen and Hargrove on page 4, line 22, would change the definition of 'substantial development' as it relates to all shoreline and water activities.

"The President, therefore, finds that the proposed amendment does change the scope and object of the bill and the point of order is well taken."

The amendment by Senators Owen and Hargrove on page 4, line 22, to Substitute House Bill No. 1275 was ruled out of order.

Senator Hargrove moved that the following amendment by Senators Hargrove, Owen and Amondson be adopted:

On page 6, line 21, after "met" insert "; or

(F) The activity involves any other development of which the total cost or fair market value does not exceed eight thousand five hundred dollars"

Senator Spanel: "A point of order, Mr. President. I would request a ruling on the scope and object of this amendment. I would say similar things to what were said on the previous amendment. This does change the Shorelines Management Act. It is a major change in the substantial development by changing that allowance up to the eighty-five hundred mark."

RULING BY THE PRESIDENT
President Pritchard: “In ruling upon the point of order raised by Senator Spanel, the President finds that Substitute House Bill No. 1275 is a measure which provides that site exploration and investigation activities, as defined, are not subject to the requirements of substantial development permits.

“The amendment by Senators Hargrove, Owen and Amondson on page 6, line 21, would add an additional qualification to the definition of site exploration and investigation.

Sec. 4. RCW 43.160.060 and 1990 1st ex.s. c 17 s 73 are each amended to read as follows:

The board is authorized to make direct loans to political subdivisions of the state and federally recognized Indian tribes for the purposes of assisting the political subdivisions in financing the cost of public facilities, including development of land and improvements for public facilities, as well as the ((acquisition, construction, rehabilitation, or improvement of the facilities. A grant may also be authorized for purposes designated in this chapter, but only when, and to the extent that, a loan is not reasonably possible, given the limited resources of the political subdivision or tribe. Application for funds shall be made in the form and manner as the board may prescribe. In making grants or loans the board shall conform to the following requirements:

(1) The board shall not make a grant or loan:

(a) For a project the primary purpose of which is to facilitate or promote a retail shopping development or expansion.

(b) For any project that evidence exists would result in a development or expansion that would displace existing jobs in any other community in the state.

(c) For the acquisition of real property, including buildings and other fixtures which are a part of real property.

(2) The board shall only make grants or loans:

(a) For those projects which would result in specific private developments or expansions (i) in manufacturing, production, food processing, assembly, warehousing, and industrial distribution; (ii) for processing recyclable materials or for facilities that support recycling, including processes not currently provided in the state, including but not limited to, de-inking facilities, mixed waste paper, plastics, yard waste, and problem-waste processing; (iii) for manufacturing facilities that rely significantly on recyclable materials, including but not limited to, waste tires and mixed waste paper; (iv) which support the relocation of businesses from nondistressed urban areas to distressed rural areas; or (v) which substantially support the trading of goods or services outside of the state's borders.

(b) For projects which it finds will improve the opportunities for the successful maintenance, establishment, or expansion of industrial or commercial plants or will otherwise assist in the creation or retention of long-term economic opportunities.

(c) When the application includes convincing evidence that a specific private development or expansion is ready to occur and will occur only if the grant or loan is made.

(3) The board shall prioritize each proposed project according to the relative benefits provided to the community by the jobs the project would create, not just the total number of jobs it would create after the project is completed and according to the unemployment rate in the area in which the jobs would be located. As long as there is more demand for loans or grants than there are funds available for loans or grants, the board is instructed to fund projects in order of their priority.
A responsible official of the political subdivision or tribe shall be present during board deliberations and provide information that the board requests.

Before any loan or grant application is approved, the political subdivision or tribe seeking the loan or grant must demonstrate to the community economic revitalization board that no other timely source of funding is available to it at costs reasonably similar to financing available from the community economic revitalization board.

Sec. 5. RCW 43.160.074 and 1985 c 433 s 5 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) An application to the board from a political subdivision or federally recognized Indian tribe may also include a request for improvements to an existing state highway or highways. The application is subject to all of the applicable criteria relative to qualifying types of development set forth in this chapter, as well as procedures and criteria established by the board.

(2) Before board consideration of an application from a political subdivision or federally recognized Indian tribe that includes a request for improvements to an existing state highway or highways, the application shall be forwarded by the board to the transportation commission.

(3) The board may not make its final determination on any application made under subsection (1) of this section before receiving approval, as submitted or amended or disapproved from the transportation commission as specified in RCW 47.01.280. Notwithstanding its disposition of the remainder of any such application, the board may not approve a request for improvements to an existing state highway or highways without the approval as submitted or amended of the transportation commission as specified in RCW 47.01.280.

(4) The board shall notify the transportation commission of its decision regarding any application made under this section.

Sec. 6. RCW 43.160.076 and 1991 c 314 s 24 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) Except as authorized to the contrary under subsection (2) of this section, from all funds available to the board for loans and grants in a biennium, the board shall spend at least fifty percent for grants and loans for projects in distressed counties or timber impact areas. For purposes of this section, the term “distressed counties” includes any county, in which the average level of unemployment for the three years before the year in which an application for a loan or grant is filed, exceeds the average state employment of those years by twenty percent.

(2) If at any time during the last six months of a biennium the board finds that the actual and anticipated applications for qualified projects in distressed counties or timber impact areas are clearly insufficient to use up the fifty percent allocation, then the board shall estimate the amount of the insufficiency and during the remainder of the biennium may use that amount of the allocation for loans and grants for projects not located in distressed counties or timber impact areas.

Sec. 7. RCW 43.160.077 and 1989 c 431 s 63 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) When the board (consideration of) receives an application from a political subdivision or federally recognized Indian tribe that includes a request for assistance in financing the cost of public facilities to encourage the development of a private facility to process recyclable materials, a copy of the application shall be (forwarded) sent by the board to the department of ecology.

(2) The department of ecology shall submit a recommendation on all applications related to processing recyclable materials to the board for their consideration.

(3) Upon receiving an application for assistance in financing the cost of public facilities to encourage the development of a private facility to process recyclable materials from the board, the department of ecology shall, within thirty days, determine whether or not the proposed assistance:

(a) Has a significant impact on the residential and commercial waste stream;

(b) Results in a product that has a ready market;

(c) Does not jeopardize any other planned market development projects; and

(d) Results in a product that would otherwise be purchased out of state.

(4) Upon completion of its determination of the factors contained in subsection (3) of this section and any other factors it deems pertinent, the department of ecology shall forward its recommended approval, as submitted or amended, or recommended disapproval of the proposed improvements to the board, along with any recommendation it may wish to make concerning the desirability and feasibility of the proposed market development. If the department of ecology recommends disapproval of any proposed project, it shall specify its reasons for recommending disapproval.

(5) The board shall notify the department of ecology of its decision regarding any application made under this section.

Sec. 8. RCW 43.160.200 and 1991 c 314 s 23 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) The economic development account is created within the public facilities construction loan revolving fund under RCW 43.160.080. Moneys in the account may be spent only after appropriation. Expenditures from the account may be used only for the purposes of RCW 43.160.010(4) and this section. The account is subject to allotment procedures under chapter 43.88 RCW.

(4) Applicants must demonstrate that their request is part of an economic development plan consistent with applicable state planning requirements. Applicants must demonstrate that tourism projects have been approved by the local government (and are part of a regional tourism plan approved by the local and regional tourism organizations). (6) Applications must demonstrate local match and participation. Such match may include: Land donation, other public or private funds or both, or other means of local commitment to the project.

(7) Board financing for feasibility studies shall not exceed twenty-five thousand dollars per study. Board funds for feasibility studies may be provided as a grant and require a dollar for dollar match with up to one-half in-kind match allowed.

(8) Board financing for tourism projects shall not exceed two hundred fifty thousand dollars. Other public facility projects under this section shall not exceed five hundred thousand dollars. Loans with flexible terms and conditions to meet the needs of the applicants shall be provided. Grants may also be authorized, but only when, and to the extent that, a loan is not reasonably possible, given the limited resources of the political subdivision or tribe.

(9) The board shall develop guidelines for allowable local match and feasibility studies.

(10) Applications under this section need not demonstrate evidence that specific private development or expansion is ready to occur or will occur if funds are provided.

As we all know, Indian Tribes are not political subdivisions of the state, and while they are not recognized by the government or sovereign nations, they have a right to be provided with financial assistance and recognition. However, as currently structured, the CERB does not extend loans to federally recognized Indian Tribes. The bill in question was introduced to amend RCW 43.160.020, 43.160.210, and declaring an emergency.

The amendment would recognize the importance of Indian Tribes and provide them with the financial assistance they need. The amendment would also provide a process for the CERB to extend loans to Indian Tribes. The amendment would also provide for the recognition of Indian Tribes as political subdivisions of the state, allowing them to access the benefits of state funding and assistance. This would be a significant step forward in recognizing the sovereignty and self-governance of Indian Tribes.

The amendment would also include provisions for the recognition of Indian Tribes as political subdivisions of the state, allowing them to access the benefits of state funding and assistance. This would be a significant step forward in recognizing the sovereignty and self-governance of Indian Tribes.

Senator Nelson: "Senator Skratek, I think, perhaps it would be something that the body should know more about with respect to now allowing the CERB to extend loans to federally recognized Indian Tribes for assistance of financing of public facilities including development of land and improvements for public facilities. I am wondering to what extent—that is something beyond what would be given to cities and counties."

Senator Skratek: "Senator Nelson, I appreciate your asking this particular question. As CERB currently is richened, the money can only be provided to political subdivisions of the state. As we all know, Indian Tribes are not political subdivisions of the state, of themselves, government or sovereign nations, so the very language that is currently used within CERB would prohibit Indian Tribes from applying and being eligible for these particular opportunities. We have revised the bill in order to recognize the fact that our federal government has, for a very long time, recognized that they are governments in and of themselves and not political subdivisions of the state and that is the primary reason for the change.

Senator Skratek: “They would be eligible for the loans as would any political subdivision of the state. They would have to follow the criteria established within the program and if, indeed, they met those criteria, they would be able to obtain that particular opportunity as would any political subdivision of the state. This is simply recognizing the fact that they are not a political subdivision of the state, but are in and of themselves a sovereign nation.”

Senator Nelson: “Well, I want to point out to the body that when you extend these types of loans to a federally recognized Indian Tribe, the one thing you lose in the process is the return of tax revenues. We have a situation here where we find, in many cases across the state of Washington, because of the sovereign nation status that the Indian Tribes, essentially, are now getting into businesses that are out of reach by our own Department of Revenue for the purposes of taxation.

“I am finding some difficulty in seeing the rationale behind our extending state tax dollar loans to the federally recognized tribes that, in turn, are going to compete with private business and the cities and counties providing the same types of public facilities. I'm not satisfied with the answer that I am getting here and this is something that Senator Vognild and I are very cognizant about in what the Tulalips are planning to do in providing a solid waste facility to treat the solid waste from a number of counties in the northwest region of our state in burning and, in effect, getting away with a lot of things that our cities and counties cannot do, but where the Indian Tribes are allowed to participate and not be under the jurisdiction of our own entities like the Puget Sound Air Pollution Control Board. I am still wondering how the committee arrived at what it is you have done here without taking into consideration any of the other down-side risks.”

Senator Skratek: “With permission of the body, I yield to the person who brought the issue forward to the committee. Senator Williams.”

REMARKS BY SENATOR WILLIAMS

Senator Williams: “Thank you, Mr. President. The purpose of adding the tribes to the recipient entities for CERB funds was that they, like other forms of government in the state of Washington, have the same problems of infrastructure of streets, sewers—all of those sorts of things. They are a significant portion of our population and particularly in the timber counties where there are infrastructure problems and so forth.

“You also have to remember that it is the CERB board that makes the judgment on where these funds go and what projects they go to, so it seemed very appropriate to allow these funds to help fund a variety of similar needs that tribes have, as do other entities of government in the state of Washington. That was the purpose of it.”

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Anderson: “Senator Skratek, also coming out of your committee was there a bill that then authorized the CERB money—I think in timber dependent communities—to be used for buildings, as well as infrastructure?”

Senator Skratek: “I believe there was, Senator.”

Senator Anderson: “Would that, then, allow in timber dependent communities, if there were federally recognized tribes there, would the money for them also, then, allow buildings besides just infrastructure?”

Senator Skratek: “Again, they would have to meet the criteria of the program, so I would have to—not knowing the details of what you are talking about, Senator—I would simply have to indicate that they would have to follow all the requirements and if, indeed, they meet them, they would be eligible for funding as would any political subdivision of the state.”

Senator Anderson: “Let me follow this through—so the members of the body—and relate my concern here. In Whatcom County, in my area, there is a little town of Deming, which is incorporated, is classified as a timber dependent area. Also, within Deming is the Nooksack Indian Tribe which is currently building a gambling casino. My concern now is that with the tie of this CERB money being allowed for the tribes, would the other bill allowing buildings to be built with CERB money, that now in a strange twist, we could have CERB money building Indian gambling casinos? Until we follow through on that whole scenario, I would be very hesitant to pass this particular bill.”

Two members must be experienced in the fitting of hearing aids, must be licensed under this chapter, and shall have received at minimum a masters level college degree in audiology.

(3) The term of office of a member is three years. No member shall be appointed to serve more than two consecutive terms. A member shall continue to serve until a successor has been appointed. (1) If the ((council)) board determines following notice and hearing, or following notice if no hearing was timely requested, that a person has:

(a) Violated any provisions of this chapter or chapter 18.130 RCW; or

(b) Violated any lawful order, or rule of the ((council)) board an order may be issued by the ((council)) board requiring the person to cease and desist from the unlawful practice. The ((council)) board shall then take affirmative action as is necessary to carry out the purposes of this chapter.

(2) If the ((council)) board makes a written finding of fact that the public interest will be irreparably harmed by delay in issuing an order, a temporary cease and desist order may be issued. Prior to issuing a temporary cease and desist order, the ((council)) board, whenever possible, shall give notice by telephone or otherwise of the proposal to issue a temporary cease and desist order to the person to whom the order would be directed. Every temporary cease and desist order shall include in its terms a provision that upon request a hearing will be held to determine whether the order becomes permanent.

(3) The department, with or without prior administrative proceedings, may bring an action in the superior court to enjoin the acts or practices and to enforce compliance with this chapter, or rule or order under this chapter. Upon proper showing, injunctive relief or temporary restraining orders shall be granted and a receiver or conservator may be appointed. (2) In lieu of the surety bond required by this section, the establishment may file with the department a cash deposit or other negotiable security acceptable to the department. All obligations and remedies relating to surety bonds shall apply to deposits and security filed in lieu of surety bonds.
(3) If a cash deposit is filed, the department shall deposit the funds with the state treasurer. The cash or other negotiable security deposited with the department shall be returned to the depositor one year after the establishment has discontinued the fitting and dispensing of hearing aids if no legal action has been instituted against the establishment, its agents or employees, or the cash deposit or other security. The establishment owners shall notify the department if the establishment is sold or has discontinued the fitting and dispensing of hearing aids in order that the cash deposit or other security may be released at the end of one year from that date.

(4) A surety may file with the department notice of withdrawal of the bond of the establishment. Upon filing a new bond, or upon the expiration of sixty days after the filing of notice of withdrawal by the surety, the liability of the former surety for all future acts of the establishment terminates.

(5) Upon the filing with the department notice by a surety of withdrawal of the surety on the bond of an establishment or upon the cancellation by the department of the bond of a surety under this section, the department shall immediately give notice to the establishment by certified or registered mail with return receipt requested addressed to the establishment's last place of business as filed with the department.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 12. A new section is added to chapter 18.35 RCW to read as follows:

A person licensed under this chapter and not actively fitting and dispensing hearing aids may be placed on inactive status by the department at the written request of the licensee. The board shall define by rule the conditions for inactive status licensure. In addition to the requirements of RCW 43.24.086, the licensing fee for a licensee on inactive status shall be directly related to the costs of administering an inactive license by the department. A person on inactive status may be voluntarily placed on active status by notifying the department in writing, paying the remainder of the licensing fee for the licensing year, and complying with subsection (2) of this section.

(2) Inactive licensees applying for active licensure shall comply with the following: A licensee who has not fitted or dispensed hearing aids for more than five years from the expiration of the licensee's full fee license shall retake the practical examinations required under this chapter and shall have completed continuing education requirements within the previous twelve-month period. Johnson, Grant, Schoesler, Lisk, Fuhrman, Morris, Morton, Brough, Sheahan, Finkbeiner, Qualli, Miller and Anderson)
Modifying the regulation of "alternative livestock."

The bill was read the second time.

MOTION

Senator Rasmussen moved that the following Committee on Agriculture amendment not be adopted:

NEW SECTION, Sec. 1. The legislature declares that the husbandry of alternative livestock as a farming operation may provide a consistent source of healthful food, offers opportunities for new jobs and increased farm income stability, and improves the balance of trade.

The legislature intends to establish a process to identify vertebrate animal species that may be commercially raised in the state of Washington.

The legislature finds that many areas of the state of Washington may be suitable for alternative livestock farms, and therefore the legislature encourages the promotion of alternative livestock farming activities, programs, and development with the same status as other agricultural activities, programs, and development within the state.

The legislature finds that alternative livestock farming should be considered a branch of the agricultural industry of the state for purposes of laws that apply to or provide for the advancement, benefit, or protection of the agriculture industry within the state.

The legislature further finds, however, that alternative livestock farming may pose threats to the state's wildlife, and therefore requires effective regulation to minimize these threats.

It is therefore the policy of this state to encourage the development and expansion of alternative livestock farming within the state. It is also the policy of this state to protect wildlife and existing traditional livestock industries by providing for effective regulation of alternative livestock farming including but not limited to a disease inspection and control program for alternative livestock farming operations.

NEW SECTION, Sec. 2. Unless the context clearly requires otherwise, the definitions in this section apply throughout this chapter.

(1) "Alternative livestock" means those species designated under the provisions of section 10 of this act so long as they are: Confined by humans; raised or used in farm or ranch operations in the private sector; and produced on the farm or ranch or legally acquired for the farm or ranch. "Alternative livestock" shall not include: Resident wildlife species that currently exist in a wild state in the state of Washington; domestic dogs (canis familiaris) or domestic cats (felis domestica); private sector aquatic products as defined in and regulated under chapter 15.85 RCW; animals raised for release into the wild: animals raised for the purpose of hunting that takes place in this state; or fur farming and game farming as currently allowed and regulated by chapters 16.72 and 77.32 RCW.

(2) "Alternative livestock farm or ranch" means the farm or ranch upon which alternative livestock are reared and shall not include publicly and privately owned facilities for which a license or permit is required under RCW 77.12.570 or 77.32.010.

(3) "Alternative livestock products" means the agricultural products of alternative livestock including, but not limited to, meat and meat products, velvet, antlers, horns, leather, hides, feathers, eggs, gametes, and genetic materials. "Alternative livestock products" does not include a product that is required to be identified under section 5 of this act and is not identified as required.

(4) "Department" means the department of agriculture.

(5) "Traditional livestock" means horses, mules, cattle, sheep, swine, goats, poultry, and rabbits, and other species designated jointly by the director of agriculture and director of wildlife pursuant to section 10 of this act.

NEW SECTION, Sec. 3. The department is the principal state agency for providing state marketing support services for the alternative livestock industry. The department shall exercise its authorities, including those provided by chapters 15.64, 15.65, 15.66, and 43.23 RCW, to develop the alternative livestock industry to market and promote the use of its products. The department shall consult the alternative livestock council in developing the program.

NEW SECTION, Sec. 4. It is unlawful to hunt or allow others to hunt for a fee, any alternative livestock reared on or derived from an alternative livestock farm.

NEW SECTION, Sec. 5. The director of agriculture shall, in consultation with the director of wildlife and the alternative livestock council, establish methods of identification requirements, such as tattoos, branding, or eartags, for alternative livestock and alternative livestock products to the extent that identifying the livestock or the source or quantity of the products is necessary to permit the department of wildlife to effectively administer and enforce Title 77 RCW. The director shall also consult with the director of the department of wildlife to ensure that such rules enable the department of wildlife to enforce the programs administered under that title.

NEW SECTION, Sec. 6. The department of agriculture shall, in consultation with the department of wildlife and other interests, develop a program of disease inspection and control for alternative livestock. The purpose of the program is to protect the traditional and alternative livestock industries from the loss of animals or productivity to disease and to protect wildlife in this state.

The department of agriculture shall adopt new or amend existing rules in conformance with chapter 34.05 RCW. The department of agriculture shall administer a program of disease inspection and control for alternative livestock. As used in this section “disease” means, in addition to its ordinary meaning, infestations of parasites or pests.

NEW SECTION, Sec. 7. The owner of a farm or ranch for alternative livestock shall register the farm or ranch annually with the department of agriculture. The director shall develop and maintain a registration list of all alternative livestock farms and ranches. Registered alternative livestock farms and ranches shall provide the department production statistical data. The director of agriculture and the director of wildlife shall, in consultation with the alternative livestock council, establish by rule reasonable annual registration fees sufficient to cover the costs of development of rules and the administration of this chapter and the rules adopted under this chapter. Fees may differ between species based upon factors including but not limited to economic value, degree of services required, and complexity of regulations. Fees collected under this section shall be deposited in the alternative livestock farm account within the agricultural and conservation fund established in RCW 43.23.230 and the wildlife fund established in RCW 77.12.170 and shall be used solely to carry out the provisions of this chapter.
NEW SECTION. Sec. 8. The director of agriculture and the director of wildlife shall study the needs for assuring adequate fences or other methods of enclosure for various species of alternative livestock. The directors shall jointly adopt rules establishing standards for one or more types of alternative livestock as deemed necessary to assure adequate protection to traditional livestock, wildlife, and alternative livestock.

If an animal is not enclosed as required for the animal in rules adopted under this section or if it is found by a state wildlife or agricultural official or local law enforcement officer outside an area of an enclosure that is required for it in rules adopted under this section, the animal so unenclosed or so found is hereby declared to be a public nuisance. An owner of alternative livestock may request assistance from the department of agriculture, department of wildlife, or local law enforcement officer in recapturing escaped alternative livestock and may be billed for the cost of services rendered.

Alternative livestock that escape a required enclosure and are recaptured may be impounded at a suitable facility at the owner's expense. Animals may not be returned to the owner's premises until sufficient repairs or improvement are made to assure that release will not reoccur. The owner of the animal is liable for damages that are shown to be caused by the animal during the time of the escape.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 9. Growers of nontraditional animals shall register within one hundred eighty days of the effective date of this act. The registration grants no future right or change to the legal status until the department of wildlife and the department of agriculture jointly take some action. This registration will not in any way be construed to initiate the petition or designation process established in section 10 of this act.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 10. (1) A vertebrate animal identification process is hereby established. The purpose of the process is to provide a method by which animals are classified as alternative or traditional livestock.

(2) Species that are designated as traditional livestock shall be regulated by the department of agriculture. Species in addition to those specified in section 2(5) of this act may be designated as traditional livestock by joint rule adopted by the department of wildlife and the department of agriculture.

(3) A species may be petitioned for regulation by the director of wildlife, the director of agriculture, or any person registering under section 9 of this act by filing with either department a completed written petition requesting the joint regulation of a species under this chapter.

(4) The two directors may decide if and how a species is to be regulated through jointly adopted rules. Each determination shall be in writing and shall be published in the Washington State Register.

(5) If the two directors do not reach agreement as to whether and how a species should be regulated under this chapter, a scientific review board shall be convened in accordance with section 11 of this act and shall make a written recommendation to the directors as to the status of the species in question. Should the directors fail to agree within thirty days after receipt of such recommendation, the determination shall be made by the governor.

(6) Resident wildlife shall be regulated by the department of wildlife and may not be classified under this chapter as alternative livestock except as provided in section 12 of this act.

(7)(a) Any species that is not present in the state as of the effective date of this act, may be petitioned for possible regulation by any person and such petition acted upon under this section prior to entry for allowance or prohibition as alternative livestock.

(b) The legal status of a species that on the effective date of this act is present in the state and registered in accordance with section 9 of this act does not change until the directors make a determination as to its status.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 11. (1) A scientific review board, convened pursuant to section 10 of this act shall consist of three members. One member shall be appointed by the director of the department of wildlife, one member shall be appointed by the director of the department of agriculture, and one member shall be appointed jointly by these two members. The members that are appointed by the two departments must have qualifications that are appropriate to their responsibilities under this chapter. All three members must be residents of the state of Washington prior to appointment.

(2) The board may take testimony and seek other expert advice.

(3) All meetings of the board shall be public.

(4) The board may hold public hearings and take public testimony before making a written recommendation concerning whether a species is prohibited or allowed under section 10 of this act.

(5) All recommendations concerning whether a species is to be regulated under this chapter shall be written and shall include findings of fact. Recommendations shall be published in the Washington State Register.

(6) The board shall attend all public hearings held on the adoption of proposed rules under this chapter, review existing agency rules that pertain to the issues addressed by this chapter, review the rules proposed under this chapter, and provide comments and recommendations to the departments regarding the need, adequacy, and workability of the proposed rules.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 12. Wildlife species that exist in a wild state in the state of Washington are not alternative livestock and may not be farmed except as provided in this section. By joint rule, which shall include methods that will ensure genetic integrity, the directors of the department of agriculture and the department of wildlife may allow rocky mountain elk (cervus elaphus nelsoni) to be farmed in the same status and under the same regulatory provisions as traditional livestock. The directors shall, within ninety days of the adoption of the rule, jointly prepare a report on the rule adopted under this section, which shall include specific detail on the methods used to determine genetic integrity of farmed rocky mountain elk (cervus elaphus nelsoni). Within two years of the adoption of the rule, the directors shall jointly prepare a report on the status of operations conducted under the provisions of the rule. The reports shall be transmitted to the chairs of the house of the representatives committees on agriculture and rural development and fisheries and wildlife and the senate committees on agriculture and natural resources.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 13. (1) If rule making under this chapter restricts the economic utilization of a species being raised for commercial purposes in the state, then the provisions of chapter 19.85 RCW shall apply and a small business economic impact statement shall be prepared. Such activity shall be considered as an industry for the purpose of RCW 19.85.020.

(2) The department of agriculture and the department of wildlife, in consultation with the attorney general, shall develop a report containing findings and recommendations regarding the establishment of an indemnification policy. Such report shall be delivered on or before December 15, 1993, to the secretary of the senate and the speaker of the house of representatives.

The directors shall develop criteria upon which to make evaluations as to whether and how petitioned species will be regulated.

The department of agriculture and the department of wildlife may adopt rules in accordance with chapter 34.05 RCW to carry out the provisions of this chapter.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 16. The alternative livestock council is created. The council shall consist of seven persons. Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

*NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. The legislature declares that the husbandry of alternative livestock as a farming operation may provide a consistent source of healthful food, offers opportunities for new jobs and increased farm income stability, and improves the balance of trade.

The legislature intends to establish a process to identify vertebrate animal species that may be commercially raised in the state of Washington.

The legislature finds that many areas of the state of Washington may be suitable for alternative livestock farms, and therefore the legislature encourages the promotion of alternative livestock farming activities, programs, and development with the same status as other agricultural activities, programs, and development within the state.

The legislature finds that alternative livestock farming should be considered a branch of the agricultural industry of the state for purposes of laws that apply to or provide for the advancement, benefit, or protection of the agriculture industry within the state. The legislature further finds, however, that alternative livestock farming may pose threats to the state's wildlife, and therefore requires effective regulation to minimize these threats.

It is therefore the policy of this state to encourage the development and expansion of alternative livestock farming within the state. It is also the policy of this state to protect wildlife and existing traditional livestock industries by providing for effective regulation of alternative livestock farming including but not limited to a disease inspection and control program for alternative livestock farming operations.

*NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. Unless the context clearly requires otherwise, the definitions in this section apply throughout this chapter.

1. "Alternative livestock" means those species designated under the provisions of section 10 of this act so long as they are:

   Confined by humans; raised or used in farm or ranch operations in the private sector; and produced on the farm or ranch or legally acquired for the farm or ranch. "Alternative livestock" shall not include: Resident wildlife species that currently exist in a wild state in the state of Washington; domestic dogs (canis familiaris) or domestic cats (felis domestica); private sector aquatic products as defined in and regulated under chapter 15.85 RCW; animals raised for release into the wild; animals raised for the purpose of hunting that takes place in this state; or fur farming and game farming as currently allowed and regulated by chapters 16.72 and 77.32 RCW.

2. "Alternative livestock farm or ranch" means the farm or ranch upon which alternative livestock are reared and shall not include publicly and privately owned facilities for which a license or permit is required under RCW 77.12.570 or 77.32.010.

3. "Alternative livestock products" means the agricultural products of alternative livestock including, but not limited to, meat and meat products, velvet, antlers, horns, leather, hides, feathers, eggs, gametes, and genetic materials. "Alternative livestock products" does not include a product that is required to be identified under section 5 of this act and is not identified as required.

4. "Department" means the department of agriculture.
§ 77.12.170 and shall be used solely to pay for the costs of disease inspection and control by the department of agriculture. Other species may be designated jointly by the director of agriculture and director of wildlife pursuant to section 10 of this act.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. The department is the principal state agency for providing state marketing support services for the alternative livestock industry. The department shall exercise its authorities, including those provided by chapters 15.64, 15.65, 15.66, and 43.23 RCW, to develop a program for assisting the alternative livestock industry to market and promote the use of its products. The department shall consult the alternative livestock council in developing the program.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4. It is unlawful to hunt or allow others to hunt for a fee, any alternative livestock reared on or derived from an alternative livestock farm.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 5. The director of agriculture shall, in consultation with the director of wildlife and the alternative livestock council, establish methods of identification requirements, such as tattoos, branding, or ear tags, for alternative livestock and alternative livestock products to the extent that identifying the livestock or the source or quantity of the products is necessary to permit the department of wildlife to effectively administer and enforce Title 77 RCW. The director shall also consult with the director of the department of wildlife to ensure that such rules enable the department of wildlife to enforce the programs administered under that title.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 6. The department of agriculture shall, in consultation with the department of wildlife and other interests, develop a program of disease inspection and control for alternative livestock. The purpose of the program is to protect the traditional and alternative livestock industries from the loss of animals or productivity to disease and to protect wildlife in this state. The department of agriculture shall adopt new or amend existing rules in conformance with chapter 34.05 RCW. The department of agriculture shall administer a program of disease inspection and control for alternative livestock. As used in this section “disease” means, in addition to its ordinary meaning, infestations of parasites or pests.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 7. The owner of a farm or ranch for alternative livestock shall register the farm or ranch annually with the department of agriculture. The owner shall maintain a registration list of all alternative livestock farms and ranches. Registered alternative livestock farms and ranches shall provide the department production statistical data. The director of agriculture in consultation with the director of wildlife shall, in consultation with the alternative livestock council, establish by rule reasonable annual registration fees sufficient to cover the costs of development of rules and the administration of this chapter and the rules adopted under this chapter. Fees may differ between species based upon factors including but not limited to economic value, degree of services required, and complexity of regulations. Fees collected under this section shall be deposited in the alternative livestock farm account within the agricultural local fund established in RCW 43.23.230 and the wildlife fund established in RCW 77.12.170 and shall be used solely to carry out the provisions of this chapter.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 8. The director of agriculture and the director of wildlife shall study the needs for assuring adequate fences or other methods of enclosure for various species of alternative livestock. The directors shall jointly adopt rules establishing enclosure standards for one or more types of alternative livestock as deemed necessary to assure adequate protection to traditional livestock, wildlife, and alternative livestock.

If an animal is not enclosed as required for the animal in rules adopted under this section or if it is found by a state wildlife or agricultural official or local law enforcement officer outside an area of an enclosure that is required for it in rules adopted under this section, the animal so unenclosed or so found is hereby declared to be a public nuisance. An owner of alternative livestock may request assistance from the department of agriculture, department of wildlife, or local law enforcement office in recapturing escaped alternative livestock and may be billed for the cost of services rendered.

Alternative livestock that escape a required enclosure and are recaptured may be impounded at a suitable facility at the owner’s expense. Animals may not be returned to the owner’s premises until sufficient repairs or improvement are made to assure that release will not reoccur. The owner of the animal is liable for damages that are shown to be caused by the animal during the time of the escape.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 9. Commercial growers of nontraditional animals shall register with the department of agriculture within one hundred eighty days of the effective date of this act. This registration will not in any way be construed to initiate the petition for designation process established in section 10 of this act. The legal status of a species that on the effective date of this act is present in the state and registered in accordance with this section does not change unless the directors jointly adopt rules about the registered species.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 10. (1) A vertebrate animal identification process is hereby established. The purpose of the process is to provide a method by which animals are classified as alternative or traditional livestock.

(2) Species that are designated as traditional livestock shall be regulated by the department of agriculture. Species in addition to those specified in section 2(5) of this act may be designated as traditional livestock by joint rule adopted by the department of wildlife and the department of agriculture.

(3) A species may be petitioned for regulation by the director of wildlife, the director of agriculture, or any person registering under section 9 of this act by filing with either department a completed written petition requesting the joint regulation of a species under this chapter.

(4) The two directors may decide if and how a species is to be regulated through jointly adopted rules. Each determination shall be in writing and shall be published in the Washington State Register.

(5) If the two directors do not reach agreement as to whether and how a species should be regulated under this chapter, a scientific review board shall be convened in accordance with section 11 of this act and shall make a written recommendation to the directors as to the status of the species in question. Should the directors fail to agree within thirty days after receipt of such recommendation, the determination shall be made by the governor.

(6) Resident wildlife shall be regulated by the department of wildlife and may not be classified under this chapter as alternative livestock except as provided in section 12 of this act.

(7)(a) Any species that is not present in the state as of the effective date of this act, may be petitioned by any person for possible regulation and such petition acted upon under this section prior to entry for allowance or prohibition as alternative livestock.

(b) The legal status of a species that on the effective date of this act is present in the state and registered in accordance with section 9 of this act does not change unless the directors jointly adopt rules about the registered species.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 11. (1) A scientific review board, convened pursuant to section 10 of this act shall consist of three members. One member shall be appointed by the director of the department of wildlife, one member shall be appointed by the director of the department of agriculture, and one member shall be appointed jointly by these two members. The members that are appointed by the two departments must have qualifications that are appropriate to their responsibilities under this chapter. All three members must be residents of the state of Washington prior to appointment.

(2) The board may take testimony and seek other expert advice.

(3) All meetings of the board shall be public.

(4) The board may hold public hearings and take public testimony before making a written recommendation concerning whether a species is prohibited or allowed under section 10 of this act.

(5) All recommendations concerning whether a species is to be regulated under this chapter shall be written and shall include findings of fact. Recommendations shall be published in the Washington State Register.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 12. Wildlife species that exist in a wild state in the state of Washington are not alternative livestock and may not be farmed except as provided in this section. By joint rule, which shall include methods that will ensure genetic integrity, the directors of the department of agriculture and the department of wildlife may allow rocky mountain elk (Cervus elaphus nelsoni) to be farmed in the same status and under the same regulatory provisions as alternative livestock. The directors shall, within ninety days of the adoption of the rule, jointly prepare a report on the rule adopted under this section, which shall include specific detail on the methods used to determine genetic integrity of farmed rocky mountain elk (Cervus elaphus nelsoni). Within two years of the adoption of the rule, the directors shall jointly prepare a report on the status of operations conducted under the provisions of the rule. The reports shall be transmitted to the chairs of the house of representatives committees on agriculture and rural development and fisheries and wildlife and the senate committees on agriculture and natural resources.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 13. (1) If rule making under this chapter restricts the economic utilization of a species being raised for commercial purposes in the state, then the provisions of chapter 19.85 RCW shall apply and a small business economic impact statement shall be prepared. Such activity shall be considered as an industry for the purpose of RCW 19.85.020.

(2) The department of agriculture and the department of wildlife, in consultation with the attorney general, shall develop a report containing findings and recommendations regarding the commercial worth of a species as described in this act. Such report shall be delivered by December 15, 1993, to the secretary of the senate and the speaker of the house of representatives.

The directors shall develop criteria upon which to make evaluations as to whether and how petitioned species will be regulated.

The department of agriculture and the department of wildlife may adopt rules in accordance with chapter 34.05 RCW to carry out the provisions of this chapter.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 16. The alternative livestock council is created. The council shall consist of seven persons. Four members of the council shall be appointed by the director of agriculture to three-year terms. Three members of the council shall be appointed by the director of the department of wildlife to three-year terms. The directors may shorten the initial term for a position on the council to stagger the expiration of terms on the council. Vacancies on the council shall be filled by the director by appointment. POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Roach: "Senator Smith, two questions actually, one is who pays for the lock boxes and will the Legislature be reimbursing local governments for that expense? The second question is this, will judges be able to have a weapon to protect themselves? My question comes, because I realize in some states, for instance California, some judges sit over trap doors and others sit behind bullet-proof shields. I am wondering if we would be denying the right to keep and bear arms to license judges or court employees? Is that what this bill would do? Those two questions, please."

Senator Adam Smith: "Trying to keep up with the two part question, as I understand the first part of the question, yes, the local authority would be responsible for paying for the lock boxes. The local authorities we talked to were anxious to do that and considered that to be a fair compromise that they should have to pay that. In response to the second part of the question, yes, this does eliminate the exemptions that were previously in the bill, which would have been for judges, attorneys, and several other people, but it does eliminate the right of a judge to have a gun in his chambers and in the courtroom."

Further debate ensued.

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator McCaslin: "Senator Bauer, it is a real tragedy that the young lady lost sight of her eye, but I wonder if it was a party or just a gathering of friends or what it was?"
Senator Bauer: "I really can't answer that actually, Senator McCaslin."
Senator McCaslin: "The point I'm leading to is what caused the accident is throwing things out of windows. I would assume that universities and colleges have some rule against throwing bottles and so forth out the window and that is what caused the accident. I guess that is what we should be looking at, rather than committee meetings or other meetings in frats and sororities."
Senator Bauer: "Since some of these frats and sororities are off the campus and really not integrally part of the institution, it has been rather difficult, but I think this bill will help give those institutions a little more opportunity to have an influence over this."
Senator McCaslin: "Well, I appreciate your response, but hopefully whether they are on campus or off, I'm sure cities and counties have regulations about tossing things out windows. That is basically the problem; it has nothing to do with intercollegiate athletics or frats. Thanks, Al."

A plaintiff in an action brought under this chapter shall not recover more than his or her actual damages and additional sums authorized in section 7 of this act. Once a plaintiff recovers his or her actual damages and any additional sums authorized under this chapter, additional damages shall not be recovered. A person does not have to be criminally convicted of violating section 3 of this act to be held civilly liable under this section. It is not necessary to prove actual damages to recover the additional sums authorized under section 7 of this act, costs, and statutory attorneys' fees. The prevailing party is entitled to recover costs and attorneys' fees.

(2) The superior courts of this state shall have authority to grant temporary, preliminary, and permanent injunctive relief to enjoin violations of this chapter.

In appropriate circumstances, any superior court having personal jurisdiction over one or more defendants may issue injunctive relief that shall have binding effect on the original defendants and persons acting in concert with the original defendants, in any county in the state.

Due to the nature of the harm involved, injunctive relief may be issued without bond in the discretion of the court, notwithstanding any other requirement imposed by statute.

The state and its political subdivisions shall cooperate in the enforcement of court injunctions that seek to protect against acts prohibited by this chapter.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 7. NEW SECTION. Sec. 8. Nothing in section 3 of this act shall prohibit either lawful picketing or other publicity for the purpose of providing the public with information.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 9. A court having jurisdiction over a criminal or civil proceeding under this chapter shall take all steps reasonably necessary to safeguard the individual privacy and prevent harassment of a health care patient or health care provider who is a party or witness in a proceeding, including granting protective orders and orders in limine.

Sec. 10. RCW 10.97.070 and 1977 ex.s. c 314 s 7 are each amended to read as follows:

(1) Criminal justice agencies may, in their discretion, disclose to persons who have suffered physical loss, property damage, or injury compensable through civil action, the identity of persons suspected as being responsible for such loss, damage, or injury together with such information with the agency reasonably believes may be of assistance to the victim in obtaining civil redress. Such disclosure may be made without regard to whether the suspected offender is an adult or a juvenile, whether charges have or have not been filed, or a prosecuting authority has declined to file a charge or a charge has been dismissed.

(2) Unless the agency determines release would interfere with an ongoing criminal investigation, in any action brought pursuant to this chapter, criminal justice agencies shall disclose identifying information, including photographs of suspects, if the acts are alleged by the plaintiff or victim to be a violation of section 3 of this act.

(3) The disclosure by a criminal justice agency of investigative information pursuant to subsection (1) of this section shall not establish a duty to disclose any additional information concerning the same incident or make any subsequent disclosure of investigative information, except to the extent an additional disclosure is compelled by legal process.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 11. Nothing in this chapter shall be construed to limit the right to seek other available criminal or civil remedies. The remedies provided in this chapter are cumulative, not exclusive.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 12. If any provision of this act or its application to any person or circumstance is held invalid, the remainder of the act or the application of the provision to other persons or circumstances is not affected.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 13. Sections 2 through 4, 6 through 9, and 11 of this act shall constitute a new chapter in Title 9A RCW.

WHEREAS, Wild salmon are important to the environmental and cultural heritage of the citizens of the State of Washington; and

WHEREAS, Certain species of wild salmon have been designated as threatened or endangered under the authority granted by the Federal Endangered Species Act; and

WHEREAS, Fisheries biologists from a variety of disciplines have identified a range of causes of mortality at each stage of the salmon’s life cycle, and have agreed that recovery measures must address causes of mortality at each stage of the life cycle; and

WHEREAS, Your Memorialists recognize that successful implementation of the comprehensive regional salmon recovery plan will require sacrifices by all economic stakeholders and substantial investment by the citizens of the region; and

WHEREAS, The Columbia-Snake River system provides substantial economic benefits to the citizens of the State of Washington in the areas of agriculture, navigation, fisheries, energy, industry, recreation, and flood control; and

WHEREAS, Stream flow augmentation is generally believed to provide biological benefits to migrating salmon, but there is continued uncertainty regarding the biological benefits to salmon of flow augmentation achieved by drawing down reservoir levels below minimum operating pool; and

WHEREAS, Drawdowns below minimum operating pool on the Snake River, conducted in March 1992 for the limited purpose of evaluating impact to physical structures and facilities, caused the loss of as many as thirty thousand resident fish, exposed shoreline wildlife to predation, disrupted navigation, and caused substantial physical property damage to public and private facilities; and

(1) By January 1, 1994, each county or city with a staffed transfer station or landfill in its jurisdiction shall adopt an ordinance to reduce litter from vehicles. The ordinance shall require the operator of a vehicle transporting solid waste to a staffed transfer station or landfill to secure or cover the vehicle's waste in a manner that will prevent spillage. The ordinance may provide exemptions for vehicle operators transporting waste that is unlikely to spill from a vehicle.

The ordinance may, in the absence of an exemption, require a fee, in addition to other landfill charges, for a person arriving at a staffed landfill or transfer station without a cover on the vehicle's waste or without the waste secured.

(2) The fee collected under subsection (1) of this section shall be deposited, no less often than quarterly, with the city or county in which the landfill or transfer station is located.

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Wojahn: "Senator Fraser, I notice that you are going to have a mandatory fee on trucks that aren't covered adequately and yet yоu preclude transporting gravel and dirt and things of that type with no cover. Now, my windshield of my car is covered with pits from gravel that has been dropped by the way side and it has been picked up and hits my windshield. I don't understand why you are not including them in the requirement to cover. Can you answer that question, because if you can't, I'm going to vote 'no' on this bill?"

Senator Fraser: "The answer to that question--we did discuss this very question in committee--because the concern you raise is very wide-spread, including with yours truly. That is covered under another statute that requires gravel loads to be no higher in a truck than a certain distance below the top of the truck level--where the material is being transported. Because it is covered in another statute, it is not addressed in this one."

Senator Wojahn: "But if it is below the level, they don't have to cover it, is that what you are saying? If it doesn't rise up above the top of the truck or the flat of the truck, it doesn't have to be covered?"

Senator Fraser: "That is my recollection."

Senator Wojahn: "Well, gravel can bounce out, whether it is above the level of the truck or not. I don't think this is a good bill. I think it is a bad bill."

Further debate ensued.

The Committee on Ecology and Parks striking amendment, as amended, to Substitute House Bill No. 1100, as amended, was adopted.

Providing for youth gang violence reduction.

The bill was read the second time.

MOTIONS

On motion of Senator Talmadge, the following Committee on Health and Human Services amendment was adopted:

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

"NEW SECTION. Sec. 1. The legislature finds and declares that:

(1) The number of youth who are members and associates of gangs and commit gang violence has significantly increased throughout the entire greater Puget Sound, Spokane, and other areas of the state;

(2) Youth gang violence has caused a tremendous strain on the progress of the communities impacted. The loss of life, property, and positive opportunity for growth caused by youth gang violence has reached intolerable levels. Increased youth gang activity has seriously strained the budgets of many local jurisdictions, as well as threatened the ability of the educational system to educate our youth;

(3) Among youth gang members the high school drop-out rate is significantly higher than among nongang members. Since the economic future of our state depends on a highly educated and skilled work force, this high school drop-out rate threatens the economic welfare of our future work force, as well as the future economic growth of our state;

(4) The unemployment rate among youth gang members is higher than that among the general youth population. The unusual unemployment rate, lack of education and skills, and the increased criminal activity could significantly impact our future prison population;

(5) Most youth gangs are subcultural. This implies that gangs provide the nurturing, discipline, and guidance to gang youth and potential gang youth that is generally provided by communities and other social systems. The subcultural designation means that youth gang participation and violence can be effectively reduced in Washington communities and schools through the involvement of community, educational, criminal justice, and employment systems working in a unified manner with parents and individuals who have a firsthand knowledge of youth gangs and at-risk youth; and

(6) A strong unified effort among parents and community, educational, criminal justice, and employment systems would facilitate: (a) The learning process; (b) the control and reduction of gang violence; (c) the prevention of youth joining negative gangs; and (d) the intervention into youth gangs.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. It is the intent of the legislature to cause the development of positive prevention and intervention pilot programs for elementary and secondary age youth through cooperation between individual schools, local organizations, and government. It is also the intent of the legislature that if the prevention and intervention pilot programs are determined to be effective in reducing problems associated with youth gang violence, that other counties in the state be eligible to receive special state funding to establish similar positive prevention and intervention programs.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 3. Unless the context otherwise requires, the following definitions shall apply throughout sections 1 through 11 of this act:

(1) "School" means any public school within a school district any portion of which is in a county with a population of over one hundred ninety thousand.

(2) "Community organization" means any organization recognized by a city or county as such, as well as private, nonprofit organizations registered with the secretary of state.

(3) "Gang risk prevention and intervention pilot program" means a community-based positive prevention and intervention program for gang members, potential gang members, at-risk youth, and elementary through high school-aged youth directed at all of the following:

(a) Reducing the probability of youth involvement in gang activities and consequent violence.

(b) Establishing ties, at an early age, between youth and community organizations.

(c) Committing local business and community resources to positive programming for youth.

(d) Committing state resources to assist in creating the gang risk prevention and intervention pilot programs.

(4) "Cultural awareness retreat" means a program that temporarily relocates at-risk youth or gang members and their parents from their usual social environment to a different social environment, with the specific purpose of having them performing activities which will enhance or increase their positive behavior and potential life successes.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 4. (1) The department of community development may recommend existing programs or contract with either school districts or community organizations, or both, through a request for proposal process for the development, administration, and implementation in the county of community-based gang risk prevention and intervention pilot programs.

(2) Proposals by the school district for gang risk prevention and intervention pilot program grant funding shall begin with school years no sooner than the 1994-95 session, and last for a duration of two years.

(3) The school district or community organization proposal shall include:

(a) A description of the program goals, activities, and curriculum. The description of the program goals shall include a list of measurable objectives for the purpose of evaluation by the department of community development. To the extent possible, proposals shall contain empirical data on current problems, such as drop-out rates and occurrences of violence on and off campus by school-age individuals.

(b) A description of the individual school or schools and the geographic area to be affected by the program.

(c) A demonstration of broad-based support for the program from business and community organizations.

(d) A clear description of the experience, expertise, and other qualifications of the community organizations to conduct an effective prevention and intervention program in cooperation with a school or a group of schools.

(e) A proposed budget for expenditure of the grant.

(6) A strong unified effort among parents and community, educational, criminal justice, and employment systems would facilitate: (a) The learning process; (b) the control and reduction of gang violence; (c) the prevention of youth joining negative gangs; and (d) the intervention into youth gangs.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 2. Sec. 1. RCW 28A.630.885 and 1992 c 141 s 202 are each amended to read as follows:

Sec. 1. The Washington commission on student learning is hereby established. The primary purposes of the commission are to identify what all students need to know and be able to do based on the student learning goals of the governor's council on education reform and funding, to develop student assessment and school accountability systems, and to take other steps necessary to develop a performance-based education system. The commission shall include three members of the state board of education, three members appointed by the governor before July 1, 1992, and (five) five members appointed no later than May 1, 1993, by the governor elected in the November 1992 election. Appointees shall be qualified individuals who are supportive of educational restructuring, who have a positive record of service, and who will devote sufficient time to the responsibilities of the commission to ensure that the objectives of the commission are achieved.

The commission shall begin its substantive work subject to subsection (1) of this section section 202(1), chapter 141, Laws of 1992."

SECOND READING
The commission shall establish technical advisory committees. Membership of the technical advisory committees shall include, but not necessarily be limited to, professionals from the office of the superintendent of public instruction and the state board of education, academic practitioners, local educational practitioners and other state and local student assessment specialists. The commission, with the assistance of the technical advisory committees, shall:

(1) Identify what all elementary and secondary students need to know and be able to do. At a minimum, these essential academic learning requirements shall include reading, writing, speaking, science, history, geography, mathematics, and critical thinking. In developing these essential academic learning requirements, the commission shall incorporate the student learning goals identified by the council on education reform and funding;

(2) By December 1, 1995, present to the state board of education and superintendent of public instruction a state-wide academic assessment system for use in the elementary grades designed to determine if each student has mastered the essential academic learning requirements identified in (a) of this subsection. The academic assessment system shall include a variety of methodologies, including performance-based measures. The assessment system shall be designed so that the results under the assessment system are used by educators as tools to evaluate instructional practices, and to initiate appropriate educational support for students who do not master the essential academic learning requirements. Mastery of each component of the essential academic learning requirements shall be required before students progress in subsequent components of the essential academic learning requirements. The state board of education and superintendent of public instruction shall implement the elementary academic accountability system in the 1996-97 school year, unless the legislature takes action to delay or prevent implementation of the assessment system and essential academic learning requirements. The state board of education and superintendent of public instruction may modify the academic assessment system, as needed, in subsequent school years;

(3) By December 1, 1996, present to the state board of education and superintendent of public instruction a state-wide academic assessment system for use in the secondary grades designed to determine if each student has mastered the essential academic learning requirements identified for secondary students in (a) of this subsection. The academic assessment system shall use a variety of methodologies, including performance-based measures, to determine if students have mastered the essential academic learning requirements, and shall lead to a certificate of mastery. The certificate of mastery shall be required for graduation. The assessment system shall be designed so that the results under the assessment system are used by educators to evaluate instructional practices, and to initiate appropriate educational support for students who do not master the essential academic learning requirements. The commission shall recommend to the state board of education whether the certificate of mastery should take the place of the graduation requirements or be required for graduation in addition to graduation requirements. The state board of education and superintendent of public instruction shall implement the secondary academic assessment system beginning in the 1997-98 school year, unless the legislature takes action to delay or prevent implementation of the assessment system and essential academic learning requirements. The state board of education and superintendent of public instruction may modify the assessment system, as needed, in subsequent school years;

(4) Consider methods to address the unique needs of special education students when developing the assessments in (b) and (c) of this subsection;

(5) Develop strategies that will assist educators in helping students master the essential academic learning requirements;

The quality schools center shall have an advisory council composed of educators, parents, and community and business leaders; use best practices research regarding instruction, management, curriculum development, and assessment; coordinate its activities with the office of the superintendent of public instruction and the state board of education; employ and contract with individuals who have a commitment to quality reform; prepare a six-year plan to be updated every two years; and be able to accept resources and funding from private and public sources;

(7) Develop recommendations for the repeal or amendment of federal, state, and local laws, rules, budgetary language, regulations, and other factors that inhibit schools from adopting strategies designed to help students achieve the essential academic learning requirements;

(8) Develop recommendations on the time, support, and resources, including technical assistance, needed by schools and school districts to help students achieve the essential academic learning requirements. These recommendations shall include an estimate for the legislature, superintendent of public instruction, and governor on the expected cost of implementing the elementary and secondary academic assessment systems during the 1995-97 biennium and beyond;

(9) Develop recommendations for consideration by the higher education coordinating board for adopting college and university entrance requirements that would assist schools in adopting strategies designed to help students achieve the essential academic learning requirements;

(10) By December 1, 1996, recommend to the legislature, state board of education, and superintendent of public instruction a state-wide accountability system to evaluate accurately and fairly the level of learning occurring in individual schools and school districts. The commission also shall recommend to the legislature steps that should be taken to assist school districts and schools in which learning is significantly below expected levels of performance as measured by the academic assessment systems established under this section;

(11) Report annually by December 1st to the legislature and the state board of education on the progress, findings, and recommendations of the commission; and

(12) Complete other tasks, as appropriate.

(d) Cannot be detained under the juvenile justice system due to being under age twelve and incompetent to stand trial for acts that could be prosecuted as sex offenses as defined by RCW 9.94A.030 if the juvenile was over twelve years of age, or
(e) The cost of the treatment; and
(f) The ability of the juvenile's parent or guardian to pay for the treatment.

For purposes of this chapter:

"Child" and "juvenile" means any individual under the age of eighteen years;

"Dependent child" means any child:

(a) Who has been abandoned; that is, where the child's parent, guardian, or other custodian has evidenced either by statement or conduct, a settled intent to forego, for an extended period, all parental rights or all parental responsibilities despite an ability to do so;

(b) Who is abused or neglected as defined in chapter 26.44 RCW by a person legally responsible for the care of the child;

(c) Who has no parent, guardian, or custodian capable of adequately caring for the child, such that the child is in circumstances which constitute a danger of substantial damage to the child's psychological or physical development;

(d) Who has a developmental disability, as defined in RCW 71A.10.020 and whose parent, guardian, or legal custodian together with the department determines that services appropriate to the child's needs can not be provided in the home. However, if the services no longer be required or if other reasons for removal of the child exist, the department shall refer the case to the proper regional department for the treatment of "at-risk juvenile sex offenders.

(e) Who is a "sexually aggressive youth," as defined in RCW 74.13.075(1)(b) and whose parent or guardian has failed to obtain or refused to accept available appropriate treatment or services.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 5. A new section is added to chapter 13.34 RCW to read as follows:
When the petition for dependency alleges that the child is a sexually aggressive youth and the parent or guardian has failed to obtain or has refused to accept available appropriate treatment, the court may order that the child receive an evaluation to determine whether the child needs treatment or other services. Prior to entry of an order of dependency on the petition, the court must find by a preponderance of the evidence at the fact-finding hearing held pursuant to RCW 13.34.110 that the child has committed acts that could be prosecuted as sex offenses as defined by RCW 9.94A.030, that the parent or guardian has failed to obtain or has refused to accept available appropriate treatment or services, and that treatment and services are available. If the court orders the child receive an evaluation, treatment, or services, the parent or legal guardian must pay for the evaluation, treatment, and services based on the parent’s or guardian’s ability to pay. The department shall develop a fair and equitable payment schedule.

Sec. 6. RCW 13.34.130 and 1992 c 145 s 14 are each amended to read as follows:

If, after a fact-finding hearing pursuant to RCW 13.34.110, as now or hereafter amended, it has been proven by a preponderance of the evidence that the child is dependent within the meaning of RCW 13.34.030(2); after consideration of the predisposition report prepared pursuant to RCW 13.34.110 and after a disposition hearing has been held pursuant to RCW 13.34.110, the court shall enter an order of disposition pursuant to this section.

(1) The court shall order one of the following dispositions of the case:

(a) Order a disposition other than removal of the child from his or her home, which shall provide a program designed to alleviate the immediate danger to the child, to mitigate or cure any damage the child has already suffered, and to aid the parents so that the child will not be endangered in the future. In selecting a program, the court should choose those services that least interfere with family autonomy, provided that the services are adequate to protect the child.

(b) Order that the child be removed from his or her home and ordered into the custody, control, and care of a relative or the department of social and health services or a licensed child placing agency for placement in a foster family home or group care facility licensed pursuant to chapter 74.15 RCW or in a home not required to be licensed pursuant to chapter 74.15 RCW. Unless there is reasonable cause to believe that the safety or welfare of the child would be jeopardized or that efforts to reunite the parent and child will be hindered, such child shall be placed with a grandparent, brother, sister, stepbrother, stepsister, uncle, aunt, or first cousin with whom the child has a relationship and is comfortable, and who is willing and available to care for the child. An order for out-of-home placement may be made only if the court finds that reasonable efforts have been made to prevent or eliminate the need for removal of the child from the child’s home and to make it possible for the child to return home, specifying the services that have been provided to the child and the child’s parent, guardian, or legal custodian, and that:

(i) There is no parent or guardian available to care for such child;

(ii) The parent, guardian, or legal custodian is not willing to take custody of the child;

(iii) A manifest danger exists that the child will suffer serious abuse or neglect if the child is not removed from the home and an order under RCW 26.44.063 would not protect the child from danger;

(iv) The extent of the child’s disability is such that the parent, guardian, or legal custodian is unable to provide the necessary care for the child and the parent, guardian, or legal custodian has determined that the child would benefit from placement outside of the home.

(2) If the court has ordered a child removed from his or her home pursuant to subsection (1)(b) of this section, the court may order that a petition seeking termination of the parent and child relationship be filed if the court finds it is recommended by the supervising agency, that it is in the best interests of the child and that it is not reasonable to provide further services to reunify the family because the existence of aggravated circumstances make it unlikely that services will effectuate the return of the child to the child’s parents in the near future. In determining whether aggravated circumstances exist, the court shall consider one or more of the following:

(a) Conviction of the parent of rape of the child in the first, second, or third degree as defined in RCW 9A.44.073, 9A.44.076, and 9A.44.079;

(b) Conviction of the parent of criminal mistreatment of the child in the first or second degree as defined in RCW 9A.42.020 and 9A.42.030.

(c) Conviction of the parent of one of the following assault crimes, when the child is the victim: Assault in the first or second degree as defined in RCW 9A.36.011 and 9A.36.021 or assault of a child in the first or second degree as defined in RCW 9A.36.120 or 9A.36.130;

(d) Conviction of the parent of murder, manslaughter, or homicide by abuse of the child’s other parent, sibling, or another child;

(e) A finding by a court that a parent is a sexually violent predator as defined in RCW 71.09.020;

(f) Failure of the parent to complete available treatment ordered under this chapter or the equivalent laws of another state, when such failure has resulted in a prior termination of parental rights to another child and the parent has failed to effect significant change in the interim.

(3) Whenever a child is removed from the child’s home, the agency charged with his or her care shall provide the court with:

(a) A permanent plan of care that may include one of the following: Return of the child to the home of the child’s parent, adoption, guardianship, or long-term placement with a relative or in foster care with a written agreement.

(b) Unless the court has ordered, pursuant to subsection (2) of this section, that a termination petition be filed, a specific plan as to where the child will be placed, what steps will be taken to return the child home, and what actions the agency will take to maintain parent-child ties. All aspects of the plan shall include the goal of achieving permanence for the child.

(i) The agency plan shall specify what services the parents will be offered in order to enable them to resume custody, what requirements the parents must meet in order to resume custody, and a time limit for each service plan and parental requirement.

(ii) The agency shall be required to encourage the maximum parent-child contact possible, including regular visitation and participation by the parents in the care of the child while the child is in placement. Visitation may be limited or denied only if the court determines that such limitation or denial is necessary to protect the child’s health, safety, or welfare.

(iii) A child shall be placed as close to the child’s home as possible, preferably in the child’s own neighborhood, unless the court finds that placement at a greater distance is necessary to promote the child’s or parents’ well-being.
(iv) The agency charged with supervising a child in placement shall provide all reasonable services that are available within the agency, or within the community, or those services which the department of social and health services has contracted to purchase. It shall report to the court if it is unable to provide such services.

(c) If the court has ordered, pursuant to subsection (2) of this section, that a termination petition be filed, a specific plan as to where the child will be placed, what steps will be taken to achieve permanency for the child, services to be offered or provided to the child, and, if visitation would be in the best interests of the child, a recommendation to the court regarding visitation between parent and child pending a fact-finding hearing on the termination petition. The agency shall not be required to develop a plan of services for the parents or provide services to the parents.

(4) If there is insufficient information at the time of the disposition hearing upon which to base a determination regarding the suitability of a proposed placement with a relative, the child shall remain in foster care and the court shall direct the supervising agency to conduct necessary background investigations as provided in chapter 74.15 RCW and report the results of such investigation to the court within thirty days. However, if such relative appears otherwise suitable and competent to provide care and treatment, the criminal history background check need not be completed before placement, but as soon as possible after placement. Any placements with relatives, pursuant to this section, shall be contingent upon cooperation by the relative with the agency case plan and compliance with court orders related to the care and supervision of the child including, but not limited to, court orders regarding parent-child contacts and any other conditions imposed by the court. Noncompliance with the case plan or court order shall be grounds for removal of the child from the relative’s home, subject to review by the court.

(5) Except for children whose cases are reviewed by a citizen review board under chapter 13.70 RCW, the status of all children found to be dependent shall be reviewed by the court at least every six months from the beginning date of the placement episode or the date dependency is established, whichever is first, at a hearing in which it shall be determined whether court supervision should continue. The review shall include findings regarding the agency and parental completion of disposition plan requirements, and if necessary, revised permanency time limits.

(a) A child shall not be returned home at the review hearing unless the court finds that a reason for removal as set forth in this section no longer exists. The parents, guardian, or legal custodian shall report to the court the efforts they have made to correct the conditions which led to removal. If a child is returned, casework supervision shall continue for a period of six months, at which time there shall be a hearing on the need for continued intervention.

(b) If the child is not returned home, the court shall establish in writing:

(i) Whether reasonable services have been provided to or offered to the parties to facilitate reunion, specifying the services provided or offered;

(ii) Whether the child has been placed in the least-restrictive setting appropriate to the child’s needs, including whether consideration has been given to placement with the child’s relatives;

(iii) Whether there is a continuing need for placement and whether the placement is appropriate;

(iv) Whether there has been compliance with the case plan by the child, the child’s parents, and the agency supervising the placement;

(v) Whether progress has been made toward correcting the problems that necessitated the child’s placement in out-of-home care;

(vi) Whether the parents have visited the child and any reasons why visitation has not occurred or has been infrequent;

(vii) Whether additional services are needed to facilitate the return of the child to the child’s parents; if so, the court shall order that reasonable services be offered specifying such services; and

(viii) The projected date by which the child will be returned home or other permanent plan of care will be implemented.

(c) The court at the review hearing may order that a petition seeking termination of the parent and child relationship be filed.

(6) If the sole basis for finding that the child is dependent is the parent’s failure to obtain or refusal to accept treatment for a child that is a sexually aggressive youth, the court shall limit the department’s scope of authority to the amount necessary to obtain treatment and services for the child. The court may not order that the child be removed from the home or expand the department’s authority unless the court finds that removing the child or expanding the department’s authority is necessary to treat the child or to provide services.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 7. The secretary of the department of social and health services is authorized to transfer surplus, unused treatment funds from the civil commitment center operated under chapter 71.09 RCW to the division of children and family services to provide treatment services for sexually aggressive youth.”

Alcohol of any proof that is sold in this state for use as fuel in motor vehicles, farm implements and machines, or implements of husbandry is exempt from the motor vehicle fuel tax under this chapter. In addition, a tax credit of sixty percent of the tax rate imposed by RCW 82.36.025 shall be given for every gallon of alcohol used in an alcohol-gasoline blend which contains at least nine and one-half percent or more by volume of alcohol: PROVIDED, That in no case may the tax credit claimed be greater than the tax due on the gasoline portion of the blended fuel. In addition, a tax credit of sixty percent of the tax rate imposed by RCW 82.36.025 shall be given for every gallon of alcohol used in an alcohol-gasoline blend which contains at least nine and one-half percent or more by volume of alcohol: PROVIDED, That in no case may the tax credit claimed be greater than the tax due on the gasoline portion of the blended fuel.

The President declared the question before the Senate to be the adoption of the amendment by Senators Vognild and Prince on page 1, after line 5, to Senate Bill No. 5342.

On motion of Senator Vognild, the rules were suspended, Engrossed Senate Bill No. 5342 was advanced to third reading, the second reading considered the third and the bill was placed on final passage.

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Nelson: “Senator Vognild, with the amendment we have now adopted on Senate Bill No. 5342, what is the anticipated increase in the taxes per gallon of oxygenated fuel that would be expected in the state of Washington?” Senator Vognild: “In discussing that with some of the representatives of the oil companies down here, it is possible that there will be no increase at all at the pumps. If in fact, there were to be any increase in the pumps, if we look at the roughly forty-two million dollars per biennium—twenty-one million per year—that would be about, probably, three quarters of a penny, at the most.”
Senator Nelson: “Isn’t it true, Senator Vognild, that about one penny of motor vehicle fuel tax is roughly twenty-eight million a year?”
Senator Vognild: “Yes, about twenty-six, I think, is what we used in our forecast.”
Senator Nelson: “So, if one were to prorate that according to this exemption, that we probably are looking at anywhere from one and half to two pennies of increase in fuel to the consumer in the state of Washington just based on that prorate?”
Senator Vognild: “I don’t think so, Senator. That twenty-six million is an annual figure and the forty-two million I mentioned in here is a biennial figure, so if you take the forty-two, cut in two, it comes out about twenty-one and I would relate that to roughly three-quarters, just doing it in my head.”
Further debate ensued.

On motion of Senator Oke, Senator McCaslin was excused.
The President declared the question before the Senate to be the roll call on the final passage of Engrossed Senate Bill No. 5342.

POINT OF INQUIRY

Senator Nelson: "Senator Vognild, just to be clear on this particular amendment, I notice that you have a couple of others that are similar, is the idea here that you are going to now have the State Patrol and other agencies funded out of the transportation funds and, basically then, have the public service and education account totally turned over to the general fund? Is that the drift of where we are going?"

MESSAGE FROM THE HOUSE

MR. PRESIDENT:

The House has passed ENGROSSED SECOND SUBSTITUTE SENATE BILL NO. 5304 with the following amendments:

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

"PART I. FINDINGS, GOALS, AND INTENT

NEW SECTION, Sec. 101. FINDINGS. The legislature finds that our health and financial security are jeopardized by our ever increasing demand for medical care and by current medical insurance and medical system practices. Current medical system practices encourage public demand for unneeded, ineffective, and sometimes dangerous medical treatments. These practices often result in unaffordable cost increases that far exceed ordinary inflation for essential care. Current total medical and health care expenditure rates should be sufficient to provide access to essential health and medical care interventions to all within a reformed, efficient system.

The legislature finds that too many of our state's residents are without medical insurance, that each year many individuals and families are forced into poverty because of serious illness, and that many must leave gainful employment to be eligible for publicly funded medical services. Additionally, thousands of citizens are at risk of losing adequate medical insurance, have had insurance canceled recently, or cannot afford to renew existing coverage.

The legislature finds that businesses find it difficult to pay for medical insurance and remain competitive in a global economy, and that individuals, the poor, and small businesses bear an inequitable medical insurance burden.

The legislature finds that persons of color have significantly higher rates of mortality, poor health outcomes, and substantially lower numbers and percentages of persons covered by health insurance than general population. It is intended that chapter . . . , Laws of 1993 (this act) make provisions to address the special health care needs of these racial and ethnic populations in order to improve their health status.

The legislature finds that uncontrolled demand and expenditures for medical care are eroding the ability of families, businesses, communities, and governments to invest in other enterprises that promote health, maintain independence, and ensure continued economic welfare. Housing, nutrition, education, and the environment are all diminished as we invest ever increasing shares of wealth in medical treatments.

The legislature finds that while immediate steps must be taken, a long-term plan of reform is also needed.

NEW SECTION, Sec. 102. LEGISLATIVE INTENT AND GOALS. (1) The legislature intends that state government policy stabilize health services costs, assure access to essential services for all residents, actively address the health care needs of persons of color, improve the public's health, and reduce unwarranted health services costs to preserve the viability of nonmedical care businesses.

(2) The legislature intends that:

(a) Total health services costs be stabilized and kept within rates of increase similar to the rates of general economic inflation within a publicly regulated, private marketplace that preserves personal choice;

(b) State residents be enrolled in the certified health plan of their choice that meets state standards regarding affordability, accessibility, cost-effectiveness, and clinically efficacious;

(c) State residents be able to choose health services from the full range of health care providers, as defined in section 402(12) of this act, in a manner consistent with good health service management, quality assurance, and cost effectiveness;
(d) Individuals and businesses have the option to purchase any health or medical services they may choose in addition to those contained in the uniform benefits package;

(e) All state residents, businesses, employees, and government participate in payment for health services, with total costs to individuals on a sliding scale based on income to encourage efficient and appropriate utilization of services and to protect individuals from impoverishment because of health care costs;

(f) These goals be accomplished within a reformed system using private service providers and facilities in a way that allows consumers to choose among competing plans operating within budget limits and other regulations that promote the public good; and

(g) That a policy of facilitating communication and networking in the delivery, purchase, and provision of health services among the federal, state, local, and tribal governments be encouraged and accomplished by chapter . . . , Laws of 1993 (this act).

(3) Accordingly, the legislature intends that chapter . . . , Laws of 1993 (this act) provide both early implementation measures and a process for overall reform of the health services system.

PART II. EARLY IMPLEMENTATION MEASURES

A. BASIC HEALTH PLAN EXPANSION

NEW SECTION. Sec. 201. A new section is added to chapter 70.47 RCW to read as follows:

TRANSFER OF POWER AND DUTIES TO WASHINGTON STATE HEALTH CARE AUTHORITY. The powers, duties, and functions of the Washington basic health plan are hereby transferred to the Washington state health care authority. All references to the administrator of the Washington basic health plan in the Revised Code of Washington shall be construed to mean the administrator of the Washington state health care authority.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 202. TRANSFER OF RECORDS, EQUIPMENT, FUNDS. All reports, documents, surveys, books, records, files, papers, or written material in the possession of the Washington basic health plan shall be delivered to the custody of the Washington state health care authority. All cabinets, furniture, office equipment, motor vehicles, and other tangible property used by the Washington basic health plan shall be made available to the Washington state health care authority. All funds, credits, or other assets held by the Washington basic health plan shall be assigned to the Washington state health care authority.

Any appropriations made to the Washington basic health plan shall, on the effective date of this section, be transferred and credited to the Washington state health care authority. At no time may those funds in the basic health plan trust account, any funds appropriated for the subsidy of any enrollees, or any premium payments or other sums made or received on behalf of any enrollees in the basic health plan be commingled with any appropriated funds designated or intended for the purposes of providing health care coverage to any state or other public employees.

Whenever any question arises as to the transfer of any personnel, funds, books, documents, records, papers, files, equipment, or other tangible property used or held in the exercise of the powers and the performance of the duties and functions transferred, the director of financial management shall make a determination as to the proper allocation and certify the same to the state agencies concerned.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 203. TRANSFER OF EMPLOYEES. All employees of the Washington basic health plan are transferred to the jurisdiction of the Washington state health care authority. All employees classified under chapter 41.06 RCW, the state civil service law, are assigned to the Washington state health care authority to perform their usual duties upon the same terms as formerly, without any loss of rights, subject to any action that may be appropriate thereafter in accordance with the laws and rules governing state civil service.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 204. RULES AND BUSINESS. All rules and all pending business before the Washington basic health plan shall be continued and acted upon by the Washington state health care authority. All existing contracts and obligations shall remain in full force and shall be performed by the Washington state health care authority.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 205. VALIDITY OF PRIOR ACTS. The transfer of the powers, duties, functions, and personnel of the Washington basic health plan shall not affect the validity of any act performed prior to the effective date of this section.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 206. APPORTIONMENT OF BUDGETED FUNDS. If apportionments of budgeted funds are required because of the transfers directed by sections 201 through 205 of this act, the director of financial management shall certify the apportionments to the agencies affected, the state auditor, and the state treasurer. Each of these shall make the appropriate transfer and adjustments in funds and appropriation accounts and equipment records in accordance with the certification.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 207. COLLECTIVE BARGAINING. Nothing contained in sections 201 through 206 of this act may be construed to alter any existing collective bargaining unit or the provisions of any existing collective bargaining agreement until the agreement has expired or until the bargaining unit has been modified by action of the personnel board as provided by law.

Sec. 208. RCW 70.47.010 and 1987 1st ex.s. c 5 s 3 are each amended to read as follows:

BASIC HEALTH PLAN--FINDINGS. (1) The legislature finds that:
(a) A significant percentage of the population of this state does not have reasonably available insurance or other coverage of the costs of necessary basic health care services;
(b) This lack of basic health care coverage is detrimental to the health of the individuals lacking coverage and to the public welfare, and results in substantial expenditures for emergency and remedial health care, often at the expense of health care providers, health care facilities, and all purchasers of health care, including the state; and
(c) The use of managed health care systems has significant potential to reduce the growth of health care costs incurred by the people of this state generally, and by low-income pregnant women (who are an especially vulnerable population, along with their children), and at-risk children and adolescents who need greater access to managed health care.

(2) The purpose of this chapter is to provide or make more readily available necessary basic health care services in an appropriate setting to working persons and others who lack coverage, at a cost to these persons that does not create barriers to the utilization of necessary health care services. To that end, this chapter establishes a program to be made available to those residents (under sixty-five years of age) not (otherwise) eligible for Medicare (with gross family income at or below two hundred percent of the federal poverty guidelines) or medical assistance who share a portion of the cost or who pay the full cost of receiving basic health care services from a managed health care system.

(3) It is not the intent of this chapter to provide health care services for those persons who are presently covered through private employer-based health plans, nor to replace employer-based health plans. However, the legislature recognizes that cost-effective and affordable health plans may not always be available to small business employers. Further, it is the intent of the legislature to expand, wherever possible, the availability of private health care coverage and to discourage the decline of employer-based coverage.

(4) (The program authorized under this chapter is strictly limited in respect to the total number of individuals who may be allowed to participate and the specific areas within the state where it may be established. All such restrictions or limitations shall remain in full force and effect until quantifiable evidence based upon the actual operation of the program, including detailed cost benefit analysis, has been presented to the legislature and the legislature, by specific act at that time, may then modify such limitations.)

(a) It is the purpose of this chapter to acknowledge the initial success of this program that has (i) assisted thousands of families in their search for affordable health care; (ii) demonstrated that low-income, uninsured families are willing to pay for their own health care coverage to the extent of their ability to pay; and (iii) proved that local health care providers are willing to enter into a public-private partnership as a managed care system.

(b) As a consequence, the legislature intends to extend an option to enroll to certain citizens above two hundred percent of the federal poverty guidelines within the state who reside in communities where the plan is operational and who collectively or individually wish to exercise the opportunity to purchase health care coverage through the basic health plan if the purchase is done at no cost to the state. It is also the intent of the legislature to allow employers and other financial sponsors to financially assist such individuals to purchase health care through the program. It is also the intent of the legislature to condition access to this plan for nonsubsidized enrollees upon the prior placement of subsidized enrollees, to the extent funding is available.

(c) The legislature directs that the basic health plan administrator identify enrollees who are likely to be eligible for medical assistance and assist these individuals in applying for and receiving medical assistance. The administrator and the department of social and health services shall implement a seamless system to coordinate eligibility determinations and benefit coverage for enrollees of the basic health plan and medical assistance recipients.

Sec. 209. RCW 70.47.020 and 1987 1st ex.s.c 5 s 4 are each amended to read as follows:

BASIC HEALTH PLAN--DEFINITIONS. As used in this chapter:

(1) "Washington basic health plan" or "plan" means the system of enrollment and payment on a prepaid capitated basis for basic health care services, administered by the plan administrator through participating managed health care systems, created by this chapter.

(2) "Administrator" means the Washington basic health plan administrator, who also holds the position of administrator of the Washington state health care authority.

(3) "Managed health care system" means any health care organization, including health care providers, insurers, health care service contractors, health maintenance organizations, or any combination thereof, that provides directly or by contract basic health care services, as defined by the administrator and rendered by duly licensed providers, on a prepaid capitated basis to a defined patient population enrolled in the plan and in the managed health care system. On and after July 1, 1995, "managed health care system" means a certified health plan, as defined in section 402 of this act.

(4) "Subsidized enrollee" means an individual, or an individual plus the individual's spouse (and/or) dependent children, (all under the age of sixty-five and) not (otherwise) eligible for medical assistance who resides in an area of the state served by a managed health care system participating in the plan, whose gross family income at the time of enrollment does not exceed twice the federal poverty level as adjusted for family size and determined annually by the federal department of health and human services, who chooses to obtain basic health care coverage from a particular managed health care system in return for periodic payments to the plan.

(5) "Nonsubsidized enrollee" means an individual, or an individual plus the individual's spouse or dependent children, not eligible for medicare, who resides in an area of the state served by a managed health care system participating in the plan, who chooses to obtain basic health care coverage from a particular managed health care system and who pays or on whose behalf is paid the full costs for participation in the plan, without any subsidy from the plan.

(6) "Subsidy" means the difference between the amount of periodic payment the administrator makes\( (\text{from funds appropriated from the basic health plan trust account})\) to a managed health care system on behalf of \( (\text{a subsidized enrollee})\) a subsidized enrollee plus the administrative cost to the plan of providing the plan to that subsidized enrollee, and the amount determined to be the subsidized enrollee's responsibility under RCW 70.47.060(2).

\((\text{6a})\) (7) "Premium" means a periodic payment, based upon gross family income \( (\text{and determined under RCW 70.47.060(2)})\) which an \( (\text{enrolled})\) individual, their employer or another financial sponsor makes to the plan as consideration for enrollment in the plan as a subsidized enrollee or a nonsubsidized enrollee.

\((\text{6b})\) (8) "Rate" means the per capita amount, negotiated by the administrator with and paid to a participating managed health care system, that is based upon the enrollment of subsidized and nonsubsidized enrollees in the plan and in that system.

Sec. 210. RCW 70.47.030 and 1992 c 232 s 907 are each amended to read as follows:

ACCOUNTS. (1) The basic health plan trust account is hereby established in the state treasury. \( (\text{All}) \) Any nongeneral fund-state funds collected for this program shall be deposited in the basic health plan trust account and may be expended without further appropriation. Moneys in the account shall be used exclusively for the purposes of this chapter, including payments to participating managed health care systems on behalf of enrollees in the plan and payment of costs of administering the plan. \( (\text{After July 1, 1993, the administrator shall not expend or encumber for an ensuing fiscal period amounts exceeding ninety-five percent of the amount anticipated to be spent for purchased services during the fiscal year})\).

(2) The basic health plan subscription account is created in the custody of the state treasurer. All receipts from amounts due from or on behalf of nonsubsidized enrollees shall be deposited into the account. Funds in the account shall be used exclusively for the purposes of this chapter, including payments to participating managed health care systems on behalf of nonsubsidized enrollees in the plan and payment of costs of administering the plan. The account is subject to allotment procedures under chapter 43.88 RCW, but no appropriation is required for expenditures.

(3) The administrator shall take every precaution to see that none of the funds in the separate accounts created in this section or that any premiums paid either by subsidized or nonsubsidized enrollees are commingled in any way, except that the administrator may combine funds designated for administration of the plan into a single administrative account.

Sec. 211. RCW 70.47.040 and 1987 1st ex.s. c 5 s 6 are each amended to read as follows:

BASIC HEALTH PLAN--PROGRAM WITHIN STATE HEALTH CARE AUTHORITY. (1) The Washington basic health plan is created as \( (\text{an independent agency of the state})\) a program within the Washington state health care authority. The administrative head and appointing authority of the plan shall be the administrator \( (\text{who shall be appointed by the governor, with the consent of the senate, and shall serve at the pleasure of the governor})\). The salary for this office shall be set by the governor pursuant to RCW 43.03.040 of the Washington state health care authority. The administrator shall appoint a medical director. The \( (\text{medical director})\) and up to five other employees of the plan shall be exempt from the civil service law, chapter 41.06 RCW.

(2) The administrator shall employ such other staff as are necessary to fulfill the responsibilities and duties of the administrator, such staff to be subject to the civil service law, chapter 41.06 RCW. In addition, the administrator may contract with third parties for services necessary to carry out its activities where this will promote economy, avoid duplication of effort, and make best use of available expertise. Any such contractor or consultant shall be prohibited from releasing, publishing, or otherwise using any information made available to it under its contractual responsibility without specific permission of the plan. The administrator may call upon other agencies of the state to provide available information as necessary to assist the administrator in meeting its responsibilities under this chapter, which information shall be supplied as promptly as circumstances permit.

(3) The administrator may appoint such technical or advisory committees as he or she deems necessary. The administrator shall appoint a standing technical advisory committee that is representative of health care professionals, health care providers, and those directly involved in the purchase, provision, or delivery of health care services, as well as consumers and those knowledgeable of the ethical issues involved with health care public policy. Individuals appointed to any technical or other advisory committee shall serve without compensation for their services as members, but may be reimbursed for their travel expenses pursuant to RCW 43.03.050 and 43.03.060.

(4) The administrator may apply for, receive, and accept grants, gifts, and other payments, including property and service, from any governmental or other public or private entity or person, and may make arrangements as to the use of these receipts, including the undertaking of special studies and other projects relating to health care costs and access to health care.
ADMINISTRATOR'S POWERS AND DUTIES. The administrator has the following powers and duties:

(1) To design and from time to time revise a schedule of covered basic health care services, including physician services, inpatient and outpatient hospital services, prescription drugs and medications, and other services that may be necessary for basic health care, which subsidized and nonsubsidized enrollees in any participating managed health care system under the Washington basic health plan shall be entitled to receive in return for premium payments to the plan. The schedule of services shall emphasize proven preventive and primary health care and shall include all services necessary for prenatal, postnatal, and well-child care. However, (for the period ending June 30, 1993,) with respect to coverage for groups of subsidized enrollees who are eligible to receive prenatal and postnatal services through the medical assistance program under chapter 74.09 RCW, the administrator shall not contract for ((prenatal or postnatal)) such services (that are provided under the medical assistance program under chapter 74.09 RCW) except to the extent that such services are necessary over not more than a one-month period in order to maintain continuity of care after diagnosis of pregnancy by the managed care provider. The schedule of services shall also include a separate schedule of basic health care services for children, eighteen years of age and younger, for those subsidized or nonsubsidized enrollees who choose to secure basic coverage through the plan only for their dependent children. In designing and revising the schedule of services, the administrator shall consider the guidelines for assessing health services under the mandated benefits act of 1984, ROW 48.42.080, and such other factors as the administrator deems appropriate. On and after July 1, 1995, the uniform benefits package adopted and from time to time revised by the Washington health services commission pursuant to section 448 of this act shall be implemented by the administrator as the schedule of covered basic health care services. However, with respect to coverage for subsidized enrollees who are eligible to receive prenatal and postnatal services through the medical assistance program under chapter 74.09 RCW, the administrator shall not contract for such services except to the extent that the services are necessary over not more than a one-month period in order to maintain continuity of care after diagnosis of pregnancy by the managed care provider.

(2)(a) To design and implement a structure of periodic premiums due the administrator from subsidized enrollees that is based upon gross family income, giving appropriate consideration to family size ((العائلي)) and the ages of all family members. The enrollment of children shall not require the enrollment of their parent or parents who are eligible for the plan. The structure of periodic premiums shall be applied to subsidized enrollees entering the plan as individuals pursuant to subsection (9) of this section and to the share of the cost of the plan due from subsidized enrollees entering the plan as employees pursuant to subsection (10) of this section.

(b) To determine the periodic premiums due the administrator from nonsubsidized enrollees. Premiums from nonsubsidized enrollees shall be in an amount equal to the cost charged by the managed health care system provider to the state for the plan plus the administrative cost of providing the plan to those enrollees and the appropriate premium tax as provided by law.

(c) An employer or other financial sponsor may, with the prior approval of the administrator, pay the premium, rate, or any other amount on behalf of a subsidized or nonsubsidized enrollee, by arrangement with the enrollee and through a mechanism acceptable to the administrator, but in no case shall the payment made on behalf of the enrollee exceed ninety-five percent of the total premiums due from the enrollee.

(3) To design and implement a structure of (nominal) copayments due a managed health care system from subsidized and nonsubsidized enrollees. The structure shall discourage inappropriate enrollee utilization of health care services, but shall not be so costly to enrollees as to constitute a barrier to appropriate utilization of necessary health care services. On and after July 1, 1995, the administrator shall comply with schedules of enrollee point of service cost-sharing adopted by the Washington health services commission.

(4) (To design and implement, in concert with a sufficient number of potential providers in a discrete area, an enrollee financial participation structure, separate from that otherwise established under this chapter, that has the following characteristics:

(a) Nominal premiums that are based upon ability to pay, but not set at a level that would discourage enrollment;

(b) A modified fee-for-service payment schedule for providers;

(c) Coinsurance rates that are established based on specific service and procedure costs and the enrollee's ability to pay for the care. However, coinsurance rates for families with incomes below one hundred twenty percent of the federal poverty level shall be nominal. No coinsurance shall be required for specific proven prevention programs, such as prenatal care. The coinsurance rate levels shall not have a measurable negative effect upon the enrollee's health status; and

No coinsurance shall be required for specific proven prevention programs, such as prenatal care. The coinsurance rate levels shall not have a measurable negative effect upon the enrollee's health status; and

ADMINISTRATOR'S POWERS AND DUTIES. The administrator has the following powers and duties:

(1) To design and from time to time revise a schedule of covered basic health care services, including physician services, inpatient and outpatient hospital services, prescription drugs and medications, and other services that may be necessary for basic health care, which subsidized and nonsubsidized enrollees in any participating managed health care system under the Washington basic health plan shall be entitled to receive in return for premium payments to the plan. The enrollment of children shall not require the enrollment of their parent or parents who are eligible for the plan. The structure of periodic premiums shall be applied to subsidized enrollees entering the plan as individuals pursuant to subsection (9) of this section and to the share of the cost of the plan due from subsidized enrollees entering the plan as employees pursuant to subsection (10) of this section.

(b) To determine the periodic premiums due the administrator from nonsubsidized enrollees. Premiums from nonsubsidized enrollees shall be in an amount equal to the cost charged by the managed health care system provider to the state for the plan plus the administrative cost of providing the plan to those enrollees and the appropriate premium tax as provided by law.

(c) An employer or other financial sponsor may, with the prior approval of the administrator, pay the premium, rate, or any other amount on behalf of a subsidized or nonsubsidized enrollee, by arrangement with the enrollee and through a mechanism acceptable to the administrator, but in no case shall the payment made on behalf of the enrollee exceed ninety-five percent of the total premiums due from the enrollee.

(3) To design and implement a structure of (nominal) copayments due a managed health care system from subsidized and nonsubsidized enrollees. The structure shall discourage inappropriate enrollee utilization of health care services, but shall not be so costly to enrollees as to constitute a barrier to appropriate utilization of necessary health care services. On and after July 1, 1995, the administrator shall comply with schedules of enrollee point of service cost-sharing adopted by the Washington health services commission.

(4) (To design and implement, in concert with a sufficient number of potential providers in a discrete area, an enrollee financial participation structure, separate from that otherwise established under this chapter, that has the following characteristics:

(a) Nominal premiums that are based upon ability to pay, but not set at a level that would discourage enrollment;

(b) A modified fee-for-service payment schedule for providers;

(c) Coinsurance rates that are established based on specific service and procedure costs and the enrollee's ability to pay for the care. However, coinsurance rates for families with incomes below one hundred twenty percent of the federal poverty level shall be nominal. No coinsurance shall be required for specific proven prevention programs, such as prenatal care. The coinsurance rate levels shall not have a measurable negative effect upon the enrollee's health status; and
(d) A case management system that fosters a provider-enrollee relationship whereby, in an effort to control cost, maintain or improve the health status of the enrollee, and maximize patient involvement in her or his health care decision-making process, every effort is made by the provider to inform the enrollee of the cost of the specific services and procedures and related health benefits.

The potential financial liability of the plan to any such providers shall not exceed in the aggregate an amount greater than that which might otherwise have been incurred by the plan on the basis of the number of enrollees multiplied by the average of the prepaid capitated rates negotiated with participating managed health care systems under RCW 70.47.100 and reduced by any sums charged enrollees on the basis of the coinsurance rates that are established under this subsection.

(5) To limit enrollment of persons who qualify for subsidies so as to prevent an overexpenditure of appropriations for such purposes. Whenever the administrator finds that there is danger of such an overexpenditure, the administrator shall close enrollment until the administrator finds the danger no longer exists.

(6) To adopt a schedule for the orderly development of the delivery of services and availability of the plan to residents of the state, subject to the limitations contained in RCW 70.47.080 or any act appropriating funds for the plan.

(In the selection of any area of the state for the initial operation of the plan, the administrator shall take into account the levels and rates of unemployment in different areas of the state, the need to provide basic health care coverage to a population reasonably representative of the portion of the state's population that lacks such coverage, and the need for geographic, demographic, and economic diversity.

Before July 1, 1988, the administrator shall endeavor to secure participation contracts with managed health care systems in discrete geographic areas within at least five congressional districts.)

(7) To solicit and accept applications from managed health care systems, as defined in this chapter, for inclusion as eligible basic health care providers under the plan. The administrator shall endeavor to assure that covered basic health care services are available to any enrollee of the plan from among a selection of two or more participating managed health care systems. In adopting any rules or procedures applicable to managed health care systems and in its dealings with such systems, the administrator shall consider and make suitable allowance for the need for health care services and the differences in local availability of health care resources, along with other resources, within and among the several areas of the state. Contracts with participating managed health care systems shall ensure that basic health plan enrollees who become eligible for medical assistance may, at their option, continue to receive services from their existing providers within the managed health care system if such providers have entered into provider agreements with the department of social and health services.

(8) To receive periodic premiums from or on behalf of subsidized and nonsubsidized enrollees, deposit them in the basic health plan operating account, keep records of enrollee status, and authorize periodic payments to managed health care systems on the basis of the number of enrollees participating in the respective managed health care systems.

(9) To accept applications from individuals residing in areas served by the plan, on behalf of themselves and their spouses and dependent children, for enrollment in the Washington basic health plan as subsidized or nonsubsidized enrollees, to establish appropriate minimum-enrollment periods for enrollees as may be necessary, and to determine, upon application and at least (annually) semianually thereafter, or at the request of any enrollee, eligibility due to current gross family income for sliding scale premiums. (An enrollee who remains current in payment of the sliding scale premium, as determined under subsection (2) of this section, and whose gross family income has risen above twice the federal poverty level, may continue enrollment unless and until the enrollee's gross family income has remained above twice the poverty level for six consecutive months, by making payment at the unsubsidized rate required for the managed health care system in which he or she may be enrolled.) No subsidy may be paid with respect to any enrollee whose current gross family income exceeds twice the federal poverty level or, subject to RCW 70.47.110, who is a recipient of medical assistance or medical care services under chapter 74.09 RCW. If, as a result of an eligibility review, the administrator determines that a subsidized enrollee's income exceeds twice the federal poverty level and that the enrollee knowingly failed to inform the plan of such increase in income, the administrator may bill the enrollee for the subsidy paid on the enrollee's behalf during the period of time that the enrollee's income exceeded twice the federal poverty level. If a number of enrollees drop their enrollment for no apparent good cause, the administrator may establish appropriate rules or requirements that are applicable to such individuals before they will be allowed to re-enroll in the plan.

(10) To accept applications from small business owners on behalf of themselves and their employees, spouses, and dependent children, as subsidized or nonsubsidized enrollees, who reside in an area served by the plan. The administrator may require all or the substantial majority of the eligible employees of such businesses to enroll in the plan and establish those procedures necessary to facilitate the orderly enrollment of groups in the plan and into a managed health care system. The administrator shall require that a small business owner pay at least fifty percent but not more than ninety-five percent of the nonsubsidized premium cost of the plan on behalf of each employee enrolled in the plan. For the purposes of this subsection, an employee means an individual who regularly works for the small business for at least twenty hours per week. The businesses may have no more than one hundred employees at the time of initial enrollment and enrollment is limited to those not eligible for medicare or medical assistance, who wish to enroll in the plan and choose to obtain the basic health care coverage and services from a managed care system participating in the plan. The administrator shall adjust the amount determined to be due on behalf of or from all such enrollees whenever the amount negotiated by the administrator with the participating managed health care system or systems is modified or the administrative cost of providing the plan to such enrollees changes.

(11) To determine the rate to be paid to each participating managed health care system in return for the provision of covered basic health care services to enrollees in the system. Although the schedule of covered basic health care services will be the same for similar enrollees, the rates negotiated with participating managed health care systems may vary among the systems. In negotiating rates with participating systems, the administrator shall consider the characteristics of the populations served by the respective systems, economic circumstances of the local area, the need to conserve the resources of the basic health plan trust account, and other factors the administrator finds relevant.

(12) To monitor the provision of covered services to enrollees by participating managed health care systems in order to assure enrollee access to good quality basic health care, to require periodic data reports concerning the utilization of health care services rendered to enrollees in order to provide adequate information for evaluation, and to inspect the books and records of participating managed health care systems to assure compliance with the purposes of this chapter. In requiring reports from participating managed health care systems, including data on services rendered enrollees, the administrator shall endeavor to minimize costs, both to the managed health care systems and to the administrator. The administrator shall coordinate any such reporting requirements with other state agencies, such as the insurance commissioner and the department of health, to minimize duplication of effort.

(13) To evaluate the effects this chapter has on private employer-based health care coverage and to take appropriate measures consistent with state and federal statutes that will discourage the reduction of such coverage in the state.

(14) To develop a program of proven preventive health measures and to integrate it into the plan wherever possible and consistent with this chapter.

(a) Require that a public agency that provides subsidies for a substantial portion of services now covered under the basic health plan or a uniform benefits package as adopted by the Washington health services commission as provided in section 448 of this act, use uniform eligibility processes, insofar as may be possible, and ensure that multiple eligibility determinations are not required;

(b) Require that a health care provider or a health care facility that receives funds from a public program provide care to state residents receiving a state subsidy who may wish to receive care from them, and that a health maintenance organization, health care service contractor, insurer, or certified health plan that receives funds from a public program accept enrollment from state residents receiving a state subsidy who may wish to enroll with them;

(c) Strive to integrate purchasing for all publicly sponsored health services in order to maximize the cost control potential and promote the most efficient methods of financing and coordinating services;

(d) Annually suggest changes in state and federal law and rules to bring all publicly funded health programs in compliance with the goals and intent of chapter . . . ., Laws of 1993 (this act);

(e) Consult regularly with the governor, the legislature, and state agency directors whose operations are affected by the implementation of this section;

(f) Ensure that procedures and due process guarantees no less beneficial than those available under federal and state law to participants in the medical assistance, limited casualty, and medical care services programs are provided to all persons who, but for the federal waivers and state legislation procured under subsection (1) of this section, would be eligible for those programs.

It is hereby requested that the governing authorities of the association of Washington cities, the Washington state association of counties, and the Washington association of county officials jointly initiate a study and develop consensus recommendations regarding implementation of the provisions of sections 231 through 254 of this act. The study and recommendations should at a minimum include consideration of the fiscal impact of these sections on counties, the desirability of maintaining a process whereby city officials can effectively communicate concerns regarding the delivery of public health services to both the counties and the state, the need for larger cities to be able to continue to provide supplemental health care services when needed, and other matters as the three associations agree are of substance in the implementation of sections 231 through 254 of this act. The agreed-upon recommendations shall be presented to the senate health and human services and house of representatives health care committees prior to December 31, 1993.

F. DATA COLLECTION

Sec. 256. RCW 70.170.100 and 1990 c 269 s 12 are each amended to read as follows:
STATE-WIDE DATA SYSTEM--HEALTH SERVICES COMMISSION. (1) To promote the public interest consistent with the purposes of chapter . . . Laws of 1993 (this act), the department is responsible for the development, implementation, and custody of a state-wide ((hospital)) health care data system, with policy direction and oversight to be provided by the Washington health services commission. As part of the design stage for development of the system, the department shall undertake a needs assessment of the types of, and format for, ((hospital)) health care data needed by consumers, purchasers, ((hospital)) providers, and state government as consistent with the intent of chapter . . . , Laws of 1993 (this act) ((chapter)). The department shall identify a set of ((hospital)) health care data elements and report specifications which satisfy these needs. The ((council)) Washington health services commission, created by section 403 of this act, shall review the design of the data system and may ((direct the department to)) establish a technical advisory committee on health data and shall, if deemed cost-effective and efficient, recommend that the department contract with a private vendor for assistance in the design of the data system or for any part of the work to be performed under this section. The data elements, specifications, and other ((design)) distinguishing features of this data system shall be made available for public review and comment and shall be published, with comments, as the department's first data plan by ((January 1, 1990)) July 1, 1994.

(2) Subsequent to the initial development of the data system as published as the department's first data plan, revisions to the data system shall be considered ((through the department's development of a biennial data plan, as proposed to,)) with the oversight and policy guidance of the Washington health services commission or its technical advisory committee and funded by((,))) the legislature through the biennial appropriations process with funds appropriated to the health services account. ((Costs of data activities outside of these data plans except for special studies shall be funded through legislative appropriations.))
(3) In designing the state-wide (hospital) health care data system and any data plans, the department shall identify (hospital) health care data elements relating to (both hospital finances) health care costs, the quality of health care services, the outcomes of health care services, and (the) use of (services by patients) health care by consumers. Data elements (relating to hospital finances) shall be reported (by hospitals) as the Washington health services commission directs by reporters in conformance with a uniform (system of) reporting (as specified by the department and shall) system established by the department, which shall be adopted by reporters. "Reporter" means an individual, hospital, or business entity, required to be registered with the department of revenue for payment of taxes imposed under chapter 82.04 RCW or Title 48 RCW, that is primarily engaged in furnishing or insuring for medical, surgical, and other health services to persons. In the case of hospitals this includes data elements identifying each hospital's revenues, expenses, contractual allowances, charity care, bad debt, other income, total units of inpatient and outpatient services, and other financial information reasonably necessary to fulfill the purposes of chapter . . . Laws of 1993 (this (chapter) act), for hospital activities as a whole and, as feasible and appropriate, for specified classes of hospital purchasers and payers. Data elements relating to use of hospital services by patients shall, at least initially, be the same as those currently compiled by hospitals through inpatient discharge abstracts (and reported to the Washington state hospital commission). The commission and the department shall encourage and permit reporting by electronic transmission or hard copy as is practical and economical to reporters.

((4)) (3) The state-wide (hospital) health care data system shall be uniform in its identification of reporting requirements for (hospital) reporters across the state to the extent that such uniformity is (necessary) useful to fulfill the purposes of chapter . . . Laws of 1993 (this (chapter) act). Data reporting requirements may reflect differences (in hospital size; urban or rural location; scope, type, and method of providing service; financial structure; or other pertinent distinguishing factors) that involve pertinent distinguishing features as determined by the Washington health services commission by rule. So far as (possible) is practical, the data system shall be coordinated with any requirements of the trauma care data registry as authorized in RCW 70.168.090, the federal department of health and human services in its administration of the medicare program, (and) the state in its role of gathering public health statistics, or any other payer program of consequence so as to minimize any unduly burdensome reporting requirements imposed on (hospital) reporters.

((5)) (4) In identifying financial reporting requirements under the state-wide (hospital) health care data system, the department may require both annual reports and condensed quarterly reports from reporters, so as to achieve both accuracy and timeliness in reporting, but shall craft such requirements with due regard of the data reporting burdens of reporters.

((6) In designing the initial state-wide hospital data system as published in the department's first data plan, the department shall review all existing systems of hospital financial and utilization reporting used in this state to determine their usefulness for the purposes of this chapter, including their potential usefulness as revised or simplified.

(7) Until such time as the state-wide hospital data system and first data plan are developed and implemented and hospitals are able to comply with reporting requirements, the department shall require hospitals to continue to submit the hospital financial and patient discharge information previously required to be submitted to the Washington state hospital commission. Upon publication of the first data plan, hospitals shall have a reasonable period of time to comply with any new reporting requirements and, in the event that new reporting requirements differ greatly from past requirements, shall comply within two years of July 1, 1989.

((7) (5) The (hospital) health care data collected (and), maintained, and studied by the department or the Washington health services commission shall only be available for retrieval in original or processed form to public and private requestors and shall be available within a reasonable period of time after the date of request. The cost of retrieving data for state officials and agencies shall be funded through the state general appropriation. The cost of retrieving data for individuals and organizations engaged in research or private use of data or studies shall be funded by a fee schedule developed by the department which reflects the direct cost of retrieving the data or study in the requested form.

(6) All persons subject to chapter . . . Laws of 1993 (this act) shall comply with departmental or commission requirements established by rule in the acquisition of data.

Sec. 257. RCW 70.170.110 and 1989 1st ex.s. c 9 s 511 are each amended to read as follows:

HEALTH CARE DATA--STUDIES, ANALYSES, OR REPORTS. The department shall provide, or may contract with a private entity to provide, (hospital) analyses and reports or any studies it chooses to conduct consistent with the purposes of chapter . . . Laws of 1993 (this (chapter) act). Subject to the availability of funds and any policy direction that may be given by the Washington health services commission, (Prior to release, the department shall provide affected hospitals with an opportunity to review and comment on reports which identify individual hospital data with respect to accuracy and completeness, and otherwise shall focus on aggregate reports of hospital performance.) These studies, analyses, or reports shall include:

(1) Consumer guides on purchasing (hospital care services and) or consuming health care and publications providing verifiable and useful aggregate comparative information to (consumers on hospitals and hospital services) the public on health care services, their cost, and the quality of health care providers who participate in certified health plans:
NEW SECTION. Sec. 258. A new section is added to chapter 70.170 RCW to read as follows:

Notwithstanding the provisions of chapter 42.17 RCW, any material contained within the state-wide health care data system or in the files of either the department or the Washington health services commission shall be subject to the following limitations: (1) Records obtained, reviewed by, or on file that contain information concerning medical treatment of individuals shall be exempt from public inspection and copying; and (2) any actuarial formulas, statistics, and assumptions submitted by a certified health plan to the commission or department upon request shall be exempt from public inspection and copying in order to preserve trade secrets or prevent unfair competition.

All persons and any public or private agencies or entities whatsoever subject to this chapter shall comply with any requirements established by rule relating to the acquisition or use of health services data and maintain the confidentiality of any information which may, in any manner, identify individual persons.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 259. A new section is added to chapter 70.170 RCW to read as follows:

HEALTH SERVICES COMMISSION ACCESS TO DATA. The Washington health services commission shall have access to all health data presently available to the secretary of health. To the extent possible, the commission shall use existing data systems and coordinate among existing agencies. The department of health shall be the designated depository agency for all health data collected pursuant to chapter . . ., Laws of 1993 (this act). The following data sources shall be developed or made available:

(1) The commission shall coordinate with the secretary of health to utilize data collected by the state center for health statistics, including hospital charity care and related data, rural health data, epidemiological data, ethnicity data, social and economic status data, and other data relevant to the commission's responsibilities.

(2) The commission, in coordination with the department of health and the health science programs of the state universities shall develop procedures to analyze clinical and other health services outcome data, and conduct other research necessary for the specific purpose of assisting in the design of the uniform benefit package under chapter . . ., Laws of 1993 (this act).

(3) The commission shall establish cost data sources and shall require each certified health plan to provide the commission and the department of health with enrollee care and cost information, to include, but not be limited to: (a) Enrollee identifier, including date of birth, sex, and ethnicity; (b) provider identifier; (c) diagnosis; (d) health care services or procedures provided; (e) provider charges, if any; and (f) amount paid. The department shall establish by rule confidentiality standards to safeguard the information from inappropriate use or release.

(4) The commission shall coordinate with the area Indian health service, reservation Indian health service units, tribal clinics, and any urban Indian health service organizations the design, development, implementation, and maintenance of an American Indian-specific health data, statistics information system. The commission rules regarding the confidentiality to safeguard the information from inappropriate use or release shall apply.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 260. A new section is added to chapter 70.170 RCW to read as follows:

PERSONAL HEALTH SERVICES DATA AND INFORMATION SYSTEM. (1) The department is responsible for the implementation and custody of a state-wide personal health services data and information system. The data elements, specifications, and other design features of this data system shall be consistent with criteria adopted by the Washington health services commission. The department shall provide the commission with reasonable assistance in the development of these criteria, and shall provide the commission with periodic progress reports related to the implementation of the system or systems related to those criteria.

(2) The department shall coordinate the development and implementation of the personal health services data and information system with related private activities and with the implementation activities of the data sources identified by the commission. Data shall include: (a) Enrollee identifier, including date of birth, sex, and ethnicity; (b) provider identifier; (c) diagnosis; (d) health services or procedures provided; (e) provider charges, if any; and (f) amount paid. The department shall establish by rule confidentiality standards to safeguard the information from inappropriate use or release. The department shall assist the commission in establishing reasonable time frames for the completion of the system development and system implementation.
NEW SECTION. Sec. 261. HEALTH CARE ENTITY REPORTING REQUIREMENTS. The commission shall determine, by January 1, 1995, the necessity, if any, of reporting requirements by the following health care entities: Health care providers, health care facilities, insuring entities, and certified health plans. The reporting requirements, if any, shall be for the purposes of determining whether the health care system is operating as efficiently as possible. Information reported pursuant to this section shall be made available to interested parties upon request. The commission shall report its findings to the legislature by January 1, 1995.

G. DISCLOSURE OF HOSPITAL, NURSING HOME, AND PHARMACY CHARGES

NEW SECTION. Sec. 262. A new section is added to chapter 70.41 RCW to read as follows:

SPIRALING COSTS--HOSPITALS. (1) The legislature finds that the spiraling costs of health care continue to surmount efforts to contain them, increasing at approximately twice the inflationary rate. The causes of this phenomenon are complex. By making physicians and other health care providers with hospital admitting privileges more aware of the cost consequences of health care services for consumers, these providers may be inclined to exercise more restraint in providing only the most relevant and cost-beneficial hospital services, with a potential for reducing the utilization of those services. The requirement of the hospital to inform physicians and other health care providers of the charges of the health care services that they order may have a positive effect on containing health costs. Further, the option of the physician or other health care provider to inform the patient of these charges may strengthen the necessary dialogue in the provider-patient relationship that tends to be diminished by intervening third-party payers.

(2) The chief executive officer of a hospital licensed under this chapter and the superintendent of a state hospital shall establish and maintain a procedure for disclosing to physicians and other health care providers with admitting privileges the charges of all health care services ordered for their patients. Copies of hospital charges shall be made available to any physician and/or other health care provider ordering care in hospital inpatient/outpatient services. The physician and/or other health care provider may inform the patient of these charges and may specifically review them. Hospitals are also directed to study methods for making daily charges available to prescribing physicians through the use of interactive software and/or computerized information thereby allowing physicians and other health care providers to review not only the costs of present and past services but also future contemplated costs for additional diagnostic studies and therapeutic medications.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 263. A new section is added to chapter 18.68 RCW to read as follows:

SPIRALING COSTS--PRESCRIPTION MEDICATIONS. The legislature finds that the spiraling costs of health care continue to surmount efforts to contain them, increasing at approximately twice the inflationary rate. One of the fastest growing segments of the health care expenditure involves prescription medications. By making physicians and other health care providers with prescriptive authority more aware of the cost consequences of health care treatments for consumers, these providers may be inclined to exercise more restraint in providing only the most relevant and cost-beneficial drug and medication treatments. The requirement of the pharmacy to inform physicians and other health care providers of the charges of prescription drugs and medications that they order may have a positive effect on containing health costs. Further, the option of the physician or other health care provider to inform the patient of these charges may strengthen the necessary dialogue in the provider-patient relationship that tends to be diminished by intervening third-party payers.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 264. A new section is added to chapter 18.68 RCW to read as follows:

COST OF PRESCRIPTIVE MEDICATIONS. The registered or licensed pharmacist of this chapter shall establish and maintain a procedure for disclosing to physicians and other health care providers with prescriptive authority information detailed by prescriber, of the cost and dispensation of all prescriptive medications prescribed by him or her for his or her patients on request. These charges should be made available on at least a quarterly basis for all requested patients and should include medication, dosage, number dispensed, and the cost of the prescription. Pharmacies may provide this information in a summary form for each prescribing physician for all patients rather than as individually itemized reports. All efforts should be made to utilize the existing computerized records and software to provide this information in the least costly format.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 265. A new section is added to chapter 18.51 RCW to read as follows:

SPIRALING COSTS--NURSING HOMES. (1) The legislature finds that the spiraling costs of nursing home care continue to surmount efforts to contain them, increasing at approximately twice the inflationary rate. The causes of this phenomenon are complex. By making nursing home facilities and care providers more aware of the cost consequences of care services for consumers, these providers may be inclined to exercise more restraint in providing only the most relevant and cost-beneficial services and care, with a potential for reducing the utilization of those services. The requirement of the nursing home to inform physicians, consumers, and other care providers of the charges of the services that they order may have a positive effect on containing health costs.
(2) All nursing home administrators in facilities licensed under this chapter shall be required to develop and maintain a written procedure for disclosing patient charges to attending physicians with admitting privileges. The nursing home administrator shall have the capability to provide an itemized list of the charges for all health care services that may be ordered by a physician. The information shall be made available on request of consumers, or the physicians or other appropriate health care providers responsible for prescribing care.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 266. DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH--REPORT ON EFFORTS TO CONTAIN COSTS. The department of health shall report to the legislature by December 31, 1994, with recommendations on any necessary revisions to sections 262 through 265 of this act, including their continued necessity and the appropriateness of their repeal.

H. HEALTH PROFESSIONAL SHORTAGES

NEW SECTION. Sec. 267. LEGISLATIVE INTENT. The legislature finds that the successful implementation of health care reform will depend on a sufficient supply of primary health care providers throughout the state. Many rural and medically underserved urban areas lack primary health care providers and because of this, basic health care services are limited or unavailable to populations living in these areas. The legislature has in recent years initiated new programs to address these provider shortages but funding has been insufficient and additional specific provider shortages remain.

Sec. 268. RCW 28B.125.010 and 1991 c 332 s 5 are each amended to read as follows:

STATE-WIDE HEALTH PERSONNEL RESOURCE PLAN--PERSONS OF COLOR--INDIAN HEALTH. (1) The higher education coordinating board, the state board for community (college education) and technical colleges, the superintendent of public instruction, the state department of health, the Washington health services commission, and the state department of social and health services, to be known for the purposes of this section as the committee, shall establish a state-wide health personnel resource plan. The governor shall appoint a lead agency from one of the agencies on the committee.

In preparing the state-wide plan the committee shall consult with the training and education institutions affected by this chapter, health care providers, employers of health care providers, insurers, consumers of health care, and other appropriate entities.

Should a successor agency or agencies be authorized or created by the legislature with planning, coordination, or administrative authority over vocational-technical schools, community colleges, or four-year higher education institutions, the governor shall grant membership on the committee to such agency or agencies and remove the member or members it replaces.

The committee shall appoint subcommittees for the purpose of assisting in the development of the institutional plans required under this chapter. Such subcommittees shall at least include those committee members that have statutory responsibility for planning, coordination, or administration of the training and education institutions for which the institutional plans are being developed. In preparing the institutional plans for four-year institutes of higher education, the subcommittee shall be composed of at least the higher education coordinating board and the state's four-year higher education institutions. The appointment of subcommittees to develop portions of the state-wide plan shall not relinquish the committee's responsibility for assuring overall coordination, integration, and consistency of the state-wide plan.

In establishing and implementing the state-wide health personnel resource plan the committee shall, to the extent possible, utilize existing data and information, personnel, equipment, and facilities and shall minimize travel and take such other steps necessary to reduce the administrative costs associated with the preparation and implementation of the plan.

(2) The state-wide health resource plan shall include at least the following:

(a)(i) Identification of the type, number, and location of the health care professional work force necessary to meet health care needs of the state.

(ii) A description and analysis of the composition and numbers of the potential work force available for meeting health care service needs of the population to be used for recruitment purposes. This should include a description of the data, methodology, and process used to make such determinations.

(b) A centralized inventory of the numbers of student applications to higher education and vocational-technical training and education programs, yearly enrollments, yearly degrees awarded, and numbers on waiting lists for all the state's publicly funded health care training and education programs. The committee shall request similar information for incorporation into the inventory from private higher education and vocational-technical training and education programs.

(c) A description of state-wide and local specialized provider training needs to meet the health care needs of target populations and a plan to meet such needs in a cost-effective and accessible manner.

(d) A description of how innovative, cost-effective technologies such as telecommunications can and will be used to provide higher education, vocational-technical, continued competency, and skill maintenance and enhancement education and training to placebound students who need flexible programs and who are unable to attend institutions for training.
(e) A strategy for assuring higher education and vocational-technical educational and training programming is sensitive to the changing work force such as reentry workers, women, minorities, and the disabled.

(f) Strategies for promoting an increase in the use of persons of color in the health professions including adequate resources to train and utilize persons of color in the full spectrum of health professions, to include physicians, licensed physicians who are foreign medical graduates, nurses, administrators, planners, education, technicians, outreach workers, and dentists.

(g) A strategy that includes the incorporation of federal assistance programs for health career development with an emphasis on the national Indian health service programs targeting the American Indian population and other federal and state education and training assistance programs for the economically disadvantaged, physically challenged, and persons of color in all health professions.

(h) A strategy and coordinated state-wide policy developed by the subcommittees authorized in subsection (1) of this section for increasing the number of graduates intending to serve in shortage areas after graduation, including such strategies as the establishment of preferential admissions and designated enrollment slots.

(i) Guidelines and policies developed by the subcommittees authorized in subsection (1) of this section for allowing academic credit for on-the-job experience such as internships, volunteer experience, apprenticeships, and community service programs.

(j) A strategy developed by the subcommittees authorized in subsection (1) of this section for making required internships and residency programs available that are geographically accessible and sufficiently diverse to meet both general and specialized training needs as identified in the plan when such programs are required.

(k) A description of the need for multiskilled health care professionals and an implementation plan to restructure educational and training programming to meet these needs.

(l) An analysis of the types and estimated numbers of health care personnel that will need to be recruited from out-of-state to meet the health professional needs not met by in-state trained personnel.

(m) An analysis of the need for educational articulation within the various health care disciplines and a plan for addressing the need.

(n) An analysis of the training needs of those members of the long-term care profession that are not regulated and that have no formal training requirements. Programs to meet these needs should be developed in a cost-effective and a state-wide accessible manner that provide for the basic training needs of these individuals.

(o) A designation of the professions and geographic locations in which loan repayment and scholarships should be available based upon objective data-based forecasts of health professional shortages. A description of the criteria used to select professions and geographic locations shall be included. Designations of professions and geographic locations may be amended by the department of health when circumstances warrant as provided for in RCW 28B.115.070.

(p) A description of needed changes in regulatory laws governing the credentialing of health professionals.

(q) A description of linguistic and cultural training needs of foreign-trained health care professionals to assure safe and effective practice of their health care profession.

(r) A plan to implement the recommendations of the state-wide nursing plan authorized by RCW 74.39.040.

(s) A description of criteria and standards that institutional plans provided for in this section must address in order to meet the requirements of the state-wide personnel resource plan, including funding requirements to implement the plans. The committee shall also when practical identify specific outcome measures to measure progress in meeting the requirements of this plan. The criteria and standards shall be established in a manner as to provide flexibility to the institutions in meeting state-wide plan requirements. The committee shall establish required submission dates for the institutional plans that permit inclusion of funding requests into the institutions budget requests to the state.

(t) A description of how the higher education coordinating board, state board for community college education and technical colleges, superintendent of public instruction, department of health, and department of social and health services coordinated in the creation and implementation of the state plan including the areas of responsibility each agency shall assume. The plan should also include a description of the steps taken to assure participation by the groups that are to be consulted with.

(u) A description of the estimated fiscal requirements for implementation of the state-wide health resource plan that include a description of cost saving activities that reduce potential costs by avoiding administrative duplication, coordinating programming activities, and other such actions to control costs.

(3) The committee may call upon other agencies of the state to provide available information to assist the committee in meeting the responsibilities under this chapter. This information shall be supplied as promptly as circumstances permit.

(4) State agencies involved in the development and implementation of the plan shall to the extent possible utilize existing personnel and financial resources in the development and implementation of the state-wide health personnel resource plan.
(5) The state-wide health personnel resource plan shall be submitted to the governor by July 1, 1992, and updated by July 1 of each even-numbered year. The governor, no later than December 1 of that year, shall approve, approve with modifications, or disapprove the state-wide health resource plan.

(6) The approved state-wide health resource plan shall be submitted to the senate and house of representatives committees on health care, higher education, and ways and means or appropriations by December 1 of each even-numbered year.

(7) Implementation of the state-wide plan shall begin by July 1, 1993.

(8) Notwithstanding subsections (5) and (7) of this section, the committee shall prepare and submit to the higher education coordinating board by June 1, 1992, the analysis necessary for the initial implementation of the health professional loan repayment and scholarship program created in chapter 28B.115 RCW.

(9) Each publicly funded two-year and four-year institute of higher education authorized under Title 28B RCW and vocational-technical institute authorized under Title 28A RCW that offers health training and education programs shall biennially prepare and submit an institutional plan to the committee. The institutional plan shall identify specific programming and activities of the institution that meet the requirements of the state-wide health professional resource plan.

The committee shall review and assess whether the institutional plans meet the requirements of the state-wide health personnel resource plan and shall prepare a report with its determination. The report shall become part of the institutional plan and shall be submitted to the governor and the legislature.

The institutional plan shall be included with the institution's biennial budget submission. The institution's budget shall identify proposed spending to meet the requirements of the institutional plan. Each vocational-technical institute, college, or university shall be responsible for implementing its institutional plan.

Sec. 269. RCW 28B.115.080 and 1991 c 332 s 21 are each amended to read as follows:

ANNUAL AWARD AMOUNT. After June 1, 1992, the board, in consultation with the department and the department of social and health services, shall:

(1) Establish the annual award amount for each credentialed health care profession which shall be based upon an assessment of reasonable annual eligible expenses involved in training and education for each credentialed health care profession. The annual award amount may be established at a level less than annual eligible expenses. The annual award amount shall (not be more than fifteen thousand dollars per year) be established by the board for each eligible health profession. The awards shall not be paid for more than a maximum of five years per individual;

(2) Determine any scholarship awards for prospective physicians in such a manner to require the recipients declare an interest in serving in rural areas of the state of Washington. Preference for scholarships shall be given to students who reside in a rural physician shortage area or a nonshortage rural area of the state prior to admission to the eligible education and training program in medicine. Highest preference shall be given to students seeking admission who are recommended by sponsoring communities and who declare the intent of serving as a physician in a rural area. The board may require the sponsoring community located in a nonshortage rural area to financially contribute to the eligible expenses of a medical student if the student will serve in the nonshortage rural area;

(3) Establish the required service obligation for each credentialed health care profession, which shall be no less than three years or no more than five years. The required service obligation may be based upon the amount of the scholarship or loan repayment award such that higher awards involve longer service obligations on behalf of the participant;

(4) Determine eligible education and training programs for purposes of the scholarship portion of the program;

(5) Honor loan repayment and scholarship contract terms negotiated between the board and participants prior to May 21, 1991, concerning loan repayment and scholarship award amounts and service obligations authorized under chapter (((18.150)) 28B.115, 28B.104, or 70.180 RCW.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 270. A new section is added to chapter 43.70 RCW to read as follows:

MULTICULTURAL HEALTH CARE TECHNICAL ASSISTANCE PROGRAM. (1) Consistent with funds appropriated specifically for this purpose, the department shall provide matching grants to support a community-based multicultural health care technical assistance program. Its purpose shall be to promote technical assistance to community and migrant health clinics and other appropriate health care providers who serve principally the underserved and persons of color.

The technical assistance provided shall include, but is not limited to: (a) Collaborative research and data analysis on health care outcomes that disproportionately affect persons of color; (b) design and development of model health education and promotion strategies aimed at modifying unhealthy health behaviors or enhancing the use of the health care delivery system by persons of color; (c) provision of technical information and assistance on program planning and financial management; (d) administration, public policy development, and analysis in health care issues affecting people of color; and (e) enhancement and promotion of health care career opportunities for persons of color.

(2) Consistent with appropriated funds, the programs shall be available on a state-wide basis.

Sec. 271. RCW 70.185.030 and 1991 c 332 s 9 are each amended to read as follows:
COMMUNITY-BASED RECRUITMENT AND RETENTION—UNDERSERVED URBAN AREAS. (1) The department may, subject to funding, establish community-based recruitment and retention project sites to provide financial and technical assistance to participating communities. The goal of the project is to help assure the availability of health care providers in rural and underserved urban areas of Washington state.

(2) Administrative costs necessary to implement this project shall be kept at a minimum to insure the maximum availability of funds for participants.

(3) The secretary may contract with third parties for services necessary to carry out activities to implement this chapter where this will promote economy, avoid duplication of effort, and make the best use of available expertise.

(4) The secretary may apply for, receive, and accept gifts and other payments, including property and service, from any governmental or other public or private entity or person, and may make arrangements as to the use of these receipts, including the undertaking of special studies and other projects related to the delivery of health care in rural areas.

(5) In designing and implementing the project the secretary shall coordinate the project with the Washington rural health system project as authorized under chapter 70.175 RCW to consolidate administrative duties and reduce costs.

Sec. 272. RCW 43.70.460 and 1992 c 113 s 2 are each amended to read as follows:

RETIRED PRIMARY CARE PROVIDERS—MALPRACTICE INSURANCE. (1) The department may establish a program to purchase and maintain liability malpractice insurance for retired primary care providers who provide primary health care services at community clinics. The following conditions apply to the program:

(a) Primary health care services shall be provided at community clinics that are public or private tax-exempt corporations;

(b) Primary health care services provided at the clinics shall be offered to low-income patients based on their ability to pay;

(c) Retired primary care providers providing health care services shall not receive compensation for their services; and

(d) The department shall contract only with a liability insurer authorized to offer liability malpractice insurance in the state.

(2) This section and RCW 43.70.470 shall not be interpreted to require a liability insurer to provide coverage to a primary care provider should the insurer determine that coverage should not be offered to a physician because of past claims experience or for other appropriate reasons.

(3) The state and its employees who operate the program shall be immune from any civil or criminal action involving claims against clinics or physicians that provided health care services under this section and RCW 43.70.470. This protection of immunity shall not extend to any clinic or primary care provider participating in the program.

(4) The department may monitor the claims experience of retired physicians covered by liability insurers contracting with the department.

(5) The department may provide liability insurance under chapter 113, Laws of 1992 only to the extent funds are provided for this purpose by the legislature.

Sec. 273. RCW 43.70.470 and 1992 c 113 s 3 are each amended to read as follows:

RETIRED PRIMARY CARE PROVIDERS—CONDITIONS. The department may establish by rule the conditions of participation in the liability insurance program by retired primary care providers at clinics utilizing retired physicians for the purposes of this section and RCW 43.70.460. These conditions shall include, but not be limited to, the following:

(1) The participating primary care provider associated with the clinic shall hold a valid license to practice medicine and surgery in this state and otherwise as a physician under chapter 18.71 or 18.57 RCW, a naturopath under chapter 18.36A RCW, a physician assistant under chapter 18.71A or 18.57A RCW, an advanced registered nurse practitioner under chapter 18.88 RCW, a dentist under chapter 18.32 RCW, or other health professionals as may be deemed in short supply in the health personnel resource plan under chapter 28B.125 RCW. All primary care providers must be in conformity with current requirements for licensure as a retired primary care health care provider, including continuing education requirements;

(2) The participating primary care health care provider shall limit the scope of practice in the clinic to primary care. Primary care shall be limited to noninvasive procedures and shall not include obstetrical care, or any specialized care and treatment. Noninvasive procedures include injections, suturing of minor lacerations, and incisions of boils or superficial abscesses. Primary dental care shall be limited to diagnosis, oral hygiene, restoration, and extractions and shall not include orthodontia, or other specialized care and treatment;

(3) The provision of liability insurance coverage shall not extend to acts outside the scope of rendering medical services pursuant to this section and RCW 43.70.460;

(4) The participating primary care health care provider shall limit the provision of health care services primarily to low-income persons provided that clinics may, but are not required to, provide means tests for eligibility as a condition for obtaining health care services;
The participating primary care health care provider shall not accept compensation for providing health care services from patients served pursuant to this section and RCW 43.70.460, nor from clinics serving these patients. "Compensation" shall mean any remuneration of value to the participating primary care health care provider for services provided by the primary care health care provider, but shall not be construed to include any nominal copayments charged by the clinic, nor reimbursement of related expenses of a participating primary care health care provider authorized by the clinic in advance of being incurred; and

The use of mediation or arbitration for resolving questions of potential liability may be used, however any mediation or arbitration agreement format shall be expressed in terms clear enough for a person with a sixth grade level of education to understand, and on a form no longer than one page in length.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 274. MEDICAL SCHOOL GRADUATES SERVING IN RURAL AND MEDICALLY UNDERSERVED AREAS OF THE STATE. LEGISLATIVE INTENT. The legislature finds that the shortage of primary care physicians practicing in rural and medically underserved areas of the state has created a severe public health and safety problem. If unaddressed, this problem is expected to worsen with health care reform since an increased demand for primary care services will only contribute further to these shortages.

The legislature further finds that the medical training program at the University of Washington is an important and well respected resource to the people of this state in the training of primary care physicians. Currently, only a small proportion of medical school graduates are Washington residents who serve as primary care practitioners in certain parts of this state.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 275. MEDICAL SCHOOL PRIMARY CARE PHYSICIAN SHORTAGE PLAN DEVELOPMENT. (1) The University of Washington shall prepare a primary care shortage plan that accomplishes the following:

(a) Identifies specific activities that the school of medicine shall pursue to increase the number of Washington residents serving as primary care physicians in rural and medically underserved areas of the state, including establishing a goal that assures that no less than forty-five percent of medical school graduates who are Washington state residents at the time of matriculation will enter into primary care residencies in Washington state by the year 2000;

(b) Assures that the school of medicine shall establish among its highest training priorities the distribution of its primary care physician graduates from the school and associated postgraduate residency programs into rural and medically underserved areas;

(c) Establishes the goal of assuring that the annual number of graduates from the family practice residency network entering rural or medically underserved practice shall be increased by forty percent over a baseline period from 1985 through 1990 by 1995;

(d) Establishes a further goal to make operational at least two additional family practice residency programs within Washington state in geographic areas identified by the plan as underserved in family practice by 1997. The geographic areas identified by the plan as being underserved by family practice physicians shall be consistent with any similar designations as may be made in the health personnel research plan as authorized under chapter 28B.125 RCW;

(e) Establishes, with the cooperation of existing community and migrant health clinics in rural or medically underserved areas of the state, three family practice residency training tracks. Furthermore, the primary care shortage plan shall provide that one of these training tracks shall be a joint American osteopathic association and American medical association approved training site coordinated with an accredited college of osteopathic medicine with extensive experience in training primary care physicians for the western United States. Such a proposed joint accredited training track will have at least fifty percent of its residency positions in osteopathic medicine; and

(f) Implements the plan, with the exception of the expansion of the family practice residency network, within current biennial appropriations for the University of Washington school of medicine.

(2) The plan shall be submitted to the appropriate committees of the legislature no later than December 1, 1993.

I. SHORT-TERM HEALTH INSURANCE REFORM

NEW SECTION. Sec. 276. INTENT--INCREASE ACCESS TO COVERAGE. The legislature intends that, during the transition to a fully reformed health services system, certain health insurance practices be modified to increase access to health insurance coverage for some individuals and groups. The legislature recognizes that health insurance reform will not remedy the significant lack of access to coverage in Washington state without the implementation of strong cost control measures. The authority granted to the commissioner in chapter . . . , Laws of 1993 (this act) is in addition to any authority the commissioner currently has under Title 48 RCW to regulate insurers, health care service contractors, and health maintenance organizations.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 277. A new section is added to chapter 48.18 RCW to read as follows:

CANCELLATIONS, DENIALS--WRITTEN COMMUNICATION. Every insurer upon canceling, denying, or refusing to renew any disability policy, shall, upon written request, directly notify in writing the applicant or insured, as the case may be, of the reasons for the action by the insurer and to any person covered under a group contract. Any benefits, terms, rates, or conditions of such a contract that are restricted, excluded, modified, increased, or reduced shall, upon written request, be set forth in writing and supplied to the insured and to any person covered under a group contract. The written communications required by this section shall be phrased in simple language that is readily understandable to a person of average intelligence, education, and reading ability.

SEC. 278. RCW 48.21.200 and 1983 c 202 ss 16 and 1983 c 106 s 24 are each reenacted and amended to read as follows:

REDUCTIONS OR REFUSAL OF BENEFITS. (1) No individual or group disability insurance policy, health care service contract, or health maintenance agreement which provides benefits for hospital, medical, or surgical expenses shall be delivered or issued for delivery in this state (after September 8, 1975) which contains any provision whereby the insurer, contractor, or health maintenance organization may reduce or refuse to pay such benefits otherwise payable thereunder solely on account of the existence of similar benefits provided under any (individual) disability insurance policy, (or under any individual) health care service contract, or health maintenance agreement.

(2) No individual or group disability insurance policy, health care service contract, or health maintenance agreement providing hospital, medical or surgical expense benefits and which contains a provision for the reduction of benefits otherwise payable or available thereunder on the basis of other existing coverages, shall provide that such reduction will operate to reduce total benefits payable below an amount equal to one hundred percent of total allowable expenses exclusive of copayments, deductibles, and other similar cost-sharing arrangements.

(3) The commissioner shall by rule establish guidelines for the application of this section, including:
   (a) The procedures by which persons (insured) covered under such policies, contracts, and agreements are to be made aware of the existence of such a provision;
   (b) The benefits which may be subject to such a provision;
   (c) The effect of such a provision on the benefits provided;
   (d) Establishment of the order of benefit determination; (and)
   (e) Exceptions necessary to maintain the integrity of policies, contracts, and agreements that may require the use of particular health care facilities or providers; and

(1) Reasonable claim administration procedures to expedite claim payments and prevent duplication of payments or benefits under such a provision. PROVIDED, HOWEVER, That any group disability insurance policy which is issued as part of an employee insurance benefit program authorized by RCW 41.05.025(3) may exclude all or part of any deductible amounts from the definition of total allowable expenses for purposes of coordination of benefits within the plan and between such plan and other applicable group coverages. AND PROVIDED FURTHER, That any group disability insurance policy providing coverage for persons in this state may exclude all or part of any deductible amounts required by a group disability insurance policy from the definition of total allowable expenses for coordination of benefits between such policy and a group disability insurance policy issued as part of an employee insurance benefit program authorized by RCW 41.05.025(3).

(3) The provisions of this section shall apply to health care service contractor contracts and health maintenance organization agreements).

NEW SECTION. Sec. 279. A new section is added to chapter 48.20 RCW to read as follows:

DISABILITY INSURER–PREEXISTING CONDITIONS EXCLUSIONS AND LIMITATIONS. (1) After January 1, 1994, every disability insurer issuing coverage against loss arising from medical, surgical, hospital, or emergency care coverage shall waive any preexisting condition exclusion or limitation for persons who had similar coverage under a different policy, health care service contract, or health maintenance agreement in the three-month period immediately preceding the effective date of coverage under the new policy to the extent that such person has satisfied a waiting period under such preceding policy, contract, or agreement; however, if the person satisfied a twelve-month waiting period under such preceding policy, contract, or agreement, the insurer shall waive any preexisting condition exclusion or limitation. The insurer need not waive a preexisting condition exclusion or limitation under the new policy for coverage not provided under such preceding policy, contract, or agreement.

(2) The commissioner may adopt rules establishing guidelines for determining when coverage is similar under new and preceding policies, contracts, and agreements and for determining when a preexisting condition waiting period has been satisfied.

(3) The commissioner in consultation with insurers, health care service contractors, and health maintenance organizations shall study the effect of preexisting condition exclusions and limitations on the cost and availability of health care coverage and shall adopt rules restricting the use of such conditions and limitations by January 1, 1994. No insurer, health care service contractor, or health maintenance organization may deny, exclude, or limit coverage for preexisting conditions for a period longer than that provided for in such rules after July 1, 1994.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 280. A new section is added to chapter 48.21 RCW to read as follows:
GROUP DISABILITY INSURERS--PREEXISTING CONDITIONS EXCLUSIONS AND LIMITATIONS. (1) After January 1, 1994, every disability insurer issuing coverage against loss arising from medical, surgical, hospital, or emergency care coverage shall waive any preexisting condition exclusion or limitation for persons who had similar coverage under a different policy, health care service contract, or health maintenance agreement in the three-month period immediately preceding the effective date of coverage under the new policy to the extent that such person has satisfied a waiting period under such preceding policy, contract, or agreement; however, if the person satisfied a twelve-month waiting period under such preceding policy, contract, or agreement, the insurer shall waive any preexisting condition exclusion or limitation. The insurer need not waive a preexisting condition exclusion or limitation under the new policy for coverage not provided under such preceding policy, contract, or agreement.

(2) The commissioner may adopt rules establishing guidelines for determining when coverage is similar under new and preceding policies, contracts, and agreements for determining when a preexisting condition waiting period has been satisfied.

(3) The commissioner in consultation with insurers, health care service contractors, and health maintenance organizations shall study the effect of preexisting condition exclusions and limitations on the cost and availability of health care coverage and shall adopt rules restricting the use of such conditions and limitations by January 1, 1994. No insurer, health care service contractor, or health maintenance organization may deny, exclude, or limit coverage for preexisting conditions for a period longer than that provided for in such rules after July 1, 1994.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 281. A new section is added to chapter 48.44 RCW to read as follows:

HEALTH CARE SERVICE CONTRACTORS--PREEXISTING CONDITIONS EXCLUSIONS AND LIMITATIONS. (1) After January 1, 1994, every health care service contractor, except limited health care service contractors as defined under RCW 48.44.035, shall waive any preexisting condition exclusion or limitation for persons who had similar coverage under a different policy, health care service contract, or health maintenance agreement in the three-month period immediately preceding the effective date of coverage under the new contract to the extent that such person has satisfied a waiting period under such preceding policy, contract, or agreement; however, if the person satisfied a twelve-month waiting period under such preceding policy, contract, or agreement, the insurer shall waive any preexisting condition exclusion or limitation. The insurer need not waive a preexisting condition exclusion or limitation under the new policy for coverage not provided under such preceding policy, contract, or agreement.

(2) The commissioner may adopt rules establishing guidelines for determining when coverage is similar under new and preceding policies, contracts, and agreements for determining when a preexisting condition waiting period has been satisfied.

(3) The commissioner in consultation with insurers, health care service contractors, and health maintenance organizations shall study the effect of preexisting condition exclusions and limitations on the cost and availability of health care coverage and shall adopt rules restricting the use of such conditions and limitations by January 1, 1994. No insurer, health care service contractor, or health maintenance organization may deny, exclude, or limit coverage for preexisting conditions for a period longer than that provided for in such rules after July 1, 1994.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 282. A new section is added to chapter 48.46 RCW to read as follows:

HEALTH MAINTENANCE ORGANIZATIONS--PREEXISTING CONDITIONS EXCLUSIONS AND LIMITATIONS. (1) After January 1, 1994, every health maintenance organization shall waive any preexisting condition exclusion or limitation for persons who had similar coverage under a different policy, health care service contract, or health maintenance agreement in the three-month period immediately preceding the effective date of coverage under the new agreement to the extent that such person has satisfied a waiting period under such preceding policy, contract, or agreement; however, if the person satisfied a twelve-month waiting period under such preceding policy, contract, or agreement, the insurer shall waive any preexisting condition exclusion or limitation. The insurer need not waive a preexisting condition exclusion or limitation under the new policy for coverage not provided under such preceding policy, contract, or agreement.

(2) The commissioner may adopt rules establishing guidelines for determining when coverage is similar under new and preceding policies, contracts, and agreements for determining when a preexisting condition waiting period has been satisfied.

(3) The commissioner in consultation with insurers, health care service contractors, and health maintenance organizations shall study the effect of preexisting condition exclusions and limitations on the cost and availability of health care coverage and shall adopt rules restricting the use of such conditions and limitations by January 1, 1994. No insurer, health care service contractor, or health maintenance organization may deny, exclude, or limit coverage for preexisting conditions for a period longer than that provided for in such rules after July 1, 1994.

Sec. 283. RCW 48.30.300 and 1975-76 2nd ex.s. c 119 s 7 are each amended to read as follows:

UNFAIR PRACTICES. Notwithstanding any provision contained in Title 48 RCW to the contrary:

(1) No person or entity engaged in the business of insurance in this state shall refuse to issue any contract of insurance or cancel or decline to renew such contract because of the sex or marital status, or the presence of any sensory, mental, or physical handicap of the insured or prospective insured. The amount of benefits payable, or any term, rate, condition, or type of coverage shall not be restricted, modified, excluded, increased or reduced on the basis of the sex or marital status, or be restricted, modified, excluded or reduced on the basis of the presence of any sensory, mental, or physical handicap of the insured or prospective insured. Subject to the provisions of subsection (2) of this section these provisions shall not prohibit fair discrimination on the basis of sex, or marital status, or the presence of any sensory, mental, or physical handicap when bona fide statistical differences in risk or exposure have been substantiated.

(2) With respect to disability policies issued or renewed on and after July 1, 1994, that provide coverage against loss arising from medical, surgical, hospital, or emergency care services:

(a) Policies shall guarantee continuity of coverage. Such provision, which shall be included in every policy, shall provide that:

(i) The policy may be canceled or nonrenewed without the prior written approval of the commissioner only for nonpayment of premium or as permitted under RCW 48.18.090: and

(ii) The policy may be canceled or nonrenewed because of a change in the physical or mental condition or health of a covered person only with the prior written approval of the commissioner. Such approval shall be granted only when the insurer has discharged its obligation to continue coverage for such person by obtaining coverage with another insurer, health care service contractor, or health maintenance organization, which coverage is comparable in terms of premiums and benefits as defined by rule of the commissioner.

(b) It is an unfair practice for a disability insurer to modify the coverage provided or rates applying to an in-force disability insurance policy and to fail to make such modification in all such issued and outstanding policies.

(c) Subject to rules adopted by the commissioner, it is an unfair practice for a disability insurer to:

(i) Cease the sale of a policy form unless it has received prior written authorization from the commissioner and has offered all policyholders covered under such discontinued policy the opportunity to purchase comparable coverage without health screening; or

(ii) Engage in a practice that subjects policyholders to rate increases on discontinued policy forms unless such policyholders are offered the opportunity to purchase comparable coverage without health screening.

The insurer may limit an offer of comparable coverage without health screening to a period not less than thirty days from the date the offer is first made.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 284. A new section is added to chapter 48.44 RCW to read as follows:

HEALTH CARE SERVICE CONTRACTS–UNFAIR PRACTICES. (1) With respect to all health care service contracts issued or renewed on and after July 1, 1994, except limited health care service contracts as defined in RCW 48.44.035:

(a) Contracts shall guarantee continuity of coverage. Such provision, which shall be included in every contract, shall provide that:

(i) The contract may be canceled or nonrenewed without the prior written approval of the commissioner only for nonpayment of premiums, for violation of published policies of the contractor which have been approved by the commissioner, for persons who are entitled to become eligible for medicare benefits and fail to subscribe to a medicare supplement plan offered by the contractor, for failure of such subscriber to pay any deductible or copayment amount owed to the contractor and not the provider of health care services, for fraud, or for a material breach of the contract; and

(ii) The contract may be canceled or nonrenewed because of a change in the physical or mental condition or health of a covered person only with the prior written approval of the commissioner. Such approval shall be granted only when the contractor has discharged its obligation to continue coverage for such person by obtaining coverage with another insurer, health care service contractor, or health maintenance organization, which coverage is comparable in terms of premiums and benefits as defined by rule of the commissioner.

(b) It is an unfair practice for a contractor to modify the coverage provided or rates applying to an in-force contract and to fail to make such modification in all such issued and outstanding contracts.

(c) Subject to rules adopted by the commissioner, it is an unfair practice for a health care service contractor to:

(i) Cease the sale of a contract form unless it has received prior written authorization from the commissioner and has offered all subscribers covered under such discontinued contract the opportunity to purchase comparable coverage without health screening; or

(ii) Engage in a practice that subjects subscribers to rate increases on discontinued contract forms unless such subscribers are offered the opportunity to purchase comparable coverage without health screening.

(2) The health care service contractor may limit an offer of comparable coverage without health screening to a period not less than thirty days from the date the offer is first made.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 285. A new section is added to chapter 48.46 RCW to read as follows:

HEALTH MAINTENANCE AGREEMENTS–UNFAIR PRACTICES. (1) With respect to all health maintenance agreements issued or renewed on and after July 1, 1994, and in addition to the restrictions and limitations contained in RCW 48.46.060(4):
(a) Agreements shall guarantee continuity of coverage. Such provision, which shall be included in every agreement, shall provide that the agreement may be canceled or nonrenewed because of a change in the physical or mental condition or health of a covered person only with the prior written approval of the commissioner. Such approval shall be granted only when the organization has discharged its obligation to continue coverage for such person by obtaining coverage with another insurer, health care service contractor, or health maintenance organization, which coverage is comparable in terms of premiums and benefits as defined by rule of the commissioner.

(b) It is an unfair practice for an organization to modify the coverage provided or rates applying to an in-force agreement and to fail to make such modification in all such issued and outstanding agreements.

(c) Subject to rules adopted by the commissioner, it is an unfair practice for a health maintenance organization to:

(i) Cease the sale of an agreement form unless it has received prior written authorization from the commissioner and has offered all enrollees covered under such discontinued agreement the opportunity to purchase comparable coverage without health screening; or
(ii) Engage in a practice that subjects enrollees to rate increases on discontinued agreement forms unless such enrollees are offered the opportunity to purchase comparable coverage without health screening.

(2) The health maintenance organization may limit an offer of comparable coverage without health screening to a period not less than thirty days from the date the offer is first made.

HEALTH CARE SERVICE CONTRACTOR--NOTICE OF CANCELLATION. Every authorized health care service contractor, upon canceling, denying, or refusing to renew any individual health care service contract, shall, upon written request, directly notify in writing the applicant or (insured) subscriber, as the case may be, of the reasons for the action by the health care service contractor. Any benefits, terms, rates, or conditions of such a contract which are restricted, excluded, modified, increased, or reduced ((because of the presence of a sensory, mental, or physical handicap)) shall, upon written request, be set forth in writing and supplied to the ((insured)) subscriber. A. THE WASHINGTON HEALTH SERVICES COMMISSION
NEW SECTION. Sec. 403. CREATION OF COMMISSION--MEMBERSHIP--TERMS OF OFFICE--VACANCIES--SALARIES. (1) There is created an agency of state government to be known as the Washington health services commission. The commission shall consist of five members reflecting ethnic and racial diversity, appointed by the governor, with the consent of the senate. One member shall be designated by the governor as chair and shall serve at the pleasure of the governor. The insurance commissioner shall serve as a nonvoting member. Of the initial members, one shall be appointed to a term of three years, two shall be appointed to a term of four years, and two shall be appointed to a term of five years. Thereafter, members shall be appointed to five-year terms. Vacancies shall be filled by appointment for the remainder of the unexpired term of the position being vacated.

(3) Members of the commission shall occupy their positions on a full-time basis and are exempt from the provisions of chapter 41.06 RCW. Commission members and the professional commission staff are subject to the public disclosure provisions of chapter 42.17 RCW. (1)(a) The commission shall appoint a technical advisory committee with a balanced representation of members representing consumers, business, government, labor, insurers, practicing health care providers, and health services researchers; the membership shall reflect ethnic and racial diversity. The chair may also appoint ad hoc and special committees for a specified time period.

(b) The commission shall also appoint health services effectiveness panels for specified periods of time to provide specific technical guidance related to appropriate and effective health services, use of technology and practice guidelines, and development of the uniform benefits package. Panels should include technical experts, such as general practitioners, specialty physicians or providers, health service researchers, health ethicists, epidemiologists, and public health experts who reflect the state's ethnic and cultural diversity.

(2) Members of committees and panels shall serve without compensation for their services but shall be reimbursed for their expenses while attending meetings on behalf of the commission in accordance with RCW 43.03.050 and 43.03.060.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 405. POWERS AND DUTIES OF THE CHAIR. The chair shall be the chief administrative officer and the appointing authority of the commission and has the following powers and duties:

(1) Direct and supervise the commission's administrative and technical activities in accordance with the provisions of this chapter and rules and policies adopted by the commission;

(2) Employ personnel of the commission, representative of ethnic diversity, in accordance with chapter 41.06 RCW, and prescribe their duties. With the approval of a majority of the commission, the chair may appoint persons to administer any entity established pursuant to subsection (8) of this section, and up to seven additional employees all of whom shall be exempt from the provisions of chapter 41.06 RCW;

(3) Enter into contracts on behalf of the commission;

(4) Accept and expend gifts, donations, grants, and other funds received by the commission;

(6) Subject to approval of the commission, appoint advisory committees and undertake studies, research, and analysis necessary to support activities of the commission;

(7) Preside at meetings of the commission;

(8) Consistent with policies and rules established by the commission, establish such administrative divisions, offices, or programs as are necessary to carry out the purposes of chapter . . . , Laws of 1993 (this act); and

(9) Perform such other administrative and technical duties as are consistent with chapter . . . , Laws of 1993 (this act) and the rules and policies of the commission.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 406. POWERS AND DUTIES OF THE COMMISSION. The commission has the following powers and duties:
(1) Ensure that all residents of Washington state are enrolled in a certified health plan to receive the uniform benefits package, regardless of age, sex, family structure, ethnicity, race, health condition, geographic location, employment, or economic status.

(2) Endeavor to ensure that all residents of Washington state have access to appropriate, timely, confidential, and effective health services, and monitor the degree of access to such services. If the commission finds that individuals or populations lack access to certified health plan services, the commission shall:

(a) Authorize appropriate state agencies, local health departments, community or migrant health clinics, public hospital districts, or other nonprofit health service entities to take actions necessary to assure such access. This includes authority to contract for or directly deliver services described within the uniform benefits package to special populations; or

(b) Notify appropriate certified health plans and the insurance commissioner of such findings. The commission shall adopt by rule standards by which the insurance commissioner may, in such event, require certified health plans in closest proximity to such individuals and populations to extend their catchment areas to those individuals and populations and offer them enrollment.

(3) Adopt necessary rules in accordance with chapter 34.05 RCW to carry out the purposes of chapter . . . , Laws of 1993 (this act). An initial set of draft rules establishing at least the commission's organization structure, the uniform benefits package, enrollee and employer financial participation, levels of and standards for certified health plan certification, must be submitted in draft form to appropriate committees of the legislature by December 1, 1994.

(4) Establish and modify as necessary, in consultation with the state board of health and the department of health, and coordination with the planning process set forth in section 462 of this act a uniform set of health services based on the recommendations of the health care cost control and access commission.

(5) Establish and modify as necessary, the uniform benefits package and supplemental benefits packages, as provided in sections 448 and 449 of this act, which shall be offered to enrollees of a certified health plan. The benefit package shall be provided at no more than the maximum premium specified in subsection (6) of this section.

(6)(a) Establish for each year a community-rated maximum premium for the uniform benefits package that shall operate to control overall health care costs in the case that the limited sponsor contribution to a percentage of the lowest priced plan and other market reforms do not stimulate effective price competition and control costs. The premium cost of the uniform benefits package in 1995 shall be based upon an actuarial determination of the costs of providing the uniform benefits package, assuming cost savings that may result from reductions in cost shifting, the use of managed care, identification of cost-effective and clinically efficacious services, assuming cost increases that may result from the direct or indirect effect of changes in taxation, aging of the population, and availability and effectiveness of new medical technology, and any other factors deemed relevant by the commission. Beginning in 1996, the growth rate of the premium cost of the uniform benefits package for each certified health plan shall be allowed to increase by a rate no greater than the average growth rate in the cost of the package between 1990 and 1993 as actuarially determined, reduced by two percentage points per year until the growth rate is no greater than the five-year rolling average of growth in Washington per capita personal income, as determined by the office of financial management.

(b) In establishing the community-rated maximum premium under this subsection, the commission shall endeavor to minimize any economic incentive to an employer to discriminate between prospective employees based upon whether or not they have dependents for whom coverage would be required.

(c) If the commission adds or deletes services or benefits to the uniform benefits package in subsequent years, it may increase or decrease the maximum premium to reflect the actual cost experience of a broad sample of providers of that service in the state, considering the factors enumerated in (a) of this subsection and adjusted actuarially. The addition of services or benefits shall not result in a redetermination of the entire cost of the uniform benefits package.

(d) The level of expenditures for the uniform benefits package is conditioned upon the appropriation of funds specifically for this purpose.

(7) Establish enrollee premium share levels that are related to enrollee household income and that do not apply to enrollees with income less than the federal poverty level. The commission shall develop mechanisms through which enrollees whose premium share levels are reduced as a result of low household income can obtain subsidies necessary for enrollment in a certified health plan. The availability of subsidies shall be conditioned upon the appropriation of funds specifically for this purpose.

(8) Determine the need for medical risk adjustment mechanisms to minimize financial incentives for certified health plans to enroll individuals who present lower health risks and avoid enrolling individuals who present higher health risks, and to minimize financial incentives for employer hiring practices that discriminate against individuals who present higher health risks. In the design of medical risk distribution mechanisms under this subsection, the commission shall (a) balance the benefits of price competition with the need to protect certified health plans from any unsustainable negative effects of adverse selection and (b) consider the development of a system that creates a risk profile of each certified health plan's enrollee population that does not create disincentives for a plan to control benefit utilization, that requires contributions from plans that enjoy a low-risk enrollee population to plans that have a high-risk enrollee population, and that does not permit an adjustment of the premium charged for the uniform benefits package for this purpose.
benefits package or supplemental coverage based upon either receipt or contribution of assessments. Proposed medical risk adjustment mechanisms shall be submitted to the legislature as provided in section 450 of this act.

(9) Design a mechanism to assure minors have access to confidential health care services as currently provided in RCW 70.24.110 and 71.34.030.

(10) Monitor the actual growth in total annual health services costs.

(11) Monitor the increased application of technology as required by chapter . . . ., Laws of 1993 (this act) and take necessary action to ensure that such application is made in a cost-effective and efficient manner and consistent with existing laws that protect individual privacy.

(12) Establish reporting requirements for certified health plans that own or manage health care facilities, health care facilities, and health care providers to periodically report to the commission regarding major capital expenditures of the plans. The commission shall review and monitor such reports from providers and shall report to the legislature regarding major capital expenditures by providers on at least an annual basis. The Washington health care facilities authority and the commission shall develop jointly standards for evaluating and approving major capital expenditure financing through the Washington health care facilities authority, as authorized pursuant to chapter 70.37 RCW. By December 1, 1994, the commission and the authority shall submit jointly to the legislature such proposed standards. The commission and the authority shall, after legislative review, but no later than June 1, 1995, publish such standards. Upon publication, the authority may not approve financing for major capital expenditures unless approved by the commission.

(13) Establish maximum enrollee financial participation levels. The levels shall be related to enrollee household income and shall not result in household income being reduced below the federal poverty level.

(14) For health services provided under the uniform benefits package, adopt standards for enrollment, and standardized billing and claims processing forms. The standards shall ensure that these procedures minimize administrative burdens on health care providers, certified health plans, and consumers. Subject to federal approval or phase-in schedules whenever necessary or appropriate, the standards also shall apply to state-purchased health services, as defined in RCW 41.05.011.

(15) Suggest that certified health plans adopt certain practice indicators or risk management protocols for quality assurance, utilization review, or provider payment. The commission may consider indicators or protocols recommended according to section 410 of this act for these purposes.

(16) Suggest other guidelines to certified health plans for utilization management, use of technology and methods of payment, such as diagnosis-related groups and a resource-based relative value scale. Such guidelines shall be voluntary and shall be designed to promote improved management of care, and provide incentives for improved efficiency and effectiveness within the delivery system.

(17) Adopt standards and oversee and develop policy for personal health data and information system as provided in chapter 70.170 RCW.

(18) Adopt standards that prevent conflict of interest by health care providers as provided in section 408 of this act.

(19) Consider the extent to which medical research activities should be included within the health service system set forth in this chapter . . . ., Laws of 1993 (this act).

(20) Evaluate and monitor the extent to which racial and ethnic minorities have access and to receive health services within the state, and develop strategies to address barriers to access.

(21) Develop standards for the certification process to certify health plans to provide the uniform benefits package, according to the provisions for certified health plans under chapter . . . ., Laws of 1993 (this act).

(22) Develop rules for implementation of individual and employer participation under sections 454 and 455 of this act specifically applicable to persons who work in this state but do not live in the state or persons who live in this state but work outside of the state. The rules shall be designed so that these persons receive coverage and financial requirements that are comparable to that received by persons who both live and work in the state.

(23) Establish a process for purchase of uniform benefits package services by enrollees when they are out-of-state.

(24) Develop recommendations to the legislature as to whether state and school district employees, on whose behalf health benefits are or will be purchased by the health care authority pursuant to chapter 41.05 RCW, should have the option to purchase health benefits through health insurance purchasing cooperatives on and after July 1, 1997. In developing its recommendations, the commission shall consider:

(a) The impact of state or school district employees purchasing through health insurance purchasing cooperatives on the ability of the state to control its health care costs; and

(b) Whether state or school district employees purchasing through health insurance purchasing cooperatives will result in inequities in health benefits between or within groups of state and school district employees.

(25) Establish guidelines for providers dealing with terminal or static conditions, taking into consideration the ethics of providers, patient and family wishes, costs, and survival possibilities.
(26) Evaluate the extent to which Taft-Hartley health care trusts and self-insured employee health benefit plans provide benefits to certain individuals in the state; review the federal laws under which these joint employee-employer entities and self-insured employee health benefit plans are organized; and make appropriate recommendations to the governor and the legislature on or before December 1, 1994, about how these trusts and benefits plans can be brought under the provisions of chapter . . . , Laws of 1993 (this act) when it is fully implemented.

(27) Evaluate whether Washington is experiencing a higher percentage in in-migration of residents from other states and territories than would be expected by normal trends as a result of the availability of comprehensive subsidized health care benefits for all residents and report to the governor and the legislature their findings.

(28) In developing the uniform benefits package and other standards pursuant to this section, consider the likelihood of the establishment of a national health services plan adopted by the federal government and its implications.

(29) Evaluate the effect of reforms under chapter . . . , Laws of 1993 (this act) on access to care and economic development in rural areas.

To the extent that the exercise of any of the powers and duties specified in this section may be inconsistent with the powers and duties of other state agencies, offices, or commissions, the authority of the commission shall supersede that of such other state agency, office, or commission, except in matters of personal health data, where the commission shall have primary data system policymaking authority and the department of health shall have primary responsibility for the maintenance and routine operation of personal health data systems.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 407. MODIFICATION OF MAXIMUM PREMIUM. Upon the recommendation of the insurance commissioner, and on the basis of evidence established by independent actuarial analysis, if the commission finds that the economic viability of a significant number of the state's certified health plans is seriously threatened, the commission may increase the maximum premium to the extent mandated by the Constitution, and must immediately thereafter submit to the legislature a proposal for a new formula for adjusting the maximum premium that must be approved in law by each house of the legislature by a sixty percent vote.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 408. A new section is added to chapter 18.130 RCW to read as follows:

CONFLICT OF INTEREST STANDARDS. The Washington health services commission established by section 403 of this act, in consultation with the secretary of health, and the health care disciplinary authorities under RCW 18.130.040(2)(b), shall establish standards and monetary penalties in rule prohibiting provider investments and referrals that present a conflict of interest resulting from inappropriate financial gain for the provider or his or her immediate family. These standards are not intended to inhibit the efficient operation of managed health care systems or certified health plans. The commission shall report to the health policy committees of the senate and house of representatives by December 1, 1994, on the development of the standards and any recommended statutory changes necessary to implement the standards.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 409. CONTINUOUS QUALITY IMPROVEMENT AND TOTAL QUALITY MANAGEMENT. To ensure the highest quality health services at the lowest total cost, the commission shall establish a total quality management system of continuous quality improvement. Such endeavor shall be based upon the recognized quality science for continuous quality improvement. The commission shall impanel a committee composed of persons from the private sector and related sciences who have broad knowledge and successful experiences in continuous quality improvement and total quality management applications. It shall be the responsibility of the committee to develop standards for a Washington state health services supplier certification process and recommend such standards to the commission for review and adoption. Once adopted, the commission shall establish a schedule, with full compliance no later than July 1, 1996, whereby all health service providers and health service facilities shall be certified prior to providing uniform benefits package services.

B. PRACTICE INDICATORS

NEW SECTION. Sec. 410. A new section is added to chapter 43.70 RCW to read as follows:

PRACTICE INDICATORS. The department of health shall consult with health care providers, purchasers, health professional regulatory authorities under RCW 18.130.040, appropriate research and clinical experts, and consumers of health care services to identify specific practice areas where practice indicators and risk management protocols have been developed, including those that have been demonstrated to be effective among persons of color. Practice indicators shall be based upon expert consensus and best available scientific evidence. The department shall:

1. Develop a definition of expert consensus and best available scientific evidence so that practice indicators can serve as a standard for excellence in the provision of health care services.

2. Establish a process to identify and evaluate practice indicators and risk management protocols as they are developed by the appropriate professional, scientific, and clinical communities.
(3) Recommend the use of practice indicators and risk management protocols in quality assurance, utilization review, or provider payment to the health services commission.

On or before January 1, 1994, the department shall designate by rule:

For purposes of this section, "independent health care practitioners" means those health care practitioner licensing classifications designated by the department of health in rule pursuant to section 412 of this act.

The parties may stipulate to a nonlawyer mediator. The court may prescribe additional qualifications of mediators. (b) The number of days following the filing of a claim under this chapter within which a mediator must be selected;

(c) The method by which a mediator is selected. The rule shall provide for designation of a mediator by the superior court if the parties are unable to agree upon a mediator;

COMMUNICATIONS PRIVILEGED. (1) If there is a court order to mediate a written agreement between the parties to mediate, or if mediation is mandated under section 419 of this act, then any communication made or submitted to or by the mediator, a mediation organization, a party, or any person present, are privileged and confidential and are not subject to disclosure in any judicial or administrative proceeding except:

(a) When all parties to the mediation agree, in writing, to disclosure;

(b) When the written materials or tangible evidence are otherwise subject to discovery, and were not prepared specifically for use in and actually used in the mediation proceeding;

(c) When a written agreement to mediate permits disclosure;

(d) When disclosure is mandated by statute;

(e) When the written materials consist of a written settlement agreement or other agreement signed by the parties resulting from a mediation proceeding;

(f) When those communications or written materials pertain solely to administrative matters incidental to the mediation proceeding, including the agreement to mediate; or

Sec. 423. RCW 4.22.070 and 1986 c 305 s 401 are each amended to read as follows:

PERCENTAGE OF FAULT-JOINT AND SEVERAL LIABILITY. (1) Except as provided in subsection (4) of this section, in all actions involving fault of more than one entity, the trier of fact shall determine the percentage of the total fault which is attributable to every entity which caused the claimant's damages, including the claimant or person suffering personal injury or incurring property damage, defendants, third-party defendants, entities released by the claimant, entities immune from liability to the claimant and entities with any other individual defense against the claimant. Judgment shall be entered against each defendant except those who have been released by the claimant or are immune from liability to the claimant or have prevailed on any other individual defense against the claimant in an amount which represents that party's proportionate share of the claimant's total damages. The liability of each defendant shall be several only and shall not be joint except:

(a) A party shall be responsible for the fault of another person or for payment of the proportionate share of another party where both were acting in concert or when a person was acting as an agent or servant of the party.
(b) If the trier of fact determines that the claimant or party suffering bodily injury or incurring property damages was not at fault, the defendants against whom judgment is entered shall be jointly and severally liable for the sum of their proportionate shares of the claimant's total damages.

(2) If a defendant is jointly and severally liable under one of the exceptions listed in subsection((a)) (1)(a) or (1)(b) or (4) (a) or (b) of this section, such defendant's rights to contribution against another jointly and severally liable defendant, and the effect of settlement by either such defendant, shall be determined under RCW 4.22.040, 4.22.050, and 4.22.060.

(b) Nothing in this section shall affect a cause of action arising from the tortious interference with contracts or business relations.

(c) Nothing in this section shall affect any cause of action arising from the manufacture or marketing of a fungible product in a generic form which contains no clearly identifiable shape, color, or marking.

(4) In all actions governed by chapter 7.70 RCW involving fault of more than one entity, the trier of fact shall determine the percentage of the total fault that is attributable to every entity that caused the claimant's damages, including the claimant or person suffering personal injury or incurring property damage, defendants, third-party defendants, entities released by the claimant, entities immune from liability to the claimant, and entities with any other individual defense against the claimant. Judgment shall be entered against each defendant except those who have been released by the claimant or are immune from liability to the claimant or have prevailed on any other individual defense against the claimant in an amount that represents that party's proportionate share of the claimant's total damages. The total damages shall first be reduced by any amount paid to the claimant by a released entity. The liability of each defendant shall be several only and shall not be joint except:

(a) A party shall be responsible for the fault of another person or for payment of the proportionate share of another party where both were acting in concert or when a person was acting as an agent or servant of the party.

(b) If the trier of fact determines that the claimant or party suffering bodily injury or incurring property damages was not at fault, the defendants against whom judgment is entered shall be jointly and severally liable for the sum of their proportionate shares of the claimant's total damages.

(c) A defendant shall be responsible to the claimant for any fault of an entity released by the claimant. The total damages shall first be reduced by any amount paid to the claimant by a released entity, and, where some fault has been attributed to the claimant, by the claimant's proportionate share of his or her total damages.

D. HEALTH INSURANCE PURCHASING COOPERATIVES

NEW SECTION. Sec. 424. HEALTH INSURANCE PURCHASING COOPERATIVES--DESIGNATION OF REGIONS BY COMMISSION, INFORMATION SYSTEMS, MINIMUM STANDARDS, AND RULES. (1) The commission shall designate large geographic regions within the state in which health insurance purchasing cooperatives may operate, based upon population, assuming that each cooperative must serve no less than one hundred fifty thousand persons; geographic factors; market conditions; and other factors deemed appropriate by the commission. The commission shall designate one health insurance purchasing cooperative per region. However, the commission may designate certain regions of the state as areas where more than one cooperative may operate upon a determination that a sufficient population base exists within such region to efficiently support more than one cooperative.

(2) In coordination with the commission and consistent with the provisions of chapter 70.170 RCW, the department of health shall establish an information clearinghouse for the collection and dissemination of information necessary for the efficient operation of cooperatives, including the establishment of a risk profile information system related to certified health plan enrollees that would permit the equitable distribution of losses among plans in accordance with section 406(8) of this act.

(3) Every health insurance purchasing cooperative shall:

(a) Admit all individuals, employers, or other groups wishing to participate in the cooperative;

(b) Make available for purchase by cooperative members every health care program offered by every certified health plan operating within the cooperative's region;

(c) Be operated as a member-governed and owned, nonprofit cooperative in which no certified health plan, health maintenance organization, health care service contractor, independent practice association, independent physician organization, or any individual with a pecuniary interest in any such organization, shall have any pecuniary interest in or management control of the cooperative;

(d) Provide for centralized enrollment and premium collection and distribution among certified health plans; and

(e) Serve as an ombudsman for its members to resolve inquiries, complaints, or other concerns with certified health plans.
(4) Every health insurance purchasing cooperative shall assist members in selecting certified health plans and for this purpose may devise a rating system or similar system to judge the quality and cost-effectiveness of certified health plans consistent with guidelines established by the commission. For this purpose, each cooperative and directors, officers, and other employees of the cooperative are immune from liability in any civil action or suit arising from the publication of any report, brochure, or guide, or dissemination of information related to the services, quality, price, or cost-effectiveness of certified plans unless actual malice, fraud, or bad faith is shown. Such immunity is in addition to any common law or statutory privilege or immunity enjoyed by such person, and nothing in this section is intended to abrogate or modify in any way such common law or statutory privilege or immunity.

(5) Every health insurance purchasing cooperative shall bear the full cost of its operations, including the costs of participating in the information clearinghouse, through assessments upon its members. Such assessments shall be billed and accounted for separately from premiums collected and distributed for the purchase of the uniform benefits package or any other supplemental insurance or health services program.

(6) No health insurance purchasing cooperative may bear any financial risk for the delivery of uniform benefits package services, or for any other supplemental insurance or health services program.

(7) No health insurance purchasing cooperative may directly broker, sell, contract for, or provide any insurance or health services program. However, nothing contained in this section shall be deemed to prohibit the use or employment of insurance agents or brokers by the cooperative for other purposes or to prohibit the facilitation of the sale and purchase by members of supplemental insurance or health services programs.

(8) The commission may adopt rules necessary for the implementation of this section including rules governing charter and bylaw provisions of cooperatives and may adopt rules prohibiting or permitting other activities by cooperatives.

(9) The commission shall consider ways in which cooperatives can develop, encourage, and provide incentives for employee wellness programs.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 425. LICENSING AND REGULATION OF HEALTH INSURANCE PURCHASING COOPERATIVES BY THE INSURANCE COMMISSIONER. (1) No person may establish or operate a health insurance purchasing cooperative without having first obtained a certificate of authority from the insurance commissioner.

(2) Every proposed cooperative shall furnish notice to the insurance commissioner that shall:
   (a) Identify the principal name and address of the cooperative;
   (b) Furnish the names and addresses of the initial officers of the cooperative;
   (c) Include copies of letters of agreement for participation in the cooperative including minimum term of participation;
   (d) Furnish copies of its proposed articles and bylaws; and
   (e) Provide other information as prescribed by the insurance commissioner in consultation with the health services commission to verify that the cooperative is qualified and is managed by competent and trustworthy individuals.

(3)(a) The commissioner shall approve applications for certificates in accordance with the order received.
   (b) The commissioner shall establish by rule a fee to be paid by cooperatives in an amount necessary to review and approve applications for a certificate of authority. Such fee shall accompany the application and no certificate may be issued until such fee is paid. Fees collected for such purpose shall be deposited in the insurance commissioner's regulatory account in the state treasury.

(4) All funds representing premiums or return premiums received by a cooperative in its fiduciary capacity shall be accounted for and maintained in a separate account from all other funds. Each willful violation of this section constitutes a misdemeanor.

(5) Every cooperative shall keep at its principal address, a record of all transactions it has consummated on behalf of its members with certified health plans. All such records shall be kept available and open to the inspection of the insurance commissioner at any business time during a five-year period immediately after the date of completion of the transaction.

E. CERTIFIED HEALTH PLANS

NEW SECTION. Sec. 426. CERTIFIED HEALTH PLANS--REGISTRATION REQUIRED--PENALTY. (1) On and after July 1, 1995, no person or entity in this state shall provide the uniform benefits package and supplemental benefits as defined in section 402 of this act without being certified as a certified health plan by the insurance commissioner.

(2) On and after July 1, 1995, the uniform benefits package and supplemental benefits shall be purchased only from entities certified as certified health plans.

(3) On and after July 1, 1995, the uniform benefits package shall be the minimum benefits package of any certified health plan.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 427. HEALTH PLAN CERTIFICATION STANDARDS. A certified health plan shall:
(1) Provide the benefits included in the uniform benefits package and offer supplemental benefits packages to enrolled Washington residents for a prepaid per capita community-rated premium not to exceed the maximum premium established by the commission and provide such benefits through managed care in accordance with rules adopted by the commission;
(2) Accept for enrollment any state resident within the plan's service area and provide or assure the provision of all services within the uniform benefits package and offer supplemental benefits packages regardless of factors referenced in RCW 49.60.020, including age, sex, family structure, ethnicity, race, health condition, geographic location, employment status, socioeconomic status, or other condition or situation, however, the insurance commissioner may grant a temporary exemption from this subsection, if, upon application by a certified health plan, the commissioner finds that the clinical, financial, or administrative capacity to serve existing enrollees will be impaired if a certified health plan is required to continue enrollment of additional eligible individuals;
(3) If the plan provides benefits through contracts with, ownership of, or management of health care facilities and contracts with or employs health care providers, demonstrate to the satisfaction of the insurance commissioner in consultation with the department of health and the commission that its facilities and personnel are adequate to provide the benefits prescribed in the uniform benefits package and offer supplemental benefits packages to enrolled Washington residents, and that it is financially capable of providing such residents with, or has made adequate contractual arrangements with health care providers and facilities to provide enrollees with such benefits;
(4) Comply with portability of benefits requirements prescribed by the commission;
(5) Comply with administrative rules prescribed by the commission, the insurance commissioner, and other state agencies governing certified health plans;

(7) Discloses to enrollees the charity care requirements under chapter 70.170 RCW;
(8) Include in all of its contracts with health care providers and health care facilities a provision prohibiting such providers and facilities from billing enrollees for any amounts in excess of applicable enrollee point of service cost-sharing obligations for services included in the uniform benefits package and the supplemental benefits package;
(9) Include in all of its contracts issued for uniform benefits package and supplemental benefits package coverage a subrogation provision that allows the certified health plan to recover the costs of uniform benefits package and supplemental benefits services incurred to care for an enrollee injured by a negligent third party. The costs recovered shall be limited to:
   (a) If the certified health plan has not intervened in the action by an injured enrollee against a negligent third party, then the amount of costs the certified health plan can recover shall be limited to the excess remaining after the enrollee has been fully compensated for his or her loss minus a proportionate share of the enrollee’s costs and fees in bringing the action. The proportionate share shall be determined by:
      (i) The fees and costs approved by the court in which the action was initiated; or
      (ii) The written agreement between the attorney and client that established fees and costs when fees and costs are not addressed by the court.
   When fees and costs have been approved by a court, after notice to the certified health plan, the certified health plan shall have the right to be heard on the matter of attorneys’ fees and costs or its proportionate share;
   (b) If the certified health plan has intervened in the action by an injured enrollee against a negligent third party, then the amount of costs the certified health plan can recover shall be the excess remaining after the enrollee has been fully compensated for his or her loss or the amount of the plan's incurred costs, whichever is less;
(10) Establish and maintain a grievance procedure approved by the commissioner, to provide a reasonable and effective resolution of complaints initiated by enrollees concerning any matter relating to the provision of benefits under the uniform benefits package and supplemental benefits, access to health care services, and quality of services. (13) Permit every class of health care providers to provide health services or care for conditions included in the uniform benefits package and in the supplemental benefits package to the extent that:
   (a) The provision of such health services or care is within the health care providers' permitted scope of practice; and
(b) The providers agree to abide by standards related to:
(i) Provision, utilization review, and cost containment of health services;
(ii) Management and administrative procedures; and
(iii) Provision of cost-effective and clinically efficacious health services.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 428. LIMITED CERTIFIED HEALTH PLAN FOR DENTAL SERVICES. (1) For the purposes of this section "limited certified dental plan" or "dental plan" means a certified health plan offering coverage for dental services only and that complies with all certified health plan requirements for managed care, community rating, portability, and nondiscrimination.

(2) A dental plan may provide coverage for dental services directly to individuals or to employers for the benefit of employees. If an individual or an employer purchases uniform dental services from a dental plan, the certified health plan covering the individual or the employees need not provide dental services required under the uniform benefits package. A certified health plan may subcontract with a dental plan to provide the dental benefits required under the uniform benefits package.

(3) The commission shall establish maximum premiums and maximum enrollee financial participation amounts that may be charged by dental plans and shall adopt rules defining the minimum, uniform dental services identified in section 448 of this act that must be offered by dental plans. The commission shall also establish maximum premiums and maximum enrollee financial participation amounts for certified health plans not providing dental benefits by virtue of the individual's or employee's coverage by a dental plan, and rules governing the percentage change in the premium charged by a dental plan subcontracting with a certified health plan when the maximum premiums are changed by the commission.

(4) Rules governing dental plan premiums and financial participation amounts, and rules defining minimum, uniform dental services identified in section 448 of this act shall be adopted and shall apply to dental plans in accordance with the implementation dates applicable to certified health plans with respect to similar requirements.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 429. CONTRACTS BETWEEN CERTIFIED HEALTH PLANS AND HEALTH CARE PROVIDERS. (1) Balancing the need for health care reform and the need to protect health care providers, as a class and as individual providers, from improper exclusion presents a problem that can be satisfied with the creation of a process to ensure fair consideration of the inclusion of health care providers in managed care systems operated by certified health plans. It is therefore the intent of the legislature that the health services commission in developing rules in accordance with this section and the attorney general in monitoring the level of competition in the various geographic markets, balance the need for cost-effective and quality delivery of health services with the need for inclusion of both individual health care providers and classes of health care providers in managed care programs developed by certified health plans.

(2) All licensed health care providers licensed by the state, irrespective of the type or kind of practice, should be afforded the opportunity for inclusion in certified health plans consistent with the goals of health care reform.

The health services commission shall adopt rules requiring certified health plans to publish general criteria for the plan's selection or termination of health care providers. Such rules shall not require the disclosure of criteria deemed by the plan to be of a proprietary or competitive nature that would hurt the plan's ability to compete or to manage health services. Disclosure of criteria is proprietary or anticompetitive if revealing the criteria would have the tendency to cause health care providers to alter their practice pattern in a manner that would harm efforts to contain health care costs and is proprietary if revealing the criteria would cause the plan's competitors to obtain valuable business information.

If a certified health plan uses unpublished criteria to judge the quality and cost-effectiveness of a health care provider's practice under any specific program within the plan, the plan may not reject or terminate the provider participating in that program based upon such criteria until the provider has been informed of the criteria that his or her practice fails to meet and is given a reasonable opportunity to conform to such criteria.

(3)(a) Whenever a determination is made under (b) of this subsection that a plan's share of the market reaches a point where the plan's exclusion of health care providers from a program of the plan would result in the substantial inability of providers to continue their practice thereby unreasonably restricting consumer access to needed health services or whenever a certified health plan is the only plan within the relevant market, the certified health plan must allow all providers within the affected market to participate in the programs of the certified health plan. All such providers must meet the published criteria and requirements of the programs.

(b) The attorney general with the assistance of the insurance commissioner shall periodically analyze the market power of certified health plans to determine when the market share of any program of a certified health plan reaches a point where the plan's exclusion of health service providers from a program of the plan would result in the substantial inability of providers to continue their practice thereby unreasonably restricting consumer access to needed health services. In analyzing the market power of a certified health plan, the attorney general shall consider:
(i) The ease with which providers may obtain contracts with other plans;
(ii) The amount of the private pay and government employer business that is controlled by the certified health plan taking into account the selling of its provider network to self-insured employer plans;
(iii) The difficulty in establishing new competing plans in the relevant geographic market; and
(iv) The sufficiency of the number or type of providers under contract with the plan available to meet the needs of plan enrollees.

Notwithstanding the provisions of this subsection, if the certified health plan demonstrates to the satisfaction of the attorney general that health service utilization data and similar information shows that the inclusion of additional health service providers would substantially lessen the plan’s ability to control health care costs and that the plan's procedures for selection of providers are not improperly exclusive of providers, the plan need not include additional providers within the plan's program.

(4) The health services commission shall adopt rules for the resolution of disputes between providers and certified health plans including disputes regarding the decision of a plan not to include the services of a provider.

(5) Nothing contained in this section shall be construed to require a plan to allow or continue the participation of a provider if the plan is a federally qualified health maintenance organization and the participation of the provider or providers would prevent the health maintenance organization from operating as a health maintenance organization in accordance with 42 U.S.C. Sec. 300e.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 430. CERTIFIED HEALTH PLANS--REGISTRATION REQUIRED--PENALTY. (1) No person or entity in this state may, by mail or otherwise, act or hold himself or herself out to be a certified health plan as defined by section 402 of this act without being registered as a certified health plan with the insurance commissioner.

(2) Anyone violating subsection (1) of this section is liable for a fine not to exceed ten thousand dollars and imprisonment not to exceed six months for each instance of such violation.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 431. ELIGIBILITY REQUIREMENTS FOR CERTIFICATE OF REGISTRATION--APPLICATION REQUIREMENTS. Any corporation, cooperative group, partnership, association, or groups of health professionals licensed by the state of Washington, public hospital district, or public institutions of higher education are entitled to a certificate from the insurance commissioner as a certified health plan if it:

(1) Submits an application for certification as a certified health plan, which shall be verified by an officer or authorized representative of the applicant, being in a form as the insurance commissioner prescribes in consultation with the health services commission;

(2) Meets the minimum net worth requirements set forth in section 437 of this act and the funding reserve requirements set forth in section 438 of this act;

(3) A certified health plan may establish the geographic boundaries in which they will obligate themselves to deliver the services required under the uniform benefits package and include such information in their application for certification, but the commissioner shall review such boundaries and may disapprove, in conformance to guidelines adopted by the commission, those which have been clearly drawn to be exclusionary within a health care catchment area.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 432. ISSUANCE OF CERTIFICATE--GROUNDS FOR REFUSAL. The commissioner shall issue a certificate as a certified health plan to an applicant within one hundred twenty days of such filing unless the commissioner notifies the applicant within such time that such application is not complete and the reasons therefor; or that the commissioner is not satisfied that:

(1) The basic organization document of the applicant permits the applicant to conduct business as a certified health plan;

(2) The applicant has demonstrated the intent and ability to assure that the health services will be provided in a manner to assure both their availability and accessibility;

(3) The organization is financially responsible and may be reasonably expected to meet its obligations to its enrolled participants. In making this determination, the commissioner shall consider among other relevant factors:

(a) Any agreements with a casualty insurer, a government agency, or any other organization paying or insuring payment for health care services;

(b) Any agreements with providers for the provision of health care services; and

(c) Any arrangements for liability and malpractice insurance coverage.

(4) The procedures for offering health care services are reasonable and equitable; and

(5) Procedures have been established to:

(a) Monitor the quality of care provided by the certified health plan including standards and guidelines provided by the health services commission and other appropriate state agencies;

(b) Operate internal peer review mechanisms; and

(c) Resolve complaints and grievances in accordance with section 442 of this act and rules established by the insurance commissioner in consultation with the commission.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 433. PREMIUMS AND ENROLLEE PAYMENT AMOUNTS--FILING OF PREMIUMS AND ENROLLEE PAYMENT AMOUNTS--ADDITIONAL CHARGES PROHIBITED. (1) The insurance commissioner shall verify that the certified health plan and its providers are charging no more than the maximum premiums and enrollee financial participation amounts during the course of financial and market conduct examinations or more frequently if justified in the opinion of the insurance commissioner or upon request by the health services commission.

(2) The certified health plans shall file the premium schedules including employer contributions, enrollee premium sharing, and enrollee point of service cost sharing amounts with the insurance commissioner, within thirty days of establishment by the health services commission.

(3) No certified health plan or its provider may charge any fees, assessments, or charges in addition to the premium amount or in excess of the maximum enrollee financial participation limits established by the health services commission. The certified health plan that directly provides health care services may charge and collect the enrollee point of service cost sharing fees as established in the uniform benefits package or other approved benefit plan.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 434. ANNUAL STATEMENT FILING--CONTENTS--PENALTY FOR FAILURE TO FILE-- ACCURACY REQUIRED. (1) Every certified health plan shall annually not later than March 1 of the calendar year, file with the insurance commissioner a statement verified by at least two of its principal officers showing its financial condition as of December 31 of the preceding year.

(2) Such annual report shall be in such form as the insurance commissioner shall prescribe and shall include:
(a) A financial statement of the certified health plan, including its balance sheet and receipts and disbursements for the preceding year, which reflects at a minimum;
(i) All prepayments and other payments received for health care services rendered pursuant to certified health plan benefit packages;
(ii) Expenditures to all categories of health care facilities, providers, and organizations with which the plan has contracted to fulfill obligations to enrolled residents arising out of the uniform benefits package and other approved supplemental benefit agreements, together with all other direct expenses including depreciation, enrollment, and commission; and
(iii) Expenditures for capital improvements, or additions thereto, including but not limited to construction, renovation, or purchase of facilities and capital equipment;
(b) A report of the names and addresses of all officers, directors, or trustees of the certified health plan during the preceding year, and the amount of wages, expense reimbursements, or other payments to such individuals. For partnership and professional service corporations, a report shall be made for partners or shareholders as to any compensation or expense reimbursement received by them for services, other than for services and expenses relating directly for patient care;
(c) The number of residents enrolled and terminated during the report period. Additional information regarding the enrollment and termination pattern for a certified health plan may be required by the commissioner to demonstrate compliance with the open enrollment and free access requirements of chapter . . . , Laws of 1993 (this act). The insurance commissioner shall specify additional information to be reported, which may include but not be limited to age, sex, location, and health status information;
(d) Such other information relating to the performance of the certified health plan or the health care facilities or providers with which it has contracted as reasonably necessary to the proper and effective administration of this chapter in accordance with rules;
(e) Disclosure of any financial interests held by officers and directors in any providers associated with the certified health plan or provider of the certified health plan.

(3) The commissioner may require quarterly reporting of financial information, such information to be furnished in a format prescribed by the commissioner in consultation with the commission.

(4) The commissioner may for good reason allow a reasonable extension of time within which such annual statement shall be filed.

(5) The commissioner may suspend or revoke the certificate of a certified health plan for failing to file its annual statement when due or during any extension of time therefor that the commissioner, for good cause, may grant.

(6) The commissioner shall publish and make available to the health services commission and the major newspapers of the state an annual summary report of at least the information required in subsections (2) and (3) of this section.

(7) No person may knowingly file with any public official or knowingly make, publish, or disseminate any financial statement of a certified health plan that does not accurately state the certified health plan's financial condition.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 435. PENALTY FOR VIOLATIONS. A certified health plan that, or person who, violates any provision of this chapter is guilty of a gross misdemeanor, unless the penalty is otherwise specifically provided.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 436. PROVIDER CONTRACTS--ENROLLED RESIDENT'S LIABILITY, COMMISSIONER'S REVIEW. (1) Subject to subsection (2) of this section, every contract between a certified health plan and its providers of health care services shall be in writing and shall set forth that in the event the certified health plan fails to pay for health care services as set forth in the uniform benefits package, the enrollee is not liable to the provider for any sums owed by the certified health plan. Every such contract shall provide that this requirement shall survive termination of the contract.
(2) The provisions of subsection (1) of this section shall not apply to emergency care from a provider who is not a contracting provider with the certified health plan, or to emergent and urgently needed out-of-area services.

(3) The certified health plan shall file the contracts with the insurance commissioner for approval thirty days prior to use.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 437. MINIMUM NET WORTH--REQUIREMENTS TO MAINTAIN--DETERMINATION OF AMOUNT. (1) Every certified health plan must maintain a minimum net worth equal to the greater of:

(a) One million dollars; or

(b) Two percent of annual premium revenues as reported on the most recent annual financial statement filed with the insurance commissioner on the first one hundred fifty million dollars of premium and one percent of annual premium on the premium in excess of one hundred fifty million dollars; or

(c) An amount equal to the sum of three months’ uncovered expenditures as reported on the most recent financial statement filed with the commissioner.

(2)(a) In determining net worth, no debt may be considered fully subordinated unless the subordination clause is in a form acceptable to the commissioner. An interest obligation relating to the repayment of a subordinated debt must be similarly subordinated.

(b) The interest expenses relating to the repayment of a fully subordinated debt may not be considered uncovered expenditures.

(c) A subordinated debt incurred by a note meeting the requirements of this section, and otherwise acceptable to the insurance commissioner, may not be considered a liability and shall be recorded as equity.

(3) Every certified health plan shall, in determining liabilities, include an amount estimated in the aggregate to provide for unearned premiums and for the payment of claims for health care expenditures that have been incurred, whether reported or unreported, that are unpaid and for which such organization is or may be liable and to provide for the expense of adjustment or settlement of such claims.

The claims shall be computed in accordance with rules adopted by the insurance commissioner in consultation with the health services commission.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 438. FUNDED RESERVE REQUIREMENTS. (1) Each certified health plan obtaining certification from the insurance commissioner under sections 426 through 443 of this act shall provide and maintain a funded reserve of one hundred fifty thousand dollars. The funded reserve shall be deposited with the insurance commissioner or with any organization acceptable to the commissioner in the form of cash, securities eligible for investment under chapter 48.13 RCW, approved surety bond, or any combination of these, and must be equal to or exceed one hundred fifty thousand dollars. The funded reserve shall be established as an assurance that the uncovered expenditures obligations of the certified health plan to the enrolled Washington residents shall be performed.

(2) All income from reserves on deposit with the commissioner shall belong to the depositing certified health plan and shall be paid to it as it becomes available.

(3) Funded reserves required by this section shall be considered an asset in determining the plan’s net worth.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 439. EXAMINATION OF CERTIFIED HEALTH PLANS, POWERS OF COMMISSIONER, DUTIES OF PLANS, INDEPENDENT AUDIT REPORTS. (1) The insurance commissioner shall make an examination of the operations of a certified health plan as often as the commissioner deems it necessary in order to assure the financial security and health and safety of the enrolled residents. The insurance commissioner shall make an examination of a certified health plan not less than once every three calendar years.

(2) Every certified health plan shall submit its books and records relating to its operation for financial condition and market conduct examinations and in every way facilitate them. The quality or appropriateness of medical services and systems shall be examined by the department of health except that the insurance commissioner may review such areas to the extent that such items impact the financial condition or the market conduct of the certified health plan. For the purpose of the examinations the insurance commissioner may issue subpoenas, administer oaths, and examine the officers and principals of the certified health plans concerning their business.

(3) The insurance commissioner may elect to accept and rely on audit reports made by an independent certified public accountant for the certified health plan in the course of that part of the insurance commissioner's examination covering the same general subject matter as the audit. The commissioner may incorporate the audit report in his or her report of the examination.

(4) Certified health plans shall be equitably assessed to cover the cost of financial condition and market conduct examinations, the costs of adopting rules, and the costs of enforcing the provisions of this chapter. The assessments shall be levied not less frequently than once every twelve months and shall be in an amount expected to fund the examinations, adoption of rules, and enforcement of the provisions of this chapter including a reasonable margin for cost variations. The assessments shall be established by rules adopted by the commissioner in consultation with the health services commission but may not exceed five and one-half cents per month per resident enrolled in the certified health plan. The minimum assessment shall be one thousand dollars.
Assessment receipts shall be deposited in the insurance commissioner's regulatory account in the state treasury and shall be used for the purpose of funding the examinations authorized in subsection (1) of this section. Assessments received shall be used to pay a pro rata share of the costs, including overhead of regulating certified health plans. Amounts remaining in the separate account at the end of a biennium shall be applied to reduce the assessments in succeeding biennia.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 440. INSOLVENCY--COMMISSIONER'S DUTIES, CONTINUATION OF BENEFITS, ALLOCATION OF COVERAGE. (1) In the event of insolvency of a certified health plan and upon order of the commissioner, all other certified health plans shall offer the enrolled Washington residents of the insolvent certified health plan the opportunity to enroll in a solvent certified health plan. Enrollment shall be without prejudice for any preexisting condition and shall be continuous provided the resident enrolls in the new certified health plan within thirty days of the date of insolvency and otherwise complies with the certified health plan's managed care procedures within the thirty-day open enrollment period.

(2) The insurance commissioner, in consultation with the health services commission, shall establish guidelines for the equitable distribution of the insolvent certified health plan's enrollees to the remaining certified health plans. The guidelines may include limitations to enrollment based on financial conditions, provider delivery network, administrative capabilities of the certified health plan, and other reasonable measures of the certified health plan's ability to provide benefits to the newly enrolled residents.

(3) Each certified health plan shall have a plan for handling insolvency that allows for continuation of benefits for the duration of the coverage period for which premiums have been paid and continuation of benefits to enrolled Washington residents who are confined on the date of insolvency in an inpatient facility until their discharge or transfer to a new certified health plan as provided in subsection (1) of this section. The plan shall be approved by the insurance commissioner at the time of certification and shall be submitted for review and approval on an annual basis. The commissioner shall approve such a plan if it includes:

(a) Insurance to cover the expenses to be paid for continued benefits after insolvency;

(b) Provisions in provider contracts that obligate the provider to provide services for the duration of the period after the certified health plan's insolvency for which premium payment has been made and until the enrolled participant is transferred to a new certified health plan in accordance with subsection (1) of this section. Such extension of coverage shall not obligate the provider of service beyond thirty days following the date of insolvency;

(c) Use of the funded reserve requirements as provided under section 438 of this act;

(d) Acceptable letters of credit or approved surety bonds; or

(e) Other arrangements the insurance commissioner and certified health plan mutually agree are appropriate to assure that benefits are continued.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 441. FINANCIAL FAILURE, SUPERVISION OF COMMISSIONER--PRIORITY OF DISTRIBUTION OF ASSETS. (1) Any rehabilitation, liquidation, or conservation of a certified health plan shall be deemed to be the rehabilitation, liquidation, or conservation of an insurance company and shall be conducted under the supervision of the insurance commissioner under the law governing the rehabilitation, liquidation, or conservation of insurance companies. The insurance commissioner may apply for an order directing the insurance commissioner to rehabilitate, liquidate, or conserve a certified health plan upon one or more of the grounds set forth in RCW 48.31.030, 48.31.050, and 48.31.080. Enrolled residents shall have the same priority in the event of liquidation or rehabilitation as the law provides to policyholders of an insurer.

(2) For purposes of determining the priority of distribution of general assets, claims of enrolled residents and their dependents shall have the same priority as established by RCW 48.31.280 for policyholders and their dependents of insurance companies. If an enrolled resident is liable to a provider for services under and covered by a certified health plan, that liability shall have the status of an enrolled resident claim for distribution of general assets.

(3) A provider who is obligated by statute or agreement to hold enrolled residents harmless from liability for services provided under and covered by a certified health plan shall have a priority of distribution of the general assets immediately following that of enrolled residents and enrolled residents' dependents as described in this section, and immediately proceeding the priority of distribution described in RCW 48.31.280(2)(e).

NEW SECTION. Sec. 442. GRIEVANCE PROCEDURE. A certified health plan shall establish and maintain a grievance procedure approved by the commissioner, to provide a reasonable and effective resolution of complaints initiated by enrolled Washington residents concerning any matter relating to the provision of benefits under the uniform benefits package, access to health care services, and quality of services. Each certified health plan shall respond to complaints filed with the insurance commissioner within twenty working days. The insurance commissioner in consultation with the health care commission shall establish standards for grievance procedures and resolution.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 443. EXEMPTION. The provisions of sections 431 through 442 of this act do not apply to any disability insurance company, health care service contractor, or health maintenance organization authorized to do business in Washington.
NEW SECTION. Sec. 444. ENFORCEMENT AUTHORITY OF COMMISSIONER. For the purposes of chapter . . . , Laws of 1993 (this act), the insurance commissioner shall have the same powers and duties of enforcement as are provided in Title 48 RCW.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 445. ANNUAL REPORT BY THE INSURANCE COMMISSIONER TO THE HEALTH SERVICES COMMISSION. Beginning January 1, 1997, the insurance commissioner shall report annually to the health services commission on the compliance of certified health plans and health insurance purchasing cooperatives with the provisions of chapter . . . , Laws of 1993 (this act). The report shall include information on (1) compliance with chapter . . . , Laws of 1993 (this act) open enrollment and antidiscrimination provisions, (2) financial solvency requirements, (3) the mix of enrollee characteristics within and among plans and groups including age, sex, ethnicity, and any easily obtainable information related to medical risk, (4) the geographic distribution of plans and groups, and (5) other information which the commission may request consistent with the goals of chapter . . . , Laws of 1993 (this act).

F. MANAGED COMPETITION AND LIMITED ANTI-TRUST IMMUNITY

NEW SECTION. Sec. 446. MANAGED COMPETITION FINDINGS AND INTENT. (1) The legislature recognizes that competition among health care providers, facilities, payers, and purchasers will yield the best allocation of health care resources, the lowest prices for health care, and the highest quality of health care when there exists a large number of buyers and sellers, easily comparable health care plans and services, minimal barriers to entry and exit into the health care market, and adequate information for buyers and sellers to base purchasing and production decisions. However, the legislature finds that purchasers of health care services and health care coverage do not have adequate information upon which to base purchasing decisions; that health care facilities and providers of health care services face legal and market disincentives to develop economies of scale or to provide the most cost-efficient and efficacious service; that health insurers, contractors, and health maintenance organizations face market disincentives in providing health care coverage to those Washington residents with the most need for health care coverage; and that potential competitors in the provision of health care coverage bear unequal burdens in entering the market for health care coverage.

(2) The legislature therefore intends to exempt from state anti-trust laws, and to provide immunity from federal anti-trust laws through the state action doctrine for activities approved under this chapter that might otherwise be constrained by such laws and intends to displace competition in the health care market: To contain the aggregate cost of health care services; to promote the development of comprehensive, integrated, and cost-effective health care delivery systems through cooperative activities among health care providers and facilities; to promote comparability of health care coverage; to improve the cost-effectiveness in providing health care coverage relative to health promotion, disease prevention, and the amelioration or cure of illness; to assure universal access to a publicly determined, uniform package of health care benefits; and to create reasonable equity in the distribution of funds, treatment, and medical risk among purchasers of health care coverage, payers of health care services, providers of health care services, health care facilities, and Washington residents. To these ends, any lawful action taken pursuant to chapter . . . , Laws of 1993 (this act) by any person or entity created or regulated by chapter . . . . Laws of 1993 (this act) are declared to be taken pursuant to state statute and in furtherance of the public purposes of the state of Washington.

(3) The legislature does not intend and unless explicitly permitted in accordance with section 447 of this act or under rules adopted pursuant to chapter . . . . Laws of 1993 (this act), does not authorize any person or entity to engage in activities or to conspire to engage in activities that would constitute per se violations of state and federal anti-trust laws including but not limited to conspiracies or agreements:

(a) Among competing health care providers not to grant discounts, not to provide services, or to fix the price of their services;
(b) Among certified health plans as to the price or level of reimbursement for health care services;
(c) Among certified health plans to boycott a group or class of health care service providers;
(d) Among purchasers of certified health plan coverage to boycott a particular plan or class of plans;
(e) Among certified health plans to divide the market for health care coverage; or
(f) Among certified health plans and purchasers to attract or discourage enrollment of any Washington resident or groups of residents in a certified health plan based upon the perceived or actual risk of loss in including such resident or group of residents in a certified health plan or purchasing group.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 447. COMPETITIVE OVERSIGHT AND ANTI-TRUST IMMUNITY. (1) A certified health plan, health care facility, health care provider, or other person involved in the development, delivery, or marketing of health care or certified health plans may request, in writing, that the attorney general issue an informal opinion as to whether particular conduct is authorized by chapter . . . , Laws of 1993 (this act). The attorney general shall issue such opinion within thirty days of receipt of a written request for an opinion or within thirty days of receipt of any additional information requested by the attorney general necessary for rendering an opinion. If the attorney general concludes that such conduct is not authorized by chapter . . . , Laws of 1993 (this act), the person or organization making the request may petition the commission for review and approval of such conduct in accordance with subsection (3) of this section.

(2) With the approval of the attorney general, the health services commission:
(a) May authorize conduct by a certified health plan, health care facility, health care provider, or any other person that could tend to lessen competition in the relevant market upon a strong showing that the conduct is likely to achieve the policy goals of chapter . . ., Laws of 1993 (this act) and a more competitive alternative is impractical;
(b) Shall adopt rules governing conduct among providers, health care facilities, and certified health plans including rules governing provider and facility contracts with certified health plans, rules governing the use of “most favored nation” clauses and exclusive dealing clauses in such contracts, and rules providing that certified health plans in rural areas contract with a sufficient number and type of health care providers and facilities to ensure consumer access to local health care services;
(c) Shall adopt rules permitting health care providers within the service area of a plan to collectively negotiate the terms and conditions of contracts with a certified health plan including the ability of providers to meet and communicate for the purposes of these negotiations; and
(d) Shall adopt rules governing cooperative activities among health care facilities and providers.
(3) A certified health plan, health care facility, health care provider, or any other person involved in the development, delivery, and marketing of health services or certified health plans may file a written petition with the commission requesting approval of conduct that could tend to lessen competition in the relevant market. Such petition shall be filed in a form and manner prescribed by rule of the commission.

The commission shall issue a written decision approving or denying a petition filed under this section within ninety days of receipt of a properly completed written petition. The decision shall set forth findings as to benefits and disadvantages and conclusions as to whether the benefits outweigh the disadvantages.

(4) In authorizing conduct and adopting rules of conduct under this section, the commission with the advice of the attorney general, shall consider the benefits of such conduct in furthering the goals of health care reform including but not limited to:
(a) Enhancement of the quality of health services to consumers;
(b) Gains in cost efficiency of health services;
(c) Improvements in utilization of health services and equipment;
(d) Avoidance of duplication of health services resources; or
(e) And as to subsections (b) and (c) of this subsection: (i) Facilitates the exchange of information relating to performance expectations; (ii) simplifies the negotiation of delivery arrangements and relationships; and (iii) reduces the transactions costs on the part of certified health plans and providers in negotiating more cost effective delivery arrangements.

These benefits must outweigh disadvantages including and not limited to:
(i) Reduced competition among certified health plans, health care providers, or health care facilities;
(ii) Adverse impact on quality, availability, or price of health care services to consumers; or
(iii) The availability of arrangements less restrictive to competition that achieve the same benefits.
(5) Conduct authorized by the commission shall be deemed taken pursuant to state statute and in the furtherance of the public purposes of the state of Washington.

(6) With the assistance of the attorney general's office, the commission shall actively supervise any conduct authorized under this section to determine whether such conduct or rules permitting certain conduct should be continued and whether a more competitive alternative is practical. The commission shall periodically review petitioned conduct through, at least, annual progress reports from petitioners, annual or more frequent reviews by the commission that evaluate whether the conduct is consistent with the petition, and whether the benefits continue to outweigh any disadvantages. If the commission determines that the likely benefits of any conduct approved through rule, petition, or otherwise by the commission no longer outweigh the disadvantages attributable to potential reduction in competition, the commission shall order a modification or discontinuance of such conduct. Conduct ordered discontinued by the commission shall no longer be deemed to be taken pursuant to state statute and in the furtherance of the public purposes of the state of Washington.

(7) Nothing contained in chapter . . ., Laws of 1993 (this act) is intended to in any way limit the ability of rural hospital districts to enter into cooperative agreements and contracts pursuant to RCW 70.44.450 and chapter 39.34 RCW.

G. THE UNIFORM BENEFITS PACKAGE

NEW SECTION. Sec. 448. UNIFORM BENEFITS PACKAGE DESIGN. (1) The commission shall define the uniform benefits package, which shall include those health services that, consistent with the goals and intent of chapter . . ., Laws of 1993 (this act), are effective and necessary on a societal basis for the maintenance of the health of citizens of the state, weighed against the need to control state health services expenditures.
(2) The schedule of covered health services shall emphasize proven preventive and primary health care and shall include primary and specialty health services; inpatient and outpatient hospital services; prescription drugs and medications; reproductive services; services necessary for maternity and well-child care, including preventive dental services for children; chemical dependency services; case managed mental health services; short-term skilled nursing facility, home health, and hospice services, subject to preapproval; and other services deemed necessary by the commission. The commission shall determine the specific schedule of health services within the uniform benefits package, including limitations on scope and duration of services. The commission shall consider the recommendations of health services effectiveness panels established pursuant to section 404 of this act in defining the uniform benefits package.

(3) The uniform benefits package shall not limit coverage for preexisting or prior conditions, except that the commission shall establish exclusions for preexisting or prior conditions to the extent necessary to prevent residents from waiting until health services are needed before enrolling in a certified health plan.

(4) The commission shall establish a schedule of enrollee point of service cost-sharing for nonpreventive health services, related to enrollee household income, such that financial considerations are not a barrier to access for low-income persons, but that, for those of means, the uniform benefits package provides for moderate point of service cost-sharing. All point of service cost-sharing and cost control requirements shall apply uniformly to all health care providers providing substantially similar uniform benefits package services. The schedule shall provide for an alternate and lower schedule of cost-sharing applicable to enrollees with household income below the federal poverty level.

(5) The commission shall adopt rules related to coordination of benefits where a resident has duplicate coverage. The rules shall not have the effect of eliminating enrollee premium sharing or point of service cost-sharing. The commission shall endeavor to assure an equitable distribution, among both employers and employees, of the costs of coverage for those households composed of more than one member in the work force.

(6) In determining the uniform benefits package, the commission shall endeavor to seek the opinions of and information from the public. The commission shall consider the results of official public health assessment and policy development activities including recommendations of the department of health in discharging its responsibilities under this section.

(7) The commission shall submit the following to the legislature by December 1, 1994, and annually thereafter: (a) The uniform benefits package and any changes it may wish to make; (b) an independent actuarial analysis of the cost of the proposed package giving consideration to the factors enumerated in section 406(6) of this act; (c) a small business economic impact statement, to be prepared in consultation with the small business advisory committee, surveying each individual small business to describe the economic impact on their small business of providing the uniform benefits package to employees and dependents; and (d) if the small business economic impact statement indicates a need for assistance to small businesses, recommended mechanisms to offer such assistance. In developing its recommendations, the commission shall evaluate the potential effectiveness of business and occupation tax credits, a small business assistance fund, and any other mechanism deemed appropriate by the commission.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 449. SUPPLEMENTAL BENEFIT PACKAGES DESIGN. The commission shall define several supplemental benefits packages, which shall include those health services that, consistent with the goals and intent of chapter . . . , Laws of 1993 (this act), are desirable to expand the available health services defined in the uniform benefits package. Such supplemental benefit packages must be offered only by certified health plans and must be designed in conformance with the procedures and requirements for the design of the uniform benefits package under section 448 of this act.

(1) Such packages may not combine medical and dental services together, but the commission may design complementary packages that include each kind of service and that may be offered together by a certified health plan. A certified health plan that offers a supplemental benefits package containing only dental services is subject to section 427 of this act in the sale of such package to the Washington state health care authority.

(2) In designing such supplemental benefits packages, the commission shall consider the approach taken by congress and federal agencies in regulating the offering and design of medicare supplemental health insurance policies and the commission shall develop a regulatory method to ensure that pricing of such supplemental benefits packages is consistent with the maximum premium requirements for the uniform benefits package under section 406(6) of this act.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 450. The legislature may disapprove of the packages developed under sections 448 and 449 of this act and medical risk adjustment mechanisms developed under section 406(8) of this act by an act of law at any time prior to the thirtieth day of the following regular legislative session. If such disapproval action is taken, the commission shall resubmit modified packages to the legislature within fifteen days of the disapproval. If the legislature does not disapprove the packages or modify them by an act of law by the end of that regular session, they are deemed approved.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 451. LONG-TERM CARE INTEGRATION PLAN. (1) To meet the health needs of the residents of Washington state, it is critical to finance and provide long-term care and support services through an integrated, comprehensive system that promotes human dignity and recognizes the individuality of all functionally disabled persons. This system shall be available, accessible, and responsive to all residents based upon an assessment of their functional disabilities. The governor and the legislature recognize that families, volunteers, and community organizations are essential for the delivery of effective and efficient long-term care and support services, and that this private and public service infrastructure should be supported and strengthened. Further, it is important to provide benefits without requiring family or program beneficiary impoverishment for service eligibility.

(2) To realize the need for a strong long-term care system and to carry out the November 30, 1992, final recommendations of the Washington health care commission related to long-term care, the commission shall:

(a) Engage in a planning process, in conjunction with an advisory committee appointed for this purpose, for the inclusion of long-term care services in the uniform benefits package established under section 448 of this act as soon as practicable, but not later than July 1998;

(b) Include in its planning process consideration of the scope of services to be covered, the cost of and financing of such coverage, the means through which existing long-term care programs and delivery systems can be coordinated and integrated, and the means through which family members can be supported in their role as informal caregivers for their parents, spouses, or other relatives.

(3) The commission shall submit recommendations concerning any necessary statutory changes or modifications of public policy to the governor and the legislature by January 1, 1995.

(4) The departments of health, retirement systems, revenue, social and health services, and veterans' affairs, the offices of financial management, insurance commissioner, and state actuary, along with the health care authority, shall participate in the review of the long-term care needs enumerated in this section and provide necessary supporting documentation and staff expertise as requested by the commission.

(5) The commission shall include in its planning process, the development of two social health maintenance organization long-term care pilot projects. The two pilot projects shall be referred to as the Washington life care pilot projects. Each life care pilot program shall be a single-entry system administered by an individual organization that is responsible for bringing together a full range of medical and long-term care services. The commission, in coordination with the appropriate agencies and departments, shall establish a Washington life care benefits package that shall include the uniform benefits package established in chapter . . ., Laws of 1993 (this act) and long-term care services. The Washington life care benefits package shall include, but not be limited to, the following long-term care services: Case management, intake and assessment, nursing home care, adult family home care, home health and home health aide care, hospice, chore services/homemaker/personal care, adult day care, respite care, and appropriate social services. The pilot project shall develop assessment and case management protocol that emphasize home and community-based care long-term care options.

(a) In designing the pilot projects, the commission shall address the following issues: Costs for the long-term care benefits, a projected case-mix based upon disability, the required federal waiver package, reimbursement, capitation methodology, marketing and enrollment, management information systems, identification of the most appropriate case management models, provider contracts, and the preferred organizational design that will serve as a functioning model for efficiently and effectively transitioning long-term care services into the uniform benefits package established in chapter . . ., Laws of 1993 (this act). The commission shall also be responsible for establishing the size of the two membership pools.

(b) Each program shall enroll applicants based on their level of functional disability and personal care needs. The distribution of these functional level categories and ethnicity within the enrolled program population shall be representative of their distribution within the community, using the best available data to estimate the community distributions.

(c) The two sites selected for the Washington life care pilot program shall be drawn from the largest urban areas and include one site in the eastern part of the state and one site in the western part of the state. The two organizations selected to manage and coordinate the life care services shall have the proven ability to provide ambulatory care, personal care/chore services, dental care, case management and referral services, must be accredited and licensed to provide long-term care for home health services, and may be licensed to provide nursing home care.

(d) The report on the development and establishment date of the two social health maintenance organizations shall be submitted to the governor and appropriate committees of the legislature by September 16, 1994. If the necessary federal waivers cannot be secured by January 1, 1995, the commission may elect to not establish the two pilot programs.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 452. SUPPLEMENTAL AND ADDITIONAL BENEFITS NEGOTIATION. (1) Nothing in chapter . . ., Laws of 1993 (this act) shall preclude insurers, health care service contractors, health maintenance organizations, or certified health plans from insuring, providing, or contracting for additional benefits not included in the uniform benefits package or in supplemental benefits packages designed by the commission.

(2) Nothing in chapter . . ., Laws of 1993 (this act) shall restrict the right of an employer to offer, an employee representative to negotiate for, or an individual to purchase supplemental or additional benefits not included in the uniform benefits package.
(3) Nothing in chapter . . . Laws of 1993 (this act) shall restrict the right of an employer to offer or an employee representative to negotiate for payment of up to one hundred percent of the premium of the lowest priced uniform benefits package available in the geographic area where the employer is located.

(4) Pending receipt of necessary federal waivers, nothing in chapter . . . Laws of 1993 (this act) shall be construed to limit the collective bargaining rights of employee organizations under state or federal law.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 453. CONSCIENCE OR RELIGION. (1) No certified health plan or health care provider may be required by law or contract in any circumstances to participate in the provision of any uniform benefit if they object to so doing for reason of conscience or religion. No person may be discriminated against in employment or professional privileges because of such objection.

(2) The provisions of this section are not intended to result in an enrollee being denied timely access to any service included in the uniform benefits package. Each certified health plan shall:

(a) Provide written notice to certified health plan enrollees, upon enrollment with the plan and upon enrollee request thereafter, listing, by provider, services that any provider refuses to perform for reason of conscience or religion;

(b) Develop written information describing how an enrollee may directly access, in an expeditious manner, services that a provider refuses to perform; and

(c) Ensure that enrollees refused services under this section have prompt access to the information developed pursuant to (b) of this subsection.

H. STATE RESIDENT AND EMPLOYER PARTICIPATION

NEW SECTION. Sec. 454. INDIVIDUAL PARTICIPATION. (1) All residents of the state of Washington are required to purchase a uniform benefits package from a certified health plan no later than July 1, 1998. This participation requirement shall be waived if imposition of the requirement would constitute a violation of the freedom of religion provisions set forth in the First Amendment, United States Constitution or Article I, section 11 of the state Constitution. Residents of the state of Washington who work in another state for an out-of-state employer shall be deemed to have satisfied the requirements of this section if they receive health insurance coverage through such employer.

(2) The commission shall monitor the enrollment of individuals into certified health plans and shall make public periodic reports concerning the number of persons enrolled and not enrolled, the reasons why individuals are not enrolled, recommendations to reduce the number of persons not enrolled, and recommendations regarding enforcement of this provision.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 455. EMPLOYER PARTICIPATION. (1) The legislature recognizes that small businesses play an essential and increasingly important role in the state's economy. The legislature further recognizes that many of the state's small business owners provide health insurance to their employees through small group policies at a cost that directly affects their profitability. Other small business owners are prevented from providing health benefits to their employees by the lack of access to affordable health insurance coverage. The legislature intends that the provisions of chapter . . . Laws of 1993 (this act) make health insurance more available and affordable to small businesses in Washington state through strong cost control mechanisms and the option to purchase health benefits through the basic health plan, the Washington state group purchasing association, and health insurance purchasing cooperatives.

(2) In defining the level of mandated employer participation under this section, the commission shall consider the impact of such participation on the financial well-being of the state's employers. In its deliberations, the commission shall evaluate the following:

(a) Whether employers' premium payments should be related to the number of qualified employees the business employs;

(b) Whether different levels of employer premium payments should be applied to employees and dependents;

(c) The profitability of small businesses in Washington state; and

(d) Any other factors deemed necessary by the commission.

(3) On July 1, 1995, every employer employing more than five hundred qualified employees shall:

(a) Offer a choice of the uniform benefits package as provided by at least three available certified health plans, one of which shall be the lowest cost available package within their geographic region, to all qualified employees. The employer shall be required to pay no less than fifty percent and no more than ninety-five percent of the premium cost of the lowest cost available package within their geographic region. On July 1, 1996, all dependents of qualified employees of these firms shall be offered a choice of packages as provided in this section with the employer paying no less than fifty percent and no more than ninety-five percent of the premium of the lowest cost package within their geographic region.

(b) For employees who work less than thirty hours during a week or one hundred twenty hours during a calendar month, and their dependents, pay the amount resulting from application of the following formula: The number of hours worked by the employee in a month is multiplied by the amount of a qualified employee's premium, and that amount is then divided by one hundred twenty.
(c) If an employee under (b) of this subsection is the dependent of a qualified employee, and is therefore covered as a dependent by the qualified employee’s employer, then the employer of the employee under (b) of this subsection shall not be required to participate in the cost of the uniform benefits package for that employee.

(d) If an employee working on a seasonal basis is a qualified employee of another employer, and therefore has uniform benefits package coverage through that primary employer, then the seasonal employer of the employee shall not be required to participate in the cost of the uniform benefits package for that employee.

(4) By July 1, 1996, every employer employing more than one hundred qualified employees shall:

(a) Offer a choice of the uniform benefits package as provided by at least three available certified health plans, one of which shall be the lowest cost available package within their geographic region, to all qualified employees. The employer shall be required to pay no less than fifty percent and no more than ninety-five percent of the premium cost of the lowest cost available package within their geographic region. On July 1, 1997, all dependents of qualified employees in these firms shall be offered a choice of packages as provided in this section with the employer paying no less than fifty percent and no more than ninety-five percent of the premium of the lowest cost package within their geographic region.

(b) For employees who work less than thirty hours during a week or one hundred twenty hours during a calendar month, and their dependents, pay the amount resulting from application of the following formula: The number of hours worked by the employee in a month is multiplied by the amount of a qualified employee's premium, and that amount is then divided by one hundred twenty.

(c) If an employee under (b) of this subsection is the dependent of a qualified employee, and is therefore covered as a dependent by the qualified employee’s employer, then the employer of the employee under (b) of this subsection shall not be required to participate in the cost of the uniform benefits package for that employee.

(d) If an employee working on a seasonal basis is a qualified employee of another employer, and therefore has uniform benefits package coverage through that primary employer, then the seasonal employer of the employee shall not be required to participate in the cost of the uniform benefits package for that employee.

(5) By July 1, 1997, every employer shall:

(a) Offer a choice of the uniform benefits package as provided by at least three available certified health plans, one of which shall be the lowest cost available package within their geographic region, to all qualified employees. The employer shall be required to pay no less than fifty percent and no more than ninety-five percent of the premium cost of the lowest cost available package within their geographic region. On July 1, 1998, all dependents of qualified employees in all firms shall be offered a choice of packages as provided in this section with the employer paying no less than fifty percent and no more than ninety-five percent of the premium of the lowest cost package within their geographic region.

(b) For employees who work less than thirty hours during a week or one hundred twenty hours during a calendar month, and their dependents, pay the amount resulting from application of the following formula: The number of hours worked by the employee in a month is multiplied by the amount of a qualified employee's premium, and that amount is then divided by one hundred twenty.

(c) If an employee under (b) of this subsection is the dependent of a qualified employee, and is therefore covered as a dependent by the qualified employee’s employer, then the employer of the employee under (b) of this subsection shall not be required to participate in the cost of the uniform benefits package for that employee.

(d) If an employee working on a seasonal basis is a qualified employee of another employer, and therefore has uniform benefits package coverage through that primary employer, then the seasonal employer of the employee shall not be required to participate in the cost of the uniform benefits package for that employee.

(6) This employer participation requirement shall be waived if imposition of the requirement would constitute a violation of the freedom of religion provisions of the First Amendment of the United States Constitution or Article I, section 11, of the state Constitution. In such case the employer shall, pursuant to commission rules, set aside an amount equal to the applicable employer contribution level in a manner that would permit his or her employee to fully comply with the requirements of this chapter.

(7) In lieu of offering the uniform benefits package to employees and their dependents through direct contracts with certified health plans, an employer may combine the employer contribution with that of the employee's contribution and enroll in the basic health plan as provided in chapter 70.47 RCW or a health insurance purchasing cooperative established under sections 426 and 427 of this act.

(8) The commission shall submit its employer contribution levels and any changes it may wish to make to the legislature by December 1, 1994, and annually thereafter.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 456. SMALL FIRM FINANCIAL ASSISTANCE. (1) Beginning July 1, 1997, firms with fewer than twenty-five workers that face barriers to providing health insurance for their employees may, upon application, be eligible to receive financial assistance with funds set aside from the health services account. Firms with the following characteristics shall be given preference in the distribution of funds: (1) New firms, (2) employers with low average wages, (3) employers with low profits, and (4) firms in economically distressed areas.

(2) All employers in existence on or before July 1, 1997, who meet the criteria set forth in this section, and rules adopted under this section, may apply to the health services commission for assistance. Such employers may not receive premium assistance beyond July 1, 2001. New employers, who come into existence after July 1, 1997, may apply for and receive premium assistance for a limited period of time, as determined by the commission.

(3) The total funds available for small business assistance shall not exceed one hundred million dollars for the biennium beginning July 1, 1997. Thereafter, the amount of total funds available for premium assistance shall be determined by the office of financial management, based on a forecast of inflation, employment, and the number of eligible firms.

(4) By July 1, 1997, the health services commission, with assistance from the small business advisory committee established in section 404 of this act, shall develop specific definitions, rules, and procedures governing all aspects of the small business assistance program, including application procedures, thresholds regarding firm size, wages, profits, and age of firm, and rules governing duration of assistance.

(5) Final determination of the amount of the premium assistance to be dispensed to an employer shall be made by the commission based on rules, definitions, and procedures developed under this section. If total claims for assistance are above the amount of total funds available for such purposes, the commission shall have the authority to prorate employer claims so that the amount of available funds is not exceeded.

(6) The office of financial management, in consultation with the commission, shall establish appropriate criteria for monitoring and evaluating the economic and labor market impacts of the premium assistance program and report its findings to the commission annually through July 1, 2001.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 457. The department of social and health services shall from July 1, 1993, to July 1, 1998, coordinate a pilot program entitled the Washington long-term care partnership, whereby private insurance and medicaid funds shall be used to finance long-term care. This program must allow for the exclusion of an individual's assets, as approved by the federal health care financing administration, in a determination of the individual's eligibility for medicaid; the amount of any medicaid payment; or any subsequent recovery by the state for a payment for medicaid services to the extent such assets are protected by a long-term care insurance policy or contract governed by chapter 48.84 RCW and meeting the criteria prescribed in this chapter.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 458. The department of social and health services shall seek approval and a waiver of appropriate federal medicaid regulations to allow the protection of an individual's assets as provided in this chapter. The department shall adopt all rules necessary to implement the Washington long-term care partnership program, which rules shall permit the exclusion of an individual's assets in a determination of medicaid eligibility to the extent that private long-term care insurance provides payment or benefits for services that medicaid would approve or cover for medicaid recipients.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 459. (1) The insurance commissioner shall adopt rules defining the criteria that long-term care insurance policies must meet to satisfy the requirements of this chapter. The rules shall provide that all long-term care insurance policies purchased for the purposes of this chapter:

(a) Be guaranteed renewable;
(b) Provide coverage for home and community-based services and nursing home care;
(c) Provide automatic inflation protection or similar coverage to protect the policyholder from future increases in the cost of long-term care;
(d) Not require prior hospitalization or confinement in a nursing home as a prerequisite to receiving long-term care benefits; and
(e) Contain at least a six-month grace period that permits reinstatement of the policy or contract retroactive to the date of termination if the policy or contract holder's nonpayment of premiums arose as a result of a cognitive impairment suffered by the policy or contract holder as certified by a physician.

(2) Insurers offering long-term care policies for the purposes of this chapter shall demonstrate to the satisfaction of the insurance commissioner that they:

(a) Have procedures to provide notice to each purchaser of the long-term care consumer education program;
(b) Offer case management services;
(c) Have procedures that provide for the keeping of individual policy records and procedures for the explanation of coverage and benefits identifying those payments or services available under the policy that meet the purposes of this chapter;
(d) Agree to provide the insurance commissioner, on or before September 1 of each year, an annual report containing the following information:

(i) The number of policies issued and of the policies issued, that number sorted by issue age;
(ii) To the extent possible, the financial circumstance of the individuals covered by such policies;
(iii) The total number of claims paid; and
Of the number of claims paid, the number paid for nursing home care, for home care services, and community-based services.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 460. The insurance commissioner, in conjunction with the department of social and health services, shall develop a consumer education program designed to educate consumers as to the need for long-term care, methods for financing long-term care, the availability of long-term care insurance, and the availability and eligibility requirements of the asset protection program provided under this chapter.

NEW SECTION. Sec. 461. By January 1 of each year, the insurance commissioner, in conjunction with the department of social and health services, shall report to the legislature on the progress of the asset protection program. The report shall include:

I. PUBLIC HEALTH SERVICES IMPROVEMENT PLAN

NEW SECTION. Sec. 462. A new section is added to chapter 43.70 RCW to read as follows:

PUBLIC HEALTH SERVICES IMPROVEMENT PLAN. (1) The legislature finds that the public health functions of community assessment, policy development, and assurance of service delivery are essential elements in achieving the objectives of health reform in Washington state. The legislature further finds that the population-based services provided by state and local health departments are cost-effective and are a critical strategy for the long-term containment of health care costs. The legislature further finds that the public health system in the state lacks the capacity to fulfill these functions consistent with the needs of a reformed health care system.

(2) The department of health shall develop, in consultation with local health departments and districts, the state board of health, the health services commission, area Indian health service, and other state agencies, health services providers, and citizens concerned about public health, a public health services improvement plan. (3) The plan shall include:
   (a) Definition of minimum standards for public health protection through assessment, policy development, and assurances;
      (i) Enumeration of communities not meeting those standards;
      (ii) A budget and staffing plan for bringing all communities up to minimum standards;
      (iii) An analysis of the costs and benefits expected from adopting minimum public health standards for assessment, policy development, and assurances;
   (b) Recommended strategies and a schedule for improving public health programs throughout the state, including:

   (c) A recommended level of dedicated funding for public health services to be expressed in terms of a percentage of total health service expenditures in the state or a set per person amount; such recommendation shall also include methods to ensure that such funding does not supplant existing federal, state, and local funds received by local health departments, and methods of distributing funds among local health departments.

(4) The department shall coordinate this planning process with the study activities required in section 255 of this act.

(5) By March 1, 1994, the department shall provide initial recommendations of the public health services improvement plan to the legislature regarding minimum public health standards, and public health programs needed to address urgent needs, such as those cited in subsection (7) of this section.

(6) By December 1, 1994, the department shall present the public health services improvement plan to the legislature, with specific recommendations for each element of the plan to be implemented over the period from 1995 through 1997.
(7) Thereafter, the department shall update the public health services improvement plan for presentation to the legislature prior to the beginning of a new biennium.

(8) Among the specific population-based public health activities to be considered in the public health services improvement plan are: Health data assessment and chronic and infectious disease surveillance; rapid response to outbreaks of communicable disease; efforts to prevent and control specific communicable diseases, such as tuberculosis and acquired immune deficiency syndrome; health education to promote healthy behaviors and to reduce the prevalence of chronic disease, such as those linked to the use of tobacco; access to primary care in coordination with existing community and migrant health clinics and other not for profit health care organizations; programs to ensure children are born as healthy as possible and they receive immunizations and adequate nutrition; efforts to prevent intentional and unintentional injury; programs to ensure the safety of drinking water and food supplies; poison control; trauma services; and other activities that have the potential to improve the health of the population or special populations and reduce the need for or cost of health services.

Consistent with funds appropriated specifically for this purpose, the department shall establish in conjunction with the area Indian health services system and providers an advisory group comprised of Indian and non-Indian health care facilities and providers to formulate an American Indian health care delivery element for the public health services improvement plan. The element shall include:

(1) Recommendations to providers and facilities methods for coordinating and joint venturing with the Indian health services for service delivery;

(2) Methods to improve American Indian-specific health programming; and

(3) Creation of co-funding recommendations and opportunities for the unmet health services programming needs of American Indians.

The departmental review shall be conducted to determine what documentation or protocols are redundant and can be modified or eliminated without jeopardizing the health and safety of residents or violating federal regulations. The review shall result in an itemized evaluation of the number of forms requiring physician’s review and signature together with a citation of their origin. In addition, the department shall review and suggest efficiencies that could be realized through the development of standardized physicians’ protocols for repetitive but nonlifethreatening conditions, such as but not limited to, skin tears, early stage decubiti, bowel and bladder care, and other common and predictable nursing home patient conditions. 3. Review existing rate regulation of disability insurance policies, health care service contracts, and health maintenance agreements and propose a uniform approach for regulation of rates that balances the need of certified health plans to freely compete and the need to protect consumers from inadequate, excessive, or unfairly discriminatory rates;
4. Consider regulatory methods to ensure the adequate provision of and contracting with health care facilities and providers by certified health plans to meet the health care needs of enrollees of certified health plans;
5. Consider the need to modify existing insurance statutes and regulations to govern the integration, development, and marketing of health care coverage that would supplement the uniform benefits package; and
